Vers. 10. so with you, &c.] It is an imprecation or curse, because he purposed not to let them go: but as God forced him to send them away, so turned he his curse into a blessing to them, Exod. 12. 30. 31. and 13. 21. 22. The Chaldee paraphraseth, the Word of the Lord so be your help. Here Satan, who had before sought the death of Israel's Infants, Exod. 1. seeketh to retain them at lest in bondage: and when he cannot hinder the redemption of the whole Church, yet to hinder it in part. So in Revel. 12. 13.—17. when the Dragon could not hurt the woman; he maketh war with the remnant of her seed. evil] this word is used both for sin, and for the punishment of the same, as Ierem. 18. 8. if they turn from their evil, I will repent of the evil that I thought to do unto them. Both may be here implied by Pharaoh, but the latter chiefly; threatening more affliction, if they left not off their intended course. The Chaldee expoundeth it thus; see how the evil which you think to do, sitteth before your faces. he drove] that is, Pharaoh drove, or caused them to be driven out of his presence. Or, he drove, is put for they were driven: see the notes on Gen. 16. 14.

Vers. 13. over the land of Egypt] the Greek expoundeth it, towards heaven. the east wind,] which is a strong and violent wind, with it God drove hackethe sea, Exodus 13. 21. and by it his judgments are often signified, Gen. 41. 7. Psalm 48. 8. Isaiah. 27. 8. Ezek. 19. 12. Ier. 18. 17. L•ust,] or Grashoppers; and with them caterpillars also, as David showeth in Psal. 105. 34. 35. and 78. 46. They are of God's heavy judgments upon sinners, Deut. 28. 38. 1 King. 8. 37. and unto this eight plague of Egypt, the army of Antichrist is resembled, that tormented men, Rev. 9. 3. 5. 7. &c.

Vers. 14. heavy,] both grievous for the hurt they did, and for the multitude of them; as the Greek explaineth it, many. such.] Yet great judgments upon Israel, are mentioned by Locusts, Iocl 1. 2. 3. 4. and by human writers it is said, that in India there are some of three foot long: Pliny, book 11. chapter 29.

Vers. 15. the eye,] the face, as verse 5. darkened,] that is, hid and defaced; and as the Greek transl•teth, corrupted.

Vers. 17. death,] that is, deadly plague; so 2 King. 4 40. death is in the pot. [unspec 17]

Vers. 19. sea wind,] that is, west wind, as the Chaldee explains it: the Greek saith, from the sea. For the main sea lay westward: see Genes. 12. 8. fastened,] or, pitched them in, the Greek and Chaldee translate cast them: but the word meaneth, that they were so thrown in, as there to remain and rise no more; as when a Tent or other thing is pitched and fast nailed. After this manner God often destroyeth Locusts in other places; being taken up by heaps with the wind, they fall into seas or lakes, saith Pliny, b. 11. c. 29. red sea;] or, weedy sea: called in Hebrew, the sea Suph; which word signifieth sedge, or sea-weeds, that grew therein, and whereof it seemeth it had the name: see Exod. 2. 3. Ion. 2. 5. The Holy Ghost in Greek calleth it, Eruthran, the Red sea, Act. 7. 36. Heb. 11. 29. either of the red sand of that sea, or red mountains by it; or of one Erythras a king, as Strabo writeth in his 16. book. But the Latins called it Rubrum mare, that is, the Redsea, Pliny Hist, b. 13. c. 25. Pomp. Mela. b. 3. chap. 7. and by that name it is usually known in these parts of the world. In this sea, Pharaoh, himself with his army, were afterward drowned, Exod. 14.

Vers. 20. made strong,] that is, hardened, as the Greek translatheth, see Exod. 4. 21. [unspec 20]

V. 21. there shall be] or as the Gr. translatheth, let there be darkness. Of this plague also, God warneth not Pharaoh before hand: see Ex. 8. 16. that one may feel] or and •e (that, is Pharaoh, or everyone) shall feel, meaning, as the Gr. translatheth it, palpable darkness, such as may he felt with the hand, for the thickness of the •yre. The Hebrew word signifieth sometime to •fele, Judge. 16. 26. sometime on the contrary to take away, or, remove, Exod. 13. 22. in which latter sense the Chaldee paraphrase here expoundeth it, after the darkness of the night is re <...> d; meaning that the day should be turned to <...> ▪

Vers. 22. obscure darkness,] Hebr. darkness of <ϕ> that is, most obscure black and thick. The Gr <...> sseth it by three words, darkness, <ϕ> , <ϕ> , <ϕ> darkness. This ninth plague, David celebrateth, in Psal. 105. 28. and unto it, the fifth plague of the spiritual Egypt is compared, Rev. 16. 10. where the kingdom of the Beast is full of darkness, and men gnaw their tongues for pain. A righteous judgment of God upon those that oppressed his people, the light of the world, Matth. 5. 14. and rebelled against the light; as Job 24. 13.

Vers. 23. saw not,] neither by sun or stars from above, neither by fire beneath, had they any light. So, the light of the wicked shall be put out, and the spark of his fire shall not shine; the light shall be dark in his tabernacle, Job 18. 5. 6. from his place,] or, from under him: the Greek translatheth, from his bed. Thus in them the saying was fulfilled, the wicked shall be silent in darkness, 1 Sam. 2. 9. was light;] so they had been freed from former plagues, see Exodus 9. 26. and God promiseth like mercy to his Church by the Gospel, saying, Arise thou, be enlightened, for thy light is come, &c. darkness shall cover the earth, and gross darkness the people's, but Jehovah shall arise upon thee, &c. Isaiah. 60. 1. 2.

Vers. 25. do sacrifice,] or, offer. The word sacrifice, here understood, is elsewhere expressed, as in 1 King. 12. 27. and when the word do (or make) is joined with sacrifices, as in this place, it signifieth to offer, as Levite. 9. 7. 22. and 16. 9. Exodus 29. 36. 39. 41. 42.

Vers. 26. not an hoof,] not anything, saith the Chaldee. Thus Jacob went before out of Mesopotamia into Canaan, with all his cattle and substance, Gen. 31. 18. And Moses constancy to keep the commandment of God unto the smallest things, in every particular, is an example of the obedience which we all owe unto the Lord, and from which no persecution or tyranny should stay us. And the not leaving of an hoof behind, signified their full departure out of Egyptian bondage; leaving nothing to tempt or occasion them to return thither again: which God after forbade them, Deut. 17. 16. and 28. 68. Hos. 9. 3.

Vers. 27. made strong,] that is, hardened, as the Greek translatheth. See Exod. 4. 21. would not,] or, was not persuaded, consented not to send them, notwithstanding all these plagues. This word is not used in all this history, until now: it setteth forth Pharaohs willfulness.

Vers. 28. no more] Hebr. add not to see: so in the [unspec] verse following. Here Pharaoh is enraged against Moses, and more fully manifesteth his hardness of heart: unto whom Moses answereth, with no less courage and faith in God; not fearing (as Paul saith) the wrath of the king, but enduring, as seeing him who is invisible, Heb. 11. 27. Therefore ere he went out of his presence, he denounceth the last plague, (in the chapter following) and departed, never seeing him more. As Pharaoh by all these plagues, is not bettered, but worse hardened: so when the beasts throne and kingdom is darkened, they g... their tongues for pain; and blaspheme the God of heaven, because of their pains and their sores; and repent not of their deed, Rev. 16. 10. 11.

Vers. 29. well] or right: the Greek translatheth, as thou hast said. So it was not an approbation of Pharaohs evil speech, but a signification that it should so come to pass. Wherein Moses shown great faith in God, and courage against the king, whose wrath he feared not, as the Apostle observeth in Hebr. 11. 27. For before his departure, he threateneth the last plague, and goeth out very angry, Exod. 11. 4. 8.

CHAP. XI.

1. God's message to the Israelites, to borrow jewels of their neighbors the Egyptians. 4, Moses threateneth Pharaoh with the death of all the First-borne in Egypt. 9, Pharaohs heart is hardened still.

AND Jehovah said unto Moses; Yet one plague will I bring upon Pharaoh, and upon Egypt; afterwards he will send you away from hence: when he shall send you away, he shall thrusting thrust you out from hence altogether. Speak now in the ears of the people; & let every man ask of his neighbor, and every woman of her neighbor, jewels of silver, and jewels of gold. And Jehovah gave the people grace in the eyes of the Egyptians: also the man Moses was very great in the land of Egypt, in the eyes of Pharaohs servants, and in the eyes of the people. And Moses said, thus saith Jehovah, About midnight will I go out into the midst of Egypt. And every first-borne in the land of Egypt shall die, from the first-borne of Pharaoh that sitteth upon his throne, even to the first-borne of the bondwoman, that is behind the mill; and every first borne of beasts. And there shall be a great cry in all the land of Egypt, such as there hath been none like it, nor shall be like it anymore. But against any of the sons of Israel shall not a dog move his tongue, against man or beast, that ye may know how Jehovah marvelously severeth between the Egyptians and Israel. And all these thy servants shall come down unto me, and bow down themselves unto me, saying, Go out thou, and all the people that is at thy feet; and after that, I will go out: and he went out from Pharaoh, in heat of anger. And Jehovah said unto Moses; Pharaoh shall not hearken unto you, that my wonders may be multiplied in the land of Egypt. And Moses and Aaron did all these wonders before Pharaoh: and Jehovah made strong the heart of Pharaoh, and he sent not away the sons of Israel out of his land.

Annotations.

SAid] or, had said, before he went last unto Pharaoh, being called, Exod. 10. 24. therefore ere he departeth out of his presence, he denounceth this last plague, as appeareth by the 8. verse following▪ thrusting thrust] that is, earnestly and hastily thrust, as came to pass, Exod. 12. 31. 33. The Greek translath, with all rejection he shall reject (or cast you out;) and as the Chaldee saith, with full rejection.

Vers. 2. in the ears] The Greek addeth, privily. the people] the Israelites. his neighbor] an Egyptian: this was signified at the first Exod. 3. 22. jewels, or, vessels, instruments, of all sorts. These they borrowed, but never restored; God's extraordinary commandment was their warrant, as it was unto Abraham for the killing of his son, Gen. 22. and it was a recompense of their labors, wherewith they had served the Egyptians.

Vers. 3. grace] that is, favor, Hebr. the grace of the people; which the Greek translath, grace to his people: see the notes on Exod. 3. 21. and Gen. 39. 21.

Verse. 4. said] to Pharaoh, before he went out of his presence, verse 8. and Exod. 10. 29. I go out] the Chaldee saith, I will be revealed: this God did by his Angel that destroyed them, Exod. 12. 23. And this going out, as the like phrase of passing through, in Exod. 12. 12. is meant for evil unto Egypt: unto which the Scriptures elsewhere have reference, as in Amos 5. 17. I will pass through thee, saith the Lord.

Vers. 5. on his throne] that is, which shall reign after him: the Chaldee explaineth it, which shall sit upon the throne of his kingdom. And the holy text so explaineth it self, as his throne, 1 Chron. 17. 12. is the throne of his kingdom, 2 Sam. 7. 13. and to sit on the throne, is to reign instead of another, 1 Kin. 3. 6. with 2 Chron. 1. 8. and a man upon the throne, 1 King. 9. 5. is expounded to be a ruler, 2 Chron. 7. 18. behind the mill] or, after the mill stones; that is, in prison grinding at the mill, as is explained in Exod. 12. 29. Judge. 16. 21. Esa. 47. 1. 2. and she is said to be behind, or after it, for thrusting it before them, as they wrought.

Vers. 7. move] that is, they shall not have the least let or disturbance. See the like in Ios. 10. 21. The dog signifieth the wicked, Psal. 22. 17. 21. that such should not move their tongue, is according to that saying, Iniquity shall stop her mouth, Job 5. 16. Psal. 1•7. 42. severeth] Greek, glorifieth: see Exodus 8. 22.

V. 8. servants] the Counsellors, Nobles, Courtiers. These compelled by the plague, should bow down to Moses: so greatly would God honor his servant. So God promiseth his Church, that Kings and Queens should bow down thereto, with their face towards the earth, &c. Isaiah. 49. 23. at thy feet,] following thee: the Greek translatheth it, whom thou ledest: the Chaldee, with thee, heat,] or, inflammation of anger. Though Moses was a very meek man, above all the men that were upon the earth, Numb. 12. 3. yet now in the Lord's cause, with whom Pharaoh had so often mocked, he is very wroth, and so the king and he do part, angry each with other, as Exod. 10. 28. And such is the end of the ministry of Moses law, unto all hard hearted sinners, Rom. 2. 5. and 4. 15. Unto this we may apply that saying of Paul; By faith Moses for sooke Egypt, not fearing the wrath of the king: for he endured, as seeing him who is invisible, Heb. 11. 27.

Vers. 10. made strong] that is, as the Greek expoundeth it, hardened. Herein the unsearchableness of God's judgments is to be considered; for as those whom he loveth, he loveth unto the end, John. 13. 1. and putteth his fear in their hearts, that they shall not depart from him, Ierem. 32. 40. so the wicked (whom his soul hateth, Psal. 11. 5.) he hardeneth their heart from his fear, Isaiah. 63. 17.) that though he do many miracles before them, yet they believe not; neither can they believe, because he hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their heart; that they should not see with their eyes, nor understand with their heart, and be converted, and he should heal them, John. 12. 37. 39. 40. So after their hardness and impenitent heart; they treasure up unto themselves wrath against the day of wrath, Rom. 2. 5. and God willing to show wrath, & to make his power known, endureth with much longsuffering the vessels of wrath, fitted to destruction, Rom. 9. 22. Of which Pharaoh is a most memorable example, appointed of God for this, that he might show his power in him, and that God's name might be declared throughout all the earth, Exodus 9. 16. Romans 9. 17.

CHAP. XII.

1. The month wherein Israel went out of Egypt, is made the first month. 3, A commandment to prepare a Lamb for the Passover. 11, The manner of eating the Passover. 15, Unleavened bread must be eaten seven days. 22, The blood of the Lamb must be sprinkled on the door posts. 29, All the First-borne of Egypt are slain. 31, The Israelites are driven out of the land. 35. They spoil the Egyptians. 37, They journey to Succoth. 43, The ordinance of the Passover, and who they are that may eat the same.

AND Jehovah said unto Moses and unto Aaron, in the land of Egypt, saying: This month shall be unto you the head of months: it shall be unto you the first of the months of the year. Speak ye unto all the congregation of Israel, saying, in the tenth of this month, That they take to them, every man a lamb according to the house of their fathers, a lamb for an house. And if the house be too little to be for a lamb, then shall he, and his neighbor the next unto his house, take according to the number of the souls; every man according to his eating, ye shall make your count for the lamb. A lamb perfect, a male of the first year, shall it be to you; ye shall take it of the sheep or of the goats. And it shall be by you kept up, until the fourteenth day of this month; & the whole Church of the congregation of Israel shall kill it, between the two evenings. And they shall take of the blood, and give it upon the two side-posts, and upon the upper door-post, upon the houses wherein they shall eat it. And they shall eat the flesh in that night, roast with fire, and with unleavened cakes; and with bitter herbs they shall eat it.

Ye shall not eat of it raw, or sodden at all in water, but roast with fire; the head thereof, with the legs thereof, and with the purtenance thereof. And ye shall not let ought remain of it until the morning: and that which remaineth of it until the morning, ye shall burn with fire. And thus shall ye eat it. with your loins girded, your shoes on your feet, and your staff in your hand: and ye shall eat it in hast; it is Jehovah's Passover. And I will pass through the land of Egypt in this night, and will smite every first-borne in the land of Egypt, from man even unto beast: and against all the gods of Egypt will I do judgments; I Jehovah. And the blood shall be to you for a sign upon the houses where you are; and I will see the blood, and will pass over you, and the plague shall not be upon you to destruction, when I smite the land of Egypt. And this day shall be unto you for a memorial, and ye shall festively keep it a feast to Jehovah; throughout your generations shall ye festively keep it, by an everlasting statute. Seven days shall ye eat unleavened cakes, even in the first day ye shall cause the old leaven to cease out of your houses: for whosoever eateth leavened bread, even that soul shall be cut off from Israel, from the first day until the seventh day. And in the first day there shall be unto you a convocation of holiness, and in the seventh day a convocation of holiness: not any work shall be done in them; but that which shall be eaten of every soul, that only shall be done of you. And ye shall observe the (feast of) unleavened cakes, for in this self-same day have I brought forth your armies out of the land of Egypt: and ye shall observe this day throughout your generations, by an everlasting statute. In the first (month) in the fourteenth day of the month, at the evening, ye shall eat unleavened cakes, until the one and twentieth day of the month at the evening. Seven days, old leaven shall not be found in your houses; for whosoever eateth that which is leavened, even that soul shall be cut off from the congregation of Israel, be he of the stranger, or of the home-borne of the land. Any leavened thing ye shall not eat: in all your habitations ye shall eat unleavened cakes. And Moses called for all the Elders of Israel, and said unto them, Draw out, and take to you lambes, according to your families, and kill the Passover. And ye shall take a bunch of hyssop, and dip it in the blood that is in the bason, and strike on the upper door-post, and on the two side-posts, with the blood that is in the bason: and you, ye shall not go forth any man out of the door of his house, until the morning. For Jehovah will pass through to smite the Egyptians, and will see the blood on the upper door-post, and on the two side-posts: and Jehovah will pass over the door, and will not give the destroyer to come in unto your houses to smite. And ye shall observe this thing for a statute to thee, and to thy sons forever. And it shall be, when ye are come in unto the land which Jehovah will give you, even as he hath spoken, then ye shall keep this service. And it shall be, when your sons shall say unto you, What is this service to you? Then ye shall say, It is the sacrifice of the Passover, to Jehovah, who passed over the houses of the sons of Israel in Egypt, when he smote the Egyptians, and delivered our houses: And the people bended down the head, and bowed themselves. And the sons of Israel went and did, even as Jehovah had commanded Moses and Aaron, so did they. And it was, that at midnight Jehovah smote every first-borne in the land of Egypt, from the first-borne of Pharaoh that sate on his throne, unto the first-borne of the captive that was in the prison house, and every first-borne of beasts. And Pharaoh rose up in the night, he and all his servants, and all the Egyptians; & there was a great cry in Egypt, for there was not a house where there was not one dead. And he called for Moses and for Aaron in the night, and said,

Rise up, go out from amongst my people, both you and the sons of Israel; and go, serve Jehovah, as ye have spoken. Also take your stocks and your herds, as ye have spoken, and go: and bless me also. And the Egyptians were urgent upon the people, making hast to send them away out of the land: for they said, We be all dead men. And the people took up their dough before it was leavened, their lumps of dough, bound up in their clothes, upon their shoulders. And the sons of Israel did according to the word of Moses; and asked of the Egyptians jewles of silver, and jewels of gold, and garments. And Jehovah gave the people grace in the eyes of the Egyptians, and they gave them their asking: and they spoiled the Egyptians. And the sons of Israel journeyed from Rameses to Succoth, about six hundred thousand on foot, that were men, beside little ones. And also much mixed people went up with them, and flocks and herds, a very great possession of cattle. And they baked the dough which they brought forth out of Egypt, cakes unleavened, for it was not leavened; for they were thrust out from Egypt, and could not tarry; neither had they made ready for themselves any victual. And the dwelling of the sons of Israel, who dwelt in Egypt, was four hundred years, and thirty years. And it was, at the end of the four hundred years, and thirty years, even in the self-same day it was, all the armies of Jehovah went out from the land of Egypt. It is a night of observations to Jehovah, for bringing them out from the land of Egypt: this is that night of Jehovah, of observations for all the sons of Israel through-out their generations. And Jehovah said unto Moses and Aaron; This is the statute of the Passover: no strangers son shall eat thereof. But every servant of any man, bought for money, when thou hast circumcised him, then he shall eat thereof. A foreigner and an hired servant shall not eat thereof. In one house shall it be eaten; thou shalt not carry forth ought of the flesh abroad out of the house, and ye shall not break a bone thereof. All the congregation of Israel shall do it. And when a stranger shall sojourn with thee, and will do the Passover to Jehovah, let every male of his be circumcised, and then he shall come near to do it; and he shall be as the home-borne of the land: but any uncircumcised shall not eat thereof. One law shall be to the home-borne, and to the stranger that sojourneth among you. And all the sons of Israel did; even as Jehovah commanded Moses and Aaron, so did they. And it was, in this self-same day, Jehovah brought forth the sons of Israel out of the land of Egypt, by their armies.

Annotations.

ANd] or, Also Iebovah had said: to wit, before Moses had gone out from Pharaohs presence; and threatened the death of the first borne, Exod. 11. 4. for this pasch all Lamb was got ready, the fourth day before it was killed; as after is manifest in verse 3. and 6. This month•named in Hebrew, Abib, Exod. 13. 4. and Nisan, Nehem. 2. 1. (by which name the Chaldee calleth it in this chapter, verse 18.) it is with us called March, or April; for it fell out sometime to be part of both. the head] that is, as the Greek translath, the beginning. So the head (that is, the beginning) of the year, Ezek. 40. 1. unto you;] By reason of this their going out of Egypt, the year (which before began in September, Exod. 23. 16,) hath his beginning to the Jews Ecclesiastically in Abib, or March: but for the Iubilees, and civil affairs, it began as it had done before, Levite. 25. 8. 9. 10. This also Josephus testifieth, in Antiq. b. 1. c 4. See the notes on Gen. 7. 11. Because this release of Israel, was a figure of the Churches redemption by Christ, who reneweth the world, 1 Cor. 5. 7. 8. 2 Cor. 5. 17. and who was to suffer death also in this month, John. 18. 28. &c. therefore God made it the head and first of the year: that by it the Church might be taught to expect the acceptable year of the Lord, which Christ preached, Luk. 4. 19.

Vers. 3. the tenth] that is, the 10. day: as, the first, Matth. 26. 17. is expounded, the first day, Mar. 14. 12. On this day the Israelites after did go through Jordan, into the land of Canaan, Ios. 4. 19. And Christ (our pascal Lamb) on this day entered Jerusalem, riding upon an asse colt, and was received of the people with palm branches, and crying Hosanna, &c. John. 12. 1. 12. 13. &c. In him this type was truly fulfilled. that they] or, and let them take: the Greek translath, let them take: leaving ont the word and; which the Hebrew sometime doth, as is noted on Gen. 8. 6. lamb] or kid: a young sheep or goat, as is explained in verse. 5. It was a figure of Christ, the true Lamb of GOD, 1 Cor. 5. 7. John. 1. 29. house,] that is, as the Greek translath, houses. The whole army of Israel, was divided into twelve tribes, those tribes into families, the families again into houses, and then to particular persons; as appeareth by Num. 1. and Ios. 7. 14. &c.

Vers. 4. to before] or, to be above a lamb; so that they cannot overcome the same by eating it up. The words following, show this to be meant, for eating: and the Greek translath thus, if there be few in the house so that they are not enough for the lamb. As the word little, or less, sometime signifieth unworthiness, Gen. 32. 10. so here and elsewhere it signifieth inability: which the Scripture maketh plain; as, too little to receive, 1 King. 8. 64. is expounded, not able to receive, 2 Chro. 7. 7. souls,] that is, persons. 〈...〉 make your count,] or, shell number; to wit, how many are meet and sufficient, for the eating of the lamb. Our Savior and his twelve disciples did eat the same together, Matth. 26. 18. 20. Of this counting the Jews do write, (gathering it from this law) that it must be made, whiles the Lamb is yet alive: and the passover might not be killed, but for such as were made count of; and those they called sons of the society, (that is, communicants.) And that if the Lamb were killed for such as were not counted therefore, or for any that could not eat thereof, (as infants, sick persons, &c.) or for the uncircumcised, or for the unclean; it was not allowable. Maimonides in Corban pesach, chap. 2.

Vers. 5. perfect,] that is, entire, whole, sound, in all outward parts, and so without blemish; as the Law elsewhere explaineth it; saying, it shall be perfect to be accepted, there shall be no blemish therein, Levite. 22. 21. And the Greek in this place, translatheth it both ways, perfect, and unblemished. This also respected Christ our Passover, called the Lamb unblemished, 1 Pet. 1. 19. And all sacrifices, the types of him, were to be such, Levite. 1. 3. 10. &c. And by perfect, and without blemish, is meant (not to be without spots or sundry colors in the skin or wool; but) to have neither want, nor superfluity of members; to be neither blind, nor broken, nor maimed, nor having a wenne, nor skurvie, nor scabbed, nor bruised, nor crushed, nor sick, &c. Levite. 22. 22.—24. Mal. 1. 8. And the Jews write of fifty blemishes that do disable beasts for sacrifices; five in the ear, three in the eye-lid, eight in the eye, three in the nose, six in the mouth, twelve in the members of generation, six in the feet, four in any place of the body; as scabs, wens, &c. and three beside over all the body, as trembling with old age, sickness, and foulness with excrements. Maimonides in Misneh, treat. of entering into the Sanctuary, chap. 7. Likewise they mention other things, that make a beast unlawful to be sacrificed unto God; as, if it were untimely, before it was eight days old, Levite. 22. 27. if it were a beast of sundry shapes, as part like a sheep and part like a goat, or a shaepe brought forth of a goat, or a goat of a sheep: if it were both male and female, or neither male nor female: if it had lien with, or had been lien with of another kind, contrary to Levite. 19. 19. and 20. 15. 16. if it had killed a man, Exod. 21. 28. if it were the hire of a whore, or price of a dog, Deut. 23. 18. if it had been dedicated to idolatry, for so corruption is in them, contrary to Levite. 22. 25. and the like, shown by Maimonides, in Asurei Mizbeach, chap. 3. of the first year:] Hebr. son of a year, of which phrase see the notes on Gen. 5. 32. So from the Law in Lev. 22. 27. and from this place it hath been expounded by the Jews, that the Lamb after it was eight days old, and forward, was allowable to be offered for the Passover: and if it were but an hour older then a year, it was unlawful. Maimonides in Misneb. treat. of the offering of the sacrifices, chap. 1. S. 12. 13.

Vers. 6. by you kept up:] or, for you kept; Heb. for a keeping up (or a custody) to you: that is, kept apart from the rest of the flock, from the tenth to the fourteenth day. Of this rite there is no mention after in the Law, Levite. 23. 5.—8. Num. 9. 2. 11. and 28. 16. 17. Deut. 16. where the Passover is commanded. And the Jew Doctors think it was but for-this time only: for they write of these partitulars, 1 the eating of it in their houses dispersed in Egypt; 2. the taking up of the pascal Lamb, from the tenth day; 3. the charge to strike the blood on the door posts; 4, and that they should eat it in hafle: these things were not required of the generations after, neither were done, but at the Passover in Egypt only. Maimonides, in Corban Pesach, chap. 10. S. 15. So in the B••. Talmud, treat. Pesachim, chap. 9. whole Church] that is, as the Greek translatheth it, the whole multitude; all of the Church or assembly. the two evenings] that is, as the Greek saith, towards evening: in the afternoon and before sun setting. For as God at the first made the day of evening and morning, Gen. 1. 5. so after among the Jews, (as is also amongst us) all the forenoone was counted morning, and all the afternoon, evening. The latter evening began at Sun setting, Ios. 10. 26 27. The day (from Sun rising to the setting) had twelve hours, as Christ saith, Are there not twelve hours in the day? John. 11. 9. Their first hour, was about six of the clock in the morning with us their sixth hour, was our noon: their ninth hour, was three of the clock in the afternoon. By this we may understand the time of Christ crutified; which began at the third hour (that is, at nine of the clock in the morning, the ordinary time for the daily morning sacrifice) and ended at the ninth hour, (that is, at three in the afternoon, the time of the evening sacrifice;) Mark 15. 25. 33. 34. 37. Wherefore the ninth hour, was their hour of prayer, when they used to go into the Temple, at the daily evening sacrifice, Acts 3. 1. And this was the ordinary time for the Passover; as R. Menachem (upon this place) saith, between the two evenings, at the time of prayer, at the oblation; as Isack our father of blessed memory hath directed, (Gen. 24. 63.) Howbeit, God setteth no hour for the killing of the Passover, because it might vary occasionally: but if it were killed in the afternoon, and before Sun set, it was allowable. Further to show this, the Hebrew Doctors in the Babylonian Talmud, treat. of the Passovers, chap. 5. do write thus. The daily evening sacrifice (whereof see Exod. 29. 38. 39.) was killed at the eight hour and a half, (that is, half an hour before three of the clock in the afternoon;) and it was offered up at the ninth hour and an half, (that is, half an hour after three.) In the evening of the Passover, it was killed at the seventh hour and an half; and offered at eight and an half; (that is, half an hour before three.) And if the evening of the Passover did fall to be on the evening of the Sabbath, it was killed at six and  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  half, and offered at seven and an half: (that is, half an hour before two of the clock.) The reason her of was, because they were first to kill the daily sacrifice, and then to kill and roste the Passover, and also to rest the evening before the Sabbath. Agreeable unto this, Maimonides (in Corban Pesach, chap. 1. S. 4.) saith, The killing of the Passover is after mid-day, and if they kill it before, it is not allowable and they kill it not but after the daily evening sacrifice, and burning of incense: and after they have trimmed the lamps, they begin to kill the pascal lambs, until the end of the day. This he speaketh of their manner in the Temple. And by this time of the day God foreshowed the sufferings of Christ in the evening of times, or in the last days, Heb. 1. 2. 1 Pet. 1. 19. 20. and about the same time of the day, when the pascal Lamb ordinarily died, he died also, at the ninth hour, Matt. 27. 46. 50.

Verse 7. give it] that is, strike it, with the his sope sprinkle, as is explained in verse 22. signifying the applying of Christ's blood, sprinkled upon all believers hearts, 1 <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> 1. 2. Heb. 9. 13, 14. So the Law was after to be written on their door posts, Deut. 6. 9. intending it chiefly upon their hearts, Heb. 8. 10. Compare with this, the Law in E•k. 45. 19. where the blood of the sacrifice was also put upon the posts of the house of the Lord, for to cleanse the same. This ordinance was but for that time only in Egypt: for after they might not kill the Passover within any of their own gates, but in the public place of God's worship, Deut. 16 5, 6, 7. which at last was Jerusalem, where by the Priests the Passover was killed, and flayed in the court of the temple, and the blood sprinkled on the altar, 2 Chron. 35. 1. 2 6. 10. 11. Levite. 17. 3.—6. Then the owner of the Lamb took it of the Priests, and brought it to his house in Jerusalem, and roasted it, and ate it in the evening; as Maimonides showeth in Corban Pesach, chap. 1. S. 6. After this manner Christ with his disciples kept the Passover, eating it in a chamber within Jerusalem, Luk. 22. 7. 8. 10. 11. &c upper door post] but on the threshold under their feet, it was not commanded to be sprinkled. Hereby a reverent regard of the blood of Christ, seemeth to be taught: that men should not tread underfoot the son of God; nor count the blood of the covenant. wherewith they were sãctified, an unholy thing, Heb. 10. 29

Ver. 8. unleavened cakes] or, loaves: but the word cakes is expressed in the 39 verse. The signification hereof Paul declareth, saying, Let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unlovened cakes of sincerity and truth, 1 Cor. 5. 8. The manner of speaking w<sup>ch</sup> Moses here useth, and unleavened cakes with bitter herbs, is changed in Num. 9. 11. thus, with unleavened cakes, and bitter herbs: so the one explains the other. Hereupon the Hebrews say, The eating of the flesh of the peschall lamb on the 15 night, is commanded to be done: & it may be eaten alone, if unleavened bread and bitter herbs cannot be gotten: but bitter herbs, without the pascal lamb, are not commanded; for it, is written, with unleavened bread & bitter berbs, shall they eat it, Maimonides in Corban Pesach, c. 8 S. 1. 2. bitter herbs] Hebr, bitternesses; but herbs are meant, as cichory, wild lettice, and the likes: which they did eat with the lamb, in remembrance of their afflictions in Egypt, where their lives had been bitter, Ex. 1. 14 And hereunto Jeremiah seems to have reference in his sorrows, saying; He hath fed me to the full with bitter herbs (or bitternesses;) he hath made me drank with wormwood, Lam. 3. 15. They were also to type out the bitter sorrows of Christ, & our mortificatiō & afflictions with him, 1 Cor. 5. 7. <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> 11. 26. Phil. 3. 10 <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> . <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> ▪ 24. Zach. 12. •0. Revel. 10. •0. Hereof the Hebrew cannons say; The eating of bitter herbs, is not commanded

Moreover they used a certain •ause, thick like mustard; they called it Charoeth, and say it was a <ϕ> of the clay, wherein they wrought in Egypt: it was made, of the palm tree branches, or of ray sin•, or other like berries; which they stamped, and put vinegar thereto, and seasoned it and made it like clay, and brought it <ϕ> the tabl <...> the night of the Passeovar. Maimonides ibidem, S. 1•. This is thought of some, to be that wherein Christ dipped the sop, which he gave unto Judas, John• 13. 26: for by the Hebrews records, they used to dip the unleavened bread in that sauce (Charoeth) and to eat; then they dipped the bitter herbs in the Charoeth, and did eat them; Maimonides treat of Leven, c. 8. S. 7. Together with the pascal Lamb• they used to drink wine; for it was a feast of the Lord, and a sacrifice; therefore to be celebrated with joy and with wine, by proportion from the Law in Deut. 16. 11. 12. Num. 15. 5. They say, everyone both of men and women, is bound to drink that night• four cups of wine without fail: and though <ϕ> <...> , and live on alms, he must not drink less than those four cups; and every cup contained a quarter (of a Log, that is so much as an egg and a half; whereof see the notes on Exod. 30. 24.) He blesseth (God) for every of these cups severally; and for the fourth cap, •e accomplisheth the praise, and blesseth for it, the blessing of the Song, Maimonides treat of Leven, c. 7. S. 10. Unto these phrases, the New Testament seemeth to have reference, when it speaketh of the C•p of blessing, 1 Cor. 10. 16. and of singing an hymn, Mark• •4. 26. I will hereshew the order which the Jews <ϕ> the ages following, kept at the Passover; as themselves have recorded it. First a cup (of wine) is filled for everyone, and he blesseth for it, him that created the fruit of the vine, &c. and drinketh it. After that, he blesseth for the washing of hands; and washeth his hands: Then is brought in a table furnished, and upon it, bitter herbs, and unleavened bread, and the <ϕ> (Cha•s•th•) and the body of the pa••hall Lamb, and the flesh of the Chagigah [or Feast-offering, whereof <ϕ> the notes on Deut eronomie 16.] which is for the fourteenth day of the month. Afterward, <ϕϕ> is taken a•ay •rom• before him only <...> the <...> their deliverance out <...> ▪ as is commanded in <ϕ> •3. 8. and 12. 17.] Then they fill the second cup, and the son asketh [what is meant by this service; according to Exodus 12. 26.] and he that makes the declaration, •aith; How different is this night from all other nights? For all other nights, we wash but once, but this night twice. All other nights, we <ϕ> leavened bread, or unleavened: but this night unleavened bread only. All other nights, we eat flesh, roasted, baked or boiled: but this night roasted only. All other nights, we eat of any other herbs: but this night bitter herbs. All other nights we eat either sitting or lying: but this night, lying only. Then the table is brought again before him, and he faith; This Passover which we eat, is in respect that the Lord passed over the houses of our fathers in Egypt. Then holdeth he up the bitter herbs in his hand, and saith; These bitter herbs which we eat, are in respect that the Egyptians made the lives of our fathers bitter in Egypt. Then he holdeth up the unleavened bread in his hand, and saith; This unleavened bread which we eat, is in respect that the dough of our fathers had not time to be leavened, when the Lord appeared unto them, and redeemed them out of the hand of the enemy; and they baked unleavened cakes of the dough which they brought out of Egypt, Exodus 12. 39. Then he saith; Therefore are we bound to confess, to praise, to laud, to celebrate, to glorify, to honor, to extol, to magnify and to ascribe victory, unto him that did unto our fathers and unto us, all these signs; and brought us forth from servitude to freedom, from sorrow to joy, from darkness to great light; and we say before him Hallelujah. Hallelujah, Praise O ye servants of the LORD, &c. unto, the f••trocke, to a fountain of waters: that is, the hundred and thirteenth, and to the end of the hundred and fourteenth Psalm. Then they bless the Lord which redeemed them and their fathers out of Egypt; and hath brought them unto that night, to eat unleavened bread therein, and bitter herbs. And he blesseth GOD who createth the fruit of the vine; and drinketh the second cup. After this, he blesseth for the washing of hands, and washeth his hands the second time; and taketh two cakes; parteth one of them, &c. and blesseth (GOD) that bringeth bread out of the earth. Because it is said, the bread of affliction (or of poverty) Deuteronomy 16. 3. as it is the manner of the poor, to have broken meat, so here is a broken part. Afterwards, he wrappeth up of the unleavened bread and of the bitter herbs together, and dippeth them in the •auce, and blesseth GOD, which commanded to eat unleavened bread and bitter herbs; and they eat. Then he blesseth GOD, which commanded the eating of the sacrifice, and he eateth the flesh of the feast offering; and again blesseth GOD which commanded the eating of the Passover, and then he 〈◊〉 of the body of the Passover. After this, they •it long at Supper, and eat everyone so much as he will, and drink as much as they will drink. Afterward he eateth of the flesh of the Passover, though it be but so much as an olive, and tasteth nothing at all after it: that it may be the end of his supper, and that the taste of the flesh of the Passover, may remain in his mouth. After this, he lifteth up his hands, and blesseth for the third cup of wine, and drinketh it. Then filleth he the fourth cup, and accomplisheth for it the Praise (or Hymn;) and saith for it, the blessing of the Song, which is, All thy works praise thee O Lord, &c. (Psalm 145. 10.) and blesseth God that created the fruit of the vine, and tasteth nothing at all after it, all the night, except water. And he may fill the fifth cup, saying for it the great Hymn, (the hundred thirty six Psalm) Confess ye to the Lord, for he is good; for his mercy endureth forever; unto the end of that Psalm. But he is not bound (they say) to that cup, as to the four former cups. These things are shown by Maimonides in his treatise of Leven and unleavened bread, chapter 8. where also he noteth some differences at this time, when having no Temple, they can have no sacrifice, neither kill the pascal Lamb; but only use the unleavened bread, bitter herbs, and wine, in their private houses. After, in his Copy of the Haggadah (or Narration) of the Passover, he showeth what words they used at the breaking and delivering of the unleavened bread; This is the bread of affliction, which our fathers did eat in the land of Egypt: whosoever is hungry, let him come and eat: whosoever hath need, let him come and keep the Passover, &c. These observations of the Jews whiles their commonwealth stood, and to this day, may give light to some particulars in the Passover that Christ kept; as why they lay down, one leaning on another's bosom, John. 13. 23. (a sign of rest and security) and stood not, as at the first Passover, neither ate on high, as we use. Why Christ rose from supper, and washed, and sate down again, John 13. 4. 5. 12. Why he blessed, or gave thanks, for the bread apart, and for the cup (or wine) apart, Mark 14. 22. 23. and why it is said, he took the cup after supper, Luke 22. 20. also concerning the Hymn which they sung at the end, Matthew 26. 30. and why Paul calleth it the showing forth of the Lord's death, 1 Corinthians 11. 26. as the Jews usually called their Passover, Haggadah, that is, a Showing or Declaration. But specially we may observe, how the bread which was of old a remembrance of their deliverance out of Egypt, was sanctified by the Son of God, to be a remembrance of his death, and of our redemption thereby from Satan, 1 Corinthians 11. 24. 25. 26. for which we have much more cause to praise, honor and magnify the Lord, than the Hebrews had for their temporary salvation.

Verse 9. raw] That raw, whereof the Law warneth us, is flesh whereon the fire hath begun to work, and it is roasted a little, but not fit for man to eat as yet; saith Maimonides in Corban Pesach, chapter 8. S. 6. It might figure a full and due preparation, by the preaching of the Gospel, and showing forth of Christ's death; with an examination of our selves, that we eat not unworthily, and so eat judgment to ourselves: 1 Corinthians 11. 26. 28. 29. sodden at all] or any way sod, Hebr. sodden sod in water. The Jews explain it, so generally: neither to be sodden in water, nor in any other liquor or juice of fruits. Neither roasted, and afterward sodden; nor perboyled, and afterward roasted, &c. Yet they say it was lawful to baste it with wine, or oil, or any liquor except water: also, lawful to dip the flesh when it was roasted, in liquors, or juice of fruits. Maimonides, in Corban Pesach, chapter 8. S. 7. 8. At the Passover which Christ did eat, the Evangelists mention his dipping of a sop, and giving it to Judas, John 13. 26. In seething, the water is mixed with the flesh: the forbidding whereof, seemeth to teach the simplicity that should be in Christ; that we know nothing but Christ and him crucified, 2 Corinthians 11. 3. 1 Corinthians 2. 2. with fire:] a figure both of God's Spirit, compared to fire, Matthew 3. 11. through which Christ offered himself to God, Heb. 9. 14. and of the fire of God's wrath which Christ was to suffer, whiles he was made a curse for us, by his death, Galath. 3. 13. Ierem. 4. 4. Lament. 1. 13. and 2. 4. This charge to roast it with fire, the Jew Doctors observed precisely, holding it unlawful to bake it any manner of way; also to heat a furnace, and taking away all the fire, to hang the Lamb therein, and so roast it, or the like, they say was unlawful. Maimonides, Corban Pesach, chapter 8. S. 9. 10. the purt'nance,] or, the inward: meaning that the Lamb must be roasted all and whole; not cut into pieces. To signify our full Communion with Christ, whole and undivided, 1 Cor. 1. 13. 30. Gal. 2. 20.

Vers. 10. till the morning;] they were to eat up all (if they could) at that meal. To teach care for the present enjoying of Christ by faith, and of his whole covenant, without delay. For by the morning, the change of our estate is often signified, Psalm 30. 6. Isaiah. 17. 14. 2 Kings 19. 35. for our sleep is an image of death. And the Jews have recorded that though it was lawful to eat all the night long, till the day dawning; yet might none of the company eat again after he had slept, though it were in the beginning of the night. Maimonides, Corban Pesach, chapter 8. S. 14. So Manna, might not be left till the morning, Exodus 16. 19. nor some other sacrifices, Lev. 22. 30. burn] that so it might be consumed: and such was the law for other sacrifices, which by being reserved over-long, were made abominable to be eaten, and must therefore be burned, Lev. 7. 15. 18. & 19. 6. 7. So, flesh of the sacrifices that touched any unclean thing, might not be eaten, but burnt, Levite. 7. 19. Hereby also God might teach Israel, that when the morning, the time of grace in Christ is come, there should be no longer reservation of those legal shadows, which should have their accomplishment and end at our Lord's death; and be condemned as unlawful, as if they were burned by the fire of GOD'S Word and Spirit, Colossians 2. 16. 17. Gal. 4. 9. 10. 11. Hebr. 13. 9. 10. And so the Prophets fore-told, that the days should come when it, should no more be said, The Lord liveth, which brought up the sons of Israel out of the land of Egypt, Ier. 16. 14. neither should they say anymore, The A•ke of the covenant of the Lord, for it shall come no more to wind▪ neither shall they remember it, &c. Ier. 3. 16.

Vers. 11. girded;] this signifieth, a readiness to take a journey, or any other work in hand, 2 King. 4. 29. and 9 1. Ier. 1. 17. Luk. 12. 35. 36. and figured▪ the girding of the loins of the mind, with strength, justice verity, &c. Prov. 31. 17. Isaiah. 11. 5. Eph. 6. 14. Wherefore the Apostle saith, Gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope perfectly for the grace that is to be brought unto you, at the revelation of Jesus Christ, 1 Pet. 1. 13. shoes on,] another sign first of readiness to go forth, Isaiah. 5. 27. Acts 12. 8. secondly, of deliverance out of bondage, (as the contrary to go •arefoot, was a sign of captivity, Isaiah. 20. 4.) and thirdly of joyfulness for their deliverance from affliction; (as contrariwise in sorrow men went barefoot, 2 Sam. 15. 30.) It was also a figure of the Gospel of peace, wherewith our feet should be ready and firm, Ephesians 6. 15. Of which the Holy Ghost saith, How beautiful are thy feet with shoes, O Princes daughter: Song 7. 1. staff;] to sustain their infirmities: and this in their hand, was also for expedition to the journey, Zach. 8. 4. Mark. 6. 8. Compare herewith, Jacob's speech; with my staff I passed over this Jordan, Genesis 32. 10. in haste,] because they were now in danger, and for it to go out of Egypt in haste, Deut. 16. 3. and so in haste, and as with violence, to apprehend and apply Christ unto them by faith, Matth. 11. 12. The original word signifieth, an hastening away through fear or amazement; as in Deut. 20. 3. and so may signify the sudden fears wrought in the conscience by the Gospel of Christ, at the first preaching thereof, (as in Act. 2. 37.) though after it giveth comfort and peace. This manner of eating, was peculiar unto the first pasche in Egypt: neither were the generations following bound to these rites, when they were come to their rest in Canaan; as is before noted on verse 6. Neither did Christ and his Disciples thus eat it; for they stood not girded with staves in their hands: but sate, or rather lay down, leaning one on another's breast, as was then the Jews manner, in sign of their rest and security otherwise than they had in Egypt: as their Doctors teach in the Talmud, treat. of the Passover. See Mark 14. 18. John 13. 12. 25. Also Isaiah prophesied, ye shall not go out in haste, nor depart by fleeing away, &c. Isaiah. 52. 12. Passover] called in Hebrew, Pesach; and after in the Ierusalemite language, Pascha: which name the Evangelists keep also in the Greek, Matth. 26. 2. &c. and in other tongues, it is now called Pasche: we in old English called it F•reld, at this day we name it the Passover, according to the interpretation of the Hebrew word, which signifieth to fare, pass, o• (𐤑) over, as God did over the houses of the Isra <...> verse 13. 27. And as the festival time, so the Lamb then killed, is called the Passover, Luke 2. 41. and 22. 7. and the Lamb of GOD Christ is so named also, 1 Corinthians 5. 7. because for his sake God passeth over us, and destroyeth us not with the world, John 3. 16.

18. Seven famous Passovers are recorded in Scripture to have been kept. The first, this which Israel kept in Egypt. The second that, which they kept in the wilderness, Numbers 9. The third, which Jesus kept with Israel, when he had newly brought them into Canaan, Josh. 5. 10. The fourth, in the reformation of Israel by King Hezekiah, 2 Chron. 30. The fifth under King Josiah, 2 Chronicles 35. The sixth, by Israel returned out of the captivity of Babylon, Ezr. 6. 19. The seventh, that which Jesus our Savior desired so earnestly, and did eat with his disciples before he suffered, Luke 22. 15. &c. At which time, that legal Passover had an end, and our Lord's Supper came in the place, The memorial of Christ our Passover, sacrificed for us▪

Vers. 12. the gods;] the Chaldee translath, the [unspec] idols: the same is again mentioned in Num. 33. 4. And after, a like thing is prophesied, the Lord shall come into Egypt, and the idols of Egypt shall be moved at his presence, Isaiah. 19. 1. and again, he shall break the images of the house of the sun, &c. and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians, shall be burnt with fire, Jeremiah 43. 13. So Laban lost his idols, when Israel fled from Syria, Genes. 31. 19. 30. the idols and images of Babylon perished, when it was destroyed, Ierem. 50. 2. and all such shall perish in the time of their visitation, Ier. 10. 15. and 51. 18. Of this the Hebrew Doctors also say, when Israel came out of Egypt, what did the holy blessed God? he threw down all the images of their abominations, and they were broken in pieces. Pirkei R Eliezer, chapter 48. judgments,] the Greek translath it, vengeance. This was done, that God might be known to be greater than all the gods, Exod. 18. 11. and to avenge the corruption that Israel had gotten by the idols of Egypt, Ezek. 20. 8.

Vers. 13. pass.] or leap: the Hebrew is pasach, and this showeth the reason of the name Pasch or Passover, and so Christ is called, because his blood cleanseth us from all sin, and delivereth us from wrath, 1 John. 1. 7. 1 Thes. 1. 10. The Greek translath, I will protect you: the Chaldee, I will spare you: and so in verse 27. to destruction,] Hebr. to corruption; that is, to be corrupted, or destroyed, by the destroyer, as verse. 23.

V. 14. festively keep,] it implieth mirth & joy, for their deliverance hereby remembered, see Ex. 5. 1. and at their feasts, they were commanded to rejoice, and forbidden to mourn or weep, Deut. 16. 11. 15. Nehem. 8. 9.—12. everlasting statute] Heb. statute of eternity; meaning an eternal ordinance, to be kept once a year, all days of their life, till Christ became our Passover: since which time it is also kept eternally, in remembrance of his death until he come, Deut. 16. 1. 3. 1 Corinth. 5. 7. 8. and 11. 25. 26.

Vers. 15. Seven days] after the pascal day, for it was a distinct feast and commandment. The Passover was to be kept on the fourteenth day of the first month, at even: the feast of Unleavened bread, began the fifteenth day of the same month, and lasted seven days, of which the first day, and the last, the seventh day, were holy convocations, wherein they might do no servile work, as Moses plainly showeth in Levite. 23. 5▪ 6. 7. 8. The Passover (in the ages following) might not be killed and eaten in any place, but where the Lord did choose to place his name there, Deut. 16. 5. 6. 7. which afterward was in Jerusalem: but the feast of Unleavened bread, the Hebrews thought themselves bound to keep in every place, where they dwelled, if they could not be at Jerusalem. And the eating of it (they say) depended not on the eating of the Passover, but was a commandment by itself: Maimonides treat, of Leven and Unleavened bread, chap. 6. 8. 1.

Howbeit, with the Passover they might eat no leaven, as before is shown in verse. 8. It is unlawful to eat Leven, in the fourteenth day, from mid day and upward, which is from the beginning of the seventh hour of the day: and who so eateth it at that time, is to be beaten by the law; for it is said (in Deut. 16. 3.) Thou shalt eat no leaven with it, meaning with the sacrifice of the Passover. This they have expounded thus, Thou shalt not eat leaven from the hour that the Passover may be killed, which is between the two evenings, and that (beginneth) at mid-day. Maimonides ibidem, c. 1. <math>\diamond</math> .

8. These seven days wherein they might eat no Leven, figured the whole time of our life, which must be holy, with the unleavened cakes of sincerity and truth, 1 Corinth. 5. 8. and with thankful remembrance of our deliverance out of miseries; as this unleavened bread is called the bread of affliction, Deut. 16. 3. For seven is a full and perfect number of days, and the whole world was created therein: see the notes on Gen. 2. 2. and Lev. 4. 7. cause to cease] that is, put away, or abolish, as the Greek explaineth it. The Hebrews expound it thus, that a man should *abolish it in his heart, and count it as dust; and determine in his heart, that he will have no leaven at all within his power, but whatsoever Leven is in his power, it be as dust, and as a thing whereof he will have no use at all. And by the exposition of the Scribes, he is to search after Leven in secret places, and in corners, and to find it out, and to bring it forth out of all the bounds of his habitation. And so they search out and abolish Leven that night, at the beginning of the night of the fourteenth (day) by the light of a candle, out of all holes and corners, &c. And the putting away thereof was thus, either they burnt it, or broke it small, and threw it into the wind, or threw it into the sea. Maimonides treat. of Leven, chap. 2. S. 2. 3. and 3. 11. This ordinance the Jewes carefully observed; for in the day before they did eat the Passover (called the Preparation, John. 19. 14.) the father of the family, with other men, having lighted wax candles, searched all corners; to purge out all the remnants and crumbs of Leavened bread very diligently: first blessing the Lord, who sanctified them by his commandments, and had bidden them put away Leven; as is recorded in <math>\diamond</math> . treat. of the Passovers. chap. 2. <math>\diamond</math> figured the putting away of wickedness and malice out of our hearts, and of wicked persons out of the Church. 1 Corinth. 5. 7. 8. 13. old L <math>\dots</math> ] Two words are used for Leven, by Moses, in this verse; the one Seer, which hath the name of being left, or remaining: this we may call old Leven, as Paul speaketh in 1 Cor. 5. 7. The other Chamets, so called of the sourexesse of the taste: of it, the Greeks (by transplacing the letters) call Leven, Zumee. These signified two sorts also of spiritual Leven, the one hidden and secret, which our Savior saith is Hypocrisy, Luke 12. 1. the other more open and apparent, as false and corrupt Doctrine, Matthew 16. 6. 12. evil manners, as Malice and Wickedness, 1 Corinthians 5. 8. and wicked persons, unto whom the Saints are opposed, as being Unleavened-cakes, 1 Corinthians 5. 6. 7. 13. So David calleth the malicious man, and him that corrupteth the word of God, and infecteth with error, a Leavened person, or Levener, Psalm 71. 4. and the heart infected with error, and vexed with grief, is said to be Leavened, Psalm 73. 21. Wherefore Leven was forbidden at the pascal Feast, to lead men unto soundness in the faith of Christ, and sincerity in all their conversation. The footsteps of this Law remained among the heathens; for, the Flamen Dialis (or Roman Priest) might not, by their canons, touch any leavened meal; Aul. Gellius, book 8. chap. 15. and Plutarch (in Quaest. Rom.) scanneth the reason of it; because Leven it self proceedeth from corruption, and corrupteth also the meal with which it is mixed. Now what Leven properly was, the Hebrew Doctors show thus:*

Nothing is forbidden by the name of Leavened bread in the Passover, but of five sorts of corn only; which are two sorts of wheat, namely the common Wheat, and the Rye: and three sorts of Barley; which are the common Barley, and the Fox ear (Barley) and Oates. But the kinds of pulse, as Rice, and Millet, and Beanes, and Lontiles, and the like; there is not of them any leavened bread. For though the meal of Rice and the like, •kne•ded, and covered with clothes, like dough which is leavened: yet is it lawful to be eaten, for it is not leavened but putrefied. The five sorts of corn aforesaid, if they be kneaded with the liquor of fruits only, without any water, they are never counted leavened, but are lawful to be eaten; for the juice of fruits do not leaven, but putrefy. And the liquors of fruits, are as wine and milk, and honey, and oil olive, and the juice of apples, and pomgranats, and all such like. But if any water be mixed with them, they do leaven. They may not boil wheat in water, neither the beaten grain, nor the meal, for then it is perfectly leavened; and if that it be burst in the boylying. They may not fr•e the paste in oil in a pan. But they may boil the grain and the meal of parched corn. It is lawful to boil the corn or the meal, in the liquor of fruits. Likewise paste, that is kneaded in the liquor of fruits, if they boil it in the liquor of fruits, or frie it in a pan in oil, it is lawful: for the liquor of fruits leaven not, &c. In any •roth or pottage that they boil; if any Barley or Wheat be found therein, and the grain be burst, all that broth is unlawful; for leaven is mixed with it. If the grains be not broken, they take them out and burn them, and the rest of the pottage they may eat: for corn so mixed or boiled, and not burst, is not by the Law perfectly leavened, &c. Maimonides in treat<sup>a</sup> of Leven and Unleavened bread, c. 5. S. 1. &c. that soul] the Chaldee expounds it, that man. So in verse 19. cut off,] the Greek saith, destroyed: see Gen. 17. 14. The Hebrew cannons say, who so eateth so much as an olive of leaven in the Passover, from the beginning of the might of the 15 night, unto the end of the one and twentieth day of Nisan, if he do it presumptuously, is guilty of being cut off: if ignorantly, he is bound to bring the sameoffring appointed for the same. If he eat any whit of leaven at all, it is forbidden by the law; and though he be not to be cut off, or bring an offering but for the foresaid quantity of an olive, yet he that eateth less than that presumptuously, is to be chastised with stripes, Maimonides treat, of Leven. chap. 1. S. 1. 7. from the first, &c.] that is, who so eateth leaven any of these days.

Vers. 16. convocation,] an holy assembly, of all the people: and so a Sabbath, as Levite. 23. 39. The like order was at other feasts, Levite. 23. 2. 3. 7. 21. 24. 27. 35. So these feasts were for the honor of God, and increase of faith and holiness in his people, assembling for religious exercises. done,] dressed and made ready to eat: which yet on the Sabbath day, was unlawful to be done: Exodus 16. 5. 23. 29. and 35. 2. 3.

Vers. 17. self same:] Hebr. the strength (or, body) of this day: so verse 41. and 51. see Gen. 17. 23. I brought forth] God did this by his Angel, as it is written, he sent an Angel and brought us forth out of Egypt, Num. 20. 16. The Hebrew Doctors say, The redemption from Egypt, was by the hand of the Angel the Redeemer, with the power of the great God, as is said, (in Exod. 32. 11,) which thou hast brought forth out of the land of Egypt, with great power, and with a strong hand. R. Menachem, on Exod. 12.

Vers. 18. first,] The Chaldee nameth it, In Nisan, in the tenth day: see verse 1. The Greek saith, Beginning in the fourteenth day of the first month.

Verse 19. not be found:] from hence the Hebrew Doctors gather; Whosoever leaveth leaven within his power at the Passover, although he eat not of it, yet he transgresseth two prohibitions; no old leaven shall be seen with thee; Ezod. 13. 7. and; old leaven shall not be found in your houses, Exod. 12. 19. Moreover, Leaven when the Passover is gone over it, is forever unlawful to be put to any use. Maimonides, treat•of Leaven, chap. 1 S. 2 ⟨...⟩ stranger] that is, strangers, as the Greek translatheth it: opposed to the natural Israelites to be borne afterward in the land of Canaan.

Vers. 21. elders] by whom he would signify this law, to all the people, as verse. 3. So before, in Exodus 3. 16. draw out] separate from the resto•he flock, and dest ⟨...⟩ ate unto this end; as before in verse 5. 6. The Greek translatheth, Go and take ⟨...⟩ lambs] or, stock beasts; of the sheep or goats, as verse 5. So the Greek and Chaldee translate it plurally: neither is the Hebrew word tson used for one particular lamb, but for many. Passover] that is, the Paschal Lamb, called by figure of speech, and ⟨...⟩ ally, the Passover, as circumcision is called the covenant, G ⟨...⟩ .•7. 13. the Rock, Christ, 1 Cor. 10. 4. bread and wine, the body and blood of Christ, Mark. 14. ⟨◇⟩ . ⟨◇⟩ . ⟨...⟩ d many the ⟨◇⟩ . ⟨◇⟩ P ⟨...⟩ followeth ⟨◇⟩ ⟨...⟩ Cor. 5. 7. Christ ⟨◇◇⟩ (that is, ⟨◇⟩ ) is killed ⟨◇⟩ .

Verse 22. hyssop] called in Hebrew, a ⟨...⟩ , in Greek (by the Apostle) hyssopos, Heb. 9. 19. whereupon we English it eizop, or hyssop: but whether it were that herb, which we commonly call by that name, is uncertain. It grew out of walls, 1 King. 4. 33. The Jews write, that there were four sorts of hyssop, and that this spoken of in the Law, was such as men used to eat of, and season po•tuge with. And the bunch spoken of, was three stalkes of hyssop bound together. Maimonides in Misn. treat. Of the red Cow, chap. 3. S. 2. and chap. 11. S. 1. This herb was used to sprinkle with, in other services, and purifications: See Exod. 24. 6. 8. Leviticus 14. 4. Num. 19. 6. 18. and signified the instrument whereby the blood of Christ is sprinkled upon, and applied unto our hearts, which is, the preaching of faith; for faith purifieth the heart of sinners, Acts 15. 9. and it cometh by the preaching of the Word, Rom. 10. 14.—17. which ministereth unto us the spirit. Galat. 3. 2. and we are elect through sanctification of the spirit, unto obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ, 1 Pet. 1. 2. which purgeth our consciences from dead works, to serve the living God, Hebr. 9. 14. See Psal. 51. 9. strike] or sprinkler. Hebrew, make touch: which the Greek translatheth set (or put) the Chaldee, sprinkle. not go] This also was but at the Passover in Egypt; for the present danger of death by the destroying Angels after, it was not required: and Christ with his Disciples, went out that night they are the Pasche, Matth. 26. 30. The houses of the Israelites thus sanctified by the pascal Lamb, and blood thereof; out of which they might not go that night, (when great cries were in Egypt, verse 30.) signified the safety of God's people by faith, keeping themselves in the holy assemblies, where Christ and his blood preserveth them from death, Acts 2. 47. 1 John. 2. 19. So the Prophet warneth us, to enter into our chambers, and shut our doors about us, hiding ourselves for a little moment, till the indignation be overpast; Esa. 26. 20. 21. So Noah was saved, being shut up in his Ark, Gen. 7. Rahab in her house, Ios. 2. 18. 19. [unspec]

Vers. 23. smite] or plague; as Exod. 8. 2. so after, and in verse 27. not give the destroyer] that is, not suffer him, as the Greek translatheth it. But the Hebrew speech is more forcible, to express

God's providence and hand in all things. As God by an Angel delivered his people, Num. 20. 16. so by an Angel he destroyed their enemies; as in the pestilence that was in Israel, he is called the Angel that destroyed the people, <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> Sam. 24. 16. And Paul faith (speaking of this Passover) lest he that destroyed the first borne, should touch them; Heb. 11. 28. Compare also Psal. 78. 49.

Vers. 24. this thing] Hebr. this word, the commandment [unspec] of the Passover every year: excepting the special rites forespoken of, that were only observed in Egypt, verse. 7. 11. 12.

Vers. 25. the land] of Canaan, Ios. 5. 10. 11. [unspec] howbeit they kept it once in the wilderness, before they came into the land, Num. 9.

Vers. 26. what is?] that is, what signifieth? So [unspec] both the outward •te, and the meaning of it, was to be taught to their children. Touching whom the Jews hold from the Law, in Exod. 23. 14. 17. Deut. 16. 14. 16. that every child that could hold his father by the hand, and go up from Jerusalem (gates) to the mountain of the Temple, his father was bound to cause him to go up, and to appear (before God) with him, to the end he might catechize him in the commandments. And who so was bound to appear, was bound to keep the feast, Maimonides in Hagigah, ch. 2. S. 3. 4. Also they say, A child that is able to eat a morsel of bread; they catechize him in the commandments, and give him to eat so much as an olive of the vnleavened bread. Maimonides treat. of Leven, and vnleavened bread, c. 6. S. 10.

Ver. 27. bended,] and so humbly thanked God for this mercy: see Exod. 4. 31. in the annotations. [unspec 27]

Vers. 28. and did,] in faith Moses and they obeyed God's word, for which it is witnessed of them; by faith he did (keep) the Passover, and the sprinkling of blood: that he who destroyed the first-borne, might not touch them, Hebr. 11. 28. Unto the keeping of this Passover, the Hebrew Doctors do apply that speech in Song. 2. 9. My beloved is like a Roe, or a young Hart; behold he standeth behind our wast, &c. thus: The congregation of Israel said; At what time the glory of the Lord was revealed in Egypt, in the might of the Passover, and killed all the first-borne: he ascended upon swistlightning, and ran us a Roe, or as a young Hart, and protected the houses wherein we were, and stood behind our walls, and looked through the windows, and shown himself through the lattesses: and he saw the blood of the sacrifice of the Passover, (and the blood of Circumcision) which was sprinked on our gates: and from the high heavens he did behold; and saw his people, which did eat the sacrifice of the solemn feast, roasted with fire, with the purtenance, and with wild lettice, and unleavened cukes, and he spared us, and gave not the destroying Angel power for to destroy us. Targum on Song. 2. 9.

Vers. 29. at midnight:] at the time of men's most secure rest, when they say peace and safety; then cometh sudden destruction, 1 Thes. 5. 2. 3. 10, at midnight was acrymade, when all slumbered and slept, Matth. 25. 5. 6. and In a moment shall they die, and at mid-night; Job. 34. 20. where the Chaldee paraphrase apply <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> it to the Egyptians here. The night, signifieth also the time of judgment. smote] that is, as the Chaldee expounded it, killed. And the Targum called Jonathan's, addeth, The world of the Lord, killed. every first-borne,] or, all the first-borne: to avenge the wrong they had done to God's first-borne Israel, Exod. 4. 22. 23. These first-borne, were the beginning (or chiefest) of all their strength, Psal. 105. 36. the dignity of such, is noted on Gen. 25. 31. And as the first-borne of Israel, whom God saved alive, figured his elect, called the Church of the first-borne, which are written in heaven, Heb. 12. 23. 10 the first-borne of Egypt whom God destroyed figured the Reprobate, on which Satan and the second death ‹ϕ› ‹ϕ› have power. This tenth plague after celebrated, in Psal. 78. 51. and 105. 36. and 135. 8. and 136. 10. that sae] the Chaldee faith, that should sit.••e Exo. 11. ‹...› prison house] or, ‹ϕ› . Hebrew, the house of the pit; which the Chaldee translath, house of prisoners: where they ground at the mill, &c. Exod. 11. 5.

Vers. 31. go out:] to wit, hastily; for an extraordinary prick in the Hebrew word, implieth so much: see also Gen. 19. 14. Compare Matt. 25 6. where at midnight there was a cry made there was a cry made, Behold the bridegroom cometh, go ye out to meet him.

Vers. 32. bless me,] that is, as the Chaldee translath, pray for me. In that Pharaoh desired the prayers and blessing of God's people, both before, (Exod. 8. 8. 28. and 9. 28. and 10. 16. 17.) and now at their departing: it showeth, that in his heart he was convicted of sin, in oppressing God's servants, and that with reluctance of conscience, he had refused to let Israel go.

Vers. 33. were urgent] or, were strong: and as the Greek translath, forcibly urged. This was with humble entreaty, Exod. 10. 8. and they rejoiced when they went out, for the dread of them was fallen upon the, Psal. 105. 38. they said] the Yerushalmi Targum expounds it, the Egyptians said, if Israel tarie one hour, toe all the Egyptians are dead men.

Vers. 34 lumps of dough]•o the Greek here translath it. The word may also be interp•eted, kneading troughs: see Exod. & 3.

Vers. 35. jewels] or vessels, instruments: see Exod. 3. 22. and 11. 2 Psal. 10. 37.

Vers. 36. grace] Hebrew, the grace of the people: see Exod. 3. 21. gave them their asking,] the Greek translath, lent unto them. Thus the promise to Abraham was fulfilled; They shall come out with great substance, Gen. 15. 14.

Vers. 37. Rameses] a city in Egypt, Gen. 47. 11. This journey began the 15 day, the day after the Passover was killed; and they went out with an high hand, in the sight of all the Egyptians, Num. 33. 3. Succoth] by interpretation, Boothes, or Tabernacles: so called of the Israelites making them boothes of the boughs of treee, in this place: for perpetual memory whereof, God appointed a feast of boothes to be kept in Israel every year, Lev. 23. 42. 43. about 600000] & not a feeble person among them Psal. 105. 37. Thus the blessing of God in multiplying Israel was fulfilled, Gen. 15. 5. and 46. 3. The word about (or as it were) is not of doubt, or uncertainty, but often affirmeth a thing fully and certainly: as is said of the Prophets, about 400. men, 1 King. 22. 6. which another expoundeth, Prop ‹...› s 400 men, 2 Chron. 18. 5.

Vers. 38. mixed people] Egyptians and other nations; (the Chaldee saith, many strangers) who were moved by God's works shown in Egypt, to go out with Israel. These afterward fell a lusting, and turned away, Numb. 11. 4. great] Hebrew weighty possession: see the notes on Gen. 13. 2.

Ver. 39. thrust out] as was foretold of God, Exodus 6. 1. A yearly remembrance of this their manner of leaving Egypt, was by the feast of unleavened cakes, Deut. 16. 3.

Vers. 40. dwelling] or, peregrination, that is  $\langle\phi\rangle$   $\langle\dots\rangle$  ng as strangers; for so the Greek translath, and the Apostle confirmeth,  $\langle\phi\rangle$  Act. 13. 17. So in Exod.  $\langle\phi\rangle$  15. Also Abraham was said to  dwell in Canaan, Gen. 13. 12. who yet did but sojourn there, as in a strange country. Heb. 11. 9. And his dwelling is implied also here. sons of Israel] these were sojourners with Abram in Canaan, in such sense as Lovely and tithes there, being yet in the loins of his father, Heb. 7. 9. 10. For things done by the fathers, do concern the children: see Psalm. 66. 6. Hos. 12. 4. Amos 5. 25. 26. 27. dwelt] as strangers, that is, sojourned in Egypt: to which the Gr. addeth, and in the land of Canaan, they and their fathers; which addition is, according to the true sense. 430. years] These could not be all in Egypt, but must be understood of dwelling also in Canaan and Mesopotamia: for Kohath son of Levi, was one that came first into Egypt, Gen. 46. 8. 11. helived but 133. years, Exod. 6. 18. Amram his son (the father of Moses) lived  $\langle\phi\rangle$  37. years, Exod. 6. 20. & Moses was but 80. years old when he spake unto Pharaoh, for the release of Israel, Exod. 7. 7. and after 40. years travel, in the wilderness, he died 120. years old, Deut. 34. 7. so that their dwelling in Egypt was far short of 430. years, and must needs imply their fathers dwelling also in Canaan, even from the promise given to Abraham, Gen. 12. 1. 3. 4. 5. And this the Greek version manifesteth, and the Apostle confirmeth, when he saith, that the Law was 430 years after the covenant that was confirmed before of God in Christ, with Abraham, Gen. 3. 16. 17.

Vers. 41. self same] Hebrew, the body (or strength) of that day; as Gen. 17. 23. The Jew Doctors gathered from this, that God brought Israel forth at mid day, (as he slew the first-borne of Egypt at mid-night). Pirkei R. Eliezer, chap. 48. And Moses saith, it was with an high hand, in the sight of all the Egyptians, Numb. 33. 3. But, for the beginning of their rising up to go their journey, they are said to be brought forth by night, Deut. 16. 1. with Num. 3•. 30 armies] or hosts; meaning the tribes of Israel no. see Exod. 6. 26.

Vers. 42. of observations,] that is, to be much and carefully observed of the people. [unspec 42]

Vers. 43. the statute,] or ordinance; in Greek, the law. strangers son] that is, paynim, or gentile: See Gen. 17. 12. This is meant whiles he continued in his unbelief, as appeareth by verse. 48. and so by proportion, forbiddeth all such as should forsake the faith: and the Chaldee paraphrast translath it. no son of Israel that is apostate (or fall•e the faith) shall eat of it, So David calleth the persecuting Jews strangers, Psal. 54. 5. and heathens. Psal. 59. 6. Also by the Jews ancient canons, it  $\langle\phi\rangle$  let the Passover be eaten of any Apostate (that changed his true religion) or any idols  $\langle\phi\rangle$  or for•ever, or hired servant: Maimonides in Corban Pesach. ch. 9. S. 7. And for unclean persons; it be law forbiddeth such, Numb. 5. 2. 3. and 9. 6. and •9. •3.

Verse. 44 height for] Hebrew, the purchase of silver that is, of money, or for any price. Compare  $\langle\dots\rangle$  ssela of circumcision Gen. 17. 12. 13.  $\langle\dots\rangle$  shall] eat  $\langle\phi\rangle$  his voluntary entering  $\langle$

...)> with Israel and do time for his cleansing; which by proportion with the law, Numb. 19. 11. was to be seven days. And so the Jews observed, for any stranger that became a proselyte on the 14. day of the first month, and was then circumcised and baptized, yet they killed not the pascha for him, because he might not eat of it at evening, for he was as one coming out of the grave, [having been as Paul saith, dead in trespasses and sins, Ephes. 2. 1.] and he must abide seven days, and afterward be clean. Maimonides in Corban Pesach, chap. 6. S. 7. Compare also herewith, Num. 31. 19. 24. Ios. 6. 23.

Vers. 45. foreigner,] or sojourner, (as Gen. 23. 4.) one that dwelleth in the land, but not his own; that hireth his house, or is an in-mate; (so differing from a stranger, who dwelt in another country) no such, nor hired person, might eat. Such foreigners, (leaving the worship of idols, and other heathenish practices) though not circumcised nor joined to the Church, might dwell in the land of Israel, even in Priests houses, but were restrained from the holy things; see Lev. 22. 10. and 25. 6. 45. 47. Such a stranger the Jews called Ger to shab, a sojourner among them; or, a stranger within their gates (as Moses speaketh) Deut. 14. 21. and he was to submit unto the seven commandments given unto the sons of Noah; whereof see the notes on Gen. 9. 4. not eat:] and so by proportion, not have communion with the other rites, as sprinkling of the blood and the like, unless he were circumcised, ver. 48. So the Jews explained this law, If they kill (the Passover) for persons circumcised, and sprinkle the blood in the name of the circumcised and uncircumcised, it is unallowable) or abominable) for the sprinkling is a weighty matter, for it is the root (the principal) of the sacrifice. Maimonides in Corban Pesach. ch. 2. S. 6.

Vers. 46. one house,] in the same house, or room: which the Chaldee translatheth, in one society. The Jew Doctors explain it thus: Who so eateth of the pasche may not eat, but in one society, (or, in the same company) neither may they carry ought thereof out of the society wherein they eat. And the flesh of the Passover that is carried out of the society, whether presumptuously or ignorantly, is unlawful to be eaten, &c. but must be burnt. Also, two societies that eat in one house, must each make them a sign (of distinction) &c. and the one company must turn their faces togetherward, and the other company must turn their faces together ward and eat, so that they appear not mixed. Maimonides in Corban Pesach, ch. 9. S. 1. 2. 3. abroad] or out: which the Jews (as before is noted) do understand, not only of the streets, but not out of the room nor society where it is to be eaten. a bone:] to foreshow that not a bone of Christ our Passover should be broken; as was fulfilled John. 19. 33. 36. which signified his victory and deliverance out of affliction and death; (from which he rose the third day;) as Psal. 34. 20. 21. the Lord keepeth all his bones, not one of them is broken. And in hope of resurrection, Joseph gave charge of his bones, and they were carried into Canaan, Heb. 11. 22. Exo. 13. 19. The bones of the Passe over were burnt (with the flesh that remained, v. 10.) as is testified by the Hebrew Doctors, who also say, that though it were a little kid whose bones were tender, yet might they not eat them, for that were the breaking of the bones. Maimonides in Corban Pesach, ch. 10. S. 2. 9.

Vers. 47. do it] that is, prepare, offer, and eat the pasche, as is ordained. For neglect, and not doing it, men were to be cut off, Numb. 9. 13.

Vers. 48. a strangers,] The Greek translath; when any proselyte come unto you: and so the Chaldee saith; when a stranger shall become a proselyte (or join himself) with you. So this differeth from that which was before in v. 22. and also in ver. 45. and is meant of a third sort of strangers that were converts, in Greek called proselytes, such as were joined to the Jews Church, Act. 13. 43. and 2. 10. Matth. 23. 15. Such they were wont to call strangers within the covenant; and just strangers; to distinguish them from strangers within the gates (that did but dwell among them) mentioned in Deut. 14. 21. and here in v. 45. do the Passe-over] that is, keep or celebrate it. This phrase is used in Matt. 26. 18. Heb. 11. 28. and then,] so not only himself, but his male children must be circumcised, ere he might be admitted to the Passover; for he was yet in his sin, whiles his children were (through his default) uncircumcised; see Gen. 17. 12. 13. 14. Exod. 4. 24. 26. And thus the Jews have interpreted this place, that as the circumcision of himself, (if it be omitted) debarreth him from doing the Passover, so doth the circumcision of his sons, and of his servants, &c. and if he kill it before he do circumcise them, it is unlawful. Maimonides in Corban Pesach, chap. 5. S. 5. uncircumcised:] the Chaldee turneth it, profane person. So God saith, No stranger uncircumcised in heart, nor uncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuary, Ezek. 44. 9. And the Hebrew Doctors say, While the power of uncleanness, and the superfluous foreskin is upon him, he is unfit to be united with the divine Majesty, &c. R. Menachem on Exod. 12.

Vers. 49. that sojourneth,] the Greek here (as in ver. 48.) translath, the proselyte that is come among you. So the obedient heathens, might by faith in Christ have part in all the holy things with Israel always: for in Christ all are one, Galat. 3. 28. Act. 15. 9. And unto strangers, is promised inheritance with the tribes of Israel in the holy land, Ezek, 47. 22. 23. The Jew Doctors of old have thus written concerning this; Moses our master gave the inheritance of the Law and commandments to Israel only, as it is written (Deut. 33. 4.) the inheritance of the congregation of Jacob: and unto any of the other nations that willingly joined himself a proselyte, as it is written, (Numb. 15. 15.) as yeare, so shall the stranger be before the Lord. But whosoever is not willing, they force him not to receive the law and the commandments. But they force all that come into the world, to receive the commandments given to the sons of Noah, [whereof see on Gen. 9. 4.] and who so receiveth not them, is killed; and be that receiveth them, is called the stranger that sojourneth, &c. Maimonides in Misneh treat. of Kings, ch. 8. S. 10. Likewise in their commentary upon Exodus, called Elle shemoth rabbah, upon Exod. 12. they say, This is that which is written (in Isaiah. 56. 3.) And let not the son of the stranger that hath joined himself to the Lord, speak saying. The Lord hath utterly separated me: for Job saith The stranger shall not lodge in the street, (Job 31. 32.) And why? Because the holy blessed (God) excludeth no creature, but receiveth all. For his gates are open every hour, and whosoever would be received in, he entereth and is received. For this it was said by Job, the stranger shall not lodge in the street. And again he saith in the person of God, I will open my doors to the traveler, (Job. 31. 32.) Rabbi Barachias said, In whose person speaketh Job this? Doubtless because it shall be that the strangers shall be Priests, ministering to the holyblessed (God:) as it is written, and the stranger shall be joined them, (Isaiah 14. 1.) and this joining is not meant but of the Priests, as it is written, join me unto one of the Priests offices, (1 Sam. 2. 36.) For it shall come to pass, that proselytes shall eat of the Shew-bread, &c.

CHAP. XIII.

1, God commandeth to sanctify all the Firstborne, unto him: 3, to remember the day of their going out of Egypt: 5, to keep the feast of Vnleavened bread, in Canaan: 8, to show their sons the cause thereof: 12, to set apart for the Lord, the firstlings of beasts. 16, Phylacteries, for a sign of God's former mercies. 17, The way by which God led Israel in the wilderness: 19, The carrying of Joseph's bones with them. 20, Israel campeth in Etham. 21, God guideth them by a pillar of a cloud, and pillar of fire.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying, Sanctify unto me every first-borne, that which openeth every womb, among the sons of Israel of man and of beast; it is mine. And Moses said unto the people, Remember this day, in which ye came out from Egypt, from the house of servants; for by strength of hand Jehovah brought you out from hence: & no leavened bread shall be eaten. This day you come out, in the month of Abib. And it shall be, when Jehovah shall bring thee into the land of the Canaanite, and the Chethite, and the Amorite, and the Evite, and the Jebusite, w<sup>ch</sup> he sware unto thy fathers to give thee, a land flowing with milk and honey: that thou shalt serve this service, in this month. Seven days thou shalt eat unleavened cakes: & in the seventh day shall be a feast to Jehovah. Vnleavened cakes shall be eaten seven days; and no leavened bread shall be seen with thee, and no old leaven shall be seen with thee, in all thy border. And thou shalt show thy son in that day, saying; because of that which Jehovah did unto me when I came out from Egypt. And it shall be to thee for a sign upon thy hand, & for a memorial between thine eyes, that Jehovah's Law may be in thy mouth; for with a strong hand hath Jehovah brought thee out from Egypt. And thou shalt keep this statute in his season, from year to year. And it shall be, when Jehovah shall bring thee into the land of the Canaanite, as he sware unto thee, and unto thy fathers, and shall give it thee: That thou shalt cause all that openeth the womb, to pass unto Jehovah: and all that openeth (the womb) of the young of a beast, which thou shalt have, the males shall be Jehovah's. And all that openeth (the womb) of an asse, thou shalt redeem with a lamb; and if thou wilt not redeem it, then thou shalt break the neck of it: and all the first-borne of man, amongst thy sons, shalt thou redeem. And it shall be, when thy son shall ask thee tomorrow, saying, What is this? that thou shalt say unto him; By strength of hand Jehovah brought us out from Egypt from the house of servants. And it was, when Pharaoh was hard, to send us away, that Jehovah slew every first-borne in the land of Egypt, from the first-borne of man, even to the first-borne of beast; therefore I sacrifice to Jehovah all that openeth the womb, the males; and every first borne of my sons I redeem. And it shall be for a sign upon thy hand, and for phylacteries between thine eyes; for by strength of hand Jehovah brought us out from Egypt.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

And it was, when Pharaoh had sent away the people, that God led them not the way of the land of the Philistines, though that was near; for God said, lest the people repent, when they see war, and they return to Egypt. But God led the people about, by the way of the wilderness of the red sea; and the sons of Israel went up harnessed, out of the land of Egypt. And Moses took the bones of Joseph with him; for he had swearing sworn the sons of Israel, saying; God will visiting visit you, and ye shall carry up my bones from hence with you. And they journeyed from Succoth, and encamped in Etham, in the edge of the wilderness. And Jehovah went before them by day, in a pillar of a cloud, to lead them the way; & by night, in a pillar of fire, to give them light, for to ⟨◇⟩ by day and night. He took not away ⟨◇⟩ pill• of the cloud by day, and the pillar of ⟨◇⟩ by night, before the people.

Annotations.

SAnctifie] or, Hallow, Consecrate; that is, put apart unto holy use for me and my service. The men and unclean beasts were to be redeemed with money, which was given to the Lord's Priests: the clean beasts were to be killed in sacrifice to the Lord, Numb. 18. 15. 16. 17. Moses is commanded here, to teach this unto Israel. Afterwards the Levites were taken for all the first-born Israelites, and employed in the service of the Lord, Numb. 3. 6. 12. that which openeth] so the holy Ghost translateth it in Greek, Luk. 2. 23. but the Hebrew phrase is, the opening (or emission) of every womb (or matrice) meaning the first birth of man or beast; and so the Chaldee, in v. 13. expoundeth it, the first-borne; and in Exod. 34. 19. 20. the Greek translateth it, first-borne, (or firstling.) This law signified, that God's people (which are a congregation of first-borne, Heb. 12. 23. Exod. 4. 22. being redeemed from death by the blood of Christ) should both themselves and theirs be consecrated to the service of the Lord, Rom. 6. 13. 19. 22. and 12. 1▪ even as he is their God, and sanctifieth them to himself from the womb, Psal. 22. 11. Isaiah. 46. 3. Ier. 1. 5. Gal. 1. 15.

V. 3. Remember] The Heb. Zacor, here & in Exo. 20. 8. and Ios. 1. 13. are properly indefinites, signifying To remember; but used for Imperatives, as Halok, To go, 2 Sam. 24. 12. is explained, Lok, Go thou, in 1 Chro. 21. 10. To eat and to drink, Isaiah 22. 13. is expounded, Let us eat and drink, 1 Cor. 15. 32. and in Gr. Chairein, To rejoice, for Rejoice thou, 2 John. 1. 10. But there be of the Hebrews that say, the word Zacor is indefinite, because we are bound forever to remember this matter: R Elias in Sepher reshith choc•ah, treat. of Holiness, ch. 6. This remembrance here commanded, was not only to keep in mind for themselves, but to mention and speak of it to others; as after Moses saith in ver. 8. Thou shalt show thy son, &c. The Hebrew canons say; It is commanded by the Law, to tell of the temptations and marvelous works which were done to our fathers in Egypt; upon the fifteenth day of Nisan (that is, March) as it is written (in Exod. 13. 3.) Remember this day &c. and (in verse. 8.) Thou shalt show thy son, &c. And although he have no son, though they be great wise men, they are bound to tell of the going out of Egypt: and who so maketh a long speech of the things that fell out and came to pass, it is commendable in him. Maimonides in Misneh, treat. of Leven, ch. 7. S. 1. servants] the Greek and Chaldee expound it servitude, or bondage. strength of hand] the Greek expoundeth it, strong hand: and so Moses him-self speaketh in verse. 9. This manner of deliverance, figured also our redemption by Christ; who being stronger than (Satan) the strong man armed, overcame him, and took from him all his armor wherein he trusted, and divided his spoils, Luk. 11. 21. 22. leavened] of this, see Exod. 12. 8. 15. It figured our sanctification, in abstaining from all corruption in doctrine and conversation, Matt. 16. 12. 1 Cor. 5. 8.

Vers. 4. Abib,] which the Greek translateth New fruits: the word signifieth, a green ear (or ⟨◇⟩ ) of corn, Exod. 9. 31. and because in those Countries corn was •ared and began to be ripe in this month, (as witnesseth Philo, in his third book of Moses life) it was called therefore Abib; some of the Greeks name it the month of flowers, as Mac•rius Egypt. in Hom. 47. It was part of March, and part of April, as we now call the months: see also Exod. 12. 2.

Vers. 5. Canaanite] that is, as the Greek translatheth, Canaanites and Chethites, &c. see Gen. 10. 16. 18. Jebusite] the Greek version addeth, Gergesites and Pherezites; to make up the number of seven, which is here understood, as in Deut. 7. 1. serve] that is, observe, as Exod. 12. 25. or (as the Greek translatheth) do this service; which after followeth.

Vers. 6. Seven] or, a seven (a week) of days: figuring our whole life: see Exod. 12. 15. a feast] which among other duties, was kept with an holy convocation, Levite. 23. 8.

Vers. 8. show thy son] It is commanded that we show our sons, though they ask not: according to the knowledge of the son, must his father teach him, saith Maimonides in treat. of Leven, ch. 7. S. 2. because] or, for this which Jehovah did unto me: understand, This is done; or, This feast we keep, for, or because of that. Such want of words is oft in the Scripture, as in 2 Sam. 23. 8. against 800. meaning, he lift up his spear against 800. as the words are supplied in 1 Chron. 11. 11. So before in Exod. 4. 5. The Hebrew Doctors understand it mystically, saying, what is that which the Scripture saith, For this? It is like This is my God, Exod. 15. 2. as if he should say; for his names sake, and for his glory, did he unto us, and brought us out of Egypt; and not for our righteousness. R. Menachem, on Exod. 13.

Vers. 9. a sign] or, a token: so in verse. 16. but in Deut. 6. 8. and 11. 18. it is said, Thou shalt bind thē for a sign upon thy hand, and they shall be for Phylacteries between thine eyes: and thou shalt write them upon the posts of thy house, and upon thy gates. a memorial] or, a monument. This is an explication of that word Totaphoth, the Phylacteries mentioned after in the 16. verse. The manner of keeping these laws among the Jews, was; They wrote four sections of the law upon parchments, namely these, Sanctify unto me every first-borne, &c. Exod. 13. 2. to the end of verse 10. And it shall be when Jehovah shall bring thee into the land, &c. Exo. 13. 11. to the end of verse 16. Hear ô Israel, Jehovah our God, Jehovah is one, &c. Deut. 6. 4. to the end of verse 9. And it shall be, if hearkening ye shall hearken unto my commandments, &c. Deut. 11. 13. to the end of verse 21. These four sections (containing in all 30 verses) written on parchments, folden up, covered with lether, they tied to the forehead, & to the hand. Those that were for the head, they wrote on four parchments, and rolled them up everyone severally, and put them in four places which were joined together in one skin, or piece of lether. For the hand, they wrote the same 4. sections of the law, in 4 columes upon one parchment, and rolled it up from the end to the beginning. These all were written exactly according to Moses copy, not a letter more or less, otherwise the phylacteries were not lawful to be worn. They were also artificially sown up in the lether, and tied with strings upon the head, from the crown forward; and upon the left hand or arm, above the elbow, on the inside, that they might be towards the heart: (as Deut. 6. 6•) Howbeit the Sadducees used to wear them upon the forehead (or brow) and upon the palm of the hand (as Maimonides observeth in Tephillin, chap. 4. S. 3. They used these phylacteries religiously, always blessing God for the commanding of these things, when they put them on, which they used to do by day only, not by night; and upon the working days, not on Sabbaths or feast days, because (say they) it is written, It shall be to the for a sign, whereas the Sabbath it self was a sign. And though they might wear them all the day, (so it were not in an unclean place) yet specially they put them on when they went to read the Law, or to pray, (whereupon they call them in their tongue, Tephillin, that is, Oratories, or Prayer ornaments;) and abused them to great superstition, teaching, •hat all the while a man had the phylacteries upon his head and arm, he was meek and fearing God, and not drawn away by laughter or vain meditation, nor conceived any evil thoughts, but turned his heart to the words of truth and justice. These and many other particulars about them, are largely set down by Maimonides in his treat. Tephillin: and the like rites they had for their post writings, (from the Law in Deut. 6. 9.) and for their fringes, (from the Law in Numb. 15. 38.) And our Savior blameth the Pharisees hypocrisy, in wearing their phylacteries broad, and their fringes long; Matt. 23. 5. And how well they thought of themselves for these things, appeareth by the saying of the Chaldee▪ paraphrast, upon Song 8. 3. The congregation of Israel said, I am chosen above all people's, because I bind phylacteries to my left hand, and to my head, &c. But God hereby taught them diligently to regard, and dutifully to proesesse and practice his Laws, having them written and laid up in their heart and soul, Deut. 6. 6. and 11. 18. Prov. 3. 3. 21. and 7. 2. 3. With this we may compare that in Rev. 14. 1. of those holy ones that had Christ's Fathers name written in their foreheads, as a sign of the profession of God's Law: (for that which in the Gospel is called his Name, Matt. 12. 21. in the Prophets is called his Law, Isaiah 42. 4.) So again, Antichrist exacteth the obedience of his precepts, as by a mark upon men's right hands, or on their fore-heads. Rev. 13. 16.

Vers. 10. from year,] Hebr. from days to days: but days often signifieth a full year, as is shown on Gen. 4. 3. The Chaldee translateth, from time to time: The Greek keepeth the Hebrew phrase: wherefore days are prophetically used for years, in the Greek of the New Testament, Rev. 11. 3.

Vers. 12. to pass] namely either through the fire; as this phrase is explained in Deut. 18. 10. 2 King. 16. 3. and implieth, in Ezek. 20. 26. Levite. 18. 21. and, the law for the firstlings, showeth in Numbers 18, 17, and here in verse. 15. it is expounded Sacrifice. Or, thou shalt cause to pass, namely, under the rod, as in Levite. 27. 30. and so consecrate, or, (as the Greek translateth) put apart unto the Lord: and so make it pass from under thy power, and all, &c.] Hebr. and every opening: which the Greek translateth, all that openeth the womb: see verse 2. And this is meant of clean beasts, as the exception of the asse, and of mankind, in the verse following showeth: therefore and, in Hebrew is by way of explanation of the former speech, for even, or that is, as is noted on Gen. 13. 15. of the young] the increase; or, as the Greek translateth it, of the herds: for this word is spoken of kine, as flocks is applied to sheep, Deut. 28. 4. 18. 51. but the Chaldee here expoundeth it youngling. shall be Jehovah's] or, thou shalt make pass (shalt sacrifice) to Jehovah; the Chaldee saith, thou shalt sanctify before the Lord.

Vers. 13. an asse] so in Exod. 34. 20. but in Num. 18. 15. it is said, of an unclean beast: so that by the asse here, may be implied all other unclean beasts, not meet for sacrifice. Howbeit some of the Jew Doctors understand the unclean beast there, to mean the asse only; as Maimonides in Misneh, treat. of First fruits, chap. 12. S. 3. and R. Solomon Rashi, upon this text. a lamb] or kid, as the word implieth both, Exod. 12. 3. And this the Jews take strictly, of a living lamb only, saying, it may not be redeemed with a calf, or with a wild beast, nor with a lamb that is killed, &c. Maimonides treat of First fruits, chap. 12. S. 8. This lamb was to be given to the Lord, that is, to his Priest, Num. 18. 8. 15. and then the owner of the asse might use it for his own service; which otherwise he might not do, Deut. 15. 19. break the neck] or, cut off the neck, as the word is translated in Deut. 21. 4. and Isaiah 66. 3 where it is spoken of a dog. The Yerushalmi paraphrast here expoundeth it, kill it. redeem] for five shekels of money, Num. 18. 16. And (by the Hebrew Doctors) the father when he redeemed his son, was to bless God who gave this commandment, and preserved his sons life. And if the father transgressed, and redeemed not his son; he was when he came to age to redeem himself, Maimonides, treat. of First fruits, chap. 11. S. 2. 5. See the annotations on Num. 18. Hereby was figured the redemption of God's elect, (the Church of the first-borne which are written in heaven, Heb. 12. 23.) from the second death: for in respect of the first death, no man can give any ransom to God, Psal. 49. 8. 9. Heb. 9. 27.

Vers. 14. tomorrow] that is, in time to come: see the notes on Gen. 30. 33. The Greek translatheth, hereafter: elsewhere the Greek keepeth the Hebrew phrase, as in Deut. 6. 20. Ios. 4. 6. 21. us out] the things done to the fathers, are to be remembered as if they were done to the children: so the Prophets explain things, as Psalm 66. 6. they passed through the river on foot, there did we rejoyce in him: and Hos. 12. 4. he found him in Bethel, and there be stroke with us. So the Hebrew Canons say, Thorowout all generations, a man is bound to show himself, as if it were he himself that came now out from the bondage of Egypt, as it is written, AND HE BROUGHT VS OVT, &c. and for this cause the holy blessed (GOD) hath commanded in the Law, AND THO• SHALT REMEMBER THAT THOU WAST A SERVANT, (Deut. 15. 5.) as if he should say, As they, so thou thyself wast a servant, and camest out free, and wast redeemed, Maimonides, treat. of Leven, chap. 7. S. 6. The Apostle speaking of the things that befell Israel, saith, these things were our examples, 1 Cor. 10. 6. and the Rabbin's have a common saying, Whatsoever happened to the fathers, is a sign nuto the children. R. Menachem on Gen. 12.

Verse 15. was hard to send us] that is, was stubborn, refusing to send us away. Or, hardened himself, against sending us away, so that he would not let us go. The Hebrew word which commonly signifieth to, is sometime used for from, as is noted on Gen. 36. 6. and so here Pharaoh hardened his heart, from sending; that is, he would not send. In 2 Chr. 11. 4. it is said, they returned from going: whereas in 1 King. 12. 24. it is written, they returned to go. Compare, both for phrase and matter, that in Job 9. 4. who hath hardened himself against (God) and hath prospered? the males] or, being males: and this the Jews understand of males simply: for if it be a female, or both male and female, they hold it free from this service; not holy at all. Maimonides treat. of the First borne, chap. 2. S. 5.

Verse 16. phylacteries] or, frontlets: in Hebrew Totaphoth, typical monuments: called in verse 9. 4 memorial: the Greek translatheth them, an immovable monument: the Hebrew Doctors usually call them Tephillin, prayer monuments, because they used to bind them upon them when they prayed; as is noted on verse 9. The Syriac in Matt. 23. 5 keepeth that name, but the Evangelist in Greek nameth them phylacteries, of conserving or keeping the memorial of God's Law: whom we follow in this translation. So in Deut. 6. 8. and 11. 18. See the annotations there.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Here beginneth the 16 Section of the Law: see Gen. 6. 9. and 28. 10.

Vers. 17. the way off] that is, towards the land: so in Num. 14. 25. the way of the red sea, is towards it. Or, by the way; as in the verse here following. see war] that is, be warred against by the Philistines, who would deny them passage: for they had before this killed some of the Israelites, whiles they dwelt in Egypt, in the days of Ephraim son of Joseph; as is mentioned in 1 Chron. 7. 21, 22, 23. Thus God provided for his people's infirmity, lest at the first they should be discouraged; and would not suffer them to be tempted above that they were able, 1 Cor. 10. 13. So in his Law, he ordained that no fearful or faint-hearted should go to war, Deuteron. 20. 8. See also the notes on Genesis 11. 31.

Vers. 18. went up] it is the usual phrase in the Scripture, to call the journeying from Egypt to Canaan (which was northward) a going up, as here, and in Gen. 13. 1. and 44. 17. and often. On the contrary, from Canaan into Egypt, they are said to go down, Gen. 12. 10. and 26. 2. Deut. 10. 22. Act. 7. 15. and usually. harnessed,] or marshalled by five in a rank: the word in Hebrew hath the name of five, either of the harness girded under the fifth ribbe, (as the Chaldee translatheth girded,) or, of marching five in a row. The Greek version saith, in the fifth generation: but not well; for Israel went out in the fourth generation, as God foretold, Gen. 15. 16. and this word is elsewhere used for armed, or harnessed; as Ios. 1. 14. and 4. 12. Judge. 7. 11. Thus God led out his people with an high hand, Exodus 14. 8. and trained them for future wars, to conquer Canaan. See Numb. 1. 3. and 14. 3. 9. &c.

Vers. 19. swearing sworn,] or, as the Greek hath it, sworn with an oath, that is, straitly and earnestly adjured. Of this, see Gen. 50. 25.

Vers. 20. Succoth] the place of Boothes: see Exod. 12. 37. Etham] in Greek, Othom. Of this and their other journeys, see Numb. 33. 6. &c. the edge] or the end; that is, which Etham was in the end (or edge) of the wilderness, Numb. 33. 6. The Greek translatheth, by the wilderness.

Vers. 21. Jehovah] called in Exodus 14. 19. the Angel of God; meaning Christ whom the Israelites tempted in the wilderness, 1 Cor. 10. 9. he is named Jehovah our justice, Ierem. 23. 6. went before them] that is, as the Greek expoundeth it, guided them. pillar] which in Hebrew is named of standing up, or stability: and is by similitude here applied to the cloud and fire, that stood over the host of Israel, (as elsewhere smoke arising is called a pillar, Judge. 20. 40. and pillars of smoke, Joel 2. 30. are by the Apostle called vapor of smoke, Act. 2. 19.) In Psalm. 105. 39. this cloud is said to be spread for a covering; so that it shadowed them from the heat of the Sun: and in it they were baptized, 1 Corinth. 10. 2. and as there was occasion it removed, sometime before, sometime behind them, Exodus 14. 19. and in it God sometime appeared and spake, Deut. 31. 15. Psal. 99. 7. but the ordinary use of it, was to lead and to cover them, Numb. 9. 17. 18. And it figured Christ his guidance and protection of his Church, travelling through this world, unto his heavenly rest; as it is said, The Lord will create upon every dwelling place of mount Zion, and upon her assemblies, a cloud, and smoke by day, and the shinning of a flaming fire by night: for upon all the glory shall be a covering, &c. Isaiah 4. 5. 6. of fire] the same dark cloud, which shadowed them by day, was also fire, and gave them light by night, Exodus 14. 19. 20. 24. So Christ baptized the Israelites in the cloud, with the Holy Ghost and with fire, 1 Cor. 10. 2. Matt. 3. 11. Isaiah 4. 2. 4. 5. Therefore Israel in faith, did betake themselves under the shadow of God's Majesty in this cloud; and Moses sanctified the action by prayer, Numb. 9. 17. 18. 19. 23. and 10. 34. 36. 1 Cor. 10. 1.

CHAP. XIII.

1, God instructeth the Israelites in their journey. 5, Pharaoh pursueth after them. 10, The Israelites are sore afraid and murmur. 13, Moses comforteth them. 15, God instructeth Moses to lead the people forward, and with his hand and rod to divide the Sea, for Israel to go thorough, 19, God's Angel and cloud remove behind the campe. 21, The Israelites pass thorough the red Sea. 23, The Egyptians follow them into the Sea. 24. The Lord out of the cloud troubleth the Egyptians. 26. He biddeth Moses stretch his hand over the Sea. 27. It returneth to his strength, and drowneth the Egyptians.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Speak unto the sons of Israel, that they turn, and encamp before Pi-hahiroth, between Migdol and the Sea, before Baal-zephon: over-against it shall ye encamp by the Sea. And Pharaoh will say of the sons of Israel, They are entangled in the land, the Wilderness hath shut them in. And I will make strong the heart of Pharaoh, and he shall follow after them; and I will be honored upon Pharaoh, and upon all his Host; and the Egyptians shall know that I am Jehovah: And they did so. And it was told the King of Egypt, that the people fled: and the heart of Pharaoh and of his servants was turned against the people; and they said, Why have we done this, that we have sent away Israel from serving us? And he bound his Charet, and took his people with him. And he took six hundred chosen Charets, and all the Charets of Egypt, and Captains over everyone of them. And Jehovah made strong the heart of Pharaoh King of Egypt, and he followed after the sons of Israel: and the sons of Israel went out with a high hand. And the Egyptians followed after them, and overtook them encamping by the Sea, all the horses, the Charets of Pharaoh, and his horse-men, and his Army, beside Pi-hahiroth, before Baal-zephon. And Pharaoh drew nigh; and the sons of Israel lift up their eyes, and behold the Egyptian marched after them; and they were-sore afraid: and the sons of Israel cried out unto Jehovah. And they said unto Moses, Because there were no graves at all in Egypt, hast thou taken us away to die in the wilderness? wherefore hast thou done this unto us, to bring us forth out of Egypt? Is not this the word which we spake unto thee in Egypt, saying, Let us alone, that we may serve the Egyptians? For it had been better for us to serve the Egyptians, than that we should die in the wilderness. And Moses said unto the people, Fear ye not, stand still, and see the salvation of Jehovah, which he will do for you today: for the Egyptians whom ye have seen today, ye shall not again see them anymore forever. Jehovah will fight for you, and you shall hold your peace. And Jehovah said unto Moses, Wherefore criest thou out unto me? Speak unto the sons of Israel, that they go forward. And thou, lift up thy rod, and stretch out thy hand over the Sea, and cleave it: and the sons of Israel shall go in to the midst of the Sea, on dry ground.

And I, behold, I will make strong the heart of the Egyptians, and they shall go in after them: and I will be honored upon Pharaoh, and upon all his army, upon his chariots, and upon his horsemen. And the Egyptians shall know that I am Jehovah, when I am honored upon Pharaoh, upon his chariots, and upon his horse-men. And the Angel of God, which went before the campe of Israel, removed and went behind them; and the pillar of the cloud removed from before them, and stood behind them. And it came between the Campe of the Egyptians, and the Campe of Israel; & it was a cloud and darkness, and it made light the night: and the one came not near the other all the night. And Moses stretched out his hand over the Sea; and Jehovah caused the Sea to go back, by a strong East wind, all the night and made the sea dry land: and the waters were cloven. And the sons of Israel went in to the midst of the sea, upon the dry ground: and the waters were a wall unto them on their right hand and on their left. And the Egyptians followed, and went in after them, all Pharaohs horses, his chariots, and his horse-men, into the midst of the <◇> And it was in the morning watch that <◇> looked unto the campe of the Egyptians, in the pillar of fire, and of the cloud, and troubled the campe of the Egyptian: And took off their charet wheels, and led [unspec] them heavily: and the Egyptians said, Let us flee from the face of Israel, for Jehovah fighteth for them, against the Egyptians. And Jehovah said unto Moses, Stretch out [unspec] thy hand over the sea, and the waters shall return upon the Egyptian, upon his chariots, and upon his horse-men. And Moses stretched out his hand over the Sea, and the sea returned to his strength, at the looking forth of the morning: and the Egyptians fled against it; and Jehovah shook off the Egyptians into the midst of the sea. And [unspec] the waters returned, and covered the chariots and the horse-men, with all the army of Pharaoh that came after them, into the Sea: there remained not so much as one of them. But the sons of Israel walked on dry land, in the midst of the sea, and the waters were a wall unto them on their right hand, and on their left. And Jehovah saved Israel in that day out of the hand of the Egyptians: and Israel saw the Egyptians dead upon the sea shore. And Israel saw the great hand which Jehovah did upon the Egyptians; and the people feared Jehovah, and they believed in Jehovah, and in Moses his servant.

Annotations.

Pi-hahiroth] or, the mouth of Hiroth, that is, the straight (or passage) between the mountains of Hiroth: for in Numb. 33. 8. the word Pi, (that is, Mouth,) is left out of the name. Into these straits did God lead Israel, both to free them from war with the Philistians, Exod. 13. 17. 18. and to give the Egyptians occasion hereby to pursue them, (as the verses following here show;) as also to try the faith of his people; which even here at first was turned to unbelief and rebellion, verse 11. 12. Deut. 8. 2. Psalm 106. 7. Migdol] in Greek Magdol: the name of a city of the Egyptians, Ier. 44. 1. by interpretation it signifieth a Tower. Baal-zephon] in Greek Beelsepphon. The Yerushalmi Targum expoundeth it, the idol of Zephon: and so it seemeth to be an idolatrous place or monument of the Egyptians; as Baal-Pehor was the Idol of the Moabites, Num. 25. 3. and Baalmehon, the name whereof the Israelites changed, when it came into their possession, Num. 32. 38. For as Israel passed from Egypt to Canaan. God did let them see the abominations and idols of the nations; whereof he warned them to beware, Deut. 29. 16. 17. 18.

Vers. 3. entangled] or, perplexed, not knowing what to do, as the Greek translath, they wander (or stray) and the word is used in Joel 1. 18. of cattle perplexed for want of pasture. So Pharaoh seeing the Israelites to take this indirect way, thought they were afraid of the wilderness, and in perplexity of mind: whereupon he hardened himself to follow after, and bring them again into his bondage.

Vers. 4. make strong] that is, as the Greek saith, harden: so after, verse 8 17. See Exodus 4. 21. honored] or, as the Greek translath, gloried: will get me honor, by their destruction, verse. 17. 18. For God hath glory by wrath upon the wicked, as by mercy upon the elect, Roman. 9. 22. 23. So Ezekiel 28. 22.

Vers. 6. bound] in Greek, joined, to wit, the horses to his chariot: made ready. So Gen. 46. 29. [unspec 6]

Vers 7. captains] or Princes, the third sort of governors in the kingdom: having the name of three, or third: the Chaldee calleth them Mighties.

Vers. 8. a high hand] that is, powerfully, openly, and boldly, like armed men, as in Exod. 13. 18. and in the sight of the Egyptians, Num. 33. 3. not like fugitives. So to sin with a high hand, Num. 15. 30. is to do it boldly and openly. The Chaldee changeth the phrase, saying, they went out with uncovered (or open) head: which meaneth, openly, boldly, cheerfully: as, the covering of the head, signifieth sorrow and shame, 2 Sam. 15. 30. Ier. 14. 4.

Vers. 9. army] Hebr. power: used for an army or host, as the Greek here translath it; so in verse 17. 28. And here again is to be understood, they followed and overtook them.

Vers. 10. were fore afraid] or, feared vehemently. This was for want of faith and love towards God, Matth. 8. 26. 1 John 4. 18. But was occasioned by the straits they now were in: the congregation of Israel was shut in, from the four parts of the world: before them was the sea, behind them followed the enemy: and on each side of them were wildernesses full of fiery Serpents, which did bite and kill men with their venom: saith the Chaldee paraphrase upon Song. 2. 14.

Vers. 11. at all] or, none: a double denial showing [unspec] the earnest passion and distemperature of their unfaithful and unthankful minds. Of this David said, they remembered not the multitude of thy mercies, but rebelled at the sea, at thered sea: yet he saved them for his names sake, Psal. 106. 7 8.

Vers. 12. Let us alone] or, Cease from us. They return to their former rebellious carriage in Egypt, mentioned in Exod. 6. 9.

Vers. 13. fear not] the Greek saith, be bold, (or, of good comfort.) whom ye have seen] or, as the Greek translath, so as ye see: meaning, they should see them no more alive, but dead, as verse 30. not again see] Hebr. not add to see. By these promises, God would stay their murmurings, strengthen their faith, and show his grace to an undeserving people: for which he is after celebrated, in Neh. 9. 9. thou heardest their cry by the red sea.

Vers. 14. shall hold your peace] or, shall be silent, shall cease from speaking or doing anything in this battle. The original word is often used for ceasing to hear or speak, as they that are deaf; but applied also to actions, signifieth silence or ceasing from deeds, as they that neglect and sit still, 2 Sam. 19. 11. Psal. 83. 2. and 50. 3. Isaiah 42. 14. 15. It may also be meant, hold ye your peace, that is, cease from murmuring against God and me.

Verse 15. wherefore] Hebr. what, that is, For what criest thou? God encourageth Moses to go on with the work in hand, which the people's murmuring began to hinder. So after (in Exod. 17. 4) he cried unto the Lord, upon the like occasion. Though here no words of prayer be mentioned, yet Moses might cry unto God by the Spirit, which maketh intercession for the Saints, with groanings which cannot be uttered, Rom. 8. 26. The Chaldee paraphrast turneth it, I have accepted thy prayer: speak to the sons of Israel; &c. as if he had cried our for fear of wrath to come upon them for their sin, as they deserved. So elsewhere another Chaldee paraphrast (on Song 1. 9.) more plainly saith, When Pharaoh and his host were drowned, Israel also had likewise perished, if Moses the Prophet had not stretched out his hands in prayer before the Lord, and turned away the Lord's wrath from them. A like preservation of them by Moses prayer, is after recorded in Deut. 9. 13. 14.—19. 20.

Verse 16 thy rod] where with miracles were done in Egypt, Exod. 4. 2. and 7. 9. &c. the rod of God, Exod. 17. 9 it signified the Word of God, which is the rod of his mouth, wherewith he smiteth the earth, Isaiah 11. 4. but feedeth his people, Mic. 7. 14 cleave it] that is, forcibly divide, and (as the Greek translateth) rent it. It is a commandment implying a promise.

Vers. 17. honored upon] or, as the Greek turneth it, glorified in Pharaoh: get me glory and honor upon him. The Lord knew that they dealt proudly against his people, so he made himself a name, as it is this day, Nehem. 9. 10.

Vers. 19. the Angel,] that is, Christ, called Jehovah, Exod. 13 21. So the Hebrew Doctors have acknowledged this Angel to be Michael the great Prince, who was made a wall of fire, between the Israelites and the Egyptians; Pirkei R. Eliezer, chap. 42. And others of them say this Angel was (Shechinah) the presence (or Majesty) of God, and called an Angel and Prince of the world, because the government of the world to by his hand: R. Menachem upon this place. This 19. verse, and 20. and the 21. following; have every of them in the Hebrew, 72. letters; from which the Hebrew Rabbin's have their curious speculations, of so many Angels, concurring in this glorious work of dividing the sea, and leading Israel through it.

Vers. 20. a cloud and darkness,] that is, the cloud was thick and dark to the Egyptians, and made light (or illumined) the night to the Israelites. And so the Chaldee paraphrase, and Targum Yerushalmi explaineth it, the cloud was half light, and half darkness, the light, gave light unto Israel; and the darkness, gave darkness unto the Egyptians. The Greek translateth, and there was darkness & thick darkness, and the night came. A like manifestation of God's glory, the Psalmist celebrateth; He set darkness, his secret place; round about him his pavilion: darkness of waters, (that is, of watrie clouds) thick clouds of the skies, Psal. 18. 12.

Vers. 21. to go back,] O s•a what ailed thee, that thou fleddest? Psalm •14. 5. The waters saw thee ô God, the waters saw thee, they trembled: the depths also were troubled, Psal. 77. 17. This work of God figured the afflictions of this world, made easy for Christ's people to pass thorough by the power of God, Ps. 66. 12. Isaiah 43. 2. east wind] which being violent, is used to denote God's anger, Jer. 18. 17. Ezek. 19. 12. Psal. 48. 8. And of this work, the Prophet saith, was thy wrath (Lord) against the sea? Habakkuk. 3. 8. and David saith, he rebuked the sea, and it was dried up, Psal. 106. 9. It figured also the power of God's Spirit, for the salvation of his Church by Christ, Isaiah 11. 15. who for the help of his people, flieth swiftly on the wings of the wind, Ps. 18. 11. dry land] Come & see the works of God he is fearful in his doing, toward the sons of men; he turned the sea into dry-land, Psal. 66. 5. 6. cloven] or, forcibly divided, into parts, as Psal. 136. 13. from which the Jew Doctors teach, that there were 12. according to the number of the twelve tribes of Israel: Pirkei R. Eliezer, c. 42. and Targum Yerushalmi, on Deut. 1. 1.

Vers. 22. went in] following the Lord by faith: for he led them by the right hand of Moses, with his glorious arm dividing the water before them, to make himself an everlasting name, Isaiah 63. 12. and, by faith they passed through the red sea as by dry land, which the Egyptians assaying to do were drowned, Heb. 11. 29. And in this sea they were baptized, 1 Cor. 10. 2. a wall] standing up steadfast, as an heap, Psal. 78. 13. so they went safely: God led them through the deep, as an horse in the wilderness, that they should not stumble: as a beast goeth down into the valley, the Spirit of the Lord quietly led the people, to make himself a glorious name, Isaiah 63. 13. 14.

Vers. 24. watch,] or ward, custody; so called because men kept watch and ward there certain hours in the night. As here, and in 1 Sam. 11. 11. is mentioned the morning watch; so in Lam. 2. 19. the beginning of the watches; and in Judge. 7. 19. the middle watch is spoken of: in Luk. 12. 38. the second and third watch; and in Matt. 14. 25. the fourth watch of the night; which in Mar 13. 35 are named, evening, midnight, cock-crowing and day-dawning. See also after in v. 27. looked,] and manifested his presence with Israel, and wrath against Egypt; for the clouds streamed down waters, the skies gave out a sound; God's arrows also (or hailestones) went abroad, the voice of his thunder was in the air, lightnings lightened the world; the earth trembled & quaked, Psal. 77. 18. 19. pillar of fire,] wherein God did as it were ride upon his horses, his chariots of salvation, for his people, Habak. 3. 8. 9. troubled the campe] or made a tumult in their host; and terribly struck them down. The Yerushalmi Targum here saith, God threw down upon them pitch, and fire, and hail-stones, and astonished the host of the Egyptians. This word is after used, when God promiseth to destroy the Canaanites from before his people, Deut. 7. 23. And David in like sort, celebrateth his victories, saying; he sent out his arrows, and scattered them: and he hurled forth lightnings, and troubled them, Psalm 18. 15.

Vers. 25. heavily,] Hebrew, with heaviness: Greek by force. For the rain and tempest so softened the ground, that they could drive but slowly, and with much ado. Egyptians] Hebrew, the Egyptian said, let me flee: spoken as of one man, to note their joint consent. So in v. 26.

Vers. 26. shall return] the Greek translatheth, let the water return and cover the Egyptians. The word cover, is borrowed from v. 28. This was done with a wind, as before, v. 21. Exod. 15. 10.

Vers. 27. the looking forth, or, turning towards of the morning, at the day dawning: which time the Scripture noteth, both for judgment upon the wicked, as in this place; and for mercy to the city of God, as in Psal. 46. 6. It was also the time of Christ's resurrection, Matt. 28. 1. 2.

The like phrase, is, of the evening, in Gen. 24. 63. shook off,] that is, cast away, destroyed: so this word is elsewhere used, Job 38. 13. Nehem. 5. 13. Herein God recompensed them, according to their works: for they had drowned the children of Israel in the river, Exod. 1. 22. and now they themselves were drowned in the sea. This overthrow of the Egyptians, was also a figure of Christ's victory over our spiritual enemies, by subduing our iniquities, and casting all our sins into the depths of the sea, Micah. 7. 15. 19.

Vers. 29. walked] or went on dry land, as before, so whiles the waters retired and drowned the Egyptians. Of this miracle Asaph sung, O God, thy way was in the sea, and thy paths in the many waters; and thy foot-steps were not known: thou didst lead thy people like a flock, by the hand of Moses and Aaron, Psal. 77. 20. 21. Alike marvelous work, was at the river Jordan, when Israel entered in Canaan, Ios. 3. 16.

Vers. 30. shore] Heb. lip of the sea.

Vers. 31. hand,] that is, handy work; so in Psalm 109. 27. the Chaldee translatheth it, the power of the great hand. in Jehovah] the Greek translatheth, believed God: so in Gen. 15. 6. where is shown, that the Apostles approve the version. in Moses,] that is, in the word which Moses taught them from God: as the Chaldee explaineth it, they believed in the word of the Lord, and in the prophesy of Moses his servant. So in 2 Chro. 20. 20. it is said, believe in Jehovah, &c. believe in his Prophets; and in Exod. 19. 9. that they may believe in thee. It meaneth trust or confidence in the faithfulness of any; as in 2 Cor. 2. 3. Gal. 5. 10. A like speech is of Zion, in Isaiah 14. 32. the poor of his people shall trust in it. So, in 1 Sam. 12. 18. the people feared Jehovah and Samuel. See further in the notes on Exod. 19. 9.

CHAP. XV.

1, The song of Moses and Israel; wherein they celebrate God's power and grace, for drowning the Egyptians, and saving of Israel, in the red sea: 13, for leading his people through the wilderness. 14, for terrifying the nations round about. 17, for seating his people in Canaan. 20, Marie and the women, answer the men in singing God's praise. 22, The people in the wilderness are brought to bitter waters. 25, a tree sweetneth them. 27, At Elim are twelve wels, and seventy palm trees.

THEN sang Moses and the sons of Israel this song unto Jehovah; and they said, saying; I WILL SING unto Jehovah, for he excelleth gloriously: the horse and his rider hath he thrown into the sea.

John is my strength and song, and he hath been to me a salvation: this is my God, and I will make him an habitation; the God of my father, and I will exalt him.

Jehovah is a man of war: Jehovah is his name. [unspec 3]

Pharaohs chariots and his host hath he cast into the sea; and the choice of his captains are drowned in the red sea.

The depths have covered them: they sank down into the bottoms as a stone. [unspec 5]

Thy right hand, O Jehovah, is become glorious in power: thy right hand; O Jehovah, hath dashed in pieces the enemy.

And in the greatness of thine excellency, thou hast overthrown them that rose up against thee: thou sentest forth thy wrath, which did eat them up as stubble.

And with the blast of thy nostrils the waters were gathered together; the floods stood upright as an heap, the depths were congealed in the heart of the sea.

The enemy said, I will pursue, I will overtake, I will divide the spoil: my soul shall be filled with them; I will draw out my sword; mine hand shall destroy them.

Thou didst blow with thy wind, the sea covered them; they sank as lead, in the mighty waters.

Who is like thee amongst the gods, O Jehovah? who is like thee, glorious in holiness, fearful in praises, doing wonders!

Thou stretchedst out thy right hand; the earth swallowed them.

Thou leadest forth in thy mercy, this people which thou hast redeemed: thou guidest them in thy strength, unto the habitation of thine holiness.

This may be sung also as the 113. Psalm. 〈♪〉 Nto Jehovah sing will I, for he excelleth 〈♪〉 gloriously: the horse and him that rode 〈♪〉 thereon, into the sea thrown down hath 〈♪〉 he. Yah is my strength and melodee, and 〈♪〉 hath been my salvation.

This is my God, and for his sake

I will an habitation make;

God of my father is this same,

And I will highly him prefer.

Jehovah is a man of war: [unspec 3]

Jehovah his renowned name.

Charets of Phar'oh, and his host, [unspec 4]

He down into the sea hath cast:

His Captains eke each chosen one,

He did them in the Red sea drown.

The deeps them covered: they sanke down [unspec 5]

Into the bottoms, as a stone.

Thy right hand, O Jehovah, is Glorious become, in powerfulness: [unspec 6]

Jehovah, thou with thy right hand,
Hast dashed in pieces th'enemy.
And in thy great excellency, [unspec 7]
Thrown down them that did thee withstand.
Thy servant wrath thou forth didst pour,
Which them as stubble did devour.
And waters with thy nostrils blast, [unspec 8]
Together gathered were; as heaps
The floods stood upright; and the deeps
In seas heart were congealed fast.
The enemy said, I will make [unspec 9]
Pursuit, I will them overtake,
I will divide the gotten spoil:
My soul shall be replenished
With them; my sword I will unshard;
Mine hand shall utterly them foil.
Then with thy wind thou diddest blow, [unspec 10]
The sea them covered: they sank low,
As lead in waters vehement.
Among the God's, who is like thee, [unspec 11]
Lord? who like thee? in sanctity
Glorious, in praises reverent;
Thou doest wonders! Hast out spread [unspec 12]
Thy right hand; them the earth swallowed.
Thou in thy mercy leadest on [unspec 13]
This people which thou didst redeem:
And in thy strength thou guidest them:

Unto thine holy mansion.

The people's shall hear, and be stirred: sorrow shall take hold of the Inhabitants of Palestine.

Then the Dukes of Edom shall be amazed; the mighty men of Moab trembling shall take hold upon them: all the inhabitants of Canaan shall melt away.

Terror and dread shall fall upon them; by the greatness of thine arm they shall be as still as a stone; till thy people pass over, O Jehovah, till this people pass over which thou hast purchased.

Thou wilt bring them in, and plant them in the mountain of thine inheritance, in the place, O Jehovah, which thou hast made for thee to dwell in, in the Sanctuary, O Lord, which thy hands have established.

Jehovah shall reign forever and aye.

For the horse of Pharaoh went in, with his chariots and with his horsemen, into the sea, and Jehovah brought again the waters of the sea upon them: but the sons of Israel went on dry land, in the mids of the sea.

And Mary the Prophetess, the sister of Aaron, took a timbrell in her hand, and all the women went out after her, with timbrels, and with dances.

And Mary answered them: SING ye to Jehovah, for he excelleth gloriously; the horse and his rider hath he thrown into the sea.

And Moses removed Israel forward from the red sea; and they went out into the wilderness of Shur: and they went three days in the wilderness and found no water▪ And they came to Marah; and they could not drink of the waters of Marah, for they were bitter; therefore the name of it was called Marah. And the people murmured against Moses, saying, What shall we drink? And he cried out unto Jehovah; and Jehovah shown him a tree, and he cast it into the waters, and the waters were made sweet: there he appointed to him a statute and a judgment, & there he tempted him. And he said, If hearkening thou wilt hearken to the voice of Jehovah thy God, and wilt do that which is right in his eyes, and wilt give ear to his commandments, & keep all his statutes; I will not put upon thee any of the diseases which I have put upon the Egyp <...> s; for I am Jehovah, <◇> he aleth thee. And they came to Elim, and there were twelve we•s of water, and se <...> <◇> trees, and they <◇> there by the•••••rs.

The people's they shall hear and quake: [unspec]

Sorrow shall hold upon them take,

That in Palestine remain.

The Dukes of Edom shall be then [unspec]

Amazed, Moabs mighty men,

Take hold on them shall trembling pain.
In Canaan shall melt away
The dwellers all. Fearfull dismay [unspec]
And dread shall fall on them from thee;
They shall as still be as a stone,
By thy great arm, till over gone
Thy people, O Jehovah, be;
Until this people over past
Shall be, which purchased thou hast.
Thou wilt bring in and plant them sure,
In mount of thine inheritance
In place which for thine habitance
Thou, O Jehovah, dost procure:
Even in the Sanctuary, Lord,
Which thy hands firmly have prepared.
Jehovah ev'r and aye is king.
For Pharaohs horse, cars and horsemen, [unspec]
Went into Sea; Jehovah then
Did the sea waters on them bring:
But go the sons of Isr'el did
Upon dry land, the sea amid.
Unto Jehovah sing do ye, [unspec]
For he excels with glorious fame;
The horse and rider on the same,
Into the sea thrown down hath he.

Annotations.

VNto Jehovah] that is, unto his praise, as David [unspec] saith, They believed in his words, they sang his praise, Psal. 106. 12. So the Chaldee beginneth the song thus, We will sing praise and confess unto the Lord. With this song of victory over Pharaoh, the Holy Ghost compareth the song of those that have gotten victory over the spiritual Pharaoh, the Beast (Antichrist) when they stand, by the sea of glass mingled with fire, (as Israel here standeth by the red sea,) having harps of God, (as the women here had timbrels, v. 20.), and they sing the song of Moses the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb, the Son of God, Rev. 15. 2. 3. 4. gloriously] or excellently; Hebr. excelling excelleth; which the Gr. translateth, is become gloriously glorious. The Chaldee paraphraseth, for he excelleth above the excellent, and excellency is his. [unspec]

Vers. 2. Yah.] this is one of the proper names of God, Psal. 68. 5. first used in this song; and seldom but in songs and psalms. The Hebrew Hallelujah, (that is, Praise yejah) is kept by the Holy Ghost in Greek, Allelouia, Rev. 19. 1. 3. 4. 6. The memorial of this name, was kept also among the heathen Romans, who called their greatest god Iu-piter, that is, Yah father. The Greek Bible usually translateth Yah Lord, the Chaldee, Fear: and Thurgum Ierusalem on this place expoundeth it, the Fear of all the world. Other Hebrews make it an abridgement of the name Jehovah, and a part of it; Maimoy in Iesudei hatorah, chap. 6. S. 4. so it signifieth the essence or being of God, (as Jehovah also doth, whereof see the notes on Gen. 2. 4.) or, as Yah is pronounced with breathing, it may signify God, who giveth to all, Life and Breath, and all things, Acts 17. 25. my strength] he which giveth me strength, as in Psalm 68. 36 (so the Greek here translateth it Helper:) or, he to whom I give strength, that is, strong praise; as in Psalm 29. 1. give ye to Jehovah glory and strength: so, out of the mouth of babes and sucklings, thou hast founded strength, Psal. 8. 3. is expounded by our Savior, thou hast perfected praise, Matth. 21. 16. Howbeit, we may here retain the name Strength, which the Holy Ghost often ascribeth to God among other his praises; as in 1 Tim. 6. 16. to whom be honor and strength: in 1 Peter 4. 11. to whom be glory and strength; and sundry the like, Revel. 1. 6. and 5. 13. Strength is here and always ascribed unto God, for by his own strength shall no man prevail, 1 Sam. 2. 9. song] or psalm, melody; that is, the argument of my song; or whom I praise with Psalm; so the Chaldee translateth it, my praise: also the Greek in Isaiah. 12. 2. though here it turneth it, my protector. It is generally all melody, with voice of man, Isaiah. 51. 3. or instruments of music, Amos 5. 23. These words the Prophets after use, when they sing of Christ and of his graces, as Psal. 118. 14. and Isaiah. 12. 2. where the name Jehovah is added, for Yah Jehovah is my strength and song. There immediately before, he hath reference to Israel's salvation from the Egyptians, Isaiah. 11. 15. 16. which being by him applied to our salvation by Christ, showeth that all these things happened unto them for types, as the Apostle saith, 1 Cor. 10. 11. and he] or, for he: as, And he heard, Isaiah. 39. 1. is expounded. For he heard, 2 King. 20. 12. And thou wilt save, 2 Sam. 22. 28. is For thou wilt save, Psalm 18. 28. a salvation] or, for a salvation: that is, hath saved (helped or delivered) me from mine enemies, who were too strong for me. So this phrase meaneth, as in 2 Sam. 10. 11. If the Syrian; be too strong for me, then thou shalt be to me a salvation; that is, shalt help or rescue me. Thus Christ is called God's salvation, Luke 2. 30. because by him God hath saved and delivered us out of the hands of our enemies, Luke 1. 71. 74. The Chaldee here paraphraseth, he said by his word, and hath been to me a redeemer. an habitation] or a comely dwelling; and so, will dwell with him: the Chaldee explaineth it, I will build him a sanctuary. Or we may English it, I will adorn him; will do him seemly honor; as the Greek translateth, I will glorify him. my father] this the Chaldee expoundeth my fathers: it seemeth principally to intend Abraham, the father of many nations, Genes. 17. 5. and with him, Isaac, Jacob, and the rest, to whom God gave his promises; which now began to be performed to their children, Gen. 15. 14. exalt] with song and praise, as this word is often used in Psalms, wherein God his name and actions are extolled, Psalm 30. 2. and 118. 28. and 145. 1. Isaiah. 25. 1.

Vers. 3. man of war,] that is, a noble warrior: for the word man, added to other things, often signifieth excellency: as, a man of arm, is a mighty one, Job 22. 8. a man of words, is an eloquent person, Exod. 4. 10. And so the Chaldee here expresseth it, calling him the Lord, and Victour of wars: and the Greek, a breaker of wars. Now did the Lord ride upon his horses, and his chariots of salvation, his bow was made quite naked; Habakkuk 3. 8. 9. This also may have reference to Christ, the Conqueror, as Psalm 24. 8. Revel. 19. 11. &c. Jehovah] this name among other things, noteth God's powerful effecting of judgments upon his enemies, for the salvation of his Church; and he is therefore called Jehovah of hosts, Psal. 83. 14.—19. and 46. 7. 8.—12. See the notes on Genes. 2. 4. and Exodus 6. 3.

Vers. 4. the choice] that is, as the Greek translateth, his chosen captains; meaning the fairest, best and valiantest; as the Chaldee translateth, the fairest: so in Gen. 23. 6. Of these captains, see Exod. 14. 7. Like triumph shall be over the enemies of Christ, when all the fowls of heaven shall be called to eat the flesh of Kings, and of Captains, and of mighty men, and the flesh of horses, and of them that sit on them, &c. Rev. 19. 17. 18. 21.

Vers. 5. as a stone:] that they could not help themselves with swimming; neither rise up anymore forever; as Ierem. 51. 63. 64. So after in verse 10. they sanke as lead. This is remembered in Nehem. 9. 11. their persecutors thou threwest into the deeps, as a stone into the mighty waters. A like judgment God will bring upon Babylon, the spiritual Egypt; for as a stone cast into the sea, so with violence shall that great city Babylon be thrown down, and shall be found no more at all, Revel. 18. 21.

Ver. 6. become glorious,] or, wondrous excellent, ample and magnificent. It may also imply, is become glorious to me. So David extolleth the works of God's right hand, Psal. 118. 15. 16.

Vers. 7. against thee,] the Chaldee saith, against thy people: for that which is done against them, is against God himself, Zechariah 2. 8. Matthew 25. 45. Acts 9. 4. eat them up] that is, devour and consume them; as the Chaldee explaineth it, consumed them as the fire doth the stubble. So God's wrath is likened to fire, Psalm 89. 47. and the wicked, to stubble, Esa. 5. 24. and 47. 14.

Vers. 8. blast,] or, spirit, or wind of thy wrath, as the Greek translateth it: because the Hebrew Aph signifieth both anger, and the nostrils: and this speech is used in cases of judgment upon God's enemies, as in Job 4. 9. by the blast of God they perish, &c. The Chaldee here translateth, with the word of thy mouth. It respecteth God's command, in Exod. 14. 26. 27. which was performed also by a wind; as after verse 10. So the Lord will consume Antichrist, with the spirit of his mouth, 2 Thes. 2. 8. gathered] or, heaped up: became as heaps. And this being done with a mighty wind, was with a great noise; to which the Prophet hath reference, saying; the deep uttered his voice, and life up his hands on high, Habakkuk 3. 10. congealed,] as ice, frozen, hardened. It may be meant of the seas bottom, which being muddy and soft, was hardened, that they went as on dry land. He led his people through the deep, as an horse in the wilderness, Isaiah 63. 13. Some understand it of the waters, that they were congealed as ice. the heart] that is, the mids, or deep of the sea, so Psalm 46. 3. Ezek. 28. 2. And now, the channels of waters were seen, and the foundations of the world were revealed: at the rebuke of the Lord, at the breath of the wind of his anger; as David singeth for his victories, Psal. 18. 16.

Vers. 9. divide the spoil] which is done after victory, Luke 11. 22. and with joy, Isaiah. 9. 3. Thus the enemy vainly promised themselves the victory: so in Judge. 5. 30. soul,] that is, lust, or, will: so in Psal. 27. 12. and 41. 3. and 78. 18. destroy them] or, repossesse them: for so the original is used sometime for destroying or disinheriting; as Numb. 14. 12. sometime for causing to inherit, or taking possession, Numb. 14. 24. The Chaldee here translateth it, destroy: the Greek, have dominion, (or Lord over them) The Egyptians came out as a whirlwind to scatter Israel: their rejoicing was even to devour the poor, in secret, Hab. 3. 14.

Vers. 10. blow,] the Chaldee translateth it, thou didst say with thy word. Of this wind there was no mention in Exod. 14. 27. but it is gathered from verse 21. where the Lord, by a strong east wind, caused the sea to go back. covered them] God made the waters of the red sea to flow over their faces, as they pursued after Israel, Deut. 11. 4. the waters covered the distressers of Israel; not one of them was left, Psal. 106. 11. And here God brake the heads of the Dragons, in the waters: the heads of Livjathan, Psalm 74. 13. 14.

Vers. 11. the God's,] or, the Mighties, the Potentates: so the Princes of the world are called, Psal. 82. and 89. 7. wonders] or marvels: so the Greek also and Chaldee translateth it: the Hebrew being singular, a wonder, or miracle: but one is often put for many, as is noted on Gen. 3. 2. So in Psal. 78. 12.

Vers. 12. the earth,] in the bottom of the sea: so Jonah in the sea, said the earth with her bars was about me forever, Ion. 2. 6.

Vers. 13. leadest,] to wit, softly or quietly, as a flock is led: this was done by the pillar of the cloud and fire; also by the hand of Moses and Aaron, but ascribed to God as the principal; even as in verse 12. God is said to stretch out his hand, which was ministerially done by Moses, Exodus 14. 26. So in Psalm 77. 21. thou didst lead thy people like a flock, by the hand of Moses and Aaron. habitation of thine holiness] in Greek thine holy lodging (or mansion) It is a continuance of the former similitude of a shepherds lodge or habitation, which is in pleasant pastures to feed and give rest to his flock; as in all the cities thereof, shall be an ha 〈...〉 of shepherds, causing their flocks to lie down, 〈∞〉 12. It meaneth the land of Canaan, where God 〈...〉 uld give his people rest, and feed them with his Word. So when God promiseth to return them out of Babylon, he useth this word, I will bring Israel again to his habitation, and he shall feed, &c. Ier. 50. 19. and in that land Jerusalem was as the fold of the flock, and is called a quiet habitation, Isaiah. 33. 20. The fulfilling of this prophesy, is celebrated by Asaph, showing how God made his people to go forth like sheep, and guided them like a flock in the wilderness; and led them on in safety, and they dreaded not: but the sea covered their enemies. And he brought them to the border of his Holiness, to that mountain which his right hand had purchased, Psal. 78, 52. 53. 54.

Vers. 14. stirred,] with fear, or anger: both which do stir the mind and body, and cause it to quake and tremble: and these were in the people's hearing of God's works for Israel, Deut. 2. 25. Ios. 2. 10. 11. Num. 20. 18. 20. and 22. 3. 6. The Greek here translateth it, angry.

Vers. 15. amazed] or suddenly troubled: it implieth both fear and haste; and so the Greek translateth it hasten. See this fulfilled in Deut. 2. 4. and of Edoms Dukes, see Gen. 36. take hold] that is, they shall greatly tremble. For passions of the mind, fear, trembling, astonishment, and the like, are said to take hold, or fall upon men, when they are overcome by them. In Luk. 5. 26. it is said, amazement took all; which in Mark. 2. 12. is expounded, all were amazed. melt,] that is, faint with fear: as was accomplished, Ios. 2. 9. 10. 11. and 5. 1. A similitude whereby the heart is likened to wax, which melteth with fear, as wax with fire, Psal. 22. 15. and 68. 3.

Vers. 16. terror;] this also is signified in Deut. 2. 25. and 11. 25. Targum Yerushalmi expounds it the terror of death: which phrase David useth in Psal. 55. 5. terrors of death are fallen upon me. The Hebrew aemathah, hath here a letter added in the end, to denote the excess of fear, great terror. This, though it was in respect of the people, as it is said, your terror is fallen upon us, Ios. 2. 9. yet proceeded it from God, as he saith, I will send my terror before thee, Exod. 23. 27. purchased] or gotten, bought, and possessest. The Hebrew Kanah signifieth to get either by generation, as Gen. 4. 1. or by buying and purchasing, whereby it becometh ones own possession, Gen. 25. 10. Ex. 21. 2. All are in God, creating, redeeming, and regenerating his people in Christ. So Moses elsewhere saith, Is not he thy father that hath gotten (or bought) thee? Deut. 32. 6. and Asaph saith, Remember thy congregation which thou hast purchased, Psalm 74. 2. and the Apostle speaketh of such as deny the Lord that hath bought them, 2 Pet. 2. 1. The Chaldee here translateth it, redeemed, as in verse 13.

Vers. 17. plant] that is, give them a settled dwelling: a similitude from the vine tree, as Psal. 80. 9. and 44. 3. mountain] that is, mountany country; such as Canaan was, Deut. 11. 11. and in special, Mount Zion, where the Temple was after built. This land & sanctuary, did also figure heaven, as is noted on Gen. 12. 5. & Exod. 25. 8. So the Heb. Doctors say here, the Sanctuary, signifieth the Jerusalem which is above. R. Menachem, on Ex. 15.

Vers. 18. and aye,] or, and yet: in this world, and that which is to come: as the Chaldee explaineth it, forever, and forever and ever. God is said to reign or be King, when he manifesteth his power and goodness, in subduing his enemies, and saving his people. So after Antichrists overthrow, voices in heaven do say, The kingdoms of this world are become (the kingdoms) of our Lord, and of his Christ; and he shall reign forever and ever. We give thee thanks O Lord God almighty, &c. because thou hast taken to thee thy great power, and reignest, Rev. 11. 15. 17.

Vers. 20. Marie] in Hebrew Mirjam, in Greek Mariam: which was also the name of the mother of Christ, Matth. 1. 16. This Marie the Prophetess, was one of the three principal guides, which God sent before his people; which mercy is remembered in Mich. 6. 4. I sent before thee, Moses, Aaron, and Marie. timbrell,] see the notes on Gen. 31. 27. These and other instruments were used not only in civil mirth, but in spiritual joy, and thanksgiving unto God: as here, so in Judge. 11. 34. 1 Sam. 18. 6. 7. 2 Sam. 6. 5. prophesied also of, in Ier. 31. 4. O Virgin Israel thou shalt again be adorned with thy timbrels, &c. dances] or, flutes, as the word sometime signifieth, Psal. 150. 4. and 149. 3. but the Greek and Chaldee translate it here, dances: which were wont to be used religiously, as Judge. 21. 21. Ier. 31. 4. 14.

Vers. 21. them:] that is, the men, to whom the word in the original, plainly hath reference. Wherefore her words answer to theirs in verse 1. which it may be also she repeated at the end of every verse of the foresaid song, as the 136 Psalm repeateth in every verse, for his mercy endureth forever. So also in a Chron. 5. 13.

Vers. 22. of Shur,] called also the wilderness of Etham, Numb. 33. 8. Exod. 13. 20. Of Shur, see Gen. 16. 7. three days;) so long a journey they requested of Pharaoh, Exod. 3. 18. and now found it full of wants and temptations. So after in Numbers 10. 33.

Vers. 23. Marah,] that is, by interpretation Bitterness: so called of the bitter waters. Which the Israelites not being able to drink, lead us to consider the nature of afflictions; both spiritual by the terrors of the Law, upon the consciences of sinners; and other temptations, wants, and earthly miseries, all which are bitter as worm wood, and sorrowful to the flesh, Lament. 3. 15. Psalm 80. 6. Mark. 10. 38. and 14. 36. Hebr. 12. 11. was called] so the Greek also translateth the Hebrew phrase he called: which may intend chiefly Moses, who called it so: or, he, that is, everyone called it. So where it is said, in 2 Sam. 5. 9. he called: in 1 Chron. 11. 7. it is said, they called. See the notes on Gen. 16. 14.

Vers. 25. a tree,] the Yerushalmi Targum saith, And Moses prayed before the Lord, and the Word of the Lord shown him the tree Ardiphne. This is said to be a tree that hath flowers like lilies, but very bitter: Elias in Lexico Chaldee. It seemeth to figure out the Tree of Christ, the Cross, whereby the bitterness of our afflictions, (likened to waters, Psalm 69. 2.) is turned into sweetness and joy, Gal. 3. 13. 1 Pet. 2. 21. 24. 2 Cor. 1. 5. 7. 10. Rom. 5. 3. and 6. 3. 4. So Elisens healed evil waters with salt, 2 King. 2. 21. The Hebrew Doctors, (in Thancuma,) upon this say; It is the manner of the blessed God, to make that which is bitter, sweet, by that which is bitter. Some thought, the wood it self had this virtue to sweeten the waters: of whose mind was Jesus the son of Sirach, saying, Was not the water made sweet with wood, that the virtue thereof might be known? Eccus. 38. 5. Others expound it mystically, of the tree of life, which removed Satan away: as R. Menaches on this place showeth. he appointed to him] or he (meaning God) imposed upon him, that is, upon Israel, the people spoken of as one man. tempted him] meaning Israel: whom God tempted or proved by this affliction, as by other the like afterward, to know what was in their heart, and to do them good at their latter end; as Deut. 8. 2. 15. 16.

Vers. 26. right] or, pleasing; for so the phrase also signifieth, 2 Sam. 19. 6. and so the Greek translateth it here: and the Holy Ghost useth the like, in 1 John. 3. 22. Whatsoever we ask, we receive of him, because we keep his commandments, and do those things that are pleasing in his sight. This is often mentioned in the scriptures; see Deut. 6. 18. diseases,] or, sicknesses: the plagues of Egypt threatened to the transgressors, in Deut. 28. 27. 60. So God's blessings, under the name of health and welfare, are promised to the keepers of his Law, Prov. 3. 7. 8. and 4. 22. Psal. 103. 3. healeth:] this word is applied to the soul as well as to the body: and implieth the forgiveness of sins: as heal my soul, for I have sinned against thee, Psalm 41. 9. And Christ when he healed diseases, for gave sins also, Matth. 9. 2. 6. and healing of men, Matth. 13. 15. is expounded to be forgiving of their sins, Mark. 4. 12.

Vers. 27. palm trees,] or, date trees, which are upright and tall of stature, bear sweet fruits, the leaves always green and flourishing, good for shadow, Song 7. 7. 8. Levite. 23. 40. Psal. 92. 13. To bear the branches of this tree, is a sign of victory over afflictions, Revel. 7. 9. The number of 12. wels, and 70. palm trees, the Yerushalmi Targum maketh answerable to the 12. tribes of Israel, and the 70. Elders of the Synedriion, mentioned in Gen. 49. 28. and Num. 11. 16. It accordeth also to the number of 70. souls of Israel, that came into Egypt, Gen. 46. 27. Likewise to the 12. Apostles, and 70. Disciples of Christ, Luk 9. 1. & 10. 1. Rev. 21. 12. 14.

CHAP. XVI.

1, The Israelites come to the wilderness of Sin. 2, They murmur for want of bread. 4, God promiseth them bread from heaven. 11, Quails are sent, 14, and Manna. 16, The ordering of the Manna. 25, It was not to be found on the Sabbath. 32, An Omer of it is kept for the generations following.

AND they journeyed from Elim; and all the congregation of the sons of Israel came unto the wilderness of Sin, which is between Elim and Sinai, in the fifteenth day of the second month after their departing out of the land of Egypt. And all the congregation of the sons of Israel murmured against Moses and against Aaron in the wilderness. And the sons of Israel said unto them, O we wish we had died by the hand of Jehovah, in the land of Egypt, when we sate by the flesh pots, when we did eat bread to the full: for ye have brought us forth into this wilderness, to kill this whole assembly with hunger. And Jehovah said unto Moses, Behold, I will rain unto you bread from the heavens; and the people shall go out and gather a days portion in his day, that I may prove them, whether they will walk in my Law, or not. And it shall be, in the sixth day, then they shall prepare that which they bring in, and it shall be twice so much as they gather day by day. And Moses and Aaron said unto all the sons of Israel, In the evening then ye shall know that Jehovah hath brought you out from the land of Egypt. And in the morning, then ye shall see the glory of Jehovah, for that he heareth your murmurings against Jehovah: And what are we, that ye murmur against us? And Moses said, (This shall be) when Jehovah shall give unto you in the evening flesh to eat, and bread in the morning to the full: for that Jehovah heareth your murmurings, which ye murmur against him: and what are we? your murmurings are not against us, but against Jehovah. And Moses said unto Aaron, Say unto all the congregation of the sons of Israel, Come near before Jehovah: for he hath heard your murmurings. And it was, as Aaron spake unto all the congregation of the sons of Israel, and they looked toward the wilderness, that behold the glory of Jehovah appeared in the cloud. And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying, I have heard the murmurings of the sons of Israel: Speak unto them, saying, Between the two evenings ye shall eat flesh, and in the morning ye shall be filled with bread: and ye shall know that I am Jehovah your God. And it was in the evening, that the Quails came up, & covered the campe; and in the morning there was a dew that lay round about the campe. And the dew that ay went up, and behold, upon the face of the wilderness was a small round thing, small as the oar frost, on the earth. And the sons of Israel saw it, and said each man unto his brother, It is Manna; for they knew not what it was: and Moses said unto them This is the bread which Jehovah hath given unto you to eat. This is the word which Jehovah hath commanded: gather ye of it, every man according to his eating; an Omer for an head, according to the number of your souls; ye shall take every man for them which are in his tent. And the sons of Israel did so; and they gathered, both he that did (gather) more, and he that did (gather) less. And they did mete it with an Omer; and he that had gathered much, had nothing over; and he that had gathered little, had no lack: they gathered, every man according to his eating. And Moses said unto them, let no man leave of it till the morning. And they hearkened not unto Moses, but some men left of it until the morning, and it bred worms and stanke: and Moses was wroth with them. And they gathered it morning by morning every man according to his eating: and when the Sun waxed hot, it melted. And it was in the sixth day, they gathered twice so much bread, two Omers for one man: and all the rulers of the congregation came, and told Moses. And he said unto them, This is that which Jehovah hath spoken, To morrow is the sabbatism, the Sabbath of holiness to Jehovah: bake that which ye will bake, and seeth that which ye will seeth; and all that remaineth over, lay up for you, for a reservation until the morning. And they laid it up until the morning, as Moses commanded; and it did not stink, neither was there a worm therein. And Moses said, Eat that today, for it is the Sabbath today unto Jehovah: today ye shall not find it in the field. Six days ye shall gather it: but in the seventh [unspec] day, the Sabbath, in it there shall be none. And it was, in the seventh day some of [unspec] the people went out to gather, and they found none. And Jehovah said unto Moses, How long refuse ye to keep my commandments, and my laws? See, because Jehovah hath given you the Sabbath, therefore he giveth you in the sixth day the bread of two days: abide ye every man in his place; let no man go out of his place in the seventh day. And the people rested in the seventh day. And the house of Israel called the name thereof Manna: and it was like coriander seed, white; and the taste of it was like wafers with honey. And Moses said, This is the word which Jehovah commandeth: Fill an Omer of it, for a reservation for your generations, that they may see the bread which I have given you to eat in the wilderness, when I brought you forth from the land of Egypt. And Moses said unto Aaron, Take thou one golden pot, and put there an Omer full of Manna, and lay it up before Jehovah, for a reservation for your generations. As Jehovah commanded unto Moses, so Aaron laid it up before the Testimony, for a reservation. And the sons of Israel did eat Manna forty years, until they came to a land inhabited: they did eat Manna until they came unto the border of the land of Canaan. Now an Omer is the tenth (part) of an Ephah.

Annotations.

OF Sin] after they had been again by the red sea; which journey here omitted, Moses expresseth in Num. 33. 10. 11. It had the name of Sin a strong city of Egypt, near which this wilderness lay, Ezek. 30. 15. 16. The wilderness whereinto God brought his people, was a place of great wants and afflictions, as is noted on Exod. 3. 18. therein God tried their faith and patience, and suffered their manners forty years, Act. 13. 18. It figured [unspec] the people's of the world, through whom God leadeth his Church; as it is said, I will bring you into the wilderness of the people's, and there will I plead with you face to face, as I pleaded with your fathers, in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, Ezek. 20. 35. 36. Sinai] the mount called also Horeb, where the Law was given; see Exod. 3. 1. and 19. 1. 18. after] or, from their departing: so an whole month, they lived of their provision brought out of Egypt: which being spent, they murmur. Here the Hebrew letseth, of departure, is put for mitseth, from or after their departure: so in Exod. 19. 1. Num. 33. 38. Ezr. 3. 8. The Scripture sometime showeth this, as laleketh, 1 King. 12. 24. is explained milleketh, from going, 2 Chron. 11. 4.

Vers. 3. O we wish] Hebr. who will give: which is a wish, oh that some would give; or, that God would grant; namely, to have ones request, as is explained in Job 6. 8. by the hand;] the Chaldee saith, by the word: the Greek explaineth it, smitten of the Lord. This was in them a desperate unthankfulness, with contumelious carriage against God and his ministers: and is written for an ensample to us, not to do the like; as 1 Cor. 10. 10. 11. So they murmured again, Num. 14. 2. this whole assembly] or, all this Church. The wilderness whereinto God brought his people, was a land of drought, and of the shadow of death; a land that no man passed through, and where no man dwelt, Ier. 2. 6. They that wandered there, hungry and thirsty, their soul •inted in them, Psal. 107. 5. There the Lord afflicted Israel, and suffered them to hunger, that he might prove them, and do them good at their latter end, Deuteronomy <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> . 3. 16. But as yet, this generation had not prepared their heart ar•ght, and their spirit was not faithful with God, Psal. 78. 8.

Vers. 4. bread,] Manna, the wheat of heaven, whereof they made themselves bread or meat, Psal. 78. 24. portion,] Hebr. word: put for any thing: and here for the portion of meat by the day. Whereby God taught them also, to take no thought for the morrow, what they should eat or drink; as Matth. 6. 31. 34. prove them] or tempt them▪ Heb. him, meaning the people's, spoken of as of one man. Therefore the scripture useth these indifferently, as is shown on Gen. 22. 17. And this end of proving (or tempting) the people, is also mentioned in Deut. 8. 2. Exod. 15. 25.

Vers. 5. then they shall] Hebr. and they shall prepare. This is meant of every sixth day, the evening of the Sabbath; then were they to make ready their food, that there might be no working, or fire kindled on the Sabbath day; as verse 23. and Exod. 35. 3. day by day,] that is, daily: see Genesis 39. 10.

Vers. 6. Jehovah hath brought] and not we of our selves, as was objected, verse 3. So he assureth them (by the miracle of Quails which God would give) that their calling into that place and stare, was of the Lord.

Vers. 7. the glory] a visible sign of Christ's glorious presence among them, appearing in the cloud; as verse. 10. to assure them, that the Lord was with them in the midst of all their wants: (whereof they also doubted now, as again afterward, in Exod. 17. 7.) and that he heard their murmurings. By such apparations God used to repress the people's tumultuous rage, Num. 14. 10. and 16. 42. and 12. 5. But when he withdrew the cloud, it was a sign of his face and favor withdrawn from them, Exod. 33. 7. 9. 10. Or by the glory of Jehovah, may be meant that glorious work of his, the Manna which they saw in the morning, verse 15. So Christ's divine work, in raising Lazarus from the dead, is called the glory of God, John. 11. 40. So glory is used for glorious works, in Num. 14. 21. 22.

Vers. 8. This shall be,] or understand from verse 6. ye shall know this. Such wants are often to be supplied, as in Exod. 45. not against us,] to wit, us only, or, us so much as against the Lord: for it was also against them, verse 2. The like speech is in 1 Sam. 8. 7. John. 12. 44. See also Gen. 32. 28. against Jehovah,] the Chaldee expounds it, against the word of the Lord.

Vers. 9. before Jehovah] that is, assemble together before the cloud: wherein Jehovah's glorious presence was manifested, verse 10. So Uzzah died before God, 1 Chron. 13. 10. that is, by the Arks of God, 2 Sam. 6. 7. And the commandment to appear before the Lord Jehovah, Exod. 23. 17. was at the place which he did choose to put his name there; namely, the Tabernacle, or Temple, Deut. 12. 5. 6. Levite. 17. 4. 5. 1 King. 14. 21.

Vers. 10. the wilderness] where the cloud went before the people to guide them, Exod. 13. 21.

Vers. 12. between the two evenings,] towards eventide, as the Greek explaineth it: see Exodus 12. 6. ⟨◇⟩ ⟨◇⟩ came evening, for naturally they ⟨◇⟩ in the day. time over the sea, and came to land towards even▪ see Num. 11. 31. And Manna came ⟨...⟩ ing because it fell with the morning dew. The Quails are not in Scripture noted to be a spi ⟨...⟩ , ⟨○○◇⟩ Manna, 1 Cor. 10. 3. the flesh therefore which was to fill their bellies came towards night the time of darkness: but the bread of heaven came in the morning, which usually signifieth th ⟨...⟩ of grace from the Lord, Psal. 30. 6. and 143. 8. Lam. 3. 22. 23. filled with bread,] in ea ⟨...⟩ ng with Manna, a figure of Christ, the Bread of life that came down from heaven, John. 6. 48. 58. Unto this speech Moses seemeth to have reference, in Psal. 90. 14. Fill us in the morning with thy mercy.

Vers. 13. the quail,] Hebr. the quail: put for a multitude of quail: (as frog, for frogs, Exod. 8. 6.) A like miracle God wrought for them about a year after this, Num. 11. 31. This David rehearseth, in Psal. 105. 40. they asked, and he brought the Quail. that lay,] or, that lay poured out: Hebr. a•bed (or, an effusion) of dew: the Chaldee translateth a descension of dew, that is, dew which descended or fell down; which agreeth with Num. 11. 9. And the Psalmist saith, God opened the doors of heaven and rained upon them Manna, Psal. 78. 23. 24. The dew is often used to signify the blessing and favor of God, as Genes. 27. 28. Job 29. 19. Esa. 26. 19. Hos. 14. 6. Mich. 5. 7. Zach. 8. 12. and in mystical speech of the birth of Christ, (figured by this Manna) the dew is mentioned, Psal. 110. 3. And as the preaching of the Word is likened to the dew, Deut, 32. 2. so Manna falling in and with the dew, figured Christ given unto us by the preaching of the Gospel, Rom. 1. 16. 17. and 10. 8. 14. Gal. 3. 1. 2. The Hebrew Doctors say of the dew, that the holy blessed God will raise up the dead unto life therewith, in the time that is to come: and that is the Manna prepared for the just in the world to come. R. Menachem on Exod. 16.

Vers. 14. went up,] into the air, vanishing with the heat of the Sun. So going up is used for going away, or vanishing, in Jerem. 48. 15. roundthing,] or bare thing, as the Chaldee translateth it, pilled. The Greek saith, like coriander; according to verse 31. So that the Manna was covered, and as it were hidden with the dew upon it, till it ascended, and lay also upon dew under it, Num. 11. 9. to which it seemeth the Scripture hath reference, when it promiseth Manna that is hid, Revel. 2. 17. Manna,] so the Chaldee and the Holy Ghost ⟨◇⟩

Greek calleth it, John. 6. 31. of the Hebrew Man▪ which by interpretation signifieth a prepared (or distributed) portion: for it was a ready meat ⟨...⟩ as it was gathered, if they would, or to beat, g ⟨...⟩ de and bake, as the people liked, Num. 11. 8. And the Jew Doctors, some of them so explain it, calling it Angels food; a prepared bread sent from heaven, without ⟨...⟩ an labor, able to content every man's ⟨ϕ⟩, and a ⟨ϕ⟩ to every taste, Wisd. 16. 20. Others at the ⟨ϕ⟩. Greek interpreters, Philo. ⟨ϕ⟩. 2. ⟨...⟩ of the Law, ⟨ϕ⟩ Solomon, &c. and others ⟨ϕ⟩ it, What is this▪ because (as Moses saith) they know not what it was. The Manna whereof Galen and other Physicians write, and which at this day is used for medicine, not for meat, differeth in many things, from this Manna which God gave unto Israel every day, the space of 40 years, till they came into the land of Canaan, Ios. 5. 12. God by it both fed their bodies and souls, teaching them hereby, that man liveth not by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord, Deut. 8. 3. and it was a spiritual meat, 1 Cor. 1. 30. and a figure of Christ, the true Bread, whom the Father hath given us from heaven, John. 6. 31. 32. 48. 49. 51. and of the spiritual comforts which Christ filleth his people with, Reve. 2. 17. And so the Jews (though now ignorant of this grace) have heretofore acknowledged it to be a figure of the food of just men in the world to come; R. Isaac on Gen. 1. and R. Menachem on Exodus 16. See more in Num. 11. 7. 8. Psal. 78. 23.—25.

Vers. 16. an Omer,] or Gomer as the Greek calleth it Gomer: the tenth part of an Epha or bushel; see verse 36. an head] or skull, poll: that is, for a person; the head being put for the whole man. So in Exod. 38. 26.

Vers. 17. both he that did gather more,] or, some did gather more, and some less: but the former exposition the Greek followeth, here and in the 18. verse, which the Apostle also approveth, 2 Corinthians 8. 15.

Vers. 18. nothing over,] to wit, besides an Omer full for a man, according to the number of persons in his family: and so there was an equality both for poor and rich; and hereupon the Apostle gathereth a reason to persuade unto liberality, and communication of God's blessings one with another, 2 Cor. 8. 14. 15. It figured also the equal portion which all sorts of believers have in Christ our heavenly Manna, Gal. 3. 28. 29. 2 Pet. 1. 1.

Vers. 20. it bred,] Hebr. wormed worms, that is, bred abundantly, or crawled full of worms. This miraculous judgment God showeth for their unbelief, curiosity, and disobedience; and taught them to be contented with things present, without covetous caring for the morrow; as Heb. 13. 5. Matthew 6. 31. 34. Compare also the law of the Passover, whereof nothing might be left till the morning, Exod. 12. 10. Jesus said unto the Jews, Moses gave you not the bread from heaven, but my Father giveth you the true Bread from heaven, John. 6. 32. so Manna was but a shadow and figure, which when the truth is come by Christ, is (as all other shadows) become vain and unprofitable, to the corruption and hurt of those that retain them, Col. 2. 16. 17. Gal. 4. 9. 10. 11. Heb. 13. 10.

Vers. 21. and when,] or, for when the Sun waxed hot, and so heated the Manna, it melted; therefore they were to gather it in the morning: whereby God taught them diligence to provide for the food of their bodies and souls, whiles they had time and means. Compare Pro. 10. 4. 5. and 6. 6. 8. John, 12. 35. Gal. 6. 10. The like here followeth, for no Manna to be found on the Sabbath day, verse 25. 26.

Verse 23. sabbatism,] that is, rest, or cessation: but ⟨...⟩ the ⟨∅⟩ ⟨...⟩ ath, is retained by the ⟨...⟩ in ⟨∅⟩ Sabb ⟨...⟩ . Matth. 12. 5. 8. so the Hebrew Sha•bat•••, (here used) is by the Apostle Sabbatismos ⟨∅⟩ sabbatism, in Heb. 4. 9. by [unspec] interpretation, a Rest whereof see Gen. 2. 2. Hereby it appeareth, that the keeping of the Sabbath [unspec] was before the Law given at mount Sinai, Ex. 20. of ⟨∅⟩ ] that is, an holy Sabbath & both these joined together, signify an exact and careful rest. So Exod. 35. 2. Levite. 23. 3. for a reservation] that is, to be reserved or kept: so in verse. 32. 33. 34.

Verse ⟨∅⟩ that today,] as they that labored [unspec] in the sixth day, had what to eat on the Sabbath: so they that in this life (whiles God giveth time to work,) do labor in Christ, shall have in the life to come, the fruition of their labors, with eternal rest in heaven, John. 6. 27. 29. 58. Gal. 6. 7. •0.

Vers. 26. there shall be none] This life and world is the time and place of working; the world to come is for reward, when it will be too late to seek for Manna, if we have gathered none before, Matth. 25. 8 9. 10. And thus the Hebrews of old understood this figure, saying; As in the six days a man must prepare for the Sabbath, both in respect of food and of work: so if a man prepare not aright his works in this world, he shall have nothing to eat in the world to come. Again they say, The Sabbath, in it there shall be none, [unspec] Exod. 16. this signifieth the world which shall be all Sabbath; for there shall be there no doing of the Law, but receiving of reward; as our Doctors of blessed memory have explained it, Who so laboreth in the evening of the Sabbath, he shall eat in the Sabbath. R. Elias, in Sepher reshith chochmah, treat. of Holiness, cap. 2. foli• 194• b.

V. 29. Out of his place] The Sabbath was sanctified [unspec] with an holy convocation, or assembling of the people in Synagogues, Lev. 23. 3. Act. 15. 21. This place therefore whereto God restraineth them, was not their private tents, but the camp of Israel: out of which they might not go on the Sabbath. From hence the Hebrews gathered a general prohibition of going out of town on such days; and held it unlawful to travel beyond the suburbs of any city, which suburbs they set to be two thousand cubits, from the Law in Num. 35. 5. and a like space was between the Ark of God and the people, at their passage over Jordan, Ios. 3. 4. The Chaldee paraphrase on Ruth 1. 16. (in the Masorites Bible,) saith, Naomi said unto Ruth, we are commanded to keep the Sabbaths & good days, (that is feasts,) & not to go above two thousand cubits. The like measure is set in the ⟨∅⟩ . Talmud, in Eurobin, c. 4. And R. D. Kimchi•n his annotatiōs on Eze. 48. 7. saith, two thousand cubits are a mile; meaning an Italian (or English) mile. Hereupon in the Apostles days the speech was common of a Sabbath days journey: and so far Mount Oliver was from Jerusalem, Acts 1. 12. where the Syriac explaineth it, almost seven furlongs. In the Hebrews canons it is said; Who so goeth out of the limits of a city on the Sabbath day, is to be beaten: for it is said, Let no man go out of his place in the seventh day, (Ex. 16. 29.) this place is the limits of the time, &c. By the doctrine of the Scribes no man may go out of a city above two thousand cubits; to go further, is unlawful for 2000. cubits, are the ⟨...⟩ of a ⟨...⟩ , &c. Maimonides in Misneh, treat of the Sabbath, c. •7. ⟨◇⟩ . 1. 2.

V. 31. like cortander] in shape & quantity: but the color white as ⟨◇⟩ or crystall, Num. 11. 7. The Heb. Gad is not found in this signification, but here and in Num. ⟨◇⟩ 7. some think it to be ⟨...⟩ d: but the Greek cor ⟨...⟩ , and the Chaldee Cusbar, (in Targum Yerushalmi,) which is the Arabic name of Coriander, do confirm the common translation. taste of it] to wit, as it was gathered and uncooked, was like ⟨...⟩ ; but being baked, &c. it tasted like ⟨...⟩ ⟨◇⟩ . ⟨...⟩ .

V. 33 golden pot,] so the Apostle in Heb• 9. 4. (following the common G ⟨...⟩ version) translated this word, which is not found but in this •oly place. put there,] Heb. give there the fullness of an Omer. before Ieh vah:] that is before the Ark of testimony, which was a sign of God's presence. So it is explained in v. 34. And in ⟨◇⟩ Chro. 20. •3. all Judah stood before Jehovah, ⟨...⟩ hat is, in the house of Jehovah, verse 5.

Vers. 34. Testimony,] that is, the tables of God's law which were in the Ark, which testified God's will to the people: see Exod. 25 16. 21. These were given afterward at mount Sinai, and there the Ark was made; although therefore Moses rehearseth the thing here, to make a full end of the story of Manna, yet the performance of this was not till after.

Vers. 35. did eat Manna:] all of them for their natural food, and it preserved their life: but many of them pleased not God, by reason of their unbelief, 1 Coriathians 10. 5. Jude verse 5. therefore though they did eat Manna, yet they are dead, John. 6. 49. even as they that now eat the Lord's Supper unworthily, are guilty of his body and blood, and do eat judgment to themselves, not discerning the Lord's body, 1 Cor. 11. 27. 29. but they that by believing in Christ, do eat the true bread which came down from heaven, do not die, but have life eternal, and he will raise them up at the last day, John 6. 35. 47. 51. 54.

Vers. 36. Ephah,] a common measure, much like and English bushel; containing three Seahs (or pecks) mentioned in Gen. 18. 6. as the Chaldee here translateth, an Omer is one of ten (that is, the tenth part) of three Seahs: so also the Greek saith, the tenth of three measures. The Ephah therefore contained so much as 432. hens eggs; about 7. gallons and a half of our measure. So the Omer was more than twice so much as the Chaenix• (a measure spoken of in Rev. 6. 6.) which Chaenix was wont to be a man's allowance of bread corn for a day. By which God's bounty appeared to his people, in allowing for every of them daily, an Omer of Manna (verse 16.) which contained so much as 43. hens eggs, and somewhat more.

CHAP. XVII.

1, The people murmur• for water at Rephidi••. 4, Moses crieth to the Lord, who sendeth him for water to the R ⟨...⟩ in Horeb. 7. The place is called Massah and Meribah. 8, Amalek fighting with Israel, is overcome by the holding up of Moses hands, 14. God, threat ⟨...⟩ [unspec] ⟨...⟩ Amalek, 15, Moses buildeth the altar Jehovah ⟨◇⟩ .

AND all the congregation of the sons of Israel journeyed from the wilderness of Sin, after their journeys, according to the mouth of Jehovah: and they camped in Rephidim; and there were no waters for the people to drink. And the people contended with Moses, and said, Give ye us waters, that we may drink: and Moses said unto them, Why contend you with me? why tempt ye Jehovah? And the people thirsted there for waters, and the people murmured against Moses, and said, Wherefore is this, that thou hast brought us up out of Egypt, to kill us, and our sons, and our cattle, with thirst? And Moses cried unto Jehovah, saying, What shall I do unto this people? they be almost ready to stone me. And Jehovah said unto Moses, Go on before the people, and take with thee of the Elders of Israel; and thy rod, that wherewith thou smotest the river, take in thy hand, and go. Behold, I will stand before thee there, upon the rock in Horeb, and thou shalt smite the rock, and waters shall come forth out of it, and the people shall drink: and Moses did so, in the eyes of the Elders of Israel. And he called the name of the place Massah, and Meribah, because of the contention of the sons of Israel, and because they tempted Jehovah, saying, Is Jehovah among us, or not? And Amalek came, and fought with Israel, in Rephidim. And Moses said unto Joshua, Choose us out men, and go thou out, fight with Amalek: tomorrow I will stand on the top of the hill, and the rod of God in my hand. And Joshua did as Moses had said to him, to fight with Amalek: and Moses, Aaron, and Hur, went up to the top of the hill. And it was, when Moses hold up his hand, then Israel prevailed; and when he let down his hand, then Amalek prevailed. And Moses hands were heavy; and they took a stone, and put it under him, and he sate upon it: and Aaron and Hur stayed up his hands, one on this side, and one on the other side; and his hands were steady until the going down of the Sun. And Joshua discomfited Amalek, and his people, with the edge of the sword. And Jehovah said unto Moses, write this for a memorial in a book, and put is in the cares of Io 〈...〉, That wiping▪ I will wipe out the remembrance of Amalek from under the heavens. And Moses built an altar, and called the name of it, Jehovah Nissi. And said, Because the hand upon the throne of Yah, Jehovah will have war with Amalek from generation to generation.

Annotations.

After their,] or, by their journeys; which were from Sin to Dophkah, from Dophkah, to Al 〈...〉 and from thence to Rephidim, the place here spoken of, Num. 33. 12.—14. the mouth] that is, as the Greek and Chaldee do translate, the word of the Lord. See Gen. 24. 57. Rephidim] in Greek▪ Raphidein.

V. 2. contended] or, did chide: with many & reprehfull provoking speeches: so they did again in Num. 20. 3. 4. upon the like occasion. give ye,] thou and Aaron who have brought us hither: see Exod. 16. 2. 3. tempt ye] by unbelief: for they doubted of God's presence with them, verse 7. and would by miracles be assured thereof: which is to tempt God; as Matth. 16. 1. Psal. 78. 18. 19.

Vers. 3. us,] so the Greek also translath in the Hebrew is, me, and my sons, &c. speaking of the multitude, as of one man.

Vers. 4. cried,] the Chaldee translath, prayed This was Moses usual refuge, in such troubles: see Exod. 14. 15. and 15. 25. Num. 11. 10. 11. they be almost ready:] Hebr. yet a little, and they ‹ϕ› ‹› stone me. Like outrage they shown also in Numbers 14. 10.

Vers. 5. Go on,] or, pass on: that is, journey towards Mount Horeb, and go thou and the Elders foremost. rod,] or staff, mentioned also in Exod. 7. 20. Num. 20. 8. 9.

Vers. 6. I will stand,] Hebr. I standing: to wit, in the pillar of the cloud, (the sign of my presence) standing at mount Horeb: whereof see Exod. 3. 1. in the eyes,] or, before the eyes of the Elders, as witnesses of this glorious miracle; whereby God (turning the Rock into alake of water, the fli ‹...› fountain of water, Psal. 114. 8.) gave them drink, both for their bodies and souls. For the Rock, and water out of it, signified Christ, and is therefore called a spiritual Rock, 1 Cor. 10. 4. He being smitten with Moses rod, and bearing the curse ‹ϕ› the Law, for our sins; and by the preaching of the Gospel also, crucified among his people, Gal. 3. 1. from him floweth the spiritual drink wherewith all believing hearts are refreshed; and ou• ‹ϕ› their bellies flow rivers of water of life, John. 7. 37, 38. 39. Isaiah. 53. 4. 5. Gal. 3. 13. Therefore this water out of the rock, is often mentioned to the praise of God, and strengthening of his people's faith, Deut. 8. 15. Psal. 78. 15. 16. and 105. 41. Ne• 9. 15. The Hebrew Doctors say, the turning of the rock into water, was the turning of the property ‹ϕ› judgment, signified by the rock, into the proper ‹...› mercy, signified by water. R. Menachem, on Exod. 17.

Vers. 7. Massah] that is in English Tentati ‹...› which name was given both for a memorial of their sin, and a warning to generations following, that they should not tempt the Lord, as they tempted him in Massah, Deut. 6. 16. Psal. 95. 8. 9. Heb. 3. 8 9. Meri•ah,] that is, Contention, or, •itter ehiding, and so provocation to anger: which therefore the Holy Ghost calleth in Greek Para ‹...›, that is, Provocation, or bitter contention: which here was with Moses v. 2. and not so much with him, as with the Lord himself, Exod. 16. 8. Num. 20. 2. 13. Heb. 3. 8. 9. Is Jehovah, &c.] that is, the gracious presence of Jehovah, and testimony thereof: or, are we deluded by Moses? The Chaldee explaineth it thus; Doth the Majesty of the Lord dwell among us, or not? Of this they would be confirmed by some sign or miracle, which was to tempt God; whose presence and power they had so often seen.

Vers. 8. Amalek] the Amalekites, the posterity of Amalek, a Duke of Eliphaz, the son of Esau, the brother of Israel, Gen. 36. 15 16. This was the first of the nations, who warring against Israel, procured their own utter destruction, Numbers 24. 20. Deuteronomy 25. 19. 1 Sam. 15. 2. 3. But for Israel's sin, came this chastisement upon them; as the Jews themselves acknowledged, saying, After they had passed through the sea, they murmured for waters: then came against them, the wicked Amalek, who hated them for the first birth right and blessing, which our father Jacob had taken from Esau; and he came and fought against Israel, because they had violated the words of the law, &c. Targum on Song 2. 15. fought,] or, warred; but treacherously: for he smote the hindmost of Israel, even all that were seeble behind them, when they were saint and weary, and be feared not God, Deut. 25. 18.

Vers. 9. Joshua] or, Jesus: in Hebrew Iehoshuah, whom the Holy Ghost calleth in Greek Jesus, Acts 7. 45. Heb. 4. 8. He was first called Hosea's. and Moses called his name Jesus, that is, Savior, Num. 13. 17. He was a figure of Jesus Christ the Savior of the world, both in his name and actions, fighting the battles of the Lord, and bringing his people into Canaan: he was the minister or servant of Moses, and his successor in the government of Israel, Exodus 24. 13. Numbers 27. 18.—23. Deuteronomy 34. 9. Ios. 1. &c. the top] Hebr. the head of the hill: so in verse. 10. There Moses holding up his rod as an ensign, might be seen of the people, for the strengthening of their faith. Compare Ios. 8. 18. 19. rod of God:] the Chaldee expoundeth it, the rod wherewith miracles have been done from before the Lord. Of it, see Exod. 4. 20. and 7. 9. &c.

Vers. 10. to fight] that is, as the Greek explaineth, [unspec] it, and fought. See the notes on Genes. 2. 3. A like phrase also is in Numb. 18. 22. Deut. 2. 16. 1 King. 12. 33. The Hebrew text sometime manifesteth this; as to build, 1 Chron. 14. 1. for which in 2 Sam. <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> . 11. is written, and they built. To say, (or, Saying) 1 Chronicles 13. 12. for which in 2 Sam. 6. 9. is written, and said. So in 1 Chronicles 34. 16. compared with 2 Kings 22. 9. Hur] or Chur: called in Greek Oar, he was a Prince of the Tribe of Judah, being the son of Caleb, the son of Ezron, the son of Pharez, the son of Judah, 1 Chronicles 2. 5. 9. 18. 19. This Hur was also left with Aaron to judge controversies, when Moses went up unto GOD, upon mount Sinai, Exodus 24. 14. His sons son B•aleel, was the master workman of the Lord's tabernacle, Exod. 31. 2.—5.

Vers. 11. held up,] or, held all•ft his hand with the rod of God in it, for a sign of God's power and help unto his people; and consequently, praying unto God for assistance; as the lifting up of the hands also signifieth, Psal. 28. 2. And so the Targum Yerushalmi explaineth it, when Moses held up his hands in prayer, the house of Israel prevailed; and when he let down his hands from prayer, the house of Amalek prevailed. Hand is here for hands as the Greek translatheth, and the verse following manifesteth.

Vers. 12. heavy:] that he could not continue to hold them up: a sign of man's infirmities, not able to endure long in spiritual exercises. The spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak, Matth. 26. 41. 43. See also Luke 18. 1. Rom. 12. 12. a stone:] under this similitude of a stone. Christ is often signified, Isaiah. 28. 16. Psalm 118. 22. Zechariah 3. 9. 1 Pet. 2. 4. upon whom our weak faith is sustained in prayer, and by whose spirit our infirmities are holpen, John. 14. 13. 14. 16. 17. Romans 8. 26. were steady] Hebr. was steadinesse, (or faith fullness.) And here the force of the Hebrew word amunah, which signifieth faith, is shown to be a steady or firm persuasion in the promises of God: and that which is most necessary in prayer, Matth. 21. 22. James 1. 6. 7. and 5. 15. Romans 4. 20. 21. And this phrase his hand was, meaneth that both his hands were steadfast. For steadinesse, the Chaldee saith; Moses hands were spread-out in prayer. going down] Hebr. going in of the Sun: which was the end of the day, and withal of the victory and salvation of Israel. So he that endureth to the end, he shall be saved, Matth. 24. 13.

Vers. 13. edge:] Hebr. mouth: which the Greek translatheth slaughter of the sword: and that phrase the Apostle followeth, in Heb. 11. 37. So in the Greek version of Num. 21. 24. Deut. 13. 15.

Vers. 14. put in the ears,] that is, rehearse it in the bearing of Jesus; he was to be Moses his successor; and so the charge was to continue successively, till it was accomplished. wiping I will wipe] that is, will utterly wipe (or blot) out. This God performed by the hands of Israel, to whom he gave this charge, thou shalt wipe out the remembrance of Amalek, from under the heavens; forget it not, Deuteronomy 25. 19. Whereupon the Hebrew Canons say, We are commanded to destroy the remembrance of Amalek, (Deuteronomy 25.) and commanded to remember continually his evil deeds, and his treachery; to the end to stir up enmity against him, &c. and it is unlawful to forget his enmity and hatred, Maimonides in Misn. treat. of Kings, c. 5. S. 5. This, as it figured the destruction of Antichrist; so the fulfilling of it, is by the Jews themselves referred to the days of Christ: for they say; •n the days of the Mesias, the seed of E <...> und of A•alek shall be wiped out through the strength of Israel, which shall prevail most highly. <∞> on Exodus. 17.

Vers 15. Jehovah <∞> that is Jehovah is any <∞> <...> So the altar was to sacrifice thank offering• upon to the Lord and acknowledge the victory to be from him. The Greek translatheth it, the Lord my refuge. It is a sacramental speech; whereof see Gen. 22. 14. The Chaldee paraphraseth thus, And Moses built an altar; and served upon it before who had done signs (or miracles.) for him.

Vers. 16. upon the throne] or against the throne of <...> of God. This referred to Amalek, meaneth thus: because the hand of Amalek is upon (or against) the throne of the Lord: therefore Jehovah will have war with Amalek. By the throne of Yah, meaning heaven, (as Isaiah. 66. 1.) and so God him-self that sitteth thereon, (as Matthew 23. 22.) against whom Amaleks hand was, while it was against his people and Church, Zach. 2. 8. Acts 9. 4. 5. And so Jerusalem is called the Lord's throne, Ier. 3. 17. Otherwise, if it be referred to God, or Moses his servant, and his hand upon (or unto) the throne of Yah, it may signify an oath, vowing perpetual war with Amalek: for so the lifting up of the hand to heaven, (which is God's throne,) is a sign of swearing, Revel. 10. 5. 6. Gen. 14. 22. And thus the Chaldee paraphraseth upon this place: With oath this is said from before the fearful (God,) whose maijestie is upon the throne of glory; to wage war from before the Lord, against the men of the house of Amalek, to destroy them from the generations of the world. So Targum Yerushalmi explaineth it to be an oath, and applieth the fulfilling of it, to King Saul, and to Mordecial and Esther, 1 Sam. 15. Esth. 8. and 9. &c. The Greek translatheth, with hidden hand, the Lord will war against Amalek, from generation to generation. In Perkci R. Eliezer, c. 44. it is said, When God would root out and destroy all Amaleks seed, he stretched forth his right hand, and took hold on the throne of his glory, and sware to root out and to destroy all Amaleks seed, out of this world, and out of the world to come.

CHAP. XVIII.

<...> Moses his wife and two sons. <...> him, and showeth him what the <...> for Israele <...> , Jethro beesseth God, and offereth Moses sitting alone to judge the people <...> to appoint Judges for inferior's <...> the burden might be eased. 24, Moses <...> to his counsel, and chooseth able men into of <...> own land▪

AND Jethro the Priest of Midian, the father in law of Moses, heard of all that God had done for Moses, and for ⟨...⟩ people that Jehovah had brought forth Israel out of Egypt. And Jethro Moses father in law, took Zipporah Moses wife, after he had sent her back. And her two sons, of which the name of the one was Gershom: for he said, I have been an alien in a strange land. And the name of the other was Eliezer: for the God of my father hath been my help, and delivered me from the sword of Pharaoh. And Jethro Moses father in law, came, and his sons & his wife, unto Moses into the wilderness, where he was encamping, at the mountain of God. And he said unto Moses, I thy father in law Jethro, am come unto thee, and thy wife, and her two sons with her. And Moses went out to meet his father in law, and bowed himself down and kissed him; and they asked each other of their peace; and they came into the tent. And Moses told his father in law, all that Jehovah had done unto Pharaoh, and to the Egyptians for Israel's sake: all the travail that had found them in the way, and how Jehovah had delivered them. And Jethro rejoiced for all the goodness which Jehovah had done to Israel: whom he had delivered out of the hand of the Egyptians. And Jethro said, Blessed ⟨◇⟩ Jehovah, who hath delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of Pharaoh: who hath delivered the people from under the hand of the Egyptians. Now I know that Jehovah is greater than all gods: for in the thing wherein they dealt proudly, (he was) above them. And Jethro Moses father in law, took a burn offering and sacrifices for God: and Aaron came, and all the Elders of Israel, to eat bread with Moses father in law, before God. And it was on the morrow, that Moses sate to judge the people: and the people stood by Moses, from the morning unto the evening. And Moses father in law saw all that he did to the people: and he said, what is this thing that thou dost to the people? why sittest thou thyself alone, and all the people stand by thee, from morning unto evening? And Moses said unto his father in law: because the people cometh unto me to enquire as God. When they have a matter (everyone) cometh unto me; and I judge between ⟨◇⟩ man and his neighbor: and I make known the statutes of God, and his laws. And Moses father in law said unto him: the things not good which thou doest. Fading those wilt fade away; both thou and this people that is with thee: for the thing is too heavy for thee; thou art not able to do it thyself alone. Now hearken unto in<sup>a</sup> voice, I will give thee counsel, and God shall be with thee: Be thou for the people to Godward; and thou shalt bring the matters unto God. And admonish them of the statutes and the laws; and make known unto them the way wherein they shall walk, and the work that they shall do. And thou provide out of all the people, men of ability, fearing God; men of truth, hating covetousness: and set them over them, (to be) rulers of thousands, rulers of hundreds, rulers of fifties, and rulers of tens. And let them judge the people at all time: and let this be, every great matter, let them bring unto thee, and every small matter let them judge: so make thou (the burden) lighter for thyself; and let them bear it with thee. If thou shalt do this thing, and God command thee so, then thou shalt be able to stand; and all this people also, shall come to their place in peace. And Moses hearkened to the voice of his father in law, and did all that he had said. And Moses chose men of ability out of all Israel, and made them heads over the people; rulers of thousands, rulers of hundreds, rulers of fifties, and rulers of tens. And they judged the people at all time: the hard matter they brought unto Moses, and every small matter they judged themselves. And Moses sent away his father in law; and he went his way unto his own land.

Annotations.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Here beginneth the 17. Section of the law: see Gen. 6. 9.

The Priest] the Chaldee calleth him prince; the Greek, Iothor priest of Madiam: see Exodus 2. 16. and 3. 1.

Vers. 2. he had sent her back] Heb. after her sending back: that is, she and her children were sent back by Moses, for that trouble which befell in the way, Exod. 4. 26.

Vers. 3. an alien] or, foreigner so Ger, the first part [unspec] of his name signifieth: see Exod. 2. 22.

Vers. 4. Eliezer] by interpretation, My God is 〈...〉 Abram's ste 〈...〉 d was of this name, Gen. 〈...〉 hath been my help] Hebr. in my help; which the Greek translatheth my helper: the Chaldee 〈ϕ〉 hath been for my help.

〈...〉 God] the mountain (saith the Chaldee,) [unspec] 〈...〉 glory of God was revealed, that was 〈...〉 God gave his Law, Ex. 3. 1. Deut. 5. 2.

Vers. 6. he said] 〈...〉 by messengers sent before 〈...〉 said unto Jesus, that which 〈...〉 messengers spake, Matth. 8. 6. 8. compared with Luke 7. 3. 6. To make this plain, the Greek changeth the phrase thus, And it was told Moses, saying; Loe Iothor thy father in law cometh, &c.

Vers. 7. each other] Hebr. man his neighbor: this speech the Greek explaineth, they saluted one another: and to ask, may imply not only a question, but a wish of their welfare, as Psal. 122. 6. So in 1 Sam. 25. 5. and 10. 4.

Vers. 8. found them] that is, befallen, or come upon them: as the Greek explaineth it. A phrase often used for afflictions that come upon any, as Nehem. 9. 32. Psal. 116. 3. and 119. 143. Esth. 8. 6.

Vers. 9. rejoiced] the Greek translatheth, was astonished. Accordingly all that love Jerusalem are willed to rejoice with her, Esa. 66. 10.

Vers. 10. the hand,] that is, the power and tyranny: as the Chaldee translatheth it, the anguish of the dominion of the Egyptians.

Vers. 11. in the thing] Hebr. in the word: which is often used for anything or cause. The Greek translatheth, for this cause. he was above them] that is, above the Egyptians. Or, wherein they dealt proudly against them, that is, against the Israelites. This sense the Greek affordeth: and so we are to understand words wanting, as therein hath he been greater then the Egyptians; and hath gotten himself a name, as is expressed in Nehem. 9. 10. which place giveth light unto this. For Iethroes speech is broken off, through that joyful astonishment of his, verse 9. as passions of the mind do often swallow up words: as is noted on Exodus 4. 5. The Chaldee paraphrase here saith, in the thing wherein the Egyptians thought to judge Israel, in that are they judged. They drowned the children of Israel in the river, Exod. 1. 22. and themselves were drowned in the sea, Exod. 14.

Vers. 12. took a burnt-offering] the Greek translateth, took burnt-offerings: (whereof see Gen. 8. 20.) These he took for, or took and offered unto God; as taking of gifts, Psal. 68. 19. is by the Apostle expounded giving of gifts, Ephes. 4. 8. So Exod. 25. 2. sacrifices] to wit, of peace, or for thanksgiving, which word is sometime added, as in Ex. 24. 5. and they now keeping a banquet before the Lord, it is to be understood of peace offerings, which men did eat of, Lev. 7. 15. whereas no man did eat of the burnt-offering, Lev. 1. 9. bread] which word is used for all meat, Gen. 3. 19. and 21. 14. and eating of bread, is here for feasting; as bread is put for a feast. Eccl. 10. 19. Dan. 5. 1. and the flesh of the sacrifices, is also called bread, Lev. 3. 11. and 21. 6. Num. 28. 2. before God] so it was a religious banquet, eaten before the Majesty of GOD, appearing in the cloud; as after in the place chosen of God for his worship, they offered sacrifices, and did eat before the Lord, Deut. 12. 5. 7. 1 Chron. 29. 21. 22.

Vers. 15. to enquire of God] or, to seek God: which the Greek explaineth, to seek judgment of God; and the Chaldee, to seek doctrine from the face of the Lord: which was done by Moses, bringing their matters unto God, v. 19. Num. 27. 5. 6. & 15. 33. 34. 35. & for doubtful things, they used in Israel to enquire of God by the Prophets, 1 Sam. 9. 9. Hereupon Moses told the Judges whom he appointed under  $\langle \diamond \rangle$ , that the judgment was God's, Deut. 1. 17. And this teacheth such as go to law one with another, not to seek after their own affections, but after the will of God, and therein to rest.

Vers. 16. a matter] Hebr. a word: which the Greek rightly translateth, a controversy; so in Exod. 24. 14. See also Deut. 1. 12. make known] the Greek saith, I instruct them: which version the holy Ghost approveth, 1 Cor. 2. 16. from Esa. 40. 13

Vers. 18. fade away] a similitude from the leaf of a tree, which fadeth for want of moisture: so the care of judging so great a people, would weary and wear him out. This Moses himself acknowledged, Deut. 1. 9. 12.

Vers. 19. God shall be with thee] and consequently will prosper thy proceedings for the good of thyself and thy people: see Gen. 31. 3. and 32. 9. and 39. 2. The Chaldee translateth, the Word of the Lord shall be thy help. to Godward] Chaldee. inquiring doctrine from the face of the Lord: as verse 15. thou shalt bring] or, bring thou the matters; (or words:) in Greek, their words: meaning their hard controversies, which could not be determined without counsel from God; as sometime fell out, Num. 15. 33. 34. 35. and 27. 5. 6.

Vers. 20. the work] or deed: in Greek, the works. This Moses explaineth to be all the things which they should do, Deut. 1. 18.

Vers. 21. men of ability] or, of power, virtue, and activity; that is, virtuous, active, and able men, in body and mind, as Gen. 47. 6. 1 Chron. 26. 6. The Greek translateth able (or mighty) men. The Hebrews describe them thus: Anshei chajil (that is, Men of ability,) are such as be mighty in the commandments, and exactly look to themselves, and subdue their affections; so that there be no dishonest (or contemptible) thing in them, nor evil name. And generally, able men are such as have a strong (or courageous) heart, to deliver the oppressed out of the oppressors hand; as it is said of Moses, he stood up and saved them, (Exod. 2. 17.) Maimonides in Sanhedrin, chap. 2. S. 7. men of truth] the Greek calleth them just men. So in Zach. 7. 9. judgment of truth, the Greek there translateth just judgment. Again, justice is put for truth, in Psal. 52. 5. because these virtues are near allied. So in the Hebrew canons it is explained; Men of truth are such as follow after justice, for it self, out of their own mind do love the truth, and •te violent wrong, and flee from all kind of injustice. Maimonides in Sanhedrin, c. 2. S. 7. covetousness] or gain, lucre. The Chaldee translateth, hating to receive Mammon. The Apostle expoundeth it, not greedy of filthy lucre, 1 Tim. 3. 3. 8. Sometime there is added, gain of money, as Judge. 5. 19. which the Apostle calleth love of money, 1 Tim. 6. 10. The Hebrews explain it thus, Hating covetousness, even ⟨ϕ⟩ own Mammon (or Riches) they hasten not thereto, ⟨ϕ⟩ ⟨...⟩ greedy to gather riches; for whose hasteneth ⟨...⟩ h, want shall ⟨ϕ⟩ upon him, Maimonides in San ⟨...⟩ c. 2. S. 7. The love of lucre is the corruption ⟨ϕ⟩ ⟨...⟩ stice, Deut. 16. 19. 1 Sam. 8. 3. Prov. 1. 19. Ezek. ⟨...⟩ Esa. 56. 11. Unto the four properties here ⟨...⟩ ed, we may add three •oe, which are na ⟨...⟩ Deut. 1. 13. Wise •en, and understanding, and known: under which seven, all other virtues and good qualities are implied. The Hebrew Doctors say, of the most inferior magistrates, whom they call the Court of three men: there must be in everyone of them these seven things; wisdom, meekness, the fear of God, hatred of Mammon, love of the truth, love of their (fellow) creatures, (that is, of other men,) and that they be men of good name. Maimonides in Sanhedrin, c. 2. S. 7. See Num. 11. Deut. 1. and 17. rulers] or princes, captains of thousands; in Greek Chiliarchs; such we English Chief Captains, Acts 21. 31. 32. Revel. 6. 15. as the next, Centurions.

Vers. 22. at all time] always ready to hear the causes brought: the Greek saith, every hour. But the Sabbaths and feast days were excepted from these, as from all other civil affairs, Levite. 23. 3. 7. 8. 21. &c. and by the Jews canons, the evening before the Sabbath was also excepted from such judgments, notwithstanding this general speech, at all time. Maimonides in Sanhedrin, c. 11. S. 2. and 3. And they used in Israel, (as he there showeth in Sanhedrin, c. 3. S. 1.) the lesser courts, to sit from morning prayer till the sixth hour of the day, that is, till noon: and the greater court sate, from the daily sacrifice in the morning, till the daily evening sacrifice. let this be] or, it shall be, &c. make thou the burden] so Moses calleth it in Deut. 1. 1•.

Vers. 23. to stand] that is, to endure. come to [unspec] their place] that is, the land of Canaan, whither they are travelling; as Num. 10. 29. or, return home with an end of their controversies, without long waiting. So ones house, or home is called his place. Judge. 7. 7. and 9. 55. and 19. 28. 29.

Vers. 25. Moses chose] by the people's consent, [unspec] who brought fit men unto him, Deut. 1. 13. 14. &c. made them] Hebr. gave (or set) them heads, that is, rulers. This he did, with a charge unto the rulers to judge justly: see Deut. 1. 16. 17.

Vers. 27. his way] or, himself: as Gen. 12. 1. And [unspec] by Num. 10. 29. 32. it appeareth, that Moses earnestly requested his coming again, to guide the people.

CHAP. XIX.

1, The people come to Sinai. 3, God calleth Moses up into the mount; and by him propoundeth unto Israel the keeping of his covenant. 8, The people's answer, that they would do all, is returned to the Lord. 10, The people are sanctified against the third day. 12, The mountain is bounded and must not be touched. 16, The fearful presence of God upon the mount: 19, whereat Moses is afraid. 21, The people and priests are again charged, not to break their bounds, upon pain of death.

IN the third Moneth, after the going forth [unspec] of the sons of Israel, out of the land of Egypt; in the same day came they into the wilderness of Sinai. For they had journeyed from Rephidim, and were come to the wilderness of Sinai, and encamped in the wilderness: and there Israel camped before the mountain. And Moses went up unto God: and Jehovah called unto him out of the mountain, saying; Thus shalt thou say to the house of Jacob, and tell the sons of Israel. You have seen what I did unto the Egyptians: and I have borne you upon Eagles wings, and brought you unto myself. And now, if hearkening ye will hearken unto my voice, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people's; for all the earth is mine. And you shall be unto me a kingdom of priests, and an holy nation: These are the words which thou shalt speak unto the sons of Israel. And Moses came, and called for the Elders of the people, and laid before their faces all these words which Jehovah commanded him. And all the people answered together and said; All that Jehovah hath spoken we will do: And Moses returned the words of the people unto Jehovah. And Jehovah said unto Moses, Lo I come unto thee in the thick cloud; that the people may hear, when I speak with thee, and may believe in thee also forever: And Moses told the words of the people unto Jehovah. And Jehovah said unto Moses, Go unto the people, and sanctify them today & tomorrow: and let them wash their clothes. And let them be ready against the third day: for in the third day Jehovah will come down, in the eyes of all the people upon mount Sinai. And thou shalt set bounds unto the people round about, saying; Take heed to yourselves, that ye go not up into the mountain, or touch the border of it: all that toucheth the mountain shall die the death. There shall not a hand touch it, but he shall be stoned with stones, or shot through with a shot: whether it be beast or man, it shall not live: when the sound of the trumpet is drawn long, they shall go up into the mountain. And Moses went down from the mountain unto the people: and he sanctified the people; and they washed their clothes. And he said unto the people; Be ye ready against the third day: come not ye nigh unto a Wife. And it was in the third day, when it was morning, that there was voices, and lightnings, and a heavy cloud upon the mountain; and the voice of the trumpet exceeding strong: and all the people that was in the Campe trembled. And Moses brought forth the people out of the Campe, to meet with God: and they stood at the nether part of the mountain. And mount Sinai was all of it on a smoke, because that Jehovah descended upon it in fire: and the smoke thereof ascended as the smoke of a furnace; and all the mruntaine trembled exceedingly. And the voice of the trumpet was giong and waxing strong exceedingly: Moses spake; and God answered him by a voice. And Jehovah descended upon mount Sinai, on the top of the mountain: and Jehovah called for Moses unto the top of the mountain, and Moses went up. And Jehovah said unto Moses; Go down, testify unto the people; lest they break thorough unto Jehovah, to see, and many of them fall. And the priests also, which come near unto Jehovah, let them sanctify themselves; lest Jehovah break forth upon them. And Moses said unto Jehovah; The people cannot come up unto mount Sinai: for thou hast testified unto us saying; Set bounds about the mountain and sanctify it. And Jehovah said unto him, Go down, and come up thou & Aaron with thee: but the priests and the people, let not them break through to come up unto Jehovah, lest he break forth upon them. And Moses went down unto the people, and said it unto them.

Annotations.

*MO*neth] or, new moon; which was the first day of every month among the Hebrews: therefore here followeth in the same day, to signify not the Moneth only, but the first day thereof to be meant. Or (as some think) the same day meaneth the third day, as it was the third month, and this was 430. years after the promise made unto Abraham: but the covenant of the Law now given, could not disannul the covenant (of grace) that was confirmed afore of God, in respect of Christ, Gal. 3. 17. Sines] in Greek, the Holy Ghost writeth it Sina: which is a mountain in Arabia, situate in the wilderness, called thereupon, the wilderness of mount Sina. Gal. 4. 25. Acts 7. 30.

Vers. 3. unto God] the Greek saith, unto the mountain of God: the Chaldee, into the presence of the word of the Lord: this was Christ, who is called the Angel, Act. 7. 38. the Angel of God's Face, (or presence) Isaiah 63. 9. It seemeth that the cloud by which God conducted them, now rested upon that mount. See Numb. 9. 17. &c.

Vers. 4. you] or yourselves have seen, &c. This speech was to prepare them to receive God's covenant now to be made: and the like was spoken at the renewing of the covenant, Deut. 29. 2. &c. Eagles wings] to carry you out of your place of bondage, openly, safely, speedily; as the Eagle doth her young ones, from their sluggish nest. This similitude is more explained in Deut. 32. 11. And as the Church of Israel here, fled from the dragon Pharaoh, (as he is called in Ezek. 29. 3.) so the Christian Church fled from the Serpent, (or Dragon) into the wilderness, with two wings of a great Eagle, Rev. 12. 14. The Greek and Chaldee here translate, as upon Eagles wings. unto myself], to serve me at this mount, (as was promised in Exod. 3. 12) and forever: so the Chaldee explaineth it, to my service; and Targum Yerushalmi saith, to the doctrine of my Law.

Vers. 5. my voice] the voice of my Word, saith Targum Yerushalmi. a peculiar treasure] or jewel. The Hebrew Segullah, signifieth ones own proper good, which he loveth and keepeth in store for himself, and for special use, 1 Chron. 29. 3. Eceles. 2. 8. Here it is applied to God's Church, and translated in Greek a peculiar people, which phrase Paul followeth, in Tit. 2. 14. but Peter expresseth it by another word, a people for peculiar possession, 1 Pet. 2. 9. as the Greek version is in Mal. 3. 17. The Chaldee translateth it, beloved: so do other Hebrews, saying, Segullah, signifieth that they should be beloved before him, as a desirable treasure, which a king delivereth not into the hand of any of his officers, but keepeth it himself. And such is the case of Israel, of whom it is said, (in Deut. 32. 9.) For the Lord's portion is his people &c. R. Menachem on Exo. 19. This grace (which the Apostles show we have obtained by Christ) is sundry times mentioned to the praise of God, Deut. 7. 6. and 14. 2. and 26. 18. For Yah hath chosen Jacob unto himself: Israel for his peculiar treasure, Psal. 135 4. the earth] with the plenty thereof is mine, yet my delight is in you, to love you, and to choose you and your seed above all people's; So Moses openeth this speech, in Deut. 10. 14. 15. and other Prophets; as, Thou Israel art my servant; Jacob, whom I have chosen; the seed of Abraham my friend. Thou whom I have taken from the ends of the earth, and called thee from the chief men thereof, and said unto thee; Thou art my servant, &c. Isaiah 41. 8. 9.

Vers. 6. a kingdom of priests,] which the Apostle (following the Greek version) calleth a kingly priesthood, 1 Pet. 2. 9. The Chaldee saith ye shall be before me, kings, priests, and an holy people. Such Christ hath made us, unto God his father, Rev. 1. 6. Kings, to reign on the earth, Rev. 5. 10. and priests Mosser up spiritual sacrifices, 1 Pet. 2. 5. Rom. 12. 1.

Vers. 7. Elders] by them to communicate these thing, with the people: see Exod. 3. 16. laid] or proposed; Hebrew put.

Vers. 8. together] with one accord, as the Greek 〈...〉 laineth it; and elsewhere Moses saith, with one 〈◇〉 Exod. 24. 〈◇〉 . The people not yet knowing the impossibilitie of the law, which is weak through the flesh, Rom. 8. 3. make promise of more than they were able to perform. After, when the law 〈◇◇〉 ▪ they fea•e and flee away, Exod. [unspec] 〈◇〉 1•. 1•• And it 〈◇◇〉 , but either men not understanding the 〈◇〉 ▪ 〈◇〉 presume of their 〈◇〉 strength, or understanding it, do despair, 〈...〉 e the grace of God in Christ do sustain 〈...〉 Rom. 7, 9, 10, 24. 25. 〈...〉 〈...〉 . in the thick cloud▪ Hebrew in the thickness of the cloud: which the Greek explaineth, the pillar of the cloud: the Yerushalmi Targum expoundeth it, my Word shall be revealed unto thee in the thick cloud, in thee] see Exodus 14. 31. This confidence in Moses the Jews always retained, and said they were Moses disciples, they knew that God spake with Moses, John 9. 28. 29. They write of him thus: Moses our Master, Israel beleeved not in him because of the signs which he did: for he that believeth because of signs, there is in his heart a suspicion that the sign may possibly be done by enchantment or sorcery. But all the signs which Moses did in the wilderness, he did them upon necessity, &c. we needed food; he brought us down Manna. They were a thirst; he clave the rock for them. The congregation of Korah rebelled against him; the earth swallowed them: and so all other signs. But wherefore believed we in him? For that standing at mount Sinai, which our own eyes did see and not a stranger; and our ears did hear and not another; the fire, and the thunders, and the lightnings, and he went near into the thick darkness, and a voice spake unto him and we heard it; Moses, Moses, go say unto them thus and thus. And so it is said, face to face the Lord spake with you, (Deut. 5. 4.) &c. This standing at mount Sinai, it self alone was an evident confirmation of his prophesy, that it was truth, and without all suspicion in it; as it is written, Lo I come unto thee in the thick cloud, that the people may hear when I speak with thee, and may believe in thee forever, (Exodus 19. 9.) So that before this thing, they believed not in him, with such a belief as continueth forever; but with a belief that had [doubtful] conceits and thoughts after it. Maimonides in Misn. in Iesudei hatorah, ch. 8. S. 1.

Vers. 10. sanctify them] that is, bid them, and [unspec] look that they do sanctify, and holily prepare themselves, that they may be humbled at my feet, to receive my words; as Deut. 33. 3. This was by cleansing themselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, 2 Cor. 7. 1. inwardly by faith, Act. 15. 9. outwardly by washing their garments, (whereof see Gen. 35. 2.) and their bodies, as appeareth by other places that show the sanctifying of the priests and people, Levite, 8. 6. and 15. 5. 6. 8. 13. 16. 18. 21. 22. &c. and abstaining from their wives, as after followeth here, verse. 15. Which things figured our sanctification and cleansing by Christ Jesus, with the washing of water, by the Word, even the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the holy Ghost. Ephes. 5. 26. Tit. 3. 5. From this precept the Hebrew Doctors gather their doctrine and practice, for baptizing all whom they admit unto their Church and covenant: as Maimonides showeth in Asurei Biah, ch. 13. and is more fully set down in the annotations on Gen. 17. 12.

V. 11. the third day] which is thought to be the [unspec] day that after was called Pentecost, the 50. day after the Passover; then was a yearly feast, Exo. 23. 16. Lev. 23. 15. 16. &c. Act. 20. 16. On this day the fiery law was now given on mount Sina: on this day the fiery tongues were after given for preaching the Gospel in Jerusalem, Acts 2. 1. 2. &c. And many mysteries are of the third day, in the Scriptures: see the notes on Gen. 22. 4.

Vers. 13. touch it] or, touch him; that is, the man or beast that shall touch the mountain, shall be so execrable unto you, as ye shall not touch it with hand, but stone it, or shoot it through. These ordinances were outward, concerning the mount that might be touched; terrible, that the people could unbear that which was commanded; and shown the nature and use of the law, contrary to the Gospel on mount Zion, as Paul explaineth it, Heb. 12. 18. 20. 22. &c. with a shot] with arrow (or dart,) as the Apostle in Greek openeth the Hebrew phrase shooting, shot through, Heb. 12. 20. the sound of the trumpet] or, the sounding trumpet: called in Hebrew Jobel, translated in Greek, voices and trumpets; but the Apostle seemeth to express it by the sound (or echo) of the trumpet, Hebr. 12. 19. the Chaldee turneth it the trumpet. Every 50. year was of the sounding of trumpets called Jobel (the Jubilee.) Levite. 25. 10. see the annotations there, and Ios. 6. 4. 5. is drawn long] or, draweth (that is, continueth) the sound: and so there be an end of the trumpets sounding. shall go up] that is, as the Chaldee paraphraseth, when the trumpet shall be withdrawn, they shall have leave to go up: and as the Gr. translateth, when the voices, & the trumpets, & the cloud, are departed from the mountain, they shall go up. So that whiles the signs of God's Majesty were on the mount, the people were forbidden to approach: but when they were ceased, the people might go up as to any other common mount; whereas until that time the mountain was sanctified, verse 23.

Vers. 15. unto a wife] or to a woman; that is, any of you unto his wife, to lie with her; as the Yerushalmi Targum expoundeth it, the ministry of the bed. A like speech passed between Achimelech the priest and David, about eating of the holy bread, 1 Sam. 21. 4. 5. This was for the more humiliation and preparing of the people: as Paul teacheth that man & wife may abstain with consent for a time, that they may give themselves to fasting and prayer, 1 Cor. 7. 5. It seemeth also by the Law in Levite. 15. 18. that there was a figurative uncleanesse by all such copulation: see the annotations on that place.

Vers. 16. voices] that is, thunders; see Exod. 9. 23. heavy] that is, very thick cloud, the Greek translateth, darksom clouds. These were signs of God's glorious presence, and of his judgments against the breakers of his Law: the Prophets use the like words to signify his Majesty, Psal. 18. 9. 10. 12. 14. and 97. 2. 4. And these things were now done by the ministry of Angels, Act. 7. 53. Gal. 3. 19. for God came, with ten thousands of saints, Deut. 33. 2. trumpet] showing the nature of the Law, to manifest God's will, men's transgressions, and to warn them of the wrath deserved, Isaiah 58. 1. Ezek. 33. 3. Rom. 3. 20. and 4. 15. trembled] or was afraid. The spirit of bondage which was in the people, caused them to fear, Rom. <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math>. 15. for they were not perfect in the love of God, 1 John 4. 18.

Vers. 17. to meet with God] as the Chaldee paraphraseth, with the Word of the Lord. Thus Moses as a Mediator stood between the Lord and the people; because they were afraid, Deut. 5. 5. Gal. 3. 19. at the nether part] without the bounds that Moses had limited, verse. 12. They flood here (as the Hebrews write) after the order that Moses mentioneth (in Deut. 29. 10. 11.) when after 40. years he renewed the covenant; First there were the firstborn (the priests, Exod. 19. 22.) which came near unto the Lord: after them the Heads of the Tribes, the Rulers: after them the Elders: then the officers: after them all the men of Israel: then the little ones: after them the women: and then the strangers. Ibn Ezra on Exod. 19.

Vers. 18. on a smoke] With clouds and smoke, God often manifested his glorious presence to his people, Exod. 40. 34. 35. 2 Chro. 5. 14. and 6. 1. and 7. 1. 2. Isaiah 6. 4. Rev. 15. 8. there was the hiding of his power, Hab. 3. 4. descended] God who filleth heaven and earth, Ier. 23. 24. is said to descend or come down to certain places, when he there manifesteth his glory: and it is spoken of him after the manner of men. See the notes on Gen. 6. 6. and 11. 5. in fire] for God's Word is like to fire, Ier. 23. 29. and his law was fiery, Deut. 33. 2. as he himself is a consuming fire, Deutro. 4. 24. Targum Yerushalmi explaineth it thus, because the glory of the Majesty of the Lord was revealed upon it, in a flame of fire. The mountain burnt with fire unto the midst of heaven, with darkness, clouds, and thick darkness, Deut. 4. 11. all the mount] the mountains saw the Lord, and trembled, Hab. 3. 10. they leaped like rams, Psal. 114. 4. the earth quaked, the heavens also dropped at the presence of God; even Sinai it self, at the presence of God, the God of Israel, Psal. 68. 6. Judge. 5. 5. The Greek translateth, all the people was astonished.

Vers. 19. going and waxing strong] that is, continually proceeding and increasing in londnesse and strength more and more. See a like phrase in Gen. 8. 3. Moses spake] so fearful was the sight, that Moses said, I am sore afraid and tremble, Heb. 12. 21. by a voice] by a more gentle mean than the thunder, or loud shrilling trumpet: that Moses might be confirmed and not affrighted. (So Daniel being daunted with a vision, was strengthened by the Angels words, Dan. 10. 8. 16. 17. 19.) And this voice was heard of the people; as is likely by that promise unto Moses, in verse 9. It signified also, that only the Lord's voice takes away the terrors of the Law: for by Moses the Law was given, but by Christ (who answered the Law and fulfilled it,) cometh grace and truth, John. 1. 17.

Vers. 21. testify unto] or, charge (contest) the people. Paul used to contest (or charge) before God and his Angels, 1 Tim. 5. 21. 2 Tim. 2. 14. and 4. 1. lest they break] or, that they break not through, to wit, the bounds set them. to see] as Moses did at the first, till he was stayed of God, Exodus 3. 3. Curiositie is forbidden, that men might walk by faith, not by sight, 2 Cor. 5. 7. and learn humility, Rom. 12. 3. The Greek here translateth, Lest they draw near unto God, to consider; (or to behold) and Luke useth the word in that sense, in Stephens speech of: Moses, Act. 7. 31. fall] that is, be killed of the Lord, verse 12. as 50. thousand and 70 men of Berhshemeth were slain for looking into the Ark of God, 1 Sam. 6. 19. So falling is used for stain, in Gen. 14. 10. 1 Cor. 10. 8.

Vers 22. which come near] that is, as the Chaldee explaineth, which come near to minister before the Lord. These priests are after called young men of the sons of Israel, Exodus 24. 5. and were the first borne of the people whom God had sanctified to him-self, Exodus 13. 2. in whose place he afterward took the tribe of Levi, Numb. 8. 14. 15. 17. 18. sanctify themselves] that is, prepare, wash, and keep themselves from being defiled with sin, by touching the mount, as verse. 24. 12. break forth] which the Chaldee expoundeth, be strong, (that is, very angry) but it implieth death also, when God breaketh forth as the breach of waters upon men to destroy them; as 2 Sam. 5. 20. and 6. 6. 7. 8.

Vers. 23. cannot] or, shall not be able to come up, by reason of the former charge and limitation. It seemeth therefore that Moses thought it needless to speak so often and instantly to the people: but God urgeth it again, verse 24. so restraining the curiosity of the people; and showing the end of the Law, to be rather to exclude men from God, (by reason of their sins,) than to justify or give them life, as doth the Gospel; for it was the ministration of death, 2 Cor. 3. 7. Gal. 3. 10. 11. 19. 21. 22. 23. 24. Mount Sina, is in bondage with her children, Gal. 4. 25.

Vers. 24. break through] the Greek here translateth, let them not violently press to come up: but that which the Law suffereth not, the Gospel admitteth, Mat. 11. 12. Luke 16. 16. Heb. 12. 18. 22. 23. 24.

CHAP. XX.

1, The ten Commandments are spoken by God on mount Sinai, 18, With thunders, lightnings, sound of the trumpet, &c. whereat the people are afraid. 20, Moses comforteth them. 22, God upon this occasion, again forbiddeth them Idolatry. 24, Of what sort the altar should be.

AND God spake all these words, saying; I, Jehovah thy God which have brought thee out from the land of Egypt, from the house of servants. Thou shalt not have any other gods before my face. Thou shalt not make unto thee a graven thing, or any likeness of things which are in the heavens above, or which are in the earth beneath, or which are in the waters beneath the earth. Thou shalt not bow down thyself to them neither serve them: for I Jehovah thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the sons, upon the third and upon the fourth generation of them that hate me: And doing mercy unto thousands of them that love me and of them that keep my Commandments. Thou shalt not take up the name of Jehovah thy God in vain, for Jehovah will not hold him guiltless, that shall take up his name in vain. Remember thou the Sabbath day, to sanctify it. Six days shalt thou labor, and shalt do all thy work. But the seventh day is a Sabbath to Jehovah thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work; thou, or thy son, or thy daughter, thy man servant, or thy woman servant, or thy cattle, or thy stranger which is within thy gates. For in six days Jehovah made the heavens and the earth, the sea and all which are in them; and rested in the seventh day: therefore Jehovah blessed the Sabbath day, and sanctified it. Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be prolonged upon the land which Jehovah thy God giveth thee. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not commit adultery. Thou shalt not steal. Thou shalt not answer a false witness against thy neighbor. Thou shalt not cover thy neighbors house: thou shalt not covet thy neighbors wife, or his man servant, or his woman servant, or his ox, or his asse, or anything which is thy neighbors. And all the people saw the voices, and the lightnings, and the voice of the trumpet, and the mountain smoking: and the people saw, and removed away; and they stood a far off. And they said unto Moses, Speak thou with us and we will hear; and let not God speak with us, lest we die. And Moses said unto the people; Fear not, for God is come for to tempt you; and that his fear may be before your faces, that you may not sin. And the people stood afar off: and [unspec] Moses drew near unto the thick darkness where God was. And Jehovah said unto Moses, Thus thou shalt say unto the sons of Israel: you have seen that I have spoken with you out of the heavens. Ye shall not [unspec] make with me gods of silver, or gods of gold ye shall not make unto you. An altar of earth thou shalt make unto me, and shalt sacrifice thereon thy burnt offerings, and thy peace offerings, thy sheep and thy oxen: In every place where I shall make the memorial of my name, I will come unto thee, & I will bless thee. And if thou wilt make unto me [unspec] an altar of stones, thou shalt not build them of hewn stones: for if thou lift up thy tool upon it, thou hast polluted it. And thou shalt [unspec] not go up by steps unto mine altar, that thy nakedness be not discovered thereon.

Annotations.

God spake] The Law was given by the ministry of Angels, Hebr. 2. 2. Act. 7. 53. out of the midst of fire, cloud and darkness, with a great voice, which shook the earth, Deut. 4. 22. Heb. 12. 26. all these words] these ten Commandments following; and he added no moe, Deut. 5. 22. wherefore they are called the ten Words, Ex. 34. 28. that is, the ten Commandments; as the Word of God, Mark 7. 13. is the commandment of God, Matth. 15. 6. See the notes on Exod. 34. 28. The Apostle calleth the Law, the voice of words, Heb. 12. 19.

Vers. 2. I Jehovah] understand, I am Jehovah, as the Greek explaineth it: or, I Jehovah am thy God. The words I Jehovah, note the unity of the God-head, as elsewhere he saith, Jehovah our God, Jehovah is one, Deut. 6. 4. what the name signifieth, is noted on Gen. 2. 4. Exod. 6. 3. thy God] though he is so by creating us, yet here he specially intendeth the covenant of grace, made with his people; whereby they are blessed that have Jehovah for their God, Psalm. 33. 12. From hence ariseth his authority to command; and this is a reason of our obedience, because he is Jehovah, and our God: therefore as it is here prefixed to the first commandment, so is it annexed to the rest, as to the second in Lev. 19. 4. 31. to the third, in Lev. 19. 12. to the fourth, in Lev. 19. 3. 30. to the fifth, in Lev. 19. 3. 32. to the sixth, in Lev. 19. 16. to the seventh, in Lev. 18. 6. &c. to the eighth, in Lev. 19. 11. 12. to the ninth, in Lev. 19. 16. and generally to all the commandments, Lev. 18. 5. and 19. 37. of servants] the Greek and Chaldee saith, of servitude, or bondage: see Exod. 13. 3. Egypt was a furnace of iron, Deut. 4. 20. a figure of our spiritual bondage and misery under Satan: and the deliverance from it figured our salvation by Christ, Coloss. 1. 13. Luke 1. 71 74. 79. Acts 26. 18. from these graces are forcible arguments to persuade us to faith and obedience: Ye are my witnesses, saith Jehovah, &c. that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am •e. I, I am Jehovah: and beside me there is no Savior. I have declared and have saved, Isaiah 43. 10. 11. 12. I am Jehovah thy God, the Holy one of Israel, thy Savior, I gave Egypt for thy ransom, &c. Isaiah 43. 3.

Vers. 3. Thou shalt not have] or, There shall not be to thee: but this Hebrew phrase the Holy Ghost changeth into another equivalent; as, There is not to us, Luke 9. 13. that is, We have not, Matth. 14. 17 This and most of the other precepts are prohibitions, forbidding the evil, expressly commanding the contrary good inclusively: for we must both ⲉⲃⲉ evil and do good, Psalm 34. 15. But God's forbode bindeth most strictly, and always, and we are borne in evil and are prone unto it, rather than to good; and are therefore called by these commandments from all corruption, unto the integrity wherein God first created us. other gods] the Chaldee explaineth it singularly, other god: and so the Scripture also expresseth it, in Exod. 34. 14. Psal. 81. 10. For, Is there a god beside me? saith the Lord, Isaiah 44. 8. There is none other god but one; though there be many that are called gods, 1 Cor. 8. 4. 5. unto whom the vain heart of man falsely attributeth deity: for whatsoever the Gentiles sacrificed, was unto devils, and not to god, 1 Cor. 10. 20. Levite. 17. 7. Deut. 32. 17. And the gods that have not made the heavens and the earth, they shall perish from the earth, and from under these heavens, Ier. 10. 11. Hereby on the contrary we are commanded to have Jehovah for our God: which is, to know him, and to serve him with a perfect heart, and with a willing mind, 1 Chron. 28. 9. to love him with all the heart, and with all the soul, and with all our might, Deut. 6. 4. 5. to fear, believe, honor, obey, and cleave unto him, Deuter. 6. 13. 2 Chron. 20. 20. Psal. 22. 24. 1 Sam. 15. 22. Deut. 11 22. before my face] or against my face, that is, against, or before me: the Greek and Chaldee translate it, but me. After, in verse 23. Moses saith, with me. It implieth also all time and place: as, before the Sun, Psal. 72. 17. is, so long as the Sun endureth; so here before me, is so long as I am, forever and ever. And all place, as, Whither shall I flee from thy face (or presence?) Psal. 139. 7. Therefore also the face or presence of God is here mentioned, because he beholdeth the secrets of the heart, Psal. 44. 21. 22. and 139. 23. 24. and the Law (and so every precept) is spiritual, Rom. 7. 14. and bindeth the whole man, body, soul, and spirit; the underdanding, the will, and the effects of them both, forever.

Vers 4 Thou shalt not make] As the former precept forbade all feigned gods, so this forbids all feigned service, whether it be to the true God, or any other: and commandeth to worship God in spirit and truth, John 4. 24. In the Chaldee paraphrase called Jonathan's, this is expressly said to be the second Commandment; and such is the general opinion of the Jew Doctors; as Philo in exposit. Decalogi; Josephus antiq l. 3. and others: yet some now would make this but a part of the first Commandment. So the Sabbath is by him and other ancient Rabbin's called the fourth precept, (as is observed on Gen 49. 12.) which by the others account must be the third. Making, here meaneth not only with the hand, but with the heart or imagination; for we ought not to think that the godhead is like unto gold, &c. Act. 17. 29. And to worship the Sun or Moon, or any creature, is to make an Idol of it, Deut. 4. 17. 19. unto thee] to (or for) thyself: to wit, without commandment from God; for by his commandment Moses made the Cherubims in the sanctuary, Exod. 25. 18. and the brazen Serpent in the wilderness, Num. 21. 8. And this forbiddeth not all images of creatures for civil use, (which are allowable, Matth. 22. 20.) but for religious. So the Law explaineth it; as, ye shall not set up any image of stone in your land, to bow down unto it, Levite. 26. 1. and the Prophets phrase of Images which ye made unto you,

Amos 5. 26. is expounded thus, which ye made to worship them, Acts 7. 43. But to make any image of the invisible God, is altogether unlawful, and unpossible, Deut. 4. 12. 15. Isaiah. 40. 18. Rom. 1. 22. 23. And by this, for thyself, he forbiddeth 〈...〉 king of any for others always when Aaron made one for the people, Exodus •2. 1. 〈ϕ〉. The Hebrew 〈ϕ〉 say, *He that 〈ϕ〉 (〈ϕ〉 and idols) for himself thought he make it not with his 〈ϕ〉 hand, nor serveth it, he is guilty. Likewise he 〈ϕ〉 maketh an idol with his hand for others, though he maketh for an 〈ϕ〉, he is guilty. Therefore he that maketh an idol for himself with his own hands, he is double guilty: Maim any entreat. of Idolatry, c. 3. S. 9. 〈ϕ〉 a graven thing] Hebrew, Pesel; which is anything hewn; graven, out, or carved: the Greek translatheth it, an Idol, the Chaldee, an Image, and the Targum called Jonathan's, addeth Image or Figure. And the holy text elsewhere expressly condemneth Images; Ezek. 16. 17. and not only graven, but molten, Hos. 13. 2. or painted, Ezek. 8. 10. So under this one particular, all portratures, and human devices are forbidden, not only things made with hand, but with heart and thought, Act. 17. 25. 29. Every such Image is a teacher of lies, Hab. 2. 18. and who so formeth a god, or melteth a graven image, it is profitable for nothing, Isaiah 44. 10. likeness] in Hebrew, Temunah: which Moses openeth by two other words, Semel, and Tabnith; that is, Similitude and Figure, Deut. 4. 16. and elsewhere he nameth also Maisebah, and Maskith, that is, Statue; (or pillar) and Picture, Levite. 26. 1. So that all shapes, portratures, precepts, and devices of men, are forbidden in God's worship, Isaiah 29: 13. Matt. 15. 8. 9. Coloss. 2. 23. And on the contrary, God's commandments and statutes for his worship and servico to be kept & practiced, without adding anything unto them, or taking anything from them, Deut. 5. 32. and 6. 17. 18. and 12. 8. 28. 32. in the heavens] as the Sun, Moon, Stars, Fowls, or the like; Deut. 4. 17. 19. The worshipping of Angels is also forbidden, Coloss. 2. 18. in the earth] as the likeness of man or woman, or of beasts, or creeping things, Ezek. 23. 14. Deut. 4. 16. 17. 18. Isaiah 44. 13. After this manner, the nations of the world corrupted true religion, Rom. 1. 23. in the waters] as any fish or the like, Deu. 4. 18. So all resemblances whatsoever, are here forbidden, which men can make. Behold, they are all vanity, their works are nothing, their molten images are wind and confusion, Isaiah. 41. 29.*

Ver. 5. not bow down] or, not worship: under this one, all other gestures of reverence are forbidden; as bowing the knee, 1 King. 19. 18. kissing, Hos. 13. 2. lifting up of the eyes, Ezek. 18. 6. spreading out of the hand, Psal. 44. 21. and the like. Contrariwise they are to be broken down, burned, destroyed, and detested, Deut. 12. 3. and 7. 25. 26. Isaiah 30. 22. 8. to them] that is, to any creature, Rom. 1. 25. though an Angel, Rev. 22. 8. 9. or, to the Image of any creature; or of God himself, Isaiah 40. 18. 21. Rom. 1. 23. or to any •orke of our own hands. Ier. 1. 16. Mic. 5. 13. And as we may not bow down unto them, so neither before them, 2 Chron. 25. 14. yea 〈...〉 ese two phrases do one explain another; as to pray before the Lord, 1 Chron. 17. 25. is to pray 〈ϕ〉, 2 Sam. 7. 27 and to bow down (or worship) 〈ϕ〉 the Devil, Luke 4. 7. is to bow down unto him, Mat. 4. 9. But to bow down unto men, for civil honor is lawful, Gen. 23. 7. Sam. 24. 8. serve them] The Hebrew gnabad, implieth all manner of service, both that which in Greek is called L••rid, as in this place; and Doule•a as by it the Greek version explaineth it, in Exod. 23. 33. and many other places. The Hebrew Doctors say, The root of the commandment against idolatry, 〈ϕ〉, that men should not serve any of all the creatures; neither Angel, nor sphere, nor star, not any of the four elements, nor anything that is created of them. And although he that serveth knows that the Lord is God, and serveth the creature after the manner that Enos and the men of his age served at first; (whereof see the notes on Gen. 4. 26.) yet loe, he is an idolater.

*Maimonides in Misneh, treat. or Idolatry; chap. 2. S. 1. Under this name Serve, is comprehended every religious work, with hand, mouth, or heart: as prayer, or thanksgiving, Isaiah 44. 17. Ier. 2. 27. confidence in them, Psal. 115. 4. 8. offering of sacrifice, 2 King. 17. 35. burning of incense, Ier. 18. 15. preaching for them, Ier. 2. 8. asking counsel of them, Hosea 4. 12. building temples, altars, or other monuments unto them, Hos. 8. 14. and 12. 11. erecting of ministries, Numb. 8. 24. or doing any ministerial work for their honor, Amos 5. 26. compared with Numb. 4. 24. 25. contributing to their maintenance, Numb. 7. 3. 5. Nehem. 10. 32. 39. all fellowship with them, Isaiah 44. 11. communion in the service of them, 1 Cor. 10. 18.—21. 2 Cor. 6. 16. 17. familiar conversing with teachers of Idolatry, 2 John 10. 11. reading the books thereof, Acts 19. 19. or any other way to learn their abominations, Deut. 12. 30. The Hebrews say, Idolaters have made many books of their service, and of the works and rites of the same; the holy blessed (God) hath commanded us that we should not at all read in those books. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, c. 2. S. 2. Also they say, He that serveth an Idol, after the manner of the usual service thereof, although he do it in contempt thereof, he is guilty. Maimonides ibidem, c. 3. S. 5. On the contrary, God hereby requireth, that we serve him, in such places, and with such things and rites as himself hath commanded, Deut. 12. 5. 6. 14. 28. and serve him only, 1 Sam. 7. 3. Matt. 4. 10. jealous] and a consuming fire, Deut. 4. 24. God as said to be an husband unto his people, Ierem. 2. 2. Hosea 2. 19. idolatry, is whoredom, Deut. 31. 16. Judge. 2. 17. Ierem. 3. 9. 20. Therefore God's indignation against this sin, is called jealousy: and as that is the rage of a man, so that he will not spare in the day of vengeance, Prov. 6. 34: so the Lord here threateneth to visit, that is, to search out and punish this iniquity: for so visiting often signifieth, Ier. 44. 13. and 5. 9. 29. and when he visiteth them, they shall fall and perish, Ier. 6. 15. and 10. 15. the sons] or children, posterity; meaning such as are transgressors with their fathers, as after he saith of them that hate me. So here the Chaldee paraphraseth, upon the rebellious sons. Otherwise, if the son fear, and do not such evil, God saith, he shall not die in the iniquity of his father, but, he shall surely live, Ezek. 18. 4. 10. 13. 14. 17. generation] this word is supplied both in the Greek and Chaldee • ⟨ϙ⟩ . The Heb. phrase is, on the thirds, and on the ⟨ϙ⟩ such defects are common, see Exo. 12 3. Gen. 4. 20. & 24. 22. So alter in v. 6. unto thousands, that is, the thousand generation. of them that hate me] or, to my haters: whereunto the Chaldee addeth, where the sons go on to sin after their fathers. For hereby they turn to be God's enemies, Mic. 2. 8. as they do love him, that keep his commandments, v. 6.*

Verse 6. love me &c.] Love is first named as that from which the keeping of the commandments proceedeth, John 14. 15: for the end of the Commandment, is Love out of a pure heart, &c. 1 Tim. 1. 5. and towards such as love him, and keep his commandments, God keepeth covenant and mercy, Daniel 9. 4. The Hebrew Doctors write, Let not a man say, loe I do the Law, and exercise myself in the wisdom thereof, to the end that I may receive all the blessings that are written therein; or that I may be worthy of life, in the world that is to come: and I will keep me from the transgressions which the Law warneth me of, that I may be delivered from the curses written in the Law, or that I be not cut off from the life of the world to come. It is not meet to serve God after this manner. For he that serveth thus, serveth of fear, &c. but he that serveth of love, exerciseth himself in the Law, and walketh in the ways of wisdom; not because of anything in the world, nor for fear of evil, or that he may inherit good things: but doth the truth, because it is the truth, &c. And this is a very great dignity which no wise man is worthy of: and it was the dignity of Abraham our father, whom the holy blessed (God) calleth his Lover (or Friend, Isaiah 41. 8.) because he served him not but of Love. And this is the dignity which God commandeth us, by the hand of Moses, saying; And thou shalt love the Lord thy God, (Deut. 6. 5.) And at what time a man loveth the Lord, with love convenient, immediately he will do all the commandments, out of love, &c. Maimonides treat. of Repentance, c. 10. S. 1. 2.

Verse. 7. not take up] to wit, upon thy lips, or mouth, (as this phrase is opened in Psalm 16. 4. and 50. 16.) that is, not speak, use, or mention. So to take up a proverb, Isaiah 14. 4. to take up a lamentation, Ezek: 26. 17. is to speak or utter the same. The Chaldee restraineth it to one particular, thou shalt not swear by the name, &c. and the Targum called Jonathan's, thus, My people the house of Israel; Let not any of you swear by the name of the Word of the LORD your God in vain: But though swearing be a principal thing here intended, Isaiah 48. 1. yet the precept is more large, forbidding all irreverent & unholy use of God's name, in heart, mouth, oration: and commanding the sanctifying thereof, as it is Holy and Reverend, Matth. 6. 9. Psalm. 111. 9. and to swear by the same, Deut. 6. 13. Name] that whereby God hath made himself known, as his titles and attributes, Exod. 54. 56. 7. his Word, Law, Gospel, Deut. 32. 3. Act. 9. 15. (as the Law of Christ, Isaiah 42. 4. in expoundeth he his Name, Matt. 12. 21.) also prayer, Gen. 4. 26. and God's whole worship, and all ordinances: pertaining thereto, Deut. c. 12. 5. Mal. 1. 〈◇〉 . 12. Mic. 4. 5. his sacraments, Matth. •8. •8. 19. censures, 1. Cor. 5. 4. 5. Matt. 18. 20. and whatsoever belongeth to Christian religion, is comprised in this Name of God. That as the second commandment teacheth us wherewith to serve the Lord: so this third directeth us unto the holy use of all religion, in heart, profession, & action. in vain] or, to vanity: which word implieth also falsitie, (as after in v. 16.) and so it is used to denote false religion or idolatry, Ier. 18. 15. Ion. 2. 9. false doctrine, error, and heresy, Lam. 2. 14. Ezek. 13. 6. 7. but commonly vain and fruitless speaking or doing, whereof no good cometh, Ps. 127. 1. 2. Isaiah 1. 13. Ier. 4. 30. and 6. 29. So two things chiefly are here forbidden; the mentioning or using of God's name, in word or deed, when it should not be used; for that there is no just cause so to do: secondly, the using of it amiss, whē duty bindeth us to use it with fear and holiness. As swearing when there is no cause of an oath, Matt. 6. 34. and swearing falsely, Levite. 19. 12. swearing and not performing, 2 Chron. 36. 13. vowing and not paying; Deuternomie 23. 21. vain praying, in respect of matter or manner, Job 35. 13. Matt. 6. 7. corruption in teaching, or hearing the Word of God, Ezek. 21. 29. 2 Cor. 2. 7. Matt. 13. 19. Ezek. 33. 31. abusing the Word to unlawful arts, superstition, jesting, profaneness, Deut. 18. 11. Isaiah 66. 5. abuse of the sacraments and holy mysteries, Mal. 1. 11. 12. 1 Cor. 11. 27. 29. Ier. 7. 4. 10. abuse of ecclesiastical censures, Isaiah 66. 5. abuse of Lots; Esth. 3. 7. Prov. 16. 33. hypocrisy in any religious work, Mat. 15. 7. 8. 9. and all unbelief, Rom. 14. 23. I am. 1. 6. a sinful conversation, whereby the name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles, Rom. 2. 24. with whatsoever else is contrary to the sanctifying of God's name; which on the other part is here commanded, Lev. 22. 31. 32. The Hebr. Doctors say; Whosoever transgresseth wittingly, and without constraint, any one of all the commandments spoken of in the Law, with a contemptuous soul, to provoke (God's) anger; loe this man polluteth the Name (of God:) and if he transgress in the presence of the men of Israel, he polluteth the Name publicly. Also whosoever separateth himself from transgression, or doth that w<sup>ch</sup> is commanded, not for anything in the world, nor for feere or dread, nor for to seek honor; but for our blessed Creators sake, as Joseph the just refrained himself from his masters wife, (Gen. 39. 9.) loe this man sanctifieth the Name (of the Lord). Maimonian Iesudei hatorah, c. 5. S. 10. guiltless] or, clear, innocent: that is, he will not leave him unpunished: (so the phrase signifieth, as is opened in 1 King. 2. 9.) but he shall be plagued in this world, or in that which is to come, as Tharg. Jonathan paraphraseth, the Lord will not hold him just (or innocent) in the great day of judgment.

V. 8. Remember] Heb. To remember: of w<sup>ch</sup> phrase, see Exo. 13. 3. God speaketh thus of this commandment, to note the importance of it; for hereckoneth the breach of this precept, as one of the greatest sins in Israel, Ezek. 20. 12. & 22. 8. & 23. 38, &c Likewise to signify the antiquity of it, as being from the creation of the world; Gen. 2. 2. 3. and for that it was to be kept but one day in seven; that when the time come it be not forgotten or neglected. In repeating this law, Moses saith Observe (or keep) the Sabbath. Deut. 5. 12. In Esa. 58. •3. the Lord add ⟨◇⟩ two words ⟨◇◇⟩ to call the Sabbath a Delight the holy day of the Lord honorable, all which do show the weight of this precept. Sabbath day▪ that is the day of rest or of ceasing, namely, from our own works, as God did from his, Heb. 4. 10. See the nobles on Gen. •2. 3. A day is either large of twenty four hours, or strict of twelve hours, John 1•. 9. This here is meant of the large day, which in Israel began at evening; as Levite. 23. 32. from evening to evening, you shall rest your Sabbath. sanctify it] that is, separate it from common work, such as pertain to this natural life; & consecrate it to God and holy works, such as concern the spiritual life. As to have holy convocations or assemblies of the Church, Levite. 23. 3. in them to pray, Acts 16. 13. to read and expound the Scriptures, Luk. 4. 16. 22. Acts 15. 21. to dispute of matters of religion, Acts 17. 2. 3. and 18. 4. to talk and meditate on God's Word and work, Psalm 92. to do works of mercy to them that are in misery, both to man and beast, Matt. 12. 10. 11. 13. Luke 13. 10. 11. 17. and all other like actions tending to sanctification. And as all things are sanctified by the word of God and prayer, 1 Tim. 4. 5. so of the Sabbath, the Hebrews say, It is commanded to sanctify it with words, both at the coming in, and at the going out thereof. At the coming in to bless God, which hath given his Sabbath for a remembrance of the creation of the world, a beginning of holy convocations, a remembrance of the coming out of Egypt, and which of his love hath chosen and sanctified his Church above all people's, &c. at the going out of it also to bless God, which hath separated between the holy and the profane, between light and darkness, between Israel and other people's, between the seventh day, and the six working days. Maimonides in treat. of the Sabbath, ch. 29. S. 1. 2. 3.

Vers. 9. labor] or serve, which some do understand thus; Six days thou shalt serve the Lord, and do thine own work also: for service is a duty to the Lord, Exod. 3. 12. & 23. 25. But comparing this place with Exod. 34. 21. where it is opposed unto Rest, it seemeth rather to intend our own work or labor, which God of his bounty alloweth to be followed the six days, that we may the mo ⟨...⟩ willingly and cheerfully serve him in the seventh▪ thy work] the Act. 20. 7. 1 Cor. 16. 1. 2. And if the bringing of Israel out of Egypt, was such a work, as God for a memorial thereof, made that day & month the head and beginning of the months of the year, otherwise than had been before, as is shown on Exod. 12. 2. how should not out redemption from death and hell, (manifested in the day that Christ rose from the dead, 1 Cor. 15. 14. 17.) deserve much more to be remembered in the day thereof: and the creation of the new world be celebrated, as of the old. The Heb. Doctors have a saying, that the world was not created but for the Messias; Thalm. in Sanhedrin. c. Chelek. And the bringing out of Egypt is made a reason why the Jews should keep their Sabbath, Deut. 5. 15. our deliverance by the Messias is a more weighty reason. Therefore as the other Jewish Sabbaths were figurative, & had their end in Christ, Colos. 2. 16. 17. so the seventh day in this Sabbath was also figurative, and is ceased; but the Sabbath still remaineth, Matt. 24. 20. in it] these words are added also in the Gr. version. any work] to wit, of thine own, or for this natural life; and under the name of work, is comprehended buying and selling of wares, or of victuals, Neh. 13. 16. 17. carrying of burdens, Ier. 17. 22. embalming of the dead, Luk. 23. 54. 56. dressing of victuals, Exod. 16. 23. going of journeys, Exod. 16. 29. Act. 1. 12. or any other thing that is of our own ways, or pleasures, or speaking our own words. Esa. 58. 13. even the work of the Lord's Tabernacle might not be done on the Sabbath, Exod. 31. 13. 17. but it is expressly commanded to rest on that day, Exod. 23. 12. Whereupon the Hebr. Doctors say, though they be things which are not work yet we must rest (or cease) frō them; namely, things like unto work, as climbing of a tree, riding on a beast, or the like. Likewise, judging of civil causes, putting off of the shoe, and taking the brothers wife, (spoken of in Deut. 25. 5. 9.) separating of •ithes, first fruits, &c. valuing of things, (spoken of in Lev. 27.) And from the Law, in Isaiah 58. 12. they teach it is unlawful for a man to speak with his partner (on the Sabbath day) what he will sell on the morrow, or what he will buy, or how he will build his house, and the like. Also that it is unlawful for a man to visit his gardens or fields on the Sabbath; for to see what they need, or how they grow, for this is to do his own pleasure, (Isaiah 58. 13.) neither might they punish (or execute) malefactors on the Sabbath, though the punishment of such is a thing commanded Maimonides treat of the Sabbath, c. 21. & 23. & 24. Neither was it lawful to marry a wife on the Sabbath day: neither  $\langle \dots \rangle$  they on the evening of the Sabbath,  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  on the first day of the week, left they should pollute the Sabbath by dressing of meat for the feast. Maimonides treat of  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  , c. 10. S. 14. Howbeit things belonging to God's service, (though laborious to the body,) as killing & dressing of the sacrifices, &c. were to be done on the Sabbath, 1 Chron. 23. 31. Here the Hebrews say, The man and woman servant, whom we bid to keep Sabbath, are servants that are circumcised and baptized, &c. and have received the commandments which servants are bound unto. But servants not circumcised nor baptized, but only have received the seven Commandments given to the sons of Noah; they are as sojourning strangers, and may do work for themselves openly on the Sabbath, as an Israelite may on a working day. Maimonides, treat. of the Sabbath, chap. 20. S. 14. But this permission seemeth unto me, to be against God's Law: which from the creation was given to all the world, Genesis 2. 2. 3. yet the Jews restrain it to themselves, from Exodus 31. 17. see the annotations there. cattle] or beast; which in Deuteronomy 5. 14. is amplified thus, thine ox, or thine asse, or any beast of thine. thy stranger,] in Greek, the proselyte. thy gates] the Chaldee expounds it, thy cities. So that which in 2 Samuel 10. 8. is called the entering in of the gate, is in 1 Chron. 19. 9. the entering in of the city.*

Vers. 11. therefore] Hereby it appeareth, that the Sabbath was instituted from the beginning of the world, and so was given to all nations, and not to Israel only. Though upon their bringing out of Egypt, they were put in mind to keep it: and in Deuteronomy 5. 15. that their deliverance is made a reason to them of this commandment.

Vers. 12 Honor] This is called the first commandment with promise, Ephesians 6. 2. that is, the first of the second table, which directeth us in all duties toward man: and this precept is to maintain the order which God hath set amongst men of superiority and subjection. The Hebrew word for Honor or Glory, hath the name of weightiness; and so Paul speaketh of the weight of glory, 2 Cor. 4. 17. and it implieth a dignity and excellency in parents and governors, which God would have to be maintained; whereupon magistrates are called Glories or Dignities, 2 Peter 2. 10. Honor is to be performed with the body in reverend gesture, 1 King. 2. 19. Leviticus 19. 32. in reverend speeches, 1 Peter 3. 6. Exodus 32. 22. Numbers 12. 11. in action, as obedience to their instructions and commandments in the Lord, Prov. 6. 20. Ephes. 6. 1. in recompensing their love and care, and relieving them with our substance in their age and need, Mark 7. 10. 11. 12. 13. 1 Tim. 5. 4. to cover their infirmities, Gen. 9. 21. 22. and in heart to reverence, fear, and love them, Leviticus 19. 3. Rom. 13. 5. 9. and by all other like means to show respect and honor unto them. In an Hebrew Commentary upon Moses, called Chazkuni, it is said, Wer••de, Honor the LORD with thy substance, (Prov. 3. 9.) and Honourly father and thy mother, (Exodus 20) The LORD is to be honored, if thou have it: thy father and mother whether then hast it or no; for if thou hast nothing, thou art bound to beg for them. Again, as God commandeth Honor; so he forbiddeth all dishonor, contempt, and disobedience, in heart, word, gesture, or action, Leviticus 20. 9. Prov. 30. 17. Deut. 21. 18. 21. Eccles. 10. 20. And as he requireth children to honor their parents: so the parents are bound to educate and govern them with gravity and lenity, in the instruction and information of the Lord, Ephes. 6. 4. father and thy mother] in Leviticus 19. 3. the mother is named before the father. Under these names, all superiors & governors are implied: first, the father that begat, and mother that bare, Prov. 23. 22. and 31. 2. then parents by law and affinity, Ruth 3. 1. 5. parents that adopt children, Esth. 2. 7. 20. Kings and all Magistrates; Isaiah 22. 21. 2 King 5. 13. Prophets and Church governors, as Elias and Eliseus, were fathers, 2 Kings 2. 12. and 6. 21. and 13. 14. Deborah, a mother in Israel, Judge. 5. 7. and 17. 10. Ancients in years, patrons, instructors, protectors, and all such like, 1 Tim. 5. 1. 2. Job 29. 16. Gen. 45. 8. and 4. 20. 21. may be prolonged] in Deut. 5. 16. Moses addeth, and that it may be well with thee. It may be Englished, that they (thy parents by their prayers) may prolong thy days: but such phrases are often used impersonally, as is noted on Gen. 2. 20. and 16. 14. and so the Apostle (according to the common Greek version) saith, that it may be well with thee, and that thou mayest be long lived (or live a long time) in the land, Ephes. 6. 2. 3. Also the Chaldee said to be Jonathan's, translateth, that your days may be multiplied. the land] of Canaan which was to be given unto Israel, and was a figure of an heavenly country, as is noted on Gen. 12. 1. 5. Thus piety hath the promise both of this life and of that which is to come. Maimonides in Misneh treat. of Repentance, chap. 8. S. 1. saith; That which is written in the Law (Deut. 22. 7.) that it may be well with those and thou mayest prolong thy days, we have been taught to understand thus: that it may be well with thee, in the world where all is well; and thou mayest prolong thy days in the world which is all long, and that is the world to come.

Vers. 13. Thou shalt not kill] or, Thou shalt not murder: for the Hebrew Ratsach properly signifieth Murder, that is, killing of mankind unjustly; and so differeth from another word Harag, which is to kill a person, which sometime is justly, Deut. 13. 9. We may also English it, Kill not: and so the rest, Commit not adultery: Steal not, &c. for both these ways doth the holy Ghost translate these precepts into Greek, Matt. 19. 18. Mark. 10. 19. This sixth Commandment is for preserving man's life: the seventh is, for the just propagation of mankind: the eight concerneth his goods: the ninth his good name: the tenth teacheth every man to be contented with his own estate. The Chaldee translateth this, Thou shalt not kill a soul▪ that is, any person: and it for biddeth all murder of soul or of body, Ezek. 13. 19. and 3. 18. Gen. 9. 6. of ones self, or of another, Act. 16. 27. 28. Prov. 〈◇〉 . 11. 16. and this not only in act, but in reproachful words Matt. 5. 21. 22. malicious gesture, Matt. 27. 39. Gen. 46. inward unadvised anger, malice, 〈...〉 hatred, M 〈...〉 ew 5. 22. for, whosoever hateth his brother is 〈...〉 , 1 John 3. 15. Co 〈...〉 rari wise, it commandeth to preserve the life of all men, except such as God for their sins command•th to be killed, Genesis 9. 6. 〈◇〉 Samuel 15. 2. 3. 〈...〉 ▪

Verse 14. not commit 〈◇〉 ] or, not adulterate: the original is one word, and forbiddeth all manner of w•oredome, fornication, & uncleanness, Ephesians 5. 3. and unnatural filthiness, Leviticus 18. 22. 23. not only the outward act, but all lascivious words▪ gestures, and attire, Ephesians 4. 29. 1 Peter 2▪ 14. Proverbs 7. 10. 11. 12. 13. 22▪ and all inordinate lusts, for who so looketh on a woman to lust▪ after her, hath committed adultery with her already in his heart, Matt. 5. 28. Likewise pl•alitie of wives, Malachi. 2. 15. 1 Corinth. 6. 16. and 7. 2. unjust divorces, Malachi. 2. 16. Matthew 19. 3. 4. 9. and incestuous marriages, Leyiti•us 18. 6. &c. Contrariwise, God here requireth chastity in body and spirit, either in single life, 1 Corinth. 7. 34. or in lawful married estate, Hebrews 13. 4. that everyone should know how to possess his vessel in holiness and honor, 1 Thes▪ 4. 3. 4.

Verse 15. not steal] either persons, Exodus 21. 16. 1 Timoth. 1. 10. or any other things, by fraud, or by force, 1 Thes. 4. 16. It forbiddeth all unjust taking, or keeping back of things pertaining to God, Leviticus 5. 15. Malachi. 3. 8. Acts 5. 2. 4. or to men, Leviticus 19. 11. Romans 13. 7. all unrighteousness in covenants, contracts, bargains, &c. Genesis. 31. 39. 41. Leviticus 19. 35. oppression, Deuteronomy. 24. 14. ex•ortion, Luke 3. 13. taking of bribes, Deuteronomy 16. 19. usury, Exodus 22. 25. or any filthy gain, 1 Timothy 3. 8. detaining of other men's goods, either lent, Psalm 37. 21. or pawned, Exo•us 22. 26. or lost, Leviticus 6. 4. withholding of tribute, custom, &c. Matthew 22. 21. Romans 13. 6. 7. removing of land-marks Deuteronomy 19. 14. All idle and inordinate walking, 2. Thes. 3. 6. 10. 11. 12. covetousness, Hebrews 13. 5. and unmercifulness to the poor, Deut eronomie 15▪ 7. Contrariwise, it requireth justice and equity, faithfulness, diligence, and mercy in all ⟨◇⟩ dealings, Deut. 16. 20. Matthew 20. 7. Titus 2▪ ⟨◇⟩ . Proverbs 22. 29. Psalm 112. 9. and to d•e unto all men whatsoever we would that men should do unto us, Mat 7. 12.

Verse 16. not answer] that is, not speak, or witness, as the Chaldee translateth; the Greek saith, ⟨◇⟩ fa•lsely ⟨◇⟩ , and so this Commandment is alleged in Matthew 19. 18. false witness] or, false ⟨◇⟩ , as the Greek and Chaldee ⟨...⟩ , though the Hebrew Ed, signifieth also ⟨◇⟩ testi••, as in Levitic•• 5. 1. and so may here b• Englished, a witness (or testify•) of falsehood. In repeating this •awe, Moses useth another word, ⟨...⟩ nesse of vanity, D ⟨...⟩ , 5. 20. the same woe•d that was before, in ⟨◇⟩ ▪ for taking God's naine in vain. God here forbiddeth all lying and ••true speaking, Eph ⟨...⟩ 4. 25. especially in witness hearing: all ⟨◇⟩ o• depr•ving of the actions. words, or meaning of any, 2 Samuel 10. 2. 3. Matthew 2•. 59. 60. Psalm 52. 4. 5. 6. all rash and unrighteous judgment, without due trial and examination, John 7. 24. 51. Matthew 7. 1. D ⟨...⟩ onomie 19. 18. wresting of the Law, and of judgment, Deuteronomy 16. 19. Zeph. 3. 4. concealing the truth which one can witness, Leviticus 5. 1. false records, Ezra 4. 19. raising or received of false rumors or reports, Exodus 23. 1. Nehem. 6. 6. 7. 8. 1 Samuel 24. 9. walking about with tales; Leviticus 19. 16. whispering, backebiting, covenant-breaking, Rom. 1. 29. 30. 31. and all other ways of hurting with the tongue, Psalm. 101. 5. And he commandeth faithful testimony, Proverbs 14. 5. 25. righteous judgment, Deut. 1. 16. speaking truth, as it is in ones heart Psalm 15. 2. and all other things that may preserve the good name of a man, and of his neighbor, which is to be chosen rather than great riches, Proverbs 22. 1. thy neighbor] that is, any man, acquaintance or stranger, friend or foe: for though the Hebrew Regneh, sometimes signifieth a special friend, (as Deuteronomy 13. 6. Job 2. 11.) yet here it is to be taken in the largest sense, as Christ's answer to him that asked who was his neighbor, showeth, Luke 10. 29. 30. 37. By neighbor then, is meant any other man, joined to us, and living with us in human society; as God hath of one blood made all nations of men, Act. 17. 26. So neighbor is used generally for another man or woman: Genesis 11. 3. Esth. 1. 19. and in Proverbs 18. 17. the Greek translateth it an Adversarie, according to the true meaning there. The Holy Ghost in Greek calleth him Plesion, that is, our Neighbor or Next. Luk. 10. 27. 29. Ro. 13. 9▪

Vers. 17. not covet] in Deut. 5. 21. another word Desire, is also used: and there the coveting of the wife is first named; and then the coveting of the house: there also the field is added, whereof here is no mention: howbeit the Greek hath the same order and addition in this place. This commandment forbiddeth covetousness and discounter: meant with our present estate, and all desire of anthing which God hath bestowed upon another: though we would have it without injury to another; as by giving him the worth of it in money, or otherwise, 1 King. 21. 2. And thus it differeth frō the former Commandments, which forbid together with the outward act, the inward desire of another man's goods, to his hurt. For as desire after a man's wife, is adultery, Matt. 5. 28. so the desire of any other man's house or beast wrongfully, is stealth. But this commandment forbiddeth an inferior degree of sin; and because men's desires are not satisfied with that they have, but Covetousness, coveteth all the day, Prov. 21. 26. therefore God here restraineth every inordinate lust, and teacheth us to be content with such things as we have; for he hath said, I will not leave thee nor forsake thee, Heb. 13. 5. & contentation saith, I have all things, Gen. 33. 11. These five last precepts, are in Deutonomie 5. joined one to another, with this word And: for they mutually respect each other in the things forbidden; and bind us to the observing of everyone severally, and of all of them jointly; as it is written, Whosoever shall keep the whole Law, and offend in one point, he is guilty of all. For he that said, Do not commit adultery, said also, Do not kill, I am. 2. 10. 11. Hereunto we may also refer the double accents, which most of these ten Commandments have, in the Hebrew Scripture; different from all the Bible besides: which though they serve for a twofold manner of reading, the one common as the other Scripture, the other leasurly, & with a long pronounciation, as the Jews used in their assemblies; yet they may lead us also, to observe a distinction of matter in some, and a conjunction or continued matter in other some.

Ver. 18. saw] this word is generally used for seeing, hearing, or perceiving: not only by the eye, but by any sense or understanding: as Jacob saw that there was corn in Egypt, Gen. 42. 1. which the Holy Ghost expoundeth, Jacob heard, Act. 7. 12. So here, they saw the voices, that is, heard them, lightnings] in Hebrew and Greek, lamps; so called for that they burned and shined like lamps or torches: see Gen. 15. 17. where such appeared to Abraham, at the covenant making with him. They here signified the brightness and terrors of the Law: as did the shining face of Moses afterward, Exod. 34. 30. 2 Cor. 3. 7. Ps. 119. 105. removed away] being afraid as the Gr. translath. Showing the effect of the law in their consciences, to work fear by the spirit of bondage, which all that are borne of the bondwoman Agar, (or mount Sina,) are possessed with, Rom. 8. 15. Gal. 4. 24. 25. For they had before come near, and stood under the mount, Deut. 4. 11.

V. 19. they said] by the chief of their Tribes and their Elders, Deut. 5. 23. will hear] & do it. This speech of theirs God well approved of, Deut. 5. 27. 28. For as they desired Moses to be a mediator between God and them; so the Law is a Schoolmaster to bring us to Christ, the mediator of the New Testament, Gal. 3. 24. Heb. 12. 24. wherefore upon this speech of theirs, God promised Christ unto them, Deut. 18. 15. 16. 17. 18. lest we die] for this great fire will consume us; if we hear the voice of the Lord our God anymore we shall die, Deut. 5. 25. Hereby was manifested, that there was not a Law given which could give life; but that the just should live by faith, Gal. 3. 11. 12. 21. For the Law of God, and the will of man are adversaries, which cannot be reconciled but by grace in Christ: only through fear man faineth to love the Law; but by faith it is fulfilled, Rom. 5. 1. 2. and 8. 1. 4.

Vers. 20. Fear not] but as the Gr. translatheth, be of good comfort. He encourageth them against the exceeding fear which dismayed them: (for otherwise, it was the purpose of God, that by this they might learn to fear him, Deu. 4. 10.) So when the Angel said, Fear not, Matt. 28. 5. he meant, be not affrighted (or dismayed) Mar. 16. 6. is come] as the Chaldee paraphraseth, his glory is revealed. to tempt] or, to prove: see Exod. 15. 25. not sin] thus the Law was added because of transgressions▪ Gal. 3. 19. to manifest sin, and to restrain men from it, Rom. 3. 20. Psal. 119. 11. I am. 2. 9. for, without the Law sin is dead, Rom. 7. 8. But sin, which dwelleth in us, that it might appear sin, and might become exceeding sinful, reviveth by the Law; taketh occasion by the Commandment, deceiveth us, and slayeth us; so that which was ordained unto life, we find to be unto death, Rom. 7. 13. 9. 10. 11. But what the Law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God (hath done) sending his own son, in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin condemned sin in the flesh, Rom. 8. 3.

Ver. 21. thick darkness] or, tempestuous darkness. The Hebrew gnaraphel, which signifieth thick (or obscure) darkness, is by the Holy Ghost translated in Greek thuella▪ Heb. 12. 18. which signifieth a tempest; and so the Lxx. translate it in Deut. 4. 11. and 5. 22.

Ver. 22. the heavens] This was when God came down upon mount Sina, Neh. 9. 13. upon earth also, he shown them his great fire, and they heard his voice out of the midst of the fire, (which, did ever people hear and live?) Deut. 4. 36 33.

Ver. 22. with me] to wit, any gods with me, which the Chaldee translatheth, before me as in verse 3. So with me, in Esth. 7. 8. is used for before me; and with the ark of God, 2 Sam, 6. 7. is expounded before God. 1 Chron. 13. 10. gods] that is, idols of gold or silver, representing God unto you. Thus Israel when they made the calf in the wilderness, (which was an idol, Act. 7. 41. are said to have made them God's of gold, Exod 32. 8. 31. and the idols (or images) of the Philistines, are called their gods, 2 Sam. 5. 21. 1 Chron. 14. 12.

Vers. 24. of earth] this seemeth to differ from the brazen altar which was after made in the Sanctuary, Exodus 27. 1. 2. though some think it was the same, and being hollow was filled with earth. But earthen altars were used before, as is noted on Genesis 8. 20. And an altar was made by Israel, Exodus 24. 4. before that altar of brass, Exodus 38. Here an altar of earth, is opposed to the gods of silver and gold, before prohibited. For God is to be worshipped in spirit and truth, not with outward, carnal pomp, John 4. 24. And as the altar figured Christ, Hebrews 13. 10. so his earthly or human nature, was hereby signified, for he was made of the seed of David according to the flesh, Romans 1. 3. peace-offerings] or thank-offerings; of these▪ see Levite. 1. and 3. make the memorial] or cause the remembrance of my name to be: or, make you to remember my name: that is, all places of public worship and service of God; and monuments of him: such as were the many encamping places in the wilderness, and sundry afterward in the land of Canaan: altars, ark, tabernacle, temple, &c. For as Absalom, erected a pillar, to keep his name in remembrance, 2 Samuel 18. 18. so God chose out places to put his name there, Deuter. 12. 5. as in Jerusalem, 1 King. 14. 21. and in his temple there, 1 King. 8. 29. and before that, in his Tabernacle and Ark, where David set Levites to make mention (or memorial) and to confess and praise the Lord God of Israel, 1 Chron. 16. 4. So in the heavenly Jerusalem, built by Christ, Isaiah 62. 6. The Chaldee paraphraseth, in every place where I shall make my Divinity (or my glory) to dwell: the Greek, where I shall name my name: which phrase Paul useth, 2 Tim. 2. 19. bless thee] Hereupon are those speeches, he blesseth thy sons within thee (Jerusalem) Psal. 147. 13. and Jehovah bless thee out of Zion, Psalm. 134. 3. and Obed-Edoms house was blessed, because of the Ark of the Lord, 2. Sam. 6. 12. and sundry the like.

Vers. 25. of hewn stones] so the Greek and Chaldee express the Hebrew phrase of hewing: whereby is meant stones of hewing. (as is expressed in 1 King. 5. 17) that is, stones hewed: of such the altar might not be built, but of whole stones, over which no man had lift up any iron; as Jesus did on mount Ebal, Ios. 8. 30. 31. thy tool] or, thy axe, thy sword: any iron or edge tool; therefore in Deut. 27. 5. Moses useth the word iron. And the Hebrew Chereb (an axe, or sword) here used, hath the name of wasting or destroying, being instruments of war for destruction of men, and of towers, as in Ezek. 26. 6. 9. and is here forbidden in making the altar: and in the building of Solomon's Temple, no iron tool was heard, 1 King. 6. 7. polluted] Thus that which in man's judgment and art, should polish it, God's Law maketh to be pollution. So human wisdom of speech, in preaching the Gospel, maketh the cross of Christ vain and of none effect, 1 Cor. 1. 17. and 2. 4. 5.

Vers. 26. by steps] or, by stairs, greeces: albeit the altar was higher then other places, and the sacrificers went up unto it, and down from it, 2 Chron. 4. 1. Levite. 9. 22. nakedness] that is, uncomely parts, or shame, as the Greek translateth it: which as honesty would have covered from the eyes of man, Gen. 9. 22. 23. so religion teacheth us to cover in the presence of God. And this rule extendeth to the comely covering of all parts of our body, 1 Cor. 11. 4. 5. 13. especially to hide our spiritual shame and nakedness, Revel. 16. 15. Wherefore God appointed linen breeches to cover the nakedness of the Priests, Exod. 28. 42. 43. & covereth of his grace the nakedness of all his people, Ezek. 16. 8. Rev. 3. 18.

2. Judicial lewes for men servants. 5, For the servant whose ear is bored. 7, For women servants. 1•, For man 〈...〉 ter. 16, For stealers of men. 17, For cursers of parents. 18, For smiters. 22, For hurting a wom•n: with child. 26, For may•ing a servant. 28, For an ox that goreth. 33, For him that is an occasion of harm.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

AND these are the Iudgments which thou shalt set before them. When thou shalt buy an Hebrew servant, six y 〈...〉 he shall serve, and in the seventh he shall go out free for nothing. If he came in with his body, he shall go out with his body: if he were the husband of a wife, then his wife shall go out with him. If his master have given him a wife, and she have borne him sons or daughters, the wife and her children shall be her masters, and he shall go out with his body. And if the servant saying shall say, I love my master, my wife, and my sons: I will not go out free. Then his master shall bring him unto the gods; he shall also bring him unto the door, or unto the door post: and his master shall bore his ear through with an aule; and he shall serve him forever. And when a man shall sel his daughter for a maid servant, she shall not go out, as the servants go out. If she be evil in the eyes of her master, that he do not betroth her, then shall he let her be redeemed: to a strange people he shall not have power to sell her, for that h 〈...〉 hath unfaithfully transgressed against he 〈...〉 And if he shall betroth her to his son, he shall 〈...〉 do unto her after the rightful manner of daughters. If he take him another wife, her food, her raiment & her marriage duty, shall he not wth draw. And if he do not these three unto her, then shall she go out freely without money. He that smiteth a man & he die, shall be put to die the death. And if he hat 〈...〉 not lien in wait, but God hath occasionally delivered him into his hand; then I will appoint thee a place whither he shall flee. And when a man shall come presumptuously upon his neighbor, to slay him with guile; from my altar shalt thou take him to die. And he that smiteth his father or his mother, shall be put to die the death. And he• that stealeth a man, and selleth him, or he be found in his hand, shall be put to die the death. And he that curseth his father or his mother, shall be put to die the death. And when men contend, and a man smite his neighbor, with stone, or with fist, and he die not, but falleth on bed; If he rise again, and walk abroad upon his staff, then the smiter shall be innocent, only he shall give his sitting still, and healing he shall heal him. And when a man smite his man-servant, or his woman servant, with a rod, and he die under his hand, avenging he shall be avenged. But if he continue a day, or two days, he shall not be avenged, for he is his money. And when men strive and strike a woman with child, and her births depart from her, and there be no mischief; punishing he shall be punished, according as the woman's husband will lay upon him; and he shall give by t• judges. And if mischief be, then shalt thou give soul for soul. Eie for eye; tooth for tooth; hand for hand; foot for foot. Burning for burning; wound for wound; stripe for stripe. And when a man shall smite the eye of his man-servant, or the eye of his woman-servant, and corrupt it; he shall send him away free for his eye. And if he shall smite out the tooth of his man-servant, or the tooth of his woman-servant; he shall send him away free for his tooth. And when an ox shall push a man or a woman that he die; the ox shall be stoned with stones, and his flesh shall not be eaten; and the owner of the ox shall be innocent. And if the ox were a pusher in times past, and it hath been testified to his owner, and he hath not kept him in, but that he hath killed a man or a woman; the ox shall be stoned, and his owner also shall be killed. If a ransom be laid upon him, then he shall give the redemption of his soul, according to all which shall be laid upon him. Whether he have pushed a son, or pushed a daughter, according to this judgment shall it be done unto him. If the ox have pushed a man-servant, or a woman-servant, he shall give unto his master thirty shekels of silver, and the ox shall be stoned. And when a man shall open a pit, or when a man shall dignity a pit, and not cover it, and an ox or an asse fall there: The owner of the pit shall pay, he shall render money to the owner of it, and the dead beast shall be his. And when a man's ox shall strike his neighbors ox, that he die, then they shall sell the living ox, and divide the money of it, and the dead also they shall divide. Or if it be known that the ox was a pusher in time past, and his owner hath not kept him in, paying he shall pay ox for ox, and the dead shall be his own.

Annotations.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Here beginneth the 18. Section of the Law, called Mishpatim, that is, Judgments. See Genes. 6. 9.

THE Iudgments] the Judicial laws, annexed to the Law or ten Commandments fore-given, Ex. 20. for punishment of transgressors: as the ordinances about God's worship, and sacrifices, are commonly called statutes, or decrees, Exod. 12. 24. 43. and 27. 21. and 29. 9. Lev. 3. 17. and 6. 18. 22. The Greek here and often tran lateth them Dicaiomata, Just judgments: and so the Holy Ghost useth the word, in Revel. 15. 4. The statutes and judgments, are often distinctly mentioned, Deut. 4. 1. 5. 45. and 5. 1. and 12. 1. and sometime the Law or Commandments annexed with them, Deut. 6. 1. and 26. 17. Mal. 4. 4. And these Iudicials were propounded by Moses, not by express voice of God unto the people, as were those ten Words, in Exod. 20. before them] that is, the Israelites; and in special, the Magistrates of Israel. From hence the Hebrews gather, (as R. Solomon on this place) that it was not lawful for them to have their causes judged by infidels. And Paul hath a much like doctrine, in 1 Cor. 6. 1.

Vers. 2. Hebrew servant] that is, as the Chaldee explaineth it, a son of Israel: see Exod. 3. 18. A man might not buy an Hebrew, but either when he willingly sold himself, for extreme poverty, Deut. 15. 12. Levite. 25. 39. or when he was sold against his will, by the Magistrate, for theft which he was not able to restore, Exod. 22. 3. shall serve] the Greek explaineth it, shall serve thee. This might not be with the service of a bond-servant, but as an hired servant; and without rigor, Levite. 25. 39. 40. 43. For the time, the Hebrew canons say, He whom the Synedrion (the Magistrates) sell, serveth six years from the day of his sale: and in the beginning of his seventh year, he goeth out free. If the year of release (Deut. 15. 1.) fall out within any of the six years, yet he serveth in it: but if the year of Jubilee fall, though he be sold but one year before, yet he goeth out free, as Levite. 25. 40. 41. 54. He that selleth himself, may do it for moe than six years. If it be for ten or twenty years, and the Jubilee fall out within a year after he is sold, he goeth out free. Maimonides in Misneh, treat. of servants, cap. 2. S. 2. 3. free] or, a free man, as both Greek and Chaldee do interpret it. This state of servitude, figured their subjection unto sin, under the Law Rom. 6. 6. 16. 17. Galat. 4. 25. the seventh year; figured the time of grace by Christ, who proclaimed by his Gospel, the acceptable year of the Lord, Esa. 61. 2. Luke 4. 18. 19. he by his truth maketh men free in deed, John. 8. 32. 36. that sin hath no more dominion over them, Rom. 6. 14. 18. for nothing] or, for naught, freely: without money, as is explained, verse 11. or moneys worth, Gen. 29. 15. It signified the free gift of man's redemption, and justification by the grace of Christ, Rom. 3. 24. where the Apostle useth the same Greek word Dorean, by which the Hebrew is in Greek translated here.

Vers. 3. with his body] only, and hath no wife, as the words following manifest: therefore the Greek and Chaldee translatheth it, himself alone, of a wise] which is entered into servitude with him; therefore the Greek translatheth it thus, If a wife came in together with him, then the wife shall go out together with him.

Vers. 4. given him a wife] to wit, an heathen bond woman: for such only, with their children might be left in servitude, Levite. 25. 44. neither might any man thus deal with an Hebrew woman, as is after shown in verse. 7. &c. And this thing, (which God here commandeth not, but tolerateth) the Hebrew Doctors restrain to him only that is sold by the Magistrate, saying: He whom the Magistrates do sell, his master may give him a Canaanitese bond woman, &c. and compel him hereunto, that he may beget servants (or slaves) of her; and he may lawfully use her, all the days of his servitude, Exodus 21. 4. but he that selleth himself, is forbidden a Canaanitese bondwoman, as are all other men of Israel. But, An Hebrew servant, may not have to wife a Canaanitese, until he have an Israelitess wife and children. For if he have not a wife and children, his master may not give him a Canaanitese. And this is by tradition, that although he be a Priest that is sold yet he may have a Canaanitese bondwoman, all the days of his servitude. If he have wife and children, though his master may give him a Canaanitese, yet may he not separate him from his wife and children, as it is written, verse. 3. HIS WIFE WITH HIM. And he may not give him two bond women; nor give one bondwoman to two Hebrew servants, as is the manner to give unto two Canaanite servants. These things are recorded by Maimonides, in his treat. of Servants, chap. 3. S. 3. 4. 5. with his body] that is, alone, as the Greek translateth it. For his children borne of the bondwoman, are bond-men also; as the example of Ishmael, whom Abraham begat of Agar, showeth, Genes. 21. 9. 10. Galat. 4. 22. 23. 30. So the Hebrew canons also testify: An Israelite that lieth with a Canaanitese bondwoman, &c. begetteth a Canaanite in every respect, who may be sold and bought, and made to serve forever, as other bond-men. Maimonides treat, of Servants, chap. 9. Sect. 1.

Vers. 5. saying shall say] that is, shall freely, openly, and plainly say: Greek, shall answer and say. my master] in Deut. 15. 16. is mentioned also his house: from which the Hebrews gather, that if the master have not wife and children, the servant is not to be bored in the ear: or if his master love not him, or if either the master or servant be sick, the servant is not to be bored; for it is said, (in Deut. 15. 16.) because he is well with thee. Maimonides, treat, of Servants, chap. 3. Sect. 11.

Vers. 6. the gods] that is, the Judges, or Magistrates. called gods in Psalm 82. 1. 6. because the Word of God was given to them, John. 10. 34. 35. So the Chaldee translateth it Judges: the Greek, the judgment of God. The Rabbin's expound it, the Synedrion (or Court) of three judges: and that was the lowest Court. Maimonides in Servants, chap. 3. Sect. 9. But withal they say, None are called Elohim (God's) but the Judges ordained in the land of Israel only; and such as were wise men, fit for to judge; whom the Senate of the Land of Israel sought out, and appointed, and imposed hands upon them. Maimonides in Sanhedrin, chap. 4. Sect. 4. the door] either of his masters house, or of any other man's, saith Maimonides in treat, of Servants, chap. 3. his master] this the Hebrew Doctors hold strictly must be done by the master himself, not by his son, nor by his messenger, nor by a messenger of the magistrates. Maimonides, in the same place. his ear] this the Hebrews explain to be his right ear, and through the body of it. And because the Law saith for servants, that at the Jubilee they should return unto their family; Leviticus 25. 41. they do except the priests from this. An Hebrew servant that is a priest, may not be bored in the ear, because he is made thereby blemished, and cannot therefore return unto his dignity. Maimonides, treat, of Servants, chap. 3. Sect. 8. serve him forever] that is, (as Maimonides there explaineth it) till the Jubilee; or, till his masters death. If he die and leave a son, yet he that is bored serveth not his son: for it is said, he shall serve him (not his son,) forever, to his ever of Jubilee. The Law for the Jubilee, (which was every fiftieth year) see in Levite. 25. 13. 28. 40. 41. and as the word Ever, for many things reached but to the Jubilee; so sometime it is but during life; as 1 Sam. 1. 22. Thus by all means God provided to keep men out of bondage, as he had brought them out of Egyptian servitude, to be his servants, Levite. 25. 42. Nehem. 5. 8. And the Apostle saith, If thou canst be made free, use it rather 1 Cor. 7. 21. Especially God taught them hereby, to labor for the Liberty which Christ at his Jubilee should bring unto them, John. 8. 32. 34. 36. and not to be the servants of men, 1 Cor. 7. 23. And by this outward state of servants, led them from the bondage of the Law, at mount Sina, to the freedom of the Gospel, at mount Zion, Galat. 4. 24. 25. 26. &c. For the aule through the ear, signified the sharp iron precepts, which men were bound to obey, in their going out and coming in, their whole administration, till either the death of the master, or the Jubilee did release them. So the Apostle saith, The Law hath dominion over a man, as long as he liveth, &c. When we were in the flesh, the passions of sins, which were by the Law, wrought effectually in our members, to bring forth fruit unto death: but now we are delivered from the Law, that being dead wherein we were held, that we should serve in ne 〈...〉 of the spirit, and not in oldness of the letter, Romans 7. 1. 5. 6.

Vers. 7. sell his daughter] which the Hebrew canons say, he might not do, but while she was a girl, under the age and state of marriage, not after, neither might he sell her but for extreme poverty when he had nothing left of goods moveable, or immovable, unto the clothes on his back. Maimonides, treat. of Servants, chap. 4. Sect. 1. 2. An example hereof was among the poor Jews, returned our of Babylon, Nehem. 5. 1. 5. 8. maid-servant, or, hand maid: see Gen. 16. 1. This servitude by the Law must be but till the seventh year; (as was before for men-servants, whom the Magistrates sold;) or, till the Jubilee, if it fell out before, Deut 15. 12. Levite. 25. 40. or (by the Hebrew canons, till the death of her master. as the servants. that is, as slaves, basely, and with dishonor: for the Hebrew men and women might not be made to serve as servants, but as hired persons, and sojourners, Levite. 25. 39. 40. Although therefore this by some is referred to the former law of men-servants, in verse 2. 3. &c. yet the Greek translation changeth the gender, and so understandeth it of bond-women or slaves. And the Jew Doctors refer it to that which followeth in verse 26. 27. that an Hebrew handmaid goeth not out for loss of limme, as of eye, tooth, &c. but must receive satisfaction for such hurts, as any other of Israel; according to the Law, in verse 24. Maimonides, treat. of Servants, chap. 4. Sect. 6.

Vers. 8. evil] that is, displeasing, as the Greek also translateth it. that he do not betroth her] unto himself, o•to his son, verse 9. Or, who hath betrothed her to himself: for the Hebrew hath both readings, the first in the line, the latter in the margin. And the writing differeth in the eye, (but hath no difference in the ear: so Moses hearing it of God, did by his spirit write both; and the margin is that which in the Hebrew is noted to be read. The Hebrew Doctors (in Talmud Bab. in Nedarim, chap. 4. fol. 37. b.) say, The words read and not written, and written and not read, were the tradition of Moses from (mount) Sinai; that is, as the Hebrew scholion on that place noteth, so Moses received in Sinai, and delivered to Israel. The Chaldee version in this and other the like places, translateth according to the margin; an evident proof, that these divers readings were not added by the Masorites, as some think; seeing the Masorites were not so ancient. The Greek copies here vary, some having, hath betrothed her to him, othersome, hath not betrothed; and so The•lotio, and Symmachus also translated, hath not betrothed. The meaning seemeth to be, if he take dislike of her, either before or after she is betrothed. By the Jews canons, An Hebrew maid might not be sold, but unto one who either himself or his son, might betroth her when she was marriageable. As, a man might not sell his daughter to his son, because she was not meet for her master, who was her brother; nor for her masters sons, because she was his fathers sister. Maimonides treat. of Servants, chap. 4. Sect. 11. shall he let her] or, cause her to be redeemed; the Greek translateth, he shall redeem her. The Hebrews say, If her master have betrothed her to him-self, or to his son, she is as other betrothed women, and goeth not out but by the death of her husband, or by bill: and the commandment to betroth, is before the commandment to redeem. If her master die, his son cannot betroth her to himself; because she goeth out free by her masters death. Maimonides, treat, of Servants, chap. 4. Sect. 7. 8. to a strange people] that is, to any stranger; the Chaldee interprets it, to another man. And Maimonides (in the foresaid place Sect. 10.) saith, he may not sell her, nor give her to another man, whether he be one far off, or near; and if he either sell, or give her, it is nothing that he doth. unfaithfully transgressed] or, dealt deceitfully, and treacherously, failing of that which was expected at his hands, The Chaldee translateth, he hath ruled over her.

Vers. 9. of daughters] which the Chaldee explaineth, of the daughters of Israel: as is right and custom to be done with all other maids, which are not servants. This may be understood of giving a dowry: as Exod. 22. 16. 17. and all other privileges of a free woman.

Vers. 10. take him] this the Greek interpreteth, take to himself: though it may imply both the father and the son, forespoken of. her marriage duty] the due benevolence between man and wife, such as the Apostle speaketh of, 1 Cor. 7. 3. and so the Greek translateth it conversation, (or companying together.) the Hebrew Doctors also explain it (from the phrase in Gen. 19. 31.) to go in unto her after the way of all the earth. Unto these three the Hebrews add seven more: their words are, *When a man marrieth a wife, whether she be a virein or otherwise, be she great or small, a daughter of Israel, or a proselyte; he oweth unto her ten things, and she oweth four. Of the ten, three are in the Law; her food, her raiment, and her marriage duty, that is, to go in unto her after the manner of all the earth. And seven are by the doctrine of the Scribes. The first is, the principal of the dowry; [which for a maid, was fifty shekels, as is noted on Exod. 22. 17] and the other are called conditions of the dowry; and they are these: to heal her if she be sick; to redeem her if she be taken captive, to bury her if she die; and to let her be nourished of his goods, and to dwell in his house after he die, all the time of her widowhood; that her children which she hath by him, be nourished of his goods after his death, until they be espoused; & that her male children which she hath by him, be heirs of her dowry, above their portion of inheritance which they have with their brethren. And the four things which she oweth are; that the works of her hands be his; that her (presence, or) attendance be upon him; that he eat of all the fruits of her goods during her life; and if she die while he live, that he be her heir he is before any man, in inheriting that she hath. Maimonides, treat. of Wives, chap. 12. Sect. 1. 2. 3. withdraw] or, keep back, as the word signifieth in Numbers 9. 7. the Greek translateth it defra• which word Paul useth in speech of the like thing, Defraud not one the other, 1 Cor. 7. 5.*

Vers. 11. these three] mentioned last, in verse 10. or, one of those three fore-mentioned, touching her betrothing to himself, or to his son, or her redeeming. In this latter sense Maimonides expoundeth it, in his treat. of Servants, chap. 4. Sect. 9. freely, or, for nothing, as verse 2.

Vers. 12. that smiteth] to wit, willfully, as the next verse manifesteth. See the notes on Gen. 9. 6. put to die] or, made to die, that is, killed by the Magistrate: and the doubling of the word maketh the charge more strait; for no ransom might be taken for the life of a willful murderer, Numbers 35. 31. The Hebrew Doctors say; Four deaths were in Israel by the Judges; Stoning, and Burning, and Slaying with the sword, and Strangling (or Hanging.) Stoning was heavier than burning; and burning heavier then killing with the sword; and the sword heavier then strangling. All that were to be stoned to death by the law, were eighteen, namely, these: 1 He that lieth with his own mother: 2 or with his fathers wife: 3 or with his daughter in law: 4 or with a betrothed maid: 5 or with the male: 6 or with any beast. 7 The woman that lieth down to a beast. 8. The blasphemer. 9 He that worshippeth on Idol. 10 or that giveth of his seed to Molech. 11 He that hath a familiar spirit, 12 and the Wizard, (Leviticus 20. 27.) 13 The inticer to idolatry (Deuter. 13. 6.) 14 and the withdrawer (or thruster away) to idolatry, (Deuteronomy 13. 13.) 15 The witch. 16 The profaner of the Sabbath. 17 He that curseth his father or his mother: 18 and there bellious some, (Deuter. 21.) All that were to be burned, were ten: 1 The priests daughter that playeth the whore under her husband: 2 and he that lieth with his daughter: 3 or with his daughters daughter: 4 or with his sons daughter: 5 or with his wives daughter: 6 or with her daughters daughter: 7 or with her sons daughter: 8 or with his mother in law: 9 or with the mother of his mother in law: 10 or with the mother of his father in law. Who so lay with any of these whiles his wife lived, was to be burned. The killed with the sword were two: 1 The murderer: 2 and the drawn away to idols, (Deute•onomie 13• 15.) The strangled were six: 1 He that lieth with another man's wife: 2 He that smiteth his father or his mother: 3 He that steals a soul of Israel: 4 The Elder that rebelleth against the decree of the Senate, (Deuteronomy 17. 12.) 5 The false Prophet: 6 and he that prophesieth in the name of another god. So there are •ound in all, which were to be slain by the Magistrate, thirty and six. Maimonides in Sanhedrin, chap. 14. Sect. 1. 4. and chap. 15. Sect. 10. 13. Talmud Bab. in Sanhedrin, chap. 7. and 9. Likewise the Chaldee paraphrase on Ruth. 1. 17. (in the Masorites Bible) saith; Naomi said, we have four judgments of death for malefactors: Stoning with stones, Burning with fire, Killing with the sword, and Hanging on tree.

Vers. 13. not l•en in wait] not hunted, as 1 Samuel 24. 12. The Greek translatheth, not willing. See this more explained in Num. 35. 22. 23. occasionally delivered] or, offered by chance: an example whereof is set down in Deut. 19. 5. The Greek and Chaldee translate, delivered. a place] in the land of Canaan, the cities of refuge, whereof see Num. 35. 6. &c. before that there were not any, unless God's Sanctuary and Altar in the wilderness; as may be conjectured by the verse here following; and the practice of Joab, 1 Kin. 2. 28.

Vers. 14. shall come presumptuously] or, shall deal proudly: the Chaldee saith, do wickedly. It meaneth wittingly, willfully, and presumptuously. from my] in Chaldee, from before my altar. The Greek addeth, and flee unto the altar; from my altar shalt thou take him, &c. But Targum Yerushalmi expoundeth it thus, though he be the high priest, who standeth and ministereth before me, from thhnce shall ye take him, and kill him. Joab fearing his life, fled unto, and caught hold on the horns of the altar, 1 King. 28. and among the Heathens, altars were places of refuge; The wild beast hath the Rock for a refuge; and servants the altars of God; saith Euripides in Supplic. to die] or, unto death: that is, to put him to death, as the Greek and Chaldee translate.

Vers. 15. his father, &c.] though he kill him not, yet he is to die for it: as by comparison with the 12. verse appeareth. So the Hebrew Doctors also expound it, but with limitation: for they teach, if a child smite father or mother, and leave no print of the stripe on the flesh, he is to be punished, but not with death: if he leave an impression (or skarre) or that which is equivalent, as when he smiteth his father on the ear, and maketh him deaf; such a one is to be put to death, as Maimonides showeth, it treat. of Rebels, chap. 5. Sect. 5. 6.

Vers. 16. a man] any of the sons of Israel, saith the Greek translation: and also the Chaldee paraphrase. And so doth Moses explain this Law, in Deut. 24. 7. a soul, (that is, man, woman, or child) of his brethren, of the sons of Israel.

Vers. 17. curseth] or, speaketh evil to, revileth; useth light, vile and reproachful speech: see Genesis 12. 3. put to die] the holy Ghost in Matth. 15. 4. (following the Greek version) translateth, let him be ended with death: that is, killed. This law is repeated in Levite. 20. 9. The Hebrew Doctors say, that if he curse them either alive or dead, he is to be stoned to death for it. But they restrain this to his next parents only: if he curse his grand-father, they teach, he is not to be stoned, but punished as for cursing anotherman. Maimonides treat, of Rebels, chap. 5. Sect. 1. 2.

Vers. 18. fist] so the Greek translateth, but the Chaldee is, a clod of earth. falleth] that is, lieth on, or keepeth his bed through infirmity.

Vers. 19. innocent] and so quit, and not punished as a murderer: though for the hurt, he is to satisfy, as after is shown. give his sitting] that is, pay for his sitting, or ceasing from labor, and loss of time. So the Greek translates, But he shall pay for his ceasing from labor, and for the charges of healing. Here also is to be understood, that if he have caused a blemish in his neighbor, he is also to pay for it, Levite. 24. 19. 20. And the Hebrew Doctors gather from Deut. 22. 29. that he must pay also for the smart or pain, and from Deuter. 25. 11. 12. that he must pay for the shame or dishonor, if any be. So they have set down in such cases five penalties: 1 for the hurt (or blemish;) 2 for the pain; 3 for the healing; 4 for the loss of time; 5 and for the shame (or dishonor:) of which some must pay all five, some four, some three, some two, someone, as the cases do fall out. Maimonides, treat. of Hurts and damages, chap. 1. and 2. healing he shall heal] that is, soundly and thoroughly heal: meaning by his charges, as the Greek showeth; and as the Chaldee translateth, he shall pay the hire of the Surgeon. Wherefore in the Jews canons it is set down; If he that did the hurt say, myself will heal thee; or, I have a Surgeon that will heal for <math>\phi</math> thing, they shall not yield unto him; but he must bring an approved Surgeon, and heal him for reward. If the patient transgress against the words of the Surgeon, and so make his own sickness (or sore) more heavy; the other is not bound to heal him. Maimonides, treat. of Hurts, chap. 2. Sect. 18. 20. Moreover they say; There are blows wherein is contempt, and a little pain, but as hurt: for such the Magistrates appointed mulcts or forfeits. As, he that kicked his neighbor with his foot, paid five shekels: he that smote him with his thigh, paid three shekels: he that bent his fist and smote him, paid thirteen shekels: if he smote him with the palm of his hand, one shekel. If he wrung him by the ear, or plucked off his hair, or did spit upon him, he paid an hundred shekels. And thus he paid for every time he did it; as if he kicked him four times one after another, he paid twenty shekels; and so for the rest. He that affrighteth his neighbor, although he fall sick through fear, he is free from the judgment of men, but guilty of the judgment of God; to wit, if he touch not his neighbor, but maketh a noise behind him, or appeareth in a dark place or the lake, S 〈...〉 he make a noise in his ear, and make him deaf; he is free from the judgment of man, but guilty of the judgment of God. But if he smite him ou•h 〈...〉, and make him deaf, or touch him, or thrust him, when he affrighteth him, or take hold on his garments, or the like, he is to pay for it. Maimonides treat. of Hurts, chap. 3. Sect. 8. 9. and chap. 2. Sect. 7.

Vers. 20. man servant] his slave, which after in verse 21. is called his money: but with Hebrew servants he might not thus deal, Levite. 25. 39. 40. nor with another man's servant. a rod] or staff, such as is meet to give correction with: wherefore the Hebrews gather, that if he smite him with a sword, dagger, stone, or the like, he hath not the privilege of this law; but if the servant die of the blow, though a year after, he must be killed for him. Maimonides, treat. of Murder, chap. 2. S. 14. under his hand] whiles he is in beating: as the verse following manifesteth. avenging] Greek, with vengeance: that is, he shall surely be avenged, or punished with death. The Chaldee translath, judged. This is meant, by the Magistrate, who is the Avenger under God, Rom. 13. 4.

Vers. 21. continue,] Hebr. stand, which the Greek translath live. a day,] a large day of four and twenty hours; which is as much as two other days which have each but twelve hours, John 11. 9. Thus the Jew Doctors explain it: if he continue four and twenty hours, and afterward die, he is not killed for him; though he die upon the beating, &c. and what is that, A DAY OR TWO DAIES? a day which is as two days, which is from time to time: (till that time again.) Maimonides, treat of Murder, chap. 2. sect. 12. his money] Hebr. his silver: meaning, bought with his money, and so his own. But he that smiteth a servant which is not his own, though he die not till after many days; yet shall he be put to death for him, as for any other free man, saith Maimonides, in treat. of Murder, chap. 2. Sect. 13.

Vers. 22. births] or child, as the Greek translath. no mischief] to the woman or child: the Chaldee expounds it, no death: but it implieth less also than death, as the words following manifest. The Greek refers it to the child; translating, if it be not figured, that is, have not the shape and proportion. punished] or, amearsed, mulcted, to pay a sum of money, as this word is explained in Deut. 22. 19. And this mulct must be paid to the husband for the child-birth: and (as the Hebrews gather from the former laws) satisfaction must be given beside, to the woman for the damage and for the pain. Maimonides treat. of Hurts, chap. 4. Sect. 〈◇〉. by the Judges] as the Chaldee saith, by the sentence of the Judges: the Greek translath it, with authority (or dignity.)

Vers. 23. thou give] speaking to the offender; wherefore the Greek changeth person, he shall give, as it was in verse 22. Othiers refer it to the Judge; thou (Judge) shalt give by thy sentence. soul] that is, life.

Vers. 25. stripe] or wail; the print or mark of the blow in the flesh. And all these (except life for life,) ⟨◇⟩ Hebrew Doctors say, may be redeemed by money; which they gather from Numb. 35. 31. he shall take no ransom for the life of a murderer: so that other maimes or hurts, are not forbidden to be satisfied for: and in respect of satisfaction, it is said (in Deut. 19. 21.) thi'e eye shall not pity, &c. Maimonides, in treat. of Hurts, chap. 1. Sect. 3. 4. Herein their opinion seemeth better than that of the Sadducees, which insisted upon the letter of the Law, to have limme for limme, and stripe for stripe, without redemption. Our Savior more fully openeth his Fathers Law; for although the Magistrates must execute being called upon; yet the plaintifes are taught meekness and moderation, and not to avenge themselves, nor to resist the evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on the right cheek, turn to him the other also, Matth. 5. 38. 39.

Vers. 26. his man servant] or, his bond-man, of the heathen, not an Hebrew, of whom he spake before, verse 2. Also his own, not another man's servant. corrupt it] that is, perish it; and as the Greek translath, make it blind. send him away] dismiss him free, from slavery; without any other satisfaction, which he must make to all other. The Hebrew canons explain it thus: He that hurteth a Canaanitish servant of his own, is discharged, (from making satisfaction.) he that hurteth an Hebrew servant of his own, is bound to make satisfaction for all (the five things before mentioned upon verse 19.) save for his loss of time. He that hurteth a Canaanitish servant of his neighbors, the master of the servant is to have all those five things mentioned, &c. He that smiteth his own Canaanitish servant purposely, and bereaveth him of one of his limbs, which cannot be restored, must let him go out free, and must give him a bill of dismissal. None go out free for loss of limme, but servants which are circumcised and baptized, &c. the servant which is yet in his paganism, goeth not out for loss of limme. When he smites his servant on the eye, and somewhat decaieth the sight of it: on the tooth, and looseneth it: if he can still use the service of them, he goeth not out free; if not, he is to go out free. If the servant had a dim eye, or a loose tooth and the master makes the eye blind, or the tooth fall out: if he had use of his eye or tooth to do service with, then he is to go out free, otherwise not. If he smite out his servants tooth; or make his eye blind against his will, as when he throweth a stone at a beast, and hitteth his servant, &c. the servant is not to go out free therefore. These and the like limitations are shown by Maimonides in treat. of Hurts, chap. 4. Sect. 10. and treat. of Servants, chap. 5. Sect. 4. 5. 8. 9. 11.

V. 27. for his tooth] and so by proportion for other parts, as an ear, a finger, or the like: yea if he strike him on the ear, and he become deaf thereby, or the like, he is to go out free for the same, saith Maimonides, treat. of Servants, chap. 5. Sect. 7.

Ver. 28. an ox] or, bull: and by proportion any other beast, that hurteth by pushing with the horn, kicking, biting, or any other way. Every living creature which is in the power of man, if it shall damnifie, the owners are bound to pay for it, because their goods have done the damage. The Scripture speaketh not of the •xe but for an instance, saith Maimonides, in Nizke Mammon, (or treat. of Dammages,) c. 1. Sect. 1. not be eaten] for detestation: God requiring man's blood at the hand even of beasts: as Gen. 9. 5. But how should it be eaten after it was stoned? This law teacheth, that when sentence is past upon it to be stoned, it is forbidden, and is made as an unclean beast. So that if any before hand kill it after the lawful manner of killing beasts, it is unlawful for any use, or for the flesh thereof to be eaten. And so after it is stoned, it may not be sold, nor given to dogs, nor to infidels, &c. saith, Maimonides, treat. of Forbidden meats, chap. 4. Sect. 22. innocent] unpunished: as verse 19.

Vers. 29. in time past] Hebr. from yesterday, and the third day. So in verse 36. to his owner] and that before the Magistrate; as the Hebrew Doctors say, there is no testification but before the owners, and before the Synedrion (or Court.) Maimonides, treat. of Damgages, chap. 6. Sect. 2.

Vers. 30. of his soul] that is, of his life. But how much? For servants the sum is set, verse 32. for others, as the Judges shall value the slain. And the ransom is to be given unto the heirs of him that is slain. Maimonides, in Damgages. chap. 11. Sect. 1. 2.

Vers. 31. a son] the Chaldee addeth a son of Israel, or a daughter of Israel.

Vers. 32. thirty shekels] or, shillings; in Greek didrachmes: see the notes on Genes. 20. 16. This price is here set both for men and maid-servants, and as the Jews explain it, both for great and small, whether the servant were worth an hundred pounds, or not worth one, &c. Maimonides, ibid. This thirty shekels was the goodly price, that our Lord Christ was valued at, or the vile Jews, Zechariah 11. 12. 13. Matthew 26. 15.

Vers. 33. or an asse] or any other beast, cattle, or fowl; the ox and the asse is named but for an instance. But vessels (or instruments) that fall into a pit and are broken, the owner of the pit is not bound to pay for them. The law is, if an ox fall, he saith not if a man: or an asse he saith not a vessel. Although an ox with his instruments fall in, and the ox die, and the instruments be broken: the owner of the pit is bound to pay for the beast, but not for the instruments. Maimonides, treat. of Damgages, chap. 12. Sect. 1. and chap. 13. Sect. 1. fall] that is, die there; as the words following manifest. Therefore the Hebrew canons set down a scantling, how much is enough to kill a beast; if the pit or ditch be ten hand breadths (that is, two foot and a half) deep. If it be any less, though an ox or any beast fall into it and die, the owner of the pit (they say) is not bound to pay for it. Maimonides, in the same book, chap. 12. Sect. 10.

Vers. 34. owner] or master: that is, the doer or occasioner of the doing thereof; in whom the fault lieth.

Verse 35. ox] or any other beast of his: as before is noted his neighbors ox] This the Hebrew Doctors take strictly: and say, If an Israelites ox push an ox sanctified (unto God;) or an ox that is sanctified do push an Israelites ox, he is not bound to <...> y, (by th <...> ) for it is said, HIS NEIGHBOURS OXE. Maimonides, in Damgages, chap. 8. Sect. 1. the dead] the Chaldee paraphraseth, the price of the dead also.

Vers. 36. be known] or, as the Greek translath, be made known: that is testified to the owner, as <⊙> 29.

CHAP. XXII.

1, Of theft. 5, Of damage by beasts, or fire. 7, Of trespasses, in things delivered to be kept. 14, Of hurting a thing borrowed. 16, Of enticing a maid to fo <...> cation. 18, Of witchcraft. 19,

Of bestiality. 10, Of idolatry. 21, Of vexing strangers, widows, and fatherless. 25, Of usury. 26, Of pledoes. 28, Of reverence to Magistrates. 29, Of the first fruits. 31, Of eating torn flesh.

WHen a man shall steal an ox, or a sheep, and kill it, or sell it, he shall pay five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep. If a thief be found in the digging thorough, and he be smitten and die, no bloods (shall be shed) for him. If the Sun be risen upon him, bloods (shall be shed) for him: paying he shall pay; if he have not, then he shall be sold for his theft. If the theft by finding be found in his hand, whether ox, or asse, or sheep, alive, he shall pay double. When a man shall cause a field or vineyard to be fed upon, and shall see 〈...〉 in his beast, and shall feed in another's field; of the best of his own field, and the best of his vineyard shall he pay. When fire shall go forth, and find thorns, and a stacke of corn, or the standing corn, or a field be consumed; he that kindled the fire shall paying pay. When a man shall give unto his neighbor money or stuff to keep, and it be stolen out of the man's house, if the thief be found, he shall pay double. If the thief be not found, then the master of the house shall be brought unto the gods, if he have not put forth his hand unto his neighbors goods. For every matter of trespass, for ox, for asse, for sheep, for raiment, for every loss, which he shall say, that this is he; the matter of them both shall come unto the gods: whom the gods shall condemn, he shall pay double unto his neighbor. When a man shall give unto his neighbor, asse, or ox, or sheep, or any beast to keep, and it die, or be broken, or driven away, none seeing it: An oath of Jehovah shall be between them both, if he have not put forth his hand unto his neighbors goods: and the owner of it shall accept it, and he shall not pay. And if it be stolen by stealth from him, he shall pay unto the owner thereof. If it be torn in pieces, let him bring it for witness: that which is torn, he shall not pay. And when a man shall borrow ought of his neighbor, and it be broken, or die, the owner thereof being not with it, paying he shall pay. If the owner thereof be with it, he shall not pay: if it be an hired thing, it came for his hire. And when a man shall entice a maid that is not betrothed, and lie with her, endowing he shall endow her to himself to wife. If her father refusing shall refuse to give her unto him, he shall weigh the money, according to the dowry of virgins. Thou shalt not suffer a witch to live. Whosoever lieth with a beast, he shall be put to die the death. He that sacrificeth to the gods, shall be utterly destroyed, except unto Jehovah, even to him only. And a stranger thou shalt not vex, neither shalt thou oppress him: for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt. Ye shall not afflict any widow or fatherless child. If afflicting thou shalt afflict him, surely if crying he shall cry unto me, hearing I will hear his cry. And my anger shall wax hot, and I will kill you with the sword: and your wives shall be widows, and your sons fatherless. If thou lend money to my people, to the poor man with thee, thou shalt not be to him as an exacting cred 〈...〉 : ye shall not lay upon him biting usury. If for a pledge thou take to pledge thy neighbors raiment, thou shalt return it unto him before the Sun goeth down. For that is his covering, that only; that is his raiment for his skin: wherein shall he sleep? And it shall be, when he crieth unto me, then I will hear, for I am gracious. Thou shalt not revile the gods, & the ruler of thy people thou shalt not curse. Thy full-ripe fruit and thy liquor thou shalt not delay: the first-borne of thy sons shalt thou give unto me. So shalt thou do with thine ox, and with thy sheep: seven days it shall be with his mother; in the eighth day thou shalt give it unto me. And ye shall be unto me men of holiness: and ye shall not eat flesh torn in the field; ye shall cast it to the dog.

Annotations.

A Sheep] or a lamb; a young sheep, or young goat: for the Hebrew word comprehendeth both, Exod. 12. 3. Deut. 14. 4. five oxen] or, five of the herd, for an ox; and four of the flock for a sheep: the Hebrew differeth in word, but the Greek version keepeth the same words here, that were before. This Law was, if the ox were killed or sold: but if it were found in his hand alive, he paid but two for one, v. 4. neither was it for any other theft, than of the ox and sheep: for all other, the thief paid but the double: as the Hebrew canons plainly express, Maimonides, treat. of Theft, chap. 1. Sect. 6. But these, because of the profit, use, and service which the owners might have of them, (and in particular, for sacrifices to God, which might not be with any other beasts) were to be paid five and fourfold: And as the theft was bolder, and the loss greater of an ox, than of a sheep; so the punishment was more.

Vers. 2. in the digging through] that is, digging (or breaking) through an house; as, Matthew 24. 43. or, in the hole digged; and so entering by the breach. By this the Hebrews understand all other indirect ways, by which the thief may enter, but this is specified, because it is the way of most thieves, to enter by digging through in the night. Maimonides, treat. of Theft, chap. 9. sect. 8. no bloods for him] that is, none shall be put to death for killing that thief. Or it may be read thus, no bloods (shall be) to him, meaning to the killer of the thief, he shall not have murder imputed to him, so the phrase is used in Numbers 35. 27. The Hebrew Doctors explain it thus; If the master of the house, or any other man kill him, they are guiltless: yea it is free for any to kill him, either on the working day, or on the Sabbath day, with any death that they can put him to, &c. And wherefore doth the Law permit this? Because it is the manner of such, that if the masier of the house should withstand, and hinder them, they will kill him. And it is found, that he which comes into his neighbors house to steal, is as he that pursueth his neighbor to kill him. Such a one therefore may be killed, be he great or small, man or woman. Maimonides, treat. of Theft, chap. 9. Sect. 7. 9.

Vers. 3. risen upon him] if it be clear day when the thief breaketh in, who so killeth him, his blood shall be shed therefore. For the Sun, the Chaldee paraphrast translath, the eye of witnesses. But Maimonides (in the foresaid place, Sect. 10.) giveth this sense; If the matter be clear to the master of the house, that this thief will not kill him, and that he cometh not but to steal goods, it is unlawful to kill him: and if he kill him, he is a man slayer, as it is written, IF THE SVN BE RISEN UPON HIM; if the thing be clear as the Sun unto thee, that he is at peace with thee, thou shalt not kill him, he] the thief, shall surely pay: therefore kill him not. But the Greek version referreth it to the slayer, that he shall pay, that is, be put to death for him. he shall be sold] for a servant by the Magistrate: see Exodus 21. 2. &c. And in the Jewish canons it is explained thus: If he have nothing, neither moveable goods nor immovable, the Judges do sell him, and give his price for the damage. And they sell him not but to an Israelite, or proselyte. He is not to be sold publicly, &c. as slaves are sold, (as it is written, Leviticus 25. 42. They shall not be sold with the sale of a bond-man,) but privately, and by way of honor, Maimonides, treat. of Theft, c. 3. S. 11. and treat. of Servants, chap. 1. Sect. 3. 5. for his thief] for the principal, ot thing stolen: *and no thief is sold, save for the principal: but the double, or paying of four or five for one, he *s not to be sold for* them; but they are at a debt upon him; till he be rich. If the principal which is stolen, be worth 100. Crowns, and the theest be worth but 50. he is to be sold, and the rest of the principal, with the dumble, remain upon him for a debt, until he go out (offer <...> ) in the seventh year, and when he is able, he <...> st pay it. If the thief be worth 100. Crowns and <Ⓛ> he may not be sold; as it is written, FOR HIS THEFT; so that his whole price must be spent in his theft Maim. treat. of Theft, chap. 3. Sect. 12. 14.

Vers. 4. finding be found] that is, be certainly and wholly found: the Greek translath, be taken and found. whether, Ox, &c.] Hebr. from ox unto asse, unto lamb. he shall pay double;] that is, shall restore that which was stolen, and another as good. Here the Hebrew Doctors have their exceptions, for women, children, and servants. If a man's wife (steal) and she hath not to pay, the double shall lie upon her as a debt, till she be divorced, or her husband die, then the Judges shall exact it of her. A child that stealeth, is free from paying the double, &c. and if the thing be lost, he is not bound to pay the principal, no not after he is grown in age. A servant that stealeth is free from paying the double, his master is free also: for no man is bound to pay his servants damages, &c. but when the servant hath his freedom, he is bound to pay the double. It is meet that the Judges beat the children for stealing, that they grow not into a custom of it; and so for other damages that they do: likewise they are to beat servants thoroughly for stealing, &c. Maimonides, treat. of Theft, chap. 1. Sect. 7. 8. &c.

Vers. 5. or vineyard] and so by proportion any other thing; as garden, or the like. [unspec 5]

Vers. 6. find] that is, catch hold on thorns; or on any other fuel, as straw, ferne, &c. So in the examples following, two or three things are named instead of all other. And not such things only, but if the fire break forth and hurt a man, he that kindled it, must pay for his hurt, and for his resting from his labor, and for his healing, and for his pain, and for his dishonor; (the five things forementioned on Exod. 21. 19.) even as if he had hurt him with his hand: as Maimonides showeth in treat of Dammages, chap. 14. Sect. 15. that kindled] or, that set on fire the fire: that burned the burning. The Hebrew Doctors explain this Law thus: One brings fire, and another after brings wood; he that brings the wood, is bound to pay. One brings wood, and then another brings fire; now he that brings the fire is bound to pay. If one come and make the flame, then he is bound to pay, &c. Maimonides, treat. of Dammages, chap. 14. Sect. 7. paying pay] that is, surely and fully pay, for the damage. If in the stacke (or floor) of corn, there be laid up such instruments as husbandmen are wont to use, and lay up about the threshing or treading out of the corn, they also must be all paid for. But if there be garments, plate, glasses, or the like, laid up there; he is not bound to pay for such things. He that causeth his neighbors house to be burned, is to pay for all that is within the same; for it is the manner of men, to lay up their goods, vessels, &c. within their houses, Maimonides, ibid. Sect. 8.

Vers. 7. money or stuff] Hebr. silver or vessels, (instruments:) or any beast, as the 9. verse after showeth. to keep] of trust; and for no reward, but of friendship.

Vers. 8. the gods] that is, as the Chaldee expresseth, the Judges: see Exod. 21. 6. The Greek here translath, before God. if he have] understand, to see if he have not; meaning that the Judges may find it out by oath; as is expressed in verse. 11. So the Greek translath, and he shall swear, that in very deed he hath not dealt evil. The putting forth the hand unto the thing, the Hebrew Doctors understand, not only for stealth or conveying away, but also for the use or service of the thing; which when the keeper doth, if it be afterward stolen, lost, or any way miscarry, the keeper is to pay for it. R. Ios. Karro in Chosen hamishphat, treat. Pikkadon, c. 2. S. 1. goods] Heb. work, that is, anything gotten wherein ones work or labor is employed; as in Gen. 33. 14. The Greek translatheth it, the thing committed unto him, (which word Paul useth in 1 Tim. 6. 20. 2 Tim. 1. 14.) also the Chaldee saith, that which his neighbor delivered him. So after in verse 11.

Vers. 9. matter of trespass] or, word of trespass] that is, any injury spoken or complained of: which may be other ways than by putting to his hand fore-mentioned: as, if he kept it not in a meet place, &c. The Hebrew canons say, Some things are usually kept in out-houses or yards, as timber, stones, &c. some in houses, as garments, &c. some locked up in coffers, as money, jewels, &c. If a keeper leave a thing committed unto him, in a place unmeet, though it be stolen, lost, burnt, or the like; he is to pay for it. Also, when he that committed to his neighbor anything to keep, demandeth the thing again; if the keeper of it say, I know not where I laid it, give me respite till I seek and find it, and I will restore it unto you; loe this man is a trespasser, and is bound to make satisfaction out of hand. These and other like, are matters of trespass, as Maimonides showeth in treat. of Borrowing, and committing a thing to keep, chap. 4. loss, that is, lost thing. which he] that is, which the plaintiff shall charge, or challenge. is he] is the man that had it: or, this is it, the thing which I challenge. the gods] the Judges, as the Chaldee translatheth. But the Greek saith, the judgment of them both shall come before God, and he that is taken by God, shall pay. condemn] Heb. make (or pronounce) wicked: which in such cases, usually signifieth to condemn as guilty: as on the contrary, to make just (or justify), is to acquit or absolve in judgment, Deuteronomy 25. 1. Proverb. 17. 15. The Hebrews expound it thus: A thief against whom two sufficient witnesses do testify that he stole, is bound to pay the double. A thief that confesseth of himself that he stole, must pay the principal, but is free from the double: so it is said, whom the gods shall condemn, he shall pay the double, not he that condemns himself, Maimonides, treat. of Theft, chap. 1. Sect. 4. 5.

Vers. 10. to keep] not for nothing, as in the former case, verse 7. but for hire, as Jacob had Laban's flock to keep, Gen. 30. 31.—36. and 31. 39. The Hebrew Doctors say, There are four keepers spoken of in the Law, and three laws are for them. The fourkeepers are, he that keepeth for nothing, and he that borroweth, and he that taketh wages (for keeping) and he that hireth a thing. The three  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  for them are these: He that keepeth for naught, if the thing be stolen from him, or lost, or die, &c. must be sworn that he hath kept it as the manner of keepers is to do, so he is free, Exodus 22. 7 8. The borrower payeth for all, whether the thing borrowed be lost, or stolen, or die, &c. Exodus 22. 14. The receiver of wages, and the hirer, there is one law for them both: that if the thing be lost or stolen they pay for it. Exodus 22. 12. if it die, or by any the like violence be for done; they must be sworn that so it was, and they are free, Exod. 22. 10, 11. Maimonides, in Misneh, treat. of Hired things, chap. 1. Sect. 1. 2. broken] hurt, or maimed, &c. under these things specified all other violent accidents are implied; as loss by shipwreck, and the like.

Vers. 11. oath of Jehovah] that is, whereby the Lord is taken to witness: because there was no man that saw and could testify, verse 10. If there be witnesses, he is not to pay, not to swear:

as Maimonides showeth in the foresaid treat. c. 3. S. 1. accept it] the Chaldee saith, shall take the oath, that is, accept of it, and so end the controversy, as Heb. 6. 16. he] that is, the keeper shall not pay for it. Also the Hebrew Doctors say, If the keeper deliver (the goods) to a second keeper, and there be witnesses that the second kept them as the manner of keepers is to do, and that some such violent accident did befall, the first keeper was free. But if there be not witnesses, the first keeper is bound to pay the owner, and go to law him-self with the second keeper: yea though the first were a keeper for nothing. Maimonides, treat. of Hired things, chap. 1. Sect. 4.

Vers. 13. torn in pieces] Hebr. tearing torn: to wit, by wild beasts, as the Greek version manifesteth. bring it] that which is torn, or the remnants of it, as in Amos 3. 12. is mentioned a leg, or an ear, or the like. So the Yerushalmi Targum saith, let him bring of the members of it, for a witness that it is killed. not pay] understanding, if the keeper do his best to rescue it: and so it be not lost but by violence. Touching this, the Rabbin's say, A shepherd when wolves come and take a prey from him, if there be but one wolf, it is not (counted) violence; if there be two wolves, that is violence. If two dogs come, it is not violence, if moe, then it is. A lion, a bear, a leopard, a serpent, &c. every of these is (counted) violence; but if he lead the flock to the place where wild beasts or robbers haunt, it is not violence, but he is bound to pay. A shepherd that hath means to rescue the prey by other shepherds, and by slaves; if he call not the other shepherds, nor bring staves to rescue with, he is bound to pay, whether he keep for nothing, or for wages, save that he which keeketh for no hire calleth shepherds, and bringeth staves without hire; if he find none such he is discharged. But he that keepeth for hire is bound to hire shepherds and staves to the worth of the beast, and rescue the same, and receives the hire again of the householder. If he do not thus, and may hire, but do not, he dealeth unfaithfully, and is guilty. Maimonides, treatise of Hired things, chapter 3. Section 4. 6.

Vers. 14. borrow] Hebr. ask, and consequently, receive a thing lent. This law concerneth all moveable goods, beasts, household stuff, and the like or die] or perish any other way; therefore the Greek addeth, or be driven away: as was in verse 10. The Hebrews explain this law thus: He that borroweth of his neighbor stuff, or beast, or any like moveable goods, and it be lost, or stolen though with great violence, as if the beast be hurt, or taken away by force, or die, he is bound to pay all, Exodus 22. 14. To wit, if such violent accident do befall it, and not in the time of the work. But if he borrow a beast to plough with, and it die whiles he is ploughing, then he is free. But if it die before he plougheth with it, or after; or if he ride upon it, or tread out corn with it, and it die in the time whiles he is riding on it, &c. he is bound to pay for it, and so in all like cases. As, he that borroweth a beast, to go to such a place, and it die under him in the journey: or borroweth an axe to cut wood, and it breaketh in, and by the cutting thereof; now the borrower is free. Maimonides, treat of Borrowing, and Committing a thing to keep, chap. 1. Sect. 1. 2. paying] that is, he shall surely and fully pay. The manner whereof was this; they weighted what it was worth when it was well and whole, and what it was worth when it was broken; and the broken thing was restored, and what was less, he paid; and so the beasts carcass was restored, and what it came short was made good. Maimonides ibidem, chapter 1. Section 3. Unto these they add other cautions; as, He that borrows a beast, is bound to give him food, all the while he hath borrowed him, If his flesh be abated, he must pay for so much as he is less in worth. But if his flesh be abated by reason of the work, he is free; and must take his oath, that he is waxed lean by working. He that borroweth ought absolutely, the lender may make him restore it at any time when he will: if he borrowed it for a certain time, the lender cannot make him restore it, till the end of that time; and though the borrower die, yet his heirs may use the borrowed thing, till the time be at an end. He that borroweth a thing to do a certain work with, the lender cannot make him deliver it out of his hand, til the work be finished. Maimonides ib. c. 1. S. 4. 5 6.

Vers. 15. be with it] This the Hebrews understand, of his being with it, in the time when it is borrowed, not in the time when it is used: for they say; We have been taught, that whereas it is said, if the owner thereof be with it, the meaning is, if he be with it in the time of borrowing it, &c. and there is no need that he be with it in the time when it is broken, or dieth. If he be not wth it in the time whē it is borrowed, though he be with it in the time when it is broken, or dieth, (the borrower) is bound to pay for it. Ra•bam (or Maimonides) in his comment on Talmud Bab. in Baba metsignah, chap. 8. it came] the Gr. translatheth, it shall be to him (or his) for his hire. And so though the thing miscarry, he payeth but the hire only.

Vers. 16. entice] or persuade, so that she consent unto the encicer. And herein this differeth from the Law in Deuteronomy 22. 28. 29. which was for such as consented not. The Hebrews say; She that is lien with in the field, it is certainly presumed that she was forced; unless witness testify that ⋄⋄⋄⋄ with in the city it is presumed ⋄ she was ⋄ because she ⋄ ; unless witness▪ ⋄ that ⋄⋄ ; ⋄ that the man dr•w a ⋄ and saith ⋄⋄ , if thou cry out I will kill her, Maimonides in Nagharah be ⋄... , chap. 1. Sect. •• not betrothed] for to lie with a betrothed maid was death Deut. 22. 24. 25.

Vers. 17. weigh] that ⋄ pay money. The sum is shown in Deuteronomy 22. 29. to be fifty shekels of silver. The Hebrew Doctors say, this mulct was, not only if her father refused, but if the maid also, or if the inticer himself would not marie her, they compelled him not, but he gave the mulct, and went his way. If he married her, then he paid not this mulct, but gave her a writing, as other maids had. Maimonides in Nagyarah chap. 1. Sect. 3.

Vers. 18. a witch] or, sorceresse, whereof see the notes on Exodus 7. 11. He speaketh of the woman, because witchcraft is most in use among that kind: but implieth also the man-witch, or sorcerer (who is likewise named in Deuteronomy 18. 10.) Therefore the Greek translatheth it here plurally, Witches. The Hebrews observe, Whosoever is guilty of death, the Judges that do not put him to death, they break an affirmative precept, but transgress not against a prohibitive saving of the Witch; for if they put not him to death, they transgress a prohibition; as it is said, Thou shalt not suffer a Witch to live, Maimonides, in Sanhedrin, chap. 14. Sect. 3.

Vers. 19. put to die] Gr. ye shall kill him with death. Elsewhere it is commanded, that the beast be killed also, Leviticus 20. 15. 16. for this sin is Confusion, Lev. •8. 23.

Vers. 20. sacrificeth to the gods] that is, as the Chaldee expounds it, to the idols of the people's; and Moses explaineth it, either the Sun, or the Moon, or any of the host of heaven, &c. Deut. 17. 2. 3. And by sacrifice, he implieth also worship and service, as is expressed in Deuteronomy 17. 3. utterly destroyed] or, anathematized, that is, destroyed as execrable and cursed; be put to death without mercy, as the Hebrew Cherem implieth, and Paul useth such a phrase in Hebrews 10.

28. The Greek here translateth it, destroyed, the Chaldee by Onkelos, saith, killed; and the Targum called Jonathan's, addeth shall be killed with the sword, and his goods consumed: which interpretation he gathereth from the Law in Deuteronomy 13. 15. 16. 17. where the word Cherem is also used. But others gather from Deut. 17. 2. 5. that he was to be stoned, which is most agreeable. Howbeit this is to be understood of a witting and willing idolater, according to Numb. 25. 27. 30. and so the Hebrew canons say: Whosoever serveth idols willingly and presumptuously, he is guilty of cutting off, (to wit by the hand of God) and if there be witnesses that have seen him, he is stoned to death; and if he have served them ignorantly, he is to bring the  $\langle\phi\rangle$  offering appointed therefore, Maimonides, treat. of Idolatry, c. 2. S. 1. except  $\langle\phi\rangle$  understand, except he sacrifice unto Jehovah.

Vers. 21. vex] or, make a spoil and prey, Coppresse  $\langle\omega\rangle$  and violence; a word usually applied to the rich  $\langle\phi\rangle$  mighty, that vex and spoil the poor, fatherless, and stranger: whom God loveth, and commandeth us to love, even as ourselves, Deut. 10. 18. 19. Levite. 29. 33. 34. Zach. 7. 10. Ier. 22. 3. Ezek. 46. 18. In particular this word is used for vexing or oppressing in buying and selling, Leviticus 25. 14. 17. The Hebrew Doctors expound this here to mean vexing of the stranger with words of reproach; and the oppressing next spoken of, to be meant of his goods or riches. Maimonides in treat. of Merchandise, chap. 14. Sect. 15. Of this oppressing, see the notes on Levite. 25.

Vers. 23. afflicting afflict,] that is, in any measure, or any manner of way afflict. It seemeth also to be an imperfect speech, implying, I will afflict thee. See the like in Luke 13. 9. surely if or and if: so the Greek translateth it here and in 1 Sam. 2. 21. Also the Hebrew Ci, Surely (or For) and Vau, And, are put one for another, 2 Sam. 22. 28. with Psal. 18. 28. Esa. 39. 1. with 2 King 20. 12.

Vers. 25. money] Hebr. silver: by it is meant also gold, or brass, or meat, or raiment, or any other thing, as is explained, Levite. 25. 36. 37. Deut. 23. 19. And we are elsewhere commanded to lend, Deut. 15. 7. 8. Luke 6. 35. my people,] this putteth a difference between God's people, and strangers infidels, unto whom they might lend upon usury, Deut 23. 20. as an exacting creditor:] as a lender that is urgent to have his own again; or to have a pawn for the same: so the word is sundry times used in this sense, 2 King. 4. 1. Psalm 109. 11. Nehem. 5. 7. 10. 11. Deut. 24. 10. so the law elsewhere forbiddeth exacting of debts upon our poor brethren, Deut. 15. 2. 3. and so the Greek here translateth, thou shalt not be urgent upon him, Also the Hebrew Doctors gather from hence thus; who so exacteth (payment) of a poor man, and knoweth that he hath not ought to pay him with, he transgresseth against this prohibition, Thou shalt not be to him as an exacting creditor. Maimonides, treat of the Lender and borrower, chap. 1. Sect. 2. biting-usury;] usury is called biting, for that it biteth and consumeth a man and his substance: and is therefore here and elsewhere absolutely forbidden God's people, Deuteronomy 23. 19. Levite. 25. 35. 36. Proverbs 28. 8. Ezek. 18. 8. Of this the Jews have these canons set down by Maimonides, in his fore-named treatise, chapter 4. 5. and 6. Usury and increase are both one thing, Leviticus 25. 37. Deuteronomy 23. 19. And why is the name of it called [Neshek] biting usury? because it [Noshek] biteth; for it nippeth thy neighbor, and eateth his flesh. As it is unlawful to lend, so it is unlawful to borrow upon usury; for it is written (in Deuteronomy 23.

19.) Thou shalt not cause to bite, (that is, to lend upon biting usury:) by tradition we have been taught that this is an admonition to the borrower, &c. Likewise it is unlawful to have ought to do between the borrower and the lender upon usury: and whosoever is either surety or scribe, or witness between them, he transgresseth against this prohibition. Ye shall not lay upon him biting usury, (Ex. 22. 25.) this is an admonition to the witnesses also, and to the surety; & to the scribe. He that lends upon usury transgresseth against six prohibitions. Thou shalt not be to him as an exacting creditor, Ex. 22. 25. Thou shalt not give him thy money upon usury, Leviticus 25. 37. Thou shalt not give him thy victuals for increase, Leviticus 25. 37. Thou shalt not take usury of him or increase, Leviticus 25. 36. Ye shall not lay usury upon him, Exodus 22. 25. and, Thou shalt not put a stumbling block before the blind, Levite. 19. 14. And the borrower transgresseth against two; Thou shalt not cause to lend upon biting usury, Deut. 23. 19. and, Thou shalt not lay a stumbling block before the blind, Levite. 19. 14. The surety, witnesses, and such like transgress against this; Ye shall not lay usury upon him. Whosoever borroweth or lendeth upon usury, are like unto them that deny the name of the God of Israel, and deny the coming out of Egypt; as it is written, Thou shalt not give him thy money upon usury, &c. I am the Lord your God, which brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, &c. Levite. 25. 37. 38. It is unlawful to take usury before or after. As one intending to borrow of a man sends him a gift, to the end that he may lend unto him: this is usury afore hand. Or he hath borrowed of a man, and paid him again, and sends him a gift for his money which he had of him for naught: this is after usury. Whose borroweth of his neighbor, and was not wont in former time to salute him first; it is unlawful for him to salute him first, (& I need not say, to praise him;) for it is written, Usury of any Word (or Thing) Deut. 23. 19. though they be but words, they are unlawful. Likewise, it is unlawful for the borrower to learn his lender to read, &c. all the while his money is in his hand, if he were not wont to do it before; as it is said, Usury of anything. It is unlawful to let out money to hire, as they do other things, &c. He that lendeth to his neighbor, and conditioneth with him to dwell in his courtyard for naught until he pay him what he hath borrowed; or that hireth a thing of him for less then it is worth till he pay him, &c. this is usury. He that lends unto his neighbor may not retain his servant to do work for him, although the servant sit still and hath nothing to do. The Judges are to see the usury which the lender hath received to be restored back unto the borrower. A bill for usury; the principal may be required by it, but not the interest, &c.

Vers. 26. neighbors raiment] if he be a Poor [unspec] man, as the next verse manifesteth, and as is expressed in Deuter. 24. 12. 13. Neither may a pledge thus be taken of poor or rich, but by authority of the Magistrate, as the Hebrew Doctors teach: Maimonides in treat. of Lender and Borrower, chap. 3. Sect. 4. See more for this point in the annotations upon Deuteronomy 24. raiment] which he either weareth by day, or lieth in by night; and so by proportion all other things whereof he hath present use, as tools & instruments to work with, and such like, But things necessary for to feed the life, as the mill-stone which grindeth corn, or any the like, may not be taken to pawn, Deuteronomy 24. 6. before the Sun] or until the Sun goeth in, that is, setteth, or goeth down, meaning, by day. In Deuteronomy 24. 13. it is said, when the Sun goeth down. Hereupon the Hebrew canons say, When one takes a pledge of his neighbor, if he be a poor man, and his pledge be a thing that he hath need of, it is commanded that he restore the pledge at the time when he needeth it: he is to restore him his bedding at night, that he may sleep on it; and his working tools by day, that he may do his work with them. If he do not restore the instrument of the day by day, and the instrument of the night at night, he transgresseth against this prohibition, Thou shalt not sleep with his pledge, Deut. 24. 12. this is meant of his night covering. And of things which he doth his work with by day, or clotheth himself with, he saith, Before the Sun goeth down thou shalt return it him; teaching to restore it all the day. Maimonides, in the foresaid place, chap. 3. Sect. 5. The Hebrew word ad, (until) is in Greek translated, before, and a like signification it had in Gen 48. 5.

Vers. 27. his skin] the Greek translatheth it, his shame. when he crieth] or, that he will cry unto me, and I will hear. The Greek translatheth, if therefore he cry.

Vers. 28. revile] curse, banne, or blaspheme, (which word the holy Ghost useth in this case, 2 Pet. 2. 10.) that is, speak evil and dishonourably. See Gen. 12. 3. gods] that is, as the Chaldee translatheth, Judges: as Exod. 21. 6. the ruler of] Heb. ruler in; but it meaneth of thy people, as it is translated in Acts 23. 5. where it is applied to the high priest: but generally it is any prince or ruler, Numbers 7. 2. 3. 10. The Jew Doctors explain it thus: Whosoever revileth a Judge among the Judges of Israel, transgresseth this Law, Thou shalt not revile the gods. And so if he revile the Ruler, either the chief of the great Synedrion, or the King, he transgresseth this Law, Thou shalt not curse the ruler of thy people. Maimonides, in Sanhedrin, chap. 26. Sect. 1. And Solomon saith, Revile (or Curse) not the King, no not in thy thought, Eccles. 10. 20. curse] that is, speak evil, as is explained, Acts 23. 5.

Vers. 29. Thy full-ripe fruit] to wit, the first-fruits thereof, as is explained, Exod. 23. 19. so the Chaldee translatheth, Thy first fruits; and the Greek, The first fruits of thy floor. The Hebrew signifieth, fullness, or collection: meaning fruits when they are full or ripe and gathered. So in Numbers 18. 27. and Deuteronomy 22. 9. Of this the Hebrew canons say, They bring no first fruits but of seven things, viz. of wheat, and of barley, and of grapes, and of figs, and of pomgranats, and of olives, and of dates. And if one bring other besides these seven kinds, they are not sanctified. They bring no first fruits of liquors, save of olives and of grapes: if a man bring other liquors, they are not received of him. There is no measure of first-fruits set by the Law: but by the Doctors a man must separate one of sixty. Maimonides, in treat. of First-fruits, chap. 2. Sect. 2. 4. 17. This measure is to be understood of the least quantity which men might bring, as the greatest was the fortieth part: and men might bring what they would, between forty and sixty for their first-fruits; whereupon they elsewhere say; What measure did the wise men set? A good eye (that is, a bountiful person,) one of forty; and the meant eye, one of fifty; the evil eye, one of sixty: and none might give less, then one of sixty. Maimonides, in Trumoth, chap. 3. Sect. 2. liquor] Hebr. tear; that is, the first-fruits of wine and oil, which when they are pressed, drop as tears: so the Greek translatheth it, the first-fruits of thy wine-press. Of the manner of bringing these first fruits, see more in the annotations on Deut. 26. not delay] or, not fail, to bring and offer the same; see Deuter. 26. 1. 2. &c. Delaying, is often used for deferring a thing to the last, and so consequently, for failing and not doing it, Deuteronomy 7. 10. and 23. 21. Habakkuk 2. 3. though it also may imply a deferring longer than the due time. By this oblation of the first fruits they acknowledged their thankfulness to God, whose •enants they were in the land, Deuteronomy 26. 9. 10. Leviticus 25. 23. and the whole increase was hereby sanctified unto them, Rom. 11. 16. Also the first fruits figured God's Church, separated and sanctified unto him, from the rest of the world, Ier. 2. 3. James 1. 18. Rev. 14. 4. give unto me] by redeeming it for five shekels of silver, & giving them to the Lord's priest; Num. 18. 15. 16. Ex. 13. 13

Vers. 30. and with thy sheep] under which name, the goat also is comprehended, for the Hebrew implieth both, Levite. 1. 10. The Greek here addeth the word And, understood in the Hebrew; which sometime the holy▪ Text supplieth; as, by each man, by all thy people, 1 King. 8. 38. that is, and by all thy people, 2 Chronicles, 6. 29. So, fight not with small, with great, 2 Chro. 18. 30. that is, with small or with great, 1 King. 22. 31. the eighth day] and from that day forward, it was acceptable, both for first fruits, & for other sacrifices, Levite. 22. 27. And before the eighth day, the Hebr. Doctors say, it was not lawful to kill and eat any young beast, no not for common food. Maimonides, treat. of Forbidden Meats, chap. 4. Sect. 4. The reason hereof was, that in this time, the Sabbath day passed over it, for there is no seven without a Sabbath, saith R. Menachem upon this place. See the notes on Gen. 17. 12.

Vers. 31. men of holiness] or as the Greek and Chaldee translate, holy men: that is, separated from other men, as by inward virtue, so by outward abstinence from unclean meats; (of which some here follow) So Deuteronomy 14. 21. Levite. 11. 44. 45. not eat] This was a legal rite and figure of sanctification: and if any had unawares eaten of flesh torn, he was to wash his clothes, and bathe him-self in water, and be unclean until the evening, otherwise he should bear his iniquity, Levite. 17. 15. 16. torn in the field] that is, torn by wild beasts in the field, as the Gr. and Chaldee versions do explain. The like is for beasts that die alone, Levite. 17. 15. Of this the Hebrews say; The torn thing spoken of in the Law, is that which is torn by the wild beasts of the wood, as Lion, Leopard, and the like. And so the fowl which is torn by ravenous fowls, as Eagle or the like. Though it be a torn thing which is not dead, it is forbidden: as if a Wolf take a Kid by the leg, and some m•n followeth him, and takes it out of his mouth; it is forbidden (to be eaten) because it is torn. Although he first slay it before it dieth, yet it is forbidden as a torn thing, because it cannot live after that wound upon it. The Law forbiddeth that which is inclining to die, by reaso• of any hurt, though it be not yet dead; and it is 〈◊〉 thing. Neither putteth it any difference, whe 〈...〉 torn by beast or it fall from the top of an house, and 〈...〉 be broken; or it be shot through the heart with an arrow, or any the like, when it is i•clining to die, it is as a torn thing; whether the occasion be by the hand of flesh and blood, or by the hand of (God of) heaven. Likewise he that cutteth flesh off from any living clean beast: that is torn flesh, and who so eateth of it is beaten, as for eating torn flesh. Maimonides, in Forbidden meats, chap. 4. Sect. 6. &c.

CHAP. XXIII.

1, Of vain report and false witness. 2, Of following a multitude. 3. 6, Of justice. 4, Of charitableness to our enemies. 8, Of br•bes. 9, Of oppression. 10, Of the seventh year, the year of rest, 12, Of the Sabbath day. 13, Of not mentioning the names of other gods. 14, Of the three feasts in the year. 18. Of sacrificing with leaven. 20, An Angel is promised to go before them, with a blessing if they obey him. 23, Of casting out the heathens and their Idolatry. 25, God's blessings to them that serve him. 28. Of hornets that should drive out their enemies. 31, The bounds of Israel's land. 32, No covenant might be made with the heathens or their God's.

THou shalt not take up a vain report: [unspec] put not thy hand with the wicked, to be an unrighteous witness. Thou [unspec] shalt not be after many, to evil things: neither shalt thou answer in a controversy, to decline after many, to wrest (judgment.) And a poor man shalt thou not countenance in his controversy. When thou shalt meet thine enemies ox or his asse going astray, thou shalt returning return it unto him. When thou shalt see thine haters asse lying under his burden, and wouldest forbear to help him up, thou shalt helping help up with him. Thou shalt not wrest the judgment of thy poor in his controversy. From a word of falsehood thou shalt be far: and the innocent and just slay thou not; for I will not justify the wicked. And gift thou shalt take none; for the gift will blind the open-eyed, and will pervert the words of the just. And thou shalt not oppress a stranger: for ye know the soul of a stranger, because ye were strangers in the land of Egypt. And six years thou shalt sow thy land, and shalt gather in the revenue thereof. But the seventh thou shalt let it rest, and let it lie still, that the poor of thy people may eat; and what they leave, the beast of the field shall eat. So shalt thou do to thy vineyard, and to thy olive-yard. Six days thou shalt do thy works, and in the seventh day thou shalt cease, that thine ox and thine asse may rest, and the son of thy bondwoman, and the stranger may be refreshed. And in all that I have said unto you, ye shall be wary: and the name of other gods ye shall not mention; it shall not be heard out of thy mouth. Three times thou shalt keep a feast unto me in the year. The feast of unleavened cakes shalt thou keep: seven days shalt thou eat unleavened cakes, as I have commanded thee, at the appointed time of the month of Abib; for in it thou camest out from Egypt: and they shall not appear before me empty. And the feast of harvest, of the first-fruits of thy labors, which thou shalt sow in the field: and the feast of ingathering, in the going out of the year, when thou gatherest in thy labors out of the field. Three times in the year every male of thee shall appear before the face of the Lord Jehovah. Thou shalt not sacrifice the blood of my sacrifice with leavened bread, neither shall the fat of my feast remain until the morning. The first of the first-fruits of thy land thou shalt bring into the house of Jehovah thy God. Thou shalt not seeth a kid in his mothers milk. Behold, I do send an Angel before thee, to keep thee in thy way, and to bring thee unto the place which I have prepared. Beware thou because of him, and obey his voice; provoke him not: for he will not pardon your trespass, for my name is in him. But if obeying thou shalt obey his voice, and do all that I shall speak, then I will be enemy unto thine enemies, and I will distress thy distressers. For my Angel shall go before thee, and shall bring thee in unto the Amorite, and the Chethite, and the Pherizzite, and the Canaanite, the Evite and the Jebusite: and I will cut them off. Thou shalt not bow thyself down to their gods, nor serve them, nor do according to their works: but destroying thou shalt destroy them, and breaking shalt break down their pillars. And ye shall serve Jehovah your God, and he will bless thy bread, and thy water: and I will take away sickness from the midst of thee. There shall not be any casting their young, or barren in thy land: the number of thy days I will fulfill. My terror I will send before thee, and will dismay every people among whom thou shalt come, and will give all thy enemies (to turn) the neck unto thee. And I will send hornets before thee: and they shall drive out the Evite, the Canaanite, and the Chethite, from before thee. I will not drive them out from before thee in one year, lest the land be desolate, and the beast of the field multiply against thee. By little and little I will drive them out from before thee, until thou shalt fructify, and inherit the land. And I will set thy bound, from the red sea even unto the sea of the Philistines, and from the wilderness unto the river: for I will give into your hand the inhabitants of the land, and thou shalt drive them out from before thee. Thou shalt not strike a covenant with them, or with their gods. They shall not dwell in thy land, lest they make thee sin against me: if thou shalt serve their gods, surely it will be a snare unto thee.

Annotations.

NOt take up] that is, neither receive (as the Greek and Chaldee translate) it of others, nor speak of it unto others: as taking up, in Exod. 20. 7. is for speaking or using any way. Both these are unlawful, 1 Sam. 24. 10. Levite. 19. 16. a vain report] or, a false rumor: Hebrew, an hearing of vanity: which the Greek translath, vain hearing. Uanitie and falsity, are used one for another, as is shown on Exod. 20. 16. and the Chaldee here expoundeth it, falsehood. Hearing (or hearsay) is used for report, tale, or rumor; whether in matters of religion, as Isaiah 53. 1. Rom. 10. 16. or in civil affairs, 1 Sam. 2. 24. 1 King. 2. 28. 2 Chron. 9. 6. And that which one Evangelist calleth Acoee, Hearing, Mar. 1. 28. another nameth Echos, fame or rumor, Luke 4. 37. put not thy hand] the Greek translath consent not. unrighteous] so the Greek also is; the Chaldee saith, a false witness: the Heb. phrase is, a witness of unrighteousness, (or, of cruel wrong.) Of such David complained, Psalm. 35. 11. and the Law appointeth such punishment for them, as they intend against their neighbor, Deuternom. 19. 16. 19.

Vers. 2. after many] or, after the great men, that is, to follow and consent unto them in evil: the Gr. saith, with many. So in the sentence following. answer] that is, speak in a cause, (or plea) The Chaldee paraphraseth, neither shalt thou refrain from teaching that which thou seest (meet) in judgment. to wrest] or, to pervert, namely, judgment (as the Greek addeth, and) as is expressed in v. 6. The Chaldee saith, after the many, accomplish the judgment. So other Hebrews expound it, saying When the Judges are divided, some of them saying Guiltlesse, others saying Guiltie; they go after the most part. So as it be in money matters, and other cases of prohibition and permission, of pronouncing unclean or clean, and the like. But in cases of life and death, if they be divided, and the most part clear a man, he is cleared; and if the most condemn him, he is not killed, unless they that condemn him be moe than they that clear him by two men. Maimonides in Sanhedrin. chap. 8 sect. 1.

Vers. 3. not countenance] or, not honor, which the Greek and Chaldee translate, not pity in judgment. The like is spoken of the rich, in Leviticus 19. 15. Thou shalt not countenance the face of the great man. It teacheth to do right in all causes, without respect of poor or rich.

Vers. 4. asse] and so any other beast, or garment, or lost thing, as Moses after explaineth, Deut. 22. 1. 2. 3. God hereby teaching every man, not to look on his own things only, but also on the things of other men, Phil. 2. 4. and to love and do good unto his enemy, Luke 6. 27. returning return] that is, in any case return and restore him: if the owner be not near, or not known, it is to be kept till inquiry be made after it, Deut. 22. 2. Also the Hebrew Doctors say, Who so findeth a lost thing, which he is bound to restore, he is bound to cry the same, and to make it known and say, Who so hath lost such a kind of thing, let him come and give the signs of it, and he shall receive it, &c. Maimonides, in treat. of Robbery, and of loss, ch. 13. sect. 1.

Vers. 5. his burden] or, fallen by any other occasion; and this Law concerneth all other beasts, as well as the Ass: see Deut. 22. 4. and wouldest forbear to help him up] or, then thou shalt cease from forsaking him, that is, shalt cease and leave off all ill will, and look that thou forsake him not. The Greek translateth, thou shalt not pass by the same. helping helpeup] that is, in any wise help up. Or, thou shalt leaving leave (thy own business to be) with him. But the former translation seemeth most fit: for so the Greek version saith, thou shalt not pass by the same, but shalt raise up the same together with him. And so Moses repeating this Law explaineth it, in Deut. 22. 4. thou shalt raising raise up with him. Likewise this Hebrew word Azab, which commonly signifieth to Leave, or Forsake, hath (as some other words) a contrary signification; to Fortifie, repair, or help up with a thing, as Nehem. 3. 8. and 4. 2. The Chaldee joineth both senses thus; leaving thou shalt leave that which is in thy heart against him, and shalt help up with him.

Vers. 6. of thy poor] that is, thy poor neighbor: implying also the stranger, the fatherless and the widow: whose judgment they that wrest (or turn aside) are cursed, Deut. 27. 19.

Vers. 7. word of falsehood] that is, false word, or false matter. The Chaldee saith, idle words: the Greek every unjust word. From hence the Jews have a rule: A Judge that knoweth of his fellow, that he is a violent extortioner, or a wicked man, it is unlawful to be joined in society with him, as it is written, FROM A WORD OF FALSHOOD, THOU SHALT BE FARRE. And so they in Jerusalem that had a clear conscience were wont to do: they sate not in judgment, until they knew with whom they should sit, nor sealed any writing until they knew who should seal it with them, &c. Maimonides in Sanhedr. c. 22. sect. 10. not justify] but will condemn the wicked, though he be the Judge himself. See Rom. 2. 1. 2. 3. So, not to hold guiltless. Exod. 20. 7. meaneth, to damn and punish as guilty. This which is spoken of God: is also an example for us: therefore the Greek changeth the person, and saith; and thou shalt not justify the wicked, for gifts sake.

Vers. 8. gift] or bribe; for fire shall consume the Tabernacles of bribery, Job 15. 34. And the Jew Doctors explain it thus: Thou shalt take no gift, and I need not say, for to pervert judgment: but although it be to acquit the innocent, or to condemn the guilty, it is unlawful, and a transgression: for loe it is a general rule, Cursed is he that taketh a gift. And he is bound to restore again the gift, &c. And whatsoever Judge taketh his reward for judging, his judgments are frustrate. Maimonides in Sanhedrin, ch. 23. sect. 1. 5. take none] neither give any, Act. 24. 27. So also the Hebrew Doctors teach from that Law, Thou shalt not put a stumbling block before the blind, Levite. 19. 14. Moreover they say, Whatsoever Judge giveth a bribe, to get an office, it is unlawful to stand before him (in judgment.) And our wisemen have commanded to set him at naught, and to despise him, Maimonides in Sanhedrin, ch. 3. S. 9. open-eyed] the Greek translateth, the eyes of those that see: and the Chaldee, the eyes of the wise; which words Moses also useth, in Deut. 16. 19. And Solomon saith, a gift destroyeth the heart, Eccles. 7. 7. but he that hateth gifts shall live, Prov. 15. 27. will pervert] example in Samuel's sons, who took bribes, and perverted judgment, 1 Sam. 8. 3. For a gift, whithersoever it turneth, it prospereth, Prov. 17. 8. and every man is a friend to him that giveth gifts, Prov. 19. 6. Such therefore as receive them are counted wicked and companions of thieves, Proverbs 17. 23. Isaiah 1. 23.

Vers. 9. the soul] that is, the affection or heart. See the like precept in Exod. 22. 21. Deut. 10. 19.

Vers. 10. thy land] the land of Canaan, which God would give to Israel, Levite. 25. 2. Neither did the Jews hold themselves bound to keep this Law in other countries, Maimonides treat. of Intermission and Jubilee, ch. 4. S. 25.

Vers. 11. the seventh] every seventh year: which was to be a Sabbath year; as every seventh day was a Sabbath day: therefore repeating this Law, he calleth it a Sabbath of sabbatism (or of rest) to the land, a Sabbath to Jehovah, Levite. 25. 4. As the Sabbath day signified that they themselves were the Lord's, and therefore they ceased from their own works, to do the Lord's: so the Sabbath year was to signify, that both they and their land was the Lord's, Levite. 25. 23. let it rest] or, intermit it, let it be free from manuring: as the Gr. translateth, make a remission. They might neither sow their fields, nor prune their vineyards, nor reap the corn, nor gather the vintage, &c. Lev. 25. 4. 5. The Hebrew canons explain it thus, that they might neither dig nor plough the ground, nor gather out the stones, nor dung it; neither graff nor plant any trees save such as bare no fruit; nor cut off the knobs of trees, nor brush off the leaves, or withered boughs, nor bind up the branches, nor make a smoke to kill: he wermes, nor any the like thing pertaining to husbandry. Maimonides, treat. of the Intermission and Jubilee, ch. 1. If any said, What shall we eat the seventh year? behold, we may not sewe nor gather in our revenue. The Lord promised, I will command my blessing upon you in the sixth year, and it shall bring forth fruit for three years, Levite. 25. 20. 21. God would by this Sabbath year, call his people from worldly <...> es, to depend upon his providence in faith, M <...> . 6. 31. 1 Cor. 7. 29. 30. 31. 32. and to exercise themselves in holy things, as the learning of his Law, which this year was to be read in the audience of all the people, Dent. 31. 10. 11. 12. Nehe. 8. and that they should not pollute his land by their own unlawful works, but walk holily upon it: otherwise, the land should spuethem out, and enjoy her Sabbaths, when it lay desolate and void of such evil inhabitants, Levite. 18. 24. 25. 28. and 26. 34. 35. 43. 2 Chron. 36. 21. that the poor] or, and the poor of thy people shall eat; to wit, as well as the owners and their servants, Lev. 25. 6. may eat] to wit, that which groweth of it own accord in the seventh year, Levite. 25. 5. 6. By the Hebrew records, it is shown, that Whosoever looked up his vineyard, or hedged in his field in the seventh year, brake the commandment. Likewise if he gathered any of his fruits into his house: but he was to let all be common, and every man's hand equal in every place. He might bring into his house a little, after the manner of those that brought in common goods. Moreover, concerning the fruits of the seventh year, Whatsoever was properly man's meat, as wheat, figs, grapes, and the like, they might not make of them medicines, plasters, &c. Though for man's use, because it is said, TO YOV FOR MEAT, (Lev. 25. 6.) and not for medicine. Neither might they make merchandise of the fruits of the seventh year; but if they would sell a little thereof they might, and buy other meet with the price; and both the fruits which were sold, and the price were holy. And they might not be sold by measure, by weight, or by tale, (lest they should seem to make merchandise of the fruits of the seventh year,) but as other things that were free and common. Maimonides, in the foresaid treatise, ch. 4. sect. 24. and ch. 5. Sect. 11. and ch. 6. Sect. 1. 3. they leave] as not being man's meat, it should be common for beasts, birds, &c. Therefore they might not burn the straw or stubble of the seventh year, for that it was meet for the beasts to eat, saith Maimonides in the same place, ch. 5. S. 19. olive yard] or olive tree. And consequently all other trees, and fruits of like use. This holy year of rest figured the rest which the Church should enjoy under Christ in her sanctification, and communion of heavenly blessings: and so had an end in him, with other rudiments of the Law, Isaiah 61. 2. Coloss. 2. 16. 17. Galat. 4. 10. 11. Heb. 4. 9. 10. 11.

Vers. 12. cease] or rest, or keep Sabbath: see Exodus 20. 8. &c. refreshed] or, take breath: the Chaldee expoundeth it, may rest. See the Jews canons for these, on Exod. 20. 10.

Vers. 13. shall be wary] or take heed to yourselves that ye transgress not. other gods] the Chaldee calleth them, idols of the people's. So in Zecha. 13. 2. God saith he will cut off the names of the idols out of the land; and in Hosea 2. 17. that he will take away the names of Baalim out of their mouths; and David would not take up the names of such upon his lips, Psal. 16. 4. and so the Israelites practiced, in changing the names of idolatrous places, Numb. 32. 38. See also Joshua 23. 7. By the Hebrew canons it was decreed from this Law; Who so maketh a vow in the name of an idol, or that sweareth by it, is to be beaten, whether he sweareth thereby for himself, or for an infidel. And it is forbidden to make an infidel swear by his God; or to mention the name thereof, though not by way of oath. Maimonides, treat. of Idolatry, ch. 5. S. 10. out of] or, upon thy mouth, or, in 〈...〉 : but the Greek translatheth it, out of.

Vers. 14. times] Hebr. feet: meaning three journeys which they should go on foot every gore, to the place of God's public worship. The Greek and Chaldee translate, times.

Vers. 15. Abib] which we call March; the Gr. the month of now fruits: the first month unto Israel, because of their coming out of Egypt therein. This first feast was adjoined to the Passover: of it, with the rites and signification, see the notes on Exodus 12. and 13. and Numbers 28. 17. 18. &c. It was for a continual remembrance of their coming out of Egypt, Deut. 16. 3. and an expectation of their better redemption and sanctification by Christ which was to come: in whom we spiritually keep this feast, 1 Cor. 5. 7. 8. they shall not appear] that is, the males of Israel, ver. 17. Deut. 16. 16. The Greek translatheth it as before, thou shalt not; the Chaldee, ye shall not appear empty that is, without some gift or oblation to the Lord; as 1 Sam. 6. 3. Deut. 15. 13. 14. The Hebrew Doctors observe, that there were three things commanded unto Israel at every of the three feasts; namely, Appearing, as it is said, All thy males shall appear, Exod. 23. 17. And Feasting, as it is said, Thou shalt keep a feast unto the Lord thy God, Deut. 16. 15. And Rejoicing, as it is said, Thou shalt rejoice in thy feast, Deuteronom. 16. 14. The appearing spoken of in the Law, is, that his face should be seen in the Court (of the Sanctuary) in the first Good day of the feast. And he must bring with him a burnt-offering, either of fowl, or of beast: and who so cometh into the court in the first day, and bringeth not a burnt-offering, doth not only omit a thing commanded, but transgresseth also a prohibition; as it is said, They shall not appear before me empty, Exod. 23. 15. The Feast spoken of in the Law, is, that he offer Peace-offerings in the first good day of the Feast, when he cometh to appear: and it is a known thing, that no peace-offerings are brought, but of beasts. And the Rejoicing spoken of at the Feasts, is, that he offer Peace-offerings more than the peace-offerings of the Feast: and these are called the Peace-offerings of the rejoicing of the Feast; as it is said, Thou shalt slay Peace-offerings, and shalt eat there, and rejoice before the Lord thy God, Deuteronomy 27. 7. Who so cometh into the Court in the other days of the Feast, is not bound to bring a burnt-offering in his hand, every time that he assembleth: for that which is said, They shall not appear before me empty, is not but for the root (or beginning) of the Feast only, which is the first day, or in recompense for the first. But if he bring every time that he cometh, they receive it of him, and offer it in the name of a Burnt-offering for Appearing: for this appearing hath no stinted measure.

At the time of this  $\langle\phi\rangle$  the  $\langle\phi\rangle$  • had also been given at mount Sinai, Exo•••••9. and at the same feast Christ gave the fiery Law of  $\langle\phi\rangle$  Spirit, in Jerusalem, Acts 2. of ingathering] to wit, of the fruits of the land. This feast was at the revolution (or end) of the year, Exodus 34. 22. namely, in the seventh month, (which we call September; the Hebrews called it Ethanim, (1 King. 8. 2.) in the fifteenth day of this seventh month it began, and lasted seven days; and was called also the feast of Boothes (or of Tabernacles) Levite. 23. 34. Deuteronomy 16. 13.—16. See the annotations there.

Vers. 17. every male] to wit, which were freemen, perfect males, and in health, able to go unto the place of public worship; which in the ages following was only at Jerusalem, Deuter. 12. 5. 6. and 1•. 6. 1 King. 14. 21. The Jews explain it thus: Women and servants are not bound to appear: but all men are bound except the deaf, and the dumb, and the fool, and the little child, and the blind, and the lame, and the defiled, and the uncircumcised, and the old man, and the sick, and the tender and weak, which are not able to go up on their feet. All these eleven are discharged, but all other men are bound to appear. Such as are of neither sex, and that are of both sexes, male and female, are also discharged; and likewise they that are partly bond and partly free men. Every child that can hold his father by the hand, and go up from Jerusalem (gates) to the mount of the Temple, his father is bound to cause him to go up and appear with him, that he may catechize (or train him up) in the Commandments. Maimonides in Chagigah, Chapt. 2. Section 1. 3. In repeating this Law God annexeth a promise, for the safety of the land from enemies, Exod. 31. 23. 24. that promise the Greek version inserteth also here. the Lord Jehovah] the Hebrew Adon, which we English Lord, properly signifieth a Base, stay, or sustainer, as is noted on Gen. 15. 2. the Chaldee translateth it, Lord (or Master) of the world. The other name Jehovah, denoteth God's Essence or Being; whereof see Gen. 2 4. The Greek here translateth, the Lordthy God.

Vers. 18. sacrifice] no•slay for sacrifice; as in repeating this Law is said, Exod. 34. 25. of my sacrifice] that is, of my Passover, as the Chaldee translateth it, and Moses in Exod. 34. 25. showeth the Passover to be mean•. with leavened bread] that is, having any leavened bread in thy house, or power, but shalt purge out the leaven before: as was commanded, Exod. 12. 15 &c. see the annotations there. Whether it be he that slayeth, or he that sprinkleth the blood, or he that burneth the fat: if any leaven be in the power of any of these• or in the power of any of the company that eat the Passover, in the hour of the offering of it, he transgresseth; as Maimonides showeth in  $\langle\phi\rangle$  . of the Passover• chap. 1. Sect. 5. the fat of  $\langle\phi\rangle$  ] which the Chaldee expoundeth, of the sacrifice of the feast; and for this, in Exodus 34. 25. is written, the sacrifice of the feast of the Passover. Compare this with the Law foregiven, in Exod. 12. 10. The fat of the Passover, as of other sacrifices, was the Lord's, to be burnt upon his Altar; see Levite. 3. 14. 15. 16. 2 Chron. 35. 12. 13. 14. this might not be left unburnt till the morning; for so it became polluted▪ remain] or be left all night.

Vers. 19. The first] or, The first fruit, the beginning: see the notes on Exod. 22. 29. where seven things paid first-fruits. thy land] so this concerned only the land of Israel, and such as were owners of land there. Whereupon the Hebrew Doctors say, He that buyeth a tree in his neighbors field, he bringeth not the first-fruits, because the ground is not his own: but he that buyeth tree and ground, bringeth the first-fruits thereof. And so the like. M ⟨...⟩ money, treat. of First-fruits, Chap. 2. Sect. 13. the house] the tabernacle, (for that was called the house, 1 Chron. 9. 23.) or the Temple. The rites and words to be used in the bringing of them, are shown in Deuteronomy 26. 1. 2.—11. But from this Law the Jews have a canon: He that separateth his first-fruits, (for the Lord), and they rot, or be lost, or stolen, or polluted, he is bound to separate other in their stead; for it is said, THOU SHALT BRING (them) INTO THE HOUSE OF IEHOVAN THY GOD; to teach that he is bound for other after them, till he bring them to the mount of the house of God. Maimonides in First-fruits, Chap. 2. Sect. 20. not seeth a kid, &c.] This law is twice after repeated in the same words, Exod. 34. 26. Deuteron. 14. 21. For a kid, the Greek translatheth generally, a lam•• The Chaldee paraphrast omitteth the name of a kid, and more generally translatheth, Thou shalt not eat flesh with milk. So the Yerushalmi Targum on Exod. 34. 26. expoundeth it; My people the house of Israel, it is not lawful for you either to seeth or to eat flesh and milk mixed together. This sense the Thalmudists follow, gathering, if it be unlawful to seeth them together, much more to eat them. And understand it of the flesh and milk of all clean beasts. Flesh with milk, it is unlawful to seeth it, and un!••full to eat it by the Law: it is unlawful also to make profit of it, but it is to be buried. Whoso boyleth ought of them two together, offendeth; as it is written, THOU SHALT NOT SEETH A KID IN HIS MOTHERS MILKE. So he that eateth ought of these two, of flesh and milk sodden together, offendeth though he boil it not, &c. Masmony, treat. of Forbidd•• meats, Chap. 9. Sect. 1. Others understand it, of seething it while it is very young, as in the mothers milk, that is, until it be seven days old; according to the law before, in Exodus 22. 30. and after, Levite. 22. 27. But the phrase may also imply, during the time that it sucketh the mothers milk; as a milk lamb, 1 Sam. 7. 9. is a sucking lamb. The intendment of this law, seemeth to be either against cruelty, according to another prohibition of taking the damme with the young, Deut. 22. 6. 7. or against mixtures of meats; as elsewhere God forbiddeth mixtures in garments, in sowing of fields, and the like, Levite. 19. 19.

Vers. 20. an Angel] this is Christ, whom the Israelites are said to have tempted in the wilderness 1 Cor. 10. 9. See the notes on Exod. 14. 19. R. Me••chem upon this place, teacheth from ancient R•bbins, that the word I (send) signifieth the property of mercies, and this Angel is the Angel the Redeemer, (Gen 48. 16.) Also, The holy blessed God said unto Moses, He that did keep the Father, (viz. Abraham, Isaac and Jacob,) shall keep the children. before thee] or, before thy face, as the Greek translatheth. the place] the land (saith the Greek) which I have prepared for thee. A figure of that whither Christ is gone to prepare a place for us, John 14. 2.

Vers. 21. because of him] or, of his face, or presence. The Greek translath, take heed unto him▪ provoke] or, rebel not against him: the Greek translath, disobey him not. The Hebrew Doctors make the reason of the charge to be this, Because his voice is the voice of the living God: R Menachem, on Exod. 23. in him] or, in the midst of him. Christ is the brightness of the glory, and the express Image of God's Person, Heb. 1. 3. and God was in him, 2 Cor. 5. 19. and he in the Father, John 10. 38. and his name is Jehovah our Justice, Ier. 23. 6. The Chaldee translath, his word is (that is, he speaketh) in my name. And God's Name, may imply his Law or doctrine to be in him: for so the Law of Christ (Esa. 42. 4.) is expounded his Name, Matt. 12-21.

Ver. 23. before thee] as a leader of thee, saith the Greek version. And here the Hebrew Malachi, My Angel, some of the Rabbin's say, is Michael, by transposition of letters. the Amorite] that is, the land of the Amorites, &c. See Gen. 15. 18. 21.

Ver. 24. gods] called in the Chaldee, idols. their works] that is, the works of the Heathen people's. This Law is explained in Levite. 18. 3. pillars] or, standing images, statues. Under these all other monuments of idolatry are comprehended: as Deuter. 12. 2. 3. Of this the Hebrew canons say, We are commanded to destroy idolatry, and the services thereof, and whatsoever is made for the same, Deuteronomy 12. And in the land of Israel we are commanded to persecute it until it be destroyed out of all our land: but without the land we are not commanded to persecute it: but every place which we shall subdue, we are to destroy all the idolatry that is therein. Maimonides in Misn. treat. of Idolatry, c. 7. S. 1.

Vers. 25. thy bread, &c.] hereby the coarsest fare may be meant, which by God's blessing nourisheth, as in Daniel 1. 12. 15. Or, these are named for all food, as the Chaldee translath it, thy meat and thy drink: and the Greek addeth, thy bread, and thy wine, and thy water. sickness] in Chaldee, evil sicknesses. Compare Exod. 15. 26. Deut. 7. 15.

Vers. 26. casting] or, miscarrying: the Greek translath, without seed. See a like promise in Deut. 7. 14. thy days] which by the course of nature thou shouldest live. So Job died being old and full of days, Job 42. 17. whereas the wicked live not out half their days, Psal. 55. 24.

Vers. 27. dismay] with tumult and trouble; as God did before in Exod. 14. 24. So in Deut. 7. 23. Ios. 10. 10. The Greek translath, I will astonish all nations. shalt come] to war against them: as the Chaldee addeth. to turn] this is added by the Chaldee for explanation. And by turning the neeke (or back) is meant their flight; as the Greek translath, I will give (that is, make) them fugitives. So David praised God that had given him the neck of his enemies: that is, made them flee, Psal. 18. 41.

Vers. 28. hornets] Hebr. the hornet, a kind of great waspe, which stingeth venomously, threatened against the Canaanites here, and in Deuter. 7. 20. and shown to be accomplished in Ios. 24. 12. These signified the stinging terrors wherewith God striketh the hearts of his enemies. the Evite] that is, the whole nation of them, as the Greek saith, the Amorites, and the Evites, &c. These were the posterity of Canaan, of whom see Genesis, 10. 6. 7.

V. 30. fructify] that is, be increased or grown. [unspec 31]

Vers. 31. the river] which the Greek explaineth, the great river Euphrates: and Moses elsewhere so nameth it, Deuter. 11. 24. Gen. 15. 18. See these bounds in Numb. 34. the accomplishment of this promise in part, fulfilled in Solomon's time, 1 Kin. 4. 21. thou shalt drive] the Greek translateth, I will drive.

Vers. 32. with them] the inhabitants of the land, Exodus 34. 12. 15. Deuter. 7. 1. 2 &c. gods] in Chaldee, idols.

Vers. 33. if thou shalt] or, it may be translated, for thou wilt serve, as came to pass, Judge. 1. 21. 27. 29. and 2. 1. 2. 3. 12. &c. The Greek translateth, for if thou shalt serve their gods: the Chaldee, and thou shalt not serve their idols. surely] or, for it will be a snare; that is, a cause of thy fall and ruin: a scandal unto thee. See this fulfilled, Judge. 2. Psal. 106. 34. 35. 36. Numb. 25. 1. 2. Compare also Deut. 7. 16. 25. A snare, is used to signify the deceit whereby men fall into sin, Deut. 12. 30. Ier. 5. 26. Prov. 13. 14. 27. and so the destruction that followeth thereupon, Prov. 12. 13. Isaiah 8. 15. and 28. 13. Eccles. 9. 12.

CHAP. XXIII.

1. Moses is called up into the mountain. 3. The people promise obedience. 4, Moses buildeth an Altar, and twelve pillars. 6, He sprinkleth the blood of the covenant. 9. Moses and the Elders of Israel see God. 12. Moses is to go up the mount, for the the Tables. 14, Aaron and Hur have the charge of the people. 16, The glory of the Lord on mount Si••a, like devouring fire. 18, Moses in the cloud and mountain, forty days and forty night.

AND he said unto Moses, Come up unto Jehovah, thou and Aaron, Nadab & Abihu, and seventy of the Elders of Israel: and bow down yourselves afar off. And Moses himself alone shall come near unto Jehovah; but they shall not come near: and the people they shall not come up with him. And Moses came and told the people all the words of Jehovah, and all the judgments: and all the people answered with one voice, and said; All the words which Jehovah hath spoken, we will do. And Moses wrote all the words of Jehovah, and rose up early in the morning, and built an altar under the mount, and twelve pillars, according to the twelve tribes of Israel. And he sent the young men of the sons of Israel, and they offered burnt offerings, and sacrificed sacrifices of peace-offerings, of bullocks, unto Jehovah. And Moses took half of the blood, and put it in basons, and half of the blood he sprinkled on the altar. And he took the book of the covenant, & read in the ears of the people: and they said, All that Jehovah hath spoken, we will do, and obey. And Moses took the blood, and sprinkled on the people, and said, Behold the blood of the covenant w<sup>ch</sup> Jehovah hath stricken with you, concerning all these words. Then went up Moses and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and seventy of the Elders of Israel. And they saw the God of Israel: and there was under his feet as it were a work of Sapphire brick, and as the body of the heavens for clearness. And upon the Nobles of the sons of Israel he laid not his hand: and they saw God, & did eat & drink. And Jehovah said unto Moses, Come up to me into the mount, and be there, and I will give thee tables of stone, & a law, and commandment, which I have written, to teach them. And Moses rose up, and his Minister Joshua: and Moses went up into the mountain of God. And he said unto the Elders, Sit ye here for us, until we return unto you: and behold, Aaron and Hur are with you; who so hath matters to do, let him come near unto them. And Moses went up into the mountain, and a cloud covered the mountain. And the glory of Jehovah dwelt upō mount Sinai, & the cloud covered it six days: and in the seventh day he called unto Moses out of the midst of the cloud. And the sight of the glory of Jehovah was like devouring fire, in the top of the mountain, in the eyes of the sons of Israel. And Moses went in to the mids of the cloud, and went up into the mountain, and Moses was in the mountain forty days, and forty nights.

Annotations.

ABihu] in Greek Abioud: he and Nadab, were Aaron's eldest sons, Exod. 28. 1 who were afterward, devoured with a fire from the Lord, Levite. 10. 1. 2. seventy] This number was answerable to the 70. souls of Israel that came into Egypt, Deut. 10. 22. and to the 70. that afterward were made the Senate of the commonwealth of Israel, Numb. 11. 16. 17. bow down] the Gt, translateth, they shall bow down to (or worship) the Lord afar off. This though it were a special favor to the Elders, and served for confirmation of the things spoken by Moses; yet signified it the impotency of the Law, which kept men afar off, and could not bring them near unto the Lord, nor unite them unto him, as the Gospel of Christ doth by faith, Heb. 10. 19. 22. and 12. 18.—22. &c.

Vers. 2. with him] with Moses: not with the Elders; [unspec] therefore the Greek translateth, with them. For the people abode beneath, at the foot of the mount: the Elders went up as it were half way: and saw part of God's glory, verse. 9. 10. but Moses himself went up to the top of the mount, into the dark cloud, v. 18. For the Law was to be given by the hand (or ministry) of a mediator, Gal. 3. 19.

Ver. 3. will do] the Greek addeth, and hear, (or obey) as is expressed in v. 7. Thus the covenant between God and Israel, was established by mutual and willing consent: albeit they yet knew not the impossibility of the Law, which is weak through the flesh, Rom. 8. 3. So in Exod. 19. 8.

Vers. 4. wrote] in a book, Heb. 9. 19. for the stony tables were written by the finger of God himself, Exod. 31. 18. an altar] which represented God, the first and chief party in the covenant. pillars] or, statues; the Gr. translateth them stones: and pillars were wont to be of stones erected, Gen. 28. 18. 22. and 31. 45. and 35. 14. according to] or, for the twelve tribes; that is, to represent them, (the other party in the Covenant) and their hard stony nature: as the tables of stone, signified their stony hearts, 2 Cor. 3. 3. 14. See Exod. 31. 1•.

Vers. 5. the young men] that is, the first borne (as the Chaldee translateth) which were priests or sacrificers, until the Levites (taken instead of the first-borne of Israel, Numb. 3. 41.) had the priesthood in their tribe. And the Hebrew word doth not always signify men young in years, but fit for service or ministry to their elders: so Jesus the servant of Moses, and other such servants, are often called young men, Exod. 33. 11. Gen. 14. 24. & 22. 3. 2 Sam. 18. 15. 1 King. 20. 14. of peace-offerings] Gr. of salvation. By these two sorts of sacrifices, (whereof see Lev. 1. and 3. chap.) the sanctification of the people was testified, who by the death of Christ (whom these sacrifices did figure out) presented themselves wholly to God, as obedient servants; and shown thankfulness for the peace and salvation, which through him they had obtained, Rom. 12. 1. 2. Heb. 13. 15. See also the notes on Exod. 19. 10. bullocks] and other beasts; as the Apostle testifieth, of bullocks, and of goats, Heb. 9. 19. but the one is here named as principal.

Vers. 6. on the altar] and so on the book, Heb. 9. 19 which as it seemeth, was laid on the altar, to be sanctified thereby.

Vers. 7. and obey] or, hear hearken unto: that is, g 〈...〉 y learn and obey: See the notes on Exodus 4. 31.

Vers. 8. on the people] which may be meant of the twelve pillars set up to represent the people, verse. 4. [unspec] Howbeit the Chaldee paraphrase saith, he sprinkled it on the Altar, to make propitiation for the people. Thus the first covenant (or testament) was not dedicated without blood, (as the Apostle observeth in Heb. 9. 18.—23.) and the patterns of heavenly things were purified by the blood of these sacrifices: signifying that Christ by his death should sanctify himself for his people, and them unto himself, by the blood of a better testament, John 17. 19. Heb. 9. 13. 14. 1 Pet. 1. 2. And whereas the sprinkling and purifying in the Law, was usually done with water, scarlet, wool, and hyssop, Levite. 14. 6. 7. the Apostle telleth us, that this here was so done, though Moses nameth them not, Heb. 9. 19. behold, &c.] the Apostle explaineth it thus, This is the blood of the Covenant (or of the Testament,) which God hath commanded unto you, Heb. 9. 20. Thus the Sacrament of the Old Testament, confirmed by the blood of beasts, had a resemblance unto the New Testament established upon better promises, and confirmed by the blood of Christ. But that was for works of the Law: this is for remission of sins, Mat. 26. 28. Heb. 9. 15.

Vers. 10. the God] that is, signs of the glory and [unspec] presence of the God of Israel. For, never man saw God, neither can see him, 1 Tim. 6. 16. Therefore the Chaldee expounds it, The glory of the God of Israel; and the Greek translateth, they saw the place where the God of Israel stood. of Sapphire brick] Hebrew, brick of Sapphire: whereby is meant, Sapphire stone, hewed like brick, wherewith the place under him was paved. So also the Greek translateth it. Or, it may be Englished of whiteness of Sapphire, that is, of white Sapphire stone: for brick•ath the name in Heb. of whiteness. The Chaldee translateth, under the throne of his glory, was, as 〈◇〉 were a work of precious stone. The Sapphire is also mentioned in Ezekiel's vision of God's Throne and glory, Ezekiel 1. 26. It is a very precious trans•atent stone, of the color of the sky: see Ex 〈...〉 s 28. 19. The work of brick, might call them 〈◇〉 remember their brick work in Egypt, Exodus 1. 14. and 5. 16. 19. from which bondage, God now had brought them, to labor in the heavenly work of his Law, and the mysteries of •he same, whereby the throne of his glory should be erected among them, and his Church (which •s as the footstool of the Lord, Lam. 2. 1.) should have the foundations laid with Sapphires, Isaiah. 54. •1. and such should be the polishing of the Saints, Lamentations 4. 7. the body] the Greek •nd Chaldee translate, the sight (or semblance) of heaven. And this clear heavenly appearance •id see forth the favor of God towards them 〈◇〉 keep his Covenant: as on the contrary, a dark or cloudy Heaven, is a sign of God's displeasure, Jeremiah 4. 23. 28. Zeph. 1. 15. It signified also the cleanness & purity, that should be in the people of God. for cleanness] or, in purity.

Vers. 11. the Nobles] or the select; or chosen men, as the Greek translath; meaning those Elders spoken of in verse 9. laid not his hand] that is, hurt or affrighted them not: because they went up by the leave and Word of God, not of their own temerity, which was before forbidden, Exodus 19. 21. So the laying of the hand often signifieth, Nehemiah 13. 21. Psal. 55. 21. so the Chaldee translath, they had not hurt; and the Greek, not one of them was dismayed (or killed.) did eat, &c.] The Chaldee paraphraseth, they saw the glory of God, and rejoiced in their sacrifices which were accepted; as if they had eaten and drunk. So other of the Hebrews (as in Elle shemoth rabbah) say, they fed their eyes with the brightness of the Majesty (of God.) Christ promising felicity to his Disciples, saith they should eat and drink at his table in his kingdom, Luk. 22. 30.

Verse 12. be there] that is, continue there. So 1 Tim. 4. 15 in these things be thou: that is, continue and give thyself unto them. So in Ruth 1. 2. Isaiah 66. 2. Psalm 64. 8. commandment] in Greek commandments. But Moses often useth this word singularly, though he speaketh of the Law in general. So the Apostle also, 2 Peter 2. 21. and 3. 2. to teach] to instruct, or confirm in the Law. To this word the Apostle (following the Gr. version) hath reference, when he saith, the Israelites had the giving of the Law, Rom. 9. 4. and the people received (or were taught) the Law, Heb. 7. 11. and the covenant established (or taught) upon better promises, Heb. 8. 6. So that the word implieth a full information and constitution of them & their common wealth by the Law. Herein the Jews did glory, Rom. 2. 17. 18.

Vers. 13. Joshua] in Greek, Jesus: see Exod. 17. 9. of God] that is, as the Chaldee translath, on which the glory of God was revealed. See v. 16.

Vers. 14. Sit] that is, Abide, or Tary, as the Chaldee translath: the Greek saith, be quiet. Hur] of him see Exod. 17. 10. hath matters to do] or, hath words to speak: that is, hath any question or controversy. So the Gr. and Chaldee translate it Judgment or controversy. The Hebr. phrase is, who so is a master of words, (or of matters.)

Vers. 15. a cloud] the sign of God's presence; though with terror and obscurity, 2 Chron. 6. 1. Heb. 12. 18. See also Exod. 19. 9.

Verse 16. dwelt] the Greek expoundeth it, came down upon the mount. six days] to prepare Moses for to receive the Laws; as before he had done the people three days, Ex. 19. 10. 11. In six days God made the world, and the seventh he rested, Gen. 2. the same number is here at the giving of the Law; wherein God shown as great wisdom, as in the making of the world, Psal. 19.

Vers. 17. devouring] or, consuming fire, in Greek, flaming fire: this was for a terror to the transgressors of his Law, Deut. 4. 24. and he is no less fearful under the Gospel, Heb. 12. 28. 29.

Vers. 18. forty days] during which time he did not there eat bread, nor drink water, Deuter. 9. 9. The like number of days Elias fasted, 1 King. 19. 8. and Christ when he was to enter upon the ministry of the Gospel, Matt. 4. 2.

CHAP. XXV.

1, The Lord by Moses teacheth Israel what things they should willingly offer for the making of a Sanctuary, that he might dwell amongst them. 10, The matter and form of the Ark. 17, The Covering-mercy-feat thereof, with the Cherubims. 23, The Table for the Shewbread, with the furniture thereof. 31, The golden Candlestick, with the parts and instruments thereof. 40, All things must be made according to the pattern shown in the mount.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying, Speak unto the sons of Israel, & let them take for me an offering: of every man whose heart shall make him willing, ye shall take my offering. And this is the offering which ye shall take of them; gold, and silver, and brass. And blew, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linen, and goats hair. And Ram skins died red, and Tachash skins, and Shittim wood. Oile for the light, spices for anointing oil, and for incense of sweet spices. Beryl stones, & filling stones, for the Ephod, and for the Brest plate. And let thē make for me a Sanctuary, and I will dwell amongst them. According to all that I will show thee, the pattern of the Tabernacle, and the pattern of all the instruments thereof, even so shall ye make them. And they shall make an Ark of Shittim wood: two cubits and an half shall be the length thereof, and a cubit and a half the breadth thereof, & a cubit and an half the height thereof. And thou shalt overlay it with pure gold; within and without shalt thou overlay it: and thou shalt make upon it a crown of gold round about. And thou shalt cast for it four rings of gold, and shalt put them in the four corners thereof; and two rings shall be in the one side of it, and two rings in the second side. And thou shalt make bars of Shittim wood, and shalt overlay them with gold. And thou shalt put, the bars into the rings, by the sides of the Ark, to bear the Ark with them. In the rings of the Ark shall the bars be: they shall not be removed from it. And thou shalt put into the Ark the Testimony which I shall give 〈◇〉 thee. And thou shalt make a Coveringmercy-seat of pure gold: two cubits and an half shall be the length thereof, and a cubit & an half the breadth thereof. And thou shalt make two Cherubims of gold: of beaten work shalt thou make them, at the two ends of the Coveringmercy-seat. And make thou one Cherub on the one end, and o• Cherub on the other end: of the Coveringmercy-seat shall ye make the Cherubims, o the two ends thereof. And the Chrubi•e shall stretch forth the wings on high, covering with their wings over the Coveringmercy-seat; and their faces shall be one to another: towards the Coveringmercy-seat shall the faces of the Cherubims be. And thou shalt put the Coveringmercy-seat u• on the Ark above, & in the Ark thou sha•• put the Testimony which I shall give unto thee. And I will meet with thee there, and I will speak with thee, from above the Coveringmercy-seat, from between the two Cherubims, which are upon the Ark of the Testimony, all things which I will comm 〈...〉 thee, unto the sons of Israel. And thou sha 〈...〉 make a Table of Shittim wood: two cub 〈...〉 shall be the length thereof, and a cubit the breadth thereof, and a cubit and an half the height thereof. And thou shalt overlay 〈...〉 with pure gold, and shalt make thereo 〈...〉 crown of gold round about. places for the bars to bear the table. And thou shalt make the bars of Shittim wood, and shalt overlay them with gold; and the table shall be borne with them. And thou shalt make the dishes thereof, and the cups thereof, and the covers thereof, & the bowls thereof, which shall be to cover withal: pure gold shalt thou make them. And thou shalt set upon the Table Shewbread before me continually. And thou shalt make a Candlestick of pure gold: of beaten work the Candlestick be made; his shaft and branch, his bowls, his knops, and flowers shall be of the same. And branches coming out of the sides of three branches of the Candlestick out of the one side of it, and three branches of Candlestick out of the second side of Three bowls made like almonds, in branch, a knop and a flower; and the bowls made like almonds, in the other branch, a knop and a flower: so in the six branches that come out of the Candlestick. And in the Candlestick shall be four bowls made like almonds, his knops & his flowers. And there shall be a knop under two branches of the same, and a knop under two branches of the same, and a knop under two branches of the same, to the six branches, that come out of the Candlestick. Their knops & their branches shall be of the same: all of it shall be one beaten work of pure gold. And thou shalt make the seven lamps thereof: and he shall cause the lamps thereof to ascend up, and shall cause to give light over against the face of it. And the sockets thereof, and the snuff-dishes thereof, shall be of pure gold. Of a talent of pure gold shall he make it, with all these vessels. And see that thou make them according to their pattern, which thou wast shown in the mount.

Annotations.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Here beginneth the 19. Section or Lecture of the Law. See Gen. 6. 9.

TAke for me] or, take unto me, that is, take & give (or bring) unto me. See the notes on Gen. 15. 9. The Gr. translath, and say thou, take ye unto me first fruits. offering] or, heave offering: an oblation, which was taken up and separated, out of a man's goods; and usually (in the sacrifices) was heaved or lifted up, when it was presented unto the Lord, Exod. 29. 27. but generally the word is used for all things separated and given unto God, even land it self, Ezek. 48. 8. 9. 10. 20. The Chaldee translath it, a separation: so doth the Gr. in many places, but here the Greek is, first-fruits. make him willing] or, move him to willingness and liberality. The Gr. interpreteth it, of all to whom it shall seem good in their heart. That which is here spoken of the heart, is also said of the spirit. Exod. 35. 21. And a like willing offering, was by David and the princes for the matter of the Temple, 1 Chro. 29. 5. 9. 14. &c. And so all the ministration of God's people ought to be of ready and willing mind; Ezra 2. and 3. 5. Neh. 1. 2. 2 Cor. 8. 11. 12.

Ver. 3. and brass] These three, are the richest, purest, and most glorious metals, they come out of the bowels of the earth, Job 28. 1. 2. Deut. 8. 9. The scripture useth them to signify persons, kingdoms, and other things, that are most precious, pure durable. I am. 4. 2. D. n. 2. 32. 38. 39. Rev. 1. 20. and 19, 10. Prov. 8. 19. Ezek. 40. 3. Zach. and 6. 1. And God promising to erect the glorious Church of the Gospel, saith; For brass I will bring gold and for iron silver; and for wood brass, ‹ϕ› ‹ϕ› 60. 17▪ The Jews, as R. Menachem upon his place, observe, how no Iron was in the stuff ‹...› and do compare 1 King. 6. 7. where no tool of iron was heard in the house (of Solomon) while it was in building: Iron is often used to signify wars and hard affliction, Judge. 4. 3. Dan. 2. 40. and 7 7. 1 King. 8. 51. Psal 107. 10. Howbeit for Solomon's temple, iron also was prepared, 1 Chron. 29. 2. 7. 2 Chron. 2. 7.

V. 4. Blew] or hyacinth, as the Gr. translath. Although the blew, purple, & scarlet here, are colors only, and Moses expresseth not the stuff coloured: yet Paul affirming that scarlet wool was used in sprinkling of the blood, Hebr. 9. 19. seemeth to teach that the scarlet spoken of in the Law, was wool died: and the like we may say of the other colors. Thus also the Hebrew Doctors explain them. The blew spoken of in any place was wool died like the body of the heavens; (that is, sky color) The purple was wool died red; and the scarlet was wool died in scarlet; saith Maimonides, in treat. of the Implements of the sanctuary, c. 8. s. 13. The blew was a thing used and worn of Princes and great personages; & the nations clad the images of their gods with it, Jer. 10. 9. Esth. 1. 6. Ezek. 23 6. and 27. 7. 24. The same was also in Solomon's temple, 2 Ch. 2. 7. 14. purple] so we call it of the Gr. porphura: the name of a shellfish called the purple; it is like an oyster, and hath in it a liquor, which is used to make the purple die of great esteem, as Pliny showeth in his nat. hist. b. 9. ch. 36. The Hebr. is Argaman, (and as Ezra writeth it after the Chal. manner, Argevan, 2 Ch. 2. 7. 14.) from whence it seemeth the Gr. have borrowed Amorgis, the name of an herb or reed, which is used to die purple. This also is a Princely color, and used both for civil and religious honor, Dan. 5. 7. 29. Esth. 8. 15. Jer. 10. 9. Luk. 16. 19. Rev. 18. 12▪ scarlet] or scarlet twice died, as the Heb. tolagnathshani, importeth. That which was answerable to this in Solomon's Temple, is called by another name Carmil, that is, crimson, 2 Chro. 2▪ 7. 14 and 3. 14. but the Greek there and here translath alike, coccinon, scarlet. This also is a glorious color, Jer. 4. 30. Lam. 4. 5. Purple and scarlet are put sometime one for another; as, they clothed him with purple, Ma. 15. 17▪ they put on him a scarlet robe, Mat. 27. 28▪ for which another saith, they put on him a purple robe, John. 19. 2. These three died colors, represented blood of all sorts, and so figured unto the Church, how both themselves and their actions should be washed & died in the blood of Christ, into whose death they are baptized, Rev. 1. 5. and 7. 14. Rom. 6. 3. Christ also himself, warring against his enemies, appeared in garments died red, and glorious, Isaiah 63. 1. 2. &c. Rev. 19. 13. So the Gr. & Latins have applied the purple color to blood, & bloody death; as porphureos thanatos, purple death, in Homer, Il. 5. and he vomited his purple soul, that is, his life blood; Uirgil. Aen. 9. and the like fine linen] or silken woolls A thing w<sup>ch</sup> grew in Egypt, called Shesh, Ezek. 27. 7. of which princely clothing was made, Gen. 41. 42. The Greek and Chaldee translate it Byss: and so the stuff used in Solomon's Temple is called buts, that is, Byss, 2 Chro. 2. 14. and 3. 14. Likewise the Hebrew Doctors say, What place sever in the Law speaketh of Shesh▪ or of Bad, (a kind of linen mentioned in Exod. 28. 42. ‹ϕϕ› flax, and it is byss. Maimonides treat. of the Implements of the Sanctuary, c. 8. s. 13. Others put a difference between that Byss which Solomon used, and this Shesh, which they think was a silken cotten, which Pliny (in his at hist. b. 19. ch. 1.) showeth to grow in Egypt, on a shrub called Xylon or Gossipian: whereof soft and white l ‹...› en stuff was made, whereof the Priests of Egypt delighted to wear. And this linen Xyl ⟨...⟩ n, they think to be the stuff that was died blew, purple and scarlet. Byss is also a silken linen, white, pure, and bright, and hath the name originally of whiteness, and signified the graces and justifications of the Saints, Rev. 19. 8. 14. Ezek. 16. 10. hair] whereof a covering was made for the Tabernacle, Exod. 26. 7. 13. The word hair is added also in Greek: necessarily understood in the Hebrew: see Gen. 42. 33.

Vers. 5. Tachash skins] This the Greek interpreters translate, blew (or violet color) skins. The Tachash was a beast of whose skin fine shoes were made, Ezek. 16. 10. and save there, no mention is made in Scripture of this beast, but in this history of the Tabernacle, whose upper covering was made of the skins of the Tachash, Exod. 26. 14. Of the Hebrew name seem to be derived the Germane Tachs, and Latin Taxo, which we English the badger, but the Jews hold it to be a clean beast, which our badger by Moses Law is not, neither are badgers skins used for shoes as the Tachas. Shittim] or, wood of the Shittah tree, mentioned in Esa. 41. 19. which is thought to be a kind of Cedar tree. It is nor found in scripture, save in this history of the Tabernacle, and that prophesy of Isaiah, where it is shown to be of special use & account. The Greek usually translatheth it Aspeta, that is, wood which never rotteth. The wood in Solomon's Temple was of Cedar. 1 King. 6. 9. 10. Of it the Heb. Doctors write thus; Solomon the Prophet said, How fair is the house of the sanctuary of the Lord, w<sup>ch</sup> is build by my hands of Cedar wood: but fairer shall be the house of the sanctuary, which shall be built in the days of the King Christ; the beams whereof shall be of the Cedars that are in the garden of Eden [in Paradise.] Targum in Can. 1. 17.

Ver. 6. light] or, lig ⟨...⟩ ; that is, the Candle stock, ⟨◇⟩ . 27. 20, incense of sweet spices] that is, ⟨◇⟩ : or, sweet spices for incense. The Greek translatheth, for the composition of incense.

Vers. 7. ⟨◇⟩ ] so also the Chaldee translates it: see the notes on Ex. 28. 9. 20. filling stones] Heb. ⟨◇⟩ of ⟨◇⟩ th ⟨...⟩ , stones to be ei in, and wherewith the ⟨◇⟩ places in the gold upon the Bphod were filled up •ee Exod, 28. 27. 20.

Vers. 8. ⟨◇⟩ them make] The Greek changeth the person, And though• shalt make me a sanctuary, and I will be ⟨◇◇⟩ y•. This was the main end of all, and to this, all ⟨◇⟩ particulars are to be re ⟨...⟩ ed and by it opened For this sanctuary (as Solomon's Temple afterward) was a place of prayer and pub ⟨...⟩ ⟨...⟩ ice of God, M•t. ⟨◇◇⟩ Lev. 17. 3. 6. and ⟨◇⟩ ⟨...⟩ ed the Church, ⟨◇⟩ habitation of ⟨◇⟩ the Spirit, 2 Cor. 6. ⟨◇⟩ . Ep ⟨...⟩ s. ⟨◇⟩ . ⟨◇⟩ ▪- ⟨◇⟩ . Re ⟨...⟩ ⟨◇◇⟩ . and was a visible sign of God's presence with, and protection of his people, Lev. 26. 11. 12. Ezek. 37. 26. 27. 1 King. 6. 12. 13. and of leading them into heavenly glory; for as the high Priest entered into the Tabernacle and through the veil into the most holy place, where God dwelt: so Christ (& we by him) entered through the veil of his flesh into very heaven, as the Apostle openeth it, in Heb. 9. and 10. cha. And so this sanctuary is to be applied as a type, first unto Christ's person, Heb. 8. 2. and 9. 11. 12. John. 2. 19. 21. then to every Christian man, 1 Cor. 6. 19. and Church, both particular, Heb. 3. 6. 1 Tim. 3. 15. and universal, Heb. 10. 21. And by reason of this divers & large signification, so many sundry things about this sanctuary are set down by Moses, and sundry ways applied by the Prophets and Apostles. This sanctuary though made of the most glorious things on earth, is yet called but a worldly sanctuary, & was a similitude of the true, not made with hands: Heb. 9. 1. 24. dwelling] This was the greatest sign of God's grace to wards his people; whiles Christ having reconciled them to his father, dwelleth in their hearts by faith, Ephes. 3. 17. and they are the habitation of God by the spirit, Ephes. 1. 22. Therefore this favor is often mentioned, Exod. 29. 45. 46. Lev. 26. 12. Numb. 35. 34. Zach. 2. 10. and 8. 3. 2 Cor. 6. 16. Rev. 21. 2. 3.

Vers. 9. Tabernacle] or, Habitacle, Dwelling place: for of God's dwelling aforesaid, it hath the name. Therefore the pattern hereof, signifieth properly the frame or disposition of a building, like which an edifice is made. And as the pattern of this house and of all the implements, was given by God to Moses: even so had Solomon a pattern of the house which he built, and of all things belonging thereunto, 1 Chron. 28. 11. 12. 18. 19. See more in v. 40.

Verse 10. they shall] the Greek translatheth, ⟨ϕ⟩ shalt make; even as in the verse following, and after, God saith to him, thou shalt: because the over-sight of all the work, lay upon Moses. In Verse 39. it is said, he shall make, where the Greek again saith, thou shalt. an Ark] or Coffer, in Hebrew Aron, which differeth in name (as in use) from the Ark, that Noah made, Gen. 6. 14. The Apostles in Greek call them both by one name, Hebrews 9. 4. and 11. 7. and here the Greek version addeth, the Ark of the Testimony. This was made to lay up the Tables of the Covenant of God therein, verse 16. and for God to ⟨ϕ⟩ between the Cherubims upon the covering mercy feat that was thereon: verse. 22. So it was visible sign of God's gracious presence with his people in Christ: therefore is it the first and chiefest of all the holy things, and for it principally was the Tabernacle made Exod. 26. 33. and 40. 18. 21. and it sanctified the Tent and house wherein it rested; as Solomon said the places ⟨ϕ⟩ holy where into the Ark of the Lord hath come, 2 Chron. 8. 11. Yet was it but the furniture of a worldly Sanctuary, Hebrews 9. 1. are under the Gospel to be done away, and forgotten, that men shall say to m ⟨...⟩, the Ark of the Covenant of the Lord, Ier. 3. 16. albert mystically it is mentioned in the Church of the New Testament, as is also the Tabernacle, Rev. 11. 19. and 21. 3. Among the Gentiles there was an imitation of these things, when they carried the mysteries of their gods in coffers; L. Apul. de Asin. our. l. 11. & Alb. Tibull. Et levis occultis conscia Cista sacris. Shittins] or, Cedar wood: in the Greek, wood incorruptible. a cubit] that is, a foot and an half, or six handbreadths, see Gen. 6. 15.

Vers. 11. a crown] or, border: which was both for ornament, and for the close fastening of the cover of the Ark, which was as large as the ark it self, verse. 17. The Greek interpreteth golden writhen waves round about. So in ver. 24.

Vers. 12. shalt put] Hebr. shalt give.

Vers. 13. bars] or staves, to carry it with: verse 14. the Greek calleth them bearers.

Vers. 14. to bear the Ark,] this none might do but the Levites, and upon their shoulders: Numb. 7. 9. 2 Chron. 35. 3. When David faulted herein, and set the Ark upon a wagon; the Lord shown his wrath in killing Uzzah: see 1 Chr. 13. 7. 10. 11. and 15. 12. 15.

Vers. 15. not be removed] this caution was, left the Levites should think themselves discharged at any time from bearing God's Ark; therefore even in Solomon's Temple, the bars were left in their places, but with their ends out, to be seen, 1 Kings 8. 8. The Hebrew cannons say, when they bear the Ark upon their shoulders, they bear it with their faces one towards another, and their after parts outward, and their faces inward. And they are warned, that they pull not the bars out of the ring, &c. Maimonides, treat. of the Instruments of the Sanctuary, ch. 2. Sect. 13.

Vers. 16. the Testimony] in Greek, the Testimonies, [unspec] that is, the two tables of stone, whereon the Law or ten commandments were written, which were a testimony of the Covenant between God and the people, and should testify against them if they kept it not; as Moses showeth for the book of the Law, Deut. 31. 26. Hereupon those tables are called the tables of the Testimony, Exod. 31. 18. and the ark into which they were put, the Ark of the Testimony, Exod. 25. 22. neither was there anything in the Ark but they, 1 Kin. 8. 9. and the Tabernacle wherein the Ark was placed, is called the Tabernacle of the Testimony, Exod. 38. 21. Act. 7. 14. So elsewhere, the book of the Law is called the Testimony, 2 King. 11. 12. and the Gospel of Christ hath the same name, 1 Cor. 2. 1. 2 Tim. 1. 8. Likewise because on those Tables, the words of the Covenant were written, Exod. 34. 28. therefore they were called, the tables of the Covenant, Deut. 9. 9. 11. 1•, and the Ark that they were put into, the Ark 〈...〉 〈ϕ〉 〈...〉 Covenant, Num. 10. 33. Heb. 9. 4.

Ver•. 〈ϕ〉 a covering mercy-seat] named in Hebrew 〈ϕ〉, which hath the signification of covering 〈ϕ〉 〈...〉 stering over, Gen. 6. 14. and is commonly 〈ϕ〉 the merciful covering, and propitiation of 〈...〉 nes, Psal. 65. •4. Whereupon this is translated in Greek, and with the allowance of the holy Ghost, hilasterion, Hebr. 9. 5. that is, a 〈ϕ〉, or mercy 〈ϕ〉. And the Greek version 〈ϕ〉 addeth hilasterion •pithema, that is, a propitiatory covering; and it is by the Apostle applied to Christ, called God's hilasterion, or propitiatory, through faith in his blood, to declare (God's) justice, for the remission of sins that are past, Rom. 3. 25. he is the propitiation for our sins, 1 John 2. 2. So this mercy-seat on which God did sit between the wings of the Cherubims, was a figure of Christ, by whom our transgressions of the Law are forgiven and covered.

Vers. 18. Cherubims] or Cherubs. See Gen. 3. 24. We keep the Hebr. name, following the Apostle, who also keepeth the same name in Gr. Heb. 9. 5. where he calleth them Cherubims of glory. The name Cherub, is near unto Rechub, a charet, used to ride upon: and God is said to ride upon the Cherub, Psal. 18. 11. and to sit upon the Cherubims. Psal. 80. 2. and the Cherubims in Solomon's Temple are called a charet, 1 Chron. 28. 18. The use of these was to cover or overshadow the mercy-seat, wth their wings, Ex. 25. 20. as they were made of it, v. 19. and from this seat God used to speak unto Moses, v. 22. Num. 7. 89. These being of the similitudes of heavenly things, Heb. 9. 23. may diversely be applied: unto Christ, whose mediation was signified by this mercy-seat; and to the Ministers of God, both the Angels in heaven, God's fiery chariots, 2 Kin. 6. 17. Psal. 68. 18. whose service he useth for his honor, & to attend upon Christ, and upon his Church, into whose mysteries they desire to look, Heb. 1. 6. 14. 1 Pet. 1.

12. and his Ministers also on earth. For Kings are called by the names of Cherubs, Ezek. 28. 14. and the four living creatures with eyes & wings, Rev. 4. 6. 8. (w<sup>ch</sup> by comparison with Eze <...> . 1. 5. 6. 10. and 10. 1. 14. 20. were Cherubims.) are of them that are redeemed unto God by the blood of Christ, Rev. 5. 8. 9. 10. & so distinguished from heavenly Angels, Rev. 5. 11. These with heavenly affections looking into the law and Christ the mercy-seat, are such as on whom he also rideth by the preaching of the Gospel, Ps. 45. 5. Act. 9. 15. But the chief significatiō of the Cherubs here, respecteth Christ himself, the Mercy-seat, of which they were made on the two ends thereof, v. 19. And to this glorious seat where God's presence with his Church was manifested, the throne of God is answerable, in the Christian Church, in the presence of which throne his people are, and serve him day and night in his Temple, Rev. 7. 15. 17. and 4. 2. 4. 5. 6. and 8. 3. and 16. 17. and 21. 3. 5. and 22. 1. compared with Ier. 3. 17. Psal. 80. 2. of beaten work] that is, of whole pieces beaten out with the hammer. The like is said of the Candlestick, verse. 31. 36. and of the Trumpets, Numb. 10. 2. The Gr. translath it, turned work.

Vers. 20. shall stretch] Hebrew, shall be stretching (or spreading) covering or shadowing; as the Greek, which the Apostle followeth, doth translate, Hebrews 9. 5. This word is used for protection and defense from evil, Psal. 91. 4. & 140. 8. Exod. 33. 22. and the King of Tyrusis is called an anointed Cherub, that covered (or protected.) Ezek. 28. 14. This here being (as is foreshowed) a figure of Christ: the protecting Cherubs, may signify his kingdom, ps. 99. 1. the mercy seat which they covered, his priesthood, Rom. 3. 25. and the voice which spake from the fame, his prophesy, Numb. 7. 89. Heb. 1. 1. 2. Judge. 20. •7. one to another] Hebr. man to his brother.

Ver. 22. will meet] or will convene, at set times, and to appoint and order things for the Church; as the words following do explain. Hereupon the Tabernacle wherein this Ark was, had the name, the Tabernacle of Meeting (or of the Congregation) where I will meet with thee, Exod. 30. 36. The Chaldee translath, I will appoint my word to thee there: the Greek, I will be known to thee from thence. So this was the sign of God's presence with, and direction of his Church, as before is noted on ver. 18. The Hebrew Doctors say, that the heart of man is answerable to the Most holy place of the Sanctuary, wherein was the Ark, and the Covering-mercy-seat, and the Cherubims: whereby we are taught, that as in the Sanctuary God's Majesty (Shekhinah) dwelled because there was the Ark, and the Tables, & the Cherubims; so the heart of man, it is meet that a place be made there for the divine Majesty to dwell in; and that it be the Holy of Holies. R. Elias, in Sepher reshith chocmah, treat. of Holiness, chap 7. fol. 219.

Vers. 25. a border] or closure, that is, a border to fasten the feet of the table together.

Vers. 27. places] Hebrew, houses. [unspec 29]

Vers. 29. dishes] or chargers, wherein the bread was set on the table. Of such there is also mentioned in Num. 7. 13. 84. made of silver for other use. cups] or dishes; for incense to be put in, as appeareth by numb. 7. 14. and incense was with the shewbread, as is manifest by Lev. 24. 7. They have their name in Hebrew Cappoth of being hollow, like the hollow of the hand, or as a spoone: whereupon some translate them speones. The Hebr. say, there were two of these cups, in each whereof was an handful of incense: and they had verges at the bottom, that they might rest upon the table; and they were set beside the two rewes of bread.

Maimonides in Misneh, treat of the Daily sacrifices, cha. 5. sect. 2. covers thereof, and bowles thereof] or (as the Hebr. Doctors understand it) props thereof, and pipes thereof. In the first sense, we may take these to be for covering the bread in the dishes, and the incense in the cups: & so it accordeth with the words following, to cover withal. And that not the latter of these two, were to cover with, but the former also appeareth by Numb. 4. 7. And in relating this, Moses changeth the order of these words, saying, in Ex. 37. 16. the bowles thereof, & the covers thereof. In the latter sense, these served for the bread only; which the Hebrews explain thus; Kesothaiu (which we English the covers thereof) were (Seniphi) props; Menakkijothaiu (which we English the bowles thereof,) were (Kanim) reeds, There were four props of gold, that stayed up (the bread) two for the one rew, and one for the other rew: and 28. reeds (of gold) which were as half a  $\langle\phi\rangle$  reed (or pipe:) fourteen for one rew, and fourteen for the other. They set one cake  $\langle\dots\rangle$  betable, & after put upon it three reedes (or half  $\langle\phi\rangle$  ;) & upō the reeds another cake, & after that again  $\langle\phi\rangle$  reeds: & upon the  $\langle\phi\rangle$  third cake, and after that the  $\langle\phi\rangle$  *, upon them the fourth cake, and them three reeds: upon them the fifth cake, and then two reeds, and upon those two reedes the sixth cake. Talmud Bab. in Menacoth, Chap. 11. and Rambam (or Maimonides) is his exposition on the same. The like R. Solomon Rashi on Exod. 25. noteth; save that he differeth in the names, saying of the first, Kesothaiu, that they were like half reeds, hollow made of gold, upon which the bread was set, and they divided one cake from another that air might gather between them, that they might not mould (or putrefy.) Menakkijothaiu, which the Chaldee calleth the measures thereof (he saith) were props like stakes of gold, standing on the ground, and they reached higher than the table, so high as the rewes of bread, and were forked (or notched) with five forkes one above another; and the ends of the reeds which were between every cake stayed upon those forkes, that the weight of the upper cakes might not be too heavy for the nether, and break them. The reason hereof was, for that the table (as Moses showeth in verse 23. was but one cubit (that is, six handbreadths) broad, and two cubics long. and every of the twelve cakes, (as the Hebrews write) was ten handbreadths long, and five broad; and they set the length of the cakes on the breadth of the table. Talmud in Menacoth, Chapter 11. So the ends of the cakes hanging over, were stayed up by those props. The Greek, for Covers translath Spondeia, that is, vessels to pour out with: and bowles they cal Kuathoi, cups, Of these there is mention also in Numb. 4. 7. 1 Chro. 28. 17. and Ier. 52. 16. to cover withal] or with which they shall cover; to wit, the table, and furnish it: or, the cakes and the incense. The original word signifieth also to pour out; and so the Greek translath, with which thou shalt pour out, (Speiseis) as before the Greek called the Covers Spondeia, pouring vessels: but of such I know no use at this table. pure gold] whereupon the table is also called the pure table, Levite. 24. 6.*

Verse 30. Shew-bread] in Hebrew called bread of faces, or of presence; because they were to be set before the face, or in the presence of God continually. The Hebrew Doctors give also another reason, because every cake was made square, and so had as it were many faces. The length of every cake (they say) was ten hand-breaths, and the breadth five hand-breaths, and the height seven fingers. Mamony treat. of the Daily sacrifices; C. 5. S. 9. The holy Ghost in Gr. calleth it bread of proposition, Mar. 1. 26. & in a contrary order, the proposition of bread (or of cakes)

Heb. 9. 2. that is, with us, Shew-bread; which did show & present themselves to the Lord upon the table instead of Israel. For there were made every week twelve cakes, according to the number of the 12. tribes of Israel; to make every cake was take two tenth deals of an Epha, or bushd of fine flower; these, with pure incense were see every Sabbath new upon the table, in two rewes, six ⟨◇⟩ a rew; and the old bread was then taken away and eaten by the priests: see Lev. 24. 5. 9. with the annotations there. As the Ark signified the presence of God in his Church, so this table with the twelve cakes, signified the multitude of the faithful presented unto God in his Church, as upon a pure table, continually serving him: made by faith and holiness, as fine cakes; and by the mediation of Christ as by incense, made a sweet odour unto God, Acts 26. 7. 1 Cor. 5. 7. 2. Cor. 5. 15. It may also signify the spiritual repast which the Church hath from and before God, who feedeth them with Christ the bread of life, whose offering, of himself, was a sweet odour to God for his Church, before whom the Lord furnisheth a table, John. 6. 32. 33. 35. Ephes. 5. 2. Psal. 23. 5.

Vers. 31. Candlestick] or Light-vessel: called the candlestick of light, Exod. 35. 14. pure gold] whereupon it is called the pure candlestick, Levite. 24. 4. Exod. 31. 8. beaton-work] of one whole piece beaten with the hammer, and this was of a talent of gold, verse. 36. 39. branch] that is, branches, as the Greek translath; and the next verse manifesteth. bowles] or cups, as Gen. 44. 2. so named of the form or fashion. flowers] in Greek lilies. So R. Menachem on this place saith, that the flowers were lilies: and noteth from ancient Rabbin's, 42. particulars in the Candlestick, 22. bowles, 11. knops, and 9. flowers; which number he would have observed as mystical. As the Ark signified God's presence, and the Table with shewbread, the Church standing before him: so this Candlestick signified his Law, in the light whereof his people do serve him, Psal. 119. 105. Pro. 6. 23. 2 Pet. 1. 19. And the sundry branches, bowles, knops, and flowers, show the variety of things, and of delivering them in the Scripture; some easy, some hard to be understood, 2 Pet. 3. 16. some histories, some prophesies, some parables; &c.

Vers. 33. made like almonds] the Chaldee translath, figured; and the Greek, figured with almond-nuts: and this some refer to those also which follow, the knop, and the flower, as if they had that form. The Almond tree hath the name in Hebrew, of hasty bringing forth blossoms and fruit: and God likeneth the hasty performance of his word unto It, Ier. 1. 11. 12. So Aaron's rod miraculously bare almonds, Num. 17. 8.

Vers. 37. seven lamps] or, the lamps thereof seven: which figured the seven spirits (that is, the manifold graces of the Spirit) of God, as is written, there were seven lamps of fire, burning before the throne, which are the seven spirits of God, Revel. 4. 5. be] that is, the priest, as is expressed, Exod. 27. 21. Lev. 24. 3. See the notes there. to ascend] that is, as the Chaldee translath, to burn: for that the flame ascends upward. So in Exod. 27. 20. But the Greek version here understands it, of setting the lamps upon the top of the branches of the candlestick • ⟨◇⟩ over against the face] that is, right forward; or straight before it: as the like phrase signify ⟨...⟩ Ezek. 1. 9. 12. See also Numb. 8. 2.

Verse. 39. a talene] this is the greatest weight which ⟨◇⟩ use: it contained three thousand she•else; of which were two sorts, common and holy; as is shown on Gen. 20. 16. This talent, as all other weights about the Sanctuary, being sacred, was an hundred and twenty pound weight: or three thousand holy shekels. See the notes on Exodus 38. 24. 26.

Vers. 40. that thou make] or, and make, to wit, all these things mentioned in this Chapter, and those which follow: as the Apostle expoundeth it, see that thou make all things according, &c. Heb. 8. 5. And of tentimes, things set down in this manner, are expounded universally; as 2 Chron 6. 30. thou only knowest the heart of the sons of men, that is, of all the sons of men, 1 King. 8. 39. So, the word shall be established, Deuter. 19. 15. that is, every word, 2 Cor. 13. 1. and till I put thine enemies, Psal. 110. 1. that is, all of them, 1 Cor. 15. 25. as we for give our debtors, Matth. 6. 12. that is, everyone indebted to us, Luk. 11. 4. and many the like. pattern] in Greek type: hereupon the Apostle noteth, that the priests of Israel, served unto the example and shadow of heavenly things, Hebr. 8. 5. So all this glorious furniture of the Tabernacle, was not for worldly pomp, but for spiritual mystery of heavenly graces, which should be enjoyed by Christ; whereof see Revel. 4. and 21. chapters. Neither might Moses alter the matter, form, or fashion, of any particular, from the pattern shown him; but was strictly bound unto it, and so did observe it, Exodus 39. 42. 43.

CHAP. XXVI.

1, God commandeth to make a Tabernacle, with ten curtains embroidered. 7, And a Tent over it of eleven certaines of Goats hair. 14, And a covering for the Tent, of Rams skins, and a covering of Tachash skins. 15. The boards of the Tabernacle, of Shittim wood. 19, The sockets of silver. 26, The bars of Shittim wood. 31, The embroidered vesle between the most holy place, and the holy. 36, The hanging vesle for the door.

AND thou shalt make the Tabernacle with ten curtains of fine linen twined, and blew, and purple, and scarlet: with Cherubims, the work of a cunning workman, shalt thou make them. The length of one curtain shall be eight and twenty cubits, and the breadth four cubits, of one curtain: one measure shall be for all the curtains. Five curtains shall be coupled together, one to another, and five curtains coupled together one to another. And thou shalt make loops of blew upon the edge of the one curtain, from the selvedge in the coupling; & so shalt thou make in the uttermost edge of the curtain, in the second coupling. Fiftie loops shalt thou make in the one curtain, and fifty loops shalt thou make in the selvedge of the curtain, which is in the second coupling, the loops being one right over against another. And thou shalt make fifty taches of gold, and shalt couple together the curtains, one unto another, with the taches; and it shall be one Tabernacle. And thou shalt make curtains of go 〈...〉 〈ϕ〉 , for a Tent over the Tabernacle: eleven curtains shalt thou make them. The length of one curtain shall be thirty cu•its, [unspec] and the breadth four cubits, of one curtain: one measure shall be for the eleven curtains. And thou shalt couple together five curtains by themselves, and six curtains by themselves, and shalt double the sixth curtain in the forefront of the Tent. And thou shalt make fifty loops on the edge of the one curtain, the outmost in the coupling, and fifty loops on the edge of the curtain of the second coupling. And thou shalt make fifty taches of brass, & shalt put the taches into the loops, and shalt couple together the Tent, and it shall be one. And the overplus that remaineth of the curtains of the Tent, the half curtain that remaineth shall hang over, on the back sides of the Tabernacle. And a cubit on this side, and a cubit on that side, in the remainder in the length of the curtains of the tent, it shall be hanging over on the sides of the Tabernacle, on this side and on that side, to cover it. And thou shalt make a covering for the tent, of Rams skins died red, and a covering of Tachash skins above. And thou shalt make boards for the Tabernacle, of Shittim wood, standing up. Ten cubits shall be the length of a board, and a cubit and half a cubit the breadth of one board. Two tenons for one board, set in order one against another: so shalt thou make for all the boards of the Tabernacle. And thou shalt make the boards for the Tabernacle, twenty boards for the South •de Southward▪ And fo•ie sockets of silver shalt thou make under the twenty boards; two 〈...〉 unde• one board for his two tenons, and two sockets under another 〈◇〉 for his 〈...〉 . And the mid 〈...〉 [unspec] bar in the mids of the boards, reaching from end to end. And thou shalt overlay the [unspec] boards with gold, and their rings thou shalt make of gold, places for the bars: and thou shalt overlay the bars with gold. And [unspec] thou shalt rear up the Tabernacle according to the right fashion thereof, which thou wast shown in the mount. And thou shalt [unspec] make a veil of blew, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linen twined; the work of a cunning workman: he shall make it with Cherubims. And thou shalt hang it upon four [unspec] pillars of Shittim, overlaid with gold, their hooks shall be of gold; upon the four sockets of silver. And thou shalt hang the veise [unspec] under the taches, and shalt bring in thither within the veil, the Ark of the Testimony; and the veil shall divide unto you, between the Holy place, and the Holy of holies. And thou shalt put the Covering-mercy-seat, [unspec] upon the Ark of the Testimony, in the Holy of holies. And thou shalt set the [unspec] Table without the veil; and the Candlestick over against the table, on the side of the Tabernacle, toward the South; and the table thou shalt put on the North side. And thou shalt make an hanging-veil for the door of the Tent, of blew and purple, and scarlet, and fine linen twined; the work of the Embroiderer. And thou shalt make for [unspec] the hanging-veil five pillars of Shittim, and overlay them with gold, their hooks gold, and thou shalt cast for them, five sockets of brass.

The Chaldee translatheth it Craftsman; the Greek, Weaver: of which there is also mention in this work of the Tabernacle, Exod. 35. 35. and 39. 22. The Hebrew Doctors put a difference between this cunning work•a•, and the embroiderer, in verse 36. Wheresoever it is said in the Law, THE WORKE OF THE EMBROIDERER, that is, when the figures which are made in the weaving, are seen but on the one side; but THE WORKE OF THE CVNNING WORKEMAN, is, when the figures are seen on both sides, before and after. Maimonides, in 〈◇〉 . of the Implements of the Sanctuary, chap. 8. Sect. 15. The veil of the most holy place being of this cunning workmanship, verse 31. showeth that both sides were wrought alike.

Vers. 2▪ cubits] Hebr. by cubit, that is, measuring by the Cubit, which is six hand-breadths, or a foot and a half. of one] which may be understood of everyone, as in 2 Chron. 9. 16. one shield, it for every shield. Or, as the Greek here translatheth, the curtai•• shall be one•

Vers. 3. *one to another•] Hebr. woman to her sister, which He••aisme, the Chaldee also translatheth one 〈◇〉 another; and the Greek giveth the like sense, and Moses himself so explaineth it in Exod. 36. 10. 12. where he saith one 〈◇〉 . love, Ephes: 4. 3. 13. Co•s. 2• 2. ⟨◇⟩ this is to be for all affairs, both of peace and of war, Judges 20. 11.

Vers. 7. a Tent] that is, a Covering, spread over, so the Greek translatheth it a Covering; the Chaldee, an overspreading. See Exod. 40. 6. eleven] whereas the embroidered curtains were but ten, verse ⟨◇⟩ . So these were thirty cubits long, verse 8• those but 28. cubits, verse 2. Thus the Covering was larger in length and breadth, then the thing covered. The like may be thought by proportion of the two upper Coverings of skins, in verse 14. that they also were larger, the• this Tent of hair; though for brevity, their size is not expressed. And that this Goats hair was woven into clothe, appeareth in that it was spun by women, as the other stuff, Exod. 35. 26.

Verse 14. Tachash skins] in Greek Violet color skins, of them see Exod. 25. 5. These three sorts of Coverings served for the safety of the Tent, and things in the same, from the injury of the weather: also by these covers and veils, the people were kept from beholding the holy things: as at the removing of the Tent likewise, Num. 4. 5. 15. So they signified the safety of God's Church, covered and hid from the injuries of the world, Esa. 4. 6. and 25. 4. Psal. 27. 5. that the S•ne shall not light on them, nor any heat, Rev. 7. 16• and the state of the Church then, which had the mysteries of Christ under shadows and coverings, now taken away• Heb. 10. 1. Therefore the Tabernacle of the Gospel is described without any such veils or covers, in the open heaven, where the most holy things, even the A•e of God's Covenant is to be seen, Rev. 4 1. 6. and 11. 19. and 21. 2. 3. &c.

Vers. 15. boards] these were to bear up the embroidered curtain•• the Greek calleth them styles or pillars: and to these, with the silver sockets whereon they stood, (verse 19.) the Apostle alludeth, when he calle•lie God's House and Church, the pillar and stay of the Truth, 1 Tim. 3. 15.

Vers. 17. tenons] called in Hebrew hands, for that they held fast in the mortai•es of the sockets. set in order] or, set ladder wise, that is, equally distant one from another, as the staes of a ladder.

Vers. 19. sockets] or bases, as the Greek translatheth them, the ⟨...⟩ grounds that sustained the boards, having hollow mortai• for the tenons of the boards to be fastened in. Everyone of these sockets, was of a talent of silv•, ⟨...⟩ an ••dred and twenty pound weight, ⟨...⟩ •

Vers. 20. twenty boards] and every be and being a ••bi• and an half broad, verse •6• ⟨...⟩ of the whole Tabernacle appeareth to be •0. cubi•s, ⟨◇⟩ 45. foot.

Vers. 24. equally joined] or j ⟨...⟩ that is, joined alike to the boards that are ⟨◇⟩ the side, and on the end of the Tabernacle, so fastening them both together. Vers. 28. in the mids] This •ids, seemeth to be ⟨◇⟩ of the length of the boards, not of the thickness, as if this bar went through the boards, (which so must needs be of an extraordinary thickness and weight,) but through rings put in the mids of the boards, as the other bars went through rings put in the ends. reaching] or, shooting through▪ of this word, the bar afore-said, hath the name in Hebrew, which signifieth •eeing, or speedy passing through.

Vers. 29. places] Hebr. houses, as Exod. 25. 27. The Greek explaineth it thus, into which thou shalt bring the bars.

Vers. 30. right fashion] or, just constitution: Hebr. judgment, which the Greek translath fashion (or shape) and Stephen calleth it a type, Acts 7. 44. so it is the same in effect, with Exod. 25. 40.

John. 14. 2. 3. It was also a type of the Churches estate under the Gospel, wherein without veils we enjoy the mysteries of Christ, Revel. 4. and 11. 19. This place in Solomon's Temple, was called

Debir, that is, the Oracle, (because from thence God's oracles were heard, Num. 7. 89.) 1 King. 6. 19. where the Chaldee translatheth it, the house of propitiations.

Vers. 35. without] signifying that the twelve [unspec] Tribes of Israel, (represented by the Cakes upon that Table, were yet without the open enjoying of the mysteries of the Gospel, Heb. 9. 8. 9. 10. and 10. 19. and 11. 39. 40. and in respect of heaven it self, we all in this life, are yet without, and enter in only by the anker of hope, Heb. 6. 18. 19. 20. 1 Pet. 1. 4. 5. 2 Cor. 5. 1. 2. 3. &c. the south▪ which is the right hand, both in respect of the world, Psal. 89. 13. and of this Tabernacle, where God from the most holy place between the Cherubims, beheld his people worshipping with their faces towards the West, the type of them on the table, being on the Northside, and the Candlestick of his law burning with the seven lamps of his Spirit on the South side. So the Word, is above the Church.

Vers. 36. an hanging veil] or covering, as the word more properly signifieth. This was another veil, which hung as a door at the entry of the Tabernacle, through which the priests of the Law went every day to minister in the holy place; but the people might not, Heb. 9. •2. 6. Showing also the restraint of the Jewish Church, from such blessings as God hath opened unto us in Christ, Heb. 9. 9. 10. &c. and 10. •9. 20. embroiderer] or, weaver with tinsell work, who worketh curiously, and with many colors; figuring the variety of graces which God deeketh his Church with, Ezek. 16. 10. Psal. 45. •5. But the workmanship of this veil, was infe••ou• to the former, which had Cherubi••s. See the notes on verse 1.

Vers. 37. •verlay them] for this in Exod. 36. 38. is said, he overlaid their heads (or chapters.) brass] inferior to the former, which were of silver, verse 32. The 〈◇〉 things were unto God, the •ore precious they were, both for stuff and woe 〈...〉 ship.

CHAP. XXVII.

1, The brazen Altar of Burnt offering, with the vessels thereof. 9, The Court of the Tabernacle enclosed with 〈...〉 ings and pillars. 18, The measure of the Court. 10, The oil Olive beaten for the Lamp, which the priests trimmed daily.

AND thou shalt make an Altar of 〈◇〉 wood, five cubits the length, and five cubits the breadth; four squart shall the Altar be, & three cubits the height 〈...〉 of. And thou shalt make the horns of it upon the four corners thereof, of the same shall the horns of it be; and thou shalt overlay it with brass. And thou shalt make the pannes of it to receive the ashes thereof, and the shovels of it, and the basons of it, and the flesh-hooks of it, and the fire pannes of it: all the vessels thereof thou shalt make of brass. And thou shalt make for it a grate of networke of brass; and thou shalt make upon the net four rings of brass, in the four utmost parts thereof. And thou shalt put it under the compass of the Altar beneath, and the net shall be even to the midst of the Altar. And thou shalt make bars for the Altar, bars of Shittim wood, and shalt overlay them with brass. And the bars thereof shall be put into the rings: and the bars shall be upon the two sides of the Altar to bear it. Hollow with boards shalt thou make it, even as he shown thee in the mountain, so shall they make it.

And thou shalt make the Court of the Tabernacle for the south side Southward; Tapestry hangings for the Court of fine linen twined, an hundred cubits length, for one side. And the pillars thereof twenty, and [unspec] their sockets twenty, of brass; the hooks of the pillars and their fillets of silver. And so [unspec] for the North side in length, tapestry hangings, of an hundred (cubits) length; and the pillars thereof twenty, and their sockets twenty of brass, the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets of silver. And for the breadth [unspec] of the court on the Westside, tapestry hangings of fifty cubits; their pillars ten, and their sockets ten. And the breadth of the Court on the East side Eastward, fifty cubits. [unspec] And fifteen cubits the tapestry-hangings for the side: their pillars three, and their [unspec] sockets three. And for the second side, fifteen [unspec] (cubits,) the tapestry hangings, their pillars three, and their sockets three. And for the gate of the Court, an hanging-veil, of twenty cubits, of blew, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linen twined, the work of the Embroiderer: their pillars four, and their sockets four. All the pillars of the Court round about shall be filleted with silver; their hooks silver, and their sockets brass. The length of the Court shall be an [unspec] hundred cubits, and the breadth fifty with fifty; and the height five cubits, of fine linen twined: and their sockets brass. All the [unspec] vessels of the Tabernacle, for all the service thereof, and all the pins thereof, and all the pins of the Court, brass.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

And thou shalt command the sons of Israel, that they take unto thee, pure oil olive, beaten for the Light, to cause the Lamp to ascend up continually. In the Tent of the Congregation, without the veil, which is before the Testimony, Aaron and his sons shall order it, from evening unto morning, before Jehovah: it shall be a statute for ever unto their generations, on the behalf of the sons of Israel.

Annotations.

Altar] in Hebrew Mizbeach, in Greek Thusiasterion, so named of sacrifices offered thereupon, and it was anointed, dedicated, sanctified to be most holy, that it might sanctify the gifts offered thereon, and whatsoever touched it should be holy, Numb. 7. 1. 88. Exod. 29. 37. Matth. 23. 19. It is called by the Prophets, Ariel, the Lion of God: and Harel, the Mountain of God, Ezek. 43. 15. The Altar and Sacrifice signified Christ, sanctifying himself for his Church, and by his mediation sanctifying the daily service of his people, whereof also the Altar was a public igne, Hebrews 13. 10-15. John. 17. 19. Esa. 19. 19. 20. Gen. 8. 20. and 12. 7. Shittim] in Gr. incorruptible wood, see Ex. 25. 5. foursquare] This form signifieth firmness and stability: therefore the heavenly Jerusalem is foursquare, Rev. 12. 16. so was the figure of it, Ezek. 48. 20. & the most holy place in the Temple & Tabernacle, 2 Chro. 3. 8. The Altar prophesied of under the Gospel, though it be much larger, (because the worshippers are increased all over the world,) yet is it also foursquare, Ezek. 43. 16.

Vers. 2. horns] which were not only for ornament, but to keep things from falling off the Altar, for the horns were upward, Ezek. 43. 16. And horns usually signifying power and might, (Hab. 3. 4. Lam. 2. 3. Ier. 48. 25.) these four horns of the Altar, signified the power and glory of Christ's Priesthood, for the salvation of his Church, gathered from the four corners of the earth. brass] which was strong and durable, for to bear the fire that continually burned upon this Altar: hereby figuring Christ's sufferance of God's wrath and afflictions, without being consumed or overcome, John. 6. 12. So mountains of brass, signify God's invincible providence, Zach. 6. 1. & Christ's brazen feet, Revel. 1. 15. and the man like brass in Ezek. 40. 3. have like mystery of strength, and invincibleness. See also Job 40. 18. Mich. 4. 13. So the instruments of the Altar here following.

Vers. 3. sho•else] instruments to take away ashes, or any filth. Such Hi•am made also in Solomon's Temple, 1 King. 7. 40. 45. •asons] or, bowl's, in Greek, vials, these were to hold liquid things, as the blood of the Sacrifices, &c. So 1 King. 7. 40. Zach. 14. 20. fleshhookes] instruments with teeth, to take flesh out of po•s, &c. 1 Sam. 2. 13. 14. So in 2 Chron. 4. 16. firepannes] wherein coals of fire were put: Englished sometime ce•sers, Levite, 10. 1. and 16. 12. These instruments figured the ministry of the Word, in the Church of Christ: which serveth to purge the filth and corruption of the flesh, and to kindle the fire of the spirit, for the pure service of God, Rom. 12. 1. 2. and 15. 16. Zach. 14. •0. 21.

V. 4. a grate] or, sieve, as the word is Englished in Amos 9. 9. It was a broad plate of brass with many little holes, through which ashes and the like things might fall: and served as an hearth for the fire to burn upon.

Vers. 5. put it] that is, the gra•• or net forementioned: the Greek translath, put them, meaning the rings. the compass] The Hebrew carcob, is nowhere found but in this history here, and in Exod. 38. 4. the Greek version maketh it to be the grate fore-spoken of. Others refer it to the square compass which was within the Altar that was hallow, verse 1. and 8. where either by rings, or upon a ledge, this grate was hanged on the mids. This signified the place within, where the holy fire always burneth, that is, the heart: which sustaineth also the sacrifice: and where all ashes and excrements of corruption are inwardly conveyed away, as they are discovered by God's Word and Spirit, and our sanctification furthered by afflictions, 2 Tim. 1. 3. and 2. 22. Rom. 12. 1. 1•. Hebr. 9. 14. and 12. 10.

Vers. 8. he] that is, God shown: or, according to the Greek translation, as it was shown. Thus all the instruments of God's daily service in Israel were appointed and shown of God himself, that no place might be left for man's will-worship or inventions, Colos. 2. 23. Matth. 15. 9.

Vers. 9. Court] or, Courtyard, an open place: into which the people should come daily unto the sacrifices and public service of God, Psal. 100. 4. and 116. 17. 18. 19. Thus was the Habitation of God, divided into three rooms, the outward Court which was in the open light and view of all: The Tabernacle or Holy place, which had light by the seven lamps of the gold Candlestick, and the most holy place, wherein was no external light, wherein God •ate upon the glorious Cherubims. 〈◇〉 man (who is the true Tabernacle and Temple of God) consisteth of three parts, Body. 〈◇〉, and Spirit, 1 Thes. 5. 23. The body is as the open Court, where all do see what is done. The Soul is as the Holy place, where by the lamps of God's Word and Spirit, man's reason and understanding 〈...〉: The Spirit is as the most holy place, where God only dwelleth in secret by faith, which is of things not seen, nor by human reason to be comprehended. The world also hath three parts, this i 〈...〉 wherein we live and dy• the superior, or heaven, lightened with seven Planets, and sta•res innumerable; and the Heaven of heavens, for third Heaven, 2 Cor. 12. 2.) the place of etern•ll blessedness: unto which the most holy place is resembled, Heb. 9. 24. tapestry-hangings] which were Curtaines woven with Tapestry work. The same word, when it is spoken of other matter, signifieth carved-work, as in 1 King. 6. 32. fine linen] in Greek bysse: see Exod. 25. 4. within this, (which figured the righteousness of the Saints, Revel. 19. 8.) was the Church of God to be in the service of him, as in a holy, pure and glorious inclosure.

Vers. 10. Pillars] which served to uphold those hangings fastened unto them by silver hooks. Figuring the stability of the Church, and of the righteousness thereof, by the word of God, (compared unto silver,) and Ministers of the same, Jeremiah 1. 18. Revel. 3. 12. Psalm 12. 7. Galath. 2. 9. fillets] or hoopes of silver, which compassed the •oppes of the Pillars, and served both for ornament, and for the hangings to be fastened by. They have their name in Hebrew of embracing about, and cleaving fast; derived from a word which is applied unto loving affection, Psalm 91. 14. and signify the pure love, wherewith the Saints are to embrace, and cleave to, and serve one another, Colos. 2. 2. and 3. 14. Galath. 5. 13. In the making of these it is said, that their heads also (or chapters) were overlaid with silver, Exodus 38. 17. 19.

Vers. 12. Sea] that is, the west side: see Genesis [unspec] 12. 8. fifty] so the breadth, was half so much as the length: and the form of the Court was 〈◇〉 long square, 100 cubits long, and 50 broad. The Tabernacle within the Court, was of like form 30 cubits long, and 12 broad, Exod. 26.

Vers. 14. for the side] that is, for the one side, as the [unspec] Greek translatheth it, meaning the side of the gate or entry▪ the Hebrew figuratively calleth it a shoulder.

Vers. 16. hanging veil] or, covering, for of that [unspec] it hath the name: so there was at the door of the Tabernacle, Exodus 26. 36. see the notes there▪ blew, &c.] so it differed from the other hangings of the Court, which were but of one color: this with variety of colors, represented the manifold graces of Christ applied unto us, by his blood, by whom as by a door, we have entrance and access unto God, in his Church, John 10. 9. Rom. 5. 1. 2.

Vers. 18. with fifty] that is, fifty on the West [unspec] end, with fifty on the East end. The like is to be understood before of the length; an Hundred on the one side, with an Hundred on the other: and so the Greek translation speaketh of that, as of this. five] half the height of the Tabernacle, which was Ten Cubits high: Exod. 26. 16.

Vers. 19. for all the service] the Greek explaineth [unspec] it thus, and all the instruments, such as served for the work thereof. pins] or, •ailes: stakes: which were to fasten it, and the parts thereof, that it might stand sure. These signified also the stability of the Church, and the ministry of God's word fastening the same, Ezr. 9. 8. Esa. 33. 20. and 22. 23. Zach. 10. 4.

This oil Olive signified the fruitful graces flowing from Christ and the Saints compared to Olive trees, Judge. 9. 9. Ps. 52. 10. Zach. 4. Rev. 11. 4. V. 21. the Testimony] the Tables of the Law, within the Ark, Ex. 25. 21. shall order it] by causing [unspec] it to burn, as the Greek interpreteth. The manner whereof, the Jews record to be thus: When the Priest cometh to trim the Candlestick; of every lamp that is burnt out, he takes away the week, and all the oil that remaineth in the lamp, and wipeth it, and putteth in another week, and other oil by measure, and that is half a log, (that is, about a quarter of a Pinte, of which measure, see Lev. 14. 10. and the notes on Exod. 30. 24.) and that which he taketh away, he casteth into the place of the ashes by the Altar, and lighteth the lamp which was out, and the lamp which he findeth not out, he dresseth it. The lamp which is middlemost, when it is out, he lights not it, (after it is made clean,) but from the Altar in the Court; but the rest of the lamps, everyone that is out, he lighteth from the lamp that is next. He lighteth not all the lamps at one time: but lighteth five lamps, and stayeth, and doth the other service, and afterwards cometh and lighteth the two that remain. He whose duty it is, to dress the Candlestick, cometh with a vessel in his hand, (which is called Cuz, and it is of gold, like to a great pitcher,) to take away in it the wekes that are burnt out, and the oil that remaineth i the lamp, and lighteth five of the lamps, and leaveth the vessel there before the Candlestick, &c. and goeth ⚡ *▪ afterwards •e cometh and lighteth the two lamps, and taketh up the vessel in his hand, and boweth himself down to worship, and goeth his way. ## CHAP. XXVIII.

1, Aaron and his sons are set apart for the Priests office. 2, Holy garments are appointed. 6, The Ephod• 8, And the curious girdle of it. 9▪ The two Beryl stones on the shoulders thereof, on which the names of the twelve Tribes were graven. 15, The Brestplate of judgment, with twelve precious stones therein. 21, on which the names of the twelve Tribes of Israel were graven: 22, The golden chains to fasten it. 26, And the golden rings for the same▪ 30, The Vrim and Thummim. 31, The Robe of the Ephod, with Pomgranats and Bels. 36, The golden plate of the Miter. 39, The fine linen Coat, the Miter, and the Girdle. 40, The Coats for Aaron's sons, with their girdles and bonnets, 42, and their linen breeches. 43. The Priests must we are their garments, in their administration.

AND thou, take near unto thee Aaron thy Brother, and his Sons with him, from among the Sons of Israel, that he may minister-in-the-Priests-office unto me: Aaron, Nadab, and Ab•hu, Eleazar, and Ithamar, Aaron's Sons. And thou shalt make garments of Holiness for Aaron thy Brother, for honor and for beautiful glory. And thou, speak unto all the wise hearted, whomsoever I have filled with the spirit of wisdom; and let them make Aaron's garments, to sanctify him, that he may minister-in-the Priests-office unto me. And these are the garments which they shall make, a Brestplate, and an Ephod, and a Robe, and a Coat of circled-work, a Miter, and a Girdle: and they shall make garments of Holiness, for Aaron thy brother, and for his Sons, that he may minister-in-the-Priests-office unto me. And they shall take gold, and blew, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linen. And they shall make the Ephod of gold, of blew, and of purple, of scarlet, and fine linen twined, the work of a cunning workman. It shall have the two shoulder-pieces joining together at the two edges thereof, and it shall be joined together. And the curious girdle of his Ephod which [unspec 8]is upon it▪ shall be of the same, according to the work thereof, of gold, of blew, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linen twined. And thou shalt take two Beryl stones, and shalt grave on them the names of the Sons of Israel. Six of their names on the one stone; and the names of the fix that are remaining, on the second stone, according to their births. The work of an engraver in stone, like the engravings of a signet, shalt thou engrave the two stones, with the names of the sons of Israel, enclosed in ouches of gold shalt thou make them. And thou shalt put the two stones upon the shoulders of the Ephod, stones of memorial for the sons of Israel; and Aaron shall bear their names before Jehovah, upon his two shoulders for a memorial.

And thou shalt make ouches of gold. And two chains of pure gold, at the ends shalt thou make them of wreathen work, & shalt fasten the wreathen chains to the ouches.

And thou shalt make the Brest-plate of judgment, the work of a cunning workman, like the work of the Ephod shalt thou make it, of gold, of blew, & purple, & scarlet, and fine linen twined, shalt thou make it. Foursquare shall it be, doubled; a spanne the length thereof, and a span the breadth thereof. And thou shalt embosse in it, embosment of stones, four rouse of stones: a row, a Sardius, a Topaz, & a Smaragd, the first row. And the second row, a Chalcedonie, a Sapphire, & a Sardonyx. And the third row, an Hyacinth, a Chrysoprase, and an Amethyst. And the fourth row, a Chrysolite, and a Beryl, and a Jasper, they shall be set in gold in their embosments. And the stones shall be with the names of the Sons of Israel, twelve according to their names, like the engravings of a signet, every man with his name; they shall be according to the twelve Tribes. And thou shalt make upon the Brestplate, chains, at the end, of wreathen work of pure gold. And thou shaft make upon the Brestplate, two rings of gold, and shalt put the two rings on the two ends of the Brestplate. And thou shalt put the two wreathings of gold in the two rings, on the ends of the Brestplate. And the other two ends of the two wreathings, thou shalt fa•en on the two ouches; and shalt put them on the shoulders of the Ephod before it. And thou shalt make two rings of gold, and shalt put them upon the two ends of the Brest-plate, upon the border thereof, which is in the side of the Ephod inward. And thou shalt <◊> two (other) rings of gold, and shalt put them on the two shoulders of the Ephod underneath, towards the forepart thereof, over-against the coupling thereof, above the curious girdle of the Ephod. And they shall bind the Brestplate, by the rings thereof, unto the rings of the Ephod with a lace of blew, to be above the curious girdle of the Ephod, and that the Brestplate be not loosed from the Ephod. And Aaron shall bear the names of the Sons of Israel in the Brestplate of judgment upon his heart, when he goeth in into the Holy place, for a memorial before Jehovah continually. And thou shalt put in the Brestplate of judgment, the Vrim, and the Thummim, and they shall be upon Aaron's heart when he goeth in before Jehovah, and Aaron shall bear the judgment of the Sons of Israel, upon his heart before Jehovah continually.

And thou shalt make the Robe of the Ephod all of blew. And there shall be a hole in the top of it, in the mids thereof: it shall have a binding for the hole, round about of woven work, as the hole of an habergeon shall it have, that it be not rent. And thou shalt make upon the skirts thereof, Pomgranats of blew, and of purple, and of scarlet, upon the skirts thereof, round about, & bells of gold, between them round about. A bell of gold and a pomgranate, a bell of gold and a pomgranate, upon the skirts of the Robe round about. And it shall be upon Aaron, to minister; and his sound shall be heard, when he goeth in unto the Holy place before Jehovah, & when, he goeth out, that he die not.

And thou shalt make a Plate of pure gold, and shalt grave upon it like the engravings of a signet; HOLINES TO JEHOVAH. And thou shalt put it on a lace of blew, & it shall be upon the Miter, upon the forefront of the Miter it shall be. And it shall be upon Aaron's forehead, and Aaron shall bear the iniquity of the holy things, which the Sons of Israel shall •allow, in all the gifts of their holy things; and it shall be upon his forehead always, for favorable acceptance of them before Jehovah. And thou shalt weave with circled work the Coat of sine linen; and thou shalt make the Miter of fine linen: and thou shalt make the Girdle the work of the Embroiderer. And for Aaron's Sons th• shalt make Coats, and thou shalt make for them Girdles, and Bonnets shalt thou ma• for them, for honor, & for beautiful glory. And thou shalt put them upon Aaron thy brother, and upon his sons with him; and shalt anoint them, and fill their hand, and sanctify them, that they may minister-in-the-priests-office unto me. And thou shalt make for them linen breeches to cover the [unspec] naked flesh; from the loins even unto the thighs they shall be. And they shall be upon Aaron, and upon his sons, when they go in unto the Tent of the congregation; or when they come near unto the Altar, to minister in the Holy place, that they bear not iniquity, and die: (it shall be) a statute for ever, to him and to his seed after him.

Annotations.

TAke nere] or, cause to come •igh, that is, to present themselves unto thee. Hitherto God hath appointed such holy things as pertained to his service: now he giveth order for holy persons to administer before him. minister in, &c.] or, execute the Priesthood. This honor no man might take unto himself, but he that was called of God, as Aaron, Heb. 5. 4. In this work Aaron, chiefly figured out Christ, & secondarily all Christians, whom he hath made priests unto God, Heb. 5. 5. Re. 1. 6.

Vers. 2. of holiness] that is, holy garments, (in Greek, an holy stole;) so called because they signified [unspec] the holy graces of God's Spirit, wherewith Christ and his people should be clothed. For such an high priest it became us to have, as is holy, harmless, undefiled, Heb. 7. 26. and God's priests are to be clothed with justice, and with salvation, Psal. 132. 9. 16. and so are all the Saints, Isaiah. 61. 10. beautiful glory] the Greek translatheth for honor and glory. These two, signify the highest degree of dignity; honor inwardly in the heart and affections: glory outwardly in the appearance and carriage: (as in Isaiah. 28. 1. 4. glory, or beauty, is compared to a flour; and in Isaiah. 61. 3. it is opposed unto ashes.) As Jesus the son of Iosedek the high priest was clothed in filthy garments, which signified iniquity: in him and his ministration, Zach. 3. 3. 4. so these garments of honor and glory, signified the holy and pure administration of Jesus the Son of God, who offered himself without spot unto God, to purge our conscience from dead works, Heb. 9. 14. by whom also his Church is clothed with garments of beautiful glory, Esa. 52. 1. with fine linen clean and bright, which is the righteousness of the Saints, Rev. 19. 8. From this speech of honor and glory: the Hebrew Doctors have delivered, that the garments of the priests were to be new & fair, &c. like the garments of great men. If they were foul, or torn, or overlong, or overshort, &c. and the Priest did his service in them▪ it was unlawful. Every Priests garment that was made filthy, they did not whiten it, or wash it, but leave it for threads (or week,) and put on new. The high Prists garments, when they were old, were laid up in store: and the white garments wherein he served on the fasting day, (mentioned in Lev. 16. 4.) he never served in them the second time, but they were reserved in the place where ﴿ϕ﴾ put them off, as it is written, AND HE SHALL LEAVE THEM THERE, (Levite. 16. 23.) and it was unlawful to put them to any use. The coats of the inferior Priests, when they were worn old, they made of them threads (or week) for the Candlestick continually. Maimonides, in treat. of the Implements of the Sanctuary, chap. 8. Sect. 4. 5. 6.

Vers. 3. whomsoever] Heb. him whom I have filled. Here God showeth his Spirit to be the author and teacher of handicrafts: the Prophet showeth the like of husbandry, Isaiah. 28. 24. 26. sanctify] or consecrate him, that is, to be a sign of his sanctification from God. Therefore it was death to minister without these garments, v. 43. and they are called holy garments, verse 2. and in times following were laid up in holy chambers, and the Priests might not wear them among the people, to sanctify them with their garments, Ezek. 44. 19.

Vers. 4. circled work] this differed from broidered work, which was of many colors, but this coat was of one color, white, being of fine linen only, verse 39. but woven with circles, or round hollow places like eyes; wherefore the same word is after, in v. 11. used for ouches, or hollow places wherein stones were set. Maimonides in the forenamed treatise, chap. 8. Sect. 16. saith; The coats both of the high Priest, and of inferior priests, were of circled work, that is, had many hollow places (or houses) in the weaving, like the hollow place of cups, &c. and a Girdle] To these six add the golden Plate (or crown) verse 36. and the Breeches, verse. 42. so the high Priest hath eight ornaments: all which, & no more, he was to wear in his administration. They may be viewed in the order as they were put on (Levite. 8. 7. 8. 9. thus:)

1. Breeches of linen, put next upon his flesh.

2. A Coat of fine linen, put over the Breeches.

3. A Girdle embroidered, of fine linen, blew, purple, and scarlet: wherewith the coat was girded.

4. A robe, all of blew, with seventy two bells of gold, and as many Pomgranats, of blew, purple, and scarlet, upon the skirts thereof. This was put over the coat and girdle.

5 An Ephod, of Gold, and of blew, purple, scarlet and fine linen, cunningly wrought: on the shoulders whereof, were two goodly Beryl stones, on which were graven the names of the twelve Tribes of Israel. This Ephod was put over the Robe, and girded thereto with a Curious girdle made of the same.

6. A Breastplate, cunningly wrought of gold, blew, purple, scarlet, and fine linen: which being a span square, was fastened by golden chains and rings upon the Ephod. Herein were set twelve several stones, on which the names of the twelve tribes were graven: and herein was the Vrim, and Thummim.

7. A Miter of fine linen, sixteen cubits long, wrapped about his head.

8 A Plate of pure gold, (or Holy crown,) two fingers broad, whereon was graven HOLINES TO JEHOVAH. This was tied with a lace of blew, upon the forefront of the Miter.

These eight did the high Priest wear in the Sanctuary, his feet and hands (as of other Priests) being always bare, and washed daily, when he went into administer, Exod. 30. 21.

The inferior priests garments were four.

1 Linen Breeches.

2 Fine linen Coats.

3 Embroidered Girdles of fine linen, blew, purple, and scarlet, like the high priests.

4 Bonnets of fine linen, as large as the high priests Miter. Of these shall be spoken after in this Chapter particularly▪ 〈◊〉 Unto these we may here annex the four extraordinary garments, which the high priest wore on the Expiation day only.

- 1 Linnen Breeches, next his flesh.
- 2 A holy linen; Coat.

- 3 A linen Girdle.
- 4 A linen Miter.

These he put on, when he made reconciliation for the Church, in the most holy place, once in the year, (which was the tenth day of September) and having finished his service, he put these cloths off, and never wore them more, but left them there. See Lev. 16. 4. 23. with the annot.

Verse 5. gold] beaten into thin plates, and cut into wiers, see Exod. 39. 3. This gold, wrought with the three bloody colors, & with fine white bisse, signified the faith, obedience, and sufferings of Christ; and his justice, in the administration of his priesthood, Heb. 2. 17. and 5. 7. 8. 9. and 9. 12. 14 Psal. 132. 9.

Verse 6 Ephod] or, Amicle. Ephod is the Hebr. name: so called of compassing fitly the body, and being tied thereto, Exod. 29. 5. By the Hebrew Doctors, it was of breadth, according to a man's back, from shoulder to shoulder: and long behind, down to the feet. Maimonides, treat. of the Implements of the Sanctuary, Chap. 9. Sect. 9. Others think it was short, as a jacke, or habergeon. Josephus (in the 3. book of his Antiquities, Chap. 8.) saith it was a cubit long. In Greek it hath the name of the shoulders, upon which it was put. This was the outmost of all the priests garments; and served to hold fast the Brestplate: and figured out in Christ, his justice, which he put on, as an habergeon, Isaiah 59. 17. who appeared clothed like a priest, Rev. 1. 13. Besides this golden Ephod (which the high priest only did wear) there was another sort of linen Ephods, worn by inferior priests, and other persons, 1 Sam. 22. 18. and 2. 18. 2 Sam. 6. 14. cunning workman] who wrought or wove both sides alike▪ 〈ϕ〉 26. 1. Of this work, the Jews have thus recorded: The gold that was in the weaving of the Ephod and of the Brestplate, was thus wrought; He took one 〈ϕ〉 of pure gold, and put it with six threads of blew, and twisted these seven threads as one. And so he did one thread of gold with six of purple, and one with six of scarlet, and one with six of linen. Thus there were four threads of gold, and 28 threads in all: Of which 28 he 〈ϕ〉 the Brestplate, and Ephod, &c. Maimonides treat of the Implements of the Sanctuary c. 9, S. 5. &c.

Verse 7. shoulder pieces] Hercupon this garment is called in Greek Epomis, in Latin Superhumerales, of being put upmost upon the shoulders There were 〈ϕ〉 upon it two shoulder pieces, that they might be upon the shoulders of the priest, saith Maimonides in the Impl. of the Sanct. Chap. 9. Sect. 9.

Vers. 8. curious girdle] called in Hebrew Cheshe, of the cunning workmanship, in Greek, the woven work. Of this Maimonides, (in the forenamed place, chap. 9. Sect. 9.) saith; The Ephod had as it were two hands, (or pieces) going out from it, in the weaving, on this side and on that, with the which they girded it; and they are called Chesheb (the curious girdle) of the Ephod, And after (in Sect. 11.) he saith, The curious girdle of the Ephod, was tied upon his heart, under the Brestplate. This differeth from the Girdle (Abnet), which is after spoken of in verse 39. and by reason of the gold in this, which the other had not, it is called the golden girdle. And Christ appearing with a priestly garment, and girded about the paps with a golden girdle, Revel. 1. 13. was declared thereby to be our high Priest, and it hath reference to this curious girdle of the Ephod. See more on Exodus 29. 5. of his Ephod] or, of the Ephod of it, which the Chaldee expoundeth, of the Ornament (or fitting) thereof. This is said to be upon it: to distinguish it from the Girdle after mentioned in verse 39.

Vers. 10. birthes] or, generations, by their mothers; [unspec] First of all, Leah's Children, (as Moses him-self reckoneth them, Exod. 1. verse. 2. 3.) and then the other Mothers children, and Rachel's last, as shall after be more fully shown, in their several stones; verse. 17. &c. Of this also Maimonides writeth, in the same place, chap. 9. Sect. 9. He set on each shoulder a Beryl stone, foursquare, embossed in gold: and he graved on the two stones, the names of the Tribes, six on one stone, and six on another, according to their birthes: and they wrote Joseph's name Ihoseph (as he is written in Psal. 81. 6.) So there were 25. letters on the one stone, and 25. on the other. And the stone whereon Reuben was written, was on the right shoulder; and the stone that Simeon was written on, was on the left; after the manner here set down.

Vers. 11. ingraver in stone] or, stone cutter, Jeweler. This engraving in precious stone, and that like a signet, with the names of the Sons of Israel; signified the firm and perpetual love, memorial, esteem, and sustentation of the Church of Christ, Job 19. 23. 24. Song 8. 6. Hagg. 2. 23. ouches] that is, bellow places, in which the stones were set fast, see v. 4.

Vers. 12. a memorial] The G. addeth a memorial concerning them. In this work, Aaron was a figure of Christ, Hebrews 7. 28. the Sons of Israel, of all Saints, called the Israel of God, Galath. 6. 16. The two Beryl stones, square and of equal <...> sse, signified the like precious faith and <...> tie, which all have obtained before God <ϕ> <...> , <ϕϕ> 1. Galatians 3. 28. 29. (The Be <...> being also the stone mentioned in the descrip <...> of Paradise, Genesis 2. 12. and the stone of <...> 28. 20. who figured Christ in his <...> of Israel, Genesis 45. 7. 1•. and 49. 24.) The <ϕ> on which they are borne, signified the power and principality, which Christ hath <...> Church, presenting the same by his mediation, pure and holy unto God, and causing them to <...> perpetual memory, Isaiah. 9. 6. and 22. <ϕ> . Eph. 5. 25. 27. John. 17. 19. 20. 24. Mal. 3. 16. Psalm 115. 12.

Verse 14. at the end] or, equal: of like proportion. So in verse 22. The Chaldee translatheth limited▪ the Greek, mixed with flowers. <ϕ> .] Hebr. give, which word is used for making firm fast and steady, as the Scriptures show; one Prophet saying, Thou hast given, 1 Chron. 17. 22. another saying for it, Thou hast confirmed, 2 Sam. 7. 24. So after in verse 25.

Vers. 15. Brestplate] in Hebrew, Choshen, which is not easy to interpret; but because it was an ornament of the breast, we call it a Brestplate. Josephus in his Greek Antiquities, book 3. chap. 8. keepeth the Hebrew, Essen: the Lxx. Interpreters usually translate it Logeion, and Logion, as being the <ϕ> ornament, because by Urim and Thummim that was therein, God gave answers to the governors, Numb. 27. 21. It hath affinity with Cha <...> , that signifieth silence, as implying a silent oracle, to be seen on the breast of the high Priest, rather than heard. Also with Chazah, that signifieth seeing, and so we may English it, the Contemplation (or Consideration) of judgment, and it noteth the care that the Priest should have, of answering judgment and equity to them that asked of God by him. Whereof see more in the notes on v. 3•. cunning workman] woven both sides alike.

Verse 16. doubled] Maimonides (in the foresaid treatise, chap. 9. Sect. 6.) explaineth it thus, that the cloth (of the Brestplate) was woven with cunning work of gold, and of blew, purple, scarlet, and fine linen; with 28. threads, as is before shown. The length of it was a cubit (that is, two spans) and the breadth of it, <ϕ> : and they doubled it into two, so it was a strain every way, foursquare. And they set thereon four <ϕ> of stones, expressed in the Law, and every stone was foursquare, &c.

Verse 17. Four rewes] as the twelve tribes encamping about God's Tabernacle, were in four quarters, East, West, North, and South, three tribes in every quarter, Numb. 2. Sardius] or Sardine: a precious stone, called in Hebrew, Odem, of Adam, which signifieth Ruddie, Lam. 4. 7. for it was a blood-coloured stone. Accordingly the Chaldee Paraphrase calleth it Samkan, and Targum Yerushalmi Samketha, that is, Red. In the Greek, and by the holy Ghost in Rev. 21. 20. it is named a Sardius, (of Sardis a chief City in Asia, where such stones were.) On this stone the name of R•ben was engraved, and it foreshowed the warlike state of that Tribe, which frontierd upon the enemy, and in Saul's days, conquered the Hagaruns, 1 Chron. 5. 10, and went armed before their brethren, at the conquest of Canaan. Ios. 4. 12. 13. Topaz] so named of the Greek Topazion, here, and in Revel. 21. 20. In Hebrew, Pitdah; from the letters of which word transplac'd, Topad or Topaz are derived. It was a precious stone found in Ethiopia, Job 28. 16. By the Hebrew Doctors, and also by Pliny in his 37. book, chap. 8. the Topaz is of a glorious green color, and 16. Book, of a golden color. Hereupon one sort of Topaz, is of Pliny named Praseides, Green coloured: and to this the Chaldee name agreeth, darkan in Onkelos, and Iarkatha, in Thalgum Yerushalmi, both signifying green, On this stone Symeons name was grav'd, of which Tribe there was little glory, till Hezekiah days, when the Symeonites smote the remnant of Amaleek, 1 C. 4. 42. 43. Smaragd] or Emerald, as it is also English'd. In Hebrew it is call'd Barekath, of Barak, which is Lightning, Ezek. 1. 13. and the Chaldee, names agree hereunto. But the Greek 16. Book, it Smaragdos, and so the holy Ghost in Revel. 21. 19. Which Smaragd (or Emerald) is of a most goodly and glorious green color, that the eye of man is delighted, refreshed, but, never fill'd with the looking upon it, as Pliny (in his 37. book, chap. 5.) saith. And as there are many sorts of Emeralds, so some glister like the Sun, whose Charret is therefore feign'd by Poets, to shine with clear Smaragds, Ovid Metamorph. 2. and the Greek name (as well as the Hebrew) implieth so much Smaragd, as being Maragd, of Maira, to shine. On this stone, Levi was engrav'd. So the Yerushalmi Targum upon this place, having nam'd these three stones, addeth, write plainly upon them, the names of the three Tribes, Reuben, Simeon, Levi. So this glistering stone, foreshow'd Levi's glory, who should reach Jacob God's judgments, and Israel his Law, Deut. 33. 10. whose lightnings do illuminate the world, Psal. 97. 4 Of Levi came Moses and Aaron, and all the Priests, and John the Baptist; who shined as Emeralds in the Church. So the covenant of grace is resembled by a Rain-bow of an Emerald color, in Revel. 4. 3.

Vers. 18. Chalcedonie] in Hebrew Nophec, which the Chaldee of Onkelos turn'd Ismeragdin, that is, the Smaragd forem ention'd; but Targum Yerushalmi calleth it Cadcedana, to which the name given it by the holy Ghost, Chalcedon, Revel. 21. 19. agreeth. The Greek version hath Anthrax, that is, a Carbuncle, and so the Chalcedonte is like unto a Carbuncle, and one sort of it, as Pliny showeth in book 37. chap. 7. This Charcedonie (as it is also call'd) shineth clear like a star, but somewhat purple-colour'd: and the Carbuncle (which is so call'd Pyropus,) hath the name of fire, like which it shineth. The ground of this Chalcedonie, seemeth to be the Hebrew Cadcod mention'd in Isaiah. 54. 12. On this stone, Judah's name was grav'd. In Caleb, Othniel, David, and Solomon, this stone shown his glory, but above all in Christ, who came of this Tribe according to the flesh, Hebrews 7. 14. Sapphire] this is the Hebrew name, kept also in Greek, and other tongues; but in the Chaldee it is Sh (...). It is a goodly stone, transparent, very hard, of blew or sky-color, used therefore in heavenly visions as Exodus 24. 10. Ezechiel 1. 26. The Sapphire and the S (...) ragd, are the most pleasant and comfortable for the eye to look upon. Upon this stone the name of Issachar was engrav'd. Sardonyx] This name seemeth to be made of the S (...) and the Onyx stone, nam'd in Hebrew, Iahalom, of S-ting; and in Chaldee, Sabh (...), that is, bearing strokes: for it is a very hard stone, like the Adamant or Diamond and in Revelation 21. 20. is nam'd in Greek 16. Book: which by the name, and by testimony of 16. Book, chapter 6. is mix'd of a white and reddish color, shining like to the nail of a man's hand set into flesh. On this gem, Zebulon was graved: so the Yerushalmi Targum, setting down this second row, addeth; Write plainly on them, the names of the three Tribes, Judah, Issachar, Zebulon. So in Genesis 46. in Exodus 1. 2. 3. in 1 Chronicles 2. 1. and often, these two, Issachar, and Zebulon, are joined with the former four Patriarchs, that so all Leah's children, might be together.

Verse 19. Hyacinth] or, Iacinth, that is, of a bright purple color: by the Greek it is translated the Ligure, but some copies have for it the Hyacinth, and so the Holy Ghost translatheth it in Revelation 21. 20. In Hebrew it is named Leshem: upon it Dan was graven: and a city called Leshem, did afterwards fall unto the Tribe of Dan, as this stone did portend, and so Leshem was called Dan, Joshua 19. 47. Chrysoprase] which name signifieth a golden green, so noting the color of this stone. In Heb. it is Sheb: the common Greek version maketh it an Achate (or Agate,) of which sort of stone, there are many colors, and some the best, that are green with a golden list: which therefore the holy Ghost calleth a Chrysoprase, in Revelation 21. 20. Naphtalims name was graven upon it. So the two Sons of Bilhah, Rachel's maid, are joined together. Amethyst] called in Hebrew Achlama: in the Greek version, and in Revelation 21. an Amethyst, which is a stone of a wan purple color, and ruddie: so being a warlike sign, and Gad was graven on this stone, whose wars were prophesied, and his victories, Genesis 49. 19. and had fulfilling in 1 Chronicles 5. 18. 19. 20. Here again the Yerushalmi Targum, naming the third row of stones, addeth, Write plainly on them, the names of the three Tribes, Dan, Naphtali, and G•d.

Vers. 20. Chrysolite] which signifieth a golden stone, for the glorious color of it, which is a golden Sea green, and shining. The Hebrew name is Th•shish: which is also the name of the Ocean Sea, Psalm 48. 8. and accordingly the Chaldee <◊> it Cr••jamma, of the Sea-color. The Greek version, and Revelation 21. call it the Chrysolite. As•r was graven upon this stone, who dwelled near the Sea, wi•h is brethren. Bryll] in Hebrew Shoham, in the Greek version, and in Rev. 21. 29. it is called the Beryl: so the Chaldee here & elsewhere nameth i•Burla. This was Joseph's stone on which he was engraved: and on two of these stones, all the Tribes were written, v. 11. The Beryl is of the sky-color, but waterish, and as there are many sorts of Berylls, so have they many colors. This stone is said to be precious, Job 28. 16. and in Joseph, Joshua, Deborah, Gideon, Ieph•he, and Abdon the Judges of Israel, the glory of the Beryl shown it self. Jasper] of the Hebrew Iashpeh, and the Greek Iaspis: a stone of great worth and glory; of which are many sorts of sundry colors, some green, some azure or of aerie color, called therefore Aerizusa, by Pliny, in Book 37. Chap. 8. some are party-coloured and spotted, like Panthers, therefore the Chaldee paraphrase here calleth it Pantere: and the Chaldee on Song. 5. 14. saith Benjamin was engraved upon Apant•r. This last stone for the youngest Benjamin, is the first foundation in the heavenly Jerusalem, Revelat. 21. 19. The glory of this Jasper, shined in Benjamin's Tribe, when the Temple of Solomon was there built in Jerusalem, Deuteronomy 33. 12. Joshua 8. 11. 28. and in particular persons, as Ehud (Judge. 3.) Mordecai and Ester, but chiefly in Paul the Apostle, who was of this Tribe, Rom. 11. 1. whose writings are as a goodly Jasper, shining among the precious stones of the Scripture. Here also the Targum Yerushalmi addeth to the stones of the fourth row: Write plainly on them, the names of the three Tribes, Aser, Joseph, and Benjamin. set] or, fastened withi••llow places (or o•ches) of gold, as the Hebrew word implieth: see verse 11.

Vers. 21. according to] or, by their names, and here [unspec] the Greek translation addeth, according to their generations (or birthes) as was expressed in the 10. verse. and is here again implied. For in the same order that they were graven upon the Be•yls, were they here set and graven upon twelve several stones: as they are here set down in the page following.

Upon the	1 Sardine	was graven	1. Reuben	Sons of Leah.
2 Topaze	2. Simeon
3 Smaragd	3. Levi
4 Chalcedonie	4. Judah
5 Sapphire	5. Issachar
6 Sardonyx	6. Zebulon
7 Hyacynth	7. Dan	Of Bilhah, Rachel's maid.
8 Chrysoprase	8. Naphtali
9 Amethyst	9. Gad	Of Zelpha, Leah's maid.
10 Chrysolite	10. Aser
11 Beryl	11. Joseph	Of Rachel.
12 Jasper	12. Benjamin

This order of names is before shown out of the Yerushalmi Targum: the same is also expressed by the Chaldee paraphrast upon Son. 5. 14. where speaking of the twelve tribes engraved on twelve precious stones, he nameth them thus: 1 Reuben, 2 Syme••, 3 Levi, 4 Judah, 5 Issachar, 6 Zebulon• 7 D••, 8 Naphtali, 9 Ga•, 10 Aser, 11 Joseph, 12 Benjamin: who were like to the twelve celestial signs, bright as lamps, and polished in their works like  $\langle \phi \rangle$ , and shining like Sapphire•. The same order we shown also from Maimonides, to be upon the two Berylls, ver. 10. except the transplacing of Bilhahs Sons. like the engravings] the Chaldee addeth, written plainly like the engraving of a ring (or signs.)

Vers. 22. at the end] or, of equality: see verse. 14. The Greek translath, mixed. [unspec 22]

V. 25. before it] or towards the forepart of it, or of him, that is the priest; for both on the forepart of the Ephod, and before the priest did the Brestplate hang.

Verse 26. border] or, edge: Hebrew lip. [unspec]

Verse 28 bind] with high knots, or they shalt lift up. above, &c.] The curious girdle of the Ephod was bound upon his heart, under the Brest plate: saith Maimonides, in the fore-said treatise, Chap. 9. Sect. 11. loosed] the Chaldee saith, broken off. The manner of fastening is by the Hebrews described thus: There were made on each shoulder two rings; one above on the top of the shoulder, and another beneath the shoulder, above the curious girdle. And they fastened two <...> ings of gold, in the two rings that were above, & they are called chains. Afterwards, they put the ends of the •eathings of the Brestplate, into the rings that were above, on the shoulders of the Ephod. Then they p•t the two laces of blew, which were on the edges of the Brestplate, into the two rings which were above the curious girdle of the Ephod. And they let down the <ϕ> which were in the rings on the shoulders of the Ephod, unto the rings of the Brestplate which were uppermost; that the one might cleave fast unto the other, and so the Brestplate might not be loosed from the Ephod. M <...> ony, treat. of the Implements of the Sanctuary <ϕ> . 9. s. 9. 10.

Ver. 29. upon his heart] The Greek translatheth upon his breast: so in Revel. 15. 6. the breasts girded meaneth the hearts. As before, presenting them •nto God, he bare them on his shoulders, on two <ϕ> of equal worth and glory: so now, to signify God's favor in Christ towards the Church, they are borne upon his heart, graven on sundry stones, which signified the manifold and sundry graces of the Spirit, wherewith the Saints are glorified here, everyone in their measure; proceeding all from the love of Christ. Wherefore the Church desiring confirmation in his grace & love, prayeth, Set me as a •ignet upon thy heart, Song. 8. 6. memorial] which the graving did signify, as in Isaiah 49. 15. 16. I will not forget thee, behold I have graven thee upon the palms of my hands, &c.

Ver. 30. the Urim and the Thummim] which is by interpretation, the Lights and the Perfections; but what these were, is not easy to say. The Gr. translatheth them, the Manifestation and the Truth. There is no commandment given unto Moses, for to make them; neither is there any mention of them in Exod. 39. where the making of all Aaron's ornaments is related: but in Levite. 8. 8. it is said of Moses, he put in the Brestplate, the Vrim and the Thummim. From which some of the Hebrews (as R. Menachem on Exod. 28.) do gather, that they were not the work of the artificer, neither had the artificers, nor the Church of Israel, in them any work, or any voluntary offering; but they were a mystery delivered to Moses from the mouth of God; or they were the work of God himself. For Moses took the Urim and the Thummim, and put them in the Brest-plate, after that he had put upon Aaron, the Ephod and the Brestplate, Levite. 8. 7. 8. Some do think, that as those words, Holiness to Jehovah, (in verse 36.) were graven on a plate, and put on Aaron's forehead: so these words Vrim and Thummim, were likewise graven on a golden plate, and put in the Brestplate, which was double, (verse 16.) for something to be put therein. Others think, they were no other then the precious stones fore-spoken of. The use of these Vrim and Thummim, was to enquire of God, and to receive an answer of his will by them; as is said of Eleazar the priest, he shall ask counsel for (Joshua) after the judgment of Vrim before the LORD, Numb. 27. 21. The manner of asking counsel, is recorded by the Hebrews to be thus. When they inquired, the priest stood with his face before the Ark; and he that inquired, stood behind him, with his face to the back of the priest: and the inquirer said, Shall I go up? or, Shall I not? And he asked not with an high voice, nor with the thought of his heart only, but with a sub <...> <ϕ> as one that prayeth by himself. And forthwith; the holy Ghost came upon the Priest, and he beheld the Brestplate, and saw the 〈...〉 〈∞〉 of prophesy, Go up; or go not up; in the letters that shown 〈∞〉 themselves upon the Brestplate before his face. Then the Priest answered him and said, Go up, 〈∞〉 not up. And they made no inquiry of two things at once: and if they so inquired yet the 〈...〉 〈∞〉 but unto the first only. And they inquired not herey, for a common man: but either for the King, or for him on whom the affairs of the Congregation •ay Maimonides, treat. of the Implements of the Sanctuary, Chap. 10. Sect. 11. 12. Of this, see examples which may give light hereunto, in Num. 27. 18. 21. Judge. 1. 1. and 20. 18. 28. 1 Sam. 13. 9. 10. 11. 12. and 28. 6. These Vrim and Thummim, were lost at the Captivity of Babylon, and wanted at the people's return, Ezr. 2: 63. Nehemiah 6. 65. neither do we find, that ever God answered by them anymore. The Bab. Talmud, 〈∞〉 •oma, Chap. 1. sol. 21. speaking of Hag. 〈∞〉 . 8. where the Hebrew word Ecchabda, (I will be glorified) wanteth the letter H, which in numbering signifieth five, saith, The want of H, showeth the want of five things, in the second Temple, which had been in the first, namely, 1 The Ark, with the Mercy-seat; and Cherubims: 2 The fire (from heaven:) 3 The Majesty (or Divine presence:) 4 The holy Ghost: 5 and the Vrins and Thummin By the Majesty (Shekhinah) they seem to mean the Oracle in the most holy place, where God had dwelt between the Cherubims, Psal. 80. 2. Num. 7. 89. And by the holy Ghost, they mean the spirit of prophesy, not only in the Priests, but in the Prophets, as the Commentary on that place of the Talmud saith, The holy Ghost was not in the Prophets, from the second year of Darius, &c. that is, after Haggai, Zacharias, and Malachi, which were the last Prophets, and in that Kings time, Haggai, 1. 1. Zach. 1. 1 So elsewhere in the Talmud, in Sanhedrin, Chap. 1. they teach from their ancient Doctors, that after the later Prophets, Haggai, Zacharias, and Malachi were dead; the holy Ghost went up (or departed) from Israel: howbeit, they had the use of a voice (or Echo) from heaven. R. Menachem (on Ex. 28.) saith of this Oracle by Vrim & Thummim, that it was one of the degrees of the holy Ghost, (that is, of the gifts of the holy Ghost:) inferior unto Prophesy, and superior to the voice (or Echo.) Like wise R. Moses Gerundens, (on Exod. sol. 146.) affirmeth, that between the Voice and the Prophesy, were Urim and Thummin. Of this Voice (or Echo) there is no mention in the Scriptures of the Prophets: but the Hebrew-Doctors, (which say that it was in Israel after the Prophets ceased,) do often write of it, and call it Bathkol, that is, the daughter of a voice, as it were one voice proceeding out of another, such as we call an Echo; and which some think was with distinct and plain words. Of old, they had in Israel Oracies or answers from God, three manner of ways; by Dreams, or by Urim, (that is, the Priest with Vrim and Thummim, Num. 27. 21.) or by Prophets, 1 Sam. 28. 6. 7. When the Lord would by none of these answer King Saul, then he rought to a Witch. The footsteps of these 〈∞∞〉 among the ancient Heathens: as Home in 〈∞〉 . bringeth in Achilles advising the Greeks in the time of a sore pestilence, to 〈∞∞〉 thereof from God, by some Prophet, or a Priest or a Dreamer of dreams. And as the High 〈∞〉 of 〈∞〉 was adorned in his 〈∞〉 with Vrim and Thummim, translated in Greek Manifestation and Truth; so among the Egyptians, their high Priest is reported to have an ornament about his neck, of a Sapphire stone, and the ornament was called Aletheia, (that is, Truth): as Aeliam writeth in his Greek History, book 14. After the loss of Vrim and Thummim, and Prophets in Israel; the godly Jews held them to the Law of Moses, as they were commanded by the last Prophet, Mal. 4. 4. And hereunto Jesus son of Sirach, in Eccus. 33. 3. seemeth to have reference, saying, The Law is faithful to him (that understandeth) as the asking of Dela: that is, as the Oracle of Vrim and Thummim, for Vrim is translated into Greek Dela: 1 Sam. 28. 6. R. Moses bar Maimon, saith, They made in the second Temple Vrim and Thummim, (whereby he meaneth the Brestplate with the precious stones;) to the end they might make up all the [High priests] eight ornaments, (without which he might not administer,) although they did not enquire (of God) by them. And wherefore did they not enquire by them? Because the holy Ghost was not there. And every Priest, that speaketh not by the holy Ghost, and on whom the Divine-majesty resteth not, they inquire not by him. Maimonides, treat. of the Implements of the Sanctuary, Chap. 10. Sect. 10. According to this phrase, are those speeches to be understood, in John. 7. 39. The holy Ghost was not yet, because Jesus 〈ϕ〉 not yet glorified: and in Acts 19. 2. We have not so much as heard, whether there be an holy Ghost. Whereby is meant, the gifts of the Spirit, in Prophecy, Tongues, &c. as there followeth in verse. 6. T 〈...〉 holy Ghost came on them, and they spake with Tongues, and prophesied: which gifts being before ceased, were restored by the Gospel; an evident proof that the Christ was come, Joel 2. 28.—32. Acts 2. 4. 17. 18. And in Christ, this mystery of Vrim and Thummim was fulfilled: for in the heart of him our great High-priest, were the gifts of the holy Ghost without measure, 3. 34. unto all Light and Manifestation of the Truth, with all perfection and integrity, John 1. 4. 9 17. and 3. 12. 13. and 18. 37. Coloss. 2. 3. whereby the light of the knowledge of the glory of God, in the face of Jesus Christ, is come unto us; by whom the Spirit of Truth is sent into us, to dwell with us, and to abide with us forever, John 14. 16. 17. who also hath given us to put on the Brestplate of Faith and Love. 1. Thessalon. 5. 8.

Vers. 31. the Robe] in Hebrew Megnil; in Greek Hupodutes, that is, an Vnderclothing: it was a long garment, worn next under the Ephod. The Hebrews say, Upon the Robe, was the Ephod and the Brestplate; and he girded with the curious girdle of the Ephod, upon the Robe, under the Brestplate: and therefore it is called the Robe of the Ephod, because he gird• it with the Ephod. Maimonides in Implements of the Sanctuary, Chap. 10. Sect. 3. See also Exodus 29. 5. and Levite. 8. 7. of the Ephod] the Greek here translateth it Poderee, that is, of the garment-downeto the foot. So in Revel. 1. 13. Christ appeareth 〈...〉 ed with a garment down to the foot, (in the Gr. there, Poderee;) to show himself, as High Priest for the Church.

Vers. 32. an hole] called in Hebrew a mouth. top] Hebr. head. a binding] or welt; called in Hebrew a lip. woven work] Hebrew, the work of the weaver. Josephus (in his 3. book of Antiquities, Chap. 8.) saith, This coat was not of two pieces, but woven in one, without seames on shoulders or sides. Maimonides (in treat. of the Implements of the Sanctuary, chap. 9. Sect. 3.) saith: The Robe was all of blew, and the threads thereof were twelve times double; and the hole thereof was woven at the beginning of the weaving. And it had no sleeves, but was divided into two skirts, from the end of the neck unto beneath, after the manner of all Robes: and was not joined together, but about all the neck only. The Gospel noteth of Christ, how in the days of his flesh he wore a coat without seam, woven from the top throughout, John 19. 23. Though that were not a priestly garment, yet was it mystical.

Vers. 33. Pomgranats] that is, similitudes of them: so the Greek translateth, as it were Pomgranats of the flourishing pomegranat tree. scarlet] every sort of these three (saith Maimonides) being twisted of eight threads, as it is written, upon the skirts of it twisted, (Exod. 39. 24.) So the *threads of these skirts were in all, four and twenty. And he made them like pomgranats, which open not their mouth; and hung them on the Robe. Maimonides, treat. of the Implements of the Sanct. Chap. 9. Sect. 4. Wheresoever this word TWISTED is used alone, (as it is in Exod. 39. 24.) it must be eight double threads. Ibid. Chap 8. Sect. 14. The Greek version, both here and in Exod. 39. 24. addeth the fourth stuff, and of fine linen twined: but the Hebrew wanteth this, as also the Chaldee. bells] in number, threescore and twelve, (as Maimonides showeth in the soresaid treatise, chap. 9. Sect. 4.) and they were hanged 36 on the one skirt, and 36 on the other. And in these 72 bells, were 72 clappers, all of gold: and the bell, together with the clapper in it, is that which is called (in Hebrew) Pagnamon, (a Bell) saith Maimonides, ibidem.*

Vers. 35. *to minister] in the same: or, when he ministereth. sound] or, voice; that is, the sound [unspec] of his bells. Whereby was signified the voice of Christ, which is heard of God, in his prayer and mediation: and heard of the people, in his teaching and instruction, Heb. 5. 7. and 7. 25. Deuter. 33. 10. Isaiah 58. 1. Mat. 12. 18. Therefore these Bels were of gold, to signify the purity and preciousness of the words of Christ's; accompanied with Pomgranats, to signify the fruits and comfortable effects of Christ's both mediation and doctrine. For Pomgranats, were of the fruits of the holy Land, Deut. 8. 8. and they with the wine that is in them, signified the fruits and graces of the Saints, Song. 4. <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math>. 13. and 8. 2. Therefore many such were also in Solomon's Temple, 2 Chron. 3. 16. and 4. 13. And the care that this Robe should not be rent (verse 32.) signified the unity of the doctrine and faith of Christ, which should be among his people without rents or schisms, 1 Cor. 1. 10 13. 1 Tim. 1. 3. *goeth in, &c.] that is, publicly administereth, as this phrase signifieth, Numb. 27. 17. 1 Chron. 27. 1. Acts 1. 21. that he die not] or, and he shall not die.

Vers. 36. *Plate] the Hebrew Tsits, properly signifieth a flour; the Greek, Petalon, a leaf: because it appeared fair and glorious: after, it is called, the plate of the holy crown, Exodus 39. 30. It was a long plate of gold, two fingers broad, and reached from one ear (of the Priest) to another, saith Maimonides, in Implements of the Sanctuary, Chap. 9. Sect. 1. HOLYNESSE TO JEHOVAH] that is, these words shall be graven upon it: in Hebrew, KODESH LA JEHOVAH: which we may English, Holiness to Jehovah, or, The holiness of Jehovah: and so the Greek translatheth it Hagiasma Kurtou, The holiness (or Sanctification) of the Lord. These words might be written (as the Hebrews say) either in one line, or in two: and the letters were so graven, as that they stood out (above the rest of the plate, and were not cu• inward.) Maimonides, ibid.*

Vers. 38. bear] or, take away the iniquity. This openeth the mystery of this flour; how it figured the mediation of Christ, who by his holiness which he had of the Godhead, took away the sins of his people, which they commit in their most holy and religious actions, John. 1. 19. 2 Cor. 5. 19. 1 John. 2. 1. 2. for favorable acceptation] that is, for a sign that the people are made acceptable unto God, by the holiness of Jehovah him-self, which through the mediation of this high priest, is imputed unto them, Ephes. 1. 6 2 Cor. 5. 19. And this was graven as a signet, and put on the forehead of the Priest, that it might be a visible and perpetual token of God's gracious acceptance to be seen and read of all the people, to their comfort; as also before the Lord, who respecteth his, in the face of Christ.

Vers. 39. coat] the Greek translath coats: for whether it were the high priest, or the inferior priests, their coats were all of one stuff, and woven with like work, Exod. 39. 27. and Maimonides in the foresaid treat. Ch. 8. Sect. 16. where he showeth also, that these coats had sleeues woven of the same and sown unto the bodies of the coats; which were long, reaching down to the heels: and the sleeues for length and wideness fit for the arms. They figured the garments of justice, wherewith Christ and his children are arrayed, Psal. 132. 9. Revel. 19. 8. Miter] in Hebrew Mistnepheth, which signifieth a thing wrapped about the head. Such as the Tuffe which at this day is worn in the Eastern countries. By the Hebrew records, the high priests Miter, and the inferior priests Bonnets, were all of one stuff and size: and differed only in the manner of wrapping about the head; the Miter being woond more flat, and the Bonnets more round and high crowned. The Miter of the high priest, or of the inferior priests, was sixteen cubits (that is, 24 foot) long, saith Maimonides in Implements of the Sanctuary, Chap. 8. Sect. 2. 19. It was an ornament for priests and for Kings, Ezek. 21. 26. and signified both the power and authority which they had for their office under God, Zach. 3. 5. and their pure administration thereof in Justice & judgment, as Job said, My judgment was as a Robe and a Miter, Job 29. 14. So Christ our high priest, appearing in a priestly Garment down to the foot, had also his head, (that is, the attire of his head) and his hairs, white as wool, and as snow, Rev. 1. 13. 14. as in Song 5. 11. his head is of fine gold; as was the plate on the high priests forehead, and as a King with his crown. Among the heathen Romans, their chief priests were called Flamines; of the attire of their heads, as being Pileamines, without which, it was unlawful for them to go out of doors. Pomp. Laetus de Rom. sacerdot. tit. de Flaminibus. and Plutarch in Numa. Among the Arabians also, their high priests were clad with linen garments, & Miters; Alex. ab Alex. lib. 2. cap. 8. Girdle] in Hebrew Abnet: it was made of fine linen, and of blew, and purple, and scarlet, Exodus 39. 29. The Hebrew Doctors write, it was about three fingers broad, and two and thirty cubits long: they wound it about, and turned it one fold upon another. The High priests Girdle was in making like to the other Priests. It was to gird the coat with, which was under the Robe, Levite. 8. 7. and Maimonides, treat. of the Implements of the Sanctuary, Chap. 8. Sect. 2. 19. and Chap. 10. Sect. 1. Josephus (in his 3. book of Antiquities, Chap. 8.) saith, The coat was girt with a girdle four fingers broad, but empty within; and woven so as it was like a serpents skin, pictured with flowers, red, purple, blew, and of fine linen; the woof was only fine linen; which being wound and tied once or twice about the breast, hung down to the ankles, so long as he did not minister; but when he ministered, lest it should hinder him, he cast it upon his left shoulder. This must be understood of the inferior Priests girdles; for the high priest could not so do, by reason of his garments above it. These girdles signified the truth, constancy, and expedition of Christ in his ministration; and so of all Christians, Ephes. 6. 14. Isaiah 22. 21. Luke 12. 35. See the notes on Exodus 12. 11. embroiderer] or, weaver with tinsell work: See Exodus 26. 1. 36. The embroidery or cunning workmanship, was in the weaving: for of all the Priests garments, none was made of needle work, but of woven work, as it is written, (in Exod. 39. 22. 27.) THE WORKE OF THE WEAVER: saith Maimonides, in Implements of the Sanctuary, Chap. 8. Sect. 19.

Vers. 40. Coats] of fine-linen, such as the high Priest had, Exodus 39. 27. so for the girdles, and bonnets, they were of the same stuff and workmanship that the high Priests: as is before noted. And figured the garments of Christ's children, made white in his blood, wherein they serve God day and night in his Temple, Rev. 7. 14. 15. and 19. 8. Among the Heathens also, they that sacrificed to their gods, were clad in white raiment, Valer. Max. b. 1. c. 1. Bonnets] of linen cloth, wrapped about their heads, much like the high Priests Miter. See the notes on verse. 39. So we Christians are to put on our heads, the hope of salvation for an helmet, and under it for to rejoice, 1 Thes. 5. 8. Rom. 5. 2. for the tire upon the head, is opposed unto mourning, Ezek. 24. 17. 23.

Vers. 41. anoint] with the holy oil, made at God's [unspec] direction: see Exodus 30. 23. 30. and 29. 7. fill their hand] that is, consecrate and dedicate them unto the ministry. This was by putting the flesh of the sacrifice, with bread, &c. into their hand: whereof see Exodus 29. 9. 23. 24. The Greek keepeth the Hebrew phrase: but the Chaldee translateth, thou shalt offer their offerings.

Vers. 42. breeches] alike for the High Priest, and [unspec] for the other, of the same matter and form. naked flesh] that is, the secret and shameful parts, called in the Hebrew the flesh of nakedness (or of fhame.) because of those parts we are most ashamed when we are naked. The Greek translateth, the shame of their body. So each of these words, is used for our shameful parts: flesh, in Gen. 17. 11. Ezek. 23. 20. nakedness, in Gen. 9. 22. 23. Lev. 18. 7. which are here commanded to be covered with linen, which signified righteousness, Revel. 19. 8. even the righteousness which is of God by faith, whereby our sin (which is our shame, Romans. 6. 21.) is covered, Rom. 4. 6. 7. And as all these garments are given of God to Aaron and his sons: so he it was that clothed our first parents after their nakedness, Gen. 3. 21. and he hath spread his skirts over us, and covered our filthiness, when we were naked and bare, Ezek. 16. 7. 8. and counselleth all, to buy of him white raiment, that they may be clothed, and their filthy nakedness appear not, Revel. 3. 18. even to put on the Lord Jesus Christ, and to make no provision for the flesh, to fulfill the lusts thereof, Rom. 13. 14. the thighs] from above the navell, a little off from the heart, unto the end of the thigh; saith Maimonides in Implements of the Sanctuary, Chap. 8. Sect. 18. Though these parts were covered by the former garments, yet lest by wind, or any other accident, they should haply be discovered, God (for more reverence of his Majesty, and regard of seemliness and honesty,) appointeth this close covering, which (as Maimonides expresseth) were tied with strings, and made close like a purse. Thus God gave more abundant honor, to that part which lacked; and our uncomely parts, have more abundant comeliness, as Paul saith, 1 Cor. 12. 23. 24.

Vers. 43. bear not iniquity] that is, bear not punishment for this iniquity, and die. The Greek translateth, and they shall not bring sin upon themselves, that they die not. For God is of purer eyes, then to behold evil, Hab. 1. 13. and he that had not on his wedding garment, was bound hand and foot, and cast into utter darkness, Matth. 22. 12. 13. Blessed therefore is he that watcheth and keepeth his garments: lest he walk naked, and his shame be seen, Revelat. 16. 15. This caution is not for the breeches only, but for all the garments; as the Hebrew Doctors have gathered thus; The high Priest that ministereth with less then these eight garments, or the inferior Priest that ministereth with less then these four garments, his service is unlawful, and he is guilty of death by the hand of God; even as a stranger that ministereth; as it is written, (in Exodus 29. 9.) AND THOU SHALT GIRTHEN WITH GIRDLES, &c. AND THE PRIESTHOOD SHALL BE THEIRS: when thee garments are upon them, their Priesthood is upon them: if their garments be not upon them: their priest-hood is not upon them, but loe they are as strangers; and it is written (in Num. 1. 51.) THE STRANGER THAT COMMETH NIGH SHALLBE PVT TO DEATH. As he that wanteth his garment, is guilty of death, and his service unlawful: so is he that hath moe garments. As he that puts on two coats, or two girdles; Or, the common priest that puts on the high priests garments, and serveth; loe he polluteth the service and is guilty of death by the hand of (the God of) heaven. Maimonides, in treat. of the Implements of the Sanctuary, ch. 10. sect. 4. 5.

CHAP. XXIX.

1. The things which Moses was to get ready, for the consecrating of the Priests unto their office. 4, To wash their bodies. 5, The order how to put on the high priests garments, 7. and to anoint him. 8, The araying of the other priests. 10, The manner how to sacrifice the Bullock, which was for a sin-offering; 15, And the first Ram, which was for a Burnt-offering; 19, And the second Ram which was for consecration of the Priests, to, that the blood thereof, should be put on their ears, hands, and feet. 21, With that blood and with oil, they and their garments should be sprinkled. 26, The manner how to wave the breast of that sacrifice, and to leave up the shoulder thereof in the Priests hands. 30, Seven days, the time of consecration. 32, The Priest must eat the Ram wherewith they should be consecrated. 36, Of purifying the Altar seven days. 38, Of the two Lambs, which should be for a daily burnt offering in Israel continually, 40, with their meat and drink-offerings. 43, God promiseth to sanctify his Tabernacle and people, and to dwell among them.

AND this is the thing that thou shalt do unto them; to sanctify them, to minister-in-the-Priests-office unto me: Take one Bullock, a youngling of the Herd; and Two Rams perfect. And unleavened bread, and cakes unleavened, tempered with oil; and wafers unleavened anointed with oil: of wheaten flower shalt thou make them. And thou shalt put them into one basket, and shalt bring them near, in the basket: and the bullock, and the two Rams. And Aaron and his Sons thou shalt bring near, unto the door of the tent of the congregation: and shalt wash them with water. And thou shalt take the garments, and shalt clad Aaron with the Coat, and with the Robe of the Ephod, and with the Ephod, and with the Brestplate: and shalt fitly gird clàd, with the curious girdle of the Ephod. And thou shalt put the Miter upon his head: and shalt fasten the Crown of holiness, upon the Miter. And thou shalt take the anointing oil, and pour it upon his head: and anoint him. And thou shalt bring near his Sons; and clad them with Coats. And thou shalt gird them with Girdles, (Aaron and his Sons,) and shalt bind the bonnets on them, and the priesthood shall be theirs, for an eternal statute: and thou shalt fill the hand of Aaron, and the hand of his Sons. And thou shalt bring near the bullock before the Tent of the congregation: and Aaron and his Sons shall impose their hands upon the head of the bullock. And thou shalt kill the bullock before Jehovah: at the door of the Tent of the congregation. And thou shalt take of the blood of the bullock, and put upon the horns of the Altar with thy finger: and shalt pour all the blood at the bottom of the Altar. And thou shalt take all the fat, that covereth the inwards, & the caul, that is above the liver: and the two kidneys; and the fat, which is upon them: and shalt burn them upon the Altar. And the flesh of the bullock, and his skin, and his dung; shalt thou burn with fire, without the campe: it is a Sin (offering.) And thou shalt take the one Ram: and Aaron and his Sons shall impose their hands upon the head of the Ram. And thou shalt kill the Ram: and shalt take his blood, and sprinkle upon the altar round about. And thou shalt cut the Ram into his pieces: and shalt wash his inwards, and his legs and put them unto his pieces, and unto his head. And thou shalt burn all the Ram upon the altar; it is a Burnt-offering unto Jehovah: it is a savor of rest, a Fire-offering unto Jehovah. And thou shalt take the other Ram, and Aaron and his sons shall impose their hands upon the head of the Ram. And thou shalt kill the Ram, and take of his blood and put upon the tip of the right ear of Aaron; and upon the tip of the right ear of his Sons, and upon the thumb of their right hand, and upon the great toe of their right foot: And shalt sprinkle the blood upon the altar, round about And thou shalt take of the blood which is upon the Altar, and of the anointing oil: and shalt sprinkle upon Aaron, and upon his garments, and upon his Sons, and upon the garments of his Sons, with him: and he shall be sanctified, and his garments, and his sons, and his sons garments with him. And thou shalt take of the Ram, the fat and the rump, and the fat that covereth the inwards, and the caul above the liver, and the two kidneys, and the fat which is upon them; and the right shoulder: for it is a ram of filling the hand. And one loaf of bread, and one cake of oil bread, and one wafer: out of the basket of unleavened cakes, which is before Jehovah. And thou shalt put all on the palms of-the-hands of Aaron, & on the palms-of-the-hands of his Sons: and thou shalt wave them for a wave-offering before Jehovah. And thou shalt receive them from their hand, and shalt burn them upon the Altar, for a Burnt-offering: for a savor of rest, before Jehovah; it is a Fire-offering unto Jehovah. And thou shalt take the breast of the ram of the filling of the hand, which is for Aaron, and wave it, for a wave offering before Jehovah: and it shall be thy part. And thou shalt sanctify the breast of the wave offering, and the shoulder of the heave-offering, which is waved, & w<sup>ch</sup> is heaved-up, of the ram of the filling of the hand; of that which is for Aaron, & of that which is for his Sons. And it shall be Aaron's and his Sons, by a statute for ever, from the sons of Israel; for it is an heave-offering: and it shall be an heave-offering from the sons of Israel, of the sacrifices of their peace-offerings; even their heave-offering unto Jehovah. And the garments of holiness which are Aaron's, shall be his sons after him, to be anointed in them, and to fill their hand in them. Seven days, shall he that is Priest in his stead, of his sons, be clad in them: when he shall come into the Tent of the Congregation, to minister in the Holy Place. And thou shalt take the Ram of the filling of the hand: and shalt seeth his flesh, in the holy place. And Aaron and his sons, shall eat the flesh of the Ram; and the bread which is in the basket at the door of the Tent of the Congregation. And they shall eat those things, with the which atonement-was-made; to fill their hand, to sanctify them: and a stranger shall not eat (of them,) because they are holy. And if there remain of the flesh of the filling of the hand, & of the bread unto the morning: then thou shalt burn the remainder wth fire, it shall not be eaten, because it is holy. And thou shalt do unto Aaron and to his Sons, thus, according to all which I have commanded thee: seven days shalt thou fill their hand. And thou shalt make ready for every day a bullock for a sin-offering, for atonements: and thou shalt purify the altar, when thou makest atonement for it, and thou shalt anoint it, to sanctify it. Seven days thou shalt make atonement for the altar, and sanctify it: & the altar shall be Holy of holies; whatsoever toucheth the altar, shall be holy.

And this is that which thou shalt make ready, upon the altar: two lambes of the first year, day by day continually. The one lamb, thou shalt make ready in the morning: and the other lamb thou shalt make ready between the two evenings. And a tenth deal of flour, mingled with the fourth part of an Hin of beaten oil; and for a drink-offering, the fourth part of an Hin of wine, for the one lamb. And the other lamb, thou shalt make ready between the two evenings: according to the meat offering of the morning, and according to the drink-offering thereof, shalt thou make for it, for a savor of rest, a Fire-offering unto Jehovah. (This shall be) a continual burnt-offering throughout your generations, at the door of the Tent of the congregation, before Jehovah: where I will meet with you, to speak unto thee there. And I will meet [unspec] there, with the Sons of Israel: and he shall be sanctified by my glory. And I will sanctify [unspec] the Tent of the congregation, and the altar: & Aaron & his Sons I will sanctify to minister-in-the-priests-office unto me. And [unspec] I will dwell amongst the sons of Israel, and will before a God unto them. And they shall know that I am Jehovah their God, that brought thē forth, out of the Land of Egypt, that I may dwell amongst them: I Jehovah their God.

Annotations.

THE thing] Hebrew, the word: the Greek [unspec] saith, these things. God having chosen Aaron and his seed, to be Priests unto him; entereth them into their office by many rites; as Washing, Clothing, Anointing, Sprinkling, and Offring of sacrifices for their consecration. bullock] in Hebrew Par: which is greater then a calf, but not so great as an ox. The Hebrew Doctors thus distinguish them: Wheresoever it is said, (g <...> gel) a calf, that is, a young one of the first year: but (par) a bullock, is a young one of the second year. Maimonides treat, of Sacrifices, Chap. 1. Sect. 14. youngling of the herd) or, young ox: Hebrew son of the ox (or of the herd.) The Greek saith, of the oxen. See the fulfilling of this precept, in Levite 8. <...> es] these were also of the second year; <ϕ> lambes were of the first. perfect] th• is, without blemish, want; superfluity, or deformity. See the notes on Exod. 12. 5. These sacrifices figured Christ, who was without blemish, without <ϕ>, 1 Pet. 1. 19.

Ver. 2. unleavened] which signified, sincerity, and in <...> ruption. See Ex. 12. 8. 15. oil] which sign <...> d the graces of God's Spirit, 1 John. 2. 27. See the notes on Exod. 30. 25. flower] the best part of the principal grain, called sometime the fat of wheat, Deut. 32. 14. with such God spiritually feedeth his Charch, Psal. 81. 17. and 147. 14. Such bread signified Christ also, whom the Father giveth us to feed upon, John. 6. 32. 33.

V. 4. the Tent] the whole Tabernacle or Habitation of God is so called, of one principal part thereof, Exod. 26. called the Tent of Congregation, or of meeting; because there the people assembled, and there God met with them; as after in v. 43. Here the Priests were to be presented before God, and before the people, who were also there gathered together, Lev. 8. 3. So the ministers of Christ, were ordained in the Churches, Act. 14. 23. and 6. 5. 6. water] out of the sanctified Laver, Exo. 30. 18. 19. for it was made and anointed, and set in the Lord's Court, before the priests were consecrated, Exod. 40. 7. 11. 12. Lev. 8. 6. This signified the washing from sin, which is the first part of purification, by the blood of Christ, whereof they that come near unto God for to serve him acceptably, must be partakers, Psal. 51. 9. Isaiah 1. 16. Rev. 1. 5. Heb. 9. 13. 14. and 10. 22.

V. 5. clad] or, put upon Aaron: figuring the next work of God's grace, after the washing away and forgiveness of sin; to impart the gifts of righteousness and salvation, Ps. 132. 9. 16. The order of clothing, as appeareth by the Scripture, in Lev. 8. and is distinctly recorded by the Hebr. Doctors, was thus: He put on the breeches first, and girded them higher then the navel, above his loins. After that, he put on the coat; and then he girded the girdle, wrapping it about his breast. After the girdle, he put on the Robe, and over the Robe, the Ephod & Brestplate: and girded him with the curious girdle of the Ephod, over the robe, and under the Brest plate. Afterward, he wrapped the Miter about his head, and fastened the golden plate thereupon. Maimonides, treat. of the Implements of the Sanctuary, c. 10. s. 1, &c. These rites which Israel learned of God, were after corruptly imitated by the Gentiles; whose priests were washed before their consecration, continued in the preparation to their priesthood, ten days without eating flesh or drinking wine: were arrayed with 12. robes (as Aaron was with eight,) and those of bysse (or fine linen) painted or embroidered with divers colors, besides daily sacrificing, solemn feasting, & the like: as L. Apuleius showeth in Asin. aur lib. 11. fitly gird] here the Hebr. is Aphad: frō whence the name of the Ephod is derived, and so named (as here appeareth) of being aptly girded unto him. ⟨◇⟩ G ⟨...⟩ & Chaldee. versions here expound it. Th• g ⟨...⟩ ding is observed by Maimonides, to be about the ⟨...⟩ of the loins: and whereas in Ezek. 44. 18. ⟨∞⟩ ⟨...⟩ d, they shall not gird themselves in the sweating ( ⟨◇⟩ ) their Jonathan the ancient Chaldee par ⟨...⟩ expoundeth it, not upon their loins, but upon their heart. And this manner of girding, the Holy Ghost observeth in our high Priest Christ, who appeared girded about the paps with a golden girdle, Revelations 1. 13. As all girding signifieth a ready preparation and strengthening unto any service. Luk. 12. 35. Isaiah 5. 27. Act. 12. 8. so this is in special, for the heart of the Priests, to be girded with Truth, as Paul expoundeth it, Ephesians 6. 14. So Christ's ministers are likened to Angels coming out of the Temple, clothed in pure and white linen, and girded about the breasts, with golden Girdles, Rev. 15. 6.

Verse 6. fasten] or, put: Hebrew, give. See the notes on Exodus 28. 15. Crown of holiness] that is, holy Crown, or Diadem: meaning the golden Plate fore-spoken of, Exod. 28. 36. and 39. 30. Leviticus 8. 9. called here Nezer, that is, a Separation, because it was a sign of separation and exemption from other men. Therefore the Diadem of Kings was called Nezer, 2 Samuel 1. 10. Psal. 89. 40. and here it is the ornament of the High Priest, to denote his dignity. So the Greek calleth it Petalon to Hagiasma; as the Plate was before named, in Exod. 28. 36.

Verse 7. anointing oil] the making hereof, is after shown, Exodus 30. 23. &c. anoint] this third thing, signified the communication of the graces of God's Spirit, 1 John 2. 27. as it is said, The Spirit of the Lord God is upon me, because the Lord hath anointed me, &c. Isaiah 61. 1. And this for to cause the odour of his administration to spread abroad unto the comfort of the Church, dwelling together in love and unity, Psalm 133. 2. 2 Cor. 2. 14. 15. 16. Anoint, is in Hebrew Mashach; whereupon the high Priest and King that was anointed, was called Mashiach or Messias, Leviticus 4. 3. 1 Samuel 12. 3. 5. which Messias, is in Greek Christ, and is the name of the Son of God, our Savior, Dan. 9. 25. John 1. 41.

Verse 9. fill the hand] namely, with parts of the sacrifices, which after they were waved in the priests hand, were burnt on the altar, verse 2•. 24. 25. This is usually called consecration: the Greek calleth it perfecting; because hereby the priest was fully and perfectly authorized to do the Priests office. And this word Paul useth in Greek, writing of the priesthood of the Son (of God) who is perfected (or consecrated) forever, Heb. 7. 28. By this manner of calling, God shown that none might take in hand to minister before him, unless the things were first put into his hand, for a sign of his calling from God, John. 3. 27. Heb. 5. 4. 5. But in Jereboam's priests it was otherwise, when whosoever would, he filled his hand, and became a priest of the high places, 1 King. 13. 33.

V. 10 the bullock] which was to be a sin-offering for the Priest, ver. 14. So all sacrifices which the high priest offered for his sins, were bullocks; which were not so, for other ordinary men, Levite. 4. 3. 23. 28. impose their hands] with making confession of their sins, Levite. 5. 5. 6. and 16. 21. by which rite, they disburdened themselves of their sins, and laid them on the head of the sacrifice to be killed: which was a figure of Christ, killed for our sins, upon whom the Lord laid the iniquity of us all, Isaiah 53. 6. 7. 8. This imposition of hands was to be done by every man that brought a sacrifice for his sins, Lev. 4. 24. 29. the manner whereof the Jews have recorded thus: There is no imposing of hands, but in the Courtyard: if he lay on hands without, he must lay them on again within. None may impose hands, but a clean person. In the place where hands are imposed, there they kill the beast, immediately after the imposition. He that imposeth must do it withal his might, with both his hands upon the beasts head, not upon the neck or sides: and there may be nothing between his hands and the beast. If the sacrifice be of the most holy things it standeth on the North side, (as Levite. 1. 11.) with the face to the West: the imposer standeth East-ward, with his face to the West: and layeth his two hands between the two horues, and confesseth sin over the sinoffring, and trespass over the trespass offering, &c. and saith, I have sinned, I have committed iniquity, I have trespassed, and done thus and thus; and do return by repentance before thee, and with this, I make atonement. Maimonides, in treat. of the Offring of Sacrifices, ch. 3. Sect. 11. &c.

Vers. 11. thou shalt kill] Moses now at first did extraordinarily by God's appointment those things which were peculiar to the priests office afterward: so consecrating and instructing them, for time to come.

Ver. 12. the altar] which was most holy, and sanctified the sacrifice v. 37. Mat. 23. 19. which altar also signified Christ, who sanctified himself for his Church, John. 17. 19. and through the eternal Spirit, offered himself without spot unto God, Heb. 9. 14. so by the Godhead, the death of Christ was sanctified, and sufficient to cleanse all iniquity. This first sin-offering differed from the rest that ordinarily followed: for every such offering of the priest for sin, the blood of it was carried into the Tabernacle, and put upon the horns of the golden altar of incense, Levite. 4. 3. 7. whereas this was not so, but only put upon the horns of the brazen altar of burnt-offering, which stood in the court-yard. For the end of this first oblation, was to make atonement for the altar it self, and to sanctify it, that it might be fit afterward to sanctify the sacrifices of the people, which should be offered upon it; as appeareth after in v. 36. 37. and more plainly in Ezek. 43. 25. 26. 27. Also this first offering, was used herein, like the offering of the common ruler, and private person, for the blood for their sin, was put on the horns of the brazen altar only, Lev. 4. 25. 30. because Aaron and his Sons, were not yet full priests, till the seven days of their consecration were ended, Lev. 8. 33. 34. &c. finger] This rite of putting blood with the finger, upon the horns of the altar, was for all sin off•ngs. Lev. 4. 6. 7. 17. 18. 25. 30. and not for any other kind of sacrifice. And teacheth us the efficacy of Christ's blood, for the purging of our sins, when it is so particularly presented unto God, and applied by his Spirit, (as the finger of God, Luk. 11. 20. is expounded to be the Spirit of God, Mat. 12. 28.) Heb. 9. 12. 13. 14. The outward rite was performed thus: When the priest took the blood in a bason, he brought it to the altar, and dipped the fore-finger of his right hand in the blood; and striked it on one home of the altar, & wiping his finger on the lip of the bason, (for no blood might remain upon it,) he dipped his finger the second time, and striked it on another horn, and so did he to all four, beginning at the South-side, and compassing the altar first Eastward, then North, then West; and at the bottom of that horn of the altar where he made an end with his finger, did he pour the rest of the blood, which was towards the South. These things Maimonides showeth in treat. of the Offring of Sacrifices, c. 5. s. 7. &c. and are more particularly to be opened in Leviticus. all the blood] that is, the rest of the blood, as the Greek explaineth it. This figured the fullness and perfection of the grace of Christ, by his blood obtaining full redemption, from our sins.

V. 13. the fat] This in Scripture is often taken for evil, because fatness hindereth sense and feeling. [unspec] So of the wicked it is said, their heart is fat as grease, Ps. 119. 70. and thou art waxen fat, thou art waxen gross, &c. then he forsook God, Deut. 32. 15. & make the heart of this people fat, &c. lest they understand, Isaiah 6. 10. This fat therefore, which was a sign of man's corruption, God would have to be consumed by fire on the altar; teaching thereby the mortification of our earthly members, by the work of Christ, and of his Spirit. Sometime the fat is used to signify the best of all things, as is noted on Gen. 4. 4. so it teacheth us, to give the best unto the Lord. the inwards] or inmost part, that is, the heart, w<sup>ch</sup> is most inward, and in the midst of the body. So the inward of man is used for the heart, and consequently for the thoughts, and mind: as in Ps. 5. 10. and 62. 5. and 94. 19. And that which the Prophet calleth the inward part, Ier. 31. 33. the Apostle calleth the mind, Heb. 8. 10. By the fat upon the inwards therefore, is signified all corruption that covereth man's heart, as carnal reason, unbelief, hypocrisy, evil thoughts and purposes, &c. all which must be consumed, and the heart purified by the Spirit of God. caul that is above] named also, the caul of the liver, in v. 22. It is thought to be the midriff or the at skin that is above the liver, the Gr. translath it lobon, the lap of the liver. kidneys] or reine: which as they are the instruments of seed for generation: so in Scripture they are used for the inmost affections and desires, and are joined with the heart: & of these only God is the searcher and possessor, Ps. 7. 10. and 139. 13. and here are to be offered up unto God in fire, figuring that w<sup>ch</sup> Paul teacheth, Mortify your members which are on the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, &c. Col. 3. 5. And thus the Heb. of old understood these figures; for they say, Therefore the kidneys & the fat which is on them, & the caul that covereth the liver, were burnt unto God, for to make atonement for the sin of man, which proceedeth out of the thoughts of the reins, and lust of the liver, & fatness of the heart, &c. for they all consent in sin. R. Menachem, on Ex. 29. fol. 111. shalt burn] the original word signifieth properly to perfume or resolve into smoke, used for burning of incense, applied here to the burning of sacrifices, whereby the smoke went up towards heaven. The Greek translatheth it Impose; the Chaldee Offer.

V. 14. burn] It was a general Law, that no sinoffring, whose blood was carried into the Tabernacle, &c. should be eaten, but burnt in fire, Levite. 6. 30. and such sin-offerings as had not their blood carried in thither, should be eaten by the priests, Levite. 10. 18. Howbeit, this offering was burnt, though the blood were not carried into the holy place. One reason whereof seemeth to be, that the priests might not eat their own sin-offerings, Lev. 4. 3. 12. Because they could not bear, or take away their own sins, but needed another Savior as well as all men; and the eating of any man's sinneoffring, signified the bearing and expiating of that man's sin, Levite. 10. 17. without] a figure how Christ, the true Sacrifice for our sins, should suffer without the gate of Jerusalem, which was part of his reproach that he bare for us, Heb. 13. 11. 12. 13. a Sin] that is, an offering for sin; so the Apostle (according to the Gr. version) translatheth it for sin, Heb. 10. 6. from Psal. 40. 7. And after this Hebrew phrase, may that be understood of Christ, that God made him, who knew no sin, to be sin for us, that is, a sin-offering, or, an exceeding sinner, 2 Cor. 5. 21. Thus the law made men priests which had infirmity, & needed to offer sacrifice, first for their own sins: but we now have the Son, who is consecrated forever, Heb. 7. 27. 28.

Vers. 15. impose] with both hands between the homes; as before is noted on v. 10. and this every of them severally, for if five men bring one sacrifice, they all impose hands upon it, one after another: saith Maimonides, in treat. of Offring sacrifice, c. 3. S. 9. By this rite, the priests presented the Ram, a figure of Christ, unto God for them as a burnt-offering; in whom they were also by faith to present their ownbodies, a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, w<sup>ch</sup> was their reasonable service, Ro. 12. 1.

Ver. 16. sprinkle] this rite belonged to all burnt offerings, Lev. 1. 5. See the annotations there. It figured the sprinkling of the blood of Jesus, for our reconciliation, and sanctification before God, 1 Pet. 1. 2. Heb. 9. 12. 14.

V. 17. cut the ram] after the skin is flayed off. Of this and other rites, see the notes on Lev. 1. 6. &c. V. 18. burnt-offering] or, whole burnt sacrifice, in Heb. [unspec] an ascension; because it went up in fire all of it unto God: see Gen. 8. 20. of rest] of quieting or pacifying the wrath of God: the Chaldee saith, that it may be received with favorable acceptation: so in v. 25. The Gr. translatheth it, a savor of sweet smell, which phrase Paul useth, Ephes. 5. 2. See the notes on Gen. 8. 21. fire offering] in the Gr. it is called asacrifice, in Chaldee, an oblation. The fire that sent up the sacrifices, signified both the afflictions on Christ and his members; (for everyone shall be salted <math>\diamond</math> Mar. 9. 49. 1 Pet. 4. 12.) and the work of God's Spirit, Mat. 3. 11.

V. 19. the other] Hebr. the second ram which was for th <math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> consecration. hands] as they did in the former: signifying that from God in Christ (figured by that Ram,) they expected not only justification and sanctification, (as by the two former sacrifices; but consecration also to their office, and grace from him to perform the same.

V. 20. the tip] the highest part, as the Chaldee explaineth it. This putting of blood upon the ear, &c. was also used in the cleansing of the Leper, Lev. 14. 14. So here it signified in the Priests, the cleansing & sanctifying of their ears, to hear the word from the mouth of God, which they should teach unto the people, Ezek. 3. 17. 1 Cor. 11. 23. Isaiah 50. 5. Ma. 7. 33. hand] that their work and administration, might also be sanctified by the blood of Christ, and acceptable to God: Deut. 33. 11. Act. 5. 12. foot] that their walking & conversation might also be holy; and their imperfections cleansed by the same blood: Phil. 3. 17. Gal. 2. 14. 1 Cor. 11. 1. The blood thus put on them from head to foot, might also signify the sufferings of Christ, whereof his ministers and people are partakers. Col. 1. 24. Phil. 3. 10. Altar] that by Christ, their purity and sanctification might be fully perfected, 2 Cor. 3. 5. 6.

V. 21. sprinkle] for sanctification, as is after expressed: for the ministers of God both in their persons, and in their office (figured by the priests garments) are by the blood of Christ, and oil of his graces, sprinkled in their hearts from an evil conscience, and sanctified for the work of the ministry, Heb. 10. 22. 1 Cor. 15. 10. and 3. 10.

V. 22. of filling] to wit, the hand, as v. 9. that is, of consecration, or initiation: the Gr. saith, of perfection.

V. 23. loaf] or, great-round-cake: for this, in Lev. 8. 26. Moses saith one cake, So in 1 Chro. 16. 3. that is called a loase, which in 2 Sam. 6. 19. is called a cake. oil bread] tempered with oil, as in ver. 2. which is] or, as the Greek explaineth it, which are set before the Lord.

Vers. 24. wave] that is, move to and fro round about, and so to offer thē unto God. The original word is sometime used for sisting in a sieve, Esa. 30. 28. that signifieth trials and afflictions, Luk. 22. 31. and so the Prophets apply this word unto troubles, Isaiah 10. 32. and 13. 2. and 30. 28. And as here the things, so elsewhere the persons are waved as a wave-offering, Numb. 8. 11. For wave, the Greek translatheth separate: which word Paul useth, speaking of his designation to the ministry, Rom. 1. 1.

V. 25. rest] Gr. of sweet smell: see v. 18. This signified that God would make manifest the savor of his knowledge by his ministers, 2 Cor. 2. 14. 15.

V. 26. thy part] Heb. to thee for a part, (or portion;) to eat the same. That which was after given to the Priests, ver. 28. Lev. 7. 34. is here allowed unto Moses, as he that extraordinarily did now the priests work. See this fulfilled in Lev. 8. 29.

V. 27. heave-offering] so called because it was heaved or lifted up towards heaven. And these two parts the breast & the shoulder, thus waved & heaved up, and so given to the Lord and his minister, did teach the priests now cōsecrated, how wth all their heart, and with all their strength, they should give themselves unto the service of the Lord in his Church, wth much labor, & manifold afflictions; even as the prince of our salvation was consecrated also through afflictions, 2 Cor. 6. 4. 10. Heb. 2. 10.

Vers. 29. to be anointed] Hebrew to anoint: but such words are often used passively, as is noted on Gen. 2. 20. and 6. 20. and 16. •4▪ and so the Greek explaineth it, that they may be anointed in them, and to perfect (or consecrate) their hands. See Exod. 30. 30. and 40. 15.

Vers. 30. Seven days] during which time, they were to abide at the door of the Tabernacle, day and night, to keep the watch of the •ord, Levite. 8. 33. 35. Of the mystery of the number Seven, see the notes on Exod. 12. 15. Gen. 2. 2. Lev. 4. 6. It taught the priest here, that the whole term of their life should be spent before the Lord holily, and in his service, 1 Tim. 4. 15. 16. In this time of Seven days also, the Sabbath (which was a sign of sanctification (came over them, as is observed on Gen. 17. 12. And so the Hebrews do note of this action in particular, saying: Great is the Sabbath day, for the high priest entereth not upon his service, after he is anointed, until the Sabbath pass over him, as it is written (in Exodus 29. 30.) Seven days shall he that is priest, &c. R. Elias, in Sepher Reshith cho•hmah, fol. 419. a.

Verse 31. the holy place] the Courtyard of the Sanctuary, at the door: as the next verse showeth.

Ver. 32. at the door] there it must be both boiled, and eaten, Lev. 8. 31.

Verse 33. atonement was made] to wit, with God, by sacrifice: which being figures of Christ, the Eating of them, signified the applying of Christ's death by faith unto their own souls, John. 6. 35. 51. The Greek translateth, by which they were sanctified. a stranger] he that is not of the Priests flock. holy] Hebrew holiness, understanding meats of holiness.

Vers. 34. burn] as being unlawful to be eaten; and as all flesh that became polluted was burned, Lev. 7. 18. 19. This taught them care to apply the grace of Christ, without delay, see the notes on Exodus 12. 10. holy] or a holy thing: Hebrew, holiness, as verse. 33.

Vers. 36. make] to wit, ready for sacrifice; that is, kill, sprinkle the blood, offer, &c. See Gen. 18. 7. Exod. 10. 25. So verse. 38. and often after. atonement] or, expiations, propitiations, reconciliations: meaning for Aaron and his sons, and the altar. The original word implieth both pacification of God's wrath, and his merciful covering of transgressions, whereupon atonement followeth. See Gen. 32. 20. The Jews had one special day in the year▪ to cleanse them from all their sins; that ⟨...⟩ by this name, the day of atonement, (or, of exp•••tion) Levite 16. 30. All such things were figure• of Christ, Heb. ⟨...⟩ . 3. 1 John. 2 2. purify] to wit, ⟨...⟩ , as the Hebrew word signifieth to ⟨...⟩ , which as it is properly applied to the p ⟨...⟩ fying of men from sin, Numb. 8. 21. and 10. 22. ⟨◇⟩ 5 ⟨...⟩ so here and elsewhere, to the purifying of the ⟨◇⟩ , Ezek. 43. 26. of men's ⟨◇⟩ , Lev. 14. 49. ⟨◇⟩ and all things about them, Num. 31. •0. & of Go ⟨...⟩ use or Sanct ⟨...⟩ ie, Ezek. 45. 18. which was by ⟨...⟩ of the sins & unclean ⟨...⟩ the Sons of ⟨◇⟩ , amongst whom God's ⟨...⟩ and holy thing ⟨◇⟩ ▪ as is expressed in Lev. 16. 16. God ⟨◇⟩ teaching, that no service of the Church is acceptable, unless the sins that cleave to our best works be purged away by repentance and faith in the blood of Christ, Heb 9. 21. 22. 23. 13. 14. and 10. 19. 22.

V. 37. holy] Heb. holiness of holinesses; that is, most [unspec] holy: not only sanctified it self, but sanctifying the gifts that were offered to God upon it; and so it was greater then the sacrifices as our Lord teacheth in Mat. 23. 19. & was herein a figure of Christ, the holy of holies, Daniel 9. 24. Heb. 13. 10. 15. he sanctified himself for his Church; and though he knew no sin, yet was he made sin for us, John. 17. 19. 2 Cor. 5. 21. holy] or sanctified, as the Greek & Chaldee translate it.

Vers. 38. make ready] or do, that is, offer unto [unspec] God: see v. 36. of the first year] Heb. sons of the year: see the notes on Ex. 12. 5. day by day] or, for a day, that is, every day; So in Numb. 28. 3.

Ver. 39. between the two evenings] that is, in the [unspec] afternoon, about three of the clock. See the notes on Ex. 12. 6. This daily service, signified the continual sanctification of the Church, through faith in Christ the Lamb of God; by whose mediation, we and our actions are accepted of God, Act. 26. 6. 7. Rom. 12. 1. 1 Pet. 1. 2. 19. 22. and 2. 5. Of this the Hebrew Doctors say, The continual sacrifice of the morning, made atonement for the iniquities that were done in the night; and the evening sacrifice made atonement for the iniquities that were by day, R. Menachem, fol. 115.

Ver. 40. tenth-deal]•o wit, of an Ephah or bushel, Num. 28. 5. which measure was called also an Omer Exod. 16. 36. an Hin] a measure which contey•ed twelve Logs saith Maimonides, in treat. of Sacrifices, Chap. 2. Sect. 7. See Exod. 30. 24. A Log (whereof see Lev. 14. 10.) is about our half pinte: so the fourth part of an Hin; that is 3 logs, about a pinte and a half of oil, and so of wine. This flower and oil, was called the Minchah or Meat-offering, Numb. 28. 5. & whereas the meat-offering brought alone, by particular persons, had besides oil, incense also, and salt; and but a handful of it was burnt, Lev. 2. of this meat and drink offering here joined with the burnt sacrifices, the Heb. say ⟨◊⟩ were not bound to bring incense upon it, but salt only; and it was burnt all of it upon the altar. And the ⟨◊⟩ was offered upon the altar, not put upon the fire, but (the Priest) lifting his hand on high, poured it upon the •••tome (of the Altar,) &c. Maimonides, ibidem, Chap. 2. Sect. 1. See more in Lev. 2.

Vers 42. continual burnt offering] or, burnt offering of continuation▪ (as the Greek translateth it;) or, of perpetualnesse: which without intermission, was daily to be offered twice. And although other things have this word sometime adjoined, as the continual bread, Num. 4. 7. the continual inc••s, Exod. 30. 8. the continual meat offering, Num. 4. 16. yet commonly the daily burnt offering is ⟨◊⟩ hereby; and this sometime when the sacrifice is not expressed, as ⟨◊⟩ > Dan. 8. 11. 12. 13. and 11. 31. and 12. 11. will meet] or, will congregate at times appointed; upon the Mercy-seat, Exodus 30. 6. The Greek translateth, Will be known ⟨◊⟩ thee; the Chaldee, will appoint my word unto you. <...> reason and ⟨◊⟩ of the ⟨◊⟩ , why ⟨◊⟩ <...> the <...> (or, of meeti <...> ▪ because there God and his people met together; he to inform them by his Word, they to worship him, and to receive his oracles. See Exod. ⟨◊⟩ . 34. Levite. 1. 1. and 9. 23. 24. Num. 1▪ 1. and ⟨◊⟩ . and •2. 4. 5. and 14. 10. and 16. 19. 4• 44.

Vers. 43. he shall] or it shall, meaning Israel, the Church, and every member of the same▪ my g <...> ] my glorious presence, which often there appeared, as is before shown, and as did after in Solomon's Temple, 1 King. 8. 10. 11. Isaiah 6. 1. 3. 5. and in Christ's Church under the Gospel, Rev. 21. 11. 23. Isaiah 60. 1. 2. And this was that which truly sanctified the Tabernacle and Church, and all things in them; not blood or oil, or any other outward thing; which, did sanctify but as touching the purifying of the flesh, Hebrew 9. 13. 22. 23. and 10. 1. 10.

Vers. 45. will dwell] this was the signification of the Tabernacle, that God dwelled with men, Exod▪ 25. 8. Psalm. 78. 60. and so now with us in Christ, Rev. 21. 3. Zach. 2. 10. And of this Hebrew Sha•an, that is, dwell, the Hebrews usually call God's Majesty in his Church, Shekhinah, that is, Habitation; and so the gifts of the holy Ghost unto his people. And in this place, the Chaldee translateth, I will settle my habitation (or divine presence) amongst the Sons of Israel: and under these figurative speeches, eternal life in the presence of God, was promised unto them, Levite. 26. 11. 12. John. 14. 2. 3. and 17. 24. Psal. 16. 11.

CHAP. XXX

<◇> God commandeth to make the Altar of incense, 6, which should be set before the veil by the Ark; <◇> , on which the Priest should burn incense every morning 1. 10, and once in the year make atonement upon the <◇> of it. 1•. When Israel should be numbered. every <◇> must give half a shekel of money, for the ransom of his soul, that he died not. 17, Acommandement to make the brazen Laver, with the foot thereof and to p•water therein for the Priests to wash their hands and feet daily. 22. How to make the holy Anointing oil▪ 26, and what thing• should be anointed with it. 32, Other men may not use it, or make the <◇> > 34. The composition and making of the Incense, 36▪ and use thereof. 37, Men may not make the like, for themselves.

AND thou shalt make an altar, an incense altar of incense, of Shittim wood shalt thou make it. A cubit <...> the length thereof, and a cubit the bre•• thereof; fouresqre shall it be, and two <◇> the height thereof▪ the horns thereof shall be of the same. And thou shalt overlay it with pure gold, the roof thereof, and the walls thereof round-about, and the horns thereof: and thou shalt make unto it a crown of gold round about. And two rings of gold shalt thou make to it, under the crown of it; by the two ribs thereof, upon the two sides of it shalt thou make them: and they shall be for places for the bars to bear it withal. And thou shalt make the ••rres of Shittim wood, and shalt overlay them with gold. And thou shalt put it before the veil, which is by the Ark of the Testimony, before the Coveringmercy-seat which is over the Testimony, where I will meet with thee. And Aaron shall burn thereon incense of sweet-spices every morning when he dresseth the lamps, he shall burn it. And when Aaron causeth the lamps to ascend, between the two evenings he shall burn it: a continual incense before Jehovah, throughout your generations. Ye shall not offer thereon strange incense or burnt-offering, or meat-offering; and drink-offering, ye shall not pour out thereon. And Aaron shall make-atonement upon the horns of it, once in the year: with the blood of the sin-offering of atonements, once in the year, shall he make atonement upon it throughout your generations; it is holies, unto Jehovah.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

And I•hovah spake unto Moses, saying, When thou takest the Sum of the Sons of Israel, by those that are to be numbered of them; then shall they give every man the ransom of his soul unto Jehovah, when thou numbrest them: that there be no plague amongst them, when thou numbrest them. This they shall give, everyone that passeth among them that are numbered; half a shekel, by the shekel of the Sanctuary: the shekel is twenty gerahs; an half shekel shall be an heave-offering to Jehovah. Every one that passeth among them that are numbered, from twenty years old, and above: he shall give the heave-offering of Jehovah. The rich shall not give-more, and the poor shall not give-less, then half a shekel: in giving the heave-offering of Jehovah, to make atonement for your souls. And thou shalt take the silver of the atonements, of the sons of Israel, and shalt give it, for the service of the Tent of the congregation: and it shall be for a memorial for the Sons of Israel before Jehovah; to make atonement for your souls. And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Thou shalt also make a Layer of brass, and his foot of brass, to wash: and thou shalt put it between the Tent of the congregation, and the altar; and thou shalt put water there in. And Aarō & his sons shall wash therefrom their hands and their feet. When they go into the Tent of the congregation, they shall wash with water, that they die not: or when they come-near to the altar, to minister, to burn the Fire-offering, unto Jehovah. And they shall wash their hands and their feet, that they die not: and it ••ill be unto them, a statute for ever; to him and to his feed throughout their generations.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Thou also, take unto thee, the chief of spices; of pure Myrrh five hundred (shekels;) and of sweet Cinamon the half thereof, two hundred and fifty; and of sweet Calamus, two hundred and fifty. And of Cassia, five hundred, by the shekel of the Sanctuary: and of oil olive an Hin. And thou shalt make it an oil of holy anointing; a compound-ointment compounded, after the work of the Apothecary: it shall be an oil of holy anointing. And thou shalt anoint therewith, the Tent of the congregation: and the Ark of the Testimony: And the Table, and all the vessels thereof; and the Candlestick, and the vessels thereof: and the Altar of Intense: And the altar of burnt-offering, and all the vessels thereof: and the Laver, and the foot thereof. And thou shalt sanctify them, and they shall be holy of holies: whatsoever toucheth them, shall be holy. And thou shalt anoint Aaron and his sons: and sanctify them, to minister-in-the-priest-office unto me. And thou shalt speak unto the Sons of Israel, saying: This shall be an oil of holy anointing unto me, throughout your generations. Upon man's flesh it shall not be poured: and after the composition of it, ye shall not 〈...〉 ke like it: holiness it is, holiness shall it be unto you. Any man that shall compoundan-ointment like it, or that shall put thereof upon a stranger; he shall even be cut-off, from his people's.

And Jehovah said unto Moses; Take unto thee sweet-spices, Stacte, and Onycha, and Galbanum, sweet-spices, and pure frankincense: there shall be one alone with another alone.

And thou shalt make it an incense, a confection, the work of the Apothecary: salted, pure, holy. And thou shalt beat of it, pounding-••-small; and shalt put of it before the Testimony, in the Tent of the congregation, where I will meet with thee; holy of Holies shall it be unto you. And the incense which thou shalt make, after the composition of it, ye shall not make to yourselves: it shall be holiness unto thee, for Jehovah. Any man, that shall make like unto it, to smell thereto, shall even be cut-off, from his people's.

Annotations.

AN incense altar of incense] or, a perfumatorie (a perfuming place) of perfume: where odors were burned daily, and resolved into fume or smoke. In the making, it is called only an altar of incense, Exod. 37. 25. and so the Greek translatheth it here. But because an Altar, in Hebrew Mizbeach, hath the name of slain-sacrifices, which were offered thereon; and upon this, there was no such service: therefore it is called for distinction sake, Miktar, a Perfumatory, or Incense altar. The Chaldee expoundeth it, Thou shalt make an Altar, to offer upon it incense of sweet-spices. Shittim] Greek, incorruptible wood: see Exod. 25. 5.

Vers. 2. horns] sharp high places in the four corners: see the notes on Exodus 27. 1. 2. &c.

Vers. 3. gold] whereupon it was called the golden altar; Num. 4. 11. Revel. 8. 3. as the other covered with brass, was the brazen altar, Exodus 38. 30. Of the matter underneath, it is sometime called the altar of wood; as in Ezek. 41. 22. where the measures of it (prophesied to be under the Gospel) are larger then these under the Law. For this was but one cubit long, that two: this two cubits high, that three. Because the service of God, by Christ's coming, should be enlarged, from East to West, God's name should be great among the gentiles; and in every place, incense should be offered unto his name, Mal. 1. 11. and the Spirit of grace, and of supplications, should be in larger measure poured out upon the Church, Zach. 12. 10. roof] by the roof and walls, are meant the top and sides: a similitude taken from an house. The Greek translatheth, hearth, and walls. a crown] The like was made about the Ark, Exodus 25. 11. and about the Table, Exodus 25. 24. To these the Hebrews apply the three crowns (as they call them) of Israel: the Crown of the Law, that is, the Ark, the Crown of the Priesthood, that is, the golden Altar; and the Crown of the Kingdom, that is, the Table. R. Elias, in Preface to Sepher Reshith chocmah, page 2.

Vers. 4. places] Hebrew, houses: so Exodus 25. 27. By the bars in these, the golden Altar was carried, when the host and tabernacle removed, Num. 4. 5. 11. 25.

Vers. 6. 〈...〉 t with thee] to answer by oracle, as before, Exod. 29. 42. The Greek translatheth, I will be known unto thee there; the Chaldee saith, I will prepare my word for thee there. This golden Altar figured out Christ in respect of his mediation with God for his Church: by whom, and in whose name, we offer up praises and prayers unto God, 〈...〉 . 3. 15. John. 16. 23. 24. which prayers 〈...〉 unto incense, Psalm. 14. ••. There 〈...〉 〈◇〉 the four horns of the golden Altar, a •• heard, Revel. 9. 13. as answering to the 〈...〉 God's people in Christ.

Vers. 8. to ascend] that is, to burn; see Exodus 27. 20. The order of burning incense as the Hebrew Doctors have recorded, was: that one went and gathered the ashes from off the Altar, into a golden vessel; another brought a vessel full of incense, another brought a censer with fire, and put coals on the Altar; and he whose office it was to burn the incense, (when the other, having bowed themselves down, were gone out,) strowed the incense on the fire; when he was bidden so to do by the governor. At which time, all the people went out of the Temple from between the porch and the Altar (in Solomon's Temple.) And every day they burned the weight of an hundred ⟨⊞⟩ of incense, fifty at morning, and fifty at evening, [Those 100 denarios were a pound amongst them, and weighed fifty shekels of the Sanctuary, every shekel being in weight 320 Barley cornes]. And when the priest had burned the incense, he bowed him down, and went his way ⟨⊞⟩ Maimonides, treat of the Daily service, Chap. 3. so that Zacharias, as his lot fell, burned incense in the Temple, the whole multitude of the people were without at prayer, while the incense was burning Luk. 1. 9. 10. By this service, God taught then that the faithful prayers of his people, are sweet as incense, and acceptable unto him; whiles our priest Christ Jesus, doth by his mediation, put ⟨⊞⊞⊞⟩ the prayers of all Saints, Psalm. 141. ⟨...⟩ . 3. 4. Rom. 8. 26. Matth. 21. 22. and 15. 9. Luke 11. 1. 2. &c.

Vers. 10. once] or, one time, which was the tenth day of the seventh month, the day of Reconciliation, as Levite. 16. 18. 29. 30. See the annotations there. of the Sin offering] the Greek translatheth, of the purgation of sins: which phrase Paul useth, saying of Christ, that he made a purgation of our sins, that is, cleansed us from them, Heb. 1. 3. of atonements] that is, whereby reconciliation was made. Which being a figure of the blood of Christ, reconciling us to God, Heb. 2. 17. signified that the imperfections and sins which cleave even to the best prayers of the Saints are to be pardoned and purified by that blood and death. holy of holies] that is, a most holy thing: Hebr. holiness of holinesses.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

Here beginneth the 21 Section of the Law, see Gen. 6. 9.

Vers. 12. sum] or compt: in Hebrew head: because the sum is as the head of the number, Therefore the Gr. here interpreteth it computation, and the Chaldee, Compt or Number. So in Numb. 1. 2. by those that are to be numbered] the Greek saith, in (or by) their visitation; the Chaldee, by their Numbers. of his soul] that is, of his life, which he should now lose, when he was particularly visited and looked unto of God; if he redeemed not himself with money. By this God taught his people to judge themselves for their sins, that they might not be judged of him, Ezek. 20. 43. and 36. 31. 1 Cor. 11. 31. And this redeeming of their souls with money, taught them faith in Christ, who was to redeem his people, not with gold and silver, but with his own precious blood, 1 Pet. 1. 18. 19. no plague] for their sins, if they were not redeemed. When David numbered the people, the Lord sent a pestilence among them, to the death of 70 thousand men, 2 Sam. 24. 9. 15. For plague here, the Greek translateth fall or ruin, the Chaldee, death.

Vers. 13. of the Sanctuary] which was twice so much as the common shekel. See the notes on Gen. 20. 16. twenty gerahs] as if we should say, twenty pence: this sum is also expressed in Levite. 27. 25. Numb. 3. 47. and 18. 16. Ezek. 45. 12. A Gerah (which the Hebrew Doctors name also Megnah) weighed sixteen barley cornes: twenty gerahs made the shekel of the Sanctuary, which was 320 barley cornes weight of pure, silver, as Maimonides affirmeth, in treat. of Ualuations, &c. ch. 1. S. 4.

Vers. 14. old] Hebr. son of twenty years, that is, going in his twentieth year. See Gen. 5. 32. At this age they were also numbered in Num. 1. 3. and 26. 2. and what the number of men, and sum of money was now at the first count, see in Exod. 38. 25. 26

Vers. 15. give less] 〈ϕ〉 〈ϕ〉 God hereby taught an equality of all men before him in respect of their sins, and of their redemption from sin, by Christ; through whom we have all obtained a likeprecious faith unto salvation, 2 Pet. 1. 〈ϕ〉 So there was an equality in the distribution of Mann, Exod. 16. 18. The Hebrews say, Because with these half shekels they bought the daily sacrifices every year he would have that the hands of all of them should be equal, in the offerings of the congregation. 〈ϕ〉 Menachem, on 〈ϕ〉 30. sol. 116.

Vers. 16. service] which is after mentioned in Exod. 38. 25. The Hebrew Doctors have taught this to be a perpetual ordinance, that every man of Israel 〈...〉 mmanded to give half a shekel every year: yea though he be a poor man that liveth on alms, he is bound to beg it of others, or to sell his clothes from his back, and give half a shekel of silver, as it is written (Exodus 30. 15.) The rich shall not give more, and the poor shall not givelesse: and he must not give it some today and some tomorrow, but all of it at once. All are bound to give this half shekel, Priests, Levites, Israelites, Proselytes, and servants that are free; but not women, bond men, or children: yet if they will give, they receive it of them, but not of Infidels. This payment is not used but before the Temple, and in the time when the Temple standeth, they give the shekels both within the land of Israel, and without the same: but while the Temple is desolate, they pay<sup>a</sup> them not, though they dwell within the land. On the first day of Adar (that is which we call February) they make proclamation, that every man may be ready to pay his half shekel; and on the 25 of the same month, they sit in the Temple to receive the same. That which is gathered in other provinces, is sent unto the Temple: there in one of the Chambers, it is laid up in coffers. With this money, and other of like nature, they provided the daily sacrifices, and offerings for the congregation, salt for the sacrifices, wood, incense, show bread, the red Cow, &c. Maimonie in treat. of the shekels, Chap. 1. Sect. 1. 7. 8. 9. and Chap. 2. Sect. 4. and Chap. 4. Sect. 1. Howbeit, some do think this commandment was but for the present building of the Sanctuary; and not to be a yearly tribute. Compare 2 Chron. 24. 5. 6. and Neh. 10. 32 where the people charged themselves yearly with the third part of a shekel, for the service of the house of God. Of that, the Hebrews say, it was over and beside the half shekel (here spoken of) for the necessity of the things there mentioned. Ibn Ezra on Neh. 10.

Vers. 18. Laver,] in Hebrew Cijor, which word sometime is used for a Cauldron. 1 Sam. 2. 16. but commonly a washing vessel, in Greek Louter<sup>a</sup> that is, a Laver. When the priests and people were multiplied, Solomon in his Temple made ten Lav<sup>ers</sup> to wash the sacrifices, and one other great vessel, called a Sea, for the priests to wash in, 1 King. 7. 38. 23, 26. 2 Chron. 4. 2. 6. This in the Tabernacle, was made of the brazen looking glasses of the women which assembled at the door of the Tent, Exod. 38. 〈◇〉. From these; the holy Ghost mentioneth in the Church of Christ, mystically, a sea of glass like Crystal before the throne, Rev. 4. 6. and again, a 〈◇〉 sea mingled with fire, Rev. 15. 2. foot] or ••se, (as the Greek tr 〈...〉 it;) which was to uphold and stablish the •a•r. And any water might serve to sanctify with, whether it were living (that is, spring or running) water, or lake water: only so as it had not changed the color, but were like water meet for to wash in. Maimonides, treat. of 〈...〉 tance into the Sanctuary. Chap. 5. Sect. 12. 14.

Vers. 19. therefrom] or, thereat, or, thereof: to wit, in the water that is taken out of the Lav<sup>er</sup>, into some vessel of the Sanctuary. For wash the Chaldee translateth sanctify. Touching this, the Hebrew Doctors say, It is commanded, to sanctify in the water of the Laver, & if one sanctify (that is, wash) in any of the vessels of ministry; it is lawful; but not in any profane vessel. If he sanctify in a vessel of ministry without (the Court,) or in a profane vessel within, and so perform his service, it is unlawful. And they sanctify not within the Laver; or with the ministering vessel, but from the same, as it is written, (Exod. 30. 19.) They shall wash THEREFROM: howbeit, if one sanctify within it, and serve, he is not polluted. He that washeth his hands and his feet, in a place of waters, though it be in a Well; this is no sanctification at all, until he wash in a vessel. And they may sanctify in any of the vessels of the Sanctuary, &c. Maimonides, treat. of Entrance into the Sanctuary, Chap. 5. Sect. 10.

Of this also they write; The Priest needeth not sanctify himself between every several service that he 〈ϕ〉 ; but be sanctifieth once in the morning, and so serveth and goeth all that day, and all that night. Provided, that he go not out of the Sanctuary, nor sleep, nor make water, nor remove his mind from one business to another. For if he do any one of these four, he must sanctify again. This was a general rule in the Sanctuary, no man 〈ϕ〉 into the Court to serve, although he were clean, un 〈...〉 he was washed. And who so covered his 〈ϕ〉 (that is, did his easement, as Judge. 3. 24.) was bound to wash; and who so made-water, was bound to sanctify bands and feet: If he sanctified them today, he must again sanctify them tomorrow yea though he slept not all the night; for, by continuing all night, his hands became disallowable (for service.) If he sanctified them in the night, and burried the fat all night long, yet must •ee *again sanctify them in the day, for the service of the day. When he sanctifieth, he layeth his right hand on his right foot, and his left hand on his left foot and boweth himself and sanctifieth. And he doth not sanctify sitting, because it is as a service; and no service is dont but standing; as it is written, (in Deut. 18. 5.) Vers. 〈ϕ〉 die not] by the hand of God, as 〈ϕ〉 [unspec] Aaron's sons, in Levite. 10. 1. 2. So Maimonides (in the foresaid place, Sect. 1.) saith; The Priest that serveth, and sanctifieth not his hands and his feet in the morning, is in danger of death by the hands of the (God of) heaven: as it is written, They shall wash with water, that they die not, and his service is unlawful, whether •e 〈...〉 the high Priest, or an inferior. This rite did teach them and us, faith in Christ, in whose blood we are washed from our sins, and made Kings and Priests unto God. Revel. 1. 5. 6. also sanctification, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the holy Ghost, Tit. 3. 5. that we being sprinkled in our hearts from an evil conscience, and washed in our bodies with pure water, may draw near with a true heart, in assurance of faith, Heb. 10. 22. and washing our hands in innocence, may compass the Altar of the Lord, Psal. 26. 6. to burn the fire offering] which the Greek explaineth, to offer the Burnt-offerings; and the Chaldee more generally, to offer oblations before the Lord.

Vers. 21. wash] in the Chaldee, sanctify. to his seed] the posterity of Aaron; the Chaldee expounds [unspec] it, his sons.

Vers. 23. chief] or head spices, that is, the principal and most excellent: so in Ezek. 27. 22. Song 4. 14. pure myrrh] in Greek choice myrrh, Hebrew, myrrh of freedom; that is, free, pure, natural as it floweth. Myrrh (so named of the Hebrew Mor;) is a sweet gum or moisture, that issueth out of the myrrh tree, and none is preferred before it; as Pliny showeth in his hist. book 12. chap. 15. The graces of Christ and of his Church, are often resembled by this myrrh, Song 1. 13. and 3. 6. and 4. 14. and 5. 1. 5. 13. Psal. 45. 9. shekels] this word is added by the Greek, and the Chaldee in Targum Yerushalmi, and in the verse following it is here expressed. sweet] or, aromatical cinamon, which cometh of the Hebrew name Kinnemon, and is the bark of a tree, used for sweet odors: and signified spiritual grace, Prov. 7. 17. Song 4. 14. half thereof] that is, half the fore-said quantity, (as followeth) 250. shekels weight. But the Hebrew Doctors understand it otherwise, and say there was of this 500. shekels, as of the former; and this which the Law saith, Cinamon the half thereof 250. is because they weighed it at two times, 250, at each time: saith Maimonides, in treat. of the Implements of the Sanctuary, chap. 1. Sect. 2. Calamus] or Cane, according to the Hebrew name  $\langle \phi \rangle$ , for Calamus is after the Greek name. It is [unspec] a kind of sweet reed, bought and brought out of far Countries; as appeareth by Jeremiah 6. 20. Isaiah. 43. 24.

Verse 24. Cassia] or Costus, another sweet cane, called in Hebrew Kiddah, mentioned only here, and in Ezek. 27. 19. an Hin] whereof see Exod. 29. 40. Maimonides, in the fore-named treatise, chap. 2. Sect. 2. saith, *the Hin was twelve logs; (of which measure, see Levite. 14. 10.) and every log, four qu  $\langle \dots \rangle$  ants. Others, more fully thus: a quadrant [unspec] (or quarter) containeth is much as an egg and a half. A  $\langle \dots \rangle$  ineth four quadrants, that is, six eggs. A Kab containeth four logs, that 24. eggs. A Hin, twelve logs, that is, 72. eggs. A Seah (or Pecke, whereof see Gen. 18. 6.) contained six Kabs, that is, 24. logs, two Hins, or 144. eggs. An Ephah was three Seahs, 18. Kabs, six Hins, 72. logs, or 432. eggs. R. Alphes, in treat. of the Passover, chap. 5.*

Vers. 25. make it] The manner is recorded to be thus; Every of those four spices, was pounded severally: then mixed altogether, and steeped in waier pure and sweet, till all the strength of them was gone out into the water; then they put unto the water, an Hin of oil olive; and boiled all on the fire, till the water was consumed, and the oil left in the vessel for use afterward. Maimonides, treat. of the Implements of the Sanctuary, chap. 1. Sect. 3. compound-ointment] or, sweet-consecration. Apothecary] or, compounder of ointments. Such in the ages following, were of the Priests Sons, 1 Chron. 9. 30. holy anointing] Hebrew, unction of holiness] or as the Greek translatheth it, an holy chrisme.

Vers. 26. anoint therewith the Tent] or, the Tabernacle, with all things about the same; which was performed in Exod. 40. and Lev. 8. 10. &c. These sweet odors, signified the joyful graces of God's Spirit, and the anointing with this oil, the pouring out of the holy Spirit upon Christ, his Church and ministers, Acts 10. 38. Isaiah 61. 1. Psal. 45. 8. 2 Cor. 1. 21. 22. Song 3. 6. Psal. 133. 2. As it is written, Ye have an ointment from him that is holy, and know all things; and the Anointing that ye have received of him, dwelleth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you, but as the same Anointing teacheth you of all things, &c. 1 John. 2. 20. 27.

Vers. 29. whatsoever] or, whosoever: so the Greek saith, every-one that toucheth them, shall be sanctified.

Vers. 32. poured] in Greek, anointed. not make] the Greek addeth, not make unto yourselves. holiness shall it be unto you]••e Greek translatheth, holy it is• and a sanctification (or sanctified thing) shall it be unto you. Therefore it might not be used unto common •ffaires: God hereby teaching the holy and reverend use of his graces, and sanctified ordinances; which must not be communicated with the unregenerate and sensual, which having not the Spirit, do turn the grace of God into lasciviousness, Matth. 7. 6. 1 John. 2. 19. 20. Jude verse 4. 19. 1 Cor. 2. 6. 14.

V. 33. like it] Of this point the Heb. do record; He that maketh anointing oil, according to the work, & according to the weight of this, without adding or diminishing: if he do it presumptuously, is guilty of cutting off; if ignorantly, he is to bring the sacrifice appointed for it. He that shall anoint any with the anointing oil presumptuously, is guilty of cutting-off; if ignorantly, he is to bring a sacrifice, whether he anoint himself, or another man. Maimonides, treat. of the Implements of the Sanctuary, chap. 1. Sect. 4. 5. a stranger] whosoever was not Priest, or King. Maimonides (in the foresaid place) saith, They anointed none herewith in the generations following, but the high Priests, and him that was anointed for the war, (Deut. 20. 1. 2.) and the Kings of David's house only. Though he be a Priest, and Son of a Priest, yet they do anoint him, Lev. 6. 22. But they anoint not the King that is Son of the King, because the kingdom is the Kings inheritance forever, Deut. 17. 20. But if there be a sedition, they do anoint him, for to cease the sedition, and to make known unto all, who is the right King. Even as Solomon was anointed, for the sedition of Adonias, 1 King. 1. and Iash, because of Athaliah, 2 King. 11. and Ioachaz, because of his brother Jehojakim, 2 King. 23. 30. And whereas Eliseus anointed Jehu, 2 King. 9. he did not anoint him with the anointing oil, but with the oil of Balsam; at our wise men have said.

Vers. 34. Stacte] so called in Greek, the Hebrew name is Nataph; both of them signify Dropping: and this Stacte is a fatness or gum that droppeth from the Myr•h tree, very sweet and precious, as Dioscorides showeth, lib. 1. chap. 62. The Yerushalmi Targum calleth it Ketaph, that is, Rosin: and so Maimonides, in treat. of the Implements of the Sanctuary, chap. 2. Sect. 4. saith, Nataph is the Rosin tree, out of which baulme (or balsam) issueth. Onycha] this also is the Greek name, and it signifieth a nail, or hoof; to which the Chaldee name Tuphra doth accord: and the Arabic adfar tajib, In Larine it is called Ungula aromatica, or Vng•is odoratus, or Blatta Byzanti•: of which Dioscorides in his 2 book, cap. 7. saith, it is the cover of a shelfish, like the purple; and it is found in the spikenards lakes of India, and doth give a swee• odour, for that the shelfishes there do feed upon spikenard. The best is brought from the red sea, white, and fat. Some out of Babylon, which is blackish; both are burnt for sweet savor. The Hebrew name is Shecheleth, and is not found in Scripture, but in this one place: of it Maimonides also (in the foresaid place) saith, it is a nail (or shell) which men use to put in perfumes. Galbanum] or Styrax: in Hebrew Ch•lbenah, in Greek Chalbance. It hath the original name of fatness: and Galbanum is the gum or liquor of a plant like fenell, growing in Syria, of a strong savor; that when it is burned, the smell of it driveth away serpents; &c. as Dioscorides showeth, in his 3. book, cap. 79: and Pli•ie in his 12. book, chap. 26▪ The Hebrew Doctors say also, that Chelbenah is like black honey, of a strong smell, and is the rosin (or gum) of trees, in the cities of Greece. In Arabic it is called Miha. Maim•ny in the Impl•ments of the Sanctuary, chap. 2. Sect. 4. sweet spices] this word some refer to the three before mentioned: the Greek version referreth it only to the Galbanum aforesaid, saying Galbanum of sweet smell, as to distinguish it from the common Galbanum, which is of strong savor. Others understand them of those sweet spices spoken of in verse 23. and some, of the leaves of Spikenard; which for excellency are called by this name. The Hebrews say, by their traditions, that howsoever four odors are only named here, yet there were eleven spoken of to Moses on mount Sinai; Talmud Bab. tract. Cher. thoth, chap. 1. in Gemara. The same doth Maimonides affirm, and nameth them, Stacte, and Onycha, and Galbanum, and Frankincense; of every of these (saith he) there was 70. pound weight. (Their pound weighed 50. shekels of the Sanctuary, and every shekel 320. grains of barley.) And Myrrh, and Cassia, and Spikenard, and Saffron, of every of these 16. pound. Of Costus twelve pound. Of Cinamen, nine pound; and of sweet bark (or Casia lignea, in Arabic, Cashshor alicha,) three pound. The weight of all was 368. pound. Every day they burned a pound of this confection, upon the golden altar, 365. pound in the year, according to the days of the Sun, and the three pound that were over, they did beat (and prepare) in the even of Reconciliation day, &c. Maimonides, treat. of the Implements of the Sanctuary, chap. 2. Sect. 2. 3. Howbeit the Scripture mentioneth but four species for the perfume, as there were four for the holy oil: and the Greek interpretation, may well stand. This rite of burning sweet odors, the Gentiles also used in the service of their gods; Alb. Tibull, lib. 2. saith, Vrantur pia thura focus, urantur odores, &c. alone] every species beaten several by it self, and after that mixed, as Maimonides showeth in the foresaid place, Sect. 5. The Chaldee translateth it, weight with weight, and the Greek, equal to equal, meaning that there should be an equal weight or quantity of all these fore-named.

Vers. 35. shalt make it] Moses made it now  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  [unspec] first: after in Israel, there was made every year, the quantity fore-mentioned; Maimonides idem, chap.  $\langle \diamond \rangle$ . Sect. 1. an incense] or, a perfume, this signified our prayers; as it is written, they had golden cups full of incense (or perfumes) which are the prayers of the Saints, Revel. 5.  $\langle \diamond \rangle$ . salted] the Chaldee paraphrase, and Targum Yerushalmi, translate it mixed, tempered: and the Greek version favoreth this exposition. But it may be understood properly, for, from the Law in Lev. 2. 13, WITH ALL THINE OFFRINGS▪ SHALT THOU OFFER SALT, the Hebrews teach, that there was not anything offered on the Altar, without salt, except the wine of the drink offerings, and the blood, and the wood: Maimonides, treat. of things forbidden to be offered on the Altar, chap. 5. Sect. 11. And of this he saith, they added to the incense, the fourth part of a Kab of salt: [that is, the quantity of six eggs:] Maimonides, treat. of the Implements of the Sanctuary, chap. 1, Sect. 3. Our Savior saith, Every sacrifice shall be salted with salt, and, Have salt in yourselves, Mark. 9. 49. 50. If our speech must be always with grace, seasoned with salt, as the Apostle teacheth, Colos. 4. 6. how much more should our incense, our prayers unto God, be therewith seasoned? holy] Hebrew holiness: which the Greek translateth a holy work. For it signified the holy mediation of Christ, with the prayers of the Saints; as is before noted, on verse 8.

Vers. 36. of it] of these, saith the Greek, That is, some of this confection, (as it was daily to be used,) was first to be beaten small. Which may signify unto us, exactness in the particularities of things to be prayed for; & how afflictions, and contrition of heart are furtherances in this work, Act. 4. 24▪ 30. John. 17. Luk. 17. 1. 2. 7. Psal. 51. 19. where I will meet with thee] the Greek expounds it, whence I will be known unto thee; the Chaldee where I will appoint (or prepare) my Word unto thee.

Vers. 38. to smell thereto] This Law accordeth with the former of the oil, verse 33. the Hebrew Doctors explain it thus: He that maketh a perfume according to these weights, for to smell thereto; although he do not sell, is guilty of cutting-off, for the very making, if he do it presumptuously. If ignorantly, he is to bring the offering appointed: and this, although he ache not the whole quantity, but a half, or a third part thereof: forasmuch as he hath made it according to these weights, he is guilty of being cut-off. If he smell thereto, and made it not; he is guilty of cutting-off, but his doom is like all theirs that use (or make profit of) any of the sanctified things; (to wit, unlawfully,) Mimomy, in treat. of the holy Implements, chap. 2. Sect. 9. 10. be cut off] the Chaldee expoundeth it, be destroyed: the Greek saith, the soul of that man shall perish from his people. God, by this judgment, would keep men from profaning and abusing the holy exercise of prayer, and doctrine of Christ's mediation, when the abuse even of the shadow hereof, brought destruction upon the offenders.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Bezaleel and Aholiab, are called and made meet for the work of the Tabernacle, and furniture thereof. 12, The observation of the Sabbath is again commanded. 18, Moses receiveth the two Tables of the Law.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses saying. See, I have called by name, Bezaleel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah. And I have filled him with the Spirit of God: in wisdom, and in understanding, and in knowledge, and in all workmanship. To devise cunning-works: to work in gold, and in silver, and in brass. And in engraving of stone; to fill; and in carving of wood: to work in all workmanship. And I, behold I have given with him, Aholiab the son of Ahisamac of the tribe of Dan; and in the heart of all wise hearted, I have given wisdom, that they may make all that I have commanded thee. The Tent of the congregation, and the Ark of the Testimony, and the Covering-mercy-seat that is thereupon: and all the vessels of the Tent. And the Table, and the vessels thereof: and [unspec] the pure Candlestick, and all the vessels thereof: and the Altar of incense. And the Altar of burnt-offering, & all the vessels thereof: and the Laver, and the foot thereof. And the garments of ministry, and the garments of holiness for Aaron the priest, and the garments of his sons, to minister-in-the-priests office. And the anointing oil, and incense of sweet-spices, for the holy place: according to all that I have commanded thee, shall they do.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying. And thou, speak thou unto the sons of Israel, saying; Verily my Sabbath's ye shall keep, for it is a sign between me and you, throughout your generations; to know, that I am Jehovah that sanctifieth you. And ye shall keep the Sabbath, for it is holiness to you: they that profane it, everyone shall be put-to-die the death: for everyone that doth any work therein, even that soul shall be cut-off, from amongst his people's. Six days shall work be done; but in the seventh day, is the Sabbath of Sabbathism, holiness to Jehovah: everyone that doth any work in the Sabbath day, shall be put to die the death. And the Sons of Israel shall keep the Sabbath: to observe the Sabbath throughout their generations, for an everlasting covenant. Between me and the Sons of Israel, it shall be a sign forever: for in Six days, Jehovah made the heavens & the earth; and in the Seventh day he rested and was refreshed.

And he gave unto Moses, when he had made-an-end of speaking with him, on mount Sinai, two Tables of testimony: Tables of stone, written with the finger of God.

Annotations.

BEzaleel] in Greek, Beseleel; by interpretation, In the shadow of God: he was the son of Vri, the son of Hur, the son of Caleb, or Chelubai, the son of Esrone, the son of Pharez, the son of Judah; from whom he was the seventh generation, (as Enoch was the seventh from Adam,) and is here designed the master workman of the Lord's Tabernacle. See his genealogy, in 1 Chron. 2. 5. 9. 18. 19. 20.

Vers. 3. Spirit] that is, gifts of the Spirit, such as are after mentioned. So Paul openeth it, in 1 Cor. 12. 4. 8. 11. see also Act. 2. 4. The Greek expoundeth it, a divine Spirit; the Chaldee, a Spirit from before the Lord. workmanship] or, Art: Hebrew, work. So verse 4.

Vers. 4. devise cunning-works] such as were mentioned in Exodus 26. 1. &c. see the notes there. The Hebrew phrase, is figurative; to think thoughts: which the Greek explaineth, to think (or mind) and to make-artificially: the Chaldee saith, to teach artificers: as it is in Exodus 35. 34. These three things in Bezaleel; a calling, a furnishing with gifts, and a working or operation accordingly, are necessary in all the public ministers of the Church. So Paul mentioneth diversities (or distributions) 1 of gifts, by the Spirit; 2 of administrations (or ministries) by the Lord [Jesus]; and 3 of operations, by God [the Father,] 1 Cor. 12. 4. 5. 6. 〈◇〉 to work] or, to do, to make: but doing is often used for working (as is noted on Exod. 5. 9.) and so the Greek translateth it here; also in verse 5.

Vers. 5. ingraving] or cutting. The Hebrew word generally signifieth a studious and artificial ingraving or cutting in stone, in wood, in iron, in earth, (and then it is Englished ploughing,) or any other like handicraft. to fill] that is, to set in the golden ouches, as Exod. 28. 21. to work] or, to make in all work: meaning cunning work; as is expressed in Exod. 35. 33.

Vers. 6. Aholiab] in Greek, Eliab; by interpretation, The Tabernacle of the Father. He is the second master-workman, and of the tribe of Dan the handmaids son, joined with Beseleel, as God usually joineth two together in all weighty affairs: See Exod. 4. 14. 15. and 6. 26. Matth. 10. 2. 3. Luk. 10. 1. Acts 13. 2. Hag. 1. 14.

Vers. 7. vessels] or instruments, furniture, implements. So after.

Vers. 10. of ministry] veils, clothes, coverings, which served to wrap up the holy things in, when the host removed; as Num. 4. 5. 9. 11. 12. &c. Of the Priests garments, see Exod. 28.

Vers. 13. Verily] or Notwithstanding: the Greek translateth it See. Though the work of the Tabernacle, were studiously and speedily to be done, yet God would not have any of it done on the Sabbath days. The Law of the Sabbath is very often repeated, see Gen. 2. 2. Exod. 16. 23. &c. and 20. 8. &c. and 23. 12. and 35. 2. 3. to know] that is, that ye may know, as the Greek translateth. The principal signification of the Sabbath, was for grace and sanctity; which therefore the Lord often urgeth, and blameth the breach of this day, as the violating of his covenant. See Neh. 9. 14. Ezek. 20. 12. 13. 16. 20. 21. Isaiah 58. 13. The true observation hereof, is by faith in Christ, Heb. 4. 3. 9. 10. 11. The Hebrew Doctors say, The Sabbath, and the precept against idolatry, each of these two, is as weighty as all the other Commandments of the Law: and the Sabbath is a sign between God and us forever. Therefore who so transgresseth the other Commandments, he is generally a wicked Israelite: but he that openly profaneth the Sabbath, is as an Idolater, both of them as infidels in all their affairs. Therefore the Prophet laudeth and saith (Isaiah. 56. 2.) Blessed is the man that doth this, and the son of man that layeth hold on it: that keepeth the Sabbath from polluting it, Maimonides, treat of the Sabbath, chap. 30. Sect. 15.

Vers. 14. that soul] the Chaldee translateth, that man shall be destroyed. This cutting off, the Jews understand to be untimely death by the hand of God; when a man so violateth God's Law, as there are no witnesses whereby men should punish him: See Gen. 17. 14. And of the Sabbath thus they write; that for doing work therein, if a man do it willingly and presumptuously, he is guilty of cutting-off, (to perish by the hand of God:) and if there be witnesses that see him, he is to be stoned to death; [as was performed in Num. 15. 35. 36.] and if he do it of ignorance, (or error,) he is bound to bring the sin offering appointed for the same: (according to the Law in Numb. 5. 27. 30.) Maimonides, in treat. of the Sabbath, chap. 1. Among the heathen Romans, their Flamins (or Priests) might see no work done on their holy days, but by a crier gave men warning to the contrary; and who so obeyed not, was <...> ulcted, and gave a beast for a sacrifice. Albeit they might do things whereof damage would follow, if they were omitted, as to pull an ox out of a ditch, to underset an house ready to fall, &c. Macrob. Saturn, book 1. chap. 16.

Vers. 15. of Sabbathisme] that is, of cessation and [unspec] rest. See Exod. 16. 23. The Greek translateth it, a rest holy to the Lord.

Vers. 16. to observe] Hebrew to do, see the notes [unspec] on Exod. 34. 22.

Vers. 17. me] the Chaldee translateth, Between [unspec] my Word and the sons of Israel: that Word is Christ, by whom the Sabbath is truly sanctified to his Church, Hebrews 4. From this Scripture the Hebrews gather, that only Israel was charged with the Sabbath day, and not the nations of the world: Talmud. in Betsah, chap. Iom tob. So from Exod. 16. 29. Yet thus also they say; It is unlawful to speak to an Infidel to do any work for us on the Sabbath day, although he be not charged to keep the Sabbath, and although he be spoken to before the Sabbath. Maimonides, treat. of the Sabbath, chap. 6. Sect. 1. Howbeit this opinion of theirs seemeth not agreeable to God's will; for the Sabbath was to be kept before the Law was given at mount Sinai, Exod. 16. 23. even from the Creation, Gen. 2. 2. 3. therefore it was given to all the world. was refreshed] the Greek and Chaldee do translate, he ceased and rested. This is spoken of God, after the manner of men, who are refreshed by rest from their works. Of such manner speeches, see what is noted on Genesis 6. 6.

Vers. 18. of stone] that so the record of them [unspec] might remain forever, Job 19. 24. These Tables were the work of God, even as the writing was the writing of God, Exod. 32. 16. and these being broken in pieces, (Exod. 32. 19) two other tables of stone, like them, were hewed out by Moses, but written again by the Lord, Exod. 34. 1. 4. After this, Christ by the Spirit of God writeth his Law, not in Tables of stone, but in fleshly Tables of the hear, 2 Cor. 3. 3. and these fleshly tables, are also the work of God, as he saith, I will take the stony heart out of their bodies, and I will give them an heart of flesh, Ezek. 11. 19. The Mind and the Heart, are the spiritual tables, Heb. 8. 10. in the one, such things are written as men should know and believe, in the other, such as should be done or omitted. The first Tables which God made, signified the stony hearts, which all men have by nature now corrupted, in which notwithstanding God hath left his Law written, so that they do by nature the things of the Law, and show the work of the Law written in their hearts, Rom. 2. 14. 15. though still they continue hard and stony, and their sinful nature is not changed. The second tables of stone, signified the heart of the Jews, hewed and polished by Moses and his legal ministry, in whose heart God also wrote his Law, wherein they rested, and made their boast of God, and knew his will, and had the information of knowledge, and of the truth in the Law, Rom. 1. 17. 18. 20. Howbeit their heart continued stony and unchanged, so that they which taught others, taught not themselves; neither could they steadfastly look on Moses face, nor see the end of that which is abolished, but their minds were blinded; and even to this day, a veil is laid upon their heart, Rom. 2. 21. 2 Cor. 3. 7. 13. 14. 15. The third, which are tables of flesh, is the work of Christ by his Spirit, giving us new hearts, and writing his Laws in them, 2 Cor. 3. 3. Ezek. 36. 26. Heb. 8. 10. These things, both of the weakness of Moses ministry, and of the grace of Christ, the ancient Hebrew Doctors acknowledged, as in their gloss upon Song 1. 1. Let him kiss me, &c. there, mentioning that request of the people in Exod. 20. 19. Speak thou with us, &c. they say, Moses taught them the Law, and whatsoever they learned, they forgot again. Then they came unto Moses, and said, O that God would show himself again; and kiss us with the kisses of his mouth, that his doctrine might be fastened in our hearts. Moses said unto them, This cannot be done now, but it shall be in the days of Christ; as it is written, (Jer. 31. 33.) I will put my Law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts. Midrash. Cant. 1. 1. finger] which signifieth God's Spirit, as, I with the finger of God, cast our devils, Luk. 11. 20. which is expounded, the Spirit of God, in Matth. 12. 28. That which was written, was according unto all the words, which the Lord spake with Israel in the mount, out of the midst of fire, Exod. 20. Deut. 9. 10.

CHAP. XXXII.

1, The people in the absence of Moses, cause Aaron to make a Calf. 6, They sacrifice thereunto. 7, God certifieth Moses of their sin, 10, and his purpose to consume them therefore. 11, Moses entreateth for the people, 14, The Lord repenteth concerning the evil against them. 15, Moses cometh down with the Tables, 19, and upon sight of their sin, he breaketh them. 20, He destroyeth the Calf. 22, Aaron's excuse for himself. 25, Moses causeth the Idolaters to be slain. 28, The Levites are the executioners. 31, Moses prayeth that either the sin of Israel be forgiven, or himself to be blotted out of the Book of God. 34, God spareth the people for the present, but after plagueth them.

AND the people saw that Moses delayed to come down out of the mountain: and the people gathered themselves together, unto Aaron, and said unto him, Rise-up, make gods for us, which may go before us; because this Moses, the man which brought us up out of the land of Egypt; we know not what is become of him. And Aaron said unto them; Break-off the ear-rings of gold, which are in the ears of your wives, of your sons, and of your daughters: and bring them unto me. And all the people brake-off, the ear-rings of gold, which were in their ears: and brought them unto Aaron. And he received them at their hand, and fashioned it with a graving-tool, and he made it, a molten calf: and they said; These be thy gods, O Israel, which brought thee up, out of the land of Egypt. And Aaron saw it; and he built an Altar before it: and Aaron proclaimed and said; To morrow is a feast to Jehovah. And they rose-up-early on the morrow, and offered Burnt, offerings, and brought-near Peaceofferings: and the people sate-down to eat and to drink, and rose-up to play.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, (saying:) Go get thee down; for the people, which thou broughtest-up out of the land of Egypt, have corrupted themselves. They have turned-aside quickly out of the way which I commanded them; they have made them a molten calf: and they have bowed themselves-down thereto, and have sacrificed thereunto, and said; These be thy gods O Israel; which have brought thee up, out of the land of Egypt. And Jehovah said unto Moses: I have seen this people, and behold, it is a stiff-necked people. And now, let me alone, and my anger shall wax hot against them, and I will consume them: and I will make of thee a great nation. And Moses earnestly-besought the face of Jehovah his God: and said, Wherefore O Jehovah, shall thy anger wax hot against thy people; which thou hast brought-forth out of the land of Egypt with great power, and with a mighty hand? Wherefore should the Egyptians speak and say; For evil did he bring them out, and kill them in the mountains, and to consume them from upon the face of the earth: Turn from the hotnesse of thine anger, and repent of the evil against thy people. Remember Abraham, Isaac, and Israel thy servants: unto whom thou swarest by thyself, and spakest unto them, I will multiply your seed as the stars of the heavens: and all this land which I have spoken of, will I give unto your seed, and they shall inherit it forever. And Jehovah repented concerning the evil which he had spoken to do unto his people.

And Moses turned and went down from the mountain, & the two Tables of the testimony were in his hand: the tables were written on both their sides; on the one side & on the other, were they written. And the tables, they were the work of God: & the writing, that was the writing of God; graven upon the Tables. And Joshua heard the voice of the people as they shouted: and he said unto Moses; there is a voice of war in the campe. And he said; It is not the voice of them that shout for mastery, neither is it the voice of them that cry for discomfiture: the voice of singing, do I hear. And it was when he came nigh unto the campe, then he saw the calf and the dances: and Moses anger waxed hot, and he cast the Tables out of his hands; & brake them, beneath the mount. And he took the calf, which they had made, and burnt it in the fire; and ground it, till it was small: and strewed it upon the face of the water; and made the sons of Israel drink of it. And Moses said unto Aaron, what did this people unto thee: that thou hast brought upon them, so great a sin? And Aaron said, Let not the anger of my Lord wax hot: thou knowest the people, that they are set on evil. And they said unto me; Make gods for us, which may go before us, because this Moses, the man which brought us up out of the land of Egypt, we know not what is become of him. And I said unto them, Who soever hath any gold, break ye it off; and they gave it me: and I cast it into the fire; and there came-out this calf. And Moses saw the people, that they were naked: for Aaron had made them naked, unto their shame, amongst those that rose up against them. And Moses stood in the gate of the campe; and said, Who is for Jehovah? (let him come) unto me: and all the Sons of Levi, gathered themselves unto him. And he said unto them; Thus saith Jehovah, the God of Israel, Put ye every man his sword upon his thigh: Passe ye and return ye from gate to gate, in the campe, and kill ye every man his brother, and every man his fellow-friend, and every man his neighbor. And the Sons of Levi did, according to the word of Moses: and there fell of the people in that day, about three thousand men. And Moses said, Fill ye your hand today unto Jehovah, even every man in his Son, and in his brother: that that he may give upon you, this day a blessing. And it was on the morrow that Moses said unto the people, you have sinned a great sin: and now I will go-up unto Jehovah; peradventure I shall make-atonement for your sin. And Moses returned unto Jehovah, and said; Oh, this people hath sinned a great sin, and they have made them gods of gold. And now, if thou wilt forgive their sin, and if not, wipe me I pray thee out of thy Book, which thou hast written. And Jehovah said unto Moses, Whosoever sinneth against me, I will wipe him out of my Book. And now, go, lead the people unto (the place) that I have spoken to thee, behold my Angel shall go before thee: and in the day when I visit, then will I visit their sin upon them. And Jehovah plagued the people: for that they made the calf, which Aaron made.

Annotations.

DElayed] The first signification of the Hebrew word is to be ashamed, Gen. 2. 25. and because long tarrying and looking for ones coming, causeth shame, (as in Judge. 3. 25. they tarried till they were ashamed;) therefore the word is also used for tarrying or delaying of the time, Judge. 5. 28. and is so here translated by the Chaldee and the Greek: and in Rev. 10. 6. time is used for delay. the people] that is, some of them, as the like word in v. 6. is opened by Paul, in 1 Cor. 10. 7. God's] that is, an image or representation of God; as after in v. 4. and the words here following manifest. This narration showeth, how the Israelites (who promised to do all that the Lord commanded, Exod. 19. 8.) did behave themselves in keeping of the moral Law, and of that great Commandment, which God had both spoken to them himself from heaven, and repeated again by Moses, Exod. 20. 4. 23. that so the impossibility of the Law, in that it was weak through the flesh, might be seen in this people, even at the first before any obedience was performed, Rom. 8. 3. Nehem. 9. 13. 16. become of him] or, done to him. They looked for Moses, to bring them a form of worship, and some visible sign of God's presence among them, (as afterwards was in the Tabernacle, and the Ark with the mercy-seat, Ex. 40. 34. 35. Num. 7. 89.) but because he came not, they would have a worship of their own, such (in likelihood) as they had used or seen in Egypt; for now in their hearts they turned back again into Egypt, as is written in Act. 7. 39. 40. And yet forty days were not expired, neither were the terrible signs of God's presence taken away; for the mountain still burnt with fire, Deut. 9. 15. The Hebrews say, They required not the Calf, that it should be unto them for a God, &c. but only that it might teach them the way, as another Moses. R. Menachem, on Exod. 32. fol. 117.

Vers. 3. ear-rings] the Jewels which God had given them, of the spoils of Egypt, (Ex. 1. 35. 36.) they now abuse to make an Idol of, to dishonor God with. So after God complaineth of Israel, that the ear-rings and Jewels where with he had decked them, they took and made images, and committed whoredom (that is, Idolatry) with them, Ezek. 16. 11. 12. 17. And the words and doctrines in the Scriptures, being likened to chains and ornaments, Prov. 1. 8. 9. the like sin to Israel's is committed, when men pervert the holy Scriptures unto heresies, to their own perdition, 1 Pet. 3. 16.

V. 4. fashioned it] or, formed it, meaning the Calf; [unspec] or it, is put for them, the Jewels everyone: and so the Greek saith, he formed them. graving tool] or, pen, as the original word elsewhere signifieth, Esa. 8. 1. which may be understood, that first Aaron drew with pen or pencil, the form of a calf, & after did cast the mould thereof: or, that he cut & polished the calf herewith, when he had molten and made it. So Idolaters do even to this day, draw out and polish with their pens, idol worship and heresy. and he made] or, when he had made it. molten Calf] Hebrew, calf of melting, or of molten work; meaning the image of a calf, as before the image of God, is called God, v. 1. As the Heathens changed the glory of the incorruptible God, into images made like to corruptible men, birds, beasts, &c. Rom. 1. 23. so Israel now changed their Glory into the form of an ox that eateth grass; and forgot God their Savior, Psal. 106. 19. 20. 21. These be thy God's] that is, This is thy God; as the holy Ghost expoundeth it in Nehem. 9. 18. They made them a molten calf, and said, this is thy God; meaning an image of the true God, which had brought them out of Egypt, who is also called in Scripture after the like phrase plurally, though he be but one, as in Gen. 20. 13. and 35. 7. Ios. 24. 19. As the image of a calf, was before called a calf; so the Scripture useth figuratively to call signs and figures, by the names of those things they signified, as Ex. 12. 11. and 17. 15. Gen. 37. 7. Matth. 26. 26. 28. 1 Cor. 10. 4. Thus Jeroboam spake also of his golden calves, 1 King. 12. 28. And the intent of Israel in making the calf, and the intent of Jeroboam were one. R. Menachem. on Exod. 32.

V. 5. to Jehovah] or of Jehovah, as the Gr. is, of the Lord; unto whom a feast should have been kept, Ex. 10. 9. and to him they intended this their service, although indeed they sacrificed unto the Idol, and rejoiced in the works of their own hands, v. 8. Act. 7. 41. and in God's account, offered unto Devils, after whom they went a whoring, Levite. 17. 7. So Jehu would be thought zealous for Jehovah, when yet he worshipped Jereboam's golden calves, which also were Devils, 2. King, 10. 16. 29. 2 Chron. 11. 15.

Vers. 6. brought-near] to the altar; that is, offered, as the Gr. translateth. to play] so the Apostle translateth it also in Gr. 1 Cor. 10. 7. sometime the word is used for laughing and rejoicing, Gen. 21. 6. here it is meant of their singing, dancing, &c. about their God's of gold, v. 18. 19. So that which one Prophet calleth playing (the word here used) 1 Chro. 15. 29. another calleth dancing, 2 Sam. 6. 16. The Hebr. (as R. Menachem on this place) expound it whoredom, according to that in Gen. 39. 14. He hath brought in to us an Hebrew man to mock us (or to play with us,) which being understood of spiritual whoredom, that is, Idolatry, is according to truth. And from this their practice, we are warned not to be Idolaters like them. 1 Cor. 10. 7.

V. 7. Go] the Gr. addeth the word quickly, as Moses also doth in Deut. 9. 12. Arise, get thee down quickly. corrupted] this implieth both their Idolatry, & the judgment which they brought upon themselves therefore, as in Gen. 6. 11. 12. 13. whereupon he calleth them Moses his people, as not being worthy to be named God's children, Deut. 32. 5. but under the wrath and curse of Moses law. The Greek interpreteth it, have transgressed the law.

Vers. 9. stiffnecked] or hard necked, as elsewhere the Lord saith, Thou art hard, and thy neck is an iron sinew, Isaiah. 48. 4. It is a similitude taken from unruly heifers that will not submit their neck to the yoke, Hos. 4. 16. Ier. 5. 5. and 27. 8. and so meaneth stubborn & disobedient carriage; of which God often reproveth them by this name, Ex. 33. 3. 5. and 34. 9. Deut. 9. 6. 13. and 10. 16. and 31. 27. Ier. 7. 26. and 19. 15. Neh. 9. 17. 29. Act. 7. 51.

Vers. 10. Let me alone] that is, entreat me not to spare them; or, hinder me not by thy prayer, from punishing them. So the Chaldee translate, Leave off thy prayer before me. consume] and put out their name from under heaven, Deut. 9. 14. of thee] Hebrew make thee to a great nation. In Deut. 9. 14. it is said, a mighty nation, and greater then they. So again in Num. 14. 12.

V. 11. the face] this the Gr. and Chaldee translate, he prayed before the Lord: but God's face, is sometime used for his anger, as in Gen. 32. 20. Lev. 20. 6. Ps. 21. 10. & 34. 17. & so it meaneth a supplicating against the anger which was now waxing hot. For they had been abolished, had not Moses stood before God in the breach, to turn away his wrath from destroying them, Psal. 106. 23. Wherefore, &c.] This is not a question, as if there were no cause for the Lord to be angry; but is a manner of earnest entreaty, that he would not in wrath destroy thē. So the Prophets often used to pray in this sort, as in Psal. 10. 1. and 44. 25. Esa. 64. 12. And when Christ said, Wherefore make ye this ado and weep, Mar. 5. 39. another Evangelist explaineth it, Weep not, Luk. 8. 52. and, Art thou come to torment us? Mat. 8. 29. is expounded, I pray thee torment me not. Luke 8. 28.

Ver. 12. for evil] or, in evil, in malice, that is, maliciously: the Greek translatheth with maliciousness. repent] The Greek translatheth, be merciful unto the evil of thy people: which thing is here implied, but the Hebrew phrase meaneth also the evil of punishment, which God should repent of, that is, not inflict upon them; speaking after the manner of men, as in Gen. 6. 6. Therefore the Chaldee addeth repent of the evil, which thou thinkest to do to thy people, which is confirmed by v. 14.

V. 13. by thyself] God having no greater to swear by, and by such an oath, willing to show the immutability of his counsel, as Paul expoundeth it, Heb. 6. 13. 17. The Chaldee translatheth, by thy Word, see Gen. 22. 16. 17. 18. unto which place, this prayer of Moses hath special reference, where also the blessing of all nations in Christ, is mentioned, which is the ground of this request, and of God's yielding thereunto. So the Hebrew Doctors after a sort acknowledged, saying, Then Moses returned & sought mercy at the face of the Lord, and the Lord remembered the inclination of Isaac, who was bound by his father in mount Morijah upon the Altar: and the Lord turned from his anger, and caused his divine-presence to dwell in the midst of them, as before, Targum in Cant. cap. 1. verse. 13. cap. 2. verse. 17.

Vers. 15. on the one] Hebr. on this side, and on this. This manner of writing on both side, was also in other mystical books, Ezek. 2. 10. Rev. 5. 1. It signified in respect of the Law it self, that it hath both the outward letter, and inward spiritual meaning, Ro. 7. 14. Gal. 4. 24. in respect of men, that the Law should be written outwardly in their actions before men, and inwardly in their hearts before God, Matth. 5. 16. Heb. 8. 10. Rom. 2. 28. 29. See the notes on Exod. 31. 18.

Vers. 16. the work of God] herein they differed from the second tables, which were the work of Moses, Exod. 34. 1. It is a tradition of the Jews, that these first tables were bewen out of the Sapphire of the throne of God's glory, (mentioned in Exod. 24. 10.) Thargumin Cant. cap. 1. verse 11.

Vers. 17. Joshua] or, as the Greek writeth him, Jesus: see Exod. 17. 9. of them that shout] or, of them that answer (or sing:) Hebrew, of answering, (or singing.) The Chaldee translates it, it is not the voice of strong men, which overcome in the war, neither is it the voice of weak men, which are discomfited. discomfiture] or weakness; of such as are overcome. singing] for play and voluptuousness, good cheare, &c. as in v. 6. Therefore the Chaldee translates it, the voice of them that play; and the Greek addeth, of them that sing for wine.

Vers. 19. his hand] or, his hands; that is, each of his hands: the Hebrew hath both readings; the first by the vowels and margin; the other by the letters in the line. So in Exod. 35. 11. Lev. 9. 22. and 16. 21. Deut. 2. 33. break them] to signify the breaking of the covenant, by reason of their sin. For that Moses did this advisedly, and by the motion of God's Spirit, appeareth by his relation of it again, in Deut. 9. 16. 17. Wherefore the Tabernacle of the congregation, (wherein the Lord was to be sought) was upon this, pitched a far off from the campe, until by Moses entreaty, reconciliation was made between God and the people, Exod. 33. 7. 9. &c.

Vers. 20. small] even as dust, Deut. 9. 21. that it might utterly be abolished: and that they might drink thereof. the waters] of the brook that came down out of the mount, Deut. 9. 11. from the Rock in Horeb, Ex. 17. 6. which Rock was Christ, 1 Cor. 10. 4. drink] By this they were taught the way of salvation from their sins: whiles Moses (that is, the Law) giveth the knowledge of sin & condemnation for the same, Rom. 3. 20. Gal. 3. 10. and forceth men unto Christ the Rock from whom do flow the waters of life, wherein all sin is swallowed up to the repentant believing sinner; who by drinking the dust thereof with the waters of the Gospel, into their own bowels; do acknowledge the curse which they have deserved, and do judge themselves, who are else to be condemned of the Lord, Gal. 3. 24. Ezek. 36. 31. and 20. 43. 1 Cor. 10. 31. Compare Num. 5. 17. 19. &c.

V. 22. arose] or, lie in evil; as the Apostle useth a like speech of the world, 1 John. 5. 19. or, are in evil: that is, are very evil: as God's works are said to be in faith, Ps. 33. 4. that is, most faithful, or true: the woman is said to be in the transgression. 1 Tim. 2. 14. that is, the transgressor, and many the like. The Greek translatheth, thou knowest the violent-force of this people.

Vers. 34. there came out] Aaron here is not so free in confessing his own sin, as he did the people's; but speaketh of the Calf, as if it had been made rather by hap, then by his art, verse 4. But Aaron's sin was so great, as the Lord was very angry with him, to have destroyed him: had not Moses prayed for him also, Deut. 9. 20. for he had made the people naked unto their shame; as after, in verse 25. Compare Aaron's excuse with Adams, Gen. 3.

Vers. 25. naked] in the shame of their sins, deprived [unspec] of the glory and protection of God, as naked unarmed men, to be devoured of their enemies, Compare Gen. 3. 10. Rev. 3. 18. and 16. 15. The Greek translatheth it dissipated, (or scattered,) for Aaron had dissipated them; for a rejoicing to their adversaries. unto shame] or, infamy, and as the Greek translates it, a rejoicing, or mockerie: which the Chaldee paraphraseth thus, to blot them with an evil name in their generations. So the Targum on Solomon's Song, cap. 1. verse. 12. saith hereof; the wicked of that generation rose up, and made a golden calse, together with the mixed people which were among them: and they made their works to stink, and their evil name went out into the world. And Paul applieth the like against the Jews, Through breaking the law dishonorest thou God? For the name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you, Rom. 2. 23. 24. amongst those that rose up against them] or, by their adversaries. For a people naked without God's protection, are easily by their enemies foiled, and put to shame; as in Num. 14. 42. 43. 45. 2 Chron. 12. 5. and 28. 5. 6.

Vers. 26. the gate] the public place of judgment: [unspec] see Gen. 34. 20. Deut. 17. 5. Ruth 4. 1. 11. let him come] this word, (supplied also by the Greek,) Moses through haste and earnestness omitteth. See the like in Gen. 13. 9. and 11. 4. and 23. 13. The Chaldee also addeth it, saying, They that fear the Lord, let them come unto me.

Vers. 28. 3000 men] the principal authors of [unspec] this wickedness, for that many moe were guilty also of the same, appeareth by verse 30. &c.

Vers. 29. Fill your hand] that is, Consecrate your [unspec] selves and your service to the Lord, a phrase taken from the ordaining of sacrifices, Exod. 29. 7. He showeth that the executing of justice, is acceptable to God as sacrifice, 1 Sam. 15. 18. 22. The Chaldee translateth, Ye have offered your offerings this day, &c. that he may give] or, that there may be given, namely, from God. For this fact of the Levites, who acknowledged not their own parents, brethren or children, to spare them from death; is after mentioned to their praise, in the blessing that Moses uttered, Deut. 33. 9. &c. And this tribe of Levi, was adjoined by the Lord unto the priests, and taken instead of all the first borne of Israel, Num. 3. 9. 41. 45. So the children wiped out as it were, the stain of their Father Levi, who had before abused his sword unto injustice; for which he lost the blessing that else he should have had, Gen. 49. 5. 7.

V. 30. per adventure I shall] or, it may be I shall, or, if [unspec] so be I may; the Greek translateth, that I may. They are words that imply a difficulty, though good hope to obtain, as sinners are taught to have upon their turning unto God, Luk. 15. 18. So in Amos 5. 15. It may be the Lord will be merciful: and Ios. 14. 12. If so be (per adventure) the Lord will be with me; also in 1 Sam. 14. 6.

Vers. 31. unto Jehovah] before whom, he fell down forty days & forty nights, as before: for he was afraid of the anger and hot displeasure, wherewith the Lord was wroth against them, Deut. 9. 18. 19. of gold] As Moses here particularly expresseth the sin of Israel, so the Hebrew Doctors gather from this example, a general rule, that every sinner when he repenteth, must confess that particular sin which he hath committed. Maimonides, treat. of Repentance, ch. 2. s. 3.

V. 32. if thou wilt] an imperfect speech, through passion of mind: such as are sundry times used in Scripture. See Luke 13. 9. and the notes on Exod. 4, 5. and 18. 11. The Greek translation supplieth the defect thus, And now, if thou wilt for give them the sin, forgive them. The word If, is used also in prayers, as Gen. 24. 42. and 28. 20. thy Book] the Book of life, Phil. 4. 3. or, of the living, Psal. 69. 29. called the writing of the house of Israel, Ezek. 13. 9. spoken of God, after the manner of men. This wish proceeded from great sorrow in heart, for the fall of this people, from the zeal of God's glory, and love of his brethren, for whose sakes he could wish himself accursed (or separated) from Christ, as Paul also did, Rom. 9. 1. 2. 3. Herein also Moses dealt as a mediator between God and men; and was a figure of our Mediator Christ, who laid down his life for the sheep, John 10. 15 and redeemed us from the curse of the Law, when he was made a curse for us, Gal. 3. 13. although Moses could not fully effect the grace that he desired for the people. The intent of Moses (say the Heb. Doctors) was, that he might die instead of them, and bear their punishment, according to that, (in Isaiah 53. 5.) he was wounded for our trespasses: for the death of the just maketh reconciliation, &c. R. Menachem, on Ex. 32.

Vers. 33. Whosoever] the Greek saith, if any hath sinned; meaning such sin as whereby men fall away finally; against whom David prayeth, Let them be wiped out of the book of the living. Psal. 69. 29. but who so overcometh, Christ will not wipe his name out of the Book of life, Rev. 3. 5. I will wipe] or, I should wipe him out, if any.

Vers. 34. unto the place] the word place, the Greek also addeth, meaning the land of Canaan. So God in indignation giveth over the people unto Moses, and the conduct of the Angel; and would withdraw the signs of his presence from them, as after he did, in Exodus 33. Angel] there was an Angel fore-promised in Exodus 23. 20. Howbeit, R. Menachem on this place saith, This Angel is not the Angel of the covenant, of whom he spake in the time of favorable acceptance, My presence shall go, for now the holy blessed God, had taken away his divine presence from amongst them, and would have led them by the hand of another Angel. And Moses speech in Exodus 33. 12. seemeth to imply so much. when I visit] or, of my visitation, that is, when I see good to punish them; for so visiting here signifieth, as in Exodus 20. 5. By this God would teach the impossibility of the law, to reconcile men unto God; in that Moses could obtain but a deferring of their punishment; they still remaining under wrath.

Vers. 35. they made] that is, caused to be made, for they that occasion or cause a thing, are said to do they same; as Judas purchased the field, (Act. 1. 18.) which was bought by the Priests, with the money which Judas returned, Matt. 27. 3. 7. see Ex. 7. The Greek here translath, for the making of the Calf, but the Chaldee saith, for that they served it. Amongst other punishments which God inflicted upon the people, there was one special for this sin, that God turned, and gave them up to worship the host of heaven, &c. Act. 7. 42. so giving them over from one evil to another, as he did also the Gentiles, Rom. 1. 24. 26. 28.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1, The Lord refuseth to go as he had promised, with the people. 4, The people mourn for it, and put off their ornaments. 7, The Tabernacle is removed out of the campe. 9. Moses entereth into it, and God in a cloud talketh with him. 12, He prayeth the Lord to show him his ways, 15, and to let his presence go with his people. 17, God granteth it him. 18, He desireth to see God's glory. 19, God promiseth to proclaim his Name before him, but his face no man can see & live.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, Go get thee up hence, thou and the people, which thou hast brought up out of the Land of Egypt, unto the Land which I sware unto Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, saying, unto thy seed will I give it. And I will send before thee, an Angel: and I will drive out, the Canaanite, the Amorite, and the Chethite, and the Pherizzite, the Evite, and the Jebusite. Unto a Land flowing with milk, and honey: for I will not go up in the midst of thee, for thou art a stiff-necked people, lest I consume thee in the way. And the people heard this evil word, and they mourned: and no man did put his ornament upon him. For Jehovah had said unto Moses; Say unto the Sons of Israel, ye are a stiff-necked people; in one moment I will come-up in the midst of thee, and consume thee: now therefore put-off thy ornament from on thee, and I shall know what I shall do unto thee. And the Sons of Israel, stripped themselves of their ornament, from the mount Horeb. And Moses took a tent, and pitched it for him, without the campe, afar off from the campe; and called it, the Tent of the congregation: and it was, that everyone which sought Jehovah, went out unto the Tent of the congregation, which was without the campe. And it was when Moses went out unto the tent; all the people rose-up, and stood every man at the door of his Tent, and looked after Moses, until he was entered into the Tent. And it was as Moses entered into the Tent; the pillar of the cloud descended, and stood at the door of the Tent; and he spake with Moses. And all the people saw the pillar of the cloud stand at the door of the Tent, and all the people rose-up, and bowed-them-selvesdowne, every man at the door of his Tent. And Jehovah spake unto Moses, face unto face, as a man speaketh unto his friend: and he returned into the campe, and his minister, Joshua the Son of Nun, a young-man, he departed not from within the Tent.

And Moses said unto Jehovah, See, thou sayest unto me, Carie-up this people, and thou hast not let me know whom thou wilt send with me: yet thou hast said, I know thee by name; and also thou hast found grace in mine eyes. Now therefore, I pray thee, if I have found grace in thine eyes, show me O now, thy ways, and let me know thee, that I may find grace, in thine eyes, and consider, that this nation is thy people. And he said: My presence shall go, And I will give thee rest. And he said unto him: If thy presence go not, carry us not up hence. For wherein shall it be known here, that I have found grace in thine eyes, both I and thy people? Is it not in that thou goest with us? So shall we be marvelously-separated, I and thy people, from all the people which are upon the face of the earth.

And Jehovah said unto Moses, I will do this thing also, which thou hast spoken: for thou hast found grace in mine eyes; and I know thee; by name. And he said, I pray thee, show me thy glory. And he said, I will make all my goodness pass before thee, and will proclaim the name of Jehovah, before thee: and will be gracious, to whom I will be gracious; and will be merciful, to whom I will be merciful. And he said, thou art not able to see my face: for no man shall see my face, and live. And Jehovah said, Behold, there is a place by me: and thou shalt stand upon a rock. And it shall be while my glory passeth by, that I will put thee in a clift of the rock, and will cover thee with my hand, while I pass by. And I will take away my hand, and thou shalt see my back-parts: but my face shall not be seen.

Annotations.

Thy seed] that is, as the Chaldee saith, thy Sons: the Greek saith, your seed. He respecteth chiefly the promise to Abraham, Gen. 12. 7. which he would perform, notwithstanding their unfaithfulness.

Verse 2. an Angel] in Greek my Angel: of whom see Exodus 23. 20. 23. Though this is thought of some, to be meant of another Angel, see the notes on Exodus 32. 34. I will drive] The Greek expounds it, thou shalt drive. Canaanite] that is, as the Chaldee translath, Canaanites, &c. see Gen. 10. 16. Unto the six nations here mentioned, the Greek addeth the Gergesite: to make up the number of Seven, as in Deut. 7. 1.

Verse 3. Unto a land] for explanation the Greek addeth, And I will bring thee into a Land. milk] a figure of heavenly blessings: see the notes on Exodus 3. 8. I will not go] to wit, with a visible sign of my presence, as in the cloud: so the Chaldee translath, I will not cause my presence, (or Majesty) to go up in the midst of thee. So after in verse 5. And now God had withdrawn the cloudy pillar (the sign of his gracious conduct) from them, as appeareth by verse 9. 10. So in the Targum (or Chaldee paraphrase) on Cant. 2. 17. the Hebrew Doctors say, The Sons of Israel made the golden calf, and the glorious cloud which overshadowed them, was taken away, and they remained uncovered, &c. stiff] or hard necked, that is, stubborn and disobedient: see Exod. 32. 9.

Vers. 4. evil word] that is, hard or heavy rydings. mourned] shown their mourning, by their habit, gesture, &c. as the words following manifest; and the force of the original word implieth, 2 Sam. 14. 2. Dan 10. 2. 3. The Greek translath, they mourned in mourning weeds.

Verse 5. to the sons of Israel] the Hebrews (as R. Menachem on this place) do observe, that this manner of speech, was in the way of mercy; for 〈...〉 thereto he had called them THY PEOPLE (Exodus 32. 7.) and THE PEOPLE (Ex. 33. 1.) But now he calleth them by their beloved name, Sons of Israel. I will come up] to wit, if thou repent not; so it is a threatening of judgment, as the Gr. also translath, Look that I bring not another plague upon you, and consume you. Or it may be Englished, If I should go up in the midst of thee I should consume thee, to wit, unless thou repent and walk better. thy ornament] that is, humble thyself, and show fruits of repentance. The Greek saith, now therefore put 〈ϕ〉 the garments of your glory, and your ornament. The Chaldee expounds it, the ornament of thy armor: so in v. 6. and I will know] God speaketh after the manner of men, who judge by the actions that appear; as in Gen. 18. 21. and 22. 12. for otherwise God knoweth all his works, from the beginning of the world, Act. 15. 18. The Greek interpreters understood it of God's making known to others, and manslateth, I will show what I will do unto thee.

Vers. 6. from the mount] that is, far from it, as being unworthy to come near unto God, whose glory was yet upon the mount, which burned with fire, Deut 9. 15.

V. 7. a Tent] or, the Tent; not that which after was the place of public worship, for it was not yet made (Exod. 36.) but either Moses own Tent (as the Greek translath his Tent;) or some other for this special use. Tent of the congregation] which was the name of that glorious Tent which God commanded to be made; see Exod. 29. 4. The Gr. translath it, the Tabernacle of testimony: the Chaldee. the Tabernacle of house of doctrine. This which should have been in the midst of the host, Num, 2 17. was now placed far out of it: signifying God's displeasure against, and departure from his people, Prov. 15. 29. According to which situation, are the complaints of holy men made to God, in their temptations, Psal. 10. 1. and 35. 22. and 38. 22.

sought Jehovah] the Chaldee paraphraseth, that sought doctrine (or information) from the face of the Lord.

V. 8. and stood] to look and observe with reverence, what signs of grace, Moses should have from the Lord, about this business in hand; for reconciling him unto his people. The Hebrews in their Targum on Solomon's song, apply hereunto that in Song. 3. 1. 2. 3. thus: When the people of the house of Israel saw that the cloud of glory was removed away, and the crown of holiness which had been given them at (mount) Sinai, was taken from them: then they remained dark as the night, and sought the crown of holiness which was taken from them, but found it not. The sons of Israel said one to another, let us rise, & go, and compass the Tent of the covenant, which Moses hath spread without the campe: and let us seek information from the face of the Lord, and the holy Majesty which is taken away from us, &c.

V. 9. he] that is, Jehovah spake (as in v. 11.) out of the cloudy pillar, w<sup>ch</sup> was a sign of favor, Ps. 99. 7. V. 10. bowed] or worshipped; so with humility thanking God for this token of his grace towards them.

V. 11. face unto face] familiarly, plainly, in his presence, and with lively voice, as he spake before unto all the people from the mount, Exo. 20. which is said to be face to face, Deu. 5. 4. Howbeit, the Hebr. (as R. Menach. on this place,) observe a difference in the words, this here being Panim el panim; that in Deut. 5. 4. being Panim be panim, as implying a different manner of speaking to Moses, from that unto all Israel. A like phrase is of speaking mouth to mouth, Num. 12. 8. So this was a special privilege that Moses had, above other Prophets, Deut. 34. 10. who had dark visions. See this more fully opened on Num. 12. Joshua] in Gr. Jesus the son of Nave. youngman] so called in respect of his service, not of years: for he was now above 50. years old, as may be gathered by Josh. 24. 29. But because ministry & service is usually by the younger sort, all servants are called youngmen. See Gen. 14. 24. he] that is, Jesus (or Joshua) departed not. This sense the Greek plainly yieldeth; but the Hebr. is so understood by some, as if Jesus returned with Moses, and Jehovah departed not out of the Tent.

V. 12. whom] or, what thou wilt send, that is, what sign of thy gracious presence, which hitherto hath been in the cloud conducting us, Exo. 13. 21. 22. The Gr. translath, thou hast not manifested unto me, whom thou wilt send with me. See the notes on Exod. 32. 34. by name] that is, in special & particular manner; as the Greek translath it, above all men. So after in ver. 17.

V. 13. thy ways] This sometime meaneth God's own works, and administration, as Job. 40. 19. Ps. 77. 20. sometime those things which men are to do and walk in, as Exod. 18. 20. Ps. 25. 4. 5. The former sense seemeth here to be meant; the Chaldee. translath, the way of thy goodness; and the Gr. thus, Shew thyself unto me; let me manifestly see thee, that I may find grace before thee: and that I may know, that this nation is thy people. consider] Hebr. see.

V. 14. my presence] or, my face, that is, a visible sign of me present; which the Chaldee calleth Shekhinah, used for the divine presence or Majesty of God, and Christ dwelling with his people. The Greek translath, myself will go before thee; and so the phrase is used in 2 Samuel 17. 11. that thy presence (or face) go to battle; that is, thou in thine own person. In Isaiah 63. 9.

the Prophet mentioneth the Angel of God's presence (or face) which saved his people. And so some Hebrews have expounded this here, saying; The ground of this, My presence shall go, is as if he should say, the Angel the Redeemer, as it is written (in Isaiah 63.) And the Angel of his presence saved them. And (in Malachi. 3. 1.) the Angel of the Covenant whom ye delight in. And he is called the Face (or Presence,) because he is the Face of wrath to consume their enemies. And I will give thee rest, that thy people shall not be led, with the hard measure of judgment, but with the absolute measure of mercy; according to the meaning (of this word in Deuteronomy 25. 19.) when the Lord thy God hath given thee rest from all thine enemies. R. Monachem, on Exodus 33. give thee rest] to wit, from all thine enemies, as is explained in Deut. 12. 10. and so it implieth the subduing of them; as I have given thee rest from all thy enemies, 2 Samuel 7. 11. is expounded, subdued all thy enemies, 1 Chron. 17. 10.

Vers. 15. thy presence] or, thy face. The Greek saith again, If thou thyself go not with us; and so it is explained by Moses, in verse 16. the Chaldee addeth, If thy divine-presence, (Shekhinah) go not with us, that miraculous works may be done for us. It implieth God's care and protection of his people by Christ (as is before noted,) who is the express-image of God's face (or person) Hebr. 1. 3. Compare Psal. 31. 21.

Verse 16. here] or, now; the Greek translatheth, shall it be known in deed, (or truly.) marvelously separated] severed and exempted to some marvelous and excellent use; the Gr. translatheth, shall be made glorious, Compare Ex. 8. 22. Ps 4. 4. from all] or, above all, as the Gr. saith, above all nations. This Moses respecteth in Deut. 4. 7. for what nation is so great, who hath God so nigh unto them, &c.

V. 17. I know thee by name] the Gr. expoundeth it, I know thee above all men. So in verse 12.

Vers. 18. thy glory] hereby he meant the face of God, as after is explained in verse. 20. that is a plain and manifest knowledge of God, as men are plainly discerned one from another, by the face. The Hebrews unfold it thus, What was that which Moses our master sought to attain unto, when he said, I PRAY THEE SHEW ME THY GLORIE? He requested to know the truth of the being (or Essence) of the holy blessed (God,) until that he were known in his heart, like as a man is known, whose face is seen, and whose form is engraven in ones heart, so as that man is distinguished (or separated) in his knowledge from other men. So Moses requested, that the Essence of God, might be distinctly known in his heart, from the Essence of other things, so that he might know the truth of his Essence, as it is. But God answered him, that the knowledge of living man, who is compounded of body and soul, hath no ability to apprehend the truth of this thing, concerning his Creator. Maimonides, in Iesudei hatorah, c. 1. s. 10.

Ver. 19. my goodness] The Chaldee expounds it, my glory, and the Greek, I will pass before thee with my glory. The goodness (or good things) or God, is that wherewith his people are satisfied, Ier. 31. 14. Psal. 65. 5. the name] Targum Yerushalmi addeth, the good name. This promise was fulfilled in Exod. 34. 6. The Hebrews explain it thus, I will proclaim before thee, my great name, which thou canst not see. R. Menachem, on Exod. 33. be gracious] or, have mercy on, as the Gr. translatheth, which the Apostle followeth, Rom. 9. 15. be merciful] or, have compassion, commiseration. As this teacheth that God's grace, mercy, and compassion, is the cause of our happiness: so in that he doth this to whom he will, it showeth God's freedom in communicating his grace where he pleaseth, without wrong to any. So that which Moses asked for all the people, (v. 16.) God restraineth to his own will, according to his election of grace, excluding all others, and man's own will and works. Wherefore Paul citing this text, concludeth; So then, it is not in him that willeth, nor in him that runneth; but in God that showeth mercy, Rom. 9. 15. 16. The ancient Hebrews saw this grace of God, though now they be ignorant of it. For R. Menachem on this place, writeth, how God shown Moses at that time, his treasures; and he said, O Lord of the world, whose is that great treasure? He answered, who so hath good works, to him will I give his wages: and who so hath none, I will do, and give unto him freely: as it is written. I will be gracious, to whom I will be gracious. This exposition accordeth with Paul's, in Rom. 4. 4. 5. and 3. 24.

Ver. 20. my face] that is, see and know my glory as it is perfectly: by reason of sin, Rom. 3. 23. and of the weakness of the flesh, which always feareth death, when God appeareth, as Deut. 5. 24. 25. Judge. 13. 22. Isaiah. 6. 5. Dan. 10. 8. Rev. 1. 17. But after this mortal hath put on immortality, we shall see God as he is, even face to face, 1 John. 3. 2. 1 Cor. 13. 12. So the Hebrews hence do observe, whiles men live, they are not counted-worthy; when they die they shall be counted worthy, to see the face of God: R. Elias in Reshith choc•a•, fol. 41. 4. And R. Menachem here saith, after his death he should attain unto it; for it is treasured up for the just, against the time to come.

Vers. 22. clift] or, hole, cave: which is a place of hiding for fear, as in Isaiah. 2. 21. Song 2. 14. The Rock on which God's people are set, is spiritually God himself in Christ, and faith in him, Psal. 18. 3. 32. Matth. 16. 18. cover] this sometime signifieth safe protection, Psal. 91. 4. sometime a covering with fear and affliction, Job 3. 23. Lam. 3. 43. Here it is meant in the first sense. my hand] or, my palm, the hollow of my hand, which also is sometime the instrument of help, (Psal. 91. 4. 12. and 119. 173.) sometime of affliction, Job 13. 21. and 33. 7. It may also mean my cloud: for as a cloud arose in the sight of Elias servant, like a man's hand, 1 King. 18. 44. so Elihu calleth the clouds, Cappajim, that is, hands, Job 36. 32. The Chaldee here translateth it my Word: (which is the title of Christ, John. 1. 1.) So in the verse following the Chaldee saith, And I will take away the word of my glory.

Vers. 23. back parts] or, after parts; the things behind me. This may be understood of an imperfect image of the glory of God, such as man is able to behold in this life, where we see through a glass, darkly: opposed to the state which is to come, when we shall see face to face, or eye to eye, as 1 Cor. 13. •2. Isaiah. 52. 8. And it is spoken of God, after the manner of men; for properly he (being a Spirit infinite and incomprehensible) hath neither face nor back-parts, nor any such thing, as is noted on Gen. 6. 6. Some refer this to the vision which Moses saw of Christ transfigured upon the mount, Matth. 17. 2. 3. where also a cloud over-shadowed the disciples, v. 4. If we apply it unto Christ, his back-parts may be understood of his afflictions and sufferings, which in this life, his people do see and are partakers of: as in the life to come, they shall behold his face, and partake of his glory, Matth. 10. 38. Phil. 3. 10. 13. 14. 1 John. 3. 2. Psal. 17. 15. The Hebrews say, God made known unto Moses, that which no man knew before him, nor shall know after him: that he apprehended in his knowledge, the truth of the Essence of God, distinctly from the essence of other things, as a man whose back parts are seen, and his whole body and raiment is attained unto in ones knowledge, from other bodies of men. Maimonides, in Iesudei hatorah, chap. 1. Sect. 10. It is a tradition of the Jews, that God now appeared like Sheliach tsibbur (the Messenger or Minister of the congregation,) clad with a robe. R. Menachem on Exod. 33. and so Maimonides in Iesudei hacorah, chap. 1. Sect. 9. saith, Moses saw him on the Sea, like a mighty warrior, and on Sinai, cladlike a Minister of the congregation. be seen] the Greek addeth, seen of thee: but it is more general, of no man, as in verse 20. And by seeing is not meant only with the outward eye, but with the heart or understanding, according to that phrase in Eccles. 1. 16. mine heart hath seen: because the mind of man cannot apprehend God, who is incōprehensible, Job 11. 7. 1 Tim. 6. 16. R. Menachem here saith; Observe how he saith not, My face thou shalt not see, but SHALL NOT BE SEENE, as if he should say, there is no power in any creature to comprehend it.

CHAP. XXXIV.

1, God willeth Moses to hew two tables of stone, on which he would write again the words of the covenant. 4, Moses having done so, went up into the mount; 5, The Lord descendeth in a cloud, and proclaimeth his Name. 8, Moses worshipping, and int•ateth God to go with them. 10, God maketh a covenant with them, warning them, 12, of the Idolatry of the Canaanites. 16, and marriages with them. 18, He reneweth the commandment of the feast of unleavened bread, and of sanctifying their first-borne. 21, Of the Sabbath. 22, Of other feasts, and rites about sacrificing. 28, Moses after forty days in the mount, cometh down with the Tables. 29, His face shineth, and he covereth it with a veil.

AND Jehovah said unto Moses, Hew thee two Tables of stone, like the first: and I will write upon the Tables, the words which were on the first Tables which thou brakest. And be thou ready in the morning: and come up in the morning, unto mount Sinai, and present thyself unto me there, upon the top of the mount. And let no man come up with thee; neither let any man be seen, throughout all the mount: neither let the flocks nor herds feed before that mount. And he hewed two tables of stone like the first; and Moses rose up early in the morning, and went up unto mount Sinai, as Jehovah had commanded him: and took in his hand the two tables of stone. And Jehovah descended in the cloud; and he stood with him there: and he proclaimed the name of Jehovah. And Jehovah passed by, before him, and he proclaimed: Jehovah, Jehovah; God, pitiful and gracious, long suffering, and much in mercy and truth. Keeping mercy, for thousands; forgiving iniquity, and trespass, and sin: and that will not clearing clear, (the guilty,) visiting the iniquity of the fathers, upon the sons, and upon the sons sons, unto the third, and unto the fourth generation. And Moses made-hast, and bended down-the head toward the earth and bowed himself. And he said; If ô now I have found grace in thine eyes, ô Lord; let the Lord now go amongst us: for it is a stiff necked people; and pardon thou our iniquity and our sin, and take us for thine inheritance. And he said: Behold, I, strike a covenant: before all thy people, I will do marvels, which have not been created in all the earth, or in any of the Nations: and all the people amongst which thou art, shall see the work of Jehovah, for it is a fearful thing; which I do with thee. Observe thou that which I command thee this day: Behold I drive out from before thee, the Amorite, and the Canaanite, and the Chethite, and the Pherizzite, and the Evite, and the Jebusite. Take heed to thyself; lest thou strike a covenant with the inhabitant of the land, into which thou enterest: lest he be for a snare in the midst of thee. But ye shall destroy their altars, and break their pillars, and cut-down their groves. For thou shalt not bow-down thyself to another God: for Jehovah, whose Name is Jealous; he, is a Jealous God. Lest thou strike a covenant with the inhabitant of the Land; and they go a whoring after their gods, and sacrifice unto their gods; and he call thee, a ... eat of his sacrifice. And thou take ⟨◇⟩ . Daughters, unto thy Sons: and his daughter go a whoring after then gods; and ⟨◇⟩ thy sons go-a-whoring after then g ⟨...⟩ . Thou shalt not make unto thee, any m ⟨...⟩ gods. The feast of unleavened cakes sh ⟨...⟩ thou keep: seven days ⟨...⟩ on shalt eaten leavened cakes, as I commanded thee; at th<sup>e</sup> appointed time, of the month of Abib: fo<sup>e</sup> in the month of Abib, thou camest out from Egypt.

All that openeth the womb, is mine: and all thy cattle that is male; that which openeth (the womb;) of ox and of sheep. And that which openeth (the womb) of an asse thou shalt redeem with a lamb; and if thou wilt not redeem it, then thou shalt break the neck of it: Every firstborn of thy Sons thou shalt redeem; and they shall not appear before me, empty. Six days, thou shalt labor, and in the seventh day, thou shalt cease: in eating-time<sup>e</sup> and in harvest, thou shalt cease. And thou shalt observe to thee, the feast of weeks: of the first fruits of Wheat harvest: and the feast of ingathering, at the revolution of the year. Three times in the year, every male of thee shall appear, before the face of the Lord, Jehovah, the God of Israel. For I will cast out the nations, from before thee, and will enlarge thy border: and no man shall desire thy land: when thou goest up, to appear before the face of Jehovah thy God three times in the year. Thou shalt not slay the blood of my sacrifice, with leavened bread: neither shall the sacrifice of the feast of the Passover, remain unto the morning. The first of the first fruits of thy Land thou shalt bring into the house of Jehovah thy God: Thou shalt not seeth a kid in his mothers milk.

And Jehovah said unto Moses, Write for thee these words: for after the Tenor of these words, I have stricken a covenant with thee, and with Israel. And he was there with Jehovah, Forty days and forty nights, he did eat no bread, nor drink water: and he wrote upon the Tables the words of the covenant; the ten words. And it was when Moses came down from mount Sinai, and the two Tables of Testimony in Moses hand, when he came down from the mount: that Moses knew not, that the skin of his face shone, when he spake with him. And Aaron, and all the Sons of Israel, saw Moses: and behold, the skin of his face shone: and they feared to come nigh unto him. And Moses called unto them, and Aaron, and all the Rulers of the Congregation, returned unto him: and Moses spake unto them. And afterward, all the Sons of Israel came nigh: and he commanded them, all that Jehovah had spoken, with him, on mount Sinai. And Moses made an-end of speaking with them: and he put a veil upon his face. And when Moses went in before Jehovah to speak with him, he took off the veil, until he came out, and spake unto the Sons of Israel, that which he was commanded. And the sons of Israel saw the face of Moses, that the skin of Moses face shone: and Moses did put the veil again upon his face, until he went in to speak with him.

Annotations.

HEw thee] or, Hew unto thyself, whereas the former tables were the work of God himself, Exod. 32. 16. See the notes on Exod. 31. 18. Here followeth the renewing of the covenant, between God and his people: rehearsed again in Deut. 10. 1. &c. and I] The Greek here addeth, and come thou up unto me into the mount, and I, &c. So Moses himself repeateth it, in Deut. 10. 1.

Vers. 2. present thyself] or, stand for me there, that is, wait till I come down, as verse. 5. and then (as the Chaldee translath) stand before me there. And this being to be done in the morning, it was a sign of mercy, Psal. 90. 14. and 30. 6. and 5. 4.

Vers. 3. before] the Greek translath, near the mount, see Exod. 19. 12. 13. with the annotations. [unspec 3]

Vers. 5. descended] by a manifestation of his glorious presence. The Chaldee saith, was revealed, See Exod. 19. 18. ⟨ϕ⟩ be proclaimed] that is, the Lord did proclaim; as he promised, Exod. 33. 19. Or it may be understood of Moses, and translated, he called on the name of Jehovah: for so the Hebrew phrase sometimes signifieth, as Gen. 12. 8.

Verse 6. passed by] that is, as the Chaldee translath, caused his Majesty (Shekhinah) to pass by. Whereupon the Hebrews, comparing this with Exod. 33. 19. 22. say, The Shekhinah (or divine-Majesty) called I, passed by. R. Menachem on Exod. 34. So they held this Shekhinah, to be one with the Father. See after on verse. 9. he proclaimed] that is, God proclaimed, Exod. 33. 19. But Targum Yerushalmi referreth it to Moses, saying; And the glory of the Majesty of the Lord passed before him, and Moses prayed and said, &c. Howbeit Moses him-self saith, the Lord spake these words, Numb. 14. 17. 18. And so other of the Hebrews understand it, as before, that Shekhinah (the Divine-presence) proclaimed these properties. R. Menachem. Jehovah, Jehovah, &c.] Here all God's goodness passed before Moses, and was proclaimed, according to the promise, Exod. 33. 19. the three first titles signifying God in his Essence or Being, distinguished in three persons, 1 John 5. 7. God] in Hebrew Ael, which signifieth Mighty: see Gen. 14. 18. pitiful] or, compassionate; of tender mercy. These next seven attributes, show God's affection toward repentant and believing sinners, 1 in pitying their misery; 2 showing favor and grace unto them, though unworthy; 3 long suffering their infirmities; 4 of much mercy and bounty, in doing them good; 5 of much truth, in fulfilling his promises unto them; 6 and extending the like mercy to their children, even to the thousand generation; 7 and forgiving their sins of all sorts: wherein the blessedness of man consisteth, Psalm. 32. 1. 2. Rom. 4. 6. 7. 8. long suffering] or, long ⟨ϕ⟩ he be angry: Hebrew, long of anger (or, of nostrith) mercy] or, bounteousnesse, kindness, which David six and twenty times in one Psalm, confesseth to endure forever, Psal. 136. Compare also Neh. 9. 17. Ion. 4. 2. Psal. 103. 7. 8. 9. &c.

Vers. 7. for thousands] that is, (as Tharg•• Yerushalmi explaineth it) for a thousand generations: See Exod. 20. 6. The Greek translath, and doing many unto thousands. not clearing clear] that is, ⟨ϕ⟩ will in no wise clear, (or acquit, hold innocent;) to wit, the guilty person, as the Greek version addeth; or (as the Chaldee saith) them that convert not. Also the Yerushalmi Targum expoundeth it, he will not clear sinners in the day of the great Judgment. The like defect is in

Num. 14. 18. Nahum 1. 3. and in other like speeches, as Lev. 19. 18. which sometime the Scripture it self supplieth, as is noted on Gen. 4. 20. and 24. 33. And these two last attributes are in respect of God's dealing with the wicked; unto whom he imputeth no righteousness, for their good; but inflicteth punishment upon them and theirs, unto perdition. Yet this his justice upon the wicked, is a part of his goodness towards his people, as it is said, The just shall rejoyce, when he seeth the vengeance: he shall wash his feet, in the blood of the wicked, Psalm. 58. 11. visiting] that is, punishing; see Exod. 20. 5. sons] to wit, of the wicked, or rebellious, as the Chaldee here addeth. And Targum Yerushalmi saith, remembering the sins of wicked fathers, upon the rebellious sons, unto the third generation, and unto the fourth generation.

Vers. 8. bowed himself] or, worshipped, fell prostrate: Targum Yerushalmi expoundeth it, he confessed and lauded God. See the notes on Exod. 4. 31.

Vers. 9. now go] or, I pray thee go, to wit, with the signs of his presence, in the cloudy fiery pillar. The Chaldee saith, Let the Majesty of the Lord go. By the Majesty (or Divine-presence) of the Lord, which the Hebrews call She'inah, we may well understand Christ: for the Hebrews usually distinguish this from God the Father; and say, there is no coming before the blessed and most high King, without Shekhinah. R. Menachem on Levite. 10. Our Savior more plainly saith, No man cometh unto the Father, but by me, John. 14. 6. Of him the ancient Jews seem to speak, under this name Shekhinah; though at this day they despise their salvation. See before, on Exod. 33. 14. 15. and 34. 6. and 14. 19. for it is] or, though it be a stiff necked people, yet pardon thou, &c. For in the time of favorable-acceptation, it was well with them; by Shekhinah (the Divine-majesty) that tooks pity upon them: saith R. Menachem. take us for inheritance] or, inherit (possess) thou us: which the Greek translatheth, we shall be thine. This is the blessedness of a people, that God chooseth them to be his inheritance; as Psalm. 33. 12. Zach. 2. 12. and God doth inherit or possess, those whom he subdueth unto his obedience, and ruleth over them, Psal. 82. 2. Levite. 25. 46.

Vers. 10. he said] the Greek explaineth it, the Lord said unto Moses. strike] that is, make, to wit, with thee, as the Greek explaineth it. marvels] in Greek, glorious things: and so the Evangelist useth the word, Luke 13. 17. the people rejoiced for all the glorious things that were done by Jesus: where the Syriac hath, marvelous things. So in Job 5. 9. Exod. 33. 16. This promise seemeth to concern the marvelous works, which God after did before all Israel, in the days of Joshua: as when the Sun and moon stood still in the midst of heaven, &c. Ios. 10. 12. 13. of which it is there said, Is not this written in the book of Iasher? which the Chaldee there expoundeth, the book of the Law: as being a thing whereof Moses here wrote. created] the Greek saith, done: and creating is the making or doing of a new marvelous and glorious thing: as Gen. 1. 1. Numb. 16. 30. a fearful thing] or, he is fearful, meaning God: but the Gr. expounds it, they are marvelous things. with thee] that is, as the Greek translatheth, to thee; meaning all Israel; as the words following manifest; or, with thee, meaning Moses; that is, by thy hand; as Paul saith, not I, but the grace of God with me, 1 Cor. 15. 10.

Vers. 11. Observe thou] or, keep for thyself: for thine own good. Amorite] that is, Amorites, &c. as the Chaldee translatheth. See Gen. 10. 16. Exod. 23. 23. 28.

Verse 12. snare] or cause of thy ruin. See Exod. 23. 33. [unspec 12]

Vers. 13. pillars] or, standing images, statues: see Exod. 23. 24. groves] which they used to consecrate to their gods, offering sacrifice under green trees, Deut. 12. 2. 2 King. 16. 4. So among other heathens, trees and groves were the Temples of their gods, saith Pliny hist. book 12. chap. 1. And in the Roman Laws of the 12 Tables, in the 2 law of Religion, it was commanded to have groves in the fields. For this cause, Israel is here bidden to cut them down, and in Deut. 12. 3. to burn them: and were also forbidden to plant any grove, or any tree near unto the altar of the Lord, Deut. 6. 21.

Vers. 14. other god] to the idols of the people's, as the Chaldee expoundeth it.

Vers. 15. go a-whoring] that is, commit idolatry, which is spiritual whoredom, Ier. 3. 9. and so the Chaldee explaineth it here, to err after their errors: that is, their idols. he] that is, the inhabitant aforesaid; put for all and every of the inhabitants: therefore the Greek translateth, they call; and so after. Compare Num 25. 1. 2. Prov. 9. 13. 15.

Vers. 17. molten gods] or, gods of metal: Hebrew of melting. So Levite. 19. 4. Exod. 20. 23.

Vers. 18. as I] or, which I commanded: but the Hebrew asher, is put for caasher: as in Exodus 23. 15. and so the Greek translateth it here.

Abib] in Greek, the month of new fruits. See Exod. 13. 4.

Vers. 19. is mine] or, shall be mine: that is, sanctified unto me: see Exodus 13. 2. 12. that which openeth] or, the first borne, as the Greek and Chaldee here translateth it. See Exod. 13. 12. 13. and 22. 29. 30.

Vers. 20. with a lamb] a living lamb, of the sheep or goats, and no other beast; as is noted on Exod. 13. 13. and the lamb was to be given to the Priest, Num. 18. 8. 15. The Hebrews say, It might be redeemed with a lamb, whether male or female, unblemished or blemished, small or great, If a man have no lamb to redeem it with, he may redeem it with the value of it, and give the price to the Priest. The Law commandeth not a Lamb, to make it heavier upon him, but lighter. For if he have the firstling of an Ass, which is worth ten shekels, he may redeem it with a lamb worth a quarter of a shekel. But the price in money, is from three zuzims and upward: [that is, three quarters of a shekel; for one zoz is the fourth part of a shekel.] If the price be less then three zuzims, they redeem it not therewith: and a good eye (that is, a liberal person) giveth not less then a shekel. Maimonides in treat, of Firstfruits, Chap. 12. Sect. 10. &c. break the neck] the Chaldee saith, kill it. They might have no use or benefit of the Ass till it was redeemed. If he sold it before it was redeemed, the price was unlawful. If it died before it was redeemed, or if the neck was broken, it was buried. For it was unlawful to make benefit of it, even after the neck was broken, because it was not redeemed. Therefore if he redeemed it not, but gave the Ass it self to the Priest; it was unlawful for the Priest to put it to any service, until it was redeemed with a lamb. Maimonides ibidem, Chap. 12. Sect. 4. they shall not appear] or, my face shall not be seen: to wit, by any man: the Greek saith, thou shalt not appear. empty] without an oblation: see Exod. 23. 15.

Vers. 21. labor] or, serve: see the notes on Exodus 20. 9. For this in Exod. 23. 12. is written, six days thou shalt do thy works.

Vers. 22. observe to thee] Hebr. do to thee: meaning observe, or make holy, celebrate. According to this phrase, is, to do the Sabbath day, Exod. 31. 16. Deut. 5. 15. to dee the Passover, Deut. 16. 1. Matt. 26. 18. to do the feast of Boothes, Deut. 16. 13. and the like. The Greek translatheth, Thou shalt do (that is, observe) to me. of weeks] or, of sevens: a feast seven weeks after the Passover, called Pentecost, Lev. 23. 15. 16. Act. 2. 1. it was also called harvest, Exod. 23. 16. revolution] or, circumvolution, circuit; that is, the return; as the revolution of the year, 2 Chron. 24. 23. is explained to be the return of it, 1 King. 20. 26. when the old year endeth, and the new beginneth. This was in the seventh month, which we call September: see the notes on Exod. 23. 16.

Vers. 23. every male of thee] or, all thy male-kind: see Exod. 23. 17. Deut. 16. 16. [unspec 23]

Vers. 24. no man] to wit, of thy neighbors or enemies round about thee, shall have the heart, to set upon thy coasts, when all the men are gathered before me.

Vers. 25. not slay] for sacrifice, as in Exodus 23. 18. see the notes there. sacrifice] in Greek, sacrifices: meaning of the Passover, as after is explained. Hence the Hebrews gather their rite of purging Leaven out of their houses, before the Passover: they expound it thus: Thou shalt not slay the Passover, whiles Leaven yet remaineth. Now the killing of the Passover, is the fourteenth (of Abib) after midday. Maimonides treat, of Leavened and Unleavenedbread, Chap. 2. Sect. 1. See more in the notes on Exod 12. verse. 15. and verse. 10.

Vers. 26. first] or, beginning of the fruits: see Ex. 23. 19. a kid] in Greek, a lamb: in Chaldee, thou shalt not eat flesh with milk: and the Yerushalmi Targum addeth, not to boil nor to eat flesh and milk mixed together. See Exod. 23. 19.

Vers. 27. tenor] Hebrew, the mouth of these words: which the Chaldee expounds, the speech of these words. have stricken] or, do strike, that is, make: for these precepts were both given before, and now repeated.

Vers. 28. he] that is, God wrote, verse. 1. ten words] that is, ten commandments, which therefore we call of the Greek name, the Decalogue. Ten, is often used for many; as ten times, mean many times, Gen. 31. 7. Job 19. 3. ten men, Zach. 8. 23. and ten women, Lev. 26. 26. and ten thousands, Heb. 12. 22. that is, many: and as other numbers are made of ten, by reduplication; so all other writings of the Law and Prophets, depend upon these ten words: so by this number ten, God gave a perfect and complete Law. And Words, are used for whole sentences, or commandments: as Paul saith also, one word, Cal. 5. 14. when he rehearseth a commandment; and that is called the Word of God, in Mark 7. 13. which another calleth the Commandment of God, Matt. 15. 6. These ten words, were according to the first writing, and to the words which were spoken before, in the day of the Assembly, Deut. 10. 4.

Vers. 29. shone] which the Greek translatheth, [unspec] was glorious, and so the Apostle allegeth it, in 2 Cor. 3. where, by glory, is meant, shining brightness, as in 1 Cor. 15. 41. there is one glory of the Sun, and another glory (that is, brightness) of the Moon, &c. and the Israelites could not behold the face of Moses, for the glory (that is, the brightness) of his countenance, 2 Cor. 3. 7. and the earth was lightened with the glory of the Angel, Rev. 18. 1. The Chaldee also translateth, Moses knew not that the brightness of the glory of his face was multiplied. The Latin version saith, Moses face was horned; mistaking the word: for of the Hebrew Karan, which is to shine, or cast forth glorious beams, the name Keren or Horne is derived: in which sense the Latin translated it here, and gave occasion unto the ignorant, to paint Moses face with two horns like an Ox, whereby this glorious mystery hath been obscured, and turned to a fable. For the glory of Moses face, signified the glory of the Law which he preached, 2 Cor. 3. 7. &c.

Vers. 30. feared] for Moses his ministration was [unspec] death and condemnation, 1 Cor. 3. 7. 9. (because the Law giveth knowledge of sin, and causeth wrath, Rom. 3. 20. and 4. 15.) and therefore the more bright and glorious that it is, the more terror it striketh in all men's hearts, there being a weakness and impossibility in all men, to do the same, Rom. 8. 3. For Aaron himself, and all the Rulers were afraid of Moses, as well as the other people: even as at the first giving of the Law, Moses himself, with all the people, were affrighted, and trembled, Exodus 19.

Vers. 33. and he put] or, and he had put a veil: but the Greek translateth, And when he had ceased speaking unto them, he put a veil, &c. that is, after this first communing with them, when he knew the cause of their fear, he put on a veil (or covering:) which signified the obscurity of the Law; whose first, true, and proper meaning and end, could not easily be discerned: also the darkness that is in all men's hearts naturally, till God take away the veil and hardness that is upon them. For so the Apostle speaketh of a double veil, one outward in the Law, another inward in the heart, 2 Cor. 3. 13. 14. &c. And as without a veil the people could not hear Moses; so except the Law be veiled, and hath as it were a new face upon it, the natural man cannot endure the glory of it: so terrible it is to the conscience of sinners. R. Menachem here observeth how the former Ancients of Israel, at the reading of the Book of the Law, covered their faces, and said; he that heareth from the mouth of the reader, is as he that heareth from the mouth of Moses.

Vers. 34. took off the veil] whereof there was no [unspec] use in the sight of God; who doth not only know himself the use and end of his Law; but showeth the same also to others; which was likewise here figured; for when men shall be turned to the Lord, the veil shall be taken away, 2 Cor. 3. 16.

Vers. 35. put the veil again on] hereby signifying [unspec] the continual glory of his ministry, and infirmity of the people; till both of them be done a way. Which is accomplished by the Gospel, the ministration of the Spirit, and of righteousness, which exceeds in glory, so that Moses ministry hath no glory in this respect: for Christ taketh away the veil, so that we may both steadfastly look to the end of the Law, which is abolished; and all of us with unveiled face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord, 1 Cor. 5. 8. 18.

CHAP. XXXV.

1, Moses commandeth the people, from the Lord, to keep the Sabbath; 4, to bring willing offerings, of gold, silver, brass, and other stuff for the Tabernacle and furniture thereof. 20, The people go, and bring voluntary gifts. 22, Men and women bring their Jewels and ornaments, and other stuff, such as they had. 25. The wise women spin the stuff. 27, The Rulers bring precious stones, and spices. 30, Bezaleel and Aholiab, are shown to be the men whom God had filled with his Spirit and Wisdom, to do the work of the Sanctuary.

AND Moses gathered together, all the Congregation of the sons of Israel, and said unto them: These are the words, which Jehovah hath commanded, to do them. Six days, shall work be done; but on the seventh day, there shall be to you holiness; a Sabbath of sabbatism to Jehovah: whosoever doth any work therein, shall be put-to-death. Ye shall kindle no fire, in any of your habitations upon the Sabbath day.

And Moses said, unto all the Congregation of the sons of Israel, saying: this is the thing, which Jehovah hath commanded, saying: Take ye from amongst you an offering, unto Jehovah; whosoever is willing in his heart, let him bring it, the offering of Jehovah: Gold, and silver, & brass. And blew, and purple, and scarlet, and fine-linen, and Goats hair. And Rams skins died-red, and Tachash skins, and Shittim wood. And oil, for the Light: and spices, for the anointing oil, and for the incense of sweet-spices. And Beryl stones, & filling stones, for the Ephod, and for the Brest plate. And every wise hearted among you, shall come and make all that Jehovah hath commanded. The Tabernacle, the tent thereof, and the covering thereof: the taches thereof, and the boards thereof; the bars thereof, the pillars thereof, and the sockets thereof. The ark, and the bars there of, the Covering-mercy-seat; and the veil of the covering. The Table, and the bars thereof, and all the vessels thereof: and the show-bread. And the Candlestick for the Light, and the vessels thereof, and the lamps thereof: and the oil for the Light. And the Altar of incense, and the bars thereof, and the anointing oil, and the incense of sweet spices: and the hanging veil of the door, for the door of the Tabernacle. The Altar of Burnt offering, and the grate of brass which is for it; the bars thereof, and all the vessels thereof: the Laver, and the foot thereof. The tapestry-hangings of the Court, the pillars thereof, and the sockets thereof: and the hanging-veil, of the gate of the Court. The pins of the Tabernacle, and the pins of the Court, and their coards. The garments of ministry, to minister in the holy-place: the garments of holiness, for Aaron the Priest, and the garments of his sons, to minister-in-the-priests-office. And all the congregation of the Sons of Israel departed, from the presence of Moses. And they came every man whose heart stirred him up, and everyone whose spirit made him willing; they brought the offering of Jehovah, for the work of the Tent of the Congregation, and for all the service thereof, and for the garments of holiness. And they came; the men with the women, every-one that was willing hearted, they brought bracelets, and ear-rings, and rings, and tablets, all jewels of gold; and every man that offered, offered an offering of gold unto Jehovah. And every man with whom was found blew, and purple, and scarlet, and fine-linen, and Goats hair: and Rammes skins died red, and Tachash skins, brought them. Everyone that offered, an offering of silver, and of brass; they brought the offering of Jehovah: and everyone with whom was found Shittim wood, for any work of the service brought it. And every woman that was wise hearted, did spin with her hands: and they brought the spun-work, the blew, and the purple, and the scarlet, and the fine-linen. And all the women whose heart stirred them up, in wisdom, spun Goats hair. And the Rulers brought Beryl stones, and filling stones, for the Ephod, and for the Brest-plate. And spice, and oil, for the Light, and for the anointing oil, and for the incense of sweet-spices. Every man, and woman whose heart made them willing; to bring for all the work, which Jehovah had commanded, to make, by the hand of Moses: the sons of Israel brought, a willing-offering, unto Jehovah.

And Moses said, unto the sons of Israel; See, Jehovah hath called by name, Bezaleel, the son of Vri, the son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah. And he hath filled him, with the Spirit of God; in wisdom, in understanding, and in knowledge, and in all workmanship. And to devise cunning-work: to work in gold, and in silver, and in brass. And in engraving of stone, to fill; and in carving of wood: to work in all cunning works. And he hath given into his heart, for to teach: he and Aholiab the son of Ahisamach, of the Tribe of Dan. He hath filled them with wisdom of heart; to make all work of the engraver, and of the cunning-workman, and of the embroiderer; in blew, and in purple; in scarlet, and in fine-linen, and of the weaver: even of them that do any work; and that devise cunning works.

Annotations.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

HEre beginneth the 22 Section of the Law. See Gen. 6. 9. and 28. 10.

Vers. 2. holiness] that is, a day of holiness: or, an holy day: and sign of holiness from the Lord: See Exod. 31. 13. 14 &c. of sabbathisme] that is, of rest: see Exod. 16. 23. and 31. 15. any work] to wit, of his own works, ways, or words, Ex. 20. 9. Isaiah 58. 13. to except the works commanded of God, as circumcision, offering of sacrifice, and the like, John. 7 22. 23. Matth. 12. 5. and works of necessity, and of mercy towards man or beast, Matth 12. 7. 11. 12. See the annotations on Exodus 20. 8. &c.

Vers. 3. kindle no fire] either for to do work with; or, to dress meat (for that was unlawful on the Sabbath, though lawful on other feast days, Exod. 12. 16.) or, for to punish malefactors: as the Hebrew Doctors say, Punishments may not be inflicted on the Sabbath: though it be commanded to punish malefactors, yet may it not be done on the Sabbath. As when one is condemned by the Judges to stripes, or unto death, he may not be beaten or put to death on the Sabbath: for it is written, Ye shall kindle no fire, &c. this is a warning to the Judges, that they burn not on the Sabbath, him that is condemned to be burnt; and the like is for other punishments. Maimonides treat. of the Sabbath, Chap. 24. Sect. 7. The like order they take against Iudging of causes of the Sabbath, Ibidem, Chap. 23. Sect. 14.

Vers. 5. an offering] or, an heave offering: in Greek and Chaldee, a separation; a gift separated unto God, from their other goods. See the notes on Exod. 25. 2

Vers. 6. blew] in Greek, hyacinth: see Ex. 25. 4. [unspec 6]

Vers. 7. Shittim] in Greek, incorruptible wood: see Exod. 25. 5.

Vers. 8. oil] of the olive: see Exod. 27. 20. anointing] or, oil of unction: whereof see Exod. 30. 23. &c. incense of sweet spices] in Greek, composition of incense: see Exod. 30. 54. &c.

Vers. 9. filling] to be set in golden ouches; Hebr. stones of fillings: see Exod. 25. 7. and 28. 17. 20.

Vers. 11. Tabernacle] or, Habitacle: whereof see Exod. 26. bars] or, bar; meaning all and everyone. See the notes on Exod. 32. 19. So in Exodus 39. 33.

Vers. 12. Ark] or Coffer, wherein the Tables of [unspec] the Law were put: see Exod. 25. 10. In Greek, the Ark of the testimony. of the covering] the veil that hid the most holy place; whereof see Exod. 26. 31. &c. So after in Exod. 39. 34. The Greek translateth it only, the veil.

Vers. 13. Table] described in Exod. 25. 23. &c. [unspec] Shew bread] in Greek, bread of proposition. See Exod. 25. 30.

Vers. 14. for the Light] or, Candlestick of light; [unspec] that is, the shining Candlestick, whose lamps gave light always. So, stars of light, Psal. 148. 3. that is, shining stars.

Vers. 15. Altar] the golden altar: whereof see Exod. 30. 1. &c. hanging-veil] see Exod. 26. 36.

Vers. 16. Altar] the brazen altar; whereof see Exod. 27. 1. &c. the foot] or, the Base: see Exodus 30. 18.

Vers. 17. tapestry-hangings] see Ex. 27. 9. &c.

Vers. 19. of ministry] or, of service: see Exodus 31. 10. for Aaron] described in Exod. 28. This was the sum of Moses Sermon to the people at this assembly: wherein he taught them both what gifts to bring, and what holy things were to be made for the service of God; as he had been before commanded, Exod. 25. &c.

Vers. 21. stirred] or, lifted him up, to do it cheerfully; and so made him willing, as the Chaldee translateth it.

Vers. 22. bracelets] or, chains, or hooks; the Greek translateth, seals. Compare this with their fact before, in Exod. 32. where they gave their Jewels to make an Idol. offered] Hebrew, waved because they were heaved up and waved, when they were given to the Lord; and is therefore called a wave offering, Exod. 38. 24.

Vers. 24. was found] If there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not, 2 Cor. 8. 12.

Vers. 25. did spin] of the virtuous woman it is said, She laireth her hands to the spindle, and her hands hold the distaffe, Prov. 31. 19. So for the building of God's spiritual Tabernacle, there were women that labored in the Gospel, Phil. 4. 3. that labored much in the Lord, Rom. 16. 3. 6. 12. Contrary were they that wove hangings for the grove, 2 King. 2. 7

Vers. 29. willing offering] or, voluntary gift. So ought all things that we give unto God, or for his sake, be freely given, as every man purposeth in his heart; not of grief, or of necessity; for God leveth a cheerful giver, 2 Cor. 9. 7. Compare herewith, the offerings of David, and the Princes and people of Israel, towards the building of God's Temple, which caused great joy in men, and thanks unto God, 1 Chron. 29. 3. 6. 9. 10. &c.

Vers. 30. Bezaleel] of whom see Exod. 31. 2. &c. He was for Moses Tabernacle, as Hiram for Solomon's Temple, 1 King. 7. 13. 14. as Paul and the other Apostles for the Temple of Christ's Church, 1. Cor. 3. 10. But the Tabernacle of Christ's natural body, was greater and more perfect; not made with hands, that is, not of this building. Heb. 9. 11. and 10. 20. the Workmaster thereof, was the holy Ghost himself, Luke 1. 34. 35.

Vers. 34. Aholiab] in Greek, Eliab. See Exodus 31. 6. [unspec 34]

Vers. 35. cunning-workman] who wrought both sides alike: whereas the embroiderer wrought curiously but the one side: see the notes on Exod. 26. 1. of the weaver] which the Chaldee expoundeth weaving: understanding by the weaver, the weavers work: as elsewhere the Scripture useth Spirits for the gifts of the Spirit, 1 Cor. 14. 12. 32. that devise] in Chaldee, that teach cunning (or artificial) works. By these were figured the varieties of graces, which were abundantly to be seen in the first building of Christ, Church, after that men had received the Spirit of God, by the preaching of the Gospel from the mouths of the master workmen, the Apostles, 1 Cor. 1. 5. 7. and 12. 4. 8. 9. 10. 11. Gal. 3. 2. 5. Acts 19. 4. 6.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1, The offerings are delivered to the workmen. 5, The people bringing more then enough for the work, are restrained. 8, The making of the embroidered curtains with Cherubims; 14, The curtains of goats hair. 19, The coverings of Rams skins and Tachash skins. 20, The boards, with their sockets. 31, The bars. 35, The Veile. 37, The hanging for the door.

Then did Bezaleel, and Aholiah, and every wise hearted man; they to whom Jehovah gave wisdom and understanding, to know to do, all the work for the service of the Sanctuary: according to all, that Jehovah had commanded. And Moses called Bezaleel, and Aholiab; and every wise hearted man, in whose heart Jehovah had given wisdom: even every-one whose heart stirred him up; to come-near unto the work, to do it. And they took from before Moses, all the offering which the sons of Israel had brought, for the work of the service of the Sanctuary, to make it: and they, brought yet unto him, a willingoffring every morning. And all the wise men that made all the work of the Sanctuary, came; every man from his work which they made. And they said unto Moses, saying; The people bring much: more then enough for the service of the work, which Jehovah commanded to make. And Moses commanded; and they caused a voice to pass throughout the campe, saying; Let neither man nor woman, make any-more work, for the offering of the Sanctuary: and the people were restrained, from bringing. And the work was enough for them, for all the work to make the same: and to be overplus.

Then made they, even every wise hearted among them that did the work; the Tabernacle, of ten curtains: of fine-linen twined, and blew, and purple, and scarlet; with Cherubims, the work of a cunning workman, made he them. The length of one curtain, was eight and twenty cubits; and the breadth, four cubits, of one curtain: one measure was for all the curtains. And he coupled-together five curtains, one to another: and five curtains he coupled-together, one to another. And he made loops, of blew; upon the edge of the one curtain, from the selvedge, in the coupling: likewise he made in the utmost edge of the curtain, in the second coupling. Fifty loops, made he, in the one curtain; and fifty loops, made he, in the selvedge of the curtain, which was in the second coupling, the loops being one right over against another. And he made fifty taches of gold: and coupled-together the curtains, one to another, with the taches; and it was one Tabernacle.

And he made curtains of Goats hair, for a Tent, over the Tabernacle: eleven curtains, he made them. The length of one curtain, was thirty cubits; and four cubits the breadth of one curtain: one measure, was for the eleven curtains. And he coupled-together five curtains by themselves: and six curtains, by themselves. And he made fifty loops, on the edge of the (one) curtain, the outmost in the coupling: and fifty loops, made he, on the edge of the curtain, of the second coupling. And he made, fifty taches of brass: to couple-together the Tent, for to be one. And he made a covering, for the Tent; of Rammes skins died-red: and a covering of Tachash skins above. And he made boards for the Tabernacle: of Shittim wood, standing-up. Ten cubits was the length of a board: and a cubit and half a cubit, the breadth of one board. Two Tenons, for one board; set in order, one against another: so did he make for all the boards of the Tabernacle. And he made the boards for the Tabernacle: twenty boards for the South side, southward. And forty sockets of silver, he made, under the twenty boards: two sockets under one board, for his two tenons; and two sockets under another board, for his two tenons. And for the second side of the Tabernacle, on the North side: he made twenty boards. And their forty sockets of silver: two sockets under one board; and two sockets under another board. And for the sides of the Tabernacle, seaward: he made six boards. And two boards made he, for the corners of the Tabernacle: in the two sides. And they were equally joined beneath; and likewise they were perfectly-joined, at the head of it, unto one ring: so did he for them both; for the two corners. And they were eight boards; and their sockets of silver; sixteene sockets: two sockets two sockets, under one board. And he made bars of Shittim wood: five, for the boards of the one side of the Tabernacle. And five bars for the boards of the second side of the Tabernacle: and five bars, for the boards of the Tabernacle, for the two-sides Seaward. And he made the middle bar; to reach, in the midst of the boards, from end to end. And he overlayd the boards with gold, & made their rings, of gold, places for the bars: and overlaid the bars with gold. And he made a veil; of blew, and purple, and scarlet, and fine-linen twined: the work of a cunning-workman, made he it, with Cherubims. And he made thereunto, four pillars of Shittim, and overlayd them with gold; their hooks were of gold: and he cast for them, four sockets of silver. And he made an hanging-veil, for the door of the Tent; of blew, and purple, and scarlet, and fine-linen twined: the work of the embroiderer. And the five pillars of it, and their hooks; and he overlayd their chapters, and their fillets with gold: and their five sockets were of brass.

Annotations.

Then did] or, Then made Bezaleel, &c. that is, began to do, or to work. Some refer this to the end of the former Chapter, and translate, And Bezaleel shall do, &c. which interpretation the Hebrew well beareth. But the Greek translateth, And Beseleel did.

Vers. 2. And Moses] or, For Moses had called, As they had gifts of wisdom from God, so were they also to have a calling unto the work: as Aaron had unto the priesthood, Lev. 8. Heb. 54.

Vers. 3. they took from before Moses] so the Chaldee also translates it: the Greek, they received of Moses. every morning] Hebr. in the morning in the morning. So in v. 4. man man, that is, every man. This noteth their zeal and diligence: for so the morning often signifieth, Psal. 5. 4. and 101. 8. Isaiah 50. 4. Ier. 21. 12.

Vers. 4. wise] that is, skillful men. In this sense Paul useth the word wise, in 1 Cor. 3. 10. from his work] or, as the Greek translateth, according to his work, for so the Hebrew phrase sometime signifieth, as in Ezek. 7. 27.

Vers. 6. a voice] that is, a proclamation: the Chaldee saith, a crier; and the Greek, he cried (or proclaimed.) make anymore work] that is, make ready anymore stuff to work with. So in the verse following.

Vers. 7. the work] that is, the stuff for the work: as verse. 6. to be overplus] or, to remain over: that is, too much. Thus the people shown their ready obedience unto that part of the Law, which consisted in outward ordinances of service, and for the making of a worldly Sanctuary, (as the Apostle calleth it, Heb. 9. 1.) whereas in the former Law, which God had himself spoken from heaven they had shown their headstrong disobedience. Exodus 32.

Vers. 8. the Tabernacle] or Habitacle: see the notes on Exod. 26. 1. &c. This is first made (though in the commanding of these things, the Ark, Table, and Candlestick were first mentioned, Exod. 25) because it was to receive and contain those holy things, which might not stand without their Te <...> or Habitation, 1 Chron. 15. 1. and 16. 1.

Vers. 9. cubits] or by the cubit, which is a foot and an half; see Exod. 26. 2.

Vers. 10 to another] Hebr. to one, meaning to the fellow of it, called the sister, in Exod. 26. 3.

Vers. 11. edge] Hebr. lip, so Exod. 26. 4.

Vers. 12. being one right-over] or or receiving one to another: the Greek hath, opposite one to another: see Exod. 26. 5.

Vers 17. one curtain] the word one (supplied also in the Greek) is expressed in Exod. 26. 10.

Vers. 18. for to be] or, that it might be: the Greek saith, and it was one. See Exod. 26. 11.

Vers. 20. boards] in Greek, the pillars of the Tabonacle. See Exod. 26. 15. &c.

Vers. 27. Seaward] the Greek interpreteth, the part toward the Sea, that is, as the Chaldee translateth, the West: so Exod. 26. 22.

Vers. 29. equally joined] or, joined-as-two-tw <...> see Exod. 26. 24.

Vers. 30. under one] or under every board; which the Greek explaineth thus, two sockets for one pil•, and two sockets for another pillar; and so the Hebre• was, in Exod. 26. 25.

Vers. 32. of the Tabernacle] in Exod. 26. 27. it is of the side of the Tabernacle; and so the Greek h• saith, of the backside of the Tabernacle.

Vers. 35. cunning workman] in Greek, wovenworke. It meaneth woven both sides alike, see Exod. 26. 31.

Vers. 37. embroiderer] or, weaver with tinsel work. See Exod. 26. 36.

Vers. 38. their chapiters] Hebr. their heads, or tops. In Exod. 26. 37. it was commanded to overlay them, having spoken of the pillars. fillets] or, hoops, see Exod. 27. 10.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1, The making of the Ark, 6, and the Coveringmercie-seat with Cherubims. 10, The Table, with the vessels thereof. 17, The Candlestick, with the lamps and instruments thereof. 25, The Altar of incense. 29, The anointing oil, and sweet incense.

AND Bezaleel made the Ark of Shittim wood, two cubits, and a half was the length thereof, and a cubit and a half, the breadth thereof; and a cubit and a half, the height thereof. And he overlaid it with pure gold, within and without: and made for it a crown of gold round about. And he cast for it, four rings of gold, in the four corners thereof; and two rings, were in the one side of it; and two rings, in the second side of it. And he made bars of Shittim wood: and overlaid them with gold. And he put the bars into the rings, by the sides of the Ark, to bear the Ark. And he made the Covering-mercy-seat of pure gold: two cubits and a half was the length thereof; and a cubit and a half the breadth thereof. And he made two Cherubims of gold, of beaten-work, made he them, at the two ends of the Covering-mercy-seat. One Cherub on the end on this side; and one Cherub on the end on that side, of the Coveringmercie-seat, made he the two Cherubims, on the two ends thereof. And the Cherubims, stretched-forth the wings on high; covering with their wings, over the Coveringmercie-seat; and their faces were one to another: towards the Covering-mercy-seat were the faces of the Cherubims.

And he made the Table of Shittim wood: two cubits was the length thereof, and a Cubit the breadth thereof; and a cubit and a half the height thereof. And he overlaid it, with pure gold, and made thereunto a crown of gold round about. And he made unto it a borber of an hand-breadth round about: and made a crown of gold, to the border thereof round about. And he cast for it four rings of gold: and put the rings in the four corners, with were on the four feet thereof. Over against the border, were the rings: the places for the bars to bear the Table. And he made the bars of Shittim wood, and overlaid them, with gold; to bear the Table. And he made the vessels, which were for the Table; the dishes thereof, and the cups thereof, and the bowles thereof, and the covers which were to cover withal, of pure gold.

And he made the Candlestick of pure gold, of beaten-work made he the Candlestick, his shaft, and his branch, his bowles, his knops, and his flowers, were of the same. And six branches coming out of the sides of it: three branches of the Candlestick out of the one side of it; and three branches of the Candlestick, out of the second side of it. Three bowles made-like-almonds, in one branch, a knop and a flower; & three bowles made-like-almonds, in the other branch, a knop and a flower: so in the six branches, that came-out of the candlestick. And in the Candlestick were four bowles: made-like-almonds, his knops, and his flowers. And a knop under two branches of the same; and a knop, under two branches of the same; and a knop under two branches of the same, to the six branches that came-out of it. Their knops, and their branches, were of the same: all of it, was one beaten-work, of pure gold. And he made the seven lamps thereof; and the tongs thereof, and the snuff-dishes thereof, of pure gold. Of a talent of pure gold, made he it: and all the vessels thereof.

And he wade the Altar of incense, of Shittim wood: a Cubit was the length thereof, and a cubit the breadth thereof, foursquare: and two cubits the height thereof; the horns thereof were of the same. And he over-laid it with pure gold; the roof thereof, and the walls thereof round about, and the horns thereof: & he made unto it, a crown of gold, round about. And two rings of gold made he to it, under the crown thereof, by the two ribs thereof, upon the two sides of it, for places for the bars, to bear it withal. And he made the bars of Shittim wood: and overlaid them, with gold. And he made the oil of holy anointing; and the pure incense, of sweet-spices: the work of the Apothecary.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1, The making of the Altar of Burnt offering, 3, with the vessels thereof. 8, The Laver of brass, and the foot thereof. 9, The Court, and hangings thereof round about. 20, The pins of the Tabernacle, and Court. 21, The sum of that the people offered, of gold, of silver, and of brass, and the things that were made of them.

AND he made the Altar of Burnt offering, of Shittim wood: five cubits the length thereof, and five cubits the breadth thereof, foursquare; and three cubits the height thereof. And he made the horns of it, upon the four corners thereof; the horns of it were of the same: & he overlaid it with brass. And he made all the vessels of the Altar, the pans, and the shovels, and the basons, the flesh-hooks, and the firepannes: all the vessels thereof made he of brass. And he made for the Altar, a grate, of net work, of brass: under the compass thereof, beneath, unto the midst of it. And he cast four rings, in the four utmost parts, for the grate of brass: to be places, for the bars. And he made the bars of Shittim wood: and overlaid them with brass. And he put in the bars into the rings, on the sides of the Altar, to bear it withal: hollow, with boards made he it.

And he made the Laver of brass, and the foot of it of brass: of the looking-glasses of the women assembling-by-troops, which assembled-by-troops, at the door of the Tent of the congregation.

And he made the Court, for the Southside south-ward; the tapestry-hangings of the Court, were of fine-linen twined; an hundred cubits. Their pillars twenty; & their sockets twenty, of brass: the hooks of the pillars and their fillets of silver. And for the North side, an hundred cubits; their pillars twenty, and their sockets twenty of brass: the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets, of silver. And on the Sea side, tapestry-hangings, of fifty cubits; their pillars ten, and their sockets ten: the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets of silver. And on the East side eastward, fifty cubits. The tapestry hangings of fifteen cubits, for the side: their pillars three, and their sockets three. And for the second side, on this hand and on that, for the gate of the court: tapestry-hangings, of fifteen cubits; their pillars three, and their sockets three. All the tapestry hangings of the Court round-about, were of fine linen twined. And the sockets for the pillars, were of brass, the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets of silver, and the overlaying of their chapiters of silver: & they were filleted with silver, all the pillars of the Court. And the hanging-veil for the gate of the Court, was the work of the Embroiderer, of blew, and purple, and scarlet, and fine-linen twined: and twenty cubits was the length; and the height in the breadth, five cubits, answerable to the tapestry-hangings of the Court. And their pillars were four, and [unspec] their sockets four, of brass: their hooks of silver, and the overlaying of their chapiters, and their fillets of silver. And all the pins of the Tabernacle, and of the Court round-about, were of brass.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

These are the counted-things of the Tabernacle, of the Tabernacle of testimony, as it was counted by the mouth of Moses, for the service of the Levites, by the hand of Ithamar, son of Aaron the Priest. And Bezaleel, the son of Vri, the son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah, made all that Jehovah commanded Moses. And with him, Aholiab son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan, an engraver & a cunning-workman: and an Embroiderer, in blew, and in purple, & in scarlet, and in fine-linen. All the gold that was occupied for the work, in all the work of the Sanctuary: even the gold of the offering, was nine and twenty talents, and seven hundred & thirty shekels, by the shekel of the Sanctuary. And the silver, of them that were numbered of the congregation, was an hundred talents: and a thousand and seven hundred and seventy and five shekels, by the shekel of the Sanctuary. A Bekah for a poll, half a shekel, by the shekel of the sanctuary: for everyone that passed unto them that were numbered from twenty years old and upward; for six hundred thousand, and three thousand, and five hundred, and fifty. And the hundred talents of silver, was to cast the sockets of the Sanctuary, & the sockets of the veil: an hundred sockets, of the hundred talents, a talent for a socket. And of the thousand and seven hundred and seventy and five shekels: he made hooks for the pillars: and overlaid their chapiters, and filleted them. And the brass of the offering, was seventy talents, and two thousand and four hundred shekels. And therewith he made the sockets for the door of the Tent of the congregation, and the altar of brass, and the grate of brass, which was for it: and all the vessels of the altar. And the sockets of the Court, round-about, and the sockets of the gate of the Court: and all the pins of the Tabernacle, and all the pins of the Court, round-about.

The same word is used again in 1 Sam. 2. 22. of women that assembled-by-troops at the door of the Tabernacle: that is, came to pray, as the Chaldee there also saith. So Anna in the Temple served God with fastings and prayers night and day, Luk. 2. 37. and Paul speaketh of the desolate widow, that trusteth in God, and continueth in supplications and prayers night and day, 1 Tim. 5. 5. And Paul saith to Timothy, that thou by them mightest war a good war-fare, 1 Tim. 1. 18. so that this phrase is usual, to signify the service of God. Now of the brazen looking-glasses of these religious women, was the Laver made: who gave the instruments whereby they dressed their bodies, to make the instrument whereby through faith they might sanctify their souls. #### CHAP. XXXIX.

1, The making of the garments of ministry, and holy garments for the Priests. 2, The Ephod. 8, The Brest-plate. 10, The setting of the twelve precious stones, in four rouse, upon it. 15, The chains, ouches, and rings of it. 22, The Robe of the Ephod, with the pomgranats, and bells, on the skirts thereof. 27, The Coats, Miter, Bonnets, and Girdle of fine-linen. 30, The plate of the holy Crown, tied to the Miter. 32, All the work is finished, 33, and brought unto Moses by the particulars. 43. Moses vieweth all the work, and seeing it to be done as the Lord had commanded, he blesseth them.

AND of the blew, and purple, and scarlet, they made the garments of ministry, to minister in the Holy-place: and made the garments of holiness, which were for Aaron, as Jehovah commanded Moses.

And he made the Ephod of gold, of blew, and purple, and scarlet, and fine-linen twined. And they did beat-thin, the plates of gold: and he cut wiers, to work it in the blew, and in the purple, and in the scarlet, and in the fine-linen: with the work of a cunning-workman. They made shoulder. pieces for it, joining together, at the two edges thereof, it was joined together. And the curious-girdle of his Ephod, which was upon it, was of the same, according to the work thereof; of gold, of blew, and purple and scarlet, and fine-linen twined, as Jehovah commanded Moses.

And they wrought Beryl stones enclosed, in ouches of gold: engraven, like the engravings of a signet; with the names of the Sons of Israel. And he put them on the shoulders of the Ephod, stones of memorial, for the sons of Israel: as Jehovah commanded Moses.

And he made the Brestplate, the work of a cunning-workman, like the work of the Ephod: of gold, of blew, and purple, and scarlet, and fine-linen twined. It was four-square; doubled did they make the Brestplate; a span the length thereof, and a span the breadth thereof, doubled. And they embossed in it, four rouse of stones, a row, a Sardius, a Topaz, and a Smaragd; the first row. And the second row, a Chalcedonie, a Sapphire, and a Sardonyx. And the third row: an Hyacinth, a Chrysoprase, and an Amethyst. And the fourth row, a Chrysolite, a Beryl and a Jasper: enclosed in ouches of gold, in their embossments. And the stones were with the names of the sons of Israel: twelve, according to their names: like the engravings of a signet, every-man with his name, according to the twelve tribes. And they made upon the Brestplate, chains at the end of wreathen work, of pure gold. And they made two ouches of gold, and two rings of gold: and put the two rings upon the two ends of the Brestplate. And they put the two wreathings of gold in the two rings, on the ends of the Brestplate. And the two ends of the two wreathings, they fastened on the two ouches: and put them on the shoulders of the Ephod, before it. And they made two rings of gold, & put them upon the two ends of the Brestplate, upon the border thereof, which was in the side of the Ephod, inward. And they made two (other) rings of gold, and put them on the two shoulders of the Ephod underneath towards the forepart thereof, overagainst the coupling thereof, above the curious-girdle of the Ephod. And they did bind the Brestplate, by the rings thereof, unto the rings of the Ephod, with a lace of blew, to be above the curious-girdle of the Ephod, and that the Brestplate might not be loosed, from the Ephod: as Jehovah commanded Moses.

And he made the Robe of the Ephod, of woven work: all of blew. And there was a hole of the Robe in the midst thereof, as the hole of an habergeon: with a binding for the hole thereof, round about, that it should not be rent. And they made upon the skirts of the Robe, pomgranats, of blew, and purple, and scarlet: twisted. And they made bells of pure gold: & put the bells between the pomgranats, upon the skirts of the Robe, round-about, between the pomgranats. A bell and a pomgranat, a bell and a pomgranat, upon the skirts of the Robe, round-about, to minister in: as Jehovah commanded Moses.

And they made Coats of fine-linen, of woven work, for Aaron, and for his sons. And a Miter of fine-linen, and goodly-ornaments, Bonnets of fine-linen: and linen breeches of fine-linen twined. And a girdle of fine-linen twined, and of blew, and purple, and scarlet, the work of the Embroiderer: as Jehovah commanded Moses.

And they made the Plate of the crown of holiness, of pure gold: and wrote upon it a writing, like the ingravings of a signet; HOLINESSE TO JEHOVAH. And they put upon it a lace of blew, to put it upon the Miter, on high: as Jehovah commanded Moses.

And all the work of the Tabernacle of the Tent of the Congregation, was finished: and the sons of Israel did; according to all that Jehovah commanded Moses, so did they. And they brought the Tabernacle unto Moses; the Tent, and all the instruments thereof: the taches thereof, the boards thereof, the bars thereof; and the pillars thereof, and the sockets thereof. And the covering of Rams skins, died-red; and the covering of Tachash skins: and the veil of the covering. The Ark of the Testimony, and the bars thereof; and the Covering-mercy-seat. The Table, and all the vessels thereof; and the Shew bread. The pure Candlestick, with the lamps thereof, the lamps to be set-in-order, & all the vessels thereof: and the oil, for the light. And the Altar of gold; and the oil of anointing, & the incense of sweet-spices: and the hanging-veil, for the door of the Tent. The Altar of brass; and the grate of brass, which was for it; the bars thereof, and all the vessels thereof: the Laver, and the foot thereof. The tapestry-hangings of the Court, the pillars thereof, and the sockets thereof; and the hanging-veil for the gate of the court, the cords thereof, and the pins thereof: and all the vessels of the service of the Tabernacle, for the Tent of the Congregation. The garments of ministry, to minister in the Holy-place: the garments of holiness for Aaron the Priest; and the garments of his sons, to minister-in-the-priests-office. According to all that Jehovah commanded Moses; so the sons of Israel, made all the work. And Moses saw all the work; and behold they had done it; as Jehovah had commanded, so had they done: and Moses blessed them.

CHAP. XL.

1, The Lord commandeth the Tabernacle to be reared. 4 and things to be set in order therein, 8, and the Court to be set about it. 9, The Tabernacle and all the vessels thereof, the Altar and Laver, to be anointed with oil. 12, Aaron and his sons to be washed, clothed, anointed, sanctified. 16, Moses obeyeth, and reareth up the Tabernacle, 21, carrieth in the Ark, 22, placeth the Table, 24, and the Candlestick, 26, and the golden Altar, 29, and the brazen Altar, 30, and the Laver, 33, and rear 〈...〉 up the Court 34. A cloud covereth the Tabernacle and God's glory filleth it. 38. The cloud was on the Tabernacle by day, and fire by night continually.

ANd Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying: In the day of the first month, in the first of the month: thou shalt rear-up the Tabernacle, the Tent of the Congregation. And thou shalt put there, the Ark of the Testimony: and cover the Ark with the veil. And thou shalt bring in the Table, and set-in-order the order thereof: and thou shalt bring-in the Candlestick; & cause to ascend, the lamps thereof. And thou shalt set, the Altar of gold, for the incense; before the Ark of the testimony: and put the hanging-veil of the door, to the Tabernacle. And thou shalt set the altar of the burnt-offring, before the door of the Tabernacle of the Tent of the Congregation. And thou shalt set the Laver, between the Tent of the Congregation, and the altar: and shalt put water there. And thou shalt set the Court, round-about: and put the hanging-veil, at the gate of the Court. And thou shalt take the oil of anointing, and anoint the Tabernacle, and all that is therein: and shalt sanctify it, and all the vessels thereof, and it shall be holy. And thou shalt anoynt the Altar of the burnt-offering, and all the vessels thereof: and shalt sanctify the Altar, and the Altar shall be Holy of holies. And thou shalt anoynt the Laver, and the foot thereof: and sanctify it. And thou shalt bring-near Aaron & his sons, unto the door of the Tent of the congregation: & wash them, with water. And thou shalt cloth Aarō with the garmēt̄s of holiness: and shalt anoint him, and sanctify him, & he shall minister-in-the-priests-office unto me. And thou shalt bring-near, his sons; and clothe them, with coats. And thou shalt anoint them, as thou didst anoint their father; and they shall minister-in-the-priests-office unto me: and their anointing, shall be, to be unto them, for an eternal priesthood, throughout their generations. And Moses did, according to all that Jehovah commanded him, so did he.

And it was in the first month, in the second year, in the first (day) of the month: the Tabernacle was reared up. And Moses reared-up the Tabernacle; and set the sockets thereof, and set-up the boards thereof, and put-in the bars thereof: and reared-up the pillars thereof. And he spread abroad the Tent, over the Tabernacle; and put the covering of the Tent upon it, above: as Jehovah commanded Moses.

And he took, and put the Testimony into the Ark, and set the bars on the Ark: and put the Covering-mercy-seat, above, upon the Ark. And he brought the Ark into the Tabernacle: and set up the veil of the covering; and covered the ark of the Testimony: as Jehovah commanded Moses.

And he put the Table in the Tent of the Congregation; upon the side of the Tabernacle, Northward: without the veil. And he set-in-order upon it, the order of bread, before Jehovah: as Jehovah commanded Moses.

And he put the Candlestick in the Tent of the congregation; over-against the Table: on the side of the Tabernacle, Southward. And he caused the lamps to ascend before Jehovah: as Jehovah commanded Moses.

And he put the altar of gold, in the Tent of the congregation: before the veil. And he burned thereon, incense of sweet-spices: as Jehovah commanded Moses.

And he set-up the hanging-veil of the door of the Tabernacle. And the altar of the burnt-offering, he put at the door of the Tabernacle of the Tent of the Congregation: and offered upon it, the burnt-offering, and the meat-offering; as Jehovah commanded Moses.

And he set the Laver, between the tent of the Congregation, and the altar: and put water there, to wash. And Moses, and Aaron, and his sons, washed thereat, their hands and their feet. When they went into the Tent of the Congregation, and when they came near unto the altar, they washed: as Jehovah commanded Moses.

And he reared up the Court; round-about the Tabernacle, and the altar, and set up the hanging veil, at the gate of the Court; and Moses finished the work.

And the cloud covered the Tent of the Congregation, and the glory of Jehovah, filled the Tabernacle. And Moses was not able to enter into the Tent of the congregation: because the cloud dwelt upon it: and the glory of Jehovah, filled the Tabernacle. And when the cloud was taken-up, from over the Tabernacle; the sons of Israel journeyed in all their journeys. But if the cloud were not taken-up: then they journeyed not, till the day that it was taken-up. For the cloud of Jehovah was upon the Tabernacle by day; and fire was on it by night: in the eyes of all the house of Israel, in all their journeys.

Annotations.

IN the day] to wit, the first day: so the Greek explains it, In the first day of the first month, in the new Moon. Among the Jews, the months of the year, were the months of the Moon: as their years were the years of the Sun: Maimonides in treat. of Sanctifying the new Moon, chap. 1. And all new Moons (or first days of the Months) were solemn feasts unto Israel, Num. 28. 11. 14. Psalm. 81. 3. This (which was the first month of the second year, after their coming out of Egypt) was solemnized the first day, by the rearing up of the Tabernacle, here described; which being done, the Princes of Israel, brought offerings of wagons and oxen for the service of the Tabernacle; and other offerings for the dedicating of the Altar, which solemnity dured twelve days, Num. 7. On the fourteenth day of this month, the Israelites kept the feast of the Passover in the wilderness, Num. 9. 1. 2. 3. The new Moon following, which was on the first day of the second month, the Israelites were numbered, and their Tents set in order four-square, round about the Tabernacle, Num. 1. 1. 2. &c. and 2. 2. 3. &c. and all unclean persons, were put out of the Camp, Numb. 5. 2. 3. 4. On the twentieth day of that month, the Cloud rethet Tabernacle now reared up, was then taken down again, and the Israelites took their journeys out of the wilderness of Sinai, Num. 10. 11. In the mean space, God by voice out of the most holy of the tabernacle, taught Moses and Israel all those laws, for sacrificing, cleansing, and other religious duties, w<sup>ch</sup> are written in the whole book of Leviticus, and the nine first Chapters of Numbers, Lev. 1. 1. &c. Num. 1. 1. &c. of the Congregation] or, of the meeting: where-God met wth his people, Ex. 25. 22. & 30. 36. Elsewhere it is named the Tent of the testimony (or Tabernacle of witness) Num. 9. 15. & 17. 7. 8. so in the New Testament, Act. 7. 44 Rev. 15. 5. because the Tables of Testimony were kept in the Ark therein, Exod. 25. 16. and so the Greek translateth it in this place.

Ver. 3. cover the Ark,] that is, hide it from the eyes of men, by hanging the veil before it: which parted the most holy place from the holy. Hereupon it is called the covering veil, Numb. 4. 5. The mystery of this veil is noted on Ex. 26. 33.

V. 4. the order] or the disposition thereof, that is, the shewbread; which was weekly to be set in two rows upon it: see Ex. 25. 30. The Gr. translath, shalt propose the proposition, meaning the bread of propositiō or show-bread; so called in Matt. 12. 4. cause to ascend] that is, to burn; or shalt light: see Exodus 25. 37. and 27. 20.

V. 5. set] Heb. shalt give, which is used for setting, placing, disposing, &c. often in this chapter, and else-where: see Gen. 1. 17. hanging-veil] or coveringveil: which hindered the people from entering or seeing into the holy place; see Exod. 26. 36.

Ver. 6. Tabernacle of the Tent] so called because the Tabernacle was overspread, and covered with the Tent, as v. 19. and Ex. 26. 7. and so it was an overspread and covered Tabernacle, signifying God's Church, by his providence covered & protected. A like phrase is in Rev. 15. 5. the Temple of the tent of the testimony in heaven was opened. For Moses Tabernacle is also called a Temple (or Palace.) as 1 Sam. 1. 9. and 3. 3. Psal. 27. 4. and 138. 2.

V. 7. there] that is, therein, as the Gr. translath in it; so v. 30. See Exod. 30. 18.

V. 8. hanging veil] or, covering: see Ex. 27. 16. [unspec 8]

V. 9. oil] whereof see Ex. 30. 23. &c. Levite. 8. 10. Num. 7. 1. holy] Hebr. holiness. [unspec 9]

V. 10. holy of holies] Hebrew, holiness of holinesses, that is, most holy; as that which hallowed the sacrifices: see Exod. 29. 37.

V. 15. eternal priesthood] so that their children after the should not need to be anointed, but administer by reason of this first unction of their fathers: only the high Priests were anointed in the generations following, Lev. 4. 3. See the notes on Exod. 30. 33.

V. 17. second year] to wit, after they were come out of Egypt; as the Gr. version here addeth for explanation: and as Moses speaketh in Num. 9. 1. first of the month] that is, the first day of it: as the first of the feast, Matt. 26. 17. is expounded, the first day of the feast, Mark. 14. 12. The Greek saith, in the New moon: see the annotations on v. 2.

V. 18. the Tabernacle] a visible sign of God's presence, dwelling with & governing his Church in Christ, Lev. 26. 11. Eze. 3. 27. 28. as it is said, I heard a great voice out of heaven, saying; Behold the Tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, & they shall be his people, & God himself will be with them, &c. Rev. 21. 3. set] or fastened: Heb gave; which is used for a firm setting or stablishing, as is noted on Gen. 1. 17. This setting of the sockets, with the boards bars, and pillars, signified the stability of the Church, and members thereof, grounded and stablished by faith in Christ, Isaiah 33. 20. and 14. 32. 1. Tim. 3. 15.

V. 19. the Tent] in Gr. the curtains: which were of two sorts, some of white, blew, purple, and scarlet, cunningly wrought with Cherubims, & coupled together: others, of Goats hair, Exod. 26. 1. 7. the covering] both that of rams skins, and the other of Tachash skins, Ex. 26. 14. This tent & covering, shadowed the heavenly graces wherewith Christ and his Church in him are adorned, their uniting together by the Spirit, through faith and love; and their safe protection: though these things veiled and obscure. See the notes on Exod. 26.

V. 20. the Testimony] the two tables of God's law, Ex. 25. 16. Covering-mercy-seat] a figure of Christ, in whose heart was God's law; by whom our transgressions of the Law are covered, and the word of grace from God cometh unto us: see Ex. 25. 17.

V. 21. covered the Ark] hid it with the veil hanged before it. A figure of Christ's flesh, veiling the divine things in him, till he entered through it into the holy heavens, and opened a way for his Church thereinto, Heb. 10. 19. 20. Rev. 11. 19.

Ver. 23. the order of bread] that is, the bread set in order, called in Gr. the bread of proposition, and so in Mat. 12. 4. but Paul nameth it the proposition of bread Heb. 9. 2. which we call Shew-bread: twelve cakes representing the twelve tribes, that is, all believers presented pure unto God in Christ: see Ex. 25. 30.

Vers. 24. the Candlestick] a figure of the Law, which giveth light to his people standing before God in his sanctuary, Psal. 119. 105. See the notes on Exod 25. 31. &c.

Ver. 25. to ascend] that is, to burn and shine, as v. 4. representing the seven Spirits of Christ, whereby (through the oil of his grace) his word shineth unto his Church, Rev. 4. 5.

Ver. 26. Altar of gold] figuring Christ's mediation for his Church, whereby they and their prayers are presented as sweet odors unto God. See the notes on Ex. 30. These all being in the most holy, and holy places, hidden with veils from the eyes of the people, signified the obscurity of the heavenly mysteries of the Gospel, before the veil of Christ's flesh was rent, & the treasures of his grace more fully opened, Heb. 10. 1. Rom. 16. 25. 26. Ephes. 3. 5.

Ver. 29. the altar of burnt-offering] the brazen Altar, standing in the open Court, for all to see: whereupon the daily sacrifices (figuring Christ's death and sufferings) were burned: to lead the Church unto the expectation of his body to be offered for us, and our bodies by him unto God, Heb. 10. 5. 6. 7. Rom. 12. 1.

Ver. 30. The Laver] a figure of the sanctification of the Church, washed frō their sins by the blood of Christ; that they may come near unto God, Heb. 10. 22. Rev. 1. 5. 6. Tit. 3. 5.

Vers. 33. the Court] an holy inclosure, for the Church to be kept in pure; when they came to appear before God. And here was the finishing of the work of the sanctuary: about which thus erected, first the tribe of Levi, Numb. 1. 50. and behind them, the other tribes of Israel pitched their Tents in holy order appointed of God, in a four square form, (Num. 2.) such as is the form of the heavenly Jerusalem, Revel. 21. 16. which Tents were also holy, & might have no unclean person within them, Num. 5. 2. (as nothing that defileth, may be in the new Ierusalē, the Church of Christ, Rev. 21. 27.) and unto which Tents or campe, the earthly Jerusalem, (the holy city, Neh. 11. 1.) was answerable. For some open unclean, might not be in the campe, or city: others though in the campe, might not come into the Lord's Court, & of those in his court, none entered into the sanctuary but the Priests: & of thē, none into the most holy of the sanctuary, but the high priest, once in the year, He. 9. 6. 7. because holiness becōmeth the House of the Lord, forever, Ps. 93. 5. and the nearer they come unto him, the more they ought for to be sanctified, Lev. 10. 2. 3. & 16. 2. 3. &c. So after that Israel came into Canaan, and had there a temple; they had degrees of holy places: both of thē are described by the Heb. thus: Three Camps were in the wilderness; the campe of Israel, which was in four camps, [Num. 2.] the camp of Levi, [Numb. 1. 50.] and the campe of the Divine Majesty; which was from the door of the Court of the Tabernacle of the congregation, and forward. And answerable unto thē, in the ages following, frō the gates of Jerusalem, unto the mountain of the Temple, was as the camp of Israel: & from the gates of the mountain of the Temple, unto the door of the Court, (which was the gate of Nicanor) was as the Campe of Levi: and from the door of the court & forward, was the camp of God's Majesty Maim. in Beth habchirah, c. 7. s. 11. Other like differences of holiness of places they also observe: which are to be mentioned elsewhere.

V. 34. the cloud] a testimony of God's presence and approbation, who thus took (as it were) possession of the Tabernacle, to dwell therein amongst his people; but with an hiding of his glory and power. So when Solomon had built the Temple, the cloud filled the house; then spake Solomon; The LORD said, that he would dwell in the thick darkness, 1 Kin. 8. 10. 12. But when God's presence was with displeasure for the sins of the people, it was signified by a smoke filling the Temple, Esa. 6. 4. Rev. 15. 8, for smoke was a sign of anger, Psal. 18. 9. Isaiah 14 31. glory] a sign of God's glorious presence, who now came to dwell there, as he had promised Exod. 25. 8. So in 2 Chron. 5. 14. and Ezek. 43. 4. 5. where it is opened by God himself thus; Son of man, the place of my throne, and the place of the soles of my feet, where I will dwell in the midst of the sons of Israel forever, &c. Ezek. 43. 7. So the holy Jerusalem, hath the glory of God, Rev. 21. 11.

Vers. 35. dwelt] that is, abode or continued; and as the Greek translateth, over-shadowed it. And in that Moses could not now go into the Tent, nor the priests into the Temple, 2 Chron. 5. 14. and 7. 2. it showeth the weakness and unworthiness of all flesh, to come into the presence of God: who therefore gave a Law, that the high Priest himself should not at all times come into the holy place within the veil, &c. that he died not; because God would appear in the cloud upon the Mercy-seat, Lev. 16. 2.

Vers. 36. journeyed in all their journeys] and in the place where the cloud abode, there the sons of Israel pitched their tents. Al the days that the cloud dwelled upon the Tabernacle, (whether it were a day or days, or a Moneth, or a year) they rested in the tents, and journeyed not; when the cloud was taken up, whether it were by day or by night, then they journeyed. At the mouth of the Lord they pitched their tents, and at the mouth of the Lord they journeyed; they kept the charge (or watch) of the Lord, Num. 9. 17. 23. This token of God's guidance and protection of his people, continued with Israel whiles they travelled in the wilderness: which grace, the generations following, remembered to the praise of God, Neh. 9. 19. Ps. 78. 14. and 105. 39.

V. 38. the cloud of Jehovah] which in Targum Yerushalmi is called the cloud of the glory of Shekhinah (the Divine presence) of the Lord. and fire] At evening, there was upon the Tabernacle as it were the appearance of fire until the morning: so it was always; the cloud covered it (by day) and the appearance of fire by night, Numb. 9. 15. 16. Hereby was figured the guidance and protection of the Church by Christ under the Gospel; whereof it is written, The Lord will create upon every dwelling place of mount Zion, and upon her assemblies, a Cloud and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fire by night: for upon all the glory shall be a defense, Isaiah 4. 5.

The number of the Sections (or Lectures) in Exodus, are eleven: the verses 1209. The midst is at Exodus 22. 28.

THE THIRD BOOKE OF MOSES, CALLED LEVITICVS.

CHAPTER I.

1, God giveth by Moses a Law unto Israel, touching the Burnt-offerings, 3, of the herd, 10, of the flock, 13, of the fowls.

AND he called, unto Moses: and Jehovah spake unto him out of the Tent of the Congregation, saying. Speak unto the sons of Israel, & say unto thē; when any man of you, shall offer an oblation, to Jehovah: of the cattle, of the herd, & of the flock, ye shall offer your oblation. If his oblation be a Burnt-offering of the herd; let him offer it, a male perfect: at the door of the Tent of the congregation, shall he offer it: for his favorable acceptation, before Jehovah. And he shall lay his hand, upon the head of the Burnt-offering: and it shall be favourably accepted for him, to make-atonement for him. And he shall kill the youngling of the herd, before Jehovah: and the sons of Aaron, the Priests, shall bring near the blood, and shall sprinkle the blood upon the Altar round about: which is by the door of the Tent of the congregation. And he shall flay the Burnt-offering: and shall cut it, into the pieces thereof. And the sons of Aaron the priest, shall put fire, upon the Altar: and shall lay the wood in order, upon the fire. And the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall lay in order the pieces, the head, & the fat: upon the wood w<sup>ch</sup> is on the fire, which is upon the altar. And the inwards thereof, and the legs thereof, he shall wash in water: and the priest, shall burn all upon the Altar; it is a Burnt-offering, a Fire-offering, of a favor of rest, unto Jehovah.

And if his oblation be of the flock: of the sheep or of the goats, for a Burnt-offering: he shall offer it, a male perfect. And he shall kill it, at the side of the altar, northward, before Jehovah: and the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall sprinkle the blood thereof upon the altar, round about. And he shall cut it into the pieces thereof, and the head thereof, and the fat thereof: and the Priest shall lay them in order; upon the wood, which is on the fire, which is upon the altar. And the inwards and the legs, he shall wash in water: and the Priest shall offer all, and burn it upon the altar: it is a Burnt-offering, a Fire-offering, of a savor of rest, unto Jehovah.

And if the Burnt-offering his oblation to Jehovah, be of the fowl: then he shall offer his oblation, of turtle-doves, or of young pigeons. And the Priest shall bring it near, unto the altar; and he shall cut-with his nail the head thereof, and burn it on the altar: and the blood thereof, shall be wrung out, upon the side of the altar. And he shall pluck away the crop thereof, with the feathers of the same: and shall cast it beside the altar, eastward; into the place of the ashes. And he shall cleave it, with the wings thereof, he shall not divide-it-asunder: and the Priest shall burn it, upon the altar; upon the wood which is upon the fire: it is a Burnt-offering, a Fire offering, of a savor of rest, unto Jehovah.

Annotations.

LEviticus] this name the book hath from the Greek translation; because it chiefly treateth of the service and sacrifices, which the Levites used in the Tabernacle. The Hebrew name, is of the first word of the book Vajikra, that is, And he called. See the like noted upon Genesis & Exodus.

Vers. 1. And he] namely the Lord (whose glory had filled the Tabernacle, Exod. 40. 35.) called unto Moses. So the Greek also explaineth it: and Targum Yerushalmi thus, And the word of the Lord called unto Moses. This book is by the word And, joined to the former, as a continuance of the history. And here beginneth the 24. Section or lecture of the Law, whereof see, Gen. 6. 9. called] The last letter of this word, in Hebrew is written extraordinarily small; where in the Hebrew Doctors suppose some mystery to be implied. The manner of calling, was by a voice from the mercy-seat upon the Ark, Numb. 7. 89. Exod. 25. 22. that being a figure of Christ, signified how God by him would teach Israel, how they should serve him in spirit and truth, John. 1. 17. Heb. 1. 1. And God spake not with a loud thundering voice, as he did on mount Sinai, but with a soft low voice: which the small letter seemeth to intimate. The phrase he called, and Jehovah's name being mentioned after, is like that in Exod. 24. 1. he said, come up unto Jehovah. Tent] or as the Chaldee translateth it Tabernacle, where God and his people met at appointed times, as he promised, Exodus 25. 22. and 30. 36. In Greek it is, the Tent, (or Tabernacle) of testimony: by which name Moses also calleth it, in Numb. 1. 53. and Stephen, in Act. 7. 44. As the Tabernacle principally figured Christ, Heb. 9. 11. John. 2. 19 21. so God speaking now from it, who before had spoken on mount Sinai, signified how in the last days he would speak unto us in the Son, who by himself should purge our sins, Heb. 1. 1. 2. 3.

Vers. 2. offer an oblation] or, an offering, or bring near a gift: called in Hebrew Corban, of coming near unto God thereby: the Greek usually translatheth it doron, a gift; and so doth the Holy Ghost in Mark. 7. 11. Mat. 5. 23. and 8. 4. and 23. 18. Hebr. 5 1. And to bring-near, to weete, unto God, is to offer unto him: for one of these, is used for another; as in 1 Chor. 16. 1. they brought near Burntofferings: for which in 2 Sam. 6. 17. is written, David offered Burnt offerings. These offerings under the Law, were figures of Christ's offering, who gave himself for us, Heb. 10. and by whom we also present our bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, Rom. 12. 1. and do draw nigh unto God, Heb. 7. 19. and offer by him, the sacrifice of praise unto God, continually, Heb. 9. 11. 12. 14. and 13. 15. For the legal sacrifices, could not make him that did the service, perfect as pertaining to the conscience, Heb. 9. 9. And so the wise among the Hebrews do acknowledge their ignorance concerning the truth of these mysteries, until the spirit from above be poured out upon them: yet supposing that they signified the offerings which Michael offereth of the souls of the just; as saith R. Menachem on Levite. 1. But unto us the Apostles have opened these parables, and shown their full accomplishment by Michael, that is, Christ, Heb. 7. and 8. and 9. and 10. Rev. 12. 7. the herd] or, the Beeves, or Bulls, as the Chaldee expounds them. These cattle of the herd and flock, were the principal sacrifices, both among Jews and Gentiles: as the law here, and Balaam's history, Numb. 23. 1. 14. 29. and heathen writers manifest. Homer, Iliad. 1. flock] the word comprehendeth sheep and goats, as is explained in verse 10. No beasts might be sacrificed to God, but these three sorts, beeves, sheep, or goats: nor any fowls, but turtle-doves and pigeons, verse 14. These five kinds of living creatures, (which only might be offered to God,) are of the most tame and meek, profitable and serviceable, harmless, sociable, &c. and so were fittest to signify the like things, in Christ and his people. God appointed not that men should be killed for sacrifices, (although the heathens and idolatrous Israelites sometimes killed such, Psalm. 106. 37. 38.) because as it was not possible that the blood of Bulls and of Goats should take away sins, Heb. 10. 4 so neither could the blood of men: but God (that is, Christ,) was to purchase his Church with his own blood, Act. 20. 28.

Verse 3. Burnt-offering] called in Hebrew G (⋯) lah, [unspec] that is, an Ascension; in Greek Holocaustoma (Hebrews 10. 6.) that is, an whole-burnt-offering: this was the first and principal sacrifice, wherewith God was served every day by the Church of Israel, Numbers 28. 3. The reason of the name is shown on Genesis 8. 20. where also it appeareth, that this kind of sacrifice was not now first instituted, but observed from the beginning: and kept among the Gentiles, Numbers 23. 1. 2. 3. 2 Kings 3. 27. and 5. 17. The signification was of Christ, that through the eternal spirit offered himself, unto God, Hebrews 9. 14. and 10. 8. 10. and of Christians, that present their bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is their reasonable service. Romans 12. 1. There were five sorts of sacrifices ordinary, instituted of God: Burnt-offerings (commanded here,) Meatofferings (in Leviticus 2.) Peace-offerings, (in Leviticus 3.) Sin-offerings, (in Leviticus 4.) and Trespass-offerings (in Leviticus 5. 15. &c.) a male] so must all burnt offerings of beasts be, verse 10. but the like is not said of the fowls, verse 14. And by the Jewish canons, the fowls might be male or female, Maimonides, in Mis. tom. 3. in Maasch hakorbanoth (or treat. of offering the Sacrifices,) Chapt. 1. Sect. 8. perfect] not having any deformity, want or superfluity of parts without or within; nor other corruption. The Greek translatheth it, without blemish: set the notes on Exodus 12. 5. and Leviticus 22. 21. Thus are we to understand the Prophet, when he saith, Cursed be the deceiver which hath in his flock a male, [that is, a perfect male,] and voweth, and sacrificeth unto the Lord a corrupt thing, Malac. 1. 14. It figured Christ's perfection in himself, and ours in him, Heb. 9. 13. 14. Ephes. 5. 27. and teacheth us to honor God with our best things, and to serve him with a perfect heart, 1 Chron. 28. 9. at the door] within the court, where the Altar was, verse. 5. see this law explained in Leviticus 17. 3. 4. &c. As it was the way of honor unto God, for the Offerer to bring his sacrifice himself unto the Sanctuary, and not to send the Priest to take a beast out of his house and offer it for him: so the door might also lead them unto Christ (who saith, I am the door of the sheep, John 10. 7.) by whom we enter into the holy place, Heb. 10. 19. 20. His body was the true Tabernacle and Temple, called a greater and more perfect tabernacle, which the Lord pitched & not man, Heb. 9. 11. and 8. 2. John. 2. 19. 21. The Church was secondarily figured by the Temple and Tabernacle, Ephesians 2. 21. 22. for his favorable-acceptation] or, for acceptation of him; that he and his offering may be favourably accepted of God. This sense, both the Greek and Chaldee versions yield, also the old Latin: and the promise in verse 4. confirmeth it; and the like phrase in Leviticus 23. 11. is so interpreted of all: the contrary whereof, is in Jeremiah 6. 20. Your Burnt-offerings are not to favorable-acceptation: that is, they are not acceptable. And the Apostle exhorteth, present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, Romans 12. 1. Some take the words of this Law here to mean, according to the good will of him that offereth; that he should not sacrifice to God by compulsion, but of his own voluntary will, for God loveth a cheerful giver, 2 Corinth. 9. 7. In the former sense, it taught men to offer in the faith of Christ, without which it is impossible to please God. Hebrews 11. 6. and by faith, Abel offered unto God, a more excellent sacrifice then Cain, Hebr. 11. 4.

Vers. 4. shall lay his hand] or, impose his hand; and by hand seemeth to be meant his hands; as else-where is expressed, Leviticus 16. 21. The man that brought the offering, was to lay or impose hands himself upon it while it was alive; thereby disburdening himself of sin, and laying it upon the sacrifice, Leviticus 16. 21. and testifying his faith in Christ the true sacrifice to be slain for him. The Hebrew Doctors say, All oblations of beasts, which a particular person offereth either of debt or voluntarily, he layeth hands on them whiles they are alive; except it be the first-borne, and the tithe, and the Passover. All do impose hands, excepting the deaf, the fool, and a child, and a servant, and a woman, and the blind, and the stranger. Neither may a messenger impose hands, for there is no imposition but by the owners; as it is written, AND HEE SHALL LAY HIS HAND; not his wives hand, nor his servants, nor his messengers. Five that bring one sacrifice, all do lay hands upon it, one after another, not all together. Who so dieth, and leaveth oblations, burnt-offering, or peace-offerings; his heir is to bring the same, and lay hands upon it, &c. There is no imposition of hands on the sacrifices of the Congregation, save two; on the scape Goat, Leviticus 16. 21. and the Sin-offering, Leviticus 4. 15. They lay on no hands but in the court: if they do it without the court, they must lay on hands again within. And in the place where they impose hands, they kill it. And the killing is immediately after the imposition. And he that imposeth, must do it with all his might, with both his hands upon the head of the beast, not upon the neck or sides: and nothing may be between his hands and the beast. He layeth his hands between the two horns, and confesseth upon the sinoffring, the iniquity of sin, and upon the trespasseoffring, the iniquity of trespass: and upon the burnt offering he confesseth the iniquity of doing that he should not, and not doing that he ought, & Maimonides, in treat. of offering sacrifices, Chapt. 3. Sect. 6. 8. 9. &c. But as for sacrifices of fowls (verse 14.) there was no charge to impose hands on them: Maimonides, ibidem, Sect. 7. make-atonement] or, expiate, make-reconciliation, which is usually meant in regard of man's sin, and God's wrath for the same, Leviticus 4. 20. &c. The Hebrew Capper, signifieth covering; not as with a garment (which may easily be taken off,) but as with plaster that cleaveth, Genesis 6. 14. and is applied to the covering, that is, the appeasing of an angry countenance, Genesis 32. 20. and so for the anger of God, which is appeased by the burnt-offering of Christ's body, for he is the Atonement (or, Reconciliation) for our sins: Dan. 9. 24. 1 John 2. 2. Heb. 10. 8. 10. Thus the Burnt-offering was for atonement and remission of sins, Job 42. 8. to weet, general sins, and such as often are unknown to men, (as Job offered burnt offerings, saying, it may be that my sons have sinned, Job 1. 5.) Whereas for special sins, there was a special sacrifice and sin-offering, Leviticus 4. And both the Burnt-offering, and Sin-offering are joined in Christ's offering up of his own body for us, Psal. 40. Hebr. 10. 5. 6. &c. Also Burnt-offerings were given in sign of thankfulness to God, and so betokened a new creature and holy life, Psalm. 51. 19. 20. 21. and 66. 13. 14. 15. Gen. 8. 20. For this cause the Burnt-offering is first taught, as being the principal and most common, offered daily for the Church: and when other sorts of sacrifices were brought, this burnt-offering was always one; See Leviticus 9. 8. 12. 15. 16. and 12. 6. and 14. 19. 20. and 16. 15. 24. Num. 6. 10. 11. and 7. 15. 16. and 29. 2. Judge. 20. 26.

Vers. 5. he shall kill] in Greek, they shall kill: meaning the Priests or Levites. For whereas it followeth, the sons of Aaron the Priests, shall offer the blood; this killing is not restrained to them as the offering of the blood, but might be performed also by the Levites, that were given to help the Priests in their service, Num. 8. 19. So though the Priests killed, in 2 Chron. 29. 24. yet the like is said also of the Levites, that they killed, and the Priests sprinkled the blood from their hands, and the Levites flayed, 2 Chron. 35. 10. 11. Also in 2 Chr. 30. 17. The Levites had the charge of the killing of the Passovers. This killing therefore, and the slaying after mentioned in verse. 6. was not strictly tied to the Priests office, as some other things were, in Numb. 3. 10. So in the Hebrew Canons they say, The killing of the holy things may be done by strangers, [such as are not of Aaron's seed,] even of the most holy things; whether they be the holy things of a particular person, or of the congregation: Maimonides in Biath hamikdash, Chap. 9. Sect. 6. The place of killing was on the North side of the Altar, V. 11. And the Jews have a tradition, that the morning sacrifice was killed at the Northwest, and the evening sacrifice at the Northeast, that it might be over against the Sun: Maimonides in Tamidin (or, treat. of the Daily sacrifices,) chap. 1. Sect. 11. The slaying of the sacrifices, figured the death of Christ, of whom it is prophesied, Messiah shall be cut off, (or slain) Daniel 9. 26. for, without shedding of blood, there is no remission. Heb. 9. 22. It figured secondly, the mortifying of God's people, by his Word, Spirit, and participation of Christ's afflictions; as, Mortify (or kill) therefore your members which are upon the earth, Colossians 3. 5. and If ye through the spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live, Roman. 8. 13. whereby is meant a ceasing from sin, 1 Peter 4. 1. 2. And, For thy sake, we are killed all the day; we are accounted as sheep of slaughter, Rom. 8 36. youngling of the herd] that is, the young bull, or calf, as the Greek translateth it: Hebrew, son of the herd: see Genesis 18. 7. In Mich. 6. 6. such sacrifices are called sons of a year, that is, young bulls, or bullocks of the first year, not older: see the notes on Exodus 12. 5. and 29. 1. before Jehovah] in the court of the Sanctuary, where all sacrifices must be slain, Levite. 17. 3. 4. and unto God only, not to creatures: for he that sacrificed to any, save unto Jehovah only, was utterly to be destroyed, Exodus 22. 20. bring near] unto the altar: or offer it. And this immediately; and out of the court it might by no means be carried. The blood of the holy things, that goeth out of the court, becomes unallowable for sacrifice; and though they bring it in again, and sprinkle it on the altar, it is not acceptable: saith Maimonides, in treat of holy things polluted, chapt. 1. Sect. 35. sprinkle] or, as the Greek translateth, pour-on; for the original word signifieth a pouring-on with sprinkling; and this was in large measure, that the corners of the Altar were filled with blood, Zach. 9. 15. Therefore the Jewish canons say, that the sacrificers were to endeavor to receive all the blood; and the sacrifices of which less blood was received then sufficed for the sprinkling, the blood was not sanctified. When the Priest took the blood in the bowle, he sprinkled thereof two sprinklings, upon the two corners of the Altar overthwartly on the northeast borne, and on the southwest horn. And this must be so thick, that by the twice sprinkling, the blood may be found on the four sides of the Altar, as it is written (Leviticus 1.) ROVND ABOUT. And the rest of the blood, is poured at the bottom of the Altar on the south side. Maimonides treat. of offering the sacrifices, chap. 4. Sect. 8. and Chapter 5. Sect. 6. This sprinkling had a foreshadowing of the sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ, 1 Peter 1. 2. Isaiah 52. 15. And unto this rite of pouring the blood at the bottom of the Altar, (commanded in Leviticus 4. 7.) that mystery hath reference, of the souls of them that were slain for the word of God, seen under the Altar, Rev. 6. 9.

Vers. 6. he shall] the Greek translateth, they shall flay; it is meant of the Priests and Levites which were to assist the Priests in offering all burnt sacrifices, 1 Chron. 23. 31. as before they helped to kill, verse 5. and as appeareth, by 2 Chronic. 29. 34. where the Priests were too few, and not able to flay all the burnt-offerings; therefore their brethren the Levites helped them. The Priest also had the skin of the burnt-offering which he offered, Leviticus 7. 8. They flayed not until the blood was sprinkled: saith Maimonides, treat. of offering the sacrifices, ch. 5. sect. 18. This flaying signified also the afflictions of Christ and his people, Mic. 3. 3. Matth. 27. 28. and the opening and making bare of the mystery of Christ by the Gospel, Galat. 3. 1. the pieces thereof] the natural pieces, or members (as the Greek translateth it,) as head, breast, legs, &c. it might not be a confused or disordered mangling. The manner of it, Maimonides showeth particularly, in his said treat. of offering sacrifices, chap. 6. where he mentioneth the cutting off of the head first, then of the legs or thighs, of the forefeet, and or the hinder feet, of the breast, of the sides, of the neck; of the Cane (or chanell bone) of the shoulder, of the Chine (or back bone,) and of the Rump. The Liver was left hanging on the right side; the heart and the lungs, on the channel bone; the milt, on the left side; and the kidneys on the rump. And to this question, why the greater members were not cut into small pieces? he answereth, because it is written, he shall cut it into the pieces thereof, and not, shall cut it into pieces. The Chaldee also here translath, he shall divide it by the members thereof. From this custom of dividing the sacrifices, it seemeth the Greek interpreters thus translated and expounded the words of God to Kain; If thou offer aright, and dividest not aright. hast thou not sinned? Genesis 4. 7. It figured the work of the Ministry in the Church, rightly dividing the word of truth, 2 Tim. 2. 15. and so preaching the Gospel, that before men's eyes Jesus Christ may be evidently-set-forth, and as it were crucified among them, Galat. 3. 1. Isaiah 66. 21. It also signified the effect of God's word in us, piercing even to the dividing asunder of the soul and spirit, of the joints and marrow, and a discernor of the thoughts and intents of the heart. Heb 4. 12.

Vers. 7. put fire] Hebrew, give fire. This may be understood of making and ordering the fire, which was continually nourished upon the Altar, Leviticus 6. 12. 13. and which at first came down from heaven, Levite. 9. 24. But the Hebrew Doctors, from these words say, although that fire came down from heaven, it is here commanded to bring common fire. Maimonides, treat. of the Daily oblation Chap. 2. Sect. 1. It figured the continual ministrations of the Spirit, by Christ and his ministers preaching of the Gospel, Matth. 3. 11. Gal. 3. 6. Jer. 23. 29. and especially the preaching of the Cross, and afflictions of Christ and his people, Gal. 6. 12. 14. 1 Pet. 4. 12. 13. 14. lay the wood] of this ordering see the notes on Levite. 6. 12. Moreover the wood (as also the salt) for all sacrifices, was to be the Congregations public: and no particular person, might bring salt or wood for his oblation, from his own house: saith Maimonides, in treat. Of things forbidden to come on the Altar, Chap. 5. Sect. 13 Hereupon public order was taken in Nehem. 10. 34. and 13. 31. for the Wood offering, (or Corban) to have it brought into the house of God, at times appointed. The Hebrew Doctors say, that in the month Ab (the fifth month, which we call July) they hewed wood for the Corban (or offering) Jacob ben Aser, in Orach chajim.

Vers. 8. the pieces] When they had cut in pieces the burnt offering, they brought all the pieces to the footstall (of the altar) and salted them there, (as is commanded, Levite. 2. 13. Ezek. 43. 24.) Afterwards, they laid all the pieces on the top of the Altar. Then taking away the synew that shrank, (whereof see Gen. 32. 32.) on the top of the Altar, they shrew it upon the ashes which were in the midst of the altar. Then sprinkled (or strowed) they all the pieces upon the fire, as it is written (in Deut. 12. 27.) OF THE FLESH, AND OF THE BLOOD: even as the blood was sprinkled, so all the flesh was sprinkled. And after they were sprinkled, they laid them in order again upon the fire, as it is written, (Levite. 1. 12.) And the Priest shall lay them in order. Maimonides, treat. of offering the sacrifices, chap. 6. sect. 4. This dividing and laying by pieces on the Altar, was observed in all burnt-offerings; see Exod. 29. 17. 18. 1 King. 18. 23. 33. Levite. 8. 20. 21. and 9. 13. the fat] The Hebrew Peder, is used only here, and in v. 12. and in Levite. 8. 20. and is thought to be the fat-caul, or midriff, that parteth the intrails. The Greek and Chaldee both translate it fat.

Vers. 9. in water] not in wine, nor in any mixture, or other liquor. And the inwards they washed not less then three times: saith Maimonides in treat. of offering the sacrific. Chap. 6. Sect. 6. The washing of the inwards, and of the legs (or the feet, as the Greek translath; signified our purification by the spirit of Christ, sprinkled in our hearts from an evil conscience, and washed in our bodies with pure water, Ezek. 36. 25. Heb. 10. 22. He that is washed, needeth not save to wash his feet; John 1•. 10. the Priest] Michael (that is, Christ, Revel. 12. 7.) he is the great Priest that is on high, and he offereth the souls of the just, like the daily offerings made by fire: saith R. Menachem on Levite. 6. shall burn] to weat, as perfume, as the word implieth. It burned upon the altar, all night, until the morning, Levite. 6. 9. Howbeit, they offered no offerings but by day; as it is written (Lev. 7. 38.) in the day that he commanded the sons of Israel to offer, &c. in the day, and not in the night. Therefore they slay no sacrifices, but by day, nor sprinkle any blood, but in the day of the killing: but the sacrifices whose blood is sprinkled by day, they burn their fat, &c. all the night; and so the members of the burnt offering, they burn them in the night, &c. Maimonides, treat. of offering the sacrific. ch. 4. sect. 1. 2. This burning of sacrifices, signified the consecrating of Christ through afflictions and sufferings; and the like fiery trials which his people must undergo: Hebrews 2. 10. and 13. 11. 12. 1 Peter 4. 1. 12. Zachar. 13. 9. For everyone shall be salted with fire, and every sacrifice shall be salted with salt, Mark 9. 49. It figured also the work of God's Spirit, Matth. 3. 11. it is] or, it shall be: these words, it is, are added also in the Greek version, and rightly from the 13. and 17. verses following. of rest] that is, of sweet savor, as the Greek translath. The Chaldee expoundeth it, which shall be received with favorable-acceptation before the Lord. See the notes on Genesis 8. 21. It figured the sweet savor of Christ's sacrifice, (and of ours in him) unto God, Ephesians 5. 2. Romans 12. 1. 1 Peter 2. 5. For as a sweet smell refresheth and quieteth the senses, so Christ's oblation appeaseth God's Spirit. Therefore the Priest also prayed for the offerer, (figuring Christ's mediation) and so by prayer and oblation pacified God's wrath, as appeareth by Job 42. 8. where God said, Go to my servant Job, and offer up for yourselves a burnt offering, and my servant Job shall pray for you, for I will accept his face: lest I deal with you after your folly. So Darius ordained that beasts should be given the Jews, for the Burnt-offerings of the God of heaven, that they might offer Sacrifices of rest, unto the God of heaven, and pray for the life of the King, and of his sons, Ezr. 6. 9. 10.

Vers. 10. sheep] or, young-rams; which the Greek here translath lambes. They were of the first year, Exodus 29. 38. For the Hebrew Chesob, (called also Chebes, Levitie. 4. 32. whereupon the Dutch Schaep, and English Sheep; by transplacing the letters, is derived;) wheresoever these are spoken of in the Law, are sheep of the first year. And wheresoever Ajil er Aelim (Rammes) are mentioned; they are males of the second year: saith Maimonides, treat. of offering the sacrifices, chap. 1. s. 14 These also figured Christ the lamb of God, Isaiah 53. 7. John 1. 29. or of the goats] the law expresseth several kinds by themselves: hereupon the Hebrews gather, it may not be a beast of divers kinds, part like a sheep, and part like a goat: nor borne of such mixture, no nor like another kind; as if a sheep bring forth her young like a goat, or a goat like a sheep, it is not lawful to bring such a beast upon the Altar: Maimonides in Issureimizbeach, ch. 3. S. 4. 5. &c.

Vers. 11. the side] or, the thigh of the Altar; and so upon the ground, as the Altar standeth: whereupon the Hebrew Canons say, That if a Beast be hanged up and killed in the air of the Court, it is polluted. Maimonides treat. of holy things polluted, Chapt. 1. Sect. 16. In killing the daily Burnt-offerings of the Church (mentioned in Numbers 28. 3.) they bound the Lamb, and laid his head to the South, his face to the West; the slayer stood on the East side, with his face to the West. The morning sacrifice he killed by the North-west horn of the Altar; the evening sacrifice, by the North-east horn. Talmud Bab. in Tamidin, chapter 4. northward] on the North side of the altar; which is also to be understood of the young Bull forementioned, and of other the most holy sacrifices, as of the Sin-offering, Lev. 6. 25. and the trespass-offering, Lev. 7. 1. 2. Of all sacrifices, they receive the blood in a vessel of ministration, by the hand of a Priest: but the place of killing them, and the place of receiving the blood, is not alike in them all. For the holy of holies, they kill not them, nor receive their blood, but on the northside of the Altar: but the light holy things, them they kill, and receive their blood, in any place of the Courtyard: saith Maimonides, treat<sup>a</sup> of offering the sacrific<sup>a</sup> chap. 5. sect. 1. 2. The most holy things that are killed on the southside, or whose blood is received on the south side, are polluted, Maimonides treat. of holy things polluted, Chap. 1. Sect. 7. The Hebrew Doctors gather a mystery here; that as it is said in Ier. 1. 14. Out of the North, an evil should break forth, &c. therefore to restrain the evils, or judgments of God, the Burnt-offerings and Sinneofferings were slain on the northside of the Altar. R. Menachem: and Baal Hatturim, on Lev. 1.

Vers. 12. the Priest shall lay] Chazkuni observeth, that of the bullock, which was a great beast, it was said, in verse. 8. they (the Priests) shall lay: but of the sheep which was a small beast, it is written, he (the Priest) shall lay.

Vers. 13. offer all] or, bring near all, and burn it: see verse. 9. The wool that was on the sheep's head, and the hair on the Goats beard, and the bones and the sinews, and the horns and the hoofs: whiles they cleaved to the members, they burned all: saith Maimonides treat. of offering the sacr. chap. 6. sect. 2. It signified all Christ and whatsoever he hath suffered and done, to be ours by faith, Gal. 1. 20. and that we also give ourselves wholly unto God by him, 1 Thessalon. 5. 23.

Vers. 14. Turtle doves] of the Hebrew Tor, the Latin Turtur, and English Turtle are derived: and the voice of this fowl, agreeth with the name. Here is no difference put of male or female, of perfect or blemished: howbeit, the Hebrew Doctors gather by proportion from the former laws, that although lesser blemishes disable not doves from sacrifices, yet the greater do, as if they want an eye, or a foot, &c. it is not lawful to bring them upon the altar. Also they say, Young Turtles are unlawful, and old Doves are unlawful. Yong pigeons are allowable, so long as if one pluck the wing, the place whereout he plucketh, fill up with blood. And turtles are allowable, after that they wexe golden coloured; [as Psalm. 68. 14.] Maimonides tom. 3. in Issure Mizbeach. Chap. 3. Sect. 1. 2. young pigeons] Hebr. sons of the dove. The holy Ghost in Greek translatheth these sons, young ones, Luke 2. 24. from Levite. 12. The Turtle doves were to be old, not young: the pigeons, young, not old: saith also R. Sol. Rashi. on Lev. 1. These were sacrifices for the poorer sort, that were not able to bring a lamb, Levite. 5. 7. and 12. 8. Therefore the daily burnt-offering of the Church of Israel, was two Lambes, Numbers 28. 3. and by the Hebrew Canons, The Congregation never offered sowle, Maimonides, treat of offering sacrific. chapter 1<sup>a</sup> Sect. 4. The Dove is a creature sociable, innocent, chaste, mournful, quiet, fearful, given to meditation: and unto such, God's people are often likened: See Song. 2. 14. and 4. 1. Matth. 10. 16. Isaiah 38. 14. and 59. 11. and 60. 8. Ezekiel 7. 16. Hosea 11. 11. Psal. 74 19.

Vers. 15. bring-it-near] or, offer it at the Altar<sup>a</sup> cut-with-his-nail] The Hebrew Malak, is found only here, and in Leviticus 5. 8. which the Greek interpreteth Apokniso, to cut with the nail of ones finger. By this means the blood came out, but the head was not thereby parted from the body, Leviticus 5. 8. The manner (as the Hebrew Doctors have recorded) was thus: The Priest went up on the footstall (of the Altar) and turned in compass and came to the South-east horn, and there he took the head from the neck, and divided them asunder: [and herein the burnt<sup>a</sup> offering differed from the Sin-offering, which might not be divided, Levite. 5. 8.] and if he divided it not, it was unlawful. Then wrung he out the blood of the head and the blood of the body, upon the side of the Altar, &c. and he took the head, and returning to that place of the Altar where he cut it with his nail, he rubbed it with salt, and sprinkled it upon the fire-offerings. And he came to the body, and plucked away with his hand, the crop and skin that was upon it, with the meat, and the entrails that came-out therewith, and threw the into the place of the ashes. And he clave it with the wings thereof with his hand without a knife and divided it not asunder: then he rubbed it with salt, and sprinkled it upon the fire-offerings. He that cut the neck with a knife, or (did cut it) on the side, it was not Melicah [the cutting with the nail here commanded;] but as if it had been strangled, or had bled at the nose: [which was an unlawful way of killing.] Maimonides treat. of offering sacrific. chap. 6. Sect. 20. 21. 22. 23.

Vers. 16. feathers of the same] or, filth of the same; to weet, of the crop, for thereunto (by the gender) it hath reference; and is therefore by Onkelos the Chaldee paraphrast translated the meat of the same, which was in the crop; and the Chaldee called Jonathan's, expoundeth it, the dung (or, filth) thereof: but the Greek translatheth it, fether, as elsewhere the Hebrew word signifieth. eastward] that was nearest the door, and furthest from the Sanctuary: ready to be carried out, Levi. 6. 10. 11. to teach that all uncleanness was to be removed out of God's sight: for holiness becometh his house, Psalm 93. 5. And so it figured the holiness that was in Christ our sacrifice, who without all sin or uncleanness offered himself unto God for us; by which also he cleansed and purified his people, and their service of God, Heb 9. 14.

Vers. 17. with the wings] that is, having them on. And the not dividing it asunder, might foreshadow the manner of Christ's death, of whom  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  bone was not broken: John 19. 33. 36. And how we should give up ourselves wholly unto God by him, 1 Thess. 5. 23. So in Lev. 5. 8. of rest] Greek, of sweet-smell: see verse. 9. God comforteth the poor, by promising the like acceptance of, and delight in his small sacrifice; as in the Bulls, Rammes, Goats, of the richer sort: For  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not, 2 Cor. 8. 12. These Burnt offerings pleased God, and were a sweet savor unto him, not in themselves, but in Christ, in whose faith the godly offered them, till the time of reformation. As for the outward sacrifices, God testifieth, I desired mercy and not sacrifice: and the knowledge of God, more then Burnt offerings, Hos. 6. 6. and David saying that the Lord delighted not in sacrifice, nor would accept of a Burnt-offering, addeth, The sacrifices of God, are abroken spirit, &c. Psal 51. 18. 19. And the wisest of the Scribes of old, could say, that to love (God) with all the heart, and with all the understanding, and with all the soul, and with all the strength; and to love his neighbor as himself: is more then all Burnt-offerings and Sacrifices. Mark. 12. 33.

CHAP. II.

1, The meat-offering of flower, with oil and incense. 4, The Meat-offering baked in the oven; Cakes, or Wafers. 5, The Meat-offering baked on a plate, 7, or in a frying-pan: 11. all without Leaven. 12. 14. The Meat-offering of the first fruits in the ear. 13, The salt of the offerings.

AND a soul, when it will offer an oblation of Meat-offering, unto Jehovah; his oblation shall be, of fine-flower: and he shall pour oil upon it, and put frankincense upon it. And he shall bring it, unto the sons of Aaron, the Priests: and he shall take thereout his handful, of the flower thereof, and of the oil thereof; with all the frankincense thereof: and the Priest shall burn the memorial thereof, on the Altar; a Fire-offering, of a savor of rest, unto Jehovah. And the remnant of the Meat-offering, shall be Aaron's, and his sons: it is Holy of holies, of Jehovah's Fire-offerings.

And when thou shalt offer, an oblation of a Meat-offering, baked in the oven: it shall be of fine-flower, unleavened cakes mingled with oil; or unleavened wafers, anointed with oil.

And if thy oblation, be a Meat-offering on a pan: it shall be of fine-flower, mingled with oil, unleavened. Thou shalt part it in pieces, and pour oil thereon: it is a Meat-offering.

And if thy oblation, be a Meat-offering of the frying-pan: it shall be made of fine-flower, with oil. And thou shalt bring the Meat-offering, which shall be made of these things, unto Jehovah: and he shall offer it unto the Priest, and he shall bring it unto the Altar. And the Priest shall take-up from the Meat-offering, a memorial thereof, and shall burn it upon the Altar: a Fire offering, of a savor of rest, unto Jehovah. And the remnant of the Meat-offering, shall be Aaron's and his sons: it is Holy of holies, of Jehovah's Fire-offerings. No Meat-offering, which ye shall offer unto Jehovah, shall be made with leaven: for ye shall not burn any old-leaven, nor any honey, in a Fire-offering unto Jehovah. In the oblation of the first-fruits, ye shall offer them unto Jehovah: but they shall not ascend on the Altar, for a savor of rest. And every oblation of thy Meat-offering, thou shalt salt with salt: and thou shalt not let cease, the salt of the covenant of thy God, from on thy meat-offering: with every oblation of thine, thou shalt offer salt.

And if thou shalt offer, a Meat-offering of first fruits, to Jehovah: thou shalt offer for the Meat-offering of thy first fruits, greenears-of-corn parched in the fire, ground-corn out of the full-ear. And thou shalt put oil upon it, and lay frankincense upon it: it is a Meat-offering. And the Priest shall burn the memorial of it, of the ground-corn thereof, and of the oil thereof, with all the frankincense thereof: a Fire-offering unto Jehovah.

Annotations.

ASoule] that is, a person, or man, as the Chaldee translateth it. Therefore in the next words he saith, his oblation, and he shall pour: as showing a man to be meant. See the notes on Gen. 12. 5. and 14. 21. when it] or, if he will offer, to weet, voluntarily. A particular person might bring a voluntary meat-offering, though he were the anointed Priest: but the Congregation brought no voluntary Meat-offering; saith Chazkuni, on this place. an oblation of Meat-offering:] Hebr. korban Minchah; that is, the offering (or gift,) called Minchah: which was of things without life, as flower, cakes, wafers, &c. Minchah was generally any solemn gift or Present, unto God or man, 1 Sam. 10. 27. in special a present or sacrifice unto God, Gen. 4. 3. 4. more specially, an offering of the fruits of the earth, of us now called a Meat-offering: we might call it a Wheattoffring, for it was for the most part, of the flower of wheat: Ezek. 45. 13. 15. 1 Chron. 21. 23. Exod. 29. 2. The Greek sometime keepeth the Hebrew name Manaa, Ezek. 46. 5. 7. 11. &c. in this place and often elsewhere, Thusia, a sacrifice; and in Psal. 40. 7. prosphora, an offering: and this the Apostle followeth, Heb. 10. 5. 8. 10. and the former Thusia, is approved in Mark.

9. 49. from Levite. 2. 13. and in Act. 7. 42. from Amos 5. 25. *Of these, some were Meat-offerings of the Congregation, some of particular persons. The congregations offerings were three; the waved sheaf, (Levite. 23. 10. 11.) the two wave-loaves, (Levite. 23. 17.) and the show bread made every week, (Levite. 24. <...> .) This (Shew bread) came not on the Altar, but was all eaten by the Priests. The particular persons Meat offerings were nine: and all of them came to the Alta<sup>r</sup>. 1. The poor man's Meat offering for sin, (Levite. 5. 11.) 2. the jealousy offering, (Num. 5. 15.) 3. The Meat-offering of Initiation, which every Priest offered when he first entered into his service, (Levite. 8. 26. 28.) 4. The Meat-offering which the high Priest offered every day,) Levite. 6. 20.) 5. The Meat offering of fine- <...> re<sup>m</sup> 6. The Meat offering baked on a plate; 7. in a <...> ing-pan: 8. in an oven, 9. or wafers; (all mentioned in Levite. 2.) and all these five kinds came for vow<sup>s</sup>, or for voluntary offerings. Maimonides; treat<sup>m</sup> of offering the sacrifices, chap. 12. Sect. 1. 3. 4. The Minchah or Meat-offering was primarily a figure of Christ his oblation, who gave himself for us, an Oblation and a sacrifice to God, for a sweet-smelling savor, Eph. 5. 2. So the Apostle openeth it, in Heb. 10. from the 40. Psalm; Sacrifice and Oblation (Minchah) thou wouldest not, but a body hast thou prepared me, &c. Above when he said, Sacrifice and Oblation, and Burnt offerings, and offerings for sin, thou wouldest not, &c. then said he, Loe I come to do thy will. O God, &c. By the which will, we are sanctified; through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once. Heb. 10. 5. 8. 9. 10. So that in the Oblation of Christ's body, this legal service was accomplished and ended: for it served also to expiate sins; as the Lord sware that the iniquity o <...> Eli's house should not be purged with sacrifice or Minchah (Meat offering) forever, 1 Sam. 3. 14. and as David showeth saying, If the Lord have styrred thee up against me, let him smell (that is, favourably accept) a Minchah (or Meat-offering) 1 Sam. 26. 19. Therefore when Christ himself was come, this Meat offering ceased, as was foretold in Dan. 9. 27. he shall cause the sacrifice & the Minchah to cease. Secondly, it figured the persons of Christians, who through him are cleansed and sanctified to be pure oblations unto God; as it was prophesied, They shall bring all your brethren for a Minchah (a Meat offering) unto the Lord, out of all the Gentiles, &c. as the sons of Israel bring a Meat offering (Minchah) in a clean vessel, into the house of the LORD; Isaiah. 66. 20. The accomplishment whereof the Apostle showeth to have been by his ministration of the Gospel of God, unto the Gentiles; that the Oblation (Prospora) of the Gentiles, might be acceptable, being sanctified by the Holy Ghost, Rom. 15. 16. Thirdly, it figured the fruits of grace and good works that Christians are to perform both towards God and men. Towards God, by prayer and thanksgiving; as David saith, Let my prayer be directed as incense before thee; the lifting up of my hands, as the evening Minchah (or Oblation) Psal. 141. 2. So when the Lord told the Jews, I will not accept a Minchah (or Meat-offering) at your hand; he addeth, For from the rising of the Sun, even unto the going down of the same, my name shall be great among the Gentiles; and in every place, incense shall be offered unto my name, and a pure Meat offering: Mal. 1. 10. 11. which is fulfilled, when men pray everywhere, lifting up holy hands, as the Apostle teacheth, 1 Tim. 2. 8. Towards men also, good works are as sacrifices unto God, as it is written, To do good and to communicate forget not, for with such sacrifices, God is well pleased, Heb. 13. 16. so the benevolence sent from the Church of Philippi, to the Apostle, was an odour of a sweet smell, a sacrifice acceptable, welpleasing unto God. Phil. 4. 18. Now because the Meatoffrings here prescribed, had oil and frankincense with them, whereas the Meat-offering which the poor man brought for his Sin, was to have neither of* both, Levite. 5. 11. it seemeth the chief thing here figured, was the new creature, and holy estate which we have in Christ: that as our reconciliation unto God in Christ, was signified by the Burnt offering, Levite. 1. so the sanctification of our persons and actions, and the acceptance of them before God through his grace in Christ, was signified by this Meat-offering. fine-flower] of wheat, Exod. 29. 2. Ezzr. 6. 9. 1 Chro. 21. 23. all the Meat-offerings were of wheaten flower, except the jealousy offering, and the waved sheaf, (Num. 5. Levite. 23.) which were of barley. And for the quantity, *All Meat-offerings that were brought upon the Altar, not any of them was less then the tenth part (of an Ephah, as Lev. 5. 11. and 6. 20. that is, an Omer, as Exod. 16. 36.) The five Meat-offerings (mentioned in this chapter) that are brought for vow and voluntary sacrifice be may bring of them so much as he please, though 1000. tenth parts: but the Meat offerings of the sheaf, and of the sinner, and of jealousy, and of initiation, and the high priests meat-offering, everyone of them is but one tenth part, neither less nor more; saith Maimonides, in treat, of offering the sacrifice, chap. 12. Sect. 2. 5. Also for the quality, as all things offered to God were to be of the best, and without corruption, so the Meat-offerings. The flower might not be such as wherein worms bred, or made or wormeaten wheat; nor mixed with oil that had a rank smell, or ill taste, &c. Maimonides, in Issure▪ mizbeach, chap. 6. S. 1. pure oil] Sol. Rashi noteth that the oil was poured upon all of it; the frankincense, was put upon part of it, on the one side. Other of the Hebrews also say; *every Meat-offering that is offered upon the altar, must have oil and frankincense; a Log of oil (that is, half a pinte of oil, whereof see Lev. 14. 10.) for every tenth deal, and a handful of frankincense, for every Meat-offering, whether it be of one tenth deal, or of sixty; for they bring not moe then 60. tenth deals in one vessel. Except the jealousy offering, and the sin offering, (Num. 5. 15. Levite. 5. 11.) for they have no oil nor incense. Maimonides, treat, of offering the sacrifice, chap. 12. S. 7. The flower of wheat, signified the perfect and pure estate of Christ, and of all Christians (with their service) in him; purged from the bran of natural corruption, Heb. 10. 5. Esa. 66. 20. The oil signified the graces and comforts of the holy Ghost, whereby we serve God with gladness: Psal. 45. 7. Luk. 4. 18. 1 John. 2. 20. 27. The frankincense, figured the sweet odour whereby they are acceptable to the Lord: Song 3. 6. Ier. 6. 20. Ephes. 5. 2. Rom. 12. 1. The manner of making the Meat-offering of flower, is recorded to be thus; *He brought a tenth-deal of flower, (or many tenth deals, or according as he had vowed;) and oil meet for the same: the flower was measured by the Tenth-deal measure of the Sanctuary, and oil was put into a vessel, and afterwards the flower was put upon it. After that again, other oil was put upon the flower, and the flower was mingled with it. After this, they put it into a ministering vessel, and then poured oil into it. And the oil which first they put, and the oil which they mingled it with, and the oil which they poured on it, all was a Log (or half-pinte) for a tenth deal (of flower.) And then they put the frankincense upon it. Maimonides, treat, of Offring the sacrif. chapter 13. Sect. 5.

Vers. 2. the sons] that is, one of the sons, as the words following do manifest; when it is said, and he shall take, meaning the Priest. shall take] or shall gather-up-with-the hand, as the word properly signifieth. The flower was put into a ministering vessel, and sanctified therein, (Esa. 66. 20.) The Priest carried it to the altar, and brought it to the south-west horn thereof, and removing all the frankincense unto the one side, he took up a handful of the flower and oil mixed, and put that handful into a ministering vessel, and sanctified it therein. Then gathering up all the frankincense, he put it upon the handful in the vessel, and set it upon the altar, and salted it; and put it out of the ministering vessel, upon the fire. Maimonides, treat. of offering the sacrific. chap. 13. Sect. 12. burn] resolve into fume or vapor, as the word signifieth: so Levite. 1. 9. and after often. the memorial thereof] that is, that handful with the incense, named a memorial, because it called unto God's remembrance, (this is spoken after the manner of men,) his covenant to accept the service of faith, which his people offer to him by Christ. Hereupon it is said, He remember all thy Meat-offerings, Psal. 20. 4. and, Thy prayers and thine alms, are come-up for a Memoriall before God: Acts 10. 4. So Nehemiah prayed, Remember me, O my God, concerning this; and wipe not out my kindnesses, that I have done for the house of my God, &c. and spare me, according to the greatness of thy mercy: Nehem. 13. 14. 22. On the contrary, the sin and jealousy offerings, had no oil nor incense, because they were no offerings of memorial, but such as brought iniquity to remembrance; which was not gracious, nor sweet smelling before the Lord: Num. 5. 15. Levite. 5. 11. of rest] the Greek saith, of sweet smell; and consequently acceptable: as the Chaldee explaineth it, an Oblation that shall be accepted with favor before the Lord. See Leviticus 1. 9.

Vers. 3. Aaron's] to eat the same, in the sanctuary, Levite. 6. 16. This is to be understood of the Meat-offerings brought alone: but the Meat and drink offerings added to other sacrifices, were not to be eaten, but burnt and poured all upon the altar; see the annotations on Levite. 23. 13. holy of holies] Hebr. holiness of holinesses; that is, most holy things. By this they are distinguished from other things, which the Hebrew Doctors call therefore light holy, and which might be eaten out of the sanctuary, but within the host, and (in ages following) within Jerusalem. Maimonides, treat. of offering sacrifices, chap. 10. Sect. 5. and chap. 11. S. 5. Thus the Meat-offerings were in part for the maintenance and livelihood of God's Priests, Num. 18. 9. 10. and being given unto God, were most holy things, and figured the graces and good works wherewith we honor Christ, & relieve his poor saints, which are holy and acceptable sacrifices unto the Lord, Phil. 4. 18. Heb. 13. 16. And being referred to Christ himself, as he by the oblation of his own body was our Meat-offering, Psalm 40. Heb. 10. it figured our communion with him, and participation of his death, and resurrection, by faith; whereby he becometh unto us, the bread of God, the bread of life, that giveth us life forever; John. 6. 33. 35. &c. And of him, his whole church, (which are a royal Priesthood, 1 Pet. 2. 9.) are made partakers.

Vers. 4. baked in] Hebr. a baking (or batche) of the oven. They kneaded and baked it within the sanctuary, (though the wheat was ground and sifted without,) as Maimonides in the foresaid treatise showeth: which is confirmed by Ezek. 46. 20. This is the place where the Priests shall boil the trespass-offering, and the sin-offering, where they shall bake the Meat-offering, &c. See also 1 Chron. 23. 28. 29. where the Levites were assistants to the Priests, in preparing the Meat-offerings. unleavened] Heb. cakes of unleavenings; that is, altogether unleavened: signifying sincerity and truth, 1 Cor. 5. 8. see the notes on Exod. 12. mingled] The cakes were thus ordered: the flower was mingled with oil, and kneaded with warm water: and baked, and broken in pieces and put into a ministering vessel: then frankincense was put upon it, but no oil poured on it, because it is written, mingled with oil. Of every tenth part (of an Ephah) they made ten cakes: saith Maimonides, treat of offering the sacrific. chap. 13. Sect. 8. 10. or unleavened] Heb. and wafers of unleavenings, anointed, &c. Of this, Maimonides in the foresaid place saith; And if they were wafers, the flower was kneaded with warm water, and the wafers anointed with oil. And it seems unto me (saith he,) that they were anointed after the baking. There was brought a Log (or half pinte) of oil, for every tenth deal (of flower,) and they were anointed and anointed again, till all the oil in the Log was ended. This anointing with oil, signified the graces of God's spirit, as before is shown; which the children of God should have within and without, so being both tempered and anointed with the same: of which the Apostle saith, The anointing which ye have received of (the Holy one) abideth in you, &c. 1 John. 2. 27. and, He that establisheth us with you, in Christ, and hath anointed us, is God, 2 Corinthians 1. 21.

Vers. 5. on a pan] or, on a plate, or slice, flat and smooth. Hereof Maimonides (treat. of offering sacrif. chap. 13. Sect. 7.) saith, what differeth (Machahath) the Pan, from (Marchesheth) the Frying-pan? The Frying-pan hath a lip (or edge,) and the past that is baked thereon is soft, and for that it hath a lip, it runneth not out. But the pan hath no lip, and the past that is baked thereon is hard, so that it runs not off. Moreover, the Pan and the Frying-pan were in the Courtyard, and both of them vessels of ministration & of the holy things: and the Oven of the sanctuary was of metal, Maimonides ibid. chap. 12. Sect. 23. They signified vessels of Christian hearts, as, My heart hathfryed (or boiled) a good matter, &c. Psal. 45. 2. See the annotations on that Psalm.

Vers. 6. pieces] or, parts, They haked it in the sanctuary, and cut it in pieces, and put the pieces into a ministering vessel, and then put upon it oil and frankincense, and carried it to the Priest, and the Priest carried it to the altar, and brought it to the southwest horn, and did as it before noted on verse 2. And for the manner of cutting; he doubled the cake into two, and the two into four; and divided it. And all the pieces were as big as olives: and if they were greater or lesser, they would serve, Maimonides, ibidem, chap. 13. Sect. 12. 10. This cutting in pieces is to be understood also of the cakes baked in the oven, verse 4. and in the Frying-pan, verse 7. 8. and signified the same thing that the cutting in pieces of the Burnt-offeing, Leviticus 1. 6. 12.

Vers. 8. he shall offer] that is, the man that brings the gift, shall present or offer it to the Priest: so Sol. larchi expoundeth it, the owner thereof shall offer it to the Priest, and the Priest shall bring it unto the Altar. Or, it shall be offered, to weet, by thee: as, he imputed, Gen. 15. 6. is translated, it was imputed, Rom. 4. 3. See also the notes on Gen. 2. 20. and 16. 14.

Vers. 9. take up] or, lift up; which the Chaldee translatheth separate; the Greek, take-away. a memorial] that is, an handful of the pieces thereof: see before, on verse 6. and 2. All Meat-offerings that are offered upon the Altar, he taketh an handful thereof, and burneth it all upon the Altar: and the rest is eaten by the Priests. Maimonides ibidem, chap. 12. Sect. 9. See an Exception, in Lev. 6. 23. of rest] Greek, of sweet smell, The Chaldee translatheth, an offering that shall be received with favor before the Lord.

Vers. 10. Holy] Hebr. holiness of holinesses; that is, most holy: see verse. 3.

Vers. 11. with leaven] except some thank-offerings, which were brought with leavened bread, Levite. 7. 13. Leven and honey are unlawful to be burnt upon the altar, and they are unlawful every whit of them, Levite. 2. 11. But he is not guilty, except he burn them for an offering, or with an offering, and whether he offer them by themselves, or burn them mixed, he is to be beaten for each of them by themselves. Maimonides in Issure m'zheach, chap. 5. Sect. 1. old leaven] see the annotations on Exod. 12. 15. Leaven figured Sin of all sorts, inward and outward, in doctrine and manners, Luk. 12. 1. Matth. 16. 6. 12. 1 Cor. 5. 8. honey] which for sweetness of taste, is contrary to sour leaven; yet being eaten much, breedeth •othsommenesse, and is not good, Prov. 25. 16. 27. but turneth to choler and bitterness. And being put into the fire, it boileth up in froth; whereupon some of the Hebrews take it to signify pride, and therefore it was not to be burned in any Fire-offering. R. Elias, in Reshith Chocmah, treat, of Humility, chap. 3. Both these forbidden in this oblation, signified the perfection of Christ, & of us in him. Among the heathens they used honey, in their sacrifices for the dead: Euripi. in Iphigen, in Tauris. Baal Hatturim (on this scripture) noteth, that the evil concupiscence (the corruption of nature in man,) is like to old-leaven; and this is the reason why honey is forbidden, because the evil concupiscence is sweet unto a man as honey. And Sol. larchi saith, All sweet fruit is called honey. Sometime Leaven is used to denote grief and affliction, as in Psal. 73. 21. my heart was leavened: which may have use here, that neither extremity of grief as Leaven, nor of pleasures, as Honey, be in the Meat-offering of the saints, but a temperature and mediocritie. See 2 Cor. 1. 3. 4. 9. and 12. 7. 10.

Vers. 12. In the oblation] the word In or With, is [unspec] to be understood as in the former verse; or, Of, as the Greek version hath. them] leaven and honey though they might not come on the altar, yet came with the first fruits: Leaven is mentioned with the first fruits, Levite. 23. 17. and with thankoffrings, Lev. 7. 13. Honey is also among the first fruits, in 2 Chro. 31. 5. though there the Hebrew Doctors understand Dates which are sweet as honey: which may also be implied in the prohibition here, verse 11. So Sol. Rashi here expoundeth it saying, first fruits of honey, as the first-fruits of figs and dates. Otherwise by them, may be meant the one of them, to weet, Leve ⟨...⟩ (for Bees honey was not brought for first-fruits:) as the thieves, Matth. 27. 44. that is, one of them, Luke 23. 39. so, his disciples, Matth. 24. 1. that is, one of his disciples, Mark. 13. 1. Chazkuni here expoundeth it, ye shall offer them to the Lord for a wave-offering: but not for an oblation on the altar. for a savor of rest] in Greek, for a savor of sweet-smell to the Lord: which the Chaldee expoundeth, to be accepted in favor. This the Hebrews understand strictly, and therefore say, for a favor of rest thou mayest not make them ascend, but thou mayest make them ascend (to burn) as wood. But to mingle them with any oblation, as sin-offering, trespass-offering, meat-of-fring, &c. was unlawful: and who so did it, was to be beaten. Maimonides in Issarei mizbeach, chap. 5. Sect. 3. 4.

Vers. 13. shalt salt] or, shalt season. This the Priest [unspec] was to do, casting salt upon it, when it was brought to the altar, as is noted on verse 2. Salt is of a fiery nature, favoreth all meats, and preserveth from corruption, by the sharpness thereof: and is therefore applied to the wholesome doctrine of the Gospel, reproofs, and wise seasoned words of grace, Matth. 5. 13. Col. 4. 6. and here to the salt of the covenant, which on our part is faith in midst of afflictions: wherefore our unregenerate estate, is likened to a child new borne, and ⟨◇⟩ salted, Ezek. 16. 4. of the covenant] which is a sign of the covenant of thy God: for by salt, the covenant of grace was signified in Christ, which we by faith apprehend unto incorruption. We are therefore admonished, Have salt in yourselves, and have peace one with another. Mark. 9. 50. Hereupon a covenant of salt, is used for an inviolable, incorruptible, and perpetual covenant, Num. 18. 19. 2 Chron. 13. 5. Therefore <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> this sacrifice, the Hebrew doctors held salt so necessary, that if it were offered without salt, it w <math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> polluted: Maimonides, treat- of holy things polluted, chap. 11. Sect. 16. every oblation] not the Meat-offerings only, but the Burnt-offerings, Ezek. 43. 24. and all other; as Christ saith, Everyone shall be salted with fire, and every sacrifice shall be salted with salt, Mark. 9. 49. The Hebrew doctors say, It is commanded to salt all offerings, before they ascend on the Altar, (Levite. 2. 13.) and thou hast nothing which cometh on the Altar without salt, except the wine of the drink-offerings, and the blood, and the wood. And it is commanded to salt the flesh veryfayre, as one would salt flesh to roast, that he turn the piece and salt it. The salt which they season all offerings with, is the Congregations, as the Wood also is: and no particular man brings salt or wood for his offering, from his own house. And they laid on the salt in three places; in the salt chamber, and on the foot-bank (of the altar,) and on the top of the Altar. In the salt chamber they salted the skins of the holy things. Upon the foot-bank, they salted the members (or pieces of the sacrifices;) and on the top of the Altar, they salted the handful, and the frankincense, & the Meat-offerings that were burned, and the Burnt-offerings offowles. Maimonides, in Issurei Mizbeach, chap. 5. Sect. 11. 12. 13. Therefore (saith Baal hatturim) salt is three times mentioned in this verse, because they put on salt in three places (forementioned.) The heathens retained a memorial of this service, offering with their sacrifices, meal or flower salted. Homer Ilia. 1.

Vers. 14. Meat-offering of first fruits] This seemeth to be meant of the sheaf (or Omer) of barley, whereof he speaketh again in Levite. 23. 10. See the annotations there. So R. Menachem, and Sol. Rashi here saith, the scripture speaketh of the Meat-offering of the Omer (in Levite. 23.) green-ears-of-corn] in Hebrew Abib, by which name the first month is called, Exod. 13. 4. for then barley was e•red, and began to be ripe; as is shown on Lev. 23. 10. The Greek translatheth it New fruits. parched] for they dried them with the fire, in the green-ears, because else they would not be ground in the mill, for that they were moist, saith Sol. Rashi on Lev. 2. ground-corn] or small-broken-corn: Hebr. Geres, that is, breaking or grinding; which the Greek translatheth corn or grain: The Chaldee, broken-grains: and Sol. Rashi expoundeth it, broken whiles it is moist. Geres (saith he) meaneth breaking and grinding; broken with the mill. of the full-ear] or, of the green-ear; called in Hebrew Carmel which, here, and in Levite. 23. 14. and in 2 King. 1. 42. is used for fullgreene-ears of corn; which the Chaldee expoundeth tender: elsewhere it is the name of a mountain, which was fruitful with corn, 1 Kings 18. 42. and generally a fruitful place is called Carmel, Isaiah 32. 15. 16. and 29. 17. The First-fruits chiefly figured Christ, by whom all the rest of the revenue is sanctified, 1 Cor. 15. 20. Rom. 11. 16. John. 12. 24. the parching, breaking, grinding, &c. figured his suffering for us, being bruised for our iniquities, Esa. 53 5. Whereby he was offered for a sweet favor unto God. And with him we are partakers in our measure, Rom. 8. 17. Colos. 1. 24.

Vers. 15. shalt put] Heb. shalt give (which the Greek translatheth shalt pour) oil; which was according to other meat-offerings, a log of oil, and an handful of frankincense; signifying the graces of God in Christ and his members, and the sweet odour of his oblation for us. See more in the notes on Levite. 23. 10. touching this manner of service.

CHAP. III.

1, The Peace-offerings, of the herd; 6, and of the stock; 7, either Sheep, 12, or Goat.

AND if his oblation be, a sacrifice of Peace-offerings: if he offer it of the herd, whether it be male or female; he shall offer it perfect, before Jehovah. And he shall lay his hand, upon the head of his oblation: and he shall kill it, at the door of the Tent of the Congregation: and Aaron's sons the Priests, shall sprinkle the blood, upon the Altar, round-about. And he shall offer of the sacrifice of the Peace-offerings, a Fire-offering unto Jehovah: the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards. And the two kidneys, and the fat which is upon them, which is upon the flanks: & the caul above the liver, with the kidneys, he shall take-away it. And Aaron's sons shall burn it on the Altar, with the Burnt-offering, which is upon the wood, that is on the fire: it is a Fire-offering, of a savor of rest, unto Jehovah.

And if his oblation, for a sacrifice of Peace-offerings unto Jehovah, be of the flock: male or female, he shall offer it perfect. If he offer a Lamb, for his oblation: then shall he offer-it before Jehovah. And he shall lay his hand, upon the head of his oblation; and he shall kill it, before the Tent of the congregation: and Aaron's sons, shall sprinkle the blood thereof, upon the Altar, round-about. And he shall offer, of the sacrifice of the Peace-offerings, a Fire-offering unto Jehovah: the fat thereof, and the whole rump, it shall he take-off hard-by the backbone: and the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards. And the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, which is upon the flanks: and the caul above the liver, with the kidneys, he shall take-away it. And the Priest shall burn it, upon the Altar: it is the bread of the Fire-offering unto Jehovah.

And if his oblation, be a Goat: then he shall offer it, before Jehovah. And he shall lay his hand, upon the head of it; and he shall kill it, before the Tent of the congregation: and Aaron's sons, shall sprinkle the blood thereof, upon the Altar, round-about. And he shall offer thereof, his oblation; a Fire-offering, unto Jehovah: the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat, that is upon the inwards. And the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, which is upon the flanks: and the caul above the liver, with the kidneys, he shall take away it. And the Priest shall burn them, upon the Altar: it is the bread of the Fire-offering, for a savor of rest; all the fat, is Jehovah's. It shall be an eternal statute, for your generations, through-out all your dwellings: any fat or any blood, ye shall not eat.

Annotations.

His oblation] his korban, which the Greek translath his gift unto the Lord: so korban is by the Euangelift expounded a gift, Mark. 7. 11.

Peace-offerings] or, Pay-offerings: Hebr. a sacrifice of Payments, or of pacifications, or of perfections, whereby men paid unto God Confession and thanks for their peace and prosperity, and for his performing of mercies, and pacification, and paid their vows; as is written, Thy vows are upon me, O God: I will pay confessions unto thee, Psal. 56. 13. and Peace-offerings, are upon me; this day have I paid my vows, Proverbs 7. 14. These sacrifices were of sundry sorts, either for Confession (or Thanks giving) Lev. 7. 11. 12. or for a Vow; or for a Uoluntary offering; Levite. 7. 16. Here, and usually in the law, the word is Shelamim, as of many payments or thanks, due unto God for his many benefits, as David professeth, Psalm 116. 12. 14. 17. 18. but in Amos 5. 22. it is used singularly Shelem. The Greek often translath it Eirenikee, that is, a Pacifying (or Peace) offering; but here and most commonly Soterion, a sacrifice of salvation, (offered unto God for his salvation of men.) The Chaldee hath, the sacrifice of sanctities (or sanctifications;) whether because none but clean & sanctified persons might eat of it? Leviticus 7. 19. 20. or for sanctifying the name of God by it. Sol. Rashi saith they are called Peace-offerings, because they bring peace into the world: as also because by them there is peace to the Altar, to the Priests, and to the owners: that is, every of these have a part in the Peace-offerings. R. Menachem saith, it is of like meaning as that in Isaiah. 44. 28. He shall perform all my pleasure. The mystery of this sacrifice is opened in Hosea 14. 2. Take-away (Lord) all iniquity, and receive (or give) good: and we will pay, the bullocks of our lips; which the Greek there translath, the fruit of our lips: and the Apostle likewise saith, By him (that is, by Jesus,) let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually: that is, the fruit of the lips, confessing to his name; Heb. 13. 15. These Peace-offerings, were also given, when men in their troubles prayed unto God for peace and salvation, Judges 20. 26. and 21. 4 1 Chronicles 21. 26. That as the Burnt offering (in Lev. 1.) figured our reconciliation to God by the death of Christ; and the Meat-offering (in Lev. 2.) our sanctification in him before God: so this Peaceoffring signified both Christ's oblation of himself, whereby he became our Peace and salvation, Ephes. 2. 14. 15. 16. Acts 13. 47. Heb. 5. 9. and 9. 28. and our oblation of praise, thanks giving, and prayer unto God; in the midst of troubles, temptations, and spiritual combats, which we fight by faith in this life: so that we come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may receive mercy, and find grace to help in time of need; Heb. 4. 16. or female] herein it differeth from the Burnt-offering, which was to be of the males only, Lev. 1. 3. By this distinction of sexes, the Hebrews gather, that the beast which was neither perfect male nor female, or both male and female, though it had no other blemish, was not fit for sacrifice: Maimonides in Issurei Mizbeach, chap. 3. Sect. 3. Spiritually we may apply this to the state of the Church in Christ, in whom there is neither male nor female, but all are one in him, Gal. 3. 28. And that God accepteth not only the sacrifice of Christ, but ours also in him, Heb. 13. 15. perfect] in Greek, without blemish: See Exod. 12. 5. and Lev. 1. 3.

Vers. 2. lay] or, impose his hand, (in Greek, his [unspec] hands;) to testify by this sign his faith in God through Christ: see the notes on Levite. 1. 4. The difference there and here, the Hebrew doctors think to be this, that over the Peace-offering, there was no confession (of sins,) but speaking words of Praise (unto God:) and that hands might be laid on in any place of the courtyard where he would, in the place where it was killed. Maimonides, treat. of offering sacrifices, chap. 3. Sect. 14. 15. he] that is, the Priest or some other Levite shall kill it: see Lev. 1. 5. It might be killed in any place of the Court; (Maimonides ibid. chap. 5. Sect. 4.) and was not restrained to the Northside of the Altar, as the Burnt-offering, Levite. 1. 11. For these Peace-offerings the Hebrews call the letghter holy things; to distinguish them from the Holy of holies, Lev. 2. 10. sprinkle] according to the manner observed on Lev. 1. 5. For the Bur-offering. Trespass-offering and Peace-offering; the sprinkling of the blood of these three upon the Altar, was ‹ › alike: Maimonides treat. of Offring sacrifices, chap. 5. Sect. 6. It figured the sprinkling of Christ's blood, whereby we, our words, and works are sanctified before God. 1 Pet. 1. 2. Heb. 12. 24.

Vers. 3. unto Jehovah] wholly burnt upon the Altar unto the Lord. There were besides, of every Peace-offering, the Brest and the right shoulder, which were waved and heaved before the Lord, and given the Priests to eat: whereof see Lev. 7. 30. 32. &c. the other flesh of the Peace-offering, was eaten by the owner that brought it, and his family and friends; Lev. 7. 15. 16. the fat] or, the su (⋯) . This sometime signifieth the best of all things, (as is shown upon Gen. 4. 4.) and so teacheth to offer the best unto the Lord: sometime it signifieth unbelief, dullness, and hardness of heart, (as (⋄) is without sense,) Psalm 119. 70. Acts 28. 27. so the fat consumed in the fire, signified the taking away of our corruptions by the spirit of Christ. And the kidneys, (which are the seat of lust,) not the heart or brains (which are the seat of wisdom and understanding,) were likewise burned; to teach mortification of our members which are on earth, fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, &c. Colos. 3. 5. See the notes on Exod. 29. 13.

Vers. 4. which is] understand again, the fat which is upon the flankes, or (as the Greek and Chaldee interpret it) upon the thighs: so the Hebrew doctors expound it as a distinct fat from the former, and say it was the fat which is in the roots of the thighs, on the forepart. Maimonides, treat. of forbidden meats, chap. 7. Sect. 6.

Vers. 5. shall burn it] The order of offering this sacrifice was; the Priest killed it, and sprinkled the blood, and flayed it, and took out the inwards. Afterwards he cut in pieces the flesh, and separated the breast and the right shoulder, (Levite. 7. 30. 32.) and put the inwards with the breast and shoulder, into the owners hands. And the Priest put his hand under the owners hands and waved all before the Lord, on the East side. And if it were a Thank-offering (Levite. 7. 12. 14.) he took of the bread that was brought therewith, one cake often, and laid it with the breast, shoulder, and inwards, and waved all upon the owners hands. First he laid the fat upon the owners hands, then the breast, and the shoulder above. And the two kidneys and the caul of the liver, above them. And if there were any bread, he laid it above, and so waved all. After that, he salted the inwards, and burned all upon the Altar: but the breast and the shoulder, were eaten by the Priests; and the remnant of the Peace-offering was eaten by the owners. But the Priests might not have the breast and shoulder, till the inwards were burned. Likewise the bread waved with the Thank-offering, was eaten by the Priests; and the rest of the bread, by the owners If two brought a peace-offering in partnership; the one of them waved it, by leave of his fellow: and if they were 100. one waved for them all. If the owner of the sacrifice were a woman, she waved it not, but the Priest. A woman never waved, save only in the offering of jealousy, (Numbers 5.) and of a Nazirite, (Num. 6.) Maimonides, in treat. of offering sacrif chap. 9. Sect. 6. 7. &c. upon the Burnt offering] that is, laying it on the altar after the Burnt-offering; for that always had the first place. Sol. Rashi here saith: this teacheth us, that the daily Burnt-offering, was before any other oblation. It signified, that we are first to be reconciled unto God by the death of Christ, apprehended of us by faith, before any oblation of ours can be acceptable to God. of rest] Greek, of sweet smell: in the Chaldee, an offering which shall be received with favor, before the Lord. See Levite. 1. 9. Hereby God's acceptance of us, and of our service, prayers, thanksgiving, &c. in Christ, was signified, H b. 13. 15. 16.

Vers. 6. of the flock] sheep or goats, as after is explained: but here is no mention of fowls, as was for the Burnt-offering, Levite. 1. 14. The Hebrews say, Peace-offerings are brought of sheep, and of goats. and of be•es, of males or of females, of great or of small: but no fowl is brought for Peace-offerings. Sm•l (beasts) are from eight days old, until a complete year, from day today: and great (beasts) of the herd, till they be full three years old, from day today; and of the flock, till they be full two years old, from day today: if they be more then thus, they are too old, and may not be offered. Maimonides, treat. of Offring the sacrifice, chat. 1. Sect. 11.

Vers. 7. a Lamb] or sheep; of the first year, as is noted on Levite. 1. implying also a sheep of the second year, which was lawful to be offered, as is before shown.

Vers. 8. he] that is, the Priest or Levite, shall kill it, so in verse 13. see Levite. 1. 5. before] the Greek translatheth, at the door of the Tent, (as Moses said in verse 2.) so after in verse 13. and these phrases explain one another.

Verse 9. whole rump] the perfect (or entire) tail; which in some kind of sheep is very great and fat; especially in those parts of the world, and namely in Syria, as Pliny mentioneth, Hist. b. 8. c. 48. Therefore it is here commanded to be burnt upon the altar, with the other fat and inwards.

Verse 11. the bread] or, the food, meaning the flesh which the fire on the altar was to eat up and consume. The Greek translatheth it, a savor of sweet-smell: so in verse 16. And because these things were burnt unto God, therefore God calleth them also his bread, Num. 28. 2. Ezek. 44. 7. and the Priests which burned them, are said to offer the bread of their God. Levite. 21. 6. 8. 17. and the holy things which the Priests did eat, are called by the like name, Levite. 21. 22.

Vers. 12. a Goat] this is here handled in a section apart, (not together with the sheep, as was in the law of the burnt-offering, Leviticus 1. 10.) because of some difference in the oblation; as Sol. Rashi observeth, there is in the fat of the sheep, that which is not in the fat of the goat, for the rump of the sheep was offered with the fat, verse 9.

Verse 17. any fat] to weet, any such far, and of such beasts as are here forespoken of, of beeves, sheep, or goats, as the law after explaineth it, Leviticus 7. 23. and a man was not guilty, save for these three sorts of clean beasts only: of other tame or wild beasts, whether clean or unclean, the fat was as the flesh: saith Maimonides, in tom. 2. treat. of Forbidden meats, chapter 7. Section 1. Moreover, there were three sorts of fat, for eating whereof, men deserved to be cut off, (as in Leviticus 7. 25.) the fat which is upon the inwards, and which is upon the two kidneys, and which is upon the flanks: but the rump was lawful to be eaten, it was not called fat, but in the case of sacrifice only: even as the kidneys and the caul above the liver, are called fat, in the case of sacrifice. The fat which was covered over with flesh, was lawful: the fat upon the kidneys was forbidden, not that which was within the kidneys. The fat of the heart, &c. was lawful. Maimonides ibidem Sect. 5. 7. 9. any blood] to weet of fowls, or of beasts absolutely, as is explained, Lev. 7. 26. But blood of fishes, Locusts, and other such things, was not within this prohibition: therefore it was lawful to eat or to drink the blood of such fishes, locusts, &c. as were clean for food: saith Maimonides ibidem, chap. 6. S. 〈◊〉. See the annotations on Gen. 9. 4. Lev. 7. 26. & 17. 14. As eating & drinking, signifieth communion, 1 Cor. 11. 24. and 10. 16. 17. and the forbidding to eat, signifieth a forbidding of communion, Act. 10. 13. 14. 15. 28. Heb. 13. 10. so this prohibition of eating blood (which was given upon the altar to make atonement for men's souls, Lev. 17. 11.) and of fat, (which was given-upon the altar to be consumed there with fire, and so was the Lord's, Levite. 3. 16.) seemeth to forbid figuratively, all ascribing unto ourselves of the work of our redemption, which is only by the blood of Christ, Eph. 1. 7. and of the work of our sanctification, which Christ by his spirit performeth in us; 1 Cor. 1. 30. 31. Ephes. 5. 26. Heb. 10. 10. 1 Pet. 1. 2.

CHAP. III.

1, The sin-offerings, for the ignorances of the anointed Priest: 13, of the Congregation; 22, of the Ruler, 27, or of any of the people.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying, Speak unto the sons of Israel, saying: A soul, when it shall sin through ignorance, of all the commandments of Jehovah, which should not be done: and shall do, of any one of them. If the Priest that is anointed, shall sin to the guilty-sin of the people: then he shall offer for his sin which he hath sinned, a bullock a youngling of the herd, perfect, unto Jehovah for a Sin offering. And he shall bring the bullock, unto the door of the Tent of the congregation, before Jehovah: and shall lay his hand, upon the head of the bullock, and he shall kill the bullock, before Jehovah. And the Priest, that is anointed, shall take of the bullocks blood: and shall bring it, into the Tent of the congregation. And the Priest shall dip his finger, in the blood: and shall sprinkle of the blood, seven times before Jehovah; before the veil of the Holy place. And the Priest shall put some of the blood, upon the horns of the Altar, of the incense of sweet-spices, before Jehovah; which is in the Tent of the congregation: and all the blood of the bullock, he shall pour at the bottom of the altar of the Burnt-offering, which is at the door of the Tent of the congregation. And all the fat, of the bullock of the Sin-offering, he shall take off from it: the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat, which is upon the inwards. And the two kidneys, and the fat which is upon them, which is upon the flankes: and the caul, above the liver; with the kidneys, he shall take away it. As it was taken off, from the bullock of the sacrifice of Peace-offerings: and the Priest shall burn them, upon the altar of the Burnt-offering. And the skin of [unspec] the bullock, and all his flesh, with his head; and with his legs: and his inwards, and his dounge. Even all the bullock shall he carry-forth; [unspec] to without the campe, unto a clean place, at the pouring-out of the ashes; and shall burn him on wood, with fire: at the pouring-out of the ashes, shall he be burnt.

And if all the Congregation of Israel, sin [unspec] ignorantly; and the thing be hid, from the eyes of the church: and they have done any one of all the commandments of Jehovah, which should not be done, and are guilty. When the sin is known, which they have [unspec] sinned, against it: then the church shall offer a bullock a youngling of the herd, for a Sin offering; and shall bring him, before the Tent of the congregation. And the Elders of the [unspec] congregation, shall lay their hands, upon the head of the bullock, before Jehovah: and he shall kill the bullock, before Jehovah. And the Priest that is anointed, shall [unspec] bring of the blood of the bullock: into the Tent of the congregation. And the Priest [unspec] shall dip his finger, in some of the blood: and shall sprinkle seven times, before Jehovah; before the veil. And he shall put some of the [unspec] blood, upon the horns of the Altar, which is before Jehovah, which is in the Tent of the congregation: and all the blood, he shall pour at the bottom of the Altar of the Burnt-offering; which is at the door of the Tent of the congregation. And all his fat, he shall take-off from him: and burn it, upon the Altar. And he shall do with the [unspec] bullock, as he did with the bullock of the Sin-offering; so shall he do with it: and the Priest, shall make-an-atonement for them, and it shall be mercifully-forgiven them. And he shall carry-forth the bullock, to [unspec] without the campe; and shall burn him, as he burned the first bullock: it is the Sin-offering of the church.

When the Ruler, hath sinned▪ and done [unspec] any one of all the commandments of Jehovah his God, which should not be done, through ignorance, and is guilty. Or if his [unspec] sin, be made-known unto him, that wherein he hath sinned: then he shall bring his oblation, a goat-bucke of the goats, a male perfect. And he shall lay his hand, upon [unspec] the head of the goat-bucke, and he shall kill him, in the place, where he killeth the Burnt offering, before Jehovah: it is a Sin-offering. And the Priest shall take, of the blood of the [unspec] Sin-offering, with his finger; and put it, upon the horns of the altar of Burnt-offering: and shall pour his blood, at the bottom of the altar of Burnt-offering. And all his fat, he shall burn upon the altar, as the fat of the sacrifice of Peace-offerings: and the Priest, shall make-an-atonement for him, concerning his sin, and it shall be mercifully-forgiven him.

And if one soul, sin through ignorance, of the people of the land: while it doth any one of the commandments of Jehovah, which should not be done, and be guilty. Or if his sin be made known unto him, which he hath sinned: then he shall bring his oblation, a she-goat of the goats, perfect, a female; for his sin, which he hath sinned. And he shall lay his hand, upon the head of the Sin-offering: and he shall kill the Sin-offering, in the place of the Burnt-offering. And the Priest shall take of the blood thereof, with his finger; and put it, upon the horns of the altar of Burnt-offering: and all the blood thereof, he shall pour, at the bottom of the altar. And he shall take away all the fat thereof, as the fat is taken away, from off the sacrifice of Peace-offerings: and the Priest shall burn it upon the altar, for a favor of rest, unto Jehovah: and the Priest shall make an atonement for him, and it shall be mercifully forgiven him.

And if he bring a Lamb for his oblation, for a Sin-offering: he shall bring it, a female perfect. And he shall lay his hand, upthe head of the Sin-offering; and he shall kill it for a Sin-offering, in the place where he killeth the Burnt-offering. And the priest shall take the blood of the Sin-offering, with his finger, and put it upon the horns of the altar of Burnt-offering: and shall pour all the blood thereof, at the bottom of the altar. And he shall take away all the fa thereof, as the fat of the lamb is taken away, from the sacrifice of the Peace-offerings: and the Priest shall burn them upon the altar according to Jehovah's Fire-offerings: and the priest shall make-an-atonement for him, for his sin which he hath finned; and it shall be mercifully-forgiven him.

Annotations.

A Soul] that is, a person or man, as the Chaldee translatheth it. when it shall sin] or, if it sin. Whereas he had taught the justification and sanctification of the Church, by the former sacrifices, and how men ought to walk in newness of life: now, because there is not a just man upon earth that doth good and sinneth not. Eccles. 7. 20. but in many things we offend all, I am. 3. 2. the Lord appointed means for the cleansing of his Church and all the members thereof, from the infirmities, errors and ignorant sins which they fall into. But if we sin willfully, after that we have received the knowledge of the truth; there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins, but a certain fearful looking for of judgment, and fiery indignation, which shall devour the adversaries, (or enemies of the Lord,) Heb. 10. 26. 27. Isaiah 26. 10. 11. through ignorance] or, in error, unawares, by unadvisedness. Shegagah the word here used, signifieth error or going astray out of the right way, through ignorance or forgetfulness, or unadvisedness, or by being deceived, or the like. The Greek sometime turneth it, Agnoia, Ignorance, but here and often translatheth it, Acousios, unwillingly: which is contrary to that which the Apostle calleth Heconsios, willingly or willfully, Heb. 10. 16. contrary also to that which the law calleth sinning with an high hand, or presumptuously, Num. 15. 27.—30. We may see the meaning openly by Moses in Numb. 35. 11. where he speaketh of killing a person, by error, or unawares, which in Deut. 19. 4. is said to be ignorantly, or without knowledge; and both are joined together in Ios. 20. 3. unawares, (or by error) and without knowledge, (or unweetingly:) whereto is opposed a lying in wait, that is, a purpose and willingness to kill him, Deut. 19. 11. Exodus 21. 13. The Apostle likewise calleth such sins, Agnoemata, Errors-done-of-ignorance, in Heb. 9. 7. and more fully openeth it by two words, in Heb. 5. 3. showing the Priests duty to have compassion on the ignorant, and on them that err. So that these ignorances or errors, were misdeeds arising from error of the mind or of the affections; when men did either not know or understand the Law aright, or not remember or take heed thereto as they ought, when they knew not the nature of sin, or considered not how loathsome it was unto God; but were overtaken and miscarried by their errors or lusts, such are to be restored in the spirit of meekness, Gal. 6. 1. for such God appointed sacrifices; but for presumptuous willful & malicious sins, men were to be cut off: Numb. 15. 27. 30. These Errors or Ignorances are such and so many as no man can understand, Psal. 19. 13. and God both cleanseth us of them by the sacrifice of Christ, Hebr. 10. 10. 12. and restraineth us from them by afflictions, Psal. 119. 67. and warneth us to take heed of them, lest he be angry, and destroy the work of our hands, Eccles. 5. 6. And whereas there followeth a law in Lev. 5. 17. for sins not known, the Hebrews put this difference: Shegagah (an error or sin through ignorance) is when he knoweth certainly: that he hath done the thing, but he did it in error (or unadvisedly:) but he that knoweth not, is he that is uncertain whether he did the thing or no. Talmud Bab. in Cherethoth (and Maimonie in his explanations on the same.) ch. 1. of all] understand, by doing any one of all the commandments. So Moses himself explaineth it in the words here following, and in ver. 13. 22. 27▪ commandments] or, charges: meaning prohibitions, or forbodes. For God commandeth both to eschew evil, and to do good: and most of the ten commandments (Exod. 20.) are forbiddings of sin. And thus the holy Ghost useth the word, both ways; as Take heed, &c. lest ye make you the likeness of anything, which Jehovah thy God hath commanded (that is forbidden) thee: Deut. 4. 23. And contrariwise in Deut. 17. 3. hath served other God's, &c. which I have not commanded; to wit, to be done. Hereupon the Hebrew Doctors (Maimonides and others.) divide the laws into Commandments to be done, and Commandments which should not be done. The Commandments given by Moses, they have summed up in all to be six hundred and thirteen: of them, they make affirmative precepts of things to be done, two hundred forty and eight, so many as (they say) there are bones in a man's body; & of negative precepts or prohibitions, three hundred sixty and five, so many as there are days in the year. should not] the Greek translatheth it, ought not. To these prohibitions, the Hebrew doctors do restrain this law, saying, They bring no Sinneoffring, but for ignorance (in doing) that which should not be done, as it is written (Levite. 4. 13. 27.) any one of all the commandments which should not be done. Maimonides, treat. Shegagoth (or of Ignorance) c 1. s. 2. These which are counted the greater sins, the Lord appointed for them the greater sacrifices, according also to the estate of the persons that did them, differing one from another. For some sins also which the poorer sort should commit, there were lesser sacrifices prescribed, Lev. 5. 7. 11. Other sins in omitting things to be done, were expiated by Burnt-offerings, which were offered daily for the whole Church, or by particulars persons, as they would bring them, as is shown on Levite. 1. Also by the sacrifices offered on Atonement day, whereof see Lev. 16. The Hebr. account some sins more heavy, and some more light. The heavy transgressions (they say) are those for which men deserve death (by the Magistrate) or cutting off (by the hand of God,) also vain and false oaths. Other, for which cutting off is not threatened, they hold the lighter. Maimonides, tom. 1. treat. of repentance, ch. 1. s. 2. shall do] this also they restrain unto deeds or facts, saying: Every transgression, for the presumptuous doing whereof, men deserve cutting off, (as Numb. 15. 30.) they are bound for the ignorant doing thereof to bring a sin-offering; except for three transgressions; 1. b•sphemie, 2, neglect of circumcision, 3, and of the Passover. The passover and circumcision, because they are commandments to be done; and they bring no Sin offering, but for ignorant doing of that which should not be done, Lev. 4. 2. And the blasphemer, because in him there is no deed: and it is said. FOR HIM THAT DOTHT THROUGH IGNORANCE Numbers 15. 29. Therefore he that receiveth an idolatrous opinion of God, although he deserve to be cut off if he do it presumptuously, he is to be stoned, and if he receive it in ignorance, he is not bound to bring the sacrifice, because he hath not done any deed; and it is written, when he doth any one, &c. Maimonides in Shegagoth, c. 1. s. 2. Neither if a man were accused to have done any sin, and he denied it, was he bound to bring a sacrifice: If witnesses say, we saw thee, that thou didst work on the Sabbath, or eat fat; and he say, I know certainly that I did not this thing he is not bound (to bring) a Sinneoffring. Maimonides, ibidem, c. 3. s. 1.

V. 3. anointed] that is, the High Priest; (as both [unspec] Greek and Chaldee do expound it:) for the high Priest only, in the ages following was anointed; Lev. 21. 10. and 16. 32. Exod. 29. 29. And this law concerneth his sin committed after his anointing only: that which he doth before, is counted but as of a private man. The anointed Priest or the King, which sin before they be put into office, although it be not known unto them, till after they are in office do they are as a private man. Maimonides in Shegagoth, c. 15. s. 10. Thus the Law (as the Apostle observeth) made men High Priests which had infirmity, who needed daily to offer up sacrifices, first for their own sins, and then for the people's: but our High Priest, Christ Jesus, was holy, harmless, un defiled, separate from sinners, and made higher then the heavens, Heb. 5. 2. 3. and 7. 26. 27. 28. Therefore the legal priesthood could not be perpetual; but was a figure for the time, till the coming of our Lord Jesus. to the guilty-sin] here may be understood, according to the sin of the people, that is, he sinning like them. It may also be meant, that by his teaching, or practice, the people were caused to sin; as David was a guilty sin, that is, a cause of sin, to Israel, 1 Chron. 21. 3. And this latter the Greek version followeth, saying, so that the people sin: and the old Latin expoundeth it, making the people to offend: and the Hebrews, as Chazkuni, here openeth it, to make the people guilty, in that he hath taught, and permitted them to do a thing forbidden. Of this the Hebrew canons say, If he that ignorantly-ereth, in one of these &c. be a private man, he must bring a she goat, or an ewe lamb: and if it be the anointed Priest, he must bring a bullock for a Sin-offering. Whereby is meant, he is to bring a bullock for his unadvisedness, when he ereth by teaching himself, and doth a deed through unadvisedness of his teaching only; and is withal a very wise man, as is written, If the anointed Priest sin, to the guilty sin of the people. Loe the Priest is as the Congregation. As the Congregation, that is, the Judges, are not bound to bring a sacrifice, unless they be wise men, meet to teach, and do err in teaching, and the doers do it at their mouth, &c. so is the Priest, in all these things. If he err in fact only, without teaching, whether it be in idolatry or other sins, he bringeth not the oblation. If the anointed Priest teach with the Synedrion, and both he and they err in teaching, although they do according to this teaching wherein they go astray: for as much as he relied not in the time of the fact, upon his teaching only, but upon the Synedrions also; he is discharged, and needs not bring a bullock for himself, but when the Synedrion bringeth an oblation, atonement is made for him, with the congregation in general. If he teach with the Synedrion, in error, and they sin of ignorance, they in (eating) blood, and he in (eating) fat: then atonement is not made for him with the congregation, but he must bring a Bullock for himself. Maimonides, treat of Ignorance, ch. 1. s. 4. and ch. 15. s. 1. 3. 4. 5. See after in the notes upon verse. 13. 14. a bullock] a greater sacrifice than the common persons, verse. 28. or then the Rulers, v. 22. and equal to the Congregations, v. 14. youngling] Hebr. son of the herd: see Lev. 1. 5. so after in v. 14. perfect] without blemish, as Lev. 1. 3. therein figuring the perfection of Christ. a Sin-offering] Hebrew, a Sin: so called because the sin was confessed and laid on the head of this sacrifice, offered for the sinner. Figuring Christ whom God made sin for  $\langle \phi \rangle$ , though he knew no sin, 2 Cor. 5. 21. The Apostle in Greek translatheth it, For sin, (Heb. 10. 6. from Psal. 40.) that is, an offering for sin. So after in this chapter and other where, Exodus 29. 14.

Vers. 4. lay his hand] and confess his sin which he hath sinned; (as is noted on Levite. 1. 4.) so putting it upon the head of the beast, Lev 16. 21. and this should also be with repentance, and forsaking of the sin: Prov. 28. 13. and drawing near with a true heart in assurance of faith in Christ, whom that sacrifice figured: Heb. 10. 4. 10. 22. Neither Reconciliation day, (Levite. 16.) nor Sin-offering, nor Trespass-offering, do make atonement; saving for them repent and believe in their atonement: saith Maimonides, treat. of Ignorances, Chapt. 3. s. 10. kill the bullock] a figure of the death of Christ, Heb. 20. 5. 6. 8. 10. See the notes on Lev. 1. 5.

Vers. 5. anointed] in Greek, Christ, in Hebrew Messiah, so named as a type of our great high Priest Christ Jesus, who entered, not into the holy places made with hands, but into very heaven, not with the blood of goats or bullocks, but with his own blood, and obtained eternal redemption: Heb. 9. 24. 11. 12. This anointed Priest was the sinner himself, (for he offered up sacrifice for his own sins, Heb. 7. 27.) The Anointed Priests bullock brought for any of the commandments; the anointed priest himself took the blood, and sprinkled thereof, &c. Maimonides, treat. of offering the sacrifices, chap. 5. sect. 15.

Vers. 6. seven times] a mystical number, signifying the full and perfect cleansing of sin, by the sprinkling of the blood of Jesus, Hebr. 9. 13. 14. 1 Pet. 1. 2. 1 John. 1. 7. and, that our sins need much purgation, Psal. 51. 2. 3. Seven is a complete number, used for the perfect finishing of a work; as was in the seven days of the creation, Gen. 3. 2. 3. and is used for many, 1 Sam. 2. 5. Prov. 26. 25. and 24. 16. and in mysteries throughout the scriptures, as the like seven times sprinkling of blood on atonement day, Lev. 16. 14. seven times sprinkling of oil upon the altar, when it was consecrated, Lev. 8. 11. seven times sprinkling of the leper, and seven days for his cleansing, Lev. 14. 7. 9. seven days for consecrating the Priests, Lev. 8. 35. and for purifying the unclean, Lev. 12. 2. Num. 19. 19. seven times Naaman washed him in Jordan, 2 Kin. 5. 10. 14. Seven days was Jericho besieged, and 7. priests with seven trumpets blew, and the walls fell down, Iof. 6. seven priests blew trumpets before the ark, when David brought it home, 1 Chron. 15. 24. The lamb (Christ) hath seven horns, and seven eyes, which are the 7 spirits of God, Rev. 5. 6. there also are seven seals on God's book, Rev. 5. 1. seven Angels with trumpets, Rev. 8. 2. and seven with vials, Rev. 15. 7. Every seventh day was a Sabbath, Exod. 20. 10. and the seventh year, a year of rest; and seven times seven years brought the Jubilee, Lev. 25. 3. 4. 8. Seven bullocks & seven rams were sacrificed by David, 1 Chron. 15. 26. by Hezekiah, 2 Chro. 29. 21. by Job for his friends, Job 42. 8. and by Balaam for K. Balak, upon seven altars Num. 23. 1. 14. with many the like, as may be observed throughout the Bible, Ezek. 43, 25, and 39. 9. 12. Dan. 9. 24. And the mystery of this number seven was observed also among other of the heathens. To purify myself, I wash me in the sea, dipping my head seven times in the waves; for the divine Pythagoras hath taught that that number is most fit, especially in religion. L. Apulei• de Asin. aur. l. 11. the veil of the holy place] Hebr. of holiness: which the Gr. translath, the holy veil. It was that which parted the holy place and the most holy, called the second veil, Heb. 9. 3. This figured the preparation of the way for us into the holy heavens by the blood of Christ shed and sprinkled, to remission of sins: for by the blood of Jesus, we may be bold to enter into the holy place, by the new and living way, which he hath prepared for us, through the veil, that is, his flesh. Heb. 10. 19. 20. Moreover, these rites thus described in the law, were exactly to be observed, as the Hebrew Doctors say, All the bloods that were to be bestowed within the sanctuary, if there wanted any one of them, there was no atonement made: but all of them were of the foundation of the atonement: for loe the scripture is careful of the very number, saying seven times. Blood which is commanded to be bestowed before the Lord, in the sanctuary, and they bestow it on the altar that is without: or, that which should be on the altar without, they bestow it before the Lord within the sanctuary, &c. behold the flesh of the sacrifice is polluted. Maimonides, treat. of holy things polluted, ch. 2. s. 3. 10.

Vers. 7. of sweet-spices] the Greek translath of composition; it was the golden altar, on which the sweet confection was burned, Exod. 30. 1. 34. &c. The bullocks that were burnt, &c. the blood of everyone of them, was sprinkled seven times, upon the v•tle that divided between the holy place and the most holy: and four times, upon the four horns of the golden altar. And all the bloods that were put upon the golden altar, when (the Priest) entered in, he stood between the Altar and the Candlesticks. and the altar before him. And he put (the blood) on the horns of the altar, o <...> he outside: beginning at the northe•st hor•e, and so to the northwest, and to the southwest and to the southeast: Maimonides, treat. of Offring the sacrifices, chap. 5. sect. 13. 14. This was done, to cleanse and sanctify the altar, from the uncleanness of the sinner, Levite. 16. 19. And the altar of incense, figuring Christ's mediation for us when we pray in his name, (as is shown on Exodus. 30. 6.) this rite here signified how by faith in the blood of Christ, our prayers are acceptable unto God, and our infirmities forgiven and purged. It may also prefigure his bloody sweat, when he prayed in the garden, Luke 22. 44. the bottom] or, foundation; in Greek the base. And the Sin-offerings that were burned, he brought in their blood before (the Lord) into the sanctuary, and sprinkled thereof, as is expressed in the Law: and the rest of the blood, he poured at the west bottom of the Altar that stood without: for that [west bottom] was the first that came to hand, after he came out of the Sanctuary, Mai<sup>a</sup> ibidem, chap. 5. sect. 11. It is recorded, that in the Temple at Jerusalem, there were at the south west horn of the Altar, two holes, like two nostrils, that the bloods which were poured there might pass away, into the brook Kedron: Talmud Bab. in Middoth (or treat. of the measures of the Temple, chap. 3.

Vers. 8. the fat] or, suet: see Levite. 3. 3. 4. After the killing and sprinkling of the blood, they cut open (the Sin-offerings,) and took out the fat and inwards, and put them in a vessel, and salted them, and strowed them on the fire, upon the Altar, Maimonides, treat. of Offring the Sacrifices, chap. 7. sect, 2. Hereby it became a sweet savor unto the Lord; as after is said, in verse 31. For the burning of these fats and entrails upon the altar (which sanctified the oblations, Matt. 23. 19.) figured the purifying of our affections by Christ, through the Spirit, & by our communion with his afflictions: Coloss. 2. 12. 13. and 3. 1. •5. Rom. 6. 4. 5. 6. 10. 11. 12. Psal. 16. 7.

Vers. 11. the skin] to weat, cleaving to the flesh: for the sin-offerings that were burned, were not flayed at all. But after they were carried out of the camp, they there cut them in pieces, like the pieces of the Burnt-offering, (Levite. 1. 6. with their skin; and burned them there, in the place of the ashes, Maimonides, treat. of Offring the sacrifices, c. 5. s. 18. and c. 7. s. 2.

Vers. 12. he shall carry] in Greek, they shall earie forth: so after, and they shall burn. without the campe] and after that they were seated in Canaan, and the Temple was in Jerusalem, they carried them out of the city: (Maim. ibid.) The like is after, for the sin-offering of the Church, v. 21. and upon expiation day, Lev. 16. 27. The mystery hereof, both touching Christ the sacrifice, and us the sinners, Paul openeth thus: the bodies of those beasts, whose blood is brought into the sanctuary by the high priest for sin, are burnt without the campe, wherefore ••sus also, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate. Let us go forth therefore unto him, without the campe, bearing his reproach: for here have we n• continuing city, but we seek one to come, Heb. 13. 11. 14. See after in the notes upon Lev. 6. 30. at the pouring out] that is, as the Greek explaineth it, where the ashes are poured out. So Christ was sacrificed at the place of skulls, or dead men's ashes, John. 19. 17. and that was part of his reproach, (Heb. 13. 13.) which he suffered to take away our sins. on wood] all that were burned without the court (of the sanctuary) any wood might serve for the burning of them: saith Maim. in treat. of Offring sacrif. 6. 7. s. 5. Compare herewith the notes on Lev. 1. 7. b••nt] Hereby Christ's suffering without Jerusalem gates was signified, and so the abolishing of sin, and reconcilment of the sinner unto God. Hebrews 13. 12. and 10. 10. Rom. <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math>. 10. Therefore in the sacrifices here following, verse. 20. 26. 3•. forgiveness of sins is promised; which is also to be understood in this place. Howbeit the Hebrew Doctors observe the differences thus, that of this bullock, and the goat for the Ruler, verse. 26. it is not said, for a sweet savor, &c. because of the bullocks, a part is without (the sanctuarie) for to remove away the unclean spirit: and in the sin-offering of the anointed Priest, it is not mentioned that it shall be mercifully forgiven him; for he hath not yet full pardon, until he make supplication unto his God, for he is the Angel of the Lord of hosts (Malac. 2. 7.) and he ought to be innocent and pure of hands, R. M'nachem on Levite. 4. It is also here noted by Baal Hatt'rim, how the Law commandeth the Anointed Priests oblation to be burnt openly without, at the pouring out of the ashes, that no man should be ashamed to confess his sin: for loe the high priest sinneth, and confesseth, and bringeth an oblation for his sin.

Vers. 13. all the congregation] This showeth that [unspec] the Church may err. The Hebrew Doctors have here sundry observations, touching the Judges or Magistrates, which taught error, and the people that practiced the same: saying; Every thing, for the ignorant sin whereof men are bound to bring the sin-offering appointed; if the great Session of Judges ignorantly sin in the teaching thereof, and teach that it is lawful; and the people sin of ignorance by their teaching, and the people do the thing, and rely upon their teaching. And afterward it is known to the Judges, that they have erred; loe the Judges are bound to bring the sin-offering, for their ignorance in teaching, although they themselves have not done the thing, &c. and the rest of the people are discharged of the sin-offering, although they were the doers of the thing, because they relied on the Judges. Provided, that they which teach, be the great Senate of 72. Judges, and that the Chief of the Senate see with them when they teach it, and that they be all of them meet to teach, and that they all, or the most of them, err in the thing which they teach; and that they teach it expressly, and say to the people, it is lawful for you to do it. Likewise if they which hear it from the mouth of the Judges say unto others, it is lawful for you to do it, and all the Church, or most part thereof, do it at their speech, and do it ignorantly at their speech, thinking that the thing which they teach is according to law. And they teach to infringe some part, and to confirm some part, and not to abrogate the whole body (of the commandment,) and when it is known unto them, they know the body (or substance) of the thing whereof they taught through ignorance. When all these concur, the Judges are bound to bring the sin-offering and he that doth the thing at their speech is discharged. But if there want any one of these things, then the Judges are discharged of the offering; and whosoever have sinned of ignorance, and do the deed, he brings the sin-offering appointed for his ignorance. As for example. If the Judges say, this thing is lawful: but teach it not to the people, nor say unto them, it is lawful for you to do it. And some man heareth, when they determine the thing to be lawful, and goeth and doth according as he hath heard: now who so doth it, is bound to bring the offering; and the Judges are free, because they taught them not expressly to do it. Likewise if they do it, and the lesser part of the Church do it at their word and the error be known: now the Judges are discharged, and they that do the thing are bound, and everyone brings his sin-offering, &c. If the Judges teach an unlawful thing to be lawful, presumptuously; and the Church doeth it at their mouth ignorantly; the Judges are discharged of the sacrifice, because they sin presumptuously, & everyone that did it at their mouth, is bound to bring a sacrifice for himself, because he sinned ignorantly. If the Judges teach it ignorantly, and the Church know that they are ignorant, and that it is not meet to receive it of them, and yet the Church do it at their mouth: now both of them are discharged of the sacrifice; the Judges are discharged, for the Church did it not because of their teaching which caused them to err: and all the doers are discharged of the sacrifice, because they sinned presumptuously, for they knew that they erred, and that it was not meet so to do. Maimonides, treat<sup>a</sup> of Ignorances, chap. 12. & 13. sin ignorantly] or, err, of ignorance and unadvisedness, not presumptuously; as verse. 2. So the Greek here translath it, be ignorant, or, do-ignorantly. the thing] Hebrew, the word be hid. This the Hebrews understand of some part of a commandment, not of the whole, which cannot be hidden from the eyes of the Church. The Judges that sin ignorantly, and teach to abrogate a substantial-precept (or, body of a precept) of the substantial-precepts of the law, and all the people do it at their saying; the Judges are discharged; and everyone of them that do it, is bound to bring the sin-offering appointed: as it is written, AND THE THING BE HID, and not the whole body of-the-precept. The Judges are never bound (to bring the sacrifice) till they teach to abolish a part, and to confirm a part of the things which are not expressed in the law, and explained. Afterwards, the Judges are bound to bring the sacrifice; and they that do it at their saying, are discharged. As, if they teach that it is lawful to worship idols, &c. loe it is as if they should say there is no idolatry (forbidden) in the law; which abrogateth the whole body (of the commandment;) and this and the like is not ignorance in teaching, but forgetfulness. Therefore they are discharged of the sacrifice; and who so doth it at their saying, he is bound to bring the sacrifice for himself. But if they err, and teach, saying, he that prostrateth himself to idols, &c. is guilty, for it is said thereof, thou shalt not prostrate thyself to another God; but he that bendeth towards the ground, and prostrateth not, that is lawful; now they are bound (to bring the sacrifice) And so in all the like cases, if they teach, and the most part of the Church do it at their saying, these are discharged, and the Judges bring the sacrifice for their ignorance. Maimonides in Shegagoth. c. 14. are guilty] or, do offend, sin, trespass unto gu <...> esse. See Levite. 5. 3. 6.

Vers. 14. against it] or, as the Greek translath, in it. So the Hebrew word ghnal sometime signifieth, as in Exod. 29. 3. Isaiah 38. 20. the church] or, the assembly: in Hebrew, kahal; whence the Greek word ekklesia, (a church) is derived. This the Hebrew Doctors understand, not only for the twelve tribes of Israel, but for every tribe, which is called (kahal) a church, as it is written, (in 2 Chron. 20. 5.) Iohosaphat stood in the church (or assembly) of Judah. And from this law they say, Every Tribe was to bring a Bullocke for a sin-offering; in all twelve Bullockes. And, whether all the Israelites in the land, did the thing, at the saying of the Judges teaching them; or the most of Israel did it, though they were the least number of the tribes; or, the most of the tribes did it, though they were the least of all Israel; they brought according to the number of all the tribes, a Bullock for every tribe. As, if the inhabitants of the land of Israel were 600000 and one; and they that did (the sin) by the teaching of the Judges, were 300000 and one; and all of them of the Tribe of Judah only: Or, if they that did it, were all of them the children of seven tribes, though they were but 100000. the Judges were bound (to bring the sacrifice) &c. And the tribe of Manasseh and of Ephraim, were not counted as two tribes in this business, but both for one tribe. Maimonides treat of Ignor. chap. 12. Sect. 1. and chap. 13. sect. 2. It is also observed by them, that All the sacrifices of the Church, were either Burnt-offerings, or Sin-offerings: and among the sacrifices of the Congregation there were no Peace-offerings, save the two lambs that were brought with the waved loaves, at the solemn assembly, (Levite. 23. 19.) and they were called the Peace-offerings of the Congregation. And the Church never offered a trespass offering, nor any Bird. Maimonides treat of offering sacrifices, chap. 1. sect. 4. a bullock] In Num. 15. 24. the law appointeth a bullock for a burnt-offering, and an he Goat for a sin-offering, when the congregation ignorantly sinneth: and here, it commandeth a Bullock for a sin-offering only. The Hebrews reconcile these laws thus: What is the offering they bring for this ignorance? If it be concerning idolatry that they (the Judges) ignorantly sin and teach it; they bring a Bullock for a Burnt-offering, and an he goat for a sin-offering, for every tribe; and this is the offering spoken of in Num. 15. 24. which by word of mouth hath been taught, to be spoken of ignorant-sinning by idolatry. But if it be concerning any other transgressions that they ignorantly-offend and teach, for the ignorant doing whereof they are bound to bring the appointed sacrifice; then every tribe bringeth a Bullock for a sin-offering; and this is that spoken of in Levite. 4. 13. 14. Maimonides treat. of Ignorances, chapt. 12. Sect. 1. Others do accord these laws thus, that this here is meant of the sin of all Israel jointly; and that in Num. 15. is meant of particular assemblies or synagogues, as they were distinct by their dwellings in Canaan. But I observe another difference, how this in Levite. 4. 13. speaketh of doing someone of all the commandments which should not be done: that, in Num. 15. 22. speaketh of not doing all the commandments, which the Lord had spoken by Moses.

Vers. 15. lay their hands] There is no laying on of hands, upon the offerings of the Congregation, but upon two; viz. upon the scape goat, (Lev. 16. 21.) and upon the Bullock for the thing hid from the eyes of the church, (Lev. 4. 13. 15.) Upon it three of the Synedron, do lay their hands. Maimonides treat of offering sacrifices, chap. 3. sect. 10. See also the notes on Levite. 1. 4. It figured their faith in Christ, upon whom God would lay the iniquity of us all, Isaiah 5. 6. and so would not impute their trespasses unto them, (◇) Cor. 5. 19. he] that is, the Priest or Levite shall kill: see Levite. 1. 5.

Vers. 16. anointed] that is, as the Chaldee expoundeth it, the chief Priest: in Greek, Christ, that is Anointed: a figure of our Lord Christ.

Vers. 17. seven times] signifying a full purgation: see the notes on verse. 6. &c. For, the things done to the sacrifice of the high Priest, the same were done to the congregations.

Vers. 20. the sin-offering] in Greek, the Sin: meaning the sacrifice which was for the high priests sin, verse. 8. &c. the first Bullock, as it is called in verse. 21. it shall] that is, as the Greek translatheth, the sin shall be forgiven them.

Vers. 21. he shall carry] in Greek, they shall carry out the whole Bullock: as v. 12.

Vers. 22. the Ruler] or, the Prince; in Hebrew, Nasi, that is, one Preferred, or Advanced above others; or, one that lifteth up and easeth the burdens of the people, by governing them; as Num. 11. 17. Exod. 18. 22. It is a common name, both to inferior rulers, Num. 16. 2. Exod. 16. 22. and to the chief, as the King, Ezek. 34. 24. and 38. 2. and 45. 7. The Hebrew Doctors understand this law, of the later, saying, Who is the Ruler spoken of in the law? It is the King, over whom, no man of Israel hath power; neither (◇) any above him in his kingdom, but the Lord his God. Whether he be of David's house, or of the other tribes of Israel. And if there be many Kings, and one of them do not serve another, everyone of them brings an he goat for his sin of ignorance. Maimonides, treat. of Ignorances, chap. 15. sect. 6 So in Ezek. 46. 2. 4. &c. the offerings of the Prince are distinct from those of the people of the Land. through ignorance] or, by error: in Greek, unwillingly: as in v. 2.

Vers. 23. Or if] the Greek translatheth it, And his sin be known, &c. so in verse. 28. But though Or, be sometimes used for And, or If: yet here it may be used properly, meaning, if his sin be known of himself, or be made known to him by others. So Chazkuni explaineth it, And is guilty, that he knoweth it of himself: or it be made known unto him, by the means of others. This is for his own particular sin, which he doth when he is a ruler. For, the Ruler that doeth with the Congregation, by the teaching of the Judges, atonement is made for him, as for the people generally. If the Judges be they that offer for their ignorance, all the people and the King are discharged from bringing the sacrifice, as is before shown. And if they that do it at the saying of the Judges, be bound to bring the sacrifice, and the King be one of the doers, then he brings an he goat: for the Rulers he goat, is in place of the ewe lamb or she goat of the common person. Maimonides treat. of Ignorances, chap. 15. sect. 8. his oblation] in Greek, his gift.

Vers. 24. killeth the Burnt-offering] that is, on the north side of the altar: see Levite. 1. 11. The Greek translatheth, where they kill (that is, use to kill) the Burnt-offerings.

Vers. 25. of burnt-offering] herein it differed from the former of the high Priest, and Church, whose blood was carried into the Sanctuary, and put on the homes of the altar of Incense, verse. 7. 18. The sin offerings that were eaten (as they were whose blood was not carried into the Sanctuary, Levite. 6. 26. 30.) their blood was to be put on the four bo ⟨...⟩ of the altar that stood without, from the midst of the altar and upward. When the Priest took the blood in a bason, he carried it to the altar, and dipped thefore finger of his right hand in the blood, and put it upon the horn: and so he did to every borne. And he was bound to dip his finger at every horn. And when he had made an end of putting it upon the horn, he wiped his finger on the edge of the bason; and after that, he dipped the second time: for the blood that remained upon his finger, it was not lawful to put thereof upon another horn. Of all the sacrifices, not any ones blood was to be sprinkled with the finger, but of the sin-offering only. And thus he began; he went up on the foot-bank, and turned on his right hand and went round about; and put upon the south-east horn first: after that upon the next horn which was the north-east: then upon the north-west; and after that upon the south west. And at the bottom of that horn, where he made an end of striking on the blood, he poured out the residue of the blood; which was at the southern bottom. Maimonides treat. of offering the sacrifices, chap. 5. sect. 7. 8. 9. 10. pour his blood] in Greek, pour all his blood: meaning all which remaineth after the sprinkling. So in verse. 30 Moses saith, all the blood, likewise in verse 34. which is to be understood here.

Vers. 27. one soul] in Chaldee, one man: meaning [unspec] man or woman, as Numb. 5. 6. people of the land] that is, of the common people, except only the high Priest, and Prince forementioned: any either Israelite, common Priest, or Levite: as Ibn E ⟨...⟩ explaineth it. one] The sacrifice here following, is for any one sin: if many sins be committed at once, there must, by proportion, so many sin-offerings be brought: as likewise the Hebrew Doctors explain, in the foresaid treat. of Ignorances, chap. 4. where also they say, for example; He that killeth a beast of the holy things, out of the court yard of the sanctuary, on the Sabbath day, in the service of a false god; he is bound to bring three sacrifices; because he killed the holy things out of the Court; and because he prosaned the Sabbath; and because he committed idolatry: for here three unlawful things are ⟨◇⟩ in one.

Vers. 28. a she goat] This is the sacrifice appointed [unspec] of God, which therefore the sinner might not alter, or bring any other instead thereof: though for some other sins, if he were poor and not able, he might bring a lesser sacrifice, Levite. 5. 7. 11. The Hebrews have this rule; All sins that deser•• cutting off by the Law, except those three before mentioned, [and shown in the notes on verse. 2.] if a particular person transgress in any of them through ignorance, he is to bring the sin-offering appointed: except the unclean person that eateth of the holy thing; and the unclean person that cometh into the sanctuary both of them do not bring the Sin-offering appointed, but the oblation mentioned in Levite. 5. 7. 11. a sh <...> beast if he be rich; and two Doves, or Floure, if he be poor. Maimonides treat. of Ignorances, chap. 1. s. 3. perfect] without blemish: see Levite. 1. 3. which he hath sinned] and not for any other of his sins: as, he that separateth a Sin-offering for fat which he hath eaten, may not bring the same for the Sabbath which he hath polluted, or for blood which he hath eaten, &c. for then it is unlawful. Yea more then this (they say) he that separateth his sin-offering for fat which he did eat yesterday, may not bring it for fat which he did eat this day: and if he bring it so, it makes no atonement for him. Maimonides treat. of Ignorances, chap. 3. sect. 3. If he bring two sin-offerings for two sins: the one is to be killed in the name of the first sin; and the other, in the name of the second sin. Ibid. s. 6.

Vers. 29. his hand] with confession of his sin: see Levite. 1. 4. the sin-offering] in Greek, the head of his sin: that is, his sacrifice. he shall] that is, the Priest or Levite shall kill: Greek, they shall kill the Goat of sin, that is, the goat to be sacrificed for sin. See Levite. 1. 5.

Vers. 30. the horns] the four horns of the Altar, after the manner before described on v. 25.

Verse 31. of rest] Greek, of sweet smell: the Chaldee explaineth it, to be accepted with favor: see the notes on Lev. <ϕ> . 9.

Vers. 32. a Lamb] or, sheep. This sacrifice is spoken of, apart from the former of the goat, because of the difference in the fat which was burned; as is shown in the annotations on Lev. 3. 12.

Verse 33. he shall kill] in Greek, they shall kill it for sin, that is, for a sin-offering: which Sol. Iarohi expoundeth, that the killing be by the name of a sin-offering. All these perfect unblemished sacrifices, for the sins of the people, figured Christ the lamb without blemish and without spot, 1 Pet. 1. 19. the lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world, John 1. 29. who once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust that he might bring us to God, 1 Peter 3. 18. For he made him who knew no sin, to be sin for us, that we might be made the righteousness of God in him, 2 Cor. 5. 21.

Vers. 35. according to] or, upon, or with Jehovah's Fire-offerings: which the Greek translatheth, upon the Lord's Burnt-offering. For the daily Burnt-offering was first offered to the Lord; and other sacrifices after, and as it were upon the same. But it may be referred to the fat of the Peace-offerings, Levite. 3. according to which, the fat of the sin-offering was to be burnt. As for the flesh or bodies of this and the former Sin-offering of the Prince, they were not burnt without the host, (as the High Priests and Churches were) but eaten by the Priests; as is commanded in Lev. 6. 26.—30.

CHAP. V.

1. He that sinneth, in concealing his knowledge, when he heareth an adjuration: 2, When he hath touched an unclean thing, or person, 4, or in making an oath: 6, His Trespass-offering of the flock, 7, or of fowls, 11, or of flower. 14. The Trespass-offering in sacriliges, 17, and in sins of ignorance, not known.

And a soul when it shall sin, and hear the voice of an adjuration; and he is a witness; whether he hath seen, or known of it: if he do not utter it, then he shall bear his iniquity. Or a soul, that shall touch, any unclean thing; either the karkase of an unclean wild-beast; or the karkase of unclean cattle, or the karkase of an unclean creeping-thing: and it be hidden from him; and he is unclean, and is guilty. Or when he shall touch, the uncleanness of man; according to all his uncleanness, that he shall be unclean withal: and it be hidden from him; and he knoweth of it, and is guilty. Or a soul, when it shall swear, pronouncing with the lips to do evil, or to do good; according to all that a man shall pronounce, with an oath, and it be hidden from him: and he knoweth of it, and is guilty, in one of these. Then it shall be when he is guilty, in one of these: that he shall confess, that he hath sinned, concerning it. And he shall bring his Trespass offering unto Jehovah, for his sin which he hath sinned; a female from the flock, a lamb, or a she-goat of the goats, for a sin-offering: and the Priest, shall make-anatonement for him, concerning his sin.

And if his hand reach not to the sufficiency of a lamb; then he shall bring for his trespass which he hath sinned, two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons, unto Jehovah: one for a Sin-offering, and one for a Burnt offering. And he shall bring them, unto the priest; and he shall offer, that which is for the sin offering, first: and he shall cut-withhis-nail the head thereof, over-against the neck thereof, and shall not divide-it-asunder. And he shall sprinkle of the blood of the Sin-offering, upon the side of the Altar; and the rest of the blood, shall be wrung-out, at the bottom of the Altar: it is a Sin-offering. And the second, he shall make a burntoffring, according to the manner: and the Priest shall make-an-atonement for him, for his sin which he hath sinned, and it shall be mercifully-forgiven him.

And if his hand attain not to two turtle-doves, or to two young pigeons; then he that sinned, shall bring for his oblation, the tenthpart of an Ephah, of fine-flower, for a sin-offering: he shall not put upon it, oil; neither shall he give upon it, frankincense; for it, is a Sin-offering. And he shall bring it, unto the Priest; and the Priest shall take his handful of it, a memorial thereof, and shall burn it on the altar, according to Jehovah's Fire-offerings: it is a Sin-offering. And the Priest shall make-an-atonement for him, for his sin which he hath sinned, in one of these, and it shall be mercifully-forgiven him: and it shall be the Priests, as the Meat-offering.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying. A soul, when it shall transgress a transgression; and sin through ignorance, in the holy things of Jehovah: then he shall bring his trespass unto Jehovah, a Ram perfect out of the flock, with thy estimation, of silver shekels, after the shekel of the Sanctuary, for a Trespass-offering. And that which he hath sinned, concerning the holy-thing, he shall pay; and the fifth part thereof he shall add thereunto, and give it unto the Priest: and the Priest shall make-anatonement for him, with the Ram of the Trespass-offering; and it shall be mercifully-forgiven him.

And a soul, when it shall sin; and do any one of all the commandments of Jehovah, which should not be done: though he know it not, yet is he guilty, and shall bear his iniquity. And he shall bring a ram perfect out of the flock, with thy estimation for a Trespass-offering, unto the Priest: and the Priest shall make-an-atonement for him, for his ignorance which he ignorantly committed, and he knew it not; and it shall be mercifully-forgiven him. It is a Trespass offering: trespassing he hath trespassed, against Jehovah.

Annotations.

A Soul] that is, any person, or a man, as the Chaldee translatheth it. And Moses in ver. 15. and 17. saying, when a soul sinneth, he shall bring, &c. showeth a man to be meant hereby. Though under the man, the woman also is comprehended, as in Num. 5. 6. touching which the Hebrew Canons say, All sacrifices that a woman is bound to offer, her husband bringeth them by her hand: if he be poor, he brings the poor man's oblation, and if he be rich, he brings by her hand, the rich man's oblation. Maimonides, treat. of Ignorances, ch. 10. sect. 6. These Trespass-offerings here following, were for sins of less importance; as omission of some duties, and not observing the legal washings and purifications, &c. whereas the sin-offerings in chapter 4. were for greater offenses, in doing things forbidden of God. Therefore the oblations for these trespasses, were made less, if the sinner were poor, Lev. 5. 7. 11. which in the former Sin-offerings were never lessened, Levite. 4. an adjuration] or, exsecration, oath, or curse; of which word, see the notes of Gen. 24. 41. The Greek here also translatheth it, adjuration (or exaction of an oath:) when one by oath or curse is charged to speak if he know; as Judge. 17. 2. Prov. 29. 24. 1 King. 8. 31. An example of such adjuration we have in Matth. 26. 63. where the high Priest said unto Jesus, I adjure thee by the living God, that thou tell us, whether thou be the Christ the son of God. Unto that adjuration Jesus gave an answer, and confessed it; whereas before, he held his peace. So the Apostle saith, I adjure you by the Lord, that this Epistle he read unto all the holy brethren, 1 Thess. 5. 27. And by the Hebrew Canons, whether a man swear by his own mouth, or be adjured by the mouth of others, and he answer Amen, though he that adjured him were an infidel, or a child, he is bound. For who so answereth Amen after an oath, is as if he uttered the oath with his own mouth. And whether he answer Amen, or speak a word of like meaning, as if he say yea, or I am bound, or do take upon me this oath; or any the like, in any language: he is as a sworn man for any matter, whether he be (for sinning therein) to be beaten, or to bring an oblation. Whether he swear or be adjured by God's proper name, or by any of his titles: as that he swear by him whose name is Gracious, or Merciful, or Longsuffering, or any the like, in any tongue: it is a full oath. And so an exsecration, and a curse, is an oath. Maimonides, tom. 3. in Shebugnoth (or treat. of Oaths,) chap. 2. sect. 1. 2. Accordingly the Evangelists set down these two as one, the Son of God, Matth. 26. 63. and, the Son of the Blessed, Mark 14. 61. witness] The Hebrews say, there are four kinds of oaths; the oath of pronouncing a thing, [whereof see verse 4.] and vain (or rash) oaths, [for bidden in Exod. 20. 7.] the oath concerning that which was delivered to keep, [whereof see Levite. 6. 2. 3.] and the oath of witness; here spoken of. Which they explain thus; as when witnesses can give testimony concerning goods, and the owner requireth them to witness, and they deny that they can give testimony, and swear that they cannot, &c. for such an oath, they are bound to bring the sacrifice, here appointed, verse 6. &c. Maimonides treat. of Oaths, chap. 1. sect. 1. 12. (⦿) utter] or, not show, declare, tell it. And this may be, though a man be not particularly called forth to witness: as the Hebrews say, if the party that requireth testimony, do say; I adjure all that st 〈...〉 here, if they can witness for me, that they come and bear witness: if there be any witnesses among them 〈◇〉, and they deny, (or dissemble) it, they are guilty of the oath of testimony. Maimonides, treat. of oaths, chap. 9. sect. 9. his iniquity] that is, the punishment of his iniquity, if he repent not, and be reconciled by sacrifice; as the like is said in Levite. 19. 8. and 20. 17. where such as bear their iniquity, are threatened to be cut off. It may also be english ed thus, if he utter, (or show) it not, and beareth his iniquity, that is, is subject to the wrath of God. So in verse. 16.

Vers. 2. carcass] which who so touched, was by [unspec] the law unclean, Levite. 11. 8. 31. it be hidden• that is, the uncleanness be hidden from him, as •ol. Rashi expoundeth it. is unclean] that is, afterward knoweth himself to be unclean; as the explanation in verse. 3. seemeth to manifest. 〈◇〉 guilty] or, trespasseth, sinneth; for of this Hebrew word Ashem, the sacrifice appointed for it, is called A 〈...〉, in v. 6. that is, a Trespass-offering, or Guilt-offering. But what sin or guiltiness was upon a man, for touching an unclean carcass? And seeing the law maketh such unclean but till evening, Lev. 11. 24. 31. when washing themselves and their clothes they were clean, and for uncleanness by a dead man, the sprinkling water cleansed them, Num. 19. 16. 17. 18. 19. wherefore is here confessing of sin, and a trespass-offering required, in v. 5. 6. The Hebrew doctors say, this is meant, for an unclean person, who when he was unclean came into the sanctuary, or did eat of an holy thing, ignorantly. For it is expressly said, (in Lev. 7, 20. 21.) if any eat of the flesh of the peace-offerings of the Lord, having his uncleanness upon him, the same person shall be cut off, &c. And of coming into the sanctuary it is said, (in Num. 19. 20.) that soul shall be cut off from among the church, because he hath defiled the sanctuary of the Lord. And when the law condemneth men to be cut off, for defiling the sanctuary and holy things thereof, [to weet presumptuously,] it implieth the sacrifice which they are to bring, for the ignorant doing thereof. Maim. treat. of Ignorances, c. 10. S. 1. 5. And thus Sol. Rashi also expoundeth it; is guilty, for eating of the holy thing, or for coming into the Sanctuary. These things figured the pollutions which men have not only by sins proceeding originally from themselves, but by partaking also with other men's sins, 1 Tim. 5. 22. 2 Cor. 6. 17. from which we are to be cleansed by the sacrifice and death of Christ.

V. 3. according to all] or as the Gr. translatheth it, of all (or of any) his uncleanness: which might be sundry ways, as the law after showeth, in the 12. 13. 14. and 15 chap. of this book. shall be unclean withal] by touching it, as the Gr. explaineth it, which when he toucheth he is defiled. and he knoweth] to weet, if afterward by some means it be manifested. This the Gr. version plainly showeth saying, and after this he knoweth of it. And herein it differeth from another case, following in v. 17. which he knew not: whereupon two sorts of trespass-offerings are appointed: for this which he knew, a female lamb, or a lesser sacrifice if he were poor, v. 6. 7. &c. for that which he knew not, a ram, v. 18. Of which difference, more is spoken hereafter. It may also be translated, whether it be hidden from him, or he know of it. Howbeit of this matter of uncleanness, the Hebr. canons say; The case of ignorance about defiling the san 〈...〉 y and holy things, differeth from the case of other 〈◇〉 that deserve cutting off. For all such sins, when one hath ignorantly done them, and it be known unto him in the end, that he hath sinned; although he had no knowledge of it in the beginning, yet he is bound to bring a Sin-offering: but for defiling the sanctuary & holy things, •e brings not the offering which is less if the man be poor, (Lev. 5. 7. 11.) unless he have knowledge of the uncleanness and knowledge of the holy thing, or of the sanctuary, in the beginning. And the knowledge of the uncleanness, and knowledge of the holy thing, or of the sanctuary, in the end; and it be hid from him between both. As, a man is unclean, and eateth of a holy thing, &c. and afterwards it is known unto him that he is unclean, and was unclean when he did eat; and that it was a holy thing which he did eat. L• he is not bound to bring a sacrifice, unless he knew that he was unclean, and that the thing was holy, before he did eat. As a man is unclean, and knows that he is unclean, and knows that the thing is holy. And afterwards the uncleanness is hidden from him, and he forgets that he is unclean, and eateth of the holy thing, and knows that it is a holy thing; or he erreth and forgetteth that the thing is holy, but knows himself to be unclean, and eateth. Or if he err or forget, both that he is unclean, and that the things is holy, and so eateth: afterwards the things are known to him, which were hidden from him: loe now he must bring the sacrifice here appointed; which is lessened if the man be poor. The reason of this exposition is; for that concerning other ignorances it is said, (in Lev. 4. 27. 28.) while he doth someone of the commandments of the Lord, which should not be done, and be guilty; or if his sin be made known unto him, which he hath sinned. When he knoweth it in the end, although he knew it not in the beginning. But concerning the uncleanness of the sanctuary and holy things, it is said, and it be hidden from him, & he knoweth of it, & is guilty, (Lev. 5. 3.) &c. Maim. treat. of Ignorances, c. 11. S. 1. &c. So in the Chaldee paraphrase called Jonathan's, this scripture is thus interpreted, and it be hid from him, and he touch any holy thing, and afterwards it be revealed unto him, and he knoweth it, &c. is guilty] or, is a trespasser, sinneth: as Sol. Rashi again faith, by eating of the holy things, or coming into the Sanctuary.

V. 4. a soul] in Chaldee, a man when he shall swear. pronouncing] distinctly-uttering. This is that which the Jews call the oath of pronunciation, (as is noted before on v. 1.) and of it they make four particulars, two of things to come, and two of things past: as when one swears of a thing past, that it was done, or it was not done; and of a thing to come, that he will do it, or he will not do it. And no oath of pronunciation it to be used, but for things possible for him to do, whether to come or past. He that sweareth any of these four oaths, and the thing be otherwise; as, •e that sweareth that he will not eat, and he eateth; or that he will eat, and he eateth not; or that he hath eaten, when he eateth not; or hath not eaten, when he hath; loe this is a false oath; and of this and such like, it is said, ye shall not swear by my name falsely, (Lev. 19. 12.) And if he swear falsely, of presumption, he is to be beaten: if of ignorance, then he brings the sacrifice here appointed. Maimonides, treat. of Oaths, chap. 1. Sect. 1. 2. 3. to do evil, &c.] This the Hebrew Doctors understand of things in a man's power, to do if he will, or to leave undone if he will. Therefore, he that sweareth to do evil to others, (as to smite his neighbor, &c.) this is not an oath of pronunciation, because he is commanded not to do it; but it seemeth to be a vain (or rash) oath. If he swear to his own evil and hurt, though he should not so do, his oath remains upon him: and if he do it not, he is guilty of the oath of pronunciation. If he swear to do good to others, the good which is in his power to do; the oath remains upon him, if he do it not, he is guilty of this oath. And, whosoever sweareth to break a commandemēt, & breaks it not, he is not guilty of this oath of pronunciation, but is to be beaē as for a vain (or rash) oath, & is to observe the cōmandement which he sware to break. If one swear that he will not sleep or eat for 7. days, or the like vain oath, they must not bid him watch or fast so long as he is able to endure, and afterward to sleep or eat: but he is to be beaten out of hand for his rash oath; and so may sleep or eat when he pleaseth.

Maimonides, treat. of oaths, chap. 5. Sect. 14. &c. Compare herewith Psal. 15. 4. he that sweareth to do evil, (that is, to his own hurt) and changeth not: &c. it be hidden from him] that he hath transgressed against his oath, saith Sol. Rashi, on Levite. 5. And Targum Jonathan explaineth it, and he hath falsified (his oath) and it be hidden from him, and after that he hath transgressed, it be revealed unto him, and he know that he hath falsified it, &c. is guilty] or, trespasseth: in Greek sinneth, to weet, in breaking or falsifying ignorantly, that oath which he hath pronounced; or in any of the other three cases fore-poned.

Vers. 5. in one of these] in one of these four, saith Targum Jonathan; meaning the four sins mentioned in the 1. 2. 3. 4. verses before. shall confess] laying his hands on the head of the sacrifice, and confessing the iniquity of his trespass; as is noted on Levite. 1. 4. And so other rites were performed according to the manner of the sin-offering in chap. 4. The trespass-offerings, &c. were killed, and their blood sprinkled, as is before declared. Then they were flayed, the fat and inwards taken out, and salted, and strowed on the fire (upon the altar.) And the residue of their flesh, was eaten by the males of the Priests, in the court, like the sin-offerings. Maimonides, treat, of offering the sacrifices, chap. 9. Sect. 1. And touching this confession they say, The owners of the Sin or trespass-offerings, when they bring their sacrifices, &c. atonement is not made for them thereby, until they repent, and confess with word of mouth: &c. And so he that is in his neighbors danger, and hath done him damage in his goods, although he payeth him all that he oweth him: atonement there is none, until he confess, and turn away from doing the like again forever. Maimonides, tom. 1. treat. of Repentance, chap. 1. Sect. 1. See the notes on Num. 5. 7.

Vers. 6. Trespass-offering] or, Guilt-offering: in Hebrew Asham, that is, Guiltiness or Trespass, as the Sin-offering, in chap. 4. was for sin (as the words here following manifest,) and is likewise called a Sin-offering. And as the former, so this figured out the sacrifice of Christ for our sins; of whom it is prophesied that his soul should be made an Asham, an offering for trespass, (or, for sin, as the Greek translateth it) Esa, 53. 10. which he hath sinned] and respect must be had in the sacrificing, unto that particular sin which was committed, that atonement might be made for it. He that killeth a Sin offering or a Trespass-offering, it is necessary that his cogitation be on that sin by name, which (the sacrifice) is brought for. Ma•m. treat. of offering the sacrifices, chap. 4. Sect. 11. These things taught a special care that men should have of their wai•s, an examination of their own sins, a particular repentance, sorrow and sacrifice of a contrite heart, with faith in Christ (whom the Trespass-offering figured) even for their least transgressions; that so judging themselves, they may not be judged of the Lord: 1 Cor. 11. 31. Ezek. 20. 43. Lam. 3. 40. 2 Cor. 7. 11.

Vers. 7. his hand reach not] that is, he be not able enough to bring a lamb: thus God providēd for the poorer sort. This is that sacrifice which the Hebrews call Gn•leh vajored; that is, Ascending and descending, (Talmud. Bab. in Cerethoth, ch. 2.) because it ascendeth or is greater, if the sinner be rich, and descendeth or is lesser, if he be poor. And they observe, that Six are commanded to offer the oblation Gnoleh vajored (greater or lesser:) The Leper at his cleansing, (Levite. 14. 21. &c.) The woman after child-birth, (Levite. 12. 8.) He that sweareth the oath of testimony, (Levite. 5. 1.) He that sweareth the oath of pronounciation, falsely through ignorance, (Levite. 5. 4.) The unclean person that eateth of the holy things ignorantly; and the unclean that cometh into the Sanctuary ignorantly, (Levite. 5. 2. 3.) Maimonides treat. of Ignorances, chap. 1. Sect. 1. In these kind of sacrifices, the High Priest, or the King, was not charged to bring a greater, as they were in the Sin-offering, Levite. 4. 3. 23. but the offering fellower for the poor, even to a pottle of flower, v. 11. The King and the anointed Priest, brought their offering for the oath of witness, or for the oath of pronounciation, or for defiling the sanctuary and holy things thereof as other private persons. For the scripture puts no difference between the offering of the king, priest or private man, save in the sin-offerings, appointed for their ignorances, (Levite. 4.) Maimonides, treat. of Ignorances, chap. 10. Sect. 7. turtle-doves] see the notes on Levite. 1. 14. If a poor man brought the oblation of the richer sort, he was discharged: but a rich man that brought the oblation of the poor, was not discharged, Maimonides, treat. of Ignorances, chap. 10. Sect. 13. In that God would have men be at such charges for the expiating of their smallest sins and over-sights; it was to teach them the ugliness of their sins in his sight, and with how great price by the blood of Christ, they were to be redeemed, 1 Pet. 1. 18. 19. and how they should show by such cost, their thankfulness to God for his grace, 1 Chro. 21. 24. and towards his priests (the ministers of his grace) which had their livelihood in part by such sacrifices; Num. 18. 9. 1 Cor. 9. 13. 14. And in that he lessened the charge for the poorer sort; it was to show the riches of his grace, who freely forgiveth the poor as well as the rich, not in respect of their expenses, but of his mercy which is without respect of person, I am. 2. 5. 〈ϕ〉 55. 1. &c. It is a general rule, that which was put upon the wall, the residue thereof was wrung-out at the bottom: and this was the nether wall. Maim. ibidem.* This rite might fore-shadow the manner of Christ's suffering, both his sweating drops of blood, Luk. 22. 44. and the shedding of his blood, on the cross: which oblation was sanctified by his deity, as the blood of the sacrifice by the Altar; John. 17. 19. Heb. 9. 14. Matth. 23. 19.

Vers. 10. the manner] or ordinance: Hebr. the judgment; which word is here and often used for the manner or rite of doing a thing, and it hath reference to the law in Levite 1. 15. &c. The Greek and Chaldee translate it, as is fit, (or convenient.) The Hebrews give this reason why the doves were one a Sin-offering, the other a Burnt-offering; Because the Altar had nothing in the bird that was the Sin-offering save the blood thereof, which is not food [as Levite. 3. 11.] therefore it was needful to bring two, one for a Sin-offering to be meat for the Priest [Levite. 6. 26.] the other for a Burnt-offering, to be meat for the Altar. Chazkuni on Levite. 5. for his sin] or, from his sin; that is, cleansing him from it.

Vers. 11. attain not] in Greek, find not: that is, if he be not able: as in verse. 7. he used another word of like meaning, reach not. So in Levite. 14. 21. 22. and 25. 26. 47. Num. 6. 21. an Ephah] that is, a Bushel: the tenth part whereof was called an Omer, about our Pottle: the Chaldee here for an Ephah, translateth three Seahs (or pecks:) see the notes on Exod. 16. 36. oil] because sin proceedeth from us for want of grace, which oil figured; and the memorial thereof is not sweet or grateful unto God, which frankincense did signify: therefore neither oil nor frankincense might be given with the sin-offering, nor with the jealousy offering, which brought iniquity to remembrance, Numb. 5. 15. but with the meat-offerings, both were given, Lev. 2. 1. &c. In the common Meat-offering, (Levite. 2.) the want of oil made it unlawful for sacrifice. The sinners meat-offering, if oil were put upon it, or upon the handful thereof, it was made unlawful Maimonides, treat. of unlawful (or polluted) sacrifices, chap. 11. Sect. 8. 10.

Vers. 12. shall take] or, shall gripe; shall gather up with the hand: see Levite. 2. 2. This was the manner of all meat-offerings, that a handful was burned on the altar, and the residue eaten by the Priests; except the Priests own meat-offerings, for sin or otherwise; they were not eaten, but all burnt; Lev. 6. 16. 22. 23. according to] or, upon Jehovah's Fireofferings: which the Greek translateth, upon the Burnt-offerings to the Lord; see the notes on Le. 4. 35.

Vers. 13. shall be the Priests] the residue which is not burnt on the Altar, shall be for the Priests to  $\langle \diamond \rangle$ ; the males among the priests were to eat it in the holy place, as the Meat-offering: see Levite. 2. 3. and 6. 25. 29. and 7. 6. 7.

Vers. 15. transgress] or, sacrilegiously-trespas, defraud. The Hebrew Maghnal, though it •e generally used for all transgression and disloyalty that the inferior committeth against the superior, as the wife against her husband, Num. 5. 12. and the like: yet for the most part, it is applied to evils committed against the Lord and his covenant, service, and holy things, whereof this law in special is: and so differeth from all the other laws. The Hebrew doctors thus explain it. It is unlawful for a private man, to make profit (or use) of the holy things of the Lord: Whether they be things, that are offered upon the altar, or things sanctified for the reparation (or maintenance) of the Sanctuary. And who soever maketh profit (or use) to the value of a mite, of the holy things of the Lord, he transgresseth, Maimonides in Meghnilah, (or, treat. of Transgression) chap. 1. Sect. 1. through ignorance] or unadvisedness, by error: see Lev. 4. 2. If he did it presumptuously, and God only knew it, he was in danger to be cut off by his hand: if his presumption were known to men, the Magistrate punished him. The sacrifice was for ignorance only. Whosoever sacrilegiously-transgresseth presumptuously, is to be beaten; and must pay for the detriment, &c. Maim. in Megnilah, chap. 1. Sect. 3. the holy things] these were many, and manifold ways men might transgress in them. As for a man to eat within his (private) gates, the tithe of his corn, wine, oil, &c. Deut. 12. 17. 18. to do work with his firstborn bullock, or sheer his firstborn sheep, Deut. 15. 19. to eat the first fruits of his land. Exod. 34. 26. ler. 2. 3. to keep-back ought of the price of things dedicated to holy use; as did Ananias and Sapphira, Act. 5. 1. 2. &c. and many like things. All the most holy things, men might sacrilegiously-transgress concerning them, (by making profit or use of them) from the time they were sanctified, until their blood was sprinkled. When the blood was sprinkled, they might transgress concerning them, in anything that was wholly for the fire, until it was burnt and carried out to the place of ashes. As the burnt-offering, whether beast or fowl; and the handful (of the meat-offering) and the frankincense, the meat-offering of the Priests. &c. they might transgress concerning them, from the hour they were sanctified, until they were carried out after their burning upon the altar, unto the place of ashes. So for bullocks and goats that were burnt (without the campe:) So for the red Cow (Num. 19.) from the sanctifying thereof till it were made ashes: for though it were of the holy things for the maintenance of the sanctuary, yet loe it is said thereof, it is a sin-offering; (Num. 19 9.) The sin-offering beast, and trespass offering, and peace-offerings of the congregation; they might transgress in them all, from their sanctifying, till the sprinkling of their blood. When the blood was sprinkled, they might transgress in the fat and inwards, til they were carried out to the place of ashes, &c. In the meat-offerings they might transgress from the sanctifying of them, (yea though they were not as yet sanctified in a ministering vessel,) until the handful was burnt on the altar, &c. The show bread, they might transgress therein, frō the sanctifying of it, (yea though it were not as yet baken,) until the incense upon it was burned. The drink offerings, men might transgres in thē after they were sanctified. The bones▪ sinews, horns & hoofs of the most holy sacrifices, which were separated, before t<sup>e</sup> sprinkling of the blood, they might transgress in them. The ashes of the altar in the courtyard, before they were taken from upon it or after: they might transgress in them. Any beast of the most holy things, that had able•ish &c, they might transgress therein from the sanctifying of it, till it was redeemed. He that separateth money, for (to buy) his sin-offering, burnt-offering, or trespass-offering, or for •••le doves, or pigeons: they might transgress therein, from the hour of the separating thereof. A man sanctifieth for the maintenance of the sanctuary, a thing meet to repair the same, as stone or timber; or a thing meet for the altar, as lambes or doves: or he sanctifieth for the altar, a thing meet to repair the sanctuary, as stone or timber. Or sanctifieth for one thing, that which is not meet for it, but for another; or which is not meet for either of both, as henns, lands c yea though it be but dust or ashes: they might transgress in any of these, from the hour they were sanctified, until such things were redeemed as were meet to be redeemed. These and many the like eases, are shown by Maimonides in Meghnilah, ch. 2, &c. of which he saith in the end, (c. 8. s. 8.) It is meet for a man to set himself to understand the ordinances of the holy Law, and to know the end of matters, according as he is able. And the thing whereof he can find no reason, nor know any worth thereof, let it not be light in his eyes. And let him not break through, to go up unto the Lord, lest he brake forth upon him: (Exod. 19. 24.) Neither let him think of this, as he thinketh of other common things. Behold how great weight there is, in the law touching s<sup>o</sup>rilegious transgression. And what though they be wood and stone, and dust & ashes? when the name of the Lord of all the world, is called only upon things, they are sanctified. And who so useth them to common use he transgresseth therein; and though he do it through ignorance, he must needs bring an atonement▪ How much more, concerning the commandments which the holy blessed God hath prescribed unto us; that a man should not tread them underfoot, because he knows not the reason of them, &c. Behold it is said in the law, (Lev. 19. 37. & 20. 22.) ye shall keep all my statutes, and all my judgments, and do them. Our wise men have said, that keeping & doing, must be applied unto the statutes, as unto the judgments, &c. Now the judgments, they are commandments, the reason (or meaning) whereof is manifest, and the good that cometh by doing them, is known in this world, as the forbidding to rob, & to shed blood; the commandment to honor father and mother. But the statutes (or ordinances) are commandments, the reason whereof is not known: &c. And all the sacrifices everyone generaly, are statutes (or ordinances:) and our wise men have said, for the service of the sacrifices, the world  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  continue: for by doing the statutes and the  $\langle \dots \rangle$ , righteous men are made worthy of life in the world to come. And the law setteth the commandment of the  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  ▪ first, saying. And ye shall keep my  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  & my judgments, which if a man do, he shall live by them▪  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  ▪ 18▪ 3. •n which last words of the Rabbin, it app  $\langle \dots \rangle$ , how the Jews (as Paul  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  us▪)  $\langle \dots \rangle$  God, but not according to knowledge; being ignorant of God's righteousness▪ and going about to establish their own righteousness. For Moses describeth the righteousness which is of the law, when he saith, the man which doth these things shall live by them, but the righteousness which is of faith, speaketh otherwise; That if thou confess with mouth that Jesus is the LORD, and believe in thy heart, that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved, Rom. 10. 2. 3. 5. 6. 9. his trespass] that is, his trespass offering: or, for his trespass it self. aram perfect] without blemish. The  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  was to be of the second year, see the notes on Lev. 1. 10. with thy estimation] or, by thy valuation. This is spoken to the Priest, who was to esteem and value all holy things, as is expressed in Lev. 27 8. 12. &c. of silver shekels] Hebr. silver of shekels: see the like transplacing of words in Lev. 6. 21. and 7. 21. and so the Gr. translatheth, a ram without blemish out of the sheep, of price of silver of sekels: This some understand, of the thing wherein the transgression is committed, which the Priest should value, as is explained in the next verse: others understand it of the ram brought for sacrifice, that it should be worth shekels of silver, that is, two at the least, and besides that he should pay the principal, and the fifth part. Thus Sol. Rashi expoundeth it, Which is worth two shekels: and R. Levi giveth this reason, because multiplication in numbers is first made by two; therefore he saith, shekels for two shekels. Maimonides  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  Megnilah, c. 1. s. 3. saith, He that transgresseth through ignorance, payeth for that which he hath made use of to himself, and addeth a fifth part thereto; and bringeth a ram of two-shekels (that is; worth so much) and offereth it for a trespass-offering, & makes atonement for himself▪ (Of the shekel, see Gen. 20. 16.) Again in another place he saith: All trespass-offerings in the law, are brought being of the second year, & worth two shekels, except the Trespass-offering of the Leper, and of the Nazirite, for they are of the first year, and there is no price of them set. The doubtful Trespass-offering, is brought of little or of great: and by tradition we have learned, that it comes not but worth silver shekels. If rams be  $\langle \diamond \rangle$ , that he find not a ram worth two shekels; let him not buy but tarry till they be dearer, and bring one of two shekels. For loe the law provideth concerning the price, & determineth it. M•m. in Pesulei hamukdashin, c. 4. s 22. 23.

The payment of the principal, with the addition of the fifth part, is commanded to be done together with the bringing of the sacrifice. The payment of the principal, and bringing of the trespass, hinder the atonement, (•o weet, if they be not brought together▪) but the *fifth part hindereth not; for it is said (after) he  $\langle\phi\rangle$  make atonement with the ram of the trespass: the  $r^{\bullet}$  and the trespass hinder, but the fifth part hindereth  $\langle\phi\rangle$  ▪ [Meaning it may remain as a debt, to be pay $\bullet\bullet$  afterward:] Maim. in Meghnilah, c. 1. s. 3. 4. By the Trespass (Asham), the scripture sometime mean  $\langle\dots\rangle$  the pr  $\langle\dots\rangle$  thing wherein the trespass is committed; which is to be recompensed, besides the sacrifice▪  $\langle\phi\rangle$  b. 5. &  $\langle\dots\rangle$  the Priest shall make  $\langle\dots\rangle$  meant▪] Tho $\bullet$ gh restitution was made, by the  $\langle\dots\rangle$  gressor▪ yet atonement could not be made but  $\langle\phi\rangle$  the Priest and sacrifice appointed; both which  $\langle\dots\rangle$  gured Christ, by whose blood sins of all sorts, which men through infirmity do commit, are forgiven and purged, 1 John 1. 7.*

Verse 17. though he know it not] this may also be translated thus; and he know it not, and is guilty, and beareth his iniquity; This differeth from the former cases, in verse 4. and 15. where there was knowledge of the sin, at least, in the end: but this law was for sins, though never known certainly, but in doubt or suspense, so that David said not without cause, Ignorances (or, Vnadviced-sins) who can understand? cleanse thou me from secret-sins, Psal. 19. 13.

Vers. 18. a ram perfect] that is, without blemish. Of this the Hebrew canons say; *Every sin, for the ignorant-doing whereof, they are bound to bring the Sin offering appointed, (Levite▪ 4.) they are bound, when it is not known, to bring the doubtful Trespass-offering: (Levite. 5. 17. 18.) And what meaneth this, If it be not known? If it be doubtful unto him, whether he hath ignorantly-sinned in the thing, or no. And this sacrifice is called Asham talui, (a doubtful Trespass-offering,) because it makes atonement for that which is uncertain and doubtful unto him, &c. As for example; there is a Sabbath day, and a working day; and a man doth work in one of them, and knows not in which he did it. He eateth of a dish of meat, and one witness saith unto him, this which thou hast eaten, is the fat (forbidden in the law, Levite. 3. 17.) another witness saith, thou hast not eaten fat: now he bringeth a doubtful Trespass-offering; and so in like cases. Maim. treat, of Ignorances, c. 8. S. 1. 2. On the other hand for some cases known, they bring another sort of sacrifice, called, Asham Vaddai, that is, a certain, (or manifest) Trespass-offering, concerning which in the same book, chap. 9. it is said. For five transgressions, men bring the sacrifice Asham, and it is called a manifest Asham; because there is not any doubt therein. And these are they: For lying with a bond-maid, (Levite. 19. 20. 21.) For things taken-by-violence, &c. (Levite. 6. 2. 6.) For sacrilegious transgression, (Levite. 5. 15.) For the uncleanness of a Nazirite, (Num. 6. 12.) And for leprosy, when a man is cleansed from the same, (Levite. 14. 12.) estimation] or valuation. The Greek translatheth it, of price of silver: see before in verse 15.*

Vers. 19. trespassing he hath trespassed] that is, he hath certainly trespassed; or, he is surely guilty. The Chaldee translatheth, It is a trespass-offering for his sin which he hath sinned: he shall offer a trespass-offering before the Lord. The rites about this sacrifice; were the same with the former: whether it were a manifest trespass-offering, or a doubtful trespass-offering, it was killed, and the blood sprinkled; then it was flayed, the fat taken-out, and salted, and put on the fire (of the altar,) and the flesh was eaten by the Priests, in the court: Maimonides, treat. of offering the sacrifices, c. 9. S. 1. The signification hereof, was also like the former, that by the death and blood of Christ, we are cleansed from all sin: 1 John. 1. 7. Heb. 10. 10. 11. 12.

1, The Trespass-offering for sins done against the Lord, and a man's neighbor. 8, The law of the Burnt-offering, 14, and of the Meat-offering, 19, The offering at the consecration of a Priest. 24, The law of the Sin-offering.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying. A soul, when it shall sin; & transgress a transgression, against Jehovah: and falsely deny unto his neighbor in a thing-delivered-him to-keep, or in the putting of the hand, or in a thing-taken-awayby-violence; or, hath deceitfully-oppressed his neighbor. Or have found a thing lost, and falsely-denieth concerning it, & sweareth with falsehood: for any-one, of all that a man shall do, sinning in these. Then it shall be, when he hath sinned and is guilty: that he shall restore the thing-taken by-violence which he violently took away; or, the thingdeceitfully-gotten, which he hath got-deceitfully; or, the thing-delivered him-to keep, which was delivered unto him to keep; or the lost thing, which he found. Or, all that about which he hath sworn, with falsehood: and he shall pay it, in the principal thereof; and shall add thereto, the fifth-parts thereof: unto him to whom it appertaineth, shall he give it, in the day of his Trespass. And he shall bring his Trespass-offering, unto Jehovah: a ram perfect, out of the ••ock, with thy estimation for a Trespass-offering, unto the Priest. And the Priest shall make-atonement for him, before Jehovah, and it shall be mercifully-forgiven-him: for any-one, of all that he hath done, in trespassing therein.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying▪ Cōmand Aaron and his sons, saying; This is the law of the burnt-offering: it is the burnt-offering because of the burning, upon the altar all night, unto the morning; & the fire of the altar, shall beburning in it. And the Priest shall put-on, his linen raiment; and linen breeches, shall he put upon his flesh: and he shall take-up the ashes, which the fire hath consumed, with the Burnt-offering, on the altar: and he shall put them, besides the altar. And he shall put-off his garments, and put on other garments: and shall carry forth the ashes, to without the camp; unto a clean place. And the fire upon the altar shall be burning in it, it shall not be put-out; and the Priest shall burn wood upon it, every morning; and shall lay-in-order upon it, the Burnt-offering; and shall burn upon it, the fats of the Peace-offerings. Fire, continually, shall be burning upon the altar, it shall not be put-out.

And this is the law, of the Meat-offering: the sons of Aaron shall offer it, before Jehovah; before the altar. And he shall take-up of it his handful, of the flower of the Meat-offering, and of the oil thereof; and all the frankincense, which is upon the Meat offering: and he shall burn upon the altar, for a savor of rest, the memorial of it, unto Jehovah. And the remainder thereof, shall Aaron and his sons eat: in unleavened-cakes shall it be eaten, in the holy place; in the court of the Tent of the congregation, they shall eat it. It shall not be baked with leaven; I have given it for their portion, of my Fireofferings: it is holy of holies; as the Sin-offering and as the Trespass-offering. Every male, among the sons of Aaron, shall eat of it; it shall be a statute for ever, in your generations; concerning Jehovah's Fire-offerings: all that toucheth them, shall be holy.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying. This is the oblation of Aaron, and of his sons, which they shall offer unto Jehovah, in the day that he is anointed; the tenth part of an Ephah of fine-flower, for a continual Meat-offering: half of it in the morning, and half of it in the evening. On a pan, it shall be made with oil, hastily-fryed shalt thou bring it: the baked pieces of the Meat offering, thou shalt offer for a savor of rest, unto Jehovah. And the Priest that is anointed in his stead, of his sons, shall do it: it is a statute for ever, unto Jehovah, it shall be burnt for a Whole-burnt-offering. And every Meat-offering of the Priest, shall be Wholeburnt-offering: it shall not be eaten.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying. Speak unto Aaron, and unto his sons, saying; This is the law, of the Sin-offering: in the place where the Burnt-offering is killed, shall the Sin-offering be killed, before Jehovah; it is holy of holies. The Priest that offereth-it-for-sin, shall eat it: in the holy place, shall it be eaten; in the court, of the Tent of the congregation. All that shall touch the flesh thereof, shall be holy: and when there is sprinkled of the blood thereof, upon a garment; that whereon it is sprinkled, thou shalt wash, in the holy place. And the earthen vessel, wherein it is sodden, shall be broken: and if it be sodden, in a brazen vessel; it shall be both scowred and rinsed, in water. Every male among the Priests, shall eat thereof, it is, holy of holies. And no Sin-offering, whereof any of the blood thereof, is brought into the Tent of the congregation, to make-atonement with in the holy-place, shall be eaten: it shall be burnt, in the fire.

Annotations.

ASoule] that is, man or woman, as God explaineth [unspec] it, in Num. 5. 6. so the Chaldee expoundeth it, a man. transgress] it is the word before used, in Levite. 5. 15. The Greek here translateth, despising despise the commendements of the Lord: (or, neglect them.) falsely deny] or, lie, as the Greek translateth: but the word meaneth lying by denial of a thing, as Gen. 18. 15. This sin, God generally forbiddeth, Levite. 19. 11. And this law here, concerneth sins both against God, by swearing; and against our neighbor by injuring him. a thing-delivered him-to-keep] a thingcommitted-to one; which shall again be required; called in Hebrew Pikkadon, of encommending thing, and requiring it: in Greek, Parathekee, or committing it to ones fidelity, (which word Paul useth in 2 Tim. 1. 12. of God; I am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him:) in Latin, a Depositum. So in 1 Tim. 6. 20. and 2 Tim. 1. 14. In Gen. 41. 36. the word is used for store or provision laid up. See the judicial lawyer for these cases, in Exod. 22. 7. 10. &c. the putting of the hand] This phrase (here only used,) seemeth to mean fellowship, or partnership, when men deal, and put their hands as it were together in a matter: so the Greek translateth it communion (or society;) and the Chaldee, the communion (or fellowship) of the hand; that is, commerce. Or we may take it, for putting into the hand, that is, committing of a thing to ones care and fidelity to use or employ for him. It may also imply, the lending of a thing, or borrowing. Thus Sol. Rashi expoundeth it, that he hath put money into his hand to occupy: or hath lent it him. a thing-taken-by-violence] or, arobberie, rapine. It implieth force, as the next doth fraud. 2 Sam. 23. 21. Judge. 9. 25. This God hateth, though it be for Burnt-offering: Esa. 61. 8. deceitfully oppressed] or, defrauded, by cavilation, calumniation, false accusation, or other like unjust means. Of this sin, Zacchaeus cleared him-self by fowrfold restitution, Luk. 19. 8. The Hebrew doctors thus distinguish these. Who is a taker by violence, (or robber?) He that taketh a man's goods by force, as by plucking it out of his hand, &c. or, that forcibly-taketh ones servant or beast, and useth them for his own work; or goeth into ones field, and eateth the fruit thereof, and the like. Who is a deceitful-opressour? He that hath his neighbors goods in his hand, with the owners consent; and when they are demanded again, he keeps the goods in his hands by force, and restores them not; and the like. Maimonides, treat. of Robbery and lost things, chap. 1. Sect. 3. 4.

Vers. 3. a thing lost] Hebr. a loss: which the law [unspec] bindeth him to restore unto the owner: See Deut. 22. 2. Exod. 23. 4. in the annotations. with falsehood] that is, falsely; and as the Greek translatheth it, unjustly. Of this kind of oath, the Hebrew canons say; Who so hath his neighbors goods in his hand, whether they be delivered him to keeep, or lent him, or he hath taken them by violence, or by fraud; or hath found a thing lost, and restoreth it not, or the like; and the goods which he hath in his hand, he demanded of him, and he denieth them, loe he is a transgressor against this law, ye shall not fasly deny, (Levite. 19. 11.) And if he swear unto him falsely, concerning the goods which he denied; now he transgresseth another law, ye shall not deal-falsely; Lev. 19. 11. And this oath is called, the oath concerning a thing delivered to keep. And for this false oath, he is bound to pay the principal, which he denied, & to add the fifth part more thereto, and to offer a manifest Trespass-offering; &c. Maim treat of Oaths, c. 1. s. 8. 9. sinning] or, as the Gr. translatheth, so that he sinneth in these.

Vers. 4. he shall restore] in Numb. 5. 7. God requireth also to confess the sin; which is to be understood here, and in all like sins and trespasses. About this restitution, the Hebrews have these observations. Whether he be a violent robber, or a fraudulent-oppressor, or a stealer, or a borrower, or that hath by him a thing delivered to keep, or hath found a thing lost, and falsely-denieth it, or that there was partnership between him and his neighbor, and some of the goods remain in his hand; or that he hath done work for him, and he hath not given him his wages. It is a gener all rule for everything such as these, he that consesseth, is bound to pay by sentence (of the Judges:) and he that denieth and sweareth, must pay the principal & the fifth part, Lev. 6. 2. &c. This is meant, when a man is bound to pay for himself, but if he be bound to pay for his father, he pays not the fifth part. As, when his father robbeth, or stealeth, or is indebted to others, and the son knoweth it, and denieth it, and sweareth, and afterwards confesseth it; he payeth but the principal only; for it is written, (Lev. 6. 4.) which he violent tookeaway for his own violent-taking away, he addeth the fifth part more, but not for his fathers. This is meant, when the thing violently-taken-away is not remaining then present; but if his father did violence, and died, and the thing-taken-away remaineth there and the heir denieth it, and sweareth, and afterwards confesseth it; he payeth the principal and the fifth part. If the father rob, and swear, and confess it, and afterward die: now the heir payeth the principal & the fifth part. If he rob, and swear, and so die: and the heir confesseth it, he payeth but the principal only, but in both these cases, the heir is discharged of the Trespass-offering. Maim. treat of Robbery, and lost things, c. 7. s. 2. 3. &c.

V. 5. all] or of anything: so implying other particulars besides these mentioned; as some are before noted. principal] or, sum; Hebr. head: which Sol. Rashi expoundeth the principal (the thing it self.) Head sometime is used for beginning or first: & so Chazkuni here noteth that the meaning may be, before he bring his Oblation he shall put out of his hand, the thing got by rapine, &c. the fist-parts] the Greek translateth, the fist part, as the Hebrew also was in Lev. 5. 16. And it may be put for every fifth part, the fist part of everything defrauded, as in Ezek. 16. 55. thy sisters, meaneth each of thy sisters. But the Hebrew Doctors insist upon the number thus; He that restoreth the principal to the owners, & denieth at the second time the fist part, and sweareth about it; that fist part is made as the principal in every respect, and he must pay for it another fist part, as it is written, he shall add thereto the fist parts thereof, teaching that he must add a fist part for a fist part, until the fist part which he denieth and sweareth for, be become less then the worth of a mite. Who so hath by him a thing delivered to keep, and he pleadeth that it is lost, and sweareth, and returneth and confesseth that he hath it by him. And cometh again, and pleadeth that it is lost, and sweareth, and again returneth and confesseth that he hath it by him; he must pay a fist part for every oath, with that one principal; as it is written, He shall add thereto the fist parts thereof, teaching that he may pay many fifts for one principal. Maim. treat. of Robbery, &c. c. 7. s. 12 13. Now what the fist-part is, he there showeth in s. 7. one of four, with the principal: as if he robbed the value of 4. and sweareth; he payeth five. And if the stolen thing be remaining, he must restore it, and give the price of the fourth part thereof. to whom it pertaineth] or, whose it is, by right, whether the owners, or the heirs, to him against whom he is guilty, Numb. 5. 7. He that robbeth his neighbor, if he that is robbed dieth: must restore the robbery unto the heirs: and if it be lost, or changed, he must give them the price of it. And if he sware unto him, and afterward he died; he must give to the heirs, the principal and the fist part. He that robbeth his father, and sweareth unto him, and the father dieth; if the thing taken by robbery do not remain, or if it be changed, he must make an account with his brethren, for the principal and for the fist part. If the thing taken by robbery remaineth, he is bound to bring forth the thing it self, from under his hand. Therefore he is to give the thing taken by robbery, and the fist part also to his brethren; and make an account with them, &c. Maim. treat. of Robbery, c. 2. s. 1. 2. &c. But if the man have no kinsman to recompense the trespass unto, it must be recōpensed unto the Lord, even unto the Priest, Num. 5. 8. of his trespass] or, of his guiltiness, that is, the day wherein he is found a trespasser: which the Greek interpreteth, the day wherein he is convicted: (or reprehended) Or we may understand it, the day wherein he offereth for his trespass: so Chazkuni explaineth it, The robber shall give the goods to him that is robbed, in the day that he bringeth his Trespass-offering: turning from his sin, that his oblation may be accepted with favor.

Ver. 6. perfect] without blemish. This oblation was performed wth such rites, as the other before mentioned, in c. 5. see the notes there; and on Numb. 5. 8. in trespassing] or, by guilty-trespass, or, with guiltiness therein: The Greek translateth, and hath trespassed therein. These sacrifices, could not by themselves make a•onement, or procure forgiveness of sins: but they signified the atonement made by the sacrifice of Christ: Heb. 10. 14. 10. 14. and taught men mortification, and dying unto sin, as David saith, Thou delightest not sacrifice, that I should give it &c. the sacrifices of God, are a broken spirit, as broken and a contrite heart, &c. Ps. 51. 18. 19. And where true repentance, faith in Christ, & amendment of life is found in the sinner; there is promise of grace, and of forgiveness of sins; though they be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool. Isaiah 1. 16. 18.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Here beginneth the 25. section of the law: see Gen. 6. 9. Hitherto in this book, God hath shown what sacrifices men should offer: now he declareth the manner and rites about those sacrifices, more particularly.

Vers. 9. because of the burning] or, it is that which ascendeth by the burning. Here is the reason of the name: for the Burnt-offering, is in Hebrew Gnolah, that is, an Ascension; because by burning all in fire, it went up in smoke and vapor. Therefore the Holy ghost translateth it in Greek, Holocaustoma, that is, a whole Burnt-offering: Hebr. 10. 6. from Psal. 40. The use of this sacrifice is shown on Leviticus 1. Here the Targum called Jonathan's, saith, it was to make atonement for the imaginations of the heart. all night] though the time of the Evening sacrifice began about mid afternoon (as is shown on Exod. 12. 6.) yet the burning might continue all night, till break of the day. No sacrifices were offered, but by day: therefore they killed no sacrifice but by day, nor sprinkled any blood, but in the day that it was killed; for when the Sun was set, the blood became unlawful (to be sprinkled.) Sacrifices whose blood was sprinkled by day, their fat was burned by night, till the pillar of the morning ascended, (that is, till break of the day.) And so the pieces of the burnt-offerings, were burned by night, till break of the day. But for to keep men far from trespassing, our wise men have said, that they should not burn the fattes, or pieces of the burnt-offering, but until midnight. Although it was lawful to burn them by night, yet they did not defer them purposely, but endeavored to burn all by day. Gratefull is a commandment (done) in the hour of the same, Maimonides, treat. of offering the sacrif. chap. 4. Sect. 1. 2. 3. This law here given, seems specially to intend the daily Burnt-offering of the church, which was offered first in the morning, and last in the evening, as the Hebrew Doctors say, It is unlawful to offer any sacrifice at all, before the daily sacrifice of the morning: neither kill they any sacrifice, (to weete, for particular persons,) after the daily evening sacrifice, except the sacrifice of the Passover only. Maimonides, treat. of the daily sacrif. chap. 1. Sect. 3. shall be burning] or, shall be made to burn, that is, nourished continually: so verse 12.

Vers. 10. his linen raiment] or, the linen robe; as the Greek translateth, a sinnen coat. Such were made for the inferior Priests to minister in, Exod. 28 40. 41. The original word Middo, signifieth a large garment, proportionable to the body. It is the Co• (as Sol. Rashi observeth) and the scripture calleth it Middo, because it was like [Middatho] his measure that wore it. Hence the Greeks borrowed their word Ma•due, which is a coat, or mantle. And the Hebrew ﴿◊﴾ signifieth finer linen then that of common flax, (which is called by another name,) therefore the Chaldee here translateth it garments of bysse: ﴿◊﴾ the notes on Exod. 25. 4. The ﴿◊◊﴾ (〈◊〉) Ghazkuni on this place,) is the Coat, the Miter, and the Girdle, which all are of lin 〈...〉 and the scripture speaketh of them as of one, because they all are as one garment, for he is not clothed with one without the other. his flesh] in Greek his body; meaning, his secret parts; which for honesty and reverence of God's sanctuary, were to be covered with these breeches next the skin. See the notes on Exod. 28. 43. and compare Ezek. 44. 17. 18. hath consumed] or, hath eaten: ashes are said to be consumed, when the wood and sacrifices are consumed and turned to ashes. So meal is said to be ground, Isaiah. 47. 2. when the corn by grinding is turned to meal. besides the altar] on the east-side, furthest from the sanctuary: Lev.t. 1. 16. The taking-up of the ashes from on the altar, is commanded to be done, every day, and it is one of the Priests services, Leviticus 6. 10. They did it, when the pillar of the morning ascended [that is, at break of the day.] And at the feasts, (they did it) at the beginning of the third part of the night; and on Reconciliation day, at midnight. He whose duty it was to take them up, washed himself and put on the clothes in which he was to take them up, and sanctified (that is, washed) h's hands and his feet. And took a fire-pan, and went up to the altar, &c. Maimonides, treat, of the daily sacrif. chap. 2. Sect. 10. 11. &c. The taking up of the ashes, is the first of all the services in the day; and the meaning and mystery of it is, to remove away the spirit of uncleanness that remaineth after the digestion of the members and fat entrails, that lieth on them. And therefore it is not done but in white garments only, because by mercy, iniquity is purged, (Pro. 16. 6.) R. Menachem, on Le. 6.

Vers. 11. other garments] Unto the Altar, no Priest might come but in the holy garments appointed of God; and those garments they used not but in the Sanctuary. Hereupon it is written, when the Priests go forth into the utter court to the people, they shall put off the garments wherein they ministered, and lay them in the holy chambers: and they shall put <...> there garments, and they shall not sanctify the people with their garments; Ezek. 44. 19. Yet forasmuch as the carrying away of the ashes, belonged to the Priests, by other garments the Hebrews understand not common clothes, but other holy garments. The Priests garments wherein he took away the ashes, were lesser then those wherein he ministered in other services; as it is written (in Levite. 6.) he shall put on other garments, and carry forth the ashes: he saith not other, for that they were common garments, but for that they were less then the former. Maimonides in Tamidin (or treat. of the daily sacrif.) chap. 2. Sect. 10. without the campe] As the turning of the Burnt offering to ashes, was a sign of God's acceptation thereof, Psal. 20. 4. so the carrying out of the campe, into a clean place, signified his regard of the very relics of that holy thing: which had accomplishment in Christ his death and buriall, without the gates of Jerusalem, in Golgotha, and in a garden, Heb. 13. 11. 12. 13. John. 19. 16▪ 17. 18. 41. 42. the memory whereof is blessed. Of these ashes, the Hebrew canons say, they were to be left in a place, where the wind did not blow strongly. And it was not lawful for strangers, to gather them up: neither might they be scattered there, but laid down: and it was unlawful for men to make profit (or use) of them. Maimonides, treat. of the daily sacrif. chap. 2. Sect. 15. a clean place] the contrary is said touching the stones and dust of a leprous house, that they should be poured out into an unclean place, Lev. 14. 40 41▪ for they came fō a polluted house; but these ashes came from the Lord's holy house, therefore were to be laid in a clean place, where no dead carcasses, dung, or other filth was laid.

Vers. 12. shall be burning] or, shall be kindled (or made burn) on it. From hence the Hebrews gather, that the fire might not be kindled beneath, and then laid upon the altar, but was to be kindled on the altar it self: Maimonides, treat of the daily sacrifice. c. 2. s. 9. And Baal Hatturim noteth how from hence they have said, Although fire came down from heaven, yet they were commanded to bring of common fire. be put out] or, quenched. The Hebrew canons say, He that quengeth the fire of the Altar, is to be beaten; for it is said, It shall not be put out, (Lev. 6. 12.) though it be but one coal, and though it be down from upon the Altar, he that putteth it out is to be beaten. Maimonides, ibid c. 2. s. 6. wood] no other fuel was allowable for the altar, and it was to be the wood of the public congregation, (as is observed on Lev. 1. 7.) And as all things about God's service, were to be of the best: so of this the Hebrews say, the wood was to be none but choice: such as had no worms in it. And that, timber of buildings pulled down, was ever unlawful: they might bring none but new wood. Maimo•y, in Issures Mizbeach, ch. 6. s. 2. every morning] Heb. in the morning in the morning. Of this service it is recorded; In the morning they laid the wood in order, and they made upon the top of the Altar a great fire &c: likewise towards evening. Three fires were orderly made upon the top of the Altar every day: the first was the great fire on which they offered the daily sacrifice with the other oblations; the second was a little fire in the side, from which they took fire in a censer to burn incense with every day; the third was not for other use but to confirm the commandment concerning the fire, which is written, FIRE CONTINVALLY SHALL BE BVRNING, Lev. 6. 13. We have been taught that that which is said, BECAUSE OF THE BVRNING UPON. THE ALTAR, Lev. 6. 9▪ is •eant of the great fire: and this, THE FIRE OF THE ALTAR SHALL BE BVRNING IN IT, Lev. 6. 9. is the second (fire) for the ‹◊› : and this, THE FIRE UPON THE ALTAR SHALL BE BVRNING IN IT. Leviticus 6. 12. is the third, for keeping of the fire, Maimonides, in treat▪ of daily sacrifis. ch. 2. s. 2. 4. 5.

Vers. 13. Fire continually] This commandment ‹...› ishing the fire always, being so oft repeated▪ showeth it to be of weight, and carefully to be observed: and signified, how by Christ our Altar, we should have continually through his Spirit, ‹◊› ready for the purging and •aking away of our sins, and access to offer unto God the sacrifice of praise, 1 John▪ 1. 9. Heb▪ 13. 10. 15. likewise the ‹◊› of God's ministers, by daily preaching of the word (which is likened unto fire, Ier. 23. 29.) to kindle and stir up the graces of the spirit in men, which may never be quenched, Mat. 3. 11. 1 Thes. 5. 19. It foreshadowed also the w•rke of Christ, who came to send fire on the earth, and ‹◊› defined to have it kindled, Luke 12. 49▪ likewise the afflictions of Christ and his Church, which are continual in this world, and through which we must enter into the Kingdom of God, Mark. 9. 49. Heb. 2. 10. 1 •e•. 4. 12. The Hebrews say of the fire on the Al•ar, that it was as a ladder for the Angels to ascend by: as (in Judge. 13. 20.) the Angel of the Lord ascended in the flame of the Altar; and in Ezek. 9. 2. six men stood beside the brazen altar: Baal Hatturim on Lev. 6.

Vers. 14. Meat-offering] the Minchah, whereof see Lev. 2. and the annotations there. before the Altar] that is, saith Sol. Rashi, the south, for that was the face (or forepart) of the altar; for the foot bank was set on that side.

Ver. 15. of rest] of sweet smell: see Lev. 2. 2. The Yerushalmi Targum translateth it, of favorable acceptation: and O•kelos, to be received with favorable acceptation.

Ver. 16. unleavened cakes] that is, made into unleavened cakes; as the next verse showeth. This, and the like that follow, show, how they that wrought about the holy things of the sanctuary; and they which waited at the altar, were partakers with the altar: so the Lord proportionably ordained also under the gospel, 1 Corinth. 9. 13. 14. Ezek. 44. 29. See Deut. 18. 1. 2. &c. What leve• and unleavened cakes signified, is noted on Exod. 12. holy place] meaning the Court of the sanctuary, in Num. 18. 10. it is called the Holy of hol•es, that is, the most holy place; yet hereby was meant neither the most holy within the Tabernacle, (into which none went but the high Priest once a year, Levite. 16. 2. &c.) neither the holy place there: but the court of the sanctuary, where all the most holy things were boiled, baken, dressed and eaten, by holy persons: as is explained after, v. 26. and Lev. 8. 31. See the notes on Leviticus 24. 9.

Vers. 17. with leaven] or, leavened; as the Greek translath it. holy •f holies] that is, most holy▪ Hebrew, holiness of holinesses. The like is said after, touching the sin-offerings, &c. Levite. 6. 25. and 7. 1. 6. &c. Other things were called holy, as the passover, tithes, firstfruits, &c. Such the Hebrews call light holy things, to distinguish them from the most holy: and the laws concerning them differ. The sin-offering, trespass-offering, and remainder of the peace-offerings, were not eaten but by the males among the Priests, within the court. Other offerings, tithes, firstfruits, shoulder and breast of the people's Peace-offerings and the like, were for the Priests, their sons, daughters, &c. that were clean, Numb. 18. 9. 10. 11. 19. Again, the most holy things are here limited to be eaten within the court: the light holy things were to be eaten in the place which the Lord should choose, &c. Dent. 12. 5. 6. 7. and 16. 5. 6. which after, was Jerusalem; whereupon the Hebrew canons say, who so eateth a bit of the flesh of the most holy things, without the court, is to be beaten, &c. The same judgment is for him that eateth the light holy things, out of Jerusalem. For Jerusalem walls, are for the light holy things; as the walls of the court for the most holy. Flesh of the most holy things, that is carried out of the walls of the court; and flesh of the light holy things, carried out of the walls of Jerusalem, is polluted and unlawful forever. And though it be brought back again to his place▪ yet is it unlawful to be eaten. Maim. in treat of offering the sacrif. ch. 11. s. 5. 6. Hereupon Jerusalem is called the holy City: Nehem. 11. 1. Isaiah 48. 2. and 52. 1. Mat. 4. 5.

Vers. 18. Every male] although he be a ble•ished priest, saith Sol. Rashi. all that toucheth] or, whosoever toucheth: whether person or thing, as any vessel of ministry, and the like: meaning that no unclean person, or common vessel, might touch them. The Greek translath, whosoever toucheth them, shall be sanctified: and so Chazkuni, adding this, and he shall purify himself, before he touch them. See after, in v. 27. and Exod. 29. 37.

Vers. 20. in the day] and so, from that day forward, every day. Chazkuni saith, that In here is instead of From. And that it is used for After, is noted on Exod. 2. 23. the day that he] that is, Aaron him-self, (as Lev. 8.) or any of his sons after him. The Chaldee called Jonathan's, saith, in the day that they anoint him to possess the high priests office. The Priest-hood was by natural succession to Aaron's sons, such as were meet for the same, having no blemishes, or other impediments; which the Magistrates of the highest Court judged of, and put him in place. None do constitute an high priest, but the Senate of 71. Judges: and they do not anoint him, but by day, as it is written (Lev. 6. 20.) In the day that he is anointed, &c. and they set not up two high Priests at once. The high Priest, he is the head of all the priests: and they do anoint him with the anointing oil (Exod. 30.) and clothe him with the garments of the high Priesthood, (Exod. 28.) They clothe him with the 8. garments, and when he puts them off, they clothe him again on the morrow, so 7. days, day after day, as it is written (Exod. 29. 30.) the son that shall be Priest in his stead, shall put them on 7. days. And as they array him with the clothes, seven days, so they anoint him with •ile seven days, one after another. Maimonides, in treat. of the Implements of the sanctuary. c. 4. s. 15. 12. 13. This high Priest was a figure of Christ, clothed with the garments of justice and salvation, offering himself to God for us, and us unto God through himself; making us, and our service acceptable unto his Father; Heb. 8. 1. and 7. 25. 28. and 10. 10. 22. and 13. 15. Ephah] or Bushel: the tenth part whereof, was an Omer: see Exod. 16. 36. continual] or thus, a Meat-offering, continually. The ordinary priests offered their Minchah but at their Initiation, or entering upon their office: the high priest, continually, every day. See the notes on Lev. 2▪ 1.

Vers. 21. a pan] to weat, a flat-pan, plate or slice: whereof see Lev. 2. 5. Such being baked dry, without li•ot, were the more subject to the heat and parching of the fire. And as the high Priest was in special manner a figure of Christ; so his daily Meat-offering being of this kind, figured out the sufferings of Christ, who was so parched with the site of afflictions for our sins. hastily fried] or, •ken▪ with bubbles, that is, so fried, that it may be hoven as with bubbles: so in Lev. 7. 12. The manner of making these cakes, is said to be thus. *The high Priest brought a whole tenth-deal, (of st•wre;) and sanctified it, and divided it by the half tenth-deal measure which was in the sanctuary: for although the oblation was half at once, yet was it not sanctified by the half. And he brought therewith, three logs of oil, as it is written, it shall be made with oil, to add oil thereunto, like the meat-offerings of the lamb. Then he mingled the flower with oil, and hastily-baked it with bubbles. And he kneaded of each half tenth part, six cakes. And they were made one by one thus, he divided the three logs (of oil) by the quarter measure that was in the sanctuary: a fourth part for every cake. And he baked the cake a little, and after that fried it upon the pan, with the other fourth part of oil which belonged to it. And he did not bake it much, as it is written Tuphinei [i. Bakings▪ Lev. 6. 21,] between baken and raw. And afterwards he divided every cake into two, by measure; that he might offer the half at morning, and the half at evening. And he took the halves, and doubled them everyone, into two; and brake them in in pieces, til he found every piece doubled into two. And he offered the one half, with half the handful of frankincense, in the morning; and the other half, with half the handful of frankincense at evening. And if it were the Meat-offering of Initiation, (or first entering upon his office,) he divided it not, but offered all at once, with the handful of frankincense: and both of them were a whole Burnt-offering, for offerings made by fire. Maim. in treat. of offering the sacrifices, ch. 13. s. 2. 3. 4. baken pieces] Hebrew, bakings of the Meat offering of pieces, that is, which was broken into pieces. See the like phrase in Lev. 5. 15. thou shalt] meaning, thou priest, whosoever; as the next verse showeth: therefore the Greek explaineth it, he shall offer. of rest] that is, of sweet smell, as the Greek translateth: in Chaldee, to be accepted with favor before the Lord.*

Vers. 22. the Priest that is anointed] Targum Jonathan explaineth it, the high Priest that is anointed with oil. a whole-burnt-offering.] Hebr. a Ca•••: that is, whole, or altogether; in Greek it is translated here Hapan, All; in the verse following, Holocaustos, that is, wholly-burnt. The people's Meat-offering was eaten by the Priests, that made a•onement for them, v. 15. 16. Lev. 7. 7. but because no Priest being a sinner, could make atonement for himself; therefore his Meat-offering might not be eaten, but all burnt on the Altar; to teach him to expect salvation not by himself, nor by his legal service or works, but by Christ. For the eating of the sin-offering, figured the bearing of the sinners iniquity, Lev. 10. 17.

Vers. 25. be killed] that was, on the north side of [unspec] the altar: see Lev. 1. 11. Hereby was figured that Christ ou• sin-offering should be killed by the priests in Jerusalem and mount Zion, w<sup>ch</sup> was on the sides of the North, Ps. 48 2. crucified on mount Calvarie, which was on the North west side of Jerusalem: as by the Jews tradition, the morning sacrifice was killed at the North west horn of the Altar.

Verse 26. offereth] or, expiateth-sin-by-it; as the [unspec] Chaldee translath, that maketh atonement by the blood thereof: in Greek, that offereth it. The Priest did ⟨ϕ⟩ it, and so bare the iniquity of the sinner: (Lev. 10. 17.) and in type abolished the same. It was also a part of their livelihood, Ezek. 44. 28. 29. which coveto*s priests abused, eating the sin of God's people; and lifting up their soul, unto their iniquity: Hos. 4. 8. It further figured our communion with Christ our sacrifice, eating his flesh by faith, John 6. 56. as he hath made us an holy Priest-hood, even Kings and Priests unto God his father, 1 Pet. 2. 5. Rev. 1. 6. in the holy place] within the courtyard of the sanctuary, not without the same. Seven other things were also to be eaten there, noted on Lev. 24. 9.

Vers. 27. blood thereof] of the sin-offering; whether it were that which was to be eaten, or that which was to be burnt. And this rite, was peculiar to the sin-offering, above all the other most holy things: Maimonides, treat. of offering the sacrif. ch. 8. s. 1. 2. As the sin-offering in special sort figured Christ (who was made sin for us, 2 Cor. 5. 21.) so this ordinance for all that touched the flesh of the sin-offering to be holy; the garments sprinked with the blood, to be washed; the vessels wherein the flesh was boiled, to be broken or scoured and rinsed: taught an holy use of this mystery of our redēption, whereof they that are made partakers, ought to be washed, cleansed and sanctified, by the Spirit of God; that we possess our vessels in holiness and honor, and yield not our members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin anymore. 1 Thes. 4. 4. Rom. 6. 13. wash] This washing was for casual sprinkling, as when any blood sprung out of the bason, upon a garment: or the like. And as the Hebrew canons say, Nothing was charged to be washed, but the bloody place only: and that which was upon an instrument apt to receive uncleanness, and apt to be washed. But if it were sprinkled on an instrument of wood or of metal, it was not to be washed, because they are things not fit to be washed, but they are only s•raped. If it be sprinkled on the skin of a fi ⟨...⟩ it is not required to be washed; because that is not a thing ⟨ϕ⟩ t• receive uncleanness. If on the skin of a •east before it be flayed, it is not charged to be washed: if it •ee after it is flayed, then must it be washed: for though it receiveth no uncleanness now, yet loe it is apt to receive uncleanness, after it is dressed for use. If it spring ⟨...⟩ of the neck, upon a garment▪ or from upon a ⟨ϕ⟩ of the alt•, or after that it is shed on the ground, ⟨ϕϕ⟩ gathered up, and any of it put on a garment, they ⟨ϕ⟩ ⟨...⟩ ged to wash it, for it is written, And when there is sprinkled of the blood &c. It is not meant, but of blood received in a ministering vessel, and fit for to spri ⟨...⟩ and that there be enough for that use. If he hath put the blood on the four horns of the altar, and afterward some of the blood left in the bason, be put on a ⟨ϕ⟩, it is not required to be washed, &c. When ⟨ϕ⟩ the bl•ody place, they must wash it very fair, ⟨...⟩ mark• of the blood, &c. Maimonides, i ⟨...⟩ ⟨ϕ⟩ sacrifice. ch. 8. s. 4. 10. These ordinances shadowed the con•agion of sin; (as did all the like in ⟨ϕ⟩ cases, Levite. 11. 32. 33. &c.) and the care that we should have to cleanse ourselves by repentance and faith; 2 Cor. 7. 1. Heb. 10. 19. 22. The ⟨ϕ⟩ Hebrew Doctors had some knowledge of these mysteries; for speaking of this washing of garments, they give a reason, because it was necessary to do-away-uncleanness, by the waters that are on high: R. Menachem on Levite. 6. These are the spiritual waters, mentioned in Hebr. 10. 22. John 7. 38. 39. Rev. 1. 5. and 22. 1. Zach. 13. 1. Isaiah 4. 4.

Vers. 28. scowred] as the washing, was to be in the holy place, or Court; ver. 27. so it was required that the earthen vessel should be broken in the court, and the vessel of metal, should be scoured and rinsed with water in the court. The scowring, was with hot water, and the rinsing, with cold. With water, not with wine, or any mixture, or other liquor. Maim▪ ibidem. ch. 8. s. 11. 12. Of breaking the earthen vessels, see the notes on Lev. 11. 33.

Ver. 29. holy of holies] Hebr. holiness of holynesses, that is, most holy; and the Greek addeth, unto the Lord.

Ver. 30. into the Tent] as was the blood of the sin-offerings for the high Priest; & for the Church. See Lev. 4. 5. 16. The signification of this law, for the burning of such sacrifices, and that the Priests might not cate of them, was to show the inability of that legal priesthood to reconcile men to God: and that men cleaving thereto, and not seeking for the better priesthood of Christ, could not be saved. For such sin-offerings as those Priests did eat, so typically bearing the people's iniquity, Lev. 10. 17. and taking it away, the blood of them came not into the sanctuary before God; which argued their unworthiness. But Christ with his blood (shed for our sins,) entered into the holy place, (not that which was made with hands, but into very heaven) and hath obtained eternal redemption: Heb. 9. 11. 12. 24. And in that the legal priests, might not eat the flesh of that sin-offering, whose blood was carried into the holy place, but the body was all burnt without the camp: the Apostle from hence saith; we have an Altar (meaning Christ,) whereof they have no right to eat, which serve the Tabernacle: (so excluding from Christ, all that cleaved to the rudiments of Moses. Which he proveth thus,) For the bodies of those beasts, whose blood is brought into the sanctuary by the high Priest for sin, (wherein Christ's sacrifice was most lively figured,) are burnt without the campe; (so that the Priest had no meat, or livelihood thereby:) Wherefore Jesus also, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate; (so accomplishing the type; and showing withal, that such as would still serve the worldly sanctuary, had no right to eat of him, and live by him.) Let us go forth therefore unto him, without the campe, bearing his reproach, &c. Heb. 13. 10.▪13. Teaching us hereby, to have communion with Christ, both by faith, in applying to ourselves his death and sufferings, 1 Pet. 3. 18. Gal. 2. 20. and in partaking of his afflictions; going out from our earthly habitations, and seeking the things that are above, 1 Pet. 4. 1. Coloss. 2. 12. 13. and 3. 2. 1. Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin, Rom. 6. 6.

CHAP. VII.

1, The law of the Trespass-offering. 11, and of the Peace-offerings▪ 12, Whether they were for Thanksgiving, 16, or a vow, or a voluntary offering. 23, The Fat, 26, and the blood are forbidden to be eaten. 28, The Priests portion in the Peace-offerings.

AND this is the law, of the Trespass offering: it is, holy of holies. In the place, where they kill the Burnt-offering, shall they kill the Trespass-offering: and the blood thereof, shall he sprinkle upon the altar, round about. And he shall offer of it, all the fat thereof: the rump, and the fat that covereth the inwards. And the two kidneys, and the fat which is upon them, which is upon the flanks: and the caul, above the liver; with the kidneys, he shall take-away it. And the Priest shall burn them, upon the altar; for a Fire-offering unto Jehovah: it is a Trespass-offering. Every male among the Priests, shall eat thereof: in the holy place shall it be eaten, it is holy of holies. As is the Sin-offering, so is the trespass-offering; there is one law for them: the Priest, that shall make-atonement therewith, his shall it be. And the Priest, that offereth a man's Burnt-offering: the skin of the burnt offering, which he hath offered; it shall be, for the Priest himself. And every Meat-offering, that is baked in the oven; and all that is made in the frying-pan, and on the pan: shall be for the priest himself that offereth it. And every Meat-offering mingled with oil, and dry: shall be, for all the sons of Aaron, one as much as another.

And this is the law, of the sacrifice of Peace-offerings: which he shall offer unto Jehovah. If he offer it, for Confession; then he shall offer with the sacrifice of Confession, unleavened cakes, mingled with oil; and unleavened wafers, anointed with oil: and of fine flower hastily-fried, cakes mingled with oil. With the cakes, leavened cakes of-bread, shall he offer for his oblation: with the sacrifice of Confession of his Peace-offerings. And he shall offer, one of them, out of the whole oblation; for an Heave-offering, unto Jehovah: it shall be of the Priests, even his that sprinkleth the blood of the peace offerings. And the flesh, of the sacrifice of Confession of his Peace-offerings; shall be eaten, in the day of the offering of it: he shall not leave of it, until the morning. And if the sacrifice of his oblation, be a vow or a voluntary offering; it shall be eaten, in the day that he offereth his sacrifice: and on the morrow, the remainder also of it shall be eaten. But the remainder of the flesh of the sacrifice: in the third day, shall be burnt with fire. And if any of the flesh of the sacrifice of his Peace-offerings be eaten at all, in the third day; it shall not be favourably-accepted: he that offereth it, it shall not be imputed, unto him, it shall be a polluted-thing: and the soul that eateth of it, shall bear his iniquity. And the flesh, that toucheth any unclean-thing, shall not be eaten; it shall be burnt [unspec] with fire: and the flesh; everyone that is clean, shall eat the flesh. But the soul that [unspec] eateth the flesh, of the sacrifice of Peace-offerings which pertain unto Jehovah, and hath his uncleanness upon him: even that soul shall be cut-off, from his people's. And the [unspec] soul that shall touch any unclean-thing; the uncleanness of man, or an unclean beast, or any abomination that is unclean; and eat of the flesh of the sacrifice of Peace offerings, which pertain unto Jehovah: even that soul shall be cut off, from his people's.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying. Speak unto the sons of Israel, saying: ye shall not eat any fat, of ox, or of sheep, or of goat. And the fat of a carcass, and the fat of that which is-torn-in-pieces; shall be used for any work: but eating ye shall eat of it. For whosoever eateth the fat, of the beast, of which he offereth a Fire-offering, unto Jehovah: even the soul that eateth it, shall be cut off from his people's. And ye shall not eat, any blood, in any of your dwellings: of fowl, or of beast. Any soul, that eateth any blood: even that soul shall be cut-off, from his people's.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying. Speak unto the sons of Israel, saying: He that offereth, the sacrifice of his Peace-offerings, unto Jehovah, shall bring his oblatiō unto Jehovah, of the sacrifice of his peaceofferings. His hands shall bring, Jehovah's Fire-offerings: the fat with the breast, it shall he bring; the breast, to wave it for a Waveoffring, before Jehovah. And the priest shall burn the fat, upon the altar: and the breast [unspec] shall be Aaron's and his sons. And the right shoulder, shall ye give for a Heave-offering, unto the priest: of the sacrifices of your Peace-offerings. He of the sons of Aaron, that offereth the blood of the peace-offerings, and the fat; his shall the right shoulder be, for a portion. For the wave breast, and the h•ave shoulder, have I taken of the sons of Israel, from off the sacrifices of their Peaceofferings: and have given them, unto Aaron the Priest and unto his sons, by a stature for ever, from among the sons of Israel.

This is the anointing of Aaron, and the anointing of his sons; out-of Jehovah's fire-offerings: in the day when he presented them, to minister-in-the-priests-office, unto Jehovah. Which Jehovah commanded to give unto them, in the day that he anointed them, from among the sons of Israel: by a statute for ever, throughout their generations. This is the law, of the Burnt-offering, of the Meat-offering, and of the Sin-offering, and of the Trespass-offering: and of the fillings (of the hand,) and of the sacrifice of Peace-offerings. Which Jehovah commanded Moses, in Mount Sinai: in the day that he commanded the sons of Israel, to offer their oblations unto Jehovah, in the wilderness of Sinai.

Annotations.

[Trespass-offering] Hebrew, Asham, that is, trespass or, guiltiness: in Greek, the Ram for trespass. This is an explanation of things commanded in Lev. 5. holy] Hebrew, holiness of holinesses, that is, a most holy thing, so in verse. 6.

Ver. 2. the place] the Northside of the altar, Lev. 1. 11. figuring the place where Christ our sin and Trespass-offering should be killed for us; as is noted on Lev. 6. 25. he sprinkle] meaning the Priest; as he sprinkled the blood of the Burnt-offerings, and of the Peace-offerings. See the notes on Lev. 1. 5. and 3. 2. 8.

V. 3. the rump, &c.] Of these rites, see the notes on Leviticus. 3. 4. 9. &c. for the same order in most things, wa• for all these sacrifices. Whether it were a <...> fest Trespass-offering, or a doubtful Trespass-offering, •ee killed it, and sprinkled the blood, as is before declared. And flayed it, and took out the inwards, and salted them, and strowed them on the fire upon the altar. And if he would bring them in a vessel, he might: and the residue of the flesh, was eaten by the males of the Priests, in the court, as the sin-offering. Maimonides, treat of offering the sacrifices, ch. 9. s. 1.

V. 4. which is upon] or, and that which is upon the flanks: in Gr. upon the thighs, it was a distinct thing from the former: see the notes on Lev. 3. 4. A like phrase is in Psal. 133. 3. the dew of Hermon, which descendeth, that is, and the dew which descendeth <∞> mountains of Zion.

V. ◊ . Fire-offering] in Chaldee, an oblation, and the G ◊ death, a smell of sweet saour. [unspec 5]

V. ◊ of the Burnt-offering] and so of other like offerings. Touching this point the Hebcanons say; All ◊ of the most holy things, were the Priests: ◊ they were sacrifices of the congregation, or sacrifices of particular persons. But the skins of the light holy things, were the owners. And every Burnt-offering, whose flesh was not meet to be offered on the altar; the Priest had no right to the skin thereof. All the most holy things, unto which pollution happeneth, before they be flayed, their skins belong not to the priests: if after they be flayed, the priests have their skins. And all the skins, the men of custody (which serve in their course) do divide them among them, from Sabbath evening, to Sabbath evening. He that taketh his burnt-offering, for the maintenance of the Sanctuary: likewise he that sanctifieth his goods, if there be males among them, whose right is to be offered for Burnt-offerings: the Priests have not their skins; for it is written, THE PRIEST THAT OFFRETH A MANS BVRNT-OFFRING, particularly distinguishing it from the burnt-offerings of the Sanctuary. But those skins are sold, and fall to the reparation of the Sanctuary. Whether it be man or woman, stranger or servant; the skins of their sacrifices are the Priests: he saith not A man's burnt-offering, but to except the sanctuaries. Maim. trea•• of offering the sacrif. c. 5. s. 19. 20. 21. This ordinance, compared with the coats of skin, wherewith God clothed our naked first parents, Gen. 3. 21. and with the goats skins, wherewith Jacob's hands were covered when he got the blessing, Gen. 27. 16. may lead us to the gift of God, in bestowing upon us Christ and his righteousness, to be clothed with him by faith, and sanctification, partaking of his death and sufferings; Rom. 13. 13. 14. Phil. 3. 9. 10.

V. 9. the pan] or, the flat plate. Of these, see the notes on Lev. 2. 5. 6. 7. for the Priest] or, the priests, even his that offereth it. The scripture thus speaketh, (as the Hebrew doctors observe) of this and the other sacrifices, to teach that the Priest who is meet for to serve, he hath his part in them to eat the same. And he that is not fit at the hour of the offering; as, one that is unclean, he hath no part to eat, although he be purified at evening▪ But in this matter of parting, all is for those that offer in the same day. And they all have their parts, in all th• holy things of the sanctuary, one as much as another. Maimonides, treat. of offering the sacrifice, chap. 10. Sect. 14. This figured our thankfulness unto God for his graces, which we should use and employ unto his honor:
 communicating unto them that teach us the word, in all good things, Gal. 6. 6. 1 Cor. 9. 7▪ 11.

Vers. 10. dry] that is, not mingled with oil, as the Greek translateth. Such were the Meat-offerings of the sinner, and the like: see Levite. 5. 11. one as another] Hebr. man as his brother; that is, every man alike; as the Greek explaineth it. From this word, man, The Hebrew doctors say, A child hath not a share, no not in the light holy things, although it be lawful for him to eat even of the most holy things. Likewise a woman, or one that is both man and woman, have no share in the holy things of the sanctuary at all, for it is said, MAN AS HIS BROTHER. But he that hath a blemish, whether continual or transitory; whether he be borne with his blemish, or is unblemished and yet disabled; he hath a share and eateth, as it is written, The bread of his God, even of the most holy, and of the holy, shall he eat, (Lev. 21. 22.) He also that is meet to eat. But if he be unclean, he hath no portion to eat at evening. And the high Priest eateth, not by share, but taketh what he pleaseth, Maimonides, treat. of offering the sacrifice, chap. 10. Sect. 17. &c.

Vers. 12. for Confession] or, for thanksgiving: the Greek translath it, for Praise: and the sacrifice of praise, with confessing to God's name, is mentioned by the Apostle, Heb. 13. 15. alluding to this law. See before in Levite. 3. This Confession, the Hebrews (as Sol. Rashi on this place) say, was for mercies and deliverances received from God; as by them that go down into the sea, or that travel through the deserts, or have been prisoners, or sick and recovered; for such are bound to make confession, as it is written, Let them confess unto the LORD his mercy, &c. and let them sacrifice the sacrifice of Confession. Psalm 107. 4. 10. 17. 21. 22. 23. &c. If for any of these, a man hath vowed Peace-offerings, with these Peace-offerings of Confession he is bound to bring the bread here spoken of, and they are not to be eaten but that day and that night. with the sacrifice] Maim. in trea. of offering the sacrifices, c. 9. s. 3. &c. showeth, that there were four sorts of Peace-offerings: One, the Peace-offerings of the congregation: & three, the Peace-offerings of particular persons. The peace-offerings of the congregatiō, they were killed, & their blood sprinkled as is before declared. Thē they were flayed, their inwards taken out with the fat, & salted, & burnt on the altar. And the remainder was eaten by the males of the Priests, in the court, as the Sin offering, and as the Trespass-offering; for they were most holy. The Peace offerings of particular men were of three sorts. The one was Peace-offerings brought without bread, as the Peace-offerings of the Chagigah (or Passover, Deut. •6.) and Pentecost (or feast of weeks:) these are called simply, Peace-offerings. The second sort was brought with bread, for a vow or for a voluntaryoffring; this is called Confession (or Thanksgiving) and the bread thereof is called, the bread of the Confession. The third sort, was that which the Nazirite offered, in the day of the accomplishment of his Nazariteship, this was also brought with bread; and it was called, the Nazarites ram: (Numbers 6. 13. 14. 15. &c.) These three sorts, were killed, their blood sprinkled, they flayed, their fat and inwards taken out. Afterwards, the flesh was cut-up, the breast and right shoulder separated: and the inwards, with the breast and shoulder, were put in the hands of the owners of the sacrifices, and the Priest put his hand under the owners hand, and waved all before the Lord. See further touching this in the annot. on Lev. 3. 5. unleavened] see the notes on Le. 2. 4. hastily fried] see Lev. 6. 21

Vers. 13. With the cakes] namely, with the unleavened cakes aforesaid, he shall also bring leavened cakes. So the Greek translath, with the unleavened breads. leavened cakes of bread] The Hebrew  $\langle \text{ל} \rangle$ , (that is, bread;) is sometime used for many loaves, or cakes; as in Levite. 23. 17. wave-bread, two: meaning, two wave cakes, or loaves. So in this place: for, the bread brought with the sacrifice of Confession, was thus prepared. He took 20. te•ths, (or pottles) of fine flower, and made of them ten pottles leavened, and ten unleavened. The ten that were leavened, he made of them, ten cakes. And the ten that were unleavened, he made of them 30. cakes equally; ten cakes of every sort; to •eet, ten cakes baken in the oven, and ten cakes wafers, and ten cakes hastily-fried. These 30. cakes were made with the quantity of half a log of oil; a fourth p•rt thereof, for the cakes hastily •ryed: an eight part for the baken cakes, and an eight part for the wafers, &c. And the Priest took one of all four cakes, one of every sort. Maim. treat. of offering the sacrifices, c. 9. s. 17. &c. Leaven (figuring corruption of nature and actions, 1 Cor. 5. 8.) is usually forbidden in all sacrifices: here, with the sacrifice of Confession or Thanks, God accepteth of it; either to teach us due preparation of our prayers and thanks unto him, (for leavening sometime is used in the good part, denoting the secret working of things in time, Matt. 13. 33.) or to teach us to temper our joys with sorrow and affliction in this life, (as the Prophets heart was leavened, Ps. 73. 21.) or, to signify, that he would graciously accept of our thanks & service, though mixed with our infirmities, which of his mercy in Christ he forgiveth unto us, 1. John. 1. 8. 9. 10.

Vers. 14. one of them] to weat, one of the cakes aforementioned, of each sort one, as is above noted. [unspec] The Hebrew is one of it, to weat, of the bread, (that is, the cakes) spoken of in verse 13. the whole oblation,] or, all the oblation: the Greek translateth it, all his gifts. The Priest had but one cake of every sort; the rest were eaten by the owners: so in the sacrifice, the priest had the breast and shoulder; the other flesh was eaten by the owners. Yea (notwithstanding that Law in Leviticus 6. 23.) if the owner of the sacrifice of confession were a priest, yet the residue of the bread, was eaten by the owners, as the sacrifice of another Israelite: for the bread that cometh with the sacrifice of Confession, or with the Nazarites ram, is not called a Meat-offering. Maimonides treat. of offering the sacrifices, c. 9. s. 11. 12. 14. an Heave-offering] so called, because it was heaved or lifted up: the Chaldee and Greek expoundeth it, a separation, or separated thing.

Ver. 15. eaten in the day] the eating of the Peaceofferings was a religious feast wherein they rejoiced [unspec] before the Lord, and gave him thanks: Deut. 12. 6. 7. The eating of it the same day it was offered, taught them to hasten and not to delay, to keep God's Commandments; and with speed whiles it is called today, to be made partakers of Christ by eating his flesh in faith; and to be thankful unto God for his grace, Psalm 119. 60. Psalm 95. 7. 8. Hebrews 3. 12. 13. 15. See also the notes on Exodus 12. 10. And as the time of (eating) the flesh, so was the time for (eating) the bread, as Sol. Rashi, here observeth.

V. 16. a vow, or a voluntary-offering] which he bringeth not for Confession for deliverance, as before is noted on verse 12. then he is not bound to bring bread with them, and they may be eaten two days: saith Solomon Rashi. The difference between these two is declared in the Hebrew canons, thus. He that saith, Loe upon me be a Burnt-offering; or, <⊠> upon me be a Meat-offering; or, loe, the price of this beast be upon me for a Burnt-offering; or a Peaceoffring; this is a Vow. But he that saith; Loe, this beast, or the price of this beast, be a burnt-offering <⊠> Peace-offering; or this tenth-d•ale of flower be a Me•offering: loe, this is a Voluntary-offering. What difference is there between vows, and voluntary-offerings? He that voweth, if he have separated his offering, <⊠⊠> l•st or stolen, he is bound for the worth of it aft <...> d, till he offer one like that which he hath vowed. B• he that voluntarily promiseth; if the thing die, <⊠⊠> st••ne; he is not bound to bring another for it. He that saith, the price of this ox be upon me a Burnt offering; or, the price of this house be upon me an oblation: if the •xe die, or the house fall, he is bound to pay, &c. Sin-offerings and Trespass-offerings, they are not brought but for sin: they come not by Vow or by voluntary-offering• He that saith, Loe, upon me be a Sinneoffring, &c. or, loe this be a Sin or Trespass-offering: he saith nothing. If he be indebted to bring a Sin or trespass-offering• and say; Lo this be for my sin or for my trespass-offering; or, this money be for my sin or trespass-offering: his words must be performed. He that voweth, or voluntarily-promiseth, is not bound, till his mouth and his heart accord. As he that intends to say, upon me be a Burnt-offering: and saith, a Peace-offering: he saith nothing. If he intend to vow a burnt-offering, and saith (generally) an offering: his words must stand: for the burnt-offering is an offering; and so in all like cases. In vows and voluntaries, it is not necessary that a man pronounce ought with his lips: but if he have fully determined in his heart, though he hath uttered nothing with his lips, he is indebted. Maim. in treat. of offering the sacrific. c. 14. s. 1. 5. &c.

V. 17. in the third day, shall be burnt] as being unlawful to be eaten: see the notes on Exod. 12. 10. So the longest time for eating the flesh of any sacrifice, was but the second day; in the third, none might ever be eaten. Which ordinance was given, partly that the holy flesh might be eaten while it was pure and sweet, for by the third day, it might easily in those hot Countries putrefy; partly to teach men diligence to apply & make use to themselves of the signs of grace in due time, as before is noted. But chiefly it seemeth to foreshadow the time of Christ, who rising from death the third day, abolished all legal offerings: see the annotations on Genesis 22. 4. And the Scripture useth today, and tomorrow for a short time, set and limited, as Behold I cast out Devils, and do cures today and tomorrow, and the third day I shall be perfected, Luke 13. 32.

Ver. 18. eaten at all] Hebrew, eating be eaten. The rules for this, are thus explained. *The Peace-offerings [unspec] <...>, the day that they are killed, and all that night, and all the next day, until sun-setting; Leviticus 7. 16. 17. 18. so they are eaten two days, and one night; whether it be the portion of the Priests, or the portion of the owners. The same law is for the first-borne, and for the <ϕ> <ϕ>; for they are light holy things, like the Peaceofferings. But the (sacrifice of) Confession, though it be of the ••ght holy things, is not eaten, save in the day that it is killed, with the night, Leviticus 7. 15. <ϕ> the Nazarites ram, and the bread that <ϕ> it, are like unto them, whether the portion of the <ϕ> ▪ or the portion of the owners. And the same l <...> <ϕϕ> Sin-offering, and for the Trespass-offering, <ϕϕ> Peace-offerings of the congregation, and the resi <...> of the Meat-offerings for all are eaten that day and that night, Levite. 7. 15. All the offerings are thus to <...> <ϕ> the Peace-offerings which the scripture expresseth, and the first-borne, and tithe, which are like unto them. All these which are to be eaten that day & that night, they may be eaten by the Law, until the break of the day: but for to keep men far from transgression, our wise men have said they are not to be eaten, but until midnight. Maim. treat. of offering the sacrific. chap. 10. sect. 6. 7. 8. By this we may see the reason why the Paschal Lamb being eaten the night before, the Jews on the morrow would not go into the judgment Hall, lest they should be defiled; but th•• they might eat the Passover: Mark 14. 12. John. 13. and 18. 28. For the Paschal Lamb was eaten the night before, and nothing of it might be eaten on the morrow, Exodus 12. 10. but the voluntary Peace-offerings sacrificed therewith, (which are also called the Passover, in Deuteronomy 16. 2.) might be eaten also the day following, but not on the third day; as this Law showeth▪ not be imputed] or, not reckoned, counted, or thought: to weet, by the Lord, as a pleasing service, or acceptable sacrifice. So this phrase is used, in Numbers 18. 27. 30. But the Hebrew Doctors▪ gather from hence another thing somewhat strangely; they say, *There are three thoughts (purposes or intendments,) that make the offerings unallowable; which are, the thought (or purpose) of changing the name, and the purpose of the place, and the purpose of the time. Of changing the name: as he that killeth the sacrifice, & not by the name thereof; but reputeth the burnt-offering, that it is a Peaceoffring, or the peace-offering, a burnt-offering, and the like. The purpose of the place; as he that killeth a sacrifice by the right name, upon condition to sprinkle the blood thereof, or burn that which is to be burnt, without the court, or to eat that which is to be eaten, out of the place where it ought to be eaten, &c.

The purpose of the time, as •ee that killeth a sacrifice by the right name, upon condition to sprinkle the blood thereof after the Sun setting, which is not the time for sprinkling of it, or to burn that which is to be burned thereof, on the morrow after day light, which is not the time for burning of it; or to eat that which is to be eaten thereof, after the time appointed for the eating of it, &c. These are called sacrifices killed out of their due time, & they are called Pigul (that is, polluted) in every place, and this is the polluted thing spoken of in the law. By word of mouth we have been taught, that that which is said in the law, (Lev. 7. 18.) If any of the flesh of the sacrifice of his Peace-offerings be eaten &c. is spoken but of him that purposeth in the hour of offering it, that he will eat thereof in the third day. And the same law is for every offering, concerning which he purposeth in the hour of offering it, to eat thereof after the due time. And so if 〈◇〉 purpose to burn thereof on the altar, the thing which is fit to be burned: whether it be that which is eaten by man, or eaten (that is, consumed) by the Altar, if the purpose concerning it for after the time▪ the oblation is polluted. But the offering which is not corrupted with his purpose, but the blood thereof is sprinkled on the altar i•s due manner, and there remaineth thereof till after the time that it should be eaten: that which remaineth▪ is called Nothar (the Remainder, Lev. 7. 17.) and it is unlawful to eat it. But the oblation now is favourably accepted, and hath made atonement. Behold he saith of the blood, I have given it to you upon the altar, to make 〈◇〉 atonement, (Lev. 17. 11.) when the blood is applied to the altar in due manner, the owners (of the sacrifice) have atonement made for them, and the offering is accepted, &c. In four services, the sacrifice is polluted by the purpose: in the killing, and in the receiving of the blood, and in the carrying of it (to the altar) and in the sprinkling of it upon the altar. And the (sacrifice of) fowls, in two things: in the cutting of the neck with the nail, and in the wringing-out of the blood. And the Meatofferings out of which the handful is taken, in four: in the taking of the handful; & in the putting of the handful into a ministering vessel; and in the carrying of it to the altar; and in the sprinkling of it upon the fire. But if he purpose, in other things, except these: as in the hour of flaying, or of cutting in pieces, or in the hour when the fat is carried to the altar, or when the meat-offering is mingled, and the like: those purposes effect not anything at all; whether it be the purpose of changing the name or the place, or the time. And so he that purposeth in any of these four services, or in them all, any other purpose, (or thought) then these three, that purpose causeth no corruption at all: as if he purpose in the time of killing, carrying the blood, or sprinkling, to leave of the blood of the sacrifice; or of the fat, till the morrow, or to carry them out of the court, &c. or to put the blood on the golden altar, which should be put on the brazen altar, or purposeth, that they which are unclean shall eat the sacrifice, or to mixe the blood of the sacrifice, with the blood of unallowable things; or to break the bones of the Pascal-lamb, or to eat of it raw; or any the like; in all such thoughts (or purposes) the sacrifice continueth good, &c. No thought (or purpose) goeth save after him that serveth: but the purpose of the owner of the sacrifice •vayleth nothing: if the purpose of him that serveth be right, the sacrifice is good. Neither doth the purpose avail, save of him that is fit to serve, and in the thing that is fit for service, and in the place that is sit for service. Maimon. in Pesulei 〈...〉 amukdashin, c. 13. s. 1. &c. and c. 14. s. 1. 2. To the like effect they write in Thalm. Bab. in Zebachim, chap. 2. but this exposition hath no firm ground: for though such thoughts or purposes were unlawful, yet it is not manifest that they made the sacrifice a poll•ted thing; besides that the law saith, If it be eaten at all in the third day, it is a polluted thing, Lev. 19. 7. a polluted thing] or abominable, a thing to be refused for the corruption of it: in Hebrew it is called Pigul; and properly it is meant of a thing polluted by passing the time of eating, offering, or the like; as ‹◊› the annotations before going, is shown. The word is used here, and again in Leviticus 19. 7. Isaiah 65. 4. and Ezek. 4. 14. and not elsewhere. The Greek translateth it sundry ways, a thing polluted, unsacrificeable, and profane. The Apostle ••th a word Apobletō, (that is, a thing to be refused, or rejected,) speaking of meats, in 1 Tim. 4. 4. which may be the interpretation of this word: and so Aquila, one of the ••actest translators of the Bible into Greek, turneth this Pig••, Apobletōn. Lev 19. 7. the soul] in Chaldee, the man: so in verse. 20. his ‹...› tie] that is, the punishment of his iniquity; see the notes on Gen. 19. 15. Any •blation that is become polluted through purpose of the time, as is before declared: whosoever eateth so much as an olive thereof presumptuously is guilty of cutting off, as is written, the soul that eateth thereof shall bear his iniquity. And if he eat thereof ignorantly, he is to bring the Sinneoffring appointed. Maimonides in Pesulei hamukdashin, ch. 18. sect. 6. The Lord himself expoundeth it thus; because he hath profaned the hallowed thing of Jehovah, even that soul shall be cut-off from among his people's: Lev. 19. 8. In the Babylonian Talm. in Zebachim, ch. 2. they have these canons; He that killeth a sacrifice, to sprinkle the blood thereof without (the courtyard) or some of the blood thereof without; to burn the fat thereof, or some of the fat thereof without; to eat the flesh thereof, or so much as an olive of the flesh thereof without; it is an unlawful thing, but there is no cutting off for it. If (with purpose) to sprinkle the blood, or some of the blood thereof on the morrow, to eat the flesh, or so much as an olive of the flesh thereof on the morrow, it is Pigul, (a polluted thing) and they are guilty of cutting off for it.

V. 19. the flesh] that is, as the Chaldee explaineth it, the holy flesh; which Sol. Rashi expoundeth, the holy flesh of the Peace-offerings. burnt with fire] The like law was for the remainders of things the second or third day, v 15. 17. And generally, that which remained and was polluted, & all the holy things, that became unallowable, were all burned. An oblation that became polluted or unallowable; was burnt in the sanctuary out of hand. Flesh of the most holy things, if it were made unclean within (the sanctuary.) they burned it within: and if it were made unclean without, they burned it without. If any of the light holy things remained, the owners thereof burnt it in their houses, W•• so went out of Jerusalem, and remembered that there was holy flesh in his hand, if he were past the spies, [such as used to watch upon the walls, 2 Kin. 9. 17.] he burned it in his place: and if not, if he had a morsel with him, or more; he went back and burned it in Jerusalem. All the bones of the holy things, which had no ma•••• in them: they were not bound to burn them, except the bones of the Passover. These are the things that were burned: Holy flesh that was made unclean, or that remained; or was made disallowable. Likewise the M••toffring, that was made such. And the doubtful iraspasseoffring, when it was known to a man, before the blood of it was sprinkled, that he had not sinned; and the si••offerings of fowls that were brought upon doubt. And the hair of the clean Nazirite, (Num. 6• 18.) And the superfluity & mixtures of the vineyard, (Lev. 19. 13. Deut. 22. 9.) And the thing which was not accustomed to be burnt, was buried. Such were, the holy things that died, and that had untimely birthes: the ox that was stoned, (Exod. 21. 28.) the heifer that was beheaded, (Deut. 21. 4.) the sparrow of the Leper, (Lev. 14.) the hair of the unclean Nazirite, (Num. 6. 9.) the first-borne asse (Exod. 13. 13.) flesh in milk: and pr••••• things killed in the court of the sanctuary. All th•• were buried, the dust of them was unlawful: and all th•• were burnt, of the holy things, the dust of them was lawful, except the ashes of the outward and inward Al••, and of the Candlestick. Whatsoever was to be bur•••d, might not be buried; and whatsoever was to be bur•••d, might not be burned. M ‹...›

› ▪ in Pesulei ⟨...⟩ , ch. 19. sect. 1. 2. 6. 7.—14. and the flesh] that which ⟨...⟩ clean and fit to be eaten; the holy flesh, as ⟨ϕ⟩ ⟨...⟩ aldee expoundeth it: the flesh of the Peace ⟨...⟩ ngs: verse 21. that is clean, shall eat the ⟨ϕ⟩ ] in Chaldee, shall eat the holy flesh. Here Sol. ⟨ϕ⟩ noteth, that whereas it is said (in Deut. 12. ⟨ϕ⟩ and thou shalt eat the flesh, lest any should say, ⟨ϕ⟩ •one may eat of the Peace-offerings but the ⟨ϕ⟩ (diat bring it,) therefore it is said, everyone that is ⟨ϕ⟩ shall eat (or may eat) the flesh.

Vers. 20. u•cleanness upon him] The Hebrews expound this of an unclean person that eateth of an holy thing before he is washed. He that eateth of it after he is washed, before his Sun be set, or before he hath brought his atonement, is to be beaten. But he is not guilty of cutting off; because it is said, AND HIS VNCLEANNES UPON HIM, whiles all his uncleanness is upon him. Maimonides in Pesule hamukdashin, ch. 18. s. 14. that soul shall be cut off] the Chaldee expoundeth it, that man shall be destroyed; in Greek, shall perish; meaning, by the hand of God. See Levite. 22. 3. 9.

Vers. 21 of man] that is, of an unclean man: such as had leprosy, running issue, or the like, Lev. 13. and 15. See also Levite. 22. 2. 3. 4. &c. Vncleannes of man, is put for man of uncleanness: see the like in Lev. 5. 1•. In the Hebrew canons, it is thus explained: Any man that is made unclean with such ••cleanness, as if he come into the sanctuary, he is gu•l ⟨ϕ⟩ of cutting off; if he eat so much as an olive of the holy things, whether it be of the clean holy thing or of the unclean holy thing, doing it presumptuously, he is guilty of cutting off, Lev. 7. 20. and if he eat ignorantly, he must bring the sacrifice appointed (in Levite 5. 2. 11. Maimonides in Pesulei hamukdashin, cha. 18. s. 13. of peace-offerings] and so by proportion, of other sacrifices: for the same law is for other holy things of the altar, saith Maimonides, ibidem. The flesh of these sacrifices being a figure of the flesh of Christ, to be eaten of the saints by faith: this law signified, that all unbelievers, hypocrites and wicked ones that profess the Gospel, and partake of the signs and seals of grace unworthily, do eat and drink judgment to themselves; 1 Cor. 11. •7. 28. •9.

Vers. 23. f• of ox] This explaineth and limiteth the law before given, in Levite. 3. 17. to the [unspec] fat of these three kinds of beasts: see the annotations there.

V. 24. of a karkasse] to weet, that which dieth of it [unspec] self, or otherwise, after an unlawful manner. To •ate the flesh of carcasses, or of things that were ⟨ϕ⟩ ; was unlawful, Exod. 22. 31. Levite. 17. 15. and 22. 8. Deut. 14. 21. Ezek. 4. 14. and 44. 31. to eat fat of such, was a double trespass. He that ⟨ϕ⟩ the fat of a dead or torn •east, is guilty both for ⟨ϕ⟩ the fat, & for eating the dead or torn beast: &c. ⟨ϕϕ⟩ . 2. treat of Forbidden meats, c. 7. s. 2.

Ver. 25 shall be cut off] the Greek translateth, shall [unspec] perish: to weet, if he do it with a high hand. He that ⟨ϕ⟩ so much as an olive of fat presumptuously, is in danger to be cut-off: if he do it ignorantly, he is to ⟨ϕ⟩ the Sin-offering appointed. Maim treat. of For ⟨...⟩ meats, ch. 7. s. 1. So for the next case, of eating blood: verse. 27.

V. 26. or of beast] This also is a limitation: whereupon the Jews hold no prohibition of the blood of fishes, locusts, creeping things, and the like: see the notes on Lev. 3. 17. and 17. 10.

14. and Gen. 9. 4. So Sol. larchi here noteth, of fowl, or of beast, to except the blood of fishes, locusts, &c, Vers. 29. his oblation] in Gr▪ his gift, meaning those things which were given out of the Peace-offerings, to the Lord and to the Priest.

Ver. 30. His hands] he might not do it by another person: but the Priest put the parts-of the sacrifices into the owners hands, and received them of him. See the notes on Lev. 3. 5▪ and 7. 12. fat with the breast] of which, the fat was the Lord's, burnt on the altar; the breast was the Priests, to eat, verse 31. wave it] The manner of doing this and the signification of it, see in Lev. 3. 5. and Exod. 29. 24. It figured the giving of our breast, that is, of the heart and affections, unto Christ, in newness of life; in the fellowship of his afflictions: Prov. 23. 26. 1 Chron. 28. 9. Rom. 6. 3. 4. 5. 6. Phil. 3. 10.

Ver. 32. Heave-offering] in Greek and Chaldee, a separation, or separated thing; because it was separated from the rest of the body, heaved up towards heaven, and after given to the Lord's Priest. It signified, an acknowledgement that all good things came down from God; and an endeavor that all the ways of his people should tend upward unto God, that so their conversation might be heavenly, I am. 1. 17. Phil. 3. 20. Prov. 15. 24.

Verse 34. statute for ever] or, an eternal ordinance, to continue so long as the law of sacrificing should continue, that is, till Christ's coming: and after that, the equity of it to remain still; for as they which waited at the Altar, were partakers with the Altar: even so hath the Lord ordained, that they which preach the gospel, should live of the gospel, 1 Cor. 9. 13. 14.

Verse 35. the anointing] that is, the portion or reward of the Anointing; meaning, of the anointed Priests. For that he speaketh of their portion, the words before and after manifest; and in verse 36. it is that which Jehovah commanded to give unto them. And Anointing, is figuratively put for the Priest anointed, as Oil is used for Christ, which had the oil of grace without measure on him, Isaiah 10. 27. So dreams, are put for dreamers, Ierem. 27. 9. Spirits, for spiritual gifts, 1 Cor. 14. 12 thanksgivings, for companies of thanksgivers, Nehem. 12. 31. Circumcision for persons circumcised, Rom. 2. 26. and many the like. In like manner, divination is used for the rewards of divination, sent unto Balaam, Numbers 22. 7. iniquity, for the punishment or desert of iniquity, Levite. 7. 18. Job 11. 6. So Chazkum here expoundeth, the anointing, to be the reward of their anointing. presented] or, offered them, and here in the day, meaneth from that day forward, forever, as appeareth by verse. 36.

Vers. 37. fillings of the hand] that is, as the Greek explaineth it, Perfection, or Consecration: when the hand was filled with parts of the sacrifices: see Exodus 29. 9. &c. in the annotations. That sacrifice is here reckoned among the rest, because it was commanded at mount Sinai, Exodus 29. and i▪ after to be shown in practice, Leviticus 8.

Vers. 38. in the wilderness of Sinai] named of Sinai [unspec] the mountain in Arabia where the Law was given, which is Agar, gendering to bond age, Gal. 4. 24. 25. Before they came thither, they offered no sacrifice; there God gave them these laws, (described from the beginning of Leviticus hitherto,) as shadows of good things to come, Hebr: 10. <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> . •ll the Lamb (Christ) on mount Zion, should by the sacrifice of himself, when he made his soul a Trespass offering, Isaiah 53. 10. cause the Sacrifice and Oblation to cease, Dan. 9. 27. who hath by one offering, perfected forever them that are sanctified, Heb. 10. 14. so that now among the Gentiles, in every place incense is offered unto the name of God, and a pure Meat-offering, Mal. 1. 11. By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually. #### CHAP. VIII.

1. Moses consecrateth Aaron and his sons, to the Priests office. 14, Their Sin-offering. 18, Their Burnt-offering. 22, The ram of the filling of the hands. 31, The place and time of their consecration.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying. Take Aaron, and his sons with him; and the garments, and the anointing oil: and a Bullock for a Sin-offering, and two rams, and a basket of unleavened cakes. And gather thou together, all the congregation: unto the door, of the Tent of the congregation. And Moses did as Jehovah commanded him: and the congregation was gathered together; unto the door, of the Tent of the congregation. And Moses said, unto the congregation: This is the thing, which Jehovah commanded to be done. And Moses brought-near Aaron and his sons: and washed them with water. And he put upon him the Coat, and girded him with the girdle, and clothed him with the Robe, and put the Ephod upon him: and girded him with the curious girdle of the Ephod, and fitly-girded him therewith. And he put the Breast-plate upon him, and he put in the Breastplate, the Vrim and Thummim. And he put the Miter, upon his head: and he put upon the Miter, even upon his forefront, the plate of gold, the crown of holiness; as Jehovah commanded Moses. And Moses took the anointing oil, and anointed the Tabernacle, and all that was therein: and sanctified them. And he sprinkled there of upon the altar, seven [unspec] times: and anointed the altar, and all the vessels thereof; and the laver, and the foot thereof, to sanctify them. And he poured [unspec] of the anointing oil, upon Aaron's head; and anointed him, to sanctify him. And Moses [unspec] brought-near, Aaron's sons; and clothed them with costs, and girded them with girdles and bound bonnets upon them: as Jehovah commanded Moses. And he brought [unspec] nigh, the bullock for the Sin-offering: and Aaron and his sons laid their hands, upon the head of the bullock for the Sin-offering. And he killed it, and Moses took the blood [unspec] and put it upon the horns of the altar round about, with his finger; and purified the altar: and the blood, he poured at the bottom of the altar, and sanctified it, to make-atonement upon it. And he took all the fat, that [unspec] was upon the inwards; and the caul of the liver; and the two kidneys, and their fat: and Moses burned them upon the altar. And the [unspec] bullock, and his skin, and his flesh; and his dung; he burnt with fire, without the campe: as Jehovah commanded Moses. And he [unspec] brought-near, the ram for the Burnt-offering: and Aaron and his sons, laid their hands upon the head of the ram. And he killed it: and [unspec] Moses sprinkled the blood, upon the altar, round about. And he cut the ram, into his [unspec] pieces: and Moses burnt, the head, and the pieces, and the fat. And he washed the inwards [unspec] and the legs in water: & Moses burnt all the ram, upon the altar; it was a Burnt offering, for a savor of rest; it was a Fire-offering unto Jehovah; as Jehovah commanded Moses. And he brought-near the second [unspec] ram, the ram of the Fillings of the hand: and Aaron and his sons, laid their hands, upon the head of the ram. And he killed it, and [unspec] Moses took of the blood of it, and put it upon the tip of Aaron's right ear: and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great-toe of his right foot. And he brought-near [unspec] Aaron's sons; and Moses put of the blood upon the tip of their right ear, and upon the thumb of their right hand, and upon the great-toe of their right foot: and Moses sprinkled the blood, upon the altar, round-about. And he took the fat and the [unspec] rump, and all the fat that was upon the inwards; and the caul of the liver; and the two kidneys, and their fat: and the right shoulder. And out of the basket of unleavened cakes, that was before Jehovah, he took one unleavened cake, and one cake of oiled bread, and one wafer: and put them on the fats, and on the right shoulder. And he put all, on the [unspec] palms-of-the-hands of Aaron, and on the palms-of-the-hands of his sons: and waved them for a Wave-offering, before Jehovah. And Moses took them from off the [unspec] palms-of-their hands, and burnt them on the altar, upon the Burnt-offering: they were the Fillings of the hand, for a favor of rest; it was a •re offering unto Iehvah. And Moses took the breast, and waved it for a Waveoffring before Jehovah: of the ram of the Fillings of the hand, it was Moses part, as Jehovah commanded Moses. And Moses took of the anointing oil, and of the blood, which was upon the altar; and sprinkled it upon Aaron, upon his garments; and upon his sons, and upon his sons garments with him; & sanctified Aaron, his garments; and his sons, and his sons garments, with him. And Moses said unto Aaron and to his sons, Boyle the flesh, at the door of the Tent of the congregation: and there eat it, and the bread, which is in the basket of the Fillings of the hand: as I commanded, saying; Aaron and his sons shall eat it. And the remainder of the flesh, and of the bread: ye shall burn, with fire. And ye shall not go-out of the door of the Tent of the congregation, seven days: until the day of fulfilling, the days of your Filling-of the hand: for, seven days, shall he fill your hand. As he hath done, in this day: Jehovah hath commanded to do, to make-atonement for you. And ye shall abide, at the door of the Tent of the congregation, day and night seven days; and shall keep the charge of Jehovah, that ye die not: for so, I am commanded. And Aaron, and his sons did: all the things, which Jehovah commanded, by the hand of Moses.

Annotations.

Aaron] who was before designed unto the Priests office, Exod. 28. 1. The Hebrew Par, here and always in the sacrifices meaneth a bull of the second year at the least: Maimonides, treat▪ of offering sacrif. chap. 1. Sect. 24. for a sin offering] Hebr. of sin: which the Greek translath for sin. This and the other sacrifices, were to sanctify them unto the Priests office; see Exod. 29. 1. 2. &c. two rams] the one for a Burnt offering, verse 18. the other for Consecration of the Priests, or Filling their hand, verse. 22. These also were to be above a year old, for all tammes for sacrifice were to be of the second year, as Lambs were of the first year. Maimonides ibidem.

Vers. 3. of the congregation] in Greek, of testimony: see Levite. 1. 1. Thus the presence of God, and of the Church, is here at the consecration of the Priests. And by the door of the Tent, is meant the Courtyard of the same, which was before the door; and all the Court was so called, as Sol. I•chi noteth on Exod. 29.

Vers. 5. the thing] Hebr. the word: of this commandment, see Exod. 29. 4.

Vers. 6. water] to wash away uncleanness: a sign of their sanctification from sin, by repentance and faith, through the spirit of our Lord Jesus Christ, who came by water and blood, 1 John. 5. 6. Ezek. 36. 25. Heb. 10. 22. Isaiah. 1. 16. See the notes on Exodus 29. 4.

Vers. 7. put] Hebr. gave. The putting off of his own clothes, signified the taking away of his iniquity, Zach. 3. 4. and these other garments signified the gifts of justice and salvation, Psal. 132. 9. 16. See the particulars observed on Exod. 29. 5. &c. the Coat] the linen coat, which was next his skin, save only the linen breeches under it upon his secret parts. See the annotations on Exodus 28. 4. &c. fitly-girded] the Greek saith, tied-fast: a sign of making him strong and ready in heart, to do his service: see Exod. 29. 5.

Vers. 8. the Breast-plate] called the Breast plate of judgment: the making and meaning whereof is shown, on Exod. 28. 15. &c. Urim and Thummim] that is, Lights and Perfections: in Greek, Manifestation and Truth: see Exod. 28. 30. These ornaments of the high Priest, figured the perfection of all graces in Christ, whom the legal Priests typed: Heb. 5. 1. 5. &c.

Vers. 9. crown of holiness] the holy diademe, on which these words Holiness to Jehovah were graved: whereof see Exod. 28. 36. 38. and 29. 6. It was a sign of the holiness and excellency of his calling; by the gifts of God's spirit upon him: and figured Christ's mediation for his Church; for now Aaron did bear the iniquity of the holy things, which the sons of Israel should hallow, in all the gifts of their holy things; &c. Exod. 28. 38.

Vers. 10. the anointing oil] called the oil of holy anointing; it was made of Mirrhe, Cinamon, Calamus, Cassia, and oil olive, Exod. 28. 23. 24. 25. and it figured the graces of the Spirit upon Christ, and his Church, Esa. 61. 1. 1 John. 2. 20. 27.

Vers. 11. seven times] to signify a full sanctification: see the notes on Levite. 4. 6.

Vers. 12. head] and it ran down upon his beard, and on the collar of his garments, Psalm 133. 2. This anointing signified the graces of God's spirit, whereby their ministration of God's word, became a sweet savor unto God, in them that heard it: 2 Cor. 2. 15. 16. He anointed him after that he had clothed him, as is said in Targ. Jonathan: and first •e poured it upon his head, and afterwards put it between his eye brows, and drew it with his finger from the one to the other; saith Sol. Rashi on Levite. 8.

Vers. 14. sin-offering] Hebr. the sin-bullock: see Exod. 29. 10. &c. laid] or, imposed their hands: so renouncing and disburdening themsel••• of their sins, which now were imputed to the sacrifice, a figure of Christ. See the notes on Exod. 29. 10. and Levite. 1. 4.

Vers. 15. killed it] whereby Christ's death for sin was shadowed; for, without shedding of blood, is no remission: Hebr. 9. 22. 28. horns] of this rite, see Levite. 4. 7. 25. and Exod. 29. 12. purified] or, cleansed-from sin: see the notes on Exod. 29. 36. the blood] that which remained. sanctified it] the Altar was by these rites sanctified, that from thenceforth atonement might be made for the sins of the people, by the sacrifices that should daily be offered thereon: for after this, the Altar sanctified the gifts and oblations upon it: Mat. 23. 19.

Vers. 16. fat] or, suet: see Lev. 3. 3. 4. 5. and 4. 8. Exod. 29. 13. caul of the liver] said in Levite. 3. 4. 10. to be the caul above the liver. And they used to take a little of the liver with the caul: as the Hebrews do record. Maimonides, treat. of Offring the sacrif. chap. 1. Sect. 18.

Vers. 17. without the campe] a figure of Christ, suffering without the gate of Jerusalem, Heb. 13. 12. See the annotations on Exod. 29. 14. Levite. 4. 12. and 6. 30.

Vers. 18. Burnt-offering] the law, and signification hereof, see in Levite. 1. and Exod. 29. 15. &c. Here for the Priests, as the former Sin-offering taught them to have Christ for their justification, and atonement, for the forgiveness of their sins: so this Burnt-offering taught them to expect by Christ, their transformation by the renewing of their mind, to present their reasonable service, even their bodies for a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable unto God: Rom. 12. 1. 2.

Vers. 21. of rest] in Greek, of sweet-odour, in Chaldee, to be accepted with favor. See Gen. 8. 21. Exod. 29. 18. So after in verse 28.

Vers. 22. fillings of the hand] that is, as the Greek saith, of perfection, or of consecration: see Exod. 29. 9. 19. This Ram was a kind of Peace-offering, as Sol. Rashi here saith, The ram of filling (the hand) is the ram of Peace offerings (or of perfections) for they filled a'd perfected the Priests in their Priesthood. It signified a sanctification of their calling; office, administration, by the sacrifice of Christ; whom Paul calleth the Consecrator, Heb. 12. 2. through whom they should with thankfulness and joy, perform the work of their ministry.

Vers. 24. foot] these rites signified, both the sufferings of Christ, whose hands and feet where pierced; and how the Priests should in Christ be sanctified to hear & receive the word from God, to administer the same unto others, and to walk themselves accordingly. See Exod. 29. 20. 1 Cor. 11. 23. and 9. 27. sprinkled the blood] that is, all the residue of the blood, as in Targum Jonathan is explained: which being sprinkled on the Altar, figured the perfection of their consecration to be in Christ.

V. 25. the rump] or tail, whereof see Lev. 3. 9. [unspec]

Vers. 26. oiled] Hebr. bread of oil; meaning, tempered with oil, as Exod. 29. 2. wafer] which also was unleavened, and anointed with oil, Ex. 29. 2. These Meat-offerings of the Priests, signified now they and their service of God, should be without leaven of hypocrisy, error, wickedness; & with sincerity and truth, and with the gracious oil of his spirit, given up unto God, acceptably in Christ, Isaiah. 66. 20. Psal. 141. 2. 1 Cor. 5. 8. 1 •oh. 2. 20. 27. See the annotations on Levite. 2.

Vers. 27. waved] that is, moved to and fro: of [unspec] these and their signification, see the notes on Exodus 29. 24. 27.

Vers. 28. upon the Burnt-offering] this Sol Rashi [unspec] expoundeth, after the Burnt-offering; adding withal, and we find not that the shoulder of the Peace-offering was offered in any place saving in this. For usually the shoulder, as well as the Breast was given to the priest, Levite. 7. 32. 33. 34. Here Moses, (who was Priest extraordinarily) hath the breast only, v. 29.

Vers. 29. part] or, to Moses for a part, (or portion:) see Exod. 29 26.

Vers. 30. upon the Altar] which sanctified the [unspec] things upon it, and figured Christ; from whom they were to receive blood for atonement and justification, and oil of grace for sanctification: that both their persons, office and administration might be acceptable unto God his Father.

Vers. 31. at the door] which the Greek explaineth, [unspec] in the court: see before, on verse 3. In Exod. 29. 31. it is called the holy place: and in verse 32. the door of the Tent. ﴿ϕ﴾ commanded] Moses speaketh this in the person of God, whose commandment it was, Exod. 29. 32. The Greek, for more plainness, translateth, as it was commanded me. Else-where, the holy Ghost translateth an active, passively; see Gen. 15. 6. Exod. 9. 16. and 20. 12.

Vers. 32. the remainder] which cannot be eaten [unspec] that night, but remaineth till the morning, Exodus 29. 34.

Vers. 33. day of fulfilling] that is, the day, that the [unspec] days of your consecration be fulfilled: which the Chaldee translateth thus, till the day that the days of your offering, be fulfilled; for seven days shall your offering be offered. seven days shall •e fill] that is, the Lord shall fill, or consecrate. In Exod. 29. 35. God said to Moses, thou shalt fill their hand: so the same thing is attributed unto the Lord, and unto Moses. These seven days, signified their whole life, which should be consecrated to the service of God: see verse 11. and Levite. 4. 6. From hence also the Hebrews gathered (as Sol. Rashi here noteth,) that the high Priest was to be separated from his house, seven days before Atonement day every yere. Of which point, see the annotations on Levite. 16.

Vers. 34. he hath done] or, is done] As, he •ld, 2 Sam. 15. 31. that is, it was told. And they brought, Mark 10. 3. or, Then were brought, Matth. 19. 13.

Vers. 35. abide] Hebr. st; which word is often used for abiding, or c•ntinuing as Lev. 12. 4. Io•. 5. 8. 1 Sam. 22. 5. Exod. 16. 29. Act. 18. 11. ch•rge] or watch: ward, Hebr. keep the keeping: or, observe the observation; in Greek, the observations. The Chaldee translateth it, the charge (or observation) of the word of the Lord. This phrase is used in Luke 2. 8. of the shepherds, observing the observations (or keeping the watches) of the night, over their flock. So in Num. 9. 19.

Vers. 36. things] Hebr. words. Thus the covenant of the Priesthood, was confirmed unto the tribe of Levi, in Aaron and his sons, which covenant was, life and peace, Mal. 2. 5. But these are made Priests without an oath: also they were many Priests, because they were not suffered to continue, by reason of death, and they served unto the example and shadow of heavenly things, offering gifts and sacrifices, which could not make him that did the service, perfect, as pertaining to the conscience; for they were carnal ordinances, imposed on them, till the time of reformation, that is, until the coming of Christ, who now is sprung out of the tribe of Judah, and was made Priest of God, with an oath, and surety of a better testament all-covenant, established upon better promises. And because he continueth forever, he hath a Priest-hood that passeth not from him to another; and is a Minister of the Holies and of the true Tahernacle which the Lord pitched, and not man, and not by the blood of goats and bulls, but by his own blood he entered in once into the Holy place, (into Heaven it self,) having found eternal redemption; and is able to save fully and wholly, them that come unto God by him; as the Apostle largely manifesteth, in Heb. 7. 8. 9. and 〈ϕ〉 . chapters. which Jehovah commanded] R. Menachem here observeth, In every (other) pla•e it is said, As the LORD commanded Moses; but 〈ϕ〉 because they added unto the commandment 〈...〉 so: for they did not as the LORD had come 〈...〉 but did all things which the LORD command•, and added moreover unto them strange fire which he had not commanded them; Levite. 10. 1.

CHAP. IX.

1, The first offerings, of Aaron. for himself and the people. 8, The Sin-offering, 12, and the Burnt-offering for himself. 15, The offerings for the people▪ 23, M•ses and Aaron bless the people. 24. Fire cometh from the Lord, upon the altar.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

AND it was, on the eight day Moses called A•ron and his sons; and the Elders of Israel. And he said unto Aa•• Take thee a calf a youngling of the herd, for a Sin-offering; and a ram for a Burnt offering▪ both perfect▪ and offer, before Jehovah. And unto the sons of Israel, Ihou shale speak saying: Tak 〈...〉 a goat-bucke of the goats, for a Sin-offering, and a calf, and a lamb, both of the first year, perfect, for a Burnt-offering. And a Bull and a Ram, for Peace-offerings; to sacrifice before Jehovah; and a Meat-offering, mingled with oil: for today, Jehovah appeareth unto you. And they took, that which Moses commanded, before the Tent of the Congregation: and all the congregation drew-near, and stood before Jehovah. And Moses said; this is the thing, which Jehovah hath commanded that ye should do: and the glory of Jehovah, shall appear unto you.

And Moses said unto Aaron; go near unto the Altar, and make thy Sin-offering; and thy Burnt-offering; and make-atonement for thyself, and for the people: and make the oblation of the people, and make-atonement for them, as Jehovah commanded. And Aaron went-near, unto the Altar: and killed the calf of the Sin offering, which was for him self. And the sons of Aaron brought near the blood unto him; and he dipt his finger, in the blood; and put it upon the horns of the Altar: and poured out the blood, at the bottom of the Altar. And the fat, and the kidneys, and the caul of the liver of the Sin-offering, he burnt upon the Altar: as I 〈...〉 commanded Moses. And the fl•sh, and the skin: he burnt with fire, without the campe. And he killed, the Burnt offering: and Aaron's sons, presented unto 〈ϕ〉 , the blood; and he sprinkled it upon the Altar, round-about. And they presented unto him, the Burnt-offering, by the pieces thereof, and the head: and he burnt them, upon the Altar. And he washed the inwards, and the legs: and burnt them upon the Burnt-offering, on the Altar.

And he brought-near, the people's oblation: and took the goat-bucke of Sin, which was for the people; and killed it and offered-it-for-sin, as the first. And he brought-near, the Burnt-offering: and made it, according to the manner. And he brought-near, the Meat-offering: and filled his hand out of it, and burnt it, upon the Altar; beside the Burnt-offering of the morning. And he killed the bull, and the ram; the sacrifice of Peace-offerings, which was for the people: and Aaron's sons presented the blood, unto him; and he sprinkled it upon the Altar, round-about. And the fat, of the bull; and of the ram; the rump & that which covereth the inwards, and the kidneys; and the caul of the liver. And they put the fat, upon the breasts: and he burnt the fat, upon the Altar. And the breast, and the right shoulder; Aaron waved, for a wave-offering, before Jehovah: as Moses commanded. And Aaron lift-up his hand, towards the people, and blessed them: and came-down, from making the Sin-offering, & the Burnt-offering, and the Peace-offerings. And Moses and Aaron, went into the Tent of the congregation, and came-out; and they blessed the people: and the glory of Jehovah appeared, unto all the people. And there came out a fire, from before Jehovah; and consumed upon the Altar, the Burnt-offering, and the fat: and all the people saw it, and showed; and they fell on their faces.

Annotations.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Here beginneth the 26. section or lecture of the Law: see Gen. 6. 9.

The eight day] which was the first day after the Priests consecration, Lev. 8. 33. All creatures for the most part, were in their uncleanness and imperfection seven days, and perfected in the eight; as children, by circumcision, Levite. 12. 2. 3. young beasts, for sacrifice, Levite. 22. 27. persons that were unclean by leprosy, issues, and the like, Levite. 14. 8. 9. 10. and 15. 13. 14. Num. 6. 9. 10. so here the Priests until the eight day, were not admitted to minister in their office. Whereby the day of Christ was foreshadowed, who by his resurrection the day after the Sabbath, hath sanctified his church and ministry, and all their actions; and made us an holy Priesthood to offer up spiritual sacrifice, acceptable to God, 1 Pet. 2. 5. see the annotations on Gen. 17. 12. and Exod. 22. 30. So in Ezek. 43. 26. 27. it is said, Seven days shall they purge the Altar, and purify it; and they shall fill their hands: and when these days are expired, it shall be, on the eight day and so forward, the Priests shall make your Burntoffrings upon the Altar, and your Peace-offerings, and I will accept you saith the Lord God. the Elders] in Greek, the Senate: who together with the people (verse. 23. 24.) were now assembled; the Elders being in special to impose hands on the Sin-offering of the congregation, Levite. 4. 15.

Vers. 2. a calf] a beast of the first year, as is observed on Exod. 29. 1. In the former chapter, the sacrifices and rites for the Priests consecration to their office; in this, their first administration for themselves and the people; are declared. This Calf for Aaron's Sin-offering, is by Targum Jonathan, the Zohar, and other Hebrews said to be in respect of his sin which he had committed in making the golden calf, Exod. 32. But whether it were for that or for other sins, God teacheth that without remission of sins (by Christ who was made sin for us, 2 Cor. 5. 21.) there can be no acceptation of any man's person, or service. youngling] Hebr. son of the herd; that is, a young bull: see Gen. 18. 7. Levite. 1. 5. aram] a beast of the second year: see the notes on Levite. 8. 2. perfect] in Greek, unblemished: see Levite. 1. 3. offer] in Greek, offer them: these were, to make atonement for himself and for the people, verse 7.

Vers. 3. the sons of Israel] in Greek, the Senate (the Elders) of Israel; as verse 1. a goat-bucke] a goat of the second year; for the Hebrew Seghnir so signifieth always, as Maimonides showeth in treat. of Offring the sacrif. chap. 1. Sect. 14. where also he saith (in S. 15.) that All the oblations of the congregation were males, and the Sin-offerings of the congregation, were of goats, or bulls, and none of lambs. of the first year] Heb. sons of a year: of which phrase, see Exod. 12. 5. Gen. 5. 32. And hence the Hebrews gather, that Ghnegel (a Calf) and Chebes (a Lamb) wheresoever they are spoken of in the Law, mean younglings of the first year.

Vers. 4. a Meat-offering] of fine flower of wheat, as Exod. 29. 2. Levite. 2. 1. with oil] and frankincense upon it, according to the Law, Lev. 2. 1. Jehovah appeareth] that is, the glory of Jehovah will appear, as in verse. 6. 23. and so the Chaldee translateth it. The glory of the LORD is revealed. And because of this appearance, the people were to prepare and sanctify themselves with all kinds of sacrifice, that they might with joy be made partakers of his grace and blessing: which was a shadow of a more glorious appearance, whereof it is said, We know that when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is. And every man that hath this hope in him, purifieth himself, even as he is pure; 1 John. 3. 2. 3. The presence and assistance of God in Christ, is always necessary unto his Church, and therefore promised here and other, where, both unto it and all the ministers thereof, Ezek. 48. 35. Revel. 22. 3. 4. 5. Matth. 28. 20. And of this it is prophesied, When Jehovah shall build up Zion, shall appear in his glory shall turn unto the prayer of the lowly, and not despise their prayer. This shall be written for the generation after; and the people created, shall praise Yah. Psal. 10. 17. 18. 19.

Vers. 5. they took] all they forementioned; as in Targum Jonathan it is explained, Aaron and his sons, and all the sons of Israel took. before Jehovah] before the sanctuary, in the courtyard.

Vers. 7. Go near] before this time, Aaron offered not, but Moses for him, Levite. 8. 14. 15. now Moses from the Lord authorizeth him to go near himself and offer; for no man taketh this honor is himself, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron so also Christ glorified not himself, to be made an high Priest, &c. Heb. 5. 4. 5. make] or do; that is, make-ready, and offer: see the notes on Exod. 10. 25. Thus the legal priests were to offer for themselves and their own sins first, otherwise then Christ needed: for such an high Priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher then the heavens: Heb. 5. 3. and 7. 26. 27. 28. [unspec]

Vers. 9. the Altar] of Burnt-offering, at the beecome whereof the rest of the blood was poured. And herein this first sin-offering seemeth to dier from the rest that followed after, whose blood was to be carried into the sanctuary, Levite. 4. 4. 5. 6. 7. because Aaron as yet, had not access into the Holy place, till he had prepared a way by this first sacrifice in the Court. The like is to be observed, in the people's sin-offering, v. 15. compared with Levite. 4. 13. 17. 18. Of this dipping his finger in the blood, see the notes on Levite. 4. 25.

Vers. 10. commanded] of these rites, see the annotations on Levite. 4. 8. 9. 10. They figured the purging away of all corruption, by the sufferings and spirit of Christ, likened unto fire: and the giving up of all our inward parts, to serve the Lord, 1 Pet. 3. 18. Isaiah. 4. 4. 1 Thes. 5. 23. Psal. 103. 1.

Vers. 11. skin] with all other parts, even the whole beast: see Levite. 4. 11. 12 Sol. Rashi here observeth, that We find no Sin-offering whose blood is sprinkled on the Altar without, to be burned without the campe, but this, and that for Consecration, (Levite. 8)

Vers. 12. the Burnt-offering] the ram, which was also for himself, verse. 2. presented] or, reached, brought, as the Greek translath, Heb. madeto-find: so in verse 13. 18. The former oblation, was to purge from sin: this Burnt-offering, was also to make the Priests acceptable to God in Christ, by communication of his grace. See the notes on Levite. 1. 3. &c.

Vers. 13. pieces] or, members, as the Greek translath. See Levite. 1. 6. 8. [unspec 13]

Vers. 14. washed] in water; see Levite. 1. 9. upon the Burnt-offering] that is, upon (or with) the other parts of the Burnt-offering. The Greek translath, and he put the Burnt-offering upon the Altar.

Vers. 15. of sin] which was for the sin of the people; saith the Greek version. offered-it-for-sin] The Greek translath, purified it; so the word sometime meaneth: but it figured also a purifying of others from sin thereby, as Levite. 6. 26. and so the Chaldee here expoundeth, and he made atonement by the blood thereof. as the first] spoken of in verse. 8. and so he burnt it without the campe, as the other was, in verse 11. for which he was reproved by Moses, Levite. 10. 16. 17.

Vers. 16. the manner] or, the ordinance; Hebr. the judgment; the Greek saith, as was meet. It respecteth the Law, in Levite. 1.

Vers. 17. filled] that is, took his handful out of it: see Levite. 2. 2. of the morne] that is, which was daily to be offered every morning, as God commanded, Exod. 29. 38. 39. 40. This therefore was extraordinary; that as the daily meat-offering, was to testify their thankfulness, for God's ordinary and daily mercies: so this, for his special grace now manifested. Chazkuni explaineth it thus, It teacheth that there were two Meat-offerings, one with the Burnt-offering, and one by it self. Sol. Rashi saith, All this he did after the daily Burnt-offering.

Vers. 18. sprinkled] according to the law in Levite. 3. 2. The Greek translath, he poured it.

Vers. 19. fat] Hebr. fats: so in verse. 20. rump] or, tail, to weet, of the ram: see Levite. 3. 9. that which covereth] in Greek, the fat which covereth, the inwards; and so the text explaineth it, in Levite. 3. 9.

Vers. 20. they put the fat] Hebr. the fatts. Sol. Rashi saith, After the waving, the Priest that waved gave them to another Priest to burn them.

Vers. 21. waved] as was commanded, Lev. 7. 30. &c. By these sacrifices the sanctification of the people was signified; by the Sin-offering and Burnt-offering they had remission and justification from their sins, and reconciliation unto God; by the Meat-offering, their renovation by the spirit; and by the Peace-offerings, their thankfulness unto God, whom they honor with the fruits of his own graces: all these obtained by faith in Christ, and in his death; for he of God is made unto us, wisdom and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption: 1 Cor. 1. 30.

Vers. 22. lift-up his hand] or, his hands, as the Hebrew vowel, and reading in the margin, both show: so the Greek translath, hands. See Exod. 32. 19. R. Menachem giveth this reason, why it is written Hand; to signify the right hand, because that was listed up higher then the left. The lifting up of the hand was a gesture used in speaking or signifying of any weighty thing, Esa. 49. 22. and particularly, in swearing, Gen. 14. 22. praying, Psal. 28. 2. and blessing, either of God, Psal. 134. 2. or of men, as in this place. So Paul, speaking of prayer, useth the phrase of lifting up holy hands, 1 Tim. 2. 8. and David; let the lifting up of my hands, be as the evening sacrifice, Psal. 141. 2. blessed them] This appertained to the Priests office, to bless the people in the name of the Lord forever, Deuter. 10. 8. 1 Chron. 23. 13. and was accomplished by our high Priest Christ Jesus, when having finished his ministry on earth, he lift up his hands, and blessed his disciples, Luk. 24. 50. The form of Aaron's blessing is prescribed in Num. 6. 23.—27. see the annotations there. And this being done in the Lord's name; by his Priests, (a figure of Christ whom God hath sent to bless us. Act. 3. 26.) without all contradiction the less is blessed of the greater, Heb. 7. 7. came down] from the bank or hilly place of the altar, which was higher then the other ground: see Exod. 20. 26. So in Targum Jonathan it is explained, he came down from the Altar with joy, after that he had finished the making of the Sin-offering, &c. On the contrary, Christ when he had blessed, went up into heaven, Luke 24. 51. from making] or doing, that is, offering, as verse. 7. After that he had done; as before is shown.

Vers. 23. went into the Tent] the Priest went in (according to the law, in Exod. 30. 7. 8.) to burn incense on the golden altar; Moses went in with him, in likelihood, to direct him how to do the service: so Sol. Rashi here explaineth it. But he addeth withal, another exposition thus; When Aaron saw that they had offered all the oblations, and done all the works, and the Majesty of God came not down to Israel; he was grieved, and said, I know that the holy blessed (God) is angry with me, and for my sake, the Majesty of God cometh not down to Israel; &c. Immediately Moses went in with him, and prayed for mercy; and the divine Majesty came down unto Israel. After this manner Targum Jonathan also expoundeth it. they blessed. This was a second blessing by Moses and Aaron, when the people were dismissed. Unto which (and the like at other times, especially on Atonement day, Levite. 16. David, prophesying of Christ's days, seemeth to have reference, in Psal. 118. 26. We bless you out of the house of Jehovah. glory] the visible sign of God's glory, and favor, out of his holy place: either by the fire, mentioned in the next verse; or, by a cloud, as was in Exod. 16. 10. and 40. 34. or by them both. It was a token of his gracious acceptance of them and of their service, as after in 1 King. 8. 10. 11. 12.

Vers. 24. from before Jehovah] the Greek translath, from the Lord. And it was, either from heaven, as after in Solomon's days, Fire came down from heaven, and confirmed the Burnt-offering and sacrifices, 2 Chron. 7. 1. or, out of the Tabernacle. By this miracle God confirmed the people, touching the doctrine and ordinances given by Moses, and the priesthood now committed to Aaron and his sons, as appeareth by the prayer of Elias, (when the like miracle was shown from heaven;) Let it be known this day day that thou art God in Israel, and that I am thy servant, and that I have done all these things at thy word; 1 King. 18. 36. consumed] or, ate up: by which sign, the church was assured that their sacrifices were accepted: See Psal. 20. 4. The like was, at the dedicating of Solomon's Temple, 2 Chro. 7. 1. 2. 3. and at Elias sacrifice, 1 King. 18. 38. 39. This Fire which now came from God, was nourished on the Altar, (as the Hebrews say) unto Solomon's time. Chazkuni here writeth thus; The fire which came-out (from the Lord) in the days of Moses, went not up from the brazen Altar, until he came into the eternal House [that is, into Solomon's temple, so called because of that promise, in 2 Chron. 7. 16. that God's name should be there forever.] And that Fire which came down, in the days of Solomon, went not up from the Altar of Burnt offering, until it went up in the days of Manasseh. Of the departing of that fire in Manasse's days, we find no mention in the Scriptures. But after Solomon's Temple was destroyed, and the second built, the Hebrews testify (in Talmud Bab. in Ioma c. 1.) that they had not the Fire from heaven anymore. See the annotations on Exod. 28. 30. shouted] with astonishment and joy, humbly thanking God for this sign of grace towards them: as the Greek translateth, they were astonished; and the Chaldee, they gave thanks. So in 2 Chron. 7. 3. when all the sons of Israel saw how the fire came down, and the glory of Jehovah upon the house: they howed themselves with their faces to the ground, upon the pavement, and worshipped; and confessed to Jehovah, (saying) For he is good, for his mercy endureth forever.

CHAP. X.

1, Nadab and ... for offering of strange fire, are ... fire. 6, ... and his sons, are forbidden to more for them. 8 The Priests are forbidden wine, when they are to go into the Tabernacle 12, The law of eating the holy things. 16, Moses blameth the Priests for not eating the sin-offering. 19, Aaron excuseth the transgression.

AND Nadab and Abihu, the sons [unspec] of Aaron, took, each man his censer; and they put fire in them, and put incense thereon: and offered before Jehovah, strange fire; which he had not commanded them. And there went-out fire, from before [unspec] Jehovah, and devoured them; and they died, before Jehovah. And Moses said unto Aaron; [unspec] This is it that Jehovah spake, saying, I will be sanctified in them that come nigh me; and before all the people, I will be glorified: and Aaron, held his peace. And Moses [unspec] called Misael and Elzaphan; the sons of Uzziel, the uncle of Aaron: and said unto them; Come-near, carry your brethren, from before the Sanctuary; out of the camp. And they went near, and carried them in [unspec] their coats, out of the campe: as Moses had spoken. And Moses said unto Aaron, and [unspec] unto Eleazar, and unto Ithamar, his sons; *Make not bare your heads, neither undress your clothes, that you die not; and wrath-come, upon all the congregation: but your brethren, all the house of Israel, shall weep for the burning, which Jehovah hath burned. And ye shall not go-out, from the door of [unspec] the Tent of the Congregation, lest you die; for the oil, of the anointing of Jehovah, is upon you: and they did, according to the word of Moses.*

And Jehovah spake, unto Aaron, saying, Do not drink wine or strong-drink, thou, [unspec] or thy sons with thee; when ye go-in, to the Tent of the Congregation, that ye die not: it shall be a statute for ever, through-out your generations. And that ye may separate, [unspec] between holy and profane: and between unclean and clean. And that ye may teach, the sons of Israel: all the statutes, which Jehovah hath spoken unto them, by the hand of Moses.

And Moses spake unto Aaron, and unto Eleazar and unto Ithamar his sons, that were left: Take ye the Meat-offering, that is left, of the Fire-offerings of Jehovah, and •a• it in unleavened cakes, beside the altar: for it, is holy of holies. And ye shall eat it, in the holy place; for it is thy due and thy sons due, of the Fire-offerings of Jehovah: for so. I was commanded. And the wave breast, an • the heave shoulder, ye shall eat in a clea •s place; thou, and thy sons and thy daughters, with thee: for they are given, as thy due and thy sons due; out of the sacrifices of the Peace-offerings, of the sons of Israel. The heave shoulder, and the wave breast, with the Fire-offerings of the fat, shall they bring; to wave for a wave-offering, before Jehovah; and it shall be for thee, and for thy sons ▪ with thee, by a statute for ever; as, Jehovah hath commanded.

And Moses, seeking sought the goat-buck of the Sin-offering; and behold it was burnt: and he was wroth with Eleazar and with Ithamar, the sons of Aaron, that were left, saying. Wherefore, have ye not eaten the Sin-offering, in the holy place; for it is holy of holies: and it, he hath given to you; to bear, the iniquity of the Congregation; to make atonement for them, before Jehovah? Behold, the blood of it was not brought-in, to the Holy-place, within: ye should eating have eaten it, in the Holy-place, as I commanded. And Aaron spake unto Moses; Behold this day, they have offered their Sin-offering and their Burnt-offering, before Jehovah; and such things, have befallen me: and if I had eaten the Sin-offering, today; should it have been good, in the eyes of Jehovah? And Moses heard it; and it was good, in his eyes.

Annotations.

CE•••er] or, fire-pan, a vessel wherein coals of fire were put; see Exod. 27. 3. thereon] upon the fire. How the incense was burned, see the notes on Exod. 30. 8. strange fire] that is, other fire than God had sanctified on his altar. As strange incense was expressly forbidden, Exod. 30. 9. so strange fire was not commanded, but implicitly forbidden by Lev. 1. 7. & 6. 12. as afterward God plainly showeth, in Levite. 16. 12. Hereupon it is said, in Rev. 8. 5. the Angel took the censer, and filled it with fire of the Altar. This transgression of the Priests; in the beginning of their administration; showeth the weakness and imperfection of that Priest-hood; and for the weakness and unprofitableness thereof, it was alterwards disannulled; and a better Priest-hood of Christ, (who was holy, harmless, undefiled, and separated from sinners,) is come in place thereof: for the Law, made nothing perfect: Heb. 7. 18. 19. 26. So in the practice of the moral law, the people even at the first, fell into open impiety, Exod. 3•.

Vers. 2. from before] or, from the face of the Lord. As a fire of mercy came from thence to consume the sacrifices for sin, offered according to the law, Levite. 9. 24. so now a fire of judgment cometh, to consume the sinners. Chazkuni here observeth, Measure for measure; by fire they sinned, and by fire they were plagued. This is an example of God's jealousy, for the ordinances of the Law: teaching the same much more for the Gospel; Heb. 2. 2. 3. and 10. 28. 29. So he shown an example of judgment, upon two sinners, at the beginning of the Christian church, whereby great fear came upon all; Acts 5. 1.▪11. devoured] or ate them; that is, killed them: for neither their bodies, nor their clothes were burnt to ashes, as appeareth by v. 5. And in Targ. Jonathan it is thus explained, It burned their souls, but their bodies were not burnt. Hereupon our God is said to be a devouring fire; Heb. 12. 29. Deut. 1▪ 24. See a like judgment, in Num. 16. 35. before Jehovah] that is, with sudden death, before the Tabernacle, wherein the Lord's glory dwelt. So Uzzah for his error, in putting his hand to the Ark, died before God, 1 Chron. 13. 10. which is expounded, by the Ark of God, 2 Sam. 6. 7. And it is observed, that these two Priests, died childless, Num. 3. 4. 1 Chron. 24. 2.

Vers. 3. spake] but where spake he this? It may have reference to Lev. 8. 35. Or it might be spoken, but not written before: as John. 20. 30. Chazkuni referreth it to Exod. 29. 43. others, unto Ex. 19. 20. sanctified] God is said to be sanctified, both when he graciously accepteth, and doth good unto them that serve him aright, Ezek. 20. 41. and when he punisheth them that transgress; as, I will be glorified in the mids of thee (Sidon), and they shall know; that I am Jehovah; when I shall have executed judgments in her, and shall be sanctified in her; Ezek. 28. 22. So in this place, and in Ezek. 38. 16. 23. Likewise God is sanctified of men, when they carry themselves holily and uprightly in his sight; as, Sanctify the Lord God in your hearts, &c. 1 Pet. 3. 15. that come nigh] or, my nigh ones, that is, the Priests and Levites; as in Ezek. 4• 13. the Priests which are nigh unto Jehovah. See also Levite. 9. 7. Num. 16. 9. So judgment beginneth at the house of God, 1 Pet 4. 17. at his Sanctuary, Ezek. 9. 6. before] that is, openly the Gr. translatheth, in all the congregation; as if the like danger were unto them also for transgression: see Ios. 22. 18. 20. glorified] or, honored; which is also not in showing mercies only, as 2 Thes 1. 10. but in executing judgments; as Exod. 14. 4. Ezek. 28. 22. And he is glorified of men; when their thoughts, words and actions, are according to his will, and to his praise; Acts 4. 21. Rom. 1. 21. 1 Pet. 4. 11. 16. held his peace] or, was silent; that is, rested patiently without murmuring against the work of God, who had killed his sons. So David saith, I am dumb, I will not open my mouth; because thou hast done it; Psal. 39. 10. And God said to Ezekiel the Priest, Be silent, that is, Forebear to cry, make no mourning for the dead, Ezek. 24. 17. Or, he mourned in silence for his sons death; for so the scripture expresseth great sorrow and unutterable, by keeping silence; as Lam. 2. 10. Esa. 47. 5. Thus the Greek translatheth, he was pricked; and Aaron's answer in verse. 19. implieth so much. So the heathens have said, Curae leves, loquuntur; ingentes, stupent. Seneca in Hippolyto.

Vers. 4. uncle] in Greek, the sons of the brother of Aaron's father: for Vzziel was brother to Amram, Aaron's father; see Exod. 6. 18. 20. 22. carry] or, take up: this duty of burial was laid upon their cousins the Levites, not upon their next brethren the Priests; that they might attend still to their holy ministration. See Levite. 21. 1. &c. out of] or, to (a place) without the campe:•o they used to bury without their cities, Luk. 7. 12.

Vers. 6. Mak• not bare] or, Make not free; that is, let not the hair of your heads grow long. The Hebrew Pharangh, signifieth two things, to make bare, or uncover the head; as Numb. 5. 18. so the Greek translatheth here, ye shall not put off the m•ters from your heads. Secondly, to make free for the hair to grow; as the Chaldee here translatheth, ye shall not let your locks grow. For this also was a sign of mourning, 2 Sam. 19. 24. See the notes on Gen. 41. 14. It is testified of human writers, that the Egyptians at their friends funerals, did let the hair of their head grow long, but shaved their beards; whereas other nations, at funerals did shave their heads; Herodot. in Euterpe. And that shaving of the beard, was a sign of sorrow in Israel, appeareth by Jeremiah 41. 5. Hereupon is that law, in Ezek. 44. 20. the Priests shall not shave their heads, nor suffer their locks to grow long; they shall only poll their heads: where both extremities are forbidden. The latter sense may also well be implied here, as likewise after in Levite. 13. 45. and 21. 10. And concerning this, the Hebrews have these rules. *A Priest that letteth his hair grow-long, it is unlawful for him to come into (the sanctuary,) from the Altar forward: and if he do go in and serve, he is guilty of death by the hand of God, as he that drinketh wine and serveth: as it is written, Neither shall any Priest drink wine, &c. Ezek. 44. 21. and again, Neither shall they shave their heads, nor suffer their locks to grow long, Ezekiel 44. 20. As he that drinketh wine is guilty of death, Levite. 10. 9 so he that letteth his hair grow-long, is guilty of death. Yet profaneth he not his service hereby; though he be guilty of death, his service is allowable, [that is, standeth in force, and is not disannulled by it▪] As Priests are not forbidden wine, save in the time of their going into the Sanctuary, so it is not unlawful for them to let their hair grow, save at the time of their going into the Sanctuary; understanding this of the common Priest. But the high Priest, may never let his hair grow-long, nor rend his clothes at any time▪ Levi. 21. 10. because he is to be continually in the Sanctuary. How long may (a Priest) let his hair grow? Thirtie days, as a Nazirite; of whom it is said, He shall let the locks of the hair of his head grow, Num. 6. 5. and there is no Nazariteship less then thirty days. Therefore the common Priest that serveth, shaveth him-self every thirty days. The judgment of them that rend their garments, and the judgment of them that make free (or •are,) their head, is one; Levite. 10. 6. if he serve with his clothes rent, he is guilty of death by the hand of God, although his service is allowable, and not profaned. Maimonides in Biath hamikdash, (or Of entering into the Sanct.) chap. 1. Sect. 8. 14. rend] another sign of sorrow, Levite. 13. 45. and 21. 10. See Gen. 37. 34. From hence the Hebrews gather, that they which mourned for the dead, were bound to rend their clothes; because the Priests here being forbidden to mourn, were forbidden to rend; so that another was bound to rend. And they were not to rend, but standing; as (in 2 Sam. 13. 31.) the King rose up, and rent his garments: And they were to rend the forepart, not behind, or in the sides, nor beneath, save the high Priest, he rendeth beneath. The measure of rending, was an hand-breadth; and this on the upper garment only. They rend for the death of the Prince, or of the Father of the Synedrion, or of the multitude of the congregation, as David and the men with him, did for Saul, and for Jonathan, and for the people of the Lord, 2 Sam. 1. 11. 12. Also when they hear the name of God blasphemed, as in Isaiah. 36. 22. and for the burning of the book of the Law, as Jeremiah 36. 23. 24. and for the cities of Judah, and for Jerusalem, and for the Sanctuary destroyed, as Ierem. 41. 5. Maimonides, treat. of Mourning, chap. 8. and 9. wrath▪ come] or, he (that is, God) be wroth, as at other times, for the sin of one, or of few, the whole congregation was afflicted, Ios. 7. 1. 2. &c. and 22. 20. 2 Sam. 24. 1. 15. 17. The Priests duty also was, to stand in their administration, between God's wrath and the people, Num. 16. 46. 48. And their public duty might not be interrupted, by private passion or affection.*

Vers. 7. not go out] that is, not leave off your ministration for grief of this which is befallen you. See the annotations on Levite. 21. 12. the oil, &c.] which signifieth the Anointing, that is, the graces of the Spirit, whereof Joyfulness was one special, Psal. 45. 8. 1 Thes. 1. 6. Therefore it was sin for the Priests to mourn, when they administered before the Lord; compare Levite. 21. 10. 11. 12.

Vers. 9. wine or strong drink] The Hebrews, (as Baal hatturim and others) think that Aaron's sons had sinned in drinking too much wine, when they offered strange fire; and that thereupon this law was given. Whether that were so, or not, the Lord by this precept required sobriety in the Priests, and carefulness to administer justly; lest they should drink and forget the law, as Prov. 31. 5. should err through wine, & be out of the way through strong-drink, as Isaiah. 28. 7. Accordingly the Ministers of the Gospel must be sober, and not given wine, 1 Tim. 3. 2. 3. It is likely, that all wine was forbidden the Priests, when they were to serve: yet the Hebrews have their limitations; as that they might not drink above the fourth part (of a Log, or of an half pinte) of wine, and that wine, and at one time, and of wine that was days old at the least. But if he drink less then a fourth part (of a Log) of wine, or drink a fourth part pause of time between, or if it be mixed with water, if he drink wine from the press within 40. though more then a fourth part: he is discharged, and profaneth not his service. If he drink more then part of wine, though it be mixed, and though he p tweene, and drink a little and a little▪ he is guilty of death, and his service is disallowable. Maimonides in ath ha kdash, c. 1. S. 1. But the Law forbidden wine absolutely, as here, so in Ezek. 44. 21. shall any priest drink wine, when they enter into the inner court. strong-drink] in Hebrew She , which the Greeks borrow the word S in Luke 1. 19. and it meaneth all whatsoever maketh drunken, whether drink made of mault, or of the juice of fruits, as Pearrie, Sider and the like. When ye go into the Tent] meaning the courtyard of the Tent, to serve therein; as it is opened by the Prophet, when they enter into the inner court, Ezek. 44. 21. The Hebrews understand it of the court, between the Tent and the Altar that stood in the court. Every Priest that is fit for service, if he drink wine, it is unlawful for him to go into (the Sanctuary,) from the Altar forward: and if he do in and serve, his service is disallowed, and he is guilty of death by the hand of God, as it is written, That ye die not, Leviticus 10. 9. And as it is unlawful for a Priest to go into the sanctuary, for drunkenness: so is it unlawful for any man, whether Priest or Israelite, to teach when he is drunk. Though he have but eaten dates, &c. if his senses be troubled a little, let him not teach; as it is written, And that ye may teach the sons of Israel, Levite. 10. 11. Maimo ny in Biath hamikdash, chap. 1. Sect. 1. 3.

Vers. 10. that ye may separate] or, to make difference; and this is meant not only for themselves, but others, as in Ezek. 44. 23. they shall teach my people (the difference) between holy and profane, and cause them to discern, between unclean and clean. And for not doing this, the Priests are blamed, Ezek 22. 26. See also Levite. 20. 25. holy] Hebr. holiness: meaning of persons, and things. In Greek, between the holy ones, and the profane.

Vers. 11. all the statutes] a part of the Priests office was to teach the people, as here, and in Deut. 33. 10. therefore it is said, The Priests lips should preserve knowledge, and they should seek the Law at his mouth, for he is the Angel (or Messenger) of the Lord of hosts, Mal. 2. 7. And as they were to teach, so the things to be taught, should be all God's statutes; as the Apostle saith, I have kept nothing back, but have shown you, all the counsel of God; Act. 20. 27.

Vers. 12. the Meat-offering] that before mentioned in Levite. 9. 17. unleavened] or, eat it made into unleavened cakes. See Levite. 6. 16. and 2. 10. where this law was before given; which Moses here repeateth, lest through trouble of mind for the judgment now befallen them, the Priests should forget or neglect any of God's ordinances.

Vers. 13. the holy place] the court of the Sanctuary: as Levite. 6. 16. due] or, statute, ordinance. The Chaldee expounds it, thy portion. So in v. 14.

Vers. 14. wave breast] of the people's Peace-offerings before mentioned, Lev. 9. 18. 21. in a clean place] in Greek, an holy place, meaning the campe of Israel, and in ages following, the city Jerusalem, where the light holy things were eaten: see the notes on Levite. 6. 17. Sol. Rashi here saith, The former things (in verse 13.) were not eaten in an unclean place, but they being most holy, were to be eaten in the holy place: and these needed not be eaten within the curtatnes (of the courtyard) but must be eaten within the campe of Israel▪ for that was clean that Lepers might not come into it, (Num. 5. 6.) so the light holy things might be eaten in all the city.

Vers. 15. by a statute] or, for an everlasting due. Of this statute, see before, Levite. 7. 34.

Vers. 16. seeking sought] that is, diligently sought the Goat; that spoken of in Levite. 9. 15. with Eleazar] and why not with Aaron? seeing he should have eaten of it, verse. 19. Sol. Rashi saith, For honor of Aaron, he turned his face towards his sons, and was angry.

Vers. 17. he] that is, God hath given it you; by the law forgiven in Levite. 6. 26.—30. to bear] or, to take away; as the Greek translateth, that ye should take away. To bear iniquity, often signifieth punishment, without forgiveness; Exod. 28. 43. Levite. 20. 19. and 5. 1. 17. &c. The same word is also used for bearing-away, whereupon God forgiveth the sinner; Exod. 28. 38. So the Priests bare, that is, took away the people's sins, by eating their sin-offerings: wherein they figured Christ▪ John. 1. 29. Sol. Rashi saith, The Priests were they that did eat, and the owners, they that had the atonement.

Vers. 18. within] into the Tabernacle, for if it had, then it should not be eaten, but burnt, Lev. 6. 30. seeing it was not, ye should have eaten it in the holy place without; that is, in the courtyard; Levite 6. 26.

Vers. 19. they] the Targ. called Jonathan's explaineth it, the sons of Israel have offered. such things] that is, as the Chaldee expoundeth it, such tribulations: which the Yerushalmi Targum explaineth thus, and great sorrow hath befallen me this day, for that my two sons Nadab and Abihu are dead, and I mourn for them. good in the eyes] that is, pleasing, and acceptable: see Gen. 16. 6. Targum Yerushalmi expoundeth it thus, Loe if I had eaten the sin-offering today, were it possible that it could be pleasing and right before the Lord? meaning, it could not be. So Aaron excuseth himself, by reason of his sorrow, which made him unfit and unworthy to eat of those holy things. The law requireth them that •at before the Lord, to rejoice, Deuteronomy 12. 7. And when they brought their sanctified things, they were to say, I have not eaten of it in my mourning, Deut. 26. 14. When God would refuse the sacrifices of sinners, he saith, they shall be unto them as the bread of mourners; all that eat thereof, shall be polluted, Hosea 9. 4. In the Hebrew canons it is also said; An inferior Priest, which is in the Sanctuary, at his service; if he hear that he hath a friend dead, whom he ought to bewail; although he go not out of the Sanctuary, he may not serve, because he is a mourner: and if he serve when he mourneth, according to the law, he polluteth his service, whether it be in the offering of one man alone, or the offering of the Congregation. But the High Priest serveth when he is a mourner, as it is written, (Levite. 21. 12.) HE SHALL NOT GOE OVT OF THE SANCTVART, AND HE SHALL NOT PROFANE, &c. as if he should say, he shall abide and serve the service that he hath in hand, and it is not profaned. But though the High Priest serve mourning, it is unlawful for him to eat of the holy things, as it is written, (Levite. 10. 19.) AND IF I HAD EATEN THE SIN-OFFRING TO DAY, SHOVL D IT HAVE BEENE GOOD IN THE EYES OF THE LORD? And so he hath no portion to eat (with the rest) at evening. Maimonides, treat. of Entring into the Sanctuary, chap. 2. Sect. 6. 8. See for the Priests mourning, more on Levite. 21.

Vers. 20. it was good] the Greek translatheth, it pleased him. So Moses admitteth of the answer, as reasonable. For often times the letter of the law, giveth place to great necessities; as David in his hunger, did ea• the show-bread, which was not lawful for him; Matth. 12. 3. 4. Hezekiah admitted to the Passover some chat were not cleansed according to the law, but healed by the Lord• 2 Chron. 30. 18. 19. 20. Here now, all Israol saw, and Moses and Aaron themselves acknowledged, the impossibility of the law, and of the Priesthood thereof, to bring them unto God: in that so great imperfections were manifested, at the very first administration; and always after. For the Law maketh m•n High Priests, which have infirmity: but the word of the oath which was since the Law, (maketh) the Son, who is perfected for evermore: Heb. 7. 28.

CHAP. XI.

1, A law teaching what beasts may, 4 and what may not be eaten. 9, What fishes, 13, and what fowls. 24, How carcasses do pollute. 29, The creeping things which are unclean. 32, and how their carcasses do defile things. 39, Clean beasts that die of themselves, become unclean. 43, An exhortation unto holiness, in observing this Law.

ANd Jehovah spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying unto them. Speak ye unto the sons of Israel, saying: These are the beasts, which ye shall eat; of all the beasts, which are on the earth. All that parteth the hoof, and cleaveth•asunder the cleft of the hoofs; and cheweth the cud, among the beasts: that, shall ye eat. But this, ye shall not eat; of them that chew the cud, or of them that part the hoof: the Camel; because he cheweth the cud, and he parteth not the hoof: he shall be unclean unto you. And the Conie; because he cheweth the cud, and parteth not the hoof: he shall be unclean unto you. And the Hare; because he cheweth the cud, and parteth not the hoof: he, shall be unclean unto you. And the swine; because he parteth the hoof, and cleaveth•asunder the clef• of the hoof; & he, cheweth not the cud: he, shall be unclean unto you. Of their flesh shall ye not eat; and their carcass, shall ye not touch: they, shall be unclean unto y•u.

These ye shall eat, of all that are in the waters: all that hath fin and scale in the waters, in the seas, and in the rivers, them shall ye eat. And all that hath not fin and scale, in the seas, and in the rivers; of every moving-thing of the waters, & of every living soul, that is in the waters: they, shall be an abomination unto you. Even an abomination, shall they be unto you: of their flesh, ye shall not eat; and their carcasses, ye shall have-in-abomination. All that hath not fin and scale, in the waters: [unspec] that, shall be an abomination unto you.

And these, ye shall have-in-abomination [unspec] among the fowls; they shall not be eaten, they shall be an abomination: the Eagle, and the Ossifrage, and the Osprey. And the Vulture, and the Kite, after her kind. Every Raven, after his kind. And the Owl, and the Night-hawk, and the Sea-gull: and the Hawk, after his kind. And the Great-owl, [unspec] and the Cormorant, and the Little-owl. And the Redshanke, and the Pelecan, and the Gier-eagle. And the Stork; the Heron, after her kind: and the Lapwing, and the Bat. Every creeping-thing that flieth, that [unspec] goeth upon all four: that, shall be an abomination unto you. Yet these ye shall eat, of [unspec] every creeping-thing that flieth, that goeth upon all four: which hath not legs, above his feet; to leap with them, upon the earth. These of them, ye shall eat; the common-Locust, after his kind; and the locust-Soleam, after his kind; and the locust-Chargol, after his kind; and the locust-Chagab, after his kind. And every creeping-thing [unspec] that flieth, which hath four feet; that, shall be an abomination unto you.

And for these, ye shall be unclean: who-soever [unspec] toucheth the carcass of them, shall be unclean until the evening. And whosoever [unspec] beareth, ought of the carcass of them; shall wash his clothes, and be unclean until the evening. Of every beast, which do• [unspec] part the hoof, and it cleaveth not the cleasunder, and it cheweth not the cud; they, shall be unclean unto you: whosoever toucheth them, shall be unclean. And whatsoever [unspec] goeth upon his paws, of any beast, that goeth upon four feet; they, shall be unclean unto you: whosoever toucheth the carcass of them, shall be unclean until the evening. And he that beareth the carcass of them; [unspec] shall wash his clothes, and be unclean until the evening; they, shall be unclean unto you.

And these shall be unclean unto you, among [unspec] the creeping-things, that creep upon the earth: the weasel, & the mouse, and the ortoyoys, after his kind. And the ferret, and the chamaeleon, & the lyzard; and the snail and the moll. These shall be unclean to you [unspec] among all that creep: whosoever toucheth them, when they are dead, shall be unclean until the evening. And upon who-soever ought of them when they are dead doth fall, it shall be unclean; of any vessel of wood, or of cloth, or of skin, or of sackcloth; any vessel, with which work is done: it shall be put into water, and be unclean until the evening, and it shall be cleansed. And every earthen vessel, whereinto any of them falleth: whatsoever is within it, shall be unclean, and ye shall break it. Of all meat which may be eaten, that on which water cometh, shall be unclean: and all drink, which may be drunk; in every vessel shall be unclean. And every-thing, whereupon ought of their carcasses falleth, shall be unclean: oven, and pots, they shall be brokendowne, unclean they are; and unclean shall they be unto you. But fountain and pit, and a gathering-together of waters, shall be clean: but that which toucheth the carcass of them, shall be unclean. And if ought of their carcass fall, upon any sowing seed, which shall be sown: it shall be clean. But if water be put upon the seed, & ought of their carcass fall thereon: it shall be unclean unto you.

And if any beast die, which is unto you for meat: he that toucheth the carcass thereof, shall be unclean until the evening. And he that eateth of the carcass thereof; shall wash his clothes, and be unclean until the evening: and he that beareth the carcass thereof; shall wash his clothes, and be unclean until the evening. And every creeping-thing, that creepeth upon the earth; it shall be an abomination, it shall not be eaten. Whatsoever goeth upon the belly, and whatsoever goeth upon all four, or whatsoever hath many feet of any creeping-thing that creepeth upon the earth: ye shall not eat them, for they are an abomination. Make not your souls abominable, by any creeping-thing that creepeth: and make not yourselves unclean by them, that ye should be defiled by them. For I am Jehovah, your God. and ye shall make yourselves holy, and shall be holy, for I am holy: and ye shall not make your souls unclean, by any creeping-thing, that moveth upon the earth. For I am Jehovah, that bringeth you up out of the land of Egypt, to be a God unto you: and ye shall be holy, for I am holy. This is the law of the beasts, and of the fowl, and of every living soul, that moveth in the waters: and of every soul, that creepeth upon the earth. To make a difference, between the unclean and the clean: and between the beast that may be eaten; and the beast, that may not be eaten.

Annotations.

Speake ye] As before he gave special laws, for the sanctification of the Priests: so now he giveth general, for all the people: Which both Moses the Magistrate, and Aaron the Minister, must speak, and teach, and see carefully practiced: as afterward there is example of the Magistrates, in 2 Chron. 29. 5. and 30 18. of the Priests, in Ezek. 44. 23. and of both jointly, in Numb. 9. 6. where men that were unclean, came for judgment before Moses and before Aaron. And here the first kind of uncleanness, which cometh from things without the man, is described. the sons of Israel] to them only, and the proselites with them, was this law of unclean meats given; not at all to other nations, as Sol. Rashi here saith. the Beasts] Hebr. Chajah, the wild-beast, or, the livingthing: differing from B ⟨...⟩ beasts, or cattle, the word which next followeth: but the Greek also translateth them both alike. By the beasts, are spiritually signified people's of sundry sorts; and by eating or not eating, is meant communion with, or abstaining from them, as by the vision shown unto Peter, the holy Ghost expoundeth this law, Act. 10. 12. 13. 15. 28. and 11. 6. 7. &c. Likewise the Hebrew doctors applied the unclean beasts following in verse. 4. 5. &c. to the Babylonians, Medes, Persians, Greeks, Romans, &c. R. Menachem, on Levite. 11.

Vers. 3. and cleaveth asunder] namely into two hoofs, or claws, Deut. 14. 6. and so the Greek be•• translateth it. The former word, parteth, may be when it is divided above, but not beneath, as appeareth after in verse 26. such parting is in the feet of dogs and the like, which have many claws sundered above, and joined under with a skin. This second word meaneth a cleaving- quite through, as in the feet of sheep, oxen, &c. •o by Sol. Rashi it is expounded, that divideth above and beneath into two claws. A third sort of hoofs are solid and unparted, as in horses, &c. The first and last sort, were unclean. and cheweth] or, chewing again: the Greek also addeth the word and: for both these properties were requisite, to divide the hoof, and to chew again. Chewing the Cud, in the original, signifieth the bringing up the meat into the mouth, to chew it again. These two signs, must be in every beast, or else it was unclean. In Deuteronomy 14. 4. 5. the clean beasts, are reckoned by their names, ten in number: and the Hebr. doctors say, Thou hast not of all the beasts that are in the world, any that it is lawful to eat of, except those ten sorts mentioned in the Law; three of cattle, the ox, the sheep, & the goat; and seven sorts of wild beasts, the Hart, &c. those, and the kinds of them, Maimonides in Misneh, tom. 2. treat. of forbidden meats, c. 1. S. S. among the beasts] to weet, bred of them according to their kind, as God ordamed in the first creation, Gen. 1. 24. For, as it was not lawful to let the cattellingender with a divers kind, Levite. 19. 19. so by the Hebr. canons, If an unclean beast brought forth her young, after the kind of a clean beast, although it did both part the hoose and chew the cud, and were in all respects like an ox or a sheep, yet it was unlawful to be eaten; for that which was bred of an unclean beast, was unclean; and that of a clean beast, was clean. So that if a clean fish, were found in the belly of an unclean fish, it was lawful, because it bred it not, but had swallowed it. Likewise, if in a beast there were found (a creature) like a fowle, though it were a clean fowl; yet was it unlawful to be eaten. Maimonides, treat of forbidden meats, chap. 1. Sect. 5. 7. shall ye eat] or, ye may eat. Hereby communion was signified; as when God called Peter by a vision, to communicate the Gospel with the Gentiles, he said, Rise Peter, kill and eat; Act. 10. 13. 17. 20. 28. So our communion with Christ, is taught under this figure, of eating his flesh, John. 6. 51. 53. The beasts, figured men, Act. 10. 12. 28. (as often in the scriptures, Esa. 11. 6. 7. 8. Ezek. 34. 31. Zeph. 3. 3. Matth. 7. 15.) The parting of the hoof in twain, signified the right discerning of the word and will of God, of the difference between the Law and the Gospel; and the walking in obedience to the word, with a right foot, Rom. 2. 18. and 3. 20. 21. 22. and 10. 4-8. Gal. 2. 12.—14. The chewing of the eud, signified the meditating in the law of God, which the godly man doth day & night, Psal. 1. 2. for that is the food of the soul, Amos 8. 11. which all ought to remember, Mal. 4. 4. 1 Cor. 11. 2. and having heard it, to search the scriptures daily, whether the things be so, Acts 17. 11. and having tried it, to keep that which is good, 1 Thes. 5. 21. and remember the commandments of God, for to do them: Psal. 103. 18. And as that which was borne of an unclean beast was unclean, and on the contrary: so the children of unbelievers are unclean, and the children of believers holy, 1 Cor. 7. 14. Ezra 9. 1. 2.

Vers. 4. not eat] to weet ordinarily, but in case of necessity they might be eaten. Soldiers that come into the heathens country, and subdue them, it is lawful for them to eat carcasses, or torn beasts, or swine's flesh, or the like, if they be hungry and find not what to eat, save these forbidden meats: and so they may drink wine offered to idols: saith Maimonides in tom. 4. treat. of Kings. chap. 8. Sect. 1. or of them] Heb. and of them. camel] named of the Hebrew Gamal; from which the Greeks also derived the name Kamelos, the Arabians, Gemal; the Chaldeans, Gamla. It is a beast that hath a long neck, and a bunch on the back, upon which men lay burdens, Isaiah. 30. 6. by reason of this shape, it is not easy for a camel to enter in a straight place; whereupon is that proverb of a camel to go thorough the eye of a needle: Math. 19. 24. Camels are of common use in other countries, both for service of war and of peace, for men to ride upon, to use in chariots, or to lade with burdens, Gen. 24. 10. Judge. 6. 5. 1 Sam. 30. 17. Isaiah. 21. 7. and 30. 6. But for to eat of, the camel was unclean; because it parted not the hoof, Deut. 14. 7.

Vers. 5. conie] in Hebrew Shaphan; which hath the name of hiding in holes; as it is said, The conies are but a feeble folk, yet make they their houses in the Rocks; Prov. 30. 26. and, The Rocks, are a shelter for the coneyes, Psal. 104. 18. In Chaldee, it is called Taphsa, of skipping.

Vers. 6. hare] in Hebrew, arnebeth: mentioned only here, and in Deut. 14. 7.

Vers. 7. swine] in Hebrew, chazir; so named of returning: for this beast returneth after it is washed, to wallowing in the mire, 2 Pet. 2. 22. It is also given to wastand spoil, Psal. 80. 14. To feed on it, or offer it for sacrifice, is counted most abominable, Esa. 65. 4. and 66. 3. 17.

Vers. 8. not eat] to weet, any whit of it at any [unspec] time. The Hebrew canons say: All meats forbidden by the law, the quantity of them is as much as a common olive; whether (the punishment) be beating, or cutting off, or death by the hand of God. This measure or quantity, we have learned by tradition. And it is forbidden by the law, to eat any whit at all, of the thing that is forbidden: notwithstanding a man is not beaten, save for the quantity of an olive: yet if he eat any less, he is chastised with stripes. Maimonides, treat. of forbidden meat; chap. 14. Sect. 1. 2. carcass] The original word, is used for that which dieth of itself, Lev. 22. 8. The Greek here translateth carcasses, or caions. A carcass is one of the principal unclean things; as an olive of the flesh thereof, maketh men and vessels unclean by touching, and an ear then vessel by the air; and maketh men unclean by bearing. Maimonides, in Aboth hatumoth, chap. 1. Sect. 1. See after in the notes on verse. 40. As eating, so touching signifieth communion and fellowship, and is forbidden, to teach us to refrain from all fellowship in evil, Esa. 52. 11. 2 Cor. 6. 17. for dead carcasses, figured such as are dead in sins, Eph. 2. 1.

Vers. 9. fin and scale] or, as the Chaldee and [unspec] Greek translate, sins and scales, one being put ⟨ϕ⟩ many. The Jews canons open it thus. For fiftes there are two signs, the fin and the scale: the fin, is that which groweth out of it; the scale, is that which cleareth unto all the body; and whatsoever hath scales hath sins also; &c. If it hath not scales to cover it all over, it is lawful nevertheless; though it hath but one fin and one scale, yet it is lawful. Maimonides, treat. or forbidden meats, chap. 1. Sect. 24. The fin of the fish, serveth as wings to guide her way: the scale is to cove•, protect and adorn the body. These two figures in men faith in God's word, whereby all religioa is guided and directed: and good works the fruits of faith, by which it is manifested and adorned.

Vers. 10. every moving] or, any creeping thing of the waters] which the waters bring forth: see Gen. 1. 20. and the notes thereon. The Greek translateth, of all things which the waters bring forth: The Hebrew doctors say; what is this moving thing of the waters? They be the lesser creatures, as wor•es and horsleeches, which are in the water; and the greater creatures, which are the wild beasts of the sea. And generally whatsoever hath not the form of fishes, &c. ⟨ϕ⟩ sea dogs, frogs, and the like. Maimonides, treat. of forbidden meats, chap. 2. Sect. 12. soul] that is living creature: see the notes on Gen. 1. 20. a abomination] that is, unclean; as Deut. 14. 10. But from this word Chazkuni teacheth, that it was not lawful to make merchandize of them.

Vers. 11. their flesh] so Paul mentioneth the ⟨ϕ⟩ of fishes, 1 Cor. 15. 39.

Vers. 13. have in abomination] or, abhor of the foul. There are no signes of clean fowls explained in the law: but it reckoneth the sorts of unclean fowls only; and other sorts of fowls are lawful: saith Maimonides in treat of Forbidden meats, ch. 1 s. 14. eagle] in Hebrew, Nesher: it is the chief of fowls, flieth most high and swiftly, sucketh blood, and feedeth on carcasses, Deut. 28. 49. Job 39. 27. 30. used to signify violent persecutors, Lam. 4. 19. Ier. 4. 13. and 48. 40. Hos. 8. 1. Heb. 1. 8. ossifrage] the Greek translatheth it, Gryphen: in Hebrew Peres, so named of Breaking; for with strength of beak and talons she breaketh her prey. The Ossi frage (by interpretation bonebreaker,) is bigger thē the eagle, and much of the same kind. It is mentioned only here, and in Deut. 14. 12. The Chaldee of Onkelos nameth it Ar; and Jonathan Uzzah. osprey] in Hebrew, Oznijah; in Chaldee Azja: (called so of strength in her sight and flying,) in Greek, haliaetos, that is, a sea eagle, or Osprey: which is a bird with a great neck and broad tail, strong sighted, and can look on the Sun, and from on high espieth fishes in the sea, and lakes, & falleth violently upon the waters, & taketh them.

Vers. 14. vultur] called in old English, a geyr; in Hebrew here, daah, of flying, and in Deut. 14. 13. raah, of seeing: (for the Hebrew letters D and R. be [unspec] one like another, and often put one for another, as is noted on Gen 4. 18.) for the vultur espieth and smelleth her prey from far, and flieth with violence, being an heavy fowl; teedeth on carcasses, and buildeth her nest on hye rocks. The Greek also translatheth it gups, (that is, a geyr or vultur,) both here and in Deut. 14. The Chaldee here followeth the Hebrew Dajtha: but in Deut. 14. 13. it hath Bath canpha; that is, daughter of wing. kyee] a known ravenous bird, called also a glede, and a puttock. In Hebrew it is named Ajah, of her manner of flying, which is as if she did swim, and by the bowing of her tail, seemeth to have taught how to govern ships by a rudder, as Pliny noteth in hist. b. 10. c. 10, The scripture elsewhere mentioneth her sharp eye sight, in Job 28. 7. The Chaldee here translatheth T•raphitha, of Tearing & ravening her prey, after her kind] This is spoken, because of kites there be two kinds; the greater, of a ruddy color, common in England: the lesser, of a more black color, known in Germany: both sorts, (and if there be any other) are unclean. In Deut. 14. 13 there is another named, W<sup>ch</sup> is not here, the kite (Ajah,) and the glede (Dajah,) after her kind. That dajah, (or glede,) is a fowl that haunterh ruinous places, Isaiah 34. 15. The kite (Ajah) is the glede (Dajah) spoken of in Deuteronomy: saith Maimonides, in treat. of Forbidden meats, ch. 1. s. 14.

Vers. 15. raven] a known bird; named in Hebrew Oreb, in Chaldee Urba, of her dark, or black color; Song. 5. 11. It is ravenous, and of unkind nature to her young, Prover. 30. 17. Isaiah 34. 11. Job 38. 41. his kind] as crows, caddowes, pies, and the like. It is said, after his kind, to imply the Z•z•r (the pie) saith Maimonides, ibidem.

Vers. 16. the owl] or, as in Greek, the ostrich; [unspec] the Hebrew bath hajagnanah, properly is, the daughter of the owl (or ostrich,) that is, the kind of that bird, or the young thereof. But by this word bath, the Hebrew doctors understand, the eggs of this bird, and so of all other unclean fowls, to be unclean also. Maimonides, ibidem, c. 3. s. 1. But Chazkuni here expoundeth it the Estritch, and by the daughter understandeth the young: because the flesh of the fowl when it is old, is (he saith) as hard as a stick, and so there was no need to forbid the eating thereof. This bird liveth in deserts and solitary places, Job 30. 29. Isaiah. 43. 20. and 34. 13.

and (as the name also implieth) makes a doleful noise, Mich. 1. 8. and is of a cruel nature, Lam. 4. 3. The ostrich spoken of in Job 39. 13. 14. hath another name. The Chaldee here translath Bath neamttha; of pleasantness, spoken by the contrary; for her unpleasant cry; so in Deut. 14. night-hawk] or, night-owl, as the Greek translath it. The Hebrew name Tachmas signifieth rapine and violence, which argueth the nature of this bird. Some think it to be the Night-raven, others the Harpie. The Night-hauke seeth bette; by night then by day; and hath deadly war with the Eagle, saith Pliny, hist. b. 10. c. 8. It is mentioned in scripture, only here and in Deut. 14. The Chaldee of her wing or flying, calleth her Tsitsa; but Jonathan, Chatphitha, that is, the Snatcher, or Harpte. sca-gull] or sacob: in Hebrew Shachapls, and in Chaldee Shachpha: mentioned but here and in Deur. 14. The Greek translath it Laros, that is, a sea gull, a bird of a greedy and reavenous kind, it nestleth on rocks by the sea: Aristot hist. Animal. l. 5. c. 9. Some think it to be the cuckow, others a kind of Hawk, called the Merlin. Hawk] called in Hebrew Nets, in Chaldee Natsa, in Gr. hierax; in all, she is named of her swift flying and fighting: and of Nets, the Latin word Nisus is derivec. Of it God saith, Doth the hawk fly by thy wisdom? Job 39. 26. his kind] as there are sundry sorts of hawks, (Arist. hist. animal. l. 9. c. 36.) all which are by this law unclean: so the Hebrew doctors understand this of a second kind, which they call Sarnaka, Maimonides, treat. of Forbidden meats, ch. 1. s. 14.

Vers. 17. great owl] called in Latin Bubo, Aristotle writes that it is of the bigness of an Eagle, and Pliny, that it dwelleth in deserts, maketh a doleful noise, & flieth not right forth but thwart wise. So the Prophet complaineth I am like the great owl of the deserts, Psal. 102. 7. In Hebrew it is named Cos, of covering or hiding; and Chazkuni saith, it hideth it self from the eyes of men, and dwelleth in places not inhabited: the Greek translath it here, the Night raven: and in Deut. 14. the Heron. The Chaldee by Onkelos calleth it Kaja; and Jonathan, Tsajra. cormorant] in Hebrew Shalac, or casting it self down into the water: the Chaldee nameth it Shalenona, that is, the Fish hunter; and Jonathan addeth, the hunter of the fish of the sea. little owl] or, bat: in Hebrew Ianshuph, so named of flying in the twilight or dark evening, which owls & bats both do. It dwelleth also in desolate places, Isaiah 34. 11. The Chaldee name is Kiphopha.

Vers. 18. the Red-shanke] so the Greek translath it here Porphyrion, which is either that, or like that which we call the Red-shanke. Jerome translath it the Swan. Some of the Hebrew dotors, the Bat: which is more likely, because the Hebrew Tinshemeth, which here is a bird, after in ver. 30. is the name also of a creeping thing, called the Moll. Sol. Rashi saith it is like a mouse, flieth in the night, and is so called because it is like that creeping thing which lacketh eyes, called Talpa (a Moll.) The Chaldee here calleth it Cavtha: and in Deut. 14. 16. Botha. Pelecan] or, shovelard: a fowl that dwelleth in the wilderness, Psal. 102. and in desolate places, Isaiah 34. 11, Zeph. 2. 14. In Hebrew, named Kaath, in Chaldee Katha, of Vomiting. So Aristotle and Pliny show the nature of the Pelecan or Shovelard, that it vomiteth up shelfishes, which it before devoured. And Chazkuni saith hereof; Kaath, the name differeth not from the custom thereof, which is to vomit up the meat. gier-eagle] or, Swan, as the Greek here translath it, but in Deu. 14. 17. the Greek is the porphyrion. The Hebrew Racham, hath the signification of dear-love, which it beareth to the young, as Chazkuni saith, The Chaldee translath it Ierakreka, which implieth a greenish coloured fowl, such as the Greeks call Chlorion, a Witwol.

V. 19. Stork] in Hebrew Chasidah, which signifieth kindness, such as the young storkes are said to show unto their dams, whō they feed in their age: or, as Sol. Rashi here saith, because it showeth kindness unto her fellows, in food. The Greek translatheth it diversely. The scripture noteth this bird for her wings and flying, Job 39. 13. Zach. 5. 9. it is a fowl much like a crane, white, but her wings partly black; she buildeth on high fyrr trees, Psal. 104. 17. and upon tops of houses and chimneyes in cities, as all Germany knoweth. It keepeth much about waters, and feedeth on fishes, snakes, frogs, and the like. Therefore in Thessalia (as Plinte reporteth) men might not kill them, upon pain of death, because they devoured the serpents. The storkes depart out of the country towards the end of summer, no man knoweth whither, and come again at the spring, whereupon the Prophet saith, the stork in the heaven knoweth her appointed times, Ie 8. 7. No man seeth them either going or coming, but when they are come, & that is a sign that winter is past. Of them Pliny, writeth, hist. b. 10. c. 23. The Chaldee calleth her Chawaritha, of her white feathers. So the Latin Poet; cum Vere rubenti Canaida venit avis longis invisā colubris, Virgil. Geor. 2. that is, when in the rosie Spring, The white fowl comes which unto Snakes is a most hateful thing. the Heron] in Greek, and the Heron, so in Deut. 14. 18. The Heron is in Hebrew Anaphah, so named of anger: The Greek turneth it Charadrios: so in Deut. 14. 18. The Chaldee translatheth it Ibbo, and Ajbu; which name implieth enmity. Chazkuni writeth Anapha; commonly called Heron, it is soon angry: and Sol. Rashi saith, it is a furius fowl, and seemeth unto me to be that which they call the Heron. Lapwing] so also the Greek translatheth it: the Hebrew name is Duchiphath, mentioned only here, and in Deut. 14. 18. The Chaldee, Nagar tura: the Cock of the mountain, bat] in Hebrew Atalleph, in Chaldee Atalpha, in Greek Nucteris: it flieth in the night, and cannot behold the day light, but keepeth in holes; whereto the Prophet alludeth in Isaiah 2. 20. they shall cast their idols, to the mo•s, and the batts. Chazkuni saith, Atalleph is a little bird that flieth in the night, and hath no eyes. Thus there be twenty several fowls named as unclean; to which if we add those words after his kind four times repeated, there are 24. and so many particular sorts do the Hebrew doctors say are forbidden. And whosoever hath certain knowledge of these kinds, and of their names; he may eat any fowl that is none of them, and he need make no inquisition. Who so knoweth them not, nor knoweth their names; must make inquisition, by the signs which the wise men have given. Every fowl that treadeth on the meat and eateth, [as is the manner of ravenous fowls that tear their prey,] it is evident that it is of those kinds, and unclean: saith Maimonides, in treat. or Forbidden meats, chap. 1. sect. 15. 16. And; the signs of beasts, are spoken of in the law; the signs of <...> les are not spoken of: but our wise men have said, every fowl that treadeth (on her prey) is unclean: Talmud Bab. in Cholin, ch. 3. These figured the ravenous, and unciene conditions of ungodly people: as Babylon is called, the cage of every unclean and b•••ll bird, Rev. 18. 2.

Vers. 20. that flieth] or, of the flying-fowl, as the [unspec] Greek translatheth, All creeping-things of fowl <...> that is, all fowls (or flying things) that creep. Under this prohibition, the Jews understand also, flies, bees, hornets, ants, and the like; as Targum Jonathan and others here explain it. upon all four] or, upon four feet: which word is expressed after, in verse 23.

Ver. 21. hath not legs] or, as the Hebrew read <...> [unspec] in the margin, hath legs. Both Greek and C <...> dee do translate as in the margin, hath legs: bu• because the legs of the Locusts following, are bowed backward, and they go not with them ⟨ϕ⟩ other creatures, therefore after a sort they have ⟨ϕ⟩ legs above their feet. Or rather, because the young locusts are borne without legs (as Plime shewett in hist. b. 11. c. 29.) and afterwards their legs do grow. So the Hebrew canons say, Whatsoever ⟨ϕ⟩ not now wings or legs, but they will grow upon them after a time when they are bigger: they are lawful (to ⟨ϕ⟩ eaten) presently. Maimonides, treat. of Forbidden me ⟨...⟩, ch. 1. s. 23. Thus both readings were written by Moses: see the like, in Exodus 21. 8. The holy Ghost sometime plainly confirmeth these div ⟨...⟩ reading to be of God; as in 1 Chron. 11. 20. * Lo, Not, is in the margin to be read Lo, To him, and another Prophet, writing of the same person, hath only Lo, To him, 2 Sam. 23. 18.

Vers. 22. common Locust] or, grashopper; in Hebrew [unspec] Arbeh, so named of their multitude; see the notes on Exod. 10. 4. 5. 14. Such in the eastern countries are used for meat; so John the Baptist, fed on Locusts, Mat. 3. 4. and human stories tell, how some in Ethiopia used to eat them salted and •ed in smoke, Pliny, hist. b. 6 c. 30. Locust-Sol ⟨...⟩ which hath the name, (as Chazkuni saith) of Sole•• the Rocks, on which they keep: the Greek calleth it Attakes: the Chaldee Rashona, and Resh••a, It is not mentioned in scripture, but in this place. locust-Chargol] this word also is not found any other where: the G. translatheth it Ophiomiches, that is, the Serpent fighter: and that there are Locusts which kill serpents, Pliny mentioneth, in b. 11. c. 29. Chazkuni interpreteth the name Chargol, as striving with the feet to skip with them. locust-Chagab,] or grashopper; which the Greek nameth Akris, that is, a Locust, so in Numb. 13. 33. Isaiah 40. 22. Eccles. 12. 5. after his kind] this being spoken four times, the Hebrews think it implieth four other sorts of Locusts, which they call Zipporeth cramim, and Iothana Ierushalemith, and Gnartsubja, and Razbanith; all which are also clean for to eat; Talmud Bab. in Cholin, ch. 3. So Maimonides in Forb. meats, c. 1. s. 21. where he calleth the two latter by other names, Gnotsaranja, & Ducanith: and so maketh eight sorts of Locusts, which the Law permitteth to be eaten.

V. 23. every creeping thing] to weet, every other, save those Locusts aforesaid.

Vers. 24. for these] or, by these; meaning as Solom. Rashi explaineth it, these which follow, that not only by eating, but by touching of them dead, they should be defiled. See before on v. 8. The uncleanness by touching, spoken of in any place, whether it be of a dead man, or of other unclean things; is, when a man with his flesh toucheth the unclean thing it self; whether it be with his hand, or with his foot, or with any other part of his flesh; though it be with his tongue, loe he is unclean. And it seems to me, he is defiled if he touch with his nails or with his teeth, whiles they are joined to the body, they are as the body; saith Maim. in treat. of Poll. by the dead. c. 1. s. 3. till the evening] that is, till the end of that day and beginning of a new: for the Jews day began at evening, as is noted on Gen. 1. 5. And so it figured man's pollution by sins, till he come to the new day of salvation by Christ, and become a new creature, 2 Cor. 5. 17. & 6. 2. It signified also, those legal pollutions to continue but during the day (or time) of the law: w<sup>ch</sup> in the day of Christ should be abolished, Coloss. 2. 16. 17. 20. 21.

V. 25. beareth] the Hebr. canons say, although he touch it not, though there be a stone between him and it, for as much as he hath borne it, he is unclean, whether he bear it on his head, or on his hand, or on any other part of his body. Whether he hath taken it up him-self, or another hath laid it on him; yea though the unclean thing hang by a thread, or hair, and that thread hang on his hand; he beareth it, and is unclean. Maim. treat. of Pollut. by the dead, ch. 1 sect. 6. wash his clothes] that is, all the clothes that are upon him. Sol. Rashi not eth, that uncleaness by bearing, is more then the uncleaness by touching, for a man is charged for this, to wash his clothes. This washing was a sign of sanctification, as in Exodus 19. 10. for sin defileth men, and all that is about them: but by repentance and faith, our clothes are washed, & made white in the blood of the Lamb (Christ) Revel. 7. 14. The Hebrew doctors say, Every place where it is said in the law, of the unclean, that he shall wash his clothes: it is not to teach us, that only the clothes which are upon him are unclean: but to teach that every cloth or vessel, which that unclean person toucheth, in the time whiles he is joined to the thing that makes him unclean, is unclean also. Maim. treat. of the Red heifer, chap. 5. sect. 2.

Vers. 26. them] that is, their dead carcasses, as the Gr. here expresseth, and rightly from ver. 24.

Vers. 27. paws, or palms; which the Greek translatheth hands. And to explain this, Sol. Rashi instanceth, the dog, and the bear, and the cat.

Ver. 29. upon the earth] this is spoken, as Chazkuni saith to expect those that are in the sea. weasell] named in Hebrew, Choled; in Chaldee, Chulda; of running hastily from place to place. Rashi explaineth it by the Latin name Mustela: in Greek it is called Galee. mouse] in Hebrew, Gnachar, of troubling, gnawing and rooting things in the house and fields. With such, God marred the Philistians land, 1 Sam. 6. 5. and the eating of such is expressly condemned, in Isaiah 66. 17. tor <...> ] or, as the Greek translatheth, the land crocodile; in Hebrew Tsab, so called of the shell that covere <...> it; for Tsab is also used for a coach, or covered wagon, Numbers 7. 3. Of this creature Sol. Rashi saith, it is like a frog. after his kind] the Greek translatheth, and things like unto it.

Vers. 30. ferret] or weasell-mouse, as the Greek translatheth it Mugalee; which the Latins call Mus araneus, (the Shrew, as Gaza saith in hist. animal. l. 8. c. 24. It is of the color of a weasell, and bigness of a mouse, saith Aetius, in l. 13. c. 14. The Hebrew name is Anakah, which signifieth groaning; and the Chaldee, Iela, of yelling. The scripture mentioneth it not elsewhere. Chamaeleon] so the Greek translatheth it; others, the lisard. In Hebrew it is named Coach, of Strength. lizard] or, stellio, which is like a lizard, spotted on the back as with stars: and to this latter, the Greek Askalabotes agreeth. In Hebrew, Letaah, which Sol. Rashi expoundeth Lisard. snail] or lisard, in Hebrew Chomet; in Greek Saura, that is the Lisard: others think this to be the chamaeleon. These creatures names are not elsewher found in scripture. The Rabbins say, There are eight creeping things spoken of in the Law, the weasell &c. who so eateth of their flesh the quantity of a lentel (or little pease) is to be beaten. Maim. in Forb. meats, c. 2. s. 7. Moll] in Hebr. Tinshemeth, in Chaldee Ashshutha; which Rashi explaineth by the Latin name Talpa; but Targum Jonathan calleth it Sallamandra.

Vers. 31. toucheth] Creeping things (as the Hebr. doctors observe) do defile men and vessels when they are touched, and earthen vessels by the aier: but defile not when they are carried, (as other creatures do v. 25) and the measure of their uncleaness, is by (touching) so much as a lentell.

Maim. in Aboth hatumoth, c. 4. s. 2. are dead] There is no kind of living creature that is defiled while it is alive, or that defileth while it is alive, save man only, saith Maimonides, in treat. of Pollution by the dead, c. 1. s. 14. The creeping thing defileth not until it be dead. All other abominable creeping things, as frogs, serpents, scorpions, and the like, though they are unlawful to be eaten, &c (Lev. 11. 41. 42.) yet hast thou none of all the creeping things, that defileth (by touching it) when it is dead, save the eight sorts that are expressed in the Law. Maimonides, in Aboth hatumoth, c. 4. s. 14.

Vers. 32. ought of them] to weat, of their flesh. For as of beasts, the Hebrew doctors say, the bones, horns, hoofs, gristles, sinews, &c. of their carcasses, do not defile; to weat, when they are separated from the carcass; though who so toucheth any of these things, while they are joined with the flesh, he is unclean; so they say, the bones, sinews, nails of creeping things, are clean. Maim. in Aboth hatumoth, c. 1. s. 7. and c. 4. s. 8. vessel] or, instrument; anything made for use or service. The Hebrews say; there are seven sorts of vessels (or instruments) that by the law do receive uncleanness; which are clothse, things made of skin, and sacks, and things made of bone, and of metal, and of wood, and of potters earth. Five of these they gather from this verse and the next; for metals, from Numbers 31. 22. 23. and for bones, from Numb. 31. 20. all work of goats, &c. which by tradition they learned to understand of vessels made of the horns, or hoofs, or bones of goats, & consequently of other beasts: Maim. in Celim, c. 1. s. 1. of wood] under this, they understand also vessels made of bulrushes (as Isaiah 18. 2.) and of reed, of wicker, of shells of nuts, barks of trees, and other the like; of things which grow out of the earth like wood. All things made of wood, for the service and use of man only, as ladders, are clean, & receive no pollution at all. And all things made of wood, for the service of vessels and of men, as tables, bupboards, beds and the like, do receive pollution: (for these serve both for man's use, and for dishes, cups, plate, &c. to be set upon.) Things made of wood, for the service of vessels (or instruments) only, because they serve unto those things which serve unto man, if they serve unto those vessels, but in the hour of employment only, then are they clean and receive no pollution; as a wodden candle stick, which serveth for the candle in the time that it burneth: and so all other the like. But if they serve unto the vessel or instrument, in the time of the use of it, and in the time when it is not used, then it receiveth pollution, as sheads, scabberds, cases of knives, swords, and other the like. Maim. in Celim, c. 1. s. 13. and c. 4. s. 1. cloth] whatsoever is woven, be it of wool, or of flax, or of hemp, or of any other thing that groweth out of the dry land; is called cloth, in this case of uncleanness. Maim. in Celim, c. 1. s. 11. But cloth woven of wool that groweth in the sea receives no uncleanness. Ibidem. s. 3. skin] to weat, of beasts of the earth; but such as breed in the sea, their skins receive no uncleanness, Maim. in Celim. c. 1. sect. 3. sackcloth] it was made of threads of baire, braided like a chain, or woven as cloth, & made either of goats hair, or camels hair, or horse tails, or the like. Mai. in Celim, c. 1. s. 12. Hence we may observe, that John. Baptists garment of camels hair, was sackcloth opposed to soft & princely clothing, Ma. 3. 4. & 11. 8. and such the Prophets of old, used for to wear, as Elias, (in whose habit, and spirit and power John the Baptist came, Luk. 1. 17.) 2 King. 1. 8. & Isaiah 20. 2. and others, Zac. 13. 4. any vessel] or tool, instrument, fit for, and used unto any work. Therefore; a skin which had not upon it the form of a vessel (or instrument) received no uncleanness. Uessells of metal, received no uncleanness, till the work of them was all finished: imperfect shapes were not capable of pollution. Neither any other vessels whatsoever, till they were wholly finished. And if a clean vessel were brokē, the pieces of it, were not capable of uncleanness: as Mai. showeth in

Celim, c. 7. s. 2. &c. 8. s. 1. &c. 1. s. 1. and ch. 6. s. 1. put] or brought, made come: the Greek translatheth dipped into water. And by the Hebrew canons, All that are unclean, whether men or vessels, are not cleansed, but by dipping (or baptising) in water: And wheresoever the law speaketh of washing a man's flesh, or washing of clothes for uncleanness, it is not but by dipping the whole body therein. And whether they be men or vessels, there may not be anything between them and the water to keep them asunder, as clay, pitch or the like, that cleaveth to the body or vessel: if there be, then they are unclean as they were before, and their washing profiteth them not. Maim. in Mikvaoth (or Water places) c. 1. s. 1. 2. 12. and it shall] or, then it shall be cleansed: which the Greek translatheth, and afterwards it shall be clean. Before the evening, that the sun be set, it abideth unclean, though in a less degree. And so for men, of whom it is said, they shall wash and be unclean until the even: as v. 25. 28. and Lev. 15. 5. &c. Hereupon the Hebrews describe the degrees of uncleanness; as, All that are unclean with any principal uncleanness, whether men or vessels, they are the first (or chiefest) in uncleanness, till they  $\langle \phi \rangle$  baptized. When he is baptized, then is he as the second in uncleanness, until his sun be set. And he t•at  $\langle \phi \rangle$  so baptized, (and his sun not set) may not eat or dr  $\langle \dots \rangle$  of the trumah (or holy offerings,) or of any meat or dr  $\langle \dots \rangle$  that is holy. If such a baptized person touch the Tr•mah, he maketh the third in uncleanness, because him-self is the second. If he touch the holy meats or  $\langle \phi \rangle$ , he maketh them the fourth in uncleanness. But  $\langle \phi \phi \rangle$  touch common meats, they are clean. Maim. in A  $\langle \dots \rangle$  hatumoth, c. 10. s. 1. 2. 3.

*Vers. 33. earthen] or, vessel of pot bakers e  $\langle \dots \rangle$  [unspec] For there is a difference between this, and anoth  $\langle \dots \rangle$  vessel of earth or of stone. Any vessel made of  $\langle \phi \rangle$  mould of the earth, and afterward burned in the  $\langle \phi \rangle$  that is the vessel (Cheres) of earth, here spoken of, Maimonides, in Celim. c. 1. s. 13. See also Lev. 15. 1•. whereinto] or, into the midst whereof. The Hebrews scanning this word, say, that an earth  $\langle \dots \rangle$  sel is not made unclean but in the aier thereof. All  $\langle \phi \rangle$  vessels, if uncleanness touch them, they are u•clean: and if an unclean thing come into the aier of them, but toucheth them not, they continue clean. And they count that an earthen vessel is not made unclean,  $\langle \phi \rangle$  in the aier of it, as it is written, Into the midst where any of them falleth, (Levite. 11. 33.) in the midst ( $\langle \phi \rangle$  inside) thereof it is made unclean, not in the o  $\langle \dots \rangle$  parts. And as it is made unclean in the aier of it,  $\langle \phi \rangle$  maketh meats and drinks unclean by the aier of it,  $\langle \phi \rangle$  an unclean earthen vessel, if meat or drink c  $\langle \dots \rangle$   $\langle \phi \rangle$  the a•er of it, though they touch it not, yet are they  $\langle \phi \rangle$  unclean, as it is written, whatsoever is in the  $\langle \phi \rangle$  it, shall be unclean. But other unclean vessels  $\langle \phi \rangle$  not meats or drinks unclean, till they touch  $\langle \phi \rangle$  Maimonides, in Celim, c. 13. s. 1. 2. break it] so in Lev. 6. 28. and 15. 12. All vessels that are defiled, are made cleane again by water, except vessels of earth, and of glass. Of the earthen vessel it is said, and ye shall break it, (Levite. 11. 33.) and it is not cleansed but by breaking. Maim. in Mikvaoth, c. 1. s. 3. This seemeth to be in respect of the vileness of earth en vessels, more then of wood or of metal; so that the loss was not great, though they were broken. For otherwise, the Hebrew doctors say, that Vessells also of wood, and of skin, and of bone, and of metal, when they are broken, are cleansed from their uncleanness; Maim. in Celim, ch. 12. s. 1. Of this point Chazkuni here saith, *An earthen vessel is not defiled but by the aier of it, and the reason is, for as much as it cannot be cleansed but is to be broken; the Law is sparing from having it mored, so that it is not defiled on the outside, as it is written,

And every open vessel, which hath no covering bound upon it, is unclean, Numb. 19. 15. Loe if it have a covering bound upon it, it is clean, for it is not defiled on the outside of it. As waters signified the blood and spirit of Christ, wherewith we are sanctified, Ezek. 36. 25. Hebr. 9. 13. 14. and 10. 22. so the breaking of the vessel signified the abolishing of sin and uncleanness, by death. We are compared to earthen vessels, 2 Cor. 4. 7. and the breaking of such is death, Ierein. 19. 11. and 48. 38. See the notes on Lev. 15. 12.

Ver. 34. Of all meat which may be eaten] Hebrew, which shall be eaten, that is, which usually is eaten of men. The Greek translatheth, And all meat which is eaten. on which water cometh] This is understood by some, of such water as whereinto an unclean thing was put to cleanse the same, mentioned before in verse 32. that that water defileth all meats. But the Hebrews understand it of all water generally, which when it cometh upon anything that is man's meat, it maketh the meat apt to receive uncleanness, by such things as are before mentioned: whereas unless water came upon it, it received no uncleanness by the touch of any unclean thing; according to that which followeth in verse 37. 38 where sowing seed is not defiled by any carcass, unless water be put upon the seed. So Rashi explaineth it, Hence we learn (saith he) that meat is not apt and prepared to receive uncleanness, until water come upon it; but after water is once come upon it, it receiveth uncleanness forever, though it be dry again. And wine and oil  $\langle \diamond \rangle$   whatsoever is called Mashkeh (drink or liquor,)  $\langle \dots \rangle$   keth seeds apt to take uncleanness, as water doth. The like is holden by others of them, and they give these rules; All meat that is properly man's •eat, as bread, and flesh, and grapes, and olives, and the like, receiveth uncleanness; and whatsoever is not properly man's meat, is clean, and receiveth not uncleanness; unless there be an intent concerning it, and it  $\langle \diamond \rangle$   determined to be man's meat. And both the one and the other receiveth not uncleanness, until it be mixed first with one of the seven liquors: as it is said, But if water be put upon the seed, Lev. 11. 38. The sevenliquors that make meats apt for uncleanness, are these, water and dew, and oil, and wine, & milk, and blood,  $\langle \dots \rangle$   d honey. And they make not (meats) apt (for uncleanness,) until they full upon the meats by the owners will; and are not putrefied: for liquor that is putrefied maketh not apt (for uncleanness.) And when meat is made apt (to receive uncleanness,) although it be waxen dry again, yet it receiveth uncleanness. Meat that is mixed with water of fruits, as with water of mulberries, or of pomgranets, although it be mixed. & one that hath a running issue, or if the flesh of the dead do touch it: yet is it clean, because it was not made apt (to take uncleanness,) by one of the seven liquors. There is not any liquor that receiveth uncleanness, save only the seven liquors forementioned; but other water of fruits, as they make not apt, so neither receive they uncleanness at all. Somethings receive no uncleanness, though they be eaten by men; because they are not eaten save to give relish unto meats, or for odor, or for sight; as spices, ginger, pepper, and all such like. All meats that grow out of the ground, receive no uncleanness till they be plucked up: but so long as they stick in the ground, though it be but by a little root, whereby they may live, they receive no uncleanness. All meats that are of living things, receive no uncleanness until they be dead: so soon as a beast or fowl is killed, they may receive uncleanness. Fishes also receive uncleanness, when they are dead. All meat that is corrupt & putrefied so that it is not fit for man's meat; receiveth no uncleanness. So liquor putrefied and corrupt, that it is not fit for man to drink, receiveth no uncleanness. Maim. in Tumath Oclin (or Uncleannes of meats) c. 1. and 2. all drink] or all liquor. This general, the Hebrews restrain to seven particulars forementioned; water, dew, oil, wine, milk, blood, and honey, and such things as are of their kind. Which must be iudiciously weighed; for they had many traditions, which agreed not with the laws of God, Mark 7. 3. 4.—13. Moreover they say concerning these things, Whatsoever is written in the Law touching things unclean and clean, it concerneth not ought save the sanctuary and the holy things thereof, and the Heave-offerings and the second tithe only. For loe the unclean are warned not to come into the Sanctuary, or to eat of the holy thing, or of the heave-offering, or of the tithe, in uncleanness: (Levite. 12. 4. and 15. 31. Numb. 19. 13. 20. Levite. 7. 20. 21. Nū. 18. 11. 13.) *But of common things, there is no prohibition at all; but it is lawful to eat common things that are unclean, and to drink liquors that are unclean. Loe it is said in the Law, And the flesh that toucheth any unclean thing, shall not be eaten, Lev. 7. 19. Wherefore common things are lawful, for he speaketh not save of the flesh of the holy things. And so it is lawful for a man to touch all unclean things, and to defile himself by them: for loe the scripture warneth the sons of Aaron and the Nazirite, not to defile themselves by the dead, (Lev. 21. 1. Num. 6. 6.) intimating, that all the people may. Yea & the Priests & Nazarites might defile themselves with other uncleanness, save the uncleanness of the dead. All Israel, are admonished to be clean at every solemn feast; for then they are to be fitted to come into the Sanctuary, and to eat the holy things. And this which is said in the Law, Their carkasseshal ye not touch, (Lev. 11. 8.) is meant at the solemn feast only: but for other days of the year, he is not forbidden. The unclean & the clean person together, Deu. 15. 22. we have been taught, that the unclean & the clean may eat in one dish. But the husband may not eat in the dish with his wife that is separated for her uncleanness, (Lev. 15. 19.) &c. Although it be lawful to eat unclean meats, and drink unclean drinks, the holy men in former times used to eat common meats in their cleanness, and shunned all unclean meats all their days. Maimonides in Tumath Oclin, c. 16. s. 8. 9. 10. 11. 12. These things are to be understood of clean meats made unclean by touching other things: and not of twine & such beasts, fowls and fishes, as are forbidden before: for they might never be eaten by the people, except in case of necessity.*

Vers. 35. oven] in Greek ovens: wherein bread is baked, Levite. 26. 26. unto which the heart of man is sometime likened, Hos. 7. 6. potts] so the Gr. Chyropodes also signifieth pots with feet. Chazkuni saith the oven was for bread; the potts, for flesh; to be baked and boiled in: and Sol. Rashi saith, they were vessels (or instruments) moveable, and were of potters earth. they shall] Hebrew, it shall, that is, every of them shall be broken down. Because as Sol. Rashi saith, an earthen vessel is not made clean by washing. Therefore were they to be broken as other earthen vessels, v. 33.

Vers. 36. and a gathering.] The Greek addeth the word and, whereby this is distinguished from pit and fountain; implying all other places, ditches, ponds, pools, lakes, rivers and the like; where many waters are gathered together (not in vessels, but) upon the ground. Such when the unclean thing, and water that touched it were taken out, remained clean.

Vers. 37. sowing] or sown seed, which useth to be sown. which shall be sown] Chazkuni expoundeth it, which shall be rooted in the ground: teaching even of unclean seeds, that when they are sown and have taken root, they are clean.

Vers. 38. water is put] Hebrew, is given; meaning willingly: the Greek saith, is poured. Hereby is meant the fitting of it for man to eat: as by the Hebrew canons is before shown. Where also it is said; By word of mouth we have been taught that this which is said, But if water be put upon the seed, (Lev. <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> . 38▪) is meant either of water, or of any other of the seven liquors: so that it be put thereon by the owners will, and after that it is pulled from the ground: for it is not spoken of putting water on, save after the meats are plucked up, and the liquors pulled off from where they grow: whatsoever liquor falleth on meats without the owners will it maketh thē not apt (to receive uncleanness.) As if it be mixed with his fruits for fear, or danger, or for necessity, & he was not otherwise willing that they should be mixed: it makes them not apt (for uncleanness:) as he that hideth his fruits in water, because of thieves, &c. M <math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> . in Tumath Oclin, c. 12. s. 1. 2. of their carcass] Ch•zkuni explaineth it thus; of their carcass, and not of the b••s, or of the teeth, or of the nails, or of the h•ire of th••: for these things made it not unclean. larchi teacheth, that this is not only whiles the seed is wet with the water, but also after it is dry from the water.

Vers. 39. any beast die] to weat, of it self; and is not orderly slain. for meat] that is, any clean beast, such as the Law permitteth to be eaten. And unclean beasts much more. toucheth the carcass] Sol. Rashi expoundeth this; the carcass, and not the bones or sinews, nor the horns, or hoofs, neither the skin: for that these defiled not him that touched them.

Ver. 40. that •eareth the •arkasse] see the notes on [unspec] verse. 25. The Hebrews say, A carcass is one of the chiefest unclean things; so much as an olive of the flesh thereof, defileth men, and vessels, by touching, and earthen vessels by the aeir, and defileth men by bearing it. Whether it be cattle or beast, lawful to be eaten or unlawful; if they die, the flesh of them all, so much as an olive, maketh one unclean. The killing of a clean beast, maketh it clean everywhere: an unclean beast, the killing thereof availeth it not: and whether it be killed, or strangled: or die of it self, it is a carcass; and all carcasses are alike in the case of uncleanness. The marrow is as the flesh; but the blood of the carcass defileth not as the carcass, but is like unclean liquors, which defile not men or vessels by the Law. The fat of a clean beast that dieth, is clean, as it is written, And the fat of a carcass, and the fat of that which is torn in pieces, sh•l be used for any work, but eating ye shall eat of it (Lev. 7. 24.) Maimonides in Aboth hatumoth, c. 1. s. 15. wash his clothes] the Greek addeth, and wash himself in water.

Vers. 41. every creeping thing] besides those eight forementioned in v. 29. 30. which defiled men by touching them dead; all other defile men by eating them; but not by touching their carcasses. See the notes on v. 31. Who so eateth so much as an olive, of any creeping-thing on the earth, is to be beaten: saith Maimon. in treat. of Forbidden meats, c. 2. s. 6. Touching this quantity, observe another rule which they give; This which we have said, of eating so much as an olive, is when he eateth that qua <math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> of any great creature, or if he join together a little of one creature, and a little of another of that kind, till he eat so much as an olive. But he that eat•th an unclean creature by it self all of it; he is to be beaten by the Law, although it be less then a grain of mustard seed; whether he eat it dead, or eat it alive, Maimonides, <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> ▪ c. 2. s. 21.

Vers. 42. upon the belly] as serpents and the like▪ Gē. 3. 14. upon all four] or, upon four feet. T• is the Scorpion, saith Sol. Rashi. or whatso <math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> Hebr. unto whatsoever hath many feet. Rashi saith, this is the Nadal, (the many-foot) a creeping thing which hath feet from the head there of to the tail that of on each side; •nd they call it (in Latin) C <math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> .

Vers. 43. anything that creepeth] This implieth all other besides the things spoken of; as •eping things in the waters, and the like. He that 〈...〉 much as an olive of the creeping things in the waters, 〈ϕ〉 to be beaten by the Law, Levite. 11. 43. Lee in 〈ϕ〉 prohibition, are comprehended creeping things of the earth, and creeping things that fly, and creeping 〈ϕ〉 of the waters. Maimonides, in Forbidden meats, 〈ϕ〉 s. 12. What the creeping things of the waters as is shown on v. 10.

Vers. 44. make holy] or sanctify yourselves. 〈ϕ〉 is the spiritual use of all these carnal rites: 〈ϕ〉 Meat commendeth us n̄t to God, 1 Cor 8. 8. 〈ϕ〉 is anything unclean of it •efe, Rom. 14. 14. 〈ϕ〉 there is nothing from without a man, that entering into him, can defile him, Mark. 7. 15. and these ordinances of meats and drinks, and divers washings, were carnal ordinances, imposed on (the Jews) until the time of reformation (or bettering) Heb. 9. 10. all which are by Christ now done away, Collos. 2. 14. 16. 17. 20. 21. who calleth us from our former lusts in our ignorance, to be holy in all manner of conversation, because it is written, be ye holy, for I am holy, 1 Pet. 1. 14. 15. 16. and to cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God, 2 Cor. 7. 1. The Jews also themselves saw that these outward things were figures of heavenly, and to be abolished by Christ, as their own words noted on Gen. 9. 3. manifest: and R. Menachem on Lev. 11. showeth how things beneath, are all answerable to things above; and those above, have their figures here beneath, and that by unclean beasts, the heathens of the world were meant, (according to that vision in Act 10. 12.—18.) and that the eating of unclean beasts here forbidden, signified the going in unto (or unlawful marriages with) such infidels, according to the phrase in Pro. 30. 20. she eateth, and wipeth her mouth: and the saying in Gen. 2. 24. they shall be one flesh. Also, that the cleansing with water, signified the water that is above, which is the water of mercy, &c. And Maim. concludeth his treatise of the Uncleanness of meats, thus; the cleanness of the body, bringeth one unto the holiness of the soul, from evil thoughts; and the holiness of the soul, is a means to make us like unto the Majesty (of God) as it is written, and ye shall make yourselves holy, and shall be holy, for I the Lord that make you holy, am holy. your souls] that is, yourselves; the soul is often put for ones self, for the whole person, soul and body. So in v. 43. that moveth] or, that creepeth upon the earth; but the Gr. also translateth moveth: and it is of more large signification. Wherefore the Hebr. cannons say; These kinds that breed in dunghills, and in bodies of carcasses, as worms, •ag gots, and the like, which are not procreated of male and female, but of rotten dung and the like; they are called the things that move upon the earth: and who so eateth so much as an olive of them, is to be beaten. &c. although they do not increase and multiply (by generation.) But the creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth (Lev. 11. 29.) is that which increaseth and multiplieth of male and female. Those kinds that breed in fruits & i• meats; if they be separated & go forth upon the earth although they return again into the meat; who so eateth so much as an olive of them, is to be beaten: but if they be not separated, it is lawful to eat the fruit, and the worm that is within it. Provided that the food breed worms after it is plucked up from growing on the earth: for if it breed worms, while it groweth; those worms are unlawful, as those that are separated upō the earth, because they are created upon the earth. And if the case be doubtful▪ •ey are also unlawful. Therefore all kind of fruits which are wont to breed worms whiles they grow, are not to be eaten, until they search into the fruit, lest 〈ϕ〉 worm be in it. But if the fruit last a twelve month after it is gathered, it may be eaten without any searching into it: for there is no worm which can live twelve  $\langle \hat{o} \rangle$  in it. Maim. treat. of Forbidden meats, ch. 2. sect. 13. 14. 15.

V. 45. that bringeth you] upon condition that you should receive my commandments, have I brought you up from the land of Egypt: as Rashi explaineth it. for I am holy] Hence doth the Apostle frame his exhortation, as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy, in all manner of conversation: because it is written Be ye holy, for I am holy, 1 Pet. 1. 15▪ 16.

V 47. To make a difference] or to separate; & in the next sētence the Gr. addeth, to teach the sons of Israel, between the living thing, &c▪ as having reference to v. 1. 2. (where this law is spoken to Moses & Aaron,) and to the former precept, in Lev. 10. 10. 11. the beast, or, the living thing: which the G. calleth Zoogonountoon, that gender living things. And as we have heard of the creatures, so for those that come of the creatures, the Hebr. have these rules; All meat that cometh out of any of the kinds of creatures forbidden, for the eating whereof men are beaten: ••e that meat is by the Law forbidden to be eaten as the milk of an unclean beast, and eggs of unclean fowls or fishes. Woman's milk is lawful to be eaten, though the flesh of mankind is unlawful to be eaten. Honey of bees or of hornets is lawful &c. Though it be unlawful to eat the milk or eggs of unclean beasts & birds yet are not mē beā for eating thē; for it is said, Of their flesh shall ye not eat, (Lev. 11. 8▪) for eating the flesh they are beaten, not for eating the eggs or milk: yet for eating such they are chastised with stripes, Maim. in Forbidden meats, ch. 3. sect. 1 &c.

CHAP. XII.

1, The Law for a woman's separation & purification after childbirth; 6, with the offerings for her purifying.

$\langle$  in non-Latin alphabet  $\rangle$

AND Iehovan spake, unto Moses saying. Speak unto the sons of Israel saying; a woman, when she hath conceived seed, and borne a man-child: then she shall be unclean, seven days; according to the days of the separation for her infirmity, shall she be unclean. And in the eight day: the flesh of his superfluous-fore-skin, shall be circūcised. And she shall continue, in the bloods of her cleansing; thirty days and three days: she shall not touch any holy thing, nor come into the Sanctuary; until the days of her cleansing, be fulfilled. And if she bear a maidchild, then she shall be unclean two-weeks, as in her separation▪ and she shall continue in the bloods of her cleansing sixty days and six days. And when the days of her cleansing are fulfilled; for a son, or for a daughter: she shall bring a Lamb of his first year, for a Burnt-offering; and a young pigeon or a turtle dove, for a Sin-offering: unto the door of the tent of the Congregation, unto the Priest. And he shall offer it before Jehovah, and make-atonement for her; and she shall be cleansed, from the fountain of her bloods: This is the law of the childbearing-woman; for a male, or for a female. And if her hand find not, enough for a lamb: then she shall take two turtles, or two young pigeons; one for a Burnt-offering, and one for a Sin-offering: & the Priest shall make atonement for her, and she shall be clean.

Annotations.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Here beginneth the seven and twentieth section of the Law. See Gen. 6. 9.

[Conceived seed] or yielded seed: Hebrew, seeded: which in Genesis 1. 11. signifieth the bearing, or yielding of seed. Here also it meaneth the woman's yielding or giving of seed unto conception, (as Ibn Ezra explaineth it,) and the word born, following, signifies the bringing forth thereof into the world. The Chaldee translatheth it, conceived. From these words, yielded seed, and borne a male; the Hebrew Doctors gathered, that the woman which yieldeth seed first, beareth a male, (and if the man yieldeth it first, a female) R. Menachem on Levite. 12. and R. Solomon, on Gen. 46. 15. As the former laws, concerned uncleanne, which proceeded from without, so this and the rest that follow, concern uncleanness which cometh from within; and the cleansing of the same by the grace of God in Christ. And Sol. Rashi noteth, from a former author, that *as man was formed after all cattle and beasts and fowls, in the work of the creation, (Genesis 1.) so his Law is set down after the Law of beasts, fowls &c. (Leviticus 11.) a manchild] or, a male: so after, a maydchild, or female; as in v. 7. And this law the Hebr. say, taketh place, whether the birth be timely or untimely, living or dead, so that it hath the perfect shape; which they limit to be after forty days from the conception. If within 40. days, they hold no uncleanness of childbirth thereby, Maimonides in Issurei biah, chap. 10. sect. 1. 2. *separation] or, removal. The Hebrew Niddah, though it be sometimes generally used for any uncleanness separated or removed away, Ezra 9. 11. 2 Chronicles 29. 5. yet commonly it is used for a woman's separation for her monthly fluors; whereof see Leviticus 15. 19. &c. infirmity] or, her menstrual-sickness; for unto that is the original word appropriated: that as at such a time, she was separated from all communion with others, and from her husbands bed, and defiled whatsoever she did lie, sit upon, or touch, Leviticus 15. 20. 21. so at her childbirth she should be unclean seven days for a male, and fourteen days for a female; with as contagious a pollution as the other. And this in respect of her childbirth, though no other accident should appear: as the Hebrews canons say, *Every woman in childbirth is unclean, as a menstruous-woman; yea although there be no blood seen: Maimonides, in Issurei biah, ch. 10. s. 1. Now the uncleanness of a woman in her menstruall sickness, was for the time, as great as hers that had an issue; and defiled also by her spittle and urine; as is after noted on Levite. 15. 8. 20. &c. This uncleanness of a woman by child-birth, argueth the corruption of nature, whereby we all are children of wrath, Ephesians 2. 3. For by one man's disobedience, many are made sinners: and by the offense of one, judgment is come upon all men to condemnation, Romans 5. 19. 18. that every man should confess with David, In sin my mother conceived me. Psalm 51. 7. Among the Gentiles, this law of uncleanness was also kept, as appeareth by Iphigenia in the Poet, saying: I m 〈...〉 like the sophisms of the goddess (Diana,) who if any man touch a slain person, or a woman in childbed, or a dead corps; she driveth him from her altars, counting him as unclean: yet she her self delighteth to have 〈ϕ〉 killed in sacrifice unto her, Euripid. Iphigen. in Tauri.

V. 3. the flesh] that is, the secret-part, which ha 〈...〉 a superfluous-foreskin upon it. So by the flesh of the [unspec] foreskin, is meant, the foreskin of the flesh: as by silver of shekels, Lev. 5. 15. is meant shekels of silver, and uncleanness of man, Lev. 7. 21. is, for a man of uncleanness; and many the like. Of this foreskin, and the circumcision thereof, see the notes on Gen. 17. 11. It figured the taking away of man's hereditary sin and original uncleanness, in putting off the body of the sins of the flesh, by the circumcision of Christ, Col. 2. 11. Psal. 51. 7. And this circumcision of the child in the eight day, agreed also with the law for all other young creatures, which were not fit to be offered unto the Lord, before the eight day from the birth, Exod. 22. 30. See Gen. 17. 12.

Ver. 4. shall continue] Heb. shall sit; that is, abid: at home, and not come into God's sanctuary. So sitting is for abiding or continuing, in Lev. 8. 35. and often. in the bloods] or for the bloods: which word, in the plural number, usually signifieth uncleanness, or guiltiness, either for murcer, as in Gen. 4. 10. or for natural pollution by original sin that dwelleth in all, as in this place, and after in Lev. 15. Wherefore they that are regenerate, and new creatures in Christ, are said ⟨◇⟩ be borne, not of bloods, Job. 1. 13. of her cleansing] or, purification: or, of cleanness. The org ⟨...⟩ word signifieth both cleansing or purification, ⟨◇⟩ is interpreted by the holy Ghost in Luk. 2. 22. are also cleanness or purity: in which sense, bloods of cleanness, is by the Greek interpreters here translated, her clean (or pure) blood: and in Targum Jonathan it is expounded, and the 33. days next following, ⟨◇⟩ her blood shall be clane: for, her greatest uncleanness had an end at 7. days, v. 2. 33. days] to which add the seven days forementioned, and there are forty days: all which time she was deb•red from the holy things of the Lord. Which numb• of forty days, is often used for the time of hamiliation before God, as in the fast of Mos• Elias, and Christ our Lord: see the notes ⟨◇⟩ Genesis 7. 4. So this Law taught mortifica ⟨...⟩ and humiliation in respect of that hereditary is which by the parents is conveyed to the children, Psa. 51. 7. whereby they naturally are ⟨◇⟩ clean, 1 Cor. 7. 14. and children of wrath, Eph. 2. ⟨◇⟩ . ⟨◇⟩ . For, who can bring a clean thing, out of an unclean? not one, Job 14. 4. To show the contagiō hereof, not only the child was circumcised from the impurity of it; but the mother also cleansed by sacrifice for sin, as after in ver. 6. And this the Hebrew doctors observed, saying; No Sin-offering is brought, but only for sin, &c. and it seemeth unto me, that there is a mystery in this matter, concerning the sin of the old Serpent, (Gen. 3.) saith R. Menachem, on Levite. 12. holy thing] but for common things, and all civil affairs, she was clean, after the seven days first spoken of. The Hebrews say, All blood that appeareth of a woman in child birth, within the 33. days for a Male, and the 66. for a female, is called the blood of cleanness, (or of purification:) and there is no prohibition of a woman from her husband, if she be baptized (or washed) after 7. days for a man child, and after 14. for a woman child, &c. But if he lie with her that beareth a male, within any of the 7. days: or with her that beareth a female, in any of the 14 days: he is guilty of cutting off, Maim. in Issurei biah, c. 4. s. 5. 2. until, &c.] This law was observed by the virgin Mary, the mother of our Lord; who though he was borne without sin, (Luke 1. 35.) yet being borne under the Law, (Gal. 4. 4.) and for that it became them to fulfill all righteousness, (Mat. 3. 15.) both himself was circumcised the eight day, and his mother, when the days of her cleansing according to the Law of Moses, were fulfilled, brought him to Jerusalem, to present him to the Lord, in the Sanctuary, Luke 2. 21. 22.

Ver. 5. two weeks] The time of her uncleanness, & so for the days of her cleansing, are doubled for a female child; which continued in all fourscore days; the ground of which law, partly ariseth from nature, which causeth more superfluties, and so requireth longer time for cleansing about the female, then the male. Who so brought forth a male and a female, twins, she continued [in the bloods of her cleansing] for a female, [that is, 66. days:] If she brought forth a child neither male nor female, or a child both male and female; she continued [in her cleansing] for a male, and for a female both. So if she brought forth twins, the one a male, the other of neither kinds or of both kinds, she continued both for a male and a female. If the one were a female, and the other of neither kinds, or of both: she continued for a female only. Maimonides, in Issurei biah, ch. 10. sect. 18.

Ver. 6. fulfilled] The woman after childbirth, brings not her offering in the 40. day for a male, or in the 80. day for a female; but on the morrow, which is the 41. or the 81. and that is the day spoken of in Lev. 12 6. If these days pass over, & she bring not her atonement, she may not all that while, eat of the holy things: as Maimonides showeth, in Mechosrei capporah, ch. 1. s. 5. of his first year] Hebr. son of his year: of which phrase, see the notes on Gen. 5. 32 and Exod. 12. 5. And of these two sacrifices the Burnt-offering, and Sin-offering, see Lev. 1. and 4. There were four sorts of unclean persons, bound to bring sacrifices for their atonement, as the law showeth, and the Hebrew doctors have noted: The woman that hath an issue, and the man that hath an issue, (Lev. 15.) and the woman in childbed, and the Leper (Levite. 14.) Everyone of these, although they be cleansed, and baptized, and their Sun be set; yet are they wanting, and their cleansing is not fulfilled, so as that they may eat of the holy things, until they have brought their oblation. Maim in Mechosrei capporah, ch. 1. s. 1. a young pigeon] Hebrew, son of a dove. Baal hatturim here noteth, that in every place he mentioneth the Turtles before the pigeons, save here: the reason whereof he saith is this, because she brought but one. And if she could find a dove, she should not take a Turtle; because the fellow (of the turtle) would mourn for her mate, and would not couple her her self with another. a Sin-offering] By these two sacrifices, her full atonement was made with God; the Sin offering being an expiation for her sins; the Burnt-offering, both for that, and for her transformation by the renewing of her mind; that her body might be presented a living sacrifice unto God; which graces she received by faith in Christ, 2 Cor 5 21. Rom. 12. 1. 2. See the annotations on Lev. 1. and 4. chapters.

V. 7. atonement for her] So these sacrifices were in respect of the woman's uncleanness, not of the child, which had circumcision the sign of purification upon it, the eight day. And whereas pains in childbirth, are unto womankind a chastisement of their sin, Gen. 3. 16. God by this law, gave a means to strengthen their faith, by making atonement for their sins in Christ, whom these sacrifices, priest, and sanctuary figured. That as the marriage bed is undefiled, Hebrews 13. 4. and that state of life is without sin, 1 Corinth. 7. 28 so the children which they bring forth, are a holy seed, Ezra 9. 2. 1 Corinth. 7. 14. and a seed of God, Malac. 2. 15 and women shall be saved in childbearing; if they continue in saith, and love, and holiness, with sobrie, 1 Tim. 2. 15. fountain] that is, flux, or issue, as, the fountain of her blood, in Mark. 5. 29. is expounded, the issue of her blood, in Luk. 8. 44. The Chaldee translateth, the uncleanness of her blood: See the notes on Levite. 2. 18. Under this, all like accidents to women within that time, are comprehended: as the Hebrew cannons say, whether she bring forth one or many, yet bringeth she but one offering for them all; and this is, if she bring them forth all within the days of accomplishment, [that is, the 40. of 80. days.] As, if she bear a female, all untimely births that fall from the birth day, to the end of the 80 days, are counted with the first birth: if she bring forth twins, one after another, yet bringeth she but one oblation. Maimonides in Mechosrei capparrah, ch. 1. s. 8.

Verse 8. find not enough] that is, she be poor, and not able to buy or bring a lamb; then she shall bring two doves. See the annotations on Leviticus, 5. 7 Thus God regarded the estate of his poor, and accepteth according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not, 2 Corinth. 8. 12. And the mother of our Lord, offering at her cleansing this poor woman's sacrifice, (Luke 2. 22. 24.) it showeth us both the humility, and the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though he was rich, yet for our sakes he became poor, that we through his poverty might be rich, 2 Cor. 8. 9. One for a Burnt-offering] When Burntoffrings and Sin-offerings were brought together, the Sin-offering was first offered, Exod. 29. 14. 18. Lev. 8. 14. 18. and 9. 7. 8. 12. 15. 16. So in this place Sol. Rashi observeth from the Talmud, that howsoever the scripture nameth the Burnt-offering first, yet for offering, the Sin-offering was before the Burnt-offering.

CHAP. XIII.

1, The laws and tokens whereby the Priest is to be guided in discerning and judging the plagues of Leprosy, arising of a swelling, or of a scab, or of a bright-spot; 18, or of a bile; 24, or of a Burning. 29, Of the Leprosy in the head, or beard. 38, of the freckled spot. 40, Of the Leprosy in the bald head, or forehead. 45, How the Lepers are to be arrayed, and put out of the campe. 47, The Law for discerning the Leprosy in garment, and skins; and burning them that were unclean.

AND Jehovah spake, unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying. A man, when there shall be in the skin of his flesh, a swelling, or a scab, or a bright-spot; and it be in the skin of his flesh, like to the plague of leprosy: then he shall be brought, unto Aaron the Priest; or, unto one of his sons, the Priests. And the Priest shall see, the plague in the skin of the flesh; and if the hair in the plague, be turned white; and the sight of the plague, be deeper than the skin of his flesh; it is the plague of leprosy: and the Priest shall see him, and pronounce him unclean. And if the bright-spot, be white, in the skin of his flesh; and the sight thereof, be not deeper than the skin; and the hair thereof, be not turned white: then the Priest, shall shut up the plague, seven days. And the Priest shall see him, in the 7. day: and behold if the plague, stādeath in his eyes; and the plague spread not, in the skin; then the Priest shall shut him up, seven days, the second time. And the Priest shall see him, in the seventh day, the second time: & behold, if the plague be somewhat dark; & the plague spread not, in the skin: then the priest shall pronounce him clean, it is a scab; and he shall wash his clothes, and be clean. But if the scab spreading spread-abroad, in the skin; after [unspec \2] that he hath been seen of the Priest, for his cleansing: then he shall be seen the secondtime, of the priest. And if the priest see, that behold the scab spreadeth, in the skin: then the Priest shall pronounce him unclean, it is a leprosy.

The plague of leprosy, when it shall be in a man: then he shall be brought unto the Priest. And the Priest shall see; and behold if [unspec] a white swelling, be in the skin; and it, hath turned the hair white: and livelynes of living flesh, be in the swelling. It is an old leprosy, [unspec] in the skin of his flesh; and the Priest shall pronounce him unclean: he shall not shut him up, for he is unclean. And if the leprosy [unspec] break out abroad, in the skin; and the leprosy cover, all the skin of the plague; frō his head, even to his feet: to all the sight, of the eyes of the Priest. Then the Priest shall see; and behold, if the leprosy hath covered, [unspec] all his flesh; then he shall pronounce the plague clean: all of it, is turned white, he is clean. But in the day, that living flesh, is seen [unspec] in him; he shall be unclean. And the Priest shall see, the living flesh, and pronounce him unclean: the living flesh, it is unclean, it is a leprosy. Or when the living flesh, turn again, [unspec] and is changed into white: then he shall come unto the Priest. And the Priest shall see [unspec] him; and behold, if the plague be turned unto white: then the Priest, shall pronounce the plague clean, he is clean.

And flesh, when there shall be in it in the skin thereof, a bile: and it is healed. And there be in the place of the bile, a white swelling, or a bright-spot, white somewhat reddish: then it shall be shown, to the Priest. And if [unspec] the Priest see it; and behold the sight thereof, is lower than the skin; and the hair thereof, is turned white: then the Priest shall pronounce him unclean, it is the plague of leprosy, it is broken out in the bile. But if the [unspec] Priest see it, and behold there is no white hair therein; and it is not lower, than the skin, and it is somewhat-dark: then the Priest shall shut him up, seven days. And if it sprea [unspec] ding spread-abroad, in the skin: thē the pri ⟨...⟩ shall pronounce him unclean, it is the plague. But if the bright-spot stand in his place, ⟨◇⟩ [unspec] spread not; it is an inflammation of the bile: and the Priest, shall pronounce him clean.

Or flesh, when there shall be in the skin thereof, a burning of fire: and the livelines of the burning be, a bright-spot, white somewhat reddish, or white. Then the Priest shall see it, and behold if the hair be turned white, in the bright-spot; and the sight thereof, be deeper than the skin; it is a leprosy; ⟨◇⟩ is broken-out, in the burning: and the Prie ⟨...⟩ shall pronounce him unclean; it is the plagu• of leprosy. But if the Priest see it, and beh ⟨...⟩ there is no white hair in the bright-p ⟨...⟩ and it is no lower than the skin. ⟨◇⟩ it is somewhat dark: then the Priest sh ⟨...⟩ shut him up, seven days. And the priest sh ⟨...⟩ see him, in the seventh day: if spreading it be spread-abroad in the skin; then the priest, shall pronounce him unclean; it is the plague of leprosy. And if the bright-spot, stand in his place, and spread not in the skin, and it be somewhat-dark; it is a swelling of the burning: and the priest shall pronounce him clean; for it is, an inflammation of the burning. And man, or woman; when there shall be in him, a plague: on the head, or on the beard. Then the priest, shall see the plague; and behold if the sight thereof, be deeper than the skin; and there be in it, yellow thin hair: then the priest shall pronounce him unclean; it is a scall; it is a leprosy of the head, or of the beard. And if the priest see, the plague of the scall; and behold the sight of it, is no deeper than the skin; and there is no black hair in it: then the priest shall shut-up, the plague of the scall, seven days. And the priest, shall see the plague, in the seventh day: and behold if the scall spread not; and there be in it, no yellow hair; and the sight of the scall, be no deeper than the skin. Then he shall shave himself; but the scall shall he not shave: and the priest, shall shut up the scall, seven days, the second time. And the priest shall see the scall, in the seventh day, and behold, if the scall be not spread in the skin; and the sight thereof, be no deeper then the skin: then the priest, shall pronounce him clean; and he shall wash his clothes, and be clean.

But if the skal, spreading spread abroad, in the skin; after his cleansing: Then the priest, shall see him; & behold if the scall be spread, in the skin: the priest shall not seek, for yellow hair, he is unclean. But if the scall stand; in his eyes, and black hair be grown-up therein; the scall is healed, he is clean: and the priest, shall pronounce him clean.

And man, or woman; when there shall be in the skin of their flesh, bright-spots: white bright-spots. Then the priest shall see: and behold if in the skin of their flesh, be bright-spots, darkish white: it is a freckled-spot, that groweth in the skin, he is clean.

And a man, when his head, hath the hair fallen off: he is bald, he is clean. And if his head hath the hair fallen off, from the part towards his face: he is forehead-bald, he is clean. And if there be in the bald-head, or in the bald-forehead; a plague, white somewhat reddish: it is, a leprosy sprung-up; in his bald-head, or in his bald-forehead. And the priest shall see it; and behold if the swelling of the plague, be white somewhat reddish; in his bald-head, or in his bald-fore-head: as the sight of leprosy, in the skin of the flesh. He is a leprous man, he is unclean: the priest shall pronounce him utterly unclean; his plague is in his head. And the Leper, in whom the plague is, his cloths, shall be rent; and his head, shall be bare; and he shall put-a-covering upon his upper-lip: and he shall cry unclean, unclean. All the days, that the plague shall be in him; he shall be unclean, he is unclean: he shall dwell alone; without the camp, shall his dwelling be.

And a garment, when there shall be in it, the plague of leprosy: in a woollen garment, or in a linen garment. Either in the warp, or in the woof; of linnē, or of wolle: or in a skin, or in any work of skin. And if the plague be greenish, or reddish; in the garment, or in the skin, or in the warp, or in the woof, or in any vessel of skin; it is a plague of leprosy: and shall be seen of the priest. And the Priest, shall see the plague: and shall shut-up the plague, seven days. And he shall see the plague, on the seventh day; if the plague be spread in the garment, either in the warp or in the woof, or in a skin; of all that is made of skin, for a work: the plague, is a fretting leprosy, it is unclean. And he shall burn the garment, or the warp or the woof; in woollen, or in linen; or any vessel of skin, wherein the plague shall be: for it, is a fretting leprosy, it shall be burnt in fire. And if the Priest shall see; and behold, the plague is not spread; in the garment, or in the warp, or in the woof: or, in any vessel of skin. Then the Priest shall command, that they wash, that wherein the plague is: and he shall shut it up, seven days, the second time. And the Priest shall see, after the plague is washed; and behold, if the plague hath not changed his color, and the plague be not spread; it is unclean; thou shalt burn it in fire: it is a fret inward; in the bare inside thereof, or in the bare-outside thereof. And if the Priest see; and behold, the plague is somewhat dark, after it is washed: then he shall rend it, out of the garment, or out of the skin; or out of the warp, or out of the woof. And if it be seen still, in the garment, or in the warp, or in the woof, or in any vessel of skin; it is a plague breaking out-abroad: in fire thou shalt burn it; that wherein the plague is. And the garment, or the warp, or the woof, or any vessel of skin, which thou shalt wash; and the plague be departed from them: then it shall be washed the second-time, and shall be clean. This is the law, of the plague of leprosy, in a garment of woollen, or of linen; or in the warp, or the woof; or any vessel of skin: to pronounce it clean, or to pronounce it unclean.

Annotations.

A Man] or Woman; Hebr. Adam, used for all mankind: as in verse 29. meaning all Israelites and proselites; to whom the law following doth pertain. So the Hebrew Doctors explain it; All are defiled by the plague (of Leprosy) though it be a child of a day old, and servants. But not infidels, nor strangers that sojourn (among the Israelites:) Maimonides, treat. of Leprosy, chap. 9. Sect. 1. Here the law is given for the third sort of uncleanness, which proceedeth outwardly from the bodies, garments, or houses of men, chastised for their sins by the hand of God: for so leprosy was often laid upon men for sin, as the examples of Marie Moses sister, Num. 12. of K. Uzziah, 2 Chron. 26. and of Gehazi, 2 King. 5. do manifest. See the notes on Levite. 11. 2. and 12. 2. a swelling] or rising; in Hebrew Seeth, in Greek, Oulee, that is, scarrc. Of this he treateth in verse 9. 10. &c. and of the third and last, the Bright-spot, (with the Scab which is near unto it,) Moses speaketh in the first place. ascab,] or scurfe, named in Hebrew sapachath, that is, acleaving-thing: in Greek semasia, a signification. This the Hebr. doctors say is of two sorts, the one near unto the foresaid Swelling; the other, near to the Bright-spot after mentioned: between which two, it is therefore here placed, as an adjoynt to them both. So Chazkuni here saith, Sapachath is an adjoynt to the Swelling, and an adjoynt to the Bright-spot: it breedeth of the one and of the other. bright-spot] or sore, wheale pimple, which is white and glistening; as both the Hebrew, Greek and Chaldee words signify. Unto which the Hebrew doctors add again the scab forementioned, which groweth of the bright-spot, as the other did of the swelling: so making two principal, the Bright-spot, and the Swelling; and two secondary, the scabs arising of the former; four in all. They say; *There are four appearances (or sorts) of leprosy in the skin of the flesh, which are these: first an exceeding whiteness, then which there is no greater, which appeareth in the skin of the flesh like snow, and it is called [bahereth] a bright-spot. Secondly, a whiteness which is a little inferior to that, which appeareth like the clean wool of a lamb the first day it is borne; and it is called [Sēeth] a swelling. Thirdly, a whiteness little inferior to the swelling, which appeareth like the plaster of the wall of an house; it groweth of a bright-spot, and is called [Sapachath] a scab. Fourthly, a whiteness little inferior to the plaster of a wall, which is like the filme of an egg, and groweth of a swelling, and it is also called a scab. Maimonides, in treat. of Leprosy, chap. 1. Sect. 2. and Talmud Bab. (in Negagnim. chap. 1. Sect. 1.) accordeth hereunto. These sundry sorts of Leprie in the body, figured the many sins, which infect and defile man's soul: and for which God plagueth him, till his stripes stink, and are putrefied, because of his foolishness: Mark. 7. 21. 22. 23. Psal. 38 6. the skin] Hereupon they say, the places within the eye, and within the ear, and the nostrils, and the mouth, and the wrinkles of the belly and of the neck, and under the breast; also the armcholes, and soles of the feet, and the nails, and the bead and beard which have hair upon them; these places in a man are not defiled with a bright-spot, neither doth the plague spread within them, &c. for these are not the open skin, but some of them have no skin; other some have a skin, but covered, not open. Maimonides, treat. of Leprosy, chap. 6. Sect. 1. to the plague] that is, like to, or according to the plague: meaning white. The Greek saith absolutely, the plague. leprosy] or lepric; which word we borrow from the Greek lepra: so called of scales like fish scales, which grow upon leprous bodies: in Hebrew it is named Tsaragnath, which is a fretting-soreness, or *piercing-infectious- scabbedne <...> and in color white, as is noted on Exod. 4. 6. So the Syriac Grab, signifieth Scabbednesse: but the Chaldee Segiruth is so named of Shutting up, because the disease caused men to be secluded. The Hebrews say, The leprosy of the skin of the flesh, is that which makes the place whiter then the (other) skin, and the whiteness is as the filme of an egg, or anything superior unto it: but if the whiteness be inf <...> our to the filme of an egg, it is not the leprosy, but a freckled spot (or morphey, Levite. 13. 39.) Maimonides, in treat. of Leprosy, chap. 1. Sect. 1. And if thee be, with any of the four sorts of whiteness fore-mentioned, a red color also mixed: that is likewise a Leprosy; as is after observed, on verse. 19. 20.

Verse 3. *the Priest shall see] or, look upon, and consider it; teaching a care to discern and judge [unspec] rightly. The plagued man is sent to the Priest of God, (not to the Physician of the body,) that he might acknowledge his chastisement to be of God for sin, (the knowledge whereof is by the Law, Romans 3. 20. and 7. 7.) and might by repentance and faith in Christ, be forgiven and healed. Deuteronomy 28. 22. Job 33. 27. 28. Psalm 39. 11. 12. Numbers 12. 10.—13. Of this the Hebrew canons say, All men may lawfully see the plagues, save he himself that hath the plague: but though all may see them, yet the prono <...> , unclean or clean, depends upon the Priest. A*, when a Priest knows not to discern it; a wiseman may see it, and say unto him, pronounce him unclean; and the Priest pronounceth, unclean: say clean; and the Priest saith, clean: Shut him up, then the Priest shutteth him up: as it is written (in Deuteronomy 21. 5.) by their mouth, shall every controversy and every plague be. And though <ϕ> Priest be a child, or a fool; the wise man speaketh <ϕ> him, and he either makes him absolutely unclean, <ϕ> freeth him as clean, or shutteth him up. This is me <...> when the Priest relieth upon the words of the wise <ϕ> but if the Priest look on it, & rely upon himself <ϕ> unlawful for him to look on any plague, until a m <...> have taught him, and he be expert in all plagues (<ϕ> sores) and in the names of them; in all plagues th <...> on men, and on garments: and on houses. Ma <...> , <ϕ> of Leprie, chapter 9. Section 1. 2. and Talmud Bab. in Negagnim, chap. 2. S. 1. white] this is the certain color to discern the leprie. But the white hair which is the sign of uncleanness by leprosy, is not less then two hairs. And they must be white at the root. And must be in the body of the bright spot. And turned white by the sore, verse 10. (not white before naturally.) The whiteness of the hairs maketh unclean in any of the (four) sorts, whether it be white as snow, or white in an inferior degree. Maimonides, treat of Leprie, chap. 2. The whiteness of the hair, (as Chazkuni on this place saith,) was a sign that the flesh was weakened, the natural vigor thereof decayed: for the plague mortifieth the flesh. And so old men when they grow weak, their hairs turn white, But if the hair be white, before the plague cometh, it is no sign of uncleanness. It figured the decay of spiritual strength in the soul by the power of sin reigning therein, Hos. 7. 9. Ezek. 16. 30. Rom. 7. 5. 9. 13. sight of the plague] that is, the plague to see to, (or in sight.) deeper] in Greek, lower. Sol. Rashi expresseth it by a similitude, as the appearanee of the Sun is deeper then the shadow. The nature of the Leprie, is to fret, eat and consume the flesh, as the original name implieth, and as may be seen by Marie who was smitten with this plague, Num. 12 12. Let her not be as one dead, of whom the flesh is half consumed. And when Naaman was cured of his leprosy, his flesh is said to come again, 2 King. 5. 10. 14. This signified the nature of sin, and in special of heresy, which cateth as a canker, 2 Tim. 2. 17. pronounce him unclean] or, declare him unclean: the Hebr.*

phrase, (as also the Greek and Chaldee) is, make him unclean, or, pollute him; and in verse 6. cleanse him: which is meant of pronouncing or manifesting him so to be, with power: as Rashi expoundeth it, be shall say unto him Thou art unclean. So Ezekiel is said to destroy the city, when he pronounced or prophesied the assured destruction of it, Ezek. 43. 3. And the ministers of Christ are said to bind and to loose, to remit sins, and to retain them; when they certainly declare them so to be, by the word of God, Matth. 16. 19. and 18. 18. John. 20. 23. So here, before the Priest may make him unclean, God (by these signs) saith, it is the plague of leprosy; and so often in this chapter. Accordingly the Hebrew doctors say; A Priest that maketh unclean, him that is clean; or maketh clean, him that is unclean; doth not anything; for it is said, He is unclean, and the Priest shall make him unclean, (Levite. 13. 44.) he is clean, and the Priest shall make him clean. Maimonides, treat. of Lepr. chap. 9. Sect. 3.

Vers. 4. deeper] Any appearance of leprosy in the skin of the flesh, is not called the plague (of leprosy,) neither defileth it a man, until the appearance of the plague, be deeper then the skin of the flesh, &c. Maimonides, treat. of Lepr. chap. 1. Sect. 6. shut up the plague] in Greek, separate the plague: that is, him this hath the plague; or, the plagued man. A figurative speech, often used in the scriptures; as Charge, Ezek. 44. 11. is for such as have charge: and O thou Pride, Ier. 50. 31. for, thou proud man. If the uncircumcision keep the righteousness of the Law, Rom. 2. 26. that is, the uncircumcised man. So Dreams, for Dreamers, Ier. 27. 9. and, wickedness perverteth sin, that is, the sinner, Prov. 13. 6. and sundry the like. And that such is the meaning here, appeareth plainly by the 12. verse. This shutting up of the suspected leper, taught a care of righteous judgment according to God's law, upon certain knowledge; that nothing be judged before the time, 1 Cor. 4. 5. but to expect till God reveal sins, of which some are open before hand, going before unto judgment, and some follow after, 1 T•m. 5. 24.

Vers. 5. the Priest] This is meant of the same Priest that saw him before; because he must consider, whether the plague be as it was before, or changed. So by the Hebrew canons, The Priest that saw the plague at the first; he is to see it at the end of the first seven days, and at the end of the second seven, &c. If the Priest that saw him at the first, be dead, or sick; another Priest may look on him; but this second, may not pronounce him unclean by the spreading (of the sore) because he knoweth not whether it be spread or no. Maimonides, in Lepr. chap. 9. Sect. 4. in the seventh day] except it be the Sabbath: for so they write; On any day, they look on them that have the plague, except on the Sabbath, and festival day. If the seventh day fall out to be the Sabbath or feast; they put him off, till the day following. Maimonides, treat. of Lepr. chap. 9. Sect. 7. And he saith, in the seventh day; whereupon Chazkuni noteth, He d•h not make him tarie seven full days, to teach thee, that a part of the day, is as the whole, standeth in his eyes that is, in the Priests eyes; as the Gr•eke translath abideth before him: or, standeth in his colors, as after in verse 55. the eye is used for the color of the plague: and thus the Chaldee expoundeth it, standeth as it was. By standeth, meaning keeps at a stay: being neither whiter, nor spread wider. Therefore the man thus plagued must do nothing to the sore, whereby to change the natural state of it. So the Hebrew canons say, He that pulleth off the signs of uncleanness, either all or some; or that seareth the quick-flesh, all or part of it; or that cutteth out all the spot out of his flesh, or out of his garment, or out of his house: whether it be before he come to the Priest, or in the time of his shutting up, or when he is pronounced unclean, or when he is freed: loe he transgresseth the commandment, which saith,

(in Deut. 24. 8.) Take heed in the plague of leprosy, that thou observe diligently, to do all that the Priests the Levites shall teach you: as I commanded them, so shall ye observe to do: that he pull nothing off, nor cut it out. Maimonides in Lepr. chap. 10. Sect. 1.

Vers. 6. the seventh day the second time.] This the Hebrews expound to be the thirteenth day, from the first: because the seventh day goeth to the count of the first week, and to the count of the second week, in all plagues, whether they be upon men, or on houses, or on garments. In the days between, what signs so ever fell out, they might do nothing. Maimonides, in Lepr. chap. 9. Sect. 9. 10. And in two weeks, the case was fully tried; for pronouncing him clean or unclean; he was to be shut up no longer; so the Talmud (in Nega. chap. 3. Sect. 3.) saith, The skin of the flesh, is made unclean in two weeks, and by three signs; by white-hair, (Levite. 13. 3.) by quick flesh, (Lev. 13. 14.) & by spreading, (Lev. 13. 8.) somewhat dark] or dim, obscure; namely of a more dark color, then any of those four sorts of whiteness, which make it leprosy. The Hebrews explain it thus. There are three signs of uncleanness, in the leprie of the skin of the flesh, white hair, and quick flesh, and the spreading (of the sore) and these three are expressed in the law. As, who so hath a bright-spot grow upon him, and in it white hair, or quick flesh, when the Priest looketh on him, he shall pronounce him absolutely unclean. If there be no white hair in it, nor quick flesh: he shall shut him up seven days; and in the seventh day shall look upon him, whether any white hair be grown in the bright-spot, or any quick flesh, or that it be spread: if there be, then he is to be pronounced unclean: If no quick flesh, nor white hair be grown upon it, neither it be spread in the skin, he shall shut him up the second week. If any of these three grow upon him in that time, he shall pronounce him unclean; if not, then he is clean; and he shall set him free; for there is no shutting up, for plagues in the skin of the flesh, more then two weeks. And if after he is freed and cleansed, the plague do spread, or there grow on it white hair, or quick flesh; then he is absolutely pronounced unclean. The bright-spot, that is very white as snow, and after the shutting<sup>a</sup> up, becometh somewhat dark like the filme of an egg; or, that which was at first like the filme of an egg, and is made like (now; lae this is as it was (before:)) for the greater brightness of the appearance, is no sign of uncleanness; neither is the darkness thereof a sign of cleanness; except it be become lesser then the four sorts (forementioned,) and be made somewhat darker then the filme of an egg; so that it be made a freckled spot, and therefore clean, (Levite. 13. 39.) If it be so, what is that which is said in the Law, (Levite. 13. 6.) if the plague be somewhat dark? &c. It is, that if it be somewhat darker then the four sorts (of white,) he is clean. Likewise, if it be not somewhat darker, neither be spread, nor have white hair grow on it, nor quick flesh, behold he is clean. Maimonides, treat. of Leprie, chap. 1. Sect. 10. 11. ascab] in Hebrew, Mispachath, that is, a thing adjoining, or cleaving; Rashi saith, it is the name of a clean plague, (or sore.) wash his clothes] and how much more his body, (saith Chazkuni,) forasmuch as he stood suspected of uncleanness: and as larchi saith, because he was bound to be shut up, he is called unclean, and needeth to be washed. This signified, that even upon lesser chastisements for sin, men should reform their ways, and by the spirit of sanctification from God, (figured by waters, Ez•k. 36. 25. 26. 27.) should endeavor to perfect holiness in his fear, 2 Cor, 7. 1. Hebr. 10 22. For though the man was pronounced clean, (namely from leprosy,) yet was he to wash, and be clean: teaching that the righteous man, is not wholly clean, but needeth still to be washed; repenting, acknowledging and asking mercy of God in Christ, and amending his life;

Prov. 20. 9. 1 John. 1. 8. 9. 10. And herewith we may compare that speech of Christ; He that is washed, needeth not save to wash his feet; but is clean every whit, John 30. 10.

Vers. 8. spreadeth] The spreading maketh unclean, wheresoever it is, if it be in any of the appearances (or sorts) of the plague (of leprosy mentioned in Levite. 13. 2.) but if it be in a freckled spot (Levite. 13. 39) it is no spreading. Also, the spreading is no sign of uncleanness, until it be after the shutting up: but if at his first coming, the Priest seeth the plague that it spreadeth and goeth on, he shall not pronounce him unclean, but shut him up till the weeks end, and then look upon him again. Maimonides, treat. of Leprie, chap. 4. Sect. 1. 2. The change of natural color, the deepness of the sore, (verse 3.) and the spreading of the same, being the chief signs of leprosy▪ signified the malignity and contagion of sin, which eateth as the gangrene; 2 Tim. 2. 17. causeth no soundness in the flesh, nor peace in the bones, Psal. 38. 4. but changeth the state of man: Lam. 4. 1. 7. 8. pronounce him unclean] for the spreading signified that more corruption was still within the body, and the inward parts were not sound. And it figured the dominion of sin in our mortal bodies; which maketh men unclean in God▪ sig••• for such are free from righteousness, and not under▪ grace; Rom. 6. 12. 14. 20.

Vers. 9. The plague] to weet, the other principal plague, that cometh of a swelling, first mentioned in verse 2. but handled here in the second place.

V. 10. and livelines of living flesh] or, quicknes ( ⟨ϕ⟩ ving) [unspec] of quick flesh; by livelines meaning soundness, or recovery; as after in v. 24. & as the Gr. here expoundeth it, and in verse 15. living flesh, is in Greek sound flesh: and in other scriptures when men w ⟨...⟩ healed of their wounds or sores, they are said in Hebrew to live, that is, recover health, as in Ios. 5. 8. 2 King. 20. 7. So the Hebrews, as Sol. Rashi h••e saith, Livinesse is Saniment (that is, soundness) in other language, when some of the whiteness which ⟨ϕ⟩ within the swelling is turned like the flesh, that also ⟨ϕϕ⟩ sign of uncleanness. The Chaldee translateth it, a mark (or sign) of living flesh. The reason hereof was, that leprosy did mortify, or make the flesh dead, Numb. 12. 12. The Hebrews also here take and, for or; saying, It is not necessary that there ⟨ϕ⟩ them both, the hair, and the living flesh, but either ⟨ϕ⟩ them is a sign of uncleanness: and it is not written, white hair, with the liveliness of living flesh, &c. Maimonides, in treat. of Lepr. chap. 3. Sect. 4.

Vers. 11. It is an old leprosy] or, The leprosy, i• [unspec] waxt-old, in the skin. he is unclean] The Hebrew doctors say; The liveliness (or, quickness of flesh) is no sign of uncleanness, until it be as big ⟨ϕϕ⟩ lentile (or small vetch) square, or bigger thenso. ⟨ϕ⟩ be scattered abroad, so that the living flesh be as a g ⟨...⟩ of mustardseed in one place, and as much in another place, though all be within the bright-spot, they are ⟨ϕ⟩ to be counted together so big as a lentile, until it be i• one place, in the midst of the bright-spot, as big▪ square, or bigger then a lentile. Living flesh defileth, in any appearance (or color;) whether it be red or black, or white, yea though it be not of those four sorts of white forementioned. Neither is living flesh a sign of uncleanesse, till it be within the body of the bright-spot, &c. Maimonides, treat. of Lepr. chap. 3. Sect. 1. 2. 3.

Vers. 12. of the plague] that is, of him that ⟨ϕ⟩ [unspec] the plague: as in verse 4. So verse 13. 17. &c. to all the sight of the eyes] that is, wheresoever the Prie ⟨...⟩ looketh, with all his heed and diligence. From these words the Hebrew doctors gather, that although a Priest that had Blemishes, might look on a leper, yet he that was blind though but in one eye, or, that was dim sighted, might not look on him that had the sore. Moreover they say, they looked not on the sores, but in the day time, &c. for in all this business, (the scripture) saith, IN THE DAY; and, IN THE DAY. They looked not on them in the morning, nor in the evening, nor within any house, nor in a cloudy day, neither at noon day, &c, but in the fourth and fifth hour; (that is, at 10. and at 11. of the clock before noon,) and in the 8. and 9. hour; (that is, at two and three of the clock in the afternoon,) whether the plague were on men, or on garments, or on houses, Maimonides, in treat. of Lepr. chap. 9. sect. 5. 6. and Talmud. in Negagnim, chap. 2. sect. 2. This they observed, because in the morning and evening, the light is not clear; and at noon, the brightness dazeleth, and may cause to mistake the color.

Verse 13. pronounce the plague clean] Hebr. makecleane the plague, that is, pronounce him clean that hath the plague. Hereupon they say; Every unclean person when the leprosy breaketh out abroad over all his (body,) is clean. If there appear upon him, quick flesh, so much as a lentile, he is unclean, if again he be all covered with leprosy, he is clean. If (quick flesh appear again, he is unclean, though the quick flesh begin to appear an 100. times, &c. Maimonides, treat. of Lepr. chap. 7. sect. 5. This is explained by Moses himself, in the verses following: and the natural reason hereof seemeth to be; that when the disease is all driven out, it argueth strength and soundness in the inward parts.

Verse 15. living flesh] the Greek translatheth it sound (or whole) flesh: see verse 10. it is a leprosy] This is one of the most remarkable things in all this Law, that quick or sound flesh in the sore, should be judged leprosy, and the man unclean: whereas if the leprosy covered all his flesh, he was pronounced clean, verse 13. And hereby the Holy ghost seemeth to teach, that if we would judge ourselves, we should not be judged of the Lord, 1 Cor. 11. 31. If we confess our sins; he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness; 1 John. 1. 9. But if any quick or sound flesh▪ any part of health or life be pretended in our sinful nature, or any whit of righteousness by the works of the Law, (by which no flesh shall be justified, Galat. 2. 16.) then God pronounceth us undeane, for we cannot be justified but by the faith of Jesus Christ, Gal. 2. 16. And by grace we are saved, Eph. 2. 5. so then it is no more of works, otherwise grace is no more grace, Rom. 11. 6. and whosoever are justified by the law, are fallen from grace, Galath. 5. 4. Wherefore David, that he might find grace in the eyes of God, acknowledged there was no soundness in his flesh: Psal. 38. 4. 8.

Vers. 18. flesh] the Chaldee translatheth it a man: [unspec] and •o the word flesh often signifieth, as is noted on Gen. 6. 12. though here it may be taken properly. So in verse 24. abile] in Hebrew Shechin, which signifieth an▪ hot-ulcer, or push; which is with inflammation, yet differing from the burning after mentioned, in verse 24. for that is with fire properly; but this may proceed outwardly of a stroke with a stone, or with wood, and the like; or from inward diseases, inflammations, burning-fevers, and the like, which break out and corrupt the skin: as the Hebrew doctors do distinguish them, Maim. treat. of Leprie, chap. 5. sect. 1. Such biles, figured sins and punishments for them, Exod. 9. 9. 10. Deut. 28. 27. Rev. 16. 2. is healed] Abile, or a burning, all the while they are matterie sores, make not a man unclean at all. But if they have been fully healed, though the place have a scar, and be not like the rest of the skin, yet is it as the skin of the flesh for anything, and they become unclean by three signs, and are to be shut up as is before declared. Maimonides ibid. chap. 5. sect. 3. The healing of the bile, figured the forgiveness of sin, and release of punishment for the same: Exod. 15. 26. Matth. 13. 15. with Mark 4. 12. Psal. 41. 5.

Vers. 19. or a bright-spot] the same equity is, for the scab of the bright-spot, and the scab of the white swelling, forementioned; as the Hebrews affirm: Maimonides, in Lepr. chap. 1. sect. 4. somewhat-reddish] that hath any red color, little or much, mingled with it. Which mixed appearance, the Hebrew doctors disting•sh, and compare with the four appearances (or sorts) of white before mentioned, by this similitude, of four cups full of milk; and in the first cup there are mixed two drops of blood; in the second, four drops; in the third, eight drops; and in the fourth, sixteen drops. The mixture in the bright spot, hath the appearance of (the milk in) the fourth cup: and the mixture in the swelling, is as the appearance of the third cup. The mixture in the scab of the bright-spot, is as the appearance of the second cup: and the mixture in the Scab of the swelling, is as the appearance of the first cup. All these mixed appearances are accounted as one. Maimonides, treat. of Lepr. chap. 1. sect. 4. 5. The Greek translateth, white or somewhat-reddish, as if they were distinct. So after in verse 42.

Vers. 20. plague of leprosy] This sore, arising of a bile after it was healed, verse 18. and now turned to a worse, even to a leprosy; showeth how sins after we are healed of them, when they return, do make us worse then before: as the Apostle saith, If after they have escaped the pollutions of the world, through the knowledge of the Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, they are again entangled therein, and overcome: the latter-end is worse with them then the beginning. 2 Pet. 2. 20. Wherefore our Savior also said; Behold, thou art made whole, sin no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee. John. 5. 14.

Vers. 21. seven days] for the former, they might be shut up twice seven days, verse 5. Moses for this and the next sort, mentioneth but once. So the Hebrew doctors say, The Bile, and the Burning do make one unclean, in one week, and by two signs; by white hair, and by the spreading. [And there is for them, no shutting up, but one week.] Talmud in Negagnim, c. 3. s. 4. Maimonides, treat. of Lepr, c. 5. s. 4.

Vers. 22. it is the plague] to weet, of leprosy, as the Greek version addeth.

Vers. 23. an inflammation] or, a skarre, a print, as the Greek and Chaldee do translate it: so in verse. 28. The Hebrews explain it thus; If the Bile and the Burning begin to be quick, and to heal; and there come upon them a rind like the rind of garlic, that is, the Tsarebeth (or inflammation) of the Bile, spoken of in the Law; and the Michjath (or c•red-skar) of the Burning spoken of there, &c. Ma•money▪ treat. of Lepr. chap. 5. sect. 4. pronounce him clean] to weet, from the contagion of leprosy. By this was figured, that though the signs and marks of our former sins (which God hath healed by forgiveness) do remain in us; yet if they spread not, that is, reign not in our mortal bodies; they shall not be imputed unto us, but forgiven; for we are not under the Law, but under Grace. Rom. 6. 12. 14. 1 John. 1. 9. 10. 2 Cor. 12. 9.

Vers. 24. flesh] in Chaldee, a man: as verse 18. burning of fire] The Hebrews understand this properly, to be done with coles, embers, red-hot iron or the like: Maimonides, in Lepr. chap. 5. sect. 1. This also figured sin; as, Can one go upon▪ hotcoles, and his feet not be burnt? So he that goeth in to his neighbors wife; whosoever toucheth her, shall not be innocent; Prov. 6. 28. 29. Livelinesse] that is, living or quick flesh; meaning soundness, or the cured-skarre. This seemeth to answer unto the word healed in verse 18. and so the Greek here translateth it (hugiasthen) a healed-place; and the Chaldee (roshem) a skarre, or print; and to these, the old Latin version agreeth; and the Hebrew doctors, as is before noted on verse 23. The Hebrew also which properly signifieth Living, is used for healing or recovery, as is shown on verse 10. be] that is, become, or have in it a bright-spot. or white] that is, only white, without any red mixed: see the notes on verse 19.

Vers. 25. leprosy] The reason and signification hereof, was the same before noted on verse 20.

Verse 26. somewhat dark] not so white as any sort of leprosy; see verse 6. seven days] to weet, one seven, not moe; as is before noted on verse 21.

Vers. 28. an inflammation] or, skarre, print, character: as the Greek and Chaldee translate: see verse 23. where also the meaning hereof is shown.

Vers. 29. plague] the Greek addeth, the plague of leprosy.

Vers. 30. a scall] in Hebrew Nethek which is a name peculiar to the Leprie on the head or beard, not on other places; and it hath the name of breaking or plucking-up. And so the Greek also nameth it Thra•sma, a broken sore. The Hebrews describe it thus. The plague of the head or beard, is when the hair that is on them, falleth off by the roots, and the place of the hair remaineth bare; and this is that which is called Nethek. Maimonides, treat. of Lepr. chap. 8. sect. 1. or of the beard] this teacheth that they are counted two several, saith Maimonides, ibidem sect. 14. Haire is both an ornament to the body; and a sign of natural strength, as proceeding from kindly heat and moisture: which when they fail, and corrupt humors come in place, there breedeth a leprosy in the body: whereby God figured a like estate in the soul, destitute of the heat of his spirit, and moisture of grace, and replenished with sinful corruption.

Vers. 31. no black hair] for black hair, is a sign [unspec] of healing, verse. 37. as in nature it signifieth health, and strength of body: wherefore Christ's locks are in mystery said to be black as a Raven, Song 5. 11. Yelow hair and thin (or small,) is a sign here of the lepric, verse 30. as arguing decay and corruption of nature. And the yelow hair spoken of in this business, (as the Hebrews say,) is that which is of the color of gold; and that which is called thin (or small) is that which is short: but if it be long, though it be yellow as gold, it is no sign of uncleanness▪ Two yelow small hairs, are a sign of uncleanness; whether they be one hard by another, or one far from another; whether they be in the midst of the scall, or in the edge of it; whether they be there before the scall, or the scall be there before the yelow hair; it is a sign of uncleanness: Maimonides, in treat. of Lepr. chap. 8. sect. 4. 5. the plague] that is, him that hath the plague: as verse 4. So in verse 33.

Vers. 33. shave himself] The manner hereof, they say, was this; he shaved (the hair that grew) without the scall, and left two hairs close by it, that they might discern whether it spread or no.

Maimonides in Lepr. chap. 8. sect. 3. the second time] and no more. There is no shutting up for the scall, more the two weeks: and if after he be released, there grow yellow hair therein, or it spread; he shall then be pronounced unclean. Maimonides, in Lepr. chap. 8. sect. 2. See before on verse 6.

Vers. 37. stand in his eyes] in Chaldee, stand as it [unspec] was; to weet, at a stay, without spreading: see v. 5. So the Greek saith, if before him it abide in the place. black hair] See the notes on verse 21. The black hair, freeth not a man in skulls, unless there be at least two hairs: neither do they free a man, length be such as the top of them may bow towards the root of them: &c. If two hairs grow up, one black, and another white or yellow; one long, and another short; they free not a man. The scall that is pronounced clean, for the yellow hair, or for the spreading; if there grow black hair in it, and he be pronounced clean: although the black hair go away, yet is he clean, until other yellow hair grow in it, or it spread further gain, after the black hair is gone: for it is said, if scall is healed, he is clean. When it is healed, he is clean, although signs of uncleanness be in the place. Maimonides, treat. of Lepr. chap. 8. sect. 6. 7. 8. he is clean, and the Priest, &c.] Hereupon Sol. Iacobus noteth; Loe the unclean whom the Priest pronounced clean, is not clean. Teaching that the truth of a man's estate, discerned by the Law and word of God, (which is the truth, John. 17. 17.) made the man clean or unclean; and not the sentence of the Priest, if it swarved from the Law.

Verse 39. darkish] or somewhat-dark, as in v. 6. So that their whiteness (saith Sol. Rashi) is not strong but somewhat-dark. a freckled-spot] or morpha: in Hebrew bhak, a word not used but morpha this one place; & it hath the signification of whiteness or whiteness: and is not a leprosy, but a morpha goer of it, and near thereunto. The Greek call it Alphas, which is a kind of white-spot on the skin: for as Corn. Celsus (in l. 5. Alphas.) though it bring no danger with it, yet it is filthy, and cometh of an evil habit of the body. he is clean] to weet, from leprosy: for though it spotted the skin, yet it fretted not the flesh. God showeth him-self hereby merciful to the infirmities of his people; not esteeming every spot or deformity in them, as a malignant sin. So in the case following, verse 40. 41.

Vers. 40. hath the hair fallen-off] or, is pilled. bald] to weet, behind, from the crown towards the neck; which baldness the Hebrew calleth Karachath; and it is distinguished from the forehead-baldness called Gabbachath, verse 41. 42. which is, from the crown of the head, towards the face. And so the Hebrew doctors do explain them, as two sorts: Maimonides, treat. of Leprie. chap. 5. sect. 8. 10. The Greek also translateth them by two divers words, Phalacroma, the baldness-behind; and anaphalantoma, the baldness-before.

Verse 42. the bald head] or, baldness-behind: Heb. karachath. bald-forehead] or fore-baldness: Heb. gabbachath. somewhat reddish] the Greek translateth, or somewhat reddish: see the notes on verse 19. [unspec 43]

Verse 43. swelling] by naming this one, he comprehendeth also the other, as the bright-spot, the bile, and the burning, spoken of before in verse 2. 18. 24. all which might be upon the bald head, as well as upon the other skin of the body: and discerned as the former, saving by the hair. leprosy in the skin] or, the leprosy of the skin of the flesh. From these words, the Hebrew doctors gather the signs of this kind of leprosy, according to those forementioned; saying: The bald-head, and the bald forehead, defile by two signs, by quick flesh, and by spreading And they are shut up for them two weeks: for it is said of them, As the sight of leprosy in the skin of the flesh. And because in them there is no hair, the white hair is no sign of uncleanness in them. They make one unclean by two signs, and in two weeks, thus. If there be a bright-spot in the bald head or bald-forehead, and there be quick flesh therein, he is pronounced unclean: if there be no quick flesh, he shutteth him up, and seeth him at the seven days end; if there be grown any quick flesh on it, or if it be spread, he is pronounced unclean: if not, he shutteth him up seven days more. If then it be spread, or have quick flesh grown on it; he is pronounced unclean: if not, he is set free. If after he is freed, it spread, or quick flesh grow up; he is pronounced unclean. The bald, head, or bald-forehead, or the beard whose hair is fallen off; if there be upon them a bile, or a burning; they make a man unclean, as do the bile and the burning upon the sk•in of the flesh: for the head or beard whose hair is fallen off, is as the skin of the flesh for everything, save that they make not unclean by the white hair, &c. Maimonides, treat. of Lepr. c. 5 s. 9. 11. Of these two signs, the quick flesh, and the spreading; see the notes on v. 8. 10.

Verse 44. utterly unclean] Hebr. making-unclean he shall make him unclean; or, as the Gr. saith, shall pollute him with pollution. This signified, that if unto infirmity, be added malignity, or presumption; it maketh the sinner a spiritual leper in the sight of God.

Vers. 45. the plague is] to weet, so pronounced by the Priest: as verse. 4. rent] in sign of sorrow: see Gen. 37. 29. Levite. 10. 6. Chazkuni expoundeth it, He shall mourn for his deeds: for because of his evil deeds, the plague is come upon him. bare] or free, to weet, from cutting, that is it shall be unshorn: for to let the hair grow, was another sign of sorrow: see the notes on Gen. 41. 24. and Levite. 10. 6. O. free, from cap or bonnet, that is, as the Greek translath uncovered; so the word also signifieth, Numb. 5. 18. yet not bare altogether, but covered with a cloth, after the manner of the mourners, 2 Sam. 15. 30. The Hebrew canons say, It is come manded that the leper pronounced unclean, doc cover his head all the days that he is excluded; and put a covering on his upper lip, as a mourner; and rend his clothes; and make it known to those that pass by him, that he is unclean, Levite. 13. 45. Although it be the high priest that is a leper, he makes his head free, and rends his clothes: for an affirmative precept puts away a prohibitive. A leprous woman makes not her head free, neither rendeth her clothes, nor covereth her upper lip: but she sitteth without the city, and makes it known to others, that she is unclean. Maimonides, treat. of Lepr. chap. 10. sect. 6. 8. put a covering] or, cover, wrap over; the Chaldee addeth, cover as a mourner: for as the covering of the head, so of the mouth or lip, was a sign of sorrow and shame as is said, The S•ers shall be ashamed, &c. they shall all cover the upper-lip, for there is no answer of God. Mi•h, 3. 7. ⟨◊⟩ in Ezek. 24. 17. when he had said make no m••ning, &c. he addeth, bind the tire of thy head upon thee, and put on thy shoes upon thy feet a•d cover not the upper-lip. Hereby also was implied, as the Hebrews say, that he might not salute a•y m•n, all the days of his uncleanness, as being a mourner, Ma ⟨...⟩ ny, treat. of Lepr. chap. 10. sect. 6. the up ⟨◊⟩ lip] or, the beard of the upper lip, as Sol. Iarch ⟨...⟩ preteth it, the hair of the lips: the Greek ⟨...⟩ teth it his mouth▪ unclean unclean] ⟨...⟩ , I am, or here is one unclean: so confessing and ⟨...⟩ claiming his misery, and giving oth•rs warning, lest they be defiled by touching him. Therefore Onkelos the Chaldee paraphrast translatheth 〈◇〉, •e not ye made unclean, be not ye made unclean: and Jonathan, Avoid avoid from the unclean. This is opened in Lam. 4. 15. They cried unto them, Depart, ( 〈◇〉 am) unclean: depart, depart, touch not. Likewise in Esa. 52. 11. Depart, depart, go out from thence; unclean (it is) touch it not. The Hebrew doctors say, The Leper is the chief of all things that are most unclean, he defileth men and vessels by touching him; and earth•n vessels by the air: and defileth men by carrying of him, and defileth his bed, and his seat, &c. Maimonides, in Lepr. chap. 10. sect. 11. These rites, figured our mortification, confession of sins, and suffering of miseries for the same; •am. 4 8. 9. 10. For, we are all, as an unclean person; Esa. 64. 6. and David acknowledged himself to be a Leprous sinner, in Psalm 51. where he maketh confession of his misdeeds, and desireth to be purged with hyssop, as were the Lepers, Levite. 14. 4. And from Solomon's words in 2 Chron. 6. 29. when everyone shall know his own plague and his own grief: Baal hattu 〈...〉 inferreth, that at first it is needful that a man know his plague, and be cleansed from it by repentance, before he pray.

Vers. 46. dwel] or sit alone, as the Greek translatheth separated, from other, clean men's society. So King Azarias being a leper, dwelt in a several house, 2 King. 15. 5. And Marie stricken with leprosy, was shut out of the campe, Num. 12. 14. as all lepers were to be, Num. 5. 2. So that dwelling alone, debarreth him not from conversing with other lepers, but with the clean only. By the Hebrew canons, If a leper came into any house, all that was in the house, was unclean, both men and vessels, although he touched them not. If he were standing under a tree, and a clean person passed under that tree, he became unclean. If he came into a Synagogue, they made for him a distinct room apart, ten handbreadths high, and and four cubits broad, and he came in first, and went out last; that his situation might be by himself alone, and he might not stand among the people, and defile them. Maimonides, treat. of Leprie, c. 10. s. 12. The Lepers were thus to be secluded, that they defiled not their camps, in the midst whereof the Lord dwelled, Num. 5. 3. figuring the putting of polluting sinners out of the Church, lest others by them, be leavened and defiled, 1 Cor. 5. 6. 7. 13. Heb. 12. 15. and the abstaining from familiarity with them; 1 Cor. 5. 11. that they might be ashamed and humbled for their offenses, 2 Thes. 3. 14. Lam. 1. 1. 8. and 3. 1. 28. &c. The Hebrew doctors also, have thus understood these figures; they say; When a man considereth this thing, he will be abashed and ashamed for his iniquity: for every iniquity, is a plague & a blemish in his soul. &c. And as it is written of the Leper, his clothes shall be rent, and he shall put a covering on his upper-lip, and shall cry unclean, unclean, and it is said, he shall dwell alone, without the campe, shall his dwelling be: so the pollution which is in the soul, and removeth far from the holiness that is on high, that causeth the body beneath to be likewise removed far from the campe of Israel: And if a man turn by repentance, to cleanse his spots, by receiving chastisements upon him; he is cleansed from his leprosy; otherwise, his leprosy cleaveth to his soul; and in this world and in the world to come he is removed far from all the Campe that is on high, until he be made clean. R Elias, in Sepher Reshith ch•chmah, treat. of the Fear of God: c. 9. These ordinances for lepers, shown also the effect of the Law in sinners, which driveth them from the communion of God and his people: till by repentance and faith they come unto Christ, who then will touch and heal them, as Matth. 8. 2. 3. & 11. 28. As for the Law, it leaveth them in their uncleanness, and to mourn for the same: but means to heal them it showeth none; that grace was reserved for Christ to give, Matth. 11. 5. and 8. 16. 17.

Vers. 47. woollen garment] Hebr. in a garment of wool, or in a garment of flax. These things the Hebrew doctors understand strictly, of the wool of sheep, and of flax only, not of hempe or the like: saying, No garments are made unclean by plagues (or spots) but garments of wool and of flax only; and all vessels (or instruments) of skin, &c. Camels hair and sheep's wool, that are sp•n (or twisted) one with another, if the most part be of camels hair, it is not made unclean by plagues; but if the most part be of sheep: wool, it is made unclean: or if half to half, it is made unclean. And the same law is for flax and hempe one with another. And if the warp be flax, and the woof hempe; or the warp hempe, and the woof flax: it is not made unclean by plagues. Likewise if the warp, or the woof be flax, or wool, and the residue, goats hair, or the like, it is not made unclean. Maimonides, treat. of Leprie, chap. 13. sect. 1. 3. and Talmud Bab. in Negagnim. chap. 10. sect. 2. The Law, which shown no way to cure the Leper, but left him in his uncleanness, sorrow and solitary estate: proceedeth here to show the contagion of this sickness, how it defileth not only the bodies of men, and separateth them from the campe of God and his people; but polluteth also their garments and instruments, so making them unfit for any use, save for the fire, verse 52. Hereby the nature of sin was signified, and the increase of the strength thereof by the Law.

Vers. 48. woof] so named of weaving in: the Hebrew word, properly signifieth mixture; because the woof is mixed with and woven into the warp or threads that run along. These are thus distinguished, because if the plague appear in the warp only, the woof is clean: or if it appear in the woof only, the warp is clean. Maimonides, in Lepr. chap. 13. sect. 9. Moreover they say, Garments that are died (or coloured) are not defiled by plagues; whether they be died by the hand of man, or by the hand of God; unless they be white. If the warp of a garment be died, and the woof white; or the woof died, and the warp white: the whole goeth after that which appeareth. A garment that hath many pieces sowed on; some died, and some white: if there appear a plague in the white, they shut it up: if it abide two weeks it is all unclean, and to be burnt. If it be all died, and there be but one small white piece in it, & there appear a plague thereon; he shutteth it up: if it continue so two weeks, it shall be burnt. Ibidem chap. 12. sect. 10. 13. of linen] Heb. of flax and of wool. work of skin] that is, any vessel, or instrument made of skin, for any work or use; as is after explained in verse 51. 52. Here the Hebrew doctors except the skins of the creatures in the sea, that they receive no uncleanness by plagues. But if anything that liveth on or groweth out of the land, be joined unto them, though it be but a thread of wool or of flax, or of other skin of beasts, and so any vessel be made of them; they are made unclean by plagues. Talmud in Negagnim: chap. 10. sect. 1. Maim. in Lepr. chap. 13. sect. 5.

Vers. 49 greenish] or very green: and so after, very [unspec] red. The Hebrews say, Three signs of uncleanness are in garments; greenness, redness, and spreading. Greenesse, is such a color as is in green herbs, which is very much green. And the red, is very much red, like fair-crimson. And for both these colors, they shut up the garment: and if it abide in this color, two weeks, they pronounce it unclean, and burn it. Likewise if <ϕ> spread, they pronounce it unclean, and burn it. As, if in a garment there appear a green spot, or a red, they shut it up 7. days: and in the seventh, he looketh <ϕϕ> > ; if it be spread, he pronounceth it unclean, and burneth all the garment. And if it abide in the color, b•• sp•ad not; or if it be spread, but be dimmor then the <ϕ> <...> lours wherein it was shut up: or if the color be gr <...> e more red, or more green, but not spread; they <ϕ> the spotted place, and shut it up seven days more. And in the end of those 7. days, which is the 13. day, he ⟨...⟩ eth if it be dimmer in color the third time, then is he bound to wash it, and it is clean. And if the color be changed from that it was; as if it was green, and is ⟨ϕ⟩, or was red, and is become green: he rendeth ⟨ϕ⟩ the spotted place, and burneth that which is rent ⟨ϕ⟩; and soweth a piece into the rent place: and the residue of the garment is free, and washed all over the second time, and is clean. But if it abide in the color wherein it was shut up at the first; he pronounceth it unclean, and burneth it all. A garment out of which the spot is rent, at the end of the second week; if any spot come again into it, it is burnt. Likewise if the spot spread in a garment, after it is freed; it is burnt. Maim. treat. of Leprosy, chap. 12. sect. 1. 2. 4.

Vers. 50. shall shut up] in Greek, shall separate the plague; meaning the thing that hath the plague of Leprosy on it: see verse. 4.

Vers. 51. fretting] or rankling: this word is not used, but in this case of leprosy, and in Ezek. 28. 24. where it is applied to a pricking or rankling briar. The Greek translatheth it a continuing leprosy, the Chaldee a diminishing; because that which fretteth, both continueth long, and wasteth the thing wherein it is. So in chap. 14. 44. it is unclean] it is one of the main unclean things, and as the Hebrews write, it maketh unclean by touching it, or by bearing it, or by coming in where it is. As, a leprous garment, or warp, or woof, or any vessel of skin plagued (with leprosy:) if but so much as an olive of them come into a clean house; all that is in the house, is made unclean, both men and vessels, and are all made principal unclean things, &c. The leprous thing is like unto the dead, as it is said, Let her not be as one dead, Num. 12. 12. How doth the dead (defile?) by so much as an olive: so these things also, by so much as an olive. Maim. in Lepr. chap. 13. sect. 13. 14.

Vers. 52. in woollen] Hebr. in wool, or in flax; that is, made of wool or of flax. This burning of leprous garments, signified the abomination which all should have of sin; for the consuming and abolishing of it, and of all instruments and monuments thereof: as by comparing scriptures for some particular evils, may be gathered. See Deut. 7. 25. Esa. 30. 22. Jude verse 23. Act. 19. 19.

Vers. 54. command, that they wash] the commandment, is by the Priest; the washing, by any man: as Baal haturim here observeth.

Vers. 55. his color] Hebrew, his eye: the color is so called, because it is discerned by the eye: so in Numb. 11. 7. Ezek. 1. 16. and 8. 2. fret-inward] or, a deep-fret, that diminisheth and consumeth it: the Chaldee translatheth it, a breaking: the Greek thus, it is confirmed, (or fast-settled) in the garment, or in the warp, or in the woof. bare-inside] Hebrew, the fore-baldness thereof, or in the hinder-baldness thereof. The words before used in verse 42. for the baldness of the head before or behind, are here applied to the garment; which when the wool or stuff is eaten off in the outside or in the inner, with the fretting leprosy; is thereupon called bald. The Greek translatheth them the warp and the woof; as before is noted: the Chaldee, in the worn (or old) part thereof, or in the new part thereof: and so other the Hebrew doctors explain it, saying, Karachath, is the old-worn places: and gabbachath is the new. Maim. treat. of Lepr., c. 12. s. 9.

Vers. 56. rend it] rend the place of the plague, out of the garment, and burn it. saith Sol. Rashi. But if it were still seen in the garment after this, then the whole garment was burnt; v. 57.

Ver. 57. a plague breaking out-abroad] or, a spreading (as the Chaldee saith an increasing) leprosy. In Greek, a flourishing leprosy.

Vers. 58. washed the second time] Chazkuni explaineth it, the second time, for to cleanse it, and the first time, for to put away the plague of it. These legal washings were carnal ordinances, imposed on them, until the time of reformation, Hebrew. 9. 10. but our washing is by the blood and spirit of Christ, whereby he hath washed us from our sins, Revel. 1. 5. so that we draw near unto God, with a true heart, and full assurance of faith; having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water, Heb. 10. 22. and cleansing ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God, (2 Corinth. 7. 1.) in us may be fulfilled that which is written, These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes, and made them white, in the blood of the Lamb. Rev. 7. 14.

AND Iehovan spake, unto Moses saying. This shall be, the law of the Leper; in the day, of his cleansing: that he shall be brought, unto the Priest. And the Priest shall go forth, out of the campe: and the Priest shall see; and behold, if the plague of leprosy be healed, in the leper. Then the Priest shall command, and he shall take for him that is to be cleansed, two birds alive, and clean: and Cedar wood, and scarlet, and yzop. And the Priest shall command; & he shall kill, one of the birds: in an earthen vessel, over living water. As for the living bird, he shall take it; and the Cedar wood, and the scarlet, and the yzop: and shall dip them, and the living bird, in the blood of the bird that was killed; over the living water. And he shall sprinkle, upon him that is to be cleansed from the leprosy, seven times: and shall make him clean; and shall let go the living bird, upon the face of the field. And he that is to be cleansed, shall wash his clothes, and shave off all his hair; and wash himself in water, that he may be clean; and after, he shall come into the campe: and shall tarry, abroad out of his tent, seven days. And it shall be, in the seventh day, he shall shave off all his hair; his head and his beard, and his eye-brows; even all his hair, he shall shave off: and he shall wash his clothes; and he shall wash his flesh in water, and he shall be clean. And in the eighth day, he shall take two he-lambs, perfect; and one ewe-lamb, of the first year, perfect: and three tenth-deals, of fine-flower for a Meat-offering, mingled with oil; and one Log of oil. And the Priest that maketh him clean, shall present the man that is to be made-clean, and those things: before Jehovah; at the door, of the Tent of the congregation. And the Priest shall take, one he-lamb; and offer him, for a Trespass-offering, and the Log of oil: and he shall wave them, for a Wave-offering, before Jehovah. And he shall kill the he-lamb, in the place where he shall kill the Sin-offering, and the Burnt-offering, in the place of holiness: for as the Sin-offering, so the Trespass offering is the Priests; it is holy of holies. And the Priest shall take, of the blood of the Trespass-offering; and the Priest shall put it, upon the tip of the right ear, of him that is to be cleansed: and upon the thumb, of his right hand; and upon the great toe, of his right foot. And the Priest shall take, of the Log of oil: and pour it, upon the Priests palm of the left hand. And the Priest shall dip, his right finger; in the oil, that is on the palm of his left hand: and shall sprinkle of the oil with his finger, seven times before Jehovah. And of the rest of the oil, that is on the palm of his hand; shall the Priest put, upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleansed; and upon the thumb, of his right hand; and upon the great-toe, of his right foot: upon, the blood of the Trespass-offering. And the remnant, of the oil that is on the Priests palm of the hand; he shall put, upon the head of him that is to be cleansed: and the Priest, shall make-atonement for him, before Jehovah. And the Priest shall make, the Sin-offering; and make-atonement, for him that is to be cleansed, from his uncleanness: and after, he shall kill the Burnt-offering. And the Priest shall offer-up, the Burnt-offering and the Meat offering, upon the Altar: and the Priest, shall make-atonement for him, and he shall be clean.

And if he be poor; and his hand attain it not: then he shall take one he-lamb for a Trespass-offering, for a waving, to make atonement for him: and one tenth-deal of fine-flower, mingled with oil for a Meat offering, and a Log of oil. And two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons; which his hand can attain: and the one shall be a Sin offering; and the other, a Burnt-offering. And he shall bring them, in the eight day, for his cleansing, unto the Priest: unto the door, of the Tent of the congregation, before Jehovah. And the Priest shall take, the he-lamb of the Trespass-offering, and the Leg of oil: and the Priest shall wave them, for a wave-offering before Jehovah. And he shall kill, the he-lamb of the Trespass-offering and the Priest shall take, of the blood of the Trespass-offering: and put it, upon the tip of the right ear, of him that is to be cleansed and upon the thumb, of his right hand; and upon the great toe, of his right foot. And of the oil, shall the Priest pour; upon the Priests palm of the left hand. And the Priest shall sprinkle, with his right finger; of the oil, that is in his left hand: seven times, before Jehovah. And the Priest shall put, of the oil, that is on the palm of his hand: upon the tip of the right ear, of him that is to be cleansed; and upon the thumb, of his right hand; and upon the great-toe, of his right foot: upon the place, of the blood of the Trespass-offering. And the remnant, of the oil, which is on the Priests palm of the hand; he shall put, upon the head of him that is to be cleansed: to make-atonement for him, before Jehovah. And he shall make the one, of the Turtle-doves; or of the young pigeons: of that which his hand can attain. That which his hand can attain, the one for a Sin-offering, and the other for a Burnt-offering, with the Meat-offering: and the Priest shall make-atonement, for him that is to be cleansed, before Jehovah. This is the law, of him in whom is the plague of leprosy: whose hand cannot attain, to his cle <...> sing.

And Jehovah spake, unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying. When ye be come, into the land of Canaan; which I give unto you, for a possession: and I put, the plague of leprosy; in a house, of the land of your possession. Then he shall come, who ‹◊› the house is; and tell the Priest, saying: as it went the plague, appeareth to me in the house. And the Priest shall command, and they shall empty the house; before the Priest go-in, to see the plague; that all which is in the house, be not made-unclean: and afterward; the Priest shall go in, to see the house. And he shall see the plague; and behold if the plague, be in the walls of the house; with hollow strakes, greenish; or reddish: and the sight of them, be lower then the wall. Then the Priest, shall go out of the house, to the door of the house: and shut-up the house, seven days. And the Priest shall return, in the seventh day: and shall see, and behold, if the plague be spread, in the walls of the house. Then the Priest, shall command; and they shall take-away, the stones; in which, the plague is: and cast them, into (a place) without the city; into an unclean place. And he shall cause the house, to be scraped within, round-about: and they shall poureout, the dust which they have scraped off; in (a place) without the city; in an unclean place. And they shall take, other stones; and put them in the place of those stones: and he shall take, other dust, and shall plaster the house. And if the plague return, and breakout in the house; after, that he hath taken-away the stones: and after he hath scraped the house, and after it is plastered. Then the Priest, shall come; and shall see, and behold, if the plague be spread, in the house: it is, a fretting leprosy in the house, it is unclean. And he shall break-down the house; the stones of it, and the timber of it; and all the dust of the house: and he shall carry them forth, to (a place) without the city; to an unclean place. And he that cometh, into the house; all the days, that he hath shut it up: he shall be unclean, until the evening. And he that lieth in the house; shall wash his clothes: and he that eateth in the house, shall wash his clothes. And if the Priest, coming, shall come in; and see, and behold the plague hath not spread, in the house; after, the house was plastered: then the Priest, shall pronounce the house clean; because, the plague is healed. And he shall take, to purify the house, two birds: and Cedar wood, and scarlet, and hyssop. And he shall kill; the one bird: in an earthen vessel, over living water. And he shall take the Cedar [unspec] wood, and the hyssop, and the scarlet, and the living bird: and dip them, in the blood of the killed bird; and in the living water: and he shall sprinkle the house, seven times. And he shall parifie the house, with the blood of the bird; and with the living water: and with the living bird, and with the Cedar wood, and with the hyssop, and with the scarlet. And he shall let-go the living bird, out of the city, upon the face of the field: and shall make-atonement for the house, and it shall be clean. This is the law; for every plague of leprosy, and scall. And for the leprosy of a garment, and of an house. And for a swelling, and for a scab; and for a bright-spot. To teach, in the day of the unclean; and in the day of the clean: this is the law, of Leprosy.

Annotations.

‹ in non-Latin alphabet › Here beginneth the 28. section or lecture of the Law, called in Hebrew Metsorangh, that is, the Leper. See Gen. 6. 9.

THat he shall be brought] The leper dwelt without the host, and in the day of his cleansing, he was brought to the utmost part of the host; (and in ages following to the gates of Jerusalem,) and the Priest went out thither to meet him, and performed certain rites for him, and after that, he came into the host or city, and so by degrees into the Sanctuary, as after is explained. And this coming to the Priest, was requisite for every leper, though he were never so well healed: wherefore Christ said to him whom he had cured, Go show thyself to the Priest, and offer the gift that Moses commanded: Matth. 8. 4.

Vers. 3. be healed] The Priest healed it not, but looked upon it when it was healed, and directed and assisted the patient in duties of thankfulness to God, who is both the striker and the healer, Deut. 32. 39. Exod. 15. 26. Neither doth the Law, send the Leper to the Physician, or prescribe salves or medicines to cure him; but leaveth him unto the work of God's grace, which should after be fully manifested in Christ, who himself took our infirmities, and bare our sicknesses, Matth. 8. 16. 17. And the rites and sacrifices following, which were a profession of thanks unto God in Christ, closely taught them this: but the Gospel declareth the way of curing to be by faith, as unto the Samaritan that was healed of his leprosy, Christ said, Thy faith hath made thee whole, Luke 17. 19. which faith, causeth Lepers, though they stand a far off, to lift up their voices, and cry unto Jesus for mercy, Luk. 17. 12. 13. who sendeth his word, and healeth them, and delivereth them from their corruptions, Psal. 107. 20. Matth. 10. 7. 8. For, being moved with compassion, he putteth forth his hand, toucheth and speaketh; and immediately the leprosy departeth, Mark. 1. 41. 42. and so healeth he the souls of sinners, that come unto him. The Heb. say. Leprosy is the finger of God, therefore it is unlawful to endeavor to heal it, &c. the only healing of it, is by the hand of the Priest that maketh atonement; for, by mercy, atonement is made for iniquity; (Prov. 16. 6.) even as uncleanness, which is not done away but by water. R. Menachem on Levite. 13. This being the judgment of the Jews themselves, the Lepers whom Christ healed, were a good testimony against them, that he was the son of God; Matth. 8. 4. and by that and other like works, he declared himself to be he that should come, Matth. 11. 3. 4. 5. And he is the Priest, who cleanseth us all leprous sinners, and bringeth us into the true Sanctuary, being washed, sanctified, and justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God; 1 Cor. 6. 11.

Vers. 4. and he shall take] the Greek saith, and they shall take, speaking indefinitely, of the leper or any of his friends, that might procure these things for his cleansing. birds] whether doves or turtles, commonly used in sacrifices (which are called birds in Gen. 15. 9. 10.) or any other clean fowls; for the scripture determineth them not otherwise, then that they must be clean; such as all are, save those excepted, in Lev. 11. 13. &c. and all that are clean for meat, are called birds, in Deut. 14. 11. The Hebrew canons say of these, they must be free birds, that is, such as are not tame, or any man's own, but at liberty to fly from place to place: and as God saith, he shall take them for him; so they expound it, they must be taken in the name of cleansing of leprosy, that is, designed for that purpose only. Maimonides, in treat. of Lepr. chap. 11. sect. 1. These two birds, of which one was killed, the other let go alive; were to figure out Christ, who should be killed for our offenses, and rise again for our justification, Rom. 4. 25. The like was figured by the two goats, on expiation day, Levite. 16. Cedar wood] or, a Cedar stick; which the Hebrews say was to be a cubit (that is, a foot and an half) long, and so thick as the square foot of a bed. Maimonides, ibidem: and Talmud. Bab. in Negagnim, chap. 14. sect. 6. Cedar wood rotteth not; the pitch that runneth out of it, is said to keep dead bodies from corrupting, but corrupteth living bodies; and it us good against the Leprosy, and other foul ulcers: Pliny hist.

lib. 24. cap. 5. and Dioscorides, l. 1.  $\langle\phi\rangle$  . 89. scarlet] this the Jews say was wool died in scarlet or crimson color: (and so the Apostle in another like case, calleth it scarlet wool, Heb. 9. 19) and there was to be of it a shekel weight: (which weighed 320. grains of barley:) Maimonides ibidem. This scarlet color resembled Christ's blood; and the essicacie thereof in the soul, restoring the natural lively color and vigor; which the pale white leprosy of sin had done away. hyssop] or, hyssop: whereof see the notes on Exod. 12. 22. This was for length, not to be less then an hand-breadth, and (they say) it might not be Greek hyssop, nor Roman hyssop, nor wild hyssop, nor any other sort that was surnamed by the place, but the common hyssop that grew in gardens. Talmud in Negagnim, chap. 14. sect. 6. These two plants, were the greatest and the smallest that grew: and so the Cedar is opposed to the bysope, 1 King. 4. 33. The Cedar that will not rot, figured incorruption and immortality; and the Cedar is used to signify Christ him-self, in Ezek. 17. 22. 23. The hyssop, of sweet savor, was used to sprinkle with and cleanse from sin: see Psal. 51. 9. And the Cedar wood, or the hyssop, that had the bark pilled off, was unlawful: faith Maimonides, treat. of Lepr. chap. 11. sect. 1.

Verse 5. and he shall kill] in Greek, and they shall kill; meaning some man. Chazkuni saith, The commandment was by the Priest, and the killing, by any man. earthen vessel] the Hebrew doctors say, by tradition, it was to be a new earthen cup. It figured the baseness and infirmity of the Ministers of the Gospel, 2 Cor. 4. 7. See further in Num. 5. 17. living water] that is, spring water, as the Chaldee translateth it; called living, because of the continual motion. See the notes on Gen. 26. 19. And thus Christ expoundeth living water, to be a well of water springing up unto eternal life, John. 4. 10. 14. The Rabbin's here say, it might not be water that had been used about any business, nor salt water, nor water that had been melted (or warmed) nor of waters that lie [or fail, as in Jeremiah 15. 18. that is, whose course or spring doth cease at any time;] nor rain water, but living water, which always springeth and ceaseth not: R. Sampson, comment, in Talmud, in Negagnim. c. 14. And that of this water, there was a quarter of a Log, put into a new earthen vessel. That quarter was as much as an egg and a half: see the notes on Exod. 30. 24. They killed the fairest of the two birds, (though they were as much as might be, of equal bigness and price) over the water in the earthen vessel, and wrung it so that the blood might be discerned in the water; and then they digged and buried the bird there before the. Maimonides treat. of Lepr. chap. 11. sect. 1. And Chazkuni noteth, that the living water was mixed with the blood, because the blood of it self was un enough to dip the cedar, scarlet and hyssop in.

Vers. 6. dip them, and the living bird] He bound together the hyssop and the cedar, with the scarlet (wool) wound up lengthwise, and about them he put the tops of the wings and tip of the tail of the living bird, and dipped them four, in the water and blood that was in the vessel, and sprinkled seven times upon the hand of the Leper, [and some say, on his forehead] and so let the b•• loose. Maimonides ibidem. This manner, of cleansing the leper, figured the cleansing of us sinners by Christ; who (as the killed bird) was put to death in the flesh, but (as the living bird,) quickened by the spirit, 1 Pet. 3. 18. For though he was crucified through weakness, yet he liveth by the power of God, 2 Cor. 13. 4. who came, not by water only, but by water and blood, 1 John. 5. 6. whose blood (sprinkled) purgeth our conscience from dead works to serve the living God, Heb. 9. 14. and 12. 24. But we have this treasure  $\langle\phi\rangle$  earthen vessels: that the excellency of the power, may be of God, and not of us, 2 Cor. 4. 7. By the Hebrew doctors opinion the mixing of the blood of the bird and of living water, signified judgment and mercy joined together. R. Menachem on Levite. 14.

Vers. 7. seven times] signifying hereby a f <...> cleansing; for seven is a perfect number, see the notes on Lev. 4. 6. So Naaman the Leper, washed himself seven times in Jordan, 2 King. 5. 10. 14. And David praying to be cleansed of his spiritual leprosy, saith, wash me thoroughly from mine iniquity, Psal. 51. make him clean] that is, pronounce him clean; or by these rites cleanse him: the Greek translath, and he shall be clean. let go] or, <...> se, and send away. The like was done with the two goats on atonement day; the one was killed, the other let go into the wilderness; Levite. 16. 7.—10. These figured the deliverance of Christ from death, and of all such as are cleansed from their sins by his blood: for he bare our griefs, and carried our sorrows (or sicknesses;) Esa. 53. 4. Matth. 8. 17. And Solomon likeneth the escaping of the curse, to the flying away of a bird, Prov. 26. 2. Chazkuni maketh this comparison, that the Leper had sitten as a bird solitary on the house top, and was <ϕ> and restrained from conversing with other men; but now was permitted to come among his fellows; even as the bird had been bound in the hands of men; but now was let go, and set free to go among her fellows. the face of the field] that is, the open field: like that phrase in Genes. 1. 20. on the face of the firmament. The Greek translath it, into the field. Hence the Hebrew doctors say, he that letteth the bird loose, may not turn his face towards the sea, nor to the city, nor to the wilderness: for it is said (in Levite. 1453.) out of the city, into the face of the field. If when he lets it go, it comes again: he shall let it go again, though it be an hundred times. Moreover they say; the Cedar wood, and hyssop, and scarlet, with which one leper was cleansed; he may with them cleanse other lepers: and so the bird that is let go, he may cleanse other lepers with it, after it hath been sent away; and it is lawful to be eaten. But the bird that was killed, is unlawful to be used for anything; and who so eateth ought thereof transgresseth. Maimonides, treat. of Lepr. chap. 11. sect. 1. 7. These legal ordinances, led the people unto Christ; for, if the blood of birds, and water, with cedar, hyssop and scarlet, sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh: how much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot unto God, purge the conscience from dead works, to serve the living God? Heb. 9. 13. 14.

Vers. 8. all his hair] on every part of his body: so the Hebrews say, he must cause the rasour to pass ever all his flesh that is seen, even his secret parts, and the hair all over his body: Maimonides ibidem. The hair naturally springeth of hot & gross matter or fume, and argueth strength of nature: so in the Leprous and unclean, the hair signified the strength of uncleanness, which was to be cut off: for it is needful to beat down the power of uncleanness, which aboundeth in him; saith R. Menachem, on Levite. 14. So at the consecration of the Levites, they were to cause a rasour to pass over all their flesh, Numb. 8. 7. and Sampson when he lost his hair, lost his strength, Judge. 16. 17. And God threatening to weaken the state of his people, useth this similitude of shaving them with a rasour; Esa. 7. 20. Contrariwise, the Nazirite, whiles he was to be holy unto the Lord, by his vow, no rasour might come upon his head: Num. 6. 5. that he may be clean] or, and he shall be clean, to weet, in part, or in the end, after the performing of these and the rites following; for he was not clean all at once, but by degrees; and was to be shaven again seven days after, verse 9. Therefore the Jews explain it thus, he shall be clean from polluting by coming in, and from polluting his bed and seat. Maimonides, treat. of Lepr. chap. 11. sect. 1. This figured the endeavor which God's people should have to cleanse themselves, that they may be again received of the Lord, when they have perfected holiness in his fear; 2 Cor. 7. 1. And every man that hath this hope in him, purifieth himself, even as he is pure: 1 John. 3. 3. out of his tent] and so as the Greek translatheth, out of his house; for Tents are often used for houses, or dwelling places, Ios. 22. 4. Deut. 33. 18. 1 Sam. 13. 2. 1 King. 8. 66. and from these words the Hebrews gather, that it was unlawful for him to company with his wife in bed, these 7. days. Maim. ibidem, and Talmud in Negagnim. chap. 14. sect. 2.

Vers. 9. all his hair] In the seventh day, the Priest shall shave him the second time, as at the first. Both times when he shaveth him, it must not be but with a rasour; if he shave him not with a rasour, and if he leave but two hairs, he hath not done anything. And none may shave him, but a Priest. And if there be left but two hairs, at the first shaving, and he shave them off the second time; it serveth him but for one shaving only, and that is, for the first. The killing of the bird, and the shaving, and the sprinkling; are to be done by day: and all his other works, either by day or by night. These are to be done by men; and all the other works; either by men or by women. These, by Priests, and all other works, either by Priests or (other) Israelites. Maimonides, treat. of Lepr. chap. 11. sect. 2. 3. 5. wash his clothes] as being yet unclean: whereupon the Hebrews gather, All these seven days (to weet, from his first shaving,) he is yet one of the chief unclean persons, defiling men, and vessels by touching, not by bearing; for it is said, in the seventh day he shall wash his clothes, &c. to teach that he had made his clothes unclean, &c. and whatsoever defileth clothes, defileth men. Maim. ibid. The washing of the Lepers garments was to signify that the spirit of uncleanness should be put away from him: saith R. Menachem, on Levite. 14. shall be clean] from defiling other men: and loe he is as other unclean in the day they are washed, and may eat of the tithes; and when his sun is set, he may eat of the heave-offering; and when he brings his atonement, he may eat of the holy things. Maim. ibidem. And Talmud in Negagnim. chap. 14. sect. 3. where this is added, there are found three cleansings of the Leper, and three of the women in childbed.

Vers. 10. two he lambs] one for a Trespass-offering, verse 13. 14. & the other for a Burnt-offering: v. 19. 20. For both these sacrifices must be males: see the notes on Levite. 1. 3. and 5. 18. perfect] that is, as the Greek translatheth unblemished. See the notes on Exod. 12. 5. and Lev. 1. 3. of the first year] Hebr. daughter of her year: which the Greek translatheth a yeereling: but it must not be more then a year old: see the notes on Exod. 12. 5. and Genesis 5. 32. This ewe-lamb was for a Sin-offering, verse 19. Levite. 4. 32. three tenth deals] to weet, of an Ephah or Bushel; (as is expressed in Numb. 28. 5.) that is, three Omers or Pottles: an Omer for every of the three sacrifices forementioned. log] or half pinte: the log, is an Hebrew measure, containing so much as six hennes eggs; as is noted on Exod. 30. 24. The Greek calleth it •••yle, which was a measure of about nine ounces. This Log of oil figured the measure of grace, and joy of the Spirit, bestowed upon us in our sanctification. Esa. 61. 1. Psal. 45. 8. 2 Cor. 1. 21. 22. It was, to sprinkle 7. times before the Lord, to sanctify the ear, hand, foot and head of the Leper, and for the Priests to eat the remainder.

Vers. 11. of the congregation] the Greek translatheth it, the Tent of the testimony. Herein the work of Christ our Priest, was figured: who hath sanctified and cleansed us leprous sinners, with the washing of water, by the word; that he might present us to himself. glorious. Eph. 5. 26. 27.

Vers. 12. Trespass-offering] or, guilt-offering: whereof see the notes on Levite. 5. 6. &c. It was to teach, that their atonement was to be made by the sacrifice of Christ; whose soul was made a Trespass-offering, Esa. 53. 10. wave] that is, move to and fro: see the notes on Exod. 29. 24. This ram was to be waved alive, as Sol. Rashi here noteth.

Vers. 13. where he shall kill] that is, where he useth to kill: which was on the north side of the Altar: see Levite. 1. 11. place of holiness] in Greek, the holy place, meaning the courtyard of the Sanctuary.

Vers. 14. tip of the right ear] These rites were to signify how by the blood of Christ, the ear should be sanctified to obey, the hand to work, the foot to walk in the commandments of God; and so the whole man to be renewed: 2 Cor. 7. 1. 1 Pet. 1. 14. 15. The like was done at the consecration of the Priests, whereof see Exodus 29. 20. Leviticus 8. 24. If the leper had no thumb on his right hand, or toe on his right foot, or no right ear: he was never cleansed; saith Maimonides, in Mechosrei capporah, chap. 5. sect. 1.

Vers. 15. the Priests palm] meaning either into his own, or another's Priests; for by the Hebrew canons, both were allowable: they describe the order of this cleansing thus. When a Leper is healed of his leprosy, after they have cleansed him with cedar wood, and isope, and scarlet, and the two birds, and sheved all his flesh, and baptized him; after all this, he cometh into Jerusalem, and reckoneth seven days. And in the 7. day he is shaved the second time, as at the first, and baptized, &c. And on the morrow, in the 8. day, he is baptized the second time, and afterwards they offer his offerings. And he is baptized in the women's court, in the •p•s chamber that is there. If he be not sheven in the 7. day. but in the 8. or some days after; in the day that he is sheven, he is to be baptized; and when his Sunis set, on the morrow he brings his offerings, after he is baptized the second time, as is before said. Then unto the leper, they do thus. He standeth without the court of Israel, (that is, the men's court) over against the •stern door, in the porch of the gate of Nicanor, with his face to the west. And there stand all they that <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> their atonement, in the time of their cleansing, and there they give the suspected women, the bitter waters to drink. (Numb. 5.) And the Priest takes the Lepers Trespass-offering, whiles it is alive, and waveth it, with the Log of oil, towards the east, as all wave-offerings, &c. After this, he brings the Lepers Trespass-offering unto the door, and he brings in both his hands into the court, and layeth them upon the (offering) and they kill it out of hand. And two Priests take the blood of it: the one takes it in a vessel, and sprinkleth it upon the top of the altar; and the other in his right hand, and poureth it into his left hand, and sprinkleth with the finger of his right hand: and if he do otherwise, and take it with his left hand, it is unlawful. The Priest that takes some of the blood in a vessel, carrieth and sprinkleth it upon the altar first. Afterwards the Priest that took the blood in the palm of his hand, cometh unto the leper, the Priest standing within, and the leper without. And the leper putteth in his head, and the Priest putteth of the blood that is in his hand, upon the tip of his right ear: afterward he putteth in his right hand, and he putteth of it upon the thumb of his hand; and after that, he setteth in his right foot, and he putteth of it upon his <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math>. And if he put it upon the left, it availeth not. And afterwards he offereth his sin-offering, and his burnt-offering. After that he hath put of the blood, upon his thumb and toe; the Priest taketh of the logge of oil, and poureth into the left hand of his fellow (Priest,) and if hee pour it into his own hand, it will serve. And he dippeth the finger of his right hand into the oil that is in his hand, and sprinkleth seven times towards the most holy place; every time that he sprinkleth, he dippeth his finger in the oil. Then he cometh to the leper and putteth of the oil, upon the place of the blood of the trespass-offering, to wit, on the tip of his ear, and on his thumb and toe. And the residue of the oil in his hand, he putteth on the head of him that is to be cleansed, and if he put it not, atonement is not made: and the remnant of the log of oil, is divided among the Priests. And that remnant of the log of oil, is not eaten but in the court, by the males of the Priests, as other the most holy things: and it is unlawful to eat thereof, until he hath sprinkled of it 7. times, and put of it upon the thumb and toe, &c. Maimonides, in Mechosrei capporah, chap. 4. and Talmud Bab. in Negagim, c. 14. s. 7. &c. The gate of Nicanor forementioned (whereof see the annotations on Num. 2. 27.) was the East gate between the women's court, and the court of Israel, (the men's court:) and into Israel's court, none might enter, that wanted his atonement, and the blood of the Trespass-offering, might not be carried out of the courtyard; therefore the leper stood without, in the gate, and put in his head, hand, and foot into the court of Israel, that the blood might be laid upon them.

Vers. 16. in the oil] or, of the oil; that is, taking some of it. But of, is here instead of in; as Chazkuni also noteth. before Jehovah] that is, towards the Sanctuary; as before is shown.

Vers. 17. upon the blood] that is, the same place where the blood was put; as is explained in verse 28. and so the Greek translateth here: wherefore the Hebrews say, whether he put the oil upon the blood it self, above; or put it by the bloods side; and though the blood be wiped off, it will serve the. Maimonides, in Mechosrei capp. chap. 5. sect. 1.

Vers. 18. shall make-atonement] but with this in special, no atonement was made, by the Hebrew canons, as is before noted. This putting of oil upon all these parts of the body, figured the graces of the spirit of Christ, for the sanctifying of souls as are redeemed from their sins by his blood, 1 John 2. 20. 2 Corinth. 1. 21. See the notes on Exodus 30. 26.

Ver. 19. make the Sin-offering] or, do, that is, offer the Sin-offering; a figure of Christ, made sin for us sinners, 2 Cor. 5. 21. the Burnt-offering] which figured also Christ's oblation of himself, Heb. 10. 8, 9. 10. and the reasonable service of a sanctified person, acceptable to God, Rom. 12. 1. therefore before it, the Sin-offering was made (or offered,) because reconciliation for sin, must be before any service be accepted.

Vers. 20. the Meat-offering] that of three tenth-deals of flour, verse. 10. which served both for expiation of sin, and to be a sign of sanctification, and a new creature: see the notes on Lev. 2. 1. The Hebr. doctors write (from the Law in Num. 15. 5.) that with every tenth deal of flour, there was also the fourth part of an Hin of wine; and that no sin or trespass offering save this of the Lepers, had the Meat offering and Drink offering added unto them. Maimonides in Magnaseh hakorbaneth, ch. 2. sect. 5. 6. See the annotations on Num. 15.

Ver. 21. attain it not] or, reach, get it not; the Gr. expounds it, find it not: it meaneth, want of ability. So after ver. 22. 30. 31. & Lev. 27. 8. a waving] or, wave-offering, to be waved alive, as before, in ver. 12. and after, in v. 24. 25. tenth-deal] of an Ephah; as verse 10. In this and the rest which follow, there was the same order, and rites to be used, as in the former.

Ver. 29. to make atonement] the Greek explaineth it, and the Priest shall make-atonement: so Moses wrote before, in verse. 18. See the like, noted on Gen. 2. 3. Exod. 17. 10. and elsewhere.

Vers. 30. shall make] or do; that is, shall offer. hand can attain] in Greek, as his hand hath fo•d.

V. 32. to his cleansing] that is, to the greater sacrifices, foreordained for the cleansing of lepers; none of which might be omitted, or changed, but for mere poverty. Wherefore the Hebrews write, The poor man that brings the offering of the rich; it may posse: but the rich that brings the offering of the poor, it passeth not, Talmud in Negagn. ch. 14. sect. 12. Also they say; If a rich man vow and say, the oblation of this leper be upon me; & the leper be poor: yet must be bring the offerings of the rich; because the hand of him that <...> eth, can reach unto it. And if a poor man say, the oblation of this leper be upon me; and the leper be rich: <◇> also must bring the offerings of the rich; because he <◇> voweth is bound for the offerings of the rich. Mai•o•• in Mecho•rcicapporah, ch. 5. sect. 11. By all these •ies about the cleansing of a Leper, after he was healed; God taught his people thankfulness unto himself in Christ, for whose sake, by whose dea••, resurrection and mediation, their sin (which was <...> use of their plague,) was forgiven and purged; and by whose grace and spirit, the corrup <◇> of nature is done away, and the man made a new creature, to serve the Lord in holiness. Wherefore when Christ had healed ten lepers, and but one of them turned back, and with allowed voice glorified God, and fell down on his face at (Jesus) feet, giving him thanks: then Jesus answering said; were there not ten cleansed: but where are the nine? There are not found that returned to give glory to God, save this stranger, Luk. 17. 15.—18.

Vers. 34. and I put &c.] by mentioning before, the land of Canaan, and now saying if I put (or give:) he teacheth this to be an extraordinary and supernatural plague, peculiar to that land and people; unknown in any other place: and so the Hebrew doctors do confess, that the Leprosy of garments, and of houses, is not wont to be in the world, but was a sign and miracle in Israel, to give them warning of an evil tongue, &c, Maimonides treat. of Leprie, chap. 16. sect. 10. From Mary's example in Numb. 12. they gather that leprosy is a punishment for an evil tongue. of your possession] or t•nemen: firm-hold. Hence the Hebrews gather, that Jerusalem, and (houses) without the land, were not defiled with plagues; for Jerusalem was not parted unto the tribes (of Israel:) the houses also of heathens which were in the land of Israel, were not defiled with plagues. Maimonides treat. of Leprie, ch. 14. sect. 11.

Vers. 35. as it were the plague] to weet, of leprosy: the speech is doubtful, because the sentence was to come from the Priest. Although he be a wise man, and knoweth certainly that it is the plague, he may not determine and say, The plague appeareth to me in the house; but he shall say, As it were the plague &c. saith Maim in treat. of Lepr. ch. 14. sect. 4. and Sol. Rashi on Lev. 14 35.

Ver. 36. and they shall empty] or, that they empty: which phrases are shown to be one, on Gen. 27. 4. The word empty properly signifieth to prepare, by removing all things out of sight. that all &c.] because the leprous house, was one of the most contagious things; defiling all things, as after shall appear: therefore all things were to be taken out, though stacks of wood, or of reed, as the Hebrew doctors observe, Maimonides in Lepr. ch. 14. sect. 4. And God in mercy, would thus preserve the stuff from pollution, by being removed in time.

V. 37. hollow-strakes] or deep-strakes: concavities, as the Greek translatheth the word, which is never found, but in this one place. Hence the Hebrews say; no plagues in houses do make them unclean, till the appearance of the plague be lower then the well; as it is said, hollowstrakes, that they be deep in the walls; Maimonides in Lepr. chap. 14. sect. 3. or reddish] these two colors, and the spreading ver. 39. are the three signs of leproy in houses. By the Hebrew canons, if the house were dark, they opened not the windows, to see the plague; but if the plague appeared not init, it was clean. Maimonides ibidem, ch. 14. sect. 5.

Vers. 38. to the door] there without the house, by the post of the door, the priest was to shut it up, (that is, command it to be shut up) or pronounce it unclean, or clean; and not in any other place. Maimonides ibidem, ch. 14. sect. 5. seven days] though he see the plague to be deep, greenish or reddish, and so find it all at the first, yet he shutteth it up 7. days. Maimonides ibidem. c. 15. s. 2.

Ver. 39. be spread] then the things after commanded must be done: but if not, and the plague be dim, and I need not say, if it be gone away; he scrapeth the place of the plague only, and the house is cleans. If he find that it standeth at a stay in his eyes, and is not spread, he shuts it up seven days more, and looketh on it the thirteen day; if the plague be dim, or gone away, he scrapeth the place of the plague, and maketh the house clean with the birds. And if he find that the plague is spread, at the end of the second seven days, or that it standeth at a stay in his eyes; then he pulleth out the stones, wherein the plague is, and some of the dust, carrying them out of the city, and plaistereth all the house, and shutteth it up the third seven days, and in the nineteenth day he looketh on it; if the plague come again into it, this is spreading after the plaistering, and he pulleth down all the house, If the plague return not into it, he maketh it clean with the birds. Maimonides treat<sup>a</sup> of Leprie, cha. 15. sect. 2. Thus there were three weeks for the shutting up of houses, whereas for men, or garments, there were but two weeks, and in some cases but one, as is noted on Lev. 13. 21. And so the Hebrews say, Plagues of houses, there is for them a shutting up three weeks, which are 19. days; for the seventh day is reckoned for the last of the first week, and first of the second week; and the thirteenth day is reckoned for the last of the second week, and first of the third week, ibidem. chap. 15. sect. 1. As the plague was greater, and God's judgment more se•re upon an house, then on a person or garment: so the Law requireth more care in the discerning, and longer respite before it was pronounced unclean and destroyed.

Ver. 40. and they shall take away] or, and they shall (or that they) pull out the stones. As the law speaketh here of stones, and after of wood<sup>a</sup> and dust: so the Hebrews understand these strictly, saying that No house is polluted with plagues, unless it hath four walls, and •e built on the land, of stone & of dust (or earth) and of wood. And bricks<sup>a</sup> and marble are not counted for stones. Maimonides in Leprie c. 14. sect. 6. 7. unclean place] or, place that is unclean: because of the pollution that cometh hereby: For, A house plagued with leprosy, is one of the principal unclean things; whosoever toucheth it, is made unclean Likewise▪ the stones pulled out of it, after it is shut up, or the stones, timber and dst of the house that is pulled down; all of them are of the principal inclean things; and so much ⟨ϕ⟩ an olive of them defileth a man by touching, ⟨ϕ⟩ carrying, and by coming in where it is. As, if so much as ⟨ϕ⟩ of them be brought into a clean house; all that is in the house▪ is made unclean, both men and vessels: for they all are defiled by the bringing of it in, as by ⟨ϕ⟩ ▪ and they are all unlawful for any use▪ And if they be burnt, ⟨...⟩ me made of them, even that is unlawful to be used, &c. and must all be carried out of the ⟨ϕ⟩ ••though it be a city without a wall. Maimonides, treat, of Le••, ch. 16. s. 1. On the ⟨ϕ⟩ , the ashes carried out of the Sanctuary, were laid in a clean place, Le•, 6. 11.

Ve•• •2▪ other stones] He may not bring one stone, in ⟨ϕϕ⟩ that he pulled out; nor •woe in •ead of one: but must bring two for two &c. Maim▪ ibid. c. 15. ⟨ϕ⟩ . 3.

Vers. 44. be spread] though it be but so much as two grains of barley, (for so much spreading the Hebrews hold enough to make it unclean. Maimonides in Lepr. ch. 15. sect. 2. a fretting leprosy] the Greek translatheth it a continuing, the Chaldee a diminishing leprosy: see Lev. 13. 51.

Vers. 45. he shall break] in Greek, they shall break [unspec] (or pull) down; that is, it shall be broken down. the timber] or, the sticks: all wood works. he shall carry] in Greek, they shall carry, meaning some men. The Hebrews (as Chazkuni on Lev. 14) apply the meaning of this Law, against the idolatrous houses of the Canaanites, which were commanded to be destroyed, Deut. 12. and were manifested to be such, by the plague of leprosy on them. But God speaketh of them also, after the Israelites were come in to dwell there, verse 34. so that for the idolatries and other sins of Israel, God would not only plague their bodies and garments, but their houses also, to their utter destruction. And by this severe judgment, taught men to shun all sin, and in special idolatry; and to abolish all instruments and monuments thereof, Esa. 30. 22. Maimonides in Lepr. ch. 16. maketh Leprosies to be a judgment of God against an evil tongue, and in special for lpeaking against the Prophets as did the Israelites, 2 Chron. 36. 16. which he confirmeth by the example of Marie, who for speaking against Moses the Prophet of the Lord, was smitten with this plague of leprosy, Numb. 12.

V. 46. into the house] An house shut up, defileth ⟨ϕ⟩ but (that which cometh) within the same, Lev. 14. 46. all the days that (the Priest) hath shut it ⟨ϕ⟩ ▪ it maketh a man unclean until the evening. But that which is pronounced unclean, defileth both within it and without it; for who so toucheth it on the out par<sup>s</sup> of it, is unclean; as it is written. It is a fretting lepr<sup>s</sup>ie in the house, it is unclean, Lev. 14. 44. Maimonides, in Lpr. ch. 16. sect. 2. until the evening] then ⟨ϕ⟩ evening, after that he hath washed himself, he is clean again: so Chazkuni here saith, after that he hath washed his flesh, according to the Law.

Ver. 47. wash his clothes] The lying in the house (as Chazkuni noteth) is more weighty, for he the doth so, is bound to wash his clothes; and to wash his flesh: for whosoever is bound to wash his clothes, is bounded to wash himself also, and it was not needful to repeat, he shall be unclean till evening; for who so eateth or lieth in the house, he cometh into the same, for which he was unclean till evening, verse. 46.

Vers. 48. pronounce clean] Hebrew make clean, in Greek, purify; to weet, by his words: see Lev. 13. 3.

Vers. 49. to purify] to weet, from sin: as the [unspec] word properly signifieth. For as persons were plagued with leprosy for sin, Numb. 12. 1. •0. 2 Chron. 26. 19. 20. so for the same, their garments and houses were likewise plagued: even as the Lord's house was made unclean by the sins of the people, Lev. 16. 16. See the notes on Exod. 29. 36. birds] whereof see verse. 4. &c. For the cleansing of the house, was like the cleansing of the man. The Hebrews say: They cleanse the house, as they cleanse the man forespoken of, in every point. ⟨ϕ⟩ that in the man, they sprinkle 7. times upon his ⟨ϕ⟩ ; but in the house they sprinkle seven times upon the upper dove post of the house, without: all other ⟨ϕ⟩ are alike. Maimonides, treat. of Leprie, c. 15. s. 8. This is to be understood of the cleansing with birds, cedar wood, hyssop, scarlet, and living water: but not of the other sacrifices, which the leprous man brought afterward, for the house was cleansed, & atonement made for it, without those sacrifices, verse. 53.

Vers. 54. for every plague] From hence the Hebrews say of him that judged leprosy, that he might not view the plagues until he were expert in them all, and in all their names here written. Chazkuni on Lev. 14▪ 54.

Vers. 57. in the day] that is, concerning the day: meaning, as the Greek translateth, what day he shall be unclean, and what day he shall be made clean.

CHAP. XV.

1▪ The law concerning uncleanness of men, in their issues: 4, and how they make other things and per ⟨...⟩ unclean. 13, The cleansing of them with sacrificing of doves. 16, Uncleanness by seed going from a ⟨ϕ⟩ ▪ 19, The uncleanness of women, in their issues. 28, Their cleansing by sacrifices. 31, The cause of these laws.

AND Jehovah spake, unto Moses & unto Aaron, saying. Speak ye, unto the sons of Israel; and say, unto them: Any man, when he shall have, an issue out of his flesh; his issue, it is unclean. And this shall be his uncleanness, in his issue: whether his flesh run, with his issue; or his flesh be stopped, from his issue; it is his uncleanness. Every bed, which he shall lie upon, that hath the issue, shall be unclean: and every vessel, which he shall sit upon, shall be unclean. And the man, that shall touch his bed, shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the evening. And he that sitteth, upon the vessel; which he sate upon, that hath the issue: shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the evening. And he that toucheth, the flesh of him that hath the issue, shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and he unclean until the evening. And if he that hath the issue, spit upon him [unspec] that it clean; then he shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the evening. And every saddle, which he shall ride upon, that hath the issue; shall be unclean. And every-one that toucheth, any-thing that shall be under him; shall be unclean, until the evening: and he that beareth them; shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, & be unclean until the evening. And every-one, whom he shall touch, that hath the issue; and he hath not rinsed his hands in water: he shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the evening. And the vessel of earth, which he shall touch, that hath the issue, shall be broken: and every vessel of wood; shall be rinsed in water. And when he that hath an issue, shall be cleansed of his issue: then he shall number to him self, seven days, for his cleansing, and wash his clothes: and shall bathe his flesh, in living water, and shall be clean. And in the eighth day, he shall take to him, two turtle-doves; or two young pigeons: and he shall come before Jehovah, unto the door of the Tent of the congregation; and shall give them, unto the Priest. And the Priest, shall make them; the one a Sin-offering; and the other, a Burnt-offering: and the Priest, shall make-atonement for him, before Jehovah; for his issue.

And a man, when seed of copulation, shall go-out from him: then he shall bathe in water, all his flesh, and shall be unclean until the evening. And every garment, and every skin; whereupon shall be the seed of copulation: it also shall be washed in water, and be unclean until the evening. And the woman, with whom man shall lie, with seed of copulation: they shall also bathe themselves in water; and be unclean, until the evening.

And a woman when she shall have an issue; and her issue in her flesh, be blood: she shall be in her separation, seven days; and every-one that toucheth her shall be unclean until the evening. And every-thing, which she shall lie upon, in her separation, shall be unclean: and every-thing, which she shall sit upon, shall be unclean. And every-one, that toucheth her bed: shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the evening. And every-one that toucheth, any vessel, which she shall sit upon: shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the evening. And if it be on the bed, or on the vessel which she sitteth upon, when he toucheth it: he shall be unclean, until the evening. And if a man lying shall lie with her, and her fluors be upon him; then he shall be unclean, seven days: and every bed, which he shall lie upon, shall be unclean.

And a woman, when the issue of her blood shall flow many days; out of the time of her separation; or when it shall flow, over her separation: all the days of the issue of her uncleanness, as in the days of her separation, she shall be unclean. Every bed, which she shall lie upon, all the days of her issue; it shall be unto her, as the bed of her separation: and every vessel, which she shall sit upon; shall be unclean; as the uncleanness, of her separation. And every-one that toucheth them, shall be unclean: and shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the evening. And if she be cleansed, of her issue: then she shall number to her self seven days; and after that she shall be clean. And in the eighth day, she shall take unto her two turtle-doves; or two young pigeons: and shall bring them, unto the Priest; unto the door, of the Tent of the congregation. And the Priest shall make, the one a Sinneoffring, and the other a Burnt-offering; and the Priest, shall make-atonement for her, before Jehovah; for the issue, of her uncleanness. And ye shall separate the sons of Israel, from their uncleanness: that they die not, in their uncleanness; when they make-unclean my Tabernacle, which is among them. This is the law, of him that hath an issue: and of him whose seed of copulation shall go-out from him, to makehim unclean therewith. And of her that is sick of her fluors; and of him that hath his issue running; of the male, and of the female: and of the man, which shall lie with her which is unclean.

Annotations.

AND to Aaron] the reason why he is joined with Moses, was because both of them in their places, were to look unto the sanctification of Israel: as is noted on Lev. 11. 1. And here followeth the law touching the fourth and last sort of ordinary uncleanness, which proceedeth from within the man secretly: see the annotations on Lev. 11. 2. and 12. 2. and 13. 2

Vers. 2. sons of Israel] to whom this law peculiarly did belong, for they only, their servants and all proselytes, were unclean and made others unclean by running issues. So the Hebrews say; Servants do make unclean by issues, by menstruallfluors, and by childbirth, as Israelites: but the heathens make not unclean, either by issue, fluors, or child-birth, (Lev. 15. 2.) Maimonides, in Mitamei Mishcab &c. chap. 2. sect. 10. Any man] or Every man: Hebrew, man man; which Targum Jonathan expoundeth young man or oldman. So herd herd, for every herd, Gen. 32. 16. have an issue] Hebrew, when he shall be flowing (or issuing) namely with se••, out of his flesh, that is, his secret parts; for so the flesh sometime signifieth, as is noted on Gen. 17. 13. The Greek translatheth, to whom there shall be a flowing (to weat, of seed,) out of the body. This disease the Greeks call Gonorrhoea, we in English, the running of the reins: when through infirmity of the inward parts, seed issueth against the man's will. This differeth from that seed of copulation in v. 16. So the Hebrews say, The issue spoken of in the law, is the seed that cometh by infirmity of the concavities (the spermatical parts) wherein it is gathered, and cometh not with difficulty, as the seed of copulation, nor with desire nor with pleasure, &c. Maimonides in Mechosrei capporah, ch. 2. sect. 1. his issue, it is unclean] and so the man, because of his issue, he is unclean. But the Greek and Chaldee follow the propriety of the Hebrew, saying his issue is unclean•• So the Hebrew doctors, from these words conclude, The issue of him that hath an issue, is a most unclean thing, as the man (himself) that hath the issue; for it is said, his issue is unclean: and it maketh ⟨ϕ⟩ unclean by touching, or by bearing any of it. Maimonides in Metamei mishcab &c. ch. 1. sect. 12. The like is after for his spittle, in verse. 8. As leprosy was oftentimes a punishment for sin, Num. 12. 10. 2 Chron. 26. 19. so the running issue; as David laid this imprecation on Joab for his murder, Let there not fail from the house of Iacob, one that hath an issue, or that is a Leper, &c. 2 Sam. 3. 29. And as the disease is fowl by nature, so it was a figure of sin, issuing from the corrupt nature of man, whereby we are unclean in the sight of God. And it signified in special manner, errors, heresies, false doctrines, and idolatries flowing from them, Ezek. 23. 20. and 36. 17. 18. Lam. 1. 9. 17. opposite to the true faith, religion and service of God; which proceedeth from the incorruptible seed of the word of God, and mi ⟨...⟩ sterie of the same, I am. 1. 18. 1 Pet. 2. 23. 25. 1 Cor. 4. 15.

Vers. 3. his uncleanness] namely, the man's that hath the issue. The Greek addeth, And this is ⟨ϕ⟩ law his uncleanness. his flesh] his secret parts. run] or distil, to weat, thin, and continually. ⟨ϕ⟩ Hebrew Rar, of which Rir, that is spittle, is derived 1 Sam. 21. 13. Here the Greek translateth it, Gonon, seed. be stopped from his issue] or be stopped because of his issue, or, hath made a stoppage (or obstruction,) and by this reason of the thickness, as Sol. Rashi explaineth it: so signifying two sorts of this disease. Or, if it have begun, and after a while be stopped, yet he is unclean. The Hebr. gather from hence, that there is no measure (or quantity) of the issue limited, but every whit thereof, that is discerned, maketh one unclean: Mai <...> in Mechosrei capporah, c. 2. s. 9. Howbeit, they make a difference in respect of the times, saying He <ϕ> seeth •• appearance of an issue, he is like him that hath an accident of uncleanness, (whereof see Deut. 23. 10 11.) If he see two, he hath the issue; and must co <...> 7. days, and go into living water, but i• not bound to bring an oblation. If he see three; loe he hath the issue <ϕ> pleat, and is bound to bring an oblation. And there <ϕϕ> <ϕ> between the second appearance, and the third, <ϕϕ> obl••. Maimonides ibidem sect. 6. it is <ϕ> <...> nesse] the Greek explaineth it, his un <...> esse in him.

Vers. 4. <ϕ> ] He that hath an issue, defileth his bed (and so his seat and saddle) five ways; standing, sit <ϕ> lying, hanging, leaning: and the bed defileth men seven ways▪ by standing, sitting, lying, hanging, leaning, touching, bearing. Talmud. Bab. in Zabim. ch. 2 s. 4. Which is explained thus; A thing that is made for a bed, <...> seat, or saddle, though it be under a stone; if one of them that defile the seat, stand upon the stone, or sit, or lie, or lean, or hang upon it, he is defiled. Maim. in Metamei mishcab c. 7 s. 1. vessel] or instrument: anything whatsoever. So in v. 6. and after. The Hebrews have for these things a limitation, they say, He that hath an issue defileth not the thing, till the most part of him be upon the bed, or the seat, or the saddle. Yet, if he stand upon two beds; with one foot upon one bed, and his other foot on the other; they are both of them unclean. Maim. in Metamei mishcab. c. 7. s. 3. 4. This •ig••ed the contagion of sin, which defileth men, & all the good creatures and benefits which God giveth us in this life: unto the pure, all things are pure: but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving, is nothing pure. Tit. 1. 15.

V. 5. and bathe] or wash, baptize, to weat, himself, or his flesh, as is expressed in ver. 13. 16. meaning his whole body: and so the Greek translateth, shall wash his body. The Hebrews say, Every place where it is said in the Law, of bathing the flesh, and washing the clothes of the unclean: it is not meant, but of baptizing the whole body in water. Maim. in Mikvaoth, c 1. s. 2. See after on v. 11. It figured our sanctification by Christ and his spirit, by whom we draw near to God, having hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and bodies washed with pure water, Heb. 10. 22. See also Levite. 11. 25. till the evening] that is, till that day be ended, and a new begin: till then he is not clean. See the notes on Leviticus 11. 24. 32.

Vers. 8. shall spit] The spittle of him that hath an issue is unclean, and defileth even as the issue it self, v. 2. Hereby was figured the pollution that cometh to the souls of men, by the impure doctrines which false Prophets and hetericks spit out of their mouths; 2 Pet. 2. 1. 2. 3. 1 Tim. 4. 1. 2. Tit. 1. 9. 10. 11. as may be gathered by the contrary, when Christ by spitting on men, opened and loosed the eyes, ears and tongues of the blind, deaf, and dumb; Mark. 8. 23. and 7. 33. John. 9. 6. whereby the power and efficacy of the word out of the mouth of Christ was signified. And here under the name of spittle, all excrements of the mouth and nose (except blood) are comprehended: as the Hebrew canons say; The man and woe <ϕ> that hath an issue, and the menstruous, and the woman ⟨...⟩ ildbirth; everyone of these four, are of the principal sorts of things; defiling vessels by touching, and men by touching and bearing them; and defile bed, and seat, and saddle, & all under them, and makes them most unclean. The spittle of him that hath an issue, and his seed, and his urine, every of them three are most unclean by the law; and do every whit of them defile by touching and by bearing. Loe it is said of the spittle, and if he spit upon him that is clean, (Lev. 15. 8.) and his urine, and his seed, it is impossible that there should not be some of the issue in them. Both man and woman that hath an issue, and the menstruous, and the woman in childbed, the spittle and urine of every of them is most unclean. And so every place where it is said in these passages, He that hath an issue, it implieth both him & the residue of the four. The thick spittle, excrements and water of the nose, these are as the spittle in every respect, and are generally reckned as the spittle. Maimonides in Metamei mishcab &c. c. 1. s. 1. 14. 15. 16. So in Talmud Bab. (in Zabim. c. 5. s. 7.) it is said, Who so toucheth the issue of him that hath an issue, or his spittle or his seed, or his urine, or the blood of the menstruous; he is defiled.

Vers. 9. saddle] or, thing to ride with, as the word generally signifieth. [unspec 9]

Vers. 10. under him] wherefore they say, If he that hath an issue, and a clean person sit in a boat, or on a piece of timber, or ride on a beast together; though their clothes touch not: yet they are unclean. Talmud. Bab. in Zabim, c. 3. s. 1. Likewise if it be not immediately under him, but a stone or other thing between, yet it is unclean; as is before noted, on verse 4. beareth] hereupon is that which sundry times is before mentioned, of pollution by bearing, although they touch them not. The contagion of heresy, idolatry, and other sins, was hereby shadowed: that all might be warned to keep themselves pure, or by repentance and faith in Christ to purge themselves, if they have been defiled. Matthew 7. 15. 1 John. 5. 21. 1 Tim. 5. 22. 2 Cor. 6. 17.

Vers. 11. rinsed his hands] or, washed them. Although in other cases sometimes the hands only and feet were washed, as Exod. 30. 21. yet in this case of uncleanness, as the whole man was defiled, so the whole was to be washed; and the hands here are put the part for the whole. So the Hebrews explain it, saying; that which is said of him that hath an issue, (in Lev. 15. 11.) & hath not rinsed his hands, is as if he should say, that he should baptize his whole body: and the same ordinance is for other unclean persons; so that if a man baptize himself all over, saving the tip of his little finger, he is yet in his uncleanness, &c. Behold it is said (in Levite. 11. 32.) it shall be put (or brought) into the water: so all the principal unclean persons, must be put into water. Whosoever is baptized (or washed) he must baptize all his body, when he is naked, in one place: and if he have locks of hair, he must wash all the hair of his head, for by sentence of the law, it is as his body, and any unclean that are baptized in their clothes, it will serve the turn, because the water passeth through them, and they part it not from the body: and so the menstruous woman that is baptized in her clothes, it is lawful for her to company with her husband. If there be anything that part between the body or vessel, and the water, as if clay or any like thing cleave to the flesh of man, or to a vessel, it is unclean still as it was, and the baptizing profiteth them nothing. Maimonides in Mikvaoth. ch. 1. s. 2. 7. 12. This rinsing and washing of the hands in water, figured the cleansing of the body and spirit, from all filthiness, 2 Cor. 7. 1. Heb. 10. 22. So the Apostle saith, Clense your hands, ye sinners, and purify your hearts, ye double minded, I am. 4. 8.

Vers. 12. of earth] or of potters earth, such as potbakers burn in the kiln: see the notes on Lev. 11. 33. All vessels that are unclean, are made clean by water, save vessels of potters-earth, and vessels of glass: such have no cleanness but breaking. Maim. in Mikvaoth, ch. 1. s. 3. Earthen vessels sometime signify reprobate persons, Psal. 2. 9. Jer. 19. 11. so the breaking of these might figure the destruction of ungodly men; the rinsing and scouring of other vessels, signifying the purging of repentant believing sinners, by the blood of Christ, and waters of his word and spirit. Or, if it be applied generally, as all men are earthen vessels; it figured the utter abolishing of sin & uncleanness, by death; as is shown on Lev. 11. 33. of wood] or of other strong matter, as of silver, brass, copper, and the like. About though washing of vessels, the Jews have these rules; that nothing must part the vessel, or any part of it, and the water, as pitch, clay or the like that cleaveth to the vessel: that if a vessel be turned the mouth downward and baptized, it is as if it were not baptized, because the water so comes not to all parts of it. Likewise a vessel full of any liquor (except water,) and baptized, it is as if it were not baptized. Maimonides in Mikvaoth, c. 3. s. 1. 12. 18. Unto the ordinances of the Lord for washing men and vessels that were unclean; the Pharisees after added traditions of their own, washing when they were not unclean, for, except they washed their hands oft, they did not cate; and when they came from the market, except they were baptized, they did not eat: and many other things they had received to hold, the baptising of cups, and of pots, and of brazen vessels, and of beds. For these, Christ blamed them, that they laid aside the commandment of God, and held the tradition of men: Mark. 7. 4.—8. yea so far proceeded they in their superstition, that they said; whosoever eateth without washing of his hands, he is as one that lieth with a harlot: abusing for this, that scripture in Prov. 6. 28. as R. Menachem on Deut. 8. alleged from the Talmud in Sotah.

Vers. 13. shall be cleansed] that is, healed; but the means of healing are not declared, save that by the rites and sacrifices following, God would teach thē, that his grace in Christ maketh them whole; & by the Prophet he saith, I will save you from all your uncleannesses, Ezek. 36. 29. and, from all your filthiness, and from all your idols, will I cleanse you, Ezek. 36. 25. which cleansing is shown to be, by pardoning iniquities, Jer. 33. 8. and by creating a clean heart in sinners, Psal. 51. 12. so that they come unto Christ in faith; as the woman that had an issue of blood, and had spent all her living on Physicians, but could not be healed of any; when she touched the border of Christ's garment, her issue stanch'd; and Christ said unto her, Thy faith hath made thee whole; Luke 8. 43. 44. 48. seven days for his cleansing] to try whether he be perfectly cured and clean; and to lead him in mystery unto the day of Christ, and Sabbath or rest from sin under him: for so the number seven signified; as is noted on Exodus 12. 15. Levite. 4. 7. And from hence the Hebrews gather, he must count seven clean days, and be baptized in the seventh, and bring his offering in the eighth. If he see any appearance of his issue, though it be at the end of the seventh day, after he is baptized; all that he hath done is nothing, but he must begin again to reckon seven clean days, after the day of the last appearance of his issue. Maimonides in Mechosrei capporah, ch. 3. sect. 1. bathe] or, wash his flesh, which the Greek translateth, wash his body. See verse. 5. living water] that is, as the Chaldee expoundeth it, spring (or fountain) water: whereof see the notes on Levite. 14. 5. The Hebrews explain this law thus. The man that hath an issue, is not elensed but in a fountain, for loe it is said of him, In living water: but the woman that hath an issue, and other unclean either men or vessels, are baptized though in a gathering of waters. Maimonides in Mikvaoth, c. 1. s. 5. The Pond, or gathering of water: (called in Hebrew Mikveh whereof see Levite. 11. 36.) was requisite for the cleansing of other unclean persons that needed baptising. All unclean either men or vessels, &c. were not cleansed but by baptising in waters gathered-together upon the ground. By the law they might baptize in all waters gathered together, into one place; so many as would suffice to baptize the whole body of a man. The quantity, their wise men determined to be forty Seahs of water: (the Seah was more then our English pecke, as is noted on Gen. 18. 6.) Such a pond or bath, they say, became unlawful to wash in, by change of the color of the water only; not by change of taste, or change of smell. Running waters that flow from a spring; are as the spring it self, for any matter. Standing water is not allowable for men that have the issue, nor for the Lepers, nor for the water of purification, (Numb. •9. 17.) These things and sundry the like, Maimonides hath recorded in Mikvaoth, ch. 1. s. 1. and c. 4. s. 1. and c. 7. s. 1. and ch. 19. s. 13. Among the Latins, spring and running waters, were called also living; as, Attrectare nefas, donec me flumine vivo Abluero. Virgil Aeneid. 2. This living water, figured the blood & spirit of Christ: for he hath washed us frō our sins in his own blood, Rev. 1. 5. from his throne proceedeth a pure river of water of life, into his Church, Rev. 22. 1. his mouth and Law, is a will of (water of) life, Prov. 10. 11. and 13. 14. John 4. 10. and the Spirit which they that believe in him do receive, is as rivers of living water, John 7. 38. 39. These clean waters, when God sprinkleth upon sinners, they shall be clean, Ezek. 36. 25. 27. and shall be clean] if then he washed not, he could not be clean: as by the Hebrew canons, The man or woman that hath an issue, and the mensiruous, and the woman in childbed; they are unclean forever, and do defile men and vessels, and seat and saddle, until they be baptized. Although they tarry many years, and have no appearance of their uncleanness: yet if they be not baptized, they are still in their uncleanness. Maimonides in Metamei mishcab, c. 5. s. 1. So sins that men have committed, though they do them not every day, yet the guilt of them remaineth as uncleanness upon them, till by repentance and faith they wash themselves in the blood of Christ, 2 Cor. 12. 21. 1 John. 1. 9. 10.

Ver. 14. young pigeons] Hebrew, sons of the dove: one for a Sin offering, and the other for a Burnt-offering verse. 15. The like sacrifice, the woman also was to offer, verse. 29. But the woman in childbed, brought for her offering, a Lamb for a burnt-offering, (or a dove if she were poor,) and a dove for a sin-offering, Lev. 12. 6. 8. The Leper brought for his offering, three beasts; one he Lamb for a trespass offering, one ewe Lamb for a sin-offering, and one •ee Lamb for a burnt offering, (and for poverties sake, the two later were doves,) Levite. 14. 10. &c. All these and only these sorts of unclean persons, brought offerings after their washing: others were clean by washing and sprinkling. For as the pollutions were greater, so were the expiation: to teach that our repentance, humiliation, and returning to the Lord with thanks after we have sinned and are forgiven, should be in a sort proportionable to our iniquity. shall come] so restifying his faith and thankfulness; with expectation of full cleansing by Christ from all sin.

Vers. 15. for his issue] or, from his issue: that is, from the uncleanness which he was in by reason of his issue. For as the issue was a disease with which God sometime plagued sinners, 2 Sam. 3. 29. and for which they were to be put out of the host of Israel, Numb. 5. 2. and signified the contagious sins which coming from within the man do defile him, Mark. 7. 20.—

23. so this Priest, and these sacrifices, signified Christ, (as in the beginning of this book is shown:) by whom we have atonement made by his blood for all sin, 1 John. 7. and from whom virtue proceedeth to heal us by his spirit; as it healed the woman that had a bodily issue of blood twelve year, when no Physicians could cure her, Mark 5. 25.—30. For he hath taken our infirmities, and borne our sicknesses, Matthew 8. 17.

Vers. 16. a man] Chazkuni observeth here, that this word man, excepteth a little (child,) and he is not exempted from being counted a child, until he be nine years old and a day. seed of copulation] or, the effusion of seed; the Hebrew and Greek properly signifieth the lying or bed of seed, that is, by changing the order of words, the seed of the bed, or of copulation: and it is not meant here of the issue forespoken of, nor when he lieth with a woman, whereof see verse. 18. but of the seed of the healthful; who by imagination, dream, or by any accident in the night in his sleep, may be unclean, Deut. 23. 10. Lev. 22. 4. all his flesh] that is, as the Greek translateth all his body. See the notes on verse. 5. until the evening] notwithstanding his washing, he continueth unclean, till his Sun be fet, and a new day begin: See the notes on Lev. 11. 24. 32. The Hebrews say, The seed of copulation is a principal unclean thing, defiling men and vessels (or other things) by touching: and earthen vessels by the aier; but it defileth not by bearing; neither doth be which is defiled there with, defile garments, when he hath touched it. Maimonides in Aboth Hatumoth, ch. 5. sect. 1. After in Deut. 23. 10. 11. all such were commanded out of the campe, (when Israel went out to war;) whereinto they might not come again, till they were washed and their Sun was down.

V. 17. skin] anything made of skin; see Lev. 11. 32. By these laws God teacheth us, to hate even the garments spotted by the flesh, Jude v. 23.

Vers. 18. they also shall bath] or, and they shall wash; to weet, both of them. By this we may see the reason, why the people which were to be sanctified at the giving of the Law, were to abstain from their wives, Exod. 19. 15. and why the Priest put this caution to David, if the young men have kept themselves at least from women, 1 Samuel 21. 4. For this law seemeth to imply a pollution, even in ordinary carnal copulation, which in it self was lawful, as being the ordinance of God Gen. 2. 24. But by reason of Sin, nature is so corrupted, that there is no act of generation whereto some legal pollution cleaved not; as there was also no procreation of children, but brought much more uncleanness with it, Levite. 12. both of them figuring that original and hereditarie sin, whereby we all have sinned in one man; and wherein our mothers do conceive us. Rom 5. 19. Psal. 51. 7. The Hebrew doctors say; The man and the woman that do the act of generation, both of them are unclean by the sentence of the law. And the woman is not unclean, by reason of touching the seed of copulation, (for that is not the touching which the law speaketh of,) but hoc that doth the act, is as he that seeth an accident (of uncleanness, Deut. 23. 10.) &c. Among the heathens, there remained monuments of this religion; as appeareth by that saying of the Poet: discedat ab aris, Cui tulit histerna gaudia nocte Uenus. Al. Tibull. l. 2. Eleg. 1. And another saith, Ille petit veniam, quoties non abstinet uxor Concubitus. sacris, observandis{que} dicbus. Iuvenal. Satyr. 6. Some referre this to the former case, as being spoken of the man, that had an accident of uncleanness in the night, and before he was cleansed, should company with his wife.

Vers. 19. in her flesh] the Greek saith, in her body: flesh is here meant, as in verse. 2. and blood is meant of her monthly customs. It may also be read thus, (when) blood, shall be her issue, in her flesh. Hereupon the Hebrews say, that no other thing maketh her unclean, but blood only; (as not that which made the man unclean, ver. 2. or any such like:) and that all blood maketh her unclean, though it be not come forth to the exterior parts: because it is said, in her flesh. Also, that the blood of virgins is clean, and is neither the blood of separation, nor the blood of issue; because it is not from the fountain, (whereof see Levite. 20. 18.) Maim. in Issurei biah, c. 5. sect. 6. 18. in her separation] or, in her removal, to weet, for the uncleanness of her menstrues: during which time, she was not only separated from the holy things as all other unclean persons; but separated also from her husband, Lev. 18. 19. and if they companied together, during that time, presumptuously, they were to be cut off, Levite. 20. 18. This uncleanness, was (as the rest) a figure of sin, proceeding from the fleshly and corrupt heart of man; as God himself reacheth saying, When the house of Israel, dwelt in their own land; they defiled it by their own way, and by their doings: their way was before me, as the uncleanness of  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  removed (or menstruous) woman: Ezek. 36. 17. And this was the sin of idolatry, Ier. 2. 23. 24. seven days] this was the limit•d time for the separation, or menstrues: during which space she was unclean as a separated woman, though there had but one drop of blood appeared. (Maimonides in Issurei biah. ch. 6. sect. 2.) if any appeared after this time, it was not called her separation, but her issue; whereof he speaketh after in v. 25. that toucheth her] the pollution of the menstruous, extendeth as far, as of the man that had an issue, (spoken of before, verse. 2. &c.) and as of the woman that hath an issue, (spoken of after, verse. 25. &c.) even the spittle and the urine of everyone of them is unclean, (as is before noted on v. 8.) Maimonides in Metamei mishcab, ch. 1. sect. 15. And these things figured the pollution of sin, Ezek. 36. 17. and taught to avoid all communion therewith, 2 Corinth. 6. 17. And unto a menstruous woman. Jerusalem was likened; when for her sins she was wasted, and her people captived by the Babylonians, Lam. 1. 17. Her uncleanness was upon her skirts; and she had sinned a sin: therefore she was removed: Lam. 1. 8. 9.

V. 24. lying shall lie] that is, shall at all, or by any occasionlye with her, to weet, ignorantly: for if he did it presumptuously, not only pollution but cutting off was his punishment, Lev. 20. 18. Therefore the Prophets complain of this sin; Ezek. 22. 10. her fluors] or (as before) her separation, which the Greek here translateth her uncleanness.

Vers. 25. many days] Here he passeth from the menstrues, which were natural purgations, and healthful for the body, (though legally unclean;) unto the issues, which were diseases that decayed natural strength, if they continued long; as the woman; which had it twelve years, and suffered many things of many Physicians, but all in vain, till she came to Christ, Mark. 5. 25. 26. These many days, must also be•, out of the time of her separation, or menstrues, that is, out of the seven days fore-mentioned; and by many the Hebrew doctors understand, from three upward. They say, when she seeth blood first, in the due time of her customs, then is she in her separation, all the seven days. If she see it in the eight day, then this is the blood of issue, because it is out of the time of her separation. And so all the blood that is seen in the days that are between the times of her customs, is the blood of issue. [And the space between (they say) was eleven days only] When a woman seeth blood in the days of her issue, but one day only, or two days one after another, she is said to have the lesser issue; if she see it three days one after another, she is said to have the greater issue, or issue absolutely; as it is written, when the issue of her blood shall run many days (Levite. 15. 25.) a few<sup>a</sup> are two days; many, are three. There is no difference between her that hath the greater issue, and her that hath the less, but the numbering of seven days, and the bringing of a sacrifice, (Lev. 15 28. 29.) For she that hath the greater issue, is bound to number seven clean days: but she that hath the lesser, numbereth but one only. And she which hath the greater, bringeth a sacrifice when she is cleansed. Otherwise as touching uncleanness, and restraint from companying with her husband, they are both alike. Maimonides in Issurei biah. ch. 6. sect. 2. &c. over] to weer, over the time, or after her separation, as the Greek translath: which the Hebrews explain thus; that if she see it three days next after her separation (or menstrues:) then it is an issue. As, if she see it in the eight day of her separation, and in the ninth, & in the tenth; for they are the first, second, and third of the eleven days, which are the days of the issue. Maimonides in Issurei biah. chap 6. sect. 17. These things taught the care and diligence, that all should have in looking to their life and conversation; both for the judging of th <...> , and purging by repentance, 1 Cor. 11. <◇> . <◇> Co• 7. 11.

Vers. 26. e <...> ]ny thing for the use and [unspec] service of man, <◇> called a vessel or instrument. The particulars o• <◇> pollutions, are noted before. Observe <◇> , <◇> whereas the woman thus diseased, made <...> g unclean that she touched: on•lie Christ, w••n he was touched by such a one, was <◇> by <◇> defiled; but sh• by him, and the virtue <◇> <...> eded from him, was cleansed. For he was undefiled, and separated from sinners• Heb. 7. 26. and th <...> he bare our infirmities, Isaiah 53. 4. yet continued he the Lamb without blemish, and without spot, 1 Pet. 1. 19.

Vers. 27. in water] ordinary clean water<sup>a</sup> not being restrained to living water only, which was peculiarly appointed for the man that had an issue verse. 13. and for the Leper, Levite. 14. 5. and for the water of sprinkling, Num. 19. 17.

Ver. 28. seven days] as the man also did, see before [unspec] on ver. 13. she shall be clean] having performed the rites fore-mentioned of washing and bathing in water. And this time, and the manner of cleansing, figured the time of grace in Christ, and our cleansing from sin by his blood and spirit, whereof it is prophasied, In that day there sha•• be a fountain opened to the house of David and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem for sin, and for separation for uncleanness, Zach. 13. 1.

Vers. 30. make atonement] for her sin-offering was <◇> [unspec] figure of Christ, to be offered for the forgiveness of sins, Matt. 26. 28. 2 Cor. 5. 21. and her burnt-offering, figured the same Christ, offered to make us acceptable unto God; by whom also we present our bodies and souls as holy and acceptable sacrifices, Heb. 9. 9. 12. 14. Rom. 12. 1. He is the Lord, that hath washed away the filth (or excrements) of the daughters of Zion; and purged the bloods of Jerusalem, from the midst thereof: by the spirit of judgment, and by the spirit of burning, Isaiah 4. 4.

V. 31. shall separate] or, shall religiously-separate and holyly exempt and sever them; by teaching them to understand & carefully to keep these ordinances. Le. 11. 47. The G.

Ezek. 5. 11. and 14. 11. and 22. 3. 4. and 37. 23.

AND Jehovah spake, unto Moses, after the death, of the two sons of Aaron: when they offered before Jehovah, and died. And Jehovah said unto Moses; Speak, unto Aaron thy brother; that he come not at all time, into the Holy-place; within the veil: before the Coveringmercie-seat, which is upon the ark, that he die not; for in the cloud, I will appear upon the Covering-mercy-seat. With this, shall Aaron come, into the holy-place: with a bullock a youngling of the herd, for a sin-offering, and a ram for a Burnt-offering. He shall put-on, an holy linen Coat; & linen Breeches, shall be upon his flesh; and with a linen Girdle, shall he be girded; and with a linen Miter, shall he be attired: they are garments of holiness; and he shall wash his flesh in water, and put them-on. And he shall take, of the Congregation of the sons of Israel, two goat-bucks of the goats, for a Sin-offering: and one ram, for a Burnt-offering. And Aaron shall offer, the bullock of the Sin-offering, which is for himself: and shall make-atonement for himself, and for his house. And he shall take, the two goat-bucks: and present [unspec] them before Jehovah; at the door of the Tent of the congregation. And Aaron shall give lots, upon the two goat-bucks: one lot [unspec] for Jehovah; and one lot, for the scape-goat. And Aaron shall bring near, the goat-buck; that upon which, the lot for Jehovah did [unspec] ascend: and he shall make him a Sin-offering. But the goat-buck; that upon which the lot for the Scape-goat, did ascend; shall• be presented alive, before Jehovah, to make-atonement with him: to send away him, for a Scape-goat, into the Wilderness. And Aaron shall bring-near, the bullock of the Sin-offering, which is for himself; and shall make atonement for himself, and for his house: and shall kill, the bullock of the sinoffring, which is for himself. And he shall take a censer full of coals of fire, from off the altar, before Jehovah; and his hands full of incense of sweet spices, beaten-small: and he shall bring it, within the veil. And he shall put the incense, upon the fire, before Jehovah: that the cloud of the incense, may cover the Covering-mercy-seat, which is upon the testimony, that he die not. And he shall take, of the blood of the bullock; and shall sprinkle with his finger, upon the Covering-mercy-seat, eastward: and before the Covering-mercy-seat, he shall sprinkle of the blood, with his finger, seven times. And he shall kill the goat-buck of the Sinneoffring, which is for the people; and bring his blood, within the veil: and shall do with his blood, as he did with the blood of the bullock; and sprinkle it upon the Coveringmercie-seat, and before the Covering-mercy-seat. And he shall make-atonement for the Holy-place; because of the uncleannesses, of the sons of Israel; and because of their trespasses, and a<sup>l</sup> their sins: and so shall he do, for the tent of the congregation; that dwelleth with them, in the midst of their uncleannesses. And there shall not be any man, in the Tent of the congregation; when he goeth in, to make-atonement in the Holy place, until he come-out: and he have made atonement for himself, and for his house; and for all the Church of Israel. And he shall go-out; unto the Altar, which is before Jehovah, and make-atonement for it: and shall take of the blood of the bullock, and of the blood of the goat-bucke; and put it upon the horns of the altar, round-about. And he shall sprinkle of the blood upon it, with his finger, seven times: and shall cleanse it and sanctify it; from the uncleannesses, of the sons of Israel. And he shall make an end of making-atonement for the Holy place; and the Tent of the Congregation, and the Altar: and he shall bring near the goat bucke that is alive. And Aaron shall impose, both his hands, upō the head of the live goatbuck; and shall confess over him, all the iniquities, of the sons of Israel; and all their trespasses, and all their sins: and shall put them, upon the head of the goat-bucke; and shall send him away, by the hand of a fit man into the wilderness. And the goat-bucke shall bear upon him, all their iniquities, unto a land of separation; and he shall send away the goat-bucke, into the wilderness. And Aaron shall come, into the Tent of the congregation; and shall put off the linen garmēts; which he did put on, when he went into the Holy-place; and shall leave them, there. And he shall wash his flesh with water, in the holy place; and shall put-on, his garments; and he shall come forth; and shall make his burnt offering, and the burnt-offering of the people; and make-atonement for himself, and for the people. And the fat of the Sin-offering, he shall burn upon the altar. And he that sent away the goat-bucke, for the Scape-goat; shall wash his clothes; and bathe his flesh, in water: and afterward, he shall come into the campe. And the bullock for the Sin-offering, and the goat-bucke for the Sin offering; whose blood was brought in, to make-atonement in the Holy-place, he shall carry-forth, without the campe: and they shall burn in fire, their skins and their flesh, and their dung. And he that burneth them; shall wash his clothes; and bathe his flesh, in water: and afterward, he shall come into the campe. And this shall be to you, a statute for ever: in the seventh month, in the tenth (day) of the month, ye shall afflict your souls; and shall not do, any work; the home-borne; or the stranger, that sojourneth among you. For in this day, he shall make-atonement for you, to cleanse you: from all your sins; before Jehovah, shall ye be cleansed. A Sabbath of sabbathisme, shall it be unto you; and ye shall afflict your souls: (it is) a statute, for ever. And the Priest whom he shall anoint, and whose hand he shall fill, to administer-the Priests-office in his fathers stead; he shall make-the-atonement: and shall put-on, the linen garments, the garments of holiness. And he shall make-atonement for the Sanctuary of holiness; and for the Tent of the congregation, and for the altar, shall he make-atonement: and for the Priests, and for all the people of the Church, shall he make-atonement. And this shall be to you, a statute, for ever; to make-atonement for the sons of Israel, for all their sins; once, in a year: And he did, as Jehovah commanded Moses.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Here beginneth the nine and twentieth section or Lecture of the Law: see Gen. 6. 9.

The two sons] Nadab and Abihu, Lev. 10. 1. after whose death for transgressing God's ordinances, this Law here is given, for the purging and [unspec] reconciliation of the Church unto God, one day in the year. they offered] to weat, strange fire, as the Gr. and Chaldee versions here annex; and as Moses shown before, Lev. 10. 1.

V. 2. speaking unto Aaron] God appointeth Moses to inform the Priest of his duty, and to see that he performed this service aright: so in ages following, there were appointed with the high priest, elders, of the elders of the Synedrion, which did read before him, and taught him the service of this day, and the order of it: as Maim. recordeth in Misneh, in Iom hakippurim (or Day of atonement) ch. 1. sect. 5. that he come not] or, as the Greek translatheth it, and let him not come. Of this the Apostle saith, The Priests went always into the first Tabernacle, accomplishing the services: but into the second, (went) the high priest alone, once in the year, &c. The holy Ghost this signifying, that the way into the Holies was not yet manifested, while as the first Tabernacle had yet a standing. Which was a figure, for the time then present, in which were offered both gifts and sacrifices, that could not make him that did the service perfect, as pertaining to the conscience: &c. But Christ being come, an high Priest of the good things to come; by a greater and more perfect Tabernacle, not made with hands, that is, not of this creation (or building;) neither by the blood of Goats and bullocks, but by his own blood he entered in once into the Holies, having found an eter 〈...〉 redemption. Heb. 9. 6. 7. 8. 9. 11. 12. But now we have liberty to enter into the Holies, by the blood of Jesus; by a new and living way, which he hath consecrated for us, through the veil, that is, his flesh: Heb. 10 19. 20. the Holy place] Hebrew, the holiness: which the Greek translatheth the Holy: meaning the Holy of holies, or most holy place; which the Apostle therefore calleth Holies: and showeth it to be a figure of Heaven it self, into which Christ our high Priest entered for us, Heb. 9. 12. 24. that he die not] for presuming to do that which he is not commanded, as his sons, Levite. 10. I will appear] Targum Jonathan expoundeth it, the glory of my Majesty (or presence) shall be reviled. upon the Covering-mercy-seat] Compare this with Exod. 25. 22. Because God's Majesty dwelled there, between the Cherubims; therefore the Priest might not come there, but by leave from God, and with reverence. And by this cloud, he meaneth the cloud of glory which should be upon the Mercy-seat; saith R Menachem; on Lev. 16. It may be understood of the cloud (the smoke) of the incense, whereof see v. 〈◇〉 .

Ver. 3. With this] in Greek, Thus. a youngling] Hebrew, a son of the herd: this was to be of the second year, or a two yeerling bullock, as is noted on Exod. 29. 1. And of that age, was the Ram, after mentioned. Observe, that on this day, he offered also the two Lambes, for the daily sacrifice, Numbers 28. 3. and one bullock and seven Iambes, for a Burnt-offering; and an he goat fought a Sin-offering, (besides that goat after mentioned, in verse 5.) as is expressed in Num. 29. 7. 8. 11. all which, (with other services) the high priest him-self offered this day; which on other days, might be done by other priests. The Hebrew canons lay them down thus. *In the day of the Fast, they offer the daily sacrifice in the morning and evening, according to the order of every day. And they offer more for that day, a bullock, and a ram, and seven lambs; all of them Burn-offerings. And a goat for a Sin-offering which is eaten at evening. Over and besides this, they offer a Bullock for a Sin-offering, and that is burnt, & a ram for a Burnt-offering: and these both, are for the high Priest. And the Ram which is for the Congregation, is spoken of in Lev. 16. and it is the Ram spoken of in the general addition, Num. 29. and it is called the people's Ram. And further, they bring for the Congregation, two goat bucks, the one is offered for sin, and is burnt: the other is the goat sent away. So all the beasts that are offered this day, are found to be fifteen: the two daily sacrifices, and a bullock, and two rams, and seven lambs; all of them Burnt-offerings: and two goats, for sin: the one done without, and eaten at even; the other done within, and burnt: and the high Priests bullock for Sin, and that is burnt. The service of all these 15. beasts, offered this day, is not (performed) but by the high Priest only. And if it fall out to be the Sabbath day; the sacrifice added for the Sabbath (in Num. 28. 9.) none do offer it, but the high Priest. And so the other services of this day, as the burning of the daily incense, and the trimming of the lamps; all is done by the high Priest, &c. Maimonides in Iom hakippurim, c. 1. s. 1. 2. The high Priest and his work this day, figured Christ and his work of reconciling the Church unto God, Heb. 9. 7. 8. 11. 12. and in that the high Priest performed all the services himself, it signified how Christ should by himself purge our sins, Heb. 1. 3. and shown the weakness of the legal priesthood, which served but until the time of reformation, and then should be abolished: Heb. 9. 10. and 8. 4. 5. 6. a burnt-offering] these both, were for the Priest himself, as after in verse 11. 24. Therefore the other sacrifices are not here mentioned.*

Ver. 4. holy] Hebr of holiness, the Gr. casseth it a sanctified linen Coat. This and the rest, were peculiar for this day, and for the service of this day; that is, for making atonement: the other service which was ordinary, he performed this day in his other priestly garments; as appeareth by v. 23. 24. What the high priests eight ornaments were, which he usually ware, are noted on Ex. 28. 4, &c. & the four that were for this day, are here expressed. These the Hebrews call his white garments, the other his golden garments, because some were made with gold thread woven in them. These four, were made of fixe double twisted thread; and they were of flax only, saith Maim. in the Implements of the Sanctury, c. <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> . s. 3. It figured the base estate of Christ here on earth, and how he should without worldly glory perform the work of our redemption: Isaiah 53. 2. 3. &c. but with purity, innocence and holiness. Putting on justice, and it clothed him: his judgment, was as a robe and a Miter; Job 29. 14. his flesh] in Greek, his skin: the secret parts are hereby meant: see Exodus. 28. 42. Compare herewith, Ezekiel 44. 17. 18. there these four linen garments are mentioned, and no other: and that is a mystical prophesy of the state of the Church under the gospel: where the Priests have no other attire, then for atonement or expiation day; which mystery is opened, in 2 Corinth. 5. 19. garments of holiness] in Greek, holy garments. wash his flesh] that is, as the Greek translatheth, wash all his body. Sol. Rashi here noteth, that he was charged to wash him-self every time that he changed (his garments;) and he changed them five times, &c. This washing signified his cleansing or sanctification, by repentance and faith in Christ, Hebrews 10. 22. the garments figured the justice and salvation wherewith by faith in Christ he should be clothed, Psal. 132. 9. 16. which they only that are sanctified, do put on. When the Priest put off these garments, and put on other, he washed again, verse. 24. It figured also the holiness and purity that should be in Christ himself, in whom was no sin, 1 John. 3. 5. and put them on] This was after the performance of his other morning services, which were due every day, and to be done in other garments. The order whereof is said to be this. About midnight (for the high Priest might not sleep all that night, lest any accident of uncleanness, such as is spoken of in Deut. 23. 10. should befall him,) they went about the taking away of the ashes (from the altar) and ordered the wood, &c. until at break of the day, they began to kill the daily sacrifice; then they hanged a fine-linen cloth, between the high Priest and the people. And he put off his common clothes, and washed himself, and put on the golden clothes, (those eight mentioned in Exod. 28.) and sanctified (that is, washed) his hands and his feet, and killed the daily sacrifice, and took the blood & sprinkled it on the altar. After that, he went into the holy place, and burned the incense of the morning. and trimmed the Lamps, and burned the flesh of the daily sacrifice, and the meat offering and drink offering of the same, as was done every day. After the daily sacrifice, he offered the bullock and the seven lambes, which were appointed more for that day, (Num. 29. 8.) Afterwards, he sanctified his hands & his feet, and put off his golden garments; and washed himself, and put on his white garments, and sanctified his hands and his feet, and came to his bullock, (spoken of in v. 6.) &c. Maim. in Iom hakippurim, ch. 1. s. 6. & ch. 4. s. 1. and Talmud Bab. in Ioma, ch. 3.

Ver. 5. a Sin-offering] figuring Christ, who should be a Sin-offering for his Church, 2 Cor. 5. 19. 21. and these goats, the one was killed, v. 15. the other sent away alive, v. 21. to signify, how Christ suffering for our sins, should be put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit, 1 Pet. 3. 18. The Hebrews write, that these two goats were to be alike to see to, of equal stature, and price; and to be taken both at one time. Maimonides in Iom hakipp. chap. 5. sect. 14. Burnt-offering] which was offered after the former Sin-offering, and in other garments, ver. 24. and signified (besides reconciliation,) a new and holy life, through the grace of Christ; after the purging us from our sins, Rom. 12. 1. See the notes on Lev. 1.

Vers. 6. for himself] or, which shall be his own: and so Sol. Rashi hence teacheth, that it was to be of his own, and not of the congregations: and Targum sonathan expoundeth it, of his own goods. This was the first sacrifice which was peculiar for this day, and for the work of Reconciliation: which beginning with the Priest himself, showeth the imperfection of that legal priesthood; and the impossibility thereof to bring men to God. So the Apostle teacheth, that every high Priest, was himself also compassed with infirmity; by reason whereof he ought as for the people, so for himself to offer for sins. Thus the Law, made men high Priests, which had infirmity; but the word of the oath, which was since the Law, maketh the Son (of God) who is perfected forever, Hebr. 5. 1. 2. 3. and 7. 28. and for his house] in Chaldee, for the men of his house. And hereby the Hebrews understand all the Priests: see after on verse. 11. As in all sinneofferings, they laid their hands on the head of the sacrifice, confessed their sins, and then killed it, Lev. 4. so was the order of this: which the Hebrews have declared thus. After that the Priest had washed his body, put on his white garments, and sanctified his hands and his feet; he came to his bullock, which (afterward in Solomon's Temple) stood between the porch and the Altar, with the head thereof to the south, and the face to the west; and the Priest stood eastward, with his face to the west, and laid both his hands on the head of the bullock, and confessed, saying. O God I have sinned, done iniquity and trespassed before thee, I and my house: I beseech thee O Lord make atonement now, for my sins, iniquities and trespasses which I have committed before thee, I and my house; as it is written in the law of Moses thy servant. For in this day be shall make atonement for you &c. (Lev. 16. 30) Ma• in Iom hakipp. c. 4. s. 1. and Talmud in Ioma, c. 3.

Ver. 7. present them] Hebrew, make them to stand: After the slaying of his own sin-offering, the Priest came to the North-side of the Altar, and two with him, the one called Sagan [who was the second chief priest, next in order to the high Priest,] on his right hand; and the other called Rosh beth ab, [that is, the chiese of the house of the father, or principal household, as 1 Chron. 24. 6.] on his left hand; and there the two goats were presented, with their faces to the West, and their back parts to the East. Talmud in Ioma. ch. 3. Mai. in Iom. hakip. c. 3. s. 2. at the door] that is, within the court-yard: see the notes on Lev. 8. 3

Vers. 8. give lots] that is, cast lots; the Greek translath, impose (or put lots;) The manner is said to be thus. The two lots, the one had written upon it, FOR JEHOVAH, and on the other was written, FOR A SCAPE-GOAT: and they might be of any matter, either of wood, or of stone, or of ma•tall: but the one might not be great, and the other little; the one of silver, and the other of gold; but both alike. And they were of wood: But in the second Temple they made them of gold. And they put the two lots in one vessel, which was a common vessel, and of wood; and it was called Kalphi. On the east part of the court, on the north side of the Altar, there they set the Kalphi. The goats were set with their faces towards the west, and their bind parts to the East. The high Priest came, with the Sagan (or second Priest) at his right hand, and Rosh beth ab at his left: and the two goats stood before him, the one on his right hand, the other on his left. He shook the Kalphi, and took out of it the two lots with his two bands, in the name of the two goats: & opened his hand. If the Lord's lot were in his right hand, the Sagan said to the high Priest, hold up thy right hand on high: if it were in his left, then Rosh beth ab said unto him, hold up thy left hand; and he laid the two lots on the two goats; the right on that which was at his right hand; and the left, on that which was at his left. Maimonides in Iom hakippurim, ch. 3. sect. 1. 2. 3. This casting of lots was, that the Lord (of whom the whole disposion of the lot is, Prov. 16. 33.) might show which of the two goats he would have to die, and which to live: and it figured, how the sufferings of Christ (who was to be put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit, 1 Pet. 3. 13.) should be no other then whatsoever God's hand, and his counsel determind before to be done, Act. 4. 28. for Jehovah] in Chaldee, for the name of the LORD: so after. the Scape goat] called in Hebrew Azazel, that is, the Goat-gone-away; which the Greek translath Apompaiion, Sent-away: the Chaldee, & many interpreters keep the Hebrew name untranslated: and it is thought to be the name both of the Goat, and of the place whereinto he was sent in the wilderness, as verse 10. so by Sol. Rashi it is expounded, a strong and hard mountain, &c.

Ver. 9. did ascend] that is, did light, or fall: which is said here to ascend or come up, because it was first taken up out of the vessel, and after was laid upon the beast. So in verse. 10. and elsewhere, Lots are said to ascend or come up, as in Josh. 18. 11. sometimes to come-forth (as out of the vessel,) Numb. 33. 54. Ios. 19. 1. and sometimes to fall, as Ion. 1. 7. 1 Chr• 26. 14. Act.

1. 26. make him] that is, as the ⟨◇⟩ explaineth it, offer him, for sin: the manner is after shown in verse. 15. by killing him; to figure out the death of Christ, according to the flesh. Sol. Rashi expoundeth it thus, when he layeth the Lot upon ⟨◇⟩ he shall call him by this name saying, A Sin-offering for the Lord.

Ver. 10. presented alive] after that the Priest hath killed his own bullock and the other Goat, whose lot was to die: ver. 11. 15. 20. In the mean time, after the casting of these lots; the Hebrews say, that the Priest bound a long piece (they call it ⟨◇⟩ tongue) of scarlet, of two shekels weight, upon the he ⟨...⟩ the Scape-goat, and set him before the place of his sending away; and the other which was to be killed, before the place of his killing, and then he killed the Sin-offering bullock, which was for himself. Maimonides in I ⟨...⟩ kip. ch. 3. sect. 4. and Talman Ioma. c. 4. to make atonement] as the Goat which was slain, was for atonement or expiation, v. 16. 17. so was the live goat, as here, and in verse. 21. 22. so that both of them were figures of Christ, who is the atonement (or propitiation) for our sins, 1 John. 2. 2. & 4. 10. for a scape goat] or, to azazel, which is by some thought here to mean the place in the wilderness, where this goat was let go.

Vers. 11. shall make atonement] laying his hands on the head of the beast, confessing and asking pardon of God for his iniquities, trespasses & sins; as is before noted on verse 6. This he was to do for himself first, and for his house: that being reconciled to God, he might be fit (as a figure of Christ,) to make atonement for the people. Of this the Hebrew doctors say, (speaking of the practice in the ages following:) he came to his bullock the second time, and laid both his hands on the head thereof, and confessed a second confession, for himself, and his house, and for the sons of Aaron (all the Priests) and asked mercy of God, and then killed the bullock. Maimonides, in Iom. hakipp. c. 4. s. 1. So elsewhere (in the same treatise, ch. 2. s. 6.) he mentioneth three confessions which the Priest made this day. One which he made for himself at the first, a second, which he made for himself with the other Priests, and both these were upon the bullock of Sin-offering which was for himself. And the third confession was for all Israel, upon the Scape goat. for his house] that is, saith Sol. Rashi, for his brethren the Priests, for they all are called his house, as it is written, O house of Aaron, bless ye the Lord, Psal, 135. 19. And all their atonement was not, save for the uncleanness of the Sanctuary, and holy things thereof, as in verse 16. That he made atonement for the Priests, is expressly mentioned, in v. 33.

Ver. 12. shall take a censer] after the bullock was killed, before the blood was sprinkled, this service of burning incense came between, as to prepare the way into the holy place, by the cloud (the smoke of the incense upon the Mercy-seat, verse 13. 14. So Christ before he entered with his own blood into the most holy place of heaven (Heb. 9. 11. 12. 24.) prepared and sanctified himself and his way, by prayer, (which was figured by incense, Rev. 8. 3. 4.) John. 17. Matt. 26. 36. &c. This Censer or Fire-pan (as the word is Englished in Exodus 27. 3.) is called in Greek Pureion, that is, a Fire vessel; in the New Testament never so named, but Libanotos, an Incense vessel or Censer, Rev. 8. 3. 5. where mention is made of a golden Censer. Of this here, the Hebrews say; Every (other) day, he whose duty it is to use the Censer, putteth coles in a censer of silver, &c. but this day the high Priest putteth coles in a censer of gold. Maimonides in Iom. hakipp. c. 2. sect. 5. before Jehovah] this was the burnt-offering altar, in the courtyard, where fire always burned: but from this manner of speech, the Hebrews say they took the fire from that part of the Altar, which was next to the west, (that is, towards the Sanctuary:) Maimonides, ibidem. chap. 4. sect. 1. So Rashi expoundeth it, from that side (of the outeraltar) which is before the door, and that is the west side. of incense] the making, and signification hereof, is shown on Exodus 30. 34, &c. It figured the prayers and mediation of Christ: Psal. 141. 2. beaten-small] it was beaten the evening before this day: see the notes on Exodus 30. 34. 36. This beating of the incense, figured the agony of Christ in his prayers before his death, which he offered up with strong crying and tears: Luke 22. 44. Heb. 5. 7. within the veil] meaning the second veil, (as the Apostle calleth it, Heb. 9. 3.) and so into the most holy place: a figure of heaven it self, into which the incense of Christ's prayer and mediation should come before God, for his Church, Heb. 9. 24. Rev. 8. 3. 4. Maim. (in Iom hakippur. c. 1. s. 7.) telleth how the Sadducees, which were in the days of the second Temple, said that the incense for atonement day, was to be put upon the fire in the Temple, without the veil; and when the smoke thereof ascended, it went into the Holy of holies; and their reason was this, because it is written (in Lev. 16. 2.) I will appear in the cloud upon the Mercy-seat; they said that was the cloud of the incenso: but our wise men (faith he) have taught, that the incense was not burnt but in the holy of holies before the Ark; as it is written (Levite. 16. 13.) upon the fire before the Lord. And forasmuch as they were careful, in the second Temple, lest the high Priest should incline to the Sadducees, side; they did swear him, in the evening of Atonement day: the Messengers of the Synedrion, saying unto him: We adjure thee by him that hath caused his name to dwell in this house, that thou shalt not change (or alter) anything of all that we do say unto thee.

Vers. 13. the cloud of the incense] that is, as the Greek translatheth it, the vapor of the incense. This cloud covering the Mercy-seat, figured the mediation of Christ, by which God's wrath is turned from his church; as is after said, that he die not. Compare Revel. 8. 3. 4. The manner of doing this service, they say was thus; the High Priest took the Censer with fire in his right hand, and the Cup with incense in his left, &c. and went within the veil, till he came at the Ark: there he put the Censer between the two bars. And in the second Temple, where there was no Ark, he put it upon a stone there set: &c. And he filled the palm of his hand with incense, and put it upon the coles in the censer: and stayed there till the house was full of smoke, and went out. And he went out backward by little and little, with his face to the holy place, and his back to the Temple, until he came without the veil. Then prayed he there in the Temple, after he was come out, but a short prayer: that the people might not be afraid, and test they should say, he is dead in the Temple. Maimonides in Iom hakippurim, chap. 4. sect. 1. Chazkuni here saith, It is said before (in verse 2.) In the cloud I will appear, &c. and to the end▪ that the might not behold the Majesty of God, as it is written, No man shall see me and live, (Exod. 33. 20.) it was necessary that he should first, darken the house with incense, and after that, he brought the blood in th•there. upon] or, over the Testimony, that is, over the Tables of the Law, which were in the Ark: see Exod. 25. 16. and 31. 18.

Vers. 14. blood of the bullock] which was killed for his own sins, verse 6. 11. and which had been given (as the Hebrew doctors write) unto one to stir the same. Hence the Apostle observeth how the high Priest went in, not without blood, which he offered for himself, &c. wherein he figured Christ, who should enter heaven, not by the blood of Goats and Bulls, but by his own blood, Heb. 9. 7. 11. 12. though his blood was shed, not for himself, (in whom was no sin,) but for our iniquities. sprinkle with his finger] this was one sprinkling, as Sol. Rashi and others do note; and besides this, he after sprinkled seven times. upon] Hebr. on the face, that is, the upper part; which the Greek translath but upon: and so the Hebrew it self as, in verse 15. and before] Hebrew and to the face: so in verse 15. seven times] a number oft used in the legal services; it signified a full and perfect applying, and purging by the blood of Christ: see Levite. 46. and compare Heb. 9. 14.—23. 1 Pet. 1 2. The Hebrews understand these seven times, to be besides the former, and so to be eight in all: they relate the order of it thus. He killed the bullock of the sin-offering which was for himself, and the goat on the which the Lot fell for the Lord. And he carried their blood into the Temple, and he sprinkled of the blood of them both, in this day, three and forty sprinklings. First he sprinkled of the blood of the bullock, eight sprinklings, in the most holy place, between the bars of the Ark; near the Mercy-seat, within an hand-breadth: as it is said, AND BEFORE THE MERCY-SEAT, HE SHALL SPRINKLE, &c. (verse 14.) And he sprinkled there, one above, and seven beneath. By word of mouth we have been taught, that this which is said, SEVEN TIMES, is more then the first sprinkling. And he counted them one, two, three, &c left he should forget, And afterward, he sprinkled of the goats blood, between the bars of the Ark eight times; one above and seven beneath; and counted them, as the former. And he turned and sprinkled in the Temple, upon the veil, of the bullocks blood, eight times, one above and seven beneath; for so it is said, OF THE BLOOD OF THE BULLOCK, UPON THE MERCY-SEAT, AND BEFORE THE MERCIE-SEAT. And he turned and sprinkled of the goats blood likewise, upon the veil, eight times; one above and seven beneath; (verse 15.) and counted them as the former. And afterwards, he mixed together the two bloods, the bullocks blood, and the goats blood. And sprinkled of them both four times, upon the four horses of the golden altar which was in the Temple, (verse 18.) and seven times on the midst if the same altar, (verse 19.) And at all these three and forty sprinklings, he dipped his finger in the blood, one dipping for every sprinkling; and sprinkled not twice with one dipping. And the rest of the blood, he poured at the western bottom of the (brazen) altar that was without. Maimonides, in Iom hakippurim, c. 3. s. 4. 5.

V. 15. he shall kill the goat] after he had sprinkled of the bullocks blood, for himself, he left it in the Temple, upon a base of gold that was there; and afterward went out of the Temple, and killed the goat: saith Maimonides ibidem chap 4. sect. 2. for the people] that as he had offered for himself, so he might do, for the ignorances of the people, as the Apostle saith, Heb. 9. 7. within the veil] into the most holy place, a figure of heaven, whither Christ the fore-runner, entered for us; and whither also our hope, the sure Anker of our souls, entereth by him: Heb. 6. 19. 20. and 10. 19.—23.

Vers. 16. because of] or, from the uncleannesses, [unspec] that is, purging it from them. Hereby appeareth the horror of sin: for though the people never went into the Holy place, much less into the Most holy; yet such was the power of their iniquities, that the holy Altar, Ark and Sanctuary it self was defiled in the sight of God, and could not be cleansed without blood: so our sins do defile God's Church, and his most holy ordinances therein, and do come up into heaven it self; wherein, to we can have no entrance but by the blood of Christ, cleansing us and our way, and purging our consciences from dead works, to serve the living God: Heb. 9. 7. 11. 14. &c. and all] or, in all their sins: see after, on verse 21. that dwelleth] that is, is placed and remaineth; the Greek translath built: unto which phrase Paul hath reference, speaking of Christ's greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with hands, that is, not of this building, Hebr. 9. 11. The Temple of his body, (John. 2. 21.) and veil of his flesh, (Hebr. 10. 20.) were by imputation of our sins made as unclean, and sprinkled with his own precious blood; that he might reconcile us unto God. Esa. 53. 2 Cor. 5. 19. 21. It was necessary that (Moses Tabernacle, and Solomon's Temple,) the patterns of things in the heavens, should be purified with these (sacrifices forementioned:) but the heavenly things themselves, with better sacrifices than these. Heb. 9. 23.

Vers. 17. not be any man] neither of the people, [unspec] nor of the Priests: only the high Priest himself performed this service in the fight of God. Figuring herein our high Priest Christ Jesus, on whom God laid the iniquity of us all, Esa. 53. 6. who his ⟨ϕ⟩ self, bare our sins, in his own body on the tree, 1 Per. 2. 24. who hath by himself purged our sins, Hebr. 1. 3. and God by him hath reconciled all things ⟨ϕ⟩ himself, even by him; whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven, Colos. 1. 20. no creature helping, no nor comprehending the riches of his grace, wherein he hath abounded towards us, in ⟨ϕ⟩ wisdom and prudence, and hath gathered together in one all things in Christ, both which are in the heavens, and which are on earth, even in him, Eph. 1. 8. •0. These things, the Angels desire to look into, 1 Pet. 1. 12. and now unto the Principalities and powers in heavenly-places, is made known by the Church, the manifold wisdom of God, Eph. 3. 10.

V. 18. shall go out] from the most holy place. to the Altar] of incense which stood in the holyplace. and of the blood of the goat] both bloods mixed together in a basin; as before is noted. and put] Hebr. and give: so this was a striking of his finger with the blood upon the horns. And he beg•• (they say) at the Northeast horn; so to the Northwest then to the Southwest, and so to the Southeast: Maimonides in Iom hakipp. chap. 4. sect. 2. And of this, when God first appointed the Altar to be made, he said, Aar on shall make atonement upon the horns of it, ⟨ϕ⟩ in the year; with the blood of the Sin-offering of at ⟨...⟩ ments: Exod. 30. 10. This Altar being for incense, which figured prayers, (Psal. 141. 2.) and the horses signifying the power of Christ's mediation, (as from which voices or answers to the prayers of the saints were heard, Revel. 9. 13.) the cleansing of them by the blood of the Sin-offering, shown how the infirmities in the faith & prayers of the Saints, are to be holpen and purified by the death and blood of Christ.

Vers. 19. blood upon it] After the Priest had put blood upon the four horns: he removed the coles and ashes which were on the golden altar, so that the gold appeared: then he sprinkled of the mixed blood, on the clean place of the altar, seven times; by the south side, by the place where he had finished the putting thereof upon the horns. And he went out, and poured the residue of the blood, at the western bottom of the (brazen) altar that was without, Maim, in Iom hakipp. chap. 4. sect. 2. seven times] for a full and perfect purification, as in verse 14. from the uncleannesses] the imperfections and sins, which the people fell into, in their most holy service and prayers.

Vers. 21. shall impose] or, shall lay both his hands, which he now did in the name of the people, by this sign discharging them, and laying the burden of all their sins upon the beast, a figure of Christ. See the notes on Levite. 1. 4. and all their sins] or, in, or with all their sins: But the Greek translatheth it and: and so the Hebrew often signifieth, as is noted on Gen. 2. 3. and on Exod. 17. 10. These three, comprehend sin of all sorts, which the Priest confessed in general, with the three names here used, (as in the ages following is recorded;) and asked mercy also for them all, saying, *Oh Lord, thy people the house of Israel, have sinned, and done iniquity, and trespassed before thee: Oh Lord make-atonement now for the sins and for the iniquities and for the trespasses that thy people the house of Israel, have sinned, and unrighteously done, and trespassed before thee: as it is written in the law of Moses thy servant, that in this day, he shall make-atonement for you, &c. Maimonides in Iom hakipp. chap. 4. sect. 2. shall put] Hebr. shall give, that is, affix or fasten them upon the head of the goat; which being also figure of Christ, shown how our sins should be imputed unto him, and God would lay upon him the iniquity of us all; that he which knew no sin, should be made sin for us, Esa. 53. 6. 2 Cor. 5. 21. a fit man] or, a man appointed and prepared: Hebr. an opportune ( a timely) man: which the Greek translatheth aready man; the Chaldee, a man that is prepared (or appointed) to go: and Sol. Rashi expoundeth it, appointed for it from the day before. Of this, the Hebrews write, that (in the ages after,) the live goat was led away by one of the Priests thereto appointed: unto a rock in the wilderness, twelve miles, (that is, ninety furlongs) distant from Jerusalem. Every mile (they say) was seven furlongs and an half. They made ten boothes between Jerusalem, and that rock in the wilderness; between every booth, there was a miles space: and in every booth one man or more, that some might accompany him that led the goat, from one booth to the next. So there being a mile (that is, two thousand cubits) between booth and booth, that was a Sabbaths days journey: and so far they might accompany him. And there remained between the last booth and the rock in the wilderness, two miles. At every booth, they said unto the man, loe here is meat, and here is water, if his strength failed him, and he had need to eat, he might eat: but there never was man (they say) that needed so to do. [And without necessity no man might eat, for it was their most solemn Fast.] From the last booth, they went not with him to the Rock, but half way (one mile, their Sabbath days journey,) and stood a far off, to see what he did with the goat. When he had put the goat down the Rock, they (at the boothes aforesaid) waved with linen clothes (or white flagges) to the end that they in Jerusalem, might know that the goat was come to the wilderness. Talmud in Ioma, chap. 6. and Maimonides in his Comment thereon, and in his Misneh, in Iom hakippurim, chap. 3. sect. 7. &c. Of their Sabbath days journey, see the notes on Exodus 16. 29.*

Vers. 22. all their iniquities] by this it appeareth, that as the killed goat figured Christ killed for the sins of his people: so this living goat, figured him also, who bare our griefs, and carried our sorrows; and on whom God laid the iniquity of us all: Esa. 53. 4. 6. And because Christ was not only to die for our offenses, but also to rise again for our justification, Rom. 4. 25. to be crucified through weakness, yet to live by the power of God, 2 Cor. 13 4. to be put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit, 1 Pet. 3. 13. and for that these two things could not fitly be shadowed by any one beast which the Priest having killed, could not make alive again; therefore God appointed two; that in the slame beast, Christ's death, in the live beast, his life and victory might be fore shadowed. Heb. 9. 23. 24.—28. See the like mystery in the two birds, for the cleansing of the Leper, Levite. 14. 6. 7. Or, the sending of this goat into the wilderness, (as the former was sacrificed in the Sanctuary,) might figure out the salvation of Christ communicated with the gentiles and people's of the world, as Esa. 42. 1. 4. 11. and 49.

6. For the wilderness is sometime used to signify people's; Ezek. 20. 35. The Hebrews say; The scape goat made-atonement for all the transgressions of the Law, both the lighter, and the more heavy transgressions, whether done presumptuously, or ignorantly, whether they were known unto a man, or unknown; all are expiated by the Scape-goat, if so be the party do repent. Maimonides in treat. of Repentance, chap. 1. sect. 2. This goat was but a shadow of Christ: and unto repentance, must be added faith: for God hath set him forth, to be a propitiation through faith in his blood: Rom. 3. 25. land of separation] or a land cut-off, a land separated, to weet, from other lands, or from all people: that is, as the Chaldee translateth it, a land that is not inhabited; which the Greek calleth Abaton, waylesse, or inaccessible; where no man goeth: afterward Moses calleth it a wilderness. Or it may mean, a place decreed of and determined whither to send him: for the Hebrew word sometime signifieth a decree, Job 22. 28. Dan. 4. 17. Hereby was figured the utter abolishing of our sins by Christ; both from the face of God, that they should not appear against us before him, to be imputed unto us: and also from us, that sin should have no more dominion over us, nor we serve it any longer; but having our consciences purged from dead works, should serve the living God. 2 Cor. 5. 19. Heb. 9. 26. 14. Rom. 6. 6. 12. So the Prophet speaking of the like grace, saith unto God, Thou wilt cast all their sins, into the depths of the sea; Mich. 7. 19. And this word which Moses here useth, is not elsewhere used in like sort for a land, but for cutting off of other things, and in particular is applied to Christ, working our redemption, that he was cut-off out of the land of the living, Esa. 53. 8. which the holy Ghost expoundeth thus, his life was taken from the earth, Act. 8. 33. and whereof himself speaking said, whither I go, ye cannot come: John. 13. 33. That eternal Spirit through which Christ offered himself without spot unto God, (Heb. 9. 14.) and by which he was made-alive after death (1 Pet. 3. 18.) enabled his flesh or manhood, to suffer such things as no other creature could come near unto: and thereby Sin is put-away, and the body of sin, abolished, Heb. 9. 26. Rom. 6. 6. The Hebrews say, of this goat sent away, that the man which carried it, threw it down the rock, and so it died: Talmud in Ioma, chap. 6.

Vers. 23. Aaron shall come] whiles the goat afore-said was going to the wilderness, these services following began, and other after them in this order as the Hebrews have recorded; After he hath sent away the goat, by the hand of him that led him, he returneth to the bullock and goat, whose blood he had sprinkled within (the Sanctuary) and openeth them, and taketh out their fat, which he putteth in a vessel, to burn them upon the Altar. And he cutteth the rest of their flesh into great pieces, but one cleaving to another, and not parted asunder: and them he sondeth by the hand of others, to be carried out to the place of burning (without the campe, Levite. 16. 27.) When the (Scape-) goat is come to the wilderness, the high Priest goeth out into the women's court, to read the Law. And whiles he is reading, they burn the bullock and the goat in the place of the ashes (without the city:) therefore he that seeth the high Priest when he readeth, seeth not the bullock and the goat burnt. When he readeth, all the people stand before him: and the minister of the Congregation taketh up the book of the Law, and giveth it to the Chief of the congregation, and he to the Sagan (or second chief Priest) and the Sagan giveth it to the high Priest, who standeth up when he receiveth it, and standeth and readeth the 16. of Leviticus, and Levite. 23. 27.—32. &c. And when he readeth, he blesseth (God) before and after, &c. After this he putteth off his white garments, and washeth himself, and putteth on his golden garments, and sanctifieth his hands and his feet, and offereth the goat, which is for the general addition to this days service (Numb. 29. 11.) and offereth his own ram, and the people's ram, as it is said, AND HE SHAL COME FORTH, AND SHALL MAKE HIS BVRNT-OFFRING, AND THE BVRNT-OFFRING OF THE PEOPLE: Lev. 16. 24. And he burneth (on the altar) the fat of the bullock and of the goat that were burnt (without the campe;) And he offereth the daily evening sacrifice, [the Lamb. Numb. 28. 3.] and trimmeth the Lempes, as on other days, (Exod. 27. 21.) After this, he sanctifieth his hands and his feet, and putteth off the golden garments, and putteth on his own (common) garments, and goeth to his house; and all the people do accompany him to his house; and he keeps afeast, for that he is come out in peace, out of the Sanctuary. Maimonides in Iom hakippurim, chap. 3. sect. 7. 11. and chap. 4. sect. 2. leave them there] to weet, (as in the ages following,) they left them in some of the holy chambers which were about the Sanctuary, Ezek. 44. 19. Of this, the Hebrews write, The white garments, wherein he served on the fasting day, he never served in them the second time; but they were laid upon the place where he put them off; as it is said, HE SHAL LEAVE THEM THERE; and they might not be put to any use. Maim. in Keleiamikdash (or, Implements of the Sanctuary,) chap. 8. sect. 5.

Vers. 24. wash his flesh] that is, as the Greek [unspec] translath, his body: so he washed before he put on the linen garments, verse 4. and this was an usual rite, so oft as he shifted his clothes; as from this place the Hebrews teach, saying; Every time that he changeth garments, and putteth off garments, and putteth on other garments, he is charged to wash or baptize. And the high Priest washed five times, and sanctified (that is, washed his hands and feet) ten times this day. As, at first he put off his common garments which he wore, and washed [or baptized his whole body] and came-up and wiped himself, and put on the golden garments, and sanctified his hands and his feet. A• he killed the daily sacrifice, and trimmed the Lamps, &c. and offered the bullock and 7. lambs. And after that he sanctified his hands and his feet, and put off the golden garments, and washed and wiped himself, and put on the white garments: and sanctified his hands and his feet, and served the service of the day, [as is before shown] Afterwards, he sanctified his hands and his feet, and put off the white garments, and washed him-self and wiped, and put on the golden garments, and sanctified his hands and his feet; and offered the God for sin, which was added to this days service, and his own Ram, and the people's Ram, which were burnt offerings: and burnt on the altar the fat of the bullock• and goat that were burnt without, and offered the day evening sacrifice. And after that, he sanctified his hands and feet, and put off the golden garments, and washed and wiped himself and put on the white garments and sanctified his hands and feet; and went into the most holy place, and brought out from thence the incense 〈...〉 and the censer; and after that sanctified his hands and his feet, and put off the white garments: and washed and wiped himself, and put on the golden garments, and sanctified his hands and feet, and burnt the evening incense due for every day, and trimmed the Lamps; and sanctified his hands and feet; and put-off the golden garments, and put on his common garments, and were out. All these washings and sanctifyings were in the Sanctuary, except the first washing which he might die without, &c. If the high Priest were an old man, 〈ϕ〉 sick: they took off the cold from the water by 〈ϕ〉 made hot in the fire, or by mixing hot water with the cold. All other days the high Priest sanctifieth his 〈ϕ〉 and feet from the Laver [of brass] as the other Priests do: but this day, for honors sake, he sanctifieth from a golden vessel. Maimonides in Iom hakipp. chap. 2. sect. 2. 3. 4. 5. Of these and the like, the Apostle saith; their services stood only in meats and 〈ϕ〉, and divers baptisms (or washings,) and carnal or dinantes imposed on them, until the time of refor <...> (or bettering;) Heb. 9. 10. which spiritually taught them and us, to draw near with a true heart, and full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water; Heb. 10. 22. See the notes on Exod. 30. 19. 20. his garments] his ordinary high Priests garments, appointed in Exod. 28. wherein he was to perform his daily service in the sanctuary. Sol. Iarcht expoundeth it, the eight garments wherein he serveth all days of the year. shall make] or, shall do, that is, shall offer his burnt offering, that was the Ram, in verse 3. and the people's ram, verse. 5. which figured the accomplishment of their atonement, Levite. 1. 4. and the presenting of themselves unto God, as new creatures, to perform unto him their reasonable service; Rom. 12. 1.

Vers. 25. shall burn] or shall perfume: for the burning of the fat upon the altar, and the burning of the body without the campe, verse 27. Moses expresseth here and usually by two divers words. What the fat signified, is noted on Ex. 29. 13. Lev. 3. 3. upon the Altar] the brazen altar in the courtyard; for on the gold altar it might not be burnt, Ex. 30. 9.

Vers. 26. he that sent away] that is, as the Chaldee explaineth it, he that led (or carried) away: that fit man forementioned in verse 21. for the scape-goat] Hebr. for (or to) Azazel; which some take here to be the place in the wilderness. The Greek translatheth it, that which was sent away unto dismissal. his flesh] in Greek, his body: which was a sign that he was unclean, as Levite. 15. 5. The like is said of the man that burned the red heifer of whose ashes the water of sprinkling the unclean, was made, in Num. 19. 8. afterward] at evening, for till then he was unclean, Levite. 15. 5. After he had been with the goat, at the Rock, he came and remained under the last booth, (of the ten before noted on verse 21.) until it was dark: saith Maimonides in Iom hakipp. c. 3. s. 7.

Vers. 27. without the Campe] So the blood of this Sacrifice was carried into the holy and most holy places; the sat was burned on the altar in the court-yard; the body was burned without the Campe. The mystery is opened by the Apostle, that Christ our Sin-offering and sacrifice of atonement, and also our high Priest, entered into the holy place of heaven, not with the blood of others, but by his own blood, and obtained eternal redemption: Heb. 9. 11. 12. 23, And as the bodies of these beasts, were burnt without the campe: so Jesus, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate (of Jerusalem:) Let us go forth therefore unto him, without the campe, bearing his reproach; for here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come: Heb. 13. 11. 14. See the notes, on Levite. 4. 12. & 6. 30.

Vers. 28. his flesh] in Greek, his body: for the cause foreshowed on verse 26.

Vers. 29. a statute for ever] Hebr. for a statute of eternity: that is, an everlasting ordinance. Meaning from year to year, till the ever of the Jubilee (as the Jews use to speak) that is, till Christ should come, in whom all these figures have an end. So ever is ended at the Jubilee, as is noted on Exod. 21. 6. tenth day] This service being done upon this day, every year; shown the inability both of this Priesthood and of these sacrifices, to make atonement in deed for the people; as it is written; For the Law, having a shadow of good things to come, and not the very image of the things, can never with those sacrifices which they offered year by year continually, make the comers thereunto perfect. For then would they not have ceased to be offered, because that the worshippers once purged, should have had no more conscience of sins? But in those, (there is) a remembrance again of sins every year. For it is not possible that the blood of bulls and of goats, should take away sins. Wherefore when [Christ] cometh into the world he saith: Sacrifice and offering thou wouldest not; but a body hast thou prepared me. Heb. 10. 1. 5. The commandment of fasting & sanctifying this tenth day, is again repeated in Levite. 23. 27.—32. the sacrifices which it should have more then other days, are expressed in Numb. 29. 7.—11. And the Jubilee (which was every fiftieth year) began and was solemly proclaimed with trumpet, upon this tenth day, Lev. 25. 8. 9. a shadow of that acceptable year of the Lord, the year of freedom, which Christ hath proclaimed by the trumpet of his Gospel, Luke 4. 18. 19. 21. 2 Cor. 6. 2. afflict your souls] the Greek translatheth, humble your souls: by the soul, the body also is comprehended, even the whole person, as is noted on Levite. 2. 1. Gen. 12. 5. Affliction or humiliation, is inwardly by godly sorrow for sin, which worketh repentance, carefulness, indignation, fear, vehement-desire, zeal and revenge, 2 Cor. 7. 10. 11. and a judging of ourselves, 1 Cor. 11. 31. and loathing ourselves for the evils which we have committed, Ezek. 6. 9. Outwardly by fasting, and abstinence from all fleshly delights. By the Hebrew canons, they were to abstain this day from five things; from meat and drink; from washing themselves, from anointing, from putting on the shoes (and all fine apparel,) and from carnal copulation. Maimonides in treat. of the Rest of the tenth day, c. 1. s. 4. 5. The Scriptures confirm these; as David afflicted his soul with fasting, Psal. 35. 13. Daniel, by it, and by not anointing; Dan. 10. 3. 12. Israel, by putting off their ornaments; Ex. 33. 4. 6. David, by going barefoot, 2 Sam. 15. 30. & wearing sackcloth, Psal. 35. 13. and not washing nor anointing. 2 Sam. 12. 20. 21. Vrias, by not lying with his wife, 2 Sam. 11. 11. But the chiefest of these was fasting, and the day is called the Fast, in Act. 27. 9. and the time by the law, is from evening to evening, beginning the ninth day of the month at even, Levite. 23. 32. by which words the Hebrews gather, that they were to begin to fast and to afflict themselves in the evening of the ninth day next before to the tenth, and so in the end of it, to tarry in their affliction a little of the night after the tenth day; and therefore that it was necessary to add somewhat of the working day, unto the holy day, both before and after. But they exempted from this fast, such as were sick, and all children under nine years of age. Maimonides in treat of the Rest of the tenth day, chap. 1. sect. 6. and chap. 2. sect. 8. 10. Moreover under this name of afflicting themselves, and fasting, the Lord required the putting away of all sin; and amendment of life; as, to loose the bands of wickedness; to undo the heavy burdens, and to let the oppressed go free, and to break every yoke; to deal bread to the hungry to cover the naked, and the like; Esa. 58. 6. 7. And so it figured our mortification with Christ; that as in the sacrifices killed, his humiliation unto the death, was fore-shadowed, Phil. 2. 8. so by the humiliation of the Church, our sufferings with him were signified; our baptising into his death and burial, and our walking in newness of life, our old man being crucified with him; that the body of sin might be destroyed. Rom. 6. 3. 4. 6. 1 Pet: 2. 21. Unless we do this, we may fast, but the Lord seeth it not; and afflict our soul, but he taketh no knowledge; neither can we make our voice to be heard on high; Esa. 58. 3. 4. any work] for this was a solemn Sabbath, verse 31. and by ceasing from work, figured that they which would have expiation and atonement by Christ's day, must cease from their own works, to do the work of God; believing in him whom he hath sent: Heb. 4. 10. John. 6. 29. stranger] in Greek, Proselyte: by the homeborne, are meant Israelites borne in that land: the stranger, was of the heathens, joined to the faith and Church of Israel: such were bound to all Israel's ordinances. See Exod. 12. 19. 48. 49.

Vers. 30. he shall] that is, God by the Priest (as verse 32.) shall make etonement (or expiation) to cleanse (or purify) you. Herein was figured the power and efficacy of Christ's Priesthood, and sacrifice: that he expiateth and maketh atonement for our sins with God, 1 John. 2. 1. 2. and cleanseth us by his blood and spirit from all sin: 1 John 1. 7. Romans 8. 9. 10. 11.

Vers. 31. sabbathisme] or rest: this word the Apostle keepeth in Heb. 4. 9. and being joined to the word Sabbath, it noteth an exact and careful rest: therefore God threateneth to destroy them that did any work this day Levite. 23. 30. See also the notes on Exod. 16. 23.

Vers. 32. whom he] that is, whom God shall anoint; or, which shall be anointed, as the Greek translatheth whom they shall anoint. Such words are often used without designing any person; as is noted on Genes. 16. 14. By this anointed, the high Priest is meant, Levite. 21. 10. shall fill] that is, shall consecrate, see Exod. 29. 9. The Greek translatheth, shall perfect (or consecrate) his hands. Herein he also figured the Son of God, who is our high Priest perfected (or consecrated) for evermore, Hebr. 7. 28. garments of holiness] the four forementioned, verse 4. called in Greek a holy stole (or robe:) which word is used in Rev. 6. 11. and 7. 9. 13. 14. where the Saints that came out of their tribulation, are arrayed in white stoles (or robes,) which they have washed and made white in the blood of the Lamb Christ. The mystery of these garments is there touched: and by it we may learn, why the high Priest, in the work of Expiation, might have none but white garments this day.

Vers. 33. the Sanctuary of holiness] that is, as the Greek translatheth, the holy of the holy, meaning the most holy place: into which he went first with incense and blood: verse 12. 13. 14. 15. 16. the Tent] the Holy place or first Tabernacle; which he secondly expiated, verse 16. &c. all the people] in Greek all the congregation. Because the expiation of the whole Church dependeth thus on the high Priest, so that if he were unclean, or 〈ϕ〉 in his ministraton, he was in danger of death by the hand of God, (Lev. 10. 1. 2. 3. and 16. 2.) and so the Church should want atonement for th 〈...〉 sins: therefore the high Council or Magistrate•• looked carefully unto him, both for his purity, an• for information of him in his duty this day. 〈ϕ〉 is said, that Seven days before the day of atonement, they separated the high Priest from his own house, 〈ϕ〉 his chamber which was in the Sanctuary: and kept him from his wife, all those seven days, lest his wife should be in her disease, and so he become unclean seven days. [as Levite. 15. 24.] and might not serve. And they appointed with him, another high Priest; that 〈ϕ〉 any pollution happened unto him, the other might serve in his stead. Whether the pollution happened unto him before the daily morning sacrifice, or after he had offered the oblations; this (other) that was taken in his stead, needed no institution (or consecration,) but began his administration where the first did leave off: &c. D•ring these seven days, they sprinkled him with the ashes of the heifer, in the third day after his separation, and is the seventh [according to Num. 19. 10. 12.] which was the evening of Expiation day; lest he should be def 〈...〉 by any dead, and not know of it, &c. All the seven days, they inured him with the services. He sprinkled the blood, and burned the incense, and trimmed the la 〈...〉 ; and burned the daily sacrifices on the Altar, that 〈ϕ〉 might be acquainted with the service on Expiation day. And they appointed unto him some Elders, of the Elders of the Synedrion (or Council,) which did read before him, and teach him the service of the day, and the order of it. And they spake to the high Priest to himself, lest he should have forgotten, or lest he shall not have learned this thing. And on the even of the Atonement day, in the morning early, they set him the East gate, and brought before him, bulls and rams and sheep, that he might be acquainted and inured with the service. All the seven days, they restrained him not from meat or drink: but in the even of Atonement day, they suffered him not to eat much, because meat bringeth sleep; and they would not suffer to sleep, lest any accident (of the night, as Deut. 23. 10.) should be seen; &c. Maimonides in Iom hakipp. chap. 1. sect. 3. 6. and Talmud. Bab. in Ioma, chap. 1. How ever it were for all these rites; the Lord who red sanctity and cleanness in all his Priests times of their service, Levite. 22. 3. required it carefully of the High Priest on this day; where he most solemnly figured Christ in his office work; of whom it is said, that In all things it ved him to be made like unto his brethren, that might be a merciful and faithful high Priest, in things maintaining to God, to make atonement for the sins of the people. For such an high Priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher then the heavens; Heb. 2. 17, and 7. 26.

CHAP. XVII.

A law that all sacrifices must be killed and offered in the Sanctuary, and no other where, 7, that they might no more sacrifice unto Devils. 8, They that did otherwise, should be cut off. 10, All eating of blood is forbidden upon like penalty. 13, A law for covering the blood of beasts and birds that were slain. 15, Against eating the flesh of any carcass, or of any torn thing; and how they that did it, should cleanse themselves.

AND Jehovah said unto Moses, saying. Speak unto Aaron, and unto his sons, and unto all the sons of Israel; and say unto them: This is the thing, which Jehovah hath commanded, saying. Every man of the house of Israel; that killeth an Ox, or Lamb, or Goat, in the Camp; or that killeth it out of the Camp: And bringeth it not, unto the door of the Tent of the congregation; to offer an oblation to Jehovah, before the Tabernacle of Jehovah: blood shall be imputed unto that man, he hath shed blood; and that man, shall be cut off, from among his people. To the end that the sons of Israel may bring, their sacrifices, which they sacrifice, on the face of the field; even that they may bring them unto Jehovah, unto the door of the Tent of the congregation, unto the Priest; and sacrifice them, for sacrifices of Peace-offerings, unto Jehovah. And the Priest shall sprinkle the blood, upon the Altar of Jehovah; at the door, of the Tent of the congregation: and burn the fat, for a savour of rest, unto Jehovah. And they shall not sacrifice anymore, their sacrifices, unto Devils; after whom, they have gone-awhoring: This shall be unto them, a statute for ever, throughout their generations. And thou shalt say unto them; Every man, of the house of Israel; or of the stranger which sojourneth among you: that shall offer a Burnt offering, or a sacrifice: And shall not bring it, unto the door of the Tent of the congregation; to do it, unto Jehovah: even that man, shall be cut-off, from his people's.

And every man, of the house of Israel; or of the stranger, that sojourneth among them; that shall eat, any blood: I will even set my face, against the soul that eateth blood; and will cut it off, from among the people thereof. For the soul of the flesh, it is in the blood: and I have given it to you, upon the Altar; to make-atonement, for your souls: for it is the blood, that maketh-atonement for the soul. Therefore have I said, unto the sons of Israel; no soul of you, shall eat blood: and the stranger, that sojourneth among you, shall not eat blood.

And every man, of the sons of Israel; or of the stranger, that sojourneth among them; which shall hunt a hunting of wild-beast, or of fowl, that may be eaten: he shall even pour-out, the blood thereof; and cover it, with dust. For it is the soul of all flesh; the blood thereof it is for the soul thereof: and I have said unto the sons of Israel; ye shall not eat, the blood of any flesh: for the soul of all flesh, it is the blood thereof; who-soever eateth it, shall be cut-off.

And every soul, that shall eat a carcass, and a torn-thing; whether it be an home-borne person, or a stranger: he shall both wash his clothes, and bathe (his flesh) in water, and be unclean until the evening, and then he shall be clean. And if he wash them not, and bathe not his flesh: then he shall bear, his iniquity.

Annotations.

HIs sons] the Priests; for they were the sacrificers for the people; therefore this Law is first directed unto them, then unto all the people. And as the extraordinary sanctification of the Church was appointed in chap. 16. so the ordinary and daily sanctification of all and everyone is here taught; and how after their purification from all their sins, they should be careful to serve the Lord in newness of life, in that place, and after that manner which he prescribed. the thing] Hebr. the word. Every man] or, Any man, who-soever. Hebrew, man man, of the house of Israel; whereunto the Greek addeth, or of the Proselytes that are adjoined unto you: and so Moses addeth in verse 8. Targum Jonathan explaineth it, young man or old: and so in verse 10. and 13. killeth an Ox] or a Bull, meaning for sacrifice to God, verse 4. 5. for this law concerneth holy things, sanctified, and meet for the Altar, which might not be killed, nor offered (as v. 8.) but in the Lord's Court. This is often and instantly commanded, Deut. 12. 5. 6. 13. 14. 26. 27. & 14. 23. 26. & 15. 19. 20. The Hebrew canons say, He that killeth holy things out of the court (of the Sanctuary) although he offer them not; if he do it presumptuously, is guilty of cutting-off, Lev. 17. 3. 4. If he kill in ignorance, he is to bring the Sin-offering appointed, Maim. in Magnaseh hakorbanoth, (or treat of offering sacrif.) c. 18. s. 3. Hereby Israel was taught to serve God in Christ only: for he is the true Tabernacle, Heb. 9. 11. in whom God dwelleth among men, & by whom all our service and sacrifices are sanctified and made acceptable unto God in his church: •o that none can come unto the Father but by him▪ John. 14. 6. and he is the door of the sheep, John. 10. 7. 9. The Tabernacle also figured the Church, where God requireth his worship to be performed by all his people: 1 Tim. 3. 15. Rev. 21. 3. Eph. 2. 20. 21. 22. Act. 2. 47. And so it is written, For in mine holy mountain, in the mountain of the height of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, all of them in the land serve me: there will I accept them; and there will I require your offerings, and the first fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things. Ezek. 20. 40. in the Camp] which is described in Numb. 2. answerable whereto the city Jerusalem was, in the ages following: as is noted on Exod. 40. 33.

Vers. 4. blood] that is, murder: for such corruption of God's worship, is hateful unto him as blood-shed. So in Esa. 66. 3. he saith, He that killeth an ox, is as if he slew a man. So the Hebrews; as Sol. Rashi here saith, As if he shed the blood of man, for which he is guilty of his life. he hath shed blood] Targum Jonathan explaineth it thus, And it shall be to him, as if he had shed innocent blood. •ut-off] in Chaldee, destroyed: so the Greek, that soul shall be destroyed.

Vers. 5. the face of the field] that is, the open field: see the notes on Levite. 14. 7. As the heathens, so the Israelites (before the making of the Sanctuary,) sacrificed everywhere in the fields, high places and mountains. The Hebrews say, Before the Tabernacle was set up, the high places were lawful; and the service was by the Firstborne: after the Tabernacle was erected, high places were unlawful, and the service (was performed) by the Priests. Talmud Bab. in Zebachim, chap. 14. Here Israel is restrained to the Tabernacle, but the other nations were not so, but might sacrifice other where, as did Job and his friends, Job 1. 5. and 42. 8. 9. And in the Hebrew canons it is said; He that killeth the holy things of the heathens, without (the Sanctuary,) is guilty: likewise •e that offereth them without. But it is lawful for the heathens to offer burnt offerings unto God, in every place; and he himself may offer in an high place which he hath built. But it is unlawful (for a Jew) to help him, &c. for loe we are forbidden to offer without (the Court.) And it is lawful to teach them, and to learn them how they may offer unto the name of the Blessed (God.) Maim. in Maaseh hakorbanoth, chap. 19. sect. 16. The same liberty which the nations had before the Law, we have now again spiritually under the Gospel, John 4. 21.—24. which God foretold, saying, My name shall be great among the nations, and in every place incense shall be offered unto my name, and a pure offering, Mal. 1. 11. unto the door] that is, into the courtyard: see the notes on Levite. 8. 3. of the congregation] or, of assembly: in Greek, of the testimony: so in verse 9.

Verse 6. a savor of rest] in Greek, a savor of sweet smell: which the Chaldee expoundeth, to be accepted with favor before the Lord. Of these words and rites, see Levite. 1. 9.

Ver•• 7. unto devils] as all Jews and Gentiles did• which sacrificed not by faith in Christ, and in such sort and place, as God approved of. Deut. 32. 17. 1 Cor. 10. 20. and as they had done when they made the golden calf, Exod. 32. at which time, they sacrificed unto the idol, Act. 7. 41. and so unto the devil; as Jereboam's idols are also called Devils, 2 Chron. 11. 15. and Antichrists likewise. Revel. 9. 20. Devils are in Hebrew named here Seghnirim, that is, rough and rugged as hairy goats; because in such shape they sometime appeared, like Sa•yres: Esa. 34. 14. or of their hortour and terro•• which they cause unto men• for so the word originally signifieth. The Chaldee calleth them Shedin of their wasting and destroying the creatures: which name Moses after giveth them in Deut. 32. 17. The Greek translateth, unto Vain things. gone a-whoring] the Chaldee expoundeth it, erred, or committed idolatry: which sin is often called whoredom or fornication: (see the notes on Exodus 20. 5. and 34. 15. Levite. 20. 5. 6. Deut. 31. 16.) because it violateth the covenant between God and his people, which is called marriage, Hosea 2. 2. 19, 20. and 3. 1.

Vers. 8. stranger] or sojourner, in Greek a proselyte: [unspec] meaning a heathen joined to the Jews religion and church: so after in verse. 10. and 13. shall offer] as the sacrifice might not be killed, verse. 3. so neither might it be offered out of the Sanct•ary, though it were killed therein. Whereupon the Hebrews say, He that killeth the holy things, and offereth them out of (the Sanctuary,) is twice guilty▪ once for killing, and once for offering. If he kill within, and offer without, he is guilty for offering: likewise if he kill without, and offer within; he is guilty for killing▪ M••money in Maaseh hakorbanoth, chap. 18. sect. 5. And Sol. Rashi (on Levite. 17.) saith, the Law speaketh of offering a Burnt-offering, to show that a man is guilty for burning the pieces (of the Sacrifice) without the campe, as is he that killeth it without: that if one kill, and another offer, both of them are guilty. ⟨ϕ⟩ sacrifice] to weet, of Peace-offerings; as the Chaldee explaineth it. As by the doctrine of our Savior, in Matth. 23. 19. the Altar sanctified the gift: so the Hebrews understand this Law, for sacrifices offered by fire, and upon an altar without; saying: He that offereth without, is not guilty, till he offer upon ⟨...⟩ tar which he hath made without: but if he offer ⟨...⟩ Rock or on a stone, he is free, [to weet,] from the judgment of death;] for it is not called Corban (an offering) except it be on an Altar, yea though it be without: as it is written. (in Gen. 8. 20.) And Noah built an ⟨ϕ⟩ ▪ Maim. in Maas. hakorbanoth, chap. 19. sect. 1.

Vers. 9. door of Tent] and so in ages following, [unspec] to the door of the House or Temple, that is, in the courtyard. And if the Tabernacle or Temple should haply be burnt, (as it was by the Babylonians, 2 King. 25. 9.) yet was it lawful to offer in the courtyard upon the altar, as Ezra did after their return, Ezr. 3. 3. 4. 5. 6. So the Hebrews say, Who so killeth holy things at this time, and offereth th•• out of the Court, is guilty: because it is meet he ⟨ϕ⟩ offer within. For loe it is lawful to offer, although that be no house. Because the first holiness sanctifieth f• that time present, and for the time to come. Mai ⟨...⟩ i• M••s. •akorb. chap. 19. sect. 15. It figured, that our service unto God, must be by faith in Christ, and in the communion of his Church; as before is shown on verse 2. to do it] that is, to offer it: see the notes on Exod. 10. 25. cut-off] in Greek, that soul shall be destroyed; as in v. 4.

Vers. 10. every man] Hebr. man man; which Jonathan expoundeth young man or old man: as in verse. 3. and 13. the stranger] in Greek, or of the proselytes adjoined unto you. This Law therefore seemeth not to bind the heathens, anymore then the sonner, of sacrificing, verse. 5. so in v. 12. & 13. any blood] to weet, of fowl or beast, as is explained in Leviticus 7. 26. and this at his common table: for as the former laws were for sanctifying the people in their holy things; so these which follow are for their civil conversation. Whereas it is said, it maketh atonement for the soul, (verse 11.) left any should think he is not guilty save for the blood of holy things, the scripture saith any blood. Chazkuni on Leviticus 17. will set] Hebr. will give my face, which the Chaldee expoundeth my anger: and so face is often used for anger; which appeareth in the countenance: as, I will appease his face, Gen. 32. 20. and, the face of the Lord hath divided them, Lam. 4. 16, and; I will not cause my face to fall upon you, Ier. 3. 12. and the face of the Lord, is upon them that do evil, 1 Pet. 3. 12. and many the like. the soul] which the Chaldee expoundeth the man. See the notes on Gen. 12. 5. cut it off] that is, destroy him, as the Chaldee and Greek translath. The Hebrews say, He that eateth so much as an olive of blood, presumptuously, is guilty of cutting-off: if ignorantly, he is to bring the Sin-offering appointed. And the thing is plain by the law, that he is not guilty, but for all blood of cattle, beasts and birds only, whether they be unclean or clean, Leviticus 7. 26. But the blood of fishes, and of Locusts, and of creeping things, and the blood of man, they are not guilty for them, by the name of blood. The blood therefore of clean fishes, and locusts, is lawful to be eaten or drunk. And the blood of unclean locusts and fishes is unlawful, because it is the juice of their bodies. Mans blood is unlawful, by the doctrine of the scribes, if it be separated (from the body:) but one may swallow down the blood of his teeth, without prohibition. Maimonides in treat. of Forbidden  $\langle \diamond \rangle$ , chap. 6. sect. 1. 2.

Verse 11. the soul,] that is, the life: see Gen. 9. 4. So in Targum Jonathan it is expounded here, and in verse 13. the life of the soul. of the flesh] the Gr. addeth, of all flesh; & so Moses speaketh in v. 14. is in the blood] the Greek saith, is the blood thereof; as in verse 14. which blood is figuratively called the life, because the seat thereof is in the blood, as Moses here showeth: so that if the blood be gone, the life is gone with it, as daily experience confirmeth. Hereupon David saith, What profit is in my blood? Psal. 30. 10. that is, in my life: and the shedding of blood, is the taking away of ones life, Gen. 9. 6. Chazkuni explaineth it thus, *For the soul of the flesh, 1. of every creature, it hangeth in the blood; and therefore I have given it to make a  $\langle \dots \rangle$  nt for the soul of man: the soul cometh and maketh  $\langle \dots \rangle$  meant for the soul. have given it] to weat, the blood, and so the life or soul of the beast, to make atonement for your souls; that is, to be the expiation and ransom for your life or soul: in figure of Christ, whose blood was to be shed for the remission of sins, Matth. 26. 28. through which he should make peace, Colos. 1. 20. and men have redemption, Ephes. 1. 7. who was to give his soul (or life) for a ransom for many, Matth. 20. 28. And this is the cause why God forbiddeth all blood, that men might be kept in faith and reverend expectation of the blood of Christ, which being once shed, should spiritually be given unto his people for to drink by faith, unto the life and salvation of their souls, John. 6. 53. 54. 55. And to teach the people not to ascribe the work of their salvation unto themselves or their own works, but unto Christ only, was this prohibition of blood: and the like was for the fat of all such beasts, as had the fat burned on the Altar, which therefore might not be eaten of men. See the notes on Leviticus 3. 17. and 7. 25. 26. it is the blood] not of bulls and goats, (save only in shadow,) for it is unpossible that such blood should take away sins, Heb. 10. 4. but the blood of Christ is it that maketh atonement, and cleanseth from all sin: Hebrews 9. 12. and 10. 19. 1 John 1. 7. And as the Apostle saith, without shedding of blood is no remission, Hebrews 9. 22. so the Hebrew doctors, from these words of Moses, say, *There is no remission of sins, but by blood; as it is written, For it is blood that maketh atonement for the soul. Talmud in Ioma c. 1.

Vers. 12. Therefore] in Greek, For this cause. Although other reasons may be rendered of the forbidding of blood, as to restrain men from cruelty, or from communion with idolaters, (for the Magi, or wise men of Chaldea, used to eat blood, when they conversed with Devils, and by them foretold things to come, whereas otherwise the Chaldeans eschewed blood as an unclean thing, as Maimonides showeth in Moreh nebuchim;) yet the main, if not the only cause is here given of God, to be the use of blood upon the Altar, for their atonement; which was merely figurative, and which had the end and accomplishment in Christ. Colos. 2. 16. 17. And besides the former signification; as the not eating of the flesh of such sacrifices as had their blood carried into the holy place, signified that they which cleaved to the rudiments of Moses Law, should have no portion in Christ, (as is shown on Levite. 6. 30. from Heb. 13. 10.—13.) so the not eating of blood, which made stonement for the souls of men, seemeth also to signify, that they which cleaved unto the legal sacrifices, should not eat, that is, not have communion, benefit or nourishment to their souls: but they which come unto Christ by faith, do eat the flesh and drink the blood (in spirit and truth,) by which their atonement is made with God. John. 6. Matth. 26. compared with Heb. 13. 10. &c. And as the way into the Holiest of all was not yet made manifest, while as the first Tabernacle was yet standing, Heb. 9. 8. so the communion with that blood whereby atonement for sins was made, was not yet fully manifested, while as the outward Tabernacle and figurative sacrifices therein, were in use.

Verse 13. hunt a hunting,] and so take it by hunting. This law for wild-beasts caught by hunting, concerneth tame beasts also, as touching the slaying of them: as is said in Deut. 12. 21. thou shalt kill of thy herd and of thy flock, &c. and thou shalt eat. And as it is said in Deut. 15. 22. of the blemished firstlings, which were to be eaten in their cities, as the Roe-bucke, and as the Hart, From which words the Hebrews say, Here thou art taught, that the wild beast and the tame, are alike in this business of killing, &c. Maimonides in Shechitah (or treat. of Killing beasts:) chap. 1. sect. 1. that may be eaten] or which is usually eaten: which Targum Jonathan expoundeth. that is lawful to be eaten. he shall even pour-out] or, then shall he shed the blood thereof: so that no flesh of beast or bird might be eaten in Israel, unless the blood were orderly let out, and the flesh cleansed of it. And when the people in a war, flying upon the spoil, slew cattle on the ground, and did eat the flesh not purified from the blood, they sinned against the Lord; till Saul took order for the more lawful killing of them, 1 Sam. 14. 32. 33. 34. Of this point, the Hebrews have these rules. It is commanded, that who so will eat the flesh of any cattle, wild beast, or fowl; it be slain, and afterward eaten. He that slayeth, blesseth God first, who sanctifieth us by his commandments, and hath given a charge concerning the slaying. And it is unlawful to eat of that which is slain, all the while that it doth tremble. And who so eateth thereof, before the soul (the life) be gone out, transgresseth. Fishes and Locusts, there is no need to slay them: but the catching of them, maketh them lawful. Behold he saith (in Numb. 11. 22.) Shall the flocks and the herds be slain for them to suffice them? or shall all the fishes of the sea be gathered for them? The gathering of the fish, is as the fleying of the beasts. So of the Locusts, there is mentioned their gathering only, Esa. 33. 4. that if any of them die in the water, they may be eaten, yea it is lawful to eat them alive. The place where the beast must be slain, is the neck. The instrument to slay it with, may be any knife of metal, or of stone, or of glass and the like cutting things, which are sharp, and have no gap in them. It is lawful to slay in all places without the court (of the Sanctuary,) for within the court, they slay but the holy things of the altar only: common beasts or fowls, may not be slain within the court: Deut. 12. 14. 15. So that which is slain out of the place (which God hath chosen) is lawful to be eaten in any of the gates: but he that slayeth common things within the court, that flesh is unlawful to be used; but they bury it. Any man may slay, as the deaf, or the fool, or the child, &c. if others look that it be slain lawfully: but if a knife fall of it self, and slay, though it be after the manner of slaying, yet it is unlawful; for it is said THOU SHALT KILL. (Deut. 12. 21.) so it must be slain by mankind. He that slayeth a beast in the name of a sacrifice for a vow, or a sin-offering which he oweth; it is unlawful to be eaten: &c. Maim. in Shechitah, <Ⓞ> 1. and 2. &c. The taking of beasts and birds by hunting, may signify the converting of sinners by the preaching of the Gospel; as the catching of fishes, is applied to the catching of men, Luk. 5. 9. 10. And as Peter when he was called to preach the word unto, and communicate with the Gentiles, was bidden in a vision to kill beasts, and eat, Act. 10. 12. 13. 28. so this Law for killing of beasts and burying their blood, seemeth to figure out the mortifying of sinners by the word of God, and burying of the old man & natural sinful life; after which, communion with them is lawful. Rom. 6. 2. 3. 4. cover it with dust] the Greek translatheth, earth shall cover it. The covering of blood is in use (they say) both within the land of Israel, and without the land: of common beasts, but not of the sanctified. Talmud in Cholin, c. 6. This taught a reverend regard which they should have of the soul or life of the beast, which was in the blood: that it should be buried with a kind of honor; for burial is honorable, Eccles. 6. 3. It also shown the lawfulness of killing these creatures for food; that their blood being covered, should not be imputed unto them of God: as appeareth by the contrary, Job 16. 18. O earth, cover not thou my blood; and Ezek. 24. 7. 8. Her blood is in the midst of her; see set it upon the top of a Rock, she poured it not upon the ground, to cover it with dust: that it might cause hot-wrath to come up to take vengeance, &c. where blood not covered, signifieth a crying to God for vengeance. The Hebrews performed this charge carefully; for in their canons it is said; We are commanded to cover the blood of the clean beast or clean fowl that is slain, Leviticus 17. 13. Therefore we are bound to bless before the covering of 〈ϕ〉 Blessed art thou O Lord our God, King eternal, which hath sanctified us by his commandments, and give us a charge to cover the blood. And he may not cover it with his foot, but with his hand, or with the knife, or with an instrument (or vessel,) lest this rite gro into a contempt, and so the commandment concer 〈...〉 〈ϕ〉 *be contemned. Vers. 14. the soul] that is, the life: as Jonathan expounds it, the life of the soul. for the soul] Heb. in the soul. In is often instead of For: but some here keep the usual signification, and change the order; as Chazkuni interprets it, in the blood thereof is the soul thereof. But Rashi thus, the blood is to it in 〈ϕ〉 of the soul, for the soul hangeth in it. the blood of any flesh] to weet, of beasts or birds, not any of their blood, Lev. 7. 26. So not only that which cometh out in the slaying of the beast, but that remaineth within in the heart or other parts, is unlawful to be eaten. The blood which is the juice (of of the beast) and the blood of the members, as the blood of the milt, and the blood of the kidneys, and the blood of the stones, and the blood that is gathered in the heart, and the blood that is found in the liver; who so eateth of them is not to be cut off, but is beaten: for it is said, ye shall not eat, any blood. Of that for which a man is to be cut off, he saith, FOR THE SOUL OF THE FLESH IS IN THE BLOOD: he is not guilty of cutting off, but for the blood wherein the soul (or life) goeth out. Maimonides in treat. of Forbidden meats, chap. 6. sect. 4. is the blood] figuratively spoken, for is in the blood, as verse 11.

Vers. 15. every soul] that is, as the Chaldee translath, every man: as verse 10. a carcass] to weat, that which died of it self, or is killed by another thing, and is not orderly slain: see Lev. 7. 24. Of this the Hebrews say, He that eateth (presumptuously) so much as an olive of the flesh of any cattle that is dead, or wild beast that is dead, or fowl that is dead, is to be beaten. And whatsoever is not killed so as is meet, loe that is a dead-carcass. Nothing is forbidden by the name of a carcass, but the sorts of clean things only; because they are fit to be slain, and if they be slain, after a lawful manner, they are lawful to be eaten. But unclean things, whose slaying availeth them not, whether they be duly slain, or die alone, or the flesh be cut off from them alive; who so eateth of them is not beaten as for a carcass, or a torn thing; but as for eating of unclean flesh. Who so eateth a clean bird alive all of it; is beaten as for eating a carcass. Who so eateth of the flesh of an untimely birth of a clean beast, is beaten as for eating of a carcass. And it is unlawful to eat of any beast that is borne, until the eight night (after,) Exodus 22. 30. for who so tarrieth not eight days for a beast, it is as an untimely-birth; though he is not beaten for that. The law forbiddeth a dead thing, and that is a carcass: and forbiddeth that which inclineth to die, though it be not already dead, and that is the torn thing. There is no difference in the death, whether it die of it self alone, or whether it fall and die, or whether it be strangled until it die, or that a wild beast hath rent and killed it. Maimonides in treat. of Forbidden meats, chap. 4. sect. 1. 2. 3. 4. 8. As the forbidding of unclean meats, Levite. 11. spiritually forbid communion with wicked persons, Acts 10. 12. 28. so this prohibition of things not duly slain, forbiddeth in mystery, to have religious communion with such as are dead in their trespasses and sins; and which are not mortified by the work of God's word and spirit, Ephes. 2. 1. 2. 3. 2 Cor. 6. 16. 17. Colos. 2. 13. and 3. 5. By the former explanation out of Maimonides it appeareth that the strangled thing forbidden by the Apostles unto the Gentiles together with blood, in Acts 15. 20. 29. was the carcass or dead thing here spoken of, for the Law otherwise mentioneth not the strangled. And this compared with Deuteronomy 14. 21. where the Gentiles are permitted to eat such things; giveth light to the true meaning of that decree in Acts 15. and a torn thing] and is here for or, distinguishing and disjoining it from the carcass aforesaid. Any clean beast or bird, which by other beast or fowl, or any other way, was torn or maimed, but not fully dead, is here meant: as is noted upon Exodus 22. 31. where this law is first given, and shown to tend also unto sanctification. If it be torn and dead, it is a carcass (forementioned,) but this is a different precept, and so meaneth torn things yet living; as the Hebrews observe. Maimonides in Forbidden meats, chap. 4. sect. 6. Again, The torn thing spoken of in the Law, is that which is inclining to die. And it is not called torn, but that the scripture speaketh by an instance; as that a Lion or the like, hath torn it and broken it, and it is not yet dead. And there are other sicknesses (or diseases) which if they happen unto it, it is accounted torn. Maimonides in Shechitah, chap. 5. sect. 1. 2. These beasts torn, or inclining to death; figured such persons as the Apostle likeneth unto natural brute beasts made to be taken [for a prey] and destroyed, which shall be corrupted (or utterly-perish) in their own corruption: 2 Pet. 2. 12. Where the Greek words eis halosin, that is, for a prey, or to be taken: seem to express the Hebrew tereaphah, the torn thing here mentioned: as in Job 24. 5. the Hebrew latareph, for a prey; is turned in Greek eis halosin, by Aquila an ancient interpreter. So that the eating of such, that is the communion with them, is by this law forbidden: such flesh was to be cast unto the dog: Exodus 22. 31. home borne] the natural Israelite. or a stranger] of the Proselytes, as the Greek translatheth: that is, heathens converted to the faith the Church of Israel. For if they were not joined Proselytes, the strangers in Israel might eat these things; as Moses showeth in Deuteronomy 14. 21. saying of the dead thing (or carcass,) thou shalt give it unto the stranger that is in thy gates, (which the Chaldee there expoundeth the uncircumcised inhabitant,) that he may eat it. For the scripture mentioneth three sorts of strangers, open Idolaters, which might not dwell in the land of Israel: others that practiced not Idolatry, but yielded to some chief grounds of true religion, and such might dwell in the gates or cities of Israel: and the third sort converts or proselytes, which were bound to all the Law, as the Jews themselves; and such are spoken of throughout this chapter. Of all these three sorts, see the annotations on Exodus 12. 43. 45. 48. his flesh] or, as the Greek translatheth, his body: which supply is here added from the next verse, where Moses expresseth it. the evening] the end of the day, and beginning of a new. This washing and bathing, figured a renewing by repentance and faith in Christ to remission of sins, with sanctification by the spirit, 1 Cor. 6. 11. Rev. 1. 5. Heb. 10. 22. See the notes on Levite. 15.

Vers. 16. his flesh] his body with water, saith the Grecke version: so Paul speaketh of our bodies washed with pure water, Heb. 10. 22. It figured their cleansing by repentance, as John said, I baptize you with water unto repentance, Matth. 3. 11. his iniquity] that is, his guiltiness, and his punishment. See the notes on Gen. 19. 15.

CHAP. XVIII.

1, God forbiddeth his people to do after the manner of the beathens. 6, Unlawfull marriages and copulations, with near kindred. 19, Other unlawful lusts 21, Idolatry. 23, and beastliness; 24, wherewith the Canaanites were defiled, and for which the land should spew them out. 26, By whose example Israel is warned to keep God's statutes and judgments, lest the like evils came upon them also.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying. Speak, unto the sons of Israel; and say unto them: I, am Jehovah your God. After the doing of the land of Egypt, wherein ye dwelt, shall ye not do: and after the doing of the land of Canaan, whither I bring you, shall ye not do: and in their statutes, ye shall not walk. My judgments shall ye do, and my statutes shall ye keep, to walk in them: I, am Jehovah your God. And ye shall keep my statutes, and my judgments; which a man shall do, and shall live by them: I, am Jehovah.

None of you shall approach, unto any near-kin of his flesh, to uncover (their) nakedness: I, am Jehovah.

The nakedness of thy father, and the nakedness of thy mother, shalt thou not uncover: she is thy mother, thou shalt not uncover her nakedness.

The nakedness of thy fathers wife, shalt thou not uncover: it, is thy fathers nakedness.

The nakedness of thy sister, the daughter of thy father, or the daughter of thy mother; whether she be borne at home, or borne abroad: thou shalt not uncover, their nakedness.

The nakedness of thy sons daughter, or of thy daughters daughter; thou shalt not uncover their nakedness: for they, are thy nakedness.

The nakedness of thy fathers wives daughter, begotten of thy father; she is thy sister: thou shalt not uncover her nakedness.

The nakedness of thy fathers sister, thou shalt not uncover: she, is thy fathers near-kin.

The nakedness of thy mothers sister, thou [unspec] shalt not uncover: for she, is thy mothers near-kin.

The nakedness of thy fathers brother, thou [unspec] shalt not uncover: unto his wife, thou shalt not approach; she, is thine aunt.

The nakedness of thy daughter-in-law, thou shalt not uncover: she, is thy sons wife; thou shalt not uncover her nakedness.

The nakedness of thy brothers wife, thou shalt not uncover: it, is thy brothers nakedness.

The nakedness of a woman, and of her daughter, thou shalt not uncover: her sons daughter, or her daughters daughter, thou shalt not take, to uncover her nakedness; they are near-kin, it is wickedness.

And a woman unto her sister, thou shalt not take; to vex (her,) to uncover her nakedness upon her, in her life.

And unto a woman, in the separation of her uncleanness: thou shalt not approach, to uncover her nakedness.

And unto thy neighbors wife, thou shalt [unspec] not give thy copulation, for seed, to defile thyself with her.

And of thy seed shalt thou not give, to [unspec] cause-to-pass-through (the fire) unto Molech: and thou shalt not profane, the name of thy God; I am Jehovah.

With a male; thou shalt not lie, like copulation [unspec] with a woman: it, is abomination.

Neither shalt thou give thy copulation, with any beast, to defile thyself therewith: neither shall a woman, stand before a beast, to lie down thereto; it, is confusion.

Be not ye defiled, in any of these (things:) [unspec] for in all these, the nations are defiled, which I cast-out, from your faces. And the lands defiled; and I do visit the iniquity thereof, upon it: and the land spueth out, the inhabitants thereof. You shall therefore keep my statures, and my judgments; and shall not do, any of these abominations; neither the homeborne, nor the stranger that so journeth among you. For all these abominations, have the men of the land done, which were before you: and the land, is defiled. That the land spew not out, you also; when ye defile it: as it spewed out, the nation, which was before you. For whosoever shall do, any of the abominations: even the souls that do them, shall be cut-off, from among their people. Therefore ye shall keep my charge not to do, any of the statutes of abominations, which were done before you; and ye shall not be defiled in them: I am Jehovah your God.

Annotations.

DOing] that is, doings or actions, as the Greek and Chaldee translate: the singular number implieth all and everyone of their unlawful practices. land] which the Chaldee explaineth, the people of the land. Of Egypt, the scripture testifieth, that it was an Idolatrous land, and there Israel had been defiled, Ezek. 20. 7. 8. and 23. 8. Likewise of Canaan, Levite. 20. 23. therefore these two are expressly named, and all other implied. statutes] or, decrees, ordinances described by their laws; either for religion or otherwise if they were superstitious. The Hebrew doctors explain it thus; We may not walk in the statutes of the heathens, nor be like unto them, either in apparel, or in hair [Lev. 19. 27.] or any the like, Lev. 18. 3. But Israel must be separated from them & known by their apparel and their other works, as they are separated from them in their knowledge and opinions: and so he saith (Lev. 20. 26) I have separated you from (other) people's. A man must not apparel himself with the apparel that is peculiar unto them, nor let the locks of his head grow, like the locks of their heads, nor shave off the sides, and leave the hair in the midst, as they do, &c. nor build places, as they build temples for idolatry, &c. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, ch. 11. sect. 1.

Vers. 4. my statutes] that is, mine only; as, him thou shalt serve, Deut. 6. 13. is expounded by our Savior, him only thou shalt serve: Matt. 4. 10. It meaneth also all my statutes, Deutero. 12. 32. and so The words of this law, Deut. 27. 26. is explained by the Apostle, all things which are written in the book of the law, Ga. 3. 10. therefore in the next verse here, the Greek version addeth, And ye shall keep all my statutes. Of this it is said; Jehovah who brought you up out of the land of Egypt, with great power, and a stretched out arm, him shall ye fear, and him shall ye worship, and to him shall ye do sacrifice, and the Statutes, and the judgements, and the Law, and commandment which he wrote for you, ye shall observe to do for evermore, and ye shall not fear other God's; and the Covenant which I have made with you, ye shall not forget, &c. 2 King. 17. 36. 38. By this therefore God forbiddeth them all men's inventions, Eccles. 7. 29. the works of their own hands, Ier. 25. 6. and the statutes of the Kings of Israel, which they after made without the commandment of the Lord. 2 King. 17. 8. Mat. 6. 16.

Vers. 5. shall live by them] or, in them: that is, shall have eternal life of God, for doing them: and so the Chaldee paraphraseth, he shall live by them to life eternal: and as Solomon Rashi saith, in the world that is to come. This and the like promises elsewhere, as in Ezek. 20. 13. are legal, and differ from the promises of the Gospel; as the Apostle observeth saying; The just shall live by faith: and the Law is not of faith, but the man that doth them, shall live by them, Gal. 3. 11. 12. and again, For Moses describeth the justice which is of the Law, that the man which doth them, shall live by them, (alleging the very words of this text, according to the Greek version:)

but the justice which is of faith, speaketh on this wise; Say not in thine heart, who shall go up to heaven, &c. That, if thou shalt confess with thy mouth, that Jesus is the LORD; and shalt believe in thine heart, that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved: Rom. 10. 5.—9.

Vers. 6. None of you] Heb. Man man ye shall not approach: that is, not any man. To approach or (come near) is used for carnal copulation, as in Gen. 20. 4. Abimelech had not come near unto her. So in Ezek. 18. 6. and Esa. 8. 3. I approached unto the Prophetess, and she conceived, &c. Moreover from this word approach, the Hebrews (comparing herewith the 30. v.) do say, Who so cometh to any of these nakednesses (the unlawful copulations following,) either by way of copulation, or that embraceth or kisseth by way of lust, any of his kin, is to be beaten by the Law. For the meaning is, ye shall not approach unto the things which may bring you unto the uncovering of their nakedness. And it is unlawful for a man to make signs with hand foot or eye (as Prov. 6. 13.) to any of these, or to sport with her, or to gaze on her beauty, &c. Maimonides in Issure biah, chap. 21. sect. 1. 2. near-kin] The Hebrew Sheer signifieth flesh, Psal. 73. 26. Prov. 5. 11. and 11. 17. And as Basar, flesh, is sometime used for kindred, Gen. 29. 14. so is Sheer, in this case of marriage and copulation; and so by the Chaldee and Greek it is translated near, and near-of kin. nakedness] that is, the secrets, or shameful part of the body, whereof since sin came on mankind, we are most ashamed: therefore the Greek translatheth it shame or uncomeliness; which also the holy Ghost alloweth in Rev. 16. 15. and in Rev. 3. 18. it is called the shame of nakedness. To uncover nakedness here, meaneth carnal copulation, and incest; not only out of married estate, but also unlawful and incestuous marriages. The Hebrews say, Whatsoever copulation is forbidden in the Law; for which one is guilty of cutting off, and which are spoken of in Levite. 18. they are called Nakednesses, and everyone of them is called incest (or nakedness;) as with mother, or sister, or daughter and the like. Maimonides, treat. of Wives, chap. 1. sect. 5.

Vers. 7. of thy father, and the nakedness of thy mother] This is one fact, but a double sin: for by uncovering the fathers nakedness, is meant the lying with his wife; as Levite. 20. 11. and as after in verse 8. and in verse 14. the uncovering of the uncles nakedness, is expounded the approaching unto his wife, The Hebrews say, He that lieth with his mother, and she his fathers wife, is double guilty; (whether it be while his father is living, or after his death;) once for that she is his mother, and again for that she is his fathers wife. Maimonides in Issureibiah, chap. 2. sect. 2. It may also be thus spoken, to imply the woman with her father, as the man with his mother: and so Jonathan in his Targum here paraphraseth, The woman shall not lie with her father, and the man shall not lie with his mother.

V. 8. thy fathers wife] though she be not thine own mother, but mother in law, This was Reuben's sin, who lay with Bilhah his fathers concubine, Gen. 35. 22. It was a sin infamous among the heathens, 1 Cor. 5. 1. The Hebrew canons say; A man's fathers wife, and his sons wife, and his brothers wife, and his fathers brothers wife, these four are a nakedness unto him [that is, unlawful for him] forever: whether they be of the betrothed, or of the married, be they divorced or not divorced, be their husbands alive or dead; except it be his brothers wife who hath left no child (at his death, Deut. 25. 5.) And if he lie with any one of them, whiles her husband is alive, he is double guilty: in respect that she is of his near kin, and again for that she is another man's wife. Maimonides in •ssureibiah, chap. 2. sect. 1. it is thy fathers nakedness] that is, it belongeth to him only to uncover the same.

Vers. 9. whether she be borne at home, &c.] Hebr. of the birth (or kindred) of the house (or home;) or of the birth abroad: which the Chaldee expoundeth thus, which is begotten by the father, of another woman; or of thy mother, by another man. The Hebrew canons further explain it, thus; whether she be his sister by his father, or by his mother, either in married estate, or by fornication; as if his mother or his father have committed whoredom with others, and he hath a sister from fornication; loe this is a nakedness [that is forbidden] unto him; as it is written. Borne at home, or borne abroad. Maimonides in Issurei biah, chap. 2. sect. 2. So in Targum •onathan it is expounded, whom thy father hath begotten of another woman, or of thy mother; or whom thy mother hath borne by thy father, or by another man.

Verse 10. daughters daughter] and so other of further descent: how much more then his next daughter, though she be not named. The Hebrews say; Who so companieth with a woman by way of fornication, and begetteth a daughter of her, that daughter is a nakedness (forbidden) him, in the name of his daughter. And although hit be not said in the Law, Thou shalt not uncover thy daughters nakedness: for as much as it forbiddeth the daughters daughter, it keepeth silence concerning the daughter, which yet is forbidden by the Law, and not by the Scribes only. Maimonides in Issureibiah chap. 2. sect. 6. thy nakedness]▪ that is, borne of thy nakedness.

Vers. 11. begotten] or, the generation, or kin of thy father. This some do understand, a kin to thy father by marriage with her mother, and no• begotten of his body: but the Greek translatheth it Homo patria, begotten of the same father; and the Chaldee expoundeth it likewise. The Hebrew doctors also explain it, The daughter of his fathers wife, which is his sister by his father: she is a nakedness (unlawful) for him. But if his father mary a wife, and she hath a daughter by another man, that daughter is lawful for him, for she is not (Moledeth) begotten of his father. But is he not guilty concerning her, by the name of his sister? And why is it said, the daughter of thy fathers wife? to make him guilty concerning her, in this respect also. Therefore •e that companieth with his sister, which is his fathers daughter in marriage, is double guilty; once by the name of Thy sisters nakedness; and again by the name of The nakedness of thy fathers wives daughter. But if his father have forced a woman, or enticed her, and begotten a daughter of her, and (the son) company with her, he is not guilty but by the name of his sister only: for the daughter of a forced woman, is not the daughter of his fathers wife. Maimonides in Issure• 〈ϕ〉 , chap. 2. sect. 3. 4.

V. 12. fathers sister] thy aunt, by thy fathers side. [unspec 13]

Vers. 13. mothers sister] thy aunt, by the mothers side. Of these the Hebrews say; His mothers sister, whether it be her sister by her father, or her sister by her mother; whether in married estate, or in fornication; loe she is a nakedness (forbidden) unto him, by the name of his mothers sister. And so the fathers sister, whether by mother or father, in marriage or in fornication; she is forbidden him by the name of his fathers sister▪ Maimonides in Issureibiah, chap. 2. sect. 5.

Vers. 14. fathers brother] meaning his wife (as the next words show,) called his nakedness, because man and wife are one flesh, Matth. 19. 6. So in verse 16. So the notes on verse 8. not approach] in Greek, not go in: that is, not lie with her: see the notes on verse 6. thine aunt] the Chaldee explaineth it, thy fathers brothers wife.

Vers. 15. daughter-in-law] that is, thy sons wife, as it is after explained. The Hebrew name Callab, elsewhere signifieth a spouse or bride: here it is, the sons wife; touching whom, see what is noted on verse 8.

Vers. 16. brothers wife] except when the brother deceaseth without children, then the next brother marrieth her, Deut. 25. 5. See the notes on verse 8.

Vers. 17. or her] Hebr. and her: but and is often used for or; as is noted on Genes. 13. 8. Of these laws, the Hebrews write thus; When a man marrieth a woman, there are six women of her kin, unlawful for him forever, whether his wife live with him, or be divorced, whether she be alive or after her death▪ and they are those; her mother, and her mothers mother, and her fathers mother, and her daughter, and her daughters daughter, and her sons daughter. And if he lie with any one of them, whiles his wife liveth; both of them are to be burned, (Levite. 20. 14.) Maimonides in Issre•biah, chap. 2. sect. 7. wickedness] in Hebrew Zimmah, which properly signifieth a wicked thought or purpose; but is applied also to wicked acts, and particularly to unlawful copulations; the Chaldee here translatheth it counsel (or purpose) of sins: the Greek, an impiety (or impious act;) and in Levite. 20. 14. an unlawful-act.

Vers. 18. a woman] or, a wife unto her sister, which the Chaldee translatheth with her sister. Which word sister, may be understood of any other woman, (as brother is often used for any other man, Gen. 26. 31. and 19. 7.) & then the law here forbiddeth to take any more wives than one; which the reason following seemeth to confirm. The Hebrews understand it of her next sister in blood, whether she be her sister by the mother, or her sister by the father; whether in way of marriage, or in fornication. Maimonides in Issre•biah, chap. 2. sect. 9. to vex her] or, vexing her, or for an adversary, as Penin•ah is called the adversary (or vexer) of Anna, the other wife of Elkanah, 1 Sam. 1. 6. whereby it is probable, that the sister forementioned, is any other wife; and the Greek here and there translatheth a like Antizelos an  $\langle \phi \rangle$  or envier. For when one man hath two wives, they are ready to envy and vex one another: see Gen. 4. 19. 23. and 30. 15. in her life] or, whiles she is alive, as the Greek explaineth it.

Vers. 19▪ a woman] or, a wife: even from his own wife, every man was to abstain, during this her uncleanness. See Levite. 12. and 15. chapters. separ  $\langle \dots \rangle$  ] that is, so long as she is separated for the uncleanness of her monthly fluors; whereof see Lev. 15. 19. They that transgressed this Law presumptuously, were to be cut-off; Levite. 20 18. and for transgression thereof in Israel, the prophet proclaimeth, Ezek. 22. 10. And by the Hebrew doctors, this uncleanness was as the residue of all the nakednesses forementioned; who so uncovereth her nakedness so, deserveth to be cut off. Maimonides in Issureibiah, ch. 4. sect. 1.

Vers. 20. not give thy copulation, for seed] or, of seed; that is, not lie fleshly with her; not comit adultery: which the Hebrew expresseth here by the lying (or bed) unto seed: and in Leviticus 19. 20. the lying (or bed) of seed; and so the Greek translatheth it here. The phrase meaneth carnal copulation: and not only when it is unto emission of seed, but any other uncleanness. The Hebrew cannons distinguish between the beginning of this act, (which they call the uncovering of nakedness) and the accomplishment thereof. And in all these copulations spoken of, whether he hath uncovered her nakedness, (beginning the act with his body▪) or hath accomplished it; yea though it be not to the effusio of seed &c. when he hath begun the act with his body, they are both of them guilty of death by the Magistrate, or of cutting off, or of beating, or of chastisement, Maimonides in Issureibiah, ch. 1. sect. 10.

Vers. 21. of thy seed] that is, of any of thy children, thy son or thy daughter, as Moses expoundeth it in Deut. 18. 10. See also Lev. 20. 2. through the fire] this word fire, is after expressed in Deut. 18. 10. and in 2 Kings 11. 3. which another Prophet expoundeth, burn in the fire, 2 Chron. 28. 3. which was the abominable custom of the heathens, so dedicating their children unto idols and Devils: and the like abomination, the Israelites committed in a valley near to Jerusalem, 2 Chron. 33. 6. Ierm. 32. 35. which King Josiah abolished, when he defiled Topheth, which was in the valley of the sons of Hinnom; that no man might make his son or his daughter, to pass through the fire to Molech, 2 King. 23. 10. This sin is here forbidden amongst whoredoms and incests, because even it is spiritual whoredom; as in Lev. 20. 5. it is called a going a whoring after Molech. The manner of doing this wickedness, it not now certainly known: but is thought to be done two ways, some being burned to death, othersome made to pass only between two fires, for a sign of consecration. So of Achaz King of Judah, it is said, he burnt his sons in the fire, 2 Chron. 28. 3. and of the Jews, that they burnt their sons and their daughters in the fire, Ierm. 7. 31. and that they burnt their sons with fire, for burnt offerings unto B••l, Ierm. 19. 5. yea they sacrificed their sons and their daughters unto Devills; and shed innocent blood, the blood of their sons and of their daughters, whom they sacrificed unto the idols of Canaan. Psal. 106. 37. 38. R. Bechai (on Lev. 18) saith that the parents were persuaded, that by this sacrifice, the rest of their children should be delivered from death, and that they themselves should prosper for it, all days of their life. Of the manner of consecrating and not killing their children, the Hebrews write thus; There was a great fire kindled, and (the father) took some of his seed, to deliver the same unto the Priests that served the fire▪ and the same Priests gave the son unto his father, after that he was delivered into their hand, to cause him to pass through the fire, by his leave: and the father of the son, was he that made his son pass through the fire, by the leave of the priests, and he led him through on his feet, from one side to another, in the midst of the flame; but burned him not to Molech, after the manner that they burned their sons and their daughters to other Idols; but this service named Molech, was by passing through only. Maimonides treat of Idolatry, ch. 6. sect. 3. And for the manner of killing their children, in the honor of Molech, it is thus recorded in an Hebrew commentary called Ialkut, upon Ierm. 7. sol. 61. col. 4. Though all (other) houses of Idolatry were in Jerusalem, yet Molechs house was without the city, in a place apart. How was Molech made? It was an Image having the face of a Bullock, and hands spread abroad, like a man that openeth his hands, to receive somewhat▪ Within, it was hollow: and for it there were seven chappels built, before which this image was set. Who so offered a fowl or dove, went into the first chapel▪ if he brought a Lamb, he went into the second; if a Ram, into the third; if a calf, into the fourth; if a bullock, into the fifth, if an Ox, into the sixth; and if he offered his son, he went into the seventh. He kissea Molech, as (in Hos. 13. 2.) Let the sacrificers of men, kiss the calves. The son was set before Molech, and Molech having fire put under it, was made burning hot. Then the Priests taking the child, put him into Molechs burning bands: and to the end that the father might no hear the cry of the child, they did beat upon Tabers: thereupon was the place called Tophet; of Toph, which is a Taber. But of these things, we have no certainty, save that the scriptures witness such impiety to have been in Israel. Molech] the name of an Idol, or Star, which the Ammonites and other heathens worshipped, called also Moloch, Amos 5. 26. and Milcom, 1 King. 11. 5. 7. and was so named, as being Melech, King; wherefore the Greek translatheth it Archon a Prince: and is thought of some to be the star Saturn, the highest of all the Planets, unto which the Carthaginians are said to have sacrificed the best of their sons, Diodorus. Sicul. l. 20. and likewise the Phoenicians, Euseb. praep. Evang. lib. 4. Others think it was the Sun, which is as King and chief of all the Planets, and whom the Phoenicians worshipped by the name of Be'l samen, that is, Lord of heaven, as Sanchonjatho testifieth, in Euseb. Evang. praep. lib. 1. called in the holy Scriptures Baal. And this seemeth probable, for whereas in Tophet in the valley of the sons of Hinnom, they used to make their children pass through the fire to Molech, 2 King. 23. 10.

Jeremiah saith they offered them unto Baal, e•m. 19. 5. compared with Ierm. 7. 31. and Ier. 32. 35. So either it was a star, as the Prophet saith, the star of your God, Amos 5. 26. or, the multitude of stars, as Stephen saith, God gave them up to worship the host of heaven, Act. 7. 42. which another Prophet confirmeth, saying, They shall spread them before the Sun, and the Moon, and all the host of heaven, whom they have loved, and whom they have served: Ier. 8. 2. Of like sort were Adram melech, and Anam-melech the God's of Sepharvaim, unto whom that people, burnt their children in fire, 2 King 17. 31. Of this Idol Molech, R. Solomon (on Ierem. 7. 31.) saith; there was an Image of brass, set up in the valley of Hinnom near Jerusalem, after the form before noted out of Ialkut. not profane] or, not pollute, not prostitute: it is contrary to hallowing or sanctifying, Lev. 22. 32. And as God's name is profaned funday ways, Lev. 21. 6. and 19. 12. so in special by idolatry; as when they applied God's name or word, to the service of Molech forementioned, or the like. The Hebrew doctors among other things, do apply this unto the giving of ones life for the truth and religion of God; saying: Who so ever ought rather to be killed, then to transgress (God's law) if he be killed, for that he will not transgress, loe he sanctifieth the name (of God;) and if it be before ten men of Israel, loe he sanctifieth the Name publicly, as did Daniel, Ananias, Misael, Azarias &c. Dan. 3. & 6. And of such it is said (in Ps. 44.) for thy sake we are killed all the day, &c. But who soever ought to be killed rather then to transgress; and he transgresseth rather he will be killed, toe be profaneth the Name (of God) and if it be before ten of Israel, he profaneth it publicly, and he disanulleth the affirmative precept, for sanctifying God's name; and transgresseth against the prohibition of profaning his name. Maimonides, tom. 1. in Iesudei hatorah, ch. 5. sect 4.

Vers. 22. with a male] or, with man-kind: this was the sin of Sodom, Gen. 19. 5. and of other heathens, Rom. 1. 27. called the going after other flesh, Iuce verse. 7. They that thus sinned, were by Moses Law to be stoned to death, Lev. 20. 13. by the law of Christ, they shall be shut out of the kingdom of God, 1 Cor. 6. 9. 10. like copulation with a woman] Hebrew, with the lyings (or copulations) of a woman.

Vers. 23. to lie down thereto] or, that it may lie with her, which sense the Greek version also affordeth. So in Lev. 20. 16. where such beastliness is punished with death. And whether it be tame-beast, or wild-beast, or fowl, all are to be stoned to death, Maimonides in Issureibiah, ch. 1. sect. 16. confusion] in Greek, a detestable thing.

Vers. 24. in any of these] or, in all these; which Targum Jonathan expoundeth, in any-one of all these; every of which, the Hebrews call Nakednes, after the scripture phrase: and they say, There are also other women, which are forbidden by tradition, and the doctrine of the Scribes; these they call Secondaries, as being second (or next) to the foresaid nakednesses; and of them there be 20. women and they are these.

1 The mothers mother, and this is infinite, as the mothers mothers mothers mother, and so all upward, are unlawful.

2 The mother of his mothers father, only: and no further are forbidden.

3 His fathers mother, infinite: as the fathers mothers, mothers mother, and all upward, are unlawful.

4 The mother of his fathers father, and no further.

5 The wife of his fathers father, infinite. Though she were the wife of our father Jacob [or Noah] she is unlawful for every of us.

6 The wife of his mothers father, and no further.

7 The wife of his fathers brother by the mother.

8 The wife of his mothers brother, whether by the mother or by the father.

9 His sons daughter in law [that is, his sons sons wife] infinite: though it should be his sons sons sons sons wife, even to the worlds end. So that Noah if he were now living, might never marry with any widow, that had been wife to any of his sons.

10 His daughters daughter in law (or sons wife) and no further.

11 The daughter of his sons daughter, & no further.

12 The daughter of his son, son and no further.

13 The daughter of his daughters daughter, only,

14 The daughter of his daughters son, only.

15 The daughter of his wives sons son, only.

16 The daughter of his wives daughters daughter, only.

17 The mother of his wives fathers mother, only.

18 The mother of his wives mothers father, only.

19 The mother of his wives mothers mother, only.

20 The mother of his wives fathers father only. So there are found of these which are secondarily unlawful, four which are infinite. The mothers mother, and all upward. The fathers mother, and all upward. The grandfathers wife, and all upward. The sons son wife, and all downward. Maimonides in Ishoth (or ⟨...⟩ of Wives.) ch. ⟨◇⟩ . sect. 6.

Vers. 25. do visit] or, have visited, that is, punished, [unspec] or, (as the Greek translath) recompensed: the time past being used for the more certainty, ⟨...⟩ the thing were already done. spueth] or, v ⟨...⟩ teth out, with •othsomnesse and indignation, ⟨◇⟩ the Greek explaineth it. So after, & in Lev. 20. ⟨◇⟩ .

Vers. 26. any of these] or, any of all these abo ⟨...⟩ tions. [unspec] So in verse. 29. stranger] or sojourner, ⟨◇⟩ Greek, proselyte.

⟨ in non-Latin alphabet ⟩

AND Jehovah spake, unto Moses, saying. Speak unto all the Congregation of the sons of Israel, and say unto them, Ye shall be holy: for I Jehovah your God, am holy.

Ye shall fear, every-man his mother and his father; and keep my Sabbaths: I am Jehovah your God.

Turn ye not unto Idols; and make not to your-selves, molten gods: I, am Jehovah your God.

And when ye sacrifice, a sacrifice of Peace offering, unto Jehovah: ye shall sacrifice it, for your favorable acceptation. In the day that ye sacrifice it, it shall be eaten, and on the morrow: and that which remaineth, until the third day; shall be burnt in the fire. And if, it be eaten at all, in the third day: it is a polluted-thing, it shall not be favourably-accepted. And they that eat it, everyone shall bear his iniquity; because he hath profaned, the holy thing of Jehovah: and that soul, shall be cut-off-from his people's.

And when ye reap, the harvest of your land; thou shalt not wholly-rid, the corner of thy field, in reaping: neither shalt thou glean, the gleaning of thy harvest. And thou [unspec] shalt not gather-the-single-grapes, of thy vineyard; nor glean, the grapes that are broken off of thy vineyard: thou shalt leave them, for the poor and for the stranger; I, am Jehovah your God.

Ye shall not steal: neither falsely-deny, nor deal-falsely, any-man with his neighbor.

And ye shall not swear by my name, to falsehood: and thou shalt not profane, the name of thy God, I am Jehovah.

Thou shalt not fraudulently-oppress thy [unspec] neighbor, neither rob him: the work of him that is hired, shall not abide-all-night with thee, until the morning.

Thou shalt not curse the deaf; and before [unspec] the blind, thou shalt not put a stumbling-block: but thou shalt fear thy God; I am Jehovah.

Ye shall not do unrighteousness, in judgment; thou shalt not respect the person of the poor; nor honor, the person of the great man: in justice shalt thou judge thy neighbor.

Thou shalt not walk a talebearer, among thy people; thou shalt not stand, against the blood of thy neighbor: I, am Jehovah.

Thou shalt not hate thy brother, in thine heart: rebuking thou shalt rebuke thy neighbor; and not bear sin, for him.

Thou shalt not avenge: nor keep grudge, against the sons of thy people; but thou shalt love thy neighbor, as thyself: I am Jehovah.

Ye shall keep my statutes; Thou shalt not let thy cattle gender, with divers-kinds: Thou shalt not sow thy field, with divers-kinds: and a garment of divers-kinds, of linsie-woolsie; shall not come upon thee.

And a man, when he shall lie with a woman, to copulation of seed; and she a bondwoman, betrothed to a man; and redeeming she is not redeemed; or freedom, is not given her: a scourging shall be, they shall not be put-to death, because she was not free. And he shall bring his Trespass-offering, unto Jehovah; unto the door, of the Tent of the congregation: a ram, for a Trespass-offering. And the Priest shall make-atonement for him, with the ram of the Trespass-offering, before Jehovah; for his sin, which he hath sinned: and the sin, which he hath sinned, shall be forgiven him.

And when ye shall come into the land, & shall have planted any tree for food; then ye shall count-as-uncircumcised the uncircumcision thereof, the fruit thereof: three years, shall it be unto you, as uncircumcised, it shall not be eaten. And in the fourth year, all the fruit thereof shall be, holiness of praises, unto Jehovah. And in the fifth year, ye shall eat the fruit thereof; to add unto you, the revenue thereof: I, am Jehovah your God.

Ye shall not eat, with the blood: ye shall not observe-fortunes, not observe-times. Ye shall not round, the corner of your head: neither shalt thou mar, a corner of thy beard. And ye shall not make in your flesh, any cutting for a soul; neither shall ye make upon you, the print of any mark; I am Jehovah.

Profane not thy daughter, to cause her to be-an-whore: that the land fall not to whoredom; and the land become full, of wickedness.

Ye shall keep my Sabbaths; and reverence my Sanctuary; I, am Jehovah.

Turn not unto them that have familiar-spirits, and unto wizards; seek not, to be defiled by them: I, am Jehovah your God.

Thou shalt rise-up, before the hoary-head; and honor, the face of the old-man: and fear thy God, I am Jehovah.

And when a stranger, shall sojourn with thee, in your land: ye shall not vex him. The stranger, that sojourneth with you, shall be unto you, as one homeborne amongst you; and thou shalt love him, as thyself; for ye were strangers, in the land of Egypt: I am Jehovah your God.

Ye shall not do unrighteousness, in judgment: in meteyard, in weight, or in measure. Just balances, just stones, a just Ephah, and a just Hin, shall ye have: I am Jehovah your God, which brought you out, from the land of Egypt. And ye shall keep all my statutes, and all my judgments; and shall do them: I am Jehovah.

Annotations.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Here beginneth the thirtieth section, or lecture of the Law. See Gen. 6. 9.

BE holy] that is, separated from sin, & dedicated unto God, and his obedience; which is the sum of the first Table, yea of all the Law. The Apostle openeth it thus; As obedient children, not fashioning yourselves, according to the former lusts in your ignorance: but as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation: because it is written, Be ye holy, for I am holy, 1 Pet. 1. 14. 15. 16. See also Lev. 11. 44.

Ver. 3. fear] or reverence. This openeth the fifth commandment, Honor &c. Exod. 20. 12. showing that it implieth inward reverence, as all the Law is spiritual, Rom. 7. 14. And here the mother is named before the father, which is not usual. See the notes on Exod. 20. 12. The Hebrews say, It is written, Honor thy father and thy mother, Exod. 20. 12. it is also written, Honor the Lord with thy substance, Prov. 3. 9. Again it is written, Ye shall fear every man his mother and his father, Lev. 19. 3. it is also written, Thou shalt fear the Lord thy God, Deut. 6. 13. as he commandeth the honor of God's great name and his fear, so he commandeth the honor and fear of parents. He that curseth his father or mother, is stoned: and he that blasphemeth (God) is stoned: loe he maketh them equal in punishment. For honor, the father is set before the mother; and for fear, the mother before the father: to teach that they are both alike for honor or for fear. What is this Fear? It is not to stand in his place, nor sit in his place, nor to oppose his words, nor to carpe at his words, nor to call him by his name either living or dead; but to say Sir, or my Lord, my Father, Maimonides in Misneh. tom. 4. treat. of Rebels, chap. 6. sect. 1. &c. Sabbaths] in Chaldee, Sabbath days: both the seventh day, and all other days of rest, which were likewise called Sabbaths, Lev. 23. 32. See the annotations on Exod. 20. 8.—11. I am Jehovah] This is a ground and reason of these, and almost all the other precepts following; as it was prefixed before the ten Commandments: see Exod. 20. 2.

Vers. 4. Turn ye not] to weat, your faces: or Look not, Regard not: in Greek, Follow not. It implieth also the turning-away of the heart, Deut. 30. 17. and 29. 18. But from this word, the Hebrews say, that it is forbidden even to look-attentively, on the similitude of an image. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, ch. 2. sect. 2 Idols] called in Hebrew Elilim, which properly signifieth things of naught, nothing, vain, and naught worth: according to the nature of which name, Paul saith, we know that an Idol is nothing in the world, and that there is none other God but one, 1 Cor. 8. 4. Elim signifieth, God's; Elilim, 〈◇〉 God's; which the Greek here nameth Eidda, whereof our English Idols is derived: in the Chaldee they are called Errors, or Aberrations. And Elilim is applied to other things also, which are of no value; as in Job 13. 4. Physicians Elil, that is, vain or of no value, & in Ier. 14. 14. false prophets prophesied Elil, a thing of naught. And as Images, are the same that Idols, in signification, so Images of silver and gold, are called Elilim Idols, Isaiah 2. 20. So that hereby God forbiddeth the transgression of the first and second commandments. And the Hebrew doctors say, It is not Idolatry only which a man is forbidden to turn after it in his thought; but every thought which occasioneth a man to deny any of the fundamental points of the Law, we are warned that it come not into our heart, &c. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, ch. 2. s. 3. molten God's] Hebrew, gods of melting: meaning Images, God's of silver and of gold, as Exodus 20. 23. such as was the mo 〈...〉 calf, Exod. 32. 8. 31. The Prophet calleth them teachers of lies, Habak. 2. 18. yet unto such, Idolaters said, ye are our God's, Isaiah 42. 17.

Vers. 5. of Peace-offerings] or of payments, whereof see Lev. 3. 1. for your favorable-acceptation] that it may be acceptable to God for you: see the notes on Lev. 1. 3. This sense Sol. Rashi giveth of these words here. Some do understand it, at your own will, such as you like best to offer: but the 7. verse following, showeth the former interpretation 〈◇〉 there to be meant. Though this later also is good, and may be implied; and is so expounded by C 〈...〉 kuni, that they should give their good will therein, and not grudge or have an evil eye in that which they offered before the Lord. For some men (saith he) do not offer with the heart, but because they see other men do so, and it were a shame for them, if they should not do likewise. But another meaning (saith he) may be this, Do the thing that may be for your favorable-acceptation, as that it be eaten on that day, or on the morrow.

Vers. 6. burnt] as being polluted by over long keeping it. See these things opened in Levi 〈...〉 7. 18. 19.

Verse 7. eaten at all] or, any of it eaten: Hebrew, eating eaten. a polluted-thing] or, abominable, is Greek, unsacrificeable; but Aquila turneth it 〈◇〉 in Greek Apobleton, a thing to be rejected, which word Paul useth, in 1 Tim. 4. 4. See the notes 〈◇〉 Lev. 7. 18.

Vers. 8. his iniquity] in Greek, sin, meaning punishment for his iniquity• see the notes on Levite. 7. 18. the holy thing] Hebrew, the holiness; in Greek, the holy things. that soul] that is, as the Chaldee translatheth, that man shall be destroyed: see Lev. 7. 18. In Greek, the souls that eat it, shall be destroyed out of their people.

Vers. 9. not wholly-rid] or, not make a full-end, not make clean-riddance, of the corner of thy field, to reap the same. The like is after, in Levite. 23. 22. corner] that is, the outside, or utmost-part: the corner may also be understood for many corners. The Hebrew canons declare it thus; He that reapeth his field, must not reap all the field wholly; but must leave a little standing corn for the poor, in end of the field, (Lev. 23. 22.) whether he cut it, or pluck it up: and that which is left, is called the Corner [Peah.] And as he must leave of the field, so of the trees, when he gathereth their fruits, he must leave a little for the poor. If he transgress, and do reap all the field, or gather all the fruits of the trees: he must take a little of that which he hath reaped, or of that which he hath gathered, and give it to the poor; for the giving of it is a commandment. Yea though he have ground it, or baked it into bread, yet he must give thereof a corner to the poor. If all w<sup>ch</sup> he hath reaped, be lost or burnt, before he hath given the corner, then is he to be beaten: because he hath transgressed a prohibition and cannot confirm the commandment thereof, which unto him is broken off. Maimonides in Misneh tom. 3. in Mattanoth gnanijim, ch. 1. sect. 1. 2. 3. What is the measure of the Corner? By the Law, there is no measure set for it; if he leave but one ear of corn, he is discharged. But by the words of the Scribes it must be no less then one of sixty. And a man may add more then one of sixty, according to the greatness of the field, or multitude of the poor, or blessing of the seed. As if the field be very small so that if he leave thereof the sixtieth part, it will not benefit a poor man, then is he to add unto the measure: and so if there be many poor, be addeth. And if he did s<sup>w</sup> little, & reapeth much because it is blessed: he addeth according to the blessing. And who so addeth more unto the corner, he shall his reward increased, and there is no measure of this addition. They leave no corner, but ‹ϕ› the end of the field; to the end that the poor may know the place whither to come, &c. At three times in the day they part the corner for the poor; at morning, and at midday, and at the evening sacrifice. [that is, 3. of the ‹ϕ› in the afternoon] and the poor that comes not at ‹ϕ› of these times, they suffer him not •o take any away; ‹ϕ› there may be a set time, for the poor, to come together all of them, to take, it. If a man have two fields, he may not reap•the one wholly, and leave in the other a ‹...› them both; for it is written, the corner OF THY FIELD: but he must leave in everyone ‹...› for the same. He that soweth his field with one kind (of seed;) though he make therein two threshing ‹ϕ›, he leaveth but one corner. If he sow two kinds of seed, though he make but one floor, he must give a ‹ϕ› for ‹ϕ› one sort, by it self; and a corner for the other sort, ‹ϕ› itself. If he sow it with •o kinds of wheat ‹ϕ› › two kinds of barley; then, if he make but one floor, he giveth but one corner; if two floores, he giveth two cor•ers. Maimonides in Mattanoth gn ‹...› im, (or treat. of Gifts to the poor) c. 1. sect. 1. 2. 3. 15. and ch. 2. s. 12. 17. and c. 3. s. 1. 14. in reaping] or, to reap the same: which in Lev. 23. 22. Moses explaineth thus, when thou reapest. glean] or gather. the gleaning] or gathering, that is, the ears of corn which fall off, as the Greek version explaineth it. So the Hebrews say, the gleaning is that which falleth out of the sickle in the time of reaping, or that falleth out of the hand when he gathereth the cares and reapeth; if so be that which falleth be but an ear, or two. But if there fall three together, those three are the owners of the field. And that which sallethrō after the sickle, or from after the hand though it be but one care, is not for gleaning. He that plucketh up things which are to be plucked, that which falleth from under his hand, is for gleaning. If he reap and there be left an ear unreaped, if the top of it reach to the other standing corn which is thereby, so that he may reap it with the other standing corn, it is the owners of the field; if not, it is for the poor. If the wind scatter the corn, so that the harvest of the owner of the field, is mixed with that which is to be gleaned, then they measure the field, how much gleaning it is meet for to afford, and they give (so much) to the poor. If (the owner) have transgressed, and gathered the gleanings, though he have ground it, and baked it, he must give it to the poor. If it be lost or burnt, after it is gathered, before it be given to the poor; he is to be beaten. Mai. in Mattanoth gnanijim, ch. 4. sect. 1.—5. and c. 1. s. 4.

Vers. 10. not gather-the-single-grapes] that is, the grapes which grow single, and not in clusters; such the owner of the vineyard might not gather, but leave them for the poor. Gnoleloth are single-grapes Isaiah 24. 13. Hobad, verse. 5. differing from the clusters of grapes, Mich. 7. 1. So the Hebrews explain this law, saying, Gnoleloth are little clusters which are not thick, as clusters which are not compact together, and whose grapes are not joined one upon another, but dissevered. And it is called Gnolel, because it is to the other clusters as (gnolel that is) achild to a man, &c. and single berries, they are gnoleloth. A branch whereon there is a cluster, and single grapes on the twig of the branch, if the single grapes be cut off with the cluster, they are the owners of the vineyard; if not, they are for the poor. If a vine-yard have all single grapes it is for the poor, as it is written, THOU SHALT NOT GATHER THE SINGLE GRAPES OF THY VINE-YARD, although it be all single grapes. And no single grapes or particular berries are due (to the poor,) but in the vineyard only. Maimonides in Mattanoth gnan. ch. 4. sect. 17. &c. the grapes-that-are-brokenoff] or, the particular-berries. The Hebrew Peret, which hath the signification of parting, breaking, and falling off, meaneth here such particular grapes as are broken and fall off from the clusters in the vintage. That as in the field, the corner was that which was left growing, and the gleaning was of the ears that fell away in the reaping: so the single grapes, were such as grew not in clusters; and the Peret, are grapes broken and fallen off in the gathering. So the Greek translatheth it, Rhogas, that is, berries-broken-off; and the Chaldee Nithra, is of like meaning; and the Hebrews expound it to be particular berries one or two, that are brokenoff from the cluster, in the time of the grape-gat hering: but if there be three berries together, or more; they are not Peret, nor left for gleaning, but are the owners. Yet that which is thrown to the earth, in the grape gathering, they count for Peret, though it be half a cluster, or an whole one: so that he that putteth a basket under the vine, in the time when he gathereth grapes (to save for himself those which so fall off) he robbeth the poor: Maimonides in Mattanoth gnan, chap. 4. sect. 15. 16. Besides the fruit of the vine, other fruits that are for food, are implied in this law; therefore in Deut, 24. 20. Moses mentioneth the like of the Olive tree: and there in the verse 19. he addeth another branch of this law, touching a sheaf forgotten in the field, which must not be fetched again, but left for the poor. So the Hebrew doctors understand this precept largely; for by harvest and reaping, they say is implied whatsoever, is like unto harvest, that it is bound to yield a corner for the poor; as all kind of grain in the field, and all pulse, as rise, millet, lentils, also nutts, almonds, pomgranats, grapes, olives, dates, and all such like; whatsoever is for meat, and groweth out of the earth, and is gathered as an harvest Therefore herbs are free from paying this duty, because they are not gathered and laid up for men's livelihood, but garlic, and onions, must pay the corner, because, they are dried and brought into the house for provision. So they say, There are four gifts for the poor, in the vineyard: the grapes that are broken. off, and the single-grapes, and the corner, and that which is forgotten. Three gifts, are from the revenues of the field; the gleaning, and that which is for gotten, and the corner. And two, from trees; that which is forgotten, and the corner, Maimonides in Mattanoth gua•ijim, ch. 2. sect. 1. 2. and ch. 1. sect. 7. thou shalt leave them] Hence the Hebrews gather, that the poor have nothing to do with these gifts, until the good-man of the house have separated them purposely. Therefore a poor man, that seeth a corner in the end of a field, may not touch the same, (upon pain of robbery,) until he know that the master of the house knoweth thereof. After they are thus left, the master of the house hath no right in them, but the poor may come and take them, yea though it be against the masters will. Maimonides, ibidem, ch. 2. sect. 14. and ch. 1. s. 8. And whereas the master of the family was to give the first fruits to the Priests, Numb. 18. 12. and the tithes to the Levites, Numb. 18. 24. and a second tithe, for him and his to eat before the Lord, Deut. 12. 17. 18. these gifts, were to be left for the poor, before any of the other: and every third year, that a tithe, was also given to the poor, Deut. 14. 28. 29. besides other relief, Deut. 7. 8. so merciful was God, to the poor of his people. Neither might they be defrauded of these gifts, under color of religion; If a man sanctified his vineyard, (to the Lord,) after single-grapes were known to be in it: the poor had these single-grapes not withstanding: and if the tithe were given to a Levite, and single-grapes were found therein, he was to give them to the poor. Maimonides in Ma•gna• ch. 4. sect. 23. 26. Now who those poor were, to whom these gleanings, single grapes, corners, &c. did belong, the Hebrew canons declare thus; Who so hath two <...> dred Zurims, [that is, fifty shek else of silver, for a <ϕ> is the fourth part of a shekel; and what the shekel is, see the notes on Gen. 20. 16] let him not take of the gleaning, or of that which is forgot, or of the corner, or of the tithe of the poor. If he have 200 lacking one, he may take. If they be pawned to his creditor, or be for his wives dowry, them also he taketh. And they cannot bind him to sell his house or stuff. Talmud Bab. in Peah, ch. 8. s. 8. for the stranger] and for the father less, and for the widow, Deut. 24. 19. By the stranger is chiefly meant the proselyte (as the Greek here translath,) converted to the faith, though others are not forbidden, because in these gifts, was no holiness at all, as in other things that were sanctified. The Hebrews say, every stranger spoken of, in the gifts to the poor, is not meant, but of the righteous stranger. For loe he saith of the second tithe, And the Levite shall come, and the stranger, (Deut. 14. 19.) the Levite is within the covenant, so the stranger is within the covenant. Notwithstanding they withhold not the poor heathens from these gifts. It is said, thou shalt leave them for the poor &c. all the while that there are poor men to require them. If the poor cease to seek or come again for them, that which is left, is free for any man to take. And he is not bound to give (the poor) the price of thē; for it is not said, he shall give them to the poor, but he shall leave them. And it is not meet to leave them for beasts and birds, but for the poor: and loe there <ϕ> poor. After that the poor are gone into a vineyard & come away: the grapes which remain afterward, are <ϕ> for any man; &c. Maim. in Mattanoth gnan. chap. 1. sect. 9. 10. 11. I am Jehovah,] by whose commandment, this law was stablished in Israel, to the end that they might remember their own poverty and bondage which they endured in Egypt; and that by doing these works of mercy, the Lord might bless them, in all the work of their hands. Which reasons, M ses rendteth of this precept, in Dent. 24. 19. 22.

Vers 11. not steal] see the notes on Exod. 20. 15. In that he speaketh as to many ye shall not, Chazkuni here gathereth, that he that seeth one steal, ⟨ϕ⟩ holdeth his peace, he also stealeth as doth the principal in the theft. falsely-deny] in Greek, not lie; it is a general word for lying, or denying of things in respect either of God, as Prov. 30. 9. or of men, as Lev. 6. 2. And unto this latter, of denying other men's goods that are in their hand, do the Hebrews refer this prohibition. Maimonides rom 3. treat. of Oaths, ch. 1. s. 8. deal falsely] or lie, in violating covenants, as Gen. 21. 23. Psal. 44. 18. or swearing falsely, or any other way.

Ver. 12. to falsehood] or falsely; in Greek, to an unjust thing; The contrary is required, Thou shalt swear, the Lord liveth, in Truth, in Judgment, and in Instice. Ierem. 4. 2. And God's Name is of large signification, as is noted on Exod. 20. 7. so that whether one use any of God's proper names, or describe him by other words, as he that liveth forever, be that created heaven and earth, &c. (as Rev. 10. 6.) or any the like, it is a full oath. And by swea ⟨...⟩, is understood cursing also, which is of the same nature, as in Gen. 24. 8. 41. the same thing, is called an ⟨ϕ⟩, and a curse (or exsecration.) So the He ⟨...⟩ canons say: *Whether one swear by (God's) proper name, or by any of his surnames; as by him whose ⟨ϕ⟩ is Gracious, or whose name is Mercisull, or any the like an any language: loe it is a full oath. And so an ⟨ϕ⟩, and a curse, is an oath. As when a man saith, Cursed ⟨ϕ⟩ be of the Lord, or of him whose name is Gra ⟨...⟩ Merciful, who soever hath eaten this thing, and himself hath eaten it: loe he hath sworn falsely. Likewise ⟨ϕ⟩ that saith nay, nay, twice, by way of oath; or yea, yea, and mentioneth God's name or surname, loe it is as if he ⟨ϕ⟩ sworn. And so he that promiseth I will not do this or that, and mentioneth God's name or surname: it is an oath, Maimonides in Misneh, tom. 3. treat. of O ⟨...⟩ es, ch. 2. sect. 2. &c. not Profane] or, pollute, but contrariwise shalt sanctify it; as Levite. 22. 32. The wordnet, in the former branch, is here again necessarily understood, as often in the scripture: and so the Greek version addeth it, ye shall not profane. By this, not only false, but rash, vain, unadvised, needless oaths, and all other abuses of God's name are forbidden: as is noted on Exodus 20. 7. The Hebrews say, *Although he that sweareth vainly or falsely, be beaten (by the Magistrate,) and being a sacrifice (to the Priest,) yet is there not a ⟨...⟩ made thereby, for all the iniquity of his oath; for it is written, (in Exodus. 20. 7.) the Lord will not hold him innocent: he is not freed from the judgment of (the God of) heaven, until he have his payment from him, for the great Name which he hath profaned, as it ⟨ϕ⟩ written, Thou shalt not profane the name of the Lord thy God: I am the Lord. Therefore a man must beware of this iniquity, more then of all transgressions. This is me of the heavy iniquities; although for it there be as eutting off, nor death, by the Magistrates, yet is ⟨ϕ⟩ in it a profanation of the holy Name, which is greater then all iniquities. It is necessary to warn children much, and to teach their tongues the words of truth, without swearing; that they fall not into a custom to swear continually, as do the heathens. And this thing ⟨...⟩ eth as a dury upon their parents, and upon school ⟨...⟩ sters. And it is a great good thing, for a man ⟨ϕ⟩ to swear at all. Maimonides treat of Oaths, ch. 12. sect. 1. 2. 8. 12. Accordingly are we to understand the doctrine of our Savior, when he saith S ⟨...⟩ not at all, Mart. 5. 34. Whereby he forbiddeth not the lawful use of oaths commanded of God, Deut. 6. 13. but all abuse in common speech, which was and is accustomed most sinfully, to the high dishonor of God.

Vers. 13. fraudulently-oppress] in Greek, do ⟨...⟩, or injury. This word signifieth to oppress by ⟨ϕ⟩; the next, to oppress-by-violence: see the ⟨ϕ⟩ Lev. 6. 2. Both these, did John the Baptist ⟨...⟩ bid unto the soldiers, Luk. 3. 14. rob] or, violently-oppress, and pluck-by-force, as it is said of Ben•jah, he plucked the spear out of the Egyptians ⟨ϕ⟩, 2 Sam. 23. 21. For these sins fraudulent ⟨...⟩, and robbery, the Prophets do often blame Israel, Ezek. 22. 29. Ier. 22. 3. Isaiah 3. 14. Eccles. 4. 1. Psal. 62. 11. It cometh from covetousness, as is said, they covet fields, and take them by rapine, Mich. 2. 2. and proceedeth unto murder, as he that is greedy-of-gain, taketh away the life of the owners thereof: Prov. 1. 19. The Hebrews say, Who so desireth his neighbors house, wife, goods, or any other thing which it is possible for him to get of him: when he hath thought in his heart how he might get that thing, and his heart is allured with the thing, he transgresseth this Law, Thou shalt not desire, Deut. 5. 21. and Desire is not but in the beart only. Desire bringeth a man to Coveting, and Covetize bringeth him to Robbery. For if the owners will not sell the thing, though he would give a great price, then falleth he to rapine, Mic. 2. 2. And if the owners stand up against him to rescue their goods, or to forbid him to rob, then he falleth to shedding of blood. Go and learn by the fact of Ahab and Naboth. Loe thou mayest learn that he which Desireth, transgresseth one prohibition; and he that getteth the thing which he desireth, by importuning the owners, or requesting it of them, transgresseth two prohibitions; therefore it is written, Thon shalt not Covet, and Thou shalt not Desire. And if he take it by robbery, he transgresseth three prohibitions. And who so robbeth his neighbor of the worth of a farthing, is as if he took his life from him, Prov. 1. 19. Maimonides in treat. of Robbery. ch. 1. s. 10. &c. If a man find and keep back a thing which his neighbor hath lost, he transgresseth also this Law; as is noted on Deut. 22. 1. the work] that is, the wages for the work: as the Greek translateth it wages. So in Job. 7. 2. an hireling looketh for his work, that is, for the reward of his work: and in Ier. 22. 13. Woe unto him, &c. that useth his neighbors service for naught, and giveth him not his work; that is, his wages. So Christ saith, My work is with my God, Isaiah. 49. 4. that is, my reward: and these two are joined, as belonging to the same, as the Lord's reward is with him, and his work before him. Isaiah 40. 10. that is, his recompense for work. This is a particular instance, of the foresaid oppression, as Moses after showeth, saying, Thou shalt not fraudulently-oppress an hired servant &c. at his day thou shalt give him his hire: Deut. 24. 14. 15. So in Malac. 3. 5. where God threateneth judgment for this sin. See more, in the notes on Deut. 24.

V. 14. not curse] or, as the Greek translateth, not speak evil of the deaf: or, not revile; as in Exod. 22. 28. is spoken of the Magistrates; here it is spoken of the deaf, who cannot hear, nor thereat be offended: so by proportion it is meant of all other; even of enemies, as Bless your persecutors; bless and curse not: Romans 12. 14. By the Hebrew canons, if a man cursed, not a ruler only, but any one of Israel, be was to be beaten: which they grounded upon this Law, Thou shalt not curse the deaf: and wherefore mentioneth he the deaf? For that, though it be one that heareth not, neither is grieved for the curse, yet is he to be beaten for his cursing. He that curseth any of Israel, man or woman, great or small, he is once beaten: and if he curse a Judge, he is twice beaten; and if he curse the Ruler (or Prince) he is thrice beaten. He that curseth himself, is beaten, as he that curseth others; for it is written (in Deut. 4. 9.) Take heed to thyself, & keep thy soul, Mai. in Sanbedrin, c. 26. s. 1. 2. 3. not put] Hebr. not give a stumbling-blocks, or (as the Greek translatheth it) a scandal: which as it should not be before the blind, so neither before any, as it is written, let no man put a stumbling-blocks, or a scandal in his brothers way, Rom. 14. 13. and Woe unto the world, because of scandals, Mat. 18. 7. Generally this forbiddeth all occasion of error or fall unto any, especially to the blind and ignorant; for Cursed is he that maketh the blind to err out of the way, Deut. 27. 18. And as the soul is more precious then the body, so the sin is greater to put a scandal of sin, or stumbling-block of iniquity, before the consciences of the weak or ignorant, Rom. 14. 13. and 16. 17. 1 Cor. 8. 9.—13. Rev. 2. 14. Sol. Rashi expoundeth Moses thus, Before him that is blind in a matter, do not give such counsel as is unmeet for him.

Vers. 15. unrighteousness] or injurious evil: it is a general word for all in justice either in heart, as Psalm 58. 3. or with mouth, as Mal. 2. 6. Job 27. 4. Isaiah 59. 3. or with hand and act, Psalm. 7. 4. Ezek. 18. 8. and applied sometime in special to unrighteousness in judgment; as here, and in Psal. 82. 2. All that do this, are an abomination to the Lord, Deut. 25. 16. respect the person] or, lift up (or accept) the face, which is to show favor, and to grant ones request: which sometime is taken in the good part, as is noted on Gen. 19. 21. and may be observed in 2 King. 3. 14. Lam. 4. 16. but in cases of judgment, it usually denoteth partial carriage, and respect of one man's face or person, more then of another's, which God forbiddeth here, and in Deut. 16. 19. Prov. 18. 5. Job. 13. 10. Psal. 58. 3. I am. 2. 1. 9. of the poor] though in respect of his poverty he may seem to be pitied, yet God would have all partiality in judgment to be avoided. honor the person] or, countenance the person (or face) of the great: as in Exod. 23. 3. we are forbidden to countenance (or honor) the poor. The Gr. translatheth Thaumases, which properly is to admire, but used for honorable-respect, as is noted on Gen. 19. 21. in justice] or, with righteousness. Of this, see the annotations on Deut. 16. 18.

Vers. 16. not walk a talebearer,] or, calumniator, or not walk with talebearing, and crimination. The Hebrew Rokel, properly signifieth, a merchant, or traffiquer up & down with spices, or other things, 1 Kings 10. 15. Ezek. 27. 15. 17. 22. 23. Whereupon Rakil (the word here used) is a talebearer or accuser, that maketh merchandise as it were of words, uttering them as wares, going from place to place, to hear, and to spread-abroad criminations of other men. His property is described to be a revealer of secrets, Prov. 1. 13. and 20. 19. his end, to shed blood, Ezek. 22. 9. yet pretending friendship and good neighbourhood, Ierm. 9. 4. 5. Wherefore the Greek translatheth it here, Thou shall not walk with guile, and in Prov. 11. 13. and 20. 19. he is called in Greek double-tongued. The Holy Ghost in the New Testament seemeth to call him in Greek Diabolos, that is, a false-accuser, calumniator, or make-bate, 2 Tim. 3. 3. 1 Tim. 3. 1. and so Aquila (an ancient Greek interpreter) translatheth Rakil, Diabolos, in Prov. 11. 13. And to this the Chaldee version agreeth, saying, Thou shalt not divulge accusations, (or criminations,) among thy people. Which phrase is used in Dan. 6. 24. of those men which made accusations against Daniel, (there translated in Greek Diaboliontas.) Hereupon Diabol's the Devil hath his name of calumniating and accusing the brethren. Rev. 12. 9. 10. whom the Syriake in Matt. 4. and other places, calleth a Divulger of accusations, or criminations. So that the Hebrew Rakil, is in Greek Diabolos, in English, a Calumniator, <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> Make-bate, a Devil, (as Judas is called a Devil; John 6. 70.) Therefore this sin is great, & when it spread in Israel, that they (wth their other sins) walked as talebearers: they were called reprobate silver, because the Lord had rejected them, Ier. 6. 28. 30. The Hebrew doctors explain it thus; He that backbiteth his neighbor, transgresseth against this Law, Thou shalt not walk a talebearer among thy people, (Levite. 19.) and though they be not beaten for this thing, ye it is a great iniquity, and occasioned the killing of many souls of Israel; therefore this is joined next unto it, Thou shalt not stand against the blood of thy neighbor, (Levite. 19. 16.) Go and learn what befel 〈...〉 unto D<sup>o</sup>g the Edomite. (Psalm 52. 1 Samuel 22. 9.—19) Who is a Talebearer (Rakil) He that is laden with words, and goeth from one to another, and saith, Thus said such a one; or, Thus have I heard of such a one: although the thing be true, yet such a man marreth the whole world. Maimonides in Misneh, tom. 1. in Degnoth chap. 7. sect. 1. 2. And as this Law, immediately followeth the former about the Judges; so the Hebrews apply this precept unto thē, saying, It is unlawful for any of the Judges, when he goeth out from the judgment hall, to say, I am he that doth 〈...〉 quit, or condemn; and my fellows are against me: 〈◇〉 what can I do, seeing they are moe then I. And if he 〈◇〉  speak, he is in the compass of this, HE THAT WA••ETH as A TALEBEARER, REVEALETH SECRETS: (Prov. 11. 13.) Maim. in Sanhedrin, ch. 22. s. 7. Whereto the Greek version of that place agreeth; A double-tongued man, revealeth counsels (or secrets) 〈◇〉  the Synedrion (or Council.) And so in Proverbs 20. 19. The Ierasalemy Targum followeth the formet exposition, but with another phrase, expounding this Law thus: My people the house 〈...〉  rael, ye shall not follow the third (or the threef•) tongue against your neighbors: meaning hereby, the slanderous or calumniating tongue. So 〈...〉  Psalm 101. 5. He that slandereth, (or hurteth with the tougue,) is translated there by the Chaldee, He that speaketh with a third tongue: and in Psal. 140. 12. A man of tongue, that is, an evil tongued, or evil speaker, the Chaldee expounds it, A man which speaketh with a third tongue, And hence is that phrase of Jesus ben Sirach, in Ecclus. 28. 14. A third tongue hath disquieted many: and in v. 15. A third tongue, hath cast out virtuous women; meaning, calumniators & backbiters. These are called of the Hebrews treble tongued, for the much hurt which they do, to their neighbors whom they calumniate, and to whom they tell it, and to themselves. Our wise men have said, the evil tongue ki 〈...〉  three; the speaker, and the receiver, and him that is spoken against; but the receiver more then the speaker▪ Maimonides in Degneth, chap. 7. sect. 3. 〈◇〉  against the blood] that is, not stand and see thy neighbors blood spilled, & thou withdraw thy help from him either by word or deed. So the Hebrews explain this Law, saying; He that pursueth his neighbors to kill him, all Israel are commanded to deliver the pursued from the hand of the pursuer, yea though it be by the life of the pursuer. As, if he hath been neighbors to leave off, and yet he pursueth him, &c. he may be killed. And if they can deliver him with the less of some of the pursuers limbs, as by striking off his hand, or breaking his leg, or striking out his eye, let them do it. Who so can deliver him, by bereaving the pursuer of a limme, and doth not, but killeth the pursuer: that man sheddeth blood, and is guilty of death; how be it, the Magistrates may not put him to death. Whose can deliver, and doth not; transgresseth this law, Thou shalt not stand against thy neighbors blood. And so be that seeth his neighbor sinking in the sea; or thieves, or some wild beasts coming upon him, and can deliver him, either by himself, or by hiring of others to deliver him, and doth not: or that hath heard, that infidells or other wicked have purposed his evil, or bid asnare for his neighbor, and he discloseth it not unto him, and the like: he that thus doth, breaketh this Law, Thou shalt not stand against the blood of thy neighbor. Mamony tom. 4. tret. of Murder, ch. 1. sect. 6. 7. 13. 14. It implieth also all other ways whereby a man may keep himself or others from spilling innocent blood, as in case of judgment, or the like. So Targum Yerushalmi expoundeth it, Thou shalt not keep-silent the blood of thy neighbor, in the time that thou knowest the truth in judgment. And this Law is joined with the former of talebearing, as that which often causeth blood-shed: and the Prophet complaineth, In thee are men that carry tales, to shed blood, Ezek. 22. 9.

Vers. 17. not hate thy brother] by brother, is meant here any other-man: therefore Christ blamed the Pharisees gloss, Thou shalt love thy neighbor, and hate thine enemy, and hath said unto us, Love your enemies: Mat. 5. 43. 44. And this Law followeth the former about blood, because Whosoever hateth his brother, is a murderer, 1 John. 3. 15. And because hatred often riseth of offenses, he commandeth to rebuke, and not to hate for such things: which the Hebrews explain thus; When one man sinneth against another, he must not inwardly hate him, and keep silence, as it is said of the wicked, And Absalom spake  $\langle\phi\rangle$  his brother Amnon, neither good nor bad, for Abs  $\langle\ldots\rangle$  hated Amnon, 2 Sam. 13. 22. but he is commanded to make it known unto him, and to say, why hast  $\langle\phi\rangle$  done thus unto me? Maimonides in Degnoth ch. 6. sect. 6. in thy heart] the Greek translateth, in thy mind (or thought,) which is an effect of the heart, as in luke 1. 51. there is mentioned the thought (or imagination) of their heart. So in Coloss. 1. 21. the Apostle speaketh of enemies in their mind: and I will write (my Law) in their heart, 1er. 31. 33, is expounded in their minds, Heb. 10. 16. rebuking thou shalt rebuke] that is, thou shalt in any wise rebuke  $\langle\phi\rangle$ , plainly, soundly reprove. The original signifieth to rebuke with conviction or argument; by words to show what is right, and to refell the contrary: as to reason, Job 13. 3. Isaiah 1. 18. to convince Job 32. 12. to reprove, Isaiah 11. 4. And it is opposed both unto hatred nourished in silence, as here, and in 2 Samuel 13. 22. and unto flattery, Prov. 28. 23. The same Law is given by Christ, in Luk. 17. 3. If thy brother, sin against thee, rebuke him: and if he repent forgive him. This duty David desired, saying, Let the just smite me, &c. and let him rebuke me, Psalm 141. 5. and it is the means, both to nourish love among the wise, Prov. 9. 8. and to increase knowledge among the prudent, Prov. 19. 25. and to procure a goodblessing, Prov. 24. 25. The Hebr. doctors say, He that seeth his neighbor sin, or walk in a way not good; is commanded to admonish him to do better, and to certify him that he sinneth against himself by his evil deeds, as it is written, Rebuking thou shalt rebuke thy neighbor. He that rebuketh his neighbor, whether it be for things between him and him, or between him and God: he must rebuke him between him and himself (alone;) and speak unto him gently, and with a soft tongue, and let him know, that he speaketh not unto him but for his good, to bring him to the life of the world to come. If he receive it of him, it is well; if not, let him rebuke him the second and third time: and so continually a man is bound to rebuke him, until the sinner resist him, and say, I will not hear thee. Maimonides in Degnoth, ch. 6. sect. 7. not bear sin for him] This is the usual and proper meaning of the Hebrew words, as after in Leviticus 22. 9. Numbers 18. 32. and the Greek and Chaldee versions so explain it: and Chazkuni confirmeth it by the like: Gnalaiu (saith he) for his sake sake, as (in Psal. 44.) for for thy sake are we killed all the day, &c. It teacheth that he who rebuketh not his brother for sin, shall bear sin, (that is, punishment) for his sake, because he seeketh not to save a soul from death, as I am. 5. 20. therefore God will require his blood at his hand; as Ezekiel 3. 18. It may also be Englished, suffer not sin upon him, that is, leave him not in his sin, unreproved. And as a man may ear sin for his brother, by leaving him unrebuked; so for not reprovng him in good sort and in love, but in bitterness and to his reproach. And thus the Hebrews apply it, saying. He that rebuketh his neighbor, first let him not speak unto him hard words, to make him ashamed; for it is written, AND BEARE NOT SINNE FOR HIM, &c. Hereby a man is forbidden to shame an Israelite, how much more if it be in public. Our wise men have said, he that maketh his neighbors face ashamed publicly, shall have no inheritance in the world to come. Therefore a man must be warned that he put not his neighbor to shame publicly, be he small or great; nor call him by a name whereof he is ashamed &c. whereby is meant, in matters that are between a man and his neighbor. But in matters of (the God of) heaven, if he convert not in secret, they are to make him ashamed publicly, and divulge his sin, & put him to reproach openly, & despise & set him at ought, until he return unto well doing: as all the Prophets in Israel did (unto such.) Maim. in Degnoth, ch. 6. s. 8.

Vers. 18. not avenge] The Greek translaceth, Let not thy hand revenge. The Apostle openeth it thus, Beloved, avenge not yourselves, but give place unto wrath: for it is written, Uengeance is mine, I will repay, saith the Lord: Rom. 12. 19. Hereupon David said to Saul, The Lord avenge me of thee, but mine hand shall not be upon thee, 1 Sam. 24. 12. so Ierem. 15. 15. And Solomon saith, Say not thou, I will recompense evil: wait on the Lord, and he will save thee. Prov. 20. 22. What vengeance is, is shown in Ier. 50. 15. Take vengeance on her; as she hath done, do unto her. The Hebrews say, He that avengeth himself on his neighbor, transgresseth the Law, Levite. 19. 18. and although he is not to be beaten (by the Magistrate) for it, yet it is a very great evil. Avenging is thus; as when a man would borrow an axe of his neighbor, or the like; and he refuseth to lend it him: on the morrow his neighbor hath need to borrow an axe of him, and he saith, I will not lend it thee, because thou wouldest not lend me when I would have borrowed of thee; this is vengeance. But when he cometh to borrow, he should give it him with a perfect heart, and not reward him, as he hath done to him: and so in all like cases. And so David with a goodminde said (in Psal. 7. 5) If I have rewarded evil to him that had peace with me; yea I have released my distresser without cause. Maim. in Degnoth, c. 7. s. 7. nor keep] to weet, injury in mind, that is, not bear grudge: or, not observe the sons of thy people; which is spoken of such as would seem to forgive, but will not forget wrong, or unkindness. The Greek translatheth, thou shalt not be angry (or bear inveterate displeasure;) the Chaldee, thou shalt not keep enmity. So God is said to take vengeance on his adversaries, & to keep (wrath) for his enemies; Nahum 1. 2. but to his people, not so, Ier. 3. 12. Psal. 103. 9. whose example herein, we are to follow, Matth. 5. 48. The Hebrews explain it by a similitude thus; As if Reuben say to Simeon, hire me this house, or lend me this ox, and Simeon will not. After a time, Simeon cometh to Reuben, to borrow or hire of him; and Reuben saith, L•e I lend it thee, and I will not do as thou didst, I will not repay thee according to thy deeds. He that doth thus, transgresseth this Law. THOU SHALT NOT KEEPE; but he should blot the thing out of his heart, and not keep it. For all the while that be keepeth the thing, and remembereth it; he is in danger to fall unto revenging. Therefore the Law cutteth off this keeping (in mind;) until he put the injury out of his heart, and remember it not at all. Maimonides in Degnoth, c. 7. s. 8. Chazkuni also explaineth it thus, Thou shalt not avenge, in work; thou shalt not keep, in thought. as thysel] This is the Second of the two great commandments, which our Savior saith is like unto the first, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God, with all thine heart, &c. and on these two commandments hang all the Law and the Prophets, Matth. 22. 37. 40. For this, thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, Thou shalt not covet; and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this word, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. Rom. 13. 9. To this we may add the Hebrews testimony, LOVE THY NEIGHBOVR AS THY SELFE: this is the great universal (precept) in the Law. R. Azai said unto him, IN THE IMAGE OF GOD MADE HE HIM: this is an universal (rule) greater then it: that a man should not say, forasmuch as I am despised, my neighbor shall be despised with me. R. Thancuma answered, if thou dost so, know whom thou despisest; for loe, he that loveth his neighbor, who is made in the Image of God, loveth the blessed God himself, and honoreth him. R. Menachem, on Levite. 19. Another writeth thus, Every man is commanded to love everyone of Israel, as his own body, Levite. 19. 18. Therefore he must speak in his commendation, and spare his goods, as he would spare his own goods, and as he would his own honor. And he that honoreth himself, by the dishonor of his neighbor, he hath no inheritance in the world to come. Maimonides in Degnoth, chap. 6. sect. 3.

Vers. 19. my statutes] in Greek, my law. This is here repeated, lest the ordinances following which may seem to be small, should be neglected. Or, as this word Statute (or, Decree) is sometime used for God's ordinances in nature, bounding and limiting things, Psal. 148. 6. Job 26. 10. and 38. 33. Prov. 8. 29. so here he may intend the same, that his natural ordinances for the distinct kinds of things, should not be violated. let thy cattel] or, cause thy beast, of any sort. The Hebrews say, He that causeth the male to ingender with the female which is not of the same kind, whether it be of cattle, or wild-beast, or fowl, yea though it be of the kinds of wild-beasts that are in the sea; he is to be beaten [of the Magistrates] by the Law, in every place; whether it be within the land [of Israel,] or without the same, Levite. 19. 19. and whether it be a beast or fowl of his own, or of his neighbors. Who so transgresseth, and causeth he• beast to ingender with another kind, that which is bred of them, is lawful for use. And if it be one kind of clean beasts, with another kind of clean beast; it is lawful to be eaten. Two kinds of beasts that are one like another, though they be mixed together, and one like another; yet for as much as they are of two kinds, it is unlawful to cause them to gender together: as a wolf, with a dog; a Roe bucke with a Goat; an horse, with a mule, &c. Beasts that are bred of divers kinds, if their dammes be of one kind, it is lawful to let them gender together; but if they be of two kinds it is unlawful. As, a mule, whose damme is an asse, it is lawful to let him gender with a she-mule, if her damme be an asse. But if the damme of the mule, be a mare; it is unlawful 〈ϕ〉 let him gender, with a she-mule, whose damme is 〈ϕ〉 asse; and so in all other like cases. Maimonides in Mis 〈...〉, tom. 3 in Kilajim (or treat. of divers-kinds) chap. 9. sect. 1. 3. &c. The reason of this law, may be partly to conserve the nature of things, as God first created them, and blessed them to increase and multiply, everyone after his kind, Gen. 1. 11. 12. 21. 24. 25. and 6. 20. which order he would have his people to keep, and not in vanity or curiosity of mind, to alter the shape and nature of the creatures, or seem to make moe then God created. Therefore Anah (one of the wicked,) is noted as the first that found out Mules, by the gendring of divers kinds: see the Annotations on Gen. 36. 24. And partly it might lead Israel to the simplitie and sincerity of religion, and to all the parts and doctrines of the Law and Gospel, in their distinct kinds: as Faith is necessary, Good works are necessary; but to mingle these together in the c 〈...〉 of our justification before God, is forbidden, G••. 2. 16. and 3. 9. 10. 11. 12. The same is to be minded for the things of this nature, following. See also Deut. 22. 9. 10. 11. where in repeating this Law, the ploughing with an Ox and an Ass together, is forbidden. The Hebrew doctors say, He that causeth gendring of two kinds, it is as if he thought that the •lie blessed God had not perfected whatsoever is needful, but himself would add moe creatures, and help in the creation of the world. And in the mixture of seeds, a man altereth the order of the creation, for it is written concerning them, AFTER HIS KINDE, (Gen. 1. 11.) And this is that which is said (in Levite. 19. 19.) YE SHALL KEEPE MY STATVTES; our Rabbin's have said, these statutes [or bounds] are those by which he hath bounded the world, &c. Also they say, wheresoever a STATVTE is spoken of, it is a Kingsdecree, &c. And the intendment is, that man should not alter the statutes of the Lord most high, for he then doth at one that changeth the Kings coin: he that changeth the kinds, and maketh mixtures of divers sorts in anything, is as a falsifier of the Kings coin. R. Menachem on Levite. 19. fol. 148. with a divers-kind] The Hebrew Kilajim, is a general word for all mixed things, as the Chaldee translatheth it, as in beasts, seeds, garments, and the like. And it hath the name of Restraint or Prohibition, because such mixtures are forbidden. not sow thy field] not thy vineyard, Deut. 22. 9. and so by proportion, other the like, as trees, &c. The Hebrews explain it thus. He that soweth two kinds of seeds together, in the land of Israel, is to be beaten. Levite. 19. 19. As he that mixeth wheat and barley, or beans and lentiles together, and layeth them on the earth, and covereth them with mould; whether it be with his hand, or with his foot, or with an instrument; he is to be beaten. And it is unlawful for a man to let divers kinds of seeds grow in his field; but he must pull them up; though if he let them grow, he is not beaten. By tradition we have learned, that it is lawful for an Israelite to sow divers kinds of seeds, out of the land, (of Israel.) None are forbidden by the name of divers-kinds; but such seeds as are meet for man's meat; bitter herbs and other such like, meet for medicine or like uses; there is in them no respect of divers kinds of seeds. Divers kinds of trees, they are comprehended within this general rule, THOU SHALT NOT SOW THY FIELD, &c. As he that graffeth one tree in another, as the griffe of an apple tree, in a pome-citron tree, or a citron in an apple-tree; Loe such are to be beaten by the Law, whether within the land, or without the land; and so he that planteth an herb in a tree, &c. And it is unlawful for an Israelite to let an heathen graff trees with divers-kinds for him. But it is lawful to sow seeds of grain, and seeds of trees together; and lawful likewise to mixe the seeds of trees, and to sow them together; for there is no mixture of divers-kinds in trees, 〈...〉 e graffing only. Though he that soweth divers-kinds is to be beaten, yet those fruits are lawful to be eaten, 〈◇〉 . for the sowing only is forbidden. And it is lawful 〈◇〉 plant a branch of that tree, which hath been graffed with divers-kinds, and to sow of the seed of that herb, which was sown with divers-kinds. One seed that is mixed with another, if it be one of four and twenty, (that is, the four and twentieth part,) as one pecke of wheat, with three and twenty pecks of barley, let it be unlawful to sow this mixture; until either the wheat be less, or the barley more: otherwise he that soweth it, is to be beaten. A field that hath been sown and reaped, and the roots remain in the earth; although they spring up but after some years: they may not sow other seed in that field, until the roots be plucked up. In the first day of Adar (that is, Februarie) they make proclamation against divers-kinds of seeds; and every man goeth cut to his garden and field; and purgeth it of divers-kinds [if they grow there] And in the fifteenth day thereof, the Magistrates send messengers forth, and they go about to search. Maimonides in Kilajim. chap. 1. sect. 1. &c. and chap. 2. sect. 1. 12. 15. The reason of this Law, is the same with the former: see more on Deut. 22. 9. of linsiewolsie] in Hebrew, Shagnatnez, a word used only here, and in Deut. 22. 11. where Moses after explaineth it, of woollen and linen together: but the word it self is like to be of some other language, which used (as seemeth) to call such garments by that name. The Chaldee keepeth the Hebrew word: but the Greek translatheth it Kibdelos, which is used of things adulterate, or impurely-mixed. According to which interpretation, it should be figure of corruption and hypocrisy. Among the Hebrews R. Menachem (upon this place, applaudeth an exposition of this word which he found in the Doctors of the Kabbala, that it is Satan one of the high rulers, [he meaneth the Ruler of the power of the air, spoken of in Ephes. 2. 2] which is clad with Shagnatnez, and is able to do hurt, and is 〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 [Satan the Idolater,] by transposition of letters 〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 [Shagnatnez:] and the Gentiles which knew not the meaning of the word, called him Satanas: [So the Devil is called in the Greek tongue, Rev. 12. 9.] But their Canonists explain the thing thus; Nothing is forbidden concerning divers-kinds in garments, but wool and flax only, Deut. 22. 11. *And there is a thing like wool that groweth on stones in the salt sea, &c. which is forbidden with flax, because to the eye sight it is like sheep's wool. When wool and flax are mixed together, as when they are tozed together, or spun together, and so woven into a garment; this is the divers-kinds forbidden in the Law. To sow a woollen garment with flaxen thread, or a flaxen garment with woollen thread, &c. is divers-kinds. Of these divers-kinds there is no stinted-measure; though it be but a thread of wool in a flaxen garment, or a flaxen thread in a woollen garment, it is unlawful. If the wool of sheep and of camels or the like, be tozed and spun together; and if the half be sheep's wool, loe it is all as sheep's wool, and being with flax, it is of divers-kinds. But if the most part be of camels wool, it is lawful to mixe it with flax; for it hath all the form of camels wool. Likewise hempe and flax tozed together, if the most part be hemp, it is lawful to weave the threads thereof, with the threads of wool: but if they be half to half, it is unlawful. Maimonides in Kilajim, chap. 10. sect. 1. &c. So in Talmud Bab. in Kilajim, chap. 9. they say, Nothing is forbidden by the name of divers-kinds (in garments) but wool and flax together. not come upon thee] in Greek, thou shalt not put upon thee: and so Moses explaineth it in Deut. 22. 11. Thou shalt not wear (or clad thyself,) And this the Hebrews understand strictly, that nothing is forbidden but the wearing of it in garments: therefore they say; Garments of divers-kinds, it is lawful to make them, and to sell them; and nothing is forbidden but to wear them only, Deut. 22. 11. *It is lawful to dwell in a Tent made all of linsie-woolsie; and to sit upon carpets, beds, &c. made thereof. Also to make shrowds of such, to wrap the dead in; for unto the dead there is no commandment. Who so weareth linsie-woolsie; or putteth it on; is to be beaten. Who so putteth it upon his neighbor, if he that hath it upon him, do it presumptuously, then he is beaten that hath it on him; and he that put it upon him, transgresseth this rule, Thou shalt not put a stumbling-block before the blind. But if he that hath the garment on him, knoweth not that it is linsie-woolsie, but he that put it on him did it presumptuously; he that put it on him is beaten, and he that hath it on, is free. Maimonides in Kilajim, chap. 10. sect. 12. 25. 30. 31.

Vers. 20. a man] in Greek, if any (man) lie with a woman. betrothed] so the Chaldee expoundeth the Hebrew Necherepheth, which coming of Caraph, that is, to publish and to reproach, is diversely here understood; of some, for a woman in reproach and public contempt: of others, publicly betrothed. The Greek translatheth it, kept (or reserved) to a man. The Hebrew doctors explain it thus. The bondwoman (charuphah) betrothed, spoken of in the Law, is one that is half a bondwoman and half a freewoman, and betrothed to an Hebrew servant. Talmud Bab in Cherethoth chap. 2. and Maimonides in Issurei biah, chap. 3. sect. 13. But this betrothing is not complete, as elsewhere he saith, He that is espoused to a woman that is half bond and half free, she is not espoused with complete espousals until she be made free: and when she is free, they accomplish the espousals, as the espousals of a girl, which is grown great, and he needeth no other espousals. Maim. treat. of Wives, chap. 4. sect. 16. not redeemed] the Chaldee explaineth it thus, not redeemed with money, or freedom is not given her by a bill of dismissal. a scourging] The Hebrew Bikkoreth signifieth first a careful-inquisition or visitation, and by consequence a scourging or beating; and this is meant of her only, as the Chaldee version showeth; and the Greek saith, there shall be a visitation of her: and so the Hebrew Canons explain it, She is to be beaten; and he is to bring a sacrifice: Maimonides in Shegagoth, chap. 9. sect. 1. and elsewhere (in Issure biah, chap. 3. sect. 14.) he saith, The lying with this bondwoman, differeth from all other unlawful copulations; for loe she is to be beaten, (Levite. 19. 20.) and he is bound to bring a trespass offering, (Lev. 19. 21.) So in the Talmud, in Cherethoth, chap. 2. it is said, In all unlawful copulations, whether it be man or woman, they are alike in stripes and in sacrifice: but in (the case of) the bondwoman, the  $\langle\phi\rangle$  is not like to the woman in stripes, nor the woman to the man in sacrifice. not free] for if she were free, the punishment of them both should be death: Deut. 22. 24.

Vers. 21. his trespass-offering] whereof see Lev. 5.

Vers. 23 into the land] of Canaan: the Greek addeth, which the Lord your God, giveth unto you. This Law was peculiar for the Land of Canaan, not for other countries. tree for food] or, tree of food, that is, whose fruit serveth for man's meat. So this law concerneth not other trees that are for timber: and (as the Hebrews think) not fruit trees which are not intended by the owner for food. They say, He that planteth a tree for food, and he intendeth it to be a fence for a garden, or that he hath planted it for timber, not for fruit: it is free from the (Law of the) uncircumcised (fruits.) If he plant it for fence, and after changeth his mind, and reputeth it for food; or planteth it for food, & after reputeth it for fence: as he shall please to intend, so is he bound concerning it. If he planted it three years for fence, and thenceforth for food, it is not the fourth year sanctified: for whatsoever hath not been (three years) uncircumcised, cannot be the fourth year sanctified. He that planteth, for (to observe) a commandment, as when he planteth a Citron tree, for branches at the feast of Tabernacles; or an Olive tree for (oil for) the Candlestick (in the Sanctuary,) it is bound to (this law of) the uncircumcision. That which the heathens planted before (Israel) came into the land, was free from it: but after they came into he land, though the heathens planted it, it was bound thereunto. Whether a man plant a slip or branch of a tree, or pull up the whole tree out of his place and plant it in another place; it is bound to the uncircumcision: and they are to reckon from the hour of the planting thereof. Whether he plant it, or slip it, or graff it; it is bound hereunto. Maimonides in Magnaser sheni (or treat of the second Tithe) chap. 10. sect. 2. 3. 7. 9. 11. 13. And elsewhere they say, Our fathers came into the land; whatsoever they found planted, was free (from this law of uncircumcision:) what they themselves planted, though before the land was conquered, was bound hereunto. Talmud in Gnorlah chap. 1. sect. 2. count as uncircumcised] or, cut-off the uncircumcision thereof, to weat, the fruit thereof. The Greek translateth, ye shall purify the impurity thereof. three years] By the Hebrew canons, The first (day) of Tisri (that is, the month which we call September,) was the beginning of the year for uncircumcised fruits, and for the fourth (year.) Maim. in Magnaser sheni chap. 9. sect. 8. as uncircumcised] in Gr. unpurified (or unclean:) the Chaldee expounds it, abhorred (or put-away) unto destruction. not be eaten] nor sold to infidels, nor any use or profit made of them, but eaten off and destroyed. The fruits that the tree yieldeth, for three years after the planting, are unlawful to be eaten, or put to any profitable-use: and who so eateth of them so much as an olive, is to be beaten by the Law. Maimonides, treat. of Forbidden meats, chap. 10. sect. 9.

Vers. 24. holiness of praises] that is, fruit of holiness, or an holy thing, to be consecrated unto the Lord for his praise, and eaten with mirth before him: as in Judge. 9. 27. they made praises; that is, songs and mirth, and as the Greek there translath, dances. This was done, either by giving them to the Priests, as Num. 18. 12. 13. &c. (and so Ibn Ezra on Levite. 19. saith, the Priests did eat it,) Or the owners did eat them before the Lord, as they did their second tithes. Deuter. 12. 17. 17. This latter is the Hebrews common opinion, who say; The fruits of the fourth (year) after the plantation, are holy, Levite. 19. 24. and their right is, to 〈...〉 in Jerusalem, by the owners of them, as the se 〈...〉 •ith•. He that would redeem these fruits, may re 〈...〉 〈ϕ〉 as the second tithe; and if he redeem them for himself, he must add the fifth part, [as Levite. 27. 30. 3•.] A vineyard of the fourth (year) is not 〈ϕ〉 to that law [forementioned in Levite. 19. 9. 10.] to leave a corner, or the single-grapes, or the grapes broken off, &c. neither do they separate out of it first fruits or tithes, or second tithes: but all the fruits are c 〈...〉 d up to Jerusalem, or redeemed, and their price carried up, and eaten in Jerusalem, as the tithes. The grapes of vineyards of the fourth year, the Judges ordained that they should be brought up to Jerusalem, a days journey on every side, to decke the streets of Jerusalem with the fruits; all other fruits might be redeemed, though (they grew) near to the walls (of Jerusalem.) Who so had trees planted of the fourth year, in the year of release [which was every seventh year, Levite. 25. 4. 6.] when every man's hand was alike (free to g•there them:) he must set up a sign of clods of earth, whereby they might be known; that they might not be eaten of, until they were redeemed. And if it was within the years of the uncircumcised-fruits, he made signs of potters clay, that they might be kept from (eating of) them; for the prohibition of uncircumcised fruits was weighty, for all use of them was forbidden. Maimonides in Magnaser sheni, chap. 9. sect. 1. 2. 4. 7. and Thal 〈ϕ〉 •ab. in Magnaser sheni, chap. 1.

Vers. 25. ye shall eat] to weat, as other common •eats; freely without redeeming them. And hereupon is that phrase of making a vineyard come 〈...〉, in Deuter. 20. 6. which was in the fifth year from the plantation, when they were free to be eaten. to add] that is, that the tree may add, or abundantly yield unto you, the revenue (or increase) thereof; whiles you obey these my commandments; for upon obedience, such blessings are promised, Levite. 26. 3. 4. So Targum Jonathan explaineth it, that they may add unto you from heaven; i. by the blessing of God. By this Law of uncircumcised or unclean fruits, God taught his people the 〈...〉 gion of their sins, since first man did eat of the forbidden tree: for which the earth was cursed, Gen. 3. 17. and men have no right to eat of the increase thereof, (for to them that are defiled and vnbeleiving nothing is pure, Tit. 1. 15.) until it be sanctified by the word of God and prayer, 1 Tim. 4. 5. So by the fourth years fruits, which were holy to the Lord, he taught them sanctimony and thankfulness; as by their first fruits, tithes, &c. which they gave unto the Lord, every year; he taught them to honor him, with their substance, and with the first of all their increase, that so their 〈ϕ〉 •ght be filled with plenty, and their presses burst-out with new wine; Prov. 3. 9. 10.

Vers. 26. with the blood] that is, any flesh that is not fully dead, or whose blood is not orderly let out, and the flesh purged of the blood: as in 1 Sam. 14. 33. (where this phrase is used,) they said, Behold the people sin against the Lord, in that they eat with the blood: &c. See the annotations on Levite. 17. The Hebrews understand hereby two things, Not to eat the flesh of holy things, before the blood be sprinkled (on the altar;) nor to eat of common beasts, until their soul (their life) be gone out. Sol. Rashi on Levite. 19. In Targum Jonathan it is thus explained; ye shall not eat of the flesh of any sacrifice, whiles the blood is in the basin, (unsprinkled.) But Maimonides (•om. 2. in Shechitah chap. 1. sect. 2.) saith, It is unlawful to eat of a slain beast, so long as it trembleth: and he that eateth thereof before the soul of it be gone out, transgresseth against a prohibition. And it is comprised in this general rule, YE SHALL NOT EAT WITH THE BLOOD. Chazkuni also saith, With the blood, i. without slaying it; and so it is written (in 1 Sam. 14. 34.) and slay them here, and eat, and sin not against the Lord, in eating with the blood. The Greek translatheth, ye shall not eat upon the mountains: (reading Harim, mountains, for Hadam, the blood: mistaking R. for D. as they do sundry other times;) meaning it against Idolatry; which though the thing be true, as Ezekiel 18. 6. yet is it not the intendment of this place: and the Chaldee translatheth it aright, with the blood. Some of the Hebrews (as Baal hatturim on this place,) because in the next words is forbidden observing of fortunes and of times, &c. which were heathenish customs, think this also to be the like, and understand it of not eating upon or over blood of a man slain; that they should not observe fortunes (or use enchantment) by eating after the manner of murderers, which eat bread over him that is slain, that the avengers of blood may not execute vengeance on them. Chazkuni also citeth the like exposition: but the former, by comparing it with 1 Sam. 14. is the best. not observe fortunes] or, not conjecture by signs of good or evil-luck; an heathenish practice, who marked signs for good or evil, as by seeing of beasts or birds which they counted lucky or unlucky; by the falling of a staff out of their hands, by stumbling when they went out of doors, and many such like. So that which followeth, not observe times; is to count one day lucky, another unlucky to take a journey in hand, or begin any work, and the like. Of these, see the annotations on Deut. 18. 10. 11. where Moses more fully layeth down this Law, and mentioneth sundry other particulars of this kind: calling Israel from all false prophets, soothsayers, sorcerers, unto God's word and unto Christ alone, the Prophet whom he promiseth to raise up unto them.

Vers. 27. not round] not compass, that is, not cut round (⋯) d; which the Greek translatheth, ye shall not make a roundness of the hair of your head. This is likely to be a manner of the heathens, especially in their mourning, as these laws, compared with Levite. 21. 5. seem to imply. a corner] or, the corners, (the singular being put for the plural,) which are the forehead, temples, and behind the ears: these God would not have rounded or cut as with a dish, like an half globe, because idolaters used that fashion; as appeareth also by Ier. 9. 26. and 25. 23. & 49. 32. And the Arabians used so to poll their heads, as Herodotus in his History, b. 3. testifieth. The Hebrew canons say, None may shave the corners of their head, as the Idolaters have done, Levite. 19. 27. and he (that so doth) is guilty for every corner: therefore he that shaveth his two temples, though at once, is to be beaten twice. Maimonides in treat of Idolatry, chap. 12. sect. 1. mar] or, corrupt a corner of thy beard, that is, any of the corners thereof: which the Greek translatheth the sight (or fashion) of your beard. This Law is again repeated for the Priests, Levite. 21. 5. where for marring, he useth the word shaving: and Maimonides (in treat. of Idolatry, chap. 12. sect. 7.) saith, It was the manner of Idolatrous Priests, to mar their beards, therefore the Law forbiddeth to mar the beard. And he maketh five corners, two on the upper lip, and three beneath; and for marring any one, he was to be beaten, and for marring all five, to be beaten as for five transgressions. But this is not (as he saith) meant for trimming them with sizers, but for shaving them off only, for it must be such cutting as is the marring (or corrupting) of them. Such shaving the heathens also used in sign of sorrow; as in Esa. 15. 2. it is said of Moab, on all their heads baldness, every beard cut-off. So in Ier. 48. 37.

Vers. 28. not make] Hebr. not give in your flesh: which the Greek translath, not make in your body, cutting] or incision; in Greek, incisions; in the Chaldee, hurt, or corruption: so in Leviticus 21. 5. Compare also Deut. 14. 1. Ier. 48. 37. for a soul] meaning for a dead soul or person, as Numb. 6. 6. and as in Targum Jonathan it is here explained; that is, in sorrow or mourning for a soul departed: which the Chaldee translath for the dead; (as Moses himself explaineth it, in Deut. 14. 1.) but the Greek keepeth the word soul. Among the Latins also Anima, the soul, was used for a dead body: as in Virgil Ae•eid. 3. Animamque sepulchro Co•din•us. Hereby God calleth them from the heathenish manners, and would have them not to sorrow, as others which have no hope, 1 Thes. 4. 13. for among the nations, when their friends died, they lamented, and cut themselves, and made themselves balde for them, Ier. 16. 6. By the Hebrew canons, He that did cut one gash for the dead. was to be beaten: and whether he were a Priest, or an (other) Israelite, if he cut one gash for five dead persons, or five for one dead person, he was to be beaten five times. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, chap. 12. sect. 12. the print of a mark] or, the writing of an impression; which the Chaldee translath, engraven marks; the Greek, letters printed (or marked.) The Hebrews open it thus. The print of a mark spoken of in the Law, was when one did cut upon his flesh, and filled the cut p•ce with stibium, or with ink, or some other color. And this was the custom of the heathens, that they marked themselves unto Idolatry, &c. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, chap. 12. sect. 11. From all these and other like heathenish rites, whereby they spared not, but unnaturally mangled their own bodies, God would keep his people, whose bodies should be the members of Christ, and the Temple of the holy Ghost, 1 Cor. 6. 15. 19. who therefore should bear in their body, no other then the marks of the Lord Jesus, Gal. 6. 17. See the notes on Deut. 14. 1. 2.

Vers. 29. to be an where] or, to commit fornication. This word is used both for carnal whoredom, and spiritual, which is idolatry, as Ex. 34. 15. and to this latter the Chaldee seemeth to refer it, saying, Profane not thy daughter to cause her to err: whereby Idolatry is usually meant. What an whore was in Israel, is noted on Levite. 21. 7. the land] that is, the people of the land, following her evil example. wickedness] or, wicked thoughts: in Chaldee, counsel (or purpose) of sins: but Targum Jonathan expoundeth it whoredom. See the notes on Levite. 18. 17.

Vers. 30. Sabbaths] in Chaldee, Sabbath days; as before in verse 3. So after in Levite. 26. 2. reverence] or, fear my sanctuary; unto which they were to come on the Sabbaths, Ezek. 46. 3. which Sanctuary was now the Tabernacle, afterwards the Temple. This fear was for the presence of God therein: whereupon Jacob feared and said, How fearful is this place? this is no other but the house of God, &c. Gen. 28. 16. 17. And Solomon saith, Take heed to thy foot; when thou goest into the house of God: Eccles. 5. 1. And in Targum Jonathan this Law is explained thus, ye shall go to the house of my Sanctuary infear. From hence the Jews had many rites, for coming into the Sanctuary, and behaving themselves in it; which Maimonides in tom. 3. in Beth habchirah (or treat. of the Temple) chap. 7. showeth thus. *It is commanded to reverence the Sanctuary, Levite. 19. 30. and thou reverencest not the Sanctuary it self, but him who commanded the reverence thereof. And what is this reverence of it? A man may not come into the mountain of the house (of God) with his staff, or with his shoes on his feet, or in his working-garment, or with dust on his feet, or with bags of money about him. And I need not speak, how it is unlawful to spit in any part of the mountain of the House; but he must wrap up his excrements in his handkerchief. And he may not make the mount of the house a thorough-fare, to go in at one door and out at another, to shorten his way: but must go round about, and not come in there save for the thing that is commanded. And all that went in to the mount of the House, went in by the way of the right hand, and turned and went out by the way of the left: except he unto whom something had befallen, for which he turned towards the left hand. Therefore they asked him, what is befallen thee, the thou turnest towards the left hand? (If he said) because I am a mourner: (they answered,) He that dwelleth in this House, comfort thee. (If he said) Because I have the Niddui [that is, the lesser excommunication] upon me: (they answered,) He that dwelleth in this House, give into thine heart, that thou mayest hearken unto the words of thy neighbors. Whosoever had accomplished his service, and went his way; did not go out with his back to the Temple, but went backward by little and little, and went softly sidelong, till he was out of the courtyard; and so did the men that kept the watch, and their courses, and the Levites, &c. all this was for reverence of the Sanctuary. And whosoever assembled into the Courtyard, went softly unto the place whither it was lawful for him to come; and he was to consider that he stood before the Lord; as he hath said, Mine eyes and mine heart shall be there, all days, (2 Chron. 7. 16.) And he was to go with dread, and with fear and trembling. And it was unlawful for any man to sit in all the Courtyard: neither was there any seat in the Courtyard. s 〈...〉 for the Kings of David's house only; as it is writ•. And King David went in, and sate before the 〈ϕ〉 (1 Sam. 7. 18.) And it is unlawful for a man to make an house, after the fashion of the Temple, or a 〈ϕ〉 like the porch thereof, or a courtyard like the c••t thereof; or a Table like the Table there, or a C 〈...〉 cke like the C 〈...〉 lestickte thereof, &c. With these rites which were in Israel, we may compare the 〈ϕ〉 of our Savior, who for reverence of the Sanctuary, drove out the merchants from thence, and the sheep and the oxen, and poured out the changers money, and overthrew the Tables, and said, *Make not my fathers house, an house of merchandize: John. 2. 14. 15. 16. And he would not suffer that 〈ϕ〉 man should carry any vessel through the Temple: Mark. 11. 16. And for turning their backs towards the Sanctuary, see Ezek. 46. 9. and 8. 16. But as the Sanctuary of God, was chiefly a figure of the body of our Lord Jesus, John 2. 19. 21. Hebrews 9. 11. so this precept hath chiefest respect unto him, whom all ought to reverence, and to honor the Son, even as they honor the Father; John. 5. 23. Who when he bringeth in the first begotten into the world, he saith; And let all the Angels of God worship him: Heb. 1. 6.

Vers. 31. Turn not unto them] the Chaldee saith, after them: and so the Greek, ye shall not follow. So in Levite. 20. 6. Hereby is forbidden, consulting with or 〈...〉 ing of them: as Deut. 18. 11. that have 〈ϕ〉 spirits] called in Hebrew Oboth, (of Ob which is a bottle, Job 32. 19.) in Greek

Eggastri ⟨ϕ⟩, as speaking with an hollow voice out of the belly, or as out of a bottle: in Chaldee *Biddin, Pit...*s. These were spirits of divination, as Act. 16. 16. Or which, see the annotations on Deut. 18. 11. And O•th is here for Baale oboth, such as have familiar spirits; as is expressed in 1 Sam. 28. 7. So Spirits. are used for spiritual gifts, and men that have them; in 1 Cor. 14. 12. 32. 1 John. 4. 1. wizarde] or cunning persons, so named of their knowledge which they pretended to have. These are joined to the familiar spirits aforesaid, as like unto them in sin; and both of them were to be killed by the Magistrate, Levite. 20. 27. See the notes on Deut. 18. 11. This precept is added next the former of reverencing God's Sanctuary, which figured Christ: even as in Deut. 18. when God calleth them •om all such familiar spirits, wizards, &c. he promiseth the Prophet (Christ) unto his people. So here Chazkuni observeth, ye shall reverence my S•ct•rie; therefore turn not to them that have familiar spirits, and to wizards; for what have you to do with such: behold you have a Sanctuary, wherein is V ⟨...⟩ ⟨ϕ⟩ Thu ⟨...⟩ im.

Vers. 32. rise up] in sign of honor, 1 King. 2. 19. the oary-head] that is, the man which hath an ⟨ϕ⟩-head; or gray-hayres; which as it is the ho ⟨ϕ⟩ of old-men, Prov. 20. 29. so God would have such to be honored. The Greek translatheth it, the ⟨ϕ⟩-headed: the Chaldee, him that is skillful in the L•. And so it is holden by the Hebrews, that learned men are by this law to be revered, as the aged: and that when such came within four ⟨ϕ⟩, the yongers were to rise up, and so soon as they were past, to sit down again. of the old-man] or, of the elder; which was a common name, for aged persons, and for Magistrates, usually called Elders, Deut. 22. 18. and 25. 7. both are to be honored, the one for their age, the other for their office. But for their sins, the Lord threatened the contrary, Deut. 28. 50. which Jeremiah saw fulfilled, and lamented that the faces of Elders were not honored, Lam. 5. 12. By the Hebrews account a man at sixty years, was Old; and at seventy, Hoarie, or gray-headed. The old man here, is in Targum Jonathan expounded the wise man.

Vers. 33. a stranger] in Greek, a proselyte: this Law is here repeated from Exod. 22. 21. see the annotations there. vex him] in Greek, afflict him: and Targum Jonathan addeth, with hard words. So it is explained by Sol. Rashi, vexations of words, as, thou shalt not say unto him; yesterday thou wast an idolater, and now thou comest to learn the Law, which was given from the mouth of the Power (of God.)

Vers. 34. as one homeborne] that is, as a natural Israelite; for affection towards him, and not communion in the holy things of God: see the notes on Exod. 12. 48. 49. as thyself] the same which was commanded before touching the Israelites; verse 18. The Hebrews write hereof thus: The love of the stranger, which cometh and gathereth him-self under the wings of the Divine-Majesty, is a twofold commandment, first because he is among our general neighbors; and again because he is a stranger: and the law saith, YE SHALL LOVE THE STRANGER. (Deut. 10. 19.) He hath commanded the love of the stranger, even as he hath commanded the love of himself; for it is written, AND THOU SHALT LOVE THE LORD THY GOD, (Deut. 6. 5.) And the holy blessed God himself, loveth strangers, (Deut. 10. 18.) Maimonides in Degnoth, c. 6. s. 4.

Vers. 35. unrighteousness] or injurious-evil: see verse. 15. in mete yard] the Greek translatheth it in measures. The Hebrew Middah is properly such measure or dimension, as concerneth the greatness of things, or length of them, by the yard, elle, inch, rod, or the like: the next two concern the multitude of things, by weight, as in skoles, or by measure, as in vessels. Hereof the Hebrews say, He that weigheth to his neighbor, by lesser weights, then the people of that country are wont to do; or meteth by a lesser mete-yard, then they are wont, transgresseth the Law in Levite. 19. 35. Although he that meteth or weigheth less, is a thief; yet he payeth not the double, [as in Exod. 22. 4.] but payeth him his measure or his weight. Neither is he beaten for this trespass, because he is bound to make restitution. Who so hath in his house or in his shop a lesser meteyard or weight, transgresseth the Law, in Deut. 25. 13. 14. For though he himself do not sell thereby, yet another may come, who knoweth it not, and may measure by it. Whether he buy and sell with an Israelite, or with an Infidel, if he mete or weigh by too little a weight, he transgresseth, and is bound to restore. And so it is unlawful to let an infidel err in accounts; but he must exactly reckon with him: yea though he be one that is subdued under thy hand; how much more then with others that are not subdued, Maimonides treat. of Theft, chap. 7.

Vers. 36. just stones] Hebr. stones of justice; which the Chaldee well explaineth true weights; and the Greek, just weights. So stones are often used for weights, Deut. 25. 12. Prov. 11. 1. and 16. 11. and 20. 20. 23. where double and deceitful weights, are shown to be an abomination to the Lord. The reason of this name is, for that they used weights of stone, rather then of other things. They make no weights either of iron or of lead, or of other like metal, because they will canker and wax too light. but they make them of the clear stony-rock, or of glass, or the like. Maimonides, treat. of Theft, chap. 8. sect. 4. Ephah] put for all measures, as the Greek and Chaldee here translate: though the Ephah was one certain measure, like our Bushel; containing ten Omers: see the annotations on Exod. 16. 36. just Hin] Hebr. Hin of justice: the Hin was a measure of liquid things, (as the Ephah was for dry,) and it contained as much as seventy two hennes eggs: see the notes on Exod. 30. 24. And under these two names, all other measures are comprehended, which God requireth to be just and true, condemning all falsehood and deceit: as Ezek. 45. 10. 11. 12. Amos 8. 5. 8. In Israel, the Magistrates looked unto these, as in the Hebrew canons it is said, The Judges are bound to appoint Officers in every city, and in every shire, that they may go about into shops, and look that their balances and measures be just, and determine the stinted measure of them. And with whomsoever they find any weight or measure too light or short, or balances that go awry; they have authority to smite him, and to mulct him, as the Judges shall meet, &c. Maimonides treat. of Thft, chap. 8. sect, 20. These ordinances, as they taught men justice in all their civil affairs, so especially in spiritual: that all things pertaining to religion, be faithfully and equally weighed in the balance of the heart; by the measures and weights of the Lord's sanctuary: that is, by his laws, and words of truth, contained in the holy Scriptures. Act. 17. 11. 1. Thes. 5. 21. 2. Tim. 3. 16, 17. compared with Hos. 12. 7. As also that all persons be tried and judged, according to their works, by the word of God: Mat. 7. 1 2, 3. John. 7. 24. compared with Job 31. 6. Dan. 5. 27. Psal. 58. p. 3.

CHAP. XX.

1. Laws for the punishment of him that giveth of his ⟨◇⟩ to Molech, 6, of him that goeth to Wizards, 9, of him that curseth his parents, 10. of adulterers, 11, 14, 17, 19. of ⟨◇◇⟩ persons, 13. of them that lie with mankind, 15, or with beasts, 18, or with a woman in her ⟨◇⟩ . 7, 12, 26, Holiness and obedience ⟨◇⟩ required: 23, the manners of the heathens to be avoided: 25, difference to be put between beasts clean and unclean. ⟨◇⟩ , Wizards must be stoned to death.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying. And thou shalt say, unto the sons of Israel; Every man of the sons of Israel, or of the stranger that sojourneth in Israel, that giveth of his feed, unto Molech; he shall surely be put to death: the people of the land, shall stone him with stones. And I, will set my face, against that man; and will cut him off, from among his people: because he hath given, of his seed unto Molech; that he might defile my sanctuary; and to profane, the name of my holiness. And if the people of the land, hiding shall hide their eyes from that man, when he giveth of his seed unto Molech; that they put him not to death: Then I, will set my face, against that man, and against his family: and will cut off him, and all that go-a-whoring after him, to go-a-whoring after Molech, from among their people. And the soul, that turneth unto (them that have) familiar spirits, and unto wizards; to go-a-whoring after them: I will also set my face, against that soul; and will cut him off, from among his people. And ye shall sanctify yourselves; and be holy: for I am Jehovah, your God. And ye shall keep, my statutes; and do [unspec] them: I am Jehovah, that sanctifieth you. For every man, that curseth his father, or his mother, shall be surely put to death: he hath cursed, his father or his mother, his bloods shall be upon him. And the man, that committeth-adultery with a man's wife; that committeth-adultery, with his neighbors wife: the adulterer, and the adulteress, shall surely be put to death. And the man that lieth with his fathers wife, hath uncovered his fathers nakedness: both of them shall be surely put to death, their bloods shall be upon them. And the man, that lieth with his daughter-in-law; both of them shall be surely put to death: they have wrought confusion, their bloods shall be upon them. And the man, that lieth with a male, like copulation with a woman; they have done abomination, both of them: they shall be surely put to death, their bloods shall be upon them. And the man that taketh a wife, and her mother, it is wickedness: they shall burn him and them, with fire: that there be no wickedness, among you. And the man that giveth his copulation with a beast; he shall surely be put to death: and ye shall kill the beast. And the woman, that approacheth unto any beast, to lie down thereto; thou shalt even kill the woman, & the beast: they shall surely be put to death, their bloods shall be upon them. And the man that taketh his sister, his fathers daughter or his mothers daughter, and seeth her nakedness, and she see his nakedness, it is impiety; and they shall be cut off, in the eyes of the sons of their people; he hath uncovered, his sisters nakedness, he shall bear his iniquity. And the man, that lieth with a woman having-her sickness, and uncovereth her nakedness, discovereth be fountain; and she, uncovereth the fountain of her bloods: even both of them shall be cut-off, from among their people. And thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy mothers sister, or of thy fathers sister: for he discovereth his near-kin, they shall bear their iniquity. And the man, that lieth with his aunt; he hath uncovered, his uncles nakedness; they shall bear their sin, they shall die childless. And the man, that taketh his brothers wife, it is uncleanness: he hath uncovered his brothers nakedness, they shall be childless. And ye shall keep all my statutes, and all my judgments, and do them: that the land spew you not out; which I bring you thither, to dwell therein. And ye shall not walk, in the statutes of the nation; which I send out, from before you: for all these things, have they done; and I am irked with them. And I have said unto you; you, shall inherit their land; and I, will give it unto you, to inherit it; a land that floweth with milk, and honey: I, am Jehovah your God; which have separated you, from the people's. And ye shall separate, between the clean beast and the unclean, and between the unclean fowl, and the clean: and ye shall not make your souls abominable, by beast or by fowl; or by any thing that creepeth on the ground; which I have separated unto you, for unclean. And ye shall be holy unto me, for I Jehovah, am holy: and have separated you, from the people's, to be mine. And man or woman, when there is in them a familiar-spirit, or (that is) a wizard, they shall surely be put to death: they shall stone them with stones, their bloods shall be upon them.

Annotations.

Every man] or Any man whosoever. Hebr. man (אִישׁ) ; as Levite. 17. 3. Targum Jonathan explaineth it, young man or old man; the Greek hath, If any. Here God appointeth punishments for the transgression of such Laws, as were given in the two former chapters. that sojourneth] or, that is a stranger: in Greek, proselytes. of his seed] that is, any of his children. Molech] an Idol to which the heathens offered their children; whereof see Lev. 18. 21. he shall surely be put to death] or, he shall be put to die the death: Heb. dying he shall be made to die. So after in verse 9. 10. 11. 12. &c. the people of the land] the Chaldee expounds it, the people of the house of Israel. stone him] his sin being proved before the Judges by witnesses, the hands of the witnesses were first to be upon him, and afterward the hands of all the people, Deut. 17. 6. 7. Four manner of deaths were in Israel for malefactors, Stoning, Burning, Killing with the sword, and Strangling: And the Hebrews reckon eighteen evil doers which were to be stoned, (& that was the sorest death;) sundry of them are mentioned in this chapter: of all the rest, see the notes on Exodus 21. 12. The manner of stoning is said to be thus; when the malefactor came within four cubits of the place of execution, they stripped him out of his clothes, but covered his nakedness before; and a woman was not stoned naked, but in one linen garment. The place of stoning was high; unto which the malefactor with his witnesses went up: his hands being tied: One of the witnesses stroke him behind upon his loins; if that killed him not, the other witnesses threw a great stone upon his heart; if he died not with it, all Israel threw stones upon him. Talmud Bab. in Sanhedrin, chap. 6. and Maimonides in Sanhedrin, chapter 15. section 1.

Vers. 3. And I will set] Heb. will give; that is, will oppose and set firmly: for which in verse 5. Moses useth the word set. This is meant, if the sin were not known, or could not be proved by witnesses sufficiently before men, that God himself would cut off the sinner, which the Chaldee and Greek do interpret destroy, or make to perish. So Chazkuni expoundeth it, I will set my face, when he transgresseth without witnesses and evident-proof. The Hebrews reckon six and thirty which for their sins are threatened by the law to be cut off; and they are these, 1. He that lieth with his mother; 2. or with his fathers wife; 3. or with his daughter-in-law; 4. or with mankind; 5. or with a beast; 6. and the woman that lieth down to a beast; 7. he that lieth with a woman and her daughter; 8. or with another man's wife; 9. or with his sister; 10. or with his fathers sister; 11. or with his mothers sister; 12. or with his wives sister; 13. or with the wife of his fathers brother; 14. or with the wife of his mothers brother; 15. or with a woman that hath her sickness; 16. The blasphemers; 17. the Idol-server; 18. he that giveth of his seed to Molech; 19. he that followeth him that hath a familiar spirit; 20. he that profaneth the Sabbath; 21. the unclean person that eateth the holy thing; 22. the unclean person that cometh into the Sanctuary. 23. He that eateth fat; 24. or blood; 25. or that eateth that which remaineth of the sacrifices, when it is a polluted thing; 26. or that eateth unclean meats; 27. He that slayeth sacrifices without the sanctuary; 28. & be that offereth them without; 29. He that eateth Leaven at the Passover; 30. he that eateth anything on Atonement day; 31. or that worketh on that day; 32. Hethat maketh an Oile, like the holy oil of the Sanctuary; 33. or maketh anincense like the holy incense; 34. or, that anointeth man's flesh with the holy oil of the Sanctuary; 35. He that observeth not the Passover, 36. or that observeth not the Law of circumcision. For these they are guilty to be cut off, if they transgress presumptuously, if ignorantly, they must bring a sinoffring, &c. Thalmaid Bab. in Ch• it hu•. chap. 1. All these are expressed in Moses Law, and yet he that gathered these in the Talmud, (as Maimonides in his Annotations upon the same place observeth,) reckoneth but the generals, and leaveth the particulars. For where he saith, He that lieth with a woman and her daughter; he implieth also, a woman with her son: so a woman and her sons daughter, a woman and her daughters daughter: and his mother, and his mothers mother, and his fathers mother, and his daughter, and his sons daughter, and his daughters daughter. And under the name of the Idolserver, is implied he that poureth out a drink-offering, or that burneth incense, or that boweth down, or that sacrificeth, and such like. So he speaketh of him that hath a Familiar spirit, and not of the Wizard [who is in the same estate, Lev. 20. 6.] Of these forementioned, some are to die by the hand of the magistrate, some are to be beaten, but not put to death; as elsewhere is observed. defile my Sanctuary] that is, the Tabernacle, (Exod. 25. 8.) or Temple: which was defiled, when God was sacrificed unto other where, or by other ways then he commanded, (Levite. 17. 4. 5.) or when they sacrificed to idols, and yet would come into the Sanctuary to serve God also; whereas the Temple of God, hath no agreement with Idols, 2 Cor. 6. 16. And thus the Prophet reproveth them, for that they burned incense to Baal, and walked after other gods; and yet came and stood before him in the house whereupon his name was called, Ier. 7. 9. 10. and to profane] that is, as the Greek explaineth it, and that he might profane. Of profaning God's name, see Levite. 18. 21.

Vers. 4. the people of the land] which the Chaldee expoundeth the people of the house of Israel: and so the Greek saith, the homeborne of the land. hiding shall hide] that is, shall any ways hide; the Greek explaineth it, with winking shall wink at; that is, neglect, or not regard no punish. That word Paul useth, in Act. 17. 30. the times of this ignorance, God wincked at.

Vers. 5. my face] the Chaldee expoundeth it, mine anger: and so face often signifieth, Psal. 21. 10. and 34. 17. Lam. 4. 16. See the notes on Gen. 32. 20. his family] in Greek, his kindred; and so the word family signifieth, in Gen. 24. 38. the Chaldee translateth it, his helpers; that is, such as took part with him; as the next words do declare. that go a whoring after him] that is, commit idolatry, as the Chaldec explaineth it, that err: so in verse 6. the Greek translateth, all that consent unto him. This judgment God executed upon the Jews; for this idolatry, and their other sins: as he signified by his Prophet, that he would give their city Jerusalem into the hand of the Chaldeans, who should set fire upon it, and burn it with the houses, upon whose roofs they had burnt incense unto Baal, &c. Because they, their Kings, their Princes, their Priests, and their Prophets, and the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, had set their abominations in the house which was called by his Name, to defile it; and built the high places of Baal, to cause their sons and their daughters to pass through (the fire) unto Molech, &c. therefore it should be delivered into the hand of the King of Babylon; by the sword and by the famine, and by the pestilence. Jer. 32. 28. 29. 32. 34. 35. 36.

Vers. 6. the soul] that is, as the Chaldee expoundeth, the man. that turneth unto] or, looketh after; in Greek followeth: meaning that consulteth with them, as Deut. 18. 11. familiar spirits] Targum Jonathan expoundeth it, them that ask of familiar spirits. Of these; and the wizards following (whom the Greek calleth Enchanters,) see the annotations on Leviticus 19. 31. and Deuteronomy 18. 11. set my face] Hebr. give my face: in Chaldee, give mine anger against that man, and destroy him. This judgment was executed upon K. Saul, who died, for asking counsel of one that had a familiar spirit. 1 Chron. 10. 13. 1 Sam. 28.

Vers. 7. And] This may be a reason of the former, Therefore ye shall sanctify yourselves; by abstaining from all evil, and doing good. be holy] or, be saints: for I am Jehovah, to weet, that sanctifieth you, as verse. 8. or, for I am holy, as the Greek addeth, and as Moses wrote before, in Lev. 19. 2.

Vers. 9. For every man] or, any man: Hebr. man man, meaning any whosoever, as verse. 2. And this is inferred upon the former precept, be holy: For, otherwise judgments abide you. curseth] or revileth; speaketh evil, as the Greek translateth; which the holy Ghost approveth in Acts 23. 5. See the notes on Exodus 21. 17. or] Hebrew, and, which the Greek translateth or; and so in Matthew 15. 4. For death was his due, if he cursed either of them, and they are distinguished, to make him guilty for the one without the other, as Chazkuni here explaineth it, and as Rashi addeth, though it be after his parents death. Whose curseth his father, or his mother; his Lamp shall be put out, in obscure darkness. Prov. 20. 20. his bloods shall be upon him] that is, his death shall be upon his own head; for he hath caused it by his sin. So the Greek translateth, he shall be guilty: and the Chaldee, he is guilty (or worthy,) to be killed; so after often in this chapter. The manner of his death was stoning; as is noted, upon Exod. 21. 10. and as Moses after showeth for the rebellious son, Deut. 21. 21. And it is observed as a general  $\langle \diamond \rangle$ , by the Hebrew doctors. Every place where it is  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  in the Law, they shall be put to death, THEIR BLOODS UPON THEM, it is meant, by stoning. Maimonides Issureibiah, c. 1. s. 6, and Sol. Rashi on Lev. 20. 9.

Vers. 10. that committeth adultery] the Greek addeth in the second place, or that commits-adultery [...] with his neighbors wife. It is expounded in Deut. 22. 22. a woman married to an husband. die the death] the manner of their death, is not set down, either here, or in Deuter. 22. 22. unless by that which is before and after, (for other unlawful copulations) we say it is meant stoning to death: as the man that lieth with a beast, verse. 15. is to be stoned, because the woman for like beastliness is to be stoned, verse 16. The Pharisees which brought unto Christ a woman taken in adultery, said, Moses commanded that such should be stoned, John. 8. 4. 5.

but whether that were this very case, is to be considered. Also to lie with a betrothed woman, the punishment was stoning, as for humbling his neighbors wife, Deut. 22. 24. Howbeit the latter Pharisees, say the adulterers death was Strangling: Maimonides in Sanhedrin, chap. 15. sect. 13. And in another place, he openeth this and the other like •wes more fully, thus. Who so presumptuously committeth any of all the unlawful copulations spoken of in the l•w, is guilty of cutting off, Levite. 18. 29. *and if they do it ignorantly, they are bound to bring the Sin offering appointed. And there be some of the Nakednesses [that is, the unlawful copulations] which deserve death by the Judges; more then the cutting-off, which is meet for them all. Of those which are to be put to death by the Judges, some are to die by stoning, and some by burning, and some by strangling. And these are they that are put to death by stoning: He that lieth with his mother, or with his fathers wife, or with his sons wife, which is called his daughter-in-law; he that lieth with mankind; or with a beast; and the woman that lieth down to a beast. And these are burnt to death; He that lieth with his wives daughter, whiles his wife liveth; or with her daughters daughter; or with her sons daughter; or with his wives mother; or with her mothers mother; or with her fathers mother. He that lieth with his daughter; or with his daughters daughter, or with his sons daughter. Thou hast no unlawful copulation puni•hed with Strangling, but for lying with a man's wife only, Levite. 20. 10. And the death which the Law speaketh of absolutely, [that is, without naming what kind of death it shall be,] is Strangling. And if she be a Priests daughter, she is burned, Levite. 21. 9. and he that lay with her, is strangled: and if she be a betrothed maid, they are both of them stoned, Deuter. 22. 24. and wheresoever the Law saith, Their bloods upon them; that is by stoning, For all other unlawful copulations, there is cutting-off only; and not death by the Magistrate. Therefore if there be witnesses and evidence, the Judges are to beat them: for all that deserve cutting-off, are to be beaten. Maimonides in Issurei biah chap. 1. sect. 1.—7. Thus by their own grant, this case is singular: and there is no other reason of the adulterers strangling, then the commanding of their death absolutely. Among the heathens also, adultery was punished with death, as the King of Babylon roasted Zedekiah and Ahab in the fire, because they committed adultery with their neighbors wives, &c. Jeremiah 29. 22. 23. This sin is a fire that consumeth to destruction, and will root out all a man's increase; Job 31. 12. He that d 〈...〉 h it, destroyeth his own soul, Prov. 6. 32.*

Vers. 11. their bloods upon them] that is, they shall be stoned: in Greek, both of them are guilty; and the Chaldee saith, worthy to be killed. So in the rest that follow.

Vers. 12. wrought] or, done confusion, which the Greek translath, have done-impiously. [unspec 12]

Vers. 13. like copulation with a woman] Hebr. with the lyings (or copulations) of a woman: see Levite. 18. 22.

Vers. 14. wickedness] or, a wicked purpose: in Chaldee counsel of sins: in Greek, an unlawful act. See Levite. 18. 17.

Vers. 17. impiety] or, reproach, ignominy, as the Greek and Chaldee do translate it. cut-off] in Greek, destroyed before the sons of their kin: that is, soon and openly; to weet by the hand of God: and to be beaten by the Magistrate, as the Hebrews say. See the notes on verse 10. his iniquity] that is, the punishment due thereunto: as Gen. 19. 15.

Vers. 18. having her sickness] her menstrual-infirmity, for which she was separated as unclean, even from her husband: therefore the Greek translatheth it put-apart, and the Chaldee, unclean. See the annotations on Levite. 12. 2. and 15. 19.—24. the fountain] or well, figuratively so called, because of the issve, as in Levite. 12 7. The Greek here in the first place, keepeth the metaphor, he hath uncovered her fountain, the Chaldee saith, her ignominy: in the second place, the Greek translatheth, she hath uncovered the issue of her blood, where the Chaldee saith, the uncleanness of her blood. The Holy Ghost also explaineth it so, for where it is said, in Mark 5. 29. the fountain of her blood was dried up: another Evangelist saith, her issue of blood stanchd, Luke 8. 44. By the Hebrew doctors, the womb wherein the child is formed, is called the Fountain. Maimonides in Issureibiah, chap. 5. sect. 3. Therefore also they exempt virgins from this pollution; as is noted on Levite. 15. 19. cut-off] in the Greek and Chaldee, destroyed; to weet by the hand of God, for presumptuous doing against this Law: Levite. 15. 31. and by the Magistrates, (if it were known,) she was beaten. Maimonides in Issureibiah, chap. 1. sect. 22. And from the Law for washing her in Levite. 15. they teach, that the woman which hath her sickness, or hath an issue, or hath borne achilde, if she wash not her self in water; who so lieth with any one of them, though it be after many years, is guilty of cutting-off. Maimonides ibidem chap. 4. sect. 3. But those legal washings, figured our better cleansing by the blood of Christ, Esa. 4. 4. 1 John. 1. 7.

Vers. 20. his aunt] which the Chaldee expoundeth his uncles (or fathers-brothers) wife: see Levite. 18. 14. childless] meaning either that God will give them no children, or soon take them away if he do give them. For, by the Hebrew canons, the Magistrates might not put them to death, but beat them only for this sin. See the notes on verse 10.

Verse 21. shall be childless] the Greek translatheth, shall die childless; as verse 20. Sol. Rashi hereupon noteth; Childlesse, meaneth, if he have children, he shall bury them; if he have no children, he shall die without children: therefore the scripture differeth, saying (in verse 20.) they shall die childless; and (in verse 21.) they shall be childless. They shall die childelesse, if he have any at the time of transgression, he shall have none at his death, for he shall bury them whiles he liveth: they shall be childless, for if he have none when he transgresseth, he shall be all his days, as he now is.

Vers. 22. And] or, Therefore ye shall keep. spew] or, vomit you not out; which the Greek and Chaldee turn, loathe, or abhor you. See Levite. 18. 25. 26. 28.

Verse 23. nation] in Greek, nations, in Chaldee, people's. amyrded] or, am grieved with, and consequently do abhor them, as the Greek translatheth it: and the Chaldee, my Word abhorreth them. Thus also God was affected with Israel and complained, Fortie years I was irked with that generation, Psal. 95. 10.

Vers. 24. milk and honey] that is, all good and comfortable blessings; which were also figures of heavenly graces: see the notes on Exod. 3. 8. separated] in Greek disparted (or disbanded) you from all the nations. God's laws are as a wall and hedge to keep his people from the statutes and manners of the wicked. So Solomon said, Thou didst separate them to thyself for an inheritance; from all the people's of the earth: 1 King. 8. 53.

Vers. 25. separate between the clean beast] that is, put difference, by eating the clean and refraining from the unclean: according to the Law in Levite. 11. which thing is here spoken of upon their separation from the people's, because their abstinence from unclean beasts, figured their abstaining from the communion of unclean people's; as Act. 10. 12. 28. and as is shown on Levite. 11. The Hebrews say, this is mentioned after the unlawful copulations aforesaid, because who so defileth him-self with them, degenerateth and is as it were transformed into the nature of unclean beasts, &c. R. Menachem on Levite. fol. 151. for unclean] that is, that you should count them unclean, and abstain from them. The Greek translatheth, in uncleanness.

Vers. 26. from the people's] in Gre•ke, from all the nations; as in verse 24. to be mine] or, to be unto me: which the Chaldee interpreteth, to serve before me.

Vers. 27. familiar spirit] or spirit of divination: see Levite. 19. 31. their bloods upon them] in Greek, they are guilty: in Chaldee, worthy to be killed. See before on verse 9.

1, Laws concerning the Priests mourning for the dead: 6, Of their holiness, 7, and marriage. 9, The Priests daughter that playeth the whore, is to be burnt. 10, Laws concerning the high Priests mourning, 13, and his marriage. 16, The Priests that have blemishes, must not minister in the Sanctuary.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

AND Jehovah said, unto Moses; Say unto the Priests, the sons of Aaron: and say unto them; For a soul he shall not defile himself, among his people's. But, for his near-kin, that is nigh unto him: for his mother, and for his father, and for his son, and for his daughter, and for his brother. And for his sister a virgin, that is nigh unto him; which hath not been, to any man: for her, he shall defile himself. He shall not defile himself, being a chief-man among his people's: to profane himself. They shall not make baldness, upon their head; and the corner of their beard, they shall not shave: and in their flesh, they shall not cut any cutting. They shall be holy, unto their God; and shall not profane, the name of their God: for the Fire-offerings of Jehovah, the bread of their God, they do offer, and they shall be holiness. They shall not take a wife, that is an whore, or profane; neither shall they take a woman, put-away from her husband: for he is holy, unto his God. And thou shalt [unspec] sanctify him; for he offereth, the bread of thy God: he shall be holy unto thee; for I Jehovah which sanctify you, am holy. And the [unspec] daughter of any Priest, if she profane her self, to commit-whoredom: she profaneth her father: she shall be burnt, with fire.

And the Priest that is great among his [unspec] brethren, upon whose head, the oil of anointing was poured, and hath filled his hand, to put on the garments: shall not make bare his head, nor rent his garments. Neither [unspec] shall he go-in, to any souls of the dead: for his father or for his mother, he shall not defile himself. Neither shall he go-out [unspec] of the Sanctuary; nor profane, the Sanctuary of his God: for the crown, the anointing oil of his God, is upon him, I am Jehovah. And he, shall take a wife in her virginities. [unspec] A widow or one put-away, or profane, or an whore; these shall he not take: but a virgins of his people's, shall he take to wife. And [unspec] he shall not profane his seed, among his people's: for I Jehovah, do sanctify him.

And Jehovah spake, unto Moses, saying [unspec] Speak unto Aaron, saying: Any man of thy seed, in their generations, in whom there shall be a blemish; he shall not approach, to offer the bread of his God. For any man, [unspec] that hath in him a blemish, shall not approach: a man blind, or lame, or flat-nosed, or that hath anything superfluous. Or a man, [unspec] in whom there shall be, the breaking of a foot, or the breaking of a hand. Or that is crookbackt, [unspec] or hath a small-spot, or a confusion in his eye: or scurse, or scab; or hath his stones broken. No man that hath a blemish in him, [unspec] of the seed of Aaron the Priest, shall comenigh, to offer the Fire-offerings of Jehovah: a blemish is in him; he shall not come-nigh, to [unspec] offer the bread of his God. He shall eat, the bread of his God; of the holy of holies & of the holies. But he shall not go-in unto the [unspec] Veil, nor come-nigh unto the Altar, because a blemish is in him: & he shall not profane my Sanctuaries; for I Jehovah, do sanctify them. And Moses spake it, unto Aaron, and [unspec] unto his sons: and unto all the sons of Israel.

Annotations.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Here beginneth (after the Hebrews ••count) the one and thirtieth section or Lecture of the Law. See Gen. 6. 9.

The Priests] After the general rules of holiness for all the people, here followeth a special law for the holiness of the Priests: their office was to make atonement for the people, and to sanctify them; therefore must they have a care to sanctify themselves. And as when God forbiddeth his people to seek unto such as have familiar spirits, &c. he telleth them of a Prophet, whom he would raise up unto them, by whom they might know his will; Deut. 18. 10. 11. 15. so it is observed here by the Hebrews, (as Baalhatturim, and Chazkuni,) that immediately after the Law against familiar spirits, and wizards, Levite. 20. 27. this Law is given for the Priests; that the people might have no occasion to seek unto the former, but might come unto the Priests, and they should inquire for them by Vrim and Thummim. the sons of Aaron] Targum Jonathan addeth, the males; and Sol. Rashi saith, the sons and not the daughters of Aaron; because the laws following concerned not the women. So in the Hebrew canons it is said, Aaron's daughters are not forewarned pollution by the dead; but the Priests the sons of Aaron. Likewise the profane (Priests) might defile themselves; for this is but for the sons of Aaron that may execute the Priests office. A young Priest is to be warned by the elder (Priests,) not to defile himself, &c. and his father is to train him up in holiness. Maimonides tom. 4. treat. of Mourning, chap. 3. sect. 11. 12. for a soul] to weet, of the dead, as is expressed in verse 11. elsewhere called a dead soul, Numbers 6. 6. meaning a dead body: for properly at death the soul departeth, Gen. 35. 18. and the dead defileth not till his seal be departed, saith Maimonides, tom. 3. in Tumath meth, chap. 1. sect. 15. wherefore the Chaldee here translateth for the dead; and Targum Jonathan, for the son of man that is dead. But the Greek retaineth the Hebrew phrase, for souls. So before in Levite. 19. 28. he shall not] that is, any Priest, shall not defile himself: in Greek, they shall not be defiled. This pollution might be by the funeral of the dead; for who so touched any dead body, or came into a tent (or house) where any dead body lay, or touched a grave; he was unclean seven days, Numbers 19. 14. 16. so by bearing the dead he was unclean, by proportion from the Law, in Levite. 11. 25. And by the Hebrew canons, if a man came within four cubits (that is, six f••) of the dead, he was unclean. Maimonides, treat. of Mourning, chap. 3. sect. 13. among his people's] in Greek, among their nation: that is, as Chazkuni explaineth it, among all Israel, for they are his people's. So people's are used for the tribes of Israel, in Deut. 33. 3. Judge. 5. 14. Act. 4. 27.

Vers. 2. his near-kin] those of his consanguinity: see this word in Lev. 18. 6. Sol. Rashi here understandeth the Priests wife by it; as one for whom he might defile himself. See the notes on verse 3. This law is for the inferior Priests: but the high Priest might not defile himself for these, verse 10. 11.

Vers. 3. not been to any man] which the Greek explaineth, not given to (or not bestowed on) a man; meaning, which hath had no husband. For such as had husbands, were to be buried and mourned for by them, as Abraham mourned for Sarah, Genes. 23. 2. These six, Father, and Mother, and Son, and Daughter, and Brother, and Sister that hath had no husband, are again mentioned in Ezek. 44. 25. &c. that for them the Priests might be defiled, and after their cleansing, and days appointed, to bring their Sin-offering. And it seemeth they were to do the like for their wives, because Ezekiel the Priest was commanded as an extraordinary case, not to mourn for his wife when she died, Ezek. 24. 16. 17. 18. So the Hebrew canons say, Every Priest that is defiled for the dead, except for those six dead which are expressed in the Law, or for his wife: if it be proved by witnesses, he is to be beaten: Leviticus 21. 1. And whether he touch the dead, or come into the tent, or bear him, and whether it be the dead person himself, or any other uncleanness about him: and so if a Priest touch a grave, he is to be beaten. And every Priest that cometh within four cubits of the dead, is to be chastised with stripes: Maimonides treat. of Mourning, chap. 1. sect. 1. 2. 13. he shall defile him-self] in Greek, they shall be defiled, meaning all and every of the Priests. This is understood not as a permission, but a duty, for them to bury and mourn for these their near kin. The Hebrews say; Very weighty is the charge of mourning, for even the Priest is driven to be unclean, for his near-kin, must busy himself about them, and mourn for them, Leviticus 21. 2. It is a commandment; so that if he would not be defiled, they are to cause him to be defiled against his will. So for his wife, (but this is not but by the doctrine of the Scribes,) because she hath no heir but him, &c. And he is to be defiled for his married wife only, but not for a betrothed wife. Likewise for others, which are not to be mourned for, as such as are put to death by the Synedrion (or Magistrates,) and such as are Apostate from the ways of the Church, and untimely births, and such as wittingly kill themselves; the Priest is not to defile himself for them. And how long is he commanded to defile himself for his near-kindred? Until the cover of the grave be closed upon them: for after that, they are as all other dead persons, that if a Priest be defiled, he is to be beaten. Maimonides, treat. of Mourning, chap. 2. sect. 6. 7. 8.

Vers. 4. being a chief-man] or, for a chief-man, that is, for any other of his house, or out of his house, save for those before specified. So Chazkuni citeth this as a common exposition of this place; A common Priest shall not defile himself for a chief man among his people's; be he the high Priest among his people. Although I permit thee to defile thyself for thy near-kin, thou shalt not defile thyself for the high Priest, who is not of thy near-kin. The Hebrew Baal, signifieth a Lord, Master, or chief man, Judge. 9. 51. Esa. 60. 8. and so the Chaldee translatheth it here Rabba; that is, a master, or chief-man: (but the Greek expoundeth it Suddenly, as if it were written Bahal.) Baal also signifieth an husband, Exod. 21. 3. 22. which interpretation some keep in this place.

Vers. 5. not make] or, not shave, (as the Greek translatheth:) Hebr. not balde baldness, meaning any way, either by shaving, or pulling off the hair, or otherwise: and the Greek addeth for the dead, which is here intended, as is expressed in Deut. 14. 1. And that not the Gentiles only, but the Israelites also were wont to make themselves bald, in mourning for the dead, appeareth by Ier. 16. 6. Ezek. 7. 18. Amos 8. 10. Also the idolatrous priests of the Gentiles are reported to use these ceremonies for their dead, as in the apoc•iphall writings, Baruch 6. 31. 32. it is said, And the Priests sit in their Temples, having their clothes rent, and their heads and beards shaven, and nothing upon their heads: they roar and cry before their gods, as men do at the feast when one is dead. the corner] that is, any of the corners; this was the manner of Idolaters, and is forbidden not the Priests only, but all Israelites: see the annotations on Leviticus 19. 27. cut any cutting] or, make any incision: a thing forbidden the people also, Levite. 19. 28. Deuter. 14. 1. So God would have them in their mourning for the dead, not to be immoderate, (as men which have no hope, 1 Thes. 4. 13.) nor to imitate the heathenish customs, which were idolatrous: see the notes on Levite. 19. 28. and Deut. 14. 1.

Vers. 6. Fire-offerings] in Groeke, sacrifices, in Chaldee, offerings, which were burnt in fire unto God. As all the people were forbidden the fore-said superstitions, because they were holy, & God's peculiar-treasure, above all people's, Deuter. 14. 2. so the Priests in special, because they were to be holier then other men, in respect of their ministration unto God. Therefore the high Priest, who came yet nearer unto God, is forbidden to mourn for such, as common Priests might mourn for, Levite. 21. 10. 11. the bread] or, the food: which the Greek interpreteth the gifts, the Chaldee, the offering. See Levite. 3. 11. shall be holiness] that is, men of holiness: which the Greek and Chaldee translate holy-ones.

Vers. 7. a wife that is an whore] This is the second law concerning the Priests holiness; that as they should not defile themselves by the dead: so neither by the living. The whore, (called in Hebrew, Zo•••) is by the Hebrews said to be she that is not a daughter of Israel, or a daughter of Israel, that hath lien with a man unto whom it is not lawful for her to be married; [such as are forbidden in Levite. 18.] or that hath lien with a profane man, though she may be married unto him. Whosoever hath lien with a man that hath made her a whore, whether by constraint or willingly, whether presumptuously or ignorantly, after he hath uncovered her nakedness; she is unlawful by the name of an whore, [•or a Priest to marie her:] Any woman of whom her husband hath been jealous, and the thing was bidden, and she hath not drunk of the bitter waters, (Numb. 5.) it is unlawful for a Priest to marie her, because she is a suspected whore. Maimonides in Issureibiah, chap. 18. sect. 1. 6. •2. or profane] Hebr. and profane, or, profaned: whereby seemeth not to be meant a common harlot, or one that hath defiled her body, for that was forbidden before under the name of an whore: but as a Priests daughter by her whoredom is said to profane her father, verse 9. so children might again be profaned by their fathers, and made unfit for to be married unto Priests. And thus the Hebrews expound this here, saying; Who is she that is profane? She that is borne of one that is forbidden the Priests. And so everyone of the women which are forbidden the Priests, if she be married to a Priest, she profaneth her self. Maimonides in Issurei biah, chap. 19<sup>a</sup> sect. 1. And Sol. Rashi here expoundeth profane, one that is borne of such as are unlawful for the Priests; as the daughter of a widow by the high Priest, (Levite. 21. 14.) or the daughter of a divorced woman by a common Priest, (Levite. 21. 7.) &c. put-away or, cast out, as the Greek also translatheth it, that is, divorced and not for the cause of adultery; which thing was permitted unto men under Moses law, for the hardness of their hearts; Deuter. 24. 1. 2. &c. Matth. 19. 8. What Priest soever, married with any of these three, was to be beaten by the Magistrate; as is after shown, on verse 15. According to the equity of this Law, the Apostle requireth that the wives of the Ministers of the Church, be grave, not slanderers, sober, faithful in all things, 1. Tim. 3. 11.

Vers. 8. And thou] or, Therefore thou shalt sanctify him: speaking to Israel, who were to repute the Priests holy, and not suffer them to mary with such as might defile them: nor any other way to be unclean, when they ministered before the Lord the bread] in Greek, the gifts, in Chaldee, the offering, as before in verse 6. holy unto thee] thou shalt reverently esteem him as an holy person, sanctified unto God's service. The Hebrews say, It is commanded to separate the Priests, and to sanctify them; and to prepare them for the oblation, Levite. 21. 8. And every man of Israel, must give much ho ⟨...⟩ to the Priest, and let them be first, for everything the is in the Sanctuary: to open the law first, and to blese first, and to receive a seemly portion first. Maimonides in Cle hamikdash, chap. 4. sect. 1. 12.

Verse 9. of any Priest] Hebr. of a man a Priest<sup>a</sup> Which word man, sometime signifieth any o<sup>o</sup>, a Gen. 23. 6. and 24 16. Levite. 21. 17. sometime a man of dignity, as Psal. 49. 3. and that may also be respected here. to commit whoredom] or by committing it, to weet, under her husband; as the Hebrew canons explain it; saying There are ten which are to be burnt, namely the Priests daughter that committeth whoredom under her husband; and he that lieth with his daughter, &c. Maimonides in Sanhed<sup>o</sup>, chap. 15. sect. 11. The man that lay with her, they say was to be strangled; as again they say; There is no unlawful copulation punished with strangling, ⟨ϕ⟩ the lying with a man's wife only: and if she be a Priests daughter, she is burnt, and he that lay with her, is strangled. Maimonides in Issurei biah, chap. 1. sect. 6. See the annotations on Levite. 20. 10. profaneth ⟨ϕ⟩ father] the Greek version saith, she profaneth her fathers name: the Chaldee, her fathers holiness. And Rashi explaineth it, she profaneth and conte ⟨...⟩ ⟨ϕϕ⟩ , for that men will say of him, Cursed is he ⟨ϕϕ⟩ this (woman,) Cursed is he that brought ⟨ϕϕ⟩ .

Ver. 10. great among his brethren] or, greater then ⟨ϕϕ⟩ : that is, the High Priest, who because he more specially figured Christ (called our Arch (or High) priest and great High priest, Heb. 3. 1. and 4. 14.) therefore he was to have more special care of his sanctity, both in avoiding pollution by the dead, and in his marriage. And this Law concerned not the high Priest only, but the second Priest (or Priests of the second order) mentioned in 2 King. 25. 28. and 23. 4. which ministered in the place of the high Priest if by any accident he were polluted, (as is noted on Levite. 16. 33.) and the Priest also that was anointed for the war, Deut. 20. 2. because these all were greater then their brethren. See the notes following on v. 13. oil of anointing] an holy oil, wherewith only the high Priests and Kings in Israel were anointed, and ordained to their office: see Exod. 30. 25. 33. and hath filled his hand] with the sacrifices, to offer them, as the Chaldee paraphrase here explaineth it; which the Greek calleth perfecting, or consecration. See Exod. 29. 9. Both these were to be done to the high Priest: but if there were no anointing oil, they or dained him with the high Priests garments only; saith Maimonides in Clei hamikdash, ch. 4. sect. 12. and he was bound to these laws, as well as if he had been anointed with oil. the garments] the eight ornaments wherewith the high Priest was to be decked: see Exod. 28. not make-bare] or, make-free, which the Greek translateth, not put the miter off his head; but the Chaldee saith, not let his locks grow, to weete, not  $\langle \phi \rangle$  then 30. days, as Rashi explaineth it: meaning that he should not be have himself as a mourner for the dead. See the annotations on Lev. 10. 6. From which place, the Hebrews gather, that one of the rites which mourners for the dead were to use, was not to poll their heads: Maimonides treat. of Mourning, chap. 5. sect. 1. 2. rent his garments] which was another sign of sorrow, see Lev. 10. 6. and Gen. 37. 34.

Vers. 11. go in] namely into any tent, house or place where any dead is, whereby he should be defiled, Numb. 19. 14. any souls of the dead] in Greek, any dead soul; meaning a dead corpse; as before in verse. 1. his father, &c.] which was lawful for any common Priest, verse. 2. but not for the high Priest. The Hebrews explain it thus; The high Priest may not be defiled for his near-kin, as for his father or his mother, &c. neither may he come to any tent where the dead is, though his neerekindred. Loe thou art taught (in Lev. 21. 11.) that he is bound neither to go in, nor to be defiled. So that if he touch, or carry (a dead person) he is to be beaten once; if he come into a tent, and tarry there whiles one die by him, &c. he is to be beaten twice; for coming in, and for being defiled, If he be defiled before, and afterward come into the tent, he is to be beaten even for coming in. Maimonides treat. of Mourning, c. 3. sect. 6. 7. How be it, these laws have exceptions in cases of necessity; as the Hebrew canons also show thus. A Priest that lighteth on a dead body in the way, loe he is to defile himself; though it be the high Priest, he is bound to defile himself for him, and to bury him. As if one of Israel be thrown (dead) in the way, and he hath none to bury him. Provided, that the Priest be himself alone, and no other with him; and that he call there in the way, and none do answer him. But if when he call, others do answer him, this is not a dead, which he is commanded (to bury) but he must call others to do it. If a Priest and a Nazirite walk together in the way, & light upon a dead; the Nazirite must go about (to bury him,) for his holiness is not perpetual; and the Priest may not defile himself, though he be but a common priest. If there be the high Priest, and a common priest, then the common priest is to defile himself: and whosoever is before his fellow in dignity, is to be after him in pollution. And if the second chief priest, with the priest that is anointed for the war, (Deut. 20. 2.) do light upon a dead: he that was anointed for the war, must be defiled, and not the Sagan [or second chief priest.] Maimonides ibidem, ch. 3. sect. 8. 9. Unto this Law, that the high Priest might not defile himself for his parents or children; the words in Moses blessing of tribe of Levi, seem to have reference; Who saith of his father and of him mother, I respect him not; and his brethren he acknowledgeth not; and his sons, he knoweth not, &c. Deut. 33. 9. Compare also Lev. 10. 2. 7.

Ver. 12. go out of the Sanctuary] to weete, in the time when he should serve there. And this Law was not for the high Priest only, but for all priests, who if any of their friends there died, or tidings of the death of any came unto their ears, might not therefore depart and leave off their ministrations, upon pain of death, Lev. 10. 7. So the Hebrews explain it; A priest that goeth out of the Sanctuary in the time of service only, is guilty of death, whether he be the high priest, or a common priest, Levite. 10. 7. So that which is said of the high Priest, (in Lev. 21. 12.) AND HE SHALL NOT GOE OVT, &c. is not but for the time of service only, that he shall not leave his service and go out. If it be so, why is this warning repeated for the high Priest? Because a common priest, which is in the Sanctuary, in his service, and he heareth of death of one for whom he is bound to mourn; though he may not go out of the Sanctuary, yet he serveth not, because he is sorrowful, and if he serve when he is sorrowful, by the law he profaneth his service, whether it be about the sacrifice of a particular person, or the sacrifice of the congregation. But the high Priest serveth when he is sorrowful; for it is said, Neither shall he go-out of the Sanctuary, nor profane the Sanctuary; as if he should say, he shall continue and serve the service that he is employed in, and it is not profaned. But though the high Priest serveth when he is sorrowful, yet is it unlawful for him to eat of the holy things; as it is written (in Lev. 10. 19.) Had I eaten the Syn-offering today, should it have been good in the eyes of the LORD? So neither hath he a portion to eat at evening, Maimonides in Biath hamikdash, ch. 2. sect. 5. 6. 8. nor profane the Sanctuary] the Greek expoundeth it, nor profane the sanctified name of his God. the crown, the anointing oil] This may be understood of two things, of the golden plate, which is called Nezer, 2 Crown, Exod us 29. 6. and of the Anointing oil; both which were upon him. Or the later explaineth the former, and the Oile is called Nezer, a Crown or Separation; because by it he was separated from other men, and other Priests. Thus the Greek translateth it, the holy oil the anointing of his God, is upon him.

V. 13. a wife in her virginities] that is, a wife that is a virgin, as the Greek translateth it. Three women are unlawful for all Priests, the divorced, the whore and the profane: and the high Priest is forbidden four, the three forenamed, and the widow. Whether it be the high Priest which is anointed with the anointing oil, or ordained in the (priestly) garments; and whether it be the priest that serveth, or the great Priest that serveth in his place; [instead of the high Priest when he is polluted, called the second Priest, 1 King 2. 28.] and likewise the Priest anointed for the war, (Deut. 20. 2.) they all are commanded to marry virgins, and forbidden to marry widows. Maimonides in Issurei biah, chap. 17. sect. 1. The high Priest was a figure of Christ, Heb. 3. 1. his wife which was to be a virgin, was a figure of the Church, which is to be chaste, pure, holy, as the Apostle writeth to the Church of Corinth, I have espoused you to one husband, that I may present you a chaste virgin to Christ: 2 Cor. 11. 2. See also Rev. 14. 4.

V. 14. a widow] whether she be a widow after betrothing or after marriage, she is forbidden him. Maimonides in Issure Biah, chap. 17. sect. 11. a virgin of his people's] that is, either of the tribe of Levi, or of any other tribe of Israel; as Jehojada the Priest, married Jehoshabeath the daughter of King Jehoram, of the tribe of Judah, 2 Chron. 22. 11. So in Ezekiel 44. 22. it is said of the Priests, they shall take maidens of the seed of the house of Israel. And in the Hebrew canons, Priests and Levites and Israelites, may lawfully go in (that is marry) one with another; and that which is borne goeth after the male: [that is, if the father be a Priest or Levite, the child is a Priest or Levite, if the father be a common Israelite, the child is a common Israelite, though born of a Priests daughter.] Maimonides in Issure biah, ch. 19. sect. 15.

Vers. 15. not profane his seed] which he should do, by marrying with any of those forbidden him, that his sons after him might not execute the priests office, because they were borne of an unlawful mother. A priest that goeth in to a divorced woman, or an whore; and an high priest that goeth in to them, or unto a widow; those are made profane (women) forever: and if he beget a son of her, that which is borne is profane. Maimonides in Issureibiah, ch. 19. sect. 3. Therefore the magistrates punished the priests, that married and lay with any unlawful woman. Every priest that marrieth any of the three women, (in verse. 7.) and lieth with her, is to be beaten. An high priest that goeth in to a widow, is to be beaten. If an high priest marry a widow, and lie with her, he is to be beaten twice; once for transgressing this, HE SHALL NOT TAKE A WIDOW; and once for this, HE SHALL NOT PROFANE. And whether he be an high priest, or a common priest, that marrieth any of those (forbidden women) if he lie not with her; he is not beaten. And in every place where he is to be beaten, she is to be beaten. Every priest that goeth in to an heathen woman, is to be beaten as for an whore. A woman that hath been a widow, and hath been divorced, and hath been made profane, and hath been an whore, and an high priest goeth in afterward unto her: he is to be beaten four times, for lying with her once. Like judgment is for a common priest, if he go in to one divorced, which was made profane, and after that an whore; he is to be beaten thrice, for lying with her once. But if this order be changed, he is to be beaten but once. Maimonides in Issurebiah, chap. 17. sect. 2. &c.

Vers. 17. of thy seed] that is, as the Chaldee interpreteth, [unspec] of thy sons. in their generations] that is, they or any of their posterity, in the ages following. blemish] in Hebrew Mum, in Gt. Momos, in Chaldee Muma; which signifieth, anything to be blamed, for deformity, want or superfluousness; any imperfection of body, in the whole or in any part. to offer the bread] that is, as the Gr. saith, the gifts, in Chaldee, the offering, or sacrifice. The reason here of was, that the Priests were both in their persons and works, to figure out Christ his person and work; who was holy, harmless, undefiled, separated from sinners; and a Lamb without blemish, and without spot. Heb. 7. 26. 1 Pet. 1. 19.

Vers. 18. blind] either in whole or in part, purblind, [unspec] dim-sighted, or that had any blemish in his sight, eye, eyelid, or the like. The Hebrew doctors reckon nineteen blemishes, that might be in the eye of a priest; and seven in the eyelid. Maimonides in Biath hamikdash, cha. 8. sect. 17. lame] or halting; on one, or both legs; having any imperfection in his gate, or feet; and in the feet, there might be twenty blemishes, Maimonyibidem. fat-nosed, in Greek, short-nosed, or having the nose cut-off. It implieth all manner deformity in the nose, wherein there might be (as the Hebrews say) nine blemishes. that hath anything superfluous] or, that is excessive, either in the whole body, or any member over long: so in Levite. 22. 23. for the sacrifices. The Greek translateth it, having the ear cut off.

V. 19. the breaking of a foot] that is, a broken foot; he [unspec] that shall be broken-footed, or broken handed. In the hands, the Hebrews say there might be seven blemishes.

Vers. 20. crook-backed] that hath a bunch or hillocke [unspec] on his back or any other place, as Targum Yerushalmi referreth it to the eyebrows, that hang over the eyes; and so it agreeth with them which follow. But the Greek favoureth the former interpretation. hath a small-spot] or, a thin filme: this by the Hebrews, is referred to Imperfection in the eye. By others to the small or thin stature of the body, as to be a dwarfe, or over slender. The Hebrew Dak, is generally that which is small or th. He that hath a white small spot, within the black (of the eye) is the Dack spoken of in the Law: saith Maimonides in Biath hamik dash, ch. 7. sect. 5. The Greek translatheth it Ephelos: and Ephelis is nothing else but a certainerug gednesse and hardness of an evil col 〈...〉 saith Cornel, Celsus, l. 6. c. 5. a confusion] or fussion, whereby the white and black is mixed confusedly together. Teballul (the Confusion) spoken of in the Law, is when the white of the eye is drawn, and some of it gotten into the black until the black is found mingled with the white: saith Maimonides ibidem. scurfe] or, dry-scaule, maunge called in Hebrew Garab, (whereupon the Latins borrow the name Porriigo,) the Greek translatheth it Psora agria: and it may be on any part of the body, as the Hebrews observe: Maimonides in Biath hamikdash, ch. 7. l. 10. This is again mentioned in Lev. 22. 22. and in Deut. 28. 27. as a plague incurable. scab] or tettar; as the Greek calleth it Leichen, to which the Chaldee version agreeth; for Chaziz, & the Arabic Chaziza, is that which the Greek call Leichen: it is mentioned only here, and in Lev. 22. 22. Maimonides (in Biath hamikd. c. 7. sect. 10.) calleth it an Egyptian scab (or tettar) which is hard and foul: and that is the Iallepheth (the Scab) spoken of in the Law. It may also be on any part of the body of man or beast. stones broken] or a cod (or stone) bruised: the Greek translatheth, which hath but one stone. These twelve particulars are named, all other of like nature being implied. The Hebrews say, There are in all, an hundred and forty blemishes, that do disable the Priests: eight in the head; two in the neck; nine in the ears; five in the brows; seven in the eye-lids; nineteen in the eyes; nine in the nose; nine in the mouth; three in the belly; three in the back; seven in the hands; sixteen in the members of generation; twenty in the feet; eight in all (or any part of) the body, eight in the skin of the flesh; and seven in the strength of the body, and the breath. Maimonides in Biath hamikdash, ch. 8. sect. 17. a blemish in him] This general is added to the former particulars, to teach that any other blemishes though unnamed, did disable a Priest from sacrificing. All blemishes whatsoever, whether they be in him from the beginning of his creation, or grow upon him afterward, whether they be transitory (blemishes that may be removed,) or not transitory; he is disabled by them, till they be done away. A fixed blemish, as a broken foot or hand, or a transitory blemish, as scurfe or scab. And not the blemishes only which are written in the law, do disable the priests; but all blemishes to be seen in the body, as it is written, WHOSOEVER hath A BLEMISH IN HIM, out of any place; and those that are written in the Law, are for an example. Maimonides in Biath hamikdash, ch. 6. sect. 3. 4. Further to show this, they say, An old man, that is near unto trembling and shaking as he stands; a sick man, when he trembleth through sickness and seebleness of strength; (are as blemished.) If a Priest serveth when he stinks of sweat; or when he hath a stinking breath out of his mouth, loe he profaneth his service, as do all other that have blemishes. Maimonides ibid. ch. 7. sect. 12. 13. By these God figured the perfection that should be in Christ, Heb. 9. 14. and taught also what graces are requisite in his ministers, 1 Tim. 3. 2. 3.—7. Tit. 1. 7. 8. 9. and in the whole Church, which is unto him a royal priesthood, an holy nation, 1 Pet. 2. 9. which Christ hath sanctified and cleansed, that he might present it unto himself glorious, a Church 〈ῥ〉 having spot or wrinkle, or any such thing; but that it should be holy, & without blemish, Eph. 5. 26. 27. So the Saints are said to be without blemish, before the throne of God, Rev. 14. 5. the fire offerings] in Gr. the sacrifices, in Chaldee the offerings. If any priest that have a blemish, do serve in the sanctuary, he profaneth the service, and is to be beaten: Maimonides in Biath hamikdash, chap. 6. sect. 1. a blemish] in Greek, because a blemish is in him. Sol. Rashi explaineth it thus, whiles his blemish is on hm, he is rejected: but if his blemish be done away, he is fit (or approvable.) Besides the blemishes forenamed, such Priests as had transgressed in their ministrations & served before idols, were no more to serve in the sanctuary, but were reputed as blemished. There King Josiah put down the priests of the high places, that they came not up to the Altar of the Lord: 2 King. 23. 9. and for such this Law is given in Ezek. 44. 10.—13. The Levites that are gone away far from me, whē Israel went astray away from me after their Idols, they shall even bear their iniquity, &c. And they shall not come near unto me, to do the office of a Priest unto me, nor to come near to any of my holy things, in the most holy place: but they shall bear their shame and their abominations which they have committed And in the Hebrew canons it is said, Every priest that hath served Idols, whether presumptuously or ignorantly, although he return with full repentance: yet may he never minister in the sanctuary. And whether he hath been a priest to the Idol, or but worshipped it, &c. he is disallowable forever. If he transgress, and do offer (in the sanctuary) his offering is not of a sweet smelling savor, although he was in ignorance when he ministered, or when he worshipped. Who so transgresseth and maketh an house without the Sanctuary, to offer his offering therein unto God, that is not as an Idols house. Notwithstanding, every priest that ministereth in such an house, may never more minister in the sanctuary. Maimonides in Biath hamikdash. ch. 9. s. 13. 14. the bread] in Greek the gifts, in Chaldee, the offering. Who so found allowable by his genealogy, but had a blemish found upon him: he sate in the wood chamber, and did cleave wood for to lay on the altar, and had a portion in the holy things with the men of his fathers house, and did eat of them. Maim. ibidem. ch. 6. s. 12. So for the priests that fell to Idolatry, God appointed, that they should be ministers in his sanctuary, Bishops at the gates of the house: that they should slay the Burnt offering, and the sacrifice for the people, &c. but not come near to any of his holy things in the most holy place, &c. Ezek 44 11. 13. 14.

Verse 22. He shall eat] Herein the blemished priests had a privilege above the unclean, which might not eat of the holy thing, Lev. 22. 3. 6.

Vers. 23. unto the veil] of the holy place, whither the priests went in always, accomplishing the services, Heb. 9. 6. unto the Altar] that which was in the courtyard, Exod. 40. 29. Any priest that had a blemish, might not come into the Sanctuary, from the Altar & forward, Lev. 21. 23. and if he transgressed & went in, he was to be beaten, although he served not. And if he served in the Sanctuary, it was unlawful; and he profaned the service, and was to be beaten also for the service. Maimonides in Biath hamikdash, ch. 6. sect. 1. not profane my sanctuaries] the Greek expoundeth it, not profane the holy name of his God. do sanctify them.] This Chazkuni referreth to the veil of the altar forementioned, unto which none that had blemish might come.

Ver. 24. all the sons of Israel] because as it concerned the Priests, to take heed they sinned not in their ministrations: so the people were to sanctify them, v. 8. and to look that no disallowable person served in the Sanctuary. Therefore the Hebrews do record, that the great Synedrion used to sit in the chamber of hewn-stone [by the Sanctuary,] and the principal of their work continually was to sit and judge concerning the Priesthood; and to examine the priests for their genealogies, and for their blemishes. Every priest that was found disallowable for his genealogy; he put on black clothes, and wrapped himself over with blacks, and went out of the court. And who-soever was found perfect and lawful; he put on whites, and went in and ministered with his brethren the priests. Who so was found lawful for his genealogy, but had a blemish found upon him, he sate in the wood chamber, and hewed wood, &c. Maimonides in Biath hamikdash, ch. 6. sect. 11. 12.

CHAP. XXII.

1, The Priests in their uncleanness, must abstain from the holy things. 6, How they shall be cleansed. 10, Who of the priests house may eat of the holy things. 14, What they must pay that eat of them unlawfully. 17, The sacrifices must be without blemish. 26, The age of the sacrifice. 26, The Law of eating the sacrifice of Confession.

AND Jehovah spake, unto Moses, saying. Speak unto Aaron, and unto his sons; and let them be separated, from the holy things of the sons of Israel; that they profane not, the name of my holiness, in the things which they sanctify unto me, I am Jehovah. Say unto them; Throughout your generations every man which shall come-nigh of all your seed; unto the holy-things, which the sons of Israel sanctify unto Jehovah; and his uncleanness, upon him: that soul shall even be cut-off, from my presence, I am Jehovah. Any man, of the seed of Aaron, which is leprous, or hath an issue; he shall not eat, of the holy-things, until he be clean: and he that toucheth any thing that is unclean by a soul; or a man, whose seed of copulation goeth from him. Or a man, that toucheth, any creeping-thing, whereby he is made-unclean: or a man, by whom he is made-unclean; according to any uncleanness of him. The soul, which hath toucheth it; even he shall be unclean, until the evening: and he shall not eat, of the holy-things; unless he bathe his flesh, with water. And [unspec] when the Sun is gone down, then he shall be clean: and afterward, he shall eat of the holy-things; for it is his bread. And a carcass, [unspec] and a torn thing, he shall not eat, to make himself unclean therewith: I, am Jehovah. And they shall keep my charge; [unspec] that they bear not sin for it; and die therefore, if they profane it: I Jehovah, do sanctify them. And any stranger, shall not [unspec] eat of the holy thing: a foreigner of the Priests, and an hired person, shall not eat of the holy-thing. But a priest, if he buy a soul, [unspec] with the purchase of his money; he, shall eat of it: and he that is borne in his house; they shall eat of his bread. And a priests daughter, [unspec] if she be married to a man that is a stranger: she, shall not eat of the heave-offering of the holy-things. But a priests daughter, [unspec] if she be a widow or put-away, and she have no seed; and is returned unto her fathers house, as in her youth; she shall eat, of her fathers bread: but any stranger, shall not eat thereof. And a man, if he eat of the holy-thing, [unspec] in ignorance: then he shall add the the fifth part thereof, unto it; and he shall give unto the priest, the holy-thing. And they [unspec] shall not profane, the holy-things, of the sons of Israel: which they heave-up, unto Jehovah. Or cause them to bear, the iniquity [unspec] of trespass; when they eat, their holy-things: for I Jehovah, do sanctify them.

And Jehovah spake, unto Moses, saying. [unspec] Speak unto Aaron, and unto his sons; and unto all the sons of Israel; & say unto them: Any man, of the house of Israel, or of the stranger in Israel; that will offer his oblation, according to all their vows, and to all their voluntary-offerings; which they will offer unto Jehovah, for a burnt-offering. For your favorable-acceptation: a perfect [unspec] male; of the beeves, of the sheep, or of the goats. Any, which hath a blemish in it, ye [unspec] shall not offer: for it shall not be, to savourableacceptation, for you. And the man, [unspec] that will offer a sacrifice of Peace-offerings, unto Jehovah; to separate a vow, or for a voluntary-offering; of the herd, or of the flock: it shall be perfect, for favorable-acceptation; there shall not be in it, any blemish. Blind, or broken, or maimed, or having: [unspec] wenne; or scurffe, or scabbe; ye shall not offer these unto Jehovah: nor give of them, a Fireoffring, upon the Altar, unto Jehovah. And bull or lamb, that hath any member superfluous, or lacking; thou mayest make it, a vol•tarry-offering; but for a vow, it shall not be favourably-accepted. And that which is bruised, or crushed, or broken, or cut; ye shall not offer, unto Jehovah: and in your land, ye shall not do it. And from the hand of a strangers son; ye shall not offer, the bread of your God, of any of these: because their corruption is in them, a blemish is in them; they shall not be favourably-accepted, for you.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying. A bull, or a sheep, or a goat, when it shall be brought forth; then it shall be, seven days, under his damme: and from the eight day, and thence forth; it shall be favourably-accepted, for an oblation of a Fire-offering, unto Jehovah. And cow, or sheep: it and the young thereof, ye shall not kill, in one day. And when ye will sacrifice a sacrifice of confession, [unspec] unto Jehovah: ye shall sacrifice, for your favorable acceptation. In that day, shall [unspec] it be eaten; ye shall not leave thereof, until the morning: I, am Jehovah. And ye shall keep, my commandments; and do them: I, am Jehovah. And ye shall not profane, the name of my holiness; and I will be sanctified, among the sons of Israel: I Jehovah, do sanctify you. That brought you out from the land of Egypt; to be unto you, for a God: I am Jehovah.

Annotations.

LEt them be separated] in Greek, Let them take [unspec] heed of the holy things, meaning, that they defile them not. So that as the former chapter shown the purity and perfection that should be in the persons that drew near unto the Lord: this teacheth what purity and perfection ought to be in the things offered, or to be offered unto him. The Hebrew Nazar here used, signifieth a religious separ ⟨...⟩ n in respect of holiness; as is noted on Lev. 15. 31. of my holiness] translated in Greek, my holy name: which is profaned, when the holy things in the sanctuary are defiled, being offered or eaten by persons unclean, and forbidden of God. See after, in verse. 15. 32. the things] this addition is supplied also in the Greek, Whatsoever things they sanctify unto me. And this is added, as Sol. Rashi here saith, to imply also the holy things of the Priests themselves.

Vers. 3. your generations] either now, or at any [unspec] time hereafter. shall come nigh] namely, to eat, as is expressed in ver. 4. So Rashi saith, This come ⟨...⟩ g•igh is not meant but of eating. your seed] that is, your children: so in verse. 4. holy things] Hebrew holinesses, meaning things of holiness, and particularly holy meats; which though the blemished priests might eat of, Lev. 21. 22. yet the unclean might not. Lev. 7. 20. 21. See the notes on Lev. 7. 10. And by the holy things, are meant not only the Sacrifices, but first fruits, and all the heaveoffrings of the holy-things, which the sons of Israel offered unto the Lord, Numb. 18. 8. 9.—19. as it is there said, everyone that is clean in thy house, shall eat of it, Numb. 18. 13. See after on verse. 9. uncleanness upon him] before he is washed from the same; see the annotations on Lev. 7. 20. cut off from my presence] in Greek, destroyed from me: in Chaldee, destroyed from before me. It meaneth death by the hand of God, as v. 9.

Vers. 4. Any man] Hebrew Man man: that is, Whosoever: Targum Jonathan saith young man or old man. And this concerneth women also, the daughters of Aaron, who were to eat of some of the holy things; but so as they were clean when they did eat. Numb. 18. 19. 11. See after, in verse. 11. 12. leprous] whereof see Levite. 13. an issue] whereof see Lev. 15. 2. &c. by a soul] the Greek translatheth, any uncleanness of a soul; whereby the dead is meant, as Lev. 19. 28. and 21. 1. and what uncleanness that was, see in Numb. 19. 11. 14. seed of copulation] or, effusion of seed, whereof see Lev. 15. 16.

Vers. 5. creeping thing] which when it is dead, defileth him that toucheth it, Lev. 11. 31. &c. made unclean] so much as would make a man unclean; and that was of creeping things the quantity of a lentile (or little pease) as Rashi here no teth. See Lev. 11. 31. a man] to weet, an unclean man, as a Leper, he that hath an issue, or the like, by touching of whom, men were made unclean. Lev. 13. 45. and 15. 5. &c. Or a dead man: and thereto Sol. Rashi here referreth it, and of a dead man, so much as an olive would defile.

Vers. 6. The soul] that is, the man, as the Chaldee expounds it: and Targum Jonathan addeth, the man a priest. until the evening] until the end of that day, and beginning of a new. See the notes on Lev. 11. 24. 32. bathe] or, wash his flesh, that is, his body, as the Gr. translatheth: see Lev. 15. 5. 13. It figured repentance for sins, as I baptize you with water unto repentance, Mat. 3. 11. & sanctification by the blood and spirit of Christ, as, ye are washed, ye are sanctified, ye are justified, in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God, 1 Cor. 6. 11. And this sanctimony, though common to the whole Church, Lev. 11. did specially pertain to the priests and ministers, whom Christ (who is likened to a refiners fire, and to fullers sope) should purify by his grace, as it is said, He shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver: that they may offer unto the Lord, an offering in righteousness, Malac. 3. 2. 3.

Vers. 7. and afterward] in Greek, and then he shall (or may) eat, to weet, when his sun is gone down: before then though he were washed, he might not eat. See the notes on Lev. 11. 32. his bread] his food, allowed him of God for his livelihood: Numb. 18. 11. 19. Whosoever eateth of the heave-offerings, blesseth with a blessing for the food; and after that, he blesseth him that sanctifieth them with the sanctification of Aaron, (Numb. 18. 8.) and commanded them to eat of the heave-offerings. Maimonides in Trumoth, ch. 15. sect. 22.

Vers. 8. a carcass and a torn thing] what these were, is before shown, on Lev. 17. 15. and 22. 31. They were unlawful to be eaten of any Israelite, especially of the Priests; as here and Ezekiel 44. 31. and figured the sanctity of their communion; as is noted on Lev. 17. and further appeareth by Ezek. 4. 13. 14.

Vers. 9. my charge] or, observe my observation, that is, which I commanded to be kept: in Chaldec, the observation of my word. Here it is specially to be understood, as larchi also saith, of eating the heaveoffring, and of uncleanness of body. sin] that is, the punishment of sin: So in Lev. 19. 17. Numb. 18. 32. and 9. 13. for it] that is, for the holy thing, forespoken of. and die] to weet, by the hand of God; as Targum Jonathan explaineth it, by flaming fire. For by men, such were beaten only, as the Hebrew cannons show, saying: *An unclean priest is forbidden to eat of the heave-offering, whether it be unclean or clean, Levite. 22. 4. Every unclean (Priest) that eateth of the heave-offering which is clean, he is guilty of death by the hand of (the God of) heaven, Levite. 22. 9. and therefore he is to be beaten. But if he eat of the heave-offering which is unclean, though it be forbidden, he is not to be beaten, because it is not holy. The unclean may not eat of the heaveoffring, until their sun be set, and three stars appear after the Sun is gone down, Levite. 22. 7. Maimonides in Trumoth, ch. 7. sect. 1. &c. The like judgment is for the stranger, that is whosoever is not a priest, or of the priests family; for if he eat of the holy things presumptuously, he is in danger of death. The stranger that eateth of the heave-offering presumptuously, whether he be unclean or clean, whether he eat of the heave-offering that is clean or unclean, he is guilty of death, by the hand of (the God of) heaven; as it is written, AND DIE THEREFORE, IF THEY PROFANE IT: and he is to be beaten, for eating thereof. And if he eat in ignorance, he is to add the fifth part thereof unto it, (Lev. 22. 14.) Maimonides, ibidem, ch. 6. sect. 6.*

Vers. 10. any stranger] that is, whosoever is not of the priests family. The Hebrew canons say, The heave-offering, and the heave-offering of the tithes, are to be eaten by the Priests, whether old or young, male or female, by them, and their Cananitish servants, and their cattle: Lev. 22. 11. The stranger is forbidden to eat of the heave-offering, Lev. 22. 10. Maimonides in Trumoth, ch. 6. sect. 1. 5. foreigner] or sojourner, in Hebrew Toshab, in Greek Paroikos, which is a stranger-inhabitant; one that dwelleth in the house continually, but is not of the house: and so differeth from the Slave, which is one of the household; and from the Hareling, which is none of the household, neither abideth therein continually but for a term. The foreigner, is he that is hired forever: the Hireling, is he that is hired for years. And an Hebrew servant, loe he is as a foreigner and an hireling, (Lev. 25. 39. 40.) And a priests daughter married to a stranger, loe, she is as a stranger: and it is forbidden ANY STRANGER (Lev. 22. 10.) whether it be himself or his wife. Maimonides in Terumoth, c. 6. ⟨◇⟩ . 5. By the foreigner or sojourner in this place seemeth to be meant not only an Israelite sojourning; but also an heathen man, uncircumcised; who leaving his open Idolatry, and yielding to the Moral law, though not to the ordinances, as circumcision and the like; might dwell among the Israelites, Deut. 14. 21. See the annotations on Exod. 12. 43. 45. 48. And from hence the Hebrews gather, that an uncircumcised priest, though he had no other uncleanness, might not eat of the holy things. It is unlawful for an uncircumcised priest to eat of the heave-offering, by the sentence of the Law; for loe ⟨◇⟩ foreigner and the Hireling is spoken of concerning the Heave-offering, Levite. 22. 10. and the Forreiner and Hireling is spoken of concerning the Passover, Exod 12. 45. What is the Forreiner and Hireling spoken ⟨◇⟩ in the Passover? It is an uncircumcised person, ⟨◇⟩ whom it is forbidden: so the Forreiner and Hireling spoken of in the Heave-offering, the uncircumcised person is forbidden it; and if he eat, he is to be beaten by the Law. Maimonides in Terumoth, ch. 7. sect. 10. And in another place, they say, All the oblation whether they be the most holy things or the lighter holy, none may eat of them but clean persons only, that are circumcised. Though his sun be set, if he have not brought his atonement, he may not eat of the holy things. Maimonides in Magnaseh bakorbanoth, ch. 10. sect. 9. a hired person] any outlander, or any Israelite; as before is shown. not eat] neither drink of, nor anoint himself with any of the holy things appointed unto the Priests. For, the heave-offerings were given, for meat, for drink, and for anointing, because anointing is as drinking, Psal. 109. 18. and dring is comprehended under eating: they are to eat that which useth to be eaten, and drink that which useth to be drunk, and to anoint with that which is used for unction, not wine or the like, but they anoint with  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  that is clean, &c. Maim. in Trumoth, c. 11.  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  . 1. So for this prohibition they say, Whether he eat th• which is wont to be eaten, or drink that which is  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  to be drunk, or anoint him with the thing that is uses for unction, (it is unlawful) for it is said THEY SHALL NOT PROFANE THE HOLIE THINGS, Lev. 22. 15. Maimonides ibidem. ch. 10. sect. 2.

Vers. 11. buy a soul] that is, a person, to  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  , of [unspec] the heathens; as before is noted; and as Sol. larchi here explaineth it, a Cananitish servant. Such by coming to be of the Priests family might eat, though Israelites might not eat. And, as the Hebrews say, An uncircumcised Priest, and all  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  were unclean, although they themselves might not eat of the heave-offering, yet their wives and their servants might eat. Maim. in Trumoth. c. 7. s. 12. with the purchase of his money] Hebrew, the purchase ( $\langle \diamond \rangle$  bought) of his silver; which the Greek translath bought (or purchased) with silver. So that though he bought them not himself, if they were bough• into his house by a wife whom he married, or were bought by his servants, they might eat. M  $\langle \dots \rangle$  . in Trum. c. 7. s. 18. he that is borne in his house] or, the child of his house; that is, the homeborne servant; such as were the children of his slave. See the notes on Gen. 15. 3. and 7. 12. Those slaves being in the Priests household, if they were clean, might eat of some of the heave-offerings that were given for the Priests livelihood. See Numb. 18. 11. 13.

Vers. 12. a stranger] such as were not of the Priests stock: for other Israelites are counted strangers [unspec] in this case. So a stranger is here expounded by larchi, a Levite, or an Israelite. of the heaveoffring] which the Chaldee expoundeth the separated thing; the Greek, the first fruits: it meaneth The sanctified things of the sons of Israel, Num. 18. 8. 11. 19. The reason hereof was, because by her marriage she went out of her fathers house, into her husbands: as on the contrary, a common Israelitess by marriage with a Priest, became of his house, and might eat. The Hebrews, say, Two things are contained in this prohibition; that if she a priests daughter be defiled, and made an whore or profane (as Lev. 21. 7.) it is unlawful for her to eat of the heave-offerings forever, according to the judgment of every profane person: for the profane is as the stranger in all respects. And if she be married to an Israelite,  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  may never eat of the Wave-breast and of the Heaveshoulder (Lev. 7. 34.) although she be divorced, or (her husband) die: [whereof the next verse speaketh.] Maim. in Trumoth, ch. 6. sect. 7.

Ver. 13. no seed] no son, saith the Chaldee version. This is understood also, either if she had no child, or if her children be all dead; as is after shown. as in her youth] so that though she hath brought forth no seed, yet if she be with child, she may not eat of the holy things. Maim. in Trum. ch. 8. s. 2. of her fathers bread] The Hebrew doctors say, We have heard this expounded, of the bread, and not all the bread: she returneth to (eat of) the heaveoffrings, but not of the wave-breast, and heave-shoulder. Maimonides in Trumoth. ch. 6. sect. 9. Hereupon also they infer, An Israelitess which hath had seed by a Priest, she eateth for her child's sake, be it male or female; though it be seeds seed unto the worlds end; for it is said, AND SHE HAVE NO SEED. As the seed of an Israelite from a Priests daughter disableth her from (eating;) so the seed of a Priest from an Israelitess, enableth her to eat. An Israelites daughter, that is married to a Priest, and he die, and she have a son by him: if she be married after to an Israelite, she may not eat of the Heave-offerings. If the Israelite die, and she have a son by him; she may not eat, because of that her son by the Israelite: if that son of hers by the Israelite die  $\langle\phi\rangle$  may eat, for her first sons sake. A Priests daughter that is married to an Israelite, and she have a son by him; if she be again married to a Priest, she may eat of the heave-offerings. If he die, and she have a son by him,  $\langle\phi\rangle$  may eat. If her son die which she had by the priest,  $\langle\omega\rangle$  not eat, because of her son which she had by the Israelite. If her son die which she had by the Israelite, the returneth to her fathers house, as in her youth, and eateth of the Heave-offerings, not of the breast or shoulder. An Israelites daughter that is married to an Isra  $\langle\dots\rangle$  first, and have a son by him, and after is married to a Priest, eateth of the heave-offering. If he die, and she have a son by him; she eateth for her last sons sake; for loe •e enableth her to eat; as his father enabled her to eat. Maimonides ibidem, c. 6. s. 12. 13. 17. 18. 19.

Vers. 14. a man] that is, any stranger forementioned; which belongeth not to the Priests family. Targum Jonathan expoundeth it, a man of Israel. in ignorance] or, through unadvised error. But if he do it presumptuously, he is guilty of death, by the hand of God, verse. 9. of beating by the hand of the Magistrate. add the fifth] The stranger that eateth of the heave-offerings in ignorance; payeth the principal and the fifth (part.) Though he knoweth it to be the heave-offering, and that it is forbidden him, but knoweth not whether he is guilty of death for it, or no: loe this is ignorance, and he payeth the principal, and the fifth part. Whether he eat, or drink, or anoynt himself with it; and whether he eat the heaveoffring that is clean, or that is unclean, in ignorance; he must pay the principal, & the fifth. Whosoever payeth the principal and the fifth; payeth to the owners, and the fifth part to any Priest that he will. And he never payeth, but according to the price that it was worth, at the time when he did eat it: whether it be cheaper at the time when he payeth for it, or dearer. Maimonides in Trumoth, c. 10. s. 1. 2. 16. 25. See also the annotations on Lev. 5. 15. 16.

Vers. 15. not profane] by suffering the holy things to be eaten of strangers: as before. which they heave-up] that is, offer; or (as the Greek and Chaldee expound it,) separate unto (or before) the Lord.

Vers. 16. O•cause them to bear] or, And they shall not cause them to bear: which may be understood of the Priests, that they should not by their negligence, cause or suffer the people to bear the punishment of their trespass; and this the Greek favoereth, saying, And bring upon them iniquity. Or, it may be referred to the people, that they should not cause them selves to bear iniquity (that is, the punishment) of trespass, for eating the holy things. The Chaldee translateth, And they receive upon them iniquities and sins, when they eat in uncleanness their holy-things. Whereupon some of the Hebrews (as Sol. Rashi here observeth) understand this word them, of the Priests themselves. These Laws for cleanness corporal in all such as partaked of God's holy things, led them and us to spiritual cleanness in our communion with Christ & his graces: that we should have our hearts purified by faith, Act. 15. 9. and sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water, Hebrews 10. 22. that cleansing ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, we may perfect our holiness in the fear of God, 2 Cor. 7. 1. For, if we walk in the light, as God is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his son, cleanseth us from all sin, 1 John 1. 7. But if we eat and drink of his holy things unworthily, we eat and drink judgment to ourselves: 1 Cor. 11. 29.

Ver. 18. all the sons] in Greek, all the congregation of Israel. These laws following, do concern things which were to be offered unto God; in what condition and state they ought to be, before they came upon his altar: therefore the speech is directed both unto Priests and people.

Any man] Hebrew man man; that is, whosoever. Targum Jonathan saith, young man or old man. or of] Heb. and of the stranger; which the Gr. translatheth or of the proselytes joined unto them in Israel: which were heathens converted to the faith of God's people. So differing from the alien, in verse. 25. his oblation] in Greek, gifts, by which name the sacrifices are often called: Matt. 5. 23. 24. and 8. 4. and 23. 18. 19. Heb. 8. 4. and 11. 4. according to all their vows] in Greek, according to all their profession (or promise.) So in Ierem. 44. 25. Vowes are in Greek called a profession, or confession: and vows were made with promises, and paid with confessions; as David said, Thy vows are upon me ô God: I will pay confessions unto thee, Psalm 56. 13. and to all] in Greek, or according to all their choice: so voluntary gifts are called, because they come from the choice and will of the giver. What they differ fro vows is shown on Lev: 7. 16.

Vers. 19. For your favorable-acceptation] to weet, you shall offer it; so that it may be acceptable and pleasing unto God for you: as verse. 20. Levite. 23. 11. The Greek translatheth it Acceptable: see the notes on Levite. 1. 3. Sol. Rashi here explaineth it, Bring the thing that is meet to make you acceptable before me, that it may be unto you for favorable-acceptation. a perfect male] in Greek, unblemished males: such were all the burnt-offerings to be, see Levite. 1. 3. 10. or of the goats] but the fowls he mentioneth not, because the Law made no difference in them of male or female; and as Rashi here saith, the fowl was not rejected for a blemish, but for want of a lim. See the annotations on Lev. 1. 14.

Ver. 20. to favorable acceptation] that is, favourable-accepted, as Moses speaketh after, in verse. 25. and so the Greek translatheth, acceptable for you. This is opened by the prophet thus: If ye offer the blind for sacrifice, is it not evil? and if ye offer the lame and sick, is it not evil? Offer it now unto thy governor, will he be pleased with thee, or accept thy person, saith the LORD of hosts? And, ye brought that which was torn, and the lame and the sick: thus ye brought an offering: should I accept of your hand, saith the LORD? But cursed be the deceiver, which hath in his flock a [perfect] male, and voweth and sacrificeth unto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King saith the LORD of hosts, and my name is dreadful among the heathen. Mal. 1. 8. 15. 14. These perfect and unblemished sacrifices which were to be offered unto God, figured the perfection of Christ who gave himself a sacrifice for us, and whom we apply to ourselves and make ours by faith; 1 Pet. 1 19. 20. 21. Gal. 2. 16. 20. Also the sacrifices of our humble and contrite hearts, and of our bodies, and of our praises and thanks givings; which through Christ and his Spirit, are made holy and acceptable unto God, Psal. 51. 18. 19. Rom. 12. 1. Heb 13. 15.

Ver. 21. of peace offerings] or, of payments: in Greek of salvation, in Chaldee, of sanctification. See the notes on Lev. 3. 1. to separate] or, in separating (in Greek distinguishing) a vow: which may be understood both of making a singular vow, and of accomplishing it, for both must be unblemished. So in Numb. 15. 3. 8. See also Lev. 27. 2. The Hebrews say, It is commanded that all oblations be perfect and choice, Lev. 22. 21. and whosoever sanctifieth a beast which hath a blemish for the top of the altar, transgresseth against a prohibition, and is to be beaten for his sanctifying of it; as it is written, (Lev. 22. 20.) ANIE WHICH hath A BLEMISH IN IT, YE SHALL NOT OFFER. We have been taught that this is a warning for him that sanctifieth blemished things. Who so thinketh that it is lawful to sanctify a blemished thing for the altar, and sanctifieth it: it is holy, and he is not beaten. He that killeth: blemished thing by the name of an offering, is to be beaten: for it is written, (Levite. 22. 22.) YE SHALL NOT OFFER THESE VNTO THE LORD: we have been taught, that this is a warning against killing it. Maim. tom. 3. in Issure mizbeach, c. 1. § 1. &c of the herd] or, in the herd, so after in the flock that is, of sheep or goats. For in such chiefly, blemishes were to be looked unto, rather than in fowls. See the notes on Lev. 1. 14. perfect] after, it is said without blemish: blemishes, respected the outward parts: perfection, the inward also. I when the sacrifice was killed, it were found torn; § was to be carried out to the place of burning. And so if it were found to want any of the members within, though it were not torn, as if it had but one kidney, or of the spleen were wasted away, loe it was unlawful for the altar, and was to be burnt: not for that it was blemished, for the want of things within, was no blemish, but because they might not offer that which wanted § thing, as it is written (in Num. 28. 31.) PERFECT SHALL THEY BE VNTO YOY. And all oplus was as a want; therefore if it had three kidneys, or two spleenes, it was unlawful. Maimonides in Issure mizbeach: chap. 2. sect. 11. any blemish] any deformity in any lim: whereof the Hebrews number fifty, besides other things, which did disableme for sacrifice; whereof see the notes on Exod. 12. 5. Hence also they gather, He that maketh a blemish upon the holy things, as to make an eye blind, § off a foot, is to be beaten; as (Levite. 22. 21.) THE SHALL NOT BE IN IT ANY BLEMISH: we have been taught that this is a warning § make any blemish in it. Maimonides in Issure Mizbeach chap. 1. sect. 7.

Vers. 22. Blind] either wholly, or in part; of it see not with both eyes, or with one of them, and that [unspec] with a clear sight, &c. Maimonides Biath § , ch. 5. sect. 7. a wenn] or a wart, as the Greeks. poundeth it. scurfe or scab] of these see Levite. 21. 20. not offer these] or any other like blemished. By offering, the Hebrews here understand killing, and sprinkling of the blood on the altar: and by the words following, nor give of them, a fire-offering, they understand a prohibition against burning the fat of such: for every of which action presumptuously done, a man was to be beaten. So that is one first sanctified a blemished beast, and § killed it, and sprinkled the blood thereof, and burned § the altar the fat thereof, he was to be beaten with § beatings. Maim. in Issure mizb. c. 1. 1. 4. § of them] not of them, but of others bought with the price of them, they might. The Hebrew caasiay; He that sanctifieth for the altar a blemished thing, though he is to be beaten, yet the thing is sanctified § , and he shall redeem it according to the valuation of § priest, and it shall go out among the unholy things: § the price thereof he shall bring an oblation. And the like Law is for the sanctified beast, where unto a blemish be falleth (after it is sanctified.) And it is commended to redeem the holy things on which a blemish falleth, and they are to go out among the common things, and to be eaten; as Deut. 12. 15.

which we have heard expounded, of the holy things disabled (for sacrifice) which are redeemed. And all such holy things which are disabled, when they are redeemed; it is lawful to kill them in the Butchers shambles, and to sell them there, and weigh out their flesh, as other common meats: except the first borne, and the tithe. Maim. in Issure M 〈...〉 . chap. 1. sect. 10. 12. This redeeming of blemished holy things, is to be understood with a limitation to fixed or perpetual blemishes only, not for transitory. The old beast and the sick, and that hath foulness on it, are excepted; for though they be not fit to be effred, they are not redeemed, but let live and feed, till some other fixed blemish come upon them, and then they are redeemed. So a sanctified beast, on which a transitory blemish is come (as scabs or the like,) it is not offered, neither redeemed. Ibidem chapter 2. section 6.

Vers. 23. superfluous] or, overlong; and as Iarehi expoundeth it, a member greater then his fellow: see [unspec] Levite. 21. 18. lacking] or too short: any member shrunk up: not lacking wholly, (for so it was un 〈...〉 ull) but lacking in the length or bigness: the Greek translatheth it curttailed. mayest makes or shalt make. voluntary-offering] which some understand of the peace-offerings, the most inferious; therefore God permitteth such imperfections in this, but not in the vowed sacrifice, (which was next unto this,) nor in any other. How it differed from a vow, is shown on Leviticus 7. 16. The Greek version saith, Thou shalt make them slain (beasts) for thyself: the Hebrew doctors understand these not for sacrifice on the altar, (on which no blemished beast might be offered at all;) but for the maintenance of the sanctuary the prices of them were taken as a voluntary gift. It is unlawful to sanctify perfect (beasts) to the reparation (or maintenance) of the sanctuary; for it is written, And bull or sheep, that hath any (member) superfluous or lacking, thou shalt make it a voluntary (offering.) We have been taught that this is a voluntary (offering) for the maintenane of the Sanctuary, &c. for they may offer no blemished thing upon the Altar: For 〈ϕ〉 said, 〈ϕ〉 it thou mayest make a voluntary offering, for the maintenance of the house, but thou mayest not 〈ϕ〉 perfect (beasts) a voluntary offering for the maintenance of the House, &c. Maim. tom. 3. in Erachin (or treat. of Estimate and devout things) chap. 5. 1. 6.

Vers. 24. bruised] in any part of the body, and [unspec] particularly in the stones thereof, of which some do understand this: and so the Greek Thladias signifieth that which hath the stones bruised, or is 〈ϕ〉 . in your land] that is, any in the land of Israel; opposed to the alien, in the verse following. not do it] that is, not offer, or make it a sacrifice; nor suffer it to be done by any in your land: therefore the Greek translatheth; it shall not be done, (or sacrificed.) Or, we may read it, not make such, and so the Hebrews understand it to be a prohibition against cutting the members of generation, or gelding of man, beast or bird. Maimonides in Issure biah, chap. 16. s. 9. See the notes on Deut. 23. 1.

Vers. 25. strangers son] or, son of an alien, that is, a gentile or paynim, not of the seed or of the Church of Israel: see Genesis 17. 12. and Exod. 12. 43. The Chaldee translatheth it, son of the people's: the Greek, Allogenes, a stranger, or of another stacke: such were the Samaritans to the Jews, Luk. 17. 16. 18. And these differed from strangers proseiytes, mentioned before in verse 18. the bread] in Greek, the gifts; in Chaldee, the oblation, as in Levite. 21. 6. of any of these] to weer, these blemished beasts, before prohibited. So the Hebrews say, Not the oblations of Israel only, but even the oblations of the heathens; if they offer blemished things (he that offereth them) is to be beaten, Levite. 22. 25. Maimonides in Issure Mizb. chap. 1. sect. 6. their corruption is in them] this may be understood of the strangers themselves, whose infidelity is their corruption, and as a blemish upon their sacrifice: so it may be translated, their corruption in them, is a blemish in them. The Greek translatheth, their corruptions are in them, a blemish in them. Of the offering of heathens sacrifices, the Hebrews write thus; *An heathen that bringeth Peace-offerings, they offer them for burnt-offerings, for the heathens heart is towards heaven. If he vow peace-offerings, and give them to Israel, upon condition to make atonement by them for Israel; the Israelites eat them, with the peace-offerings of Israel; and so if he give them to the Priest, the Priest eateth them. An Israelite which is an Apostate to idolatry, or a profaner of the Sabbath publicly; they receive of him no offering at all. Though it be a burnt-offering, such as they receive from an heathen, they receive it not from this Apostate. But if he be an Apostate to other transgressions, they receive of him all sacrifices; to the end that he may turn by repentance. The Burnt-offerings of the heathens, they bring not with them meat or drink-offerings; but their meat and drink offerings are of the Congregations. Neither do they impose hands on them; for there is no imposing of hands but by Israelites, by men, not by women. Maimonides in Magnaseh hakorbanoth, chap. 3. sect. 3. 5. and Talmud Bab. in Menachoth, chap. 6. and in Cholin chap. 1. Sol. Rashi also upon this scripture saith: And from the hand of a strangers son, that is, a gentile which shall bring an oblation by the hand of the Priest, to offer it unto (the God of) heaven, ye shall not offer unto him a blemished thing. For although blemished things were not forbidden the sons of Noah to offer, except such as lacked a lim; this was in use in the high places in the fields: but upon the Altar that is in the Tabernacle, you shall offer none such, but a perfect (oblation) shall you receive of them. Touching the sacrifices of the heathens, consider that edict of King Darius, who of his own goods gave sacrifices for the Priests to offer in Jerusalem to the GOD of heaven, and pray for the life of the King, and of his sons, Ezra, 6. 8. 9. 10. See also the annotations on Lev. 17. 5.*

Vers. 27. under his dam] Hebrew under his mother. All the seven days, he is said to be lacking time. Turtle doves, whose time is not come, are as beasts that lack time: and young pigeons whose time is past, are all as blemished; but they that offer them are not beaten, although the oblation is disallowed, and not acceptable. Maimonides in Issure Misheach. ch. 3. s. 8. 9. See the annotations on Exod. 22. 30. and Lev. 1. 14. The Hebrews say, the reason why it should be seven days under the dam, was that the Sabbath might pass over it. R. Menachem on Lev. 22.

Vers 28. Cow] The Hebrew word is the same that was in verse 27. and may imply the male as well as the female, that neither of them might be killed with their young in one day: but the Greek and Chaldee versions, apply these things to the female. The Hebrews say, The prohibition concerning IT AND THE YONG THEREOF, is of force concerning the female, for it may be certainly known that it is her youngling: and if it be certainly known, that this (beast) was the father of it, they do not kill them both in one day: but if he kill them, he is not beaten; for the thing is doubtful whether it be of force concerning the males or not. Maimonides tom. 2. in Shechitach, ch. 12. sect. 11. or sheep] or goat, or any clean beast which was lawful to be eaten for common meat; This prohibition hath not place but concerning clean beasts only: & it is of force even for mixtures of diverse kinds: as if a Roe engender with a Goat, or a Goat with a Roe, it is unlawful to kill it and the young in one day: Maimonides in Shechitah ch. 12. sect. 8. it and the young] Hebrew, and the son. The Hebrew also speaketh as of the male, him and his son, but the Greek and Chaldee translate her and her son. not kill] either for sacrifice to God, or for common food. The Hebrews do so explain it, saying; *He that killeth it and the young thereof in one day, the flesh is lawful to be eaten, but the killer is to be beaten, Lev. 22. 28. And he is not beaten but for the killing of the latter: therefore if he kill the one of the two, and his fellow come and kill the other, his fellow is to be beaten. The prohibition concerning it and the young thereof, is of force at all times and in all places, for common beasts, and for sanctified, whether they be holy things that are to be eaten, or not to be eaten. Therefore if the first kill in the court (of the sanctuary) and the second without, or the first without, and the second within the court; whether they be both common, or both holy, or one common and the other holy, he that killeth the later, is to be beaten, as for killing IT AND THE YONG THEROF. The prohibition is not but for the killing only, as it is said YE SHALL NOT KILL, &c. He that killeth a cow, and afterward killeth two of her young, is to be beaten with two beatings: if he kill her (two) young-ones, and afterward killeth her, he is beaten but once. If he kill her, and her young, and her yonglings young, he is beaten twice. If two men receive two beasts, the one the damme, and the other the young, and they come for judgment: he that received the first, killeth first, and the other must stay till the morrow. Maim. in Shechitah. c. 12. s. 1. 2. 3. 12. 13. Compare herewith the Law in Deut. 22. 6. where the bird with her young or eggs, may not be taken together. It shown God's mercy to the creatures, in that he would not have the dam and the young killed in a day: so Targum Jonathan paraphraseth on this Law thus, My people the sons of Israel, as our father is merciful in heaven, so be ye merciful on earth: a cow or an ewe, it and the young thereof, ye shall not slay in one day. in one day] of this the Hebrews say the day goeth after the night, as, if he kill the first in the beginning of the fourth night, he may not kill the second, till the beginning of the fifth night. And so, if he kill the first in the end of the fourth day before evening, he may kill the second in the beginning of the fifth night: But if he 〈ϕ〉 the first in the evening of the fifth night, he may not k 〈...〉 *the second till the sixth night. Maimonides in Shechitah, ch. 12. sect. 17.

Vers. 29. of confession] or, of thanksgiving; which was a kind of peace. offering, see Lev. 7. 12.

Vers. 30. until the morning] If it were kept longer then the time appointed of God, it became polluted, was to be consumed with fire, and might not be eaten, upon pain of God's wrath upon them for such iniquity, Levite. 7. 18. See the annotations there, as also on Exod. 12. 10.

Vers. 31. I am Jehovah] Targum Jonathan explaineth it thus, I am the Lord, who will give a good reward to them that keep my preceptss and my laws.

Vers. 32. not profane] God's name is profaned, or polluted, by the willful & presumptuous breach of any one of all his commandments, as the Hebrew Doctors teach from this and other like places: see the notes on Exod. 20. 7. Levite. 18. 21. and 19. 12. do sanctify you] God the sole•thor of our sanctification, doth this in Christ, by his Spirit, 1 Corinth. 1. 2. and 6. 11. the outward means whereof is his word, and ordinances of the same, John 17. 17. And these legal ordinances, which stood in meats and drink, and divers washings and carnal rites imposed on them until the time of reformation, sanctified unto the purifying of the flesh, Hebrews 9. 10. 13. but the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered him-self without blemish unto God, is it which purg 〈...〉 our conscience from dead works, to serve the 〈ϕ〉 God: Hebrews 9. 14. and 10. 10. and by one offering, he hath perfected forever, them which are sanctified, Heb. 10 14.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1, The feasts of the Lord. 3, The Sabbath. 4, The Passover, and unleavened-cakes. 9, The sheaf of first-fruits. 15, The feast of Pentecost. 22, Gleanings to be left for the poor. 23, The feast of Trumpets. 16, The day of Atonement. 33, The feast of Tabernacles.

AND Iehoah spake unto Moses, saying. [unspec] Speak unto the sons of Israel, and say unto them; The solemn-feasts of Jehovah, those which ye shall proclaim, convocations of holiness: these are my solemn-feasts. Six days, shall work be done; but in the seventh day, shall be a Sabbath of sabbatism, a convocation of holiness; ye shall not do, any work: it shall be a Sabbath, to Jehovah; in all your dwellings.

These are the solemn-feasts of Jehovah; convocations, of holiness: those which ye shall proclaim, in their appointed-season. In the first month, in the fourteenth day of the month, between the two-evenings: shall be the Passover, to Ieovah. And in the fifteenth day, of the same month, shall be the feast of unleavened cakes, unto Jehovah: seven days, ye shall eat unleavened-cakes. In the first day ye shall have, a convocation of holiness: ye shall not do any servileworke. But ye shall offer a Fire-offering, unto Jehovah, seven days: in the seventh day, shall be a convocation of holiness; ye shall not do, any servile work.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying. Speak unto the sons of Israel, and say unto them; When ye be come into the land, which I give unto you, and shall reap, the harvest thereof: then ye shall bring a sheaf, the first-fruit of your harvest, unto the Priest. And he shall wave the sheaf, before Jehovah, for your favorable-acceptation-on the morrow after the Sabbath, the Priest shall wave it. And ye shall offer, in the day that you wave the sheaf: an heelambe perfect, of his first year; for a Burnt offering, unto Jehovah. And the Meat-offering thereof, shall be two tenth deals; of fine flower mingled with oil; a Fire-offering to Jehovah, a savor of rest: and the drinkoffring thereof shall be wine, the fourth part of an Hin. And ye shall not eat bread, or parched-corn, or green-ears; until this self same day; until ye have brought, the oblation of your God: it shall be a statute for ever; throughout your generations, in all your dwellings.

And ye shall number unto you, from the morrow after the Sabbath; from the day that ye brought the sheaf of the wave-offering: seven sabbaths, they shall be complete. Until on the morrow, after the seventh Sabbath; ye shall number, fifty days: and ye shall offer a new Meat-offering, unto Jehovah. Out of your habitations, ye shall bring bread for a wave-offering; two loaves, of two tenth-deals; they shall be of fine-flower; they shall be baken with leaven: they are the first-fruits, 〈...〉 o Jehovah. And ye shall offer with the bread, seven he-lambes perfect, of the first yere; and one bullock, a youngling of the herd and two rams: they shall be a burnt-offering, unto Jehovah; & their Meat-offering, & their drink-offerings; a Fire offering of a savor of rest, unto Jehovah. And ye shall offer, one goat-buck of the goats, for a sin-offering: and two he-lambes, of the first yere, for a sacrifice of Peace-offerings. And the priest shall wave-them, with the bread of the first fruits for a wave-offering, before Jehovah; with the two lambes: holiness shall they be unto Jehovah, for the Priest. And ye shall proclaim, in this self same day, a convocation of holiness shall it be unto you, ye shall not do, any servile work: it shall be a statute for ever, in all your dwellings, throughout your generations.

And when you reap the harvest of your land; thou shalt not wholly-rid, the corner of thy field, when thou reapest; neither shalt thou glean, the gleaning of thy harvest: thou shalt leave them, for the poor and for the stranger; I am Jehovah your God.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying. Speak unto the sons of Israel saying: In the seventh month, in the first day of the month, ye shall have a Sabbatism; a memorial of blowing of trumpets, a convocation of holiness. Ye shall not do, any servile work: but ye shall offer a Fire-offering unto Jehovah.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying. Also in the tenth day of this sevēth month, it shall be a day of Atonements; a convocation of holiness, shall it be unto you; and ye shall afflict, your souls: & shall offer a fire-offering unto Jehovah. And ye shall not do any work in that same day: for it is a day of atonemēts; to make atonement for you, before Jehovah your God. For every soul, that shall not be afflicted, in the seventh day: he shall even be cut-off, from his people's. And every soul that shall do any work, in this self same day: I will even destroy that soul, from among his people. Ye shall not do, any work: it shall be a statute for ever, throughout your generations, in all your dwellings. It shall be unto you, a Sabbath of sabbatism; and ye shall afflict your souls: in the ninth day of the month, in the evening; from evening unto evening; ye shall rest your Sabbath.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying. Speak unto the sons of Israel, saying: In the fifteenth day, of this seventh month; shall be the feast of Boothes, seven days, unto Jehovah. In the first day, shall be a convocation of holiness: ye shall not do, any servile work. Seven days, ye shall offer a Fireoffring, unto Jehovah: in the eight day, a convocation of holiness shall be unto you, and ye shall offer a Fire-offering unto Jehovah, it is a solemn-assembly; ye shall not do, any servile work. These, are the solemn feasts of Jehovah; those which ye shall proclaim, convocations of holiness▪ to offer a Fire-offering, unto Jehovah; a Burnt-offering, and a Meat-offering, a sacrifice, and drink-offerings, the thing of a day in his day. Beside, the Sabbaths of Jehovah: and beside your gifts, and beside all your vows, and beside all your voluntary-offerings; which ye shall give, unto Jehovah. Also, in the fifteenth day, of the seventh month; when ye have gathered-in, the revenue of the land; ye shall festively-keep the feast of Jehovah, seven days: in the first day, shall be a sabbatism; and in the eight day, a sabbatism. And ye shall take unto you, in the first day; the fruit of goodly trees, boughs of Palme-trees, and branches of thick trees, and willows of the brook: and ye shall rejoice, before Jehovah your God, seven days. And ye shall festively keep it, a feast unto Jehovah; seven days, in the year: it shall be a statute for ever, throughout your generations; in the seventh month, shall ye festively-keep it. Ye shall dwell in Boothes, seven days: every home-borne in Israel, shall dwell in Boothes. That, your generations may know; that I made the sons of Israel to dwell, in boothes; when I brought them out, from the land of Egypt: I am Jehovah your God. And Moses declared, the solemn-feasts of Jehovah; unto the sons of Israel.

Annotations.

Solemn feasts] The Hebrew M'gned, is generally a set-time, or season, Gen. 1. 14. 1 Sam. 13. 8. but applied here and often, to the solemn feasts in Israel, which were appointed of God, at their settimes in the year. The Greek here and in many other places translatheth it, Heorte, a Feast: sometime Paneguris, a General-assembly, both which words Paul useth in Col. 2. 26. Heb. 12. 23. The Lord having given laws before concerning the sanctity of his Church; doth now give order for the times and manner of public professing and exercising holy duties, appertaining to sanctification: & of showing thankfulness & joy, for former benefits; with expectatiō of greater to come by Christ. shall proclaim] or, shall call. convocations of holiness] that is, holy convocations, or meetings: to be used for nourishment of faith and godliness: all which now have their accomplishment in Christ, Col. 2. 16. 17.

V. 3. shall work be done] in Gr·hou shalt do ⟨ϕ⟩ that is, all thy works that thou hest to do, as Ex▪ 20▪ 9▪ of Sabbatism] that is, of resting: in Gr. a rest, see the notes on Ex. 16. 23. V. 5. first month] called Abib, and Nisan, which was made the first, upon their coming out of Egypt: see Exod. 12 2. and 13. 3. 4. So in Ta•g•m lonathan it is here said, In the month of N ⟨...⟩ , ⟨ϕ⟩ the 14. day, &c. the two evenings] that is, in the afternoon: as is opened on Exod. 72. 6. So all the forenoone of the fourteenth day of Abib (the day wherein they killed the Paschal lambes,) was <...> full to work in: at noon they left off, and began their rest. The Hebrew canons say, It is <...> full to do work on the evenings of the festival days from the (time of the) evening sacrifice and <ϕ> even as on the evenings of the Sabbaths, And <ϕ> so doth work in them shall never see a sign of <ϕ> sing. And he is to be re•ked, •nd m•e to <ϕ> by force: though he is not for it to be <ϕ> ▪ <ϕ> excommunicated: except in the evening <...> over, after mid-day, for who so doth work <...> ter mid-day, is to be sco•rged, or excomm <...> (•ith the Ni•d•i,) if he be not scourged. For the fourteenth day of Nisan (or A•i••) is not like the other e <...> of festival days: because in it, are the feast, and the killing of the sacrifice. In the 14, of Nisan, it is <ϕ> unlawful to do work, save after the midst of the day, and forward; for that is the time of killing (the sacrifice.) M•im•ny in Iom tob. chap. 8. sect. 17. 18. the Passover] Targum Jonathan explaineth it, the time of killing the Passover to the name of the Lord. The Passover was a yearly feast in remembrance of their deliverance out of Egypt, when God passed over the houses of Israel, and killed not their first borne: see Exod. 12. It figured our redemption by Christ, who is our Passover (or Paschal lamb) sacrificed for us: in remembrance whereof we are commanded also spiritually, to keep the feast, with the unleavened-cakes of sincerity and truth, 1 Cor. 5. 7. 8.

Vers. 6. of unleavened-cakes] a feast adjoined to the Passover, Exod. 12. 15. and 13. 6. the rites hereof are opened there: the sacrifices peculiar to this feast, are set down in Num. 28. 19.—25. The signification was to teach us holiness of life, from the time of our redemption, unto the end of our days; which seven days mystically figured; as is shown on Exod. 12. 15. Chazkuni (on Levite. 23.) saith; The evening of the first good day, and that night, is called the Passover; according as they employ themselves about the oblation which is called the Passover. But the residue of the feast, from the first night and forward, is called the feast of unleavened cakes.

Verse 7. servile work] Hebr. work of service, or of se•vileness: or laborious, as ploughing, sowing, weaving, or any the like: but work about meat or drink which they should use the same day, might be done, Exod. 12. 16. And the like law was for all other festival days, verse. 8. 21. 25. 35. 36. save on atonement day, verse. 28. then, no work might be done. So besides the Sabbath, which was every seventh day, there were seven holy days in the year; in six whereof, they might do no servile work, and in the seventh, no work at all. Those six were, the first and the seventh of the feast of unleavened cakes; the day of Pentecost, or of first fruits, verse 17. 21. the first day of the seventh month, which was the feast of Blowing trumpets, verse 24. 25. and the first and eighth day, of the feast of Boothes, verse 35. 36. The seventh was Atonement (or expiation) day; wherein they might do no work at all, verse 28. Of these, the Hebrews give these rules. The six days wherein the Scripture forbiddeth work, which are the first and seventh of the Pass•over; the first and eighth of the feast of Bo•thes; the day of the feast of Weekes (or Pentecost,) and the first day of the seventh month: are called good days: and the ke sting is alike in them all; for it is unlawful to do <ϕ> servile work in them, save the work which is needful about food, Exod. 12. 16. Who so resteth from servile work in them, observeth a commandment; and who so doth in any of them, work which is not necessary for food, as if he build up, or pull down, or weave, or the like; he breaketh a commandment, and transgresseth against this prohibition. YE SHALL NOT DOE A•• SERVILE WORKE: and if he do, and there be witnesses and evident proof, he is by the law, to be beaten. [But for working on the Sabbath, he is to be stoned to death, Num. 15.

32. 35.] All work needful about meat is lawful; as killing (of beasts) and baking (of bread,) and kneading (of dough,) and the like. But such works as may be done in the evening of a feast day, they do not on the feast day: as they may not reap, nor thresh, nor winnow, nor grind the corn, or the like. For all these and such like may be done on the evening of the feast, and there is thereby no corruption, or minishing (of the taste▪) But they knead, and bake, and kill, and boil (or roast) on the feast day; because if they do these on the evening, there is thereby corruption, or minishing of the taste. For warm bread, or meat boiled this day, is not like the bread that was baked, or the meat that was boiled yesterday; nor the meat slain today, like that which was slain yesterday; and so all the like unto these. They may not bake, or dress on a feast day, that which they will eat on the common working day: no work is permitted, which is needful about meats, save about those which are to be used on the feast day. If he have made it to eat on the feast day, and there remain some; he may eat that which is left, on the working day. Bathing and anointing, are contained under the general of meat and drink, and may be done on the feast day. Maimonides in Iom to<sup>r</sup>. chap. 1. sect. 1. &c.

Vers. 8. a Fire offering] that is, burnt-offerings, as the Greek translath, and so Moses explaineth it in Numb. 28. 19. though it implieth also other sacrifices offered up in fire to the Lord. •argum Jonathan expoundeth it, an oblation to the name of the Lord. seven days] all the days of the feast, seem to be called generally convocations of holiness, verse 2. and in every of them, an extraordinary number of sacrifices were to be offered, Numb. 28. 24. and 29. 17. 20. 23. 26. &c. though the first and last were the great days of the feast, in which they might do no servile work. Of these other days, the Hebrews say; The days which are between the first and the seventh of the Passover, and the first and the eight of the feast of boothes; are called the profane (or common working) days of the solemn-feast, and they are called the Solemn-feast. And although it is not said of any of them, it shall be a Sabbatism; yet for as much as it is called a convocation of holiness, and it is the time of feasting in the sanctuary, it is unlawful to do work in them; that they be not like other profane days, wherein there is no holiness at all. And who so doth unlawful work in them, he is scourged, because it is forbidden him, by the doctrine of the Scribes. Yet all servile work is not forbidden: for any work, which if a man do it not in the solemn-feast, much hurt (or corruption) followeth, they may do it. As a man may gather his fruits, and the grapes of his vineyard, in the feast, if they be ripe. But it is unlawful for a man purposely to defer such works until the feast. If a man have fruits on the ground, and hath nothing to eat in the feast, but of them, though there be no danger of their perishing; they lay no necessity upon him to buy food in the market, till he reap after the feast; but he may reap, and bind, and thresh, and fan, and grind what him needeth. Also they may judge money-matters, and matters of life and death, in the solemn feast; and may write the matters of the judgment hall (or Court,) and all such like. And they may write private letters to friends, and reckonings, &c. and may do all things needful about the dead, [as did they that imbalmed our Savior, Luk 23. 56. and 24. 1.] and may make him a coffin, &c. But they look not upon plagues (of leprosy, Levite. 13.) in the feast, lest he be found unclean, and his feasting be turned into mourning. Neither do they marie wives, &c. lest the joy of the feast be forgotten through the joy of the wedding. They make no merchandise in the feast, either selling or buying. But they may sell fruits, clothes, or instruments, needful for the feast. It is not lawful to mourn or fast in these days, but a man ought to rejoice in them, and have a merry heart, he and his children, and his wife, and his children's children, and all that are joined unto him, (Deut. 16. 14.) Although the rejoicing spoken of there, is the Peace offerings; yet under it is comprehended, that he and his children and his household should rejoice, everyone as is meet for him: &c. Maimonides in Iom tob. chap. 6. sect. 22. and chap. 7. sect. 1. &c. and chap. 6. sect. 17. See after on verse 40. and Deut. 16.

Vers. 10. reap the harvest] the original words are the same, reap the reaping, or, harvest the harvest. This law appertained to the Passover, at what time, harvest in Canaan began to be ripe; and was to be done in the feast, namely on the 16. day of Abib, the morrow after the Sabbath, verse 11. that by sanctifying the first fruits unto the Lord, the whole harvest might be sanctified unto them. Rom. 11. 16. Prov. 3. 9. 10. Ezek. 44. 30. ye shall bring] to weat, at the public charges of the Church: the manner is shown in the notes upon Levite. 24. 8. a sheaf] or an Omer. which is the tenth part of an Ephah (or Bushel) Exod. 16. 36. The Hebrew word signifieth both, and for the matter in hand both are true, save that if we English it shease, it is put for sheaves, one for many; as the Greek here translatheth it sheaves (or handfuls.) But Sol. Rashi expoundeth this Omer the tenth part of an Ephah. This was not to be brought by every particular man, but by the whole congregation, one Omer for all the church: the manner whereof, in the Hebrew records, is said to be thus: *In the Passover they offer an oblation more then the daily sacrifice, from the first day until the seventh day, according to the addition at the new moons; two bulockes and one ram, and seven lambs, all burnt offerings; and a goat-bucke for a sin-offering: which is eaten in the second day of the Passover, which is the sixteenth day of Nisan, [or March:] Numb. 28. 11. 19. 24. They offer more then on other days, a lamb for a burnt offering, with the shease (or Omer) of wave-offering; (Levite. 23. 12.) And that is the meat-offering of the congregation. And the time of it is appointed, therefore it driveth away the Sabbath, [that is, it is to be done, though it be the Sabbath day.] They bring not this Meat-offering, but from the land of Israel, Levite. 23. 10. And it is to be reaped in the night, in the sixteenth night (of Nisan,) whether it be working day, or Sabbath. And all the night is lawful to reap the shease in, or, if they reap it by day, it is lawful. It is to be taken from the standing corn, or (if they find none standing) of the sheaves. It is to be brought of green corn, and if they find none such, of the dry. This shease was brought of barley. In the evening of the feast day, the messengers of the  $\langle\phi\rangle$  [the high council in Jerusalem] went out; and  $\langle\phi\rangle$  the cities near there about came together, that it might be reaped with great solemnity. And they reaped three Seahs of barley [which make an Ephah or Bushel, as is noted on Gen. 18. 6.] by three men; when it was dark; &c. When it was reaped, they brought it into the courtyard (of the Sanctuary,) and threshed it, and fanned it, and purged it clean. And they took a tenth part [that is, an Omer, Exod. 16. 36.] and put it in the fire, &c. as it is written (in Levite. 2. 14.) *Green-ears-of-corn parched in the fire, corn beaten out of the full-ear. We have been taught that this is spoken  $\langle\phi\rangle$  the meat-offering of the sheaf only. And after that  $\langle\phi\rangle$  have parched it, they spread it in the courtyard, and the wind bloweth on it. Then they grind the three Seahs (or Bushel of barley,) and take out of all, a tenth part (or Omer,) and that is waved: and the residue is redeemed, and may be eaten by any man. But this tenth part of barley flower, they take, and mixe it with a log [  $\langle\phi\rangle$  half pinte] of oil, on the sixteenth day of Nisan. And they put upon it an handful of frankincense, (Levite. 2. 15.) as upon other Meat-offerings: and wave it, and burn some of it on the altar, (as Levite. 2. 16.) and the residue is eaten by the Priests, as all other Meat-offerings are. Maimonides in Tamidin, &c. chap. 7. and Talmud Bab. in Menachoth, chap. 10. The reason why this oblation was of barley, was for that it was first ripe in the land of Canaan, to weat at the east of the Passover; but wheat harvest was after, at Pentecost or the feast of Weekes, Exod. 34. 22. Therefore in Ruth 2. 23. barley harvest, is er before wheat harvest: so in Egypt, the barley was red, before the wheat, or rye, Exod. 9. 31. 32. And in Ruth 1. 22. when Ruth came to Bethel in beginning of barley harvest, there the Chaldee giveth this paraphrase, in the beginning of the Passover, and in that day, the sons of Israel began to reap sheaf of the wave-offering, which was of barley:aving reference to this Law.

V. 11. for your favorable acceptance] in Greek, [unspec] acceptable for you: that is, that you and your otiation may be accepted in favor. If you offer it according to this right, it shall be acceptable for you; beginning of barley harvest] Rashi, on Levite. 3. the morrow after the Sabbath] Hebr. on the morrow of the Sabbath; that is, the day after the Sabbath: meaning not the ordinary Sabbath, which was every seventh day of the week, but the Sabbath of the Passover, which was always the fifteenth day of Nisan, (or March,) the first day of unleavened bread, called the Feast, Numb. 28. 17. on which days were Levite. 23. 32. 39. so the morrow after, was always the sixteenth day of Nisan, as is before noted. And so the Chaldee here translateth it, after the good day, that is, the feast: and the Greek faith, On the morrow of the first of the Sabbaths: because the first day, and the seventh day, were both Sabbaths; verse 7. 8. And Targum Jonathan explaineth it, After the good day, the first (day) Passover, the Priest shall wave it. Greek, offer it. How this waving was per see the notes on Exod. 29. 24. Levite. 3. 5.

Vers. 12. shall offer] H•br. and Greek, or make, meaning for sacrifice. See Exod. 10. 25. of his first year] Hebr. son of his year, that is, not above a year old, see Exod. 12. 5. This Lamb was to be brought with the sheaf (or Omer) of first fruits, besides all other sacrifices for the feast, mentioned in Num. 28. 19. 24. So Rashi saith, It came as a bounden duty with the Omer. And it figured Christ (our perfect unblemished Lamb, 1 Pet. 1. 19.) by whom those first fruits, and in them all the other fruits were sanctified, and made acceptable to God.

Vers. 13. two tenth deals] to weet, of an Ephah: that is two O•ners. This was twice so much as by [unspec] the Law was appointed for a Lamb, which ordinarily was but one tenth deal, Numb. 15. 4. neither was it doubled for any other, save for this Lamb offered with the wave sheaf. See the annotations •n Numb. 15. 12. fine flower] of wheat, as was for all ordinary meat-offerings, Levite. 2. Exod. 19. 2. oil] to weet, oil olive: and a log (or half pint) of oil was the stint for every tenth deal (or Omer) of flow•e. Maimonides in Magnaseh noth, chap. 12. sect. 7. of rest] in Greek; of sweet smell: the Chaldee expounds it, to be accepted with favor. of an Hin] a measure containing twelve logs; every log being so much as six eggs. See the notes on Exod. 29. 40. and 30. 24. And here the quantity of wine is not doubled, (as was before in the flower,) but is a fourth part only, which was the measure prescribed for the drinkeoffing of every ordinary lamb; Numb. 15. 5. So archi here notth, Though the Meat offering thereof was doubled, yet the drink-offering was not doubled.

Vers. 14. not eat bread, &c.] God here by taught them, that they had no right to ear of any of the fruits of the land, (which was his, Levite. 25. 23) until by offering the first fruits with a Lamb sacrifice, they had made public profession both of their faith in Christ to come, and of their thankfulness to God for his mercies. The Hebrews say. It was unlawful, to reap in the land of Israel, any of the five kinds of corn, before they had reaped the sheaf (of wave offering,) Levite. 23. 10. They brought no meat-offering, drink-offering, or first-fruits of new (fruits) before they brought the sheaf; and if they brought any, it was not allowable. Maimonides in Tamidin. chap. 7. sect. 13. 17. After the offering of the sheaf, new corn was lawful (to be eaten) out of hand; and they that dwelt •ore off (from Jerusalem) might eat thereof after mid-day [the 16. of Nisan;] for they knew that the Synedrion would not be negligent herein [in offering the sheaf.] T (..) d Bab. in Menachoth, chap. 10. green-ears] or, full-ears: see Levite. 2. 24. The Hebrews say this is meant of the five kinds of grain only; which are wheat, •ie, oats, and two kinds of ba•ley: whosoever did eat of any of these five kinds, new, so much as an olive, before the offering of the sheaf in the 16. of Nisan, was by the law to be beaten. And who so did eat of bread, and of parched-corn, and of green ears, of any of those five; he was to be beaten three times: for these are three prohibitions, distinct one from another, bread, and (..) ed corn, and green-ears. Maimonides tom. 2. treat of Forbidden meats, chap. 10. •ect. 2. 3. the oblation of your God] in Greek, the gifts unto your God, He meaneth those forespoken of: for as it was unlawful for men to eat; so the Hebrews say, They might bring no Meat-offering (to God) of the new-fruits, before the sheaf: Matmony tom. 3. in Issure mizbeach. chap. 5. sect. 9.

Vers. 15. ye shall number] This commandment is unto every man of Israel, and in every place: but women and servants are free from counting; faith Maimonides in Tamidin, chap. 7. sect. 24. from the morrow] or, on the morrow; the Chaldee saith after the feast day; as in verse 11. and Targum Jonathan saith, after the first good day of the Passover. And by the Hebrew canons, They reckon from the beginning of the day th•r fore they reckon in the night, from the night of the sixteenth of Nisan. Maimonides thidem chap 7. ••ct. 22. seven sabbathes] that is, as the Greek• and Chaldee expound it, seven weeks. So in Luk 18. 12. I fast tw•se in the Sabbath, that is, twice (◊) the week: (for the Jews used and still do, to fast on the second and on the (◊) day of every week, as is testified by R. Judah in M•sar, chap. 4.) Likewise in Matth. 28. 1. the first of the Sabbath, that is, the first day of the week. And hereupon this was called, the feast of Weekes, because of the ex•ct numbering, Exod. 34 22. complete] o. perfect, entire: that is, wanting nothing, as the word importeth., la•. 1. 4. Bat Sol. •a ch• here saith, It teareth that they were to begin to number from the evening (the mo••ow after the Sabbath,) for else• they were not complete.

Verse 16 the morrow after the seventh sa••ath] the Chaldee saith, (◊) after the seventh week; the Greek, till the morrow of the last week; of the seven. fifty days] Hereupon the Hebrews observe that it was commanded to number the days, with the weeks. And they held it needful to bless God every night, which sanctified them by his commandments, and commanded the numbering of the sheaf, that is, of the fifty days from the waving of the sheaf. Maimonides in Tamidin, chap. 7. sect. 22 25. And of this word fifty, in Greek Penteconta; the feast is called in the New Testament Pentecoste, Act. 2. 1.: Cor. 16. 8. a new meat-offering] of the first fruits of the wheat harvest, as the former was of barley harvest: therefore this was called also, the day of the first fruits, Numb. 28. 26.

Vers. 17. your habitations] in the land of Canaan. They bring not the two loaves, but from the land, and of new fruits, saith Maimonides in Timidin, chap. 8. sect. 2. for a wave-offering] Hebr. bread of waving, that is, to be waved before the Lord. This was brought at the churches charge: the manner is noted on Levite. 24. 8. two loaves] or cakes; which word is added both by the Greek and Chaldee: the manner of this service, is said to be thus: They brought three Seas (that is, an Ephah or Bushel) of new wheat: and did beat and tread them after the manner of all meat-offerings, and ground them to flower▪▪ and waved of them two tenth-deals, (that is, two Omers,) and the residue was redeemed, and might be eaten by any man. These two cakes (or loaves) of new corn, a tenth deal must be taken from each Scab and an half. Then they took the two tenth deals, and kneaded them one by one, and baked them one by one. And the making of them might not be on the feast day, nor on the Sabbath: if the evening of this feast (of Pentecost) were a Sabbath, they baked them in the evening of the Sabbath, and they were eaten in the third day after their baking, which was the feast day. And it is expressed in the Law, that they should be leavened: and thus they did it; they brought leaven from some place, and put it into the measure of the tenth deal, and filled that tenth-deal with flower, and so leavened it with that leaven. They made the length of each cake seven hand-bredthes; and the breadth, four handbreadths; and the height, four fingers. Maim. in Tamidin, chap. 8. sect. 3▪ 10. with leaven] in Greek, leavened: so Leviticus 2. 11. and 7. 13.

Vers. 18. perfect] in Greek, unblemished. of the first year] Hebr. sons of a year: see Exod. 12. 5. one bullock] in Num. 28. 27. there are two bullocks, and one ram; here is one bullock, and two rams: those were an addition in respect of the feast day; these are a further addition, in respect of the two loaves, & therefore to be offered with them, as before he saith. The Hebrews explain it thus: In the fiftieth day from the numbering of the sheaf, is the feast of Weekes [Exod. 34. 22. or of Pentecost, Act. 2. 1.] *and it is a Retention [or solemn assembly;] and this day they offer more (than other days) two bullocks, and a ram, and seven lambs, all of them burnt offerings; and a goat for a sin-offering, and these are the offerings spoken of in Num. 28. 26. 27. 30. and they are the addition of the day. And yet they bring more for this day, a meat offering of new (wheat) in two loaves. And they offer with the loaves, a bullock, and two rams, and seven lambs, all burnt offerings; and a goat for a sin-offering; and two lambs for Peace offerings; and these are the oblations spoken of in Levite. 23. So there are to be offered this day, over and beside the two daily-sacrifices, three bullocks, and three rams, and fourteen lambs, twenty beasts in all, for burnt offerings; and two goats for sin, which are eaten; and two lambs for peace-offerings, which are eaten. Maimonides in Tamidin, chap. 8. sect. 1. These sacrifices figured Christ unto them, by whose death their sins should be pardoned, their persons sanctified, and their thanksgiving unto God made acceptable: by whom also the fruits of the land were blessed unto them; and as the wheat is better than barley, so their first-fruits which they brought in sign of homage to the Lord, was more of the wheat, than of the barley, and with many moesacrifices. drink-offerings] which were usually given with all sacrifices: the measure of them is er, in Num. 28. 5. 7. 12. 13. 14. of rest] in Greek, of sweet-smell: in Chaldee, which shall be accepted with favor.*

Vers. 19. shall offer] Hebr. shall do, as verse 12. a Sin-offering] whereby they acknowledged their unworthiness to appear before God, or to enjoy the fruits of his land, otherwise than by Christ their sacrifice of Atonement. of Peace-offerings] or, of payments, whereby they paid thanks and praises unto God for his mercies; which being done also with sacrifices, shown that by Christ, we must offer praise to God continually, Heb. 13. 15. It is observed by the Hebrews, that the Church (or Congregation) never offered a y Peace-offerings, but these. Maimonides treat of Offring sacrifices, chap. 1. sect. 4. See the notes o  Leviticus 4. 14.

Vers. 20. wave them with the loaves▪ The ⟨ϕ⟩ [unspec] is recorded to be thus; *They brought the two ⟨ϕ⟩ (the Peace-offerings) and waved them whiles they were yet alive; and afterwards killed them, and said them, and took the breast and the shoulder of each of them ⟨ϕ⟩ (as in Levite. 7. 30. 32.) and laid them down by the ⟨ϕ⟩ loaves, and (the priest) put both his hands under the, and waved them all together, in the east side, the place of all wave-offerings. Vers. 24. *the seventh month] called of the Hebrews •isri▪ of us now, September; in scripture it is named Ethanim, 1 King. 8. 2. which the Chaldee there expoundeth the month of the Ancients;*

which they called the first month, &c. and now it is the seventh month. So Targum Jonathan here explaineth it, In Tisri which is the seventh month. In this month, Solomon's Temple was dedicated. the first day] which was at the new moon: for all their months in Israel, were counted by the Moon. asabbatisme] that is, a rest, or cessation from your labors: Targum Jonathan calleth it a good day. blowing-of-trumpets] or, of cornets; the Greek translatheth a memorial of trumpets: the Chaldee, a memorial of showting. The Hebrew Tragnah here used, is generally a loud showing noise, commonly for joy, as Ezra 3. 11. 12. 1 Chro. 15. 28. sometime for sorrow, as Ier. 20. 16. Mich. 4. 9. and is either with man's voice, or with sound of trumpet, and then it is that broken sound called an alarm, Numb. 10. 5. 7. Again, Trompets were of two sorts, some of metal, as the silver trumpets in the Sanctuary, Numb. 10. 2. some of horn, called cornets, 2 Chron. 15. 14. Psal. 98. 6. That this was with blowing of trumpets and cornets, appeareth by Numb. 10 10. in your solemn days, and in the beginnings of your months, ye shall blow with the trumpets over your burnt offerings, &c. and in Psal. 81. 3. Blow up the cornet (or trumpet) in the new-moon, &c. At every new-moon they had a solemnity in Israel, and offered (besides the daily sacrifices) two bullocks, one ram, seven lambs, for burnt offerings, with their meat and drink-offerings, and a goat for a sin-offering, Numb. 28. 11. 15. and at this new moon, which was the beginning of the year, they offered all the foresaid sacrifices, and over and besides them, one bullock, one ram, and seven lambs for burnt-offerings, and a goat for a sinoffring, Num. 29. 1. 6. The trumpet which they proclaimed the new year with, was the same that they proclaimed the Jubilee with, which was a cornet (called in Hebrew Shophar) Levite. 25. 9. The Hebrew doctors write here of thus; *It is commanded by the Law to hear the sound of the trumpet (or cornet.) in the beginning of the year, Numb. 29. 1. and the trumpet which they blew with, either in the beginning of the year, or at the Jubilee, was of arams horn crooked; and all cornets, save of rams horn, were unlawful. And although it be not expressed in the law, that the blowing at the new year should be with the cornet (Levite. 23. 24.) yet of the Jubilee it is said, SHOPHAR TRVGNAH (the cornet of loud sound) Levite. 25. 9. whereupon we have been taught, the sound (or blowing) at the Jubilee was with the cornet (Shophar;) also the sound at the beginning of the year, was with the cor  $\langle \phi \rangle$  . In the Sanctuary they did blow in the beginning of the year, with one cornet and two trumpets; because it is written (in Psal. 98. 6.) with trumpets and sound of cornet, shout triumphantly before the LORD the King: but in other places they did not blow in the beginning of the year, save with the cornet only. All are bound to hear the sound of the cornet, Priests, and Levites, and Israelites, and Proselytes, and servants that are made free: but women, and servants, and children, are not bound. The sound Tragnah (or alarm) spoken of in the law, is not certainly knowue of us, by reason of the length of years and our many captivities, so that we know not how it was. Maimonides in Shophar, &c. chap. 1. sect. 1. 2. and chap. 2. sect. 1. and chap. 3. sect. 2. Howbeit by the same author, and by Thalm. Bab, in Rosh hasshanah, chap. 3. and 4. it appeareth, that they used to blow with these cornets, both in Jerusalem and in all other cities in the Synagogues, (for the feasts were proclaimed in all their cities, and not only in Jerusalem, Nehem. 8. 15.) and with it, they used prayers and blessings, and reading of some scriptures, •itting the matter in hand. This blowing of trumpets by the Priests in the Sanctuary, and Ministers in the Synagogues, which all the people were bound to hear, (whereupon the Prophet saith, Blessed is the people that know the sound, Psal. 89. 15.) signified the preaching of the word by God's messengers, who should lift up their voice like a trumpet and show his* people their transgression, Esa. 58. 1. denouncing God's judgments for trespassing against his law, Hos. 8. 1. that they may tremble, and repent with fasting and prayer, that they may find mercy with the Lord, Joel 2. 1. 15. 16. 17. that awaking out of sleep, and arising from the dead, Christ might give them light, Ephes. 5. 14. And as trumpets were most solemnly blown every new years day, and every year of Jubilee; so against Christ's coming to preach the acceptable year of the Lord, (Luk. 4. 19. 21.) John the Baptist blew the trumpet in Israel, preparing the way before him, preaching the baptism of repentance for remission of sins, Mar. 1. 1. 2. 3. 4. of whose ministry, this feast of blowing of trumpets, seemeth to be a special figure. See more on Num. 10. The Hebrews had a like understanding in this mystery, for they say that the blowing of trumpets at the beginning of the year, had a mystical signification, as if it had been said, Awake ye sleepers, out of your sleep; and ye deep sleepers, wake up out of your deep sleep; and make inquiry into your works, and turn by repentance, and remember your Creator: behold they that forget the truth, through the vanities of the time, and that go astray all their year in vanity and emptiness, which will not profit, nor deliver; look to your souls, and amend your ways and your actions, and let everyone of you forsake his evil way, and his cogitation which is not good. Maimonides in treat. of Repentance, chap. 3. sect. 4. And to the end he might the more seriously convert unto the Lord, all the house of Israel, were wont (as he saith) to do many almsdeeds, and good works, and to exercise themselves in the commandments from the beginning of the year unto the day of atonement (which was the tenth day of this month,) more then all the days of the year: and they used all, to rise in the night, these ten days, and to pray in the Synagogues, with words of supplication for grace, &c. Ibidem, sect. 4.

Vers. 27. a day of Atonement] or, of expiation and reconciliation to God, that they might have forgiveness of all their sins. Of this day, and the rites about it, the Law is more largely given before in chap. 16. Between this and new years day before, were eight whole days, which space they had to prepare themselves, after the sound of the trumpet, unto humiliation for their sins, and reconciliation unto God in Christ. afflict your souls] humble yourselves in fasting, prayer, &c. see the notes on Levite. 16. 29. where five things are shown to belong unto this afflicting of themselves; which things are also mentioned by Targ. Jonathan in this place. a fire-offering] many burnt-offerings and sacrifices, described in Levite. 16. and Numb. 29. 7. 11.

Vers. 29. every soul] in the Chaldee, every man: so in verse 30. cut-off] in the Greek and Chaldee, destroyed; and Targum Jonathan addeth destroyed by death: meaning if they did it presumptuously. But from this fasting and afflicting of themselves, they exempted sick folks and children, as is shown on Levite. 16. 29.

Vers. 30. I will even destroy that soul] or, will make him perish: in Greek, that soul shall perish from the people thereof. The Hebrews explain this law thus; It is commanded to rest from work, on the tenth of the seventh month, Levite. 16. 31. and who so doth work therein, omitteth the keeping of a commandment, and transgresseth against a prohibition, Numb. 29. 7. And if he do it willingly of presumption, he is guilty of cutting off: if ignorantly, he is to bring the sin-offering appointed for the same. All work for which they are to be stoned, if they do it on the Sabbath, if they do it on this day, they are to be cut-off. And whatsoever is unlawful to be done on the Sabbath, which is not work; is unlawful to be done on this day; and if he do it, he is to be scourged, as he is to be scourged for doing it on the Sabbath. There is no difference between the Sabbath, and this day, for these matters, save this, that for presumptuous doing it on the Sabbath, he is to be stoned, and for doing it on this day, he is to be cut off. Maimonides treat. of the Rest of the tenth day, chap. 1. sect. 1. 2.

Vers. 32. in the ninth] the Greek translatheth, from the ninth of the month from the evening, until the tenth of the month at evening ye shall sabbatize (or rest) your sabbathes. From these words the Hebrews gather, that their fast began a little before the tenth day began, and continued a little after it was ended. See the notes on Levite. 16. 29.

Vers. 34. of Roothes] or, of Tabernacles, made of boughs of green trees; as verse 40. In the new Testament this feast is called in Greek Skenopegia, that is, the pitching of tents, or setting up of bootes, John. 7. 2. and so the Lxx. translated it in Deut. 16. 16. This feast they kept, in remembrance of God's favors to them in the wilderness, where they dwelt in bootes, verse. 43. and to show their thankfulness unto God, for the fruits which in this month they reaped; Deut. 16. 13. 14. and to figure out the coming of Christ into the world at this time of the year, to dwell in the Tabernacle of our flesh, who was made flesh, and dwelt (or pitched his tent) among us, John. 1. 14. At this feast, Solomon's Temple, (a figure of Christ's body, John. 2. 19. 21.) was dedicated with great solemnity, and the Ark brought into it, 2 Chron. 5. 2. 3. 7. This feast <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> also are to keep, Zach. 14. 16.—19. which thing we do, by belief in Christ, that his grace is <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> cient for us; and that in all our infirmities, the power of Christ resteth upon us (or protecteth us as a Tabernacle) as Paul saith, 2 Cor. 12. 9. Likewise knowing that when our earthly house of Tabernacle, wherein we are, shall be dissolved, we have a building of God eternal in the heavens, with which we desire to be clothed; and therefore being strangers and pilgrims on earth, we have our conversation in heaven, until we put off this our tabernacle; 2 Cor. 5. 1. 2. Heb. 11. 13. 14. Phil. 3. 20. 2 Pet. 1. 13. 14. seven days] a complete number, figuring <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> whole life time in this frail tabernacle, to be holy unto the Lord: as did the seven days of unleavened bread; whereof see the notes on Exod. 12. 15.

Vers. 35. convocation of holiness] an holy assembly [unspec] of the people to serve God, and learn his law; Deut. 31. 10. 11. Nehem. 8. 18. servile wor•• Hebr. work of service: see verse 7.

Vers. 36. a fire-offering] in Greek, burnt-offering•. There were many sacrifices offered all the days of [unspec] this feast, the chiefest whereof were burnt offering• their manner and order is described at large, in Num. 29. 13. 38. the eight day] which was the 22. of Tisri, or September. a solemn-assembly] or, general-assembly; called in Hebrew Gn••sere••, (or Atsereth) which hath the signification of restraining or retaining, because this day, the people were restrained from work, and retained together in a public assembly. The Chaldee translatheth it, ye shall be assembled together: and so the word is in other cases used for an assembly, Ier. 9. 2. The Greek here and often turneth it Exodion; as being the day of the Outgoing or end of the feast: and it is called the last and great day of the feast, John. 7. 37. The-last day of the Passover, is called also by <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> name, Deut. 16. 8. And the Hebrew doctors apply the name absolutely to the feast of Pentecost often in their writings, whereupon Josephus <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> (in b. 3. chap. 10.)

at Pentecost, which the Hebrews call ASARTA, and that signifieth Pentecost. In  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  5. 21. it is translated in Greek Paneguris, which word Paul useth in Heb. 12. 23. for a general assembly.

Vers. 37. a sacrifice] this may mean the Sin-offering, which daily was to be offered with the Burntofferings, by the law, Num. 28. 15. 22. and 29. 5. 11. &c. also the Peace-offerings, (and so the Chaldee here explaineth it,) which the people offered at the feasts, 2 Chron. 30. 22. the thing] Heb.  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  word of a day in his day; whereby is meant, ev  $\langle \dots \rangle$  thing in his due time. This phrase is also used  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  God his administration to his people, for their  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  in due time daily, 1 King. 8. 59. A like speech is  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  the year, the thing of a year in the year, that is, a yearly rate, 1 King. 10. 25.

Vers. 38. your gifts] hereby may be meant the firstborn cattle, and first fruits, which they ga• unto the Lord's Priests, Numb. 18. or such  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  burnt-offerings, and peace-offerings as the  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  would give at the feasts, as Deuter. 16. 10. 17. 1 Chron. 35. 7. 8. vows] that is, vowed sacrifices, which also they brought at the solemn feasts, Deut. 12. 6. 7. 11. 12.

Vers. 39. the revenue] or income, that is, the corn and wine and oil, &c. Hereupon this is called the [unspec] Feast of ingathering, Exod. 23. 16. a sabbatism] that is, arest from your labors.

Vers. 40. the first day] to weet, of the feast; which was the fifteenth day of the month, verse [unspec] 39. So there were four days between the Feast (or Atonement day) and this Feast of Boothes; as there had been eight days between the feast of Trompets, and that Feast. the fruit] this may be understood of branches with the fruit upon them: as in Ezek. 19. 12. where for fruit, the Greek translath branches: howbeit the Hebrews take it properly for the fruit of the tree. of goodly trees] Hebr. of the tree of goodliness (or of honor;) which the Chaldee, and Targum Yerushalmi translath, of the Pome-citron tree. So the Hebrew doctors say, The fruit of the goodly tree spoken of in the law, is the Pome-citron. Maimonides in Shophar and Succah, chap. 7. sect. 2. This tree beareth apples at all times, some falling-off, some ripe, some springing up continually; as Pliny saith, Nat. hist. lib. 12. cap. 3. Some take this fruit of goodly-trees, to be the branches of Olives, Oile-trees, and Mirtles mentioned in Nehem. 8. 15. wherewith they made the boothes: but the Hebrew doctors understand this here to be the fruit and branches borne in men's hands, at the feast; as after is to be shown. boughs] in Hebr. Cappoth, so named of being bowed or crooked: these boughs of Palme-trees, the Chaldee and the Yerushalmi Targum calleth Lulabin, as growing out of the heart of the tree; and the Hebrews describe them to be the shoots (or stiff branches) of the palm (or date) tree, when they are budded, before the leaves be spread abroad, whiles it is yet like a rod (or scepter;) and that it is called Lulab. Maimonides in Shophar, &c. chap. 7. sect. 1. It is known, by human writers, that the branches of this tree, were wont to be carried in men's right hand, for signs of victory; Pausanias in Arcadicis. In like signification, the children of God are said to have palms in their hands, Revel. 7. 9. and the palm-tree is geene and flourishing, Psalm 92. 13. of a tall and upright stature, whereto the Church of Christ is likened; in Song 7. 7. 8. These Palme branches (or Lulabin) the Jews used to bear in their hands, at this feast. branches of thick trees] Hebr. the branch of the thick tree: these the Chaldee paraphrast interpreteth Hadasin, that is, Myrtles; and in Nehem. 8. 15. Myrtle branches are expressed at that feast of Boothes which the Jews then kept: but branches of thick trees are mentioned also besides: so that it seemeth to be more general; but the Hebrews restrain it here. The branch of the thick tree, spoken of in the Law, is the Myrtle (branch) whose leaves cover the wood thereof, as when there are three leaves or moe upon one place of the stalk: but if there be two leaves together, and <...> leaf above them, it is not thick, but is called Hadas Maimonides in Shophar, &c. c. 7. s. 2. Now to reconcile this with Neh. 8. 15. R. Sol. Rashi (in his annotations there) saith; Hadas (the Myrtle in Neh. 8.) is Hadas shoteh, which is not meet for the Lulab, [the branch to be carried in the hand,] but for boothes: and the thick tree; that is the Hadas (or Myrtle) fit for the Lulab. But this they say to maintain their traditions, and pomp at this feast, after mentioned. The Myrtle is like the Olive tree, but hath lesser leaves; it is mentioned among other goodly trees, which figured the prosperity of the Church, in Esa. 41. 19. and opposed unto Briars, Esa. 55. 13. So in Zacharies vision, Zechariah 1. 8. willows of the brook] or of the bourne, that grow in valleys, and by rivers sides. Therefore the growth of godly men, is likened to willows by water-courses, Esa. 44. 4. Of carrying these branches, the Hebrew Doctors sometime call this feast, The feast of willows. The Boothes that they dwelt in, these seven days, might be made either of these, or of the boughs of any other trees, or of anything that grew out of the ground: but these four, they got specially to carry in their hands, (so they understood this law,) after this manner. *These four kinds (say they) are one commandment, and are called the commandment of the Palme-branch (Lulab.) And they may not have fewer or moe then these. And if they cannot find any one of them, they may not bring for it of another kind, like thereunto. They bind the Palme-branch, and Myrtle, and willow branch, and make of them three, one bundle. And when a man takes them up to go forth with them; he blesseth (God) first, for the taking-up of the Palme branch. This bundle he carrieth in his right hand, and the Pome-citron in his left; and carrieth them as they grow, with their roots downward to the earth, and their tops upward into the air. If he wanted any one of these branches, he carried them not till he had all. The Palme branch might not be less then four hand-bredths long: the myrtle and the willow branch, not less then three: though they were longer, it was allowable. The Pome-citron might not be lesser in bigness then an egg; greater it might be as much as they would. As they carried, they waved (or moved) the branches three times towards every wind (or quarter of the world.) They carried them at the time of reading the hundred and eighteen Psalm. They might carry them any time of the day, but not by night. The commandment to carry these branches is but for the first day of the feast only, as it is said (in Levite. 23. 40.) And ye shall take unto you in the first day. And in the Sanctuary only, they carried them every of the seven days of the feast; upon this ground, Ye shall rejoyce before the Lord your God, seven days, Levite. 23. 40. Whosoever is bound to (the Law of) the Trompet, and of Boothes, is bound to carry the Palme-branch: others are free. The child that knoweth how to wave it, is bound, by the doctrine of the Scribes, to carry the branch, that he may be trained up in the commandments. Every day they went about the Altar once, with the palm-branches in their hands, and said O LORD SAVE NOW, (or Hosanna) and O LORD PROSPER NOW, (Psal. 118. 25.) and in the seventh day, they went about the Altar seven times, &c. Maimonides in Shophar, chap. 7. s. 5. &c. Hereby we may see the reason, why at Christ's coming into Jerusalem, (though at another time of the year,) the people and children strowed the way with branches of trees, and took branches of Palme-trees, and went forth to meet him, and cried Hosanna, Matth. 21. 8. 9. &c. John. 12. 12. 13. For all the legal Feasts had their accomplishment in him, and to him the honor and solemnity of every feast, did by right appertain. ye shall rejoyce] with spiritual joy, in remembrance of former* deliverances, v. 43. and of the present blessings of God, Deut. 16. 15. and in expectation of future good things to be accomplished in Christ: Zach. 14. 16. &c. The Hebrews say, *Although we are to rejoice in all the solemn feasts, yet at the feast of Boothes, there was in the Sanctuary a day of more exceeding joy: and thus they did. In the evening of the first good day, they prepared in the Sanctuary a place for the women above, and for the men beneath, that they might not be together; and they began to rejoice at the end of the first good day; and so in every other day of the common days of the solemnity; they began, after they had offered the daily evening sacrifice, to rejoice the rest of the day, and all the night. They struck up the pipe, and played on Harps, and Psalteries, and Cymbals; and everyone with instruments of music, which had skill to play with his hand, and he that could sing, sung with his mouth. And they skipped, and clapped hands, and leaped, and danced, every man as he could, and sung songs and hymns. But this mirth, was not on the Sabbath, or on the good day. And it was not the common people that did this, or who so would: but the great wise men of Israel, the heads of the Sessions and Synedrions, and Elders, &c. these were they that leaped, and danced, and played and rejoiced in the Sanctuary, in the days of the feast of Boothes; and all the people, men and women, came to see and hear. The joy which a man rejoiceth in doing a commandment, and in the love of God which commanded it, is a great service, &c. But who so hath a proud mind, and gloryeth him-self, and is honorable in his own eyes, in these places; he is a sinner and a fool; and of this Solomon warneth saying, Set not out thy glory in the presence of the King, (Prov. 25. 6.) But who so humbleth himself, and maketh himself vile in these places, he is great, and honorable, and serveth of love; and so David the King of Israel said, And I will yet be more vile then thus, and will be base in mine own eyes, (2 Sam 6. 22.) And there is no greatness or honor, save to rejoice before the Lord, as it is written, And David the King, leaping and dancing before the Lord, (2 Sam. 6. 16.) Maimonides in Shaphar, chap. 8. sect. 12.—15. The Jews had also other traditions at this feast ..., which they say came from Moses; recorded in Talmud Bab. in Succah, chap. 4. and by Maimonides tom. 3. in Tamidin, chap. 10. sect. 6. &c. how all the seven days of this feast, they poured water upon the altar. There was a golden vessel containing three Logs, that was filled at Shiloah (a well whose waters ran softly into the brook Kedron, Esa. 8. 6. Nehem. 3. 15.) (they brought it to the Water gate, and there they sounded and showed. Then they carried it to the Altar, where it was poured out with the wine of the daily sacrifice, &c. Upon this occasion it is thought that our Savior in the last day (of this feast) the great day of the feast, stood up and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink, he that believeth in me, as the scripture ... said, out of his belly shall flow rivers of living ..., John. 7. 37. 38. so calling the people from their carnal pompous observations, to the true spiritual refreshing of their souls.*

Vers. 42.  dwell in Boothes] or, sit in taberna ...; which after in Jerusalem, they made on the tops of their houses, and in their courtyards, and in the streets, &c. Neh. 8. 16. They were made of the branches of trees, as there appeareth, verse 15. And by the Hebrew canons, the Boothes might not be covered with any cloth, or other thing, which had not grown out of the earth, or was not cut ... from thence, or with anything that might receive uncleanness, or that had an evil savor, or that was faded, or fallen-off alone: if they cov ... with any of these, it was unlawful. Talmud B• in Succah, chap. 1. and Maimonides in Shophar, chap. 5. sect. 1. 2. Moreover they set the measure of a booth, to be not less in height, then tenn ...

breddes, nor more then twenty cubits: but it might be as wide as they would. If it had not three sides (or walls,) or if it had not a •atroofe, it was unlawful. Maimonides ibidem, chap. 4. The dwelling (or sitting) in these boothes, was, that they should eat and drink and dwell in them all the seven days, both day and night, as they used to dwell in their houses, other days of the year•• And all those seven days, they made their hou 〈...〉 empty, and furnished their boothes; with all come•lie vessels, and bedding, drinking vessels, 〈◇〉 , &c. but cauldrons, kettles and such like, were without the booth. If the rain fell, they might go out of the boothes into their houses, 〈◇〉 the rain was over. At all times when they 〈◇〉 sit down in the Boothes, all the seven days, they blessed (God) before they sate down, who sanctified them by his commandments, and commanded them to sit in Boothes. Maimonides 〈◇〉 chap. 6. sect. 5. &c. every homebo 〈...〉 〈◇〉 borne in the land of Israel: the Hebrews 〈◇〉 women, and servants, and children, and sick 〈◇〉 ▪ But children of five or six• years old and upward, were bound hereto, that they might be trained up in the commandments. Such as were watch men of the city by day, were discharged for the day, but bound to lie in boothes by night; and s•h as watched by night, were discharged for the night, but bound by day. Maimonides in Shopher, chapter 6. section 1.—4.

Vers. 43. your generations] your posterity. to dwell in boothes] so that the first place where •rael camped, after they came out of Egypt, was called S•ccoth, that is, Boothes, Exodus. 12. 3• At the e•d of every seventh year, the Law was commanded to be solemnly read before all the people at this feast; that they might •ame 〈◇〉 the Lord their God: Deut. 31. •0.—13. See the performance here of, in Neh. 8. 18. And whereas at this time of the year, the people had gathered 〈◇〉 fruits into their houses, and filled them 〈◇〉 all good things: lest their prosperity should cause them to forget both God and themselves, this Law was given, that they should then dwell in boothes; to remember their miseries past, and to expect a full redemption of their bodies & souls by Christ •esus our Lord.

CHAP. XXIII.

1, The Israelites are commanded to bring oil for the lamps, which Aaron must order. 5, The Shew bread, with from kincense, to be set on the Table every Sabbath, and eaten by the Priests. 10, 23, Shelomiths son blasphemeth, and is stoned to death. 15, The like law is given for all blasphemers. 17, Death is appointed for Murderers. 18, Satisfaction for damages and blemishes.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying. Command the sons of Israel; that they take unto thee, pure oil olive, beaten, for the Light: to cause the lamp to ascend up, continually. Without [unspec] the veil of the Testimony, in the Tent of the congregation; shall Aaron order it, from evening unto morning, before Jehovah, continually: it shall be a statute for ever, through-out your generations. Upon the pure candlestick, shall he order the lamps: before Jehovah, [unspec] continually.

And thou shalt take fine-flower, and bake it, twelve cakes: two tenth-deals, shall be in one cake. And thou shalt set them, in two rouse, six on a row: upon the pure table, before Jehovah. And thou shalt put upon each row, pure frankincense: that it may be for the bread, for a memorial, a Fire-offering unto Jehovah. In the Sabbath day in the Sabbath day, he shall set-in-order, before Jehovah, continually: from the sons of Israel, an everlasting covenant. And it shall be, for Aaron and for his sons; and they shall eat it, in the holy place: for it is holy of holies to him, of the Fire-offerings of Jehovah, by an everlasting statute.

And there went out, the son of an Israelitish [unspec] woman; and he was, the son of an Egyptian man; amongst the sons of Israel: and the son of the Israelitess, and a man an Israelite, strove-together in the campe. And the Israelitish woman's son, blasphemed the Name, and cursed; and they brought him; unto Moses: and his mothers name, was Shelomith the daughter of Dibri, of the tribe of Din. And they put him in ward: that he [unspec] might declare unto them, by the mouth of Jehovah. And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying. Bring-forth him that hath cursed, out of the campe; and let all that heard him, lay their hands upon his head: and let all the congregation stone him. And thou shalt speak, unto the sonnns of Israel, saying: Any man, when he shall curse his God, then he shall bear his sin. And he that blasphemeth the Name of Jehovah; shall surely be put to death; all the congregation, stoning shall stone him: as well the stranger, as the home-borne; when he blasphemeth the Name, shall be put to death.

And a man, when he shall smite, any soul of man: shall surely be put to death. And he that smiteth the soul of a beast, shall recompense it: soul for soul. And a man when he shall give a blemish upon his neighbor: as he hath done, so shall it be done unto him. Breach for breach; eye, for eye; tooth, for tooth: as he hath given a blemish, upon a man, so, shall i• be given upon him. And he that smiteth a beast, shall recompense it: and he that smiteth a man, shall be put-to-death. One judgment, shall ye have; as well the stranger as the home-borne, shall have it: for, I am Jehovah, your God. And Moses spake, to the sons of Israel: and they brought-forth him that had cursed, out of the campe, and stoned him, with stones: and the sons of Israel did, as Jehovah commanded Moses.

Annotations.

THat they take] or, as the Greek translatheth, and let them take unto thee; that is, take and give (or bring) unto thee: see the like phrase in Gen. 15. 9. Exod. 25. 2. Num. 19. 2. As the former laws in chap. 23. taught Israel the profession of their obedience to God, in the holy times sanctified for his worship: so these here, taught them the like, in respect of the holy things which concerned God's service in his Sanctuary. olive] or, of the olive-tree: the oil whereof, figured the graces of God's spirit; and the beating of the oil, signified the labors and afflictions of God's people in preaching the word of grace. This Law is here repeated from Exod. 27. 20. &c. where it was before given: see the annotations there. the Lamp] in Chaldee, the Lamps, meaning the seven lamps, as is explained in Num. 8. 2. which are interpreted, the seven Spirits of God, Rev. 4. 5. that is, the manifold graces of the Spirit: now there are diversities of gracious gifts, but one and the same Spirit, 1 Cor. 12. 5. 11. so the seven lamps are here as one Lamp. Likewise in Ex. 27. 20. and 〈◇〉 Sam. 3. 3. to ascend-up] that is, to burn, as the Greek and Chaldee expound it: for the flame always ascendeth. continually] this the Hebrews expound, from night to night, as the continual Burnt-offering, which was not but from day today. Sol. •archi on

Lev. 24. And in Targ. Jonathan it is explained, in the Sabbath day, and in the working day. This Law showeth the ordinary duty of the Church, to provide oil for the Lamp. In times of distress, the Prophet saw a vision of two olivetrees on each side of the candlestick, emptying out of themselves golden oil, through two golden pipes. God teaching that the work of grace, is not by human power or might, but by his Spirit. Zach. 4. 2. 3. 6. 11. 12.

Sol. Rashi. See Exod. 27. 20. 21. And that the lamp went out in the morning, appeareth by 1 Sam. 3. 3.

Vers. 4. the pure candlestick] made all of pure gold; a figure of God's Law. See Exod. 25. 31. Or, it may be called the pure candlestick, because it was daily to be purified and made clean by the Priests. before Jehovah] there in the holy place were the lamps to be trimmed; and so might not be trimmed without, and afterward brought in; as Chazkuni here observeth.

Vers. 5. fine-flower] of wheat. The making of the show bread is said to be thus; They brought four and twenty Seahs [or Peckes, which are eight Ephahs, or Bushels,] of wheat for the Meat-offerings; out of which, being beaten and ground, they boulded four and twenty tenth-deals (or Pottles) of fine-flower: and made thereof twelve unleavened cakes. They were kneaded and molded without the court, but baked within the courtyard, as other Meat offerings. And they had three forms (or moulds) of gold; one wherein they put the cake, when it was dough; and the second, wherein they baked it; and the third wherein they put it after it was taken out of the Oven. Every cake was square, ten hand-bredths long, and five broad; and seven fingers high. And the Table, was twelve hand bredths long, and fixe broad: they set the length of the cake, on the breadth of the table, so that the cake was two band-bredths over the one side, and two over the other, &c. Maimonides in Tamidin (or Daily sacrifices) chap. 5. sect. 5.—9. See also the notes on Exod. 25. 29. bake it] not in the Sabbath day, nor on a feast day, but in the evening of the Sabbath they baked it, and set it in order on the morrow, Maim. ibidem, sect. 10. twelve cakes] answerable to the number of the twelve tribes of Israel, represented by these cakes, and in them all God's elect, (called his Israel, Gal. 6. 16.) which are as unleavened cakes, 1 Cor. 5. 7. presented unto him in Christ, as upon a pure table in his Sanctuary; where his favorable face is always upon them. These are called the Shew bread, whereof see Exod. 25. 30.

Vers. 6. six] the Greek addeth, six cake; and Targum Jonathan, six on one row, and six on another row. These were not set one by another, (or to the table could not well contain them, but one upon another, as Maimonides showeth, ibidem, sect. 9. 2. and as is noted on Exod. 25. 29. pure table] which was of Shittim wood, but overlaid with pure gold, Exod. 25. 24.

Vers. 7. shalt put] Heb. shalt give upon (or by) ‹ϕ› row, which the Greek translatheth, shalt put upon the one row: implying the other also. upon the row or, by the row, that is, by each of them. The Hebrew ghnal, signifieth upon, or by, as in Gen. 14. 6. and 16. 7. Exod. 14. 9. and in many other places. The Hebrews also say this was by the bread, upon the Table: *They set by the side of each row, ‹ϕ› sell wherein was an handful of frankincense, and the ‹ϕ› sell was called Bezik (a Cup or Vial.) So there were ‹ϕ› handfuls of frankincense, in two cups: and the cups ‹ϕ› verges, that they might rest upon the table. Maimonides in Tamidin, chap. 5. sect. 2. pure frankincense the Greek version addeth, and salt. By the law in Levite. 2. 13. every meat-offering was to have salt, see the annotations there. So of this, the Hebrew canons say, the frankincense was to have salt, as the other offerings. Maimonides in Tamidin, chap. 4. sect. 10. for the bread] or, to the bread, for a memor ‹...› : that is, the incense shall be burned on the altar, (and not the bread.) which shall be a memorial for the bread; as the handful of the Meat-offering with the oil and incense thereof, is called the memorial thereof, Lev. 2. 2. bringing to God's remembrance, his covenant with his people. The Greek translatheth thus; and the cakes shall be for a remembrance, set before the Lord. a Fire offering] in Chaldee, an oblation: for these cups of incense were by the Priests burned on the Altar unto God; to teach, that the twelve tribes of Israel (represente• by these 12. cakes of Shew bread,) were by ‹ϕ› in Christ, a sweet edour unto him. Wherefore the Church is said to be persumed with myrrh, and frankincense. Song 3. 6. And the prayers of the ‹ϕ›, (likened to incense, Rev. 5. 8.) are as a memors ‹...› a sweet smelling odour unto God: Acts 10. 4. Psalm 141. 2.*

Vers. 8. In the Sabbath day in the Sabbath day] that [unspec] is, In every Sabbath: the Greek translatheth, in the day of the sabbathes. he] that is, the Priest, meaning the Priests in their courses, as they ministered. The Levites assisted the Priests in the making and preparing of the Shew bread, 1 Chronicles 9. 32. and 23. 28. 29. But the Priests only might come into the Sanctuary, to set it on, and take it on the Table. And they when they were many, always ministered by course, Luke 1. 5. 9. (saving at the feasts,) and they entered upon their service, on the Sabbath, 2 Chron. 23. 4. They did this service, thus; *Four Priests went in, two of them h ‹...› their hands, the two rouse (of bread,) and two ‹ϕ› their hands, the two cups (of frankincense.) And before them, went in four (Priests,) two to take off the two rouse (of bread,) and two to take off the two ccups (of incense) which were there upon the table. They ‹ϕ› carried in, stood on the north side, with their ‹ϕ› towards the south: and they that carried out (the bread) stand on the south side, with their faces to the north. These took away, (the old bread,) and the other set on (the new:) and the hands of the one, were amidst the handsds of the other; [that is, when the one took off, the other set on,] as it is written, BEFORE MEE CONTINVALLY, (Exod. 25. 30.) They went out, and set the bread which they brought out, upon another golden table which was in the Portch (of Solomon's Temple,) and burned the cups (of frankincense,) and afterward divided the cakes. Maimonides in Tamidin, chap. 5. sect. 4. 5. from the sons] understand, receiving it; or, it being taken from the sons of Israel: for many such imperfect speeches are to be found, which sometime the Holy Ghost supplieth; as in a void place, 1 King. 22. 10. where is to be understood, sitting in a void place, as 2 Chron. 18. 9. So, burden, 2 Chron. 2. 18. implieth men that bare burden, 1 King. 5. 15. and many the like. See the notes on Exod 4. 5. and 13. 8. Now this was received from the sons of Israel,* in that it was bought with the money which the people gave, Nehem. 10. 32. 33. And it is the Hebrews opinion, that with the half shekels, which all the people gave yearly, for the service of the sanctuary, Exod. 30. 13. 16. they provided the daily sacrifices and offerings for the congregation, salt for the sacrifices, wood, incense, the show bread, the waved sheaf (or Omer, Levite. 23. 10. 11.) the two wave loaves, Levite. 23. 17. the red heifer, Numb. 19. the scape goat, Levite. 16. and the like. Maim. treat. of Shekels, c. 4. s. 1.

Vers. 9. for Aaron and for his sons,] that is, for the high Priest, and for the other Priests, such as did the service; that is, both the Priests that went out, and those that came in on the Sabbath, as before is noted on verse 8. And the Hebrew canons declare it thus; In the Sabbath when there are the daily sacrifices, and the additions, (Num. 28. 9. 10.) and the two cups of frankincense, (Levite. 24. 7.) to be burned; in the morning, the men of that fathers house (1 Chron. 23. 6. 11. 24.) of the charge (or course) that went-out, they offered the daily sacrifice of the morning, and the two lambs of Burnt-offering which were the additions, &c. and the other course that came in on the Sabbath, offered the daily sacrifice of the evening; and both these and the other, had their part in the Shew bread. And they did not eat the bread, until the two cups of frankincense were burned on the fire; and the frankincense was to have salt, as the other oblations. And after that they had offered the additions (of the Sabbath,) they burned the two cups of frankincense. And every Sabbath throughout the year, they parted the Shew bread thus; the course (of Priests) that came in, had six cakes; and they which went out, had six. They which came in, parted the bread among them, on the northside of the court,) because they were prepared to serve; and they that went out, parted on the south side. But when there was a feast day, of any of the three sol•mn feasts, on the Sabbath; likewise on the Sabbath that was in the midst of the feast, all the courses (of the Priests) had their parts equally in the Shew bread: &c. The high Priest, he always took from every course, half the cakes, which were his due; as it is written, AND IT SHALL BE, FOR AARON AND FOR HIS SONNES: (Levite. 24. 9.) half for Aaron, and half for his sons. Maimonides in Tamidin, chap. 4. sect. 9. 10. 11. 12. 14. in the holy place within the court of the Sanctuary, but without, they might not eat it. The Hebrews observe that there were Four and twenty gifts given unto the Priests, all of them expressed in the Law; and concerning them all, was the covenant made with Aaron. And whosoever did eat of a gift, wherein holiness was, they blessed (God) who sanctified them with the sanctity of Aaron, and commanded them to eat so and so. Eight of those gifts, the Priests might not eat of, but in the Sanctuary, within the walls of the Courtyard; and five gifts they might not eat but in Jerusalem, within the walls of the city. The eight which might not be eaten but in the sanctuary, were the flesh of the Sin-offering, were it fowl or beast; (Levite. 6. 26.) and the flesh of the Trespass-offering, (Levite. 7. 6.) and the Peace-offerings of the congregation, (Levite. 23. 19. 20.) and the remainder of the Sheafe or Omer, (Levite. 23. 10. 11.) and the remnant of the Israelites Meat-offerings, (Levite. 2. 3. 10.) and the two loaves, (Levite. 23. 20.) and the Shew bread, (Levite. 24. 9.) and the Lepers leg of oil, (Levite. 14. 10. 12. 13.) These might not be eaten, but in the Sanctuary. Maimonides treat. of First fruits, chap. 1. sect. 1. 2. 3. 4. Of all those gifts, see the annotations on Numb. 18.

Vers. 10. Israelitish] Heb. an Israelitess, which the Chaldee expoundeth a daughter of Israel: her name was Shelomith, verse. 11.

Vers. 11. blasphemed] the Greek here translatheth it, named; the Chaldee, expressed. The Hebrew Nakab, properly signifieth to pierce, or, strike through, Esa. 36. 6. Habbak. 3. 14. Whereupon it is figuratively used for cursing or blaspheming, Numb. 23. 13. 25. which is as a striking through with evil words. It is also used for express-naming of a thing, sometime in the good part, as Esa. 62. 2. and sometime in the evil, as the Greek and Chaldee interpret it, in this place. the Name] understand, of Jehovah, as verse 16. which is here omitted, for the more reverence, and because such wickedness as this; it is even a shame to speak, as Eph. 5. 12. 3. So elsewhere the scripture sometime omitteth the name of God, for reverence, as, the right hand of the power, Mark. 14. 62. for, the right hand of the power of God, Luk. 22. 69. and in common speech among the Jews, they used to say, the Blessed; for, (the blessed) God: Mark. 14. 61. Math. 26. 63. And when the High Priest heard words, which he thought to be blasphemy, he rent his clothes, Matth. 26. 65. according to a canon which they have, (recorded by Maimonides in his treat. of Idolatry, chap. 2. sect. 10.) thus; Whosoever heareth blasphemy of the Name, he is bound to rend (his clothes;) whether he himself heareth it, or heareth from the mouth of him that heard it, he is bound to rend (his clothes.) But he that heareth it from the mouth of an heathen, is not bound to rend (his clothes;) and Elinkim & Shebna had not rent (their clothes,) but for that Rabshakeh was an Apostate from the faith; (Esa. 36. 22.) they brought] either the witnesses which heard him, or the inferior Judges, who not knowing how to punish this man, brought him to Moses, according to the order set, in Exod. 18. 22. 26. ⟨◇⟩ Shelmoith] in Greek, Salomith, daughter of Dabrei: she being an Hebrewesse, had married an Egyptian while she dwelt in Egypt; whose son now blasphemed God.

Vers. 12. in ward] or, in prison. ⟨◇⟩ that he might declare] meaning, that Moses might declare, or, that it might be declared unto them. The Hebrew phrase to declare (or expound) may be expressed both these ways, as is noted on Gen. 6. 19. 20. The Chaldee explaineth it thus, until it was declared (or expressed) unto them, by the decree of the word of the Lord; to weet, what punishment the blasphemer should have: therefore the Greek translatheth, to judge him, by the commandment of the Lord. For as men judge not for man, but for the Lord, 2 Chron: 19. 6. so are they to judge, according to his judgments, Ezckiel 44. 24. which if they be not manifest, are to be inquired; the cause being brought unto God, Exod. 18. 19. So Moses did in other hard cases, Numb. 27. 1. •5. and 15. 34.

Vers. 14. out of the campe] or, to (a place) without the campe: because the campe of Israel was holy, and all unclean persons were to be put out of it, Num. 5. 2. 3. much more the flagitious. lay their hands] both to signify the truth of their testimony, and that his blood should be on his own head. We find not this rite of imposing hands, commanded for any other malefactors; and the Hebrews hold it to be peculiar unto this sin. All the witnesses and the Judges everyone lay their hands on the blasphemers head, and say unto him, Thy blood (be) upon thine head, for thou hast occasioned it unto thyself. And of all that are killed by the Synedron, there is none upon whom they impose hands, save the blasphemer only, (Levite. 24. 14.) Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, chap. 2. sect. 10.

Vers. 15. Anyman] or Every man: Hebr. Man man: which Targum Jonathan expoundeth young man or old man. Upon this particular occasion, a general law is here given, for punishing of blasphemers. bear his sin] that is, the punishment due for his sin.

Vers. 16. blasphemeth] in Chaldee, expresseth, in Greek, nameth: see verse. 11. ⟨◇⟩ name of Jehovah] Hereupon some of the Heb ewes gather, that the blasphemer is not to be stoned, unless he express that sacred name JEHOVAH, but the wiser of them justly mislike that restraint, though themselves do overmuch restrain it. There be some that expound it, that he is not guilty (of death) save for the name IHVH, that is, Jehovah:) but I say that for Adonai •Isa (that is, LORD) he is to be stoned; saith Maimonides treat, of Idolatry, chap. 2. sect. 7. And they are long since come unto this, that they hold the name of Jehovah unlawful to be pronounced in ⟨...⟩ ading of the scripture, or otherwise; except in the Sanctuary when the Priest blessed the people according to the Law in Numb. 6. 23. 27. there (they say) he pronounced the name as it is written with IHVH, but out of the Sanctuary they pronounced it Ad ⟨...⟩ : for they mentioned not the name as it is written, but in the Sanctuary only. And after that Simeon the just, was dead, the Priests ceased from blessing by the name as it is written (IHVH, though it were in the Sanctuary; to the end th ⟨...⟩ man should learn it, which was not of good esteem, ⟨◇⟩ meet (for to learn it.) And our first wife men, ⟨◇⟩ not learn it their disciples, or their children, ⟨◇⟩ were meet (or honest;) save once in seven ⟨◇⟩ Maimonides treat of Prayer, chapter 14. section 10. By this it appeareth, that this custom was taken up of themselves, not commanded of God: the sanctifying of whose name, standeth not in letters and syllables; but in faith and obedience, Numb. 20. 12. and 15. 30. See the annotations on Exod. 6. 3. and Numb. 6. blasphemeth the name] see verse 11. the Greek translath, nameth the name ⟨◇⟩ the Lord: meaning with blasphemy and cursing, as did this Egyptians son.

Vers. 17. shall smite] that is, as the Chaldee translath, shall kill. See the notes on Gen. 14. 17. soul] that is, life: see Gen. 19. 17. and 37. 21. and for putting murderers to death, see Exod. 21. 22. shall surely be put to death] or, shall be put to die the death; and Targum Jonathan explaineth it, ⟨◇⟩ be killed with the sword.

Vers. 18. the soul of a beast] that is, the life of it: which the Greek explaineth thus, he that sm ⟨...⟩ a beast and it die. soul for soul] or, life for l ⟨...⟩, that is, one living beast for another; as ox for ox, sheep for sheep, and the like.

Vers. 19. so shall it be done] by the Magistrate, according to the rigor of justice: except he buy it off with money. For unless it were mu ⟨...⟩, (which God forbade to be bought off with any ransom, Numb. 35. 31.) the Hebrews hold ⟨◇⟩ blemishes and hurts might be redeemed with money. Which seemeth also to be warrantable by the Law, in Exod. 21. 18. 19, And for that in some cases it could hardly be done, or not at all. For if a man had smitten his neighbor on the eye, and made him lose half or a fourth part of his sight, ⟨◇⟩ if a blind man had smitten out another man's eye. how should the like be done again unto him? The Hebrew canons say; He that hurteth his neighbor, is bound to pay unto him five things; to weet, ⟨◇⟩ his damage, and for the pain, and for his healing, ⟨◇⟩ for his resting (from his affairs,) and for the s ⟨...⟩ and these five things must all be recompensed with  $\langle\phi\rangle$  best of his goods. How for the damage? If he  $\langle\phi\rangle$  cut off his neighbours hand, or his foot; they look on him, as if he were a servant to be sold in the market, him much he was worth, and how much he is worth  $\langle\phi\rangle$ , and what is abated of his price, he must pay;  $\langle\phi\phi\rangle$ , EYE FOR EYE; which we have b  $\langle\dots\rangle$   $\langle\dots\rangle$  got to be meant of paying for it with his goods. That what is said in the Law, (Levite. 24. 20.) As he hath given a blemish upon a man, so shall it be given upon him  $\langle\phi\rangle$  not meant that he should be hurt, as his neighbor  $\langle\phi\rangle$  hurt, &c. Maimonides •om 4. in Chobel, chap. 1. sect. 1. 2. 3. See also the annotations on Exod. 21.

V. 10. Breach for breach] Targum Jonathan saith, The price of ba•ach, for breach, the price of an eye for  $\langle\phi\rangle$  eye, &c. As there are several sorts and degrees of hurts and blemishes, so were the penalties rated; which the Hebrews lay down thus; Her that cutteth off his neighbors hand or foot, or finger,  $\langle\phi\rangle$  smiteth out his eye, payeth the five things; for his damage, for his pain, for his healing, for his resting, and for his shame. If he smite him on the hand, and it swelleth, & after it prove well again, he payeth four things, for his pain for his healing, for his resting (from his work,) and for his shame. If he smite him on the head, and it swelleth; he payeth three things, for the pain, for the healing, and for the shame: If he smite him on a place which is not seen, as on his back, he payeth two things, for the pain, and for the healing. If he smite him with a cloth that is in his hand, or the like thing; he payeth one thing, for the shame only. So he that shaveth off the hair of his neighbors head, payeth but for the shame only; for it will grow again: &c. Maim. in Chobel, c. 2. s. 2. 4. upon a man] The Hebrew Adam, signifieth, man and woman, Gen. 5. 2. all man-kind, of what sort soever: and so this law extendeth to all, even the mean est. He that hurteth his own Hebrew servant, is bound to pay all five things (before mentioned) save for his resting. He that hurteth his neighbors Canaanitish (or heathenish) servant; payeth to his master, all the five things. He that hurts his neighbors Hebrew servant, is bound to pay all five, &c. He that burieth another man's wife, payeth for her resting, and for her healing, to her husband; and for the pain, to her self: and for the shame, and for the damage if it be to be seen, as if it be on her face, neck or hand; a third part is paid to her self, and two thirds to her husband: if the damage be on a secret place, a third part is paid to the husband, and two thirds to the wife. If an husband hurt his own wife, he is bound to pay unto her out of hand, all the damage, and all the shame, and the pain; and all is hers, her husband hath no fruit thereof. And if she will, she may give the price to another. And her husband is to heal her, as all sick persons are wont to be healed. It is unlawful for a man to hurt either himself, or his neighbor: and not he that hurteth-only, but whosoever smiteth a righteous man of Israel, either small or great, man or woman, by way of strife, bear •sgresseth against a prohibition for it is said (in  $\langle\phi\phi\rangle$  . 3.) he shall not add (or exceed) to smite him: if the law forbiddeth to add in smiting of a sinner, much more (it forbiddeth) to smite a just man. Though he do but lift up his hand against his neighbor, it is unlawful: and whosoever lifteth up his hand against his neighbor though he  $\langle\dots\rangle$  ite him not, he is a wicked man. Maimonides in Chobel, &c, chap. 4. sect. 10. &c. and chap.  $\langle\phi\rangle$  . 1. 2.

Vers. 21. that smiteth]. the Chaldee translateth, that killeth a beast: but it extendeth further, even to the-hurting or maiming of his neighbors beast, and consequently any other of his goods, according to the Law, Exod. 22. 5. 6. So the Hebrews expound this law, saying: He that doth d  $\langle\phi\rangle$  age to his neighbors goods, is bound to recompense the whole damage, whether he do it of ignorance, or against his will, i• is as if he did it presumptuously: as if he fall from the top of an house, or stumble ⌘ , and falleth on a vessel and breaketh it, he ⌘ ⌘ d, to pay the whole damage; as it is written, AND HEE THAT SMITETH A BEAST ⌘ LL RECOMPENCE (or PAY FOR) IT; the ⌘ ⌘ e putteth no difference, whether he do it ⌘ ⌘ y or presumptuously. And whether he kill his neighbors beast, or break his vessels, or rent his clothes, or cut down his plants; there is one law for all. But this is to be understood, if it be within the power (or liberties) of him that suffereth the damage: for if it be within the liberties of him that doth the damage, he is not bound to recompense, unless he do the damage presumptuously: but if he do it of ignorance, or being forced; he is discharged. Likewise if they be both of them within their liberties, or both of them out of their liberties; and the one doth damage against his will, to his neighbors goods, he is discharged. He that th ⌘ steth his neighbors beast into the water; or it is fallen in, and he will not suffer it to come up out of the water; till it die there; he is bound to recompense it and so in all like cases. Who-soever is the cause of doing damage to his neighbors goods, he is bound to recompense the whole damage, with the best of his substance, as others that do damages. Although he doth not this damage himself at last; forasmuch as he was the cause thereof at first he is bound to pay. Maimonides in Chobel, &c. ch. 6. sect. 1. 2. 3. 12. and ch. 7 sect. 7. smiteth a man] that is, killeth him, as verse. 17. so the Chaldee translatheth it killeth; and the Greek addeth, he that smiteth a man, and he die, shall be put to death.

Vers. 22. One judgment] that is, one manner of law and punishment. shall ye have] or, shall be to you as well the stranger] or as the stranger (the proselyte,) so shall the homeborne be.

Vers. 23. and stoned him] the Greek addeth, and all the congregation stoned him as verse. 14. Of the manner of stoning, which they used afterward in Israel, it is recorded in Talmud Bab. in Sanhedrin. ch. 6. and by Maimonides in Sanhedrin. chap. 15. that when they came within four cubits of the place of execution, they st ⌘ t him that was to be stoned, out of his clothes, and covered his naked-shame before him; and a woman was not stoned naked, but in one linen garment. The place of stoning was high, w ⌘ er he and the witnesses went up, and his hands were tied, and one of the witnesses stroke him behind on the loins; if he died not with that blow, there was a great stone so much as two men could bear, which the witnesses cast up• his ⌘ art; & if with that he died not all Israel threw stones upon him, as it is written The hand of the witnesses shall be first upon him, to put him to death; and afterward, the hand of all the people. De ⌘ 17. 7.

CHAP. XXV.

1, God commandeth that every seventh year should be a Sabbath and a year of rest to the Land of Canaan, 4. in which it might neither be tilled nor reaped, 6, and the fruits that grew of their own accord that year, were to be common for all. 8, The law for the Jubilee in the fiftieth year; for liberty to the inhabitants of the land, returning to their families and possessions, and rest unto the land. 14. Oppression may not be in selling of Possessions. 18, A blessing of obedience. 23, The manner of selling and redeeming lands. 29, of houses in walled cities, 31, and of houses in villages. 32, Of the houses and suburbs of the Levites, and the redemption of them. 35, Compassion of the poor. 39, The poor Hebrews might not be sold for bondmen: 43, nor ruled ever with rigor. 44, Bondmen were to be of the heathen. 47, The redemption of Hebrew servants out of strangers hands. 54, Their freedom at the Jubilee.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, in mount Sinai, saying. Speak unto the sons of Israel, and say unto them: When ye come into the land, which I give unto you: then shall the land rest, a Sabbath, unto Jehovah. Six years, thou shalt sow thy field; and six years, thou shalt prune thy vineyard: and shalt gather, the revenue thereof. And in the seventh year, shall be a Sabbath of sabbatism, unto the land; a Sabbath, for Jehovah: thou shalt not sow, thy field; nor prune, thy vineyard. That which groweth-of-it-own-accord of thy harvest, thou shalt not reap; and the grapes of thy separation, thou shalt not gather: it shall be unto the land, a year of sabbatism. And the Sabbath of the land, shall be unto you for meat, unto thee, and unto thy man servant, and unto thy woman servant: and unto thy hired servant, and unto thy sojourner; the strangers, that are with thee. And unto thy cattle; and unto the beast, that are in thy land: shall all the revenue thereof be, for to eat.

And thou shalt number unto thee seven Sabbaths of years; seven years, seven times: and the days of the seven Sabbaths of years, shall be unto thee, nine and forty years. And thou shalt cause-to-sound, the trumpet of loud sound, in the seventh month; in the tenth day of the month: in the day of Atonements, shall ye cause the trumpet to sound, throughout all your land. And ye shall sanctify, the year of fifty years; and proclaim liberty, throughout the land, unto all the inhabitants thereof: a Jubilee it shall be unto you; and ye shall return, every-man unto his possession; and every-man unto his family, shall return. A Jubilee shall it be, a year of fifty years, shall it be unto you: ye shall not sow; neither shall ye reap, that which groweth-of-it-self in it, neither shall ye gather the grapes, of the separations thereof. For, it is the Jubilee; holiness, shall it be unto you: out of the field, ye shall eat the revenue thereof. In this year of Jubilee; ye shall return, every-man unto his possession. And if ye sell a sale, unto thy neighbor; or buy, of thy neighbors hand: do not ye oppress, any man his brother. According to the number of years, after the Jubilee; thou shalt buy, of thy neighbor: according to the number of the years of the revenues, he shall sell unto thee. According to the multitude of years, thou shalt multiply the price thereof; and according to the diminution of years, thou shalt diminish the price thereof: for, (according to) the number of the revenues, doth he sell unto thee. And ye shall not oppress, any man his neighbor; but thou shalt fear thy God: for, I am Jehovah, your God. And ye shall do my statutes, [unspec] and keep my judgments, and do them: & ye shall dwell on the land, in confident-safety. And the land, shall give her fruit; and ye [unspec] shall eat, to the full: and dwell thereon, in confident-safety. And if ye shall say, what [unspec] shall we eat, in the seventh year? behold, we shall not sow; neither shall we gather our revenue. Then I will command my blessing [unspec] upon you, in the sixth year: and it shall bring forth revenue, for three years. And ye shall [unspec] sow, the eighth year: and shall eat, of the old revenue: until the ninth year, until her revenue come in, ye shall eat of the old. And [unspec] the land, shall not be sold forever; for the land is mine: for ye are strangers and sojourners, with me. And in all the land of your possession; ye shall grant a redemption, for the land.

If thy brother be waxen poor; and hath sold, some of his possession: then the redeemer thereof, he that is near unto him, shall come; and shall redeem, the sale of his brother. And a man, if he have not a redeemer: and his hand hath attained, and found sufficiency for the redemption thereof. Then he shall count, the years of the sale thereof; and restore the overplus, unto the man to whom he sold it: and he shall return, unto his possession. And if his hand find not sufficiency to restore unto him; then his sale shall be, in the hand of the buyer thereof, until the year of Jubilee: and it shall go-out, in the Jubilee: and he shall return, unto his possession.

And a man, if he sell a dwelling house, in a walled city; then the redemption thereof shall be, until the end of the year of the sale there of: a year of days, shall be the redemption thereof. And if it be not redeemed, until [unspec] a whole year be fulfilled thereto; then the house, which is in the city that hath not a wall, shall be confirmed forever, to him that bought it, throughout his generations: it shall not go-out, in the Jubilee. But the houses of the villages which have no wall, round-about; shall be every-one counted, as a field of the country: redemption shall be for it; in the Jubilee it shall go-out. And the cities of the Levites; the houses of the cities of their possession: a redemption ever, shall be to the Levites. And he which shall redeem, (shall be) of the Levites; and the sale of the house, and the city of his possession, shall go-out in the Jubilee: for the houses of the cities of the Levites, that is their possession; among the sons of Israel. And the field, of the suburbs of their cities, shall not be sold: for it is to them, a possession for ever.

And if thy brother be waxen poor; and his hand faileth, with thee: then thou shalt strengthen him; even the stranger and the sojourner, that he may live with thee. Take not thou of him, biting-usury or increase; but fear thy God: and let thy brother live with thee. Thy money, thou shalt not give unto him, upon biting-usury: not give him thy meat, upon increase. I, am Jehovah your God; which brought you forth, out of the land of Egypt: to give unto you, the land of Canaan; to be unto you, a God.

And if thy brothr be waxen-poor, with thee, and be sold unto thee: thou shalt not serve thyself with him, with the service of a servant. As an hired servant as a sojourner, he shall be with thee: unto the year of Jubilee, he shall serve with thee. And he shall go-out from with thee; he, and his sons with him: and shall return, unto his family; and unto the possession of his fathers, shall he return. For they are my servants; whom I brought, out of the land of Egypt: they shall not be sold, with the sale of a servant. Thou shalt not rule over him, with rigor: but shalt fear thy God. Both thy man-servant and thy woman-servant, which thou shalt have: (shall be) of the heathens, that are round-about you; of them shall ye buy, man-servant and woman-servant. And also, of the sons of the sojourners, that do sojourn with you, of them ye shall buy; and of their family, which are with you; which they beget, in your land: and they shall be to you, for a possession. And ye shall take them as an-inheritance for your sons after you, to inherit for a possession; forever, with them ye shall serve yourselves: but over your brethren, the sons of Israel, any-man over his brother; thou shalt not rule over him, with rigor.

And if the hand of the stranger and sojourner with thee, do attain; and thy brother be waxen-poor, by him: and be sold, unto the stranger the sojourner, with thee; or to the stock, of the strangers family. After that he is sold, a redemption shall be for him: one of his brethren, shall redeem him. Either his uncle, or his uncles son, shall redeem him; or any of the near-kin of his flesh, of his family, shall redeem him: or if his hand hath attained, then he shall redeem himself. And he shall count, with him that bought him; from the year, that he was sold to him; unto the year of Jubilee: and the money of his sale, shall be according to the number of years; as the days of an hired servant, shall he be with him. If there be yet many, of the years: according unto them, shall he restore his redemption; out of the money that he was bought for. And if there remain but a few, of the years, unto the year of Jubilee, when he hath counted with him: according to his years, he shall restore his redemption. As an hired-servant of the year, by the year, shall he be with him: he shall not rule over him with rigor, before thine eyes. And if he be not redeemed, by these: then he shall go-out, in the year of Jubilee, he, and his sons with him. For unto me, the sons of Israel are servants; they are my servants; whom I brought-forth, out of the land of Egypt: I am Jehovah your God.

Annotations.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 These letters signify the beginning of the two and thirtieth section, or lecture of the Law: see Gen. 6. 9.

IN mount Sinai] or, by the mount; that is, in the plain about it, where Israel camped still, Numb. 10. 11. 12. So Manasseh is said to be buried in his house, 2 Chro. 33. 20. when it was but in the garden of his house, 2 King. 21. 18. And here God beginneth to teach his people the profession and practice of their obedience unto him, in their land and possessions, sanctified by the Sabbaths & Iubilees. Which were a shadow of things to come, but the body is of Christ, Coloss. 2. 17. 12. Therefore these were the ordinances of mount Sinai, which brought forth children unto bondage: but we are come unto mount Zion, where the Lamb (Christ) standeth with his 144. thousand, that have his Fathers name written in their foreheads; and by faith do enter into his rest. Gal. 4. 25. Rev. 14. 1. Heb. 12. 22. and 4. 3.

Vers. 2. rest] or keep Sabbath. a Sabbath] or, a rest: the Chaldee calleth it a release or remission; which word Moses useth in Deut. 15. 1. This Law took place when they had possession of the land, which was conquered by Joshua in 7. years; so the eight year after Moses death, was the first to be reckoned towards the Sabbath year, and year of Jubilee; as appeareth by Ios. 14. 1. 2. 7. 10. &c. For Caleb was 40. years old when he was sent to view the land, in the second year after their coming out of Egypt, Numb 13. Deut. 1. and they were 38. years under Moses in the wilderness, Deut. 2. 14. and when Caleb was 85. years old, the land was given them for inheritance, Ios. 14. 7. 10. that in the 8. year of Joshua, they began the count; and the seventh year after was the first Sabbath year, and the fiftieth year after, the first Jubilee.

V. 3. the revenue] or, income, that is, the fruit, as the Greek translatheth. And under these principalls, all other work belonging to husbandry, is implied.

V. 4. Sabbath of sabbatism] that is, of rest: which two words signify an exact rest, as is noted on Exodus 16. 23. unto the land] which should have rest every seventh year, from being ploughed, digged, dounced, or manured; from being reaped, or mo 〈...〉 en, or the like. As the Sabbath day (wherein men rested) was to teach Israel that they themselves were the Lord's: so the Sabbath year was to teach that the land was the Lord's; therefore he addeth a Sabbath unto Jehovah, meaning unto his honor, and in sign of homage unto him; which the Chaldee translath a release before the Lord. The Sabbath day was a rest from their labors, laid upon man for sin, Gen. 3. 19. the Sabbath year was a rest for the ground, which for man's sin, God had cursed, Gen. 3. 17. In this year, at the feast of boothes, there was a solemn reading of God's Law, before all Israel, Deut 31. 10.—13. and at the end of this year, a release of debts, Deut. 15. 1. 2. &c. It was a figure of the Sabbath or rest, which Christ was to give unto his Church; of the understanding, which they should have in his Law; and the remission of their sins, (which were their debts, Mat. 6. 12. Luk. 11. 4.) when the time of grace, the acceptable year of the Lord should be proclaimed, Isaiah 61. 1. 2. Luke 4. 18. 19. &c. 1 Cor. 6. 2. Thus every seventh year, was for them to meditate of, and in faith to expect Christ; who is the true Noah, that giveth us comfort and rest from our work, and from the sorrow of our hands; because of the ground which the Lord hath cursed, Genesis 3. 17. prune] or, cut thy vineyard, meaning the superfluous branches of the vines, which the husbandman cutteth off, to make the trees more fruitful. Therefore to signify that God would leave the vine of his Church wast, he saith, it shall not be pruned, Esa. 5. 6. And under these, all other work of husbandry is forbidden. The Hebrew canons show it thus. *It is commanded to rest from tilling of the land, and dressing of trees, in the seventh year, Lev. 25. And who so doth work of tillage of land or trees, in that year, be frus•ateth a commandment, and transgresseth against a prohibition, Lev. 25. 4. They may not plant in the seventh (year) though they be trees that bear no fruit; nor cut off k•bs from the trees, nor brush off withered lea <...> boughs, nor bind up the branches, nor make a sm <...> under them to kill the worms, nor cover the pla••, with anything whrein dung is, that the fowls might not eat them when they are tendor, nor cover the <ϕ> fruits, &c: and so all other culture (or husbanaing) o• trees. For sowing or pruning, or reaping, or gatharing fruits this year, a man was to be beaten; whether they were the fruits of the vineyard, or of other trees; for other works not expressed in the Law, he was not beaten but chastised (or scourged.) He that pla <...> in the seventh year, either of ignorance, or presum <...> ously; (that which he planted) was plucked-up-by the roots. He that ploughed or dounced his ground in the seventh year; that it might be the fitter to sow whe• the seventh year was out, they amearsed him, & he might not sow it, at the going out of the seventh year. If he removed thorns, or gathered out stones, to fit it against the seventh year went out; for as much, as he <ϕ> that which was not lawful; he was amearsed: but •ee might sow it, at the going out of the year, &c. Maimonides tom. 3. in Jobel (or treat. of the Intermission <ϕ> Jubilee,) chap. 1. The outward rest of Israel from these laborious works, figured a better rest which all the people of God should have by Christ, ceasing from their own works, and doing the work of God, beleving in his Son, by whom they shall find rest unto their souls. Heb. 4. 9. 10. John. 6. 29. Mat. 11. 28. 20. Unless they did thus, the land enjoyed not her Sabbaths, Lev. 26. 34. 35.*

Ver. 5. That which groweth of it own accord] called in Hebrew, by one word, Saphiach: which is said to be All that the earth bringeth forth in the seve•• year, either of the seed which fell into it before the sev•• year, or of the roots which were reaped, and did grow and bear again. Maimonides in Jobel ch. 4. sect. 1. shall not reap] to weet, after the manner that they reaped every other year; he that so reaped it, was to be beaten, but he reaped a little at once, and did <ϕ> out, and eat it.

Maimonides ibidem ch. 4. sect. 1. of thy separation] which were separated and exempted from the owners, from salt and merchandise and by the word of God made free and common for all. The Greek translatheth of thy sanctifi ⟨...⟩, the Chaldee of thy leaving, that is, which thou art to leave in common. Or they may be so called, because the land and trees were to be left un ⟨...⟩ red and undressed, and so after a sort sepa ⟨...⟩ ō the owners care & husbandry. The Hebrews say, The seventh year is of more weight then the holy thing: for he that redeemeth an holy thing, it goeth out am•g the common things, and they take the price for ⟨...⟩ the seventh year, not so: for if one sell the fruits of the seventh year, they take the price, and make it as the fruits of the seventh year: and the fruits thems ⟨...⟩ (which were sold) are not profaned, or made as ⟨ϕ⟩ fruits of other years. Mat. in Iebel ch. 6. sect. 6.

Vers. 6. the Sabbath] that is, the fruits of the S ⟨...⟩ bath, to weet of the seventh year. for ⟨ϕ⟩ and for drink, and for anointing, and for suc•there uses as the creatures naturally served, ⟨ϕ⟩ men and beasts. But that which was for ⟨ϕ⟩ meat, the Hebrews say, might not be employed to other uses; nor sold as merchandise: see the ⟨...⟩ on Exod. 23. 11. thy sojourner] the stranger ⟨ϕ⟩, that dwelt in the land: and so in common for all in differently, the owner had no more right in it, then any other man; wherefore whosoe ⟨...⟩ locked up his vineyard, or hedged in his field in the seventh year, broke a commandment. And so if he gathered all his fruits into his house; but all was to be free, and every man's hand alike in every place. Maimonides in I•el ch. 4. sect. 24. But they might not carry the fruits out of the land, nor feed the heathens with them, nor ⟨...⟩ elings (of the heathens,) except they had agreed to find them meat: but strangers that were guests might eat of them. Maim. ibid. ch. 5. sect. 13.

Vers. 7. the beast] or, as the Greek translatheth, the wild beasts: under which the fowls also are comprehended. But the fruits which were properly m•s mea•, they might not feed cattle with them. Maimonides in Jobel, ch. 5. sect. 5. the revenue] or in-come, which properly is the fruit when it is ripe, and fit to be gathered into the barn. Whereupon the Hebrews say, they might not gather in the fruits of the seventh year, when they were unripe; they might eat a little of them in the field, before they were ripe, as they did others years, but not bring any to be eaten within their houses, till the season of the tithes. Maimonides ibid. chap. 5. sect. 15. for to ⟨ϕ⟩ ] for meat. From hence the Hebrews gather, that the fruits of the seventh year, might not be eaten (by men,) save so long as the same kind (of fruits) were found in the field: so long as the beast did eat of that kind, out of the field, thou mayest eat of it that is in the house. If it be all consumed for the beast, out of the field, a man is bound to put that kind (of meat) out of his house. And after the putting away, it is unlawful to be eaten, either of poor or rich, Maimonides in Jobel, ch. 7. sect. 1. This Sabbath or Rest of the Lord's land, and common participation of all the fruits thereof, prefigured the spiritual Rest of his Church which they enter into by the faith of Christ, Heb. 4. and the communion of all graces and good things; as the scriptures mention the common faith, Tit. 1. 4. the common salvation, Jude, ver. 3. and the communion of the mystery thereof, Ephes. 3. 9. whiles both Jews and Gentiles are fellow-heirs, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise of Christ by the Gospel, Ephes. 3. 6. Besides communion also in outward things, as need requireth; as when all that believed, were together, and had all things common; & sold their possessions & goods, and p 〈...〉 ed them to all men, as every man had need; and continuing daily with one accord in the Temple, and breaking bread from house to house, did eat their meat with gladness, and singleness of heart; and the multitude of them that believed, were of one heart, and of 〈 ϕ〉 soul; neither said any of them, that ought of the things which he possessed was his own, but they had all things common. Act. 2. 44. 45. 46. and 4. 32.

Vers. 8. thou shalt number] The Hebrews hold, that this commandment of numbering seven times seven years, and the commandment of sanctifying the fiftieth year, verse. 10. was given to the high Sy•drion (or great Senate of Israel) only: unto whom the care of proclaiming the •ubile and lib••ies of the same, did belong. Ma 〈...〉 . treat. of the Intermission and Jubilee, ch. 10. sect. 1. seven Sabbaths] in Greek, seven Rests: in Chaldee, sev 〈...〉 Releases (or Intermissions.) 49. years] which nine and fortieth year was the seventh rest or Sabbath year. And the beginning of this numbering, fell out in the 8. year of Joshua, as is shown before on verse. 2. but the Hebrews miss generally in this computation, saying that the beginning of this count, was fourteen years after they came into the land; for six years (were spent) in conquering the land, and seven years in parting of it. Mam. in Jobel. c. 10. s. 2. But this agreeth not with Calebs speech in Ios. 14. 7.—10. neither was the land so long inparting. Wherefore as they have missed of Christ, unto whō all their Sabbaths and Iubilees led them: so God hath given them over to miss in the computation of their Iubilees, whereby they are the more hardened in their error. Even the Stork in the heaven, knoweth her appointed times; and the Turtle, and the Crane, and the Swallow, observe the time of their coming: but the Jews know not the judgment of the LORD; Ier. 8. 7. O ye hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the sky, yet can ye not discern the signs of the times? Matt. 16. 3.

Vers. 9. shalt cause to sound] Hebrew shalt cause to pass: which word when it is used of sounds or voices, meaneth to proclaim, publish, or declare, 〈 ϕ〉 the Greek here translath it; so after, and in •zr. 1. 1. They caused the trumpet to pass throughout all the borders of Israel: saith Maim. in Jobel ch. 10. sect. 10. the trumpet] or, the cor•t: see •ev. 23 24. The trumpet of the Jubilee, and of the beginning of the year, is one, in every respect. Maim. in Jobel, ch. 10. sect. 11. and Talmud in Rosh hasshanath, chap. 3. of loud-sound] or of alarm, as is Englished in Numb. 10. 5. See the notes on Lev. 23. 14. It is commanded to blow with the trumpet, in the tenth (day) of Tisri (that is Sebtember,) in the year of Jubilee, and this commandment is given to the Synedrion first, as it is written, And thou shalt cause to sound, &c. and every particular person is bound to blow, as it is written, ye shall cause the trumpet to sound; &c. Maimonides ibidem ch. 13. sect. 10. This blowing with trumpets, figured the preaching of the Gospel, Luk. 4. 18. 19. as is shown also on Levite. 23. day of Atonements] or of expiation, which was the Fasting day, when the whole Church every year afflicted their souls, and the high priest made atonement for them in the most holy place, Lev. 16. ch. & 23. 27. And though the year began ten days before, (the first of the month,) yet as our spiritual bondage was not done away, but by the atonemēt made through the death of Christ, Heb. 2. 14. 15. so neither was the type hereof performed in Israel till the day of Atonement. The Hebrews say, From the beginning of the year until the day of Atonement, the servants were not released unto their own houses, nor from being in servitude to their masters: Neither were the fields returned to their owners: but the servants did eat and drink, and rejoice, & wear crowns (or garlands) upon their heads. When the day of Atonement came, the Magistrates (the Synedrion) blew the trumpet, the servants were released to their own houses, and the lands returned to their owners. Maimonides in Jobel, ch. 10. sect. 14.

Vers. 10. the year of fifty years] an Hebrew Phrase, meaning the year even the fiftieth year: so that they miss which count every nine and fortieth year to be the Jubilee: that was the seventh seven, the ordinary Sabbath and year of Rest, and the year following, was the Jubilee, even the fiftieth, so two holy years came together. Thus the Hebrew canons declare it; The year of Jubilee cometh not in the count of the years of the seven; but the nine and fortieth year is the Release, and the fiftieth year the Jubilee; and the one and fiftieth year beginneth the six years of the Seven (following:) and so in every Jubilee. Maimonides in Jobel, ch. 10. sect. 7. And again, The nine and fortieth year it self, is the (year of) Release: and after it is the Jubilee, in the fiftieth year. R. Menachem on Lev. 25. proclaim liberty] for Hebrew servants, from their Masters, Ier. 34. 8. 9. Such as went not out at the seventh year of their servitude, but were bored through the ear to serve forever, went out at the Jubilee; for then their ever was at an end, as is noted on Exod. 21. 2. 6. & as after followeth in this chap. v. 39. 40. 41. Wherefore the other legal ordinances which are commanded to be kept forever, had also their end at the Jubilee of the Gospel, as the Apostle showeth, Heb. 9. 9. 10. 11. Colos. 2. 14. 16. 17. And the Jews which urge the observation of them, may be answered from their own writers. It is a known thing, that this word (legnolam) For ever, is sometime spoken of a time determined, as, He shall serve him forever, (Exod. 21. 6.) that is to say, unto the ever of the Jubilee. And sometime it is spoken of length of days, without knowledge of their limit, but yet they have a limit and an end; as, Let King David live forever, (1 King. 1. 31.) And sometimes it is spoken of a time which hath none end, as, The Lord shall reign forever and aye, (Psal. 10. 16.) saith R. Menachem on Lev. 25. This year of liberty, figured the year of grace by Christ, who dying in the last Jubilee that ever the land had, did deliver them who through fear of death, were all their life time subject to bondage, Heb. 2. 14. 15. such as were the servants of sin, whom the Son making free, they are free in deed, John 4. 34. 36. Of this time of grace Christ prophesying, calleth it the yere of his redeemed, Isaiah 63. 4. and the acceptable year of the LORD, Isaiah 61. 2. And the Apostle exhorting us, that we receive not the grace of God in vain, saith, Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation, 2 Cor. 6. 1. 2. a Jubilee] in Hebrew Jobel, which the Chaldee calleth Iobela; the Greek here interpreteth it, a year of remission of signification. In Ezek. 46. 17. it is called the year of liberty. The Hebrews some of them think it hath the name (from the Arabike) of a rams horn, whereof the Cornets sounded this year, were made: so the trumpets of Iobelim, in Ios. 6. 4. are in Chaldee expounded, trumpets of rams horn. But the Hebrew word signifieth neither ram, nor horn, but hath the name of carrying, or leading-alōg, Job 10. 19. and 21. 32. Psal. 60. 11. whereupon Iuball is a stream, or water course, that runneth along, and carrieth things with it, Ier. 17. 8. Isaiah 44. 4. And thus R. Menachem, (on Lev. 25.) and the Zohar, derive the name Jobel, from Iubal: Streame, or water-course, according to that phrase in Ier. 17. 8. It seemeth also to have the name of the long-sound of the trumpet; as in Exod. 19. 13. Jobel is the sound of the trumpet: and because this year was joyful to servants and poor people; of the joyful shout which they made, and sound of trumpets, the Latins have borrowed the word Jubilee, which is to make a joyful shout. And in mystery, the Jubilee is so named, as carrying men to Christ, by whose redemption all the faithful have cause to shout and rejoice. When he sounded the Trompet of his Gospel, (as God hath sent him to preach the Gospel to the poor, to preach deliver a ⟨...⟩ to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised, to preach the acceptable year of the Lord.) then he said, This day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears; and all bare him witness, and wondered at the gracious words which proceeded out of his mouth, Luk. 4. 18.—22. his possession] his tenement, meaning lands and houses which had been sold, and now must be returned to the first owners: a figure of our restoring by Christ into Paradise: the possession whereof, Adam lost by sin: Gen. 3. Luk. 23. 43. So there were three things especial unto this year; the sounding of trumpets, the freedom of servants, and the restoring of lands or tenements: but the resting of the land was one with the seventh years rest, verse. 4. 11. And here note the accord and the difference between the Sabbath (or seventh) year, and the Jubilee, which the Hebrews lay, down thus: The Law of the Jubilee for the resting of the land, and the Law of the year of Release, is one in every respect. Whatsoever is forbidden in the sevēth year concerning the tilling of the land, is forbiaden in the year of Jubilee: and whatsoever is lawful in ⟨ϕ⟩ *seventh year, is lawful in the Jubilee: & that work for which they are beaten if they do it in the seventh year they are beaten for the same in the Jubilee. And the Law for the fruits of the year of Jubilee, concerning eating, or selling, or putting them away, is as the law for the fruits of the seventh year in every respect. The seventh year is above the Jubilee, in that the seventh year releaseth (debts of) money, (Deut. 15. 1. ⟨ϕ⟩ .) which the Jubilee doth not: and the Jubilee is above the seventh year, in that the Jubilee letteth servants go out (free,) and releaseth lands, [which the seventh year doth not.] Lev. 25. 24. The Jubilee releaseth lands, in the beginning of the same: but the seventh year releaseth not monies, till the end of the same, (Deut. 15. 1.) Maim, in Jobel, chap. 10. sect. 15. 16. Further, from these words, ye shall return every man, &c. they gather, that he which gave his field f ⟨...⟩ a gift (though he sold it not,) yet it was restored ⟨ϕ⟩ him in the year of Jubilee: Maim. ibid. ch. 11. s. 19. his family] from which he was departed whiles through poverty he was sold unto another family, verse. 39. 40. 41. It figured our returning unto God the Father, through our Lord Jesus Christ; of whom the whole family in heaven and e ⟨...⟩ is named, Eph. 3. 15.*

Vers. 11. A Jubilee shall it be] or, That Jubilee, ⟨ϕ⟩ be unto you, the year of fifty years; that is, even in the fiftieth year. The Greek translatheth it, (A year) of remission of signification shall it be unto you; the fiftieth year shall the year be unto you. of the separations thereof] which the Greek calleth the sanctified fruits thereof. They were separated from the owners, and sanctified of God to be common for all; like the fruits of the seventh year, as before is noted. See verse 4. 5. 7.

Vers. 12. it is the Jubilee] in Greek, it is the signification of remission. holiness] that is, a most holy year, to be hallowed or sanctified unto the Lord, by the obedience of these his precepts, & meditation of a better rest, freedom & holiness, w<sup>ch</sup> should be obtained by Christ, in the acceptable year of the Lord, Luk. 4. 18. 19. 21. out of the field] and not out of the barn; see the notes on ver. 5. and on Exodus 23. 11. By this, God also led them to depend upon him for their daily bread, and not to care for the morrow, Mat. 6. 31. 34. and to w•ane them from the world, that they that buy, may be as though they possessed not, and they that use this world, as though they used it not, 1 Cor. 7. 30 31.

Vers. 14. if ye sell] that is, if any of you: the Greek for more plainness, changeth the number, if thou sell: so after, the Greek saith oppress (or ⟨...⟩ ing) not thou. not oppress] or, not vex, not make a prey. This Moses here and in the next verse show•l to concern both buyer and seller: so that if a man sold too dear, the buyer was oppressed; and if a man bought a thing too cheap, the seller was oppressed.

V. 15. According to] or By the number of years: which two phrases do explain one another, and are used sometime indifferently: as In (or by) the word of Gad, 1 Chron. 21. 19. is by another Prophet set down, According to the word of Gad, 2 Sam. 24. 19. And so the Greek translateth it here, According to. So after, in verse. 50. and in Numb. 14. 34. years of the revenues] that is, of the fruits: so that the land properly was not sold, but the fruits thereof, v. 16. See after on verse. 23 25. From this word years, the Hebrews gather, that Who so selleth his field, he cannot redeem it till after two years, because it is said, according to the number of the years of the revenues, he shall sell unto thee. Yea though he that bought it would consent, yet he may not: till after two years from the sale thereof. And the buyer must eat two revenues of two years, and afterward it may be redeemed. Therefore if the seventh year be one of the two years, or if it be a year of blasting or mildew, it is not reckoned in the number. And if he buy it one year before the Jubilee, he eateth of it the second year after the Jubilee; for it is written, THE YEERES OF THE REVENUES. Maimonides in Jobel, chap. 11. sect. 9. 10. 12.

Vers. 16. the number of the revenues] that is, according to the number of years of the revenues: as verse ⟨◇⟩ .

Verse. 17. fear thy God] by abstaining from this evil, and doing the contrary good; for; by the fear [unspec] of the Lord, men depart from evil, Prov. 16. 6. and whereas it is said, in 1 King. 8. 40 that they may fear ⟨...⟩ as long as they live: another Prophet openeth •t thus, that they may fear thee, and walk in thy ways as long as they live: 2 Chro. 6. 31. But the want of the fear of God, is the fountain of evil deeds, Deut. 25. 18. Psal. 36. 2. Rom. 3. 18. So Nehemiah's blaming cruelty in the Jews towards their brethren, said, Ought ye not to walk in the fear of our God? Neh. 5. 9.

V. 18. my statutes] the Gr. addeth, all my st ⟨...⟩ tes and all my judgments: which addition is here implied, as elsewhere the Holy Ghost explain•h him-self: for, to stablish the words of the Law: D ⟨...⟩ ⟨◇⟩ . 26. meaneth all things written in the bo•ke o ⟨...⟩ Law, Gal. 3. 10. and They did eat, Luk 9. 17. M•r 7. 8. is expounded, They did all eat, Mat. 14. 20. and 15. 37. & many the like. See the notes on Ex. 25. 40 in confident-safety] or, with boldness and security. The original word signifieth both the confidence or boldness which men that trust in God, and walk in his ways, have within themselves, and the safety and secure estate, wherein God serreth them; frō danger of evil. This promise is often renewed; as in Lev. 26. 5. Deut. 12. 28. & 23. 12. 28 Prov 1. 33. Ezek. 28 26. & 34. 27. 28. and under this promi•e, eternal life is figured; as is shown on Gen. 12. 5.

Vers. 19. give] or yield her fruit: which was a sign of God's blessing, Lev. 26. 3. 4. Psalm 67. <◇ > 7. and a figure of heavenly blessings in Christ, Isaiah 45. 8. Psal. 85. 11. 12. 13. Ezek 34 26. 27. eat to the full] or, eat unto satie••e: see the notes on Lev. 26. 5.

Vers. 20. behold we shall not sow] the Greek <...> teth it, if we sow not, nor gather, &c. This saying or thought of theirs, God approveth not o•: for he teacheth men, by the s•wles of the air, and lilies of the field, to take no thought, what to eat or drink, or wherewith to be clothed, Matt. 6. 25. 26. &c. But preventeth the objection of human infirmity, by promise of extraordinary blessing, to them that obey his Law. The like he doth in Exodus 34. 23. 24. about their going up to this solemn feasts; and in Mitthew 6. 33. to all that seek his kingdom and righteousness.

Verse 21. will command] that is, will powerfully send: as the Greek interpreteth, I will send: but it noteth the power and efficacy of God's word, who sendeth his edict upon earth, and his word runneth very swiftly, Psalm 147. 15. So Moses again speaketh of commanding the blessing, Deuteronomy 28 8. and David, in Psalm 133. 3. and of commanding salvation, Psalm 44. 5. and 71. 3. of commanding strength, Psalm 68. 29. and other things, which he effectually pr•••eth and causeth to come to pass, 2 Samuel 17. 14.

Verse 22. ye shall eat] This promise of blessings and the fruition of them, was to encourage them in obedience to God's Law; for godliness is profitable unto all things; having promise of the life which now is, and of that which is to come, 1 Timothy 4. 8. And God is able to make all grace abound towards us, that we always having all-sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work. And he that ministereth seed to the sower; will both minister bread for your food, and multiply our seed sown, and increase the fruits of our righteousness, 2 Cor. 9. 8. 10.

Vers. 23. forever] or absolutely, precisely: Hebrew to binding-fast; meaning unto the buyer, as ver. 30. and this the Greek version favoereth, translating, unto confirmation; that is, to be firm and fast unto him that bought it, as his own forever. And as the original word is sometime used for cutting off, so it may here be Englished; and then it meaneth, it should not be sold so as to be cut off from redemption, (as verse. 24.) or to be absolutely cut-off from the first owner. The Chaldee translateth, absolutely or properly, for the propriety of him that buyeth the same. Hereupon Naboth would not sell his inheritance to the King, 1 King, 21. 3. See also Ezek. 48. 14 where the oblation of land given to the Priests and Levites, they might not sell it, neither exchange, nor alienate the first fruits of the land: because it was holy, unto the LORD. is mine] Though the whole earth be the Lord's, and the plenty thereof, Psal. 24. 1. yet the land of Canaan was his in more special manner, (even as Israel to whom he gave it, was his peculiar people above others, Exod. 19. 5.) because he had sanctified it to be the inheritance of his Church here on earth, Gen. 12. 7. and a figure of the inheritance of his saints in heaven, Hebrews 11. 9. 10. Therefore it is called THE LORD'S land, Hos. 9. 3. and Immanuels (that is, Christ's) land, Isaiah 8. 8. and the holy land, Zach. 2. 12. and so being God's, men had no right to sell it; and it taught them, that the gift of God may not be purchased with money, Act. 8. 20. and that the heavenly heritage which he hath prepared for his in Christ, cannot be alienated from them; but is surely confirmed in his blood, and reserved in heaven for them; unto which they shall return at the great Jubilee of his second appearing, when the trumpet of God shall sound, Rom. 8. 38. 39. John 10. 28. 29. 1 Pet. 1. 4. 5. 1 Thes. 4. 16. 17. sojourners with me] that is, as the Greek and Chaldee expound it, before me. Thus David professed, I am a stranger with thee, a sojourner as all my fathers, Psalm 39. 13. and so he speaketh of all I•rael, in 1 Chron. 29. 15. (where in stead of with thee, he saith before thee.) So that as the heathens that became proselytes, had no inheritance in the land, but dwelt therein as sojourners, so was Israel in the sight of God. Hereby he taught them, to desire and seek a better country, that is, an heavenly; where there remaineth a rest for the people of God: Heb. 11. 13. 14. 16. 9. 10. and 4. 8. 9. See the annotations on Gen. 12. 5. and 13. 15. Some understand this with me, as if the Lord himself were but as a sojourner in this world, and his people with him; whereupon R. Menachem, (on this place) bringeth an exposition of more ancient Doctors thus: For ye are strangers and sojourners with me; it is enough for the servant, that he be as his master. This may have use, if it be referred unto Christ, and his sojourning here in our flesh; who also himself used this proverb unto his, saying, It is enough for the disciple, that he be as his master; and the servant, as his Lord, &c. Mat. 10. 25

Vers. 24. grant] or give a redemption, that is, suffer it to be redeemed; (for giving, is often used for [unspec] suffering, as is noted on Gen. 20. 6.) And this redemption, is by the year of Jubilee, when every man was to let the land return to the owner, as being redeemed for him by the Lord. Of men's redeeming their lands by money, &c. he speaketh afterward. Hereupon the Hebrew canons say, the land of Israel, which was parted among the tribes, may not be sold forever, Lev. 25. 23. And if a man selleth forever, both of them [the seller and the buyer] do transgress against a prohibition: and it availeth them nothing; for in the Jubilee, the land returneth to the owner thereof. The Jubilee is above the seventh year, for that the Jubilee letteth servants go out free, and releaseth land: and this is the right of the sale of fields, spoken of in the law, and is a thing commanded, as it is written, YE SHALL GRANT A REDEMPTIO• FOR THE LAND. Maimonides in Jobel, chap. 11. sect. 1. and chap. 10. sect. 16. This figured the land and state of grace, which all God's people by the Jubilee of the Gospel do return unto by repentance and faith in Christ, though by their former sins, they have for a time deprived themselves of their inheritance in his Church, 2 Cor. 2. 7. 8. 1 John 1. 9.

V. 25. waxen-poor] or brought low, as the Greek [unspec] translatheth it in v. 39. though here both the Greek and Chaldee expound it waxen poor. Hereupon the Hebrew canons say, A man may sell his house, or field of his possession, (although they return again unto him after the time,) unless he be a poor man, Lev. 25. 25. But sell them for to put the 〈...〉 ony in his purse, or to make merchandise with it, or to get vessels, or servants, or beasts therewith, he may not; save for food only. Yet if he transgress and sell, the sale notwithstanding is confirmed. Maim. in Jobel, c. 11. s. 3. the redeemer] the Hebrew Goel, is also a kinsman, Numb. 5. 8. Ruth 3. 9. unto whom the right or redeeming lands, houses, or persons doth belong, & also theavenging of their blood (if they be slain) Num. 35. 10. Which kinsman, in this work of redemption, was often a figure of Christ, who being near unto us, and allied in the flesh (in that he rock part of the same flesh and blood with us, Heb. 2. 14.) is called our Goel, that is, Redeemer or Deliverer: as, the Redeemer shall come to (and out of Zion: Isaiah 59. 20. Romans 26. And he it is, that hath redeemed us, & our heavenly inheritance unto us in our low depressed and poor estate, Hos. 13. 14. 1 Thes. 1.

10 2 Cor. 8. 9. Rom. 5. 6. 8. 10. The Hebrews in Tan•huma upon this place, say, the Redeemer thereof, this is the holy blessed (God) as it is said (in Jer. 30. 34.) their redeemer is strong, the Lord of hosts is his name, &c. he that is  $\langle \phi \rangle$  unto him, this is the holy blessed (God) as it is said (in Psal. 148. 14.) a people near him. Thus they saw somewhat a far off; though their eyes are darkened, that they cannot perceive how God was in Christ our redeemer, whom they crucified. near unto him] or next, to weat, in blood: as Lev. •1. 2. 3. Num. 27. 11. the sale of his brother] that w  $\langle$  ... $\rangle$  his brother hath sold. This duty of the natural kinsman, shadowed the duty of love which all Christians should show one to another, by spiritual alliance; in helping to recover them that are occasionally fallen, and restoring them with the spirit of •ecknes, Gal. 6. 1. 2. 1 John. 5. 16.

Vers. 26. hath attained] in Greek, aboundeth, or,  $\langle \phi \rangle$  ; which word is used in Act. 11. 29. every man according to his ability. From hence the Hebrews conclude, that a man must redeem it with his own; for if he borroweth (of another,) to redeem it with all; they hearken not unto him. Maim. in Jobel, c. 11. s. 17. found sufficiency for] or, even the sufficiency of theredemption. This the Hebrews understand to be of such things as he hath gotten after the sale; wherefore they say, He that selleth a field of his possession, and hath hath other fields, and selleth of them fields, enough to redeem the field which he sold; they hearken not unto him: for it is written, AND FOVND SVFFICIENCY FOR THE REDEMPTION, that is, when he hath found something, which was not found with him, at the time of the sale. Maimonides ibid. ch. 11. s. 17.

V. 27. restore the overplus] The Hebrews explain it thus; As if there remain unto the Jubilee ten years, and he selleth him his field for an hundred crowns, & e that bought it, hath eaten of (the fruits) of it three year, and then the seller would redeem it, he is to give •0. crowns, and the other is to restore him his field. And so if he have eaten of it six years, he is to give him forty (crowns) and the other restoreth him the field. If he redeem it not, but leave it in the hand of him that bought it, until the year of Jubilee; then it returneth to the (first) owner, without price. Maimonides in Jobel, ch. 11. sect. 5.

Vers. 28. the Jubilee] in Greek, the Remission. to his possession] that is, to his land, but trees and the like, are by the Hebrews excepted. If a man sell trees; he cannot redeem them before two years, [as is before noted on verse. 15.] and if he do not redeem them, they return not to the owner, in the Jubilee: for it is written, HE SHALL RETVRNE to his possession, he saith not to the trees. Maimonides in Jobel, ch. 11. sect. 14. See more in Lev. 27. This returning of the poor to their possessions, figured the grace of God toward us in Christ, whereby we are restored into his favor, and shall be to his heavenly inheritance, Col. 1. 12. 13. 14. and 3. 24. Ephes. 1. 10. 11. 18. 1 Pet. 1. 4. compared with Isaiah 60. 2•. and 61. 7. and 65. 9. Contrariwise it was a sign of wrath, when God threatened, the seller shall  $\langle \phi \rangle$  return to that which is sold, Ezek. 7. 13.

Vers. 29. a walled city] Hebrew, city of wall, which the Greek explaineth walled; the Chaldee, compassed with a wall, the end] or, the perfection, the whole accomplishment of the year; in Greek, till the year be fulfilled; meaning, that it might be redeemed by the owner any time within the year; but not after. days] understand, a year of days, as the Hebrew sometime expresseth, Gen. 41. 1. meaning an whole or perfect year, (as the next verse showeth,) which consisteth of 365. days and six hours. Thus the sale and redemption of houses, differed from lands; w<sup>ch</sup> in the Hebrew canons is explained thus. He that selleth an house within a city compassed with a wall, he may redeem it all a twelve months (space) from the day that he sold it, at any time that he pleaseth, yea though it be the same day that be sold it. And when he pleaseth to redeem it, he giveth all the price which be took. and abateth nothing to him that bought it. And his near kinne may not redeem it [as they might do his land, verse 25.] but the seller himself, if his hand can attain is it; and he may sell his goods to redeem it: but he may not borrow, and redeem it therewith. If he that bought it be dead, he may redeem it out of the hand of his son: so if he that sold it, be dead; his son may redeem it all the twelve months. If the 12. months be out, and it is not redeemed: then it is absolutely confirmed in the hand of him that bought it. And so if he gave his house for a gift, and redeemed it not within twelve months, it is absolutely his to whom he gave it. If it be leapeyeere, [that is, a year of thirteen months, as the Hebrews had two Adars or Februaries, by reason of odd days:] it is not absolutely made away till the end thereof, as it is written. TILL A WHOLE YEERE BE FVLILLED. Lev. 25. 30. to imply the month that is overplus. If the twelve month day become, and he cannot be found that bought it, that it may be redeemed from him: then (the owner) leaveth the money with the Synedrion, and breaks open the door, and goeth into his house; and when he comes that bought it, he goeth (to the Synedrion,) and taketh his m<sup>o</sup>ny. Ma<sup>o</sup>money in Jobel, ch. 12. sect. 1.—7.

Vers. 30. hath not a wall] this because it seemeth contrary to the former, is written and noted in the Hebrew margin to be read, hath a wall; there being in the letters a difference, but not in the pronunciation; as the like hath been before in Exod. 21. 8. Lev. 11. 21. The Greek and Chaldee also translate, hath a wall, and that the meaning is so, the words foregoing show. Yet is not the text corrupted, (as is observed from the Hebrews in Exodus 21. 8.) but it seemeth, may thus be reconciled; that if it were in a city which sometimes had a wall, but for the present had none, or very ruinous (as was the case of Jerusalem, 2 King. 25. 10.) then the order here set, should stand for the sale of the house. And here I will add what the Hebrews write concerning this: *The city which was not compassed with a wall, at the time when Joshua conquered the land; though it be walled now, yet it is like the houses of the villages: and the city which was compassed with a wall in Joshua's days, though it be not walled now, yet it is as if it were walled. And when they went into captivity, at the first desolation (of the Temple, 2 Kings 25.) the holiness of the walled Cities which had been in Joshua's time, ceased: when Ezra came up, at the second coming into the land. (Ezra 1.) all the walled Cities were sanctified at that time; because their coming in in the days of Ezra, which was the second coming, was at their coming in in the days of Joshua: &c. Maimonides in Jobel, chap. 12. sect. 15. forever] or, to the cutting off of all redemption; the Greek translateth, firmly, the Chaldee absolutely: see verse 23. And as this is expressly spoken of the house, so the Hebrews say, that *gardens, and bathes to wash in, and dovehouses, which were within the walls of the city, these were as the houses: but fields if any were within the city, were to be redeemed as fields that were without the city. So for Jerusalem; they say, no house might be absolutely sold in it: likewise, that an house built upon the wall; [as was Rahabs, Ios. 2. 25.] was not as the (other) houses of a walled city. Maim. in Jobel, c. 12. s. 11. in the Jubilee] Greek, in the remission. Likewise, if one sold an house in a walled city, and the Jubilee came within the year of the sale, it was not returned in the Jubilee; but remained in the hand of him that purchased it; till it pleased the seller to redeem it all the year of the sale, or that the year were fulfilled, and so it was absolutely gone. Maim. in Jobel. ch. 12. sect. 9.

Vers. 31. villages] or, open-places; the word is elsewhere used for Courtyards. no wall-round-about] meaning a wall properly, of earth, stone or the like. For, a city that had the gardens thereof for a wall, or that had the Sea for a wall, was not (counted) a walled city. No place was called a walled city, till it had in it three villages (or courtyards) or moe; and in every of those villages, two houses or moe; and it were compassed with a wall at first, and afterward they built villages within it. But a place that was first inhabited, and afterward walled about; or wherein there were not three villages with two houses in every of them, it was not a walled city; but the houses therein, where as the houses of the villages. Maimonides in Jobel, chap. 12. sect. 13. 14. redemption shall be to it] that is, it may be redeemed at any time, at the fields before mentioned; or it may be redeemed as the houses forementioned. Both are shown by the Hebrews thus; *He that selleth any house in the villages, or in a city which hath no wall, as is meet for it; it may be redeemed as liketh him best, according to the law of the field, or according to the Law of the house in a walled city. As, if he will redeem it out of hand, he may redeem it according to the law for houses: [that is, without abating anything to him that bought it.] If the 12. months be expired, and he hath not redeemed it; loe he may redeem it till the year of Jubilee, according to the law for fields. And when he redeemeth it, he is to count with him that bought it, and abate unto him, for the time that he enjoyed it. If the Jubilee come, and he hath not redeemed it: the house returneth (to the owner) without price, after the manner that fields do. Maimonides in Jobel, ch. 12. sect. 10.*

Vers. 32. of the Levites] which were the six cities of Refuge, & forty two cities moe, (48. in all,) given them to dwell in, and the suburbs of them, for to feed their cattle, Num. 35. Ios. 22. a redemption ever] that is, they may ever (or at any time) be redeemed by the Levites: to the Greek explaineth it. And the Hebrews say, *The Priests and Levites may redeem their houses in walled cities, at any time when they please, though it be after many years. Maim. in Jobel, ch. 13. sect. 7. shall be to the Levites*] This caution respecteth the possessions which the Levites enjoyed in their cities; and so doth that which followeth in verse. 33. that the redeemer must be of the Levites. Wherefore the Hebrews have this rule: *An Israelite which is heir to his mothers father a Levite, he redeemeth as the Levites do, though he be not a Levite; yet sieing the cities or fields are the Levites, he may redeem (at any time) forever. For this right dependeth upon those places, and not upon the owners. And a Levite which is heir to his mothers father an Israelite; he redeemeth as an Israelite, and not as the Levites do: for it is not said that the Levites may redeem at any time forever, but in the cities of the Levites. Maimonides in Jobel, chap. 13. sect. 8. 9.*

Vers. 33. redeem, of the Levites] understood, ⟨ϕ⟩ shall be of the Levites, and it shall not be redeemed by other Israelites. Some take redeeming here, for buying or purchasing: though I find not the word so to mean, any other where. the sale of the house] that is, the house which is sold, as verse. 28. and the city] the Greek translateth, and the sale of the houses of the city of their possession, shall got out: and so it agreeth with the reason following. shall go out] unto the first owner, as ver. 28. out of the hands of any Israelite that had bought it, or of any other Levite that had redeemed it. their possession] whereas the Levites might have no part in the spoils of the heathens that were conquered, not inheritance in the houses and lands which were divided to the other Israelites, Deut. 18. 1. God gave them cities and suburbs, for them and their cattle, which was all the possession they had: therefore he confirmed this gift unto them, with a stricter law both for sale and redemption, then the Israelites had for their possessions.

Ver. 34. the field] that is, the fields: as the Greek translath. of the suburbs] which we three thousand cubits every way, from the wall of the city and outward; see Numb. 35. 4. 5. with the annotations. not be sold] this seemeth to be an absolute prohibition, that though the Levites might sell their houses, yet not their lands at all: which yet was but a figurative restraint (as the other legal ordinances,) until the Jubilee of the Gospel; for then, Barnabas a Levite sold his field, that he might enjoy a better inheritance among the saints Act. 4. 36. 37. Howbeit the Hebrew doctors understand this Law otherwise, and say; The Priests and the Levites, which sell any field of their cities, 〈...〉 ny house, &c. do redeem them after this manner: they sell fields, though it be near to the Jubilee, and redeem them out of hand and they redeem houses in the walled cities, at any time when they please, though it be after many years, Lev. 25. 32. Maimonides in Jobel, chap. 13. sect. 7. And this law against selling, they expound of alteration or changing, thus: In the Levites cities, they may not make of a city the suburbs; nor of the suburbs a city, nor of the suburbs a field, nor of a field suburbs, as it is written, the field of the suburbs of their cities shall not be sold, Lev. 25. 34. We have been taught, that this which is said SHALL NOT BEE SOLD, meaneth shall not be altered; but the field, and the suburbs, and the city, shall all three of them be as they are, forever. Maimonides ibidem sect. 4. 5.

Vers. 35. waxen poor] or brought low, as verse. 25. and 39. hand faileth] or, hand is moved, which the Greek translath, and he be weak (or impotent) in his hands by thee, that is, unable to relieve himself. This phrase is here once applied to the land, in Deut. 32. 35. and often other where to the foot, the moving or sliding whereof, is also a decay or falling into evil. strengthen him] or, take hold on him, and so confirm his weak hands; that is, as the Greek translath, help or relieve him. So God is said to strengthen or hold the right hand of Cyrus, when he enabled him to subdue nations, Isaiah 45. 1. so of Christ, in Isaiah 42. 6. and of his people, when he helpeth them against their enemies, Isaiah 41. 12. 13. According to this law, is that in Deut. 15. 7. 8. 10. where God commandeth to open the hand, to lend and to give unto the poor: and it is reckoned for one of the sins of Sodom, that she strengthened not the hand of the poor and needy, Ezek. 16. 49. even the stranger] that is, though he be a stranger, and none of thine own nation: or, as the Greek translath, thou shalt help him as a stranger and saj•urner. Whereby God may intend the natural Israelites, which were but strangers and sojourners with him, verse 13. which is also the state of all the Saints on earth, 1 Pet. 2. 11. that he may] or, and he shall live: so the Gr. saith, and thy brother shall live with thee. By living, is meant the recovering of him-self out of his misery, as elsewhere life is opposed to sickness, ruin, and other miseries, Isaiah 38. 9. Nehem. 4. 2. 1 Chron. 11. 8. Gen. 45. 27. Therefore God commandeth to let the poor man have sufficient for his need, Deuteronomy 15. 8. see the annotations there. Hereby also was figured, that such as are poor in spirit, ought to be comforted: and such as are impoverished by sin, should be sought after for their recovery, by admonition, exhortation, prayer &c. that life may be given them; 1 Thes. 5. 14. 1 John. 5. 16. I am. 5. 16. 20.

V. 36. biting-usury] of this, see what is noted on Ex. 22. 25. increase] or multiplication, overplus; that is, when one taketh more then he lent. So in Ezek. 18. 8. 13. 17. Spiritual usury and exaction (which under this Law is also forbidden) is when the Law is urged upon the conscience of repentant sinners, more then is meet; whereby his life with God (which is by faith in Christ,) is impeached: or when the rudiments of the Law (which Christ hath freed his people from,) are laid as a yoke upon their necks, and burden upon their consciences; both which are hindrances of that true life and joy, which God by the Gospel and Spirit of his Son, ministereth unto the Saints, Matth. 18. 28.—33. Gal. 2. 14.—21. and 4. 9. 10. 11. and 5. 1. 2. &c. Acts 15. 1. 10. 11. Isaiah 9. 8.

Vers. 39. waxen poor] in Greek, be humbled, or, brought low: as verse. 25 be sold] for extreme poverty, debt, or theft; as 2 King. 4. 1. Exod. 22. 3. See the notes on Exod. 21. 2. not serve thyself] in Greek, he shall not serve thee. of a servant] of a slave, or bondman, as to compel him to do base and slavish works. The Hebrews say, It is unlawful for an Israelite when he buyeth any Hebrew servant to make him serve in things vile, which are proper for servants (or slaves) to do; as to carry his vessels after him to the bath, or to untie his shoes &c. Lev. 25. 49. Which is to be understood of an Hebrew servant, because his soul is east down by his sale: but an Israelite which is not sold, it is lawful to use his ministry as a servants; for lo he doth not such work but willingly and of his own mind. Maimonides tom. 4. treat. of Servants, chap. 1. sect. 7. This Law Solomon kept, as it is said, but of the sons of Israel did Solomon make no servant: but they were men of war, & his servants, & his princes, & his captatins, &c. 1 Kin. 9. 22.

Vers. 40. as a sojourner] in Greek, or a sojourner: meaning that he should be used kindly, reverently, and as a brother, verse. 46. The Hebrew canons say, Every Hebrew servant or handmaid, their master is bound to make them equal to himself in meat, in drink, in clothing & in dwelling; as it is said (in Deut. 15. 16.) because he is well with thee: so that thou mayest not eat white bread, and he eat brown bread; or thou drink old wine, and he drink new; or thou sleep on a fetherbed, and he sleep on straw, &c. Hereupon they say, who so buyeth an Hebrew servant, buyeth himself a master: &c. Nevertheless it is necessary that the servant behave himself with a servants behavior, in those services which he doth unto him. Maim. in Servants, ch. 1. s. 9. year of Jubilee] which was the year of liberty for all manner Hebrew servants: therefore, No Hebrew maid, or Hebrew manservant was in use (in Israel) but at the time when the Jubilee was in use: whether it were a servant that sold him-self, or that was sold by the Synedrion. Maimonides in servants. chap. 1. sect. 10.

Vers. 41. go out from with thee] the Greek saith, he shall go out to remission, (into liberty.) For what cause, or after what sort soever he hath been sold, the Jubilee released him: which was a figure of the time of grace, whereby now Christ hath freed us from the servitude of sin and Satan: John. 8. 32. 36. Rom. 6. 14 18. The Hebrew doctors say, He whom the Synedrion sold, served six years (Exod. 21. 2.) from the day of his sale; and in the beginning of his seventh year, he went out a free man. If the yere of release (Deut. 15. 1.) Fel within those six years yet he did serve therein: but if the year of jubilee fell in them, though he were sold but a year before the Jubilee, he goeth out free. (Lev. 25. 40. 41.) A man may soll himself for me then six years; if he sell himself for 10. or 20 years, and the Jubilee fall out, though within a year, he goeth out at the Jubilee. If a man have sold himself or been sold by the Synedrion, and he runs away: he is bound to make up the six years; but if the Jubilee fall, he goeth out free. If he have been sick, either by a continued sickness year after year, or been sick by fits; if the whole time (of his sickene) be less then four years, they are reckoned among the six (years service:) out if he have been four years sick. he is bound to make good all the days of his sickness as it is written (Lev. 25. 40.) As an hireling, as a sojourner: if the Jubilee fall, he goeth out. Maim. in Servants, ch. 2. sect. 2. 3. 4. 5. his sons with him] that is, his children (as the Greek translath,) whether sons, or daughters. In Exod. 21. 3. there is the like, for his wife. And by the parable in Matth. 18. 25. it seemeth that in Israel men might be sold for debt, they, their wives, and their children, and all that they had: and in 2 King. 4. 1. the credit or would take the children bondmen, for their fathers debt. Howbeit the Hebrew Doctors understand these otherwise, saying; Every Hebrew servant, his master is bound to find his wife meat &c. and so he is bound to find his sons and daughters meat. Of him whom the Synedrion sold, it is said (in Exod. 21. 3.) if he were the husband of a wife, then his wife shall go out with him. If thou thinkest that when he was bought, his wife became a servant; it is not so: but to teach that his master was bound to give her food. And of him that sold himself, it is said (in Lev. 25. 41.) he and his sons with him. And of him that was sold to an heathen, it is said (in Lev. 25. 54▪) he and his sons with him. Whether they were the wife and children which he had at the time when he was sold; or wife and children which he had after he was sold, so that he took her with his masters consent; but if he took her without his consent, his master is not bound to find her meat. Though his master be bound to find his wife and children meat, yet hath he nothing of the labors of their hands, but the wives labors are her husbands: and whatsoever is due from a husband to his wife, is due to her, forasmuch as he is an Hebrew servant. Maimonides, treat. of Servants, ch. 3. sect. 1. 2.

Vers. 42. my servants] their redemption from Pharaoh, figured the redemption from Satan by Christ; and their freedom, that of which it is said, ye are bought with a price, •ee not the servants of men▪ 1 Cor. 7. 23. and now being made free from sin, and made servants to God; ye have your fruit unto holiness, and the end everlasting life, Rom. 6. 22. the sale of a servant] that is, not after the manner that servants (or slaves) are sold in the market, publicly; but privately and by way of honor, Maimonides in Servants. ch. 1. sect. 5.

Ver. 43. with rigor] as the Egyptians ruled over Israel, Exod. 1. 13. The Hebrews describe it thus: What is rigorous service? It is service which is not determind, and service whereof there is no need: but (the masters) purpose is to make him work, and only that he should not cease. Hereupon our wise men have said, that (the master) should not say unto him, Digge under the vines until I come; for loe he giveth him no determind stint: but he is to say unto him, dig till such an hour, or unto such a place. And so he may not say to him, Dig this place; when there is no need to do it, &c. Maimonides in Servants, chap. 1 sect. 6. But this rigor, fierceness or cruelty here forbidden, extendeth forther, even to all overmuch labor, above that which is meet, and they are able; as the Greek here translath, Thou shalt not rack him (or afflict, torment him) with labor: beating if their work be not done, Exod. 1. 14. and 5. 7. 8. 14. and threatening with hard words; Ephes. 6. 9. and the like. fear thy God] and thereby abstain from this evil: see verse 17.

V. 44. of the heathens] as the Hebrew servants set at liberty by the Jubilee, figured God's elect, set free by Christ: so the heathens brought into subjection and bondage, may figure the reprobates, whom Christ and his people shall rule with an iron rod, Psal. 2. 9. Rev. 2. 26. 27. Or, being understood of such servants as were bought and brought unto the faith of God, & were circumcised, (as in Gen. 17. 27.) it might foreshadow the conversion of the heathens, and bringing them into the perpetual service of Christ and his Church; Isaiah 56. 3. 6. 7. and 60. 3. 7. 10. 12. Compare that promise made by the Prophet, The Lord will have mercy ⟨ϕ⟩ Jacob, and will yet choose Israel, and set them in the•• own land; & the strangers shall be joined with them, & they shall cleave to the house of Jacob. And the people's shall take them, and bring them to their place: and the house of Israel shall possess them in the land of the Lord, for servants and handmaids, and they shall take them captives, whose captives they were; and they shall rule over their oppressors, Isaiah 14. 1. 2.

Verse▪ 45. of the sojou•n•s] or, of the stranger▪ inhabitants; meaning such as were in the land, but [unspec] not joined to the Church of Israel; as the Chaldee paraphrast here calleth them uncircumcised sojourners: these sojourners are opposed to the heathens out of the land, round about them, verse 44. that do sojourn] or, that are strangers: in Greek, that are among you. of their fa•the] in Chaldee, of their seed. And this might be, if the mother only were a stranger. An Israelite, the lieth with a Canaanitish bondwoman, for as much as she is a bondwoman, he begetteth a Canaanite ⟨ϕ⟩ every respect; and he is fold and bought, and made to ser•• forever, as other bondmen. Maimonides in Servants▪ chap. 9. sect. 1. which accordeth with that law in Exod. 21. 4.

Vers. 46. as an inheritance for your sons] the Greek translatheth, you shall divide (or impart) them [unspec] unto your children. These words, possession and •heritance, applied thus to servants; mean their subjection under their masters; according to which phrase, God is said to inherit in all nations, Ps. 82. 8. and Christ, to have the heathens &c. for his inheritance and possession, Psal. 2. 8. And in saying for your sons, he implieth a prohibition to sell the• to strangers, especially if the servant were turned to the faith; and by the Hebrew canons, he that sold his servant to the heathens, the servant were out free, and his master was compelled to redeem him out of the heathens hand. Maimonides in Servants, ch. 8. s. 1. forever] they and their ⟨...⟩ dren after them, are bondmen; until they be made free. They were free by God's Law, if their master had maimed them, as Exod. 21. 26. 27. and by the Hebrew canons, their freedom might be bought by themselves, or their friends: Maimonides in Servants, chap. 5. sect. 2. serve yourselves] o•, bring them into servitude, use them as servants. not rule over him] in Chaldee, not serve yourselves with him: in Greek, not rack (or afflict) him with labors; as verse. 43. But might they then rule over the heathens with rigor? The Hebrews say, It is lawful to make a Canaanitish servant serve with rigor: but not with standing this right, it is the property of mercy, and way of wisdom, that a man should be compassionate, and follow justi•, and not make his yoke heavy upon his servant, nor afflict him. And to give him meat and drink of all sorts. The first wise men, used to give their servants of all meats that they did eat themselves; and they gave their beasts and their servants meat, before they themselves did eat▪ Loe he s•th (in Psalm 123. 2.) *as the eyes of servants, unto the hand of their masters, as the eyes of a maiden, unto the hand of her mistress: Also they used not a servant contēp•ously, by hand, or by words: the script•• giveth them for service, not for shame and contempt. If I despised the cause of my servant or of my handmaid when they contended with 〈ϕ〉 ▪ did not •e that made me in the womb, make him, &c. Job▪ 31. 13. 15. Ne••her should cruelty and hardness be found, s•ve among the idolatrous heathens: but th• s•do• Abraham our father, upon whom the blessed God hath poured out the good things of his Law, and commanded them stat••es and judgments which are righteous; they shall be merciful towards all. And so among the properties of the holy blessed God, which we are commanded to imitate, he saith, His tender mercies are over all his works, (Psal. 145. 9.) and who so showeth mercy, mercy shall be shown unto him, &c. Maimonides treat▪ of Servants, chap. 9. sect. 8.

Vers. 47. the stranger] which the Chaldee expoundeth, the uncircumcised: so after. do attain] in Greek, do find, to weet, enough to buy a poor Israelite; that is, if he be rich and able: so in verse 26. and 49. the stock] or, the stumpe, as this word is Englished in Dan. 4. 15. that is, any of the lineage or kindred remaining. The Chaldee translateth, to the Aramite (that is, to a paynim or •eathen,) of the family of a stranger (or Pros•lyte;) meaning one that was of a proselytes stock, but was not himself a proselyte, or of the faith of Israel.

Vers. 48. redemption shall be to him] that is, he shall have right to be redeemed. his brethren] that is, his kindred; as is after explained.

Vers. 49. his uncle] in Greek and Chaldee, his fathers brother. his hand hath attained] to weet, wealth enough; if he be able of himself. The Hebrew canons say, He that is sold to a stranger, if his own hand attain not to redeem himself, his kindred are to redeem him; and one kinsman before another, as it is said, his uncle, or his uncles son, &c. And the Synedrion are to compel his kindred to redeem him, that he be not drowned (or swallowed up) among the heathens. If his kindred redeem him not, or his own hand cannot attain to i• every man of Israel is commanded to redeem him. And whether his kindred do redeem him, or any other man, he is to go out free, [and not to be a servant to him that redeemed him.] And he may borrow, for to ••deem himself from an heathen, and he may redeem by the half (or in part.) But he that is sold to an Israelite, his kindred may not redeem him, neither may •e borrow to redeem himself; neither is redeemed by the half (or part,) but if his hand be able to give according to the years that remain, he may give and go out, otherwise he goeth not out. Maimon. in Servants, chap. 2. sect. 7. A practice of this, we find in Nehem. 5. 8. We, after our ability, have redeemed our 〈ϕ〉 the Jews, which were sold unto the heathen: and will you even sell your brethren? or shall they be sold 〈ϕ〉 us?

Vers. 50. with him that bought him] This is a common equity; whether he had sold himself to an Israelite, or to an heathen, or had been sold by the Magistrates, he abas•ed of his redemption, and went out, Maimonides ibidem, chap. 2. sect. 8. the money] Hebr. the silver: this the Hebrews hold strictly, to be money, not monies worth, as fruits, vessels, or the like. Maimonides ibidem, chap. 2. sect. 8. days of an hired servant] that is, a precise or set number of days, not more nor fewer. So this phrase elsewhere noteth, as in Job. 7. 1. 2. Is there not an appointed time to man upon earth? and are not his days like the days of an hireling? &c. And in Esa. 16. 14. In three years, as the years of an •ireling: and in Esa. 21. 16▪ yet a year; according to the years of an hireling: that is, precisely, without longer day.

Vers. 52. according to his years] As▪ if he had sold himself for an hundred (crowns,) and there remained unto the •ubile from the year of his sale, ten years: he shall re•kon ten (crowns) for every year that he hath served him, and abate the price of them, and return the rest in money, Maim. in Servants, chap. 2. sect. 8.

V. 53. As an hired servant of the year, by the year] that is, as a yearly hireling: see verse 50. before thine eyes] that is, thou shalt not suffer the stranger to rule over him with rigor, and thou wink at it. But every Israelite was bound to forbid: him this; and because it was a stranger that dwelt in the land, the Magistrates of Israel, might restrain him from rigor.

V. 54. by these] Greek, by these things (or means;) that is, neither by others, nor by himself, before the Jubilee. of Jubilee] Greek, of Remission: which was a year of full discharge of all servants from the hands of all other masters, that they might be the Lord's, and serve him only. Which thing Christ hath fulfilled for us in truth, who dying in the last Jubilee, the acceptable year of the Lord; hath set us free from all sinful servitude; that sin should reign no more in our mortal body, nor we obey it in the lusts thereof; but present ourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead; and our members as instruments of righteousness unto God, Rom. 6. 11. 12. 13. John. 8. 34. 36. Heb. 2. 14. 15.

CHAP. XXVI.

1, God forbidding Idolatry, commanded true religion. 3, Promiseth blessings to them that keep his commandments. 14, Threatneth curses to those that break them. 21, And as their stubbornness increaseth, so shall his plagues. 40, He promiseth to remember his covenant at last, towards them that repent.

YE shall not make unto you, Idols; neither shall ye rear up unto you, a graven thing, or a pillar, neither shall ye set, any stone of imagery, in your land; to bow down yourselves unto it: for I Jehovah, am your God. Ye shall keep, my Sabbaths; and reverence, my Sanctuary: I am Jehovah.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

IF ye shall walk, in my statutes: and keep, my comendements; and do them. Then I will give your rains, in their season, and the land shall give, her increase; and the trees of the field, shall give their fruit. And your threshing, shall reach unto the vintage; and the vintage, shall reach unto the sowingtime: and ye shall eat your bread, to the full; and dwell in confident-safety, in your land. And I will give peace, in the land; and ye shall lie-down, and none shall make you afraid: and I will cause the evil beast to cease, out of the land; and the sword, shall not pass through your land. And ye shall pursue, your enemies: and they shall fall before you, by the sword. And five of you, shall pursue an hundred; and an hundred of you, shall pursue ten-thousand: and your enemies shall fall, before you, by the sword. And I will have-respect unto you; and make you fruitful; and multiply you: and establish my covenant with you. And ye shall eat old store, very-old: and bring-forth the old, because of the new. And I will set my Tabernacle, amongst you▪ and my soul, shall not loath you. And I will walk, among you; and will be to you, a God: and you, shall be to me a people. I am Jehovah your God, which brought you forth, out of the land of Egypt; from being servants to them: and I have broken the staves of your yoke, and made you go, upright.

But if ye will not hearken, unto me: and will not do, all these commandments. And if ye shall despise my statutes; and if your soul loath my judgments: so that ye do not, all my commandments; that ye break, my covenant. I also will do this unto you; I will even appoint over you suddaintertour, the consumption, and the burningague; that consume the eyes, and pine-away the soul: and ye shall sow your seed, in vain; and your enemies, shall eat it. And I will set my face, against you; and ye shall be smitten, before your enemies: and they that hate you, shall rule over you; and ye shall flee; when none pursueth you.

And if yet for these, ye will not hearken unto me: then I will add to chastise you, seven times for your sins. And I will break, the excellency of your power: and I will make your heavens as iron; and your earth, as brass. And your strength shall be spent in vain: and your land shall not give, her increase; and the trees of the land, shall not give their fruit.

And if ye walk with me, contrary; and [unspec] be not willing to hearken unto me: then I will add plagues upon you; seven times, according to your sins. And I will send among [unspec] you, wild-beasts of the field, which shall rob you of your children; and cut-off your cattle; and make you few: and your ways, shall be desolate.

And if by these, ye will not be chastised, [unspec] by me: but will walk with me, contrary. Then will I also, walk with you, contrary: [unspec] and even I, will plague you; seven times, for your sins. And will bring upon you, a [unspec] sword; that shall avenge, the vengeance of the covenant; and ye shall be gathered, into your cities: and I will send the pestilence, among you; and ye shall be given, into the hand of the enemy. When I shall break unto [unspec] you, the staff of bread; then ten women shall bake your bread, in the oven; and they shall return your bread, by weight, and ye shall eat, and not be satisfied.

And if for this, ye will not hearken unto me: but will walk with me, contrary. Then I will walk with you, in wrath contrary; and I, even I will chastise you; seven times for your sins. And ye shall eat, the flesh of [unspec] your sons: and the flesh of your daughters, shall ye eat. And I will destroy your high [unspec] places; and cut-down your Sun-images: and cast your carcasses, upon the carcasses of your filthy idols: & my soul shall loath you. And I will make your cities, a wast; and will [unspec] make-desolate, your Sanctuaries: and I will not smell, the smell of your rest. And I, will [unspec] make the land desolate: and your enemies, which dwell therein, shall be astonished at it. And you, will I scatter among the heathens; [unspec] and will draw out a sword, after you: and your land, shall be desolate; and your cities, shall be a wast. Then, shall the land enjoy, her [unspec] Sabbaths; all the days that it lieth-desolate; and you, in your enemies land: then, shall the land rest, and enjoy her Sabbaths. All the days that it lieth-desolate, it shall [unspec] rest: for that it rested not, in your Sabbaths, when ye dwelt upon it. And they that are [unspec] left of you, I will even bring a softness, into their heart; in the lands of their enemies: and the sound of a driven leaf, shall pursue then; and they shall flee as fleeing from a sword, and shall fall, when none pusueth. And they [unspec] shall fall, every man upon his brother, as before a sword, when none pursueth: and ye shall not have, power-to-stand; before your enemies. And ye shall perish among the heathens: and the land of your enemies, shall  $\langle\phi\rangle$  you up. And they that are left of you, shall [unspec] pine away in their iniquity, in your enemies lands: and also, in the iniquities of their fathers, they shall pine-away with them. And if they shall confess their iniquity, and the [unspec] iniquity of their fathers; with their transgression, which they transgressed against me: and also, that they have walked with me, contrary. And that I also, have walked with them, contrary; & have brought them, into the land of their enemies: if then, their uncircumcised heart, be humbled; and then, they accept of their iniquity. Then will I remember, my covenant with Jacob: and also, my covenant with Isaac, and also my covenant with Abraham, will I remember, and I will remember the land. And the land, [unspec] shall be left of them, and shall enjoy her Sabbaths, while it lieth-desolate, without them; and they, shall accept of their iniquity: because even for-because, they despised my judgments; and their soul loathed my statutes. And yet for all that, when they be in the land of their enemies; I will not despise them nor loath them, to consume them; to break my covenant, with them: for, I am Jehovah, their God. But I will remember unto them, the covenant of their Ancestors: them whom I brought forth, out of the land of Egypt, before the eyes of the heathens; to be unto them, a God; I Jehovah. These, are the Statutes and the Judgments, and the Laws; which Jehovah gave, between him and the sons of Israel: in mount Sinai, by the hand of Moses.

Annotations.

IDols] in Hebrew Elilim, that is, Vanities or things of naught: in Greek, things made-with hands. Of these and the making of them, see the notes on Levite. 19. 4. and Exod. 20. 4. graven thing] which the Chaldee expoundeth an image: see Exod. 20. 4. pillar] or statue, or standing-image; which hath the name of setting-up, or standing; and seemeth to have been usually of stone; as Jacob set up a stone for a pillar, Gen. 28. 18. and 35. 14. And pillars were set up either for civil monuments; as was the pillar on Rachel's grave, Gen. 35. 20. and Absalom's pillar, 2 Sam. 18. 18. or for religious monuments, as were altars; Gen. 35. 14. Esa. 19. 19. these latter are here forbidden, after that God had appointed the place and ordinances of his worship; and he signifieth his hatred of them, in Deut. 16. 22. Yet were they used, not only by the heathens, as in Egypt, Ier. 43. 13. but by the idolatrous Israelites, 1 King. 14. 23. 2 King. 17. 10. The Hebrews say, Matsebah (the Pillar or Statue) which the Law forbiddeth, is a building (or edifice,) by which all do gather themselves together, though it be to serve the LORD; because such was the manner of Idolaters; and who soreareth up a pillar, is to be beaten. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, chap. 6. sect. 6. And Sol. Rashi on Deut. 16. 22. saith; Matsebah (the Pillar) is a stone to offer upon; though it be to (the God of) heaven. set] or put, lay: Hebr. give. Whereby also he may forbid the sufferance of such in their land; for elsewhere they are willed to destroy their pictures, Num. 33. 52. and giving is often used for suffering, see Gen. 20. 6. stone of imagery] or, stone of picture, or of figure, that is, any pictured or figured stone, or image of stone: the Chaldec calleth it stone of adoration (or of worship) upon or unto which they used to bow down. Of this word, pictures have their name, Num. 33. 52. Esa. 2. 16. The Hebrews understand this of such stones as wherewith they used to pave their holy places, and bow down upon them to serve their God's. The stone of imagery spoken of in the Law, although a man bow down him-self thereupon unto God, he is to be beaten: because it was the manner of Idolaters, to lay a stone before (the Idol,) and to bow down upon it; therefore they might not do so unto the LORD. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, chap. 6. sect. 6. 〈...〉 in your land] The Hebrews understand this Law, of stones upon which they worshipped; do by the land here, understand all other places save the Sanctuary, which was paved with stone, upon which they bowed down. In the Sanctuary it was lawful to bow down upon the stones; as it is written IN YOVR LAND: in your land ye may not bow down upon stones, but ye may bow down upon the stones wherewith the Sanctuary is paved. And for this cause, all Israel are wont to lay matts or some such thing, in the Synagogues which are paved with stone; to make a separation between their faces and the stones, &c. Maimonides ibidem sect. 7. But this seemeth to savor of superstition, for God forbiddeth not stones simply, but stones of imagery, which were pictured or graved with figures. unto it] or, upon it; for so both the Hebrew and Chaldee may be Englished; but the Greek translateth unto it. And the Hebrew doctors, understanding it to be a prohibition of bowing down upon any such stone, though unto the true God, do determine the punishment to be beating by the magistrate: whereas if they bowed upon it to an idol, they were stoned to death (according to the law in Deut. 13. 10.) Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, ch. 6. sect. 6. 8.

Vers. 3. Walk in my statutes] This maketh men just before God, Luk. 1. 6. and if the Law could give life, (and were not weak through the flesh, Rom. 8. 3.) verily justice should have been by the Law, Gal. 3. 21. but when the commandment cometh, Sin reviveth, and man dieth, Rom. 7. 9. Therefore by the works of the Law, there shall no flesh be justified in God's sight. Rom. 3. 20. but she just shall live by faith, Gal. 3. 11. and by faith this condition here required, is fulfilled; as Enorh walked with God, Gen. 5. 24. when he pleased him by faith, Heb. 11. 5. 6. This then according to the letter, is legal; and promiseth life to them which do these things, Rom. 10. 5. but spiritually leadeth unto Christ, who is the end of the Law, for justice to everyone that believeth, Gal. 3. 24. Rom. 10. 4.

Vers. 4 your rains] in Greek, rain unto you: he meaneth the rain of the land, the first rain and the latter rain, whereof see Deut. 11. 14. These none can give but God, Ier. 14. 22. they figured spiritual blessings, by the doctrine of the Gospel of Christ, Deut. 32. 2. Psal. 72. 6. 2 Sam. 23. 4. their season] that is, due season; so they make the earth fruitful: and are of the Lord's good treasure, which he openeth unto men, Deut. 28. 12. and should move them to fear him, Ier. 5. 24. her increase] or her fruit; which is an effect of the rain, through God's blessing; for when the showers of blessing come in their season, the tree of the field yieldeth her fruit, and the earth her increase, Ezek. 34. 26. 27. And this is spiritually applied to our earthly nature, made fruitful unto God through the rain and dew of his graces, and so it receiveth of him a blessing: Ps. 67. 7. and 85. 12. 13. Heb. 6. 7. 8. Of the Hebrews, R. Menachem here saith, the land hath a mystical signification of the land that is on high.

Vers. 5. reach unto the vintage] or, to the grape-gathering: meaning hereby large blessings, with a bundance and variety of fruits, continued one after another. The like figurative promises are given to the Church under the Gospel, in Amos. 9. 13. saying, The plowman shall overtake the reaper, and the treader of grapes, him that soweth seed. to the full] or, to satiety: this signifieth abundance from God, Joel 2. 26. and contentation in men; as they that are never content, are said not to know satiety, Esa. 56. 11. and when God withholdeth increase, they eat, but not to satiety: Hag. 1. 6. Thus God fed them with Manna to the full, Exod. 16. 8. and promiseth so to feed the poor & meek under Christ, Psal. 13. 15. and 22. 27. The just eateth to the satiety of his soul: Pro. 13. 25. in confident safety] or, in hopeful security, safely. The Hebrew Betach signifieth trust, hope, or confidence, Act. 2. 26. from Psalm 16, which ought to be in God, Psal. 40. 5. whereupon followeth safety through his defense, as the Greek here translateth, ye shall dwell in safety; and so men are secure and bold, without fear of disturbance; Gen. 34. 25. as in Psal. 78. 53. He led them with confident safety; and they dreaded not. This as it is a blessing which God only giveth, Psal. 4. 9. so it is promised to the obedient, Prov. 21. 33. and is performed to such as are in the sheepfold of Christ, Ezek. 34. 25. 27. 28.

Vers. 6. peace] This though generally it signifieth all prosperity, yet sometime it is specially opposed to the sword, Matth. 10. 34. and unto war, Psal. 120. 7. which seemeth to be that which is intended here, as the former was against famine. none shall make you afraid] This God promiseth to fulfill under Christ, Jeremiah 30. 10. Ezekiel 34. 28. Mich. 4. 4. cause the evil beast to cease] that is, as the Greek translateth, I will destroy evil beasts; one being put for a multitude, or many; and ceasing being used for utter abolishing, as in Exod. 12. 15. Psal. 119. verse 119. or at least, for repressing their rage and fury: for in Israel, Lions, Bears, and the like, sometime destroyed the inhabitants, 2 King. 17. 25. 26. and 2. 24. This promise is applied also to the Church under the Gospel, Ezek. 34. 25. So in Job 5. 23. the beasts of the field shall be at peace with thee. The contrary followeth in verse 22. By the evil beasts, R. Menachem here understandeth mystically vicious lusts, the powers of uncleanness, which flew from the unclean Spirit; that they shall not prevail to pollute the land which is on high. So they seem to call our nature regenerate, as the Apostle calleth the Church, Jerusalem which is on high, Gal. 4. 26. the sword] used ordinarily for war, when it is spoken of men; but the Lord's sword, is explained to be the pestilence, 1 Chro. 21. 12. which may specially be intended here; and so God promiseth blessings, opposed to his four sore judgments, which are the sword (or war) the famine, the evil beast, and the pestilence, mentioned in Ezek. 14. 21. and Revel. 6. 8. Or, if we understand this sword for wars; then under peace aforesaid, may the promise be implied against the sword of the Lord the pestilence. These blessings; though they concern this life, yet the end of them is to lead to life eternal; so the Hebrews of old understood them, as their later doctors (though wandering out of the way of life) do witness, saying: The holy blesed (God) hath given us a Law, which is the Tree of life; and whosoever doth all that is written therein, and knoweth him with a perfect knowledge, shall thereby be made worthy of the life of the World to come &c. And he hath promised us in the Law, that if we do it with joy and goodness of soul, and exercise ourselves in the ••dome thereof continually; he will remove from us, all things that may let us from doing it, as sickness, and war, and famine, and the like. And he will supply us with all good things, that may strengthen our ϕ to do the Law, as satiety and peace, and store of silver and gold; that we be not employed all our days, in the things which the body hath need of; but may be made fit to ϕ wisdom, and to do the Commandments, that we may be worthy of the life of the world to come. Maimonides in treat. of Repentance, chap. 9. sect. 1. Thus they followed after the Law of righteousness, but attained not to it, because they sought it not by ϕ in Christ, but as it were by the works of the Law; ϕ they have stumbled at the stumbling stone, Roman 9. 31. 31.

Vers. 8. five of you shall pursue a hundred] This promise is enlarged in Ios. 23. 10. One man of you ϕ pursue a thousand: and was notably performed it David's Worthies, 1 Chron. 11. of whom someone lift up his spear against eight hundred, and slew three hundred at one time, 2 Sam. 23. 8. 18. 1 Chron. 11. 11. Three men brake through the host of the Philistines, 1 Chron. 11. 18. Of the Gadites, there were men that had faces like the faces of Lions, and were as swift as the Roes of the mountains, 1 Chron. 12. 8. And David himself celebrateth this mercy, I pursued mine enemies, and overtooke them: and turned not, till I had consumed them: Psal. 18. 38. 2 Sam. 22. 38. See also Deut. 32. 30.

Vers. 9. I will have respect] or turn my face, in Greek, I will look upon you and bless you: and the Chaldee expoundeth it, I will have respect by my word to do good unto you. For this grace David prayed, Psal. 25. 16. and 69. 17. and when God delivered Israel from their enemies, it is said, he had respect unto them, because of his covenant, &c. 2 King. 13. 23. The contrary hereto, is the hiding of God's face, Deut. 32. 20. fruitful] or, to increase; as he had done before in Egypt, Exod. 1. 7. This blessing is acknowledged, in Nehem. 9. 23. Their children thou multiplyest, as the stars of heaven: and promised to be again under Christ; I will bring (my sheep) again to their folds, and they shall be fruitful and increase: Ier. 23. 3. establish my covenant] that is, faithfully keep, and continue to do the things which I have promised: see the notes on Gen. 6. 18.

Vers. 10. very-old] in Greek, old of old things: this respecteth the increase of their land, as the ϕ did of their bodies. See Levite. 25. 22. because of] or, as the Gr. translath, from the face of the new: they should bring forth the old, for want of roomth to lay up the new. This fruitfulness of the land, figured the many graces wherewith God would enrich the hearts of his people: as in verse. 4. For how ever God persuadeth his people, by promise of outward blessings, to keep his Law; yet the end of the commandment is love, out of a pure heart, end of a good conscience, and of faith unfaigned, 1 Tim. 1. 5. and such as for worldly benefits receive the word of the Lord, when tribulation or persecution arisith, because of the word, by and by they are offended; Matth. 13. 21. The Hebrews say, All love that dependeth on a thing, when the thing ceaseth, the love ceaseth. He that serveth the blessed God, to the end that his riches may be multiplied, or his life preserved; his service is not perfect: as Satan said (in Job. 1. 9. 10.) doth Job fear God for nooght? Hast thou not made an hedge about him, &c. He that serveth God because of bodily things, on which his service dependeth; it shall not be confirmed unto light in the light of the living. For when those things cease, for which he serveth: his love will cease. And there is no eating and drinking in the state of death whether thou goest. But he that serveth God out of entire love, his love shall be in life everlasting, and shall not depart forever, and his reward that loveth God, shall be eternal. R. Elias in Reshith chochmah, treat. of Love, chap. 2. fol. 77. See also the annotations on Exod. 20. 6.

Vers. 11. set my tabernacle] Hebr. give, that is, set and stablish it; for both these ways, is giving expounded by the holy Ghost, as 1 King. 10. 9. compared with 2 Chron. 9. 8. and 2 Sam. 7. 24. with 1 Chron. 17. 22. God's Tabernacle was a sign of his dwelling in favor amongst them, Revel. 21. 3. See the annotations on Exod. 25. 8. The  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  signification was concerning Christ, who should dwell in the Tabernacle of our flesh; by whom God built again the Tabernacle of David, which was fallen down, Act. 15. 16. and in him God was reconciling the world unto himself, 2 Cor. 5. 18. and under this figure, eternal life in heaven was implied; For we know, that if our earthly house of this Tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens, 2 Cor. 5. 1. And that the Israelites had of old, the true understanding of these promises, that they belonged to the days of Christ, and the end of them was eternal life in heaven; it appeareth by the footsteps which yet remain in their later doctors, though they have quenched the light of grace, in laboring to have it by the works of the Law. For they say, *For this cause, have all Israel, their Prophets and their Wise men desired the days of Christ, that they might have rest from the kingdoms, which will not suffer them to study in the Law, &c. that they might be worthy of the life of the world to come. For in those days, knowledge and wisdom, and truth shall be multiplied; as it is written, for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the LORD. (Esa. 11. 9.) it is also written, And they shall teach no more every man his neighbor, &c. (Jer. 31. 34.) again it is said, And I will take away the stony heart out of your flesh, (Ezek. 36. 26.) For that King which shall stand up of the seed of David, shall be more wise then Solomon, &c. and therefore he shall learn all the people, and teach them the way of the Lord; and all the heathens shall come to hear him, (Mich. 4. 1. 2.) And the end of all the reward, and later goodness which is without ceasing and diminishing, that is the life of the world to come. But the days of Christ are of this world, and the world goeth after the wonted manner, save that the kingdom shall be restored to Israel, Maimonides treat. of Repentance: chap. 9. sect. 2. Thus they speak, missing the right way, by going about to establish their own righteousness, Rom. 10. 3. and mistaking Christ's kingdom, which though it be in this world, yet is it not of the same, John. 18. 36. my soul shall not loath you] or, not abhor, not cast you away as vile and lothesome. Man is by nature loathsome through sin; as it is said, Thou wast cast-out into the open field, to the loathing of thy soul (or person,) in the day that thou wast borne, Ezek. 16. 5. But through the grace of God in Christ, our bloods are washed away, and we are adorned with the gifts of his spirit, Ezek. 16. 8. 9. 10. So this promise concerneth such as keep the covenant of God, that they shall not lothesomely be rejected. For my soul, the Chaldee translateth my word shall not loath you. So in verse 30. Ibn Ezra explaineth it thus, *And I will set my Tabernacle amongst you, and ye shall not fear that ever ye shall come into want: for my glory resideth with you, and it is not as the son of man, whose soul loatheth to dwell in one place.

Vers. 12. I will walk among you] the Chaldee paraphraseth, I will cause my divine majesty to dwell among you; that Majesty is Christ, who by his spirit is with his church all days unto the worlds end, Math. 28. 20. who walketh in the midst of the seven golden Candlesticks, Revel. 2. 1. For his people are his Temple wherein he dwelleth, as it is written, ye are the Temple of the living God, as God hath said; I will dwell in them and walk in them, 2 Cor. 6. 16. For God's walking, was in his Tabernacle; 2 Sam. 7. 6. See also Revel. 7. 15. and 21. 3. Under this, eternal life was also promised in heaven, whither Christ went to prepare a place for us, and will come again to receive us unto him self; that where he is, there we may be also, John. 14. 2. 3. a God] or for a God: that is, as the Greek translatheth, your God; of which blessing, see the annotations on Gen. 17. 7.

V. 13. from being servants to them] under whom, all sinful servitud• was also signified; from which the church is redeemed by Christ, as from Sin, John. 8. 34. 36. from Satan, Heb. 2. 14 15. and from bondage to men in things concerning God, as it is said, Ye are bought with a price, be not ye the servants of men: 1 Cor. 7. 23. slaves of your yoke] or, bars, of your yoke: meaning the bondage of Egypt, and of sin which they were entangled with there, Ezek. 20. 7. 8. For though bonds and yokes signify civil bondage, as in Ier. 27. 2. 3. 6. 7. 2 Chron. 10. 4. yet the wicked is also holden in the cords of his sin, Prov. 5. 22. And of this, the church complaineth, The yoke of my trespasses, is bound by his hand; they are wreathed, they are come-up upon my neck, Lam. 1. 14. And from this Christ hath freed us, as it was promised, his yoke (shall be removed) from off thy neck, and the yoke shall be destroyed, because of the Oile, (that is, for Christ's sake) Esa. 10. 27. So in Ezek. 34. 24. 27. Ier. 2. 20. Contrariwise, for their sins God threateneth them with a yoke of y•on, Deut. 28. 48. The Hebrew M•t, is properly  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  staff, Numb. 13. 23. and so is used for the staves or bars of yokes, and for yokes themselves, as in Ier. 27. 2. where it is joined with bonds, where with the staves of the y•e are tied. made you go upright] or, with upright-stature; not stouping as under the yoke: to the Chaldee saith, I led you forth into freedom, and the Greek, I led you with boldness. This also figured our redemption by Christ, whereby the Churches stature is made upright and tall, like the P  $\langle \dots \rangle$  e tree, Song 7. 7. which grace when Israel rejected, God bowed down their back always, Romans 11. 10.

Vers. 14. not hearken to me] that is, as the Greek saith, not obey me; and the Chaldee, not receive my word. So in verse 18. Here followeth many moe threatenings, whereby God prophesied of their falling from him, and his judgments upon them, till they should be restored by grace, verse 44. 45. So in Deut. 28.

Vers. 15. despise] or, contemptuously reject, as Israel did, 2 King 17. 15. Ier. 6. 19. Ezek. 5. 6. and 20. 13. 24. loath or abhor, as after (in verse 43.) he  $\langle \dots \rangle$  th they would do; for which he repaid them according, as the Prophet saith; hath thy soul loathed Zion? why hast thou smitten us, and there is, no healing for us? Ier. 14. 19. all my Com.] with this also they are charged, in Ier. •2. 23. whatsoever thou commandedst them to dee, they have not done. break] or, make frustrate, as Gen. 17. 14. and this God foretelleth Moses that Israel would do, Deu•. 31. 16. 20. and complaineth to Jeremiah that they had done it, Ier. 11. 10. and other Prophets charge them with the like, Esa. 24. 5. Ezek. 16. 59. To bre  $\langle \dots \rangle$  the covenant, is expounded by the Apostle, not continuing in it, Heb. 8. 9. from Ier. 31. 32. as on the contrary, to confirm it, is to continue in doing  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  things commanded, Deut. 27. 26. with Gal. 3. 10.

Vers. 16. appoint] or, constitute, give charge,  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  that which should have authority over them, [unspec] showing the power of God's judgments. Comp  $\langle \dots \rangle$  Psal. 109. 6. sudden-terror] speedy-plag  $\langle \dots \rangle$  which shall consume in hast: the perform  $\langle \dots \rangle$  whereof is shown in Psal

78. 33. he consum ⟨...⟩ their days with sudden-terror. So in Ierem. 15 8. Zeph. 1. 18. consumption] or, shaking-ague ⟨...⟩ Greek, scabbednesse: so in Deut. 28. 22. and ⟨◇⟩ where the word is not used. the burning-agu ⟨...⟩ or, fever: the Greek here translatheth it the ⟨...⟩ dise; but better in Deut. 28. 22. the fever, ⟨◇⟩ ⟨◇⟩ which hath the name orinally of burning. This ⟨◇⟩ ease, Christ cured, on such as were ready to ⟨◇⟩ therewith, Luk. 4. 38. 39. John. 4. 47. 52. ⟨◇⟩ consume] or make fail, in Chaldee, that darken ⟨◇⟩ eyes: this is referred to all the former disease; ⟨◇⟩ the Greek interpreteth it by a word that signifieth consuming with unnatural heat. Or thi• consuming of the eyes, David complaineth in the person of Christ, Psal. 69. 4. pine-away] make languish, with sorrow, care, pain and hunger; as in Ier. 31. 25. filling is opposed to the pinning soul: the Greek translatheth, make your soul to melt away. The word is applied also to the languishing of the eyes. Psal. 88. 10. but here, and in Deut. 28. 65. to ⟨◇⟩ pinning or languishing-sorrow of the soul, meaning of the wholeman, or life; as the Chaldee ⟨◇⟩ translatheth it, the breathing-out of the soul. ⟨...⟩ mies shall eat it] The like is threatened in Deut. 28. 33. 51. and by other Prophets; as, Loe I will ⟨◇⟩ a nation on you from far, &c. and they shall ⟨◇⟩ thine harvest, and thy bread, which thy sons and ⟨◇⟩ daughters should eat: they shall eat up thy flocks ⟨◇⟩ thine herds; they shall eat up thy vines and thy fig ⟨...⟩ Ier. 5. 17. The contrary is promised in Christ ⟨◇⟩ shall not plant, and another eat, &c. they shall ⟨...⟩ bour in vain: Esa. 65. 22. 23. And the Lord ⟨◇⟩ sworn, Surely I will no more give thy corn, ⟨◇◇⟩ meat for thine enemies, Esa. 62. 8.

Vers. 17. set my face] Heb. give my face, which the Chaldee translatheth mine anger: so face is used for anger: Levite. 20. 5. 6. Psal. 21. 10. ⟨◇⟩ ] that is, as the Chaldee expoundeth, broken; in ⟨◇⟩ ye shall fall before your enemies. Contrary to the blessing in verse. 7. 8. and Deut. 28. 7. This judge•meant was executed, Judge. 2. 14. 1 Sam. 4. 2. and ⟨◇⟩ rule over you] in Greek, persecute you. This was verified, Psal. 106. 41. They that hated them, ⟨◇⟩ over them; and in Nehem. 9. 28. After they had ⟨◇⟩ they returned to do evil before thee: therefore th ⟨...⟩ test them in the hand of their enemies, so that they ⟨◇⟩ the dominion over them. But when God showeth mercy to Israel, he promiseth they shall rule ⟨◇⟩ their oppressors, Esa. 14. 2. none pursueth] This showeth great fearfulness of heart, through guiltiness of conscience for sin; fearing where no fear is, Psal. 53. 6. So in Pro. 28. 1. The wicked flee, when no man pursueth. Hereof there is a lively description in Job 15. 20. 21. &c. and the contrary in Psalm 27. 1. 2. &c.

Vers. 18. not hearken] or, not obey; in Chaldee, not receive my word: as verse. 14. Here God, to show his long-sufferance, and the more to affect his people, chastiseth by degrees, according to the measure of their sins, and prophesieth of their stubbornness, who would not amend with light punishments; whereof he after complaineth thus, In vain have I smitten your children, they received no correction: Jeremiah 2. 30. seven times] a certain number, for an uncertain, meaning many times; seven is a complete number, as is noted on Gen. 33. 3. Levite. 4. 6.

Vers. 19. the excellency] or, the pomp, pride, haugh•inesse of your strength; called elsewhere, the excellency (or pomp) of the strong-ones; Ezek. 7. 24. This is in particular, applied to their Sanctuary and religion, in Ezek. 24 21. Behold I will profane my Sanctuary, the excellency of your strength, the desire of your eyes, and the pity of your soul. Though it implieth generally all other things, wherein strength and excellency do consist: see Ezek. 30. 6 18. and 33. 28. will make] Hebr. will give your heavens, that is, as the Chaldee translath, the heavens that are over you: and so Moses expoundeth it in Deut. 28. 23. as iron] the Chaldee explaineth it, hard as iron, that they shall not give-down rain; and the earth that is under you, strong as brass, that it shall yield no fruit. So in Deut. 28. 23. save that there Moses likeneth the heavens to brass, and the earth to iron. This is contrary to the blessing promised in verse 4. And the complement hereof is shown in Ier. 14. 1. 2. &c. where a dearth is mentioned for which Judah mourned, her gates languished, the cry of Jerusalem ascended; their Nobles sent their little ones for water, but they found none, they returned with the vessels empty; the ground was chapt, for there was no rain in the earth: the Hind calved in the field, and forsook it; the wild asses snuffed up the wind, & their eyes failed, because there was no grass.

Vers. 20. her increase] the increase, or fruit expected; or which otherwise it should naturally yield; so in Genes. 4. 12. And this is an effect of the former restraining of rain, as Hag. 1. 10. Deuter. 11. 17. The word increase, is in Greek translated spo ⟨...⟩, seed sown: and so Paul useth it in like sense, saying, he that ministereth seed to the sower, &c. multiply your seed-sown; (that is, your increase,) 2 Corinth. 9. 10. the trees] the complement hereof is shown, in Joel 1. 12. The vine is dried up, and the fig tree languisheth; the pomegranate-tree, the palm tree also and the apple-tree, all the trees of the f<sup>l</sup>ld are withered. their fruit] the fruit which naturally they should bring forth. So another Prophet saith; There shall be no grapes on the vine, nor ⟨...⟩ gges on the fig tree; and the leaf shall fade, and the things that I have given them, shall pass away from them, Ier. 8. 3.

Verse 21. contrary] Hebr. in contrariety, (which word ⟨ϕ⟩, is added in verse. 27.) or, at all-adventure, by chance. The Hebrew Keri; signifieth both contrariety, and chance or accident: the Greek translath it contrary (or thwart) as opposing themselves to God and his commandments: the Chaldee expoundeth it, if ye walk before me with hardness, (that is, stubbornly.) If we understand it for chance or adventure, the meaning is to walk carelessly; come upon it what will; and to esteem the punishments not as from the hand of God for their sins, but to come by chance, as the Philistines said, in 1 Sam. 6. 9. then we shall know that it is not (the LORD'S) hand that smote us; it was a chance that happened to us. This latter the Hebrews follow; for speaking of tribulations upon them, they say, If men cry not to the Lord, but say, this thing happeneth to us according to the custom of the world, and this tribulation is a chance that hath befallen us; then is this the way of cruelty, and occasioneth them to cleave still unto their evil works, & this tribulation, shall add other tribulations; as it is written (in Lev. 26. 27. 28.) and (if) ye walk with me by chance, then I will walk with you in wrath (or heat) of chance: as if he should say, when tribulation cometh on you, to the end you might repent, if you say it is a chance. I will add unto you the hot-wrath of that chance. Maim. in Misn. tom. 1. in Taanioth, (or treat. of Humiliation) ch. 1. sect. 3. not willing to hearken] or, will not obey; which the Chaldee expoundeth, will not receive my word. An higher degree of obstinacy is here foreseen and prophesied of this people; the complement whereof, the Prophet bewaileth, saying, Oh Lord, thou hast stricken them, but they have not grieved; thou hast consumed them, but they have refused to receive correction: they have made their faces harder than a Rock, they have refused to return, Ier. 5. 3.

Vers 22. wild beasts] as God sent fiery serpents, Num. 21. 6. Lions, 2 King. 17. 25. Bears, 2 King. 24. and threateneth other the like, Esa. 13. 21. 22. And spiritually, these are wicked rulers, and tyrants that kill and spoil, as Prov. 28. 15. Dan. 7. 3. 4. 5. 6. Psal. 80. 13. and false Prophets that devour souls, Matth. 7. 15. Revel. 13. 1. 2. &c. So the Prophet (speaking of their punishments by Tyrants) saith, A Lion out of the forest shall slay them; a Wolf of the evenings, shall spoil them; a Leopard, shall watch over their cities; everyone that goeth out thence, shall be torn in pieces, because their transgressions are many, &c. Ierem. 5. 6. And of their Prophets he saith, O Israel, thy Prophets, are like the Foxes in the deserts; Ezek. 13. 4. See also Ier. 8. 17. and 15. 3. desolate] or lie-waste, because there shall be none walking in them, Esa. 33. 8. Ezek. 14. 15. For this Jeremiah lamented, The ways of Zion do mourn, because none come to the solemn-feasts, Lam. 1. 4.

Vers. 23. by me] or to me, that is, so as to obey me: the Chaldee saith, to my word. contrary] or, stubbornly; or, at all adventures, as verse 21.

Verse 24. contrary] Hebrew in contrariety: Chaldee in hardness; the Greek addeth, with contrary wrath, as in verse 28. GOD dealeth with men according to their wickedness, and with the froward, he showeth himself w•y, Psal. 18. 27.

Verse 25. a sword] the Chaldee explaineth it, them that kill with the sword: see before on verse. 6. vengeance of the covenant] meaning the covenant between God and his people, which was the Law; as the Chaldee expoundeth it; and it shall a <...> on you, the vengeance for that ye have transgressed against the words of the La <...> . So in Ier. 50. 28. he mentioneth the vengeance of the Lord's Temple, that is, the punishment of the Babylonians, for robbing and burning his Temple. ye shall be gathered] to went, for fear of the sword, the Greek translateth, ye shall flee into your cities. the pestilence] in Greek and Chaldee, death; see the annotations on Exod. 5. 3. It implieth the cutting off by death, of man and beast, as Ezek. 14. 19. 21.

Vers. 26. break unto you the staff of bread] that is, take from you the bread, which is the staff (or sustentation) of life. So the Greek translateth, wh•n I shall afflict you with penury of bread. For as to break bread, meaneth to communicate food, Act. 2. 46. so to break the staff of bread, meaneth on the contrary, to take away food, and to punish with pe•ury and famine, Psal. 105. 16• Ezek. 4. 16. and 5. 16. and 14. 13. Bread is called a staff, (or stay) because it upholdeth the heart of man, Psal. 104. 15. then ten] Hebr. and ten, that is, many: so ten often signifieth many, as Gen. 31. 7. Zach. 8. 23. Job 19. 3. by weight] a sign of scarcity and want; Revel. 6. 5. 6. So it is said, I will break the staff of bread in Jerusalem, and they shall eat bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drink water by measure, and with astonishment: that they may want bread and water, and b• astonied one with another, and consume away for their iniquity, Ezek. 4. 16. 17. nor be satisfied] or, not have enough; either for the small quantity, or for want of God's blessing on that they eat: so in Hos 4 10. Mich. 6. 14. This is opposed to the former blessing, in verse 5. And under it, a spiritual famine is implied, as it is said, I will send a famine in the land; not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for •ater, but of hearing the words of the Lord: and they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North even to the East they shall run to and fr̄, to seeke the word of the Lord, and shall not find it. Amos 8. 11. 12.

Vers. 27. not ⟨...⟩ rken] or, not obey; in Chaldee, not receive my Word, ⟨◇⟩ in verse ⟨◇⟩ . contrary] Heb. ⟨...⟩ chance: see the notes on v. 21.

Vers. 28. in wrath contrary] Heb. in wrath (or hear) of ⟨...⟩ riat ⟨◇⟩ (o•of all adventures,) which the Chaldee ⟨...⟩ nslateth, in strength (or vehementie) of anger: the Greek, in contrary (or ⟨◇⟩ ) wrath. And the word wrath be ⟨...⟩ added, showeth the increase of God's judgments, as of the people's sins. ⟨◇⟩ I▪ This addition was, lest they should impute their chastisements, to any other then God, (as the heathens did to Chance, 1 Sam. 6. 9.) and to note the certainty and inevitableness of their afflictions.

Vers. 29. the flesh of ⟨◇⟩ sons] in Greek, the fleshes; and so the word is used plurally in Rev. 19. 18, This threatening is repeated and enlarged, in Deuteronomic 28. 53. 57. mentioned also in Ezek. 5. 10. fulfilled in Jehoram's days, 2 King. 6. 29. and lamented in Jeremiah's, who saith, The hands of the pitiful women, have sodd ⟨...⟩ their own children: they were their meat, in the destruction of the daughter of my people; Lam. 4. 10.

Vers. 30. well destroy your high places] in G•eeke, will make desolate your pillars. In high-places, they used to assemble for worship and sacrifice, 2 Chro. 1. 3. 1 King. 3. 4. especially the Idolaters erected and used such, Ier. 32. 35. Ezek. 16. 16. 2 Chro. 11. 15. and 33. 3. though all the Prophets foretold their destruction, as doth Moses; Hos. 10. 8. Amos 7. 9. Ezek. 6. 3. 4. 6. And by high-places, understand buildings erected; as of Josiah it is said, he burnt an high-place; and stamped it small to powder: 2 King. 23. 15. Sun-images] called in Hebrew, Chammanim, of Chammah, the Sun, which Idolaters were wont to worship, 2 Chron. 23. 5. and the Kings of Judah gave horses to the Sun, and chariots, 2 King. 23. 11. and these Sun-images, they used to set on high, above the Altar, 2 Chronicles 34. 4. And God here threateneth their ruin, as also in Ezek. 6. 4. 6. The Greek here translateth them wooden-images made with hands; but in Esa. 27. 9. idols. cast your carcasses] or lay; Hebr. give your carcasses, that they shall not have seemly burial, or be suffered to rest in their graves; as in Ezek. 6. 4. 5. 13. he saith, I will cast down your slain men before your filthy idols; and I will give the carcasses of the sons of Israel, before their filthy idols; and will scatter your bones, round about your altars. And in Ierem. 8. 1. 2. At that time saith the Lord, they shall bring out the bones of the Kings of Judah, and the bones of his Princes, and the bones of the Priests, and the bones of the Prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jerusalem out of their graves: and they shall spread them before the Sun; and the Moon, and all the host of heaven, &c. they shall not be gathered, nor be buried; they shall be for dung, upon the face of the earth. This judgment Josiah fulfilled in part, when he burnt the bones of the Priests upon the altars; 2 Chro. 34. 5. 2 King. 23. 20. But specialy it: was accomplished by the heathens that destroyed them; Ps. 79. ⟨◇⟩ . 2. 3. filthy idols] or dung ⟨...⟩ gods, so called in contempt Gillul•, Excrements or Dung; the Grand Chaldee, here and often ⟨◇⟩ them idols. my soul] in Chaldee, my Word shall loath (or abhor) you: This is opposed unto the promise, in verse 11. and it is manifested by God's judgments on this people, as the Prophet complaineth, Hath thy soul loathed Zion? Why hast thou smitten us, and 〈ϕ〉 healing for u? &c. Ierem. 14. •9.

Vers. 31. a waste] 〈ϕ〉 〈ϕ〉 -place, a desert: so in verse 33. This was 〈ϕ〉 even on Jerusalem it self, Nehem. 2. 17. So that not only their idols and idolatrous monuments, but their common wealth, and most religious places were rui 〈...〉 . And so by another Prophet he saith, I will make Jerusalem heaps, a den of Dragons; and I will make the cities of Judah a desolation, without an inhabitant, Ier. 9. 11. your Sanctuaries] or, as the Greek translateth, your holy-places: such as were the Tabernacle, (called a Sanctuary, Exodus 25. 8.) and the Temple, 〈ϕ〉 Chronicles 22. 19. and each of them, for the sundry roomths in them, (as the courtyard, holy and most holy place,) was called plurally, Sanctuaries, Psalm 73. 17. and 74. 7. Ier. 51. 51. The desolation of these is bewailed in Lam. 2. 7. And this judgment is opposed to that blessing in verse 11. I will set my Tabernacle amongst you. The Hebrews refer this word Sanctuaries, to their Synagogues also, which they had in all their cities for the people to meet in on the Sabbaths, Luk. 4. 16. the ruining of them, is complained of in Psal. 74. 8. they have burned all the Synagogues of God in the land. They had also Schools or Academies, for training up their youth in the learning of the Law: such scholars of old were called Sons of the Prophets, 2 King. 2. 3. and 4. 38. and 5. 22. in ages following, they were named Disciples, Mark. 2. 18. The rites and orders of these, are in the Hebrew canons described thus. Schoolemasters were to be appointed in every province, & in every city. And the master sate and taught them all the day long, and some part of the night; to train them up for to learn both day and night. Five and twenty scholars, did learn by one Teacher: if there were moe, from five and twenty unto forty; then they set another with him, to help him to teach them: if they were moe then forty, they set them up two schoolemasters. They might not teach the Law, save to a Disciple of honest and good conversation: but if he walked in a way not good, they first converted him unto goodness, and guided him into the right way, and made trial of him, and afterwards they received him into the Academie, (which they called in their tongue •th hammid rash, that is, an House of exposition, or study,) and did teach him. The master sate in the chief place, and the disciples were in a round before him like a crown; that they might all see the master and hear his words. And the Master sate not on a seat, and the Disciples on the ground: but either all on the ground, or all on seats. If when the Master taught, the Disciples understood him not: he might not be angry with them, but must again repeat the thing, though it were many times, until they understood the matter. Also the Disciple might not say, he did understand, when he understood not: but was to ask again, though it were many times. Two might not ask together, nor ask the master of any other thing, then that wherein they studied. They might not sleep in the school, nor talk there of any other matter, then of (God's) Law only: for the holiness of the school, was greater then the holiness of the Synagogue. These and other like orders, are shown by Maimonides, in Talmud T•ra•, chapter 2. and 4. Now touching the Synagogues, they write, that every place wherein there were ten men of Israel, it was necessa 〈...〉 that they should prepare there an house, wherein 〈ϕ〉 assemble for prayer, at all time of p•air. And this place they called Beth hacneseth; An house of Assemblie, (in the Greek a Synagogue.) And the citizens were to be compelled to build them a Synagogue, and to buy them a Book of the Law, Prophets, and (other holy) Scriptures. When they built a Synagogue, it was on the highest place of the city, and built higher then all other houses, (as they gather from Proverbs 8. 1. 2.) And they set a pulpit in the house, for him to go up into, that did read the Law, or was to speak unto the people. They had also in the Synagogue an Ark (or Coffe,) wherein the Book of the Law (the Bible) was kept. The Eders sate first, with their faces towards the people; and all the people sate, one rew before another, and the faces of the one rew, towards the backs of the rew that was before them: so the faces of all the people, were towards the Elders, and towards the Ark. And when Sheliach tsibbur (that is, the Messenger, or Minister, of the congregation,) stood at prayer, he stood on the ground before the Ark, as the rest of the people. In the land of Canaan, and those parts, they used to lay mattes on the floor, to sit upon: but in the cities of Edom, (so they call the Roman Empire,) they sate in their synagogues upon banks or seats. In the Synagogues and Schools, they might use no lightness, laughing, playing, vain talking, eating, drinking, walking or the like: neither in hot weather, might they go into them from the heat, nor in rainy weather from the rain; nor cast up any accounts or reckonings in them; except they were such reckonings as were commanded, as the coffers for alms to the poor, and redemption of prisoners, and the like. If the Synagogue or School had two doors; they might not go in at the one door and out at the other, to shorten their way: for it was not lawful to go into them, save for the things commanded: But who so went in to pray, or to read, might go out at the door over against him, the nearest way. Synagogues and Schools, though they were ruined, yet they remained (as they say) in their holiness, as it is written in Leviticus 26. 31. I will make-desolate your Sanctuaries: though they be desolate, yet they continue in their holiness. They might not pull down a Synagogue, to build another in the same, or in another place: but first they built another, and afterward pulled down the former; lest any violence should befall them; and it should not be built. It was lawful to make a School of a Synagogue, but not a Synagogue of a School: because the holiness of a School, was above the holiness of a Synagogue; and they were to ascend in holiness, but not to descend. And if the citizens sold a Synagogue, they might buy an Ark with the money, or a Bible: But if they sold a Bible, they might buy nothing, with the money save another Bible; for there is no holiness (say they) above the holiness of the Book of the Law, (or Bible.) As they might sell a Synagogue, so they might give it for a gift: but they might not let it out to hire, nor morgage it, &c. Maimonides in Misneh treatise of Prayer, ch. 11. Of these Synagogues, though there be no express mention in Moses; yet the Apostle James testifieth, that Moses of old time had in every city them that preached him, being read in the Synagogues every Sabbath day, Act. 15. 21. And Jesus in the Synagogue of Nazareth, stood up for to read; & there was delivered unto him, the book of the Prophet Isaiah; which when he had opened and read, he closed the book, and gave it again to the Minister, and he sate down, and taught the people, Luk. 4. 16. 17. 20. and in the Synagogues usually on the Sabbaths, there was the reading of the Law and Prophets, and preaching afterwards: Act. 13. 14. 15. 16. &c. And for the School, the name is used in Act. 19. where Paul having disputed and persuaded the things concerning the kingdom of God, for the space of three months, in the Synagogue: when divers were hardened, and believed not, but spake evil of that way before the multitude; he departed from them, and separated the disciples, disputing daily in the School of one Tyrannus; (which the Syriac explaineth thus, he separated the disciples from them, and spake daily with them, in the School of a man whose name was Turannus: and the Arabic likewise saith, he instructed them daily, in the house of a man named Tyrannus;) and this continued by the space of two years, Acts 19. 8. 9. 10. They are reported to have had of old, above four hundred schools and Synagogues in Jerusalem; and there was a place in the Temple where our Lord Jesus was found, when he was twelve years of age, sitting in the midst of the doctors, both hearing them, and asking them questions: Luk. 2. 46. And that there were Synagogues in Jerusalem besides the Temple, appeareth by Paul's words unto Felix, They neither found me in the Temple disputing with any man, nor raising up the people, neither in the synagogues, nor in the city, (speaking of Jerusalem:) Act. 24. 12. I will not smell] that is, as the Chaldee openeth it, I will not accept with favor: and so the phrase is used in 1 Sam. 26. 19. If the Lord have stirred thee up against me, let him smell an offering: and in Amos 5. 21. I will not smell, in your solemn assemblies; that is, not accept with favor the oblation of your solemn assembly, as the Chaldee there interprets it. Compare Gen. 8. 21. This judgment is opposed to that blessing in verse 12. I will walk among you. the swell of your rest] that is, of your sacrifices of rest, and so the Greek translatheth it, the smell (or savor) of your sacrifices: and the Chaldee, the offering of your congregation. So the word fire-offering (or sacrifice) elsewhere expressed, is here to be understood. See Levite. 1. 9. and 2. 12.

Vers. 32 the Land] in Greek, your land. So in Ezek. 33. 28. 29. I will lay the land most desolate, and the Pomp of her strength shall cease, and the mountains of Israel shall be desolate, that none shall pass through. And they shall know that I am Jehovah, when I have laid the land most desolate, because of all their abominations which they have committed. The fulfilling hereof is shown by the Prophets, Esa. 1. 7. 8. even the mountain of Zion was desolate, the Foxes walked upon it, Lam. 5. 18.

V. 33. scatter] or fan, that is, scatter as chaff. Of this they complain in Ps. 44. 12. Thou hast sanned us among the nations. And in Zach. 7. 14. I scattered them with a whirlwind among all the nations, whom they knew not: thus the land was desolate after them, &c. This is opposed to that blessing in v. 5. Ye shall dwell in confident safety in your land. a sword] that is, as the Chaldee explaineth it, them that kill with the sword. The like is threatened in Jer. 9. 16. and in Ezek. 12. 14. 15. and 52. This is contrary to that blessing in v. 6. the sword shall not pass through your land.

V. 34. enjoy] accept, as v. 41. or, pay, accomplish her Sabbaths: meaning her seventh years, which the Chaldee calleth releases, (or remissions) whereof see Lev. 25. 2. Deut. 15. 1. So the word is used for paying or accomplishing, as in John 14. 6. till he accomplish as an hireling, his day; though there also it may mean, a contented-acceptation, and enjoying of that which was desired.

V. 35. it shall rest] or, it shall keep-Sabbath; both from the people, the unworthy inhabitants; and from their tillage thereof, as the law required, Lev. 25. 4. Which being a precept figuring the sanctimony of the church, was not kept, whiles they defiled the land by their iniquities, as Lev. 18. 27. Wherefore whiles the land lay desolate, it should as it were be well pleased, and contentedly enjoy the rest which God would give it, from their sinning upon it. This was fulfilled, when they were 70. years captives in Babylon; as appeareth by 2 Chron. 36. 21. where it is said, Until the land had enjoyed her Sabbaths: as long as she lay desolate, she kept Sabbath, to fulfill seventy years. rested not in your sabbathes] This showeth, that it was not the outward rest and intermission of the land, which God chiefly intended by that law, Lev. 25. (for those Rests, the land enjoyed,) but the resting from sin, by the people that dwelt thereon: even as the Sabbath day, was also a sign of their sanctification. See the notes on Levite. 25. 4.

Vers. 36. a softness] or tenderness, that is, a faintnes or fearfulness, and as the Chaldee translatheth it, a breaking or discouragement. So softness; is used for faintness or want of courage in Deut. 20. 3. Esa. 7. 4. 2 Chron. 13. 7. a driven-leaf] or a tossed leaf, which the Greek translatheth carried, meaning with the wind: and as in Targum Jonathan it is explained, a leaf that is plucked from the tree. This judgment in Job 15. 21. 22. is opened thus, A sound of fears is in his ears; in peace the destroyer will come upon him; he believeth not to return out of darkness; and he is waited for of the sword: &c. as fleeing from a sword] Hebr. the flight of a sword; which the Greek explaineth as they that flee from batteil; and the Chaldee, as a flight from before them that kill with the sword. So Solomon saith, The wicked fleeth, where no man pursueth, Prov. 28. 1.

Vers. 37. shall fall] or, stumble-down, through weakness; or through hast as they flee, they shall fall one on another. before a sword] Chaldee, before them that kill with sword. power-to-stand] Heb. standing, or uprightness; contrary to the blessing in verse 13. The Greek translatheth, ye shall not be able to withstand your enemies.

Vers. 38. shall perish, &c.] or, shall be lost. The fulfilling hereof is shown in Ier. 50. 6. My people hath been perishing (or lost) sheep, their shepherds have caused them to go astray, &c. Unto this curse of the Law, the promise of grace under the Gospel is opposed in Esa. 27. 13. They shall come which are perishing in the land of Assyria, and the Outcasts in the land of Egypt; and shall worship Jehovah, in the  $\langle\phi\rangle$  at Jerusalem. eat you up] in Chalden, consume you: that it, ye shall die in the land of your captivine.

Vers. 39. pine away] in Chaldee, melt away: to pine in iniquity, is to consume and perish in the punishment for iniquity: whereupon this people complained, If our transgressions and our sins be upon us, and we pine away in them; how should we then live? Ezek. 33. 10. See also Ezek 24. 23. It may likewise imply the beginning of grace in them that are left, (the remnant-according to the election of grace, Romans 11. 5.) who by their chastisements are) brought to a sight and sorrow for their sins: as in: Ezek. 36. 31. ye shall loath yourselves in your own sight, for your iniquities. of their fathers] the Chaldee expoundeth it, in the sins of their evil fathers, which they retain in their hands, they shall melt-away with thē.

Vers. 40. And they shall] that is, And if they shall confess: as the word If is understood in Exod. 4. 23. Mat. 1. 2. and 3. 8. Such a confession Daniel made, in Dan. 9. 3. 4. 5. &c. and Nehemiah, Neh. 1. 4. 5. 6. 7. &c. and 9. 1. 2. 29. 30. &c. when with fasting and prayer they confessed their own and their forefathers sins. And from hence the Hebrews do gather, that they should humble themselves and fast certain days in the year, for the calamities that have befallen their forefathers; (such days as he spoken of in Zach. 7. 3. 5. and 8. 19. and other the like;) wherein they stir up their hearts unto repentance, by memorial of their own evil deeds, and the deeds of their fathers, which caused those diffesses to come upon them. Moreover they say, W  $\langle\ldots\rangle$  o seeth the cities of Judah in their desolation, saith, Thy holy cities are à wilderness [as in Esa. 64. 10] and re 〈...〉 his clothes. If he see Jerusalem in her desolation, be faith, Jerusalem is a wilderness, &c. If he see the Sanctuary desolate, he saith, Our holy and our beautiful house, &c. [as in Esa. 64. 11.] and rendeth his clothes. He rendeth them with his hand, all the clothes that are upon him, until he be naked down to the heart. And he never soweth up those rent plico 〈...〉. But all their fasts (they say) shall cease in the eyes of Christ: and not so only, but they shall be 〈◇〉 a good day (or festivitie,) and to days of joy and 〈...〉, as it is written (in Zach. 8. 19.) Thus saith the Lord hosts; the fast of the fourth (month) and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the seventh, and the fast of the tenth, shall be to the house of Judah joy and gladness, and cheer full solemn-feasts: therefore love the truth and once. Maim. tom. 1. in Taanioth, chap. 5. sect. 1. 16. 19. Thus are the unbelievers left to mourn and pine away in their iniquities, and they fast not 〈◇〉 to the Lord; but as he cried and they would 〈...〉 eat; so they cry and he will not hear: because they have refused Christ who is our Peace; and whose glory dwelt amongst us, full of grace and truth, Zach. 7. 5. 13. Eph. 2. 14. John. 1. 11. 14. against me] in Chaldee, against my word. contrary] Hebr. in conntrietie: Chaldee, in hardness, (stubbornly) as verse. 21. 27.

Vers. 41. uncircumcised heart] which the Chaldee expoundeth gross (or foolish) heart; and Targum Jonathan, their proud heart. It meaneth also an unbleeving and disobedient heart, which resisted the Spirit of God; according to that saying, Ye stiff necked and uncircumcised in heart, and ears, ye do always resist the holy Ghost: Act. 7. 51. This he speaketh, because the true circumcision is in the liners, and in the spirit, Romans 2. 29. whereupon the Prophet complaineth, all the house of Israel, are uncircumcised in heart, Jerome. 9. 26. what uncircumcision is, see Genes. 27. be humbled] or, be bowed down, which the Greek translateth, be a shamed; the Chaldee, be broken. It is opposed unto pride, 2 Chronicles 32. 26. Job 40. 12. and implieth their repentance, and turning to the Lord, as in 2 Chronicles 30. 11. Whereupon God saith, If my people, upon whom my name is called, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways: then will I hear from heaven, and will for give their sin, &c. 2 Chronicles 7. 14. accept of their iniquity] that is, of the punishment of their iniquity; as iniquity and sin, is often used for punishment, Genesis 19. 15. Leviticus 20. 17. 19. 20. and to accept of that, is willingly to bear it, and contentedly to enjoy it, (the word before used in verse 34. where the land should enjoy her sabbathes;) or pay for the same. This phrase is used in Esa. 40. 2. where Jerusalem is comforted, because her iniquity is accepted of, (or paid,) when she hath received of the Lord's hand, double for all her sins.

Vers. 42. Then will I] Hebr. And I will remember. This remembrance of God, signifieth his performance of the thing promised; as he saith, I have remembered my covenant, &c. and I will bring you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians, &c. Exod. 6. 5. 6. So our remembering of God's precepts, is expounded for to do them, Psal. 103. 18. And under this promise, God's mercy towards them is implied; as Moses elsewhere saith, For Jehovah thy God, is a merciful God, he will not forsake thee, neither destroy thee, nor forget the covenant of thy fathers, which he sware unto them: Deut. 4. 31. And David; And he remembered for them his covenant: and repented, according to the multitude of his mercies. Psal. 106. 45. my covenant with Jacob] the Greek translateth, the covenant of Jacob, &c. the Chaldee, my covenant that was with Jacob, &c. The remembering of this covenant with their ancestors, meaneth the accomplishment of the gracious promises made in respect of Christ unto forgiveness of sins, and Sanctification of the Spirit. Therefore when Christ the horn of salvation, was raised up in the house of David, God is said to do mercy with our fathers, and to remember his holy covenant, the oath which he sware to our father Abraham, &c. Luke 1. 69. 72. 73. 75. The like grace is promised in Ezekiel 16. 60. &c. So while Daniel was confessing his sin, and the sin of his people Israel, the Angel Gabriel came and told him of the coming of Christ, to finish the transgression, and to seal up sins, and to make atonement for iniquity, and to bring in everlasting righteousness: Daniel 9. 20.—24. For the Lord will not cast-off forever: but though he cause grief, yet will he have compassion, according to the multitude of his mercies; Lamentation 3. 31. 32. This Thai <...> called Jonathan's, expoundeth e <...> is verse thus; Then will I remember in mercy, the covenant which I covenanted with Jacob at Beth•l, (Gen. 35.) and also the covenant which I covenant•d with Isaac in mount Morijah; (Gen. 22.) and also the covenant which I covena <...> d with Abraham, but <◇> the pieces (of the sacrifices, Gen. 15.) Whereas other-where the covenant is usually mentioned once, and from Abraham do•neward to Isaac, and so to Jacob, as is to be seen in Exod. 2. 24. and 6. 3. 4. here God mentioneth his covenant thrice, for more confirmation, and beginning with Jacob, goeth upward to Abraham (the father of the faithful,) so leading them by degrees to his first and most ancient promises; and in them to Christ, whose Gospel was preached to Abraham; and such as be Christ's, are Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise, Gal. 3. 8. 29. the land] which shall again be inhabited and tilled; as it is written, In the day that I shall have cleansed you from all your iniquities, I will also cause you to dwell in the cities, and the wastes shall be built, and the desolate land shall be tilled, whereas it lay desolate in the sight of all that passed by, &c. Ezek. 36. 33. 34. So another Prophet saith, O Lord thou hast been favorable to thy land, thou hast returned the captivity of Jacob; and, our land shall give her fruit, &c. Psal. 85. 2. 13. And these promises have also their accomplishment in Christ; who pronounced this blessing to the meek, that they shall inherit the laud; Matth. 5. 5. But that earthly land, wherein they and their fathers so journeyed, was à figure of a better country, that is, an heavenly, Heb. 11. 9. 16.

Vers. 43. and shall enjoy] as in verse 34. The Greek translateth, then shall the land accept her sabbathes. <◇> because even for because] the reason is doubled, for the more vehemency; and to imply their often and manifold sins, in the breaking of his covenant. The like phrase is in Ezek. 13. 10.

Vers. 44. in the land of their enemies] cast out thither for their sins, and so unworthy of grace, being to be reputed as enemies themselves. This commendeth the mercy and free grace of God in Christ, for when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God, by the death of his Son: Rom. 5. 10. to consume them.] This promise, was partly fulfilled at their return out of Babylon, as is remembered in Nehem. 9. 31. Nevertheless for thy great mercies sake thou didst not utterly consume them, nor forsake them. But chiefly the complement hereof, is by the Gospel, as the Apostle showeth in Rom. 11. 26. 28, 29. Like promises are made in D•uter. 4. 29.—31. Ezek. 24. 22. 23. I am Jehovah] or, I Jehovah, <◇> their God: which on •his part, signifieth his power, goodness, and readiness to save them; and for them it is a sign of blessing; for blessed is that people, whose God is Jehovah. Psal. 144. 15. and 33. 12.

Vers. 45. of their ⟨...⟩ rs] or, of the first; which Targum Jonathan expoundeth, the covenant which I ⟨ϕ⟩ with their ancient fathers. The Greek translateth it, their first covenant, when I brought them for ⟨...⟩ the land of Egypt. Which deliverance, being a figure of a better by Christ; God, when he would assure them of his grace, if they turn unto him by faith, mentioneth that covenant and redemption. For though the covenant of the Gospel, be another then that which he made with them, when he brought them out of Egypt, as the Apostle showeth by testimony of the Prophets, Heb. 8. 8. 13. from Ier. 31. yet the covenant or law then given, was a Scholemaster unto Christ. Gal. 3. 24. and Christ is the end of the law for righteousness, to everyone that believeth; Rom. 10. 4. And thus Moses endeth the curses of the Law, due to transgressors; with promise of grace to the remnant of the Jews (according to the election of grace, Rom. 11. 5.) which in the latter days shall come again unto him; whom he is able to graff in again, and so will, if they bide not in unbelief; for as touching the election, they are beloved for the Fathers sakes, Romans 11. 23. 28.

CHAP. XXVII.

A Law for vows, whereby men sanctify the estimation of persons: whose value is set, between twenty and sixty years old; 5, between five, and twenty years old; 6, between a month, and five years old; 7, from sixty years old and upward. 8, Of the poor man's estimation, 9, Of sanctifying beasts, 14, and houses, 16, and fields of a man's possession, 22, or fields of his own buying. 26, The Lord's firstlings may not be sanctified by men. 28, No devoted thing may be redeemed. 30, The tithe of the land is holy, and the owners may not redeem it, but by adding a fifth part. 32, The tithe of beasts may not be changed or redeemed.

AND Jehovah spake, unto Moses, saying Speak unto the sons of Israel, and say unto them; A man, when he shall separate a vow: by thy estimation, of souls, to Jehovah. Then thy estimation shall be, of the male; from twenty years old, and unto sixty years old: even thy estimation shall be, fifty shekels of silver, by the shekel of the Sanctuary. And if it be a female: then thy estimation shall be, thirty shekels. And if (it be) from five years old, and unto twenty years old; then thy estimation shall be, of the male, twenty shekels: and for the female, ten shekels. And if (it be) from a month old, and unto five years old; then thy estimation shall be, of the male, five shekels of silver: and for the female, thy estimation shall be, three shekels of silver. And if it be from sixty years old and above, if a male; then thy estimation shall be, fifteen shekels: and for a female, ten shekels. And if he be poorer, then thy estimation; then he shall present him, before the Priest; and the Priest, shall estimate him: according to that which the hand of him that vowed can attain, shall the Priest estimate him.

And if it be a beast, where of they offer, an oblation, unto Jehovah: all th•• he give<sup>•h</sup> of ⟨ϕ⟩ , unto Jehovah, it shall be holy. He shall not altar it, nor change it; a good for a ⟨ϕ⟩ , or a bad for a good: and if changing he shall change, beast for beast; then it, and the exchange thereof, shall be holy. And if it be any unclean beast, whereof they do not offer, an oblation, unto Jehovah: then he shall present the beast, before the Priest. And the Priest shall estimate it; whether it be good or bad: according to thy estimation O Priest, so shall it be. And if redeeming he will redeem it: then he shall add the fifth part thereof, unto thy estimation.

And a man, when he shall sanctify his house to be holy, unto Jehovah; then the Priest shall estimate it; whether it be good or bad: as the Priest shall estimate it, so shall it stand, And if he that sanctified it, will redeem his house: then he shall add the fifth part, of the money of thy estimation, unto it, and it shall be his.

And if a man shall sanctify unto Jehovah, (same part) of a field of his possession; then thy estimation shall be, according to the seed thereof: the seed of an homer of barley; at  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  shekels of silver, If he sanctify his  $\langle \diamond \rangle$ , from the year of Jubilee: according to  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  estimation, it shall stand. And if he sanctify his field, after the Jubilee: then the Priest shall reckon unto him the money, according to the years that remain; even-unto  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  year of Jubilee: and it shall be abared  $\langle \diamond \diamond \rangle$  estimation. And if redeeming he  $\langle \diamond \diamond \rangle$  me the field, that sanctified it: then  $\langle \diamond \rangle$   $\langle \dots \rangle$  de the fifth part, of the money of thy  $\langle \dots \rangle$  ation, unto it, and it shall stand unto  $\langle \diamond \rangle$ . And if he will not redeem the field;  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  have fold the field, to another man:  $\langle \diamond \diamond \rangle$  not be redeemed, anymore. And  $\langle \diamond \diamond \rangle$ , when it goeth-out in the Jubilee,  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  be holy unto Jehovah, as a field devo  $\langle \dots \rangle$   $\langle \diamond \rangle$  possession thereof, shall be the Priests.  $\langle \diamond \rangle$   $\langle \dots \rangle$  he sanctify unto Jehovah; a field of  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  buying; which is not of the field of  $\langle \dots \rangle$  session: Then the Priest shall reckon  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  him; the tribute of thy estimation; even  $\langle \dots \rangle$  the year of Jubilee; and he shall give  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  estimation, in that day; an holy thing,  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  Jehovah. In the year of Jubilee, the  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  shall return, unto him of whom he  $\langle \diamond \diamond \rangle$  unto him, to whom the possession of the land (did belong.) And all thine estimation, shall be, according-to the shekel of the san  $\langle \dots \rangle$  arie: twentit Gerahs, shall be the she k•ll. But the firstling, which shall be first borne to Jehovah, of the beasts; a man shall no• sanctify it: whether it be ox or sheep, it is Jehovah's. And if it be of an unclean beast, then he shall redeem it according-to thine estimation; and shall add, a fifth part of it, thereto: or if it be not redeemed, then it shall be sold according-to thy estimation.

Notwithstanding, any devoted▪ thing, that a man shall devote unto Jehovah, of all that he hath; of man and beast, and of the field of his possession; shall not be sold, nor redeemed: every devoted-thing, is holy of holies, unto Jehovah. None devoted, which shall be devoted, of man, shall be redeemed: but shall surely be put to death.

And all the tithe of the land, of the seed of the land, of the fruit of the tree; is Jehovah's: holiness, unto Jehovah. And if a man redeeming will redeem, ought of his tithe: he shall add thereto, the fifth part thereof. And all the tithe of the herd, or of the flock; of all that passeth, under the rod: the tenth, shall be holy, unto Jehovah. He shall not search, whether it be good or bad; neither shall he change it: and if changing he shall change it; then both it, and the change thereof, shall be holy, it shall not be redeemed.

These are the commandments, which Jehovah commanded Moses, for the sons of Israel: in the mountain, of Sinai.

Annotations.

A Man] or, Any-one, man or woman. The Lord having given throughout this book, Laws, concerning necessary duties appertaining to his service; concludeth it with this Law touching vows and voluntary services, which his people should honor him with, of their own accord, through the working of his spirit in them wherein he requireth a constant mind, that they should not alter their purposes, or change their promises made unto him. separate a vow] in Greek, vow a vow: the word separate, signifieth to exempt after a singular manner from common use, ⟨ϕ⟩ expoundeth it, separate with his mouth: and Ab, Ezra; separate and explain. A vow it a religious promise made unto the Lord, & for the most part was made with prayer, and paid with thanksgiving; Numb. 21. 2. 3. Psal. 66. 13. 14. And vows were either of abstinence, such as are spoken of in Num. 30. & the vow of Nazarites, Numb. 6. or, they were to give something to the Lord, as sacrifices, Levite. 7. 16. or the value of persons; beasts, houses or lands▪ concerning which the Law is here given. The Hebr. say, A vow is parted into two parts ⟨ϕ⟩ the first is tha▪ whereby a man restraineth himself from lawful things▪ as when he saith, such or such fruits be unlawful, ⟨ϕ⟩ me, all these 30. ⟨ϕ⟩ forever. ⟨ϕ⟩ The 2. is that whereby he bindeth himself to give •t oblation, which he was ⟨2 pages missing⟩ though he that estimateth survivs, yet he is free. For there is no estimation of the dead: and he that is estimated must needs stand in judgment. If be say, Such a man's price be upon me; and he stand in judgement, and die before they have determined his price: loe he is free, for there is no price of the dead. Ma ⟨...⟩ in Erachin, c. 1. s. 21. 23. can attain] that is, according to his ability: as in Lev. 14. 21. 22. So the Greek translateth, is able. Thus God would not suffer his holy name to be abused by any, but even the poorest man that made a vow, was to pay, or remain a perpetual debtor: that all might learn not to be rash with their mouths, not to let their hearts be hasty to utter a word before God; nor suffer their mouth to cause their flesh to sin: for God hath no pleasure in sooles, Eccles. 5. 2. 4. 6. Of this the Hebrews say; All the estimations appointed in the Law; he that estimateth is to give them, if he be rich. But if he be poor, and his hand cannot attain it; he is to give all that is found in his hand, though it be but one shekel, and he is discharged, Lev. 27. 8. And they make account that he is to give though it be one shekel, if he have but one shekel for that it is said, (in v. 25.) All thy estimation shall be according to the shekel of the Sanctuary: Loe thou art taught, that in the estimations, there is no less then a shekel, neither moe then fifty. If there be not found in his hand so much as a shekel, they may not take of him less then a shekel, but leave all upon him as a debt, and if he be able, and grow rich her shall give the whole estimation appointed in the Law. A rich man that estimateth (or vometh) and groweth poor; or that estimateth when he is poor, and groweth rich: he ⟨ϕ⟩ ⟨⟩ bound to pay the estimation of the rich. What is the difference between him that oweth the estimation of the poor, & him that oweth the estimation of the rich &c. He that oweth the estimation of the poor. when they have taken of him all that his hand attaineth to, though but one shekel: if afterward he wax rich, he is not bound to pay it. But if he owe the estimation of the rich, the rest of the estimation remaineth upon him, till he be rich; und he is to pay the estimation which is upon him. He that expresseth the estimation, and saith, my estimation be upon me fifty shekels; or such a man's estimation be upon me, thirty shekels: he is not to be judged according to that a hu▪ his hand can attain▪ but they take all that is found in his hand, and the rest, lieth upon him as a debt, till he be rich, then he must give it. He that saith, Lot upon me be an estimation absolute, and 〈...〉 sseth it not &c. he is to be judged according to his ability as others that do estimate. They that owe estimations and prices, men may take pannes of them, and take of them by force so much as they have vowed: and are not bound to restore them their pawn by day or by night: And they may sell all that is sound to be theirs of immovable goodt and of moveable, of apparel, householdstuffe, servants and cattle; and make payment out of them all. But they may not sell his wives apparel, nor his children's, &c. Maimonides in Erachin. chap. 3. sect. 2. 3. &c. 14.

Vers. 9. a best] in Greek, of the beasts whereof a 〈ϕ〉 is offered, meaning of the bullock, sheep or goat unble mished; which he shall separate by a vow, as in verse. 2. all that he giveth] or, as the Greek trans 〈...〉 ▪ whosoever giveth of these. shall be holy] for the altar of the Lord: or the price thereof holy for the maintenance of the sanctuary. Thus the Hebrews understand it; because they think that such beasts as were meet for the altar, might not be sanctified to any other use, then upon the altar: but if a man hath sanctified it for other use, then the price of it valued by the Priest, was for that other use, and the beast for the Altar. He that sanctifieth his beasts absolutely, or sanctifieth his goods absolutely, they provide that all perfect beasts meet to be offered on the altar, the males be sold for Burnt-offerings and offered up for Burnt-offerings, and the females be sold and offered for Peace-offerings; and the prices fall to the maintenance of the Sanctuary; for that which is absolutely sanctified, is for the maintenance of ( 〈ϕ〉 ) house. And of this is that spoken in Lov. 27. 9. M 〈...〉 in Erachin, ch. 5. sect. 7.

Vers. 10. not alter] or, not scourse it, nor change it two words are use of one signification, to show the weight of this law, whereby God forbiddeth and punisheth men's levity and inconstancy in holy things; whether these vows here spoken of, or any other. The Hebrew canons say, Whosoever changeth, is to be beaten (by the Magistrate,) for every beast that he changeth, Lev. 27. 10. Maimonides t.m. 3. in Temurah (or treat. of Change) ch. 1. sect. 1. or a bad for a good] Though a man would give a better then he had vowed, the Law suffereth him not to change. For (as the Hebrews say) the nature of man inolineth to increase his wealth, and to spare his goods, and though he have vowed and sanctified, 〈ϕ〉, may be he will turn and repent, and redeem it for less then it is worth, &c. and when he cannot redeem it, he will change it for a worse then it. And if he 〈ϕ〉 have leave given him to change a bad for a good, 〈ϕ〉 would change a good for a bad, and say it is good. Therefore the scripture absolutely forbiddeth him to change, and mulcteth him if he changeth, saying, Then it and the exchange thereof shall be holy, (l. v. 27. 10.) And all these things are to sul due his evil concupiscence, 〈ϕ〉 to rectify his mind. And the many judgments the are in the Law, are no other them counsels from far, from (God, who is great in counsel, to rectify the knowledge and to direct all works. And so he saith, (in Prov. 22. 20. 21.) Have not I written unto thee excellent things, in counsels and knowledge: that I might make thee know the certainty of the words of truth, that thou mightest answer the words of truth, to them that send unto thee. Maim. in Temurah, chap. 4. sect. 13. if changing he shall change] that is, if at all, or any way he change. shall be holy] Hebrew, so all be holiness: that is, both of them shall be the Lord's, and neither of them his that through cove 〈...〉, leightnesse, or for any other respect changeth an hallowed thing. By the Hebrew canons, some changes stood in force, and of some there was a nullity. He that changeth his oblation, for a beast which is not his own, it is no change: for no man can sanctify a thing which is not his own. Priests make no change of a Syn-offering, or of a Trespassoffring: nor although they be theirs, yet have they no due unto them whiles they are alive; for they have no right to the flesh, till the blood be sprinkled. Neither do the Priests make charge of the firstling, for though it be his due whiles it is alive, ⟨◇⟩ it is not his due from the beginning, for the beginning of it is in the house of Israel. But the owners that change the firstling all the while it is in their house, they make a change. And so a Priest that changeth a Firstling which is borne of his own, (not a Firstling which he hath received of an Israelite) that is a change. The high Priests ram (Lev. 16.) maketh a change; but his bullock maketh no change, though it be one of his own: because his brethren the Priests have their atonement by it, and so are as partners in it. Fowls, and Meat-offerings, make no change; for the law speaketh but of beasts. He that sanctifieth a beast that hath a fixed blemish, it maketh no change; but he that sanctifieth a beast that hath a transitory blemish, or sanctifieth a perfect beast, and afterward a fixed blemish cometh upon it; this maketh a change. Whether a man change a perfect beast for a blemished, or a blemished for a perfect, or change in Ox for a sheep, or a sheep for an Ox, or a sheep for a goat, or goat for sheep, or males for females, or females for males, or change one for an hundred, or an hundred for one, either at once, or one after another: this is a change, and he is to be beaten, according to the number of beasts which he hath changed. Change is, when the owner of an oblation saith of a beast of the common beasts which are his, This shall be for that; or, This shall be the exchange of that; This shall be for that Sin offering, or for that Burnt-offering; (having thus said) it is a change. The Law for the offering of exchanges is thus; The exchange of a Burnt-offering, shall be offered for a burnt-offering: and if the exchange of it be a female, it shall feed, till some blemish fall on it, then it is sold, and a burnt-offering is brought with the price of it. The exchange of a Sin-offering, is to die; of a Trespass-offering, is to feed till it be blemished, and the price they make a voluntary-offering. The exchange of Peace-of-frings, is as the Peace-offerings in all respects, &c. The exchange of the Firstling, is the Priests; and the exchange of the tithe beast, is the owners, &c. Maimonides in Temurah, ch. 1. sect. 3 9. 14. and ch. 2. sect. 1. and ch. 3. 1. &c.

Vers. 11 unclean beast] This may be taken generally for all unclean beasts which men did vow, except the dog, the price whereof might not be brought into the house of the Lord, for any vow, Deut. 23. 18. But the Hebrews understand it also of oxen, sheep or goats, upon which are blemishes, whereby they are become unclean for the altars. He that sanctifieth a perfect beast for the altar, and there fall a blemish upon it, whereby it is disalld: lot this is estimated and redeemed. And of this it is said (in Lev. 27. 11.) AND IF ANY VNCLEANE BEAST, &c. and he is to bring with the price thereof another oblation like it, Maim. in Erachin, ch. 5. s. 11. But that other unclean beasts might be sanctified also, they grant, Ibidem, s. 17. present the beast] or, make it stand, as verse. 8. Whosoever sanctifieth a beast, either clean or unclean, either of the holy things for (God's) house, or holy for the altar, whereupon a blemish is f ⟨...⟩ , or which is perfect and meet to be offered: it is necessary that it be presented in the Judgment hall, Lev. 27. 11. Therefore if the beast die, before it be estimated and redeemed; they redeem it not after it is dead, but do bury it. But if he sanctify a stain, or a dead beast for the reparation of the sanctuary; lo that is redeemed as other moveable goods, Maimonides, in Erachin, ch. 5. sect. 12.

Vers. 12. thy estimation ô Priest] The Greek here changeth the person, saying. As the Priest valueth it; likewise the Chaldee, According to the estimation of the Priest. This rate or value which the Priest set, was (as Sol. Rashi here noteth,) for any other man that would come to buy it. But if the owner would redeem it, the scripture layeth more upon him, to add the fifth part: and so for him that sanctifieth his house, or his field, or that would redeem his second •ithe; the owners are to add a•ist part, but not any other man.

Vers. 13. If redeeming he will redeem it] that is, will at all redeem it, as repenting of his vow which he hath made, and will not have the beast sold, that the price thereof may be given to the Lord, but reserve it for his own use. the fifth part] and the fifth part which is added, loe it is as the holy thing it self, and there is one law for them (both.) Maimonides in Erachin, chap. 7 sect. 〈◇〉. For abusing or p•rioyning holy things, the Law elsewhere commandeth a fifth part to be added besides the principal, as a mulct upon the offender for his fault, Levite. 5. 16. and 6. 4. 5. and 22. 14. so in this case of vows, when he that voweth will not stand to his promise, the Lord layeth on him this penalty for his inconstancy and lightness of mind: that 〈◇〉 might learn to be faithful and stable minded, in all things pertaining unto him and his service, though they proceeded at first from their own voluntary will. unto thy estimation] unto the value which thou the Priest hast set the beast a•, by the estimation: or, unto the money which thou hast valued it at; as in v. 15. 19. So the owner was to give so much as any other man, and a fifth part more.

V. 14. his house] and so by proportion, any other of his moveable goods. He that sanctifieth his house, or his unclean beast, or any other of his moveables; they are to be valued according to that they are worth, be they good or bad; and if he that sanctified them, he or his wife or his heir will redeem them, he is to add a fifth part &c. whether it be an house in a walled city, or an house in a village, it may be redeemed always, Maimonides in Erachin c. 5. s. 3. To sanctify an house, was by vow, as if a man said, This house be holy unto the Lord, or any like words. so shall it stand] so shall the value be, neither less nor more. Only the owner, if he will redeem it, must give the fifth part more then the value, ver. 15.

V. 15. the money] Hebrew, the silver of thy estimation, which the Greek explaineth, the silver of the price, and the Chaldee, the silver of the estimation thereof, so in v. 19. From this word Silver, the Hebrews say, Sanctified things might not be redeemed with lands, or with servants, or with bills (of writing) but either with money, or other moveables that are like unto money. Maintony in Erachin ch. 7. sect. 1.

Ver. 16. field of his possession] which in verse. 22. is distinguished from a field of his own buying; the field which cometh to a man by inheritance, that is called the field of his possession (or tenement,) saith Maimonides in Erachin, chap. 4. sect. 1. to the seed thereof] that is, the seed which is enough to sow the field. Not according to the worth of (the field) for whether the field were good or bad, the ransom of the holiness thereof was alike. an Homer] the name of a measure, which contained ten Ephahs or bushels, Ezek. 45. 11. The Greek and Chaldee, translate it a Cor, and that was one with the Homer, Ezek. 45. 14. Of it there is mention in King. 4. 22. where King Solomon's daily bread for his house, was thirty Cors, of fine flower, and three score Cors of meal, that is, three hundred Ephahs or bushels of flower, and six hundred of meal. The Hebrews likewise explain it thus. The Homer is a Cor: and that is two Letheks [which Lethek is mentioned in Hos. 3. 2.] and the Lethek is fifteen Seahs [or pecks, whereof see Gen. 18. 6.] So the Homer is found to be thirty Seahs which are ten Ephahs, every three Seahs an Ephah. Maim. in Erachin. ch. 4. sect. 4. By this we may understand that Judgment threatened in Isaiah 5. 10. the seed of an Homer, shall yield an Ephah; where ten bushels are sown, one bushel shall be reaped. at fifty shekels] that is, shall be esteemed as 50 shekels, for 49. years, to weat, from Jubilee to Jubilee, and so the Hebrews explain it, Every place which is sit to have an Homer of barley sown therein, &c. the estimation thereof is fifty shekels, for all the years of the Jubilee; but the Jubilee year is none of the number. And whether he sanctify the best field that is in all Israel, or the worst of all; the estimation is this same. Maimonides in Erachin chap. 4. sect. 2. This estimation God set for a field meet to be sown; of which the Hebrews say further, that if it were full of trees, though he expressed them not, yet he, hath sanctified the trees also. If he sanctify a field which is not fit to be sown; they redeem it according to the worth of it: and so if he sanctify the trees only; they are redeemed by the worth of them: Ibidem, chap. 4. sect. 15. 16.

Vers. 17. to thy estimation] in Greek and Chaldee, to the estimation thereof, meaning the fifty shekels before mentioned.

Ver. 18. abated] or diminished from thy estimation, which the Greek and Chaldee expound, from the estimation (or value) thereof. As, if a man sanctify the field of his possession, when there remain eight years to the Jubilee, besides the year of Jubilee, which is none of the reckoning, who so will redeem it, must give for the seed of every, Homer of barley, eight shekels, and eight half Gerahs (which the Rabbin's call Pundions.) And if the owner will redeem it, they must give ten shekels, and ten half Gerahs, for they must add a fifth part, v. 19. Thus the Hebrews open it, in Erachin, ch. 4. l. 5. And Rashi (on Lev. 27.) saith: A place (to be own with) an Homer of barley, is at 50. shekels, so the scripture determineth, when a man cometh to redeem it from the beginning of a Jubilee, (which was every fiftieth year:) but if he came to redeem it in the midst of a Jubilee, he gave according to the reckoning, a shekel and an half Gerah for a year, because there is no sanctifying, but according to the court of the years of the Jubilee, for if it be redeemed, it is well if not, the Treasurer selleth it for this price to another, and it remaineth in the hand of the buyer until the Jubilee, as all other fields that are sold &c. Of those sales till the Jubilee, see Lev. 25. years that re <...> he saith not year, but years: whereupon they say, if there remain but a year, he may not give a shekel to redeem it, it is not redeemed by abating of money, but two years or more before the Jubilee. Maimonides in Erachin, chap. 4. sect. 7.

Vers. 19. that sanctified it] The Hebrews say, [unspec] if either he himself, or his wife, or any of his eyres, will redeem it, they are to add the fifth part thereto: Maimonides in Erachin, c. 4. s. 5. The reason why the owners were to pay more then other men, when they redeemed their lād, seemeth to be in mistake of their lightness, (as before is noted,) for that they would vow a thing to God, and so soon change their minds, as to get it again into their own hand: for all rashness and levity in vows, is blamed, Eccles. 5. 2. 4. 5. shall stand unto him that is, be his, and so continue assured: the Greek translath, shall be to him. If he that sanctified it, hath redeemed it, before the Jubilee come, then it returneth to the owner: and the estimation which he hath given, falleth to the maintenance of the Sanctuary, as is aforesaid. Likewise if the son of him that sanctified it, hath redeemed it, it returneth to his father at the Jubilee. But if his daughter, or some other of his kin, or a stranger hath redeemed it: then if he that sanctified it, redeem it again out of their hand, it returneth to him forever: but if he redeem it not out of their hand, but the Jubilee come, whiles it is under the hand of the daughter, or other of the kindred, or of the stranger; then it goeth out as a sanctified thing, and never returneth to the owner thereof, but is a possessiō for the Prie <...> v. 21. And the Priests need not give the price of it, because it is already redeemed, and the estimation is received of another; but it returneth to the Priests, <ϕ> they were the owners. Provided, that it be an Israe <...> but if a Priest or Levite sanctified it, he may rede <...> it at any time, though after the Jubilee is gone over <ϕ> , Lev. 25. 32. 34. Maim. in Erachin, c. 4. s. 20. 21.

V. 20. or if he have sold] Hebrew, and if, &c: b•t [unspec] (as Chazkuni here observeth) there is many an A <...> instead of Or. The Hebrews (as Sol. Rashi on this place) understand this He have sold, to be mean <ϕ> of the owner (who having sanctified it, could not then sell it,) but of the Treasurer which in the Sanctuary hath the disposing of such sanctified things.

V. 21. when it goeth out] out of the hand of him that [unspec] bought it of the Treasurer; as other fields that go out of the hands of those that bought them, at the Jubilee: saith Sol. Rashi. holy] Hebrew holiness; that is, an holy field: so in v. 23. a field devoted] Hebrew, a field of devotion, or of separation, as the Greek translatheth it, a separated land; see after on v. 28. the Priests] but, as the Hebrews write, not without paying for it to the Lord, to whom it was vowed. He that sanctifieth a field of his possession, and th• Jubilee come, and he hath not redeemed it, but it still remaineth sanctified; the Priests do give the price of it, and it is a possession unto them: because no holy thing goeth out without redemption. And that price, falleth to be holy, for the maintenance of the Sanctuary. Maimonides in Erachin, ch. 4. s. 19. But if it had been redeemed before by another, they had it free, as is noted on v. 20. Now what Priests should have the field, is shown thus: When a field goeth out to the Priests in the Jubilee, it shall be given to the Priests that are in the Ward (or course of ministratation) wherein the Jubilee falleth. And if the beginning of the year of Jubilee be on a Sabbath when one ward goeth out. & another cometh in: it shall be given to the ward that goeth out. Ibidem in Erachin, ch. 4. sect. 24. Of these wards or courses, see 1 Chron. 24.

Vers. 22. of his own buying] not left him by inheritance from his ancestors: and therefore was [unspec] not his, but farmed by him for term of years, till the Jubilee. of the field] that is, of the fields, or land: for the word field is used for an whole country, Gen. 14. 7.

V. 23. the tribute] or, the sum, called by the Gr. and Chaldee, the tribute of the value thereof so much as he was to give as a tribute to the Lord, according as the priest valued it. And he valued not the land, but the fruits or revenue, according to the number of years: for he that bought it, had no power to sanctify save the fruits which he had in it, until the Jubilee, saith Chazkuni. This redemption of purchased or farmed land, differed from the redemption of inheritances aforesaid, thus; They set it at a price, looking how much it was worth until the Jubilee; and who so would, redeemed it. And if he that sanctified it did redeem it, he added not the fifth part thereof unto it, for the maintenance of the Sanctuary, as in other estimations and prices (he did, v. 19.) And when the Jubilee cometh, it returneth to the first owner that sold it, &c. And it goeth not out to the Priests, because no man can sanctify a thing which is not his own, Maim. in Erachin, ch. 4. s. 26. And we have been taught in Lev. 25. that Israelites lands could not be sold properly, but let out till the Jubilee; their sales, were but leases for  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  me of years. thine estimation] the Greek and Chaldee expound it, the estimation (or value) thereof. in that day] and in that place, when and where the thing is estimated. Hereupon they say, that if any man pleaded, this thing would be worth more after such a time, or in such a place, whereas now or here it is worth little, they harkned not unto him, but sold everything in the place thereof, and in the time thereof, whensoever it was. Excepting lands, for they cried the sale of them sixty days together, morning and evening, and afterward sold them. Maim.  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  Erachin, ch. 3. sect. 19. 20. an holy thing • r, estimation of holiness.

Ver. 24. the possession] or, the inheritance of the land; that is, the first owner; according to the law [unspec] in Lev. 25. And this though it had gone through many hands. If (a man) sold is field to the first, and the first sold it to the second, and the second to the third, though it were to a hundred one after another •n the year of Jubilee, it shall return to the first owner, Lev. 27. 24: Maim. in Jobel, c. 11. s. 15. So the Priests had not this land at the Jubilee, as they had the former, in verse. 21.

V. 25. all  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  estimation] Greek, every valuation. of the Sanctuary] Hebrew of sanctity or holiness; which the Greek translath holy weights: as the Hebrew Shekel properly signifieth a weight: and in Israel, they used to pay their money by weight; as, I weighed him the money, seventeen shekels of silver, &c. and I weighed him the money in the balances: Ier. 32 9. 10. twenty Gerahs] The holy shekel was the weight of 32• barley cornes, of pure silver. The Gerah (called of the Hebrew Doctors Megnah) weighed sixteen barley cornes. Under the second Temple, they added to the Shekel, and made it the weight of a Selangh, which weighed 384. barley grains, as witnesseth Maim. tom. 1. in shekels, ch. 1. l. 2. 3. See the annotations on Gen. 20. 16. and Exodus 30. 13. But Ezekiel in the captivity prophesied to those that returned, and that should see the City and Temple of Christ, The shekel shall be twenty Gerahs, Ezek. 45. 12. that all corruption in the holy weights should be done away; and spiritually, the ancient truth in religion restored.

Ver. 26. But the firstling] the Greek •ranslateth, And every firstborn, (or firstling,) which shall be born among thy beasts, shall be the Lord's; and  $\langle \dots \rangle$  ne shall sanctify it. Because the firstborn were already sanctified by the Law, Exod. 13. 2. 12. and were  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  Lord's; therefore they could not by any man be sanctified or consecrated by vow, because a man cannot sanctify that which is not his own. Whereupon the Hebrews have these rules; No man may sanctify a thing which is not his own. If he devote his son, or his daughter, or his servant, or a field that he hath bought, [for no field was a man's own, but by inheritance;] loe they are not devoted: for a man cannot sanctify a thing, the body whereof is not his own. Neither can a man sanctify a thing which is not in his own power; as if he have left in another man's hand a thing to keep, and he which had it to keep denieth it; the owner cannot sanctify it. But if he deny it not, it is in the owners power, &c. Maim. in Erachin, chap. 6. sect. 21. 22. So because the Law in Levite. 25. 39. &c. forbiddeth the Hebrews to be sold for servants or slaves, a man could no otherwise devote or sanctify himself, then to pay his valuation or price. And this the Hebrew canons also do aver; He that sanctifieth himself, sanctifieth nothing but his price; and he is bound to give the price of himself; and it is lawful for him to do (his business) and to eat, for loe he hath not sanctified his body, as a servant. Maim. ibidem sect. 20. or sheep] or goat, for that also is implied in the original word, Exod. 12. 3. 5.

V. 27. of an unclean beast] the Greek translatheth plurally, of unclean beasts. Rashi expoundeth this of such unclean beasts as were spoken of in v. 11. which a man sanctified unto the reparation of the sanctuary. to thine estimation] the Greek and Chaldee translate, the estimation (or value) thereof. So after, and usually in this chapter.

Vers. 28. devoted thing] in Hebrew Cherem, in Greek Anathema: which word Luke useth in Greek for the gifts wherewith the Temple was adorned, Luk. 21. 5. It meaneth things devoted, dedicated, and separated from common use to God. And often this Cherem is used for destroying a thing utterly as accursed, Exod. 22. 20. Deut. 7. 2. and 20. 17. and for forfeiting or confiscation of goods, Ezra 10 8. Here and in Num. 18. and other where it is put for devoted things, wholly given unto God. There is also a difference between the estimations forementioned, and the devoted things, as the Hebrews observe: that the estimations are determined (or set) by the Law, but the devoted things are not. Maim. in Erachin, c. 1. s. 23. Likewise of devoted things (they say) some were the Lord's, some the Priests, Num. 18. 14. He that saith, This be a devoted thing to the maintenance of the sanctuary, or devoted unto God, &c. it falleth to the maintenance of the Sanctuary: but if he saith, Devoted absolutely, then it is the Priests; for absolute devoted things are for the Priests, Numb. 18. 14. What differ the devoted things of the priests, from the devoted things of God? God's devoted things are holy, and may be redeemed by the worth of them, and the price falleth to the maintenance of the Sanctuary, and the goods themselves go out for common (or profane) things. But the things devoted for the priests, may never be redeemed, but are given to the Priest as an heave-offering. And of the thing devoted for the Priests, he saith (in Levite. 27. 28.) IT SHALL NOT BE SOLD, NOR REDEEMED: not sold to another, nor redeemed by the owners. Maim. in Erachin, ch. 6. sect. 1. 4. Howbeit, this difference appeareth not by the Law of God, which speaketh of all devote things in general. of all that he hath] Hereupon they say, A man may devote of his herd, and of his flock, and of his servants that are Canaanites, and of the field of his possession: but not devote all his beasts, or all his servants, or all his fields, or all the moveable goods that he hath; for it is written, OF ALL THAT HE HATH. But if he do devote all his goods, loe they are devoted; whether he have devoted them for the priests, or for the maintenance of the Sanctuary. And who so devoteth or sanctifieth all his goods, they take all that he hath, even to the Phylacteries that are on his head, &c. Maim. in Erachia, c. 6. sect. 2. 3. And again, Let a man never sanctify or devote all his goods: for he that so doth, transgresseth against the meaning of this Scripture, which saith, OF ALL THAT HE HATH; and not, All that he hath. Neither is this piety, but folly; for loe he wasteth all his substance, when he hath need of the creatures, &c. Of the sacrifices which a man is bound to bring, loe the Law spareth his goods, and saith that he shall bring according to the tribute of his hand, Deut. 16. 10. how much more in things which a man is not bound unto but in respect of his vow; that he should not vow, but as is meet for him, as it is written (in Deu. 16. 17.) Every man according to the gift of his hand; according to the blessing of the LORD thy God, which he hath given thee. Maim. in Erachin, ch. 8. s. 13. of a man] as of his slaves, which were his to •el, or give, or devote, as his beasts; because they were his own. And thus Sol. larchi here expoundeth it, as if he devote his menservants or woman-servants that are Canaanites. holy of holies] Hebrew, holiness of holinesses, that is, most holy, meaning in respect of him that devoted them; but the Priests which enjoyed them, used them as their common goods; as the Hebrews say, At the time when he ⟨ϕ⟩ ⟨...⟩ voted things for the Priests, so long as they are in ⟨ϕ⟩ ⟨...⟩ owners house, loe they are holy in all respects, Lev. 27. 28. when he hath given them to the Priest, then they are as common things in all respects; as it is said Num. 18. 14. Every thing devoted in Israel, shall be thine. Maim. in Erachin, ch. 6. sect. 5.

V. 29. None devoted shall] or, Any devoted thing [unspec] shall not, Some understand this of beasts, devoted by men: but it seemeth rather to be spoken of men (as in the former verse,) which were devoted unto death. Which was not only done by God, as when he devoted Jericho, Ios. 6. 17. & the Amalekites, Deut. 25. 19. 1 Sam. 15. 3. and other the like; but by men, as in special vows, Num. 21. 2. 3. o• when they were adjudged to death for sin, Exod. 22. 20. And to this latter, the Hebrews do apply this law, saying; Who so hath his judgment decreed by the Magistrates of Israel, that he is to be k ⟨...⟩ ed for his transgression committed; if another do estimate him, or that he estimateth himself, or saith; My price be upon me, or another saith, the price of this man be upon me; he is not bound (to give) anything; for this is as a dead man; and there is no valuation or price of the dead. And of this it is said (in Lev. 27. 29) None devoted which shall be devoted, of man, shall e re ⟨...⟩ med: as if he should say, there is no redemption ⟨ϕ⟩ him, but as a dead man. Maim in Erachin, ch. 1. s. 13. The like exposition is given by Sol. Rashi, Chazkuni, and others. shall be redeemed] A devotement, was more then a simple vow, whereof there might be redemption, but things devoted had no redemption. And as all vows were to tend un•o the honor of God, and strengthening of men's faith, with manifestation of their thankfulness: so the not redeeming of anything devoted by vow; nor of other single vows, without a ⟨ϕ⟩ on him that vowed and afterward would redeem it, was to teach men constancy in all good purposes and words. For if a man had but sworn to h•s neighbor, though it were to his own hindrance, he might not change; Psal. 15 4. how much less might he change his solemn promise un ⟨...⟩ the Lord: who recompenseth abundantly ⟨ϕ⟩ worldly losses, with heavenly blessings; and ⟨ϕ⟩ addeth earthly to them also: Mar. 10. 29. 30. P ⟨...⟩ verbs 3. 9. 10.

V. 30. All the tithe] There are two s•ts of ⟨ϕ⟩ in the Law: the first which (after the payment of the first fruits) was given to the Levites, Num. 18. 21. the second which (after the payment of the former tithe) was separated and carried up to I ⟨...⟩ salem, and there eaten by the owners, Deut. 1• 6. 7. 11. and 14. 22. 23. which second tithe every third year, was given to the poor, Deut. 14. 28. 29. The Hebrews understand this Law, not ⟨ϕ⟩ the first tithe, but of the second, thus they write: after that they have separated the great heave-offering they separate one of ten out of that which is left ⟨ϕ⟩ is called the first tithe; and of it is spoken in Numb. 18. And this tithe is for the Levites both males and ⟨...⟩ males, Num. 18. 20. 21. The first tithe may law ⟨...⟩ be eaten of (common) Israelites, and a man may ⟨ϕ⟩ thereof in his uncleanness, for there is no holiness in ⟨ϕ⟩ ⟨ϕ⟩ . And wheresoever any holiness is spoken of tithes, or redemption of them, it is not (meant) but of the second tithe. And they count the first tithes as common things, because it is said (in Num. 18. 27.) And this heave-offering shall be reckoned unto you, as though it were the corn of the threshing-floor, &c. as the corn-floor & wine-press are common things, so is the first tithe. Maim. tom. 3. treat. of Tithes, ch. 1. s. 1. 2. of the tree] that is, of all trees, whose fruit was man's meat: and all manner of herb•s: Luk. 11. 42. The Hebrews say, All meat of man which is kept, whose growth (or nourishment) is out of the ground, oweth an heave-offering. And we are commanded to separate thereof, the first fruits for the Priest; Deut. 18. 4. As corn and wine and oil (mentioned in Deut. 18 4.) are man's meat, and grow out of the earth, and have owners, as it is said, THY CORNE; so all that is like unto them, oweth an heave-offering, and also the tithes. Vetches, though they be not man's meat, forasmuch as they eat them in years of famine; they owe an heave offering and tithes, &c. Garden seeds which are not eaten. as Rape seed, Radish seed, Onion seed and the like are free from the heave offerings, and from tithes, because they are not man's meat: but the seeds of the green-herb,  $\langle\phi\rangle$  them. Herbs, though they be man's meat, owe not the tithes, save by the doctrine of the Scribes, &c. Maim. tom. 3. in Trumoth c 2. s. 1. 2. 3 6. Whatsoever is free from the first tithe, is free from the second, and from the tithe of the poor: and whatsoever oweth the first, oweth both the other. Maim. treat of the second  $\langle\phi\rangle$  the, ch. 1. sect. 12. holiness] in Greek, an holy thing. Therefore the second tithe might not be eaten, save before the Lord, in the place which he should choose: Deut. 12. 5. 6. 7. 17. neither might it be eaten by any unclean, Deut. 26. 12. 14. But the first tithe, and the tenth of it, (which was given to the Priests) might be eaten in every place, Numb. 18. 31.

Vers. 31. will redeem] to weat, for himself and his own private use: for if he dwelt far from the place which God had chosen, he might turn his tithe fruits into money, and go up therewith, Deut. 14. 23. 24. 25. so if they were unclean, they were to be redeemed; but the fifth part was added by such as would redeem their own tithe for their own use. So the Hebrew doctor• say, He that redeemeth his tithe for himself, whether it be his own, or fallen to him by inheritance, &c. must add the fifth part thereto: if it be worth four, he must give five, Lev. 27. 31. If he  $\langle\phi\rangle$  redeemed his  $\langle\phi\rangle$  fruits, and added a fifth part; and would again redeem their redemption for himself the second time, he is to add a second fifth part for the principal only, and not add a fifth part for the fifth part. But all tithe which he redeemeth not of his own, he addeth not a fifth part. Maimonides treat. of the Second tithe. ch. 5. sect. 1. 3. 4.

Ver. 32. the herd or of the flock] The Hebrews understand this law of these only, saying: We are commanded to separate one of ten of all clean beasts which are borne unto men every year: and this commandment is not in use, but for the herd and the flock  $\langle\phi\rangle$   $\langle\dots\rangle$ . The tithe beast is to be paid of common things,  $\langle\phi\rangle$  not of things sanctified: and it is due, both within the land, and without the land. All are  $\langle\phi\rangle$  to give the tithe beast; Priests, Levites, and Israelites. And the Law for the tithe beast is, that it be killed in the court (of the Sanctuary,) & the blood sprinkled (on the altar,) and the fat burned; and the rest of the flesh is eaten by the owners in Jerusalem, as the other light holy things, and the Priests have nothing thereof, but it is all for the owners, as the Paschal lamb. And if it be a blemished beast, whether a blemish hath befall• it (after,) or that he separated it at first with a blemish thereon; then it is to be eaten in any place. Maim tom. 3. in Becoroth (or treat. of Firstborne,) ch. 6. s. 1. 2. 3. 4. By payment of the tenth Beast unto the Lord, the people acknowledged their subjection and thankfulness unto him; for the giving of tithes was a sign of subjection, as the Apostle showeth in Hebrews 7. And as the giving of the Firstborne, was a thankful acknowledgement that the beginning of all propagation & increase was from God, without whose blessings all creatures are barren and fruitless, Gen. 1. so the giving of the tenth, was a like acknowledgement, that his blessing made them plenteous in the fruit of their cattell, and other substance, Deut. 28. 11. Gen. 31. 8. 9. Psal. 144. 13. for ten is often used to signify many: as is noted on Gen. 31. 7. and Levite. 26. 26. And God it is that promised, I will sow the house of Israel, and the house of Judah, with the seed of man, and with the seed of beast, Ier. 31. 27. that passeth under the rod] this showeth the manner of tithing not to be at the will of man, but as the beasts of their own accord went out of the fold or bawne. The Hebrews declare it thus; Who so hath ten lambes, and separateth one of them for a tithe, or hath an hundred, and separateth ten for tithe, these are no tithes: but thus he must do: He is to gather all 〈ϕ〉 Lambes, or all his calves into the fold; and make there to a little door, so that two may not go out at once. And their dam, must stand without; and as they 〈ϕ〉 or below and the young ones hear their voice, they go out of the fold to meet them; as it is said, THAT PASSETH VNDER THE ROD, (Lev. 27. 32.) it must pass of it self, and not be carried out by his hand. And as they come out of the fold one after another, he beginneth and counteth them with a rod, one, two, three, four, &c. and the tenth that cometh out, whether it be 〈ϕϕ〉 female, perfect or blemished, he marketh it with a red mark, and saith this is the 〈ϕ〉 . He needeth not gather all his beasts which are borne to him, into one fold together, but every flock by it self. They may not tithe of the sheep for the bullocks, nor of the bul 〈...〉 for the sheep, but they may tithe of the sheep for the goats, and of the goats for the sheep for (Tson) the flock, comprehendeth them both. They may not tithe them that are born this year, from them that are borne in another year; even as they may not tithe of the seed of the land, of the new for the old, or of the old for the new. All that are borne in the first of T••ri (September) until the 29. of El•• August) are alike, and they may tithe of the one for the other. If five lambs be borne the 29. day of August, and five the first of September, they are not alike (or matches.) If a lamb bring forth a young within her year, then she and her young are put into the fold together to be tithed. Maim. in Becoroth, ch. 7. s. 1. 5. The tithes (as also the First fruits) in Israel, which the Lord sanctified to himself; besides their use for his honor, the sustentation of his ministers, and the poor; had also a further signification of God's elect people, whom he sanctifieth and reserveth unto himself for salvation, as the tithes and first fruits of his creatures, Isaiah 6. 13. Ier. 2. 3. I am. 1. 18. Heb. 12. 23. Rev. 14. 4.

Vers. 33. He shall not search] the Greek translatheth, Thou shalt not change them, a good for a bad, or a bad for a good. the change thereof] that is, the beast put in the place thereof. not be redeemed] under this, the Hebrews understand also a prohibition to sell it, if it were unblemished: as Maimonides in Becoroth, c. 6. s. 5. &c. saith, It is unlawful to sell the tithe beast if it be perfect (without blemish;) for it is said, It shall not be redeemed. We have been taught, that this is also a prohibition to sell it. And it seemeth unto me, that he that selleth his tithe, doth nothing, [his sale is of no force:] neither shall the buyer receive it. By the doctrine of our Scribes, it is unlawful to sell the blemished tithe, yea though it be slain. But if a blemished tithe beast be slain, it is lawful to sell the fat, synewes, skin, or bones thereof; and they have forbidden nothing to be sold but the flesh only. T 〈...〉 tithes in Israel being thus sanctified by the commandment of God, unto his honor, the maintenance of his ministers, and relief of his poor people; it taught them, and teacheth us, to honour the Lord with our substance, Prov. 3. 9. acknowledging him to be the author of all our increase and store, Deut. 8. 13. 18. Hos. 2. 8. to honor his ministers, and to communicate unto them in ⟨ϕ⟩ good things, 1 Tim. 5. 17. 18. Galat. 6. 6. that they which sow unto us spiritual things, should reap our carnal things, 1 Cor. 9. 11. and to give alms of such things as we have, that all things may be clean unto us, Luk. 11. 41. yea even to se ⟨...⟩ that we have, and give alms; to provide ourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heaven: that faileth not, Luk. 12. 33. And as we believe that the purpose of God towards us, in his election of grace, standeth firm, and unchangeable; and he loveth us unto the end, Rom. 9. 11. John. 13. 1. so ought our love again unto him and his to be constant forever: and with purpose of heart, we should cleave unto the Lord, Act. 11. 23.

HEB. 7. 11. 12.

If perfection were by the Levitical Priesthood, (for under it the people received the Law:) what further need was there, that another Priest should rise, after the order of Melchizedek, and not be called after the order of Aaron? For the Priesthood being changed, there is made of necessity a change also of the Law.

HEB. 8. 1. 2.

We have such an high Priest, who is set on the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens: a minister of the Holies, and of the true Tabernacle, which the Lord pitched, and not man.

HEB. 9. 28.

Christ was once offered, to bear the sins of many: and unto them that look for him, shall he appear the second time without Sin, unto salvation.

ANNOTATIONS UPON THE FOURTH BOOKE OF MOSES, CALLED NVMBERS: WHEREIN, BY CONFERENCE OF THE Scriptures, by comparing the Greek and Chaldee Versions, and Testimonies of Hebrew Writers, the Laws and Ordinances given of old unto ISRAEL in this Book, are explained.

BY HENRY AINSWORTH.

IVDE, verse. 5.

I will put you in remembrance, though ye once knew this, how that the Lord having saved a people out of the Land of Egypt, afterward destroyed them that believed not.

PSALM. 95. 10.

Fortie years was I grieved with this generation.

HEB. 3. 17, 18, 19. & 4. 11.

But with whom was he grieved forty years? Was it not with them that had sinned, whose carcasses fell in the wilderness? And to whom sware he, that they should not enter into his rest; but to them that believed not? So we see, that they could not enter in, because of unbelief. Let us labor therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of unbelief.

THE FOURTH BOOKE OF MOSES, CALLED NVMBERS.

CHAPTER I.

1. In the second year after Israel was come out of Egypt, God commandeth Moses to number all the males of the people, from twenty years old and upward. 5. The Princes of the tribes, that were joined with Moses and Aaron for this business. 17. The number of every tribe particularly. 45. The sum of them all together. 47. The Levites are not numbered among the tribes. 50. but are exempted for the service of the Lord, about the Tabernacle.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, in the wilderness of Sina<sup>a</sup>, in the Tent of the congregation: in the first [day] of the second month, in the second year; after their coming forth, out of the land of Egypt, saying; Take ye, the sum of all the congregation of the sons of Israel; according to their families, according to the house of their fathers: by the number of the names; every male, according to their polles. From twenty years old, and upward; everyone that goeth forth with the army, in Israel: ye shall muster them, by their armies, thou and Aaron. And with you there shall be a man of every Tribe: every man shall be head of the house of his fathers. And these are the names of the men, which shall stand with you: Of Reuben; Elizur, the son of Shedeur. Of Simeon; Shelumiel, the son of Zurishaddai. Of Judah; Naasson, the son of Amminadab. Of Issachar; Nethaneel, the son of Zuar Of Zebulun; Eliab, the son of Helon. Of the sons of Joseph; of Ephraim; Elishama, the son of Ammihud: of Manasseh; Gamaliel, the son of Pedahzur. Of Benjamin; Abidan, [unspec 11 12 13 14 15 16] the son of Gideoni. Of Dan; Ahiezer, the son of Ammishaddai. Of Aser; Pagiel, the son of Ocran. Of Gad; Eliasaph, the son of Deguel. Of Naphtali; Ahira, the son of Enan. These be the called of the congregation; Princes, of the tribes of their fathers: heads, of the thousands of Israel. And Moses and Aaron took these men, which are expressed, by names. And they assembled all the congregation, in the first day of the second month; and they declared their genealogies according to their families, according to the house of their fathers: by the number of the names; from twenty years old, and upward, according to their polles. As Jehovah commanded Moses; so he mustered them, in the wilderness of Sinai.

And the sons of Reuben, the first-borne of Israel, were, by their generations according to their families, according to the house of their fathers: by the number of the names, according to their polles; every male, from twenty years old, and upward; everyone, that went forth with the army. Those that were mustered of them, of the tribe of Reuben, were six and forty thousand, and five hundred.

Of the sons of Simeon; by their generations according to their families, according to the house of their fathers: those that were mustered of him, by the number of the names, according to their polles; every male, from twenty years old, and upward; everyone, that went forth with the army. Those that were mustered of them, of the tribe of Simeon, were nine and fifty thousand, and three hundred.

Of the sons of Gad; by their generations according to their families, according to the house of their fathers: by the number of the names, from twenty years old, and upward; everyone, that went forth with the army. Those that were mustered of them, of the tribe of Gad, were five and forty thousand, and six hundred, and fifty.

Of the sons of Judah; by their generations according to their families, according to the house of their fathers: by the number of the names, from twenty years old, and upward; everyone, that went forth with the army. Those that were mustered of them, of the tribe of Judah, were four and seventy thousand, and six hundred.

Of the sons of Issachar; by their generations according to their families, according to the house of their fathers: by the number of the names, from twenty years old, and upward; everyone, that went forth with the army. Those that were mustered of them, of the tribe of Issachar, were four and fifty thousand, and four hundred.

Of the sons of Zebulon; by their generations according to their families, according to the house of their fathers: by the number of the names, from twenty years old, and upward; everyone, that went forth with the army. Those that were mustered of them, of the tribe of Zebulon, were seven and fifty thousand, and four hundred.

Of the sons of Joseph, of the sons of Ephraim; by their generations according to their families, according to the house of their fathers: by the number of the names, from twenty years old, and upward; everyone, that went forth with the army. Those that were mustered of them, of the tribe of Ephraim, were forty thousand, and five hundred.

Of the sons of Manasseh; by their generations, according to their families, according to the house of their fathers: by the number of their names, from twenty years old, and upward; everyone, that went forth with the army. Those that were mustered of them, of the tribe of Manasseh, were two and thirty thousand, and two hundred.

Of the sons of Benjamin; by their generations according to their families, according to [unspec] the house of their fathers: by the number of the names, from twenty years old, and upward; everyone, that went forth with the army. Those that were mustered of them, of the tribe of Benjamin, were five and thirty [unspec] thousand, and four hundred.

Of the sons of Dan; by their generations according to their families, according to [unspec] the house of their fathers: by the number of the names, from twenty years old, and upward; everyone that went forth with the army. Those that were mustered of them, of [unspec] the tribe of Dan, were two and sixty thousand, and seven hundred.

Of the sons of Aser; by their generations [unspec] according to their families, according to the house of their fathers: by the number of the names, from twenty years old, and upward; everyone, that went forth with the army. Those that were mustered of them, of [unspec] the tribe of Aser, were one and forty thousand, and five hundred.

The sons of Naphtali; by their generations [unspec] according to their families, according to the house of their fathers: by the number of the names, from twenty years old, and upward; everyone, that went forth with the army. Those that were mustered of them, of [unspec] the tribe of Naphtali, were three and fifty thousand, and four hundred.

These are those that were mustered, which [unspec] Moses mustered, and Aaron, and the Princes of Israel; twelve men: each one was, for the house of his fathers. And they were, all those [unspec] that were mustered of the sons of Israel, according to the house of their fathers: from twenty years old, and upward; everyone, that went forth with the army, in Israel. Even [unspec] all that were mustered, were six hundred thousand, and three thousand, and five hundred, and fifty. But the Levites, according [unspec] to the tribe of their fathers, were not mustered among them.

For Jehovah had spoken unto Moses, saying; [unspec] Only the tribe of Levi, thou shalt not muster; neither take the sum of them, among the sons of Israel. But thou, appoint the Levites over the Tabernacle of the Testimony, and over all the vessels thereof, and over all things that belong to it: they shall bear the Tabernacle, and all the vessels thereof; and they sha ⟨...⟩ minister unto it: and shall encamp round about the Tabernacle. And when the Tabernacle setteth forward, the Levites shall take it down; and when the Tabernacle is to be pitched, the Levites shall set it up: and the stranger that cometh nigh, shall be put to death. And the sons of Israel shall encamp, every man by his own campe, and every man by his own standard, throughout their armies. But the Levites shall encamp round about the Tabernacle of the Testimony; that there be no fervent wrath, upon the congregation of the sons of Israel: and the Levites shall keep the charge of the Tabernacle of the Testimony. And the sons of Israel did so: according to all that Jehovah commanded Moses, so did they.

Annotations.

NVmbers] This name is given unto this book, according to the Greek title: because the first chief thing here handled, is the numbering of the tribes of Israel. The Hebrews give it no other name then of the first words, Vajedabber, that is, And (the LORD) spake; or Bemidbar, that is, In the wilderness: see the first annotations on Genesis and Exodus. And here beginneth the 34. section, or lecture of the Law: whereof see Gen. 6. 9.

Verse 1. Sinai] the mount whereon the Law had been given, Exod. 19. by which mountain Israel yet abode, until the twentieth day of this month, Numb. 10. 11. 12. the Tent] or, Tabernacle of meeting; whither the people were to assemble at the times appointed, and where God met with them, as he promised, Exod. 25. 22. It is called also the Tabernacle of Testimony, v. 43. and so the Greek translatheth it here. the first] Hebr. the one, understanding day; as in Mat. 26. 17. compared with Mark 14. 12. see the notes on Gen. 8. 13. And one is often put for first, as is noted on Gen. 1. 5. And every first day of the month was a feast, Numb. 28. 11. &c. second month] which we now call April: so in Targum Jonathan it is said, the first of the month Ijar (that is April) which is the second month. In the Scripture it is named Ziv, 1. King. 6. 1. of the brightness and beauty of the flowers which then do spring. But God had spoken before unto them in the first month, which is related after, in Numb. 9. 1. &c. after their coming forth] or, of their departing: see the annotations on Exod. 16. 1. God having given them laws for his service, in Exodus and Leviticus; doth now settle their church and commonwealth in order.

Vers. 2. the sum] Hebr. the head; which [unspec] some understand for heads; that is, the Rulers: but the Chaldee expoundeth it, the sum (or count.) see the notes on Exod. 30. 12. This people was numbered by Moses, three times; in the first year after they came out of Egypt, when every man gave a ransom for his soul; whereby their redemption by Christ was figured, Exod.

30. 11, 12. &c. & 38. 25, 26. In the second year, when now they were to be set in order for their encamping about the Sanctuary, and journeying with it towards Canaan; whereof the 4. first chapters of this book do treat. The third and last muster was in the fortieth year (the last of their travel;) when all this generation being dead, their sons were numbered, for to receive inheritance in the land of promise, a Figure of the Kingdom of Heaven. the sons of Israel] the twelve tribes, Gen. 49. 1. 2. 28. So all strangers are excluded from this numbering. The Levites also were numbered apart: verse. 49. &c. families] or kindreds, which next descended of those twelve tribes; of which families, see Numb. 26. 5. &c. house] that is, as the Greek translath, houses: and these were the next descent of the families aforesaid. See Ios. 7. 14. Ibn Ezra here noteth, that it is said, the house of their fathers, because the family of the mother, is not called a family. everymale] whereby the females are excluded; as also all children, verse. 3. their polles] or, their skulles, that is, as the Greek translath, their heads; meaning the particular persons: so in Exod. 38. 26.

V. 3. old] Hebr. son of twenty years; that is, going in his twentieth year; of which phrase, see the annotations on Gen. 5. 32. So all children and youths under 20. years, were not in this account. upward] some of the Hebrews limit the time, unto sixty years old: R. Menachem, on Numb. 1. but the law setteth no such limitation. that goeth forth] to wit, usually; or is able to go forth. So all that were unable for the war, through old age, sickness, or other infirmities, are not mustered here with Israel. shall muster] or, shall number; which in the Hebrew and Greek, hath the name of visiting. This numbering of Israel signified God's providence and care over them, which extendeth not only to their persons, but to the very hairs of their heads, which are all numbered, Luk. 12. 7. And in that they are numbered or mustered by their armies, it shown whereunto God had called them, even to fight the good sight of faith, 1 Tim. 6. 12. By the word of truth, by the power of God, by the armor of righteousness on the right hand and on the lest; 2 Cor. 6. 7. Therefore they were to follow the Lord and his Tabernacle, going before them to fight against the Canaanites: as in our spiritual warfare, we are to follow Christ; Reu. 12. 7. & 19. 11.—14. And only males or men of strength, are mustered: to teach what we ought all to be in Christ; even strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might; putting on the whole armor of God, that we may be able to stand against the wiles of the Devil, &c. Ephes. 6. 10, 11, 12, 13. So the Church in her travail, bringeth forth a male or manchild, Revel. 12. 5. Isaiah. 66. 7, 8.

V. 4. a man of every tribe] Hebr. a man a man of (or for) a tribe. So there were twelve Princes, besides Moses and Aaron; fourteen in all: as in the Christian church, there were twelve Apostles, besides Paul and Barnabas. head] that is, chief or ruler.

V. 5. Of Reuben] understand, from the 10. verse, Of the sons of Reuben: and so the Greek explaineth it, Of those of Reuben. Elizur] in Greek Elisour. As the Patriarchs had their name significant in their own tongue, given them upon special occasion, and applied some of them to spiritual use, as is to be seen in Gen. 29. 32. &c. & 30. 6. &c. & 49. 8. &c. so their posterity had names of good notation and use; though the special occasions are not noted. As Elizur signifieth, The Rock (Christ) is my God: and his father Shedeur, The light of the Almighty.

V. 6. Of Simeon] Gr. Of those of Simeon; that is, of his sons: and so the rest which follow. Shelumiel] in Greek, Salamiel son of Sourisadai. By interpretation, Shelumiel signifieth, God is my recompense; & Zurishaddai, The Almighty is my Rock.

V. 7. Naasson] so the Greek writeth him, here and in Mat. 1. 4. in Hebrew Nachshon: by interpretation Experiment; and Amninadab, My people'soble.

V. 8. Nethaneel] i. The gift of God: in Greek, Nathanael; and so the name is written in John. 1. 46, 47.

V. 9. Zebulon] Hebr. Zebulun. Eliab] by interpretation, My God is the Father.

Helon] or Chelon; in Greek Chailon: he hath his name of strength.

V. 10. Ammihud] Hebr. Gnammihud, written in Greek Semioud; & so in Nū. 7. 48. the Hebrew letter Gnajin, being sounded like S after the Chaldee manner: as Begnor. Numb. 22. 5. is Bosor in 2 Pet. 2. 15 Ammihud signifieth, My people hath the Glory; and Elishama, My God hath heard.

Gamaliel] so the Greek pronounceth him, here, and in Act. 5. 34. in Hebrew, Gamliel; that is, God is my reward. Pedahzur] in Greek, Phadasour; by interpretation, The Rock (Christ) redeemeth.

V. 11. Abidan] that is, My Father is the Judge. Gideoni] in Greek, Gadaioni, The cutter down, a warlike name.

V. 12. Ahiezer] or, Achiezer, The brothers help. Ammishaddai] in Greek, Amisadai; The people of the Almighty.

V. 13. Pagi] in Greek, Phagaiel: by interpretation, God hath met me. The same word is applied to Christ's intercession, in Isaiah. 53. 12.

V. 14. Eljasaph] that is, God hath added: it hath affinity with Joseph's name. Deguel] in Greek, Dagouel; afterward he is named Reguel, Num. 2. 14. Deguel signifieth, Know God; as Reguel, The friend of God.

V. 15. Naphtali] in Greek, Nephtaleim; and so his name is written in Mat. 4. 15. Here the order of the tribes, as the Princes were chosen out of them, may be viewed thus:

- Sons of Leah.

- 1. Reuben
- 2. Simeon
- 3. Judah
- 4. Isachar
- 5. Zabulun

- Of Rachel.

- 6. Ephraim
- 7. Manasseh
- 8. Benjamin
- 9. Dan, The 1. son of Billa Rachel's maid
- 10. Aser, The 2. son of Zilpha Leah's maid.
- 11. Gad, The 1. son of Zilpha.
- 12. Naphtali, The 2. son of Billa.

Reuben is first, for being Israel's first borne, Gen. 46. 8. Then, Simeon, his nex• brother. Levi is omitted: because that tribe was to be numbered by it self, not with the other, Numb. 1. 47. 49. ye• of that tribe was Moses and Aaron, chief numberers of the people, verse 3. Judah, Isachar and Zebulon, were Leah's next sons in order, reckoned here as in Exod. 1. 2, 3. and in their precious stones, Exod. 28. Joseph Rachel's first-borne, hath the first birth-right, that is, a double portion, so o• him are two tribes, 1 Chron. 5. 1, 2. Gen. 48. 5, 6. Ephraim the younger son of Joseph, is set before his elder brother Manasseh, according 〈◇〉 Jacob's disposition, in Gen. 48. 19, 20. and God made him standard-bearer, Num. 2. 18. and •ese with Benjamin the free woman's children, are set before all the handmaids sons, as being the most noble. Dan is the first of all the bondwomens seed, both in birth, Gen. 30. 6. and in the high Priests Ephod, Exod. 28. and is one of the standard bearers, Num. 2. 25. Aser, the second son of Zilpha, is (contrary to the usual order in Exod. 1. & 28.) named next to Dan, Bilhah's son; for he was next to his standard in pitching about the Tabernacle; Num. 2. 25. 27. Gad, as he was the first-borne of Leah's handmaid, so was he preferred to the higher place, being now joined unto the standard of Reuben, Numb. 2. 10.—14. So Nathtali remaineth for the last place, as he was the l 〈...〉 of the tribes that camped about the Tabernacle, Num. 2. 29. Thus God's wisdom appeareth in naming the tribes, according to the present occasion of their employments: that all things might be ordered in peace; for he is not the author 〈◇〉 confusion, but of peace; as in all churches of the Saint• 1 Cor. 14. 33.

V. 16. the called] or, the renowned; that is, states men; such as were men of renown for age and wisdom; and called to consult about matters of state: see Numb. 16. 2. Sol. Rashi (on Num 7 2.) saith, these were the officers over them in Egypt. which had been beaten for them, Exod. 5. 14. princes] or rulers. Nasi, 〈◇〉 prince, captain or ruler, is so named of lifting up, or easing the burdens of the people by their government, as Num. 11. 17. Exod. 18. 22. or, of being li•ted up, and preferred above the people. heads] or captains of thousands, in Greek Chiliarchs. 〈◇〉 the thousands] that is, of the bands or companies, which consisted everyone of a thousand men: for so the tribes were divided into thousands, hundreds, fifties, and tens, with captains over them, Exod. 18. 21. 25. Whereupon such a company and their generation, is called a thousand, as in Iuag. 6. 15. my thousand is poor in Manasseh, where the Chaldee translateth it my family. So

Bethlehem ‹ϕ› town, is called one of the thousands of Judah, ‹ϕ› 5. 2. where the Greek (which the holy Ghost alloweth in Mat. 2. 6.) translatheth the Rulers, or Governors.

V. 18. the second month] called Ziv, with us April, as is noted on v. 1. So this assembling, was at the new Moon, (which signified a renewing or change of the people's state and order,) and on the same day that God spake unto Moses out of the Tabernacle, v. 1. they declared their genealogies] of what tribe and family every man came: or, they were genealogized, that is, were mustered by Moses and the Princes according to their genealogy and pedigree. So the Greek translatheth, they were visited or mustered. their polles] in Greek, their heads, as in verse. 2. So after in verse 20. 22. &c.

Vers. 19. of Sinai] where the Laws, Judgments, and Statutes were given to Israel; there also was their order set, for encamping about God's sanctuary, and marching with it towards Canaan. And this also is to distinguish it from the second mustering, which was in the plains of Moab, when all this generation was dead, Numb. 26. 3. 63, 64.

V. 20. by their generations] in Greek, according to their kindreds: so after in v. 22. 24. &c. that went forth] or, that goeth forth with the host; that is, was able to go forth to war. So after

Vers. 24. Gad] he is set in the third place, (in Levies roomth, who was numbered apart, v. 47.) because Gad was joined with Reuben and Simeon, on the South quarter of the host, Num. 2. 10—14. All the other tribes are mustered in the order before set down, verse. 5.—15.

V. 25. and fifty] Gad the handmaids son, is the only of all the tribes, whose number endeth with fifty: all the other are by thousands, and end with hundreds; which shown God's admirable providence and blessing in multiplying them after such a sort, that no odd or broken number was among all the tribes; (as when Moses blessed Joseph, he mentioned the ten thousands of Ephraim, and the thousands of Manasseh, Deut. 33. 17.) whereas in other numbrings, we shall find few but broken numbers, as in the first borne of Israel, Num. 3. 43. and in those that returned out of Babylon, Ezr. 2. 1.—42. Nehem. 7. 6.—45. Here we may behold the number of every tribe, beginning at the greatest, and so in order to the least, thus;

- 1. Judah 74600.
- 2. Dan 62700.
- 3. Simeon 59300.
- 4. Zebulon 57400.
- 5. Issachar 54400.
- 6. Naphtali 53400.
- 7. Reuben 46500.
- 8. Gad 45650.

- 9. Aser 41500.
- 10. Ephraim 40500.
- 11. Benjamin 35400.
- 12. Manasseh 32200.

Judah hath the greatest number, for he was to be celebrated of his brethren, Gen. 49. 8. he was standard-bearer in the foremost quarter as they camped about the Tabernacle, Numb. 2. 3. His standard (Lion-like, Gen. 49. 9.) marched in the first place, as they journeyed towards the land of promise, Nam. 10. 13, 14. He had halte the first birth-right, that of him the chief ruler should come, and our Lord Christ himself concerning the flesh, 1 Chron. 5. 2. Heb. 7. 14. Here he hath valiant men of war, moe than double the number of Benjamin or Manasseh; almost twelve thousand moe than the greatest tribe.

Dan the handmaids son hath the next number to the most, for Rachel's sake; for Jacob's blessing, Gen. 49. 16. and for his place in the campe, to be standard-bearer to the rere-ward; which was the greatest quarter next Judah's, Numb. 3. 9. 3•. & 10. 25. that the foremost standard, and the hindmost, might have the greatest number of warriors. And whereas at the first Dan had but one son, Gen. 46. 23. (and so one family, Num. 26. 42.) when Benjamin had ten, Gen. 46. 21. now God so disposed that Dan should be one of the greatest in number, and Benjamin one of the least. For God is the Judge: he putteth down one, and setteth up another, Psal. 75. 7. The barren hath borne seven; and she that had many children is waxed feeble, 1 Sam. 2. 5.

Simeon the second patriarch, is the third in number of warriors, at this time, but before they came into Canaan, his tribe was diminished, for their sin, exceedingly: but being now 5930•. it was at the latter muster, bu• 22200. men, Num. 26. 14. so that Moses blessing the tribes, mentioneth not his name at all, Deut. 33.

Reuben, Israel's first-borne, as he lost his dignity for defiling his fathers bed, Gen. 49. 3, 4. so here, his increase is none of the greatest, but six of his brethren have moe than he.

Ephraim, as he was blessed before his elder brother Manasseh, Gen. 48. 20. so here he is increased by thousands more ••an Manasseh, and more than the whole tribe of Benjamin; and his blessing continueth above his brother, Deut. 33. 17. yet Satan to hinder this, had slain by the Philistines of Gath, the sons of Ephraim, whiles they dwelt in Egypt, for which their father Ephraim mourned many days, 1 Chr. 7. 20, 21, 22. And as they traveled in the wilderness, his posterity was diminished eight thousand, Numb. 26. 37.

Benjamin, as he was the youngest of all the patriarchs, so here his number is one of the least, (though at the first, his children were moe than any of his brethren, Gen. 46. 21.) Afterwards in Canaan, his tribe was almost rooted out, Iuag. 20. that he hath not without cause this attribute, Benjamin the little, Psal. 68. 28.

Manasseh hath the last place in this count, that Jacob's prophecy might have effect, his younger brother (Ephraim) shall be greater than he, Gen. 48. 19. But God blessed this tribe in their travel thorough the wilderness; that at the next muster, they were increased above twenty thousand more than at this time; whereas Ephraim his brother was not increased at all, but diminished, Num. 26. 34. 37. Thus the blessings of God were distributed among the tribes, for their number, and for their order, according as in wisdom he saw meet. He increaseth the nations, and destroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, and straiteneth them, Job 12. 23.

V. 32. of Joseph] he, as his blessing was to be like a fruitful vine, Gen. 49. 22. so of him by his two sons, here are more warriors than any tribe had, saving Judah. And his two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh, are not families but tribes, as if they had been Jacob's own, according to his adoption of them, Gen. 48. 5. Thus Joseph hath a double portion, the first birthright, 1 Chron. 5. 1. 2.

V. 42. The sons of Naphtali] Of all the other it is said, Of the sons, and so the Greek translatheth this here. Some of the Hebrews (as Baal hatturim upon this place) give a reason, which appeareth not in Moses, that Of Naphtali only he saith THE SONNES, because Naphtalies tribe had more daughters than sons: and therefore in Naphtalies blessing (Gen. 49. 21.) he is resembled to a female, an Hind let loose: Therefore also in Numb. 26. it is written of them all, THE SONNES: because the men were dead, (Num. 26. 64, 65.) but the women multiplied.

V. 44. each one was] Hebr. one man, for the house of his fathers, were they: which the Greek explaineth thus, one man for one tribe, according to the tribe of their fathers houses were they.

V. 46. six hundred thousand &c.] a marvelous increase of seventy souls which came into Egypt, Gen. 46. 27. that so many thousands of able men (besides women and children) should in so few years be multiplied, even as the stars of heaven, Deut. 10. 22. & this was the reward of faith, Heb. 11. 11, 12. Baalam looking upon them with admiratiō, said, Who can count the dust of Jacob, and the number of the fourth part of Israel? Numb. 23. 10. And such is the increase of the spiritual seed of Christ promised to be; that the Church shall say in her heart, Who hath begotten me these? Isaiah. 49. 21. For by twelve Apostles, and seventy disciples, Christ's kingdom began to be preached: and that immortal seed of the word, soon begat many ten thousands of Jews, Act. 21. 20. and many more of the Gentiles, even innumerable, Reu. 7. 9. And here also we may observe, that whereas the year before, when all the tribes were first numbered from 20. years old and upward, their sum was 603550. men, Exod. 30. 14. & 38. 26. now in the second year when they are again numbered, and the tribe of Levi not reckoned with them, there are found the same just number of 603550. so there were so many young men of nineteen years old, as now supplied the want of the Levites, put apart for the Lord's service: that Israel might see they should lose nothing by whatsoever was employed in the service of God.

V. 49. Only] or But the tribe; it is an exception, which the Greek translatheth thus; See, the tribe of Levi, thou shalt not muster; to wit, among the other Israelites, but apart by themselves, Num. 3. 15, &c.

V. 50. appoint] or constitute, give charge as bishops, which hereof have their name. Testimony] that is, the Tables of the Law, kept in an Ark, within the Tabernacle: Exod. 31. 18. they shall be are] according as God appointed their burdens, Num. 4. 25. 31. 36. and to help them for some things, six waggons were allowed them, Num. 7. 7, 8, 9. round about the Tab.] and next unto the Tabernacle, betwix• the camps of Israel and it: whereof see chap. 2. & 3.

V. 51. setteth forward] being carried after the cloud, when God removed it from place to place, Num. 10. 11.—17.—21. the stranger] any Israelite or other, that is not of the tribe of Levi. So for the work of the Priesthood, both Israelites and Levites are counted strangers, save the seed of Aaron only: Num. 16. 40. put to death] either by men, or by the hand of God; as was Uzzah, for putting his hand to the Ark, 1 Chron. 13. 10. So in Targum Jonathan it is expounded, he shall be killed with fire flaming out from before the Lord.

V. 52. by his own campe] the Greek trans•ateth, in his own order; which is described in chap. 2. by his own standard] in Greek, according to his own regiment: see Num. 2. 2.

V. 53. no fervent wrath] no punishment from [unspec] God, as was in Vzzahs case, 1 Chron. 13. ⟨⟩ charge] or, the custody; the watch and ward, and do the works appointed of God: see Num. 3. 7. 8. &c. and 18. 3. This debarring of the people from the work of the sanctuary, and committing it to the Levites charge, shown the separation o• of all mankind from God, and their unworthiness to come near unto him or his holy things, until they be called and sanctified of God thereunto. Which being not effected by the Law, or rudiments thereof, (for the Mount where the L ⟨...⟩ was given might not be touched, Heb. 12. 18) is now performed unto us by Christ, who ⟨...⟩ shed us from our sins, in his own blood, and ⟨⟩ made us Kings and Priests unto God, and his Father Revel. 1. 5, 6. so that we have liberty to exter ⟨...⟩ the Holiest, by the blood of Jesus, Heb. 10. 19.

CHAP. II.

1. The order of the Tribes pitching about the Tabernacle. 3. On the East side, Judah, Issachar and Zebulon. 10. On the South side, Reuben, Simeon and Gad. 17. The Tabernacle in the midst of ⟨⟩ campe. 18. On the West side, Ephraim, Man ⟨...⟩ and Benjamin. 25. On the North side, Dan, A ⟨...⟩ and Naphtali.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying; The sons of Israel shall encamp, every man by his standard, with the ensigns, according to the house of their fathers: over against, round about the Tent of the congregation, shall the• encamp. And they that encamp for most Eastward, shall be the standard of the campe of Judah, according to their armies; and the captain of the sons of Judah, shall be Naasson the son of Aminadab. And his army, and those that were mustered of them, were seventy and four thousand, and six hundred. And they that encamp next unto him, shall be the tribe of Issachar: and the captain of the sons of Issachar, shall be Nethaneel, the son of Zuar. And his army, and those that were mustered thereof, were four and fifty thousand, and four hundred. The tribe of Zebulon, and the Prince of the sons of Zebulon, shall be Eliab the son of Helon. And his army, and those that were mustered thereof, were seven and fifty thousand, and four hundred. All that were mustered, of the campe of Judah, were an hundred thousand, and eighty thousand, and six thousand, and four hundred, according to their armies: they shall set forward, first.

The standard of the campe of Reuben shall be Southward, according to their armies: and the captain of the sons of Reuben, shall be Elizur the son of Shedeur. And his army, and those that were mustered thereof, were six and forty thousand, and five hundred. And they that encamp next unto him, shall be the tribe of Simeon: and the captain of the sons of Simeon, shall be Shelumiel, the son of Zurishaddai. And his army, and those that were mustered thereof, were nine and fifty thousand, and three hundred. And the tribe of Gad, and the captain of the sons of Gad, Eliasaph, the son of Reguel. And his army, and those that were mustered of them, were five and forty thousand, and six hundred, and fifty. All that were mustered, of the campe of Reuben, were an hundred thousand, and one and fifty thousand, and four hundred and fifty, according to their armies: and they shall set forward, second.

And the Tent of the congregation shall set forward, the campe of the Levites, in the midst of the camps: as they encamp, so shall they set forward: every man in his place, according to their standards.

The standard of the campe of Ephraim, according to their armies, shall be Sea-ward: and the captain of the sons of Ephraim, shall be Elishama the son of Ammihud. And his army, and those that were mustered of them, forty thousand, and five hundred. And next unto him, shall be the tribe of Manasseh: [unspec] and the captain of the sons of Manasseh, shall be Gamaliel, the son of Pedahzur. And his army, and those that were mustered of them, two and thirty thousand, and two hundred. And the tribe of Benjamin, and the captain of the sons of Benjamin, shall be Abidan, the son of Gideoni. And his army, and those that were mustered of them, five and thirty thousand, and four hundred. All that were mustered, of the campe of Ephraim, were an hundred thousand, and eight thousand, and an hundred, according to their armies: and they shall set forward, third.

The standard of the campe of Dan, shall be Northward, according to their armies: and the captain of the sons of Dan, shall be Ahiezer, the son of Ammishaddai. And his army, and those that were mustered of them, sixty and two thousand, and seven hundred. And they that encamp next unto him, shall be the tribe of Aser: and the captain of the sons of Aser, shall be P•giel, the son of Ocran. And his army, and those that were mustered of them, were one and forty thousand, and five hundred. And the tribe of Naphtali, and the captain of the sons of Naphtali, Ahira the son of Enan. And his army, and those that were mustered of them, were three and fifty thousand, and four hundred. All that were mustered, of the campe of Dan, were an hundred thousand, and seven and fifty thousand, and six hundred: they shall set forth hindmost, according to their standards.

These are those that were mustered of the sons of Israel, according to the house of their fathers: all that were mustered of the camps, according to their armies, were six hundred thousand, and three thousand, and five hundred, and fifty. But the Levites were not mustered, among the sons of Israel, as Jehovah commanded Moses. And the sons of Israel did according to all that Jehovah commanded Moses; so they encamped according to their standards, and so they set forward, every man according to his families, according to the house of his fathers.

Annotations.

SHall encamp] or, as the Greek translatheth, let them encamp, that is, pitch their tents, as an army about the Sanctuary of the Lord of hosts. Here God (having in the former chapter given charge to muster his warriors,) commandeth now to set them in order, and under government: as in the church, all things ought to be done decently and in order, 1 Cor. 14. 40. his standard] or, his banner; which the Greek translatheth his order; and so the Chaldee calleth it Tekes (a word borrowed of the Greek Taxis.) Order. And this phrase the Apostle useth (from this place) in 1 Cor. 15. 23. every man in his own order. Here it is properly a standard, banner or flag, such as is used in the wars: which fitly denoteth the state of the Church in her spiritual warfare, said therefore to be terrible as an army with banners, Song. 6. 4. 10. and it signifieth her victory; whereupon David saith, we will shout, in thy salvation; and in the name of our God, we will set up the banner, Psal. 20. 6. See also Ier. 50. 2. and 51. 27. where the setting up of a standard, is a sign of preparation unto war against Babylon, as here against the Canaanites. with the ensigns] or, with the signs; which were in the standards, for discerning of one from another. What these were the Scripture showeth not: it is not unlikely, that they were such colors as the precious stones had on Aaron's breastplate, Exod. 28. on which the tribes names were engraved. In the Targum called Jonathan's, upon this place, it is said; The standard of the campe of Judah, was of linen of three colors, according to the three precious stones in the Brestplate (of the Chalcedonie, Sapphire, and Sardonyx,) and in it were engraved and expressed the names of the three tribes, Judah, Issachar and Zebulon; and in the midst thereof was written; (from Num. 10. 35.) Rise up Lord, and let thine enemies be scattered; and let them that hate thee, flee before thee; in it also was portrayed the form of a Lion. The standard of the campe of Reuben, was of linen of three colors, answerable to the three precious stones in the Brestplate, (of the Sardine, Topaz and Amethyst,) and therein were engraved and expressed the names of the three tribes, Reuben, Simeon, God: and in the midst thereof was written, Hear o Israel, the Lord our God, the Lord is one: (Deut. 6. 4.) Therein also was portrayed, the form of an Hart, &c. So he proceedeth for the rest. Howbeit, that proportion will not hold in all, seeing Levi (who is not here among the other tribes) was there one of the twelve; and Joseph, there graved on the Beryl, hath here two tribes, Ephraim and Manasseh; unto whom two colors cannot be allowed from the breastplate, as the Targum here would. Others therefore explain it otherwise, having herein no certainty. Chazkuni (on Num. 3.) bringeth this exposition, The portraiture of a man, was on Roubens standard, died after the color of the Sardine set in the breast-plate for his name, in sign of the Mandrakes which he found (Gen. 30. 14.) which are after the fashion of a man. The portraiture of a Lion, was on Judah's standard, who is called a Lion, (Gen. 49. 9.) and it was died into the color of a Chalcedoni. The figure of a Bullock (or Ox) was on Ephraim's standard, whose father is likened to a bullock, (Deut. 33. 17.) It was died in color like a Beryl. The figure of an Eagle was on Dans standard, died like an Hyacinth: &c. To this Ibn Ezra (on Num. 2.) agreeth, saying; There were signs in every stand ⟨...⟩ Ancestors have said, that in Re ⟨...⟩ was the figure of a Man, &c. in Iu ⟨...⟩ figure of a Lion, &c. in Ephraim's, th ⟨...⟩ lock, &c. and in the standard of Dan, the ⟨...⟩ Eagle: so they were like the Ch ⟨...⟩ Prophet Ezekiel saw, (Ezek. 1. 10.) Wha•••ever the signs were, (which the holy Ghost ⟨◇⟩ concealeth,) this ordering of the people under their standards with ensigns, taught all, to abide in that state wherein God placed them; and not to ⟨◇⟩ from tribe to tribe, or from ensign to ensign; but to continue

Also when they marched, Judah went foremost, Num. 10. 14. And after Joshua's death, Judah went first up to fight against the Canaanites, Judge. 1. 1, 2. He figured Christ the Lion of the tribe of Judah, who also is Michael, that with his Angels fighteth against the Dragon, and goeth before his heavenly armies; Rev. 5. 5. and 12. 7. and 19. 11. 14.

V. 5. Issachar] and with him Zebulon, verse. 7. both younger brothers to Judah, that they might the more willingly be under his regiment: all of them sons of Leah the free woman, placed in this first quarter.

V. 7. The tribe of Zebulon] understand from v. 5. shall encamp next: so the Greek explaineth it. And they that encamp next, &c. So in verse. 14. 22. 29.

V. 9. an hundred thousand &c.] the greatest number of warriors, by many, were in this first quarter, where Judah was standard-bearer; almost thirty thousand more than in any other quarter. The next in number to him, was the last squadron, where Dan bare the standard: so they that went foremost, and came hindmost, had the greatest armies, for the more safety of the Sanctuary (which matched in the midst) and of all Israel. The number of everyone, may be viewed thus:

- 1. In the campe of Judah, 186400. East.
- 2. In the campe of Reuben, 151450. South.
- 3. In the campe of Ephraim, 108100. West.
- 4. In the campe of Dan, 157600. North.

set forward first] or, march and journey first, when the host removeth, Num. 10. 14. as they encamped in the first place, Eastward, before the door of God's Tabernacle.

V. 10. Southward] the order proceedeth from East to South, and so to the West & North; according to the course of the Sun, and climates of the world. And this second place is given to Reuben, because he was the first borne, though he lost his first birth-right, Gen. 49. which Judah and Joseph had shared between them; and he is put down to the second place.

V. 12. Simeon] Next brother to Reuben, and of the same mother: with whom is joined God the first-borne of that mothers maid Zilpha, (verse 14.) both for to keep them the more easily in subjection, and to nourish brotherly love.

V. 14. Reguel] in Greek Rago ⟨...⟩ : he was before called Deg ⟨...⟩ , Num. 1 14. because the Hebrew letters are like one another, and often changed; as is noted on Gen. 4. 18.

V. 16. second] in the second place: see Num. 10. 18.

V. 17. Tent of the congregation] in Greek, the Tent of the Testimony; the sanctuary of God: which was to set forward in the midst of the camps, both to show God's presence among them; and the honor again that they should do unto him As it is written of the church, God is in the midst of her, she shall not be moved, Psal. 64. 5. See also Song. 3. 7, 8. The manner and order of carrying the Tabernacle, is shown in Num. 10. 17 &c. the campe] the order of the Levites camping, is shown in Num. 3. their marching in Num. 10.

V. 18. Ephraim] he the younger brother, is standard-bearer before his elder, Manasseh: as Jacob prophesied his superiority, Gen. 48. 14. 20. sea-ward] that is, as the Chaldee•• expounds it, Westward: see the notes on Gen. 12. 8.

V. 20. Manasseh] and next him Berjamin, v. 22. so all Rachel's sons encamped together, on the west quarter of the Sanctuary.

V. 24. an hundred thousand, &c.] this was the smallest number of all the army•; almost 80 thousand fewer than in the standard o• Judah, v. 9.

V. 25. Dan] He was the first borne of the handmaids children, and Jacob's fist son; Gen. 30. 6. and by prophesy he was to judge his people, as the other tribes, Genes. 49. 16. so God here appointeth him the standard; and he hath the greatest number of warriors, saving Judas.

V. 27. Aser] the youngest son of the other handmaid Zilpha; yet set next unto Dan, as is noted on Num. 1. 15. with whom Naphtali Dans brother is joined, v. 29. so the three handmaids children, were in the Northern and hindmost quarter: that in God's ordering of the Tribes, his wisdom might appear. We may behold the order of the Lord's armies, as they encamped, thus:

1. IVDAH, Isachar, and Zebulon: in whose camps were 186400 warriors.

[illustration]

The Sanctuary and the Courtyard about it, were in a long square, twice so long as they were broad; as their description in Exod. 26. and 27. showeth. But in what form the campe of Israel was, the Scripture expresseth not, save that it was round about the Tabernacle, Num. 2. 2. It is likely therefore to be in a square; and so many thousand tents as Israel had, could not be pitched in a little roomth. Josephus (in Antiq. Iud. l. 3. c. 11.) saith, that between every tribe, in the four quarters, there was a distant space, and like a mart or fair, to buy and sell in their boothes, with artificers in their shops, as if it had been a city. Jonathan in his Targum on Num. 2. 3. saith, The campe of Israel was twelve miles long, and twelve miles broad. Unto this form of the Church in the wilderness the Scriptures after have reference, both in the name, calling the beloved City, the Camp of the Saints, Rev. 20. 9. (as in 2 Chron. 31. 2. the Temple is called the Campes of the LORD;) also for the manner of situation, the heavenly Jerusalem is foursquare, the length as large as the breadth, Revel. 21. 16. which form was likewise shown in vision to Ezekiel, Ezek. 48. 20. and is the most firm and settled, against all troubles. And as here, God's sanctuary is walled about with the twelve tribes of Israel: so the new Jerusalem hath a wall with twelve gates, and names written thereon, of the twelve tribes of the sons of Israel: and the wall hath twelve foundations, and in them the names of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb, Rev. 21. 12. 14. As here there were three tribes on every quarter; so Jerusalem hath three gates on the East, three on the North, three on the South, and three on the West, Rev. 21. 13. Ezek. 48. 31.—34. As these twelve tribes, (the walls of God's Tabernacle,) had their fathers names graven on twelve sundry precious stones, Exod. 28. so the foundations of the wall of the heavenly city, is of the like stones, Rev. 21. 19, 20. As here between the Sanctuary and the Tribes of Israel, were four companies of Levites, to watch and ward the holy place: so between God's Throne, and the four and twenty Elders compassing it, there are four Living creatures full of eyes, glorifying God night and day; after whom, the twenty four Elders fall down and worship God, Revel. a. 6.—10. Finally, as into this campe of the Lord in the wilderness, no unclean persons might enter, but were shut out, Num. 5. 2, 3, 4. so into the new Jerusalem, there may in no wise enter anything that defileth &c. Rev. 21. 27. And the earthly Jerusalem (called the holy City, Mat. 4. 5. Luke 4. 9.) was in the ages following (when Israel dwelt in Canaan) answerable in holiness to this campe of Israel, as the Hebrews record, saying; As was the Campe in the wilderness, such was the Campe in Jerusalem. From Jerusalem (gates) to the mountain of the House (of the Lord:) the campe of Israel. From the Mountain of the House, to the gate of Nicanor (which was the East gate of the Temple,) the campe of Levi. From thence and forward, the campe of the Divine Majesty; answerable to the tapestry-hangings (of the Lord's court) that were in the wilderness. Talmud Bab. in Zebachim. ch. 14. in Gemara. See also the annotations on Exod. 40. 33. In the second Temple, the East gate of the court was called the gate of Nicanor; as the comment on the foresaid place of the Talmud showeth. And Maimonides in Misn. tom. 3. in Beth habchirah, ch. 5. sect. 5. saith of it thus; Every of the gates was ten cubits broad, and twenty cubits high, and had doors covered with gold, except the East gate, which was covered with brass, like gold, and that gate was called the high gate [2 Chron. 27. 3.] and that was the gate of Nicanor.

V. 29. And the tribe] in Greek, And they that campe next, shall be the tribe of Naphtali. See verse. 7. Thus God adjoined to every of the four standards, two tribes; and those the next of blood inferior unto them, for to maintain order, and nourish love, and to afford mutual help. Our Savior also ordained among his Apostles a kind of combination and fraternity, as is to be seen by the rehearsal of their names, in Mat. 10. 2, 3, 4.

- 1. Simon Peter, and Andrew his brother.
- 2. James (or Jacob) son of Zebedee, and John his brother.
- 3. Philip, and Bartholmew.
- 4. Thomas, and Matthew the Publican.
- 5. James son of Alpheus, and Lebbeus (or Judas his brother, Luk. 6. 16. Jude v. 1.)
- 6. Simon Kananites (or the zealous,) and Judas Iscariot.

And these did Christ send forth by two and two, Mark 6. 7. to war the warfare of his Gospel; (as 1 Tim. 1. 18) And when Iscariot lost his office, Matthias was chosen in his place, Act. 1. 26. Afterward there were added Paul and Barnabas, Act. 13. 2.

Vers. 32. These are those mustered] in Greek, This is the muster (or visitation.) the house] that is, as the Greek saith, *the houses: so in verse. 34. <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> 600. thousand &c.] the sum that was mentioned before, in Num. 1. 46. See the notes there.*

V. 34. so they camped] or, pitched their tents. The holy Ghost commendeth unto us the obedience of Israel, as before in the making of the Sanctuary, Exod. 39. 42, 43. so here in their orderly camping about, and marching before and after it. That as Order in all things is beautiful, and delectable; so especially in the Church, and things pertaining to the service of God: wherefore the Apostle joyed to behold the order of the Church in Colossae, and the steadfastness of their faith in Christ, wherein he exhorted them still to walk in him (ϕ) Coloss. 2. 5, 6. And Balaam when he beheld this Campe of Israel, from the top of the Rocks, did not only admire the multitude of them, and the presence of the Lord among them; but said, How goodly are thy Tents, ô Jacob; thy Tabernacles, ô Israel! As the valleys are they spread forth, as gardens by the rivers side &c. Num. 23. 9. 10. 21. and 24. 5, 6. And Solomon describeth the church to be beautiful, as Tirzah, (a pleasant place where the King of Israel dwelt, 1 King. 14. 17.) comely as Jerusalem, (which was also beautiful for situation, Psal. 48. 2. and compact together, Psal. 122. 3.) terrible as an army with banners, Song. 6. 4.

CHAP. III.

1. The sons of Aaron, the Priests. 5. The Levites are given to the Priests, for the service of the Tabernacle, 11. Instead of the first-borne of Israel. 14. The Levites are numbered by their families. 21. The families, number and charge of the Gershonites, 27. Of the Kohathites, 33. Of the Merarites. 38. The place and charge of Moses and Aaron. 40. The first-borne of Israel are freed by the Levites. 44. The overplus are redeemed.

AND these are the generations of Aaron, and Moses, in the day that Jehovah spake with Moses, in mount Sinai. And these are the names of the sons of Aaron; Nadab the first-borne, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. These are the names of the sons of Aaron; the Priests, which were anointed: whose hand he filled, to minister in the Priests office. And Nadab and Abihu died before Jehovah, when they offered strange fire before Jehovah, in the wilderness of Sinai: and they had no sons: and Eleazar and Ithamar ministered in the Priests office; in the sight of Aaron their father.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Bring near the tribe of Levi, and present it before Aaron the Priest: and they shall minister unto him. And they shall keep his charge, and the charge of all the congregation, before the Tent of the congregation, to serve the service of the Tabernacle. And they shall keep all the instruments of the Tent of the congregation, and the charge of the sons of Israel, to serve the service of the Tabernacle. And thou shalt give the Levites to Aaron, and to his sons: they are given are given, unto him, out of the sons of Israel. And thou shalt appoint Aaron and his sons; and they shall keep their Priests office: and the stranger that cometh nigh shall be put to death.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; And I, behold I have taken the Levites from among the sons of Israel, instead of every first-borne, that openeth the womb, of the sons of Israel: and the Levites shall be mine. Because every first-borne is mine: in the day that I smote every first-borne in the land of Egypt, I sanctified unto me every first-borne in Israel, from man unto beast: mine they shall be, I am Jehovah.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, in the wilderness of Sinai, saying; Muster the sons of Levi, according to the house of their fathers, according to their families; every male, from a month old and upward, shalt thou muster them. And Moses mustered them, according to the mouth of Jehovah, as he was commanded. And these were the sons of Levi, by their names: Gershon, and Kohath, and Merari. And these were the names of the sons of Gershon, according to their families: Libni, and Shimei. And the sons of Kohath, according to their families: Amtam, and Izhar; Hebron, and Vzziel. And the sons of Merari, according to their families, Mahli, and Mushi: these are the families of the Levites, according to the house of their fathers. Of Gershon, was the family of Libni, and the family of Shimei: these are the families of the Gershonites. Those that were mustered of thē, by the number of every male, from a month old and upward, the mustered of them were seven thousand, and five hundred. The families of the Gershonites shall encamp behind the Tabernacle, Seaward. And the Prince of the house of the father of the Gershonites, shall be Eliasaph, the son of Lael. And the charge of the sons of Gershon, in the Tent of the congregation shall be the Tabernacle, and the Tent, the covering thereof, and the hanging veil for the door of the Tent of the congregation. And the tapestry-hangings of the Court, and the hanging veil for the door of the Court, which is by the Tabernacle, and by the altar round about, and the cords thereof, for all the service thereof.

And of Kohath was the family of the Amramites, and the family of the Izharites, and the family of the Hebronites, and the family of the Vzzielites: these are the families of the Kohathites. By the number of every male, from a month old and upward, eight thousand, and six hundred, keeping the charge of the Sanctuary. The families [unspec] of the sons of Kohath shall encamp on the side of the Tabernacle, Southward. And the Prince of the house of the father of the families of the Kohathites shall be Elizaphan, the son of Vzziel. And their charge shall be the Ark, and the Table, and the Candlestick, and the Altars, and the vessels of the Sanctuary, with which they shall minister, and the hanging veil, and all the service thereof. And the Prince of the Princes of the Levites shall be Eleazar, the son of Aaron the Priest, having the oversight of them that keep the charge of the Sanctuary.

Of Merari was the family of the Mahlites, and the family of the Mushites: these are the families of Merari. And those that were mustered of them by the number of every male, from a month old and upward, were six thousand, and two hundred. And the Prince of the house of the father of the families of Merari shall be Zuriel the son of Abigail: they shall pitch on the side of the Tabernacle, Northward. And the oversight of the charge of the sons [unspec] of Merari shall be the boards of the Tabernacle, and the bars thereof, and the pillars thereof, and the sockets thereof, and all the vessels thereof, & all the service thereof; And the pillars of the Court round about, and their sockets, and their pins, and their cords. And they that encampe before the Tabernacle, foremost before the Tent of the congregation, Eastward, shall be Moses, and Aaron and his sons, keeping the charge of the Sanctuary, for the charge of the sons of Israel: and the stranger that cometh nigh shall be put to death. All that were mustered of the Levites, which Moses mustered and Aaron, at the mouth of Jehovah, according to their families, every male, from a month old and upward, were two and twenty thousand.

And Jehovah said unto Moses, Muster [unspec] every first-borne male of the sons of Israel, from a month old and upward, and take the number of their names. And thou shalt take the Levites for me, I am Jehovah; instead of every first-borne of the sons of Israel; and the cattle of the Levites, instead of every firstling among the cattle of the sons of Israel. And Moses mustered, as Jehovah commanded him, every first-borne among the sons of Israel. And all the first-borne males by the number of names, from a month old and upward, of those that were mustered of them, were two and twenty thousand, two hundred, and seventy and three.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Take the Levites instead of every first-borne among the sons of Israel, and the cattle of the Levites, instead of their cattle: and the Levites shall be mine, I am Jehovah. And for those that are to be redeemed of the two hundred, and seventy and three, which are mo• than the Levites, of the first-borne of the sons of Israel, Thou shalt even take five shekels a peace by the poll: after the shekel of the sanctuary, shalt thou take; the shekel is twenty gerahs. And thou shalt give the money to Aaron and to his sons, of the redeemed that are moe, among them. And Moses took the redemption money, of those that were moe than the redeemed of the Levites. Of the first-borne of the sons of Israel, took he the money: a thousand, three hundred, and sixty and five shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary. And Moses gave the money of them that were redeemed, to Aaron and to his sons, according to the mouth of Jehovah, as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

Annotations.

The generations] that is, the children of Aaron, and genealogy of the Levites, and the things that befell unto them; for so the word generations is used for accidents that fall out unto any, as is noted on Gen. 5. 1. In this and the next chapter, he showeth the numbering of the Levites, and their order in administration: who were numbered apart, and not with the other tribes, because they were to attend the service of the Tabernacle, and encamp about it, not with the other twelve tribes, Num. 1. 49. 50. and 3. 8, 9, 10. 23. 38. And they were to be numbered after another manner, not from twenty years old, as the tribes were, Num. 1. 3. but from a month old, as touching their tale, Num. 3. 15. and from thirty years old to fifty, as touching their service, Num. 4. 3. And also, because there ⟨⊗⟩ inheritance given them, among the sons of Israel, Num. 26. 62. but the Lord was their inheritance, Deut. 10. 8, 9. Now to be numbered apart, and not with others, signified some special favor towards such, and care over them; as Num. 23. 9.

Aaron Aaron] the elder brother of Moses; and ⟨⊗⟩ Levites: therefore their names are mentioned here.

V. 3. he filled] that is, consecrated (or perfected) ⟨⊗⟩ the Greek translatheth. See the annotations on Ex••. 29. 9. and Levite. 8.

V. 4. died] by a fire from the Lord, Levite. 10. 1, 2. This is mentioned again, in Num. 26. 61. 1 Chron. 24. 1, 2. had no sons] the Hebrews (as Chazkuni upon this place,) say, if they had had sons, those sons had been before Eleazar and Ithamar: for whosoever is fore-most in inheritance, is foremost for honor (or dignity.) in the sight of Aaron] or, before the face, that is, whiles Aaron lived; as before the face of Tharah, Gen. 11. 38. is, while Tharah lived, before the Moon and Sun, Psal. 72. 5. 17. is, whiles they continue to give light. The Greek translatheth With Aaron.

Elsewhere it is said, by the hand of Aaron, 1 Chron. 24. 19. Of these two, there were so many Priests in David's days, that he distributed them into 24. courses, sixteen of Eleazar, and eight of Ithamar, 1 Chron. 24. 3. 4. The Hebrew Doctors say, Moses divided the Priests into eight wards (or courses,) four of Eleazar, and four of Ithamar: and so they were until the Prophet Samuel's days. Then Samuel and David the King parted them into 24. courses. And over every course (or ward) there was one chief Provost. And they went up to Jerusalem to serve by course every week. And every Sabbath day they changed, one course went out; and the next after them, came in, &c. Maimonides tom. 3. treat. of the Instruments of the Sanctuary, chap. 4. sect. 3. Compare 1 Chron. 9. 22. 25. 2 King. 11. 5. 7.

V. 6. present it] or, cause it to stand; speaking of the tribe. In Greek, present them.

V. 7. his charge] Hebr. his custody (or observation;) that is, that which he commandeth them to observe. See this phrase in Lev. 18. 30. ⟨...⟩ of all the congregation] the Greek explaineth it, of the sons of Israel, as in v. 8. So ⟨◇⟩ 2 Chron. 35. 3. serve the Lord your God, and his people Israel. It meaneth also such things, as they were charged to keep: but the Levites now were taken in their stead. ⟨...⟩ to serve the service] in Greek, to work (or do) the works of the Tabernacle: which in Num. 8. 11. is said, to serve the service of the Lord. After, in the 8. verse, the Greek translateth, according to all the works of the Tabernacle. The Hebrews write thus; The seed of Levi are all of them separated for the service of the Sanctuary. And it is commanded that the Levites be prepared and ready for the service of the Sanctuary, whether they be willing or not willing; (as in Num. 18. 23.) And the Levite, he shall serve the service of the Tent of the congregation. And the son of Levi which will take upon him all the Levites commandments saving one thing, they receive him not in, till he take all upon him. Maimonides treat, of the Instruments of the Sanct. chap. 3. sect. 1.

V. 9. are given are given] that is, as the Greek here, and Moses himself in Num. 18. 6. explaineth it, are a gift given: o•, they are wholly given. So the Ministers of the Gospel are called gifts, Ephes. 4. 8. 11. ⟨...⟩ unto him] for his help, in the charge and work of the Sanctuary: they ministering unto him, and he and his sons ministering before the Tabernacle, Num. 18. 2. 6.

V. 11. shalt appoint] or, constitute, set in office as Bishops, or Overseers. The Greek explaineth it, thou shalt constitute over the Tabernacle of Testimony. their Priests office] for everything of the Altar, and within the veil, Num. 18. 7. the stranger] that is, whosoever is not of Aaron's seed, as is explained in Num. 16. 40. for no man taketh the honor unto himself, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron, Hebr. 5. 4. So Chazkuni here expoundeth stranger to be Israelite or Levite that cometh near to minister. And Maimonides in Biath hamikdash, chap. 9. sect. 1. saith, Who is the stranger? Whosoever is not of the seed of Aaron, the males. And after, God himself forbiddeth the Levites to come night he vessels of the Sanctuary and the Altar, on pain of death, Numb. 18. 3. put to death] by the magistrate, or by the hand of God, as was Korah, for presuming to do the Priests office, Numb. 16.

V. 12. every first-borne] which (before the Levites were taken in their stead) did minister to the Lord, as is noted on Exod. 24. 5. And upon what occasion God took the Levites instead of the first-borne, is to be seen in Exod. 32. 26. 29. Deut. 33. 9. shall be mine] to minister before me, as the Chaldee expoundeth it.

V. 13. I smote] in Chaldee, I killed: see Exod. 12. 29, 30. The Lord having slain all the first-borne of Egypt, and spared the Israelites, did therefore challenge for his own, and sanctify to himself all Israel's first-borne, Exod. 13. 2. but took the Levites and their cattle, instead of Israel's first-borne men and cattle, Num. 3. 45. and gave them as a gift to Aaron, to minister unto him. Who being in his Priesthood a type of Christ, all these rites are in him fulfilled: For unto Christ, God gave children, Hebr. 2. 13. and they are a congregation of first-borne written in heaven, Hebr. 12. 23. being of God's own will begotten by the word of truth, that they should be a kind of first-fruits of his creatures, I am. 1. 18. to whom he also giveth the first-fruits of his Spirit, Rom. 8. 23. These wait on, and follow the Lamb (Christ) being bought from among men, and first-fruits unto God and to the Lamb, Rev. 14. 4. These were brought for an offering unto the Lord, out of all nations; and of them the Lord hath taken for Priests and for Levites, Isaiah. 66. 20, 21. and Christ hath made us Kings and Priests unto God and his Father, that we may serve him day and night; in his Temple, Rev. 1. 6. and 7. 15.

V. 15. Muster] or Number, Hebr. Visit. This was done by Moses and Aaron, v. 39. and by the Princes of the congregation, Num. 4. 34. though here the commandment is directed unto Moses only house] in Greek, houses. old] Heb. son of a month. Tho cause why the Levites were numbered from this age, was for that they came in place of the first-borne of Israel, whose redemption is appointed from a month old, Num. 18. 15, 16. And they were counted after the houses of their fathers, not of their mothers; for if a woman of Levi were married to a man of Judah, or any other tribe, her son was not a Levite. The Hebrew canons say; Priests and Levites and Israelites <...> fully go in (that is, <ϕ> ) one to ano <...> ; <ϖ> which is <ϕ> goeth <ϖϖ> , &c. as it is written, ACCORDING TO THE HOUSE OF THEIR FATHERS: the house of his father, that is, his family, and not the house of his mother. Maimonides in Issure biah, c. 19. sect. 15.

V. 16. the mouth] that is, as the Chaldee expoundeth it, the word: and the Greek saith, the [unspec] voice of the Lord.

V. 17. Gershon] in Greek Gersom (but in verse. 25. Gerson.) So Ezron, in Gen. 46. 12. is Esrom, Mat. 1. 3. Kohath] or as in Greek, Kaath, See Gen. 46. 11. Exod. 6. 16.

V. 26. tapestry hangings] whereof see Exod. 27. 9. &c. hanging veil] mentioned in Exod. 27. 16.

V. 28. of the Sanctuary] Hebr. of the sanctify, [unspec] or holiness: meaning the holy things; as the Greek saith, of the Holies: what they were, is expressed in v. 31. See Num. 4. 4. 15. and 10. 21. Here the families of the Levites may be viewed by their numbers;

- 1. Of the Gersonites 7500.
- 2. Of the Kohathites 8600.
- 3. Of the Merarites 6200.

By their situation when they camped about the Tabernacle;

- 1. Gersonites, behind westward, v. 23.
- 2. Kohathites; Southward, v. 29.
- 3. Merarites, Northward, v. 35.

And to make up the square, Moses and Aaron with the Priests encamped foremost Eastward, v. 8.

By their charges, for there was committed unto the care and carriage of the

- 1. Gersonites, the Tent, coverings, veil, hanging of the court, &c.
- $\langle \diamond \rangle$  . Koha  $\langle \dots \rangle$  , the Ark, Table, Altars, and Instrumentsof the Sanctuary.
- 3. Merarites, the boords, bars, pillars, sockers, &c.

Among these families of Levi, we may observe the special prerogatives of Kohath the second son:

1. He excelleth in multitude of families, or chief fathers, having four, when as each of his brethren had but two.

2. He excelleth in multitude of children, having 8600. that is, 1100 moe than his elder brother Gerson, and 2400. moe than Merari.

3. Of him came Moses the king, Aaron the priest, and Marie the prophetesse; and so all the Priests were of this family; Exod. 6. 18. 20. Num. 26. 58, 59.

4. His families have the chiefest place about the Sanctuary, the South quarter, next unto Moses, Aaron and the priests, Num. 3. 29.

5. They have the charge of the most holy things within the Sanctuary, as the Ark, Table, Candlestick, Altars, &c. Num. 3. 31.

6. Whereas the tribe of Levi had 48. cities allowed them in Canaan, Kohaths posterity had 23. of them; for the Priests had 13. cities, and the other Kohathites ten; and so he had in a manner a double portion, as much as both his brethren, Ios. 21.

7. Of the Prince of these Kohathites Elizaphan (Num. 3. 30.) there were 200. Levites to help home with the Ark in David's days, (no such mention being made of the other two princes,) besides 312. Kohathites of other families: when of Gershon and Merari, there were not so many: 1 Chron. 15. 5.—8, 9, 10.

V. 29. Southward] the south is in Psal. 89. 13. called the right side; and in this place it hath a [unspec] name in Hebrew derived also of the right hand; because so it is when men stand with their faces to the East: see the notes on Num. 2. 3.

V. 30. Elizapham. son of Vzziel] he was of the fourth and youngest family of the Kohathites, [unspec] yet preferred to be the prince over them. This (as the Hebrews think) was offensive to Korah who was of the second family of Izhar; and occasioned him to rebel. See the notes on Num. 16. 1. Elizaphan is by interpretation, My God hath stored •p; and Uzziel, God is my strength.

V. 31. all the service thereof] in Greek, all the [unspec] 〈...〉 ks of them.

V. 32. of the princes] the Greek saith, over [unspec] the princes; and the Chaldee addeth, appointed over the princes. of the Levites] Hebr. of Levi, whose name is put for all his posterity, as the Greek and Chaldee translate Levites. So Aaron, is used for the Aaronites; 1 Chron. 12. 27. Eleazar] by interpretation The help of God. having the oversight] or, the Bishop, having the Bis 〈...〉 office; which hath the name in Hebrew, of Uisitation; in Greek, of Overseeing: and so this word is translated by the holy Ghost, Episcopee, that is, a Bishops office or charge, in Act. 1. 20. from Psal. 109. 7. And in Num. 4. 16. the Greek translatheth it Episcopos, Bishop. So in Ezek. 44. 11. having charges (that is, Bishops) at the gat: of the house; where the Greek translatheth it Porters. In Targum Jonathan it is explained thus: He inquired by Urim and Thummim, under his hand were they appointed that keep the custody of the Sanctuary. As Aaron the high Priest figured Christ, Heb. 5. 1. 4. 5. so Eleazar in this office being Prince of Princes, shadowed the office of our Lord Jesus, who is the Prince of the Kings of the earth, Rev. 1. 5. the Archpastor, 1 Pet. 5. 4. the great Pastor of the sheep, Hebr. 13. 20. and Bishop of our souls, 1 Pet. 2. 25. And hence arose the distinction of the high Priest, and the second priest, as in 2 King. 25. 18. And when Aaron was dead, and Eleazar high priest in his place, Num. 20. 26. 28. then Phinehas Eleazars son, was Governor over the Levites, 1 Chron. 9. 20.

V. 35. Zuriel] in Greek Souriel, which signifieth God is my Rock. Abigail] or Abichail, as the Greek pronounceth it: by interpretation, The fathers strength.

V. 36. the oversight of the charge] that is, as the Chaldee expoundeth it, that which shall be committed to the charge (or custody) of the sons of Merari. the service thereof] in Greek, the works of them. And because these things were heavy to bear, the Lord allowed them four wagons, according unto their service, for to ease the carriage, Num. 7. 5.—8.

Vers. 38. foremost] or, as the Greek translateth it, Eastward: see Num. 2. 3. Moses, and Aaron] The Hebrews (as Baal hatturim upon this place) do observe, that here is a pause (or, distinction) between Moses and Aaron; to teach that Moses (pitched) in one place, by himself; and Aaron and his sons in another place by themselves. Thus Moses a Levite of Kohath, was King in Ieshurun, Deut. 33. 5. and Aaron his brother, Priest: as for Moses two sons, Gershon and Eliezer (Exod. 18. 3, 4.) here is no mention of them, neither in Num. 26. neither had they any prerogative, but were among the other Kohathites, and named of the tribe of Levi, that is, common Levites, 1 Chron. 24. 14. the charge] or, the custody, the watch of the Sanctuary: the Levites being assistants under them, Num. 18. 2, 3. Of the watch which was wont to be kept in the Sanctuary, see the annotations on Num. 15. 8. the stranger] that is, any saving Aaron and his sons; see verse 10.

Vers. 39. and Aaron] in the Hebrew, there are many extraordinary pricks over the name of Aaron, for special cause: R. Sol. Rashi saith they were to signify that Aaron himself was not among the number of the Levites, none of the 22000. here mentioned. Observe Aaron's dignity; He was the elder brother unto Moses the King. Exod. 7. 7. He was by marriage brother to Naasson Prince of Judah, for he had to wife Elisabeth his sister, Exod. 6. 23. He was joined with Moses, in the government of Israel, Psal. 77. 20. He had the prerogative to sacrifice for the whole Church, 1 Chron. 23. 13. But Christ our King and Priest after the order of Melchizedek, far excelleth him, H•b. 7. and 8. chap. two and twenty thousand] This sum accordeth not with the former particulars; for there were of Gershon, 7500. of Kohath, 8600. of Merari, 6200. which make in all 22. thousand and three hundred. But Aaron and the Priests, as also the first-borne of the Levites, were the Lord's after a peculiar manner, Exod. 13. 2. and therefore deducted from the rest, which were all taken instead of the first-borne of Israel. So there were so many thousand Levites, as there are Hebrew letters: because they were above others, to apply the study of God's Law, Deut. 33. 10. which because they did not according to their duty, God so disposed that Iehozadak the Priest, in the 22. generation after Aaron, was carried captive with the people into Babylon, 1 Chron. 6. 3.—15. And here again God's providence appeareth, that the Levites increase should be by just thousands, and the Priests and first-borne of Levi, by hundreds: without any broken number, such as was among the first-borne of Israel, verse. 43. See the notes on Num. 1. 25. Again, whereas the least of all the other tribes of Israel, from twenty years old and upward, had 32000. and 200. (Num. 1. v. 34, 35.) and the greatest, 54000. and 600. (v. 27.) here the Levites which were counted from a month old and upward, were but 22000. so the Lord's portion was the least. Yea of these 22. thousand, there were found but eight thousand five hundred and fourscore, that were fit for to do service in the Sanctuary, Num. 4. 47, 48. so small was the number of those that served God in his ministry, in comparison with the camps of Israel.

Vers. 40. Muster] or Number. month old] Hebr. son of a month.

Vers. 41. for me] or, unto me, as the Chaldee expounds it, thou shalt bring near the Levites before me. every first-borne] or, all the first-borne, which being appointed unto the Lord's service, the Lord taketh the Levites to serve him in their stead. This was for the first-borne males of man and beast which the Israelites now had: all the first-borne that came after this, were to be redeemed, or given to the Priest, Num. 18. 15. See the notes on verse 12. and 13.

Vers. 43. and seventy and three] God's special providence appeareth again in this number of the first-borne, that it should be so near unto the number of the Levites taken in their stead: whom God destinated from the womb unto his service, and made the sums of them so near. A like work of God is observed by Moses in Deut. 32. 8. how he had appointed the borders of the people's, according to the number of the sons of Israel. And whereas six hundred thousand men and moe (Num. 1. 46.) had but 22. thousand and 273. first-borne males in all their families, it appeareth that the far greater number of Israel's first-borne were females, who by reason of their sex were not fit to serve God in his sanctuary. Which figured the small number of God's elect, among the many that are called, Mat. 22. 14. Rom. 9. 6, 7, 8. For the elect are such as do serve God day and night in his Temple, Revel. 7. 15. and are Priests unto God, Rev. 5. 10.

Vers. 45. shall be mine] which the Chaldee explaineth, shall minister before me.

Vers. 46. those that are to be redeemed] Hebr. And the redeemed; or, as the Greek translatheth it, And the redemptions (or ransomes.) So after in verse. 48, 49, 51. Here the overplus of the first-borne of man, is reckoned, and the sum of their ransom verse. 50. but the overplus of cattle is not reckoned.

Vers. 47. five shekels a piece] Heb. five five shekels: which the Greek translatheth five shekels by the head. These five shekels (the price set here, and in Num. 18. 16.) was the value set in Lev. 27. 6. from a month old to five years old; and it was the least of all the valuations: so that God burdened the Israelites with the ransomes as little as might be. twenty gera's] or, twenty pence; the gerah was a piece of silver that weighed sixteen barley grains: so the shekel weighed 320. grains; see the notes on Exod. 30. 13.

Vers. 48. the money] Hebr. the silver: so in verse. 49, 50, 51. of the redeemed] understand, the money of those that are redeemed: or, as the Greek translatheth, the redemptions of those that are moe.

Vers. 50. Of the first-borne] in Hebrew, B'chor [unspec] the First-borne is singular, as spoken of one; but translated in Greek plurally, as implying all. And this seemeth to be taken, not of particular persons (as, of them that were last numbered, or any other) for so the burden should have lien unequally upon a few: but of the church in general. Or, to cut off contention, it was done by lot, as R. Solomon Rashi saith, he brought 22000. scrolles or papers (according to the number of the Levites, verse. 39.) and on every of them was written, A son of Levi: and 273. papers, (according to the number of the First-borne Israelites moe than the Levites, verse. 46.) and on every of them was written, Five shekels; they mingled them and put them in a basket; then said he unto them, come draw your papers according to your lot.

Vers. 51. of them that were redeemed] the Greek translatheth, the silver, the ransomes of them that were overplus: this was given to Aaron, because the Levites were given to him, verse. 9. and when Levites failed, this money was in their stead, not the first-borne themselves, but their ransomes, for which the other Levites supplied their place and service. This redeeming of men by silver, fore-shadowed a better redemption by Christ; as it is written, Ye know that ye were not redeemed 〈ϕ〉 corruptible things, as silver and gold, &c. but with the precious blood of Christ, 1 Pet. 1. 18, 19. according to the mo<sup>t</sup>h] that is, the word, as the Chaldee translatheth; and the Greek, by the voice of the Lord.

CHAP. IV.

1. The age and time of the Levites service. 4. The carriage of the Kohathites, when the Priests have taken down the Tabernacle. 16. The charge of Eleazar. 17. The office of the Priests. 21. The carriage of the Gershonites. 29. The carriage of the Merarites. 34. The number of the Kohathites that served. 38. of the Gershonites, 42. and of the Merarites.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, and unto Aaron, saying; Take the sum of the sons of Kohath, from among the sons of Levi, according to their families, according to the house of their fathers. From thirty years old, and upward, even until fifty years old, everyone that entereth into the army, to do the work in the tent of the congregation. This shall be the service of the sons of Kohath, in the tent of the congregation, the holiness of holinesses. And Aaron shall come and his sons, when the campe setteth forward; and they shall take down the Veile of the covering, and cover with it the Ark of the Testimony. And they shall put thereon a covering of Tachash skin, and shall spreade a cloth wholly of blew, above; and shall put in the bars thereof. And upon the Table of Shew-bread they shall spreade a cloth of blew, and put thereon the dishes, and the cups, and the bowles, and the covers to cover withal; and the continual bread shall be thereon. And they shall spreade upon them a cloth of scarlet, and cover it with a covering of Tachash skin, and shall put in the bars thereof. And they shall take a cloth of blew, and cover the Candlestick of the light, and the lamps thereof, and the tongs thereof, and the snuff-dishes thereof, and all the oil vessels thereof, wherewith they minister unto it.

And they shall put it, and all the vessels thereof, within a covering of Tachash skin, and shall put it upon a staff. And upon the Altar of gold they shall spreade a cloth of blew, and cover it with a covering of Tachash skin, and shall put in the bars thereof. And they shall take all the instruments of ministry, wherewith they minister in the Sanctuary, and put them in a cloth of blew, and cover them with a covering of Tachash 〈ϕ〉, and shall put them on a staff. And they shall take away the ashes from the altar, and spreade upon it a cloth of purple. And they shall put upon it all the vessels thereof, wherewith they minister about it; the fire-pans, the flesh-hooks, and the shovels, and the basons; all the vessels of the Altar: and they shall spreade upon it a covering of Tachash skin, and put in the bars of it. And Aaron and his sons shall make an end of covering the Sanctuary, and all the vessels of the Sanctuary, when the campe is to set forward; and after that, the sons of Kohath shall come to bear it; and they shall not touch the holiness, lest they die: these things shall be the burden of the sons of Kohath, in the Tent of the congregation. And to the oversight of Eleazar the son of Aaron the Priest (pertaineth) the oil of the Light, and the incense of sweet spices, and the continual meat-offering, and the anointing oil; the oversight of all the Tabernacle, and of all that therein is, in the Sanctuary, and in the vessels thereof.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying; Cut ye not off the tribe of the families of the Kohathites from among the Levites. But this do unto them, that they may live, and not die, when they approach unto the holiness of holinesses: Aaron and his sons shall go in, and appoint them every man unto his service, and to his burden. But they shall not go in to see when the Sanctuary is covered, lest they die.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Take the sum of the sons of Gershon, of them also; according to the house of their fathers, according to their families. From thirty years old, and upward, unto fifty years old, shalt thou muster them, everyone that entereth to war the warfare, to serve the service, in the Tent of the congregation. This shall be the service of the families of the Gershonites, to serve, and for the burden. And they shall bear the curtains of the Tabernacle, and the Tent of the congregation, the covering thereof, and the covering of Tachash skin, that is upon it above, and the hanging veil for the door of the Tent of the congregation. And the tapestry hangings of the Court, and the hanging veil for the door of the gate of the Court, which is by the Tabernacle, and by the Altar, round about; and their cords, and all the instruments of their service, and all that is made for them; and they shall serve. At the mouth of Aaron and his sons shall be all the service of the sons of the Gershonites, in all their butden, and in all their service; and ye shall appoint unto them in charge all their burden. This is the service of the families of the sons of the Gershonites, in the Tent of the congregation; and their charge shall be under Ithamar the son of Aaron the priest.

The sons of Merari, according to their families, according to the house of their fathers, shalt thou muster them. From thirty years old and upward, even unto fifty years old, shalt thou muster them, everyone that entereth into the army, to serve the service of the Tent of the congregation. And this shall be the charge of their burden, according to all their service in the Tent of the congregation: the boords of the Tabernacle, and the bars thereof, and the pillars thereof, and the sockets thereof. And the pillars of the Court round about, and their sockets, and their pins, and their coards, with all their instruments, and with all their service: and by names shall ye reckon the instruments of the charge of their burden. This is the service of the families of the sons of Merari, according to all their service in the Tent of the congregation under the hand of Ithamar the son of Aaron the priest. And Moses and Aaron, and the Princes of the congregation, mustered the sons of the Kohathites, according to their families, and according to the house of their fathers. From thirty years old and upward, even unto fifty years old, everyone that entered into the Army, for the service, in the Tent of the Congregation. And those that were mustered of them, according to their families, were two thousand, seven hundred, and fifty. These were they that were mustered of the families of the Kohathites, everyone that served in the Tent of the congregation, which Moses and Aaron did muster according to the mouth of Jehovah by the hand of Moses. And those that were mustered of the sons of Gershon, according to their families, and according to the house of their fathers. From thirty years old and upward, even unto fifty years old, everyone that entered into the army, for the service in the Tent of the congregation. Even those that were mustered of them, according to their families, according to the house of their fathers, were two thousand and six hundred and thirty. These were they that were mustered of the families of the sons of Gershon: everyone that served in the Tent of the congregation, whom Moses and Aaron did muster, according to the mouth of Jehovah.

And those that were mustered of the families of the sons of Merari, according to their families, according to the house of their fathers. From thirty years old and upward, even unto fifty years old, everyone that entered into the army for the service in the Tent of the congregation. Even those that were mustered of them, according to their families, were three thousand, and two hundred. These were they that were mustered of the families of the sons of Merari, whom Moses and Aaron mustered, according to the mouth of Jehovah, by the hand of Moses. All those that were mustered, whom Moses and Aaron, and the Princes of Israel mustered, of the Levites, according to their families, and according to the house of their fathers. From thirty years old and upward, even unto fifty years old, everyone that entered to serve the service of service, and the service of burden, in the Tent of the congregation. Even those that were mustered of them, were eight thousand, and five hundred, and eighty. According to the mouth of Jehovah mustered he them by the hand of Moses, every man according to his service, and according to his burden: and they were mustered of him, as Jehovah commanded Moses.

Annotations.

TAke the sum] Hebr. To take (of which phrase see the notes on Exod. 13. 3.) the head, and that in number, is the sum, as the Greek translatheth it: and the Chaldee saith, the Count (or reckoning) of the sons of Kohath; whose families are here first reckoned, because they were to carry the holiest things. Of Kohath's preeminence, see the notes on Num. 3. 28. Of him Chazkuni here observeth, Though Gershon was the first-borne, yet Kohath is first reckoned, because he carried the Ark. house] in Greek houses: so after sundry times in this chapter.

Vers. 3. thirty years old] Hebr. a son of thirty years, of which phrase see the notes on Gen. 5. 32. Here the beginning of their service is at thirty years of age; in Num. 8. 24. it is said to be at five and twenty years; (according to which, the Greek here, and in verse. 23. 30. translatheth it five and twenty;) and in David's <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> began at twenty, 1 Chron. 23. 24. and so in Ezeki <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> days, 2 Chron. 31. 17. and after in Ezraes <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> the Levites were appointed from twenty years old and upward, Ezra. 3. 8. The places in Moses may thus be accorded, that here he speaketh of catring upon their full ministrations, which being laborious, to carry the Sanctuary, &c. required full strength of body, and discretion of mind, and began therefore at 30. But in Num. 8. 24. he appointeth 25. for the beginning of their learning to do the works. So

Maimonides saith; A son of L 〈...〉 mmeth not into the Court unto his service, until they have first learned him five years; as it is said (in Num. 8. 24.) FROM FIVE AND TWENTIE YEERES OLD; and another scripture saith, (in Num. 4. 3.) FROM THIRTIE YEERES OLD; loe five are for him to learn. And he entereth not upon his service, till he be grown great, and be a man; as it is said (in Num. 4. 49.) EVERY MAN ACCORDING TO HIS SERVICE: Misn. tom. 3. treat. of the instruments of the Sanct. c. 3. s. 7. Chazkuni (on Num. 8.) reconcileth it thus; at 25. years old, they entered all of them to do the lighter works, as to watch that no stranger came into the Sanctuary, &c. and at 30. years of age, they were in their strength, and did bear the Sanctu<sup>ie</sup>, &c. Now this age of 30. years for the numbering of the Levites, continued also in David's time, 1 Chron. 23. 3. But then the Levites were no more to carry the Tabernacle nor any vessels of it, verse. 26. so by the last words of David, the Levites were numbered from twenty years old and about, verse. 27. which David did by direction from the Lord, 1 Chron. 28. 13. 19. that beginning to learn sooner, they might be the fitter at thirty, to serve the Lord and his people. And it is probable that the multitude of people, and so of sacrifices increasing, the Levites if they had not ministered till 30. years old, would not have sufficed for the service of the Temple; therefore God then by David altered the time of their entrance. This age of 30. years, was by God's providence in Joseph, when he began to govern Egypt, Gen. 41. 4. in David, when he began to reign, 2 Sam. 5. 4. John the Baptist (a Levite) began also his ministry at that age; and Christ (fulfilling all figures) at the same age began the preaching of the Gospel, Luke. 1. 35, 36. and 3. 2. 3. 23, &c. It 〈◇〉 them also, that the ministers of the Lord should be no Novices (or young scholars,) as 〈...〉 . 6. until 50. years old] Hebr. and 〈...〉 son of 50. •eenes, at what time natural 〈◇〉 usually beginneth to decay; therefore God would have them then leave off the harder 〈◇〉 ; but still they ministered with their brethren in the Tabernacle, to keep the charge, &c. 〈◇〉 . 8. 26. into the army] or, to the man 〈◇〉 is further explained in verse. 23. to war 〈...〉 are, which the Greecke translath, to 〈◇〉 〈...〉 upon the Apostle calleth the work of the 〈...〉 ry, to war a good warfare, 1 Tim. 1. •8. and 〈...〉 tioneth the weapons of their warfare, 2 Cor. 10. 4. and calleth Timothy a good soldier of Jesus Christ, 2 Tim. 2. 3, 4. because by the sword of the spirit, and other weapons of right cousnesse, they were to cast down imaginations, and lusts that war in men's members, Eph. 6. 17. 2 Cor. 6. 7. and 10. 5. I am. 4. 1. Compare Exod. 38. 8. to do the work] in Greek, all the works; in Chaldee, to serve the service: this explaineth the former warfare, to be holy and spiritual. So the Bishops office is called a good work, 1 Tim. 3. 1. for it is to labor in the word and doctrine, 1 Tim. 5. 17.

Vers. 4. the holiness of holinesses.] that is, the most holy things; as the Ark, Table, Candlestick, Altar, &c. which the Kohathites were to bear, verse. 5. 7. 9. 11. 15. These are generally named the Sanctuary, Num. 10. 21. and 3. 28.

Vers. 5. setteth forward] or, removeth, journieth from Mount Sinai towards Canaan; and this was when the cloud was taken up from off the Tabernacle, by the Lord, Num. 10. 11, 12. the veil of the covering] called in Greek, the shadowing veil; by the Apostle, the second veil, Heb. 9. 3. which was made of blew, purple, scarlet, and fine linen, with Cherubims, and was hanged between the holy place and the most holy, Exod. 26. 31. 33. This veil figured the flesh of Christ, Heb. 10. 20. as the Ark principally signified Christ also, & God's presence with his church in him. See the notes on Exod. 25. 10. 17. the Testimony] the Tables of God's law, which were in the Ark, as in the heart (or bowels) of Christ, Exo. 25. 16. Psal. 40. 8. This Ark of the testimony was covered with the veil, while the Tabernacle did stand, Exod. 40. 3. and now when the Tabernacle is to be taken down and removed, the Ark is covered with the same veil. [unspec 6]

Vers. 6. shall put] Hebr. shall give; in Greek, put over, to wit, over the Ark and veil. Tachash skin] in Greek, hyacinth (or blew color) skin: see Exod. 25. 5. This was to cover it from all injury of weather, as rain or the like; even as the whole Tabernacle, when it stood, was covered with such, Exod. 26. 14. •ai. 4, 5, 6. It was also to signify the hiding of these mysteries, for a time: see after on verse. 13. ⟨...⟩ a cloth wholly of blew] these were those clothes or garments of ministry mentioned in Exod. 31. 10. above] upmost: and herein the Ark had the preeminence of glory above all the other holy things; for their upmost coverings were of skin; but the Ark had above the skin a cloth of blew, or sky color, for the honor of Christ whom it figured. the bars thereof] made to bear the Ark with them, Exod. 25. 14, 15. see the annotations there.

Vers. 7. of Shew-bread] Hebr. table of faces, or of presence: meaning of the bread of Presence (or Shew-bread) as the Chaldee here explaineth it, and Moses elsewhere expresseth. They were twelve cakes, representing the twelve tribes of Israel, or whole church: see the annotations on Exod. 25. 30. and Lev. 24. 5. of blew] the Greek •ere translatheth it purple. to cover withal] Heb ⟨...⟩ of covering or of pouring out: of these, see the notes on Exod. 25. 29. continual bread] or, bread of continuance; so called because it was always upon the table; and when the old was taken off, new was set on, every Sabbath, as is noted on Levite. 24. 8.

Vers. 8. scarlet] Only the Ark (representing Christ,) and the Table with Shew bread (representing the church) had three coverings; all the other holy things, had but two. And none was covered with scarlet, but this Table only.

Vers. 9. of the light] in Greek, enlightening (or shining) candlestick: see the notes on Exod. 35. 14. This was a figure of God's Law, Psal. 119. 105. Prov. 6. 23. 2 Pet. 1. 19.

Vers. 10. upon a staff] or, upon a leaver, or bar; such as things are removed and carried with between two, or more, Num. 13. 23. The Greek translatheth it, upon bars; so in verse. 12. Chazkuni noteth here, that it is said, upon a staff, and not under a staff, lest that which was carried should be dragged on the ground.

Vers. 11. Altar of Gold] the Incense altar, which stood within the holy place: a figure of Christ's mediation for his church, and of their presenting their prayers unto God by him. See the notes on Exod. 30. 1,—6.

Vers. 12. instruments] or vessels of ministry; Censers, cups, &c. or such as are mentioned in 2 King. 25. 14, 15. Sanctuary] Hebr. sanctity; in Greek, the holies. a staff] in Greek, bars, as verse. 10.

Vers. 13. the ashes from the altar] This the Greek translatheth, They shall put a covering upon the altar. The Altar of brass, which stood in the courtyard, is here meant. of purple] Only the brazen altar was covered with purple; as the Table only with scarlet, verse. 8. and these two colors are sometime used one for another; as, They put on him a scarlet robe, Mat. 27. 28. for which in John. 19. 2. is written, they put on him a purple robe: so in Mark. 15. 17. they clothed him with purple: all these colors signified the heavenly dignity of these holy things, by the blood of Christ. And although the Altar of brass stood in the open court, where all might see it, yet when they removed, it also was covered as the other holy things.

Vers. 14. Vessels] or instruments, as verse. 12. fire-pans] of these and the rest, see the notes on Exod. 27. 3. At the end of this verse the Greek version mentioneth the Laver, Exod. 30. 18. (which in Moses is here altogether omitted) thus; And they shall take a purple cloth, and cover the Laver and the base (or foot) thereof, and shall put them into a covering of yointh skin; and shall put (them) upon bars. It seemeth to be not without mystery, that Moses mentioning fire-pans, flesh-hooks, and other less things, should quite omit the Laver, which usually is reckoned among the holy things of the Sanctuary, Exod. 5. 16. and 38. 8. and 39. 39. and 40. 30. And as in Melchisedeks history in Gen. 14. he omitted his parentage, kindred, birth and death; from which silence in the holy story, the Apostle reasoneth as if he had been without parents or kindred, beginning of days, or end of life, Heb. 7. So here (if it may be lawful to conjecture the like) the Laver is left uncovered, and always open to the eyes of the people, that it might be a lively representation of God's grace in Christ, continuing and opened as an ever-springing fountain: that by the washing of the new birth, by repentance and faith in the blood of Christ, we may in all our travels, at all times, cleanse our hands and feet, (our works and ways,) as the sacrificers did from the Laver, Exod. 30, 19, 20. That albeit the face of the church is sometime hid, (as the Tabernacle wrapped up,) and the Light of the Word shineth not, nor public worship performed: yet always God's elect, having faith in him, may wash and purge themselves in Christ his blood, unto forgiveness of sins, sanctification of the spirit, and salvation.

Vers. 15. the sanctuary] Hebr. Sanctity, or Holiness, that is, as the Greek explaineth it, Holy things: see Num. 3. 28. This covering of the Sanctuary, besides that it was for the honor and defense thereof, had also a further mystery. For as Moses put a veil upon his face, Exod. 34. 33. that the sons of Israel could not steadfastly look to the end of that which is abolished, 2 Cor. 3. 1. so the Tabernacle (which our fathers carried with Jesus into the possession of the Gentiles, Act. 7. 45.) was solden up, and veils and coverings were cast upon the holy things, that the Israelites could not behold the end of those types, whose end and accomplishment we now clearly see by the Gospel, by the revelation of the mystery which was kept secret since the world began: but is now made manifest, and by the scriptures of the Prophets, according to the commandment of the everlasting God, made known to all rations, for the obedience of faith, Rom. 16. 25, 26. Therefore we have God's Throne and true abernacle set forth without veils or covers, Rev. 4. 2, &c. The Temple of God is opened in heaven, and there is seen in his Temple, the Ark of the Testamentall covenant, Revel. 11. 19. not touch the holiness] that is, the holy things, as the Greek translatheth. This restraint, was like that concerning mount Sinai, which by reason of God's presence thereon, might not be touched, upon pain of death, Exod. 19. 12. Heb. 12. 18. left they die] Hebr. and die: which the Chaldee expoundeth, and not die: the Greek, that they die not: the word not before used, being here again to be understood, as it is in Job 30. 20. 25. and 31. 20. Psal. 9. 19. Prov. 30. 3. Deut. 7. 26. and often otherwhere. The Scripture it self showeth this want, and supplieth it; as in 2 Chron. 9. 20.  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  were of silver, it was accounted of: that is, it was not accounted of; as is expressed in 1 King. 10. 21. This judgment here threatened, was executed upon Uzzah a Levite, who putting his hand to the Ark of God, was therefore smitten of God, and died, 1 Chron. 13. 10. shall be the burden] that is, as the Greek translatheth, they s ⟨...⟩ ear these things, to wit, on their own shoulders, and not by wagons, or any other means, Num. 7. 9. Therefore it was a fault in David's days, that the Ark was carried upon a cart, 1 Chron. 13. 7. for they fought not the Lord, after the due order, 1 Chron. 15. 12, 13.

Vers. 16. to the oversight] the Bishops office, o• ⟨...⟩ the Greek translatheth, Bishop Eleazar; the Chaldee, that which shall be committed to the charge ( ⟨ϕ⟩ custody) of Eleazar. oil of the Light] that is, of (or for) the golden candlestick. These four particulars, the Hebrews say, Eleazar was to carry himself: for Chazkuni (on this place) writeth; The oil of the Light, and the oil of Anointing, the ⟨ϖ⟩ his right hand, and the other in his left. And the Incense in his bosom; and the Meat-offering on his shoulder. R. Elias, in Reshith chocmah, treat of ⟨ϕ⟩, ch. 16. noteth the like from the Yerushalmi Talmud, adding withal, Behold, according to his high place was his humility, to honor the Lord, to bear all this burden at one time. the Sanctuary] Hebr. the sanctity: Greek, the Holy. Eleazar had besides the charge of the oil, incense, &c. the care of all the sanctuary also, and of the burdens of the Ko ⟨...⟩ ites, Num. 3. 32. vessels] or instruments; in Greek, the works thereof. In this office, Bishop Eleazar was a figure of Christ (the Bishop of our souls, 1 Pet. 2. 25.) unto whom it pertaineth to give grace (the oil of the Spirit) for understanding of the Scriptures, Luk. 4. 18. and 24. 45. John. 1. 16. To put odors of sweet incense unto the prayers of all Saints, by his mediation, Revel. 8. 3. 1. Tim. 2. 5. To present his Church as a pure Meat-offering and sacrifice unto his Father, Ephe. 5. 26, 27. 1. Cor. 5. 7. To give the anointing oil of the holy Ghost for our sanctification, and rejoicing of our hearts, John. 7. 39. 1 John. 2. 27. To oversee all Churches and Ministers, and all actions in Churches, where he is present, and walketh among them till the worlds end, Mat. 28. 20. Rev. 1. 13. and 2. 1. 2. &c.

Vers, 18. Cut ye not off] or, Cause not to cut off; in Greek, destroy not, that is, Cause not, or occasion not by your default, them to be cut off, whiles you not looking to your charge, they haply transgress, and so I destroy them, as I did Nadab and Abihu, Lev. 10. the families] understand, any of the families: the Greek translatheth, Destroy not of the tribe, the family of Kaath.

Vers. 19. live and not die] of this phrase, see Deut. 33. 6. Targum Jonathan expounds it, live in the life of the righteous, and not die with flaming fire: having reference to Levite. 10. 2. of holinesses] that is, the most holy things, in Greek, the holies of holies. every man] Hebr. man man, to his service, that is, each one to his several work, that so disorder and confusion might be avoided, & none might intrude into another's work. The Hebrew ⟨ϕ⟩ say, The Levites are to be warned that they ⟨ϖ⟩ one another's work; as that the Singer help not to ⟨ϖ⟩ Porters work, or the Porter the Singers; as it is written, EVERY MAN UNTO HIS SERVICE, AND TO HIS BURDEN. The Levites that do the Priests service, or a L..... that employeth himself in that work which is not his own work, are in danger of death by the ⟨ϕ⟩ of God, Num. 4. 19. Maimonides in Misn. treat. of the Instruments of the Sanct. ch. 3. sect. 10. 11.

Vers. 20. to see] so in Exod. 19. 21. the people were charged not to break through unto the LORD to see: and because the men of Bethshemesh looked into the Ark of the Lord, he smote of the people fifty thousand and seventy men, 1 Sam. 6. 19. This restraint taught them what discord there is between God and sinful men, and how great need we have of a Mediator. And as the Priests themselves might not always enter into the most holy place, Lev. 16. 2. whereby the holy Ghost this signified, that the way into the holy of holies was not yet made manifest, while as the first Tabernacle was yet standing, Hebr. 9. 8. so in that the Levites bare things which they might not touch nor see, it signified a concealing in part of the mystery of the Gospel, which in other ages was not made known unto the sons of men, as it was afterward revealed unto his holy Apostles and Prophets by the Spirit, Ephes. 3. 5. the mystery which was hid from ages and from generations, but now is made manifest to his Saints, Coloss. 1. 26. is covered] Hebr. is swallowed up; which word is often used for destroying and abolishing, Job 2. 3. Num. 16. 30. 32. Isaiah. 9. 16. and 3. 12. applied here to the hiding and covering of the holy things, which was done suddenly, and is by the Chaldee interpreted, when they cover the vessels of the Sanctuary. It signified the abolishing that after should be of this worldly sanctuary, and shadows therein, by Christ, Heb. 9. 1.—11. whose death was a destroying of the true Tabernacle and Temple, John. 2. 19. 21. The Apostle also treating of the death of the Saints, useth this similitude; If our earthly house of this Tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hand, eternal in the heavens. For we that are in this Tabernacle do groan, being burdened, not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon; that the mortal thing might be swallowed up of life, &c. 2 Cor. 5. 1. 4. So Peter calleth his death, the putting off of his Tabernacle, 2 Pet. 1. 14. And this similitude is very fit: for as here in Moses Tabernacle, the most holy things were first covered and taken away; so the soul and powers thereof are first withdrawn from the body by death. Then, as the curtains and coverings were taken off, and folded up; so the flesh and skin of our bodies are pulled off, and eaten with worms. And as the boards of the Tabernacle were lastly disjoined and pulled asunder; so shall our bones & sinews. Compare the description of man's making in Job 10. 8—12. & of his dissolution, Eccles. 12. And as the Tabernacle dissolved, was afterward set up again, Num. 10. 21. so shall our bodies at the day of resurrection, 1 Cor. 15. lest they die] Hebr. and die: in Chaldee, and not die; as before in verse. 15.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

Here beginneth the 35 section of the Law: see Gen. 6. 9.

Vers. 22. Take] Hebr. to take: see verse. 2. of them also] in Greek, these also. Though the Kaathites (of the second brother) were first numbered, because they were to carry the holy things on their shoulders; yet God would not have the other families neglected, or to administer confusedly, but counted & appointed also to their charges: wherein his providence shineth no less than before Vers. 23. towarre the warfare] which the Greek explaineth, to minister: see the notes on verse. 3. to serve the service] in Greek, to do the works: this is an explanation of the former warfare.

Vers. 24. the service] in Greek, the ministry. and for the burden] in Greek, to serve and so boar. By the service. understand their ministry in the Tabernacle when it stood, wherein they assisted the Priests; as also the taking down and setting up of it, Num. 10. 21. and by the burden, their carrying of the Sanctuary, when it removed.

Vers. 27. At the mouth] or, according to the mouth; in Chaldee, At the word. So after in verse. 37. and 41. and 45. and 49. in all their burden] in Greek, according to all their ministrations, and according to all their works. ye shall appoint] in Greek, thou shalt appoint (or number) them. in charge] or, in custody; in Greek, by names, as in verse. 32. all their burden] in Greek, all their works.

Vers. 28. their charge] or, their custody, their observation. under the hand, or, in the hand, that is, under the government and direction of Ithamar: so in verse. 33. The Priests being the chief in the Sanctuary, and figures of Christ, were to appoint and oversee all the works of the inferior ministers; and so Christ and his Apostles did unto the ministers of the Christian Churches, Mat. 28. 20. 1 Cor. 12. 4, 5, 6. Tit. 1. 5. &c. 1. Tim. 1. 3. and 3. 1.—15.

Vers. 30. thirty years] in Greek, twenty five years: the reason of this difference is noted on ver. 3. So after, in v. 35. into the army] or, warfare; that is, service in the Tabernacle; as the Greek translateth it, to minister: see verse. 3.

Vers. 31. the charge] or, custody; in Greek, observations. the sockets] which were an hundred, made of an hundred talents of silver, Exod. 38. 27. of the boards, & bars, see Exod. 26. 18.—27. By reason of the weight of these things, the Merarites had four wagons allowed them, for the carriage, Num. 7. 8.

Vers. 32. their sockets] which were of brass, Exod. 27. 10—17. by names] in Chaldee, by their names: the Greek said the like of the Gershonites charge, in verse. 27. Whereas the sockets, pillars, pins, cords, and other instruments were many, and seemed of less importance than the other holy things within the Sanctuary; the Lord appointeth to have them delivered by names, lest any should be neglected, or left, or to seek when the Tabernacle should be set up again. Signifying hereby the care that he hath of his Church, and of every member, even the least; and so of all his ordinances. Thus the good Shepherd is said to call his own sheep by name, John. 10. 3. And David gave unto Solomon, both the pattern of all things to be made in the Temple, and gave gold and silver by weight, for every table, candlestick, lamp, flesh-hook, bowle, cup, bason, &c. 1 Chron. 28. 11.—17.

Vers. 35. into the army] or, to the warfare; in Greek, to minister: see verse. 3. So after, in verse. 39. and 43.

Vers. 36. two thousand, seven hundred, and fifty] there were of the Kohathites in all, eight thousand and six hundred, Num. 3. 28. of which, not a third part were able men for the Lord's service, as here we see.

Vers. 40. two thousand and six hundred and thirty] In all there were seven thousand and five hundred Gershonites, Numb. 3. 22. of which, little more than the third part were fit to serve in the Tabernacle.

Vers. 44. three thousand and two hundred] So of six thousand and two hundred Merarites (Num. 3. 34) there were moe than half fit to serve the Lord in his Sanctuary. The numbers of them all, and of such as were able to serve the Lord, and contrary, may be viewed thus;

Kohathires,	In all,	8600.
Able men,	2750.
Vnable,	5850.
Gershonites,	In all,	7500.
Able men,	2630.
Vnable,	4870.
Merarites,	In all,	6200.
Able men,	3200.
Vnable.	3000.

The wisdom and providence of God appeareth in these numbers. The Kohathites, that were most in the whose sum, are fewest for the service of God: the Merarites, that were fewest in number, yield most for his service. And whereas the greatest burden was for the Merarires, as the boards of the Sanctuary, overlaid with gold, the pillars, the sockets, some of silver, and some of brass; lest they should murmur at their charge, God furnisheth them with moe able men than any of the other families, besides wagons given to ease them. And whereas commonly in families, the younger and the aged sort are many moe than men of middle years; it is here otherwise, that the greater half of the Merarites are strong men, between thirty and fifty years of age. By this diversity of number among the Levites families, God showeth his wisdom in fitting men for the work whereto he hath appointed them, whether it requireth multitude, or gifts: for, To one is given by the Spirit, the word of wisdom; to another the word of knowledge, by the same Spirit; to another, faith, by the same Spirit; to another, the gifts of healing, by the same Spirit, &c. dividing to every man severally as he will. 1 Cor. 12. 8.—12. David being employed in wars, had many valiant Worthies, and strong men for that purpose, rehearsed in 1. Chron. 11. & 12. ch. So had Judah, and the other tribes, as we see in Num. 2. Moses was furnished with wisdom and knowledge, but wanted speech and utterance; therefore Aaron was given to be his mouth and spokes-man, Act. 7. 22. Exod. 4. 10. 14. 16. ye Moses by his writings, speaketh now eloquently in all Churches, and shall do to the worlds end, when Aaron is silent. The like was in Paul, whose weakness in speech was his reproach among the false Apostles, 2 Cor. 10. 10. and 11. 6. though he 〈...〉 lled in knowledge and other graces, the fruits 〈...〉 eof the world still reapeth from his Epistles.

Vers. 47. that entered] to wit, into the warfare, or ⋄ , as verse. 3. the service of service] the ⋄ ... ke of ministry, assisting the Priests, when the Tabernacle stood; and taking it down, and setting it up: the Greek translatheth it, the work of works. the service of burden] the work of bearing the Tabernacle, when it was removed: in Greek, the works that were to be borne.

Vers. 48. eight thousand and 500. and 80.] Behold the small number of such as warred the spiritual warfare of God in his Sanctuary, that of the whole tribe of Levi, there were but 8580. fit men: when the tribe of Judah afforded 74. thousand and 600. for the outward warfare, in the host of Israel, Num. 1. 27.

Vers. 49. the month] in Chaldee, the word; in Greek, the voice. mustered he] or, he numbered: meaning Moses and the Princes, as verse. 34. spoken of as of one man.

CHAP. V.

1: The unclean are removed out of the Campe. 5. Confession & restitution is to be made in trespasses: 11. The law of jealousy. 15. How the suspected woman is to be brought unto the Priest, with an oblation. 19. is to be abjured by the Priest. 24. and is to drink of the bitter water that causeth the curse. 17. The events following if she be defiled, or not defiled.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Command the sons of Israel, that they send away out of the campe, every leper, and everyone that hath an issue, and everyone defiled by a soul. Both male and female shall ye send away; without the campe shall ye send them, that they defile not their camps, in the midst whereof I dwell. And the sons of Israel did so, and sent them away without the campe; as Jehovah spake unto Moses, so did the sons of Israel.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Speak unto the sons of Israel: A man or a woman, when they shall do any of all the so ⋄ ...es of men, to transgress a transgression against Jehovah, and that soul be guilty; Their they shall confess their sin which they have done, and he shall restore his trespass in the principal thereof; and the fist p ⋄ ...t thereof shall he add unto it, and shall give it to him against whom he hath trespassed. And if the man have no kinsman, to [unspec] restore the trespass unto him, the trespass shall be restored unto Jehovah, unto the Priest, beside the ram of the atonements; whereby atonement shall be made for him. And every heave-offering of all the holy things of the sons of Israel, which they shall bring near unto the priest, shall be his. And every man's hallowed things shall be his: that which any man giveth to the priest, his it shall be.
