And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Speak unto the sons of Israel, and say unto them: Any man, if his wife go aside, and transgress against him a transgression; And a man lie with her, with seed of copulation, and it be kept close from the eyes of her husband, and she hath hid herself, and she is defiled, and there is no witness against her, and she is not taken: And the spirit of jealousy pass upon him, and he be jealous of his wife, and she be defiled; or the spirit of jealousy pass upon him, and he be jealous of his wife, and she be not defiled: Then shall the man bring his wife unto the Priest, and he shall bring her offering for her, the tenth part of an Ephah of barley meal: he shall not pour oil upon it, nor put frankincense thereon, for it is a Meat-offering of jealousies, a Meat-offering of memorial, making memorial of iniquity. And the Priest shall bring her near, and make her stand before Jehovah. And the priest shall take holy water, in an earthen vessel; and of the dust which is in the floor of the Tabernacle, shall the Priest take, and put it into the water. And the Priest shall make the woman to stand before Jehovah, and shall uncover the woman's head, and put in her hands the Meat-offering of memorial; it is the Meat-offering of jealousies: & in the hand of the Priest shall be the bitter water, that causeth the curse. And the Priest shall charge her by an oath, and say unto the woman; If no man have lien with thee; and if thou hast not gone aside to uncleanness, under thy husband, be thou free from the bitter water that causeth the curse. But thou, if thou hast gone aside under thy husband, and if thou be defiled, and some man hath had his copulation with thee, beside thine husband: And the Priest shall by oath charge the woman, with an oath of cursing; and the Priest shall say unto the woman; Jehovah give thee, to be for a curse and for an oath, among thy people, when Jehovah doth give thy thigh to fall, and thy belly to swell. And this water that causeth the curse, shall enter into thy bowels, to make the belly to swell, and the thigh to fall: and the woman shall say, Amen, Amen. And the Priest shall write these curses in a book: and he shall blot them out, into the bitter water. And he shall cause the woman to drink the bitter water, that causeth the curse: and the water that causeth the curse, shall enter into her to bitteresses. And the Priest shall take out of the woman's hand, the Meat-offering of jealousies, and shall wave the Meat-offering before Jehovah, and offer it upon the Altar. And the Priest shall take an handful of the Meat-offering, even the memorial thereof, and burn it upon the Altar; and afterward he shall cause the woman to drink the water. And when he hath caused her to drink the water, then it shall be if she be defiled, and have transgressed a transgression against her husband, that the water that causeth the curse, shall enter into her to bitteresses; and her belly shall swell, and her thigh shall fall, and the woman shall be for a curse among her people. And if the woman be not defiled, but be clean, then she shall be free, and shall conceive seed. This is the law of jealousies, when a woman goeth aside under her husband, and is defiled. Or a man, when the spirit of jealousy passeth upon him, and he be jealous of his wife, and shall make the woman to stand before Jehovah; and the Priest shall do unto her all this law. And the man shall be free from iniquity: and that woman shall bear her iniquity.

Annotations.

COmmand] After that God had set his church and ministry in order, he next giveth laws for the purity and holiness of his church in that order, by removing all sin and uncleanness from among them; and after, by appointing the exercises of godliness. Of this he saith, Command: whereby the weight of the things here spoken of, is signified. that they send away] or, as the Greek translatheth, and let them send away, that is, put out of the campe; and there were three Campes, the Sanctuary, called the Campe (or tents) of the LORD, 2 Chron. 31. 2. the Campe of the Levites, Num. 3. and the Campe of Israel, the twelve tribes, Num. 2. See the annotations on Exod. 40. 33. And as the unclean were to be put out of the Campe, pitching about the Sanctuary: so out of he campe which went to war against their enemies, D<sup>o</sup>s. 23. 10, 11. The Campe of the Lord's Sanctuary was most holy; none which was unlean in anything, might enter in, 2 Chron. 23. 19. Leper] who was defiled and unclean, all the days that the plague was upon him, and was to dwell alone, without the campe, Lev. 13. 46. see the annotations there. an issue] the Law of their uncleanness is given in Levite. 15. a soul] that is, a dead soul, as Num. 6. 6. meaning a body; the Chaldee here translath, by the bones of the soul of a man; taking the soul for a dead carcass; as in Levite. 21. 1. there the Chaldee hath, the dead. Who so touched any dead man, was unclean seven days, Num. 19. 11, &c. whereas for touching other dead creatures, they were unclean but un•ll evening, Lev. 11. 24. 39, 40. These legal pollutions, figured our pollution by sin of all sorts, (as in their places is shown:) and the removing of such out of the Lord's campe, figured the removal of unrepentant sinners out of the church; into which anything that defileth may in no wise enter, Rev. 21.—27. the unclean may not come into it, Isaiah. 52. 1.

Vers. 3. male and female] Hebr. From male unto female, whereby he meaneth both sorts: and as Chazkuni here observeth, he saith not man and woman, to teach that in case of uncleanness, the great and the small are alike. Upon this Law, Marie the sister of Moses & Aaron, being stricken with leprosy, was put out of the Campe, Num. 12 14, 15. without the campe] or, to without, that is, to a place without the campe. But were they all to be together in one place? seeing the Lepers were to remain alone, Lev. 13. 46. The Hebrew doctors expound this Law thus; There were three •ampes; the campe of the Divine Majesty (that is, the Sanctuary:) about that the campe of the Levites, and from thence unto the end, the campe of the standards on all four quarters, that was the campe of Israel. The Leper was put forth out of them all: he that had an issue might be in the campe of Israel, but was put forth out of the second: and the defiled by the dead, he might be even in Lev•es campe, and was ﴿ϕ﴾ put forth save from the campe of the Majesty (of God.) Sol. Iarchion Num. 5. This, though it seemeth contrary to Moses, is the common opinion of the Hebrews, as may be seen in Talmud B•. in Pesachim, chap. 6. and Maimonides in Mis•. in B•ath h•mikdash, ch. 3. where he rendereth this reason; The Leper because his uncleanness is greater, he is sent away further than his fellows; for everyone whose uncleanness is greater, his putting forth is further than his neighbors. Therefore they send forth the Leper out of the three camps, which is out of Jerusalem, because he defileth by entrance, whereas •e that hath an issue, defileth not so. And they send forth men and women that have issues, the menstruous, and women in childbed, out of the two camps, which is, out of the mountain of the house (of God:) because they defile bed, and seat, which the unclean by the dead do not. The C•el] that is, the Ramp 〈...〉 or Courtyard, in the Temple, which was more ou•ward than the women's court, as the women's was more than the men's court; they put forth out of it, heathens, and such as are defiled by the dead, and ﴿ϕ﴾ by lying with the menstruous. If a Leper ﴿ϕ﴾ into Jerusalem, he 〈...〉 eaten (with 40. stripes;) if ﴿ϕ﴾ come into the mountain of the house (of God) •e is beaten with fourscore stripes, &c. We may here note the difference and degrees of places, and their holiness, which the Hebrews say were ten, within the Land of Canaan, Jerusalem, and the Temple. 1. The walled towns; 2. The city Jerusalem; 3. The mountain of God's house, (mount Zion;) 4. The Chel, or outmost court; 5. The women's court, (which some think to be that which is called the new court, 2 Chron. 20. 5.) 6. The men's court. 7. The Priests court, (2 Chro. 4. 9.) 8. The place between the Porch and the Altar, (2 Chron. 8. 12.) 9. The Temple, or House it self. 10. And the most holy place, or Oracle within the Temple; 1 King. 6. 16. 17. 19. Of these it is written in the Bab. Talmud in Celim, ch. 1. sect. 6, &c. and by Maimonides in M•sn. in Beth h•chirah, chap. 7. sect. 12, &c. thus: All the land of Israel is holy above all other lands; for they bring out of it, the Sheafe, and the Two loaves, (Lev. 23. 10. 17.) and the First-fruits, which they  $\langle\phi\rangle$  not out of other lands. Ten holinesses are in the land of Israel one above another. The walled towns are holier then the rest of the land, for out of them they put the leprous: neither do they bury the dead within them, without consent of seven good men of the city, or of all the people of the city, &c. Jerusalem is holier then other walled cities; for they eat the light holy things, and the second tithes, within the walies thereof. The mountain of (God's) house, is holier then it; for none that have issues, are menstruous, or in childbed, may come in thither. The Chel (or Rampart,) is holier than it, for no heathens, or defiled by the dead, or that hath  $\bullet\bullet$ en with the menstruous, may come in thither. The women's court is holier then the Chel; for none that is washed (from his uncleanness) that day (before Sun setting, as Levite. 15. 6.) may come thereinto. The court of (the men of) Israel,  $\langle\phi\rangle$  holy $\bullet$ r than the women's court, for none that hath not brought his offering for  $\bullet$ oxement (though he be otherwise clean, as Levite. 12. 6. 7. and 14. 9. 10. and 15. 13, 14, 15.) may come into it. And the  $\langle\phi\rangle$  that cometh there into, is guilty of cutting off. The Priests  $\bullet\bullet$ rt, is holier then that, for no  $\langle\phi\rangle$  may come in thither, save at the time of their  $\langle\ldots\rangle$  ssities, for imposing of hands, or for atone  $\langle\ldots\rangle$   $\langle\phi\rangle$  for staying, or for waving (the Sacrifices.)  $\langle\phi\rangle$  the Porch and the Altar, is holier than  $\langle\phi\rangle$  , for none that are blemished, or bare headed, or  $\langle\phi\rangle$  their clothes rent, may come thither. The Tem  $\langle\ldots\rangle$  r than between the Porch and the Altar:  $\langle\phi\phi\rangle$  may come thereinto, but he that hath his  $\langle\phi\rangle$  and feet washed. The Holy of holies is ho  $\langle\ldots\rangle$  it; for none may come in there, but the high  $\langle\phi\rangle$  , in Atonement day, at the time of service,  $\langle\phi\rangle$   $\bullet$  6. For the better understanding of these things, we may further observe touching the Temple i $\bullet$  Jerusalem, how they say; The mountain of the house (of God,) which was mount Morijah (  $\langle\phi\phi\rangle$  ) . 3. 1.) was five hundred cubits (long) and five hundred (broad) and was enclosed with a  $\langle\phi\rangle$  . And it had  $\bullet$ ive gates, one on the West, and one on the East, and one on the North, and two on the South: and the breadth of a gate was ten cubits, and the height twenty: and they had doors. Within that was a (wooden) fence compassing round about, the height whereof was ten hands bredths, and within that fence was the Chel (or Rampart) ten cubits high; and of that it is said in Lam. 2. 8. He made the Rampart and the wall to lament: this was the wall of the court. Within the Rampart was the court, and all the court was in length 187. and in breadth 135. (cubits,) and had seven gates, &c. The Sanctuary was not all of it in a plain, but in acliffe (or ascent,) of the Mount. When a man went in at the East gate of the Mountain, he went to the end of the Chel (or Rampart) in a level ground. And he went up from the Chel to the women's court by twelve steps: the height of every step was half a cubit, and the breadth half a cubit. And all the women's court he went on a level: and from it to the court of Israel (the men's court) by 15. steps; and all the court of Israel he went on a level. Thence he went up to the Priests court, which was two cubits & an half higher than Israel's. And he went all the Priests court, and between the porch and the altar in a level. Thence he went up to the porch by twelve steps. And the porch and the Temple was all on a level. So the height of the floor of the Temple was above the floor of the East gate of the mount of the house, 22. cubits. Maimonides in Beth habchirah, chap. 5. & 6. that they defile not] or, and let them not defile (or make unclean) their camps: for the least of these three, namely the unclean by the dead, whatsoever he touched was unclean: Num. 19. 22. Hag. 2. 12. This taught them sanctification, in abstaining from communion with sin and sinners; as the Apostle showeth in 2 Cor. 6. 17. Come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing, and I will receive you, &c. And in Heb. 12. 15. Looking diligently, &c. lest any root of bitterness springing up, trouble you, and thereby many be defiled. I dwell] in Chaldee, my divine presence (Sh•inah) dwelleth. This reason respecteth not only the former uncleanesses, but the sins also that follow, of transgression, v. 6. and secret adultery, verse. 12. 13. So the Hebrews also acknowledge; as Chazkuni (on this place) saith, Forasmuch as the Divine presence (of God) is among them, & they encamp round about the Tabernacle: it is necessary that they purify their camps from uncleanenes, & clear themselves from robbery, & from doubtful wickedness, as of the woman that goeth aside; and to observe the things decreed for purification.

Vers. 6 the sins of men] in Greek, human sins, that is, any such sin as men use to fall into through their frailty. to transgress a transgression] that is, to commit (or by committing) a transgression: so in Lev. 6. 2. where this law is more explained. The Chaldee expoundeth it, to falsify a falsehood, that is, to speak (or deal) falsely: the Greek, despising despised; in Hebrew Mag•nal: whereof see the notes on Lev. 5. 15. This is the second Law of Israel's purity, and it is against moral sin & pollution thereby; which the sinner was to purge by confession of sin restitution of damage, and sacrifice. against Jehovah] in the Chaldee, before the Lord. This is meant in regard of his denial or oath before the Lord; as Lev. 6. 2, 3. that soul] in Chaldee, that man: it meaneth man or woman, as before is expressed. be guilty] or, be in trespass.

Vers. 7. shall confess] This, though it be here adjoined to this particular, belongeth to all sin, which he that confesseth and for saketh shall have mer•ie, Prov. 28. 13. for God looketh upon men; if any say, I have sinned & perverted that which was right, and it profited me not; he will deliver his soul from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light, Io• 33. 27, 28. The Hebrews set down this duty thus; All the precepts in the Law, whether they command or forbid a thing, if a man transgress against any one of them, either presumptuously, or ignorantly, when he maketh repentance, and turneth from his sin, he is bound to confess before the blessed God, as in Num. 5. 7. This confession is with words; and it is commanded to be done. How do they confess? He saith, Oh God I have sinned, I have done perversely, I have trespassed before thee, and have done thus and thus; and •oe I repent, and am ashamed of my doings, and I will never do this thing again: and this is the foundation of confession. And who so maketh a large confession, and is long in this thing, he is to be commended, and so the owners of sin and trespass offerings, when they bring their oblations for their ignorant, or for their presumptuous sins, atonement is not made for them by their oblation, until they have made repentance, & confessiō by ward of mouth. Likewise, all condemned to death by the Magistrates, or condemned to stripes, no atonement is made for them by their death, or by their stripes, until they have repented and confessed. And so he that hurteth his neighbor, or doth him damage, though he pay him whatsoever he oweth him, atonement is not made for him till he confess, and turn away from doing so again forever, as it is written, (in Num. 5. 6.) any OF ALL THE SINNES OF MEN. Maimonides in Misn. treat. of Repentance, chap. 1. s. 1. his trespass] or, his guiltiness, Hebr. Asham: meaning the thing for which he is guilty: as is explained in Lev. 6. 4. & noted on Lev. 5. 16. The Asham (Guiltinesse) here spoken of, is the thing taken by rap <...>, or the price thereof, saith Maimon. in treat. of Robbery, & l•st things, c. 8. s. 6. in the principal] or, <⋄> the sum (the head) thereof; that is, every whit of it: so in Lev. 6. 5. the fifth] see the notes on Levite. 5. 16. and 6. 5. Of this point the Hebrews say, He that sweareth upon denial of goods, payeth not the fifth part, until he confess it of himself: but if there come witnesses, and he stand still in his denial, he payeth the principal only upon the mouth (that is, the testimony) of the witnesses: but payeth not the fi•t part, because the fifth part with the sacrifice, do come for atonement, and he bringeth not them, but upon his ‹ϕ› mouth (or confession.) Maimonides treat, of Robbery, chap. 7. sect. 8.

Vers. 8. no kinsman] Hebr. Goel; which is general for any kinsman, that redeemeth, avengeth, or to whom a thing appertaineth when the other is dead. Hereupon the Hebrews apply this law to the stranger; for they say, there is no man in Israel without kinsmen, either brother, or child, or other of his blood, &c. ‹...› t this is (meant of) the stranger that dieth and hath no heirs: Sol. ‹ϕ› on Num. 5. and Maimonides in treat. of Robbery &c. chap. 8. sect. 6. the trespass] or guiltiness, the thing for which he is guilty; as verse. 7. unto the Priest] who being the Lord's minister, should receive it for him. The holy blessed (God) is the Father of the stranger, and meet to inherit that which is his, therefore it should be given to the son of his house, which is the Priest, saith Chazkuni on Num. 5. If (a man) have done rapine unto a stranger, and swear unto him (falsely) and the stranger die, then he is bound to pay the principal, and the fifth part, unto the Priests of that custody (or ward) If a Priest rob a stranger which hath no he•res, and swear unto him, and the stranger die; this (Pri••) hath no right to his robbery which is under his hand; but it goeth out from under his hand, to all his brethren the priests, the sons of the custody (that is, which serve in that ward) Maimonides treat, of Robbery &c. chap. 8. sect. 4. 9. ram of ‹...› ments] whereby atonement was made for him with God, by the Priest: whereof see Levite. 6. 6, 7. Here also they say, the trespass offering is not offered, until he that hath done the robbery have restored the principal to the owners, or to the Priests, of he have robbed a stranger that hath no heirs. If he have given the principal, and offered his trespa••-offering, atonement is made for him, and the fi•t part hindereth not the atonement; and he is bound to give the fifth part, after the atonement. Maimonides trea•• of Robbery, chap. 8. sect. 13.

Vers. 9. heave-offering] or oblation, in Chaldee, [unspec] separation (or separated thing.) of all] or, with all the holy things: according to which sense the Greek translath, and all the hallowed things. So in Ezek. 44. 30. the first of all the first fruits of all things, and every heave-offering of all, of all your heave-offerings shall be the Priests, and the first of your dough shall ye give unto the Priest, that he may cause the blessing to rest in thine house. shall bring near] or, shall offer to the Priest, and so unto God by him: therefore the Greek translath, shall •ffe• to the Lord, to the priest, to him shall it be. Of the gifts which God appointed to the Priests, see Num. 18. In that the Lord's offerings were given to the Priest, it figured, that all things were given of the Father unto Christ, whom he hath made heir of all things, Heb. 1. 2. And it taught the people their duty, for the maintaining of his ministers, Mal. 3. 8, 9, 10. 1 Cor. 9. 13, 14.

Vers. 10. shall be his] that is, shall be the priests, [unspec] as in Ezek. 44. 30.

Vers. 12. Any man] Hebr. man man, that is, who-soever. [unspec] This is the third Law, for the sanctification of the church, in a case of sin suspected, and not manifest: which God would have to be looked unto, and purged. go aside] to wit, from him to another man, and commit adultery. A figura•ive speech, taken from going aside out of the right way: so in Prov. 7. 25. transgress] di••oyally and unfaithfully, as the Hebrew Mag••all signifieth, Levite. 5. 15. The Greek trans••eth it ‹ϕ› ▪ the Chaldee, deal falsely.

Vers. 13. Aman] in Greek, any: meaning a ⟨...⟩ her man besides her husband. from the e'es] that is, from the knowledge. Of the way of an a ⟨...⟩ s woman, it is said, She eateth, and wipeth her mouth, and saith; I have done no wickedness, Prev. 30. 20. hath id her self] or, hath been ⟨ϕ⟩ , hath been in secret; meaning either that she hath dissembled her iniquity, or, hath been in a secret place with some other man, whereby she may justly be suspected, and her husband hath cause to be jealous. In this latter sense, the Hebrews understand it, and make it the ground of the Law following, for her trial. They say, The jealousy spoken of in the Law, Num. 5. 14. is when (the man) hath said unto his wife before witnesses, be not in secret with such a man. The hiding [or secrecy] spoken of i Num. 5. 13. is, when she hath been in secret with that man, touching whom he hath said unto her before two witnesses, be not in secret with him: if she hath stayed with him so long as till she might be defiled, then it is unlawful for her husband to company with her, until she hath drunk of the bitter water, and the thing be tried. And at such time as there is o water for her that goeth aside (to drink,) she is unlawful for him forever, and is put away from him without a bill of dowry. If he be jealous of her for two at once, and have said unto her, be not in secret with such and such: if she have been in secret with them two together, and tarried so long as till she might be defiled, though they were both her brethren, or her father and her brother, she is unlawful (for her husband) until she have drunk. If he have said unto er before two, speak not with such a man; this is not jealousy; yea, though she have been in secret with him by (testimony of) witnesses, and tarried till she might be defiled, she is not unlawful (for her husband) neither doth she drink for this jealousy. Likewise, if he have said unto her, be not in secret with him; and he be seen speaking with him, this is not to be in secret, neither is she unlawful (for her husband) neither is she to drink. Also, if there have not been jealousy before, though two do come and testisy, she was in secret with this man, and tarried till she might be defiled, she is not unlawful for her husband, neither is she to drink. If he have been jealous of her before two (witnesses) and he hath seen her in secret with him touching whom he was jealous, and that she ⟨ϕ⟩ till she might be defiled; loe she is unlawful for ⟨ϕ⟩ husband, and is put from him, and he shall give a ⟨ϕ⟩ (of wrie,) for e cannot cause her to drink upon ⟨ϕ⟩ own mouth (or testimony.) Maimonides in Misn. ⟨ϕ⟩ in Sotah. chap. 1. sect. 1▪ 8. These and the like cautions they put concerning this law: some of which seem to be uncertain traditions. ⟨...⟩ sse] that she is defiled: for upon testimony, ⟨ϕ⟩ he were taken with the manner, she was not to drink, but to die by the Magistrate, Levite. 20. 10. Io. 8. 4, 5. And whereas he speaketh here singularly of a witness, the Hebrews observe, that ⟨ϕ⟩ there be but one witness against her, who saith, she ⟨ϕ⟩ ⟨...⟩ d, she is not to drink, Sol. Rashi, on Num. 5. ⟨ϕ⟩ unlawful (they say) for her husband (to come ⟨...⟩ with her) forever; and doth not drink, but is put away without a dowry. If two witnesses come together, and one say, she is defiled, another say, she is not d•filed: or, if one say, she is defiled, and afterward two other come and say, she is not defiled; then she drinketh, Maim. in Sotah. c. 1. sect. 14. 17.

Vers. 14. the spirit of jealousy ⟨...⟩ sse upon him] or, pass over him: the Greek saith, come upon him, that he be affected with a jalous mind; as the wind is said to pass over the grass, when it is smitten or blasted with the wind, Psal. 103. 15, 16. which in Isaiah. 40. 7. is said to blow open it. And the spirit of jealousy, meaneth a jealous motion or affection of the mind, wherewith it is carried, as the Scriptures elsewhere speak, of the spirit of wisdom, the spirit of counsel, the spirit of knowledge, *Isaiah. 11. 2. Eph s. 1. 17. the spirit of fornications, H*s. 4. 12 the spirit of fear, 2. Tim. 1. 7. the spirit of mecknesse, Gal. 6. 1. the spirit of* 〈...〉 ber, Rom. 11. 8. And in 1 Cor. 14. 12. spirits are put for the gifts and motions of the spirit. 〈ϕ〉 ] or, after the Greek, Zealousie, a zealous affection, which is sometime used in the good part, sometime in the evil; as Zeal also is sometimes good, John. 2. 17. 2. Cor. 7. 11. sometime evil, Gal. 5 20. called bitter zeal, I am. 3. 14. So the Hebrews have one word Kinah, for zeal, jealousy, 〈ϕ〉 , and •mulation; as Phineas was zealous for the Lord, Num. 25. 11. Elias was jealous for him, 1. King 19. 10. Joshua •vied for Moses sake, Num. 11. 29. And jealousy is an affection hard (or cruel) as the grav; the co•les thereof are co•les of fire, Song 8. 6. it is the rage of a man; therefore he will not spare in the day of vengeance, Prov. 6. 34. This affection is said (after the manner of men) to be in God himself, •xod. 20. 5. & Paul was jealous for the Corinthians, fearing le•t they should be corrupted, 2. Cor. 11• 2, 3. upon him] the husband, who only had the power to bring his wife to this trial. Wherefore the Hebrews write, that if a man be out of the country, or in prison, or the like; and his wife have an evil report for lightness, &c. the Magistrates are to call her, and say unto her, be not in secret with such a man. If witnesses afterward come, that she was with him in secret, so long as that she might be defiled; the Magistrates are to forbid her her husbands company ever after, and rend her b•l (of dowry.) And when her husband comes home, or out of the prison, he gives her a bill of divorce; but he cannot cause her to drinks, because himself was not jealous of her. Maimonides in Sotah. chap. 1. sect. 11.

Vers. 15. his wife unto the Priest] who was in his office a figure of Christ, by whō God will judge the secrets of men, Rom. 2. 16. the order of this action is said to be this; The husband cometh to the Magistrates of his city (where he dwelleth) and saith unto them; This my wife, I am jealous of her for such a man, and she hath been in secret with him, and these are witnesses; and loe, she saith that she is clear, and is willing to drink, for trial of the thing. Then the Magistrates shall hear the words of the witnesses: and they appoint two to be with the man, to keep him that he company not with her, before she have dr 〈...〉 ke: for she is unlawful for him, until she have drunk. And they send him to Jerusalem: for they cause not the suspected woman to drink, but in the great council of seventy Elders in the Sanctuary. When they are come to Jerusalem, the great Council set her among them, and they terrify her, and make her sore afraid, that she should not drink, &c. If she say, I am defiled; or, I will not drink; she is put from her husband without a dowry. But if she stand in her cause that she is clear, they bring her to the East gate of the Court-yard, which is over against the most holy place, &c. If she be arrayed in white garments they put upon her black: or if she hath fair black clothes, they put upon her clothes that are not fair; and take off all ornaments of silver and gold that are on her. And they gather a great company of women unto her; for all the women there present are bound to see her; as it is said (in Ezek. 23. 48.) That all women may be taught not to do after your lewdness. And every man that will come and see, may come and see. And she standeth among them without scarfe or veil, only in her clothes, and her coyfe that is on her head, as a woman within her house, &c. and afterward the Priest adjureth her, in the language that she knoweth, and understandeth. Maimonides in Sotah. chap. 3. sect. 1, 2. &c. of barley] it might be of no other grain, nor any other quantity than the tenth of an Ephah, neither more nor less: see the annotations on Levite. 2. 1. The Prophet Hoseah, in a mystery, bought an Adulteress for fifteen pieces of silver, and an homer and an half of barley, Hos. 3. 1, 2. The Hebrews here note, Meale, not flour; barley, not wheat: she hath done the act of a beast, and her oblation is the meat of a beast. Sol. Rashi, on Num. 5. not put] Hebr. nor give frankincense: oil figured grace, which was wanting in her actions; frankincense gave a sweet savor, which her works did not before God; therefore both must be wanting, as in all meat offerings that were for sin. See the notes on Levite. 5. 11. and 2. 2. The Hebrews make these two distinct precepts: so that he which transgresseth and putteth oil, and frankincense, is beaten for the oil in particular, and for the frankincense in particular. Maim. in Sotah. chap. 3. sect. 13. a meat-offering of jealousies] Hebr. a Minchah (whereof see Levite. 2. 1.) in Greek, a sacrifice of jealousy. From this word the Hebrews say; If a man be jealous of his wife for many men, and she hath been in secret with everyone of them; he is to bring but one Meat-offering for them all, when he causeth her to drink; for it is said, It is A MEAT OFFERING OF JEALOUSIES: one Meat offering for many jealousies. Maim. in Sotah. chap. 4. sect. 16. making memorial] or, causing iniquity to be remembered. And this is the reason why it might have neither oil nor incense, which other Meat-offerings had, Lev. 2.

Vers. 16. make her stand] present her before the Lord, for the judgment was his, not man's: by standing, some understand, her staying there, till the Priest went into the Tabernacle, to gather up dust to put in the water, (verse. 17.) For he went into the Tabernacle to take dust from thence: but she went not in, Chazkuni on Num. 5.

Vers. 17. holy water] the Chaldee expoundeth [unspec] it, Water of the Laver, (whereof see Exod. 30. 18. the Greek translatheth it, pure living water. The quantity, Moses mentioneth not: the Hebrews say, half a log of water out of the Laver, and he measured it by the half log which was in the Sanctuary. Maim. in Sotah. cap. 3. sect. 9. The half Log contained as much as three eggs: see the notes on Exod. 30. 24. and Levite. 14. 10. earthen vessel] this they say, was to be a new vessel, wherewith no work had ever been done. Maim. in Sotah, cap. 3. sect. 9. And they make this use of it, She had drunk with the adulterer, good wine in fair goblets: therefore she is to drink bitter water, in a contemptible earthen dish. Sol. Rashi, on Num. 5. and Jonathan in Targum. dust] in all use, dust was a sign of baseness, sorrow, and affliction, Job 2. 12. Psal. 7. 5. and 22. 15. Lam. 3. 29. it was the food of the cursed Serpent, Gen. 3. 14. Esa. 65. 25. This was given her to drink, that if she had hearkened to the Serpents temptation, she should be partaker of his curse. Yet being the dust of the Sanctuary, it was in respect thereof, holy, (as the ground whereon Moses and Joshua stood where God appeared, was holy, Exod. 3. 5. Ios. 5. 15.) so it taught her to fear judgment from the Lord. into the water] or, upon the water: as the Hebrews say, he put it upon the top of the water, that it might be seen on the upper part of the water. And again, he put in the dust before the water, it was unlawful. Maim. in Sotah. c. 3. s. 10. and c. 4. s. 12.

Vers. 18. to stand] the same was said before, in verse. 16. Hereupon the Hebrews say, the woman was led about from place to place in the court, to weary and tire her, to see if she would confess. Sel. Rashi on Num. 5. and Maim. in Sotah, c. 3. s. 3. uncover the woman's head] The covering on the woman's head, is a sign of her subjection to the man, 1. Cor. 11. 5, 6, 7, 10. so the uncovering of her head might be a sign, that now she was in her own power, to clear or condemn her self. It was also a sign of sorrow, Levite. 21. 10. so this her case and action was sorrowful; & for a woman to have her head bare in such an assembly, was shameful, 1. Cor. 11. 5, 6. Of this action the Hebrews written that one of the Priests came and took hold on her clothes before, and rent them down to her heart; and uncovered her hair, and untied the locks of her head, for to make her unseemly. Maim. in Sotah, c. 3. s. 11. the Meat-offering] which being brought by her husband for her, verse. 15. she was to take, as by that sign offering her self to the Lord's try all; unto whom this Meat-offering was by her presented. in the hand of the Priest] All the while that her head is bare, and the Meat-offering in her hands, the water is to be in a vessel in the Priests hand, that she may see the water. Maim. in Sotah c. 3. s. 14. the bitter water] or water of bitterness, in Greek, water of conviction; because it convinced her if she were guilty: but how was it bitter? By reason of the effect, for it killed her if she were guilty, and death is said to be bitter, 1 Sam. 15. 32. Eccles. 7. 28. and afflictions are bitter, Isaiah. 38. 17. The Hebrews think also it was bitter in caste, and that the Priest put into the water some bitter thing, as wormwood, or the like. Maim. in Sotah cap. 3. sect. 10. Solomon, speaking of an harlot, saith, that the end of her is bitter as wormwood, Prev. 5. 4. as it is to others, so unto her self. that causeth the curse] or, the bitter curse-bringing water: so called, because it brought the curse into her, if she were guilty, verse. 22. This similitude David useth, praying against the wicked, let (the curse) come into his bowels like water, Psal. 109. 18. Jonathan in his Targum expoundeth it, the bitter water of trial; because it tried her honesty: But Onkelos the Chaldee paraphrast expoundeth it, that causeth the curse, or maketh cursed.

Vers. 19. charge her by oath] or, adjure her, make her to swear. In ages following, when Israel in dispersion lost their language, this adjuration was to be in that tongue which the woman knew and understood. Maim. in Sotah cap. 3. sect. 7. If no man] that is, no other man, besides thine husband: Rom. 7. 3. as in Gen. 36. 6. unto a land, is by the Chaldee expounded, to another land. under thy husband] that is, since thou wast married: for a married woman is in Scripture phrase, said to be under an husband, Rom. 7. 2. Or, instead of thine husband, that is, beside him. The Hebrews say, The husband may deal by oath with her, that she hath not committed whoredom with that man concerning whom he is jealous of her, nor with any other man. And that she hath not committed whoredom under him, after she was betrothed, before he married her, or after. But he may not deal with her, that she did not commit whoredom before they were betrothed, neither after she was put away, if she had been put away, and returned to him again: for if she committed whoredom in that time, she is not unlawful for him. Maim. in Sotah, cap. 4. sect. 17. be thou free] or, be guiltless, clear, innocent: that is, thou shalt have no hurt by this bitter water. From this example, the Hebrews hold that in all judging of persons, they should first see if they may be cleared.

Vers. 20. had his copulation] or, given his copulation, that is, his seed of couplation, as is expressed in Lev. 15. 18.

Vers. 21. by oath charge] or, adjure the woman, lay an oath upon her: as Ios. 6. 26. 1. Sam. 14. 24. oath of cursing] or, of execration: in Greek,  $\langle \phi \rangle$  the oaths of this curse. give thee to be for a curse,] that is, make thee a curse and an oath: that thy name and punishment may be mentioned for an example and terror to others: as in Ier. 29. 22, 23. of them shall be taken up a curse by all the capti  $\langle \phi \rangle$  &c. saying; The LORD make thee like  $\langle \phi \rangle$  and like Ahab, whom the king of Babylon  $\langle \phi \rangle$  the fire; because they committed villeny in Israel, and committed adultery with their neighbors  $\langle \phi \rangle$  ines. So if any took an oath upon themselves, they might likewise say, The Lord make me like such a woman, whose belly did swell, &c. if I  $\langle \phi \rangle$  done this thing. And as for a curse, so for an ⲉⲃ (as in Isaiah. 65. 15. ye shall leave your name for ⲉⲃ), unto my chosen; meaning for an oath of execration, as in this place. thy thigh to fall] Hebr. thy thigh falling: in Greek, thy thigh fallen: in Chaldee, thy thigh dissolved. The thigh is used for the place or instrument of generation, as in Gen. 46. 26. the souls that came out of Jacob's thigh. Falling is often used for dying, as in 1 Chron. 21. 14. there fell of Israel; which is expounded in 2 Sam. 24. 15. there died. So the falling of the thigh, may be understood of the dying and rotting of the thigh or womb: or properly of the falling down of the womb out of the place, whereby it became unfit for generation. belly to swell] in Greek, thy belly burst: so in verse. 27. It is a tradition of the Jews, that the water which Moses made the Israelites to drink with the powder of their golden calf, Exod. 32. 20. had like effect in such as were guilty of that sin, and could not be convicted by witnesses, that their bellies swelled. Sol. Rashi on Exod. 32. and R. Monachem.

Vers. 22. shall enter] or, let it enter, and the thigh] that is, thy thigh, as the Greek explaineth it. Amen Amen] in Greek, So be it So be it, Amen is an Hebrew word, but retained by the Apostles in Greek, 1 Cor. 14. 16. and so is now used in all languages. By interpretation it signifieth Truth, Verily, or faithfulness, as in Isaiah. 65. 16. the God Amen, is the God of Truth: and so Christ is called Amen, which is expounded the faithful and true witness, Rev. 3. 14. And in speech unto men, it is an earnest asseveration, as Amen I say unto you, Mat. 24. 47. which another Evangelist interpreteth in Greek Alethoos, that is Verily, or Of a truth, Luke 12. 44. It is also interpreted in Greek Nai, that is Yea, as in Mat. 23. 36. Amen I say unto you; for which in Luk. 11. 51. is written Yea (or Verily) I say unto you, wherefore both Hebrew and Greek are joined together in Rev. 1. 7. yea Amen: so in 2 Cor. 1. 20. And when it is added to the end of prayers, or of curses, as here & in Deut. 27. 15. it is an approbatiō & confirmation, with desire that the thing may so be; which is explained by adding the word Lord unto it; as in Ier. 11. 5. I answered and said, Amen ô LORD: and more fully in Ier. 28. 6. Amen, the LORD do so, the LORD perform the words, &c. Wherefore in the prayers of the Church, they used of old, (and so at this day) to answer and say Amen, 1 Cor. 14. 16. and sometime twice Amen Amen, Neh. 8. 6. and in other constant affirmations, it is also used, as in 2 Cor. 1. 20. all the promises of God are in Christ, yea and are in him Amen. Thus the woman by her answer, confirmed the oath and curse, and took it upon her self if she were defiled; or testified her faith in God, that he would clear her being not defiled; and therefore the word is doubled.

Vers. 23. write these curses] all these words wherewith he adjured the woman. in a book] or, in a scroll. The Hebrews use to call all writings, books, whether they be large or brief, all bills, bands, letters or epistles, and the like; as in Deut. 24. 1. a book (that is a hill) of diuorcement: and in 2 Sam. 11. 14. David wrote a book (that is, a letter, an epistle) to Ioah, in Isaiah. 39. 1. Merodach sent books (that is, letters, as the Greek translatheth it epistles) to Hezekiah. The manner of writing this, is by the Hebrews thus described; He (the Priest) brought a roll of parchment vellan, as the book of the Law, and wrote thereon in the holy tongue (that is, in Hebrew) the woman's name, as in the bill of divorce, and all the words wherewith he adjured her, letter by letter, word by word; but he writeth not Amen Amen. Maimonides in Sotah, chap. 3. sect. 8. They have moreover divers observations, without which they say the writing was unlawful; as that it must not be written by night, but by day, as her drinking, and oblation was in the day time; nor written backward or confusedly, but in order; nor written before she had taken the oath upon her; for it is said (in verse. 21.) he shall adjure her, and then (in verse. 23.) the Priest shall write. Nor written on paper or anything save parchment: nor written by a (common) Israelite, or a young Priest, but by a Priest that ministereth; nor written with such ink or any such thing, as leaveth a mark or impression upon the parchment; but with such as may be all wiped (or scraped) off into the water: and other like rites, Ibidem chap. 4. sect. 7, 8, 9. blot them out] or, wipe out, scrape them into the water, that no word, letter, or mark of the writing should remain on the book: if there remain on the scroll any mark of the writing which may be known, it is unlawful; until he have wiped it out well and thoroughly. Maim. in Sotah. chap. 4. sect. 10. It signified, that all the words of the curse should enter into her, that if she were guilty, her name might be blotted out of Israel, with infamy, by the judgment of God, the swift witness against adulterers, Mal. 3. 5. if she were guiltless, the curses written against her were blotted out, and should not appear to her reproach. So this word is used in the defacing of sin, through the mercy of God, as in Isaiah. 43. 25. I, I am he that blot out thy transgressions for mine own sake, and will not remember thy sins.

Vers. 24. to bitternesses] in Chaldee to cursing: meaning that they shall be evil and bitter in their effect unto her.

Vers. 25. wave the Meat-offering] that is, move it to and fro: see the notes on Exod. 19. 24. The Hebrews write, that the Priest took the ministering vessel wherein the Meat-offering was, and put it upon her hands; and the priest put his hand under hers, and waved it. Maim. in Sotah. chap. 3. sect. 15. upon the altar] he brought the Meat offering to the south-west corner of the altar, like the other Meat-offerings of particular persons; and took an handful thereof, and burned it on the altar, and the residue was eaten by the priests. Maim. in Sotah. chap. 3. sect. 15. Of this they further say, If the Meat-offering be polluted before it be put into a ministering vessel, it is to be redeemed as all other Meat-offerings that are polluted before they be sanctified by a ministering vessel, and he is to bring another Meat-offering. If it be polluted after it is sanctified in a ministering vessel, then it is burnt. And so if she say, I am defiled, before the handful be taken of it; or if she say, I will not drink; or if her husband will not have her drink, or if there come witnesses that she is defiled, or if he die, or if she die, then the Meat offering is all burnt. And if any of these things happen after the handful is offered, the handful is not eaten. If her husband be a priest, the handful of the Meat-offering is not eaten, because her husband hath a part therein, &c. but the handful is offered by it self, and the remainder is scattered upon the place of the ashes. Ibid. c. 4. sect. 14, 15. That which is spoken of burning it when it is polluted, is not meant of burning it upon the altar: but in another place, where unclean things were burnt, which might neither be offered to God, nor eaten by men.

Vers. 26. the memorial] so the handful is called: [unspec] see the notes on Lev. 2. 2.

Vers. 27. to bitternesses] with most bitter effect; [unspec] in Chaldee to cursing; as verse. 24. The Hebrews say, that if she be defiled, immediately her face turn yellowish, her eyes will stick out, &c. and she shall be carried out of the women's court wherein she shall die; and first her belly will swell, and her thigh will fall, and she shall die. And in the hour that she dieth, the adulterer whose means she was made to drink, shall be made to drink, and shall be made to fall] or rot, see verse. 21. This judgment is due to the transgression; that as with that part ⟨ϕ⟩ sinned, so therein she should be punished. An• thus the curse entered into her bowels like water, (as in Psal. 109. 18.) not by any natural effect ⟨ϕ⟩ this drink, but by the power of God; who often bringeth great things to pass, by unlikely means; as with clay made of spittle, Christ opened the eyes of the blind, John. 9. 6, 7.

Vers. 28. shall be free] not ha•e any ⟨ϕ⟩ by the [unspec] drink: as in verse. 19. ⟨...⟩ ] ⟨ϕ⟩ . shall be sown with sced; which the Chaldee•• ⟨...⟩ death, shall prove with child. This setteth forth God's power & goodness, in effecting such things for clearing the innocent; and working by one drink such contrary effects, according to the uncleanness or cleanness of the party that receive ⟨...⟩ it. Even as his word is to one, the savor of death ••to death; and to another the savor of life ⟨ϕ⟩ , 2 Cor. 2. 16. The Hebrews write of this woman, When she hath drunk the bitter water, if she die ⟨ϕ⟩ out of hand, she is lawful for her husband▪ (t• ⟨ϕ⟩ pany with,) though he be a priest. And although ⟨...⟩ nesse begin to come upon her, and she have pai•e in other parts of her body; yet for as much as her ⟨ϕ⟩ swelleth not, nor her thigh begins to fall, she is ⟨ϕ⟩ ; but if her belly begin to swell, and her thigh to ⟨ϕ⟩ , she is certainly unlawful. And if she be ⟨ϕ⟩ when she hath drunk she will wax strong, and her face waxeth clear; and if she have any •ickness ⟨ϕ⟩ will leave her, and she shall conc•iue and bear a man child. And if she were w•nt to have hard travel▪ ⟨ϕ⟩ shall have speedy travel; and of she were wont to bring forth females she shall bring forth males. Maim. ⟨ϕ⟩ Sotah. chap. 3. sect. 21. 22.

Vers. 29. under her husband] that is, being ⟨ϕ⟩ [unspec] ••ed: in Greek, being under an husband▪ s•• ⟨ϕ⟩ . 19•

Vers. 20. shall make the woman to stand] or, ⟨ϕ⟩ ▪ [unspec] present her. The Hebrews hold that some women might not drink; and that none was ever for ced to drink, except she would her self. They say, A woman of whom (her husband) is jealous, and she hath been in secret (with another man) they compel her not to drink: but if she agree, and say, I am defiled, she is put away without dowry, and is unlawful for her husband ever after; and drinketh not. Likewise if she say, I am not defiled, neither will I drink; they compel her not to drink, but she is put away without dowry. Also if her husband say, I will not cause her to drink; or if he hath lain with her after that she was in secret (with another) she drinketh not, but takes her dowry, and goes her way, and is unlawful for him ever after. Some women (they say) are not meet to drink, though they be willing, and their husbands also would have them drink, but are put away without dowries: as, she that is wife to a man blind, or lame, or dumb, or deaf, or that wants a hand: likewise if the woman herself be lame, or dumb, or blind, or wanteth an hand, or is deaf; or she that is but betrothed, and not married. But if a man be jealous of his betrothed wife, and she be in secret (with another man) after she is married, then she drinketh as all other women. A woman that standeth to drink, if her husband die before she do drink, then she drinketh not, neither receiveth she any dowry. Maimonides in Sotah chap. 2. sect. 1, 2. &c. These and the like exceptions they make, some of which seem to be devised for to favor divorcement, whereunto the Jews have been overmuch addicted, as appeareth by Mal. 2. 16. Matth. 19. 3—8, 9. Moreover they say, If a woman have drunk of the bitter water, and have been cleared thereby, and her husband be jealous again of her concerning the man for whose sake she was made to drink, and she hath been in secret with him; he cannot make her drink for his sake the second time, but she is unlawful for her husband ever after, and is put away without dowry. But if he be jealous over her for another man, and it be proved by witnesses, that she hath been in secret with that other, she is made to drink the second time; yea though it be many times, if he cause her to drink for several men. Maim. in Sotah, chap. 1. sect. 12.

Vers. 30. free from iniquity] or guiltless, innocent from iniquity, by doing what in him lieth for to find out and purge this sin in his wife, and not nourishing jealousy in his mind still. Whereas by not doing this, he partaked after a sort with his wives sin. So Chazkuni on this place saith, The man shall be free for that he letteth not his wife alone playing the where under him. The Targum called Jonathan's, translateth it thus; And if the man be free from sins, that woman shall bear her sin. And the same exposition others give of these words, saying, Any man that hath used unlawful copulation in his days after that he is waxen great, the curse-bringing water doth not try his wife, Num. 5. 30. When the man is free from iniquity, the woman beareth her iniquity. Maim. in Sotah, ch. 2. sect. 8. and ch. 3. sect. 17. 23. Therefore among the Israelites it is said, that no man which had him-self been guilty that way, could bring his wife to this trial. And of their care about this case of jealousy, it is thus recorded: On the fifteenth day of Adar, (which was the Hebrews twelfth month. Esth. 9. 1. (called now February,) the Magistrates looked unto the necessities of the multitude, and made examination of such as were meet to drink, to cause them to drink; and of such as should be jealous of a woman, and to cause her to be put away without dowry. And at all times they made the suspected woman to drink. The wisemen commanded the sons of Israel to be jealous of their wives, &c. but not in the midst of laughter, or lightness, nor in the midst of contention, nor to bring terror upon them, &c. It is not meet for a man to contain himself, and to be jealous before witnesses at the first, but <...> wixt him and her, in gentleness and by way of purity and admonition, that he may guide her in the right way, and remove scandal. And whosoever is not careful of his wife, and children, and <...>, to admonish them and visit their ways continually until he know that they are at peace from all sin and iniquity, he is a sinner; as it is written (i. John 5. 24.) AND THOU SHALT KNOW, THAT THY TENT shall be in PEACE: AND THOU SHALT VISIT THINE HABITATION, AND SHALT NOT SIN. M <...> . in Sotah, chap. 4. sect. 1. 18, 19. shall bear her iniquity] that is, the punishment of her iniquity, as Lev. 20. 17, 19, 20. Ezek. 4. 4, 5. And this tended to the glory of God, (who findeth out and punisheth all sin, & adultery in special, Ezek. 13. 38. Mal. 3. 5.) to the purging of the Church, (which should be as a new lump, without the leaven of fornication, 1 Cor. 5. 7.) and to the paci•ying of men's jealous spirits, with peace in their families. By this severity of God against secret whoredom, above other sins, we are taught what judgment remaineth for such as commi• idolatry, which is spiritual whoredom, Ezek. 23. 37. and often done in secret, Ezek. 8. 12. for which sin, God is jealous, to visit the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, Exod. 20. 5. and will give them blood, in wrath and jealousy, and they shall bear their lewdness and their abomination, Ezek. 16. 38. 58. and 23. 35. so that the curse of the Law entereth as water into their bowels, Dan. 9. 11. Psal. 109. 18.

CHAP. VI.

1. The Law of the Nazarite, what he must abstain from in his d•et, habit, and conversation, whiles the vow is upon him. 9. How when he is defiled, he shall make an atonement by sacrifices, let all fall which was done before, and begin again to observe his vow. 13. What sacrifices the Nazarite must bring, when his vow is fulfilled, and what rites he is to perform withal. 22. The Law how the Priests should bless the people of the Lord.

ANd Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Speak unto the sons of Israel, and say unto them: A man or woman, when he shall separate, to vow a vow of a Nazarite, to separate himself unto Jehovah: He shall separate himself from wine & strong drink; he shall not drink vinegar of wine, or vinegar of strong drink; neither shall he drink any liquor of grapes, nor eat grapes moist or dried. All the days of his Nazariteship, he shall not eat of any thing that is made of the wine vine-tree, from the kernels, even to the husk. All the days of the vow of his Nazariteship, the rasour shall not pass upon his head; until the days be fulfilled, which he separateth himself unto Jehovah, he shall be holy, letting the *••*ks grow, the hair of his head. All the days that he separateth himself unto Jehovah, he shall not come at a dead soul. For his father, or for his mother; for his brother, or for his sister; he shall not make himself unclean for them, when they die: for the Nazariteship of his God, is upon his head. All the days of his Nazariteship, he shall be holy unto Jehovah. And if the dead dieth by him, unawares suddenly, and he hath defiled the head of his Nazariteship, then he shall shave his head, in the day of his cleansing, in the seventh day shall he shave it. And in the eighth day he shall bring two turtles, or two young pigeons, to the Priest, to the door of the Tent of the congregation. And the Priest shall do the one for a Sin offering, & the other for a Burnt offering, and shall make atonement for him, for that he sinned by a soul; and he shall sanctify his head in that day. And he shall separate unto Jehovah, the days of his Nazariteship, and shall bring a lamb of his first year, for a Trespass offering: and the former days shall fall, because his Nazariteship was defiled.

And this is the Law of the Nazarite: in the day, when the days of his Nazariteship are fulfilled, he shall bring him to the door of the Tent of the congregation. And he shall offer his oblation unto Jehovah, one he lamb of his first year, perfect for a Burnt offering: and one she lamb of her first year, perfect, for a Sin offering: and one ram perfect, for Peace offerings. And a basket of unleavened cakes, cakes of fine flower mingled with oil, and wafers of unleavened cakes, anointed with oil: and their Meat offering, and their drink offerings. And the priest shall bring them near before Jehovah, and shall make his Sin offering, and his Burnt offering. And the ram, he shall make a sacrifice of Peace offerings, unto Jehovah; with the basket of unleavened cakes: and the Priest shall make his Meat offering and his drink offering. And the Nazarite [unspec] shall shave, at the door of the Te•t of the congregation, the head of his Nazariteship: and he shall take the hair of the head of his Nazariteship, and put it on the fire, which is under the sacrifice of Peace offerings. And the priest shall take the sodden [unspec] shoulder of the ram, and one unleavened cake, out of the basket, and one unleavened wafer, and shall put them on the palms of the hands of the Nazarite, after he hath shaved himself of his Nazariteship. And the priest shall wave them for a wave [unspec] offering before Jehovah; it is holy, for the priest, with the wave breast, and with the heave shoulder: and after the Nazarite may drink wine. This is the Law of the Nazarite, [unspec] who shall vow his oblation unto Jehovah, for his Nazariteship, besides that, that his hand shall attain: according to his vow, which he shall have vowed, so shall he do, according to the law of his Nazariteship.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Speak unto Aaron, and unto his s 〈...〉 es, saying; Thus shall ye bless the sons o• Israel: saying unto them;

Jehovah bless thee, and keep thee.

Jehovah make his face shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee.

Jehovah lift up his face upon thee, and [unspec] give unto thee peace.

And they shall put my name upon the [unspec] sons of Israel: and I will bless them.

Annotations.

When he shall separate] to wit, himself. This [unspec] word separate, signifieth to exempt, after a special and marvelous manner, from common estate, as is noted on Levite. 27. 2. The Greek translatheth it, Who so shall greatly 〈...〉. The Lord having before given order for the pu 〈...〉 tion of the Campe of Israel, in ne 〈...〉 duties and things commanded, doth the like here for voluntary service, which he would accept 〈◇〉 their hands. And this Law for abstinence from wine and strong drink, is set next the Law for the d••led or suspected woman; because by drinking such things, people do often fall into 〈◇〉, Gen. 19. 32.—35. as it is said, Look• not up• the wine when it is red, &c. thi•e eyes will behold 〈...〉 women, Prov. 23. 31. 33. But by abstaining there-from, the body and mind may be kept 〈◇〉 and pure. 〈...〉 vow] which is a religious 〈...〉 made unto God: see the annotations on Lev. 27. 2. And whereas he spake of man or woman, it is to be understood of such as are free, and in their own power; for they that were under the power of another, their superior might disannul their vow if he would, by the Law in Num. 3•. 4, &c. So in this special vow, as the Hebrew canons say, The father (of a child) or the husband (of a wife) may disannul the Nazariteship of his wife, if he will, as in other vows. Maimonides in Misn. tom. 3. in Nazi•th, chap. 2. sect. 17. a Nazirite] this name we retain of the Hebrew Nazir; (whom the Greek sometime calleth Naz•raios after the Hebrew, Judge. 13. 5. sometime expoundeth S•ct•fied or Consecrated, Amos 2• 12.) and Nazir by interpretation is one Separated or exempt unto some special sanctity, or dignity, as Joseph is called a Nazirite, or, separated, Gen 49. 26. Dut. 33. 16. and Nezer is used for a Crown: see Exod. 29. 6. And whereas our Savior Christ is called a Nazarene, Matth. 2. 23. it was not of this name Nazi•, no• of this vow, (for he both drank wine, and was polluted by the dead, Luk. 7. 33, 34. and 8. 49•54. which the Nazarites might not do:) but because he was Ne•er the Branch out of the roots of Jesse, Esa•. 11. 1. and was brought up in the city Nazareth (or N•tsrath) Mat. 2 23• therefore he was called a Natsarene, or (according to the Greek pronunciation) a Naz 〈...〉: which title the Evangelists give him sundry ways, Nazarenes the Nazaren, Mar. 16. 6. Nazar•ios the Naz•raean, Ma•. 2. 23. and 26. 71. Nazorai•s, the Nazoraean, Act. 2. 22. and 6. 14. and Jesus of Nazareth, Act. 10. •8 all which differ from Naz•raios, the word by which the Greeks sometime express the N•zir or Nazirite, mentioned in this Law. Not withstanding though Christ was no Nazirite according to this carnal commandment (as the Apostle speaketh of the Priesthood, Heb. 7. 16.) yet the truth of this type was fulfilled in him, by the spirit of Sanctification, and after the power of an endless life. to separate himself] or, to make himself a Nazirite; for thereof here it hath the name, and differeth from the word separate used before, which was more general. The Greek translatheth to sanctify (or purify himself: which word the Holy Ghost useth in Act. 21. 24. sanctify (or purify) thyselſ with them, that is, be a Nazirite with them. Nazirites were some appointed of God, as Samson, g. 13. 5. and John the Baptist, Luke 1. 15. some by men; and they were either Nazarites all the days of their life, as was Samuel, 1 Sam. 1. 11. or but for certain days, as the laws here given by Moses, show. And for the vow of a Nazirite, the Hebrews have these rules: He that saith, I will not depart of this world until I be a Nazirite; he is to be a Nazirite out of hand, lest he die presently: and if he defer his Nazirite ship, he transgresseth against (this law is Deuteronomy 2. 21.) Thou shalt not delay to pay it. When a man hath purposed in his heart, and uttered with his words which carry this sense that he will be a Nazirite; though they carry this sense a far off (not presently) he is a Nazirite. He that saith, loe I will be a Nazirite from the kernels of grapes only, or from the husks only; or a Nazirite from shaving, or from uncleanness only; he is a full Nazirite; and all the particular (rules) of Nazariteship are upon him; yet though it was not in his heart to separate himself but from that thing only; forasmuch as he hath spoken that he will separate from that which is forbidden the Nazarites, he is a full Nazirite. If they fill him a cup of wine, and give it him to drink, and he say. I am a Nazirite from it; he is a full Nazirite. But if he have a grieved rule, or law, and they request him to drink that he may forget his sorrow, and he say, I am a Nazirite from it; then that cup only is lawful unto him, and he is no Nazirite; for there was no further law than that he would not drink this cup. He that saith, I will be a Nazirite, upon condition that I will drink wine, or be polluted by the dead, or shave my hair; loe he is a Nazirite, and is forbidden these all; because he conditioneth against that which is written in the Law, and who so conditioneth against that which is written in the Law, his condition is frustrate. He that saith, I will be a Nazirite when I have a son; when the son is borne unto him, he is a Nazirite. He that voucheth Naziriteship in ignorance or by error, &c. as for other vows. But he that is brought to vow Naziriteship. If a man voweth to his son, the son be bound; though he is bound to direct him all Naziriteship: if the man be a Nazirite. Maimonides in Naziriteship, chapter 2. sect. 1. 3. 14. lie unto him, as is in Chaldee, chapter 8; and Nathan explaineth it, to the name of Nazirite. This showeth the end and use of these vows to be religious, for the strengthening of faith, and of virtue, and for honor and thank God, after men have obtained his blessings, as 1 Sam. 1. 11. 27. 28 Wherefore it was a favor of God unto his people, when he raised up such among them, whereby they might be incited unto holiness of life; as he saith, I raised up of your sons for Prophets and of your young men for Nazarites, Amos 2. 11. Hereupon the Hebrews teach; He that saith, Loe I will be a Nazirite I do so or so; or, if I do it not, and the Lord is a wicked man, and such Naziriteship is commendable. But he that voweth to the Lord by way of holiness, is honest and commendable; and of him it is said, (in Num. 6. 7.) the Crown of his God is upon his head and the Scripture compareth him with a Prophet, chapter 2. 11. Maimonides in Naziriteship, chapter 10. sect. 14. It appeareth by 1 Maccabees 3. 49. that in public calamities they used to make and keep this vow more specially; for there, when they warred against Antiochus, they stirred up the Nazarites, who had accomplished their days.

Vers. <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> . *s*eparate from wine] or, be a Nazirite, (in Greek <math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> ) from wine, that is, abstain from drinking it. God giveth order for the Nazarites diet, to abstain from all fruit of the vine tree; •• their habit, to abstain from cutting their hair, and for their conversing with others, That they abstain from all pollution by the dead, verse. 5, 6. All which figured out mortification, as in the particulars shall appear. and strong drink] in Hebrew, Shecar, so called for that it causeth drunkenness; and hereof the Greek borroweth the name Sikera; but the Chaldee expoundeth it, old wine, saying, From wine new and old he shall separate himself: and in Psal. 69. 13: the Greek calleth Shecar wine: but the Holy Ghost in Luk. 1. 15. keepeth the name Sikera. And it generally comprehendeth all strong drink made of any fruit: howbeit the Hebrews restrain it here to such only as is made of the fruit of the vine, saying, Three sorts of things are forbidden the Nazirite; pollution, and shaving, and the fruit of the vine: but strong drink made of Dates, or such like, is lawful for the Nazirite; and the strong drink which is forbidden him by the Law, is strong drink made with mixture of wine. Maim. in Nezir. chap. 5. sect. 1. But this restraint may be their own tradition. By this prohibition, God taught the Nazarites sanctification in mortifying the lufts of the flesh; for the drinking of these indangereth men to forget the law of God, Prov. 31. 45. to mock, and to rage, Prov. 20. 1. they take away the heart, Hos. 4. 11. the Priest and the Prophet erred through these in vision, and stumbled in judgment, Isaiah. 28. 7. Therefore Daniel in his mourning drank no wine, Dan. 10. 3. John the Baptist the Nazirite drank no wine, and is therefore counted a mourner, Luk. 7. 32, 33. & the Nazarites by this abstinence were taught, instead of wine, to be filled with the Spirit, Eph. 5. 18. and with the love of the Lord, which is better than wine, Song 1. 2. Vinegar of strong drink] in Chaldee, vinegar of old wine. liquor] or moisture, the Greek translateth, whatsoever things are wrought (or made) of the grape, though mixed with water, or other drink; for generally anything that cometh of the vine, is forbidden, as the Angel explaineth this law in Judge. 13. 14. which notwithstanding the Hebrew doctors do restrain to that which cometh of the fruit of the vine only, holding the juice of the leaves, or the like to be lawful. And further they say, a little wine be mingled with honey, or the like, so that there be no taste of the wine, that is lawful for the Nazirite to drink. Yet for the things here expressed, as wine, grapes ripe or unripe, green or dry, husk or kernel, whosoever did eat any one of them presumptuously, was to be beaten by the Magistrate. Maim. in Nezir. c. 5. s. 2. 6. 8.

Vers. 4. of his Nazariteship] or of his separation, consecration, meaning the vow thereof, as verse. 5. so the Greek here translateth of his vow. made of the wine vine-tree] that is, any of the fruit thereof: for a tree is said to make fruit, when it yieldeth or bringeth it forth, as in Gen. 1. 11. therefore in Judge. 13. 14. it is explained, that cometh of (or proceedeth from) the wine vine-tree: and the word wine is added to the vine, only here and in that place, to signify that wine, or the fruit of the vine (which cheereth God and man, Judge. 9. 13.) is in special manner forbidden the Nazirite, for the mystery before touched. And by Judge. 13. it appeareth, that such as God sanctified to be Nazarites from the womb, their mothers also (whiles they went with child of them) were to abstain from these things; because by the mothers meat the child is nourished. So it figured a full and whole renunciation of worldly pleasures, even from the time of our new birth, until the accomplishment of our sanctification. from the kernel.] that is, either kernels or husk of the grape; which though they have not such force as the liquor to affect the mind, yet God here forbiddeth, to teach an exact care to avoid evil, and danger, occasion, provocation, yea or appearance of evil, as 1 The. 5. 22. as we are also to hate not only pollution or the flesh, but even the garment spotted by the first, Jude v. 23. not Idols only, but also their ⟨...⟩ rings and ornaments, Isaiah. 30. 22. And for this, the Hebrews say, that All things forbidden of the ⟨ϕ⟩ are equal one with another: so that if he put green grapes with dry, or with unripe grapes, and ⟨ϕ⟩ kernels and husks, and eat of this mixture but so much as an olive, he is to be beaten. Likewise if he drink a quarter (of a Log) of the mixture of ⟨ϕ⟩ with vinegar, he is beaten. If he eat the like quantity but of the husks, which are the outward ⟨ϕ⟩, or of the kernels which are the seeds within, he is beaten. Maim. in Nezir. ca. 5. s. 3. 2. Moreover they teach, that it is unlawful for a Nazirite to stand in the company of them that drink wine, but he is to keep himself far away, for there is a stumbling block before him: our wise men have said, he should not come near a vineyard. Ibidem ca. 5. sect. 10. As the Nazarites were to abstain from all that cometh of the vine, so from eating any unclean thing. Judge. 13. 4. 14. which also was a sign of their sanctification: see Levite. 11.

Vers. 5. of his Nazariteship] or separation; in Greek, of his sanctimony (or purity.) ⟨ϕ⟩ pass] in Greek, not come upon his head; that is, he shall not cut his hair. The Naz ⟨...⟩ that shaveth his head, is to be beaten; whether ⟨...⟩ with rasour or with sizers; likewise if he pinche ⟨ϕ⟩ his hair with his hand, he is to be beaten. M ⟨...⟩ Neziruth, c. 5. sect. 11. till the days be ⟨ϕ⟩ The Scripture setteth no number of days how long a man shall be a Nazirite; but as he vow ⟨...⟩ was he to perform. Howbeit the Hebrew doctors write, A Nazariteship absolutely is ⟨ϕ⟩ days: as he that saith, I will be a Nazirite, he ⟨ϕ⟩ one not less than thirty days; and though he say, I will be a Nazirite with a very great Nazariteship he is one but thirty days, because he expressed no time. If he express a time less than thirty; as if he say, I will be a Nazirite one day, or ten, or twenty days; yet is he a Nazirite thirty days: for there is no Nazariteship less than thirty days. This thing we ⟨ϕ⟩ by tradition. If he express a time more than ⟨ϕ⟩ days, as 31. or 40. or 100. days, or 100. ⟨ϕ⟩ then he is to be a Nazirite according to the ⟨ϕ⟩ which he expressed, neither less nor more. If he ⟨ϕ⟩ I will be a Nazirite for an hour, he is to be a Nazirite thirty days. If he say, I will be a Nazirite thirty days and an hour, he is to be a Nazirite thirty one days; for there are no hours determined. He that saith, I will be a Nazirite two Naziriteships, or ⟨ϕ⟩ he is to be a Nazirite according to the number which he hath mentioned; every Nazariteship of them shall be 30 days. And at the end of every 30 days, he is to shave his hair, and bring his offerings, and begin to count for his second Nazariteship; though he have spoken of 100 thousand Naziriteships: though it be impossible he should live so long, he is to count one after another until he die, or until he have accomplished the number of his Naziriteships. He that saith, I will be a Nazirite forever, or all days of my life; he is a Nazirite forever. If he say, I will be a Nazirite 1000 years: he is a Nazirite for the time determined, although it is impossible for a man to live 1000 years. And what differeth a Nazirite forever, from a Nazirite for a determined time? A Nazirite for a determined time, may not shave his hair, till the end of the days of his separation, Num. 6. 5. But a Nazirite forever, if his hair be too heavy for him, may lighten it with a rasor at every twelve-months end, and bring three beasts for his oblation, when he shaveth himself: as it is written of Absalom, (2 Sam. 14. 26.) at every years end he polled, &c. And Absalom was a Nazirite forever; as we have been taught by tradition. Samson was not a full Nazirite: for he vowed not to be a Nazirite, but the Angel separated him from uncleanness. And what was required of him? He might not drink wine, nor shave his head; but he might be polluted by the dead; this also we have by tradition. Therefore he that saith, I will be a Nazirite like Samson, he is to be a Nazirite from polling his head, and from wine, forever; but may be defiled by the dead, Maimonides in Neziruth ch. 3. And Talmud Bab. in Nazer, ch. 1. He that saith, I will be a Nazirite one day before my death, it is unlawful for him to drink wine, or to defile himself or to shave his head, forever, Maim. ibidem. chap. 4. sect. 10. the locks] or, the hair, as after is explained by another word of like signification. The hair is an ornament and a covering by nature: and as by washing of garments, the cleansing from impurity was shadowed, Exod. 19. 10. so by keeping them white and clean, the continuance of sanctification is signified, Revel. 3. 4. & 7. 14. 15. & 19. 8. Such was the keeping of the head from the rasort for when the Nazirite (v. 9.) or the Leper (Levite. 14. 8. 9.) was cleansed from impurity, their hair was shaven off: so the keeping it from shaving, signified, that they had kept themselves from uncleanness. Therefore when the Lord would figure out the rejection of Israel, as being unclean before him, he did it by this sign of cutting off the <◊> with a razor, Isaiah. 7. 20. Ezek. 5 1.—10. The growing of the hair signified also the growing of the graces of God's Spirit in them, as in Samson; who with the loss of his hair, lost also the power of God and as his hair grew again, so his strength in God renewed, Judge. 13. 25. & 14. 19. & 16. 17. 19 20. 22. 28. This strength came not by the growth of the hair, (for long hair rather weakeneth the body than strengtheneth it naturally,) but by the Lord, who sanctifieth to his people outward signs, whereunto himself only addeth grace: as he sanctified the waters of Jordan to wash away Naaman's leprosy, which of themselves had no such esticacie, 2 King. 5. 10. 14. Moreover, as the woman's long hair, is noted as a sign of her husbands power over her, and her subjection unto him, 1 Cor. 11. 5.—10. so the Nazarites hair might be the like sign of their subjection to the Lord, under whose power they had by this vow, inspectall manner committed themselves for further sanctification in his sight.

Vers. 6. at a dead soul] that is, a dead person, whereby he should be defiled: the soul is often used for the whole man, living or dead, see Lev. 19. 28. & 21. 1. and so Jonathan in his Targum here explaineth it, at the son of man that is dead. Thus the soul is put for the body, for at death the soul departeth, Gen. 35. 18. and by the Hebrew Canons, the dead d•fileth not, until his soul be departed; Maimonides in Tumoth meth. ch. 1. sect. 15. Of pollution by the dead, see Numb. 19. 11. &c. This refraining from the dead, (in whom the image as it were of God's curse for sin, was to be seen, for the wages of sin is death, Rom. 6. 23.) figured our abstaining from sinful and dead works, and such as live in them, (which are dead while they are alive, 1 Tim. 5. 6.) that we may keep ourselves unspotted of the world, I am. 1. 27.

Vers. 7. not make himself unclean] or, as the Greek translateth, not be defiled for them; namely in touching, mourning for, or burying them. For this, as for the former, the Nazirite if he did it presumptuously, was to be beaten by the Magistrate, Maim. in Nazir. ch. 5. sect. 15. &c. This also taught them to moderate their affections and sorrow, for their earthly parents, that they might be holy unto their father which is in heaven. Here the Hebrews have their traditional exceptions, saying, It is lawful for a Nazirite to leave the pollution by the dead which is commanded, as if walking by the way, he light upon a dead body, and there is none there to bury him, then is he to desile himself for him, and to bury him. If two Nazarites light upon a dead, the one a Nazirite for 30 days, the other for an hundred; he that is a Nazirite for 30 days shall make himself unclean, (and the other not.) The like they say, for shaving his head, that it is lawful for him, if it be a shaving commanded; as, if a Nazirite prove a Loper, and be healed of his leprosy within the days of his Nazariteship, he is to shave off all his hair, for the shaving of him is commanded in Levite. 14. 8. And wheresoever thou findest a commandment to do a thing, and a prohibition from doing it, if a man can keep them both, he doth well; and if not, the commandment is to be done, and the prohibition is to be let pass. Maimonides in Neziruth, chapt. 7. sect. 11. 12. 14. 15. and Talmud in Nazir. chap. 7. the Nazariteship] or the separation, Hebr. Nezer, in Greek, the vow; in Chaldee, the crown of his God, (as the word Nezer here used, is else-where crown, Levite. 21. 12.) This is the reason why he must mortify his affections, and rather follow his vow in honoring the Lord, than to follow natural duty in honoring his dead parents. So unto him that would have had leave to bury his father, Christ said, Follow me, and let the dead bury their dead, Mat. 8. 21. 22. And here we may compare the Nazarites with the high Priests, for sanctimony. The Priests might drink no wine, or strong drink, when they went to minister before the Lord, Levite. 10. 9. so the Nazirite might drink no wine, or strong drink, while he was separated to be holy to the Lord. The high Priest might not go in to any dead body, nor defile himself for his father or for his mother, Lev. 21. 10, 11. so neither might the Nazirite. The high Priest had on his head the Nezer (or crown) of the anointing oil of his God, Levite. 21. 12. the Nazirite here hath the Nezer (or crown) of his God, upon his head. These both of them in their office and sanctimony were types of Christ, on whose head, his Nezer (or crown) was to flourish, as is promised in Psalm. 132. 18. And Christians, made Kings and Priests unto God, Rev. 1. 6. have on their heads crowns of gold, Rev. 4. 4.

Vers. 8. *holy]*hus God, besides the former outward observations, requireth inward and spiritual holiness; without which all the other were but vanity.

Vers 9 unawares] or, on a sudden, which is by another word after repeated, to show that whatsoever sudden unexpected death it were, he was thereby defiled. And here is the second part of the Nazarites Law, when his sanctimony begun, should be by uncleanness nullified and fall; till by sacrifice he was reconciled unto God, and began a new through his grace in Christ. and he hath defiled] or, then he hath defiled, &c. and shall shave his head. so the Greek explaineth it, defiled shall be the head of his vow, and he shall shave, &c. Because all the days of his Nazariteship he should be pure from pollution by the dead. shave his head] this shaving was to cleanse him from pollution; and differeth from the shaving, when he had fulfilled his vow, verse 18. which was to be at the door of the Sanctuary; & the hair burned there. When the Nazirite shaveth himself for his uncleanness, he need not shave him at the door of the Sanctuary, nor cast his hair into the fire. But whether he be shaved without or within the Sanctuary, his hair is unlawful to be put to any use, but must be buried, saith Maimonides in Nezir. chap. 6. sect. 14. This had like mystery, as the shaving of the Leper when he was cleansed, in Levite. 14. and signified the renouncing of his own righteousness by the works of the Law, as being defiled by sin: compare Phil. 3. 8. 9. the seventh day] which was the day when all defiled by the dead, were clean, being sprinkled with the holy water, Numb. 19. 11. 12.

Verse 10. two turtles] This accordeth with the Law, for making atonement for such as had unclean issues, when they were cleansed, Levite. 15. 14. &c. see the annotations there. The Hebrews say, When a Nazirite is defiled with any uncleanness, for which he is to shave himself, one is to sprinkle upon him on the third day, & on the seventh day, (Nū. 19. 12.) and he is to shave off the hair of his head, in the seventh day, and to wash in the seventh day, after he is sprinkled, as do all that are defiled by the dead, (Num. 19. 19.) and when his sun is set, he shall bring his offerings on the eighth day, and they are two turtles, or two young doves, &c. Ma•m. in Nezir. ch. 6. sect. 11.

Verse 11. shall do] or, make ready, that is, ⟨◇⟩ unto God: as that which is said in 1 Chron. 21.

⟨◇⟩ . let my lord the King do; is by another Prophet explained, let my lord the King take ⟨◇◇⟩ 2 Sam. 24. 22. If a Nazirite be unclean ⟨◇⟩ uncleannesses, he bringeth for them but one ⟨◇⟩ to wit, if he be unclean the secon• time, before ⟨◇⟩ bring his oblations for the first uncleanness; ⟨◇◇⟩ he delay many days after his cleansing before he bring his sin-offering, & is defiled in these days, he br ⟨...⟩ but one oblation. But if he be unclean, and then ⟨◇⟩ sed, and have brought his sin-offering, and is ⟨◇⟩ the second time after that he hath brought his sinoffering, although he hath not as yet brought his ⟨◇⟩ pass-offering, and his burnt-offering, he is ⟨◇⟩ to bring other oblations. Maimonides in Nezirath, chap. 6. sect. 15. he sinned by a soul] in Ch•ldet, by the dead: that is, for that he missed of his sanctification or Nazariteship, having been polluted by the dead. So sinning is used for missing of the thing aimed at or intended, Judge. 20. 16. This caught ⟨◇⟩ contagion of sin, which a man unawares and inevitably often falleth into, (for in many things we offend all, I am. 3. 2.) for which, when we know that we have sinned, we are to make confession unto God, and by faith to apprehend the sacrifice o• Christ, whereby atonement is made for us, 1 John. 2. 1, 2. sanctify his head] that is, the head of his Nazariteship, as verse. 9. by beginning anew, the days of his vow of Nazariteship, during w<sup>ch</sup>, the hair• o• his head must grow, and he keep himself from uncleanness. So Sol. Rashi here explaineth it; sanctify his head, to begin again the count of his Nazariteship. And the verse following confirmeth ⟨◇⟩ . ⟨◇⟩ .

Verse 12. shall separate] to wit, as a Nazirite, [unspec] •or so the Hebrew word meaneth, which the Greek translatheth sanctific. Hereby God taught, that as he hath given Christ to be an atonement for our sins, so when we are cleansed by faith in him, we must not continue in sin, that ⟨◇⟩ may abound, but endeavor anew to fulfill ⟨◇⟩ vow, and walk in newness of life, and yield our-selves unto God, as those that are alive from ⟨◇⟩ dead, Rom. 6. 1. 4 13. And as by sacrifices ⟨◇⟩ ring Christ, the Nazirite was cleansed from his former uncleanness, so by a trespass-offering, which also figured Christ, he was prepared ⟨◇⟩ the observation of his vow renewed; because all grace and ability to do good, is of God, obtained by Christ Jesus our Lord, James 1. 17. John 15. 5. the days of his Naz ⟨...⟩ ⟨◇⟩ ] in Greek, all the days of his vow; that is, so many days as he had vowed at the first. And wh•• beginneth he to reckon? From the time that he bringeth his sin-offering: but his burnt-offering and his trespass-offering binder him not from ⟨◇⟩ ning [if they be not brought.] Ma•m. in ⟨◇⟩ chap. 6. sect. 12. of his first year] Hebr ⟨...⟩ ⟨◇⟩ of his year, so in verse 14. of which phrase, see the notes on Gen. 5. 32. Exod. 12. 5. and of the ⟨◇⟩ pass-offering, see Levite. 5. shall ⟨◇⟩ ] that ⟨◇⟩ shall be lost and counted as none; as the Greek translatheth, shall be uncounted, or not  $\langle \phi \rangle$  in Chaldee, frustrate. Thus one little pollution unawares, nullifieth many days purity; for the Law requireth perfect observation, and curseth him that continueth not in doing all things commanded, Deut. 27. 26. Galat. 3. 10. and whosoever shall keep the whole Law, and yet faileth in one point, he is guilty of all, I am. 2. 10. And here this nullity of the former days is added only to the third duty of the Nazirite, that he should not defile himself by the dead; and not to either of the former two, which might seem to be greater. Of this the Hebrews have these observations. A Nazirite that drinketh wine, or eateth that which cometh of the vine, though many days, he destroyeth not (or frustrateth not) the days of his Nazariteship, no not one day. And so if he shall shave off a little hair of his head, or either ignorantly or presumptuously shave all his head, &c. he frustrateth (but) 30 days, till he have locks again, and after that he beginneth to reckon: As if he vowed to be a Nazirite an 100 days, and after 20 days his head is shaven; then he must wait 30 days till the hair of his head be grown: and after 30 days, he is to reckon 80 days, for the complement of the days of his Nazariteship. And all those 30 days, all the particular duties of a Nazirite, lie upon him; only they come not into his reckoning. A Nazirite that is defiled, whether pre-umptuously or ignorantly, yea, though it be by the pollution of an heathen by constraint, he s  $\langle \dots \rangle$  slratch all; and must be shavē with the shaving for uncleanness, & bring the oblations for uncleanness; and is to began again to reckon the days of his Nazariteship, Num. 6. 12. Yea though he be defiled in the day, when the days of his Nazariteship are fulfilled, and in the end of the day, all is frustrate. If he be defiled the day after the fulfilling, that is, the day when he bringeth the oblations of purity; he frustrateth 30 days only; and thus he is to do. He is to bring the oblations for uncleanness, and shave for uncleanness, and begin to reckon the Nazariteship of 30 days; and then he is to shave for cleanness, and bring the oblations of cleanness [mentioned in v. 14, &c.] And if he be defiled after any one of the bloods be sprinkled for him, he frustrateth not a whit, but bringeth the rest of the oblations for cleanness. If he vow to be a Nazirite, while he is unclean by the dead, his Nazariteship beginneth upon him: & if he defile himself the second time, or drink wine, or shave his head, he is to be beaten. And if he cō•ue in his uncleanness many days, they profit him not (for his account) until he  $\langle \phi \rangle$  sprinkled the third day and the seventh & be washed in the seventh: and that seventh day goeth into his account of Nazariteship, for him that voweth while he is unclean▪ but a clean Nazirite which is defiled, he beginneth not to reckon till the eighth day, and forward. If he have an issue in his flesh, be he man or woman, all the days of their issue, go on in their reckoning, although they be unclean, (Levite. 15.) and this was taught Moses at Mount Sinai. And I need not speak, how if a Nazirite be unclean with other uncleannesses, the days of his uncleanness go on in his reckoning, and he loseth not any. Maim. in Nezir. ch. 6. s. 1.▪ 8. and c. 7. s 9, 10.

Verse 13. the Law] the third part of the Nazarites [unspec] Law, how heshould show himself thankful unto God, when through his grace he hath fulfilled his vow, and is orderly to be discharged of the same. he shall bring him] he▪ shall present himself to the Lord by the Priest▪ or, the Priest shall bring him. It appeareth by Act. 21. 26. that the Nazirite was to go into the Sanctuary, to signify the accomplishment of the days of the sanctification, or Nazariteship. Some translate, he shall bring it, the oblation after mentioned; and this the Greek Version favoreth. Sol. Rashi expoundeth it, he shall bring himself.

Vers. 14. shall offer] or, shall bring near, as the Greek translateth, he shall bring his gift. perfect] in Greek, without blemish: see Exod. 12. Peace-offerings] in Greek, Salvation. Of these sacrifices, see Lev. 1. an• 3. and 4. ⟨ϕ⟩ . for according to the rites there specified, were they to be offered. And whereas the Nazirite, though he had fulfilled his vow without any pollution, is here commanded notwithstanding to bring a Sin-offering, &c. it taught the secret and unseen guiltiness which cleaveth to the most holy men in their best and most perfect works; which without atonement by the blood of Christ, cannot be pure and pleasing in the sight of God. For though a man know nothing by himself, yet is he not hereby ⟨...⟩ ; but he that judgeth him, is the Lord, 1 Cor. 4. 4. in whose sight no man can be justified by the works o• the Law, Gal. 2. 15, 16. These ⟨ϕ⟩ ⟨...⟩ , ⟨ϕ⟩ here saith, were to looseth ⟨ϕ⟩ pro ⟨...⟩ s ⟨ϕ⟩ . •he Nazirite, the fruit of ⟨...⟩ e, his shaving, and defiling by the dea ⟨...⟩ *R. Verse 15. and wafers] The Hebrews (as Sol. Rashi) here say, there were teno ⟨...⟩ ach sort, ten cakes and ten wafers; which Maimonides in Nazir. ch. 8, sect. 1. declareth thus: And he bringeth with the ram for peace-offerings, six tenth-deals of figure, &c. of them he baketh twenty cakes, ten cakes of unleavened bread, and ten wafers of unleavened bread, and anointeth the twenty, with the fourth part (of a Log) of oil; and he bringeth the twenty in one vessel. See Lev. 7. 12. their meat-offering] besides the former extraordinary cakes & wafers, he was to bring the ordinary meat-offering, and drink-offerings appointed for all sacrifices, whereof see Num. 28.

Verse 16. shall offer them] or, shall bring them near; which words do one explain another, in the Hebrew text, as, they brought near burnt sacrifices, 1 Chr. 16. 1. that is, offered burnt sacrifices, 2 Sam. 6. 17. For the order, it is said, He killed the sin-offering first; and after that, the burnt-offering; and after that, the peace-offerings; and after that, he was shaved. And if he were shaved after the killing of the sin-offering, or of the burnt-offering, it would serve. Maim. in Nazir. ch. 8. s. 2. shall do] that is, shall offer, (as v. 11.) his sin-offering; whereby the Nazirite acknowledged himself a sinner, even in the most sanctified time and actions of his life; and that he could have no access unto God, but by the sacrifice of Christ; so man's best works have no place in justification, Rom. 3. 20.

Verse 17. shall make] or, shall do, that is, offer (as verse 16.) for a sacrifice of peace-offerings, to give chan•es unto God, by whose grace he had fulfilled his vow. Therefore he rejoiced, keeping a feast before the Lord; for the flesh of the Peaceofferings was eaten by him that brought the sacrifice, when the Lord and his Priest had their portions, Levite. 7. 14, 15.

Verse 18. the Nazirite] in Greek, he that vewed; in Hebrew, Nazir. shave] this the Hebrews call, the shaving of purity (or, for cleanness) and it differeth from the former shaving, in verse 9. w<sup>ch</sup> was for uncleanness; and figured the purging of his uncleanness• but this shaving was in thankfulness, to signify that he had the perfection of his Nazariteship from God, and therefore burned his hair under his sacrifice. This shaving was to be of all his hair: the Hebrews say, if he left but two haeres, he had done nothing, neither had he kept the commandment of shaving, whether he were a clean Nazirite, or an unclean. If he had left two hairs, he was to let all his hair grow, and shave it all again with those two hairs, [after thirty days.] Maim. in N<sup>o</sup>z. chap. 8. sect. 67. at the door of the Tent] afterward when the Temple was built, they say it was in the women's Court, in the Nazarites chamber, which was there  $\langle \phi \rangle$  the South-East corner, and there they boiled their peace-offerings, and cast their hair into the fire. And if he shaved in the City, it would serve: but whether it were in the City or Sanctuary, under the cauldron he was to cast his hair; and he might not shave, till the door of the court were opened; as it is said, at THED  $\langle \dots \rangle$  RE OF THE TENT: not that  $\langle \phi \rangle$  shaved before the door, for that were a contempt of the Sanctuary. Maim<sup>a</sup> in Nezir. ch. 8. sect. 3. Compare here with that in Act. 18. 18. where it is said, having shaved his head in Cenchrea, for he had a vow; by which it seemeth, the shaving was not of necessity to be in the Sanctuary, or in the City of Jerusalem. of his Nazariteship] in Greek, of his vow: so the vow in Act. 18. 18. and 21. 23. meaneth Nazariteship. under the sacrifice] to burn it there, and consume it, signifying the end of his vow, performed acceptably to God in Christ, and presented unto him by the Spirit, which is like unto fire, Mat. 3. 11. The Hebrews say, If he be shaved by the peace-offerings, and he be found disallowable, his shaving is disallowable, and his sacrifices profit him [unspec] not. If he be shaved by the sin-offering, and it be found that it was not stain by the name of a sin-offering; and afterward he bring the peace-offerings and burnt-offering, and oblations as they are commanded; his shaving is disallowable, & his sacrifices profit him not. If he be shaved by the burnt-offering, or by the peace-offerings, and they be stain not by their name, and afterward he bring the other oblations to offer them by their name, his shaving is disallowable, and his sacrifices profit him not. If he be shaven by them three, and any one of them be found right, his shaving is right; And he is to bring the other sacrifices, and offer them after their manner. And wheresoever we say his shaving is disallowable, it frustrateth 30 days; and he is to count 30 days after his disallowed shaving, and bring his offerings. Maiman M  $\langle \dots \rangle$  11. of peace-offerings] in Greek, of  $\langle \phi \rangle$ ; in Chaldee, of Sanctifications: see Lev. 3.  $\langle \dots \rangle$  every Nazirite was to fulfill his vow, and b  $\langle \dots \rangle$  own sacrifices, yet are there certain observations by the Hebrews, which are of use for understanding some things in the New Testament. They say, If a man vow to be a Nazirite, he may bring  $\langle \phi \rangle$  fathers oblations for himself, and be shaved  $\langle \phi \rangle$   $\langle \dots \rangle$  but a woman is not shaved for her fathers offering; this we have learned by tradition. As, he whose  $\langle \phi \rangle$  was a Nazirite, and he separated money to  $\langle \dots \rangle$  ons therewith, and he die, and leave the money  $\langle \dots \rangle$  lute (without expressing for what sacrifice it is,  $\langle \phi \rangle$  the son say after his fathers death, I will be a Nazirite upon condition that I may bring my offerings  $\langle \phi \rangle$  the money which my father separated for his offering: loe, he may bring his offerings with that mo  $\langle \dots \rangle$  so, if he and his father were Nazarites, and  $\langle \phi \rangle$  father separated money absolutely, and dieth; and the  $\langle \phi \rangle$  after his fathers death, I will shave for my  $\langle \phi \rangle$  money: loe, he may bring his offerings wish the  $\langle \phi \rangle$  but if he say not so, the money falleth to a vo  $\langle \dots \rangle$  fering. If the father die, and leave many sons<sup>a</sup> they  $\langle \phi \rangle$  the money among them, for it is their inherit  $\langle \dots \rangle$  everyone of them must be shaved for his  $\langle \phi \rangle$  & the first borne hath a double portion. He that  $\langle \phi \rangle$ . Upon me be the shaving of a Nazirite, he is  $\langle \dots \rangle$  bring the offerings of shaving for cleanness, and  $\langle \dots \rangle$  fer them by the hand of what Nazirite he  $\langle \phi \rangle$ . If he say, upon me be half the oblations of a Nazirite;  $\langle \phi \rangle$  on me be the half of the shaving of a Nazirite; then he bringeth half the offerings by what Naz  $\langle \dots \rangle$  he will; and that Nazirite payeth his offering<sup>a</sup>  $\langle \dots \rangle$

that which is his. But if he say, Upon me be the  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  of half a Nazirite; then he is to bring the offering  $\langle \dots \rangle$  a full Nazirite: for we have no half Naz  $\langle \dots \rangle$  Maimonides in Nezir. ch. 8. sect. 15<sup>a</sup> 18. By this,  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  may see the reason of that which James said unto Paul, though he had no Nazarites vow upon him; We have four men which have a vow on them;  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  take, and sanctify thyself with them, and he at  $\langle \dots \rangle$  ges with them, that they may shave their heads,  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  Then Paul took the men, and the next day sancti  $\langle \dots \rangle$  himself with them entered into the Temple, to  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  the accomplishment of the days of Sanctification.  $\langle \diamond \rangle$ , Nazariteship] until that an offering should be  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  for everyone of them: Acts 21. 23. 24. 26. For though Paul had not vowed or fulfilled a Nazariteship him self, yet might he contribute with them, and they be partakers of his charges about the sacrifices.

Verse 19. the sodden shoulder] or,  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  arm, meaning the left shoulder, for the right shoulder was due unto him raw, of all peace-offerings. Lev. 7. 32. this was peculiar of the Nazarites ram only, and not due to the Priest from any other sacrifice. The manner of this service, was thus; The ram was killed, and the blood sprinkled, and the b  $\langle \dots \rangle$   $\langle \diamond \rangle$  and the fat of the intralls taken out. After  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  the flesh was cut in pieces, and the breast and the  $\langle \dots \rangle$  der were put apart: and the rest of the ram was  $\langle \dots \rangle$  den in the women's court. And the Priest tocke  $\langle \dots \rangle$  sodden shoulder of the ram, with one of  $\langle \diamond \rangle$   $\langle \dots \rangle$  cakes brought therewith, with the breast and the (other shoulder, and the fat: and he  $\langle \dots \rangle$  th them all on the Nazarites hands; and the Priest put his heads under the owners hands, and wav'd all before the Lord. Maimonides in Maaseh hak  $\langle \dots \rangle$ , ch••. 9. sect. 6. 9. After the waving, the fat was salted, and burned  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  the Altar: the breast and shoulder was meat for the Priests; but they had no right unto them, till after the fat was burned. And the cake which was waved, and the sodden shoulder were eaten by the priests; and therest of the bread, with the residue of the flesh, was eaten by the owners; as is shown by Maimonides in Maaseh •akorbanoth, •h. 9. sect. 6. 9. 12. See the notes on Lev. 3. and 7. ch. In that the other shoulder (besides the ordinary gift) was here given to the Lord's Priest, it taught the Nazarites as they had received more special grace of God to perform their vows, so they should give him more special thanks.

Verse 20. wave them] this shoulder was waved (of which word, see the annotations on Exod. [unspec] 29. 24.) the other was heaved up ward, called therefore the heave shoulder, by which motions, performed by the Priests hands under the Nazarites, God taught them that the perfection and acceptation of all their actions, was through the mediation of our great Priest Christ Jesus, by whom we are to offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of the lips, confessing to his name, Heb. 13. 15. holy] Hebr. holiness, that is, an holy portion for the Priest to eat; so the Nazirite was taught to give the glory of his Sanctification unto Christ, whom the Priest here figured. wave breast• Hebr. breast of waving, and shoulder of heaving; those which the Priest had of all the Peace-offerings, Levite. 7. may drink wine] or, shall drink, if he will, and also shave his head when he will, and be unclean by the dead; for now he was discharged of his vow. Though here special mention is made of drinking wine, which being for the comfort and cheering of man's heart, might signify the fruit and comfort which followeth affliction and humiliation, when sorrow and mourning shall be done away. And where it is said, and after, he may drink; it showeth that before the shaving and sacrifices here appointed, he might not drink wine, though the time of his vow were expired. The Hebrews say, A Nazirite that hath fulfilled the days of his Nazirite ship, and is not shaved with the shaving for cleanness; it is unlawful for him to be shaved, or to drink wine, or to be defiled by the dead, as he was before: & all the particulars of Nazariteship are upon him; and if he be shaven, or drink wine, or be defiled, he is beaten. Maim. in Neziruth, ch. 4. s. 12.

Verse 21. his oblation] understand, this is his oblation; or, as the Greek saith, his gift. for his [unspec] N ⟨...⟩ ship] in thankfulness to God for giving him grace to fulfill his Nazariteship; and to make atonement for his sins committed under that his vow. This ordinance of Nazarites, was a special glory in Israel, Amos 2. 11. where their Nazarites were purer than snow, they were whiter than milk, they were more ruddy in body than Rubies, their polishing ⟨◇⟩ of Sapphire, Lam. 4. 7. all which denote the heavenly graces wherewith the Saints that faithfully kept this vow, were endued. Yet was it but a legal service, which by Christ is taken away; in whom we have obtained a more glorious state, being washed from our sins in his own blood, whereby we are whiter than Snow, Rev. 1. 5. Psalm. 51. 9. and being sanctified by his Spirit, we have our conversation in Heaven, from whence also we look for our Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ, Philip. 3. 20. The abolishing of this ordinance is declared in Act. 21. 25. As touching the Gentiles which believe, we have written and concluded, that they observe no such thing: and it is a Canon of the Hebrew Doctors, that The Samaritan (or Gentile) hath no Nazariteship; Talmud in Nazir. ch. 9. And by the overthrow of the City and Temple of the Jews by Nebuchadnezzar, the Nazarites visages became blacker than acoale, they were not known in the streets, their skin cleaved to their bones, it was withered, it became like a stick. Lam. 4. 8. that they might be taught to look for a better sanctification, which Christ should give in the heavenly Jerusalem, in the light whereof, the nations of them which are saved do walk, and into which, nothing that defileth shall enter, Rev. 21. 24. 27. where that is fulfilled which the Hebrews say of the Nazirite, that he is warned not to defile himself by the dead, because the power of uncleanness may not enter into the holy Temple; as it is written (in Song. 4. 7.) Thou art all fair, my love, there is no blemish in thee. R. Menachem on Num. 6.

Verse 22. Jehovah spake] after that the people were instructed with God's Covenant, set in order round about his Sanctuary, and sanctified in that their order; the Law is here given for the blessing of them in that holy state of life. For who so looketh into the perfect law of liberty, and continueth, he, being not a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work, he shall be blessed in his doing. I am. 1. 25.

Verse 23. his sons] the Priests to whom this office of blessing the people is in special manner committed; as it is said, them hath Jehovah thy God chosen, to minister unto him; and to bless in the name of Jehovah, Deut. 21. 5. And Aaron was separated, that he should sanctify the most holy things, he and his sons forever; to burn (incense) before Jehovah, to minister unto him, and to bless in his name forever, 1 Chron. 23. 13. Herein the work of Christ (a Priest forever after the order of Melchizedek, Psal. 110.) was figured; whom God sent to bless us, in turning away everyone of us from his iniquities, Act. 3. 26. whose first Doctrine began with manifold blessings, Matth. 5. 2.—12. who also having fulfilled his ministry here on earth, lifted up his hands and blessed his Disciples, and so was carried up into heaven, Luke 24. 50, 51. Therefore when he was to come into the world, the Priest of Aaron's seed, when he should have blessed the people, was speechless, Luke 1. 21, 22. to signify that the end of his Priesthood was at hand, and that the people should look for another Priest, in whom all nations should be blessed, Gal. 3. 8. And in this respect we may have use of the Jews tradition, that their Priests (of Aaron's stock) were to lift up their hands and bless the people in the Morning, but not at the Minchah (or Evening sacrifice,) Maimonides treat, of Prayer, chap. 14. ﴿﴾ . 1. for in these last days (the Evening of times) God hath spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, Heb. 1. 1. 2. The Hebrews also say, the reason why this blessing is mentioned when the Tabernacle was erected, was because from the Tabernacle that is above the abundance of blessing is spread abroad on thē that are beneath▪ R. Menachem Rakanat, on Num. 6. Which is indeed fulfilled in Christ, the Minister of the true Tabernacle, which the Lord pitched, and not man: who if he were on earth, should not be a Priest; but, through the veil that is his flesh, he is entered into heaven it self, now to appear unto the face of God for us: Heb. 8. 2. 4. and 10. 2. 20. and 9. 24. Thus shall ye bless] The Priest blessed standing, as it is written, to stand before Jehovah, to minister unto him, and to bless in his name, Deut. 10. 8. And it was with lifting up of hands, as it is said, And Aaron lift up his hand towards the people, and blessed them, Levite. 9. 22. which gesture our Lord Christ also used, when he blessed his disciples, Lu. 24. 50. The Hebrew Doctors understand the word Thus, to imply both matter and manner, whereof they have sundry traditions; as, Thus shall ye bless, standing; Thus, with lifting up of hands; Thus, in the holy tongue [that is Hebrew;] Thus, with your faces against (the people's) faces; Thus with an high voice; Thus, by (God's) expressed name [Jehovah] if (ye bless) in the Sanctuary. It is not lawful for the Priests in any place, to add any blessing unto these three verses; as to say (like Deu. 1. 11.) The Lord God of your fathers, make you a thousand times so many moe as ye are, or any the like: Maimonides in treat. of Prayer, chap. 14. sect. 11. 12. The manner they also say was thus, The Priests went up to the bank (or stage) after that the Priests had finished the daily morning service, and lifted up their hands on high above their heads, and their fingers spread abroad; except the high Priest, who might not lift his hands higher than the Plate (whereof see Exod. 28. 36.) and one pronounced (the blessing) word by word, till the three verses were ended. And the people answered not after every verse, but they made it in the Sanctuary one blessing, and when they had finished, all the people answered, Blessed be the Lord God, the God of Israel, forever and ever. And he pronounced God's name as it is written with I•h: but in the city (or country) they pronounced it Adonai (Lord) for they mention not the name as it is written, save in the Sanctuary only. And after Simeon the just was dead, the Priests left off blessing by God's proper name [Jehovah] even in the Sanctuary, to the end that no man which was not honest and of good esteem, might learn it. The Priests blessing is not pronounced in any place, but in the holy (Hebrew) tongue; as it is said, THVS SHAL YE BLESSE, &c. The lifting up of hands, is by ten Priests of the number. A Synagogue which is all of Priests, they all lift up hands, and the women and children answer Amen. If there remain ten Priests moe than they which are gone up the bank, the ten answer Amen. A Congregation wherein there is no Priest, but a Minister only, he lifteth not up his hands: but when he is come to conclude with peace, he he saith, Our God, and the God of our fathers ble ﴿...﴾ us with the threefold blessing in the Law written by Moses thy servant, which was pronounced out of the mouth of Aaron and his sons the Priests with thy Saints, as it is said, THE LORD BLESSE THEE AND KEEP ETHEE, &c. A Priest that hath lift up his hands in one Synagogue, and goeth to another Synagogue, and findeth the Congregation at prayer, and they are not come to the Priests blessing, he lifteth up his hands for them, and blesseth them, though it be oft times in a day, Maim▪ treat. of prayer▪ chap. 14. sect. 9, 10, 11. and chap. 15. sect. 9, 10, 11. By these their traditions it appeareth, that the not pronouncing of God's name Jehovah, as it is written, was a device of their own, first restraining it to the Sanctuary and blessing only; at last, omitting it in the Sanctuary also, lest it should be by the unworthy polluted, as they supposed. Yea so far went they in this their preciseness, as they say, that their first wise men taught not this name to their disciples or sons which were of honest conversation, but once in seven years: Maim. ibidem, c. 14. sect. 10. And this it seemeth they did because the nations corrupted the name, calling him Iao, Iave, Iabe, Ievo, Iovis, and sundry other ways, (as in human writers is yet to be seen;) and applied those names sometime to false God's. Of the meaning of this name Jehovah, see the Annotations on Gen. 2. 4. and Exod. 6. 3. and of blessing, see Gen. 14. 19. 20.

Vers. 24. Jehovah bless thee] The name Jehovah [unspec] thrice repeated in this blessing, is a mystery of the Trinity in the Godhead, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, into whose name we are baptized, Mat. 28. 19. which Jehovah is one, and his name one, Deut. 6. 4. Zach. 14. 9. So the Apostle beginneth wishing Grace and Peace, from him which Is, and which Was, and which Is to come, [that is, Jehovah God the Father] and from the seven Spirits which are before his throne, [that is, the Holy Spirit, whose graces are seven, that is, manifold and plentiful; but though there be diversities of gracious gifts, yet it is the same Spirit, 1 Cor. 12. 4.] and from Jesus Christ: Revel. 1. 4, 5. And another Apostle concludeth, The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the holy Spirit 〈◊〉 with you all, Amen. 2 Cor. 13. 14. Which, as all other blessings, are derived from this set down by Moses: who showeth the grace of God the Father, in blessing, that is, giving all good things, both for this life, and that which is to come; as it is written, Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings, in heavenly (things) in Christ, &c. Ephes. 1. 3. This blessing God offered the Jews, when he sent his Son Jesus to bless them, in turning away everyone of them, from his iniquity; Act. 3. 26. The Hebrew Doctors (as R. Menachem Rakanat on th• place) have also noted how this name of God [Jehovah] is thrice mentioned, and every time with 〈◊〉 different accent in the Hebrew, implying a mystery: which cannot better be applied than to the three distinct persons of the holy Trinity. 〈◊〉 thee] in grace and good estate, and safe from evil, as it is said, Jehovah will keep thee from all evil, he will keep thy soul, Psal. 121. 7. And for good, it is spoken in 1 Chron. 29. 18. So our Savior prayeth, Holy Father, keep through thine own name, those whom thou hast given me, that they may be one, as we are: and, keep them from the evil: John 17. 11. 15.

Ver. 25. his face to shine upon thee] or, his countenance to shine (to be lightsome) unto thee. For face, the Chaldee putteth Shekhinah, the Divine Majesty: whereby Christ seemeth to be meant, as is noted on Exod. 34. 9. God's face, sometime signifieth his anger, as Levite. 20. 6. Psal. 21. 10. and 34. 17. sometime his favor, Psal. 21. 7. But the light or shining of his face, usually meaneth his loving favor and salvation in Christ; as, Cause thy face to shine, and we shall be saved, Psal. 80. 4. 8. 20. and, The light of thy face, because thou didst favor them. Psal. 44. 4. So this second branch respecteth Christ, the Lamb which is the light of the world, and of the heavenly Jerusalem, John. 8. 12. Rev. 21. 23. whose face shined at the Sun, Rev. 1. 16. of whom it is said, God who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, (giving) the light of the knowledge of the glory of God, in the face of Jesus Christ, 2 Cor. 4. 6. So in him is that saying fulfilled, In the light of the kings face is life: and his favor is as a cloud of the latter rain: Prov. 16. 15. And this blessing implieth deliverance out of misery, as appeareth by Psal. 80. and Dan. 9. 17. who saith, Cause thy face to shine upon thy Sanctuary, which is desolate. be gracious] or, as the Greek translateth, be merciful. This Grace is opposed to all man's works, with which it cannot stand, Rom. 11. 6. and 4. 4. and it is bestowed on whom God will, Exod. 33. 19. Rom. 9. 15, 16. by which grace, we are saved, through faith, God having shown the exceeding riches of his grace, in his goodness towards us, through Christ Jesus, Ephes. 2. 7. 8. by whom grace reigneth through righteousness, unto eternal life, Rom. 5. 21. Therefore the Apostle blesseth the Churches, with the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, Rom. 16. 20. 2 Cor. 13. 13. For the Law was given by Moses; but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ, John. 1. 17.

Verse 26. lift up his face] this in men, signifieth a comfortable and cheerful countenance and carriage, John 29. 24. 2 Sam. 2. 22. so here in God towards his people; and by face understand as before the light of his face, that is, his favor; as in Psal. 4. 7. Jehovah lift thou up the light of thy face upon us; and it signifieth the applying and communicating of God's foresaid grace, to man's conscience and seeling, as after it is said, Thou hast put gladness in mine heart, &c. Psal. 4. 8. Thus the first branch of the blessing (in verse 24.) implieth the love of the Father; the second (in verse 25.) the grace of the Son; and this third, the communion of the Holy Ghost; as the Apostle distinctly expoundeth this blessing, in 2 Cor. 13. 14. And by this Spirit, all gracious gifts, of wisdom, knowledge, faith, prophesy, and the like, are given to the Church, 1 Cor. 12. 8-11. The word face sometime meaneth anger, as before is noted; and the Hebrew Nasa, Lift up, is sometime used for taking away, as in Exod. 10. 19. and so the Chaldee translateth this here, The LORD remove (or take away) his anger from thee. The same exposition the Zohar also giveth of this place, that wrath may be taken away, and not found in the world. and give] Hebr. and put (or dispose) unto thee, that is, communicate with thee: which the Greek translateth give: and in the Scriptures one of these words is used for another: as he hath put thee, 1 Kings 10. 9. or, he hath given thee, 2 Chron. 9. 8. So, put glory, Ios. 7. 19. that is, give glory, and to put mercy, Isaiah. 47. 6. is to give or communicate the same. Peace] this word generally signifieth all prosperity, and the perfect enjoying of all good things; it is opposed to war, Eccles. 3. 8. to discord and onmitie, Ephes. 2. 14, 15. Luke 12. 51. to tumult and confusion, 1 Cor. 14. 33. and to all adversity, Gen. 43. 27. 2 Kings 4. 26. John. 16. 33. and is therefore added for a conclusion of blessings, Psal. 29. 11. & 125. 4. 1 Pet. 5. 14. This peace is obtained by Jesus Christ, Eph. 2. 14, 15, 17. Rom. 5. 1. and enjoyed by the Holy Ghost, Rom. 8. 6. 9. & 14. 17. And the peace of God which passeth all understanding, shall guard our hearts and minds through Christ Jesus, Phil. 4. 7. And the Hebrew Doctors expound this peace, to be the kingdom of the house of David; R. Nathan in Siphri: which is true, for when the Angel said, Unto you is borne this day, in the city of David, a Savior, which is Christ the Lord; then the heavenly host sang, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, Luke 2. 11—14. and one part of his name is, THE PRINCE OF PEACE; Isaiah. 9. 6.

Verse 27. And they shall] the Priests in all ages, such as were meet to serve in the Sanctuary, performed this as the other services. The Hebrew Canons have here their limitations; they say, *Six things do let from lifting up the hands (to bless) 1 the tongue, 2 blemishes, 3 transgression, 4 years, 5 wine, 6 and uncleanness of hands. The tongue, as if they stammer and cannot pronounce the letters aright, or lisp, &c. Blemishes, as if they have any blemishes in their face, hands, or feet; as if they have crooked fingers, &c. Transgression, as if a Priest hath killed a man, though unawares, and though he have repented for it, yet may he not lift up his hands, Isaiah. 1. 15. Or, if the Priest have served idols, &c. though he have repented for it, he may never lift up hands; as it is written (in 2 Kings 23. 9.) The Priests of the high places came not up to the Altar, &c. and blessing is as a service, Deut. 21. 5. Yeares, as a young Priest lifteth not up his hands till he be fully come to his age. Wine, as if he have drunk a quarter (of a Log) of wine, he may not lift up his hands, till he hath put away his wine from him, Levite. 10. 9. Uncleanness of hands, as a Priest that hath not washed his hands, may not lift them up (to bless) but he must wash his hands, as they use to sanctify them for service, and afterwards he blesseth. Maim. treat. of Prayer, chapt. 15. sect. 1.-5. put my name] or, impose my name; which the Chaldee expoundeth, shall put the blessing of my name; and Chazkuni saith, the memorial of my name in every blessing. It seemeth to be meant of the Priests gesture, that they should lift up their hands towards the people, as did Aaron, Levite. 9. 22. for a sign that the name and blessing of God was imposed upon them; and The name of Jehovah is a strong tower: the righteous runneth into it and is safe, Prov. 18. 10. So now in Baptism, the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, is put upon us, Matth. 28. 19. and they that inhabit Jerusalem which is from above, see the face of God, and his name  $\langle\phi\rangle$  in their fore-heads, Rev. 22. 4. I will bless them] the Greek addeth, I the LORD will bless them: and Jonathan in his Thargū paraphraseth, I by my word will bless them; and Chazkuni explaineth it, that the Priests should not say, we have blessed Israel. God here annexeth a promise to this ordinance, for to strengthen the faith of Israel walking in his fear; & so the word them is to be understood both of people and Priests; as it is said, He will bless the house of Israel, he will bless the house of Aaron; he will bless them that fear Jehovah, the small with the great, Psalm. 115. 12, 13. and his blessing, it maketh rich; and he addeth no sorrow with it, Prov. 10. 22. And whereas the Priests were sometime simple, and sometime wicked men; as the sons of Eli, were sons of Belial, 1 Sam. 2. 12. lest any should despise the ordinance of God for their unworthiness, this promise is here added. And in the Hebrew Canons, they have this rule; Do not marvel and say, what availeth the blessing of this simple (priest?) For the receiving of the blessing dependeth not on the Priests, but on the holy blessed God; as it is written, They shall put my name upon the sons of Israel, and I will bless them, Numb. 6. 27. The Priests do the commandment which is commanded them; and the holy blessed God, in his mercy blesseth Israel, according to his pleasure. Maim. treat. of prayer, chap. 15. sect. 7.*

CHAP. VII.

1 When the Tabernacle was set up, anointed and sanctified, the Princes of the tribes give six wagons and twelve Oxen, for the service of the Sanctuary, which were given to the Levites of Gershon and Merari. 10. The twelve Princes offer everyone in his day, vessels of silver and gold, and cattle for sacrifices of all sorts, at the dedication of the Altar, 84. The sum and weight of all the vessels, and number of all the sacrifices which the Princes did offer. 89. God speaketh unto Moses from the Mercy-seat in the Tabernacle.

AND it was, in the day when Moses had finished the rearing up of the tabernacle, & had anointed it, & sanctified it, & all the instruments thereof; & the altar, and all the instruments thereof; and had anointed them, and sanctified them: Then offered the Princes of Israel, heads of the house of their fathers; they were the Princes of the Tribes: they were those that stood over them that were mustered. And they brought their oblation before Jehovah; six covered wagons, and twelve oxen; a wagon for two of the Princes, and an ox for one: and they brought them near, before the Tabernacle. And Jehovah said unto Moses, saying; Take it of them, that they may be to serve the service of the Tent of the Congregation: and thou shalt give them unto the Levites, to every man according to his service. And Moses took the wagons and the oxen, and gave them unto the Levites. Two wagons and four oxen, he gave unto the sons of Gershon, according to their service. And four wagons and eight oxen, he gave unto the sons of Merari, according to their service, under the hand of Ithamar, the son of Aaron the Priest. But unto the sons of Kohath he gave none, because the service of the Sanctuary was upon them, they should bear with shoulder.

And the Princes offered, for the dedication of the altar, in the day that it was anointed▪ and the Princes offered their oblation, before the altar. And Jehovah said unto Moses: One Prince for a day, one Prince for a day shall they offer their oblation, for the dedication of the altar.

And he that offered his oblation in the first day, was Naasson the son of Amminadab, of the tribe of Judah. Every silver dish weighed an hundred and thirty shekels, and every bason, seventy: all the silver of the vessels, weighed two thousand and four hundred shekels, by the shekel of the S 〈...〉 ▪ The cups of gold were twelve, full of incen 〈...〉 every cup weighed ten shekels, by the 〈...〉 the Sanctuary: all the gold of the cups, was an hundred and twenty shekels. All the [unspec] oxen for the Burnt-offering, were twelve bullocks; the rams twelve; the lambes of the first year, twelve; and their Meat-offering: and the goat-buckles of the goats, twelve, for the sin-offering.

And all the oxen for the sacrifice [unspec] of Peace-offerings, were twenty and four bullocks; the rams sixty, the he-goats sixty, the lambs of the first year, sixty: This was the Dedication of the Altar, after that it was anointed. And when Mo<sup>o</sup> [unspec] was gone in, into the Tent of the Congregation, to speak with him; then he heard the voice of him speaking unto him, from above the Covering-mercy-seat, that was upon the Ark of the Testimony, from between the two Cherubims: and he spake unto him.

Annotations.

Finished the rearing up] that is, had fully set up the Tabernacle, which was reared the first day of the first month of the second year after their coming out of Egypt, Exod. 40. 17, 18, &c. anointed it] as was commanded, Exod. 40. 9. (  $\langle\phi\rangle$  the holy oil appointed to be made, in Ex<sup>o</sup>.  $\langle\phi\rangle$  23—26, 27, 28.) the performance whereof is mentioned in Levite. 8. 10, 11. Because the Sanct<sup>o</sup> and Altar were the chiest things, and  $\langle\phi\rangle$  the oblations, Matth. 23. 17. 19. therefore the P  $\langle\ldots\rangle$  ces performed not this homage following, till they were set up and anointed.

Verse 2. Then offered] Heb. And the Princes, &c<sup>a</sup> [unspec] offered. This offering was in the second month of the second year after they were come out of Egypt, after that the Princes had been appo  $\langle\ldots\rangle$  with Moses and Aaron to number the people, Numb. 1. 1, 2, &c. and the tribes had been  $\langle\phi\rangle$  in order about the Tabernacle, Numb. 2. according to which order they here bring their offerings or the dedication of the Altar. And so the first note on Exod. 40. 2. is to be corrected, where the offerings of these Princes are said to be in the first month, which should follow after in the second <sup>a</sup> heads] that is, governors, as the Greek translateth the twelve rulers (or, princes)  $\langle\ldots\rangle$  houses: see Numb.  $\langle\phi\rangle$  . 16. stood over them that were mustered] or, that were numbered: the Greek <sup>a</sup> saith over the visitation, (or, muster;) of whom it  $\langle\phi\rangle$  said to Moses, in Numb. 1. 5. these are the  $\langle\phi\phi\rangle$  the men which shall stand with you. So at the making of the Tabernacle, the Rulers brought precious Beryl stones, and filling stones for the Ep<sup>o</sup>, &c. Exod. 35. 27. And for the building of the Temple <sup>a</sup> the Princes offered willingly, and gave for the  $\langle\ldots\rangle$  of the house of God, gold, silver, brass, &c. 1 Chron. 29. 6, 7, 8.

Verse 3. their oblation] Hebr. their Corban; in Greek, their gifts. This oblation was for the [unspec] public service of the Tabernacle, to carry it when  $\langle\phi\rangle$  removed, verse 5. Chazkuni here saith, it was to make atonement, for that they had numbered Israel, as in Numb. 31. 49, 50. Thy servants have taken the sum of the men of war, &c. and there lacketh not one man of us; we have therefore brought an oblation for the LORD, &c. to make an atonement for our souls before the LORD. covered wagons] or, coach wagons, according to the Greek version: and so the Hebrew Tsabbim is used for coaches in Isaiah. 66. 20. The Chaldee and other Hebrews expound them covered wagons. In Levite. 11. 29. Tsab is a Tortois, so called of the shell that covereth it: accordingly here they may be called wagons Tsab, of the Tortoys (or of covering) because they were like to a Tortois, covered above. Chazkuni expoundeth Tsab for Tsaba an host (or army;) by cutting off the last letter, and so they were named, wagons that went in the army for the service of the Tabernacle: to which one Greek version agreeth, translating it Dunameos. a wagon] that is, one wagon for two Princes. for one] that is, as the Greek translateth, for everyone. Thus in their gifts they were partly several, partly joined in communion, two and two, for a wagon. The Hebrews compare the number of six, with the six several blessings, in Numb. 6. 24, 25, 26. and the twelve oxen, according to the number of the twelve tribes: R. Menachem on Numb. 7. before the Tabernacle] to present them there unto God. Jonathan in his Chaldee paraphrase addeth, Moses would not receive thē of them, & they brought them near (or offered them) before the Tabernacle. And Sol. Rashi so explaineth it, because Moses received them not from their hand, till he was commanded by the mouth of God.

Verse 5. that they may be to serve] or, and let [unspec] them be to serve the service, that is, to do the work; as the Greek translateth, and they shall be for the ministerial works of the Tabernacle of Testimony.

Verse 8. four wagons, &c.] Because the service [unspec] of the Merarites was heavier than the Gersonites, as having the charge of the boards, bars, pillars, and sockets of the Tabernacle; whereas the Gersonites carried but the curtains, coverings and hangings, Numb. 4. 31. 25. therefore the Merarites had as many more wagons and oxen, as the Gersonites. in the hand] that is, under the guidance and government of Ithamar: see Num. 4. 28, 33.

Verse 9. of the Sanctuary] or, of the holy things, [unspec] Hebr. of the holiness: meaning, the Ark, Table, Candlestick, Altars, &c. see Num 4 5—15. was upon them] the Greek translateth, they have the ministerial things of the holy. with shoulder] that is, as the Greek explaineth it, they shall be are them on (their) shoulders, and no otherwise; therefore when the Ark was carried on a wagon, God was angry, and killed Uzzah, 2 Sam. 6. 3, 7. then David acknowledged that the Lord had made a breach among them, because they sought him not in due order, 1 Chron. 15. 1•.

Verse 10. the ⟨ϕ⟩ ] or, the ⟨ϕ⟩ , consecration; called in Hebrew Chanuc ⟨...⟩ , which when it is spoken of men, meaneth the C ⟨...⟩ single initiation, information and training up to any new thing which they were not accustomed to before: when of other things, as of Temples, Altars, Houses, or the like, it meaneth the first using of them, or dedication & consecration to their first use, w<sup>ch</sup> was done with solemnity; as Solomon ⟨...⟩ ted the house of God, 2 Chron. 7. 5. and kept the dedication of the Altar seven days, 2 Chro. 7. 9. and at the return out of Babylon, they kept the dedication of the house of God, with joy, and offered at the dedication thereof, 100 bullocks, 200 rams, 400 lambs, &c. Ezr. 6. 16▪ 17. So they kept the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem, with gladness, thanksgiving, singing, cymbals, psalteries, harps, &c. and with offering of sacrifices and great joy, Nehem. 12. 27—43. And David made the 30 Psalm, for the dedication of his house. And all the Israelites used to dedicate their dwelling houses, Deut. 20. 5. Likewise in the Maccabees time, they kept the dediction of the Altar eight days, with sacrifices and gladness, and ordained it to be so kept yearly, 1 Mac. 4 54, 56▪59. which ordinance was kept in Christ's time, John. 10. 22. The like observation is found also among the Heathens, who dedicated their idols with music and solemnity, Dan. 3. 2, ⟨ϕ⟩ ▪ This Dedication is named in Greek, ⟨ϕ⟩ , and the feast is called ⟨ϕ⟩ ▪ 10. 22. of new making or using, or in memory of the new making of anything. So the solemnity of the Law at Mount Sinai, in Exod. 24. was a dedication; as the Apostle saith, it was not dedicated without blood, Heb. 9. 18. and Christ is said to have dedicated for us a new and living way into the holy heavens. Heb. 10. 20. And now, that the altar might be consecrated for the oblations of all Israel at all times, the Princes of the twelve tribes dedicate the same with gifts and sacrifices of all sorts, and great solemnity twelve days; so testifying their faith and joy in Christ (whom the Altar figured) by whom they should offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, Heb. 13. 10—15. And this was a distinct thing from the former oblation, as S·l· arc·i here observeth; After they had voluntarily given the wagons and oxen to carry the Tabernacle, their heart stirred them up to offer voluntary offerings for the Altar, to dedicate it. before the Altar] to present them there unto the Lord: whereupon Rashi again saith, that Moses received it not from their hana, until he was commanded by the mouth of the Power▪ that is, of God. And here we may observe the Hebrews phrase, which call God the Pow•r; as do the Evangelists, saying, Ye shall see the So•e of man sitting on the right hand of the Power, Mat. 26. 64. and Mark 14. 62. which is explained in Luk. 22. 69. the power of God. So the Son of the Blessed▪ Mark 14. 61. that is, the Son of God, Matth. 26. 63.

Verse 11. One Prince for a day] this sentence twice written, is for more plainness & exactness, and solemnity of the action: as also to show an equal right that all the Princes and Tribes had in the Altar now to be dedicated; and how the Lord esteemed of the religious duty now to be performed, which he would have done in distinct days. Wherefore he also writeth their particular offerings at large, repeating the same things twelve times together.

Verse 12. Naasson] Hebr. Nachshon: so in Num. 1. 7. of the tribe] or, for the tribe; in which sense the oblation was not for his own person, but for the whole tribe whereof he was governor: but the Greek translath, Prince of the tribe of Indas. Here the Captains of the tribes offer everyone in his day, not according to their births, or as they are named in Num. 1. but according to the order wherein God had set them round about his Sanctuary, in Num. 2. beginning at the East quarter, proceeding to the South, then to the West, and ending at the North, (according to the course of the Sun) as may be viewed thus; of

- East.
  - 1. Judah: Naasson, verse 12.
  - 2. Issachar: Nethaneel, verse 18.
  - 3. Zebulon: Eliab, verse 24.
- South.
  - 4. Reuben: Elizur, verse 30.
  - 5. Simeon: She lumiel, verse 36.
  - 6. Gad: Eliasaph, verse 42.
- West.
  - 7. Ephraim: Elishama, verse 48.

- 9. Benjamin: Abidan, verse 60.
- North.
  - 10 Dan: Ahiczer, verse 66.
  - 11. Aser: Pagiel, verse 7•.
  - 12. Naphtali: Ahira, verse 78.

Thus God would have that order kept in their oblations, w<sup>ch</sup> he had appointed for their situations, Num. 2. and so likewise for their journeyings, Num. 10. 14—27. to show that he is not the author of confused tumult, but of peace, 1 Cor. 14. 33. And Judah in Naasson his son, was first in these oblations (as in many other things,) for to type out the honor of Christ, who was to be his son according to the flesh, Heb. 7. 14.

Verse 13. dish] or, charger, platter, in Hebrew Kag•nara; in Greek, Trublion, which word is used for a dish, in Mat. 26. 23. Such dishes were used to set the Shewbread in, on the golden Table, Exod. 25. 29. and thirty shekels] the word shekels is expressed in the Chaldee version, and rightly, as the next words manifest: the shekel spoken of in the Law weighed three hundred and twenty barley cornes, saith Maimonides in treat. of shekels, ch. 1. sect. 2. See the notes on Gen. 20. 16. bason] or, vial; called in Hebrew Miz•ak, of pouring out; in Greek Phiale, a vial; w<sup>ch</sup> word is used in Rev. l. 16. where the vials of God's wrath are poured out. Such basons or vials were used to carry the blood of the sacrifices to the Altar, where it was poured out: of them mention is made in Zach. 14. 20. the p•ts in the LORD'S house, shall be like the basons before the Altar. shekel of the Sanctuary] or, of Sanctitie, that is, the holy shekel, as the Greek translateth it; which weighed 〈...〉 rahs, Num. 3. 47. and Exod. 30. 13. 〈...〉 offering] or, Minchah: of this see Levite. 2.

Verse 14. of gold] touching this, C 〈...〉 noteth, the cup it self was of gold, and the weight o• it was by silver shekels. So Jonathan in his T•rgum saith, One cup weighing ten shekels of silver, 〈ϕ〉 〈the cup〉 was of gold. This is plain by the 〈ϕ〉 verse following: there Sol. Iarchs saith, that 〈ϕ〉 shekels of gold weighed not so much as the silver 〈...〉 kels. of incense] or, perfume, in Hebr. K 〈...〉 every meat-offering of flour as it was 〈ϕ〉 with oil, so it had frankincense (Lebonah) 〈ϕ〉 Levite. 2. 1. but the incense (Ke•oreth) was •or the golden Altar, the making whereof is descr•bed 〈ϕ〉 Exod. 30. 34. &c. Sol. Rashi here noteth, 〈ϕ〉 incense for any particular person, nor for the 〈ϕ〉 (brazen) Altar, but this only. So it was an ex•raordinary oblation for this present action.

Verse 15. bullock] in Chaldee, a 〈ϕ〉 ; in Hebrew, [unspec] Par, which is a young bull of the second or third year: see the notes on Exod. 29. 1. 〈ϕ〉 ling] Hebrew, son of the herd (or 〈ϕ〉 Exod. 29. 1. ram] which also was of the second year, as lambes were of the first: see the notes on Levite. 1. 10. his first year] Hebr. son of his year: of which phrase, see the notes on Gen. 5. 32. Exod. 12. 5. Burnt-offering] the Law and signification hereof, see in Levite. 1.

Verse 16. goat-bucke] a goat of the second year [unspec] such was the ordinary Sin-offering for a ruler; see Levite. 4. 22, 23. But this is brought for s ⟨...⟩ e ⟨◇⟩ general, not for any special sin, which L ⟨...⟩ . 4. treateth of: and so it was also extraordinary, ⟨◇⟩ Chazkuni here observeth, This (man) ⟨◇⟩ voluntary incense, whereas no particular p ⟨...⟩ eth voluntary incense: this bringeth a ⟨...⟩ which is not for sin, whereas no particular ⟨◇⟩ bringeth a sin-offering, but for sin.

Verse 17. of Peace-offerings] in Greake, of ⟨...⟩ tion; [unspec] in Chaldee, of sanctifications: see Levite. ⟨◇⟩ where the Law of this sacrifice is opened. T ⟨...⟩ sacrifices of all sorts, figuring the death of C ⟨...⟩ , and benefits to be reaped thereby, they recon ⟨...⟩ and made themselves & theirs acceptable to God, and were made partakers of his grace, to rem ⟨...⟩ of sins, justification and sanctification through faith, and by the work of the Holy Ghost; in the communion and feeling whereof they r•joyced before God.

Verse 18. Nethaneel the son of Zuar] called in Greek Nathanael the son of Sogar: see Num. 1. ⟨◇⟩ Prince] this title is given to all ⟨◇⟩ ⟨...⟩ cept Naasson of Judah, who offered first: ⟨◇⟩ Chazkuni giveth this reason, He is not ⟨...⟩ that he might not be puffed up because he ⟨...⟩ and all the other are called Princes, ••r that ⟨◇⟩ ⟨...⟩ mitted themselves and offered after ⟨◇⟩ .

Verse 19. He offered] In the Chaldee of ⟨◇⟩ than there is added, *He offered hi• ⟨...⟩ dah by the mouth of the Holy ⟨◇⟩ . Moses answered, It was said unto me by the mouth of the Almighty, that they should offer according to the order of their journeying by their standards. Therefore is it said, He offered his offering: and the word [Hikrib offered] wanteth the letter jod; that after the plain writing (by the consonant letters) it is Imperative [Hakreb, offer thou] for that by the mouth of God he was commanded to offer.

Verse 42. Deguel] in Num. 2. 14. he is called Reguel; and so the Greek here hath Elisaph the son of Rigovel: see Num. 1. 14.

Verse 48. the seventh day] the Hebrews note this to be extraordinary, that on the Sabbath day [unspec] the same course of offering was kept as on the other days without intermission. Ammihud] in Greek, Semioud: see the notes on Numb. 1. 10.

Verse 54. Gamaliel] in Hebrew, Gamliel. [unspec] Pedahzur] in Greek, Phaddasour: see Numb. 1. 10.

Verse 72. In the eleventh day] so the Greek [unspec] translatheth it, which in the Hebrew and Chaldee phrase is, In the day of eleven days. So in ver. 78. In the day of twelve days; which the Greek expoundeth, In the twelfth day. Pagiel] in Greek, Phageel the son of E•ran.

Verse 84. dedication of the Altar] The Chaldee [unspec] called sonathans, expoundeth it, the dedication of the anointing of the •ltar. Here God summeth up the offerings of the Princes, the number of vessels, and the weight of them, and the number of all their sacrifices; to show how acceptable this their service was unto him, which he so largely set down in the particulars and in the general. And as the Altar now dedicated, was a type of Christ: so the oblations of the Princes of the twelve tribes, shown the faith, hope, and love of Israel towards God in Christ; of whom the Apostle giveth this testimony; Now I stand and am judged, for the hope of the promise made of God unto our fathers: unto which promise, our twelve tribes instantly serving [God] day and night, hope to come, Acts 26. 6, 7. And they are an example unto all Princes of the earth, how they should honor the Lord with their persons and substance, and willingly offer to the maintenance of his continual public service: as is promised unto Jerusalem, They shall bring gold, and incense, and they shall show forth the praises of the Lord. All the flocks of Kedar shall be gathered together unto thee; the rams of Nebaioth shall minister unto thee: they shall come up with acceptance upon  $\langle\phi\rangle$  Altar, and I will glorify the house of my glory. And the sons of strangers shall build up thy walls, and their kings shall minister unto thee, Isaiah. 60. 6, 7, 10. And the Nations of them which are saved, shall walk in the light of it: and the kings of the earth do bring their glory and honor unto it; Rev. 21. 24. See examples of the like liberality, in Neh. 7. 70, 71, 72. Ez 2. 68, 69. 1 Chr. 29. 6, 7, 8.

Verse 85. Every] Hebr. one. 2400. shekels] The reason of this exactness of their weight severally and jointly, was for the honor of the Lord's Sanctuary, and vessels of the same, all which were holy: for which cause also at the return of the Jews out of Babylon, the vessels of the house of God, were delivered by weight, and received again at Jerusalem by weight; for they were holy, and therefore warily to be kept; and they were taken by number, and by weight of everyone: and all the weight was written at that time, Ezr. 8. 25, 27, 28, 29, 30, 33, 34.

Verse 86. an hundred and twenty] so there was just the twentieth part of the weight of all the silver vessels in these twelve golden cups. And Jonathan in his Targum maketh these 120 shekels, answerable to the 120 years of Moses life.

Verse 87. their meat-offering] the Greek version addeth, their meat-offerings, and their drink-offerings: which though they were not mentioned before, yet were to be understood by the sacrifices that were offered. For by the Law every burnt offering was to have with it a meat-offering of flower mingled with oil and wine for a drink-offering: the appointed measure of them, is to be seen in Num. 15. 3—12.

Verse 88. sixty] so all the beasts which the 12 Princes offered at this dedication, were two hundred fifty and two: of which two hundred and four were Peace offerings; whereof themselves with the Priests did eat, and so kept a feast with joy before the Lord, for his mercy towards his people. See Lev. 7. 15. 29—34.

Verse 89. to speaker with him] that is, with God: of him speaking] or, of one speaking; which the Greek translath, of the Lord speaking. And Targum Jonathan expoundeth it, of the Spirit speaking. Herein Moses excelled all other Prophets; in that the Lord spake so familiarly with him. See the notes on Num. 12. 8. the covering mercy seat] thus the promise was fulfilled, I will meet with thee there; and I will speak with thee from above the covering mercy seat, Exod. 25. 22. And hereupon the most holy Place of the Sanctuary, where the Ark and the Mercy-seat was, is called Debir, the Oracle or speaking place, 1 Kings 6. 23. And the Covering mercy seat (or Propitiatorie) being a figure of Christ, Rom. 3. 25. (as it is noted on Exod. 25. 17.) it was a Testimony of God's grace to his Church in Christ his Son, by whom he always spake unto our fathers, but more clearly unto us in these last days, Heb. 1. 2. And whereas it is said in Lev. 1. 1. the Lord spake unto Moses out of the Tabernacle; this place showeth how it is to be understood; as Sol. Rashi here saith, Two Scriptures contradict one another, the third cometh and decideth the case between them. One Scripture saith. The Lord spake unto him out of the Tabernacle which was without the veil; and another Scripture saith, I will speak unto thee from above the Mercy-seat. This cometh and decideth it between them; Moses went into the Tent, and there he heard though voice that came from above the Mercy-seat. The voice came out from heaven to between the Cherubims; & frō thence it came out into the Tent of the congrega•on. From hence also some of the Hebrews gather (as Chazkuni here noteth) that the beginning of the book of Leviticus, was when the dedication (here spoken of) was finished, and he spake unto him] the Hebrews observe how this, HEE SPAKE VNTO HIM, is doubled; to show that the voice came from heaven to the mercy-seat, and from thence spake with him: for all the speech with Moses was from heaven, in the day time, and was heard from between the two Cherubims, according to that (in Deut. 4. 36.) Out of heaven he made thee to hear his voice, &c. and thou heardest his words out of the midst of the fire. R. Menachem on Num. 7.

CHAP. VIII.

1 How the Lamps were to be lighted, and what was the workmanship of the Candlestick. 5 A commandment to cleanse the Levites, with sprinkling, shaving, and washing of clothes. 8 To offer two bullocks for a Burnt-offering and a Sin-offering to make atonement for them. 10 The Israelites were to impose hands on them. 11 And Aaron to wave them. 14 The Levites are separated to serve in the Tabernacle, instead of all the first-borne of Israel. 20 The commandment is performed concerning the Levites, and they enter upon their service. 23 The age and time when they were to begin, and when to leave off their service.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Speak unto Aaron, and say unto him: when thou makest the lamps to ascend up, the seven lamps shall give light over against the face of the Candlestick.

And Aaron did so; he made the lamps thereof to ascend up over against the face of the Candlestick, as Jehovah commanded Moses. And this work of the Candlestick was of beaten work of gold; unto the shaft thereof, unto the flour thereof, it was beaten work: according to the pattern which Jehovah had shown Moses, so he made the Candlestick. And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying, Take the Levites frō among the sons of Israel, and cleanse them. And thus shalt thou do unto them to cleanse them; Sprinkle upon them the sin water, and let them cause a razor to pass over all their flesh, and let them wash their clothes and cleanse themselves. And let them take a bullock; a youngling of the herd; and his Meat-offering, fine flower mingled with oil: and a second bullock a youngling of the herd shalt thou take for a Sin-offering. And thou shalt bring near the Levites before the tent of the Congregation; and thou shalt gather together the whole Congregation of the sons of Israel. And thou shalt bring near the [unspec] Levites, before Jehovah: and the sons ‹◊› Israel shall lay their hands upon the Levites.

And Aaron shall wave the Levites for a [unspec] wave-offering, before Jehovah, offered of the sons of Israel; that they may be to serve the service of Jehovah. And the Levites [unspec] shall lay their hands upon the head of the bullocks, and make thou the one a Sin-offering, and the other a Burnt-offering, unto Jehovah, to make atonement for the Levites.

And thou shalt set the Levites before [unspec] Aaron, and before his sons; and wave them for a wave-offering unto Jehovah.

And thou shalt separate the Levites from [unspec] among the sons of Israel, and the Levites shall be mine. And after that shall the [unspec] Levites go in to serve the Tent of the Congregation, and thou shalt cleanse them, and wave them for a wave-offering. For they [unspec] are given, are given unto me from among the sons of Israel; instead of such as open every womb, instead of the first-borne of everyone of the sons of Israel, I have taken them unto me. For every first-borne of the sons [unspec] of Israel, is mine; of man, and of beast: in the day that I smote every first-borne in the land of Egypt, I sanctified them unto me. And [unspec] I have taken the Levites, instead of every first borne of the sons of Israel. And I have [unspec] given the Levites as given to Aaron and to his sons, from among the sons of Israel, to serve the service of the sons of Israel, ‹◊› the Tent of the Congregation, and to make atonement for the sons of Israel, that there be no plague among the sons of Israel, when the sons of Israel come nigh unto the Sanctuary. Then did Moses and A•ron, [unspec] and all the Congregation of the sons of Israel to the Levites; according to all that Jehovah commanded Moses, concerning the Levites, so did the sons of Israel unto them. And the Levites purified themselves, [unspec] and washed their clothes; and Aaron waved them for a wave-offering before Jehovah: and Aaron made atonement for them to cleanse them. And after that went the [unspec] Levites in to serve their service in the Tent of the Congregation, before Aaron and before his sons: as Jehovah had commanded Moses concerning the Levites, so did they unto them.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saving, This is it, that belongeth unto the Levites, ‹◊› five and twenty years old, and upward; he shall go in to war the war-fare in the service of the Tent of the Congregation.

And from the age of fifty years, he shall return from the warfare of the service, and shall not serve anymore. But he shall minister with his brethren in the Tent of the Congregation, to keep the charge; and shall not serve the service: thus shalt thou do unto the Levites in their charges.

Annotations.

Here beginneth the 36 Lecture of the ‹ in non-Latin alphabet › Law; see the annotations on Gen. 6. 9.

Lampes to ascend] that is, to burn, as the Chaldee translath: so in Exod. 25. 37. and 27. 20. [unspec] Levite. 24. 2. The Greek interpreteth, when thou shalt set up the lamps, to wit, upon the branches of the Candlestick: howbeit in the next verse, the Greek translath, he kindled. As the Princes of the twelve tribes (in the former Chapter) offered to the dedication of the Altar; whereby the sanctified works of the body of the Church was signified: so here followeth the like, touching the Ministers, both Priests and Levites, which tribe offered nothing at the former dedication. over against the face of the Candlestick] that is, towards the middlemost of the seven branches: for this word Candlestick, sometime comprehendeth the whole, consisting of the shaft and seven branches jointly, Ex. 25. 31. sometime the middle branch w<sup>ch</sup> went rightup from the shaft, out of which the six other bowed branches proceeded, Ex. 25. 34, 35. So the meaning is, that all the lamps should be lighted on that part which was toward the midst, as looking all to it, from whence they first arose and had their light. For they used to light the middlemost lamp, from the fire on the Altar, and all the other lamps were lighted from the middle lamp, and others next them, as is noted on Ex. 27. 21. The Hebrews say, The six lamps that were fastened unto the six branches that went out of the Candlestick, all of them had their faces towards the middlemost lamp which was on the branch of the Candlestick: and this middlemost lamp, the face of it was towards the most holy place, and it is called the Western Lamp, Mai•oy in Misn. tom. 3. in Beth habchirah, chap. 3. sect. 8. Accordingly Sol. Rashi here explaineth this, Over against the face of the Candlestick, that is, the middle lamp, which is none of the branches but of the body of the Candlestick. The seven lamps shall give light; six which are upon the six branches, the three that are Eastward, having the wickes in them turned towards the middlemost; and so the three that are Westward, having the tops of the wickes towards the middlemost. This Law God briefly gave before in Exod. 25. 37.

Verse 4. And this work] or, And this was the work of the Candlestick; or of the Light vessel. The making hereof is described in Exod. 25. 31—39. and 37. 17—24. beaten work] in Greek, strong (or solid;) meaning, it was sound, not hollow, beaten with the hammer out of one piece, not of many pieces: understanding the whole Candlestick with the branches, bowles, knops, and flowers. But the Lamps were made a part, (as were the •ongs and snuff dishes.) Ex. 37. 23. and were set upon the tops of the seven branches. So Chazkuni noteth on Ex. 25. that the lamps were vessels by themselves, and might be removed from the branches. unto the shaft, &c.] that is, both the shaft and the flower (which the Chaldee calleth Lilie, and the Greek Lilies.) were of beaten work. This Sol. Rashi expoundeth thus, as if he should say, the body of the Candlestick all of it, and all that pertaineth thereto. Maimonides in Beth hab•irah (or treat of the Temple) chap. 3. describeth the manner of the Candlestick thus; that it had four bowles (or cups) and two knops, and two flowers in the branch of the Candlestick, Exod. 25. 34. and moreover a third flower was next to the shaft of the Candlestick, Num. 8. 4. And it had three feet. And three other knops were on the branch of the Candlestick, from which knops there proceedeth six branches, three on the one side, & three on the other: and in every of them branches were three bowles, and a knop, and a flower, and all made like Almonds. So there were in all, two and twenty bowles, and nine flowers, and eleven knops. And they all were requisite, so that if there wanted one of these two and forty, it hindered all the rest. The bowles were like the cups of Alexandria, wide at the mouth, and narrow at the bottom. The knops were like the apples (or heads) of leeks, somewhat long like an egg. The flowers were like the flowers of Ammudinis, which are like a dish whose lip is doubled on the outside. The height of the Candlestick was eighteen handbreadths [that is three cubits.] The feet and the flower were three hand-breadths: then two handbreadths smooth, then a hand-breadth wherein was a bowle, a knop, and a flower. Then two handbreadths smooth, & then a handbreadth knop; and out of it issued two branches, one on this side, and another on that, which went up as high as the Candlestick. Then an handbreadth smooth, and an hand-breadth knop, with two branches issuing out of it as high also as the Candlestick. Then an handbreadth smooth & an handbreadth knop, with two branches issuing from it as high as the Candlestick. Then two handbreadths smooth, so there remained three handbreadths, wherein were three bowles, a knop, and a flower. And there was a stone before the Candlestick, wherein were three steps, on which the Priest stood and trimmed the Lamps; and upon it he set down the vessel of oil, and the tongs, and the snuff-dishes, when he trimmed the Lamps. Other things touching the manner of trimming them, and the measure of oil in everyone, are noted on Exod. 27. 21. This Candlestick figured the Law of God shining in the Tabernacle of his Church, with the oil of grace, in the seven lamps which are the seven spirits of God, Rev. 4. 5. The Commandment is a Lamp, and the Law a light, Prov. 6. 23. so is the prophetic word, as a light shining in a dark place, 2 Pet. 1. 19. And as the Candlestick was of solid beaten work, and the oil of beaten olive, Levite. 24. 2. so is the preaching and practice of the Law, laborious and with much affliction, 2 Tim. 1. 8. and 2. 3. And the work of Christ, and of his Ministers, was signified by the Priests continual ordering and trimming of these Lamps; & the lighting of one Lamp from another, shown the opening and enlightening of one place of Scripture by another; and the middle Lamp lighted from the fire of the Altar, signified that the fountain of all light and knowledge cometh from Christ, who hath the seven spirits of God, Revel. 3. 1. figured by the seven lamps of fire, Rev. 4. 5. The variety of cups, knops and flowers, taught the sundry things that are in the scriptures, histories, precepts, prophesies, parables, &c. And as seven is the number of perfection: so by the seven branches and lamps, the full perfection of the Scriptures is shown, which are able to make us wise unto salvation, through the faith which is in Christ Jesus; and perfect, thoroughly furnished unto every good work, 2 Tim. 3. 15, 16, 17. This Candlestick, might also be a figure of the Church, shining as lights in the world, and holding forth the word of life, Phil. 2. 15, 16. (as the seven golden Candl-sticks, in Revel. 1. 20. were the seven Churches in Asia, in the midst of which, Christ our great high Priest walked to order their light, and to pour the oil of his grace into their lamps;) which Church is in nature one in Christ, though it hath many particular Churches, as branches out of one stock; the chief branch whereof was the Church of Israel; from whose light we all receive light, they having first received the Oracles of God. See Rom. 3. 2. and 11. 16, 17, 18, &c. 2 Pet. 1. 19. So the state of the Church by the word and Spirit of God is set forth by a vision of the Candlestick, whose lamps are filled with oil from two olive trees, Zach. 4. Rev. 11. and John the Baptist a preacher of the word of grace, is called a burning and shining lamp, John. 5, 35. the pattern] Hebr. the show or vision, appearance, that is, the pattern shown, as Exod. 25. 40. This teacheth that no other ground or form of doctrine, or of the Church, is to be brought in, than that which is shown of God, 2 Tim. 1. 13. 1 Tim. 1. 3, 4. & 3. 15. Mat. 28. 20. Eccl. 12. 11, 12.

Vers. 6. Levites] the residue of the tribe of Levi, besides the Priests, whose consecration is described in Levite. 8. unto whom the other Levites were adjoined to assist them in the service of God's Sanctuary, as was signified before, in Num. 3. 6. &c. but their consecration is shown in this chapter. from among the sons] hereupon the Levites, as in office, so in name are distinguished from the other Israelites, as are also the Priests from the Levites, 1 Chron. 9. 2. the Israelites, the Priests, the Levites, and the Nethinims. cleanse them] or purify them, after the manner following. This though it were the duty of all the people, to be clean and pure when they came to the Sanctuary, 2 Chron. 23. 19. 2 Cor. 7. 1. yet in special manner it belonged to the ministers, which did bear the vessels of the Lord, Isaiah. 52. 11. Ezr. 6. 20. so the Apostles among other graces whereby they approved themselves as the ministers of God, nameth one to be by pureness, 2 Cor. 6. 4. 6.

Verse 7. Sin-water] that is, the water of purification from sin, which was made with the ashes of an heifer, whereof the Law is after given in Nu• 19. As the sacrifice that maketh expiation for  $\langle\phi\rangle$ , is called the sin (offering;) so this purifying water is called the water of sin, which the Greek expoundeth the water of purification. And this water sprinkled on the unclean, sanctified to the purifying of the flesh: but figured the blood of Christ, which purgeth the conscience from dead work•, to serve the living God, Heb. 9. 13, 14. all their  $\langle\phi\rangle$  in Greek, all their body, that is, shave off all the•r hair; which was another sign of purification, as in the cleansing of the Leper, he shaved off all his hair, Lev. 14. 8, 9. and in the cleansing of the polluted Nazirite, Num. 6. 9. So the Levites which were in themselves as lepers, that is, sinners, are cleansed through faith in Christ. their clothes their garments; another rite used in purifying the unclean, Exod. 19. 10. Levite. 14. 9. and 15. 5. By these three rites were signified the purifying from sin of all sorts, inward and outward; from all f•thinesse of the flesh and spirit, 2 Cor. 7. 1. of the hear: and conscience, of the body, and of the conver•ation, Heb. 10. 22. Which pureness is in special required of the ministers, whom the Lord take•• for his service, as he did the Priests and Lev  $\langle\phi\rangle$ . Isaiah. 66. 21. and generally of all Christians, called also the Priests and Ministers of God, Isaiah. 61. 6. Rev. 1. 6. whose garments are washed and made white in the blood of the Lamb (Christ) that they may serve him day and night in his Temple, Rev. 7. 9, 14, 15. and cleanse] or, purify themselves, by repentance and faith in God; without which all outward rites availed nothing. Or, cleanse themselves by washing their bodies in water, as did other unclean persons, Levite. 14. 8. and 15. 5. so the Chaldee called Jonathan's, expoundeth it  $\langle\phi\rangle$  cleansing in water. The Greek translatheth,  $\langle\phi\rangle$  they shall be pure.

Vers. 8. youngling of the herd] or, young ox, of the [unspec] second year: see the notes on Exod. 29. 1. where the like was brought for the Priests. This was for a Burnt-offering, to make atonement for the Levites, verse. 12. and as Chazkuni here observe•, for the consecration of their service. The form• cleansings were to take away sin: these sacrifices after, were also to reconcile them unto God in Christ, whom all sacrifices figured, Heb. 9. 12. and 10. 5–10. his Meat-offering] speaking as of a thing known: now the ordinary Meat-offering for a bullock, was three tenth deals of fine  $\langle\phi\rangle$  mingled with oil; & for a drink-offering, half an H  $\langle\phi\rangle$  of wine, Num. 28. 12. 14. See the annotations there. And of the Meat-offering, see Lev. 2. a second  $\langle\phi\rangle$  lock] that is, another bullock, which though it is the second here named, yet was it first offered, v. 1•. Lev. 8. 14. 18. and 14. 19. And no bullock was  $\langle\phi\rangle$  fred for sin, save the sin of the high Priest, or of the congregation, Lev. 4. 3. 13. 14. 22. 23. and the Levites now taken for all the first-born of Israel, or such a sin-offering as the whole congregation shall ...

Verse 9. the whole] or, all the congregation ... because the thing concerned them all to know and to approve, the Levites being now taken ... instead of their first-borne, verse 18, 19. So all the Congregation was assembled at the Consecration of the Priests, Levite 8. 3, 4.

Verse 10. the sons of Israel] that is, some of the chief of them, (as the first borne) in the name of the rest, shall lay or impose hands on the Levites. which rite was kept at the ordination of officers both in the Old Testament and in the New, Act 6. 6. and 13. 3. Chazkuni here expoundeth it thus, The sons of Israel, that is, the first-borne which were in Israel; for the Levites gave an atonement for them: and every first-borne laid on (hands) on (the Levite) that was for him. This ordinance fitted the present business, for the Levites being taken to serve the service of the sons of Israel, & instead of every first-borne, and make atonement for them, verse 18, 19. and offered by them, verse 11. they were by this sign, to put the charge and service of the Church upon them, and to consecrate them unto God in their name. And herein they figured the Church of Christ, called the general assembly and Church of the first-borne, which are written in heaven, Heb 12. 23.

Verse 11. wave the Levites] this waving the Greek expoundeth separate; which word is used for the ministers of Christ; as Separate me Barnabas and Saul, for the work whereunto I have called them, Act 13. 2. so in Rom 1. 1. And here in verse 14. God saith, thou shalt separate the Levites. But waving is used for offering, as the sacrifices that were waved or moved to and fro; whereby the troubles and afflictions of the ministers of God were figured: see the annotations on Ex 29 24, 27. Wave-offering] in Greek, a gift. So the ministers of the Church are called gifts, Eph 4. 8. 11. to serve the service] in Greek, to work, (or do) the works of the Lord; so in verse 15. This phrase the Apostle useth, he worketh the work of the Lord, as I also do, 1 Cor 16. 10. so of the Priests and Levites, he saith, that they did work (that is, minister, or serve about) the holy things, 1 Cor 9. 13.

Verse 12. the head] that is, the heads of the bullocks, as the Greek translateth: but called head, because [unspec] it was to be done on each of them severally: so Chazkuni explaineth it, on the head of everyone of the bullocks. By this rite they testified their faith in Christ, (figured by these sacrifices) from whom they expected forgiveness of sins, & sanctification unto the work of their ministry. make thou] in Greek, thou shalt make, that is, offer to God by the hands of Aaron the Priest. to make atonement] this showeth the unworthiness of all flesh, to minister before God, until reconciliation be made for their sins by Christ So Paul showeth man's insufficiency (or unworthiness) for such things, and showeth our sufficiency to be of God, 2 Cor 2. 16. & 3. 5, 6.

Verse 13. shalt set] or, shalt present, shalt make to stand, as a sign that they were given to him and his [unspec] sons; as in verse 19.

Verse 14. shall be mine] which the Chaldee explaineth, shall be ministers before me. See the notes [unspec] on Num 16. 9.

Verse 15. to serve the Tent] in Greek, to do the the works of the Tent: this is explained in v. 19. to serve the service of the sons of Israel in the Tent. A like phrase is in Ezek. 48. 18, 19. to serve the city: and in 2 Chron. 24. 18. they served the groves. and wave them] in Greek, and give them before the Lord. This is the third time that the waving of the Levites is commanded: Sol. Rashi faith, that the first (in ver. 11.) respected the Koathites; the second (in verse. 13.) was for the Gershonites; and this third for the Merariees.

Verse 16. are given, are given] that is, as the Greek translath, they are a gift given: or, the doubling of the word meaneth, they are wholly given: and the gift confirmed, and now presently they were to be employed in God's service; see Gen. 41. 32. Giving is sometime used for confirming, as, Thou hast given thy people, 1 Chron. 17. 22. which is the same that Thou hast confirmed thy people, 2 Sam. 7. 24. So in Isaiah. 33. 16. his bread shall be given, his waters shall be sure. Chazkuni applieth it thus, Given of the sons of Israel unto God, and given of God unto Aaron: Sol Rashi referreth it to their divers works, given for the bearing (of the Tabernacle) given for the song: as in 1 Chron. 25. such as open] Hebr. the opening of every womb: whereof see Exod. 13. 2. this is explained after, to mean the first borne. unto me] or, for me: which the Chaldee expoundeth for my service.

Verse 17. the day that I smote] in Chaldee, the day that I killed: by day, comprehending the night also, as in Gen. 1. where the day consisteth of evening and morning; for properly the first borne of Egypt were smitten at midnight, Exod. 12. 29. I sanctified them] as is to be seen in Exod. 13. 2. 12, 13. The prerogative of the first borne, was from the beginning before the smiting of the Egyptians, Gen. 25. 31. and 49. 3. but upon that deliverance in Egypt, the ordinance was renewed: that they might know the heavenly birthright should be of grace, not by nature; I am. 1. 18. and obtained through faith in the blood of the Lamb Christ, Heb. 11. 28. and 12. 16, 17, 23. Rev. 14. 4, 5. So the first-borne, and the Levites taken in their stead, were figures of the Elect, whom God of his grace hath chosen out of many, unto himself.

Verse 19. as given] in Greek, a gift given to Aaron: who being a figure of Christ, these Levites (instead of the first borne) figured the Elect children given of God the Father unto Christ, John. 17. 6. 9. 11. Heb. 2. 13. to serve the service] in Greek, to do the works of the sons of Israel; that is, which the first borne of Israel should have done themselves, had not the Levites been taken for them. to make atonement for the sons of Israel] this the Levites did, not by offering sacrifices for the people's sins, (which was done by the Priests only) but by their other service in the Tent; which being performed according to the will of God, he was pleased with the people, and sent no plague upon them, either for neglect of his service, or for doing it amiss: and this the words following do confirm, that there be no plague among the sons of Israel, &c. Thus Phineas, when he had killed the whoremongers, whereupon the Plague was stayed from the Israelites, is said to have made atonement for the sons of Israel, Num. 25. 7. 8. 13. no plague] which the Chaldee expoundeth, no death. ﴿ϕ﴾ ▪ unto the Sanctuary] Hebr. unto the: Holiness; that is, the place and things of Holiness, which the Greek translath, the Holies. Unto which if they came near, and should perform the work amiss, they werein danger of death, as there be examples in Nadab and Abihu, Levite. 10. 1, 2. in Uzzah, 1 Chron. 13. 10. and the like. Chazkuni explaineth it thus; If all the first-borne should have served, there might have been a plague amongst them. For the father of a first-borne perhaps was no first-borne himself, nor his fathers father, neither were they inured with the service: so when (the son) came to serve, he should have no experience or skill therein; and doing that which was not meet, he should be plagued, as we find in Nadab and Abihu. But the Levites when they were chosen, they and their sons, and their sons sons throughout their generations, they were inured and instructed in the service to do as was meet. And therefore the Scripture saith, The Levite shall have no part nor inheritance, &c. (Deut. 18. 1.) that they might not employ themselves in any work save in the service of the Sanctuary: lest if he should learn his hands profane work, his arms and fingers should thereby become hard, and unsit to be applied to minister on the Psalterie, Harp, &c.

Verse 20. Then did Moses] Hebr. And Moses did, &c. Moses set, or presented the Levites, verse 13. Aaron waved them, verse 11. and the sons of Israel laid their hands on them, verse 10. everyone his work as God had commanded.

Verse 21. purified themselves] from sin, as the original word implieth; the outward rite whereof, was by sprinkling the sin water upon them, verse 7. waved them] the Greek saith, gave them for a gift: see verse 11. made atonement by offering their sacrifices, verse 12.

Verse 22. to serve their service] in Greek, to minister their ministry (or liturgy.)

Verse 24. from twenty five years old] Hebr. from a son of twenty five years: so in verse 25. In Num. 4. 3. it was said, from thirty years old: there he spake of their entrance upon their full administration, here, of their beginning to learn the service: see the notes on Num. 4. 3. he shall] that is, every of them shall; as the Greek translateth, they shall go in: so in verse 25. to war the warfare] in Greek, to minister the ministry (or liturgy.) Why their service is called a warfare, see Num. 4. 3 23.

Verse 25. from the age] Hebr. from a son of fifty years. he shall return] that is, every of them shall return, or cease; in Greek, shall depart from the liturgy, and shall not work anymore. Meaning of the hard labor in bearing the Sanctuary, but not of other ministration, as the next verse showeth. Maimonides (in treat. of the Implements of the Sanctuary, chap. 3. sect. 8.) saith, That which is spoken in the Law of the Levites, From fifty years old, he shall return, &c. is not meant but for the time that they carried the Sanctuary from place to place; and it is nos a commandment of force in the generations (following.) But in the ages (following) a Levite was not disallowable by years, neither by blemishes, but by voice, when his voice failed through much age, he was disabled from serving in the S <...> . And it seemeth to me, that he is not disallowable, save for singing the song, but he might be of the P•ters.

Verse 26. the charge] or, the custody, the watch [unspec] or ward; in Greek, the custodies. not <ϕ> > service] in Greek, not work the works. This the Hebrews (as Sol. •archi and Chazkuni on this place) expound to be the service of bearing (the holy things) on the shoulders; but he was to keep the charge, to encamp round about the Tent; <ϕ> to sing, and to beware that no stranger came into the <ϕ> bernacle. Hereby God taught, that his ministers should be both for years and graces, fitted •or• work wherein they are employed; and no long• continued therein, than they have ability to perform their duty, but employed in more easy service.

CHAP. IX.

1 The Passover is commanded again to be kept in the first month, 5 and so it was. 6 Upon occasion of some that were unclean, and could not keep it, a second Passover is allowed in the second month, for them that were before unclean or <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math>, 13 but not for others. 15 The cloud that covered Tabernacle, guideth the removings and incamp <math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> the Israelites.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses in the Wilderness of Sinai, in the second year after they were gone out from the land of Egypt, in the first month, saving;

And let the sons of Israel do the Passover in his appointed season. In the fourteenth day in this month, between the <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> Evenings, ye shall do it in his appointed season: according to all the statutes of it, and according to all the judgments of it <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> shall do it. And Moses spake unto the sons of Israel to do the Passover. And they did the Passover in the first month, in the fourteenth day of the month, between the two evenings, in the Wilderness of Sinai: according to all that Jehovah commanded Moses, so did the sons of Israel.

And there were men who were unclean by the soul of a man, that they could not <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> the Passover in that day: and they came near before Moses, and before Aaron <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> that day. And those men said unto him: We are unclean by the soul of a man, wherefore are we kept back, that we <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> not offer the oblation of Jehovah in his appointed season, among the sons of Israel.

And Moses said unto them, Stand still and I will hear what Jehovah will command concerning you.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Speak unto the sons of Israel, saying; Any man when he shall be unclean by a soul, or be in a journey a far off of you, or of your generations; yet he shall do the Passover unto Jehovah. In the second month, in the fourteenth day, between the two evenings, they shall do it: with unleavened cakes and bitter herbs shall they eat it. They shall not let ought remain of it until the morning; and they shall not break a bone thereof: according to every statute of the Passover they shall do it. But the man that is clean, and is not in a journey, and forbearth to do the Passover; even that soul shall be cut off from his people's: because he offered not the oblation of Jehovah in his appointed season, that man shall bear his sin. And if a stranger shall so journey with you, and will do the Passover unto Jehovah, according to the statute of the Passover, and according to the judgment thereof, so shall he do: ye shall have one statute, both for the stranger, and for the home-borne of the land.

And in the day, that the Tabernacle was reared up, the cloud covered the Tabernacle, even the Tent of the Testimony: and in the evening there was upon the Tabernacle, as the appearance of fire, until the morning. So it was continually, the cloud covered it: and the appearance of fire by night. And when the cloud was taken up from off the Tent; then after that, the sons of Israel journeyed: and in the place where the cloud abode, there encamped the sons of Israel.

At the mouth of Jehovah the sons of Israel journeyed; and at the mouth of Jehovah they encamped: all the days that the cloud abode upon the Tabernacle, they encamped.

And when the cloud tarried long upon the Tabernacle, many days; then the sons of Israel kept the charge of Jehovah, and journeyed not. And it was when the cloud was a few days upon the Tabernacle, according to the mouth of Jehovah they encamped; and according to the mouth of Jehovah they journeyed. And it was when the cloud was from evening until morning, and the cloud was taken up in the morning, then they journeyed, either by day or by night, when the cloud was taken up, then they journeyed. Or two days or a month, or a year of days, when the cloud tarried long upon the Tabernacle, abiding upon it; the sons of Israel encamped and journeyed not: but when it was taken up they journeyed. At the mouth of Jehovah they encamped; and at the mouth of Jehovah they journeyed; they kept the charge of Jehovah, at the mouth of Jehovah, by the hand of Moses.

Annotations.

IN the first month] This Commandment to keep the Passover, was in time before the numbering and ordering of the tribes, mentioned in the former part of this book: for that was commanded in the first day of the second month, Num. 1. 1, 2. Whereupon the Hebrews (as Sol. Rashi here) do observe, that there is no order of former and latter in the Law; but things done after, are sometimes set before. The reason why it is mentioned here, is because of the second Passover kept the 14 day of the second month, verse 11. which was after the foresaid master, after the dedication of the Altar, & ordination of the Levites. And the cause why God commanded them to keep the Passover in the Wilderness, was for that by the first institution they were bound to keep it, when they were come into the land of Canaan, Exod. 12. 25. and therefore without special warrant, they would not have kept it in the desert: neither kept they any more but this, till they came into the land Jos. 5.

Verse 3. doe the Passover] that is, keep, offer, or sacrifice the Passover, called in Hebrew Pesach, in Greek Pascha; so named because the Lord when he smote all the first-borne in the houses of the Egyptians, passed over the houses of the Israelites (whose door-posts were sprinkled with the lambs blood) and slew not their first-borne. Hereupon the Lord appointed a yearly feast in remembrance thereof, which should continue till Christ came, who is our Passover (or Paschal Lamb) sacrificed for us, in whom we keep the feast in spirit and truth, 1 Cor. 5. 7, 8. See the annotations on Exod. 12. in his appointed season] every fourteenth day of the first month, as verse 3. which the Greek here calleth the hour thereof; and in verse 3. the season thereof; and the Hebrews explain it, though it be on the Sabbath. So all the feasts in Israel were to be kept at the times appointed of God, Levite. 23. 4 &c. Therefore Jeroboam keeping the feast of Tabernacles in the eighth month, which God had appointed in the seventh, Levite. 23. 34. it is said to be the month which he had devised of his own heart, 1 Kings 12. 32. 33.

Verse 3. between the two evenings] that is, in the afternoon; Sol. Rashi (on Exod. 12.) saith, from the sixth hour (which is at mid-day) and upward, it is called between the two evenings, for that the Sun declineth towards his going down, &c. between the evening of the day, and the evening of the night: the evening of the day is in the beginning of the seventh hour, and the evening of the night, is when the night beginneth. See the notes on Exod. 12. 6. where the hours of killing the Passover are observed. It figured the time of Christ's coming, in these last days, Heb. <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> . 1, 2. as towards the evening of the world, and the hour of his death, which was the ninth hour, that is, three a clock in the afternoon, Matth. 27. 46-50. all the statutes] that is, all the rites and ordinances prescribed, which the Greek translatheth the Law thereof: So in Exod. 12. 43. where it is shown who were to eat the Passover. the judgments] this the Hebrews refer to the unleavened cakes which were to be eaten with it, and seven days after; also to the putting away of Leaven, &c. Exod. 12. 8. 15, &c. But here are to be accepted the special rites which belonged only to the first Passover in Egypt, as the sprinkling of their posts with blood, the eating of it standing, &c. of which see the annotations on Exod. 12. 6, 7, 11.

Verse 4. to do] that is, to keep (or offer) the Passover, as verse 2. This was for the sanctification of the whole Church in their persons; as the Priests and Levites were before sanctified to their ministries.

Verse 6. by the soul] the soul is here put for the body; and that dead, as often other-where; see Levite. 19. 28. and Num. 5. 2. sometime the Scripture explaineth it, calling it a dead soul, Num. 6. 6. The Chaldee, Greek, and Latin, keep the Hebrew phrase. They that were unclean by the dead, were unclean seven days, Num. 19. 11. and such might not come into the Lord's Sanctuary, Num. 5. 2. nor eat of the holy things, Levite. 7. 20. Hereupon they came to Moses and Aaron, to inquire what they should do: for unto them the Law touching the unclean was commanded, Lev. 11. 1.

Verse 7. wherefore are we kept back] the Greek explaineth it, shall we be kept back (or deprived?) A religious demand how they could perform their duty unto God, being in their legal pollution. the oblation of Jehovah] the Passover is so called, as being commanded by the Lord, and kept unto his honor; and it is called a sacrifice, Exod. 12. 27. The Greek translatheth it, a gift unto the Lord. So Corban, an Oblation, is by the Holy Ghost interpreted, a gift, Mar. 7. 11.

Verse 8. Stand still] or, Stay: which the Chaldee explaineth, Tarry till I hear. A religious answer, signifying that he might do nothing without word from the Lord: so Christ spake not, neither did anything of himself; but spake things as his father taught him, John. 7. 16, 17. and 8. 28. From this, and other the like examples of Moses, Jonathan in his Chaldee paraphrase on this place, saith, That the Judges of the Sanhedrin (or courts) should not be ashamed to ask concerning the judgment which is to hard for them; for Moses who was the Master of Israel, had need to say, I have not heard.

Verse 10. Any man] Hebr. Man man; that is, whosoever; and by man understand the woman also. Jonathan expoundeth it, young man or old man. when he shall] or, though he be unclean. by a soul] the Greek and Chaldee add the soul of a man, meaning a dead man, as verse 6. and so Jonathan explaineth it, by pollution of a man which is dead. This one kind of uncleanness, seemeth to be named for all other that continued any number of days, so the Hebrews understand it. Who is the unclean that is put off to the second Passover▪ Who-soever may not eat the Passover in the fifteenth night of (the first month) Nisan, because of his uncleanness: as men or women that have running issues (Levite. 15.) the menstruous and women in childbed, and men that lie with the menstruous. But who so searcheth a dead beast, or creeping thing, or the like, in the fourteenth day; he is to wash, and they kill (the Passover) for him after he is washed; and in the evening when his sun is set, he eateth the Passover. [The reason hereof is, that such uncleanness by the Law, continued but till the evening; so that having washed himself, he was clean at even, and might eat, Levite. 11. 24, 25.] He that is unclean by a dead man, and his seventh day [which is the day of his cleansing, Num. 19. 11, 12.] beginneth to be on the fourteenth day (of the first month;) though he wash and be sprinkled (with the purifying water, Num. 19. 19.) so that he is fit to eat the holy things at evening; yet they kill not (the Passover) for him, but he is put off to the second Passover, Num. 9. 6—11. we have been taught by tradition that it was their seventh day (who then came unto Moses and Aaron:) and hereupon they asked if (the Passover) should be killed for them, and they should eat at evening; and it was told them that they should not kill for them. But hereby is meant, when he is defiled with such uncleanness, as a Nazirite is to shave him-self for it (Num. 6. 9.) for if he be defiled with other uncleanness by the dead, such as the Nazarite shav 〈...〉 not himself for; then they kill for him in his seventh 〈...〉 day, after that he is washed and sprinkled, and when his Sun is set, he eateth the Passover. They 〈ϕ〉 for the menstruous in her seventh day, because 〈ϖ〉 not washed till the eighth night, and so she is not fit 〈ϕ〉 eat the holy things, until the ninth night. Who so searcheth in a well to find a dead body, they kill not (the Passover) for him, lest he find the dead there in the well, and so be unclean at the killing time. If they have killed for him, and he find not the dead there, then he may eat it at evening, &c. Mai 〈...〉 my in Corban Pesach, chap. 6. sect. 1 &c. a journey] or, a way far off. The Hebrew of this word far off, hath extraordinary pricks over it, for special consideration. Hereby the Lord might signify that we Gentiles which were unclean, even dead in trespasses and sins, and far off, Ephes. 2. 1. 13. should be made nigh by the blood of Christ, and 〈ϕ〉 partakers of him the second Passover, who now 〈ϕ〉 sacrificed for us, 1 Cor. 5. 7. But touching this legal ordinance, the Hebrews say, What is this j 〈...〉 far off? Fifteene miles without the walls of Jerusalem, [and so by proportion fifteen miles from the campe of Israel.] Who so is 〈ϖ〉 Jerusalem, on the 14 day (of the first month) when the Sun riseth, 15 miles or more; loe this is a journey far off: if less than this, he is not in a journey far off, for he may be come to Jerusalem by after mid-day, though he go on foot easily, Maim. in Corban Pesach, ch. 5. s. 8, 9. your generations] that is, your posterity hereafter: so this was not a temporary Law, but perpetual.

Verse 11. In the second month] of this second Passover the Hebrews say; It is a commandment by it self, and therefore to be done even on the Sabbath: for the second is no recompense for the first, but is a feast by it self; therefore they are guilty of cutting off for the breach of it. Maim. in Corban Pesach, chap. 5. sect. 1. between the two evenings] in Greek, towards evening; see v. 3. unleavened cakes] which figured sincerity and truth, 1 Cor. 5. 8. See the annotations on Exod. 12. 8. Sol. Rashi here faith, There is no prohibition of Leaven, save with it when it is eaten. But he might have leavened bread with him in the house. Otherwise than at the first Passover, Exod. 12. 15. 19. which therefore needeth further inquiry. bitter herbs] Hebrew, bitternesses: the Latin version counted Jerome's, expoundeth it wild lettices; which are sad to be bitter in taste: Dioscorid. lib. 2. chap. 166. though it is not to be restrained to that herb only; see the annotations on Exod. 12. 8. So the Greek translatheth it Picridoon, which are herbs of bitter taste, as wild cichorie and endive. These were to the Jews a remembrance of their bitter life in Egypt, Exod. 1. 14. and so a figure of the bitterness of Christ's afflictions, whereof we that believe, are made partakers by the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death, Phil. 3. 10.

Ver• 12. till the morning] if any were left till then, it was to be burnt; see Exod. 12. 10. with the annotations. not break a bone] this was fulfilled in Christ himself, as John. 19. 33. 36. See Exod. 12. 46. The Hebrew Doctors say, that for breaking above a man was to be beaten. But he is not guilty save for breaking a bone, whereupon some flesh is, or wherein is some marrow. For breaking any other bone  $\langle \phi \rangle$  is not guilty. But if there be any flesh upon it, though he break the bone in any other place than where he flesh is, he is guilty; although that place of the  $\langle \phi \rangle$  where he breaketh it be bare without flesh. Also•e that breaketh it after another hath broken it, is  $\langle \phi \rangle$  be beaten. What do  $\langle \dots \rangle$  fereth (say they) the second Passover from the first• At the first there is a prohibition that no leaven  $\langle \dots \rangle$   $\langle \phi \rangle$   $\langle \dots \rangle$  ene or found (in their houses,) neither may it be  $\langle \phi \rangle$  with leaven (in them:) neither may they  $\langle \phi \phi \rangle$  of it out of the company: and they must use the Pr•se (or hymn) in the  $\langle \dots \rangle$  ng of it: and do bring  $\langle \phi \rangle$  it the Ch  $\langle \dots \rangle$  ah (or Fast-offering spoken of in Deut. 1  $\langle \phi \rangle$  .) And it may be kept in un  $\langle \dots \rangle$   $\langle \phi \rangle$  most part of the Church be unclean by the dead. But the second Passover, may have leavened and unleavened bread with it in the house: and they are not bound to use the hymn in the eating of it: and they may carry it out of the house where it is eaten: neither bring they the Chagigah with it: neither may it be kept in uncleanness. But both of them put away the Sabbath (that is, are to be kept even on the Sabbath day,) and the praise (or Hymn) is to be used in the doing of them, and they must be eaten roasted in one house, with unleavened cakes and bitter herbs: and they must not leave ought of them (till the morning) nor break a bone of them. And why is not the second (Passover) equal to the first in all things seeing it is said (in Num. 9. 12.) according to every statute of the Passover they shall do it. Because there are expressed in it some of the statutes of the Passover: to teach that it is not equal to the first, save in the things that are expressed concerning it: & they are the cōmandemen•s concerning the body (or substance) of it: & they are the statutes of the Passover. For this is a general rule, that their dispersion in Egypt, their taking of the Paschal lamb on the tenth day, and the charge to strike the blood with a bunch of hyssop on the upper door-post, & on the two side-posts, and to eat it in•aste: they were not things to be observed in the generations following, but in the Passover of Egypt on•l. Maim. in Corban Pesach, ch. 10. s. 15. Touching the eating of the Passover by the unclean (fore•entioned,) thus they say of it, & of other the lik•: All the offerings of the Congregation, their time is set, (Lev. 23.) therefore they all do put away the Sa•bath and uncleanness by the dead. And every oblati•n of them which is offered in uncleanness, is not eaten: but they burn on the altar such things thereof as are to be burned thereon; & the residue which sho  $\langle \dots \rangle$  d be eaten, are burnt as other holy things that are de  $\langle \dots \rangle$  ed, (Levite. 7. 19.) How doth it put away unclean  $\langle \dots \rangle$  nness? If the time of that oblation be come, and the most part of the Church that offer it be unclean by the dead: or if the Church be clean, & the Priests that should offer it be unclean by the dead: or, if the people and Priests be clean, and the ministering vessels be un•l•ane by the dead: loe then it is performed in uncleanness; & the unclean and the clean are employed there ⟨...⟩ together, and come all of them into the court (of the Sanctuary.) But they that are unclean by other unclean things, as by running issues, &c. or by creeping things, or dead beasts, & the like; they are not employed thereabout, neither come they into the court; although it be performed in uncleanness. And if they transgress & do it, or come into the court, they are guilty of cutting off for coming in; and of death for serving: for nothing is put off but unclean things by the dead (man) only, &c. Uncleanness by a dead man, is put away concerning the Congregation as it is written in Num. 9. 6. And there were men who were unclean by the soul of a man: we have been taught by word of mouth that they are particular men which are put off to the second Passover, if they are unclean. But if the congregation be unclean by a dead man, they are not put away, but the uncleanness is put away, & they do the Passover with uncleanness. And the same law is for every oblation, which hath a time appointed therefore with the Passover, that it putteth away uncleanness. And loe the thing is expressed in the Scriptures, for it is said (in 2 Chrō. 30. 17.) For there were many in the Church that were not sanctified; therefore the Levites (had the charge) of the killing of the Passovers, for everyone that was not clean, to sanctify (them) unto the LORD. For a multitude of the people, many of Ephraim and Manasseh, Issachar, and Zebulon, had not cleansed themselves. And what is that which is said (in 1 Chron. 30. 18.) yet they did eat the Passover otherwise than it was written? Because they made an intercalation of that year (that is, added a month) because of uncleanness, as it is said (in 2 Chron. 30. 2.) And the King consulted, and his Princes, and all the congregation in Jerusalem, to keep the Passover in the second month; for they could not keep it at that time, because the Priests had not sanctified themselves sufficiently. And else-where I have shown that they are to make no intercalation of the year at all, because of uncleanness. There was also another thing in that year, that King Hezekiah made intercalation of the year, in the 30. day of Adar (or February) which should have been the beginning of the month Nisan for March) and he made that month Adar the second: but the wise men agreed not unto him, for they are to make no intercalation in that day, as I have shown in the treatise of sanctifying the New Moon. And for these things which he did, not according to the custom, it is said, they did eat the passover otherwise than it is written. And he besought mercy for himselfe and for the wise men that consented to his doings, as it is said (in 2 Chron. 30. 18, 19.) The god LORD pardon everyone, that prepareth his heart, &c. and it is said (invers. 20.) and the LORD hearkened to Hezekiah, and healed the people, that their offering was acceptable, Maim. in Biath hammikdash, . 4. sect. 10. &c. The same man, in Corban Pesach, ch. 7. writeth thus: Many that are unclean by the dead at the first Passover, if they be the lesser part of the Church, they are put off to the second Passover, as other unclean persons: but if the most of the Church be unclean by the dead; or if the Priests, or the ministering vessels be unclean by pollution of the dead, they are not put off, but do all of them offer the Passover in uncleanness, the unclean with the clean. As it is said, And there were men that were unclean, &c. Num. 9. 6. particular persons are put off, and not the congregation; and this thing is for uncleanness by a dead (man) only. If the Church be half of them clean, and half unclean by the dead, they all keep it the first (month) and the clean keep it by themselves in cleanness, and the unclean keep it by themselves in uncleanness, and do eat it in uncleanness. And if they that be unclean by the dead, be more than the clean, though but one, they all keep it in uncleanness, &c. If the most part of the Church have running issues, lepers, &c. and the lesser part be defiled by the dead those that are unclean by the dead, keep it not in the first (month) because they are the lesser part; neith 〈...〉 keep they the second (Passover,) for no Partic•lar persons •eepe the second, save in the time when he most of the Church have kept the first. The Hebrews understand it of death by the hand of God, when the sin is secret and unpunishable by man: see the notes on Gen. 17. 14. And it may be meant of soul or body, or both. Cutting off, is sometimes of the soul, and sometimes of the body. Of the body, when he dieth in the midst of his days; as if he die at fifty years of age, that is death by cutting off, &c. R. Menachem on Gen. 17. The same man there further showeth, that the state of a man may be such, that though he be cut off in his body from this life, yet he goeth not down to Gehenna (or Hell) but hath his portion in the garden of Eden (or kingdom of Heaven:) but there is some man guilty of cutting off, whose iniquities are so many, that he is cut off from the lite of the garden of Eden; of whom it is written, that soul shall he cut off from my presence, Levite. 22. 3. and, I will even destroy that soul, Levite. 23: 30: and these wicked ones are not cut off in their body, but wax old in this world, as it is said, There is a wicked man that prolongeth (his life) in his wickedness, Eccles. 7. 15. from his people's] in Greek, from his people: by people's meaning the tribes of Israel, called the people's of Israel, in Act. 4. 27. So Moses elsewhere explaineth it, saying, he shall be cut off from Israel, Exod. 12. 15. Num. 19. 13. and, from the congregati•n, Num. 19. 20. and, from the congregation of Israel, Exod. 12. 19. and, from among his people, Lev. 17. 4. 10. and 20. 3. 6. and 23. 30. bear his sin] that is, the punishment due for his sin: so in Lev. 22. 9. Num. 18. 32.

Verse 14. sojourn with you] this the Greek [unspec] explaineth, if a proselyte come unto y•u in your la•d. Of strangers to be admitted to the Passover, see in the annotations on Exod. 12. 48, 49.

Vers. 15. was reared up] or, that he (Moses) reared up the Tabernacle; which was the first day of the first month, in the second year, after they were come out of Egypt, Exod. 40. 1. 17. the cloud] a sign of God's favor and presence, possessing and protecting the Tabernacle, and dwelling amongst h•s people in Christ: see Exod. 33. 10, 11. and 40. 34. and the annotations there. Also Num. 14. 14. Ez•k. 10. 3, 4. even the Tent of the Testimony] or, Ⓞ the Tent, which the Greek translath, and the house of the Testimony; meaning the most holy place, in which was the Ark with the Tables of the Testimony (or Law) in it; over which place the cloud specially was to cover the same. The Hebrew word which usually signifieth to, or f•r, is by the Greek translated and, as here, so in Lev. 16. 21. and Exo. 17. 10. sometime it serveth but to signify the thing covered, as in Isaiah. 11. 9. and so in this place. Sol. Rashi expoundeth it thus; the Tabernacle which was made to be a Tent for the Tables of the Testimony. as the appearance] or, the very appearance of fire: in Exod. 40. 38. it is said, and fire was on it by night. The same cloud, was darkness by day, and fire by night, as in Exod. 14. 20. 24. both signified God's presence and defense of his Tabernacle; as it is said, The LORD will create upon every dwelling place of mount Zion, and upon her assemblies, a cloud and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fire by night: for upon all the glory shall be a defense, Isaiah. 4. 5. And in Psal. 105. 39. He spread a cloud, for a covering; and fire, to give light in th• night. So Christ, by the Scriptures of the holy Prophets and Apostles (which are a cloud of witnesses, Heb. 12. 1.) and by his Spirit, is a shadow in the day time from the heat, and for a place of refuge, Isaiah. 4. 6. as it is written, Thou (Lord) hast been a refuge from the storm, a shadow from the heat, Isaiah. 5. 4. and the Prophetical word, is a light that shineth in a dark place, 2 Pet. 1. 19. See the annotations on Exod. 13. 21.

Vers. 16. cloud covered it] to wit, by day, as is expressed in Exod. 40. •8. and to be understood here, therefore the Greek version also addeth by day; and so doth the Chaldee called Jonathan's. The continuance of this sign (notwithstanding the people's unworthiness) is remembered by Nehemiah thus; Yet thou in thy manifold mercies, forsookst them not in the wilderness: the pillar of the cloud departed not from them by day to lead them in the way; neither the pillar of fire by night, to show them light, and the way wherein they should ⟨ϕ⟩ Nehem. 9. 19.

Vers. 17. was taken up from off the Te•t] or, from upon (or over) the Tent; which the Greek translath, went up from the Tent. journeyed] or, removed, set forward. encamped] or pitched, rested. Thus God in Christ, was the cause and beginning of all rest and motion, and the director of his Church, in the way that they should go. Therefore Moses sanctified both their journeyings and their restings by prayer unto God, Num. 10. 35 36. According to this ancient sign, Christ is said to come with clouds, Dan. 7. 13. Rev. 1. 7. and appeareth clothed with a cloud, and his feet as pillars of fire, Rev. 10. 1. for the salvation of his people, and destruction of their enemies. The same grace is set forth by the similitude of a sheep•erd, leading his flock in and out, whom they follow, Psal 8•. 1. 2. John. 10 9. Under whose conduct they feed in the ⟨ϕ⟩, and their pastures are in all high ⟨ϕ⟩; they ⟨ϕ⟩ not, nor ⟨ϕ⟩, neither doth the he ⟨...⟩ ⟨ϕ⟩ s ⟨...⟩ them; for he that hath mercy on ⟨ϕ⟩ them, &c. Isaiah. 40. 9, 10. Rev. 7. 16. Wherefore the Church desireth to be told, where he s•d•th his flock, and where he maketh them to rest at noon, Song 1. 7. And that which the Church saith of Christ, His l•ft hand ⟨ϕ⟩ under min• head, and his right hand doth embrac• me, •ong ⟨ϕ⟩ the Chaldee paraphrast (on that place) applieth to this cloud and the effects thereof.

Verse 18. At the mouth] that is, as the Greek translath it, By the commandment; or, as the Chaldee saith, At the word of the Lord: for this sign from heaven, the removing and resting of the cloud, was to them as the mouth or word of God. For God speaketh by his signs, which are therefore called, the words of his signs, Psal. 105. 27. And it signified, that whatsoever we do, in word or deed, we should do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, Coloss. 3. 17.

Vers. 19. tarried long] or, prolonged the time: here the spaces of time, shorter or longer, between the journeyings of the people, are also shown to be by the Lord's cloud: that so, not only the works, but the times and seasons might appear to be in God's hand & power, Act. 1. 7. kept the charge] or, the watch: Hebr. observed the observation: of which phrase see Levite. 8. 35. The Chaldee here translath the charge (or observation) of the word of the LORD. They kept watch and ward night and day, to see when the cloud should arise; or, they kept the charge (in the mean while) of serving the Lord, whiles the Sanctuary was erected. So after, in v. 23.

Vers. 20. a few days] Hebr. days of number: that is, days easily numbered, meaning a few: see this phrase in Gen. 34. 30.

Vers. 22. a year of days] that is, a whole year: see the notes on Lev. 25. 29. and Gen. 4. 3.

Vers. 23. the mouth] that is, as the Chaldee saith, the word; in Greek the commandment: and that the Lord signified his will sometimes by word, and not by sign only of the clouds removing, appeareth by Deut. 1. 6, 7. and 2. 3, 4. by the hand] that is, by the ministry of Moses, who both governed the people under God, and used prayer at their journeying and encamping, Num. 10. 35, 36. Compare Psal. 77. 21. Isaiah. 63. 12.

CHAP. X.

1 The Lord commandeth to make two silver trumpets, and to use them for calling of the assembly, and for the journeying of the camps, and when they went to war, and when they offered sacrifice in their solemnities. 11 The cloud rising, the Israelites remove from Sinai to Paran. 14 The order of their march. 29 Hobab is entreated by Moses not to leave them. 33 The prayer of Moses, at the removing and resting of the Ark.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Make unto thee, two trumpets of silver; of beaten work shalt thou make them: and they shall be unto thee, for the calling of the assembly, and for the journeying of the camps. And they shall blow with them; and all the assembly shall assemble themselves unto thee, at the door of the Tent of the congregation. And if they blow with one, then the Princes, the heads of the thousands of Israel, shall assemble themselves unto thee. And (if) ye blow an alarm, then the camps, that encamp on the East-side, shall take their journey. And if ye blow an alarm the second time, then the camps, that encamp on the South-side, shall take their journey: they shall blow an alarm for their journeys. And when ye [unspec] gather together the Congregation, ye shall blow, and shall not sound an alarm. And [unspec] the sons of Aaron the Priests, shall blow with the trumpets; and they shall be unto you, for a statute for ever, throughout your generations. And if ye go to war in your land, against the distresser that distresseth you; then ye shall sound an alarm with the trumpets, and ye shall be remembered before Jehovah your God, and ye shall be saved from your enemies. And in the day of your gladness, and in your solemn feasts, and in the beginnings of your months, then ye shall blow with the trumpets, over your Burnt-offerings, and over the sacrifices of your Peace-offerings: and they shall be unto you for a memorial before your God; I, am Jehovah your God.

And it was in the second year, in the second month, in the twentieth day of the month, the cloud was taken up from off the Tabernacle of the Testimony. And the sons of Israel journeyed, by their journeys, out of the wilderness of Sinai; and the cloud rested in the wilderness of Pharan. And they journeyed, at the first, at the mouth of Jehovah, by the hand of Moses. And the standard of the campe of the sons of Judah, journeyed in the first (place,) according to their armies: and over his army, was Naasson the son of Amminadab. And over the army of the tribe of the sons of Issachar, was Nethaneel, the son of Zuar. And over the army of the tribe of the sons of Zebulun, was Eliab, the son of Helon. And the Tabernacle was taken down: and the sons of Gershon, and the sons of Merari journeyed, bearing the Tabernacle. And the standard of the campe of Reuben journeyed, according to their armies: and over his army, was Elizur, the son of Shedeur. And over [unspec] the army of the tribe of the sons of Simeon, was Shelumiel, the son of Zurishaddai. And over the army of the tribe of the sons of Gad, was Eliasaph, the son of Deguel. And the Kohathites journeyed, bearing the Sanctuary: and they set up the Tabernacle against they came. And the standard of the camp of the sons of Ephraim journeyed, according to their armies: and over his army, was Elishama, the son of Ammihud. And over the army of the tribe of the sons of Manasseh, was Gamaliel, the son of Pedahzur. And over the army of the tribe of the sons of Benjamin, was Abidan, the son of Gideon. And the standard of the campe of the sons of Dan journeyed; the rereward of all the camps throughout their armies: and over his army, was Ahiezer, the son of Ammishaddai. And over the army of the tribe of the sons of Aser, was Pagiel, the son of Ocran. And over the army of the tribe of the sons of Naphtali, was Ahira, the son of Enan. These were the journeyings of the sons of Israel, according to their armies, when they journeyed.

And Moses said unto Hobab the son of Reguel the Midianite, the father in law of Moses; We are journeying unto the place, of which Jehovah said, I will give it unto you; go thou with us, and we will do thee good, for Jehovah hath spoken good concerning Israel. And he said unto him, I will not go: but unto my land, and unto my kindred, I will go. And he said, Leave us not I pray thee; forasmuch as thou knowest our encamping in the wilderness; and thou mayest be to us for eyes. And it shall be, if thou wilt go with us; yea it shall be, that that good, wherewith Jehovah shall do good unto us, we also will do good unto thee. And they journeyed from the mountain of Jehovah, three days journey: and the Ark of the covenant of Jehovah journeyed before them, the three days journey, to search out for them a rest. And the cloud of Jehovah was over them by day, when they journeyed out of the campe.

And it was, when the Ark journeyed, that Moses said; Rise up, Jehovah, and let thine enemies be scattered; and let them that hate thee, flee from thy face. And when it rested, he said; Return Jehovah, (unto) the ten thousands thousands of Israel.

Annotations.

MAke unto thee] After the constitution and order of the Church about the Lord's San <...> ie, and for their journeying towards Canaan; here followeth the appointment of such public instruments as were requisite for the congregation, both when they journeyed and when they rested, when they went to war, or were in distress, and when they were in peace. two trumpets] a trumpet (called Chatsotsrah) was of metal, a Cornet (called Shophar, whereof see Levite. 23. 24.) was of horn; both these were used after in Israel, 2 Chron. 15. 14. Psalm. 98. 6. Here at first were but two trumpets, as Aaron had but two sons Priests, Eleazar and Ithamar: after as the Priests and business were increased, so were the number of trumpets, that in Solomon's time there were 120. Priests sounding with trumpets, 2 Chron. 5. 12. From which places compared, the Hebrew canons show, that there never might be in the Sanctuary at God's public worship there, fewer than two trumpets, nor moe than 120. Maimonides in Cle hammikdash, ch. 3. sect. 4. of silver] which was the purest metal, and fittest for sound; fit also for signification, for the word of God, and lively graces of his spirit, were figured by these trumpets, as Isaiah. 58. 1. and 27. 13. Ezek. 33. 3. Rev. 4. 1. 1 Cor. 14. 8. So the Hebrews say, the trumpets were to be made of silver; if of any other kind of metal, they were unlawful, Maim. in Cle hammikdash, ch. 3. sect. 5. The tongue of the just, is as choice silver, Prov. 10. 20. and, the words of the LORD, are pure words, as silver tried, &c. Psalm. 12. 7. beaten work] wrought with the hammer, beaten into a plate, of one whole piece: so the golden Candlestick was, Exod. 25. 31. It signified the labor of the ministers of God, giving themselves continually to prayer, and to the ministry of the word, Act. 6. 4. that the trumpets may give a clear and certain sound, for and unto the people. for the calling] for to call together the congregation. This was the first of the four special uses of these trumpets, when the people rested, to assemble them unto the Lord in his Sanctuary, for to hear his word, to pray, and to doehim worship. As, Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctify a fast, call a solemn assembly, Gather the people, sanctify the congregation, &c. Joel 2. 15, 16. and, Blow the trumpet in the new moon, &c. Psalms. 81. 4. It signified that all the meetings of the Church should be sanctified by the word of God and prayer. for the journeying] to cause the camps, (that is, the people in their camps or tents) to take their journeys. This was the second use of the trumpets, to sanctify by their sound, the journeys and travels of God's people; that as their rest, so all their motions might be in God, by the conduct of his word and spirit. Thus were there three things to be observed at their removings; the Lord's taking up of the cloud, Num. 9. 18. 22. the sound of the trumpets, Num. 10. 2. 5. 6. and the prayer of Moses, Num. 10. 35.

Verse 3. And they] that is, the Priests shall blow, as is expressed in verse. 8. The Greek translatheth, thou shalt blow, meaning Moses, by the Priests whom he appointed thereto. with them] with both of them: for when but one was blown, the Princes only assembled, verse. 4.

Verse 4. with one] the Latin translatheth it, once; but the Greek better, with one trumpet heads] that is, captains (governors) of thousands; in Greek, Chiliarchs: see Exod. 18. 21. Thus was there one trumpet for the rulers, and one for the people, that all their assemblies might be in the name, and by the sign of the Lord: and the Governors might have their meeting apart, but not the people without the Governors presence; for wha•soever concerned the people, it belonged also to the Princes with them, in resting or journeying, peace or war. And all assembled unto Moses the chief, and figure of Christ, Heb. 3. 1, 2.

Verse 5. And if ye blow] or, And ye shall blow an alarm, and the camps, &c. So after: and thus the Greek translatheth it. an alarm] or, a broken sound; in Hebrew, Trugnah, which is generally any loud broken ringing noise, either with trumpets, as here; or with men's voices and shoutings, as in 1 Sam. 4. 5. and this, either a joyful shout, and triumphant noise, as Num. 23. 21. Psal. 47. 6. Ezr. 3. 11, 12. or a mournful cry, as Ier. 20. 16. See the notes on Levite. 23. 24. This broken sound or alarm, was fittest to stir up and encourage the minds of the people to rise and march forward to battle against the Canaanites: as the former continued equal sound, was for their quiet assembling unto the service of God, and hearing of his Law. And unto this difference the Apostle hath respect, when he saith, If the trumpet give an uncertain sound, who shall prepare himself to the battle? 1 Cor. 14. 8. And therefore also the Greek here and often elsewhere, translatheth it sign, or signification, because by it, the people distinctly perceived what they were to do. Andir signified, how God by his trumpeters the Prophets and Apostles, hath distinctly signified his will unto his Church, for all things needful, to furnish them unto all good works, 2 Tim. 3. 16, 17. and such should be the teaching of all his Ministers. The Hebrew Doctors have understood the former blowing with an equal continued sound, to be a sign of mercy to Israel; and this alarm or broken sound, to be a sign of judgment against their enemies. R. Menachem on Num. 10. saith, The blowing (of trumpets) signified mercies; therefore in the time of assembling the people, he saith, And they shall blow with them, and all the assembly shall assemble themselves unto thee, Num. 10. 3. for the gathering of them is in mercy, as it is written, Return, ô LORD, unto the ten thousand thousands of Israel, Numb. 10. 36. Likewise, And he was King in Iesurun, when the beads of the people, the tribes of Israel were gathered together, Deut. 33. 5. But their journeying was with an alarm, Num. 10. 5. because the divine Majesty went before them; and it is written, Rise up LORD, and let thine enemies be scattered, Num. 10. 35. So the walls of Jericho fell with an alarm (or shout) Iof. 6. 20. because God's Majesty went before them to consume their enemies, &c. on the East side] which were Judah, Issachar and Zebulon, Num. 2. 3-7.

Verse 6. on the South side] Reuben, Simeon, and Gad, Num. 2. 10. &c. for their journeys] or, according to their journeyings; that is, not for these two quarters only, but for the other also: as Chazkuni observeth, for all the four camps. Here therefore the Greek version addeth by way of explanation, And ye shall sound the third alarm, and the camps that encamp towards the West shall ﴿﴾ their journey: and ye shall sound the fourth alarm• and the camps that encamp towards the North, ﴿﴾ take their journey. The like is signified also by F. Josephus, in Antiq. Judaic. lib. 3. c. 11. Where the Latin version misseth, interpreting Noton, the back part of the Tabernacle (which was westward,) when it meaneth the South: and the third, ﴿﴾ Liba, westward, he turneth Southward; when Li ﴿...﴾ is one of the western winds, as showeth Aul. Gellius, in Noct. Attic. l. 2. c. 22.

Vers. 8. a statute for ever] an everlasting ordinance: the outward rite continuing till Christ's coming, the spiritual use abiding still forever; that by the preaching of the word, and prayer, the Ministers of God should guide his people in all their affairs.

Vers. 9 ye go to war] Hebr. ye come to war, which the Greek translath, come forth. But coming is often used for going: as in Ion. 1. 3. coming (that is, going) to Tharshish. the distre ﴿...﴾ in Greek, the adversaries that resist you. This was the third use of the trumpets, to be sounded in time of war and tribulation: whereof there be examples in Israel's war against the Midianites, Num. 31. 6. in the Jews war against the Aposta•e Israelites, when they said, Behold God is with us, for a captain; and his Priests with sounding trumpets, to cry alarm against you, 2 Chron. 13. 12. and sundry the like. This one distress of war, is of some thought to be named for all other calamities; as the Hebrew canons declare, saying; It is commanded by the Law, to cry out, and to sound an alarm with trumpets, for every distress that shall come upo• the congregation; as it is written, Against the distresser, that distresseth you, Num. 10. 9. as ﴿﴾ should say, everything that shall distress you, ﴿﴾ ﴿...﴾ mine, and pestilence, and locusts, and the like; ye ﴿﴾ cry out for them, and sound an alarm. And ﴿﴾ thing belongeth unto repentance: for when distr ﴿...﴾ cometh, and they cry out because of it, and make an alarm; all do know, that for their evil deeds, they are afflicted; as it is written, Your iniquities have turned away these things, and your sins have with-bolden good things from you, (Ier. 5. 25.) &c. And by the exposition of our Scribes, we are to humble ourselves for every distress that ﴿﴾ come upon the Congregation, till mercy be shown from heaven. Maimonides in Misn. tom. 1. in Taanioth, or treat. of Fasts (or Humiliation) chap. 1. sect. 1. &c. with the trumpets] with which sound, they were also to lift up their voice in supplication to the Lord, to fast, and pray; as in Joel 2. 15. 17. ⟨ϕ⟩ the trumpet (or Cornet) in Zion, sanctify a ⟨ϕ⟩ call a solemn assembly, &c. Let the Priests the ministers of the LORD, weep between the P•••• and the Altar; and let them say. Spare thy people, ô LORD, &c. So in the war of Abijah, ⟨ϕ⟩ cried unto the LORD, and the Priests sounded with the trumpets, and the men of Judah gave a shout, &c. 2 Chron. 13. 14, 15. And Jehoshaphat in his war, proclaimed a fast, and prayed, 2 Chron. 20. 3. 6. &c. The order and manner of such fasts, the Hebrews describe thus: *In these days of Humiliation, men are to cry out with prayers and supplications, and to sound an alarm with trumpets only. But if they be in the Sanctuary, they sound an alarm with trumpets and with cornet; and not with both of them together, save in the Sanctuary; as it is written, With trumpets and voice of the cornet, sound an alarm before the King the LORD, Psal. 98. 6. These Fasts (or Humiliations) which they have decreed for the Congregation because of distresses, are not day after day, for the multitude of the congregation cannot continue in so doing. Neither do they decree the fast to begin, save on the second day of the week, and then on the fifth day after that, and in the second day (of the week) after that again; and so after this order, on the second day, and the fifth, and the second, till mercy be shown them. They decree no fasts for the congregation, on the Sabbaths, or Feast-days; neither blow they in them with cornet or trumpets, nor cry out and make supplications in them; unless it be in a City that is besieged by heathens, or invaded by a slood, or in a ship ready to be cast away in the sea, &c. Neither decree they that a fast shall begin at the new Moons, or at the Feast of the Dedication of the Temple, or feast of Purim, or in the working day of any solemn feast. But if they have begun the Fast, though but one day, and any of these days fall out, they fast, and accomplish the day in humiliation. These Fasts which are for distress, women with child, and that give suck, and little children fast not. And it is lawful to eat in the night, when the fast is on the morrow. As the congregation is to fast for their distress: so is a private man to do for his; as if he be sick, or wander in the wilderness, or be imprisoned, he is to humble himself, and seek mercy by prayer (to God.) Every fasting day decreed for the congregation, the Judges and Elders sit in the Synagogue, and make inquiry of the deeds of the men of that City, from after morning prayer till mid-day; and remove the stumbling blocks of transgressions; and do admonish, and inquire, and search concerning injurious persons and transgressors, and separate them; and concerning violent persons, and humble them, &c. These are the distresses, for which the congregation are to fast and ⟨ϕ⟩ an alarm. For the enemies of Israel that come against Israel; and for the sword that passeth by the land, as of heathens warring with heathens; and for the pestilence; and for evil beasts; and for Locusts; and for Caterpillars; and for blasting of fruits; and for meldew; and for ruin or downfall of buildings, by earthquake, winds, or the like; and for sicknesses that spread among the people; and for means of livelihood failing, to the decay of trading; and for rain, if it be too excessive, or too scarce: Every City that is distressed with any of these, is to fast, and sound an alarm, until the distress be taken away; and all that are round about that City, are to fast, but not to sound an alarm, but to request mercy for them. Maimonides in Taanioth ch. 1. & 2. That humiliations in times of dist•esse, were appointed of God, the Prophet Joel showeth us, in whose time, Palmer-worms, Locusts, Canker-worms, Caterpillars, wasted the fruits of the earth; and drought, as fire and flame, burnt up the pastures, and trees of the field: for which the people were exhorted to fast and pray, which was performed with blowing of trumpets, and sounding alarm, &c. Joel. 1. 4, 5. 13. 14. 19. 20. and 2. 1. 12. 13. 15. 16. &c. ye shall •e remembered] the Chaldee explaineth it, the remembrance of you shall come up for good before the Lord. This is a* promise of grace, annexed to the signs, the trumpets: for remembrance is sometime for evil, to punish iniquity, Nehem. 6. 14. Ier. 14. 10. sometime for good, as Neh. 5. 19. and 13. 22. See the notes on Gen. 8. 1. Thus the silver trumpets signified the Ministers duty, by preaching of the Law, to call men unto repentance for then sins, Esa. 58. 1. Ezek. 33. 3.—7. 8. H's. 8. 1. •el 2. 1. 15, 16. and to stir them up to fight the Lord's battles against Satan, sin, Antichrist, & 2 Chron. 13. 12. 15. Ier. 51. 27. Ios. 6. 8. Rev. 8. 6, 7, &c. In which battles, the Lord himself will be with his people, and blow the trumpet before them, Zach. 9. 14.

Verse 10. day of your gladness] in Greek, days; one named for all. This is the fourth use of the trumpets, for joy and triumph before the Lord. And by the day of gladness, (distinguished from the solemn feasts) Baal ⟨◇⟩ understandeth the Sabbath day: or, it may be meant of any extraordinary day of rejoicing for any special mercy received, or deliverance from evil. As a ⟨◇⟩ first dedication of Solomon's Temple, 2 Chr•. 5. 12, 13. also at the return out of ⟨◇⟩ p•ivie, and at the foundation of the second Temple, they set th• Priests in their apparel with trumpets, &c. and praised the Lord, whose mercy endureth forever towards Israel, Ezr. 3. 10, 11. and likewise at the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem, Nehem. 12. 27. 35. solemn feasts] the ordinary feasts appointed of God, whereof see Levite. 23. beginnings] called in Greek New Moons, which were in Israel at the beginning of every month, and were among the Solemnities, Num. 28. 11. &c. at which times trumpets and cornets were blown, as appeareth also by Psalm. 81. 4. with the Trumpets] Afterward God by David and the Prophets ordained other instruments whereon the Levites played, called the instruments of music of the LORD, 2 Chrō. 7. 6. and they were, Psalteries, Harps, Cymbals, 1 Chron. 16. 5, 6. Flutes (or Pipes) and Timbrels, Psal. 149. 3. David also and the Prophets made Psalms and Songs, which some of the Levites sung, whiles other played on the instruments, 1 Chron. 25. and 16. 7, 8. &c. And the Hebrews recording the manner of service in the Temple, say, There might not be fewer than twelve Levites, standing upon the stage every day, to sing th• song over the sacrifice always. And they sung the song with meuth, without instrument. There might not be fewer Psalteries than two, nor moe than six: not fewer Pipes than two, nor moe than twelve: not fewer Trumpets than two, nor moe than an hundred and twenty: not fewer Harps than nine, but as many moe always as they would: and but one Cymbal only. Maimonides tom. 3. in Cle hammikdash, chap. 3. sect. 3, 4. over your Burnt-offerings] a practice of this is shown in Ezekialis time; for he set the Levites in the house of the Lord, with Cymbals, with Psalteries and with Harps, according to the commandment of David, and of Gad the Kings Seer, and of Nathan the Prophet, (for the commandment was by the hand of the Lord, by the hand of his Prophets;) and the Levites stood with the instruments of David, and the Priests with the Trumpets. And Hezekiah commanded to offer the Burnt-offering upon the Altar, and when the Burnt-offering began, the Song of the Lord began, with the Trumpets and with the instruments ordained by David King of Israel. And all the Congregation worshipped, and the singers sang, and the trumpeters sounded: all (this continued) until the Burnt-offering was finished, 2 Chron. 29. 25.—28. So when Solomon sacrificed at the dedication of the Temple, the Levites that were singers, and others with Cymbals, Psalteries and Harps, were arrayed in white linen, and stood at the East end of the Altar, and with them 120. Priests, sounding with trumpets. And the trumpeters and singers were as one, to make one sound to be heard, in praising and thanking the Lord; and they lift up their voice with the trumpets, and cymbals, and instruments of music, and praised the Lord; For he is good, for his mercy (endureth) forever, 2 Chron. 5. 12, 13. of your Peace-offerings] The Hebrews say, they used to sing the Song, over all the Burnt-offerings of the Congregation, which were due (to be offered;) and over the Peace-offerings of the solemn assembly, at the time when the wine (the drink-offering) was poured out. But the voluntary Burnt-offerings which the Congregation offered, &c. they sang not the song over them. Maimonides in Cle hammikdash, ch. 3. sect. 3. So they understood this Law, not for private men's sacrifices, but for the public Churches: they did not blow, save only at the Congregations offering which was appointed them, saith; Chazkuni on Numb. 10. This use of the trumpets signified the spiritual graces and joy that God's people should show forth in his service, directed thereto by his Ministers, Psal. 98. 6. and 150. 3. and 81. 3, 4. Ezr. 3. 10. 2 Chron. 5. 12, 13. Coloss. 3. 16. Ephes. 5. 18, 19. Blessed are the people that know the shouting-sound (or alarm of the trumpet,) Psal. 89. 16.

Vers. 11. second year] after Israel was come out of Egypt, Num. 9. 1. second month] which we now call April, the Hebrews called it Ijar. twentieth day] the second Passover being ended, Num. 9. 11. when by Mount Sinai (where the Law was given them,) they had abidden twelve months, lacking ten days, as appeareth by comparing Exod. 19. 1, 2. the cloud was taken up] by the Lord, which was a sign that now the people should remove, Numb. 9. 17. But they had withal, word from the Lord, who spake unto them, saying; Ye have dwelt long enough in this mountain; turn you, and take your journey, and go to the mount of the Amorites, &c. Behold I have given the land before you; go in, and posse ⟨...⟩ which Jehovah sware unto your fathers, Deu. 1. 6, 7, 8. So both by word and sign, God called them from Sinai, the place of bondage, by reason of the Law there given, Gal. 4. 24, 25. unto the land ⟨...⟩ promise, which figured the state of grace and freedom by Jesus Christ: see the notes on Gen. ⟨◇⟩ . 5.

Verse 12. by their journeys] from Sinai to Taberah and Kibroth-hattaavah, Num. 11. 3. 34. and 33. 16. from Kibroth-hattaavah to H ⟨...⟩ , ⟨◇⟩ from Hazeroth, into the wilderness of ⟨◇⟩ , Num. 11. 35. and 12. 16. Pharan] or ⟨◇⟩ , the name of a wilderness and mountain in it, mentioned again in Deut. 1. 1. and 33. 2. In this wilderness Ishmael dwelt, Gen. 21. 22.

Verse 13. at the mouth] that is, the word, as the Chaldee saith, or, by the voice, as the Greek translath: see Num. 9. 18. 23. the hand] that ⟨◇⟩ , the ministry of Moses, who ordered the blowing of the trumpets, and sanctified the journey by prayer, v. 35. Thus they had four things (at this first removal) to confirm their faith in their ⟨◇⟩ vell through that terrible wilderness; the Word: God commanding them; and the lifting up of his cloud, for a sign visible; the word of Moses in prayer, and the sound of the trumpets for a sign ⟨◇⟩ ble. And thus they were furnished with all good means to conduct them into their promised inheritance: wherefore amongst other mercies of God to Israel, the memorial of this was after celebrate, that he led his people in the wilderness, for his ⟨◇⟩ endureth forever, Psal. 136. 16. Deut. 8. 15. ⟨◇⟩ . 63. 14. Jer. 2. 6.

Verse 14. according to] or, with their armies; that is, with the army of Issachar, and army of Zebulun, both which were under the standard ⟨◇◇⟩ dah, Num. 2. 2, 3.—9. So the Lion of Judah as standard-bearer, and figure of Christ, goeth before them all, to fight in the forefront of the  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  . against the Canaanites: see Gen. 49. 8. Judge. \langle \diamond \rangle .  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  .  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  .

Verse 17. was taken down] after that the Priest had with veils and clothes, covered the Ark  $\langle \dots \rangle$  other holy things in the Tabernacle, as is prescribed in Numb. 4. 5. &c. The taking down of the Tabernacle, and removal thereof, and setting it up in another place; signified (among other th  $\langle \dots \rangle$ ) the instabilitie of that legal figurative worship, which Christ at his coming was to abolish,  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  . 12. 27, 28. Also the unsettled estate of the Church, and all the members thereof, in the wilderness: this world, 2 Cor. 5. 1.—4. 2 Pet. 1. 14. Likewise the removal of the Church from one place and nation to another, from the Jews to the Gentiles. Mat. 1. 43. In regard of this unstayednesse, Moses said unto them, Ye are not yet come to the \langle \diamond \rangle Deut. 12. 9. But in David's time he said, The \langle \diamond \rangle hath given rest unto his people: and, the L  $\langle \dots \rangle$  shall no more carry the Tabernacle, nor any of it, for the service thereof, 1 Chron. 23. 25, 26. \langle \diamond \rangle further in the notes on Num. 4. 20. \langle \dots \rangle Tab.] having six wagons on which they  $\langle \dots \rangle$  boards and coverings; as is shown in  $\langle \dots \rangle$  5. 7, 8, 9.

Verse 18. of Reuben] who was stand•be•er to the second quarter, Numb. 2. 10.—16.

Vers. 20. Dequel▪ called sometimes Reguel. Numb. 2. 14. so here the Greek nameth him Ragovel.

Vers. 21. the Sanctuary that is, (as the Greek translath) the holy things, as the Ark, Candlestick, Table, Altar, &c. which they were to bear on their shoulders, Numb. 4. 5.—15. and 7. 9. and they] that is, the Gershonites and Merarites forespoken of, in verse. 17. who therefore went before, that the house or tabernacle might be set up ready, to receive these holy things; for which the Tabernacle was made, and not they for the Tabernacle.

Vers. 22. Ephraim] the standard-bearer to the third quarter: see Numb. 2. 18.—24. [unspec 22]

Vers. 25. the rere-ward] or, the gatherer, (in Greek, the last of all the camps,) that gathered up and took care of the weak ones and hindmost, (such as Amalek had before smitten, Exod. 17. Deut. 25. 17, 18.) as also of the Leprous and unclean, such as had been put out of the host, Num, 5. 2. (as in Num. 12. 15. the people journeyed not, till Mary (who had beene a Leper) was gathered,) This shown God's love and care of the most weak among his people, in taking such order for their safety. And unto this order of march, the Prophet hath reference in Isaiah. 52. 12. Jehovah will go before you, and the God of Israel will be your rere-ward (or gatherer.) And David processing his faith in God, saith, Though my father and my mother should forsake me; yet Jehovah would gather me, Psal. 27. 10. In like manner at the siege of Jericho, armed men went before the Priests that blew with the trumpets; and the rere-ward came after the Ark, Ios. 6. 9. 13.

Vers. 28. These were the journeyings] in Greek, These were the hosts (or armies.) By Th•se, is meant the order of their marching in their journeys, which God, by this repetition, would have men to observe; & we may summarily view thus, When God took up the cloud, Moses prayed, and the Priests with the trumpets blew an alarm, then Judah (the first standard) rose up, with Issachar and Zabulen; in which campe were 186. thousand and 400. men of war

(Num. 2. 9.) and they marched foremost. Then followed the Levites of Gershon, and Merari, with six wagons bearing the boards and coverings of the Tabernacle.

The trumpets sounded an alarm the second time, then Reuben, Simeon and Gad, (with their army of 151. thousand, 450. fighting men,) rose up, and followed the tabernacle.

After them went the Levites, sons of Kohath, in the midst of the twelve tribes, bearing on their shoulders, the Ark, Candlestick, Table, Altar, and other holy things.

At the sound of the trumpets third alarm, rose up the standard of Ephraim, under which were of Ephraim, Manasseh and Benjamin, 100. thousand and 8000. & an hundred men of war; and these followed the Sanctuary going before them: unto which the Psalmist hath reference, when he prayeth, Before Ephraim up thy strength, and come for salvation <...> Psalm. 80. 3.

At the fourth alarm, the standard of •an arose, in whose campe were one hundred fifty seven thousand, and six hundred fighting m•n, of Dan, Aser and Naphtali; who not guarding the tabernacle, had charge of gathering all, and looking to the feeble, &c. that nothing should be lost, or <◇> behind. Thus the Sanctuary •ad the midst, most safe and honorable place: the greatest campe went foremost, the next in greatness went hin• most, for to resist all enemies, before and after. But the Lord <...> self was he that went before, and gathered behind, ( <◇> 52. 12.) who when he rose up, his enemies were scattered, and they that hated him, fled before him, <◇> . <◇> . •5. when he marched before his people in the wilderness, the earth quaked <◇> the <...> ens dropped, and he confirmed his inheritance when it was w•aried, Psal. 68, 2. 8, 9, 10.

Verse 29. <...> bah] or, <◇> , called in Greek, Iohah, son o• Rag•v•l the M <...> He was also called <◇> , Ex•d. <◇> . 1. and <◇> . Iarcht here expoundeth it H <...> ▪ but Ab•n <◇> <◇> of another minds, that it was the brother of Zipporah Moses wife, and so not father in law, but brother in law to Moses. This speech of Moses to his father in law, some think <◇> before, when he came to him with Zippo•ah, <◇> . 18. 1, 2. &c. and so it may be translated, And Moses had said unto Hobab.

Verse 30. I will not go] This denial is thought to be but for the present; and that Hobab went to his own country first, and after returned again to Moses in the wilderness; because there is mention of the posterity of Hobab dwelling among the Israeli•es in Canaan, Judge. 1. 16. and 4. 11. 1 Sam. 15. 6. Or, if he returned not into the wilderness, yet at the least, his posterity came unto Israel in Canaan, as the Scriptures <◇> mentioned show.

Verse 31. for eyes] instead of eyes, to guide us by thy counsel and providence. The Greek translatheth it, Thou shalt be an Elder amongst us. Or, by eyes, may be meant dear, loved, and tendered, as men do their own eyes.

Verse 33. mount of <...> vah] the Chaldee explaineth [unspec] it, the mountain whereon the glory of the Lord had been revealed: that was Mount Sinai, where the Law had been given. three days journey] or, three days way; which was both by God's direction, & by his special power enabling the people to travel so long. The like journey was mentioned from Egypt, Exod. 3. 18. and after from the red Sea, Exod. 15. 22. and now from mount Sinai where the Ark of the covenant journeyed before them: which was a figure of Christ, and of his conducting and strengthening of the people; and his resurrection from the dead was the third day, 1 Cor. 15. 4. which was for our justification, and so for rest and peace unto our souls, Rom. 4, 25, and 5. 1, 2, 3. who said of himself, Behold I cast out Devilt, and I doe cures today and tomorrow, and the third day I shall be perfected, &c. Luke 13. 32, 33. Of the mystery of this number three, and of the third day, see the annotations on Ge. 22. 4. journeyed before them] The Ark was carried by the Levites in the midst of them, as appeareth by verse 14. 21. but the eyes of all the people were unto the cloud conducting them, and to the Ark amongst them; the journeying and resting whereof was sanctified by Moses prayer, before that the people might either set forward, or pitch their tents: and therefore it is said to journey before them. to search out] or, to espy; which the Chaldee expoundeth to prepare; the Greek, to consider: it meaneth a diligent search and looking about for to know and find out the estate of a place, as Num. 13. 2. 17, 18, 19, 20. So God is said to have searched out (or espied) the land of Canaan which he gave unto Israel, Ezek. 20. 6. And that which is here spoken of the Ark, Moses speaketh of God himself, in Deut. 1. 33. that he went before them to search out a place for them to pitch their Tents in. So God's love and providence towards his Church in Christ, is hereby signified. Wherefore that which Moses said to Hobab, Thou mayest be for eyes unto us verse 31. was not meant that he should appoint them a place to pitch and rest in; but that he being acquainted with the places in that Wilderness, might signify the conditions, commodities or discommodities of the places w<sup>ch</sup> God should design them for to pitch their camps in. a rest] that is, as in Isaiah. 66. 1. a place of rest: so the Chaldee expoundeth it, a place of encamping, or resting. Thus rest, is often used for a resting place, Psal. 132. 8. Gen. 8. 9. 1 Chr. 28. 2. Mic. 2. 10. Zac. 9. 1. This outward rest which God prepared for his people, figured the spiritual rest which we find for our souls, by following Christ in faith, Matth. 11. 29. Hebr. 4. 3. 10, 11.

Verse 34. the cloud of Jehovah] which had conducted them from Egypt to mount Sinai, Exod. 13. 21. 22. the same guided them still. The Chaldee calleth it the cloud of the glory of the Lord. was over them] or, upon them; the Chaldee understandeth, went (or journeyed) over them: the Greek saith, did over-shadow them: and David teacheth that it was spread for a covering, Psal. 105. 39. namely to shadow them from the heat of the Sun: and in Num. 14. 14. Moses saith it stood over them. It signified unto them the glorious grace, guidance, and protection of God: and figured the like unto the Church after in Christ; who by his Word and Spirit, guideth and protecteth all his people, Isaiah. 4. 5, 6. For as God now led his people like a flock in the Wilderness, Psal. 78. 52. So Christ the good Shepherd calleth his own sheep by name, and leadeth them out, goeth before them, and the sheep follow him, for they know his voice; and go in and out and find pasture, John. 10. 3, 4. 9. 11. See also the notes in Ex. 13. 21. by day] that is, in the day time, and daily, continually: for by day it was a cloud, and by night a fire: and this continued till they came to the promised land, Exod. 14. 20. 24. and 13. 22. Nehem. 9. 12. 19. Psal. 78. 14. Num. 14. 14.

Verse 35. Rise up] or, Stand up: it is opposed to sitting still, and is meant here for the help and comfort of his people whom he conducted and for the destruction of his enemies, as the words following manifest: and thus David often useth it, as in Psal. 3. 8. and 7. 7. and 10. 12. and 17. 13. and 4. 27. But specially in the 68 Psalme, (which is a prophesy of Christ, his resurrection, and ascension into heaven,) and which he beginneth with these words of Moses, Let God rise up, let his enemies be scattered, &c. which showeth that the fulfilling of all these mysteries, is by Christ and his rising from the dead, for the justification and salvation of his Church. Onkelos translatheth it in Chaldee, Bee thou reviled, O Lord: and Jonathan paraphraseth, Be thou reviled now, O Word of the Lord, in the strength of thine anger. thine enemies Jonathan in Chaldee saith, the enemies of thy people: and after, those that hate them: for the enemies and persecutors of the Church, are the enemies of God himself, Act. 9. 4. Matth. 25. 45. Zach. 2. 8. This David showeth, when saying unto God, thine enemies and thine haters; he annexeth, Against thy people they have craftily taken secret counsel, &c. Psal. 83. 3, 4. scattered] as broken asunder: so the word signifieth, Psal. 2. 9. The effect of Christ's death and resurrection, is the breaking and scattering of the conjoined forces of his enemies, Psal. 68. 2, 3. 13. 15. and the contrary gathering together in one, of the children of God that were scattered abroad, John. 11. 51, 52, Isaiah. 11. 10, 12. Return Jehovah (unto) the ten thousands] that is, as the Chaldee paraphraseth, Return LORD, dwell with thy glory, among the ten thousands thousands of Israel. Or, without supplying the word unto, as the Greek translatheth it, Return, Lord, th thousands the ten thousands in Israel: that is, cause them to return unto their rest from their travels. For the word Return, may mean either God's action in himself, returning to his people: or his action in them, returning, reducing & bringing them again; as in Deut. 30. 3. Psal. 14. 7. and 126. 1. In both senses rest and quietness is implied, which Moses entreateth God to give unto his people, and himself to remain with them. So R. Menachem here expoundeth it to mean quietnesse; according to Isaiah. 30. 15. In returning and rest shall ye be saved. But the first interpretation seemeth most fitting, that as when the cloud, Ark, and host removed, he prayed God to Rise up and go with them against their enemies: so when the Ark and people rested, he prayeth God to return and remain among them: for in his presence their chief joy and safety consisted, as he elsewhere showeth, Ex. 33. 14, 15, 16. And that there is often a want of such words necessary to be supplied, the Scripture elsewhere showeth, as in 2 Sam. 4. 1. ⟨ϕ⟩ men were Saul's son, that is, were unto Saul's s ⟨...⟩ : or, he had two men: and such wants are many times supplied by other prophets: as the pillars that were the house, 2 King. 25. 13. that is, which wer•in the house, Jerem. 52. 17. The Ark continu•the house, 2 Sam. 6. 11. that is, continued in the house, 1 Chron. 13. 14. and sundry the like. See; Deut. 32. 43.

CHAP. XI.

1 The people complaining, God punisheth them with fire, which at Moses prayer is quenched. 4 They lust for flesh, and loath Manna. 10 Moses grieved at their murmuring, complaineth to God of his charge. 16 God divideth his burden unto seventy Elders which should bear it with him, 18 and promiseth to give the people flesh. 24 The seventy Elders have the spirit of prophesy. 31 God by a wind bringeth Quails into the Campe, which the people gathering and eating, do die of a plague at Kibr•th-hattaavah. 35 The Campe removeth to Hazereth.

AND the people was when they were complainers, evil in the ears of Jehovah: and Jehovah heard, and his anger was kindled; and a fire of Jehovah burnt among them and consumed them in the utmost part of the campe. And the people cried out unto Moses, and Moses prayed unto Jehovah, and the fire sunk down. And he called the name of that place Taberah, because the fire of Jehovah burnt among them. And the mixed multitude that was among them lusted with lust, and the sons of Israel also returned and wept; and said, Who shall give us flesh to eat? We remember the fish which we did eat in Egypt for naught: the cucumbers and the melons, and the leekes, and the onions, and the garlic. But now our soul is dried away, there is nothing at all, only our eyes are unto the Manna. And the Manna was as Coriander seed, & the color of it as the color of Bdelium. The people went about and gathered it, and ground it in milles; or beat it in a mortar; and baked it in pannes, and made cakes of it; and the taste of it was, as the taste of the best moisture of oil. And when the dew fell down upon the campe in the night, the Manna fell down upon it. And Moses heard the people weeping throughout their families; every man in the door of his tent; and the anger of Jehovah was kindled greatly, and in the eyes of Moses it was evil. And Moses said unto Jehovah; Wherefore hast thou done evil to thy servant? and wherefore have I not found grace in thine eyes, that thou layest the burden of all these people upon me? Have I conceived all this people? have I begotten them, that thou shouldest say unto me, Bear them in thy bosom, as a nursing father beareth the sucking child, unto the land which thou swarest unto their fathers? Whence should I have flesh to give unto all this people? for they weep unto me, saying; Give us flesh that we may eat. I am not able myself alone to bear all this people, for it is too heavy for me. And if thou do thus unto me, kill me I pray thee, kill me, if I have found grace in thine eyes, and let me not see mine evil.

And Jehovah said unto Moses; Gather unto me seventy men of the Elders of Israel, whom thou knowest, that they are the Elders of the people and the officers of them, and take them unto the Tent of the Congregation, that they may stand there with thee. And I will come down and will speak with thee there, and I will take of the spirit which is upon thee, and will put it upon them, and they shall bear with thee the burden of the people, and thou shalt not bear it thyself alone. And say thou unto the people, sanctify yourselves against tomorrow, and ye shall eat flesh; for you have wept in the ears of Jehovah, saying; Who shall give us flesh to eat? for it was well with us in Egypt; therefore Jehovah will give you flesh, and ye shall eat. Ye shall not eat one day, nor two days, nor five days, nor ten days, nor twenty days. Until a month of days, until it come out at your nostrils, and it be unto you loathsome, because that you have despised Jehovah who is among you, and have wept before him, saying; Wherefore now came we forth out of Egypt? And Moses said, The people amongst whom I am, are six hundred thousand footmen; and thou hast said, I will give them flesh, and they shall eat it a month of days. Shall the flocks and the herds be slain for them to suffice them? or shall all the fishes of the Sea be gathered together for them to suffice them?

And Jehovah said unto Moses, Is Jehovah's hand waxed short? thou shalt see now, whether my word shall come to pass unto thee, or not. And Moses went out, and spake unto the people the words of Jehovah; and he gathered the seventy men of the Elders of the people, and made them stand round about the Tent. And Jehovah came down in a cloud, and spake unto him, and took of the Spirit that was upon him; and gave it unto the seventy men the Elders; and it was when the Spirit rested upon them, they prophesied, & did not add. And there remained two of the men in the campe; the name of the one was Eldad; and the name of the second, Medad; and the Spirit rested upon them; and they were of them that were written, but went not out unto the Tent, and they prophesied in the campe.

And there ran a young man; and told Moses, and said; Eldad and Medad do prophesy in the campe. And Joshua the son of Nun, the minister of Moses, one of his choice young men, answered and said; My lord Moses, forbid thou them. And Moses said unto him; Enviest thou for me? but O who shall give that all the people of Jehovah were prophets; that Jehovah would give his spirit upon them. And Moses gathered him-self into the campe; he, and the Elders of Israel. And there went forth a wind from Jehovah, and brought Quails from the sea, and let them fall by the campe, as it were a days journey on this side, and as it were a days journey on that side, round about the campe: and as it were two cubits above the face of the earth. And the people stood up all that day, and all the night, and all the next day; and they gathered the Quails; he that gathered least, gathered ten homers: and spreading they spread them for themselves, round about the campe. The flesh was yet between their teeth; it was not yet cut off, when the anger of Jehovah was kindled against the people, and Jehovah smote the people with a very great plague. And he called the name of that place Kibroth hattaavah, because there they buried the people that lusted. From Kibroth hattaavah, the people journeyed unto Hazeroth: and they were in Hazeroth.

Annotations.

And the people] Hitherto in this book, God's grace to his people hath been manifested in the ordering; directing, and governing of them in the Wilderness, towards their promised inheritance: now followeth their unthankfulness, and unworthy carriage among so great blessings, by their many murmurings and rebellions; whereby both the disobedient nature of man, and the impossibility of the Law to bring men unto God, is declared. when they were complainers] or, as complainers; that is, even complainers, very murmurers; grudging, and showing themselves discontented with their estate; and (as is likely) for their so long travel in that Wilderness, three days journey before they came to a resting place, <...> ▪ 10. 33. and thus Sol. larchi here expou <...> ▪ So whereas they should have rejoiced in the <◇> now among them, they shown themselves <◇> mourners, sorrowful, and (as the Greek <...> teth) murmuring. Of such murmurers and complainers, the Apostle also speaketh, Jude verse <◇> . evil] this seemeth to have reference to the first, the people was evil, that is, wicked, and so <◇> pleasing the Lord: the Greek referreth it to the latter, the people murmured evil things <◇> ...> Lord. a fire of Jehovah] that is, as the Greek expoundeth it, from the Lord, and the Chaldee, from before the Lord: though it may also means great and vehement fire. Their rebellions before the Law was given at Mount Sinai, God punished not, Exod. 14. 11—15. and 15. 24, 26. and 16. <◇> . <◇> ▪ 4 9, 20, 27, 28. and 17. 2—5, save only when they made the molten Calf at the mount, Exod. 32 27▪ 28. 35. But their sins committed after, he punisheth severely, as here and after is to be <◇> : for, the Law worketh wrath, Rom. 4 15. And <◇> these things happened unto them for ensamples tous, 1 Cor. 10. 5—11. consumca] or, devour•• Hebr. did eat. The Greek translath, devoured a part ⟨ϕ⟩ the campe. In that the fire consumed in the ⟨ϕ⟩ part, it is probable that there the sin began among them that were faint and weary with travel; as Deut. 25. 18.

Verse 2. sunk down] that is, went out, or, was [unspec] quenched; in Greek, ceased. Their seeking to the Lord in their afflictions, and his mercies towards them, are mentioned in Psal. 78. 34.—38.

Vers. 3. he called] that is, Moses called: or, [unspec] as the Geeke translath, the name of that ⟨ϕ⟩ was called: see the notes on Gen. 16. 14▪ ⟨ϕ⟩ ▪ rah] that is, Burning: which name was given ⟨ϕ⟩ imprint a memorial of their sin and ⟨...⟩ judgments in their hearts, as Moses after ⟨ϕ⟩ tioneth them, in Deut. 9. 7. 22. 24.

Vers. 4. the mixed-multitude] or, the ga ⟨...⟩ multitude; so called in Hebrew of gatherin••• ⟨ϕ⟩ Greek and Chaldee, of mixture: and in the Ch ⟨...⟩ dee said to be Jonathan's, they are called, the ⟨...⟩ gers that were gathered among them. These were that mixed-people that came up with Israel out of Egypt, mentioned in Exod. 12. 38. ⟨ϕ⟩ with lust] that is, lusted greatly and greedily. ⟨...⟩ ned and wept] that is, again wept, the Greek ⟨ϕ⟩ ▪ they sate and wept. The Israelites that a ⟨ϕ⟩ before complained, were punished, and repented▪ now again, by the example of the strangers among them, return to their sinful course. Ch ⟨...⟩ here saith, After that (the sons of Israel) had murmured already themselves alone, (verse 1.) they turned and murmured with the mixed-multitude, and ⟨ϕϕ⟩ desire of flesh. So this was another m••inie, d•ffering from that forespoken of; though in time and ⟨ϕ⟩ n••re together▪ who shall give] a wish, meaning. O that some woe••d give us flesh: and a temptation, ⟨ϕ⟩ not believing that God could do it. This their lusting is rehearsed, in Psal. 106. 14. and 78. 18, 19. 20. they tempted God in their heart, asking ⟨...⟩ their soul (or lust:) and they spake against ⟨ϕ⟩ ▪ they said; Can God furnish a Table in the Wilderness? Behold h ⟨...⟩ smote the Rock, and the waters g•shed out, and streams overflowed: can he give •read also? or can be prepare flesh for his people?

Verse 5. we remember] they stirred and inflamed their lust, with remembrance of their former Egyptian diet. for naught] this may be referred to the fish which they had for naught, without price, getting them out of the rivers freely; or, for naught, that is, for very little, very cheap; as nothing is used for very little, Act. 27. 33. John. 18. 20. none, for very few, Ier. 8. 6. 1. Cor. 2. 8. It may also have reference to the former, we remember for naught, that is, in vain: so the Hebrew, Chinnam; and Greek, Dorean, sometime signifieth a thing done or spoken in vain and without effect; as Pro. 1. 17. Ezek. 6. 10. Gal. 2. 21. garlic] these gross meats used to be eaten by the poorer sort in Egypt, and by the Israelites when they were slaves there, they now remember, (forgetting their slavery;) and prefer before the Manna which God gave them from heaven, which was both pleasant and wholesome. Of the things here spoken of, and other the like, the Hebrews themselves say: Some meats are exceeding evil, and it is n<sup>•t</sup> meet that a man should ever eat of them, as great fishes that are salted and old, &c. and some meats are evil, but not so bad; therefore it is not meet for a man to eat of them, save a little and very seldom; and he may not use to make them his meat, or to eat them with his meat continually, as great fishes, cheese, &c. and leekes, and onions, and garlic, &c. these meats are naught, which a man should eat of but a very little, and in winter days; but in summer not at all. Maim. in Misn. tom. 1. in Degnoth chap. 4. sect. 9.

Verse 6. our soul is dried] The soul is often put for the body, or whole man, and for the appetite or desire of meat, drink, and other things: so here they complain that they had no nourishment by the wheat of heaven (as Manna is called, Psal. 78. 24.) neither was their appetite satisfied: and hereupon it is said, they asked meat for their soul, Psal. 78. 18. to satisfy their fleshly lust. our eyes are] or, our eyes behold only the Manna; that is, we see no other food; neither can we expect for any other, but depend upon Manna only. For the eyes unto any, signify hope and expectation, as Psal. 25. 15. and 141. 8. Manna was unto them both a corporal food, and a spiritual, figuring Christ himself, with his word and grace, John. 6. 31, 32, 33. 1 Cor. 10. 3. So the loathing of Manna, and longing for the meats of Egypt, figured the rejecting of Christ and his graces, for to have nourishment and life by the works and righteousness of men, Gal. 3. 3, 10. and 4. 9. Such men's eyes cannot see the Manna which is hid. Rev. 2. 17.

Verse 7. Manna] in Hebrew, Man: the reason of this name, see in the notes on Exod. 16. 14. Chazkuni on that place saith, Man, in the Egyptian tongue, is as Mah, (that is, What) in the Hebrew tongue: and they asked one of another, Man, that is, what is this? Coriander] of it, see Exod. 16. 31. These are the words of Moses, convincing the people's ingratitude, by the description of Manna, which they disdained. the color] Hebr. the eye, that is, the color, or appearance, as the Greek and Chaldee explain it: so eye is used for color, &c. in Lev. 13. 55. Ezek. 1. 16. and 8. 2. and 10. 9. Bdelium] in Hebrew Bdolach, in Greek, (and by Sol. Iarchies exposition) Crystall: which is white and transparent: so Manna is said to be white, Exod. 16. 31. Of Bdelium, see Gen. 2. 12.

Verse 8. went about] or, went to and fro, to search, find, espy, as in Ier. 5. 1. Amos 8. 12. Dan. 12. 4. therefore this word is applied sometime to the eye, as in 2 Chron. 16. 9. It figured the labor and diligence that men should use to get the meat which endureth unto everlasting life, John. 6. 27. ground it] the grinding and beating of it, &c. figured also the afflictions of Christ, whereby he was prepared to be for us the bread of life, John. 6. 48—51. Heb. 2. 9, 10. 1 •et. 3. 18. But though the Manna was thus hard as wheat to be ground, yet it used to melt as it lay on the earth, with the heat of the Sun, that they gathered it only in the morning, Exod. 16. 21. baked] or, boiled, coqued; the word is sometime used for baking, as in 2 Sam. 13. 8. though usually it signifieth to  $\langle \phi \rangle$ . the best moisture oil] fresh oil, w<sup>ch</sup> hath no rank favor. The Hebrew Leshad, is the best o•lie moisture in man's body, Psal. 32. 4. so here it is the best sweet moisture of oil, which is the uppermost part. It had also the taste of wafers with honey, Ex. 16. 31. And here the Greek translateth it wafers of oil, and the Chaldee, paste, (or cakes) with oil. So it was both pleasnt and wholesome food, and the taste of oil and honey figured the sweetness of grace, which we by faith perceive in Christ the true Manna, Psal. 119. 103. Song. 5. 16.  $\langle \phi \rangle$  Pet. 2. 3.

Verse 9. •ell down upon it] and upon the Manna fell dew again, which when it was drawn up by the Sun, then the Manna appeared, Exod. 16. 13, 14. so the Manna lay as it were hidden between two dew. But after was manifested, and given them of God freely every day: a wheat which they sowed not, nor labored for, but had for the taking up, a meat which they knew not, neither had their fathers known it: whereby they were taught, that man liveth not by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord, Deut. 8. 3.

Verse 10. throughout] or, by their families; so the sin was generally spread among the people. in the door] that is, openly; and sinned not in secret only, but as it were proclaimed their iniquity, and stirred up themselves, and one another, to follow their lusts.

Verse 11. done evil to thy servant] that is, afflicted me: for evil when it cometh from God, meaneth trouble and affliction wherewith he chastiseth his servants, and exerciseth their faith and patience; as Ier. 18. 8. Isaiah. 45. 7. Amos 3. 6. that thou layest] Heb. for to lay, or to put: so it hath reference to the former part of the speech. See the notes on Gen. 6. 19. the burden] the weighty care and charge: so in Deut. 1. 12. The Greek here translateth it anger; but after in verse. 17▪ violence, or assault. This showeth the great charge that lieth upon governors: so Paul mentioneth the caere of all the Churches, which came upon him daily, 2 Cor. 11. 28.

Verse 12. Have I conceived] so also the Greek translateth it; but the Chaldee saith, Am I the father of all this people? are they my sons? begotten them] Hebr. begotten it; or, brought forth it; speaking of the people, as of one man, begotten, as by a father; or brought forth, as by a mother. So the Apostle applieth both similes to himself, saying to the Corinthians, Ye have not many fathers; for in Christ Jesus I have begotten you through the Gospel, 1 Cor. 4. 15. and to the Galatians, My children of whom I travel in birth again, until Christ be formed in you, Gal. 4. 19. In this complaint of Moses, the weakness of the Law is signified, w<sup>ch</sup> begetteth no children to God, Rom. 7. 4. 5, &c. and 8. 3. but by the word of Truth, the Gospel, and by belief in Christ, we are borne of God, I am. 1. 18. 1 Pet. 1. 23—25. 1 John. 5. 1. in thy bosom] that is, lovingly, tenderly, carefully: which Moses the Lawgiver could not do as is done by Christ, of whom it is said, He shall feed his flock like a shepherd, he shall gather his lambes with his arm, and be are them in his bosom, he shall gently lead those that are with young, Isaiah. 40. 11. a nursing father] This showeth the love, mildness, gentleness w<sup>ch</sup> should be in governors; and so it is said unto the Church, Kings shall be thy nursing fathers, &c. Isaiah. 49. 23. And the Apostle saith, We were gentle among you, even as a nurse cherisheth her children: we exhorted, and comforted, and charged everyone of you, as a father doth his children, 1 Thes. 2. 7. 11. Accordingly the Hebrews have this rule for all governors of the Church, It is unlawful for a man to govern with stateliness over the congregation, and with haughtiness of spirit, but with meekness and fear. And every pastour that bringeth more terror upon the congregation than is for the name of God, he shall be punished, and shall not see himself to have a learned wise son: as it is said, (in Job 37. 24.) Men do therefore fear him; he respecteth not any that are wise of heart. And so it is not lawful for him to govern them with contemptuous carriage; although they be the (common) people of the land: neither may he tread upon the heads of the holy people, although they be unlearned & base, they are the sons of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and the armies of the Lord that brought them out of the land of Egypt by great might, and by strong hand; but he must be are the toil of the Congregation, and their burden; as Moses our Master, of whom it is said, AS A NVRSING FATHER BE ARETH THE SVCKING CHILD, &c. Maimonides in Misn. tom. 4. in Sanhedrin, ch. 25. sect. 1, 2. That w<sup>ch</sup> Moses speaketh of a Nursing father, the Chaldee that goeth in the name of Jonathan, and Targum Yerushalmi, calleth Pedagoga, which word Paul useth, when he saith, the Law was our P•dagogues (or Schoolmaster) unto Christ, Gal. 3. 24. whose graces were figured by that land whither Moses now was to lead them; as is shown in the annotations on Gen. 12. 5.

Verse 13. flesh to give] By these complaints Moses showeth his insufficiency to govern this people, and to supply their wants: neither indeed could he bring them into the promised land, but died ere they came thither, Deut. 34. whereby the impossibility of the Law was signified, that it could not bring men unto God, or satisfy, or restrain the lusts that reign in our members, though the Law it self is holy, Rom. 7. 5—12. But what the Law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God (hath done) sending his own Son, Rom. 8. 3. who giveth us not flesh to satisfy our carnal lusts, but his own flesh to be the food of our souls, which he hath given for the life of the world, and which who so eateth, hath eternal life, John. 6. 51. 54.

Verse 15. if thou do thus] to leave the whole burden upon me still. Here the word thou, spoken to God, is of the foemine gender, contrary to common rule of speech, At, for Attah: which some think doth intimate Moses trouble of mind, as if he could not perfectly utter his word• and the like is in Deut. 5. 27. where the people terrified with the Majesty of God when he gave his Law, said unto Moses, Speak thou (At) unto ⟨ϕ⟩ Sol. Rashi here saith, The strength of Moses became feeble as a woman, when the holy blessed (God) shown him the punishments that he would bring upon them (the people) for this he said before him, If thus, kill me first. kill me] or, killing me: that is, kill me quite, and out of hand; the word is doubled, for more vehemency and speed. see mine evil] that is, my misery and affliction. By seeing evil, is meant the feeling or suffering of misery; as to see death, is to die, Luke 2. 26. Psal. 89. 49. and as on the contrary, to see the salvation of God, meaneth the fruition or enjoying thereof, Psal. 50. 23. and 91. 16. Compare with this, Elijah's speech, 1 Kings 19. 4.

Verse 16. Gather unto me] in Chaldee, Gather [unspec] before me; and Targum Jonathan explaineth it, Gather in my name seventy worthy men. This is answerable to the number of the seventy souls of the house of Israel, which went down into Egypt, Gen. 46. 27. Exod. 1. 5. Deut. 10. 22. and to the 70 Elders which went up unto the Lord at mount Sinai, Exod. 24. 1, 9. From hence the Hebrews in their commonwealth, continued their chiefes: Senate in Jerusalem of 71 Elders, as here there were 70, and Moses the Prince. So they record in Talmud Bab. in Sanhedrin, ch. 1. and Maimonides in Sanhedrin, c. 1. s. 3, 4, 5, explaineth it thus; there was in Israel, first a great court (or judgment hall) in th• Sanctuary, and that was called the great Synedrion, and their number was 71, as it is written, Gather to me 70 men, &c. and Moses was chief over them, as it is said, And let them stand there with thee. Numb. 11. 16. loe here are 71. The greatest in wisdom among them all, they set him for head over them, and he was called Nasi (the Prince) in every place, and he stood instead of Moses cur Master. And they placed the greatest among the 70, next ⟨ϕ⟩ the head, and he sate on his right hand, and was call ⟨...⟩ Ab beth din (the father of the judgment hall) A ⟨...⟩ the residue of the 70 sate before him, according ⟨ϕ⟩ their ears and according to their dignity: wh•soever was in wisdom greater than his ⟨ϕ⟩ nearer unto the Prince on his left hand. And they sate as in the form of an half circle round, so that the Prince, with the Father of the Court, might see them all. Moreover they set two Judgment halls, each of 23. Judges, the one at the door of the Court (of the Sanctuary,) the other at the door of the mountain of the Temple. And in every city of Israel wherein were 120. (fathers of families) or more, they set a lesser Synedrion, which sate in the gate of the city, as it is written, And establish judgment in the gate, (Amos 5. 15.) And their number was 23 Judges, and the wisest among them was head of them; and the residue sate in a round like half a circle, that he which was head might see them all. If it were a city which had not 120 men in it, they set therein three Judges, for there is no judgment hall of less than three, that there might be more or fewer, if there happened to be among them dissention in judgment. But every city which had not in it two wise men, the one fit to teach the whole Law, and the other skillful to hear, and skillful to demand and make answer; they set no Synedrion therein, although it had in it two thousand Israelites, &c. the officers] in Greek, the Scribes, and Targum Jonathan addeth, in Egypt: as if these were such as are mentioned in Exod. 5. 14. and of them Sol. Rashi also understandeth it. What these Officers were after in the common-wealth of Israel, is noted on Deut. 16 18. Here it seemeth to be meant of such Elders and Officers as were well known and had approved themselves for wisdom and good carriage, for which they might with comfort be preferred to this high Senate: for they that have ministered well, (as the Apostle saith) purchase to themselves a good degree, 1 Tim. 3. 13. Afterwards in Israel about the choice of these chief Magistrates, it is thus recorded; Our wise men have said, that from the great Synedrion they sent into all the land of Israel, and made diligent inquiry; whomsoever they found to be wise, and afraid to sin, and meek, &c. they made him a judge in his city. And from thence they preferred him to the gate of the mountain of the house (of the Lord:) and from thence they promoted him to the gate of the Court (of the Sanctuary,) and from thence they advanced him to the great judgment hall. Maim. in Sanhedrin, chap. 2. sect. 8. stand there] or, present themselves there with thee. They were to stand before the Tabernacle, to present themselves unto God, and to receive authority from him; and with Moses, who was to be chief over them. The Hebrews from this word with, gather a likeness unto Moses, saying, They constitute none in the Synedrion but Priests, Levites and Israelites whose genealogy is known, &c. as it is said (in Num. 11. 16.) WITH THEE; which are like thee in wisdom, religion, and genealogy. Maim. in Sanhedrin, ch. 2 sect. 1.

Vers. 17. I will come down] to wit, in sign or apparition; as the Chaldee translatheth, I will reveal myself; and Targum Jonathan addeth, I will reveal myself in the glory of my Majesty; this was in the cloud, verse. 25. I will take] or, will separate; in Chaldee, will increase of the spirit that is on thee; meaning, the gifts of the Spirit, as prophesy, verse. 25. and other meet for their charge: for there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit, 1 Cor. 12. 4. So spirits are named for spiritual gifts, 1 Cor. 14. 12. 32. and the Holy Ghost, for the gifts of the Holy Ghost, John. 7. 39. Act. 19. 2. 6. Thus the spirit of Elijah rested on Elisha, 2 King. 2. 15. when he had the same gifts and power of prophesy, miracles, &c. Neither was Moses spirit hereby diminished; for as Sol. Rashi saith, Moses in that hour was like unto the Lamp that was left (burning) on the Candlesticks, (in the Sanctuary) from which all the other lamps were lighted, yet the light thereof was not lessened any whit. God shown hereby, that none without gifts of his Spirit, are fit for office and government, Exo. 18. 21. Deut. 1. 13. Act. 6. 3. The Hebrews have this rule, Any Synedrion, King, or Governor, that shall set up a Judge for Israel, that is not fit, and is not wise in the wisdom of the Law, and meet to be a Judge; although he be wholly amiable, and have in him other good things, yet he that setteth him up, transgresseth &c. Maim. in Sanhedrin, chap. 3. sect 8.

V. 18. Sanctify] in Chaldee, prepare yourselves: so to sanctify war is to prepare therefore, Ier. 64. & 51. 28. It meaneth an holy prepara <...> o receive the gifts that they desired. Sol Rashi expoundeth it, Prepare yourselvs for vengeance; and so he saith, (in ser. 12. 3.) Sanctify (that is, prepare) them for the day of slaughter. The 20 verse showeth that this may be implied. wept in the ears] in ver. 20. wept before the Lord; and so the Chaldee turneth it here. I• meaneth, that the Lord had seen and heard their complaint: for weeping is often joined with lifting up the voice, or crying out; as Ger. 27. 39. Judge. 2. 4. and 21. 2. 1 Sam. 11. 4. and 24. 16. and 30. 4.

Verse 20. Until a month of days] to wit, ye shall eat, as the Greek expresseth. Meaning a whole month; as a year of days is an whole year, 2 Sam. 14 28. So in Gen. 29. 14. loathsome] Hebr. to loathsomeness or alienation; which the Greek translateth, to choler; the Chaldee, to offense, that is, offensive, have despised] or, contemptuously refused, set at naught; which the Greek translateth, disobeyed the Lord; the Chaldee, rejected the Word of the LORD. who is] the Chaldee saith, whose Majesty (or Divine presence) remaineth among you.

Verse 22. to suffice them] so the Greek and Chaldee expound the Hebrew Ma'sa, which usually signifieth to find; but here is used for obtaining that which is sufficient: so in Ios. 17. 16. Judge. 21. 14. Here Mose, showeth that the thing promised was impossible in man's judgment, both in respect of the multitude of men, and length of time: and therefore he mentioneth beasts and fishes which also are flesh, 1 Cor 15. 39 but speaketh not of fowls, as thinking least of all that they should be filled with them: yet God sufficed them with such, verse 31. So Philip said unto Christ, Two hundred <...> worth of bread is not sufficient for (this multitude) that everyone may have a little, John. 6. 7, 9.

Verse 23. hand waxed short] that is, power abated; the Greek expoundeth it, Shall not the Lord's hand be sufficient? the Chaldee thus, Shall the word of the Lord be hindered? Hand is often used for power, as being the instrument wherewith power is shown, Deut. 32. 36. Ios. 4. 24. and 8. 20. shortness signifieth lessening; and is applied sometime to the Lord's Spirit, as in Mic. 2. 7. is the spirit of Jehovah shortened? Sometime to his hand, as here, and in Isaiah. 59. 1. Behold Jehovah's hand is not shortened, that it cannot save: and in Isaiah. 50. 2. Is my hand shortened at all, that it cannot redeem? or have I no power to deliver? where the latter sentence explaineth the former.

Verse 25. they prophesied] this was a gift and effect of God's Spirit upon them: and is elsewhere so explained; as, upon the handmaids in those days, I will pour out my spirit, Joel 2. 29. that is, I will power out of my spirit, and they shall prophesy, Act. 2. 18. So in Act. 19. 2. 6. And when Saul was anointed to be King, the Spirit of God came upon him, and he prophesied, 1 Sam. 10. 6, 10. Prophesying was not only a foretelling of things to come, but sometime a declaring of the word of God unto the people; see Exod. 7. 1. Gen. 20. 7. And thus Paul saith, He that prophesieth, speaketh unto men to edification, and exhortation, and comfort, 1 Cor. 14. 3. Sometime it was a singing of praises unto God; as they that prophesied with Harps, with Psalteries and with Cymbals; to confess and to praise the LORD, 1 Chron. 25. 1, 3. did not add] that is, prophesied no more but that day, as God spake the ten commandments, and added not, that is, spake no more, or after such a manner to the people, Deut. 52. 2. Thus the Greek here translateth, and they added no more: and Sol. Rashi saith, they did not add, i. they prophesied not save that day only; so it is expounded is Siphre. Howbeit the Chaldee translath it, ceased not; in a contrary signification, which sometime is in the Hebrew words. But seeing the Chaldee so expoundeth that also in Deut. 5. 22. that the Lord ceased not, which seemeth to mean a continuance till all those ten words were finished; we may likewise understand him here to mean a continuance for that day; (as Saul in Naioth prophesied all that day and all that night, 1 Sam. 19. 24.) and not a continuance always; for this seemeth to be a temporary gift and miracle for confirmation of their Office; as in 1 Sam. 10. 6, 11.

Verse 26. Medad] in Greek, Modad. the spirit] in Chaldee, the spirit of prophesy. that were written] by Moses in a book; or in papers (as the Hebrews think) and so were appointed among the rest to come to the Tabernacle, verse 16. 24. but went not out] for what cause, the Scripture showeth not: but by comparing this their fact with others, it is probable, that as Saul when he should have been made King, withdrew and hid himself among the stuff, 1 Sam. 10. 22. so these two, unwilling to take the charge upon them, withdrew their shoulders, and came not to the Tabernacle: yet the Lord by his Spirit found them out: for whither shall men go from his Spirit? or whither shall they flee from his presence? Psal. 139. 7. The Hebrews have here their uncertain conjectures: Sol. Rashi saith, They were all written expressly by their names, and should have been taken by Lots. For the count was made for the twelve tribes out of every tribe six, except two tribes, of which were but five. Moses took seventy two papers (or ם) and on seventy of them he wrote AN ELDER, and on two, A PART: and he chose six out of every tribe, so there were seventy and two. Then he sa• unto them, take up your papers out of the basket. Who so took up with his hand (a paper on which was written) AN ELDER, he was sanctified (to that office:) but he in whose hand came up A PART; unto him he said, The Lord will not have thee.

Verse 28. of his choice young men] in Greek, his chosen one; the Chaldee saith, of his young men. The original word signifieth also youth: whereupon some translate it, the minister of Moses, frō his youth: but this seemeth not fit; for Moses shepherds life in Midian, from which he came but a little before this, argueth the contrary. forbid thou them This he spake of envious zeal for his master Moses sake, (as the verse following showeth;) that he would not have the use of the gift of prophesy common; or, because they obeyed not Moses to come out as he commanded. So the disciples forbade one that cast our devils in Christ's name, because he followed not with them, Luk 9. 49, 50. Mark 9. 38. Targum Jonathan explaineth it, M. Lord Moses request mercy from before the Lord, and forbid them the spirit of Prophecy.

Verse 29. Enviest thou] or, Hast thou en•isus zeal, or jealousy for my sake? which is a prohibition, Have it not: as, Think ye that I am come to give peace on earth? Luke 12. 51. that is, Think it not, Mat. 10. 34. but O who shall give] or, and O who, &c. this is an earnest wish, as would God, or the like: the word and, setteth forth the earnestness of his passion, as Act. 23. 3. Psal. 2. 6. his spirit] that is, the gifts of his spirit; as the Chaldee saith, his spirit of prophesy. So Paul wisheth that all the Church could prophesy, and saith, Follow after love, and zealously desire spiritual gifts; but rather that ye may prophesy, 1 Cor. 14. 1.

Verse 30. gathered] that is, gat himself, or, at the Greek saith, departed. the Elders] who were authorised of God to be of the high Council or Synedrion with Moses, and his assistants: and thus they differed from those inferior Magistrates, which had been appointed before by Iechroes advice, Exod. 18. 21, 25. And as then all hard causes were brought unto Moses, Exod. 18. 26. so after this, such causes were brought to the high court or Synedrion, first ordained here. This is shown by the Hebrew Canons in Talmud Bab. Sanbedrin, c. 1. and Maimonides in Sanbedrin, c. 5. thus: They set up no King, but by the mouth of the Senate of 71. (Elders;) neither make they any lesser Synedrion for every tribe and for every city, but by the Senate of 71. Neither judge they a whole tribe revolted (to idolatry,) nor a false Prophet, nor the high Priest in judgment of life and death, but by the great Synedrion. But money-matters are judged by the Court of three Judges. Likewise they make (or judge) no elder rebellious (Deut. 17.) nor any city drawn  $\langle \phi \rangle$  to idolatry (Deut. 13.) neither cause they the suspected woman to drink the bitter waters (Nam. 5.) but in the great Synedrion. Neither do they add unto (or in Large) the City or the Courtyard, neither go they forth to permitted war, &c. [whereof see the notes on Deut. 20. 1.] but by the great Synedrion, as it is said, (in Exod. 18. 22.) every great matter they shall bring unto thee.

Verse 31. a wind] God made an East wind to pass forth in heaven; and brought on a South wind by his strength, Psal. 78. 26. brought Quails] such fowls as he had fed them with before, in Exod. 16. 13. them now God again brought swiftly and as with violence; which the Chaldee translath, made to fly. let them fall] or, spread them abroad; so this word is Englished in 1 Sam. 30. 16. two cubits] Sol. Rashi saith, they flew so hie as against a man's heart, that he was not toiled in getting them, either by reaching hie, or by stooping low.

Verse 32. ten homers] or, ten heaps, as the Chaldee translath: for the Hebrew homer sometime signifieth an heap, as in Ex. 8. 4. sometime a kind of measure containing ten Ephahs or Bushels, Ez. 45. 11. the w<sup>ch</sup> measure is called also a Cor. Eze. 45. 14. & so Targum Yerushalmi interpreteth it here. Thus also the Greek translath it ten Cors; (for of the Hebrew Cor, the Greek Coros, in Luk. 16. 7. & Latin Corus are derived.) And Chazkuni here explaineth it, ten homers; there are in an homer thirty Seahs (or Pecks;) so ten homers contain three hundred Seahs: loe he that gathered least, had every day ten Seahs. Of the Seah or Pecke, see the notes on Gen. 18. 6. This abundance of fowls was miraculous, whereupon it is said, God rained flesh upon them as dust; and feathered fowls as the sand of the seas, Psal. 78. 27. And with these they filled their greedy lust; (seeding themselves without fear, as Jude verse 12.) though the Lord had threatened to punish them, verse 20.

Verse 33. not yet cut off] to wit, from their mouth; that is, not taken from them, which the Greek translath, before it (that is, the flesh) failed. Thus the phrase is opened in Joel 1. 5. the new wine is cut off from your mouth; that is, taken away from you. Or, by cutting, may be meant chewing. The Psalmist alleging this, saith; They were not estranged from their desire; the meat was yet in their mouth, when the anger of God came up against them, &c. Psal. 78. 30, 31. And here Chazkuni observeth, how they were plagued of God, after that he had sufficed all of them with flesh; that men should not say, he had not plagued them, but because he was not able to suffice them all with flesh. a very great plague] or, ve•meant great smiting: Abr. Ezra writeth that it was the pestilence: God gave-them their request, when they lusted for flesh; but sent leanness into their soul, Psal. 106. 14, 15. The anger of God came up against them, and slew of the fat of them; and smote down the choice young men of Israel, Psal. 78. 31.

Verse 34. he called] meaning, Moses called, and by the name of the place, left a memorial of their sin and punishment, for a warning to them after, Deut. 9. 22. and to us, that we should not lust after evil things as they lusted, 1 Cor. 10. 6. Or, as the Greek translateth it, the name of the place was called; see verse 3. Kibroth hattaavah] that is, as the Greek expoundeth it, Graves (or monuments) of lust. Where lust may be used for the men that lusted; as circumcision, in Rom. 2. 26. is for men circumcised; Pride, for the proud man, Ier. 50. 31, 32. Psal. 36. 12. and many the like. See the notes on Gen. 45. 7.

Vers. 35. were in Hazeroth] or, Chatseroth, in Greek, Aseiroth; here they were, that is, abode, or continued; (as Daniel was, that is, continued, Dan. 1. 21. and they were, that is, continued there, Ruth 1. 2.) The cause of which abode, was a new trouble which Moses sister and brother raised against him, Num. 12.

CHAP. XII.

1 Marie and Aaron speak against Moses, about his wife, and office. 4 The Lord calleth them all before him, justifieth Moses, magnifieth his office, rebuketh the murmurers, and departeth in anger. 10 Marie is made a Loper, Aaron confesseth sin, Moses prayeth God to heal her. 14 The Lord commandeth her to be shut out of the campe seven days. 15 The people's journey is stayed till she was brought in again; then they go on into Pharan.

AND Marie and Aaron spake against Moses, because of the Ethiopian woman, whom he had taken; for he had taken an Ethiopian woman. And they said; Hath Jehovah spoken only indeed by Moses? hath he not spoken also by us? And Jehovah heard it. Now the man Moses was very meek, above all the men which were upon the face of the earth.

And Jehovah said suddenly unto Moses, and unto Aaron, and unto Marie; Come out ye three unto the Tent of the Congregation; and they three went out. And Jehovah came down in the pillar of the cloud, and stood in the door of the Tent, and called Aaron and Marie; & they two came forth. And he said, Hear now my words: If there shall be a Prophet among you, I Jehovah will make myself known unto him in a vision; I will speak unto him in a dream. My servant Moses is not so, he is faithful in all mine house. Mouth to mouth will I speak with him, and in vision, and not in dark speeches; and the similitude of Jehovah shall he behold: and wherefore were ye not afraid to speak against my servant against Moses? And the anger of Jehovah was kindled against them, and he went away. And the cloud departed from off the Tent; and behold, Marie became leprous as snow: and Aaron looked upon Marie, and behold she was leprous. And Aaron said unto Moses; Alas my lord, I beseech thee, lay not the sin upon us, wherein we have done foolishly, and wherein we have sinned. I beseech thee, let her not be as one dead; of whom when he cometh out of his Mothers womb, half his flesh is even consumed. And Moses cried out unto Jehovah, saying; O God, I beseech thee, heal her now.

And Jehovah said unto Moses; And if her father had spitting spitted in her face, should she not be ashamed seven days? let her be shut seven days out from the campe; and after let her be gathered in. And Marie was shut out from the campe seven days; and the people journeyed not till Marie was gathered in again. And afterward the people journeyed from Hazeroth, and encamped in the Wilderness of Pharan.

Annotations.

Marie] in Hebrew, Mirjam; in Greek, Mariam; she was a Prophetess, sister of Moses and Aaron, Ex. 15. 20 & she it was that began the quarrel, as in the original it appeareth; Marie she spake: therefore she, not Aaron, was plagued with leprosy, v. 10. As Satan prevailed first with Eve, then by her with Adam, Gen. 1. 3. so here first with Marie, and then by her, with Aaron the high Priest. And as the former sin of lust for flesh, began among the baser sort, Num. 11. 4. so this sin of ambition and vain glory, began among the chiefest of the Church: for these three, Moses, Aaron and Mary, were the chief guides, whom God sent before his people, Mic. 6. 4. because] or, upon occasion, for the sake. Ethiopian] Hebr. Cushite, which the Greek translatheth, Ethiopian. This seemeth to be no other than Zipporah the Midianresse, who Moses had married, Ex. 2. 16, 21. & because the Midianites dwelt in Cush his land, they were called Cushites (or Ethiopians;) and it may be also because they were tawny coloured like them. For otherwise Cush was the son of Cham, Gen. 10. 6. whereas Midian was the son of Abraham the son of Sem, Gen. 25. 1, 2. The Chaldee, instead of Cushith, saith Faire, which may be spoken by the contrary. Josephus, Philo, and some others, take this wife not to be Sipporah, but another Ethiopians taken] to wit, to wife; that is, married: so in 1 Chron. 2. 19, 21. 2 Chron. 11. 20. Nah. 6. 18. and 10 30. By this it seemeth, the marrying of that woman, (who was not of the stock of Israel, and who hindered him from circumcising his son, Exod. 4. 24, 25, 26.) was the occasion of their murmuring. Howbeit, the Hebrew Doctors make his not companying with his wife, to be the occasion: for that he being a Prophet, daily conversant with the Lord, and frequenting his Tabernacle, abstained from her, lest he should have legal pollution, which would have kept him from the Sanctuary, Levite. 15. 16—31. Compare also Exod. 19. 15. Thus the Chaldee expoundeth it, for he had put away (or, abstained from) the fair wife which he had taken. And Sol. Rashi thus, for he had taken a Cushite woman, and had now put her away.

Verse 2. by Moses] or, in Moses; as speaking of inward revelation by the Spirit: The Targum called Jonathan's, paraphraseth thus; Hath the Lord spoken only indeed with Moses, who is separated from copulation of the bed, meaning with his wife. also by us] or, in us: as David said, The spirit of Jehovah spake in me, 2 Sam. 23. 2. Here Sol. Rashi addeth for explanation, hath he not spoken also by us, and yet we have not separated ourselves from the way of the earth: meaning, from mutual society, such as is between man and wife; a phrase taken from Gen. 19. 31. But it may be understood, as before is noted, that they would not have Moses esteemed the only Prophet, who had so stained himself by marriage with a strange woman. Their drift was, by disgracing Moses for his infirmity, to grace and advance themselves; against which it is said, Let us not be desirous of vain-glory, provoking one another, envying one another, Gal. 5. 26. heard it] that is, took notice of this their speech, to reprove and punish it. So of Reuben's sin, it is said, Israel heard it, Gen. 35. 22. Or, God is said to hear it, as a witness of that which it may be they murmured in secret: as in Psal. 59 8. swords are in their lips, for who (say they) doth hear? and in Psal. 55. 20. God will hear and afflict them. See also Psal. 94. 7 8 9.

Vers. 3. meek] the original word hath affinity with affliction and lowliness; for by affliction this virtue is furthered, Lam. 3. 27, 28, 29, 30. and is seated in the heart and spirit, as the Apostle mentioneth a meek and quiet spirit, 1 Pet. 3. 4. As Moses, so Christ is set forth for an example of meekness, Mat. 21. 5. and 11. 29. It is a virtue which keepeth a mean in anger, and avenging of ourselves when we are offended, wronged, and contemned. above all the men] or, more than any man. This commendation the Spirit of God giveth of Moses, though by Moses own pen, (as the Apostle also writeth in his own behalf, 2 Cor. 11. 5, 6, 10, 22, &c. and 12. 11, 12.) although Moses is noted to have been very angry, sundry times, Exod. 11. 8. and 16. 20. and 32. 19. Levite. 10. 16 Num. 16. 15. and 31. 14. and 20. 10, 11. compared with Psal. 106. 32, 33.

Vers. 4. said suddenly] so showing the greatness of his displeasure against them, which suffered no delay, Psal. 64. 7. Prov. 6. 15. Isaiah. 30 13. and preventing any that mought think Moses complained to God and sought revenge. Thus God who will be a swift witness against evil doers, Mal. 3. 5. suddenly rose to plead the cause of his meekest servant. Compare Psal. 50. 19, 20, 21. ye t'ree] both parties are judicially summoned to appear before the Lord, in the Tent of his habitation: as he riseth up to judgment, to save all the meek of the earth, Psal. 76. 9 So in Num. 16. 16.

Verse 5. came down] in Chaldee, revealed him-self: see Gen. 11. 5. of the cloud] as the throne o• his glory, out of which he used to appear & speak unto them, Psal. 99. 7. Num. 16. 42. Unto these apparitions, those visions of John hath reference, Rev. 10. 1, 2, 3. and 14 14, &c.

Vers. 6. a Prophet among you] or, of you; Hebr. your Prophet: which the Chaldee expoundeth, ﴿ 〉 there shall be Prophets to (or among) you. What this word Prophet meaneth, see in the notes on Gen. 20. 7. Exod. 7. 1. I Jehovah,] so the Chaldee also explaineth it: or it may be interpreted, of Jehovah; that is, a Prophet of the LORD: so the Greek translateth, a Prophet of you to the Lord. in a vision] or, by a vision, or sight; that is, as the Chaldee saith, in visions: so God appeared to Abraham the Prophet, in a vision, Gen. 20. 7. and 15. 1. and to Jacob, Gen. 46. 2. to Ezekiel, Ezek. 1. 1. to Daniel, Dan. 8. 2. and others, Job 4. 13. 2 Cor. 12. 1. Act. 2. 47. whereupon a prophesy is called a vision, Isaiah 1. 1. Obad. 1. 1. Nahum 1. 1. in a dream] Chaldee. in dreams: another way by which God revealed his word to the Prophets, Gen. 31. 11. Deut. 13. 1. 1 Kings 3. 5. Ier. 23. 25. 28. 32. Dreams are in the night, and then as it were in darkness God spake with the other Prophets; but as R. Menachem here noteth, it was not so with Moses, for (God) spake not with him but by day. Moreover dreams and visions do soon vanish and fly away, Job 20. 8.

V. 7. not so] is not such a Prophet, that I should speak to him by dreams and visions. faithful in all mine house] that is, in all my Church; for the house of God, is expounded the Church of the living God, 1 Tim. 3. 15. and so the Chaldee here translateth it, in all my people; and Jonathan, in all the house of Israel my people: and Chazkuni explaineth it thus, all the men of my house hold him for faithful. This is further opened by the Apostle, saying; Consider the Apostle and high Priest of our prosession, Christ Jesus, who was faithful to him that made him, as also Moses was in all his house, &c. And Moses verily was faithful in all his house, as a servant, for a testimony of those things which were to be spoken after, but Christ as the Son over his own house; whose house we are, if we hold fast the confidence, and the rejoicing of the hope firm unto the end. Hebr. 3. 1—6. Touching Moses faithfulness, and the confidence that Israel reposed in him, see the notes on Exod. 19. 9.

Verse 8. Mouth to mouth] that is, familiarly, plainly, in mine own presence, without any interposed mean; as the Chaldee translath, Speech with speech. So when Joseph spake without an interpreter, he said, it is my mouth that speaketh unto (דב) , Gen. 45. 12. and the Apostle opposeth it to speech by writing; as, I would not write with paper and ink, but I trust to come unto you, & speak mouth to mouth, that our joy may be full, 2 John. v. 12, and 3 John. 14. A like phrase is in Exod. 33. 11. Jehovah spake unto Moses face to face, as a man speaketh unto his friend: and in this manner of communication, Moses excelled all other Prophets, Deut. 34. 10. The Hebrew Doctors have explained this matter thus; It is one of the foundations of the Law, to know that God maketh the sons of men to prophesy; and prophesy resteth not but on a wise man, great in wisdom mighty in his virtuous qualities, that his affections (or natural corruption) prevail not over him, in anything in the world but he prevaieth by his knowledge over his affections continually, &c. On such a man the holy Ghost dwelleth, and when the Spirit resteth upon him, his soul is associated to the degree of Angels which are called men, and he is turned to another man, and perceiveth in his own knowledge that he is not so as he was, but that he is advanced above the degree of other wise men, as it is said of Saul, And thou shalt prophesy with them, and shalt be turned to another man, (1 Sam. 10. 6.) The Prophets were of divers degrees: as in wisdom one wise man is greater than another, so in prophesy one Prophet was greater than another. And all of them saw not the vision of prophesy but by dream, by vision of the night, or in the day time, after that a deep sleep was fallen upon them. Num. 12. 6. and all of them when they prophesied, their joints crembled, and strength of body failed, and their thoughts were troubled, and the mind was le•t changed to understand that which was seen; as is said of Abraham, And •oe a terror, a great darkness fall upon him (Gen. 15.) and as is said of Daniel, And my vigor was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no strength, (Dan. 10. 8.) The things that were made known to a Prophet by vision prophetical, were made known to him by way of parable, and forthwith the interpretation of the parable was written in his heart, and he knew what it was. As the ladder that Jacob our father did see, and the Angels ascending and descending o• it, (Gen. 28. 12.) and the living creatures which Ezekiel saw, (Ezek. 1. and the •ecthing pot, and Almond rod which Ieromy saw, (Ier. 1.) and the Ephah which Zechariah saw, (Zach. 5.) and so the other Prophets, of whom some spake the parable and the interpretation thereof, some the interpretation only; and sometime they uttered the parable only, without the interpretation, as part of Ezekiel's and Zacharies words: and they all prophesies by parables and after the way of dark speeches. None of the Prophets prophesied at all times when they would; but prepared their understanding, and sate joyful, & with cheerful heart, and with contemplation. For prophesy cometh not upon men, either when they are sorrowful, or when they are slothful, but when they are joyful: therefore the sons of the Prophets had before them Psalteries, and Timbrels, and Pipes, and Harps, (1 S•. 10. 5.) and they sought for prophesy; and this is that which is written, AND THEY PROPHEYSING, (1 Sam. 10. 5.) as if he should say, walking in the way of prophesy, until they do prophesy. Those which sought to prophesy, are called sons of the Prophets: and although they prepared their wits derstanding;) it might be the holy Ghost would come down upon them, and it might be not. All these things that we have spoken of were the way of prophesy for all the former and latter Prophets except Moses our master, the master of all the Prophets. And what difference was there between the prophesy of Moses, and of all the other Prophets?

All the Prophets prophesied by dream or by vision: but Moses prophesied when he was waking and standing; as it is written, And when Moses was gone into the Tent of the congregation, to speak with him thou he heard; the voice of one speaking unto him; (Num. 7. 89.) All, the Prophets prophesied by the hands of an Angel therefore they did see that which they saw in parables and dark speeches: Moses prophesied not by the hands of an Angel, as it is said, Mouth to mouth. I will speak with him (Num. 12. 8.) it is also ◊ The Lord spake unto Moses face to face, (Ex. 33. 11.) & again it is said. And the similitude of the LORD shall he behold, (Num. 12. 8.) as if he should say, there is no parable there, but he seeth the thing concerning his Creator, without dark speech, without parable. He it is of whom the Law testifieth, APPARANTLY, AND NOT IN DARKE SPEECHES, (Num. 12. 8.) for he prophesied not by dark speech, but apparently for he saw the thing concerning his Creator. All the Prophets were afraid, and troubled, and fainted, but Moses was not so; for the Scripture saith. As a man speaketh unto his friend, (Exod. 33. 11.) as if he should say, as a man is not troubled to hear the words of his friend, so there was strength in the mind of Moses, to understand the words of prophesy, and he stood on his place safe and well. None of the Prophets prophesied at all times when they would: but Moses was otherwise, for at any time when he would, the holy Ghost clothed him, and prophesy came upon him; and he needed not to prepare his mind, and make himself ready for it; for he was prepared and ready, and stood as the Angels of ministry, therefore he prophesied at all times, as it is said, Stand still and I will hear what the LORD will command concerning you, (Num. 9. 8.) And this God caused him to trust upon, as it is said, But as for thee, Stand thou here with me, &c (Deut. 5. 31.) whereby thou mayest learn that all the Prophets, when prophesy was taken up from them, returned to their tents, which was for things necessary to the body of them all, as the rest of the people; therefore they were not separated from their wives: but Moses our master returned not to his first tent, therefore he was separated from his wife forever; and his mind was fast bound unto God the Rock everlasting, and his glory was never taken up from upon him, but the skin of his face shined, and he was sanctified as the Angels. Maimonides in Misn. tom. 1 in Iesude hattorah, chap 7 sect. 1.—6. Now as the Apostle compareth Christ with Moses, and preferreth him before Moses, Heb. 3. so in this gift of prophesy he did excel him: for the Lord God gave him the tongue of the learned that he knew how to speak a word in season, Isaiah. 50. 4. and this he learned not by dreams or visions, nor by Angels, nor by speech communicated mouth to mouth; but by clear seeing of God, (which no man ever did at any time;) and being in the bosom of the Father, John. 1. 18. and having the Spirit not by measure he testified what he had seen and heard with his Father, John 3. 34. 32. and 8. 38. and in him all fullness dwelt, even the fullness of the Godhead bodily, Coloss. 1. 19. and 2. 9. will I speak] that is, I usually speak: the time to come is used to signify a continued action. in vision] or by sight, or, appearance, that is, apparently: the Greek translateth, in an appearance, or sight; which word is opposed (in 2 Cor. 5. 7.) to faith, which is of things not seen, Hebr. 11. 1. and here the Lord opposeth it to dark speeches, so it meaneth an apparent or clear revelation. Ibn Ezra explaineth it thus; I will show him the thing as it is, as the form of the Tabernacle (Exod. 25. 40) and not in a dark speech, (or riddle) like that (in Ezek. 17. 2.) a great Eagle with great wings, &c. dark speeches] or, hidden speeches, riddles: a ◊ speech is called in Hebrew Chidah, of sharpness, because it requireth sharpness of wit, both to propound & expound the same, as we have example ◊ Samson's riddle, Judge. 14. 13, 14, &c. & it is of the nature of a parable, as in Eze. 17. 2. 3. Son of man put forth a riddle, & speak a parable to the house of Israel; A great Eagle with great wings, long winged, full• feathers, which had divers colors, came unto Lebanan, &c. And all close and hidden doctrine is called a riddle, Psal. 49. 5. And the holy Ghost translateth it in Greek, sometime Ainigma, a riddle, 1 Cor. 13. 12. (as the common Greek version he hath,) sometime hidden things, Mat. 13. 35. from Psal. 78. 2. and so the Chaldee of Jonathan expoundeth it here. The Apostle showeth the meaning of this word, when he saith, Now we see thorough a glasses, a riddle, (that is, darkly) but then (we shall see face to face, 1 Corinth. 13. 12. the similitude or, the likeness, image, which the Greek interpreteth the glory of the Lord: Sol. Irchi saith, This was the sight of (God's) back-parts, mentioned in Exod. 33. 23. And this prerogative Moses h• above all Israel, which saw no similitude of God, Deut. 4. 12. 15. and above all Prophets, who saw no vision of God so clear as he did. For even Moses himself could not see the face of God, Ex•, 33 20. No man hath seen God at any time, John 1. 18. neither can see, 1 Tim. 6. 16. against my servant, against Moses] a manner of speech both earnest and elegant, like that in Gen. 21. 10. with my son, with Isaac; and that in 2 Sam. 7. 23. like thy people, like Israel. Sol. Rashi noteth; He saith not, against my servant Moses; but, against my servant against Moses; against my servant, though he were not Moses; against Moses, for though he were not my servant, it were meet ye should fear before him, <⋄> much more seeing he is my servant. According to this the Apostle speaketh in 2 Pet. 2. 10. they are not afraid to speak evil of dignities.

Vers. 9. he went away] withdrew the sign of his glorious presence, not vouchsafing to locate their answer; which was a token of his great d•pleasure.

Vers. 10. the cloud departed] the cloud of the glory of the divine presence of the Lord, saith Targum Jonathan. leprous as snow] that is, leprous white as snow; and this was the sorest leprosy, and most incurable, see Exod. 4. 6. 2 King. 5. 27. and they that had this disease, were put out of the Lord's campe as unclean, Levite. 13. and therefore God departed now away, for (as Chazkuni here saith,) It is not the way of the earth, that holiness should stay in an unclean place. This punishment was very memorable, both for the suddennes and sorenesse of it; wherefore it is after said, Remember what Jehovah thy God did unto Marie by the way <...> ter that ye were come forth out of Egypt, Deut. 24. 9 And if God did thus unto so great a woman for Moses sake, what will he do to such as rebel against Christ, who is counted worthy of more glory than Moses, Heb. 3. 3. For if they escaped not, who refused him that spake on earth; much more shall not <⋄> (escape,) if we turn away from him that (speaketh) from heaven, Hebr. 12. 25. For Christ is not the servant, but the Son, even the Lord from heaven, 1 Cor. 15. 47.

Verse 11. Alas my lord] or, Oh my lord, Hebr. unto me, to wit, have respect; the Chaldee explaineth it, We pray thee, my lord: see this phrase in Gen. 43. 20. Aaron as unworthy of access himself unto God now departed, maketh request unto Moses, honoreth him (though Aaron himself was both the elder brother, and the high Priest) with the title of his lord, confesseth their sin against him, craveth pardon; and by Moses mediation, to have their sister cured. sin] that is, the punishment of sin, (as Levite. 22. 9. Num. 18. 32.) which he desireth that by Moses intercession, it might not be laid upon them of God. wherein we have done foolishly] or, because we are become foolish: the Greek translateth, because we have done ignorantly in that we have sinned: in which sense it is a lessening of their sin, as done through unadvisedness and oversight, not maliciously.

Vers. 12. as one dead] by continuance of the leprosy upon her, whereby she should be shut out of the communion of the Church, Num. 5. 2. should defile all that touched her, as do the dead; and in the end be consumed and die utterly with that fretting plague, as the words following show. The Chaldee expoundeth this verse thus; Let her not now be separated from among us, for she is our sister: pray now for this dead flesh that is in her, that it may be healed. is even consumed] or, is even eaten, to wit, with the disease: and by coming out of his mothers womb, the Greek understandeth and translateth, an untimely birth coming out, &c. for as of such a dead birth the flesh is half consumed, so is the flesh of a Leper.

Verse 13. cried out] that is, as the Chaldee translateth, prayed, but earnestly, and as grieved for her affliction: so the word usually signifieth. O God] Hebr. Ael, which is one of God's names signifying his Might, and together implying his mercy; as is noted on Gen. 14. 18. So in Targum Jonathan, it is here explained; And Moses prayed and besought mercy before the Lord, saying; I beseech for mercy of the merciful God, I beseech God that hath power of the spirits of all flesh, heal her I beseech thee.

Verse 14. had spitting spitted] that is, had but spitted, to wit, in anger. The Chaldee expoundeth it, had rebuked. Spitting on the face, is a sign of anger, shame and contempt, Job 30. 10. Isaiah. 50. 6. which if it had been from her earthly father, should have made her ashamed and sorrowful seven days: how much more now that it is from her father which is in heaven. seven days] so long every leper was to be shut up by the Law, for every trial; and also at his cleansing: see Levite. 13. 4, 5. 21, 26. and 14. 8. So long was he unclean, that touched a dead man, Num. 19. 11. gathered] that is, received in, or as the Greek translateth, enter in. So gathering is used for receiving or taking in, after that one is neglected or forsaken, Judge. 19. 15. Ios. 20. 4. Psal. 27. 10. Here Targum Jonathan addeth this paraphrase, and I will cause to stay, for thy sake, the cloud of my glory, and the Tabernacle, and the Ark, and all Israel, until the time that she is healed, and afterward she shall be gathered in.

Ver. 15. Mary was shut] in Greek, was separated: this was an example of justice against sinners, without respect of persons: therefore they are after willed to remember this, Deut. 24. 9. And even Kings when they were Lepers, were separated and dwelt apart, 2 Chron. 26. 20, 21. the people journeyed not] but stayed mourning for her, till she was recured; which was a special honor unto Marie above other Lepers, for whom there was no such stay, Num. 5. 2, 4. Because this Mary was one of those who God sent before his people, Mic. 6. 4. Ex. 15. 20. Sol. Rashi saith, The Lord imparted this honor unto her, because she once stayed for Moses when he was cast into the river, as it is written, and his sister stood a far off, &c. Exod. 2. 4.

Verse 16. Wilderness of Pharan] or of Paran; which had been Ismaels habitation, Gen. 21. 21. and the place where they pitched in this Wilderness was called Rithmah, Num. 33. 18. and Cades barnea, Num. 13. 3. 26. Deut. 1. 19, &c.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The Lord biddeth Moses send one man of every tribe to search the land of Canaan. 4 Their names and tribes. 17 Their instructions. 21 Their acts and return after forty days. 26 Their relation of the goodness of the land, and strength of the inhabitants. 30 Caleb encourageth the people, but the other discourage them, and bring up an evil report upon the land.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

ANd Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Send thou men, that they may search the land of Canaan, which I give to the sons of Israel: one man, one man for a tribe of his fathers, shall ye send everyone a ruler among them. And Moses sent them from the Wilderness of Pharan, at the mouth of Jehovah: all those men were heads of the sons of Israel. And these were their names: Of the tribe of Reuben, Shammua the son of Zaccur. Of the tribe of Simeon, Shaphat the son of Hori.

Of the trbe of Judah, Caleb the son of Iephunneh. Of the tribe of Issachar, Iigal the son of Joseph. Of the tribe of Ephraim, Hoshea the son of Nun. Of the tribe of Benjamin, Palti the son of Raphu. Of the tribe of Zebulun, Gaddiel the son of Sodi. Of the tribe of Joseph, of the tribe of Manasseh, Gaddi the son of Susi. Of the tribe of Dan, Ammiel the son of Gemalli. Of the tribe of Aser, Sethur the son of Michael. Of the tribe of Naphtali; Nahbi the son of Vophsi. Of the tribe of Gad; Gevel the son of Machi. These are the names of the men which Moses sent to spy out the land: and Moses called Hoshea the son of Nun, Joshua. And Moses sent them to search the land of Canaan, and said unto them; Go up this way Southward, and go up into the mountain. And see the land what it is, and the people that dwelleth thereon, whether they be strong or weak, whether they be few or many. And what the land is that they dwell in; whether it be good or bad, and what the cities be that they dwell in; whether in tents or in strong holds. And what the land is, whether it be fat or lean, whether there be wood therein or not: and be ye of good courage, and take of the fruit of the land; (Now the days were the days of the first ripe grapes.) And they went up and searched the land, from the Wilderness of Zin, unto Rehob, to the entrance of Hamath. And they went up by the South, and he came unto Chebron: and there were Ahiman, Sheshai and Talmai, the children of Anak: now Hebron was built seven years, before Zoan in Egypt. And they came unto the bourne of Eshcol, and cut down from thence a branch, and one cluster of grapes; and they bare it on a staff, by two: and (they brought) of the pomegranates, and of the figs. That place was called the bourne of Eshcol, because of the cluster which the sons of Israel cut down from thence. And they returned from searching the land at the end of forty days. And they went and came to Moses, and to Aaron, and to all the congregation of the sons of Israel, unto the Wilderness of Pharan, to Kadesh: and brought back word unto them and unto all the congregation; and shown them the fruit of the land. And they told him, and said; We came unto the land whither thou sentest us: and surely it floweth with milk and honey, and this is the fruit of it. Nevertheless, the people is strong that dwelleth in the land; and the cities sensed very great: and moreover, we saw the children of Anak there. Amalek dwelleth in the land of the South: and the Chethite, and the Jebusite, and the Amorite dwelleth in the mountain; and the Canaanite dwelleth by the sea, and by the coast of Jordan. And Caleb stilled the people before Moses, and said, Going up, let us go up and possess it; for we are well able to overcome it. But the men that went up with him, said; We be not able to go up against the people: for they are stronger than we. And they brought up an evil report of the land which they had searched, unto the sons of Israel, saying; The land, thorough which we have gone to search it, is a land that eateth up the Inhabitants thereof; and all the people that we saw within it, are men of statures. And there we saw the Giants, the sons of Anak, which come of the Giants: and we were in our own eyes as grasshoppers; and so we were in their eyes.

Annotations.

Here beginneth the 37 section of the 〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Law: see Gen. 6. 9.

Jehovah spake] By Moses relation after, it appeareth, that when God had led his people from mount Horeb to Cadesh Barnea, thorough the great and fearful Wilderness, and they were come to the mountain of the Amorites; then Moses said, See, the LORD thy God hath given the land before thee; Go up possess it. And all the people came near unto Moses, and said; We will send men before us, and they shall search out the land for us, and bring us word again by what way we shall go up, &c. That word liked Moses well; and he took of them twelve men, and sent them to spy out the land, Deut. 1. 19—24. So where here it is said, Jehovah spake, &c. it is not meant, that this motion came first from the Lord; but the people first spake of it to Moses, he consulted with the Lord about it; and the Lord approved, or at least permitted the thing which they desired.

Verse 2. Send thou] or, Send for thee: which Sol. Rashi expoundeth to this sense; I comm••• thee not; if thou pleasest, send: for as much as Israel came and said, we will send men, &c. Deut. 1. 22. that they may search] or, and let them search, or espy, by searching round about: and the word implieth the action of the heart and mind, not of the eyes only, Eccles. 1. 13. and 7. 25. Thus God let them go search or espy the land, which he him-self before had espied for them, Ezek. 20. 6. and went before them in the way, to search them out a place to pitch their tents in, in fire by night, and in a cloud by day, Deut. 1. 33. of Canaan] that is, as the Greek translatheth, of the Chanaanites: named as the chief, for it was the land of seven mighty nations, Deut. 7. 1. I give] or, am giving: so he speaketh as of a thing present, for more assurance. one man one man] an Hebrew phrase, meaning, of every tribe one man, excepting the tribe of Levi, for of them none was sent; because they were to have no inheritance in the land, Deut. 18. 1. a ruler] or, a prince; not of the baser sort, because the business was weighty: whereupon their rebellion following was of the more note.

Verse 3. at the mouth] or, according to the mouth, that is, the word of the LORD, as the Chaldee translatheth; and the Greek, by the voice of the Lord: and this Sol. Rashi expoundeth by his permission. So in the commentary called Phesikta. f. 47. it is said, The election of the Spies was according to the mouth of the LORD; not that God commanded them to send them. If thou sayest, why did he not forbid them to send? To accomplish their desire, and to render them their recompense, and to give unto Joshua and Caleb a goodreward. heads] that is, as the Greek saith, Chief-rulers; and Chazkuni expoundeth them Captains over thousands: as in Exod. 18. 25.

Verse 4. Shammua] in Greek, Samiel son of Zacchour. [unspec 4]

Verse 5. Shaphat] in Greek, Saphat son of Souri. [unspec 5]

Verse 6. Caleb] in Greek, Chaleb son of Iephonne. See 1 Chron. 4. 15. His name signifieth Hartie: and he brought Moses word again, as it was in his heart, Ios. 14. 7.

Verse 7. Iigal] in Greek, Igad. [unspec 10]

Verse 8. Hoshea] in Greek, Auses son of Nave.

Verse 9. Palti] or as in Greek, Phalti.

Verse 10. Gaddiel] in Greek, Goudiel son of Soudi.

Verse 11. of Joseph] He was father of Ephraim in verse. 8. as well as of Manasseh here; and sometime Joseph is named for Ephraim, Ezek. 37. 16. 19. Revel. 7. 8. Here he is named as father of Manasseh, who was his first-borne, Ios. 17. 1. although the Hebrews give another reason; namely, because both of them uttered an ill report; Joseph, of his brethren, (Gen. 37. 2.) and the Prince of Manasseh, of the land: which Hoshea of Ephraim did not. Chazkuni on Num. 13.

Verse 13. Sethur] in Greek, Sadour. [unspec 14]

Verse 14. Nahbi] or Nachbi; in Greek, Naabi son of Sabi.

Verse 15. Geuel] in Greek, Goudiel. [unspec 16]

Verse 16. These are the names] Chazkuni here observeth, He sent no spy of the tribe of Levi, because he had no portion in the land. Nun] called also Non, 1 Chron. 7. 27. in Greek, Nave. Joshua] or, Iehoshua, called sometime Ieshua, Neh. 8. 17. in Greek, Jesus; and so the New testament writeth him, Act. 7. 45. Heb. 4. 8. that signifieth  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  Savior, Mat. 1. 21. And this name Moses gave him by the spirit of God; either as foreseeing that he should be his successor, and save the people from their enemies the Canaanites; or, (as Sol. Rashi here noteth) praying for him, that the Lord would save him from the counsel of the (wicked) spies. But Chazkuni readeth it, Moses had called Hoshea the son of Nun, Joshua, not that he now first called him Joshua, but before when he was made his  $\langle \dots \rangle$  ister, and found grace in his eyes. We find him called Joshua, before they came to mount Si  $\langle \dots \rangle$  i, Exod. 17. 9. and after this, when Moses is ready to die, he is called Hoshea, in Deut. 32. 44. where Chazkuni saith thus; At the first when he was taken to be Moses minister, Moses called him Joshua; for so is the manner of Kings to change the name of their ministers, Gen. 41. 45. Dan. 1. 7. But now when he is made King himself, his first name is restored: nevertheless thorough all the scripture he is called Joshua, because he was accustomed thereto already. By this reason, the change of his name should seem to diminish from his dignity; whereas it was changed rather for honor; as were the names of Abram, Sarai, Jacob, and others, Gen. 17. 5. 15. and 32. 28. Neh. 9. 7. Isaiah. 62. 2. Mar. 3. 16, 17.

Verse 17. Southward] or, by the South; as in verse. 22. meaning the South part of the land of Canaan, as Chazkuni explaineth it. For that was nearest unto them, and the worst part of the land, because it was wilderness, and waterless, as the original word Negeb, signifieth D•ie ground: and Calebs daughter said to her father, Thou hast given me a south (that is, a dry) land, give me also springs of water, Judge. 1. 15. and rivers in the south, Psal. 126. 4. meaneth refreshing after bondage and affliction. The Greek here translateth, Go up by this wilderness: and so in that part was a wilderness, Ios. 15. 1.—3. And Sol. Rashi saith, Go up this way by the south; that was the worst part of the land of Israel: for so is the manner of Merchants; they show the worst things first, and afterward they show the best. the mountain] which was inhabited by Amalekites, Canaanites, and Amorites, Num. 14. 40. 45. Deut. 1. 44. Of this, Chazkuni giveth a reason thus; And when ye shall know how to subdue the mountain, the valley will be •asi• to subdue.

Verse 18. the land what it is] This is again repeated in verse. 19. and the third time in verse. 20. which may thus be distinguished: by the land here, is meant the people of the land, as after Moses explaineth it; by the land in verse. 19. is meant the air of the country, and the cities, villages, tents, which were by the hand of man set thereon; and by the land in v. 20. is meant the soil or ground it self, & fruits that grew thereon. and the people] and is here for explanation, that is, or I mean the people: see the notes on Gen. 13. 15. So in Psal. 66. 4. Let all the earth bow down to thee, that is, all people's of the earth: likewise in Psal. 100. 1. and 96. 1. and often in the scriptures. So house for household or people in it, Gen. 45. 11. 18. Cities for citizens, Ios. 17. 12. whether they] Hebr. whether it be strong &c. speaking of the people, as one in multitude.

Verse 19. good or bad] this seemeth to respect the wholsomnesse of the country, for air, waters, &c. as in 2 King. 2. 19. the situation of this city is good, but the water is bad, and the land causeth to miscarie. To this Chazkuni referreth it, saying, or bad, if it cause the inhabitants thereof to mis (…) (or to be barren,) as 2 King. 2. 19. and hereupon they answered, It is a land that eateth up the inhabitants thereof, Num. 13. 32. intents] or, in camps, troupes: the Chaldee calleth them Villages (or unwalled towns) the Greek changeth the order, saying, in walled or in unwalled towns.

Vers. 20. fat or lean] This respecteth the soil it self, which if it be fat, is fertile; if lean, barren. The Chaldee changeth the metaphor, saying, whether it be rich or poor. So in Neh. 9. 25. 35. they took strong cities, and a fat land; and in Ezek. 34. 14. fat pasture. wood] or, trees, as the Greek and Chaldee interpret it, and Targum Jonathan, trees of food; that is, of fruit to be eaten. be ye of good courage] or, strengthen, encourage yourselves. the first ripe grapes] or, the first fruits of grapes. And then, as Chazkuni: observeth, they had need to have courage, because the keepers (of the vineyards) watched them there.

Verse 21. of Zin] or, of Tsin: there was a wilderness into which they came before, called Sin, so named of an Egyptian city Sin near it, Exod. 16. 1. Ezek. 30. 15, 16. This desert of Zin, seemeth to be so named as being a Thornie wilderness; for Zinnim (in the form plural) signifieth thorns, Job 5. 5. And as the former Sin bordered upon Egypt, so Zin bordered on the land of Canaan, Num. 34. 3, 4. Ios. 15. 3. Rehob] or Rechob, called in Greek, Roob, (as Rechabham or Rehoboam, 1 King. 12. 1. is written in Greek by the Holy Ghost Roboam, Mat. 1. 7.) This Rehob was a city in the west part of the land of Canaan near unto Sidon, which fell by lot to the tribe of Aser, Ios. 19. 28. Judge. 1. 31. to the entrance] or, to the entering in of Hamath: so in Num. 34. 8. Ios. 13. 5. Judge. 3. 3. Amos 6. 14. and so the Chaldee here translateth it. Hamath or Chamath, called also Hemath the great, Amos 6. 2. was a city on the north part of Canaan, and on the East side, (as Rehob was on the West,) Num. 34. 8. Ios. 13. 5. By this description of their voyage, they went from south to north, and from west to east, so viewing the wholeland. This Hamath is in Targum Jonathan called Antiochia, (and so Hamath was after named of K. Antiochus;) and it was situate under mount Lebanon, by the river Iabok.

Verse 22. by the south] or Southward; Gr. by the wilderness: see verse. 17. and he came unto Chebron] or, unto Hebron; a place in the south parts of Canaan, where Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, with their wives, had been buried, Gen. 23. 2. 19. and 49. 31. see the notes on Gen. 13. 18. By he came, Sol. Rashi and others, understand Caleb only; as if the twelve spies went not in one company, but one or two of them together: and Calebs coming thither is specially mentioned in Ios. 14. 9. the land whereon thy feet have trodden, shall be thine inheritance; and in verse. 12. now therefore give me this mountain, whereof the Lord spake in that day; and in verse. 14. Chebron therefore became the inheritance of Caleb. Others understand he came, that is, they came; as Chazkuni saith, It is the manner of the scripture to speak of many spies and liars in wait, in the singular number; as (in Ios. 8. 19.) the liar in ambush rose quickly out of his place. The Greek translateth they came▪ the Chaldee hath in some copies Atha, he came; in othersome Atho, THEY came.

Animan] or, as the Greek writeth him, Achiman: he was one of the heathen Giants dwelling in Chebron: the Hebrews interpret his name, Who is my brother? and that he was so called, because none in the world was brother to him (that is, like unto him) in strength: yet Caleb slew him and his two brethren; Ios. 15. 14. Judge. 1. 10. ﴿◊〉 in Greek, Sesei. Talmai] in Greek, Thelames▪ children of Anak] in Greek, generations of Enak: in Chaldee, sons of the Giant (or, of the mighty man.) Anak was the son of Arba, whereupon Chebron was in former times called Kirjah Arba, that is, the city of Arba, Ios. 15. 13. Gen. 23. 2. before Zoan] or Tsoan, called in Greek and Chaldee Tanes: (as of Tsor or Zor, is Tyrus in Greek.) This declareth not only the antiquity of Chebron, but by consequence the goodness of the land. For the Anakims which reigned over all, seated themselves in the best places. Sol. Iatchi saith; It may be that Cham built Chebron for his younger son Canaan, before he built Zoan for Mizraim his elder son, &c. Of all countries none excelled Egypt; as it is written, Like the garden of the Lord, like the land of Egypt, (Gen. 13. 10.) And Zoan was the most excellent in the land of Egypt, for there the kings dwelt, as it is written, For his Princes were at Zoan, (Isaiah 30. 4.) but Chebron was seven time: better than it.

Verse 23. bourne] or valley, brook. The Hebrew Nachal signifieth both a valley, Gen. 26. 17. 19. and a river or brook running in a valley: our English word bourne answereth to them both▪ Esh ﴿...〉 signifieth a cluster; and of the Israelites cutting of the cluster, this place had the name, for a memorial, verse. 24. The Greek translateth it, the valley of the cluster. This place is reported to have been in the tribe of Dan, within a little of the valley Sorck mentioned in Judge. 16 4. a branch] to wit, of a vine, and one cluster of grapes upon it, as the Greek version saith; and so Rashi explaineth it, a branch of a vine, and a cluster of grapes hanging upon it. on a staff] or, on a bar; the Greek translateth, on bars (or leavers▪) and omitteth the words following by two: which seemeth to favor the exposition that Chazkuni giveth here, they bare it on a bar of the branch, with two other bars. But the more simple and plain meaning is set down in Targum Jonathan thus, on a bar, on the shoulders of two of them.

Vers. 25. at the end of 40. days] in Greek, after 40. days. In Targum Jonathan there is added, in the month of Ab (which we call July) at the end of 40. days. And Chazkuni explaineth it further, that they began on the 29. of Sivan (which we name May,) and ended on the eighth of Ab (or July) So many days, our Lord Christ after his resurrection viewed his disciples, being seen of them 40. days, Act. 1. 3. And according to this number of days, the Israelites had years allotted them to wander and perish in the wilderness, because they believed not God, but refused to go into the good land proffered them, Numb. 14. 33. 34. Of the mystery in this number 40. see more in the notes on Deut. 25. 3.

Verse 26. to Kadesh] called also Kadesh ⟨ϕ⟩ Deut. 1. 19. There was a city of the Edomite called Kadesh, Num. 20. 16. whereupon the wilderness by it was called also Kadesh, Psal. 29. ⟨ϕ⟩ and the same was called the wilderness of Zin, Num. 33. 36. Chazkuni here saith, The wilderness of Pharan, and the wilderness of Zin, and Hazeroth, and Kadesh barnea, and Rithmah (Num. 33. 18.) were one near to another. This Kadesh (in Greek Kades) The Chaldee nameth Rekam.

Verse 27. they told him] to wit, Moses, in the hearing of all the congregation. and honey] that is, with all good things: see the notes on Exod. 3. 8. Thus they acknowledged the truth of God's promises; they said, It is a good land which the Lord our God doth give unto us, Deut. 1. 25.

Verse 28. Nevertheless] or, But that. This latter part of the speech, was from the ten spies (not from Caleb or Joshua,) who here take occasion to terrify the people from going to possess the land, Deut. 1. 28. fenced] with strong holds, high walls and munition; the Greek expresseth it by two words, fenced, walled: in Deut. 1. 28. and 9. 1. it is said, fenced up to heaven: and in Deut. 3. 5. fenced with high walls, gates and bars. children of Anak] in Greek, the generation of Enak, in Chaldee, sons of the Giant: so in Deut. 1. 28. the Greek translateth them, sons of the Giants; see before on verse. 20. Of these there went a proverb, Who can stand before the sons of Anak? Deut. 9. 2. And of this, the Greeks borrowed the word Anakes, to signify Kings: and by interpretation Anak signifieth a chain, Prov. 1. 9. which is an ornament for kings and great personages, and of old, upon their beasts necks also, Judge. 8. 26. And many such men were chained with pride, as Ps. 73. 6.

Vers. 29. Amalek] that is, the Amalekites, the posterity of Amalek the son of Esau; of whom see Exod. 17. 8, &c. Because they had been smitten by Amalek (Deut. 25. 17, 18.) the spies do now make mention of him, to make them afraid, saith Iarchion Num. 13. This Amalek (who was the first of the nations. Num. 24. 20. and an enemy to Israel) would hinder, as they thought, their entrance on the South side. in the mountain] that is, the mountains, or, as the Greek translateth, the mountainy part; for these nations here reckoned were the most mighty; and the Chethites possessed mount Thabor, the Jebusites Jerusalem and mountains about it, the Amorites mount Heres &c. Judge. 1. 21. 34, 35, 36. and these Amorites were high as Cedars, and strong as Oaks, Amos 2. 9. so the land seemed in their eyes impossible to be conquered. the coast] or side, Hebr. the land of Jordan; which was towards the East, as the Sea was to the west.

Vers. 30. Caleb] and Joshua with him afterward, Num. 14. 6. 7. though now at first it may be Joshua purposely held his peace in prudence, because he was Moses minister, and let Caleb speak. stilled the people before Moses] or made the people to keep silence before (or unto) Moses: that is, the people beginning to murmur and speak unto Moses and against him, Caleb stilled them. The Chaldee expoundeth it, he made the people to attend (that is, to hearken) unto Moses: and Jonathan in his Targum saith, he stilled the people and caused them to attend unto Moses. And it appeareth by Deut. 1. 29, 30. that Moses himself spake to encourage the people; but they would not obey. and said] that is, Caleb said; as the 31. verse. manifesteth; and the Greek addeth, he said unto him. we are well able to overcome it] or, prevailing we shall prevail over it; meaning the land; which the Greek explaineth, over them, the people. And this was a speech of faith, believing in the power and promise of God; for Caleb now spake as it was in his heart, Ios. 14. 7.

Vers. 31. But the men] Hebr. And the men; meaning ten of the twelve, all the other spies except Joshua, Num. 14. 6.

Vers. 32. an evil report] an infamy, or diffamation: of which Solomon saith, he that uttereth it, is a fool, Prov. 10. 18. And for this their sin, these men died by a plague, before the Lord, Num. 14. 37. This infamy, the Chaldee calleth an evil name: the Greek here, a dread of the land, but in Num. 14. 36. the Greek expoundeth it evil words. And whereas the Hebrew Dibbah signifieth but a speech or report, though commonly of faults, which may be done without sin; the word evil is added by Moses, in Num. 14. 37. to show that this their diffamation was very sinful. eateth up] consumeth; in Chaldee, killeth the inhabitants; which may be understood of their civil wars, whereby they devoured one another. For the Amorites had conquered the Moabites, Num. 21. 28, 29. the Caphtorims (or Philistines) had destroyed the Avims, Deut. 2. 23. This phrase was after used against the land, when the Heathens had destroyed the Israelites in it, Thou (land) eatest up men, and hast bereaved thy nations, Ezek. 36. 13. of statures] or of dimensions, of measures; that is, of great stature, tall and big; as the Greek translateth, exceeding tall men. And as the Prophet openeth it, high as Cedars, strong as Oaks, Amos 2. 9. An example of such a man of stature we have in 2 Sam. 21. 20. that had on every hand six fingers, and on every foot six toes, &c. and another of an Egyptian five cubits high, with a spear in his hand like a weavers beam, 1 Chron. 11. 23. So in Ier. 22. 14. an house of measures (or of statures) is for a large high house.

Vers. 33. Giants] Hebr. Nephilim, such as were before Noes flood; see Gen. 6. 4. with the annotations. as Grasshoppers] or as locusts, that is, low, weak, base in comparison with them. So it is said of God, He sitteth upon the circle of the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are as Grasshoppers, Isaiah. 40. 22. in their eyes] that is, they so esteemed us. And by reason hereof, it may be the spies passed thorough their land more safely, whiles these mighty men despised and neglected them; as the Philistine disdained to meddle with little David, 1 Sam. 17. 42. The Hebrew Doctors to show this, feign this explanation; We heard them say one to another, there are pismires in the vineyards like unto men. Chazkuni on Num. 13. 33.

CHAP. XIII.

1. The Israelites weep and murmur at the news that the spies brought out of Canaan; and speak of returning into Egypt. ‹◊› Joshua and Caleb labor to still and encourage them, but the Israelites would have stoned them. 11. God threateneth to destroy the people. 13. Moses entreateth for them, and obtaineth pardon. 23. The murmurers are deprived of entering into the land, and condemned to wander forty years in the wilderness, and die there. 36. The spies who raised the evil report, die by a plague. 39. The people hearing the sentence of God against them, mourn, and offer themselves to go up; but Moses forbiddeth them. 44. Yet they presume to go up, and are smitten by their enemies.

AND all the congregation lifted up, and gave their voice, and the people wept that night. And all the sons of Israel murmured against Moses and against Aaron: and all the congregation said unto them; Oh that we had died in the land of Egypt, o• in this wilderness, oh that we might die. And wherefore doth Jehovah bring us unto this land, to fall by the sword? our wives and our little-ones shall be for a prey: were it not better for us to return into Egypt? And they said, every man unto his brother: Let us make a captain, and let us return into Egypt. And Moses and Aaron fell on their faces, before all the assembly of the congregation of the sons of Israel. And Joshua the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Iephunneh, which were of them that searched the land, rent their clothes. And they said unto all the congregation of the sons of Israel, saying; The land which we passed thorough to search it, is an exceeding good land. If Jehovah delight in us, then he will bring us into this land, and will give it unto us, a land which floweth with milk and honey. Only rebel not ye against Jehovah; and you, fear not the people of the land, for they are bread for us: their shadow is departed from them, and Jehovah is with us, fear them not.

But all the congregatiō said, to stone them with stones: and the glory of Jehovah appeared in the Tent of the Congregation, before all the sons of Israel. And Jehovah said unto Moses; How long will this people provoke me? and how long will they not believe in me, for all the signs which I have done amongst them? I will smite them with the pestilence, and disinherit them, and will make of thee a nation greater and mightier than they. And Moses said unto Jehovah; Then the Egyptians shall hear it, for thou broughtest up this people, in thy might, from among them. And they will say to the inhabitants of this land, for they have heard, that thou Jehovah art among this people, that thou Jehovah art seen eye to eye, and that thy cloud standeth over them, and in a pillar of a cloud thou goest before them by day, and in a pillar of fire by night. Now if thou shalt kill this people as one man, then the nations will say, which have heard the fame of thee, saying; Because Jehovah was not able to bring this people into the land, which he sware unto them, therefore he hath slain them in the wilderness. And now, I beseech thee, let the power of the Lord be great, according as thou hast spoken, saying;

Jehovah is long suffering, & much in mercy, forgiving iniquity, and trespass: and clearing will not clear (the guilty;) visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the sons, unto the third, and unto the fourth generation. Pardon I beseech thee, the iniquity of this people, according unto the greatness of thy mercy, and as thou hast forgiven this people from Egypt, even until now. And Jehovah said, I have pardoned, according to thy word. But assuredly, as I live, a•• the earth shall be filled with the glory of Jehovah. For all the men which have seen my glory, and my signs, which I did in Egypt, and in the wilderness, & have tempted me these ten times, and have not •eakned to my voice; if they shall see the land, which I sware unto their fathers, neither shall any of them that provoked me, see it. But my [unspec] servant Caleb, because there was another spirit in him, and he followed me fully; even him will I bring into the land, whereinto he went, & his seed shall possess it. (Now the Amalekite, and the Canaanite, dwelt in the valley:) tomorrow, turn ye, and journey you into the wilderness by the way of the red sea.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying; How long (shall I pardon) this evil congregation, which murmur against me? I have heard the murmurings of the sons of Israel, which they murmur against me. Say unto them, A• I live, assuredly [unspec] saith Jehovah, if I do not so unto you, as ye have spoken in mine ears. Your carcasses [unspec] shall fall in this wilderness; and all that were mustered of you, according to your whole number, from twenty years old and upward, which have murmured against me.

If you shall come into the land, concerning [unspec] which I lifted up my hand, to make you dwell therein, save Caleb the son of Iephunneh, and Joshua the son of Nun. And your little-ones, which ye said should be for a prey, even them will I bring in, and they shall know the land, which ye have despised.

But as for you, your carcasses shall fall in this wilderness. And your children shall feed in the wilderness forty years, and shall bear your whoredoms, until your carcasses be consumed in the wilderness. After the number of the days in which ye searched the land, forty days; a day for a year, a day for a year, ye shall bear your iniquities, forty years; and ye shall know my breach (of promise.) I Jehovah have spoken, If I do not this unto all this evil congregation, that are gathered together against me; in this wilderness they shall be consumed, and there they shall die. And the men which Moses had sent to search the land, and which returned, and made all the congregation to murmur against him, by bringing up an evil report upon the land: Even the men died that did bring up the evil report of the land, by the plague, before Jehovah. But Joshua the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Iephunneh, lived, of those men that went to search the land. And Moses spake these words unto all the sons of Israel, and the people mourned greatly. And they rose up early in the morning, and went up unto the top of the mountain, saying; Loe we be here, and will go up unto the place, which Jehovah hath said, for we have sinned. And Moses said, Wherefore now do you transgress the mouth of Jehovah? But it shall not prosper.

Go not up, for Jehovah is not among you, that ye be not smitten, before your enemies.

For the Amalekite and the Canaanite is there before you, and ye shall fall by the sword, for because ye are turned from after Jehovah, and Jehovah will not be with you.

But they loftily presumed to go up to the top of the mountain: but the Ark of the covenant of Jehovah, and Moses, departed not from within the campe. And the Amalekite came down, and the Canaanite, which dwelt in that mountain; and smote them, and discomfited them, even unto Hormah.

Anno•ations.

Lifted up] to wit, their voice, as after followeth, and as is expressed in Gen. 21. 16. she lifted up (  $\langle$   $\omega$   $\rangle$  ), and wept. Or, all the congregation took  $\rho$ , that is, received, to wit, the evil report which the spies gave of the land, Num. 13. 32. So the phrase is used, in Exod. 23. 1. Thou shalt not take up a vain report. This latter, the Greek version favoereth. gave their voice] that is, cried out. This manner of speech is used to signify any loud voice, noise or cry, or any creature, or of God him-self; as in Psal. 18. 14. the Most high gave his voice; in Ier. 2. 15. the Lions gave their voice, in Psal. 104. 12. the fowls give the voice; in Psal. 77. 18. the skies gave a voice; in Habak. 3. 10. the deep gave his voice; and in 2 Chron. 24. 9. men are said to give a voice, when they made a proclamation thorough Judah and Jerusalem. So this people here openly rebelled, and uttered their evil hearts without fear, or shame. that night] Hebr. in or through that night; which the Greek explaineth, that whole night.

Verse 2. and against Aaron] which were the Lord's ministers, therefore their murmuring was not against them only, but against the LORD, as Moses told them, in Exod. 16. 2. 8. and as after appeareth in verse 3. Oh that we might die] or, (Would God) that we were dead: they are words of unbelief and despair, and of great unthankfulness: compare Exod. 16. 3. Psal. 106. 24, 25. The Greek translateth, If we were dead: which is a form of wishing, both in the Greek and Hebrew tongues, as in 1 Chron. 4. 10. If thou wilt bless me; that is, Oh that thou wouldst bless me; so in Luke 12. 49. If it were (for, Oh that it were) already kindled; and so the Syriac version there explaineth it.

Vers. 3. to fall] i. that we should fall, that is, die by the sword? Here they murmur against God himself through unbelief; as David saith, They contemptuously refused the land of desire, (the pleasant land;) they believed not his word, but murmured in their tents; they heard not the voice of Jehovah, Psal. 106. 24. 25. were it not better] or, were it not good? The Greek changeth the phrase thus, Now therefore it is better for us to turn back into Egypt. So, are they not written, 2 King. 20. 20. is explained thus, Behold they are written, 2 Chron. 32. 32.

Verse 4. Let us make a captain] Hebr. Let us give a head: where by give, is meant make or appoint, as the Chaldee expoundeth it; and by head they mean a captain or chief governor, as in Num. 25. 4. 1 Chron. 4. 42. and 12. 20. and as the Greek here explaineth it. Targum Jonathan paraphraseth thus; Let us appoint a King over us for head. Of this their sin the scripture saith, They dealt proudly, and hardened their necks, and hearkened not to God's commandments; and refused to hear, and were not mindful of the wonders that he had done among them: but hardened their necks, and in their rebellion appointed a captain (or made a head) to return to their bondage, Nehem. 9. 16, 17. So their evil words and purpose, is counted unto them as the deed done. Sol. Rashi openeth their words thus, Let us appoint a King over us; and he saith, the Rabbin's have expounded this, as meaning idolatry. The same is also noted by R. Menachē, who further likeneth this sin, to theirs that built the tower of Babylon, Gen. 11. So their sin was against God, who is exalted as head above all, 1 Chron. 29. 11.

Verse 5. fell on their faces] as much affected with the murmuring of the people: and they fell down, either to pray unto God for them, as in Numb. 16. 22. or to entreat them, not to proceed in their rebellion, as it followeth, before all the assembly. And elsewhere it appeareth, that Moses spake to encourage the people, saying, Dread not, neither be afraid of them: Jehovah your God, who goeth before you, he will fight for you, &c. Deut. 1. 29. 30.

Verse 6. that searched the land] as appeareth in Num. 13. 7. 9. 17. rent their clothes] in sign of sorrow, for the people's rebellion and blasphemy; for they said, the Lord had brought them out of Egypt, because he hated them, &c. neither did they believe the Lord their God, for all that Moses spake unto them, Deut. 1. 27.—32. Of rending garments in sorrow, see Gen. 37. 29. Lev. 10. 6. in the annotations.

Vers. 9. Only] or, But rebel not ye; which the Greek interpreteth, But be not ye apostates (or revolters) from the Lord: the Chaldee, But rebel not ye against the word of the LORD. are bread for us] or, shall be our bread, our food; that is, we shall devour and consume them. The Chaldee expoundeth it, They are delivered into our hand. So Balaam prophesied of Israel, He shall eat up the nations, his enemies, Num. 24. 8. And in Psal. 79. 7. He hath eaten up Jacob, that is, consumed: and in Psal. 14. 4. They eat my people, as they eat bread. Also in Deut. 7. 16. Thou shalt eat (that is, consume) all the people. their shadow] that is, God, their defense, covert, protection; which the Chaldee expoundeth their strength; so in Isaiah. 30. 2. the strength of Pharaoh, and the shadow of Egypt, do explain one another: and shadow is used often for defense; as, the shadow of the Almighty, Psal. 91. 1. and, Jehovah thy shadow, Psal. 121. 5. and God saith, I have covered thee in the shadow of mine hand, Isaiah. 51. 16. and 49. 2. Jehovah is with us] the Chaldee explaineth it, the Word of the LORD is for our help.

Vers. 10. said, to stone them] that is, spake one to another, that they should stone Joshua and Caleb. An example of notorious obstinacy and outrage; and at another time, they had almost done the like unto Moses, Exod. 17. 4. So after this, Jerusalem stoned the Prophets, which spake the things pertaining to her peace, Mat. 23. 37. appeared in the Tent] the Greek explaineth it, appeared in the cloud over the Tent of the Testimony. This is confirmed by the like apparition, in Num. 16. 42. and Sol. Rashi here saith, The cloud descended there. It was an extraordinary appearance, to restrain the people's fury, and to help his faithful witnesses.

Vers. 11. provoke me] or, despite, blaspheme, contemptuously provoke me. So the Apostle expoundeth this word, blaspheme, in Rom. 2. 24. from Isaiah. 52. 5. and it implieth also a contempt or despising, Prov. 1. 30. and 15. 5. Isaiah. 5. 24. not believe in me] in Greek, not believe me; which the Chaldee explaineth, not believe in my word. This unbelief is noted as a chief cause of their rebellion, and so of their destruction after in the wilderness, Deut. 1. 32. Heb. 3. 18, 19. for all the signs] though many signs and wonders had been shown, yet they believed not: so of their posterity it is said, Though (Jesus) had done so many signs before them, yet they believed not in him, John. 12. 37. among them] Hebr. in the midst thereof, to wit, of the people.

Vers. 12. smite them] Hebr. smite him, that is, the people, spoken of as one man: see verse. 15. pestilence] in Greek and Chaldee, death: see the notes on Exod. 5. 3. disinherit them] deprive them of the land promised unto their fathers: the Greek and Chaldee translate, destroy them. make of thee] Hebr. make thee, to a nation: the like speech God used, when they had made the golden calf, Exod. 32. 10. The Greek here addeth, I will make thee and thy fathers house, &c.

Vers. 14. they will say] that which after followeth in verse. 16. to the inhabitants] or, with the inhabitants, meaning the Canaanites; so both the one and the other people, will take occasion to blaspheme. The Hebrew word which usually signifieth unto, is sometime used for with; as in 1 Sam. 23. 23. Ezr. 2. 63. thou Jehovah art] the Chaldee expoundeth it, that thy divine presence (or Majesty) abideth among this people. art seen] or, hast been seen eye to eye; that is, visibly, apparently, plainly; according to the like phrase, in Num. 12. 8. mouth to mouth; and in Exod. 33. 11. and Deut. 5. 4. face to face. The Chaldee here explaineth it thus, that with their eyes they have seen the Majesty of thy glory; and by Targum Jonathan, this is referred to the giving of the law upon mount Sinai. standeth over them] as protecting them from evil; which in Targum Jonathan is explained, that they should not be hurt with heat or with rain. Compare Exod. 13. 21, 22. Num. 9. 17, &c.

Vers. 15. as one man] that is, all of them together, and suddenly. the fame of thee] the hearsay or report of thee; which the Greek translatheth, thy name; the Chaldee, the fame of thy might.

Vers. 16. was not able] elsewhere Moses showeth, that he had respect unto two things, by which God's name and glory might be impeached among the Gentiles; because he could not, or because he would not, but hated his people, Deut. 9. 28. Exod. 32. 12. And this is the first argument of Moses supplication, that God's name might not be blasphemed among the heathens.

Vers. 17. the power of the Lord] or, the might, as in verse. 13. that is, as the Greek explaineth it, the power of thee ô Lord. Lord is here in Hebrew Adonai, which the Chaldee expresseth by the letters for Jehovah, and it signifieth My stays, or sustainers: see the notes on Gen. 15. 2. be great] that is, be shown to be great; the Greek translatheth it, be exalted.

Vers. 18. long suffering] Hebr. long of anger; that is, long ere he be angry. Here Moses mentioneth that Name of God, which was proclaimed at mount Sinai, when the people had formerly sinned in making the golden calf, Exod. 34. 5, 6, 7. in mercy] the Greek addeth, & true; from Ex. 34. 6. forgiving] or, as the Greek translatheth, taking away. iniquity] in Greek, iniquities, and unrighteousnesses, and sins; the Chaldee also addeth the word sins, as was in Exod. 34. 7. This is the second reason of Moses request, from the nature and covenant of God. the guilty] this word is supplied also in the Greek version. The Chaldee paraphraseth, being merciful unto them that turn to his Law, but not clearing them that turn not. visiting] that is, punishing; in Greek, recompensing; see Exod. 20. 5. upon the sons] or children; in Chaldee, upon the rebellious sons. the third] in Chaldee,  $\langle \phi \rangle$  the third generation, and unto the fourth generation. Thus Moses requested not an absolute pardon for all; but that God would in wrath remember mercy, though in Justice he punished the chief transgressors.

Verse 19. even until now] or, hitherto; as for example, when they sinned in making the calf, Exod. 32. (besides other times,) at which time God destroyed them not as they deserved, but some of them only perished.

Verse 20. I have pardoned] or, I do pardon, as the Greek explaineth it, in the time present. Howbeit Chazkuni understandeth it of the time past, that God should say, he had pardoned them once, when they made the calf; but now he would not pardon them, but execute vengeance. The former sense seemeth best, with the limitation following, according to thy word, viz. that he would not destroy them all as one man, at once with the pestilence, having respect to the glory of his Name. For which cause, he spared them at other times also, both before and after, as he showeth by the Prophets, Ezek. 10. 8, 9. 13, 14, 21, 22, &c. Psal. 106. 7, 8. And hereupon the people after confessed, Thou art a God of pardons, gracious, and merciful, long suffering, and of great kindness, and forsookest the  $\langle \diamond \rangle$ , Neh. 9. 17.

Verse 21. as I live] Hebr. and assuredly I live; and all the earth shall be filled: which is a form of  $\langle \diamond \rangle$ , often used of the Lord, Ezek. 18. 3. and 20. 33. and 5. 11. Whereupon it is said, And thou shalt swear Jehovah liveth, &c. Jer. 4. 2. and where he saith in the Prophet, I have sworn by myself, Isaiah. 45. 25. the Apostle expresseth it with these words, I live, saith the Lord, Rom. 14. 11. And the sign of an oath, was the lifting up of the hand; so both of them are joined in Deut. 32. 40. I lift up my hand to  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  and say, I live forever: Wherefore the oath  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  God here sware, is signified by the lifting up of his hand, in Psal. 106. 26. and Ezek. 20. 15.  $\langle \dots \rangle$  lled with the glory] that is, all people's of the earth shall see and acknowledge the powerful and just administration of the Lord, unto his glory and honor. Compare Isaiah. 6. 3. and Psal. 72. 19. where Christ's kingdom is prophesied of, with whose glory all the earth is full.

Verse 22. my glory] under this, all God's glorious [unspec] works are comprehended; as powers are used for powerful works, Matth. 7. 22. and 11. 20. 1. Cor. 12. 10. 2 Cor. 12. 12. signs] that is, miracles, miraculous and significant works. ten times] hereby may be meant no certain number, but many times, as in Gen. 31. 7. Job. 19.  $\langle \diamond \rangle$ . so ten is for many, in Levite. 26. 26. It may also be taken properly; for now they had sinned ten times; First, at the red sea, Exod. 14. 11, 12. then in Marah, Exod. 15. 23, 24. again in the wilderness of Sin, Exod. 16. 2. then twice about Manna, Ex. 16. 20. 27, 28. after that at Rephidim, Exod. 17. 1, 2, 3. then by the Calf at Horeb, Ex. 32. at Taberah, Num. 11. 1. and again, at Kibroth Hattaavah, Num. 11. 4. and now the tenth time by their rebellion in Pharan.

Verse 23. If they shall see] that is, as the Greek translatheth it, Surely they shall not see. This also is an oath, whereby God sweareth they shall not see, that is, not go in to enjoy the land, as is explained by David, in Psal. 95. 11. I swear in my anger, if they shall enter into my rest; which the Apostle openeth thus; He sware that they should not enter into his rest, Hebr. 3. 18. So, If a sign be given, Mark 8. 12. is more plainly expounded, A sign shall not be given, Matth. 16. 4. which I swear unto] that is, which I swear to give unto your fathers, Deut. 1. 35. this was the land of Canaan, Gen. 12. 5. 7. called the holy land, Zach. 2. 12. the land of Jehovah, Hos. 9. 3. the land of Immanuel, that is, of Christ, Isaiah. 8. 8. for it was a figure of the heavenly inheritance to be obtained by Christ, Hebr. 11. 9, 10. therefore the keeping of them out of this land, figured also the excluding of them and of all unbelievers out of the kingdom of heaven, Heb. 3. 12–19. and 4. 1, 2, 3–11.

Verse 24. spirit in him] or, with him; that is, he was guided by another spirit than the ten spies. The same is to be understood of Joshua, as appeareth by Num. 32. 12. though not here mentioned. This other spirit, was the spirit of faith, which the Law cannot give, Gal. 3. 2. the spirit of adoption of sons, not of bondage to fear again, Rom. 8. 14, 15. by the guidance of this spirit, Caleb constantly followed the Lord, & obtained the promised inheritance. he followed me fully] Hebr. he fulfilled after me: so in Deut. 1. 36. and Ios. 14. 8, 9. 14. By this manner of speech, is meant a full and constant following and obedience unto the end; the contrary whereof was in Solomon, of whom it is said, he fulfilled not after the LORD, as did David his father, 1 Kings 11. 6. and in this people of Israel now generally, of whom God saith, they fulfilled not after me, Num. 32. 11. The Greek translatheth it, he followed me; the Chaldee, he fulfilled (or accomplished) after my fear. Chazkuni expoundeth it, he hath accomplished the word after me; and compareth it with that phrase in 1 Kings 1. 14. I will come in after thee, and fulfill (that is, confirm) thy words. his seed] in Chaldee, his sons. shall possess it] shall inherit it: thus both the Greek & Chaldee do interpret it: or, shall cause to inherit it, that is, leave it to their posterity for an inheritance; as it is written, It shall be thine inheritance, and thy children's forever, Ios. 14. 9. The word is also used in a contrary meaning, to disinherit, as before in v. 12. & so it may here be translated, shall disinherit it, that is, disinherit and drive out the inhabitants of it, and seize upon it, as in Ios. 8. 7. ye shall disinherit (or seize upon) the city: and thus it agreeth with Calebs speech, If so be the LORD will be with me, then I shall disinherit them (or drive them out) as the LORD said, Ios. 14. 12. In this latter sense, Sol. Rashi here expoundeth it, drive it out, that is, they shall drive out the Anakims and people that are therein. This promise Moses related unto Caleb, and in the name of the Lord, he sware unto him for the performance of it, Ios. 14. 9.

Verse 25. Now] Hebr. And. dwelt] or, dwelleth, Heb. sitteth in the valley: after in verse. 45. they are said to dwell (or sit) in the mountain; and sitting, as it is often put for dwelling, so sometime for lying in wait, as in Ios. 8. 9. which may be meant here. Chazkuni expoundeth this place thus; that as the spies were afraid of Amalek. (Num. 13. 29.) so with them the holy blessed (God) made them afraid. And whereas it is here said, in the valley and in v. 45. in that mountain; he accordeth them thus, that the most of them sate in the valley, & some few of them in the mountain, & those few warred against them; and therefore it is written, WHICH SATE IN THAT MOVNTAINE, to imply that there were of them which sate in another place; or it may be they dwelt in the valley, and when they heard that the sons of Israel came against them, they went up into the mountain, and lay in wait for them there: and we find that sitting sometime, meaneth lying in wait, as it is written (in Psal. 10. 8.) He sitteth in the waiting place of the villages. tomorrow turn ye] The people were now in Kadesh, from whence they sent the spies, Num. 13. 26. Deu. 1. 19. & after this their rebellion, and the slaughter following, they abode in Kadesh many days, and then turned and journeyed into the wilderness, by the way of the red sea, Deut. 1. 46. and 2. 1. Chazkuni here saith, Tomorrow meaneth after this time; for loe they abode in Kadesh many days before they began to compass mount Seir: and it is like that (phrase in Exod. 12. 34.) when thy son shall ask thee tomorrow. journey you] or, journey for you, which some understand, to mean, for your good, see Gen. 12. 1. the way of the red sea] that is, the way towards the red sea; see the notes on Exod. 13. 17. In this red Sea the people had been baptized, 1 Cor. 10. 1 2. Ex. 14. Baptism was unto repentance, and with confession of sins, and into the death of Christ, Mat. 3. 6, 11. Rom. 6. 3. so this sending them back into the wilderness, towards the red sea, was to humble them by repentance, that through faith in Christ they might have entrance into the Kingdom of heaven; otherwise they should perish forever, as their carcasses perished in this wilderness.

Verse 27. How long] to wit, shall I pardon, (as in v. 19. 20.) or, shall I bear with. An imperfect speech, such as men use in passion of mind, when through grief they utter not all their words; as may be seen in Moses, Exod. 32. 32. Psal. 90. 13. in David, Psal. 6. 4. and sundry the like. which murmur] or, which cause (the people) to murmur, as in verse 36. Thus Sol. Rashi expoundeth it, referring the congregation forementioned, to the ten spies; but the Greek and Chaldee translate, which murmur; so in the sentence following.

Verse 28. I live] it is an oath, as in v. 21. whereby the Lord sweareth in his anger, that they should not enter into his rest, Psal. 95. 11. Heb. 3. 18. Num. 32. 10, 11. assuredly saith] or, the faithful saying; see Gen. 22. 16. if I do not] that is, as the Greek explaineth it, surely I will do: see before, on v. 23. spoken in mine ears] in Chaldee, spoken before me: this hath reference to their words, in verse 2. where they wished they might die in the wilderness.

V. 29. your carcasses] the Greek calleth thē Cola, that is, members, which word the Apostle also useth in Heb. 3. 17. for carcasses, or dead bodies. So in Levite. 26. 30. fall] that is, die, being destroyed of the destroyer, 1 Cor. 10. 10. mustered] numbered as able men for the war, Num. 1. This sentence was executed upon them, as is after shown in Num. 26. 64, 65.

Verse 30. I lifted up my hand] that is, sware, as [unspec] the Chaldee expoundeth it, I swear by my word: see Deut. 32. 40. and the notes before on v. 21. and Gen. 14. 22.

Verse 31. your little ones] your children under twenty years of age: see verse 3. shall know] in Greek, shall inherit, rightly explaining the sense: for to know the land, is to enjoy the same. And so Moses relating this promise, saith, they shall possess the land, Deut. 1. 39.

Verse 32. But as for you, your carcasses] Hebr. [unspec] And your carcasses, you: where the latter you, is for explanation, to exempt their children, you or yours only.

V. 33. shall feed] or, shall be feeding; so likewise [unspec] the Greek translateth it: by feed, meaning wander as sheep for pasture in the wilderness: the Chaldee of Onkelos expoundeth it, tarry or abide; but Jonathan saith, wander; and Chazkuni explaineth it, feed as sheep sometimes here and sometimes there, so your sons shall remove hither & thither, till their carcasses be consumed. Thus may we understand that in the Prophet, The LORD will feed them as a lamb in a large place, Hos. 4. 16. that is, will let them wander to destruction. So in other languages, wandering is used for feeding; as in Virgil. Bucol. eclog. 2. mille meae Siculis errant in montibus agn. forty years] implying the time past also, from their coming out of Egypt: for one whole year, and part of the second, were now past already, when God gave this sentence against them, Num. 10. 11. bear your whoredoms] that is, bear the punishment of your sins; as the Chaldee, for whoredoms, translateth sins; though this name whoredom, is commonly used for idolatry, Ier. 3. 9. Ezek. 16. 15. 16, 17, &c. See Exod. 34. 15, 16. Lev. 17. 7.

Verse 34. After] or, According to the number; [unspec] in the Hebrew, In is used for As, or according to, as the Greek translateth it: see the notes on Lev. 25. 15. a day for a year, a day for a year] that is, each day for a year, or a year for every day: so in Eze. 4. 6. where the Prophet in a figure bare the iniquity of Israel so many days as they had sinned years. Hereupon in prophesies, days are put for years, Dan. 9. 24. &c. Rev. 11. 3. ye shall know my br•ch] to wit, of promise; or simply, my breaking off: that is, ye shall know and have experience by the punishment which you shall suffer, how great your sin is in breaking promise, and disannulling your word and covenant with me, and in breaking off from me. Thus my breach may be understood, breach, or breaking with me; or from me; as, he that eateth my bread, Psal. 41. 10. is expounded, he that eateth bread with me, John. 13. 18. Or, my breach, that is, when I break promise with you, or break off from you, ye shall know how great evil is upon you. For when men forsake God, he also forsaketh them, and breaketh his covenant with them, that is, performeth not his promise, which is conditional, if men continue in his faith, Deut. 31. 16, 17. Zac. 11. 10. Jude v. 5. Rom. 11. 22. The Greek translateth, ye shall know the wrath (or indignation) of mine anger: the Chaldee, ye shall know that ye have murmured against me. Sol. Rashi expoundeth it, my breach, in that ye have broken (that is, turned away) your heart from (following) after me. This word is after used by Moses, in Num. 32. 23. Wherefore break ye the heart, (that is, discourage ye) the sons of Israel from going, &c. & in Num. 30. 5. if her father break (that is, disallow) her; disannul her promise.

Verse 35. have spoken] the Chaldee explaineth it, have decreed by my word. If I do not] that is, surely I will do, as the Greek expoundeth it: it is an oath, as before in verse. 23. This sentence decreed, seised upon them, that all this generation died in the Wilderness, Num. 26. 64, 65. & upon this occasion, Moses made the 90. Psalm, wherein he bewaileth the shortness and misery of man's life; being finished now in 70 or 80 years; and entreateth God for mercy. And of this and other the like punishments, the Apostle saith, they happened unto them for ensamples; and they are written for our admonition, upon whom the ends of the world are come, 1 Cor. 10. 11. So we see that they could not enter in (to the rest of God) because of unbelief: let us study therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall, after the same example of unbelief, Hebr. 3. 19. and 4. 11.

Verse 36. the men] the ten spies. made to murmur] and murmured themselves; as the Hebrews signifieth both their own act, and that which they caused in others. So the Greek translateth it, murmured against it, unto (or before) the congregation. against him] against Moses, as in v. 2. or, as the Greek translateth, against it; for they murmured also against the land, Num. 13. 32. and 14. 3. evil report] or, defamation: in Greek, evil words; in Chaldee, an evil name. The word evil, is expressed in the next verse: see the notes on Num. 13. 32.

Ver. 37. the plague before Jehovah] that is, by an [unspec] extraordinary plague from the hand of God: either the pestilence fore-threatened, v. 12. or some other death. And before Jehovah, may mean sudden death there by the Sanctuary, where the glory of Jehovah appeared, v. 10. as it is said of Uzzah, there he died before God, 1 Chron. 13. 10. which another Prophet explaineth, there he died by the Ark of God, 2 (ϕ) . 6. 7. The Hebrews, (as Sol. Rashi and Targum Jonathan on this place,) report these men's death to have been by an inflammation of their tongues, and worms issuing out of them; as a just recompense, because with their tongues they had sinned.

Ver. 38. lived] that is, remained alive, safe and in health. So the judge of all the earth did judgment, and would not slay the righteous with the wicked; as Gen. 18. 25. And they survived, not only the other spies, but all the rebellious Israelites, and went in and possessed the land of promise, Ios. 14: 0. and 19. 49. This showeth the small number of God's Elect, though many be called to the profession of the faith. The Hebrew Doctors speaking of Ier. 3. 14. where it is written, I will take you one of a city, and two of a family, and I will bring you to Zion, do say, As of six hundred thousand Israelites, only two entered into the land of promise, to wit, Joshua and Caleb; so shall it also be in the days of Christ. Talmud in Sanhedrin, ch. 11. wherein they bear witness against themselves, that they fulfilled the in•asue of their fathers, in rebelling against Christ, and despising the Gospel of their salvation.

Verse 40. and went up] that is, girded their weapons of war about them, and pressed forward of themselves to go up, as Moses explaineth it, in Deut. 1. 41. For things which men endeavor and are ready to do, are said to be done by them, as Reuben delivered Joseph out of his brethren's hand, when he endeavored by exhorting & persuading with them, that he might deliver him, Gen. 37. 21, 22. See also the annotations on Ex. 8. 18. will go up] and fight, Deut. 1. 41. we have sinned] against Jehovah, Deut. 1. 41. Thus they shown a kind of repentance and sorrow for their sin, which was not sincere, nor a godly sorrow; for they turned from one evil to another, and overthrew themselves.

Verse 41. Moses said] being first commanded of the Lord, so to say, Deut. 1. 42. the mouth] that is, as the Greek translateth, the word of the Lord: and the Chaldee addeth, against the decree of the word of the LORD. But it] or, for it, that is, the thing which ye do, shall not prosper, that is, not have good success: in Greek, It shall not be prosperous unto you. R. Menachem referreth this word It. to Shekhinah, the divine Majesty which would not prosper them; and compareth here with a like phrase in Ezek. 1. 13. it went up and down among the living creatures.

Verse 42. Jehovah is not among you] thus God bade him say, for I am not among you, Deu. 1. 42. The Chaldee expoundeth it, for Shekhinah (the Majesty or presence) of the LORD is not among you. not smitten] in Chaldee, not broken; in Greek, and ye shall fall before your enemies.

V. 43. from after Jehovah] in Chaldee, from after the service of the LORD; which the Greek translateth, disobeying (or not believing) the Lord Chazkuni explaineth it thus, Because the spies made you afraid of the Canaanite & Amalekite that abide there, ye are turned from after the LORD, and are afraid to go into the land, and you trust not in him: therefore he will not be with you, if you transgress his mouth, to go to sight, till after 40 years. Jehovah will not be with you] this the Chaldee expoundeth, the Word of the Lord will not be for your helped.

Verse 44. they loft•lie presumed.] or, took upon them by violence, with a lofty presumptuous mind: in the Chaldee, they dealt wickedly, or, turbulently. The original word Aphal, (from which Ophel a Tower, or Fort is derived, 2 Chron. 33. 14.) signifieth lifting up, as in Abak. 2. 4. which the Apostle showeth, to mean a drawing back from God by unbeleese, Heb. 10. 38, 39. So here in this their presumptuous enterprise, their souls were lifted up in them, but withdrawn from God▪ And Moses explaineth this by two other words, ye pressed forward, Deut. 1. 41. and ye were presumptuous, Deut. 1. 43. The Hebrew Commentary Tanchuma, cōpareth it with another like word which signifieth darkness, and explaineth it, they went dark (or obscure) for that they went without leave• from God: and Targum Jonathan, thus; they set forward in the dark, before day dawning▪ to which the old Latin version agreeth, translating it darkened. departed not] in Greek, moved not. The Arkeremoved not, but at the removal of the cloud, Num. 9. 15, &c. which God not taking up, shown thereby his dislike of their action. Moses obeying the Lord, would not accompany the presumptuous sinners: so they went without the Lord, and without the signs of his grace, or company of his ministers.

Verse 45. The Canaanite] that is, the Amorite, Deut. 5. 44. which was of the posterity of Canaan, Gen. 10. 15, 16. which dwelt] or, which sate, lay in wait. discomfited them] pursued them as Bees do, and destroyed them, Deut. 1. 44. Because they rebelled against God, and vexed his holy Spirit, therefore he was turned to be their enemy, he fought against them, Isaiah. 63. 10. unto Hormah] in Greek Herme, the name of a place, so called of the event, signifying utter destruction, or Anathema: so after in Num. 21. 3. After this discomfiture, the Israelites returned and wept before the LORD: but he would not hear their voice, nor give ear unto them; so they abode in Kadesh many days, Deut. 1. 45, 46. These things which happened unto them for types, 1 Cor. 10. 11. do show the nature of man, of his free-will, and works without faith, that they procure nothing but wrath from God, and destruction unto men. And as Israel carried themselves under Moses, so did they under Christ: for the Lord Jesus himself, & John the Baptist (as Joshua and Caleb) faithfully testified the truth of God's promise, and persuaded the people to enter into the Kingdom of God, Mat. 3. 1, 2, 3. and 4. 17. But the Priests, Scribes, and Pharisees (like the unfaithful spies) discouraged the people, and would neither go themselves into the kingdom of heaven, nor suffer thē that were entering, to go in, Mat 23. 13. but pretended worldly fears, John 11. 48. Yet after they would seem to enter by force, going about to establish their own righteousness, but not submitting themselves unto the righteousness of God, Rom. 10. 3. so they pleased not God, but filled up their sins always, and wrath came upon them to the uttermost, 1 Thess. 2. 15, 16.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Lord teacheth Israel how they should sacrifice unto him in the land of Canaan, and what measure of Meat-offerings and Drink-offerings should be for every sacrifice. 13 The stranger is under the same Law. 17 The Law of the first of the dough••r an Heave-offering. 22 The sacrifice for sin of ignorance, done by Israelite or stranger. 30 The punishment of sin done with an high hand. 32 A man that was found gathering sticks on the Sabbath, is by the commandment of God stoned to death. 37 The law of fringes on the borders of their garments, and use that the people should make of them.

ANd Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Speak unto the sons of Israel, and say unto them: When ye be come into the land of your habitations which I give unto you. And ye will make a Fire-offering unto Jehovah, a Burnt-offering or a sacrifice, to separate a vow, or a voluntary offering; or in your solemn feasts, to make a savor of rest, unto Jehovah, of the herd, or of the flock. Then he that offereth his oblation unto Jehovah, shall bring near a Meat offering of a tenth part of fine flower, mingled with the fourth part of an Hin of oil. And the fourth part of an Hin of wine for a drinkeoffering, shalt thou make ready for the Burntoffering, or for the sacrifice, for one lamb. Or for a ram thou shalt make a Meat-offering [unspec] of two tenth parts of fine flower, mingled with the third part of an Hin of oil. And for a drink-offering, the third part of an [unspec] Hin of wine shalt thou offer for a savor of rest unto Jehovah. And when thou shalt [unspec] make a youngling of the herd, a Burnt-offering or a sacrifice, to separate a vow or Peaceofferings unto Jehovah; Then shall he bring [unspec] near with the youngling of the herd, a Meat offering of three tenth parts of fine flower, mingled with half an Hin of oil. And [unspec] thou shalt offer for a Drink-offering, half an Hin of wine for a Fire-offering of a savor of rest unto Jehovah. Thus shall it be done for [unspec] one bullock, or for one ram, or for a lamb of the sheep, or of the goats. According to the number that ye shall make ready, so shall ye make ready for (every) one, according to their number. Every home-borne of ⟨ϕ⟩ country shall thus do these things, to offer a Fire-offering of a savor of rest unto Jehovah.

And if a stranger sojourn with you, ⟨ϕ⟩ who-soever be among you in your generations, and will make a Fire-offering of a savor of rest unto Jehovah; as ye do, so he shall do. Ye of the Church, one stature shall be for you, and for the stranger that sojourneth: a statute for ever in your generations; as ye are, so shall the stranger be before Jehovah. One law, and one manner shall be for you, and for the stranger that sojourneth with you.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Speak unto the sons of Israel, and say unto them; When ye come into the land whither I bring you; Then it shall be, when ye eat of the bread of the land, ye shall heave an heave-offering unto Jehovah. Of the first of your dough, a cake shall ye heave for an heaveoffering; as the heave-offering of the threshing-floor, so shall ye heave it. Of the first of your dough, ye shall give unto Jehovah an heave-offering in your generations.

And when ye shall have sinned ignorantly, and have not done all these commandments w<sup>ch</sup> Jehovah hath spokē unto Moses: Even all that Jehovah hath commanded you by the hand of Moses, from the day that Jehovah commanded Moses, and henceforward, throughout your generations: Then it shall be, if ought be done by ignorance, from the eyes of the congregation, that all the congregation shall make ready one bullock, a youngling of the herd, for a Burnt-offering, for a savor of rest unto Jehovah; and his Meat-offering, and his Drink-offering, according to the manner: and one goat-bucke of the goats, for a Sin-offering. And the Priest shall make atonement for all the congregation of the sons of Israel, and it shall be mercifully forgiven them: for it is an ignorance, and they have brought their oblation, a Fire-offering unto Jehovah, and their Sin-offering before Jehovah, for their ignorance. And it shall be mercifully forgiven, all the congregatiō of the sons of Israel, & the stranger that sojourneth among them, because all the people was in ignorance.

And if one soul sin through ignorance, then it shall bring near a she-goat of her first year for a Sin-offering. And the Priest shall make atonement for the soul that sinneth ignorantly, when it hath sinned by ignorance, before Jehovah, to make atonement for him, and it shall be mercifully forgiven him. For [unspec] the home-borne amongst the sons of Israel, and for the stranger that sojourneth among them, one law shall be to you for him that ⟨ϕ⟩ through ignorance. But the soul that shall do with an high hand, whether he be home-borne, or a stranger, the same reproacheth Jehovah; and that soul shall be cut off from among his people. Because he hath despised the word of Jehovah, and hath broken his commandment, that soul shall utterly be cut off, his iniquity shall be upon him.

And the sons of Israel were in the Wilderness: and they found a man gathering sticks on the Sabbath day. And they that found him gathering sticks, brought him near unto Moses, and unto Aaron, and unto all the congregation. And they put him in ward, because it was not declared what should be done to him.

And Jehovah said unto Moses; The man shall be made to die the death: all the congregation shall stone him with stones without the campe. And all the congregation brought him forth without the campe, and stoned him with stones, and he died, as Jehovah commanded Moses.

And Jehovah said unto Moses, saying; Speak unto the sons of Israel, and say unto them; that they make unto them a Fringe on the skirts of their clothes, throughout their generations; and that they put upon the Fringe of the skirt, a band of blue. And it shall be unto you for a Fringe, that ye may see it, and remember all the commandments of Jehovah, and do them: and that ye seek not after your own heart, and after your own eyes, after which you go a whoring. That ye may remember and do all my commandments, and be holy unto your God. I am Jehovah your God, which brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, to be unto you a God; I am Jehovah your God.

Annotations.

Spake unto Moses] After the judgment upon the disobedient Israelites, who should perish in the wilderness, God now repeateth and enlargeth the Law of sacrificing, which their children should observe in the land of Canaan: whereby their reconciliation unto him, and his grace towards them in Christ, was figured: thus after the curse of the Law for sin, is annexed the grace of the Gospel through faith. In like manner after the destruction of twenty four thousand for the sin of Baal pehor, in Num. 25. the Lord causeth the people to be mustered, Num. 26. and appointeth the land to be given them for inheritance, and repeateth again the Law of sacrificing at the solemn feasts, in Num. 28. and 29. that upon the example of wrath on the sinful parents, he might show his remembrance of mercy in Christ, unto the repentant believing children.

Verse 2. land of your habitations] wherein you shall dwell: not in the wilderness, but in the land of promise, (which figured the state of grace in Christ) did God require the sacrifices of his people, and promiseth to accept them. So after by the Prophet Ezekiel, he saith, I will bring you into the wilderness of the people's, and there will I plead with you face to face. Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so will I plead with you, saith the Lord GOD. And I will cause you to pass under the rod, &c. and I will purge out from among you the rebels, and them that transgress against me, &c. For in the mountain of mine holiness, in the mountain of the height of Israel, saith the Lord GOD, there shall all the house of Israel, all of them in the land, serve me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offerings, and the first fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things; with a savor of rest will I accept you, &c. Ezek. 20. 35, 36, 37, 38, 40, 41.

Verse 3. a Fire-offering] in Chaldee, an oblation before the LORD. Burnt-offering] the Law whereof was given in Levite. 1. a sacrifice] to wit, of Peace-offerings, as the Chaldee explaineth it: the Law concerning them, see in Lev. 3. And the word sacrifice being put absolutely, is often used for Peace-offerings; as in Exod. 18. 12. Lev. 17. 5, 8. and 23. 37. Deut. 12. 27. So it is meant here; for the meat and drink-offerings following, were not added to the Sin or Trespass-offerings. The Hebrew Canons say, They are not charged with Meat and Drink-offerings, save for the Burnt-offering of beasts, and for Peace-offerings only; whether they be the oblation of the congregation, or of a private person, or the lamb of a woman after child-birth (Levite. 12. G.) and those that the high Priest offereth, forasmuch as they are Burnt-offerings, they are charged to have Meat and Drink-offerings. But the (Burntofferings of) fowls; and the Trespasse and Sin-offerings, they bring no Meat or Drink-offerings with them, save with the Sin-offering of the Leper, and his Trespass-offering, whose Meat-offerings are expressed in the Law, (Lev. 14. 10.) Maimonides in Magnaseh hakorbanoth, ch. 2. sect. 2. to separate] or, in separating a vow: whereof see the notes on Lev. 27. 2. voluntary offering] what these are, and how they differ one from another, is noted on Lev. 7. 16. After, in verse 8. it is called Peace-offerings. And from hence the Hebrews gather, that Sin and Trespass offerings were not required to have Meat and Drink-offerings with them; for, Sin and Traspasse-offerings, and First-fruits, and Tithes, and the Passover, for as much as they come not by vow or voluntary offering, they are not charged with the Meat and Drink-offerings. Maim. in Magnas. hakorb. ch. 2. sect. 3. folemne feasts] whereof see Lev. 23. So the Peace-offerings of the Chagigah (or Passover mentioned in Deut, 16. 1, 2, &c.) and the burnt-offerings, were to have meat and drink-offerings with them: Maim, ibidem ch. 2. sect. 3. savor of rest] that is, of sweet smell, as the Greek translatheth it; which the Chaldee expoundeth, to be accepted with favor: see the notes on Gen. 8. 21. and Lev. 1. 9. or of the flock] to except the burnt-offering of fowls, as before is noted.

Verse 4. his oblation] in Greek, his gift: so the Hebrew Corban, is interpreted, a gift, in Mar. 7. 11. shall bring near] or, shall offer: so after. Meat-offering] in Hebrew, Minchah: of Minchah: of i, and the signification thereof, see the notes on Let. 2. a tenth part] to wit, of an Ephah, as is expressed in Num. 28. 5. and as the Greek version here addeth: of the Ephah or Bushel, see Exod. 16. 36. Hence the Hebrews gather, (as Chazkuni here noteth from R. Nathan) that whosoever would voluntarily offer a Meat-offering, might not bring less than a tenth deal. an Hin] a measure in the Sanctuary for liquid things. The Hin is twelve Logs, saith Maimonides in Magn. bakorbanoth, ch. 2. sect. 7. The Log was as much as six eggs, as is noted on Lev. 14. 10. and Exod. 30. 24. so the H• contained as much as 72 eggs: the fourth part o• an Hin, as much as 18 eggs. oil] to wit, oil olive, as in Targum Jonathan is expressed.

Verse 5. wine] expounded in Targum Jonathan, red wine of the grapes. So in those that follow. It is called Shecar, or, strong wine, in Num. 28. 7. a drink-offering] or, an effusion, a poured out offering, because it was poured out upon the Altar, but not upon the fire, as Maimonides showeth, in Magn. hakorbanoth, ch. 2. sect. 1. or for the sacrifice] to wit, of Peace-offerings, as the Chaldee expoundeth it; and by this word or, he showeth, that he is to bring for the one by it self, and for the other by it self; saith Chazkuni on Num. 15. for one] that is, for everyone severally, as in verse 12.

Verse 6. Or for a ram] The Greek interpreteth it, And for aramme. Aramme was of the second year, or upward: the lamb of the first year. two tenth parts] two Omers, which was double the measure for a lamb, verse 4. and this the Hebrews understand for the ram only, ⟨ϙ⟩ for the ewe, or goat; as they write, The quantity ⟨ϙ⟩ the meat and drink-offerings, for an he-lamb, or ⟨...⟩ lamb, is a tenth of flower, and the fourth part of ⟨ϙ⟩ Hin of wine. Likewise for a goat, whether it be ⟨ϙ⟩ or great, male or female; also for an ewe, though ⟨ϙ⟩ be great. But for aram, two tenth deals of flower, &c. and the third part of an Hin of wine. Maim, in Magn. hakorb. ch. 2. sect. 4.

Verse 7. of rest] in Greek, of sweet smell, or good odour: as in verse 3.

Verse 8. when thou shalt make] in Greek, i• ye shall make; that is, shall sacrifice. youngling] Hebr. a son of the herd: meaning a bullock: as in Exod. 29. 1. And here is no difference between young or old, as was before between lamb and ram; but one quantity is for the calf, and for the bull. The bullock or the calf, be it male or female, hath for the meat-offering three tenth deals of flow•• &c. Maim. ibidem, ch. 2. sect. 4.

Verse 9. he bring] or, he offer: here the person is changed: before he said, when thou, verse 8. ⟨ϙ⟩ he saith, then shall he: the Greek keepeth the person as before, then shall ye offer. three tenth parts three Ome•s; that is, three times so much as set a Lamb, verse 4.

Verse 10. a Fire-offering] in Chaldee, an oblation. This is meant, as Sol. larchi saith, but of the Meat-offering and of the oil: for the wine was no Fire-offering, because it was not put upon the fire.

Verse 11. or of the goats] be it kid, or goat-bucke, male or female, old or young; for the Law putteth no difference, as is before observed; and so noted by Chazkuni here. As for the manner of offering these Meat-offerings, the Hebrew canons say, that they were not charged to bring frankincense with them (as they were with the Meat-offerings that were brought alone, Lev. 2. 1.) but they were charged to have salt, (according to the Law in Lev. 2. 13.) and this Meat-offering was all of it burnt upon the Altar in the Courty ard, (whereas of the other Meat-offering, an handful only was burnt, and the residue eaten by the Priests, Lev. 2. 2, 3.) and the wine was poured upon the Altar. Maim. in Magn. hakorbanoth, chap. 2. sect. 1.

Verse 12. so shall ye make ready] or, thus shall ye do: The Hebrews say, These Meat and Drink-offerings, whether they be for Burnt-offering or Peace-offerings, must be according to this measure for everyone; (Num. 15. 12.) they may not add more to these measures, nor diminish ought from them: and if they do diminish, or add more, the whole is made unlawful. Except it be the Lamb of Burnt-offering which they bring on the day that they wave the Omer of first-fruits (Levite. 23. 12, 13.) for the Meat-offering thereof is two tenth-deals of fine flower, mingled with the third part of an Hin of oil: but though the flower thereof be doubled, yet is not the wine doubled, but the wine for the drink-offering, is the fourth part of an Hin. When they measure the Meat or Drink-offering, either of a particular person, or of the congregation, they mete it not by a measure of three tenth deals for a bullock, or of two for aramme; but they measure all in one tenth deal, which is in the sanctuary, & likewise the oil &c. The flower with the oil of the Meat-offerings, hinder not the wine; neither doth the wine hinder them: neither do the meat or drink-offerings hinder the sacrifice. But a man may bring his oblation today, & his meat and drink-offerings ten days after; provided, that he have not sanctified them in a ministering vessel. For if he have put them into a ministering vessel (of the Sanctuary,) if they abide all night, they become thereby unlawful. They may bring no Meat or Drink-offerings, save of common things; they may not bring them of the heave-offering, nor of the second tithe, nor of the first-fruits, but of common things only. Maimonides in Magn. hakorbanoth, chap. 2. sect. 5. 8. 12, 13. The Burnt and Peace-offerings, served (as other sacrificer) to make atonement for the house of Israel, Ezek. 45. 17. Levite. 1. 4. and figured Christ's oblation of himself, to reconcile us unto God his Father, and to be our Peace, Heb. 9. 14. and 10. 8. 10. Eph. 2. 14, 15, 16. The Meat-offering, (besides the signification that it had of Christ, Eph. 5. 2.) figured in special manner the faith and sanctimony of his people, and of their service of God, Isaiah. 66. 20. Rom. 15. 16. Psal. 141. 2. Mal. 1. 10, 11. So the Lord by this addition of the Meat offering to the other sacrifices in Canaan, taught his people sanctity in the faith and profession of the Gospel, both touching their persons and actions: and the Drink-offerings, of wine poured out upon, and sanctified by the Altar, were not only a type of Christ's blood shed for remission of sins, Mat. 26. 28, 29. but of our fellowship with him in his afflictions, even to be poured out upon the sacrifice and service of Christians faith, Philip. 2. 17. 2 Tim. 4. 6. See the annotations on Levite. 2.

Verse 13. home-borne] the natural Israelite. [unspec 13]

Vers. 14. stranger] in Greek, Proselyte: the Gentile converted to the Jews religion. in your generations] or, throughout, that is, in all ages successively: so in verse 15.

Verse 15. Ye of the church] or, O Church, or congregation: or, Concerning the church; which in Targum Jonathan is expounded, the whole church. before Jehovah] in the exercises of religion before the Lord: for in civil things, there was not one law for both Israelites and strangers.

Verse 16. one manner] that is, one manner of practice and obedience, and one punishment for transgression: Hebr. one judgment. So in verse. 24.

Vers. 17. And Jehovah spake] A second ordinance by the Lord's authority, is here imposed upon them that should come into the land of Canaan; that they should give him a cake of the first of their dough: which law is nowhere mentioned by Moses, save in this place. And as the former Law for sacrificing, taught them holiness by faith in Christ, who should be sacrificed for his church; so this commandment of First-fruits, taught them to show forth the fruits of faith, by good works, which God appointed his people to walk in.

Verse 18. When ye come into the land] As a promise is here included, that God would bring them into that good land: so a duty of thankfulness is commanded, that they might remember and acknowledge his mercy, and have his blessing continued upon them. The Hebrews do observe, that This COMMING, differeth from all the COMMINGS mentioned in the Law: for, in them all it is said, When thou art (or shalt) come; When ye are come, meaning, after the possession thereof, and dwelling therein: but here it is said, When ye come, meaning, after they were entered into it, and did eat of the bread thereof, they were bound to give the cake, saith Sol. Rashi on Num. 15. Now this they did, before the land was parted for inheritance, as appeareth in Ios. 5. 11, 12. where they did eat of the old corn of the land; and then the Manna ceased. And as an Omer of Manna was reserved before the Lord, for the generations of Israel, that they might see and thankfully remember the bread which God gave them to eat in the wilderness, Exod. 16. 32, 33. so a cake of the bread which he should give them in Canaan, was to be given unto him, that they might acknowledge him, to be the preserver and nourisher of them in the land; for it is he that giveth bread unto all flesh, because his mercy endureth forever, Psal. 136. 25. whither I bring you] or, am bringing you thither. Hence the Hebrews say, They were not bound by the Law to give the cake save in the land of Israel only, & when all Israel were there, &c. Fruits without the land, that are brought into the land, owe the cake: but the fruits of the land, that are carried out of the land, are discharged; as it is said, WHITHER I BRING YOY: there are you bound, both concerning the fruits of the land, and the fruits without the land. But by the doctrine of the Scribes, they were to separate a cake also out of the land, that the law of the Cake might not be forgotten out of Israel. Maimonides in Bicurim (or treat. of First-fruits) chap. 5. sect. 5, 6, 7.

Verse 19. of the bread] that is, of the bread-corn, as in Isaiah. 28. 28. Bread (that is, Corn) is bruised; and out of the earth cometh bread, Job 28. 5. Psal. 104. 14. The Chaldee of Jonathan here paraphraseth thus; Of the bread of the revenue of the land, and not of rice, and millet, and lesser seeds. So by the Hebrew canons; Nothing oweth the cake, but the five kinds of grain only; which are, Wheat, and Barley, and Rye, and Fox-ear barley, and Oats: for nothing is called BREAD, save that which is made of these. But he that maketh meat of Rice, Millet, or other like pulse (or seeds,) they owe no cake at all. Maim. in Bicurim, chap. 6. sect. 2. and Talmud. Bab. in Challah, c. 1. ye shall heave] that is, shall offer up; or, as the Greek and Chaldee translate, shall separate; for it was separated by the owner, and offered to the Lord; and so was one of the heave-offerings which God gave unto his Priests, Num. 18. 19. Wherefore it was holy, and whosoever separated a cake, he first blessed God who sanctified them by his commandments, and commanded them to separate a cake. Maim. in Bicurim, chap. 5. sect. 11. An heathen that separated a cake, though in the land of Israel, it was no cake. Ibidem chap. 6. sect. 10. unto Jehovah] in Chaldee, before the LORD. Not that it was brought into the Sanctuary, or offered on the Altar, but given to the Lord's minister: as it is written, Ye shall also give unto the Priest, the first of your dough, Ezek. 44. 30. By the Hebrew canons, The first-fruits, and the heave-offerings, and the Cake, and the principal and the fifth part, [spoken of in Num. 5. 7, 8.] and the gifts of the beast [that is killed, Deut. 18. 3.] these are the Priests goods: with them he may buy servants, and lands, and unclean beasts, and pay his debts, or wives dowry, and buy books. Maim. in Bicurim, chap. 4. sect. 14.

Verse 20. Of the first] or, The first-fruit: with the first-fruits of all things, God was to be honored, Prov. 3. 9. that thereby all the rest of their food might be sanctified unto them: For if the first-fruit be holy, the lump (or dough) is also holy, Rom. 11. 16. and a promise of plenty is added to them that thus do, Prov. 3. 10. as of this particular it is said, ye shall also give unto the Priest, the first of your dough, that he may cause the blessing to rest in thine house, Ezek. 44. 30. of your dough] of your paste, or lump. They gave of their corn, first-fruits and tithes, and other gifts, to the Priests, Levites, and poor, when they first reaped and threshed it, Exod. 23. 19. Num. 18. 12. 26. Lev. 23. 22. After them, when they made bread of it, they separated also this cake. And as the Levites separated an heave-offering, out of their tithe, Num. 18. 26. so the poor that gleaned, separated of their dough; as the Hebrews write, That which is gleaned, and which is forgotten, (Deut. 24. 19.) and the corner, Lev. 19. 9. &c. though they be free from the Trumah (or heave-offering,) yet they owe the cake. Likewise the first tithes, &c. Maim. in Bicurim, chap. 6. sect. 3. And though other seeds or pulse, owe not the cake, as is before noted, yet they say, He that mixeth the meal of wheat, & the meal of rice, and maketh dough of them, if it have the taste of the wheat, it oweth the cake; and if not, it is discharged. Though it be but the leaven of wheat among dough of rice, if it have any taste of the wheat, it oweth the cake. Dough that is kneaded with wine, or oil, or honey, &c. if they bake it in an oven, or on the hearth, or pan, or in a fryingpan, &c. oweth the cake. But he that maketh dough to dry it in the sun only, or to boil it in a cauldron, it is discharged of the cake, &c. Also parched corn, that is kneaded with water, or honey, and eaten without baking, is discharged; for nothing oweth the cake, but dough, the end whereof is to be bread baked for man's meat. Ibidem sect. 11. 12. And for the quantity of dough, out of which a cake is to be given, they say, An Omer full of meal, whether it be of one of the five sorts of grain, or of all of them mixed together, the dough thereof oweth a cake. And it is unlawful for a man to make his dough of a lesser quantity, that it may be free from paying the cake. Ibidem sect. 15, 16. What the Omer is, see on Exod. 16. 36. And from that measure of Manna which God gave everyone for a day, did they gather this quantity, that an Omer of meal should pay a cake to the Lord, as Sol. Rashi on this place showeth. a cake] or, loaf, made of the dough aforesaid. He that separateth meal for his cake, it is no cake: but the residue of the dough oweth a cake. When they put water to it, and the meal is mixed with the water, they separate a cake of the first thing which is kneaded, as it is written, THE FIRST OF YOVR DOUGH. That dough which oweth a cake by the Law, he that eateth thereof is to be beaten. Maim. in Biccurim, c. 8. s. 1. 2. 5. of the threshing-floor] that is, of the corn in the threshing-floor; as it is your duty religiously to separate first-fruits of your corn in the floor; so of the dough in your houses. Thus the floor is used for the corn therein, in Deut. 16. 13. Sol. Rashi understandeth it thus; as the heave-offering of the floor, of which there is no stinted measure (by the Law;) & not as the heave-offering of the tithes, whereof there is a stinted measure: So for the quantity, it should be voluntary, so much as men would give. Howbeit, their wise men (they say) set a measure, viz. that they should separate the four and twentieth part of the dough, that it might be a gift meet to be given. But the baker, that maketh bread to sell in the street, separateth the eight and fortieth part: for because his dough is much there is in this quantity sufficient for a gift. Maim. in Biccurim, chap. 5. sect. 2. So the Chaldee of Jonathan expoundeth this verse, The first-fruits of your dough, a cake, one of 24. (that is, the four and twentieth part) shall ye separate as a separated-offering for the Priest, &c.

Vers. 21. ye shall give] The repeating of the commandment, showeth it to be of importance; and though the Priest had it, yet was it given to the LORD, whose blessing therefore was promised to the observers of this Law, Ezek. 44. 30 And as all things given unto God, were to be holy, pure and clean; so of this the Hebrews write, A man may not make his dough in uncleanness at all; but is to be admonished, & must be careful that he be clean, both he and his vessels, that he may separate a pure cake. Maim. in Biccurim, chap. 8. sect. 11 in your] or, throughout your generations, in all ages: wherefore this ordinance was kept by Israel, after they were returned out of Babylon, Nehem. 10. 37. And besides that all their bread was sanctified unto them by these first-fruits, and God was honored, by whose word man liveth, and not by bread only, Deut. 8. 3. it seemeth to have a further signification of the chosen people of God, as Paul applieth this phrase of the first-fruits, and of the lump of dough, unto the state of Israel, Rom. 11. 16. as the Prophet speaking of the first-fruits also saith, Israel was holiness to the LORD, the first-fruits of his increase; all that eat him, shall be guilty, &c. Ier. 2. 3. And thus the Jews of old understood this commandment of the Cake, that it signified in mystery the congregation of Israel, called the first-fruits of the world; which when it is put into the oven that burneth with the fire of the holy blessed God, it is necessary to separate there-from a cake, that it be not partaker of severe judgment; and there-from is a blessing reserved in the world, (Ezek. 44. 30.) R. Menachem on Num. 15.

Vers. 22. when ye shall have sinned ignorantly] or, if ye have erred, that is, done unadvisedly of ignorance, error, or oversight; whereto is opposed sinning with an high hand, verse. 30. See the annotations on Levite. 4. 2. As in the two former Laws, the Lord repeated and enlarged the doctrines of faith, and of good works: so here he doth the like concerning the forgiveness of sins, which his people through infirmity do fall into; that all the chief points of Christian religion, are here renewed unto them. have not done all] The words of this Law differ from the former in Lev. 4. 2. 13. which spake of doing that which should not be done; whereas this speaketh of not doing all which should be done. There also, the sacrifice which the congregation should bring, was a Bullock for a Sin-offering, Lev. 4. 14. here (in verse. 24.) they are willed to bring a Bullock for a Burnt-offering; and a goat-bucke, for a Sin-offering. Whether is this difference, in respect of the commandments, forbidding evil works, and requiring good, as the words seem to import? Or, as the Hebrews expound it, doth this here respect the sin of idolatry only? Or, as others understand it, is that for all the tribes generally, and this for the several tribes, cities and towns as they were severed in the land of Canaan? Or, is this (in mystery) an increase of the sacrifice in Canaan; as in prophesy of the days of the Gospel, the Meat and Drink-offerings (which Christians should spiritually offer with their sacrifices,) are of greater quantity, than those which were offered under Moses, Ezek. 46. 5. 11. compared with Num 15. 4, 5, 6, 7. and 28. 20, &c.

Vers. 23. Even all] This showeth the large extent of this Law, and the weight thereof, by repeating things so expressly. The Hebrews, which understand this of idolatry only, say, that that one commandment, is as all the commandments, &c. and that this showeth, that whosoever professeth idolatry, is as if he denied all the Law wholly, and all that the Prophets have prophesied; as it is written, AND HENCE FORWARD: Sol. Rashi on Num. 15. and Maimonides tom. 1. treat. of Idolatry, chap. 2. sect. 4.

Verse 24. by ignorance] in Greek, unwillingly: see Lev. 4. 2. from the eyes] understand, hidden from the eyes, as is expressed in Lev. 4. 13. This the Hebrew Doctors understand of things erroneously taught by the governors, and practiced by the people, concerning idolatry; as is shown in the annotations on Lev. 4. 13. and so Sol. Rashi expoundeth here this place. shall make ready that is, shall offer for a sacrifice, Levite. 4. 14. And this the Hebrews understand not of one sacrifice for the twelve tribes, but for every tribe so much. If the error be in idolatry, that they (the governors) have erred, and taught it; they bring a Bullock for a Burnt-offering, and a goat-bucke for a Sin-offering, for every tribe; and this oblation is that which is spoken of in Num. 15. saith Maimonides in Shegagoth, chap. 12. sect. 1 and Talmud in Horajoth, chap. 2. See the notes on Lev. 4. 14. This exposition for the number, may seem probable, because the people returned from captivity, offered for all Israel, in Burnt-offerings twelve bullocks, and twelve goat-bucks for a Sin-offering, according to the number of the tribes, Ezr. 8. 35. youngling] Hebr. son of the herd: a bullock was always of the second year or upward: so, the goat-bucke following. Burnt- offering] which signified atonement and sanctification by the death of Christ, as is shown on Lev. 1. of rest] that is, of sweet smell, as the Greek translath: the Chaldee saith, to be accepted with favor before the LORD. to the manner] or, right, ordinance: Heb. to the judgment: meaning, the measure prescribed of God, in v. 9, 10. for a Sin-offering] in Greek, for sin. This word in Hebrew is written with want of a letter, which elsewhere usually is expressed: whereupon Sol. Rashi noteth, that it is not as other Sinofferings; for all Sin-offerings that are by the Law brought with the Burnt-offering, the Sin-offering is before the Burnt-offering, as it is said, (in Levite. 5. 10.) And the second he shall make a Burnt-offering, but this Burnt-offering is before the Sin-offering. The manner of offering this Sin-offering was like the bullock, in Lev. 4. it was killed in the courtyard, the blood was carried into the Sanctuary, and sprinkled seven times before the Lord; the fat was burned on the Altar in the courtyard; and the body of the beast was carried forth, and burnt without the campe: so figuring Christ, who should be slain for the sins of his people, and by his own blood enter into heaven; his body being crucified without the gate of Jerusalem, Heb. 9. 11, 12. 24 and 13. 11, 12. If the great assise (of Magistrates) ignorantly sin in teaching idolatry, the whole congregation bringeth twelve bullocks for Burnt-offerings, and twelve goats Sin-offerings, and they are burned, because their blood is carried into the Sanctuary, &c. Though but one tribe only commit (the sin,) if it be the most part of the church; then all the congregation bring, for idolatry, twelve bullocks & twelve goats, Maimonides in Shegagoth, chap. 12. sect. 1.

V. 25. for all the congregation] or, for every congregation; whereby may be implied the several tribes, cities, towns, and synagogues. So in verse. 26. an ignorance] or, an error; in Greek, and unwilling Sin, so in v. 26. brought their oblatio] in Greek, have brought the gift thereof. a Fire-offering] in Chaldee, an oblation before the LORD: & this is meant of the Bullock the Burnt-offering, as Sol. Rashi noteth. their Sin-offering] this is the goat; saith Sol. Rashi. before Jehovah] R. Menachem from former authors speaketh of these phrases here used, unto the LORD, and before the LORD, that it is meant of him and his Judgment hall; whereby it appeareth that the mystery of the Trinity in the Godhead, was of old believed by the Jews, though how they oppugn the same. For there was no Court or Judgment hall in Israel, less than of three Judges: and being by them here and in other places applied unto God, and in case of sacrifice and expiation of sin, which they did hold peculiar unto God alone; it showeth that they once acknowledged a Trinity of persons in the God-head, to whom sacrifices for the sins of men were offered. [unspec 26]

Verse 26. and the stranger] the believing gentile, as the Greek translath, and the proselyte that cometh unto you. Thus the Lord showeth himself to be the God of the Gentiles also, Rom. 3. 29.

Vers. 27. if one soul] or, any soul, that is, any person: the Chaldee expoundeth it one man. So in Lev. 4. 27. through ignorance] in Greek, unwillingly. This also by the Hebrews (as Sol. Rashi here) is expounded of the sin of idolatry. of her first year] Hebr. daughter of her year; in Greek, a yeareling: see the notes on Exod. 12. 5. In Levite. 4. 32. he might also bring an ewe-lamb for his sin; which may likewise be understood here. But Sol. Rashi saith, For other transgressions, a particular man bringeth an ewe-lamb, or a she-goat: but for this (of idolatry) a she-goat is appointed.

Verse 29. one law shall be to you] that is, ye shall have one law: the Greek translath, one law shall be among them, (or for them.) that doth] or, that committeth, to wit, the sin, through ignorance: in Greek, whosoever doth unwillingly. Thus the Law promiseth grace in Christ, in that it appointeth sacrifices and priests that can have compassion on the ignorant, and on them that err, Heb. 5. 2. In this faith, David prayeth unto God, Ignorances (or, Unadvised errors) who doth understand? cleanse thou me from secret sins, Ps. 19. 13.

Vers. 30. the soul] in Chaldee, the man. with an high hand] that is, boldly, proudly and presumptuously, as the Greek translatheth, with the hand of pride; and Targum Jonathan, with pr 〈...〉, (or presumption.) This phrase, when it is spoken of good works, meaneth boldness, courage and magnanimity, in heart and carriage; as, Israel went out of Egypt with an high hand, Num. 33. 3. Exod. 14. 8. but here of evil, it meaneth pride and presumption showing it self openly and boldly; which Onkelos in Chaldee expoundeth with an uncovered head, as being not ashamed of the deed, (for when men were ashamed, they used to cover their heads, Ier 14. 4.) Of like sort, is the high arm, in Job 38. 15. (where the Greek also expoundeth it, the arm of the proud;) and the high (or lofty) eyes, Psal. 18. 28. and 131. 1. reproacheth] or, blasphemeth; which the Greek and Chaldee translate, provoketh to anger. It meaneth a reproaching with words, as in 2 King. 19. 6. 22. and is applied here unto deeds, as also in Ezek. 20. 27. yet in this your fathers have reproached (or blasphemed) me, in that they have trespassed a trespass against me. So a presumptuous sinner is counted as a blasphemer of God, and hath no sacrifice for his sin, but is to be cut off. And this word Christ hath respect unto, in Luke 12. 10. unto him that blasphemeth against the holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven. that soul] in Chaldee, that man. cut 〈〉 in Greek and Chaldee, destroyed: which phrase the Apostle useth in Act. 3. 23. shall be destroyed from among the people. That word meaneth destruction by the hand of God, as in 1 Cor. 10. 10. Heb. 11. 28. So the Hebrew Doctors understand the cutting off, mentioned in the Law of Moses: which sometime is so explained, as in Lev. 17. 10. God saith, I will cut him off from among his people. But if there were witnesses of the fact, the Magistrates punished them, either by death, or beating: see the notes on Deut. 25. 2.

Vers. 31. despised the word] or, contemned, 〈〉 [unspec] it at naught, as vile; dishonored it. Hereupon is that proverb, He that despiseth the word, shall be destroyed; but he that feareth the commandment, shall be rewarded, Prov. 13. 13. broken] or, disannulled, frustrated, made void: it is opposed unto stablishing or confirming. This word Christ useth in Mark. 7. 9. Full well ye frustrate the commandment of God. Vsually it is applied to the breaking of the covenant of God, as in Ger. 17. 14. Levite. 15. 44. and often in the Prophets; sometime of the Law and commandments, Psal. 119. 126. Ezer. 9. 14. Heb. 10. 28. shall utterly be cut off] or, shall be cut off with cutting off: the doubling of the word, is for more certainty, and speed; and as the Hebrew Doctors gather from it, in this world and in the world to come: See the annotations on Gen. 17. 14. So R. Menachem here saith, Although we find Apostates (from God) to live more than 50. years, and that they are not cut off from the 〈〉 of this world; yet know that their deserts hang up• them in this world, and vengeance shall be taken 〈〉 them abundantly in the world to come. 〈〉 quittie] or, the iniquity of it, (of the soul, that is, of the person) shall be upon it; or, in it; or, with 〈〉 : By iniquity, understanding punishment for iniquity, as in Gen. 19. 15. and as Sin, is for the punishment of sin, Lev. 22. 9. Or, we may take iniquity properly; as Sol. Rashi expoundeth it, when iniquity is in him, that he repenteth not. R. Menachē here allegeth an exposition of the ancients, that soul shall be cut off, and the iniquity thereof with it: as if he should say, the iniquity shall cleave unto it after it is cut off, to be punished forever; according to that (in Isaiah 66. 24.) Their worm shall not die; which Jonathan (the Chaldee paraphrast) expoundeth, Their soul shall not die. And our Doctors have said, It shall be cut off in this world, it shall be cut off from the world to come. So the Chaldee on Moses, which goeth under the name of Jonathan paraphraseth, that man shall be destroyed in the world that is to come, and shall give account of his sin at the great day of judgment.

Verse 32. were in the wilderness] For so (saith [unspec] Chazkuni) it was decreed concerning them, that they should not come into the land (of Canaan.) In the former commandments of the drink-offerings, and Cake, it was written, When ye be come into the land, &c. to teach, that they were not to practice them save in the land: but the Sabbath was to be kept both within the land and without, though it were in the wilderness; and therefore it is written concerning it, IN THE WILDERNESSE.

Verse 34. in ward] that is, in prison. So they dealt [unspec] with the blasphemer, in Lev. 24. 12. it was not declared] in Greek, they had not judged, or determined. Wherefore was it thus? seeing the Law had twice said, that the breaker of the Sabbath should die, Exod. 31. 4. and 35. 2. Sol. Rashi saith, it was not declared what manner of death he should die: but they knew that he that profaned the Sabbath was to die. And the Chaldee called Jonathan's paraphraseth thus; *This judgment was one of the four judgments that came before Moses the Prophet, which he judged according to the word of the holy (God.) Some of them were judgments of lesser moment, and some of them judgments of life and death. In the judgments of lesser moment (of pecuniarie matters) Moses was ready, but in judgments of life and death be made delays. And both in the one and in the other, Moses said, I have not heard, [viz. what God would have done.] For to teach the heads (or chief) of the Synedrions (or Assizes) that should rise up after him, that they should be ready to dispatch inferior causes (or money matters,) but not hasty in matters of life and death. And that they should not be ashamed to enquire, in causes that are too hard for them; seeing Moses who was the maste• of Israel, had need to say, I have not heard. Therefore he imprisoned him; because as yet it was not declared, what sentence should pass upon him. The four judgments which he speaketh of, were about the unclean that would keep the Passover, Num. 9. 7, 8. and the daughters of Zelophead that claimed possession in the land, Num. 27. 4, 5. (these were the cases of less impor•ance:) about the blasphemer, Lev. 24. and the Sabbath. breaker here: both which he kept in 〈...〉 ard, till he had answer from the Lord.*

Verse 35. stone him] This was esteemed the heaviest of all the four kinds of death, that malesa 〈...〉 s suffered in Israel: see the notes on Exod. 21. 12. without the campe] Hereupon they used to carry such out of the cities, and execute them far off from the judgment hall, as S•l. Rashi noteth. So they dealt with Stephen, casting him out of the city, and stoning him, Act. 7. 58. likewise with Naboth, 1 Kings 21. 13. also with the blasphemer, Levite. 24. 14. which was a circumstance that aggravated the punishment, being a kind of reproach, as the Apostle noteth, Heb. 13. 11, 12, 13. And this severity, showeth of what weight the commandment touching the Sabbath is, the profanation whereof God would have thus to be avenged. And it further signified the eternal death of such as do not keep the Sabbath of Christ, entering into the rest of God by faith, and ceasing from their own works, as God did from his, Heb. 4. 1, 2, 3, 4, 10. 11.

Verse 37. And Jehovah said] After the violating of the Sabbath, and punishment for it, God giveth a Law and ordaineth a sign of remembrance, to further the sanctification of his people, that they might think upon his commandments and do them.

Vers. 38. sons of Israel] This Law for Fringes, concerned Israel only, not other nations; and as the Hebrews say, men only were bound to wear them, not women. Women and servants and little children are not bound by the Law to wear the Fringe. But by the words of the Scribes, every child that knoweth to clothe himself, is bound to wear the fringe, to the end he may be trained up in the commandments. And women and servants that will wear them, may so do, but they bless not [God, as men do when they put them on:] and so all other commandments which women are not bound unto, if they will do them, they do them without blessing first. Maimonides tom. 1. in Zizith. (or treat. of Fringes) ch. 3. sect. 9. that they make] they themselves, and not heathens for them: a Fringe which is made by an heathen, is unlawful; as it is written, Speak to the sons of Israel, that they make unto them. Maim. in Zizith, ch. 1. sect. 12. a Fringe] that is, Fringes, as in Deut. 22. 12. Moses speaketh of many: and so the Greek and Chaldee translate it here. A Fringe is in Hebrew called Tsitsith (or Zizith,) which in Ezek. 8. 3. is used for a lock of hair of the head; and is here applied to a Fringe, the threads whereof hang down as locks of hair. And the Hebrew Doctors call it also Gnanaph, that is, a Branch, because it hangeth as branches or twigs of a tree. The Branch which they make upon the skirt of a garment, is called Tsitsith, because it is like to (Tsitsith) a lock of the head, Ezek. 8. 3. And this Branch is called White, because we are not commanded to die (or color) it. And for the threads of this Branch, there is no set number by the Law. And they take a thread of wool which is died like the color of the Firmament, and tie it upon the Branch (or Fringe;) and this thread is called Blew. Maim. in Zizith, ch. 1. sect. 1. 2. The Fringe is called in Greek, Craspoda, and this word is used by the holy Ghost in Matt. 23. 5. and of it, the Chaldee also calleth it Cruspedin. The word Gedilim used for Pringes, in Deut. 22. 12. were the thrums of the cloth which was woven: and Tsitsith the Fringe here spoken of, were threads tied unto those thrums with knots. on the skirts] Hebr. on the wings. This is expounded in Deut. 22. 12. on the four skirts, (or wings.) The skirt end, or border of a garment, is usually called a wing. as in Ruth 3. 9. 1 Sam. 15. 27. and 24. 5, 11. Deut. 22. 30. Zach. 8. 23. Ezek. 5. 3. Hag. 2. 12. so the four ends or corners of the earth, are called the four wings thereof, Isaiah. 11. 12. Eze. 7. 2. Job 37. 3. and 38. 13. The garment which a man is bound to make the Fringe on by the Law, is a garment which hath four skirts, or more than four: and it is a garment of woollen or of linen only. But a garment of other stuff, as of silk, or cotton, or camels hair, or the like, are not bound to have the Fringe, save by the words of our wise men, that men may be admonished to keep the precept of the Fringe. For all clothes spoken of in the Law absolutely, are not, save of woollen and linen only. When he maketh a fringe on a garment that hath five or six skirts, he maketh it but on four of the skirts, as it is said, UPON THE FOVRE SKIRTS, Deu. 22. 12. A garment that is borrowed, is not bound to have the Fringe for 30 days; after and thence forward it is bound. A garment of wool, they make the white thereof of threads of wool: and a garment of flax (or linen) they make the white thereof of threads of flax; and so of every garment after the kind thereof, &c. Every man that is bound to do this commandment, if he put upon him a garment which is meet to have the Fringe, must put on the Fringe, and then put the garment on; and if he put it on without the Fringe, he breaketh the commandment. But clothes meet to have the Fringe, so long as a man puts them not on, but foldeth and layeth them up, they are not bound to have the fringe: for it is not a duty in respect of the garment, but in respect of the man which hath the garment. Maim. in Zizith, ch. 3. sect. 1—5. 10. upon the Fringe] or, with the Fringe. a ribband] or, a thread, as the word is Englished in Judge. 16. 9. or, a lace, as in Exod. 39. 31. it hath the name of twisting or wreathing. The Greek and Chaldee translate it, a thread: and so it is explained by the Hebrew Doctors; who also say, whether they were threads of white, or threads of blew, if he would make them of twisted threads, he might so do; and though the thread were twisted of eight threads, & a ribband made of them, it was counted but one thread. The threads of the fringe, whether white or blew, must be spun for the fringe by name. Maimonides in Zizith, c. 1. s. 10, 11. of blew] or, of sky-color. The Hebrews say, the blew spoken of in the law in every place, is wool died, and like the clear firmament. And the blew for the Fringe must be died in a known die that will continue in the fair color and not change: and whatsoever is not so died, is unlawful for the Frings, though it be like the color of the Firmamēt. The die for this blew was made (they say) with the blood of the Chalazon, which is a fish of blew color, & the blood of it is black as ink; & it is found in the salt sea. And with that blood they mix vermilion, &c. Also it must be died for the Fringe by name. Maim. in Zizith, ch. 2. sect. 1, 2, 3. and Talmud in Menacheth, ch. 4. As for the Fringe, (which they usually call the White, because it was not commanded to be died, it might be of any color, as the garment it self, except blew: whereof they write thus; The garment which is all red, or green, or of other died colors, they make the white threads (  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  Fringe) thereof, like the died color thereof; green, if it be green; or red, if it be red. If it be  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  blew then they make the white (the Fringe) thereof or other colors, any save black, for that will turn and appear blewish: & they tie upon all, one thread of  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  like as they do in other Fringes which are not  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  . Maim. ibidem, ch. 2. sect. 8. By reason of this different color, they also say, There are foud in the commandment (of the fringe.) two commandments; that a man make on the skirt, a branch issuing out of it; and that he tie upon the branch a thread of blew, (Num. 15. 38.) And the blew hindereth not the white; neither doth the white hinder the blew. A  $\langle \dots \rangle$  if a man have no blew, he maketh the white alone, &c. Though one hindereth not another, yet are they not two commandments, but one. Our former wise mē have said (from these words,) And it shall be unto you for a Fringe, Num. 15. 39. this teacheth that both of them are one commandment. And the four Fringes (on the four skirts) do hinder one another [so that one may not be without another,] for they four are one commandment, (Deut. 22. 12.) A  $\langle \dots \rangle$  he that weareth a garment wherein is the white (Fringe) or the blew (ribband,) or both of them together, he keepeth one commanding precept. Maim, in Zizith, ch. 1. sect. 3, 4, 5.

Verse 39. for a Fringe] By the institution of God it was made unto them a Fringe, and so a religious sign to help their memories, and to further their sanctification: wherefore they used to sanctify this, as all other like divine ordinances, by prayer; and when they put on this garment, they blessed the Lord their God, the King of the world, which sanctified them by his commandments, and co  $\langle \dots \rangle$  them to array themselves with Fringes. And whe••ever they clothed themselves herewith in the daytime, they blessed for them before they put them on. But they blessed not for the Fringes at the time  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  the making of them, because the end of the comman•ement is, that they should be arrayed herewith. M  $\langle \dots \rangle$  in Zizith, ch. 3. s. 8. that ye may see it] or, and ye shall see (or look upon) it; on yourselves and one on another. Wherefore the Hebrews say, A  $\langle \dots \rangle$  man was bound to wear the Fringe: for though he saw it not, others did see it. Maim. in Zizith, ch. 3.

sect. 7. By many means of sundry sorts, God warned his people of old, to walk religiously and holily before him; and it is observed by some of themselves, that The holy blessed God left nothing in the world, wherein he gave not some commandment to Israel: if they went out to plow, (he said) Th's shalt not plow with an ox and an asse together, Deut. 22. 10. if to sow; Thou shalt not sow with ⟨ϕ⟩ kinds, Lev. 19. 19. if to reap; Thou shalt not ⟨ϕ⟩ reap the corner of thy field, &c. Levite. 19. 9. <...> knead their dough; Of the first of your dough, ⟨ϕ⟩ offer a cake, Num. 15. 20. if they killed (⟕) They shall give unto the Priest, the shoulder its two cheeks, &c. Deut. 18. 3. if they found a ⟨ϕ⟩ nest; Thou shalt send away the D <...> e, Deut. 22. 6, <ϕ> . if they caught wild beast or fowl; He shall pour out the blood thereof, and cover it with dust, Levite. 17. 13. if they planted; Ye shall count as uncircumcised the uncircumcision thereof, &c. Levite. 19. 23. if they had a man-child borne, the fore-skin of his flesh shall be circumcised, Lev. 12. 2. if they buried the dead; Ye shall not cut yourselves, &c. Deut. 14. 1. if they shaved themselves; Ye shall not round a corner of your head, &c. Lev. 19. 27. if they built an house; This shalt make a battlement, &c. Deut. 22. 8. And thou shalt write them upon the posts, &c. Deut. 6. 9. if they clothed themselves; Ye shall make ye a Fringe, &c. Chazkunion Num. 15. and remember all] This was the spiritual use of this ordinance, that it mought lead them unto a continual remembrance and practice of all the Law; without which, the outward rite was vain. The many threads of the Fringes on the four skirts of their garment, signified the many commandments of God which they should put upon them, to be as it were clothed with them, and to walk in them: the heavencoloured ribband, taught them an heavenly affection to all the Law, and an holy conversation; and led them spiritually to put on the wedding garment, Matth. 22. 11. the Lord Jesus Christ, Rom. 13. 14. the whole armor of God, Ephes. 6. 11. and the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and holiness of truth, Ephes. 4. 24. that their conversation might be in heaven, Phil. 3. 20. From these words, The Hebrew Doctors say; A man should always be careful to array him-self with such a garment as was bound to have the Fringe, that he might keep this commandment: and in the time of prayer, he is to be warned hereof more especially. It is a great shame for wise men, that they should pray, and not be arrayed herewith. A man must forever be warned of this commandment of the Fringe, for the Scripture maketh it of great weight, and all the commandments, everyone depend upon it. Maim. in Zizith, ch. 3. sect. 11, 12. But they abused this, as other divine ordinances, to superstitiō & hypocrisy; & were reprov'd by our Savior for making their Phylacteries broad, & enlarging the borders (or Fringes) of their garments, Mat. 23. 5. And this their vanity (neglecting the spiritual end) appeareth in their writings; for unto the thrums or threads of the garment, w<sup>ch</sup> were three inches, they fastened threads doubled in the midst, whose length (they say) might not be less than four inches, but more than so they might be, though a cubit, or two cu <...> . Maim. in Zizith, ch. 1. s. 6. And for the virtue hereof, they say, Who so diligently keepeth this Law of Fringes, is made worthy, and shall see the face of the Majestic of God: (Baal hatturini on Num. 15.) and when a man is clothed with the Fringe, and g <...> out therewith to the door of his habitation, he is safe, and God rejoiceth, and the destroying Angel departeth from thence, and the man shall be delivered from all hurt, and from all destruction, &c. (R. Menachem on Num. 15.) Thus easy it is for men to abuse holy things, and to pervert the right use and end of them by their own inventions. See the annotations on Exod. 13. 9. And although they ⟨ϕ⟩ so great religion in these Fringes, yet as they have lost the spirit and life of this commandment, so God hath deprived them of the outward rīe, that they have not at this day, (by their own confession (the blew or heaven-coloured ribband; The blew (Teceleth) is not found in our hands at this day, because we know not to make the die (or colour) of it: for every blew in wool is not called Teceleth. But the Teceleth (or Blew spoken of in the Law,) it is known that it is impossible to make it at this day; and therefore we make the white oely, saith Rambam (or Maimonides) in his exposition on Talmud Bab. in Menachoth, ch. 4. and that ye seek not] or, and ye shall not seek, (or search, as Num. 14. 36.) which word Solomon applieth to his heart, searching out things by wisdom, Eccles. 1. 13. and 7. 25. The Greek here translatheth it, turn aside; the Chaldee, err, (or go astray.) your heart▪ in Chaldee, the imagination of your heart. Here God calleth men from their own wisdom and inventions to his Law only; for every imagination of the thoughts of man's heart, is only evil every day, Gen. 6. 5. And, he that trusteth in his own heart, is a fool, Prov. 28. 26. your eyes] in Chaldee, the sight of your eyes. So the holy Ghost saith, Walk in the ways of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes; but know thou, that for all these things God will bring thee into judgment, Eccles. 11. 9. And the Apostle mentioneth the lust of the eyes, as that which is not of the Father, but of the world, 1 John 2. 16. The Hebrews say, The heart and the eyes are the spies of the body, and brokers to bring it into transgression; the eye feeth, and the heart lusteth, and the body acteth the transgression. Sol. Rashi on Num. 15. The Lord condemning the heart which is the most noble of all the inward parts, and the eyes which are the most excellent of all the outward, teacheth that the whole man is corrupted throughout, and to be reformed by the Law and Spirit of God. For, except a man be borne of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God, John 3. 5. you go a whoring] in Chaldee, you orre (or go astray.) To go a whoring after other gods, is an usual phrase for idolatry, Exod. 34. 15. Deut. 31. 16. 1 Chr. 5. 25. Judge. 2. 17. the same is implied here, as God saith, I am broken with their whorish heart, which hath departed from me; and with their eyes, which go a whoring after their idols, Ezek. 6. 9. but it meaneth also all other sins which men's unclean hearts and impure eyes carry them unto, with consent and delight: see Lev. 20. 5, 6. Psal. 106. 39. I am. 4. 4. The Hebrews say; If any man be drawn after the thoughts of his heart, he will be found a waster of the world, because of the slenderness (or shortness) of his understanding. As, sometimes he will search after idolatry, and sometimes will think peculiarly of the Creator, whether there be any or none: What is above, and what beneath; what was before, and what shall be after. And sometimes of prophesy, whether it be truth or no; and sometimes of the Law, whether it be from heaven or no. And he knoweth not what to judge of them, till he know the truth concerning his Creator, but will be found a revolter unto heresies. Concerning this thing is that warning in the Law, where it is said, And ye shall not seek after your heart, and after your eyes, after which ye go a whoring, Num. 15. 39. as if he should say, there shall not any one of you be drawn after his own slender understanding (or knowledge,) as to imagine that his cogitation can attain to the truth: so have our wise men said, AFTER YOVR HEART; this (meaneth) heresies; and AFTER YOVR EYES, this is whoredom. And this is an occasion for a man to deprive himself of the world (or life) that is to come. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, ch. 2. sect. 3.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Korah, Dathan, Abiram, and On, with 250 Princes, rise up against Moses and Aaron, about the Priesthood and government of the Church. 5 Moses referreth the trial of the cause unto God, and reprovethe Korahs ambition. 12 He sendeth for Dathan and Abiram, who reproach him, and will not come up. 15 He prayeth against them, 16 and gathereth Korah and his company with their censers, before the Tabernacle. 20 The Lord threateneth to consume the rebels, and commandeth the people to separate from them. 31 The earth swalloweth up Dathan, Abiram, and all Korahs men, and a fire from the Lord devoureth the 250 that burned incense. 36 The censers are reserved to cover the altar, for a sign unto Israel. 41 All the congregation murmur against Moses and Aaron, as they that bad killed the Lord's people. 44 The Lord killeth 14700 of them with a plague. 46 Aaron by incense stayeth the plague.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

ANd Korah the son of Izhar, the son of Kohath, the son of Levi, he took men; and Dathan and Abiram the sons of Eliab, and On the son of Peleth, sons of Reuben. And they rose up before Moses, and men of the sons of Israel, two hundred and fifty, Princes of the congregation, the called of the assembly, men of name.

And they gathered themselves together, against Moses and against Aaron, and said unto them; Ye take too much upon you; for all the congregation, all of them are holy, and Jehovah is among them; and wherefore lift ye up yourselves above the Church of Jehovah? And Moses heard it, and fell upon his face. And he spake unto Korah, and unto all his congregation, saying; Even in the morning Jehovah will make known him that is his, and who is holy, and whom he will cause to come near unto him: even him whom he hath chosen, he will cause to come near unto him. This do ye: take unto you censers, Korah and all his congregation. And put ye fire in them, and put incense on them before Jehovah tomorrow; and it shall be, that the man whom Jehovah doth choose, he shall be holy: ye take too much upon you, ye sons of Levi. And Moses said unto Korah, Hear I pray you, ye sons of Levi. Is it a small thing for you, that the God of Israel hath separated you, from the congregation of Israel, to bring you near unto him, to serve the service of the Tabernacle of Jehovah, and to stand before the congregation to minister unto them? And he hath brought thee near, and all thy brethren the sons of Levi with thee; and seek ye the Priesthood also? For which cause, thou and all thy congregation are gathered together against Jehovah: and Aaron what is he, that ye murmur against him? And Moses sent to call Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab: and they said, We will not come up. Is it a small thing that thou hast brought us up out of the land that floweth with milk and honey, to kill us in the wilderness: that thou makest thyself a Prince over us, even making thyself a Prince? Moreover, thou hast not brought us into a land that floweth with milk & honey, & givē unto us an inheritance of field & vineyard: wilt thou dig out the eyes of these men? we will not comeup. And Moses was very wroth; and he said unto Jehovah, Respect not thou their offering; I have not taken one asse from them, neither have I hurt one of them. And Moses said unto Korah; Thou and all thy congregation, be ye before Jehovah; thou and they, and Aaron, tomorrow. And take ye every man his censer, and put incense on them; and bring ye near before Jehovah, every man his censer, two hundred and fifty censers: and thou and Aaron, each man his censer. And they took every man his censer, and put fire on them, and put incense on them: and they stood at the door of the Tent of the congregation, and Moses and Aaron. And Korah gathered against them, all the congregation, unto the door of the Tent of the congregation, and the glory of Jehovah appeared unto all the congregation.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, and unto Aaron, saying; Separate yourselves from among this congregation, and I will consume them, as in a moment. And they fell upon their faces, and said; O God, the God of the spirits of all flesh; shall one man sin, and wilt thou be fervently wroth with all the congregation?

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Speak unto the congregation, saying: Get you up from about the Tabernacle of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram. And Moses rose up and went unto Dathan and Abiram: and the Elders of Israel went after him. And he spake unto the congregation, saying; Depart, I pray you, from the tents of these wicked men, and touch not any thing that is theirs, lest ye be consumed in all their sins.

And they went up from the Tabernacle of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram, on every side; and Dathan and Abiram came out and stood in the door of their Tents, and their wives, and their sons, and their little ones. And Moses said, Hereby ye shall know that Jehovah hath sent me to do all these works: for (I do them) not of mine own heart. If these men die, as all men die, and they be visited after the visitation of all men, Jehovah hath not sent me. But if Jehovah create a new thing, and the earth open her mouth, and swallow up them, and all that appertain unto them, and they go down alive unto hell; then ye shall know, that these men have provoked Jehovah. And it was as he had made an end of speaking all these words, that the ground clave asunder which was under them. And the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed up them and their houses, and all the men that appertained unto Korah, and all their substance. And they, and all that appertained unto them, went down alive unto hell: and the earth closed upon them, and they perished from among the Church. And all Israel that were round about them, fled at the voice of them: for they said, Lest the earth swallow up us. And a fire came forth from Jehovah, and devoured the two hundred and fifty men that offered incense.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Speak unto Eleazar the son of Aaron the Priest, that he take up the censers out of the burning; and scatter thou the fire yonder, for they are hallowed. The censers of these sinners against their own souls, and let them make them broad plates, for a covering of the Altar; for they offered them before Jehovah, and they are hallowed, and they shall be for a sign unto the sons of Israel. And Eleazar the Priest took the brazen censers, which they that were burnt had offered, and they were made broad plates, for a covering of the Altar. A memorial unto the sons of Israel, that not any stranger, which is not of the seed of Aaron, come near to offer incense before Jehovah; that he be not as Korah, and as his congregation, as Jehovah spake by the hand of Moses unto him.

And on the morrow, all the congregation of the sons of Israel murmured against Moses, and against Aaron, saying; you have killed the people of Jehovah. And it was when the congregation was gathered against Moses, and against Aaron, that they looked towards the Tent of the congregation; and behold the cloud covered it, and the glory of Jehovah appeared. And Moses and Aaron came before the Tent of the congregation.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Get you up frō among this congregation; & I will consume them as in a moment: and they fell upon their faces. And Moses said unto Aaron; Take the censer, and put fire thereon from off the Altar, and put on incense, and go quickly unto the congregation, and make atonement for them: for fervent wrath is gone out from before Jehovah, the plague is begun. And Aaron took as Moses had spoken, and ran into the midst of the Church, and behold the plague was begun among the people: and he put on incense, and made atonement for the people.

And he stood between the dead and the living, and the plague was stayed. And they that died in the plague, were fourteen thousand and seven hundred, beside them that died about the matter of Korah. And Aaron returned unto Moses, unto the door of the Tent of the congregation, and the plague was stayed.

Annotations.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Here beginneth the 38 Lecture of the Law, which the Hebrews call Korah, because his rebellion is the principal thing here treated of: see Gen. 6. 9.

Verse 1. Korah] or Korach; in Greek, Kore, Jude, ver. 11. Izhar] in Greek, Isaar. Kohath] in Greek, Kaath. he took] to wit, men with him: so Korah is noted as the principal in the rebellion, which the Apostle therefore calleth the gain-saying of Kore, Jude verse 11. and in Num. 27. 3. only Korahs company is mentioned, where speech is of this mutiny. The Greek translateth, he spake, to signify that he took others by persuading them to his faction. The Chaldee understands it of taking, that is, withdrawing of himself, saying, And Korah separated himself. Thus Sol. Rashi also expoundeth it, he took him-self aside to be apart from the congregation. and Dathan and Abiram] this may be understood, that they also took men and separated themselves: or rather, that Kore took these men unto him, and so to read it, he took Dathan and Abiram, or he took both Dathan and Abiram; for the word and in Hebrew, may sometime be omitted in our English speech, as is shown on Gen. 8. 6. or be interpreted both, as explaining the former words: see the annotations on Gen. 36. 24. And thus Chazkuni expoundeth it, And Korah took: it meaneth the taking of men; and whom took he? Dathan and Abiram, &c. AND before DATHAN is redundant here, as often elsewhere. Abiram] in Greek, Ab•iron. Eliab] in Greek, Eliam: he was son to Phallu the son of Reuben, Num. 26. 7, 8, 9. Gen. 46. 9. On] in Greek, Ann, and Aunan. Peleth] in Greek, Phaleth. sons of Reuben] Dathan, Abiram, and On, were all sons, that is, of the posterity of Reuben, who was the first-borne of Israel, but lost his honor by his sin, 1 Chron. 5. 1. which his sons by unlawful means seek to recover. And these Reubenites camped next unto Korah and the Kohathites, on the Southside of the Tabernacie, (as is shown in Num. 2.) and so being neighbors in situation, associated themselves in evil, which Sol. Rashi observing, saith thereupon, Woe be to the wicked, and woe unto his neighbor. Korah being a Levite of the Kohathites, which was the chief family of the Levites, as is noted on Num. 3. 28. he took offense (as Rashi on this place saith;) and envied at the preferment of Elizaphan the son of Vzziel, whom Moses had made Prince over the sons of Kohath, Num. 3. 30. when he was of the youngest brother Vzziell, and Korah himself was of Izhar, elder than he: see Num. 3. 27. 30. But by the sequel here it appeareth, that the lift up himself not only against Elizaphan, but against Moses and Aaron, and sought the Priesthood also, verse 10.

Verse 2. and men] that is, Korah and men, as appeareth by verse 5. 16, 17. where these are called Korahs congregation. the called of the assembly] Senators called to the assembly (and as the Greek translatheth it, council) of the governors: in Chap. 1. 16. such are named the called of the congregation, and in Chap. 26. 9. Dathan and Abiram are named the called of the congregation, who strove against Moses, &c. so these were States-men, famous and renowned, whereby the conspiracy was the stronger. men of name] that is, of renown; this title is given to the Giants before the Flood, Gen. 6. 4. Whereupon Baal hatturim here noteth, Men of name for wisdom and for wealth; and they condemned themselves, as did the generation of the Flood, which were of old, men of name.

Verse 3. Ye take too much upon you] or, Let it suffice you, as this phrase is translated in Deut. 3. 26. Hebr. much to you: or, enough for you: which Sol. Rashi expoundeth thus, ye have taken to yourselves greatness, much more than enough. So after in verse 7. holy] and therefore may approach unto God and offer their sacrifices. This they meant, as Moses answer showeth in verse 5. and 10. So the presumption of their own holiness, brought them to ambition and affectation of the Priesthood: an honor which no man should take to himself, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron, Hebr. 5. 4. Jehovah is] in Chaldee, the divine presence (or Majesty) of the LORD dwelleth among them.

Verse 4. fell on his face] as affected with their words, humbling himself, and (in likelihood) praying unto God, as in verse 22. Chazkuni saith, He was abashed, and cast down his face on the ground unto prayer: and there it was said unto him (of God) what he should say unto Korah. Like gesture he used at their former murmuring, Num. 14. 5. and after in Num. 20. 6.

Verse 5. Even in the morning] or, the morning (shall come) and Jehovah will make known, &c. Judgment is deferred till the morrow morning, so they had that time to consider of their fact: and the morning is usually the time of judgment, both by men, as, In the mornings I will suppress all the wicked of the land, Psal. 101. 8. Judge judgment in the morning, Ier. 21. 12. and by God himself; as, Morning by morning doth he bring his judgment to light, Zeph. 3. 5. and, my rebuke is in the mornings, Psal. 73. 14. So in the morning judgment came upon Sodom, Gen. 19. 23, 24. and the plagues or Egypt, Exod. 7. 15. and 8. 20. and 9. 13. and 10. 1•. and the pestilence on Israel, 2 Sam. 24. 15. and so shall evil come upon sinners, and they shall not know the morning thereof, Isaiah. 47. 11. Boker, the morning, is derived of Baker, he inquired, or looked out; whereupon the Greek Interpreters reading without vowels, translated it, The Lord hath looked out and known those that are his: but the Chaldee saith, in the morning, thē the LORD will make known, &c. make known him] or, make known those that are his; so the Greek translatheth, knoweth, (or hath known) those that are his: which very words Paul (from this history) applieth to God's knowledge, care and love of his Elect whom he sanctifieth, and keepeth from falling away, as did certain heretics in those days, 2 Tim. 2. 17, 18, 19, 20. This therefore is a speech of faith, whereby Moses testifieth his confidence in God, who had separated Aaron unto the Priesthood, and himself unto the government in Israel; and would maintain their cause and calling against all opposers. And because these two offices figured the grace given by Christ unto his Elect, whom he hath made Kings and Priests, even a kingly Priesthood, and an holy Nation, Revel. 1. 6. and 5. 10. 1 Pet. 2. 9. therefore the Apostle (in 2 Tim. 2.) fitly citeth these words for the comfort of the Saints, & faithful ministers of Christ, against revolters: even as another Apostle applieth also against such, the way of Kain, the error of Balaam, and the contradiction (or rebellion) of Kore; wherein they perish, Jude verse 11. The Chaldee translateth it, and will make known him that is fit for him. and who is hol• or, and the holy one, that is, him whom he hath sanctified and separated unto the Priests office. So David (speaking of this rebellion) calleth Aaron the holy one (or Saint) of Jehovah, Psal. 106. 16. and he wore on the golden plate, this engraving, Holines•e to Jehovah, Exod. 28. 36. for he figured our high Priest Christ, who was holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, & made higher than the heavens, Heb. 7. 26. and who glorified not himself to be made an high Priest, but had the honor given him of his Father, Heb. 5. 5, 6. and Korahs rebellion against Aaron was a type of men's rebellion against Christ, as the Apostles have taught us. The Greek translateth (as before) plurally, saying, and the holy ones he hath brought near unto himself. cause to come near] or, bring near, to wit, to minister unto him, as the Chaldee interpreteth it. And this honor of Priesthood, given now unto all Saints, who are to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ, 1 Pet. 2. 5. is commended by David, when he saith, Blessed is he whom thou chooseth and causeth to come near unto thee, that he may dwell in thy courts, Ps. 65. 5. Which bringing near, (or, access) we all have through Christ by one spirit unto the Father, with confidence by the faith of him, Ephes. 2. 18. and 3. 12. This latter part of the verse, is by the Greek interpreted thus; And these whom he hath not chosen to himself, he hath not brought near unto himself.

Verse 6. censers] or, fire vessels, as the Greek translateth it, fire pans; whereof see Exod. 27. 3. called sometime incense-vessels, (because incense was burnt in them,) 2 Chron. 26. 19. Ezek. 8. 11. which name the Apostle followeth in the Greek, Hebr. 9. 4.

Verse 7. put ye fire] Hebr. give ye fire, and put incense. doth choose] or, shall choose, that is, declare by manifest sign that he chooseth and liketh. he shall be holy] that is, shall be declared to be holy, and so to be a Priest unto God. Because the burning of incense in the censer, was the means of atonement and expiation before God, as after is shown by Aaron's i•ct, in verse 46, 47, 48. and was the peculiar work of the Priest, Levite. 16. 12, 13. 2 Chron. 26. 18. wherein they that transgressed, were in danger of death, as the example of Nadab and Abihu showeth, Lev. 10. and it figured in special manner the prayers and mediation of Christ for his Church, Psal. 141. 2. Rev. 8. 3. 1 John 2. 1. therefore the trial of the Priesthood, is put upon this work, rather than on any other sacrifice; and the holiness whereof Korath boasted, verse 3. should either be approved or reprov'd of God. For no man hath right to the honor of Priesthood, unless it be given him of God, Hebr. 5. 4, 5. nor can without divine authority, that is, without the commandment and promise of God, please him, or appease his wrath towards himself or others. Therefore it is a great prerogative and comfort unto all Saints, that they are by Christ made Priests unto God, and through him may boldly offer up their prayers and praises unto the Father, Revel. 1. 6. 1 Pet. 2. 5. Hebr. 13. 15. 1 John 5. 14—16. ye take too much upon you] or, Let it suffice you, that you have thus far provoked the Lord, and now leave off. Thus Moses returneth the blame upon themselves, which they had unjustly laid upon him, in verse 3. So Elias doth upon Ahab, 1 Kings 18. 17, 18.

Verse 9. Is it a small thing] or, Seemeth it too little for you: meaning on the contrary, that it was a great thing, and that they should therewith have been contented; for the Tribe of Levi were in the place of all the first-borne of Israel, Num. 3. 41. So here he reproveth their unthankfulness to God. separated you from the congregation] as Israel was separated from all other people's, to be the Lord's peculiar, Lev. 20. 26. 1 Kings 8. 53. so were the Levites separated from the sons of Israel, to be the Lord's, Num. 8. 14. And hereupon the Scripture speaketh of the Levites, as distinct from the Israelites, 1 Chron. 9. 2. Psal. 135. 19, 20. So the Ministers of Christ are said to be separated unto the Gospel of God, Rom. 1. 1. Gal. 1. 15. Acts 13. 2. the service of the Tabernacle] the works belonging to the service of God therein, being assistants to the Priests; see Num. 8. 11, 15, 16. and 18. 21. 23. to stand before the congregation] standing is a sign of service, and used for it; as the Scripture in one place saith, which stood before the King, Ierem. 52. 112. and in another, a servant of the King, 2 King. 25. 8. Whereupon the standing of the Levites is used for their service, in Nehem. 12. 44. and as they were to stand before the Lord, to minister unto him. Deut. 10. 8. so here it is said, to stand before the congregation, to minister unto them: thus they were servants of God, and of his Church; as Josiah said unto them, Serve now the Lord your God, and his people Israel, 2 Chron. 35. 3. See also Ezek. 44. 11.

Verse 10. the Priesthood] in Chaldee, the high-Priesthood; in Greek, to do the Priests Office. That was in degree above the Levites, who were to minister unto the Priests, but not to come nigh the Altar, as did the Priests, Num. 18. 2. 3. For the Levites were appointed unto all manner of service of the Tabernacle of the house of God: but Aaron and his sons offered on the Altar of Burnt-offering, and on the Altar of incense, (and were) for all the work of the most holy place, and to make atonement for Israel, 1 Chron. 6. 48, 49. And Aaron was separated, [to wit, from the other Levites] that he should sanctify the most holy things, he and his sons forever, to burn (incense) before the Lord, to minister unto him, and to bless in his Name forever, 1 Chron. 23. 13. To usurp, affect or seeked this office of Priest-hood, without the calling of God, was a great sin against divine order and authority, severely punished here in Korah and his company, in King Uzziah, 2 Chron. 26. 19.—21. and others.

Verse 11. against Jehovah] because it was against his ordinance and minister, it is said to be against the Lord himself. So when the people refused Samuel's government, God said, They have not rejected thee, but they have rejected me, that I should not reign over them, 1 Sam. 87. and Christ said to his ministers, He that heareth you, heareth me; and he that despiseth you, despiseth me; and he that despiseth me, despiseth him that sent me. He that receiveth whomsoever I send, receiveth me; and he that receiveth me, receiveth him that sent me, Luke 10. 16. John 13. 20. Aaron, what is he? to wit, other than the Minister of God. So the Apostle saith, Who is Paul? and who is Apollo? but ministers by whom ye believed, 1 Cor. 3. 5. And thus had Moses said in their former murmurings, What are we that ye murmur against us? your murmurings are not against us, but against Jehovah, Exod. 16. 7, 8.

Vers. 12. We will not come up] An obstinate answer, and refusal of the means of their bettering, by Moses debating the matter with them; so might they have been persuaded to disist from their evil course, and have found mercy. By coming up, is meant unto the public place of judgment, whither (in the Scripture phrase) men are said to go up, as in Deut. 25. 7.

Ruth. 4. 1. And in Ezra 10. 7. 8. whosoever would not go to Jerusalem at the time appointed by the Princes and the Elders, all his substance should be forfeited, and himself separated from the Church of those that had been in captivity. Of Dathan and Abiram, Sol. Rashi here observeth, that Their own mouth caused them to offend (or signified their fall:) they were not but to go down, to wit, alive into hell, verse 33.

Vers. 13. out of the land] of Egypt, as is added in Targum Jonathan: which having been the place of their bondage and misery, an iron furnace unto them, Deut. 4. 20. they here call it a land flowing with milk and honey: so despising their redemption, & God their Redeemer, who laid their bring from thence, for a ground of their obedience unto him, Exod. 19, 4, 5. and 20. 2. even making] or, also making thyself a Prince; that is, without God, of thine own presumption advancing thyself only, wholly, and continually. The doubling of the word, is to aggravate their crimination. This latter branch the Greek translatheth, Thou art a Prince: as if it were spoken in derision.

Verse 14. not brought us] according to promise, Exod. 3. 8. and 33. 3. Lev. 20. 24. of field that is, as the Chaldee explaineth it, of fields and vineyards: one named generally for many, as is noted on Gen. 3. 2. dig out the eyes] that is, make them blind, as the Chaldee expoundeth it: so in Jude. 16. 21. 1 Sam. 11. 2. of these men] or, as the Greek translatheth it, of those men; which may be meant, of the whole congregation, as if they were so blind that they could not espy his fraud; or it may have special reference to Korah and his company. And thus Chazkuni here explaineth it; Thou hopest to dig out the eyes of Korah, and of all his congregation; as though they had no eyes to see and understand this offense, that thou hast brought us up from the good land of Egypt, and hast not performed unto us that which thou promisedst. to bring us into a land that floweth with milk and honey; but hast said, In this wilderness they shall be consumed, and there they shall die, (Num. 14. 35.) Moreover, thou hast perverted judgment against us, and therefore we will not come up unto thee, for we believe thee not, concerning the trial of this matter.

Verse 15. very wroth] or, very much grieved; see the notes on Gen. 4. 5. Respect not] or, Look not, Turn not the face unto; which the Chaldee expoundeth, Accept not with favor their oblation. their offering] or, their Meat-offering, their Minchab; whereof see the annotations on Levite. 2. and on Gen. 4. 3. And thus some understand this imprecation to be against Dathan and Abiram only; as Chazkum saith, The reason why Moses cursed Dathan  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  Abiram, was because when Moses sent to call them they said, we will not come up. It was not their  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  to convert; for though the Lord should have said, I have chosen Aaron, yet they would have m••ined against the Priesthood. They mistook and read Cham•• for Chamur, because the Hebrew letters Dand  $\langle \dots \rangle$  be one like another, as is also noted on Gen.

Verse 16. Thou and all thy congregation] The Greek expoundeth it, Sanctify thy congregation, and be ye ready before the Lord, &c. Because their rebellion was against God, verse 11. therefore Moses committeth the deciding of the controversy unto God.

Ver. 18. at the door] in the court-yard of the Sanctuary. and Moses and Aaron] Targum Jonathan explaineth it, they on the one side, and <ϕ> and Aaron on the other side.

Verse 19. assembled against them all] not only [unspec] the 250 forementioned, but the general multitude, too ready to incline to his faction. See verse. 41. glory of Jehovah] in the cloud over the Sanctuary, as it did at other times in the like cases, <ϕ>. 42. Num. 12. 5. and 14. 10.

Verse 21. as in a moment] or, even in a moment; suddenly, and as the Greek translateth, at once. So in verse 45. and thus God had before threatened, after they had made the life, Exod. 33. 5.

Verse 22. God of the spirits of all flesh] By all flesh, is meant, all mankind; as in Gen. 6. 13. <ϕ>. 40. 5. 6. Ezek. 20. 48. and 21. 4, 5. Joel. 2. 28. and so it is explained in Job 12. 10. the spirit of <ϕ> flesh of man. And the Lord is called God of the spirits of men, both as he is creator of them, who forms <...> the spirit of man within him, Zach. 12. 1. called therefore the Father of spirits, Heb. 12. 9. and as the preservation, ordering and government <ϕ> them is in his hand, both in life and death; <...> hand is the soul of all living, and the spirit of <...> of man, Job 12. 10. Therefore Moses useth the like phrase, when he prayeth that a governor might be substituted in his stead, Num. 27. 16. Targum Jonathan explaineth it, God that putteth the <ϕ> of the soul, in the bodies of all the sons of men: and Targum Yerushalmi thus; God which rulest <ϕ> the souls of all flesh; Chazkuni saith, which knowest the spirit of everyone of them. The Greek translateth, God of the Fathers, and of all flesh; understanding (as it seemeth) by spirits, such as the Apostle calleth the spirits of just men made perfect, Heb. 12. 23. the spirits of the Fathers which were returned to God who gave them; as Eccles. 12. 7. shall one man sin] in Greek, if one man hath sinned: as if they should say, All have not sinned, why wilt thou be wroth with all? Upon this intercession, the Lord spareth the people, that would depart from the rebels, verse. 24.

Verse 24. the tabernacle] this seemeth to be put for tabernacles, or dwelling; the Greek translateth it, the congregation: so in verse. 27. where the Greek also keepeth the word Tabernacle, which in verse. 26. is called Tents.

Vers. 25. the elders] the Greek addeth, all the elders. went after him] in Greek, went with him, that is, accompanied him.

Verse 26. these wicked men] in Greek, these hard men: the original word properly signifieth restless, turbulent, and such as for their sins are worthy to be condemned: see the notes on Psal. 1. 1. touch not anything] because as they themselves, so all things of theirs were unclean and execrable, and therefore to perish with them, verse. 32.

Verse 27. came out and stood] Heb. came out standing; which the Greek explaineth, came out and stood: and these two phrases are one; as where it is said that Jesus blessed, and brake, and gave, Luke 9. 16. Mark. 6. 41. so, Saying unto them, Matth. 21. 2. is, And saith unto them, Mark. 11. 2. This their standing up, argueth their boldness in so bad a cause: for standing up is a gesture denoting courage, Job 33. 5. and 41. 10. 1 Sam. 17. 8. 16. Thus Pride went before destruction, and an haughty spirit before a fall; as Prov. 16. 18.

Verse 28. all these works] both the former, in appointing Aaron to the Priest-hood, and the Levites instead of the first-borne; and these latter, in appointing Korah and his company to bring their censers with incense, &c. of mine own heart] which the Chaldee explaineth, of mine own will; the Greek, of myself. For things devised of ones own heart, are noted for evil, 1 King. 12. 33. Ezek. 13. 17.

Vers. 29. as all men die] their ordinary natural death; which the Greek translatheth, after the death of all men.

Verse 30. create a new thing] Hebr. create a creature, that is, do a new and wonderful work, to kill them with such a death as never man died before them. Of this word create, see the notes on Gen. 1. 1. it is applied here to a strange and extraordinary work of judgment, as in Isaiah. 45. 7. God is said to create evil; and in Exod. 34. 10. to create marvels; and in Isaiah. 48. 6. 7. new and hidden things God would create. And as evil, so good things which are new and strange, are said to be created of God, Esa. 65. 18. alive] living, hail and sound; not consumed with sickness, as ordinarily men are before death and burial. unto hell] into the grave, or state of death: see the notes on Gen. 37. 35. To this judgment the Prophet hath reference, praying against his enemies, L•t them go down alive to hell, Psal. 55. 16.

Verse 32. swallowed up them] to wit, Dathan and Abiram, as in Psal. 106. 17. The earth opened and swallowed up Dathan, and covered over the congregation of Abiram. So David prayed against his enemies, swallow them up o Lord, Psal. 55. 10. their houses] that is, households; as the Chaldee expoundeth it, the men of their houses. appertained unto Korah] The Greek translatheth, and all the men that were with Kore: and the Chaldee, the men that pertained to Korah. But the sons of Korah are to be excepted, for they, either not partaking with, or forsaking their Fathers sin, died not: see Num. 26. 21. And whereas mention was made of On, the son of Reuben, in verse 1. but not here nor anywhere of his death, neither in verse 12. of his calling, or refusal to come up; it is to be thought, that either he repented upon Moses reproof, and so was spared from destruction; or if not so, he is implied among the rest, though not named in particular. their substance] or, their goods; which the Greek translatheth, their cattle; and so the original word implieth, as in 1 Chron. 27. 31. 2 Chron. 31. 3. and 35. 7. See the notes on Gen. 12. 5. And not their cattle only, but all their other goods, even their tents, were swallowed into the earth, Deut. 11. 6. Here we may behold the truth of that Proverb, Riches profit not in the day of wrath: but justice delivereth from death; Prov. 11. 4.

Vers. 33. closed upon them] or, covered over them: so there was no hope left for their recovery. Against such judgment David prayeth, Let not the gulse swallow me, neither let the pit shut her mouth upon me, Psal. 69. 16.

Vers. 34. at the voice of them] at their cry or noise, which they made when they perished. So in Ier. 49. 21. At the voice (or noise) of their fall, the earth is moved, &c. and, I made the nations to shake, at the noise of his fall, Ezek. 31. 16. Lest the earth swallow us] an imperfect speech, through fear: such as is often used in dangers; as in Psal. 38. 17. Rom. 11. 21. Thus the present judgment terrified them; and, When the scorner is punished, the simple is made wise, Prov. 21. 11.

Vers. 35. devoured] or, did eat the 250. men. They sinned in burning incense, which belonged to the Priests only; and with burning they were punished, like the judgment on Aaron's sons, that transgressed also therein, Levite. 10. 1, 2. Of this, David singeth, A fire burned in their congregation, a flame burnt up the wicked, Psal. 106. 18.

Vers. 37. unto Eleazar] Chazkuni here observeth, that God would not have Aaron to be defiled (by going among the dead,) because he was one of them that offered, verse. 17. out of the burning] that is, as the Greek well explaineth it, from among those that are burnt. So in Num. 21. 1. captivity, is for a company of captives; and in 2 King. 24. 14. Poverty, for a company of poor people; and many the like. the fire] which is in the censers, verse. 7. The Greek saith, the strange fire; as Lev. 10. 1. yonder] in Greek, there; which Sol. Rashi expoundeth, on the earth, out of the censers: others, out of the court of the Sanctuary. By casting away the fire; the Lord signifieth the rejecting of their service as profane. So in Rev. 8. 5. the Angel took the censer, and filled it with fire of the Altar, and cast it into the earth; and there were voices, and thunderings, &c. Which being compared with verse. 3, 4. seemeth to teach likewise a rejecting of the service of Antichristians, which abuse and despise Christ's mediation; and therefore it is turned unto them to judgment.

Vers. 38. sinner against their souls] Sinners are here & often used for notorious wicked persons; as, Destroy the sinners the Amalekites, 1 Sam. 15. 18. and, the men of Sodem were evil and sinners, Gen. 13. 13. And they sinned against their souls, in causing their own death and destruction: for the soul is often used for the life, as in Gen. 19. 17. and 37. 21. So he that provoketh a King to anger, sinneth against his own soul, Prov. 20. 2. broad plates] Hebr. out-spreadings of plates, that is, plates beaten out and spread broad, to cover the brazen altar with them. and they are hallowed] or, sanctified: & so (as Sol. Rashi explaineth it) unlawful for common use, because they had made them for vessels of ministry. Or, they were now sanctified of God (before whom they sinfully offered them,) to be an holy sign unto the people. for a sign] and a memortall to the sons of Israel, verse. 40. to make them remember the transgression of these sinners, and to warn them that none hereafter do the like. So Aaron's rod was kept for a sign, Num. 17. 10. and God threateneth by destroying the wicked, to make him a sign, and aproverbe, Ezek. 14. 8. Now all these things happened unto them for ensamples: and they are written for our admonition, upon whom the ends of the world are come, 1 Cor. 10. 11.

Vers. 40. not any stranger] or, no man which is a stranger. seed of Aaron] that is, sons, or, posterity of Aaron: so all Israelites or Levites (save Aaron's sons only,) are counted strangers in this case of priesthood. that he be not] Heb. and he be not as Korah, like him in rebellion, and in punishment. Therefore Moses afterward rehearseth this history, to keep the people in obedience, Deut. 11. 6, 7, 8. unto him] or, of him; having reference to Moses speech in verse. 29, 30. that the truth of the judgment denounced might be manifest. So the Apostle pronounceth woe unto such, and saith they perish in the gain saying of Kore, Jude verse 11.

Vers. 41. you have killed] or, as the Chaldee explaineth it, you have caused the death. Though they had prayed for the people, v. 32. and the strangeness of the punishments shown unto all that they were of God, and the judgments were still even before the eyes of the congregation; yet do they thus break out into a new rebellion.

Vers. 42. the glory of Jehovah] it appeared to help his servants, and to repress and punish the rebellious, now as in former times, Num. 12. 5. and 14. 10. and 16. 19.

Vers. 45. Get you up] that is, Depart, or Separate [unspec] yourselves; as he said before, in verse 21. as in a moment] in Greek, at once: see the notes on verse 21. fell on their faces] to pray, as

Verse 46. from off the Altar] of this, Chazkuni saith, he warned him hereof, that he might ⟨ϕ⟩ was figured; who is represented by the A•g•ll standing at the Altar, having a golden cens•, and much incense given unto him, to offer it with the ⟨ϕ⟩ all Saints, &c. Rev. 8. 3. go qu•c•lie or, ⟨ϕ⟩ to go with speed; that is, as the Chaldee and Greek translateth, carry quickly, or in ⟨ϕ⟩

Vers. 47. he put on incense] to make atonement• [unspec] and to appease God's wrath; as it is said or the Priests, They shall put it cense in thy ⟨ϕ⟩ (or, ⟨ϕ⟩ thine anger) &c. and favourably accept th•• ( ⟨ϕ⟩ Lord) the work of his hands; Deut. 33. 10. 11. Herein he figured Christ our Mediarcur, who ma•• intercession for the transgressors, Isaiah. 53. 12. ⟨ϕ⟩ 23. 34. So the Hebrews (as R. Menachem on Num. 16.) apply that prophesy of Es ⟨...⟩ ching Christ, unto this work of Aaron, saying, The meaning of this, And he stood between the l•ving ⟨ϕ⟩ dead, is like that (in Isaiah 53. 12.) •e hath ⟨ϕ⟩ out his soul unto death, &c.

Verse 48. between the dead and the living] so [unspec] interposing, and as it were exposing Maimonides in Misn. •om. 3. in Pesulei hamukdashin, chap. 15. sect. 9. And the Chaldee paraphrast on Eccles. 1. 15. hath this saying; A man whose ways are rebellious in this 〈ϕ〉 and he dieth in them, and turneth not by repe 〈...〉 he hath no power to reform himself after his 〈ϕ〉 and a man that faileth of the Law and 〈ϕ〉 whiles he liveth, he hath no means, after his death, 〈ϕ〉 be reckoned with the just men in the gar 〈...〉 〈ϕ〉 〈〉 (or Paradise of God.) And on Ecclis. 6. 6. 〈ϕ〉 Chaldee paraphraseth thus; yea though the 〈ϕ〉 of the life of a man be two thousand years, if he have not exercised himself in the Law, and hath not done judgment and justice; by the oath of the Word of the LORD which (shall be) in the day of his death, his soul goeth down to Gehenna (or Hell torments,) unto one place, whither all sinners do go. So there was no estimation, nor price of the dead, for any vow, in Israel, as is noted on Levite. 27. 8. the plague was stayed] This showeth how greatly the prayers and actions of his servants do prevail with God, when they are faithful, servant, and according to his will, I am. 5. 16. 1 John. 5. 14. and fore-shown the power and efficacy of Christ's mediation; for God heareth him always, John. 11. 42. and he is the Atonement for our sins, 1 John. 2. 2. and for his sake, God before whom the pestilence goeth, in wrath remembereth mercy, Habak. 3. 5. 2. And as the blood of the Paschal lamb (figuring the blood of Christ, 1 Cor. 5. 7.) stayed the Angel which destroyed the Egyptians, from touching the Israelites, Exod. 12. 23. Heb. 11. 28. so the smoke of Aaron's incense (figuring the mediation of Christ, Psal. 141. 2. Revel. 8. 4.) stayed the plague here from the Israelites which survived; that as it is written of the pestilence in David's time, the LORD repented him of the evil, and said to the Angel that destroyed the people, It is enough, stay now thine hand, 2 Sam. 24. 16. so in this case. Some footsteps of the understanding of this mystery may be seen in the Hebrews, though superstitiously depraved: as when they say, that all hurtful and destroying (spirits) slee away at the odour of the incense of sweet spices. Targum on Song 4. 6.

Vers. 49. about the matter] or, as the Greek explaineth it, for the cause of Kore; which the Chaldee calleth the division of Korah.

Vers. 50. unto the door of the Tent] into the court-yard of the Sanctuary, where Moses remained; both to signify unto Moses the effect and fruit of his action, through the mercifulness of God; and to give thanks unto the Lord, who had so graciously accepted the work of his hands. As David offered Burnt-offering and Peace-offerings; after that the Lord was entreated for the land, and the plague was stayed from Israel, 2 Sam. 24. 25. 1 Chron. 21. 26, 27.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Twelve rods of the tribes of Israel being laid in the Tabernacle, on the morrow Aaron's rod among them all, only flourisheth and beareth almonds. 10 It is left in the Tabernacle for a monument against the rebels. 12 The people show Moses their fear of death.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; speak unto the sons of Israel, and take of them, a rod for every fathers house, of all their Princes, according to the house of their fathers, twelve rods: every man's name thou shalt write upon his rod. And Aaron's name thou shalt write upon the rod of Levi: for, one rod shall be for the head of the house of their fathers. And thou shalt lay them up, in the Tent of the Congregation, before the Testimony, where I will meet with you. And it shall be, that the man whom I shall cause, his rod shall bud; and I will make to cease from me, the murmurings of the sons of Israel, wherewith they murmur against you. And Moses spake unto the sons of Israel; and all their Princes gave unto him, a rod for one Prince, a rod for one Prince, according to the house of their fathers, twelve rods; & the rod of Aaron was among their rods. And Moses laid up the rods before Jehovah, in the Tent of the Testimony. And it was on the morrow, that Moses went into the Tent of the Testimony; and behold, the rod of Aaron for the house of Levi, had budded, and brought forth buds, and bloomed blossoms, and yielded almonds. And Moses brought out all the rods from before Jehovah, unto all the sons of Israel; and they saw, and took every man his rod.

And Jehovah said unto Moses; Bring Aaron's rod again before the Testimony, to be kept for a sign, against the sons of rebellion: and thou shalt quite take away their murmurings from me, that they die not. And Moses did as Jehovah commanded him: so did he.

And the sons of Israel said unto Moses, saying, Behold, we give up the ghost, we perish, we all of us perish. Everyone that cometh near, that cometh near unto the Tabernacle of Jehovah, shall die: Shall we be consumed in giving up the ghost?

Annotations.

SPeake unto] When God saw the cōtinuall murmurings of the people, how they ceased not, he commandeth this that followeth to be done, that so by miracle the Priesthood of Aaron might be confirmed, and a full end put to all strise thereabout; as verse. 10. a rod for every fathers house] Hebr. a rod a rod, for (or according to) the house of a father: which the Greek explaineth thus; Take of them a rod, a rod of all their Princes, according to their fathers houses. A rod (or staff) was such as men used to carry in their hands, Gen. 38. 18. Exod. 4. 2. the same word (called in Hebrew Matteh) is often used for a Tribe, as in Num. 1. 4. 16. 21. &c. either because of this writing of their names upon rods, or because the twelve tribes grew out of the stock of Israel, as rods or branches out of a tree. The Princes also carried staves in their hands, as appeareth by Num. 21. 18. And with this may be compared that in Ezek. 37. 16, 17. &c. where the Prophet wrote the names of tribes upon sticks, which were joined together as one in his hand, to signify the uniting of the divided tribes. the house] that is, as the Greek expoundeth it, the houses: see the notes on Num. 1. 2.

Vers. 3. for one rod shall be] The Greek explaineth it thus; for it is one rod: according to the ﴿ϕ﴾ of their fathers house shall they give. The tribe of Levi, though they were distinguished into Priests and Levites; yet as all came by one father Levi, so one rod was for them all. So Rashi here expoundeth it, Although I have divided them into two families, the family of the Priests and the family of the Levites; notwithstanding it is one tribe. Of this their division, see Num. 3. and 18. 1.—7.

Vers. 4. lay them up] or, leave them, or as the Greek translatheth, put them. Tent of the congregation] or, Tent of meeting. the Testimony] that is, the A•ke, wherein the Tables of the Law, (called the Testimony) were kept. See the notes on Exod. 25. 16. where I will meet] that is, where I use to meet with you; according to the promise in Exod. 25 22. and 30 36 And this is the reason why the Tabernacle was called the Tent of meeting, or of congregation.

Vers. 5. I shall choose] that i•, shall like of, and approve to administer the priesthood; as in Targum Jonathan this is added to minister before me. rod shall bud] or, shall flourish: see verse. 8. will make to cease from me] in Greek, will take away from thee. This word is spoken of the ceasing or asswaging of waters, Gen. 8. 1. and of wrath, Esth. 2. 1. and is here applied to the murmurings of the people, which were like raging waters, foing out their ownshame.

Vers. 8. blossomes] or flowers. yielded] or, ripened (as the word is Englished, in Isaiah. 18. 5.) that is, brought forth ripe almonds. almonds] ⟨◇⟩ Greek, & in Targum Jonathan, Nuts. An almond, in Hebrew, Shaked, is named Shaked, which signifieth with care, haste & watchfulness, to look unto and perform a thing. And because the almond tree blossometh and beareth fruit sooner than other trees, therefore hath it this name. And Solomon for the same cause, likeneth the white hairs which soon grow upon us in age, to the flourishing of the Almond tree, Eccles. 12. 5. By this miracle, God did confirm the Priesthood unto Aaron; as by the vision of the vine-branches budding, blossoming, & bringing forth ripe grapes, &c. he signified the confirmation of office unto Pharaohs butler, Gen. 40. 10.—13. He signified further by the buds, the continuance and propagation of the Priesthood to his posterity; who should sprout and grow out of him, by the blessing of God, who maketh the cry tree to bud (or flourish,) Ezek. 17. 24. as also it is prophesied of the church, He shall cause them that come of Jacob, to take root; Israel shall blessome and bud, and fill the face of the world with fruit, Esat. 27. 6. And the original word for buds, is also use• for younglings or youth; as in Job 30. 12. The blessoming (or flourishing) of this rod, figured also the comfortable and glorious effect of the ⟨◇⟩ ⟨...⟩ tion of the Priests office: as Christ is ⟨◇⟩ to ⟨◇⟩ forth •t the window, flourishing there• the ⟨◇⟩ › Serg 2. 9. that we all with open face may ⟨◇⟩ as in a glass the glory of the Lord, 2 Cor. 3. 18 and this to the shame of his enemies. Psal. 1 32. 18. The Almonds figured the fruits of his administration, which hastily should show forth themselves, to the comfort of the Saints, and punshment of all• that should resist him; as unto Jeremiah (one of Aaron's sons) God shown in a vision, the r•• of an Almond tree, (which hath the name of ⟨...⟩ ning,) and opened the same unto him thus; Then hast well seen; for I will hasten my word, to perform it, Ier. 1. 11, 12. Therefore as soon as Vzzi•h the King rose up to usurp the Priests office, the leprousie even rose up in his forehead, 2 Chron. 26. 18. 19.

Vers. 10. Bring again] or, Return Aaron's rod before the Testimony] in Greek, the Testimonies; meaning the Tables of the covenant in the Ark; as is noted on verse. 4. before which it was laid up, and not in it: for nothing was in the Ark, save the two tables of stone, 1 King. 8. 9. The Hebrews record how in Solomon's Temple, there was a stone in the most holy place, in the west part thereof, on which they set the Ark: and before it, was the golden pot of Manna, and the rod of Aaron. Maim. tom. 3. in Beth habchirah, chap. 4. sect. 1. to be kept] Hebr. for a keeping (or reservation.) As the Manna was kept in the golden pot within the most holy place of the sanctuary, for a reservation and monument to the Israclites, that the generations after might see the bread which God had given their fathers to eat in the wilderness, Exod. 16. 32.—34. so this rod was kept in the same place for a reservation, and for a sign, that all generations might know the confirmation of their Priest  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  in Aaron's line. Both did lead them unto Christ; the Manna figuring the flesh of Christ, the  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  bread from heaven, wherewith the faithful should be nourished unto life eternal, John 6. 31, 32, 33. 51. and the rod, the Priesthood of Christ, whereby they should be reconciled unto God, Heb. 9. 11, 12. Therefore the Apostle mentioneth this budding rod, with the pot of Manna, among the most memorable things that were kept in the Holy o•holies, Heb. 9. 3, 4. the sons of rebellion which the Greek translateth, the disobedient sons; meaning the Israelites, called sons (or children) of rebellion, because they were so much addicted thereunto, as if rebellion it self had been their mother: so that Moses testified, Ye have been rebellions against the LORD, from the day that I kn•w you, Deut. 9. 24. This phrase is common in the Scriptures, as, a son of injurious evil• (or  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  wickedness) Psal. 8. 23. for an injurious or wicked person: and sons of affliction, Prov. 31. 5. for afflicted persons: so, sons of Belial, Deut. 13.  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  . 1 Sam. 2. 12. sons of disobedience, Ephes. 2. 2. and 5. 6. sons of the light and of the day, 1 Thes. 5.  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  children of wisdom, Mat. 11. 19. children of obedience, 1 Pet. 1. 14. and sundry the like.  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  shalt quite take away] or, shalt consume, shalt wh  $\langle \dots \rangle$  end their murmurings: the Greek translateth it, and let their murmuring cease from me; and they shall not die.

Vers. 12. we give up the ghost] or, have given up the ghost, that is, died: or, as the Greek translateth, are consumed. This may be taken as an unjust complaint of theirs, for the punishments that they had felt, and should still feel for their sins. Or rather, as a serious complaint of their own misery, being under sin, and so by the Law under punishment and wrath: like that which the Apostle saith, I was alive without the Law once; but when the commandment came, sin revived, and I died; and the commandment which (was ordained) unto life, I found (to be) unto death, Rom. 7. 9, 10. The Chaldee paraphraseth upon their words, thus; Behold the sword hath killed some of us, and behold the earth hath swallowed some of us; and behold some of us are dead with the pestilence. And Targum Jonathan thus; Behold some of us are consumed with flaming fire, and some of us are swallowed up into the earth, and perished; behold we think that as they, so we all shall perish.

Vers. 13. that cometh near] in Greek, that toucheth the Tabernacle. Shall we be consumed in giving up the ghost?] that is, shall we die everyone? This seemeth to be a deprecation; whereby acknowledging their sins to be worthy of death, they pray for mercy: for so questions are often used in earnest deprecations; as, Wilt thou be angry with us forever? &c. Psal. 85. 6. Wilt thou utterly reject us? Lam. 5. 22. Wilt thou hold thy peace, and afflict us very fore? Isaiah. 64. 12. and many the like.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The different charges of the Priests, and of the Levites adjoined unto them. 9 The Priests portion of the people's offerings, and hallowed things; and the use of them. 21 The Levites portion is the tithes of the Israelites, but no inheritance in the land. 26. The Levites must give unto the Priests the tenth of their tithes, as the Lord's heave-offering: and the rest themselves should enjoy, for a reward of their service.

AND Jehovah said unto Aaron; Thou, [unspec] and thy sons, and thy fathers house with thee, shall bear the iniquity of the Sanctuary: and thou, and thy sons with thee, shall bear the iniquity of your Priest-hood. And thy brethren also, the tribe of Levi, the tribe of thy father, bring thou near with thee, that they may be joined unto thee, and minister unto thee: but thou, and thy sons with thee, (shall minister) before the Tent of the Testimony. And they shall keep thy charge, and the charge of all the Tent: but they shall not come nigh unto the vessels of holiness, and unto the Altar; that they die not, both they and you. And they shall be joined unto thee, and shall keep the charge of the Tent of the Congregation, for all the service of the Tent: and a stranger shall not come nigh unto you. And ye shall keep the charge of the Holy place, and the charge of the Altar, that there be no servant wrath anymore upon the sons of Israel. And I, behold I have taken your brethren the Levites, from among the sons of Israel: to you they are given as a gift for Jehovah, to serve the service of the Tent of the Congregation. And thou and thy sons with thee, shall keep your Priests office for everything of the Altar, and within the veil, and ye shall serve: I have given your Priests office, as a service of gift; and the stranger that cometh nigh, shall be put to death.

And Jehovah spake unto Aaron; And I, behold I have given unto thee the charge of mine heave-offerings, of all the holy things of the sons of Israel; unto thee have I given them, for the anointing, and to thy sons, by a statute for ever. This shall be thine, of the Holy of Holies, (reserved) from the fire: every oblation of theirs, of every Meat-offering of theirs, & of every Sin-offering of theirs, and of every Trespass-offering of theirs, which they shall render unto me; it shall be holy of holies, for thee and for thy sons. In the holy of holies shalt thou eat it: every male shall eat it; holy shall it be unto thee. And this shall be thine; the heave-offering of their gift, with all the wave-offerings of the sons of Israel; unto thee have I given them, and to thy sons and to thy daughters with thee, by a statute for ever: every clean person in thine house shall eat it. All the fat of the new oil, and all the fat of the new wine, and of the corn; the first fruits of them, which they shall give unto Jehovah, them have I given unto thee. The first-fruits of all which shall be in their land, which they shall bring unto Jehovah, shall be thine: every clean person in thine house shall eat it. Every devoted thing in Israel shall be thine. Every thing that openeth the womb, of all flesh, which they shall bring near unto Jehovah, of man or of beast, shall be thine: but redeeming thou shalt redeem the first-borne of man; and the firstling of the unclean beast shalt thou redeem. And those that are to be redeemed of him, from a month old, shalt thou redeem, by thy estimation; for the silver of five shekels, by the shekel of the Sanctuary, which is twenty gerahs. But the firstling of a cow, or the firstling of a sheep, or the firstling of a goat thou shalt not redeem, they are holy: their blood thou shalt sprinkle upon the Altar, and their fat thou shalt burn, for a Fireoffering, for a savor of rest unto Jehovah.

And the flesh of them shall be thine: as the wave breast, and as the right shoulder, shall it be thine. All the heave-offerings of the holy things, which the sons of Israel shall offer unto Jehovah, I have given to thee, and to thy sons, and to thy daughters with thee, by a statute for ever: it is a covenant of salt for ever before Jehovah, to thee and to thy seed with thee. And Jehovah said unto Aaron; Thou shalt have no inheritance in their land, neither shalt thou have a part among them; I am thy part, and thine inheritance, among the sons of Israel.

And to the sons of Levi, behold I have given all the tenth in Israel, for an inheritance, for their service which they serve, the service of the Tent of the congregation. And the sons of Israel shall not come nigh henceforth, unto the Tent of the congregation, to bear sin, to die. But the Levite, he shall serve the service of the Tent of the Congregation; and they shall bear their iniquity: it shall be a statute for ever throughout your generations, that among the sons of Israel they shall not inherit any inheritance. But the tithe of the sons of Israel, which they shall offer up unto Jehovah, for an heave-offering, I have given to the Levites for an inheritance: therefore I have said unto them; among the sons of Israel they shall not inherit any inheritance.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; And unto the Levites thou shalt speak, and say unto them; When ye take of the sons of Israel the tithe, which I have given unto you from them, for your inheritance, then ye shall offer up thereof, the heave-offering of Jehovah, the tithe of the tithe. And your heaveoffering shall be counted unto you as the corn of the threshing floor, and as the fullness of the wine-press. Thus you also shall offer the heave-offering of Jehovah, of all your tithe which ye receive of the sons of Israel, and ye shall give thereof the heaveoffering of Jehovah, to Aaron the Priest.

Out of all your gifts ye shall offer every heave-offering of Jehovah, of all the fat thereof, the hallowed part thereof out of it. And thou shalt say unto them; When ye have heaved the fat thereof from it, then it shall be counted unto the Levites, as the revenue of the threshing floor, and as the revenue of the wine-press. And ye shall eat it in every [unspec] place; you, and your house: for it is a reward unto you for your service in the Tent of the congregation. And ye shall not bear sin for it, when ye have heaved the fat thereof from it: & ye shall not profane the holy things of the sons of Israel, that ye die not.

Annotations.

SAid unto Aaron] Because of the people's fear and complaint, in the end of the former chapter, God here taketh order for the watch of the Sanctuary, that the care thereof should lie upon the Priests, that the people might not transgress and perish. So the remedy for terrors of conscience, wrought by the Law, is faith in Christ, whose Priesthood was foreshadowed in Aaron's, and which should deliver them who through fear of death, were all their lifetime subject to bondage, Heb. 2. 15. thy fathers house] the house or posterity of Levi, who was father to all the Priests and Levites. the iniquity of the Sanctuary] that is, shall bear the punishment for all iniquity that is done in the Sanctuary; at your hands will I require it. Thus Rashi expoundeth it; Upon you I will bring the punishment of the strangers that shall sin concerning the sanctified things that are d (….) red unto you. And as the Sanctuary comprehended both the Tabernacle and the Court-yard, with all things in them: so this is generally spoken concerning the Priests and Levites (which were of Aaron's fathers house), who were all to ward the Sanctuary, though in distinct places, as shall after be shown. iniquity of your Priesthood] that is, the punishment for all iniquity done about your Priests office. And this is special concerning the Priests, whose care and charge was over the Levites also, which might not come near some things belonging to the Priesthood. R. Menachem here saith, that By this admonition was signified, how the Priests should not intermeddle with the service of the Levites, nor the Levites with the service of the Priests. Whereof see more on verse <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> .

Verse 2. the tribe] The Hebrew here hath two words, Matteh (the tribe) of Levi, and Shebet (the tribe) of thy father: of which, the former signifieth a staff; the latter, a rod: both of them applied to a tribe or kindred, which did spring and grow out of Levi, as rods, staves or branches from the stock of a tree. Of this name tribe, see what is noted on Gen. 49. 16. that they may be joined] or, and let them be joined; as the Greek translath, and <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> them be added unto thee. Here is an allusion to Levies name, which signifieth joined. The Father Levi had the name, because at his birth his mother said, Now my husband will be joined unto me, Gen. 29. 34. his children (called of him Levites,) are according to the notation of their name, made Ajoints to the Priests. And this word is after used and applied to such as adjoined themselves to the Lord, and to his people, Isaiah 56. 3, 6. Ier. 50. <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> Est. 9. 27. so in the New Testament, Act. 5. 14 and 11. 24. and 2 41, 47. <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> minister unto thee] so in Num. 3. 6. the Levites are appointed to minister unto Aaron: elsewhere they are said to minister unto the congregation, Num. 16. 9. and unto the Lord, Deut. 10. 8. 1 Sam. 3. 1. 2 Chron. 29 11. and in the name of the Lord. Deut. 18. 6, 7. and are called the ministers of his house, Ez. 45. 5. before the Tent] herein is the difference: between the Priests and Levites office, that the Priests served at the Altar, and in the holy place; the Levites served the outer services, helped to kill, slay, take the blood, &c. and gave it to the Priests, who sprinkled the blood received from their hands, 2 Chron. 30. 16. and 29. 34. 1 Chron. 23. 28.—32. of the Testimony] that is, of the Law, written on the two Tables kept in an Ark within the Tent or Tabernacle; and thereof it had this name, as is noted on Exod. 25. 16.

Vers. 3. shall keep thy charge] or observe thy observation; [unspec] by custody, or, thy ward; at thy appointment doing their service: see Num. 3. 7. the vessels of holiness] in Greek, the holy vessels: to come nigh unto them to serve with them at the altar, or in the holy place the Levites might not: which the Hebrew Canons explain thus; All the Levites are forbidden the service at the Altar, as it is said (in Num. 18. 3.) But they shall not come nigh unto the vessels, &c. They shall not come nigh to the service; but to touch them it was lawful. Maimonides tom. 3. in Cle hatnik dash, ch. 3. sect. 9. So in Num. 3. 8. the Levites were appointed to keep all the vessels of the Tabernacle: both they and you] they for doing so, you for suffering it. But from these words the Hebrews say, As the Levites are forbidden to do the service of the Priests; so the Priests are forbidden to do the service of the Levites, as it is written, Both they and you. Maim. in Cle hamikdash, ch. 3. sect. 10.

Vers. 4. the charge] or, the custody; in Greek, [unspec] the custodies, or the wards, watches; for so the word is used for keeping watch by night also, as in Psal. 90. 4. See the notes on Ex. 14. 24. a stranger] any of Israel that is not a Levite, is counted a stranger in this business: and in the Priests affairs, the Levites themselves were counted strangers, ver. 7. See the notes on Num. 3. 10.

Vers. 5. keep the charge of the holy place] Heb. [unspec] observe the observation of the holiness; which the Greek translath, of the holies: by this name the Apostle calleth the first Tabernacle, wherein was the Candlestick, Table, and Shew-bread; as the inmost part of the Tabernacle is called holy of holies, that is, the holiest of all, Heb. 9. 2, 3. To keep the charge, or observe the observation, is to have continual care day and night, that all things be kept pure and uncorrupted, and administered according to the will of God: as they that kept the charge, (or ward) of the house of Saul, were such as endeavored to keep and maintain the Kingdom in Saul's fa 〈...〉, 1 Chron. 12. 29. This duty of the Priests and Levites in the Tabernacle, continued also in the Temple, where some were porters, keepers of the 〈ϕ〉, and lodged round about the house of God; some had charge of the ministering vessels, that they should bring them in and out by tale: some of the 〈ϕ〉 flower, and the wine, and the oil, and the frankincense, and the spices, & of the Shew-bread: some were singers. employed in that work day and night, &c. 1 Chron. 9. 19, 23.—33. Of their manner of keeping the Temple, the Hebrews have thus recorded: The keeping of the Sanctuary is a thing commanded, yea though there be no fear of enemies, or of thieves; for the keeping thereof is but for the honor thereof. And this keeping is commanded to be all the night: and the keepers are the Priests and the Levites, as it is said, And thou and thy sons with thee (shall be) before the Tent of the testimony, (Num. 18. 2.) as if he should say, you shall be the keepers (or watchmen) thereof. Moreover it is said of the Levites,) And they shall keep the charge of the Tent, (Num. 18. 4.) It is also said, And they that encamp before the Tabernacle, fore-most before the Tent of the Congregation Eastward, (shall be) Moses and Aaron, and his sons, keeping the charge of the holy place, (Num. 3. 38.) And if they leave off the keeping of it, they transgress against a prohibition. The commandment of keeping it, is that the Priests be the keepers in the inner (places) and the Levites in the outer. And twenty four companies kept it every night continually in twenty four places; the Priests in three places, and the Levites in one and twenty places, &c. The Priests that warded, slept not in their priestly garments, but folded them up, and laid them at their heads, and put on their own garments, and slept on the ground, as is the manner of all that ward Kings courts, that they sleep not on beds. And they set one Provost over all the wards (or custodies) of the keepers, and he was called the man of the mountain of the house (of God) And he went round about unto every ward, all the night, with torches burning before him; and every warder that did not stand and say, Thou man of the mountain of the house, Peace be unto thee, it was known that he was asleep, and he did beat him with his staff. And he had authority to burn his garment, so that (sometimes) they said in Jerusalem, What noise is in the Court? It is the cry of a Levite that is beaten, and his garments burnt, because he slept at his watch. In the morning the Provost of the Sanctuary came and knocked at the gate for the Priests that were in the place of burning (the holy things,) and they opened unto him. He took a key and opened the little gate, that was between the place of burning and the court-yard, and went from the burning place into the court-yard, and the Priests went in after him. And two torches of fire were in their hand, and they divided themselves into two companies; one company went Eastward, and another Westward; and they searched and went thorough all the court-yard, till both companies came to the place where they made the Priests Meat-offering (spoken of in Levite. 6. 20. 21.) When both sides came thither, they said, Peace, all is peace, and they set those that made the Meat offering, to make the same. After this order did they every night, save the nights of the Sabbath: for then they had not fire (torches) in their hand, but searched with the lamps that were lighted there on the evening of the Sabbath. Maimonides Tom. 3. in Beth habchirah, ch. 8. no servant wrath anymore] for transgressing, as in former time, when servant wrath went out from the Lord, Num. 16. 46. See also Num. 8. 19.

Vers. 6. I have taken] instead of all the first-born of Israel, who otherwise should have ministered unto me: see Num 3. 12. and the annotations there. a gift for Jehovah] or, unto Jehovah, as the Greek saith, to the Lord; the Chaldee, before the LORD. See Num. 3. 9. 12. and 8. 13, 16, 19. where they were offered unto the Lord, and given unto him, and by him given unto Aaron.

Vers. 7. within the veil] not only the second veil (as it is called in Heb. 9. 3.) but the first veil, within which the Priests went always, accomplishing the services, Heb. 9. 6. as to burn incense, Luk. 1. 9. to trim the lamps, Exod. 27. 20, 21. to set on the Shew-bread every Sabbath, Lev. 24. 8. 9. and the like. I have given] Hebr. I will give; which form of speech noteth a continuance of the gift. a service of gift] a service freely given you; which Sol. Rashi and Chazkuni explain thus; I have given it unto you by gift, that none should say, ye are come into it of yourselves. the stranger] any Israelite, Levite, or whosoever is not of Aaron's seed: see the notes on Num. 3. 10.

Vers. 8. I have given] after the office of the Priests and Levites prescribed, God here provideth for their maintenance and livelihood, which they should have from the people for their service. The equity whereof remaineth perpetual, as the Apostle observeth, saying, Do ye not know that they which minister about holy things, eat of the things of the Temple? and they which wait at the Altar, are partakers with the Altar? Even so hath the Lord ordained, that they which preach the Gospel, should live of the Gospel, 1 Cor. 9. 13, 14. the charge] Hebr. the keeping, (or observation) of mine heave-offerings; which the Greek translateth, the keeping of my first-fruits; in Chaldee, the keeping of my separated things. They are said to be a charge or keeping, because they were carefully to be taken and used holily, as gifts from the Lord. Sol. Rashi explaineth it, which thou must keep in cleanness (or purity.) Therefore they are called holy things, and were to be eaten (some of them) in the holy place, and by clean persons only; a sin v. 9, 10, 11, &c. And in the Hebrew Canons it is said, It is unlawful to defile the heave-offering (or first-fruits) of the land of Israel, like as other holy things, or to bring it into the estate of uncleanness; but it is to be eaten being clean, and to be burnt if it be unclean. Maimonides tom. 3. in Trumoth, 6. 12. s. 1. of all the holy things] or, with all the holy things, as Chazkuni here explaineth it: see the notes on Num. 5. 9. The Greek translateth, of all things sanctified unto me by the sons of Israel. for the anointing] that is, for the office sake whereunto thou art anointed: that as thou art consecrated with the holy oil, to attend upon mine holy things, Lev. 21. 10—12. so thou shalt have mine holy things to keep and live upon. Thus anointing is also used in Lev. 7. 35. This is the anointing of Aaron, and the anointing of his sons. For this cause the nation of the Jews was cursed with a curse, as having robbed God, because they kep• back their tithes and offerings, which they should have brought into the storehouse, that there might have been meat in the house of God for his ministers, Mal. 3. 8, 9, 10.

Vers. 9. of the holy of holies] Heb. of the holiness of holinesses, that is, of the most holy things; which the Greek translateth, of the hallowed (or sanctified) holy things. Some oblations in the Sanctuary are called holy, (and by the Hebrew Doctors, light holy things.) some holy of holies, that is, most holy things: of which difference, see the annotations on Lev. 6. 17. With these he here beginneth, which the Priests only were to eat, and that within the Sanctuary, verse. 10. then he proceedeth to the light holy things, which the Priests and their families were to eat within the campe, (and in ages following, within the walls of Jerusalem:) last of all he speaketh of other gifts, which were common, and might be eaten by any, and in any place, verse 14. &c. from the fire] in Chaldee, left (or remaining) from the fire, meaning the fire of the Altar, where some part of the most holy things were burned to the Lord. every oblation] This may be understood •s the general; and the Meat-offering, Sin-offering, &c. as the particulars thereof: or, if it be meant of things different, it may be referred to those oblations appointed for the Congregation in Levite. 23. 17—20. Thus Rashi here explaineth it, the Peaceofferings of the congregation. And there were no Peace-offerings of the Congregation, but only those mentioned in Levite. 23. as is noted on Lev. 4. 14. and 23. 19. But Chazkuni understandeth it of the two loaves, in Levite. 23. 17. and of the Shew-bread, saying, What oblation is this? We find afterward the Sin-offering, (to be expressed,) and after that the Trespass-offering, which were holy of holies. If (we understand it) of the Burnt, offering, that was not eaten: if of the Peace-offerings, they were not holy of holies. Behold he speaketh not but of the two loaves, (Levite. 23.) and of the Shew-bread. Now both these were most holy, and for the Priests only to eat, as is shown on Lev. 23. 20. and 24. 9. Meat-offering] the remainder whereof was most holy, for the Priests only to eat in the holy place, by the Law in Lev. 6. 16, 17. Sin-offering] which the Priests were to eat also in the holy place, as in Lev. 6. 26. Trespass-offering which likewise was most holy, and for the Priests only to eat, as the Law showeth in Lev. 7. 16. which they shall render] or, shall return (shall restore) unto me. This may be referred to the sacrifice forementioned: and by reason of this word re•• (or restore,) and for that the Greek translateth i•, whatsoever things they shall render to me; it may in special be understood of that ram of atonem 〈...〉 which was given for a Trespass-offering, when 〈◇〉 man restored unto the Lord the thing which he had robbed; according to the Law in Num. 5. 8 compared with Lev. 6. 2,—6. And unto that par••cular, do Rashi & Chazkuni here refer it. N• that ram was most holy, because it was a Trespass offering: but the thing it self which was stolen, and restored to the Priest, was of the common things, as after shall be shown.

Vers. 10. In the holy of holies] Observe how the Court of the Sanctuary is here called the holy of holies, or most holy place, in respect of the Camp of Israel and city Jerusalem, which were holy places, for the light holy things, as the Passover, Peace-offerings, and the like, to be eaten in; as also in comparison with the great court for the people which was without the Priests court, 2 Chron. 4. 9. Ezek. 42. 14. For that which is commonly called the holy of holies, or most holy place, (which was in the Tabernacle after the second veil,) was not a place to eat in, or for any to come into, save for the high Priest once in the year to make atonement, Levite. 16. Hebr. 9. 3. 7. Neither might they eat in the Tabernacle, but in the Court; and that is here meant, as the Law showeth, In the holy place in the court of the Tent of the congregation they shall eat it, Levite. 6. 16. And in the court of the Temple there were chambers for such uses, Nehem. 13. 5, 9. whereupon in Ezek. 42. 13. he speaketh of holy chambers, where the Priests that approach unto the LORD shall eat the most holy things; there shall they lay the most holy things, and the Meat-offering, and the Sin-offering, and the Trespass-offering, for the place is holy. And whereas Ezekiel there prophesieth of the third Temple, the Temple of the Gospel which Christ should build, at which time the legal Priesthood of Aaron should have an end, Heb. 7. these ordinances did signify (besides the Ministers maintenance forespoken of, 1 Cor. 9. 13, 14.) that they which should by Christ be made Priests unto God his Father, Rev. 1. 6. (as all true Christians are, 1 Pet. 2, 5, 9.) should be made partakers of Christ (who is both our Meat-offering, our Sin & Trespass-offering;) and feeding on his flesh by faith, should be nourished unto life eternal, John. 6. 35. 50. 51. compared with Heb. 13. 10.—15. every male] and not the female: for the Priests wives & daughters might not eat of the most holythings, as they did of the holy and common things, v. 11. 13, 19. Lev. 6. 18, 29. and 7. 6. But now for our partaking of Christ, there is neither male nor female, for we are all one in Christ Jesus, Gal. 3. 28. holy] Hebr. holiness; in Greek, holy things shall they be unto thee: meaning that only the Priests, and they in their holiness and cleanness should eat thereof. The blemished Priests might eat, but the unclean might not eat, Lev. 21. 21, 22. & 22. 3—6. The flesh i• self also must be holy, for if any unclean thing touched it, it was burnt and might not be eaten, Lev. 7. 19.

Vers. 11. And this] Here he passeth on to the light holy things, which might be eaten by the Priests, male & female, without the Sanctuary. the heave-offering of their gift] that is, which the Israelites give to the Priest out of their heave-offerings: such were (as Rashi also here explaineth,) the heave-offering of the sacrifice of confession, & of the peace-offerings, and of the Nazarites ram: whereof see Lev. 7. 11, 12, 14. 32, 34. & Num. 6. 17—20. In Deu. 12. 6. 17. there is mentioned the heave-offering of your hand, w<sup>ch</sup> is meant of the first-fruits spoken of in Deut. 26. See the annotations on those places. the wave-offerings] as the breast of the Peace-offerings, Levite. 7. 30, 31, 34. for that was waved, as the shoulder was heaved. thy daughters] understand, whiles they remained in their fathers house: but being married to strangers, they might not eat of the holy things; see Levite. 22. 12, 13. every clean person] though the Priests slave, bought into, or borne in his house; but no stranger, nor hired servant, Levite. 22. 10. 11. neither might any unclean person eat of it, Lev. 7. 20, 21.

Verse 12. All the fat] that is, as the Chaldee expoundeth it, All the best; which the Greek translatheth, All the first-fruits. The fat is often used for that which is good, and best of things; not of beasts only, but of wheat, as Deut. 32. 14. Psal. 81. 17. and 147. 14. and here, of oil and wine; and so of the land in general; as Gen. 27. 28. and 45. 18. And as after God saith to the Levites, in v. 30. whē ye have heaved the fat thereof: so this concerned all the people, that they should do the like. They heave not up any but the fairest, saith Maimonides in Trumoth, ch. 5. sect. 1. See the annotations on Gen. 4. 4. the new oil] in Greek, the oil: so after, of the wine. The Law concerning these, is repeated in Deut. 18. 4. thus; The first-fruits of thy corn, of thy new wine, and of thy new oil. &c. shalt thou give unto him, that is, unto the Priest. Under these three, all other of like sort are comprehended; which the Hebrews explain thus: All man's meat that i• kept, which groweth out of the earth, is bound (to pay) the Heave-offering (or first-fruits.) And it is a commandment to separate out of it the first-fruits for the Priest, Deut. 18. 4. As corn, wine and oil are man's meat, and grow out of the earth, and have owners, as it is written, THY CORNE: so whatsoever is of like sort, is bound (to pay) the heave-offering, and likewise the tithes. Maimonides in Trumoth, ch. 2. s. 1. See after on v. 21. for the tithes. As for the first-fruits w<sup>ch</sup> the owners brought into the Sanctuary, Deut. 26. the Hebrews say, they were but of seven things only, as is noted on Ex. 22. 29. Observe therefore a difference between the first-fruits left for the Priests, & the first-fruits brought before the Lord, & there given to the Priest: for these were two gifts, as after shall be shown. the first-fruits] called in Hebrew, Reshith, that is, the first or the beginning: after in v. 13. he speaketh of first-fruits, called in Hebrew Biccurim; of them he saith, which they shall bring unto Jehovah, to wit, into the Sanctuary, according to the Law in Deut. 26. 2, 3, &c. of these he saith, which they shall give unto Jehovah; for they were not bound to bring them out of their place, but the Priests came where they were, and took them. These (for distinctions sake) the Hebrews call the great heave-offering; the other they call the first-fruits. So in this place, Sol. Rashi saith, the first-fruits of them, this is the great heave-offering. And of these, the Hebrew Canons say, The Israelites are not bound to take pains about the Heave-offering, and to bring it from the corn-floor to the City, or from the wilderness to the inhabited land; but the Priests go out to the corn-floores, and the Israelites give them their portion there. And if (the Priests) come not, then he separateth it, and leaveth it in the cornest••re. And if there be wild beasts or cattle that wi• devour it there, and there be none to keep it from them, our wise-men have ordained, that they should then bring it to the city, and be paid of the Priest for the bringing of it. For if he separate it, and leave it for the beasts, be profaneth the name (of God.) Maimonides in Trumoth, ch. 12. sect. 17 For the practice of these ordinances, see Nehem. 10. 35,—39. how the people brought their first-fruits and tithes to the nouse of God. which they shall give] The Law saith not how much they should give, but leaveth it to the people's liberality. Howbeit in Ezek. 45. 13. it is written, This is the Heave-offering which ye shall heave up; the sixth part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheat, &c. that was the sixtieth part; for an Homer contained ten Ephahs, Ezek. 45 11. whereupon the wise-men of Israel ordained that none should give for his first-fruits, less than the sixtieth part. The great Heave-offering hath no set measure by the Law; for it is said (in Deut. 18. 4.) The first (fruits) of thy corn, &c. But a man may not separate, save according to the measure which our wise-men have set, &c. And what measure is that? A good eye [that is, a liberal person] one of forty, and a mean (eye) one of fifty; an evil [eye, that is, a niggard] one of sixty. And he may not give less than one of sixty. Maimonides in Trumoth, ch. 3. s. 1, 2. The like measure they set for the other First-fruits brought into the Sanctuary. Maim. in Biccurim (or First-fruits) ch. 2. s. 17. See the notes on Exod. 22. 29. According hereunto is that saying of Ben Sirach, give the Lord his honor with a good eye, and diminish not the first-fruits of thine hands, Ecclus. 35 8. unto Jehovah] They were given unto the Lord, in that they were given by his appointment to his Priests, for their anointing (ve s. 8.) and service in his Sanctuary: therefore they were holy. For this cause the Priests were not to receive them after any base or servile manner, but as gifts due to the Lord, and to them from him; and as the Hebrew Canons show, the Israelites were to give them their portion with honor. And it was unlawful (for the Priests or Levites) to snatch away the heave-offerings, or the tithes: yea if they did but ask their portion with their mouth, it was unlawful; but they were to receive them with honor. For at the Lord's table they did eat, and at his: able they did drink; these gifts were the Lord's, and he did vouchsafe them unto them; as it is written, I have given unto thee the charge of mine heave-offerings, (Num. 18. 8.) Maimonides in Trumoth, ch. 12. sect. 18, &c. given unto thee] namely, for the Priest to eat, drink, and anoint himself with them, according to the ordinary use of the creatures. The (great) Heave-offering is given for meat, and for drink, and for anointing: for, anointing is as drinking, as it is said, And let it enter as water into his inward part, and as oil into his bones, (Psal. 109. 18.) And drinking is comprehended under eating; that he is to eat that which is wont to be eaten, and drink that which is wont to be drunk, and anoint with that which they use to anoint with, not with wine or vinegar. But they anoint with oil that is clean, and burn (in lamps) that which is unclean.

Maim. in Trumoth, ch. 11. sect. 1. Who they were that might eat, and who might not eat of these Heave-offerings, i• shown in Levite. 22. 3, &c.

Vers. 13. The First-fruits] These were another gift, which the people brought into the Sanctuary, made concession over them to the Lord, and then gave them to his Priest: whereof see Deut. 26. <math>\langle \diamond \rangle . &c. These were paid before all other duties, before the great Heave-offering fore-mentioned, or the tithes after spoken of in verse. 21. The Hebrews say, When men separate the Heave-offering, and the Tithe, they are to separate them in order: as, he separateth the First-fruits [spoken of in Deut. 26.] first of all, and after them, the great Heave-offering; and after that, the first tithe [which was given to the Levites, verse. 21.] and after that, the second tithe, or tithe of the poor, [whereof see Deut. 14. 22, 23, 28, 29.] Maim. in Trumoth, ch. 3. sect. 23. shall eat it] in Greek, shall eat them. Of the clean person in the Priests house, see verse. 11. The eating of these first-fruits, was to be only in Jerusalem, the holy City: and whosoever eateth of that gift wherein holiness is, blesseth (God) who sanctified them with the sanctification of Aaron, and commanded them to eat so or s•. Maim. in Bicurim, ch. 1. sect. 2.

Vers. 14. devoted thing] in Hebr. Cherem: of this the Hebrews say, some things were devoted absolutely; and such are spoken of here, and given to the Priests: some things were devoted in special unto God, or to his Sanctuary; and they, o• the price of them, went to the Sanctuary. See the Annotations on Lev. ch. 27. verse. 28. &c. shall be thine] The use of these is not restrained to the Sanctuary, or holy City, or to the Priests alone; but (by the Hebrews) these were the Priests due in every place, and were common things. Maimonides in Bicurim, ch. 1. sect. 7.

Vers. 15. that openeth the womb] Hebr. every opening of the womb; which the Greek translath, everything that openeth every womb (or matrice.) Hereby the first-borne only is meant, as the Law showeth in Exo. 13. 2. and such as were males, Deut. 15. 19. Exo. 34. 19. redeeming thou shalt redeem,] that is, thou shalt surely, or in any case redeem: the father was to give, the Priest to take the redemption money. It figured the redemption of God's people, called the Church of the first-borne, which are written in Heaven, Hebr. 12. 23. who are not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, &c. but with the precious blood of Christ, 1 Pet. 1. 18, 19. So being bought from among men, they are the First-fruits unto God, and to the Lamb, Rev. 14. 4. of the unclean beast] this is translated in Greek, of unclean beasts, as implying all sorts: elsewhere the Law mentioneth the Ass, it may be for an instance, Exod. 13. 13. and 34. 20. But the Hebrews say, The unclean bea• spoken of here, is the Ass only. Maim. in Bicurim, chap. 12. sect. 3. thou shalt redeem] the Ass, was to be redeemed with a Lamb, or else, the owner was to break the neck of the Ass: see the notes on Exod. 13. 13. and 34. 20. The Hebrews say, These two commandments (of redeeming it with a Lamb, or of breaking the neck of it,) were of force in every place, and at every time: and the commandment of redeeming it, was before the commandment of breaking the neck of it. The Lamb wherewith it was redeemed, was given to the Priest, Numb. 18 15. The first-borne Ass was unlawful to be used (or made profit of) till it were redeemed. And if he sold it before it were redeemed, the price of it was unlawful &c. Priests and Levites are freed from redeeming the first-borne Ass; for it is said (in Num. 18. 15.) The first-borne of man, and she first-borne of the unclean beast, thou shalt redeem. Whosoever was charged to redeem the first-borne of man, was likewise for the unclean beast: and he that was free frō the one, was free from the other. Maim. in Bicurim, ch. 12. See other things noted hereabout, on Exod. 34. 20.

Vers. 16. Redeemed of him] or of them, meaning the men fore-spoken of: the Greek translath, the redemption of him: and Targum Jonathan addeth for explanation, of the son of man. from a month old] Hebr. from the son of a month. See the Annotations on Lev. 27. 6. the silver of five shekels] that is, five shek•ls of silver. This sum was before given for every first-borne, Num. 3. 46. 45. twenty gerahs] The gerah weighed 16. barley-cornes, the shekel of the Sanctuary (or holy shekel) weighed 320. barley-cornes, as is before noted on Levite. 17 25. The Hebrews hold that this redemption of the son, might be either with money, or monies worth, so as it were of moveable goods, but not with lands, nor with servants, nor with bills (or writings;) and if he redeemed his son with them, he was not redeemed. Maim. in Bicurim, c. 11. sect. 6 Now because the tribe of Levi was taken in stead of all the first-borne of Israel, Numb. 3. therefore they and their seed were free from this redemption: and so the Hebrew Canons say, Priests and Levites are freed from the redemption of their sons. And further, an Israelite that cometh of a woman of Levi, is free; for the case dependeth not on the father, but on the mother; as it is said, That which openeth the womb &c. Maim. ibidem, cap. 11. sect. 9.

Vers. 17. the firstling] or, the first-borne: in Greek, the firstlings of cowes, &c. understand, being a male firstling, as Exod. 34 19. otherwise it was not sanctified, or given to the Priest. A firstling which is both male and female hath no holiness in it at all; but it as a female, whereto the Priest hath no right. Maim. in Becoroth, ch. 2. s. 5. shalt not redeem] thou mayest not give the worth of it, or any other for it, but the beast it self is to be given: neither may the owner use, or make profit of it, or of the •oll, or anything thereon, Deut. 15. 19. they are holy] and therefore must be hallowed (or sanctified) to the Lord, Exod. 13. 2. The Hebrews say, A man is commanded to sanctify the first-borne of his clean beast, and to say, Behold, this is holy. All are bound (to sanctify) the firstling of a clean beast; both Priests Levites, and Israelites: although the firstling is the Priests. If he have a firstling borne, he is to offer the blood & fat (on the altar,) and to eat the rest of the flesh according to the Law of the Firstlings. Maim. in Bechoroth, c. 1. s. 4. 7. a savor of rest] that is, as the Greek translath, of sweet smell; which the Chaldee explaineth, that it may be accepted with favor before the LORD. But if it were blemished, it might not be offered by the Law, Lev. 22. 20, •1 &c. What did they then with their blemished firstlings? The Law showeth in Deut. 15. and the Hebrews explain it, The firstling • the clean beast is slain in the court-yard (of the Sanctuary,) as other light holy things: they sprinkle the blood, and burn the fat, and the residue of the flesh is eaten by the Priests. If the firstling have a blemish, whether it be borne with his blemish, or a blemish ⟨ϕ⟩ on it after it is perfect, yet it is the Priests. If he ⟨ϕ⟩ he may eat it in any place, or he may sell it; or feed others with it, whom he will, though it be an keathen: for it is a common thing; as it is written ( ⟨ϕ⟩ Deut. 15 21, 22.) And if there be any blemish therein, &c. thou shalt eat it within thy gates, the unclean and the clean shall eat it alike, as the Roe-bucke, and as the Hart: and loe that is the Priests goods. Maimon. in Bechoroth, ch. 1. s•ct. 2, 3.

Vers. 18. as the wave-broast] the parts of the Peace-offerings given to the Priests, Levite. 7. 34. Set also before, on verse. 11.

Vers. 19. All the heave-offerings] the Greek and Chaldee expound it, Every separated thing. This conclusion implieth all other holy gifts, expressed in other places of the Law, though not particulared here. And this showeth God's bounty to his Priests, in allowing them so large means of livelihood, for their service of him; that they might be encouraged in the Law of the Lord as is said in 2 Chro. 31. 4. There was none of them that did shut the doors of God's Sanctuary, or kindle fire on his altar for naught. Malac. 1 10. And when the people neglected their duty, in not giving such things as were appointed, then was the house of God forsaken: and the godly governors looked to the redress hereof, Nehem. 13. 10, 11, 12, &c. The Hebrew Doctors write of 24. several gifts, which God bestowed on the Priests, with the order and use of them all. Four and twenty gifts were given to the Priests, and they are all expressed in the Law: and concerning them all, was the covenant made with Aaron. And whosoever eateth of any gift wherein holiness is, blesseth (God) who sanctified him with the holiness of Aaron, and commanded him to eat so and so. Eight of these gifts, the Priests did eat nowhere but in the Sanctuary, within the wall of the Court-yard. And fine gifts they did not eat but in Jerusalem, within the wall of the city. And five gifts were not due unto them by the Law, but in the land of Israel only. And five gifts were due unto them, both within the land, a without the land. And one gift was due unto them from the Sanctuary. The eight gifts which they did not eat but within the Sanctuary, were these:

- 1 The flesh of the Sin-offering, whether fowl or beast, (Levite. 6. 25, 26.)
- 2 The flesh of the Trespass-offering, (Lev. 7. 1, 6.)
- 3 The Peace-offerings of the congregation, (Levite. 23. 19, 20.)
- 4 The remainder of the Omor (or Sheafe, Levite. 23. 10, &c.)
- 5 The remnants of the Meat-offerings of the Israelites, (Levite. 6. 16.)
- 6 The two Loaves, (Levite. 23. 17.)
- 7 The Shew-bread, (Levite. 24. 9.)
- 8 The Lepers log of oil, (Levite. 14. 10. &c.)

These were not eaten but in the Sanctuary.

The five which they might not eat but in Jerusalem, [and before that, within the campe of Israel, to which Jerusalem afterward was answerable, as is noted on Numb. 2. 27.] were these:

- 1 The breast and shoulder of the Peace-offerings, (Levite. 7. 31. 34.)
- 2 The Heave-offering of the sacrifice of confession, (Levite. 7. 12. 14.)
- 3 The Heave-offering of the Nazarites Ram, (Numb. 6. 17. 20.)
- 4 The First long of the clean beast, (Num. 18. 15. Deut. 15. 19, 20.)
- 5 The First-fruits, (Num. 18. 13.) These were not eaten but in Jerusalem.

The five things due from the land of Israel only, were:

1 The Heave-offering (or First-fruits, Numb. 18. 12.)

2 The Heave-offering of the Tithe, (Numb. 18. 28.)

3 The Cake, (Numb. 15. 20.) And these three were holy.

4 The First of the Fleece, (Deut. 18. 4.)

5 The field of possession, (Numb. 35.) and both of these were common. These were not due unto them by the Law; save in the Land of Israel.

The five things due to the Priests in every place, were;

- 1 The gifts (of the beasts slain, Deut. 18. 3.)
- 2 The redemption of the First-borne son, (Numb. 18. 15.)
- 3 The Firstling of the Ass, (Exod. 34. 20. Num. 18.)
- 4 The restitution of that which is taken by rapine from a stranger, (Num. 5. 8.)
- 5 The devoted things, (Num. 18. 14)

These five are common things, in all respects.

The gift due unto them from the Sanctuary, was;

1 The skins of the Burnt-offerings, (Levite. 7. 8.) And the same Law was for the skins of the other most holy things: they all were the Priests.

The gifts which the females had part in, as well as the male (Priests) were five. 1 The Heave-offering (or first fruits.) 2 The Heave-offering of the tithe. 3. The cake. 4 The gifts of the beast, (Deut. 18. 3.) 5. And the first of the fleece. Maimonides in Bicurim ch. 1. sect. 1. &c. a covenant of salt] that is, a stable, firm and incorruptible covenant. So the kingdom over Israel was given to David and to his sons, by a covenant of salt, 2. Chron. 13. 5. and there the Greek explaineth it, an everlasting covenan <...> .

Vers. 20. Thou shalt have] This concerneth not so much Aaron himself, (who died before he came into the Land, Numb. 20. 28.) as his posterity; and not them only, but all the Levites; as alter Moses showeth in Deut. 18. 1. The Priests the Levites; all the tribe of Levi, shall have no part, nor inheritance with Israel. inheritance in their land] which was divided by lot to the other tribes, according as God numbered them, when the tribe of Levi was numbered apart, Numb. 26. 53, 55, 57, 62. Notwithstanding, they had cities to dwell in, and suburb given from the other tribes, Num. 35. and in Ezek. 48. 10. &c. an holy oblation out of the spiritual land, is given to the Priests and Levites. a part or, a portion, a share among them. This word, though often it be spoken of a part or portion of land, as in Ios. 15. 13. and 19. 9. and 18. 5. &c. yet also it is meant of a part in the spoils or prey, as in Numb. 31. 36. 1 Sam. 30. 24. And so it seemeth to be intended here, of the spoils gotten by war of the Canaanites, which were of great worth, as appeareth by Deut. 2. 35. and 3. 7. and 6. 11. so that Joshua said to some of the people, Return with much riches unto your tents, and with very much cattle, and with silver, and with gold, and with brass, and with iron, and with very much-raiment, &c. Ios. 22. 8. yet Levi might have none, because the Lord had given him his portion in the holy things; and he was to war another warfare in the Lord's Sanctuary, Numb. 4. 23. and according to the Apostles doctrine, No man that warreth, entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier, 2 Tim. 2. 4. O this matter the Hebrews say; All the tribe of  $\langle\phi\rangle$  are warned that they have no inheritance in the land of Canaan; likewise they are warned that they take no part of the spoil, at the time when they conquer the cities, Deut. 18. 1. And a son of Levi, that taketh a part of the spoil, is to be beaten: and if he have received an inheritance in the land, they are to taken away from him. It seemeth unto me, that these things are not spoken but of the land, which was promised by covenant to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob▪ &c. But all other lands; which any of the Kings of Israel should subdue, the Priests and Levites were for those lands, and the spoils of them, like all other Israelites. And why had Levi no right of inheritance in the land of Israel, and spoils thereof, with his brethren? Because he was separated to serve the LORD, and to  $\langle\phi\rangle$  ster unto him, and to teach his right ways, and his just judgments unto many, as Deut. 33. 10. Therefore were they separated from the ways of the world; they wage not war, like other Israelites, neither have they inheritance, &c. but they are the Lord's power  $\langle\ldots\rangle$  written, Bless, Lord, his power, Deut. 33. 11. and the blessed (God) himself is their reward, as he saith, I am thy part and thine inheritance. Maimonytom. 3. Treat. of the Release and Jubilee, ch. 13. sect. 10, 11, 12. So in Ezek. 44. 28. God saith of the Priests, ye shall give them no possession in Israel, I am their possession. I I am thy part] both by the g'ts foreappointed, (as is said in Deut. 18. 1. the Fire-offerings of Jehovah, and his inheritance, shall they eat;) and by other blessings, wherewith he would abundantly recompense their worldly want, administering unto them his heavenly graces. Hereupon the godly testified their faith, and hope in God, by these and such like speeches; God is my part for  $\langle\ldots\rangle$  Psal. 73. 26. Thou art my part, in the land of the living, Psal. 1. 42. 6. Jehovah is my part, saith my  $\langle\ldots\rangle$  therefore will I hope in him, Lament. 3. 24.  $\langle\ldots\rangle$  at thy word,  $\langle\phi\rangle$  that findeth great spoil, Psalm. 119. 162.

Vers. 21. And to the sons of Levi] Now followeth the Law concerning the Levites, who were joined to the Priests in service, and so in provision for their maintenance. And this word And, Ch•zkuni her  $\langle\ldots\rangle$  teth as an addition to that which went before; saying that the covenant of salt forever, was to the Levites also. all the tenth] or, all the tithes. This is the first tithe which the Israelites paid to the Levites; after which they separated a second tithe, which they themselves did eat before the Lord, the first year and the second, and every third year gave it to the Levites and poor: whereof see Deut. 14. 22, 23. &c. Touching this, the Hebrews say, that the Israelites, After they had separated the great Heave-offering (or First-fruits spoken of in Numb. 18. 12.) they separated one of ten out of that which remained, and this is called the first tithe; and it is that which is spoken of in Numb. 18. 24. and this tithe was for the males and females of the Levites. They pay no tithe but of the choice (or best,) as it is said (in Numb. 18. 30.) When ye have heaved the fat thereof, &c. as the tithes which the Levites separate, is to be of the fat thereof; so the tithe which the Israelites separate from the floor or wine-press, is to be of the fat. They pay not the tithe but by measure, or by weight, or by number. He that separateth this tithe, blesseth (God) first, as they use to bless for other commandments: so he blesseth for the second tithe, and for the poor men's tithe, and for the tithe of the tithe, he blesseth for everyone severally. Maim. tom. 3. Treat. of Tithes, chap. 1. sect. 1. 13, 14, 16.

Vers. 22. not come nigh anymore] to serve in the Tabernacle, as they did in the rebellion of Korah, Num. 16. to bear sin] that is, lest they suffer the punishment for their sin. So in verse. 23. bear their iniquity; as in v. 1. to die] or, and die; see the notes on Gen. 2. 3. this showeth the punishment to be death: the Greek translatheth it, deadly (or death-bringing) sin.

Vers. 23. bear their iniquity] that is, bear the punishment of their own iniquity, if they transgress; and of the people's, if they suffer them to transgress. Thus Sol. Rashi expoundeth it; They the Levites shall bear the iniquity of the Israelites; for it is their duty to warn strangers from coming near unto them.

Vers. 24. Heave up] in Greek and Chaldee, separate unto the Lord: so in verse. 26. This showeth the tithes to be an oblation to the Lord, and a sign of the Israelites homage, subjection and thankfulness unto him for his blessings. And upon this ground, the Apostle proveth Melchizedek to be a greater Priest than Abraham, or Aaron; because Abraham (and all the Levites & Priests in his Ioynes) paid tithes to Melchizedek, Gen. 14. Heb. 7. Now consider how great this man was, unto whom even the Patriarch Abraham gave the tenth of the spoils; Heb. 7. 4.

Vers. 26. the tithe of the tithe] or, a tenth part of the tenth.

Vers. 27. as the fullness] or, as the plenty, that is, the plentiful increase; or, the full that is ripe liquor: the Greek translatheth it, as the separated thing. Sol. Rashi saith, Fullness meaneth the ripe fruit, which is full. See the notes on Exod. 22. 29. where this word is also used for Full ripe fruit. From hence the Hebrews gather, that seeing the Levites first tithes, (out of which they paid the Priests tithes,) were as the corn of the floor, and liquor of the press; therefore they were as common things. *The first tithe is lawful to be <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> by Israelites, and lawful to be eaten in uncleanness, for there is in it no holiness at all: and wheresoever holiness, or redemption of the tithe is spoken of, [as in Levite. 27.] it is not meant but of the second <math>\langle\dots\rangle</math> they count the first tithes as common things, because it is said, And your heave-offering shall be reckoned unto you as the corn of the floor &c. as the floor and wine-press are common for everything, so the first tithe (out of which the heave-offering is taken) is common for everything. Maimonides <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> . of Tithe, chap. 1. s. 2. This is to be understood, after the Levites had separated the tenth of the tithe, then the rest should be common, like the corn of the floor, as is explained in verse. 30.*

Vers. 28. Thus you also] or, So you also; you Levites as well as the other Israelites, though you have no inheritance in the land, yet shall you honor the Lord with an heave-offering out of your first tithe: and it shall be reckoned or imputed unto you, as if you had lands and possessions, and offered tithes out of them. to Aaron] and so to his posterity the Priests, as was observed in the ages following, as it is written, And the Priest the son of Aaron, shall be with the Levites, when the Levites take tithes; and the Levites shall bring up the tithe of the tithe, unto the house of our God, to the chambers into the treasure-house, Nehem. 10. 38. Thus also are we to understand the Apostle, when he saith that the Priests, the sons of Levi who receive the office of Priest-hood, have a commandment to take tithes of the people according to the Law, &c. Heb. 7. 5. that the Levites took them of the people immediately, and the Priest mediately, in taking the tithe of the tithe from the Levites, as this place showeth, compared with Nehem. 10. 37, 38.

Vers. 29. Out of all your gifts▪ This is more general, and seemeth to imply, besides the tenth of their tithe, the tenth also of other things, as of their own ground, the suburbs and fields which were given to the Levites, Num. 35. 4. So Chazkunt here saith, Out of all your gifts, ye shall heave up: to teach that even of the fruit that grew in the fields of the suburbs of the Levites cities, they were bound to give unto the Priests▪ &c. And it is proportionable, that as God was to be honored with the tithes of other men's lands, so of the Levites, that they also hereby might signify their homage and thankfulness to God. Yea the Hebrews bring the Priests themselves also under this duty, saying; Levites and Priests do separate the first tithe, for to separate out of it the heave-offering of the tithe. And so the Priests do separate the other heave-offerings & the tithe for themselves, that the Priests may receive of all. Lest they should eat their fruits untithed, the Scripture saith, Thus you also shall heave up (Numb. 18. 28.) which we have heard expounded thus; YOY▪ these are the Levites; ALSO YOY, this implieth the Priests. Maim. Treat. of Tithe, ch. 1. sect. 3. the fat] that is, as the Chaldee expoundeth, the best, or fairest: in Greek, the first-fruits: see before, on verse. 12. & 21. So Chazkuni here saith, Of all the best and of all the fairest thereof, ye shall separate out of it the hallowed part thereof; that it may be an heave-offering.

Vers. 30. the revenue] in Greek, the fruit of the threshing-floor. This word revenue, as the Hebrews distinguish it, is corn after it is cared; and after it is threshed and fanned, it is called (dagan) corn. Maimonides tom. 1. in Beracoth, ch. 3. sect. 1.

Vers. 31. in every place] Sol. Rashi explaineth it, though it be in the place of burial; and that was an unclean place. The first tithes therefore which were paid to the Levites, might be eaten by them as common things, in every place: but the second tithe (which the owners separated after the first, and did eat themselves,) might not be eaten everywhere, but before the Lord only, that is, within the city of Jerusalem, after the Temple was built therein. See Deut. 14. 22, 23. &c. your house] that is, your household; as the Chaldee translateth it, the men of your house. a reward] or, wages; and so your due for your service: so the Apostle speaking of the honor due to the Ministers of Christ, saith, The laborer is worthy of his reward, 1 Tim. 5. 17, 18. and Christ himself sending his disciples to preach, said unto them, And in the same house remain, eating and drinking such things as they give: for the laborer is worthy of his reward. Go not from house to house, Luke 10 7.

Vers. 32. bear sin for it] that is, bear the punishment of sin for the tithe; which the Levites should do, if they heaved (or separated) not a tenth part of the best of that tithe from it, as is before commanded. profane the holy things] Hebr. the holinesses. This is a general warning both to Priests and Levites, that the holy things of the people be not profaned by them, nor suffered to be profaned by others. And holy things might be profaned, if either they were eaten out of the time limited by God, as in Lev. 19. 7, 8. or if the Priests were unclean when they did eat them, as Lev. 22 2, 3, 9. or, if others did eat them, to whom they did not pertain; as Levite. 22. 10, 15, 16. or if other the like unlawful actions were done or suffered. The Ministers of God therefore had this charge upon them, by all means to sanctify the Lord, his Tabernacle and holy things; that so they might procure the welfare and salvation both of themselves and others; as 1 Tim. 4. 16.

CHAP. XIX.

1. The Lord commandeth a red heifer to be slain by the Priest, some of her blood to be sprinkled, the residue with her body to be burned, together with Cedar wood; byssop and scarlet; and the ashes of all these to be gathered up and kept for the congregation, to make therewith a water of separation and purification from sin. 1• The Law for the use of it, in purification of the unclean by the dead.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

ANd Jehovah spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying; This is the ordinance of the Law, which Jehovah hath commanded, saying: Speak unto the sons of Israel, that they take unto thee a red heifer, perfect, wherein is no blemish, upon which never came yoke. And ye shall give her unto Eleazar the Priest, and he shall bring her forth, without the campe; and one shall slay her, before his face. And Eleazar the Priest shall take of her blood, with his finger, and shall sprinkle of her blood directly before the Tent of the Congregation, seven times. And one shall burn the heifer, in his eyes: her skin, and her flesh, and her blood, with her dung, shall he burn.

And the Priest shall take Cedar wood, and hyssop, and scarlet, and shall cast them into the midst of the burning of the heifer.

And the Priest shall wash his clothes, and he shall bathe his flesh in water, and afterward he shall come into the campe, and the Priest shall be unclean until the evening.

And he that burneth her, shall wash his clothes in water, and bathe his flesh in water, and shall be unclean until the evening.

And a man that is clean shall gather up the ashes of the heifer, and lay them up without the campe in a clean place; and it shall be for a reservation for the congregation of the sons of Israel, for a water of separation, it is a purification for sin. And he that gathereth [unspec] the ashes of the heifer, shall wash his clothes, and shall be unclean until the evening; and it shall be unto the sons of Israel, and unto the stranger that s•jurneth among them, for a statute for ever. He that toucheth the dead of any soul of man, he shall be even unclean seven days. He shall purify himself with it in the third day, and in the seventh day he shall be clean; and if he purify not himself in the third day, and in the seventh day, he shall not be clean. Who-soever [unspec] toucheth the dead, the soul of a man that is dead, and purifieth not himself, he defileth the Tabernacle of Jehovah, and that soul shall be cut off from Israel: because the water of separation was not sprinkled upon him, he shall be unclean; his uncleanness is yet upon him. This is the Law: When 〈◇〉 man dieth in a tent, all that come into the tent, and all that is in the tent, shall be unclean seven days. And every open vessel, which hath no covering bound upon it, it is unclean. And whosoever toucheth in the face of the field, one that is slain with the sword, or a dead body, or a bone of a man, or a grave, he shall be unclean seven days. And they shall take for the unclean person, of the dust of the burnt heifer of purification for sin; and he shall put thereto living water in a vessel. And a clean man shall take hyssop, and dip it in the water, and shall sprinkle it upon the tent, and upon all the vessels, and upon the souls which were there, and upon him that touched a bone, or one slain, or one dead, or a grave. And a clean person shall sprinkle upon the unclean, in the third day, and in the seventh day; and he shall purify him-self in the seventh day, and shall wash his clothes, and bathe (his flesh) in water, and shall be clean at evening. And the man that shall be unclean, and shall not purify himself, that soul shall even be cut off from among the Church, because he hath defiled the Sanctuary of Jehovah; the water of separation hath not been sprinkled upon him, he is unclean. And it shall be unto them for a statute for ever; and he that sprinkleth the water of separation, shall wash his clothes; and he that toucheth the water of separation, shall be unclean until the evening. And whatsoever the unclean person toucheth, shall be unclean; and the soul that toucheth, shall be unclean until the evening.

Annotations.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Here is the 39 Section of the Law, after the Hebrews account: See Genes. 6. 9.

The ordinance] or, the statute, constitution, the [unspec] prescript ordinance; in Greek, the distinction of the Law. As in the former Chapter God gave order for his Ministers, the tribe of Levi, by whom the service in his Tabernacle should be performed, and his people should come near unto him, to offer all their sacrifices: so here he giveth a Law for all men generally, how they should be purified from their uncleanness, whensoever they were to come into his Sanctuary with their sacrifices, and for the service of his holy Majesty; that their hearts might be confirmed in his grace, against their own infirmities. take unto thee] that is, take and bring unto thee: see the like phrase in Gen. 15. 9. and Exod. 25. 2. and Levite. 24. 2. This heifer was taken of the people, to show the interest that they all had in it; and by faith, in that which it figured, Christ. a red heifer] Targum Jonathan addeth, a three yeerling: so in the Hebrew canons they say, It is commanded that the red heifer be of the third year, or of the fourth year, and it may be older. Maimonides in Pharah adummah (or Treat. of the Red heifer) chap. 1. sect. 1. perfect] in Greek, without blemish. As all sacrifices were to be unblemished, Levite. 22. so this; but the perfection here spoken of, the Hebrews refer to the color also, that it be perfect in redness, because if it have but two hairs black, it is unlawful, saith Sol. Rashi. The same is affirmed also by Maimonides, If it have two hairs white, or black, &c. it is to be refused. Maimonides in Pharah, ch. 1. sect 2. no blemish] If it hath had a wenne (or wart) and it be cut off though red hair be grown in the place, yet is it disallowable. All blemishes that disable the holy things, disable this heifer. If it have been cut out of the mothers body, or been the price of a dog; or hire of an whore, (Deut. 23. 18.) or been torn, or been abused by man-kind (Levite. 20. 15.) it is unlawful. For whatsoever maketh holy things unlawful for the Altar, maketh the heifer unlawful. Maim. in Pharah, c. 1. sect. 6, 7. yoke] that is, which hath not been used of men for any work: and this is peculiar to this heifer, for other sacrifices were not disabled by the yoke, or any work, save the heifer for expiation of murder, Deut. 21. 3. This heifer excelleth other holy things, for work done by it, disableth it. As the yoke spoken of concerning the heifer, (Deut. 21.) maketh all other work like the yoke: so in this heifer, &c. But the yoke disableth her, whether it be in the time of working, or not: whereas other works disable her not, save in the time of working. As, if one bind a yoke upon her, although she hath not ploughed with it, she is unlawful: but if one took her in to tread out corn, (as Deut. 25. 4.) she is not made disallowable, until he tread out corn with her; and so in all like cases. Maim. in Pharah, ch. 1. sect. 7. As other sacrifices of beasts prefigured Christ, •o this in special figured him; red<sup>a</sup> in his human nature and participation of our afflictions, Isaiah. 63. 1, 2. Heb. 2. 14. 17, 18. perfect and without blemish of sin, both in his nature and actions, Luke 1. 35. 1 Pet. 1. 19. and 2. 22. without yoke, as being free from the bondage of sin and corruption, and from servitude to the ordinances of men in religion, and as doing voluntarily the things that pertained to our redemption, Lam. 1. 14. John. 8. 33, 34, 35, 36. 1 Tim. 6. 1. 1 Cor.  $\langle \diamond \rangle$ . 23. John. 10. 17, 18.

Vers. 3. unto Eleazar] he was Aaron's son, [unspec] and by doing this work, he was unclean, verse. 7. wherefor Aaron himself, who was the high Priest, did it not. Hence the Hebrews say, that An ordinary Priest was fit for to burn the heifer: for it is said, Give her unto Eleazar the Priest, and yet Aaron himself was living. And by word of mouth we have been taught, that this was done by Eleazar; and all other heiffers (were done) either by the high Priest, or by a common Priest. And he that did it, was arrayed with the four ornaments of a common Priest, whether he were the high Priest, or an ordinary Priest that did it. Maimonides in Pharah, ch. 1. sect. 11. 12. It figured that the work of our redemption and purification from sin, should be the work of Christ's Priestly office, Heb. 9. 9, 13, 14. He in performing the truth of this type, was both Priest and sacrifice. he shall bring] The Greek translateth, they shall bring; and so after, they shall slay; as if, not Eleazar himself, but some other at his appointment did it. And the words following, he shall slay her before his face, seem to imply so much, that some other man did slay her before Eleazars face. And it is frequent in Scriptures to make one the doer of a thing, which he commandeth to be done; as Pilate gave the body of Christ to Joseph, Mark. 15. 45. that is, commanded it to be given, Matth. 27. 58. See the Annotations on Exod. 7. 17. Gen: 39. 22. and 48. 22. without the campe] which figured Christ's suffering without the gates of Jerusalem, Hebr. 13. 11, 12. So in ages following, they burned this heifer without Jerusalem, as in the Hebrew records it is said, They burn not the Heiffer, but without the mountain of the house (of God,) as it is written, And he shall bring her forth without the campe, (Numb. 19. 3.) and they use to burn it on mount Olivet. Maimonides in Pharah, ch. 3. sect. 1. Without the Campe, malefactors were to be put to death, Lev. 24. 10. Num. 15. 36. one shall slay her] a stranger (or other man) did slay her, and Eleazar beheld it, saith Sol. Rashi on this place. So in verse. 5. he shall burn the heifer, in his eyes; that is, another man shall burn her in Eleazars sight: which is confirmed by verse. 7, 8. where first the Priest (Eleazar) is commanded to wash his clothes, and after, he that burned her was to wash his clothes; so that these were divers men. Hence also the Hebrews say, They may not slay two red heiffers at once, for it is written, And he shall slay her. Maim. in Pharah, ch. 4. sect. 1.

Vers. 4. with his finger] figuring the finger, that is, the Spirit of our Priest Christ Jesus, whereby he hath sprinkled the way for us into heaven, and our hearts from an evil conscience, that we may have access thither by his blood, Heb. 9. 22, 23, 24. and 10. 19, 20, 22. For as the finger of God, Luk. 11. 20. is interpreted the Spirit of God, Matth. 12. 28. so the finger of the Priest here, signified the Spirit of our High Priest Christ, by the power whereof, our way is prepared into the kingdom of God, through the applying and sprinkling of his own blood, Heb. 12. 24. and 10. 19. 1 Pet. 1. 2. 1 Cor. 6. 11. The Hebrews gather from this precept, that it was unlawful to receive the blood in a vessel, because it is said, the Priest shall take of her blood with his finger. Maim. in Pharah, ch. 4. sect. 4. directly before the Tent] that is, towards the fore-part, or door of the Tabernacle. The Priest stood without the camp, where the heifer was slain, and there sprinkled towards the Sanctuary seven times, (which is a full and complete number, as is noted on Levite. 4. 6.) and that place being a figure of Heaven, Hebr. 9. 24. this sprinkling thitherward, typed out how liberty should be procured for God's people, to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus, by the new and living way, which he hath consecrated for us. Hebr. 10. 19, 29. By the Hebrew Canons, If he sprinkled (the blood) and not towards the Sanctuary, it was unlawful. Likewise if he did slay or burn her, and not over against the Sanctuary, it was unlawful. Maimonides in Pharah, ch. 4. sect. 5.

Vers. 5. one shall burn] that is, some shall burn in Eleazars sight; or, Eleazar shall cause it to be burnt before his eyes. For another man burned it, as appeareth by verse. 8. wherefore Targum Jonathan explaineth it, another Priest shall burn. The burning of the heifer without the campe, figured how Jesus, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, should suffer without the gate (of Jerusalem,) Hebr. 13. 11, 12.

Vers. 6. Cedar wood] this, with the hyssop and scarlet following, were used in the cleansing of Lepers that were healed, Lev. 14. 4. See the Annotations on that place. The Cedar is one of the greatest and tallest trees (opposed to the hyssop as the lowest, 1 King. 4. 33.) it is durable wood and rotteth not, being choice (or excellent) Song. 5. 15. figuring the perpetual efficacy of the death of Christ, who by one offering hath perfected forever them that are sanctified, Hebr. 10. 14. eyzop] or hyssop, whereof see Exod. 12. 22. As here it was burned with the heifer, so after in verse. 18. a sprinkle was made with it, figuring the virtue and odour of Christ's death, to purge our sins, and to sprinkle our hearts from an evil conscience, Hebr. 1. 3. and 10. 22. scarlet] or, twice died scarlet, called in Hebrew Sheni tholagnath; whereof see Exod. 25. 4. This bloody color sometime signifieth Sins, Isaiah. 1. 18. and it is the death and blood of Christ that cleanseth us from all sin, Rom. 6. 10. 1 John 1. 7. the preaching hereof maketh the lips like a thread of scarlet, Song 4. 3. into the midst of the burning] The manner of burning this heifer in the ages following, is described by the Hebrews thus: They made a bank (or causey) from the mountain of the house of God (in Jerusalem) unto mount Olivet; [the mountain which our Lord Jesus used to frequent, Luke 21. 37. Joh. 18. 2. whither he went the night that he was betrayed •o death, Luke 22. 39, 40, &c. and it was over against the Temple, Mar. 13. 3. and from thence, after his resurrection, he ascended up into heaven, Act. 1. 9.—12.] and the heifer, and he that burned her, and all that assisted him in the burning of her, went out from the mount of the Temple, unto mount Olivet, upon that bank. The Elders of Israel wen• before them on their feet to mount Olivet, and there was a place to baptize (or wash) in: and the Priest and they that assisted him to burn the heifer, went on the bank, and came to mount Olivet, &c. and the Elders imposed their hands upon the Priest, and said unto him, wash once. He went down and washed, and came up and wiped himself. And there was wood laid in a row, wood of Cedar, and Oke, and Firre-tree, and Fig-tree, which they took and made a pile of, like a tower; &c. and the fore-part was towards the West; [that was towards the Temple.] Then they bound the heifer, and laid her upon the pile of wood, with her head to the South, and her face to the West; and the Priest stood on the East-side, with his face  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  the West. He killed her with his right hand, and took the blood in his left hand, and sprinkled with the finger of his right hand, of the blood that was in  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  palm of his left hand, seven times towards the  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  holy place (of the Temple.) At every sprinkling,  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  dipped his finger in the blood, and the residue of  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  blood which was on his finger, was unlawful to sprinkle with; therefore at every sprinkling he wiped his finger on the body of the heifer. When he had made an end of sprinkling, he wiped his hands on the heiffers body, and came down from the pile, and kindled the fire with small sticks, which he put under the sticks of the pile, and the fire began to burn, and the Priest stood a far off, and observed it, till the fire burned upon her, and her belly cleft asunder. And afterward he took Cedar wood and eyzop, not less than an hand-breadth, and wool died in scarlet, five sh·kels weight, &c. And he bound the eyzop with the Cedar, with the tongue [or long piece] of scarlet, and cast them into her belly, (Numb. 19. 6) And he cast them not in, before the fire was kindled upon the b  $\langle \dots \rangle$  ke of her body, nor after that she was burnt to ashes; and if he did, it was unlawful; for it is said, into the midst of the burning, not before the fire is kindled on her body, nor after she is turned to ashes. Maimonides in Pharah adummah, ch. 3. sect. 1, 2.

Vers. 7. Wash his clothes] which was a sign of purification from uncleanness, as is noted on Lev. 11. 25. and 15 5. The same was concerning him that burned the heifer, verse. 8. and the clean man that gathered up her ashes, verse. 9, 10. Hereby the imperfection of the Legal Priesthood was shown, in that the Priests which prepared the means of sanctification for the Church, were themselves polluted in the preparing and doing of them, as may be gathered by proportion from Hebr. 7. 27, 28. and 10. 1, 2, 3. The sin also of the Priests, and others that procured the death of Christ, (though it was the life of the world,) seemeth hereby to be signified, Matth. 26. 65, 66, &c. Act. 2. 22, 23, 38. and 3. 14, 15, 17, 18, 19. Albeit by the tradition of the Hebrews, they were very careful about the cleanness of the Priests, when they did this work: for, the Priest that burned this heifer, they separated him (from his house) to a chamber prepared in the Court (of the Temple,) which was called the Stone chamber, because all the vessels thereof were of stone, which do receive no uncleanness, and he ministered in a vessel of stone all the seven days that he was separated, and his brethren the Priests might not touch him, for the more care of his cleanness. Seven days before the burning of the heifer, they separated the Priest that burned her from his house, as they separated the High Priest for his service on Atonement-day, (whereof see the notes on Levite. 16. 33.) Also they separated him from his wife, lest she should have her disease, and so he be unclean seven days, (as Levite. 15. 24.) Every of those seven days of his separation, they sprinkled him with the water of purification, (lest he should be unclean by the dead, and not know it.) end with the ashes of the heifer that had been burned already (before.) Maimonides in Pharah, ch. 2. Notwithstanding all this care, Whosoever busy themselves about this heifer, from the beginning to the end, do make their garments unclean, and are bound to wash themselves, and are unclean till the evening. And wheresoever the Law speaketh of washing of clothes for uncleanness, it is to teach us, that not the clothes only upon him are unclean, but every cloth  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  vessel which this unclean person shall touch, whiles his uncleanness is on him is made unclean. And not this heifer only, but all Sin-offerings that are burnt (without the campe) whether bullocks or goats; he that burneth them, defileth •is clothes, the time of the burning of them, till they be turned to ashes: (Levite. 16. 28.)

Maim. ibidem, c. 5.

Vers. 9. a man that is clean] this man is said in Targum Jonathan to be a Priest. the ashes] It is reported, that After they had finished the burning of her, they beat her with staves, her and all the wood of the pile wherewith she was burned; and sifted all with sives: and whatsoever was black, which possibly they could pound and make it ashes, either of her flesh, or of the wood, they pounded it till it was made ashes; and that which had no ashes in it, they left the same; and every of her bones that remained unburnt, they pounded. Maimonides in Pharah, ch. 3. sect. 3. As the burning of the heifer signified the sufferings of Christ, Hebr. 13. 11, 12. so the ashes were the monument of his most base and utmost afflictions; for ashes were used as greatest signs of sorrow and misery, 2 Sam. 13. 19. Job 30. 19. and 42. 6. Ier. 6. 26. and to be brought to ashes upon the earth, is noted for the extremity of God's fiery judgments, Ezek. 28. 18. But the memorial of Christ's most ignominious death, is to be kept as a most glorious monument of our life, justification and sanctification through faith in his name, 1 Cor. 11. 24. 26. Gal. 6. 14. Phil. 3. 8, 9, 10. without the campe] to signify, that they which would have part in the death of Christ, must go forth unto him, without the campe, bearing his reproach, Heb. 13. 13. in a clean place] figuring a clean heart, and pure conscience, in which only the monuments of Christ's death are reserved by faith, Act. 15. 9. Heb. 10. 22. Eph. 3. 17. The Hebrews say, They gathered not any of her ashes to lay it up in the court (of the Sanctuary:) but they divided all the ashes into three parts. One part they put in (the place called) the Cheil, [the Fort or Frontier,] and another part, in mount Olivet, and the third was parted to all the Wards (or Custodies of the Levites.) That which was parted to all the Wards, the Priests sanctified therewith; and that which was put in mount Olivet, the Israelites sprinkled with it: and that which was put in the Cheil, was reserved and laid up, as it is written, AND IT SHALL BE FOR THE CONGREGATION FOR A RESERVATION; to teach that they laid up (some) of it. And thus they laid up some of every heifer which they burned, in the Cheil. And they did (burn) nine red heiffers, after they were commanded this precept, till the desolation of the second Temple. The first was done by Moses our Master, the second by Ezra, and seven after Ezra, till the Temple was destroyed. And the tenth shall be done by the King Christ, who be reviled with speed, Amen, So be the good will of God. Maimonides in Pharah, ch. 3. sect. 4. This last speech of the Jew, showeth their zeal without knowledge; for we know that the Son of God is come, and hath given us an understanding, that we may know him that is true, and we are in him that is true, even in his Son Jesus Christ, 1 John. 5. 20. and by him was this legal type (as all other) accomplished; as it is written, If the ashes of an heifer sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh, how much more shall the blood of Christ. who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works, to serve the living God? Hebr. 9. 13, 14. Wherefore Christ the King hath been •evealed, and they have done unto him whatsoever they would: but even unto this day, when Moses is read, a veil is laid upon their heart, so that they cannot steadfastly look to the end of that which is abolished; nevertheless when it shall turn to the Lord, the veil shall be taken away, 2 Cor. 3. 15, 16. Then shall they look upon him whom they have pierced, and they shall mourn for him, as one mourneth for his only son, and shall be in bitterness for him, &c. Zach. 12. 10. And this day, God cause to come with speed, Amen. for a reservation] or, for an asservation, a keeping, that is, to be reserved or kept: See the like phrase in Exod. 16. 32, 33, 34. Num. 17. 10. Sol.

Rashi here saith, That which was in the Cheil (or Fort) was put there for a reservation, according to that sore-noted out of Maimonides. But this may be understood of all the ashes, (and not of a third part only,) which was kept for the use of Israel, as after followeth. for the congregation] Hence the Hebrews say, that all Israelites were sit to keep it. Therefore any of the common people, which bringeth a vessel out of his house, though an earthen vessel, and saith, This vessel is clean for the Sin (water,) le it is clean, they sanctify in it, and sprinkle out of it; though that vessel is unclean for the Sanctuary, and for the heaveoffering. And so any of the common people that shall say, I am clean for the Sin-water, or that hath the Sin-water by him, and saith it is clean, he is to be trusted: for there is no man of Israel too vile for it. Maim. in Pharah, ch. 13. sect. 12. water of separation] that is, water to be sprinkled for separation, to be sprinkled on such as are separated and removed, because of uncleanness, from other people. This appeareth by verse. 13. where it is said, because the water of separation was not sprinkled upon him. The Hebrew Niddah, which properly signifieth a separation or removal for uncleanness, is sometime figuratively used for uncleanness it self, which is to be done away; as in 2 Chron. 29. 5. Ezra 9. 11. Whereupon the water which cleanseth it, is called the water of separation; which the Greek and Chaldee versions call water of sprinkling, because it was sprinkled on the unclean to purify him; verse. 18. 19. According to which phrase, Christ's blood is called the blood of sprinkling, Hebr. 12. 24. because it purifieth the conscience, and was figured by this sprinkling water, Heb. 9. 13, 14. a purification for sin] Hebr. a sin: which word as it is often used for a Sin-offering, or sacrifice that expiateth sin, as in Lev. 4. 3, &c. so here it is the name of that water which purified sin, as a•ter is manifested in verse. 12. &c. Wherefore the Greek translateth, it is a sanctification, or a purification. And these two names here given to this water, the Prophet useth, when he foretellethe the grace of Christ; In that day there shall be a fountain •pened to the house of David, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, for Sin, and for Separation, Zach. 13. 1. that is, for a purification for sin, and for a water of separation for uncleanness, which the Greek there interpreteth, for a removal away, and for a sprinkling.

Vers. 10. shall wash] as when any blood of the Sin-offering was sprinkled on a garment, it was to be washed, Levite. 6. 27. so here he that gathered up ashes was to wash his clothes, for it could not be but some of the ashes would light upon them. See the notes on verse. 7. the stranger that sojourneth] in Greek, the proselytes that are adjoined.

Vers. 11. of any soul of man] that is, of any dead man, or any corpse of man: the soul is here used for the dead body, as is noted on Levite. 19. 26. and Numb. 6. 6. and this is an explanation of the former dead, that it is meant of man only: for he that touched a dead beast, was not unclean seven days, but one day only, Lev. 11. 24, 27, 39. neither was he to be sprinkled with these ashes. Sol. Rashi here saith, it is spoken to except the soul of a beast, for the uncleanness thereby needeth no sprinkling▪ unclean seven days] during which time of his uncleanness, he might not come into the Sanctuary, nor touch any holy thing, Levite. 7. 19, 21. nor be in the Lord's Campe, Numb. 6. 2. (unto which the city Jerusalem was answerable in the ages following, called therefore the Holy City, Nehem. 11. 1, 18. Matth. 4. 5.) And hereby was figured such as were dead in trespasses and sins, Ephes. 2. 1. and such as have their consciences defiled by dead works, Heb. 9. 13, 14. which may not enter, during their uncleanness, into the city of God, R•vel. 2. 27. Of this legal pollution, the Hebrews have these sayings; A dead person defileth by touching & by bearing, and by the Tent, with seven days uncleanness. The uncleanness by touching, and by the Tent▪ are expressed in the Law, Num. 19. 11, 14. Uncleanness by bearing, is by tradition [gathered by consequence.] For if a dead beast, which maketh one unclean but till evening, and defileth not by the Te•t, doth defile by bearing, as is written in Levite. 11. 25. how much more doth a dead man. And as a dead beast which by touching defileth till evening, defileth <... > evening by bearing; so a dead man which by touching de•ileth seven days, defileth also sevē days by bearing. Uncleanness by touching▪spoken of in every place, whether of a dead man or other unclean things, is when a man with his flesh toucheth the unclean thing it <ϕ> ▪ whether it be with his hand, or with his foot, or with any other part of his flesh, &c. Uncleanness by bearing spoken of in any place, either of a dead man, or of other unclean things, is when a man beareth the unclean thing, although he touch it not; although a store be betwixt him and it. Forasmuch as he beareth it, he is unclean; whether he bear it on his head, •r <ϕ> his hand, or with any other part of his body▪ <ϕ> though the unclean thing hang by a thread, or by <ϕ> hair, if he hand the thread on his hand, and l•t up <ϕ> unclean thing by it, loe he beareth it, and is unclean•. Nothing is defiled by bearing, save man only▪ <ϕ> vessels. As; if a man hold in his hand ten vessels, one above another▪ & a dead carcass, or any the like thing be in the uppermost vessel, the man is unclean by bearing the carcass, and the vessels upon his hand are all clean, save the uppermost vessel which the unclean thing toucheth; and so in all like cases, &c. There is no kind of living thing, which is defiled whiles it is alive, or that doth defile whiles it is alive, save man only, and he that is of Israel, &c. A dead man defileth not till his soul be departed from him, as it is written, The soul of a man that is dead, Num. 19. 13. A dead untimely birth, &c. defileth by touching, by bearing, and by tent, as a great man which is dead; as it is written, He that toucheth the dead of any soul of mā, Nū. 19. 11. Likewise so much as an olive of a dead man's flesh, either moist or dry as a potsherd, defileth as doth a whole dead man. A lim cut off from a living man, is as an whole dead man, & defileth by touching, by bearing, and by tent, though it be but a little lim of a child of a day old, &c. A lim separated from a dead man, defileth also by touching, by bearing, & by tent, as doth the dead man, &c. Maim. tom. 3. in Tumath meth, ch. 1. & 2. These & other the like legal pollutions, teach God's people how careful they should be, that they defile not themselves with sin, or communion with dead and sinful works; as the Apostle saith, Touch not the unclean thing, 2 Cor. 6. 17. Be not partaker of other men's sins, keep thyself pure, 1 Tim. 5. 22.

Vers. 12. He shall purify himself] by sprinkling the foresaid water; as the Chaldee expoundeth it, He shall sprinkle; the Greek, He shall be purified. The original word signifieth to purify from sin; which showeth that this outward uncleanness figured the pollution of the soul by sin; and the purification here commanded, signified repentance from dead works, and faith towards God, w<sup>ch</sup> purifieth the heart, Heb. 6. 1. Act. 15. 9. with it] with the water fore-spoken of, v. 9. and the ashes, as Targum Ionathan here expresseth: the manner whereof followeth. he shall be clean] that is, as the Greek translateth, and he shall be clean, and in the seventh] Chazkuni here observeth, Lest any should think, if he forget and be not sprinkled in the third day, he may be sprinkled twice on the seventh day, and it will serve the turn as if he were sprinkled on the third day, and on the seventh; therefore the Scripture saith, If he purify not himself in the third day, and in the seventh, &c. for it is necessary that there be three days between sprinkling and sprinkling.

Vers. 13. the soul] that is, the corps, as before is shown. that is dead] in Greek, if he be dead. From these words the Hebrews gather, that the diad defileth not, till his soul be departed. Maim. in Tumath meth, c. 1. s. 15. For death is the departing of the soul from the body, Gen. 35. 18. Psa. 146. 4. he defileth the Tabernacle] if he come in that estate into the court of the Tabernacle: yea though he have washed himself, yet if he have not been sprinkled the third day and the seventh day, he defileth it, as I•chi here noteth, and Moses after showeth. that soul shall be cut off] in Chaldee, that man shall be destroyed. This is mean• if he come in presumptuously; but if he do it ignorantly, he is to bring a sacrifice, Lev. 5. 3.—6. So the Hebrews explain this Law. Maim▪ in Biath hamikdash, ch. 3. sect. 12. See the notes on Num. 6. the water of separation] in Greek and Chaldee, the water of sprinkling. This signified, that when any have sinned he cannot be cleansed from it before God, by any of his own works, nor satisfy by his own sufferings, but only by having his conscience sprinkled with the blood of Christ by his spirit; for that is it which clean•eth us from all sin. 1 John 1. 7. Heb. 9. 13. 14.

Vers. 14. in a tent] and so by proportion, in a house, as the Greek here translateth it; for a tent is named, because the people then dwelt in tents in the wilderness. But for uncleanness the Hebrews say, that only a tent was unclean, and to be sprinkled, as is after noted on verse. 18. and all that is in the •ent] the pollution by the dead is in this respect above all other pollutions, as the Hebrews say, The uncleanness of the t•nt is not like other uncleannesses, but by the dead only. And whether there come into the tent (of the dead) man or vessel, or the dead be brought into the tent where men or vessels are, or that the dead be with men or vessels under the same tent, they are unclean. Whether he come wholly into the tent of the dead, or come but some part of him, he is unclean by the t•nt. Though he do but put in his hand, or the tops of his fingers, &c. he is all unclean, &c. Whether the dead person be an Israelite or an heathen, he defileth by being touched or carried, but an heathen defileth not by tent. This is by tradition, for l•e he saith of the war of Midian, whosoever hath touched any slain, Num. 31. 19. and he mentioneth not there the tent. Likewise an heathen is not made unclean by the dead, but an heathen that toucheth the dead, or beareth him, or cometh into the tent where (the dead) is, loe he is as if he had not touched him. And why? because he is as a beast that toucheth the dead, &c. And this is not for the dead only, but for all other uncleannesses everyone, heathens and beasts are not made unclean by them. Ma•m. in Tumath meth, c. 1. s. 10, 11, 12, 13. unclean seven days] This is the ordinary time for the uncleanness of men or of vessels that are defiled by the dead; but those which touch such a defiled man, are unclean but until evening, verse. 22.

Vers. 15. every open vessel] The Chaldee translateth it, every open earthen vessel, (or vessel of potters clay:) and so the Hebrew Doctors expound this Law, as Rashi saith, The Scripture speaketh of an earthen vessel which receiveth no uncleanness in the outside of it, but in the inside▪ &c. So Maimonides in Tumath meth, c. 21▪ Of vessels & their uncleanness, see the annotations on Lev. 11. 32, 33. no covering bound upon it] in Creeke, not bound with a bond upon it: by covering, some understand a cloth upon it. The vessel was so to be stopped, that the air of the tent might not go into it▪ then both it and all things in it were clean, otherwise they were unclean. From hence the Hebrews gather also by proportiō, that if another tent were within the tent of the dead, the things in it were clean, because they were hid or covered; and likewise if the unclean thing were swallowed up by a living creature. But nothing put up in vessels was free from uncleanness, except the vessel had a covering bound upon it. Neither was anything clean by being buried in the ground under the tent or house: but if an house were unclean, and vessels were hidden in the floor thereof, though an hundred cubits underneath, they were unclean. Maim. in Tumath meth, ch. 20.

Vers. 16. in the face of the field] that is, in the open field where no tent is, there pollution is by touching only. slain with the sword] or with any other instrument; the sword is named for an instance. Therefore in Num. 31. 19. the law saith more generally, whosoever hath killed any person, and whosoever hath touched any slain, &c. Targum Jonathan here addeth, one that is slain with the sword, or the sword wherewith he was slain. So in the Hebrew Canons it is said, the sword is as the dead person, to wit, for defiling him that touched it. Maim. in Tumath meth, c. 5. s. 3. The word sometime is used for wounded, though not dead, as in Ps. 69. 27. and 109. 22. Hereupon the Hebrews say, A lim cut off from a living man, it is as an whole dead man, and maketh unclean by touching, by bearing, and by tent, though it be but a small lim of a child of a day old. For there is no stinted measure of limbs, as it is written, whosoever toucheth in the face of the field, one that is slain with the sword, and it is a known thing that it is all one whether he be slain with the sword, or with a stone, or with other things. This teacheth that he is unclean, which toucheth a lim that the sword hath cut off; provided that it be a whole lim as it is created of flesh, sinews and ••nes. Maim. in Tumath meth, c. 2. s. 3• or a dead body] though not slain by violence, but dying alone. abone of a man] By reason of this uncleanness by dead men's bones, the Prophet saith, When any seeth a man's bone, he shall set up a sign by it, till the buriers have buried it, &c. Eze. 39. 15. The Hebrews write that the blood also of a dead man defileth as doth the dead man: but the blood of a living man (they say) is clean, so long as he is alive. Maim. in Tumath meth, c. 2. a grave] or a sepulcher, to wit, wherein any dead have been buried. A grave, all the while that uncleanness is within it, defileth by touching and by tent, as doth the dead person, by the sentence of the law, Nū. 19. 16. And whether one touch the top of a grave, or touch the sides of it (he is unclean.) A field wherein a grave is plowed up and the bones of the dead are consumed into dust, that dust defileth by touching and by bearing. Maim. in Tumath meth, c. 2. s. 15, 16. Thus the pollutiō by mankind being dead, is above all other legal pollutions whatsoever: w<sup>ch</sup> lively showeth the fruit and effect of sin, w<sup>ch</sup> caused death, Rom. 6. 23. and the horror of death, holding men in subjectiō, until by the voice of Christ they be raised & brought out of their graves, John. 5. 28, 29. The Hebrews say, The cause of the uncleanness of the dead, is by means of the Angel of death [the devil] that brought poison into man. R. Menachem on Num. 19. Hereby also was figured the estate of such as are dead in sin, even dead whiles they are alive, Col. 2. 13. 1 Tim. 5. 6. whose throat is an open grave, Psal. 5. 10. so that their corrupt words and sinful works do infect others, 2 Tim. 2. 17, 18. 1 Cor. 5. 6.

Vers. 17. And they shall take] that is, some shall take, some clean man, as v. 18. for the unclean] to cleanse him. of the dust] that is, of the ashes, as the Greek explaineth it. of the burnt•••er of purification for sin] Hebr. of the burning of ••nne, that is, of the Sin-offering (the heifer) that is burned, v. 9. he shall put] that is, some clean man shall put. living water] that is, as the Chaldee expoundeth it, spring (or welling) water, which for the continual motion is called living water, as is noted on Lev. 14. 5. and Gen. 26. 19. in a vessel Touching the manner of performing this rite, the Hebrews have many observations. The water on which the heifers ashes are put, is not filled but in a vessel, and out of fountains that spring, or of rivers derived from them: and the putting of the ashes upon the water that is filled is called sanctifying. And the water on which the ashes are put, is called the water of purification from sin, & sanctified water, & the Scripture calleth it water of separation, (Num. 19. 9.) It is lawful for any to fill the water, save for the deaf, and the fool, and the child; and lawful for any to sanctify, save for the deaf, the fool, and the child: and they sanctify not but in a vessel, neither do they sprinkle, but out of a vessel; and the filling and sanctifying may be done by night, but they do not sprinkle, nor wa 〈...〉, but by day; and all the day long they may sprinkle or wa••. In any vessel they may fill, and sprinkle, and sanctify• though vessels of stone, of earth, &c. He that turneth a spring into his wine-press, or into a cistern, and then filleth a vessel out of that press or cistern, it is unlawful: for it is necessary to take the water out of the Spring into a vessel at the first. The main sea, as the gathering together of water, is not as a Spring, therefore they fill not out of it to sanctify, &c. When they sanctify the water with the ashes, he putteth the water which is filled by the name of sin-water, into a vessel, and putteth the ashes upon the face of the water, and mixeth all together; and if he put in the ashes first, and afterward the water, it is unlawful. And whereas it is said in the law, And he shall put thereto 〈ϕ〉 water, (Num. 19. 17.) it is meant to mix the 〈...〉 es with the water. He that sanctifieth, must do it purposely, and put the ashes with his hand on the water; as it is said, And they shall take for the unclean person; so that he must have an intent to sanctify, and to 〈ϕ〉, and to sprinkle, &c. He that delivereth sanctified water, or water filled for sanctification, to an unclean person to keep it, it is become unlawful. He that is 〈ϕ〉 red is unlawful to sanctify or to sprinkle, but not unlawful to fill the water, &c. he may receive wages for filling, or for carrying the water; but he must sanctify for nothing, and he that sprinkleth must sprinkle for nothing. Maim. in Pharah adummah, ch. 6. sect. 1. &c. and ch. 9. sect. 1. &c. and ch. 7. sect. 2.

Vers. 18. a clean man] either he that took the ashes and put them to the water, or any other: see the notes on v. 9. He that filleth the water for sanctification, it is not necessary that it be he himself that sanctifieth, and that sprinkleth; but one may sanctify, and another may sprinkle. Maim. in Pharah, ch. 10. hyssop] that herb w<sup>ch</sup> was used in cleansing of the Leper, whereof see Lev. 14. 4. A clean man take 〈...〉 three stalks of hyssop, and bindeth them in a bunch, &c. and dippeth the tops of the branches in the water 〈ϕ〉 separation which is in a vessel, and purposely 〈ϕ〉 leth on the man, or on the vessels, &c. Maim. in Pharah, ch. 11. sect. 1. dip it in the water] He that sprinkleth, needeth not to dip for every sprinkling, but dippeth the hyssop, and sprinkleth one time after another, till the water be ended. And he may sprinkle with one sprinkling on many men, or on many vessels at once, though they be an hundred: whatsoever the water toucheth, it is clean every whit, if so be he that sprinkleth do intend to sprinkle upon it. Maim. in Pharah, ch. 10. sect. 8. upon the tent] in Greek, upon the house. The tent was unclean by the dead, though it touched it not, as this Law showeth. The Tent it self whereinto the uncleanness came, though the uncleanness touched it not, yet is it unclean with seven days uncleanness by the Law, and is as clothes that touch the dead corpse; for it is said, And he shall sprinkle upon the Tent. Maim. in Tumath meth, ch. 5. sect. 12. all the vessels] nothing but this water could purify the vessels; though they were melted in the fire, yet they were in part unclean, as it is said, Every thing that may abide the fire, ye shall make it go thorough the fire, and it shall be clean: nevertheless it shall be purified with the water of separation, Num. 31. 23. the souls] the living persons, or men, as Targum Jonathan explaineth it. And this is spoken largely without limitation, though they had other uncleanness upon them, than by the dead.

And so the Hebrews explain it largely, saying; All that are unclean do receive the sprinkling; as men or women that have running issues, women separated for their disease, and women in childbed, which are defiled by the dead, they sprinkle upon them in the third day, and in the seventh, and loe they are cleansed from the uncleanness by the dead, although they are unclean still with other uncleanness. For it is said, (in Num. 19. 19.) And a clean person shall sprinkle upon the unclean, &c. whereby thou mayest learn, that the sprinkling is available for him, though he be unclean. And so an uncircumcised person receiveth the sprinkling; as an uncircumcised person that is unclean by the dead, and one sprinkle upon him in the third day and in the seventh, loe he is clean from the uncleanness by the dead; and when he is circumcised, he washeth (or baptizeth) and eateth of the holy things at evening. Maim. in Pharah, ch. 1. sect. 3. And for the effect of this sprinkling, they say, A man defiled by the dead, and one hath sprinkled on him, when any of the water of separation hath touched any place of the skin of his flesh who was unclean, the sprinkling is available for him, though it fall but upon the top of his finger, or of his lip, &c. And so for an unclean vessel sprinkled, when any whit of the water toucheth the body of the vessel, the sprinkling is available for it. Maim. ibid. c. 12. s. 1. a bone] that is, a man's bone, as the Greek translateth, and as was expressed in v. 16.

Vers. 19. in the third day] to wit, after his uncleanness being certainly known. Who so is unclean by the dead, and tarrieth many days without sprinkling, when he cometh to be sprinkled, he counteth before him three days, and they sprinkle on him in the third day, and in the seventh, &c. Maim. in Pharah, c. 11. s. 2. and in the seventh] w<sup>ch</sup> is the day of the accomplishment of his purification: the third day was mystical, having reference to the resurrection of Christ, w<sup>ch</sup> was on the third day after his death, 1 Cor. 15. 4. whereof see the annotations on Gen. 22. 4. The seventh day was also mystical, as being the number of perfection of the Sabbath, and of accomplishing a work, as is noted on Gen. 2. 2. Ex. 12. 15. and Lev. 4. 6. and so it figured our full cleansing, and ceasing from our sinful and dead works, after that we are sprinkled with the blood of Jesus, and water of his Spirit, Heb. 4. 9, 10. and 9. 13, 14. wash his clothes] w<sup>ch</sup> was a common rite, for all that were defiled with other uncleannesses; whereof see Lev. 11. 25. and 14. 8, 9. and 15. 5. bathe his flesh] in Greek, wash his body: the word flesh is expressed before in v. 7. & it is meant of his whole body, or all his flesh, as Lev. 15. 16. clean at evening] after the Sun is set, at what time a new day beginneth; and so in mystery, a new life to begin. This cleansing of the defiled by the dead, figured Christ's work of grace upon dead and sinful men; of him it is prophesied, He shall sprinkle many nations, Isaiah. 52. 15. and of him doth the Apostle open this figure, saying, If the blend of bulls and goats, and the ashes of an heifer, sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh; how much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without blemish unto God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God? Heb. 9. 13, 14. The sprinkling of the ashes of the heifer, figured the applying unto us of Christ's death, whereunto he was delivered for our offenses, and was raised again for our justification, Rom. 4. 25. The living water wherewith the ashes were mixed, figured the Spirit of God, which they that believe in Christ do receive, John. 7. 38, 39. of which he gave this promise, Then will I sprinkle clean water upon you, and ye shall be clean, Eze. 36. 25. These being applied unto our consciences by faith (as with hyssop) w<sup>ch</sup> purifieth the heart, Act. 15. 9. & by the preaching thereof, Gal. 3. 2. do baptize us into Christ's death, that like as he was raised up frō the dead, unto the glory of the Father; even so we also should walk in newness of life, Rom. 6. 3, 4. And so we draw near unto God, with a true heart, in full assurance of faith, having hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and bodies washed with pure water, & our robes washed, and made white in the blood of the Lamb, Heb. 10. 22. Rev. 7. 14. and cleansing ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, we perfect holiness in the fear of God, 2 Cor. 7. 1. Of these mysteries the Hebrew Doctors, though estranged from the true life and light of Christ, retained some knowledge; for they say, When the living water is mixed with the ashes, it purifieth the unclean, whereas before that, while the ashes were alone, they defiled all that were employed about them. And behold, the living water signified the water that is on high, which taketh away uncleanness from the ashes, &c. And loe when it is sprinkled on the unclean, the uncleanness fleeth from him, &c. and a clean spirit resteth upon him, and purifieth him. R. Menachem on Num. 19.

Vers. 20. unclean] by any of the things afore-said, about the dead. not purify himself] or, not be purified, to wit, by having the water sprinkled upon him, as the Chaldee explaineth it; and the latter part of this verse manifesteth. that soul] in Chaldee, that man cut off] in Greek and Chaldee, destroyed. defiled the Sanctuary] by coming into it before he hath been purified. For such were shut out of the host, Num. 5. 3. how much more out of the Sanctuary? Therefore Porters were see there at the gates, that none which was unclean in anything should enter in, 2 Chr. 23. 19. An unclean person that cometh into the Sanctuary presumptuously, his punishment is cutting off, Num. 19. 20. if ignorantly, then he is to bring the sacrifice appointed, Lev. 7. Maim in Biath hamikdash, ם . 3. s. 12. See the annotations on Lev. 5. 2, 3.

Vers. 21. wash his clothes] as being unclean, and so to continue until evening; likewise he that toucheth the water of separation shall wash his clothes, and be unclean until evening. This interpretation Chazkuni here giveth of it; that in the former branch, uncleanness is implied until evening; and in the latter branch, the washing of his clothes also is implied, though not expressed. This is one of the mysteries of this Law, that a clean mā (as he is called in v. 18, 19.) was made unclean, by sprinkling or touching the holy water, which sanctified those that were unclean; and so it had contrary effects to purify the unclean, and to pollute the clean; as the Sun melteth wax, and hardeneth clay. Hereby the Holy Ghost seemeth to signify the imperfection and insufficiency of these legal rites, which in their greatest virtue did but sanctify to the purifying of the flesh, as the Apostle saith, Heb. 9. 13. and yet even then also, left the purifier himself in uncleanness, which he had not before. That by consideration of these effects, the people might be led unto Christ and his Spirit, who is able to purge the conscience from dead works, and to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, Heb. 9. 14. & 7. 25. The Hebrews understand this of such as sprinkled or touched the water, when there was no need, as when no unclean person or vessel was to be sprinkled with it. Maimonides in Pharah, ch. 15.

Vers. 22. whatsoever] or whomsoever; Hebr. all, implying men, vessels, &c. the unclean] to wit, by the dead, of whom was spoken before. shall be unclean] to wit, until evening, as the end of the verse showeth: and this is an inferior degree of uncleanness; for the man or vessel polluted by the dead, was unclean seven days, verse. 11. 14. but that w<sup>ch</sup> such an unclean man or vessel touched, was unclean till the end of that day. So in the Hebrew Canons, A man which is defiled by the dead, and the vessels which that man toucheth, are unclean seven days, as it is said, And ye shall wash your clothes in the seventh day, and ye shall be clean, (Num. 31. 24.) But a man that shall touch a man which is defiled by the dead, whether he touch him after that he is separated from the things that defiled him, or touch him while he toucheth the dead, lo this second man is unclean till the evening, as it is said, (in Num. 19. 22.) And the soul that toucheth, shall be unclean until the evening. Mai. in Tumath meth, ch. 5. s. 2. the soul] in Chaldee, the man. that toucheth] to wit, him that is defiled, as before is noted; or it, the thing which is defiled by the te<sup>d</sup> of an unclean man. Thus pollution passed from one thing to another, and from that other to third; whereby God figured the contagioness no spreading abroad, and infecting where it goeth; leaving uncleanness till the end of that day, and beginning of a new: then washing ourselves by repentance and faith in the blood of Christ, we are clean. For we are buried with him by baptism into death, that like as Christ was raised up from the dead, unto the glory of the father, even so we also (ϕ) walk in newness of life, Rom. 6. 4.

CHAP. XX.

1 The children of Israel come to Zin, where Marie dieth. 2 They murmur for want of water. 7 The Lord biddeth Moses speak to the Rock. and it should give forth water. 11 Moses smi•elt the Rock, and water cometh out. 12 The Lora• angry with Moses and Aaron for their unbelief 14 Moses at Kadesh desireth passage thorough Edom which is denied him. 22 At mount Hor, Aaron resigneth his place to Eleazar his son, and dieth.

AND the sons of Israel, even the whole congregation, came into the wilderness of Zin, in the first month; and the people abode in Kadesh, and Marie died there, and was buried there. And there was no water for the congregation; and they gathered themselves together against Moses and against Aaron. And the people contended with Moses; and they said, saying; And oh that we had given up the ghost, when our brethren gave up the ghost, before Jehovah. And why have ye brought the Church of Jehovah into this wilderness to die there, we and our cattle? And why have ye made us to come up out of Egypt to bring us in, unto this evil place? it is no place of seed, or of figs, or vines, or of pomegranates, neither is there any water to drink. And Moses and Aaron went from the presence of the church unto the door of the Tent of the Congregation, and they fell upon their faces, and the glory of Jehovah appeared unto them.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Take the rod, and gather together the Congregation, thou and Aaron thy brother, and speak ye unto the Rock before their eyes, and it shall give forth his water: and thou shalt bring forth to them water out of the Rock; and thou shalt give the congregation and their cattle drink. And Moses took the rod from before Jehovah, as he commanded him. And Moses and Aaron gathered together the Church before the Rock, and he said unto them, Hear now ye rebels, shall we bring forth water for you out of this rock? And Moses lifted up his hand, and he smote the Rock with his rod twice; and much water came out, and the Congregation drank, and their cattle.

And Jehovah said unto Moses and unto Aaron, Because ye believed not in me, to sanctify me, in the eyes of the sons of Israel, therefore ye shall not bring this Church into the land w<sup>ch</sup> I have given them. This is the water of Meribah, because the sons of Israel contended with Jehovah: and he was sanctified in them.

And Moses sent messengers from Kadesh, unto the king of Edō: Thus saith thy brother Israel; Thou knowest all the travel that hath found us. And our fathers went down into Egypt, and we have dwelt in Egypt many days, and the Egyptians did evil to us, and to our fathers. And we cried out unto Jehovah, and he heard our voice, and sent an Angel, and hath brought us forth out of Egypt; and behold, we are in Kadesh, a city in the uttermost of thy border. Let us pass, I pray thee, thorough thy country; we will not pass thorough the fields, or thorough the vine-yards, neither will we drink of the water of the well: we will go by the kings way, we will not turn aside, to the right hand or to the left, until we have passed thy border. And Edom said unto him; Thou shalt not pass thorough me, lest I come out against thee with the sword. And the sons of Israel said unto him; We will go up by the high-way; and if we drink of thy water, I and my cattle, then I will give the price of it; only without doing anything else, I will pass thorough on my feet. And he said, Thou shalt not pass thorough: And Edom came out against him with much people, and with a strong hand. And Edom refused to give Israel, to pass thorough his border; and Israel turned aside from him.

And they journeyed frō Kadesh, & the sons of Israel, even the whole congregation, came unto mount Hor. And Jehovah said unto Moses and unto Aaron, in mount Hor, by the border of the land of Edom, saying; Aaron shall be gathered unto his people's, for he shall not enter into the land which I have given unto the sons of Israel, because ye rebelled against my mouth at the water of Meribah.

Take Aaron and Eleazar his son, and bring them up unto mount Hor. And strip Aaron of his garments, and put them upon Eleazar his son, and Aaron shall be gathered and shall die there. And Moses did as Jehovah commanded, and they went up into mount Hor, in the eyes of all the congregation. And Moses stripped Aaron of his garments, and put them upon Eleazar his son; and Aaron died there in the top of the mountain: and Moses and Eleazar came down from the mountain. And all the congregation saw, that Aaron had given up the ghost: and they wept for Aaron thirty days, even all the house of Israel.

Annotations.

The whole Congregation] to wit, of the next generation of the Israelites, when their fathers (according to the judgment threatened in Num. 14. 29. &c.) were for the most part now dead in the wilderness, as appeareth by Deut. 2. 14, 15. Zin] or Tsin: whereof see the notes on Num. 23. 21. Between Hazeroth, mentioned in Num. 12. 16. and this place in Zin, where now they camped, there were eighteen other stations or resting places, whither the Israelites had come, Num. 33. 18.—36. the first month] to wit, of the fortieth year, after they were come out of Egypt, as appeareth by Num. 33. 38. compared with the 28. verse of this chapter, and Deut. 2. 1.—7. So this was the last year of Israel's travel in the wilderness: and from the sending of the Spies, Num. 23. unto this time, was about 38 years, Deut. ⟨◇⟩ . 22. 23. and 2. 14. In all which space, we see how few things are recorded concerning Israel; and the things that are mentioned, are partly their murmurings & rebellions, by which they provoked God, & for which they were punished: partly the means of grace, reconciliation and sanctification, taught them of the Lord, to be obtained by Jesus Christ, figured by the sacrifices and ordinances which Moses shown them; that it might appear, that where sin abounded, grace did much more abound, Rom. 5. 20. abode in Kadesh] about four months they stayed here; thē removing to mount Hor, there Aaron died, the first day of the fifth month, Num. 33. 38. This Kadesh (which the Chaldee nameth Rekam,) was either another wilderness, or another place in the wilderness, than that from which the spies were sent, Num. 13. 26. called Kadesh barnea, Deu. 1. 19. Chazkuni here saith, This is not the Kadesh whereof it is said, and ye abode in Kadesh many days, (Deut. 1. 46.) for that Kadesh is El-Pharan (Gen. 14. 6.) and is called Kadesh-barnea, and from thence the spies were sent; but this Kadesh in Num. 20. is in the wilderness of Zin, in the border of the land of Edom. After the rebellion of the Spies, God sent the people back again thorough the wilderness towards the red Sea, Num. 14. 25. (where they might renew the memorial of their baptism, 1, Cor. 10. 2.) and from Ezion gaber (w<sup>ch</sup> is a port on the shore of the red sea. 1 Kin. 9. 26.) they removed next to this Kadesh, Num. 33. 36. So Iephtah saith, Israel walked thorough the wilderness unto the red sea, & came to Kadesh, Judge. 11. 16 Marie] Hebr. Mirjam; in Greek, Mariam: she was sister to Moses and Aaron, and a Prophetess, by whom God guided the Israelites in their travels, as it is written, I sent before thee, Moses, Aaron, and Marie, Mic. 6. 4. Of her, see Exod. 15. 20. Num. 1. 2. In this fortieth year of Israel's travel, God took from them by death, Marie their Prophetess, in the first month; Aaron their Priest, in the fifth month, Num. 33. 38. and Moses their King in the end of the year, Deut. 1. 3. and 34. 5. When these three ministers of the Law were deceased, Jesus the son of Nun (a figure of Jesus the Ionne of God,) bringeth them into the promised land, Ios. 1. 1. 2. &c. so after the abrogating of the Law, our Lord Jesus Christ bringeth us into the kingdom of God, Mar. 1. 15. Rom. 7. 4, 5. 6. Dan. 9. 24.

Vers. 2. there was no water] In the first year, when they were come out of Egypt to Rephidim in the wilderness, they wanted water, Exod. 17. 1. and in this last, the fortieth year, they wanted water again: here God tried the children, as he had done the Fathers, and they also rebelled against him. And many things were alike in both places. That Rephidim was the tenth encamping place or station from Egypt: this in Kades was the tenth encamping place before they entered Canaan, as by their rehearsal of their journeys in Num. 33. is to be seen. There the people in their thirst, instead of praying unto God, contended with Moses, and murmured for that he had brought them out of Egypt, Exod. 17. 2, 3. here they do the same, verse. 3 4. There Moses cried unto the Lord for the outrage of the people, Exod. 17. 4. here Moses and Aaron fall down before the Lord, v. 6. There God promised and gave them water out of the Rock, Exod. 17. 6. here he doth likewise, v. 8. There God willed Moses to take his rod: here also he commandeth him, Take the rod. There the Lord promised to stand before Moses, Exod. 17. 6. here his glory appeareth unto him and Aaron, v. 6. There Moses by commandment smiting the Rock with his rod, waters came out of it: here he smiting the Rock without commandment, waters came out. There the place was named Meribah or Contention, Exod. 17. 7. here the place is named Meribah, v. 13. That was the people's sixth rebellion, after they were come out of Egypt, as is noted on Num. 14. 22. this was their sixth rebellion after they were come from mount Sinai, (if we except the private murmuring of Mary and Aaron against Moses, Num. 12.) For the first was at Taberah, Num. 11. 1, 3. the next at Kibroth haitaavah, Num. 11. 24. then in the wilderness of Pharan, Num. 14. 1, 2. after that followed the rebellion of Korah and his company, Num. 16. and after it, of all the congregation, for the death of those rebels, Num. 16. 41. now the sixth is in Kadesh.

Vers. 3. contended] chode with bitter and reproachful words, which the Greek translath, reviled: see Exod. 17. 2. And oh] or, And would God. The word And, showeth the passion of mind, out of which they spake abruptly: see the notes on Gen. 27. 28. and Num. 11. 29. we had given up the ghost] in Chaldee, we had and in Greek, we had perished in the perdition of our brethren, before the Lord: whereby they seem specially to mean the pestilence (the last plague wherewith their brethren died, Num. 16. 49.) which pest, above other judgments, cometh most immediately from the hand of God, as David acknowledgeth, 2 Sam. 24. 14, 15. And this evil they wished, as being easier than to perish with hunger or thirst: as the Prophet also complaineth, They that be slain with the sword, are better than they that be slain with hunger: for these pine away, stricken thorough for the fruits of the field, Lam. 4. 9. Wherefore they here use the word giving up (or breathing out) the ghost; which seemeth to mean a more easy kind of death, than that which is by force of sword, or by hunger, or thirst, or other like violent means. So the Hebrews explain, giving up the ghost, to be a death without pain or long sickness.

Vers. 4. to die there] understand, that we should die there with thirst; the Greek translath, to bill us and our children, which words they spake in Exod. 17. 3.

Vers. 5. of seed] to sow seed in, or to plant fig-trees, vines, &c. for the wilderness was a land of deserts & of pits, a land of drought, and of the shadow of death, a land that no man passed thorough, and where no man dwelt, Jer. 2. 6. Otherwise, had there been commodiousnesse of place, the Israelites might have sown and reaped, planted and gathered fruits in those 38 years, which they abode therein, Deu. 2. 14.

Vers. 6. from the presence] or, from the face, for fear of them, and because of their outrage: so in Rev. 12. 14. Psal. 3. 1. fell on their faces] in prayer unto God, whose glory dwelled in that Sanctuary: so in Exod. 17. 4. Moses cr•ed unto the LORD. See Num. 16. 4. 45. appeared• in the cloud, as Num. 12. 5. a sign that he heard their prayer, and would save them: see Num. 14. 10. and 16. 19. 42.

Vers. 8. Take the rod] in Greek, Take thy rod: so God spake before, in Exod. 17. 5. but here, some gather from verse 9. that it was the rod of Aaron which had budded, and was laid up *before the Testimony, Num. 17. 10. Chazkuni saith, This was Aaron's rod, for loe it is here written (in verse 9.) And Moses took the rod from before the LORD, and this was the rod of Aaron, as it is written (in Num. 17. 10.) Bring Aaron's rod again• before the Testimony, to be kept for a sign against the sons of rebellion: and forasmuch as Aaron's rod was a sign against the sons of rebellion, hereupon Moses said (in verse 10.) Hear now ye rebels. Howbeit Moses rod (which is also called the rod of God, Exod. 4. 20. and 17. 9.) might be kept also in the Sanctuary: and after in verse 11. it is said, Moses smote the rock with his rod. speak ye unto the• Rock] He saith not, smite the rock: yet in verse 11. Moses smote the rock; and in verse. 10. he spake to the people; but it is not said that he spake* to the rock, as here he was commanded. Some others think, that God's intendment in bidding him. Take the rod, was to smite the Rock with it; and that he sinned not in smiting it, but in unbelief; for which he is blamed in verse. 12. it shall give forth his water] or, the waters of it: this promise of God, was that whereon the faith of Moses and Aaron should have rested. thou shalt bring forth] God was he that brought forth, and gave water to the people, as is often mentioned to his glory; He clave the Rocks in the wilderness, and gave drink, as out of the great deeps, and brought forth streams out of the Rock, &c. Psal. 78. 15, 16. So in Psal. 105. 41. and 114. 8. Deut. 8. 15. Nehem. 9. 15, 20. But that work is here ascribed to Moses ministerially, for that the waters should come out at his speaking. So in other works of grace, the Ministers of the Word are called Savior's, Obad. verse. 21▪ for in the faithful performance of their office, they both save themselves, and those that hear them, 1 Tim. 4 16.

Vers. 9. from before Jehovah] that is, out of the [unspec] Tabernacle; for so the phrase importeth, as in Num. 17. 7. Exod. 16. 33, 34.

Vers. 10. Hear now ye rebels] As here he speaketh to the people, who was bidden speak to the [unspec] Rock, verse. 8. so the manner of his speech showeth great passion of mind, more than at other times: and the Scripture noteth, that now the people had bitterly provoked his spirit, so that he spake unadvisedly (uttering his anger) with his lips, Psal. 106. 33. shall we bring forth water] a speech of doubting and unbelief, both in Moses and Aaron, as in verse. 12. God blameth them because they believed not in him. So before, when Moses said, Shall the flocks and the herds be slain for them, &c. he was blamed with this answer, Is the Lord's hand waxed short? Numb. 11. 22, 23. Moses was sore moved against this latter generation of Israelites, who had seen so many miracles, and their fathers perished for rebellion, and yet they were not bettered: he might fear, lest for their sinning like their fathers, the Lord would leave them, as he after speaketh in Numb. 32. 14, 15.

Vers. 11. lifted up his hand] another sign of indignation, being joined with smiting. twice] the doubling of his stroke shown also the heat of his anger. Sol. Rashi (on this place) conjectureth, that ⟨ϕ⟩ smote it twice, because at first it brought forth b•• drops, (of water) because God had not bidden him smite it, but speak unto it. much water] or, many waters. He clave the rocks in the wilderrasse, and gave drink, as out of the great deeps, Psal. 78. 15. The unbelief of man maketh not the faith of God without effect, Rom. 3. 3. Moses and Aaron believed not God, to sanctify him, verse. 12. yet he faithfully kept his promise, and sanctified himself, verse▪ 13. the Congregation drank] Thus the Lord know his people in the wilderness, in the land of droughts, Hos. 13. 5. And they thirsted not, when he led them thorough the deserts; he caused the waters to flow out of the rocks for them: he clave the rocks ⟨...⟩ so, and the waters gushed out, Isaiah. 48. 21. The ⟨ϕ⟩ ▪ out of the Rock, besides the refreshing which it gave unto their bodies, was also a spiritual ⟨ϕ⟩ from that spiritual Rock Christ, 1 Cor. 10. 4. who being smitten for our transgressions, Isaiah. 53. with the rod of the Law, which worketh wrath, Rom. 4. 15. from him proceedeth the living water, wherewith the Israel of God may quench their thirst forever, John 4. 10, 14. For who so believeth in him, out of his belly shall flow rivers of living water, even the waters of the holy Ghost, John. 7. 38, 39. To these waters, everyone that thirsteth is called to come freely, Isaiah. 55. 1. Rev. 22. 17. their cattle] that water, which was both a natural and spiritual refreshing to the people, is given also to the beasts for their natural thirst, because the signs and seals of God's grace are such in respect of the use of them, to those unto whom they are sanctified of God for that purpose. So the waters of Jordan were sanctified for Baptism, unto repentant and believing sinners, Matth. 3. 6. which out of that use were common waters. And now, not only the Israelites cattle, but the wild beasts also of the wilderness, had benefit by this mercy of God to his people: whereunto the Lord hath reference, when he saith by his Prophet, The beast of the field shall honor me, the dragons and the owls, because I give waters in the wilderness, rivers in the desert, to give drink to my people, my chosen, Isaiah. 43. 20.

Vers. 12. ye believed not in me] the Chaldee expoundeth it, ye believed not in my word. Thus unbelief was here the chief sin, and cause of other sins, as before in the people, Numb. 14. so here in Moses and Aaron, who were 〈ϕ〉 partners in the transgression. And this their sin is called a rebellion against the mouth of the Lord, Numb. 27. 14. and a transgression, Deut. 32. 51. which word, as R. Menachem here noteth, implieth salfhood, as in Lev. 6. 2. it is joined with false denial: and the Apostle saith, He that believeth not God, hath made him a liar, 1 John. 5. 10. to sanctify me] inwardly in the heart by faith, outwardly by obedience, to do that which I commanded; and by both to ascribe unto me the glory of my truth and power. So when it is said, Sanctify the Lord of hosts, Isaiah. 8. 13. the Apostle expoundeth it, Sanctify the Lord God in your hearts, 1 Pet. 3. 15. in the eyes] the Greek translatheth it, before the sons of Israel. This seemeth to be the reason of God's severity at this time against Moses and Aaron, more than before, when Moses bewrayed also his unbelief, in Num. 11. 21, 22, 23. because he now publicly dishonored God before all the people, (which did aggravate the sin,) whereas the former time he did it not in their eyes, but in private before the Lord. therefore] Chazkuni observeth, that this word implieth an oath. Neither indeed could Moses repentance or prayer get this sentence to be reversed: for when the Lord hath sworn, he will not repent, Psal. 110. 4. 〈ϕ〉 ye shall not bring] This chastisement was grievous unto Moses, so that he besought the Lord that he might go over, and see the good land; but the Lord was wroth with him for the people's sakes, and would not hear him, Deut. 3. 23,—26. And as God here spake, so it came to pass; for Aaron died in mount Hor, Numb. 20. 24, 28. and Moses on mount Nebo, after he had seen the land with his eyes, but might not go over thither, Deut. 34. The Psalmist saith, Thou wast unto them a God that forgiveth, and taking vengeance on their practices, Psal. 99. 8. Moses the Minister of the Law, though he guided Israel thorough the wilderness, to the borders of the promised land, yet could not bring the people thereinto; but Jesus (or Joshua) his successor, gave them the possession of it; to signify, that the Law (which worketh wrath, Rom. 4. 15.) and the works thereof (by which no flesh shall be justified, Gal. 2. 16.) cannot bring us into the kingdom of God, but Jesus Christ (who hath loved us, and given himself for us,) giveth us by faith the inheritance of the heavenly kingdom, Rom. 4. 24, 25. and 5. 1, 2, &c. Gal. 2. 16. and 3. 13, 14, &c.

Vers. 13. of Meribah] that is, of Contention, or Strife; which the Greek translatheth, of Contradiction; so called for a memorial of their sin, and for a warning to ages following, not to do the like; whereupon it is said by David, Harden not your heart, as in Meribah, Psalm. 95. 8.

The same name was given to the former place in Rephidim, Exod. 17. 7. To distinguish between them, the Scripture calleth this, Meribah of Kadesh, in the wilderness of Zin, Deut. 32. 51. contended with Jehovah] in that they contended with Moses, verse. 3. it is accounted as contention against the Lord himself, as he told them before, in Exod. 16. 8. The Greek translatheth, reviled before the Lord. he was sanctified▪ or, he sanctified himself in them. Though Moses and Aaron sanctified him not by faith and obedience, yet was he sanctified among the people, by the work of his grace, in giving waters for their thirst. Or, he was sanctified in them, that is, in Moses and Aaron, as Targum Jonathan explaineth it: for by punishing their rebellion, he sanctified him-self in them; as it is written, That the heathen may know me, when I shall be sanctified in thee. O Gog, before their eyes; where it is understood of punishment; as it followeth, And I will plead against him with postilence, and with blood, &c. thus will I magnify myself, and sanctify myself, and I will be known in the eyes of many nations, Ezek. 38. 16, 22, 23. See also the Annotations on Levite. 10. 3. And thus •ol. Rashi expoundeth it, in them, for Moses and Aaron died because of them; for when the holy blessed God doth judgment, &c. he sanctifieth him-self before his creatures; and so it is said, Fearefull art thou, ô God, out of thy Sanctuaries, Psalm. 68. 36.

Vers. 14. Edom] the Edomites, the posterity of Esais, who was surnamed Edom, Gen. 25. 30. and 36. 1. This message which Moses sent unto Edom, and all things about it following, were done by the direction and word of God, as appeareth by Deut: 2. 1, 2, 4, &c. <ð> thy brother Israel] so the whole nation is called, because Jacob, whose name was called Israel, Gen. 28. 10. was natural brother to Esau: and this title of brotherhood continued long after, as in O <ð> verse. 10, <ð> . Also the Law saith, Thou shalt not abhor an Edomite, for he is thy brother. Deut. 23. 7. <...> travel that hath found us] the wearisome molestation that hath befallen us. See the like phrase in Exod. 18. 8. Nehem. 9. 32.

Vers. 15. into Egypt] The history hereof is in Gen. 46. dwelt] Hebr. sitten, that is, continued; in Greek, sojourned. Many days] see Exod. 12. 40. Did evil] afflicted with rigorous bondage, and other cruelty: See Exod. 1, &c.

Vers. 16. We cried out] as is recorded in Exod. 2. 23. an Angel] This was Christ: See Exod. 3. 2. and 14. 19. and 23. 20. with the Annotations. Some of the Hebrews understand it of Moses, because the Prophets are called Angels or Messengers, as in Judge. 2. 1. 2 Chron. 36. 15, 16. Hag. 1. 13. in Kadesh a city] or, by Kadesh, to wit, in the wilderness lying near, and having the name of Kadesh the city, Numb. 33. 36. The Chaldee here and usually nameth it Rekam.

Vers. 17. thorough thy country] because it was the nearest way: therefore when Edom refused to let them go thorough, they turned and passed by the way of the wilderness of Moab, Deut. 2. 8. Judge. 11. 17, 18. the vineyards] to rob, or make spoil of any man's goods. water of the well] that is, of the wells, or, of any well: the Greek translatheth, of thy well: Meaning either that they would not drink without paying for it, as in verse. 19. or, that they would drink of the rivers which were common, not of wells which were private, and digged of men for their own use. the kings way] that is, the high-way, which is common for all to pass by, verse. 19. So again in Numb. 21. 22.

Vers. 18. Not pass thorough me] that is, thorough my country, verse. 17. as the Chaldee explaineth it, thorough my border. See the like phrase in Deut. 2. 30. Rom. 15. 28. left I come] it is a threatening which the Greek explaineth, otherwise I will come: See the Annotations on Gen. 3. 3. with the sword] the Chaldee expoundeth it, with them that kill with the sword; the Greek, in war. It had been the duty of Edom, to have met their brother Israel with bread and with water in the way, as God speaketh of the Moabites, Deut. 23. 4. but by this unkindness the Lord would have his people to see, how all worldly friends and kindred after the flesh will fail them, yea and oppose them, that their hope and strength may be in him alone, Mat. 10. 21, 22.

Vers. 19. the high way] or causey; that which before was called the Kings way, verse. 17. the Greek here translatheth it, the mountain. the price] Hebr. the sale; which both Greek and Chaldee translate, the price. This was so commanded of God, Ye shall buy meat of them for money, that 〈ϕ〉 may eat: and ye shall also buy water of them for money, that ye may drink. For Jehovah thy God hath blessed thee in all the work of thine hand, Deut. 2. 6, 7. without doing anything else Hebr. without a word, that is, without anything; which the Chaldee explaineth, any evil thing (or ward.)

Vers. 20. with much people] Hebr. with an heavy people; which the Chaldee expoundeth, a great army. The Scripture confirmeth this; as that which in 1 King. 3. 9. is written an heavy (or 〈ϕ〉 , people, is in 2 Chro. 1. 10. expounded a great 〈ϕ〉. This coming out was to resist Israel by force an• strong hand, for Edom was afraid of them, Deut. 2. 4. and trusted not their words.

Vers. 21. to give] that is, to suffer, or to give Israel leave to pass, as the Chaldee expoundeth it. Nor withstanding, as they went along their coast, the Edomites suffered them to buy victuals of them, as appeareth by Deut. 2. 28, 29. 〈ϕ〉 aside] and went along thorough the wilderness, and compassed the land of Edom, Judge. 11. 18. For the Lord had charged them that they should not meddle with the sons of Esau, or their possession, Deut. 2. 4, 5. So Targum Jonathan here paraphraseth, they were commanded by the word of (the God of) heaven, that they should not wage war with them, because the time was not yet come, when he would execute 〈ϕ〉 on Edom by their hands. Thus Israel suffered patiently the unkindness of Edom, and obeyed the Lord herein, though the way which they after went thorough the wilderness, was very grievous unto them, and their souls were much discouraged because of the same, Numb. 21. 4, 5.

Vers. 22. mount Hor] a mount in the edge of the land of E•ora, and the next resting place which they came unto from Kadesh, Num. 33. 37. The name it self signifieth a mount, for Har in Hebrew is a mountain; and Sol. Rashi here explaineth it, a •ountaine upon a mountain: 〈ϕ〉 argum Jonathan nameth it mount Omanos.

Vers. 24. gathered unto his people] that is, die, and be buried, and his soul be among the spirits of just men made perfect, as Hebr. 12. 23. Gathering signifieth here taking away by death, as in verse. 26. and in Isaiah. 57. 1. merciful men are gathered, that is, taken away: and that which is gathered, is the spirit of man, as in Psal. 104. 20. thou gatherest their spirit, they give up the ghost, and return unto their dust. The people's mean the Fathers deceased, as is spoken of David in Act. 13. 36. and in Judge. 2. 10. all that generation were gathered unto their fathers. So his people's here, are Aaron's godly forefathers: as David desireth the contrary, Gather not my soul with sinners, Psal. 26. 9. See the Annotations on Gen. 25. 8. rebelled against my mouth] that is against my word, as the Chaldee expoundeth it: the Greek saith, ye provoked me. See before on verse. 12.

Vers. 26. strip Aaron] or, disaray Aaron of his garments, meaning of his Priestly robes, the garments of holiness, which Moses had made him for  $\langle \diamond \rangle$ , and for beautiful glory, Exod. 28. 2. and which at his consecration to the Priesthood Moses had put upon him, Levite. 8. 7, 8, 9. So Targum Io  $\langle \dots \rangle$  expoundeth it, strip Aaron of the honorable garments of the Priesthood. The taking off of these garments, and putting them upon Eleazar, signified the taking away of his office and dignity, and giving the same to another: as by a like similitude God said unto Shebna the treasurer, I will drive thee  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  thy station, and from thy state shall he pull thee down. And it shall be in that day, that I will call my servant Eliakim, the son of Hilkiah, and I will clothe him with thy robe, and strengthen him with thy girdle, and I will commit thy government to his hand, and he shall be a father to the inhabitants of  $\langle \diamond \rangle$ , &c. Isaiah 22. 15, 19, 20, 21. As by Aaron's offering for his own sins first, and then for the sins of the people, Levite. 16. 6. 11. 15. the holy Ghost shown the inability of the legal Priesthood (in comparison with Christ's) to reconcile men unto God, Hebr. 7. 26, 27, 28. so by this disaraying and death of Aaron, he signified the disanulling of that Priesthood, for the weakness and unprofitableness thereof, Hebr. 7. 11,—18. When therefore the same hands of Moses, which had put on the garments, did pull them off, & now at this time for the sin which the high Priest had committed, verse. 12. Deut. 32. 50, 51. they and all the people were taught to expect a better Priesthood of the Son of God, who is perfected for evermore, Hebr. 7. 28. Eleazar his son] This was a comfort to all, especially to Aaron the father, that the Priestly function ended not with the death of the Priest, but was derived to his posterity, and so continued thorough all ages, till Christ came, who is a Priest forever; after the order of Melchizedek, the true Eliazar, that is, the Help of God; who is made, not after the law of a carnal commandment, but after the power of an endless life, Heb. 7. 11. 16. Wherefore to signify the continuance of his grace and love to the Church, God promised that the Priests the Levites should not want a man before him, to offer Burnt-offerings, and to kindle Meat-offerings, and to do sacrifice continually, Jer. 33. 18. So Aaron did behold in the clothing of his son, a type of his own, and of all Israel's salvation, that his death might not be bitter unto him, but he might depart in peace, because his eyes did see (though as a far off) the salvation of God, as Luke 2. 29, 30. shall be gathered] unto his people's, verse. 24. and shall die] He that before in the work of his Priesthood, made atonement for the people, and stood between the dead and the living, and the plague was stayed, Numb. 16. 47, 48. now dieth himself, for his own sin: an evident demonstration of the insufficiency of the Levitical Priesthood. Whereupon the Apostle teacheth, that they were many Priests, because they were not suffered to continue by reason of death. But Christ, because he continueth ever, hath a priesthood which passeth not from one to another: wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost, that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them, Hebr. 7. 23, 24, 25.

Vers. 28. Moses stripped Aaron] The actions of Moses signified the effects of his ministry and Law, 2 Cor. 3. 13. Whereas therefore he unvested Aaron, by reason of sin and death which was to ensue, it shown that no Priest who was a sinner, and under the power of death, could satisfy the justice of the Law, and avoid the wrath of God: so the Legal Priesthood now might say, He hath stripped me of my glory, and taken the crown from my head, Job. 19. 9. Again, in putting the priestly garments upon Eleazar, (who was before this, the Prince of the Princes of the Levites, Numb. 3. 32.) he signified, that the Law had a shadow of good things to come, Heb. 10. 1, and therefore the blessings figured thereby, should not be frustrate, but continued under hope by succession, till he should come unto whom the right of the high Priesthood belonged, even the Branch that should build the Temple of the Lord, and should bear the glory, and sit and rule upon his throne, and should be a Priest upon his throne, and the counsel of peace be between them both, Zac. 6. 12, 13. Jer. 33. 18. Thus the Law was a Schoolmaster unto Christ, Gal. 3. 24. It may also be observed, how among the Gentiles, their prophets and prophetesses, who did wear some ornaments and ensigns of their dignity, used solemnly to put them off before their death, as resigning them up unto God, and judging it an unmeet thing to die in them, as appeareth by the example of Cassandra, in the Greek Poet Aeschylus, and of Amphi (the Prophet, in Statius Papinius, Thebaid. 7. top of the mountain) Things that were very memorable and significative, are often noted in Scripture to be done in mountains, as being conspicuous, remarkable, and implying high and heavenly mysteries. So the Ark of Noah rested on mount Ararat, Gen. 8. 4. Abraham sacrificed his son on mount Morijah, Gen. 22. 2. &c. as the Son of God was sacrificed on Calvary, Luke 23. 33. The Law of Moses was given upon mount Sinai, Exod. 19. the Law of Christ came from mount Zion, Mic. 4. 1, 2. and on a mountain he preached the Gospel, and expounded the Law, Matth. 5. 1, &c. Ezekiel in a vision was shown the city called The Lord is there, upon a very high mountain, Ezek. 42. &c. and 48. 35. John was also shown the same city upon a great and high mountain, Rev. 21. 10. &c. Moses himself on the mountain of Nebo, viewed all the promised land, and died there, Deut. 34. 1.—5. and was with Christ when he was transfigured, and spake of his death, upon an high mountain, Mat. 17. 1, 2, 3. Luke 9. 30, 31. and now he was with Aaron at his death, and translation of the Priesthood from him unto Eleazar, where he also beheld the end of the Levitical Priesthood a far off, and so the translation of it, and of the law thereof, unto Christ, whose day he desired, Hebr. 7. 11, 12.

Vers. 29. saw that Aaron had given up the ghost] seeing is here for perceiving by knowledge and understanding, as by the relation of Moses and Eleazar, as also that Aaron came not down with them. So Jacob saw that there was corn in Egypt, when he heard thereof, Gen. 42. 1. Act. 7. 12. The people saw the voices, Exod. 20. 18. and sundry the like. Here also they might see the hand of God, chastifying their sin upon Aaron, who died now not only for his own transgression, but for their sakes, as Moses after speaketh of himself, The Lord was wroth with me for your sakes, Deut. 3. 26. yet in beholding his Priesthood continued in his son, they might also behold God's mercy towards them in Christ, who should perfectly reconcile them unto God, when the Priesthood of the Law, which now began to die away, should utterly be abolished. they wept] that is, they mourned. For public persons, the whole congregation mourned, as here for Aaron, so for the death of his sons, Levite. 10. 6. and for the death of Moses, Deut. 34. 8. thirty days] See the Annotations on Gen. 50. 10. Mourning for the dead is honorable, and here the people mourn for Aaron thirty days, whom they had dishonored by rebelling against him forty years. So long also they wept for Moses, Deut. 34. 8. and it is the lot of many of the servants of God, to have more honor after their death, than in their life. As Mary the sister, the prophetesse of Israel, died in the first month, verse. 1. so Aaron the high Priest died in the first day of the fifth month, in the fortieth year after their coming out of Egypt, when he was 123. years old, Numb. 33. 38, 39. His burial also (though here omitted) is spoken of in Deut. 10. 6.

CHAP. XXI.

1 The Canaanites fight with Israel, and captive some of them; but Israel by a vow, obtain help of God, and destroy them and their cities. 4 The people murmuring because of their wants in the way, are plagued with fiery serpents. 7 They repenting, are healed by a brazen serpent. 10 Sundry journeys of the Israelites. 16 Their song at Beer, for water which God gave them. 21 They requesting passage thorough the Amorites country, are denied it. 24 Israel vanquisheth them, and Sihon their King, and possesseth their cities. 27 Proverbs or Prophecies of Sihons overthrow. 33 Og King of Basan fighteth against Israel, and is also vanquished, and Israel possesseth his land.

AND the Canaanite the King of Arad, which dwelt in the South, heard that Israel came, the way of the spies: and he fought against Israel, and took captive of them, a captivity. And Israel vowed a vow unto Jehovah, and said: If giving thou wilt give this people into my hand, then I will utterly destroy their cities. And Jehovah hearkened to the voice of Israel, and gave up the Canaanite, and they utterly destroyed them and their cities: and he called the name of the place Hormah.

And they journeyed from mount Hor, by the way of the red sea, to compass the land of Edom; and the soul of the people was shortened, because of the way. And the people spake against God, and against Moses; Wherefore have ye brought us up out of Egypt, to die in the wilderness? for there is no bread, neither is there water, and our soul loatheth this light bread. And Jehovah sent among the people fiery serpēts, & they bit the people, & much people of Israel died. And the people came unto Moses, and said; We have sinned: for we have spoken against Jehovah, & against thee; Pray unto Jehovah, that he take away the serpents from us; & Moses prayed for the people. And Jehovah said unto Moses, Make thee a fiery serpent, and put it upon a pole; and it shall be, that everyone that is bitten, when he looketh upon it, shall live.

And Moses made a serpent of brass, and put it upon a pole; and it was, that if a serpent had bitten a man, when he beheld the serpent of brass, he lived.

And the sons of Israel journeyed, and encamped in Oboth. And they journeyed from Oboth, and encamped in Ije Abarim, in the wilderness which is before Moab, toward the Sun-rising. From thence they journeyed, and camped in the valley of Zared. From thence they journeyed, and camped on the other side of Arnō, which is in the wilderness, which cometh out of the border of the Amorite; for Arnon is the border of Moab, between Moab and the Amorite.

Wherefore it is said in the book of the [unspec] wars of Jehovah, Vaheb in a whirlwind, and the brooks of Arnon. And the stream of the brooks, which declineth to the situation of Ar, and leaneth upon the border of Moab. And from thence to Beer, that is, the Well whereof Jehovah said unto Moses, Gather together the people, and I will give them water.

Then sang Israel this song: Spring up O Well, answer ye unto it. The Well, the Princes digged it, the Nobles of the people delved it, with the Law-giver, with their staves. And from the wilderness, (they journeyed) to Mattanah. And from Mattanah to Nahaliel, and from Nahaliel to Bamoth. And from Bamoth to the valley which is in the field of Moab, the head of Pisgah, and it looketh toward Ieshimon.

And Israel sent messengers unto Sihon King of the Amorites, saying: Let me pass thorough thy land; we will not turn aside into field, or into vineyard; we will not drink of the waters of the well; we will go in the kings way until we be past thy border. And Sihon would not grant Israel to pass thorough his border: but Sihon gathered together all his people, and went out against Israel into the wilderness; and he came to Iahaz, and fought against Israel. And Israel smote him with the edge of the sword, and possessed his land, from Arnon unto Iabbok, even unto the sons of Ammon; for the border of the sons of Ammon was strong. And Israel took [unspec] all these cities, and Israel dwelt in all the cities of the Amorite, in Heshbon, and in all the daughters thereof. For Heshbon was the city of Sihon, the King of the Amorites: and he had fought against the former king of Moab, and taken all his land out of his hand, even unto Arnon. Wherefore they that speak in proverbs, say, Come into H 〈...〉 bon, let the city of Sihon be built and prepared.

For a fire is gone out from Heshbon, a flame from the city of Sihon; it hath consumed Ar of Moab, the Lord's of the high places of Arnon. Woe to thee, Moab, thou art perished, ô people of Chemosh: he hath given his sons that escaped, and his daughters into captivity, unto Sihon, the king of the Amorites. And their lamp is perished from Heshbon, even unto Dibon; and we have laid them waste even unto Nophah, which reacheth unto Medeba. And Israel dwelt in the land of the Amorite. And Moses sent to spy out Iazer, and they took the daughters thereof, and drove out the Amorite that was there. And they turned, and went up the way of Bashan; and Og the king of Bashan went out against them, he and all his people, to the battle at Edrei. And Jehovah said unto Moses, Fear him not, for into thy hand have I given him, and all his people, and his land; and thou shalt do unto him as thou diddest unto Sihon king of the Amorites, which dwelt in Heshbon. And they smote him, and his sons, and all his people, until there was none left him remaining; and they possessed his land.

Annotations.

[King of Arad] Arad seemeth to be the name [unspec] of the city where the King reigned, as in Ios. 12. 14. and so the Chaldee here explaineth it. in the South] the South part in the land of Canaan, Numb. 33. 40. the way of the spies] or the way of Atharim, as the Greek version retaineth the Hebrew name, as proper; and it might be a way so called, and well known in that time. But the Chaldee translatheth it, the way of the spies; meaning that they came towards Canaan, after they had been turned back towards the red sea, Num. 14. 25. and had been at Eziongaber, Num. 33. 35. they returned towards Canaan again, along by Edoms coast, to come unto the land which the spies had searched, Num. 13. a captivity] that is, some captives, or prisoners. So captivity is used for captives, or people taken in war, in Num. 31. 12. Judge. 5. 12. 2 Chron. 28. 5. and often: as poverty, for a company of poor people, 2 King. 24. 14. and spoil, for spoiled people, Amos 5. 9. thanksgivings, for a company of thanksgivers, Neh. 12. 31. and many the like. The Canaanites having heard of the overthrow which was given Israel, •8. years before, Numb. 14. 45. and of the hand of God against them so long in the wilderness, were hardened and emboldened to encounter them now when they heard again of their coming; and Satan endeavored hereby to discourage Israel, that as their fathers through unbelief being afraid, entered not into the promised land, Deut. 1. 27, 32, 35. so the children also might be deprived. And God for a chastisement of their sins, and for the trial of their faith, suffereth the enemy at first to prevail, that his people might know that they should not conquer the land by their own strength, or for their own worthiness, Psal. 44. 3, 4. Deut. 9. 4.

Vers. 2. vowed a vow] calling upon God for help, and religiously promising to devote unto him their enemies and all their substance. See the Annotations on Gen. 28. 20. If giving thou wilt give] that is, if thou wilt indeed give; and it implieth a prayer, which often is uttered after this manner: as, Iabez called on the God of Israel. saying, If blessing thou wilt bless me, &c. 1 Chron. 4. 10. utterly destroy] or, devote; in Greek, anathematize: things devoted after this manner, the persons were to die, their goods confiscate to the Lord, Levite. 27. 28, 29. So when Jericho was devoted, the people and beasts were killed, the city burnt, the goods carried into the Lord's treasury, Ios. 6. 17, 19, 21, 24.

Vers. 3. hearkened to the voice] that is, as the Chaldee explaineth it, received the prayer of Israel. gave up the Canaanite] to wit, into their hand, as the Greek here repeateth from verse. 2. they utterly destroyed] Hebr. he utterly destroyed, or devoted, speaking of Israel, as of one body. But how could they being so far off in the wilderness, destroy their cities, lying within Canaan, Numb. 33. 40. into which they came not, till after Moses death? It seemeth the accomplishment of this vow was performed long after, when they were come into the land. For the King of Arad is reckoned for one of those that Joshua conquered, Ios. 12. 14. See also Judge. 1. 16, 17. They now conquered the Canaanites army that came out against them, and devoted the spoils which they took; and when their cities came into their possession, they utterly destroyed and devoted them, and so paid their vow, which now they promised. he called] or, they called, meaning Israel; unless it be applied in special to Moses. The Greek translatheth, they called. Hormah] or Chormah; in Greek, Anathema, that is, Devotement, or utter destruction. By this name they both set up a memorial of God's mercy, who gave their enemies into their hand; and of their duty, to keep the vow which they had promised.

Vers. 4. to compass the land] because Edom had denied them passage thorough it, Numb. 20. 18, 21. by reason whereof their travel was increased. soul of the people was shortened] or, was straitened, that is, was grieved, or discouraged. This word, when it is applied to the hand, signifieth inability, as in Numb. 11. 23. Isaiah 37. 27. 2 King. 19. 26. unto the soul (as in this place) it meaneth grief, vexation, or discomfort; so in Judge. 16. 16. Samsons soul was shortened (that is, vexed) unto death; and in Judge. 10. 16. the Lord's soul was shortened, (that is, grieved) for the misery of Israel: and sometime it is with a kind of loathing, as in Zach. 11. 8. my soul was shortened for them, that is, loathed them. A like phrase is of the shortness of the spirit, which also signifieth anguish, trouble, and vexation, as in Exod. 6. 6. Job 21. 4. and want of power, as in Asic. 2. 7. The Greek here translateth, the people was feeble minded, or of small soul, or courage. because of the way] or, in the way: but In often noteth the cause of a thing; as, the Lord's soul was grieved in (that is, for, or because of) the misery of Israel, Judge. 10. 16. or according to the like phrase in Zach. 11. 8. their soul loathed the way, both for the longsomnesse of it, and for the many wants and troubles that they found therein, as in verse. 5. So the Greek interpreteth it, for the way: and Rashi in like manner, saying, Because it was hard unto them, they said, we were now near to enter into the land, and we turn backward: so our fathers turned, and lingered 39. years, unto this day; therefore their soul was shortened for the afflictions of the way. This way into the land of promise, figured the way into the kingdom of God, thorough the wilderness of this world, (the wilderness of people's, as in Ezek. 20. 35.) into which kingdom we cannot enter, but through much tribulation, Act. 14. 22. because the gate is strait, and the way is narrow that leadeth unto life, Matth. 7. 14. and we are to go thorough fire and thorough water, Psalm. 66. 12. The discouragement of this people, showeth human frailty and infirmity, through want of faith and patience: for as they erred in heart, and knew not the Lord's ways, Psal. 95. 10. so many, when tribulation or persecution ariseth because of the Word, by and by they are offended, Matth. 13. 21.

Vers. 5. spake against God] The Chaldee expoundeth it, murmured before the Lord, and contended with Moses, and so in verse. 7. This was their wonted carriage, in their temptations: see Exod. 14. 11. and 15. 24. and 16. 2, 3. and 17. 2, 3. Num. 11. 1, 4, 5. & 16. 13, 14. and 20. 3, 4, 5. By God here is meant Christ, the Angel of God's face or presence, in whom his name was, Exod. 23. 20, 21. Isaiah 63. 9. as the Apostle openeth this place, saying, Neither let us tempt Christ, as some of them also tempted, and were destroyed of serpents, 1 Cor. 10. 9. this light bread] meaning Manna; as the Chaldee explaineth it, this Manna the light meat: in Greek, this vain (or empty) bread. So they call it, either because it was light of digestion, that they felt it not in their hot stomachs; or in contempt, counting it base and vile, in comparison with other meats: See Numb. 11. 5, 6, 8. This Manna being rained upon them from heaven, Psal. 78. 23, 24. was both corporal and spiritual food unto them, a figure of the hidden Manna, which Christ seedeth his people with, unto life eternal, Rev. 2. 17. John. 6. 48, 49, 50, 51. So the contempt thereof, was the contempt of Christ and his grace: and into this sin do all they fall, that loath and leave Christ and has Gospel, for the momentary pleasures of this life; the enemies of the cross of Christ, whose end is destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame, who mind earthly things, Philip. 3. 18, 19.

Vers. 6. fiery serpents] or, burning serpents, as the Chaldee translateth: the Greek in this place calleth them deadly (or killing) serpents. In the Hebrew they are named Seraphim, that is, Burners, because when they bite a man, he burneth with extreme heat and thirst: it may be also in respect of their color, for some serpents are of a fiery color: Nicander in Theriacis. Of the Hebrew Saraph, the Greeks by changing the order of letters, have borrowed the name Prester, which is a kind of venomous serpent, called also Dipsas, and Causon; of which it is reported, that who so is stung therewith, he hath such a vehement thirst, that he cannot be satisfied, but is tormented with it continually, and though he drink never so largely, yet is he presently as thirsty as before. And again, that the bitings of these serpents were left of the most ancient (Physicians) as altogether incurable, Dioscorid. lib. 6. cap. 38. & 40. They are said to be like unto Vipers, but their biting more hurtful; for the heart of a man is inflamed with their biting, and his lips are parched and dry with thirst, as Nicander writeth of them. Sol. Rashi saith, they are called Seraphim (burners) because they burned men with the venom of their teeth. The Prophet Isaiah mentioneth the flying fiery serpent, in Isaiah 14. 29. and 30. 6. whereby it seemeth to be a kind of serpent with wings. With these and other serpents, the wilderness thorough which they went, did abound, as Moses showeth in Deut. 8. 15. but God, who guided them thorough it, kept them from hurting his people, till now for their sin, he gave them power to bite and kill them: as he saith elsewhere, I will command the serpent, and he shall bite them, Amos 9. 3. Here also there was a remembrance of the first sin that came into mankind by the serpent, and the death that followed thereupon, Gen. 3. for as the venom of serpents killeth the body; so the venom of Satan, which is sin, killeth both body and soul: and as the Serpent biting any one part, the venom and contagion spreadeth over all the body, and killeth the whole man: so the poison of sin, which entered by one man, hath infected and killed all the lump of mankind, Rom. 5. 15.—18. died] The judgments of God are both inevitable, and incurable of man, Jer. 8. 17. Amas 5. 19, 20. and 9. 1, 2, 3. Deut. 28. 27. And as no salve or medicine could heal the bodies of those that were bitten: so can no work of man cure the biting of that old Serpent or sting of sin, but the venom thereof rageth and reigneth, tormenting the conscience unto death, Rom. 5. 12, 14, 21. and 3. 20.

Vers. 7. We have sinned] The afflictions which God layeth upon his people, are a mean (through his grace) to bring them to the sight and acknowledgement of their sins, and seeking unto him, as it is said, When he slew them, then they sought him: and they returned, and inquired early after God, Psal. 78. 34. Yea the wicked are often forced hereby, to confess and seek help of God, as did Pharaoh. Exod. 9. 27, 28. that he take away] or, and let him take away the serpents; in Hebr. the serpent, put for the multitude of them; as in Exod. 8. 6. the frog, is for frogs; and in Exod. 8. 17. the louse, for lice, and many the like. They desire the removing of the punishment, after repentance and confession of sin; without which, plagues are not only continued, but increased, Levite. 26. 21, 23, 24, 28. Howbeit God did not presently take away the serpents, but gave a remedy for such as were bitten, verse. 8. 9. Moses prayed] As at other times, so still he showeth himself an example of meeknesse, unmindfulnesse of injuries, and readiness to forgive the wrongs done unto him. Thus Samuel also did in like case, and said, Far be it that I should sin against the Lord, in ceasing to pray for you; but I will teach you the good & the right way, 1 Sam. 12. 19, 23.

Vers. 8. Make thee a fiery serpent] or, a burning serpent, Hebr. Saraph, which the Greek translatheth a serpent: hereby is meant, a serpent of brass, verse. 9. a similitude of one of those fiery serpents, a figure of Christ, as himself hath opened it, saying, As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of Man be lifted up, John. 3. 14. For as this had the similitude of a serpent, but had no venom; so Christ had the similitude of a sinful man, yet without sin, Heb. 4. 15. upon a pole] or, for a sign; the original Nes signifieth an ensign or banner lifted up on high, and is here by the Grecke and Chaldee translated a sign, meaning a pole or pertch, which is usually set up for a sign or signification of something. And hereupon our Savior useth the word of lifting up, or setting on high, in Joh. 3. 14. meaning of his cross, upon which he was lifted up at his death, or of the the preaching of him crucified: as elsewhere he likewise saith, When ye have lifted up the Son of Man, John. 8. 28. and again when he signified What death he should die, he said, And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me, John. 12. 32. So the setting of this Serpent on a pole or sign, was a figure unto them of Christ to be crucified, and preached unto the world for salvation. when he looketh upon it, shall live] or, then he shall see (or look upon) it, and he shall live; so implying both a commandment and a promise. And this was the reason of the putting it upon a pole, that the people which were far off, might presently see it, every man from his place. As the Serpent lifted up, was a figure of Christ; so the looking upon it signified faith in Christ; as it is written, At that day shall a man look to his Maker, and his eyes shall have respect to the holy one of Israel, Isaiah 17. 7. And thus our Lord himself expoundeth it, As Moses lifted up the Serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of Man be lifted up; that whosoever BELIEVETH in him should not perish, but have eternal life, John 3. 14, 15. Likewise among the Hebrews Targum Jonathan explaineth it thus, He shall look upon it and live, if his heart be attent unto the name of the Word of the Lord. And Sol. Rashi saith, when they submitted their heart unto their Father which is in heaven, they were healed, otherwise they perished. shall live] that is, shall be healed, and have his life and health continued; as in Isaiah 38. 21. he shall live, that is, shall recover, or be cured. And by this recovery and continuance of natural life, was figured life eternal to all that believed in Christ▪ John 8. 15. who is the root of Jesse, standing up for an ensign of the people, whereunto then at ⟨ϕ⟩ should seek, Isaiah 11. 10. And the work of ⟨ϕ⟩ was hereby lively signified. As they that were bitten with these serpents, if they looked upon their sores, and not to the sign ⟨...⟩ cted of God, they died: so they that are bitten with sin, if they six their eyes there•, though with repe•ance, and look not unto Christ, do despair and die, Matth. 27. 3. ⟨ϕ⟩ . As they, if they sought to Surgeons or Physicians, or used salves or medicines of their own or others; perished: so whosoever seeketh to any but Christ, or endeavoreth by his own works or sufferings to have life with God, [unspec] dieth in his sins, John. 8. 24. Gal. 5. 4. As the brazen serpent was an unlikely thing in human reason, to heal such deadly wounds: so Christ crucified, is unto the Jewer a stumbling-block, and unto the Greeks▪ foolishness; but unto them which are called both I wes and Greeks, Christ is the power of God, and the wisdom of God, 1 Cor. 1. 23, 24.

Vers. 9. a serpent of Brasse] which metal, besides that is of a fiery color, Ezek. 1. 7. Rev. 1. 15. and so might resemble the color of the serpent• ⟨ϕ⟩ is also strong and durable, and in that respect might figure out the strength of Christ, who was enabled by the power of the God-head to endure a•d overcome all ⟨...⟩ is tribulations, otherwise than any man could: whereupon Job faith in his sorrows, Is my strength the strength of stones? or is my flesh of brass? John. 6. •2. But unto the Prophet Christ shown himself à man, whose appearance was like the appearance of brass, Ezek. 40. 3. ⟨...⟩ , for a sign•, as in verse. 8. This was the work of Mose•; whereupon it is said, As Moses lifted ⟨ϕ⟩ the Serpent•g the wilderness, John 3. 14. and it signified how Moses Law was our Schoolmaster unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith, Gal. 3. 24. by his writings, Christ is lifted up as an ensign unto all people's for he wrote of Christ,

For the wages of sin is death but the gift of God is eternal life, through Jesus Christ our Lod, Rom. 6. 23.*

Vers. 10. Oboth] Of these places and journeys, see Numb. 33. where they are reckoned in order; for here some are named, and other•some omitted.

Vers. 11. before Moab] before the Moabites country. The posterity of Moab and Ammon the sons of Lot, Gen. 19. 36.—38. had vanquished the Giants (called Emims and Zamzummims) which before dwelt in those parts, and succeeded them, and dwelt in their stead, Deut. 2. 10, 11, 20, 〈◇〉 . Through the wilderness, along by their coasts did Israel palse, but were forbidden to war with them, or with the Edomites, Deut. 2. 9. 19▪ 5.

Vers. 12. The valley of Zared] or, the bourne of Zared, or Zered: which word bourne (as also the Hebrew Nachal) is both a valley. and a river running thorough a valley: and so this Zared was a river or brook also, over which Israel passed: See Deut. 2. 13.

Vers. 14. it is said] Hebr. it shall be said. The time to come, noteth a continued or common saying; so he speaketh as of a known speech. the book] or, the narration, (the rehearsal) of the wars of Jehovah: what book this was is uncertain; whether some writing of Israel, not now extant; or, some writing of the Amorites, which contained songs and triumphes of their King Sihons victories, out of which Moses may cite this testimony, as Paul sometime doth out of heathen Poets, Act. 17. 28. Tit. 1. 12. Vaheb] this is thought by some to be the name of the King of Moab, whom Sihon vanquished, verse. 26. by others, to be the name of a place or city. The Greek Interpreters mistaking Z. for †V. (which in Hebrew are one like another) read it Zoob, and give this sense, Therefore it is said in the book, The war of the Lord hath set on fire (or burned) Zoob, and the brooks of Arnon. The Chaldee Paraphrast (whom others also follow) taketh it for no proper name, but expoundeth it thus: *The wars that the Lord did at the red Sea, and the mighty works at the brooks of Arnon. in a whirl-wind] o•, <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> tempest; understand, the Lord (by the <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> of Sihon against Moab) hath consumed <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> i• a whirl-wind, or with a tempest. So wars <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> often set forth by the similitudes of fire, tempest, <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> winds, and the like; as, *I will kindle a fire <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> th• wall of Rabah, and it shall devour the pa <math>\langle\dots\rangle</math> thereof with shouting in the day of battle, with <math>\langle\dots\rangle</math> pest in the day of the whirl-wind, A•• <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> 14• and, Thou shalt be visited of the Lord of h•sts with thunder, &c. with whirl-wind and te•pest, and the flame of devouring fire, Isaiah 29. 6. and again, The Lord will come with fire, and with his chariots like a whirl-wind, Isaiah 66. 15. So in Na•um 1. 3. Isaiah 5. 28. Ierem. 4. 13. And thus the Greek explaineth it, The war of the Lord hath set Zoob on fire. Some take the Hebrew Suphah (which usually signifieth whirl-wind or storm) to be here the name of a place, the same that is called Suph in Deut. 1. 1. which also is the name of the redsea, as is noted on Exod. 10. 19. so the Chaldee interpreteth it, the red sea. and the brooks] or, the bournes of Arnon, to wit, the Lord hath consumed; or (as in verse. 28.) the flame hath consumed the bournes of Arnon. It may also be expounded, The Lord warred with Vaheb in a whirl-wind, and with the brooks of Arnon. Moses intendeth by this testimony to show how the Israelites had right to this country: for it being sometimes Moabs land, with whom Israel might not meddle, Deut. 2. 9. the Lord had before Israel's coming, ••rred up the spirit of Sihon King of the Amorites, to sight against the King of Moab, and to take this p•rt of his country from him, as is after mentioned, Num. 21. 28, 29. Then Israel coming, and being commanded of God to war against the Amorites, Deut. 2. 24. took it again out of Sihons hand, and so became lawful possessor of this land by conquest. This right Iephthah defended for Israel, when after many years the Ammonites (brethren [unspec] <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> <math>\langle\dots\rangle</math> ab) required these lands to be restored again: see the story in Judge. 11. 12, 13.—27. For the Moa•••e and Ammonites were neighbors; and Chaz <math>\langle\dots\rangle</math> eth on Numb. 21. 23. that as Sihon had taken the land of Moab on the South-side, from Jordan <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> the river Arnon; so he had taken on the Northsid• <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> land of the sons of Ammon unto Jabok: and for th•• <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> it was lawful for Israel (to possess it:) <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> is that which our Doctors have said, *Moab <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> A••mon were purified by Sihon.

Vers. 15. And the stream] or, the shedding, the <math>\langle\dots\rangle</math> usion of the brooks. This verse seemeth to be a continuance of the former testimony, out of the <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> of the wars of Jehovah; to show the limits <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> •ounds of this country which Sihon had won, <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> it was distinguished from Moabs land. <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> .] a city of Moab, verse. 28. called in Greek Er. leaneth upon the border] that is, as the Greek explaineth it, lieth by, or is adjoined to the ••ders of Moab.

Vers. 16. From thence to Beer] or, to the Well; [unspec] •or <math>\langle\phi\rangle</math> Beer signifieth; and the Greek translatheth it, front thence the Well (or pit.) Some understand here, from thence they journeyed to Beer: the Chaldee Paraphrast expoundeth it, from thence was given unto them the Well. Of this Beer there is no mention among the journeys of the people in Num. 33. I will give them water] The Greek addeth water to drink. The Lord, who before had suffered the people to thirst, and gave them water when they murmured against him, Exod. 17. Numb. 20. doth now of his grace give them a Well of water, when they murmured not, to teach them to depend upon him by faith, for they that seek the Lord, shall not want any good thing, Psal. 34. 10. Wherefore the people were to be assembled, that all might behold the goodness of God, and sing his praise. And this water of the Well had also a like spiritual signification as the waters of the Rock; for as the Rock was Christ, 1 Cor. 10. 4. so the Well figured him, who is the fountain of the gardens, the Well of living waters, Song 4. 15. and the waters signified the Spirit, which they that believe on him shall receive, John 7. 38, 39. Isaiah 44. 3. of which water, whosoever drinketh, shall never thirst, but the water that Christ shall give him, shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life, John 4. 14. This grace he promised of old to his people, saying, The poor and needy seek water, and there is none; their tongue faileth for thirst: I Jehovah will hear them, I the God of Israel will not forsake them. I will open rivers in high places, and fountains in the midst of the valleys; I will make the wilderness a pool of water, and the dry land springs of water, &c. That they may see, and know, and consider, and understand together, that the hand of Jehovah hath done this, and the Holy one of Israel hath created it, Isaiah 41. 17, 18, 20. And again, A fountain shall come forth of the house of the LORD, and shall water the valley of Shittim, Joel 3. 18.

Vers. 17. Then sang Israel] Singing here was in them a sign of mirth and joy, as in I am. 5. 13. and of belief in God, and thankfulness, as in Psal. 106. 12. and signified the spiritual joy which the faithful have in Christ: concerning which it is prophesied, With joy shall ye draw water out of the wells of salvation. And in that day shall ye say, Praise Jehovah, call upon his name, declare his doings among the people, &c. Isaiah 12. 3, 4. Spring up] or, Ascend O Well. Answer ye to it] that is, sing (or shout) ye to it, or sing ye of it. The word Answer, here meaneth to sing one after another, as when they sung at the red sea, Mary answered them, that is, sung after the men, Exod. 15. 21. and in 1 Sam. 18. 7. the women answered one another, as they played on instruments, and sung the victory. So in Psal. 147. 7. Answer ye (that is, Sing ye) to Jehovah with confession. And the order of the words may be thus, Answer (or Song) ye unto it, Spring up O Well. A like phrase is in Isaiah 27. 2. A vineyard of red wine, answer ye unto her; or, Answer (that is, Sing) ye unto her, A vineyard of red wine. For the Scripture it self often changeth the order of words and sentences; as, I will put my laws into their mind, and write them on their heart, Hebr. 8. 10. or, put them into their heart, and write them on their mind, Hebr. 10. 16. So in Isaiah <...> 1. compared with Rom. 10. 20. and Deut. 5. 16. with Eph. 6. 2. Mat. 21. <◇> 39▪ with Mar. 12. 8. & many the like. See the notes on Gen. 5. 6. By this song they celebrate the miracle and memory of the Well which God gave them: and if they sung it at the first, when they assembled to diggeit, it shown also their faith in the promise of God, who had said, he would give them water; and so they speak unto the Well (as Moses was bidden speak to the Rock, Numb. 20. 8.) that it should ascend or spring up, according to the word of the Lord. This Targum Jonathan explaineth it, Ascend ô Well, ascend ô Well, did they sing unto it, and it ascended. Or if they sang it after; it is a memorial and celebration of God's goodness and faithfulness, as he had spoken unto them: Ascend ô Well, that is, Come up into our heart or memory; answer (or sing) ye of it, that it may never be forgotten. And ascending or coming up, is often used in this sense, as in Ier. 3. 16. neither shall it ascend (or come up) on the heart, neither shall they remember it: and in Ier. 51. 50. Remember the Lord a far off, & let Jerusalem ascend upon your heart, that is, come into your mind.

Vers. 18. The Well, the Princes digged it] or, O Well, which the Princes digged, which the Nobles of the people delved: where digged and delved are two words of the same meaning, as in the Hebrew Caphar and Carah. The Princes and Nobles of Israel digging this Well, and the memory thereof thus celebrated by the song of Israel, setteth forth the glory of this gracious gift of God unto his people, and figured the labors and industry of the governors of the Church, to bring forth the waters of the Spirit, by the preaching of the word, and opening of the Scriptures, 2 Chron. 17. 7, 8, 9. Gal. 3. 2. 1 Tim. 5. 17, 18. Hebr. 13. 7, 17. 1 Pet. 1. 10, 11, 12. So in ages following this Well was renowned, being called Beer Elim, that is, the Well of the Mightie ones, Isaiah 15. 8. with the Law-giver] or, by the Law-giver, that is, together with him, and by his direction, as in verse. 16. understanding by the Law-giver, Moses, as in Deut. 33. 21. or God himself, as in Esa. 33. 22. the LORD is our Law-giver. And the Law-giver in Israel was a figure of Christ, Gen. 49. 10. I am. 4. 12. The Chaldee taketh one here to be used for many, and translateth it the Scribes, as Ezra the Priest is called a Scribe of the words of the commandments of the Lord, and of his statutes to Israel, Ezr. 7. 11. with their staves] a staff or rod in the hand of governors, was a sign of their power and authority from God; wherefore the Scripture useth these words for such signification, Numb. 17. 2, 3, &c. Psal. 23. 4. and 110. 2. Ier. 48. 17. 1 Cor. 4. 21. So the Greek translateth this here; when they ruled over them. The Hebrews have feigned many things of this Well, of the springing and running of it from place to place, and of the mysteries of it concerning Israel: but our Savior is the best Expositor, who hath taught us to apply the brazen Serpent fore-spoken of, to himself and his dying for the people, Job. 3. 14. and this Well of water (which was the next token of grace to Israel in the wilderness) to the waters of the Spirit, which is a Well springing up to eternal life, in such as believe in him, John 4. 10.—14. and 7. 37, 38, 39. Also the Hebrews themselves do thus far testify in Midrash Koheleth, on Eccles. 1. 9. As the first Redeemer (Moses) brought down Manna, Exod. 16. so the last Redeemer (Christ) shall do Psal. 72. 16. And as the first Redeemer caused a W• to spring up; so the last Redeemer shall cause waters to spring up; as it is said, And a fountain shall come forth of the house of the LORD, and shall water the valley of Shittim, Joel 3. 18. to Mattanah] which is by interpretation a Gift, and is likely to be the name of a place (as the Greek version also confirmeth) though neither it, nor those that here follow, are rehearsed by these names in Numb. 33. where all their journeys are told: neither is it here expressed by Moses, that they journeyed to these places; but such words may well be understood. Chazkuni (on this Scripture) saith, this is added to that before (in verse. 13.) They camped on the other side of Arnon, which is in the wilderness, &c. and from that other side which is in the wilderness, which (in Numb. 33. 46.) is Almon Diblathaim, they came to Mattanah, called in Numb. 33. 47. the Mounts of Abarim before Nebo, the name of a place on the North side of the river Arnon, in the beginning of the land of Sihon; and it is called Mattanah (a Gift) because there began the gift of the land unto Israel, (Deut. 2. 24. 31.) But afterward he showeth another interpretation, that from the wilderness, a place of drought, water was given them for a gift: and so the Chaldee interpreteth it, from the wilderness it was given unto them: and Targum Jonathan, from the wilderness it was given them for a gift.

Vers. 19. to Nahaliel] by interpretation, the valley (or bourne) of God: the Greek calleth it Naadiel. Chazkuni saith, this is that which in Numb. 33. 48. is called the plains of Moab. to Bamoth] by interpretation High-places: that is called Beth Iesimoth (saith Chazkuni) in Numb. 33. 49.

Vers. 20. in the field] that is, in the country of Moab. This valley, as Chazkuni saith, is called in Numb. 33. 49. Abel Shittim, in the plains of Moab. the head of Pisgah] by head, may be understood the top of the mount Pisgah, or the beginning of the same: the Greek translatheth it from the top. Chazkuni expoundeth it thus, That Samab (or High place) which is in the field of Moab, is the head of Pisgah (or of the Hill) that looketh toward Ieshimon, which is a great wilderness. and it looketh] that is, the Hill Pisgah looketh; and so the Greek version referreth it thereto. And Sol. Rashi saith, That Pisagh looketh toward the place named Ieshimon, which signifieth a wilderness, because it is desolate. Ieshimon] in Greek, the Wilderness, and so the word is used for a wilderness, in Deut. 32. 10. Psal. 68. 8. and 78. 40. and otherwhere. All these places are by the Chaldee paraphrast referred to the Well aforesaid, thus; And from (the place) where it was given unto them, it descended with them to the valleys, and from the valleys it ascended with them to the High places, and from the High places to the valley that is in the field of Moab, &c. So Targum Jonathan to the like effect, and others.

Vers. 21. Israel sent Messengers] in Greek, Moses [unspec] sent Messengers: which seemeth to be taken from D <...> 2. 26. where Moses saith, I sent messengers. F <...> ie is very frequent, when things are done by a multitude, where one is chief, that the action is ascribed either to the multitude, or to him that is <ϕ> indifferently: as, They made peace with <ϕ>, and served him, 1 Chron. 19. 19. or, They <ϕ> peace with Israel, and served them, as another Prophet recordeth it, 2 Sam. 10. 19. So Ie <...>, he brought forth the Kings son, and he put the <ϕ> upon him, 2 King. 11. 12. or, They brought forth the Kings son, and they put upon him the crown, 2 Chron. 23. 11. and, they offered burntofferings, 1 Chron. 16. 1. or, David offered burntofferings, 2 Sam. 6. 17. and many the like. The occasion of this message now sent by Israel, was the commandment of God, who willed them to go <ϕ> against Sihon, and to possess his land, Deut. 2. 24, 25. S•hon] or Sichon; in Greek, Seon King of the Amorites, his chief city was Hesbon, Deut. 2. 26. saying] the Greek version addeth (from Deut. 2. 26.) with peaceable words, saying.

Vers. 22. Let me pass] in Greek, Let us pass: [unspec] which phrases are often used indifferently, when they are spoken of a multitude: and so the Scripture serreth this down both ways, Let me pass, as here, and in Deut. 2. 27. and Let us pass, Judge. 11. 19. thorough thy land] that so I may come into the land of Canaan, unto my place, Judge. 11. 19. Deut. 2. 29. we will not turn] in Deut. 2. 27. I will not turn, speaking of the multitude as of one man. into field, or into vineyard] to the right hand, or to the left Deut. 2. 27. See Num. 20. 17. of the well] in Greek of thy well, meaning of any of his wells, for naught; but they would buy their water of him for money, Deut. 2. 28. the Kings way] the high way, common for all, which in Deut. 2. 27. is set down thus, by the way, by the way. See also Num. 20. 17.

Vers. 23. would not grant] Hebr. granted (or gave) not: that is, would not give or suffer: as where it is said, David removed not the Ark, 1 Chro. 13. 13. another Prophet openeth it thus, David would not ⟨ϕ⟩ the Ark, 2 Sam. 6. 10. And so Moses explains this in Deut. 2. 30. But Sihon king of Hesbon ⟨ϕ⟩ let us pass thorough him. The cause why he would not, was fear & distrust, as it is written, But Si ⟨...⟩ ⟨ϕ⟩ not Israel to pass thorough his coast, Judge. 11. ⟨ϕ⟩ but chiefly it was of the Lord, who purposed to destroy the Amorites, as Moses saith, For Jehovah thy God hardened his spirit, and made his heart strong, that he might give him into thine hand, Deut. ⟨ϕ⟩ , Iahaz] or Iahats, in Greek, Fassa; in La ⟨...⟩ , Iasa; the name of a city mentioned also in Deut. 2. 12. Judge. 11. 20. Isaiah 15. 4. Ier. 48. 21, 34.

Vers. 24. Israel smote him] for, Jehovah the God of Israel delivered Sihon and all his people into Israel's had, Judge. 11. 21. Deut. 2. 33. Therefore the glory of this victory is ascribed unto God, in Ps. 135. 10, 11. and 136. 17, 18, 19. And in Amos 2. 9. God saith, I destroyed the Amorite before thē, whose height was like the height of the Cedars, and he was strong as the O ⟨...⟩ : yet I destroyed his fruit from above, & his roots from beneath. was strong] by reason that it was fenced with Iabbok which was a river, & by mountines and cities on them, Deut. 2. 37. therefore the Ammonites held their territories beyond Iabbok, so that Sihon took them not from them: and as for Israel, they might not war against the Ammonites, Deut. 2. 19.

Vers. 25. took all these cities] utterly destroying men, women, and children of every city, but the cattle and spoil of the cities they took also, Deut. 2. 34, 35. the daughters] that is, as the Chaldee explaineth it, the towns or villages thereof: for the chief-cities are counted as mothers, the villages about them as daughters, throughout the Scriptures, Ezek. 16. 44, 45, 46, 48, 53. Therefore as here it is said, Hesbon and her daughters; so elsewhere we read, Hesbon and all her cities, Ios. 13. 17. And that which is called a city, and a mother in Israel, 2 Sam. 20. 19. is in the Greek interpreted, a city and a mother city (Metropolis) in Israel. These daughters Moses calleth unwalled cities, Deut. 3. 5.

Vers. 27. that speak in proverbs] or, that speak parables; in Greek, Aenigmatists they that speak riddles: such in Israel were the prophets, that used to speak by parables, as Ezek. 17. 2. and 20. 49. But it is also used for proverbs and by-words, to the reproach of persons that are brought down from high estate to misery; as Deut. 28. 37. 2 Chron. 7. 20. Ierem. 24. 9. Habak. 2. 6. and so it is meant in this place. The Hebrews Tanchuma, and Sol. Rashi, expound these that spake in proverbs, to be Balaam and Beor his father, (as we read that Balaam took up his parable against Amalek and others, when he prophesied their destruction, Numb. 24. 20.—23.) Rashi saith, that Sihon was not able to subdue them, and he went and hired Balaam to curse them; and hereupon Balak said unto him (in Numb. 22. 6.) I know that he whom thou blessest is blessed, &c. But this is an uncertainty, and it may be also understood of the Israelites, that they used these parables in rehearsing the works and wars of the Lord. Come into Hesbon] or, into Cheshbon; in Greek, Esebon. Chazkuni expoundeth it, Come to dwell in Hesbon, for now it shall be established, after that Sihon hath the dominion of it: for so long as it was in the hand of the King of Moab, they were afraid to dwell within it, because the King was weak. Let the city of Sihon] in Greek thus, that the city of Seon may be built: by which it appeareth, that this proverb was first takē up after that Sihon had won Hesbon out of Moabs hand. prepared] or, firmly established; meaning, more than in former times it had been; or, as Rashi saith, prepared in Sihons name, for to be his city.

Vers. 28. a fire] by fire and flame, wars that consume are usually meant, as in Isaiah 47. 14. Dan. 11. 33. Amos 1. 7, 10, 12, 14. and 2. 2, 5. Hobad. 1. 18. Psal. 78. 63. So this is spoken of Sihons wars against the Moabites. The Chaldee expoundeth it, A strong east wind like fire, and warriors like a flame: and the Yerushalmi Targum thus; A people strong, and burning like fire, and warriors like a flame of fire. from the city of Sihon] from the city which now is Sihons, as Chazkuni explaineth it. These parables are after by Jeremiah applied against the Moabites, They that fled stood under the shadow of Hesbon, because of the force (of the enemy:) but a fire is gone out of Mesbon, and a flame from the midst of Sihon, [that is, of the city of Sihon] and hath consumed the corner of Moab, &c. Ier. 48. 45. consumed Ar] or, eaten up (devoured) Ar of Moah. The Chaldee explaineth it, hath killed the people of Lechajath of Moab. And this seemeth to be right, that the people was destroyed, and not the city or country. For Ar (which the Chaldee calleth Lechajath) remained still the possession of the Moabites, Deut. 2. 9, 18, 29. Isaiah 15. 1. Instead of this, Jeremiah saith, the corner of Moab, Ier. 48. 45. Ar is the name of that country in the Hebrew tongue; and in Syriac it is called Lecajath, saith Sol. Rashi on Numb. 21. the Lord's] or, the Masters (patrons) of the high places of Arnon. These the Chaldee expoundeth Chemarims (or Priests) which served in the God's house (or temple) of the high place of Arnon: the Greek translatheth it, the pillars of Arnon. The Prophet calleth them, the crown of the head, (that is, the chief or principal) of the sons of tumult, Ier. 48. 45. high places] where they used to serve their God, as appeareth also by the Prophet, saying, ⟨ϕ⟩ will cause to cease in Moab, saith Jehovah, him that offereth in the high place, and him that burneth incense to his God, Ier. 48. 35. So Targum Yerushalmi expoundeth this place of Moses thus; Killed the Priests that sacrificed before their Idols in Arnon.

Vers. 29. Woe to the Moab] in Chaldee, Woe to you Moabites. It is a continuance of the parable taken up against them. people of Chemosh] in Greek, of Chamos; which the Chaldee explaineth, people that serve Chemosh. So in Ier. 48. 46. Woe to thee Moab, the people of Chemosh is perished. This Chemosh was the god of the Moabites, 1 King. 1. 33. and as it seemeth also of the Ammonites, Judge. 11. 24. for their service of which Idol, they are called the people of Chemosh, as the Israelites are usually called the people of Jehovah. he hath given] that is, Chemosh hath given, or suffered his sons that escaped the sword, to be taken captives. Thus Moabs idolatry is here upbraided as the cause of their ruin: and so Jeremiah after saith of them, Moab shall be ashamed of Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed of Bethel their confidence, Ier. 48. 13. And again, Chemosh shall go forth into captivity, with his Priests and his Princes together, Ier. 48. 7. Likewise another Prophet saith, When it is seen that Moab is weary on his high place, he sh<sup>d</sup> come to his sanctuary to pray, but he shall not prevail, Isaiah 16. 12. And though Chemosh was an Idol, and so nothing in the world, as the Apostle saith, 1 Cor. 8. 4. and therefore could not do evil, neither was it in him to do good, Ier. 10. 5. yet thus it is spoken of him, he hath given according to the speech and opinion of the idolaters; as Iepthah also said to the King of Ammon, Wilt not thou possess that which Chemosh thy god giveth thee to possess? Judge. 11. 24. But indeed the God of Israel was he that brought this judgment upon the Moabites for their idolatry, Ier. 48. 12, 13.

Vers. 30. their lamp is perished] their light is lost, that is, as the Greek translatheth it, their seed is perished; by seed, meaning such as should inherit the kingdom; and so the Chaldee paraphrast explaineth it, the kingdom is ceased from Heshbon: and Targum Yerushalmi giveth the same exposition, the kingdom is ceased from Hesbon, and ruler from Dibon. The like metaphor is elsewhere used; as, And unto his some will I give one tribe, that David my servant may have a lamp always before me in Jerusalem, that is, a seed, or son to reign in Jerusalem, 1 King. 11. 36. So in 1 King 15. 4. for David's sake, did the Lord his God give him a lamp in Jerusalem, to set up his son after him; where the lamp is expounded his son. Thus the Hebrews here also expound it; their lamp is perished, that is, saith Rashi, their kingdom is perished. And Chazkuni thus; the city Hesbon hath lost her heir, from over all the land unto Dibon, so that no heir of Moab shall inherit it anymore: a Lamp meaneth an heir, as in 1 King. 11. 36. To this sense the old Latin version saith, Their yoke is perished from Hesebon: for a yoke often signifieth dominion, as in Ier. 27. 8, 11. and 28. 2, 14. A lamp signifieth a kingdom, and a yoke, and dominion, saith Sol. Rashi. It may also be translated, And we have shot at them: so it agreeth with that which followeth, and we have laid them waste; and they are the words of Sinon and his favorites, triumphing for their conquest over Moab. Dibon] one of the high places and cities in Moabs country, Isaiah 15. 2. Ierem. 48. 18, 22. The Chaldee expoundeth it, the dominion is departed from Dibon. which reacheth unto Me•eba] the Chaldee saith, which is adjoined unto Medeba, that was another city in Moabs land, Isaiah 12. 2. The word which, (in Hebrew asher) is noted extraordinarily in the Hebrew, with pricks over it, for some hidden meaning. Baal-hatturim saith of it thus; R (in asher) is pricked, and there remaineth (that letter being taken away) ash (that is, fire,) because it was burnt with fire, and the R of it is taken away. The Greek version favoereth this, for it translatheth, yet they kindled fire upon Moab.

Vers. 31. the land of the Amorite] in Greek, all the cities of the Amorites. This country, which before had been the Moabites, was conquered by the Amorites, and so became their land; and was taken from them by Israel, and inhabited, as is after shown in Numb. 32. 33, 34, &c.

Vers. 32. Iazer] a city also that had been sometime the Moabites, Ier. 48. 32. but •ow the Amorites; the land about it was goodly pasture ground, and was after given to the tribe of Ga•, Numb. 32. 1, 3, 34, 35. daughters] that is, the towns or villages, as the Greek and Chaldee explain it: see verse. 25.

Vers. 33. the way of Bashan] that is, as the Greek translatheth, the way which (leadeth) unto Basan. This Basan (which the Chaldee calleth Matnan) was a goodly soil, the pastures nourished strong and fat cattle, whereto the Scripture hath often reference, as in Deut. 32. 14. A 〈...〉 s 4. 1. Mic. 7. 14. Ierem. 50. 19. Og] another King of the Amorites, a Giant of great stature: See Deut. 3. where this history is repeated and enlarged.

Vers. 35. they possessed] or, they inherited his •and. These countries God gave unto Israel, as the first-fruits of their inheritance, after their wearisome travels and troubles in the wilderness; by which they were to be encouraged against the residue of their enemies beyond the river; as Moses afterward saith, Thine eyes have seen all that Jehovah your God hath done unto these two Kings; so will Jehovah do unto all the kingdoms whither thou passest: ye shall not fear them; for Jehovah your God he will fight for you. And Jehovah will do unto them as he did to Sihon and to Og,

Kings of the Amorites, and to the land of them whom he destroyed, Deut. 3. 21, 22. and 31. 4. For which also they were to be thankful unto God, and sing his praises, as David after teacheth them, saying, Confess ye to Jehovah, for he is good, for his mercy endureth forever. To him which smote great kings, for his mercy endureth forever. And slew famous kings, for his mercy endureth forever. Sihon king of the Amorites, for his mercy endureth forever. And Og the king of Bashan, for his mercy endureth forever. And gave their land for an heritage, for his mercy endureth forever. Even an heritage unto Israel his servant, for his mercy endureth forever, Psal. 136. 1. 17.—22.

CHAP. XXII.

⟨◇⟩ Balak king of Moab sendeth for Balaam a Prophet to curse Israel. 8 Balaam consulting with the Lord, is forbidden to go. 15 Balak sendeth the second time, and Balaam asking again of the Lord, is permitted to go. 22 An Angel would have slain him▪ If, if his asse had not turned aside, which dumb ⟨◇⟩ speaking with man's voice, forbade the Prophets foolishness. 31 Balaam's eyes being opened, seeth the Angel, confesseth his sin, and offereth to turn ⟨◇⟩ , but is willed to go forward. 36 Balak goeth ⟨◇◇⟩ Balaam, and entertaineth him royally.

AND the sons of Israel set forward and encamped in the plains of Moab, on this side Jordan, by Jericho.

⟨ in non-Latin alphabet ⟩

And Balak the son of Zippor saw all that Israel had done to the Amorites. And Moab was sore afraid of the people because they were many, and Moab was irked because of the sons of Israel. And Moab said unto the Elders of Midian; Now will this company lick up all that are round about us, as the ox licketh up the green grass of the field: And Balak the son of Zippor was King of Moab at that time. And he sent [unspec] messengers unto Balaam the son of Beor, to Pethor, which is by the river of the land of the sons of his people, to call him, saying, Behold a people is come out from Egypt, behold they cover the eye of the land, and they abide over against me. Now therefore come I pray thee, curse me this people, for they are mightier than I, peradventure I shall be able to smite them, and shall drive them out of the land: for I know that he whom thou blessest is blessed, and he whom thou cursest is cursed. And the Elders of Moab, and the Elders of Midian went, and divinations in their hand, and they came unto Balaam, and spake unto him the words of Balak. And he said unto them; Lodge here ⟨◇⟩ ight, and I will bring you word again, as Jehovah shall speak unto me: and the Princes of Moab abode with Balaam.

And God came unto Balaam, and said, What men are these with thee? And Balaam said unto God, Balak the son of Zippor, King of Moab, hath sent unto me. Behold, a people is come out from Egypt, and covereth the eye of the land: now come, curse me them, peradventure I shall be able to fight against them, and shall drive them out.

And God said unto Balaam, Thou shalt not go with them, thou shalt not curse the people, for they are blessed. And Balaam rose up in the morning, and said unto the Princes of Balak, Go you unto your land, for Jehovah refuseth to give me leave to go with you.

And the Princes of Moab rose up and came unto Balak, and said, Balaam refuseth to come with us. And Balak yet again sent Princes moe, and more honorable than they.

And they came to Balaam, and said to him, Thus saith Balak the son of Zippor; Be not thou letted, I pray thee, from coming unto me. For honoring I will honor thee very greatly: and whatsoever thou shalt say unto me, I will do: come therefore, I pray thee, curse me this people. And Balaam answered, and said unto the servants of Balak; If Balak would give me his house full of silver and gold, I cannot go beyond the mouth of Jehovah my God, to do less or more. And now, I pray you, tarry you also here this night, that I may know what Jehovah will speak unto me more. And God came unto Balaam by night, and said unto him, If the men be come to call thee, rise up, go with them: but yet the word which I shall speak unto thee, that shalt thou do.

And Balaam rose up in the morning, and saddled his Ass, and went with the Princes of Moab. And God's anger was kindled because he went, and the Angel of Jehovah see himself in the way for an adversary against him: and he was riding upon his Ass, and two of his young men were with him. And the Ass saw the Angel of Jehovah standing in the way, & his sword drawn in his hand; and the Ass turned aside out of the way and went into the field: and Balaam smote the Ass to turn her into the way. And the Angel of Jehovah stood in a path of the vineyards, a wall being on this side, and a wall on that side. And the Ass saw the Angel of Jehovah; and she thrust her self unto the wall, and thrust Balaam's foot against the wall; and he smote her again. And the Angel of Jehovah went further and stood in a narrow place, where was no way to turn aside, to the right hand, or to the left.

And the Ass saw the Angel of Jehovah, and she fell down under Balaam; and Balaam's anger was kindled, and he smote the Ass with a staff. And Jehovah opened the mouth of the Ass, and she said unto Balaam, What have I done unto thee that thou hast smitten me these three times? And Balaam said unto the Ass, Because thou hast mocked me; I would there were a sword in mine hand▪ for now I would kill thee. And the Ass said unto Balaam, Am not I thine Ass which thou hast ridden upon ever since I was thine unto this day, was I ever wont to do so unto thee? And he said, Nay. And Jehovah uncovered the eyes of Balaam, and he saw the Angel of Jehovah standing in the way, and his sword drawn in his hand, and he bended down the head and bowed him-self down on his face. And the Angel of Jehovah said unto him, Wherefore hast thou smitten thine Ass these three times? Behold, I came out to be an adversary, because thy was is perverse before me. And the Ass saw me and turned aside before me these three times: unless she had turned aside from me, surely now also I had slain thee and saved her alive. And Balaam said unto the Angel of Jehovah, I have sinned, for I knew not that thou stoodst against me in the way: and now if it be evil in thine eyes, I will get me back again. And the Angel of Jehovah said unto Balaam, Go with the men, but only the word that I shall speak unto thee, that shalt thou speak: and Balaam went with the Princes of Balak. And Balak heard that Balaam was come, and he went out to meet him unto a city of Moab which is by the border of Arnon, which is in the utmost of the border. And Balak said unto Balaam, Did not I sending send unto thee to call thee? Wherefore camest thou not unto me? Am I not able indeed to honor thee? And Balaam said unto Balak, Lo I am come unto thee; now am I able at all to speak anything? the word that God shall put in my mouth that shall I speak.

And Balaam went with Balak, and they came unto Kirjath-huzoth. And Balak slew oxen and sheep, and sent to Balaam, and the Princes that were with him. And it was in the morning that Balak took Balaam, and brought him up into the high places of Baal, that he might see from thence the utmost part of the people.

Annotations.

SEt forward] removed their campe from the mountains of Abarim, Num. 33. 48. the plains of Moab] or, champion country, which sometime had been Moabs, afterward the Amorites, and now Israel's by conquest. These plains reached unto the river Jordan, in that part which was near to, or over against Jericho, (the first city which they conquered in Canaan, Ios. 6.) and therefore it is called Jordan of Jericho: and here they remained till Moses died, encamping in these plains from Bethjesimoth unto Abel shittim, Num. 33. 49. Here many notable things fell out, even all that are recorded from this place to the end of Deuteronomy, and in the beginning of Joshua; their deliverance from Balaam's curse, their mustering for the inheritance of Canaan, their victory over the Midianites, the addition of sundry divine ordinances, especially the repeating and explaining of the whole Law, and renewing of the covenant between God and them by Moses in Deuteronomy, and the like: whereupon God saith unto their posterity, O my people, remember now what Balak King of Moab consulted, and what Balaam the son of Beor answered him, from Shittim unto ilgal, [that is, the many good things which fell out between Shittim where now they were, and Gilgal where Joshua circumcised them, Ios. 5.] that ye may know the righteousness of the Lord, Mic. 6. 5.

Here beginneth the fortieth Lecture of the Law, as it was divided to be lead in the Jews Synagogues: see Gen. 6. 9.

Vers. 2. Balak the son of Zippor] in Greek, the son of Sepphor. This Balak was now King of Moab, verse. 4. a man of note, both for policy and power, Mic. 6. 5. Judge. 11. 25. he saw all that Israel had done, but with an evil eye, and looked not upon it to receive instruction, as do the wise, Prov. 24. 32.

Vers. 3. afraid of the people] or, because of the people. Thus the prophesy was fulfilled, The mighty men of Moab trembling shall take hold upon them, Exod. 15. 15. Moab was irked] that is, grieved, distressed in themselves pricked in their hearts with a loaching of this people. The same is spoken of the Egyptians, they were irked because of the sons of Israel, Exod. 1. 12. There was no cause for the Moabites thus to fret: for Israel passed by them in peace, and touched not their border, being forbidden of God, Deu. 2. 9. They had also by the slaughter of the Amorites, freed them from evil neighbors, which had before taken away a part of their land, and were likely in time to have taken more, Num. 21. 26. And they were allied unto Israel▪ for Moab was the posterity of Lot, unto whom Abraham the Father of Israel was uncle, and whom Abraham had rescued out of captivity, Gen. 19. 36, 37. and 14. 12, 16. But being now degenerate from the faith of their father Lot, and fallen to idolatry, Num. 21. 29. they feared (as do the wicked) where no fear was, Psal. 53. 5. and do loath the people of the God of Abraham, and Lot their father▪

Vers. 4. Elders of Midian] in Greek, the Senate of Madiam. These Elders were Senators, such as governed the State, called afterward Princes, verse. 7, 8. and the Midianites were by nature the children of Abraham, Gen. 25. 1, 2. and so brethren unto Israel; but now conspired against them; being also fallen from Abraham's faith to idolatry with Baal-Pehor, Num. 25. 17, 18. They were neighbors to the Moabites, and as it seemeth had been consederates with them in former wars; as when Hadad King of Edom smote Midian in the field of Moab, 1 Chron. 1. 46. These were not the people against whom Israel should war; neither had they occasion to be offended at the Amorites overthrow, who held them in subjection: for the five Kings of Midian that combined with Moab, and perished for the same, Num. 31. 8. are called the Dukes of Sihon, Ios. 13. 21. They had cause therefore to have been thankful unto Israel; who freed them from Sihons tyrannous yoke, and to have rejoiced with the joy, and for the prosperity of their brethren. this company] or, the Church; in Greek, this Synagogue, or Congregation. 〈...〉 lick up] that is, devour, or consume, as the Chaldee explaineth it. So fire that consumeth, is [unspec] said to lick up in 1 Kings 18. 38. but here the simi 〈...〉 de is taken from oxen that lick up the grass as they seed. And not unfitly doth Moab hereby, as it were, prophesy of their own destruction: for the strength and beauty of Israel may well be likened hereto, as Joseph's was by Moses to his first-borne bullock, Deut. 33. 17. and the wicked are as grass, and shall soon be cut down, and wither as the green herb, Psal. 37. 2. And though at this time Israel might not meddle with Moab, (for they had other enemies to prey upon, and the ox loweth not when he hath fodder, Job 6. 5.) yet Ba 〈◇〉 their Prophet foretold of a star and scepter that should rise out of Israel, and sinite the corners of Moab, Num. 24. 17. which was fulfilled in part by David, who smote Moab, and they became his servants, 1▪ Chron. 18. 2. And God further prophesieth their destruction afterward, I have broken Moab, like a vessel wherein is no pleasure, saith the LORD, Ier. 48. 38.

Vers. 5. Balaam] so written after the Greek, and the New Testament, Rev. 2. 14. in Hebrew, Bilghnam. He was a Diviner, or Scothsayer, as is said in Ios. 13. 22. Balaam also the son of Beor▪ the Diviner, did the sons of Israel s•ay with the sword: where the name Diviner, (or Soothsayer) is to be understood of the son Balaam, not of the father Beor; as the like phrase in Isaiah. 37. 2. showeth, where it is said, Unto Isaiah the son of Amos the Prophet; which another Scripture explaineth thus, Unto Isaiah the Prophet, the son of Amos, 2 King. 19. 2. And that Balaam was indeed such a kind of man, is after shown by Moses, in Num. 24. 1. The Apostle calleth him a Prophet, 2 Pet. 2. 16. and false prophets are called Diviners, Ier. 27. 9. and their prophesying, Divination, Ezek. 13. 6, 7, 23. What a Diviner was, is shown on Deut. 18. son of Beor] so the Greek here writeth that which in Hebrew is Beghnor: But the Apostle Peter writing from Babylon, 1 Pet. 5. 13. calleth him son of Bosor, 2 Pet. 2. 15. For in the Baby lonian or Chaldee language, the Hebrew letter Ghnajn, is often pronounced like S, whereupon the Greek Interpreters sometime put S instead thereof; as Gnamnciud, Num. 1. 10. is in Greek Semioud, and in Ier. 46. 17. Saon heghnebir, the Interpreters (taking it for a proper name) express it in Greek thus, Sao neeshe ⟨...⟩ so Iehojadanh, in Ier. 29. 26. is in Greek, Iodese; Hosheangh, in Num. 13. 8. is A'ses; and Ieshuangh, Ezr. 2. 2. is Jesus, and many the like. Pethor] in Greek, Phathourra; it was a city in Mesopotamia, or Aram, Num. 23. 7. Deut. 23. 4. the country where Abraham first dwelt, Act. 7. 2. Gen. 24. 4, 10. and there he served strange gods, Ios. 24. 2. In this country all the Patriarchs (except Benjamin) the heads of the tribes of Israel were borne and brought up, Gen. 35. 26. till Jacob their father fled the land, after he had there served for a wife, and for a wife had kept sheep, Hos. 12. 12. Gē. 31. 21. Jacob's posterity hereupon professed their father to be an Aramite, or Syrian, Deut. 26. 5. and from Aram is Balaam now sent for to curse them. And as it was in the East country, Num. 23. 7. so the Eastern land was infamous for Divination and such like arts: see Isaiah. 2. 6. by the river] to wit, Euphrates, called the river by excellency, because it was the greatest, Gen. 15. 18. so in Ios. 24. 2. 15. 2 Sam. 10. 16. 1 King. 4. 24. 1 Chron. 19. 16. And thus the Chaldee here explaineth it, to Pethor of Aram which is by Euphrates. they cover] Hebr. it covereth, speaking of the people as of one. The Scripture useth the singular or plural number indifferently, as is noted on Gen. 22. 19. th• eye] that is, the face, or sight (as the Greek translatheth) of the land (or earth) See the like phrase in Exod. 10. 5. 15. abide] sit, or dwelt over against me. These words implied reasons to persuade Balaam to come; for their coming out of Egypt, intimateth that they being strangers, had no right to invade the land; their covering the face of the land, shown their number to be great; and they having subdued the Amorites, and filled their land, could not easily be resisted; their abiding over against Moab was a sign (as they thought) that Israel would next invade their country. But in all this, the truth of Israel's case and carriage was concealed; for here is no mention how God had of old promised them the land of Canaan, Gen. 15. 18. or, how the Canaanites wickedness was grown so great, that their land should spew them out, Lev. 18. 24, 25. neither speaketh he of their wrongful oppression and bondage in Egypt, and miraculous deliverance from thence, Exod. 1. &c. nor how Israel being come, had not harmed either Edom or Moab, but passed by them in peace, Deut. 2. 4. 8• 9. 13. and warred only with the cursed Canaanites devoted unto destruction. Though Moab could not but know these things as well as Edom, Num. 20. 14, 15. &c. yet would he mention none of them; neither was he content that his brother Israel should do to the Canaanites, as Moab himself, and Edom, and Ammon had done before to the Emims, Horims, and Zamzummims, whom they had cast out of their inheritances, and dwelt in their steads, Deut. 2. 9, 10, 12, 20, 21. For this conspiracy with Balaam, and his endeavor to destroy God's people, it is said, Balakarose and warred against Israel, Ios. 24. 9.

Vers. 6. Now therefore come] Hebr. And now come. His purpose being by a curse upon them, to bereave them of God's favor and protection, he would have him to come, that by nearness of his person, and by beholding them, his speech might have more vehemency of spirit, and better effect, as he supposed. So Elisha the Prophet turned back and looked on the children whom he cursed in the Name of the Lord, 2 Kings. 2. 24. And on the contrary, when Isaac would bless his son, he called him near and kissed him, and smelling the savor of his garments, he uttered a more powerful blessing, Gen. 27. 26, 27. and so did Jacob to Joseph's children, Gen. 48. 9. 10, &c. And for this cause Balak led Balaam (when he was come) unto high mountains, from whence he might view them whom he was to curse, Num. 22. 41. and 23. 9. 14. 28. curse me this] or, curse for me this people. The curse was first laid upon the creatures by God himself for sin, Gen. 3. and heavy effects followed thereof: the earth cursed, brought forth thorns and briars instead of wholesome fruits, Gen. 3. 17, 18 and cursed again for Cain's wickedness, it yielded▪ no more the strength thereof, Gen. 4. 12. the fig tree cursed by Christ, suddenly withered, Mark. 11. 21. And when the curse is duly pronounced by Prophets, and men of God, it wanteth not effect; as the curse-bringing water of jealousy, which should cause the belly of the polluted to swell, and her thigh to rot, Num. 5. 21, 22, 27. and the children cursed by Elisha, were rent in pieces of Bears, 2 Kings 2. 24▪ Wherefore the plot which Balak laid, was most dangerous and wicked, and the most likely course to obtain his desire. For those whom God blesseth, their enemies flee, and fall before them, Deut. 28. 7. but they whom he curseth, are exposed to all misery, and made a prey unto their enemies, Deut. 28. 25, 33. And if now the King could have obtained from God a curse upon Israel, he might soon have vanquished them, for they that are cursed of him shall be cut off; Psal. 37. 22. How curses were pronounced by the Prophets of God, may be seen in Gen. 9. 25. Psal. 109.—6. 20. Ios. 6. 26. Ier. 17. 5, 6, they are mightier] Hebr. it is mightier than I; meaning both in number & strength, and so too mighty for him to encounter with. This was upon Israel a fruit of God's blessing, who had promised that Abraham should be a mighty nation, Gen. 18. 18. and performed it, whiles in the land of their affliction, he made them mightier than their enemies, Psal. 105. 24. as their enemy himself acknowledged, Exod. 1. 9. And Balak here confessing himself unable to match them in might, seeketh therefore to weaken them first by magical execrations. peradventure] or, if so be; or, as the Greek translatheth it, if perhaps; which phrase Peter useth in Act. 8. 22. if perhaps the thought of thi•e heart may be forgiven thee. It is a word that implieth difficulty in a thing, but with good hope to be attained. See the notes on Exod. 32. 30. I shall be able to smite them] or, I shall prevail, and we shall smite them, and I shall drive them, &c. The Greek trans•atheth, I shall be able to smite of them, and cast them out. In verse. 11. it is repeated thus, I shall be able to fight against them, (or, overcome them in battle) and so the Chaldee explaineth it here, I shall be able to fight against them. Wars were wont to be taken in hand holily; and the Lord useth this phrase, Sanctify war against her, Ier. 6. 4. he commandeth that the campe of his people should be holy, and no uncleanness in it, Deut. 23. 9, 10.—14. he appointed Priests with holy instruments, and silver trumpets, to sound an alarm, Num. 10. 9. and 31. 6. and they were to fight the battles of the Lord, 1 Sam. 25. 28. and he was with them as their Captain, as it is said, And behold, God is with us for our Captain, and his Priests with sounding trumpets to cry alarm against you: O children of Israel, fight ye not against Jehovah the God of your fathers, for ye shall not prosper, 2 Chron. 13. 12. Hereupon his people were wont to ask counsel of him, and to have his direction in their wars, Judge. 1. 1. and 20. 18, 27, 28. 1 Chr. 14. 10, 14, 15, 16. And after victories, they used to praise the Lord with songs, Judge. 5. Psal. 18. and to honor him with the spoils of the enemies, consecrated to his house and service, Num. 31. 50. 1 Chron. 26. 26, 27. And this the nations of the world after a sort practiced, save that instead of seeking to the Lord according to his word, they sought by divination and unlawful arts, as Balak now did by Balaam the Soothsayer; Nebuch•dnezzar by divination consulting▪ with Teraphims, and looking in the liver and entrails of beasts, Ezek. 21. 21. Agamemnon by sacrifice to lupi• and praying to him for victory over the T•jans, Homer. Iliad. 2. and other the like. Moreover, as Balak sought to turn the favor of God from Isra•l, and to bring his curse upon them by Balaam's means: so other nations are said to use, before they warred against any people, to endeavor by prayers, sacrifices, and enchantments, to turn the ⟨◇⟩ of God from them. Before the Heathen Romans •esieged by Cieie, their Priests called out the god, under whose tutelage the City was, and promised him more ample honor or place among them▪ Plin ⟨...⟩ . hist. lib. 28. cap. 2. The same is also ⟨◇⟩ by others; and the manner of doing it is recorded to▪ be first with a supplication to the gods, and that god specially which had taken upon him the defense of the city, that he would forsake the people, city, places, temples, and holy things▪ & having stricken a fear and forgetfulness in that people and city, would come into Rome to accept of them, their places, temples, holy things, and city, and to be provost unto them, their people and soldiers, vowing if so he would do, to honor him with temples and games. When thus they did, they offered also sacrifices▪ and looked for divination in the entrails of beasts. And having thus called out the gods, the Dictator or Emperor devoted (or cursed) the enemies city and army, that they might be filled with flight, fear, terror; and that whosoever of them carried arms against their legions or army, might both they, their countries, fields, cities, &c. be deprived of light from above, and reputed for devoted and consecrated, as any the greatest enemies whosoever, &c. Macr••. Saturnal. lib. 3. cap. 9. Hereupon their Po•s, wh• countries were conquered, ascribed it to the depa••re of their gods from them, as in Virgil. Aenei•. 2.

Excessere omnes, adytis, aris{que} relictis,

Di• qui• us imperium hoc steterat.

In which heathenish opinions and practices, there may some footsteps be seen of the ancient true Religion• for when God▪ would deliver up Jerusalem into the hands of the Chaldeans, he first by a signeto his Prophet, signified his departure from, and ⟨...⟩ saking of his Temple that stood herein, Ezek. 10. 1, 4, 18, 19. and 11. 22, 23. When Caleb and losua would encourage the people to war against the Canaanites, they used this argument, They are but bread for us, their Shadow (meaning God their defense) is departed from them, and Ie••ah ⟨◇⟩ with us, fear them not, Num. 14. 9. So when the heathens carried Images and Idols with the• in their armies (as the Philistines did their gods, which David burnt with fire, 1 Chro. 14. 12.) they foolishly imitated God's people, who sometimes carried the Ark of his covenant (the token of his presence) before them in their battles, 1 S•. 4. 3, 4.—8. Num. 14. 44. he whom thou blessest] or, whom thou shalt bless, the Greek translatheth it plurally, they whom thou blessest, art blo••d; and they whom thou cursest, are cursed. By this it appeareth of how great reputation Balaam was among men, as Simon Magus in Samaria was esteemed The great power of God, Act. 8. 10. But the Lord doth curse the blessings, and bless the curses of his own Priests and people, when they do them amiss, Mal. 2. 2. Psal. 109. 28. how much more when they are done by Soothsayers and profane. The curse causeless shall not come, Prov. 26. 2. and if Balaam had cursed Israel without the Lord, it had no more prevailed than Goliaths words, who before he fought, cursed David by his gods. 1 Sam. 17. 43.

Vers. 7. divinations] that is the wages or reward of divinations was in their hand; the wages of unrighteousness, as the Apostle calleth it, 2 Pet. 2. 15. being for a wicked art, and to an unrighteous end; so Targum Jonathan expoundeth it, The fruits of divinations sealed in their hand. And thus Besorah, i. Good tidings, is used for the reward of good tidings, in 2 Sam. 4. 10. In Israel, when the heads judged for reward the Priests taught for hire, and the Prophets divined for money; the Lord threateneth that for their sake Zion should be plowed, as a field, and Jerusalem become •aps, M•.  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  . 11, 12. Balaamites see their reward in this world in the hands of men, and that they follow; but the people of God walk by faith, not by sight; and their rewards is in heaven hid with God, not in the hands of man, 2 Cor. 5. 7. Mat. 5. 11, 12.

Vers. 8. I will bring you word again] or, I will return you word; which the Greek explaineth, I will answer you the things which the Lord shall speak unto me. He would have them lodge there that night, because he would ask counsel of God, who used to speak to the Prophets by dreams and visions of the night, Num. 12. 6. Io• 4. 13. and 33. 14, 15. Ier. 23. 25, 28. He consulteth with Jehovah the true God, whose Prophet he would seem to be, and calleth him his God, verse. 18. and because the business concerned the people of Jehovah, of him he was to enquire. But his promise to bring them word what Jehovah said, he performed not faithfully, as appeareth by comparing verse. 13. with verse. 12. the Princes of M  $\langle \dots \rangle$  ] and also of Midian, which are here to be understood from verse. 7. where they were called  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  .

Vers. 9. God came] to wit, by night, as in v. 20. which the Chaldee expoundeth, word came from before the LORD. So God came to Abimel••• in a dream by night, Gen. 20. 3. and God came to L•b•n the Syrian in a dream by night, Gen. 31. 24. Sometimes for his people's sake, and sometimes for their own, God revealed his counsels of old unto men that were wicked, Gen. 41. 25. Dan. 2. 45. and 4 21, 22. So still he giveth gifts of knowledge and understanding in his word to men that are none of his, Mat. 7. 22▪ 23. and 24. 24. 2 Tim. 3. 8. the eye] the face, as verse. 5. curse me them] the word curse here, is another word in the original, than that before used in verse. 6. but of the same signification, as appeareth also after in Nū. 23. 7. 8. It meaneth a piercing or striking thorough with evil speeches, and so is used for cursing or blaspheming: see the notes on Lev. 24. 11. be able to sight] or, prevail in fighting (or warring) against them, as the word is used for prevailing, in Isaiah. 7. 1• see before on verse. 6. Here Balaam having to deal with God that knoweth all things, would not corrupt their speech, but fully related the message sent unto him: but in his answer to the Princes, he dealeth otherwise, verse. 13.

Vers. 12. not curse] As the message had two branches, to go, and to curse; so God answereth unto, and forbiddeth both, adding a reason, because they were blessed. And as he forbide him to go to any other place, so he forbade him to curse them in any place, or where now he was. So that Balaam here might know the whole will of God about this business, and needed not to enquire what the Lord would speak unto him more, as he did in verse. 19. And though Israel had often provoked the Lord by their sins in the wilderness, yet would he not suffer the wicked to curse them, but made them heirs of that blessedness which belongeth to those whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sins are covered, Rom. 4. 6, 7. are blessed] and therefore may not be cursed of any; for the gifts and calling of God are without repentance, Rom. 11. 29. And when Jacob the father of this people had got the blessing of Isaac unawares, Esau could not get him to reverse it, but Isaac said, I have blessed him, yea and he shall be blessed, Gen. 27. 33. neither could Balaam with all his altars and sacrifices, procure God to change, but was himself forced also to bless them three times, Num. 24. 10. Wherefore they are after put in mind of this mercy, the LORD thy God would not hearken unto Balaam, but the LORD thy God turned the curse into a blessing unto thee, because the LORD thy God loved thee, Deut. 23. 5.

Vers. 13. Jehovah refuseth to give me] the Chaldee explaineth it, it pleaseth not the LORD to suffer me; and in Greek, God permitteth me not. Here Balaam telleth them but the first part of God's speech, concealing the other, and the reason which God gave, wherein the weight of the answer lay. If he had faithfully shown them the whole counsel of God, it might have stayed this evil enter prize, & cut off all occasion of further sending. But as a man loath to displease, and loving the proffered gain, he useth a faint and favorable speech, as if he should have said, I could be content and glad to gratify the King herein, but God will not suffer me at this time to go, the fault is not mine, therefore I pray you have me excused. The contrary duty is shown in Ier. 23. 28. The Prophet that hath a dream, let him tell the dream; and he that hath my word, let him speak my word faithfully, &c. and in the Apostles practice, who saith, I have not shunned to declare unto you all the counsel of God, Act. 20. 27.

Vers. 14. Balaam refuseth to come] in Greek, Balaam will not come. Observe Satan's practice against God's word, seeking to lessen the same, and that by degrees from hand to hand, till either he bring it to nothing, or at least pervert it to a wrong purpose. Balaam told the Princes less than God spake to him; and they relate to Balak less than Balaam told them; that when the answer came to the King, it was not now the word of God, but of man; it was only Balaam refuseth to come; as if God had not forbidden or hindered this action, but only there wanted a will in the Prophet; there being no word brought either of the Lord's will touching his people, or of their blessed estate, as was signified in verse. 12. Hereupon grew occasion for this mischief to be further followed; and Balaam was the second time solicited with stronger temptations than before, verse. 15, 16. &c.

Vers. 15. moe, and more honorable] or, greater and more honorable. Of the Hebrews, Sol. Rashi gathereth from Balaam's words to go with you, v. 13. that he being haughty and of a proud spirit, insinuated thereby, as if with them he might not go, but with other greater than they he might: but this is uncertain. The holy Ghost showeth rather, how Balaam's word (as it was related,) was so far from causing the King to leave off his wicked purpose, that it was as a whetstone to sharpen it; and caused him to attempt it a fresh with stronger assaults both in persons and proffers.

Vers. 16. Be not letted] or, be not forbidden, or withholden; the Greek translateth, I pray thee delay not (or slack not) to come unto me: w<sup>ch</sup> phrase is used in Act. 9. 38. where the disciples send to Peter, desiring him that he would not delay to come to them. It meaneth here, that Balaam neither of his own will, nor by any other means would be stayed or hindered from coming.

Vers. 17. Honouring I will honor thee] that is, I will surely and highly honor thee, which the Greek explaineth, I will honorably honor thee. This offer, as it agreed with the majesty of the King, so with the ambition and covetousness of the Prophet: and Satan so carried the matter between them, as made most for his advantage. By this bait he allured the woman to eat of the forbidden fruit, promising unto her opening of eyes, and likeness unto God, Gen. 3. and by it he hoped to have taken Christ himself, when he promised to give him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them, Matth. 4. 8, 9. and now with it he prevailed over Balaam, and still doth over Prophets of Balaam's spirit. I will do] in Greek, I will do unto thee. The kings of the earth, if they may have their desires fulfilled, will honor their Prophets, and do all that they say. Thus the Prophets of Baal were fed at Jezebels table, when the Prophets of the Lord were fed in caves, with bread and water, 1 King. 18. 19, 13. and the witnesses of Christ prophesy in sackcloth, Rev. 11. 3.

Vers. 18. I cannot go beyond] or, I may not transgress. The word signifieth sometime unabilitie, whereby a man cannot; sometime unlawfulness, whereby one may not, and consequently will not do a thing; as in Gen. 34. 14. and 43. 32. and 44. 26. Balaam's speech here seemeth to imply all; for as he might not lawfully, being forbidden of God; so neither could he, being restrained of God, who would not suffer him to curse Israel. But for Balaam's will, it was corrupt, being in love with the wages of unrighteousness, 2 Pet. 2. 15. therefore he sought of God that he might have done it, Num. 23. 1. 14. but the Lord would not hear him, Deut. 23. 5. the mouth] that is, as the Greek openeth it, the word; in Chaldee, the decree of the word of the LORD. Jehovah my God] by this it appeareth, that Balaam the Syrian (and so the people to whom he was a Prophet,) did know and worship the true God, though corruptly, and it may be other gods also with him. And that other people's, as the Temanites, Shubites, Naamathites and Buzites, kept the knowledge and service of the true God, is manifest by Job's history, Job. 2. 11. and 32. 2. and 42. 7, 8, 9. Also the Name of God Jehovah was both known and pronounced by Balaam, and other people's, together with the Hebrews, who now many ages since have abstained from pronouncing of it, as is noted on Num. 6. 24. less or more] or, little or great: understand, little thing or great, (as the phrase is more fully expressed in 1 Sam. 20. 2. and 22. 15. and 25. 36.) meaning anything at all; to which the Greek addeth, of mine own mind. In Balaam here is a picture of covetous hypocrites, which pretend they would not do against the Word of God, for an house full of gold, when they will do it for an handful: as this Prophet labored with all his might to do the thing which God had forbidden him.

Vers. 19. that I may know] or, and I will know, (that is, inquire) what Jehovah will add to speak with me, that is, will speak more unto me. Here he beginneth to discover himself and his love to Balaks wages, in that he resteth not in God's will, plainly revealed to him before: and that he tempteth God by this second consultation, as if he were changeable like himself, and would respect the person of the King or Prophet, to speak otherwise than he had done. For where he pretended to know more, he intended and desired to hear otherwise, and contrary to that which he knew to be the mind of God. But God's people should rest in that which they know to be his word and will; and if any teach otherwise, to let him be accursed, Galat. 1. 8, 9.

Vers. 20. If the men be come] that is, Forasmuch is, or, Seeing the men are come. So the word If meaneth also in Song 1. 8. go with them] God's permitting of Balaam to go with these second Ambassadors, when he had forbidden him to go with the first, was in wrath against the Prophet, who stood not in the Lord's first counsel: and therefore he was in danger to have died by the sword of the Angel, verse 33. and •aindeed slain by the sword of Israel, Ios. 13. 22. In the mean time, both he and the King had hope that they might effect their evil purpose, seeing that God himself seemed to change his mind: so being hardened, they went on, with altars and sacrifices, to procure leave from God to 〈...〉 se his people, Num. 23. 1. For when men will not hearken to the voice of the Lord, he withdraweth his grace, and giveth them up to the perver intendment of their own heart, and lets them walk in their own counsels, Psal. 81. 12, 13. but yet] or, but surely the word, &c. By this restraint, God signifieth the continuance of his good will towards Israel, though in such words, as Balaam might still conceive hope to obtain his desire: for the first answer was plain, thou shalt not curse the people, verse. 12. in which he not resting, hath now a darker Oracle, thou shalt do the word that I shall speak unto thee, when he knew not what God would speak. Thus when the will of God is known and not regarded, he taketh from men the certainty of their knowledge, and causeth his word to be dark and doubtful unto them, so that they stumble at it, 1 Pet. 2. 8. the Sun goeth down over the Prophets, and the day is dark over them, Mich. 3. 6. Balaam thought he should have heard more from God, but heareth less, and loseth that which he had learned before. that shalt thou do] this both taught Balaam his duty, that he ought to do it willingly, and closely signified that that he should do, though against his will. For, the Lord bringeth to naught the counsel of the heathens, he maketh of none effect the devices of the people's: but the counsel of the Lord standeth forever, Psalm. 33. 10, 11. And he restraineth the wicked of their wills, putting his hook in their nose, and his bridle in their lips, Isaiah 37. 29. even Satan himself is limited, (as in Job's case, Job 1. 12. and 2. 6.) and cannot hurt the very swine, without leave from the Lord, Mat. 8. 31, 32.

Vers. 21. in the morning] as Abraham being spoken to of God to sacrifice his son, rase early in the morning and saddled his Ass, and took two of his young men with him, &c. Gen. 22. 3. showing his readiness to obey the will of the Lord, though with the loss of his only son whom he loved: so Balaam here riseth in the morning, saddleth his Ass, and taketh two of his young men with him, verse. 22. showing his greediness to get preferment, and the wages of iniquity which he loved, though with the loss of the favor of God, and (in the end) of his own life. God's children run not so fast in the way of his commandments, when he enlargeth their heart, Psalm. 119. 32. but the children of Satan run as fast to evil, and make haste to shed innocent blood, Isaiah 59. 7. They run and prepare themselves without iniquity in God's people, Psal. 59. 4, 5. So are the ways of everyone that is greedy of gain, which taketh away the life of the owners thereof, Prov. 1. 16, 19.

Vers. 22. God's anger was kindled] in Greek, God was angry in wrath. The judgments of God are a great depth, Psalm. 36. 7. he is often offended, and that justly, when men do that which he saith Do, because they do it not with that mind, and to that end which he requireth, Isaiah 10. 6, 7. and his word or leave, is in displeasure against sinners that have no love to the truth. The young Prophets of Jericho would have leave to send fifty men to seek Elijah's body, but Elisha forbade them: after by their importunacie, he said, Send. They sent, and sought, but found him not: then Elisha gave them this reproof, Did not I say unto you, Go not, 2. King. 2. 16, 17, 18. As they ought to have rested in the Prophets first word, so should Balaam have done fiere in the first answer of God; and for not doing it, wrath from the Lord was upon him. the Angel of Iebovah] this Angel speaketh as the Lord him-self, only the word that I shall speak unto thee, that shalt thou speak, v. 35. Wherefore this seemeth to be Christ, the Angel which redeemed Jacob from all evil, Gen. 48. 16. and now cometh to redeem Jacob's children from the curse intended against them; the Angel that was sent before Israel, to keep them in their way, in whom Jehovah's name was, Exo. 23. 20, 21. even Michael the great prince, which standeth for his people, Dan. 10. 21. and 12. 1. an adversary] in Hebr. Satan, which name when it is used for an adversary to God's people, usually meaneth the Devil, Job 1. 6. Mat. 4. 10. Rev. 12, 9. and 20. 2. but here being spoken of an adversary to the wicked, & defender of the church, is applied to an holy Angel, or to the Prince of Angels and men. And here the love of God unto Israel appeareth, that when he giveth a wicked man leave to go out against them, forthwith he sendeth his Angel to resist him, and to stand for the help of his chosen; as all the Angels are ministering spirits, sent forth to minister for them, who shall be heirs of salvation, Heb. 1. 14. two of his young men] that is, of his servants: see the notes on Exo. 33. 11. So Abraham went with two of his young men, Gen. 22. 3.

Vers. 23. the Ass saw the Angel] It pleaseth God to confound the wisdom of the wise and arrogant, by base and contemptible means, for the foolishness of God is wiser than (the wisdom of) men, 1 Cor. 1. 25. Balaam was a great Prophet, accustomed to visions and revelations, yet saw not with his eyes, neither knew with all his skill (v. 34.) that the Angel stood against him, whom his Ass, a rude and silly beast, did see and avoid, to the safety of his master: and he that could advertise others of things that should befall them, Num. 24. 14. could not advertise himself of the danger of death w<sup>ch</sup> was before him. So God destroyeth the wisdom of the wise, and bringeth to naught the understanding of the prudent, 1 Cor. 1. 19. When visions appeared, the Prophets were wont to see them, and others in their company saw them not, as in Dan. 10. 7. & Act. 9. 7. here the Prophet seeth nothing, but the beast under him hath the eyes opened to see the apparition. his sword drawn] a sign of wrath and vengeance; so David saw the Angel that plagued Israel with a drawn sword in his hand, 1 Chron. 21. 16. and Joshua the like, in that Angels hand, who as captain of the Lord's host, was to destroy the Canaanites, Ios. 5. 13. 14. Balaam went with a purpose to curse Israel, and after to have them killed with the sword: his curses would have been like the piercings of a sword, Prov. 12. 18. he had whetted his tongue as a sword, and bent his arrow, even a bitter word, Ps. 64. 4. the Lord to reward him according to his works, sendeth out a sword against him. the Ass turned aside] The beasts, and fowls, and other brutish creatures, are often taken to teach & convince men, Job 12. 7, 8. Isaiah 1. 3. Ier. 8. 7. & Balaam's folly was reproved here by the action of this dumb beast, as after it was by words, Nū. 22. 28, 30. 2 Pet. 2. 16. Balaam's way was perverse before the Lord, v. 32. he had forsaken the right way, & went astray, 2 Pet. 2. 15. the asse turning aside out of the way, might have taught him to have desisted from his evil course. The Ass avoideth the danger & evil before his eyes; the master being blinded with ambition and covetousness, seeth it not, but would go on to destruction, v. 33. smote the asse] the Greek here addeth, with his rod (or staff) which is taken from v. 27. As he that judgeth another, condemneth himself doing the same things, Rom. 2. 1. so the Prophet in smiting his beast, showeth himself to be worthy of moe stripes, doing much worse than it. A whip for the horse, a bridle for the asse, and a rod for the fools back, Prov. 26. 3.

V. 24. and a wall] in Chaldee, and another wall. The Angel needed not have chosen such places; but these things happened unto Balaam for ensamples, and are written for our admonition: for when men go on in a way not good, if they escape one peril, they fall into another greater, and at last into inevitable danger; as the Prophet signifieth by fear, and pit, and snare; He that fleeth from the fear shall fall into the pit; and he that getteth up out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare, Ier. 48. 43, 44.

Vers. 25. and thrust Balaam's foot] or, pressed, crushed his foot. This word is used in 2 Kings 6. 32. where the Kings messenger, who was sent to take away Elisha's head, was pressed (or crushed) in the door. God by this second sign came nearer unto Balaam, who went on in his perverse way, and withal discovereth the vanity of his art, who being a diviner, could not presage the evil that should befall him, though such things as these happened in his way; which in the opinion of vain men, are signs of ill luck: and therefore by the grounds of his own craft, should have turned him back, or made him to suspect at least that his journey should be unfortunate: see 1 Sam. 6. 2, 3. 9. But God taketh the wise in their own craftiness, and the counsel of the froward is carried headlong: they meet with darkness in the day time, and grope in the noon day, as in the night. But he saveth the poor from the sword, from their mouth, and from the hand of the mighty, Job 5. 13, 14, 15. The children of God have the Angels to keep them in all their ways, and to bear them up, lest they dash their foot against a stone, Palm. 91. 11, 12. But Balaam tempting the Lord, hath his Angel to withstand him, whereby his foot is crushed against the wall: yet maketh he no good use thereof.

Vers. 26. no way to turn aside] In this carriage of the Angel, the Lord would have us see the proceeding of his judgments against sinners; first more mildly, shaking his rod at them, but letting them go untouched; then coming nearer, he toucheth them with an easy correction, as it were wringing their foot against a wall; but bringeth them at last to such a strait, as they can no way escape his hand, but must fall before him.

Vers. 27. Balaam's anger was kindled] the wrath [unspec] of man worketh not the righteousness of God, I am. 1. 20. but a furious man aboundeth in transgression, Prov. 29. 22. Balaam learned no good by this strange carriage of his beast, but is more enraged, and smiteth it, not knowing that by means of it his own life was saved, verse. 33. This foolishness of the Prophet the dumb beast reproveth, verse. 28. &c. and in him God would let us see the nature of wicked men, which make no good use of his works, neither see his providence in the creatures, the service whereof he lendeth unto them.

Vers. 28. opened the mouth of the Ass] that the dumb asse spake with man's voice, 2 Pet. 2. 16. by wick miracle the Prophet had not only a rebuke, but a cause of fear and astonishment, yet hardened he himself against it also, and pleaded for to maintain his folly, verse. 29. so no works, signs or miracles, are able to change the hardness of man's heart, but grace from God only, John 12. 37, 38. And here we may observe how the devil, to draw into sin, chose the Serpent for his instrument, the most subtle beast of the field, Gen. 3. 1. but God to rebuke and convince the wicked, useth the Ass, the most silly of all beasts: showing as in a figure, how Satan's continual practice is to corrupt men's minds from the simplicity that is in Christ, by deceitful workers, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive, 2

Cor. 11. 3. 13. Ephes. 4. 14. whiles Christ sendeth men to preach the Gospel, not with wisdom of words, but with the plain demonstration of the truth, and chooseth the foolish things of the world to confound the wise, the weak things of the world to confound the mighty, and base things of the world, and things despised, yea and things which are not, to bring to naught things that are, 1 Cor. 1. 17. 27, 28. For the children of this world are in their generation wiser than the children of light, Luke 16. 8.

Vers. 29. I would kill thee] The Prophet is neither dismayed with the speaking of his dumb beast nor abated from his wrath, but increaseth in evil, who before he knew or inquired of the cause, would presently kill the Ass that saved his life. A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast, but the bowels of the wicked are cruel, Prov. 12. 10. If Balaam looked for such good service of the beast (... ) beast, and would not be mocked or abused thereby, he being a reasonable creature, and wiser than many, should much less have mocked with God, and resisted his counsel: but by his own words against his Ass, he condemneth him-self, being guilty of death for his sin against God, as the Angel showeth in verse. 32, 33.

Vers. 30. ever since I was thine] or, since thou, to wit, hast had me: the Greek translateth it, from by youth: the Chaldee, since thou hast been: and the Hebrew phrase sometime so meaneth, as in Gen. 8. 15. since I was; where the Greek also expoundeth it, from my youth. was I ever wont] (∞∞) I accustoming been accustomed? By this demand, the beast convinceth the Prophets foolishness, who should have gathered that some extraordinary cause moved it thus to do, seeing it had never done so before: & teacheth us, that whē the creatures depart from their kind, and customed obedience unto us, we should look for the cause thereof in ourselves: for our sins against God, occasion the creatures to rebel against us, Levite. 26. 20, 21, 22.

Vers. 31. uncovered the eyes] opened them to see the Angel as the Ass did before him, verse. 23. signifying, that as men cannot see the marvelous things of his Law, unless he uncover their eyes, (... ) s. 119. 18. so neither can they behold the deaths and dangers that are to come on them for the transgression of his Law, unless he reveal them, Isaiah 47. 11. The way of the wicked is as darkness, they know not at what they stumble, Pro. 4. 19. bowed himself down on his face] or, to his face; as the Greek translateth, he bowed down to his face, that is, worshipped the face or person of the Angel.

Vers. 32. Wherefore hast thou smitten, &c.] The Angel rebuketh the misusage of his beast, which ought not to be smitten without cause; how much less then might he smite innocent men, with the curse of his tongue? And God, who saveth man and beast. Psal. 36. 7. and commanded that the beasts also should rest from their •oil on the Sabbath day, Deut. 5. 14. and defendeth their innocence against their cruel masters, will much more defend the cause of his people against their wrongful oppressors, Exod. 22. 23. thy way is perverse] or, the way which thou goest is perverse, that is, thy purpose and intent in going this journey, is contrary to my will which I first revealed unto thee, verse. 12. The Chaldee paraphraseth thus, because it is manifest before me, that then wouldst go in away against me. The Apostle openeth and applieth it against the Balaamites of his time, in these words; an heart they have exercised with covetous practices, children of the curse, which have forsaken the right way, and are gone astray, following the way of Balaam (the son) of Bosor, who loved the wages of unrighteousness, 2 Pet. 2. 14, 15. The Apostle Jude (in verse. 11.) calleth it the error of Balaam.

Vers. 33. turned aside before me] or, at my face or presence: so after, turned aside from me, or, from my face or presence. I had slain thee] or, killed thee: in the Angels former words the justice of his judgment is implied; for if Balaam did smite his Ass, for turning aside out of the way, verse. 23. and would have killed her for falling down under him, though thereby his life was saved, verse. 29. how much more deserved he himself to be smitten and killed, for departing out of the Lord's way, and following his own crooked ways, with a purpose to destroy the lives of his people Israel. Therefore a woe is pronounced on those that run greedily after Balaam's error for reward, Jude verse. 11. saved her alive] as we have an example in the Prophet, who being disobedient unto the mouth of the Lord, a lion met him by the way and slew him, but the Ass whereon he rode was not torn, 1 King. 13. 23, 24, 26, 28.

Vers. 34. I have sinned] this seemeth to be acknowledged, for his smiting of the Ass, and his reason following so showeth: but the sin that lay hid in his heart, his wicked purpose & covetousness, he dissembleth, & prosecuteth still unto the end. if it be evil in thine eyes] that is, as the Greek translateth, if it please thee not; meaning, that he should go on his journey. He could not be ignorant, that his evil intent to curse God's people for his own promotion, was most evil in the Lord's eyes, and the cause why the Angel came out against him; but concealing that, he speaketh of his outward actions, and faintly offereth to turn back, with an if it were evil. His love to the wages of unrighteousness caused him thus to speak, together with the leave which God had given him, in verse. 20. fain he would go, but if necessity constrain him he will turn back.

Vers. 35. Go with the men] When neither the first words of God who forbade him, v. 12. nor the signs and dangers which met him by the way, could turn his heart, or deliver him from his error, the Lord again biddeth him go on, so giving him up to his own lusts; which he followed to his destruction. See the notes on v. 20. So Rashi explaineth these words, Go with the men, for thy portion is with them, and thine end to perish out of the world.

Vers. 36. he went out to meet him] for to welcome him, and entertain him with honor; as Moses to like end, went out to meet his father in law, Exod. 18. 7. and Joseph went out to meet Israel his father, Gen. 46. 29. and the kings of Sodom & of Salem, to meet Abraham, Gen. 14. 17, 18. Heb. 7. 1. It showeth how greatly Balaam was respected of the King, as false prophets have always been of wicked Rulers, because they serve their lusts. It had been Moabs duty to have met their brother Israel with bread and water in the way when they came out of Egypt: but loe the King of Moab goeth out (even to the utmost border of his land) to meet this soothsayer, whom he had hired to curse Israel; therefore God commandeth his people not to seek their peace or good forever, Deut. 23. 3.—6. Arnon] the border between Moab and the Amorites, Num. 21. 13, 26.

Vers. 37. Did not I sending send] that is, earnestly send unto thee. Am I not able indeed] a vain boast, and such as had no effect; for he was not able indeed to honor Balaam in the end, but sent him away in wrath, and with disgrace, confessing that the LORD had kept him back from honor, Num. 24. 10, 11. But as Satan himself proudly offereth the kingdoms and glory of the world to those that will worship him, Mat. 4. 8, 9. so wicked Princes do offer promotion to false prophets and flatterers, which oftentimes God suffereth them not to perform: and they turn the edge of their sword against the Israel of God, which they are often forced to put up empty into the sheath, the Lord turning their intended curse into a blessing.

Vers. 38. am I able at all] the word is doubled for more vehemency, canning can I speak; that is, surely I cannot in any wise. He speaketh to excuse himself, signifying his willingness to gratify the king, as appeared by his coming to him, but showing withal his inability to do ought against God or his people. For the LORD their redeemer, he frustrateth the tokens of the ••rs, and maketh diviners mad; he turneth wise men backward, & maketh their knowledge foolish, Esa. 44. 25.

Vers. 39. Kirjath-huzeth] which is by interpretation, [unspec] the city of the outmost parts, or the city of streets. It is the name of a city, of the situation in the utmost part of the land; as the Chaldee interpreteth it, the city of his borders; and the old Latin version calleth it, the city which was in the utmost borders of his kingdom: w<sup>ch</sup> some think to be Ar, forementioned in Nū. 21. 28. called the corner of Moab, in Ier. 48. 45. Sol. Rashi in his annotations on this place expoundeth it, a city full of streets, men, and children in the outer parts of it.

Vers. 40. Balak slew oxen] either for sacrifice, (as the word is often used for sacrificing) or for a feast to welcome Balaam, or for both; as the Moabites used such idolatrous feasts whereof the people did eat, Num. 25. 1, 2. Thus Balak rejoiced at the coming of his friend, and received him with all royal solemnity. Wherein as we see the entertainment that this wicked prophet had, that his honor and good cheer might make him to forget the perils w<sup>ch</sup> he had passed, and might again fall into by the hand of God: so may we observe the contrary dealing of the LORD, and of this King. The Angel of the Lord came out as an adversary to withstand him; the King as a friend to welcome him. The King blameth him for coming no sooner; the Angel for going so soon. The Angel met him with a sword, to signify that that should be his end if he went on in his wickedness: the king receiveth him with a banquet, and all honorable entertainment, that by it, and hope of more gain and preferment, he might be encouraged to go on with his wicked enterprise. Between these two, Balaam chooseth the worser part for the honor of this world, though even that also was taken away from him. As the Partridge sitteth on eggs, and hatcheth them not: so he that getteth riches and not by right, shall leave them in the midst of his days, and at his end shall be a fool, Ier. 17. 11.

Vers. 41. in the morning] that is, the next day [unspec] early after the feast. Thus Balak delaieth no time, to accomplish his evil purpose, beginning the day with mischief. David was diligent in the mornings to destroy all the wicked of the land, Psal. 101. 8. Balak riseth early to destroy the people of God, and is of them whose feet run to evil, and they make haste to shed blood, Prov. 1. 16. the high places of Baal] in Greek, the pillar of Baal; the Chaldee expoundeth it, the high place of his fear, meaning of his god or idol whom he feared, (as God is called the Fear, in Psal. 76. 12.) and Targum Jonathan nameth it the Fear (or idol) of P•or; whereof see Num. 25. 3. Baal (by interpretation, a Lord, Master or Patron) is a name given to the idols of many nations, which they used to worship on high places, hills or mountains, De••. 12. 2. And here do Balak and Balaam build altars and offer sacrifices, Numb. 23. 1. that they might curse Israel; for as God sendeth his people help from his Sanctuary, and supporteth them out of Zion, Psalms. 20. 2. and cometh unto them to bless them, in all places where he putteth the memorial of his name, Exod. 10. 24. so the Idolaters thought of their high places, that they were the fittest to obtain their requests in, from the hand of God, though it were to curse his people. that he might see] or, and he saw, meaning Balaam: the Greek translath, and he (to wit, Balak) shown him a part of the people, to wit, of Israel: whom he would have him to behold, that his curse might be the more powerful and effectual. See Num. 23. 13.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Balaam and Balak offer sacrifices. 4 God meeteth Balaam, and putteth in his mouth a blessing, which offendeth Balak. 13 They come to another place to curse the people of the Lord, and there again they offer sacrifices. 16 God meeteth Balaam, and putteth in his mouth a more ample blessing. 26 Balak being more offended, bringeth Balaam to a third place, where also they sacrifice.

AND Balaam said unto Balak, Build me here seven altars, and prepare me here seven bullocks, and seven rams. And Balak did as Balaam had spoken, and Balak and Balaam offered a bullock and a ram on an altar. And Balaam said unto Balak; Stand by thy Burnt-offering, and I will go, peradventure Jehovah will come to meet me, and what word soever he showeth me, I will tell thee: and he went to an high place. And God met Balaam, and he said unto him, I have prepared seven altars, and I have offered a bullock and a ram on an altar. And Jehovah put a word in Balaam's mouth, and said, Return unto Balak, and thus thou shalt speak. And he returned unto him, and loe he stood by his Burnt-offering; he, and all the Princes of Moab. And he took up his parable, and said, Balak the King of Moab hath brought me from Aram, from the mountains of the East, (saying;) Come curse me Jacob, and come deie Israel. How shall I curse whom God hath not cursed, and how shall I deie whom Jehovah hath not defied? For from the top of the rocks I see him, and from the hills I behold him: loe the people shall dwell alone, and shall not be reckoned among the Nations. Who can count the dust of Jacob, and [unspec] the number of the fourth part of Israel? Let my soul die the death of the righteous men, and let my last end be like his. And Balak [unspec] said unto Balaam; What hast thou done unto me? I took thee to curse mine enemies; and behold, blessing thou hast blessed them. And he answered, and said, Must I not take heed to speak that which Jehovah hath put in my mouth?

And Balak said unto him, Come I pray thee with me unto another place, that thou mayest see them from thence; thou shalt see but the utmost part of them, and shalt not see them all, and curse me them from thence.

And he took him to the field of Zophim, to the top of Pisgah; and he built seven altars, and offered a bullock and a ram on an altar. And he said unto Balak; Stand here, by thy Burnt-offering, and I will meet yonder. And Jehovah met Balaam, and put a word in his mouth, and said, Return unto Balak, and thus thou shalt speak. And he came unto him, and lo he stood by his burnt offering, and the Princes of Moab with him; and Balak said unto him, What hath Jehovah spoken? And he took up his parable, and said, Rise up Balak, and hear▪ hearken unto me thou son of Zippor. God is not a man that he should lie, or a son of Adam that he should repent: hath he said, and shall he not do? and hath he spoken, and shall he not confirm it? Behold I have received to bless, and he hath blessed, & I can not reverse it. He hath not beheld iniquity in Jacob, neither hath he seen perverseness in Israel: Jehovah his God is with him, and the showt of a King is among them. God brought them forth out of Egypt; he hath as the strengths of an Unicorn. Surely there is no enchantment against Jacob, nor divination against Israel; according to this time, it shall be said of Jacob, and of Israel, What hath God wrought? Behold, the people shall rise up as a courageous Lion, and lift up himself as a renting lion: he shall not lie down until he eat the prey, and drink the blood of the slain. And Balak said unto Balaam, Neither cursing curse him, nor blessing bless him. And Balaam answered and said unto Balak; Spake I not unto thee, saying; All that Jehovah speaketh that I must do? And Balak said unto Balaam; Come I pray thee, I will take thee unto another place; peradventure it will be right in the eyes of God, that thou shalt curse me them from thence.

And Balak took Balaam unto the top of Peor that looketh toward Ieshimon. And Balaam said unto Balak, Build me here seven altars, and prepare me here seven bullocks and seven rams. And Balak did as Balaam had said, and he offered a bullock and a ram on an altar.

Annotations.

Build me here] or, Build for me in this place seven altars. Balaam here bewrayeth his impiety, when instead of dissuading the king from his evil enterprise, by the word of God, who had forbidden him to curse Israel, Num. 22. 12. he attempteth together with him, to effect his wicked purpose; and that (which is worst of all) under the color of religious actions, building altars, and offering sacrifices to God, hereby to entreat and obtain leave of him to curse his people. For it was the manner in those days to seek the Lord, and obtain his favor by sacrifice, Gen. 46. 1, 2. &c. 1 Sam. 13. 9, 12. Hos. 5. 6. Thus Balaam hath soon forgotten the Oracle of God, the sword of the Angel, and dangers that he so hardly escaped by the way, and greedily runneth after the error of his evil heart, fulfilling the saying of the Prophet, Let favor be shown to the wicked, yet will he not learn righteousness, Isaiah. 26. 10. prepare me] or, prepare for me. As Balak said, Curse me Jacob, and deie Israel: so Balaam saith, Build me altars, and prepare me sacrifices; his intent being not to honor God, but to curse his people. Thus religion is made a cloke of wickedness. The sacrifice of the wicked is abomination: how much more when he bringeth it with a wicked mind, Prov. 21. 27. God desireth mercy and not sacrifice, Hos. 6. 6. But Balaam was of their religion which think that gain is godliness, 1 Tim. 6. 5. and for the wages of iniquity, abuseth the ordinances of the blessed God, unto cursing and cruelty. seven bullocks] as bullocks and rams were sacrifices which God himself required in the Law, Levite. 1. and which the Patriarchs had learned from God of old, Gen. 15. 9. so seven was a number sanctified of God for many mysteries, (as is noted on Levite. 4. 6.) and particularly in sacrifices, as he said to Job's friends, Take unto you now seven bullocks and seven rams, and go to my servant Job, and offer up for yourselves a Burnt-offering, Job 42. 8. So at the bringing up of the Ark, David and the Elders of Israel offered seven bullocks and seven rams, 1 Chron. 15. 26. and Hezekiah with the rulers brought seven bullocks, & seven rams, and seven lambs, and seven he- goats for a Sin-offering for the kingdom, &c. 2 Chron. 29. 21. Wherefore the Aramites, Moabites, and other nations, having learned from their ancestors the manner of sacrificing unto God, retained it till Moses time, and long after, though corrupted with their own superstitions, and abused to much impiety. Hereupon Balaam sacrificeth to the Lord in this sort, to purchase favor of him, and vainly boasteth unto God him-self of his good work, v. 4. And according to this number, it is seven times said of Balaam, that he took up his parable, Num. 23. 7. 18. and Num. 24. 3. 15. 20. 21, 23.

Vers. 2. Balak did] Though Chemosh was Balaks God, Num. 21. 29. yet now by Balaam's counsel he sacrificeth to Jehovah the God of Israel v. 3. 17. as unstable men in hope to obtain their purposes are easily drawn to communicate with all religions true or false, & to make a sinful mixture of them, 2 King. 17. 28, 29,—33. Ezz. 4. 1. 2. Act. 17. 23. on an altar] that is, as the Chaldee explaineth it, on every altar. The altar being an holy ordinance, w<sup>ch</sup> sanctified the offering, Matth. 23. 19. and a figure of Christ, Heb. 13. 10. John. 17. 19. they (for the more sanctimony) offer their gifts on several altars. Wherein they add superstition to the religion received from the fathers: for holy men used one altar in a place, though many sacrifices, 〈◇〉 . 8. 20. & 12. 7. and 13. 4. 18. and 26. 25. and 33. 20. and 35. 〈◇〉 Exod. 17. 15. and 24. 4. but Idolaters accustomed themselves to many altars, 2 Kings 18. 22. Ier. 11. 13. Hos. 10. 1. & 12. 11. Amos 3. 14. Esa. 17. 8. such many altars were multiplied to sin, Hos. 8. 11.

Vers. 3. Stand] or, Present thyself, to wit, unto God, here by thy burnt-offering, and go not with me: as they were wont to stand by their sacrifices whiles they burned, and present themselves there unto the Lord, who first had respect unto the offerer, and then unto the gift, Gen. 4. 4, 5. so Balak and his princes were to stay there, if perhaps God would respect their persons. peradventure Jehovah 〈◇〉 come] or, as the Greek translateth, if perhaps the Lord will appear. Balaam went now to meet with enchantments, or signs of good luck, Num. 24. 1. w<sup>ch</sup> after the manner of false Prophets, he coloureth with the name of the Lord. what word] or, what thing soever. to an high place] to a cliffe o• the rock: or, solitary, to a solitary place: and thus the Chaldee expounds it, he went alone. He went as sooth sayers were wont, to an high & solitary place, to make his prayers, and to observe signs if any should appear.

Vers. 4. God met Balaam] in Greek, God appeared to Balaam; in Chaldee, the word from before the LORD met (or came unto) Balaam: and so again in v. 16. Though he sought the Lord both by an unlawful means of enchantment, Num. 24. 1. Deu. 18. 10. and to a wicked end, that he might curse Israel, Deut. 23. 4, 5. yet the Lord meeteth with him, and putteth his word in his mouth, for the good of his people. So when Nebuchadnezzar used divinations, and consulted with Idols, being unresolved whether he should first war against the Jews or the Ammonites, the Lord so disposed of it, that he first fell upon the Jews, and signified the same to his Prophet, Ezek. 21. 19.—23. he said] that is, as the Greek explaineth it, Balaā said. I have prepared] or, I have ordered. He vainly glorieth of his religious works before God, supposing that he would be pleased with his many altars and sacrifices wherewith he honored him; and with all implying his request, that he might have leave to curse Israel: but the Lord would not hear Balaam, Deut. 23. 5. for he hath not so great delight in Burnt-offerings and sacrifices, as in obedience to his voice, 1 Sam. 15. 22. To do justice and judgment, is more acceptable to the LORD, than sacrifice, Prov. 21. 3.

Vers. 5. put a word in Balaam's mouth] The Lord giveth no answer to Balaam's boasting speech, nor showeth any regard of his altars and sacrifices, (which were an abomination unto him, Prov. 15. 8.) but sendeth him back with a blessing upon his people, contrary to his own and the kings desire and expectation. The preparations of the heart in man, and the answer of the tongue from the LORD, Prov. 16. 1.

Vers. 7. he took up his parable] the parable of his prophesy, saith Targum Jonathan. By taking up, is meant apronouncing with an high voice; so God would have them all take knowledge of his word against them, and for his people. By a parable or proverb, is meant a grave speech, which groweth into common use among men. And it is used both in the good part, for excellent matter of doctrine and comfort, as Job 27. 1. and 29. 1. Prov. 1. 1. and in the evil part, for proverbs of reproach and reprehension, as in Deut. 28. 37. Isaiah 14. 4. Parables also are opposed to plain and familiar speeches easy to be understood, Ezek. 20. 49. John. 16. 25. so now God speaketh by Balaam to the wicked Moabites, but in parables; that seeing, they might not see; and hearing, they might not understand, as in Luke 8. 10. brought me from Aram] to wit, frō Aram naharajim, or Mesopotamia, as Moses showeth in Deut. 23. 4. and so the Greek here translateth, sent for me out of Mesopotamia; and Targum Jonathan explaineth it, Aram which is by Euphrates. See the notes on Gen. 24. 10. and Numb. 22. 5. of the east] situate eastward from Moabs and Israel's land: that country was infamous for sorcery and divination, Isaiah 2. 6. defy] or, detest, with angry threats, and hateful indignation, as the word signifieth in Dan. 11. 30. The Greek translateth it Acourse.

Vers. 8. whom God hath not cursed?] Thus the Greek also readeth, adding the word whom: such wants the Scripture sometime supplieth; as, this house is high, 1 King. 9. 8. for this house which is high, 2 Chron. 7 21. Otherwise it may be translated, How shall I curse? God hath not cursed. Targum Jonathan explaineth it, How shall I curse, when the word of the Lord blessed them? Here God by Balaam's own mouth reproveth the error of the King, who had sent so far twice to fetch him, that of himself was able to do nothing in this business; and taxeth the vanity of this Art of Magicke or divination, which is not able either to help or hurt any without leave from God. So the Babylonian is convinced by the prophet, saying, Stand now with thine enchantments, and with the multitude of thy sorceries, wherein thou hast labored from thy youth, if so be thou shalt be able to profit, if so be thou mayest prevail. Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels; let now the Astrologers, the Star-gazers, the monthly Prognosticators stand up, and sav thee from those things that shall come upon thee. Behold, they shall be as stubble, the fire shall burn them, &c. Isaiah 47. 12, 13, 14.

Vers. 9. For from the top] or, when from the top (Hebr. the head) of the rocks, I see him, meaning, the people, spoken of as one body. I behold him] in Greek, I consider him, speaking again of the people: as Targum Jonathan explaineth it, I consider this people. Balak brought him to the mountains, that seeing the people from thence, he might the more easily curse them: but the sight of them did so amaze him, as he blessed them. Thus all occasions and circumstances which the wicked choose for their advantage, God turneth against them, and for the accomplishment of his own will. shall dwell alone] separated from other people's. And this further signifieth, how they should be sufficiently provided for of God, having neither need nor fear of other people's; for so dwelling alone, implieth a security from evil; as in Ier. 49. 31. And thus Moses blessing them, said, Israel shall dwell in confident safety alone, Deut. 33. 28. shall not be reckoned] or, shall not reckon themselves: this respecteth their faith in God, and service of him, whereby they were his peculiar, and separated from other people's, as Exod. 19. 5. Lev. 20. 24, 26. Ezer. 9. 2. So Christ hath chosen his Church out of the world, John. 15. 19. 1 Pet. 2. 9. and this grace the faithful apply unto themselves, as it is said, We know that we are of God, and the whole world lieth in wickedness, 1 John. 5. 19.

Vers. 10. Who can count] that is, None can count, they are so many, Heb. Who counteth; which the Chaldee expoundeth, who can (or is able to) count. And thus the Scripture sometime explaineth it self; as, Not that which goeth into the mouth, defileth a man, Matth. 15. 11. that is, can defile him, Mark. 7. 15. See the Annotations on Gen. 13. 6. So after in verse. 20. the dust of Jacob] that is, the children of Jacob; as the Greek translateth it, the seed of Jacob. Here Balaam's mouth confirmeth the promise which God made of old unto Jacob, saying, Thy seed shall be as the dust of the earth, Gen. 28. 14. and the like was before unto Abraham, I will multiply thy seed as the stars of heaven, and as the sand which is upon the sea shore, Gen. 22. 17. And thus the Chaldee here expoundeth it, Who can count the little ones of the house of Jacob, of whom it was said, they shall be multiplied as the dust of the earth. of the fourth part] or, of a quarter, as the Chaldee explaineth it, of one of the four camps of Israel: for they camped about the Tabernacle in four quarters, Numb. 2. Whereas the promise of the blessing to Abraham consisted of two branches; 1. that God would give the land of Canaan to him and to his seed forever: 2. and that he would make his seed as the dust of the earth, Gen. 13. 15, 16. under which, spiritual graces in Christ were also comprehended: the Lord causeth Balaam here to ratify them both, for their dwelling alone in the land, and for their innumerable increase. And whereas Balak envied their multitude, and would therefore have them cursed, that they might be diminished, Num. 22. 3, 5, 6. Balaam is here forced to utter a blessing for their further increase. Thus God resisteth him in all his counsels and enterprises. Let my soul die] that is, Let me die: an Hebrew phrase, whereby the soul is put for the person, I, thou, or he: and death is the departure of the soul from the body, Gen. 35. 18. Then dust returneth unto the earth as it was, and the spirit returneth to God that gave it, Eccles. 12. 7. So Samson said, Let my soul die with the Philistines, Judge. 16. 30. the death of the righteous men] the Greek translateth, with the souls of the just men; meaning the righteous of Israel, as the Chaldee explaineth it, the death of the just men thereof, that is, of that people. Balaam, who lived the life of the wicked, desireth (as many do) to die the death of the righteous: but as he lived, so he died among the enemies of God, by the sword of Israel, Numb. 31. 8. Howbeit he pronounceth here a greater blessing upon Israel, as they that were happy not only in life, but in death. For, righteousness (which is by faith in Christ, Phil. 3. 9.) delivereth from death; but when a wicked man dieth, his expectation perisheth, Prov. 11. 4, 7. Here also Balaam testifieth of the souls immortality, and different case of good & bad: for otherwise what were the death of the righteous better than of the wicked? let my last end] or, let my posterity. The original word sometime signifieth the end, opposed to the beginning, as in Deut. 11. 12. Prov. 19. 20. and so the Chaldee translateth it here, let my end be like theirs: sometime it is the posterity, or children which come after; as in Dan. 11. 4. Amos 5. 2. Psal. 109. 13. and in this sense the Greek Interpreters understood it here, saying, and let my seed be like their seed: thus Balaam prophesieth a blessing also to the seed of every righteous Israelite, according to the promise made unto Abraham and his seed after him, Gen. 17. 7. And further, this word, end, is often used for reward, which is after labors, Prov. 23. 18. and 24. 20. 1 Pet. 1. 9. which also may be implied here, of a blessed reward which the righteous have after this life in heaven, Mat. 5. 12. But Balaam being a minister of Satan, though transformed as a minister of righteousness, his end was according to his works, as the Apostle telleth us of all such, 2 Cor. 11. 15.

Vers. 11. I took thee to curse mine enemies] Balak who had before built altars, and offered sacrifices, as to serve the Lord with great devotion, being now crossed in his purpose, manifesteth his hypocrisy, pride, malice, and notorious profanation of religious exercises; in that he regarded not, nor rested in the answer of God by Balaam, but opposed his own will, as that which the Prophet should have fulfilled; unjustly calleth the Israelites his enemies, who passed by him in peace; repineth against their blessing, and blameth the Prophet for pronouncing it.

Vers. 12. Must I not take heed to speak] or, Shall I not observe to speak. Though Balaam's will was bent to curse Israel for Balak's wages, yet could he not, because God restrained him: wherefore he bare his blame at the King's hand. And now to excuse himself, he signifieth not only the necessity laid upon him by the Lord, but a pretended care and observance in himself to speak his word only: thus the hypocrites mocked one with another; and he that sitteth in the heavens, laughed; the Lord had them both in derision, Psal. 2. 4.

Vers. 13. see but the utmost part of them] or, but a part of him, and shalt not see him all: speaking of Israel, as one body. The King gathered from Balaam's words, in verse. 9. that by seeing the whole multitude, he was dismayed; (so looking to the secondary cause, not to God the principal:) wherefore though he failed of his purpose at the first, he secōdeath it in another place, with hope to prevail; as the Syrians being foiled by Israel in the mountains, would fight against them in the plain, hoping there to be strōger than they, 1 King. 20. 20.—23. And when he could not have the whole people cursed, he bringeth Balaam to see a part of them as when the Dragon could not hurt the Woman (the Church) that escaped his persecution with her Eagles wings; he being wroth, went to make war with the remnant of her seed, Rev. 12. 13.—17. and as Amalek, who smote the hindmost of Israel, even all that were feeble behind them, Deut. 25. 17, 18.

Vers. 14. field of Zophim] that is by interpretation, of the Spies (or Scout-watches;) and the Greek interpreteth it, the Scout-watch of the field: it seemeth to be a place where they kept the watch of the country against enemies; as Sol. Rashi here saith, It was an high place, where the Spie stood to watch whether any forces came against the city▪ of Pisgah] or, of the hill, which the Chaldee expoundeth of the high place. Such hills and high places idolaters used to sacrifice upon, Deut. 12. 2. And Balak thought them lucky to achieve his purposes, but all in vain; as it is written, Truly in vain is salvation hoped for from the hills, and from the multitude of mountains: truly in •ehovah our God is the salvation of Israel, Ier. 3. 23. seven altars] so prosecuting their wickedness still, under color of religion: see the notes on verse. 1. 2.

Vers. 15. I will meet yonder] to wit, with Jehovah; and so the Greek explaineth it, I will go to enquire of God. See before in verse. 3, 4, &c.

Vers. 18. Rise up Balak] to hear the word of God with reverence; for at it even Kings were wont to rise up, when it was spoken: as afterward Eglon King of Moab also did, in Judge. 3. 20. •eark is unto me] that is, as the Chaldee explaineth it, unto my word.

Vers. 19. God is not a man, &c.] The Chaldee paraphraseth thus, The word of God is not like the speeches of the sons of man; for the sons of man do say and lie. By lying is meant failing in the performance of that which is spoken, as in Habak. 2. 3. Psal. 89. 35, 36. 2 King. 4. 16. that he should repent] The like testimony Samuel beareth of God before King Saul, The strength of Israel will not lie, nor repent; for he is not a man that he should repent, 1 Sam. 15. 25. Though the Scripture speaketh sometime of God, that he repenteth, as in Amos 7. 3, 6. •er. 18. 8. yet that is spoken of him, according to our capacity, because his work is changed, when he himself continueth unchangeable, for with him is no variableness, neither shadow of turning, I am. 1. 17. See the notes on Gen. 6. 6. In this speech of Balaam there is a reproof of Balaks ⟨◊⟩, who thought by his endeavours to turn God's affection from Israel, and therefore rested not in the word before revealed, but struggled against it still, as if God were false or variable. shall he not confirm it?] meaning, he will doubtless confirm and stablish it; as the Chaldee expoundeth it, he confirmeth all his words. The Greek translatheth, shall he speak, and shall he not continue? that is, constantly perform it? So to confirm a thing, is by the holy Ghost expounded, to continue to do it, Gal. 3. 10. from. Deut. 27. 26.

Vers. 20. I have received to bless] understand, received a commandment to bless. See the Annotations on Gen. 24. 33. and I can not reverse it] or, shall not turn it away; which the Chaldee explaineth, and I shall not turn my blessing from them. The Greek translatheth, I shall bless, and shall not reverse. Here Balaam preacheth the stableness of God's love unto his people; and how all powers and potentates, all magical enchantments and divinations, and what things else soever, are not able to separate God's people from his love and blessing in Christ.

Vers. 21. He hath not beheld] or, He (that is, God) be holdeth not iniquity. Here Balaam blesseth Israel the second time, pronouncing first their justification in the sight of God, even that blessedness which they have, whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sins are covered, Rom. 4. 7. For not to behold, or see iniquity in sinful men, is (as David speaketh) to hide his face from their sins, and to blot out all their iniquities, Psal. 51. 11. the contrary whereof is, when God setteth men's iniquities before him, and to the light of his face, Psal. 90. 8. and 109. 14, 15. And this is opened by the Prophet, when the Lord saith, The iniquity of Israel shall be sought for, and there shall be none; and the sins of Judah, and they shall not be found: for I will pard•m them whom I reserve, Ier. 50. 20. iniquity] this word, in Hebrew Aven, is of large signification, applied to all kind of sin, which causeth pain, sorrow, and misery; and in particular to idolatry, 1 Sam. 15. 22. and Aven is an idol, in Isaiah 66. 3. and to this the Chaldee here referreth it, saying, no servers of Idols in the house of Jacob; so doth Targum Jonathan likewise; and the old Latin version saith, There is no Idol in Jacob, meaning among the Israelites, the posterity of Jacob. But the word being more general, implieth this and all other iniquity, original or actual, all which God in mercy pardoned to his people, that it was no more seen of him, to be imputed unto them. And as iniquity is often used for the punishment of the same, so is this word Aven in Psal. 90. 10. Hab. 1. 3. in which meaning the Greek Interpreters translate it here, There shall be no painfulness (or misery) in Jacob. perverseness] or molestation: a word which signifieth both sin and affliction for sin, Psal. 94. 20. and 25. 18. and 73. 5. The Chaldee taketh it in the first sense, for them that do  $\langle \phi \rangle$ ; and this is most fit: but the Greek translateth it pain. his God is with him] this the Chaldee expoundeth, the word of the LORD their God is for their help. Hereby is signified the cause and author of their former blessedness, to be God himself in the midst of them; as Moses said, Let the Lord now go amongst us; for it is a stiff-necked  $\langle \phi \rangle$ ; and pardon thou our iniquity and our sin, &c. Exod. 34. 9. And his presence with them was a sign of their estate in grace, otherwise they could have had no communion with him, 1 John. 1. 6, 7. as himself said, whiles they were in their sins, I will not go up in the midst of thee, for thou art a stiff-necked people, lest I consume thee in the way, Exod. 33. 3. and by his being with them, they were [unspec] secured both from Balaam's curse, and from all fear of evil, Psal. 23. 4. and 91. 15. the shout of a King] or the alarm (the sounding shout) of a king, that is, of God. He hath reference to the silver trumpets which Israel used in their wars, by the ordinance of God, who also promised, that they should be remembered before the Lord their God, and saved from their enemies, Num. 10. 9. Whereupon Abijah said, Behold, God is with us for a captain, and his Priests with sounding trumpets to cry alarm against you: ô sons of Israel, fight ye not against the LORD the God of your fathers, for ye shall not prosper, 2 Chron. 13. 12. So by the shout or alarm of this King among his people, they now were saved from the evils that Balak and Balaam conspired against them. Herewith also may be compared the sounding of trumpets, and shout at the singe of Jericho, Ios. 6. 16. 20. and in the battle of Gideon, Judge. 7. 20. And thus Jesus Christ, the King and defender of the Church, causeth continual joy and triumph in the hearts of his people, justifying, sanctifying, and preserving them in peace with God, who always causeth them to triumph in Christ, 2 Cor. 2. 14. and giveth them salvation from the hands of their enemies. Wherein they rejoyce and say, Who shall lay anything to the charge of God's elect? It is God that justifieth: who is he that condemneth? Rom. 8. 33, 34. among them] Hebr. in him, that is, in Jacob: which phrase may also signify the faith that his people have in God their King. The Chaldee expoundeth it, The presence (or habitation) of their King is among them.

Vers. 22. God brought them] or, God the bringer of them. This answereth Balaks complaint, there is a people come out of Egypt, Numb. 22. 5. Balaam telleth him, they came not of themselves, (as he imputed unto them for evil,) but they were brought up of God. So again in Numb. 24. 8. he hath] or, to him is. It may be understood first of God, and then of Israel, unto whom God giveth strength, Psal. 68. 36. the strengths of an Unicorn] or, as the Greek translateth it, the glory of an Unicorn. The Unicorn is a beast commended in the Scripture for the excellency of his horn: whereupon the Prophet saith, My horn shall be exalted as the Unicornes, Psal. 92. 11. and for his strength; as it is said, Wilt thou trust him, because his strength is great? Job 39. 11. Therefore the prowess of a people against their enemies is set forth by this similitude; as Moses saith of Joseph, His horns, the horns of an Unicorn, with them he shall push the people's together, Deut. 33. 17. And in this sense Balaam speaketh here of Israel, as in his third blessing he explaineth it, He hath as the strengths of an Unicorn, he shall eat up the nations his enemies, and shall break their bones, &c. Numb. 24. 8. And Christ being delivered from the power of his enemies, faith, Thou hast answered me from the horns of Unicorns, Psal. 22. 22. And God himself showeth the nature of this beast to be such, as he will not be tamed, or made serviceable to man, nor bide by the crib, nor plough, or harrow, or bring home the seed into the barn, Job 39. 9, 10, 12. The original word of strengths here used, (which the Greek translath glory, the Chaldee, strength;) is properly such lustinesse, courage and prowess, as whereby one endureth labor without weariness or fainting. Hereby then is signified, that as God himself is Almighty, so of his grace he communicateth to his people such strength, as whereby they shall vanquish their enemies, but shall be vanquished of none, for being strong in faith, and the word of God abiding in them, they overcome the world, and the wicked one (Satan,) 1 •oh. 5. 4. and 2. 14. sin shall not have dominion over them, Rom. 6. 14. neither are they the servants of men, 1 Cor. 7. 23. they renew their strength, they run and are not weary, they walk and faint not, Isaiah 40. 31.

Vers. 23. Surely there is] or, as the Greek and Chaldee interpret it, For there is: so making this that followeth a reason of the former comparison. And whereas human Writers report a special virtue to be in the Unicorns horn against poison, some apply that to the poison of enchantment and divination next spoken of, which could not prevail against Israel, because of the virtue of God's grace given to his people. no enchantment] or, no observing of fortunes; a sinful art, when by observing the events of things, they gathered signs of good or evil luck to themselves or others: see the Annotations on Lev. 19. 26. and Deut. 18. 10. against Jacob] or, in Jacob: but in is often used for against, as in Numb. 12. 1. In this sense he teacheth that no devilish arts could hurt God's people, for the gates of hell shall not prevail against the Church of Christ, Matth. 16. 18. Although therefore Balak had led him from place to place, to try if one were more lucky for him than another, that Israel might be cursed; and Balaam had now twice gone to meet with enchantments, that he might have cursed them, Num. 24. 1. yet all was in vain, for God would not suffer it. But the Chaldee giveth the latter sense, as if no such enchantments were pleasing unto, or in use among this people, being forbidden them of God, Levite. 19. Deut. 18. divination] that is, presaging or soretelling of things to come: see the notes on Deut. 18. 10. according to this time] or, even at this time it shall be said: that is, not hereafter only, but even now, it shall be said by me, who am to prophesy of this people, what great things God hath wrought and will work for them. It may also be referred unto time to come, as Chazkuni expoundeth it, The next year, after they are gone over Jordan, about this time, it shall be said concerning Jacob and Israel, how many (great) works the holy blessed (God) hath wrought for them. See the like phrase in the Annotations on Gen. 18. 10. and 25. 31. what hath God wrought!] that is, how wonderful things God hath wrought for them. The Greek translatheth it, What God shall perform. He teacheth that all the valiant acts of Israel should not be done by themselves, but by God for them, as it is shown in Psal. 44. 1, 2, &c. Wherefore it is written, Lord thou wilt ordain peace for us: for thou also hast wrought all our works in us, Isaiah 26. 12. And so the Apostle saith, It is God which worketh in you both to will, and to do, of his good pleasure, Philip. 2. 13. and, he which hath begun a good work in you, will perform it, until the day of Jesus Christ, Phil. 1. 6.

Vers. 24. as a courageous Lion] Of these names of Lions, see the Annotations on Gen. 49. 9. Of the Lions nature, Solomon saith, it is strongest among beasts, and turneth not away for any, Prov.

30. 30. Here, the blessing which was specially given to the tribe of Judah, Gen. 49. is applied to all Israel, which were in Christ, the Lion of the tribe of Judah, Rev. 5. 5. for, just men are bold as a Lion, Prov. 28. 1. lift up himself] a sign of stoutness, courage, and Majesty. By this, and the former rising up, is meant the valiant onset which they should make upon their enemies the Canaanites, whereof the book of Joshua is a testimony: and under them were figured the spiritual enemies of the salvation of Israel; Satan, sin, the world, &c. which the Church of Christ should resist and overcome by faith, 1 Pet. 5. 9. and 2. 11. 1 John. 5. 4. until he cat the prey] that is, as the Chaldee, and Targum Jonathan expound it, until he have killed his enemies. Signifying hereby Israel's constant fighting of the Lord's battles, not lying down, or giving themselves rest, till they had gotten a full victory. This was in part fulfilled in the conquest of Canaan, at the end whereof the two tribes and an half returned with much riches, cattle, silver, gold, &c. to divide the spoil of their enemies, with their brethren, Ios. 22. 3, 4, 8. And when David having fought the battles of the Lord, sang unto his praise, I have pursued mine enemies, and destroyed them, and turned not again, until I had consumed them, 2 Sam. 22. 38. But chiefly it is performed by the grace of God in Christ, against the enemies of our souls; whereof it is thus prophesied, And the remnant of Jacob shall be among the nations, in the midst of many people's, as a renting Lion among the beasts of the forest, as a young Lion among the flocks of sheep; who if he go thorough, both treadeth down, and teareth in pecces, and none can deliver. Thine hand shall be lifted up upon thine adversaries, and all thine enemies shall be cut off, Mic. 5. 8, 9. And this spiritual warfare is not like the battles of the world, with confused noise, and garments rolled in blood, Isaiah 9. 5. but with the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God, Ephes. 6. 17. in much patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses, in stripes, in imprisonments, in tossings to and fro, in labors, in watchings, in fastings, by pureness, by knowledge, by longsuffering, by kindness, by the holy Ghost, by love unfeigned, by the word of truth, by the power of God, by the armor of righteousness on the right hand, and on the left, &c. 2 Cor. 6. 4.—7. For even Christ himself, whē he was called the Lion of the tribe of Judah, appeared like a Lamb as it had been slain, Revel. 5. 5, 6. and his people for his sake are killed all the day long, are counted as shepe for  $\langle \phi \rangle$   $\langle \dots \rangle$  ghter; and yet in all these things, are more than  $\langle \dots \rangle$  qutrouns, through him that loved them, Rom. 8. 36, 37.

Vers. 25. Neither cursing curse him] in Greek, Neither curse me him with curses, neither blessing bless him: that is, neither curse Israel at all, nor bless him at all. Here Balaks indignation against Balaam, and sin against God, is increased: rejecting his own Prophet, resisting the word of the Lord now the second time: and when he could do no evil to Israel, he would hinder them from good.

Vers. 27. per adventure it will be right in the eyes of God] that is, it will please God, as the Chaldee expoundeth it; and so the Greek saith, if it may please God. This is Balaks third and last attempt against the Church of Christ in another place; as Satan tempted Christ himself thrice in three several places, which not succeeding, he then left him, Matth. 4. 1,—11. And whereas before, the King supposed that Balaam's seeing of the whole multitude, was the let why he did not curse them; he now perceiveth God to be the cause, and therefore by sacrifices in a place idolatrous, he seeketh to obtain his favor.

Vers. 28. the top of Peor] the name of a mountain, called in Greek Phogor; and in Chaldee, the top of the high-place of Peor, where the Moabites used to sacrifice unto their idol, called Baal-peor, Num. 25. 2. 3. 18. and there they had a temple called Beth-peor, or the house of Peor, Deut. 3. 29. and near it was a city called Beth-peor, which the Israelites had taken from King Sihon, and it was after given for a possession to the Reubenites, Ios. 13. 15, 20. In this idolatrous mountain, the King hoping to be heard of God, maketh supplication with new altars and sacrifices: so continuing the abuse of his religion, bent against the will of God, and to the destruction of his people.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 Balaam leaving enchantments, prophesieth by the Spirit of God the happiness of Israel. 10 Balak in anger dismisseth him; 14 but before his departure he prophesieth of the Star of Jacob, and the destruction of some nations.

AND Balaam saw that it was good in the eyes of Jehovah, to bless Israel; and he went not as at other times, to meet with enchantments, but he set his face toward the wilderness. And Balaam lifted up his eyes, and he saw Israel abiding in tents, according to their tribes, and the Spirit of God was upon him. And he took up his parable and said, Balaam the son of Beor assuredly saith, and the man whose eye is open, assuredly saith. He assuredly saith, which [unspec] heard the oracles of God, which saw the vision of the Almighty, falling and having his eyes uncovered. How goodly are thy tents, O Jacob, thy tabernacles, O Israel! As the valleys are they spread forth, as gardens by the river side: as Lign-aloes-trees, which Jehovah hath planted, as Cedar trees beside the waters. He shall pour waters out of his buckets, and his seed shall be in many waters, and his King shall be higher than Agag, and his kingdom shall be exalted. God brought him forth out of Egypt; he hath as the strengths of an Unicorn: he shall at up the nations his distressers, and shall break their bones, and pierce them thorough with his arrows. He couched, he lay down as a renting Lion, and as a courageous Lion, who shall stir him up? Blessed be everyone of them that bless thee; and cursed be everyone of them that curse thee.

And Balaks anger was kindled against Balaam, and he smote his hands together; and Balak said unto Balaam, I called thee to curse mine enemies; and behold, blessing thou hast blessed them these three times. And now flee thou unto thy place: I said, honoring I will honor thee; but loe, Jehovah hath kept thee back from honor. And Balaam said unto Balak, Spake I not also to thy messengers which thou sentest unto me, saying, If Balak would give me his houseful of silver and gold, I cannot go beyond the mouth of Jehovah, to do good or evil out of mine own heart: what Jehovah shall speak, that will I speak. And now, behold I go unto my people: Come, I will counsel thee what this people shall do to thy people, in the latter days.

And he took up his parable, and said, Balaam the son of Beor assuredly saith; and the man whose eye is open, assuredly saith.

He assuredly saith, which heard the o <...> cles of God, and knew the knowledge of the Most high, which saw the vision of the Almighty, falling, and having his eyes uncovered. I shall see him, but not now; I shall behold him, but not nigh: There shall proceed a star out of Jacob, and a scepter shall rise out of Israel, and shall smite thorough the corners of Moab, and shall unwall all the sons of Seth. And Edom shall be a possession, and Seir shall be a possession for his enemies, and Israel shall do valiantness. And he shall have dominion out of Jacob, and shall destroy him that remaineth, out of the city.

And he looked on Amalek; and he took up his parable, and said, Amalek was the first of the nations; but his latter end shall be, that he perish forever.

And he looked on the Kenite, and took up his parable, and said, Strong is thy dwelling place, and thou puttest thy nest in a rock.

Nevertheless, Kain shall be wasted, until Ashur shall carry thee away captive.

And he took up his parable, and said, Alas, who shall live when God doth this?

And ships (shall come) from the coast of Kitim, and shall afflict Asshur, and shall afflict Heber, and he also shall perish forever.

And Balaam rose up, and went and returned to his place; and Balak also went to his way.

Annotations.

HE went not as at other times] or, not at this time, as the time before, (which the Greek translateth, according to his custom,) to meet with enchantments. This showeth, that all his former altars, and sacrifices, and consultations with the Lord, were by that wicked art of enchantment, or observing of fortunes, such as the Prophets and diviners of the nations used, Deut. 18. 10. 14. Which thing he now left, as seeing it not available for his purpose; but that his evil heart was not changed, appeareth by his going with the King to mount Peor, to see if from thence he might curse Israel, by his commanding of altars and sacrifices as before, Numb. 23. 27,—30. and by his pestilent counsel which he gave the king after this, for the destruction of God's people, Numb. 31. 16. Rev. 2. 14. set his face toward the wilderness] where Israel lay encamping, that he might as it were prevent God, and suddenly utter a curse against his people. The Chaldee paraphraseth, he set his face towards the Calf that Israel had made in the wilderness, (Exod. 32.) as if, looking upon their sins, he thought for them he might have cursed Israel: and so in Targum Yerushalmi it is explained, He set his face toward the wilderness, and remembered concerning them the work of the Calf, and would have cursed Israel.

Vers▪ 2. abiding in tents] or, dwelling; which the Greek translateth, camping, or having their army, or l••er. The order wherein God had placed the armies of Israel about his sanctuary, Numb. 2. they always kept, when they pitched in the wilderness: the sight whereof astonished the enemy, so that he could not curse them as he desired, but blessed them the third time. the Spirit of God was upon him] that is, as the Chaldee explaineth it, the spirit of prophesy from before the Lord rested upon him: and as Sol. Rashi here noteth, it came into his heart that he should not curse them. The like phrase was before in Numb. 11. verse. 26. the Spirit rested upon them, and they prophesied: and again in verse. 29. would God that all the Lord's people were prophets, and that the Lord would put his Spirit upon them. This was God's powerful work, changing Balaam's heart when he intended evil; as when Saul and his messengers went with an evil purpose to have taken David in Naioth, the Spirit of God was upon them, and they also prophesied, 1 Sam. 19. 19, 20,—23. And when wicked men, being thus over-ruled, uttered divine oracles, as now Balaam did, they spake not of themselves, as it is said of the holy Prophets, For prophesy came not at any time by the will of man; but holy men of God spake, being moved (or carried) by the holy Ghost, 2 Pet. 1. 21.

Vers. 3. he took up his parable] that is, prophesied; see Numb. 23. 7. assuredly saith] or affirmeth, averreth: a word appropriate to the oracle of God, which is a faithful saying, 1 Tim. 1. 15. See the Annotations on Gen. 22. 16. Here Balaam beginneth his third blessing with a solemn preface, avouching the truth and constancy of it from God; against whose will the more he struggleth, the stronger he is resisted. the man whose eye is open] which the Chaldee expoundeth, the man that is fair sighted, that seeth well; the Greek translatheth, the true man: he seemeth hereby to signify that he was a Prophet, who in old time was called a Seer, 1 Sam. 9. 9. Shethum the original word, used only here, and in verse. 15. is of contrary signification to Sethum, that is, closed, or shut up: howbeit some take it to be of the same meaning, which may then be explained thus, The man who had his eye shut, but now open. And eye is put for eyes, understanding the eyes of his mind opened by the spirit of prophesy: though some of the Hebrews (as Rashi here observeth) have from hence conjectured, that Balaam was blind of one eye.

Vers. 4. the oracles of God] or, the sayings of God, as the Chaldee saith, the word from before God: but the Greek translatheth strong oracles, because God (in Hebrew El) is so named of being strong or mighty. vision of the Almighty] or, of the All-sufficient, that is, as the Greek translatheth, of God. falling] understand, into a trance, or deep sleep, or falling on my face to the ground: for even the holy men of God, when they saw divine visions, used to fall down on their faces, and into deep sleeps, as dead men. So a deep sleep (or trance) fell upon Abraham, Gen. 15. 12. and Daniel was afraid, and fell on his face, and was in a deep sleep on his face toward the ground, Dan. 8. 17, 18. and John fell at his feet as dead, Rev. 1. 17. and Ezekiel fell on his face, Ezek. 1. 28. and 3. 23. and 43. 3. and 44. 4. Likewise when the spirit of prophesy came upon men, they are said to fall, or lie down, as did Saul, 1 Sam. 19. 24. And in this place of Balaam, the Chaldee translatheth it, lying down; the Greek, in a sleep; so after, in verse. 16. eyes uncovered] or, unveiled, to wit, to see the vision, as the Chaldee saith, and it was revealed unto him.

Vers. 5. How goodly] or, how good! which word implieth profit, pleasure, beauty, joy, delight, &c. See the Notes on Gen. 1. 4. thy tents] in Greek, thy houses, or *dwelling*s; but tents are a moveable habitation, fitting the people of God in this world. Hebr. 11. 9. and a warlike life, Ier. 6. 3. Afterward the Church is called the tents of Jacob, Mal. 2. 12 and the tents of Judah, Zach. 12. 7. And Iakob their father is noted to have dwelled in tents, Gen. 25. 27. Moreover, when this people were seated in Canaan, their dwelling places were called their Tents, 2 Chron. 10. 16. and 7. 10. So this is meant of the state of the Church, not only then present, but throughout all ages. thy tabernacles] or, thy habitacles, dwelling places; which have their name of vicinity, or nearness together. This therefore noteth the communion of the Church with Christ, and one with another: and is by Targum Jonathan expounded, the Tabernacle of the congregation which is set among you, and your tabernacles which are round about it, O house of Israel. O Israel] that is, O Israelites. The Church is named after their father Jacob and Israel; Jacob is their name in respect of their own infirmity, (whereupon it is said, Fear not, thou worm Jacob, Isaiah 41. 14. and, by whom shall Jacob arise? for he is small, Amos 7. 2. 5.) but Israel is the name of their power and prevailing with God and men. See the Annotations on Gen. 32. 28.

Vers. 6. spread forth] or stretched out, implying both length, and breadth, and large extent of Israel's habitations; compared therefore to valleys or bournes, which are long, large, pleasant to behold, and watered with rivers, whereby they are fruitful, as Song 6. 11. as Gardens] which are enclosed, set with pleasant and wholesome plants, and by rivers are made always fresh, green, and fruitful. Wherefore the Scripture likeneth the Church to a garden full of pleasant fruits, Song 4. 12.—16. Isaiah 61. 11. by the river] in Greek, by rivers: whereby the gardens are made green and fruitful, without which they wither. Therefore when God threateneth judgment to Israel, he saith, ye shall be as a garden that hath no water, Isaiah 1. 10. and promising mercy, he saith, Thou shalt be like a watered garden, Isaiah 58. 11. Hereby was signified that river of God full of water, Psal. 65. 9. the river, the streams whereof make glad the city of God, Psal. 46. 4. even the Word and Spirit of the Lord, which refresheth and comforteth his people, as it is written, Their soul shall be as a watered garden, and they shall not sorrow anymore at all, Jer. 31. 12. Lign-aloes-trees] or, as some think, Santalltrees, in Hebrew Ahalim, which hath affinity with the name of Aloes derived of it. The Greek translateth it Tents; but the Chaldee Spices. The Lign-aloes is a tree growing in Arabia and India, which giveth a sweet odour, and is like the Thyine wood mentioned in Revel. 18. 12. and is here used to signify the good fame of the Church, and report of her graces, which is as a sweet smell. He hath planted] this signifieth the excellency of this tree above others, and the growth in the place, where it best prospereth: so the Cedars are said to be planted by him, in Psal. 104. 16. and he is the Planter of his Church, Jer. 2. 21. by the waters] The Cedar is one of the goodliest trees, for tallness, bigness, strength and durance; with the timber of it the Temple was built, 1 King. 6. 9, 10. & by the waters it best flourisheth, and signifieth the glory of the kingdom of Israel; as it is written of the kingdom of Assyria, Behold the Assyrian was a Cedar in the plain, with fair branches, and with a shadowing shrend, & of an high stature, &c. The waters made him great, the deep set him up on high, with her rivers running round about his plants, &c. Ezek 31. 3, 4. See also Psal. 1. 3.

Vers. 7. He shall pour waters] or, water shall flow out of his buckets: speaking of Israel. This parable is translated by the Greek Interpreters thus; There shall come forth a man out of his seed, and shall have dominion over many nations, and his kingdom shall be higher than Gog, and his kingdom shall be increased. And by the Chaldee Paraphrast thus; There shall grow up a King, which shall be anointed of his sons, and shall have dominion over many people's; and his King shall be mightier than Agog, and his kingdom shall be exalted. And Targum Jonathan expoundeth it to the like effect; and the exposition accordeth with other Scriptures which speak of the propagation of children, by the similitude of waters, fountains, eisternes, and the like: as, Hear ye this, O house of Jacob, &c. which are come forth out of the waters of Judah, Isaiah 48. 1. and ye of the fountain of Israel, Psal. 68. 27. And Solomon speaking of wife and children in the lawful state of marriage, saith, Drink waters out of thine own cistern, and running waters out of thine own well. Let thy fountains be dispersed abroad, and rivers of waters in the streets; Let them be only thine own, &c. Prov. 5. 15.—18. And again speaking of the harlot, he saith, Stollen waters are sweet, Prov. 9. 17. Thus Balaam prophesieth here of Israel's great increase, and of the glory of their kingdom, in David and Solomon, but chiefly in Christ. Otherwise, by waters may be understood the Word and Spirit of God, as John. 3▪ 5. and 4. 10. and 7. 38, 39. which should plentifully be poured out in the Church; that they might with joy draw water out of the wells of salvation, as Isaiah 12. 3. his seed, in many waters] this seed may be understood as before, of children; and many waters, of many people's, as in Revel. 17. 15. Isaiah 57. 19. Psal. 144. 7. Or seed may mean corn, sown in watery, moist and fruitful places, to bring forth much increase: as, Blessed are ye that sow beside all waters, that send forth thither the seed of the Ox and the Ass, Isaiah 32. 20. higher than Agag] the King of the Amalekites, whom Saul the King of Israel subdued, 1 Sam. 15. 8. and it seemeth this was a common name to all the Kings of Amalek, as Pharaoh was to all the Kings of Egypt. Spiritually the King of Israel is Christ, John 1. 49. and 12. 13, 15. who is higher than the Kings of the earth, Psal. 89. 28. amongst whom Agag sometime excelled. his kingdom] the kingdom of Israel, exalted by David and Solomon, but above all by Christ, whose Church and kingdom is above all kingdoms, in grace, glory, and incorruption, Isaiah 2. 2. Dan. 2. 44. Rev. 11. 15.

Vers. 8. of an Unicorn] This similitude is here repeated and enlarged from the former blessing, in Num. 23. 22. •t up] that is, consume the nations, as the seven nations in Canaan, Deut. 7. 1. and all other, subdued by faith, as it is said, The nation and kingdom that will not serve thee, shall perish: yea those nations shall be utterly wasted, Isaiah 60. 12. See also Num. 14. 9. break their bones] in Greek, unmarrow (or eat out the marrow of) their fat bones. It signifieth an utter weakening of them, that they should never recover their strength. pierce them] in Greek, shoot thorough the enemy with his arrows. Arrows are often mentioned among other instruments of war, Jer. 50. 9. 14. and 51. 11. Zac. 9. 14. These pierce inwardly, and are figuratively applied to piercing words, Psal. 64. 4. and spiritually to the words of Christ, whose arrows are sharp in the heart of the kings enemies, Psal. 45. 6.

Vers. 9. He couched] Here Balaam applieth unto Israel that blessing which Jacob gave unto his son Judah, the father of our Lord Christ, the Lion of that tribe, Gen. 49. 9. and it signifieth the victory of the Church over their enemies: See also Numb. 23. 24. who shall stir him up] who dare provoke him? meaning, none. So the victory gotten shall quietly be held; and the peace of the Church after her warfare, is here foretold, but accomplished in Christ. Blessed be everyone of them] The conclusion of this blessing is the same wherewith Isaac ended the blessing upon Jacob the father of this people, Gen. 27. 29. and like that which God gave unto Abraham, Gen. 12. 3. Thus God continueth his grace to the faithful and their seed forever; and here, by Balaam's own mouth, curseth all this wicked plot and practice of the king and prophet, who had endeavored with their utmost craft to curse the people whom God had blessed, and Balaam is condemned of himself.

Vers. 10. he smote his hands] or, clapped the palms of his hands; a sign of indignation and grief in the king, with a contempt of the prophet; as elsewhere it is said, Men shall clap their hands at him, and shall hiss him out of his place, Job 27. 23. and, All that pass by the way, clap their hands at thee, they hiss, and wag their head, &c. Lam. 2. 15.

Vers. 11. Flee thou] or, Flee for thyself, that is, Get thee gone speedily: so fleeing is used for speedy departing, in Isaiah 48. 20. Zac. 2. 6. Job 9. 25. and 14. 2. Amos 7. 12. Here Balak being out of hope to effect his purpose, leadeth not Balaam to another place, as he had done before, but turneth him off with ignominy. unto thy place] thy country Mesopotamia, as the place of the Canaanites, &c. in Exod. 3. 8. is their country, and in Exod. 23. 20. the place, is in Greek, the land. Or, unto thy city Pethor, as, unto the place of Shechem, Gen. 12. 6. is the city of Shechem: See Amos 4. 6. kept thee back] in Greek, deprived thee of honor. Here Balaam, who ambitiously sought after honor and riches, is sent away with shame, and misseth of the wages of unrighteousness which he loved: for, The wicked worketh adeceit full work; but to him that soweth righteousness, shall be a sure reward. Prov. 11. 18.

Vers. 13. go beyond the mouth] in Greek, transgress the word: See Numb. 22. 18. out of mine own heart] in Greek, of myself.

Vers. 14. I will counsel thee what this people shall do] This seemeth to be an imperfect speech, which the Chaldee Paraphrast well explaineth thus; I wi <...> counsel thee what thou shalt do, and I will show thee what this people shall do. For the Scriptures have many like brief speeches, as is noted on Exod. 4. 5. & 13. 8. and Moses after showeth, that Balaam gave Balak wicked counsel against Israel, to draw them unto idolatry and fornication, Num. 31. 16 and our Savior calleth it the doctrine of Balaam, who taught Balak to cast a stumbling-block before the children of Israel, to eat things sacrificed unto idols, and to commit fornication, Rev. 2. 14. the history whereof followeth in Num. 25. And thus the Hebrews also expound this place: Chazkuni in these words, I will counsel thee: Moses our Teacher concealeth the counsel, because Balaam said it to Balak in secret: but in Num. 31. 16. it is revealed. To like effect writeth Sol. Rashi, saying, This Scripture is brief, I will counsel thee to cause them to stūble (or fall) & I will tell thee what evil they shall do to Moab in the latter days: and Targum Jonathan openeth it by Num. 25. 1, 2, &c. in the latter days] that is, the days after following: See the like in Gen. 49. 1. For the time present Israel might not meddle with the people of Moab, Deut. 2. 9. but after in David's days, he smote Moab and measured them with a line, casting them down to the ground: even with two lines measured he to put to death, and with one full line to keep alive; and so the Moabites became David's servants, 2 Sam. 8. 2. Again in Ier. 48. there is a large prophesy of Moabs destruction, with a promise of the returning of their captivity in the latter days.

Vers. 15. took up his parable] that is, prophesied, but darkly and in parables: see verse. 3. whose eye is open] in Greek, the true man: See the notes on verse. 3.

Vers. 16. the knowledge of the Most high] in Chaldee, knowledge from before the Most high, that is, made known to him of God. This sentence is here added more than in verse. 4. Baal-hatturim here noteth, that he saith this, because he would reveal the days of Christ. falling] into a trance; the Greek translatheth it, in a sleep: see this opened on verse. 4.

Vers. 17. I shall see him] or, shall see it; meaning the person or thing that now he is to speak of; namely David, and his kingdom, the accomplishment whereof should be in Christ and his Church. Sol. Rashi explaineth it thus; I see the praise of Jacob, and their greatness: but it is not now, but after a time. Chazkuni here saith, He prophesieth of David. but not nigh] that is, as the Chaldee explaineth it, his coming is not nigh. This may be understood of Christ, for of him he after prophesieth; whom Balaam saith, he shall behold, (for every eye shall see him, and they also which pierced him, Rev. 1. 17.) but he had not Job's faith, to behold him his Redeemer, Job 19. 25. 27. shall proceed a star] or, a star hath proceeded, speaking after the manner of prophesy of a thing to come, as already done. The Greek translatheth, a star shall arise: which the Chaldee expoundeth, A king shall arise out of the house Jacob. This is to be understood in part of David, and chiefly of Christ our Lord, who thus rectifieth of himself, I am the root and the offspring of David, the bright and morning star. Thus also the Hebrews understood it of old; for the  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  Christ that arose unto the Jews in the day  $\langle \dots \rangle$  of Trajan the Emperor, was called (in allusion  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  is prophesy) Bar Chochab, that is, the s  $\langle \dots \rangle$  e of the star: but being after slain in battle, the Jews seeing themselves deceived, called him Bar Coziba, that is, the son of falsehood. Of him there is mention in Talmud Bab. in Sanhedrin, cap. Chelek▪ and Maimonides in Treat. of Kings, cap. 11. sect.  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  . saith of R. Akiba, who was the armor-bea  $\langle \dots \rangle$  of Ben Coziba the King, that he said of him, he was the King Christ. And he and all the wise men of his age thought that he was the King Christ until he was killed for unquity: when he was killed, they knew he was not. a scopter] or, a rod, a staff, a sign of kingdom and government: See the notes on Gen. 49. 10. The Greek translatheth it, a man shall rise out of Israel; the Chaldee saith, Messias (or Christ) shall be anointed of the house of Israel. As David and other Kings had scepters, so Christ is said to have a rod on scepter, as, The scepter of thy kingdom is a scepter of righteousness, Psal. 45. 7. Hebr. 1. 8. and, Thou shalt rule them with a rod (or scepter) of iron, Psal. 2. 9. the corners] or, the sides, (the quarters) of Moab; meaning a conquest of the whole country, in every quarter and corner of it. The Greek Interpreters understood it figuratively, the Dukes, of Moab; likewise the Chaldee  $\langle \dots \rangle$  phrast, saying, he shall kill the Princes of Moab. This was literally fulfilled by David, who  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  Moab, and cast them down to the ground, &c. 2. Su▪▪ 8. 2. spiritually by Christ, destroying idolaters and antichristians, in religion like Moabites. shall unwall] shall cast down the walls, that is, conquer and subdue; which the Greek expoundeth shall captive (or make a prey;) the Chaldee, shall ride,  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  dominion. the sons of Seth] who was the son of Adam, set in Abel's room, whom Kain killed, *Ge▪. 4.  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  and all Kains ••ce being drowned in the  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  , only Seths posterity in Noah remained: so  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  all the world now are the sons of Seth, as of A  $\langle \dots \rangle$   $\langle \dots \rangle$  erefore the Chaldee explaineth it, he shall  $\langle \diamond \rangle$   $\langle \dots \rangle$  ion over all the sons of men. So it is a prophesy of Christ, whom all Kings should wor  $\langle \dots \rangle$  ,  $\langle \dots \rangle$  ions should serve, *Psal. 72. 11. and the  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  of the earth should be his possession, Psal. 2. 8.  $\langle \diamond \diamond \rangle$  the name of Jesus every knee should bow, Phil.  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  . 10. And this conquest is gotten by the preaching of the Gospel, as it is written, *The weapons of our  $\langle \dots \rangle$  fore are not carnal, but mighty through God, to the p  $\langle \dots \rangle$  ing down of strong holds, casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth it self against the knowledge of God, and bringing into cap  $\langle \dots \rangle$   $\langle \dots \rangle$  ry thought to the obedience of Christ, and having in a readiness to revenge all disobedience, 2 •er. 10. 4, 5, 6. Some take Seth here to be meant not of a•ans name, but to signify the hinder part, and to mean the people's then behind Balaam, as the Ammonites, Midianites, and the like: but besides the Chaldee fore-mentioned, the Greek also <...> eth it, all the sons of Seth: and the Hebrews do most so expound it; as Sol. Rashi saith, all the sons of Seth, i. all people's, which do all come of Seth the son of Adam the first. Maimonides in Misn. tom. 4. Treat. of Kings, cap. 11. sect. 1. explaineth Balaam's prophesy thus; I shall see him, but not now; this is David: I shall behold him, but not nigh; this is the King Christ. There shall proceed a star out of Jacob; this is David: and a scepter shall rise out of Israel; this is the King Christ: and shall smite thorough the corners of Moab; this is David, as it is written (in 2 Sam. 8. 2.) And he smete Moab, &c. And he shall unwall all the sons of Seth; this is the King Christ, of whom it is written (in Psal. 72. 8.) He shall have dominion from sea to sea. And Edom shall be a possession to David, as it is said, And all they of Edom became David's servants. 2 Sam. 8. 14. And Seir shall be a possesston; this is unto the King Christ: as it is said, And Savior's shall come up on mount Zion, to judge the mount of Esau, and the kingdom shall be the Lord's, Hobad. verse. 21.

Vers. 18. Edom] the Edomites the posterity of Esau; these became a possession to David, 1 Chron. 18. 13. after that unto Christ; as it is written, Who is this that cometh from Edom, &c. Isaiah 63. 1.—6. Seir] the mountain where Esau dwelt, Gen. 36. 7, 8. wherefore the Greek instead of Seir, nameth Esau. shall do valiantness] or, do valiantly, valiant acts: which phrase is sometime understood of wars and victories, as in 1 Sam. 14. 48. sometime of getting wealth and riches, as in Ezek. 28. 4. Both may be here meant, and the Chaldee expoundeth it of the latter. And as this was answerable to the name of Israel, which signified his power and prevailing with God and with men, Gen. 32. 28. so David, after he had vanquished the Edomites, celebrated the truth of this promise, saying, Through God we shall do valiantness, and he will tread down our enemies, Psal. 60. 14.

Vers. 19. And he shall have dominion] he, that is, one of the house of Jacob, as the Chaldee expresseth it. So Targum Jonathan saith, And a ruler shall rise up out of the house of Jacob. And it may be understood of David first, then and chiefly of Christ. Sol. Rashi openeth it thus, And yet there shall be another ruler out of Jacob, and he shall destroy him that remaineth out of the city. Of the King Christ he speaketh thus, of whom it is said (in Psal. 72.) he shall have dominion from sea to sea. out of the city] that is, of every city, to wit, of the Edomites, as verse. 18. or more generally, of all cities; as the Chaldee expoundeth it, the city of the people's. Chazkuni referreth it to Joab, David's captain, of whom it is said, Six months did Joab remain there with all Israel, until he had cut off every male in Edom, 1 King. 11. 15, 16. But it hath reference also to further victories, as is said, The house of Jakob shall be a fire, and the house of Joseph a flame, and the house of Esau for stubble, and they shall kindle in them, and devour them, and there shall not be any remaining of the house of Esau, for the Lord hath spoken it, Hobad. verse. 18. The Targum called Jonathan's, nameth it Constantinople: by which it is evident, that the Author of that work was not Jonathan ben Vzziel, who paraphrased on the Prophets, and was of the Apostles age, but some later Jew, who put forth his work in that Jonathan's name.

Vers. 20. he looked on Amalek] on the country or people of the Amalekites, the posterity of Esau, Gen. 36. 12. As the sight of Israel occasioned Balaam to bless them, verse. 2, &c. so the beholding of the wicked, occasioned the utterance of their judgment and curse. the first] or the beginning of the nations; meaning either the chiefest of them, or, as the Chaldee expoundeth it, the first of them that warred against Israel; for which God threatened their ruin before, in Exod. 17. as now he fore-telleth it again by Balaam. As Israel was the Lord's first-fruits, Jer. 2. 3. and therefore by him preserved: so Amalek being the first-fruits of the wicked nations, is devoted to destruction, fulfilled in part by Saul, 1 Sam. 15. and after in Mordecai's time, Ester 7. but spiritually accomplished by Christ. Thus Jericho the first-fruits of the Cananean cities, was also devoted and destroyed, Ios. 6. his later end] or, his posterity; as the Greek translatheth, his seed: See Psal. 37. 38. that he perish forever] or, unto perdition, which the Greek translatheth, shall perish; the Chaldee, shall perish forever: So in verse. 24.

Vers. 21. the Kenite] that is, the Kenites, or Kenaean; these the Chaldee calleth Salmeans; so that he took them for those Kenites mentioned in Gen. 15. 19. But Targum Jonathan expoundeth it of Jethro, that became a Proselyte, Exod. 18. And so in Judge. 1. 16. it is said, the children of the Kenite, Moses father in law, went up, &c. And these are mentioned here next Amalek, because they dwelt with them; as is written, And Saul said unto the Kenites; Go, depart, get you down from among the Amalekites, &c. 1 Sam. 15. 6. thou putteth thy nest] Hebr. to put thy nest, of which phrase see the Annotations on Gen. 6. 19. And here the Hebrew Ken, which is a nest, hath allusion to the Kenites name: by nest, meaning an habitation, as in Job 29. 18. a similitude taken from Eagles, which build their nests on high rocks; see Obad. verse. 4. Habak. 2. 9. So hereby was signified the secure dwelling of the Kenites by Israel, without disturbance, till the Assyrian wasted all.

Vers. 22. Kain] that is, the Kenite, who came, as it seemeth, of a man named Kain, and so is by the Chaldee expounded as before, the Sal••aeon. Some think it to be the name of the place where they dwelt. wasted] or, eaten up, to wit, by enemies. until Asshur] or, whiles Assur; the Assyrians, and Babylonians, who carried away captive the ten tribes of Israel, 2 King. 17. 6. and the Jews into Babylon, 2 King. 25. and so the Kenites with them, as appeareth by this prophesy; and after the return of the people out of Babylon, there is mention of these Kenites also, in 1 Chron. 2. 55.

Vers. 23. Alas, who shall live] the Chaldee explaineth it, Woe to the sinners that shall live, &c. He signifieth hereby extraordinary and grievous calamities. doth this] Hebr. putteth, or disposeth this, to wit, this that followeth. Targum Jonathan explaineth it, When the word of the Lord shall be revealed, to give a good reward unto the just, and to take vengeance on the wicked, &c.

Vers. 24. from the coast of Kitim] Hebr. from the hand of Kitim, which the Chaldee expoundeth from the Romans; the old Latin version, from Italy; the Greek keepeth the Hebrew phrase, from the hand of the Kitaeans. Kitim (or Chittim) was one of the sons of Iavan, the son of Iapher, the son of Noah, Gen. 10. 4. His posterity seated in Silicia, Macedonia, Cyprus, and Italy also, as Josephus observeth in Ant•q. lib. 4. cap. 22. Wherefore Kitim is taken sometime for the one, and sometime for the other. Here it may imply both the troubles that befell the Assyrians and Jews, by the Greeks and Seleucidae in the troublous days of Antiochus, according to that in Dan. 11. 30. For the ships of Kitim shall come against him: and after calamities that befell the Hebrews, from the Romans. shall afflict Assur] they, the ships, that is, the armies of Kitim shall afflict the Assyrians, which come of Assur, the son of Sem, the son of Noah, Gen. 10. 22.

Heber] or Eber, that is, Hebers children, as the Greek translatheth it, the Hebrews: of Heber, see Gen. 10. 22, 24. All Israel were his posterity, afflicted by Greeks and Romans. Christ was the chiefest of Eber, Luke 3. 23, 35. he was killed by Pilate the Roman Deputy. Since that time, Rome by Antichrist there reigning, hath afflicted Christ in his members. he also] that is, Kitim shall perish forever: or, shall go unto perdition. Thus Balaam, as he began with the blessing of Israel, endeth with the destruction of their enemies: God by his mouth confirming the promises made unto Abraham, and to his seed forever; the accomplishment of all which, is in Christ.

Vers. 25. returned to his place] that is, went away with a purpose to return home, but was stayed by the Midianites, and among them was killed by the sword of Israel, Numb. 31. 8. But this is here so signified, to show how God disappointed their first plots and practices, that Balaam returned as he came, and could not curse Israel, but denounced woes against their enemies. Things which mē purpose and endeavor to do, are said to be done by them, though perhaps not effected; as is noted on Exod. 8. 18. Numb. 14. 40. It might also be, that Balaam indeed returned to his place, and afterward came again to the Midianites. So Chazkuni (on Numb. 31.) saith, After that he had returned to his place, to Mesopotamia, he came again to Midian, to receive money of the Elders of Midian, when he heard say of the plague which had been in Israel by his counsel.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Israel at Shittim commit whoredom with the daughters of Moab, and idolatry with Baal-Peor. 4 The idolaters are commanded to be slain. 6 P•inehas killeth Zimri and Cozbi. 10 God therefore giveth him an everlasting Priesthood. 16 The Midianites are to be vexed for their wiles against Israel.

AND Israel abode in Shittim, and the people began to commit whoredom with the daughters of Moab. And they called the people unto the sacrifices of their gods: and the people did eat, and bowed themselves down to their gods.

And Israel was joined to Baal-Peor, and the anger of Jehovah was kindled against Israel.

And Jehovah said unto Moses, Take all the heads of the people, and hang them up before Jehovah, against the Sun, that the fierce anger of Jehovah may be turned away from Israel. And Moses said unto the Judges of Israel; Slay ye every man his men that were joined unto Baal-Peor.

And behold, a man of the sons of Israel came, and brought near unto his brethren a Midianitess, in the eyes of Moses, and in the eyes of all the congregation of the sons of Israel: and they were weeping at the door of the Tent of the congregation. And Phinehas the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the Priest, saw it; and he rose up from amongst the Congregation, and took a javelin in his hand. And he went in after the man of Israel, into the tent, and thrust both of them thorough, the man of Israel, and the woman, thorough her belly; and the plague was stayed from the sons of Israel.

And those that died in the plague were four and twenty thousand.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying: Phinehas the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the Priest, hath turned my wrath away from the sons of Israel, whiles he was zealous with my zeal among them, that I consumed not the sons of Israel in my zeal. Therefore say, Behold I give unto him my covenant of peace. And there shall be to him, and to his seed after him, the covenant of an everlasting Priesthood, because he was zealous for his God, and made atonement for the sons of Israel. And the name of the man of Israel that was smitten, that was smitten with the Midianitess, was Zimri, the son of Salu, a Prince of a fathers house, of the Simeonites. And the name of the woman the Midianitess that was smitten, was Cozbi the daughter of Zur; he was an head of nations, of a fathers house of Midian.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying: Vex thou the Midianites, and smite ye them. For they vex you with their wiles, wherewith they have beguiled you in the matter of Peor, and in the matter of Cozbi, the daughter of a Prince of Midian their sister, which was smitten in the day of the plague, for Peors sake.

Annotations.

ABode in Shittim] a place in the wilderness, in the plains of Moab, near Jordan, called Abel Shittim, in Num. 33. 48, 49. In this place Israel did sit, or abide, until after Moses death; and from thence Joshua removed them to Jordan, where they passed over to Gilgal, Ios. 2. 1. and 3. 1. Wherefore God after willed the people to remember the things that befell unto them, from Shittim to Gilgal, that they might know the righteousness of the Lord, Mic. 6. 5. And the history now following showeth, how when Balak, the Princes of Moab and Midian, and Balaam their prophet, had plotted and practiced with all their art and might, to withdraw God's favor and blessing from his people, but prevailed nothing; the prophet gave Balak and the Midianites counsel to put a stumbling-block before the Israelites, to see if they could withdraw the people from the love, fear, and obedience of the Lord their God, that Israel sinning, might fall and bring themselves into the curse, (which Balaam could not bring upon them) and so perish. By this wicked counsel they prevailed against many, to the death of 24. thousand Israelites: but the state and body of the Church was by God's grace still preserved, the wicked being taken away by his judgment. the people] some of the people of Israel; for they that fell to this wickedness, did all perish; but they that cleaved to the Lord, remained alive, Deut. 4. 3, 4. to commit whoredom] or, to commit fornication; which the Chaldee expoundeth, to err (or go astray) after the daughters of Moab; understanding also, the daughters of Midian, as appeareth by verse. 6. 17, 18. This evil they fell into, by the wicked counsel and doctrine of Balaam, who taught Balak to cast a stumbling-block before the sons of Israel, to eat things sacrificed to Idols, and to commit fornication, Revel. 2. 14. So Moses likewise saith, Behold these (women) caused the sons of Israel, through the word of Balaam to commit traspasse against Jehovah in the matter of Peor, Num. 31. 16. That hypocrite who had so often blessed Israel, and pronounced those accursed which cursed them, who had heard and uttered the oracles of God, had his eyes opened, had escaped the sword of the Angel, &c. to the end that he should not speak or do anything but what the Lord commanded: yet after all this, he was the author of this mischief; that it might appear how evil men and seducers wax worse and worse, decei 〈...〉 g, and being deceived, 2 Tim. 3. 13. and t 〈...〉 me might beware of false prophets, which come in sheep's clothing, but inwardly are ravening wolves, Matth. 7. 15.

Vers. 2. they called] that is, the daughters of Moab called, or invited. Thus the intended war of Moab against Israel was turned to a pretended peace, and feigned amity, alluring the people by fleshly baits, to defile their bodies and souls with whoredom and idolatry. By the women of Moab, and of other strange people's, Solomon the wise was also drawn into sin, 1 King. 11. 1, 4. sacrifices of their gods] or, of their god; in Greek and Chaldee, of their idols: meaning of Baal-Peor: whereof David speaketh thus, They were joined unto Baal-Peor, and ate the sacrifices of the dead, Ps. 106. 28. By the dead, meaning Idols, unto which the Scriptures do oppose the living and true God, 1. Thess. 1. 9. Ier. 10. 9, 10. did eat] and so communicated with their idolatry; for they which eat of the sacrifices, are partakers of the Altar, 1. Cor. 10. 18. This sin God in special manner had forewarned them of, in Exod. 34. 14, 15. bowed to their gods] in Greek and Chaldee, to their idols. This people whom God had guided thorough the wilderness forty years, who had seen God's works, and felt his punishments for their own and their fathers sins, were delivered from many enemies round about, and now abiding in Shittim, were ready to enter into the promised land, are here prevented and overthrown through their own corruption.

Vers. 3. was joined] or, was coupled, was yoked: unto which word the Apostle seemeth to have respect, when he saith, Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers, 2 Cor. 6. 14. to Baal-Peor] which the Chaldee expoundeth, to them that served Baal-Peor, that was the Idol of the Moabites and Midianites, called in Greek Bel-phegor. Baal is by interpretation a Lord or Patron: by which name it is probable that the heathens called the Sun, or some star, as is noted on Lev. 18. 21. Peor, or Phegor, was the name of a mountain, Numb. 23. 28. and of the Idol there worshipped, Numb. 25. 17. Ios. 22. 17. And because Baal was a common name to many Idols, and much revered of the people's, through corruption the Israelites called also the LORD, Baal: but he blameth them for it, saying, Thou shalt call me no more Baali, Hos. 2. 16. and in detestation of the name, the Prophets put Bosheth, that is, Shame, instead of Baal, that is, Lord: as it is written, They went to Baal Peor, and separated themselves unto that Shame, Hos. 9. 10. and the Greek Interpreters in 1 King. 18. 25. translate Baal, Shame: yea and the Hebrew Prophets sometime put one for another, as Ierub Baal (who was Gideon) Judge. 8. 35. and 9. 1. is called Ierub-Besheth, 2 Sam. 11. 21. Esh-Baal, 1 Chro. 8. 33. is called Ish-Bosheth, 2 Sam. 2. 10. and Merib Baal, 1 Chron. 8. 34. is Mephi-Bosheth, 2 Sam. 9. 10. Hereupon it is said, Ye set up Altars to that Shame, even Altars to burn incense unto Baal, Ier. 1. 13. Peor hath the signification of opening the m 〈...〉 th, and was the name of this Idol, as some think of filthiness and fornication committed together 〈◇〉 idolatry, (as this history showeth,) and to be that which in other language was called Priapus. But as Nebo the god of Babylon hath his name of Propheying, so Peor might likewise be so called of opening the mouth in speech and prophesy; as the Scripture mentioneth the prophets of Baal, 1 King. 18. 22. and of the Prophets that prophesied by Baal, Ier. 2. 8. and 23. 13. the anger of Jehovah] They provoked him to indignation by their actions, and the plague brake in upon them, Psal. 106. 29. Thus Balaam by his counsel brought them into sin, and so under wrath and curse through their own default; which he could not obtain of God otherwise against them by any means.

Vers. 4. the heads] that is, as the Greek translath, the captains of the people, such as were chief in the transgression. hang them up] the Greek translath it, Make them a public example: the Chaldee, Judge & kill him that is worthy to be killed; but Targum Jonathan expoundeth it, crucify them. The Law after saith, he that is hanged is the curse of God, that is, accursed of God, Deut. 21. 23. so the sinners brought the curse upon themselves. before Jehovah] or, for, or, unto Jehovah, to his honor, in doing vengeance on his enemies. Both these phrases are used as one, in 2 Sam. 21. we will hang them up unto Jehovah, v. 6. and they hanged them before Jehovah, verse. 9. that the fierce anger] or, as the Greek translath, and the fierce anger (or heat of the anger) of the Lord shall be turned away. Signifying that the rooting out of sinners turneth away God's anger from a people: for, to do justice and judgment, is more acceptable to the Lord than sacrifice, Prov. 21. 3.

Vers. 5. his men] the men under his government, as they were distributed in Exod. 18. 25. Although the Midianites were the beginners of this mischief, yet God first punisheth and purgeth his Church, and after he giveth order to destroy the Midianites, verse. 17. Num. 31. 2. for judgment must begin at the house of God, 1 Pet. 4. 17. Ezek, 9. 6. Compare herewith the judgment inflicted for the golden Calf, Exod. 32. 27, &c:

Vers. 6. brought near] this word signifieth a [unspec] bringing to commit fornication, as in Gen. 20. 4. Abimelech had not come near unto her: See the Notes on Levite. 18. 6. they were weeping] these circumstances show the sin to be done with an high hand, in contempt of Moses, of the congregation, of God himself and his judgments (for which the people now wept:) and so of all religion; and with a purpose to stir up the people unto open rebellion.

Vers. 8. into the tent] The original word used [unspec] here for a tent, is not the ordinary name, but such as signifieth a cave, or hollow place; and is thought to mean such a tent as was made for fornication: and so it more showeth the height of his impierie, that erected such a place of wickedness. her belly] in Chaldee, her bowels; in Greek, her woe ⟨...⟩ e (or matrice.) the plague was stayed] or, was restrained: this plague, which the Chaldee calleth death, seemeth to be a pestilence which God sent among the people, as the like speech elsewhere showeth, Numb. 16. 50. 1 Chron. 21. 22. as also in that David saith, the plague brake in upon them, Psal. 106. 29. Howbeit the word is sometime used for slaughter by the sword, as in 1 Sam. 4. 17.

Vers. 9. 24 thousand] all the men that had followed Baal-Peor, the Lord destroyed them from among his people, Deut. 4. 3. The Apostle speaking hereof, saith, Neither let us commit fornication, ⟨ϕ⟩ some of them committed, and fell in one day three and twenty thousand, 1 Cor. 10. 8. It seemeth that one thousand were slain by the Judges, verse. 5. and 3 thousand by the hand of God, of which latter number the Apostle speaketh: or, one thousand of the chief were hanged, and the rest slain by the sword.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Here the Hebrews begin the 41 Section or Lecture of the Law, which they call Phinehas.

Vers. 11. hath turned away] in Greek, hath caused my wrath to cease. The fact of Phinehas, who was but a Priests son, no ordinary Magistrate, and who proceeded not with the malefactors judicially, but carried with zeal of God, thrust them thorough suddenly, might seem blame-worthy in the eyes of men, and might procure him much ill will, considering the persons whom he killed, the man being a Prince in Israel, and the woman a Princes daughter of Midian: therefore God here justifieth and rewardeth his work done by the motion of his Spirit. he was zealous with my zeal] or, he was jealous with my jealousy, for God's cause, not his own. The Apostle hath a like speech, I am jealous over you with jealousy of God, that is, with godly jealousy. Zeal or jealousy, (both which are signified by one word in the Hebrew) meaneth both a fervent indignation against the sinners, and a fervent love unto the Lord, shown in his former act, as Targum Jonathan addeth for explanation, and he killed the guilty among them. in my zeal] or, in my jealousy; it is the word before used, and applied here to God, as in Exod. 20. 5. and often.

Vers. 12. I give] in Chaldee, I decree. of peace] understand, my covenant, (the covenant of) peace: so God saith of Levi, my covenant was with him, (the covenant of) life and peace; and I gave them unto him, for the fear where with he feared me, &c. Mal. 2. 5. So in this place Targum Jonathan paraphraseth, Behold I decree unto him my covenant of peace, & I will make him the messenger of my covenant, and he shall live forever, to preach the Gospel of redemption in the end of days. By which words Phinehas in his covenant was a figure of Christ, who is called the messenger of the covenant, Mal. 3. 1. and hath an everlasting priesthood, after the power of an endless life, Heb. 7. 16, 17. and hath both wrought and preached redemption in these latter days, Heb. 1. 1, 2, 3.

Vers. 13. of an everlasting priesthood] meaning until Christ's coming, to whom the Priesthood of Aaron was to give place, Heb. 7. 11. &c. Phinehas himself lived to a great old age, as appeareth by Judge. 20. 28. his sons successively were high Priests till the captivity of Babylon, 1 Chron. 6. 4. 15. and at the return out of captivity, Ezra the great Priest and Scribe was of his line, Ezra 7. 1. 5. And God by his Prophet promiseth, that David shall never want a man to sit upon the throne of the house of Israel: neither shall the Priests the Levites want a man before me, to offer burnt-offerings, and to kindle meat-offerings, and to do sacrifice continually, Ier. 33. 17, 18. 21, 22. Both which are accomplished in Christ, Luke 1. 32, 33. Heb. 3. 1. and 5. 1.—5. and 8. 1, 2, 3, &c. zealous for his God] or, jealous for his God, that is, for the dishonor done unto his God; as God himself is said to be jealous for Jerusalem, when he was sore displeased with the heathens that afflicted it, Zach. 1. 14, 15. It is good to be zealously affected always in a good thing, Gal. 4. 18. that God showeth here in rewarding Phinehas zeal, who stood up and executed judgment, and the plague was stayed: and it was counted to him for justice, to generation and generation forever, Psal. 106. 30, 31. The Hebrews in ages following mentioned his glory; as Ben Sirach saith, because he had zeal in the fear of the Lord, and stood up with good courage of heart; when the people were turned back, and made atonement for Israel, therefore was there a covenant of peace made with him, that he should be the chief of the Sanctuary, & of his people; and that he and his posterity should have the dignity of the Priesthood forever, Ecclus 45. 23, 24. The Scripture noteth

the contrary of Eli (who came of Ithamar the brother of Eleazar) for when his own sons committed whoredom with the women of Israel, that assembled at the door of the Tabernacle of the congregation, and made themselves vile, he restrained them not, but honored his sons above the Lord: therefore God threatened to cut off his arm; and the arm of his fathers house, that there should not be an old man in his house forever. And he swore unto the house of Eli, that the iniquity of Eli's house should not be purged with sacrifice, nor offering forever, 1 Sam. 2. 22. 29, 31. and 3. 13, 14. made atonement] or, made reconciliation, pacified God's wrath through faith: this word used for atonement by sacrifice, is here applied to the executing of judgment upon the malefactors; whereupon God stayed the plague which had begun upon the congregation. As oftentimes for the sin of some, God is wroth with the whole congregation, Ios. 7. 1. 12. and 22. 17, 18. so here for the just fact of Phinehas his wrath was turned away, verse. 11. and atonement is made. So the proverb was fulfilled, The kings wrath is as messengers of death; but a wise man will pacify it, Prov. 16. 14. Thus David also made atonement by doing justice on Saui's house, 2 Sam. 21. 3. &c.

Vers. 14. smitten] that is, killed, as the Chaldee explaineth it: so in verse. 15. and 17. Zimri] in Greek, Zambri, son of Salo; the notation of this name agreeth with his end; for Zimri signifieth cutting off, as superfluous boughs are pruned, or cut off from the Vine: Salo signifieth treading underfoot; so as a fruitless branch he was cut off from the vine of Israel, and trodden down of God and men; as it is written, Thou hast trodden down all them that go astray from thy statutes; for their d 〈...〉 t is falsehood; 〈...〉 19▪ 1•8. among the Si 〈...〉 tes] in Chaldee•, of the tribe of Simeon. And being a Prince, and bringing that harlot unto 〈W〉, verse. 6. it is likely that many of that tribe took part with him, and perished in the plague aforesaid. For whereas that tribe at the former muster, had 59 thousand and three hundred men of war among them, Num. 1. 22, 23. they were diminished now after this plague 37. thousand and one hundred, that there remained at the next muster, but 22 thousand and two hundred men, Num. 26. 1. 14.

Vers. 15. 〈D〉 ] in Greek, Chasbi daughter of Sour. Cozhi signifieth lying, or falsehood; Zur is a Rock, an head of nations] that is, a governor of people's; for he was a Prince of Midian, verse. 17. and afterward he it said to be one of the five Kings of Midian, Num. 31, 8. And as Balaam with his wicked counsel and doctrine, is named as a figure of Antichristian seducers, corrupting the Christian Church with fornication and idolatry, Rev. 2. 14. so in this Prince of Midian, and the harlot his daughter, we may behold the type of Antichrist, who by the spirit and doctrine of Balaam hath drawn the Church unto fornication and idolatry, with false gods, and heresies. His false prophets, like the daughters of Moab, allure men unto those abominations: for as the wisdom of God (in Christ•) sendeth forth her maidens to invite the simple to come and eat of her bread, and drink of the wine that she hath mingled, Prov. 9. 1.—5. so the foolish woman, (or whore of Babylon, Revel. 17▪ 〈D〉 . 5.) hath also her toll-guests, the spirits of devils▪ working miracles, which go forth unto the Kings of the earth, &c. Rev. 16. 13, 14. and she calleth passengers, who go right on their ways to partake of her stolen waters which are sweet, and bread in secret, which is pleasant: and many do follow her pernicious ways, yea many strong men have been slain by her, Pro. 〈D〉 13.—18. and 7. 26. 2 Pet. 2. 1, 2. The kings also of the earth have committed fornication with her, Rev. 18. 3. & brought her by their laws unto their brethren & subjects. And as the harlots name was Cozhi, that is, a lie, or falsehood, the daughter of Zur, that is, a Rock, a Prince of Midian of Abraham's degenerate children, Gen. 25. 1, 2. so is the Church of Antichrist false & deceitful, yet the pretended, daughter of the Rock, which Christ hath promised to build his Church upon, Matth. 16. 18. though being departed from the true faith of Christ, as the Midianites were from the faith of their father Abraham. For those Antichristian idolatries, God sendeth forth his plagues, Rev. 16. But when with the sword of the Spirit, (w<sup>ch</sup> is the word of God, Ephes. 6. 17.) those abominations are cut off, and the authors of them thrust thorough, as in Ziach. 13. 2, 3, the wrath of God which now is kindled against the sinners, shall be turned away. of a fathers house] Sol. Rashi here noteth from Gen. 25. 4. that Midian had five fathers houses, Ephah, and Epher, and Hanoch, and Abida, and Eldaah: and this man was king of one of them.

Vers. 17. Vex the Midianites] or, Distress, that is, war against the Mi••anites; as the Greek translath, Use enmity against them: Hebr. To vex or To distress, of which phrase-see the notes on Ewod. 13. ⟨ϕ⟩ . God who had first punished his own people for their sins, doth now decree vengeance against their enemies, which was done by Moses before his death, Num. 31. 2. For as God faith to the nations, Loe I begin to bring evil on the city, upon which my name is called; and should ye be utterly unpunished? ye shall not be unpunished, ⟨ϕ⟩ . 25. 29. He speaketh this against; the Midianites, rather than against the Moabites (whom he had forbidden Israel to vex or distress, Deut. 2. 9.) because they were chief in the mischief. For though Balaam gave the counsel to the king of Moab, Rev. 2. 14. and the Moabitish women were prostitute also unto whoredom, Num. 25. 1. yet Balak at first did not much regard that counsel, but turned B•laam away with shame, Num. 24. 11, 25. but the Midianites retained him, and amongst them he was slain, Num. 31. 8. And Cezbi a kings daughter of Midian was a principal instrument of evil unto Israel, as God showeth in verse. 18. therefore the Midianites were first in the punishment. smite ye them,] that is, as the Chaldee expoundeth it, kill ye them.

Vers. 18. For they vox you] or, disiresse you, not with war, but with wiles and deceit. So God saith of Babylon, Reward her even as she hath rewarded you, Rev. 18. 6. The reward of unrighteous works, is righteous judgment. their wiles] or, their guiles, deceits, crafts. beguiled you] or, dealt wilily and craftily with you; as the Egyptians when they thought to deal wisely for the suppressing of Israel, Exod. 1. 10. are said to deal craftily, Psal. 105. 25. and Joseph's brethren, when they craftily conspired his death, Gen. 37. 18. By this it appeareth, that the amity of the Midianites was but feigned, and that they plotted the destruction of Israel. matter] Hebr. word of Peor; the idolatry with Baal-Peor, w<sup>ch</sup> Israel was drawn unto, verse. 2, 3. So the matter (or word) of Cozhi, is meant the fornication with her, verse. 6. for Peors sake] Hebr. for the word of Peor, that is, which plague came on Israel for Peors sake or cause.

Unto these the land shall be divided for an inheritance, according to the number of names. To the many thou shalt give them the more inheritance, and to the few thou shalt give them the less inheritance: to every man according to those that were mustered of him, shall his inheritance be given. And unto Aaron was borne Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar. And Nadab and Abihu died, when they offered strange fire before Jehovah. And those that were mustered of them, were three and twenty thousand, all males, from a month old and upward, for they were not mustered among the sons of Israel, because there was no inheritance given to them among the sons of Israel.

These are they that were mustered by Moses and Eleazar the Priest, who mustered the sons of Israel in the plains of Moab by Jordan, near Jericho. And among these, there was not a man of those that were mustered by Moses and Aaron the Priest, who mustered the sons of Israel in the wilderness of Sinai. For Jehovah had said of them, Dying they shall die in the wilderness: and there was not left a man of them, save Caleb the son of Iephunneh, and Joshua the son of Nun.

Annotations.

After the plague] after the death of the 24 thousand that perished for the sin of Peor, (Num. 25. 9.) the Lord commandeth the people to be numbered, which should have inheritance in his land; to signify his love and care of those that cleaved unto him, Deut. 4. 3, 4. The Hebrews explain it by the similitude of a shepherd, who when wolves have gotten among his flock, and worried some of them, he counteth them, to know the number of those that are left. Again; As when they came out of Egypt, and were delivered to Moses, they were delivered him by tale, (Exod. 38. 26.) so now when Moses was ready to die, and to deliver his flock again, he delivered them by tale. Sol. Rashi on Num. 26. Eleazar] who now was high Priest after the death of Aaron his father, who had before numbered them with Moses, Num. 1. 3. And this Eleazar was he, who after with Joshua divided the land of Canaan to this people, Jos. 14. 1. &c.

Vers. 2. the sum] Hebr. the head; which the Chaldee expoundeth, the count, or sum•: see Exod. 30. 12. This was the third time that Israel was numbered for to fight the Lord's battles against the Canaanites, and to receive their land for an inheritance. See the Annotations on Num. 1. 2. 20 years old] Hebr. son of twenty year: see Num. 1. 3. house] that is, as the Greek explaineth it, houses of their fathers. Rashi saith, they were reckoned by the tribe of the father, and not after the mother: So in Num. 1. 2. goeth forth with the army] able to go out to war the warfare of the Lord: see the notes on Num. 1. 3.

Vers. 3. spake with them] in Chaldee, spake, and said to number them; but Targum Jonathan addeth, spake with the Princes, and said, to number them. So it accordeth with Num. 1. 4. plains] or, champion country of Moab: see Num. 22. 1.

Vers. 4. From 20 years old] Hebr. from a son of 20 years; as verse. 2. and here is to be understood, the people are to be numbered, or the like.

Vers. 5. the first-borne] Reuben for this cause is here first numbered, as also in Num. 1. 5, 20. though he lost his dignity by his sin, 1 Chron. 5. 1. and was put down to the second quarter, as they encamped about the Sanctuary, and marched towards Canaan, Num. 2. 10.—16. Enoch] in Hebr. Chanoch. see Gen. 5. 18. and 46. 9. of the Enochites] Hebr. of the Enochite, (or Chanochite) the singular number put for the plural: so after throughout this chapter. See the annotations on Gen. 10. 16. And here Reuben hath four families, according to Gen. 46. 9. and 1 Chron. 5. 3.

Vers. 7. mustered] or numbered; Hebr. visited. See the notes on Num. 1. 3. 43 thousand, &c.] at the former muster they were 46 thousand and five hundred, Num. 1. 21. so they increased not, but decreased whiles they travelled in the wilderness.

Vers. 9. the called] that is, renowned, famous: see Num. 1. 16. and 16. 1, 2. &c. strove] in Greek, made insurrection: in Chaldee, gathered themselves together. This mutiny stirred by the chief of the tribe, seemeth to be one cause of their decrease by the hand of God against them.

Vers. 10. and Korah] that is, the men and goods that pertained unto Korah, as Num. 16. 32. the congregation died] in Greek, his congregation, meaning Korahs, as Num. 16. 40. 250 men] that offered incense, Num. 16. 35. for a sign] or, for an ensign, a banner; the Greek and Chaldee translate it, a sign: whereby God signified his anger to be displayed against all that should rebel in like manner. In Num. 16. 40. it is called A memorial unto the sons of Israel, that no stranger, &c. come nere to offer incense before Jehovah; that he be not as Korah, &c. Of such things the Apostle saith, they were our examples, 1 Cor. 10. 6.

Vers. 11. died not] to wit, either by that fire, or by the swallowing up of the earth, Num. 16. 32. 35. It seemeth they consented not to their fathers rebellion, or at least repented at the warning given by Moses, Num. 16. 5. &c. The sons of Korah were Assir and Elkanah, and Abjasaph, Exod. 6. 24. these and their posterity lived and kept their office in Israel; for their genealogy is reckoned in 1 Chron. 6. 22.—38. and they were appointed by David to be singers in the house of the Lord, 1 Chron. 6. 31. 32. and of them came Samuel the Prophet, 1 Chron. 6. 33, 34. compared with 1 Sam. 1. 20. and Heman, who with his offspring were singers, 1 Chron. 6. 33. and 25. 4, 5, 6. And many Psalms have in their titles, To the sons of Korah, as Psal. 42. and 44 and 45. and 46. and 47. and 48. and 49. and 84. and 85. and 87. and 88.

Vers. 12. Nemuel] called also Iemuel, in Gen. 46. 10. and Exod. 6. 15. in Greek here, Namov•l. So in 1 Chron. 4. 24. Iachin] in Greek, Achein: he is called Iarib, in 1 Chron. 4. 24.

Vers. 13. Zerah] in Greek, Zara; so in 1 Chr. 4. 24. elsewhere called Zohar, Gen. 46. 10. Exod. 6. 15. Saul] the son of a Canaanitess, Gen. 46. 10.

Vers. 14. These are the families] to wit, which remained: for there was one family more of Obad, Gen. 46. 10 Exod. 6. 15. but that was extinct in the wilderness, and therefore omitted here and in 1 Chron. 4. 24. ﴿ϕ﴾ and 200.] their number was greatly diminished; for at the former muster, they were 59 thousand and 300, Num. 1. 23. Among other sins, that forementioned in Num. 25. 14. seemeth to be a special cause hereof. And Moses blessing all the other tribes before his death, maketh no express mention of Simeons, in Deut. 33.

Vers. 15. Gad] though he was not the next borne to Simeon, nor of that mother, yet is he 〈...〉 stered in the third place, because he was joined with Reuben and Simeon in the South quarter, as they encamped about the Sanctuary, Num. 2. 10. 14. Zephon] in Greek, Sapho•, he was called also Ziphion. in Gen. 46. 16.

Vers. 16. Oz•i] in Greek, Az•ni: in Gen. 46. 16. he is named Ezbo•.

Vers. 17. Arod] in Greek, Aroadi, and in Gen. 46 16. Arodi.

Vers. 18. and five hundred] so this tribe had fewer now by five thousand one hundred and fifty men, than at the former muster, Num. 2. 15.

Vers. 19. and Onan died] both of them died without issue, God did cut them off for their wickedness in their youth, Gen. 38. 7. 10.

Vers. 20. Selah] in Greek, Selon. [unspec 21]

Vers. 21. of Pharez] The sons of Judah were five in all, Gen. 38. so noted by the holy Ghost, in 1 Chron. 2. 4. they were all to have been heads of families; but two dying childless, here are taken two of his sons sons (H•zron and Hamul) in their stead; and these were of Pharez, (the second brother of the twins, Gen. 38. 28, 29.) of whom our Lord Christ came according to the flesh, Matth. 1. So Judah hath five families continued, according to the number of his five sons.

Vers. 22. and six thousand] at the first muster he had but 74 thousand and six hundred, Num. 2. 4. now he is increased nineteen hundred mo•: and as he, so all the tribes under his standard were increased also; whereas in Reuben's they were all diminished. For Judah prevailed above his brethren, for the honor of Christ who was to come of his stock: see 1 Chron. 5. 2. Gen. 49. 8.—10. Heb. 7. 14.

Vers. 23. Issachar] he is numbered next Judah, for he was next him under his standard, Num. 2. 5. next him graved on the high Priests breast-plate, Exod. 28. borne next of the same mother Leah, Gen. 30. 17, 18. Of him and his four families here reckoned, see the notes on Gen. 46. 13. Phuvah] called also Phuah, in 1 Chron. 7. 1. and so here in Greek, Phova.

Vers. 24. Iashub] he is called Job, in Gen. 46. 13.

Vers. 25. 64 thousand] he had before but 54 thousand and four hundred, Num. 2. 6. so that his tribe is increased nine thousand and nine hundred men of war.

Vers. 26. Zebulon] or Zebulun, he was next brother to Issachar, Gen. 30. 19, 20. next him on Aaron's breast-plate, Exod. 28. and next him in marching and camping about the Tabernacle, Num. 2. His three families continue here, as they were in Gen. 46. 14.

Vers. 27. sixty thousand, &c.] who were before 57 thousand and four hundred, Num. 2. 8. so they are increased three thousand and one hundred men.

Vers. 28. Joseph] of him came two tribes, for he had the first birth-right, a double portion, 1 Chron. 5. 2. Gen. 48. 1. 5.

Vers. 29. Manasseh] he, though the elder brother, was put down to the second place, by Jacob's prophesy, Gen. 48. 14. 19, 20. and by God's disposition of the tribes, Num. 2. 18. 20. yet here he is mustered before Ephraim the standard-bearer; as his army was increased in the wilderness, when Ephraim's was diminished, which after doth appear. Machir] he was the son of Manasseh by his concubine an Aramitess, 1 Chron. 7. 14. Gilead] in Greek, Galaad. There was also a place called Gilead, which the sons of this Machir conquered, and had it for their possession, Num. 32. 39, 40. Ios. 17. 1.

Vers. 30. Ieezer] in Greek, Achiezer: in Ios. 17. 2. Abiezer. Here not only the sons sons (as was noted before of Judah, verse. 21.) but the sons sons sons are made heads of families in the tribe of Manasseh: the like whereof is not in any other tribe. This honor hath Joseph above his brethren; who also whiles he lived, saw unto Ephraim sons of the third generation: also the sons of Machir son of Manasseh, were borne upon Joseph's knees, Gen. 50. 23. And Manasseh here hath eight families, when no other tribe hath so many.

V. 33. Zelophehad] or Zelophehad, in Greek, S'lp'a'd. the names] Hebr. the name. Machlah] in Greek their names are written, Maala, Nova, Aigla, Melcha, and Thersa: Of these daughters, see Num. 27. 1. &c. Num. 36 11. Ios. 17. 3.

Vers. 34. 52 thousand, &c.] he had before but 32 thousand and 200. Num. 2. 21. so that now he was increased 20 thousand and five hundred men of war: none of all the other tribes had half so much increase. Thus Jacob's prophesy is fulfilled, Joseph shall be the son of a fruitful Uine, Gen. 49. 22.

Vers. 35. Shuthelah] in Greek, Southala. Becher] this some think to be he which is called Bered, in 1 Chron. 7. 20. Tahan] or Tachan; in Greek, Tanach, by transposition of letters.

Vers. 36. Eran] in 1 Chron. 7. 26. called Edan (or Laadan;) so the Greek here writeth him Eden, for the likeness of the Hebrew letters, whereof see the Annotations on Gen. 4. 18. and Num. 2. 14. Of this Eran (or Edan) came Joshua the son of Nun, 1 Chro. 7. 26, 27. And here Ephraim's sons son is head of a family, as was before in Judah's tribe, verse. 21.

Vers. 37. 32 thousand, &c.] he had before 40 thousand, Num. 2. 19. so eight thousand of this tribe are now diminished.

Vers. 38. Bela] in Greek, Bale: he was Benjamins first-borne, 1 Chron. 8. 1. Ashbel] called Iediael, 1 Chron. 7. 6. Benjamins second son, 1 Chron. 8. 1. The Greek here writeth him As•ber, or as some copies have it, Asubel. Abiram] or, Achiram, in Greek, Acheiran: elsewhere he is named Aechi, Gen. 46. 22. and Achrah the ⟨ϕ⟩ son of Benjamin, 1 Chron. 8. 1.

Vers. 39. Shephupham] in Greek, Sopha•, in 1 Chron. 7. 12. he is called S•uppm, in Gen. 46. 22. Muppm. Hupham] otherwise Huppm, Gen. 46. 22. 1 Chron. 7. 12.

Vers. 40. Ard] in Greek, Ader: so in 1 Chro. 8. 3. the Hebrew writeth him Adar. the family] understand (as the Greek also supplieth) of Ard, the family of the Ardites. Here Benjamin hath but seven families, who in Gen. 46. 21. had ten.

Vers. 41. 45 thousand, &c.] he had before but 35 thousand and 400. Num. 2. 23. now his number is increased ten thousand and two hundred; that though his families were diminished, yet he had the greatest increase of men of war amongst all the tribes, save Manasseh and Aser.

Vers. 42. Shuham] or Shucham, called by transplacing of letters Hushim (or Chushim) in Gen. 46. 23. in Greek, Same.

Vers. 43. 64 thousand, &c.] of one family of Dan there sprang so many thousand men, that none of all the tribes save Judah have the like multitude: and he is increased 17 hundred men more than at the former numbering, Num. 2. 26.

Vers. 44. Iimnah] in Greek, Iamein. ⟨ϕ⟩ ] in Greek, I•sovi. Between these there was another called Iisvah, Gen. 46. 17. whose family here omitted, seemeth to be perished.

Vers. 45. Cheber] or Heber, in Greek, Cheber: of his posterity, see 1 Chron. 7. 32. Here Asers sons are also heads of families, as were before in Judah and Ephraim, verse. 21. and 36.

Vers 46. Serah] or Serach; in Greek, Sara mentioned also in Gen. 46. 17. 1 Chron. 7. 30.

Vers. 47. 53 thousand, &c.] when before ⟨ϕ⟩ [unspec] had but 45 thousand and five hundred, Num. 2. 28. that his increase in the wilderness was elev•• thousand and nine hundred men of war: none but Manasseh was before him.

Vers. 48. Naphtali] in Greek, Naphthal ⟨...⟩ . Iachzeel] in Greek, Asiel. The four families of Naphtali continue, as in Gen. 46. 24.

Vers. 50. 45 thousand, &c.] whereas before he had been 53 thousand and 4 hundred, Num. 2. 30. so that eight thousand fewer are at the last than at the first.

Vers. 51. and a thousand, &c.] The number of all at the former count was 600 thousand, and three thousand, and 550, Num. 2. 32. so that now in the whole sum the host of Israel is decreased in their 38 years traveil, eighteen hundred and twenty men, exempting the Levites which were numbered apart. Wherein God's work for them all in general, and for the tribes and families in particular is to be regarded. When they were under bondage and affliction in Egypt, they multiplied like fish, and filled the land, Exod. 1. (for outward persecution increaseth the Church, and lesseneth it not;) but when they were come out from that iron furnace, and carried of God as on Eagles wings, thorough the wilderness in safety, they so provoked him by their murmurings, rebellions, and idolatries, that he consumed their days in vanity, and their years in hasty terror, Psal. 78. 17.—33. And though amongst other blessings, God give them his laws to direct them, Exod. 20. &c. and his good spirit to instruct them, Neh. 9. 20. and led them like a flock, by the hand of Moses and Aaron, Psal. 77. 21. yet learned they not obedience, but mount Sinai gendred to bondage, Gal. 4. 24. and the Law wrought wrath, Rom. 4. 15. and Moses their Law-giver could not bring them into the promised land, but left that unto his successor Jesus the son of Nun, who figured Jesus the Son of God, by whom cometh grace and truth, and the inheritance of the Kingdom of heaven, Deut. 31. 2. 7. 14. John. 1. 17. Rom. 6. 23.

The special hand of God touching the tribes, and the mothers that bare them, and the families and persons that proceeded of them, may thus be viewed:

Seven of the twelve tribes did increase in multitude as they travelled, besides the tribe of Levi, which also was a thousand at the last numbering moe than at the first, ver. 62.

- 1 Judah increased 1900.
- 2 Issachar 9900.
- 3 Zebulon 3100.
- 4 Manasseh 20500.
- 5 Benjamin 10200.
- 6 Dan 1700.
- 7 Aser 11900.

The sum of all increased, was nine and fifty thousand and two hundred, besides the thousand Levites. Notwithstanding the decrease of the five  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  was more: for

- 1 Reuben decreased 2770.
- 2 Simeon—37100.
- 3 Gad—5150.
- 4 Ephraim—8000.
- 5 Naphtali—8000.

So the sum of all that were diminished, was one and sixty thousand and twenty men.

Observe also the work of God in respect of Jacob's wives, the four mothers of the tribes, Leah, Rael, Zilpah, and Bilhah, whom the holy Ghost mentioneth in Gen. 46. 15. 18, 19. 25.

1 Leah was multiplied

- in Judah 1900.
- in Issachar 9900.
- in Zebulon 3100.

So the fruit of Leah's body increased in the wilderness, fourteen thousand and nine hundred, besides the thousand of Levi.

2 Rachel was multiplied

- in Manasseh 20500.
- in Benjamin 10200.

So Rachel's increase was thirty thousand and seven hundred.

3 Zilpah Leah's handmaid increased in her son Aser, eleven thousand and nine hundred.

4 Bilhah Rachel's handmaid was multiplied in her son Dan seventeen hundred. Thus God unparted his blessing among them all, but chiefly to Rachel whom Jacob loved; for her increase was more than of all the other three.

They were likewise all of them partakers of his chastisements in their posterity: for,

1 Leah was diminished in Reuben, 2770. in Simeon, 37100. so she lost of her increase in the wilderness, nine and thirty thousand eight hundred and seventy men.

2 Rachel was diminished in Ephraim, 8000.

3 Zilpah lost in Gad her son, five thousand one hundred and fifty.

4 Bilhah lost in Naphtali, eight thousand men.

So the far greatest loss was Leah's, who now might weep for her children, because they were not, as long after befell unto Rachel, Mat. 2. 18.

Again, as the twelve tribes camped in four quarters about the tabernacle, Num 2. so the hand of God for the increase and diminishing of their camps may be seen thus:

In the first and chiefest quarter Eastward, were IVDAH, Issachar, and Zebulon, all increased. Judah was the father and figure of Christ, under whose standard, all that camp & march are blessed.

In the second quarter Southward, were REVBEN, Simeon, and Gad, who were all diminished; as Reuben for his sin lost his honor and birthright, 1 Chro. 5. 1. so his sons rebelled, Num. 16. and Simeon sinned with an high hand, Num. 25.

In the third quarter Westward, were EPHRAIM, Manasseh, and Benjamin; of whom the first was diminished, the other two increased.

In the fourth quarter Northward, were DAN, Aser, and Naphtali; of whom the two former were multiplied, the third and last diminished.

Concerning the families of the tribes (excepting Levi) they are 57 in all. For here are families

- 1 Of Manasseh 8.
- 2 Of Benjamin 7.
- 3 Of Gad 7.
- 4 Of Simeon 5.
- 5 Of Judah 5.
- 6 Of Aser 5.
- 7 Of Reuben 4.
- 8 Of Issachar 4.
- 9 Of Ephraim 4.
- 10 Of Naphtali 4.
- 11 Of Zebulon 3.
- 12 Of Dan 1.

The sum of all the families is 57: to whom if we add the twelve tribes, and Jacob himself the father of them all, the whole number is Seventie, w<sup>ch</sup> was the number of the souls of Jacob's house that went into Egypt, Gen. 46. 27. But comparing these now with the heads of families named in Gen. 46. we shall see five families rooted out; one of Simeon, Leah's son; one of Aser, the son of Leah's handmaid; and three of Benjamin, Rachel's son; whose ten families are decayed unto seven. In these numbers, increase and decrease of the tribes and families of Israel, we may behold that w<sup>ch</sup> Job saith of God's works; Who knoweth not in all these, that the hand of the Lord hath wrought this? in whose hand is the soul of every living thing, and the breath of all flesh of man. Behold he breaketh down, and it cannot be built again: he shutteth up a man, and there can be no opening. He increaseth the nations, and destroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, and straitneth them, Job 12. 9, 10. 14. 23.

Vers. 53. Unto these the land shall be divided] So the natural sons of Israel only had inheritance; but under the Gospel it is prophesied, that the strangers also should have inheritance among the tribes; Ezek. 47. 22, 23. By this also it appeareth, that the tribes diminished had a double punishment, loss of men, and a lesser inheritance in the holy land: both which are opposed to the covenant and promise made to their fathers, w<sup>ch</sup> stood on these two branches, multitude of children, and inheritance of the land, Gen. 12. 2. 7. and 13. 15, 16. and 15. 5. 8. 18. and 17. 2. 6. 8. and 22. 17. and 26. 3, 4. and 28. 13, 14. and 35. 11, 12. Sol. larchi here saith, To these and not to them that are less than twenty years old, although they came to full twenty before the division of the land. For loe the land was seven years in conquering, &c. yet none had portion in the land but these six hundred thousand, & one thousand: and if one of them had six sons, they received but their fathers portion only. But Chazkuni referreth it to the families, saying; To these the 57 families reckoned here, shall the land be divided for inheritance by the number of names, 57 portions according to the 57 heads of families. So it is written in Num. 33. 54. Ye shall divide the land by lot; for an inheritance among your families. This figured, that only such shall have their part in the kingdom of heaven, as are chosen and called of God, and have their names written in the lambs book of life, Rom. 8. 28, 29, 30. 1 Pet. 1. 2, 3, 4. 5. Rev. 21. 27.

Vers. 54. To the many] To the tribe and family w<sup>ch</sup> hath many persons in it, Thou shalt give them the more (Hebr. thou shalt multiply his) inheritance. So the portions were not all equal in quantity, but proportioned to the multitude of men in the tribes and families. To the tribes which had the greater multitudes, they gave the greater portion, though the portions were not equal: for lo every tribe had his portion according to his multitude; saith Sol. Rashi on Num. 26. Hereupon the sons of Joseph complained of their small portion in respect of their great multitude, Ios. 17. 14.

Vers. 55. by lot] Although Eleazar the high Priest, Joshua the governor, and 12 princes of the tribes, (appointed of God, Num. 34. 17, 18. &c.) were to divide the land; yet to cut off contention, and to show the providence & disposition of God, according to the purpose of his will, he commandeth lots to be cast; for, The lot causeth contention to cease, and parteth between the mighty, Prov. 18. 18. and, The lot is cast into the lap, but the Whole disposing thereof is of the LORD, Pro. 16. 33. And the Hebrew Doctors say, The portions were not made but by lot, and the lot was by the mouth of the holy Ghost. Sol. Rashi on Num. 26. The manner of doing it was thus; First the land was by men divided into parts, according to the number of the tribes; as Joshua sent men to divide the land which remained into seven parts, and to describe it according to the inheritance of them, and so to bring the description unto him, that he might cast lots for them before the Lord. And they described it by cities, into seven parts, in a book, and brought it to Joshua, who cast lots for them in Shiloh before the Lord; and so every tribe received as their lot came up, according to their families, Ios. 18. 4.—11. &c. Moreover, in the Hebrew records it is said, that it was not divided but by Vrim and Thummim, [which was the oracle of God in the breast-plate of the high Priest, Exo. 28. Num. 27. 21.] as it is said (in Num. 26. 56.) According to (or At the mouth of) the lot. When Eleazar was clothed with Vrim and Thummim, & Joshua and all Israel stood before him, there was a Kalphi [a vessel whereinto the lots were put, whereof see the Annotations on Lev. 16. 8.] of the Tribes names, and a Kalphi of the names of the limits (or bounds of the countries) set before him; and he being directed by the holy Ghost, said; Naphtali cometh up, the limit Genasareth cometh up; he took out of the Kalphi of the tribes, and Naphtali came up in his hand; out of the Kalphi of the limits, and the limit Genasareth came up in his hand. And so for every tribe. Talmud Bab. in Baba bathra, c. 8. in Gemara, and Sol. Rashi on Num. 26. But observe that the land within Jordan was divided only to nine tribes and an half, because two tribes & an half had their portion on the outside of Jordan, Num. 34. 13. 14, 15. By reason of this dividing the land by lot, the Scripture calleth inheritances by the name of Lots; as, Come up with me into my lot, Judge. 1. 3. And not lands only, but whatsoever befalleth unto men frō the hand of God, is called a lot; as, This is the portion of them that spoil us, and the lot of them that rob us, Isaiah 17. 14. and, Thou hast neither part nor lot in this matter, Act. 8. 21. and, That they may receive forgiveness of sins, and a lot (that is, inheritance) among them which are sanctified by faith, &c. Act. 26. 18. & The part of the lot, (that is, of the inheritance) of the Saints, in light, Col. 1. 12. So that in the Greek, used by the Apostles, Cleros, a lot, and Cleronomia a division by lot, is the common name of an inheritance, 1 Pet. 5. 3. Ephes. 1. 14. 18.

Vers. 56. According to the lot] Hebr. At (or Upon) the mouth of the lot: as the lot (whereon the name of the tribe, or of the inheritance is written) shall speak. This lot being of the Lord, figured the diversities of gifts in the Church, which the Spirit of God divideth to every man severally  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  will, 1 Cor. 12. 4.—11. as also the dispensation of his graces concerning our heavenly inheritance, which the Election only obtaineth, that the purpose of God according to election might stand, not of works, but of him that calleth, Rom. 11. 7. and 9. 11.

Vers. 57. of the Levites] who though they had no inheritance in the land, verse. 62. yet were they to have 48 cities and their suburbs for their habitation, Num. 35. which also fell unto them by lot, Ios. 21. 4. &c.

Vers. 58. Korachites] or, Korhites, of Korah the son of Izhar, the son of Kohath, the son of Levi, Num. 16. 1. Korah himself died in the rebellion, but his sons died not, Num. 26. 11. therefore they are reckoned here for a family in the fourth generation from Levi, which is one degree further than the other families. And whereas in Exod. 6. 16. &c. there are reckoned of Gershon two sons, Libni and Shimei; here the family of the Libnites is mustered, but Shimei left out. There Kohath hath four sons, Amram, and Ishar, and Hebron, and Vzziel; here Vzziel is omitted; neither is Ishar named, but in his sons the Korhites.

Vers. 59. she bare to Levi] by she understand Levies wife, or Iochebeds mother: Sol. Rashi expoundeth it, his wife bare her in Egypt. she bare to Amram] that is, Iochebed Amrams wife, (who was also his aunt) bare to Amram, Exo. 6. 20. Marie] Hebr. Mirjam: she was a prophetesse: see Exod. 15. 20. Num. 12. 1.

Vers. 60. unto Aaron was borne] Here Moses children, Gershon and Eliezer, are again omitted: see the notes on Num. 3. 38.

Vers. 61. and Abihu died] and they had no sons, Num. 3. 4. See the history in Levite. 10.

Vers. 62. 23 thousand] who at the former numbering were but 22 thousand, Num. 3. 39. So they increased in the wilderness a thousand males.

Vers. 65. dying they shall die] i. they shall surely die: this was threatened for their rebellion, & refusing to go into the promised land, Nū. 14. and the fulfilling of God's judgment is here shown. and Iosoua] in Greek, Jesus the son of Nave: these two survived, because they faithfully followed the Lord, Num. 14. 24. 38. See the Annotations there. In that, all the rest were dead save these two, it showeth that all the 600 thousand men now mustered, which should conquer Canaan, were a valiant company, between 20 and 60 years of age, (none being above 60 but Caleb and Joshua;) and as they were in body, so in mind, being trained up these 38 years in the study of the Law and ordinances of God, and beholding his works, having Moses and Aaron for their leaders, and God's good spirit for their instructor, Neh. 9. 20.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 The daughters of Zelophehad sue for an inheritance. 5 Moses bringeth their cause before the Lord, who granteth their request. 8 The Law of inheritances, when a man dieth without a son. 12 Moses is bidden go up and see the land, and is told of his death for his trespass. 15 He requesteth of the Lord that a man may be set governor in his place. 18 The Lord appointeth Joshua to succeed him. 22 And Moses by imposition of hands, ordaineth him to his office.

Then came the daughters of Zelophehad the son of Hopher, the son of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, of the families of Manasseh the son of Joseph: and these are the names of his daughters; Machlah, Noah, & Hoglah, and Milcah, and Tirzah. And they stood before Moses, and before Eleazar the Priest, and before the Princes and all the congregation, at the door of the Tent of the Congregation, saying; Our father died in the wilderness, and he was not among the Congregation of them that gathered themselves together against Jehovah, in the congregation of Korah: but in his sin he died, and he had no sons. Why should the name of our father be done away from among his family, because he hath no son? Give unto us a possession among the brethren of our father. And Moses brought their cause before Jehovah.

And Jehovah said unto Moses, saying; The daughters of Zelophehad speak right; giving thou shalt give them a possession of an inheritance among the brethren of their father: and thou shalt cause the inheritance of their father to pass unto them. And thou shalt speak unto the sons of Israel, saying, If a man die, and he have no son, then ye shall cause his inheritance to pass unto his daughter. And if he have no daughter, then ye shall give his inheritance unto his brethren. And if he have no brethren, then ye shall give his inheritance unto the brethren of his father. And if his father have no brethren, then ye shall give his inheritance unto his kinsman that is next to him of his family, and he shall inherit it, & it shall be unto the sons of Israel for a statute of judgment, as Jehovah commanded Moses.

And Jehovah said unto Moses, Go thou up into this mountain of Abarim, and see the land w<sup>ch</sup> I have given to the sons of Israel. And thou shalt see it, and thou also shalt be gathered unto thy people's, as Aaron thy brother was gathered. For ye rebelled against my mouth in the wilderness of Zin, in the strife of the congregation, to sanctify me at the water before their eyes; that is the water of Meribah of Kadesh, in the wilderness of Zin.

And Moses spake unto Jehovah, saying; Let Jehovah the God of the spirits of all flesh, set a man over the congregation: Which may go out before them, and which may go in before them, and which may lead them out, and which may bring them in: that the congregation of Jehovah be not as sheep which have no shepherd. And Jehovah said unto Moses; Take unto thee Joshua the son of Nun, a man in whom is the spirit, and lay thine hand upon him. And cause him to stand before Eleazar the Priest, and before all the congregation, and charge thou him before their eyes. And thou shalt give of thine honor upon him, that all the congregation of the sons of Israel may hear.

And he shall stand before Eleazar the Priest, and he shall ask (counsel) for him, by the judgment of Vrim, before Jehovah: at his mouth shall they go out, & at his mouth shall they come in; he, and all the sons of Israel with him, and all the congregation.

And Moses did as Jehovah commanded him: and he took Joshua and caused him to stand before Eleazar the Priest, and before all the congregation. And he laid his hands upon him, and charged him, as Jehovah spake, by the hand of Moses.

Annotations.

Then came] Hebr. And they came near (or approached) to wit, unto Moses, &c. v. 2. Targum Jonathan saith, they came to the place of judgment. Zelophehad] or, Zelophchad; in Greek, Salpaad son of Opher, son of Galaad, &c. See Nū. 26. 33. of the families] or with (among) the families of Manasseh; as coming before when all the other families came to be mustered, ch. 26. but the Greek translatheth, of the family of Manasseh. of Joseph] what needeth he to be named here? Sol. Rashi answereth, because Joseph loved the land, as it is said (in Gen. 50. 25.) and ye shall carry up my bones from hence: and his daughters loved the land, as it is said, (in Num. 27. 4) Give unto us a possession, &c. Machlah] or Mahlah, Nognah, Choglah, &c. in Greek, Maala, Noua, Aigla, &c. the Scripture nameth them four times; here, and in ch. 26. 33. and 36. 11. & Ios. 17. 3. The order of their names is altered in Num. 36. 11. Machlah, Tirzah, and Hoglah, &c. whereupon Rashi here saith, they were all of like esteem one as another, therefore the order of them is changed.

Vers. 3. of Korah] who was a rebel, Num. 16. Zelophehad was not among other Rebels, whereby he and his posterity might be deprived of his inheritance. in his sin] in (or for) his own sin, as other men died in the wilderness: and he had not been a mean to draw other men into sin, as did Korah, and other rebellious persons.

Vers. 4. Why should the name of our father be done away] or, be diminished; that is, let not his name be done away; as the Greek translatheth, Let not our fathers name be blotted out: see the notes on Exod. 32. 11. It was esteemed as a curse to have their fathers name abolished; as it is written, In the generation following let his name be blotted out, Psal. 109. 13. Give unto us a possession] These daughters, as they honored their father deceased, in seeking to have his name continued, so they shown faith in God, believing that the land should be given them for inheritance, which the men of Israel before believed not, and therefore could not come into it, but it was promised to their children, Num. 14. And though these were women, no warriors, not mustered among the army, Num. 26. yet believed they the promise to belong unto them; as the inheritance was given to Abraham by promise, not by the Law, Gal. 3. 18.

Wherefore in claiming right in the holy land, they figuratively claimed inheritance in the kingdom of heaven, which shall be given to them which work not, but believe in him which justifieth the ungodly, Rom. 4. 5, 6. &c. So these five virgins may be considered as the five wise virgins, which took oil in their vessels with their l•m•es, that they might be ready to go in with the bridegroom to the marriage, Matth. 25. 1.—10. and they are our examples, that we should seek comfort and assurance (in the wilderness of this world, where we are weak and Orphans,) of our inheritance with those that are sanctified by faith in Christ: & to claim this portiō in the land of the living, without respecting either our works or weakness, by virtue of the covenant of grace confirmed by Christ, in whom there is neither Jew nor Gentile, bond nor free, male nor female; but all are one: and whosoever are Christ's, are Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise, Gal. 3. 28, 29. Their names also seem to be not without mystery: for Zelophehad by interpretation signifieth The shadow of fear, or of dread: his first daughter Machlah, Infirmities; the second, Noghlah, Wandering; the third, Choglah, Turning about for joy, or Da•ing; the fourth, Milcah, a Queen; the fifth, Tirzah, Welpleasing, or Acceptable. By these names we may observe the degrees of our reviving by grace in Christ: for we all are borne as of the shadow of fear, being brought forth in sin, and for fear of death were all our life time subject to bondage, Hebr. 2. 15. This begetteth Infirmities, or Sickness, grief of heart for our estate; after which, Wandering abroad for help and comfort, we find it in Christ, by whom our sorrow is turned into joy. He communicateth to us of his royalty, making us Kings and Priests unto God his Father, Rev. 1. 6. and shall be presented unto him glorious, and without blemish, Ephes. 5. 27. So the Church is beautiful as Tirzah, Song 6. 3.

Vers. 5. brought their cause] or, brought near their judgment, that is, their cause to be judged of, as in difficult cases he used to do. Four principally are observed, of which this was one: see the Annotations on Num. 15. 34.

Vers. 7. speak right] speak that which is just and meet to be done: so God approveth their desire and request of faith, and showeth himself to be the father of the fatherless, Psal. 68. 5. And of them Sol. Rashi here observeth, that their eyes saw that which Moses eyes saw not. giving then shalt give them] that is, thou shalt surely give them without fail. This commandment was fulfilled in Ios. 17. 4. Here the word them, (as Chazkuni also noteth) is of the male or masculine gender, though he speaketh of females: which may be either in respect of their faith and confidence, such as might beseem men; or of God's gift (especially of his grace in Christ hereby figured) which he giveth without difference of male and female, Gal. 3. 28. The Hebrews (in Talmud Bab. in Baba hathra, ch. 8.) have recorded that The daughters of Zelophehad had three portions for inheritance; their fathers portion, because he was one of them that came out of Egypt; and his portion with his brethren in the goods of Hopher (his father) and because he was the first-borne, he had two portions. Which Rambam in his Annotations on that place, explaineth thus; All that came out of Egypt were to have part in the land; and if the father and his son both came out, each of them had a portion alike. And Zelophehad and Hopher were both of them that came out of Egypt: so Zelophehad was to have had his part, and to have had by inheritance of Hopher, two parts, because he was the first-borne, &c.

Vers. 8. If a man] or, Any man when he dieth and have no son: here God passeth from the special case of these virgins, and giveth a general law for inheritances, that they should pass to the female, if the father died without male issue: but otherwise the daughters had no part in the inheritance with the sons:

Vers. 11. unto his kinsman] or, unto his near kin; of which words, see the notes on Levite. 18. 6. From this word, and that which followeth, next to him, Sol. Rashi noteth he should be of his family; and none is called a family but on the fathers side. Touching the right of inheritances, the Hebrew Canons lay it downethus; Who so dieth, his children do inherit that which is his, and they are before all other. And the males are before the females. But the female never inheriteth with the male. If he have no children, his father shall be his heir; or if it be a ••there, she is heir to her children; and this thing is by tradition. And whosoever is first for inheritance, is of them that first come out of the thigh (that is, are begotten first.) Therefore whoso dieth, <ϕ> it man or woman, if they leave a son, he inheriteth all; if his son be not found alive, they look next to the seed of that son. If any of his seed be found, whether males or females, though it be the sons daughters daughters daughter to the end of the world, she inheriteth all. If he have no male issue, they turn to the daughter. If he have a daughter, she inheriteth all. If his daughter be not found in the world, they look unto the daughters seed, which if any be found, whether males or females to the worlds end, it inheriteth all. If the daughter have no seed, the inheritance returneth to his father. If his father be not living, they look next to the seed of the father, which are the brethren of him that is dead. If he have a brother found, or brothers seed, he inherits all: if not, they turn to the sisters; if he have a sister or sisters seed, it inherits all. And if there be neither brothers seed nor sisters seed, forasmuch as the father hath no seed, the inheritance returneth to the fathers father. If the grandfather be not living, they look to the grandfathers seed, which are the brethren of his father that is deceased: and there the males are before the females, and the seed of the males before the females, as was the right of the seed of the dead him-self. If none of his fathers brethren, nor of their seed be found, the inheritance returneth to the great grandfather: and after this manner it proceedeth upwards. Thus the son is before the daughter, and all the issue of the son before the daughter, and the daughter is before her grandfather, and all her issue are before her grandfather. And the father of the deceased is before the brethren of the deceased, and the brother before the sister, and all the brothers issue before the sister: and the sister before her grandfather, and all the sisters issue before her grandfather. The grandfather is before the brethren of the father of him that is deceased, and his fathers brethren are before his fathers sisters, and all that come out of the thigh of his fathers brother, are before his fathers sisters; and his fathers sisters are before the fathers grandfather of him that is deceased; and so all that come out of the thigh of his fathers sister are before his fathers grandfather: and after this manner it proceedeth and ascendeth until the beginning of the generations. Therefore there is no man of Israel that is without heirs. Who so dieth & leaveth a son, and a sons daughter, though it be a sons daughters daughters daughter, to the end of many generations, she is for most and heir of all, and the (first man's) daughter hath nothing. And the same law is for the brothers daughter with the sister, and for the daughter of his fathers brothers son, with his fathers sister, and so all in like sort. Who so hath two sons, and they both die while he liveth, and the one son leave three sons, and the other son leave one daughter, afterward when the old man dieth, the three sons of his son shall inherit the half of his heritage, and the daughter of his (other) son shall inherit the (other) half; for each of them was to inherit a portion of his father: and after this manner do the sons of brethren divide, and the sons of the fathers brother, unto the beginning of the generations. The family of the mother is not called a family, neither is there inheritance but to the family of the father: therefore brethren by the mother are not heirs one of another, but brethren by the father are heirs one of another: and this, whether it be his brother by his father only, or his brother by his father and his mother. All that are near (in blood) by transgression do inherit, as they which are lawfully begotten; as if one have a bastard son, or a bastard brother, loe they are as other sons and as other brethren for inheritance. But the sons of a bondwoman, or of a strange woman, is not counted a son for any matter, neither is he an heir at all. Maimonides tom. 4. in Nachaloth (or treat. of Inheritances) ch. 1. sect. 1.—7. As the sons had their fathers inheritance divided among them, (the first-borne having a double portion, Deut. 21. 17.) so for relief of the widow, and of the daughters, the Hebrews had these laws. A widow is to be sustained by the goods of the heirs all the time of her widowhood, until she receive her dowry; and after she hath received her dowry in the judgment Hall, she hath not that sustenance. As they sustain her (with food) after her husbands death with his goods; so they give her raiment, and household-stuff, and dwelling; or she remaineth in the dwelling which she had whiles her husband lived. If the widow die, her husbands heirs are bound to bury her. Our wise men have commanded that a man should give a little of his goods to his daughter, &c. If a father die and leave a daughter, they measure his purpose how much was in his heart to give unto her for her livelihood, and they give it her: and his acquaintance are they that measure his purpose. If they know it not, the Magistrates rate it, and give her a tenth part of his goods for her livelihood. If he leave many daughters, everyone of them when she cometh to be married, hath a tenth of his goods. And she which is after her, hath a tenth part of that which remaineth of the first: and she which is after her, hath a tenth of that which is left of the second. And if they come all to be married at once, the first receiveth a tenth part, and the second a tenth part of that which remaineth of the first, and the third a tenth of that which remaineth of the second; and so (the rest) though they be ten, &c. and the residue of the goods are the brethren's. If the brethren have sold or mortgaged their fathers lands, the daughter taketh her livelihood from the purchasers, even as a creditor taketh his debt of the purchasers. Who so commandeth at his death, that they should give his daughters no livelihood of his goods, they do hearken unto him; for this is not of the nature of a dowry. Maimonides tom. 2. treat. of Wives, ch. 18. sect. 1. &c. and ch. 20. sect. 1. &c.

Vers. 12. this mountain of Abarim] There were many mountains of Abarim, Num. 33. 47. by this mountain therefore is meant one special, which was called Nebo, which was in the land of Moab, over against Jericho, Deut. 32. 49. And they were called Abarim, of the fords or passages which were by them over Jordan into the land of Canaan. Wherefore the Greek version saith, Go thou up into the mountain which is on this side (Jordan) of mount Naban, (or this mount Nabais:) And Mos. Gerundens. explaineth it thus; The mountain of Abarim is mount Nebo, as is expounded in Deut. 32. and is so called, because it is by the fords of Jordan, where they pass over into the land of Canaan. see the land] the land of Canaan, saith the Greek: and so Moses expresseth it in Deut. 32. 49. Though this were some comfort unto Moses, to see the land a far off, and salute the same (as the faithful fathers are said to do the promises which they received not, Heb. 11. 13.) yet his desire and earnest suit unto the Lord was, that he might have gone over and seen it: but he would not grant it him, because he had sinned, and God had denounced his death before, Deut. 3. 23.—26. Num. 20. 12. See the Annotations on Deut. 34. where his viewing of the land is described.

Vers. 13. be gathered unto thy people's] in Greek, be added unto thy people: meaning, that he should die there, and be buried, Deut. 32. 50. and 34. 5, 6. and his soul should be gathered unto his godly forefathers: see Num. 20. 24.

Vers. 14. For ye rebelled] or, For as much as yet rebelled against my mouth, that is, as the Greek and Chaldee expound it, against my word: so in Num. 20. 24. to sanctify me] that is, which word and commandment of mine was, that ye by faith should sanctify me, but ye sanctified me not. Wherefore the Greek here translateth, ye sanctified me not: and so it is explained in Deut. 32. 51. because ye sanctified me not. Meribah of Kadesh] or, strife of Kadesh; as the Greek translateth it, of the contradiction of Kades; & the Chaldee, the strife of Rekam. By this name Kadesh it is distinguished from the other Meribah spoken of in Exod. 17. 7. So in Deut. 32. 51.

V. 15. of the spirits of all flesh] the Greek translateth, of the spirits, and of all flesh: so before in Num. 16. 22. It meaneth that God is both the Creator of all men's souls or spirits, Eccles. 12. 7. Zach. 12. 1. and he that giveth them spiritual gifts of wisdom, knowledge, grace, &c. as spirits are used for spiritual gifts, in 1 Cor. 14. 12. set] or, visit, that is, provide & constitute for Bishop or overseer; who therefore is called in v. 17. a shepherd, or Pastor. Though for the people's sake the Lord was angry with Moses, and would not let him go into the good land, Deut. 4. 21. yet such was Moses love unto them, and care for their welfare, that he procureth what in him lieth, their good after his decease, by having a faithful governor set over them of God, which is a blessing unto a land or people, Eccles. 10. 17.

Vers. 17. go out before them] by this phrase of going out, and coming in, and that which followeth, leading out and bringing in, is signified the administration of the officer, and government of his people, both in time of peace and of war: wherefore when Moses was old, and the time of his administration expired, he said, I can no more go out and come in, Deut. 31. 2. So the Priests administration in the Lord's house, is called a going in thereto, 1 Chron. 24. 19. The similitude is taken from a shepherd, whose duty is to go before the sheep, and to lead them out, that by his guidance they may go in and out and sinde pasture, as is spoken of our great shepherd, the Lord Jesus, whom this Jesus the successor of Moses prefigured, John 10. 3, 4, 9. which have no shepherd] or, no Pastor: w<sup>ch</sup> estate is miserable, as is noted of our Savior, that when he saw the multitudes, he was moved with compassion on them, because they fainted & were scattered abroad, as sheep having no shepherd, Mat. 9. 36.

Vers. 18. Joshua the son of Nun] in Greek, Jesus the son of Nave: so in the New Testament he is called Jesus, Act. 7. 45. Heb. 4. 8. the spirit] to wit, the spirit of God; meaning the gifts and graces of the Spirit; as wisdom, Deut. 34. 9. and the like. The Chaldee expoundeth it, the spirit of prophesy; and Targ. Ionat. saith, the spirit of prophesy from before the Lord remaineth upon him: w<sup>ch</sup> accordeth with Num. 11. 24. But whether in prophesy or other graces, he was but a shadow of Jesus the son of God, to whom he gave not the spirit by measure, Job. 3. 34. lay thine hand] or, impose thine hand, that is, thine hands, as the Greek translateth, and as Moses after showeth in verse. 23. which was a sign of his calling and ordination to his office, as in Numb.

8. 10. with which also it seemeth he received a greater measure of the Spirit; as it is said, And Joshua the son of Nun was full of the spirit of wisdom; for Moses had laid his hands upon him, Deut. 34. 9.

Vers. 19. charge thou him] or, command him; give him a charge for the faithful executing of his office: such as we read of in Deut. 31. 7, 8. Besides that which was now done by Moses, God himself did after give him a charge in the Tabernacle, Deut. 31. 14, 15.

Vers. 20. give of thine honor] or, give (that is, put) of thy glory, or of thy Majesty: whereby the gifts fitting the government of Israel seem to be meant, as wisdom, according to Deut. 34. 9. or some other exterior sign of his calling from God, whereby the people might be obedient to him. As it is said of Solomon, when he sate on the throne of the Lord, and all Israel obeyed him, that the Lord magnified Solomon exceedingly before the eyes of all Israel, and gave upon him the honor of the kingdom, (or royal majesty) such as had not been on any king before him in Israel, 1 Chron. 29. 23, 25. And the contrary is spoken of Antiochus, that vile person, they shall not give upon him the honor of the kingdom; but he shall come in peaceably, and obtain the kingdom by slatteries, Dan. 11. 21. The Chaldee translateth, thou shalt give of thy brightness (in Greek, thy glory) upon him: as referring it to the shining of Moses face, spoken of in Exod. 34. 30, 35. and so other Hebrews expound it, as Sol. Rashi here saith, This is the shining of the skin of his face; and R. Menachem from the judgment of former Doctors, saith thus, of thine honor, and not all thine honor: Hereupon they say, The face of Moses was like the face of the Sun; the face of Iosualike the face of the Moon. Though Joshua had not all the honor of Moses, for There arose not a Prophet since in Israel like unto Moses, Deut. 34. 10. yet Jesus Christ was counted worthy of more glory than Moses, Hebr. 3. 3. may hear] that is, hear him, as the Greek translateth, and so obey his authority. Thus it is opened in Deut. 34. 9. Moses had laid his hands upon him, and the sons of Israel hearkened unto him, that is, obeyed him: which is further manifested by their words unto him, in Ios. 1. 16, 17, 18. Herein Jesus the son of Nun was a figure of Jesus the Son of God, of whom it is written, We were eyewitnesses of his Majesty, for he received from God the Father honor and glory, when there came such a voice to him from the excellent glory, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased, HEARE YE HIM, 2 Pet. 1. 16, 17. Matth. 17. 5.

Vers. 21. and he shall ask for him] that is, Eleazar shall ask counsel of God for Joshua in all doubtful cases; in all their wars, &c. Or, and he shall ask of him, that is, Joshua shall ask of Eleazar: this the Greek favoereth, translating, and they shall ask of him the judgment of Vrim (or of manifestations.) by the judgment of Vrim] by the breast-plate of judgment, wherein were Vrim and Thummim; whereof see the Annotations on Exod. 28. 30. Thus Saul inquired of the Lord by Urim, but he answered him not, 1 Sam. 28. 6. at his mouth] in Chaldee, at his word; by his, understanding God's mouth, or Eleazars mouth, speaking from the Lord: so in Targum Jonathan it is expounded, At the word of Eleazar the Priest they shall go out. But then is implied the Lord's word, by which the Priest was to give answer: for it is a rule among the Hebrew Doctors, Every Priest that speaketh not by the Holy Ghost, and the divine Majesty residing on him, they ask not (counsel) by him. Talmud Bab. in Ioma, cap. 7. in Gemara. For in such consultations, though they inquired by the Priest, yet the answer came from the Lord; as there is an example in David, 1 Sam. 23. 9, 10, 11, 12. shall they go out] out to war, and in again from the same; and so in all weighty affairs which were extraordinary. Wherefore it was an oversight in Joshua and Israel that they made peace with the Gibeonites, and asked not (counsel at) the mouth of the Lord, Ios. 9. 14, 15. he] that is, Joshua himself, and all the people. Whereas the High Priest with Urim and Thummim, Lights and Perfections, was a figure of Christ, (as is shown on Exod. 28. 30.) the Lord by this ordinance signified, that all governors and people should have their administrations directed by the mouth of Christ: For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God, in the face of Jesus Christ, 2 Cor. 4. 6.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The Lord's oblations are commanded to be offered in the time appointed. 3 The continual Burntofferings every day, with their Meat and Drink offerings. 9 The offerings in the Sabbath; 11 in the beginnings of the months; 16 at the Passover; 26 and in the day of First-fruits, or Pentecost.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Command the sons of Israel, and say unto them: Mine oblation, my bread for my Fire-offerings, the savor of my rest, ye shall observe to offer unto me in his appointed time. And thou shalt say unto them; This is the Fire-offering which ye shall offer unto Jehovah; Two he-lambes of the first year, perfect, day by day, for a continual Burnt-offering. The one lamb thou shalt make ready in the morning, and the other lamb thou shalt make ready between the two evenings. And a tenth part of an Ephah of fine flower for a Meat-offering, mingled with the fourth part of an Hin of beaten oil.

The continual Burnt-offering which was made in mount Sinai for a savor of rest, a Fire-offering unto Jehovah. And the Drink-offering thereof shall be the fourth part of an Hin for the one lamb; in the holy place shalt thou cause to be poured out a drink-offering of strong wine unto Jehovah. And the other lamb thou shalt make ready between the two evenings: as the Meat-offering of the morning, and as the Drink-offering thereof, thou shalt make ready; a Fire-offering, a favor of rest unto Jehovah.

And in the Sabbath day, two he-lambes of the first year, perfect, and two tenth parts of fine flower for a Meat-offering, mingled with oil, and the Drink-offering thereof.

The Burnt-offering of the Sabbath, in his Sabbath, beside the continual Burnt-offering, and his Drink-offering.

And in the beginnings of your months ye shall offer a Burnt-offering unto Jehovah: Two bullocks, younglings of the herd, and one ram; seven he-lambes of the first year, perfect. And three tenth parts of fine flower for a Meat-offering, mingled with oil, for one bullock: and two tenth parts of flower for a Meat-offering, mingled with oil, for one ram. And a several tenth part of fine flower, for a Meat-offering mingled with oil, for one lamb: for a Burnt-offering, a savor of rest, a Fire-offering unto Jehovah.

And their Drink-offerings, half an Hin of wine shall be for a bullock, and the third part of an Hin for a ram, and the fourth part of an Hin for a lamb: This is the Burnt-offering of the month, in his month, through-out the months of the year. And one goat-buck of the goats for a Sin-offering unto Jehovah: it shall be made ready beside the continual Burnt-offering, and his Drink-offering.

And in the first month, in the fourteenth day of the month shall be the Passover unto Jehovah. And in the fifteenth day of this month shall be the feast: seven days shall unleavened cakes be eaten. In the first day shall be a convocation of holiness; ye shall not do any servile work. But ye shall offer a Fire offering for a Burnt-offering unto Jehovah; two bullocks, younglings of the herd, and one ram, and seven he-lambes of the first year, perfect shall they be unto you.

And their Meat-offering, fine flower mingled with oil; three tenth parts shall ye make ready for a bullock, and two tenth parts for a ram. A several tenth part shalt thou make ready for one lamb, throughout the seven lambes. And one goat-bucke for a Sin-offering, to make atonement for you.

Beside the Burnt-offering of the morning, which is for a continual Burnt-offering, ye shall make ready these. After this manner ye shall make ready for every day, seven days, the bread of the Fire-offering of a savor of rest unto Jehovah: it shall be made ready, beside the continual Burnt-offering, and his Drink-offering. And in the seventh day ye shall have a convocation of holiness, ye shall not do any servile work.

And in the day of the First-fruits, when ye offer a new Meat-offering unto Jehovah after your weeks, ye shall have a convocation of holiness, ye shall not do any servile work.

And ye shall offer a Burnt-offering for a savor of rest unto Jehovah; two bullocks, younglings of the herd, one ram, seven he-lambes of the first year. And their Meat-offering, fine flower mingled with oil; three tenth parts for one bullock, two tenth parts for one ram. A several tenth part for one lamb throughout the seven lambes.

One goat-buck of the goats, to make atonement for you. Ye shall make them ready, beside the continual Burnt-offering, and his Meat-offering; perfect shall they be unto you, and their Drink-offerings.

Annotations.

COmmand the sons of Israel] After that God had numbered the people, and appointed them their inheritance, he now repeateth and explaineth former laws concerning his service which they should do unto him in that their inheritance, daily, weekly, monthly, and at their solemn Feasts as they fell every year: for he therefore would give unto them the lands of the heathens, and they should inherit the labor of the people's, that they might observe his statutes, and keep his laws, Psal. 105. 44, 45. And because they had omitted the solemnizing of these feasts now 38. years, (from the keeping of the Passover in the wilderness in the second year, Num. 9. until the Circumcision and Passover at Gilgal, Ios. 5.) by reason of their travels, wherein the Sanctuary, Altar, and holy things were folden up and removed from place to place, and the generation which had been before mustered was dead, Numb. 26. 64, 65. therefore lest the ordinances formerly given should be forgotten or neglected, and the people continue to do as now they did, every man whatsoever was right in his own eyes, Deut. 12.

8. the Lord causeth the law of sacrificing to be again commanded. Which sacrifices being all figures of Christ, and our service of God by him, (as hath been shown in the book of Leviticus) teach us to serve the Lord under the Gospel of his Son, in spirit and truth: for thereof were these legal feasts a figure, Isaiah 66. 23. Zach. 14. 16,—19. 1 Cor. 5. 7, 8. Coloss. 2. 16, 17. Heb. 13. 15. Mine oblation] that is, mine oblations; in Greek, my gifts: Hebr. my Corban, which is an offering or gift by which men drew nigh unto God, through faith in Christ. See the notes on Levite. 1. 2. my bread for my Fire-offerings] the Chaldee expoundeth it, the bread ordained for my oblations. Under the name of bread all food is implied, and the flesh it self, or fat of the sacrifices, as is noted on Levite. 3. 11. the savor of my rest] the savor or odour of sacrifices which may quiet or pacify my spirit and anger, and make you and your service pleasing and acceptable to me. The Greek translateth it, for a savor of sweet smell; the Chaldee, to be accepted with favor. See Lev. 1. 9. in his appointed time] everyone in the time appointed therefore of God: the Greek saith, in my feasts; for the same word which signifieth an appointed time, is also used for a solemn feast appointed of God, Levite. 23. 2. Hereby God limiteth every sacrifice his proper day and time; which if it were let slip, that oblation might not be offered in another day or time. This is further manifested in verse. 10. where he saith, The Burnt-offering of the Sabbath, in his Sabbath; which the Hebrews expound thus, and not the Burnt-offering of one Sabbath, in another Sabbath. Maimonides tom. 3. in Tamidin, chap. 1. s. 7. And it is a common proverb among them, Gnabar Zeman, gnabar korban; If the time be past, the oblation is past: and it is prophesied of Antiochus the wicked, that he should think to change the times and the laws. Dan. 7. 25. And Jeroboam king of Israel, who kept the feast of the seventh month, in the eighth month, is taxed for it in the Scripture, which calleth it the month which he had devised of his own heart, 1 King. 12. 32, 33.

Vers. 3. the Fire-offering] the sacrifices to be burned with fire unto the Lord; which Fire signified both the work of God's Spirit, and the fiery trials and afflictions through which Christ and his children should be consecrated unto God, Matth. 3. 11. Hebr. 9. 14. 1 Pet. 4. 12, 13, 14. of the first year] Hebr. son of the year: so after often in this and the next chapter: of which phrase see the Annotations on Exod. 12. 5. perfect] that is, perfect lambes, without blemish or corruption: what this meant is shown on Lev. 1. 3. and 22. 21. day by day] or for a day, that is, daily. a continual Burnt-offering] Hebr. a Burnt-offering of continuation, which should be offered without intermission. See the notes on Exod. 29. 42. and Levite. 1.

Vers. 4. make ready] or do, that is, kill, sprinkle the blood, cut in pieces, burn on the Altar, and all other rites pertaining to sacrificing, shown in Levite. 1. between the two evenings] that is, in the after-noon: of which phrase, see the Annotations on Exod. 12. 6. God setteth no hours for the morning or evening sacrifices, because they might occasionally be changed. By the Hebrew Canons, the ordinary time of killing the morning sacrifice, was before Sun-rising, after that the face of all the East was enlightened, that is, between daybreaking and Sun-rising. The time of killing the evening sacrifice, though it might be all the after-noon, yet they used not to kill it till half an hour after two of the clock: and this they did by reason of the sacrifices of particular persons, or of the congregation, because it was unlawful to offer any oblation at all, before the continual Burnt-offering of the morning: neither killed they any oblation after the continual evening sacrifice, save the oblation of the Passover only: for it was impossible for all Israel to offer their Passovers in two hours: So they killed not the Passover, but after the daily evening sacrifice. Maimonides in Tamidin, chap. 1. sect. 3, 4. By this daily sacrifice morning and evening, was signified the reconciliation of the Church unto God by faith in Christ; notwithstanding their continual infirmities which they fell into night and day, (as one end of the Burnt-offering was to make atonement for sins, Job 1. 5.) and that being reconciled, they should both show their thankfulness for it unto God, and expect from him a blessing upon them, their labors, and their rest. Wherefore at such times, special favors were shown of God unto his people; as, in the morning, when the Meat offering was offered, the country was miraculously filled with water, for Israel, when they were in distress, 2 King. 3. 9, 10, 20. And about the time of the evening oblation, God answered unto Daniel's prayers, by sending the Angel Gabriel unto him, who fore-told him when Christ should come for the salvation of his people, Dan. 9. 20, 21, 22, &c. See also the notes on Exod. 29. 39.

Vers. 5. a tenth part] that is, an omer; for that was the tenth deal of an Ephah or Bushel, as is shown in Exod. 16. 36. fine flower] meaning wheaten flower, as Exod. 29. 2. So Chazkuni here saith, as the flower spoken of in the consecration (of the Priests) was of wheat; so all flower spoken of in the Law is of wheat. the fourth part] that was somewhat less than a quart of oil; for an Hin contained twelve Logs, and a Log held as much as six eggs: See the Annotations on Exod. 30. 24. and Levite. 14. 10. When God shown unto Ezekiel the spiritual Temple which Christ should build, and the service therein, (declared after the similitude of the Legal service of Moses,) he saith, that every Lamb should have for the Meat-offering the sixth part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oil. Ezek. 46. 13, 14. where the quantity is increased more than was offered under Moses: to teach, that as God's grace and blessing aboundeth towards us in Christ, so should our thankfulness again towards him, abound more than under the Law, by a more cheerful obedience unto him, and more ample fruits of the spirit figured by the flower and oil. beaten oil] oil signified grace; beating of it signified afflictions, whereby the grace of God is more perfected in us, 2 Cor. 1. 21. and 12. 9, 10. The oil was beaten in a mortar and they stratned it out with hands, and pressed it not out in an (oil) press, to the end there might be found no dregs in it, saith Chazkuni on Numb. 28.

Vers. 6. which was made] that is, which (or such as) was offered; as in Targum Jonathan it is expounded, such as was offered at the mount of Sinai. Or, by made, understand ordained of God, having reference to the ordinance in Exod. 29. 38.—42. Thus God calleth them throughout their generations, unto his first institution, which they were to keep, till he himself made a change of the Law. And here observe, that the Lamb, the flower, and the oil, are all of them together called a Burnt-offering, as also in Ezek. 46. 15. because the Meat-offering with the oil was all burned on the Altar, as was the lamb, and so differed from the Meat-offering in Levite. 2. whereof an handful only was burned.

Vers. 7. Drink-offering] so named of pouring out upon the Altar, as is noted on Num. 15. 5. in the holy place] the Court of the Sanctuary; Hebr. in the Holiness. strong wine] in Hebrew Shecar, which name the Greek retaineth, calling it Sikera, and so in the Evangelists writing, Luk. 1. 15. It is generally used for all strong drink, which causeth mirth, fullness, and (if it be taken excessively) drunkenness: See the notes on Gen. 43. 34. The Chaldee here translateth it, old wine, and that is better than new, Luke 5. 39. Thus God required the best liquor, wine; and the best sort of wine to be given with his sacrifice: which was a figure, not only of the blood of Christ, (the memorial whereof he hath still left unto his Church in wine, Matth. 26. 27, 28, 29.) but of the blood also of his servants, poured out in martyrdom, upon the sacrifice and service of the faith (as in the holy place) Phil. 2. 17. See the Annotations on Numb. 15. 12.

Vers. 9. the Sabbath day] Hebr. the day of Sabbath, that is, of Rest; which the Greek expresseth in the form plural, the day of Sabbaths, and so in the New Testament, Luke 4. 16. Act. 13. 14. and 16. 13. two he-lambes] understand, as the Greek version addeth, ye shall bring two he-lambes: these were over and beside the daily sacrifices fore-mentioned, verse. 10. The Sabbath was a remembrance of the creation of the world; Exod. 20. 11. of Israel's coming out of Egypt, Deut. 5. 15. a sign of their sanctification by the Lord, Ez•k 20. 12. and a figure of grace and rest, which should come by faith in Christ, Hebr. 4. As therefore this day was a sign of more than ordinary favors from the Lord, so he required greater testimonies of their thankfulness and sanctification. And Ezekiel prophesying of the Churches service under the Gospel, under the figure of these legal ordinances, he saith, And the Burnt-offering that the Prince shall offer unto the LORD, in the Sabbath day, shall be six lambes perfect, and a ram perfect: and the Meat-offering shall be an Ephah for a ram; and the Meat-offering for the lambes shall be the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oil to an Ephah, Ezek. 46. 4, 5. signifying that the service of God now in spirit and truth should exceed the legal services of old.

Vers. 10. in his Sabbath] the Chaldee expoundeth it, that shall be done in the Sabbath; it meaneth, that on the Sabbath it should be offered, and not deferred till another day or week, as is before noted, verse. 2. The like is for the month in verse. 14.

Vers. 11. the beginnings of your months] that is, as the Greek translateth it, the new-moons; for in Israel they began the month with the new moo•; and it was proclaimed by the Synedrion, or M 〈...〉 strates, as Maimonides showeth in Kiddush ba 〈...〉 cap. 1. These new-moons were days sanctified to the service of God, by special sacrifices appointed, as after followeth; then did they blow with the silver trumpets in the Sanctuary, Numb. 10. 10. and for Burnt-offerings on the Sabbaths, New-moons, and solemn Feasts, was Solomon's Temple dedicated, 2 Chron. 2. 4. Then also did they throughout the coasts of Israel repair unto the Prophets, or other Ministers of God, for to hear his Word, as appeareth by 2 King. 4. 23. Wherefore wilt thou go to him (to the man of God) today? it is neither New-moon, nor Sabbath. Then also they kept religious feasts, 1 Sam. 20. 5, 6. neither was it lawful to buy or sell, or do other like worldly works, Amos 8. 5. but they were to meditate of their light, sanctification, graces, and comforts to come by Christ, whereof these and other holy-days were a shadow, Col. 2. 16, 17. And in Christ we spiritually keep this feast (as the Apostle speaketh of the Passover, 1 Cor. 5. 7, 8.) for so it is prophesied, From one New-moon to another, and from one Sabbath to another, shall all flesh come to worship before me, saith the LORD, Isaiah 66. 23. Not that we are now bound to observe days, and months, and times, and years, Gal. 4. 10. but are taught by those figurative speeches in the Prophets, to worship the Father in spirit and in truth, John. 4. 21, 23. who will accept of our service performed in Christ, in every place, as he did at Jerusalem, Malac. 1. 11. and at all times, as he did at the solemn Feasts of Israel. The renewing of the Moon, (which borroweth her light of the Sun) might figure the renewing of the Church (said to be fair as the Moon, Song 6. 10.) by Christ the Sun of righteousness, Mal. 4. 2. whiles her light and joy is by him increased and continued; as it is written, Thy Sun shall no more go down, neither shall thy Moon withdraw it self: for the LORD shall be thine everlasting light, and the days of thy mourning shall be ended. Isaiah 60. 20. And Ezekiel (prophesying of the days of Christ) saith of the gate of the inner Court of the Sanctuary, that looketh toward the East, which should be shut the six working days, that in the Sabbath, and in the day of the New-moon, it should be opened, Ezek. 46. 1. The Hebrews say, As the beginnings of the months are sanctified and renewed in this world, so shall Israel be sanctified and renewed in time to come. Pirke R. Eliezer, per. 51. two bullocks] The service at the New-moon was much more than in the Sabbath, for that was but two lambes, verse. 9. but this at the New-moon, is two bullocks, one-ram, and seven lambes, all Burntofferings, and one goat-bucke, for a Sin-offering, verse. 11. 15. These sacrifices were offered, beside the daily Burnt-offering, and after the same: but Ezekiel foretellet a lessening of this service, speaking but of one bullock, six lambes, and a ram, which the Prince should offer, Ezek. 46. 6.

Vers. 12. three tenth parts] of an Ephah or [unspec] Bushel, as in verse. 5. that is, three Omers. The like quantity was prescribed in Numb. 15. 9. and so two Omers for a ram, Num. 15. 6. But in Ezek. 46. 7. the Meat-offering is increased; an Ephah for a bullock, and an Ephah for a ram; and for the lambs, according as his hand shall attain unto. See before on verse. 9.

Vers. 13. a several tenth part] Hebr. a tenth part a tenth part, that is, for everyone a tenth part; or, (as Moses explaineth it in Numb. 29. 4.) one tenth part for one lamb. So after in verse. 21. and 29. and chap. 29. verse. 10. 15. with oil] with the fourth part of an Hin of beaten oil, as was declared in verse. 5. But when there was an Ephah of flower for a Meat-offering, there was an Hin of oil to an Ephah, Ezek. 46. 5. 7. 11.

Vers. 15. for a Sin-offering] in Greek, for sin; this was to make atonement for them, verse. 22. the law for sin-offerings was given in Levite. 4. And whereas some Sin-offerings were eaten by the Priests, and othersome (whose blood was carried into the Holy place) were not eaten, but burnt without the campe, Levite. 6. 26. 30. of this the Hebrews say, The offering (or doing) of the Sin-offerings at the beginnings of the months, and at the solemn feasts, is like the offering of the Sin-offering that is eaten. Maimonides in Tamidin, chap. 7. sect. 2.

Vers. 16. the first month] called of the Hebrews Abib, and Nisan; it answereth in part to that which we call March: see the notes on Exod. 12. 2. and Levite. 23. 5.

Vers. 17. the feast] of unleavened cakes, as is expressed in Levite. 23. 6. The Passover was a figure of Christ our Passover, to be sacrificed for us: the unleavened cakes signified sincerity and truth, with which we should keep the feast, 1 Cor. 5. 7, 8. See the Annotations on Exod. 12. 15.

Vers. 18. any servile work] Hebr. any work of service: it meaneth any work save about that which men should eat; that only was to be done of them, Exod. 12. 16. See the notes there, and on Levite. 23. 7.

Vers. 19. two bullocks, &c.] the same sacrifices, and so many as were offered at the New-moons, verse. 11. The Meat and Drink-offerings also were the same, verse. 12, 13. 20, 21. But Ezekiel prophesieth of a change, how at the Passover on the fourteenth day, the Prince should prepare for himself, and for all the people of the land, a bullock for a Sin-offering. And the seven days of the feast (of unleavened cakes) he should prepare a Burnt-offering to the LORD, seven bullocks, and seven rams perfect, daily the seven days; and for a Sin-offering, a goat-bucke of the goats daily. The Meat-offerings also should be increased; an Ephah for a bullock, and an Ephah for a ram, and an Hin of oil for an Ephah, Ezek. 45. 22, 23, 24.

Vers. 22. a Sin-offering] of it the Hebrews say, it was eaten in the second day of the Passover, which was the sixteenth day of (the first month) Nisan. Maim. in Tamidin, chap. 7. sect. 3. See before on verse. 15.

Vers. 23. Beside the Burnt-offering] the daily sacrifice appointed in verse. 3. unto which these sacrifices forementioned were added. And beside all these, there was the Lamb for a Burnt-offering, which was sacrificed with the wave Sheafe or Omer, as was commanded in Levite. 23. 10.—13.

Vers. 25. the seventh day] which was the last day of the feast of unleavened cakes, and in this day it is said, there should be a feast to Jehovah, Exod. 13. 6. called here a convocation of holiness, or holy assembly. So in Exod. 12. 16. and Lev. 23. 8.

Vers. 26. day of the First-fruits] called Pentecost, Act. 2. 1. the feast of harvest, Exod. 23. 16. the feast of Weekes, of the first-fruits of wheat-harvest, Exod. 34. 22. a new Meat-offering] called so in respect of the former offered at the Passover: the law for this was given in Levite. 23. 16. after your weeks] after the seven weeks, or fifty days, which the Israelites were commanded to number unto them from the Passover, Levite. 23. 15, 16. The Hebrew which usually signifieth in your weeks, is here to be interpreted after: See the Annotations on Exod. 2. 23.

Vers. 27. two bullocks] these and the rest following are here added to the Feast, over and beside those seven lambes, one bullock, and two rams, which were offered with the first-fruits, Levite. 23. 18. as is shown in the Annotations there; and beside the continual Burnt-offering, or daily sacrifice, as after followeth in verse. 31.

Vers. 31. and their drink-offerings] This seemeth to be referred not only to the former, ye shall make them ready, but also to the latter, they shall be perfect: that as the beasts, flower and oil, were to be perfect, unblemished, sound and sweet; so the wine for drink-offerings should likewise be perfect, (as he called it strong wine, in verse. 7.) not dead, sour, mixed with dregs or lees, or otherwise corrupted. See the Annotations on Gen. 4. 4.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 The offerings at the feast of Trumpets on the first day of the seventh month; 7 at the day of afflicting their souls, which was the tenth day of the seventh month; 12 and on the eight days of the feast of Tabernacles, which began on the fifteenth day of the seventh month.

AND in the seventh month, in the first day of the month, ye shall have a convocation of holiness; ye shall not do any servile work: a day of blowing of trumpets shall it be unto you. And ye shall make ready a Burnt-offering for a savor of rest unto Jehovah; one bullock, a youngling of the herd, one ram, seven he-lambes of the first year, perfect. And their Meat offering shall be of fine flower mingled with oil; three tenth parts for a bullock, two tenth parts for a ram. And one tenth part for one lamb, throughout the seven lambes. And one goat-bucke of the goats [unspec 5] for a Sin-offering, to make atonement for you.

Beside the Burnt-offering of the month, and his Meant-offering, and the continual Burnt-offering, and his Meat-offering, and their Drink-offerings according to their manner, for a favor of rest; a Fire-offering unto Jehovah.

And in the tenth day of this seventh month ye shall have a convocation of holiness, and ye shall afflict your souls; ye shall not do any work. And ye shall offer a Burnt-offering unto Jehovah for a savor of rest; one bullock, a youngling of the herd, one ram, seven he-lambes, of the first year, perfect shall they be unto you. And their Meat-offering shall be of fine flower, mingled with oil; three tenth parts for a bullock, two tenth parts for one ram. A several tenth part for one lamb, throughout the seven lambes. One goat-bucke of the goats, for a Sin-offering, beside the Sin-offering of atonements, and the continual Burnt-offering, and the Meat-offering of it, and their Drink-offerings.

And in the fifteenth day of the seventh month ye shall have a convocation of holiness; ye shall not do any servile work, and ye shall festively keep a feast unto Jehovah seven days. And ye shall offer a Burnt-offering, a Fire-offering for a savor of rest unto Jehovah; thirteen bullocks, younglings of the herd, two rams, fourteen he-lambes of the first year, they shall be perfect. And their Meat-offering shall be of fine flower, mingled with oil; three tenth parts for one bullock, throughout the thirteen bullocks; two tenth parts for each ram, of the two rams. And a several tenth part for one lamb, throughout the fourteen lambes.

And one goat-buck of the goats for a Sinoffering, beside the continual Burnt-offering, his Meat-offering, and his Drink-offering.

And in the second day, twelve bullocks, younglings of the herd, two rams, fourteen he-lambes of the first year, perfect.

And their Meat-offering and their Drinkofferings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambes, by the number of them according to the manner. And one goat-bucke of the goats for a Sin-offering, beside the continual Burnt-offering, and the Meat offering thereof, and their Drink-offerings.

And in the third day, eleven bullocks, two rams, fourteen he-lambes of the first year, perfect. And their Meat-offering and their Drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambes by the number of them, according to the manner. And one [unspec] goat-buck for a Sin-offering, beside the continual Burnt-offering, and his Meat-offering, and his Drink-offering.

And in the fourth day, ten bullocks, two rams, fourteen he-lambes of the first year, perfect. Their Meat-offering and their Drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambes, by the number of them, according to the manner. And one goat-bucke of the goats for a Sin-offering, beside the continual Burnt-offering, his Meat-offering, and his Drink-offering.

And in the fifth day, nine bullocks, two rams, fourteen he-lambs of the first year, perfect. And their Meat-offering, and their [unspec] Drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambes, by the number of them, according to the manner. And one goat-bucke for a Sin-offering, beside the continual Burnt-offering, and his Meat-offering, and his Drink-offering.

And in the sixth day, eight bullocks, two rams, fourteen he-lambs of the first year, perfect. And their Meat-offering, and their Drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambes, by the number of them, according to the manner. And one goat-buck for a Sin-offering, beside the continual Burnt-offering, his Meat-offering, and his Drink-offering.

And in the seventh day, seven bullocks, two rams, fourteen he-lambs of the first year, perfect. And their Meat-offering, and their Drink-offerings, for the Bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambes, by the number of them, according to the manner.

And one goat-bucke for a Sin-offering, beside the continual Burnt-offering, his Meat offering, and his Drink-offering.

In the eighth day ye shall have a solemn assembly; ye shall not do any servile work.

And ye shall offer a Burnt-offering, a Fireoffering for a favor of rest unto Jehovah; one bullock, one ram, seven he-lambs of the first year, perfect. Their Meat-offering, [unspec] and their Drink-offerings, for the bullock, for the ram, and for the lambes, by the number of them, according to the manner.

And one goat-bucke for a Sin-offering, beside [unspec] the continual Burnt-offering, and his Meat-offering, and his Drink-offering.

These things ye shall do unto Jehovah in [unspec] your solemn feasts, beside your vows, and your voluntary offerings, for your Burnt-offerings, and for your Meat-offerings, and for your Drink-offerings, and for your Peaceofferings. And Moses spake unto the sons of Israel, according to all that Jehovah commanded Moses.

Annotations.

THE seventh month] called in 1 King. 8. 2. the month Ethanim, of the Hebrews commonly Tisri; of us, September. This month was the going out of the year, Exod. 23. 16. and the revolution of the year, Exod. 34. 22. for then the old year went out, and the new began, as touching the Iubilees, Levite. 25. 9, 10. and other civil affairs: but by reason of Israel's coming out of Egypt in Abib, or March, that month was made unto them the first of the months of the year, Exod. 12. 2. So the Ecclesiastical feasts were reckoned after this order; and that which had been the first month, is here and usually called the seventh. the first day] Hebr. the one day; of which phrase see Gen. 1. 5. blowing of trumpets] of this rite, see Levite. 23. 24. and the Annotations there.

Vers. 2. savor of rest] which the Greek translath, of sweet smell; the Chaldee, to be accepted with favor before the LORD. See Gen. 8. 21. one bullock] at every new moon they were to offer two bullocks, one ram, and seven lambes, Numb. 28. 11. the same were to be offered at this New-moon, and this one bullock, one ram, and seven lambes, &c. here mentioned, were added over and beside the Burnt-offering of the month, as is after expressed in verse. 6. So this day they sacrificed three bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs for Burnt-offerings, and two goats for Sin, besides the two lambes for the daily oblation. For as the solemnity was greater, by reason of the blowing of the Trumpets, (which figured the preaching of repentance and belease in Christ, Isaiah 58. 1. Mark. 1. 1, 2, 3, 4.) so their service and thankfulness unto God was to be testified by the moe sacrifices. And if this new-moon fell to be on the Sabbath, then besides all the former oblations, they offered also the two lambes, which were added for the Sabbath, Numb. 28. 9, 10. The Order of offering is said to be thus; After the daily morning sacrifice was offered, the addition of the Sabbath was first, and after that, the addition of the new-moon; and after it, the addition of this good day (or seast) Maimonides in Tamidin, chap. 9. sect. 2.

Vers. 6. their manner] Hebr. their judgment, that is, the law and ordinance prescribed of God. So in verse. 18. 21. 24. &c. Under this word manner, or judgment, the Hebrews understand the order also h•e set down: for whereas sometimes the Sinoffering was offered first, before the Burnt-offering, Leo. 5. 7, 8, 10. in the oblations of the feast (they say) it was not so, but they offered according to the order that is written, as it is said, According to their manner. As, first the Bullocks, and after them the Rams, and after them the Lambs, and after them the Goat-buckes, although the Goat-buckes were Sin-offerings, and all those before them were Burnt-offerings. Maimonides in Tamidin, chap. 9. sect. 7.

Vers. 7. the tenth day] which was the day of Atonements, Lev. 23. 27. called the Fast, Act. 27. 9. The manner of Atonement, and the service on that day, is described at large in Levite. 16. afflict your souls] with fasting and abstinence: see the Annotations on Lev. 16. 29.

Vers. 11. beside the Sin-offering of Atonements] that Goat-bucke, whose blood was carried into the Holy place, & the body burned without the camp, Lev. 16. 9. 29. besides it, this sacrifice here commanded was to be offered, and besides the daily Burntoffering. On Atonement day, they offer an addition according to the addition of the beginning of the year [which was the first day of the seventh month, fore-mentioned in verse. 1, 2.] a bullock & a ram, and this ram is called the people's ram; and seven lambes, all of them for Burnt-offerings, and a goat-buck for a Sinoffering, & that was eaten at evening. Moreover the congregation offered a goat-bucke for a Sin-offering which was burnt, the fellow whereof was sent away for a Scape-goat, (Lev. 16. 9, 10.) Maim. in Tamidin, c. 10. s. 1, 2. This Atonement was a lively figure of our reconciliation unto God, by the death of Christ, (as is shown on Levite. 16.) the afflicting of their souls figured repentance and humiliation for sins, with our fellowship in the afflictions of Christ, Rom. 6. 3, 4, 6. 1 Pet. 2. 21. The sacrifices added here, signified the faith that God's people should have in Christ sacrificed, and thankfulness unto God therefore, 1 John. 2. 1, 2. Hebr. 10. 10. 19. 22. &c. Rom. 12. 1, 2.

Vers. 12. the fifteenth day] when the feast of Booths, or of Tabernacles did begin, which lasted sevē days, Lev. 23. 34, 35, 36, &c. the signification of which feast is shown in the Annotations on that place.

Vers. 13. thirteen bullocks] Whereas at the other feasts forementioned, they offered but two bullocks, one ram, and seven lambs in a day; at this, they were to offer thirteen bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs; both because the solemnity was greater, and at this time they had gathered in their corn and wine, and had seen the blessing of God in all their increase, and in all the works of their hands, Deut. 16. 13, 15. therefore the Lord required moe sacrifices in sign of thankfulness. But Ezekiel prophesying of the days of Christ (under whom we keep this feast in spirit and truth, Zach. 14. 16.—19.) appointeth like sacrifices as were to be offered at the Passover; as that the Prince should prepare seven bullocks and seven rams daily for a Burnt-offering, &c. Ezek. 45. 23, 25.

Vers. 17. twelve bullocks] in every of the seven days of this feast, one bullock is abated, as on the second day twelve, on the third day eleven, verse. 20. on the fourth day ten, verse. 23. and so forward, till on the seventh day they were to offer seven bullocks, verse. 32. (all which, in seven days amounted to seventy bullocks) but the rams and lambes were every day alike. By this diminishing of one bullock every day, the Holy Ghost might teach their duty to grow in grace, and increase in sanctification: that their sins decreasing, the number of their sacrifices (whereby Atonement was made for their sins) should also decrease daily. Or it might signify a diminishing and wearing away of the legal offerings, to lead them unto the spiritual and reasonable service, by presenting their own bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, Rom. 12. 1.

Vers. 18. and for the lambes] the Hebrews say that the Meat and Drink-offerings of these several sacrifices were never to be mixed together, but the Meat and Drink-offerings of the bullocks were by themselves, and the Meat and Drink-offerings of the rams by themselves, and of the lambes by themselves; whether they were the oblations of the congregation, or the oblations of a particular person. Maimonides in Tamidin, chap. 10. sect. 15.

Vers. 35. In the eighth day] Chazkuni here observeth, that it is not said (as was of the former days) And in the eighth day; to teach that it was a good day (or feast) by it self. a solemn assembly] or, general assembly: See the notes on Lev. 23. 36.

Vers. 36. one bullock] though this was the last, and the great day of the feast, John. 7. 37. yet were the sacrifices fewer than on any other day; as if God would call them from the multitude of outward oblations to his spiritual worship, as is noted on verse. 17. And our Savior on that day called the people from their many carnal observations (some whereof are noted on Levite. 23. 40.) unto himself to drink the waters of his Spirit, John. 7. 38, 39.

Vers. 39. beside your vows, &c.] of the difference between Vowes and Voluntary offerings, see the Annotations on Lev. 7. 16. The sacrifices fore-mentioned the congregation of Israel was bound to offer, everything in his day: but all men as they had either vowed, or voluntarily would, brought their sacrifices at the feasts, (especially Peace-offerings, which the owners did eat before the Lord,) that according to the blessing of God upon them, they, their children and their servants, the Levites, the stranger, the fatherless and the widow with them, might eat and drink, and rejoice before the Lord, Deut. 16. 10, 11. 14, 15. The truth and complement of all which solemnities are now fulfilled unto us by Christ, who by once offering of him-self, hath reconciled us unto God, and wrought our eternal redemption, and hath given us of his Spirit, whereby we know that he abideth in us, and hath placed in us the kingdom of God, which consisteth in righteousness and peace, and joy in the holy Ghost: That by him we should offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips, confessing to his Name, and should not forget to do good, and to communicate, for with such sacrifices God is well pleased, Coloss. 2. 16, 17. Heb. 9. 12. 26. 28. 1 John. 3. 24. Rom. 14. 17. Heb. 13. 15, 16.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The Lord commandeth that men's vows or oaths be not profaned, but kept. 3 Amaid in her fathers house, the father hath power to establish her vow, or to disannul it. 6 Likewise a married woman is in her husbands power, he may confirm or disannul. her vow, in the day that he heareth it. 9 But the vows of a widow, or divorced woman, are to stand. 10 An explanation of the case between man and wife, concerning vows or oaths.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

AND Moses spake unto the heads of the tribes, concerning the sons of Israel, saying, This is the thing which Jehovah commanded. A man, when he shall vow a vow unto Jehovah, or swear an oath to bind a bond upon his soul, he shall not profane his word, he shall do according to all that proceedeth out of his mouth. And a woman, when she shall vow a vow unto Jehovah, and bind a bond in her fathers house in her youth: And her father hear her vow and her bond, which she hath bound upon her soul, and her father shall hold his peace at her; then all her vows shall stand, and every bond which she hath bound upon her soul shall stand. But if her father disannul her in the day that he heareth, not any of her vows or of her bonds which she hath bound upon her soul shall stand: and Jehovah will mercifully forgive her, because her father disallowed her. And if having she have an husband, and her vows be upon her, or the utterance of her lips, which she hath bound upon her soul; And her husband hear, and hold his peace at her in the day that he heareth; then her vows shall stand, & her bonds which she hath bound upon her soul shall stand. But if in the day that her husband heareth he disallow her, then he shall make void her vow which is upon her, and the utterance of her lips which she hath bound upon her soul; and Jehovah will mercifully forgive her. But the vow of a widow, and of her that is put away, whatsoever she hath bound upon her soul shall stand upon her.

And if she vowed in her husbands house, or bound a bond upon her soul with an oath:

And her husband heard, and held his peace at her, and disallowed her not; then all her vows shall stand, and every bond which she hath bound upon her soul shall stand. But if her husband hath utterly made them void in the day that he heard, whatsoever proceeded out of her lips concerning her vows, or concerning the bond of her soul, shall not stand; her husband hath made them void, and Jehovah will mercifully forgive her. Every vow, and every oath of bond to afflict the soul, her husband may establish it, and her husband may make it void.

But if her husband altogether hold his peace at her from day today, then he establisheth all her vows, or all her bonds, which are upon her: he establisheth them, because he held his peace at her in the day that he heard them. But if he shall utterly make them void, after that he hath heard them, then he shall bear her iniquity. These are the statutes, which Jehovah commanded Moses, between a man and his wife, between a father and his daughter, in her youth, in her fathers house.

Annotations.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Here beginneth the 42. Lecture of the Law: See Gen. 6. 9.

THE heads] that is, as the Greek translatheth, the Rulers (or Princes) of the Tribes. In the two former Chapters were laws for necessary duties commanded: here followeth the law for voluntary things, which people having by vow or oath taken upon them, were bound to perform. concerning the sons] or, to the sons of Israel; or as the Greek joineth it with the former, the Princes of the Tribes of the sons of Israel. It was spoken by Moses to the Princes, that by them it might be orderly communicated unto the people; as in Exod. 12. 3. 21. and 4. 29. also that the Governors should look unto the people for the performance of their religious promises. the thing] Hebr. the word.

Vers. 2. a vow] a religious promise to the Lord. Of a vow, and how it differed from a voluntary gift, see the Annotations on Levite. 27. 2. and 7. 16. and of an oath, see the notes on Levite. 5. 1. 4. And that alms promised for the poor, is comprehended also under the name of vows, is shown on Deut. 23. 21. a bond upon his soul] that is, to bind his soul (or himself) with a bond▪ Hereupon is that manner of speech, Thy ⚔ are upon me, O God, Psal. 56. 12. not vow▪ his word] not violate or break his promise, [unspec] but shall have an holy care to keep it. A like phrase is of profaning a covenant, in Psal. 55. 20. and 89. 34. And as vows might not be broken, so neither might they be delayed, Deut. 23. 21. all that proceedeth out of his mouth] that is, every word of his, as the phrase is opened in Luk. 4. 4. from Deut. 8. 3. This is to be understood of good and lawful vows, and such as are in a man's power to perform▪ for impossible vows are to be repented of, and wicked vows or oaths are not to be kept, but broken, Act. 23. 21. &c.

Vers. 3. and bind a bond] to wit, upon her soul, [unspec] as •n verse. 4. that is, bound her self with a bond. And, may ••re be used for Or (as it is often, and as the Greek here translatheth, or determine a determination) to imply either a vow to sanctify anything to the Lord, or a bond to restrain her self from something, as by afflicting her soul, or abstinence, as in verse. 13. in her fathers house] she abiding there, and being under his power. The Hebrews (as Sol. Rashi on this place) by house, do understand power, saying, under the power of her father, though she be not in his house. in her youth] youth differeth from childhood, for in her youth she understandeth what a vow is, whereof in child-hood she is ignorant. The Hebrew Canons have limited the time both for men and women, t•us: A young man that is a son of twelve years and one day, and a young woman that is a daughter of eleven years and one day, which do swear or vow, either vows of binding (or restraint,) or vows of sanctifying (anything to the Lord.) they do examine them, and ask questions of them. If they know to whose name they have vowed, &c. then their vows are stablished: but if they know not, then is there nothing in their vows or words. And this examination is necessary all that year, which is the twelfth year for a young maid, and the thirteenth year for a young man. Before this time, although they say, we know to whose name we have vowed, their vows are no vows. But after this time, when the son is a son of thirteen years and one day; and the daughter is a daughter of twelve years and one day; although they say, we know not to whose name we have vowed; their words are established, and their vows are vows, &c. And this is the time of vows spoken of in every place: for as much as they are come to the years of great (or aged) persons, their vows are stablished. Maimon. tom. 3. Treat. of Vowes, chap. 11. sect. 1, 3, 4.

Vers. 4. hold his peace at her] or, keep silence at it: though he do not by words app•v, yet by silence he seemeth to consent, therefore her vow standeth firm. shall stand] that is, shall be stable, firm and sure; as the field which Abraham bought, was said to stand, when by sale it was made sure, Gen. 23. 17. 20. So ones counsel or word is said to stand, when it abideth firm, Prov. 19. 21. Isaiah 14. 24. and 40. 8. Jer. 44. 29.

Vers. 5. disallow her] or, disallow (nulli•e) it, to wit, her vow: so after. the day that he heareth] whether it be in the day that she vowed, or many days after that her father heareth of it. If she vow and wait many days, and afterward her father or her husband hear of it, then he may break it in the day that he he•reth, &c. as it is said, In the day that he heareth, and not in the day that she voweth only. Maimonides in Vowes, chap. 12. sect. 16. will mercifully forgive her] in Greek, will purge (or cleanse) her: her sin in vowing, (when she was not in her own power, but in her fathers) shall be forgiven: but she may not perform her vow, which by her fathers authority is disannulled. So for her husband in like fort, verse. 12.

Vers. 6. if having she have a h•sband] Hebr. if being she be to a man; that is, ⟨∞⟩ at all married. or the utterance of her lips] or pronunciation; that which she hath pronounced, or distinctly uttered, to wit, by oath; as appeaseth by the word Or, which distinguisheth it from her vows: and by that which followeth, which she hath bound upon her soul, that is, by oath, as in verse. 2. and 10. So the pronouncing with the lips, is joined with swearing, in Lev. 5. 4 and Chazkuni here saith, the pronunciation is not (meant) but of an oath.

Vers. 8. he disallow her] or, disallow it, that is, signify his disallowance of her vow or oath. The Hebrews say, A man maketh void, or establisheth the words of his wife, or of his daughter in any language, although she know it not; for it is not of necessity that the woman should hear the making void, or the establishmēt, &c. He that maketh void the words of his daughter, or of his wife, it is necessary that he utter it with his lips; and if he make it void in his heart (only) he doth not make it void: Maim. in Vowes, chap. 13. sect. 1. 7.

Vers. 9. put away] to wit, from her husband, as is expressed in Levite. 21. 7. that is, divorced. shall stand] she is to perform her vow; and this (as the Hebrews think) though she be afterward married. As, A woman which hath no husband, and which is not under her fathers power, if she say, Loe (such) flesh be unlawful to me after thirty days, and she be married within thirty days;

although at the time when the vow beginneth, she be under the power of a husband, he cannot make it void; because at the time of the vow (making) she was not under his power. And of this it is said (in Num. 30. 9.) But the vow of a widow, and of her that is put away, &c. Maim. in Vowes, chap. 13. sect. 16.

Vers. 10. in her husbands house] after that she is married, and in her husbands power. But what if she were betrothed only, and remained yet in her fathers house? Of this case the Hebrews say, A maid that is betrothed, none can make there vow void, but her father and her husband jointly together. And if the one of them alone do make it void, it is not made void. If her espoused husband die, she returneth into the power of her father: and whatsoever she voweth, her father may make void, as before her espousals. If her father die after that she is betrothed, and she make a vow after his death, her husband cannot make it void; for an husband maketh not the vows of his wife void, until she be come into the wedding chamber, (or married.) Maim. in Vowes, chap. 11. sect. 9, 10.

Vers. 11. shall stand] she is to keep her vow, though after her husbands death. A young woman, whom her father hath given in marriage, if she become a widow, or be divorced after marriage, loe she is as an Orphan whiles her father liveth, and her father cannot make her vows of none effect, although she be yet but a young woman. Maim. ibidem, sect. 25.

Vers. 12. hath utterly made them void] or, hath any ways made them void; Hebr. making void hath made them void: so in verse. 15.

Vers. 13. oath of bond] that is, binding oath, or bond confirmed with an oath. to afflict the soul] by abstinence, fasting, &c. See the notes on Levite. 16. 29. This seemeth to be added for amplification, rather than limitation or restraint: howbeit, the Hebrews from hence gather, that although the father may disannul all his daughters vows, of what sort soever, yet the husband hath not power to disannul the vows of his wife, unless they be of this sort, to wit, vows or bonds to afflict the soul, &c. Sol. Rashi on Numb. 30. and Maimonides in Vowes, chap. 12. sect. 1. may establish it] or, may make it stand, shall confirm it. Some understand these words to be a commandment, and translate thus, Let her husband establish it, or let her husband make it void, to wit, out of hand, and let him not defer it till afterward.

Vers. 14. altogether hold his peace] Hebr. holding his peace shall hold his peace, (or keep silence.) from day today] and do not disannul it the same day that he heareth it.

Vers. 15. shall utterly make them void] or, shall any ways make them of none effect: see this phrase in verse. 12. shall bear her iniquity] that is, shall bear the punishment of her iniquity; God will require her sin at his hand. From hence we learn (saith Sol. Rashi) that he which is a cause of scandal (or offense) unto his neighbor, shall cone in his stead unto all punishments.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 The Israelites are commanded to take vengeance on the Midianites. 5 Twelve thousand of the tribes of Israel, with Phinehas the Priest, are sent to war. 7 They slay all the males, and the five kings of Midian, and Balaam the son of Beor. 9 They take the women and children captives, and the spoil of their goods and cartell, and burn their cities. 13 Moses is wroth with the Officers for saving the women alive. 19 How the soldiers with their captives and spoil are to be purified. 25 The proportion whereby the prey is to be divided. 28 The tribute levied unto the Lord of the divided prey, and given to the Priests and Levites. 48 The captains of Israel numbering their soldiers, miss not a man, and therefore give a voluntary oblation unto the Treasury of the Lord.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Avenge the vengeance of the sons of Israel upon the Midianites: afterward shalt thou be gathered unto thy people's. And Moses spake unto the people, saying; Arm ye some men of yourselves unto the war, and let them be against Midian, to render the vengeance of Jehovah, upon Midian. A thousand of a tribe, a thousand of a tribe, of all the tribes of Israel, shall ye send to the war. So there were delivered of the thousands of Israel, a thousand of a tribe, twelve thousand armed for war. And Moses sent them, a thousand of a tribe, to the war: them and Phinehas the son of Eleazar the Priest, to the war; and the holy instruments, and the trumpets of alarm in his hand. And they warred against Midian, as Jehovah commanded Moses, and they killed every male. And they killed the Kings of Midian, beside those that were slain of them; Evi, and Rekem, and Zur, and Hur, and Reba, five Kings of Midian: Balaam also the son of Beor they killed with the sword.

And the sons of Israel took the women of Midian captives, and their little ones, and took the prey of all their cattle, and all their flocks, and all their goods. And they burnt all their cities in their habitations, and all their castles with fire. And they took all the spoil, and all the booty, of men, and of beasts. And they brought the captivity, and the booty, and the spoil, unto Moses, and unto Eleazar the Priest, and unto the congregation of the sons of Israel, unto the campe, unto the plains of Moab, which are by Jordan, near Jericho.

And Moses, and Eleazar the Priest, and all the Princes of the Congregation went forth to meet them without the camp. And Moses was wroth with the Officers of the host, the captains of thousands, and the captains of hundreds, which came from the battle of the war. And Moses said unto them, Have ye saved alive all the females?

Behold, these were to the sons of Israel through the word of Balaam (a cause) to commit trespass against Jehovah in the matter of Peor: and there was a plague among the Congregation of Jehovah. Now therefore kill every male among the little ones, and kill every woman that hath known man, by lying with a male. But all the little ones among the women, that have not known the lying with a male, keep alive for yourselves. And you, encamp ye without the campe, seven days, whosoever hath killed any soul, and whosoever hath touched any slain; purify yourselves and your captivity, in the third day, and in the seventh day. And purify every garment, and every instrument of skin, and every work of goats (hair,) and every instrument of wood.

And Eleazar the Priest said unto the men of the Army, which went to the war, This is the ordinance of the Law, which Jehovah commanded Moses. Only the gold, and the silver, the brass, the iron, the tin, and the lead; Every thing that goeth thorough the fire, ye shall make it pass thorough the fire, and it shall be clean; nevertheless, it shall be purified with the water of separation: and every thing that goeth not thorough the fire, ye shall make pass thorough the water. And ye shall wash your clothes in the seventh day, and ye shall be clean; and afterward ye shall come into the campe.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; [unspec 26]

Take thou the sum of the bootie of the captivity, of man, and of beast; thou, and Eleazar the Priest, and the heads of the Fathers of the Congregation. And divide the bootie into two parts between them that took upon them the war, who went out to battle, and between all the Congregation. And levie a tribute unto Jehovah, of the men of war which went out to battle, one soul of five hundred; of the men, and of the beeves, and of the asses, and of the sheep.

Of their half shall ye take it, and thou shalt give it unto Eleazar the Priest, for an heave-offering of Jehovah. And of the sons of Israel's half, thou shalt take one portion of fifty, of the men, of the beeves, of the asses, and of the sheep, of all beasts: and thou shalt give them unto the Levites, which keep the charge of the Tabernacle of Jehovah.

And Moses and Eleazar the Priest did as Jehovah commanded Moses. And the booty, the residue of the prey, which the people of the army had made prey of, was six hundred thousand, and seventy thousand, and five thousand sheep. And seventy and two thousand beeves. And sixty and one thousand asses. And souls of mankind, of the women which had not known the lying with male, all the souls were two and thirty thousand. And the half, which was the portion of them that went out to war, was, the number of sheep, three hundred thousand, & thirty thousand, and seven thousand, and five hundred. And Jehovah's tribute of the sheep was six hundred seventy and five. And the beeves were six and thirty thousand; and Jehovah's tribute of them was seventy and two. And the asses were thirty thousand and five hundred: and Jehovah's tribute of them was sixty and one.

And the souls of mankind were sixteen thousand: and Jehovah's tribute of them was two and thirty souls. And Moses gave the tribute, the heave-offering of Jehovah, unto Eleazar the Priest, as Jehovah commanded Moses. And of the sons of Israel's half, which Moses divided from the men that warred. (Now the Congregations half was, of the sheep, three hundred thousand, and thirty thousand, seven thousand, & five hundred. And beeves, six and thirty thousand. [unspec 44]

And Asses, thirty thousand and five hundred. And souls of mankind, sixteen thousand.) And Moses took of the sons of Israel half, one portion of fifty, of man and of beast, and gave them unto the Levites, which kept the charge of the Tabernacle of Jehovah, as Jehovah commanded Moses.

And the officers which were over the thousands of the host, the captains of thousands, and captains of hundreds, came near unto Moses. And they said unto Moses, Thy servants have taken the sum of the men of war which were in our hand, and there lacketh not a man of us. Therefore we have brought an oblation for Jehovah, what every man hath found of jewels of gold, chains, and bracelets, rings, ear-rings, & tablets, to make atonement for our souls before Jehovah. And Moses and Eleazar the Priest took the gold of them, every wrought jewel.

And all the gold of the heave-offering, that they offered up to Jehovah, was sixteen thousand, seven hundred, and fifty shekels, of the captains of thousands, and of the captains of hundreds. The men of the army had taken spoil, every man for himself. And Moses and Eleazar the Priest took the gold of the captains of thousands, and of hundreds, and brought it into the Tent of the congregation, for a memorial for the sons of Israel, before Jehovah.

Annotations.

AVenge the vengeance] or, Revenge the revengement of the sons of Israel, that is, take vengeance for the Israelites wrong and injury upon the Midianites, who vexed Israel with their wiles, and beguiled them in the matter of Peor, Numb. 25. 17, 18. The Lord, to whom vengeance and recompense belongeth, Dent. 32. 35. (and would not therefore have men avenge themselves, Rom. 12. 19) commandeth this vengeance for his people's sake, many of whom he had formerly slain for sinning with the Midianites, Numb. 25. 9. and now turneth his hand against their enemies, because he is the avenger of all such, 1 Thess. 4. 6. Therefore he calleth it here, the vengeance of the sons of Israel; but Moses calleth it the vengeance of Jehovah, verse. 3. And the commandment is given to Moses the Magistrate, the Minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon evil doers, Rom. 13. 4. Midianites] in Greek, Madianites, the posterity of Midian the son of Abraham by his wife Keturah, Gen. 25. 1, 2. Why these were now punished rather than the Moabites (their partners in sin,) is touched on Numb. 25. 17. gathered unto thy people's] that is, die and be buried: See the Annotations on Numb. 20. 24. and Gen. 25. 8.

Vers. 3. to render] or, to give the vengeance of Jehovah, which phrase the Apostle useth in 2 Thess. 1. 8. giving (or rendering) vengeance on them that know not God. That which in verse. 2. was called the vengeance of the sons of Israel, is here named the vengeance of the Lord, as being executed by his word, and for the injury done unto him; for he that toucheth his people, toucheth the apple of his eye, Zach. 2. 8. The Chaldee here expoundeth it, the vengeance of the people of the LORD.

Vers. 4. A thousand of a tribe a thousand] that is, of every tribe a thousand; in all, twelve thousand, verse. 5. which was but a small company in respect both of the six hundred thousands of Israel, Numb. 26. 51. and of the nation of the Midianites, governed by five Kings, verse. 8. But there is no restrain: to the Lord, to save by many, or by few, 1 Sam. 14. 6. And this small number was chosen, that the victory might be acknowledged the Lord's; as after this he said unto Gideon, The people that are with thee are too many for me to give the Midianites into their hands, lest Israel vaunt themselves against me, saying, Mine own hand hath saved me, Judge. 7. 2.

Vers. 5. there were delivered] in Chaldee, there were chosen; in Greek, they numbered.

Vers. 6. Phinehas] the zealous Priest, who had formerly slain Cozbi the Princess daughter of Midian, Num. 25. 7.—15. holy instruments] Hebr. instruments (or vessels) of holiness: hereby the Ark and things belonging thereto may be meant, as appeareth by Numb. 14. 44. Or, because the Ark was but one, and he speaketh here of moe instruments, the trumpets may be understood: and so to read it, the holy instruments, that is, the trumpets, &c. for and is sometime used by way of explication for that is, or to wit, as is noted on Gen. 13. 15. But to understand hereby the Vrim and Thummim, or Golden plate (as some do) is improbable, because they were not in the hand of Phinehas, but of Eleazar, who was the high Priest, Numb. 27. 21. and 20. 26. trumpets of alarm] to blow an alarm, that they might be remembered before the Lord their God, and saved from their enemies, according to the law and promise in Num. 10. 9. and practice in ages following, 2 Chron. 13. 12, 14, 15. Thus had they both God's commandment, and the signs of his presence and aid, to sanctify their expedition.

Vers. 8. beside those] or, with those that were slain; for the Hebrew gnal often signifieth with, as in Exod. 35. 22. Levite. 14. 31. Deut. 22. 6. and other-where. five kings] called else-where Princes and Dukes of Sibon, Ios. 13. 21. But Sihon the Amorite being slain before (Num. 21. 23, 24.) these Dukes of his now reigned as Kings, & fought against Israel, and were overcome by faith which subdueth kingdoms, Hebr. 11. 33. The Antichristian Amorite (the Beast) hath twice five, that is, ten Kings, as horns on his head, which make war with the Lamb (Christ,) and the Lamb overcome them, Rev. 17. 12, 14. and 19. 19.—21. Balaam also] they killed among (or with) those that were slain of them, as is expressed in Numb. 13. 22. which also is added in the Greek version here. So that either he stayed with the Midianites, when he departed from Balak, or returned from his place unto them, as is noted on Num. 24. 25. And he died not the death of the righteous, (as he seemed to desire, Num. 23. 10.) but his iniquity was upon his bones, though he was the terror of the mighty in the land of the living; yet was he broken in the midst of the uncircumcised, and lay with them that were slain with the sword, as the Prophet speaketh of others, in Ezek. 32. 27, 28.

Vers. 10. castles] or, goodly buildings, or, villages: see this word in Gen. 25. 16. The Chaldee here expoundeth it, their houses of worship or adoration, their Temples.

Vers. 12. the captivity] that is, the captives, women and children: see Num. 21. 1. So after in verse. 19. the bootie] or, the thing taken; which being here distinguished from the captives, meaneth the beasts and cattle, as appeareth by verse. 32. and 26. the spoil] a general word for things taken in war, Ios. 22. 8. implying sometime beasts and cattle also, as in 2 Chron. 15. 11. and all other things, as garments, gold, silver, &c. verse. 20. 22. Ios. 7. 21. 2 Chron. 28. 15. victuals, 1 Sam. 14. 30. and the like. These all they brought unto the Governors and Congregation, to be disposed of according to the will of God, whose the victory was.

Vers. 13. to meet them] As Melchizedek King and Priest, went forth to meet Abraham returning from the slaughter of the Kings, Gen. 14. so Moses the King, Eleazar the Priest, and the Princes go forth here to meet Abraham's children returning from the slaughter of the Kings of Midian. Wherein the work of Christ (our King and Priest) was figured: who after our spiritual warfare with the enemies of our salvation, meeteth us with his gracious Spirit, to sanctify and bless us, Hebr. 7. Also they went out to meet them, to provide for the cleansing of the Soldiers, w<sup>ch</sup> were polluted by the dead, and might not therefore come into the campe before they were purified, Num. 5. 2, 3. and 19. 11, 12, 13.

Vers. 14. the officers] or, the Bishops of the host, as both the Hebrew and Greek words signify: these were the captains, as after is explained. Moses who was the meekest man on earth in his own matters, is yet observed to have been often angry for the Lord's cause, as is noted on Num. 12. 3. And he was wroth with the officers, because upon them lay the charge to direct and govern the people in the ways of God. Compare Acts 20. 28.  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  Pet. 5. 2, 3. Rev. 2. 1,—5. &c. the battle of the war] the battle-ray (or host) of the war: the first word signifieth warfare, as it is orderly set in array; the second meaneth the war, fight or combat with the enemy.

Vers. 16. the word of Balaam] the doctrine of Balaam, as Rev. 2. 14. or, (as the Chaldee expoundeth it) the counsel of Balaam; having reference to that counsel intimated, Num. 24. 14. a cause to commit] or, an occasion to commit (Heb. to give) atrespasse by fornication and idolatry, Num. 25. 1, 2, 3. The Greek translatheth, to revolt and to despise the word of the Lord. the matter] Heb. the word; in Greek, because of Phogor: see Num. 25. 3. 18.

Vers. 17. known man by lying with a male] the latter explaineth the former, which sometime is used alone in the same meaning, as in Gen. 4. 1. Luke 1. 34. After it is said, known the lying with a male: the like phrases are in Judge. 21. 11, 12.

Vers. 19. seven days] for so long did the pollution by the dead continue, Num. 19. 11. any soul] that is, any person. purify] with the water of separation, verse. 23. the law whereof was given in Num. 19. your captivity] that is, your captives, or prisoners; as in verse. 12. The Jews hold, that the heathens are not polluted by the dead, or with other like legal uncleanness, as is noted on Num. 19. 14. But in this case, when heathens are captived by Israelites, and so become their lawful possession, they are unclean, and to be purified, by proportion from the law in Gen. 17. 12, 13. Wherupon Rashi here saith, Your selves and your captivity, not that heathens do receive uncleanness, and need to be sprinkled; but as you the children of the covenant, so your captives also which come into the covenant, and are unclean, have need to be sprinkled. and in the seventh day] according to the law in Num. 19. 19. the signification whereof is shown there.

Vers. 20. every garment] or, every cloth: the word implieth not only garments for man's body, but clothes for other use; as in Num. 4. 6 7, 8. instrument] or, vessel of skin; whatsoever is made of the skin of any beast: so after, every instrument (or vessel) of wood. work of goats hair] that is, thing made of goats hair: the word hair may here be understood, as in Exod. 25. 4. some add, of goats skins, it may also mean any other part, as Sol. Rashi here saith, it implieth any instrument of the horns, and of the hoofs, and of the bones.

Vers. 21. which went] that is, which had gone: Hebr. which came; wherefore it may also be Englished, which came from the battle: so the Greek here translatheth it; and so the Hebrew word which usually signifieth to, is by the holy Ghost in Greek translated from, or out of, as in Rom. 11. 26. from Isaiah 59. 20. See the like noted on Gen. 36. 6. the ordinance] or the statute of the law; which the Greek calleth Dicaïoma, that is, the just ordinance, or righteous statute of the law. The same word Paul useth in Rom. 2. 26. if the uncircumcision (that is, the uncircumcised Gentile) keep the ordinances (or righteous statutes) of the Law: and in Rom. 8. 4. that the ordinance (the righteous statute) of the Law might be fulfilled in us. So in Hebr. 9. 1. ordinances of divine service. Here Eleazar the Priest declareth to the people the Law which God had commanded

Moses; as it was generally the duty of Priests and Levites to teach Jacob God's judgments, and Israel his Law, Deut. 33. 8. 10. Hag. 2. 11, 12. Mal. 2. 7. Moreover the heifer, with whose ashes the purifying water was prepared, was expressly given to Eleazar, Num. 19. 3. &c.

Vers. 23. that goeth thorough the fire] that is, will, or may abide the fire, and not be consumed therewith. Or, that cometh in the fire. and it shall be] or, that it may be clean. water of separation] in Greek, water of purification: the water mentioned in Num. 19. 9. which was to be sprinkled upon the vessels with hyssop, Num. 19. 18. after they had passed thorough the fire. goeth not thorough the fire] that will not abide the fire, or cometh not in the fire. This latter, some of the Hebrew Expositors (as Rashi and Targum Jonathan) do follow, and understand by things that come in the fire, such vessels and instruments as are used at the fire, kettles, spits, and the like: and by things that come not in the fire, they understand cups, platters, and such like. But the former seemeth best. thorough the water] to be washed therewith, and not sprinkled only with that water of separation, Num. 19. By this passing thorough fire and water, the vessels had a legal purification from their ceremonial uncleanness; to signify that the creatures are sanctified unto our use by the word of God and prayer, 1 Tim. 4. 4, 5. And sometime by vessels the Scripture signifieth men; and by their passing thorough fire and water, their cleansing from corruption by afflictions, and through the grace and spirit of Christ: as, I will gather you into the midst of Jerusalem, as they gather silver, and brass, and iron, and lead, and tin, into the midst of the furnace, to blow the fire upon it, to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger, &c. Ezek. 22. 19—2. And, in a great house there are not only vessels of gold and silver, but also of wood and of earth; and some to honor, and some to dishonor. If a man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honor, sanctified, and meet for the masters use; &c. 2 Tim. 2. 20, 21. Again▪ Thou hast tried us as silver is tried, &c. we went thorough fire, and thorough water, Psal. 66. 10, 12. See also Zach. 13. 9. Mal. 3. 3.

Vers. 26. the sum] Hebr. the head, that is, the sum, or count, as the Greek and Chaldee expound it: see Num. 1. 2. So after in verse. 49.

Vers. 27. into two parts] or into halves: Hebr. divide (or half) the bootie. The war and victory being the Lord's, he divideth the prey at his pleasure, half to the 12 thousand soldiers, and half to the congregation who went not out to war. So David made it an ordinance in Israel, As his part is that goeth down to the battle, so shall his part be that tarrieth by the stuff: they shall part alike, 1. Sam. 30. 24, 25. And to the warriors of the two tribes and the half that fought against the Canaanites, Joshua said, Divide the spoil of your enemies with your brethren, Ios. 22. 8.

Vers. 28. And levie] or, And heave up; which the Greek and Chaldee translate, And separate a tribute to the Lord: by this homage and tribute, they were to acknowledge the victory to be of God, and to show their thankfulness for his salvation. So David dedicated unto the Lord, silver and gold, of all nations which he had subdued, 2▪ Sam. 8. 11. 12. And Isaiah prophesieth, In that time shall a present be brought unto the LORD of hosts, of a people scattered and peeled, &c. Isaiah 18. 7. one soul of 500] by soul is here meant person of mankind, and living body of beasts, as after is explained. And as the 12000 soldiers had much more of the spoil, considering their small number, than the other many thousands of the congregation; so their tribute to the Lord was much less by proportion, they giving but the five hundredth part, when the congregation gave the fiftieth, ver. 30. God requireth less of them, as their labor, service, and jeoparding of their lives, had been greater than their brethren's.

Vers. 29. unto Eleazar] The Lord, who was the inheritance of the Priests and Levites, Dent. 18. 1, 2. and had given them the ordinary heave-offerings which the Israelites offered unto him, Num. 18. 19. giveth them also this extraordinary tribute which was levied for him. So Abram gave to Melchizedek the Priest the tithes of the spoils which he had gotten in war, Gen. 14. 20. And as the Levites had the tithes in Israel, and the Priests had but a tenth of those tithes, Num. 18. 21. 24. 26. 28. so is there here a like proportion allotted, whiles the Levites had the fiftieth part, verse. 30. and the Priests but the five hundredth.

Vers. 30. one portion of fifty] or, one taken (or detained) of fifty: so in verse. 47. of the sheep] or, of the flock-beasts, that is, of sheep and of goats; for both these are implied under the name flock; as in Lev. 1. 10. of all beasts] that is, of all manner of beasts: but this seemeth to be meant of the beasts fore-named only, and not of Camels, or other unclean beasts; because in the particular sums after rehearsed, verse. 32.—39. there are no unclean but Asses only spoken of. Chazkuni here saith, If thou ask why God commanded not to take a tribute of the Camels, seeing there were man) camels there, as it is written in the war of Gideon (against the Midianites) Their Camels were without number, Judge. 6. 5. and 7. 12. the answer is, The Scripture mentioneth those only whereof they took the tribute; and they took no tribute of unclean beasts, save of Asses, because they are sanctified by the firstling of the Ass, Exod. 13. 13. and 34. 19, 20. which keep the charge] or, observe the observation, keep watch and do the service: see the notes on Num. 18. 5.

Vers. 32. the residue of the prey] the cattle (whose numbers follow) are called the residue or remainder, either because some had been slain for the soldiers to eat, or in respect of the gold and silver, and other such spoils, whereof there was no tribute levied.

Vers. 33. seventy and two thousand] that is, seventy thousand and two thousand, as was explained in the former verse. So after.

Vers. 35. souls of mankind] Heb. soul of Adam, meaning by soul, the persons; and by Adam or mankind, the women, as after is explained. For as at the first; both man and woman were called Adam, Gen. 5. 2. so the same name is often used for both sexes, as here and in verse. 40. 46, 47.

Vers. 40. two and thirty] So the whole number of beasts and girles (which were the Lord's tribute out of the Soldiers half,) was eight hundred and forty, which were given to Eleazar the Priest, verse. 41.

Vers. 47. one portion of fifty] or, one taken of fifty; as in verse. 30. The particular sums (as may be gathered by the former computation) were six thousand seven hundred and fifty sheep, seven hundred and twenty oxen, six hundred and ten Asses, three hundred and twenty souls of young women: the whole sum of them altogether, was eight thousand and four hundred, which were taken out of the Congregations half, and given to the Levites. So the whole prize brought home from the Midianites, and kept for the use of Israel, was of beasts and women-kind, eight hundred thousand, and forty thousand: out of which the Lord took for his Priests and Levites, nine thousand two hundred and forty. Thus he enriched his people with the spoils of their enemies; and they in homage & thankfulness to the Lord, gave him one of five hundred out of the one half, and one of fifty, out of the other half; as Abram gave one of ten, to Melchizedek the Priest of God, of all the spoils that he had taken from his enemies, Gen. 14. 20.

Vers. 48. the Officers] or Bishops, as in verse. 14. [unspec 49]

Vers. 49. in our hand] that is, in our power, under our leading and charge: w<sup>ch</sup> the Greek and Chaldee translate, with us. there lacketh not Heb. there is not numbered, or mustered, to wit, as wanting or missing: for in such musters the number is observed, of those that are absent, as of those present. This was a rare and wonderful mercy, that twelve thousand men of Israel should vanquish so great a nation of Midian without loss of any man's life, whereas commonly the sword devoureth one as well as another, 2 Sam. 11. 25. But hereby appeareth, that precious in the eyes of the LORD, is the death of his Saints, Psal. 116. 15. and a much like speech was uttered by our Savior; Of them which thou gavest me, have I lost none, John. 18. 9. Moreover, by this victory, God encouraged his people to fight the residue of his battles against the Canaanites.

Vers. 50. an oblation for Jehovah] or, as the Chaldee explaineth it, the oblation of the Lord: in Greek▪ a gift to the Lord. This was a voluntary gift, whereas the former levie was commanded, v. 25▪ &c. hath found] that is, hath gotten in this war. jewels] or instruments, vessels. atonement for our souls] that is, for our lives which God hath spared; and that there be no plague amongst us, as Exod. 30. 12. Herein also they might have respect unto their sin in sparing the women alive, for which Moses reproved them, verse. 14. 17. Thus though they found all alive, yet were they not proud, neither boasted of their valor, but gave the glory unto God, and in themselves they were humbled in conscience of their unworthiness.

Vers. 51. every wrought jewel] Hebr. jewel (or instrument) of work; that is, cunningly wrought. So as the matter was the best of gold; the form also was the best. Chazkuni here saith; The Scripture showeth that they brought no broken instrument.

Vers. 52. shekels] what the shekel weighed, see on Gen. 20. 16. of the captains] or, from the captains; that is, Moses took the gold of them; as in verse. 51. and 54.

Vers. 54. the Tent] the Lord's Tabernacle, where it was a memorial for them: as the like is spoken of the half shekels w<sup>ch</sup> the Israelites gave when they were numbered, to make atonement for their souls, Exod. 30. 15, 16.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 The Reubenites and Gadites sue for their inheritance on that side Jordan. 6 Moses reproveth them. 16 They offer him conditions to his content. 28 Moses commandeth Eleazar and Joshua to give them that inheritance when they had performed the conditions. 31 The Gadites and Reubenites promise again to perform them. 33 Moses assigneth them the land. 34 They build fenced cities for their wives and children, and folds for their cattle. 39 The sons of Manasseh conquer the Amorites in Gilead, and have it and the villages thereof given them by Moses for a possession.

NOW the sons of Reuben, and the sons of Gad, had a very great multitude of cattle: and they saw the land of Iazer, and the land of Gilead; and behold, the place was a place for cattle. And the sons of Gad, and the sons of Reuben came, and said unto Moses, and unto Eleazar the Priest, and unto the Princes of the Congregation, saying; Ataroth and Dibon, and Iazer, and Nimrah, and Heshbon, and Elealeh, and Shebam, and Nebo, and Beon; The land which Jehovah smote before the Congregation of Israel, is a land for cattle, and thy servants have cattle. And they said; If we have found grace in thine eyes, let this land be given unto thy servants for a possession, bring us not over Jordan.

And Moses said unto the sons of Gad, and to the sons of Reuben; Shall your brethren go to war, and shall you sit here? And wherefor break ye the heart of the sons of Israel, from going over into the land w<sup>ch</sup> Jehovah hath given them? Thus did your fathers, when I sent them from Kadesh-barnea to see the land. For they went up into the land of Eshcol and saw the land, and brake the heart of the sons of Israel, that they should not go into the land which Jehovah had given them. And Jehovah's anger was kindled in that day, and he sware, saying; If the men that came up out of Egypt, from twenty years old and upward, shall see the land which I sware unto Abraham, unto Isaac, and unto Jacob, because they have not followed me fully. Save Caleb the son of Iephunneh, the Kenizite, and Joshua the son of Nun, for because they have followed Jehovah fully. And Jehovah's anger was kindled against Israel; and he made them wander in the wilderness forty years, until all the generation was consumed that had done evil in the eyes of Jehovah. And behold, ye are risen up in your fathers stead, an increase of sinful men, to augment yet the burning anger of Jehovah against Israel. For if ye turn away from after him, then will he yet again leave them in the wilderness, and ye shall destroy all this people.

And they came near unto him, and said; We will build sheep-folds here, for our cattle, and cities for our little ones. But we ourselves will go ready armed before the sons of Israel, until that we have brought them unto their place; and our little ones shall dwell in the fenced cities, because of the Inhabitants of the land. We will not return unto our houses, until the sons of Israel have inherited, every man his inheritance. For we will not inherit with them on yonder side Jordan and forward, because our inheritance is come unto us on this side Jordan Eastward.

And Moses said unto them, If ye will do this thing, if ye will go armed before Jehovah to war; And will go all of you armed over Jordan before Jehovah, until he have driven out his enemies from before him. When the land is subdued before Jehovah, then afterward ye shall return, and ye shall be guiltless before Jehovah, and before Israel; and this land shall be yours for a possession before Jehovah. But if ye will not do so; behold you have sinned against Jehovah: and know ye your sin which will find you out. Build ye cities for your little ones, and folds for your sheep, and do that which hath proceeded out of your mouth. And the sons of Gad, and the sons of Reuben said unto Moses, saying; Thy servants will do as my lord commandeth. Our little ones, our wives, our flocks and all our cattle shall be there in the cities of Gilead. But thy servants will pass over everyone armed for war before Jehovah to battle, as my lord speaketh.

So concerning them, Moses commanded Eleazar the Priest, and Joshua the son of Nun; and the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the sons of Israel. And Moses said unto them; If the sons of Gad, and the sons of Reuben, will pass with you over Jordan, every man armed to battle before Jehovah; and the land shall be subdued before you: then ye shall give unto them the land of Gilead for a possession. But if they will not pass over with you armed, then they shall have possessions among you in the land of Canaan.

And the sons of Gad, and the sons of Reuben, answered, saying; As Jehovah hath spoken unto thy servants, so will I do. We will pass over armed before Jehovah into the land of Canaan; and the possession of our inheritance on this side Jordan, shall be ours. And Moses gave unto them, unto the sons of Gad, and unto the sons of Reuben, and unto half the tribe of Manasseh the son of Joseph, the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amotites, and the kingdom of Og king of Bashan, the land with the cities thereof in the coasts, the cities of the land round about.

And the sons of Gad built Dibon, and Ataroth, and Aroer. And Atroth, Shophan, and Iazer, and Iogbehah. And Beth-Nimrah, and Beth-Haran, fenced cities, and folds for sheep. And the sons of Reuben built Heshbon, and Elealeh, and Kirjathaim. And Nebo, and Baal-Meon, (the names being changed) and Sibmah: and they called by names, the names of the cities which they built. And the sons of Machir, the son of Manasseh, went to Gilead and took it, and dispossessed the Amorite w<sup>ch</sup> was in it. And Moses gave Gilead unto Machir the son of Manasseh, and he dwelt therein. And Iair the son of Manasseh, went and took the villages, and called them the villages of Iair. And Nobah went and took Kenath, and the daughters thereof, and he called it Nobah, after his own name.

Annotations.

REuben] he was Israel's first-borne of his wife Leah, Gen. 29. 32. and Gad was the first son of Zilpah Leah's handmaid, Gen. 30. 10. 11. To these are added some of the sons of Manasseh, (verse. 39. &c.) who was the son of Joseph, the eldest son of Israel by his wife Rachel, Gen. 30. 22. 24. Iazer] a city taken a while before from the Amorites, Num. 21. 32. Gilead] in Greek, Galaad, a mountain also of the Amorites which had many cities; half that mount was given to the sons of God, the other half to the son of Manasseh, verse. 40. Deut. 3. 12, 13. Ios. 13. 24. 25. 31. a place for cattle] that is, meet to seed and nourish cattle. Therefore God promising to feed his people Israel, signifieth the goodness of their pasture by the similitude of Bashan and Gilead, Mic. 7. 14. Ier. 50. 19.

Vers. 2. sons of Gad] they are named before the sons of Reuben, both here and in verse. 6. 25. 29. 32. 33. so it seemeth they were first in this counsel and foremost in the suit.

Vers. 3. Ataroth, and Dibon, &c.] These were places in the country of Sihon and Og on the outside of Jordan: there was also an Ataroth within the land of Canaan, whereof see Ios. 16. 2. 5 7. Of Dibon, see Num. 28. 30. Ios. 13. 9. 17. Nimrah] called also Beth-Nimrah, in verse. 36. and Nimrim, Isaiah 15. 6. in Greek Namra. This place was given to the sons of God, Ios. 13. 27. Heshbon] the city of King Sihon, Num. 21. 26. given to the Reubenites, Ios. 13. 15. 17. Sheham] or Sebam, called also Sibmah, in verse. 38. and Ios. 13. 19. in Greek S•bama: it was a place of vines, Isaiah 16. 8, 9. Ier. 48. 32. Beon] called in verse. 38. Baal-meon; and in Ier. 48. 23. Beth ⟨...⟩, and in Ios. 13. 17. Beth-Baalmeon. The Greek here corrupteth it Bailian.

Vers 4. Jehovah smote] that is, smote or killed the inhabitants thereof, delivering them before his people, so that they smote them, Deut. 2. 33. but the victory is ascribed unto the Lord. for cattle] in Greek, that nourisheth cattle: see verse. 1.

Vers. 5. bring us not over] or, lead us not, cause •e not to pass over Jordan, to wit, for to have possession there. This their request (whereat Moses was offended) might seem at this first propounding of it, very evil. For, it might argue in them a covetous mind, for their own benefit, which also might turn to the injury of their other brethren. They prevented the time before all the land was conquered. They seemed to contrary the word of God, who commanded the land to be divided by l•, Num. 26. 55. which they now would prevent. It might imply a distrust in them, of subduing and inheriting the land of Canaan. It might be a discouragement of their brethren. It argued want of love, or a neglect of duty in assistance. It might be an evil president to others, who when some part of the land should be conquered, might likewise crave the same for their inheritance; and so great trouble and confusion might ensue.

Vers. 6. Shall your brethren] the other tribes. In this reproof, Moses teacheth brotherly duty, to love their neighbors as themselves; not to look every man on his own things, but every man also o• the things of others, Phil. 2. 4. and that they ought to lay down their lives for the brethren, 2 John. 3. 16.

Vers. 7. break ye the heart] that is, discourage ye, or make ye it to turn; as the Greek translateth, pervert ye the minds. A like phrase is of melting the heart, for discouraging, in Deut. 1. 28.

Vers. 8. Thus did your fathers] the Greek expresseth this by a question, Did not your fathers thus? So where the Prophet saith, All these my hand hath made, Isaiah 66. 1. the holy Ghost turneth it in Greek, Hath not my hand made all these? Act. 7. 49.

Vers. 9. valley] or bourne of Eshcol, that is, as the Greek translateth it, valley of the cluster of grapes: see Num. 13. 23, 24.

Vers. 11. If the men] that is, Surely the men, &c. shall not see: this is an oa•h: see the notes on Num. 14. 23. twenty years old] Hebr. son of twenty years. followed me fully] Hebr. fulfilled after me, w<sup>ch</sup> the Chaldee expoundeth, fulfilled after my fear; the Greek, followed after me: see Num. 14. 24. A like phrase is in 1 Sam. 13. 7. where the people trembled after Saul, that is, followed him trembling.

Vers. 12. the Kenizite] of the posterity of Kenaz, of the tribe of Judah, 1 Chron. 4. 13. 15.

Vers. 13. wander] this is an explanation of that phrase, shall feed in the wilderness; whereof see Num. 14. 33. the generation] that is, the men of the generation, as, this generation, Mat. 12. 42. is expounded the men of this generation, Luke 11. 31. And the consuming of the Israelites in the wilderness, is before observed in Num. 26. 64, 65.

Vers. 14. an increase of sinful men] or, a crew (a multitude) of men sinners: that is, bred and brought up of men most sinful, which the Chaldee expoundeth, disciples of sinful of men. By sinners, is meant men given unto sin: see the notes on Gen. 13. 13. & Num. 16. 38. the burning anger] Hebr. the burning of the anger (or of the nostrill) of Jehovah toward (or against) Israel. In this sharp rebuke, Moses upbraideth them with their fathers sin also, as he doth likewise in Deut. 1. 26, 27. &c. and 9. 7.—24. and signifieth that the renewing of their sins, augmenteth wrath upon the children, (as Christ also teacheth in Matth. 23. 31, 32,—36.) and upon the whole congregation, as after in verse. 15. and Ios. 22. 17, 18.

Vers. 15. from after him] that is, from following, from obeying him; which the Chaldee expoundeth from after his fear. So Christ calling James and John, they went after him, Mark. 1. 20, that is, they followed him, Mat. 4. 22. then he will yet again leave them] Heb. & he will add again, to leave him; that is, God will again leave Israel, who are spoken of as one man; therefore the Chaldee expoundeth it, he will yet again detain them, or make them to tarry. But the Greek seemeth to understand it of their leaving of God, saying, For ye will turn away from him, to add again to leave him in the wilderness. destroy all this people] or corrupt them, that is, occasion them to sin and so to be destroyed: for, corrupting is used both for sinning, and for destroying because of sin, as is noted on Gen. 6. 13. The Greek translateth, Ye shall do wickedly against this whole Congregation.

Vers. 17. will go ready armed] Heb. will be armed, [unspec 17]making haste, before the sons of Israel: which the Greek explaineth, it being armed will go in the fore-ward, before the sons of Israel. Signifying both their ready mind to jeopard their lives in the battle; and that by leaving their wives, children, and cattle behind them, they should be freed from that cumbrance which others had.

Vers. 18. we will not return] Here they promise a continuance with their brethren in all their wars and troubles unto the end: which also they performed, as Joshua said unto them, Ye have not left your brethren these many days, unto this day, &c. And now the LORD your God hath given rest unto your brethren, &c. Ios. 22. 3, 4.

Vers. 19. we will not inherit with them] By taking upon them these conditions, they free themselves of those evils wth might justly seem at first to be impured unto them. For they shown both faith in God, & love to their brethren, so to go in the forefront of the battle, with their lives in their hands against so many and mighty enemies, leaving their weak families behind them, unto the Lord's protection. And that they would thus do freely, without any further benefit to themselves, resting contented with their portion now allotted them. Wherefore Moses changing his mind yielded to their request, upon the performance of these conditions, verse. 20. &c.

Vers. 20. this thing] Hebr. this word: in Greek, according to this word. before Jehovah] the Chaldee explaineth it here and in ver. 21. and in Ios. 4. 13. before the people of the LORD. So, the help of the LORD, in Judge. 5. 23. is in Chaldee, the help of the people of the LORD. See the notes on Num. 31. 3.

Vers. 21. all of you armed] or, every armed man of you: Thus things are carried between Moses and them, as if the land should be conquered by force of arms: but it was lest they should tempt God, by neglect of the means; and that under this war-fare the good fight of faith might be fought of Israel. For though they were all bound by their promise to aid their brethren, yet Joshua took not all, but a competent number of them, namely, about forty thousand, Ios. 4. 12, 13. which were much fewer than all the men of war in the two tribes of Reuben and Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh, as appeareth by the last muster in Num. 26. 2. 7. 18. 34. It seemeth the residue were left behind, to keep their country and families: or, God would not have all to go to war, that the victory might appear to be his, as the Church after acknowledgeth to his praise, in Psal. 44. 2, 3, 4. &c. and lest Israel should vaunt themselves against him, saying, Mine own hand hath saved me: as in Judge. 7. 2.

Vers. 22. before Jehovah] in Chaldee, before the people of the LORD, as in verse. 20. So again in verse. 27. and 29. and 32. guiltless before Jehovah] or, from Jehovah, and from Israel, that is, innocent and free from being punished by the Lord and his people. So in 2 Sam. 3. 28. a possession before Jehovah] Hereby is signified the Lord's approbation, and so their just possession of the country, as being given them not by Moses only, (as in verse. 33.) but by the Lord, as he after saith, Jehovah your God hath given you this land to possess it, Deut, 3. 18.

Vers. 23. sinned against Jehovah] or, unto Jehovah; which the Greek and Chaldee translate, before the Lord. your sin] hereby may be meant both the guiltiness, and the punishment: see the notes on Levite. 22. 9. which will find you] or, that it will find you out, that is, will come upon you; being referred to punishment: see Gen. 44. 34. The Greek translateth, and ye shall know your sin, when evils shall overtake (or come upon) you. So the people acknowledge in their afflictions, Our sins testify against us; for our transgressions are with us, and our iniquities we know them, Isaiah 59. 12.

Vers. 25. said] Hebr. he said, signifying their joint consent to speak as one man in this repetition of their promise.

Vers. 29. then ye shall give] Moses giveth them not the inheritance, but upon condition, if they with their brethren should subdue the land: which was not done under his ministry, but under Eleazar and Joshua, the types of Christ. A figure that the Law should make nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope, Heb. 7. 19.

Vers. 32. shall be ours] or, that it may be ours: Heb. with us, that is, remain with us as our own. So in Psal. 12. 5. our lips are with us, that is, are ours.

Vers. 33. half the tribe of Manasseh] There is no mention of these before among them that sued for inheritance: but because the sons of Manasseh shown their faith and valor in conquering Gilead, verse. 39. therefore the Lord by Moses giveth them a possession there. And of Machir the son of Manasseh it is said, Because he was a man of war, therefore he had Gilead and Bashan, Ios. 17. 1. This half tribe had also their inheritance given them upon like condition as the former two tribes, Ios. 4. 12. with the cities thereof in the coasts] or, as the Greek translath, and the cities with the coasts thereof. The Hebrew preposition Lamed is often in Greek translated and, with good sense, as in Gen. 1. 6. and 2. 3. Exod. 17. 10. Levite. 8. 12. and 16. 21. Num. 9. 15. and 33. 2.

Vers. 34. built Dibon] that is, repaired and fortified these cities which had been partly ruined before in the conquest, or fallen into decay. So in ver. 37.

Vers. 38. the names being changed] or, being turned in name: which seemeth to be in respect of the former idolatry whereto by name they were dedicate: for Nebo and Baal were the names of false gods, Isaiah. 46. 1. Judge. 6. 31. which the Lord would not have to be mentioned, Exod. 23. 13. And thus the Hebrews (as Sol. Rashi here) explain it, saying, They were idolatrous names, and the Amorites had called their cities by the names of their idols; but the sons of Reuben turned their name to other names. they called by names] that is, by other names for the cause fore-mentioned: the Greek translath, they named by their names: so it accordeth with verse. 42. where Nobah having taken Kenath, called it Nobah by his own name.

Vers. 40. gave Gilead] to wit, half of mount Gilead, for the other half was given to the sons of Reuben and Gad, Deut. 3. 12, 13. unto Ma <...> ] Seeing Machir was the first-borne of Manasseh, Ios. 17. 1. and Machir's sons were borne upon Joseph's knees, Gen. 50. 23. it is not likely that Machir himself was now alive, but that his posterity are called here by their fathers name; and this is usual throughout the Scriptures, to give the fathers name unto the children.

Vers. 41. Iair the son of Manasseh] Iair was the son of Hezron the son of Judah by the fathers side, and the son of Machir the son of Manasseh by his mother, 1 Chron. 2. 21, 22. and taking these villages with the other Manassites, he is here reckoned of that tribe. So elsewhere some of the Priests are called the sons of Barzillai, which took a wife of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite, and was called after their name, Ezr. 2. 61. the villages of Iair] in Hebrew, Havoth Iair. There was also one Iair son of Segub, who had three and twenty cities in the land of Gilead, 1 Chro. 2. 22. and another Iair of the tribe of Manasseh, who was Judge of Israel twenty years: he had thirty sons, and they had thirty cities in the land of Gilead, which were also called Havoth Iair, Judge. 10. 3, 4.

Vers. 42. the daughters] that is, the towns or villages, as is noted on Num. 21. 25. So again in 1 Chron. 2. 23. These two tribes and an half, as they were the first of all Israel that had their inheritance assigned them, so were they of the first that for their sins were carried captives out of their land, 2 Kings 15. 29. For they transgressed against the God of their fathers, and went a whoring after the gods of the people of the land, whom God destroyed before them. And the God of Israel stirred up the spirit of Pul King of Assyria, and the spirit of Tigath-pilneser King of Assyria: and he carried them away, even the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasseh, and brought them unto H <...> , and Habor, and Hara, and to the river Go <...> , unto this day, 1 Chron. 5. 25, 26.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Two and forty journeys of the Israelites through the wilderness, from Egypt to Jordan. 50 A commandment to destroy the Canaanites and their monuments of idolatry. 54 The land must be divided by lot.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

These are the journeys of the sons [unspec] of Israel, which went forth out of the land of Egypt by their armies, by the hand of Moses and Aaron. And Moses [unspec] wrote their goings out, according to their journeys at the mouth of Jehovah: and these are their journeys according to their goings out. And they journeyed from Rameses, in the first month, in the fifteenth day of the first month: on the morrow after the Passover, the sons of Israel went out with an high hand, in the eyes of all the Egyptians. And Aaron the Priest went up into mount Hor at the mouth of Jehovah, and died there, in the fortieth year after the sons of Israel were come out from the land of Egypt, in the fifth month, in the first day of the month. And Aaron was an hundred and twenty and three years old when he died in mount Hor. Images ye shall destroy, and quite pluck down all their high places. And ye shall dispossess the land and dwell therein: for unto you have I given the land to possess it. And ye shall divide the land by lot for an inheritance among your families: to the many ye shall give them the more inheritance; and to the few, thou shalt give them the less inheritance; wheresoever the lot shall come forth for him, his shall it be, according to the tribes of your fathers ye shall inherit. But if ye will not drive out the inhabitants of the land from before you, then it shall be that those which ye let remain of them, shall be pricks in your eyes, and thorns in your sides, and shall vex you in the land wherein ye dwell. And it shall be that I will do unto you as I thought to do unto them.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Here beginneth the 43 Lecture of the Law, called the journeys: see Gen. 6. 9.

The journeys] or the removings, to wit, from place to place, which was a sign of their unsettled estate, as not being yet come unto their rest, Deut. 12. 9. Figuring the unstaiednesse of the Church under Moses law otherwise than under the Gospel of Christ, where we which have believed do enter into rest, Heb. 4. 3. Of which immovable state it is prophesied, Look upon Zion the city of our solemnities: thine eyes shall see Jerusalem a quiet habitation, a Tabernacle that shall not be taken down, not one of the stakes thereof shall ever be removed, neither shall any of the cords thereof be broken, Isaiah 33. 20. The complement hereof is shown by the Apostle, saying, that this word, Yet once more, signifieth the removing of those things that are shaken, as of things that are made; that those things which cannot be shaken may remain: and, that we receive a kingdom which cannot be moved, Hebr. 12. 27, 28. And as here Moses reckoneth forty two journeys from Egypt to the river Jordan, over which Joshua led them into Canaan: so the Apostle (in Matth. 1.) reckoneth 42 generations from Abraham unto Christ, by whom we have entrance into the kingdom of God. with their armies] or, by their armies, being about six hundred thousand men, beside little ones, and much mixed people with them, Exod. 12. 37, 38. They are called also the Lord's armies, Exod. 7. 4. and 12. 41. by the hand] under the guidance or conduct. This Asaph mentioneth to the praise of God; Thou didst lead thy people like a flock, by the hand of Moses and Aa ⟨...⟩ Psal. 77. 21.

Vers. 2. according to their journeys] or, ⟨◇⟩ their journeys (or removings) as the Greek translatheth, and their journeys (or stations.) the month] that is, the word, or commandment of Ieho ⟨◇⟩ . This may be understood either of his commandment to write these journeys here, or of their journeyings; as it is said, At the mouth of Jehovah the sons of Israel journeyed, and at the mouth of Jehovah they encamped, Num. 9. 18. 20.

Vers. 3. from Rameses] a city in the land of Egypt, Gen. 47. 11. See also Exod. 12. 37. the first month] called Abib, and Nisan, Exod. 13. 4. Nehem. 2. 1. answering to that which we call March. Why it was the first month, is shown on Exod. 12. 2. the Passe-over] whereof see Exod. 12. with an high hand] in Chaldee, with an uncovered head: meaning openly, boldly, powerfully: see Exod. 14. 8.

Vers. 4. had smitten] that is, as the Chaldee expoundeth it, had killed; and the Greek, all the dead which the Lord had smitten: see Exod. 12. 29. their gods] in Chaldee, their idols. Some understand it of the beasts which the Egyptians worshipped. judgments] in Greek, did (or executed) vengeance: see Exod. 12. 12. and 18. 11.

Vers. 5. Succoth] by interpretation, Boothes: see Exod. 12. 37. [unspec 5]

Vers. 6. Etham which is in the edge] in Greek, Bouthan, which is a part of the wilderness: see Exod. [unspec] 13. 20.

Vers. 7. Pi-hahiroth] or, as the Greek and Chaldee translate, the mouth of Hiroth: for in the next verse, the place is called only Hiroth: which seem to be mountains between which was a narrow passage, called figuratively a mouth. It was by the red sea, and there the Egyptians overtook the Israelites, Exod. 14. 2. 9.

Vers. 8. the sea] the red sea, the waters whereof God divided, & led his people thorough it; but the Egyptians following them, were drowned, Exod. 14. 21, 22, 23, &c. three days journie] Hebr. three days way. Etham] called the wilderness of Sh•r. Exod. 15. 22. Marah] that is, bitterness, as the Greek here interpreteth it: so called of the bitter waters which the people could not drink, therefore they murmured: but God sweetened the waters with a tree, Exod. 15. 23, &c.

Vers. 9. plame trees] or Date trees: see Exod. 15. ⟨◇⟩ , there] there by the waters, Exod. 15. 27. So God refreshed his people with water, in the dry and barren wilderness.

Vers. 10. by the red sea] of this resting place there hath been no mention before.

Vers. 11. of Sin] a wilderness which adjoined unto Sin, a city of Egypt so called, Ezek. 30. 15, 16. Hither they came a just month after their departure from Rameses, verse. 3. namely in the fifteenth day of the second month: in this wilderness they murmured for want of food, and God gave them Quails, and rained Manna from heaven, Exod. 16. 1, 2, &c.

Vers. 12. Dephkah] in Greek, Raphakah: putting R for D, through likeness of the letters in Hebrew: see the notes on Gen. 4. 18. Of this place there is no mention in Exodus.

Vers. 13. Alush] in Greek, Ailous: Neither is [unspec] this station named before, but Moses intimated them, when he said, the Israelites journeyed from the wilderness of Sin, after their journeys, Exod. 17. 1.

Vers. 14. Rephidim] in Greek, Rephidein. no water] therefore the people contended with Moses, and almost stoned him: God gave them water out of the Rock in Horeb; and the place was called Massah, and Meribah, that is, Tentation, and contention. Here also at Rephidim, the Amalekites fought against Israel, and were overcome, Ex. 17.

V. 15. wilderness of Sinai] the wilderness of mount Sinai, Act. 7. 30. Thither they came in the beginning of the third month, Exod. 19. 1. There God gave them his Laws, Statutes and Judgments, Exod. 20. and 21, &c. There they sinned and made the golden Calf, Exod. 32. Afterward they made the Tabernacle, Exod. 36, &c. Out of it God speaking, taught them how they should serve him with sacrifices, &c. Lev. 1, &c. He numbered and ordered the twelve tribes, both for their encamping about the Tabernacle, and for their journeyings with it towards Canaan, Num. 1, &c. And in this place they abode, till the twentieth day of the second month of the second year after their coming out of Egypt, Num. 10. 11, 12.

Vers. 16. Kibroth hattaavah] that is, the graves of lust, where the people lusted for flesh, died while the flesh was between their teeth, and were buried there, Num. 11. 14,—34.

Vers. 17. Hazeroth] In this place Marie with Aaron murmured against Moses, and she was smitten with leprosy, Num. 12.

Vers. 18. Rithmah] a place in the wilderness of Pharan, Num. 13. 1. It hath the name of Iuniper, which either grew there, or (as some of the Hebrews think) because the evil tongues of the Spies which were sent from thence to view the land, (Num. 13. 3.) and brought up an cvill report thereof, were like the coals of Iuniper, (as in Psal. 120. 3, 4.) and kindled a rebellion among the people, Num. 14.

Vers. 19. Rimmon Perez] in Greek, Rhembon Phares: by interpretation, the Pomegranate (or the lifting up) of the breach. This place is not named before: Chazkuni thinketh they came hither after God had bidden thē turn back into the wilderness, by the way of the red sea, Num. 14. 25. So it might have the name of the breach or slaughter which the Amalekites and Canaanites made among the Israelites for their presumption, Num. 14. 44, 45. as Perez Uzzah, in 1 Chron. 13. 11. and Baal Perazim, in 1 Chron. 14. 11. were places so named of the death of Uzzah, and slaughter of the Philistines.

Vers. 20. Libnah] in Greek, Lembona: some think it to be that which is called Laban, in Deut. 1. 1.

Vers. 21. Rissah] in Greek, Rissan: it is not elsewhere mentioned.

Vers. 22. Khelathah] in Greek, Makelath: it signifieth Assembling.

Vers. 23. mount Shapher] in Hebrew, Har Shapher; by interpretation, Faire mount: in Greek, Arsaphath.

Vers. 24. Haradah] or Charadah; in Greek, Charadath: it signifieth Trembling.

Vers. 25. Makheloth] in Greek, Makedoth: it is interpreted Assemblies, or Congregations, and is thought of some to be so called of the mutinous assemblies of Korah, Dathan & Abiram, Num. 16.

Vers. 26. Tahath] in Greek, Kataath, signifiing Vnderneath, or below.

Vers. 27. Tarah] or Therach; in Greek, Tharath. [unspec 28]

Vers. 28. Mithkah] in Greek, Matheka; by interpretation, sweet.

Vers. 29. Hashmonah] in Greek, Aselmona. [unspec 30]

Vers. 30. Moseroth] in Greek, Masurouth; in English, Bonds. In Deut. 10. 6. it is called singularly Moserah.

Vers. 31. Bene Iaakan] that is, the sons of Iaakan, called in Deut. 10. 6. Beeroth Bene Iaakan, that is, the Wels of the sons of Iaakan: though some think that was another place. Of one Iaakan, we read in 1 Chron. 1. 42.

Vers. 32. Horhagidgad] that is, the hole of Gidgad, called also Gudgod, in Deut. 10. 7.

Vers. 33. Iotbathah] in Greek, Etebatha: it was a land of rivers of waters, named also Iotbath, Deut. 10. 7.

Vers. 34. Ebronah] or Gnabronah, not elsewhere mentioned. [unspec 34]

Vers. 35. Ezion-gaber] in Greek, Gethsion-gaber, mentioned again in Deut. 2. 8. It was by the red sea, where was a place for shipping in Edoms land, 1 Kings 9. 26. and 22. 48. Thus Israel had been brought back again towards the red sea, as was commanded in Num. 14. 25. Deut. 2. 1.

Vers. 36. Zin which is Kadesh] or, that is Kades, w<sup>ch</sup> the Chaldee calleth Rekam. Hither they came in the first month of the 40 year of their travel: and here Marie the Prophetess, the sister of Moses and Aaron, died. Here again the people murmured for water, which was given them out of a Rock. And at this Kadesh they sent unto Edom for leave to pass thorough his country, but were denied it, Num. 20. See the Annotations there.

Vers. 37. in the edge] by the border of the land, Num. 20. 23. the Greek translateth, near the land of Edom.

Vers. 38. at the mouth] that is, as the Chaldee explaineth it, at the word; in Greek, by the commandment of the Lord. died there] being stripped of his Priestly garments which were put upō Eleazar his son: and he died there on mount Hor for his sin committed at the water of Meribah in Kadesh, Num: 20. 24, 26. &c.

Vers. 40. King of Arad] of whom see Num. 21. 1. heard of the coming] and sought against Israel, and took some of them captives; but Israel by help from God vanquished him, Num. 21. 1, 2, 3.

Vers. 41. from mount Hor] by the way of the red sea to compass the land of Edom, Num. 21. 4. Zalmonah] in Greek, Selmona; which seemeth to be so named of Zelem an Image, and to be meant of that place where the brazen serpent was set up, to heal those that were stung of fiery serpents, because they had murmured against God, Num. 21. 5, 6, &c.

Vers. 42. Funon] or Phunon; in Greek, Phinon; hereof there is no mention elsewhere.

Vers. 43. Oboth] mentioned in Num. 21. 10. [unspec 43]

Vers. 44. Ije Abarim] that is, the heaps of Abarim; which Abarim were mountains, verse. 47. In the verse following this place is called only Ijem, that is, Heapes.

Vers. 45. Dibon Gad] in Greek, Daibon Gad, that is, Dibon of the Gadites: Dibon was the name of an high place and city, whereof see Num. 21. 30. This Dibon was repaired and possessed by the sons of Gad, Num. 32. 34. and it is so named to distinguish it from another Dibon which was given to Reuben, Ios. 13. 15. 17.

Vers. 46. Almon] or Gnalmon; in Greek, Gelmon diblathaim: of w<sup>ch</sup> Diblathaim, see Ier. 48. 22.

Vers. 47. Before Nebo] the name of a mountain, where afterward Moses died, Deut. 32. 49, 50: and 34. 1. 5.

Vers. 48. Jordan near Jericho] that part of the river Jordan which is over against Jericho, called therefore in Hebrew Iarden of Jericho.

Vers. 49. Beth Iesimoth] which place was allotted to the Reubenites, Ios. 13. 15. 20. mentioned also in Ezek. 25. 9. Abel Shittim] the Chaldee expoundeth it, the plain of Shittim: it seemeth to have the name of the Shittim trees that grew there; as Abel Ceramim, is the plain of the Uineyard, Judge. 11. 33. The travels of Israel thorough that great and terrible wilderness, wherein were fiery serpents, and scorpions, and drought, where there was no water, Deut. 8. 15. which was a land of deserts & of pits, a land of drought, and of the shadow of death, a land that no man passed thorough, and where no man dwelt, Ier. 2. 6. signified the many troubles and afflictions through which we must enter into the kingdom of God, Act. 14. 22. The helps, comforts and deliverances which God gave unto his people in their distresses, are examples of his love and mercy towards his, who comforteth them in all their tribulation, that as the sufferings of Christ abound in them, so their consolation also aboundeth in Christ, 2 Cor. 1. 45. The punishments which God inflicted upon the disobedient, who perished in the wilderness for their sins, happened unto them for ensamples, and they are written for our admonitiō, upon whom the ends of the world are come, 1 Cor. 10. 1,—11. Heb. 3. 17, 18, 19. and 4. 1, 2. By the names of their encamping places, and histories adjoined, it appeareth how Israel came sometimes into straits and troublesome ways, as at Pi-hahiroth, Ex. 14. 2, 3. 10. &c. & at Zalmonah, Nū. 21. 4 &c. sometimes into large and ample roomth, as at the plains of Moab: sometimes to places of hunger and thirst, as at Rephidim and Kadesh, Ex. 16 & 17. Num. 20. sometimes to places of refreshing, as at Elim, and Beer, Ex. 15. 27. Num. 21. 16. sometimes where they had wars, as at Rephidim, Kadesh, Edrehi, Exod. 17. 8. Num. 21. 1. 33. sometimes where they had rest, as at mount Sinai. Sometimes they went right forward, as from Sinai to Kadesh-barnea: sometimes they turned backward, as from Kadesh barnea to the red Sea. Sometimes they came to mountains, as Sinai, Shepher, Hor, Gidgad: sometimes to valleys, as Tahath, &c. sometimes to places of bitterness, as Marah: sometimes of sweetness, as Mithkah. The sins which they committed in the wilderness, were many and great; as open idolatry by the Calf at Horeb, Ex. 32. and with Baal-peor, Num. 25. unbeleese at Kadesh, Num. 14. and afterwards presumptuous boldness in the same place; murmurings against God sundry times, with tempting of Christ (as the Apostle speaketh, 1 Cor. 10.) Contention & rebellion against their governors often: lusting for flesh to fill their appetite, & soathing Manna the heavenly food: whoredom with the daughters of Moab, and sundry the like: that this complaint is after made of them, How oft did they provoke him in the wilderness, and grieve him in the desert! Psal. 78. 40. All sorts of persons sinned against God; the multitude of people very often; the mixed multitude of strangers among them, Num. 11. The Princes, as the ten spies, Dathan, Abiram, &c. The Levites, as Korah and his company. Marie the Prophetess, Num. 12. Aaron the Priest with her, besides his sin at Horeb, Ex. 32. and at the water of Meribah, Num. 20. Moses also him-self at the same place, for which he could not come into the land of Canaan. The punishments laid on them by the Lord for their disobedience were many. They died by the sword of the enemy, as of the Amalekites, Exod. 17. and of the Canaanites, Num. 14. 45. and some by the sword of their brethren, Exod. 32. Some were burnt with fire, Num. 11. and 16. some died with surfe, Num. 11. some were swallowed up alive into the earth, Num. 16. some were killed with serpents, Num. 21. many died of the pestilence, Num. 16. 46. and c. 5. 25. and generally all that generatiō w<sup>ch</sup> were first mustered after their coming out of Egypt, perished, Num. 26. 64, 65. God consumed their days in vanity, and their years in terror, Psal. 78. 33. Nevertheless for his names sake, he magnified his mercies unto them and their posterity. He had divided the sea, and led them thorough on dry land, drowning their enemies, Exod. 14. He led them with a cloud by day, and a pillar of fire by night continually. He gave them Manna from heaven daily. He clave the rocks, and gave them water for their thirst. He sed them with Quails when they longed for flesh. He sweetened the bitter waters. He saved them from the sword of their enemies. He delivered them from the fiery serpents and scorpions. Their raiment waxed not old upon them, neither did their foot swell those 40 years, Deut. 8. 4. He delivered them from the curse of Balaam, and turned it into a blessing, because he loved them, Num. 22. Deut. 23. 5. He came down upon mount Sinai, and spake with them from heaven, and gave them right judgments and true laws, good statutes and commandments, and gave also his good spirit to instruct them, Nehem. 9. 13. 20. In the times of his wrath he remembered mercy; his eye spared them from destroying them, neither did he make an end of them in the wilderness, Ezek. 20. 17. 22. He gave them Kingdoms and Nations, and they possessed the lands of their enemies; and he multiplied their children as the stars of heaven, and brought them into the land promised unto their fathers, Nehem. 9. 22. 23. Now whatsoever things were written aforetime, were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the Scriptures might have hope, Rom. 15. 4.

Vers. 52. Ye shall drive out] or, ye shall dispossess, as in verse. 53. in Greek, ye shall destroy. So Moses explaineth this law to be meant of their destruction, in Deut. 7. 1, 2. And they might not be suffered to dwell in the land, Exod. 23. 33. their pictures] or, their imagery works; which the Chaldee expoundeth, the house (or place) of their worship: see the Annotations on Lev. 26. 1. their molten image] Hebr. the images of their meltings, that is, which they have molten; under which name, graven images and all other idols are implied, as is shown on Ex. 20. 4. This law is also repeated in Deut. 7. 5. and Deut. 12. quite pluck down] or, destroy, abolish, letting nothing remain; in Greek, take away their pillars: see Lev. 26. 30.

Vers. 53. dispossess the land] or, disinherit, drive out (as in v. 52.) the land; that is, as the Greek translath, destroy the inhabitants of the land: and so Moses explaineth it in v. 55. A like phrase is in Ios. 17. 17. they could not dispossess (or drive out) the cities, meaning the inhabitants of those cities: so house is for the household, or men of the house, Gen. 45. 11. 18. It may also be translated, ye shall inherit the land; and so it agreeth with the words following.

Vers. 54. by lot] as was commanded before in Num. 26. 55. ye shall give them the more inheritance] Hebr. ye shall multiply his inheritance: see this phrase in Num. 26. 54. for him] that is, for any one, or for everyone.

Vers. 55. shall be pricks] or shall be for pricks in your eyes, and for thorns in your sides: which Joshua repeating, saith, scourges in your sides, and thorns in your eyes, Ios. 23. 13. And the Prophet speaking of the enemies of God's people, calleth them a pricking briar unto the house of Israel, and a grieving thorn, Ezek. 28. 24. By these similitudes the hurt and mischief is signified, which such wicked people would do unto the Church in soul and body, being a mean to draw them into sin, and to afflict them, as it is written, They destroyed not the Nations, concerning whom the LORD commanded them; but were mingled among the heathen, and learned their works, and served their idols which were a snare unto them, Psal. 106. 34, 35, 36. And the troubles which they brought upon Israel, are set forth in the book of Judges, in the history of Iabin, Sisera, and other. So the Chaldee expoundeth these pricks and thorns, thus; They shall be companies taking up arms against you, and troupes causing you to fall. shall vex you in the land] and Joshua addeth, until ye perish from off this good land, which Jehovah your God hath given you, Ios. 23. 13.

CHAP. XXXIV.

1 The Lord by Moses declareth unto Israel the borders of the land of Canaan which they should inherit. 16 The names of the Princes that should divide the land.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; Command the sons of Israel, and say unto them; When ye come into the land of Canaan, that is the land that shall fall unto you for an inheritance, the land of Canaan with the borders thereof. And your South quarter shall be from the wilderness of Zin, by the sides of Edom: and your South border shall be the outmost coast of the salt sea Eastward. And your border shall turn about from the South, to the ascent of Akrabbim, and pass on to Zin; and the goings out thereof shall be from the South to Kadesh-barnea, and it shall go out to Hazar Addar, and pass on to Azmon. And the border shall turn about from Azmon unto the river of Egypt, and the goings out of it shall be at the sea. And the sea border, you shall even have the great sea and the border thereof: this shall be your sea border. And this shall be your North border: from the great sea you shall point out for you mount Hor. From mount Hor ye shall point out unto the entrance of Hamath: and the goings out of the border shall be to Zedad. And the border shall go out to Ziphron, and the goings out of it shall be at Hazar Enan: this shall be your North border. And ye shall point out for you for the East border from Hazar Enan, to Shepham. And the border shall go down from Shepham to Riblah on the East side of Ain: and the border shall go down, and shall reach unto the side of the sea of Chinnereth Eastward. And the border shall go down to Jordan, and the goings out of it shall be at the salt sea: this shall be your land with the borders thereof round about. And Moses commanded the sons of Israel, saying; This is the land, the which ye shall inherit by lot, which Jehovah commanded to give unto the nine tribes, and to the half tribe. For the tribe of the sons of the Reubenites, according to the house of their fathers; and the tribe of the sons of the Gadites, according to the house of their fathers, have received; and half the tribe of Manasseh have received their inheritance. The two tribes, and the half tribe, have received their inheritance on this side Jordan <...> re Jericho, Eastward toward the Sun rising.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; These are the names of the men which shall divide the land by inheritance unto you: Eleazar the Priest, and Joshua the son of Nun. And ye shall take one Prince, one Prince of a tribe to divide the land by inheritance. And these are the names of the men: Of the tribe of Judah, Caleb the son of Iephunneh. And of the tribe of the sons of Simeon, Samuel the son of Ammihud. Of the tribe of Benjamin, Elidad the son of Chislon. And the Prince of the tribe of the sons of Dan, Bukki the son of Iogli. Of the sons of Joseph, the Prince of the tribe of the sons of Manesses, Hanniel the son of Ephod. And the Prince of the tribe of the sons of Ephraim, Kemuel the son of Shiphtan. And the Prince of the tribe of the sons of Zebulun, Elizaphan the son of Parnach. And the Prince of the tribe of the sons of Issachar, Paltiel the son of Azzan. And the Prince of the tribe of the sons of Aser, Ahihud the son of Shelomi. And the Prince of the tribe of the sons of Naphtali, Pedahel the son of Ammihud. These are they whom Jehovah commanded to divide the inheritance unto the sons of Israel, in the land of Canaan.

Annotations.

COmmand the sons of Israel] After the commandment [unspec] to destroy the Canaanites, and to root out the monuments of their idolatry, the Lord now giveth laws for Israel's quiet inheritance of the promised land: which first he limiteth out unto them, then showeth who should possess it, and appointeth twelve men by name to divide the possession. And this is by command from God, to signify the weight of the precept and care which Israel should have to observeit. shall fall unto you] to wit, by lot, or by line: as, he made them fall by line of inheritance, Psal. 78. 55. and, The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places, Psal. 16. 6. and, there fell ten lines, (that is, ten portions) to Manasseh, Ios. 17. 5. with the borders] or, according to the borders or coasts, bounds, limits, or confines. God who set all the borders of the earth, Psal. 74. 17. and limited the bounds of all men's habitations, Act. 17. 26. doth here in special and exact manner determine the limits of the holy land, called the border of his holiness (or Sanctuary) Psal. 78. 54. to the end that his people might behold his bounty and providence in giving them so large and good a land: wherefore he after expostulateth with Israel, whether the border of the neighbor kingdoms were greater than their border, Amos 6. 2. Also that his people might not be defrauded of their right by other nations which sometimes fought with Israel hereabout, Judge. 11. 13. &c. as the Ammonites ripped up the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border, Amos 1. 13. Likewise, that Israel might rest contented with their limits allotted them by God, both generally and particularly, and not remove the ancient bound, Prov. 23. 10. and 22. 28. Deut. 2. 5. 9. 19. And these limits of Canaan figured the state and condition of the Church of Christ, (who rejoiceth that the lines are fallen unto him in pleasant places, and that he hath a goodly heritage, Psal. 16. 6.) which therefore is shown to the Prophet in a vision, like the land of Canaan, inherited by the tribes of Israel, and the borders appointed of their habitations, Ezek. 47. 13, 14, 15, &c.

Vers. 3. South quarter] or South corner, which [unspec] the Chaldee calleth the South wind: as in Matth. 24. 31. the four winds are put for the four quarters of the world. The limits here are set towards all the four quarters, South, West, North, and East: the order of proceeding is thus; for the South-side he beginneth at the East corner, and goeth along to the West; the West side beginneth at the South end, and extendeth to the North; the Northern quarter likewise is from the West to the East; and the Eastern side from the North to the South. But in Ezek. 47. 15. &c. he beginneth with the North, which here is begun at the South, and endeth at the West, as here at the East. wilderness of Zin] whereof see Num. 33. 36. This was the uttermost part of the South coast, and fell by lot unto the tribe of Judah, Ios. 15. 1. the sides of Edom] Hebr. the hands of Edom, that is, the border of Edom, as is explained in Ios. 15. 1. the salt sea] or, sea of salt, so in verse. 12. This was the lake of Sodom, called also the dead sea, for that it had no fish or living thing in it; whereof see Gen. 14. 3. From the end of that sea, from the tongue (or bay) thereof that looketh Southward, was their South border, Ios. 15. 2. This sea is in human writers called Asphaltites, Plin. l. 5. c. 16.

Vers. 4. shall turn about] that is, fetch a compass; [unspec] as the Greek translateth it, shall compass, for which in Ios. 15. 3. is said, it went out. from the South] or, on the South-side: so after the ascent of Akrabbim] or, Maaleh Akrabbim, as in Ios. 15. 3. which is by interpretation, the ascent (or going up) of Scorpions: which place some think was so named of the Scorpions which were in the wilderness, Deut. 8. 15. the goings out thereof] for this, in Ios. 15. 3. is said, it ascended up. it shall go up to Hazar Addar] by going out is meant a passing along, as is expounded in Ios. 15. 3. where Hazar Addar are two places, Hezron and Addar; for it is said, it passed along to Hezron, and went up to Addar. to Azmon] in Ios. 15. 3. 4. there is added, that it turned about (or fetched a compass) to Karkaa, and passed on to Azmon. This Azmon is in Targum Jonathan called Kesam; in Greek, Asel (...) .

Vers. 5. unto the river of Egypt] it went out unto [unspec] the river of Egypt, Ios. 15. 4. the river called Sihor, Ios. 13. 3. in Targum Jonathan, Nilos. goings out of it] namely, of the coast (or border) Ios. 15. 4. at the sea] to wit, the great Sea, as the Greek translatheth it, whereof Moses speaketh in the verse following: the Chaldee calleth it the West sea.

Vers. 6. the sea border] that is, as the Chaldee explaineth it, the West border: so called because the great sea lay Westward from the land of Canaan: see Gen. 12. 8. you shall even have] or, shall be to you: which two phrases expound one another; as is noted on Gen. 12. 16. So after in verse. 7. and 12. the great sea] so called in respect of the lesser inland seas, as the salt sea, verse. 3. and the sea of Chinnereth, verse. 11. This great sea is commonly called the Mediterranean sea. and the border thereof] so the Chaldee here translatheth it, supplying the word thereof; and so it is Englished in Ios. 15. 12. 47. The Greek interpreteth it, the great sea shall bound (or shall limit.)

Vers. 7. you shall point out] or, shall mark out, shall design; in Greek, ye shall measure out: so in verse. 8. and 10. mount Hor] This is not that mount Hor where Aaron died, which was Southward in the edge of Edoms land, Num. 33. 37, 38. but another mountain on the North side of Canaan, which in Ios. 13. 5. is called mount Hermon, and near the entering into Hamath, as mount Hor is here. And Hermon had many names, as Moses showeth in Deut. 3. 9. and 4. 48.

Vers. 8. the entrance of Hamath] or, the entering into Chamath: this Hamath (in Greek, Emath) is in Amos 6. 2. called Hemath the great. See the Annotations on Num. 13. 21. Hamath is also mentioned among the Northern borders of the land, in Ezek. 47. 16, 17. Zedad] in Greek, Sedada: so in Ezek. 47. 15.

Vers. 9. Hazar-nan] in Ezek. 47. 17. Hazarenon: in Greek, Arsenain. This was the North-East part of the land.

Vers. 10. Shepham] called in 1 Sam. 30. 28. Siphmoth: in Greek, Sepphama: by Targum Jonathan, and some other, it is called Apamiah.

Vers. 11. Riblah] a city in the land of Hamath, where God executed his judgments on the Kings of Judah, for their sins, by the Kings of Egypt and of Babylon, *2 King. 23. 33. and 25. 6. 20, 21. And the country adjoining was called the land of Gennesaret, Mat. 14. 34. Mar. 6. 53. This sea is also named the sea of Galilee, & the sea of Tibertas, John. 6. 1. & a lake and sea are the same; as, they ran into the lake, Luk. 8. 33. that is, into the sea, Mat. 8. 32. Of the sea Chinnereth there is mention also in Ios. 12. 3. & 13. 27. & of a city so named, Ios. 19. 35. and of the country, Ios. 11. 2. 1 King. 15. 20. It is thought to be called in Chaldee, Ginnosar and Genesar, of Princely gardens which were in those parts. This sea had store of fishes, and from hence our Lord took his four first Apostles, fishers of Galilce, and made them fishers of men, by the preaching of his Gospel, Mat. 4. 18, 19, 20, 21. On this sea Christ walked, and allayed the waves thereof, Mark. 6. 45. 48. 51. 53. John 6. 16,—21. and here he appeared to his Disciples after his resurrection, at what time they took at one draught an hundred fifty and three great fishes, John 21. 1,—11.

Vers. 12. Jordan] in Hebrew Iarden; in Greek, and in the New Testament, Jordanes. It was the goodliest river of all Canaan, famous throughout the Scriptures. The waters of this river God did cut off, and made them stand upon an heap, (at that time when Jordan over-flowed all his banks) until his people Israel passed over it on dry ground into the land of Canaan, Ios. 3. 13,—17. Elijah and Elisha the Prophets divided also the waters thereof, and went over on dry ground, 2 King. 2. 8. 14. Naaman the Syrian washing seven times in it, by the word of the Prophet, was cleansed of his leprosy, 2 King. 5. 10. 14. In this river our Lord Jesus him-self, and the nation of the Jews were baptized, Mark 1. 5. 9. salt sea] or sea of salt: See verse. 3. The river Jordan ran all along by the land of Canaan on the East side, from the North end of the country to the South, beginning at the foot of mount Lebanon, (where it is said to spring out of two fountains, the one called Ior, and the other Dan,) and passed on to the lake of Merom, (by the waters whereof Joshua vanquished the Canaanites, Ios. 11. 4, 5, 7, 8.) and from thence it ran and emptied it self into the sea of Chinnereth forementioned: and from that sea it passed along, till it ended at the salt sea, here spoken of, where also the limits of the land began, in verse. 3. The promised land being thus enclosed and guarded with the main sea Westward, the inland seas and the river Jordan Eastward, and at each end North and South with mountains, fore-shown God's providence towards his people for their safe defense on every side. And so it is written, As the mountains are round about Jerusalem, so the LORD is round about his people, from henceforth even forever, Psal. 125. 2.

Vers. 14. sons of the Reubenites] Hebr. of the Reubenite, and after, of the Gadite; which the Greek and Chaldee translate, sons of Reuben, and of Gad. Of these two tribes receiving their inheritance, see Numb. 32.

Vers. 17. shall divide the land by inheritance unto you] or, shall inherit the land for you, that is, shall take possession of the land for you, and in your names, and after divide it unto you, as in verse. 29. See verse. 18. Eleazar the Priest, and Joshua] in Greek, Jesus. These were the two chief Princes, and both of them figures of Christ, who divideth to his people the inheritance of the kingdom of heaven: the one figuring him in his Priesthood, the other in his kingdom: for if Jesus (that is, Joshua) had given them rest, then would he not afterward have spoken of another day, Hebr. 4. 8. The Priest had an hand in parting the inheritance, to signify that it was an holy work, and a shadow of heavenly things. Also, that if difficulty did arise, he might ask counsel for Joshua, after the judgment of Vrim before Jehovah, Numb. 27. 21. And likewise for that the Priests and Levites, though they had no inheritance as the other tribes, yet had they cities and suburbs from among their brethren, Numb. 35. which also the Levites claimed of Eleazar the Priest, and of Joshua, and the other Princes, and had the cities and suburbs given them by lot before the Lord, Ios. 21. Thus also the truth of God's promise to Abraham was manifested; for he had said, that in the fourth generation they should return from their affliction and servitude into the land of Canaan, Gen. 15. 14, 15, 16. And so it came to pass, for Koath the son of Levi was one of them that went with Jacob into Egypt, Gen. 46. 11. 26. of Koath proceeded Amram, of him Aaron, and of him Eleazar, 1 Chron. 6. 1, 2, 3.

Vers. 18. one Prince, one Prince of a tribe] that is, of every tribe one Prince. See the like phrase in Numb. 13. 2. and 17. 6. Ios. 3. 12. and 4. 2. 4. to divide the land by inheritance] or, to inherit the land, as the Hebrew properly and usually signifieth; and this latter some of the Hebrews, as larchi and Kimchi, do retain, expounding it of the Princes, who instead of the people, and as their tutors and governors, first took the possession in the name of their tribes, and after distributed it unto them by their families. But the Chaldee here, and again in Ios. 19. 49. (where the like phrase is also used) both the Chaldee and Greek do there translate it, cause to inherit, or divide by inheritance; and so Moses explaineth it in verse. 29.

Vers. 19. Caleb] he was one of the Spies sent to view the land: of whom see Num. 13. 7, 31. and 14. 24. Ios. 14. 6. &c.

Vers. 20. Samuel] or Shemuel: the notation of which name, see in 1 Sam. 1. 20. The Greek calleth him Salamiel, by a mistaking from Num. 1. 6. Ammihud] in Greek, Semioud: so in Numb. 1. 10.

Vers. 21. Elidad] in Greek, Eldas the son of Chaslon.

Vers. 22. Bukki] in Greek, Bokk•r son of Iekli.

Vers. 23. Hanniel] in Greek, Aniel son of S••phid.

Vers. 24. Kemuel] in Greek, Kamouel son of [unspec] Saphtan.

Vers. 25. Parnach] or, Pharnach; in Greek, [unspec] Charnach.

Vers. 26. Paltiel] or, Phaltiel; in Greek, Phantiel [unspec] son of Oza.

Vers. 27. Ahihud] or, Achihud; in Greek, Achiod [unspec] son of Selemi.

Vers. 28. Pedahel] in Greek, Phadiel. Observe [unspec] here the order of the tribes, as they were named with their Princes; 1. Judah, 2. Si ⟨...⟩ 3. Benjamin, 4. Dan, 5. Manasseh, 6. Ephraim, 7. Zebulon, 8. Issachar, 9. Aser, 10. Naphtali. This order agreeth not with that in Numb. 1. nor with that in Numb. 7. nor in Numb. 26. nor any before set down; but is thus disposed by God's wisdom and providence before hand, as they did after inherit the land. Judah is first, having the first lot, and he dwelt in the South part of the land, Ios. 15. 1, &c. Simeon is next him, because his inheritance was within the inheritance of the sons of Judah, Ios. 19. 1. The next was Benjamin, who had his lot by Judah, between the sons of Judah and the sons of Joseph, Ios. 18. 11. The fourth was Dan, for his lot •ell by Benjamins westward, in the Philistines country, as is to be seen by his cities, in Ios. 19. 40, 41, &c. Then Manasseh, and by him Ephraim his brother, whose inheritances were behind Bejamins, as before is noted, Ios. 16. and 17. Next them dwelt Zebulon and Issachar, of whose lots see Ios. 19. 10. 17. Last of all dwelt Aser and Naphtali in the North parts of Canaan, of whose lots see Ios. 19. 24. 32, &c. And as when they encamped about God's Tabernacle, they were ordered according to their brotherhoods, as is noted on Numb. 2. so in the dividing and inheriting of the land we may see the like. For Judah and Simeon, both sons of Leah, dwelt abrest one by another. Benjamin of Rachel, and Dan of Rachel's maid, dwelt next abrest, Manasseh and Ephraim, both sons of Joseph, by his mother

Rachel, had the next place one by another. Zebulon and Issachar, who dwelt next together, were both sons of Leah. So the last pair were Aser of Leah's maid, and Naphtali of Rachel's maid. Thus God, in nominating the Princes that should divide the land, foresignified the manner of their possession, and that they should be seated to dwell as brethren together in unity, for the mutual help and comfort one of another, as is noted of the first two, Judah and Simeon, who joined together in war against the Canaanites, Judge. 1. 1, 2, 3.

Vers. 29. to divide the inheritance unto] or, to give the sons of Israel inheritance. According to this commandment, so was it fulfilled by Eleazar the Priest, and Joshua the son of Nun, and the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the sons of Israel, who divided the inheritance unto the people by lot, in Shiloh, before the LORD, at the door of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, Ios. 19. 51.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 The Lord commandeth Israel to give eight and forty cities for the Levites, with their suburbs and measure thereof. 6 Six of them are to be cities of refuge. 9 The laws of murder, when the man-slayer might have the benefit of the cities of refuge, and when he must be put to death. 31 No ransom might be taken for the murderer that was worthy of death.

AND Jehovah spake unto Moses, in the plains of Moab, by Jordan, near Jericho, saying; Command the sons of Israel that they give unto the Levites of the inheritance of their possession, cities to dwell in; and suburbs to the cities round about them, shall ye give unto the Levites.

And the cities shall be for them to dwell in, and the suburbs of them shall be for their cattle, and for their goods, and for all their beasts. And the suburbs of the cities which ye shall give unto the Levites, shall be from the wall of the city, and outward, a thousand cubits round about. And ye shall measure from without the city on the East-side two thousand cubits, and on the South-side two thousand cubits, and on the Sea-side two thousand cubits, and on the North-side two thousand cubits, and the city shall be in the midst; this shall be to them the suburbs of the cities. And the cities which ye shall give unto the Levites, shall be the six cities of refuge, which ye shall give, for the man-slayer to flee thither; and above them ye shall give forty and two cities. All the cities which ye shall give unto the Levites, shall be forty and eight cities, them and their suburbs. And the cities which ye shall give for the possession of the sons of Israel, from them that have many, ye shall give many; and from them that have few, ye shall give few; every man according to his inheritance which they inherit, he shall give of his cities unto the Levites.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying; [unspec 10]

Speak unto the sons of Israel, and say unto them; When ye be come over Jordan into the land of Canaan; Then ye shall appoint for you cities, cities of refuge shall they be for you, that the man-slayer may flee thither, which smiteth a soul by error. And the cities shall be unto you for refuge from the avenger, that the man-slayer die not until he stand before the Congregation for judgment. And the cities which ye shall give, the six cities of refuge shall be for you. Three cities ye shall give on this side Jordan, and three cities shall ye give in the land of Canaan, cities of refuge shall they be. For the sons of Israel, and for the stranger, and for the sojourner among them, shall these six cities be for a refuge; that everyone that smiteth a soul by error may flee thither. And if he smite him with an instrument of iron, and he die, he is a man-slayer; the man-slayer shall be surely put to death. And if he smite him with a stone of the hand, wherewith he may die, and he die, he is a man-slayer; the man-slayer shall be surely put to death. Or, if he smite him with an instrument of wood of the hand, wherewith he may die, and he die, he is a man-slayer; the man-slayer shall be surely put to death. The avēger of the blood, he shall put to death the man-slayer; when he meeteth him, he shall put him to death. And if he thrust him of hatred, or have cast upon him by laying of wait, and he die: Or in enmity smite him with his hand, and he die, the smiter shall be surely put to death, he is a man-slayer: the avenger of the blood shall put to death the man-slayer when he meeteth him. But if he thrust him suddenly, without enmity, or have cast upon him any instrument without laying of wait: Or with any stone, wherewith he may die, without seeing him; and he hath caused it to fall upon him, and he die, and he was not his enemy, nor a seeker of his evil.

Then the Congregation shall judge between the smiter and the avenger of the blood, according to these judgments. And the Congregation shall deliver the man-slayer out of the hand of the avenger of the blood, and the Congregation shall restore him unto the city of his refuge, whither he was fled; and he shall abide in it until the death of the great Priest, which was anointed with the oil of holiness. And if the man-slayer going shall go forth, out of the border of the city of his refuge, whither he was fled: And the avenger of the blood find him without the border of the city of his refuge, and the avenger of the blood shall slay the man-slayer, no blood shall be unto him.

Because he should have abidden in the city of his refuge, until the death of the great Priest; and after the death of the great Priest, the man-slayer shall return into the land of his possession. And these things shall be unto you for a statute of judgment, through-out your generations, in all your dwellings.

Everyone that smiteth a soul by the mouth of witnesses, the man-slayer shall be slain; but one witness shall not answer against a soul, to die. And ye shall take no ransom for the soul of the man-slayer, which is guilty of death, but he shall be surely put to death. Neither shall ye take ransom for him that is fled unto the city of his refuge, to return to dwell in the land, until the death of the Priest. And ye shall not pollute the land, wherein ye are, for blood, it polluteth the land; and for the land there shall be no expiation for the blood that is shed therein, but by the blood of him that shed it. And thou shalt not defile the land which ye inhabit in, within which I do dwell, for I Jehovah dwell among the sons of Israel.

Annotations.

THat they give] or, and let them give unto the Levites. The Lord having given order in Chap. 34. for dividing the land unto Israel, commandeth here a portion to be given out of all their possessions unto him, which he bestoweth on his Ministers the Levites, for a part of their livelihood. The equity of which law, both for honoring the Lord with our substance, Prov. 3.

9. and for maintaining his Ministers, Gal. 6. 6. is perpetual. Therefore speaking of the Church under the Gospel, according to these legal figures, he saith, When ye shall divide by lot the land for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation unto the LORD, an holy portion of the land, &c. The holy portion of the land shall be for the Priests, the Ministers of the Sanctuary, which shall come near to minister unto the LORD, &c. Ezek. 45. 1, 4, 5. and 48. 9, 10, 13. suburbs to the cities] or, as the Greek translatheth, the suburbs of the cities: which suburbs are called in Hebrew Migrash, that is, a place cast out, as lying without the walls of the city; in Chaldee, R•v•ch, that is, a Space; in Greek, Proásteia, as lying before the city; and in verse. 3. Aphorismata, as being separated from the city; and in verse. 5. homora, confines, or limits.

Vers. 3. their goods] or, their substance, their gathered goods: see the notes on Gen. 12. 5. it is a general word, and sometime implieth cattle also, as 2 Chron. 31. 3. and 32. 29. and 35. 7. beasts] in Hebrew Chajah, which is a general name for living things; but here translated in Greek fourfooted beasts. And from hence the Hebrews gather, that they gave the Levites a place of burial to every city, without these bounds (or suburbs:) for they buried not their dead in the suburbs of their cities, because it is said, AND FOR ALL THEIR LIVING THINGS; they gave it for the living, and not for burial. Maimonides Treat. of Release and Jubilee, chap. 13. sect. 3. That they used in Israel to bury their dead without the cities, appeareth by Luke 7. 11, 12.

Vers. 4. a thousand cubits] The Greek saith, two thousand cubits, as it is in the verse following, where the Lord speaketh of two thousand cubits: so the thousand cubits here mentioned, some think to be meant of holy measure, double so much as the common measure, and that the latter do expound the former. The Hebrews explain it thus; The suburbs of the cities are expressed in the Law to be three thousand cubits on every side, from the wall of the city, and outward, Num. 35. 4, 5. The first thousand are the suburbs, and the two thousand which they measured without the suburbs, were for fields and vineyards. Maim. Treat. of the Release and Jubilee, chap. 13. sect. 2.

Vers. 5. without the city] by the city, the Hebrews understand here the city with the suburbs, that is, the thousand cubits forementioned, which were for their cattle, and these two thousand moe for fields and vineyards, as is before noted. East side] or, East quarter; in Chaldee, East wind: See the notes on Numb. 34. 3. Sea side] that is, the West side, as the Chaldee saith, the West wind. Moses useth to call the West, the Sea, as is noted on Gen. 12. 8. So in Numb. 34. 6.

Vers. 6. of refuge] that city is called in Hebrew Miklat, of gathering, because the man-slayer was there gathered and detained; in Greek, Phugad•nterion, a place of flight and exile; in Chaldee, Shezabuth, of deliverance and preservation. The six cities appointed for refuge, were these; Bezer of the Reubenites country, Ramoth in Gilead of the Gadites, and Golan in Basan of the Manassites; these three Moses separated, Deut. 4. 41, 43. the other three appointed by Joshua, were Kedesh in Galilee in mount Naphtali, Shechem in mount Ephraim, and Kirjath-arba (which is Hebron) in the mount of Judah, Ios. 20. 7. the use of these is after shown. 42. cities] These with the six cities of refuge, are declared in Ios. 21. how they were given out of every tribe. Of the Kohathites, the Priests the sons of Aaron had thirteen cities, Ios. 21. 19. the residue of the Kohathites had ten cities, Ios. 21. 26. The Gershonites had thirteen cities, Ios. 21.

33. The Merarites had twelve cities, Ios. 21. 40. So all the cities of the Levites, within the possession of the somes of Israel, were forty and eight cities with their suburbs, Ios. 21. 41. Thus Jacob's prophesy of Levi was fulfilled, that he should be scattered in Israel, Gen. 49. 5, 7. But because of the Levites zeal for the Lord, the curse was turned into a blessing, (as is noted on Exod. 32. 29.) and they were teachers of the law 〈...〉 o the tribes of Israel, Deut. 33. 8, 10. Wherefore God gave them cities out of every tribe. How 〈◇〉 , whatsoever remained of these cities, besides the habitations of the Levites, and the suburbs •orementioned, as the fields of the cities, and their villages, continued under the dominion, and in the possession of the tribes, to whom they had been distributed before, as the example of Hebron given unto Caleb showeth, Ios. 14. 13, 14. and 21. 11, 12.

Vers. 8. ye shall give many] or, ye shall multiply [unspec] to give: so the tribes that had many cities, and 〈...〉 ge inheritances, gave the more cities. For 〈◇〉 of the tribes of the sons of Judah and of Si 〈◇〉 , were given nine cities, out of Benjamin four, out of Ephraim four, out of Dan four, out of the half tribe of Manasseh two, out of the other half 〈◇〉 of Manasseh two, out of Issachar four, out of Aser four, out of Naphtali three, out of Zebulon four, out of Reuben four, out of Gad four, Ios. 21. 9, 16, &c.

Vers. 11. shall appoint] or prepare, as the Chaldee explaineth it; in Greek, ye shall distinguish, (or distinctly separate;) elsewhere it is called separ 〈...〉 ng, Deut. 4. 41. and sanctifying, Ios. 20. 7. by error] or, ignorantly, unadvisedly, unawares: the Greek translath, unwillingly; this is opened in verse. 22, 23. and Deut. 19. 5. In •os. 20. 3. it is declared by two words, by error, (o•unawares,) and without knowledge, (or unwittingly.)

Vers. 12. the avenger] to wit, of the blood, as is expressed in verse. 19. and the Chaldee and Greek here add the same. Goel, here Englished an Avonger, elsewhere signifieth a Redeemer, but properly one of the same blood and kindred, as Ruth 2. 20. and 3. 9, 12. who if things were sold, was to redeem them, as Levite. 25. 25. if blood were shed, was to avenge it, as in this case. And so the Greek here & usually calleth him Agchiste•on, that is, one near of kin. Of this kinsman the avenger, it is said in v. 19. that he should put the murderer to death; see the notes there. before the congregation] When a man had done a murder, he fled to some city of refuge, the way being always prepared, that he might flee thither without hindrance, as is noted on Deut. 19. 3. Comming thither, at the entering of the gate, he shown his cause to the Elders of the city of refuge, who took him in till he was sent after, and fetched home to the city where he had done the murder, and there he stood before the congregation, Ios. 20. 4, 6. who if they found him worthy of death, they delivered him to the avenger, to kill him; if not, they returned him to his city of refuge, where he lived in a kind of exile and imprisonment, until the death of the high Priest, as after followeth. See Deut. 19. 12. Before the cities of refuge were appointed, the Altar was a place of refuge, as is probable by Exod. 21. 13, 14. And from that place the Hebrews gather that the Altar was a place of refuge. Maim. Treat. of Murder, chap. 5. sect. 12.

Vers. 14. Three cities] which were Bezer, Ramoth, and Golan, Deut. 4. 41, 43. and three cities] Kedesh, Shechem, and Hebron, Ios. 20. 7. And if the Lord enlarged their coast, and gave them all the land, they were to add three cities moe, Deut. 19. 8, 9.

Vers. 15. the stranger] in Greek, the proselyte, meaning him that was not an Israelite by nature, but by religion. the sojourner] that dwelt a stranger in the land of Israel, and yet not of their Church and religion, Deut. 14. 21. These all had benefit by the cities of refuge; but if an heathen by error killed an heathen, the cities of refuge received him not, saith Maim. Treat. of Murder, chap. 5. sect. 4. smiteth a soul] that is, killeth any person; so verse. 11.

Vers. 16. if he smite him] to wit, purposely, and presumptuously, as the punishment after showeth. surely put to death] or, put to die the death; Hebr. dying he shall be put to death; so in verse. 17, 18, 21.

Vers. 17. a stone of the hand, that is, thrown with the hand; the Greek translateth it, a stone out of the hand; the Chaldee, a stone that is taken in the hand. he may die] the Chaldee more fully explaineth it, which is enough for him to die therewith; so in verse. 18.

Vers. 18. wood of the hand] Greek, out of the hand; Chaldee, wood taken in the hand, which is sufficient for him to die thereby; as in verse. 17. These cautions are here added to discern of murders; the Hebrews explain them thus: He that smiteth his fellow presumptuously with a stone, or with wood, that he die, they measure the thing wherewith he smote him, and the place whereon he smote him to see if that thing were enough to kill him upon such a member (of his body) or not, as it is written, WITH A STONE OF THE HAND, &c. so that it be enough to kill him. They measure also the might of him that smote, &c. For iron instruments the Law gives no measure, Num. 35. 16. He is to die that killed him, though it were with a needle; and whatsoever is sharp like a needle, as bodkin, knife, or the like. He that smiteth his fellow without any instrument, and killeth him, as with his hand, or his foot, &c. they measure the strength of him that smote, and of him that was killed, and the place of the blow, &c. Maim. Treat. of Murder, chap. 3. sect. 1. &c.

Vers. 19. he shall put to death] or, he may put him to death, to wit, after he is adjudged to death by the Magistrate, verse. 12. If the avenger of blood will not, or if he be not able to kill him, or if he have no avenger of blood, then the Judges shall kill the murderer with the sword. Maim. Treat. of Murder, chap. 1. sect. 1. When he meeteth him] though it be within the cities of refuge, saith Rashi. But this is to be understood, after lawful judgment by the Magistrate; for the Elders of his city were to send and fetch him from the city of refuge, and deliver him into the hand of the avenger of blood, Deut. 19. 12. Wherefore the Chaldee, instead of meeteth him, saith, When he shall be condemned unto him by judgment: So in verse. 21.

Vers. 20. of hatred] which is inveterate anger, and inward grudge, differing from enmity or open hostility, spoken of in v. 21. He that hateth, dissembleth with his lips, and layeth up deceit within him, Prov. 26. 24. The Hebrews say, He that hateth, if he kill by error (or unadvisedly) he is not kept in (the city of) refuge, as it is said, And he was not his enemy, (Numb. 35. 23.) &c. And who is he that hateth? he that for enmities sake speaketh not unto him for three days (space.) Maim. Treat. of Murder, chap. 6. sect. 10. cast upon him] to wit, any instrument, as is expressed in verse. 22. and so the Greek explaineth it here. by laying of wait] with intent and purpose of evil, when occasion is offered: so Saul laid wait (or hunted) for David's soul, 1 Sam. 24. 11. the Jews for Christ, Luke 11. 54. and for Paul's life, Act. 23. 21.

Vers. 21. enmity] or hostility, ill will open and professed.

Vers. 22. suddenly] or, unawares, and as it were by chance.

Vers. 23. with any stone] that is, have smitten him with any stone, as in verse. 17. wherewith he may die] in Chaldee, which is sufficient that he may die therewith: See the notes on verse. 18.

Vers. 25. of the great Priest] a figure of Christ, called the great Priest over the house of God, Hebr. 10. 21. and the great High Priest that is passed into the heavens, Hebr. 4. 14. who is the Mediator of the New Testament, that by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions under the first Testament, they which are called might receive the promise of the eternal inheritance, Heb. 9. 15. As the high Priests, while they lived, by their service and sacrificing made atonement for the sins of the people, especially one day in the year, Levite. 16. wherein they figured the work of Christ for us: so at the high Priests death, by releasing such as were exiled for unwitting murder, there was a shadow of redemption in Israel.

Vers. 26. going shall go forth] that is, shall at any time, upon any occasion go forth. So he was not only exiled from his own city, but confined as a prisoner within the limits of the city of refuge. The Hebrews say, He might never go out of the city of his refuge, no not though it were for a thing commanded [as to worship at the solemn feasts, or the like] or for to bear witness, whether it were in money matters, or to testify in case of life and death, &c. Maim. Treat. of Murder, chap. 7. sect. 8.

Vers. 27. without the border] so not the city only, but the borders and limits of the territories thereof were his refuge. Every city of refuge, the borders thereof are a refuge as well as it, &c. and if (the avenger of blood) kill him there, he is to be killed for him. Notwithstanding though the border be a refuge, yet the man-slayer may not dwell in it; for it is said (in verse. 25.) AND HE SHALL ABIDE IN IT; in it (the city,) and not in the border of it. Maim. ibid. chap. 8. sect. 11. no blood shall be unto him] that is, the avenger shall have no blood imputed to him; or, as the Greek translateth it, he shall not be guilty, to wit, of blood-shed.

Vers. 28. into the land of his possession] into his own city or village, that part of the land which he possessed. It is holden by the Hebrews, that although by the high Priests death atonement was made for him, yet he never returned to the princely state (or dignity) that he had (in the city,) but was debased from his greatness all his days, because that great scandal came by his hand. Maimon. ibid. chap. 7. sect. 14. Moreover they say, A man-slayer upon whom sentence is past that he shall be exiled, if he die before he go into exile, they carry his bones thither. And a man-slayer that dieth in the city of his refuge, they bury him there; and when the high Priest dieth, they carry the man-slayers bones from thence unto the sepulchers of his fathers. Ibid. sect. 3.

Vers. 30. Everyone that smiteth a soul] that is, who so killeth a person, to wit, him that is a murderer. by the mouth] that is, by the testimony of witnesses, which after is explained of two witnesses, or three witnesses, Deut. 17. 6. and 19. 15. See the Annotations there. not answer] that is, not testify, as the Greek and Chaldee translate it, meaning, to have the sentence of death confirmed against him: See Deut. 19. 15. to die] that is, to cause him to die; or, that he should die: See the notes on Gen. 6. 19.

Vers. 31. the soul of the man-slayer] that is, the [unspec] life of the murderer, to redeem him from death. The Judges are warned that they take no ransom of the murderer, and though he could give all the wealth that is in the world, and though the avenger of blood should be willing to free him; for the soul of him that is killed, is not the possession of the avenger of blood, but the possession of the holy blessed (God.) Maimon. Treat. of Murder, ch. 1. sect. 4. guilty of death] Hebr. which is wicked, to die, that is, as the Greek and Chaldee explain it, guilty, or condemned to die. According to this phrase David saith, When he shall be judged, let him go forth wicked, (that is, condemned,) Psal. 109. 7.

Vers. 32. for him that is fled] Hebr. to flee; which is explained by Rashi and others, for him that is fled. in the land] in the land of his possession, as in verse. 28.

Vers. 33. polluteth] or impiously staineth, foully deformeth the land. This word which Moses here useth of murder, and the Prophets after apply unto spiritual whoredom or idolatry, Ierem. 3. 2, 9. and •dolatrous blood-shed, Psal. 106. 38. showeth the heinousness of this sin, that defileth not only him that doth it, but the whole land, if it be not avenged. Hereupon the Hebrews say, Thou hast not anything concerning which the Law giveth such a charge, as for shedding of blood; as it is said (in Numb. 35. 33.) And ye shall not pollute the land, &c. Maimonides Treat. of Murder, chap. 1. sect. 4. the blood of him that shed it] if it were willful murder; or by the death of the high Priest, if it were unwilling man-slaughter. Hereupon it is said, A man that doth violence to the blood of any person, shall fly to the pit, let no man stay him, Prov. 28. 17.

Vers. 34. I do dwell] the land of Israel was the LORD'S land, Hos. 9. 3. and by his dwelling there among his people, was sanctified, and called the holy land, Zach. 2. 12. and though he dwelt most specially in his Sanctuary there, which afterward was in Jerusalem, Psal. 74. 2. and 1 35. 21. yet the whole land was sanctified by his habitation therein, which was a reason why the people might not pollute it, either with blood, or with any other wickedness; for holiness becometh his house forever, Psal. 93. 5. And for this cause the unclean were to be put out of the campe of Israel, in the midst whereof God did dwell, Numb. 5. 3.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 The inconvenience of the inheritance of daughters is remedied by marrying in their own tribes, lest the inheritance should be removed from the tribe. 10 The daughters of Zelophehad obey the Lord's commandment, and marry their uncles sons.

AND the heads of the fathers of the family of the sons of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, of the families of the sons of Joseph, came near, and spake before Moses and before the Princes, the heads of the fathers of the sons of Israel. And they said, Jehovah commanded [unspec] my lord to give the land for an inheritance, by lot, to the sons of Israel: and my lord was commanded by Jehovah to give the inheritance of Zelophehad our brother unto his daughters. And if they become wives to any of the sons of the tribes of the sons of Israel, then shall their inheritance be taken away from the inheritance of our fathers, and shall be put to the inheritance of the tribe, unto whom they shall be; so it shall be taken away from the lot of our inheritance. And when the Jubilee of the sons of Israel shall be, then shall their inheritance be put unto the inheritance of the tribe, unto whom they shall be: so their inheritance shall be taken away from the inheritance of the tribe of our fathers.

And Moses commanded the sons of Israel according to the mouth of Jehovah, saying; The tribe of the sons of Joseph speak right. This is the thing which Jehovah doth command concerning the daughters of Zelophehad, saying; Let them become wives to whom it is good in their eyes, only to the family of the tribe of their father shall they become wives. And the inheritance of the sons of Israel shall not remove from tribe to tribe; for every man of the sons of Israel shall cleave to the inheritance of the tribe of his fathers. And every daughter that possesseth an inheritance of the tribes of the sons of Israel, shall be wife unto one of the family of the tribe of her father, that the sons of Israel may possess, every man the inheritance of his fathers. And the inheritance shall not remove from one tribe to another tribe, but every man of the tribes of the sons of Israel shall cleave to his inheritance.

Even as Jehovah commanded Moses, so did the daughters of Zelophehad. For Machlah, Tirzah, and Hoglah, and Milcah, and Noah, the daughters of Zelophehad, were wives unto their uncles sons. (To men) of the families of the sons of Manasseh, the son of Joseph, they became wives; and their inheritance was unto the tribe of the family of their father.

These are the commandments and the judgments which Jehovah commanded, by the hand of Moses, unto the sons of Israel, in the plains of Moab, by Jordan, near Jericho.

Annotations.

THE heads] in Greek, the Princes, that is, the chief fathers. God having designed the limits of the holy land which Israel should inherit, in Numb. 34. and appointed his own portion out of the same, to be given unto the Priests and Levites, Numb. 35. doth now conclude his laws with an ordinance for the settled continuing of the inheritances unto the tribes, as they should at first be allotted unto them. The occasion of this ordinance is a complaint made by some of the Manassites, concerning Zelophehads daughters, if they should be married to men of other tribes. Gilead] in Greek, Galaad, of whom see Numb. 27. 1.

Vers. 2. my lord] meaning Moses, for to him was the commandment given, Numb. 26. 52, 53. &c. and 27. 6, 7. And by this title they give honor unto Moses, and show their obedience; as the Scripture noteth by the like title given unto others, 1 Pet. 3. 6. Matth. 22. 44, 45. Zelophehad] in Greek, Salpaad: See Numb. 27. 1, &c.

Vers. 3. of the tribes] of any of the other tribes, beside their own. be taken away] or, be diminished; contrary to adding or putting to, after mentioned: so the inheritances of this, and of other tribes by like accidents might in time be changed, disturbed, and come to confusion, contrary to the order before set of God.

Vers. 4. the Jubilee shall be] which was every fiftieth year, in which the inheritances that were alienated to others, were by the law given in Lev. 25. to return unto the first owners; which ordinance also should by such marriages be disannulled.

Vers. 5. the mouth] that is, the word of the Lord, as the Chaldee translatheth; in Greek, by the commandment of the Lord. So the answer which Moses gave, was not of himself, but by advice from God: See Numb. 27. 5.

Vers. 6. good in their eyes] that is, pleaseth them: Daughters are not to be forced to marry with such as they like not: See Gen. 24. 57, 58. to the family] to some of the family, or, in the family: See verse. 12.

Vers. 7. shall cleave to the inheritance] keeping himself thereto, and (for the better performance hereof) marrying within his tribe. For this word cleave, is often used in case of marriage, Gen. 2. 24. Dan. 2. 43. Thus God provideth that the order which he should set for the inheritāces in his land, to be divided by lot, might continue throughout all generations; by which means strife also might be cut off, and peace preserved among his people.

Vers. 8. that possesseth an inheritance] or, that is heir of a possession; by reason that her father had no son to inherit, as in this case of Zelophehad. So here is no restraint of other women, save such as had inheritance. The Priests also and Levites, (which might have no inheritance with Israel, Deut. 18. 1.) had liberty to marry with the women of any tribe; as Iehojada the Priest had to wife the Kings daughter of Judah, 2 Chron. 22. 11. another took a wife of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite, Ezra 2. 61. and the like. By reason of such marriages there might be kindred between Elizabeth the mother of John the Baptist, who was of the daughters of Aaron, and Mary the Virgin, the mother of our Lord Christ, who was of the lineage of David, of the tribe of Judah, Luke 1. 5. 36. and 3. 23,—31.

Vers. 11. For Machalh] Hebr. And Machlah, &c. Of these daughters see Numb. 27. 1. their uncles sons] the sons of their fathers brethren. Compare Levite. 18. 12, 13, 14.

Vers. 12. was unto the tribe] that is, remained unto (or in) the tribe. So Daniel was (that is, continued) even unto the first year of King Cyrus, Dan. 1. 21. and, they were (that is, continued) there, Ruth 1. 2. and sundry the like. By this example and observation of the Law for inheritances in the holy land, the people of God are taught to hold fast their inheritance in his promises, and right in Christ, which they enjoy by faith; that as the Father hath made them meet to be partakers of the inheritance of the Saints in light, Coloss. 1. 12. so they may keep the faith and grace which they have obtained, unto the end, 1 King. 21. 3. Ezek. 46. 18. Jude verse. 3. Hebr. 6. 12.

ESAY 65. 9.

I Will bring forth out of Jakob a seed, and out of Judah an inheritor of my mountains, and mine elect shall inherit it, and my servants shall dwell there.

EZEK. 20. 35, 36, 37.

I will bring you into the wilderness of people's, and there will I plead with you face to face, like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so will I plead with you, saith the Lord God. And I will cause you to pass under the rod, and I will bring you into the bond of the Covenant, &c.

HEBR. 9. 15.

Christ, he is the Mediator of the New Covenant, that by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions that were under the first Covenant, they which are called, might receive the promise of the eternal inheritance.

THE FIFTH BOOKE OF MOSES, CALLED DEVTERONOMIE.

CHAPTER I.

1 Moses speech in the end of the fortieth year, briefly rehearsing the Story. 6 Of God's promise and offer to give Israel the Land of Canaan. 9 Of Officers given them. 19 Of Spies sent to search the Land. 34 Of God's anger for Israel's incredulity, 41 and disobedience.

These be the words which Moses spake unto all Israel on this side Jordan, in the wilderness, in the plain, over against the red Sea, between Pharan and Tophel, and Laban, and Hazeroth, and Dizahab. Eleven days journey from Horeb, by the way of mount Seir unto Kadesh-Barnea. And it was in the fortieth year, in the eleventh month, in the first day of the month, Moses spake unto the sons of Israel, according unto all that Jehovah had commanded him, unto them. After he had smitten Sihon King of the Amorites, which dwelt in Heshbon, and Og king of Bashan, which dwelt in Ashtaroth, in Edrei. On this side Jordan, in the Land of Moab, began Moses to declare this Law, saying; Jehovah our God spake unto us in Horeb saying, Ye have dwelt long enough in this mountain. Turn you and take your journey, and go to the mount of the Amorite, and unto all his neighbors, in the plain, in the mountain, and in the vale, and in the south, and by the Sea side: to the land of the Canaanite, and Lebanon, unto the great River, the river Euphrates. Behold, I have given the land before you, go in and possess the land which Jehovah sware unto your fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, to give unto them, and to their seed after them.

And I spake unto you at that time, saying, I am not able myself alone to bear you. Jehovah your God hath multiplied you: and behold you are this day, as the Stars of the heavens for multitude. Jehovah, God of your fathers, add unto you a thousand times so many as you are, and bless you as he hath spoken unto you. How shall I bear myself alone, your cumbrance, and your burden, and your strife? Give ye for you wise men, and understanding, and known among your tribes, and I will appoint them for to be your heads. And ye answered me and said, The word which thou hast spoken is good to do. And I took the heads of your tribes, wise men and known, and gave them to be heads over you; rulers of thousands, and rulers of hundreds, and rulers of fifties, and rulers of tens, and officers among your tribes. And I commanded your Judges at that time, saying, Hear between your brethren, and judge justice between a man and his brother, and his stranger. Ye shall not respect persons in judgment; you shall hear alike, the small and the great; you shall not be afraid of the face of man, for the judgment, that is God's: and the cause which shall be too hard for you, bring it unto me, and I will hear it.

And I commanded you at that time, all the things which ye should do.

And we journeyed from Horeb, and went thorough all that great and fearful wilderness which you have seen, by the way of the mountain of the Amorites, as Jehovah our God commanded us; and we came unto Kadesh Barnea. And I said unto you, Ye are come unto the mountain of the Amorites, which Jehovah our God giveth unto us. Behold, Jehovah thy God hath given the land before thee, go up, possess it, as Jehovah the God of thy Fathers hath spoken unto thee; fear not, neither be discouraged.

And ye came near unto me, all of you, and said, We will send men before us, and they shall search out for us the land, and shall bring us word again, by what way we shall go up, and into what Cities we shall come.

And the word was good in mine eyes, and I took of you twelve men, one man of a tribe.

And they turned & went up into the mountain, and came unto the valley of Eshcol: and they searched it out. And they took in their hand of the fruit of the land, and brought it down unto us, and brought us word again and said, It is a good land which Jehovah our God giveth us. But ye would not go up, but rebelled against the mouth of Jehovah your God. And murmured in your Tents, and said, In the hatred of Jehovah towards us, he hath brought us forth out of the land of Egypt, to give us into the hand of the Amorite to destroy us. Whither go we up? Our brethren have caused our heart to melt, saying, The people is greater and taller than we; the Cities are great and walled up to heaven: and moreover we have seen the sons of the Anakims there.

And I said unto you, Bee not terrified, neither be afraid of them. Jehovah your God, that goeth before you, he will fight for you, according to all that he did for you in Egypt, before your eyes; And in the wilderness, which thou hast seen, how that Jehovah thy God bare thee, as a man doth bear his son, in all the way that ye went, until ye came unto this place. Yet in this thing you did not believe in Jehovah your God.

Who went before you in the way, to search you out a place to pitch your tents in: in fire by night, to show you by what way ye should go; and in a cloud by day. And Jehovah heard the voice of your words, and was wroth, and sware, saying, If there shall a man see, of these men, of this evil generation, the good land which I sware to give unto your fathers. Except Caleb, the son of Iephunneh, he shall see it, and to him will I give the land that he hath trodden upon, and to his sons, because he hath fully followed Jehovah. Also Jehovah was angry with me for your sakes, saying, Thou also shalt not go in thither. Joshua the son of Nun, which standeth before thee, he shall go in thither; strengthen thou him, for he shall cause Israel to inherit it. And your little ones, which you said should be for a prey, and your sons which know not this day good and evil, they shall go in thither, and unto them will I give it, and they shall possess it.

But as for you, turn ye, and take your journey into the wilderness, by the way of the red sea. And ye answered and said unto me, we have sinned against Jehovah: we will go up and fight, according to all that Jehovah our God hath commanded us: and ye girded on every man his weapons of war, and pressed forward to go up into the mountain. And Jehovah said unto me, Say unto them, Go not up, neither fight, for I am not among you, that ye be not smitten before your enemies. And I spake unto you, and you heard not, but rebelled against the mouth of Jehovah, and you were presumptuous, and went up into the mountain. And the Amorite that dwelleth in that mountain, came out against you; and they pursued you as Bees do, and destroyed you in Seir, even unto Hormah. And ye returned and wept before Jehovah: but Jehovah heard not your voice, neither gave ear unto you. And ye abode in Kadesh many days, according to the days that ye abode there.

Annotations.

Deuteronomie:] A Greek word, by interpretation, The repetition, (or second declaration) of the Law. This name is borrowed from Deut. 17. 18. where Mishneh hatorah, the Copy of the Law, is in Greek translated Deuteronomion, which title is given to the whole book, as that which containeth a repetition and explanation of the Laws before given, as v. 5. The Ebrews call this book by the first words thereof, ELLEH HADBARIM, THESE be THE WORDS. And here beginneth the 44 Section, or Lecture of the Law: see the notes on Gen. 6. 9.

Vers. 1. On this side] or, on the out side; that is, beyond Jordan, as the Greek translateth. The word signifieth both sides, and by circumstance of place is to be understood. To those out of the land of Canaan, it was on this side: to the Israelites in Canaan, it was beyond, or the outside of Jordan, where Moses spake these things: For Moses might not enter into the land. Here Targum Yerushalmi (whom Onkelos the Chaldee Paraphrast also followeth) explaineth it thus: These be the words which Moses spake unto all Israel; he rebuked them, for that they had sinned on this side Jordan, &c. Hereupon the Rabbins call this book, Sepher Thocbechoth, that is, the book of Rebukes. Jordan] Hebr. Iarden: a River springing out of mount Lebanon, in the north end of Canaan, running along the Country. Of it, and the mystery thereof, see Num. 34. 12. Joshua 3. the plain] to wit, of Moabs land, as verse 5. see Num. 22. 1. There Moses spake these things and died, Deut. 34. 5. The Chaldee saith, Moses rebuked them, because they had provoked God in the plain. the red sea] so both Greek and Chaldee do translate it, adding the word sea: others keep the Hebrew name Suph, which signifieth flags, such as grow by the sea and rivers sides, Exod. 2. 3. and so expound it, not of the Sea Suph (called the Red Sea) but of a flaggie place by the sides of Jordan inwards the wilderness of Arabia. So in Num. 21. 14. Pharan] or Paran, a wilderness south-ward from the place where Moses now was, thorough which Israel had passed, Num. 13. 1. in it was a mountain so named, Deut. 33. 2. The Chaldee here addeth, in Pharan, where they mur 〈...〉 against the Manna. Tophel] this is thought to be atowne, called afterwards Pella, which was northward from where Moses now spake. Laban in Greek, Lobon; of others, Lybias; a City lying from them northwest. Hazeroth] by interpretation, Court-yards, and so the Greek expounds it: a place lying eastward. Of Hazeroth we read also in Numb. 11. 35. and 13. 1. Unto it the Chaldee here referreth it, saying, In Hazereth where they provoked God for flesh. Diza 〈...〉 a region, wherein was the City Mezahab, as some suppose. Zahab signifies gold; and so the Greek here translateth, by the Gold-mines. The Chaldee refers it to the golden Calf which they made. All these are limits of the place where Moses gave this Deuteronomy, which was without the holy Land, and river Jordan (wherein 〈...〉 tisme was administered, Matth. 3.) environed with places, which in name and situation, signified 〈ϕ〉 ; and teach us the use of this Law, which is in afflict the soul by showing it sin, and to pre 〈...〉 for Christ, who by faith bringeth us to 〈ϖ〉 in the heavenly Canaan, Hebr. 4. 1, 2, 3. &c.

Verse. 2. Eleven days journey] so the Chaldee expounds it, adding also the word journey. Some of the Hebrews think, that in eleven days, all things in this Book of Deuteronomy were by Moses rehearsed. Neither could it be any long time seeing Moses began the first day of the eleventh 〈ϕ〉 ▪ ver. 3. and having ended all things in this book, died and was mourned for thirty days, Deut. 34. 8. Then Joshua sendeth spies to view the land, Ios. 2. leadeth the people thorough Jordan, Ios. 3. circumciseth them, and after keepeth the Passover the foureteenth day of the first month, Ios. 5. Horeb] called also Sinai, the mount where the law was given; see Exod. 3. 1. mount Seir] the mountainy country of Seir, wherein the Edomites dwelt, Gen. 36. 8, 9. Kadesh barnea] the southern border of the land of Canaan, Num. 34. 4. Though the way was so short, yet Israel for their sins wandered forty years in the wilderness, as God had threatened, Num. 14. 33, 34. in which time all the fathers died.

Verse 3. Fortieth year] of Israel's coming out of Egypt. In the first month of this year, Marie, Moses sister, died, Num. 20. 1. in the first day of the fifth month thereof, Aaron his brother died, Num. 33. 38. and now at the end of the year, Moses himself dieth, when he had repeated the Law, and renewed the Covenant between God and his people Israel.

Vers. 4. Sihon] the story hereof see in Num. 21. and after in Deut. 2. 26. &c. The slaughter of Sihon and Og, was an encouragement to Israel, for their after wars; and an argument to move them unto thankful obedience to the Law now repeated. in Astaroth, in Edrei] he dwelt in Astaroth, and was smitten in Edrei, where the battle was fought, Num. 21. 33. or as the Greek translateth it, he dwelt in Astaroth and in Edrei; for they were both Cities in Og's land, Ios. 13. 31. and Og is said to have reigned in Astaroth, and Edrei, Ios. 13. 12. In Gen. 14. 5. it is called Asteroth Karnaim.

Verse 5. began] or, willingly took upon him: for the word implieth willingness and contentedness: see Gen. 18. 27. So all Ministers should feed their flocks willingly, and of a ready mind, 1 Pet. 5. 2. And Moses began to declare, that is, he declared as Jesus began to say unto his Disciples, Luk. 12. 1. that is, he said unto them, Mat. 16. 6. and his disciples began to pluck the ears of corn, Mat. 12. 1. that is, they plucked, Luk. 6. 1. to declare] or, to make plain, clearly manifest, to the understanding of the people, as in Habak. 2. 2. a thing is said to be made plain in writing, that he may run that readeth it.

Verse 6. dwelt] or sitten (that is, continued) much. They came to that mount, in the third month after their departure out of Egypt, Exod. 19. 1, 2. and removed frō the mount, the 20 of the second month in the second yere, Num. 10. 11, 12. so they remained there almost a whole year, where they received the Law, or Old Testament, and had made a Tabernacle for God to dwell among them: from thence God calleth them by word and sign, the cloud removing, Num. 10. 11. 13. 33. to journey towards Canaan, the land promised to Abraham, the figure of their heavenly inheritance by faith in Christ. The law is not for men to continue under, but for a time, till they be fitted and brought unto Christ: see Gal. 3. 16, 17, 18. and 4. 1.—5. Heb. 3. 18, 19. and 4. 6.—11.

Verse 7. Amorite] put for Amorites, as the Greek translateth, whose neighbors were the Canaanites, Pherezites, and other Nations promised to be their possession, Exod. 23. 23, 28, 31. side] or, sea Port, which was their western border, Num. 34. 6. Lebanon] which was a mount on the north part of the Land. Euphrates] in Hebrew, Phrath; which was their eastern bound, in the utmost extent without Jordan. And so far Solomon reigned, 1 King. 4. 21. Of this Euphrates, see the notes on Gen. 2. 14.

Vers. 8. I have given] or, I give: which implieth both Israel's right unto that land, Levite. 25. 23. Judge. 11. 23, 24. and their assured victory over the inhabitants, Exod. 23. 27—31. Both these proceeding from the gracious gift of God: as eternal life (shadowed by this land) is also the gift of God through Jesus Christ our Lord, Rom. 6. 23. Seed] that is, children, or posterity: see the notes on Gen. 13. 15.

Vers. 9. I said] Moses was occasioned unto this motion, not only by the conscience of his own inability (here mentioned,) but by the counsel of Jethro, and commandment of the Lord, Exod. 18. 14, 18, 19, 21, 23. Thus the people were furnished with all helps, for their orderly and peaceable travels.

Vers. 10. As the Stars] so the promise was fulfilled which Abraham believed, Gen. 15. 5, 6. They were six hundred thousand men, besides women and children, Exod. 12. 37. Numb. 1. see also Deut. 10. 22.

Vers. 11. Add] that is, increase: Moses envied not their multitude, but wished them still more; as David also did, Psal. 115. 14. And the increase of the Church is a special blessing, fulfilled in Christ, as Isaiah 49. 20, 21. and 54. 1, 2, 3.

Vers. 12. Your cumbrance] or, wearisome molestation; trouble, as Isaiah 1. 14. this showeth the Magistrates office to be weighty and laborious. And by your cumbrance, understand, the cumbrance that cometh unto me by you. For when a people is increased, the care and trouble of their Governors is increased also, 1 King. 3, 8, 9. 2 Cor. 11. 28.

Vers. 13. Give ye] of your own looking out, and choice. So Ministers were looked out, and presented by the people, Act. 1. 15, 23. and 6. 3, 5, 6. In Ex. 18. 25. it is said, Moses chose men of ability, &c. Here the people gave them: and after in v. 15. Again, Moses gave, that is, made them heads: for when things are done by many, under the government of one principal, they are said to be done by them, or by him. See the Annotations on Num. 21. 21. understanding] or prudent: the Greek translath, skillful, or endued with knowledge; which word the Apostle useth, I am. 3. 13. known] or expert, as the word signifieth in Isaiah 53. 3. This latter the Greek favoereth here, and in v. 15. Compare Exod. 18. 21. where the qualities of Rulers are set down. Hends] that is, Captains, Governors, or Leaders, as the Greek here translath; and in v. 15. and c. 5. v. 23. and often elsewhere.

Vers. 15. and gave them] that is, set them, made them, or constituted them, as the Greek and Chaldee versions explain it. So, he hath given thee over them for king, 2 Chron. 9. 8. is expounded, he hath set (or constituted) thee King, 1 King. 10. 9. Officers] in Hebrew, Shotrim: they were such as executed the Magistrates laws, as the Hebrews think: see the notes on Deut. 16. 18. among] or, to your Tribes. The Greek translath it, to your Judges: which seemeth to be a mistaking, Shophte for Shibte: although even in the Hebrew text we may see one of these put for another, as Judges in 1 Chron. 17. 6. which in 2 Sam. 7. 7. is Tribes.

Verse 16. Hear between your brethren] to wit, the causes and controversies between them. Hebr. To hear, which phrase is often used in commandments, as is noted on Exod. 13. 3. and it may be a defective speech; for hearing, hear ye; that is, hear diligently. judge justice] that is, just and righteous judgment: which is opposed unto judging according to the appearance, John. 7. 24. his stranger] that is, the stranger that is with him, or contendeth with him: as, he that eateth my bread, Psal. 41. 10. that is, which eateth bread with me, John. 13. 18.

Verse 17. respect persons] or, acknowledge faces, either by honoring the person of the mighty, or by countenancing a poor man in his cause, Levite. 19. 15. Exod. 23. 3. Solomon noteth this as one of the things belonging to the wise, that it is not good to acknowledge faces (or respect persons) in judgment, Prov. 24. 23. alike the small, &c.] that is, the small as well as the great, and the great as well as the small. Hebr. like small, like great. It implieth both persons, and causes. of man] or, of any man. that is God's] or, of God, and belonging to him: appointed by his Law. So in 2 Chron. 19. 6. Ye judge not for man, but for the LORD. And a like phrase is in another case, The battle is not yours, but God's, 2 Chron. 20. 15. the cause] or, the word, the matter. See Exod. 18. 22.

Verse 18. all the things] Hebr. all the words. Thus Moses faithfully taught the Judges and people all their duties, and they had a perfect law. So Christ, (who was faithful to him that appointed him, as Moses was, Heb. 3. 2.) made known to his Disciples, all things that he had heard of his father, John. 15. 15. which they should teach also his people to observe, Mat. 28. 20.

Verse 19. journeyed] or departed. Here Moses showeth the obedience which they began to show unto God, in leaving the mount of God, the place which might seem sanctified, and where men might have said, Lord, it is good for us to be here: as Mat. 17. 4. great] for it bordered upon many countries, Madian, Edom, Moab, &c. and fearful, for the many troubles and terrors in it. Num. 11. 1. &c. it was a land of deserts and of pits, a land of drought and of the shadow of death, a land that no man passed thorough, and where no man dwelt, Ier. 2. 6. wherein were fiery serpents and scorpions, Deut. 8. 15. It was the wilderness of Pharan, Num. 10. 12. and 13. 1. where Ishmael dwelt, when his mother Agar and he had lost themselves in wandering, after that they were cast out of Abraham's house, Gen. 21. 21. It figured the estate and dominion of the law, thorough which God's people pass with many wants, sins, terrors, and stings of conscience, &c. Compare Psal. 63. 2. and 32. 4. and 107. 4, 5. and the healing of all these spiritual defects by the Gospel, Esa. 40. 3, 4. Mark. 16. 18. of the mount] that is, which leadeth to the mount of the Amorites; a people high as Cedars, strong as Oakes, Amos 2. 9, 10. Kadesh Barnea] called sometime Kadesh only; it was in the wilderness of Pharan, Num. 13. 26.

Verse. 21. discouraged] or, cast down, broken: which word, when it is applied to the mind, signifieth discouragement through fear. Here Moses shown them the right that they had in the promises of God; the ability which they had in him to obtain them; and his commandment to take their inheritance set before them.

Verse 23. was good] that is, pleased, or liked me well: because it was approved, or at least permitted of the Lord, Num. 13. 2, 3. For prudent policy (so it be not mixed with unbelief) doth well beseem us, in the execution of God's commandments. So Joshua sendeth spies and useth other stratagems, Ios. 2. &c. one man of a tribe] or, for a tribe, of every tribe one: See Num. 13. 2, 4. &c. where their names are set down, and the charge given them.

Verse 24. Eshcol] that is, the Cluster of grapes, whereof the place had the name, Num. 13. 25.

Verse 25. the fruit] as grapes, pomegranates, figs, Num. 13. 23. a good land] flowing with milk 〈...〉 ney, Num. 13. 27.

Verse 26. rebelled] in Greek, disobeyed: properly it signifieth turned, or changed, as in Ezek. 5. 6. which figuratively is used for rebellion or disobedience, whereby God's word is as it were changed and disannulled. the mouth] that is, the word, as the Greek translatheth. So Exod. 17. 1. Gen. 24. 〈in non-Latin alphabet〉 and after here in verse. 43. Of their rebellion, see Num. 14. 2, 3, &c.

Verse 27. In the hatred] or, for the hatred of Ie 〈...〉 (wherewith he hateth) us: that is, for that the Lord hateth us; as in the Greek version. See 〈...〉 phrase in Gen. 19. 16. and 29. 20. Hos. 3. 〈...〉 evil saying Moses would not have to come 〈◇〉 of the mouth of their enemies, Deut. 9. 28. and it showeth the height of their sin, which impoed that to hatred, wherein God manifested his 〈◇〉 Deut. 4. 37. and 7. 8.

Vers. 28. to melt] that is, discouraged, or (as the Chaldee translatheth it) broken. The Greek saith, Have turned away our heart. David amplifieth this 〈...〉 litude, in Psal. 22. 15. My heart is as wax, it 〈...〉 ten &c. So Ios. 2. 11. and 7. 5. and 14. 8. Es• 19. 1. These brethren were ten of the twelve Spies sent to view the Land, Num. 13. 28. &c. 〈...〉 kims] in Greek and Chaldee, Giants: see N• 13. 28. 33. where it is singular Anak.

Vers. 30. He] the Chaldee paraphraseth, his  $\langle\phi\rangle$  will fight for you.

Verse 31. bare thee] this word meaneth not bearing of the body only, but bearing of their infirmities, and suffering the evils and troubles in the education of them, as a father doth in his children: which the Greek explaineth by etrophophrese, a word that Paul useth in Act. 13. 18. where the Syriac expoundeth it nourished: or, as some copies have it, etropophorese, he suffered their manners.

Verse 32. yet in this thing] or, for this word: notwithstanding this exhortation and encouragement, you believed not. in Jehovah] Chaldee. in the word of the LORD. This unbelief Paul noteth to be the cause why they entered not into the Lord's rest, Heb. 3. 1, 2. 18. 19.

Verse 33. Who went] namely, by his Ark, Fire, and Cloud, the signs of his presence, Numb. 10. 33. 34. or, who goeth, to wit, still before you.

Verse. 35. If there shall] that is, surely there shall not: as Paul openeth the phrase, Heb. 3. 11. 18. Though Moses entreated for the people, Num. 14. 13.—19. and the Lord pardoned them, that they were not then destroyed, Num. 14. 20. yet he sware (and so it was irrevocable, and without repentance, Psal. 110. 4.) that they should not come into the promised land: See the notes on Num. 14. see] that is, come into and enjoy: as to see good, is to enjoy the same, Psal. 106. 5.

Verse 36. Caleb] one of the twelve Spies who was faithful: see Num. 13. 6. 30. and 14. 6. &c. fully followed] Hebr. fulfilled after Jehovah; which the Greek translatheth, followed the things pertaining to the Lord. This he did, being guided by another spirit, Num. 14. 24.

Verse 37. with me] with Aaron also; for they both were in one transgression and punishment, Num. 20. 10, 12, 24. for your sakes] for the people provoked his spirit, whereupon he uttered his sin with his lips, Psal. 106. 32, 33. his sin proceeded also from unbelief: see Num. 20. 12. Thus God shown severity towards all, after many provocations: and by it the people were taught, that not Moses Law, but Jesus Gospel should bring them into their heavenly rest.

Vers. 38. Joshua] or, Iehoshuah; in Greek, Jesus: he was another of the Spies; see Num. 13. 8. 16. and 14. 6. 38. standeth] that is, ministereth, or, is thy servant, as the phrase meaneth, Gen. 18. 8. and so he is named Moses minister, Ios. 1. 1. strengthen] by word and sign, which was imposition of hands, whereby Moses put off his honor upon Jesus, and he was filled with the Spirit, Num. 27. 18. 20. 23. Deut. 34. 9.

Verse 39. for a prey] to be spoiled and devoured of the enemy: of this their speech see Num. 14. 3. they shall go in] after forty years wandering in the wilderness, and bearing their fathers whoredoms: see Num. 14. 31. 33. So God showeth grace to weaklings and babes in Christ, 1 Cor. 1. 28. Mat. 11. 25.

Verse 40. way of] that is, which leadeth towards the red sea, where Israel had been baptized, Exod. 14. and whither they were now led again, to learn repentance and a new life. See Num. 14. 25.

Vers. 41. sinned] The people mourned greatly, when they heard that evil tidings from the Lord; confessed their sin, and offered amendment, Num. 14. 39, 40. but their repentance was not according to God; (for presently they rushed into another extremity;) neither could they reverse the decree passed against them. his weapons of war] or, the weapons of his war, which is an Hebrew phrase very common, translated in Greek, his weapons of War: so in Dan. 9. 24. city of thy holiness, that is, thy holy city; and the house of my prayer, Isaiah 56. 7. that is, my house of prayer; and many the like. pressed forward] assayed of your own accord, or thronged; as the Greek translateth, gathered together; the Chaldee, ye began. The Hebrew word is used here only: in Num. 14. 44. there is said, they loftily presumed, or lifted up themselves; answerable to their presumption here following.

Vers. 42. I am not] the Chaldee expoundeth it, my majesty (or presence) dwelleth not among you: see Num. 14. 42. smitten] in Greek, broken, or crushed. The Lord threatened their fall by the sword of the Amalekites and Canaanites, Num. 14. 43.

Verse 43. were presumptuous] or, were proud, arrogant: compare Num. 14. 44. The people having by their evil heart and unfaithful, departed from the living God, would return to him by the works of their own hands; w<sup>ch</sup> was a presumptuous sin, and shown their repentance not to be sincere, but that the flesh repined and struggled against the chastisements of God, not willing to bear the punishment of their iniquity. See the notes on Num. 14.

Verse 44. Amorite] with the Amalekites: See Numb. 14. 45. Bees do] or, Bees use to do: which when they are angered, get them together, and fly on the faces of their provokers: see Psal. 118. 12. Our sins are enemies, like Bees, many compact in the hive of the heart: being troubled and provoked, they become more eager and fierce, sting and pursue us. They cannot be subdued but by faith in Christ, (as they that were stung of Serpents were healed by him, Num. 21.) for, by the works of the Law, no sin can be expelled, Rom. 7. 7, 8. &c. Hormah] the Greek saith, from Seir unto Herma: see Num. 14. 45.

Verse 45. returned] the Greek saith, ye sate down and wept. heard not] Chaldee, accepted not your prayer. This figured, how Israel following the Law of justice, could not attain unto it, because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the works of the Law, Rom. 9. 31, 32.

Verse 46. Kadesh] a large wilderness, where Israel abode long, as appeareth by Num. 13. 27. and 20. 1. 14, 21. Judge. 11. 17. Deut. 2. 14.

CHAP. II.

1. The story is continued, that the Israelites were not suffered to meddle with the Edomites, 9. nor with the Moabites. 19. nor with the Ammonites; 24. but with Sihon the Amorite; who refusing peace, and opposing himself, 33. was subdued by them.

AND we turned and took our journey into the wilderness, by the way of the Red sea, as Jehovah had spoken unto me: and we compassed mount Seir, many days. And Jehovah spake unto me, saying, Ye have compassed this mountain, long enough: turn you northward. And command thou the people, saying, Ye are to pass thorough the coast of your brethren, the sons of Esau, which dwell in Seir: and they shall be afraid of you; and take ye great heed unto yourselves. Meddle not with them, for I will not give you of their land, even to the treading of the sole of the foot, because I have given mount Seir, for a possession unto Esau. Ye shall buy meat of them for money, that ye may eat: and ye shall also buy water of them for money, that ye may drink. For Jehovah thy God hath blessed thee in every work of thy hand; he knoweth thy walking thorough this great wilderness: these forty years Jehovah thy God hath been with thee, thou hast not lacked any thing. And we passed by from our brethren the sons of Esau, that dwelt in Seir, thorough the way of the plain, from Elath, and from Ezion-Gaber: And we turned and passed by, by the way of the wilderness of Moab. And Jehovah said unto me, Distress not Moab, neither meddle thou with them in battle: for I will not give thee of his land, for a possession; because I have given Ar unto the sons of Lot for a possession. The Emims before time dwelt therein, a people great & many, & tall as the Anakims. They also were accounted Giants, as the Anakims: and the Moabites call them Emims. And in Seir the Horims dwelt, before time; and the sons of Esau possessed them, and destroyed them from before them, and dwelt in their stead, as Israel did, unto the land of his possession, which Jehovah gave unto them. Now rise up, and pass you over the brook Zered: and we passed over the brook Zered. And the days, in which we came from Kadesh-Barnea, until we passed over the brook Zered, were thirty and eight years, until all the generation of the men of war were wasted out from among the campe, as Jehovah sware unto them. And indeed, the hand of Jehovah was against them, to destroy them from among the Campe, until they were consumed. And it was, when all the men of war were consumed, and dead, from among the people; Then Jehovah spake unto me, saying, Thou art to pass over this day, thorough At, the coast of Moab. And thou shalt come nigh, over against the sons of Ammon; distress them not, neither meddle with them: for I will not give thee of the land of the sons of Ammon any possession, because I have given it for a possession to the sons of Lot. That also was accounted a land of Giants: Giants dwelt therein before time; and the Ammonites call them Zamzummims. A people great, and many, and tall, as the Anakims: and Jehovah destroyed them from before them; and they possessed them, and dwelt in their stead. As he did to the sons of Esau, which dwelt in Seir, when he destroyed the Horims from before them; and they possessed them, and have dwelt in their stead unto this day. And the Avims, which dwelt in Hazerim, even to Gaza: the Caphtorims, which came forth out of Caphtor, destroyed them, and dwelt in their stead. Rise ye-up, take your journey, and pass over the brook Arnon: see, I have given into thy hand, Sihon king of Heshbon, the Amorite, and his land; begin, possess it, and meddle with him in battle. This day will I begin to give the dread of thee, and the fear of thee upon the people's under all the heavens, who shall hear report of thee, and shall tremble and be in anguish because of thee. And I sent messengers out of the wilderness of Kedemoth, unto Sihon, king of Heshbon, with words of peace, saying, Let me pass thorough thy land; by the way, by the way will I go; I will not turn aside, to the right hand or to the left. Thou shalt sell me meat for money, that I may eat; and give me water for money, that I may drink: only, I will pass thorough on my feet. As did unto me the sons of Esau that dwell in Seir, and the Moabites that dwell in Ar: until I shall pass over Jordan, into the land which Jehovah our God giveth us. But Sihon king of Heshbon would not let us pass thorough him; for Jehovah thy God hardened his spirit, and made his heart obstinate, that he might give him into thy hand, as this day. And Jehovah said unto me, Behold, I have begun to give before thee, Sihon & his land; begin, possess it, that thou mayest possess his land. And Sihon came out against us, he and all his people to battle, at Iahaz. And Jehovah our God delivered him before us: and we smote him, and his sons, and all his people. And we took all his cities at that time; and utterly destroyed of every city the men, and the women, and the little ones; we left none to remain. Only the cattle we took for a prey unto ourselves, and the spoil of the Cities which we took.

From Aroer, which is by the brink of the brook Arnon, and the city which is by the brook, even unto Gilead, there was not a city that exalted it self above us; Jehovah our God delivered all before us. Only unto the land of the sons of Ammon, thou approachedst not, nor unto any place of the brook Iabbok, or the cities of the mountain, or whatsoever Jehovah our God commanded us.

Annotations.

HAD spoken] as is before mentioned, Deut. 1. 40. which then the people were unwilling to do, but would needs go fight, till they had learned by their discomfiture, what it was to disobey, and were enforced to yield unto the word of God. mount Seir] the mountainy country of Seir, which was Edoms Land, Gen. 36. 8, 9, 20. but they went in the wilderness, and were sore cumbered in the way: see Num. 21. 4.

Verse 3. Long enough] a like speech God used before, Deut. 1. 6. so here is mentioned a second calling of Israel, from the deserts of Seir, to go northward again towards Canaan, after they had wandered almost thirty eight years in Kadesh wilderness, about mount Seir, verse. 14. by which travel, God taught them to mortify their unruly affections, and by the death of so many thousands there, led them to seek life (by repentance and faith) in the heavenly Canaan, seeing they could not come into the earthly. In the mean while, the Amorites, Canaanites, &c. (unto whom God gave this long time of repentance) were hardened in their sins, and took occasion to insult over God's people, beholding their afflictions: but the posterity of Israel were humbled and prepared for to receive the land promised. Northward] towards Canaan; Not the way they went before by Kadesh Barnea, but between the coasts of Edom on the one hand, and of Moab and Ammon on the other; so to enter into Canaan, thorough Sihon the Amorites land. Thus God's word was their director, unto all places, and in all actions: in which respect these histories of holy Scripture excel all human histories in the world.

Verse 4. afraid] as was prophesied of them and others, in Exod. 15. 15. &c. yet Edom was a mighty people, settled in their mountain, and fortified. See also Num. 22. 3. great] or vehement heed; meaning, that they offered Edom no wrong, neither suffered themselves to be overcome by them: Walk wisely towards them that are without, Col. 4. 5.

Verse 5. Meddle not] or, contend not with them, to wit, in battle, as is explained in verse. 9. and so the Greek here saith, Make not war with them. As all wars should be made by wise counsels, Pro. 24. 6. so chiefly by the mouth of God, who teacheth man's hands to war, Psal. 144. 1. who hath willed us, If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, be at peace with all men, Rom. 12. 18. In special it was commanded, Thou shalt not abhor an Edomite, for he is thy brother, Deut. 23. 7. to the treading, &c.] that is, not a foot breadth; the Greek translatheth it, not the step (or breadth) of a foot: which phrase Luke useth, in Act. 7. 5. concerning Abraham in Canaan. Though the Edomites were wicked, yet God continued their state for a time; during which no man might lawfully disturb them. By this God teacheth also the difference between Esau's portion and Jacob's: see Rom. 9. 11. 12. &c. Col. 1. 12. See the notes on Gen. 36. 43. a possession] or, an inheritance to Esau; that is (as the Greek translatheth) to the sons of Esau. The most high divided to the Nations their inheritance, Deut. 32. 8. and Esau had their portion and state long before Israel, Gen. 36. 8. 31. 43. Ios. 24. 4. with such worldly baits God's people should not be allured.

Vers. 6. buy] Hebr. break: which both Greek and Chaldee translate, buy: see Gen. 41. 56. in the Annotations. In the strangers land nothing was to be had freely, but with money, figuring the estate of those under the Law: in Canaan they had all things freely; signifying the free grace in Christ, Deut. 11. 9, 10, &c. Esa. 55. 1. Rev. 21. 6. money] Hebr. silver. buy] Hebr. dig; which the Chaldee translatheth, buy; the Greek, receive by measure. It may be meant of buying wells digged out of Edoms ground; for so they were wont; see Gen. 26. 18. &c. Num. 21. 18. or, after the Arabic manner, which useth this word for buying.

Vers. 7. he knoweth] this is meant of careful regarding their estate, wants, &c. wherefor the Chaldee paraphraseth, He hath sufficiently given thee things necessary when thou walkest. Jehovah] in Chaldee, the word of the LORD.

Vers. 8. we passed by] though the Edomites shown great unkindness, that would not suffer Israel to pass thorough their country quietly, Num. 20. 14. 18. &c. yet upon warning and charge given from God, his people turned away from fight, and contented themselves in their temptations, with the promises of God. See Num. 20. 21. Judge. 11. 17. Afterward this favor of Israel, and the ill reward of Edom, Moab, and Ammon, is remembered in the prayer of King Jehoshaphat, 2 Chron. 20. 10, 11, 12. Ezion-gaber] these were port towns, by the brink of the Red sea, in the land of Edom, 1 King. 9. 26.

Vers. 9. Moab] that is, the Moabites, as the next words manifest. So the Greek, deal not enviously with the Moabites. They were the posterity of Lot, Gen. 19. 37. which dealt unkindly with Israel, as Edom had done, Judge. 11. 17. and were (for their neglect of duty) not to enter into the congregation of the Lord, Deut. 23. 3, 4. They were also become Idolaters, Num. 25. 1, 2. and 21. 29. yet God suffered not Israel to hurt them, for the reasons before alleged. meddle] or, contend, as before in verse. 5. Ar] a chief mountain, and city thereon, Num. 21. 15. 28. put here for the whole country. The Greek for Ar here hath Aroer, whereof see verse. 36. so in v. 18, 29.

Verse 10. Emims] in Greek, Ommeins, by interpretation, terrible ones, and so the Chaldee translatheth: see Gen. 14. 5. Anakims] in the Chaldee, Giants: see Num. 13. 29.

Vers. 11. Giants] in Hebrew, Rephaim, which the Greek keepeth as a proper name Raphaein, of one Rapha, who was a Giant; whereupon it is a name for all Giants: see the notes on Ger. 14. 5. so after in Deut. 3. 11.

Vers. 12. Horims] or, Chorites; in Greek, Chorraeans: see Gen. 14. 6. and 36. 20. possessed] or, disinherited, and so succeeded in their inheritance: the Greek translath, destroyed them. as Israel did] to wit, afterward, in the days of Joshua: thus it is spoken by way of prophesy; or, it may have reference to that part of Israel's inheritance which they had now conquered on the outside of Jordan. By this and the like, in verse. 22, 23. God would teach Israel not to insult upon their outward conquests (such as he had given to other nations before them) but to seek for an heavenly country. This he remembered to them by the Prophet, Amos 9. 7. Are ye not as the sons of Ethiopians unto me, O sons of Israel, &c.

Verse 13. brook] or bourne: a valley and river running therein. So the Greek saith, the valley Zareth. Of it see Num. 21. 12.

Verse 14. from Kadesh barnea] to wit, from the time that they came to Kadesh barnea (where they abode in the wilderness of Kadesh many days, Deut. 1. 46.) and after till they passed over Zared. sware] or, had sworn: see Numb. 14. 21, 22, 23.

Verse 15. the hand] the Chaldee expounds it, A plague from before the Lord. This is after mentioned, how God consumed their days in vanity, and their years in hasty terror, Psal. 78. 33. and upon occasion of this mortality, Moses made the 90. Psalm. to destroy] with trouble and tumult: for the word elsewhere signifieth, to trouble, Exod. 14. 24. so in Deut. 7. 23.

Verse 19. sons of Ammon] the Ammenites, the posterity of Ben-ammi the son of Lot, Gen. 19. 38. so in verse. 37.

Verse 20. Giants] or Rephaims, as verse. 11. Zamzummims] that is, presumptuous wicked ones; in Greek Zommein. These are thought to be those that were of old called Zuzims, Gen. 14. 5. The Chaldee calleth them Chushbanin.

Verse 22. Horims] or Horites; Hebr. the Chorite; in Greek, the Chorraean: see Gen. 14. 6.

Verse 23. Avims] or Avites; in Greek, Evites: these were the ancient inhabitants of the Philistians country, Ios. 13. 3. Caphthorims] the Philistians: see Gen. 10. 14. Though Israel fought the battles of the Lord, and had their limits and territories in special manner appointed by his Word, Num. 34. yet other nations also had by his secret providence, their times appointed, and the bounds of their habitation, Act. 17. 26. He increaseth the nations, and destroyeth them; He enlargeth the nations, and straitneth them, Job. 12. 23. Wherefore he saith by the Prophet, Have not I brought up Israel out of the land of Egypt? And the Philistines from Caphtor, and the Syrians from Kir? Amos 9. 7.

Vers. 24. brook] or, as the Greek translath, the valley Arnon: as verse. 13. see Num. 21. 13. Sihon] in Greek, Seonking of Esebon. He had afore time taken this Country from the Moabites, Num. 21. 26. which now God taketh again from him, and giveth to the Israelites, who else might not have taken any of Moabs possession, verse. 9. meddle] or contend. Here after long travells in the wilderness, God calleth his people unto wars (which their fathers before were afraid of:) and gave them his word to embolden them, as his truth was their shield and buckler.

Vers. 25. report] or fame; Hebr. hearing, which the Greek translath, name. See this promise fulfilled among the Canaanites, Ios. 2. 9, 10, 11. be in anguish] have pains as a woman in travel. A similitude often used to show the terrors of conscience in the wicked, Psal. 48. 7. and the mighty power of God, who taketh away the heart of the chief of the people of the earth, Job 12. 24.

Verse 26. Kedemoth] there was a City of that name in Sihons Country, which after was given to the tribe of Reuben, Ios. 13. 18. and by them given to the Levites, Ios. 21. 37. near which there was a wilderness where Israel now lay, when they sent this ambassage. of peace] according to the law alter given, Deut. 20. 10. which being refused, the war was now just before God and men.

Vers. 27. by the way by the way] that is, only by the way, and not turning aside into fields, or into vin ⟨ϕ⟩ see Num. 21. 21, 22. where it is called, The ⟨...⟩ . So in Deut. 16. 20. Justice justice, that is, only justice, and all manner justice.

Verse 28. sell] Hebr. break, as in verse. 6. [unspec 29]

Vers. 29. of Esau] the Edomites, who though ⟨...⟩ thy denied Israel passage thorough their land, ⟨ϕ⟩ 10. 18. &c. yet as they passed along their ⟨ϕ⟩ they suffered them to buy necessaries. ⟨ϕ⟩ &c.] It appeareth by this, that if Sihon had ⟨ϕ⟩ them to pass thorough his land, they would ⟨...⟩ time have taken his country, but first ⟨ϕ⟩ conquered the Canaanites beyond Jordan: ⟨ϕ⟩ upon Sihons denial they now set upon him. ⟨ϕ⟩ God doth not impart all his counsel at once to the ⟨...⟩ ed; but they refusing to yield unto anything, do hasten their own destruction. Com ⟨...⟩ . 3. 18. So the Gospel, the word of peace, is ⟨ϕ⟩ unto all; which they that refuse, hasten ⟨...⟩ judgment.

Vers. 30. thorough him] that is, thorough his coun ⟨ϕ⟩ [unspec] ⟨ϕ⟩ Num. 20. 18. hardened] as is spoken ⟨ϕ⟩ Pharaoh also, and others; see Exod. 4. 21. in the ⟨...⟩ otations. The like is said of the Canaanites be•nd the river, Ios. 11. 20.

Verse 32. to battle] or, unto war; refusing peace, as they of whom David saith, When I speak (for peace) they are for war, Psal. 120. 7. Iahaz] in Greek, Iassa: see Num. 21. 23.

Verse 33. smote him] with the edge of the sword, Num. 21. 24. his sons] or, his son: the Hebrew hath both readings, the one in the consonant letters, the other in the vowels: so in Deut. 33. 9. The Greek and Chaldee translate, his sons: it may intend all and every of his sons, or all the sons he had, which were but one. So Manasseh caused his sons to pass thorough the fire, 2 Chron. 33. 6. which another Prophet writeth, his son, 2 King. 21. 6. See the notes on Gen. 46. 23.

Verse 34. of every city] or, we destroyed every city, (consisting) of men, and women, and little ones: or, city full of men, and women, &c. This was according to the law, Deut. 20. 14, 15, 16. and here is fulfilled upon the wicked, the judgment which is written, His roots shall be dried up beneath, and above shall his branch be cut off: his remembrance shall perish from the earth, Job 18. 16, 17.

Verse 36. by the brook] or, in the bourn (or valley) as the Greek translath it. This city was Ar, Num. 21. 15. Gilead] the mount Galaad, as the Greek saith. Of it see Gen. 31. 21. &c. exalted it self] that is, was too strong for us; or, as the Greek expounds it, escaped us. before us] as the Greek saith, into our hands. Here the whole victory is ascribed unto God, which removeth the mountains, and they know not; which overturneth them in his anger; which shaketh the earth out of her place, and the pillars thereof tremble; Job 9. 5, 6.

Verse 37. thou approachedst not] in Greek, we came not, meaning, to war against the Ammonites, or invade their possessions. any place] or, all the place; Hebr. all the land; in Greek, all (places) pertaining to the brook Iabok; to wit, on the outside thereof; for Sihon ruled from Aroer &c. unto the river Iabok, which was the border of the sons of Ammon, Ios. 12. 2. and all that the Israelites possessed: but the land of the Ammonites, which also reached unto Iabok, Num. 21. 24. they took not: so that Iephtah answered truly, Israel took not away the land of Moab, nor the land of the sons of Ammon, Judge. 11. 15. of the mountain] possessed also by the Ammonites, whose border was strong, Num. 21. 24. commanded us] or, charged us, namely, to abstain from, that is, forbade us to meddle with. The word command is used also in things forbidden: see Deut. 4. 23. Now though the Moabites and Ammonites were thus spared by Israel, yet they ill rewarded them afterward, when they warred against God's people, to cast them out of their possession, Judge. 11. 4, 5, &c. 2 Chron. 20. 1, 10, 11. and ripped up the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border, Amos. 1. 13. and dwelt in the cities of Gad, Jer. 49. 1. For which the Lord God of Israel plagued them, as also for their unkindness already past, a law is enacted against them, in Deut. 23. 3.—6.

CHAP. III.

1 The Story of the conquest of Og king of Basan: 11 The bigness of his bed. 12 The distribution of those lands to the two Tribes, and half. 18 Who were to go over armed before their brethren till they also had rest. 21 Moses encourageth Joshua. 23 Prayeth that himself might go into the land. 26. Which God would not permit, but suffereth him to see it a far off.

AND we turned and went up the way of Bashan: and Og the king of Bashan came out against us, he and all his people, to the battle at Edrei. And Jehovah said unto me, Fear him not, for into thy hand have I given him, and all his people, and his land: and thoushalt do unto him, as thou didst unto Sihon King of the Amorites, which dwelt in Heshbon. And Jehovah our God gave into our hand Og also, the king of Bashan, and all his people: and we smote him, until there was none left him remaining. And we took all his Cities at that time; there was not a City which we took not from them: threescore Cities, all the region of Argob, the kingdom of Og in Bashan. All these Cities were sensed with high walls, gates, and bars: besides unwall'd Cities very many. And we utterly destroyed them, as we did unto Sihon king of Heshbon; utterly destroying of every City, the men, the women, and the little ones.

But all the cattle, and the spoil of the cities, we took for a prey to ourselves. And we took at that time, out of the hand of the two kings of the Amorites, the land which is on this side Jordan, from the brook of Arnon, unto mount Hermon. The Sidonians call Hermon, Shirjon; and the Amorites call it Shenir. All the cities of the plain, and all Gilead, and all Bashan, unto Salcah and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan. For only Og king of Bashan remained of the remnant of Giants; behold his bed-stead was a bedstead of iron; is it not in Rabbah of the sons of Ammon? nine cubits was the length thereof, and four cubits the breadth thereof, after the cubit of a man. And this land, which we possessed at that time, from Aroer which is by the river Arnon, and half mount Gilead, and the cities thereof, gave I to the Reubenites, and to the Gadites. And the rest of Gilead, and all Bashan, the kingdom of Og gave I to the half tribe of Manasseh: all the region of Argob, with all Bashan, that which is called the land of Giants. Iair the son of Manasseh, took all the country of Argob, unto the coast of Geshuri, and Maachathi, and called them after his own name, Bashan Havot• Iair, unto this day. And to Machir I gave Gilead. And to the Reubenites, and to the Gadites, I gave from Gilead, even unto the river Arnon, half the valley, and the border: and unto the river Iabbok, the border of the sons of Ammon. And the plain, and Jordan, and the coast thereof, from Chinnereth, and unto the Sea of the plain, the sea of salt, under Ashdoth Pisgah, eastward.

And I commanded you at that time saying, Jehovah your God hath given you this land to possess it; ye shall pass over armed before your brethren the sons of Israel, all sons of power. But your wives, and your little ones, and your cattle, (I know that you have much cattle,) shall abide in your Cities which I have given you. Until Jehovah shall have given rest to your brethren, as unto you; and they also possess the land which Jehovah your God giveth them, on that side Jordan: and then ye shall return, every man unto his possession, which I have given unto you. And I commanded Joshua, at that time, saying, Thine eyes have seen all that Jehovah your God hath done unto these two Kings; so will Jehovah do unto all the kingdoms whither thou passest. Ye shall not fear them; for Jehovah your God, he fighteth for you.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

And I besought Jehovah for grace, at that time, saying, O Lord Jehovah, thou hast begun to show thy servant thy greatness, and thy mighty hand; for what God (is there) in the heavens, or in the earth, that can do according to thy works, and according to thy powerful acts? Let me pass over, I pray thee, and see the good land that is beyond Jordan; this good mountain, and Lebanon.

But Jehovah was exceeding wroth with me, for your sakes; and would not hear me: and Jehovah said unto me, Let it suffice thee; speak no more unto me of this matter.

Go thou up to the top of Pisgah, and lift up thine eyes, Seaward, and Northward, and Southward, and Eastward, & see it with thine eyes: for thou shalt not pass over this Jordan. But command thou Joshua; and encourage him, and strengthen him: for he shall pass over before this people; and he shall cause them to inherit the land which thou shalt see. And we abode in the valley [unspec] over against Beth-Peor.

Annotations.

WAY of Bashan] in Greek, the way that (leadeth) unto Basan; which Basan the Chaldee nameth Matnan: so in Num. 21. 33. Edrei] in Greek, Adraein. Of this battle, see Num. 21. 33. &c.

Vers. 3. his people] in Num. 21. 35. his sons also are mentioned. none remaining] the Greek translatheth it, no seed: meaning none left alive, of whom, as of a seed, others might spring. So when the Prophet speaketh of a remnant, Isaiah 1. 9. the Apostle in Greek calleth it, a seed, Rom. 9. 29.

Vers. 4. threescore Cities] which showeth the large dominion of this Giant Og, who reigned in mount Hermon, and in Salcah, and in all Bashan, unto the border of the Geshurites, and the Maachathites, &c. los. 12. 4, 5. region] in Hebrew, a line, or coard, such as lands are meted by, Amos 7. 17. Micah 2. 5. used figuratively for a country or region (as the Greek and Chaldee also translate it) which is measured by line. Argob] a province or shire in Bashan forementioned, 1 King. 4. 13.

Vers. 5. unwalled] or, villages; in Hebr. Peraz; which the Greek mistaking, turned cities of the Pherezites; but it meaneth unwalled towns (as Est. 9. 19. Zach. 2. 4.) so named of their dwelling scattered.

Vers. 6. destroying of every city the men] or, de ⟨ϕ⟩ every city of men, &c. as in Deut. 2. 34. ⟨ϕ⟩ God destroyed the Amorite before them; ⟨ϕ⟩ his height was like the Cedars, and his strength as the Okes, yet destroyed he his fruit from above, and his roots from beneath, Amos 2. 9.

Vers. 8. the land] The killing of the Amorites, and taking of their land, was a testimony of God's goodness and love unto his people, Psal. 136. 17. ⟨ϕ⟩ in encouragement of them to fight against ⟨ϕ⟩ residue of the heathen, Deut. 3. 21, 22. and a ⟨...⟩ rage to the heathen themselves, Ios. 2. 10, 11.

Vers. 11. Giants] in Hebrew, Rephaim, which ⟨ϕ⟩ the Greek retaineth Rephaein, as before in Deut. 7. 11. This Og seemeth to be of the rem ⟨ϕ⟩ of those Rephaims whom Chedorlaomer and the Kings smote in Ashteroth, Gen. 14. 5. for Og reigned in Ashteroth, Ios. 13. 12. is it not in Rabbah?] that is, it is in Rabbah: the question maketh it an earnest affirmation, as the Greek also translateth it. Rabbah was the chief City of the Ammonites, their royal City, 2 Sam. 12. 26. The Greek here translateth it, the chief. of a man] which ordinarily is a foot and a half; but the Chaldee here translateth it, the cubit of the King.

Vers. 12. Reubenites] Hebr. the Reubenite, which the Chaldee expoundeth, the tribe of Reuben, so verse. 16. Of this gift, see Num. 32. 1. &c.

Vers. 13. of Manasseh] for conquering the Amorites there, Num. 32. 39, 40. Argob] this the Chaldee calleth Tracona. Basan] in Chaldee, Matnan. Giants] in Hebrew, Rephaim, which the Chaldee expoundeth, Mighties.

Vers. 15. Gilead] in Greek, Galaad; that is, the rest of Galaad, as verse. 13.

Vers. 17. Chinnereth] or, Kinnereth, as the Greek writeth it; which the Chaldee calleth Ginnosar; in the New Testament, Gennesaret, Matt. 14. 34. see the notes on Numb. 34. 11. sea of salt] or, salt sea: see Gen. 14. 3. Ashdoth Pisgah] in Greek, Asedoth Phasga, by interpretation, the Streames (or Sheddings-out, that is, the Springs) of Pisgah (or, of the hill) and so the Chaldee translatheth it, The shedding (or, pouring-out) of the waters of Ramatha. Pisgah is a hill, mentioned after in verse. 27. and Ashdoth pisgah was afterward the name of a city there adjoining in Reuben's land, Ios. 13. 20. So Ios. 12. 3.

Vers. 18. you] he speaketh to the Reubenites, and the rest on this side Jordan: see Num. 32. 20. &c. sons of power] or, sons of valor; that is, able and valiant men, as in 2 Sam. 13. 28. be ye sons of valor, that is, be valiant men: so in 2 King. 2. 16. 1 Chron. 5. 18. The Greek here expounds it, every prudent man; the Chaldee, all armed men of the army.

Vers. 21. Joshua] in Greek, Jesus: see Num. 27. 18. &c. so will Jehovah do.] The examples of God's former mercies, serve for the encouragement and strengthening of the faith of his people, in the like, or greater trials that may follow: such use also David made, 1 Sam. 17. 36, 37. and Paul, 2 Tim. 4. 17, 18.

Vers. 22. he fighteth] or, he it is that sighteth, or (as the Greek translatheth) will sight. The Chaldee for He, saith, his Word. As Moses here encouraged Jesus the son of Nun, to fight the Lord's battles in Canaan; so Moses and Elias, talking with Jesus the Son of God, told him of his departing which he should accomplish at Jerusalem, Luk. 9. 30, 31. at what time this figure was fulfilled.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

Here beginneth the 45 Lecture of the Law: see Gen. 6. 9.

Verse 23. I besought Jehovah for grace] or, I supplicated for grace unto Jehovah. Here Moses repeaving his earnest prayer to go into the land, and God's denial of his request, showeth how greatly the people's sin, and his own, displeased the Lord, Num, 20.

Verse 24 Lord Jehovah] or, Lord God: the Greek hath, Lord Lord: See Gen. 15. 2. for what God?] meaning, there is none. The Chaldee turneth it thus, That thou art God, whose glorious habitation is in the heavens above, and thou rulest in the earth beneath, and there is note that can do according to thy works. powerful acts] Hebr. powers: whereby powerful and mighty works are often meant; as Psal. 106. 2. and 145. 4. Matt. 7. 22. 2 Cor. 12. 12. Gal. 3. 5.

Verse 25. mountain] that is, mountainy country: see Exod. 15. 17. Lebanon] in Greek, Antili•anon; in Chaldee, the house of the sanctuary, because the Temple was built of the Cedars that grew on mount Lebanon, 1 King. 5. 6, 14. So the Temple is called Lebanon in Zach. 11. 1. But that seemeth not to be meant here; but rather the mount Lebanon, in the north part of the Land, which was both an high and fragrant mountain, with sweet and goodly trees growing thereon: whereto the Scripture hath reference in Song 4. 11. This great desire Moses had, because of the promises which God had made to Israel, to be accomplished in that land, the figure of our heavenly heritage.

Verse 26. for your sakes] for they rebelling, grieved Moses, and caused him to sin; for which, this wrath came upon him, Num. 20. 3.—12. Psal. 106. 32, 33. And the Lord sware that Moses therefore should not come into Canaan, Deut. 4. 21. which oath Moses, though he repented and entreated for grace, could not get reversed: for when the Lord sweareth, he repenteth not afterward, Psal. 110. 4. would not hear me] Hebr. heard me not, or, he arkened not unto me: whereby God's will is signified; (as David removed not the Ark, 1 Chron. 13. 13 that is, would not remove the Ark, 2 Sam. 6. 10.) for, If we ask anything according to his will, be heareth us, 1 John. 5. 14.

Vers. 27. Pisgah] the Greek here translath, of the hewn hill, because it seemeth they used to hewstones out of it, as they did out of other mounts, 2 Ch... 2. 18. The Chaldee of the height calleth it Ramatha: see Deut. 34. 1. Seaward] that is, We stward, as the Chaldee expresseth. As the Fathers saw the promises a far off and bleaved, Heb. 11. 13. so Moses aarre off vieweth the promised Land, and is comforted: see Deut. 34. 1.—4.

Vers. 28. Joshua] or, Jesus; as verse. 21. As Jesus, not Moses, bringeth Israel into the promised land: So the Gospel of Jesus, not the Law of Moses, bringeth us into the kingdom of heaven, John. 1. 17. Gal. 2. 16. and 3. 12, 13, 24. So it is said of the Tabernacle, that it was brought in with Jesus, into the possession of the Gentiles, Act. 7. 45.

Verse 29. Beth-peor] in Greek, the house of Phogor, an Idol temple on the mount Peor, where Baal-peor was worshipped: see Num. 23. 28. and 25. ⟨◇⟩ . Deut. 4 3.

CHAP. III.

1 An exhortation to obedience unto the Law, 6 because of the wisdom and righteousness, 9 and the miraculous giving of the same. 15 Against Images, and worshipping of Creatures, 25 which prevoke God's anger, and cause men's destruction, 29. unless they repent, and so find mercy with the Lord. 32 No people like Israel, who heard God speak, and saw his wonders, 37 and were his beloved and chosen. 41 Moses appointeth three Cities of refuge on the outside of Jordan.

AND now Israel, hearken thou unto the statutes, and unto the judgments which I teach you for to do; that ye may live, and go in, and possess the land, which Jehovah the God of your fathers giveth you. Ye shall not add unto the word which I command you, neither shall ye diminish from it, for to keep the commandments of Jehovah your God, which I command you. Your eyes have seen that which Jehovah did, because of Baal-peor: for every man which went after Baal-peor, Jehovah thy God hath destroyed him from the midst of thee. But ye that did cleave unto Jehovah your God, are alive all of you, this day. Behold, I have taught you statutes, and judgments, as Jehovah my God commanded me, for to do so, within the land, whither ye are going, to possess it. And ye shall keep and do them: for this is your wisdom, and your understanding, in the eyes of the people's, which shall hear all these statutes, and say, Surely, this great nation is a wise and understanding people. For what nation is there so great, which hath God nigh unto the same, as Jehovah our God is, in all that we call upon him for. And what nation is there so great, which hath just statutes, and judgments, as all this law which I set before you this day. Only take heed to thy self, and keep thy soul diligently, lest thou forget the things which thine eyes have seen, and lest they depart from thine heart, all the days of thy life: but thou shalt make them known to thy sons, and to thy sons sons. The day that thou stoodst before Jehovah thy God in Horeb, when Jehovah said unto me, Gather together the people unto me, and I will make them hear my words, that they may learn to fear me, all the days that they live upon the earth, and that they may teach their sons. And ye came near, and stood under the mountain: and the mountain b••ed with fire, unto the heart of the heavens; with darkness, cloud, and thick darkness. And Jehovah spake unto you out of the midst of the fire: you heard a voice of words, but saw no similitude, save a voice.

And he declared unto you his covenant, which he commanded you to do; the ten Words: and he wrote them upon two tables of stone. And Jehovah commanded me at that time, to teach you statutes and judgments, that ye may do them in the land whither ye are going over to possess it.

And take ye heed diligently unto your souls; for ye saw not any similitude, in the day that Jehovah spake unto you in Horeb, out of the midst of the fire. Lest ye corrupt yourselves, and make unto you a graven thing, the similitude of any figure: the likeness of male or female. The likeness of any beast that is on the earth: the likeness of any winged fowl, that flieth in the heavens.

The likeness of anything that creepeth [unspec] on the ground: the likeness of any fish that ⟨◇⟩ in the waters beneath the earth. And lest [unspec] thou lift up thine eyes to the heavens, and seest the Sun, and the Moon, and the Startes, all the Host of the heavens; and beest driven away, and bowest down thyself unto them, & servest them: them which I ⟨...⟩ thy God hath imparted to all people's under all the heavens. But Jehovah [unspec] hath taken you, and brought you forth out of the furnace of it on, out of Egypt, to be unto him a people of inheritance, as this day.

And Jehovah was angry with me, for your [unspec] sakes; and sware, that I should not go over Jordan, and that I should not go in into the good land, which Jehovah thy God giveth th••, for an inheritance. For I must die in [unspec] ⟨◇◇⟩ , I must not go over Jordan: but ye shall go over and possess that good land.

Take heed unto your selves, lest ye forget [unspec] the covenant of Jehovah your God, which he stroke with you, and make to you a ⟨◇⟩ thing, the likeness of anything, which Jehovah thy God hath charged thee.

For Jehovah thy God, he is a consuming [unspec] ⟨◇⟩ ▪ ⟨...⟩ alous God.

When thou shalt beget children, and children's [unspec] children, and ye shall have waxen old in th<sup>e</sup> land, and shall corrupt yourselves, and make a graven thing, the likeness of any thing; and shall do evil in the eyes of Jehovah thy God, to provoke him to anger. I call the [unspec] heavens & the earth to witness against you, this day, that perishing ye shall perish soon, from off the land, whereunto you pass over Jordan to possess it; ye shall not prolong your•ies upon it, but shall utterly be destroyed. And Jehovah will scatter you among the people's; and ye shall be left few men in number, among the heathens, whither Jehovah shall lead you. And there ye shall serve God's, the work of men's hands, wood and stone, which neither see, nor hear, nor eat, nor smell. But if from thence ye shall seek Jehovah thy God, then thou shalt find him: if thou shalt seek him with all thy heart, and with all thy soul. When tribulation shall be on thee, and all these things shall find thee, in the latter days, and thou shalt turn to Jehovah thy God, and he<sup>ar</sup>ken unto his voice. For Jehovah thy God, is a merciful God; he will not leave thee, neither destroy thee: neither will he forget the covenant of thy fathers which he sware unto them. For ask now of the days <sup>o</sup>repast, which were before thee, since the day that God created man upon the earth; and (ask) from the utmost part of the heavens, and unto the (other) utmost part of the heavens, whether there hath been (any such thing) as this great thing is; or hath been heard like it. Hath a people heard the voice of God speaking out of the midst of the fire, as thou hast heard, and lived? Or, hath God assayed to come to take him a nation, from the midst of a nation, by temptations, by signs, and by wonders, and by war, and by a strong hand, and by a stretched-out arm, and by great terrors, according to all that Jehovah your God did for you, in Egypt, before your eyes. Thou hast been made see to know, that Jehovah he is God: there is none else besides him. Out of the heavens he made thee to hear his voice, to instruct thee; and upon the earth he made thee to see his great fire; and thou heardest his words out of the midst of the fire. And because he loved thy fathers, therefore he chose his seed after him; and he brought thee out, in his sight, with his great power, out of Egypt. To drive out nations greater and mightier than thou, from before thee; to bring thee in, to give thee their land for an inheritance, as it is this day. And thou shalt know this day, and cause it to return into thy heart; that Jehovah, he is God, in the heavens above, and on the earth beneath: there is none else. And thou shalt keep his statutes & his commandments, which I command thee this day, that it may be well with thee, and with thy sons after thee; and that thou mayest prolong thy days upon the land, which Jehovah thy God giveth thee, all days.

Then Moses separated three Cities on this side Jordan, towards the Sun rising. For the man-flayer to flee thither, which should kill his neighbor unwittingly, and he hated him not in times past: and that he might fly unto one of these cities and live. Bezer in the wilderness, in the plain country of the Reubenites: and Ramoth in Gilead, of the Gadites: and Golan in Basan, of the Manassites. And this is the law, which Moses set before the sons of Israel. These are the testimonies, and the statutes, and the judgments, which Moses spake unto the sons of Israel, after they came forth out of Egypt.

On this side Jordan, in the valley over against Beth-peor, in the land of Sihon, king of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heshbon: whom Moses and the sons of Israel smote, after they were come forth out of Egypt.

And they possessed his land, and the land of Og, king of Bashan, two kings of the Amorites, which were on this side Jordan, toward the Sun rising. From Aroer, which is by the bank of the river Arnon, and unto mount Zion, that is Hermon. And all the plain of this side Jordan, Eastward, and unto the Sea of the plain, under Ashdoth Pisgah.

Annotations•

Statutes] or, Ordinances, which taught the service of God, (Heb. 9. 1.) as the next word judgments, are for duties towards men, and punishments of transgressors. These are often joined together: see Deut. 5. 1. and 6. 1. and 12. 1. Mal. 4. 4. And that Statutes mean the legal services, appeareth by the continual use of this word, as in Exod. 12. 24. 43. and 27. 21. and 29. 9. and 30. 21. teach] or, am teaching: this showeth the work of the law, still urging the conscience to d•] for, not the hearers of the Law are just before God, but the d•ers of the Law shall be justified, Rom. 2. 13. may live] Moses describeth the justice which is of the law, that the man which doth those things shall live by them, Rom. 10. 5. possess] or, in•erit the land; which was a figure of our heavenly inheritance (Gen. 12. 5.) proposed to them that do the Law, but given to them that are of the faith of Christ, John. 1. 17. Rom. 4. 13.—16. and 6. 23.

Vers. 2. not add] Hereby all doctrines of men are condemned, Matt. 15. 9. and the all-sufficiency and authority of God's word, stablished forever, Gal. 3. 1•. 2 Tim. 3. 16, 17. Add thou not unto his words, lest he reprove thee, and thou be found a liar, Prov. 30. 6. diminish] for every word of God is pure, Prov. 30. 5. and profitable for doctrine, for reproof▪ for correction, for instruction in righteousness, 2 Tim. 3. 16. Till heaven and earth pass, one jot, or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the Law, Matt. 5. 18. for to keep] that is, that you may keep; understanding the persons forementioned: so in verse. 5. see the notes on Gen. 6. 19.

Vers. 3. Baal-peor] in Greek, Beel-phegor, the Idol of the Moabites, unto which many of Israel declined, by the counsel of Balaam: see Num. 25. 1, 2.—18. and 31. 16. Psal. 106. 28. The Chaldee translateth, against them that served Baal-peor. destroyed] or, abolished: by sending a plague, to the death of twenty four thousand, Num. 25. 9. This judgment was remembered after, in Ios. 22. 17. Have we too little for the wickedness of Peor? &c.

Vers. 4. unto Jehovah] the Chaldee saith, unto the fear (or religion) of the Lord. Thus they that keep themselves pure in general defections, are saved from the common destruction, Ezek. 9. 4, 6. 2 Tim. 2. 19. Rev. 20. 4.

Vers. 6. wisdom] Hereupon the Oracles of God are often commended, as making wise the simple, Psal. 19. 8. making us wiser than ou•enemies, and to have more understanding than all our teachers, Psal. 119. 98, 99. and able to make us wise unto salvation, through the faith which is in Christ Jesus, 2 Tim. 3. 15. On the contrary it is said, They have rejected the word of the Lord, and what wisdom is in them? Ier. 8. 9. Surely] or, Only. The Greek turneth it, Behold.

Vers. 7. what nation is there so great] or, what other great nation is there? meaning, there is not any. So in verse. 8. God nigh] or, God's igh. The Hebrew words are both of the plural number, yet meaning one God in the plurality of persons; as the like is in Deut. 5. 26. Ios. 24. 19. The Greek and Chaldee here translate it singularly, God. And he is said to be nigh us, specially when he heareth, and granteth our requests, Psal. 145. 18. So the Chaldee here paraphraseth, nigh unto the same, to receive the prayer thereof, in the time of the tribulation thereof. We likewise are said to draw nigh unto God, when we call upon him in faith, Psal. 73. 28. Heb. 7. 19. Esa. 58. 2. and both are conjoined in I am. 4. 8.

Vers. 9. thy soul] that is, thyself: the soul is often put for the whole man. So where one Evangelist saith, lose his soul, Matth. 16. 26. another saith, Iose himself, Luk. 9. 25. diligently] or, vehemently; so verse. 15. and often. The word implieth strength as well as diligence. See Deut. 6. 5. things] Hebr. words, which the Greek also and Chaldee here keepeth. lest] or, that they depart not: in Greek, Let them not depart from thy heart. Compare Prov. 3. 1. 3. and 4. 21.

Vers. 10. Horeb] or, Choreb, called also Sina: see Exod. 19. Paul calleth it, The mount that might be touched, Heb. 12. 18.

Vers. 11. heart] that is, the midst: as the heart [unspec] of the Sea is the midst thereof, Exod. 15. 8. So here, the heart of heaven is the midst of the ai.e. thick darkness] or, tempestuous darkness, gloc•••• (ϕ) , as the Greek version, and the holy Ghost in Heb. 12. 18. implieth. See Exod. 20. 21. Unto this ••ible mount where the Law was given, Paul opposeth mount Zion, or the state of grace by the Gospel, Heb. 12. 18•22. It noteth the hidden glory of God's kingly administration in his Church, Psal. 97. 1, 2.

Vers. 12. voice of words] This also Paul mentioneth, Heb. 12. 19. In the next verse Moses calleth them ten words, that is, ten commandments, whereof see the notes on Exod. 34. 28. no similitude] to wit, of God: so after, save a voice, that is, the voice of God, as in verse 33. Hereupon it is said, To whom then will ye liken God, or what likeness will ye compare unto him? Esa. 40. 18.

Vers. 13. of stone] signifying the perpetuity of these words, and also the stoniness of men's hearts, as is noted on Exod. 31. 18.

Vers. 14. statutes] for the worship of God, as judgments were for the repressing and punishing of vice, Exod. 21. 1. These were spoken to Moses only, and by him written to Israel: but the ten words were spoken to all the people, and written by the singer of God.

Vers. 19. the sun] It was a common corruption, not only amongst the heathens, but in Israel, to worship the Sun, and Stars, and host of heaven, 2 King. 21. 3. and 17. 16. Amos 5. 25, 26. of which sin Job cleareth himself, Job 31. 26, 27. driven away] or thrust, to wit, out of the ay, as is after expressed in Deut. 13. 5. which is meant by the seduction of others, or of their own hearts. Therefore the Greek and Chaldee here (ϕ) translate it, beest deceived, or made to err and (ϖ) , which the Hebrew word implieth, being after used for the straying of cattle, Deut. 22. 1. Imparted] or, divided, distributed as a port••. It noteth God's bounty in giving all people's the use of those creatures, (as on the contrary false gods are said to divide or impart nothing unto them Deut. 29. 26.) and the base mind of men, to worship such things as are given for servants unto all men.

Vers. 20. furnace of iron] that is, furnace wherein [unspec] ⟨ϕ⟩ melted: so Egypt is called for the cruel op ⟨...⟩ Israel: likewise in 1 King. 8. 51. Ier. 11. 4. people of inheritance,] that is, whom God shall ⟨ϕ⟩ , & take for his possession: the Greek ⟨ϕ⟩ and inheritance. as this day under ⟨...⟩ ⟨ϕ⟩ ye are, or, as ye see this day.

Vers. 21. your sakes] or, your words: as the Greek [unspec] ⟨ϕ⟩ , the things spoken by you: meaning ⟨ϕ⟩ ⟨...⟩ ring words, Num. 20. 3, 4, 5. where ⟨...⟩ ⟨ϕ⟩ being grieved, obeyed not the comman ⟨...⟩ God, Num. 20. 12. Psal. 106. 32, 33. ⟨ϕ⟩ spake of before, Deut. 3. 26. and now a ⟨...⟩ , to show God's severity against all ⟨...⟩ .

Vers. 23. stroke] or cut, that is, covenanted or [unspec] ⟨ϕ⟩ •••es doth often speak of the covenant first ⟨ϕ⟩ between God and them, as that which was ⟨ϕϕ⟩ of all religion, to them and their seed after them: and whatsoever men added, altered, ⟨ϕ⟩ diminished from it, was to be reputed evil. So Paul reforming abuses in the Churches, calleth them to the first institution, 1 Cor. 11. 23, 24. charged thee] or, commanded thee, that is, commanded thee not to do, or, forbidden thee: so in Deut. 2. 37. for God's precepts in the Decalogue, are for the most part for bods, or prohibitions; yet usually called commandments. The whole phrase is expressed in Ge. 3. 11. which I commanded thee not to eat of it, that is, which I forbade thee to eat of.

Vers. 24. fire] to consume all his enemies; and thine, if thou obey him, as Deut. 9. 3. and thee thyself, if thou disobey him; as Zeph. 1. 18. Heb. 12. 29. See also Exod. 24. 17. The Chaldee addeth, his word is a consuming fire: which is also true, Ier. 23. 29. Deut. 33. 2. jealous] the former word signified God's power, this his will: having a jealous affection, whereby he will not spare; as Prov. 6. 34, 35. See Exod. 20. 5.

Vers. 25. waxen old] that is, continued long, as the Greek explaineth it, and become ancient inhabitants. God's blessings were by Israel abused to sin, as is here foretold, and again in Deut. 32. 15.

Vers. 26. perishing ye shall perish] that is, surely and speedily perish: in Greek, perish with perdition: so in Deut. 30. 18, 19. where again he calleth heaven and earth to witness.

Vers. 27. few men] Hebr. men of number; that is, soon numbered for your fewness; as the Greek translateth, few in number; and in Job 16. 22. years of number, are a few years: see Gen. 34. 30. This is contrary to that promised blessing in Gen. 15. 5.

Vers. 28. serve gods] being given over to your own lusts, as it is written, God turned, and gave them up to worship the host of heaven, Act. 7. 42. This same God threatened afterward, in Ier. 16. 13. But the Chaldee here turneth it, ye shall serve people's that serve Idols, the work of men's hands. nor smell] the vanity of Idols is after this sort described in Psal. 115. 4.—7. Ier. 10. 3.—9.

Vers. 29. seek Jehovah] the Chaldee translateth, seek the fear of the Lord; meaning his true service. Here Moses annexeth promises, to comfort repentant sinners: as also in Deut. 30. 1, 2, 3, &c. all thy heart] see an example of this in 2 Chron. 15. 15.

Vers. 30. find thee] that is, come upon, or befall thee, as the Chaldee explaineth it.

Vers. 31. thy fathers] Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. See Levite. 26. 42. &c.

Vers. 32. of the heavens] that is, from one utmost part of the world unto the other. By the heavens are meant the parts of the world under the heavens: and the holy Ghost openeth this phrase; for in Mat. 24. 31. it is written, from the utmost parts of the heavens, unto the utmost parts of them: for which in Mark. 13. 27. is said, from the utmost part of the earth, unto the utmost part of the heavens. By which it is evident, that the heavens in this speech, is put for the earth under the heavens; for heavens comprehendeth the Air also, wherein we breath, as is noted on Genesis 1. 8. great thing] Hebr. great word. Moses hereby would teach, that God's words and works unto his Church are more great and marvelous than all his actions to other people's whatsoever; and therefore ought the more seriously to be considered.

Verse 33. voice of God] the Chaldee saith, the voice of the word of the Lord: the Greek, of the living God. and lived] As at the apparitions of God, men were wont to fear they should die, Judge. 13. 22. and 6. 22. So at the giving of the law, all Israel desired that they might hear the voice of God no more, lest they died, Exod. 20. 19. Deut. 18. 16. which manifested the power of the law, and the weakness of men, Heb. 12. 19. So no man can see the face of God, and live, Exod. 33. 20. when God giveth his voice the earth melteth, Psal. 46. 7.

Verse 34. hath God] or, hath any God; speaking of the true God, and his works unto Israel, above all other people: or of the reputed gods of the Gentiles, none of which ever did such a thing. assaied] or, tempted. This is spoken not of God trying his own strength, but proving the obedience of his people, and trying the strength of his adversaries. The Chaldee translateth, Or the temptations, (or signs) which the Lord hath made to reveal himself, &c. temptations] Moses here reckoneth seven things, about Israel's deliverance; Tentations, whereby God, propounding his will, tried their obedience: (as when God tempted Abraham, Gen. 22. 1.) Signs, which many times are of ordinary works and natural, as Exod. 3. 12. Wonders, which are of extraordinary, and supernatural works, as Exod. 4. 21. and 7. 9. War, upon the refusal and resistance of the enemy, Exod. 8. 1, 2. Strong hand, not by cunning policies and stratagems, as men often use in wars; but by force, compelling the enemy to yield, Exod. 6. 1. Stretched out arm, by open manifesting his power, and plagues continually upon the resisters, Isaiah 9. 12, 17. Exod. 6. 6. and Great terrors, which wounded the hearts of the very enemies, Exod. 9. 20, 27, 28. and 10. 7. and 12. 30. terrors] or fears, the Greek and Chaldee translate, visions, or, sights, which are oftentimes fearful; but the Hebrew for fears and visions, are one much like another, which might cause the mistaking. So in Deut. 26. 8.

Vers. 35. so know] that is, that thou mightest know, and acknowledge. The end of all God's works was the manifesting of his glory, to the information and salvation of his people. This Moses often urgeth in this book.

Vers. 36 to instruct] or, to nurture, chastise: by restraining from vice. So God's chastening, and teaching out of his law, are joined together, in Ps. 94. •2. Though chastening be often with works (as Levite. 26. 18, 28. Deut. 8. 5.) yet is it also with words: is here, (where the Chaldee translateth it teach) and Prov. 9. 7. and 31. 1. Ezek. 23. 48. Job 4. 3. the fire] before, he said, out of heaven; and now, out of the midst of the fire: for though the voice came out of heaven, Israel perceived it not, but only out of the fire, saith R. Menachem on Deut. 4.

Vers. 37. therefore he chose] or, and chose (that is, loved) his seed after him, therefore he brought thee out. God's love, and election out of love, is the cause of man's redemption and salvation. his seed] that is, the seed of thy fathers, everyone particularly; as the promise was made to Abraham, then to Isaac, and after that to Jacob severally. The Greek and Chaldee translate it plurally, their seed (or sons) after them. in his sight] or, with his face (or presence) The Greek saith, he brought thee out himself; the Chaldee, he brought thee out by his word. Thus the face or presence of God, may imply Christ, the Word, the Angel of God's face, Esa. 63. 9. He it was that brought Israel out, as 1 Cor. 10. 1, 9. and the sign of his presence was in the pillar of the cloud and fire, Exod. 13. 21. and 14. 19, 20.

Vers. 38. to drive out] to wit, out of possession (as the original word implieth) or, to disinherit; the Greek saith, to destroy, (or, root out.) as it is] the Greek addeth, as thou hast this day. Meaning of the land of Sihon and Og, which they had now in possession, a sign of further victory, Deut. 3. 21.

Vers. 39. And thou shalt know] or, know (and acknowledge) therefore: see verse. 35. The knowledge of, and obedience unto God, is continually urged, upon the remembrance of his former mercies. So 1 Chron. 28. 9. cause it to return] or, bring again, reduce, that is, call to mind, and consider, that not only for the present, but always after, God's true fear might continue in them. So in Deut. 30. 1. where this phrase is used: see the annotations there.

Vers. 40. all days] this may be referred both to the latter, the possessing of the land; and to the former, the welfare and length of life. In Mat. 28. 20. all days, is explained, unto the end of the world.

Vers. 42. unwittingly] or, without knowledge thereof, unawares. See the law for this, in Num. 35. 9, 10, &c. and after in Deut. 19. 2. in times past] or, in former days; Hebr. from yesterday, and the third day. See Gen. 31. 2.

Vers. 43. Bezer] in Greek, Bofr: see Ios. 20. 8. and 21. 36. 38. 27. 1 Chron. 6. 78, 80. Golan] in Greek, Gaulon.

Vers. 44. this is] He meaneth, that which hereafter followeth; so this belongeth to the next chapter, where the repetition of the laws beginneth.

Vers. 45. after they came forth] Hebr. in their coming forth: but In is often used for After, as is noted on Exod. 2. 23. so again, in verse. 46.

Vers. 46. Beth-peor] in Greek, the house of Phogor, an Idol Temple: see Deut. 3. 29. Amorites] Hebr. Amorite: in Greek, Amorreans. smote] that is, killed, as is noted on Gen. 14. 17. This victory is here again touched, the more to stir up the hearts of the people, to obey God's law, who had begun to show them his power and goodness.

Vers. 48. bank] Hebr. lip. Zion] in Greek, Seon. This is not that which usually the Scripture calleth mount Zion, in Jerusalem; but otherwise written, and called Hermon: see Deut. 3. 9.

Vers. 49. sea of the plain] the sea of salt, Deut. 3. 17. the lake of Sodom, or dead sea. Ashdoth Pisgah] or, the springs of Pisgah: see the notes on Deut. 3. 17.

CHAP. V.

1 Mosesrehear seth the covenant that God made with Israel at Horeb. 6 The ten Commandments; 22 the manner of the speaking and writing of them. 24 The people being afraid, did request Moses to receive the Law from God, and to speak it unto them. 28 The Lord liked their motion, 30 and sent them into their tents; 31 but willed Moses to stay, and hear the Law, which he was to teach Israel to observe and do, for their good.

AND Moses called unto all Israel, and said unto them, Hear O Israel, the statutes and the judgments which I speak in your ears, this day: and ye shall learn them, and keep, to do them. Jehovah our God stroke a covenant with us in Horeb. Not with our fathers stroke Jehovah this covenant, but with us; even us, who are all of us here alive this day. Jehovah spake unto you, face to face, in the mount, out of the midst of the fire. I standing between Jehovah and you, at that time, to show unto you the word of Jehovah; for ye were afraid, by reason of the fire, and went not up into the mount, saying,

I, Jehovah thy God, which have brought thee out from the land of Egypt, from the house of servants. Thou shalt not have any other God's before my face. [unspec 7]

Thou shalt not make unto thee a graven thing, any likeness, of things which are in the heavens above, or which are in the earth beneath, or which are in the waters beneath the earth. Thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, neither serve them: for I, Jehovah thy God, am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the sons, and upon the third and upon the fourth generation, of them that hate me. And doing mercy unto thousands, of them that love me, and of them that keep his commandments.

Thou shalt not take up the name of Jeho <...> <...> y God in vain; for Jehovah will not hold him guiltles that shall take up his name in vain.

Keep thou the Sabbath day, to sanctify it, as Jehovah thy God hath commanded thee. Six days shalt thou labor, and shalt <◇> all thy work. But the seventh day is a Sabbath to Jehovah thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work; thou, or thy son, or thy daughter, or thy man-servant, or thy woman-servant, or thine ox, or thine asse, or any of thy cattle, or thy stranger which is within thy gates, that thy man-servant and thy woman-servant may rest as well as thou.

And thou shalt remember that thou wast a servant in the land of Egypt; and Jehovah thy God brought thee out thence, by a strong hand, and by a stretched-out arm: Therefore Jehovah thy God hath commanded thee to do the Sabbath day.

Honor thy father and thy mother, as Jehovah thy God hath commanded thee, that thy days may be prolonged, and that it may be well with thee, upon the land which Jehovah thy God giveth thee.

Thou shalt not kill. [unspec 20]

Neither shalt thou commit adultery.

Neither shalt thou steal.

Neither shalt thou answer a false witness against thy neighbor.

Neither shalt thou covet thy neighbors wife, neither shalt thou desire thy neighbors house; his field, or his man-servant, or his woman-servant, his ox, or his asse, or anything which is thy neighbors.

These words Jehovah spake unto all your assembly in the mount, out of the midst of the fire, of the cloud, and of the thick darkness, with a great voice, and he added no more: and he wrote them on two tables of stones, and gave them unto me. And it was, when ye heard the voice, out of the midst of the darkness, and the mountain burning with fire, that ye came near unto me, all the heads of your tribes, and your Elders. And ye said, Behold, Jehovah our God hath shown us his glory and his greatness, and we have heard his voice out of the midst of the fire: this day we have seen, that God doth speak with man, and he liveth. And now why should we die; for this great fire will consume us: if we add to hear the voice of Jehovah our God anymore, then we shall die. For who is there of all flesh, that hath heard the voice of the living God, speaking out of the midst of the fire, as we have, and lived? Go near thou, and hear all that Jehovah our God shall say, and do thou speak unto us all that Jehovah our God shall speak unto thee, and we will hear, and do it. And Jehovah heard the voice of your words when ye spake unto me: and Jehovah said unto me, I have heard the voice of the words of this people, which they have spoken unto thee; they have well said, all that they have spoken. Who will give that their heart may be such in them, to fear me, and to keep all my commandments, all days, that it may be well with them, and with their sons forever.

Go say to them, Get you again into your rents. But thou, stand thou here with me, and I will speak unto thee, all the commandment, and the statutes, and the judgments, which thou shalt teach them, that they may do them in the land which I give to them to possess it. And ye shall observe to do, as Jehovah your God hath commanded you: ye shall not turn aside, to the right hand or to the left. You shall walk in all the way which Jehovah your God hath commanded you, that ye may live, and (that it may be) well with you, and ye may prolong your days, in the land which ye shall possess.

Annotations.

IN your ears] that is, in your hearing, and to your understanding: the Chaldee translateth it, before you. Here Moses purposing to repeat the ten commandments, prepareth the ears and hearts of the people unto obedience. to do] or, and do: see the notes on Gen. 2. 3.

Vers. 2. stroke] Heb. cut a covenant, the reason of which phrase is shown on Gen. 15. 18. in Horeb] or, at Choreb, called also Sinai: see Exod. 19. 20. and 24. 8. God, though he might absolutely command, yet vouchsafed to enter into covenant with his people, that by mutual stipulation and promises, he might have not constrained, but free and voluntary obedience performed by them, to his glory, and their further good.

Vers. 3. fathers] which are dead: hereby all the Patriarchs unto Adam may be meant, who had the promise of the covenant of Christ; but the covenant of the Law came after, as the Apostle observeth, Gal. 3. 17. Or it may mean, our fathers only, as Rashi here expoundeth it, such as died in the wilderness, after the Law was given. See also Deut. 11. 2. even us] or, we are they, which are here this day, the Greek translatheth, & you are here all alive this day. So the covenant was yet fresh in memory. Also they had a greater benefit than their fathers: for though the Law could not give the life, yet was it a Schoolmaster unto Christ, Gal. 3. 21. 24.

Vers. 4. face to face] that is, openly, clearly, plainly; as Exod. 33. 11. Gen. 32. 30. Deut. 34. 10. 1 Cor. 13. 12. opposed to the dark visions, by which God before time revealed his will.

Vers. 5. I standing] or, stood, as the Greek translatheth, And I stood between the Lord, which the Chaldee calleth, the Word of the Lord. Thus the Law was given in the hand of a mediator, Gal. 3. 19. for God and the people were not one; by reason of their sins: therefore they were afraid.

Vers. 6. servants] in Greek and Chaldee, servitude. God redeemed Israel; not only from outward slavery, but from the idolatry of Egypt, Ezak. 20. 5.—9. and  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  their gods, 2 Sam. 7. 23. therefore he commanded them to have no other gods, before his face. See the annotations upon, Exod. 20. where these commandments are more largely opened.

Vers. 7. any other gods] or, another god: see the notes on Deut. 4. 7.

Vers. 8. graven thing] the Chaldee translatheth it Image. any] the Greek saith, nor the likeness of anything. The word or, is in Exod. 20. 4.

Vers. 10. his commandments] or, his commandment; meaning all and everyone of them, or, the whole Law in general: see the notes on verse. 31. The like is in Deut. 8. 2. and 27. 10. The Greek and Chaldee translate, my commandments, and so Moses wrote in Exod. 20. 6. but here he changeth the person, as Daniel also in his prayer faith, O Lord, &c. keeping covenant and mercy to them that love him, & to them that keep his commandments, Dan. 9. 4. We may also observe such changes in the other Prophets; as, to make him a name, 2 Sam. 7. 23. for which, in 1 Chron. 17. 21. is written, to make thee a name: so in 2 Sam. 14. 22.

Vers. 12. Keep] or, Observe; for this, in Exod. 20. 8. he said, Remember. as Jehovah, &c.] this sentence is added, more than in Exod. 20. 8. So again in the fifth commandment, verse. 16. And these two charges only are affirmative, all the other are prohibitions.

Vers. 14. Ox, &c.] these particulars are also here added, for explanation. as well as thou] or, even as thou. This reason was not expressed in Exod. 20. 10. And it showeth that the Sabbath was commanded in part for the ease of servants, which were of the heathens that were round about them, Lev. 25. 44.

Vers. 15. to do] that is, to celebrate: the Greek translath, to keep the Sabbath day, and to sanctify it. In Exod. 20. 11. the creation of the world is there rendered as a reason, which is here omitted; and the coming out of Egypt (which seemeth to be on the Sabbath day) is here made a reason of observing this day. For it was a figure of deliverance out of spiritual bondage by Christ (as is shown upon Exodus,) and lo fit to be meditated on upon the Sabbath.

Vers. 16. be well with thee] or, good may be done unto thee. This branch of the promise is more than was expressed in Exod. 20. 12. and this addition the Apostle also citeth, in Ephes. 6. 3. but putteth it there in the first place, changing the order of the words, which the Scripture often doth, as may be seen, in 2 King. 11. 8. compared with 2 Chron. 23. 7. Joel 2. 28. with Act. 2. 17. 1 King. 19. 10. with Rom. 11. 3. Isaiah. 65. 1. with Rom. 10. 20. Mat. 21. 13. with Mark 12. 8.

Vers. 18. Neither shalt thou] or, And thou shalt not: and so in the precepts following; all which are joined to the former, with this copulative And, (otherwise than was in Exod. 20.) to teach the conjoining of all these commandments, as into one body of the Law: which must be likewise in our obedience. Because, Whosoever shall keep the whole Law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all. For he that said, Do not cemmit ad••tery; said also, Do not kill, &c. I am. 2. 10, 11.

Vers. 20. false] or, rash, vain. The same word Shav, used before in verse 11. but for it in Exo. 20. Moses useth the word Sheker, false: and so the Chaldee hath in this place.

Vers. 21. wife] in Exod. 20. 17. our neighbors house is put in the first place, and his wife in the second, otherwise than here. So they that would divide this commandment into two, cannot show which is the ninth, and which is the tenth, seeing Moses hath purposely changed the order. desire] Here again Moses useth another word, 〈...〉 veh, whereas in Exod. 20. 17. he keepeth one word in all the particulars, tachmod, covet: which are two words in sound, but one in signification; (though it may be with some difference of degree) whereof there be sundry other examples in Scripture; as Hinneh, Behold, 1 Chron. 17. 1. for which another Prophet saith, Reeh, See, 2 Sam. 7. 2. Chajath, a troop, in 2. Sam. 23. 13. or Machannah, an host, in 1 Chron. 11. 15. he returned, jashab, 2 Sam. 6. 20. or, he turned again, jissob, 1 Chron. 16. 43. Iaghna, he offered up, 2 Sam. 6. 17. or, Iakrib, he offered, 1 Chron. 16. 1. and many the like: so that from two words of like sense, here cannot be gathered two sundry commandments. The like was in the ninth commandment before, in verse 20. And if this Desire be another commandment, there were but nine given in Exod. 20. Or if there were ten, as is avouched in Exod. 34. 28. then here must be eleven, contrary to Deut. 10. 4. But degrees of the same sin, make not here several precepts. The Hebrews make this desire to be less than coveting, and say, Desire bringeth a man to coveting, and coveting bringeth him to unjust taking away; for if the owners be not willing to sell, though he would give them a great price, and he is urgent upon them, then he falleth to taking by violence; as it is said (in Mic. 2. 2.) And they covet fields; and take them by violence. Maimonides tom. 4. treat of Rapine, &c. c. 1. s. 10, 11. his field] the Greek saith, nor his field: this also is added more than in Exod. 20. 17. And usually, when anything it repeated, either by the Prophets or Evangelists, i• 〈◇〉 with variety of words and phrases; of which, being compared, there is very great use, for the understanding of the Scriptures.

Vers. 22. added no more] meaning, no more commandments of this sort, (for they were but ten ⟨◇⟩ Deut. 4. 13.) or no more unto the people; there were spoken to Moses, Exod. 21. 1. &c. The Chaldee translath, ceased not: see the notes on Nam. 11. 25. of stones] both to have them perpetual to his Church, Job 19. 23, 24. and in mystery, to show the stony nature of men's hearts: see the annotations on Exod. 31. 18. unto me] that Moses might carry them to the people, and see then duly executed. So the Magistrate is the keeper of both the tables of the Law; for Moses was ⟨◇⟩ in Ieshurun, Deut. 33. 5.

Vers. 23. and the mount] understand, and saw the mount, as Deut. 18. 16. Exod. 20. 18. The things which the people heard and saw, were terrible unto then, because they were sinners; but a mean to humble them, and drive them unto Christ, H ⟨...⟩ . 12. 18.—24. Gal. 3. 19.—24. Elders] in Greek, Senate, or Eldership. The people all, and even the greatest and best, fled from before the Lord, and came to Moses for to be a Mediator. See Exod. 20. 18, 19. in the annotations.

Vers. 24. his voice] the Chaldee saith, the voice of his Word. So in verse. 25.

Vers. 25. why should we die?] The Greek translath, let us not die: so it is a deprecation. This speech implieth the sentence of death also, which their own hearts pronounced against them for their sins: for such a question is likewise an affirmation; as, Why doth he speak blasphemies? Mark. 2. 7. is expounded, this man blasphemeth, Matt. 9. 3. And this showeth the effect of the Law in our consciences; it causeth the spirit of bondage to fear, Rom. 8. 15. and when the voice of God in his Law is heard and understood of men, it terrifieth and killeth; before that, they think they are alive without the Law, Rom. 7. 9, 10. fire] which signified the force of the fiery Law, Deut. 33. 2. that it is in man's heart, as a burning fire shut up in his bones, as Ier. 20. 9. both manifesting sins, and tormenting the conscience; wherein it differeth from the Gospel, Heb. 12. 18. then] or, surely; Heb. and we shall die. Thus there was not a law given which could give life, Gal. 3. 21. but the letter killeth, 2 Cor. 3. 6. and the law is not of faith, Gal. 3. 12. the hearing of it, and escaping death, caused them not to believe: but the just shall live by faith, through the Gospel of Christ, Rom. 1. 16, 17. unto whom the Law was a Schoolmaster, Gal. 3. 24.

Vers. 26. all flesh] or, who is any flesh, that is, any frail man: for, all flesh is grass, Esa. 40. 6. The Greek translath, For what flesh? Which word flesh is often used for unregenerate man, as is noted on Gen. 6. 3. and to such especially, the Law is the terrors of death: though all human nature being in sin, is here condemned. So in Psal. 143. 2. the living God] The Hebrew words are both plural, implying the mystery of the Trinity, as is noted on Gen. 1. 1. and he is called the living God, (as here, so in Ios. 3. 10. 1 Sam. 17. 26. Esa. 37. 4. Psal. 42. 3. Hos. 1. 10. and in sundry other places) to oppose him unto all false gods, which are called the dead, Psal. 106. 28. whereupon it is said, Ye turned to God, from Idols, to serve the living and true God, 1 Thess. 1. 9. Also to show that God is powerful in operation, being not only living in himself, (so that he only hath immortality, 1 Tim. 6. 16.) but the giver of life unto all; For in him we live, and move, and have our being, Act. 17. 28. and he is the fountain of living waters, Ier. 17. 13. who continually and abundantly refresheth his people. It signifieth also his eternity, as he that liveth forever and ever, Revel. 10. 6. of whom it is said, For he is the living God, and continuing forever, Dan. 6. 26.

Wherefore that speech of Job, My Redeemer liveth, Job 19. 25. is translated in the Greek, The Eternal is he that shall unloose me. and lived] Men till they be redeemed by Christ, are through fear of death, all their life time subject to bondage, Heb. 2. 15. Though God came not now to judge them, neither so much as up braided them with their sins past, yet could they not hear his voice, but (as the Apostle noteth) they that heard it, entreated that the word should not be spoken to them anymore, for they could not endure that which was commanded, Heb. 12. 19, 20.

Vers. 27. Go near thou] The people being terrified, seek for a Mediator; and that is the end and use of the Law, to drive men unto Christ. Wherefore their affection now pleased God, verse. 28, 29. and he gave them Moses to help them for the present, and further promised them a Prophet like unto him, which was Christ, Deut. 18. 15.—18. Act. 3. 22. 26. thou speak unto us] The office of a Mediator, as he is a Prophet, (Deut. 18. 15.) is here described; which is, to go near unto God, & having received the word from him, to speak it unto the people. This was fulfilled in Christ, John. 1. 18. and 3. 13. and 8. 28. Here in the Hebrew do thou speak, the words are in the feminine gender, as if they had spoken to a woman; which is thought to be a note of the people's troubled mind: see the like in Num. 11. 15. and doc] The like they promised before God spake these words, Exod. 19. 8. not knowing the impossibility of the Law: but how far they were from performing this, the golden calf which they made ere forty days were expired, is a witness; for which sin Moses brake the Tables of the covenant, Exod. 32. Deut. 9. 9. &c. yet their good affection pleaseth the Lord.

Vers. 28. well said] The Greek translateth, they have spoken all things rightly (or well.)

Vers. 29. Who will give] An Hebrew phrase, meaning, O that some would give, or, O that there were; and so the Chaldee explaineth it. The like is in Job 6. 8. Psal. 14. 7. and 55. 7. and elsewhere. to fear, &c.] The things that God approveth in men, are, fear, humility, distrust in themselves, and a confidence in him, with love unto his Law. Hereunto God called them, by this his covenant, drawing them unto Christ.

Vers. 31. all the commandment] that is, the Law in general, or commandments, as the Greek translateth it, the singular being often put for the plural; or, every commandment. So in Deut. 6. 1. and 8. 1. also in 2 Pet. 2. 21. and 3. 2.

Vers. 32. observe to do] or, and do, as this phrase often signifieth: see the notes on Gen. 2. 3. right hand or to the left] This signifieth an exact care to walk in God's Law, as in the high way, from which men may not turn aside; as in Deut. 2. 27. Therefore all aberration from the right way, is noted by the turning to the right hand or to the left, Esa. 30. 21. So after in Deut. 17. 11. 20. and 28. 14. Prov. 4. 27.

CHAP. VI.

1 Moses setting himself to explain God's commandments, exhorteth Israel unto obedience. 4 He beginneth with the first and great commandment, the love of the Lord, 6 and of his Law in their heart, 7 and of teaching it to their children, 8 and professing it by outward signs. 10 He warneth them that they forsake not God by prosperity, 16 nor by adversity; 17 but to keep his Law, for their good, 20 and to endeavor the continuance and propagation of his religion among their posterity.

AND this is the Commandment, the Statutes and the Judgments, which Jehovah your God commanded to teach you, to do in the Land, whither ye pass over to possess it. That thou mayest fear Jehovah thy God, to keep all his statutes and his commandments, which I command thee; thou, and thy son, and thy sons son, all the days of thy life; and that thy days may be prolonged. Hear therefore, ô Israel, and observe to do, that it may be well with thee, and that ye may multiply mightily, as Jehovah the God of thy fathers hath spoken unto thee, in the land that floweth with milk and honey.

Hear, ô Israel: Jehovah our God, Jehovah is one. And thou shalt love Jehovah thy God, with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might. And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thy heart. And thou shalt whet them on thy children, and shalt speak of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up. And thou shalt bind them for a sign upon thy hand, and they shall be for phylacteries between thine eyes. And thou shalt write them upon the door-posts of thine house, and on thy gates. And it shall be, when Jehovah thy God shall have brought thee into the land which he sware unto thy fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, to give unto thee, cities great & good, which thou buildedst not; And houses full of all good things, which thou filledst not; and wells digged, which thou diggedst not; vineyards and olive-trees, which thou plantedst not; and thou shalt have eaten, and be full: Take heed to thyself, lest thou forget [unspec] Jehovah, which brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of servants. Thou shalt fear Jehovah thy God, and serve him, and shalt swear by his name. Ye shall not go after other gods, of the gods of the people's, which are round about you. For Jehovah thy God is a jealous God, in the midst of thee; lest the anger of Jehovah thy God be kindled against thee, and he destroy thee from off the face of the earth.

Ye shall not tempt Jehovah your God, as ye tempted him in Massah. Keeping ye shall• keep the commandments of Jehovah your God, and his testimonies, and his statutes, which he hath commanded thee. And thou shalt do that which is right and good in the eyes of Jehovah, that it may be well with thee, and thou mayest go in, and possess the good land which Jehovah sware unto thy fathers. To drive out all thy enemies from thy face, as Jehovah hath spoken.

When thy son shall ask thee tomorrow, saying, What are the testimonies, and the statutes, and the judgments, which Jehovah our God hath commanded you? Then thou shalt say unto thy son, We were servants to Pharaoh in Egypt, and Jehovah brought us forth out of Egypt with a strong hand. And Jehovah shown signs and wonders, great and evil, upon Egypt, upon Pharaoh, and upon all his house, before our eyes.

And he brought us out from thence, that he might bring us in, to give unto us the land which he sware unto our fathers. And Jehovah commanded us to do all these statutes, to fear Jehovah our God, for good unto us, all days, to preserve us alive, as (it is) this day. And justice shall it be unto us, when we observe to do all this commandment, before Jehovah our God, as he hath commanded us.

Annotations.

Commandment] put generally for Commandments, as the Greek translatheth it: see Deut. 5. 〈◇〉 . Here Moses entereth upon the explanation of the first commandment of the ten before rehear•••, in chap. 5. to do] that ye may do them, 〈◇◇〉 , continually. For practice and obedience is that which the Law requireth for blessedness, I am. 〈◇〉 . •5. And that w<sup>ch</sup> one prophet calleth Doing the words of the covenant, 2 Chron. 34. 31. another call•th Stablishing (or Confirming) 2 King. 23. 3. and Confirming is expounded by the holy Ghost, 〈◇〉 , Gal. 3. 10. from Deut. 27. 26. 〈◇〉 ] to wit, the river Jordan, that so they might come into Canaan. This was by the cond•t of Joshua, Ios. 1. 1, 2, &c. and it figured the 〈◇〉 of the Church under Christ, by whom these commandments are fulfilled in us that believe, 〈◇〉 . 20. 40.—44. Rom. 8. 1, 2, 3, &c. In the 〈◇〉 , time, the possession of Canaan and good thin•s therein, was a gracious inducement of that People unto voluntary obedience and keeping of God•awe: which notwithstanding they perform• not, Psal. 105. 44. 45. Nehem. 9. 24, 25, 26, 35.

Vers. 〈◇〉 . fear] this is the beginning of wisdom, Psal. 111. 10. and by it we depart from evil, Prov. 16. 6. and it comprehendeth generally God's worship, and true religion, Isaiah 29. 13. Matt. 15. 8, 9. therefore it is mentioned in the first place. prolonged] under which, eternal life is also implied; for God's commandments when they are kept, do add unto men, length of days, and years of life, and peace, Prov. 3. 2. 1 Pet. 3. 10, 11, &c.

Vers. 3. and honey] signifying heavenly graces, as is observed on Exod. 3. 8.

Vers. 4. Hear] The last letter of this first word Hear, and of the last word One, are extraordinarily great in the Hebrew, and so noted in the margent, to cause heed and attention. And here beginneth the first and great commandment, as our Savior calleth it, Mark. 12. 29, 30. Matt. 22. 38. And this place of Scripture, unto the end of the ninth verse, was one of the four paragraphs which the Jews were wont to write upon their Phylacteries, as is noted on Exod. 13. 9. and fastened to their door-posts, and read in their houses twice a day: as the Hebrews say, Twice every day do men read the lecture, HEARE O ISRAEL, &c. at evening and at morning, as it is written (in Deut. 6. 7.) when thou liest down, and when thou risest up; at the time when men are wont to lie down, which is at night; and at the time when men are wont to rise up, which is at day. And what is it that he readeth? Three sections; to wit, Hear O Israel, &c. (Deut. 6. 4) And it shall be if you shall hearken, &c. (Deut. 11. 13.) And Moses said unto the people, &c. (Exod. 13. 3.) And they read first the section, Hear O Israel, because in it there is the property of God, and the love of him, and the doctrine of him, which is the great foundation, whereupon all do depend. Maim. in Misn. b. 2. in Keriath Shemangh, ch. 1. sect. 1, 2. is one] so in Mark. 12. 29. the LORD our God, the LORD is one: where the word is (which the Hebrew wanteth) is supplied in the Greek, and explained by a learned Scribe, saying; Well, Master, thou hast said the truth, for there is one God, and there is none other but he, Mark. 12. 32. So Paul saith, There is no other God but one, 1 Cor. 8. 4. Here it is probable, that Moses closely taught the unity of the God-head, and trinity of persons; Jehovah, the Father; our God, the Son; and Jehovah, the Holy Ghost: thus many do understand these words. But the Apostle clearly openeth the mystery, saying, There are three that bear record in heaven; the Father, the Word, and the Holy Ghost; and these three are one, 1 John. 5. 7. And here is the ground of saith.

Vers. 5. love] The end of the commandment is love, out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned. 1 Tim. 1. 5. See the notes on Exod. 20. 6. Ie••vah thy God] these imply the causes of our love of the Lord; the one, for his own nature and being, Iebovah; the other, for the covenant of his grace, whereby he is our God. These two are often joined together by Moses and all the Prophets. heart] unto the heart the Scripture attributeth wisdom and understanding, 1 King. 3. 9. 11. 12. Prov. 2. 2. 10, and belief in God, differing from confession with the mouth, Rom. 10. 10. and it is opposed unto hypocrisy, Matth. 15. 8. soul] the seat of the will and affections, Deut. 21. 14. and 24. 15• and 12. 20, 21. might] in Hebrew, Meod, which signifieth might or vehemency, all that we can. The Chaldee translatheth it riches; the Greek, power (dunamis;) but the holy Ghost useth a more significant Greek word, (ischus) might, or, ability, Mark. 12. 32. where also another word is added for explanation, dianoia, which is the efficacy both of the mind and will, and the Scribe useth a fit word, Sunesis, understanding, Mark. 12. 33. By which variety of words, God would teach us to love him unfeignedly, with all whatsoever is in us, and in our power; for we ought to honor him with our substance also, Prov. 3. 9. This praise is of King Josiah above all kings, that he turned to the Lord, with all his heart, and with all his soul, and with all his might, according to all the law of Moses, 2 King. 23. 25. Moreover from this word, with all thy might, the Heb•ewsteach, that a man is bound to bless (God) with cheerfulness of soul, for evil (or affliction) even as he blesseth for good (or prosperity) with gladness. Maimonides in Beracoth, chap. 10. sect. 3. And hereof we have a good example in Job, Job 1. 21.

Vers. 6. these Words] the Oracles of God are also to be loved, as the outward means, whereby we are brought to the love and obedience of God, Psal. 119. 97, 98. in thy heart] as the fleshly tables wherein God's law is to be written, Prov. 3. 3. and 7. 3. 2 Cor. 3. 3. The Greek addeth, in thy heart, and in thy soul.

Vers. 7. What them] that is, often, earnestly, and diligently teach them, that they may pierce the hearts of thy children, to understand and affect them. So the Greek and Chaldee explain it, to fore-instruct and teach. thy children] or, thy sons: under this name the Hebrews understand, not the natural sons only, but scholars also, or disciples; because disciples are called sons, as it is written (in 2 King 2. 3.) and the sons of the Prophets came forth, &c. Maimonides in Talmud Torah, chap. 1 sect. 2. Children are to be trained up (or catechized) in the way they should go, and brought up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord, Prov. 22. 6. Ephes. 6. 4.

Vers. 8. phylacteries] or, fr•ntlets: ornaments fastened unto the liead; the Greek therefore calleth them unmo••able. Of these, see the notes on Ex. 13. 9. 16. By these outward rites, God would teach them to apply all their study, and all their practice, unto the keeping of his law.

Vers. 9. door posts] by this sign to profess unto all, their love unto the Law, and to have it alwaie• in remembrance. So the blood of the Paschal Lamb was stricken on their door posts, Exod. 12. 7. Of this ri• the Jews are to this day very careful, and even superstitious. The manner of observing it they have recorded this. They wrote two several places of the Law, namely, Hear O Israel, &c. Deut. 6. 4.—9. And it shall be if you shall hearken &c. Deut. <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math>. 13. 21. upon one piece of parchment, which they rolled •p beginning at the be•me, and so to the top; that when any should open to read it, he might read from the beginning to the end. After it was rolled up, they put it within a pipe of reed, or of wood, or of any other matter, and fastened it to the door post with a nail; but blessed God before they so fastened it, who had commanded them that thing. If it were hung up on a stick, it was unlawful, for that was no fastening; or if it were laid behind the door, it was as good as nothing. The writing was fastened a good height upon the door post within, and it must be on the right hand, as a man went into the house: if it were on the left hand, it was unlawful. These things Maimonides showeth at large, in Misneh, treat. Tephilin, (or of Phylacteries &c.) chap. 5. and 6. adding this in the end; A man must be warned of the post writings, because it is every ones duty continually. And every time that he goeth in, and goeth out, he meeteth with the name of the holy blessed God, and shall remember the love of him, and awake out of his sleep, and his erroars among the vanities of the time; and know that there is nothing which abideth forever, and forever and ever, but the knowledge of (God) the everlasting Rock; and forthwith he returneth to his knowledge, and walketh in the strait & even ways. Our ancient wise men have said, Whosoever hath his phylacteries on his head and on his arm, and fringes on his garment, and postwriting on his door, he is fortified that he shall not sin: for behold, he hath many remembrancers, and they are the Angels which deliver him from sinning; as it is written, The Angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear him, and delivereth them, Psal. 34. 8. Thus have they magnified their outward observances; and were taxed by our Savior, for making their phylacteries broad, and the fringes of their garments large, Matth. 23. 5. See the annotations on Exod. 13. 9.

Vers. 10. to give unto thee] understand, he sware that he would give unto thee: so in verse. 19.

Vers. 11. digged] or, hewed, to wit, out of the Rock. Under these particulars, all other good things are implied: for which men ought to serve the Lord with joyfulness, and with a good heart, Deut. 28. 47. Prov. 3. 9, 10. And by earthly riches, the spiritual graces of God in Christ, are also understood, as 1 Cor. 1. 4, 5, 7. Ephes. 1. 18. and 2. 5, 6, 7. full] or, satisfied: which also is a blessing of God, Levite. 26. 5. But by men's corruption may easily be abused, unto lasciviousness, Deut. 32. 13, 14, 15.

Vers. 12. forget Jehovah] the Chaldeesaith, forget the fear of the LORD, that is, his true Religion. The Greek addeth, lest thy heart be deceived, and thou forget the Lord. When men do corrupt their religion, they are said to forget God, Psal. 106. 20, 21. and 44. 21. Judge. 3. 7. Ier. 3. 21. and 18. 15. And this we are prone unto in prosperity: therefore the Prophet prayeth, Give me not riches, lest I be full, and bely thee, and say, who is the Lord' Prov. 30. 8, 9. This doctrine Moses repeateth in Deut. 8. 10, 11. servants] the Greek and Chaldee •••slate, servi'd•• (or bondage.) Of this he Jews made yearly mention, when the brought their first-fruits unto God, Deut. 26 5, 6. &c.

Vers. 13. fear] this is for the inward worship of God, as the two next are for his outward service, and profession of the same. Fear is expounded worship, Matth. 15. 9. from Isaiah 29.

13. and so Christ speaketh, having reference to this Scripture, Matth. 4. 10. See after on Deut. 10. 12. serve him] the Greek addeth, serve him ••lie and so Christ all eageith it against Satan, Matt. 4. 10. The like is to be understood of the other two things here mentioned. Under service, prayer is comprehended, which Christ hath taught us, that it must be to our Father which is in heaven, Luk. 11. 2. So of the Hebrews it is said, We are commanded to pray every day, as it is written, And ye shall serve the Lord your God, Exod. 23. 25. We have been taught, that this service is prayer, as it is written, And to serve him with all your heart: Our wise men have said, W•at service is this with the heart? It is prayer. And there is no number of prayers by the Law, neither is there any set form of this prayer by the Law, nor any appointed time for prayer by the Law. And therefore women and servants are bound to pray, because it is a commandment, the time whereof is not determined. But the duty of this commandment is thus, That a man make supplication and prayer every day, and show forth the praise of the holy blessed (God) and afterward ask such things as are needful for him, by request, and by supplication; and afterward give praise and thanks unto the Lord for his goodness which he abundantly ministereth unto him, everyone according to his might. If he be accust••ed unto it, let him use such supplication and pra••: and if he be of uncircumcised lips, let him speak according as he is able, at any time when he will; and so they make prayers everyone according to his ability. Maimonides in Misn•h, treat. of prayer, chap. 1. sect. 1, 2, 3. swear] before this the Greek addeth, and shalt cleave unto him which words are used by Moses in Deut. 10. 20. and from thence here taken. Swearing is used for all other profession of God's name and truth: as when the Prophet saith, Every ⟨◇⟩ shall swear, Isaiah 45. 23. the Apostle exp ⟨...⟩ s it, Every tongue shall confess unto God, R•• 14. 11.

Vers• 14. other gods] which the Chaldee inter ⟨...⟩ , [unspec] Idols of the people's. By going, or walking after such, is meant, worshipping or servng them, as afterward is shown, Deut. 8. 19. and 13. 2. 4.

Vers. 15. in the midst] the Chaldee expounds ⟨◇⟩ , his Majesty dwelleth is the midst of thee. God's presence, and diligent looking to the ways of his people, is hereby meant, Isaiah 12. 6. Rev. 2. ⟨◇⟩ . 2. Of jealousy, see Exod. 20. 5. by it was signified, that God would not forgive their transgressions, Ios. 24. 19.

Vers. 16. in Massah] or, in the temptation (as the Greek and Chaldee explain it;) where in their distress and want, they tempted the Lord, saying. Is the Lord amongst us or no? Exod. 17. 1.—7. As prosperity, so adversity often occasioneth men to sione; therefore the Prophet prayeth against both extremities, Proverb. 30. 8• 9.

Vers. 18. right] in Greek, pleasing, which the word also signifies, as is noted on Exod. 15. 26. And so our Savior did always those things that pleased his Father, John. 8. 29. By things right and good, are meant the things commanded of God, and the doing of them with a sincere heart. To perform this, the Apostle saith, Bee ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, that well-pleasing and perfect will of God, Rom. 12. 2.

Vers. 19. to drive out] that is, he sware unto thy fathers, that he would drive out, &c. But because the people obeyed not the voice of God, he would not drive out all from before them, Judge. 2. 1, 2, 3, 12, 14. and 3, 1.—4.

Vers. 20. tomorrow] that is, hereafter in time to come. See Exod. 13. 14. Here followeth a brief Catechism, containing the grounds of religion. what are] that is, what mean, or signify. The word are is supplied also in the Greek, (as before in verse. 4.) and by it the meaning of God's precepts is intended, as the answer following showeth. Here God provideth for the continuance and propagation of his true religion in Israel, in respect of the whole Law, moral, ceremonial, and judicial. commanded you] The Law was commanded the Fathers, that they should make them known to their children, that the generation after, even children that should be borne, might know, might rise up, and tell their children, Psal. 78. 5, 6.

Vers. 21. to Pharaoh] the History hereof is in Exod. 1. and 2. &c. the mystery was, our servitude unto sin and Satan, from which God hath redeemed us, as Rom. 6. 17, 18. Heb. 2. 14, 15. The memorial whereof is always to be continued amongst us and our posterity, to the praise of God's grace, Deut. 26. 5, 6, 7, 8, 9. strong hand] that is, by force and constraint, through great judgments: see Exod. 6. 1. and 3. 19.

Vers. 22. evil] that is, hurtful, grievous, noisome to the enemy, as were all the plagues of Egypt, Exod. 7. and 8, &c. So in Revel. 16. 12. a noisome and evil sore. house] that is, household, as the Chaldee translateth it, men of his house. our eyes] that is, our sight. This is one of God's promises to such as trust in him; With thine eyes shalt thou behold, and shalt see the reward of the wicked, Psalm 91. 8.

Vers. 24. for good] or as the Greek explaineth, that it may be well with us. The end of our redemption from misery is, that we may serve God, and keep his Law, for his glory in our good and salvation, Rom. 6. 17, 18, 22. to preserve] meaning, that he may preserve us alive: the Greek translateth, that we may live. Here Life is promised to the doers of the Law; as also in Luke 10. 28. but this is a legal promise, impossible for us to fulfill, Romans 8. 3. and is not of faith, (as the Apostle teacheth) by which the just shall live, Galatians. 3. 11, 12.

Vers. 25. justice] or righteousness; the Greek translateth, Mercy shall be to us: so the word justice sometime signifieth, Psal. 112. 9. But here it meaneth justice or righteousness, whereby men if they could do the law, might be justified before God; and differeth from the justice of faith which we have obtained in Christ, as Paul saith, Moses describeth the justice which is of the Law, that the man which doth those things shall live by them. But the justice which is by faith, speaketh, &c. Rom. 10. 5, 6. Thus the law was a Schoolmaster unto Christ, that we might be made righteous by saith, Gal. 3. 24.

CHAP. VII.

1 A commandment to root out the seven nations in Canaan, 4 lest they corrupted Israel. 5 To abolish their idolatry. 6 The holiness and election of Israel, whence it proceedeth, 9 and what use they should make thereof. 12 The blessings promised upon the keeping of the Law. 16 The commandment repeated, to abolish Idolaters and their religion. 17 A confirmation of the faith of Israel against the multitude of their enemies, 22 whom God promiseth to destroy, but not all at once. 25 The abomination of their idolatry.

WHen Jehovah thy God shall have brought thee in, into the land whither thou goest in, to possess it, and hath cast out many nations from thy face; the Chethite, and the Girgasite, and the Amorite, and the Canaanite, and the Pherizzite, and the Evite, and the Jebusite; seven nations, greater and mightier than thou. And Jehovah thy God shall have delivered them before thee, and thou shalt smite them; utterly destroying thou shalt utterly destroy them: thou shalt not strike any covenant with them, nor show them grace.

Neither shalt thou make marriages with them: thy daughter thou shalt not give unto his son, and his daughter thou shalt not take unto thy son. For he will turn away thy son from after me, that they may serve other gods; and the anger of Jehovah will be kindled against you, and will destroy thee suddenly. But thus shall ye do unto them; ye shall destroy their altars, and break down their pillars, and cut down their groves; and their graven Images ye shall burn with fire. For thou art an holy people unto Jehovah thy God: Jehovah thy God hath chosen thee to be unto him a peculiar people, above all people's that are upon the face of the earth. Not for your multitude above all people's did Jehovah set his love upon you, and chose you, for ye were the fewest of all people's. But because Jehovah loved you, and because he would keep the oath which he had sworn unto your fathers, hath Jehovah brought you out with a strong hand, and hath redeemed thee out of the house of servants, out of the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt. Know therefore that Jehovah thy God, he is God, the faithful God, that keepeth covenant and mercy to them that love him, & that keep his commandments, to the thousand generation. And repayeth them that hate him unto his face, to destroy him: he will not delay to him that hateth him, unto his face he will repay him. Therefore thou shalt keep the commandment, and the statutes, and the judgments which I command thee this day, to do them.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

And it shall be, because ye shall hearken to these judgments, and shall keep and do them, that Jehovah thy God will keep unto thee the covenant, and the mercy which he sware unto thy fathers. And he will love thee, and will bless thee, and multiply thee: and he will bless the fruit of thy womb, and the fruit of thy land, thy corn, and thy new wine, and thy new oil, the increase of thy kine, and the flocks of thy sheep, upon the land which he sware unto thy fathers to give unto thee. Blessed shalt thou be above all people's: there shall not be a barren male, or a barren female, among thee, or among thy cattle. And Jehovah will take away from thee all sickness, and all the evil diseases of Egypt, which thou knowest, he will not put upon thee, but will lay them upon all that hate thee. And thou shalt cat up all the people's which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee; thine eye shall not spare them, neither shalt thou serve their gods, for that will be a snare unto thee. If thou shalt say in thine heart, These nations are moe than I, how shall I be able to dispossess them? Thou shalt not be afraid of them: remembering thou shalt remember that w<sup>ch</sup> Jehovah thy God did unto Pharaoh, and unto all Egypt. The great temptations which thine eye saw, and the signs, and the wonders, and the strong hand, and the stretched-out arm, with w<sup>ch</sup> Jehovah thy God brought thee out: so will Jehovah thy God do unto all people's, of whose faces thou art afraid. And also Jehovah thy God will send the hornet among them. until they perish that are left, and that hide themselves from thy face. Thou shalt not be affrighted at their faces: for Jehovah thy God <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> the midst of thee, a great God, & a fearful.

And Jehovah thy God will pluck out these nations from thy face, by little and little: thou shalt not be able to consume them suddenly, lest the wild beasts of the field multiply upon thee. But Jehovah thy God will deliver thē before thy face, and will destroy them with a great destruction, until they be wasted out.

And he will deliver their Kings into thine hand, and thou shalt destroy their name from under the heavens: there shall not a man stand before thy face, until thou have wasted them out. The graven images of their gods shall ye burn with fire; thou shalt not desire the silver and gold that is on them, nor take it unto thee, lest thou be snared therein; for it is an abomination to Jehovah thy God. And thou shalt not bring an abomination unto thine house, lest thou be a cursed thing like it: detesting, thou shalt detest it, and abhorring, thou shalt abhor it, for it is a cursed thing.

Vers. 12. because] the Greek translatheth it, when ⟨ϕ⟩ it implieth a reward of their obedience, which God of his grace will give: as in Gen. 22. •8. And the original word sometime is used for a reward, as Psal. 19. 12. sometime it signifieth for, or, because of, Isaiah 5. 23. these] the Greek addeth, all these; which is intended as the like phrase in Deut. 27. 2•. is opened by the Apostle, Gal. 3. 10. And under the name judgments, the commandments and statutes are also contained. keep unto thee] understand again, keep & do, (that is, perform) unto thee. Here by promises of communicating good things, and turning away evil, he exciteth them unto obedience: for godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come, ⟨ϕ⟩ . Tim. 4. 8. s ⟨...⟩ unto thy fathers] The oath and promise unto the fathers, pertaineth unto the faithful children, which are all implied in the covenant, Psal. 105. 8. 11. Luk. ⟨...⟩ 5. 72, 73, 74. Act. 3. 25, 26. Gal. 3. 29. So punishment remaineth for the wicked, from the parents to the children, for God recompenseth the iniquity of the fathers, into the bosom of their children after them, ser. 32. •8.

Vers. 13. love thee] that is, continue to love thee; for the love of God to his people, was the cause why he chose and called them, ⟨ϕ⟩ . 7, 8. not that we loved God; but that he loved us, 1 Job. 4. 10. and from the feeling of this in our hearts, proceedeth our love towards God; and out of love obedience; and so God continueth his love, which is the fountain of all blessings. So Christ faith, He that hath my commandments; and keepeth them, is he that loveth me: and he that loveth me, shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will show myself unto him, Job. 14. ⟨ϕ⟩ . fruit of thy womb] in Chaldee, the child of thy bowels: so in Deut. 28. 4. The just man walking in his integrity, his children are blessed after him, Prov. 20. 7. increase] or, young, as Exod. 13. 12. the Greek and Chaldee here translate, herds of thy kine.

Vers. 14. barren male] the Greek translatheth, without seed (or generation) compare this with Ex. 23. 26. Hereupon barrenness was a reproach, Luk. 1. 25. and fruitfulness counted a blessing, Psalm. 128. 1, 3.

Vers. 15. evil diseases] that is, painful, malignant, and incurable diseases, as Deut. 28. 27. Compare Exod. 15. 26. and 23. 25. lay] Hebrew, give: that is, lay, or, impose, as the Greek translatheth.

Vers. 16. eat up] that is, as the Chaldee translatheth it, consume: But the word, eat, hath respect unto that in Num. 14. 9. they are bread for us. See also Psal. 14. 4. This is not only a promise of victory, but a precept also, to abolish those cursed nations, as the words following manifest, and v. 1, 2, 3. spare] to wit, from vengeance, not take pity on them. This affection is often given to the eye, (as in other cases, Matt. 20. 15.) See Gen. 45. 20. Deut. 13. 8. Ezek. 5. 11. snare] a cause of thy ruin: the Chaldee faith, a scandal, or stumbling-block: so after in v. 25. See Exod. 23. 33. and the performance hereof mentioned in Psal. 106. 36. they served their Idols, which were a snare unto them.

Vers. 17. dispossess them] or, as the Chaldee translatheth, cast them out; in Greek, destroy them. These words of God tend to the strengthening of faith, against the fears and infirmities of the Saints, and power of their enemies. Compare Num. 13. 32.—34.

Vers. 18. Egypt] or, the Egyptians, as both Greek and Chaldee do translate. This example is often mentioned for the comfort of faith, Deut. 4. 34. &c. and 29. 2, 3. for it was a manifestation both of the power of God, and of his good will towards his people.

Vers. 19. temptations] or, trials, essaies: see Deut. 4. 34. and 29. 3.

Vers. 20. the hornet] or, hornets, as the Greek translatheth. As God by frogs, lice, and other creatures, plagued the Egyptians, Exod. 8. so did he the Canaanites with hornets, Ios. 24. 12. showing his power in confounding mighty enemies by small and weak means, 1 Cor. 1. 27, 28. Hereby also the pricks and terrors of conscience sent upon the wicked, may fitly be signified. So in Exod. 23. 28. from thy face] the Greek translatheth, from thee: so it is referred to the latter word hide, rather than to the former, perish.

Vers. 21. fearful] or, terrible; in Greek, strong, that is, able to save thee, terrible to thine enemies, (as 1 Sam. 4. 7. 8.) and unto thee fearful and to be revered, Psal. 89. 7.

Vers. 22. by little] This was accomplished, when some could not at the first be driven out, Ios. 15. 63. Judge. 3. 1. suddenly, or, hastily, quickly, that is, at once, but by degrees. Yet in Deut. 9. 3. he promiseth that they should destroy them suddenly, to wit, in respect of their enemies, 〈◇〉 whom sudden destruction come 〈◇〉 they 〈◇〉 aware• but in respect of Israel, it was not so 〈◇〉 as they looked for and desired. For God foresaw their infirmities, and how they would sin against him, if they were not exercised with troubles: yea, and for their sins it is observed, that he would not drive out the nations, that through them he might prov 〈...〉 , whether they would keep the way of the Lord, &c. Therefore the Lord 〈◇◇〉 nations, 〈◇〉 have 〈...〉 ing them 〈◇〉 hast•lie, 〈◇〉 delivered he them into the hand of Joshua, 〈◇〉 . 21, 22, 23. beasts] Hebr. beast. Here the Greek addeth, lest the land be wilderness, and the 〈◇〉 beasts of the field multiply: God could also have destroyed the wild be•sts from before them (as 〈◇〉 promiseth in L•v. 26. 6. Ezek. 34. 25.) but if Israel had suddenly destroyed the people's, pride, or security, or other vices would have crept upon them, which God in justice must also have punished 〈...〉 Judge. 3. 1, 2, 3, 4.

Vers. 23. destroy] or, vex, with 〈◇〉 and tumult: see Deut. 2. 15. and 2•. 20. Exod. 14. 24. It implieth troubles and vexations, which should cause their destruction. So the promise of God should certainly be performed, though not so speedily as men desired, that their faith and patience might be tried.

Vers. 24. their kings] as was fulfilled in Ios. 10. 24. and 2•. 7. 9.—24. where one and thirty kings are 〈...〉 ed, whom Israel conquered. from under heaven] out of this world: the Greek translatheth, out of that place. This hath long since been accompli•d; that now there is no memory either of 〈◇〉 Kings, or of any of those people's on the earth.

Vers. 25. The graven images of their gods] in Chaldee, The Images of their Idols: under the name 〈◇〉 , all other sorts are implied, as images mol 〈...〉 painted, or the like, Isaiah 30. 22. And by saying, of their gods, he excepteth other Images for civil use, as the Image of Caesar upon his coin <...> wfull, Matt. 22. 20, 21. The Hebrews say, Figures (or Images) which idolatrous heathens <ϕ> beauty (or civil ornament) are lawful to <ϕϕ> but figures which they make for Idolatry, <...> full. Maimonides treat of Idolatry, chap. 7. <ϕ> burn] so David burnt the Philistines <ϕ> Chron. 14. 12. See Deut. 12. 3. silver <ϕ> these are named for an instance, but all o <...> <...> ous instruments are implied, covering, <ϕ> , &c. Isaiah 30. 22. nor take it] Hebr. <ϕ> •ke it, that is, and not take it: the former pro <...> is here again to be understood, as in the verse following, and often in the Scriptures. <ϕϕ> be snared] that thou be not snared; this <...> t often implieth certain danger, as is no <...> <ϕ> Gen. 3. 3. and by snared, is meant falling into sin, and so into destruction, as before in ver. 16. an abomination to Jehovah] Hebr. the ab <...> tion of Jehovah, that is, a thing which the Lord much abhorreth. And this is another reason of the prohibition.

Vers. 26. into thine house] for any use or profit to [unspec] thyself; and so from these words the Hebrews gather, that The Idol, and things that serve it, and that which is offered thereto, and whatsoever is made for it, is unlawful for any use. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, chap. 7. sect. 2. lest thou be] Hebr. and thou be a cursed thing: meaning, and that thou be not, or, lest thou be: See the notes on Numb. 4. 15. or, for so thou shalt be a cursed thing, like it. it is a cursed thing] in Hebr. Cherem, in Greek, Anathe <...> a; which mean a thing separated from men's use, and devoted either to destruction, as the Idol and instruments thereof here mentioned; or, at the Lord's appointment to be carried into his treasury, as were the gods of Jericho, Ios. 6. 17, 19, 24. This law against idols & images, which are the work of men's hands, Psal. 115. 4. extendeth not to the creatures of God's making, though by men abused to idolatry, as the Hebrews also expound it, saying; Whatsoever hath not been taken by man's hand, and which man hath not made, though it hath been worshipped, yet is it lawful to have use of it. Therefore the beathens that served (or worshipped) the mountains, and the hills, and the trees that were planted at first for fruit, and fountains of water, that are common, and beasts; loe these are lawful to be made use of, and it is lawful to eat of those fruits which were worshipped in the place where they grew, and of those beasts, &c. A beast is not unlawful, so long as a man hath not done with it any work pertaining to idolatry; but if he have done any (such work therewith) it is unlawful every whit: as if he kill it to the service of an Idol, or exchange it, &c. provided that it be his own beast [and not another man's:] for if he kill his neighbors beast to an Idol, or exchange it, it is not made unlawful: for no man can make a thing unlawful which is not his own. If one worship any ground in the world, it is not made unlawful: if he dig pits or caves therein, to the name of an idol, they are unlawful, &c. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, chap. 8. sect. 1.

CHAP. VIII.

1 An exhortation to keep and do the Law for their own good, 2 because of God's former mercies in the wilderness, 7 and future blessings in Canaan. 10 A warning lest fullness occasion them to forget God, and his former benefits: 17 and lest they presume of their own strength. 19 A protestation against them, that they shall perish, if they forget and forsake their God.

ALL the commandment which I command thee this day, ye shall observe to do, that ye may live and multiply, & go in, and possess the land which Jehovah sware unto your fathers. And thou shalt remember all the way which Jehovah thy God led thee these forty years in the wilderness, for to humble thee, to tempt thee, to know what was in thine heart, whether thou wouldest keep his commandments, or no. And he humbled thee, and suffered thee to hunger, and fed thee with Manna, which thou knewest not, neither did thy fathers know: that the might make thee know, that man liveth not by bread only, but by every (word) that proceedeth out of the mouth of Jehovah doth man live. Thy raiment waxed not old upon thee, & thy foot swelled not these forty years. And thou shalt know with thine heart, that as a man chasteneth his son, Jehovah thy God chasteneth thee. And thou shalt keep the commandments of Jehovah thy God; to walk in his ways, and to fear him. For, Jehovah thy God bringeth thee into a good land, a land of brooks of waters, of fountains, and of depths, that issue out in the valley, and in the mountain.

A land of wheat, and of barley, and of vi <...> and fig-trees, and pomegranates: a land of olive and honey. A land wherein thou shalt eat bread without scarceness, thou shalt not lack any thing in it: a land whose stones are iron, and out of whose mountains thou mayest hew brass. And thou shalt eat and be full, & thou shalt bless Jehovah thy God, for the good land which he hath given thee. Take heed to thyself, lest thou forget Jehovah thy God, in not keeping his commandments, and his judgments, and his statutes, which I command thee this day. Lest thou eat, and be full, and buildest good houses, and dwellest in them. And thy herds, and thy flocks multiply; and silver and gold be multiplied to thee; and all that thou hast be multiplied. And thine heart be lifted up, and thou forget Jehovah thy God, which brought thee forth, out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of servants. Who led thee thorough that great and fearful wilderness, wherein were fiery serpents, and scorpions, and drought, where there was no water: who brought forth unto thee waters, out of the rock of flint. Who fed thee with Manna in the wilderness, w<sup>ch</sup> thy fathers knew not, for to humble thee, and for to tempt thee, to do thee good at thy latter end. And thou say in thy heart, my power, and the might of my hand hath gotten unto me this wealth. But thou shalt remember Jehovah thy God, that it is he that giveth thee power to get wealth, that he may establish his covenant, which he sware unto thy fathers, as it is this day. And it shall be, if forgetting thou shalt forget Jehovah thy God, and shalt walk after other gods, and serve them, and bow thyself down unto them; I testify against you this day, that perishing ye shall perish. As the nations which Jehovah causeth to perish from your faces, so shall ye perish, because ye would not hear the voice of Jehovah your God.

Annotations.

[Commandment] that is, as the Greek translateth, commandments. See Deut. 5. 31. and 6. <◇> . observe to do] or, keep and do, as the phrase sometime signifieth. See the notes on Gen. 2. 3. <◇> > may lve] that is, continue long in a prosperous life; for as sorrows, plagues, miseries are called deaths, Exod. •0. •7. 2 Cor. 11. 23. so a quiet and blessed estate is called life; as, years of life, Prov. 3. 2. mean many good years: and in Psal. 30. 6. life is opposed unto a moment. possess] or, inherit the land: under which, eternal life was figured, as is noted on Gen. 12. 5.

Vers. 2. all the way] that is, all the accidents that befell thee in the way; which were afflictions, wants, dangers on the one hand; and comforts, blessings, and deliverances on the other: by which, as by two walls, he kept Israel from going astray. Therefore this leading thorough the wilderness is often mentioned by the Prophets; as Amos 2. 10. Psal. 136. 16. and 78. 52, 53. Ier. 2. 2. 6. to humble] or, to afflict; as the Greek translateth, that he might afflict thee, and tempt thee. So verse. 3. tempt] or, prove, to wit, their faith and obedience: see the notes on Gen. 22. 〈ϕ〉 to know] that is, to have experiment in practice of that which was in them. The like is said of king Hezekiah, whom God left, to tempt him, that he might know all that was in his heart, 2 Chron. 32. 31. But in respect of himself, God needeth not that any should testify of man; for he knoweth what is in man, and what himself will do, John. 2. 25. and 6. 6. A faithful heart loveth, serveth, and believeth in God, as well in adversity, as prosperity, Matt. 4. 4. but an unfaithful murmureth in afflictions, Psal. 78. 40, 41.

Vers. 3. humbled] or, afflicted, as verse. 2. So God afflicteth the strength of his people in the way, Psal. 102. 24. He suffered them to hunger, before he gave them Manna: so God's people hunger and thirst after righteousness, and then he filleth them, Matt. 5. 6. Luk. 1. 53. Manna] Hebr. Man: of this meat, see the annotations on Exod. 16. 14, 15. &c. It was a figure of Christ, John. 6. bread only] that is, ordinary food, such as men live by; whereof bread is the principal. This sentence Christ alleged against Satan, when he tempted him to unlawful means for satisfying his hunger, Matth. 4. 4. word that proceedeth] so the Greek also translateth, adding this word, as the Apostle also doth, in Matt. 4. 4. But another Evangelist saith only, every word of God, Luk. 4. 4. The word of God is the ground of faith, Rom. 10. 17. which they that have abiding in them, shall surely be fed in time of hunger, both soul and body, Psal. 37. 3. &c.

Vers. 4. not old] that is, was not worn out with age, 〈ϕ〉 the Greek explaineth it: so in Deut. 29. 5. Neh. 〈ϕ〉 . 1. This was the second means of sustentation of life; which God also miraculously supplied unto them, that they might learn, not to seek as the Gentiles; or take thought, what they should eat, or drink, or wherewith they should be clothed, Matt. 〈ϕ〉 . 31, 32. swelled not] the Chaldee expoundeth it, thy shoes were not bare (or broken:) and so the Greek in Neh. 9. 21. where this is again mentioned: and Moses himself in Deut. 29. 5. In this sense it agreeth with the former. But it seemeth here to mean the feet properly, which swelled not, neither were surbated, though they travelled so long thorough that dry and •horny wilderness: and so it meaneth health of body, which God also gave them, as the third blessing necessary for this present life. forty years] the time of their travel in the wilderness: which number forty, is often used for to denote the time of affliction and humiliation. See the notes on Gen. 7. 4.

Vers. 5. know with thine heart] that is, know and acknowledge heartily, upon thine own feeling and experience. So Joshua said unto them, Ye know in all your heart, and in all your soul, Ios. 23. 14. chasteneth] or nurtureth, restraineth from the pleasures of the flesh. So other Scriptures speak of God's chastisements, like a father, Prov. 3. 11, 12. Heb. 12. 5.—10. and, Blessed is the man whom thou chastenest 〈ϕ〉 I•, Psal. 94. 12.

Vers. 6. his ways] which he hath commanded to ⟨ϕ⟩ in, that is, his Law, Exod. 18. 20. Psal. 25. 4. The Chaldee expoundeth it, the ways that are right before him. These are opposed to men's own •yes, Isaiah. 66. 3. and 55 8. 9. They comprehend faith, and other duties of the first Table, 1 King. 11. ⟨ϕ⟩ . 38. Act. 18 25, 26. and 22. 4. and virtues of the second Table also, 2 Pet. 2. 15. See the notes on Gen. 6. 12. to fear him] this is the means to keep men in God's ways, and is therefore set be ⟨...⟩ , ⟨ϕ⟩ 2 Chron. 6. 31. Psal. 128. 1.

Vers. 7. good land] a fat and fertile soil: See ⟨ϕ⟩ 1• 20. brooks] or rivers: the Chaldee explaineth it, flowing with brooks. of foun ⟨...⟩ ] or of springs: the Chaldee saith, welling out ⟨...⟩ aines and depths: the Greek, and fountains of ⟨ϕ⟩ . By deeps are meant store of waters, as Gen. 1. ⟨ϕ⟩ . and 7. 11. These brooks and springs figured ⟨ϕ⟩ plentiful graces of God's spirit, wherewith his Church is watered, Joel 3. 18. Ezek. 47. 1. &c. Rev. ⟨...⟩ Psal. 65. 10. and 46. 5. valley] put for valleys, and mountains, as the Greek and Chaldee translate. One is often used for many: See the notes on Gen. 3. 2. God sendeth the springs into the valleys, they run among the mountains, they give drink to e ⟨...⟩ y beast of the field, the wild asses quench their ⟨ϕ⟩ , Psal. 104. 10, 11.

Vers. 8. pomegranates] it signifieth both the fruit, Num. 13. 24. and the tree that bears them, Song 7. 1• Agg. 2. 20. oil olive] Hebr. olive-tree of ⟨ϕ⟩ , that is, as the Chaldee expounds it, olives that ⟨ϕ⟩ oil. With the fatness of the olive, they honored God and man, Judge. 9. 9. These earthly fruits figured also the heavenly graces which the faithful (warred with God's word and spirit) are filled and comforted with, Psal. 81. 17. and 147. 14. Song 8. ⟨ϕ⟩ . The trees that bear these fruits, figure ou• gracious men, from whose doctrine and conversation, heavenly comforts do flow in the Church, Judge. 9. 8.—13. Song 4. 13. and 6. 10. Hos. 10. 1. and 14. 7, 8. Psal. 1. 3. and 52. 10.

Vers. 9. eat bread] so having the fruition of God's blessings therein, which sometime men have not, though the land be fruitful, as Deut. 28. 30. 33. 39. 40. And for their sins it came to pass, that they did eat bread by weight, and with care, Ezek. 4. 16. brass] these latter are for munition, and other uses, as the former were for food: so all good things are implied. See also Deut. 33. 25. The mountains as God's store-houses were not only fruitful on the upmost face of them, with corn and grass, and trees of sundry sorts; but within their bowels (as it were) bred minerals and metals of great use for man. iron is taken out of the dust, and Brasse is molten out of the stone, Job 28. 2.

Vers. 10. be full] or, satisfied; which is a blessing that God giveth to the righteous, Prov. 13. 25. Ps. 147. 14. the contrary, to the wicked, Mic. 6. 14. Hag. 1. 6. shalt bless Jehovah] that is, shalt give him thanks; as where it is said, that Jesus took bread, and blessed, Mark. 14. 22. another Evangelist saith, he took bread, and gave thanks, Luke 22. 19. And as our Savior teacheth us to bless before we eat, Mat. 14. 19, 20. so this law chargeth us to bless after we have eaten: and as for meat and drink, so for other good things which we receive of God; as David saith, Bless the LORD, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits, Psal. 103. 2. and the Apostle commandeth, In everything give thanks, for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you, 1 Thes. 5. 18. The Hebrews (from this Law of Moses) teach, that although it be here said, thou shalt eat, and be full; and thou shalt bless, &c. yet if a man eat but a morsel (so much as an olive) he is to bless after it. And he is bound to bless for all meat first, and afterward to use it: likewise if he be to smell unto any sweet thing, he is to bless, and after to have the fruition of it: as also to bless after whatsoever he eateth or drinketh, though he drink but one little draught, or eat but a morsel. And as they were to bless for the use of the creatures, so for everything commanded in the Law, they were first to bless, and then to do the same. Women and servants were bound to bless their meat, and little children also, that they might be trained up in the Commandments. Unclean persons, whatsoever uncleanness they had, might bless notwithstanding. Maimonides tom. 1. in treat. of Blessings, ch. 1. s. 1. &c. and chap. 5. sect. 1.

Vers. 11. lest thou forget Jehovah] or, that thou forget not Jehovah; which the Chaldee expoundeth, that thou forget not the fear of the LORD. God is forgotten, when his Commandments are neglected, Psal. 106. 19, 21. Jer. 2. 32. and he is remembered, when his precepts are remembered and done, Psal. 103. 18. Moses his next words show this to be the meaning here. So God is forgotten, when his works towards us are forgotten, as appeareth after, in verse. 14. 15. &c.

Vers. 124 good] that is, goodly fair, pleasant, commodious; see the notes on Gen. 1. 4.

Vers. 14. l'fted up] the Chaldee expounds it strengthened, (or hardened:) meaning with pride, as is said of Nebuchadnezzar, Dan. 5. 20. and so lifting up of the heart meaneth, as Deut. 17. 20. Jer. 48. 29. Dan. 11. 12. which is the way for men to forget God, as is written, They were filled, and their heart was lifted up. therefore have they forgotten •e, Hos. 13. 6. servants] in Greek and Chaldee, servitude (or bondage.)

Vers. 15. •ed thee,] or, made thee go, to wit, safely that thou shouldst not stumble, as Esa. 63. 13. This grace David remembereth, in Psal. 136. 16. Which led his people thorough the wilderness, &c. This was by a pillar of a cloud by day, and by a pillar of fire by night, Exod. 13. 21. fearful] for it was a land of deserts and of pits, a land of drought, and of the shadow of death, a land that no man passed thorough, & where no man dwelt, Jer. 2. 6. fiery serpents] or, serpent, burning serpent and scorpion; the Greek translateth, where was the biting serpent and scorpion: the Chaldee saith, a place of burning. serpents and scorpions. See Num. 21. 6. &c. <◊> . scorpions] Hebr. scorpion, one for many, as is noted on Gen. 3. 2. Scorpions are venomous creatures, which hurt and sting with their tails: wicked men are likened unto such, Ezek. 2. 6. Rev. 9. 3. 5. 10. as also unto Serpents. Matth. 23. 33. drought] or thirst; meaning a land of thirst, as is expressed in Esa, 35. 7. and so the Chaldee here translateth, a place of dryness. rock of flint] that is, hard and dry rock, from whence God gave them water twice, Exod. 17. and Num. 20. Of this mercy David sung, that God turneth the rock to a lake of watens; the flint to a fountain of waters, Psal. 114. 8. After Moses speaketh figuratively, of oil out of the flints rock, Deut. 32. 13.

Vers. 16. Mavna] where of see before, verse. 3. and Exod. 16. thy latter end] for though no chastening for the present, seemeth to be joyous but grievous, yet afterward it yeeldith the peaceable fruit of righte onnesse, unto them which are exercised shereby, Hebr. 12. 11.

Vers. 17. And thou say] understand from verse. 12. lest thou say, that is, as the Greek translatheth, and say not. gotten] Hebr. made, that is, as the Chaldee expoundeth it, gotten: So in verse. 18. wealth] or power, meaning wealth or goods, as the Chaldee hath it.

Vers. 18. that it is he] or, for it is he. Riches and wealth in the land of Canaan, (figuring spiritual riches in Christ,) were the special gift of God, for The blessing of the LORD, it maketh rich, Prov. 10 22. but Israel forgot this, as God saith, For she did not know, that I gave her corn, and wine, and oil, and multiplied her silver and gold, Hos. 2. 8.

Vers. 19. other gods] the idols of the people, saith the Chaldee paraphrast. These words show what the forgetting of God meaneth: so Psal. 106. 19, 21. Itestifie] the Greek addeth, I take heaven and <...> th to witness against you. So Moses him-self elsewhere speaketh in Deut. 30. 19. parishing ye shall perish] that is, ye shall assuredly and speedily perish, not with standing your wealth and prosperity; as it is said, Neither their silver, nor their gold, shall be able to deliver them in the day of the LORD'S wrath; but the whole land shall be devoured by the fire of his jealousie, Zeph. 1. 18.

Vers. 20. not hear] that is, not obey the voice, which the Chaldee explaineth, not receive the word of the LORD.

CHAP. IX.

1. Moses teacheth Israel (now ready to enter into Canaan) that God would go before them, and destroy their enemies; <◇> not for their righteousness, but for the heathens wickedness, and for his own oath to Abraham. 6 Because Israel was a stiff-necked people, that had often rebelled against God in the wilderness; as, 8 at Horeb, where they made a molten. Calf, whiles Moses was on the mount to receive the tables of the Coveuant: 13 for which God would have destroyed them, but that Moses entreated for them, and abolished their idolatry. 22. How Israel sinned at Taberah. Massah, Kibroth hattaavah, 23 and at Kades barnea, where they resused to take poss•ssion of the Land. 25 Moses his fasting and praser for the people.

HEare O Israel; thou art passing over London this day, to go in to possess Nations, greater and mightier than throu; Cities, great and fenced, up to the Heavens. A people great and tall, the sons of the Anakims, whom thou hast known, and thou hast heard: who can stand before the sons of Anak? And thou shalt know this day, that Jehovah thy God is he that passeth over before thee, a consuming fire; he will destroy them, and he will bring them down before thy face, and thou shalt drive them out and dessroy them suddenly, as Jehovah hath spoke unto thee. Say not in thine heart, when Jehovah thy God hath cast them out from before thy face, saying; For my justice, Jehovah hath brought me in to possess this land: but for the wickedness of these nations, Jehovah doth drive them out from thy face. Nor for thy justice, or for the righteousness of thine heart, doest thou go in to possess their land; but for the wickedness of these nations, Jehovah thy God doth drive them out from thy face, and for to stablish the word which Jehovah sware unto thy fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob.

And thou shalt know, that not for thy justice doth Jehovah thy God give thee this good land, to possess it; for thou art a stiff-necked people.

Remember, forget not, how thou provokedst to wrath Jehovah thy God, in the wilderness, from the day that thou didst depart out of the land of Egypt, until ye came unto this place, ye have been rebellious against Jehovah. And in Horeb ye provoked Jehovah to wrath; and Jehovah was angry with you, to have destroyed you. When I was gone up into the mount, to receive the tables of stone, the tables of the Covenant, which Jehovah stroke with you: and I abode in the mount forty days and forty nights; I did neither eat bread, nor drink water. And Jehovah gave unto me the two tables of stone, written with the finger of God: and on them, according to all the words which Jehovah spake with you in the mount, out of the midst of fire, in the day of the Assembly. And it was, at the end of forty days and forty nights, Jehovah gave unto me the two tables of stone, the tables of the Covenant. And Jehovah said unto me, Arise, go down quickly from hence; for thy people, which thou hast brought forth out of Egypt, have corrupted themselves; they have quickly turned aside out of the way which I commanded them; they have made them a molten calf. And Jehovah said unto me, saying; I have seen  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  people, and behold, it is a stiff-necked people. Let me alone, that I may destroy them, and blot out their name from under the heavens: and I will make of thee a nation mightier and greater than they. And I turned  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  me, and came down from the mount, and the mount burned with fire, and the two tables of the Covenant were in my two hands.

And I saw, and behold, ye had sinned against Jehovah your God, ye had made you  $\langle \dots \rangle$  a calf, ye had turned aside quickly  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  the way which Jehovah had commanded  $\langle \dots \rangle$  you. And I took the two tables and  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  them out of my two hands, and brake them before your eyes. And I fell down before Jehovah, as at the first, forty days, and  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  nights; I did neither eat bread, nor  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  water, because of all your sin which ye had sinned, in doing evil in the eyes of Jehovah, to provoke him to anger. For I was afraid because of the anger and hot displeasure where with Jehovah was wroth against you, to destroy you: but Jehovah heard  $\langle \dots \rangle$  unto me at that time also. And Jehovah  $\langle \dots \rangle$  very angry with Aaron, to have destroyed him: and I prayed for Aaron also, in the same time. And your sin, the Calf which ye had made, I took, and burned it with fire, and stamped it, grinding it well, until it was made small as dust, and I cast the dust thereof into the brook that descended out of the mount. And at Taberah, and at Massah, and at Kibroth-hataavah, ye provoked Jehovah to wrath. And when Jehovah sent you from Kadesh-barnea, saying, Go up, and possess the land which I have given unto you, then ye rebelled against the mouth of Jehovah your God, and ye believed him not, neither hearkened unto his voice. You have been rebellious against Jehovah, from the day that I knew you. And I fell down before Jehovah, forty days and forty nights, as I fell down, because Jehovah had said for to destroy you. And I prayed unto Jehovah, and said; O Lord Jehovah, destroy not thy people, and thine inheritance, which thou hast redeemed through thy greatness, which thou hast brought forth out of Egypt with a strong hand. Remember thy servants Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob: look not unto the hardness of this people, nor to their wickedness, nor to their sin. Lest the land from whence thou hast brought us out, do say, Because Jehovah was not able to bring them into the land which he spake unto them; and because he hated them, he hath brought them out to slay them in the wilderness. Yet they are thy people, and thine inheritance, which thou broughtest out by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arm.

Annotations.

[Iordan] Hebr. Iarden: a river thorough which Israel was to pass into the land, Deut. 1. 1. See Num. 34. 12. this day] that is, at this time, very shortly. Day is often used for time, as 2 Cor. 6. 2. An houre is likewise so used for time; as the last hour, 1 John 2. 18. So, in that hour, Luke 10. 21. 16. At that time, Matth. 11. 25. possess] or inherit; which when it is spoken of nations, signifieth dominion over them, Lev. 25. 45, 46. Here it may be meant also of the lands or countries of those nations, as they are said to possess Gad, which dwelt in his cities, Ier. 49. 1.

Vers. 2. Anakims] whom the Chaldee calleth Giants. They were named of one Anak. (of whom see Numb. 13. 23.) and so the Greek here saith, sons of Enak. hast heard] to wit, men say. A common report of others, and of the Israelites themselves, Numb. 13. 29, 34.

Vers. 3. he that passeth] Against fear and distrust, (such as had affected them before, Numb. 14. 1, 2, 3, &c.) he opposeth the presence and power of God, which is the main argument to strengthen faith, Numb. 14. 9. Psal. 56. 4, 5. and 60. 13, 14. ⟨ϕ⟩ consuming] Hebr. eating: so Deut. 4. 24. The Chaldee translatheth, his word is a consuming fire suddenly] or, quickly, hostily: see the notes on Deut. 7. 22.

Vers. 4. For my justice] The Hebrew In, is by the Greek also here translated For, and it often noteth the cause of a thing; as Hos. 12. 13. in (that is, for) ⟨ϕ⟩ . So in Psal. 1. 2. Deut. 2. 16. Here he opposeth the second evil, pride of heart, against which he dealeth in all the rest of this Chapter.

Vers. 5. righteousness] or, uprightness, straitness, equity: the Greek translatheth it here piety; the Chaldee, truth. By naming justice, he excludeth all merit of works, Deut. 6. 25. and by righteousness of heart, all inward affections and purposes, which men might plead, notwithstanding that they fail in action. Yet these two are the chief things which God respecteth in men, Psal. 15. 1, 2. 1 Chron. 29. 17. for the wickedness] Two causes are here shown of this work of God; justice against the wicked inhabitants, which should perish for their sins; and mercy towards Israel, whom he would do good unto, of grace. Thus also he dealeth concerning the heavenly inheritance, the wicked are shut out, for their evil works, Jude v. 14. 15. But the Saints are saved by grace through faith not of works, lest any man should boast, Ephes. 2. 8, 9. the word] the Greek translatheth, stablish the covenant (or, testament:) hereby he calleth them wholly to God's word and promise, as Paul doth us in Gal. 3. 18. Rom. 15. 8. showing that Jesus Christ was a minister of the circumcision for the truth of God, to constring the fathers promises, and that the Gentiles might glorify God for mercy.

Vers. 6. this good land] a figure of heavenly blessings, as is shown on Gen. 12. 5. stiff-necked] or, of a hard neck, that is, stubborn and rebellious: see the notes on Exod. 32. 9. to which place Moses hath reference, and from God's testimony there, and their sins then and at other times, convinceth them as being altogether unworthy: that (as another Prophet saith) they might remember their ways, and all their doings wherein they had been defiled; and might loath themselves in their own eyes, for all their evils that they had committed; and might know that he was Jehovah, when he had wroug 〈...〉 it with them for his names sake, not according to their wicked ways, nor according to their corrupt doings, Ezek. 20. 43, 44. and 36. 31, 32.

Vers. 7. Remember, forget not] an earnest and effectual manner of speaking, to move unto careful remembrance: see the notes on Deut. 33. 6. against] Hebr. with Jehovah, which the Chaldee translath, before the Lord; the Greek, ye have rebelliously performed things pertaining to the Lord. This general charge he proveth by many particular instances following.

Vers. 8. H•reb] or 〈ϕ〉, the mountain where the Law was given: their rebellion there is described in Exod. 32. destroyed you] for there God said to Moses, let me alone, &c. and I will consume them, Exod. 32. 10.

Vers. 9. 〈ϕ〉 the mount] called up thither of God, to receive the tables of the covenant, and other ordinances, Exod. 24. 12.—18. The time, place, occasion, end, and all circumstances, greatly aggravated the people's sin.

Vers. 10. of stone] the signification whereof is noted on Exod. 31. 18. finger] signifying the Spirit: as, I with the finger of God, cast out devils, Luke 11. 20. that is, with the Spirit of God, Matt. 12. 28. So it figured the work of God in our hearts writing there his Law; as, Ye are manifestly declared to be the Epistle of Christ, ministered by us, written not with ink, but with the spirit of the living God; not in tables of stone, but in fleshy tables of the heart, 2 Cor. 3. 3.

Vers. 12. corrupted.] This word meaneth the corruption of God's service and religion▪ see the notes on Exod. 32. 7. and Gen. 6. 11, 12, 13. molten calf] the word calf is expressed in v. 16. This molten calf they worshipped; and Moses said, Oh, this people have sinned a great sin, and have made them gods of gold, Exod. 32. 8. 31.

Vers. 13. saying] Here the Greek version addeth, I have spoken unto thee once and twice, saying; I have seen, &c. I have seen] by the Lord's seeing and hearing of sinners, is often meant a due regard of their sins, to punish them in his anger, Deut. 32. 19. Psal. 78. 21. and 90. 8. But when he pardoneth sinners, he is said to hide his face from their sins, and not to see them, Psal. 51. 11. Num. 23. 21.

Vers. 14. Let me alone] which the Chaldee expounds; Leave off thy prayer before me. So in Exod. 32. 10.

Vers. 15. burned] Hebr. burning: the terror of which sight only, might have kept them from this sin, in that the signs of God's presence were not yet departed from their eyes. See Exod. 19. 18. and 20. 18. two hands] both hands full with blessings of the Lord for them, if their unworthiness had not turned them away.

Vers. 17. I took a] the original word signifieth a purposed taking hold, and handling of a thing; as they that go to war, are said to take (or handle) the shield, Ier. 46. 9. and they that expound the Law, are said to handle it. Ier. 2. 8. So Moses did this advisedly, guided by God's Spirit; signifying that the covenant between God and them was now dissolved and broken, and that the Law pertained not to them, except to their condemnation, for breaking the same. See Exod. 32. 19.

Vers. 18. I fell down] the Greek expoundeth it, I prayed before the Lord the second time, as at the first. Here Moses repeateth, how by his humble intercession, they escaped destruction, and were reconciled again unto God. See the history at large, in Exod. 32. 31. &c. forty days] the number of days, and of years, sundry times mentioned in the Scripture; 〈...〉 tion 〈◇〉 judgment. See the 〈◇〉 . 7. 4. sin] the Greek transleteth, sin▪ respecting the manifold evil in this, and their other transgressions.

Vers. 19. For I was] the Greek applying this to the time present also, saith; And I am afraid: For the Lord, though he pardoned it then, reserved vengeance till another opportunity, Exod. 32. 34. hearkened unto me] that is, as the Chaldee explaineth it, accepted my prayer.

Vers. 20. with Aaron] who made the calf for them, and would have excused himself, but was guilty of death: see Exod. 32. 21,—24.

Vers. 21. your sin] the Calf is so called, as being the thing wherein they sinned. So Idols are called a sin in Esa. 31. 7. the brook] that came out of the Rock Horeb, which Rock in figure was Christ, 1 Cor. 10. 4. of which they drank, to signify the abolishing of their sin by Christ, upon their repentance and faith: see the notes on Exod. 32. 20.

Vers. 22. at Taberah] or, in Taberah, that is (as both Greek and Chaldee do interpret it) the Burning: a place so called, because the people complaining there, the fire of the Lord was kindled, and consumed some of them. See the history in Num. 11. 1, 2, 3. Massah] in English, the temptation; and so the Greek and Chaldee translate it. A place at Rephidim in the wilderness, before they came to Horeb, ten stations from Egypt, in the first year of their travel; where wanting water, they tempted God, saying, Is the Lord amongst us, or no? and there he gave them water out of the Rock, Exod. 17. See the annotations there, and Psal. 95. 8, 9. Heb. 3. 8. &c. Deut. 6. 16. Kibroth-hattaavah] in English, the Graves of lust; so translated also by the Greek. Here (a little from Taberah forementioned) they loathed Manna, and lusted for flesh: God gave them Quails, but they died of a plague, 〈◇〉 the flesh was yet between their teeth; and 〈◇〉 buried there, occasioned this name of the 〈◇〉, for a perpetual memorial. See Num. 11. 4—34. and the annotations there. Also Psal. 78. 〈◇〉.—31. and 106. 14, 15.

Vers. 23. Kadesh-barnea] where, being come thorough the wilderness of Pharan, to the border of the land of Canaan, they were commanded of God to go take possession. Then they sent spies, who discouraged the people: so through want of 〈◇〉 they durst not enter, and were for it condemned 〈◇◇〉 40. years wandering in the wilderness, and 〈◇〉 ended their days. See Numb. 13. and 14. 〈◇〉 . against the mouth] that is, against the 〈◇〉 ▪ or commandment: in Greek, ye disobeyed 〈◇〉 word.

Vers. 24. that I knew you] the Greek expounds 〈...〉 the day that he was known unto you. So he 〈...〉 death with a general charge of rebellion upon them, showing hereby the impossibility of the law, and ministry thereof, to bring men unto God▪ for it causeth sin and wrath to abound; as 〈⋄〉 4. 15. and 8 3. Gal. 3. 19, 22. For besides these 〈...〉 lars, they sinned many other times in the 〈...〉 nesse, as is noted on Num. 14. 22. and in Psa. 〈⋄〉 . and 106.

Vers. 25. I fell down] in Greek, I prayed. He 〈...〉 th to speak of their reconciliation to God, which was by the prayer of Moses, as a mediator, 〈⋄〉 figure of Christ: by whom (and not by our own deserts) we have entrance into the kingdom of God, Gal. 3. 22. 24. Rom. 3. 20,—22. and 5. 1, 2, &c. as I fell down] to wit, at the first, as v. 18. or, which I fell down, that is, which I said before that I fell down. But the Hebrew asher, which, is sometimes used for as, as in Ier. 48. 8. said for to destroy] that is, said that he would destroy you. See the like phrases so expounded in Isaiah 49. 6. with Acts 13. 47. 1 Chron. 17. 4. with 2 Sam. 7. 5. Matt. 20. 19. with Mark. 10. 33, 34.

Vers. 26. Lord Iehovah] in Greek, Lord, Lord: in Chaldee, Lord God. See the annotations on Gen. 15. 2. thy people] this respecteth their adoption in Christ, and justification, 1 Pet. 2. 9, 10. inheritance] this implieth their sanctification, unto the obedience and service of God by the Spirit: See Exod. 34. 9. through thy greatness] in Greek, through thy great strength, as v. 29. it implieth also his great goodness, and therefore is often spoken of his gracious works for his people, 1 Chron. 17. 19. Luke 1 49.

Vers. 27. thy servants] He meaneth God's oath unto them, to multiply their seed, and to give them the land for an eternal inheritance, as is expressed in this prayer before, Exod. 32. 13. So the Greek addeth here, unto whom thou swarest by thyself. hardness] the natural corruption, whereby the heart is hardened, that it cannot repent and believe the word of God; (from which, the two evils following do flow,) Rom. 2. 5.

Vers. 28. the land] that is, as the Greek and Chaldee both explain, the inhabitants of the land. This reason is also alleged in Exod. 32. 12. and Numb. 14. 16.

CHAP. X.

1 A rehearsal of God's mercies, in renewing the two tables of the Covenant; 6 in leading the people forward towards Canaan, and continuing the priest-hood after Aaron's death; 8 in separating the tribe of Levi unto the ministry; 10 in hearkening unto Moses his suit for the people. 12 An exhortation unto obedience, 14 because of God's glory: 15 love unto Israel; 17 justice towards all; 21 his fearful works, 22 and multiplication of his people.

AT that time Jehovah said unto me, Hew thee two tables of stone, like the first, and come up unto me, into the mount, and thou shalt make thee an Ark of wood. And I will write on the tables the words which were on the first tables, which thou brakest, and thou shalt put them in the Ark. And I made an Ark of Shittim wood, and hewed two tables of stone, like the first, & went up into the mount, and the two tables in my hand. And he wrote on the tables, according to the first writing, the ten words which Jehovah had spoken unto you in the mount, out of the midst of the fire, in the day of the assembly: and Jehovah gave them unto me. And I turned myself, and came down from the mount, and I put the tables in the Ark which I had made, and there they be, as Jehovah commanded me. And the sons of Israel journeyed from Beeroth of the sons of Iaakan from Moserah: there Aaron died, and was buried there; and Eleazar his son administered the Priests office in his stead. From thence they journeyed to Gudgodah, and from Gudgodah to Iot-bath, a land of rivers of waters. At that time Jehovah separated the tribe of Levi, to bear the Ark of the covenant of Jehovah, to stand before Jehovah to minister unto him, and to bless in his name unto this day. Therefore Levi hath no part or inheritance with his brethren: Jehovah, he is his inheritance, as Jehovah thy God spake unto him. And I stood in the mount, according to the former days, forty days, and forty nights: and Jehovah hearkened unto me, at that time also; Jehovah would not destroy thee. And Jehovah said unto me, Arise, go in journey before the people, that they may go in, and possess the land, which I sware unto their fathers to give unto them.

And now Israel, what doth Jehovah thy God ask of thee, but to fear Jehovah thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve Jehovah thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul. To keep the commandments of Jehovah and his statutes, which I command thee this day, for good unto thee. Behold, unto Jehovah thy God belong the heavens, and the heavens of heavens, the earth, and all that therein is. Only in thy fathers Jehovah had a delight, to love them, and he chose their seed after them, even you, above all people's, as it is this day. Circumcise therefore the super fluous foreskinne of your heart, and make not your neck stiff anymore. For, Jehovah your God, he is God of God's, and Lord of Lord's, the great God, the mighty, and the fearful, which will not regard persons, nor take reward. He doth the judgment of the fatherless and widow, and loveth the stranger, in giving unto him bread and raiment. Love ye therefore the stranger; for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt. Thou shalt fear Jehovah thy God, him thou shalt serve, and to him shalt thou cleave, & by his name shalt thou swear.

He is thy praise, and he is thy, God, which hath done for thee these great and fearful things, which thine eyes have seen. With seventy sonles did thy fathers go down into Egypt, and now Jehovah thy God hath made thee as the stars of the heavens for multitude.

Annotations.

AT that time] Moses rehearsing the mercies of God unto Israel, (for which they should love and obey him,) showeth how upon his request, God presently shown the tokens of his grace, by renewing the covenant; the history whereof is in Exod. 34. hew thee] herein they differed from the first Tables, which were the work of God, Exod. 32. 16. These being of Moses hewing, shown the work of Moses Law upon the heart of man, which is to hew and polish it, but not to change it from stone to flesh, for that is the work of Christ: see the notes on Exod. 31. 18. & 34. 1. come up] Moses only, and no man with him, was commanded to go up to the top of the mount; and it was to be in the morning, the time of mercy: see Exod. 34. 2, 3. Of the mount Sinai, and how it differed from mount Zion, see the annotations on Exod. 19. and 20. an Ark] of this there was no mention in Exod. 34. but in Exod. 25. there the Ark and Mercy-feat that covered it, is commanded: which was a figure of Christ. That seemeth to be the Ark here spoken of; for any other temporary Ark we read not of.

Vers. 2. on the first] God's law was the same, and unchanged; though the tables (figuring men's hearts) are changeable.

Vers. 3. Shittim wood] which was a kind of Cedar, uncorruptible, as the Greek translatheth it: see the notes on Exod. 25. 5. in my hand] the Greek saith, in my two hands, as was in Deut. 9. 15. The Tables which God made and gave before, were written on: these which Moses made were hewed, but empty, till God wrote upon them: so the Law is written in men's hearts, and they do by nature the things of the Law, Rom. 2. 14, 15. but corrupting themselves in the things that they know, their hearts are hewed only by Moses ministry; and how ever they boast of the Law, yet through breaking the Law they dishonor God, Rom. 2. 23. till that be fulfilled which God hath promised, I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts, Heb. 8. 10.

Vers. 4. the ten words] that is, ten commandments; or Decalogue: these were written by God himself, but other laws then rehearsed, were written by Moses, Exod. 34. 27, 28. For there the Lord came down in a cloud, proclaimed his name, renewed the covenant, and repeated the principal laws, Exod. 34. 5. &c. day of the assembly] or, of the Church, that is, when the Church or people were assembled to hear the Law, or to meet with God, as Exod. 19. 17. Deut. 5. 22. So in Deut. 18. 16. And in Acts 7. 38. it is said, This (Moses) is he that was in the Church (or Assembl<sup>e</sup>) in the wilderness with the Angel, which spake to him in the mount Sina, and with our fathers, who received the lively oracles to give unto us.

Vers. 5. in the Ark] so the covenant remained in the midst of Israel, and the Tables were not broken as at the first: howbeit Moses face now shined at his second coming down, which terrified the people, and caused him to veil his face; another sign of the weakness of his legal ministry: see the notes on Exod. 34. 29. there they be] for an evidence of God's grace, and testimony of his covenant renewed with Israel. Wherefore those Tables were called the Testimony; and the Ark wherein they were put, the Ark of the Testimony: see Exod. 25. 10. 16. 22.

Vers. 6. journeyed] the Ark of God's covenant going before them, to search out a resting place for them, Numb. 10. 33. So this was another testimony of their reconciliation with God, and of his graces to be communicated unto them in Christ. Beeroth] by interpretation, Wells, or Pits: which word is not mentioned in Num. 33. 31. but understood there. Neither was it a place by mount Sinai, from whence they first journeyed, Numb. 10. 33. but many stations from it, as appeareth by Numb. 33. 16.—31. Moses therefore keepeth not here the order of their travels, but signifieth how they had gone many journeys forward, the Lord conducting thē. Some of the Hebrews (as Ibn Ezra) do think this was another place than that of the sons of Iaakan, mentioned in Numb. 33. and that hereby is meant Kadesh. sons of Iaakan] who was one of the posterity of Seir, whom the Edomites drove out of their land, 1 Chron. 1. 38.—42. Moses before named him Akan, Gen. 36. 27. From the Pits or We ⟨...⟩ of these infidels, God removed them towards the land of Canaan, the promised holy land, where by faith in Christ, they might with joy draw waters out of the fountains of salvation, Isaiah 12. 3. Moserah] called before (in the plural number) Moseroth, Numb. 33. 30. and it was their station before they came to the wells of the sons of Iaakan, though here Moses nameth it after. Wherefore we ⟨◇⟩ here to understand again, from Moserah, or, & Moserah. The Greek calleth it Misadai, changing ⟨◇⟩ D.

which is usual, as is noted on Gen. 4. 18. But Ibn Ezra (as before) thinketh this Moserah ⟨◇⟩ the name of the wilderness of mount Hor, ⟨◇⟩ Aaron died, and not the Moseroth spoken of ⟨◇⟩ Num. 33. there Aaron died] not at Moserah; (unless it were the wilderness of Hor, as ⟨◇⟩ Ezra supposeth) not at Beeroth, but many jo ⟨...⟩ ey from it, at mount Hor, Num. 33. 37, 38. We are therefore to understand these words thus, ⟨◇⟩ (or thither.) where Aaron died. Or supplying the former word, frō thence where Aaron died. ⟨◇⟩ there] out of the land of Canaan, whereinto ⟨◇⟩ ⟨...⟩ ght not enter, because of his sin: see the an ⟨...⟩ ons on Num. 20. 24. &c. in his stead] As ⟨◇⟩ ⟨...⟩ ath of Moses and Aaron, with their sister M ⟨...⟩ , (the King, Priest and Prophetess of Israel) ⟨◇◇⟩ testification of the weakness and impossibility of the legal kingdom and priesthood, to being them into the kingdom of God: so the ⟨...⟩ nce of the Priesthood in Aaron's poste ⟨...⟩ y, was another sign of God's grace towards Israel, for reconciliation of them to himself, and blessing them, till Christ (who hath a Priesthood that passeth not from him to another) should come, who is able perfectly to save them that come unto God by him, Heb. 7. 11, 12, 23, 24, 25.

Vers. 7. From thence] namely, from Beeroth of the sons of Iaakan, Numb. 33. 32. Gudgodah] in the Chaldee, Gudgod; in Greek, Gadgad: before Moses named it Hor-hagidgad, that is, the Hole of Gidgad: see Num. 33. 32, 33. Iotbath] in Greek, Ietabatha, as in Num. 33. 33.

Vers. 8. At that time] not when they came to Iotbath, but long before, whiles they were at mount Sina, God separated the tribe of Levi: see Num. 3. 1, 6, &c. So the time (when God was provoked to wrath) commendeth the riches of his grace. separated] from all other business, to serve the Lord and his people, Exod. 28. 1. Numb. 3. 45. and 16. 9. tribe of Levi] of which tribe Aaron and all the Priests were; so he speaketh here of the whole▪ to bear] Hereupon David said, It is not for any to bear the Ark of God, but for the Levites, &c. 1 Chron. 15. 2. See also Numb. 4. 15. to stand] this gesture the Priests and Levites used in all their ministration, standing, not sitting; and it was a sign of service, as he that stood before the King, Ier. 52. 12. is in another Scripture called the servant of the King, 2 King. 25. 8. So after, in Deut. 17. 12. and 18. 5. 7. Judge. 20. 28. In like manner, the Prophets are said to stand before the Lord, 1 King. 17. 1. and 18. 15. 2 King. 3. 14. and 5. 16. Likewise also the Angels, as Luk. 1. 19. I am Gabriel that stand before God: so in 2 Chron. 18. 18. And as the Levites stood before the Lord, so they are said also to stand before the people, and to serve them, Numb. 16. 9. 2 Chron. 35. 3. Ezek. 44. 11. to bless] of this duty, see the annotations on Num. 6. 23. Thus God provided for the comfort of their souls, whiles his ministry was settled among them, by which they might daily have access unto his throne of grace.

Vers. 9. no part] to wit, no part in the spoils taken by war, no inheritance in the land of Canaan, which was divided among the other tribes only: see Num. 18. 20. and 26. 53, 57. and 35. 2. Deut. 18. 1. he is] for of the first-fruits, tithes, vows, and oblations of the Lord, the Priests and Levites had their livelihood: see the annotations on Num. 18. 8, 9.—20, 21, &c. Therefore the Chaldee paraphrast here translateth, the gifts that the Lord hath given him, they are his inheritance. Of which see more in Deut. 12. 19. and 14. 27. and 18. 1, 2.

Vers. 10. And stood] or, when I had stood, that is, both stayed (or abidden) and in prayer waited upon the Lord for mercy. Standing, often signifieth prayer, as is noted on Gen. 18. 22. and the words following here manifest the same. hearkened] the Chaldee expounds it, accepted my prayer. destroy] Hebr. corrupt; which when it is spoken of God, usually meaneth destruction: set Gen. 6. 13.

Vers. 11. that they may] or, and they shall, which the Greek translateth, and let them go in. These phrases are one in sense, as is noted on Gen. 12. 12. and 27. 4. This commandment and promise was a testimony that God now was reconciled unto them, by the intercession of Moses.

Vers. 12. ask of thee] This word, often used when men ask▪ that is, request or desire a thing of God, 1 Sam. 1. 17, 20, 27. I am. 1. 5, 6. is here used for God's asking obedience of men, as if he desired and requested the same; and as in Mica. 6. 8. he is said to seek, or require the like thing. This grace Paul showeth most effectually, saying; as though God did beseech you by us, we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God, 2 Cor. 5. 20. to fear] see the notes on Deut. 6. 13. This fear is the beginning of wisdom, Prov. 1. 7. by which men depart from evil, Prov. 16. 6. Unto which, and other holy duties, Moses calleth this people, as being the end and use of the former rehearsal of their sins, and of God's mercies towards them. So by other Prophets, he calleth men to obedience and humble walking before him, rather than to sacrifice: see 1 Sam. 15. 22. Ier. 7. 22, 23. Mic. 6. 6, 7, 8. his ways] that is, to follow him, in his faith and religion, and all his commandments; for these are the ways of God, Psal. 25. 4, 5. Act. 18. 25, 26. The Chaldee translateth, the ways which are right before him: see the notes on Gen. 18. 19. and 6. 12. to love] The sum and end of the Law, 1 Tim. 1. 5. See the notes on Exod. 20. 6. serve] in outward obedience also; that we love, not in word, neither in tongue, but in deed and truth, 1 John. 3. 18. What *servin*g implieth, see noted on Exod. 20. 5. and Deut. 6. 13.

Vers. 13. for good] or, as the Greek and Chaldee interpret, that it may be well with thee: so Deut. 5. 33. In serving the Lord, the glory redoundeth unto him, the benefit to ourselves: for, them that honor him, he will honor, 1 Sam. 2. 30. and godliness hath the promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come, 1 Tim. 4 8.

Vers. 14. unto Jehovah] or, of Jehovah: his they are, and of him made, preserved, and loved generally as his creatures, for he saveth man and beast, Psal. 36. 7. and is kind unto the unthankful, and to the evil, Luk. 35. So it is acknowledged in Neh. 9. 6. Thou even thou, art Lord alone, thou hast made the heavens, the heavens of heavens, with all their hast, the earth, and all things that are therein; the seas, and all that is therein; and thou preservest them all, and the h<sup>o</sup>st of heaven worshippeth thee. the heavens of heavens▪] that is, the highest heavens, as the Apostle mentioneth the third heaven, 2 Cor. 12. 2. Hereby •he Angels also are implied; so in Targum Jonathan• it is explained, the heavens of heavens, and companies of Angels which are in them, to 〈
...〉 ister before him.

Vers. 15. had a delight,] which the Greek translateth, fore-chose to love them: and this is his special grace to his Church in Christ, Ephes. 1. 3, 4, 5, &c. their seed] their children, as the Chaldee explains it; for God's grace is continued unto the posterity of the faithful, even to thousands of them that love him, &c. Exod. 20. 6.

Vers. 16. the superfluous fore-skin] this the Greek translath, hardness of heart: the Chaldee, foolishness (or grossness) of the heart: See the annotations on Gen. 17. 11. Hereby is taught repentance and mortification of the inward man, by circumcision of the heart, in the spirit, Rom. 2. 29. in putting off the body of the sins of the flesh, Col. 2. 11. For we are the circumcision that worship God in the Spirit, Phil. 3. 3. Hereupon God promiseth to circumcise their hearts, Deut. 30. 6. and blameth them that were uncircumcised in heart, Ier. 9. 26. Acts 7. 51. make not your neck stiff] or, harden not, (stiffen not) your neck: see Deut. 9. 6. This is against their outward disobedience, as the former was against their inward; and teacheth submission unto the yoke of God's law, contrary to their former stubbornness.

Vers. 17. God of God's] that is, the chiefest God, in respect of all that are called God's, whether in heaven or in earth, as there be God's many, and Lord's many, 1 Cor. 8. 5, 6. The Idols of the Heathens, the Angels in heaven, and Magistrates on earth, are called God's, Deut. 7. 25. Psal. 8. 6. with Heb. 2. 7, 8, 9. Psal. 82. regard persons] or respect (or accept) faces: which the Greek translath, not have in admiration the person (or face) of any; which phrase the Apostle useth, Jude v. 16. Of God, sundry other Scriptures testify, that he respecteth no persons, as Act. 10. 34. Rom. 2. 11. 2 Chron. 19. 7. Job 34. 19. 1 Pet. 1. 17. Gal. 2. 6. Ephes. 6. 9. Col. 3. 25. nor take reward] that is, will not pervert judgment, by condemning the innocent, or justifying the wicked, for gifts or rewards, as unrighteous Judges do, 1 Sam. 8. 3. Psal. 15. 5. Isaiah 5. 23.

Vers. 18. doth the judgment] that is, executeth the rightful sentence, for delivering, or avenging them; as it is said, the Lord hath judged (that is, delivered) him from the hand of his enemies, 2 Sam. 18. 19. And he doth judgments to all oppressed, Psal. 103. 6. But the fatherless and widow are here by name expressed, because such are commonly and easily wronged in the world, Job 22. 9. and 24. 3, 9. Psal. 94. 6. Ezek. 22. 7. therefore God is said to be the Judge, that is, the Patron, defender and releever of such, Psal. 68. 6. and 10. 14. and 146. 7. 9. and commandeth men to be the like, Isaiah 1. 17. Psal. 82. 3. bread] that is, as the Chaldee explaineth it, food: for bread, which is the staff & stay of man's life, is often used for all meat, as is noted on Genes. 3. 19. And as God feedeth strangers, so he commandeth his people to do the like, Deut. 14. 29. and 16. 11. 14. and 24. 19, 20, 21. and 26. 11, 12.

Vers. 19. Love ye therefore] or, And love ye the stranger, to wit, as God loveth him, that is, manifest your love by relieving him: see Ia 〈...〉 . 2. 15, 16. y• were strangers] this remembrance of their former misery, is often used, to move them unto compassiō towards others. See Exod. 22. 21. Lev. 19. •3, 34.

Vers. 20. cleave] This word is first used to express [unspec] the union that is between man and wi•e, Gen. 2. 24. applied here, to signify our union with 〈...〉 d in Christ, as Paul showeth it by the same 〈...〉 de of marriage, Ephes. 5. 25.—32. But this is spiritual •as he saith, He that cleaveth to [unspec] the Lord, is one spirit, 1 Cor. 6. 17. It is to be done with purpose of heart, Act. 11. 23. and with soul, Psal. 63. 9. with a continued resolution, as Ruth 1. 14.—16. So in other cases, cleaving signifieth such an union as will not be parted, Job 41. •7. Dan. 2. 43. Compare also Deut. 4. 4. and 11. 22. and 13. 4. and 30. 20. swear] hereby Confession is implied, ⟨◇⟩ is before noted on Deut. 6. 13.

Vers. 21. thy praise] in Greek, thy glorying, that is, whom thou oughtest to praise continually, [unspec] and in whom thou art to glory. So Jeremiah said, th<sup>o</sup> art my praise, Ier. 17. 14. and David, O God of my praise, Psal. 109 1. and, the praises of Israel, Psal. 22. 4. fearful things] in Greek, glorious things; which imply both the good things done unto Israel, and the evil unto their enemies, as appeareth by Psal. 106. 22. 2 Sam. 7. 23. Isaiah 64. 3.

Vers. 22. seventy souls] that is, seventy persons: some Greek Copies have seventy five souls; other [unspec] some, and (as Jerome witnesseth,) the lxxij. Interpreters translate here seventy; though elsewhere they have 75. which the Holy Ghost followeth in Act<sup>s</sup> 7. 14. See the annotations on Genes. 46. 27. 20. made thee] Hebr. put thee as the stars, that is, made thee innumerable; which was a sing ⟨...⟩ blessing remembered before in Deut. 1. 10. and ⟨◇⟩ in Neh. 9. 23. and a fulfilling of the promise made unto Abraham, Gen. 22. 17. and again ⟨...⟩ , Ge<sup>s</sup>. 20. 4. According to this similitude the Israelites are called the host of heaven, and ⟨...⟩ , Dan. 8. 10. 24. and in other visions, the ⟨◇◇⟩ the Church is called Heaven Rev. 4. 2. ⟨...⟩ . 19. and ⟨...⟩ 2. 1. 7. and the chief members of the same, Stars, Rev. 6. 13. and 8. 10. and ⟨...⟩ , 4.

AND thou shalt love Jehovah thy God, and keep his charge, and his statutes, and his judgments, and his commandments, all days: And know ye this day: for (I speak) not with your children, which have not known, and which have not seen the chastisement of Jehovah your God, his greatness, his strong hand, and his stretched-out arm. And his signs, and his deeds which he did in the midst of Egypt, unto Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and unto all his land.

And what he did unto the army of Egypt, unto their horses, and to their Chariots; how he made the waters of the Red sea to flow over their faces as they pursued after you; & Jehovah hath destroyed thē unto this day. And what he did unto you in the wilderness, until ye came unto this place. And what he did to Dathan, and to Abiram, the sons of Eliab, the son of Reuben, how the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed up them, and their houses, and their tents, and all the substance that was at their feet, in the midst of all Israel.

But your eyes have seen all the great work of Jehovah, which he hath done. Therefore shall ye keep all the commandment which I command thee this day, that ye may be strong, and go in, and possess the land, whither ye are going over to possess it. And that ye may prolong your days upon the land, w<sup>ch</sup> Jehovah sware unto your fathers, to give unto them, and to their seed; a land flowing with milk & honey. For the land whither thou goest in to possess it, is not as the land of Egypt, from whence ye came out, where thou sowedst thy seed, and wa•er•dst it with thy foot, as a garden of herbs. But the land whither ye are going over to possess it, is a land of mountains and of valleys; it drinketh waters of the rain of heavens. A land which Jehovah thy God careth for; the eyes of Jehovah thy God are continually upon it, from the beginning of the year, even to the end of the year.

And it shall be, if hearkening ye shall hearken unto my commandments which I command you this day, to love Jehovah your God, and to serve him, with all your heart, and with all your soul; That I will give the rain of your land in his time, the first rain, and the latter rain; and thou shalt gather in thy Corn, and thy new wine, and thy new Oil. And I will give grass in thy field, for thy cattle, that thou <∞> and be full.

Take heed to yourselves, lest your heart be deceived, and ye turn aside, and serve other gods, and bow down yourselves to them. And the anger of Jehovah be kindled against you, and he shut up the heavens, that there be no rain, and the land yield not her increase, and ye perish quickly from off the good land, which Jehovah giveth you.

And ye shall put these my words in your heart, and in your soul, and shall bind them for a sign upon your hand, and they shall be for Phylacteries between your eyes. And ye shall teach them your children, speaking of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest in the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up. And thou shalt write them upon the door-posts of thine house, and on thy gates. That your days may be multiplied, and the days of your children, in the land which Jehovah sware unto your fathers, to give unto them, as the days of the heavens upon the earth. For if keeping ye shall keep all this commandment, which I command you, to do it, to love Jehovah your God, to walk in all his ways, and to cleave unto him; Then will Jehovah drive out all these nations from before your faces, and ye shall possess nations greater and mightier than yourselves. Every place whereon the sole of your foot shall tread, shall be yours: from the wilderness and Lebanon; from the river, the river Euphrates, and unto the hindmost sea shall your coast be. There shall not a man stand before you: Jehovah your God will give the dread of you, and the fear of you upon the face of all the land, which ye shall tread upon, as he hath spoken unto you.

< in non-Latin alphabet >

Behold, I set before you this day a blessing, and a curse. A blessing, if ye shall hearken unto the commandments of Jehovah your God, which I command you this day. And a curse, if ye will not hearken unto the commandments of Jehovah your God, but turn aside out of the way which I command you this day, to go after other gods, which ye have not known.

And it shall be, when Jehovah thy God hath brought thee in, unto the land whither thou goest, to possess it, that thou shalt put the blessing upon mount Gerizim, and the curse upon mount Ebal. Are they not on the other-side Jordan, by the way of the going down of the Sun, in the land of the Canaanite, which dwelleth in the plain, over against Gilgal, besides the Okes of Moreh? For ye are passing over Jordan, to go in, to possess the land which Jehovah your God giveth unto you, and ye shall possess it, and dwell in it. And ye shall observe to do all the statutes, and the judgments which I set before your faces this day.

Annotations.

And thou shalt love] or, Love thou therefore. Moses returneth to exhort Israel unto the love of God, and to show the same by their continual obedience. his charge] or, his custody, his observation: which word is often used for a watch, as in Exod. 14. 24. The Greek translatheth it charges, or custodies; meaning, ordinances to be kept heedfully: so in Gen. 26. 5. Lev. 8. 35. and 18. 30.

Vers. 2. for (I speak not) with your children] [unspec] or, that (it is) not your children (or sons) namely, which have seen God's greatness, &c. but your eyes (are they) that have seen, &c. verse. 7. He commendeth God's special favor to their own persons, more than to their fathers, or to their children, in showing them his great works, for which they should the more love and obey him. This he after confirmeth by many arguments. the chastisement] or nurture: which the Chaldee translatheth, doctrine, or instruction. It implieth nurture both by words and works, as Deut. 4. 36. and 8. 5. Lev. 26. 18. Prov. 1. 2. and 4. 1. stretched out] the Greek and Chaldee translate, high arm. See the notes on Deut. 4. 34.

Vers. 3. deeds] or acts, in Greek wonders. Of [unspec] these see the history in Exod. 7, &c. And here is the first argument, from God's mighty works in Egypt.

Vers. 4. arm] or power, forces. So the Greek [unspec] translatheth, the power of the Egyptians. See Exod. 15. 4. to their horses] Hebr. to his horses, and to his Chariots; speaking of them as of one man, or having respect to Pharaoh their King. to flow] or, to swim; and over their faces, is like that in Lam. 3. 54. waters flowed over mine head. He meaneth they were drowned, the Sea covered them, they sanke as Lead in the mighty waters, Exod. 15. 10. destroyed] or, made them perish: so that there remained not so much as one of them, Exod. 14. 28. This was an extraordinary favor of God, who oftentimes suffereth the oppressors to have the strong hand, whiles the oppressed have the tears, and no comforter, Eccles. 4. 1. So this is the second argument from God's power shown at the Red sea.

Vers. 5. what he did] or, the things which he [unspec] did, in his continual guiding them thorough that terrible wilderness, where they bewrayed their many infirmities, and had experience both of his chastisements, and of his mercies: the third argument and motive unto obedience.

Vers. 6. Dathan] of whose history, see Numb. 16. This is the fourth argument of God's greatness, to persuade Israel unto his love: for that he had repressed the factious and mutinous rebels among themselves, which would have subverted the order and ordinance of God concerning the Priesthood, the means of the atonement and reconciliation between God and his people. their houses] that is, households; as the Chaldee expounds it, the men of their houses: See Numb. 16. 32. at their feet] that is, in their possession: the Greek and Chaldee translate, that was with them.

Vers. 7. have seen] or, are they that see. Therefore this people, above all other, were bound to love the Lord. work] or deed, that is, works, as the Greek translatheth. So in the verse following, commandment, for commandments.

Vers. 8. be strong] in body and spirit, to fight against the enemy: as in Ios. 1. 6. 1 John. 2. 14. Or, be strong, that is, lively and healthful, as the Greek translatheth, that ye may live: and they that be strong, Matth. 9. 12. are by another Evangelist said to be in health, opposed to the sick, Luk. 5. 31. possess] or, inherit the land; a figure of the kingdom of God's grace and glory, which the righteous shall possess by inheritance, Isaiah 60. 21. and 65. 9.

Vers. 9. and honey] which signified the great fertility of that land, and figured out spiritual graces and comforts, as is noted on Exod. 3. 8.

Vers. 10. thou sowedst] and so all the inhabitants, as the Greek translatheth, they s•w. In Egypt (from whence Israel came) they had no rain, but by the over-flowing of the river Nile, the land was watered; and by the labor of the husbandman, becks were derived to moisten the ground. And that there they had no rain, is testified both by the Prophets, Zach. 14. 18. and by human histories: Pomp. Mela li. 1. Herodotus in Euterpe. Nec pluvio supplicat herba Iovi, Tibul. lib. 1. Eleg. 8. with thy foot] that is, with thy diligent labor, signified sometime by the hand, Psal. 128. 2. sometime by the foot, as Gen. 30. 30. This condition of the land of Egypt (the house of bondage) figured the estate of men naturally corrupted, which they labor to relieve by their own works, and with the muddy waters which are from beneath, proceeding from earthly wisdom and carnal understanding, 1 Cor. 1. 20, 31. and 2. 4. 5. Ezek. 34. 19. Ier. 2. 13.

Verse 11. mountains, &c.] hereby is meant the commodious, healthful, and pleasant situation of the land, far exceeding Egypt. Wherefore sometime the whole land is signified under the name of a mountain, Exod. 15. 17. And because it was hills and valleys, it could not be watered with the over-flowing of any river, (as Egypt which was a plain,) but must otherwise be moistened with the rain of heaven, or else remain barren and fruitless. the rain] this, as it is most kind, & causeth the earth to be fruitful in nature; so it figured heavenly graces, the doctrine of God's word & spirit, wherewith the souls of men are made fruitful in good works, Isaiah 45. 8. Mica 5. 7. See the notes on Gen. 27. 28. Deut. 32. 2. The want of rain is on the contrary, a sign of curse, Zach. 14. 17, 18. Rev. 11. 6.

Vers. 12. careth for] Hebr. seeketh, that is, carefully seeth unto it, and as the Greek translatheth, visiteth. According to this phrase, Zion is called a city sought, (that is, cared for, or regarded) and not forsaken, Isaiah 62. 12. And of God's gracious providence towards the land of Israel, David singeth, how the Lord visited the land, and plenteously moistened it, very much enriched it, softened it with showers, blessed the bud of it, crowned the year of his goodness, and his paths [the clouds] dropped fatness, Psal. 65. 10, 11, 12. the eyes] this also signifieth God's care and providence, for good, as in the like speeches, Ier. 40. 4. Ezra 5. 5. Psal. 34. 16. Though God's providence be towards all people's, and he giveth to all, life and breath, and all things, Acts 17. 25. doing good. giving us rain from heaven, and fruitful seasons, Acts 14. 17.

causing it to rain on the earth where no man is; on the wilderness, wherein there is no man, Job 38. 26. yet other people's have not the word and promise of God, whereon to depend, as Israel had: whereby they might live, not by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord, Deut. 8. 3.

Vers. 13. if hearkening ye shall hearken] that is, if ye shall diligently hearken, and obey. This passage of Scripture following, the Jews read daily in their families, as is noted on Deut. 6. 4.

Vers. 14. the first rain, &c.] or, the early rain. Twice in a year there fell store of rain in Israel; in the beginning of the year, about September or October; and half a year after, which was in Abib (or March) which ecclesiastically began the year unto Israel, as is noted on Exod. 12. 2. whereupon it is called the latter rain in the first month, Iol 2. 23. The first rain fell after the sowing of their corn, that it might take rooting in the earth: the latter rain was a little before harvest, that the ear might be full, Of these the Scriptures sundry times speak; but so as that they depended upon God, to whom Israel should obey, and of whom they should ask rain, in the time of the latter rain, Zach. 10. 1. and then he would come unto them (with his blessings) as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth, Hosea 6. 3. So for the fruits, the husbandman waited, and had long patience, until he received the early rain, and the latter rain, I am. 5. 7. Which rain, as it figured heavenly blessings in Christ, Deut. 32. 2. Psal. 72. 6. so they led Israel to the fear of God; but when they revolted from him, they said not in their heart, Let us now fear the Lord our God, that giveth rain, both the former and the latter rain in his season, Jer. 5. 24. If these rains were seasonable and moderate, the land was fruitful; (as Moses in the next words showeth:) if they failed, then the drought as fire devoured the pastures; if they fell immoderately, the grains rotted under their clods, Joel 1. 19, 17. new oil] These three were for the use of man, and the grass after mentioned, for beasts, as David also showeth in Psal. 104. 13, 14, 15. By these earthly promises God drew his people to obedience: but David had more gladness in his heart, in the light of the Lord's countenance, than when corn and wine increased, Psal. 4. 6, 7.

Vers. 16. deceived] or, enticed and drawn away by riches, pleasures, or false persuasions: of which Job saith, If my heart hath been secretly enticed (or deceived) Job 31. 27. other gods] that is, Idols, falsely reputed God's: so the Chaldee translath, Idols (or Errors) of the people's.

Vers. 17. shut-up the heavens] this phrase is used, both for restraining the natural rain for men's sins, 1 Kings 8. 35. and the spiritual rain of God's word and blessings, Revel. 11. 6. perish quickly] or, speedily, suddenly. The wicked heathens God suffered with much patience, and would not have them destroyed suddenly, Deut. 7. 22. but his own people are threatened for their sins to perish suddenly: for judgment must begin at the house of God, 1 Pet. 4. 17. & he warneth his Church to repent, &c. or else he will come unto her quickly, Revel. 2. 5.

Vers. 18. phylacteries] or frontlets, written in parchments, and tied to the forehead, as the former were to the hand or arm: of these, see the annotations on Exod. 13. 9. 16. and Deut. 6. 4, 8.

Vers. 19. teach them your children] cause your children (Hebr. your sons) to learne them; this explaineth the former precept, Thou shalt whet them on thy children, Deut. 6. 7. Abraham (the father of the faithful) is commended for this, that he would command his children, and his household after him, to keep the way of the LORD, Gen. 18. 19. and Solomon's parents taught him the Law, Prov. 4. 3, 4. and 31. 1, 2, &c. when thou walkest &c.] answerable to these, are those sayings of Solomon, When thou goest, it shall lead thee; when thou sleepest, it shall keep thee; and when thou awakest; it shall talk with thee: for the Commandment is a Lamp, and the Law is a light, Prov. 6. 22, 23.

Vers. 20. door-posts] of this rite, see the notes on Deut. 6. 9.

Vers. 21. days may be multiplied] Long life is a blessing, often promised to them that keep God's Law. Hear, O my son, and receive my sayings, and the years of thy life shall be many, Prov. 4. 10. days of the heavens] that is, whiles the world endureth; for so long, by the decree of God (in Gen. 8. 22.) shall the days of heaven be; and so long shall the heavens be over the earth. And under this, eternal life was also figured. A like promise was for the kingdom of David, or of Christ, that his throne should be as the days of the heavens, Psal. 89. 30.

Vers. 22. this commandment] the Greek explaineth it, these commandments: see the notes on Deut. 5. 31. to cleave] that is, to continue fast united unto him and his Law, as is noted on Deut. 10. 20.

Vers. 23. drive out] according to his former promise, in Exod. 23. 23. 27.—31. But because Israel kept not God's commandment, this promise was not fully performed, Judge. 2. 1, 2, 3.

Vers. 24. shall tread] The like promise is made after Moses death to Israel under Jesus their Captain, Ios. 1. 3. who was a figure of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom this promise was fulfilled. the wilderness] of Paran, which was the southern border of the land of Canaan. and Lebanon a mountain which was the northerne bound. By and Lebanon, we may understand and unto Lebanon, as the next words manifest. Euphrates] in Hebrew, Pherath: this is called the river for excellency sake, meaning the great river, as Deut. 1. 7. Gen. 15. 18. and so the Greek translateth it here. It was the eastern border of their territories. hindmost sea] or, after sea, which the Greek and Chaldee calleth the Western sea, meaning the main or great sea toward the going down of the Sun, as is explained in Ios. 1. 4. which sea is said to be after or behind them, because it was to the West, and so their western bound. For the East is counted the fore-part of the world, the West behind, the South on the right hand, Psal. 89. 13. and the North on the left: all which four parts are called by these names in Job 23. 8, 9. See this promise fulfilled in 2 Chron. 9. 26.

Vers. 25. stand] or, set himself, that is, resist or withstand you, as the Greek translateth. So in Ios. 1. 5. fear] in Greek, trembling; this was fulfilled before, Deut. 2. 25. Psal. 105. 38. and after, Ios. 2. 11. and 10. 10.

Here beginneth the 47. section, 〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 or Lecture of the Law: see Genes. 6. 9.

Vers. 26. I set] Hebr. I give: this was, that they might take their choice of either of these; for so the phrase elsewhere meaneth, Deut. 30. 19. and so to manifest, that if the curse or evil came upon them, they caused it themselves.

Vers. 27. if ye shall hearken] or, that ye may hearken: but the Hebrew Asher, That, is sometimes used for If, as the Greek here translatheth it, and in Levite. 4. 22. So Asher in 1. King. 8. 31. is Im, that is, If, in 2 Chron. 6. 22.

Vers. 28. after other gods] in Greek, to serve other gods, following other religions, or divine services, which the Chaldee calleth the idols of the people's. Sol. Rashi observeth from this place, that whosoever committeth idolatry, he turneth aside from all the way which was commanded to Israel: here upon they say, He that professeth idolatry, is as if he denied the whole Law.

Vers. 29. put the blessing] Heb. give the blessing, that is, cause it to be pronounced upon mount Gerizim. The manner is shown in Deut. 27. where this Law is repeated and enlarged. A thing is said to be given sometime, when it is spoken or pronounced with the mouth, as in Job 36. 3. Deut. 13. 1, 2. upon mount Gerizim] or, towards mount Gerizim, (which the Greek calleth Garizim;) so after, towards mount Ebal, (called in Greek Gaibal.) For the people stood half of them over against mount Gerizim, and half of them over against mount Ebal, as is recorded in Ios. 8. 33. And the Hebrew gnal sometimes signifieth towards a place, as in Exod. 9. 22. towards heaven.

Vers. 30. Are they not] that is, Loe they are, speaking as of a thing well known. See the notes on Gen. 4. 7. by the way] or, after (behind) the way of the going down of the Sun, that is, the way towards the West, or Sun-setting. Gilgal] the place where Israel was circumcised afterward in Joshua's time, Ios. 5. 9. Okes of Moreh] or, plains of Moreh, as the Chaldee expoundeth it; which was a place by Shechem, where God first appeared to Abraham after he came into the land of Canaan, and there Abraham built an Altar to the Lord, Gen. 12. 6, 7. And that mount Gerizim was by Shechem, (in that part of the country which after was called Samaria) appeareth in Judge. 9. 6, 7. And the Hebrews say, in Talmud Bab. in Sotah, chap. 7. that Gerizim and Ebal were in Samaria. There on mount Gerizim was the Samaritans Temple, 2 Maccab. 6. 2. where they worshipped they knew not what, John. 4. 20. 22. See also Josephus Antiq. l. 11. c. 8. It seemeth they took occasion of that superstition from this Law, thinking Gerizim to be a holy place, because the blessings were pronounced on it; and they called themselves, those that belong to the blessed mount. And there have been of them in that place of late years, as Benjamin in his Itinerario relateth, how he saw the city in a valley between the mountains Garizim and Ebal, wherein the Samaritans dwelled, and did sacrifice there on mount Garizim, alleging that which is written in the Law, And thou shalt put the blessing upon mount Gerizim.

CHAP. XII.

1 Places and monuments of idolatry are to be destroyed: 4 they may not do so unto the Lord, but must seek and keep the place of his service, which he himself should choose. 5 11 14 Thither all their sacrifices & holy things must be brought. 12 18 There they and their families, and the Levite, must eat and rejoice. 15 21 For civil use they might kill and eat within their gates. 16. 23 Blood is forbidden to be eaten. 29 The manner of service which the Canaanites used, may not be inquired after, nor the like things done unto the Lord, but his commandments only.

These are the statutes and the judgments which ye shall observe to do, in the land which Jehovah the God of thy fathers giveth unto thee, to possess it all the days that ye live upon the earth. Destroying ye shall destroy all the places wherein the nations which ye shall possess, served their gods, upon the high mountains, and upon the hills, and under every green tree. And ye shall break down their altars, and break their pillars, and burn their groves with fire; and ye shall hew down the graven images of their gods, and ye shall destroy the names of them out of that place. Ye shall not do so unto Jehovah your God. But unto the place which Jehovah your God shall choose out of all your Tribes, to put his Name there, even unto his habitation shall ye seek, and thither shalt thou come. And thither ye shall bring your burnt offerings, and your sacrifices, and your tithes, and the heave-offering of your hand, and your vows, and your voluntary offerings, and the firstlings of your herd, and of your flock. And there ye shall eat before Jehovah your God, and ye shall rejoice in all that ye put your hand unto, you and your houses, wherein Jehovah thy God hath blessed thee. Ye shall not do after all things which we do here this day, every man all that is right in his own eyes. For ye are not come as yet unto the rest and unto the inheritance which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee. But ye shall pass over Jordan, and dwell in the land which Jehovah your God giveth you to inherit, and he will give you rest from all your enemies round about, and ye shall dwell in consistent safety. And there shall be a place which Jehovah your God shall choose, to cause his name to dwell there; thither shall ye bring all that I command you, your burnt-offerings, and your sacrifices, your tithes, and the heave-offering of your hand, and all the choice of your vows which ye shall vow unto Jehovah. And ye shall rejoice before Jehovah your God; you, and your sons, and your daughters, and your men-servants, and your women-servants, and the Levite that is within your gates, forasmuch as he hath no part nor inheritance with you. Take heed to thyself, lest thou offer thy burnt-offerings in every place which thou shalt see. But in the place which Jehovah shall choose, in one of thy Tribes, there thou shalt offer thy burnt-offerings, and there thou shalt do all that I command thee.

Notwithstanding, in all the desire of thy soul, thou mayest slay and eat flesh, according to the blessing of Jehovah thy God, which he hath given to thee in all thy gates: the unclean and the clean may eat thereof, as of the Roe-bucke, and as of the Hart. Only the blood ye shall not eat, ye shall pour it upon the earth as water. Thou mayest not eat within thy gates, the tithe of thy corn, or of thy new wine, or of thine oil, or the firstlings of thy herd, or of thy flock, or any of thy vows which thou shalt vow, or thy voluntary offerings, or heave-offering of thine hand.

But thou shalt eat it before Jehovah thy God, in the place which Jehovah thy God shall choose; thou, and thy son, and thy daughter, and thy man-servant, and thy woman-servant, and the Levite that is within thy gates: and thou shalt rejoice before Jehovah thy God, in all that thou puttest thine hand unto. Take heed to thyself, lest thou forsake the Levite, all thy days, upon thy land.

When Jehovah thy God shall enlarge thy border, as he hath spoken unto thee, and thou shalt say, I will eat flesh, because thy sold desireth to eat flesh; in all the desire of thy soul thou mayest eat flesh. If the place which Jehovah thy God shall choose, to put his name there, be far from thee, then thou shalt slay of thy herd, and of thy flock, which Jehovah hath given unto thee, as I have commanded thee: and thou shalt eat within thy gates in all the desire of thy soul. But, as the Roe-bucke and the Hart is eaten, so thou shalt eat it: the unclean and the clean shall eat it alike. Only be sure not to eat the blood, for the blood is the soul, and thou shalt not eat the soul with the flesh. Thou shalt not eat it: thou shalt pour it on the earth as water. Thou shalt not eat it, that it may be well with thee, and with thy sons after thee, when thou shalt do that which is right in the eyes of Jehovah. Only thy holy things which thou shalt have, & thy vows, thou shalt take up, and go unto the place which Jehovah shall choose. And thou shalt make thy burnt-offerings, the flesh and the blood, upon the Altar of Jehovah thy God; and the blood of thy sacrifices shall be poured out upon the Altar of Jehovah thy God, and thou shalt eat the flesh. Observe and hear all these words which I command thee, that it may be well with thee, and with thy sons after thee forever, when thou shalt do that which is good and right in the eyes of Jehovah thy God.

When Jehovah thy God shall cut off the nations from before thee, whither thou goest to possess them, and thou possessest them and dwellest in their land. Take heed to thy self lest thou be ensnated after them, after that they be destroyed from before thee; and lest thou enquire after their gods, saying, How did these nations serve their gods? even so will I do likewise. Thou shalt not do so unto Jehovah thy God; for every abomination to Jehovah which he hateth, have they done unto their gods; for even their sons and their daughters they have burnt in the fire to their gods. Every word which I command you, that shall ye observe to do: thou shalt not add unto it, neither shalt thou diminish from it.

Annotations.

Statutes] Here Moses entereth into the explication of the second commandment, concerning the manner of God's worship, when Israel should come into Canaan; and proposeth in the 12, 13, 14, 15, and 16 chapters, Statutes for the service of God; and afterwards Judgments for the repressing of evils.

Vers. 2. destroying] that is, ye shall speedily and utterly destroy; as the Greek translatheth, destroy with destruction. In the Hebrew canons it is said, We are commanded to destroy the Idol, and the ministering vessels thereof, and whatsoever is made for the same, Deut. 12. 2. And in the land of Israel we are commanded to persecute it, until it be destroyed out of all our land: but without the land we are not commanded to persecute it. But every place which we shall subdue, we are to destroy every Idol that is therein, as it is written (in Deut. 12. 3.) and ye shall destroy the names of them out of that place. Maimonides in Misneh, treat. of Idolatry, ch. 7. sect. 1. places] as houses, high places, temples, and the like. Hereupon the house of Baal, 2 King. 10. 27. the high places which Solomon and Jeroboam had built for idolatry, 2 King. 23. 13. 15. were destroyed. But if an house were built for use, and Idols afterwards set up in it, the Hebrews say, When he had brought in the Idol into the house, so long as it was there, the house was unlawful for any use; when it was taken out, the house was lawful, Maim. treat. of Idola•y, ch. 8. sect. 4. shall possess] that is, shall subdue and have dominion over them, as the word often signifieth; see Levite. 25. 45, 46. Ier. 49. 2. Psal. 82. 8. gods] that is, as the Chaldee explaineth it, Idols: there are gods (so called) many; but into  $\langle\phi\rangle$  there is but one God, 1 Cor. 8. 5, 6. mountains] in such high places, all nations for the most part used to serve their gods: into which corruption Israel sometime fell, 2 King. 17. 10, 11. Ier. 3. 6. Ezek. 20. 28, 29. Hos. 4. 13.

Vers. 3. pillars] or statues, standing Images: of these see Exod. 23. 24. Levite. 26. 1. greves] which were wont to be as temples unto the heathen, as is noted on Exod. 34. 13. See also the annotations on Deut. 7. 5. gods] in Chaldee, Images of there Idols. names] whether in speech, (for the name of other gods might not be heard out of their mouths, Exod. 23. 13.) or imprinted in books, graven on pillars, imposed on places, or any other the like. So the Reubenites changed the names of cities, that carried Idol names, Num. 32. 38. As the beginning of true religion is repentance from dead works, Heb. 6. 1. so in the constituting of God's true service, Moses beginneth with the abolishing of all idolatrous monuments; for What agreement hath the temple of God with Idols? 2 Cor. 6. 16.

Vers. 4. not do so] in any of the former particulars, or such like: as not to destroy or do evil to God's sanctuary or synagogues, Psal. 74. 3, 6, 7, 8. not to break down his Altars, 1 King. 19. 10. nor to deface any holy writings, or monuments of his name, Ier. 36. 23. The Hebrews say, Whosoever destroyeth any name of the holy pure names, whereby the blessed God is called, is by the law to be beaten; for  $\langle\phi\rangle$  of Idols he saith. And thou shalt destroy the names of them, &c. Thou shalt not do so to the Lord thy God. He that takes away but one stone (by way of destroying) from the Altar, or from the Temple, or from any other part of the Court, is to be beaten. Likewise he that burneth any of the wood of the sanctuary, &c. All the holy Scriptures, and expositions of them, it is unlawful to burn any of them, or destroy them with hand, except they be such as are written by heretics, &c. But holy Scriptures when they are old, are to be laid up. Maimonides in Iesudei hatorah, ch. 6. sect. 1. 7. 8.

Vers. 5. to put his name there] that is, to have it consecrated unto him, and his divine service. Such was the Tabernacle of Moses, the Temple of Solomon, the City Jerusalem, after God had chosen it; for of them God said, My name shall be there, 1 King. 8. 29. and his Name was called upon them, Dan. 9. 18. and put there, 2 King. 21. 4, 9. 1 King. 14. 11. The Chaldee here expoundeth it, to cause  $\langle\phi\rangle$  Majesty (or divine presence) to dwell there. Now Christ hath abolished the earthly Jerusalem, and requireth worship in spirit and truth everywhere, John. 4. 11, 23. shall ye seek] for answers and oracles, which from the mercy-seat, and by Vrim and Thummim, were given to the people, Numb. 7. 89. Exod. 25. 22. Numb. 27. 21. All other places were forbidden; as, Seek not Bethel, nor enter into Gilgal, &c. Amos 5. 5. shalt thou come] at all times, when thou wilt offer sacrifice, Levite. 17. 8, 9. but three times in the year by express commandment, Exod. 23. 14.—17. And there the Lord promised to come unto them and bless them, Exod. 20. 24.

Vers. 6. sacrifices] of all sorts, as sin-offerings, peace-offerings, and whatsoever pertained to the Alter Sacrifices have their name of slaughter, which were slain, offered, and eaten before the Lord: the Chaldee here expoundeth it, the slaughter (or sacrifice) of your holy things. tithes]

the tenth of the herd and of the flock, which both Priests and people were to bring and slay before the Lord, and eat them in Jerusalem: whereof see Levite. 27. 32. and the tithes of corn &c. whereof see verse. 17. and Deut. 14. 22, 23. heave-offering of your hand] the Greek translatheth, the first-fruits, and in v.  $\langle \phi \rangle$  . the first-fruits of your hands: These are the first-fruits spoken of in Deut. 26. 2. &c. which with their hands they brought into the Sanctuary. See the annotations there. vows, and your voluntary offerings] such as for God's blessings they willingly gave unto him. The difference of these voluntary oblations from vows, is shown on Levite. 7. 16. firstlings] which were given to the Priests, for them to eat, after the blood was sprinkled, and the fat burned on the Altar: see Numb. 18. 15, 17.

Vers. 7. Ye shall eat] to wit, such things as were lawful for the people to eat: for of all the things forementioned, they might not eat. Some were for the Priests to eat before the Lord; some for the people. rejoice] God is to be served with gladness, Psal. 100. 1, 2. and the holy things of God might not be eaten with mourning, Deut. 26. 14. Hos. 9. 4. ye put your hand] Hebr. the putting to (or sending forth) of your hand. This, though it may be applied to that which they might take and eat, of the holy things, as in Gen. 3. 22. yet it seemeth to be more general, for all things that they should do, and all blessings that they should receive, as by comparing this phrase in Deut. 15. 10. and 23. 20. and 28. 8. 20. may appear. So after in verse. 18. houses] that is, households, children and such like; as the Chaldee expoundeth it, men of your houses: and so Moses explaineth it in verse. 12.

Vers. 8. which we do] the Greek expoundeth it, which ye do. Israel committed idolatry in the wilderness, Act. 7. 42, 43. Howbeit this speech of Moses seemeth rather to mean the true service of God, which was not as yet perfected, neither could be in their travels; as it was after in Canaan. right in his own eyes] that is, which liketh or pleaseth him: so the phrase meaneth, in 2 Sam. 19. 6. 1 Chron. 13. 4. and is often spoken of the corruption of men, as Judge. 17. 6. and 21. 25. unto which Moses opposeth that which is right in the Lord's eyes, verse. 25, 28. and chap. 13. 18. There is a way which is right before a man, and the end thereof are the ways of death, Prov. 14. 12.

Vers. 9. the rest] in Chaldee, the house (or place) of rest: meaning the land of Canaan, and in special, Jerusalem there, 1 Chron. 23. 25. where after their travels and wars, the Lord gave rest unto his people, as verse. 10. and 1 King. 8. 56. But David being there, speaketh of another rest, which remaineth for people of God, Psal. 95. 11. into which rest, we that believe do enter, and cease from our own works, Heb. 4, 3, 8, 9, 10.

Vers. 10. in confident safety] or, in security; it meaneth without fear, Judge. 8. 11. and 18. 7. and without danger of evil, Psal. 78. 53. See the like promise in Levite. 25. 18, 19. This promise is fulfilled in Christ, by whom we are delivered out of the hands of our enemies, that we might serve God without fear, Luk. 1. 74.

Vers. 11. And there shall be] or, And it shall be that the place, &c. See verse. 5. the choice] that is, the best, or fairest, as the Chaldee translatheth.

Vers. 12. your gates] the Chaldee explaineth it, your cities: so the Hebrew text sometime explaineth it self, as is noted on Exod. 20. 10. no part] of the spoils or inheritance in the division of the land, but the Lord is his part and inheritance. See Deut. 10. 9. Num. 18. 8.—21.

Vers. 13. lest thou offer] that is, that thou offer [unspec 13]not. This precept is often and carefully urged, because the people were prone to fall into the transgression of it, as the histories of Scripture manifest, 1 King. 12, 28, 29, 30. 2 King. 17. 9. 11. And it taught men the unity of the faith of Christ, and the band of love and peace, to be kept in the heavenly Jerusalem, whither all people should resort, Rev. 21. 24, 25, 26.

Vers. 14. that I command thee] the Greek addeth, this day. So not the place only, but all other things in God's service, were to be according to the word of God, because the natural man (not regenerate by God's word and spirit) receiveth not the things of the spirit of God, neither can he know them, 1 Cor. 2. 14. and in the things which he knoweth he corrupteth himself, Rom. 1. 21. and God would have obedience to his word, rather than sacrifice, 1 Sam. 15. 22.

Vers. 15. Notwithstanding] or Only, as the word signifieth in verse. 16. 26. It is a liberty granted for civil things, but with a limitation. in all the desire of thy soul] the Greek translateth, in all thy desire, the soul being put for the whole person. It meaneth, whatsoever thou, or thy soul desireth. mayest slay] this word is the same that is used for sacrificing, (which also was with slaughter of the creature,) but applied here, and often, to the slaying for ordinary food. Of this the Hebrews say, It is lawful to slay (for common food) in any place without the court (of the Sanctuary;) for they slay in the court none but the holy things of the Altar only. But it is unlawful to slay common things in the court, either cattle, beast, or bird. And so it is said (in Deut. 12. 21.) If the place be far from thee, which the Lord thy God shall choose, &c. then thou shalt slay &c. and eat within thy gates. Here thou art taught, that they slay not flesh for ones desire, but without the place which the Lord hath chosen. And that which is slain without the place, is lawful to be eaten within all gates. But he that slaieth common things in the court, that flesh is pure, and unlawful to be used; but they bury it, &c. Maimonides tom. 2. in Shechitah, ch. 2. sect. 1, 2. to the blessing] that is, the liberality, or bounteous gift: so restraining all profuse rio•, and keeping men within the limits of their ability. thy gates] in the Chaldee, thy cities; and so the Greek, in every city. may eat] or shall eat. God would have no difference of persons, nor of places, nor of clean beasts, (as after followeth) lest there should grow any respect of holiness in such civil things, which might turn to superstition.

Vers. 16. Only] as the Greek saith, But the blood, to wit, of beasts and o• fowls, Lev. 7. 26. this was absolutely forbidden even in civil diet; the reason hereof is noted on Levite. 17. pour it] or shed it on the earth, and cover it with dust, Levite, 17. 13. see the annotations there.

Vers. 17. Thou mayest •ot] that is, it is not permitted or lawful forthee, as the Chaldee explaineth it. gates] in the Greek and Chaldee, cities; so in verse. 18. and 21. The second tithe which the owners did eat, was holy, and might not be •a•en but in the place where God's Sanctuary was: see the notes on Deut. 14. 22, 23. heave-offering] in Greek, first-fruits; in Chaldee, the separation, that is, the separated thing: see verse. 6. Maimonides in Biccurim (or treat. of First-fruits) chap. 3. sect. 3. saith, The heave-offering of thine hand is the first-fruits; and,

The Priest that eateth of the first-fruits out of Jerusalem, after that they are brought within the walls, is by the Law to be beaten; for it is said, Thou mayest not eat within thy gates, &c. See more on Deut. 26. 2. 4.

Vers. 19. lest thou forsake] that is, that thou forsake not, or neglect not, either by erecting a new ministry, as did Jeroboam, 2 Chron. 13. 9. or by with-holding thy offerings, the means of their livelihood, which is in special here intended. So in Neh. 10. 39. we will not forsake the house of our God; where mention is made of bringing up their offerings. The same sin is called the spoiling of God, Mal. 3. 8. See also Deut. 14. 27. upon thy land] the land of Canaan, out of which in special, tithes, first-fruits, and the like were to be paid. The Greek translatheth, all the time that thou shalt live upon the land (or earth.)

Vers. 20. Because thy soul] or, as the Greek translatheth, if thy soul desireth.

Vers. 22. as the Roe-bucke] that is, as common and profane meats, without any respect of holiness. So after, in Deut. 15. 22, 23.

Vers. 23. Only be sure] or, be strong: the Greek translatheth, Take heed strongly: it meaneth a full and firm purpose of heart, not to eat it at any time. Of this Law, see the notes on Lev. 17. 10. &c. is the soul] figuratively spoken, because the soul (or life) is in the blood, as is expressed, Lev. 17. 11. not eat the soul] because God gave them that upon the altar, to make an atonement for their souls, Lev. 17. 11, 12.

Vers. 26. holy things] Hebr. holinesses: the Chaldee applieth it to their tithes.

Vers. 27. the flesh and the blood] both of them were wholly brought to the altar, Levite. 1. The Greek translatheth, the flesh thou shalt offer upon the altar. sacrifices] to wit, peace-offerings, for the flesh of them was eaten by the owners, Levite. 7. 15. upon the altar] the Greek translatheth it, at the base (or foot) of the altar.

Vers. 28. in the eyes] that is, as the Greek and Chaldee expound it, before the Lord.

Vers. 29. to possess them] or, to disinherit them; as the Chaldee saith, to cast them out: the Greek translatheth, to inherit their land. God having given direction for the place of his worship, now proceedeth with the things and manner of service which they should perform unto him.

Vers. 30. lest thou be ensnared] that is, deceived in thy mind, and so fall into sin and destruction, by following their religion. The Greek translatheth, that thou seek not to follow them. See Exod. 23. 33. As the nations were to be destroyed, so their idolatrous service was to be abolished, that none of their customs should be retained in Israel. How did] Heb. How will, that is, how use they to serve. Hereupon the Hebrews say, Thou mayest not inquire (or ask) concerning the way of the service of an idol how it is, although thou serve it not; for this thing <...> to turn after it, and to do as they do. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, ch. 2. sect. 2. will I do] not unto idols, but to the Lord, as the next verse manifesteth. So not only the worship of false gods, but false or idolatrous worship of the true God, is here forbidden; and all imitation of Idolaters is condemned. So in Levite. 18. 3.

Vers. 31. every abomination] the Chaldee expoundeth, every thing that is abominable before the Lord: in Greek, the abominations which the Lord hateth. to their gods] the Chaldee expounds it, to their idols. This one particular of burning their children, is named, (all other being implied) because herein they shown most zeal and love; as Abraham for sacrificing his son at God's command, is highly commended, Gen. 22. 12. and Israel, when they would show themselves most studious to please the Lord, inquired about giving the fruit of their body for the sin of their soul, Mich. 6. 7. and sometime practiced this abomination, Psal. 106. 37, 38. Ezek. 23. 37, 39. But God here condemneth the most fervent devotion of Idolaters.

Vers. 32. Every word] or thing: in Chaldee, every commandment. Hereby God appointeth his own word and law, to be the only rule of his service, without imitating the customs of others, or devising anything of their own. So in Levite. 18. 4. Deut. 4. 1, 2.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The Prophet that enticeth to idolatry, though he give signs which come to pass, must not be hearkened unto, but put to death. 6. The brother, child, wife, or friend, that enticeth to idolatry, must not be bearkened unto, spared, or concealed, but stoned to death. 12 The city that revolteth to serve other gods, after due inquiry, must be smitten with the sword, men and beasts utterly destroyed, the spoils burned, the city ruined forever, and none of that execrable thing reserved.

IF there arise in the midst of thee a Prophet, or a dreamer of dreams, and he give unto thee a sign or a wonder; And the sign cometh, or the wonder which he spake unto thee, saying; Let us go after other gods, which thou hast not known, & serve them: Thou shalt not hearken unto the words of that Prophet, or unto that dreamer of a dream; for Jehovah your God tempteth you, to know whether you be the lovers of Jehovah your God, with all your heart, and with all your soul. After Jehovah your God shall ye walk, and him ye shall fear, and his commandments shall ye keep, and his voice ye shall obey, and him you shall serve, and unto him shall ye cleave.

And that Prophet, or that dreamer of a dream, shall be put to death, because he hath spoken revolt against Jehovah your God, which brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of servants, to thrust thee out of the way, which Jehovah thy God commanded thee to walk therein: and thou shalt put away the evil from the midst of thee.

If thy brother, the son of thy mother, or thy son, or thy daughter, or the wife of thy bosom, or thy friend which is in thine own soul, entice thee in secret, saying, Let us go and serve other gods, which thou hast not known, thou nor thy fathers. Of the gods of the people's which are round about you, nigh unto thee, or far off from thee, from the one end of the earth, even unto the other end of the earth. Thou shalt not consent unto him, nor hearken unto him, neither shall thine eye spare him; neither shalt thou pity, neither shalt thou conceal him. But killing thou shalt kill him; thine hand shall be first upon him, to put him to death; and afterwards the hand of all the people. And thou shalt stone him with stones, and he shall die, because he hath sought to thrust thee away from Jehovah thy God, which brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of servants. And all Israel shall hear and fear, and shall do no more as this evil thing, in the midst of thee.

If thou shalt hear (say) in one of thy cities, which Jehovah thy God giveth to thee, to dwell there, saying, Certain men, the sons of Belial, are gone out from the midst of thee, and have thrust away the inhabitants of their city, saying, Let us go and serve other gods, which ye have not known: Then shalt thou enquire, and shalt search, and shalt ask diligently; and behold (if it be) truth, the word certain, this abomination is done in the midst of thee. Smiting thou shalt smite the inhabitants of that city with the edge of the sword, utterly destroying it, and all that is therein, and the cattle thereof, with the edge of the sword. And all the spoil of it thou shalt gather into the midst of the street thereof, and shalt burn with fire the city and all the spoil thereof, every whit, to Jehovah thy God: and it shall be an heap for ever, it shall not be built again.

And there shall not cleave to thy hand ought of the cursed thing, that Jehovah may turn from the burning of his anger, and may give unto thee tender mercies, and may have tender mercy on thee, and multiply thee, as he hath sworn unto thy fathers. When thou shalt obey the voice of Jehovah thy God, to keep all his commandments, which I command thee this day, to do that which is right in the eyes of Jehovah thy God.

Annotations.

IF there arise] or, when there shall stand up; by which word is signified the open and bold carriage of deceivers. Moses having from the first commandment, taught the doctrine of one only God, whom we should in faith, love, and obedience have to be ours, and give ourselves to him; and from the second commandment, taught the right way of serving this God, according to his own word, doth now from the third commandment, teach to beware of the abuse of God's name and word unto vanity, heresy, or idolatry; and so generally warneth Israel to take heed lest they transgressed the first and second commandments by the breach of the third. in the midst of thee] speaking to Israel, amongst whom many false prophets did arise, 2 Pet. 2. 1. Unto which danger all Churches are subject, as it is said, Moreover of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, Act. 20. 30. a Prophet] a public seducer, touching whom he giveth warning first, as afterwards of the private, in v. 6. &c. What a Prophet signifieth, is noted on Gen. 20. 7. and Exod. 7. 1. dreams] this was one of the ways, by which prophesy came of old unto men, Num. 12. 6. Ier. 23. 25. 28. By a Prophet he seemeth to denote the principal sort, such as saw visions: by a dreamer, the inferior sort, that saw things more obscurely. he give] either by word and promise, or by action or gesture, as 1 King. 13. 3. and 22. 11. Mat. 12. 39, 40. wonder] any miraculous, or supernatural thing; as Iannes and Jambres in appearance turned water into blood, Exod. 7. 22.

Vers. 2. or the wonder] Hebr. and the wonder: these are said to come, when they are effected or fulfilled: so Ier. 28. 9. Deut. 18. 22. saying] that is, and he say: as saying in 1 Chron. 13. 12. is expounded, and said in 2 Sam. 6. 9. so in 2 King. 22. 9. compared with 2 Chron. 34. 16. after other gods] the Greek explaineth it, and serve other gods; which the Chaldee calleth, idols of the people's. Thus the religion given of God by the hand of Moses, was established against all opposition that after might arise, upon what pretence soever: And so the saith taught by Christ and his Apostles, was confirmed against the future signs, and lying wonders of Antichrist, 2 Thess. 2. 9. 10. The Hebrews say, If there stand up a prophet, and he doth great signs and wonders, and seeketh to deny (or make false) the prophesy of Moses, we may not hearken unto him, but we know certainly, that those signs are by enchantment and sorcery. For the prophesy of Moses was not by signs, &c. but without eyes we saw, and with our ears we heard as he did hear, &c. Therefore the Law saith, If the sign or wonder come to pass, thou shalt not hearken to the words of that Prophet, (Deut. 13.) for loe, he cometh unto thee with sign and wonder, to make that false which thou hast seen with thine eyes. And for as much as we believe not in a wonder, but because of the commandment which Moses commanded us; how should we receive this sign, which cometh to make the prophesy of Moses false, which we saw and heard? Maimonides tom. in Iesude hatorah, chap. 8. sect. 3. See also the annotations on Exod. 19. 9.

Vers. 3. that dreamer] or, the dreamer of that [unspec] dream; and so the Greek translatheth it. God tempteth] or proveth: See the notes on Gen. 22. 1. But there God himself immediately tempted Abraham; here mediately, and that by evil means, which he of his grace and wisdom ordereth and disposeth for good to his people: as also the Apostle saith, There must be also heresies among you, that they which are approved may be made manifest among you, 1 Cor. 11. 19.

Vers. 4. After Jehovah] the Chaldee saith, after the fear of the Lord your God. Here the Lord and his commandments are opposed to all other: so that after Jehovah, meaneth after him only; as our Savior expoundeth a like speech, Mat. 4. 10. from Deut. 6.

Vers. 5. spoken revolt] or apostasy, that is, spoken words to cause thee to revolt, or turn away; as the Greek translatheth, to make thee to err from the Lord. This judgment of the false Prophet (as all other weighty matters) none but the high council of 71 Elders might judge of, as the Hebrews say, Talmud. Bab. in Sanhedrin, c. 1. and Maimonides in Sanhedrin, c. 5. See the annotations on Num. 11. 30. the evil] both person and work; as the Chaldee translatheth, the evil doer: the Greek, the evil thing: but in Deut. 17. 7. the Greek translatheth, the evil one; which Paul approveth, using the same words, in 1 Cor. 5. 13.

Vers. 6. thy brother] by nature, or in the same faith and Church: but the Greek addeth, thy brother on thy fathers side, or on thy mothers. son of thy mother] such are dearest brethren, as the example of Joseph and Benjamin showeth, Gen. 43. 34. and 45. 12, 14. daughter] Love and affection descendeth from parents to children, as it were by inheritance; and the daughter for in firmity of sex, is most spared and pitied; but may not so be in this case. of thy bosom] the Greek saith, which is in thy bosom, as thine own soul] most dearely loved, put therefore in the last place; for a friend sticketh closer than a brother, Prov. 18. 24. And as man and wife are one flesh, Matt. 19. 6. so friends here are as one soul. entice] with motions, reasons, exhortations; the Greek translatheth, exhort: the Chaldee, counsel. The Hebrews write; He that entiseth any one of Israel, whether man or woman, he is to be stoned; although neither the  $\langle\phi\rangle$  nor the enticed, hath worshipped the idol, yet he doth for teaching to worship it. Whether the intiser be private man, or Prophet, be the enticed one singular person, man or woman, or a few persons, they are to die by stoning. He that intiseth the multitude of a city, he is a thruster away, and is not called an intiser. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, chap. 5. sect. 1, 2. See after in verse. 13. other gods] in Chaldee, Idols of the people's: so in verse. 7.

Vers. 7. unto the other end] that is, all the world over. Hereby God condemneth all the feigned religions throughout the earth, as being gone astray from him: and having made himself and his word known unto Israel, would have them therein to rest their faith, without declining to novelties. We know that we are of God, and the whole world lieth in wickedness, 1 John. 5. 19.

Vers. 8. not consent] or, not affect, have any liking or will unto him. From which word, the Hebrews gather, that it is unlawful for the enticed to love the intiser. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, chap. 5. sect. 4. If he were drawn away by him, so that he said, Go we and let us serve them, although they had not as yet served, both of them were to be stoned, the intiser and the enticed. Ibidem sect. 5. eye spare] to wit, from vengeance. See this phrase in Gen. 45. 20. Deut. 7. 16. pity] or use gentleness and indulgence, as Gen. 19. 16. conceal him] but bewray, and use all means to bring him to his punishment. Therefore the Hebrews think, that the enticed person was to take witnesses, to see if he would intise before them: if he would not, then (they say) it is commanded to lay privy wait for him, and they lay wait for none that are guilty of death by the Law, but for this man. And thus they do it: The enticed bringeth two men, and sets them in a dark place, so that they may see the intiser, and hear his words, but he may not see them. Then he saith to the intiser, Say what is it that you said, &c. When he hath spoken, the enticed answereth; How shall we leave our God which is in heaven, and go and serve stocks and stones? If he convert hereby, or hold his peace, he is free: But if he say unto him, thus are we bound to do, and thus it be seemeth us; then they that stood there aloof, bring him to the judgment Hall, and they stone him. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, chap. 5. sect. 3.

Vers. 9. shalt kill him] by showing the thing to [unspec] the Magistrate, who hath power to kill him: therefore the Greek translath, Showing thou shalt show concerning him. thine hand] this is spoken to the accuser, or first witness, who must cast the first stone at him, Deut. 17. 7. Of the manner of stoning used in Israel, see the notes on Levite. 24. 23.

Vers. 10. to thrust thee away from Jehovah] in Chaldee, to make thee to err from the fear of the Lord, that is, to go astray from his true worship ••d service, as fear in Isaiah 29. 13. is expounded worship, in Matt. 15. 9. of servants] in Greek and Chaldee, of servitude, or bondage.

Vers. 11. shall do no more] Hebr. shall not add to do as this evil word, that is, any such evil thing as this is. For punishment of transgressors, is a mean to restrain others from wickedness, and to make them wise, Prov. 21. 11. On the contrary, Because sentence against an evil work is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the sons of men is fully set in them to do evil, Eccles. 8. 11. See the like in Deut. 17. 13. The Hebrews gather from the words, All Israel shall hear, &c. that a crier was to proclaim before him unto all, the cause of his death; and they note four sorts of evil doers, before whom such proclamation was made; The rebellious Elder, (Deut. 17. 13.) the presumptuous false witness, (Deut. 19. 19, 20.) the intiser to Idolatry, (here spoken of) and the stubborn rebellious son, (Deut. 21. 18, 21.) Maimonides tom. 4. treat. of Rebels, c. 3. s. 8.

Vers. 12. If thou shalt hear say in one] or, When thou shalt hear of one, that is, of any one of thy cities. This is one of the most severe laws, wherein God showeth his jealousy and indignation against idolaters, to the utter rooting out, not only of their persons, but or their posterity, goods, and city it self forever. of thy cities] of the cities of Israel, which were God's people, against whom only this law is given, if they should be drawn to idolatry, and not against those that were without. So of spiritual judgment it is said, Do not ye judge them that are within? But them that are without God judgeth, 1 Cor. 5. 12, 13.

Vers. 13. sons of Belial] that is, wicked or mischievous persons, which the Chaldee interpreteth, sons of wickedness. Belial (in Hebrew Belijagnal) is by interpretation, without profit, or, without yoke, that is, lawless, rebellious and wicked; and this name is given unto Satan or Antichrist, opposed unto Christ, in 2 Cor. 6. 15. and to be sons of Belial, is to be addicted or given over unto wickedness, as in 1 Sam. 2. 12. Judge. 19. 22. 1. King. 21. 10. The like is of a daughter of Belial, 1 Sam. 1. 16. and man of Belial. 1 Sam. 25. 25. and sometime the wicked are simply called Belial, as in 2 Sam. 23. 6. Nahum 1. 15. and as it is here applied to persons, so is it also to wicked things, words or thoughts, as in Deut. 15. 9. out from the midst of thee] or, from among you, speaking to Israel, from whom such wicked persons might in all ages go forth, as they did also from the Christian Churches, as it is said, They went out from us, but they were not of us, 1 John. 2. 19. And this their going out, argueth likewise their stubborn and presumptuous carriage in their evil, which they did not in secret, but as proclaiming war against the Lord. have thrust away] or, have driven, have withdrawn, to wit, out of the way, as was expressed in verse. 5. the Chaldee expoundeth it, have caused to err, (or go astray;) and it noteth the force and efficacy or such seducers; as Jeroboam is said to have driven Israel from following the Lord, 2 King. 17. 21. See before on Deut. 4. 19. the inhabitants] This is spoken generally and indefinitely: if all the inhabitants were seduced, there is no doubt but the judgment following was to be executed: the Hebrews also think, if the greater part of the city were drawn away, they all that were seduced, were to die, and the city to be destroyed: but if the lesser part only were withdrawn, then they were killed, but the city it self was to be let stand, as is further shown in the annotations following. other gods] in Chaldee, the idols of the people's: so here were two evils, the forsaking of the true God, whom they had known, and the following of other gods whom they had not known. Of these the Lord saith by his Prophet, Bee astonished, O ye heavens, at this, and be horribly afraid: he ye very desolate, saith the LORD; for my people have committed two evils, they have forsaken me the fountain of living waters; they have hewed them out cisternes, broken cisternes that can hold no water, Ier. 2. 12, 13.

Vers. 14. Then shalt thou enquire] he speaketh to Israel, and therein chiefly to the Rulers, whom it most concerned to try out this case: and by these three, enquire, search, ask, & that well or diligently, he teacheth them what care should be had for finding out the truth; that this severe judgment came not upon any without their due demerit. The Hebrews say, They judge not a city thrust away, but in the judgment hall of 71 (Magistrates:) it is said (in Deut. 17. 5.) Thou shalt bring forth that man or that woman unto thy gates, and shalt stone them, &c. Particular persons are killed by the Judges that are in every city; but the multitude are not killed save by the great Synedrion. The great Court do send, and enquire, and search, till they know evidently, that all the city, or the most of it, is thrust away, and turned to idolatry. Afterward they send two learned men, to admonish and to convert them. If they convert and show repentance, it is well: but if they persist in their folly, the Synedrion do command all Israel to go up against them to war: and they do besiege them, and wage war against them, until the city be broken up. When it is broken up, forthwith they set for them many courts of judgment, and do judge them: whosoever hath two witnesses come against him, that he served an Idol, after they have dispatched him, they put him apart. If all the Idolaters be found the lesser number, they stone them to death, and the rest of the city is delivered. If they be found the greater number, they carry them up to the high Court, and give sentence there against them. Maim. treat of Idolat. c. 4. s. 3. 6.

Vers. 15. smite the inhabitants] the Greek saith, kill all the inhabitants with the slaughter of the sword: which is to be understood, if they be all found guilty: as they say, They kill with the sword all that have served (the Idol;) and smite every soul, men, women, and children, if all (the city) be thrust away. If the Idolaters be found the greater number, they smite all the little ones, and women of the Idolaters with the edge of the sword. And whether the whole, or the most part, be thrust away, they stone to death those that did thrust them away. Maim. ibid. s. 6. utterly destroying] with a curse or execration: after the Greek version, anathematizing. Of such the Hebrews say, The men of the city drawn away (to Idolatry) have no part in the world to come, (that is, in life eternal.) Talmud. Bab. in Sanhedrin, c. Chelek. the cattle] and of the cattle that is killed, it ⊠ forbidden to make any profit (or use) of them, even as of the Ox that is stoned. Maimonides in Idolatry, c. 4 s. 13.

Vers. 16. all the spoil of it] This the Hebrews understand largely, whether they be the goods of the idolaters, or of the other that fell not unto idolatry: for so they write; The goods of the just men that are within it, if they be the rest of the inhabitants of that city, which are not drawn away with the multitude, they are burnt with the general spoil: for as much as they dwell therein, their goods perish. A company of passengers from place to place, if they pass thorough a city so drawn away, and be drawn away with it; if they have continued in it thirty days, they are killed with the sword, and their goods perish; if not, they are stoned to death, and their goods are to their heirs. The goods of the men of another city reserved therein, are not burned, but returned to the owners; for it is said, The spoil of it, and not the spoil of their neighbors. The goods of the wicked men of that city, which are reserved in another city, if they be gathered together with it, are burnt in the general: if not, they perish not, but are given to their heirs. The holy things within it, such as are sanctified for the Altar, do die; for the sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination. Things sanctified to the maintenance of the Temple, are redeemed, and afterward burnt: for it is said, the spoil of it, not the spoil of heaven. The first-borne, and the tithe that are perfect, are as the holy things of the Altar, and die: such as are blemished, are as the common cattle, and are killed, &c. The second tithes, and the money of the second tithes, and the holy Scriptures that are within (the city) are laid up in store. Maimon. in Idolat. chap. 4. sect. 7, 9, 10, 15. every whit] The Hebrew Calil here used is sometime an whole burnt offering, Levite. 6. 22. Deut. 33. 10. Hereupon the Hebrews say, Who so executeth judgment upon the city drawn away (to Idols) loe he offereth the burnt offering Calil; as it is written, every whit (Calil) to the LORD thy God: neither that only, but turneth away burning anger from Israel, (Deut. 13. 17.) and bringeth a blessing and mercies upon them. Maim. in Idolat. c. 4. s. 16. an heap] the Greek translatheth, uninhabited; the Chaldee, a desolate heap. The Hebrews say, Whosoever buildeth it, is to be beaten: but it is lawful to turn it into Gardens or Orchards; for it is said, it shall not be built again; not built for a city, as it was before. Maim. ibid. s. 8.

Vers. 17. not cleave to thy hand] that is, thou shalt not make any profit or use to thyself of any of the goods of the city. Compare the example of Jericho, Ios. 6. 17. &c. and see the annotations on Deut. 7. 26. from the burning] the Chaldee expoundeth it, from the strength; the Greek, from the wrath of his anger, which oftentimes is kindled, not only against the sinners themselves, but all Israel for their sakes, as Ios. 7. 1. 11, 12. and 22. 17. 18, 20.

Vers. 18. obey] or hearken to the voice; in Chaldee, shalt receive the word of the Lord. that which is right in the eyes] which the Greek expoundeth, That which is good and pleasing before the Lord.

CHAP. XIV.

1 God's children are not to disfigure themselves in mourning for the dead, 3 nor eat any abominable thing. 4 What may, and what may not be eaten, of Beasts; 9 of fishes, 11 of souls. 19 Creeping things may not be eaten, 21 nor that which dieth of it self. 22 Tithes to be eaten before the Lord, 24 or (if the way be too long) to be turned into money, and it to be bestowed on things which they should eat and drink with joy before the Lord. 27 The Levite may not be forsaken. 28 The third years tithe; for the Levite, stranger, fatherless, and widow.

YEe are the sons of Jehovah your God: ye shall not cut yourselves, nor put baldness between your eyes for the dead. For thou art an holy people to Jehovah thy God; and Jehovah hath chosen thee to be unto him a people of peculiar treasure, above all people's which are upon the face of the earth.

Thou shalt not eat any abomination. These are the beasts which ye shall eat; the Ox, the Lamb of sheep, and the Kid of Goats. The Hart, and the Roe-buck, and the Fallow-deer, and the Wild-goat, and the Pygarg, & he Wild-ox, and the Chamois,

And every beast that parteth the hoof, and cleaveth a sunder the cleft of two hoofs, that cheweth the cud among the beasts, that ye shall eat. But this ye shall not eat, of them that chew the cud, or of them that part the cloven hoof; the Camel, and the Hare, and the Conie, because they chew the cud, but they part not the hoof, they shall be unclean unto you. And the Swine, because he parteth the hoof, & cheweth not the cud, he shall be unclean unto you: of their flesh ye shall not eat, and their carcass ye shall not touch.

These ye shall eat of, all that are in the waters, all that hath sin and scale shall ye eat.

And all that hath not sin and scale, ye shall not eat, it shall be unclean unto you.

Every clean bird ye shall eat. But these are they of which ye shall not eat: the Eagle, and Ossifrage, and the Osprey: And the Vulture, and the Kite, and the Glede, after her kind: And every Raven after his kind: [unspec 15]

And the Owl, and the Night-hawk, and the Sea-gull, and the Hawk after his kind:

And the great Owl, and the little Owl, and the Red-shanke: And the Pelican, and the Gier-eagle, and the Cormorant: And the Stork, and the Heron after her kind, and the Lapwing, and the Bat: And every creeping thing that flieth, it shall be unclean unto you: they shall not be eaten. Every clean fowl ye shall eat. Ye shall not eat of any carcass; thou shalt give it unto the stranger that is in thy gates, that he may eat it; or thou mayest sell it unto an alien; for thou art an holy people unto Jehovah thy God. Thou shalt not seeth a Kid in his mothers milk.

Tithing thou shalt tith all the revenue of thy seed, that the field bringeth forth, year by year. And thou shalt eat before Jehovah thy God, in the place which he shall choose, to cause his name to dwell there, the tithe of thy corn, of thy new wine, and of thy new oil, and the firstlings of thy herd, and of thy flock, that thou mayest learn to fear Jehovah thy God, all days. And if the way be too much for thee, that thou art not able to carry it, because the place is far from thee, which Jehovah thy God shall choose, to set his name there, when Jehovah thy God hath blessed thee; Then shalt thou turn it into money, and bind up the money in thine hand, and shalt go unto the place which Jehovah thy God shall choose. And thou shalt give the money, for all that thy soul desireth, for oxen, or for sheep, or for wine, or for strong drink, or for whatsoever thy soul asketh of thee: and thou shalt eat there before Jehovah thy God; and thou shalt rejoice, thou and thine house. And the Levite which is within thy gates, thou shalt not forsake him, for he hath no part nor inheritance with thee.

At the end of three years thou shalt bring forth all the tithe of thy revenue in that year, and shalt lay it up within thy gates. And the Levite, because he hath no part nor inheritance with thee; and the stranger, and the fatherless, & the widow which are within thy gates, shall come, and shall eat, and be satisfied; that Jehovah thy God may bless thee, in all the work of thine hand, which thou shalt do.

Annotations.

THE sons of Jehovah] or, sons to Jehovah: the Chaldee translatheth, sons before the Lord. Under the name sons, he implieth daughters also, as is expressed in Deut. 32. 19. 2 Cor. 6. 18. Moses here entereth into precepts concerning the communion of the Saints among themselves, which should be holy; who, as they must abstain from false gods, so from communion in the rites and ordinances of religion, with the children of such. Christ is the Son of God in nature, the Son of his love, Coless. 1. 13. We in Christ are the sons of God by adoption, Rom. 8. 15. by faith in Christ, Gal. 3. 26. So many as are led by the Spirit of God, Rom. 8. 14. and are made partakers of his love, as it is written, Behold what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the children of God, 1 John. 3. 1. not cut yourselves] as was the manner of the heathens, especially in their sorrow, 1 King. 18. 28. Ier. 41. 5. and in particular, when their friends died, Ier. 16. 6. which thing is chiefly intended here. The Chaldee translatheth, ye shall not make a tumult. Because they are the children of God, therefore they must walk in his fear, 1 Pet. 1. 17. and purify themselves, even as he is pure, 1 John. 3. 3. and bear all accidents and afflictions that come upon them, patiently; and forsake all heathenish customs, and not hurt their own bodies, which are the Temples of the holy Ghost, 1 Cor. 6. 19. See the notes on Levite. 19. 28. The Hebrews say, that Gedidah, the cutting here spoken of, and Seritah, the incision, in Levite. 19. 28. are one thing: and he that cutteth himself for the dead, whether it be an incision with his hand, or an incision with an instrument, he is to be beaten. Maimonides treat. of idolatry, chap. 12. sect. 13. put baldness] that is, make yourselves bald, by shaving or plucking off the hair; which also they used in mourning for the dead, Ezek. 7. 18. and 27. 31. Ier. 16. 6. and 48. 37. See also Levite. 21. 5. and 19. 27. between your eyes] that is, on the fore-part of your head: as the Phylacteries which were to be between their eyes, were worn on their heads, as is noted on Exod. 13. 9. 16. And in Levite. 21. 5. it is written, They shall not make baldness upon their head. for the dead] this is an explanation of that which elsewhere he saith, for a soul, Levite. 19. 28. and 21. 1. The Hebrews here say, If your father die, ye shall not cut yourselves, nor make you bald nor sorrow more than is meet; for you are not fatherless, because you have a father who is great, living, and permanent, even the holy blessed God. But an Infidel, when his father dieth, hath no father that can help him in time of need; for his father which is left him is of wood, & his mother of stone; as it is written, saying to a stock. Thou art my father, & to a stone, Thou hast brought me forth, (Ier. 2. 27.) therefore they weep & cut themselves, & make them bald. And further, because thou art an holy people, therefore thou mayest not deforme thyself (or make thee ill-favored.) Chazkuni on Deut. 14. Yea, even the wise among the heathens themselves, blamed this folly in men, that mangled their bodies for the dead, calling them Varia & detestabilia generalugendi, pedores, muliebres lacerationes genarum, pectoris, foemorum, capitis percussiones. Cicer. Tusc. quaest. l. 3.

Vers. 2. of peculiar treasure] in Greek, a peculiar people; in Chaldee, abeloved people: see the annotations on Exod. 19. 5.

Vers. 3. any abomination] This Sol. Rashi, and the Targum called Jonathan's, well explain, anything that I have made abominable to you, (or, put far from you.) For every creature of God is good, 1 Tim. 4. 4. and there is nothing common (or unclean) of it self, Rom. 14. 14. but by the ordinance of God, certain creatures, meats and drinks were made unclean unto the Jews, yet not forever, but imposed upon them until the time of reformation, Heb. 9. 10. And this law taught them holiness, in abstaining from the impure communion with the wicked, Act. 10. 13. 17. 20. 28. See the annotations on Levite. 11. The Hebrews saw this mystery; for Baal Hatturim on this place noteth, Next unto these words, For thou art an holy people, &c. he saith, Thou shalt not eat any abomination; meaning, that they should not be commixed (⊠) infidels, for infidels are like unto beasts.

Vers. 4. Kid of goats] or, the lamb of goats: the Hebrew Seh, is either a young sheep, or a young goat, as Exod. 12. 4, 5. and by naming the Lamb, he meaneth all the breed of these beasts, young or old; as the son of man, is used for any man generally, old or young, Psal. 144. 3. Job 25. 6.

Vers. 5. Hart] in Hebrew, Ajal, a wild beast well known, whose female is called an H••de, Gen. 49. 21. light of foot, 2 Sam. 22. 34. bringing forth her young with great sorrow, Job 39. 1, 2, 3. Such were meat at Solomon's table, 1 King. 4. 23. Roe-buck] in Hebr. Tsebi, of the pleasa (⋯) le or beauty of this beast; in Chaldee, Ta•ja; in Greek, Dorkas: (whereupon the woman named in Syriac, Tabitha, Act. 9. 36. is by interpretation, Dorkas; in English, a Roe:) this beast is very swift, 2 Sam. 2. 18. 1 Chron. 12. 8. Song 8. 14. eaten also at Solomon's table, 1 King. 4. 23. Fallow-d•ere] or, Wilde-ox. Bugle, or Buffel: in Hebr. Iachmer, (a word not found but here, and in 1 King. 4. 23.) the Greek translateth it, Boubalos, that is, the Buffe, Buffel, or Wilde-ox, which somewhat resembleth our common Ox, but is of another kind, bigger, black, and more fierce. The Chaldee and Arabic retain the Hebrew name, Iachmura, which some Hebrews say, is a beast like unto a great goat. Some late Expositors make it a beast like an Ass; as an Ass in Hebr. is called Chamor. Wild-goat] in Hebr. Acco, a word not found but in this one place: of it some think the Latin Alce (by putting in the letter l) is derived, which we call the Elch; a beast somewhat like a Fallow-deer. The Greek translatheth it Tragelaphos, that is, a Goat-heart, which is in part like a Goat and an Hart: such are found in Arabia. The best Hebrew expositors say, it is the wild-goat, or rock-goat, so named of climbing the rocks. It is a beast of another kind than the common goat; for be it wild or tame, the beast is the same. Pygarg] so the Greek and old Latin version translate the Hebrew Dishon, here only used: which the Chaldee calleth Rema, of highness. The Pygarg is a wild beast like a fallow deer, or Roebuoke. Wild-ox] or, Wild-bull: so both Onkelos and Jonathan, the Chaldee paraphrasts, do translate the Hebrew Teo, used only here, and in Isaiah. 51. 20. where it is called T ⟨...⟩ The Greek translatheth it. Oryx, which is a beast like a Goat. The Arabike nameth it Tajetal. Chamois] this name is borrowed of the French, as being a beast like a wild Goat. The Hebrew name is Zemer, the Arabic Zirapha; both have the signification of cutting. The Greek translatheth it Camelopardalis, which is a word compounded of the Camel and the Pantheresse. The Chaldee calleth it Ditsa, which is a kind of Roe. These seven sorts of beasts, and three of cattle, are all to be understood of several kinds, (as the Scripture giveth them everyone a several name) and are not to be distinguished by their wildness, or tameness, but by their different nature; for as the Hebrews say, the wild Ox, and the (Ox) fatted in the stall, these are of the kind of the Ox. Maimonides treat, of forbidden meats, ch. 1. sect. 8. And the Scripture confirmeth this, as when he saith of David, He sacrificed oxen and fatlings, 2 Sam. 6. 13. that is, oxen fed in the pastures, and fatted in the stall. Moreover they say, that there are no other cattle, or beasts in the world, lawful to be eaten, save these ten kinds, rehearsed in the Law; they and the kinds of them, as is noted on Levite. 14. 3. And further, they have this saying, Though all these (ten kinds) are lawful to be eaten; yet we must put a difference between the clean cattle, and the clean beasts. For the beasts, their fat is lawful (to be eaten) and their blood must be covered: [Levite. 17. 13.] but clean cattle, their fat is unlawful to be eaten, [Levite. 7. 23.] and there is no charge to cover their blood. Maimonides treat. of forbidden meats, chap. 1. sect. 9.

Vers. 6. that cheweth] understand, and that cheweth, (as the Greek addeth the word and) for it must do both, else it was not clean. And here, because the former beasts may be unknown by their names, (as is to be seen by the variety of interpretations) God giveth two general signs to know a clean beast by, the parting of the hoof in twain, and the chewing of the cud; of which, see the annotations on Levite. 11. 3.

Vers. 7. Camel] of this and the rest that follow, see the notes on Levite. 11. 4.—7. and of the exception how in cases of necessity unclean meats might be eaten, it is there spoken. they chew] or every of them cheweth.

Vers. 9. in the waters] whether in the seas, or in the rivers, Levite. 11. 9. fin and scale] in Greek and Chaldee, sins and scales: see the annotations on Levite. 11. 9. &c.

Vers 10. unclean] and so an abomination, as is said in Levite. 11. 10, 11. that their flesh might not be eaten, nor their carcasses touched, as before in verse. 8.

Vers. 12. Eagle] of this, and the rest that follow, see the annotations on Levite. 11. 13, &c.

Vers. 13. Vultur] called here in Hebrew, Raah, of Seeing; in Levite. 11. 14. Daah, of Flying. Chazkuni here saith, Raah and Daah are one, and it is called Raah, because it seeth much. Jonathan in his Targum calleth it, the white Dajetha, according to the name in Levite. 11. and Onkelos nameth it Bath canpha, that is, Daughter of wing. Glede] a kind of Kite or Puttock, in Hebrew Dajah: this is not mentioned in Levite. 11. (see the annotations there on verse. 14.) the Greek calleth it ctinos, that is, a Glede or K•e.

Vers. 15. Owl] or, young Owl, or young Ostrishe see the notes on Levite. 11. 16. for this and the rest that follow.

Vers. 19. that flieth] or, of the flying sowle: in Greek, all the or•ping things of fowls; which Jonathan, Sol. Rashi, and others, expound of fi•es, bees, hornets, and all such like: see Levite. 11. 20.

Vers. 20. clean fowl] or, clean flying thing; implying the kinds of Locusts, which were lawful to be eaten, Levite. 11. 21, 22.

Vers. 21. any carcass] the flesh of a clean beast or fowl, that either dieth alone, or is not orderly slain: see the annotations on Levite. 17. 15. the stranger] not the Proselyte, or stranger joined to the Church, for such were bound to keep the whole law, and this in special, Levite. 17. 15. but as both the Chaldee paraphrases expound it, the uncircumcised stranger that is in thy Cities; and the Greek, the sojourner that is in thy cities. Of three sorts of strangers, see the notes on Exod. 12. 43, 45, 48. This stranger here spoken of, the Hebrews call Ger toshab, that is, the stranger inabstant (or Sojourner; in Greek, Paroikos;) and they describe him thus; Ger toshab is an heathen, who takes upon him that he will serve no idol, with the residue of the commandments which were commanded to the sons of Noah, [whereof see the notes on Gen. 9. 4.] but he is not circumcised nor baptized. Such an one they (the Israelites) do receive, and he is of the Saints of the nations of the world. And why is he called Toshab (an inhabitant?) because it is lawful for us to let him inhabit amongst us in the land of Israel. Maimonides tom. 2. in Issurei biah. ch. 14. sect. 7. Of such, they held that they might be in the state of salvation, as they confess elsewhere, The Saints of the nations of the world, they have a portion in the world that is to come (in life eternal) Maimonides treat. of repentance, chap. 3. sect. 5. sell it unto an alien] or, sell thou it to a forrainer; in Chaldee, to a son of the people's; an heathen that dwelt not in the land of Israel. an holy people] and therefore art to show forth holiness in obeying all the commandments of the Lord, though imposed but for a time, and as shadows of better things. For meats, and drinks, and divers washings, and carnal ordinances, were imposed on the Jews, until the time of reformation, Hebr. 9. 10. But now it is said, Let no man judge you in meat or in drink, &c. which are a shadow of things to come, but the body is of Christ, Coloss. 2. 16, 17. not seeth a Kid] this Law is twice given before, in Exod. 23. 19. and 34. 26. see the annotations there. Under the name of a Kid, the Hebrews understand a Lamb also, and Calf, or other beast: and by seething, they imply also eating, or making any profit or use of flesh so boiled. The Chaldee. translateth, thou shalt not eat flesh with milk.

Vers. 22. Tithing thou shalt tithe] that is, shalt in any wise, carefully, faithfully separate the tithe; meaning the second tithe which themselves were to eat, verse. 23. for there was a first tithe, which was given to the Levites, out of which the Levites paid a tenth part again to the Priests, Num. 18. 24.—28. Nehem. 10. 37, 38. Then of that which remained, the owners separated a second tithe, which themselves did eat before the Lord, the first and second year: in the third year it was given to the Levites, and to the poor, Deut. 14. 28, 29. In the fourth and fifth years, it was eaten again by the owners, and in the sixth year was given to the poor. The seventh year was a rest and Sabbath to the land, then all things were common, Exod. 23. 10, 11. And this course they were constantly to follow in Israel. Hereof it is written by the Hebrews thus; *After that they have separated the first tithe, every year they separate a second tithe, Deut. 14. 22. and in the third year, and in the sixth, they separate the tithe of the poor, instead of the second tithe. In the first (day) of Tisri (or September) is the beginning of the year for the tithe of corn, and of pulse, and of herbs: and wheresoever the beginning of the year is mentioned, it is the first of Tisri. And the fifteenth of Shebat [that is the eleventh month which we call January] is the beginning of the year for the tithe of trees (fruit) Maimonides tom. 3. in Maaser sheni (or treat. of the second tithe) chap. 1. sect. 1, 2. See also the annotations on Levite. 27. 30. &c. all the revenue] or, all the in-come, that is, fruits or increase which are gathered and brought in for food: the reason of the name appeareth in 2 Sam. 9. 10. thou shalt till the land for him, and thou shalt bring in (the fruits) that thy Masters son may have food to eat. The Hebrews say, All man's meat that is kept, which groweth out of the ground, oweth an heave-offering: and it is commanded to separate out of it, the first-fruits for the Priest, &c. and likewise the tithes. Maimonides in Trumoth, chap. 2. sect. 1. And whereas the Scripture sometime speaketh of Revenue, sometime of Corn (as after in verse. 23.) sometime of a Morsell of bread, (as in Judge. 19. 5.) they say, the grain, when it is cared, is called (Tebuah) Revenue, everywhere; and after that it is threshed and fanned, it is called (Dagan) Corn; and when it is ground, kneaded, and baked, it is called (path) a Morsell, or Bread. Maim. in Beracoth, chap. 3. sect. 1. that the field bringeth forth] or, that cometh out of the field; in Greek, the generation (or increase) of thy field. year by year] so the Greek also interpreteth the Hebrew phrase, year year, which is elsewhere written, year by year, Nehem. 10. 35. and Jonathan in his Targum explaineth it, every year and year. whereto he addeth, and not the fruits of (one) year, with the fruits of another year: meaning, that they must separate their tithes yearly, and not put two years tithe into one.*

Vers. 23. shalt eat] in Greek, shalt eat it: speaking of the tithe which the owners should eat: and so Jonathan in his Targum saith, Ye shall eat the second tithe before the LORD. before Jehovah] the tithes which were given to the Priests, they might eat in every place, Num. 18. 31. this second tithe was holy, and might not be eaten but where God's sanctuary was; as within Jerusalem when the Temple was there built. The second tithe is eaten by the owners, within the walls of Jerusalem (Deut. 14. 23.) Whosoever eateth so much as an olive of the second tithe, or drinketh of it the fourth part (of a Log) of wine, without the wall of Jerusalem, is to be beaten, as it is written (in Deut. 12. 17.) thou mayest not eat within thy gates, the tithe of thy corn, or of thy wine, or of thine oil, &c. and he is to be beaten for everyone in particular: therefore if he eat of them all three, without the wall, he is beaten three times. Maim. in Maaser sheni, chap. 2. sect. 1. 5. This is meant (they say) if he eat thereof without the walls of Jerusalem, after it is once brought in thither; But if he eat of it, before it cometh within the wall of Jerusalem, he is chastised with stripes. ibid. sect. 6. Of beating, see Deut. 25. 2, 3. and of the holy manner of eating it, see Deut. 26. 14. his name] in Chaldee, his divine presence (Shekhinah) whereby God's presence with his Church in Christ, and by his Spirit, is meant: see the notes on Exod. 34. 9. firstlings] these were given to the Priests, Num. 18. 15. Nehem. 10. 36. who had many other gifts, of which, some might not be eaten but in the court of the sanctuary; some (of which number these firstlings were) might not be eaten but in the holy City: and some might be eaten everywhere. See the annotations on Numb. 18. to fear] this is the end of this ordinance, that the people might be enured with the fear, religion, and service of God: (for fear is sometime used generally for God's worship, Isaiah 29. 13. with Matt. 15. 8, 9.) And this fear they learned both by the action it self, eating the tithe of all their fruits, with joy and thankfulness to him that so blessed their land and labors, the tenth whereof they consecrated unto him: and by beholding the other holy things, and religious actions, performed by all Israel at their solemn feasts. In this latter sense Chazkuni here expoundeth it thus; That when thou goest up to the feast, to eat thy second tithe, and shalt see the Priests in their service, and the Levites in their singing, and the Israelites in their standing, and the Synedrion (or Magistrates) fitting and judging the judgments of Israel, and the Doctors teaching; (for from thence doctrine went forth unto all Israel) thou mayest learn to fear the Lord thy God.

Vers. 24. too much for thee] that is, as the Greek explaineth it, be far away from thee. to carry it] in Greek, to carry them, meaning the tithes fore-mentioned. hath blessed thee] that is, hath given thee so great an increase, that the tenth of them is more than thou canst carry to the place of God's Sanctuary.

Vers. 25. turn it] or, sell it for money: Hebr. give it for silver; which the Greek translatheth, sell them for silver. Of this the Hebrews have these ordinances; He that will redeem the fruits of the second tithe, redeemeth them by their price (or worth) and saith, Loe this money is instead of these fruits, &c. and he carrieth the money up to Jerusalem. He that redeemeth his second tithe, blesseth God for the redemption thereof. When they redeem it, it is not by the name of Tithe, but by the name of common (or profane) things: and they say, How much are these common fruits worth; though all do know that they are Tithes. They redeem not the tithe fruits, but with silver; and they redeem them not with silver •••oynd, but with silver stamped, which hath some figure or writing upon it: and if he redeem it with a wedge of silver, or the like, he doth nothing. He may not redeem it with money which is not currant at that time, and in that place. Neither may he redeem it with money which is not in his own power; as it is written, Thou shalt bind up the money IN THINE HAND. He that redeemeth his second tithe before he have separated it; as if he say, The second tithe of these fruits be redeemed with this money; he saith not anything, seeing he hath not set out the tithe. But if he have set them out, and then say, the second tithe which is in the North, or in the South, be common (or profane) for this money; loe then it is redeemed. When they redeem the second tithe, it must be with the worth thereof, and not by guess, but exactly, by the measure, or by the weight thereof, and so they give the price. If the price, be known, he may redeem it by the mouth of one; but if it be not known, as if the wine begin to be sour, or the fruits to be rotten, &c. he is to redeem it by the mouth of three chapmē. They may not carry the tithe fruits from one place to another, to redeem them there. Maimonides in Maaser sheni, chap. 4. and binds up] the Greek saith, and shalt take the money in thine hands.

Vers. 26. thy soul asketh of thee] in Greek, thy soul desireth; by soul, meaning appetite or lust after meat or drink, as in Psal. 78. 28. they asked meat for their soul. They might not bestow the money on other things, than for food or anointing, as the Hebrews declare it thus; He may not take for the money of the tithe, ought save man's meat, which groweth out of the earth, or which is nourished by that which groweth out of the earth; as the particulars expressed in the Law, oxen, sheep, wine, or strong drink. Therefore they may not buy with the tithe money water or salt, &c. because they grow not out of the ground. Honey, eggs, and milk, are as oxen, and sheep; for though they grow not out of the earth, yet are they proceeded of them which are nourished from the earth. Likewise, they buy not a beast with the tithe money out of Jerusalem. Maim. in Maaser sheni, chap. 7. s. 3, 4, 5, 16. and thine house] in Chaldee, the men of thy house; meaning such as were clean, the unclean might not by the Law, Deut. 26. 14. Who so eateth of the second tithe, in his uncleanness, is to be beaten. Maim. in Maaser sheni, ch. 3. s. 1.

Vers. 27. thy gates] in Greek and Chaldee, thy cities: so in v. 28. not forsake him] that is, not neglect him, but minister sufficient for him also to eat, drink and rejoice; seeing he hath no land of his own, to supply this unto him: See Deut. 12. 19. And this here seemeth not to be meant only of the first tithe, commanded to be given unto the Levites, Num. 18. but of communicating also these second tithes with them, to rejoice together, as may be gathered by the Law following, v. 29.

Vers. 28. At the end of three years] in Greek, After three years: but it is meant in the third year, to wit, of the seventh or Sabbath year; and so again in the sixth year, for every third year is meant. Therefore in Deut. 26. 12. it is written, In the third year. all the tithe] The Hebrews write, After a man hath reaped the seed of the earth, or gathered the fruits of the trees, and ended the work thereof; he separateth out of it, one of fifty; and this is called the great Heave-offering (or first-fruits) and it is given to the Priest: and of this is spoken in Deut. 18. 4. Afterward he separateth out of the remainder, one of ten; and that is called the first tithe; and he giveth it to the Levites: and this is mentioned in Num. 18. 24. After this, he separateth out of the residue, one of ten; and that is called the second tithe: and it is for the owners, and they eat it in Jerusalem: and this is spoken of in Levite. 27. 30, 31. and Deut. 14. 22. According to this order do they separate in the first year of the seven, and in the second, and in the fourth, and in the fifth. But in the third, and in the sixth of the seven, after they have separated the first tithe, he separateth out of the remainder, another tithe, and giveth it to the poor, & that is called the tithe of the poor. And these two years there is no second tithe but the tithe of the poor; and that is spoken of in Deut. 14. 28. & 26. 12. The year of Release [which is the seventh year] is all free; and there is in it no heave-offering, nor tithes at all, either first or second, or tithe of the poor. Maimonides tom. 3. in Mattanoth, gnanijim, ch. s. 2.—5. thy gates] in Greek and Chaldee, thy cities: implying cities, suburbs, and fields about them; but not out of the land; as the Hebrews say, They may not carry out of the land, for it is said, WITHIN THY GATES; and (in Deut. 26. 12.) That they may eat within thy gates. Maimonides in Mattanoth, ch. 6. s. 17.

Vers. 29. the Levite) he was to have all the first tithe, Num. 18. 24. and of that do the Hebrews understand this, and not of the second tithe: as Sol. Rashi here saith, The Levite (shall come) and take the first tithe: and the stranger and the fatherless, and they shall take the second tithe, for it is for the poor of this year. And Chazkuni saith, In the third year, the first tithe is for the Levite, and the second tithe is to be divided unto the poor. See the notes on Num. 18. shall eat and be satisfied] or, eat and have their fill. They were not bound to eat it in Jerusalem, as the second tithe of the former two years; but might eat it within any of their gates. About the distribution of this tithe, they had these orders: The owner of the field, when poor folk pass by him, and he have there the tithe of the poor, he giveth to every poor body that passeth by him, so much of that tithe as may satisfy him, according to Deut. 14. 29. How much is that? If it be of wheat, he gives him not less than half a Kab: if of barley, not less than a Kab: of rye, not less than a Kab: of figs, not less than five and twenty shekels weight: of wine, not less than half a Log: of oil, not less than a quarter (of a Log) &c. And if he give him of any other fruits, it is not less than that he may sell, and buy with the price thereof two meals meat. If there be many poor, and he have not enough to give unto everyone according to the measure, then he setteth (the tithe) before them, and they part it among themselves. With the second tithe they may not pay debts, or wages, nor redeem captives with it, nor give alms thereof, &c. Maimonides in Mattanoth gnan, ch. 6. in all the work] that is, all the works, as the Greek and Chaldee explain it; or, in every work. This manner of speech, that he may bless thee, is a promise, and he will bless thee, (as Judge not, that ye be not judged, Matth. 7. 1. meaneth, and ye shall not be judged, Luke 6. 37.) and it showeth how godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come, 1 Tim. 4. 8. Unto such duties as these, and to works of mercy, there are often annexed promises of blessing in the Scriptures, Prov. 3. 9, 10. Ezek. 44. 30. Mal. 3. 10. 11. 2 Cor. 9. 6.—10.

CHAP. XV.

1 The seventh year, a year of release for the poor. 7 Unto the poor men must lend freely, and give; the seventh year must be no let thereof. 12 An Hebrew servant must be set free in the seventh yere, and liberally rewarded. 16 If he will not go out free, his ear must be bored, and he is a servant forever. 19 All firstlings, males of the cattle, are to be sanctified unto the Lord, and eaten before him; 21. Except it have a blemish, then is it to be eaten by any in any place: 23 But not the blood.

AT the end of seven years thou shalt make a release. And this is the manner of the release; that every creditour that lendeth ought unto his neighbor, do release it: he shall not exact of his neighbor, and of his brother, because he hath proclaimed a release to Jehovah. Of a forrainer thou mayest exact it: but that which is thine, with thy brother, thine hand shall release. Only, that there be not in thee a needy man; for Jehovah blessing will bless thee in the land which Jehovah thy God giveth to thee for an inheritance, to possess it. Only, if hearkening thou wilt hearken unto the voice of Jehovah thy God, to observe to do all his commandment which I command thee this day. For Jehovah thy God blesseth thee, as he hath spoken unto thee; and thou shalt lend unto many nations; but thou shalt not borrow; and thou shalt rule over many nations, and they shall not rule over thee.

If there shall be in thee a needy man, of one of thy brethren, in any of thy gates, in thy land which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee, thou shalt not make strong thine heart, nor shut thine hand from thy brother the needy man. But opening thou shalt open thine hand unto him, and lending thou shalt lend him enough for his want, that which is wanting unto him. Beware of thyself, lest there be a thought in thine heart of Belial, saying; the seventh year is near, the year of release; and thine eye be evil against thy brother the needy man, and thou givest not unto him, and he cry against thee unto Jehovah, and it be sin unto thee. Giving thou shalt give unto him, & thine heart shall not be evil whē thou givest unto him, because that for this thing Jehovah thy God will bless thee in all thy works, and in all that thou puttest thine hand unto. For the needy shall not cease out of the land: therefore I do command thee, saying; opening thou shalt open thine hand to thy brother, to thy poor afflicted, and to thy needy in thy land.

If thy brother an Hebrew, or an Hebrew esse be sold unto thee, and serve thee six years, then in the seventh year thou shalt send him out free from thee. And when thou sendest him out free from thee, thou shalt not send him out empty. Furnishing thou shalt furnish him out of thy flock, and out of thy floor, and out of thy wine-press; of that wherewith Jehovah thy God hath blessed thee, thou shalt give unto him.

And thou shalt remember that thou wast a servant in the land of Egypt, and Jehovah thy God redeemed thee; therefore I do command thee this thing today. And it shall be, if he say unto thee, I will not go out from thee, because he loveth thee and thine house, because he is well with thee; Then thou shalt take an awle, and shalt thrust it in his ear, and in the door, and he shall be unto thee a servant for ever; and also unto thy woman-servant thou shalt do likewise. It shall not be hard in thine eyes when thou sendest him out free from thee, for the double of the hire of an hired servant, he hath served thee six years: and Jehovah thy God will bless thee in all that thou doest.

Every firstling, which shall be borne of thy herd and of thy flock, the male thou shalt sanctify unto Jehovah thy God: thou shalt not serve with the firstling of thy bullock, nor sheare the firstling of thy flock. Thou [unspec] shalt eat it before Iebovah thy God, year by year, in the place which Jehovah shall choose, thou and thine house. And if there [unspec] be in it a blemish, lame, or blind, any evil blemish, thou shalt not sacrifice it unto Jehovah thy God. Thou shalt eat it within thy gates, the unclean and the clean (person) together, as the Roe-bucke, and as the Hart. Only the blood thereof thou shalt not eat; thou shalt pour it upon the earth, as water. [unspec 23]

Annotations.

AT the end of seven years] Hereby seemeth properly to be meant according to the old Latin version, In the seventh year; as in Deut. 14. 28. At the end of three years, meaneth in the third year: and in Ier. 34. 14. it is said, At the end of seven years, let ye go every man his brother, &c. that is, as there after followeth, when he hath served thee six years; and Moses here in Deut. 15. 12. explaineth it in the seventh year: and the Greek Interpreters translate that place of Jeremiah, At the end of seven years, thus, when six years are fulfilled. So here, the end of seven years, is the seventh year, which is the end or last of the seven: and as servants were to be released in the beginning of the seventh year, when they had fully served six; so Ibn Ezra (upon this place) expoundeth this remission of debts to be at the beginning of the year. Howbeit some of the Hebrew Expositors take it otherwise, saying; The seventh (year) releaseth not debts of money, but at the end thereof, as it is said (in Deut. 15. 1.) At the end of seven years, &c. And there he saith (in Deut. 31. 10.) At the end of seven years, in the solemnity of the year of release; in the feast of Tabernacles. What is (meant) there? after (seven years;) so the forgiveness of monies is after seven (years.) Therefore he that lendeth to his neighbor in the seventh year it self, may require his debt all the year; but when the Sun is set in the night of new-years day, at the going out of the seventh year, the debt is lost. Maimonides in Misn. tom. 3. treat. of the Release and Jubilee, ch. 9. s. 4. This seventh year is that spoken of in Exod. 23. 11. and Levite. 25. 4. which was a Sabbath and rest for the land, that it might not be tilled, and a year of releasing debts, figuring the year of grace, the acceptable year of the Lord, which Christ preached, by whom we have obtained of God release of our debts, that is, the forgiveness of our sins, Luke 4. 18, 19. Matth. 6. 12. Luke 11. 4. and are taught also to forgive, if we have ought against any; that our Father also which is in heaven, may forgive us our trespasses, Mark. 11. 25. that we be kind one to another, tender hearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven us, Ephes. 4. 32. Coloss. 3. 12, 13. See the annotations on Levite. 25. a release] or, a remission, or intermission, called in Hebrew Shemitta, in Greek Aphesis, that is, forgiveness, or remission: the word which the New Testament useth for forgiveness of sins, Mark 1. 4. Matth. 26. 28. whereof this release of debts was a shadow. And the word is likewise used in Exod. 23. 11. where speech is of the land, that it should be let rest, or intermitted from tillage, which was but for that seventh year only: wherefore it cannot be gathered from this word, that the remission of debts here commanded, was to be forever, but might be an intermission only for the seventh year, wherein was neither sowing, nor reaping, nor other works of husbandry, so that the poor had not such means to pay their debts, as in other years. Howbeit, the Hebrews for the most part hold the remission to be perpetual, and therefore have their limitations for some debts and debtors, as after shall be shown.

Vers. 2. the manner] Hebr. the word; which the Greek expoundeth, the ordinance (or commandment) of the release. every creditour.] Hebr. every master (or owner) of the lending of his hand, that is, of the thing lent with his hand: which seemeth to imply money, and the like, and that which is a man's own, whereof he hath power, as to lend, so to remit. It may also be interpreted, every master of the exaction of his hand, which he may exact of his neighbor, do release it; that is, every creditour that hath right to exact (the debt) with his hand, do release that which he might exact. The Greek expounds it thus; Thou shalt forgive every proper debt (or, every debt of thine own) which thy neighbor oweth thee. Chazkuni here observeth, that the release is of things lent, not of things taken by robbery, or of things committed of trust to be kept. not exact] or, not urgently exact; in Greek, not ask (or, require:) which the Hebrews understand both of exacting the debt, and an oath concerning it, as some cases might require. The seventh year releaseth an oath, as it is said, THOU SHALT NOT EXACT; not at all; neither to pay, nor to swear; meaning, an oath before the Judges, &c. But an oath of them that have a thing to keep, or for partnership, or the like; wherein if he confess, he must pay; in such case he sweareth, after the (year of) release. Maimonides in treat. of the Release, ch. 9. sect. 6, 7. and of his brother] that is, of such a neighbor as is his brother in the faith; to except the stranger, as in verse. 3. So And, is often used for explanation, as I mean, or, that is to say: see the notes on Gen. 13. 15. because he hath proclaimed] or, when he (that is, God by the magistrate) hath proclaimed, or, because it is called a release. Targum Jonathan expoundeth it of a proclamation by the magistrates. to Jehovah] meaning, to his honor, and by his commandment. The Chaldee translatheth, before the LORD: the Greek, to the Lord thy God.

Vers. 3. Of a forrainer] whō the Chaldee calleth a son of the people's, meaning an heathen. exact] the Greek addeth, require whatsoever things are thine with him. thine hand shall release] which the Greek explaineth thus, but to thy brother thou shalt make a release (or, forgiveness) of thy debt: In this the Hebrews (which hold the release to be forever,) have their limitations. They say, the seventh year releaseth a debt though it be lent upon a bill which secureth the debt by goods; but if he took assurance by land, when he lent it, then it releaseth not. Also, he that lends to his neighbor, and setteth him an appointed time of ten years, he releaseth not (in the seventh:) He that lends unto his neighbor, and conditioneth with him, that the seventh year shall not release him, he must notwithstanding release, for he cannot frustrate the right of the seventh year. If he condition with him not to release that particular debt in the seventh year, the condition standeth; for that man hath bound himself in his goods, whereas the Law hath not bound him. Mulcts (or Forfeits) for enforcing, or for enticing a maid, or for bringing an evil name, &c. are not released. He that lends upon a pawn, releaseth not, if the debt be aequivalent with the pawn: but if it be more, the overplus is released. If the Judges have given sentence (at Law,) and written, Thou, such an one, art bound to pay this man thus & thus, he releaseth not, for this is not in the nature of a thing lent. These and the like cautions Maimonides showeth in his said Treat. of the Release and Jubilee, ch. 9. Of some of these there is question to be made, whether they be agreeable to the Law of God here given, especially if it be understood but of an intermission of the debt for the seventh year only.

Vers. 4. Only that there be not] or, To the end that there be not: it showeth the reason of the former law of release, that there might not be through exacting of debts, any man brought to extreme poverty. in thee] in the midst of thee O Israel, or, among you: so again in verse. 7. a needy man] This word noteth a depth of poverty, and hath the name Ebjon, of wishing or desiring things that may relieve his wants. blessing will bless thee] that is, will surely bless thee much; so that thou shalt not lose by it, if thou perform this duty to thy poor brother. The Greek explaineth it, for this thing the Lord blessing will bless thee.

Vers. 6. blesseth thee] or, hath blessed thee, that is, will surely bless thee: a promise spoken of as already done. thou shalt lend] God will so bless thee, that thou shalt have enough to lend, and shalt not need to borrow: so it is explained in Deut. 28. 12. rule over many] as other ways, so particularly by lending unto them, being richer than they; for, The rich ruleth over the poor, and the borrower is servant to the man that lendeth, Pro. 22. 7. Compare also Psal. 37. 21, 26.

Vers. 7. any of thy gates] or, one of thy gates: which the Greek and Chaldee expound cities. not make strong] that is, not harden thine heart; for so these phrases do one open another; as in Exod. 4. 21. and 7. 3. The Greek expoundeth it, not turn away thine heart: the Apostle calleth it a shutting up of the bowels (of compassion) from him that hath need, 1 John 3. 17. shut thine hand] that is, abstain from giving: contrary to the opening of the hand, in verse. 8.

Vers. 8. open thine hand] that is, be bountiful and give: so again in v. 11. Thus it is said of God, Thou openest thine hand, they are filled with good, Psal. 104. 28. and 145. 16. Our Savior saith, Do good, and lend, hoping for nothing again; and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be the children of the most high; for he is kind unto the unthankful, and to the evil. Be ye therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful, Luke 6. 35, 36.

Vers. 9. a thought] Hebr. a word; used generally for any thing or thought: the Greek saith, a hidden word, or, secret thing. in thy heart] or, with thy heart. of Belial] that is, of wickedness; see Deut. 13. 13. This is to be referred unto the former, a word (or thought) of Belial; as they are joined in Ps. 101. 3. & 41. 9. that is, a wicked thing (or thought) in thy heart, and so the Greek explaineth it, an unlawful thing. Some refer it to the latter, the heart; as if he should say, a thought in thy wicked heart. thine eye be evil] hereby is meant the manifestatiō of a covetous affection, as is after shown by the effect, and thou givest not unto him; and proceedeth from an evil heart, v. 10. for the eye declareth what is in the mind. This Solomon teacheth by the contrary, saying, He that hath a good eye, shall be blessed, for he giveth of his bread to the poor, Prov. 22. 9. whereto agreeth that speech in Ecclus. 35. 8. Give the Lord his honor, with a good eye, & diminish not the first fruits of thine hands. But an evil eye signifieth envy and covetousness, as, Eat thou not the bread of him that hath an evil eye, Pro. 23. 6. and, Is thine eye evil, because I am good? Matth. 20. 15. and Christ saith, that an evil eye proceedeth from within, out of the heart of men, Mark. 7. 21, 22. it be sin unto thee] or, sin in thee, that is, a great sin, for which thou shalt be condemned, as is shown in Matth. 25. 41, 42, 45. Thus sin is used sundry times for a most sinful and damnable action; as, The thought of foolishness (that is, of the fool) is sin, Pr. 24. 9. and, If I had not done among thē the works which none other man did, they had not had sin, John. 15. 24. See also I am 4. 17. And this sin is the greater, & the sooner punished, when the poor for want of relief do cry unto God.

Vers. 10. Giving thou shalt give] that is, In any wise give, and that freely, bountifully, &c. So in v. 11. opening thou shalt open thine hand. thine heart shall not be evil] or, let not thine heart be evil, that is, grudge not, grieve not, nor distrust the providence of God: So the Greek translatheth, thou shalt not be grieved in thy heart. This is spoken of the heart, because a pretence of liberality is sometime made, without a good heart, as is shown in Prov. 23. 6, 7. Hereupon it is said, Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, (so let him give:) not of grief, or of necessity; for God loveth a cheerful giver, 2. Cor. 9. 7. will bless thee] and consequently will enrich thee; for, the blessing of the Lord it maketh rich, Prov. 10. 22. Other blessings also are implied, for he saith, If thou draw out thy soul to the hungry, and satisfy the afflicted soul; then shall thy light rise in obscurity, and thy darkness shall be as the noon day, and the LORD will guide thee continually, and satisfy thy soul in droughts, & make fat thy bones; and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters fail not, Isaiah 58. 10, 11.

Verse 11. not cease out of the land] or, from the [unspec 11]midst of (that is, from within) the land. Though God is able abundantly to supply all men's wants, yet suffereth he some to have need, as for other causes, so to make trial of the love and compassion of his people to their poor brethren. Ye have the poor with you always; and whensoever ye will, ye may do them good, Mar. 14. 7.

Vers. 12. an Hebrew, or an Hebrewesse] that is, as the Chaldee expoundeth it, a son of Israel, or a daughter of Israel: for the Israelites were called Hebrews; Exod. 2. 6. afterward (when the other tribes were fallen from God, and the tribe of Judah abode in the truth, Hos. 11. 12.) they were called Jews, Ier. 34. 9. Ezra 5. 5. and 6. 7, 8. &c. Est. 4. 7. and 9. 1. sold unto thee] of the selling of the Hebrews, see the Laws fore-given in Exod. 21. 2.—11. Levite. 25. 39.—55. The Hebrew Expositors understand this Law here given, for him that was sold by the Magistrate, according to Exod. 22. 3. and not for such as sold themselves. Maim. treat. of Servants, c. 3. s. 12. but it seemeth by the words of Moses, and by Ier. 34. to extend further. in the seventh year] to wit, from the time of his sale; for this is not the seventh year, the year of release fore-spoken of in v. 1, 2, 9. see the annotations on Exod. 21. 2. send him out free] or, let him go out a free man: This was not an intermission of service for the seventh year only, but a full release forever; wherefore God blameth the Jews in Zedekiahs days, who had released their servants, and afterward caused them to return, and brought them into subjection and servitude again, Ier. 34. 14, 15, 16. &c. Neither was this release to be purchased by the servants of their friends, but was for nothing, Exod. 21. 2. This Sabbath, or seventh year, figured the acceptable year, the time of grace by Christ, who releaseth freely by his Gospel, such as were the servants of sin and Satan, Isaiah 61. 1, 2. Luk. 4. 18, 19. Rom. 6. 12, 13, 14. and 3. 24. Heb. 2. 14, 15. John 8. 32, 34, 35, 36.

Vers. 14. Furnishing thou shalt furnish him] that it, in any case furnish him, and that liberally, or adorn him as with a chain; from whence the similitude is here taken: that as crowns and chains were signs of honor and dignity, Dan. 5. 29. so the Master should honourably reward his brother for his service, and not turn him out as a vagabond. He was sold for extreme poverty, Exod. 22. 3. Levite. 25. 39. and if he should be turned away empty, he might either be forced to return into servitude, (from which God would free his people, because they were his servants, Levite. 25. 42, 55:) or be driven to steal, Prov. 30. 9. or to beg, or live in misery. thy floor] thy corn: by these three, flesh, bread, and wine, he was sufficiently provided for his present livelihood, and that of the best. thy God hath blessed thee] so implying other things besides those forementioned, and giving a reason of this precept from the blessing of God upon the Master, which also often cometh by means of the servants diligent and faithful service, who therefore ought not to be sent away empty, Gen. 30. 27, 30. and 31. 6, 38, 40, 42. For the quantity, the Law appointeth not how much the master should give his servant at his departure; the Hebrews gather from Exod. 21. 32. that he might not give him less than the worth of thirty  $\langle \phi \rangle$ , whether it were of one kind (of the things for emotted) or of many. Maim. treat. of servants, c. 3. s. 14.

Vers. 16. thine house] that is, thine household, wife, children, servants; as the Chaldee saith, the men of thine house. he is well] is well used, and to his contentment. What the Hebrews gather from these words, is noted on Levite. 25. 40.

Vers. 17. thou shalt take an aule] this was to be done by the knowledge of the Magistrates also, Exod. 21. 6. see the annotations there. in his care, and in the door] so fastening his care to the door, as the Greek version here explaineth it; to signify, that he yielded himself as a perpetual servant in his masters house. a servant for ever that is, till the year of jubilee, or, all the days of his Masters life: see the notes on Exod. 21. 6. thou shalt do likewise] to furnish her liberally when she goeth out of thy service, as verse. 14. and (as some think) to bore her care for a perpetual servant, if she will not go out free at the end of six years. But the Hebrews understand it of the former only, and hold that a woman was not to be bored in the care. Maim. in Servants, ch. 3. s. 13. Of maid-servants, see the Law in Exod. 21. 7.—11.

Vers. 18. It shall not be hard] or, Let it not be hard, that is, seem hard unto thee, & grieve thee, that thou must so furnish him with thy goods when thou lettest him go. the double] in Chaldee, two for one. the hire of an hired servant] that is, he hath been double the worth of an hired servant to thee, that he hath served thee six years. The reason of this speech some think to be, because of the hard service which he hath done, above the service of an hireling, as in Luk. 17. 7, 8, 9. But by the Law, Hebrew servants might not be used like slaves, but like hired servants, Levite. 25. 39, 40. Therefore others understand it in respect of the time, that an hired servant might not be hired longer than three years, (as in Isaiah 16. 14. within three years, as the years of an hireling, &c.) whereas this servant had served six years. But there is no law given of God, that a man might not be hired for longer time than three years; and there is the like phrase in speech of one year, Isaiah 21. 16. Others think it to be in respect of his condition, that he was •old for a servant, and so bound to his master, and could not be free when he would.

Vers. 19. of thy herd] or, in (that is, among) thy herd, and in thy flock; meaning of beeves, sheep, and goats. After the laws that concern the poor and the servants of Israel, he now repeateth a law which concerned the relief of his ministers the Priests that served the Lord, and his people Israel. shall sanctify] that is, shall separate as holy unto the Lord: the ground of this Law was because God smote all the first-borne of Egypt, from man to beast, but spared the Israel sees; therefore he commanded them (in perpetual memory of that benefit) to sanctify all their first-borne males unto him. See Exodus 13. 2, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15. not serve] that is, as the Greek explaineth it, not do any work therewith; as to plough, tread out the corn, or any other like. Because these beasts were the Lord's, he forbiddeth men to use them as their own, for any work service, or profit to themselves. So the Hebrews hold this Law by proportion, to concern all other holy things, as well as the firstlings; and that for transgressing this charge, men were to be beaten. Maimonides tom  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  . in Megnilah, c. 1. s. 7.

Vers. 20. Thou shalt eat it] this is not meant of the owner, but spoken to the Priest, unto whom God gave all the firstlings of Israel, Num. 18. 15, 17, 18. See the annotations there. year by year] every firstling in his year, and not defer the eating of it till the year following. shall choose] to put his name, and place his Sanctuary there: see Deut. 12. 5, 6. thine house] thy family; in Chaldee, the men of thy house.

Vers. 21. lame or blind] understand, if the beast be lame or blind, or any otherwise blemished. The firstlings were to be killed, their blood and fat brought to the Altar, their flesh eaten by the Priests, as is noted on Num. 18. 17. but no blemished thing might come at the Altar, by the Law in Levite. 22. 18.—22. therefore not the firstlings that had blemish on them.

Vers. 22. Thou shalt eat it] speaking to the Priest, to whom the firstlings were given for their livelihood: see Num. 18. 17. within thy gates] in Greek and Chaldee, within thy cities, that is, in any of their common habitation. as the Roebeck] that is, as ordinary meats wherein is no holiness. So in Deut. 12. 22.

Vers. 23. the blood] because it is the soul, or life, and was for atonement of their souls upon the Altar, therefore no blood of beast or fowl might be eaten: see Deut. 12. 23. and Levite. 17. 11, 12.

CHAP. XVI.

1 A repetition of the Law touching the feast of the Passover, and of unleavened bread: 9 Of Weekes or Pentecost: 13 Of Boothes or Tabernacles. 16 Every male must appear, and offer according to the gift of his hand, at these three feasts. 18 Of ordaining Judges, & doing justice. 21 Groves and Pillars are forbidden.

Observe the month of Abib, and keep the Passover unto Jehovah thy God: for in the month of Abib Jehovah thy God brought thee forth out of Egypt by night. And thou shalt sacrifice the Passover unto Jehovah thy God, of the flock and the herd, in the place which Jehovah shall choose, to cause his name to dwell there. Thou shalt not eat with it any leavened bread; seven days shalt thou eat with it unleavened cakes, the bread of affliction: for thou camest forth out of the land of Egypt, in haste; that thou mayest remember the day of thy coming forth out of the land of Egypt, all the days of thy life. And there shall not be seen with thee any old leaven in all thy coast, seven days; neither shall anything of the flesh which thou shalt sacrifice in the evening, in the first day, remain all night, until the morning. Thou mayest not sacrifice the Passover within any of thy gates, which Jehovah thy God giveth thee. But at the place which Jehovah thy God shall choose, to cause his name to dwell, there thou shalt sacrifice the Passover in the evening, about the going down of the Sun, at the season that thou camest forth out of Egypt. And thou shalt boil and eat, in the place which Jehovah thy God shall choose: and thou shalt turn in the morning, and go unto thy tents. Six days thou shalt eat unleavened cakes, and in the seventh day shall be a solemn assembly unto Jehovah thy God; thou shalt not do any work.

Seven weeks shalt thou number unto thee, from beginning (to put) the sickle into the standing corn, thou shalt begin to number the seven weeks. And thou shalt observe the feast of Weekes unto Jehovah thy God, with a tribute of a voluntary offering of thine hand, which thou shalt give, according as Jehovah thy God hath blessed thee. And thou shalt rejoice before Jehovah thy God; thou, and thy son, and thy daughter, and thy man-servant, and thy maid-servant, and the Levite which is within thy gates, and the stranger, and the fatherless, and the widow, which are in the midst of thee, in the place which Jehovah thy God shall choose, to cause his name to dwell there. And thou shalt remember that thou wast a servant in Egypt, and thou shalt observe and do these statutes.

Thou shalt observe unto thee the feast of Boothes seven days, when thou hast gathered in of thy floor, and of thy wine-press. And thou shalt rejoice in thy feast; thou, and thy son, and thy daughter, and thy manservant, and thy maid-servant and the Levite, and the stranger, and the fatherless, and the widow, which are within thy gates. Seven days shalt thou keep a feast unto Jehovah thy God, in the place which Jehovah shall choose, because Jehovah thy God shall bless thee, in all thy revenue, and in all the work of thine hands; and thou shalt be surely joyful. Three times in a year shall every male of thee appear before Jehovah thy God, in the place which he shall choose, in the feast of unleavened cakes, and in the feast of Weekes, and in the feast of Boothes: and he shall not appear before Jehovah empty. Every man according to the gift of his hand, according to the blessing of Jehovah thy God, which he hath given unto thee.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

IVDGES and Officers shalt thou give for thee, in all thy gates, which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee through thy tribes; and they shall judge the people with judgment of justice. Thou shalt not wrest judgment, thou shalt not respect persons, neither take a gift, for a gift will blind the eyes of the wise, and will pervert the words of the just. Justice justice shalt thou follow, that thou mayest live, and inherit the land which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee.

Thou shalt not plant thee a grove, any tree, near unto the Altar of Jehovah thy God, which thou shalt make thee. Neither shalt thou set up a pillar, which Jehovah thy God hateth.

Annotations.

OBserve] Hebr. To observe; the indefinite put for the imperative, as is noted on Exod. 13. 3. Abib] which we call March: the Greek expoundeth it, the month of new fruits. See the notes on Exod. 13. 4. and keep the Passover] Hebr. and thou shalt do (or make) that is, celebrate the feast of the Passover, or sacrifice the Passover; so named, because God passed over the houses of the Israelites, when he slew the first-borne of Egypt: In memorial whereof, this feast with the rites thereof, were commanded; see Exod. 12. and the annotations there. It was a figure of Christ our Passover, and of our redemption by him, whose feast we are taught to keep, 1 Cor. 5. 7, 8. by night] at mid-night the Angel of God slew the first-borne in Egypt, then rose they up, and began to take their journey, though they went not out of Egypt till the day following: see Exod. 12. 29, 30, 41, 42.

Vers. 2. sacrifice] or, kill; slay: so Christ our Passover is sacrificed for us, 1 Cor. 5. 7. and by the preaching of Christ crucified, and showing of his death, we now keep this feast, Gal. 3. 1. 1 Cor. 11. 26. the flock] of sheep, or goats; see Exod. 12. 5. the herd] of Bulls, or Bullocks. This differeth from the Passover of the Lamb, which was precisely commanded to be a young sheep or goat of the first year, one for a company, to be ate all of it, the same night, with bitter herbs, &c. Exod. 12. But this was an addition to the former, and was of sheep or bullocks, so many as men would voluntarily bring for the feast; called therefore by the Jews Chagigah, that is, the feastoffering; as the other was called Pas·hs. An example hereof we have in 2 Chron. 35. 7, 8, &c. where many thousands of Lambes, Kids, and Bullocks were in Iosiahs time by him and his Nobles given for the Passover. Of this the Hebrews say; When they offer the Passover in the first (month) they offer it with Peace-offerings in the 14 day, of the herd, or of the flock, great or small, males or females, with any sacrifices of peace: and this is called the Chagagah (or feast-offering) of the 14 (day.) And of this it is said (in Deut. 16. 2.) thou shalt sacrifice the Passover to the Lord thy God, of the flock and the herd. Maimonides in Corban Pesach, c. 10. s. 12. to cause his name to dwell] which the Greek expoundeth, his name to be called upon there. The Chaldee thus, to cause his Majesty (or divine presence) to dwell there. So in v. 6. This was where the Tabernacle or Temple should be placed; which in time was at Jerusalem, where Solomon built the Lord an house, 1 Chron. 17. 12. that is, built an house for his Name, 2 Sam. 7. 13. See also Deut. 12.

Vers. 3. Leavened bread] which signified corruption in heart, word, or deed; as hypocrisy, maliciousness, false doctrine, or any other wickedness, or wicked persons: see Luk. 12. 1. Matt. 16. 6, 12. 1 Cor. 5. 7, 8. 13. and the annotations on Ex. 12. 15. seven days] after the Paschal Lamb, Levite. 23. 5.—8. see the notes on Exod. 12. 15. bread of affliction] or, bread of poverty: so called, because it was a memorial of their affliction in Egypt, and of their hasty coming out from thence before their bread had time to be leavened, Exod. 12. 34. 39. Hereupon the Israelites used, after the eating of the Paschal Lamb, to break a cake of unleavened bread, and the father of the family gave every man a piece, and said, This is the bread of affliction which our fathers did eat in the land of Egypt, &c. as is shown at large in the notes on Exod. 12. 8. That bread Christ consecrated to be a memorial to us of his afflictions and death for our sakes, whereby his body was broken for us, 1 Cor. 11. 24, 25, 26. in haste] this word implieth a trembling, and an hasty flight for fear of danger, Deut. 20. 3. 2 Sam. 4. 4. 2 King. 7. 15. See the notes on Exod. 12. 11.

Vers. 4. seen with thee] or, seen (appear) unto thee. Leaven might not be eaten, nor so much as left within their dwellings, but carefully sought out and put away before the feast began. The manner of doing it, and meaning thereof, is shown on Exod. 12. 15. 19. thy coast] or, thy border; the Greek saith, thy coasts. Leaven might no way be reserved for any use till after the Passover, but was purged out the day before, and abolished, either burnt, or otherwise made away, as is noted on Exod. 12. 15. of the flesh] the Greek translatheth plurally, of the fleshes, to imply the other sacrifices of the feast, as well as the Paschal Lamb; whereof whatsoever was left till morning, was to be burnt as a polluted thing, Exod. 12. 10. The Hebrews explain this Law thus: The feastroffering (Chagigah) of the fourteenth (day) is at (men's) liberty (to offer) but not bound. And it is eaten for two days and one night, like all the sacrifices of Peace-offerings, (Lev. 7. 15, 16, 17.) And it is unlawful to leave of the flesh of the Chagigah of the 14. day, unto the third day; as it is said (in Deut. 16. 4.) neither shall (anything) of the flesh, which thou shalt sacrifice in the evening, in the first day, remain all night until the morning. By word of mouth we have learned, that this is a prohibition for leaving the flesh of the Chagigah of the fourteenth day, unto the sixteenth day; as it is said, unto the morning, till the morning of the second day. Maimonides in Korb. Pesach, ch. 10. s. 13: Of this was that practice of the Jews, in John. 18. 28. they went not into the Judgment hall, lest they should be defiled; but that they might eat the Passover; meaning the Chagigah (or Feast-offering) of the Passover; for the Paschal Lamb was eaten the night before, Mark 14. 12, &c.

Vers. 5. not sacrifice] or, not kill. thy gates] that is, as both the Greek and Chaldee expound it, thy cities. This was a perpetual Law for the Pasche, as the Hebrews declare, from this Law, thus; They kill not the Passover but in the Court, as the rest of the holy things: yea, in the time when the high places were permitted, they sacrificed not the Passover in a private high place: & who so offereth the Passover in a private high place, is beaten. For it is said (in Deut. 16. 5.) Thou mayest not sacrifice the Passover in any of thy gates: we have been taught, that this is a prohibition to kill it in a private high place, although it be in the time when high places are permitted. Maimonides in Corban Pesach, ch. 1. s. 3.

Vers. 6. about the going down of the Sun] that is, in the afternoon, before Sun setting; for at Sun setting the day ended. For the time of killing, see the notes on Exod. 12. 6.

Vers. 7. shall boil] or, seeth: so the Hebrew word properly signifieth; and so both the Greek and Chaldee do translate it, though the Greek addeth another word, thou shalt boil, and roast, and eat. Therefore this cannot be meant of the Paschal Lamb, which might not be boiled, but roasted only, Exod. 12. 8, 9. but is spoken of the Chagigah (or Feast-offering) forementioned, which might be boiled if they would: and so they practiced in Iosiahs Passover; they roasted the Passover (that is, the Lamb) with fire, but the holy offerings they boiled in pots and in cauldrons, &c. 2. Chr. 35. 13, &c. unto thy tents] that is, as the Greek and Chaldee explain it, unto thy houses, or dwellings. See the notes on Num. 24. 5.

Vers. 8. solemn assembly] called in Hebrew *Gnatser*th*, of retaining the people, or of restraining them from work: in Greek, Exodion, the Out-going of the feast: in Chaldee, an Assembly, or Congregation. See Lev. 23. 36. any work] to wit, any servile work, as is expressed in Levite. 23. 8. Num. 28. 25. but work about dressing meat or drink might be done on the feast days, but not on the Sabbath: see the notes on Lev. 23. 3, 7.

Vers. 9. Seven weeks] or, Seven sevens, to wit, of days. The Greek addeth, Seven entire weeks. See Lev. 23. 15. where they are called seven Sabbaths. into the standing corn] that is, from the sixteenth day of Nisan (or March,) at which time the Magistrates of Israel sent messengers to reap the sheaf, the first-fruits of Barley harvest, to wave it before the Lord: from which day precisely, they were to number these seven weeks, until Pentecost, which was the fiftieth day, as is shown more largely in the Annotations on Levite. 23. 10. 15, 16.

Vers. 10. shalt observe] Hebr. do or make, to wit, holy: see the notes on Exod. 34. 22. So after in verse. 13. of weeks] so called, because it was seven weeks after the bringing of the sheaf at the Passover: and it was fifty days, whereupon it is called in Greek Pentecost, Acts 2. 1. See Lev. 23. 15, 16. a tribute of a voluntary offering] or, a contributiō of voluntariness, that is, a voluntary contribution of thine hand, which the Greek translateth, as thine hand is able. The Hebrew Missah (which is only found in this place) is a contribution, (as Mas is often used for a tribute;) or it is a sufficiency, or enough: as in Deut. 15. 8. enough for his want, is by the Chaldee there expounded Missath, the word which the Chaldee useth also here. Wherefore this contribution here spoken of, is neither the sacrifice appointed for the feast day, in Num. 28. 27.—31. nor the two loaves and sacrifices with them, commanded in Lev. 23. 17.—20. for these were not voluntary offerings, but bounden duties which might not be omitted. But over and beside thē, God here appointeth men to bring unto him voluntarily, what they could and would.

Vers. 11. shalt rejoice] this they were bound to do, and it was one of the three things required of the Israelites at every solemn feast: see the notes on Ex. 23. 15. and after here on v. 14. his name] in Chaldee, his Divine presence, or Majesty.

Vers. 12. and thou shalt] and, may here imply the reason, therefore thou shalt observe. For they came out of Egypt to keep a feast to the Lord in the wilderness, Exod. 5. 1, 3. which they kept at mount Sinai, where the Law was given at this time of Pentecost, or of Weekes, Exod. 19. 1. 11. and 24. 5.—11. In memorial whereof this day was kept holy every year. And when they were come into Canaan, they brought two loaves of the first-fruits of their wheat harvest, with many sacrifices unto them adjoined, Lev. 23. 17.—20. which increased the solemnity. Last of all, the Law of Christ was given by the Spirit in fiery tongues, to his Apostles, on this festival day, Act. 2.

Vers. 13. Boothes] or Tabernacles, made with the boughs of trees, Lev. 23. 34, 40. See the Annotations there. of thy floor, and of thy winepress] that is, thy fruits, the corn which is threshed in the floor, and the wine pressed out of the fat: therefore it is called the feast of ingathering, in the going out of the year; when thou gatherest in thy labors out of the field, Exod. 23. 16.

Ver. 14. rejoice in thy feast] this is meant both of inward joy for the mercies of God, past, present, & to come by Christ; and of outward manifestation of their joy, by sacrifices of thanksgiving unto God, and holy banqueting with the poor, and ministers of the Lord, as after he commandeth.

Verse 15. keep a feast] by offering of sacrifices, in thankfulness to God for his blessings upon them and their land. surely joyful] or, only joyful; with spiritual mirth serving the Lord. So the Apostle saith, Rejoice in the Lord always; again I say rejoice, Phil. 4. 4.

Vers. 16. Three times] the times before and after mentioned; the Passover, or unleavened cakes; the Feast of Weekes, or Pentecost; and the Feast of Boothes, or Tabernacles: see Exod. 23. 14.—17. and 34. 22, 23. Of the special sacrifices of these Feasts, see Levite. 23. and Numb. 28. and 29. chapt. he shall not appear] that is, no man of Israel: the Greek saith as before, thou shalt not appear: in Exod. 23. 15. it was said, they shall not appear before me, empty. Thus here are three things required, appearing, keeping a feast, verse. 15. and rejoicing, verse. 14. every of which implied a sacrifice, as is noted on Exod. 23. 15.

Vers. 17. according to the gift of his hand] that is, Let every man appear with a gift (or oblation) as he is willing, and his hand can give: which the Greek explaineth, Everyone according to the ability of your hands.

Here beginneth the 48. section 〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 of the Law: See Genes. 6. 9. and 28. 10.

Vers. 18. Judges and Officers] in Chaldee, Judges and Avengers. These were to judge causes, and to execute the judgments: the Officers are called in Hebrew Shotrim, in Greek Grammateis, and Grammatoeisagogeis, that is, Scribes, and as Jerome calleth them in Latin, Masters. Their work was to speak and proclaim unto the people what they ought to do, Deut. 20. 5.—9. Ios. 1. 10, 11. and 3. 2, 3. and as the Hebrews generally hold, to see good orders kept, laws executed, malefactors punished, and the like. Therefore they carried rods and weapons, to execute justice, as Praetors, and Lictors in the ancient Roman Common-wealth, and as Sheriffs and Constables in England. There were both Judges and Officers of all tribes, and of the Levites, 1 Chron. 23. 4. The Officers (Shotrim) had staves and whips; and they stood before the Judges, and went about in the streets, and into shops, for to look to right weights and measures, and to smite all that did wrong: and all that they did, was by the mouth (or commandment) of the Judges. And in whomsoever they saw any foul matter, they brought him to the Judgment. Hall, where he was judged according to his wickedness. Maimonides in Sanhedrin, cha. 1. sect. 1. shalt thou give] that is, shalt make, or constitute, as the Greek translateth. The manner of making them, is shown in Deut. 1. 13, 15. and what manner of persons were to be chosen, is declared on Exod. 18. 21. thy gates] the Greek and Chaldee expound it, thy cities. But according to the bigness of every city, so they appointed in Israel Courts of judgment: the Hebrews reckon three; 1 The great Court in the Sanctuary, called the great Synedrion, where they set seventy (Judges) and one, as in Numb. 11. 16. &c. where seventy were added unto Moses. 2 The Court of three and twenty, of which (they say) there were two about the Temple, the one at the Court-door of the Sanctuary, and the other at the door of the mountain of the Temple. And in every city of Israel, wherein were 120. men, or moe, the lesser Synedrion (of 23.) sate in the gate of the city. 3 A city wherein there were not 120. men, they set therein three Judges; for there is no Court of less than three, as Maimonides showeth in Sanhedrin, ch. 1. sect. 3, 4. giveth unto thee] so within their own Land Israel had this charge, but not without the same, as when they were dispersed into other nations. We are not bound (say they) to constitute Judgment Halls (or Courts,) in every country, and in every city, but in the land of Israel only, &c. as it is said, in all thy gates, which the Lord thy God giveth unto thee. Maimonides in Sanhedrin, chap. 1. sect. 2. judgment of justice] that is, as the Greek translateth it, just judgment; which is, when there is an equal and indifferent course of proceeding, when the truth of the cause is discerned, and when judgment passeth according to the Law, Psal. 82. and 58. 2, 3. So Christ saith, Judge not according to the appearance, but judge just judgment, John. 7. 24. The Hebrews say, that the justice of judgment is, an equality towards both parties, in every matter: that they let not the one speak so much as he seeth needful, and say to the other, Be brief in your speech: and that they show not a friendly countenance to the one, and speak gently to him; and frown upon the other, and speak roughly unto him. That the one do not sit, and the other stand; but both of them stand, or if the Judges please, that they both sit; and that the one sit not on high, and the other below; but one besides another. It is unlawful for the Judge to hear the words of one of the parties before his fellow be come, or out of the presence of his fellow: and so the one party is to be admonished that he relate not his cause to the Judge, before his fellow the other party be come, &c. Maim. in Sanhedrin, ch. 21.

Vers. 19. not wrest judgment] not decline (or pervert, turn aside) judgment, not give wrong judgment for any cause, as did Samuel's sons, who turned aside after lucre, and took bribes, and wrested (or perverted) judgment, 1 Sam. 8. 3. See Deut. 24. 17. respect persons] or, acknowledge faces, that is, be partial, respecting one more than another: see Lev. 19. 15. Deut. 1. 17. Prov. 24. 23. take a gift] or, a bribe: this is repeated from Exod. 23. 8. see the Annotations there.

Vers. 20. Justice justice] that is, all manner justice, and nothing but justice, exactly, carefully and continually shalt thou follow: the Greek translateth, Justly that which is just shalt thou follow. The doubling of the word, is for more vehemency: see Deut. 2. 27. and when a word is trebled, it is most vehement, as in Ezek. 21. 27. Isaiah 6. 3.

Vers. 21. not plant thee] or, not plant unto thee, or for thyself: see the like phrase in Exod. 20. 4. a grove] called in Hebrew Asherah, of Felicity or happiness, a blessed grove: such the heathens used for the service of their gods, as is noted on Exod. 34. 13. but the Lord would not have such near his altar, in his service: notwithstanding the Israelites corrupted themselves herewith sundry times, as Judge. 3. 7. and 6. 25. 1 King. 14. 23. and 16. 33. 2 King. 21. 3. 7. and there were prophets of the groves, 1 King. 18. 19. For this sin God threatened to root up Israel out of the good land, which he gave to their fathers, 1 King. 14. 15. The Hebrews say, He that planteth a tree near unto the Altar, or in any (part) of the Court-yard, whether it be barren tree, or tree that beareth food, although he do it for to adorn the Sanctuary, and beautify it, he is to be beaten, Deut. 16. 21. Because this was the manner of Idolaters, they planted trees by the altars side, that the people might assemble there. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, ch. 6. s. 9.

Vers. 22. set thee up a pillar] or, set up for thyself a statue, or standing image: whereof see the annotations on Lev. 26. 1.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The things sacrificed to the Lord must be unblemished. 2 Idolaters are to be stoned to death, being convicted by witnesses. 8 Hard controversies are to be determined by the Law which the Priests and Judges shown, which were in the place that the Lord should choose. 12 The contemner of that determination must die. 14 The election and duty of a King.

THou shalt not sacrifice unto Jehovah thy God, Ox or Lamb, wherein is blemish, any evil thing: for that is an abomination to Jehovah thy God.

If there be found in the midst of thee, in any of thy gates, which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee, man or woman, that hath done evil in the eyes of Jehovah thy God, in transgressing his covenant; And hath gone and served other gods, and bowed himself down unto them, either to the Sun, or to the Moon, or to any of the host of the heavens, which I have not commanded; And it be told thee, and thou hast heard of it, and hast inquired diligently; and behold it be a truth, and the thing certain, that this abomination is done in Israel: Then thou shalt bring forth that man, or that woman, which have done this evil thing unto thy gates, the man, or the woman, and shalt stone them with stones, and they shall die. At the mouth of two witnesses, or of three witnesses, shall he that is to die be put to death; he shall not be put to death at the mouth of one witness. The hand of the witnesses shall be first upon him, to put him to death, and afterward the hand of all the people; and thou shalt put away the evil from the midst of thee.

If a matter be too hard for thee in judgment between blood and blood, between plea & plea, and between stroke and stroke, matters of controversies within thy gates; then thou shalt arise and go up unto the place which Jehovah thy God shall choose. And thou shalt come unto the Priests the Levites, and unto the Judge that shall be in those days; and thou shalt inquire, and they shall show unto thee the word of judgment. And thou shalt do according to the word which they shall show unto thee; they of that place which Jehovah shall choose: and thou shalt observe to do according to all that they inform thee. According to the Law which they shall teach thee, and according to the judgment which they shall say unto thee, thou shalt do: thou shalt not decline from the word which they shall show unto thee, to the right hand or to the left. And the man that will do presumptuously, not to hearken unto the Priest that standeth to minister there, before Jehovah thy God, or unto the Judge, even that man shall die; and thou shalt put away the evil from Israel. And all the people shall hear and fear, and not do presumptuously anymore.

When thou art come into the land which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee, and shalt possess it, and dwell therein, & shalt say, I will set over me a King, as all the nations that are round about me. Setting thou shalt set over thee a King, whom Jehovah thy God shall choose: from among thy brethren shalt thou set over thee a King; thou mayest not set over thee a man that is a forrainer, which is not thy brother. But he shall not multiply horses to himself, nor cause the people to return to Egypt, to the end to multiply horses; for Jehovah hath said unto you, ye shall not add to return this way anymore. Neither shall he multiply wives to himself, that his heart turn not away; neither shall he greatly multiply to himself silver and gold. And it shall be when he sitteth upon the throne of his kingdom, that he shall write for him-self the Copy of this Law in a Book, out of that which is before the Priests, the Levites. And it shall be with him, & he shall read therein all the days of his life, that he may learn to fear Jehovah his God, to keep all the words of this Law, and these Statutes, to do them.

That his heart be not lifted up above his brethren; and that he turn not aside from the commandment, to the right hand or to the left, to the end that he may prolong his days, in his kingdom, he and his sons in the midst of Israel.

Annotations.

NOt sacrifice] in Greek, not offer, which is more general: and so the Law also saith in Lev. 22. 20. see the annotations there. Ox or Lamb] these are the greatest and the least sacrifices, under which two, all other are comprehended. The Ox is not to be understood of a gelded beast, (which we usually call an Ox,) for so it became blemished, and unfit for sacrifice; but of a Bull, as the original properly signifieth. And the Lamb (in Hebrew Se,) implieth the Kid also, as Exod. 12. 3, 5. blemish] in Hebrew Mum; of which the Chaldee Muma, and Greek Momos, are derived. Whereupon Christ is called the Lamb amomos, (that is, without blemish) 1 Pet. 1. 19. It meaneth any superfluity, want, or deformity in any part, as is more largely shown on Lev. 22. 22.—24. And it is applied to the work of men's hands, Job 31. 7. evil thing] Hebr. evil word; which the Chaldee explaineth, any evil whatsoever, For though there were no visible blemish, yet other corruption might disable it, as if it were sick, Mal. 1. 8. or the hire of an where, or price of a dog, Deut. 23. 18. or any such like. See the notes on Lev. 22. 25. a• abomination] and so far off from being accepted at man's hand, that God pronounceth a curse on those that sacrificed unto him such corrupt things, Mal. 1. 13, 14. Hereby God rejecteth all sacrifices save of his son Christ, (who is the Lumbe without blemish, and without spot, 1 Pet. 1. 19. who through the eternal Spirit, offered himself without spot unto God, Heb. 9. 14.) and the sacrifices which by him, and saith in his name, are offered to God continually, Heb. 13. 15. and 11. 4. 1 Pet. 2. 5, 6.

Vers. 2. If there be found] or, When there shall be found. any of thy gates] or, one of thy gates, that is, 〈...〉 as the Greek and Chaldee translate it. in transgressing] or, to transgress his covenant. Transgression is a passing over, or passing by the way which men should walk in: wherefore that which one Evangelist expreseth thus, they transgress the tradition of the Elders, Matth. 15. 2. another expoundeth, they walk not according to the tradi 〈...〉 Mark. 7 5. The like phrase is of transgressing the commandments, and the Law, Deu. 19; 13. Dan. 9. 11.

Vers. 3. other gods] which the Chaldee calleth Idols of the people's. ••there] Hebr. and to the Sun. Besides other fictions of their own, the nations worshipped these creatures also: and the Israelites •ll into the same sin, Ezek. 8. 16. 2 King. 17. 26. and 21. 3. any of the host] or, all the host, that is, the stars, spheres, constellations, &c. as Isaiah. 34. 4. Rev. 6. 13. Ier. 8. 2. and 33. 22. But ••der this name, the Angels also may be implied, Psal. 148. 2. for they are heavenly soldiers, Luk. 〈◇〉 . 13, 15. and forbidden to be worshipped, Coloss. 2. 18. God only is to be served, Matth. 4. 10. and the host of heaven worshippeth him, Neh. 9. 6. not commanded] religious worship and service may not be performed at the pleasure or precept of men, Isaiah. 29. 1. 3. Matth. 15. 9. but as is commanded of God: and though all idolatries in the world are not expressly and by name forbidden, yet by the general Law they are condemned, Exo. 20. 4, 5. and it is enough that God hath not commanded them: see Deut. 4. 2. and 12. 32.

Vers. 4. and hast inquired] or, then thou shalt inquire diligently: Hebr. inquire well; both to find out the sin, if it be committed; and not to punish any man upon uncertain reports.

Vers. 5. unto thy gates] in Greek, unto the gate: but the Chaldee saith, to thy city. Of this the Hebrews write: they stone not. an Idola 〈...〉 but 〈...〉 the gate (of the city) wherein he served (the Id 〈...〉 .) and if it be a city, where the most are heathans, they stone him at the door of the Judgment Hall. That (in Deut. 17. 5.) VNTO THY GATES, is meant the gate wherein he served (the Idol) and not that wherein sentence (of death) was decreed against him. Maimonides in Sanhedrin, c. 15. s. 2. stone them] This judgment of the particular person was greater than that of a whole city which were killed with the sword, Deut. 13. 15. save that their goods were consumed also; this man's goods (as the Hebrews say,) went to his heirs. Of the manner of stoning, see the annotations on Lev. 24. 23.

Vers. 6. At the mouth] which the Chaldee translath, the word, meaning the testimony of two or three. But from hence the Hebrews gather; they must receive no testimony but from the mouth of the witnesses; it may not be from a writing of their hand. Maimonides in treat. of Witnesses, ch. 3. s. 4. See the notes on Deut. 19. 15. he that is to die] or, he that dieth: the Chaldee expoundeth is; be that is guilty (or deserveth) to be killed. of one] See this explained in Deut. 19. 15.

Vers. 7. and thou shalt put away the evil] If this phrase, see Deut. 13. 5. the Greek translath, & put ye away (or, take away) from among yourselves that wicked (person:) which very words Paul useth in 1 Cor. 5. 13. when he commandeth a wicked man to be cast out of the Church.

Vers. 8. a matter] Hebr. a word. too hard▪ or, marvelous, as being hidden from thy knowledge, that thou (O Judge) canst not know, or determine it. The Greek translath, be impossible: the Ghaldee, separated from thee. It is spoken of things that are hidden, and so too hard and unpossible for one either to know, or to do See Gen. 18. 14. Ier. 32. 17, 27. Zach. 8. 6. Deut. •0. 11. blood and blood] Hebr. blood to blood: which phrase noteth a respect of one thing to another, when they are compared. By blood may be understood murder, of which the Judges may be doubtful and unable to find out whether it were willful, which deserved death; or unwilling, for which exile into the cities of refuge was appointed, Num. 35. 16, 23, 24, &c. Blood and blood, is by some referred to those laws mentioned in Levite. 15. 19, and Deut. 22. 17. plea] or, judgment and judgment and judgment, cause, as in 1 King. 3. 16, 17.—28. stroke and stroke] or, plague and plague: which the Chaldee translath, plague of leprosy, and plague of leprosy: wherein here might be difficulties, that the Priests could non easily judge: see Levig 13. and 14. chapters. But by plague or stroke may also be meant strokes and wounds that one man gave unto another. matters] or, words of strikes, that is, of disagreement among the Judges, th• they could not accord in the sentence of judgment, because of some doubts & difficulties. So the Chaldee translath it, words (or mat 〈...〉) of division of judgment. Jehoshaphat explaineth it thus, between blood and between Law & Commandment, Statutes & Judgments, 2 Chr. 19. 〈◇〉 to implying all difficulties about any part of the Law whatsoever. thy gates] in the Greek and Childee, thyrities. then thou] Hebr. and thou shalt arise; speaking to the Judge or Judges, which found the causes too hard for them in judgment: so it is written of the Judges, the hard matter they brought unto Moses, and every small matter they judged themselves, Exod. 18. 26. shall choose] to put his name, and to dwell there; see 〈◇〉 . 2. 5. This place afterward was Jerusalem, as it is said, Moreover, in Jerusalem did Jehoshaphat set of the Levites, and of the Priests, and of the chief of the fathers of Israel, for the judgment of the LORD, & for 〈◇〉 , &c. 2 Chr. 19. 8, 9, 10. And there were se•thrones of judgment; Ps. 122. 5.

Vers. 9. and unto the judge] by and is meant or, as is opened in verse 〈◇〉 . or unto the Judge: by the judge is understood the high conncell or Senate of Judges, which were of the chief (or heads) of the fathers of Israel, 2 Chron. 19. 8. as they who here are called Priests, are in v. 12. called the Priest: and in 1 Chr. 4. 42. many captains are in the Hebrew called an Head. And as among the Priests one was chief, so among the Judges one was Prince or Ruler, 2 Chro. 19. 11. The Hebrew records say, When any doubt arose in any case, to any one of Israel, he asked of the Judgment hall (or Synedrion) that was in his city; if they knew, they told it him: if not, then he that inquired, together with the Synedrion, or with the messengers thereof, went up to Jerusalem, & inquired of the Synedrion that was in the mountain of the Temple; if they knew, they 〈◇〉 him; if not, then they all came to the Synedrion that was at the dvore of the Court-yard (of the Temple:) if they knew, they told it them, and if not, they all came to the Chamber of hewn (stone) to the great Synedrion, and inquired, &c. Maim. tom. 4. treat. of Rebells, c. 1. s. 4. Of the three• Synedrions in Jerusalem, see the Annotations on Num. 11. 16. that shall be in those days] From hence the Hebrews gather, that if the high Synedrion had judged and determined of a matter, as  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  right in their eyes, & after them another Synedrom rose up, which upon reasons seeming good unto them, disannulled the former sentence; then it was disannulled, and judgment passed according as seemed good unto these latter: Thou art not bound (say they) to walk save after the Synedrion (or Judges) that are in: thy generation (the time wherein thou livest;) Maim. in Rebels, c. 2. s. 1. the word of judgment] that is, the matter or sentence of judgment: which was to be according to the Law of God, verse. 11. as it is said of the Priests, And in controversy, they shall stand in judgment; and they shall judge it according to my judgments, Ezek. 44. 24. Whereupon it was also said unto the Judges, Ye shall warn them that they trespass not against the Lord, and so wrath come upon you, and upon your brethren, 2 Chron. 19. 10.

Vers. 10. according to the word] or, according to the sentence of the word: Hebr. the mouth of the word: so in v. 11. all that they inform thee] or, all that they teach thee, to w<sup>t</sup>, agreeable to God's Law, as before is shown, from Ezek. 44. 24. And in this sense, Christ said to the people of the Scribes and Pharisees sitting in Moses seat; All whatsoever they bid you observe, that observe and do, Matth. 23. 2, 3. which he meaneth not of their own traditions, but of their doctrine according to Moses; for when they taught for doctrines the commandments of men, he both reproveth them himself, and willed his Disciples to let them alone, as blind leaders of the blind, Matth. 15. 1, 2,—14, and charged them to beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees, that is, their doctrine, Matt. 16. 6, 12. Here therefore the Hebrew Doctors have stumbled at the Law, whiles from this Scripture they would establish not only the written Law of God, but the Law by word of mouth, (or, by tradition) the foundation whereof they make the high Synedrion which was in Jerusalem: from whose judgment they held it not lawful to decline. Maimonides in Rebels, c. 1.

Vers. 11. According to the Law] or, According to the mouth (that is, the sentence, doctrine or commandment) of the Law. not decline from the word] or, not turn aside from. The commandment to doc, & the prohibition not to decline, joined together in this Law, do show the weight thereof: the naming of the Law, Judgment & Word, which the Priests and Judges should teach, showeth the rule of right judgment to be given of God in his Law, Ios. 1. 7. Deut. 5. 32, 33. Ezek. 44. 24. from which when the Priests departed, the Lord made them contemptible and base before all the people, Mal. 2. 7, 8, 9.

Vers. 12. the man that will do presumptuously] or, in presumption, proudly; as the Greek translateth, in pride; the Chaldee, in wickedness. It is opposed unto ignorance and error, Exod. 21. 13, 14. By the man here here to be meant either private person, or inferior Judge, that proudly disobeyed the sentence of the highest Council; but the Hebrews refer it chiefly to the Rebellious Elder, or Judge: and whereas they brought their own traditions (or law by word of mouth) within the compass of the Law to be taught, (as is noted on verse. 10.) they except the Sadducees which had been from their youth trained up in their fathers opinions, and never received the traditions of the Pharisees; that such were not to die by this Law, for not obeying the doctrine which the high Court taught by tradition: as also from this word will do, they teach that the rebellious Elder was not guilty of death, for holding in judgment contrary to the decree of the high Synedrion, or for teaching others so to hold, unless he teach them to do the thing, or do it himself. Yet though he were free from death, the Magistrates might beat him, or otherwise punish him. Maim. in Rebel. c. 3. s. 1. &c. the Priest] that is, the Priests. as in v. 9. for, by their mouth every controversy, and every stroke was to be tried, Deut. 21. 5. standeth to minister] so in Ezek. 44. 24. in controversy they shall stand in judgment: see the notes on Deut. 10. 8. there before Jehovah] or, there unto Jehovah, as in Deut. 21. 5. the Greek translatheth, in the name of the Lord. or unto the Judge] that is, the Judges, as is noted on v. 9. And by this disjunctive or, the Judges are distinguished from the Priests forementioned. shall die] the manner of his death, the Hebrews say, was strangling; and they that put him to death were the chief Judges. When witnesses come (and testify) that he hath done according to his teaching, or, that he hath taught others to do it, they determine his sentence of death, in the judgment hall that is in his City, and take him and carry him up from thence to Jerusalem. And they put him not to death in the Judgment hall that is in his city, &c. but carry him up to the high Synedrion in Jerusalem, and keep him until the feast, and strangle him at the feast, as it is said, and all the people shall hear and fear, &c. Maimonides in Rebels, o. 3. s. 8. See also the notes on Deut. 13. 11. the evil] the evil doer, as the Childee explaineth it, agreeable also to the Greek: see Deut. 13. 5.

Vers. 14. and shalt say] that is, if thou shalt say, I will set over me a King: Thus God, who had set Judges over his people, permitteth them also to have a king, if they saw it so meet, and would; and should do this thing after an holy and orderly manner. But when they sought it amiss, it displeased the Lord, 1 Sam. 8. 5, 6, 7. and 12. 12, 17, 19. Then God gave them a king in his anger, and took him away in his wrath, Hos. 13. 11.

Vers. 15. Setting thou shalt set] that is, thou shalt in any wise set: thus bindeth he them to do this during, according to the rules here given, both for the good of their Common-wealth and Church, and for a figure of Christ, to whom the kingdom of Israel did belong, Isaiah 32. 1. Zach. 9. 9. Luk. 1. 〈◇〉, 32, 33. thy God shall choose] either by the manistry of his Prophets, as by Samuel he anointed Saul, 1 Sam. 10. 1. and David, 1 Sam. 16. 1. by Ahijah, he chose Jeroboam, 1 King. 11. 29, 31, 35. or by other means, as by Vrim and Thum 〈◇〉, by Lot, or the like. thy brethren] in this Christ was figured, as also in his other functions of 〈...〉 phesie and Priesthood; for so it is written, Ie 〈◇〉 thy God will raise up unto thee a Prophet from the midst of thee, of thy brethren, Deut. 18. 15. And, in all things it behooved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high Priest, &c. Heb. 2. 17.

Vers. 16. not multiply horses] not get him many horses, lest he should put confidence in worldly strength, whereof horses were the principal, as appeareth by Psal. 20. 8. Deut. 20. 1. Prov. 21. 31. to Egypt] in which land were many horses, which they accounted the strength of their country, 2 Chron. 1. 16. and 9. 28. whereupon it is said, Woe to them that go down to Egypt for help, and stay on horses, &c. Isaiah 31. 1. not add to return] that is, not again return, either for the cause aforesaid, or for to dwell there, because of their great idolatries, and other sins, whereby God's people might be corrupted. So Jeremiah from the Lord dissuaded the Jews from going into Egypt, Ier. 42. 10, 14, 16, 17, &c. The Hebrews say, It is lawful to dwell in all the world, save in the land of Egypt: but it is lawful to return to the land of Egypt for mer chandise, &c. Maim. treat. of Kings, ch. 5. s. 7, 8.

Vers. 17. multiply wives] take many wives; the Hebrews, and some Christians understand this prohibition of exceeding many, as Solomon had seven hundred, 1 King. 11. 3. and not that more wives than one are here forbidden. But howsoever God bare with the Kings, Patriarchs, and other men that had more wives than one, and that this custom prevailed, yet from the beginning it was not so, when he made but two to be one flesh, Gen. 2. 24. Mat. 19. 5. Mal. 2. 14, 15. that his heart turn not away] or, neither shall his heart turn away, to wit, from the Lord, unto the pleasures of life, or unto other gods, by means of many wives: as of Solomon it is said, His wives turned away his heart after other gods, and his heart was not perfect with the Lord his God, 1 King. 11. 4. Although his mother taught him better, saying, Give not thy strength unto women, nor thy ways to that which destroyeth Kings, Prov. 31. 1, 3. greatly multiply] or, vehemently (exceedingly) multiply silver and gold: which is another mean whereby the heart may be withdrawn from God; for when men be rich and full, they are in danger to deny and say, Who is the Lord? Prov. 30. 8, 9. and they cannot serve God and Mammon, Matt. 6. 24. the care of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches choke the word of God, Matt. 13. 22. and they that will be rich fall into temptation, and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition, 1 Tim. 6. 9.

Vers. 18. when he sitteth upon the throne] that is, when he is King: see the notes on Exod. 11. 5. the copy of this Law] the Greek translateth it, this Deuteronomy. The Hebrews have recorded thus; When the King sitteth upon the throne of his kingdom, he is to write him the book of the Law for himself, over and beside the book which is left him of his fathers, &c. If his fathers have lest him none or, if that be lost, he is to write him two books of the Law; the one he is to reserve in his house, for so he is commanded, as everyone of Israel; the other is not to depart from before him. If he go out to war, it (goeth) with him; if he sit in judgment, it is to be with him, &c. Maimonides treat. of Kings, c. 3. s. 1. before the Priests] the original book of the Law was kept in the Sanctuary, as appeareth by Deut. 31. 26. 2 King. 22. 8. out of that was the Kings copy to be written, that it might be perfect.

Vers. 19. it shall be with him] in all places whither he went, he carried this copy of the Law with him, as before is noted: So God said unto Joshua, This book of the Law shall not depart out of thy mouth, but thou shalt meditate therein day and night, &c. Ios. 1. 8. Thus David did, as appeareth by Psal. 119. 16, 24, 97, 98, 99 &c. learn to fear] under this name fear, notonely the inward reverence, but the outward worship and service of God is also implied, even all true Religion: as that which is written, their fear towards thee is taught by the precept of men, Isaiah 29. 13. is expounded by our Savior, In vain they worship me, teaching doctrines the precepts of men, Matt. 15. 9.

Vers. 20. not lifted up above his brethren] because the honor of the King was great, and all were to obey him in the Lord, Ios. 1. 16, 17, 18. Eccles. 8. 2, 3, 4. Rom. 13. 1. therefore he is warned to shun pride, and loftiness of heart; whereupon David said, Lord, my heart is not haughty, nor mine eyes lofty, &c. Psal. 131. 1, 2. The contrary was found in Nebuchadnezzar, to whom the most high God gave a kingdom, and majesty, and glory, and honor ••but when his heart was lifted up, and his mind hardened in pride, he was deposed from his kingly throne, and they took his glory from him, Dan. 5. 18, 20. The Hebrews say, As the Scripture giveth great honor to the King, and everyone is bound to honor him; so it commandeth him, that his heart be humble within him, and wounded, as it is said (in Psal. 109. 22.) My heart is wounded within me. And he may not carry himself with pride of heart in Israel, more than is meet, Deut. 17. 20. but must be gracious and pitiful, both to little and great; and go out, and come in for their pleasure & for their good, and have regard of the honor of the smallest. And when he speaketh unto all the congregation in general words, he should speak gently, as it is said (by David in 1 Chron. 28. 2.) Hear me my brethren, and my people. It is also said (in 1 King. 12. 7.) If thou wilt be a servant unto this people this day, &c. And he must always use exceeding meekness: we have had none greater than our master Moses, yet he said, And what are we? your murmurings are not against us (Exod. 16. 8.) And he bare their cumbrance, and their burden, and their murmurings, and their indignation, as a nursing father beareth the snoking child (Num. 11. 12.) The Scripture calleth him a Shepherd to feed Jacob his servant: and the manner of a shepherd is expressed (in Isaiah 40. 11.) He shall feed his flock like a shepherd, he shall gather the lambs with his arm, and carry them in his bosom, &c. Maim. treat. of Kings, chap. 2. sect. 6.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The Priests and Levites have no inheritance, but the Lord. 3. The Priests due from the people. 6 The Levites portion. 9 The abominations (the unlawful arts) of the nations are to be avoided. •15 A Prophet is promised, whom Israel must hear. 20 The presumptuous Prophet is to die.

THE Priests, the Levites, all the tribe of Levi shall have no part nor inheritance with Israel: the fire-offerings of Jehovah, and his inheritance, shall they eat. And he shall have no inheritance among his brethren: Jehovah, he is his inheritance, as he hath spoken unto him. And this shall be the Priests due from the people, from them that slay a slaughter (of any beasts) whether Ox or Sheep, that he shall give unto the Priest the shoulder, and the two cheeks, and the maw. The first-fruits of thy corn, of thy new wine, and of thy new oil, and the first of the fleece of thy sheep shalt thou give unto him. For Jehovah thy God hath chosen him out of all thy tribes, to stand to minister in the name of Jehovah, him and his sons all days.

And if a Levite shall come from any one of thy gates, out of all Israel, where he sojourned, and shall come with all the desire of his soul, unto the place which Jehovah shall choose; Then he shall minister in the name of Jehovah his God, as all his brethren the Levites that stand there before Jehovah: They shall eat portion like portion, beside his sales, by his fathers.

When thou art come into the land which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee, thou shalt not learn to do after the abominations of those nations. There shall not be found in thee any that maketh his son or his daughter to pass thorough the fire; a diviner of divinations, an observer of times; or an observer of fortunes, or a witch. Or one that charmeth a charm, or that asketh of a familiar spirit, or a wizard, or that seeketh unto the dead. For everyone that doth these things, is an abomination unto Jehovah: and because of these abominations, Jehovah thy God doth drive them out from before thee.

Thou shalt be perfect with Jehovah thy God. For these nations which thou shalt possess, hearkened unto observers of times, and unto diviners: but as for thee, Jehovah thy God hath not suffered thee so. Jehovah thy God will raise up unto thee a Prophet, from the midst of thee, of thy brethren, like unto me: unto him ye shall hearken.

According to all that thou askedst of Jehovah thy God in Horeb, in the day of the assembly, saying, Let me not hear again the voice of Jehovah my God; and this great fire let me not see anymore, that I die not.

And Jehovah said unto me, They have well spoken that which they have spoken. A Prophet will I raise up unto them, from among their brethren, like unto thee: and I will give my words in his mouth, and he shall speak unto them all that I shall command him. And it shall be, that the man which will not hearken unto my words, which he shall speak in my name, I will require it of him. But the Prophet which shall presume to speak a word in my name, which I have not commanded him to speak, and he that shall speak in the name of other gods, that Prophet shall even die. And if thou shalt say in thine heart, How shall we know the word which Jehovah hath not spoken? That which a Prophet shall speak in the name of Jehovah, and the thing be not, neither come (to pass,) that is the word which Jehovah hath not spoken, the Prophet hath spoken it in presumption, thou shalt not be afraid of him.

NO part] or, no portion, namely in the spoils taken from the enemies: which would have been a great portion, as appeareth by Ios. 22. 8. So the Hebrews expound it, No part in the spoil, nor inheritance in the land. Maimonides tom. 3. treat. of the Release and Jubilee, ch. 13. sect. 10. See the notes on Num. 18. 20. nor inheritance] in the land of Canaan, which was divided among the other tribes, Num. 26. 2.—53. 57. But because the Levites were adjoined to the Priests for the service of the Lord and his Church, Numb. 18. 1, 2. &c. therefore God would not have them cumbered with the affairs of this life, lest by them they should be hindered from doing their duty, as it is written, No man that warreth, entangleth himself with the affairs of this life, that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier, 2 Tim. 3. 4. See also Deut. 10. 8, 9. So the Hebrews say, *Wherefore was not Levi counted meet to have inheritance in the land of Israel, or spoils with his brethren? Because he was separated to serve the Lord, and to inherit him, and to teach his strait ways, and his just judgments unto many, Deut. 33. 10. Therefore was he separated from the ways of the world: they wage not war as do the rest of Israel, neither do they in•erite, nor earn for themselves with strength of their bodies; but they are the Lord's power (or substance) as it is written (in Deut. 33. 11.) Of these, see the notes on Numb. 18. where four and twenty gifts were bestowed on the Priests, all expressed in the Law. The Greek referteth it to the former, saying, the burnt offerings of the Lord shall be their inheritance.

Vers. 2. and he] that is, Levi, put for all the Levites and Priests of that tribe: so in M•la. 2. 4, 5. spoken unto him] in Num. 18. 20. and other places. Herein God promiseth to those that fear him, his ministers, 1 Cor. 9. 13, 14. and all his people, to be their inheritance, that is, to relieve them, and supply all their wants out of the riches of his grace, 2 Cor. 9. 8. So the Hebrews here say; Not the tribe of Levi only, but every particular man of all that come into the world, whose spirit maketh him willing, and giveth him understanding with knowledge to separate himself, to stand before the Lord, to minister unto him, and to serve him, to know the Lord, and walk aright, as God did make him; and that he break from off his neck the yoke of many inventions which the sons of Adam have sought out, (Eccles. 7. 29.) behold this man sanctifieth himself holy of holies, and the Lord will be his part and his inheritance forever, and forever and ever; and will vouchsafe unto him in this world the things that shall be sufficient for him, even as he did vouchsafe unto the Priests the Levites. Behold David saith (in Ps. 16. 5.) The LORD is the portion of my part and of my cup, thou susteinest my Lot. Maimonides in the Release and Jubilee, ch. 13. s. 13.

Vers. 3. the Priests due] Hebr. the judgment (or right) of the Priests: which the Chaldee expoundeth due unto the Priests: and so the word judgment is elsewhere used for duty, Psal. 81. 5. slay a slaughter] that is, kill any beast for common food. The original word generally signifieth no more than to kill a beast (as is noted on Gen. 31. 54.) and in special, to kill for sacrifice unto God. But the large meaning is here to be chosen: for it agreeth not with the former laws in Leviticus touching sacrifices, that the Priests should have the cheeks, &c. and the general exposition of the Hebrews is, that this is meant of common meats. ox or sheep] implying goats also; for that is usually comprehended under the name sheep or lamb. that he] or, and he, that is, everyone of the people shall give. give unto the Priest] Hereupon these are called gifts. Of them the Hebrews write; It is commanded to give of every clean beast that is killed, unto the Priest, the shoulder, & the two cheeks, and the maw, (Deut. 18. 3.) and these in every place are called gifts. And this commandment is in use continually, whether when there is a Temple, or not; and in every place, whether within the land (of Israel) or without it: and it is to be of common (things) not of things sanctified. If it be doubtful whether (the beast) be a firstling, these gifts must be given out of it: if it be a firstling, that is all the Priests. (Num. 18. 15.) and if it be not a firstling, these gift  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  (out of it) for the Priest. Gifts are due of none but clean beasts only, as it is said, WHETHER OXE OR SHEEPE, &c. whether it be killed for man's meat, or for to feed infidels, or dogs, or for medicine, these gifts are due of it. If a Proselyte have a beast killed, if it were before he was joined, he is free; if after he were joined, he is bound (to give these gifts.) In a place where no Priests be, they may prize the gifts and eat them, and give the price to any Priest that they will. If he will give these gifts to one Priest, he may; or if he will divide them, he may not give half the maw to one, or half the shoulder, but the shoulder to one, and the maw to another, and the cheeks to them both, [that is, to each of them one.] If a priest will sell his gifts, he may, or give them to an Infidel, &c. for there is no holiness in them at all. The Priest may not violently take the gifts, nor ask them with his mouth; but he receives them when they are given him, with honor, &c. Maimonides in Bicurim (or first-fruits) ch. 9. s. 1. &c. the shoulder] the right shoulder (saith Maim. ibidem s. 18.) and they may not pluck off the wool, or flay them, but give them with their skin, and with their wool.

Vers. 4. The first fruits] of these, see the Annotations on Exod. 22. 29. and Numb. 18. 12. These were called by the Hebrews, the great heave-offering; and it was to be given (they say) to the Priest, whether it were clean or unclean: though the corn or oil were all unclean before it was separated, the owner was bound to separate out of it an heave-offering, and give it to the Priest. If it were clean, the Priest did eat it; if unclean, they used it for burning, &c. And whosoever separated the great Heave-offering, or the heave-offering of the tithe, he blessed (God) before he separated it, after the manner as he used to bless for doing all the commandments. Maim. in Trumoth c. 2. s. 14, 16. Other things hereabout are noted on Num. 18. and Levite. 22. of the fleece] Of this there is no measure set by the Law; but by the Hebrew Doctors, they might not give less than one of sixty (the sixtieth part, as of other first-fruits is noted on Exod. 22. 29.) And this is not due but in the land (of Israel) as the first-fruits of the corn, and of common (beasts) not of holy. And of sheep only, male and female: for their wool is meet for clothing. He that separateth the first of his fleece, and it be lost, is indebted for afterward, until he give it unto the priest. He that saith, all my fleece be first-fruits, his words must be confirmed. Who so hath many fleeces of first-fruits, and would divide them among the priests, he may not give less to everyone than the weight of five shekels of white wool, enough for a little coat. Maim. in Bicurim, c. 10.

Vers. 5. to stand to minister in the name, &c.] the Greek interpreteth it, to stand before the Lord thy God, to minister and to bless in the name of the Lord. This showeth a reason of the former duty; because God had called the Priests from worldly affairs, to serve him, and to minister, and sow unto his people spiritual things, therefore they should reap the people's carnal things, as 1 Cor. 9. 11, 13. By standing is noted their manner of service, as is observed on Deut. 10. 8. and their continuance in the same, as Psal. 119. 91.

Vers. 6. a Levite] This is spoken generally, and so implieth either Priest or ordinary Levite, who served by their courses, but might at other times come up and serve voluntarily, & have their portion with their brethren. of thy gates] that is, as the Greek and Chaldee do translate, of thy cities. For the Levites dwelt dispersed in the tribes of Israel, Ios. 21. he sojourned] his dwelling in the cities is called a sojourning as a stranger, for that the priests had no inheritance with Israel, v. 1. but the Israelites gave them (of their inheritance) cities to dwell in, and the suburbs for their cattle, Num. 35. 2, 3. shall choose] to have his Tabernacle, or Temple and public worship there: see Deut. 16. 2. and 12. 5.

Vers. 7. shall minister.] Although the Priests and Levites ministered in their courses, whereinto they were distributed, and unto which they were bound, 1 Chron. 24. and 25. yet if any would at other times voluntarily serve, God here alloweth it, and their portions for their labor. But the Hebrews explain this with some limitations, saying; Moses our master divided the Priests into eight wards (or charges) four of Eleazar, and four of Ithamar. And so they were till Samuel the Prophet: and in Samuel's days, he and King David divided them into four & twenty wards, and over every ward one head Provost. And they went up to Jerusalem, for the service of the ward, every week, &c. And it is commanded that at the solemn feasts, all the wards be equal, and whosoever of the priests cometh up at the feast and will serve, he may serve and have a portion with them; and they may not say to him, go thy way till thy ward cometh, as it is written (in Deut. 18. 6.) AND IF A LEVITE SHAL COME FROM ONE OF THY GATES. Which words are meant of the offerings at the feasts, &c. But vows, and voluntary offerings, and the daily sacrifices, none offer them but the ward, whose time is appointed: yea, though it be at the feast, as it is said (in Deut. 18. 8.) THEY SHALL EAT PORTION LIKE PORTION, BESIDES HIS SALES BY THE FATHERS. As if he should say, they shall eat portion like portion, of the offerings of the Congregation, but have no like portion in other things, which the fathers have already apportioned them, and appointed every ward by the week, &c. And they account, that he speaketh not but of the priests: for there are no gifts in the Sanctuary to eat of, but for the priests only. And so a priest which hath an offering, may come into the sanctuary, and offer it any day when he will, as it is said (Deut. 18. 6.) AND SHALL COME WITH ALL THE DESIRE OF HIS SOUL) and minister; yea, though it be a sin-offering, or a trespass-offering, he offereth it, and maketh atonement by his own hands, and hath the skin of his offering, and eateth (the flesh.) And if he will give his offering to any priest whom he will, for to offer it, he may give it; and then the skin of the oblation, and the service thereof, is the priests only, to who<sup>e</sup> he gave it. Maimonides treat. of the Instruments of the Sanct. chap. 4. sect. 3.—6. that stand] that is, as the Chaldee expoundeth, that minister.

Vers. 8. portion like portion] that is, equal portions, one as much as another. The Greek translatheth, he shall eat the portion that is apportioned (or divided.) beside his sales] that is, beside the price of the things sold. By the Law, if a Levite sold a house, he might redeem it at any time, Levite. 25. 32. which he could not do, if he spent his money upon his own maintenance, and had no portion in the sanctuary. by his fathers] or, according to the fathers. This some refer to the sales fore-mentioned, which might be of the houses that he had from his fathers, his patrimony. Others refer it to the order of his service and portion, which should be according to the courses and wards aforesaid, without confusion or disturbance of them: for according to the fathers and chief men in the families, were the courses appointed, Numb. 3. 2. 17, 21. and 1 Chron. 24. 4. the Greek translatheth, beside the sale, which is according to the family. But the Chaldee paraphraseth thus, Beside the ward (or observation) which shall come on the Sabbath, as the fathers have appointed; that is, beside that portion which is due unto him for his service by course in his week, as the fathers appointed.

Vers. 10. There shall not] or, Let there not be found. to pass thorough the fire] so to burn them, or at least to consecrate them by this sign unto Idols, and in special unto Molech, to which abomination this service was performed among the heathens, Lev. 18. 21. See the Annotations there. The Greek translatheth, any that purgeth his son or his daughter in fire. Of Achaz king of Judah it is said, that he made his son to pass thorough the fire, 2 King. 16. 3. which Ezra explaineth thus, he burnt his sons in the fire, 2 Chron. 28. 3. a diviner] in Hebrew, Kosem, a fore-seer, or presager, a foreteller of things to come, as doth a Prophet: as it is said, the Prophets divine for money, Micah 3. 11. and Baalam, a Prophet, 2 Pet. 2. 16. is called a Diviner, Ios. 13. 22. & though it be sometime spoken in the good part, as in Esa. 3. 2. The Prophet and the Diviner (or Sage) and the Ancient; and in Prov. 16. 10. Divination is in the lips of the King: yet commonly it is meant of evil and heathenish Prophets, or of the false Prophets in Israel, Isaiah 44. 25. Ezek. 13. 6, 7, 9. With such they used to consult in weighty cases, as the Philistines called for the Priests and the Diviners, 1 Sam. 6. 2. and the King of Babylon stood at the parting of the way, at the head of the two ways, to use divination, &c. Ezek. 21. 21, 22. It was done by unlawful means, as Saul said to the Witch, Divine unto me by the familiar spirit, 1 Sam. 28. 8. and it was a thing hateful unto God; as he saith, Rebellion is as the sin of divination, 1 Sam. 15. 23. This Art (as Cicero showeth in his first book of divination) is called in Greek, Mantikee, of Furie, (as Plato expounds it;) in Latin, divinatio, à divis, of the gods, as Tullie there saith: and he maketh it a fore-knowledge and perceiving of things to come: a skill much magnified in all nations. The Hebrews also take a Diviner to be one that doth things whereby he may foretell things to come, and say, such a thing shall be, or shall not be; or say, it is good to do such a thing, &c. The manner and means of divining they note to be divers; some doing it with sand, some with stones, some by lying down on the ground, some with iron, some with a staff which he carrieth in his hand, and leaneth on, &c. whereto they apply that of the Prophet, My people ask counsel at their stocks, and their staff declareth unto them, Hos. 4. 12. It is unlawful to divine, or to ask (counsel) of a diviner: He that asketh of a diviner is chastised with stripes, but the diviner himself, if he do any of the foresaid acts (of divination) or the like, is beaten. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, ch. 11. sect. 6, 7. observer of times] or, Soothsaier; an observer of the clouds, and of the planets; a Planetary, or, an observer of the flying of fowls; an Augur. The diviners forespoken of were carried much by inward and spiritual motions; these by outward observations in the creatures. They were of esteem among the Philistines, and other heathens, Isaiah 2. 6. and the sin crept into Israel, 2 King. 21. 6. though God forbade it here, and in Lev. 19. 26. The Hebrews say, they were such as did set times for the doing of things, saying, Such a day is good, and such a day is naught: such a day is fit for to do such a work; such a year or month is evil for such a thing. It is unlawful to observe times, though one do no work, but make it known; they are lies which fools imagine to be true, and to be words of wise men, &c. Maim. in treat. of Idolatry, chap. 11. sect. 8. an observer of fortunes] one that curiously searcheth, observeth, and telleth signs of good or evil luck, which are learned by experience: The Hebrew Nachash is to search and find out by experience, Gen. 30. 27. and 44. 5. whereupon Menachesh (the word here used) is one that too curiously observeth and abuseth things that do fall out, as lucky, or unluckie signs: as did the Augures and Soothsaiers among the heathens. The Hebrews describe it thus; as if one should say, Because the morsel of bread is fallen out of my mouth, or my staff out of mine hand, I will not go to such a place this day; for if I go, I shall not speed of my business. Because a Fox passed by on my right hand, I will not go out of my house this day; for if I go, some deceitful man will meet with me. And so if men hear the chattering of a bird, and say, it shall be so, or not so; it is good to do such a thing, or naught to do such a thing, &c. And so he that maketh signs for himself, if it fall out so or so, I will do such a thing; if it fall not out, I will not do it; and all things of like sort, these all are unlawful: and who-soever doth any act, because of any of these things, is to be beaten. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, chap. 11. sect. 4. This sin was common among the heathens, practiced of the wisest, Numb. 24. 1. 1 King. 20. 33. and it spread into Israel, 2 King. 17. 17. 2 Chron. 33. 6. and is at this day too common among Christians, though God's law plainly forbiddeth it here, and in Levite. 19. 26. a witch] or, a sorcerer, a magician; in Hebrew, Mecashsheph, in Greek, Pharmakos: of this kind were Iannes and Jambres, the sorcerers of Egypt: see the notes on Exod. 7. 11. Such were esteemed among the wise, and called to tell and interpret dreams, Dan. 2. 2. By God's Law a winch might not be suffered to live, Exod. 22. 18. yet did this evil prevail in Israel, 2 Chron. 33. 6. Ier. 27. 9. Mal. 3. 5. The Hebrews seem to hold two sorts of these witches or sorcerers, some that did hurt, others that did hold the eyes, that is, by juggling and sleights beguiled men's senses. Mecashsheph (the witch) is to be stoned to death, if he do the act oft witchcraft: but he that heldeth the eyes, and seemeth to do that which he doth not, is to be beaten. Maimonides treat. of Idolatry, ch. 11. s. 15.

Vers. 11. charmeth a charm] or, inchanteth an enchantment, or, conjureth conjuration. The Hebrew Chober signifieth conjuring, or consociating: the Chaldee name Ratim, is of murmuring or mumbling: the Greek Epaidon, of charming or enchanting. This Charmer is said to be he that speaketh words of a strange language, and without sense: and he in his foolishness thinketh that these words are profitable. That if one say so or so unto a Serpent, or a Scorpion, it cannot hurt a man: and he that saith so and so to a m•an, be cannot be hurt, &c. He that whispereth over a wound; or readeth a verse out of the Bible: likewise he that readeth over an Infant, that it may not be frightened; or that layeth the book of the Law (the Bible) or the Phylacteries upon a child that it may sleep; such are not only among enchanterers or charmers, but of those that generally deny the Law (of God) because they make the words of the Scripture medicine for the body, whereas they are not but medicine for the soul, as it is written (in Prov. 3. 22.) They shall be life unto thy soul. Maimonides 〈◇〉 . of Idolatri, chap. 11. sect. 10. 12. of a familiar spirit] called in Hebrew Ob, which signifieth a bottle, John 32. 19. applied here and often to Magicians, who possessed with an evil spirit, speak with hollow voice as out of a bottle, and (as some say) with swollen bellies: whereupon the Greek version usually calleth them Eggastrimuthoi, as speaking out of the belly. But the holy Ghost in Act. 16. 16. expoundeth it more fully, the spirit of Pithon (or of divination:) meaning of the Devil, whose answers were given to the heathens by these means; the chief whereof was called Pythius Apollo, and his Temple Pythion, and his feast Pythia, kept to his honor, who was feigned to kill the serpent Python. The manner of this Oracle the Prophet showeth to be with an hollow low voice; as, Thy speech shall be low out of the dust, and thy voice shall be as of one that hath a familiar spirit, Isaiah 29. 4. The Hebrews explain it thus, that he which had a familiar spirit, stood and burned incense, and held a rod of mirtle tree in his hand, and waved it. And he spake certain words in secret, until he that inquired did hear one speak unto him, and answer him touching that which he inquired, with words from under the earth, with a very low voice, &c. Likewise one took a dead man's skull, and burnt incense thereto, and enchanted thereby, till he heard a very low voice, &c. He that did any of these acts, was to be stoned to death. Maim. in treat. of Idolatri, c. 6. s. 1. This was Saul's sin, that he sought to a woman which had a familiar spirit, the voice whereof he heard, 1. Sam. 28. 7.—15. for which transgression the Lord killed him, 1 Chron. 10. 13. and hath threatened to cut off all from among his people, that do inquire of such, Levite. 20. 6. wizzard] or cunning man; in Hebrew, Idgnoni, so named of his knowledge, or cunning: and so the Greek version in other places calleth him Gnostes, of knowledge, a Prognosticator: but here the Greek is Teratoskopos, he that observeth wonders. The Chaldee giveth him a name of remembrance, Zecuru. He is usually joined with the former, that hath a familiar spirit, as in Levite. 19. 31. and 20. 6. 2 Chron. 33. 6. 1 Sam. 28. 3. and by the Law they were both of them to die, Levite. 20. 27. Such were among the Egyptians, and other heathens, Isaiah 19. 3. it is likely therefore that their practice was alike abominable. The Hebrews describe him thus, that he put in his meuth a bone of a bird called Iaduagh, & burned incense, & did other works, until he fell down as with shame (or modesty) and spake with his mouth, things that were to come to pass. Maim. treat. of Idolatri, ch. 6. sect. 2. that seeketh unto the dead] or, as the Chaldee and Greek expound it, that inquireth of the dead: such we call of the Greek name, a Necromancer. Of him they say, that he made himself hungry, and went and lodged among the graves, that the dead might come unto him in a dream, and make known unto him that which he asked of him. And others there were that clad themselves with clothes for that purpose, and spake certain words, and burned incense for the purpose, and slept by themselves, that such a dead person might come and talk with them in a dream. Maimonides in treat. of Idolatri, c. 11. s. 13.

Vers. 13. perfect with Jehovah] that is, in faith and love seek unto him only; and as he doth, so abhor thou all such wicked persons. Perfection (or Sinceritie, Integrity,) respecteth our upright conversation in body and mind, as is noted on Gen. 6. 9. and to be perfect with the Lord, is expounded in Greek, before the Lord; and the Chaldee saith, in the fear of the Lord: but our Savior more fully openeth it; Be ye perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect, Matt. 5. 48.

Vers. 14. not suffered thee] Hebr. not given thee: but hath taught thee better by his Law (which the other nations want, Psal. 147. 19, 20.) and will more fully inform thee by the Prophet, whom he will raise up unto thee, v. 15. So in Act. 14. 16. God in times past suffered all nations to walk in their own ways.

Vers. 15. a Prophet] so named of the Greek Prophets, which signifieth a foreteller; in Hebrew Nabi, of uttering and interpreting the oracles of God; as Aaron was Moses Prophet, that is, Interpreter, Exod. 7. 1. and of seeing visions of God, such a man was called a Seer, 1 Sam. 9. 9. Unto all the former Diviners, Wizzards, Charmers, &c. raised up to the heathens of the devil, Moses here opposeth one Prophet to be raised up unto Israel of God; and this was Christ raised up unto the Jews, as Peter applieth it, saying; Moses said ••to the fathers, A Prophet will the Lord your God raise up unto you, &c. ye are the children of the Prophets, and of the covenant, &c. Unto you first God having raised up his Son Jesus, sent him to bless you, in turning away everyone of you from his iniquities, Act. 3. 22.—26. of thy brethren] Christ was to be a man, and of the stock of the Jews by promise, because the people could not endure to hear the voice of God, verse. 16. and as in respect of his Prophecy, so of his Priesthood; For every high Priest is taken from among men, Heb. 5. 1. and of his kingdom, as in Deut. 17. 15. from among thy brethren shalt thou set a King over thee. like unto me] it is said, There arose not a Prophet in Israel like unto Moses, whom the Lord knew face to face, in all the signs and wonders which the Lord sent him to do, &c. Deut. 34. 10, 11, 12. This therefore cannot be understood of the ordinary Prophets, which were raised up in Israel, but of Christ only, as the Apostles do expound it, Act. 3. 22.—26. And Christ was like unto Moses, in respect of his office of mediation between God and the people, Deut. 5. 5. 1 Tim. 2. 5. but greater than Moses, as being the Mediator of a better Covenant (or Testament,) which was established upon better promises, Heb. 8. 6. Like him in excellency; for as Moses excelled all the Prophets, in speaking with God mouth to mouth, Numb. 12. 6, 7, 8. so Christ excelled him and all men, in that being in the bosom of the Father, he hath come down from heaven, and declared God unto us, John. 1. 18. and 3. 13. Like him in faithfulness, but therein also excelling: for Moses was faithful in God's house as a servant, but Christ as the Son over his own house, Heb. 3. 2. 5. 6. And like him in signs and wonders, wherein he also excelled Moses, as the history of the Gospel showeth: for he was a Prophet mighty in deed and word, before God and all the people, Luk. 24. 19. a man approved of God among them, by miracles, wonders, and signs, which God did by him, in the midst of thē, Act. 2. 22. for he did among them the works wich none other man did, John. 15. 24. unto him] that is, not unto the Diviners, Wizzards, or any such like, but unto him, and him only; as, him thou shalt serve, Deut. 6. 13. is expounded, him only, Matt. 4. 10. And though this is principally meant of Christ's person, of whom God said, hear him, Matt. 17. 5. yet it implieth also his Ministers, as himself said, He that heareth you heareth me, Luk. 10. 16.

Vers. 16. Horeb] a mountain called also Sinai, Exod. 19. where the Law was given, Deut. 5. 2. of the assembly, or, of the church, when all Israel were assembled to hear the Law, Exod. 19. 9, 10, &c. not hear again.] Hebr. not add to hear: see Exod. 20. 19. where the people requested Moses to speak with them, and not God. of Jehovah] the Chaldee translatheth it, of the word of the LORD. that I die not] or, and let me not die; as the Greek translatheth, neither let us die.

Vers. 17. have well spoken] or, have done well in speaking. The Greek saith, Rightly (or Well) all that they have spoken. Although their speech proceeded from the spirit of bondage and fear, manifested in them by the work of the law in their consciences, Rom. 8. 15. and they desired not Christ, but Moses to speak unto them; yet as the Law was a schoolmaster to lead them unto Christ, Gal. 3. 14. so God took occasion hereby to preach and promise Christ unto them; who is here not only instead of all Diviners and Soothsayers, but instead of Moses himself, who was the Minister of the Law, which worketh wrath, Rom. 4. 15. and was the ministration of death, 2 Cor. 3. 7. But Christ hath redeemed us from the curse thereof, Gal. 3. 13. and is here promised as a Prophet sent to bless us, Act. 3. 26. for the Law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ, Io. 1. 17

Vers. 18. A Prophet] meaning Christ him-self, the interpreter and declarer of the word of God, as verse. 15. of whom the multitude said, This is Jesus the Prophet, Matt. 21. 11. raise up] this also the people confirmed, saying, A great Prophet is risen up amongst us, Luk. 7. 16. will give] that is, will put and stablish, as the word given, 1 Chron. 17. 22. is the same that established, 2 Sam. 7. 24. The Chaldee expoundeth it, I will give my words of prophesy. Accordingly Christ said to his Father, I have given unto them the words which thou gavest me, John. 17. 8. his mouth] to signify this, Christ appeared with a sharp twoedged sword proceeding out of his mouth, Rev. 1. 16. which figured the sword of the Spirit, the word of God, Eph. 6. 17. for God had made his mouth like a sharp sword, Isaiah. 49. 2. therewith he smote his enemies: and for the comforts wherewith he refresheth his people, his lips are likened to lilies dropping sweet-smelling myrrh, Song 5. 13. all that I shall command] This Christ did in his own person, as he said, I speak not of myself, but the Father which sent me, he gave me a commandment what I should say, and what I should speak; and I know that his commandment is life everlasting: whatsoever I speak therefore, even as the Father said unto me, so I speak, John. 12. 49, 50. and, All things that I have heard of my Father, I have made known unto you, Job. 15. 15. He did and doth it also by his Ministers; for as he gave his Apostles the words which the Father had given him, John. 17. 8. so the things which they spake and wrote, were the commandments of the Lord, 1 Cor. 14. 37. and he requireth of all, that If any man speak, it should be as the oracles of God, 1 Pet. 4. 11.

V. 19. my words] God here acknowledgeth the words to be his own, which Christ should speak; as himself also said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me, John. 7. 16. And whereas Prophets used to show signs & wonders, Deut. 13. 1, 2. though Christ did many such, Act. 2. 22. yet are they not here mentioned, because the word & gospel of Christ is the power of God unto salvation, Ro. 1. 16. and his commandment is life everlasting, John. 12. 50. and Christ's name is called the word of God, Rev. 19. 13. Io. 1. 1. & the word (rather than wonders) was that w<sup>ch</sup> the ancient Jews expected by Christ, as their later writers do witness, saying, Let it not come up into thy mind, that the king Christ needeth to do signs & woēders; the thing is not so: for behold Rabbi Akibah was a great wise man of the wise men of the Talmud, and he was armor-bearer to Ben Coziba the King, who was thought to be the king Christ. And both he and all the wise men of his age supposed that he had been Christ the King, until he was killed for his iniquities: when he was killed, they knew he was not so. And the wise men asked not of him any sign or wonder. Maim. in treat. of Kings, ch. 11. s. 3. Howbeit, when the true Christ was indeed come, that wicked and adulterous generation sought after a sign, Mat. 16. 14. and 12. 38, 39. and except they saw signs and wonders, they would not believe, John. 4. 48. and though he did many miracles before them, yet they believed not in him, John. 12. 37. He came in his Fathers name, and they received him not; another (as Beu Coziba) came in his own name, and him they received, John. 5. 43. I will require it] to wit, by punishment, for so requiring often signifieth, Gen. 9. 5. and 42. 22. and so the Greek here translateth, I will take vengeance on him; and the Apostle expoundeth it thus, every soul which will not he are that Prophet, shall be destroyed from among the people, Act. 3. 23. The Chaldee translateth, My Word shall require it of him. And the Hebrew Doctors so explain these words, He that transgresseth against his words, is guilty of death by the hand of God; as it is written (in Deut. 18.) I will require it of him. Maim. in Iesude hatorah, c. 9. s. 2. This was fulfilled upon the Jews, who would not hearken to the words of Christ, therefore he destroyed the City and the Sanctuary, as was prophesied, Dan. 9. 26. The enemies laid it even with the ground, and the children thereof within it: & they left not therein one stone upon another, because she knew not the time of her visitation, Luk. 19. 44. So they died in their sins, John. 8. 24. and wrath came upon them, to the uttermost, 1 Thess. 2. 16.

Vers. 20. shall presume] The Greek and Chaldee expound it, shall do ungodlily and wickedly. not commanded] of this sin the false Prophets in Israel were commonly guilty, & for it reprov'd; as, They have seen vanity, and lying divination, saying, The Lord saith; and the Lord hath not sent them, Ezek. 13. 6. and, I have not sent them, saith the Lord, yet they prophesy a lie in my name, Ier. 27. 15. And of this the Hebrews say, The false Prophet is to be strangled to death, although he prophesy in the name of the Lord, and neither addeth nor diminisheth, (Deut. 18. 20.) Whether he prophesieth that which he hath not heard by propheticall vision, or who so hath heard the words of his fellow Prophet, and saith that this word was said unto him, and be prophesieth thereby; <...> is a false Prophet, and is to be strangled to death. Mai. treat of Idolatry, chap. 5. sect. 7, 8. of other gods.] as they that prophesied by Baal Ier. 2. 8. and 23. 13. The Hebrews declare it thus; The Prophet that prophesieth in the name of an Idol, as he that saith, such an Idol, or such a star said unto me that we are commanded to do this or that, or not to do it, though it be to pronounce that unclean which is unclean, or that clean which is clean, &c. he is to be strangled to death, &c. And it is unlawful to ask of him a sign or a wonder, and if he do any of him-self, they may not regard him; & who so supposeth of his signs, that per adventure they may be true, transgresseth this prohibition, (Deut. 13. 3.) Thou shalt not hearken unto the words of that prophet. Maim. treat. of Idolatry, chap. 5. sect. 6, 7. shall •ven die] that is, shall be put to death by the Magistrate, and his judgment is to be strangled, as before is noted. For which strangling, they afterward (as under the Romans) used Crucifying. And the Hebrews say, They judged not either a (whole) tribe, or a false Prophet, or the high Priest, but by the mouth of the Synedrion of 71. Judges: Talmud. Bab. in Sanhedrin, chap. 1. This high Synedrion was after in Jerusalem; hereupon our Savior said, It cannot be that a Prophet perish out of Jerusalem: and, ô Jerusalem Jerusalem, which killest the Prophets, &c. Luk. 13. 33, 34.

Vers. 22. That which] in Greek, Whatsoever things: meaning of predictions foretelling things to come. For touching matters of faith, and of the worship of God, the people were to hold unto the written Law; against which if any Prophet did teach, and give a sign or wonder which came to pass, yet they were not to believe or hearken unto him. See Deut. 13. 1,—5. the thing] or, the word be not. But Jonah prophesied the destruction of Nineveh within forty days, and it came not to pass: yet the Lord had spoken that word, Ion. 1. and 3. Here then conditions are implied; as, if men break not off their sins by repentance, the evils foretold shall come upon them, &c. Ezek. 33. 13, 14, 15. Ier. 26. 12, 13, 18, 19. Especially this is meant concerning prophesies of good things, which if they come not to pass, the Prophet is found false, as Jeremiah said to Ananias, The Prophets that have been before me, and before thee of old, prophesied both against many countries, and against great kingdoms, of war, and of evil, and of pestilence. The Prophet which prophesieth of peace, when the word of the Prophet shall come to pass, then shall the Prophet be known, that the Lord hath truly sent him, Ier. 28. 8, 9. Of this matter the Hebrews say, Every Prophet that riseth up among us, and saith that the Lord hath sent him, it is not necessary that he do a sign like one of the signs of Moses our master, or like the signs of Elias and Eliseus, that there should be in them a change of the custom of the world. But his sign shall be, that he foretell things that are to come in the world, and so confirm his words, Deut. 18. 21, 22. Therefore when there cometh a man fit for prophesy, with the ambassage of the Lord, and he cometh not to add unto, or to diminish from (the Law) but to serve the Lord by the commandment of the Law, they must not say to him, divide the sea for us, or raise up the dead, or the like, and afterward we will believe in thee: but they must say unto him, If thou be a Prophet, foretell us of things that are to come: and when he telleth, we must wait to see whether the things come to pass or no; and if there fail but even a little thing, it is evident that he is a false Prophet. But if all his words do come to pass, he is to be esteemed of us faithful. And they try him many times: if his words be all of them found faithful, loe this is a true Prophet, as it is said of Samuel, And all Israel, from Dan even to Beersheba, knew that Samuel was faithful to be a Prophet of the Lord, 1 Sam. 3. 20. But do not the observers of times, and the diviners, foretell things that do come to pass? What difference then is there between the Prophet and them? Diviners and such like persons, some of their words are confirmed, and some are not; according to that which is writ (in Isaiah 47. 13.) *Let them stand up now and save thee, which view the heavens, which gaze on the stars, which make known by the months, of the things which shall come upon thee: [He saith] of the things; and not all the things. And it may be, that nothing at all of that which they speak is confirmed, but they err in all; as it is written (in Isaiah. 44. 25.) That frustrateth the signs of the Liers, and maketh Diviners fools. But the Prophet, all his words are confirmed; as it is written (in 2 King. 10. 10.) There shall fall unto the earth nothing of the word of the Lord. Also he saith (in Ier. 23. 28.) The Prophet that hath a dream, let him tell the dream; and he that hath my word, let him speak my word faithfully: what is the chaff to the wheat, saith the Lord? As if he should say, the words of the diviners and their dreams, are as chaff, wherewith a little wheat is mixed: but the word of the Lord is as wheat, wherewith there is no chaff at all. And of this thing the Scripture assureth us, and saith, that the words which diviners make known to the heathens, they do lie; the Prophet maketh known unto you the words of truth, that you have no need of soothsayers, diviners, and such like, Deut. 18. 10.—15. Loe thou art taught, that a Prophet riseth not up unto us, but to make known unto us things which shall come to pass in the world, as plenty or famine, wars or peace, and such like: Tea even the needs of a particular person doth he make known unto him, as Saul when he had lost a loss, went to the* Prophet to tell him where it was, 1 Sam. 9. Such things as these doth the Prophet tell; but maketh no other Law, neither addeth to the commandment, or taketh ought from it. Threatenings of vengeance which a Prophet denounceth, as when he saith, such a man shall die, or such a year there shall be famine, or wars, or the like; if his words stand not, we may not for this deny his prophesy, nor say, behold he spake, and it came not to pass; for the holy blessed God is long suffering, and much in mercy, and repenteth of the evil; and it may be, that they have repented, and be spareth them like the men of Nineveh; or that they defere it, as he did Ezekiahs (death) 2 King. 20. But if he promise them good, and say it shall be  $\langle \phi \rangle$  or thus, and the good thing come not which he hath spoken, it is certain that he is a false prophet: for every good thing which God decreeth, though upon condition, he changeth not, &c. Loe thou art taught, that in words of good things only, is a Prophet tried. As Jeremiah said in his answer to Ananias, when Jeremiah prophesied of evil, and Ananias of good,  $\langle \phi \rangle$  said unto Ananias, if my words stand not, it shall not appear by this, that I am a false prophet; but if thy words stand not, it shall be known that thou art a false prophet: as it is written, The Prophet which speaketh peace, when the word of the Prophet shall come to pass, the Prophet shall be known, that the Lord hath sent him in truth, Jer. 28. 9. A Prophet unto whom another Prophet beareth witness that he is a Prophet, loe he is a Prophet out of doubt, and needeth no further trial. For behold Moses bare witness unto Joshua, and all Israel believed in him, before he shown any sign. And so throughout (all) generations, the Prophet whose prophesy is known, and they have found his words faithful, time after time; or that a Prophet hath testified of him, and he hath walked in the ways of prophesy, it is unlawful to make question afterward, and to suspect his prophesy, lest it be untrue. It is unlawful also to tempt him more than is meet, &c. for it is written, Ye shall not tempt the Lord your God, as ye tempted him in Massah, where they said, Is the Lord amongst us, or not? (Deut. 6. 16. Exod. 17. 7.) But after it be known that he is a Prophet, they must believe and know that the Lord is among them, and not suspect or make further question; as it is written, And they shall know that there hath been a Prophet amongst them, (Ezek. 2. 5.) Maimonides in Iesude hatorah, chap. 10. By this testimony of the Jews, we have enough to answer them concerning our Lord Jesus, that he was a true Prophet sent of God, though they did put him death. For as he came not to destroy the Law or the Prophets, but to fulfil, Mat. 5. 17. so had he the witness of Moses and of all the Prophets, Act. 3. 22. 24. John. 1. 45. and Moses and Elias appeared talking with him, Mat. 17. 2, 3. so that if they had believed Moses, they would have believed him, John. 5. 46. And John the Baptist (whom all men held to be a Prophet, Mat. 21. 26.) he bare witness unto the truth concerning Christ, John. 1. 15. and 5. 33. He was also approved of God among them by miracles, wonders and signs, Act. 2. 22. so that the works which the Father gave him to finish, which also he did, they bare witness of him, and the Father himself bare witness of him, John. 5. 36, 37. yet they, like an evil and adulterous generation, (condemned by these their own canons,) believed not in him, but tempted God, and sought after a sign, Mat. 12. 38, 39. and though the men which saw his miracles, said, This is of a truth that Prophet which should come into the world, John. 6. 14. yet that faithless generation believed not, but said, What sign showest thou, that we may see, and believe thee, John. 6. 30. But though he had done so many miracles before them, yet they believed not, neither could they believe, because that Isaiah said, He hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their heart, &c. John. 12. 37, 39, 40. in presumption] that is, presumptuously: the Greek translatheth, in ungodliness; the Chaldee, in wickedness. not be afraid] either for his threatening words, or for his signs; nor afraid to put him to death. And thus the Hebrews explain it, saying; Whosoever with draweth himself from killing a false Prophet, because of his dignity, for that he walketh in the ways of prophesy, behold he transgresseth against this prohibition, THOU SHALT NOT BE AFRAID OF HIM. And so he that withdraweth himself frō teaching concerning him what he is guilty of, or that dreadeth and feareth for his words, &c. And they judge not a false prophet, but in the judgment hall of 71. (Magistrates) Maim. treat of Idolatry, ch. 5. s. 9.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The cities of refuge. 4 The privilege of them for the manslayer. 11 The willful murderer must die. 14 The land-mark may not be removed. 15 Two witnesses at the least must stablish every matter. 16 A false witness must be diligently inquired into, and done unto as he had thought to do unto his brother.

WHen Jehovah thy God hath cut off the nations, whose land Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee, and thou possessest them, and dwellest in their cities, and in their houses; Thou shalt separate three cities for thee, in the midst of thy land, which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee, to possess it. Thou shalt prepare for thee the way, and shalt divide into three parts the coast of thy land, which Jehovah thy God shall give thee to inherit; and it shall be, that every man-slayer may flee thither. And this is the case of the man-slayer which shall flee thither and live: who so smiteth his neighbor unwittingly, and he hated him not in time past; As when he cometh with his neighbor into a wood, to hew trees, and his hand fetcheth a stroke with an axe to cut down a tree, and the iron slippeth from the wood, and findeth his neighbor, and he die; he shall flee unto one of these cities, and live. Lest the avenger of the blood pursue after the man-slayer while his heart is hot, and overtake him, because the way is long, and smite him in soul, and he had not the judgment of death, because he hated him not in time past. Therefore I command thee, saying; Thou shalt separate for thee three cities. And if Jehovah thy God enlarge thy coast, as he hath sworn unto thy fathers, and give unto thee all the land which he hath spoken to give unto thy fathers: If thou shalt keep all this commandment, to do it, which I command thee this day, to love Jehovah thy God, and to walk in his ways all days; then thou shalt add three cities moe for thee, beside these three. That innocent blood be not shed within thy land, which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee for an inheritance, and so bloods be upon thee. But if a man be a hater of his neighbor, and lie in wait for him, and rise up against him, and smite him in soul that he die, and fleeth unto one of these cities: Then the Elders of his city shall send, and take him thence, and shall give him into the hand of the avenger of the blood, and he shall die. Thine eye shall not spare him, and thou shalt put away innocent blood from Israel, and it shall go well with thee.

Thou shalt not remove thy neighbors limit, which the first fathers have limited, in thine inheritance which thou shalt inherit, in the land which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee to possess it.

One witness shall not rise up against a man for any iniquity, or for any sin, in any sin that he sinneth: at the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses, shall a word be stablished.

When an unrighteous witness shall rise up against a man, to testify revolt against him: Then both the men, between whom the controversy is, shall stand before Jehovah, before the Priests and the Judges which shall be in those days. And the Judges shall make diligent inquisition; and behold, if the witness be a false witness, and hath testified a falsehood against his brother: Then shall ye do unto him as he had thought to have done unto his brother; and thou shalt put away the evil from the midst of thee. And the residue shall hear and fear, and shall not add to do anymore such an evil thing as this in the midst of thee. And thine eye shall not spare: soul for soul, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.

Annotations.

Thou shalt separate] in Ios. 20. 7. he useth the word sanctified; in Num. 35. 11. shall appoint. Here Moses explaineth the sixth commandment, for some special laws concerning it. three cities] besides those three which Moses had separated without the river, Deut. 4. 41, 43. These three cities were Kedesh, Shechem, and Hebron, Ios. 20. 7. They were all cities of the Levites: see Num. 35. 6. in the midst] that is, within thy land: as, in the midst of the city, Ier. 52. 25. is the same that within the city, 2 King. 25. 19. See also the notes on Gen. 2. 9. This is spoken, because there were no cities of refuge, but in the land which Israel possessed. See Num. 35. 2.

Vers. 3. shalt prepare] Of this it is said, The senate (or Magistrates in Israel) were bound to prepare the ways to the cities of refuge, to make them fit and broad, and to remove out of them all stumbling blocks and offenses: and they suffered not any hill or dale to be in the way, nor waters stream, but they made a bridge over it, that nothing might binder him that fled thither. And the breadth of the way to the cities of refuge, was no less than 32. cubits. And at the partitions of ways they set up in writing, REFVGE, REFVGE: that the man-stayer might know and turn thitherward. On the 15. of the month Adar (or Februarie) every year the Magistrates sent out messengers to prepare the ways, &c. Maimonides treat. of Murder, chap. 8. sect. 5, 6. divide into three] because the land was much more long than broad, therefore the cities of refuge were in three places, equally distant, and so commodious for men to flee unto.

Vers. 4. the case] Heb•. the word; in Greek, the ordinance of the man-slayer (or murderer.) and live] or, that he may live. From these words the Hebrew Doctors teach, that a Scholar exiled to the cities of refuge, his Master also goeth with him; as it is written, AND LIVE: But the life of them that love and seek after wisdom, is without the doctrine of the Law, counted as death. And so the Master that is exiled, his school goeth with him, &c. Maim. treat. of Murder, chap. 7. sect. 1. smiteth] meaning to death: as the Chaldee translateth, killeth. So, he smote, 2 King. 14. 5. is expounded he killed, in 2 Chron. 25. 3. unwittingly] or, ignorantly, unawares; Heb. without knowledge; the Greke saith, unwillingly. hated him not] for he that was his enemy, though he killed him unawares, might not have the benefit of the city of refuge, as is noted on Numb. 35. 20. And who is he that hateth? He that for enmity sake, speaketh not unto him for three days. Maim. treat. of Murder, chap. 6. sect. 10. in time past] Hebr. and Greek, from yesterday and the third day: so in verse. 6.

Vers. 5. As when he cometh] or, And he that shall come; and thus the Greek translatheth it. a wood] or, forest. This is a similitude for all like places and cases: but hence the Hebrews gather, Who so cometh into a man's yard without his leavs, of the man of that house kill him by error, he is free from being exiled (into the cities of refuge,) for it is said, INTO A WOOD. What is that wood? A place which the slain person hath liberty to come into. And so all other the like. Maim. treat of Murder, chap. 6. sect. 11. the wood] that is, the helve of the ⟨ϕ⟩ findeth] that is, hitteth, or lighteth upon. and live] within his city of refuge, where he must abide until the death of the high Priest, Num. 35. 25. See the annotations there.

Vers. 6. avenger] or, near kinsman, who is by duty to avenge: see the notes on Num. 35 12. ⟨ϕ⟩ heart is hot] inflamed with anger, grief, and desire of revenge; in such heat of mind, the affections of men are overcaried to speak or do that which is not meet. So in Psal. 39. 4. Mine heart was ⟨ϕ⟩ within me. because] or, as the Greek translatheth, if the way belong: Hebr. much. in soul] or, in life, that is, mortally, deadly; which the Greek translatheth, smite his soul: and for smite, the Chaldee saith, kill. So in verse. 11. judgment] that is, guilt, as the Chaldee explains it; that is, he was not worthy of death: O•, judgment, that is sentence of death by the Magistrate.

Vers. 8. all the land] from the river of Egypt, unto the great river, the river Euphrates, Gen. 15. 18.

Verse 9. this commandment] in Greek, these commandments. This condition being legal, and impossible for man to fulfill, had not therefore the accomplishment outwardly for the enlarging of their coast, or for adding of three cities moe, for ought that is known either by the Scriptures, or Jewish records; and is therefore to be referred unto Christ, spiritually. The Jews themselves refer it unto Christ's days, but carnally, as after followeth. in his ways] the Greek addeth, in all his ways: the Chaldee, in the ways that are right before him. add three cities] of this the Hebrews say; In the days of the King Christ, they shall add three other (cities) unto these sin, Deut. 19. 9. And whence shall they add them? Of the cities of the Kenizites, and the Kenites, and the Kadmonites; concerning whom a covenant was made with Abraham our father, (Gen. 15. 18, 19.) and hitherto they have not been subdued; and of them it is said in the Law, If the Lord thy God enlarge thy coast. Maim. treat. of Murder, chap. 8. sect. 4. And in another place the same man saith, (in treat. of Kings, chap. 11. sect. 2.) Of the cities of refuge, he saith, If the Lord thy God shall enlarge thy coast, then thou shalt add three cities moe, &c. But this thing hath never been done; and the holy blessed (God) hath not commanded it in vain. But the Law is not in vain, though it be not literally fulfilled in all the precepts; For what the Law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God (hath done) sending his own Son, &c. Rom. 8. 3. by him we have strong consolation, who have fled for refuge, to lay hold upon the hope set before us, Heb. 6. 18.

Vers. 10. That innocent blood be not] or, as the Greek translatheth, And innocent blood shall not be shed: meaning the blood of the unwilling man-slayer, who is not worthy of death, v. 6. and bloods be] that is, the guilt of bloodshed; as the Chaldee expoundeth it, the guilt of the judgment of murder. The Greek translatheth, and there shall not be in thee a (man) guilty of blood.

Vers. 11. smite him in soul] Greek, smite his soul, that is, as the Chaldee saith, kill him: as verse. 6.

Vers. 12. the Elders] in Greek, the Senate. thence] from the city of refuge, yea or from the Altar of the Lord, Exod. 21. 14. for, a man that doth violence to the blood of any person, shall flee to the pi, let no man stay him, Prov. 28. 17. See more in the annotations on Num. 35.

Vers. 13. put away innocent blood] that is, as the Chaldee explaineth it, him that shed innocent blood. and it shall go well] or, that it may be well with thee: or, and good shall be unto thee.

Vers. 14. limit] or, bound, border, land-mark: whereby every man's inheritance in the land was limited. A sin great in all places, Job 24. 2. but greatest in the land of Israel, God's holy limit, (or border) Psal. 78. 54. which was parted by lot of the Lord, Num. 26. 53.—56. and figured the spiritual inheritance which the Saints have in the Church, all the limits whereof are of pleasant stones, Isaiah 54. 12. and whereof Canaan was a type, as is noted on Gen. 12. 5. Therefore among the curses pronounced against the breakers of the Law, this is the third, Cursed be he that removeth his neighbors land-mark, (or limit) and all the people shall say, Amen, Deut. 27. 17. the first fathers] Eleazar the Priest, Joshua the son of Nun, and the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the sons of Israel, Ios. 14. 1. The word fathers I supply from Prov. 22. 28. where it is said, Remove not the ancient limit which thy fathers have set; and so the Greek translatheth here, the limits which thy fathers have set; in Chaldee, the ancients. in the land] of Israel, the holy land, Zach. 2. 12. the Lord's land, Hos. 9. 3. where this sin was sacrilegious. The Hebrews say, He that removeth his neighbors land-mark, and taketh of his neighbors limit into his own, though it be but an inch, if he do it by force, it is rapine; and if he remove it in secret, it is theft. And if in the land of Israel he remove the mark, he transgresseth against two prohibitions; against stealth or rapine, and against, Thou shalt not remove the limit. Maimonides treat. of Theft, ch. 7. sect. 11.

Vers. 15. not rise up] or, not stand, not be stablished, (as the word is Englished in the end of this verse:) and so the Greek translatheth, shall not abide (or continue.) The Hebrews say, They determine not any sentence of matters by the mouth of one witness, neither money matters, nor matters of life and death, Deut. 19. 15. In two places the Law maketh one witness faithful; for the suspected wife, that she shall not drink of the bitter waters, (Num. 5.) and for the heifer, that it shall not have the neck cut off, (Deut. 21.) Maimonides treat. of Witnesses, c. 5. s. 1, 2. at the mouth] The Chaldee expoundeth it, at the word. From hence the lewes gather, that by law they may not receive witness, either in money matters, or in matters of life and death, but from the mouth of the witnesses, (Deut. 19. 15.) from their mouth, and not from a writing of their hand. But by the words of the Scribes they determine money matters by witness, that is, in a bill, although the witnesses be not alive, &c. Maim. treat. of Witnesses, c. 3. s. 4. a word] or, a thing, a matter. The Greek translatheth, every word: and so the Apostles allege this place, Matt. 18. 16. 2 Cor. 13. 1. which showeth, that this (as many other like Scriptures) are to be taken in the largest sense: see Deut. 27. 26. be stablished] or, be confirmed; stand as firm and true. So our Savior saith; It is written in your law, that the testimony of two men is true, John 8. 17.

Vers. 16. unrighteous] so the Greek translatheth the Hebrew phrase; witness of unrighteousness (or, of violent wrong, of injuriousness.) the Chaldee translatheth, false witness: So in Exod. 23. 1. to testify] Hebr. to answer, which is a general word for all speaking or testifying, as the Chaldee exponndeth it, to testify: so in v. 18. See Exod. 20. 16. revolt] or apostasy, a falling, or turning away from the Lord, as Deut. 13. 5. The Greek translatheth it impiety.

Vers. 17. both the men] or, the two men, that is, the accuser and the accused. So that one witness may cause a matter to be inquired into, though no sentence may be given upon the testimony of one, v. 15. and ch. 17. v. 6. before Jehovah] before his Ark or Sanctuary: in the place which he shall choose: see Deut. 17. 8. 1 King. 8. 31. before the priests] the Greek version addeth, and before the Priests, and before the Judges: See Deut. 17. 9.

Vers. 18. make diligent inquisition] or, inquire well: which the Greek translatheth, acriboos, that is, exactly, exquisitely, or perfectly, as Act. 23. 20. false] the Greek translatheth this as before, unrighteous, or unjust. testified] Hebr. answered, as in verse. 16.

Vers. 19. thought] or presumed, presumptuously devised and enterprised: the Greek translatheth, maliciously thought. Of the original word Zamam, thought, the Hebrews call the false witness Zomem, the thinker, or presumer, and say, Who so witnesseth falsely, and it be known by witnesses that he hath witnessed falsely, this man is called [gned Zomem] the false witness; and it is commanded to do unto him as he would have done by his testimony unto his neighbor. If they have testified falsely of a transgression for which men are guilty of stoning to death, they are all to be stoned; if of burning, they are to be burnt; and so for other deaths. And if they testify of (crimes worthy) beating, everyone of them is to be beaten, &c. If they testify of things for which money is to be paid, they pay the money among them, according to the number of witnesses, everyone shall give the portion that concerneth him, &c. This is meant of witnesses that are found false: but two companies that contradict one another, and so there is no testimony, they do not punish the one of them, because it is not known which company speaketh falsely. And what is the difference between contradiction and falsehood? Contradiction is in the testimony it self, the one saying, this thing was, and the other saying, this thing was not. Falsehood (or forgery) is for the testifiers themselves, when the false witnesses cannot know whether the thing was done or not. As witnesses that come and say, We saw this man kill a person, or be borrowed a pound of such a man, such a day, in such a place; and after they have thus witnessed, and are searched into, there come two other and say, On this day, and in this place, we were with you and with these all the day, and there never was such a thing; this man killed him not, or this man borrowed not of that man; loe this is contradiction, and all the like. But if they say unto them, as for us we know not whether this man killed that man, on such a day in Jerusalem, as you say or no; but we testify, that you yourselves were with us on the same day in Babylon; loe these are false witnesses (or forgers) and must be killed, or make satisfaction, for as much as the witnesses which make them forgers, have no respect at all unto the testimony it self whether it be truth or falsehood. And if the first witnesses were an hundred persons, & there come two & prove them forgers, saying, we testify that you hundred all of you were with us such a day, in such a place; ﴿﴾, these are punished by the mouth of those two, for two are as an hundred, and an hundred as two. And so in two companies of witnesses that contradict one another, they go not after the greatest number. Maimonides treat. of Witnesses, chap. 18. sect. 1, 2, 3. As for witnesses that contradict one another, such as are after found faulty, though they be not put to death for testifying against a man's life, yet are they chastised at the Judges discretion. Maimonides ibidem, sect. 6. the evil] that is, as the Chaldee saith, the evil doer. See before on Deut. 17. 7. and 13. 11.

Vers. 20. the residue] that is, all other shall hear and fear. Therefore the Hebrews say, Proclamation was made concerning these forgers or false witnesses, the Judges wrote and sent into every city, that such and such men witnessed so and so, and were found false, and we killed them, or they were beaten before us, or we set such a fine (or mulct) upon them. Maimonides treat. of Witnesses, chap. 18. sect. 17.

Vers. 21. not spare] or, not pity: of this the Hebrews hold, that all hurts may be bought out with money, except life for life; thereof there may be no ransom, Num. 35. 31. See the Annotations on Exod. 21. 25. soul] or life (to wit, shall go) for life. See Lev. 24. 17.—20.

CHAP. XX.

1 Israel must not fear the forces of their enemies. 2 The Priests exhortation to encourage the people to battle. 5 The officers proclamation who are to be dismissed from the war. 10 How to use the cities that accept or refuse the proclamation of peace. 16 What cities must be devoted and destroyed. 19 Trees of man's meat must not be destroyed in the siege.

When thou goest out to battle against thine enemies, and seest horses and chariots, a people more than thou, be not afraid of them, for Jehovah thy God is with thee, which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt. And it shall be when ye are come nigh unto the battle, that the Priest shall approach, and speak unto the people. And he shall say unto them, Hear O Israel, you approach this day unto battle against your enemies: Let not your heart be soft, fear not, and hasten not away, 〈...〉 there be ye terrified because of them. For Jehovah your God is he that goeth with you, to fight for you with your enemies, to save you. And the Officers shall speak unto the people, saying; What man is there that hath built a new house, and hath not dedicated it? Let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the battle, and another man dedicate it. And what man is there that hath planted a vineyard, and hath not made it common? Let him go, and return unto his house, lest he die in the battle, and another man make it common. And what man is there that hath betrothed a wife, and hath not taken her? Let him go, and return unto his house, lest he die in the battle, and another man take her. And the Officers shall speak further unto the people, and say; What man is there that is fearful, and soft-hearted? Let him go, and return unto his house, that his brethren's heart melt not, as his heart. And it shall be when the Officers have made an end of speaking unto the people, that they shall constitute Captains of the armies for an head of the people.

When thou comest nigh unto a City, to fight against it, then thou shalt proclaim peace unto it. And it shall be, if it answer thee peace, and open unto thee, then it shall be that all the people that is found therein shall be tributaries unto thee, and they shall serve thee. And if it will not make peace with thee, but will make war with thee, then thou shalt lay siege against it. And Jehovah thy God shall give it into thine hand, and thou shalt smite every male thereof with the edge of the sword. But the women, and the little ones, and the cattle, and all that is in the City, all the spoil thereof thou shalt make a prey unto thyself; and thou shalt eat the spoil of thine enemies, which Jehovah thy God hath given thee. Thus shalt thou do unto all the Cities which are very far off from thee, which are not of the Cities of these nations. But of the Cities of these people's, which Jehovah thy God doth give thee for an inheritance, thou shalt not save alive any breath. But utterly destroying thou shalt utterly destroy them; the Chethite, & the Amorite, and the Canaanite, and the Pherizzite, the Evite, and the Jebusite, as Jehovah thy God hath commanded thee. To the end that they teach not you to do after all their abominations, which they have done unto their gods, and ye sin against Jehovah your God.

When thou shalt lay siege unto a City many days, in making war against it, to take it, thou shalt not destroy the trees thereof, by forcing an axe against them; for thou mayest eat of them, and thou shalt not cut them down: for is the tree of the field a man, to go in from before thee into the bulwark? Only the tree which thou knowest, that it is not a tree for meat, that thou mayest destroy and cut down, and build a bulwark against the City that maketh war with thee, until it be subdued.

Annotations.

When thou goest out] This is meant of all lawful wars, offensive or defensive, that is, begun by Israel, or by other nations against Israel. And the Hebrews hold, that Israel might never begin first to war, but the wars commanded of God; and those were the wars with the seven nations in Canaan, (Deut. 2. 24. and 7. 1.) and the war against Amalek. (Deut. 25. 17, 19.) and to help Israel out of the hand of the adversary which is come upon them, (as Judge. 3. 12.—28. &c.) Wars permitted, were with other people's that oppugned Israel, as Judge. 11. 4. 12.—27. 2 Sam. 10. 2, 6, 7, &c. For wars commanded, it is not necessary to have leave of the high Council (or Synedrion;) but the King may go out of himself at any time, and compel the people to go out: but in war permitted, he leadeth not the people out, but at the mouth of the Senate of 71. Magistrates. Maimonides in Misneh, tom. 4. treat. of Kings, chap. 5. sect. 1. 2. chariots] Hebr. horse and chariot, one put for many: so the Chaldee translatheth it plurally; see the notes on Gen. 3. 2. be not afraid] or, thou shalt not fear for them, that is, not be dismayed or discouraged. See the notes on Exod. 20. 20. is with thee] or, will be with thee, to wit, as a Captain, 2 Chron. 13. 12. And with this the faithful encouraged themselves in their battles; as Hezekiah said, there be moe with us than with (our adversary) with him is an arm of flesh, but with us is the Lord our God, to help us, and to fight our battles, 2 Chro. 32. 7 8. See also Psal. 118. 6.

Vers. 2. the Priest] one that was appointed and anointed for this purpose. Whether it be in war commanded, or in war permitted, they appoint a Priest to speak unto the people at the time of the battle, and they anoint him with the anointing oil [mentioned in Exod. 30. 25. &c.] and he is called the Anointed for the war. When they are set in array, and do come near to the battle, he that is anointed for the war standeth on an high place, and all the companies before him, & he saith unto them in the holy tongue, Hear O Israel, you approach this day, &c. (Deut. 20. 3. 4.) And another Priest under him proclaimeth it to all the people with a loud voice. And afterward, the anointed Priest saith, What man is there that hath built a new house, &c. What man is there that hath planted a vineyard, &c. And what man is there that hath betrothed a wife, &c. Thus much the anointed Priest speaketh, and the Officer proclaimeth it to all the people with a loud voice. And afterward the Officer speaketh of himself, and saith, What man is there that is fearful, &c. (Deu. 20. 8.) and another Officer proclaimeth it unto all the people. And after that all which are to return, be returned from the army, they order the army, and appoint Captains, (Deut. 20. 9.) And after every company they set officers courageous & strong, with halberts of iron in their hands; & who so would turn back from the war, they have power in their hand to cut off his leg, &c. Maimonides treat. of Kings, c. 7. s. 1.—4. Thus Israel had the word of God, and his Ministers to encourage them, that they might fight the battles of the Lord in faith; they had also the holy Trumpets blown by the Priests, that they might be remembered before the Lord, and saved from their enemies, Numb. 10. 8, 9. 2 Chron. 13. 12. And touching this Priest anointed for the war, the Hebrews teach it is a peculiar dignity to his own person only, not to his posterity, and in the war, not in the Sanctuary. He that is anointed for the war, his son is never ordained in his stead, but he is as other Priests; if he be anointed for the war, he is anointed; and if he be not anointed, he is not anointed. And when the Priest anointed for the war, ministereth in the Sanctuary, he ministereth in four garments, as the other Priests. Maimonides in Cle hamikdash, ch. 4. sect. 21.

Vers. 3. soft] tender, that is, faint and fearful; as the Greek translatheth it, dissolved (or faint,) the Chaldee, moved. This softness or faintness of heart, God threateneth as a plague, Levite. 26. 36. and Job acknowledged it so, saying, God hath softened my heart, Job 24. 16. and Rehoboam being soft-hearted, could not withstand his enemies, 2 Chron. 13. 7. Although therefore a soft heart in respect of God and his word, is commendable, 2 Kings 22. 19. yet in respect of our enemies, it is here forbidden; so in verse. 8. and Isaiah 7. 4. hasten not away] through fear & troubled thoughts, and want of faith. David blameth this infirmity in himself, Psal. 31. 22. and 116. 11. terrified] or broken, discouraged, daunted with terror: the Greek translatheth, decline not from their fac••. See the Annotations on verse. 8.

Vers. 5. the Officers] in Greek, the Scribes: of them see the notes on Deut. 16. 18. and before on verse. 2. What man is there] that is, If any man, or whosoever hath: as in Psal. 34. 13. What man is he? is expounded by the Apostle, He that will, 1 Pet. 3. 10. built a new house] By the Hebrews this Law taketh place, whether he hath built it, or received it (by purchase) or it be given unto him for a gift, or it fall unto him by inheritance. But who so buildeth an house, or planteth a vineyard, out of the land (of Israel) he returneth not home for them. Maimonides in treat. of Kings, ch. 7. sect. 5. 14. not dedicated] or, not initiated, that is, begun to take possession of, and to use it: which was wont to be done with solemnity, feasting, and singing praise to God, as the title of the 30. Psalm showeth, concerning David's house. lest he die] this manner of speech showeth danger, (as is noted on Genes. 3. 3.) and teacheth men to be resolute, and to go with their lives in their hands, ready to expend them in God's quarrel; as Judge. 9. 17. Act. 20. 22, 23. 24. and 21. 13. For the sword devoureth one as well as another, 2 Sam. 11. 25. Act. 12. 2. and another man] Three reasons there seem to be of this, and the rest that follow. Because the thoughts and cares of their houses, lands, wives, &c. might easily trouble men, and hinder them from fighting the Lord's battles with courage, as the like things hindered those that were called to the great Supper, Luke 14. 18, 19. and no man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life, that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier, 2 Tim. 2. 4. Again, God hereby showeth compassion unto the weak, whom he spareth for a time, from hard service, till they be grown strong, and fit for to fight the good fight of faith, 1 Tim. 6. 12. and 1. 18. Rom. 14. 1, 4. Thirdly, as his mercies towards Israel were many of them external, and concerned their comforts in this life; so he would have them in special manner to enjoy the outward blessings bestowed on them.

Vers. 6. planted a vineyard] This also the Hebrews understand not of a vineyard only, but by proportion of an orchard, oliveyard, or the like. Whether he have planted a vineyard, or planted five trees for meat, of any kind, or transplanted (that is, removed it from another place,) or grafted it; so that it be bound to that law of uncircumcised fruit, (in Levite. 19. 23.) or that he hath purchased it, or tabeth it by inheritance, or by free gift: (he returneth home.) But if he hath planted but four trees for food, or five trees (or moe) that are barren, or hath gotten a vineyard by rapine, he returneth not home therefore. And so, if a vineyard belong to two partners, they return not for it. Maimonides treat. of Kings, chap. 7. sect. 6. not made it common] or, not profaned it; that is, not used the fruit thereof for common food, which he could not do by the Law, till the fifth year from the planting thereof, Levite. 19. 23, 24, 25. The Greek translath, hath not made merry, (or rejoiced with the fruit) thereof.

Vers. 7. betrothed a wife] whether maid, or widow; or if his brothers wife fall to him, (according to the law in Deut. 25. 5.) though they be five brethren, and one of them die, all the rest do return home. All these that are to return from the battle, are to return when they hear the words of the Priest, and to provide water and victuals for their brethren which are in the army, and to prepare the ways for them. Maim. treat. of Kings, chap. 7. sect. 79.

Vers. 8. shall speak further] Hebr. shall add to speak. See the notes on verse. 2. soft] or tender, that is, faint-hearted: see verse. 3. When Gideon warred against the Madianites, and made this prodamation, of the two and thirty thousand men that were with him, there returned two and twenty thousand, and but ten thousand remained, Judge. 7. 3. melt not] that is, faint not, or be discouraged; in Greek, be not made fearful. An usual phrase, whereof see Deut. 1. 28. By this, God taught his people to have faith in him, and every man to encourage himself, and one another, in God's assistance: which they that did, prospered; as in the Reubenites war against the Hagarites, 1 Chron. 5. 20. the Jews war against the Israelites, 2 Chron. 12. 12,—18. Jehoshaphat's war against the Ammonites, 2 Chron. 20. and many the like. Of this point the Hebrews say, that after a man is entered into the war, *he should stay himself upon him that is the Hope of Israel, and his Savior in time of distress; and know that for the name of God he maketh war; and should put his life in his hand, and not be afraid or adread, nor think either of his wife, or of his children, but wipe the remembrance of them out of his heart, and turn from everything, unto the battle. And whosoever beginneth to think, and cast doubts in the battle, and maketh himself afraid, transgresseth against this prohibition, LET NOT YOVR HEART BE SOFT, &c. And not only so, but that all the blood of Israel hangeth on his neck: and if he prevail not, and make not war with all his heart and with all his soul, loe he is as he that sheddeth the blood of all; as it is written, That his brethren's heart melt not, as well as his heart. And behold it is plainly said, (in Ier. 48. 10.) Cursed be he that doth the work of the Lord deceitfully; and cursed be he that keepeth back his sword from blood. But who so sighteth with all his heart, without dread, and his intent is to sanctify the name (of God) only, trusteth in him that he shall find no hurt, and no evil shall come unto him. And he will build him a sure house in Israel, and honor him and his children forever, and count him worthy of life in the world that is to come; as it is written, (in 1 Sam. 25. 28.) For the LORD will certainly make my lord a sure house, because my lord fighteth the battles of the LORD, and evil hath not been found in thee from thy days; and the soul of my Lord shall be bound in the bundle of life, with the LORD thy God. Maimonides treat. of Kings, chap. 7. sect. 15.*

Vers. 9. Captains] or Princes, Rulers. That as their trust should first be in God alone, so secondly they should use the lawful outward means for safety and victory, and not tempt the Lord. for an head] or, in the forefront of the people; Heb. in the head; which may be understood both these ways, as here, so in 2 Chron. 13. 12. and 20. 27. The Greek translath, foreleaders of the people.

Vers. 10. shalt proclaim peace unto it] Hebr. shalt call unto it for peace; whereby may be meant, thou shalt invite (or persuade) it unto peace. The Greek translath, shalt call them out with peace; the Chaldee, shalt proclaim thereto words of peace. The Hebrews say, They must make no war with any man in the world, until they proclaim peace unto him, whether it be war permitted, or war commanded, Deut. 20. 10. If they make peace, and receive upon them the seven commandments which were given to the sons of Noah, [whereof see the notes on Gen. 9. 4.] they must kill none of them, but they shall be tributaries, (Deut. 20. 11.) Maimonides treat. of Kings, chap. 6. sect. 1.

Vers. 11. if it answer] that is, accept of the conditions of peace by thee proposed. The Greek translath, And if they answer thee peaceable words. tributaries unto thee] Hebr. shall be unto thee to tribute; which the Chaldee expoundeth, for offerers of tributes, that is, tributaries, as the Greek also explaineth it. And tribute is not only of men's goods, but of their persons, to be paid with the labor of their bodies; as the Egyptians set over Israel task (or tribute) Masters, to afflict them with their burdens, Ex. 1. 11. And Solomon raised a tribute (or levie) of 30. thousand men, 1 King. 5. 13. Accordingly it is here meant of both, and the Hebrews explain it thus; The tribute which they must take upon them, is that they shall be ready for the Kings service, with their bodies, and with their goods: as to build the walls, to fortify the munitions, to build the Kings Palace, & the like; as it is written, (in 1 Kings 9. 15, &c.) And this is the reason of the tribute [the levie] which King Solomon raised, for to build the house of the LORD, and his own house, and Millo, and the wall of Ierusalent, &c. and all the cities of store that Solomon had, &c. And the King may condition with them, to take half their goods, or their lands, and leave them the moveables; or the moveables, and leave them the lands, as he shall make the conditions. Maimonides treat. of Kings, chap. 6. sect. 1, 2. shall serve] to wit, as bond-servants; which it was not lawful to put any Israelite unto, Levite. 25. 42, 44. And so Solomon laid upon the heathens a tribute of bond-service, but of the sons of Israel Solomon made no servants (or bondmen,) but they were men of war, and his servants, and his Princes, &c. 1 King, 9. 21, 22. The Hebrews say, If they would take upon them the tribute, and not the servitude; or the servitude, but not the tribute; they may not hearken unto them, until they take upon them both. And the servitude which they must take upon them, is to be contemptible and very base, that they lift not up the head in Israel, but be sub dued under their hand, and be not reckoned with Israel, for any matter in the world. Maimonides in Kings, chap. 6. sect. 1.

Vers. 12. not make peace] upon the former conditions, as the Greek saith, if they will not obey thee.

Vers. 13. shall give it] This may be taken as a promise; or, when he shall give it, &c. then thou shalt smi•e.

Vers. 14. eat the spoil] that is, enjoy that which thou hast spoiled. And this is a blessing and comfort after victory, which God gave unto Israel upon their wars in Canaan, Ios. 22. 8. and figured the fruit of the labors which Christ and his people should enjoy from their enemies, Isaiah 53. 12. Luke 11. 22.

Vers. 16. these people's] the seven nations in the land of Canaan, Deut. 7. 1, 2. unto which the Hebrews add (from Deut. 25. 19.) the Amalekites; saying, The seven nations & Amalek, which make not peace, they leave not of them any soul, Deut. 20. 16. and 25. 19. And it is holden, that he speaketh not but of such as make not peace, as it is written (in Ios. 11. 19, 20.) There was not a city that made peace with the sons of Israel, save the Evites, the inhabitants of Gibeon; all (other) they took  $\langle\phi\rangle$  battle; for it was of the Lord to harden their hearts, that they should come against Israel in battle, that he might destroy them utterly, even because they sent unto them for peace, but they received it not. Joshua sent three writings before he came into the land. First he sent unto them thus, He that will flee let him flee. Again be sent, Who so will make peace, let him make peace. And again he sent, Who so will make war, let him make it. If it be so, wherefore did the Gibeonites deal by craft? Ios. 9. Because he had sent unto them in the general, and they received it not, neither knew they the judgment (or manner) of Israel, &c. Maimonides treat. of Kings, c. 6. s. 4, 5. any breath] or, any soul, man, woman, or child.

Vers. 17. utterly destroy] or, destroy as cursed: See Numb. 21. 2. hath commanded thee] in Exod. 34. 11, 12. Deut. 7. 1, 2, 3.

Vers. 19. not destroy the trees] Hebr. not corrupt (or mar) a tree: meaning any tree that bare man's meat. The Greek translath trees; and the singular is oft used for the plural, as is noted on Genes. 3. 2. And under the name of trees, all other things also, needful for man's life, seem here to be reserved from destruction. The Hebrews explain it thus; They may not cut down the Trees for meat, that are without the city; nor with-hold from them the water-courses, that they may wither: as it is written, THOU SHALT NOT CORRVPY THE TREES: and who so cutteth any down, is to be beaten. And not in the siege only, but in any place, whosoever cutteth down a tree that is for meat, by way of corrupting, is to be beaten. But they may cut them down, if they hurt other trees, or hurt the field, &c. the Law forbiddeth not, but by way of corruption. Every tree that bears not fruit, it is lawful to cut it down, although a man have no need of it: and likewise a fruit-tree that doth hurt, or yieldeth but a little, and is not worth the labor about it, it is lawful to cut it down. And what quantity may that be? An olive tree, if it yield the fourth part of a Kab of olives, [that is, a Log, whereof see the notes on Exod. 30. 24.] they may not cut it down: and a Date tree which yieldeth a Kab of dates, they cut not down. And not trees only, but who so breaketh vessels, or rendeth garments, or pulleth down buildings, or stoppeth wells, or destroyeth meats, by way of corrupting, transgresseth this law, THOU SHALT NOT CORRVPY: yet is he not to be beaten therefore, but by the doctrine of the Scribes he is to be chastised. Maimonides treat. of Kings, chap. 6. sect. 8, 9. By this prohibition, God restraineth the waste and spoil which Soldiers usually make in wars; and teacheth mercy towards his good creatures, and that which serveth for man's life: therefore Christ would have nothing lost of the broken meats that were le•t, John. 6. 12. And as in figure men are likened to trees, so such only as bring forth no good fruit, are cut down, Matth. 3. 10. See also Luke 13. 6, 7, &c. Rev. 9. 4. for thou mayest] or, as the Greek translath, but thou shalt eat thereof. for is the tree &c.] or, for are the trees &c? that is, the trees of the field are not as men, either to come out against thee, or to flee from thee into the bulwark. This interpretation agreeth with the Greek, Is the tree that is in the wood a man, to go in from thy face into the bulwark? The Chaldee in like sense explaineth it by a denial; For the tree of the field is not as a man, to go, &c. Otherwise it may also be translated, Though the trees of the field are man's, that is, serve for man's use, yet spare such as bear fruit. Or, according to that which went before, For the tree of the field is man's, to wit, his food, or life of man: as in 2 Kings 18. 31. eat ye every man his own vine, that is, the fruit of his vine. into the bulwark] or, in the siege.

Vers. 20. sub dued] or, come down: which the Greek translatheth, until it be delivered. [unspec 20]

CHAP. XXI.

1 The expiation of murder done by an unknown person: that the Elders of the next city should kill an heifer, and wash their hands over it, so clearing themselves, and asking mercy of God. 10 The usage of a captive taken to wife. 15 The first-borne is not to be disinherited upon private affection. 18 A stubborn rebellious son is by his Parents to be brought forth unto judgment, and stoned to death. 22 The malefactor must not hang all night on a tree.

IF one be found slain in the land which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee to possess it, fallen in the field; and it be not known who hath smitten him: Then thy Elders, and thy Judges shall come forth, and they shall measure unto the cities which are round about him that is slain. And it shall be that the city which is next unto the slain ‹◇›, even the Elders of that city shall take an heifer of the herd, which hath not been wrought with, which hath not drawn in the yoke. And the Elders of that city shall bring down the Heiffer unto a rough valley, which shall not be tilled, nor sown, and shall strike off the Heiffers neck there in the valley. And the Priests, the sons of Levi, shall come near; for them Jehovah thy God hath chosen to minister unto him, and to bless in the name of Jehovah; and by their mouth shall be every controversy, and every stroke. And all the Elders of that city that are next unto the slain man, shall wash their hands over the Heiffer that is beheaded in the valley. And they shall answer, and say; Our hands have not shed this blood, and our eyes have not seen it. Make expiation for thy people Israel, whom thou hast redeemed, O Jehovah; and lay not innocent blood in the midst of thy people Israel, and the blood shall be expiated for them. And thou shalt put away innocent blood from the midst of thee, when thou shalt do that which is right in the eyes of Jehovah.

When thou goest forth to battle against thine enemies, and Jehovah thy God hath delivered them into thine hands, and thou hast taken captive a captivity of them: And thou seest in the captivity a woman of a beautiful form, and hast a desire unto her, and wouldest take her unto thee to wife: Then thou shalt bring her home to thy house, and she shall shave her head, and do her nails. And she shall put off the raiment of her captivity from upon her, and shall remain in thine house, & shall weep for her father and her mother a month of days; and after that thou shalt go in unto her, and be her husband, and she shall be unto thee to wife. And it shall be, if thou have no delight in her, then thou shalt send her away whither she will; but selling thou shalt not sell her for money: thou shalt not make a gain to thyself of her, because thou hast humbled her.

If a man have two wives, one beloved, and another hated, and they have borne him sons, the beloved, and the hated; and if the first-borne son be hers that was hated:

Then it shall be in the day that he maketh his sons to inherit that which he hath, he may not make the son of the beloved first-borne, before the son of the hated, which is the first-borne. But the first-born, the son of the hated shall he acknowledge, by giving to him a double portion of all that is round his; for he is the beginning of his strength, the right of the first birth-right is his.

If a man have a son stubborn and rebellious, which obeyeth not the voice of his father, and the voice of his mother, and they have chastened him, & he will not hearken unto them: Then shall his father and his mother lay hold on him, and bring him out unto the Elders of his city, and unto the gate of his place. And they shall say unto the Elders of his city, This our son is stubborn and rebellious, he obeyeth not our voice, he is a glutton, and a drunkard. And all the men of his city shall stone him with stones, and he shall die; and thou shalt put away the evil from the midst of thee, and all Israel shall hear and fear.

And if there be in a man a sin worthy of death, and he be put to death, and thou hang him on a tree: His carcass shall not remain all night upon the tree; but burying thou shalt bury him in that day, for he that is hanged is the curse of God; and thou shalt not defile thy land which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee for an inheritance.

Annotations.

Slaine] or, Wounded, meaning to death; as the Chaldee translatheth, killed: and this Law was to be kept, whether one or many were found slain. giveth] or, is giving, to wit, shortly. This being a figurative expiation, done by Priests, with the death of an heifer, &c. showeth this Law to be peculiar to the common-wealth of Israel: and so the Hebrews say, The Law for the beheaded heifer is not to be used but in the land of Israel. Maimonides in Misneh, tom. 4. treat. of Murder, ch. 10. sect. 1. fallen] that is, lying dead: as, there fell, 1 Chron. 21. 14. is expounded there died, 2 Sam. 24. 15. The Greek translatheth it fallen: the Chaldee, lying. All these circumstances the Hebrews hold unto strictly; It is said, Slaine (or Wounded) not hanged, nor broken; for such an one is not called Chalal, (Slaine:) in the Land (or Ground,) not hid in an heap: Fallen, not hanging on a tree: in the Field, not swimming on the water. Maimonides treat. of Murder, chap. 9. sect. 11. not known] for if it be known, they behead no heifer for him. If but one have seen the murderer, and though it be a slave, or a woman, or one whose testimony is not allowable, yet there is no beheading of the heifer: therefore if there be many open murderers, the killing of the heifer ceaseth. If one witness say, I saw the murderer; & another witness deny it, saying, Thou didst not see him, (and these witnesses come both together,) then they behead the heifer. Maimonides ibidem, ch. 9. sect. 12. 13.

Vers. 2. thy Elders] he saith not the Elders of that city, as after in verse 3. (for it is not known as yet to what city it belongeth;) but thy Elders (O Israel) which were of the general States of the Land. The Hebrews say, When a slain man is found fallen on the earth, &c. they leave him in his place, and five Elders come forth from the high Council that is in Jerusalem, and they measure from him unto the cities that are round about the slain man. Maim. ibidem, ch. 9. s. 1. thy Judges] to whom criminal causes did belong, for the trial of them. unto the cities] he saith not, unto the towns, or villages, but cities: and by the Hebrews, they measured not to any city, but such as had in it a Court of three and twenty (Magistrates.) And though he be found by a cities sid &c. yet they measure. And when they have measured, and the city next him is known, then they bury the slain man in his place, and the Elders of Jerusalem return to their place; and the Senate of that city bring an heifer, &c. When they measure, they do it exactly. And they measure from the nose of him (that is slain.) If his body be in one place, and his head in another, they bring the body to the head, and bury it in the place there of. If there be many dead, one beside another, they measure from the nose of everyone of them. And if one city be nearest to them all, it bringeth one heifer for them all. Maimonides treat. of Murder, chap. 9. sect. 4: 9, 10.

Vers. 3. an heifer] which was by the death thereof to make expiation, in figure, for this murder, as ordinary sacrifices did for men's sins. And this was done by the next city, because of presumption of the fact, when other proof failed: and this heifer was to be of the men's of that city, saith Maim. ibidem, sect. 2. and an heifer of the second year, or under; but if it were a day older than two years, it was unlawful, Maim. ibidem, chap. 9. sect. 2. and chap. 10. sect. 2. in the yoke] the same caution was for the red heifer, Num. 19. 2. see the Annotations there. But why speaketh he of the yoke, after he had said, not wrought with? seeing to draw with the yoke is comprehended in other work? The Hebrews answer, Because the yoke maketh it disallowable, whether it be in the hour of work or not. When it hath drawn in the yoke but an hand-breadth, it is unlawful, though it neither ploughed therewith, nor did any other work. Maim. ibid. chap. 10. sect. 3.

Vers. 4. a rough valley] or, a strong bourne: the Hebrew Nachal is both a valley, Gen. 26. 17. 19. and a water-stream running in a valley, Deut. 2. 13. 36. both which we call a bourne. Ethan signifieth strength, or strong and durable, and is applied sometime to waters, Exod. 14. 27. Psalm. 74. 15. And Nachal Ethan, in Amos 5. 24. is a mighty stream. So here we may understand this to be not only a valley, but a stream also in it, as the Chaldee version confirmeth: but the Greek translatheth it, a rough valley. Maimonides in treat. of Murder, chap. 9. sect. 2. saith, they bring down the heifer unto a bourne that floweth strongly, and that is the Ethan spoken of in the Law. shall not be tilled] either at the time when the heifer is killed, or after. The valley wherein the heifer is beheaded, is unlawful to be sown or tilled forever, (Deut. 21. 4.) and who so worketh any work there, in the body of the ground, as to plough, or dig, or sow, or plant, or any the like, he is to be beaten. But it is lawful to dress flax there, or to dig up stones, or any thing which is not as tillage or sowing, &c. Maimonides treat, of Murder, chap. 10. sect. 9. strike off the neck] or behead, (as in verse. 6.) with an axe on the hinder parts thereof, saith Maimonides ibidem, ch. 9. sect. 3. The Greek translatheth, cut the sinews of the heifer. After it was beheaded, and expiation made, the heifer was buried in the place where it was killed, and it was unlawful to have any profit (or use) thereof. Maim. ibidem, c. 10. s. 6.

Vers. 5. the sons of Levi] in Greek, the Levites. What they were to do, is not expressed by Moses, but may be gathered by their office here described, to minister, &c. and by verse. 8. where prayer is made for atonement. And so the Hebrews explain it, that the Elders were to wash their hands, and say, Our hands have not shed, &c. (v. 7.) and the Priests said, Make expiation for thy people, &c. verse. 8. Maimonides treat. of Murder, cha. 9. s. 3. to •inister] the Greek saith, to stand before him. See Deut. 10. 8. their mouth] that is, as the Chaldee expoundeth it, their word, meaning the word of God which they should show, Ezek. 44. 23, 24. shall be] to wit, judged, or tried, or (as this case seemeth to import) expiated. stroke] or plague; in Chaldee, plague of leprosy: See the notes on Deut. 17. 8.

Vers. 6. all the Elders] both the Magistrates then bearing office, and such as had borne it before. For all such were called Elders, as appeareth by Judge. 8. 14. where the Princes and Elders of Succoth, were threescore & seventeen men. So in this case, the Hebrews say, The Judges of that city, with all the Elders, although they be an hundred, they all wash their hands there, in the place where the heiffers neck is stricken off. Maimonides treat. of Murder, ch. 9. s. 3. shall wash] in sign that they were innocent of that blood-shed: as Psal. 26. 6. Matth. 27. 24.

Vers. 7. shall answer] that is, shall speak: for so the word answer is often used for the beginning of a speech, Io. 3. 2. have not shed] or, hath not shed: for the Hebrew hath a double reading, implying both singular and plural; to signify that they had not any hand in this murder. not seen it] to wit, shed by any other: for else, this expiation had not been thus made, as is noted on verse. 1.

Vers. 8. Make expiation] or Make atonement: in Greek, be merciful. Here the Chaldee version addeth, The Priests shall say, Make exptation, &c. and so the Hebrews explain it, as is noted on v. 5. hast redeemed] the Greek addeth, out of the land of Egypt. lay not innocent blood] Hebr. give not, that is, as the Chaldee openeth it, give not the guilt of innocent blood; in our phrase, lay it not to their charge. The Greek translateth, that there may not <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> innocent blood in thy people. To give, is often used for to suffer, (as is noted on Gen. 20. 6.) in <math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> ch sense it may also be taken here, suffer not in <math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> nt blood, to wit, to be unpunished, but bring the murderer to light. expiaeted for them] or, mercifully forgiven them: but the murderer (if afterward he were taken,) was not hereby forgiven, which the Hebrews gather from the next words, saying; Although the murderer be found after the <math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> eading of the heifer, yet he is to be killed; for it is <math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> ten (Deut. 21. 9.) And thou shalt put away in <math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> t blood. Maim. treat of Murder, ch. 10. s. 8.

Vers. 9. innocent blood] that is, the guilt there <math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> the Chaldee addeth, the shedder of innocent <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math>, according to the former exposition. right <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> eyes] the Greek translateth, that which is good <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> pleasing before the Lord.

Here beginneth the nine and fortieth Section, or Lecture of the Law: See Gen. 6. 9.

Vers. 10. delivered them] Hebr. given (or deli <math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> d him) speaking of the multitude of enemies, <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> one man; so after. captivity of them] Hebr. <math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> ity of him: that is, a multitude of captives or <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> So in Num. 21. 1. This Law is like the <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> divorce, Deut. 24. which our Savior tell <math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> suffered for the hardness of men's hearts, <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> •9. 8. And the Hebrews themselves, (<math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> gh much addicted to strange women, and <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> of wives,) understand this Law with sun <math>\langle \dots \rangle</math> limitations; and to be partly for necessity, when <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> in the wars were absent from their wives, and tempted with concupiscence.

Vers. 11. in the captivity] that is, amongst the captives, or prisoners. At any other time, the Hebrews say, this was not lawful. hast a desire] or affectest, settest thy love; as Gen. 34. 8. and wouldest take her] or, and takest her, to wit, by promise. The Hebrews say of Soldiers that come into the heathens coast, that they may in their hunger, eat swine's flesh, or other unclean meats, when they can get no other: And so a man may lie with an heathen woman, if his concupiscence urge him thereto; but he may not lie with her and go his way, bust must bring her home to his house; and he may not lie with her the second time, until he have married her. Neither is it lawful for him to take this beautiful woman, save in the time of captivity, as it is written; And thou seest in the captivity, &c. Neither is it lawful to lie with two, for it is said, HER: nor lawful to take two, and lie with the one, and leave the other for his brother. Maimonides tom. 4. treat. of Kings and Wars, ch. 8. s. 1, 2, 3. This lying with her, seemeth to be impiied in those words, thou hast humbled her, v. 14. which phrase is not used, but of an estate out of marriage, as is noted on Gen. 34. 2.

Vers. 12. home to thy house] Hebr. into the midst of thine house, that is, into it, as this phrase meaneth: See the notes on Gen. 2. 9. she shall shave] the Greek changeth the person, saying; thou shalt shave: for this being a shame and dishonor unto her, (1 Cor. 11. 6. 15.) it is not likely the woman would willingly do it, but the man (in whose power she was) must see it done. do her nails] or make them, which the Chaldee expoundeth, let them grow: though the phrase may be taken otherwise, to pare or cut them, (as in 2 Sam. 19. 24.) and so the Greek translatheth; yet the letting of them grow, seemeth here to be meant, for her more deformity, answerable to the shaving of her head. The Hebrews open it thus; *After he hath lien with her once, whiles she is in her paganism, if she take upon her to come under the wings of God's Majesty, she is baptized for a Proselyte out of hand: and if she will not, she must remain in his house thirty days (Deu. 21. 13.) and she is to let her nails grow, and shave her head, to the end, that she may be deformed in his eyes; and she must be with him in his house, that he may look upon her and loath her. And he is to persuade with her, that she may receive (the faith:) if she receive it, she is made a Proselyte, and baptized as all strangers, And she must tarry three months, one maneth weeping (for her father,) and two months after it, and he is to take her with bill of dowry, & marriage. And if he have no delight in her, he is to send her away whither she will, & if he sell her, he transgresseth, &c. (Deut. 21. 14.) If she will not become a Proselyte, they persuade with her 12. months. If (yet) she will not, (but) receiveth the 7. commandments which were commanded to the sons of Noah, [whereof see the Annotations on Gen. 9. 4.] then he is to send her away whither she will, and loe she is as all other strangers that dwell (in the land,) but he may not marry her; for it is unlawful to marry a woman which is not a Proselyte. If she be with child by his first lying with her; then the child is a stranger, and is not his son for any matter, because he is of an heathē mother, &c. If the beautiful woman will not leave her idolatry after twelve months, they are to kill her: and so the ciri that would make peace, they may make no covenant with them, till they renounce their idolatry, and destroy all the places thereof, and receive the other commandments which were commanded o the sons of Noah: for every heathen that yieldeth not to those commandments, are to be killed, if they be under our hand, faith Maim. in treat of Kings, ﴿ 〉 . 8. s. 5.—9.*

Vers. 13. raiment] in Greek, the garments of her captivity, to wit, those wherein she was taken, and shall put on mourning weeds: which was another sign of her humiliation, and means to withdraw the man's love from her, if she continued in her unbelief. remain] or, sit in thine house, where thou mayest behold and observe her carriage. a month of days] that is, thirty days, an whole month. This was in respect of her special case forementioned. And whereas the Hebrews speak of two months longer, (as is noted on verse. 12) the reason thereof they elsewhere show to be in regard of his lying with her, lest she should be with child, that so the seed of •srael might be known from the heathens; for by Exod. 21. 4. it appeareth that a heathen bond-woman's children were her masters, and not counted the Israelites who begat them: and by Ezr. 10. 3. 44. it is evident, that not only the heathens wives, but such also as were borne of them, were put away. The Hebrews say; Every woman that is divorced, or is a widow, she may not marry again, till she have tarried ninety days, besides the day of her divorce, or of her husbands death; to the end that it may be 〈◇〉 whether she be with child or no, and that th•e may be proof whether it be the seed of her first husband, or of her second. A bondwoman that is 〈◇〉 free, and an heathen woman that becometh a 〈◇〉 , th•y must tarry 90 days. And though is 〈◇〉 a heathen man & his wife that become Proselytes, they separate them ninety days, to distinguish the seed which is begotten in holy state, from the seed which is not so begotten. And so the beautiful (captive) although there is a law given her of 30. days for the •itting of her self, she must tarry 90. days, for the fitting of her child. Maimonides in treat. of Divorces, ch. 11. s. 18. 21. go in] to wit, into the (marriage) chamber, as •udg. 15. 1. and be her husband] or, marry her, and so 〈◇〉 with her, as Dew. •4. 〈◇〉 . This might not be with an Infidel, Deut. 7. 〈◇〉 . See the Annotations there.

Vers. 14. If thou have no delight in her] This see 〈...〉 be meant before marriage, not after: for that, God allowed no such sending her away after marriage; but if after he had onc• lie• with her, & had humbled her (as after he speak•h;) the man's affections were withdrawn from her, by beholding her in that deformity & mournful state within his house; then God permitted this leaving her, but with the cautions following. whither she will Hebr. to her soul, that is, according to her own will or desire. The Greek translateth, thou shalt send her away free• filling thou shalt not sell] that is, not at all, or shalt in 〈◇〉 case sell her, as other captives might be; and this recompense she had, and the man sustained this loss, for that he had humbled her; whereby God shown compassion to this afflicted woman, and his dislike of the man's lying with her before, though for the hardness of men's hearts he suffered it so to be; as Matth. 19. 8. make a gain to thyself] or, serve thyself, make her •hy servant. The Hebrew Hithgnammer, is found only here, and in Deut. 24. 7. where the Greek expresseth it by Katadunasteo, which is to sub due, or bring under ones power; which word is used in like sense, Acts 10. 38. and I am. 2. 6. for such as were oppressed under the power of the devil, and of rich men. So that the man, as he might not sell this woman, so neither make a servant of her to himself, or others. So the Hebrews expound it, If he sell her, •e transgresseth this prohibition, Selling thou shalt not sell her, &c. And so if he subdue her, after that she is lien with, to be a bondwoman, when he hath use of her service, he transgresseth this prohibition, Thou shalt not make a gain to thyself by her, for he may not serve himself by her. Maimonides treat. of Kings, ch. 8. s. 6. humbled her] or, afflicted her. This word being used for unlawful copulations, as in Gen. 34. 2. Deut. 22. 24, 29. Judge. 19. 24. 2 Sam. 13. 12, 14. Ezek. 22. 10, 11. Lam. 5. 11. showeth also, that God approved not of his fact: and that this sending her away, was not to be after marriage, but after his first lying with her only, as is before noted.

Vers. 15. two wives] which though it was contrary to God's first institution, Gen. 2. 22, 23, 24. and was begun by Kains posterity, Gen. 4. 19. yet the corruption being spread over all, and even in the Church, God for a time suffered this until the time of reformation; but approved not of it, as appeareth by Mal. 2. 15. Matth. 19. 4, 5. And here provideth by his Law, against troubles and confusion that might arise in families by such polygamy. and another hated] Hebr. and one hated; but this word one in the latter branch of the sentence, is used for another; and is so explained by the Holy Ghost: as where it is said in Matth. 24. 40. the one shall be taken, and the one left; another Evangelist expresseth it thus, the one shall be taken, and the other left, Luk. 17. 36. And by hated, understand less loved than the other: for it is spoken by way of comparison, as in Gen. 29. 31.

Vers. 16. he maketh his sons to inherit] or, divideth the inheritance to his sons: from which words the Hebrews gather, that The first-borne which is borne after his fathers death, is not to have a double portion. Maimonides treat. of Inheritances, ch. 2. s. 2. he may not] or, he cannot; he shall not be able, that is, it is not lawful for him. make first-borne] that is, give the first birth-right, which was a double portion. As Joseph had the first birth-right, when a portion was given him above his brethren, 1 Chr. 5. 1, 2. Gen. 48. 5, 22. before the son] which the Greek translateth, despising the son.

Vers. 17. acknowledge] in Chaldee, separate, to wit, by His words and actions. a double portion] Hebr. the mouth (that is, the part) of two, which the Chaldee translateth two parts, as the like phrase signifieth in Zach. 13. 8. By which Scriputre we may learn what this double portion was, that if a man had two sons, his goods were divided into three parts, whereof the eldest had two parts, and the youngest the third. For the first-borne was to be reckoned as two sons; as Joseph (who had the first birth-right, 1 Chron. 5. 2) was two tribes, Ephraim and Manasseh. The Hebrews explain it thus; The first-borne is to receive a double portion of his fathers goods, Deut. 21. 17. As, if he leave five sons, and one of them is the first-borne, he is to have a third of his goods, and every of the other four receiveth a sixth part. If he leave nine sons, the first-borne hath a first part, and every of the other eight, a tenth part. And so according to this partition do they part always. Maimonides treat. of Inheritances, ch. 2. s. 1. According to this phrase Eliseus desired a double portion of Elias spirit, 2 Kin. 2. 9. that he might have so much more as any of his other disciples. of all that is found his] the word found of e signifieth things present, as in Ge. 19. 15. 2 Chron. 5. 11. and 31. 1. So in this case by the Hebrews judgment, The first-borne had not a double portion of the goods which might come after his fathers death, but of the goods which were assuredly his fathers, & come into his hand (or power) as it is written, OF ALL THAT IS FOUND HIS. As, one of the heirs of his father that dieth after the death of his father; the first-borne, and the single (brother) do inherit his goods alike. And so if his father hath a debt owing him, or hath a ship at sea, they are heirs of it alike. Maim. treat. of Inheritance, ch. 3. sect. 1. It is also said, found his; he saith found hers; and by the Hebrews it is holden, at The first-borne hath not a double portion of his mothers goods: but the first-borne and another son that are heirs to their mother, do share alike, whether he be the first-borne for inheritance, or the first that openeth the womb. The

If a man have sons while he is an ⟨...⟩ en, and after becometh a proselyte, he hath no ⟨...⟩ borne for inheritance. But an Israelite that hath ⟨...⟩ by a bondwoman, or by an heathen woman, ⟨...⟩ ch as he is not called his son, he that come ⟨...⟩ after him of an Israelitess, is the first-borne for ⟨...⟩ nce, and hath a double portion. Maim. ibi ⟨...⟩ , ch. 2. s. 8 9, 10, 12. of his strength] or, of ⟨...⟩ our. So Jacob said of Reuben his eldest, ⟨...⟩ 49. 3. The Greek translatheth, of his children. ⟨...⟩ this is the first reason of the Law, from nature ⟨...⟩ e. the right] Hebr. the judgment; which ⟨...⟩ eeke explaineth thus, the first birth-rights ⟨...⟩ (or belong) unto him. And this may be un ⟨...⟩ ood in respect of the Judgment or Law of ⟨ϕ⟩ L•rd; which is added unto the former reason ⟨ϕ⟩ nature, and maketh the first-bornes right more firm unto him. Wherefore as Esau beforehand sold his birth-right, and the sale was confirmed, Gen. 25. 33. so generally The first-borne that selleth the portion of the birth-right before it be parted, his sale is firm, because the portion is his before it is parted, saith Maimonides treat. of Inheritance, c. 3. s. 6. And by reason of this right of the first-borne, his children after him do inherit also, as this Hebrew canon showeth, Who so hath two sons, a first-borne, and another, and they die both of them whiles he liveth, and leave children behind them, the first-borne leaveth a daughter, & the single (brother) leaveth a son; the son of the single (brother) shall inherit of the old man's goeds a third part, which was his fathers portion; & the daughter of the first-borne shall inherit two thirds, which was her fathers portion. And such is the right of brethren's children, and of the fathers brothers children, and of all that do inherit: if the father of one of the heirs were a first-borne, the heir receiveth the portion of his first birth-right for him. Maimonides ibidem, c. 2. s. 7. By this Law was fore-shadowed how the elect, the Israel of God, Gal. 6. 16. which are his first-borne, Exod. 4. 22. and Church of the first-born which are written in heaven, Heb. 12. 23. shall have a double portion, and inherit the good things of God, as they which have the promise of the life which now is, and of that which is to come, 1 Tim. 4. 8. and are the heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ, Rom. 8. 17. and being justified by his grace, are made heirs according to the hope of eternal life, Tit. 3. 7. God having begotten them again, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for us, 1 Pet. 1. 4.

Vers. 18. stubborn] or perverse, revolting, refractarie, that turneth away from God and his Law: and it implieth the affection of the heart, as Ier. 5. 23. and the carriage and action as an untamed heifer, Hos. 4. 16. Neh. 9. 29. And so the Apostle translatheth it into Greek, by two words, disobedient (or unperswaded,) and gain-saying, Rom. 10. 21. from Isaiah 65. 2. So here the Greek expoundeth it, disobedient. rebellious] The Hebrew Moreh signifieth one that changeth or turneth to the worse, both in heart and action, and in particular turneth from and opposeth the word of God, as Deut. 1. 26. 43. and 9. 7, 23, 24. The Greek here translatheth it Contentious. The instance of this rebellion is shown in v. 20. obeieth not] or •earkeneth not; the Chaldee translatheth, receiveth not the word. chastened] or nurtured; which implieth both words and acts, as by rebukes, stripes, and outward punishment, Levite. 26. 23, 28. and sometime by the hand of the Magistrate, Deut. 22. 18. in which sense the Hebrews understand this here. And having spoken before of words, this therefore is meant of blows also.

Vers. 19. and his mother] both of them; so that one alone was not enough to cause him to be put to death. The Hebrew Doctors, as they are always wary in cases that concern the taking away of any man's life; so in this above others, they set down many and strange limitations; as, first they restrain it to those particular sins of gluttony and drunkenness, verse. 20. and that gluttony to be eating of flesh only, and drunkenness with wine only. Also that the son is not to be put to death, unless he have stolen somewhat from his father, and bought therewith flesh and wine for riot, and eaten and drunk it without his fathers leave, in a company that are all vain and vile persons. That a son only, not a daughter, is to be put to death by this Law, and he not a little one, or a child, who is not within the rule or compass of the commandments; not a man that is grown up, and is in his own power. So that he must be at least above twelve years of age. And if he be married three months, and his wife be known to be with child, they free him also from this Law, because it is said a son, and not a father. Moreover, that the father and mother must bring this rebellious son first to the court of three Judges, and there complain of his disobedience; bringing with them two witnesses of his stealth and gluttony: whereupon he is there beaten, as others are for the like crime; and this is that chastening in v. 18. If he fall again to stealth and riot, his father and mother bring him again before the Magistrates, with the witnesses, and he is condemned to death. But if before sentence is passed on him, his father and mother do relent in pity towards him, he is let go. If he flee away before sentence is gone out against him, and be afterward taken when he is in man's state (which they also judge by the hair on his face) he is not put to death; but if he scape away after sentence of condemnation, he is stoned to death whensoever he is taken. If his father be willing to bring him to the Magistrate, and the mother not; or the mother willing, and the father not; he is not to be judged as a rebellious son. If either parent have lost their hand, or be lame, or dumb, or blind, or deaf, the son passeth not under this condemnation; for it is said, they must lay hold on him, and bring him, and must say, this our son, &c. he obeieth not our voice, &c. These, and the like cautions, are noted by Maimonides in treat. of Rebels, chap. 7. and in the Bab. Talmud. in Sanhedrin, ch. 8. but they have not all of them found ground from the Scripture. Howbeit if any son be by any of these exceptions saved, that he die not as a rebellious son, yet is he under all other punishments which the Magistrates inflict on other rioters, and like malefactors. the gate of his place] that is, the gate of the place where he dwelt, at which gate the Magistrates used to sit, Deut. 22. 15. and 25. 7. So the Chaldee here translateth, the gate of the judgementhall of his place.

Vers. 20. a glutton] or rioter, devourer: in Hebrew Zolel, which hath the signification of vileness, Ier. 15. 19. The Chaldee addeth, a glutton (or riotous eater) of flesh, and a riotous drinker of wine: which words seem also to be understood in the Hebrew, and are so expressed in Prov. 23. 20. Be not amongst riotous drinkers of wine, amongst riotous eaters of flesh: for the riotous drinker, and the riotous eater (or glutton) shall come to poverty. Where in the latter sentence, the words flesh and wine are omitted, as here they are in Moses. And to these two, flesh and wine, the Hebrews do restrain this law, as before is noted: but oft times such things are named for an instance, and do imply all other of like sort.

Vers. 21. and he shall die] or, that he die. The sins of riot and drunkenness were not by Moses Law punishable by death: this therefore was in respect of his disobedience to his parents, which greatly aggravated his sin, and for which he was to die, when other drunkards scaped with lighter punishment. Hereupon Solomon uttered his parable, He that keepeth the Law, is a wise son; but he that is a companion of gluttons, shameth his father, Prov. 28. 7. all Israel shall hear] The like is spoken of the death of some other notorious malefactors, as Deut. 13. 11. and 17. 13. and 19. 30. So in this case, the Hebrews say, The rebellious son must be proclaimed, and they publish by writings unto all Israel, In such a Court we stoned such an one, because he was a stubborn and rebellious son. Maimonides treat. of Rebels, chap. 7. sect. 13.

Vers. 22. worthy of death] Hebr. of the judgment of death; which the Chaldee well expoundeth, desert of judgment to be killed. and thou hang him] The Hebrews understand not this of putting him to death by hanging, but of hanging a man up after he was stoned to death; which was done for more detestation of some heinous malefactors. Their words are; We are commanded to hang the blasphemer, and the Idolater: and a man is hanged, but not a woman. After they are stoned to death, they fasten a pease of timber in the earth, and out of it there cometh a piece of wood; then they tie both his hands one to another, and hang him near unto the setting of the Sun, and let him down out of hand; and if he abide all night, it is a transgression, Deut. 21. 23. And we are commanded to bury all that are killed by the Judges, the same day that they are killed. They may not be hanged on a tree that groweth on the ground, but on that which hath been plucked up, that there may not need any cutting of it down: for the tree that he is hanged on is to be buried with him, that there be no evil memorial of him, for men to say, this is the tree whereon such a man was hanged. And so the stone wherewith the stoned is killed, and the sword wherewith a man is put to death, and the napkin wherewith he is strangled, they all are buried. Maimonides in Sanhedrin, ch. 15. sect. 6. &c. In the Scripture we have examples of Rechab and Baanah, who for murdering Ishbosheth, were by David's commandment slain, their hands and feet cut off, and they hanged up, 2 Sam. 4. 12. where their hanging seemeth to be after their death: and so in others; as Ios. 10. 26. which might also be the case of the King of Ai, Ies. 8. 29. & of those Idolaters in Num. 25. 4. And the Scripture showeth a double punishment for some heinous sins, as in Achan's family, who were burned with fire, after they were stoned, Ios. 7. 25. Among the Romans afterward they hanged or fastened them to the tree alive; and such was the death of our Lord Christ, who bare, our 〈...〉 es in his own body on the tree, 1 Pet. 2. 24. Luke 23. 33,—39.

Vers. 23. burying] in Greek, with burial thou shall bury him, that is, in any wise bury him. This was also fulfilled in our Savior's body, which was buried the same day that he was hanged on tree, John. 19. 31, 38, 42. he that is hanged] to wit, on tree, as Gal. 3. 13. This speech, as many other of like sort, is general; therefore the Greek translateth, everyone that is hanged on tree; and that interpretation the Apostle allegeth in Gal. 3. 13. the curse] that is, cursed as the Apostle expoundeth it, (according to the Greek version,) Gal. 3. 13. And here in the utmost rigor and severity of the Law God fore-signified the riches of his grace towards sinners in Christ, who redeemed us from the curse of the Law, being made a curse for us, as appeared in that he was hanged on the tree, Gal. 3. 13. He was reckoned among the transgressors, Luke 22. 37. and God made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin, that we might be made the righteousness of God in him, 2 Cor. 5. 21. The Chaldee translath, For because he sinned before the Lord, he is hanged. and thou shalt not defile the land] or, as the Greek translath, and the land shall not be defiled: which might be by the monument of God's curse remaining upon it visibly. So the burial was to abolish the curse from appearing in the Lord's land. A figure of the fruit and effect of our Savior's burial, whereby the rigor of the Law was declared to be satisfied, and all our sins defaced, and removed out of God's sight, that they shall never be imputed unto us.

CHAP. XXII.

1 The Law for our brethren's cattle strayed, or things lost. 5 The sex is to be distinguished by appa <...> 6. The dam bird is not to be taken with her young <◇> 8 The house must have battlements. 9 Confu <...> <◇> be avoided. 12 Fringes to be made upon the <◇> . 13 The punishment of him that slandereth <◇> . 20. 22. Of adultery, 25 of rape, 28 for <...> , 30 incest.

Thou shalt not see thy brothers ox or his sheep go astray, and hide thyself from them; restoring thou shalt <...> ore them unto thy brother. And if thy <◇> <...> er be not nigh unto thee, or thou <...> west him not, then thou shalt gather it <◇> thine house, and it shall be with thee un <...> thy brother seek after it, and thou shalt <...> re it unto him. And so shalt thou do <◇> his asse, and so shalt thou do with his <...> ent, and so shalt thou do with every <◇> of thy brother, which shall be lost by <◇> , and thou hast found it; thou mayest not <◇> thyself.

Thou shalt not see thy brothers asse or his ox fallen in the way, and hide thyself from them: lifting thou shalt lift them up with him.

A man's ornament shall not be upon a woman, neither shall a man put on a woman's garment; for everyone that doth these things is an abomination to Jehovah thy God.

If a birds nest chance to be before thee in the way, in any tree, or on the ground, young ones, or eggs, and the dam sitting upon the young, or upon the eggs, thou shalt not take the dam with the young. Sending thou shalt send away the dam, & the young thou shalt take unto thee, that it may be well with thee, and thou mayest prolong thy days.

When thou buildest a new house, then thou shalt make a battlement for thy roof, that thou put not bloods in thine house, if any falling fall from it.

Thou shalt not sow thy vineyard with divers kinds, lest the full-ripe fruit, the seed which thou hast sown, and the revenue of the vineyard be defiled.

Thou shalt not plow with an ox and an asse together. Thou shalt not wear linsie-woolsie, wool and flax together.

Fringes shalt thou make unto thee, upon the four skirts of thy vesture which thou coverest thee withal.

If a man take a wife, and go in unto her, and hate her, And lay against her occasions of speech, and bring forth upon her an evil name, and say, I took this woman, and I came nigh unto her, and I found her not to have virginity: Then shall the father of the damsel, and her mother, take and bring forth the virginity of the damsel unto the Elders of the city, in the gate. And the father of the damsel shall say unto the Elders, I gave my daughter unto this man to wife, & he hateth her. And loe, he hath laid against her occasions of speech, saying, I found not thy daughter to have virginity; and this is my daughters virginity: and they shall spread the cloth before the Elders of the city. And the Elders of that city shall take the man, and shall chastise him. And they shall amearse him in an hundred shekels of silver, and give them unto the father of the damsel, because he hath brought forth an evil name upon a Virgin of Israel, and she shall be his to wife; he may not send her away all his days. But if this word be truth, and virginity be not found for the damsel. Then they shall bring out the damsel unto the door of her fathers house, and the men of her city shall stone her with stones, and she shall die, because she hath done folly in Israel, to commit whoredom in her fathers house: and thou shalt put away evil from the midst of thee.

If a man be found lying with a woman married to an husband, then they shall die, even both of them; the man that lieth with the woman, and the woman: and thou shalt put away evil from Israel.

If there be a damsel a virgin betrothed to a man, and a man find her in the city, and lie with her: Then ye shall bring out both of them unto the gate of that city, and ye shall stone them with stones, and they shall die; the damsel because she cried not out in the city, and the man because he hath humbled his neighbors wife: and thou shalt put away evil from the midst of thee.

And if in the field a man do find a betrothed damsel, and the man take strong hold on her, and lie with her, then the man that lay with her shall die, he only. But unto the damsel thou shalt not do anything; there is in the damsel no sin of death: for as when a man riseth against his neighbor, and killeth him in soul, so is this matter. For he found her in the field; the betrothed damsel cried out, and there was none to save her.

If a man find a damsel a virgin, which is not betrothed, and lay hold on her, and lie with her, and they be found: Then the man that lieth with her shall give unto the damosels father fifty shekels of silver, and she shall be his to wife, because he hath humbled her; he may not send her away all his days.

A man shall not take his fathers wife, nor discover his fathers skirt.

Annotations.

Thy brothers oxen] yea though it be thine onemies, Exod. 23. 4. go astray] Hebr. driven away, or thrust out of the way, by any means of themselves, or others: as by a dog, hunted from the flock or fold, and the like. The Greek and Chaldee translate, erring in way, and going astray.

See the notes on Deut. 4. 19. This duty required towards beasts, is much more towards men; as God applieth the similitude in Ezek. 34. 4. 16. And as we all were like sheep going astray, 1 Pet. 2. 25. so are we daily subject to stray from the truth, and have need one of another's help; whereupon it is said, Brethren, if any of you do err (or go astray) from the truth, and one convert him; let him know, that he which converteth the sinner from the error of his way, shall save a soul from death, and shall hide a multitude of sins, I am. 5. 19, 20. hide thyself] that is, with-hold thine help: the Greek translateth it, wink at, that is, neglect, or not regard: See Lev. 20. 4. restoring, &c.] that is, thou shalt in any case restore, or bring again. So here are two precepts; a prohibition to hide, and a commandment to restore: and thus the Hebrews observe a double sin in them that break this Law, and sometimes a treble. He that seeth a lost thing of any Israelites, and hideth himself from it, and letteth it alone, transgresseth this prohibition, THOU SHALT NOT HIDE THY SELFE FROM THEM; and breaketh this commandment, THOU SHALT RESTORE, &c. If he take the lost thing, and restore it not, he breaketh the commandment (THOU SHALT RESTORE) and transgresseth against two prohibitions, against THOU MAIST NOT HIDE THY SELFE, (Deut. 22. 3.) and against THOU SHALT NOT ROB, (Lev. 19. 13.) Although the owner of the lost thing be a wicked man, &c. we are commanded to restore his lost thing to him. If he have restored it, and it be fled away again, though an hundred times, he is bound to restore it; for it is written, RESTORING THOU SHALT RESTORE THEM. Maim. in Misneh, tom. 4. treat of Robbery and loss, ch. 11. s. 1, 2, 14. unto thy brother] either to his own hands, or to the place where it was and should be. For, if he see a beast that is fled out of the fold, and he returneth it into the place thereof, loe he hath kept this commandment, and there is no need to make it known unto the owner, saith Maimonides ibidem, chap. 11. sect. 16.

Vers. 2. gather it] that is, take it in. into thine house] Hebr. into the midst of thine house; whereby is meant within the same, as the phrase often signifieth: See the notes on Genes. 2. 9. But this teacheth a care to keep it safe. seek after it] But he that found it, is also to use means that the owner may know of it; and the Hebrews say, He is bound to cry it, and make it known, saying, who so hath lost such a kind of thing, let him come and give the signs of it, and he shall have it. At the first, who so hath found anything, crieth it three times. After the last time, within seven days he crieth it the fourth time. If the owner come not, the thing found is to be left with him that found it; and if in all that time it be stolen, or lost, he is bound to make satisfaction; but if it be gone by violence, he is free. For he that keepeth a lost thing, is as he that keeps for hire, &c. [whereof I see the Annotations on Exod. 22. 10.] And he must have care that the thing be not marred, or perish. If it be a living thing which he must give food unto; if it be a working (beast) as an horse, asse, &c. he may put them to labor twelve months from the day that he found them, or let them out for hire, and take their hire, and give them food; and if the hire be more worth than their food, the overplus is the owners, &c. Afterwards they are sold by the Magistrates. Maimonides treat. of Robbery and loss, chap. 13. sect. 1. &c.

Vers. 3. every loss] that is, every lost thing: and by like proportion, a man is to keep his neighbors goods from loss or perishing; as, He that seeth the water to overflow, and it cometh to mar his neighbors house, or his field, he is bound to stop the same, &c. Maimonides treat. of Robbery and loss, chap. 11. sect. 20. which shall be lost] Hence the Hebrews observe, that if a man will lose his goods wittingly, men are not bound unto him. As, if he put his beast into a stable which hath no door, and he tieth it not, and so it goeth away. If he cast his purse into a place common for all, and goeth his way, or any the like, loe he loseth his goods wittingly. And though it be not lawful for him that seeth this thing, to take it for himself, he is not bound to bring it again (to the owner,) for it is said, WHICH SHALL BE LOST, to put a difference from him that loseth wittingly. Maimonides ibidem, chap. 11. sect. 11. thou mayest not] that is, it is not lawful to hide thyself, or, to let it alone. Here they put some exceptions, as they say, A priest that seeth a lost thing in a place of burial, must not defile himself to return it again, because when he keepeth one commandment of restoring the lost thing, he breaketh another commandment which saith, THEY SHALL BE HOLY (Lev. 21. 6.) and transgresseth a prohibition, HE SHALL NOT DEFILE HIMSELFE, &c. (Lev. 21. 4.) and a commandment doth not put away (or cause a man to transgresses) a prohibition and a commandment. On the contrary, If one see a thing lost, and his father say unto him, Restore it not, he must restore it, and not obey him: for if he obey his father, he is found at the time when he keepeth this commandment, HONOVR THY FATHER, that he breaketh this commandment, THOU SHALT RESTORE IT; and transgresseth this prohibition: THOU MAIST NOT HIDE THY SELFE. Maim. ibidem, c. 11. s. 18, 19.

Vers. 4. thy brothers asse] in Exod. 23. 5. he saith, thine haters asse, that men should not think these Laws bind us to do good unto our friends only. So our Savior saith, Love your enemies, do good to them that hate you. Mat. 5. 44. fallen] that is, lying under his burden, Exod. 23. 5. So ⟨◇⟩ was used before for lying, Deut. 21. 1. Though here it may be taken more generally. and hide thyselfe] that is, for bear to help him up, Exod. 23. 5. listing, &c.] or, raising thou shalt raise them up, that is, help to do it, in any case, though it be again and again. This the Hebrews understand to be another commandment from that in Exod. ⟨◇⟩ . w<sup>ch</sup> they open thus; Who so meeteth with his neighbor in the way, and his beast lying under a bur ⟨...⟩ he is commanded to unloose it from upon ⟨◇⟩ this is commanded to be done, in Exod. 23. ⟨...⟩ d he must not unloose it, and leave him presently ⟨...⟩ ghe bit way, but must lift it up with him, and again lay the burden upon him, Deut. 22. 4. this ⟨◇⟩ commandment. And if he leave him presently, and do not unloose it off him, nor load him, he breaketh a commandment which ought to be done; and transgresseth in that which ought not to be done; as it is said, THOU SHALT NOT SEE THY BROTHERS ASSE, &c. If when he is unloosed, and loaden again, he fall again, he is bound to help him up another time, yea though it be an hundred times; for it is written, HELPING THOU SHALT HELPE VP; LIFTING THOU SHALT LIFT VP. Therefore he must go a mile back with him, unless the owner say, I have no need of thee. Maimonides treat. of Murder, chap. 13. sect. 1. &c.

Vers. 5. A man's ornament] or instrument, apparel, dress. The Hebrew Cli is a general word for all instruments, vessels, ornaments, whatsoever; and here for all apparel and furniture whatsoever a man putteth on him, in time of peace, or of war: and so the Chaldee translatheth it armor, or weapons, which is also forbidden a woman to wear. And this precept concerneth natural honesty and seemelinese, which hath perpetual equity, 1 Cor. 11. 4, 5, 6, 14. And it is to prevent many evils which may arise if men and women should be clad alike. It is probable also, that this law was given in regard of the abuse among other nations, and particularly among the Egyptians, (with whom Israel had lived:) for human Writers testify that the Egyptian women did go abroad and use merchandise, &c. and the men did weave within the houses, Herodot in Euterpe. The Hebrews explain it thus; A woman may not put on a man's ornament, as to put a miter, or an helmet on her head, or to put on an habergeon, or the like, or to post her head like a man. Neither may a man put on a woman's ornament, as coloured garments, or golden jewels, in the place where men use not to wear such jewels, but women only: all, according to the custom of the country (wherein they live.) A man that putteth on a woman's attire, and a woman that putteth on a man's, is to be beaten (by the Magistrate.) Maim. treat. of Idolatry, chap. 12. sect. 10. The attire of the body spirituallly signifieth the ornaments of the mind, Psal. 1 32. 9. 16. Rev. 3. 18. so men should not change their nature, to become effeminate; as the Egyptians and Baby Ionians are threatred to be like women, Isaiah 19. 16. Ier. 50. 37. and 51. 30. And in the Churches women are to be silent, and not speak as men, 1 Cor. 14. 34. I suffer not a woman to teach, nor to usurp authority over the man, but to be in silence, 1 Tim. 2. 12. abomination to Jehovah] Hebr. the abomination of Jehovah, that is, abhorred of him, which the Chaldee expoundeth, an abomination before the LORD.

Vers. 6. chance to be] that is, if unawares thou meetest with it, or lightest upon it. So the Greek translateth, If thou meetest with a birds nest before thy face. or on the ground] or in any other place, as on the water, or the like; for these are put but for an instance, because usually birds nestle either on trees, or on the ground. So the Hebrews expound it: He that findeth a nest upon the waters, or on the back of any living creature, is bound to let the damme go. The young or the eggs are not mentioned, neither the tree or ground, but that the Scripture speaketh by an instance. Maimonides tom. 2. in Shechitah, chap. 13. sect. 17. the damme] Heb. the mother: so after, sons for young ones; which names the Scripture giveth to all living things; and the Greek and Chaldee keep the Hebrew phrase, mother and children. The Hebrews understand this precisely of the damme or female only, and say, A male that is found sitting upon a nest, is free from being sent away; (that is, a man is not bound to let it go:) Maim. ibidem, sect. 10. thou shalt not take] to wit, and kill, for that is chiefly here intended. He that taketh the damme with the young, and killeth her, the flesh is lawful to be eaten, but he is to be beaten for killing the damme. And so if she die before he let her go, he is to be beaten: but if he let her go after he hath taken her, he is free. Maim. in Shechitah, chap. 13. sect. 1. Compare herewith the Law in Lev. 22. 28. Whether it be Cow or Ewe, ye shall not kill it and her young both in one day.

Vers. 7. Sending thou shalt send] that is, in any wise send away (or let go) the damme. This showeth the strictness of the precept, which also must be done willingly, upon the former penalty. For every prohibition, after which cometh a precept affirmative, a man is bound to perform the precept concerning it; and if he perform it not, he is to be beaten. If one come and snatch the damme out of his hand, and send her away, or if she escape away from under his hand against his will, he is to be beaten; for till he send her away of himself, he performeth not the precept concerning her. If he take the damme, and clip her wings that she cannot fly, and then send her away, he is to be chastised with stripes; and he must keep her by him till her wings be grown, and then send her away. And if she die before, or be lost, he is to be beaten, for he hath not performed the commandment. If he send her away and she come again, he must send her away again, though it be four or five times; for it is said, SENDING THOU SHALT SEND HER AWAY. If one say, I will take the damme, and send away the young, he is bound to send away the damme. The, sending away of the damme is not in use, save for clean birds, &c. Maimonides in Shechitah, chap. 13. sect. 2, 3, 4, 6, 8. It is unlawful to take the damme with the young, though it be to cleanse a Leper with them, which is a thing commanded, (Lev. 14. 4.) and if he take her, he is bound to send her away: for a commandment is not of force to disannul a prohibition and a commandment; but a commandment and a prohibition do disannul a commandment. Ibidem, sect. 19. God by this Law teacheth us mercy and piety; (as it is noted for barbarous cruelty, when the mother is killed with the children, Hos. 20. 14. Gen. 32. 11.) therefore when the bird is hatching her eggs, or cherishing her young, she may not be killed. And as the Hebrews say, If she were sitting but upon one young, or one egg, a man was bound to send her away: howbeit, that if she were taken from the nest by hunting, it was lawful: the Law forbiddeth not save to hunt (or take) her when she cannot fly away for (affection to) her young which she hatcheth; as it is said, AND THE DAM SITTING UPON THE YOUNG, &c. Maimonides in Shechitah, chap. 13. sect. 16 7. And this law for compassion towards birds, teacheth compassion towards mankind much more; as when he saith, Thou shalt not mousell the exe, Deut. 25. 4. the Apostle showeth it to be written for our sakes, 1 Cor. 9. 9, 10. So the Hebrews here say, This is to lead us unto mercy, and to take out of our hearts cruelty and the like (affections), not that the intent of the commandment is to show compassion unto birds, &c. but to mankind. R. Menachem on Deut. 25. 7. fol. 210. prolong thy days] The like blessing is promised to them that honor father and mother, Deut. 5. 16. the Hebrews account that one of the great commandments; and this of the bird they count the least of all in Moses law: and yet such a promise is annexed hereunto.

Vers. 8. a new house] to wit, a dwelling house; for so the Hebrews explain it, It is commanded to make a battlement for the roof, if it be a dwelling house; but a barn, or a stable, or the like, a man is not bound concerning them. Maimonides treat, of Murder, chap. 11. sect. 1. a battlement] in Greek, a crown: which was to compass the roof of the house round about, to keep men from falling off. For in Israel the houses had flat roofs, on which men walked, 2 Sam. 11. 2. and from thence they called and spake to the people: whereupon Christ speaketh of preaching, and proclaiming upon the house tops, Matt. 10. 27. Luke 12. 3. The heighth of the battlement might not be less than ten hand-bredths [six of which hand-bredths made a cubit] and it was to be strong, that a man might lean thereon, and not fall. Maimonides treat. of Murder, chap. 11. sect. 3. that thou put not] or, and thou shalt not put bloods, which the Greek translateth, and thou shalt not make man-slaughter in thy house; and the Chaldee, for bloods, saith guilt of murder, as the word bloods often signifieth: see Gen. 4. 10. By this it appeareth, that all other occasions of blood-shed were to be prevented in other places, as well as on house tops. Which the Hebrews declare thus; Whether it be the house top, or any other thing, wherein there is danger and likelihood that a man may fall and die; and if a man have a pit or Well in his yard, have it water in it, or not, he is bound to make a fence about it ten hand-bredths high, or to make a cover over it, that no man fall therein and die. And so any stumbling block whereby there is danger of life, a man is commanded to remove the same, and to beware thereof, and to give warning of the thing very heedfully. Otherwise if he remove them not, but leave stumbling blocks that may bring into danger, he breaketh a commandment, and transgresseth this prohibition, of PVTING BLOVDS. Maim. treat. of Murder, chap. 11. sect. 4.

Vers. 9. thy vineyard] nor any other field, Lev. 19. 19. divers kinds] or mixtures, as wheat and barley together, or the like. See the Annotations on Lev. 19. 19. The Hebrews divide seeds into three sorts. The first of them is called Tebuah, (Revenue,) and it comprehendeth the five kinds of grain, Wheat, Rye, Barley, Fox-ear-barley, and Oats. The second of them is called Ketannith (pulse,) and it cōprehendeth all seeds which are eaten of men, besides the Revenue (aforesaid,) as Beanes, Pease, Lentiles, Millet, Rice, &c. and such like. The third of them are called Garden seeds; and they are all other seeds which are not meet for man's meat, but the fruit of the seed is man's meat: as the seed of Onions, and of Garlicke, and of Rapes, and such like. And flax seed is comprehended under the general of garden seeds. And all these seeds when they are grown up, and all the while the seed is not discerned, are called Herbs. Maimonides tom. 3. in Kilajim, chap. 1. sect. 8. Now of this Law concerning vineyards they write thus; Nothing is forbidden by the name of divers kinds in the vineyard, but the kinds of the revenue (of corn,) and the kinds of herbs only: other kinds of seeds are lawful to be sown in the vineyard; and I need not say other trees. It is unlawful to sow herbs or corn by the vines sides, or to plant a vine by the sides of herbs or corn. Whether a man plant, or let them grow, when he seeth divers kinds spring up in his vineyard, if he leave them so, it is defiled. Maim. ibidem, chap. 5. sect. 6, 7, 8. the full-ripe fruit] Heb. the fullness (or plenty) which the Greek translath here, the fruit: elsewhere the first-fruits: see Exod. 22. 29. and Num. 18. 27. By the Hebrews, a vineyard whiles the grapes were unripe, was not defiled: and unripe grapes were lawful for use. Maim. in Kilajim, chap. 5. sect. 14. the seed] the Greek addeth, and the seed, which thou shalt sow with the fruit of thy vineyard. Others understand, the fruit of the seed. and the renew] or, income, increase. The Scripture useth this word for the increase of the corn or floor, and of the vine or winepress, Num. 18. 30. So it may be taken here, for either, or for both of them; for both were defiled. The Hebrews apply this word to the five kinds of grain fore-noted, and unto them also when they are eared, and before they be threshed: as in another place they say, The five kinds, namely Wheat, Barley, Rie, Fox-earebarley, and Oats, these five when they are eared, are called Tebuah (Revenue) in every place; and after that they be threshed and winowed, they are called Dagan (Corn or Graine;) and when they are ground, and their meal kneaded and baked, they are called Path (Bread) Maimonides tom. 1. treat. of Blessings, chap. 3. sect. 1. be defiled] or be sanctified, as the Hebrew word properly and usually signifieth; and so the Greek translath, that it be not sanctified. Whereby some understand that the fruit should be separated from common use, and made holy to the Lord, and be eaten by the Priests. But words oft times have contrary significations, as, Barac to Bless, is used for Cursing or Blaspheming, 1 King. 21. 10. 13. Chesed is Piety and Impiety, Lev. 20. 17. So this word here is by the Chaldee paraphrast translated defiled; and by the other Hebrews elsewhere so expounded. The divers kinds (or mixtures) of the vineyard, as any of the sorts of corn, or sorts of herbs that are sown with a vine, whether an Israelite sow them, or an heathen, &c. both of them are unlawful to be eaten, or put to any use (or profit) as it is written, (in Deut. 22. 9.) LEST IT BE DEFILED, &c. as if he should say, lest both of them be made abominable and unlawful. And whoso eateth ought of the mixtures of a vineyard, either of the herbs, or of the grapes, is to be beaten by the Law. Maimonides tom. 2. treat. of Forbidden meats, chap. 10. sect. 6, 7. The same Author in tom. 3. treat. Kilajim, chap. 5. layeth down also these canons: He that soweth two kinds of corn, or two kinds of herbs, with the seed of the vineyard, he is to be twice beaten; once for this, Thou shalt not sow thy field with divers kinds, (Lev. 19. 19.) and again for this, Thou shalt not sow thy vine-yard with divers kinds, (Deut. 22. 9.) A man is not to be beaten for sowing divers kinds in the vineyard, until he sow within the land of Israel, &c. But our Doctors have forbidden to sow divers kinds in the vineyard, though out of the land, because the divers kinds in the vineyard are weighty; for if they be sown within the land of Israel, they are unlawful to be used: and seeing they are unlawful for any use within the land, they are unlawful to be sown without the land. It is unlawful to sow herbs or corn by a vines side, or to plant a vine-tree by herbs or by corn; and if a man do so, though he is not to be beaten, yet both of them are defiled, and not to be put to any use, either the herbs, or the corn, or the vine, but they burn them both, as it is written, LEST THE FVLL-RIPE FRVIT &c. BE DEFILED: though it be the straw of the corn, or the wood of the vine-tree, they are unlawful for any use, but they burn them; neither may they heat an oven, or a cauldron, or boil anything with them when they burn them. These and sundry like observations they have hereabouts, not altogether without probability: and herein the mixtures of the vineyard exceed the mixtures of the field, which they think might be used and eaten, though it was sin to sow them, as is noted on Levite. 19. 19. This Law, with other such like, was typical, and pertained to the rudiments of Moses Law: whereby it seemeth unto me, God taught them the simple and sincere estate of his Church. For in mystery, the vineyard of the Lord of hosts was the house of Israel, and the men of Judah the plant of his pleasures, Isaiah 5. 7. and he planted them a noble vine, wholly a right (or true) seed; though they turned into degenerate branches of a strange vine unto him, Ier. 2. 21. Now also the Church is a vineyard, Christ himself the vine, and we the branches, John. 15. 1. 5. and this vineyard God would not have sown with divers kinds, or mixed with the profane and unbelievers, lest all be defiled, 2 Cor. 6. 14,—18. Matt. 3. 7,—10. Rev. 21. 24,—27.

Vers. 10. with an ox and an asse] the ox was a clean beast, the asse an unclean: the Hebrews understand this law generally; plowing, for all work; and the ox and the asse, for all clean and unclean beasts together. *Whosoever doth work with two kinds of cattle or beasts together, and the one of them is of a clean kind, and the other of an unclean, loe he is to be beaten in every place, Deut: 22. 10. Whether he plow, or sow, or draw a wagon or a stone with them together, &c. he is to be beaten. And whether it be ox and asse, or any two kinds, whereof one is unclean and the other clean, either of cattle, as a swire and a sheep; or of wild beasts, as a wild ox and an elephant; or beasts with cattle, as a dog with a goat, or the like; for any of these he is by the Law to be beaten. If a wagon be drawn with beasts of divers kinds, he that sitteth on the wagon is to be beaten: and if one sit on the wagon, and another guide it, they are both beaten; yea though they be an hundred that guide it, they are all beaten. It is lawful to do work with a man and a beast together: for the Law saith, WITH AN OXE AND AN ASSE; it saith not, with a man and an asse, or with a man and an ox. A (clean) beast that is become polluted (or unfit) for sacrifice, though it be but one body, yet the Scripture maketh it as two bodies, for that it was holy, and was made as holy and as profane mixed together; and this beast is found as a clean beast with an unclean beast mixed in one; as it is said (in Lev. 27. 11.) IF IT BE AN VNCLEANE BEAST, OF WHICH THEY DOE NOT OFFER A SACRIFICE TO THE LORD: we have been taught, that this is not spoken but of beasts disabled for sacrifice. Therefore he that ploweth with an ox disabled for sacrifice is to be beaten as for mixed kinds; but this prohibition is come by tradition. Maimonides in Kilajim, chap. 9. sect. 7.—11. This Law was also typical, and bindeth not us now, according to the letter, but figured out the Ministers in the Church, as did the ox that treadeth out the corn, which might not be muzzed, Deut. 25. compared with 1 Cor. 9. 8. 9.—11. 1 Tim. 5. 17, 4. 18. These in the Lord's plow, (that is, in the ministry of his word, Luk. 9. 62.) must not be mixed of clean and unclean, of the servants of Christ and of Antichrist, *2 Cor. 6. 14, 15.

Vers. 11. linsie-wolfie] in Hebrew, Shagnatnez, expounded in Greek, Kibdela, which signifieth things adulterate, or impurely mixed. Moses explaineth it after, saying, wool and flax together, unto which only the Hebrews restrain it, as is more largely noted on Lev. 19. 19. This Law was also figurative: the garments of the Saints are principally Christ himself, as it is written, Put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, Rom. 13. 14. he hath given unto his church, that she should be arrayed in fine linen, clean and bright, which is the righteousness of the Saints, Rev. 19. 8. that we may be found in him, not having our own justice (or righteousness) which is of the Law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness of God by faith, Phil. 3. 9. There are also other virtues and graces of the spirit, wherewith the faithful are adorned, which are good works, 1 Tim. 2. 9, 10. 1 Pet. 3. 3, 4. but in the case of our justification before God, these may not be mixed together, for a man is justified by faith, without the deeds of the Law, Rom. 3. 28. Gal. 2. 16. And as by the letter of this Law, in the Hebrews account, one thread of wool in a linen garment, or one linen thread in a woollen garment, made it unlawful, (as is noted on Lev. 19. 19.) though linen or woollen garments were worn severally: so justification by faith in Christ, and by our own good works, are so opposite, as that they cannot agree together in one man by any manner of mixture, in the case of justification before God; but, if it be by grace, there is it no more of works; otherwise grace is no more grace: and if it be of works, then is it no more grace, otherwise work is no more work, Rom. 11. 6. Gal. 3. 10. wool and flax] that is, woollen and linen together, which the Greek translateth, in the same: the Chaldee, wool and flax joined (or mixed) together.

Vers. 12. Fringes] in Hebrew Gedilim, which elsewhere is translated, wreathes, in 1 King. 7. 17. and the wreathes spoken of in Exod. 28. 24. and the ropes (or cords) in Judge. 16. 11, 12. are by the Chaldee translated, Gedilan: and the Greek here expoundeth it Strepta, that is, wreathes, or cords: for they were twisted threads or thrumbs, which hung upon their garments. Moses called them before Tsitsith, Num. 15. 38. of the looks of hair like which they did hang. These are the same, though called here by another name; and the Chaldee translateth both Tsitsith and Geddim, by the word Cruspedin, which is borrowed of the Greek Craspeda, which name the holy Ghost giveth to these Fringes, in Matt. 23. 5. where Christ blameth the Pharisees hypocrisy for making their phylacteries broad, and (craspeda) the fringes of their garments large. The making of these by the Jews, is shown on Num. 15. 38. &c. Here Moses having repeated the mysteries concerning the Church, in verse. 9. of the ministry, in verse. 10. and of the doctrine, in verse. 11. addeth to them this law of the fringes, which were signs annexed to the word, and visible tokens, for them to look upon, and remember all the commandments of the Lord, and do them, and be holy unto their God, Num. 15. 39, 40. See more in the Annotations on that place.

Vers. 13. take a wife] that is, marry her: for the taking is after the betrothing or espousalls, Matt. 1. 18. 20. And before marriage, the betrothed persons might not come together, as the equity of this Law following showeth. So by the Hebrews: The spouse is to be restrained from her husband, by the doctrine of the Scribes, all the while she is in her fathers house: and he that lieth with his spouse in his father in laws house, is to be chastised with stripes. Maimonides in treat, of Wives, chap. 10. sect. 1. After in the same place he showeth the manner of marriage among them, that it was to be with blessings (or thanksgivings) unto God, in an assembly of ten men at the least, and with a dowry bill which the Scrivener wrote and the bridegroom paid for, whereby he endowed his spouse, if she were a virgin, with two hundred dinars [that is, fifty shekels,] and if she had been married before, with 100. dinars, [that is, 25. shekels] and this was called the root (or principal) of the dowry: the dowry might not be less, but more so much as he would, though it were to a talent of gold. After the dowry bill was confirmed by witnesses, the bridegroom went with his spouse into the privy chamber (or closet, such as is mentioned in Joel 2. 16.) and this was the consummation of the marriage. And who so married a virgin was to rejoice with her seven days, (as Gen. 29. 27. Judge. 14. 10. 12.) and with a widow three days, not doing any work those days, but eating, drinking, and rejoicing. go in] into the chamber, Judge. 15. 1. and by consequence, lie with her. The Greek translath, dwel (or house) together with her: which word the Apostle useth, 1 Pet. 3. 7. hate her] which ought not to be towards any, least of all towards his wife, whom he ought to love as his own body; for no man ever yet hated his own flesh, Ephes. 5. 28, 29.

Vers. 14. lay against her] or, put upon her. occasions of speech] or, of words, that is, of evil words: or, pretenses of words, that is, pretended words, or pretended matters. So the Greek translath, pretended words; they are such as have a color and show of truth, to excuse and hide his hatred; as long prayers were a pretense for the covetousness of the Pharisees, Matt. 23. 14. But pretense and truth are opposed in Phil. 1. 18 So here, and verse. 20. bring forth] whether before the parents and friends, or unto the Magistrates, accusing her before them. Some think this latter to be meant, and as the Hebrews describe it, when he cometh unto the Court and saith, I married this damsel, and I found her not to have virginity, and when I inquired into the matter, it was made known to me that she had played the whore under me, after I was betrothed to her, and these are my witnesses that for played the whore before them. And the Judges shall hear the words of the witnesses, and examine their testimony: if the thing be found true, she is to be stoned. Maim. tom. 2. in Nagnarah bethulah, ch. 3. sect. 6. But by the order of the text, the former seemeth as probable. to have virginity] Hebr. I found not to her virginities. The Greek thus; and coming unto her, I found not her virginity.

Vers. 15. the father] to whom the injury extended, if she were falsely defamed, or if she had played the whore, verse. 21. and to whom the defense of the daughter did most fitly appertain. of the damsel] The word Nagnarah (damsel) is properly a maid marriageable, which of the Hebrews is reckoned after twelve years of age: before that age, she is called a little one or child; and after also, if she have not signs that she is marriageable; [such as are mentioned in Ezek. 16. 7.] After those signs she is called Nagnarah (adamosell,) till six months complete, and no longer: from that day and forward, she is called Bogereth. Maimonides treat. of Wives, chap. 2. sect. 1. 3. Both these, Nagnarah (the damsel) and Bogereth, are subject to the punishment here appointed, if they be not found virgins. Maimonides in Nagn. beth••ah, chap. 3. sect. 7. the virginity] that is, the signs of her virginity, in the cloth, verse. 17. and witnesses also, (as the Hebrews say,) that they are so. the Elders] in Greek, the senate: that is, the Magistrates. This was the Senate of 23. Judges, for they were to put her to death if she were guilde, v. 21. They judge not this judgment but in the Court of three and twenty; because there is in the judgment of him that bringeth forth an evil name, the judgment of life & death; for if the thing be found as he saith, then she is killed. But he that forc•th a maid, Deut. 22. 28. and he that intiseth her, Exod. 22. 16. they judge of them at all times, in the Court of three. Maimonides in Nagnarah bethulah, chap. 3. sect. 3. the gate] the Chaldee addeth, the gate of the judgment hall of the place.

Vers. 17. occasions] or, pretenses; in Greek, pretended words (or matters) as verse. 14 ﴿﴾ this is] that is, these are the proofs, or the signs, as verse. 15. Hebr. these are the virginities. the cloth] wherein the signs were to be seen.

Vers. 18. the man] the husband of the damsel that is found to have accused his wife falsely. chastise him] in the Chaldee, beat him; which was the next punishment unto death. The Hebrews say: If the father bring witnesses, which do disprove the witnesses which the husband brought, and it be found that they have witnessed a falsehood, then they are stoned [to death, according to the law, in Deut. 19. 18, 19.] and he [the husband] is beaten, & amerced in an hundred shekels. And of this it is said (in v. 17.) THESE are MY DAUGHTERS VIRGINITIES; these are the witnesses that disprove her husbands witnesses. If her husband again bring other witnesses which do disprove her fathers witnesses, then the damsel and her fathers witnesses are stoned, verse. 20. 21. Maim. in Nagn<sup>a</sup> bethulah, chap. 3. sect, 6.

Vers. 19. amerse] or mulct; fine him. hundred shekels] the word shekels is added both in the Greek and Chaldee versions, and usually is to be understood when the Hebrew nameth silver only: see the notes on Gen. 20. 16. where also it is shown what a shekel was. An hundred shekels was the double dowry of virgins: see after in verse. 29. unto the father] and if she were fatherless, then he gave them unto her self, saith Maimonides in Nagnarah bethulah, chap. 3. sect. 1. a virgin of Israel] in Greek, a virgin an Israelitess. Hereupon the Hebrews say, that if she were an heathen that was become a Proselytesse, or a bondwoman that had her freedom, &c. he that brought forth an evil name upon her, was free both from the mulct, and from beating. They have also other like exceptions, which seem not approvable; as, that if she were a girl under years, or an ancient maid, that had past the flour of her age; though such maids for playing the whoreafter they were betrothed, were to die; yet the man that brought an evil name upon them, was free from the mulct, and from beating. Maimonides in Nagnarah, chap. 3. sect. 2. 8. he may not] or, he cannot send her away, to wit, by a bill of divorce, as other men were permitted to put away their wives, Deut. 24. 1. It is commanded by the Law, that the woman upon whom he hath brought an evil name, should abide under him forever, Deut. 22. 19. and if he put her away, he transgresseth against a prohibition, HE MAY NOT PVT HER AWAY, and he is to be compelled to take her again. And if another do first betroth himself to her, or if she die, or if he be a priest, who may not take a divorced woman, (Lev. 21. 7.) then he is to be beaten for putting her away. Maimonides in Nagnarah, chap. 3. sect. 4. As it was a greater sin for a man to defame his wife, than another person; so the punishment is greater: for they that defamed their neighbors were but beaten; but he that defamed his wife was beaten and amerced, and never suffered to put her away, which was permitted to other men: Deut. 24. 1. 2.

Vers. 20. be truth] so proved by certain evidence, or by witnesses, as before is shown; and agreeable to the Law, in Deut. 17. 4, 5, 6. For the Hebrews acknowledge, that those tokens might sometime be wanting in virgins, and yet they not defiled; and therefore the Judges were to examine, whether her progenitors wanted their fluors, or she herself had not had some great sickness, or other like accident, whereby those signs might fail. Maimonides treat. of Wives chap. 11. sect. 12.

Vers. 21. her fathers house] that where the sin was done, there it might be punished. folly] in Chaldee, ignominy; which was not only evil in her, but a reproach to her father, and scandal to the whole Church: See the notes on Gen. 34. 7. where this phrase is first used. whoredom in her fathers house] and (as the Hebrews think,) under her betrothed husband: for otherwise if her fault had been done before she was betrothed, and it were known, she was not to die, Exod. 22. 16, 17. This which is said (in Deut. 22. 20.) IF THIS WORD BETRVTH, she shall be killed, (is) when she hath committed whoredom after the betrothing before witnesses: but before the betrothing, the Law hath already said of her, that she is free from anything; and he that lay with her is bound to make recompense with goods only, whether he had enticed her, or forced her. Maim. in Nagn. bethulah, c. 3. sect. 12. If this punishment were for her whoredom before she was betrothed; it showeth God's severity against such as deceive their husbands in such sort, and dishonored their fathers house. So a priests daughter playing the whore, is said to profane her father, Levite. 21. 8.

Vers. 22. they shall die] in Greek, ye shall kill them both. The manner of their death was either by stoning, as may be gathered by John. 8. 4, 5. or, as the Hebrews say, by strangling: see the Annotations on Levite. 20. 10.

Vers. 23. betrothed] or espoused, which was, by mutual promise, in the presence of witnesses, before marriage, Matt. 1. 18. It might be done in Israel (as the Hebrews write) three ways; by a piece of money, or by a writing, or by copulation. By a piece of money, though it were but a farthing, or the worth thereof; and the man said, be thou betrothed unto me, or mine espoused wife by this; and he gave it her before witnesses. By Bill, and then he wrote, be thou betrothed unto me, or the like, and he gave it her before witnesses; and it must be written with her name in it, and with her knowledge and consent, else it was no betrothing. By copulation; and then he said, loe thou shalt be betrothed unto me by this copulation, and so he was united unto her before two witnesses; and after copulation she was his betrothed wife. If he lay with her by way of fornication, and not by the name of betrothing; or if it were by themselves without witnesses, it was no betrothing. And he might not lie with her the second time, before they were married. And though the betrothing might be any of these three ways, yet usually it was by a piece of money; and if they would, they might do it by writing: but betrothing by copulation, was forbidden by the wise men of Israel, and who so did it, was chastised with rods; howbeit, the betrothing stood in force. And it was required, that they should bless God, before the contract was made; as is shown at large, by Maimonides treat. of Wives chap. 3. and 10. and Ios. Karo in Shulehan aruch, treat. or Espousals, chap. 1. in the city] or town, or any place of resort of people, where she might cry out and be reskued. The city is named for an instance, because therein are store of people.

Vers. 24. she cried not] as is presumed, because she was in the city: and so consenting to the sin, she is gniltie of death. The Hebrews say, Whosoever is lien with in the city, it is certainly presumed that she was enticed, because she cried not out: unless witnesses do testify that she was forced; as that (the man) drew a sword at her, and said, If thou cry I will kill thee. Maimonides in Nagnarah bethulah, chap. 1. sect 2. humbled] that is, defiled, as Gen. 34. 2. neighbors wife] so she is called after her betrothing, as here, so in Gen. 29. 21. Matt. 1. 20.

Vers. 25. in the field] or any solitary place, where if she cry she cannot be heard: opposed to the city, in verse. 23. take strong hold on her] or, as the Greek translatheth, force her.

Vers. 26. thou shalt not] in Greek, ye shall not, speaking to Israel. anything] Hebr. a word. sin of death] that is, sin worthy of death, killeth him in soul] that is, so as that he taketh away his soul, or life. In Greek, killeth his soul, this matter] Heb. this word.

Vers. 27. cried out] as is presumed in charity, unless the contrary be proved: as verse. 24. Whosoever is lien with in the field, it is certainly presumed that she was forced; and they judge her with the judgment of a woman forced, unless witnesses do testify that she lay with him willingly. Maimonides in Nagnarah bethulah, chap. 1. sect. 2. none to save] or no savior, that is, as the Greek and Chaldee explaineth, no helper or deliverer.

Vers. 28. lay hold on her] the Greek translatheth, force her. Herein this differeth from the law in Exod. 22. 16, 17. which was for such as consented being enticed.

Vers. 29. to the damosels father] or, to herself, if she have no father. Maimonides in Nagn. bethulah, chap. 1. sect. 9. shekels] this word is added in the Chaldee and Greek, as before in verse. 19. And 50. shekels, as the Hebrews write, was the least dowry that virgins might have, and is called in Exod. 22. 17. the dowry of virgins; and was the weight of fifty shekels of fine silver. Maimonides in Nagnarah, chap. 1. sect. 1. and every shekel weighed 320. grains of barley, as is noted on Gen. 20. 16. and these fifty shekels were the mulct for lying with her only; and he that forced the maid was bound also (as the Hebrews show) to pay for her shame, and for her pain, and for her blot: and he that enticed a maid (as in Exod. 22. 16.) paid but three things, the forfeit of 50. shekels, and for her shame, and for her blot. The forfeit, that is alike for all; whether a man lie with the high Priests daughter, or with a strangers daughter, or bastards, the forfeit (or mulct) is fifty shekels; but the shame, and the blot, and the pain, are not alike for all, but determined by the Judges, according to the age and dignity of the damsel. The inticer payeth not the mulct, unless he do not marry her, (Exod. 22. 17.) he payeth only for the shame and blot  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  but he that forceth her payeth all four out of hand. Maimonides in Nagn. bethulah, ch. 2. sect. 1, &c. See also the Annotations on Exod. 21. 19. humbled] or afflicted, that is, defiled her. And hence the Hebrews gather, that the man was to pay also for her pain, or smart, as is before noted. not send her away] not give her a bill of divorce, as other men might, Deut. 24. 1. See before on verse. 19. Here the Hebrews say; If the high Priest force a maid, or entice her, he may not marry her, because he is commanded to take a virgin, (Lev. 21. 13.) and at that time when he taketh this woman, she is not a virgin: and if he do take her, she is to go out again by bill (of divorce.) If (another man) transgress, and send her away, they compel him to take her again, and he is not beaten: but if the divorced woman die, or be betrothed to another, before he take her again; or if it were a Priest, that might not take a divorced woman, (Lev. 21. 7.) such a one is to be beaten, because he transgresseth against a prohibition [HE MAY NOT SEND HER AWAY] and he cannot fulfill the commandment concerning her, SHE SHALL BE HIS TO WIFE. Maim. in Nagn. ch. 1. sect. 6, 7.

Vers. 30. not take] to wife, much less abuse by whoredom or incest, his fathers wife: and by this one, all other incestuous marriages and copulations are forbidden; against which the Law is given at large in Lev. 18. See the Annotations there. his fathers skirt] in Greek, his fathers covering: So in Deut. 27. 20. where a curse is upon him that doth this. It meaneth the skirt or covering which his father only might uncover, and not he. In Levite. 18. 7. it is called his fathers nakedness, in like sense.

CHAP. XXIII.

⟨◇⟩ Who may or may not enter into the Congregation. ⟨◇⟩ Uncleanness to be avoided in the host. 15 Of the fugitive servant. 17 Against filthiness, 18 a ⟨...⟩ enable sacrifices, 19 and Vsuric. 20 Of Vowes. 24 What liberty a man had in his neighbors vineyard, or field.

HEe that is wounded in the stones, or hath his privy member cut off, shall not enter into the Church of Jehovah.

A bastard shall not enter into the Church of Jehovah; even to his tenth generation, he shall not enter into the Church of Jehovah.

An Ammonite or a Moabite shall not enter into the Church of Jehovah, even to their tenth generation, he shall not enter into the Church of Jehovah forever. Because that they met you not with bread and with water, in the way when ye came forth out of Egypt, and that he hired against thee Balaam the son of Beor, from Pethor of Mesopotamia, to curse thee. But Jehovah thy God would not hearken unto Balaam; and Jehovah thy God turned for thee the curse into a blessing, because Jehovah thy God loved thee. Thou shalt not seek their peace, or their good all thy days forever.

Thou shalt not abhor an Edomite, because he is thy brother; thou shalt not abhor an Egyptian, because thou wast a stranger in his land. The sons which shall be borne unto them in the third generation, any of them shall enter into the Church of Jehovah.

When the campe goeth forth against thine enemies, then keep thee from every evil thing. If there be in thee a man that is not clean, by reason of an accident in the night, then shall he go forth out of the campe, he shall not come in within the campe. But it shall be at the looking forth of the evening, he shall bathe him-self in water: and when the Sun is gone down, he shall come in within the campe.

And thou shalt have a place without the campe, and shalt go forth thither without. And thou shalt have a paddle upon thy weapon; and it shall be when thou sittest down without, then thou shalt dignity therewith, and shalt turn back and cover that which cometh from thee. For Jehovah thy God walketh in the midst of thy campe to deliver thee, and to give up thine enemies before thee, therefore thy campe shall be holy, that he see not in thee the uncleanness of anything, and turn away from after thee.

Thou shalt not deliver up a servant unto his master, which is escaped unto thee from his master. He shall dwell with thee in the midst of thee, in the place which he shall choose, in one of thy gates, where it is good for him: thou shalt not vex him.

There shall not be a whore of the daughters of Israel, neither shall there be a whoremonger of the sons of Israel. Thou shalt not bring the hire of an whore, or the price of a dog, into the house of Jehovah thy God, for any vow; for even both of them are abomination to Jehovah thy God.

Thou shalt not lend upon biting-usury unto thy brother, usury of money, usury of meat, usury of anything that is lent upon usury. Unto a stranger thou mayest lend upon biting usury; but unto thy brother thou shalt not lend upon biting usury, that Jehovah thy God may bless thee in all that thou settest thine hand unto, in the land whither thou art going in to possess it.

When thou shalt vow a vow unto Jehovah thy God, thou shalt not delay to pay it; for Jehovah thy God requiring will require it of thee, and it would be sin in thee. And if thou shalt forbear to vow, it shall not be sin in thee. That which is gone out of thy lips thou shalt keep and do, according as thou hast vowed unto Jehovah thy God, a voluntary offering which thou hast spoken with thy mouth.

When thou comest into thy neighbors vineyard, then thou mayest eat grapes as thy soul (desireth) thy fill, but into thy vessel thou shalt not put any.

When thou comest into the standing corn of thy neighbor, then thou mayest pluck the ears with thine hand; but thou shalt not move a sickle unto thy neighbors standing corn.

Annotations.

Wounded in the stones] or, wounded in any of his stones; for the word is singular, and properly signifieth a bruising or crushing, applied here to the wounding of a man in his secret parts, which might be done either with beating and bruising, or with cutting of the sinews, or whole member, or part thereof. The Greek translatheth it Thladias, which signifieth one that hath his stones broken, or is gelded. This law the Hebrews understand of such only as are wounded or gelded by the hand of man, not such as are so made of God. If the stones be cut off, or one of them, or if one of them be wounded, &c the man is not allowable [to enter into the Church of the Lord.] Or if the finews of the stones, or any of them, be cut or wounded, &c. he is not allowable. Always provided that it be not by the hand of God, but be cut or wounded by man, or by dog, or by thorn, or such like things. For, if he be borne with his privy-member cut off, or wounded in the stones, or be borne without stones, or through fervent sickness these members decay, or the like: loe he is allowable to enter into the Church, for all these are by the hand of God. It is unlawful to corrupt (or mar) the members of generation, either in man, or in beast, or in wild beast, or in fowl, either unclean, or clean. And whosoever geldeth (or maketh an Eunuch) is to be beaten by the Law, yea though he geldeth after another hath gelded; as if one cutteth off the privy member, and another cometh and cutteth off the stones, or pulleth them off, and another cometh and cutteth the sinews of the stones, &c. they are all beaten. Maimonides tom. 2. in Issure biah, chap. 16. sect. 6,—10. privy-member] either the yard, or stones, or any one, or part of them: for the Hebrew Shophcah (which hath the name of shedding the seed,) implieth both: though by the Hebrews it is applied to the yard, or a part thereof. And so among the Turks at this day they make their Eunuchs by cutting off the privities: and the Greek translatheth, him that is cut, or, that hath (his privy member) cut off. not enter] or, not come in into the church (or in the congregation) of the Lord. That is, he shall not be admitted into the Common-wealth of Israel, either to minister, or bear office, or to take a wife of them, or the like. As it is said of the Priests, to come in (or enter) into the house of the Lord, that is, to minister, 1 Chron. 14. 29. and to go out and come in before the people, 2 Chron. 1. 10. is expounded to judge the people, 1 King. 3. 9. It is also said of Solomon, he loved many strange women of the nations concerning which the LORD had said unto the sons of Israel, ye shall not go in (or enter) to them, neither shall they come in (or enter) unto you, 1 King. 11. 1, 2. that is, as the Chaldee there expoundeth, not be mixed. So Jesus charged Israel, that they should not go in (or enter; in Chaldee, mix themselves) among the nations, Ios. 23. 7. and upon the reading of this Law to Israel returned from captivity, they separated from them all the mixed multitude, Nehem. 13. 1, 2, 3. And of this here the Hebrews say, He that is wounded in the stones, or hath the privy-member cut off, if he marry with a daughter of Israel, & lie with her, he is to be beaten, Deut. 23. 1. & it is lawful for them to marry women Proselytes, & bond women that are made free: and though he be a Priest that is wounded in the stones, he may take such a woman, because he is not in his holiness, [that is, may not do the Priests office, Lev. 21. 17. 21.] but he that is so wounded, may not marry her that is a bastard. Maim. in Issure biah, c. 16. s. 1, 2. This is to be understood of such as though they were wounded in some part, yet were able enough for generation. Neither can this be meant of joining to the faith & religion of Israel, or entering into the Church in that respect: for that was lawful for all, Exod. 12. 48, 49. Num. 15. 14, 15. Howbeit some such strangers as were joined to the the Lord, yet remained after a sort separated from his people, as the complaint of such, and the Lord's comfortable answer unto them, in Isaiah 56. 3. 6, 7. showeth. And so for the Eunuchs in the same place, verse. 3. 4, 5 The Hebrews say, Servants which are baptized by the name of servitude, and do take upon them the commandments which servants are bound unto, they go out from the generality of heathens, but come not into the generality (or common state) of Israelites. Therefore a bondwoman is unlawful (to be married) to one that is free borne, whether she be his own bondwoman, or his neighbors; and who so goeth in to a bondwoman, is to be scourged by the doctrine of the Scribes. Loe, it is expressed in the Law, (Exod. 21. 4.) that a Master may give a Canaanitess bondwoman to his Hebrew servant, and she is lawful for him. Maimonides in Issure biah, ch. 12. s. 11. See after on v. 3.

Vers. 2. Abastard] in Hebrew Mamzer, which meaneth one borne of a stranger, that is not a lawful wife: and so the Greek translatheth it here, Of an whore: in Zach. 9. 6. the Greek hath Allogenes, an Alien, or one of another generation. The Hebrews say, The bastard (Mamzer) spoken of in the Law, is he that cometh (or is borne) of any of the nakednesses, (that is, the incestuous and unlawful copulations, forbidden in Levite. 18.) except of her that is separated for uncleanness, (Levite. 18. 19.) for he that is borne of her is blotted, but is not a bastard: but who so goeth into the other nakednesses (or unlawful copulations) whether by force, or willingly, presumptuously, or ignorantly, begetteth a bastard. And whether they be males or females, they are forbidden (to enter into the Church) forever; as it is written, EVEN TO THE TENTH GENERATION, which is as if he should say, forever. Whether a bastard man do marry an Israelitess, or an Israelite marry a bastard woman, when they have lien together, they are beaten. It is lawful for him that is a bastard to marry her that is a stranger, and for her that is a bastard to be married to him that is a stranger: but the children of them both are bastards, for that which is borne goeth after the blotted person: for it is said, INTO THE CONGREGATION OF THE LORD; and the congregation of heathens is not called the congregation of the LORD. A stranger that marrieth a daughter of Israel, or an Israelite that marrieth her that is a stranger, begetteth an Israelite in every respect, which may not lawfully marry her that is a bastard. Maimonides in Issure biah, ch. 15. s. 1, 2, 7, 9. to his tenth generation] or, to the tenth generation, he himself shall not enter: so in v. 3. where the tenth generation, is expounded, forever; because ten is a complete number.

Vers. 3. An Ammonite, or a Moabite] For their special unkindness and sin, these people's had a special punishment above others, that these men might never be admitted into full communion with the commonwealth of Israel, as other nations might: but this the Hebrews restrain to the men only, not to the women; for Ruth the Moabitesse was married unto Boaz, Ruth 4. Their words are; All heathens whosoever, when they are become Proselytes, and have taken upon them all the commandments which are in the Law; likewise servants when they are made free, loe they are as Israelites in all respects, Num. 15. 15. and it is lawful for them to come into the Church of the LORD, out of hand. And the Proselyte or free man may marry a daughter of Israel; and the Israelite may marry her that is a Proselyte, or made free; except of four people's only, which are Ammon, and Moab, and Edom, and Egypt: for these people's, when any of them becometh a Proselyte, he is as an Israelite in all respects, save in the case of entering into the congregation. The Ammonite and the Moabite are forbidden forever, the males, but not the females, Deut. 23. 3. We have it as a tradition of Moses from mount Sinai, that the Ammonite is the male, and the Moabite is the male, which is forbid forever to marry a daughter of Israel, though it be his sons son, to the worlds end. But an Ammonitesse, and a Moabitesse are lawful out of hand, as the other people's. Maim. in Issure biah, c. 12. s. 17, 18. But if the women of Moab and Ammon were not converted to the religion of God, it was unlawful to marry with them, as with any other people's, Neh. 13. 23, 24, 25. Ezz. 9. 1, 2. forever] the Greek addeth, and forever: so it is an explanation of the former, that the tenth generation is put for all generations forever. So it appeareth, that the Moabites and Ammonites might never be one body with the Common-wealth of Israel, though other people's might, as Ie•her an Isma•lite, 1 Chr. 2. 17. is called an Israelite, 2 Sam. 17. 25.

Ver. 4. they met you not] this sin was common to both nations, the next peculiar to Moab only. So eternal damnation is inflicted upon those that give not meat and drink to God's people in their hunger and thirst, Mat. 25. 42,—46. The contrary example is in Melchizedek, who met Abraham with bread & wine, as he returned from the slaughter of the Kings, Gen. 14 18, &c. Heb. 7. 1. be hired] that is, the Moabite hired. The history hereof is set down at large in Numb. 22, &c.

Vers. 6. not seek their peace] the like is spoken of the Canaanites, Ezz. 9. 11. 12. This is not meant of revenge in malice, which is unlawful, Rom. 12. 17 19. or that they should not procure the salvation of their souls. 1 Tim. 2. 4. but respecteth the matter in hand, and those people's in their infidelity; touching whom the Hebrews hold, that this is an exception from the former law, in Deut. 20. 10. about offering peace when in lawful war they came to besiege their cities. Ammon and Moab, we send not unto them (proclamation) of peace, Deu. 23. 6. Our wise men have said, for as much as it is written, PROCLAME PEACE VNTO IT, Deut. 20. 10. if any should think the like for Ammon and Moab, he saith, Thou shalt not seek their peace. And whereas it is written, HE SHALL DWELL WITH THEE, &c. WHERE IT IS GOOD FOR HIM, Deut. 23. 16. if any should suppose the like for Ammon and Moab, he sa•h, Thou shalt not seek their peace, OR THEIR GOOD. But though we do not proclaim peace unto them, if they make peace of themselves first, it is accepted. Maimonides tom. 4. treat. of Kings, ch. 6. s. 6.

Vers. 7. an Edomite] or, Idumean, as the Greek calleth him; and as in Mark 3. 8. Edoms land is called Idumea: the Hebrew here writeth it Adomite, as also in Psal. 52. 2. it meaneth the posterity of Edom, or Esau, Israel's brother, Gen. 25. 25,—30. thy brother] the nearest kin to Israel of all people's on the earth, and therefore often called his brother, Num. 20. 14. Obad. 10. 12. Amos 1. 11. for which alliance in nature, though they were enemies, (Num. 20. 18, 21.) yet God would have his people to retain loving and natural affection towards them. a stranger] or sojourner: although the Egyptians turned to hate God's people, and to oppress them, Exod. 1. &c. yet for the former good which Israel had received in their land, the Lord would have his people to show themselves thankful; that Edom and Egypt should sooner be admitted into the Church of the Lord, than Moab or Ammon; though not so soon as other people's, which had not wronged Israel.

Vers. 8. the third generation] to wit, after they are become Proselytes, and have received the faith and religion of Israel, as is before shown. Of these the Hebrews say: An Egyptian and Edomite, whether males or females, the first generation, and the second, are unlawful to enter into Israel, but the third generation may. An Egyptian woman that is with child when she becometh a Proselyte, her son is the second (generation.) Maimonides in Issure biah, chap. 12. sect. 19, 20. As for other nations, it is before shown, that they receiving the religion of Israel, might enter into the congregation, and be commixed with them; so now when all people's are confounded, and it is not known who are truly Moabites, or Ammonites, or Egyptians, &c. the Hebrews profess that they cannot observe this Law; and thus they write: Who so becometh a Proselyte of the seven people's (of the Canaanites,) he is not forbidden by the Law to enter into the congregation. And it is a known thing, that none of them become Proselytes, save the Gibeonites, (Ios. 9.) and Joshua decreed concerning them, that it should be unlawful for them to enter into the congregation, either men or women. But he for bade them not, save so long as there was a Sanctuary, (Ios. 9. 23.) And they were called Nethinims, because he gave them for the service of the Sanctuary. Then came David and decreed against them that they should not come into the congregation forever, no not in the time when there is no sanctuary. And so it is expressed in Ezra, And of the Nethinims, whom David and the Princes had given for the service of the Levites, (Ezra 8. 20.) Loe, thou mayest see they depended not on the Sanctuary. And why did he and his Council decree this against them? Because he saw the hardness and cruelty that was in them, at the time when they required that seven of the sons of Saul, the chosen of the Lord, should be hanged and killed, and they had no compassion on them, (2 Sam. 21. 6. 9.) When Senacharib King of Assyria came up, (2 King. 18. 13, 34, 35.) he confounded all the people's, and mixed them one with another, and carried them captives out of their places. So these Egyptians, which are now in the land of Egypt, are other men: and so the Edomites that dwell in the field of Edom. And for as much as these four Nations which be forbidden, are commixed with all nations of the world which are lawful all are lawful. So that whosoever separateth from them, and becometh a Proselyte at this time in any place, be he an Edomite, or an Egyptian, or Ammonite, or Moabite, or Ethiopian, or of any other people, whether they be men or women, it is lawful for them to enter into the Church out of hand. Maim. in Issure biah, chap. 12. sect. 22,—25. Thus the partition wall between Jews and Gentiles is by the Hebrews own grant in part broken down, but indeed wholly unto us which know Christ; who were in times past aliens from the politeie (or common-wealth) of Israel, and strangers from the covenants of promise, &c. but we are now made nigh by the blood of Christ, for he is our peace, who hath made both one, and dissolved the middle wall of partition between us, Ephes. 2. 12. 14.

Vers. 9. the campe] or the host, an army of soldiers; touching whom God giveth laws for their purity: that as the whole campe of Israel was to be purged of all leprous and unclean persons, Num. 5. 2, 3. so every campe or army sent forth to war at any time, should also have care of holiness. keep thee] or, beware, take heed. evil thing] Hebr. evil word, that is, all uncleanness, either moral, (as John warned the soldiers, Luk. 3. 14.) or figurative, as some specials here follow.

Vers. 10. an accident] to wit, of uncleanness, by the issue of his seed, and so the Greek translatheth it, an issue; of which, and the pollution by the same, see Levite. 15. with the Annotations. out of the campe] or, unto (a place) without the camp, where all unclean persons were to remain, Num. 5. 3.

Vers. 11. at the looking forth of the evening] which the Greek translatheth, towards evening; the Chaldee, at the time of the evening: See this phrase in Gen. 24. 63. and Exod. 14. 27. bathe] in Greek, wash his body, as all such unclean persons were to do, Lev. 15. figuring our sanctification from uncleanness, by the death and spirit of Christ, Heb. 10. 22. gone down] Heb. gone in, that is, when the day of his uncleanness is at an end: for the day ended at Sun setting.

Vers. 12. thou shalt have] or, there shall be to thee, to wit, by public designation. a place] Heb. a hand, that is, as the Greek hath it, a place; in Chaldee, a place appointed (or prepared.) So the Hebrews say, It is unlawful to turn aside within the campe, or in the open field in any place; but it is commanded to appoint there a way peculiar for (men) to turn aside therein. Maimonides treat, of Kings, chap. 6. sect. 14.

Vers. 13. a paddle] an instrument of iron, to dig an hole with in the earth, wherein to bury their excrements. We derive the name from the Greek Pattalos or Passalos, whereby the Hebrew Iathed is translated here. upon thy weapon] or, among thine armor: in Greek, upon thy girdle. that which cometh from thee] thine excrements; in Greek, thy shame (or unseemliness.) These by the Law are counted unclean, (as almost all the other that come out of man;) & defiled other things which they were used about, Ezek. 4. 12, 13, 14. and figured the corruption of nature, Isaiah 4. 4. Mark 7. 15. 20,—23.

Vers. 14. walketh] the Chaldee addeth, his divine presence walketh. before thee] the Greek explaineth it, into th (<...> hands. So in Deut. 2. 36. and 7. 2. 23. also in 2 Chron. 6. 36. the uncleanness] or the nakedness, the discovery of anything which is unclean: the Greek translatheth it shame; the Chaldee, transgression. By this, God taught his people holiness of conversation, that they should keep themselves from their iniquity, as David did, Psal. 18. 23. from after thee] that is, from following or accompanying thee, and from keeping thee. The Greek translatheth it, from thee; the Chaldee, from doing good unto thee. In like manner, when God said, I will be with thee, Gen. 31. 3. Jacob understood it, I will do thee good, Gen. 32. 9. And both are expressed in Ier. 32. 40. I will not turn frō after them, to do thē good. And of God's leaving his people in their wars, and the evils following, there is complaint in Psal. 44. 10, 11. &c.

Vers. 15. not deliver up] Hebr. not shut up (or close) as Deut. 32. 30. meaning, shut up into the hand, as is expressed in Psal. 31. 9. that is, delivered, as the Greek and Chaldee here translate it. a servant] the Chaldee addeth, a servant of the people's, that is, of the Gentiles, who for the religion of God cometh from his master to the Church of Israel. This servant that sleth to the land (of Israel) he is a righteous stranger [that is, a proselyte come unto the faith and covenant of God,] saith Maimonides tom. 4. treat. of Servants, chap. 8. s. 11. is escaped] or separated, having rid free, and delivered himself from the bondage of sin. The Greek translatheth, is added (or adjoined) unto thee. By this Law God shown his love in Christ, towards all strangers, even in the basest estate, that come unto him in faith; for there is neither bond nor free, male or female, but all are one in Christ Jesus, Gal. 3. 28. It figured the grace of God to us sinners, who were the servants of sin, but obeying from the heart the form of doctrine whereto we were delivered, we were made free from sin, & were made the servants of righteousness, and servants to God, to have our fruit unto holiness, and the end, everlasting life, Rom. 6. 17, 18, 22. Who after we have escaped the pollutions of the world, through the knowledge of Christ, are not again to be entangled therein, and overcome, 2 Pet. 2. 20. Gal. 4. 7, 8, 9, 10. from his master] who, that he might sustain no damage by the loss of his servant, the Hebrews say, His master was to be spoken unto, to write him a bill of manumission (or discharge from his service,) and he again was to write him a bill of debt for his price, until he was able to pay, and then he paid him. Maimonides in Servants, ch. 8. sect. 10.

Vers. 16. in the midst of thee] the Greek translatheth, among you shall he dwell. By the Hebrews, if a man sold his servant to the heathens, he was to be compelled to redeem him again, and to let him go out free. If a man sold his servant out of the land, he was to be set free. Maim. treat. of Servants, chap. 8. sect. 1. 6. in one of thy gates] that is, as the Chaldee translatheth, in one (or any) of thy cities: which figured the Churches of Christ, Psal. 69. 36. wherein they that are escaped from the servitude of sin, should remain, Act. 2. 47. good for him] or, good unto him, that is, where it liketh him best; as the Greek translatheth, where it pleaseth him, and where may be most for his benefit. not vex him] or oppress; in Greek, afflict him. This law was for all strangers, Exod. 22. 21. and forbiddeth all manner vexation in word or work. The Hebrews say, the Scripture addeth this admonition concerning him, because he is of a more humble spirit than (another) stranger: and who so vexeth this stranger, transgresseth against three prohibitions; Ye shall not vex any man his neighbor, Lev. 27. 17. and, A stranger thou shalt not vex, Exod. 22. 21. and, Thou shalt not vex him, Deut. 23. 16. he transgresseth also against this, Neither shalt thou oppress him, Exod. 22. 21. And he is not to be vexed, no not with words. Maimonides treat. of Servants, chap. 8. sect. 11.

Vers. 17. a where] or common where, fornicatresse, Sedamit esse; one that married not, but lived in whoredom. She is called in Hebrew Kedesah, which ordinarily signifieth Holiness, but is used here for the contrary, (as before in Deut. 22. 9.) or it was some filthy religious order among the heathens; whereof see the notes on Gen. 38. 21. The Hebrews describe her to be one that prostituted herself unto every man. Maimonides in Issure biah, chap. 18. sect. 2. And so she differed from the whore called in Hebrew Zonah which had defiled herself, though but once: see the notes on Lev. 21. 7. Howbeit, the difference is not always to be made; and the next verse here seemeth to show it. Maimonides in tom. 2. treat, of Wives, chap. 1. sect. 4. writeth thus; Before the Law was given, a man mes with a woman abroad; and if he and she p <...> d, he gave her hire and lay with her, at the par <...> the way, and he went his way; and this is she which is called KEDESAH (a common whore.) After the Law was given, such common whores were forbidden, Deut. 23. 17. Therefore whosoever lieth with a woman by way of fornication, without espousals, he is beaten by the Law, for that he hath lie•n with a whore. But Onkclos the Chaldee Paraphrast expoundeth this law otherwise thus; There shall no woman of the daughters of Israel be (a wife) to a man which is a servant: neither shall any man of the sons of Israel take a woman which is a servant (or hand-maid.) But that seemeth not to be the meaning of this place. whoremonger] or, fornicator: one that so defileth his body without marriage; a Sodomite. Notwithstanding this Law, Israel falling from God, had together with their idolatry, houses of whoremongers (or Sodomites) that were in (or by) the house of the Lord, till King Josiah brake them down, 2 King. 23. 7. They sacrificed also with whores, Hos. 4. 14. so that both carnal and spiritual whoredom (which is idolatry, Ier. 2. 20.) are here forbidden.

Vers. 18. the hire] or, the reward, wages: the Hebrew word Ethnan is usually an whores hire, as may be seen in Ezek. 16. 31, 33, 34. Hos. 2. 12. and 9. 1. Mich. 1. 7. an whore] in Hebrew Zonah; which seemeth to be the same with Kedesah before mentioned: though it comprehendeth generally all such as are forbidden in Lev. 18. to any which, or for which, if a man give hire or reward, to lie with her, it might not be brought into the Lord's house. And this, as the Hebrews explain, whether she were an heathenish whore, or a bondwoman, or an Israelitess. He that saith to his neighbor, this thing thoushalt have to let thy bondwoman lie with my Hebrew servant, loe this is an (whores) hire. If a man agree with an whore to give her a Lamb, (as Gen. 38. 16, 17.) and he doth give her many, though he give a thousand, they are all an whores hire, and forbidden to come on the altar. If he tie with her, & give her it not, and after the time he give it her, though it be after many years, yet it is an whores hire. Howbeit they restrain this (though perhaps too much,) to such things only, as might in themselves be brought to the altar, as clean beasts, & fowls, wine, oil, and fine flower, &c. If he give her money, & a sacrifice be bought with it, that sacrifice (they say) was lawful. If he give her wheat, & after it be made flower; olives, & after oil is made of thē; grapes, & they be turned into wine; these are lawful, for the hire is now altered. Maim. tom. 3. in Issure mizbeach, chap. 4. sect. 8, 10, 11,—15. This law taught the honor and sanctity due unto God's house and service, when things which were thus made impure and vile, might not be brought unto him: so in Isaiah 61. 8. he saith, I hate robbery, for burnt-offering. the price of a dog] in Chaldee, the exchange of (that is, the thing exchanged for) a dog. This some do understand of the whoremonger or Sodomite fore-mentioned; as the Scripture calleth vile persons dogs. Matth. 7. 6. Rev. 22. 15. 2 Pet. 2. 22. But the Hebrews under <...> d it literally; for as the dog was an unclean beast, and most abominable for sacrifice, Isaiah 66. 3. so they write, if a man said to his neighbor, I will give thee this Lamb for that Dog; or if he exchange a dog for any beasts or fowls, they were all unlawful to be brought unto the altar. But if the price were altered, as he exchanged a dog for wheat, and turned it into flower; that (flower) was lawful. Maimonides in Issure mizbeach, ch. 4. sect. 16, &c. for any vow] whether for a sacrifice on the altar, or for the maintenance or reparation of the house, court-yard, or anything about the Sanctuary; the thing it self, which was either the hire, or the price of these vile things, might not be brought thither. Under the name of a vow, (which men voluntarily took upon themselves, verse. 21, 22, 23.) other sacrifices which God commanded, are forbidden to be brought of either of these, that is, of anything which was filthy or vile. both of the] the one proceeding from the breach of the moral Law, the other (taken properly) being against the Legal ordinances of divine service, are abomination to the Lord, who requireth his Sanctuary to be revered, Lev. 19. 30. and forbiddeth his name to be despised, his altar or table to be thought contemptible, Mal. 1. 6, 7, 8. or his house to be made a den of thieves, Ier. 7. 11. Matth. 21. 13.

Vers. 19: not lend upon biting usury] Hebr. not cause to bite; which meaneth, as the Greek and Chaldee both interpret it, not lend upon biting usury (or increase;) for usury is biting or devoting of a man's substance; he that borroweth on usury is bitten thereby; and he that so lendeth, causeth to bite, or maketh his neighbor to be bitten thereby. It may also imply, thou shalt not borrow upon usury, for that also is unlawful, Ier. 15. 10. and he that so borroweth, causeth himself to be bitten, and thus the Hebrews understand it, as is noted on Ex. 22. 25. usury] Hebr. biting of silver, that is, usury for silver (or money) which is lent. So after, biting of meat, that is, usury for meat which is lent. of anything] Hebr. of any word: which though it be often used for anything, as the Greek here also translareth it, yet from hence the Hebrews gather, usury of words also to be unlawful: see the Annotations on Exod. 22. 25. that is lent upon usury] Hebr. that biteth, (or may bite) Under this prohibition, the contrary is commanded, that we should lend unto our poor brother freely, and not take again anything more than was lent, Deut. 15. 7, 8, 9. Luk. 6. 34, 35. Lev. 25. 35, 36.

Vers. 20. a stranger] or alien, in the Chaldee, a son of the people's, meaning a Gentile, an infidel: for to the strangers which were brethren in the faith, they might not lend upon usury, Levite. 25. 35, 36, 37. mayest lend] or shalt lend upon usury; Hebr. shalt cause to bite, to wit, if thou wilt; so it may be taken for a permission, like the bill of divorce. But the Hebrews understand this to be a commandment, not a permission only; (Maimonides tom. 4. treat. of the Lender and Borrower, chap. 5. sect. 1) As if God would by this cut off occasions of familiarity with Infidels, lest Israel by much dealing with them, should learn their ways. Howbeit, our Savior (by the example of God himself,) teacheth us to be loving and bountiful unto all, both good and bad, Matt. 5. 44,—48. Luke 6. 35, 36. Spiritually this shown the use of the Law, which as an hard creditour exacteth more of men than it giveth unto them; and is to be laid, not upon the righteous man, (who by faith is freed from the rigor & curse of the same,) but on the lawless, disobedient and sinners, 1 Ti. 1. 9. Rom. 7.

Vers. 21. a vow] the law whereof, see in Levite. 27. and Num. 30. And whether it were a thing promised unto God, or to be given to the poor, it was a vow. not delay] that is, not fail, either altogether, or by deferring the time of payment: see the notes on Exod. 22. 29. Wherefore if a man have absolutely vowed a thing to the Lord, (seeing no man hath assurance that his life shall continue, I am. 4. 13, 14.) he must with all speed perform it, lest death prevent him. So the Hebrews say; He that saith, I will not depart out of the world until I be a Nazirite; loe, he is a Nazirite out of hand, lest he die by and by. And if he defer his Nazariteship, he transgresseth, &c. Maimonides tom. 3. treat. of Nazarites, chap. 1. sect. 4. The time and place of paying vowed sacrifices, was at the solemnefeasts, & in the Sanctuary, Deu. 12. 5, 6, 7 and 16. 16, 17. Hereupon the Hebrews say; Whether they be vows or voluntary gifts, or other things which a man is bound to bring, as valuations, or prices, or tithes, or gifts for the poor, it is commanded by the Law, to bring them all at the feast which first cometh, &c. If there fall out a feast, and he bringeth them not, he frustrateth a commandment. If the three feasts (of the year) pass over him, and he bring not his offerings which he hath vowed, or voluntarily promised, &c. he transgresseth against this prohibition, Thou shalt not delay to pay it. Maim. treat. of offering the Sacrifices, chap. 14. sect. 13. to pay it] This payment must be made unto God of the best things (as is noted on Gen. 4. 4.) they might not bring any corrupt or blemished thing, Mal. 1. 14. Levite. 22. 21. nor anything filthy or vile, Deut. 23. 18. Neither might any part be kept back, of that which was sanctified by vow unto the Lord, Act. 5. 1, 2, 3, 4, &c. So for alms to the poor, the Hebrews have these rules; Alms is comprehended in the general of vows: therefore he that saith, Loe a shilling be upon me for alms, or, This shilling be an alms, he is bound to give it to the poor out of hand; and if he delay, he transgresseth against this precept, Thou shalt not delay to pay it. For loe it is in his power to give it out of hand, and there are poor present. If there be no poor there, he is to separate it, and lay it up till he find some poor. Maimonides treat. of gifts to the poor, c. 8. s. 1. requiring, &c.] that is, will surely require it, and punish thee if thou pay it not. For so requiring implieth, Gen. 9. 5. and 43. 22. Deut. 18. 19. sin] and so punishable. For God hath no pleasure in fools; pay therefore that which thou hast vowed, Eccles. 5. 4.

Vers. 22. shalt forbear] or cease, refuse: the Greek translatheth, If thou wilt not vow. So before they promised, it was in their own power, as in Ananias case, Act. 5. 4. Howbeit, when duty bindeth us to show thankfulness unto God for his mercies, we are willed to vow and to pay, Psal. 76. 12. The Hebrews say, Although sanctified things, and things devote, and valuations be commanded, and it is meet for a man to exercise himself in these things, for to suppress his concupiscence, and that he be not niggardly, but may fulfill that which is commanded by the Prophet, HONOUR THE LORD WITH THY SUBSTANCE, (Prov. 3. 9.) yet notwithstanding, if he do never sanctify or devote, there is not anything in it; for loe the Law testifieth and saith; But if thou shalt forbear ••vow, it shall not be sin in thee. Maimonides treat. of Valuations and Devote things, chap. 8. sect. 12. not be sin] to wit, not such sin as a man is guilty of, if he vow and do not pay, Eccles. 5. 5. For otherwise a man may sin this way also, in negligence and unthankfulness, Luk. 17. 17, 18. In this sense Christ said to the Jews; If ye were blind ye should have no sin, John. 9. 41. that is, no such sin as now remaineth on you, for refusing the light. So in John. 15. 22, 24. I am. 4. 17.

Vers. 23. That which is gone out] that is, thy word, or promise: as, all that proceedeth out of the mouth of the LORD, Deut. 8. 3. is expounded, every word of God, Luk. 4. 4. keep and do] with heart and hand. But this is meant of lawful vows; for such as are idolatrous and wicked, are not to be kept, but repented of, and broken, Ier. 44. 25,—27. Act. 23. 12, 21. a voluntary offering] all vows were voluntary offerings, but all voluntary offerings were not vows: see the difference noted on Levite. 7. 16. and Deut. 12. 6. with thy mouth] Hereupon Solomon saith, Suffer not thy mouth to cause thy flesh to sin; neuer say thou before the Angel, that it was an unadvised error: wherefore should God be angry at thy voice, and destroy the work of thine hands? Eccles. 5. 6. If a man had spoken it with his heart only unto God, he was bound to pay it, as the Hebrews teach: See the notes on Levite. 7. 16.

Vers. 24. When thou comest] the Chaldee translateth, when thou art hired: and of such do the Hebrews understand this Law, that laborers hired to work in a vineyard, are to eat of the fruit thereof. Hereunto the Apostle seemeth to have reference, when he saith; Who planteth a vineyard, and eateth not of the fruit thereof: or, who feedeth a flock, and eateth not of the milk of the slocke? 1 Cor. 9. 7. Whereby not the owners only, but the laborers also are intended. This and the like law following, seemeth to extend also to such as occasionally travel thorough vineyards or fields, who may for their refreshing in time of need gather and eat: as our Lord's Disciples, going thorough the sown fields, plucked the cares of corn, and did eat, Matt. 12. 1. vineyard] and by proportion, his olive-yard, or any such like. The Hebrews say; Laborers which do work upon anything that groweth out of the earth, &c. the householder is commanded to let them eat of that which they are a working upon, Deut. 23. v. 23, 24. which law we have been taught, that it is not written of anything but concerning the hired (laborer.) And if he did not hire him, how was it permitted him to come into his neighbors vineyard, or standing-corn, without his knowledge? But thus he saith; When thou shalt come, by the owners leave, to labor, thou shalt eat. Maimonides tom. 4. treat. of hired things, chap. 12. sect. 1. Howbeit they restrain this law to such things only as grow out of the ground; therefore they add, He that milketh, or churneth butter, or maketh cheese, eateth not (thereof) because they are things that grow not on the ground: ibidem s. 4. But he that reapeth (the corn) and he that thresheth, and he that fanneth and purgeth it, he that cutteth down the grapes, and he that treadeth them (in the wine-press,) or doth any such like works, they may eat by the Law. ibidem s. 8. eat grapes] and so if he labor upon the fig-tree, he may eat figs; and all the like: but he may not eat (they say) save of that whereabouts he laboreth: and if he labor both in the grapes and in the wine-fat, he may both eat of the grapes, and drink of the must (or new wine.) If he work on the fig-tree, he may not eat of grapes: if on grapes, he may not eat of figs. And he that is working upon one vine-tree, may not eat (the fruit) of another vine. Neither may he eat grapes with any other thing; as with bread, or the like. But if he have agreed with the householder, for the quantity that he shall eat, he may eat with bread, or with salt, or with anything that he pleaseth. Maimonides ibid. sect. 10. 12. as thy soul] to wit, desireth; or, according to thy soul, that is, thine appetite. The Greek joineth it with the word following, thus, so much as thy soul (that is, thine appetite) may be filled with. So in Psal. 78. 18. they asked meat for their soul, that is, for their lust or appetite. From this the Hebrews gather, that only he himself, not any other of his family may eat. The laborer that shall say, Give my wife & children that which I should eat; or, loe I will give a little of this which I have taken, to my wife or my child for to eat, they hearken not unto him: for the Law doth not vouchsafe it to any, but to the workman himself. Though he be a Nazitite which worketh in the grapes [who may not by the law eat any of them, Num. 6. 3.] if he say, Give it my wife and children, they hearken not unto him. A workman that laboreth himself, and his wife, and his children, and his servants, and conditioneth with the householder, that he will not eat of anything that he worketh upon, neither he nor his; then they may not eat, to wit, the greater sort of them; for they have wittingly remitted (of their right.) But the little ones he cannot make agreement that they shall not eat: for they eat not of that which is their fathers, or of that which is their masters, but of that which is God's. Maimonides ibid. sect. 13. 14. not put] Hebr. not give any, either to carry home for himself, or for any of his.

Vers. 25. with thine hand] to wit, for to eat, verse. 24. as did Christ's Disciples, Matt. 12. 1. upon the warrant of this law, as is probable: howbeit, the Hebrews understand it of the laborers, as before. And the Chaldee version here also saith, When thou art hired into thy neighbors standing corn, then thou mayest pluck, &c. Which though the meaning be good, (for even the beasts were by God's Law to eat of that whereon they labored, Deut. 25. 4.) yet the extent hereof seemeth to reach further, even to all such as came in occasionally, and had a desire or need to taste of the fruits. not move a sickle] namely, for to cut down for thine own eating, or for to carry away with thee, as v. 24. God, whose the earth is, and the plenty thereof, Psal. 24. 1. and whose the land of Canaan was in special, Levite. 25. 23. who reserved the first-fruits, tithes, corners, gleanings, &c. for himself, his priests, and the poor of his people, Num. 18. Deut. 24. 19,—21. would have the fruits in some sort common for the necessities of all men, especially to those that labored in them, whether men or beasts; so showing his bounty to all, yet reserving the right and propriety of the owners, which no man might infringe: that mercy and justice might meet together, and not one man to put his sickle into another man's corn, to reap that which another hath sown. The equity of this Law reacheth also unto spiritual things, and to God's laborers in his harvest, 2 Cor. 10. 14,—16. 1 Cor. 9. 7, 9, 10,—14. Rom. 15. 20.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Of divorce. 5 A new married man goeth not to war. 6 10 Of pledges. 7 Of man-stealers. 8 Of leprosy. 14 The hire to be given in due time. 16 Of justice. 19 The forgotten sheaf is for the poor. 20 And the gleanings of the fruits to be left for them.

WHen a man hath taken a wife, and been her husband, and it shall be that she find not grace in his eyes, because he hath found in her matter of nakedness: and he shall write her a bill of divorcement, and give it in her hand, and send her away out of his house: And she depart out of his house, and go and be another man's: And the latter man hate her, and write her a bill of divorcement, and give it in her hand, and send her away out of his house; or if the latter man die, which took her to him to wife: Her first husband which sent her away, may not return to take her to be unto him to wife, after that she is caused to be defiled, for that is abomination before Jehovah; and thou shalt not cause the land to sin, which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee for an inheritance.

When a man hath taken a new wife, he shall not go out in the Army, neither shall anything pass upon him: he shall be free in his house one year, and rejoice with his wife which he hath taken.

(A man) shall not take to pledge the nether mill-stone, or the upper mill-stone; for he taketh to pledge, the soul.

If a man be taken stealing a soul of his brethren, of the sons of Israel, and maketh gain to himself by him, and selleth him; then that thief shall die, and thou shalt put away evil from the midst of thee.

Take thou heed in the plague of leprosie, to observe diligently and to do according to all that the Priests the Levites shall teach you; as I commanded them ye shall observe to do. Remember what Jehovah thy God did unto Marie, in the way, after ye were come forth out of Egypt.

When thou lendest thy neighbor the loan of anything, thou shalt not go in into his house, to fetch his pawn. Thou shalt stand without, and the man to whom thou doest lend, shall bring forth unto thee the pawn without. And if he be a poor man, thou shalt not lie down with his pawn. Restoring thou shalt restore the pawn unto him when the Sun goeth down, that he may lie down in his raiment and bless thee, and unto thee it shall be justice before Jehovah thy God.

Thou shalt not fraudulently oppress an hired servant that is poor and needy, of thy brethren, or of thy stranger which is in thy land, within thy gates. In his day thou shalt give his hire, and the Sun shall not go down upon it, for he is poor, and unto it he lifteth up his soul, that he cry not against thee unto Jehovah, and it be in thee a sin.

The father shall not be put to death for the children, and the children shall not be put to death for the fathers: they shall be put to death every man in his own sin. Thou shalt not wrest the judgment of the stranger, nor of the fatherless: thou shalt not take to pledge the garment of the widow. But thou shalt remember that thou wast a servant in Egypt, and Jehovah thy God redeemed thee thence, therefore I command thee to do this thing. When thou reapest thine harvest in thy field, and hast forgot a sheaf in the field, thou shalt not return to take it; it shall be for the stranger, for the fatherless, and for the widow, that Jehovah thy God may bless thee in all the work of thine hands. When thou beatest thine Olive-tree, thou shalt not go over the boughs after thee; it shall be for the stranger, for the fatherless, and for the widow. When thou gatherest the grapes of thy vine-yard, thou shalt not gather the single grapes after thee; it shall be for the stranger, for the fatherless, and for the widow. And thou shalt remember that thou wast a servant in the land of Egypt, therefore I command thee to do this thing.

Annotations.

BEene her husband] that is, done an husbands [unspec] duty, lien with her: as the Greek translath, dwelt together with her. So Deut. 21. 13. For his marriage is signified by the former phrase, taken a wife, as is noted on Deut. 22. 13. grace] o•, favor in his eyes; in Greek, grace before him. that is, if he like her not. matter of nakedness] or, the nakedness of anything, that is, the discovery of some unclean thing: or, by transplating the words, anything of nakedness, that is, of shame and ignominy; as the Greek translath, a shameful (or uncomely) thing. This is thought of some not to be meant of adultery, for which she was to die if it were proved, Deut. 22. 22. but of some evil thing in her conditions or actions, which displeased her husband. So the phrase was used in Deut. 23. 14. for that which was uncleanly and unseemly. and he shall write] understand from the former sentence, and if he shall write: for this is not a commandment, but a permission, as our Savior saith, Moses because of the hardness of your hearts, suffered you to put away your wives; but from the beginning it was not so, Matt. 19. 8. So after in verse. 3. And the latter man shall hate her, that is, if he shall hate her; for all is supposition, and permission, until v. 4. where she is forbidden to her first husband. But the Hebrews mistook this for a commandment, Matt. 19. 7. and so do to this day, as is to be seen in their writings, wherein good and bad are mixed together thus; A man may not take a wife, and have a purpose in him to divorce her, &c. She may not remain under him, and minister unto him, if he be purposed to divorce her. A man may not put away his first wife, except he hath found in her the nakedness of something: and it becomes him not to be hasty to send away his first wife; but the second, if he hate her, let him send her away. A woman that is of evil conditions, and is not modest, as are the honest daughters of Israel, it is commanded to put her away. Maimonides tom. 2. treat. of Divorces, chap. 10. sect. 21, 22. But the Lord, the God of Israel saith, that he hateth putting away, Mal. 2. 16. And, What God hath joined together, let no man put asunder, Matt. 19. 6. bill of divorcement] or, libel (book) of cutting off; which the Greek version (approved by the Evangelists, Matth. 19. 7.) calleth, a libel of divorcement, or, of departing away, because by it the woman was cut off from her husband, and departed from him and his house. Of this the Hebrews have many canons; and the form of this bill is in the Talmud in Gittin, chap. 9. and by Maimonides in treat. of Divorces, chap. 4. sect. 12. set down in these words:

IN such a day of the week, in such or such a day of the month N. in such or such a year from the creation (of the world,) or from the supputation (of Alexander) after the account which we are wont to count by, here in the place N. IN. the son of N. of the place N. (or if there be any other name or surname which I have, or my fathers have had, or (which) my place hath, or my fathers place have had) have voluntarily, with the willingness of my soul, without constraint, both dismissed, and left, and put away thee, even thee N. the daughter of N. of the city N. (or if thou hast any other name or surname, thou, or thy fathers, or thy place, or thy fathers place) which hast been my wife heretofore, but now I dismiss thee, and leave thee, and put thee away, that thou mayest be free, and have power over thine own soul, to go away, to be married to any man whom thou wilt; and that no man be refused of thine hand, for my name, from this day and forever. And thus thou art lawful for any man; and this is unto thee from me a writing of divorcement, and bill of dismissal, and an epistle of putting (thee) away, according to the Law of Moses and Israel.

N. son of N. Witness.

N. son of N. Witness.

give it] or, deliver it into her hand, and this also before witnesses. The Hebrews observe ten things, which they say are requisite by the Law, and are the root (or foundation) of the divorce; 1 That a man put her not away, but of his own will: gathered from these words, If she find not grace in his eyes; but the woman may be put away, whether she be willing or not. 2 That he put her away by a writing, not by any other thing. 3 That the matter of the writing be to divorce her and put her away out of his possession. 4 That the matter of that divorcement be between him and her. 5 That it be written by her name. 6 That there be no action wanting after the writing thereof, save the delivery of it unto her. 7 That he give it unto her. 8 That he give it her before witnesses. 9 That he give it her by the Law of Divorces, 10 And that it be the husband, or his deputy that delivereth it unto her. Maimonides treat. of Divorces, chap. 1. sect. 1. Unto these they add also sundry other cautions, as, Where it is said in the Law, AND HE SHALL WRITE HER A BILL, &c. Whether he write it with his own hand, or speak to another to write it for him; and whether he deliver it with his own hand, or speak to another to deliver it, (it is all one) it is not said, HE SHALL WRITE, but to signify, that she may not be put away but by a writing; and, HEE SHALL GIVE (to signify) that she may not take it of her self. But it is necessary, that the husband speak himself unto the Scrivener to write it, and to the witnesses to subscribe it. Every bill that is not written by the name of the man that divorceth, and by the name of the woman divorced, is no bill. Who so writeth (a bill) to put away his wife, and bethinketh him, and doth not put her away, but uniteth himself with her after it is written, he may not put her away by that bill at another time when he would put her away. Whereas the Law saith, AND GIVE it IN HER HAND; the Scripture meaneth no more, but that it come unto her; and whether it be in her hand, or in her bosom, or to her deputy (or attorney) whose hand she hath made as her hand, it is all one. But it is necessary that he be made her attorney before two witnesses, and that there be two witnesses to testify, that the bill came to the hand of her attorney. The husband cannot make an attourney to receive the bill for his wife, but he may make one to carry it to his wife. If the attorney have received the bill, and before it cometh to the woman's hand, the husband changeth his mind, and saith unto him, the bill which I sent by thee, be of none effect; or if he say before unto his wife, the bill which I have sent unto thee, be of none effect; or if he send another messenger to make it of none effect; or if he say unto others, the bill which I have sent to my wife be of none effect, loe it is of none effect, though it come (after) to his wives hand. But if (he speak it) after it become to her hand, or to the hand of her attorney, which was to receive it for her, he cannot make it of none effect. He that divorceth upon condition, if the condition be confirmed she is divorced; if not, she is not divorced. As if he say, loe here is thy bill, upon condition that thou give me 200 pence, within these thirty days; if she give them with his consent within thirty days, she is divorced, if after thirty days she is not divorced. If she give them to him by force, so that he is not willing to receive them, the bill is of none effect, till she give them with his consent &c. Maimonides treat. of Divorces, chap. 2. sect. 1. 5. and c. 3. s. 1. 5. and c. 6. s. 1, 3, 16. and c. 8. s. 1. 21.

Vers. 2. be another man's] or, be to another man: either by full marriage, or by espousals only; for a betrothed woman is a man's wife, Deut. 22. 23, 24. So the Hebrews say; He that putteth away his wife, and she is betrothed to another, although she be not married to him, she is unlawful for the first (husband.) And if the first do return and marry her, he is to be beaten, and to be compelled to put her out, Deut. 24. 4. Maimonides in Divorces, chap. 11. sect. 12. She might also become another man's by fornication, though she married not, Ier. 3. 1. yet the phrase often implieth the state of marriage, Rom. 7. 3, 4. unto which sense the Hebrews restrain it here.

Vers. 3. And the latter] understand from the last clause, And if the latter man hate, and if he write her a bill, &c. for these are but suppositions, and bare permissions, not commandments which God would have done, as is before noted.

Vers. 4. may not return] or, cannot, it is not lawful for him to take her again: and this is the Law which God commandeth, whereby he showeth a dislike of the former divorcements; as after he plainly confirmeth by the Prophet, Mal. 2 16. For, Whosoever shall put away his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, causeth her to commit adultery, [and if he marry another, he committeth adultery,] and whosoever shall marry her that is divorced, committeth adultery, Matt. 5. 32. and 19. 9. she is caused to be defiled] or, is caused to defile herself: The Greek and Chaldee translate, she is defiled: but the Hebrew word Huttaraaah is of such a composition, as implieth both the defiling of her self, and the cause thereof by her husband, who put her away first. It was therefore an error in the Jews, to take this for a commandment of God, which he tolerated only for the hardness of their hearts; and shown the woman to be defiled by her second marriage, after her first unjust divorce. not cause the land to sin] or, not suffer the land to sin: which may be understood, that by their example others should not be occasioned to do the like; or, that by the Magistrates neglect of punishing this evil, others be not emboldened. Or rather, that the land be not in sin, that is, punishable for this sin, which extendeth not only to the persons that do it, but to all the people that suffer it: as there be examples of the like in other cases, as Ios. 7. and 22. 17, 20. Therefore the Prophet alleging this Law, saith, that the land should be greatly polluted, Ier. 3. 1. and so the Greek version here, instead of sin saith, & ye shall not defile the lād. This Law is figuratively applied in the practice of it unto God and his Church, unto whom he was an husband, Ier. 31. 32. and unto whom in time he did give a bill of divorcement, but for her adultery, Ier. 3. 8. not upon displeasure, without her due merit, as the Israelites often did to their wives, (for such a bill of divorce they could not show,) but for her transgressions she was put away, Isaiah 50. 1. And though by this Law, a woman put away, and becoming another man's, might not return to her first husband again, yet God (who is above his Law) offereth his Church, after her many adulteries, to return again unto him by repentance and faith, Ier. 3. 1. Hos. 2. 2. 1. 9. and 3. 1, 5. The Apostle also applieth this Allegory to the Churches estate under the Law, and under the Gospel of Christ, Rom. 7. 1, 2, 3, &c.

Vers. 5. in the army] unto the war, as the Greek translatheth. In Deut. 20. a law was given for such as were betrothed and not married, had planted vineyards, or built houses, and not eaten of, or dwelt in them; the Hebrews understand those two also in this law, saying, He that hath built a house, and dedicated it, and he that married his betrothed wife, or his brothers wife (Deut. 25. 6.) and he that hath made his vineyard common, these go not out to war till the year be ended. Maimonides tom. 4. treat of Kings, chap. 7. sect. 10. anything] or, ought of anything, that is, of any charge or business concerning wars, or the like. Therefore whereas such as had not married their spouses, nor dedicated their houses, nor made common their vineyards, when they were sent back from the army, were to provide victuals, and prepare the ways for the army, as is noted on Deut. 20. 7. they were all this first year free from these & other the like charges, as the Hebrews say, These go not out to the war, neither are they charged with anything in the world, Deut. 24. 5. By word of mouth we have been taught, that he shall be free a year, both for the house that he hath dedicated, and for the wife that he hath married, and for the vineyard whose fruit he hath begun to eat of. All the year long he neither provideth victuals, nor prepareth the way, nor watcheth on the walls, nor giveth to the tributes of the city, neither may anything in the world pass upon him. Maim. treat. of Kings, ch. 7. s. 10, 11. pass upon him] that is, as the Greek explaineth it, he laid upon him. free] that is, exempted from all public labors and charges. In the wars that King Asa made with Baasa, none was free, 1 King. 15. 22. where may be understood, none save such as God's Law did exempt: or, not they neither, because of the great necessity of help. rejoice with his wife] By this Law God shown how much he approved of holy wedlock, (as by the former he shown his hatred of unjust divorces) when to encourage the newly married, against the cumbrances which that estate bringeth with it, and to settle their love each to other, he exempted those men from all wars, cares, and expenses, that they might the more comfortably provide for their own estate.

Vers. 6. (A man) shall not take] Hebr. He shall not take: this is to be understood of any man: therefore the Greek and Chaldee change the person, to make the sense plainer, Thou shalt not take, speaking to every man, as after Moses also speaketh in verse. 17. nether millstone] elsewhere this word Rechajim signifieth both millstones, or the mill in general, Exod. 11. 5. Here, by reason the upper millstone is after mentioned, the nether stone is specially meant. And under these particulars, all other of like necessary use for man's life are forbidden to be taken to pledge. The Hebrews say, He that lendeth to his neighbor, &c. may not take to pledge vessels (or instruments) wherewith they make ready (meat) for the life; as millstones, or the wooden mill, or pots which they boil meat in, or butchers knives, or the like things, Deut. 24. 6. and if he take such to pledge, he must be forced to restore; and if the pawn be lost, or burnt before he do restore it, he is to be beaten. Maimonides tom. 4. treat. of the Lender and Borrower, chap. 3. sect. 2. the upper millstone] called Recheb, a chariot, because of the running thereof upon the nether stone: From hence they say, He that taketh to pledge many instruments which are for food, &c. is guilty for every instrument (or vessel) by it self, though they be two instruments wherewith they do one work, [as the nether millstone and the upper] he is guilty for them by the name of two instruments, and for them twain he is to be twice beaten. Maimonides ibid. chap. 3. sect. 3. See after in v. 11. 12. 17. the soul] that is, the life of the soul (or body) meaning the instruments of his livelihood: and as Targum Yerushalmi expounds it, the necessities of the soul (or life) The Chaldee paraphraseth thus, for by them is made (ready) meat for every soul. Thus the millstones are named but for an instance, forbidding all other of like sort.

Vers. 7. a soul] that is, any person, man, woman, or child. of Israel] This the Hebrews take as a limitation to Israel and the Proselytes thereof: and for stealing Infidels, they hold he was but to make restitution. Maim. tom. 4. treat. of Theft, chap. 2. sect. 1. and chap. 9. sect. 6. maketh gain or, serveth himself; the Greek translateth, and bringing him under his power, selleth him. See this word used in Deut. 21. 14. and selleth him] The Hebrews join this to the former, without which they think the thief was not to die. A thief is not guilty of death, until he steal an Israelite, and get him into his power, and serveth himself of him, and selleth him to others, Deut. 24. 7. If he steal him, and serve himself with him, and do not sell him, or do sell him before he hath served himself by him, he is free (from death) Maim. treat. of Theft, ch. 9. sect. 2, 3. Others think that if he either served himself with him, or sold him, he was to die: and this may well be the meaning of the Law; for and often signifieth or, as is noted on Gen. 13. 8. and 19. 12. shall die] as the Hebrews say, he was to be strangled to death. Maim. ibid. ch. 9. sect. 1.

Vers. 8. plague of leprosy] which might be on men's bodies, or on garments, or in houses. The Law of all these is given at large, in Levite. 13 and 14 Chapters. all that the Priests] the Greek translateth, all the Law that the Priests the Levites shall show unto you. This is a warning to Israel, that if any man had the Leprosy, or a sore like the Leprosy, he should not dissemble or hide it, or pluck off, or cut away the signs thereof, or labor by medicines to cure it, or do anything thereto, but as the Priest directed him according to the Law; because this plague was usually by the hand of God for men's sins, and did pollute both the person himself, and all that touched him; so that for the discerning and curing of this plague, they should seek unto God, by the means which he appointed. Therefore from this Law, the Hebrews teach; He that plucketh off the signs of uncleanness, either all or some of them, or seareth the living (raw) flesh, all, or some of it, or cutteth all the sor• out of his flesh, or out of a garment, or house, •ither before he come to the Priest, or whiles he is shut up, or after, &c. he transgresseth against this prohibition, TAKE THOU HEED IN THE PLAGVE OF LEPROSIE, &c. (Deut. 25. 8.) Maimonides tom. 3. treat. of Leprosy, chap. 10. sect. 1. See the Annotations on Levite. 13. as I commanded them] If then the Priest spake or did otherwise than God prescribed, it was not to stand. A Priest that pronounceth him unclean that is clean, or him clean that is unclean, he doth nothing at all, for it is written (in Lev. 13. v. 14, 15.) he is unclean, and the Priest shall pronounce him unclean, &c. Maim. in Leprosy, ch. 9. sect. 3.

Vers. 9. unto Marie] in Hebrew Mirjam, in Greek Mariam; she was the sister of Moses and Aaron, a Prophetess in Israel, who for speaking against Moses, was smitten of God with Leprosy, Numb. 12. whose example is for a warning to all, that they should not sin as she did, lest God plague them also: and that the justice of the Law should be executed upon all Lepers, without respect of persons. So all other examples in Scripture are examples unto us, 1 Cor. 10. 6,—11. and so Christ saith, Remember Lots wife, Luk. 17. 32.

Vers. 10. when thou lendest] or, when thou shalt exact of thy neighbor the exaction of anything, that is, any debt: which if it were with rigor, or of a poor man that had not to pay, was unlawful. See the notes on Exod. 22. 25. The Greek translatheth, If there be a debt in thy neighbor, (that is, if he be indebted to thee) what debt soever. See the notes on Deut. 15. 2. thou shalt not go in] This is spoken to the creditor, and (as the Hebrews say) to the messenger of the Magistrate sent to take a pawn. He that lendeth to his neighbor poor or rich, may not take a pawn of him, but by the Synedrion, [that is, by authority of the Magistrate:] and though it be the messenger of the Synedrion that cometh for a pawn, he may not come into his house and take his pawn, but must stand without, and the borrower is to bring out a pawn unto him, Deut. 24. 10. If it be so, what (difference) is there between the creditor, and the messenger of the Synedrion? The messenger of the court, he may take the pawn out of the hand of the borrower by force, and give it the lender: but the creditor may not take the pawn, till the borrower give it him with consent. If the creditor transgress, and go into the borrowers house for his pawn, or snatcheth a pawn cut of his hand by force, he is not to be beaten, because the act is broken off, for he must restore the pawn, Deut. 24. 13. If he keep not this (⊔) to restore it, as if the pawn be lost or burnt, he is to be beaten, and to restore the price of the pawn. Maimon. •om. 4. treat. of the Lender and Borrower, ch. 3. sect. 4.

Vers. 12. not lie down] to sleep; not go to bed. For breach of this Law, the Lord reproveth Israel; They lay themselves down upon clothes laid to pledge, by every altar, Amos 2. 8. But hereby not only the use of the poor man's pawn, but the keeping of it is forbidden; with his pawn, that is, and his pawn by thee (or in thy custody) Maimonides in Lender and Borrower, c. 3. s. 5.

Vers. 13. when the Sun] or, as the Greek translatheth, about the going down of the Sun: in Exod. 22. 26. it is said, before the Sun goeth down; see the Annotations there, where is shown, that every pawn is to be restored when the poor man hath need of it, by night or by day. If the pawn must thus be restored when he hath need, what booteth it to take the pawn? The Hebrews answer, that by this means the debt is not released in the seventh year, (which the Law biddeth, Deut. 15. 1, 2, 3.) and if the borrower die, his moveables are not made his children's, but payment is made by the pawn after his death. Maimonides ibid. chap. 3. sect. 5. justice] in Greek, alms, a work of mercy, which God will reward: as on the contrary in v. 15. he saith, it be in thee a sin, that is, an iniquity which God will punish.

Vers. 14. not fraudulently oppress] or, not defraud: the Greek translatheth, Thou shalt not fraudulently keep back the hire of the poor, &c. which word the Apostle useth in like case, saying, Behold the hire of the laborers, &c. which is by you fraudulently kept back, crieth, &c. I am. 5. 4. and among the other weighty laws, our Savior nameth this for one, in Mark. 10. 19. See also Levite. 19. 13. thy gates] that is, as the Greek and Chaldee translate, thy cities.

Vers. 15. In his day] in Greek, The same day, Day, is used for all time. his hire] or, his wages, whether for his own labor, or for his beasts, or other things. So the Hebrews explain it, Whether it be the hire of man, or the hire of beasts, or the hire of instruments, he is bound to give it in his time: and if he keep it after the time, he transgresseth against a prohibition. Maimonides tom. 4. treat. of Hiring; chap.  $\langle \phi \rangle$  . sect. 1. not go down upon it] in Lev. 19. 13. it is said, it shall not abide all night with thee; which two the Hebrews unfold thus; What is the time (or day) of him that is hired? He that is hired for a day, (his hire) is due all that nights & of him it is said (in Lev. 19. 13.) it shall not abide all night with thee until the morning: & he that is hired for a night, it is due all the day; and of him it is said, In his day thou shalt give his hire, (Deut. 24. 15.) And he that is hired for hours of the day, it is due all the day; if for hours of the night, it is  $\langle \phi \rangle$  all the night. He that is hired for a week, or for a month, or for a year, or for seven, if (the term) go out by day, it is due all that day; if it go out by night, it is due all that night. Maimonides ibidem, chap. 11. sect. 2. lifteth up his soul] that is, hopeth for and desireth it for the maintenance of his life. So the Greek here translatheth, he hath hope; and in Jer. 22. 27. and 44. 14. the lifting up of the soul signifieth a desire: and the soul is often put for the life. Hereupon the Hebrews say; Whosoever with-holdeth: the hirelings wage, is as if he took away his soul (or life) from him; for it is written, unto it he lifteth up his soul: and he transgresseth against four prohibitions, and one commandment; against, Thou shalt not fraudulently oppress; and against, Thou shalt not rob; and against, The hirelings work (or wage) shall not abide all night with thee; and against, The sun shall not go down upon it; and, In his day thou shalt give his hire. Maimonides treat. of Hiring, ch. 11. sect. 2. a sin] that is, a great iniquity which God will punish: for though he cry not, yet is it a sin; but the cry of the poor hasteth God's judgment; as on the contrary, the blessing of the poor procureth a good reward from the Lord, verse. 13. According to this phrase it is said, The wicked thought of foolishness (that is, of the fool) is sin, Prov. 24. 9. that is, damnable, and to be punished of God. So in I am. 4. 17. John. 15. 22, 24. and 9. 41. And in 1 King. 1. 21. I and my son Solomon shall be sinners, that is, punished as malefactors. Accordingly God threateneth to come near to them in judgment, and to be a swift witness against those that fraudulently oppress the hireling in his wages, Mal. 3. 5.

Vers. 16. for the children] Hebr. for the sons. This law concerneth the Magistrates, who should not kill the children for the parents, or parents for the children, no not in case of treason, as K. Amaziah slew his servants which had slain the king his father, but the sons of them that slew him he put not to death, according to this law of Moses, 2 Kin. 14. 5, 6. 2 Chron. 25. 4. And God himself professeth so to deal, saying, The son shall not bear the iniquity (that is, the punishment) of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son, &c. the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him, Ezek. 18. 20. The Chaldee Paraphrast here translateth, by the mouth of the sons; and so after, by the mouth of the fathers; meaning that they should not die by their testimony. And so the Hebrews gather from this Law, saying, Neere kinsfolke are not fit to be witnesses by the Law, as it is written, The fathers shall not be put to death for the sons, &c. We have been taught, that in this general prohibition is comprised, that the fathers be not put to death by the <...> th of the sons, nor the sons by the mouth of the fathers; and the same right is for other near a kin. Maimonides tom. 4. treat. of witnesses. c. 13. s. 1. But the first interpretation is most proper and certain. not be put to death] so it is also alleged in 2 Kin. 14. 6. but in 2 Chron. 25. 4. it is, they shall not die. The one openeth the other; and to die, is often used for, to be put to death, as Num. 35. 12. 30. Deut. 17. 1•. and 18. 20. and 22. 22. 25. in his sin] and for his sin; for so the Hebrew in often noteth the cause: see Deut. 9. 4.

Vers. 17. not wrest] or, not pervert, decline, or turn a side. This is forbidden in all judgment generally, Exod. 23. 2. Deut. 16. 19. specially concerning the posre, Exod. 23. 6. more specially here concerning the stranger and fatherless: against such as thus wrest judgment, the Lord will come near to judgment, and be a swift witness against them, Mal. 3. 5. The Hebrews say, Whosoever wresteth the judgment of any one of Israel, transgresseth against one prohibition, viz. Ye shall not do unrighteousness in judgment, Levite. 19. 15. And if it be of a stranger, he transgresseth against two prohibitions, Deut. 24. 17. and if it be of the fatherless, he transgresseth against three prohibitions, Deut. 24. 17. Maimonides in Sanhedrin, chap. 20. sect. 12. nor of the fatherless] the word nor, or and, is supplied also by the Greek version, and so is often to be understood, as two three Eunuchs, 2 King. 9. 32. for two or three, so, tomorrow, the third day, for, or the third day, 1 Sam. 20. 12. Like a Crane, a Swallow, that is, or a Swallow, Isaiah 38. 14. and sundry the like. The holy Ghost sometime supplieth the defect, as is noted on Exod. 22. 30. In the Greek here is added, and of the widow: so in Deut. 27. 19. Cursed be he that wresteth the judgment of the stranger, fatherless, and widow; and all the people shall say, Amen. garment of the widow] or any other thing of hers that she hath need of: the garment is named but for an instance; as in Job 24. 3. there is mentioned the widows ox•. The Hebrews have this general canon; A widow, whether she be poor or rich, they may take no pawn of her, neither at the time when they lend unto her, nor at any other time, neither by the commandment of the Synedrion, Deut. 24. 17. and if any take her pledge, they force him to restore it. If the pawn be lost or burnt before he restore it, he is to be beaten. Maimonides treat. of the Lender and Borrower, chap. 3. sect. 1.

Vers. 19. reapest thine harvest] This is an addition to the Law in Lev. 19. 9. there, a corner of the field, and the gleanings were commanded to be left for the poor; and here the forgotten sheaf. These three were due to the poor out of every corn-field in Israel. And the Hebrews say, this law of the forgotten sheaf extended also to the vineyard, and other fruit trees, where whatsoever was forgotten, might not be taken again by the owner: see the Annotations on Levite. 19. 10. hast forgot] This the Hebrews understand as spoken both to the owner, and to his laborers; that it is not a forgotten sheaf till all have forgotten it. But so as that they all be in the field; for if the owner be in the city, and speaketh of the sheaf in the field, which he thinketh his workmen will forget, and they do forget it, this (notwithstanding his remembrance of it) is a forgotten sheaf. Two sheafes asunder one from another are (counted as) forgotten; but three (or moe) are not. So for other things; as two vines, or other trees, standing asunder one from another, are as forgotten, but not moe. A tree that is forgotten among the trees, though it have many pecks of fruit upon it, yet is counted as forgotten. Finally, among many other like cautions, they say; What is forgotten among the sheaves? All that he cannot stretch out his hand and take it: [that is, if it be further than he can reach from the place where he standeth.] Maimonides tom. 3. in Mattanoth gnanijim, chap. 5. And as it is for the sheaves, so for the standing corn: if a man forget-some of the standing corn, and reap it not, it is for the poor. Maimonides ibid. chap. 1. sect. 6. for the stranger] in Greek, the proselyte, one joined to the Church of Israel: to such these gifts peculiarly belonged, and to other poor: see the Annotations on Levite. 19. 10. And as forgetting often signifieth a neglect, or passing over of a thing, so in this case: and a man might purposely pass over a sheaf and leave it as forgotten, for the poor, as Boaz did for the stranger Ruth, saying to his harvest-men, Let fall some of the sheaves for her, and let it lie that she may gather it up, Ruth 2. 16. Or, if a man did it not purposely, but unawares, yet was he to consider herein the providence of God, which caused him to forget or pass over a sheaf, for the poor's sake: for as the Ostrich is said to forget her eggs which she leaveth in the earth, because God hath deprived her of wisdom, &c. Job 39. 15, 17. so in this case of the sheaf, that the poor also might have occasion to mind the providence and love of God towards them, in this relief. in all the work] or, in every work; the Greek saith, in all the works. This promise of blessing is to encourage them in well doing, for which they should not lose their reward: for that which is done unto poor Christians, is done unto Christ himself, Matth. 25. 40. and, He that is gracious unto the poor, lendeth unto the LORD; and that which he hath given will be pay him again, Prov. 19. 17. So Boaz for his kindness unto Ruth, (whom afterwards he took to wife) had a son of her (as a blessing of God) Obed, the grandfather of David the King, Ruth 4.

Vers. 20. beatest] that is, as the Greek translath, gatherest the olives. The same is to be understood of all other trees of fruit which they gathered. not go over the boughs] in Greek, thou shalt not return to gather the (olives) after thee: in Chaldee, thou shalt not take away after thee. It is the same law for trees, which was before for corn, that what was forgotten or past over at first, should not after be gathered, but left for the poor. As that which is forgotten in the revenues of the field, and the like, so that which is forgotten in all trees (is for the poor) as Deut. 24. 20. When thou beatest thine olive tree, &c. And the same law is for other trees. So there are two gifts for the poor from the trees, that which is forgotten, and the corner, Levite. 19. Maimonides in Mattanoth gnanijim, chap. 1. sect. 6, 7.

Vers. 21. not gather the single grapes] or, not glean, and properly the grapes which grow not in clusters, as is noted on Levite. 19. 10. which law is here repeated: and by saying, after thee, he seemeth to teach the same for the vine, which he taught for the corn and other trees, that all forgotten grapes should be for the poor. So the Hebrews observe, that there are four gifts for the poor in the vineyard; the grapes that are broken off, and the single grapes, and the corner, and that which is forgotten. Maim. in Mattanoth gnan. ch. 1. s. 7.

CHAP. XXV.

1 God commandeth just judgment towards all. 2 To beat such as deserve it, but not with more than forty stripes. 4 Not to mousell the Ox when he treadeth out the corn. 5 Of raising seed unto a brother deceased without issue. 7 What was to be done unto the man that would not so raise up seed unto his brother. 11 The immodest woman must have her hand cut off. 13 Against unjust weights and measures. 17 The memory of Amalek for cruelty to Israel, is to be blotted out from under heaven.

IF there be a controversy between men, and they come near unto judgment, and they judge them; then they shall justify the just, and condemn for wicked the wicked.

And it shall be, if the wicked he worthy to be beaten, that the Judge shall cause him to lie down, and to be beaten before his face, according to his wickedness, by a number. Forty (stripes) he may smite him; he shall not add moe, lest if he add to smite him above these with many stripes, then thy brother be vile in thine eyes.

Thou shalt not mousell the Ox when he treadeth out the corn.

If brethren dwell together, and one of them die, and have no son, the wife of the dead shall not be to one without, to a man that is a stranger, her husbands brother shall go in unto her, and take her to him to wife, and do the duty of an husbands brother unto her. And it shall be, that the first-borne which she beareth, shall stand up in the name of his brother, which is dead, that his name be not blotted out of Israel. And if the man like not to take his brothers wife, then let his brothers wife go up to the gate, unto the Elders, and say, My husbands brother refuseth to raise up unto his brother a name in Israel; he is not willing to do the duty of an husbands brother unto me. And the Elders of his city shall call him and speak unto him: and if he stand and say, I like not to take her; Then shall his brothers wife come near unto him in the eyes of the Elders, and she shall pull off his shoe from off his foot, and shall spit in his face: and she shall answer and say; So shall it be done unto the man which will not build up his brothers house. And his [unspec] name shall be called in Israel, The house of him that hath his shoe pulled off.

When men strive together, a man and his brother, and the wife of the one draweth near for to deliver her husband out of the hand of him that smiteth him, and putteth forth her hand, & taketh hold by his secrets; Then thou shalt cut off her hand, thine eye shall not spare.

Thou shalt not have in thy bag a stone and a stone, a great and a small. Thou shalt not have in thine house an Ephah and an Ephah, a great and a small. A perfect stone & a just shalt thou have, a perfect Ephah and a just shalt thou have, that thy days may be lengthened in the land which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee. For he is an abomination to Jehovah thy God, whosoever doth these things, whosoever doth unrighteousness.

Remember that which Amalek did unto thee by the way when ye were come forth out of Egypt. How he met thee by the way, and smote the hind most of thee, all that were feeble behind thee, and thou wast faint and weary; and he feared not God. Therefore it shall be when Jehovah thy God hath given rest unto thee, from all thine enemies round about, in the land which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee for an inheritance to possess it, thou shalt blot out the remembrance of Amalek from under the heavens: thou shalt not forget it.

Annotations.

A •o•t•oversie] a plea, or strife; in Greek, a contradiction. and they] or, that they (the Judges) may judge them. And this Law concerneth all Courts, the highest of 71 Judges, the Court of twenty three, and the Court of three; the lowest of which judged inferior causes and money matters, and had authority to beat malefactors▪ but not to put to death. justify] that is, pronounce just, & so absolve or acquit in judgment. condemn for wicked] or, pronounce wicked, and so tendemne in judgment; as the Greek translatheth it, condemn. This is contrary to the former, and so the Apostle opposeth them, saying, It is God that justifieth, who is he that condemneth? Rom. 8. 33. 34. This law is perpetual, the transgression whereof is a great sin; for, He that justifieth the wicked, and he that condemneth the just, even they both are an abomination to the LORD, Prov. 17. 15.

Vers. 2. worthy to be beaten] Hebr. a son of beating, which the Greek translatheth, worthy of stripes; and the Chaldee, a son guilty of, or worthy to be beaten. So the son (or child) of hell, Matt. 23. 15. is one worthy of hell fire; the son of death, in 1 Sam. 20. 31. is one that was worthy of death, and therefore should be killed: and in the Gospel, If the son of peace be there, (in the house) Luk. 10. 6. which another Evangelist explaineth thus, If the house be worthy, Matt. 10. 13. Now, who they were that deserved beating, are by the Hebrews shown thus; He that transgresseth against a prohibition, whereby the (contrary) commandment to be done, is broken off, and they warned him of it, and said unto him, Do not this thing, for if thou doest it, and keepest not that which is commanded concerning it, thou shalt be beaten; and he transgresseth and keepeth not the commandment, loe he is to be beaten. Maimonides in Sanhedrin, chap. 16. sect. 4. More particularly, These are to be beaten, whosoever transgresseth against a prohibition, for which he deserveth to be cut off, but is not to be put to death by the Synedrion, as he that eateth fat, or blood, or leaven at the Passover. Likewise whosoever transgresseth against a prohibition for which they are guilty of death by the band of God: as he that eateth of fruits, before the first-fruits, tithes, &c. be paid; and a Priest that is unclean, and eateth of the heave-offering which is clean. Likewise who so transgresseth against a prohibition, wherein there is an act (or work:) as he that boyleth a Kid in his mothers milk [which the Hebrews understand of eating flesh with milk;] or that weareth Linsey-woolsey. But a prohibition wherein is no act, as to walk as a tale-bearer, to revenge or bear grudge, or receive a false report, &c. for such he is not beaten: [nor for any other wherein there is an act, some few excepted.] Every prohibition, for which they are to be put to death by the Magistrate, as adultery, working on the Sabbath, &c. they are not beaten therefore. So every prohibition, for which they are to make satisfaction, as robbery, theft, &c. they are not beaten for it. And every prohibition▪ whereby the (contrary) commandment is broken off, as, Thou shalt not take the dam with the young, (Deut. 22. 6.) Thou shalt not wholly rid the corner of thy field, (Levite. 19. 9.) &c. they are not beaten for it, unless they keep not the commanded thing concerning them; [that is, unless they omit the letting of the dam go, Deut. 22. 7. and the leaving of the corner for the poor, Levite. 19. 10.] And for a prohibition (implied) in the generals, they are not beaten: but all other prohibitions which are in the Law, they are to be beaten for doing them. What is that prohibition (comprised) in the generals? It is one prohibition which generally compriseth many things, as, ye shall not eat with the blood, (Levite. 19. 26.) And so when it is said. Do not such a thing, and such a thing, forasmuch as there is not a particular prohibition set before everyone of them, he is not to be beaten for everyone of them, unless they be divided in other prohibitions, or said by word of mouth that they are divided. As where it is said, Eat not of it raw or sodden, (Exodus. 12. 9.) he is not beaten (for eating of it raw and sodden) twice, but once. Of the first-fruits he saith, Ye shall not eat bread, and parched corn, and green ears, (Levite. 23. 14.) a man for eating these three is to be beaten thrice; by word of mouth we have been taught, that these are divided (or several.) It is said (in Deut. 18. 10.) Let there not be found in thee, any that maketh his son or his daughter to pass thorough the fire; a diviner of divinations, an observer of times: although all these things be comprehended generally in one prohibition, yet are they divided in other prohibitions, as (in Levite. 19. 26.) ye shall not observe fortunes, and ye shall not observe times: to teach, that everyone of these is a prohibition by it self several; and so all other of like sort. Maimonides in Sanhedrin, ch. 18. sect. 1, 2, 3. Finally they say, All prohibitions, for which cutting off is due, but not death by the Magistrate, for which men are to be beaten, are one and twenty. All for which death is due by the hand of God, which are prohibitions wherein an act is, for which men are to be beaten, are eighteen. All prohibitions in the Law, for which there is neither cutting off due, nor death by the Magistrate, for which men are to be beaten, are an hundred sixty and eight. So there are found in all which are to be beaten, 207. Maimonides ibidem, chap. 19. All which are there particularly related, but would be too long here to repeat. the Judge] that is, the Judges, as the Greek translateth: for one Judge sate not alone to judge controversies. Neither was any man to be beaten without witnesses of his crime. No man is to be beaten but by witnesses and evidence, and they are to examine the witnesses by inquiry and diligent search, even as they do in judgments of life and death. Maimonides in Sanhedrin, chap. 16. sect. 4. cause him to lie down] or, to be laid down, and bound fast: the manner is said to be thus, both his hands are fast bound unto a post, this way and that way, and the minister of the congregation [the executioner] taketh hold on his garments, if they rend they rend, or if they seam-rend they seam-rend, until he make bare down to his heart, for he is not to beat him upon his clothes. And he that is beaten neither standeth nor sitteth, but boweth down. Maim. in Sanhed. c. 16. s. 8. 10. to be beaten] or smitten; in Greek, scourged. The Hebrews say, There was a stone laid behind him, on which the minister that did beat him stood, who had in his hand a scourge of a bulls hide, doubled to two, and two to four; and two scourges (or thongs) of an asses hide, that slided up and down in it: and the breadth of the scourge was an hand breadth and the length so as it might reach to the fore-part of his belly; and the handle of the scourge was an hand breadth long. He that did beat him, lifted up the scourge with both his hands, and smote him with one hand, with all his might, &c. Maim. in Sanhedrin, ch. 16. sect. 8. before his face] the Greek translateth, before them, meaning the Judges, who were to see him beaten. And they say, that The greatest of the Judges read all the while that he was in beating, (that in Deut. 28. 58. &c.) If thou wilt not observe to do all the words of this law, &c. then the LORD will make thy plagues wonderful, &c. And the second of the Judges counted (the number of the strokes) and the third said unto the minister, Smite) all the while that he smote, he did smite at his bidding. Maimonides ibidem, chap. 16. sect.

11. according to his wickedness] or, as the Chaldee interpreteth it, according to the sufficiency (the proportion) of his sin: but the Greek saith, according to his impiety. So that the Judges might moderate [unspec] his blows, according to the nature of his trespass, and the man's ability to bear the stripes; but they might not exceed the number set here of God. They may not add more than forty, though he be as strong and lusty as Sampson: but they may abate from him that is weak, &c. If they have judged him to have forty stripes, and after that they have begun to beat him, they see him to be weak, and say, he cannot bear more than these nine or twelve stripes which he hath received, then he is free. If they adjudged him to receive twelve, and after that he is beaten, they see him strong, and able to bear more, he is free notwithstanding, and may not be beaten with more than they adjudged him. Who so deserveth many beatings, for many transgressions that he hath done, or for one that deserveth many, if they adjudge him one measure (or judgment) he is beaten and discharged; if not, they beat him, and he healeth himself, and then they beat him again. Who so is beaten by the Magistrates for a sin which deserveth cutting off, and is beaten the second time for the same sin; as he that eateth fat (Levite. 7. 25.) and is beaten for it, and eateth fat the second time, and is beaten for it; if he eat it the third time, they beat him not, but put him into Little-ease, a narrow place as high as him-self, wherein he cannot lie down, and they give him the bread of distress, and water of affliction, till his bowels be shrunk, and he be sick: and afterward they feed him with barley till his belly burst. Maimonides in Sanhedrin, chap. 17. sect. 1, 2, 4. and chap. 18. sect. 4. by a number] that is, by a certain number, determined by the Judges.

Vers. 3. *Forty stripes] this number, forty the Scripture useth sundry times in cases of humiliation, affliction, and punishment: as Moses twice humbled himself in fasting and prayer forty days and forty nights, Deut. 9. 9, 18. Elias fasted forty days, 1 King. 19. 8. and our Savior, Matth. 4. 2. Forty years Israel was afflicted in the wilderness for their sins, Numb. 14. 33, 34. and forty years Egypt was desolate for treacherous dealing with Israel, Ezek. 29. 11, 12, 13. Forty days every woman was in purification from her uncleanness, for a man-child that she bare, and twice forty days for a woman-child, Levite. 12. 4. 5. Forty days and forty nights it rained at Noes flood, Gen. 7. 12. Forty days did Ezekiel bear the iniquity of the house of Judah, Ezek. 4. 6. Jonah preached, yet forty days and Nimveh shall be over thrown▪ Ion. 3. 4. Forty years space the Canaanites had to repent, after Israel came out of Egypt, and wandered so many years in the wilderness, Numb. 14. 33. And thrice forty years the old world had Noah preaching unto them repentance, Gen. 6. 3. It was forty days ere Christ ascended into heaven, after his resurrection, Acts 1. 3,—9. And forty years space of repentance he gave unto the Jews, from the time that they killed him, before he destroyed their City and Temple, by the Romans. By the Hebrews this law is expounded thus, *How many stripes do they beat (an offender) with? with forty lacking one: as it is written (Deut. 25. 2, 3.) by number forty, that is, the number which is next to forty. Talmud. Bab. in Maccoth, chap. 3. This their understanding is very ancient, for so they practiced in the Apostles days; as Paul testifieth, Of the Jews five times received I forty (stripes) save one, 2 Cor. 11. 24. But their reason which they give is not solid: as when they say, If it had been written, FORTIE IN NVMBER, I would say it were full forty: but being written, in number forty, it meaneth the number which reckoneth forty next after it, that is, thirty nine. By this exposition they confound the verses, and take away the distinction. I think rather this custom was taken up, by reason of the manner of their beating forespoken of, which was with a scourge that had three cords, so that every stroke was counted for three stripes, and then they could not give even forty, but either thirty nine, or forty two, which was above the number set of God. And hereof they write thus: When they judge (or condemn) a sinner to so many (stripes) as he can bear, they judge not but by strokes that are sit to be trebled, [that is, to give three stripes at one stroke by reason of the three cords.] If they judge that he can bear twenty, they do not say he shall be beaten with one and twenty, to the end that they may treble (the stripes) but they give him eighteen. Maimonides in Sanhedrin, chap. 17. sect. 2. Thus he that was able to bear twenty stripes, had but eighteen; the Executioner smote him but six times, for if he had smitten hm the seventh, they were counted one and twenty stripes, which was above the number adjudged: so he that was adjudged to forty, was smitten thirteen times, which being counted one for three, make thirty nine. And so R. Bechaias writing hereof saith, The strokes are trebled (that is, everyone is three) and three times thirteen are nine and thirty. he may smite] in Greek, they may scourge, (or, shall scourge,) implying all the Judges with the Executioner: so after, and they shall not add. not add] not exceed the number set of God. The Hebrews say, If he that is beaten die under the hand of the Executioner, he is free; but if he add one stripe more to the measure, and he die, then the Executioner is banished for it. If he die not, yet he transgresseth against this prohibition: and so for all other that smite their neighbors. For if when the law giveth leave to smite, the Scripture commandeth not to smite a man (more than the appointed measure) for his wickedness, much more any other man. Therefore who so smiteth his neighbor, though he smite a servant with a stroke, for which there is not due a farthing recompense, he is to be beaten: but if there be recompense to be made for it by money, no man payeth, and is beaten also. Maim. in Sanhedrin, ch. 16. s. 12. with many stripes] or, with any moe stripes: Hebr. with much smiting. thy brother be vile] or, be contemptible▪ By this God teacheth to hate and despise the sin, not the sinner, who is by this chastisement to be amended: as the power which the Lord hath given, is to edification, and not to destruction, 2 Cor. 13. 10. This vileness or ignominy is opposed to glory or honor, Isaiah 16. 14. The Greek translatheth it, Aschemonesei, that is, be ignominious, or behave himself unseemly: which word Paul useth when he saith, Love doth not behave it self unseemly, or is not ignominious, or contumelious, 1 Cor. 13. 5. From this the Hebrews teach, that whosoever hath sinned and is beaten, he returneth to his dignity, because it is said, Then thy brother be vile in thine eyes; after he is beaten, loe he is thy brother. And all that deserve cutting off, when they are beaten, are free from cutting off. The high Priest when he sinneth, is beaten by three, as all other of the people, and returneth to his highness (or dignity:) but the Chief of the Session, when he sinneth, they beat him, and he returneth not to his first estate; yea, he returneth not to be as one of the rest of the Synedrion, for they ascend in holiness, and descend not. Maim. in Sanhedrin, ch. 17. s. 7, 8, 9.

Vers. 4. the ox] or the asse, or any other beast: the ox is named but for an instance. And if the beast may not be mouseled, that is, have his mouth tied up (as the Chaldee translatheth) but is to eat of that wherein he worketh, how much more men. Hereupon the Apostle saith, Doth God take care for Oxen? or saith he it altogether for our sakes? For our sakes no doubt this is written, that he that ploweth should plow in hope; and he that thresheth in hope, should be partaker of his hope, 1 Cor. 9. 9, 10. See also the notes on Deutero. 22. 10. when he treadeth] or, in his treading or threshing: which the Greek (followed also by the Apostle) translatheth, treading or threshing.

They used in Israel to thresh their corn, not only with flail as we do, but with the seet of beasts they trod it out, Hos. 10. 11. and sometime with Cart-wheels, as Isaiah 28. 27, 28. So they were wont in other nations, as the Romans did beat out their corn with staves, or tread it out with cattle. Columel. de re rust. lib. 2. cap. 21. Spiritually this signified the labor of the Ministers of the Word, preparing the bread of life for the soul, as the Apostle showeth, saying, Let the elders that rule well be counted worthy of double honor, especially they who labor in the word and doctrine: for the Scripture saith, Thou shalt not mousell the ox that treadeth out the corn, 1 Tim. 5. 17, 18. and to this the Proverb agreeth, Where no oxen are, the crib is clean (or empty) Prov. 14. 4. Touching this Law the Hebrews write thus; A beast is to eat all the while that it worketh in things that grow out of the ground, whether they be yet upon the ground, or pulled up: he is also to eat of the burdens that are upon his back, &c. whosoever restraineth a beast from eating, in the time of his working, he is to be beaten, Deut. 25. 4. *whether it be an ox, or other kind of beast, unclean or clean, and whether he tread out the corn, or do any other work in that which groweth out of the ground; and it is not said, the ox when he treadeth, but for an instance. And whether he mousell him at the time of his work, or before the time, and then doth work with him; yea, though he mousell him by voice, [that is, fraieth him by his voice from eating] he is to be beaten. If he hire a beast, and mousell him, and treadeth out corn with him, he is both beaten, and payeth to the owner thereof four kabs for a bullock, and three kabs for an asse. [A Kab was a measure that held as much as 24 eggs.] If an Israelite tread out corn with the bullock of an heathen, (and mousell it) he transgresseth against this Law, Thou shalt not mousell: but if an heathen tread with an Israelites bullock, he transgresseth not: [for what things soever the Law saith, it saith to them that are under the Law, Rom. 3. 19.] If he mousell him not, but put a prick in his mouth, that he cannot eat, or cause a lion to lie thereby [to fray him from eating] or layeth the (bullocks) calf without, [to keep her from eating,] or that the beast is athirst, and he giveth it no drink, or spread a skin upon the corn that he may not eat; all these and other the like are unlawful, though he is not beaten [for doing them] &c. Maimonides tom. 4. treat. of Hired things, chap. 13. sect. 1, 2, 3.*

Vers. 5. If brethren dwell together] This Law is first to be understood of natural and next brethren (the Hebrews restrain it to Israelites, and brethren by the fathers side only;) and secondly, if there be no brethren, the next kinsman (for all kinsmen are in the Scripture phrase brethren,) is to do the duty here required, as the example of Booz and Ruth showeth, Ruth 3. and 4. chap. And their dwelling together seemeth to denote their single state of life, whilst they abode in their fathers house; as there is an example of Er, Onan, and Selah, in Judah's family, where before Moses time this Law was practiced, Gen. 38. 7. &c. One of them die] One is often used for the first, as in Gen. 1. 5. and 8. 5. So some understand this Law to be for the first-borne of the brethren only: others take it generally for any one of them; and thus the Hebrews take it in the largest sense. It is commanded by the Law, that a man should take the wife of his brother by the fathers side, whether of such as be married or betrothed, if he die without seed, Deut. 25. 5. Brethren by the mothers side (only) are not counted for brethren, in the case of inheritance, or of taking the brothers wife, and putting off (the shoe) but are as if they mere none: for there is no brotherhood but by the fathers side. Strangers that are become Proselytes, and servants which have their freedom, have no brotherhood at all, but are as strangers one to another, &c. Maimonides tom. 2. in Iibbum (or treat. of taking the Brothers wise) chap. 1. sect. 1. 7, 8. So in the Gospel this case is propounded to our Savior in general terms, Moses said, if any (man) die, Matt. 22. 24. or if any (man's) brother die, Mark. 12. 19. Luk. 20. 28. that it seemeth even then, this law was not thought to intend the first-borne only. have no son] Hebr. no son to him, that is, no child: for son, the Greek translatheth seed, which comprehendeth son or daughter: so in the Gospel it is translated, having no children, Matt. 22. 24. or, he die childless, Luk. 20. 28. and in Matt. 22. 25. it is said, having no seed. Thus the Hebrews expound it, That which is said in the Law, AND HAVE NO SON; whether it be son or daughter, or seed of son, or seed of daughter, &c. if he have seed by that wife, or by another, he freeth his wife from unloosing the shoe, or marrying his brother: yea, though he have a seed which is a bastard, &c. But if he have a son by a bondwoman, or by an alien, he freeth not his wife: for the seed that cometh of a bondwoman are servants, Exod. 21. 4. and they which come of Infidels, are Infidels, and are as none; for of the heathen he saith, HE WILL TVRNE AWAY THY SON FROM AFTER ME, Deut. 7. 4. he turneth him away from being counted of the Church. And though his son by the bondwoman be made free, or his son by the alien be become a Proselyte; yet are they as other strangers, and freed (servants) and do not discharge his wife, &c. Whoso dieth, and leaveth his wife with child, if she have an untimely birth after his death, she is to marry her husbands brother: but if she bring it forth, and the child cometh out alive into the air of the world, although it die in the hour that it is borne, loe his mother is discharged from pulling off the shoe, or marrying her husbands brother. Maim. in Iibbum, chap. 1. sect. 3, 4, 5. a stranger] that is, of another family in Israel, as the Greek translatheth it, a man not near, that is, not near of kin. The Hebrews say, If she be married to another, & he lie with her before she be married to her husbands brother, or have pulled off his shoe, he and she are to be beaten, and she is to go out by (bill of divorce.) Maim. in Iibbum c. 2 s. 18. her husbands brother] or next nearest kinsman, as in Ruths case, Ruth 3. Here they say, Who so dieth and leaveth many brethren, it is commanded that the eldest marry his brothers wife, or pull off his shoe. If the eldest will not, they turn to all the other brethrē: if they will not, they turn again to the eldest and say, Upon thee the commandment (lieth) either to pull off (the shoe) or to marry thy brothers wife: and they cannot compel the husbands brother to marry her, but they may compel him to pull off (the shoe.) If the eldest brother be gone into another country, his younger brother may not say, the commandment lieth upon my elder brother, wait for him till he come: but they say to this, that he now marry, or pull off (the shoe.) Maimonides in Iibbum, chap. 2. sect. 6,—9. go in unto her] into the chamber, as Judge. 15. 1. that is, take her to wife. The Hebrews think this might not be done till they had waited 90 days after her husbands death, which was to see whether she were with child or not: and such was the custom for all other women that were widows; they married not till after three months. Maim. in Iibbum, chap. 1. sect. 19. This seemeth necessary in this case, for if she were with child, & brought it forth alive, it was not lawful for her brother in law to have her, Levite. 18. 16.

Vers. 6. stand up in the name of his brother] that is, be counted and called the seed of the dead man, not of the living: and for this cause Onan sinned in not performing this duty, because he know that the seed should not be his, Gen. 38. 9. Thus Obed, whom Boaz begat of Ruth, is said to be the son of Naomi, Ruth 4. 17. And as he did this for his dead brother, so by the Hebrews, Who so married his brothers wife, he was the heir of all his brothers goods. Maimonides tom. 4. treat. of Inheritances, chap. 3. sect. 7. his name be not blotted but] or, not wiped out; for that was an heavy judgment in Israel, Deut. 9. 14. and 29. 20. Psal. 109. 13. Therefore to comfort the godly Eunuchs, the Lord promiseth to give them a name better than of sons and of daughters, Isaiah 56. 5. And this showeth the reason of this Law, that God would have brethren show mercy one to another, both to the living, and to the dead, as Ruth 2. 20. that widows should not be left comfortless, and that families should not be cut off from their inheritances in Canaan, (which were figures of a better and heavenly heritage, as is shown on Gen. 12. 5.) but that the name of the dead might be raised up upon their inheritances, Ruth 4. 5, 10. And as Christ himself came according to the flesh, after this manner of kindness shown by Booz his grandfather; so unto him, and his Church, may the truth of this shadow and legal ordinance be applied. For the Church of Israel was his wife, Hos. 2. who bare him no children by the Law, Rom. 7. and 10. and 11. But the Apostles (his brethren, John 20. 17.) by the immortal seed of the Gospel, begat children unto him, both of the Jews and Gentiles, 1 Cor. 4. 15. Gal. 4. 19. 1 Pet. 1. 23. not that they should be called by any man's name, 1 Cor. 1. 12, 13. but to carry the name of Christ, whose name shall be forever, and continued as long as the Sun; in whom all nations shall bless themselves: and blessed be the name of his glory forever, Psal. 72. 17, 19.

Vers. 7. like not] or be not willing, have no delight or pleasure: so in verse. 8. Though God would have brethren perform the soresaid duty, yet if their affections were contrary, he forced them not hereunto, lest worse evils should grow in families, through want of love, which is the bond of perfectness. But what if the woman her self were not willing? For this God giveth no express Law; but by the Hebrews opinion, if she were fit to marry him, and would not, she was judged as a woman rebellious against her husband, and was put away without a dowry, which all other widows had. If her husbands brethren were many, and the eldest required her, and she were not willing thereto, but would have another brother, they hearkened not unto her, for the commandment is, that the eldest should have his brothers wife. Maimonides in Iibbum, chap. 2. sect. 10, 11. to the gate] where the Judges used to sit: so the Chaldee explaineth it, to the gate of the Judgment hall (or Court,) before the Elders: See Ruth 4. 1, 2, &c.

Vers. 8. and speak unto him] The brothers wife goeth after her husbands brother, in the place where he is, and cometh to the Judges: and they call him, and give him counsel, such as is meet for him and her. If it be good to marry, they counsel him to marry her: and if it be good to put off the shoe, as if she be very young, and he an old man, or she an old woman, and he a young man, they counsel him to put off (the shoe.) And it is needful that the Judges appoint a certain place to sit in, and afterward she pulleth off his shoe there before them; &c. Maimonides in Iibbum, ch. 4. sect. 1, 2.

Vers. 9. pull off his shoe] It is said in Ruth 4. 7. that this was the manner in former time in Israel, concerning redeeming, and concerning changing, for to confirm all things; a man pulled off his shoe, and gave it to his neighbor, and this was a testimony in Israel. So in this case it was a sign, that the brother gave over his right in the woman, and resigned her to any other. Sometime it is a sign of ignominy, Isaiah 20. 2, 4. that also is implied here, as the words following manifest. The manner of performing this rite is said to be thus; They brought him a shoe of lether, which had an heel, &c. and he put it on his right foot, and tied the latchet thereof upon his foot, and stood he and she in the Synedrion (or Court.) And he setting his foot upon the ground, and she sitting down stretched out her hand in the Court, and loosed the latchet of his shoe, and pulled the shoe off his foot, and cast it on the ground. After this she stood up, and spitted on the ground before his face, with spittle that might be seen of the Judges; and it was necessary that the Judges should see the spittle that came out of her mouth. And afterwards she said, THVS SHALL IT BE DONE TO THE MAN WHICH WILL NOT BVILD VP HIS BROTHERS HOUSE; AND HIS NAME SHALL BE CALLED IN ISRAEL, THE HOUSE OF HIM THAT HATH HIS SHOOE PVLLLED OFF; all in the holy tongue. And all that sate there, answered after her, HE THAT HATH HIS SHOOE PVLLLED OFF, three times. Maimonides in Iibbum, chap. 4. sect. 6, 7, 8. Spiritually this signified, that such as would not beget children unto Christ, it should be declared of them, that their feet are not shod with the preparation (or stability) of the Gospel of peace, mentioned in Ephes. 6. 15. spit in his face] or in his sight, as this phrase is interpreted, Deut. 4. 37. or before him, as Deut. 11. 25. The Hebrews expound it of spitting on the ground before him, as is before noted. And this spitting was a sign of shame and ignominy, as Num. 12. 14. Isaiah 50. 6. build up his brothers house] that is, beget seed for his brother: as Rachel and Leah are said to build the house of Israel, by bearing children, Ruth 4. 11. See the Annotations on Gen. 16. 2. the house of him] So there was a note of infamy not upon himself only, but his house, his posterity after him: whereby God shown how much he disliked this his unkindness. And concerning that nearest kinsman, which refused to marry Ruth, left he should mar his own inheritance, Ruth 4. 6. we may observe how neither he nor his hath any name or memorial in the book of God, though there seemed to be just occasion to have named him, Ruth 4. 1. &c. whereas Boaz who did the duty, hath not only his genealogy rehearsed, Ruth 4. 18,—22. but is in the roll of the kindred of our Lord Jesus Christ, who came of him according to the flesh, Matth. 1. 1,—5. After all these rites were performed, the Hebrews do record, that the Judges gave unto the woman a Bill subscribed with their names, wherein they testified to all men, that such a man and such a woman had on such a day and year appeared before them, and done all the things fore-mentioned, according to the Law of Moses and Israel: which bill was a testimonial of her full discharge from this man, after which she was free to be married to any other. Maimonides in libbum, ch. 4. sect. 29, 30.

Vers. 11. When men strive] or fight, as it were flying one upon another. and his brother] that is, his neighbor; brother is taken here in a large sense, as in Exod. 2. 11. and in many other places. to deliver her husband] This though it was lawful for her to do, and a fruit of her love; yet God forbiddeth it to be done by any unlawful or immodest manner: for we may not do evil that good may come, Rom. 3. 8. putteth forth her hand] This noteth a purposed act: for if she had done this unawares, the penalty following was not to be inflicted upon her. So the Hebrews conclude in the general for all men, He that bringeth shame (on his neighbor) is not guilty (of punishment) for the shame, unless he do it purposely, as it is written, AND SHE PVTTEETH FORTH HER HAND: but he that doth shame to his neighbor without intent, is free. Maimonides tom. 4. in Chobel (or treat. of him that doth hurt and damage) chap. 1. sect. 10. by his secrets] or privities; which in the Hebrew have their name of Shame, the shameful parts. From hence the Jews have a general law, that men are to make satisfaction for all manner shame that they bring upon their neighbor, as is noted on Exod. 21. 19. Their saying is, He that hurteth his neighbor, is bound to make him satisfaction for five things, viz. the damage, and the pain, and his healing, and his resting, and the shame; and these five things are recompensed out of the best of his goods, &c. He is bound to pay for the shame by it self, Deut. 25. 11, 12. under which law is generally comprehended he that bringeth shame (upon his neighbor.) Maimonides in Chobel, ch. 1. sect. 1. 8.

Vers. 12. cut off her hand] the instrument wherewith she sinned: by it teaching to cut off and abstain from such actions. And this severe punishment God appointeth for her immodest carriage.

Vers. 13. a stone and a stone] that is, as the Greek and Chaldee translate, a weight and a weight; meaning divers weights, wherewith to deceive in buying and selling, called the bag of deceitful weights, Mich. 6. 11. In Israel they used to have their weights of stone, or the like: see the Annotations on Lev. 19. 36. So an heart and an heart, meaneth a double deceitful heart, 1 Chron. 12. 33. This Law forbiddeth not only all unrighteousness in buying, selling, and exchanging; but all injustice in judgment, Matth. 7. 1, 2. as God blaming the Judges, saith, You weigh the violent wrong of your hands in the earth, Psal. 58. 3. The like evil is to be avoided in handling the word of God, that it be not deceitfully, 2 Cor. 4. 2. So for measuring the ordinances of God in his Church, by the Reed and Line which he hath given therefore, Ezek. 40. 3, 5. & 43. 10. Re. 11. 1. called a golden Reed, Re. 21. 15.

Vers. 14. in thine house] Though a man do not weight or measure with such, yet it is unlawful to have a light weight, or scant measure in his house or shop, (as the Hebrews teach from this place,) for another may come, who knoweth not that it lacketh weight, and may weight with it. Maimonides treat. of Theft, chap. 7. sect. 3. Ephah] or Bushel: in Greek and Chaldee, a measure and a measure, that is, a double measure. The Ephah is named instead of all other: what it was, see on Lev. 19. 36. and Exod. 16. 36. So in Prov. 20. 10. A stone and a stone, an Ephah and an Ephah, are an abomination to Jehovah, even both of them. See also Prov. 11. 1. and 20. 23.

Vers. 15. A perfect stone] in Greek, A true weight: so after, a true measure. Hence Solomon saith, A perfect stone is the Lord's. delight, Prov. 11. 1. and a just] Hebr. and (a stone of) justice: so an Ephah of justice, that is, most just and exact: contrary to them that made the Ephah small, and the shekel great, Amos 8. 5. So in Ezek. 45. 10. it is said, Balances of justice, and an Ephah of justice, and a Bath of justice, shall ye have. God here commandeth justice and equity in all things, corporal and spiritual, as our Savior teacheth us saying, Judge not, and ye shall not be judged: condemn not, and ye shall not be condemned: forgive, and ye shall be forgiven: Give, and it shall be given unto you, good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, &c. Luke 6. 37, 38. And Job applying this to his state of life, saith, Let him weigh me in balances of justice, that God may know mine integrity, Job 31. 6. And every man is willed to ponder (or weigh) the path of his feet, Prov. 4. 26. that is, (as the Apostle expoundeth it) to make strait paths for his feet, Heb. 12. 13. may be lengthened] or, prolonged; or, that they may lengthen thy days; of which phrase see Exod. 20. 12. As a just weight and balance are the Lord's, Prov. 16. 11. and his delight, Prov. 11. 1. so he rewardeth with blessing and long life, the keeping of this law, than which there is none more necessary in human society.

Vers. 16. an abomination] that is, most abominable; yea, not only the person that doth these, but even the weights and measures themselves are said to be an abomination, Prov. 11. 1. and 20. 23. and the rather for that this injury is done under a show of justice, and done especially to the poorer sort, which buy by retale, whose wrong God especially regardeth. unrighteousness] or injurious evil: which general word is here added, to imply all other wrongs and deceits, which abound among men, whereby they oppress and defraud one another: but the Lord is the avenger of all such, 1 Thess. 4. 6. and he hath sworn by the excellency of Jacob, Surely I will never forget any of their works, Amos 8. 5, 7.

Vers. 17. Remember] Hebr. To remember, of which phrase see the notes on Exod. 13. 3. Amalek] that is, the Amalekites, which were the children of Esau, Jacob's brother: of whose wickedness see Exod. 17. 8. &c.

Vers. 18. he met thee] by way of enmity, not of amity; therefore the Greek translath, he resisted thee; when it had been his duty to have met them with bread and water, for their refreshing, Deut. 23. 4. In 1 Sam. 15. 2. it is said, he laid (wait) for Israel in the way. smote the hindmost] Hebr. out off the tail; a stratageme of war, lawful against God's enemies, as Ios. 10. 19: but wicked against his people. The Greek translath, Cut off thy hindmost troop: in Chaldee, he killed. feeble] in Greek, wearied, in Chaldee, lingering: which fact was cruelty in Amalek; for the faint and feeble ought to be comforted and refreshed, Matth. 11. 28. 1 Thess. 5. 14. and such were gathered in therereward, as Israel marched, Numb. 10. 25. Though this might be a just correction from God, of such as fainted in their travels, wherein they should have been encouraged. See the notes on Exod. 17. 8. feared not God] the Chaldee saith, he feared not the glory of the Lord: for his glory conducted them in a pillar of cloud and fire, Exod. 13. 21. and God by signs and wonders, great plagues and terribleness, had brought Israel out of Egypt, which made all people's afraid, Exod. 15. 14. &c. yet Amalek feared not. As by the fear of the Lord, men depart from evil Prov. 16. 6. so the want of his fear is the cause why men rush into all evil, Psalms 36. 1, 2, &c.

Vers. 19. given rest unto thee from all] under which is implied, a subduing of all the enemies; for so these phrases do explain one another, 2 Sam. 7, 11. with 1 Chron. 17. 10. And here God deferreth vengeance till after many years: so showing for bearance towards the wicked, which should lead them to repentance, Rom. 2. 4. and compassion towards his people, whom he would not exercise with all wars at once, lest they should be discomfited. See Exod. 13. 17. blot out] or, ipe out the remembrance, that there should no name or memorial of them remain: a sign of great, wrath, as Deut. 9. 14. and 29. 20. This judgment God executed by Saul the first King of Israel, whom he sent to destroy utterly these Amalekites, both man and woman, infant and suckling; <...> xe and sheep, camell and asse, 1 Sam. 15. 2, <◇> But he failed in the performance of it: therefore God stirred up the Simconites (in King Ezeki <...> days) and they smote the rest of the Amalekites, that were escaped, 1 Chron. 4. 42. 43. yet Haman of Agag the Amalekite remained, who plotted the death of all the Jews: but he and his ten sons were killed; and Amaleks memory is perished, Hest. 3. &c. And under this, the like judgment on Antichrist was figured: see the Annotations on Exod. 17. shall• not forget] that is, Take heed thou forget it not: by forgetting he implieth also neglect of performing this judgment. Therefore Saul who performed it not thoroughly, but spared the King, and the best of the cattle, (though for sacrifice unto the Lord) was rejected of God, as having sinned greatly, 1 Sam. 15. 9. 21. 23. and for it he was slain, 1 Chron. 10. 13. and an Amalekite, had an hand in his death, 2 Sam. 1, 8, 9, 10.

AND it shall be when thou art come into the land which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee, for an inheritance, and thou possessest it, and dwellest therein; That thou shalt take of the first of all the fruit of the earth, which thou shalt bring of thy land, which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee, and shalt put it in a basket, and shalt go unto the place which Jehovah thy God shall choose to cause his name to dwell there. And thou shalt come unto the Priest, which shall be in those days, and shalt say unto him, I profess this day unto Jehovah thy God, that I am come into the land which Jehovah sware unto our Fathers for to give unto us. And the Priest shall take the basket out of thine hand, and shall set it down before the Altar of Jehovah thy God. And thou shalt answer and say before Jehovah thy God, A Syrian (ready to perish) was my Father, and he went down into Egypt, & sojourned there with a few men, and became there a nation great, mighty & many. And the Egyptians evil entreated us, and afflicted us, & laid upon us hard servitude. And we cried out unto Jehovah the God of our Fathers, and Jehovah heard our voice, and saw our affliction, and our labor, and our oppression. And Jehovah brought us forth out of Egypt, with a strong hand, and with an outstretched arm, and with great terribleness, and with signs, and with wonders. And he hath brought us into this place, and hath given unto us this land, a land flowing with milk and honey. And now, behold, I have brought the first fruit of the land, which thou, Jehovah, hast given unto me; and thou shalt set it down before Jehovah thy God, and shalt bow down thyself before Jehovah thy God. And thou shalt rejoice in all the good which Jehovah thy God hath given unto thee, and unto thine house; thou, and the Levite, and the stranger that is in the midst of thee.

When thou hast made an end of tithing all the tithe of thy revenue, in the third year, the year of tithe, and hast given it unto the Levite, to the stranger, to the fatherless, and to the widow, that they may eat within thy gates, and be filled. Then thou shalt say before Jehovah thy God, I have put away the holy thing out of mine house, and also have given it unto the Levite, and to the stranger, to the fatherless, and to the widow, according to all thy commandment, which thou hast commanded me: I have not transgressed thy commandments, neither have I forgotten. I have not eaten thereof in my mourning, neither have I put away ought thereof for the unclean, neither have I given ought thereof for the dead: I have hearkened to the voice of Jehovah my God; I have done according to all that thou hast commanded me.

Look down from the habitation of thine holiness from the heavens, & bless thy people Israel, and the land which thou hast given unto us, as thou swarest unto our fathers, a land that floweth with milk and honey.

This day Jehovah thy God hath commanded thee to do these Statutes, and Judgments, and thou shalt keep and do them, with all thine heart, and with all thy soul. Thou hast avouched Jehovah this day to be unto thee for a God, and to walk in his ways, and to keep his Statutes,

& his Commandments, and his Judgments, and to hearken unto his voice. And Jehovah hath avouched thee this day to be unto him for a people of peculiar treasure, as he hath spoken unto thee, and to keep all his Commandments. And to give thee to be high, above all nations which he hath made in praise, and in name, and in beautiful glory; and that thou mayest be an holy people unto Jehovah thy God, as he hath spoken.

Annotations.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Here beginneth the fiftieth Lecture of the Law: see Gen. 6. 9.

When thou art come] or, When thou shalt become. possessest it] He showeth that they were not bound to (bring) the first fruits, till the land were subdued, and parted among them, saith Sol. Rashi on this place.

Vers. 2. of the first] or, of the beginning; which the Greek translatheth, of the first fruit of the fruits of thy land; meaning, of those which were first ripe, then they were to honor God with in the first place, and to show their thankfulness for his blessings, that so they might be sanctified, and increased unto them, Pro. 3. 9. 10. These first-fruits were to be separated before all other, as is noted on Numb. 18. 13. And Sol. Rashi scanneth the words thus; *Of the first, and not all the first: for all fruits were not bound to give the first-fruits, but the seven sorts only, for which the land of Israel is commended (in Deut. 8. 8.) the like is said by others of them; They bring no first-fruits save of the seven kinds spoken of in commendation of the land, (Deut. 8.) and they are wheat, and barley, and grapes, and figs, and pomgranats, and olives, and dates: and if one bring any besides these seven sorts, they are not sanctified. They bring not of the Dates that grow on Mountains, nor of the fruits that grow in Valleys, nor of Olives which are not of the choicest; but of the dates that grow in valleys, and of the fruits that grow on mountains, because they are of the choicest (or best.) They bring no first-fruits of liquors, save of olives and of grapes only; for it is said, OF THE FRUIT OF THE LAND, and not of the liquor: and if one bring of the liquors, they receive them not of him. They that dwell near to Jerusalem bring figs and grapes that are moist, and they that dwell far off bring them dried. Maimonides tom. 3. in Bicurim, chap. 2. sect. 2, 3, 4. The first-fruits have no measure set by the Law, but by the words of our wisemen, he must separate one of sixty. And he that will make all his field first-fruits, may so do. If he have separated his first-fruits, and returneth, and addeth more unto them, that which he addeth is as the first-fruits. Ibidem sect. 17, 18. giveth] or, is giving unto thee; the Greek addeth, by lot, or for inheritance: this was the land of Canaan, the seat of God's Church, and figure of a better inheritance by Christ: the first-fruits whereof (which are the graces, or the first-fruits of the Spirit, Rom. 8. 23.) are to be brought unto the Lord, that they may be accepted in Christ. Yea, we ourselves, whom he hath begotten with the word of Truth, that we should be a kind of first-fruits of his creatures, (I am. 1. 18.) are to present our bodies unto him, and our reasonable service, Rom. 12. 1. The Hebrews say, *If one bring first-fruits from without the land, they are no first-fruits. Maimonides in Bicurim, chap. 2. sect. 1. in a basket] so the Greek and Chaldee translate the word Tene, used only here, and in Deut. 28. 5. 17. The Hebrews understand it generally of any vessel, and hold it necessary (from this place,) that the first-fruits be brought in a vessel; also they teach that every sort of fruit should be brought in a vessel by it self: but if he brought them in one vessel, it would serve. And they might not bring them mixed all together, but the Barley underneath, and the Wheat above it, and the Olives above that, and the Dates above them, and the Pomgranats above them, and the Figs uppermost in the vessel. And there should be something put between every several kind, as clothes, or rushes, or leaves, or the like; and they laid about the figs clusters of grapes outward. If he brought them in a vessel of metal, the Priest took the first-fruits, and restored the vessel to the owner: but if he brought them in a vessel of Osiers, or of Rushes, or the like, then both the first-fruits and baskets were the Priests. Maimonides tom. 3. in Biccurim, (or treat. of First-fruits, chap. 3. sect. 7, 8. and shalt go] namely, at the feast of Harvest, or Pentecost, which was seven weeks after the Passover, as may be gathered by Exod. 34. 22. and Deut. 16. 9, 10. then the people went up together, and carried of their first-fruits with them. The Hebrews say, They brought no first-fruits before the Pentecost, as it is written, And the feast of harvest of the first-fruits of thy labors, (Exod. 23. 16.) and if any brought them (before,) they received them not of him, but he left them there until the solemn feast came. Maimonides in Biccurim, c. 2. s. 6. his name to dwell] the Chaldee saith, his divine presence to dwell; the Greek, his name to be called upon there: meaning the Tabernacle or Temple, called elsewhere the house of Jehovah, Exod. 23. 19. This in ages following, was at Shilo, and then at Jerusalem, whither the people used to repair with great solemnity; and at the performance of this service, they are said to do thus: When they carried up the first-fruits, all the cities that were in a Station (or County) gathered together to the (chief) city of the Station, to the end they might not go up alone; for it is said, In the multitude of people is the Kings honor, (Prov. 14. 28.) And they came and lodged all night in the streets of the city, and went not into the houses for fear of pollution. And in the morning the governor said, Arise, and let us go up to Zion the city of the LORD our God. And before them went a Bull which had his horns covered with gold, and an Olive garland on his head, to signify the first-fruits of the seven kinds (of fruits.) And a Pipe struck up before them, until they came near to Jerusalem; and all the way as they went, they sang, I rejoiced in them that said unto me; We will go into the house of the LORD, &c. (Psal. 122.) When they were come nigh to Jerusalem, they s 〈...〉 messengers before them, to signify it to the men of Jerusalem, &c. Then the Captains and Governors went out of Jerusalem to meet them: if many men came, there went out many; and if but few, few. And when they all were come within Jerusalem gates, they began to sing, Our feet have been standing in thy gates, O Jerusalem, (Psal. 122.) All the chief Artificers that were in Jerusalem stood before them, and saluted them, Welcome brethren the men of such a place. And they went in the midst of Jerusalem, & the Pipe striking up before them, till they came near to the mount of the house (of God:) when they were come thither, they took every man his basket on his shoulder, and said, Hallelujah, Praise God in his sanctuary, &c. (Psal. 150.) and they went thus and sung till they came to the Court-yard; when they were come thither, the Levites sang (the 30, Psalm) I will exalt thee, O LORD, for thou hast drawn up me, &c. Talmud Bab. in Biccurim, chap. 3. sect. 2, 3, 4. and Maimonides in Biccurim, chap. 4. sect. 16. Unto this, and other like manner of solemn assembling, the Prophet hath reference, when he saith, Ye shall have a song as in the night when an holy solemnity is kept; and gladness of heart, as when one goeth with a Pipe, to come into the mountain of Jehovah, to the Rock of Israel, Isaiah 30. 29.

Vers. 3. unto the Priest] God's public minister, and the figure of Christ, of whom it is written, By him let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruits of the lips, confessing to his name, Heb. 13. 15. which shall be] that is, which shall minister in his course in those days; for the Priests ministered by turns: see 1 Chr. 24. I profess] or, I declare, I show openly, before the Lord. And because of this presenting themselves and their first-fruits to him, the Hebrews say, that when they brought their first-fruits, they brought in their hand Turtle doves and young Pigeons; some they hang upon the baskets, and they were for burnt-offerings, and some in their hand, which they gave unto the Priests. Maimonides in Bicurim, chap. 3. sect. 9.

Vers. 4. before the Altar] that there it might be sanctified by Christ, figured by the Altar, Mat. 23. 19. He. 13. 10, &c. and so made acceptable to God.

Vers. 5. shalt answer] that is, shalt speak, or pronounce: These words were to be spoken by every man that brought the first-fruits, except he were not a man, or not the owner of the land, or the like: for such exceptions they do put. He that brought the first-fruits, might if he would give them to his servant, or to his neighbor, all the way, till he came at the mount of the house (of God.) When he came to the mount of the house, he himself was to take the basket on his own shoulder, yea, though he were the King, the greatest in Israel: and when he came at the Court-yard he professed, while the basket was upō his shoulder, I PROFESSE THIS DAY VNTO THE LORD THY GOD, &c. Then he let down the basket from his shoulder, & the Priest put his hand under it, and waved it, and he said, A SYRIAN READY TO PERISH was MY FATHER, &c. and he left it by the Altars side, at the south-west borne (of the Altar) on the south side of the horn, and bowed himself down, and went out. But the confession is not alike for all: some are bound to bring first-fruits, & yet make no confession over them; as the woman, and he that is of neither sex, and he that is of both sexes, male and female; because they cannot say, WHICH THE LORD HATH GIVEN VNTO ME. Likewise Tutors (or Guardians,) and Servants & Messengers; for they cannot say, which the Lord hath given unto me. The Proselyte bringeth and professeth, as it is said to Abraham, A father of a multitude of nations have I given thee to be, (Gen. 17. 5.) Behold, he is the father of all the whole world, which are gathered under the wings of the divine Majesty. And to Abraham was the oath at first, that his sons should inherit the land. Likewise the Priests and Levites do bring (first-fruits) and profess, because they have cities and suburbs. He that separateth his first-fruits, and selleth his field, bringeth them, but professeth not; for he cannot say, WHICH THE LORD HATH GIVEN ME, because the land is not his. And he that bought it, is not bound to separate other first-fruits of that sort, because he that sold it hath separated them already; and if he do separate any, he may bring them, but not make profession; but of another sort he may separate, bring, and profess. He that separateth first-fruits, and they are lost before they come at the mount of (God's) house, & he separate other for thē, he bringeth the second, but professeth not, because he cannot say, THE FIRST OF THE FRUIT OF THE LAND, (Deut. 26. 10.) for they are not the first, &c. He that bringeth first-fruits of one kind, and maketh profession, and cometh again & bringeth first-fruits of another kind, he maketh no profession over them; for it is said, I PROFESSE THIS DAY; one time in the year doth he make profession, and not twice. He that bringeth first-fruits after the feast, until the dedication, although he separated them before the feast, bringeth them, but maketh no profession, because it is said (in verse. 11.) AND THOU SHALT REIOYCE IN ALL THE GOOD: so there is no professing, but at the time of rejoicing, from the (beginning of the) feast of Weekes, until the end of the feast. Maimonides in Bicurim, ch. 3. sect. 12. &c. and ch. 4. sect. 1. &c. In that which is said of the Proselyte (or Stranger) Maimonides differeth from his fellows; for in Talmud Bad. in Bicurim, ch. 1. sect. 4. it is said, The Proselyte bringeth, but professeth not, because he cannot say, which thou hast sworn to our fathers to give unto us; but if his mother were an Israelitess, he bringeth and professeth. But the former well agreeth with the mystery of the Gospel; for as it is prophesied in Ezek. 47. 22. Ye shall divide (the Land) by lot, for an inheritance to you, and to the strangers that sojourn among you, which shall be get children among you, and they shall be unto you as borne in the country, &c. So when Christ came, Zacchaeus the chief Publican became the son of Abraham, Luk. 19. 9. and in Christ there is neither Jew nor Greek, but all are one in him, and Abraham's seed and heirs according to the promise, Gal. 3. 28, 29. And in him is this service in the mystery of it fulfilled, when we at our Pentecost, that is, when we receive the first-fruits of God's Spirit, (Act. 2. Rom. 8. 23.) do honor him with our persons, our substance, and with the first-fruits of all our increase, Prov. 3. 9. offering the sacrifice of praise unto God continually, the fruit of our lips, confessing to his name, Heb. 13. 15. For as the first of all fruits were holy, so the Church is holy unto the Lord, of all people's in the earth, Rev. 14. 4. I am. 1. 18. as it is written, Israel is holiness unto Jehovah, the first-fruits of his revenue, Ier. 2. 3. And as these first-fruits were brought into the Sanctuary in a basket, so the good Israelites whom God would accept for his, are likened to a basket of good figs set before the Temple of the Lord, even like the figs that are first ripe, and them God promiseth to acknowledge, and to set his eyes upon them for good, and that they shall be his people, and he will be their God, &c. Ier. 24. 1, 2, 5, 6, 7. A Syrian ready to perish] Hebr. An Aramite perishing, or, of perdition, that is, ready to perish through poverty, affliction, and misery. As in Prov. 31. 6, 7. Give strong drink unto him that is ready to perish, &c. Let him drink and forget his poverty, and remember his misery no more. An Aramite is after the Greek called a Syrian, as is noted on Gen. 10. 22. & this Syrian here spoken of was Jacob, who dwelt in Syria with Laban the Syrian, twenty years in hard service, Gen. 28. 5. and 31. 38, 40, 41, 42. Hos. 12. 12. and therefore though he was naturally an Hebrew, yet for his misery is called a Syrian; as contrariwise Iether, who by nature was an Ismaelite, 1 Chron. 2. 17. is for his faith and state of grace called an Israelite, 2 Sam. 17. 25. And thus God said to the Jews that dwelt in Canaan, thy nativity is of the land o' Canaan; thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother a Chethite, Ezek. 16. 3. Others understand it here of Laban, translating, A Syrian was destroying my father, (or, working his perdition;) and to this the Chaldee agreeth, saying, Laban the Syrian sought to destroy (or undo) my father: and the vulgar Latin, A Syrian persecuted my father. The Greek differeth from both, translating, My father left Syria. By this speech they were taught to acknowledge their first estate and original to have been most miserable; and so we ought all to confess, Ephes. 2. 2, 3. a few men] in Chaldee, a small people: they went down but with seventy souls, Gen. 46. 27.

Vers. 6. evil entreated] did evil, or vexed: and this is a commemoration of their second main affliction, whereof see Exod. 1. &c. and it was a figure of our bondage under sin and Satan, which we being delivered from, are to mention with thankfulness, Rom. 6. 17, 18. Tit. 3. 3. hard servitude] in Greek, hardworkes: they made them serve with rigor, that their lives were bitter unto them, Exod. 1. 14. God would not have us forget our former miseries, though we be come out of them: he sundry times commandeth this; Thou shalt remember that thou wast a servant in Egypt, Deut. 16. 12. Remember that ye having been in times passed heathens, &c. were without Christ, being aliens from the Common-wealth of Israel, &c. Ephes. 2. 11, 12.

Vers. 7. we cried out] in Chaldee, we prayed: see Exod. 2. 23, 24, 25. heard our voice] in Chaldee, accepted our prayer. saw] in Chaldee, it was revealed (or manifest) before him: see Exod. 3. 7. our labor] or, our molestation.

Vers. 8. out stretched] in Greek and Chaldee, an high arm: see Exod. 7. &c. terribleness] or terror: this the Greek and Chaldee translate visions; and so in Deut. 4. 34.

Vers. 9. milk and honey] under which two, all other earthly blessings and heavenly also, in figure, are implied: and hereby they acknowledge the truth of God's promises made unto their fathers; whereof see the notes on Exod. 3. 8. So after in verse. 15.

Vers. 10. the first-fruit] in Greek, the first-fruits of the fruits. As we ourselves are the Lord's first-fruits, Rev. 14. 4. and have received the first-fruits of his Spirit, Rom. 8. 23. so we then do give the first-fruits unto him, when in Christ (the true Sanctuary) we acknowledge, that we and ours are his, and have this grace not of ourselves, or for our own merits, but of his goodness and liberality, 2 Cor. 3. 5. Ephes. 2. 8, 9, 10. Tit. 3. 3, 4, 5, 6. set it down] or, leave it for the Priests, which did after eat it. The first-fruits were given to the men of the charge [the Priests that ministered] and they divided them among them, as the [other] holy things of the Sanctuary. Maimonides in Bccurim, ch. 3. sect. 1. It figured, that we should consecrate ourselves and ours forever unto the Lord, Rom. 12. 1. and 6. 19. 22.

Vers. 11. shalt rejoice] as they were bound to do at all other feasts, Deut. 16. 11, 15. So that after this homage, the people abode in the holy City all that night feasting, and the next day they might depart, and not before. Hereupon the Hebrews note seven things, which they that brought first-fruits were bound unto; the coming to the place; and the vessel (or basket;) the Profession to be made; and the oblation, (or sacrifice;) and the Song; and the Waving of it by the Priest; and the tarrying all night. When he hath brought his first-fruits to the Sanctuary, and made profession, and offered his peace-offerings, he may not go out of Jerusalem that day, to return to his own place, but must tarry there all night, and return on the morrow to his city; as it is written (in Deut. 16. 7.) and thou shalt turn in the morning, and go unto thy tents. All the turnings which thou shalt turn out of the Sanctuary after thou art come thither, shall not be but in the morning.

Maimonides in Biccurim, chap. 3. sect. 14. in all the good] or, as the Greek translath, for all the good things: the chiefest whereof are the first-fruits of the spirit, wherewith God sanctifieth his people: as when Christ teacheth that Our Father which is in heaven will give good things to them that ask him, Matth. 7. 11. another Evangelist expoundeth it, he will give the holy Spirit to them that ask him, Luke 11. 13. For this Spirit and graces of God which we have received, we ought to rejoice before him continually, Psa. 100. Luk. 10. 20. Phil. 3. 1. 1 Pet. 1. 8. 1 Thess. 5. 16.

Vers. 12. of thy revenue] which the Greek expoundeth, of the fruits of thy land. See the notes on Deut. 14. 22. the year of tithe] that is, the year when the second tithe was to be given to the poor, which was the third and the sixth year of every seven years, whereof the Law was given before in Deut. 14. 28. The Greek translath, the second tithe thou shalt give to the Levite, &c. Of this the Hebrews say, We are commanded to confess before the LORD, after that we have brought forth all the gifts which be of the seed of the land, and this is called the Confession of the tithe. And we make not this Confession, but after the year wherein we have separated the Tithes of the poor, Deut. 26. 12. Maimonides tom. 3. in Maasar sheni, (or treat. of the Second tithe) chap. 11. sect. 1, 2. within thy gates] that is, as the Greek and Chaldee expound it, thy cities: see Deut. 14. 28. 29.

Vers. 13. Then] Hebr. And thou shalt say. The time is recorded by the Hebrews, to be at the Minchah [the Oblation] in the last good day of the Passover of the fourth (year) and of the seventh; as it is said, WHEN THOU HAST MADE AN END OF TITHING: at the Feast wherein all the tithes are ended. And the Passover of the fourth year cometh not, but all the fruits of the third (year) are tithed, whether they be the fruits of the trees, or fruits of the land. Maimonides in Maaser sheni, ch. 11. s. 3. The reason hereof was, the Passover was kept in Abib (or March) Deu. 16. 1. and the first of Tisri (that is, September) was though beginning of the year for the tithes of corn, seeds, and herbs: and the fifteenth of  $\langle\phi\rangle$  (which we call January,) was the beginning of the year for  $\langle\phi\rangle$  of the fruits of trees, as Maimonides showeth in Maaser sheni, c. 1. s. 2. so by March following, the tithes of the third year, (which they had  $\langle\phi\rangle$  up wi•hin their gates, Deut. 14. 28.) might all be bestowed▪ and the Passover was the next feast th  $\langle\dots\rangle$   $\langle\dots\rangle$  ed, when all men were bound to appear  $\langle\phi\rangle$  the Lord, Deut. 16. 16. say before  $\langle\phi\rangle$  that by this solemn confession; they might testify their voluntary obedience to his laws with a clear conscience, and so crave & expect his further blessing. The Hebrews say, This confession might be uttered in any language that a man spak; and everyone spake for himself; and if many would confess jointly in one, they might. And it is commanded to be done in the Sanctuary BEFORE THE LORD; and if they confessed in any place, they were discharged. Maim in Maaser sheni, c. 11. s. 5, 6. *put away the holy thing▪ in Chaldee, the holy thing of the  $\langle\dots\rangle$  he: Hebr. the holiness; meaning, things of holiness; as the Greek translath, I have purged the holy thing• out of my house: so that this confession respected not the tithe of the poor only, but all other holy things, which they were bound to give unto God, or his Ministers, or the poor. And putting away, signifieth the removing and utter taking away, so that nothing remaineth. So the Hebrews say, A man confesseth not until there he not any of the gifts remaining with him; as it is said, I have put away the holy thing out of (mine) house: And in the evening of the last good day (of the Passover,) was the putting away; and on the morrow was the confession. Thus he did: if there remained with him any heave-offering of the Tithe, he gave it to the Priest: if any of the first tithe, he gave it to the Levites: if any of the poor's tube, he gave it to the poor. If there remained with him any of the fruits of the second tithe of confession, or of that which was of the fourth years plantation (Levite. 19. 24.) or any money of their redemption, loe he put them away, and cast them into the Sea, or burnt them. If any first-fruits remained with him, he put them away in every place; where by is meant, that he burned and put away that which remained with him of the fruits which he could not eat all of them before the good day came, &c. He cannot confess till he have brought out all the gifts; as it is said, I HAVE PVT AWAY THE HOLY THING, that is, the second tithe, and the fourth years plantation, called HOLY, Lev. 19. 24. OVT OF my HOUSE, that is, the Cake (Num. 15. 20.) which is the Priests gift in the house, I HAVE GIVEN IT TO THE LEVITE, this is the first tithe, (Num. 18. 21.) AND ALSO I HAVE GIVEN IT, which implieth generally, that the other gift was before, namely, the great Heaveoff•ring (of first-fruits) and the Heaven-offering of, the tithe: TO THE STRANGER, TO THE FATHERLESSE, &c. this is the tithe of the poor, and the gleaning, and the forgotten (sheaf) and the corner, (Deut. 24. 19. Lev. 19. 9. 10.) although the gleaning, the forgotten, and the corner, do not hinder the making of confession. And he must separate the gifts in order, and afterward make confession, as it is written, ACCORDING TO ALL THY COMMANDEMENT, &c. Loe, if the second tithe were given before the first, he might not make confession. If his untithed fruits were burnt, he might not make confession, because he hath not separated the gifts, nor given them to whom* they were due. He that had nothing but the second tithe only, made confession, for the ground of the confession is in the tithe. And so if he had nothing but first-fruits only, he made confession, as it is said, I HAVE PUT AWAY THE HOLY THING, &c. Maimonides in Maaser sheni, chap. 11. sect. 7. &c. thy commandment] in Greek, commandments: and the word according, implieth the order of doing all things, as before is noted. not transgressed] by doing anything amiss, as giving bad for good; and as the Hebrews expound it, one kind for another, or old for new, or new for old, or the like. Of Transgression, see the notes on Deut. 17. 2. forgotten] this the Hebrews apply to forgetting to bless God for it, and to mention his name upon it. Maimonides ibidem, chap. 11. sect. 15. But it is more general, implying the neglect of any precept, concerning the things here spoken of: for in spiritual duties unto God, all men are faulty, Psal. 19. 12. Eccles. 7. 20.

Vers. 14. in my mourning] or, in my sorrow: By this it appeareth, that this Law and confession extended further than to the third years tithe, which was all given to the poor, Deut. 24. 28. 29. and might not be eaten by the owner of the land: and reached to the first and second years tithes, which the owners were to eat before the Lord, Deu. 14. 22, 23. but might not eat of it in their mourning, upon pain of being beaten by the Magistrate, as Maimonides showeth in Maaser sheni, chap. 3. sect. 5. where he further saith (in sect. 6, 7.) Who is this mourner? He that bewaileth any of his kindred, whom he is bound by the Law to mourn for. And in the day of death he is bound to mourn by the Law, (Lev. 10. 19.) If he be kept unburied many days, he is a mourner all those days till he be buried, by the doctrine of the Scribes. And not the second tithe only, but all the holy things, everyone, if he eat of them in mourning, by the Law he is to be beaten; if in his mourning, by the Scribes doctrine, he is to be scourged. Compare herewith the saying of the Prophet, Their sacrifices shall be unto them as the bread of mourners; all that eat thereof shall be polluted, Hos. 9. 4. put away] the word before used in verse. 13. but otherwise turned here in the Greek, I have not taken fruit thereof: which Greek word is used in Ios. 5. 12. for eating fruit: and so the Hebrews expound this here of eating; He that eateth the second tithe in uncleanness, is to be beaten; for it is said, I have not put away thereof for the unclean: whether the tithe be unclean, and the eater clean; or the tithe clean, and the eater unclean: and he that eateth it in Jerusalem before it be redeemed. The uncircumcised is as the unclean; and if he eat that second tithe, he is to be beaten by the Law, &c. Maim. in Maasar sheni, ch. 3. s. 1, 4. for the unclean] so the Greek translateth it; meaning for any unclean person to eat of it; or for any unclean use. Hebr. in unclean, whereby may be meant, in uncleanness. for the dead] or, to the dead: whereby may be understood, to any idol, or for any idolatrous use; as Idolaters are said to eat sacrifices of the dead, Ps. 106. 28. or to be eaten at any dead man's funeral, whereby the holy thing might be polluted; as Hos. 9. 4. for at funeralls they used to eat and drink, Ezek. 24. 17. Ier 16. 7. The Hebrews expound it thus; that he hath not received (or bought) therewith coffin or shrouds (for the burial of the dead) nor given thereof to other mourners. Maimonides in Maaser sheni, chap. 11. sect. 15. Further they say, The second tithe is given to eat and to drink, Deut 14. 23. and anointing is as drinking. And it is unlawful for a man to bring it out for his other needs; as to receive therewith vessels, or garments, or servants; as it is written, I have not given thereof for the dead; as if he should say, I have not brought it out for anything which keepeth not alive the body, &c. Ibidem chap. 3. sect. 10.

Vers. 15. the habitation of thy holiness] that is, thy holy habitation; as the Greek translateth it, thine holy house. By this prayer they submitted themselves unto the trial and judgment of God, for their upright keeping of these his laws, (as Psal. 26. 1, 2, 3.) and having clear consciences, they had boldness before God, to crave and expect his blessing: for he that is a doer of the work (of God) this man shall be blessed in his deed, I am. 1. 25.

Vers. 16. This day] Moses concluding his exposition of the Laws, with a warning of obedience, teacheth the children that they are alike interested in God's covenant, as were their fathers; and so their posterity: for what was spoken and done unto them, concerneth us also, Hos. 12. 4. Psal. 66. 6, 7. thy God] the first argument of obedience, from the person of God, and his grace towards them, who hath sovereign authority thereby to command.

Vers. 17. hast avouched] or, hast made to say, that is, to promise: in Greek, hast chosen. A second reason of obedience, because of the mutual covenant between God and his people: see Exod. 19. 3, 4. 8. which covenant was not with the fathers only, (Deut. 5. 2, 3.) but being now renewed with their children, and in them with all their posterity, served both to confirm their faith, and to increase their obedience and sanctification. unto thee for a God] or, as the Greek translateth, thy God: what this meaneth is shown on Exod. 20. 2, 3. his ways] which he commandeth to walk in; and they imply both doctrines of faith, and precepts of manners, (as is noted on Genes. 6. 12. and 18. 19.) and an imitation of him, as beloved children, Ephes. 5. 1, 2. Matth. 5. 48. statutes] the ordinances of worship and service which he taught: see the notes on Deut. 4. 1. Commandments] the moral law given in Ex. 20. Judgments] the Judicial laws, whereof see Exod. 21. 1. &c. So all whatsoever are in God's law, are comprehended under these heads. hearken unto] or, obey his voice, if any special thing be commanded unto any, as when God sent Saul to root out Amalek, 1 Sam. 15. 1, 2, 19, 20. 22.

Vers. 18. hath avouched thee] or, made thee to say, that is, to promise, or give thy word: in Greek, hath chosen thee. peculiar treasure] in the Greek, a peculiar people; in Chaldee, a beloved people: see the notes on Exod. 19. 5. to keep] that is, that thou shouldest keep; which as it is a part of the covenant on God's behalf, so is it the work of his grace in all his people, as he hath said, I will put my Law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts, Jer. 31. 33.

Vers. 19. give thee to be high] or make thee (set thee) high: of which see the notes on Deut. 28. 1. And this is the third argument to persuade obedience, in respect of the high excellency which God's people begin to obtain by him in this life, and shall fully possess in the end. See Colos. 3. 1, 2, 3, 4. I am. 1. 9. in praise] or for praise; to be praised even of the enemy, for my mercies upon thee, as Zeph. 3. 19. 20. So he is said to make Jerusalem (his Church) a praise in the earth, Isaiah 62. 7. for he exalteth the borne of his people, the praise of all his Saints, Psal. 148. 14. in name] or for name, that is, fame or renown; this is a continuance and increase of the former praise, called therefore an everlasting name that shall not be cut off, Isaiah 56. 5. and a name that shall remain, Isaiah 66. 22. And it was by a settled continuance of the state of his Church; as on the contrary by scattering them, he is said to blot out the name of Israel from under heaven, 2 Kings 14. 27. beautiful glory] which consisteth in outward blessings wherewith God adorneth his Church, as with garments of beautiful glory, Isaiah 52. 1. opposed unto ashes, Isaiah 61. 3. and is the continuance of his heavenly ordinances and Kingdom among them, Isaiah 64. 11. Ezek. 16. 12. And all these three degrees of grace the Church enjoyeth by being united unto God; as it is written, As the girdle cleaveth to the loins of a man, so have I caused to cleave unto <...> e the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Judah, saith Jehovah: that they might be unto me for a people, and for a name, and for a praise, and for a beautiful glory, Ier. 13. 11. See also Ier. 33. 9. an holy people] This is the chiefest end of all our obedience, the glory of God, and our own salvation; which is accomplished by our sanctification, as the Apostle saith, Being now made free from sin, and become servants to God, ye have your fruit unto holiness, and the end everlasting life, Rom. 6. 22.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 The people are commanded to write the Law upon the stones, when they are come into the land of Canaan, 5 and to build an altar of whole stones. 11 The T 〈...〉 s divided on Gerizzim and Ebal. 14 The curses pronounced on mount Ebal.

ANd Moses, and the Elders of Israel, commanded the people, saying: Keep all the Commandment which I command you this day. And it shall be in the day when you shall have passed over Jordan, unto the land which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee, that thou shalt set thee up great stones, and plaster them with plaster.

And thou shalt write upon them all the words of this Law, when thou art passed over, that thou mayest go in unto the land which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee, a land that floweth with milk and honey, as Jehovah the God of thy fathers hath spoken. And it shall be when ye are passed over Jordan, ye shall set up these stones which I command you this day in mount Ebal, and thou shalt plaster them with plaster. And thou shalt build there an Altar unto Jehovah thy God, an Altar of stones, thou shalt not lift up any iron upon them.

Of whole stones shalt thou build the Altar of Jehovah thy God, and thou shalt offer thereon Burnt-offerings unto Jehovah thy God. And thou shalt sacrifice Peace-offerings, and shalt eat there, and rejoice before Jehovah thy God. And thou shalt write upon the stones all the words of this Law very plainly. And Moses, and the Priests the Levites spake unto all Israel, saying: Take heed, and hear, O Israel; this day thou art become the people of Jehovah thy God. Therefore thou shalt obey the voice of Jehovah thy God, and do his Commandments and his Statutes, which I command thee this day.

And Moses commanded the people in that day, saying: These shall stand to bless the people upon mount Gerizzim, when ye are passed over Jordan: Simeon, and Levi, and Judah, and Issachar, and Joseph, and Benjamin. And these shall stand for the curse on mount Ebal: Reuben, Gad, and Aser, & Zebulon, Dan and Naphtali. And the Levites shall answer, and say unto all the men of Israel with an high voice.

Cursed be the man that maketh a graven or a molten image, an abomination unto Jehovah, the work of the hand of the craftsman, and putteth it in a secret place: and all the people shall answer and say, Amen.

Cursed be he that setteth light by his father, or his mother: and all the people shall say, Amen.

Cursed be he that removeth his neighbors limit: and all the people shall say, Amen. [unspec 17]

Cursed be he that maketh the blind to err in way: and all the people shall say, Amen. [unspec 18]

Cursed be he that wresteth the judgment of the stranger, fatherless, and widow: and all the people shall say, Amen.

Cursed be he that lieth with his fathers wife, because he uncovereth his fathers skirt: and all the people shall say, Amen.

Cursed be he that lieth with any beast: and all the people shall say, Amen.

Cursed be he that lieth with his sister, the daughter of his father, or the daughter of his mother: and all the people shall say, Amen.

Cursed be he that lieth with his mother in law: and all the people shall say, Amen. [unspec 23]

Cursed be he that smiteth his neighbor in secret: and all the people shall say, Amen. [unspec 24]

Cursed be he that taketh a reward to smite a soul the blood of an innocent: and all the people shall say, Amen.

Cursed be he that confirmeth not the words of this Law to do them: and all the people shall say, Amen.

Annotations.

The Elders of Israel] in Greek, the Senate of the sons of Israel: compare verse. 9. Here Moses giveth order for the confirmation of all the Laws before repeated, by outward signs once to be performed by Israel, when they should be come into Canaan. The end whereof was, to teach them salvation by Christ, & that they should not expect it by the works of the Law, for that leaveth them under the curse, verse. 26. Gal. 3. 10. all the commandment] that is, commandments, as the Greek translatheth it; or, every commandment. See verse. 10.

Vers. 2. the day] that is, the time, the first opportunity. For this rite was fulfilled not the first day that Israel went into Canaan, but after, as Ios. 8. 30, &c. So day is used for time, Luke 19. 42. set up] or erect, to wit, stones for pillars, as in Exod. 24. 4. to signify the tribes of Israel; who being brought of God into his good land, were by this extraordinary rite to profess their homage and obedience unto him, otherwise to undergo the curses of his Law. Which their consciences accusing them of, they might be led unto Christ, for redemption frō the curse. with plaster] or with lime, whiting, that the words of the Law might be written thereon; a memorial of God's benefits unto them. This word plaster is used to signify hypocrisy, as Paul called Ananias a p ⟨...⟩ red (or whited) wall, Acts 23. 3. and the Pharisees are likened to whited (or plastered) s ⟨...⟩ which appear beautiful outward, &c. Mat. 23. 27. And that seemeth also to be intended here; that all such as seek life by the works of the Law (which Israel after did, Rom. 9. 31, 32.) have their hearts within hard and stony, (Ezek. 36. 26.) though outwardly they appear of another nature and color, and have the profession of the Law upon them, wherein they glory, Rom. 2. 17, 23. Therefore afterward blessings and cursings are mentioned, verse. 12, 13. but Moses rehearseth none but curses, as being the due of all such hypocrites. And from the last verse of this Chapter, Paul proveth, that as many as are of the works of the Law, are under the curse, Gal. 3. 10.

Vers. 3. all the words] either the ten commandments called the ten words, Exod. 34. 28. which are the sum of all Law: or, all the words following in this chapter. See the notes on verse. 8. that thou mayest go in] and consequently possess and enjoy the land, which figured heaven: for the Law promiseth life to them that do it, Rom. 10. 5. though unto man it is impossible. Or, it may be read, for that thou art come in: as being a reason of this service, and of their duty to keep the Law. And so the Greek translatheth, When as thou art come in.

Vers. 4. Ebal] or, Gebal; as the Greek writeth it, Gaibal: and here the other mount Ger <...> zim. (verse. 12.) is also understood; but because the Curses only, are after expressed, and they were on mount Ebal, therefore it is named. Of this mount: see v. 12, 13. with plaster] or, with lime, as ver. 2.

Vers. 5. An Altar] to signify God, the other party in the covenant, as was at mount Sinai, Exod. 24. 4. and to teach by it, and the sacrifices offered thereon, that there could be no salvation but by Christ, and his sacrifice for remission of sins. iron] that is, any iron tool, to hew or polish them, but they should be as they were natural; to signify the perfection that should be in Christ's human Nature, whereby he was acceptable to God, though before men he seemed altogether deformed, Isaiah 52. 14. and 53. 2. he was the stone cut out without hands, Dan. 2. 34, 35. And no man might lift up an iron tool upon these stones, to teach that man's wisdom is foolishness with God: see the notes on Exod. 20. 25. where the axe of man, polluteth the Altar of God.

Vers. 6. of whole stones] and not of hewn, Exod. 20. 25. Of such whole or entire stones did Joshua build it, Ios. 8. 31. Burnt-offerings] to obtain of God by Christ forgiveness of sins; and sanctification of life: see the Annotations on Lev. 1.

Vers. 7. Peace-offerings] to show their hope of peace and prosperity by Christ; and their thankfulness for his graces: see Lev. 3. eat there] keeping a holy banquet: for the flesh of the peace-offerings were eaten by the owners and Priests, Levite. 7. 15, &c. This taught them the spiritual joy which they should have in Christ, for his deliverance of them from the curse of the Law; and his flesh we do eat unto life eternal, Gal. 3. 13. John. 6. 51.

Vers. 8. very plainly] or, plainly and well (or fairly) Heb. making them plain, doing them well, Hereby is meant a large and fair writing, easy to be read of all, as in Habak. 2. 2. That all sorts of people might have the knowledge of God's Law, and learn to do the same. And by this it appeareth, that all the words commanded to be written, (or the Copy of the Law, which Jesus wrote, Ios. 8. 32.) were not the whole book of Deuteronomy, much less all Moses books, as some have thought; for what stones would suffice for such a work? With these whited stones, on whose outside the Law was written, we may compare that white stone (in Rev. 2. 17.) which Christ giveth to all his, and in the stone a new name written, which no man knoweth saving he that receiveth it: those being to show the work of the Law outwardly; this, the work of Christ's grace and Spirit inwardly. Compare also 2 Cor. 3. 2, 3.

Vers. 9. Take heed and hear] or, Attend (hearken) and hear, as the Chaldee expoundeth it; but the Greek saith, Be silent and hear. art become the people] or, art made for a people to Jehovah, by renewing of the covenant, declared so to be; and therefore bound to obey his commandments: as it is said, For all people's will walk, everyone in the name of his God: and we will walk in the name of Jehovah our God, forever and ever, Mic. 4. 5.

Vers. 10. therefore thou shalt] Hebr. And thou shalt obey; the Chaldee saith, shalt receive the Word of the Lord. By obeying▪ (or hearkening unto,) is meant the due observing or keeping of the things spoken: as, our fathers have not hearkened unto the words of this book, 2 King. 22. 13. is explained, our fathers have not kept, 2 Chron. 34. 21. Commandments] or, Commandment, meaning everyone in particular, and all in general: for the offending in one point, maketh us guilty of all, I am. 2. 10. See the like in Deut. 5. 10.

Vers. 12. Gerizzim] called in Greek Garizein; of it, and the other mount Ebal, Moses said before, they were over against Gilgal, beside the Okes of Moreh, Deut. 11. 30. and Benjamin] these six here named were the worthiest tribes, all borne of Jacob's wives the free women, and none of the handmaids children: God showing hereby the strength and nobleness of the Blessings (above the Curses;) and that they belong to such children of the free women, as Paul teacheth us in an allegory, Gal. 4. 22,—31. Howbeit, though Moses appointeth these to bless, yet he expresseth not the blessings: by such silence leading his prudent reader to look for them by another, which is Christ, John. 1. 17. Act. 3. 26. For silence in the holy story often implieth great mysteries, as the Apostle (in Heb. 7.) teacheth from the narration of Melchizedek, in Gen. 14.

Vers. 13. for the curse] that is, to pronounce it. In speaking of the blessings, he nameth the people, verse. 12. but now for the curse, he mentioneth not the people, but implieth them only, as if he were loth to name them for such misery. Ebal] in Greek, Gaibal: this is reported to be near to mount Gerizzim, but northward; and Gerizzim towards the South, (which is the right side of the world, Psal. 89. 13.) if so they were, it foreshowed the blessings which should be pronounced to those which at the last day shall stand on the right hand, and the curses upon those on the left, Mat. 25. 33, 34. 41. The manner of performing this Law is recorded by the Hebrews thus; Six tribes went up towards the top of mount Gerizzim, and six tribes went up towards the top of mount Ebal; and the Priests and Levites and the Ark stood beneath in the midst. The Priests were round about the Ark, and the Levites about the Priests, and all Israel on this side and on that, as it is written. And all Israel, and their Elders, and Officers, and their Judges, stood on this side the Ark, and on that side, before the Priests the Levites, which bare the Ark of the Covenant of the Lord; as well the stranger, as he that was borne among them; half of them over against mount Gerizzim, and half of them over against mount Ebal, (Ios. 8. 33.) They turned their faces towards mount Gerizzim and pronounced the blessing, Blessed be the man that maketh no graven or molten (image;) and those (on the one side) and those (on the other) answered, Amen. They turned their faces towards mount Ebal, and pronounced the curse, Cursed be the man that maketh a graven or a molten (Image) &c. and those (on the one side) & those (on the other) answered, Amen, till they had finished the blessings and the curses. And afterwards they brought stones and built an Altar, &c. Talmud Bab. in Sotah, chap. 7. Reuben] he was the eldest of all Jacob's sons by Lea the free woman, Gen. 29. 32. yet as for defiling his fathers bed he lost his dignity, Gen. 49. 3, 4. so here he is taken from his brethren, to be among the handmaids sons, and set on the mount for the curses, one of which was this, CVRSED BE HE THAT LIETH WITH HIS FATHERS WIFE, &c. verse. 20. so the memory of his sin remained to his posterity in special manner. Gad and Aser] the sons of Zilpah, Leah's handmaid, Gen. 30. 10, 11, 12, 13. Zebulon] the sixth and youngest of all Leah's sons, Gen. 30. 20. and because there were to be six tribes on this mount, two must be taken of the free woman's sons: and God took none of Rachel's, but the eldest and youngest of Leah's. Dan and Naphtali] the two sons of Bilhah Rachel's handmaid, Gen. 30. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8.

Vers. 14. the Levites] that is, some of the Priests the Levites, Ios. 8. 33. their office was to teach Jacob God's judgments, and Israel his Law, Deut. 33. 10. and as the solemn blessing was by the Levites usually, Deut. 10. 8. so here the curses were by them pronounced to the people. shall answer] that is, speak, or pronounce. Answering is often used for the beginning of a speech, as in Job 3. 2. to all the men] or to every man: the Greek saith, to all Israel.

Vers. 15. Cursed] It was commanded that the [unspec 15] blessing should be put upon mount Gerizzim, De• 11. 29. and so in the fulfilling of this precept, Joshua read as well the blessings as the curses, Ios. 8. 34. But the chief end of this ordinance was to teach, that so many as are of the works of the Law, are under the curse, as is opened in Gal. 3. 10. The manner is rehearsed before out of the Talmud, and the like is in the Yerushalmi Targum upon this place, saying, They turned their faces towards mount Gerizzim, and opened their mouth with blessing; Blessed be the man that maketh not any image, or figure, or any similitude which is hateful and abominable before the Lord, the work of the hands of the son of man, and putteth it not in a secret place. They turned their faces towards mount Ebal, and said, Cursed be the man which maketh an image, or a figure, or any similitude, which is hateful and abominable before the Lord, the work of the hands of the son of man, and putteth it in a secret place: and all the people, these (on the one side) and these (on the other side) answered and said, Amen. Cursing is both in words and deeds, and implieth both the withholding of all good things, and the inflicting of all evil, especially of eternal damnation and torment, Mat. 25. 41. See the Annotations on Gen. 3. 14. and 4. 11. the man] that is, everyone, as Paul expoundeth the last of these curses, Gal. 3. 10. teaching us to understand the like of all. graven] the Chaldee, and Targum Ierusalemie, interpret it Tselem, an image: under graven and molten images, all other like human inventions are implied, as is noted on Exod. 20. 4. And the like is to be understood for the transgression of any other commandment of the first table. an abomination to] or, the abomination of Jehovah, that is, which he greatly abhorreth. Hereupon Images and Idols are often called Abominations, 2 King. 23. 13. Isaiah. 44. 19. Ezek. 7. 20. the craftsman] or artificer, implying all devices of the most wise and prudent, which make Idols according to their own understanding, Hos. 13. 2. For Artificers were employed in the work of God's sanctuary, 1 Chron. 29. 5. but when they leave the word of God, and follow their own inventions, their work is cursed and condemned, Ier. 10. 3. 9. Isaiah.

40. 18. 20. Hos. 8. 6. a secret place] so that not open idolatry only, but the most secret is execrable, though it be even in the heart: see Ezek. 8. 12. Psal. 44. 20, 21. Amen] or, So be it, as the Greek translatheth it. A confirmation of the curse with their own mouths, desiring that it might be, and believing that it should be: see Num. 5. 22. The Hebrews say of Blessing, Whosoever answereth Amen after him that blesseth, he is as he that blesseth. Maim. in Misneh treat. of Blessings, chap. 1. sect. 11. The same is to be thought of saying Amen after all these curses.

Vers. 16. setteth light by] or, as the Greek hath, dishonoreth: see the Annotations on Exod. 20. 12.

Vers. 17. limit] or, land-mark, border: against which the Law was before given, in Deut. 19. 14. [unspec 17]

Vers. 18. blind to err] or, to go astray. They that see, ought to be eyes to the blind, Job 29. 15. and are forbidden to put a stumbling block before them, Lev. 19. 14. much more to seduce them from the right way: for they that are proud, and err from God's commandments, are cursed; Psal. 119. 21. how much more if they cause others to err••He that causeth the righteous to go astray in an evil way, shall fall himself into his own pit, Prov. 28. 10.

Vers. 19. wresteth] or, perverteth, turneth aside: See the Law concerning this, in Deut. 24. 17.

Vers. 20. fathers wife] of this, and the rest that follow, see Lev. 18. Because men give themselves over to divers noisome lusts of the flesh, God causeth divers curses to be pronounced against this sin, the more to deter men from following the same in any sort.

Vers. 24. smiteth] this word is used sometime for slaying or killing, as Deut. 1. 4. and 13. 15. sometime for wounding only, Zach. 13. 6. or chastising, Deut. 28. 27, 28. sometime for smiting with the fist of wickedness, Isaiah. 58. 4. or with the tongue, Ier. 18. 18. in secret] the Greek expoundeth it, by guile.

Vers. 25. a reward] a bribe, or gift: as the Greek translatheth it, gifts: and this is the Magistrates sin, Deut. 16. 19. and was found in Israel, as Mic. 3. 11. The heads thereof judge for bribes. to smite] in Chaldee, to kill a soul, that is, a person. the blood of an innocent] or, as the Greek expoundeth it, of innocent blood; which is an effect of bribery, as in Ezek. 22. 12. In thee have they taken bribes, to shed blood.

Vers. 26. Cursed be he] the Greek translatheth, Cursed be every man: and so the Apostle allegeth it, Gal. 3. 10. where he giveth this doctrine, So many as are of the works of the Law, are under the curse: that whiles men do the Law outwardly, yet are they cursed by the Law, as being privy transgressors: for the Law is spiritual, but men are carnal, sold under sin, Rom. 7. 9,—14. confirmeth not] or, stablisheth not: which the Greek, and our Apostle in Gal. 3. 10. expound continueth not. For when the just man turneth away from his justices, and committeth iniquity, &c. all his justice that he hath done shall not be mentioned; in his trespass that he hath trespassed, and in his sin that he hath sinned, in them shall he die, Ezek. 18. 24. See the Annotations on Lev. 26. 15. the words] in Greek, all the words: see the like in Lev. 25. 18. Exod. 25. 40. Deut. 19. 15. And so the Apostle citeth this place in Gal. 3. 10. continueth not in all things written in the book of the Law. to do them] this is an exposition of the former word confirmeth; and sometime the one is put for the other; as, to confirm the words of this covenant, 2 King. 23. 3. for which another Prophet saith, to do the words, 2 Chron. 34. 31. For not the hearers of the Law are just before God, but the doers of the Law shall be justified, Rom. 2. 13. And for as much as there is not a just man upon earth, that doth good and sinneth not, Eccles. 7. 20. therefore by the deeds of the Law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight, Rom. 3. 20. that the Apostle rightly gathereth, as many as are of the works of the Law, are under the curse, Gal. 3. 10. Therefore the use of the Law was to be a Schoolmaster unto Christ, who hath redeemed us from the curse of the Law, being made a curse for us, Gal. 3. 24. 13.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Upon condition of observing and doing all God's commandments, he promiseth many blessings earthly and heavenly. 15 But for disobedience, he threateneth manifold curses, plagues, and miseries.

AND it shall be, if hearkening thou shalt hearken unto the voice of Jehovah thy God, to observe to do all his commandments, which I command thee this day, that Jehovah thy God will give thee to be high above all the nations of the earth. And all these blessings shall come upon thee, and overtake thee, if thou shalt hearken unto the voice of Jehovah thy God. Blessed shalt thou be in the city, and blessed shalt thou be in the field. Blessed shall be the fruit of thy womb, and the fruit of thy ground, and the fruit of thy cattle, the increase of thy kine, and the flocks of thy sheep. Blessed shall be thy basket and thy dough trough. Blessed shalt thou be when thou comest in, and blessed shalt thou be when thou goest out. Jehovah will give thine enemies that rise up against thee to be smitten before thy face: they shall come out against thee one way, and fly before thee seven ways. Jehovah will command the blessing to be with thee, in thy store-houses, and in all that thou settest thine hand unto; and he will bless thee in the Land which Jehovah thy God giveth unto thee. Jehovah will stablish thee unto him-self for an holy people, as he hath sworn unto thee, if thou shalt keep the commandments of Jehovah thy God, and walk in his ways. And all people's of the earth shall see, that the name of Jehovah is called upon thee, and they shall be afraid of thee. And Jehovah will make thee plenteous in good things, in the fruit of thy womb, and in the fruit of thy cattle, and in the fruit of thy ground, in the land which Jehovah sware unto thy fathers to give unto thee. Jehovah will open unto thee his good treasure, the heavens, to give the rain of thy land in his season, and to bless all the work of thine hand: and thou shalt lend unto many nations, and thou shalt not borrow.

And Jehovah will give thee to be the head, and not the tail, and thou shalt be above only, and shalt not be beneath, if thou hearken unto the commandments of Jehovah thy God, which I command thee this day, to observe and to do. And thou shalt not go aside from any of the words which I command you this day, to the right hand, or to the left, to go after other gods to serve them.

And it shall be, if thou wilt not hearken unto the voice of Jehovah thy God, to observe to do all his commandments, and his statutes which I command thee this day, that all these curses shall come upon thee, and overtake thee. Cursed shalt thou be in the city, and cursed shalt thou be in the field. Cursed shall be thy basket, and thy dough-trough. Cursed shall be the fruit of thy womb, and the fruit of thy ground, the increase of thy kine, and the flocks of thy sheep. Cursed shalt thou be when thou comest in, and cursed shalt thou be when thou goest out. Jehovah will send upon thee a curse, vexation, and rebuke, in all that thou settest thine hand unto, which thou wouldest do, until thou be destroyed, and until thou perish quickly, because of the evil of thy doings, for that thou hast forsaken me. Jehovah will make the pestilence cleave unto thee, until he have consumed thee from off the land whither thou goest to possess it. Jehovah will smite thee with the consumption, and with the burningague, and with an inflammation, and with an extreme burning, and with the sword, and with blasting, and with meldew, and they shall pursue thee until thou perish. And thy heavens which are over thine head shall be brass, and the earth which is under thee shall be iron.

Jehovah will give the rain of thy land to be powder and dust, from the heavens shall it come down upon thee until thou be destroyed. Jehovah will give thee to be smitten before thine enemies; thou shalt go out against him one way, and flee before him seven ways, and thou shalt be for a removing to all the kingdoms of the earth. And thy carcass shall be for meat to all the fowls of the heavens, and to the beasts of the earth, and none shall fray them away. Jehovah will smite thee with the boil of Egypt, and with the Emrods, and with the scab, and with the itch, whereof thou canst not be healed. Jehovah will smite thee with madness, and with blindness, and with astonishment of heart. And thou shalt be groping at noon day, as the blind gropeth in thick darkness, and thou shalt not prosper in thy wares, and thou shalt be only fraudulently oppressed and robbed all days, and none shall save thee. Thou shalt betroth a wife, and another man shall lie with her; thou shalt build an house, and thou shalt not dwell therein; thou shalt plant a vineyard, and shalt not make it common. Thine ox shall be slain before thine eyes, and thou shalt not eat thereof: thine asse shall be violently taken away from before thy face, and shall not return unto thee; thy sheep shall be given unto thine enemies, and thou shalt have none to save. Thy sons and thy daughters shall be given to another people, and thine eyes shall see, and shall fail with longing for them all the day, and there shall be no power in thine hand.

The fruit of thy land, and all thy labor shall a people eat up which thou knowest not: and thou shalt be only fraudulently oppressed and crushed all days. And thou shalt be mad for the sight of thine eyes which thou shalt see. Jehovah will smite thee with an evil bove on the knees, and on the legs, whereof thou canst not be healed, from the sole of thy foot, even unto the top of thine head. Jehovah will bring thee, and thy king which thou shalt set over thee, unto a nation which thou hast not known, thou or thy fathers, and there thou shalt serve other gods, wood and stone. And thou shalt be for an astonishment, for a proverb, and for a by-word among all people's, whither Jehovah shall lead thee. Much seed shalt thou carry out into the field, and little shalt thou gather in, for the Locust shall consume it. Thou shalt plant vineyards and dress them, but thou shalt not drink the wine, nor gather (the grapes) for the worm shall eat it. Thou shalt have olive-trees in all thy coast, but thou shalt not anoint thyself with the oil, for thine Olive shall cast (his fruit.) Thou shalt beget sons and daughters, but they shall not be thine, for they shall go into captivity. All thy trees, and the fruit of thy land shall the grassehopper possess. The stranger that is within thee shall get up above thee on high on high, and thou shalt come down below below. He shall lend to thee, and thou shalt not lend to him; he shall be the head, and thou shalt be the tail. And all these curses shall come upon thee, and shall pursue thee, and overtake thee, until thou be destroyed, because thou hearkenedst not unto the voice of Jehovah thy God, to keep his commandments and his statutes which he hath commanded thee. And they shall be upon thee for a sign and for a wonder, and upon thy seed forever. Because thou servedst not Jehovah thy God with joyfulness, and with goodness of heart for the abundance of all things. Therefore thou shalt serve thine enemies, whom Jehovah will send against thee, in hunger, and in thirst, and in nakedness, and in want of all things: and he will put a yoke of iron upon thy neck, until he have destroyed thee. Jehovah will bring against thee a nation from far, from the end of the earth, as the Eagle flieth: a nation whose tongue thou shalt not hear. A nation of a strong face, which will not regard the face of the old, nor show grace to the young. And he shall eat the fruit of thy cattle, and the fruit of thy land, until thou be destroyed, which shall not leave unto thee, corn, new wine, or new oil, the increase of thy kine, or flocks of thy sheep, until he have destroyed thee. And he shall besiege thee in all thy gates, until thine high and fenced walls come down, wherein thou trustedst, throughout all thy land, and he shall besiege thee in all thy gates, throughout all thy land, which Jehovah thy God hath given unto thee. And thou shalt eat the fruit of thy womb, the flesh of thy sons and of thy daughters which Jehovah thy God hath given unto thee, in the siege and in the straitness wherewith thine enemies shall distress thee. The man that is tender among you and very delicate, his eye shall be evil towards his brother, and towards the wife of his bosom, and towards the remnant of his sons which he shall leave. So that he will not give to any one of them of the flesh of his sons, whom he shall eat, because he hath not left unto him any thing in the siege & in the straitness, wherewith thine enemies shall distress thee in all thy gates. The tender woman among you and delicate, which would not adventure the sole of her foot to set it on the ground for delicatenesse and for tenderness, her eye shall be evil towards the husband of her bosom, and towards her son, and towards her daughter: And towards her after-birth that cometh out from between her feet, and towards her sons which she shall bear, for she shall eat them for want of all things, in secret, in the siege and in the straitness, wherewith thine enemy shall distress thee in thy gates. If thou wilt not observe to do all the words of this Law, that are written in this book, to fear this glorious and fearful name Jehovah thy God. And Jehovah will make marvelous thy plagues, and the plagues of thy seed; plagues great and permanent, and sicknesses evil and permanent. And he will bring upon thee every disease of Egypt, which thou wast afraid because of them, and they shall cleave unto thee.

Also every sickness, and every plague, which is not written in the book of this Law, them will Jehovah bring upon thee, until thou be destroyed. And ye shall be left with a few men, whereas ye were as the stars of the heavens for multitude, because thou hearkenedst not unto the voice of Jehovah thy God. And it shall be, as Jehovah rejoiced over you, to do you good, and to multiply you, so Jehovah will rejoice over you to make you perish, and to destroy you, and ye shall be plucked from off the Land, whither thou goest in to possess it.

And Jehovah will scatter thee among all people's, from the end of the earth, and unto the end of the earth; and there thou shalt serve other gods, which thou hast not known, thou or thy fathers, wood and stone. And in those nations thou shalt not find ease, neither shall there be rest for the sole of thy foot: and Jehovah will give unto thee there, a trembling heart, and failing of eyes, and pining of soul.

And thy life shall be hanging in doubt before thee, and thou shalt dread night and day, and shalt not have assurance of thy life. In the morning thou shalt say, Who will give the evening; and in the evening thou shalt say, Who will give the morning: for the dread of thine heart wherewith thou shalt dread, and for the sight of thine eyes which thou shalt see.

And Jehovah will return thee to Egypt with ships, by the way whereof I said unto thee, Thou shalt not see it again anymore: and there ye shall be sold to your enemies, for bondmen and for bond-women, and none shall buy you.

Annotations.

HEarkening thou shalt hearken] that is, shalt continually and diligently hearken to (or obey) the voice; which the Chaldee translath, shalt receive the word of the LORD. As in the former Chapter the Law was confirmed by blessings and curses pronounced by the people; so here it is confirmed in like sort, but more largely by God himself: that Israel might be kept in due obedience, and finding in themselves the impossibility of doing the Law, they might have recourse unto Christ by faith. to observe to do] in Greek, to observe (or keep) and to do. give thee to be high] that is, set and stablish thee high: as giving 1 Chron. 17. 22. is expounded, stablishing, 2 Sam. 7. 24. And highness meaneth heavenly dignity given of God, by the high (or heavenly) calling, whereby they were made partakers, Phil. 3. 14. Heb. 3. 1. whereby they were to seek and mind, the things that are above, Col. 3. 1, 2. and have their conversation in heaven, Phil. 3. 20. For, the way of life is above to the wise, that he may depart from hell beneath, Prov. 15. 24. See also Deut. 26. 19.

Vers. 2. overtake thee] or, take hold on thee: The Greek translath, find thee. It meaneth obtaining of all blessings, and effectual applying of them, for their good and comfort. The like is said of the curses, in v. 15. 45. and generally of God's words and statutes, of which the Prophet telleth the Jews, that they overtooke (or took hold) of their fathers, when they were punished for transgressing them, Zach. 1. 6.

Vers. 3. Blessed thou] The first blessing is upon the person, who must be acceptable to God, before any of his works are accepted, Gen. 4. 4. and the person being blessed, all things prosper about him. What blessing is, see the Annotations on Gen. 1. 22. and 2. 3. and 12. 2. city] by this, and the field, all places, and all estates of life are meant.

Vers. 4. fruit of thy womb] or, of thy belly: the Chaldee saith, the child of thy bowels. The second blessing is upon a man's possessions, of all sorts for increase, which was at the first by God blessing the creatures, Gen. 1. 22. 28. and so continueth, as it is written, And he blesseth them, and they are multiplied greatly, Psal. 107. 39. So Psal. 128. 1, 3. thy ground] or land, the fruits whereof were also figures of heavenly blessing: see Levite. 26. 4. increase] or young: in Greek, herds: see Deut. 7. 13.

Vers. 5. basket] whereinto fruits are put when they are gathered, Deut. 26. 2. dough-trough] or dough, or store: see Exod. 8. 3. and 12. 34. These two are named instead of all places and vessels, wherein the fruits and commodities which God sendeth, are kept for use and store. Therefore the Greek for basket, translateth barns (as Luk. 12. 18.) and for the dough-trough, remainders, or store that is left. So in v. 17. And this is the third degree of blessing upon the commodities which men reap of their possessions.

Vers. 6. comest in] by coming in, and going out, the Scripture meaneth all employment and administration in any business, or office, as in government of a kingdom, 2 Chron. 1. 10. of the Church; Act. 1. 21. of a family, Gen. 39. 11. Psal. 104. 23. and generally of all other affairs, as 2 Sam. 3. 25. Act. 9. 28. So this fourth blessing concerneth the whole administration and conversation of the Saints.

Vers. 7. smitten] that is, as the Greek and Chaldee expound it, crushed, and broken: see an example of this in David's enemies, 2 Sam. 22. 38,—43. And this fifth blessing concerneth the safety of God's people, and their victories over their enemies, of whom the chief is Satan himself, and him will the God of peace crush under the feet of his people, Rom. 16. 20. lee] a sign of discomfiture and destruction: therefore when one Prophet saith, Wilt thou she before thine enemies? 2 Sam. 24. 13. another explaineth it, to be destroyed before thine enemies, 1 Chron. 21. 12. seven ways] that is, many ways: so signifying a full conquest over them, for seven is a complete number, often used for many, as is noted on Gen. 2. 2. and 33. 3. Lev. 4. 6. It signifieth also their dispersion, every man his way, whereas they came out jointly together, all one way.

Vers. 8. will command] that is, will powerfully send, and effectually procure the blessing. Of this phrase, see Levite. 25. 21. The contrary hereunto is, he will send upon thee, v. 20. the blessing] whereunto is opposed the curse, vexation, and rebuke, verse. 20. storehouses] or barns; in Chaldee, treasures: so in Prov. 3. 10. that thou settest thy hand unto] Hebr. the setting to of thy hand: whereof see Deut. 12. 7. Thus this sixth promise implieth a general blessing upon all that the godly hath or doth.

Vers. 9. stablish thee] set thee up firm and sure. This seventh blessing properly concerneth spiritual things and heavenly, for the sanctification of the Church, and establishment thereof in that grace, by reason of the covenant and oath of God, whereof he never repenteth, Psal. 110. 4. For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance, Rom. 11. 29.

Vers. 10. is called upon thee] that is, thou art called by his name: as before Moses said, Ye are the sons of Jehovah your God, Deut. 14. 1. Of this phrase, see the Annotations on Gen. 48. 16. Here God enlargeth his former blessings, in causing them to be known and acknowledged of all other people's. afraid of thee] as was fore-promised, Deut. 11. 25. and had come to pass unto Israel, Deut. 2. 25. and unto Abraham, Isaiah 41. 5. and other particular persons, as Saul was afraid of David because the Lord was with him, 1 Sam. 18. 12. 15, 29.

Vers. 11. make thee plenteous] or, make thee to excel; in Greek, multiply thee. in good] or, for good things. An enlargement of the blessing promised in v. 4. which all should see by the abundance of good things from beneath.

Vers. 12. treasure] or, treasury, storehouse, which he expoundeth after to be rain from heaven, for so the Scripture elsewhere mentioneth, treasuries of the snow, and treasuries of the hail, and of the wind, Job 38. 22. Psal. 135. 7. and these were blessings from above, which caused the increase of those good things promised in v. 4, 5. in his season] that is, in due season; meaning the first and latter rain, mentioned in Deut. 11. 14. See the notes on Levite. 26. 4. shalt lend] that is, shalt have such plenty, as that thou shalt lend unto many nations; a sign both of wealth, liberality, and sovereignty; for, the borrower is servant to the man that lendeth, Prov. 22. 7. therefore the Greek giveth here a double interpretation; thou shalt lend unto many nations, and thou shalt not borrow: and shalt rule over many nations, and they shall not rule over thee: which words are borrowed here from Deut. 15. 6.

Vers. 13. the head] a figure or parable, meaning chief in authority and power, (called before, a ruling over many nations, Deut. 15. 6.) as the tail signifieth inferiority and baseness, which the Chaldee expoundeth thus, The Lord will give thee to be strong and not weak. This is opened in Isaiah 9. 14, 15. The Lord will cut off from Israel, head and tail, &c. the ancient and honorable, he is the head; and the Prophet that teacheth lies, he is the tail. Thus by head here, we may also understand spiritually, the honor of the truth, wherewith the Church of God should be adorned and exalted. above] in honor and dignity, not earthly only, but heavenly, as in v. 1. So Christ said to the Jews, Ye are from beneath, I am from above: ye are of this world, I am not of this world, Job. 8. 23. Likewise of his Disciples he saith, They are not of the world, even as I am not of the world, Job. 17. 16. If thou hearken] The condition of the former promises, the first branch whereof is obedience, to do all that is commanded.

Vers. 14. and thou shalt not] that is, If thou shalt not; for this is the second branch of the condition, restraining all disobedience against any of God's words. other gods] which the Chaldee expoundeth, Idols of the people's.

Vers. 15. not hearken] in Chaldee, not receive the Word of the LORD. Here followeth a large commination of the curses that shall come upon the transgressors of the Law: compare herewith Levite. 26. 14. &c. and this condition is opposite to the former in v. 1, 2.

Vers. 16. Cursed thou] The first curse is upon their persons, opposed to the blessing in v. 3. What the curse meaneth, see Deut. 27. 15. Gen. 3. 14.

Vers. 17. dough-trough] or store; in Greek, thy remainders. This second curse is opposed to the third blessing in v. 5.

Vers. 18. fruit of thy womb] in Chaldee, the child of thy bowels. This third curse is set against the second blessing in v. 4.

Vers. 19. comest in, &c.] that is, in all thy ways and administration. The fourth curse, opposed to the fourth blessing, in v. 6.

Vers. 20. a curse] so God threateneth the Priests, in Mal. 2. 2. and this fifth denunciation is against the sixth promise of blessing, in v. 8. This curse the Greek expoundeth, lack, or penury. vexation] or, trouble, tumult and destruction, as Deut. 7. 23. this the Greek interpreteth, famine; but the word is more general, implying wars also, and other plagues upon the body, as Zach. 14. 13. 1 Sam. 14. 20. and 5. 9. And this judgment was upon Israel, 2 Chron. 15. 5. rebuke] this is not only from men, but from God, who is said to rebuke, not only by words but by deeds, whereupon men perish, Psal. 80. 17. and his rebuke is with flames of fire, Isaiah 66. 15. Hereupon the Greek here translateth it consumption. How this came upon Israel, see Isaiah 51. 20. and 30. 17. forsaken me] in Chaldee, forsaken my fear.

Vers. 21. the pestilence] The Greek and Chaldee translate it, death: see the Annotations on Ex. 5. <math>\diamond</math> . and Levite. 26. 25. The fulfilling of this plague is mentioned in Amos 4. 10.

Vers. 22. consumption] of this and the ague following, see Lev. 26. 16. the sword] or draught: but the Greek taketh it in the first sense, translating it slaughter: So in Levite. 26. 25. blasting] of corn and fruits with a dry wind, 2 Kin. 19. 26. for the original word signifieth dryness; and such was the East-wind that blasted in those parts, Gen. 41. 6. Therefore the Greek translateth it, corruption with wind. The fulfilling of this judgment is shown in Amos 4. 9. Hag. 2. 17. meldew] which hath the name in Hebrew of palesse (as Ier. 30. 6.) & so is here translated in Greek, and is a plague upon corn, through too much moistnesse, (as blasting is with dryness) whereby the natural greenenesse is gone before it be ripe, and the color faded. So in Amos 4. 9. Hag. 2. 17. 2 Chron. 6. 28.

Vers. 23. thy heavens] in Greek and Chaldee, the heaven: see the Annotations on Levite. 26. 19. It meaneth a restraint of rain, whereby the land should be barren.

Vers. 24. powder] or small dust. Instead of rain, your air shall be filled with dust, which the wind and other things raise in time of drought. This word is used, when speech is of God's judgments, in Isaiah 5. 24. and 29. 5. Ezek. 26. 10. Nahum. 1. 3. Luk. 9. 5. and with dust was Egypt plagued, Ex. 9. 9. from the heavens] that is, from the air.

Vers. 25. smitten] in Chaldee, broken: this is opposite to the first blessing, in ver. 7. flee] and consequently fall and perish; as to flee three months before the enemy, 2 Sam. 24. 13. is expounded, to be destroyed three months, 1 Chron. 21. 12. for a removing] that is, removed, shaken, and dispersed; as the Greek translateth, thou shalt be in dispersion. This word Ieromy useth when the time of their dispersion was come upon them, Ier. 15. 4. and 29. 18. and 34. 17. So in 2 Chron. 29. 8.

Vers. 26. thy carcass] that is, carcasses; the Greek expoundeth it, your dead men: he meaneth that they should not have honest burial; but being slain by the sword, should be eaten by beasts. These words of Moses Jeremiah repeateth, Ier. 7. 33. and 16. 4. and 34. 20. And Asaph lamenteth the complement of this plague, Psal. 79. 1, 2, 3.

Vers. 27. boil of Egypt] or Egyptian ulcer, whereof see Exod. 9. 9, 10, 11. emrods] or piles, a disease wherewith God smote the Philistines in their secret hinder parts, 1 Sam. 5. 9. Psal. 78. 66. For this disease the Hebrew hath two names, the one in the line Gnaphólim, the other in the margin Techórim; and this latter is used in the line, in 1 Sam. 6. 11, 17. itch] so the Greek expoundeth it: the Chaldee saith, a dry scab. whereof] or, so that thou canst not be healed: and this is contrary to the promise made upon their obedience, in Exod. 15. 26.

Vers. 28. madness] or fury; this is properly in the mind, but manifested by foolish gesture, 1 Sam. 21. 13, 14. And because the Prophets were often moved with ecstasies, & carried themselves strangely, some in contempt would call them mad men, 2 King. 9. 11. Ier. 29. 26. blindness] this is both in body and mind, Isaiah 42. 19. The contrary blessing we receive by Christ, Isaiah 42. 7. 16. astonishment] or, amazement, wondering: this is threatened even to the Prophets, in Ier. 4. 9. and other unbelievers, Habak. 1. 5. Act. 13. 41.

Vers. 29. groping] or, feeling; meant as an effect of blindness of soul, as Paul speaketh of God's works to the heathen, that they should seek the Lord, if haply they might seee (or grope) after him, and find him, Act. 17. 17. So it is said of the wicked, in Job 5. 14. They meet with darkness in the day time, and grope in the noon day as in the night: and in Job 12. 25. They grope in the dark without light. save thee] that is, as the Greek translatheth it, thou shalt have no belpor. So in 2. Sam. 22. 42. they looked, but there was none to save.

Vers. 30. lie with her] or, defile, ravish her. The Hebrew Shagal signifying the act of generation, as here and in Esa. 13. 16. and Zach. 14. 2. expounded in the Hebrew margin to be read Shacab, which is to lie with. make it common] that is, gather and eat the grapes thereof. See Deut. 20. 6. On the contrary, when God promiseth grace, he saith, the planters shall plant (vines) and shall make them common, Ier. 31. 5.

Vers. 31. not return] that is, not be returned, or restored, as the Greek explaineth it. See the Annotations on Gen. 2. 20. and 16. 14. to save] in Greek, no helper: as v. 29.

Vers. 32. fail] or, be consumed, to wit, with longing, or desire: so it is elsewhere spoken of the eyes, in Psal. 119. 82. of the soul, Psal. 84. 3. and of the reins, Job 19. 27. where Job speaketh of his desire to see God at the resurrection. no power in thy hand] so the Chaldee expoundeth it, and the Greek, thy hand shall not be strong (or able) or we may interpret it, nothing shall be in the power of thine hand. The contrary is in Mich. 2. 1. Gen. 31. 29.

Vers. 33. eat up] or, devour: this judgment came upon Israel by the heathens, Isaiah. 1. 7. Ier. 5. 17. and 8. 16.

Vers. 34. for the sight] in Greek, for the sights (or visions) meaning that they should see such heavy troubles, as should make them mad through fear and sorrow, being without faith, comfort, and patience. These are the lively and powerful effects of the Law upon the conscience of sinners, that it bereaveth them of all sense of God's favor: for the Law is not of faith, Gal. 3. 12.

Vers. 35. evil boil] sore, or, malignant ulcer: such a plague spiritual God sendeth on the Antichristians, Rev. 16. 2. And in body Job was afflicted with such from the sole of his foot unto the top of his head, for the trial of his faith and patience, Job. 2. 7.

Vers. 36. bring] or lead, make go into captivity. This foretelleth the overthrow of their state, which was accomplished by Assyria and Babylon, 2 King. 17. 6. and 25. 1. &c. thy King] in Greek, thy Princes: both were fulfilled, 2 King. 24. 14, 15. other gods] as in their own land they served other God's, that is, Idols of wood and of stone, Ier. 2. 27. so God threateneth to send them as slaves into other lands, where they would do the like, though by his Prophets he warned them not to do so, Isaiah 44. 8, 9. &c. Ier. 10. 2, 3,—11. So for making an Idol in the Wilderness, God had before given them up to worship the host of heaven, Act. 7. 41, 42. The Chaldee here translateth; thou shalt serve people's that serve idols of wood and of stone: So after in v. 64.

Vers. 37. a by word] a sharp or •tting taunt: this God threatened again immediately before it came to pass, Ier. 24. 9. and before that in Solomon's days, 1 King. 9. 7. and it came upon them, as Psalms. 44. 14, 15. &c.

Vers. 38. the Locast] that is, Loc•sts: see the judgments here threatened, fulfilled in Joel 1. 4. Amos. 4. 9. and 7. 1, 2. H•g. 1. 6, 11.

Vers. 42. Grash•pper] called in Hebrew Tselatsal, a word here only used; the Greek translateth it eris•be, which is a blasting, or m•dew, that spoileth corn.

Vers. 44. the head] or, for the head, that is, the chief, which the Chaldee expoundeth strong; as the tail is in Chaldee the weak: see v. 13.

Vers. 46. for a sign] the Greek and Chaldee translate plurally, signs and wonders. thy seed] Chaldee, thy son•.

Vers. 47. goodness of heart] the Greek translateth it, a good heart; the Chaldee, truth of heart: it meaneth also gladness, as in Isaiah 65. 14. it is opposed to sorrow. Of this the Jews made confession when they were returned from Babylon, Nehem. 9. 35. of all] Greek, of all things; and Targum Jonathan addeth, of all good: and so in v. 48. want of all good.

Vers. 48. yoke of iron] that is, hard servitude under heathen Rulers; as Ier. 28. 13, 14. for servants are said to be under the yoke, 1 Tim. 6. 1.

Vers. 49. as the Eagle] that flieth swiftly and violently, therefore the Greek translateth, like the violence of an Eagle. This is a prophesy of the Babylonians, the Lion with Eagles wings, Dan. 7. 4. So Nebuchadnezzar is likened to a great Eagle with great wings, &c. Ezek. 17. 3. 12. not heart] that is, not understand: see the notes on Gen. 11. 7.

Vers. 50. of a strong face] that is, bold, fierce, cruel, and (as the Greek translateth) impudent. This title is given to Antiochus Epiphanes, the great afflict•r of the Jews▪ Dan. 8. 23. not regard] not respect or honor any person.

Vers. 51. fruit of thy cattle] thy young beasts▪ See the fulfilling of this mentioned before the captivity, Isaiah 1. 7. corn] The enemies devouring of these earthly blessings in Canaan, the holy land, figured also that Israel should for their sins be deprived of God's heavenly blessings, till God should turn them again to himself by the faith of the Gospel: and then he swareth, If I give (that it, surely I will not give) anymore thy corn to be meat for thine enemies, and the sons of the stranger shall not drink thy wine, for which thou hast labored: but they that have gathered it, shall eat it, and praise the Lord, and they that have brought it together, shall drink it in the Courts of my holiness; Isaiah 62. 8, 9.

Vers. 52. thy gates] in Greek and Chaldee, thy cities: so verse 55. See this fulfilled, 2 King. 17. and 25.

Vers. 53. the fruit of thy ⲟⲩ ] in Chaldee, the children of thy bowels. The like threatening is in Levite. 26. 29. Ier. 19. 9. fulfilled, 2 King. ⲟⲩ . 29. Lam. 4. 10.

Vers. 54. eye shall be evil] that is, he shall grudge and envy: see Deut. 15. 9. The Greek translateth, he shall be witch with his eye. So in v. 56. of his bosom] that is, which lieth in his bosom, as Mic. 7. 5.

Vers. 57. her after-birth] and so her little one therein; as the Chaldee expoundeth it, the least of her children.

Vers. 58. fearful] in Greek, marvelous. [unspec 59]

Vers. 59. thy plagues] or, every of thy plagues, as the form of the Hebrew word implieth. thy seed] Chaldee. thy children. permanent] or, firm, faithful, and continuing long: as Tharg. Ionath. explaineth, which shall dure long upon your bodies.

Vers. 60. disease] or sickness; in Greek, sorrow. Of the plagues of Egypt, see Exod. 8. &c.

Vers. 62. with a few men] Greek, in a short (or small) number: Chaldee. a people of number, that is, soon numbered. See this fulfilled, Isaiah 1. 9. hearkenedst not] Chaldee, receivedst not the word

Vers. 63. will rejoice] although the destruction of the wicked is to themselves miserable, yet God's judgments upon them are unto him, his Angels, and all the Saints, joyful, Rev. 18. 20. Ps. 58. 11, 12. Ier. 51. 48. for, when the wicked perish, there is shouting joy, Prov. 11. 10.

Vers. 64. and unto the end, &c.] that is, from one end of the earth to another. A like phrase is, from the end of the heavens unto the end of them, Matt. 24. 31. Mark. 13. 27. This dispersion of the Jews is visible even to this day. serve other gods] the Chaldee expoundeth it, serve people's that serve idols: but it implieth God's judgment in giving them over to further sin: see the notes on verse 36.

Vers. 65. not find ease] or, not have quietness. Unto this curse of the Law for sin, is opposed the promise of grace in Christ, Ier. 31. 2. a trembling heart] in Greek, a faint (or discouraged) heart. See Levite. 26. 36. Isaiah 1. 5. failing of eyes] in Greek, failing eyes, that shall look for deliverance, but not see it. pining of soul] in Greek, a melting soul, that is, sorrowful and fearful. See Lev. 26. 16. 1 Sam. 2. 33.

Vers. 66. hanging in doubt] that is, uncertain, [unspec] as after followeth. So the Greek, thy life shall be hanging before thine eyes. not have assurance of thy life] or, not believe in thy life; in Greek, not believe thy life; that is, have no assurance of it, but always fear death.

Vers. 67. Who will give] that is, O that it were evening: see Deut. 5. 29. A lively description of misery, wherein every hour by night or by day seemeth long and tedious. Compare Job 7. 3, 4.

Vers. 68. to Egypt] the house of bondage, Exod. [unspec] 20. 2. and figure of spiritual bondage under sin and Satan: in which estate the Law leaveth all men, till they be redeemed by grace in Christ. So another Prophet saith, They shall not dwell in I•hovahs land; but Ephraim shall return to Egypt, and they shall eat unclean things in Assyria, Hos. 9. 3.

CHAP. XXIX.

Mos•• being to renew the covenant, exhorteth Israel to obedience, by the m•mory of the works they have seen. 10 All stand before the Lord, to enter into his covenant. 18 The great wrath on him that flattereth himself in his wickedness. 29 Secret things belong unto God.

These are the words of the covenant which Jehovah commanded Moses to strike with the sons of Israel, in the land of Moab, beside the covenant which he stroke with them in Horeb.

And Moses called unto all Israel, and said unto them, You have seen all that Jehovah did before your eyes in the land of Egypt, unto Pharaoh, and unto all his servants, and unto all his land. The great temptations which th•e eyes have seen, the signs, and those great wonders. Yet Jehovah hath not given unto you an heart to know, and eyes to see, and ears to hear, unto this day. And I have lead you forty years in the wilderness; your clothes are not waxen old upon you, and thy shoe is not waxen old upon thy foot. Ye have not eaten bread, neither have you drunk wine or strong drink, that ye might know that I am Jehovah your God. And ye came unto this place, and Sihon king of Heshbon, and Ogh king of Bashan came out against us unto battle, and we smote them. And we took their land, and gave it for an inheritance to the Reubenites, and to the Gadites, and to half the tribe of the Manassites. Therefore ye shall keep the words of this covenant, and do them▪ that ye may wisely do all that ye• do.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

Ye stand this day all of you before Ieho 〈...〉 your God, your heads of your tribes, your elders and your officers, all the men of 〈◇〉 ▪ Your little ones, your wives, and thy 〈◇〉 ▪ that is within thy campe, from the 〈◇〉 of thy wood, unto the drawer of thy water. That thou shouldest pass into the covenant of Jehovah thy God, and into his 〈◇〉 which Jehovah thy God striketh with •ee this day. That he may stablish thee this day for a people unto himself, and that he may be unto thee a God, as he hath spoken unto thee, and as he hath sworn unto thy fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob. And not with you your selves alone do I strike this covenant and this oath; But with him that is standing here with us this day before Jehovah your God, and with him that is not here with us this day. For ye know, how we have dwelt in the land of Egypt, and how we have passed in the midst of the nations which ye passed by. And ye have seen their abominations, and their filthy idols, wood and stone, silver and gold which were with them. Lest there should be among you man or woman, or family or tribe, whose heart turneth away this day from Jehovah our God, to go to serve the gods of those nations; lest there should be among you a root that beareth gall and wormwood. And it be when he heareth the words of this oath, that he bless himself in his heart, saying, I shall have peace, though I walk in the imagination of mine heart, to add the drunken to the thirsty. Jehovah will not spare him; but then the anger of Jehovah and his jealousy shall smoke against that man, and every curse that is written in this book shall lie upon him, and Jehovah will blot out his name from under the heavens. And Jehovah will separate him unto evil, out of all the tribes of Israel, according to all the curses of the covenant that is written in this book of the Law. And the after generation, your sons that shall rise up after you, and the stranger that shall come from a far land, shall say, when they shall see the plagues of that land, and the sicknesses thereof, wherewith Jehovah hath made it sick; That all the land thereof is brimstone & salt, and burning▪ that it is not sown, neither springeth, nor any grass groweth therein, like the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrh, Admah, and Zebojim, which Jehovah overthrew in his anger & in his wrath.

Even all nations shall say, Wherefore hath Jehovah done thus unto this land; what meaneth the heat of this great anger? Then they shall say, Because they have forsaken the covenant of Jehovah the God of their fathers, which he struck with them when he brought them forth out of the land of Egypt. For they went and served other gods, and bowed themselves▪ down unto them; gods whom they knew not, and he had not imparted unto them. And the anger of Jehovah was kindled against this land, to bring upon it every curse that is written in this book. And Jehovah rooted them out of their land, in anger, and in wrath, and in great indignation, and cast them into another land, as it is this day. The secret things belong unto Jehovah our God, and the things revealed belong unto us, and to our sons forever, to do all the words of this Law.

Annotations.

TO strike] or, to cut, whereof see the notes on Gen. 15. 18. Here the covenant is renewed between God and the people; and it is the same in effect with the covenant made at Horeb, Exod. 19. and 24. save that Christ, who is the end of the legal covenant, is here more clearly revealed, especially in Chap. 30. verse. 11,—14. of Moab] the country on the outside of Jordan, whereof see Deut. 1. 1, 5. in Horeb] or Choreb, that is, mount Sinai, where the covenant was given, Ex. 20. and the blessings and curses for confirmation thereof, Lev. 26. 3,—46.

Vers. 3. temptations] or trials, whereby God tried the Israelites faith, and the hardness of the Egyptians in letting Israel go: see Deut. 4. 34. and 7. 19. From God's former benefits, whereof they had experience, he exhorteth them unto the keeping of the covenant.

Vers. 4. not given unto you] This showeth the inability of man to understand the things of God, without the gift of God. And long after this, Paul complaineth of the Jews, even unto this day, when Moses is read, the veil is laid over their hearts, 2 Cor. 3. 15. and Christ saith, that to them it was not given to understand the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, Matt. 13. 11, 13, 14.

Vers. 6. bread] to wit, ordinary bread out of the earth, but God hath nourished you with Manna, the bread of heaven, Psal. 78. 24, 25. Deut. 8. 3.

Vers. 7. Sihon] in Greek, Seon king of Esebon. Of this history see Num. 21. [unspec 7]

Vers. 8. we took] in Chaldee, we subdued. to the Reubenites] in Chaldee, to the tribe of Reuben, &c. See the performance hereof in Num. 32.

Vers. 9. wisely do] or, prudently carry, and with understanding, and consequently prosper: so in 1 King. 2. 3. Ios. 1. 7, 8.

Here beginneth the one and fiftieth 〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 section of the Law: see the notes on Gen. 6. 9.

Vers. 10. your heads of your tribes] that is, your heads, or chief men, which are the heads of your tribes: the Greek translatheth them by one word Archiphuloi, that is, the chief, or Rulers of the tribes.

Vers. 11. thy stranger] in Greek, the proselyte which is in the midst of your campe. Such of that mixed multitude as came out of Egypt with Israel, Exod. 12. 38. and others that had joined themselves to the Church. hewer of thy wood] such ashewed wood, and drew water, were the basest servants or slaves of Israel, (as afterward was the case of the Gibeonites, Ios. 9. 21, 27.) who also by faith were admitted into the Church and covenant of Israel.

Vers. 12. That thou shouldest pass] He speaketh to them all, as to one man; and to pass into the covenant, is a phrase taken from the manner of making covenants, when they passed between the parts of the sacrifices, Gen. 15. 17. Ier. 34. 18, 19, 20. his oath] or, his execration; in Greek, his curses, because they took the curses of the Law upon them, if they kept not the Covenant. This is called the oath of God, Eccles. 8. 2. So this people returned from the captivity of Babylon, entered into a curse, and into an oath, to walk in God's law which was given by the hand of Moses, Neh. 10. 29.

Vers. 13. a God] or, for a God: this is the substance of the Covenant, even such as is made with us in Christ, 2 Cor. 6. 16. Heb. 8. 10. Rev. 21. 3. See the Annotations on Gen. 17. 7.

Vers. 15. not here] meaning their posterity throughout all generations, to whom this covenant did alike belong. So in Targum Jonathan it is expounded, and with every generation that shall rise up unto the worlds end, &c. But this is to be understood with exception of the new Covenant, which God promised, and hath now stablished unto us in Christ, Ier. 31. 31, 32, 33. Heb. 8. 7, 8, 9, 10.

Vers. 16. how we have dwelt] or, that which we have dwelt, which Jonathan expoundeth, the number of years that we have dwelt. This their peregrination in Egypt, and deliverance thence, with God's gracious conduct of them thorough the wilderness, are named as motives to persuade unto obedience.

Vers. 17. filthy idols] in Hebr. Gillulim, (whereof see Levite. 26. 30.) in Greek, Idols.

Vers. 18. Lest there should be] or, as the Greek and Chaldee explain it, That there be not. whose heart] the heart is to be kept with all diligence, because out of it are the issues of life, Prov. 4. 23. According therefore to this, Paul warneth the Israelites, Take heed brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God, Heb. 3. 12. from Jehovah] in Chaldee, from the fear of the Lord. the gods] in Chaldee, the idols of the people's. a root] an evil heart forementioned, which is hidden from men, as the root is hidden in the earth, but the fruits after do appear. The Chaldee translateth it, a man. beareth] or, fructifieth, beareth fruit: in Greek, springeth up; which word Paul useth in Hebr. 12. 15. gall and wormwood] the Greek translateth, with gall and bitterness; whereby is meant sins, (as the Chaldee explaineth it, and) as it was said to Simon Magus, Thou art in the gall of bitterness, and in the bond of iniquity, Act. 8. 23. The Apostle respecting this place, saith, lest any root of bitterness springing up trouble you, Heb. 12. 15, (for encoules, with gall, saying, enochlee, trouble.) Gall (or Hem <...> ke) was a bitter and poisonous weed, growing in the East countries, as appeareth by Hos. 10. 4. and wormwood likewise: which are applied sometime to sins, as here and in Amos 6. 12. Deuteronom. 32. 32. sometime to bitter punishments, as in Jer. 9. 15. and 23. 15. Lament. 3. 15, 19.

Vers. 19. of this oath] or, as the Greek saith, of this curse: see verse. 12. I shall have peace] or, peace shall be unto me, that is, safety and prosperity, without hurt or punishment. imagination] or contemplation, that which the heart hath spied out, and looketh unto. So the Chaldee translateth it, imagination, (or conceit) but the Greek calleth it aberration. This sin Jeremiah often imputeth to this people, Jer. 3. 17. and 7. 24. and 9. 14. and 11. 8. and 16. 12. and 18. 12. and 23. 17. to add the drunken] to wit, the drunken soul to the thirsty, or, the moist to the dry; meaning, to add sin unto sin in abundance, as in Isaiah 30. 1. The soul that desireth is said to thirst, Psal. 63. 1: and as the godly do hunger and thirst after righteousness, Matt. 5. 6. so do the wicked after unrighteousness, and drink it up like water, Job 34. 7. which when he hath glutted himself therewith, he may be said to have added drunkenness to his thirst. Some understand it also of punishment for sin, which the Chaldee favoereth, translating, that I may add unto him the sins of ignorance, unto (the sins of) presumption. The Hebrew Septhoth, to add, is sometime used for to consume or destroy. (as in Psal. 40. 15.) in which sense the Greek Interpreters took it here, saying, that the sinner destroy not also him that is without sin.

Vers. 20. not spare] or, not forgive him in mercy. For, if we walk in the light, as (God) is in the light, the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin, 1 John. 1. 7. But God will not be merciful to any that unfaithfully commit iniquity, Psal. 59. 6. jealousy] which is the rage of a man, that he will not spare in the day of vengeance, Prov. 6. 34. applied here unto the Lord, as in Exod. 20. 5. smoke] in Greek, burn: a sign of great displeasure, as in Psal. 74. 1. shall lie upon him] the Greek and Chaldee translate, shall cleave unto him. See this word in Gen. 4. 7.

Vers. 21. out of all the tribes] in Greek, from all the sons of Israel, that is, from the communion of the Church (whereto he addeth daily such as shall be saved, Act. 2. 47.) even as before in v. 20. the man was separated from communion with God. So he threateneth against the false Prophets, they shall not be in the secret of my people, neither shall they be writ in the writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel, Ezek. 13. 9. And this is a separation unto evil, or for his hurt, as on the contrary the Levites were separated for their good when they were designed to stand before the LORD, to minister unto him, &c. Deut. 10. 8. that is written] in Chaldee, that are written: meaning all and everyone.

Vers. 22. made it sick] in Greek, which he hath sent upon it. God here signifieth such a certainty of his judgments, as all people's (within the Church and without) should be witnesses of them.

Vers. 23. and salt] which maketh the land barren, as saltness is used for barrenness in Psal. 107. 34. So Abimelech sowed the city with salt, which he made utterly desolate, Judge. 9. 45. and the wicked man shall dwell in a salt land and not inhabited, Ier. 17. 6. and of mytie places, which should not be healed, it is said, they shall be given to salt, Ezek. 47. 11. any grass] or, any herb: in Greek, any green thing; which phrase is used in Rev. 9. 4. This signified a spiritual barrenness in men's hearts, that they should not bringforth the fruits of the Spirit, Heb. 6, 7, 8. overthrow of Sodom] whereof see Gen. 19. 24, 25. with the Annotations. Zebojim] by the letters, Zebiiim, but read Zebojim, as is noted on Gen. 14. <math>\langle \diamond \rangle</math> . in Greek, Sebocim. These two cities were destroyed with Sodom and Gomorrhé; and so another Prophet saith unto Israel, How shall I make thee as Admah? shall I set thee as Zebojim? Hos. 11. 8. in his anger] to their condemnation, 2 Pet. 2. 6. he overthrew them, and repented not, Ier. 20. 16.

Vers. 24. shall say] every man to his neighbor, as Ier. 22. 8. that is, one to another.

Vers. 25. stroke] Hebr. cut, that is, made with them; which the Greek translateth, covenanted (or disposed) with their fathers. For things done to the fathers are applied to the children: see v. 14, 15. The like speech is in 1 King. 9. 8, 9. they shall say, Why hath Jehovah done thus unto this land, and to this house? And they shall answer, Because they have forsaken Jehovah their God, who brought forth their fathers out of the land of Egypt, &c. which another Prophet recordeth thus; Because they have forsaken Jehovah the God of their fathers, who brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, 2 Chron. 7. 22. So in Ier. 22. 8, 9.

Vers. 26. other gods] in Chaldee, the idols of the people's. gods whom they knew not] or gods which knew not them. and he had not imparted] that is, and he, to wit, any of those gods, had not imparted or bestowed any good thing upon them. Thus the Chaldee Paraphrast expounds it, and they had not done good unto them: and Jonathan in Tharg, and they had not divided unto them. Or it may be referred to the true God, that he had not imparted, that is, taught them to have any part or fellowship with those gods, or their services. The Greek translateth, neither had he distributed unto them. And whereas it is said of the Sun, Moon, and Stars, that God hath imparted them unto all nations, Deut. 4. 19. this here may aggravate their idolatry, that not only worshipped such, but even the fictions also of the heathens, gods which they never saw, knew, or had any manner of benefit by them; whereby their sin was the more odious.

Vers. 27. every curse] the Greek paraphraseth, according to all the curses of the covenant, which are written in the book of this Law. The accomplishment of this was acknowledged by Daniel, The curse is poured upon us, and the oath that is written in the Law of Moses the servant of God, because we have sinned against him, Dan. 9. 11. &c.

Vers. 28. rooted them out] or, plucked them up: which is contrary to planting, Ier. 24. 6. and 42. 10. and 45. 4. Thus the Law of Moses leaveth sinners under the curse, and rooted out of the Lord's land: but grace in Christ towards repentant and believing sinners, planteth them upon the land, and they shall no more be plucked up, Amos. 9. 15. for they are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation, 1 Pet. 1. 5. and cast them] or, sent them: in the Hebrew the word cast hath an extraordinary great letter, to signify the greatness of this punishment. And Baal Hatturim noteth upon it, there is a great Lamed, and a want of Iod, to teach, that there is no casting away like that of the ten tribes. Whereof see 2 King. 17. 18, 23.

Vers. 29. The secret things belong] or hidden things are to be left unto Jehovah. This is to be understood generally of all secret things which God hath not revealed in his word, as the times or seasons which the father hath put in his own power, Act. 1. 7. the day and hour of judgment, Matt. 24. 36. and all other like things. Particularly it may be applied to God's counsel concerning the Israelites, in punishing, and casting them off for their sins, and afterward calling a remnant of them: which the Apostle treating of in Rom. 11. saith; O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! Rom. 11. 33. The Hebrew Nistaroth (here used) sometime meaneth secret sins, as Psal. 19. 13. Unto which some of the Hebrews refer this speech, that secret sins: God will punish, but open sins are for men to punish, Chazkuni on Deut. 29. & so Jonathan in Targum explaineth it, Hidden sins are manifest before the Lord our God, and he will take vengeance on them, &c. and the things revealed] or, but open (or manifest) things belong to us, and to our sons: upon which last words, the Hebrew text hath extraordinary pricks, to stir up attention to the matter here spoken, as it is indeed worthy of all observation, for it teacheth the continual duty of God's people in all ages, to learn his law, to do the same, and to have care that true religion may be continued among their posterity. The Hebrews say, Every man of Israel is bound to learn the Law, be he poor or rich, be he in health of body, or under chastisements; be he young, or old and decrepit; though he be so poor that he lives on alms; yea, though he have wife and children, he is bound to set himself a time to leanne the Law, by day and by night, as it is said, and thou shalt meditate therein day and night. The great wise men of Israel, some of them were hewers of wood, and some drawers of water, and some blind: notwithstanding they employeth themselves in learning the Law, day & night. How is a man bound to learn the law? Until the day of his death, as it is said, and lest they depart from thine heart, all the days of thy life, (Deut. 4. 9.) and all the while that he employeth not himself in learning, he forgetteth. Maimonides in Talmud Torah, chap. 1. sect. 8, 9, 10.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Great mercies promised to the repentant sinners. 11 The commandment is manifest, and wordneere. 15 Life and death are set before them, with an exhortation to choose life.

AND it shall be when all these things are come upon thee, the blessing and the curse which I have set before thee, and thou shalt cause them to return unto thine heart, in all the nations whither Jehovah thy God hath driven thee: And thou return unto Jehovah thy God, and shalt hearken to his voice, according to all that I command thee this day, thou and thy sons, with all thine heart, and with all thy soul: Then Jehovah thy God will return thy Captivity, and have compassion upon thee, and will return & gather thee from all the people's, whither Jehovah thy God hath scattered thee. If any of thine be driven out unto the outmost part of the heavens, from thence will Jehovah thy God gather thee, & from thence will he take thee. And Jehovah thy God will bring thee into the land which thy fathers possessed, and thou shalt possess it; and he will do thee good, and multiply thee above thy fathers, And Jehovah thy God will circumcise thine heart, and the heart of thy seed, to love Jehovah thy God, with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, that thou mayest live. And Jehovah thy God will put all these curses upon thine enemies, and upon thy haters which persecuted thee. And thou shalt return and hearken to the voice of Jehovah, and do all his commandemēts which I command thee this day. And Jehovah thy God will make thee plenteous in every work of thine hand, in the fruit of thy womb, and in the fruit of thy cattle, and in the fruit of thy land for good, for Jehovah will return to rejoice over thee for good, as he rejoiced over thy fathers. If thou shalt hearken unto the voice of Jehovah thy God, to keep his commandments, & his statutes, that which is written in this book of the law, if thou shalt return unto Jehovah thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul. For, this commandment which I command thee this day, it is not hidden from thee, neither is it far off.

It is not in the heavens, to say, Who shall go up for us to the heavens, and take it for us, and cause us to hear it, that we may do it? Neither is it beyond the sea, to say, Who shall go over to beyond sea for us, and take it for us, and cause us to hear it, that we may do it? But the word is very nigh unto thee, in thy mouth, and in thy heart, to do it. See, I have set before thee this day life and good, death and evil. In that I command thee this day to love Jehovah thy God, to walk in his ways, and to keep his commandments, and his statutes, and his judgments, that thou mayest live & multiply, and Jehovah thy God may bless thee in the Land whither thou goest in to possess it. But if thine heart turn away, and thou wilt not hear, but shalt be drawn away, and bow down thyself to other gods, and serve them; I denounce unto you this day, that perishing ye shall perish, ye shall not prolong your days upon the land, which thou art passing over Jordan to go in thither to possess it. I take the heavens and the earth to witness against you this day; life and death I have set before thee, the blessing and the curse, therefore choose thou life that thou mayest live, thou and thy seed. To love Jehovah thy God, to hearken to his voice, and to cleave unto him; for he is thy life, and the length of thy days, to dwell upon the land which Jehovah sware unto thy fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, to give unto them.

Annotations.

These things] Hebr. these words, that is, things before spoken of. Here follow promises of grace in Christ to repentant and believing sinners. the blessing] that is, as the Chaldee explaineth it, the blessings and the curses. After the experiment of the Law, and weakness thereof, that it cannot keep men in the state of blessedness, nor deliver them from the curse, they are as by a Schoolmaster brought unto Christ, Gal. 3. 24. Rom. 8. 3, 4. have set] Hebr. have given. So in v. 15. and 19. cause them to return] or, reduce, bring again to thine heart, that is, call to mind, consider seriously. So in Deut. 4. 39. This is the beginning of repentance and turning to the Lord, by calling to mind their sins, and God's words and works; as in 1 King. 8. 46, 47. If they sin against thee, &c. and thou be angry with them, and deliver them to the enemy, &c. If they shall make it return to their heart, in the land whither they were carried captives, and return and make supplication unto thee, &c. So in Isaiah 46. 8. Shew yourselves men, make it return to heart, O ye transgressors: and in Lam. 3. 21. This I make to return to my heart, therefore have I hope. A like phrase is of the prodigal son, in Luk. 15. 17. that he came to himself.

Vers. 2. unto Jehovah] the Chaldee expoundeth it, unto the fear of the LORD. This is true repentance, both to leave the evil, and to turn unto the good, from which they departed. So in Lament. 3. 40. Let us search and try our ways, and turn again to the Lord. The contrary is complained of in Hos. 7. 16. they return, but not to the most high. And here faith also is implied; for as to come unto Christ, is to believe in him, John. 6. 35. so to turn unto the Lord with all the heart, is to believe in him; for with the heart man believeth unto righteousness, Rom. 10. 10. and by faith the heart is purified, Act. 15. 9. unto which obedience and good works are adjoined, I am. 2. 14,—26.

Vers. 3. will return thy captivity] will bring thee again out of bondage under thine enemies, which figured the bondage under sin, 2 Pet. 2. 19, 20. Therefore the Greek translatheth it, will heal thy sins, that is, will forgive them; as healing, in Matth. 13. 15. is expounded, forgiving of sins, Mark. 4. 12. This is a promise of grace to be performed by Christ, who preached deliverance to the captives, Luk. 4. 18. and it is the joy of his people, Psal. 14. 7. and 126. 1, 2. and a figure of their salvation, Isaiah 10. 22. compared with Rom. 9. 27. Him hath God exalted with his right hand, to be a Prince and Savior, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins, Act. 5. 31. have compassion] or, show tender mercy; this is the cause of the former grace & deliverance. It is of Jehovah's mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions fail not, Lament. 3. 22. So the father of the Prodigal son, seeing him a far off, had compassion, Luk. 15. 20. And this compassion or mercy respecteth man's misery, Matth. 9. 36. and 14. 14. and gather thee] So after the captivity of Babylon, God promiseth, He that scattered Israel, will gather him and keep him as a shepherd doth his flock, Ier. 31. 10. This work Christ hath spiritually accomplished, of whom it is said, that he should die, not for the nation of the Jews only, but that also he should gather together in one the children of God that were scattered abroad, John. 11. 51, 52. Therefore this gathering is often celebrated, as in Psal. 107. 1, 2, 3. and 147. 1, 2. and 106. 47, 48.

Vers. 4. If any of thine be driven] Hebr. If thy driven out; speaking of every particular person, and of all, as one man. The Greek translatheth, If thy dispersion be, that is, thy dispersed; which word is used in this sense, in John. 7. 35. 1 Pet. 1. 1. outmost part of the heavens] that is, of the world which seemeth to be bounded by the heavens. The Greek translatheth it, from the end (or outmost part) of heaven, unto the end of heaven: which phrase Christ useth, of gathering together his Elect at the last day, Matt. 24. 31. See the notes on Deut. 4. 32. This promise Nehemiah's looked unto, in his prayer alleging God's words, If ye transgress, I will scatter you abroad among the nations: But if ye turn unto me and keep my commandments, and do them, though any of thine were driven out unto the outmost part of the heavens, yet will I gather them from thence, and bring them unto the place that I have chosen to set my name there, Neh. 1. 8, 9. thy God gather thee] The Targum called Jonathan's expoundeth this to be the Word of the LORD; and the performance to be by the hand of Elias, and by the hand of the King Christ. Respecting (as it seemeth) the promise of Elias, Mal. 4. 5, 6. which was John the Baptist, the fore-runner of Christ, Luk. 1. 16, 17.

Vers. 5. shalt possess] or, shalt inherit it. This is a promise of restoring them unto his Church, figured by the land of Canaan, Psal. 69. 36, 37. Ezek. 36. 8, 11, 12, 24, 28, &c.

Vers. 6. will circumcise thine heart] the Greek translath, will purge (or cleanse round about) thine heart: and both the Chaldee Paraphrasts expound it, will take away the foolishness of thine heart, and the foolishness of the heart of thy sons. This is a promise of spiritual blessings in regeneration and sanctification by Christ, in whom we are circumcised with the circumcision made without hands, in putting off the body of the sins of the flesh, by the circumcision of Christ, buried with him in baptism, &c. Col. 2. 11, 12. And of this it is said, Circumcision is that of the heart in the spirit, not in the letter, whose praise is not of men but of God, Rom. 2. 29. See the Annot. on Gen. 17. The Hebrew Doctors in the Midrash or Commentary on Song 2. 12. from these words, The time of pruning (or of cutting the vines) is come, give this exposition, For the time is come that Israel shall be redeemed, the time is come that the superfluous foreskin shall be cut off, which is spoken of in Deut. 30. 6. and the Lord thy God will circumcise thine heart, &c. where they apply this work of grace unto Christ whom they looked for. to love] this is the effect of Christ's circumcision, that it taketh from us evil, and giveth good; Love being the fulfilling of the Law, Rom. 13. 10. and implying all other graces; as it is said, I will give them one heart, and one way, that they may fear me all days, &c. Jer. 32. 39. And I will give them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within you: and I will take the stony heart out of their flesh, and will give them an heart of flesh, that they may walk in my statutes, and keep my ordinances, and do them, &c. Ezek. 11. 19, 20. that thou mayest live] so the Greek translath the Hebrew phrase, for thy life, meaning the life of God, here by saith and holiness, Rom. 6. 11, 13. and hereafter forever in heaven: as to enter into life, Matt. 18. 9. is expounded, to enter into the kingdom of God, Mark. 9. 47.

Vers. 7. will put] Hebr. will give. Here follow earthly blessings, which God of his grace will add unto the former spiritual. Of which, one is the curses upon their enemies, concerning which it is said, Thou wilt render unto them a recompense, O LORD, according to the work of their hands: thou wilt give them sorrow of heart, thy curse unto them; thou wilt persecute in anger, and destroy them from under the heavens of the LORD, Lam. 3. 64, 65, 66.

Vers. 8. hearken to] or, obey the voice; which the Chaldee interpreteth, receive the Word of the LORD: so in verse. 10. The condition of obedience is set before the temporal blessings; for godliness hath the promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come, 1 Tim. 4. 8.

Vers. 9. make thee plenteous] or, make thee excellent, unto which Targum Jonathan addeth, for good, that ye may prosper in all the works of your hands. rejoice over thee] This Christ taught in parables, of rejoicing for the lost sheep that was found, Luk. 15. 6, 7. and of the Prodigal son he saith; It was meet that we should make merry and be glad, for this thy brother was dead, and is alive again; and was lost, and is found, Luk. 15. 32. So in the other Prophets, I will rejoice in Jerusalem, and joy in my people, Isaiah 65. 19. and, I will rejoice over them to do them good, Jer. 32. 41. See also Deut. 28. 63.

Vers. 10. that which is written] meaning all and everything written; so teaching us exact obedience. unto Jehovah] in Chaldee, unto the fear of the Lord.

Vers. 11. this commandment] which after in v. 14. he calleth the Word; and the Apostle expoundeth it, the Word of faith, Rom. 10. 8. So this speech is not of the Law only, neither showeth it what man can do by the Law, much less by nature; but is the speech of the righteousness of faith, Rom. 10. 6. Though Moses teacheth them also, not to blame the Law of hardness to be learned, seeing God had now caused it to be written & expounded unto them. not hidden from thee] or, not too marvelous and hard for thee to know; and so, not impossible, through faith in Christ, as is the Law without faith, in that it is weak through the flesh, Rom. 8. 3. The Chaldee translateth, it is not separated from thee; and Targum Jonathan expoundeth, it is not covered (or hid) from you. The holy Ghost in Greek translateth this word marvelous, Matt. 21. 42. from Psal. 118. and unpossible, Luk. 1. 37. See the Annotations on Gen. 18. 14. and Deut. 17. 8. By Isaiah also God saith; I have not spoken in secret in a dark place of the earth, Isaiah 45. 19.

Vers. 12. to say] that is, that thou shouldest say; so in v. 13. see the Annotations on Gen. 6. 19. where sundry like speeches are shown. This saying is meant of the heart also; wherefore the Apostle citeth it thus; Say not in thine heart, who shall go up into heaven? Rom. 10. 6. Who shall go up for us] the Yerushalmi Targum explaineth it, O that we had one like Moses the Prophet, that might go up into the heavens, &c. but the Apostle applieth it more heavenly to Christ's incarnation; Who shall go up into heaven, that is, to bring Christ down from above? Rom. 10. 6. Unto which doubt he opposeth the confession with the mouth, that Jesus is the LORD, verse. 9. that is, that God was manifested in the flesh, 1 Tim. 3. 16. for no man hath ascended up to heaven, (of whō we may learn the true understanding of the Law,) but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of man which is in heaven, John 3. 13. and cause us to hear it] that is, preach it unto us. that we may do it] or, and we would do it.

Vers. 13. beyond the sea] Targum Jonathan explaineth it, beyond the great sea; and Targum Yerushalmi addeth, Neither is the Law beyond the great sea, that thou shouldest say, O that we had one like Jonah the Prophet, that might go down to the bottom of the great sea, and bring it to us, &c. All things hidden from men, which they cannot attain, are either in heaven above, or beyond sea, in the far places of the earth: but the Law of God is in neither of these, but near unto everyone, to learn and to do. who shall go over to beyond sea] Paul allegeth this place thus, Who shall go down into the deep, that is, to bring up Christ from the dead? Rom. 10. 7. unto which he opposeth in verse. 9. belief in the heart, that God hath raised him from the dead. Now, Jonah the Prophet, to whose example the Yerushalmi Targum applieth this, was a figure of Christ, as himself hath said, As Jonah was three days and three nights in the Whales belly; so shall the Son of man be three days & three nights in the heart of the earth, Matt. 12. 40. And as the Sea in Jonah case is called the Deepe, Psal. 104. 6. and 107. 24, 26. Exod. 15. 5. so David (prophesying of Christ) saith that God had brought him up from the deeps of the earth, Psal. 71. 20. So the Apostle speaking of Christ's rising out of the grave, useth the word Abyss or Deepe, which is spoken both of earth and sea.

Vers. 14. But the word] This the Apostle expoundeth thus, But what saith (the righteousness which is of faith?) The Word is nigh thee, &c. that is the word of faith which we preach, Rom. 10. 8.

By this it appeareth that Moses wrote of Christ, John 5. 46. and that he was closely taught in the Law, E•r Christ is the end of the Law for righteousness to everyone that believeth, Rom. 10. 4. And the Jews, which cleaving to the Law refused the Gospel, or word of faith, had a zeal of God, but not according  $\langle \phi \rangle$  knowledge, Rom. 10. 2. in thy mouth] or, for thy mouth, that is, for thee to confess with thy mouth, that Jesus is the LORD, as Rom. 10. 9. So in is used for for in Deut. 9. 4. and 24. 16. in thine heart] or, for thine heart: that thou mayest believe in thine heart, that God hath raised him (Christ) frō the dead, (& so mayest be saved) Rom. 10. 9. to do it] the Law, which is fulfilled by believing in Christ; as it is said, This is the work of God, that •ee believe in him whom he hath sent, John 6. 29. upon which belief true obedience followeth; H•. 8. 10.

Vers. 15. I have set] Hebr. I have given, that is proposed and confirmed by my doctrine. So in verse. 19. life and good] life as the end, and good as the means leading to life: or life, that is, God himself, (of whom he saith i•verse. 20. he is thy life;) and good, that is, felicity following. The Greek version changeth the order thus, life and death, good and evil. Targum Yerushalmi explaineth it, the Law of life, which is a good Law; and the Law of death, which is an evil Law. And Targum Jonathan thus; The way of life, for which a good reward shall be recompensed to the just; and the way of death, for which an evil reward shall be recompensed to the wicked.

Vers. 16. to love] this is a declaration of the life and good fore-mentioned, which they, whose hearts God would circumcise, verse. 6. should come unto by the faith that is in Christ. in his wai•s] the Chaldee saith, in the ways that are right before him. keep his commandments] which is an effect of love; as, If ye love me, keep my commandments, John 14. 15. and, This is the love of God, that we keep his commandments, 1 John 5. 3. And this is his commandment, that we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, &c. 1 John 3. 23.

Vers. 17. But if] or, And if thine heart turn, &c. This is the death and evil fore-spoken of: see Deut. 29. 18. other gods] in Chaldee, the idols of the people's.

Vers. 18. perishing ye shall perish] that is, assuredly and speedily perish; as the Greek saith, perish with perdition. So in Deut. 4. 26.

Vers. 19. I call the heavens, &c.] This obtestation of heavens and earth, (used also before in Deut. 4. 26.) may be understood of God and the Angels in heaven, (as Paul expresseth them in 1 Tim. 5. 21.) or of the other creatures also in heaven and in earth; as Joshua said, This stone shall be a witness unto us, for it hath heard all the words of the Lord, &c. Ios. 24. 27. So in Deut. 32. 1. Esa. 1. 2. Give ear O heavens, & hear Oearth: & in Psa. 50. 4. He will call to the heavens from above, and to the earth to judge his people; and in Job 20. 27. the heavens shall reveal his iniquity, and the earth shall rise up against him. I have set] Hebr. I have given, that is, faithfully proposed by doctrine, and discharged my duty: so in verse. 15. The life and blessing which he set before them, was by the faith of Christ, Gal. 2. 16. and 3. 9. the death and curse was by refusing Christ, and seeking to be justified by the works of the Law; for as many as are of the works of the Law, are under the curse, Gal. 3. 10. therefore choose] Hebr. and choose thou; or, and thou shalt choose: which is the duty of all God's people, to be performed by grace in Christ. So David chose the way of truth, the precepts of God, Psal. 119. 30. 173. Compare also Ios. 24. 15, 22. Targum Jonathan explaineth this speech thus, and choose ye the way of life, which is the Law, that ye may live in the life of the world to come, you and your sons. This is true, if it be understood not of the Law of works, but of the Law of faith, as Rom. 3. 27, 28. and 9. 31, 32, 33.

Vers. 20. to hearken to his voice] in Chaldee, to receive his word. unto him] Chaldee. unto his fear. he is thy life] that is, the author of thy life and salvation through Christ, as in John 17. 3. This is life eternal, to know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent: yea, Christ himself is the resurrection and the life, Job. 11. 25. and 14. 6. And in 1 John 5. 20. We know that the Son of God is come, and hath given us an understanding that we may know him that is true: and we are in him that is true, even in his Son Jesus Christ; this is the true God, and eternal life.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Moses being ready to die, encourageth the people that should go into Canaan. 7 He encourageth Joshua that should be their Governor. 9 He delivereth the Law unto the Priests, which was to be read in the soventh year unto the people. 14 Moses and Joshua present themselves before the Lord, 16 who fore-telleth the people's falling from him, and his anger against them therefore. 19 He commandeth a song to be written, to testify against the people. 24 Moses delivereth the book of the Law to the Levites, to be kept in the side of the Ark, for a witness against them and their rebellion. 28 He maketh a protestation to the Elders.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

AND Moses went and spake these words unto all Israel. And he said unto them, I am an hundred & twenty years old this day, I can no more go out and come in: and Jehovah hath said unto me, thou shalt not go over this Jordan. Jehovah thy God he goeth over before thee; he will destroy these nations from before thee, and thou shalt possess them: Joshua he shall go over before thee, as Jehovah hath said. And Jehovah will do unto them as he did to Sihon, and to Og, Kings of the Amorite, and unto the land of them whom he destroyed.

And Jehovah will give them before you, and ye shall do unto them according to every commandment which I have commanded you. Be ye strong and courageous, fear not, neither be discouraged because of them: for Jehovah thy God, he it is that goeth with thee, he will not fail thee, nor for sake thee.

And Moses called unto Joshua, and said unto him, in the eyes of all Israel; Be thou strong and courageous, for thou shalt go in with this people into the land which Jehovah hath sworn unto their fathers to give unto them, and thou shalt cause them to inherit it. And Jehovah, he it is that goeth before thee; he will be with thee, he will not fail thee, nor forsake thee; fear not, neither be dismayed.

And Moses wrote this Law, and gave it unto the Priests, the sons of Levi, which bare the Ark of the covenant of Jehovah, and unto all the Elders of Israel. And Moses commanded them, saying; at the end of seven years, in the solemnity of the year of release, in the feast of Boothes, When all Israel is come to appear before Jehovah thy God in the place which he shall choose, thou shalt read this Law before all Israel in their ears.

Gather together the people, men, and women, and children, and thy stranger that is within thy gates, that they may hear, and that they may learn, and may fear Jehovah your God, and observe to do all the words of this Law. And that their sons which have not known may hear, and learn to fear Jehovah your God all the days that ye shall live on the land, whither ye are going over Jordan, to possess it.

And Jehovah said unto Moses, Behold thy days approach to die; call Joshua, and present yourselves in the Tent of the congregation, that I may give him a charge. And Moses and Joshua went and presented themselves in the Tent of the congregation. And Jehovah appeared in the Tent, in a pillar of a cloud, & the pillar of the cloud stood over the door of the Tent. And Jehovah said unto Moses, Behold, thou liest down with thy fathers, and this people will rise up, and go a whoring after the gods of the strangers of the land, whither they are going in to be amongst them, and will forsake me, and break my covenant which I have stricken with them. And mine anger shall be kindled against them in that day, and I will forsake them, and will hide my face from them, and they shall be devoured, and many evils and distresses shall find them; and they will say in that day, have not these evils found us, because our God is not amongst us. And I, hiding will hide my face in that day for all the evils which they shall have done, in that they are turned unto other gods. And now write ye this song for you, and teach it the sons of Israel, put it in their mouths, that this song may be a witness for me against the sons of Israel. For I will bring them into the land which I swear unto their fathers, that floweth with milk and honey, and they shall eat and be filled, and be fat, and they will turn unto other gods, and serve them, and despitefully provoke me, and break my covenant. And it shall be when many evils and distresses have found them, that this song shall answer before them for a witness, for it shall not be forgotten out of the mouth of their seed: for I know their imagination which they do this day, before I have brought them in unto the land which I swear. And Moses wrought this song in that day, and taught it the sons of Israel. And he charged Joshua the son of Nun, and said; Be strong and courageous, for thou shalt bring in the sons of Israel unto the land which I swear unto them, and I will be with thee. And it was when Moses had made an end of writing the words of this Law in a book, until they were finished, That Moses commanded the Levites which bare the Ark of the covenant of Jehovah, saying: Take this book of the Law, and put it in the side of the Ark of the covenant of Jehovah your God, that it may be there for a witness against thee. For I know thy rebellion, and thy stiff neck: Behold, while I am yet alive with you this day, ye have been rebellious against Jehovah, and how much more after my death? Gather together unto me all the Elders of your Tribes, and your Officers, that I may speak in their ears these words, and call the heavens and the earth to witness against them. For I know, that after my death, corrupting ye will corrupt (yourselves,) and will turn aside from the way which I have commanded you, and evil will befall you in the latter days, because ye will do evil in the eyes of Jehovah, to provoke him to anger through the work of your hands. And Moses spake in the ears of all the Church of Israel the words of this song, until they were ended.

Annotations.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Here beginneth the two and fiftieth Section or Lecture of the Law: See the notes on Gen. 6. 9. And here Moses setteth the state of Israel in order before his death.

OLd] Hebr. son of an hundred and twenty years; of which phrase see Gen. 5. 32. So long while Noah preached to the world, building the Ark, Gen. 6. 3, 14. 1 Pet. 3. 19, 20. Of these 120. years, Moses lived 40. in Pharaohs court in Egypt, Acts 7. 20, 23. forty in the land of Madian, Acts 7. 29, 30. Exod. 7. 7. and 40. years he governed Israel. I can no more go out] that is, no more administer in my office: see the Annotations on Num. 27. 17. This inability of Moses was not so much for his age, (for his eye was not dim, nor his natural moisture fled, Deut. 34. 7.) as for the ordinance of God next mentioned. and Jehovah] or, for Jehovah hath said; as is shown in Num. 20. 12. Deut. 3. 25, 26. And is often instead of For, as is noted on Gen. 12. 19. Or it may be taken as another reason, why Moses might no longer govern them.

Vers. 3. Joshua] in Greek, Jesus, who was substitute in Moses place, Num. 27. 16, 17, 18. &c. A figure of our Lord Jesus, who by grace and truth bringeth us into God's eternal rest, after the ending of Moses Law, John 1. 17. Rom. 10. 4. Thus the people are comforted in respect of their sorrow for Moses death, by promise of the Lord's presence among them, and Joshua's succeeding government under him.

Vers. 4. of the Amorite] that is, of the Amorites, as the Greek translath: by whose destruction (before mentioned in Numb. 21. 23. &c. Deut. 2. and 3.) Israel is encouraged against their other enemies. the land] that is, the people of the land.

Vers. 5. commanded you] which was, to root them out, and let none remain, Deut. 20. 16, 17.

Vers. 6. Be ye strong] or, Be confirmed, Hold fast, to wit, your faith in God: in Greek, Quit you like men; which word Paul useth in 1 Cor. 16. 13. So after, in verse. 7. courageous] or, be hardy, strong, valiant in heart and carriage. This word is applied to the heart in Psal. 27. 14. and arms, in Prov. 31. 17. and signifieth an increase and steadfastness, Prov. 24. 5. Ruth 1. 18. The like exhortation is often used, as Ios. 10. 25. 1 Chron. 22. 13. 2 Chron. 32. 7. he it is] in Chaldee, his Word it is. So in verse. 8. fail thee] or, let thee go, leave thee to thyself, but will hold thee fast. So verse. 8. and Ios. 1. 5. Heb. 13. 5.

Vers. 7. strong and courageous] or, confirmed and strong, as verse. 6. Joshua being to bear the charge and toile of the people; hath the same exhortation and promise in particular, that was before unto all: and it was in the eyes of all, lest any after Moses death should deny his authority. A like speech Davide made to Solomon, 1 Chron. 28. 20.

Vers. 8. he will be with thee] the Chaldee paraphraseth, his Word will be thy help.

Vers. 9. this Law] in Greek, all the words of this Law in a book. which bare the Ark] they had the chief charge to look to the Ark, and other holy things; and though the Levites bare it, as appeareth by Num. 3. 31. and 4. 15. and 10. 21. yet sometime the Priests themselves also bare it, as when they passed over Jordan, Ios. 3. 6, 17. when they compassed Jericho, Ios. 6. 12. So after in v. 25. Moses spake to the Levites. the Elders] the Magistrates: as the Priests by teaching, so the Elders by governing are to look that the Law of the Lord be observed, Mal. 2. 7. Hos. 4. 6. Mich. 3. 1. 2 Chron. 19. 6, 8, 9, 10.

Vers. 10. of seven years] that is, of every seventh year, which was a year of release, Deu. 15. 1. the solemnity] or, the set time; as the Greek and Chaldee translate it, the time. release] of debts, Deut. 15. 1, 2, &c. that being freed from worldly cares, they might apply their minds to God's Law. A figure of the year of grace, and remission of our debts by Christ; whereupon we should give ourselves to holiness, Luke 4. 18, 19, 21. Rom. 6. 10, 11, 12, 13. Boothes] or Tabernacles, whereof see Lev. 23.

Vers. 11. which he shall choose] to set his Ark and Tabernacle, and so to place his name there, Deut. 16. 2. thou shalt read] speaking to Israel generally, and it was performed in special by the chiefest of them, either the high Priest, as Ezra (the chief of them that returned from Babylon) read it, Nehem. 8. 1, 2, 3, &c. or as the Hebrews say, the King himself (when they had a King) used to read. For this Commandment was to Joshua, and therefore the King read it, saith Chazkuni upon this place. Which is by others of them declared thus, The King was he that read in their ears, and they read in the women's Court; (which was the outer Court-yard of the Temple.) And the King read sitting, and if he read standing, it was the more commendable. He read *from the beginning of Deuteronomy, &c. When he read, they blew trumpets through all Jerusalem, for to assemble the people. And they set up a great Pulpit of wood, [as is mentioned also in Nehem. 8. 4.] and set it in the midst of the Court-yard, and the King went up and sate thereon, that they might hear him read; and all Israel that went up to the feast, gathered round about him. And the Minister of the Synagogue (such as we read of in Luke 4. 17. 20.) took the book of the Law, & gave it to the Ruler of the Synagogue, (such as is mentioned in Luke 13. 14.) and the Ruler of the Synagogue gave it to the Sagan, (or second chief Priest, called in Acts 5. 24. the Captain of the Temple,) and the Sagan gave it to the High Priest, and the High Priest to the King, for to honor him before the multitude. And the King took it standing, and if he would he sate down and opened it, and seeing it, he blessed God, (as is recorded of Ezra in Neh. 8. 5, 6.) and after read till he made an end: Then he folded it up, and blessed (God) again after it, as the manner was to bless in the Synagogues. Both the reading and the blessing was in the holy tongue. The hearers were bound to prepare their hearts, and to make their ears attentive to hear with fear and reverence, and with joy and trembling, as in the day when (the Law) was given on (mount) Sinai: though they were great wise men, which knew the whole Law every whit, they were bound to hear with great attentiveness, &c. for the King is the Messenger (of the Congregation) to cause the words of God to be heard. If the day of assembling (the people) began to be on the Sabbath, they deferred it till after the Sabbath, because of the blowing with Trumpets, &c. which might not put away (the keeping of) the Sabbath. Maimonides in Misneh, tom. 3. in Chagigah, chap. 3. sect. 3, 4. &c. in their ears] that they may hear and understand it, as the Chaldee translateth, and cause them to hear it: which hearing is often used for understanding, as is noted on Gen. 11. 7. So in *Neh. 8. 8. they read in the book, in the Law of God distinctly, and gave the sense, and caused them to understand in the reading.

Vers. 12. women and children] which though they were not bound to come up at the yearly feasts, Exod. 23. 17. yet to this reading they were bound, such as could understand, Neh. 8. 3. The Hebrew canons say, Whosoever is free from appearing (before the Lord, Exod. 23. 17.) is free from the commandment of Gather together, (Deut. 31. 12.) except women and children, and the uncircumcised; but the unclean is free from this commandment, as it is written (in verse. 11.) when all Israel is come; but the (unclean) was not fit to come. And it is clear, that such as were of neither sex, or of both sexes, were bound to come, seeing women were bound. Maimonides in Chagigah, chap. 3. sect. 2. thy gates] in Greek and Chaldee, thy cities.

Vers. 14. thy days approach] or, are nigh, at hand: and so the term of his life fulfilled; as where it is written, the kingdom of heaven approacheth, Matth. 4. 17. another explaineth it, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God approacheth (or, is at hand,) Mark 1. 15. to die] understand, for thee to die: of such want of the person, (easy to be understood by the context,) see the notes on Genes. 6. 19. and 23. 8. and 47. 29. The Greek translateth, Behold, the days of thy death approach. and I will give] or, that I may command him, or charge him: which being done in the Tabernacle, and by God's appearing in the cloud, verse. 15. served both for Joshua's own confirmation, and to assure all Israel that he had authority from God over them. Compare Numb. 27. 18, 19.

Vers. 15. Jehovah appeared] that is, a glorious sign of his presence; as in Targum Jonathan it is expounded, the glory of the divine majesty of the Lord. pillar of a cloud] out of which he was wout in favor to speak: see Exod. 33. 9. Psal. 99. 7.

Vers. 16. liest down] to wit, to sleep, that is, to die: as Job 14. 12. Acts 7. 60. 1 Thess. 4. 13. thy fathers] the faithful of former times, signifiing the immortality of the soul, as is noted on Gen. 25. 8. Wherefore Targum Jonathan paraphraseth on this place thus; thou liest down in the dust with thy fathers, and thy soul shall be treasured up in the treasury of eternal life with thy fathers. go a whoring] or fornicate, that is, commit idolatry, as the Chaldee explaineth it. gods of the strangers] in Greek, the strange gods of the land; in Chaldee, the idols of the people's of the land. they are going] Hebr. he is going; speaking of the people as of a man; so after often in this Chapter. The reason hereof is noted on Gen. 22. 17.

Vers. 17. will hide my face] in Chaldee, will take away my divine presence. So in verse. 18. devoured] or eaten up, to wit, of their enemies, made a prey, Hebr. to eat, which is used passively, as to bear, Eccles. 3. 2. that is, to be borne. See the notes on Gen. 6. 20. and 16. 14. find them] that is, befall, or come upon them: so after, and in Psal. 119. 143. Neh. 9. 32. found us] Hebr. found me, because my God is not in the midst of me.

Vers. 18. other gods] in Chaldee, idols of the people's: so in verse. 20.

Vers. 19. this song] in Greek, the words of this song; after described in Chap. 32. containing a prophesy of their falling away, & of God's judgments following. It was given in a song, that it might the more easily be learned, and kept in memory, with delight, & might move their affections. against] or in, that is, amongst the sons of Israel: so in verse. 26.

Vers. 20. and be fat] the like is prophesied in Deut. 32. 15. and shown to have come to pass in Neh. 9. 25, 26.

Vers. 21. answer before them] that is, testify before (and against) them. their imagination] the thing forged in their heart; which the Greek translateth, their maliciousness (or naughtiness.)

This imagination is before the thoughts or cogitations, as appeareth by 1 Chron. 28. 9. and 29. 18. See Gen. 6. 5.

Vers. 23. I will be with thee] in Greek, he will be with thee; as being the words of Moses (whom the Greek before named) concerning God. The Chaldee translateth, my Word shall be thy help. See verse. 8.

Vers. 25. the Levites] especially the Priests the sons of Levi, as in verse. 9.

Vers. 26. in the side] or, by the side: which in Targum Jonathan is expounded, in a coffer by the right side of the Ark.

Vers. 27. stiff neck] or, hard neck; which else-where is likened to an iron sinew, Isaiah 48. 4. See Exod. 32. 9.

Vers. 28. Elders of your Tribes] in Greek they are named by one word Phularcha, that is, Rulers (or Princes) of your Tribes.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Moses song, which setteth forth God's mercies unto Israel, their sins, and his chastisements by sword, famine, pestilence and captivity. 36 His mercy in Christ towards them in the end. 46 Moses exhorteth them to set their hearts upon his words. 48 God sendeth him up to mount Nebo, to see the land of Canaan, and die.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉

Give ear ye heavens, and I will speak, and let the earth hear the sayings of my mouth. My doctrine shall drop as the rain, my speech shall distill as the dew, as the small rain upon the tender herb, and as the showers upon the grass.

For I will proclaim the name of Jehovah; give ye greatness unto our God.

The Rock, perfect is his work, for all his ways are judgment: God is faithfulness, and without iniquity; just and righteous is he. They have corrupted themselves, their spot is not (the spot) of his sons, (they are) a crooked and perverse generation.

Do ye thus requite Jehovah, O people foolish and unwise? Is not he thy Father that hath bought thee? hath not he made thee, & established thee?

Remember the days of old, consider the years of generation and generation; ask thy Father, and he will show thee; thy Elders, and they will tell thee. When the most high divided inheritance to the nations, when he separated the sons of Adam, he set the bounds of the people's, according to the number of the sons of Israel.

For Jehovah's portion is his people, Jacob is the line of his inheritance. He found him in a land of wilderness, and in an empty place, and howling of the desert; he led him about, he instructed him, he kept him as the apple of his eye.

As an Engle stirreth up her nest, fluttereth over her young, spreadeth abroad her wings, taketh them, beareth them on her wings. Jehovah alone did lead him, and there was no strange god with him.

He made him ride on the high places of the earth, that he might eat the fruits of the field, and he made him to suck honey out of the rock, and oil out of the flinty rock. Butter of kine, and milk of the flock, with fat of Lambes, and of Rams of the breed of Bashan, and of Goat-bucks, with the fat of the kidneies of wheat, and the blood of the Grape, thou diddest drink pure wine. But Iesurun waxed fat, and kicked; thou art waxen fat, thou art grown gross, thou art covered with fatness: then he forsook God which made him, and lightly esteemed the Rock of his salvation. They provoked him to jealousy with strange gods, with abominations they provoked him to anger.

They sacrificed to devils, not to God▪ to gods whom they knew not, to new gods that came lately up, of whom your fathers were not afraid. Of the Rock that begat thee thou art unmindful, and hast forgotten God that formed thee. And Jehovah saw it, & contemptuously abhorred them, because of the provoking of his sons, and of his daughters. And he said, I will hide my face from them, I will see what their end shall be; for they are a very froward generation, sons in whom is no faith. They have provoked me to jealousy with that which is not god; they have provoked me to anger with their vanities: and I will provoke them to jealousy with those which are not a people; I will provoke them to anger with a foolish nation. For a fire is kindled in mine anger, and shall burn unto the lowest hell, and shall consume the land, and her increase, and set on fire the foundations of the mountains. I will heap evils upon them, I will spend mine arrows upon them; They shall be burnt with hunger, and devoured with the burning coal, and with a bitter stinging plague, and I will send upon them the teeth of beasts, with the poison of serpents of the dust. Without, the sword shall bereave; and from the chambers, terror: both the young man and the virgin, the suckling with the man of gray hairs. I said I would scatter them into corners, I would make the remembrance of them to cease from among men. Were it not that I feared the wrath of the enemy, left their adversaries should behave themselves strangely; left they should say, Our high hand, & not Jehovah hath done all this. For they are a nation void of counsels, and there is no understanding in them. O that they were wise, that they understood this, that they would consider their latter end. How should one chase a thousand, & two put ten thousand to flight, except their Rock had sold them, and Jehovah had shut them up. For their Rock is not as our Rock, even our enemies being judges. For their vine is of the vine of Sodom, and of the blasted fields of Gomorrah: their Grapes are Grapes of gall, they have most bitter clusters. Their wine is the poison of dragons, and the cruel venom of asps. Is not this laid up in store with me, and sealed up in my treasuries?

To me belongeth vengeance and recompense; in the time their foot shall slide; for the day of their calamity is near, and the things that shall come upon them make haste. For Jehovah will judge his people, and repent himself for his servants, when he shall see that the hand is gone, and there is none shut up, or left. And he shall say, Where are their gods, the Rock in whom they trusted for safety? Which did eat the fat of their sacrifices, did drink the wine of their drink-offerings? let them rise up, and help you, let him be a hiding-place for you. See now that I, I am he, and there is no God with me: I do kill and make alive; do wound, and I heal; and there is none that delivereth out of mine hand. For I lift up my hand to the heavens, and say, I live forever.

If I whet my glittering sword, and mine hand take hold on judgment, I will render vengeance to my adversaries, and will reward them that hate me. I will make mine arrows drunk with blood, and my sword shall devour flesh, with the blood of the slain, and of the captives from the beginning, the revenges of the enemy. Shout joyfully ye nations with his people, for he will avenge the blood of his servants, and will render vengeance to his adversaries, and will make atonement for his land, for his people.

And Moses came, and spake all the words of this song in the ears of the people, he and Hoshea the son of Nun. And Moses made an end of speaking all these words unto all Israel: And he said unto them, Set your heart unto all the words which I testify among you this day, which you shall command your sons, to observe to do all the words of this Law. For it is not a vain word for you, because it is your life; and through this word ye shall prolong your days upon the land, whither ye are going over Jordan to possess it.

And Jehovah spake unto Moses in that self-same day, saying; Go up into this mountain of Abarim, mount Nebo, which is in the land of Moab, that is over against Jericho, and see the land of Canaan which I am giving to the sons of Israel for a possession.

And die in the mount whither thou goest up, and be gathered unto thy people's, as Aaron thy brother died in mount Hor, and was gathered unto his people's. Because ye trespassed against me among the sons of Israel, at the waters of Meribah of Kadesh in the wilderness of Zin, because ye sanctified me not in the midst of the sons of Israel. Yet thou shalt see the land before thee, but thither thou shalt not go in unto the land which I am giving to the sons of Israel.

⟨♪⟩ Give ear O heavens to that which I declare, and ⟨♪⟩ hear, O earth, what my mouths sayings are. Drop ⟨♪⟩ down as doth the rain shall my doctrine; distill as ⟨♪⟩ dew so shall my speech divine: as on the tender ⟨♪⟩ herb the small rain pours, and as upon the grass ⟨♪⟩ the greater showers: For I Jehovah's name proclaim ⟨♪⟩ abroad; O give ye greatness unto him our God.

The Rock, most perfect is his action, because his ways are judgment everyone: [unspec 4]

God is most faithful, and iniquity in him is none, but just and right is he.

They on themselves have brought corruptions, [unspec 5] their spot is not of (those that be) his sons, they are a generation which is turned to perverseness, and to crookedness.

Do ye Jehovah in this wise reward, [unspec 6]
O foolish folk, and wanting wise regard?
thy Father that hath bought thee, is not he?
hath he not made thee, and established thee?
Remember thou the days that were of old, [unspec 7] mind ye the years of ages manifold:
ask thou thy Father, and thee show will he,
thine Elders (ask) and they will tell it thee.
When the Most high dealt to the Nations [unspec 8]
their heritage, and severed Adams sons;
the borders of the people's set he then,
as number was of Israel's children.
For his folk is Jehovah's portion, [unspec 9]
Jacob the line of his possession.
Him in a land of wilderness he found, in empty place, and howling desert ground: [unspec 10]
about he led him, taught him prudence;
he kept him as the apple of his eye.
Like as an Eagle stirreth up her nest, [unspec 11]
she moveth fluttering over her youngest;
she spreads abroad her wings, them taketh soft, upon her wings she beareth them aloft: [unspec 12]
So did Jehovah lead him all alone, and other strange god with him was there none.
He made him ride on the earths places hie, [unspec 13]
that he might eat the fields fertilitie;
he made him also from the rock to suck

*honey, and oil out of the flinty rock:
Butter of kine, milk also of the flock, [unspec \2] with fat of Lambs, and Rams of Basan stock, and Goats, with fat of wheaty kidneies fine, and of the Grapes-blood thou didst drink red wine.
But Iesurun did wex fat, and did kick, [unspec 15]
thou art wext fat, art covered, art grown thick;
the God which made him, then did he forsake, and of the Rock which saved him, light did make.
With strange gods they to jealousy him moved, [unspec 16] with loathsome idols they his anger proved.
They sacrificed to devils, not to God; [unspec 17] to gods of whom themselves no knowledge had:
unto new gods, which up but lately came,
such as your fathers feared not the same.
The Rock that thee beg at thou mindest not, [unspec 18] and God that formed thee thou hast forgot.
And of his sons and daughters, then the Lord [unspec 19] did see the provocation, and abhorred.
And I will hide my face from them, said he; [unspec 20]
I will behold what their last end shall be:
for a most froward generation they children are, in whom faith there is none. [unspec 21]
They have me unto jealousy moved with that which is not God, have me stirred to indignation with their idols vain:
I them will move to jealousy again with those which are no folk; to indignation*

*I will provoke them with a foolish nation.
For, in mine anger kindled is a fire, [unspec 22] and to the lowest hell shall burn in ire; and shall consume land, and fruits of the same,
and the foundations of the mounts inflame.
Upon them I will heap up evil sorrows, [unspec 23]
upon them I will spend my piercing arrows.
They shall be burnt with hunger, and devoured [unspec 24] with burning coals, and bitter plague out-poured:
and teeth of beasts upon them I will bring,
with poison of serpents in dust-creeping.
Without, the sword it shall bereave them quite, [unspec 25] and from the inmost chambers fearful fright:
both the choice young man, and the virgin fair,
the suckling, with the man of hoary hair.
I said, I would them into corners drive, [unspec 26]
I would men of their memory deprive.
Were it not that the wrath of th'enemy [unspec 27]
I feared, lest behave themselves strangely their adversaries should, lest they should say, our high hand hath done all this, and not Yah.
For they a people whose counsels are gone, [unspec 28] and understanding in them there is none.
O that they wise were, would this understand, [unspec 29] that they consider would their latter end.
How should one make a thousand flee in chace, [unspec 30] and two make even ten thousand fly apace, except their strong Rock had them sold away,*

iehovah had them shut up to decay.
For their Rock is not like our Rock mighty, [unspec 31]
and judge let be our very enemy.
For their vine of the vine of Sodom is, [unspec 32]
and of Gomorrahs blasted vine branches:
their Grapes they be the Grapes of poysned gall,
the clusters that they have are bitter all.
Their wine is of the dragons poison fell, [unspec 33]
and of the asps whose venom is cruel.
Is not this same laid up in store with me, [unspec 34]
even sealed up within my treasuree?
To me belongs vengeance, and to repay [unspec 35]
in time, when as their foot shall slide away:
for day of their calamity is nie,
and things that come on them, come hastily.
For Yah will to his people do judgment. [unspec 36]
and for his servants will himself repent, when he shall see that their strong hand is gone,
and shut up, or remaining there is none.
And he shall say, where do their gods abide, [unspec 37]
the rock on whom for safety they relide?
They which their sacrifices fat devoured, [unspec 38]
which drank the wine on their oblations pour'd let them arise, and show you helpful grace, let him be unto you an hiding place.
Behold ye now, that I, even I am he, [unspec 39]
and God there is not any beside me:
I kill and quicken; wound, and whole I make,

and out of mine hand none away can take.

For to the heav'ns my hand I lift on hie, [unspec 40] and say, I live unto eternity.

If that my glittering sword I sharp do make, [unspec 41] and that mine hand on judgment hold doth take, unto my foes I render will vengeance, and them that hate me I will recompense.

Mine arrows I will drunken make with blood, [unspec 42]

(my sword shall also flesh devour for food.)

with blood of them that wounded are, and thrall, even from the first beginning principal,

shall be revenges on the enemy.

Ye Gentiles with his folk shout joyfully, [unspec 43] blood of his servants for avenge will he, and render vengeance unto them that be his adversories, and atonement make both for his land, and for his people's sake.

Annotations.

〈 in non-Latin alphabet 〉 Here beginneth the three and fiftieth Section of the Law: See Gen. 6. 9.

Give ear] or, hearken ye heavens. Moses beginneth this prophetic song, calling as with the sound of a trumpet, the heavens and earth, (and all the creatures in them,) to be witnesses of his words, (as in Dent. 30. 19. and 31. 28.) the more to affect the hearts of the people. So Isaiah beginneth his prophesy against rebellious Israel, Esa. 1. 2. For though men die, yet heaven and earth endure, Psal. 119. 89, 90, 91. Eceles. 1. 4. And though men will not hear, yet other creatures shall hear and witness against them, Ios. 24. 27. and I will] or, that which I shall speak: as, and he shall prepare, Mal. 3. 1. is expounded, which shall prepare, Mar. 1. 2. and let the earth hear] or, hear O earth; for he changeth the person, and in Isaiah 1. 2. he changeth the order also, Hear ye heavens, and give ear thou earth; and in Ier. 22. 29. O earth, earth, earth, hear the word of Jehovah.

Vers. 2. My doctrine] or, My received learning: the doctrine of religion is so called, because it is received from God, not devised by men; as in 1 Cor. 11. 23. I received of the Lord that which also I delivered unto you. So our Savior saith, As my Father hath taught me, I speak these things, John 8. 28. And so it should be received of the hearers, as the word of God, not of men, 1 Thess. 2. 13. shall drop] or, let it drop; as being a wish, and also a promise that his doctrine should be profitable and effectual, as the rain; which as it waiteth not for the sons of men, Mich. 5. 7. so it cometh down from heaven, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it bring forth and bud: in like sort, the word of God sha• not return unto him void, but it shall accomplish that which he pleaseth, Isaiah 55. 10. 11. The Chaldee translateth, My doctrine shall be sweet as the •ai•e• the Greek, let it be expected as the rain. the rain] which maketh the barren• earth fruitful, and so resembleth the word of God, and effect thereof in the hearts of men: see Isaiah 45. 8. Contrary to false teachers, which are clouds without water, Jude v. 12. For, who so boasteth himself of a false gift, is clouds and wind without rain, Prov. 25. 14. shall distill] or, let it distill, or s•ow down: as the Greek translateth, let my words come down as the dew; and the Chaldee, let my speech be received as the dew. The manner of delivering God's word is here, and often, likened to a dropping, Ezek. 20. 46. and 21. 2. Mich. 2. 6. the Word it self, to rain or dew, figures of heavenly graces. See Genes. 27. 28. the small rain] or small drops; in Hebrew Seghnirim, so named of hairs, like which it falleth. Or it may have affinity with Saghnar, a storm, and mean a stormy rain, figuring the doctrine of the Law, which as it was given with storm and tempest, Heb. 12. 18. so it worketh like effect in the conscience. So the Greek translateth it a shower, or showry rain: the Chaldee, as the rainy winds which blow upon the tender herb. the showers] the strong or greater rain, which falleth with manifold drops, or with violence as arrows: the Chaldee translateth them drops of the latter rain; whereof see Deut. 11. 14. The with-holding of these was a punishment, as in Ier. 3. 3. the showers have been withholden, and there hath been no latter rain: the giving of them was a blessing, Psal. 65. 11. and 72. 6. Mic. 5. 7. grass] as the people sometime are likened to grass, for their frail and momentary state, Isaiah 40. 6, 7. so here they are likened to grass & herbs, which grow by the rain, Job 38. 26, 27. that they should not be unfruitful hearers, like stones or sandy ground, whereon nothing groweth.

Vers. 3. proclaim] or publish, preach: but the [unspec] Chaldee turneth it, pray in the name of the Lord. give ye greatness] or majesty, that is, magni ⟨ϕ⟩ him: so in Jude 25. to the only wise God our ⟨ϕ⟩ he glory and majesty (or greatness): and ⟨...⟩ Chron. 29. 11. Thine, O Jehovah, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, &c.

Vers. 4. The Rock] that is, as the Greek translateth God: so in verse. 18, 30, 37. 1 Sam. 2. ⟨ϕ⟩ [unspec] ⟨ϕ⟩ Sam, 22• 2, •2. God is called the Rock, because of his might, stability and immutability; and to his Church he is a firm foundation, Matth. 16. ⟨ϕ⟩ and Christ is the Rock, 1 Cor. •0. 4. his work, in Greek, his works; so work, in Psal. 9•. ⟨...⟩ works in Heb. 3. 9. and it implieth his works both of creation, and redemption of his people, & ⟨ϕ⟩ other, wrought in them• which are said to be perfect, or unblemished, because there is no defect, no fault in any of them. Therefore in it the righteous ⟨ϕ⟩ [unspec] joyce, Psal. 92, 5. hi• ⟨ϕ⟩ ] that is, ⟨ϕ⟩ administration, his d ⟨...⟩ judgment] that ⟨ϕϕ⟩ judicious, right and equal ⟨ϕ⟩ and so shall m•y find that walk in them Psal. ⟨...⟩ 8, 9, 10. faithfulness] or faith, understand, ⟨ϕ⟩ God of faith, 〈...〉 most faithful & true, that all may rely safely 〈...〉 and his word. without •••quity] on 〈...〉 injurious evil▪) in him, as the Greek translath. So in Psal. 92. 16. Jehovah is righteous, my Rock, and no iniquity is in him. right] or righteous: in Greek, just and holy the Lord is. As his faith is constant to those that follow him, so is his justice righteous to such as forsake him.

Vers. 5. They have corrupted themselves] or, It hath corrupted it self; speaking of the people, (as is expressed in Exod. 32. 7.) as of one man, and prophesying here their falling away from God. Or, It hath corrupted (it self) before him, that is, before or against God. The Greek translath, they have finned: and corruption is used both for sin, as in Gen. 6. 11. and for destruction following sin, as Gen. 6. 13. it being always the changing of the estate of a thing from good to evil. And this corrupting themselves, was chiefly by idolatry, as verse. 15, 16, 17, &c. Exod. 32. 7, and implieth also their destruction; and it is ascribed to themselves, that it might not be imputed unto God: so in Hos. 13. 9. Hereupon Isaiah called them children that were corrupters, Isaiah 1. 4. and this their action is opposed to the perfection of God's work, in verse. 4. their spot] or, their blot, their blemish; that is, their vice, or evil, (as the word is explained in Deut. 17. 1.) and thereupon their blame. This is opposed to God's faithfulness in verse. 4. and it is an effect of their foresaid corruption, and an evident sign thereof. not of his sons] that is, not such a spot (or blemish) as is in the sons of God through their infirmity, whereto all are subject; but such as is in a crooked and perverse generation, that will not be reclaimed from their wees. And this is a declaration of the effect of the Law in Israel, which was added because of transgressions, Gal. 3. 19. and when it came, sin reviued; and the passions of sins, which were by the Law, did effectually work in their members, to bring forth fruit unto death, as Rom. 7. 9, 5. But the grace of God through the Gospel, worketh contrary effects of sanctification, which the Apostle layeth down in these words of Moses, thus; That ye may be blameless and sincere, the children of God, unblemished (or spotless) in the midst of a crooked and perverso generation, among whom shine ye as lights in the world, holding fast the word of life, Philip. 2. 15, 16. The Chaldee expoundeth it, They have corrupted themselves, and not him; sons that have served Idole. crooked] or f•ward; it is contrary to strait or even, Isaiah 42. 16. and they that are thus in heart, are an abo•nation to the Lord, Pra•. 11. 20. This title Peter gave unto the Jews that refused the Gospel Act. 2. 40. & herein the people are opposed to God just and righteous, in verse. 4. as they that perverted all eq•nty, Mich. 2. 9. and had made them crooked paths, Isaiah 59. 8. perverse] that turn and writhe themselves and others, as wrestlers are: but this word is applied to such as are perverse in mind and counsel, Job 〈◇〉 . 10▪ used also by our Savior in Lu. 9. 41. O saithlesse and perverse generation. Hereby Israel's habi• in evil is sigh 〈...〉 , 〈...〉 sting the holy Ghost, Act▪ 〈◇〉 . 51. so that their corruption and spot could not be 〈◇〉 , but remained upon them as malignant ulcers. Compare Isaiah 1. 5. 6. ler. 5. 3.

Vers. 6. requite] or reward, recompense. This is a sharp rebuke of the ungrateful people, (set down therefore question-wise,) who in faith and obedience should have shown at least their thankful hearts, as did he which said, What shall I render unto Jehovah for all his beneficial rewards unto me? I will take up the cup of salvation, and call upon the name of Jehovah, Psal. 116. 12, 13. foolish] or vile: the Hebrew Nabal, is such a fool as hath his understanding and judgment saded and depraved, whereupon he becometh vile and wicked, saying in his heart, there is no God, Psal. 14. 1. and blaspheming his name, Psal. 74. 18. This fool, or vile person, is opposed to the noble or liberal, Esa. 325. The Chaldee here translath, people which have received the Law, and are not wise. Father] by regeneration, as 1 Pet. 1. 3. Deut. 14. 1. bought thee] or, thy purchaser, thy possessor, owner; see the Annotations on Ex. 15. 16. And this aggravateth their sin, who denied the Lord that bought them, as 2 Pet. 2. 1. for the ox knoweth his owner (or him that bought him) though Israel did not know, Isaiah 1. 3. made thee] not only in the first creation, as Gen. 1. 26. but in exaltation to dignity after redemption, as God is said to have made Moses and Aaron, 1 Sam. 12. 6. who advanced them to that honor in his Church. Therefore this word is used for a degree of grace after creation, as in Isaiah 43. 7. I have created him for my glory, I have formed him, yea I have made him. So Christ is said to have made twelve, when he ordained them to the office of Apostleship, Mar. 3. 14. And Paul saith of Israel, that God exalted the people, when they dwelt as strangers in the land of Egypt, Acts 13. 17. established] formed, fitted, & ordered firm and stable, that thou mightest abide in his grace.

Vers. 7. of old] or, of the world and ages past, all which will testify of God's grace unto his people. Thus Moses confirmeth that which he spake of God's goodness towards them, in verse. 6. and by this the Saints confirmed themselves in their troubles and fears, Psal. 77. 6. 7. &c. and 119. 52. and 143. 5. So in Isaiah 46. 9. Remember the formerthings of old, for I am God, and there is none else, &c. generation and generation] that is, all generations, and every of them: so in Psal. 89. 2. to generation and generation; and Esth. 3. 4. day and day, that is, every day▪ and Ezr. 10. 14. city and city, that it, every city, he will show] This the Psalmist confirmeth, saying, O God, with our ears we have heard, our Fathers have told unto ⟨ϕ⟩, the work thou wroughtest in their days, in days of old, &c. Psal. 44. 1, 2, &c. So in Judge. 6. 13. Where be all his miracles, which our fathers •ld us of▪

Vers. 8. divided inheritance] that is, appointed and gave lands and Countries for the nations to inherit; as mount ⟨ϕ⟩ to the Edomites; Deu. 2. 5. A• to the Moabites, Deut. 2. 9. and so to others, ⟨ϕ⟩ 9. 7. For God hath ⟨ϕ⟩ of ⟨ϕ⟩ blood •ll mankind, for to dwell on all the face of the earth: & hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of then habitations, that they should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after him, and find him, Acts 17. 26, 27. separated] into distinct families, and people's, with several languages; whereof see Gen. 10. and 11. chapters. bounds] or, borders, limits of the people's; which may be referred specially to the people's in the land of Canaan, whose bounds God proportioned before hand, according to the number of the sons of Israel, that they might be possessors of it after the Canaanites. Though generally there is also a proportion between the 70. nations reckoned in Gen. 10. and the seventy souls of Israel, which was their whole number when they went down into Egypt, Gen. 46. 27. Deut. 10. 22. and more particularly between Canaan with his eleven sons, Genes. 10. 15,—18. and the twelve sons of Israel, which became Patriarchs to the Church of God, Exo. 1. 1,—4. Gen. 48. 28. Acts 7. 8. the sons of Israel] in Greek, the Angels of God: so the Lxx translated this place purposely, lest the heathens should here take offense, that Israel should be matched with the 70. nations, that is, with all people's of the world. And the Jews supposed there were seventy Angels, rulers of the seventy nations; and therefore they say according to the number of the Angels of God, whereby they mean seventy. Their opinion is to be seen in R. Menachem on Gen. 46. where he saith, It is a general rule that there is one (degree of) glory above another, and they that are beneath, are a secret signification of those that are above, and the 70. souls (Gen. 46. 27.) signify the 70. Angels that are round about the throne of (God's) glory, which are set over the nations. But we are warned to beware how we intrude ourselves into those things which we have not seen, Coloss. 2. 18.

Vers. 9. portion] or part, which he hath divided unto himself, Exod. 19. 5, 6. and for whom he long before prepared an habitation. And as he hath taken his people for his portion, so they again take him for theirs, Psal. 142. 6. and he is called the portion of Jacob, Ier. 10. 16. and 51. 19. This word Paul applieth to our heavenly calling in Christ, speaking of the portion of the inheritance of the Saints in light, Coloss: 1. 12. Jacob] that is, the posterity of Jacob; which being the name of his infirmity, before he was called Israel, commendeth God's love unto his, when they were weak and unworthy. And Jacob is the generation of them that seek God's face, Psal. 24. 6. the line] or, the cord of his inheritance, that is, his heritage, as by line or measure befallen or allotted to him; and so his peculiar, whom none other can challenge. Compare Psal. 16. 6, 7.

Vers. 10. He found him] that is, God found Jacob, meaning Jacob's posterity, the Israelites, whom God found, and was present with them in the wilderness, to help them in all their miseries. Therefore the Greek translatheth, He sufficed him: and the Chaldee, He sufficed their necessities: as finding is used for sufficing, in Numb. 11. 22. God's people of themselves do all go astray like lost sheep: but he seeketh and findeth them, for their salvation, Isaiah 53. 6. Psal. 119. 176. Luk. 15. 24,—7.—32. land of wilderness] a wild or desert land, where no inhabitants were, no dwelling city, no food to sustain him, Ps. 107. 45. Ier. 2. 6. See before in Deut. 8. 15. The wilderness figured the people's of the world, Ezek. 20. 35. amongst whom God's people strayed, till he found them up: for when we were yet *sinner*s, and enemies, he loved us, and reconciled us to himself by the death of his Son, Rom. 5. 8. 10. empty place] in Chaldee, a dry place; Hebr. emptiness: a place not to be inhabited, as appeareth by the opposition in Isaiah 45. 18. So all men naturally are empty, till they be filled with grace, and made the habitation of God through the Spirit, Eph. 2. 11, 12,—22. howling of the desert] or, yelling of Ieshimon: the wilderness is called a place of howling, for the wild beasts that dwell there, or for the wants that men find therein: and Ieshimon, which signifieth a desert, or desolation, may be taken for a special wilderness so named, as in Num. 21. 20. or generally, for all desolate waste places: and such was that which Israel wandered in, Psal. 78. 40. The Greek and Chaldee translate it, a waterless place; and so in Isaiah 43. 20. God promiseth to give waters in Ieshimon, (or in the wilderness.) It figured our estate in sin, without God's Word and Spirit, which are likened unto waters, Isaiah 44. 3. John 3. 5. and 7. 38, 39. he led him about] to wit, in the wilderness forty years, as Deut. 8. 2. Or, he compassed him about, to wit, with his love and providence: so the Greek translatheth, be compassed but, and the Hebrew well beareth it. Thus David saith, to God, thou wilt compass me about with songs of deliverance, Psal. 32. 7. and in Ier. 31. 32. compassing is used for going about to win ones love and favor; which may also be intended here. The Chaldee translatheth, He placed them round about ﴿ⲟ﴾ divine Majesty: which may have reference to Israel's encamping round about God's Tabernacle, N<sup>o</sup>m. 2. instructed him] or, made them to understand, to wit, by his Law, and by his Spirit, as Ne ﴿...﴾ . 9. 18. 20. So the Chaldee explaineth it, he learned them the words of the Law. apple of his ⟨ϕ⟩ or the black (the sight) of his eye; that is, with ⟨ϕ⟩ diligent care and love tendering them. Thus David prayeth, Keep me as the apple of the eye, Psa. 17. 8. and the Prophet saith, He that toucheth you, ⟨...⟩ heth the apple of his eye, Zach. 2. 8.

Vers. 11. an Eagle] the chiefest of all birds, which similitude God therefore applieth to himse•••here, and in Exod. 19. 4. stirreth up] or, ⟨...⟩ th up her nest, that is, her young ones: which ⟨ϕ⟩ Eagle rouseth up with her cry; so God did ⟨ϕ⟩ people with his Word and promises, whiles ⟨ϕ⟩ slept in their sins in Egypt. This is decla ⟨...⟩ Ezek. 20. 5, 6, 7. and the history is in Exod. 4. 29, 30, 31. So to the Church it is said, Awake, ⟨ϕ⟩ put on thy strength, O Zion, &c. Esa. 53. 1. and ⟨ϕ⟩ thou that sleepest, and stand up from the dead, ⟨ϕ⟩ Christ shall give thee light, Eph. 5. 14. flut ⟨...⟩ th] or moveth and cherisheth. This is the word ⟨ϕ⟩ in Gen. 1. 2. the Spirit of God moved (or flutte ⟨...⟩ ) upon the face of the waters. That openeth the meaning here to be God's motions by his Spirit in the hearts of his people. spreadeth abroad] as preparing herself to flight, and thereby provoking her young to go with her. This God performed by spreading out the wings of his power against Egypt in plaguing them, and for Israel in preserving them from those plagues; so making way for his people to pass out of the place of their bondage. taketh them] that if they be slack or negligent, she may procure them to come away. So God by his Angels took hold on Lots hand, and led him out of Sodom, Genes. 19. 16. and hastened the departure of Israel out of Egypt, Exod. 12. on her wings] in gentleness, and for their safety: not in her talents wherewith she beareth her prey. And the Eagle soaring high, her young being on her wings, are safe from all danger. Thus God lead Israel safe thorough the red sea, Exod. 14. and into the wilderness of Sinai, where he said unto them, You have seen what I did to the Egyptians; and I have borne you upon Eagles wings, and brought you unto myself, Exod. 19. 4. So Christ giveth to the woman his Church, two wings of a great Eagle, that she might flee into the wilderness, into her place where she is nourished, Rev. 12. 14.

Vers. 12. alone lead] or, lead him alone; which may be referred to Jehovah their only leader, and so the Greek explains it: or, to the people lead alone, as in Num. 23. 9. & Deut. 33. 28. they are said to dwell alone; and thus the Chaldee interpreteth it. lead him] that is, lead Israel, conducting them thorough the wilderness in safety, as Deut. 8. which mercy is often mentioned, Psal. 78. 14. 52. 53. and 1 36. 16. Neh. 9. 12. The Angel of his presence saved them, Isaiah 63. 9. with him] with Jehovah; or, with Israel; as the Greek translateth, with them. God erected his Tabernacle, and set his true worship in Israel, without commixture with the idolatry of the nation. And unto that they should have kept themselves, as Psal. 81. 8, 9, 10. The Chaldee paraphraseth, there shall no service of idols be established before him.

Vers. 13. made him ride] made Israel to conquer and triumph: so riding is often used for conquecing and subduing: as, Psal. 45. 4. and 66. 12. Rev. 6. 2. and 19. 11. 14. high places of the earth] or, of the land, to wit, Canaany, which they conquered: and by the high places, are meant the mountains, and high walled cities which they subdued, Deut. 1. 28. A like promise is made in Isaiah. 58. 14. I will cause thee to ride on the high places of the earth: and in Deut. 33. 29. thou shalt tread upon their high places. The Chaldee here translateth, He placed them on the strong places of the earth. and he did eat] or, that he might eat: the Greek saith, he fed them with the fruits of the fields. fruits] or, fruitfulnesses, all things that grew in the fields. honey out of the rock] that is, honey of Bees nestling in rocks: or honey fruits, as dates and the like, which grow on palm trees, (as oil on olive trees,) in rocky places: that whereas rocks and stones are usually barren, God made such places fruitful to Israel; even as he gave them water out of the rocks in the wilderness, Exod. 17. 6. Num. 20. 11. whereto this here also may have reference, and mean waters sweet as honey and oil. This honey and oil figured the heavenly graces which God bestoweth upon his Church in Christ, (who is likened to a Rock, 1 Cor. 10. 4.) and which he would continue, if men would hearken unto his Law, Psal. 81. 14,—17. and 119. 103. Song 4. 11.

Vers. 14. Butter of kine] or, of the herd, that is, made of Cowes milk: these things were a sign of the fruitfulness of the land, as is observed by the Prophet, Isaiah. 7. 21, 22. And as soft and smooth words are sometimes likened to butter, and oil, Psal. 55. 22. so here they figured the soft and comfortable words of grace, wherewith God satiateth the souls of his people. The Chaldee paraphraseth, He gave them the spoils of their kings and rulers, with the riches of their great and strong men, &c. and so in Amos 4. 1. Princes of Samaria are called kine of Basan. of the flock] of sheep and goats, Levite. 1. 10. for the food of them and of their household, as Prov. 27. 27. fat of lambs] that is, fatted lambs, rams, &c. of the breed of Basan] Hebr. sons of Basan, that is, bred and fed on mount Basan, which was a fertile place, and good to nourish cattle, Num. 32. 1. 3. 4. 33. fat of the kidnies of wheat] that is, fine flower of the kernels of wheat. The flower which is the best and the principal, is called the fat, here and in Psal. 81. 17. and 147. 17. and the kernels are called kidnies, because when they are full, they resemble kidnies in shape. blood] that is, juice of the grape, which is red coloured like blood. Hereupon Christ killing his enemies, and having his cloths sprinkled with blood, is described like one treading grapes in the wine-fat, Isaiah. 63. 2, 3. Rev. 14. 19, 20. and 19. 13. And this sense the Chaldee keepeth here, translating it, the blood of their mighty men shed like water. But literally it is meant of the wine that was plentiful in the land of Canaan; and spiritually of the heavenly graces wherewith Christ filleth his people, Isaiah. 55. 1. thou didst drink] he turneth his speech to Israel: the Greek for more plainness translateth as before, they drank. pure wine] or red wine, as in Psal. 75. 8. and in Isaiah. 27. 2. In that day sing ye unto her, a vineyard of red wine; and such was the best wine in that land: the Greek translateth it only wine. Thus Moses, by honey, oil, butter, milk, fat flesh, fine bread, and wine, (seven things under which number all other are comprehended,) signifieth the manifold blessings which Israel enjoyed in their land. Which was a figure unto them of the most fertile Kingdom of Christ, and the heavenly comforts of his Word and Spirit, wherewith he satisfieth his people. And of these, some are food for children to suck, as honey, oil, butter, and milk, Isaiah. 7. 15, 16. the rest are stronger meats for men: so the faithful have in their infancy easy instruction, the sincere milk of the Word, to grow thereby; and in their ripe age, the higher mysteries of the Gospel, as 1 Pet. 2. 2. 1 Cor. 3. 1, 2. Heb. 5. 12, 13, 14.

Vers. 15. Iesurun] or Ieshurun, that is, as the Chaldee explains it, Israel; the Greek, Beloved; so in Deut. 33. 5. 26. where the Chaldee again translates it Israel; the Greek, Beloved: and in Isaiah. 44. thou Iesurun whom I have chosen; the Chaldee saith, thou Israel: the Greek, thou beloved Israel.

It hath the name of Iosher, Righteousness, as being a righteous people by calling, having Laws right and equal, if they had walked in them. Or it may be derived of Shor, which is to Look or See, because this people saw the glory of God at the giving of the Law. The same word Shor is also a Bullock, which some think Moses here alludeth unto, as if Israel were waxed like a fat bullock which kicked. But the other places where this this word is used, imply no such thing. waxed fat] in Chaldee, waxed rich. This was the occasion of their falling from God, the prosperity and blessings which they had in Canaan, as is also shown in Neh. 9. 25, 26. They took strong cities, and a fat land, and possessed houses full of all goods, Wells digged, Vineyards, and Oliveyards, and fruit trees in abundance: so they did eat, & were filled, and became fat, and delighted themselves in thy great goodness. And they turned disobedient, & rebelled against thee, and cast thy law behind their backs, &c. The like complaint is in Ier. 5. 27, 28. Though this may imply also the fatness of their heart, whereof see Isaiah 6. 10. Matth. 1•. 15. kicked] that is, behaved themselves contemptuously, and waxed wanton: and it signifieth their contemptuous abuse of God's holy ordinances, as he complaineth of Priests, Wherefore kick ye at my sacrifice, and at mine offering, which I have commanded, &c. 1 Sam. 2. 29. This word Paul seemeth to respect, when he speaketh of such as tread underfoot the Son of God, Heb. 10. 29. thou art covered] or, thou hast covered, thyself, thy face, or thine heart with fatness, as is explained in Job 15. 27. thus; he covereth his face with his fatness; and maketh collops of fat on his flanks. And in Psal. 17. 10. They are enclosed in their own fat; with their mouth they speak proudly: and in Psal. 73. 7. Their eyes stand out with fatness. he forsook God] in Chaldee, he forsook the service of God: he turneth his speech away from the people, as they that would not hear: and speaketh to heaven and earth for to witness; as in verse. 1. And this is the first part of their sin, to forsake the good God. made him] by creating, and advancing him, as in v. 6. lightly esteemed] or, vilely and foolishly despised; Hebr. jenabbel, of Nabal foolish, as he called them in v. 6. The Chaldee expounds it, he provoked to anger. the Rock] the mighty God Christ; as verse. 4. So the Greek translateth, he departed from God his Savior.

Vers. 16. provoked him to jealousy] or, made him jealous, that is, exceeding angry: for jealousy is the rage of a man; therefore he will not spare in the day of vengeance, Prov. 6. 34. strange gods] the Chaldee explaineth it, the service of Idols, or idolatry. So in Psal. 78. 58. they provoked him to jealousy with their graven images. And in 1 King 14. 22, 23. the Jews provoked him to jealousy with their sins, &c. for they also built them high places, and images, &c. And this is the second part of their sin, to turn to idols and devils. abominations] that is, abominable idols, or false gods, and other sins, as Levite. 18. 26, 27. Deut. 7. 25. 2 King. 23. 13.

Vers. 17. to devils] that waste and destroy man-kind, as their name Shedim here signifieth: see Levite. 17. 7. and these are in this respect opposed to God, who maketh and saveth his people, v. 15. So Jereboam's calves are called Devils, 2 Chron. 11. 15. and all the Gentiles idols are Devils, 1 Cor. 10. 20. and Antichrists, Revel. 9. 20. And unto devils the Israelites sacrificed their sons & their daughters, when they sacrificed them unto the Idols of Canaan, Psal. 106. 37, 38. whom they knew not] had no knowledge or experience of any good from them: or, gods which knew not them, that is, had done them no good; as on the contrary the true God saith, I did know thee in the wilderness, Hos. 13. 5. where the Chaldee explaineth, I supplied their necessities. came lately up] Hebr. came from near, that is, from near time: which when it is spoken of a thing past, meaneth lately; when of a thing to come, it meaneth shortly, as in Ezek. 7. 8. were not afraid] with horror, lest they should be hurt by them. So the original word properly signifieth, and therein differeth from that fear or reverence which we owe to the true God. He meaneth, that they were such God's as could neither do good nor evil, as is said in Ier. 10. 5. Bee not afraid of them for they cannot do evil, neither also is it in them to do good.

Vers. 18. the Rock] that is, as the Greek saith, the God, and the Chaldee, the strong Fear, that is, the strong God: see v. 4. begat thee] with the word of truth, that thou shouldst be a kind of first-fruits of his creatures, as I am. 1. 18. The Chaldee expoundeth it, created thee; which may also be applied to creating in Christ Jesus unto good works, as Ephes. 2. 10. unmindful] in Greek, hast forsaken: this & the word following, hast forgotten, showeth their long continuance in their sin, whereof God complaineth by the Prophet, My people have forgotten me days without number, Ier. 2. 32. And is not only forgetfulness in mind, but in affection and action; as when they made a Calf in the wilderness, they forgot God their Savior, Ps. 106. 19. 21. So God when he will punish them, threateneth, I will utterly forget you, and forsake you, Ier. 23. 39. Hereupon he saith, Remember these, O Jacob and Israel, for thou art my servant; I have formed thee, thou art my servant, O Israel, show not thyself forgetful of me, Isaiah 44. 21. that formed thee] or, that brought thee forth: in Greek, that nourished thee: in Chaldee, that made thee. God is here likened to a father that begat, and a mother that bare or brought forth; both which do set forth his love, and the work of his grace.

Vers. 19. saw] the Chaldee saith, it was revealed before the Lord. God the Judge first taketh notice of the sin, as in Gen. 18. 20, 21. contemptuously abhorred] or, loathed, despised as loathsome; which the Greek expresseth by two words, he was jealous, (or fervent) and he was provoked: the Chaldee, his anger was strong. This word, which is commonly used for men's contemptuous provoking or despighting of God, is here and in Lam. 2. 6. applied to God his despising and loathing of sin and sinners. the provoking] or, the angering, the indignation or grief, caused by his sons and daughters, that is, by them which had been his children by his gracious calling of them, and would seem so to be still, but their spot was not such as his children's, v. 5.

Vers. 20. will hide my face] the Chaldee expounds it, will take away my divine presence. It meaneth also the withdrawing of his favor; therefore his children often prayed against this, Psal. 27. 9. and 102. 2, 3. Exod. 33. 15, 16. And when God threateneth judgment to his people, he saith, I will show them the back and not the face in the day of their calamity, Ier. 18. 17. And here their punishment is answerable to their sin: as they first withdrew their love and obedience from God, so he withdrew his presence and grace from them; that though they sought him, they should not find him, Prov. 1. 28. The contrary is promised to the faithful, They shall see his face, Rev. 22. 4. will see] and let others see: as the Greek saith, I will show what shall be to them at the last. Now the last end of sinners, if they convert not, is their destruction, Psal. 73. 17, 18. Prov. 14. 12, 13. and 23. 32. very froward] Hebr. a generation of frowardnesses, or, of perversities, that is, a most froward and perverse people. This word Paul useth of heretics, Tit. 3. 11. no faith] no firmness, truth, or stability: for faith hath the name of steadfastness: see the notes on Exod. 17. 12.

Vers. 21. not god] or, no god: a prophesy of the rejection of the Jews, with the cause thereof. They left the Lord their God, and took another, so they made him jealous and angry: the Lord also will leave them and take another people, so they shall be provoked. their vanities] that is, as the Greek translateth, their idols, or, as the Chaldee expounds it, their service of idols. So Idols are called vanities, Ier. 8. 19. and 14. 22. 2 King. 17. 15. because they are nothing, 1 Cor. 8. 4. not a people] or, no people, that is, by the Gentiles which now are not my people, whom I will call to my faith and obedience by the Gospel, whereby the Jews shall have occasion of jealousy and anger. So Paul expoundeth this in Rom. 10. 19, &c. And in 1 Pet. 2. 10. which in time past were not a people, but are now the people of God. And in Hos. 1. 10. In the place where it was said unto them, Ye are not my people; there it shall be said unto them, Ye are the sons of the living God. Thus God threateneth to take his Kingdom from the Jews, and give it to the Gentiles. a foolish nation] and therefore vile and despised: so this is a reward of their foolish despising of the Lord, forementioned v. 15. The Jews understand these things of the Chaldeans, which carried them captive and so grieved them; because it is written, Behold the land of the Chaldeans, this was not a people, &c. Isaiah 23. 13. But the Apostles exposition is heavenly, showing therejection of the Jews for refusing Christ; and calling of the Gentiles, (esteemed of them fools) for which the Jews were angry, as appeareth by Rom. 11. 14. 1 Thess. 2. 15, 16. which Gentiles are called foolish, because they were carried away after dumb idols, 1 Cor. 12. 2. Whereupon it is said, They are altogether brutish and foolish: the stock is a doctrine of vanities, Ier. 10. 8. They became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened: professing themselves to be wise, they became fools, Rom. 1. 21, 22.

Vers. 22. kindled in mine anger] or, burneth from mine anger, or, through my nostrill, that is, by the breath thereof. By fire is meant God's fiery judgments, which by the enemy, drought, blasting, and otherways he would bring upon their land, Amos 2. 2, 5. So in Ezek. 30. 8. God, saith he, will set a fire in Egypt, which the Chaldee there expoundeth, people's strong as fire; but here the Chaldee translateth, For an East wind strong as fire cometh forth from before me in anger. As before, God withdrew his good things from them, so now he threateneth to inflict evils upon their land, and upon their persons. the lowest hell] or, the hell of lowness, that is, the lowest part of the earth; for so Sheol, or Hell, here and often meaneth, as Num. 16. 30, 32, 33. See the Annotations on Gen. 37. 35. This meaneth a most vehement fire, which should burn downward, even to the midst of the earth. the earth] or, the land, wherein Israel dwelt, which should be wasted with war, drought, &c. that no man should dwell, no fruits should grow thereon: for God turneth springs of waters into dry ground; a fruitful land into saltness (or barrenness) for the wickedness of them that dwell therein, Psal. 107. 33, 34. So upon the famine in Israel, the Prophet complaineth; The fire hath devoured the pastures of the wilderness, and the flame hath burnt all the trees of the field, Joel 1. 4,—19. foundations of the mounts] that is, the strongest places of the land, Jerusalem it self, founded on the holy mountains, was destroyed by the fire of God's wrath, Amos 2. 5. Lament. 2. 1, 2, 3. So it is said, The Lord hath kindled a fire in Zion, and it hath devoured the foundations thereof. Lam. 4. 11.

Vers. 23. I will heap] or, will add: I will consume, will spend evils on them: the Greek saith, I will gather together evils against them. These plagues concern the people, as the former did their land. arrows] that is, plagues that shall come suddenly and swiftly, Zach. 9. 14. Arrows mean plagues of all sorts, as the Scriptures mention the evil arrows of famine, Ezek. 5. 16. of pestilence, Psal. 91. 5. and other sicknesses, Psal. 38. 2, 3. Job 6. 4. of wars, Jer. 50. 14. of thunder, lightning, &c. 2 Sam. 22. 14, 15. And among the Gentiles this phrase was used, as the pestilence is called, an evil arrow, by Homer in Iliad. 1.

Vers. 24. burnt] in Greek, consumed: Moses useth a word not elsewhere found in Hebrew, but in the Chaldee it signifieth to heat or burn; and so it may intimate their destruction by the Chaldeans, at what time they were so burnt with famine, that their visages were black as a cole, their skin clave to their bones, Lament. 4. 8. Others translate it, filled or mested; so it answereth to their sin, who had filled themselves, and kicked, verse. 15. and now for a punishment should be filled with hunger. This the Chaldee favoereth, translating it, blown up (or swollen) with famine. And this is the first evil arrow of famine, as Ezek. 5. 16. the burning cole] hereby the lightning or hot thunderbolt seemeth to be meant, as in Psal. 78. 48. or the burning carbuncle, a fiery ulcer on the body, as in Habak. 3. 5. this word is joined with the pestilence. Properly the word signifieth fiery coles, Song 8. 6. figuratively it is applied to arrows that fly, Psal. 76. 4. The Greek and Chaldee here expound it, devoured with fowls. bitter] in Greek, incurable. stinging plague] in Hebrew, Keteb, which is the name of a deadly stinging disease, joined with the pestilence, in Psal. 91. 6. which the Apostle translateth a sting, in 1 Cor. 15. 55. from Hos. 13. 14. and so the Greek there expoūdeath it. But here the Greek calleth it the disease Opisthotonos, which is a strange & vehement disease in the neck, when by the stiffnesse of the nerves or sinews, the neck is strained backward to the shoulders, and killeth a man within four days, as Cornel. Celsus showeth in l. 4. c. 3. But it seemeth here to be more general, for the pest and other terrible sicknesses, whereby God soon cutteth off the life of man with bitterness. The Chaldee expoundeth it evil spirits. the teeth] Hebr. the tooth of beasts, wild beasts to devour men and cattle: see Levite. 26. 22. Ezek. 5. 17. and 14. 21. serpents] or, creeping things, worms: the Chaldee translateth it, dragons that creep in the dust. The wild beasts kill by force; worms and serpents by secret subtlety.

Vers. 25. Without] abroad out of the cities. the sword] of the enemy by wars. bereave] or rob, to wit, all sorts and sexes, as after followeth. Thus God threateneth his four sore judgments, mentioned in Ezek. 14. 21. Revel. 6. 8. the sword, and the famine, and the evil beasts, and the pestilence, to cut off from them man and beast. terror] inward terrors of conscience, whereof see Job 15. 20,—24. terrors of death, as Psal. 55. 5. and so the Chaldee translateth it, dread of death; meaning that they should even die through fear. both the young man] to wit, shall be bereaved: so all sorts shall be cut off with these judgments.

Vers. 26. scatter them into corners] or, drive them from corner to corner: in Greek, disperse them; in Chaldee, destroy them. Here God showeth the measure of their punishments, which though they deserved to have in all extremity, yet he would moderate in mercy.

Vers. 27. Were it not] or, but that I fear the wrath (or provocation) of the enemy. God speaketh these things after the manner of men: and in regard of his glory (that the enemy should not blaspheme) he would spare Israel from utter destruction. So God pleadeth also with them in Ezek. 20. 13, 14, 21, 22, 44. behave themselves strangely] or, make strange of the matter, deny and dissemble the truth of the thing: which the Chaldee expoundeth, magnify themselves.

Compare Psal. 140. 8. Or, it may mean the strange and inhumane dealing of the enemies against Israel.

Vers. 28. For they] that is, the Israelites, as the next verse showeth, and it is a reason of the destruction which God thought to have brought upon them, v. 26. it may also be applied to their enemies. void of counsels] or, as the Greek translath, which have lost counsel, in that they have forsaken God's Law, which should be their counselor, Psal. 119. 24.

Vers. 29. O that they were] or, as the Chaldee translath it, If they were wise. Compare Psal. 107. 43. Hos. 14. 9. understand] which is the effect of wisdom, whereof they deprived themselves. consider their latter end] study and apply their minds to God's works past, present, and to come: this want of wisdom in them, the Prophet lamenteth, She remembered not her latter end, therefore she came down wonderfully, Lament. 1. 9.

Vers. 30. one chase a thousand] Seeing God promised Israel that they should chase their enemies, and an hundred of them should put ten thousand to flight, Levite. 26. 7, 8. how should on the contrary, one enemy chase a thousand of them, if God had not sold the Israelites for their sins? their Rock] that is, God, as the Greek translath: see v. 4. sold them] in Chaldee, delivered them, meaning to the enemies, to whom they were sold even for nothing, as Psal. 44. Isaiah 52. 3. and this was for their iniquities, Isaiah 50. 1. shut them up] in Greek, delivered them; meaning, into the enemies hand, as Psal. 31. 9. So God is said to shut up (that is, deliver) his people to the sword, Psal. 78. 62. See this phrase in Deut. 23. 15.

Vers. 31. their Rock] the god on whom the heathens rely: so the Greek explaineth it, For our God is not like their gods. The person is changed, as if Moses, or the people spake of the heathen idols, that they could never have given their worshippers power over Israel, if God their Rock had not sold them. Judges] for the enemies were afraid of the God of Israel because of his former judgments on the Egyptians, 1 Sam. 4. 8. Balaam confessed the power of God, and his goodness unto Israel, Num. 23. 8, 12, 19, 20, 21. &c. The Egyptians would have fled, for they perceived that God fought for Israel, Exod. 14. 25.

Vers. 32. their vine] the vine of Israel, so other Prophets compare Israel with Sodom and Gomorrah, Isaiah 1. 10. Ezek. 16. 45, 46, 56. Although therefore these things may be applied to the heathens, yet chiefly they respect Israel in their apostasy; for, what things soever the Law saith, it saith it to them that are under the Law, that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God, Rom. 3. 19. By the vine here, the Chaldee understandeth, punishment, translating, Their vengeance is like the vengeance of the people of Sodom. And that such was their sin and punishment, Jeremiah complaineth in Lam. 4. 6. This may also be applied to the apostasy of Antichrist, of the vine] or, above the vine of Sodom, that is, worse than it. God had planted Israel a noble vine, wholly a right seed, but they turned into the degenerate plant of a strange vine, Ier. 2. 21. So God planted the Christian Church in Christ the true vine, John. 15. 1. but they degenerated, and worshipped the beast Antichrist, whose city is spiritually called Sodom, Revel. 11. 8. blasted fields] or blasted vines (or vine branches) that grow in Gomorrahs fields. So the Greek translath it here, a vine branch. And the Hebrew Shedemah, which is sometime used for a field, or vine, Isaiah 16. 8. is in Isaiah 37. 27. blasted corn; and for it in 2 King. 19. 26. is written Shedephah, which properly signifieth blasted corn, or blasting, Deut. 28. 22. which sense I think is to be retained here, as the Chaldee translatheth it, their smiting or beating, that is, when Gomorrah was burnt with fire, Gen. 19. and the fields and vines in them blasted, they brought forth none but bitter and hurtful grapes; so did this people Israel, and so do Antichristians. their grapes] the grapes of them and him, that is, of them all, and of everyone, for so much the Hebrew form implieth; by grapes meaning their works, as in Isaiah 5. 4. gall] that is, bitter, venomous, and hurtful, as the Chaldee explaineth it, the gall of serpents: See Deut. 29. 18. most bitter] Hebr. clusters of bitternesses; meaning, most evil and noisome doctrines and actions: and as sometime it is used for bitter afflictions, Job 13. 26. so here the Chaldee applieth it to the reward of their evil works. The breasts of Christ's Church (out of which the people suck the wine of God's graces by the ministry of the Gospel) are likened to clusters of grapes, Song 7. 7. So here on the contrary is signified the corruption of true doctrine by false Prophets and ministers of Antichrist.

Vers. 33. their wine] wine is sometime used to signify the fruits and graces of God's Spirit, Song 4. 10. and 5 1. and 8. 2. Here it signifieth the corrupt doctrine & heresies wherewith the Jews poisoned themselves and their disciples: and the wine of fornications, that is, the heresies and idolatries of Antichrist, wherewith all nations have been made drunken, as Rev. 17. 2. poison of dragons] in Greek, fury (or hot wrath) of dragons; that is, their doctrines and actions are venomous and deadly in soul and body, as being doctrines of devils, and the poison of the old dragon whom Antichristians adore, 1 Tim. 4. 1. Rev. 13. 4. and 12. 3, 4, &c. So in Isaiah 59. 5. They hatch Cockatrice eggs, &c. he that eateth of their eggs dieth. cruel] in Greek, incurable fury of asps; in Chaldee, as the gall of asps, the crueli serpents; which are venomous serpents that will not be charmed, Psal. 58. 5, 6. and so it noteth their incurable maliciousness: and when it is used for punishment, it noteth also the grievousness of it, as, He shall suck the poison of asps, the vipers tongue shall slay him, Job 20. 16.

Vers. 34. this] in Greek, these things; that is, the sins of Israel forementioned; as the Chaldee expounds it, all their works. laid up in store] which the Chaldee interpreteth, manifest before me. Their evillfruits, the grapes of Gomorrah, and of gall, God laid up for to punish. sealed up] not to be lost, or forgotten, or left unpunished; wherefore the Chaldee paraphraseth, laid up against the day of judgment in my treasuries. According to this phrase Job speaketh, My transgression is sealed up in a bag, and thou sowest up my iniquity, Job 14. 17. speaking of his sins w<sup>ch</sup> God left not unpunished: though the time and means of punishment is to man unknown, as a sealed book cannot be read, Isaiah 29. 11. in my treasuries] or, among my treasures: meaning God's secret wisdom & knowledge, when and how to punish them for it. So the Apostle speaketh of treasures of wisdom and knowledge, Coloss. 2. 3. and in Job 38. 22, 23. the treasurs (or treasuries) of snow and of hail are mentioned, which God reserveth against the time of trouble, against the day of battle and war.

Vers. 35. To me vengeance] or, vengeance is mine, to punish Israel for their rebellions, and to punish their enemies for abusing them. Therefore the Apostle maketh this a general doctrine, and teacheth us to commit our injuries unto God; Beloved, avenge not yourselves, but rather give place unto wrath; for it is written, vengeance is mine, I will repay, saith the Lord, Rom. 12.

19. And by this he would deter us from sin, Heb. 10. 29, 30. in the time] or, at the time, to wit, which I have appointed, that is, in due time; or, as the Greek translatheth, in the time when their foot shall slide: meaning, then his vengeance should be seen. their foot shall slide] or, shall be removed; which the Chaldee expoundeth, they shall be carried captive out of their land. But it is more general, and signifieth their fall into manifold afflictions, against which David prayeth, and comforteth him-self in the mercy of God, Psal. 17. 5. and 38. 16, 17. and 121. 3. and 94. 18. calamity] The original word properly signifieth a fog, or thick cloud, and is fitly applied to the time of affliction, and dismal day; which the Greek translatheth, day of perdition; and the Apostle calleth the day of judgment, the day of perdition of ungodly men, 2 Pet. 3. 7. that shall come upon them] or, that are ready for them and for him, that is, for every of them. make haste] Hebr. maketh haste: a word singular and masculine, joined with the former word plural and feminine, to intimate a particular hastening of every judgment in sore measure. This sentence the Apostle hath reference unto, when prophesying of false teachers, he saith, their judgment now of a long time lingneth not, and their perdition slumberath not, 2 Pet. 2. 1, 3.

Vers. 36. judge his people] that is, punish the evil, and defend the good against the oppressors. So against such as forsake Christ Paul allegeth this sentence, The Lord will judge his people; and addeth, It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God, Heb. 10. 30, 31. And for defense the Psalmist saith, Judge me, O God, and plead my cause against an unmerciful nation, Psal. 43. 1. repent himself] change the course of his administration towards his people, as a man when he repenteth changeth his way. This is spoken of God not properly, (for he cannot repent,  $\langle \diamond \rangle$  Sam. 15. 29.) but after the manner of men, as is noted on Gen. 6. 6. For this repentance of God concerning his servants, Moses prayeth, in Psal. 90. 13. and God promiseth, if a nation turn from their evil, he will repent him of the evil that he thought to do unto them, Ier. 18. 8. and performed it towards the Ninevites, Ion. 3. 10. and towards the Israelites, Amos 7. 2, 3, 6. And hereupon men are exhorted to turn unto the Lord, For he is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repenteth him of the evil, Joel 2. 13. the hand] of his people, that is, their strength; which the Greek explaineth thus, for he seeth them feeble. So hand is for strength, or power; as, the hand (or power) of the sword, Job 5. 20. the hand of the dog, Psal. 22. 21. and there is none shut up] or, and nothing is shut up or left: or, and come to nothing (consumed) is he that is shut up, and that is left. And so it may be understood both of persons and of goods, that there is none shut up in the enemies hand, as captive or prisoner, none left untaken by the enemy; or, none shut up in houses, cities, towers, to escape the enemy; none left escaped from destruction. It meaneth an utter overthrow of their state and kingdom; as the overthrow of Jereboam's house is threatened in these terms, I will cut off from Jeroboam him that pisseth against the wall, him that is shut up and left in Israel, 1 King. 14. 10. The like is threatened to Ahab, 1 King. 21. 21. And this compassion here promised, was in some sort shown to Israel, in the days of Jeroboam, son of Joash, as it is written, For the Lord saw the affliction of Israel, that it was very bitter, for there was not any shut up, nor any left, nor any helper for Israel, 2 King. 14. 26.

Vers. 37. And he shall say] that is, the Lord shall say, as the Greek version explaineth it. God here upbraideth the idols which Israel followed, as being vain, and unable to help them: whereby Israel also receiveth a sharp rebuke, and check of conscience for leaving the Lord, to follow such. It may also be referred to the gods of the heathens, over whom God thus triumpheth, after he hath redeemed his people. But Jeremiah useth the like speech against Israel, Where are thy gods that thou hast made thee? Let them arise if they can help thee in the time of thy trouble, &c. Ier. 2. 28.

Vers. 38. did eat the fat] that is, to whom they burned the fat of their sacrifices; which therefore are said to be eaten by those gods; as the sacrifices to the Lord, was called his bread, Lev. 21. 6. let him be] in Greek, let them be: but this hath reference to the Rock (the mighty God) forementioned, verse. 37. in whom they hoped for safety. So God said to Israel, Go and cry unto the God's which ye have chosen, let them save you in the time of your tribulation, Judge. 10. 14. It is a sharp reproof, with an upbraiding of their folly.

Vers. 39. See now] in Greek, See see. God having manifested the vanity of false gods, provoketh all to come unto him, who is himself alone eternal, powerful; and gracious. Jonathan in his Targum paraphraseth here thus; When the word of the Lord shall be revealed for to redeem his people, he will say to all people's, See now, &c. I I am he] in Greek, I am: it is the more vehement by doubling the word I, as the like is found in Isaiah 43. 25. Hos. 5. 14. it meaneth also, I am the same, that is, eternal and unchangeable: so in Psal. 102. 28. Thou art he, which the Apostle expoundeth, thou art the same, Heb. 1. 12. Jonathan aforesaid openeth it thus, I he that am, and have been, and I he that shall be. This accordeth with God's describing of himself in Revel. 1. 4. and 16. 5. And here the mystery of the Trinity is implied, as in Deut. 6. with me] in Greek, besides me; and so in Isaiah he saith, besides me there is no God, Isaiah 45. 5. I do kill] none but I have power of death and life: so Anna in her Song saith, Jehovah killeth and maketh alive, he bringeth down to the grave, and bringeth up, 1 Sam. 2. 6. Hereby Christ is known to be very God, For as the Father raiseth up the dead, and maketh them alive; even so the son maketh alive whom he will, John. 5. 21. He hath the keys of hell and of death, Rev. 1. 18 God's killing and wounding, implieth the hatred which he hath in justice against sin and sinners: his reviving and healing, showeth his love out of grace to his creatures, and mercy in respect of their misery. I heal] so in Job 5. 18. He maketh sore, and bindeth up; he woundeth, and his hands do heal. And in Hos. 6. 1. He hath torn, and he will heal us: he hath smitten, and he will bind us up. Jonathan in his paraphrase saith, I have smitten the people of the house of Israel, and I will heal them in the latter days. that delivereth] or, can deliver: so in Isaiah 43. 13. even before the day was I am he, and there is none that delivereth out of mine hand: I will work, and who shall let it? It teacheth us the omnipotency which God only hath.

Vers. 40. For I lift] or, when I lift up my hand; which is a sign of swearing, as in Gen. 14. 22. Exod. 6. 8. Num. 14. 30. So the Greek here explaineth it, I will lift up my hand unto heaven, and swear by my right hand, and say, &c. Though the lifting up, or stretching forth of the hand, is also for a sign, to make the hearers attentive, Isaiah 49. 22. Act. 26. 1. I live] understand, as I live: these are the words of an oath; as in Ier. 4. 2. thou shalt swear Jehovah liveth. And because God can swear by no greater, he sweareth by himself, Heb. 6. 13. So the Angel lifted up his hand to heaven, and sware by him that liveth forever and ever. Rev. 10. 5, 6. And as an oath is for confirmation, and to show the immutability of his counsel, Heb. 6. 16, 17. so here God confirmeth the former threatenings and promises by an oath; which Jonathan in his Targum explaineth thus; As I live, so will I not break mine oath forever.

Vers. 41. my glittering sword] Hebr. the lightning of my sword, that is, the bright glittering blade of my sword; which the Greek translath, If I whet my sword like lightning. So in Gen. 3. 24. the flame of a sword, that is, a bright flaming sword; and in Hab. 3. 11. at the shining of the lightning of thy spear, that is, of thy glittering spear. This similitude showeth God's judgments to be swift, violent, powerful, terrible, as in Zach. 9. 14. his arrow shall go forth as the lightning. So in Ezek. 21. 10. his sword is fourbished that it may glitter. on judgment] that is, on weapons of judgment; the arrows after mentioned, v. 42. or, take hold of it (the sword) in judgment. Here judgment seemeth to be meant of rigor and severity, opposed unto mercy, I am. 2. 13. Isaiah 34. 5.

Vers. 42. drunk with blood] this signifieth a great slaughter of the enemies, and a full satisfying of God's justice upon them. Like this is the dipping (or embruing) of the foot in the blood of the enemies, Psal. 68. 23. shall devour, or, shall eat flesh; which the Chaldee expoundeth, shall kill among the people's. So the Lord's sword is said to devour, in Ier. 12. 12. with the blood] or, from the blood. the slain] or, the wounded; speaking singularly of one, but meaning everyone, as the Greek translath, wounded ones. the captives] Hebr. the captivity; which word is often used for a multitude of captives, or prisoners taken in war: as in Num. 21. 1. Deut. 21. 10. Judge. 5. 12. So the Chaldee translath, of them that ar̄ 〈...〉 led, and of captives. from the beginning] or, from the head: which word is sometime used for the first beginning, Judge. 7. 19. but commonly for the head, chief, and principal; and so the Greek here translath it, from the head; whereby the heads, captains, and chief of the enemies are meant, on whom God would take vengeance. Or, from the beginning, that is, from the first time that the enemies have oppressed God's people, God will leave none of them unpunished. revenges of the enemy] that is, revenges shall be executed upon the enemy, for all their wrongs that ever they did to Israel since the beginning.
