PREFACE

The Feng Shui Renaissance that has been taking place in the recent years has given rise to more and more interest in Classical Feng Shui, and a lot of enthusiasts and amateurs who are keen to dabble or try their hands at what I call 'F-I-Y' or Feng-Shui-It-Yourself. As a master trainer, teacher and practitioner of this classical field, I am of course always thrilled to see more people interested in Feng Shui, and its complementary fields, Chinese Astrology, Yi Jing and Face Reading.

This book has been produced in response to this increasing interest amongst members of the public for Feng Shui information and knowledge, and to cater to those who for reasons of time or perhaps, distance, are unable to attend my annual Feng Shui and Astrology seminars.

With this book, you will be well-informed on the Qi that will influence properties in 2010, and how best to utilise the energies of 2010 in your own home or office. In addition to the overall outlook for the year, based on the Flying Stars chart for 2010 and the Afflictions for 2010, there is the section on the Flying Stars for all 8 Houses in 2010.

It is this section, together with the monthly Flying Stars outlook for all 12 months of 2010, based on the Main Door and Bedroom locations, that will make it possible for you to gain a high level of personalised information about how the Qi of 2010 will affect you and your family, or your business. Don't worry if you're not familiar with how to plot a Flying Stars chart - just drop by my website www.joeyyap.com and make use of the Flying Stars calculator there.

As most of you will know, luck is divided into Man Luck, Earth Luck and Heaven Luck. Feng Shui is just one component in the Cosmic Trinity, so do not be overly concerned if there are negative stars at your Main Door or in the bedroom you are residing in. The full impact of the stars must also be viewed in light of the landforms in the area, which will trigger or activate the stars' negative or positive energies. If you would like to know more about how to do simple assessments of forms, you may want to look into my Feng Shui for Homebuyers series.

I always tell my clients and students that we should never be paranoid, nor should we let Feng Shui paralyse us into inaction. Remember, for every Yin there is a Yang and vice versa. Nothing is truly totally bad or totally good in Chinese Metaphysics. The most important thing is to understand what the Feng Shui influences are and prioritise your actions and make informed decisions.

I hope you find this book helpful, practical and most importantly, informative and I wish you all the best in the Year of the Metal Tiger.

Warmest Regards,

多城岭

Introduction:

In order to fully utilise the information and material in this book, you need to have a basic understanding of how to derive certain information - for example, the location of your Main Door, the various directional sectors in your home and your personal Gua number.

How to ascertain the Location of your Main Door

In order to tap into the beneficial Qi of the year and the kind of Qi that will influence your home in 2010, it is important to be able to identify the various directional sectors of your home and also determine which sector your Main Door is located. This knowledge is particularly important for those who wish to make use of the information contained in the 8 Houses for 2010 chapter, which is based on the directional sector in which your house or office Main Door is found.

The first step is to divide your house into the 9 grids. To do this, you just need a simple scout s compass and a plan of your house. On the plan of your house, draw the 9 Grids as illustrated in Step 1 and Step 2.

庚寅年 The Year of the Metal Tiger

Next, stand in the center point of your house and establish the North direction using the compass. On the plan of your house, mark out the sector in that direction as North and then identify all the other directions according to the directions of the compass.

Using this simple 9 Grids, you will be able to identify the favourable and unfavourable sectors in your home and make less or more use of the corresponding rooms in the home. You will also be able to ascertain the location of your Main Door and from there, determine what kinds of energies will influence your home in 2010.

Personal Gua and Flying Star Feng Shui Chart

My personal website www.joeyyap.com has online calculators that will assist you in calculating your personal Gua and also the Flying Star Feng Shui chart of your house. For those of you with an interest in BaZi, you can also make use of my BaZi Ming Pan calculator to obtain your personal BaZi chart.

Using the 12 Month Outlook based on Bedroom Location Section

To use this section, you must know the location of your property's Main Door, and the location of your bedroom. Note that your bedroom may be located on the Ground Floor or 1st or 2nd floor.

1. Identify the location of your Main Door.

In the example below, the Main Door is located in the West. So turn to page 145, for the section on the 12 month outlook for all 8 bedrooms for a West Main Door House.

2. Identify the location of your bedroom.

In the example below, the Bedroom is located in the South. So turn to page 154, and you will find the 12 month outlook for your bedroom, located in a West Main Door house.

2010 Feng Shui Afflictions

In 2010, the Grand Duke flies into the Northeast 3 sector of your property. Avoid aggravating the negative energies of this star by disturbing this sector, either through renovation or groundbreaking. Potential accidents and catastrophes are likely if the Grand Duke is activated, and there are also serious implications of medical problems. It would not be good to face the Northeast 3 direction during work, or even during major work discussions, and meetings. It would be best to try to put your back to this direction, as that will enable you to regain the upper hand in professional negotiations and in all career-related activities and projects.

3 Killings (三煞) North 337.6 - 22.5

This year, the Three Killings is in the North sector. This area should preferably be left alone and remain undisturbed throughout the year, but it should especially not be activated for groundbreaking or renovations. Otherwise, one risks causing some serious negative consequences for the property itself, and its inhabitants. Potential repercussions include mishaps and accidents, robberies, theft, loss of wealth and material possessions, as well as persistent health troubles and complications.

The 5 Yellow Star (五黄) Southwest 202.6 - 247.5

The #5 Yellow is present in the Southwest sector for the year 2010. As this star has extremely volatile and negative energies, this sector should preferably be avoided for major use throughout the year. If it is impossible to avoid using this area, then it would be best to try to neutralise the negative energies of the #5 Yellow by using more metal items in the area; preferably those made of brass, copper, and iron. If your property faces the Southwest direction, it is advisable to hold off on all planned renovations until the next year. However, if this is unavoidable, then one should only begin on the renovation procedure after suitably and carefully selecting a good date for it.

The Year Breaker Star flies into the Southwest 3 sector for the year. It would be best to avoid all forms of renovation or groundbreaking works in this sector to avoid incurring any negative consequences. The Year Breaker is also sometimes referred to as the Wrath of the Grand Duke. Disturbing the Year Breaker or aggravating it in any way may lead to serious repercussions with outcomes that could be worse than the ones triggered by the Grand Duke.

Flying Stars Feng Shui for 2010

Wealth Sectors : Northwest, West

Academic Sectors: North

2010 Flying Stars by Sectors:

Direction / Location	Annual Star	Forecast
Southeast 東南	七赤 7 Red	In 2010, the #7 Red Star in the Southeast suggests the possibility of turbulent emotions and volatile feelings. Possible arguments could arise. Couples who use this sector or sleep in it might be quarrelling more than usual. There is also a likelihood of sustaining injuries, and being hospitalized or undergoing an operation. Homes and offices with a Main Door in the Southeast should guard against potential thefts and robberies. Change your locks, or invest in insurance. Where career is concerned, the #7 Red could cause unhealthy rivalry and intense competition.
West 西	一白 1 White	Where possible, consider using a West Main Door or entrance door for the year of 2010. The #1 White in the West sector indicates the possibility of fresh beginnings and new ventures and projects. Couples who are keen to tie the knot or start a family will bode well to use this sector. The #1 White can also lead to good name and reputation, and bring about nobility. However, depression and emotional instability can also be a potential problem.

Direction / Location	Annual Star	Forecast
Southwest 西南	五黄 5 Yellow	The Southwest is the most dangerous sector for the year of 2010. It would be best to avoid all major and important activities in this sector of your home or business, as the negative consequences can otherwise be bad. Avoid renovating the area, or groundbreaking. When this sector is activated, it could lead to possible accidents, disasters, and catastrophes. It is best to keep this area inactive or refrain from using it for extended periods of time. But if left with no choice but to use this area, neutralise the negative energies of the #5 Yellow by placing metal objects in the area made of brass, copper, or iron.
North 北	四錄 4 Green	The #4 Green bodes well for academic, scholarly pursuits, and those who use this sector will find themselves excelling in their studies. Writers and people who are involved in academic and research work will benefit greatly from using the North sector, and the effects will be evident in the work they produce. This #4 Green also bodes well for romance and love, and couples that use this sector will enjoy better a better relationship. If you use a North Main Door, or sit in the North sector of your office, you are likely to do quite a bit of travelling during the year.

Direction / Location	Annual Star	Forecast
Northwest 西北	九紫 9 Purple	The effects of the #9 Purple in the Northwest sector suggest potential success through the demonstration of one s talents and capabilities. One will benefit greatly from expressing one s skills and attributes. However, there is the likelihood of suffering from depression and some form of emotional instability.
East 東	六白 6 White	In the East sector for 2010, the presence of the #6 White Star suggests the possibility of making strides in the office and ascending the career ladder. There is a likelihood of being recognised for one s own efforts. It would be good to use the East sector if you wish to make more of an impact at the workplace or in your career. Using an East door from which you enter your office can also help boost your influence at work and your network of professional acquaintances. But while the #6 White is generally benevolent, if activated by negative forms it can lead to sudden, unexpected changes in the workplace, and possible medical complications to the kidneys and legs.

Direction / Location	Annual Star	Forecast
Northeast 東北	二黑 2 Black	The #2 Black flies into the Northeast sector for 2010, so it would be best to avoid using this area as much as possible throughout the year. The negative influences of this star can bring about persistent illnesses and health troubles. Where possible, pregnant women should completely avoid using the Northeast sector. It also bodes well for gains and investment through the property and real estate industries. It can also bring about stomach and digestive problems. If avoiding usage of the Northeast is not completely possible, then it is possible to weaken the negative Qi in the sector by placing metal objects of brass, copper, bronze, or pewter in the area.
South 南	三碧 3 Jade	The #3 Jade Star flies into the South sector for the year, and one should try to avoid using or activating this sector as much as possible, or otherwise quarrels and arguments are the likely result. Tensions will run high, with some of the more extreme consequences of the #3 Jade resulting in legal problems and tensions. The effects of the #3 Jade can be countered and lessened somewhat by placing an oil lamp in this sector for the duration of 2010.

The 8 Types of Houses in 2010

Overview

In 2010, the #4 Green Star flies into the North sector of your property. The #4 star brings favourable outlook for academic and scholarly pursuits, personal relationships, and general academic luck. It can also bring about individual growth and development, and an improved sense of self-cultivation. If your Main Door is located in the North, then you'll find increasingly auspicious opportunities to improve yourself, whether you choose to go back to school and advance your studies, or to learn new things and develop yourself.

This star also manifests Peach Blossom qualities, and can bring about an increase of powerful, strong relationships – both in your personal and professional lives. If you are interested in cultivating new relationships, using this Main Door would be extremely beneficial, and conducive to your efforts. It can also help further strengthen existing relationships. Those among you who need to network and build relationships as part of your jobs – such as people in sales, marketing, public relations, politics – will benefit from the energies of the #4.

People with a creative, artistic, or literary bent will also derive the benefits of the #4, particularly those who make a living from being writers, artists, journalists, and those involved in academia.

Useful Tips

While water features are generally acceptable in the North sector, the annual #4 is particularly sensitive to water. Ensure that water is not gushing, noisy, or worse even – dirty and smelly. These conditions would bring about Peach Blossom problems, arguments, or even scandals.

As with most cases, a good external Bright Hall in the North allows Qi to gathers nicely, bringing out the best of the annual star #4.

Overview

In the Year of the Metal Tiger, the #9 Purple Star resides in the Northwest sector of your home. The #9 Star is generally a very auspicious one, because it is the star of happy news and good tidings, celebratory events and positive things. It can also bring about financial gains. This star denotes beauty, popularity, and likeability, so if your Main Door is in the Northwest and you use it regularly, there will probably be plenty to look forward to.

This star brings about the demonstrative, expressive natures in most individuals, which will propel them to share their talents and abilities with the rest of the world. Salaried employees will find the #9 useful in helping them attain recognition and accolades at work, and people in the education, media, marketing, and consultancy fields will also derive benefits from this star. Joint-ventures and business expansions will generally tend to do well, while on a more personal note, using this sector augurs well for people who want to get married or start a family.

Useful Tips

If the area near your Main Door is particularly tight and narrow, there will be a tendency among the people who live or work in this property to challenge authority, and be more defiant and rebellious than usual.

If the North and Northwest internal sectors are connected in the property, this denotes an Early Heaven Combination - which is favourable for building powerful relationships. This is especially true if there is a mountain or hill in the Northwest external.

Bear in mind that if the Northwest has negative features or formations, then occupants could suffer from headaches and migraine, or troubles that afflict the brain.

Overview

The #1 White Star is in the West sector for the duration of the Year of the Metal Tiger. This star is known as the Nobleman Star, and will bring about the valuable and genuine help of mentors and supporters. Using a Main Door located in the West will bring in help in all respects of your life, which can help to get rid of obstacles and hindrances that stand in the way of success. The #1 White can also bring about honour and status, bringing about the right type of fame and recognition that increases your stature among others.

All water-related industries such as aquatics and fisheries, as well as the trading, jewellery, and beauty industries, will benefit from the #1 White Star. If your job requires a lot of speaking and verbal articulation, as well, the #1 White will prove to be beneficial and helpful. As this star represents intelligence and wisdom, it will also be good for people who are interested in learning new things, furthering their knowledge, or applying their existing knowledge for important projects and endeavours.

Useful Tips

Beware of any natural water that is located outside the Main Door of the West sector, as this could lead to scandals and a tarnished reputation or public image. It also brings about an increase in fraudsters and commen, leading to difficulties and complications with issues of trust.

Using this Main Door will be particularly beneficial for individuals who are Gua #6. However, it is not favourable for individuals who are Gua #4, as it could bring about messy Peach Blossom troubles and complications.

The true benevolence of this star will manifest when there is a mountain or hill in the West externals.

The most dangerous sector in your property for the duration of 2010 is the Southwest sector, as the inauspicious #5 Yellow resides in this sector. As such, if you have a Main Door located in the Southwest, it might be beneficial to consider using a secondary door as your main entrance and exit points for the year. The #5 star brings about general disharmony, disturbances, accidents, and mishaps, as well general confusion and complicated health issues.

The #5 Yellow can bring about problems at work, which will adversely affect job performance and cause a dip in general income. All investments and financerelated endeavours could take a turn for the worse, resulting in more losses than profits. If your Main Door is in the Southwest, avoid embarking on important activities this year - like getting married, or changing jobs, or starting a family, as pregnant women will also be affected by the #5's negative energies. Fraud or embezzlement is likely for corporations, while private residences may have to beef up their security measures as robberies and thefts are also very likely.

Useful Tips

Properties with a good external Bright Hall – the area outside the main door that is spacious, broad, and flat - will have minimal hassles from the annual #5.

Most crucially, expecting mothers and elderly folk should avoid using this sector altogether. There should also be NO renovation or ground-breaking in this sector of the property – internal as well as external.

For the duration of the Year of the Metal Tiger, the #3 Jade Star will reside in the South sector. While this star denotes dynamic changes, activity, and aggressive movement and determination, it also brings about arguments, conflicts, and possible miscommunication in its negative form. Its active, vibrant energies are particularly favourable for people involved in professional, competitive sports, or for those involved in high-energy jobs. As such, using this Main Door will help to propel people in those particular careers to new heights.

But as the #3 Star is also known as being the argument star, those of you who have a South Main Door will have to take special care not to get into arguments that escalate into explosive situations. Otherwise, you could find yourself straddled with legal complications as well. However, not all the shake-ups are bad, as one's conventional sense of thinking can be challenged in a good way – leading to fresh, revolutionary approaches in one's work and business.

Useful Tips

The #3 Star in the South palace is also a 'Wood & Fire Brilliance' formation – those of you who want to conceive and plan to start a family, use this Main Door (or bedroom), as the #3 Star will bring about favourable outcomes.

Using this Main Door will also be beneficial for scholars, academics, and students. It is favourable for all study and learning pursuits, as it indicates an ability to grasp new information quickly, and the propensity to be a fast learner.

If your external South sector sees a large pool of water, be prepared for legal hassles coming your way.

The #7 Red Star flies into the Southeast sector for the duration of 2010. Generally considered an inauspicious star, the #7 brings about the increased possibilities of fraud and theft, and the presence of malicious people with ill intentions. When positive, the star manifests auspicious traits for all speaking and public relations activities, and bodes well for financial and business wealth and success derived from speaking activities.

Using the Southeast Main Door will prove beneficial for people who require good communication and public relations skills, as it will bring about the necessary publicity and networking contacts that can help propel business forward. But people using this Main Door should make a conscious effort to increase the building's security measures, as safety becomes a significant problem this year. If possible, install a new and more foolproof security alarm system to ensure a greater sense of safety. Guard against possible robberies and thefts both in the home and the workplace.

Useful Tips

Gua #2 people who use the Southeast Main Door will be able to build good relationships with others this year, and fortify their networking abilities.

There is good Peach Blossom attributes associated with the #7, so people looking to get a bit of romantic action might want to consider using the Southeast Main Door frequently!

The positive side of the Star #7 will not present itself when the Southeast is tight, constricted, or clustered with tall buildings outside.

The #6 White Star is present in the East sector for the year 2010. In general, this is a favourable star that denotes power, increased status, and authority. Using the East Main Door in 2010 will bring about recognition, as well as possible promotions or advancements in your career, or any other aspect of your life. This star is particularly auspicious for military, academic, and sports fields. Where your career is concerned, it will be easier to get ahead and make a mark on the higher-ups.

Travelling for the purpose of work and business will bring good results, as the #6 bodes well for this. If your business is in printing, courier, freight, logistics, or tourism, you will benefit from using this Main Door in your premises. It will bring about greater business opportunities.

Useful Tips

If there are negative features located outside the East Main Door, then the #6 heralds loneliness and isolation. Elderly folk should also take extra care of the liver and limbs.

Gua #1 people will benefit the most from using the East Main Door, while those who should try to use another secondary door are Gua #3 individuals.

In the Year of the Metal Tiger, the #2 Black Star resides in the Northeast sector. It is generally not a favourable star, as it brings about illnesses and possible physical troubles. This is generally a star of health issues, emotional problems, and personal enmity. Using the Northeast Main Door brings about physical illness and health troubles, while it further emphasises interpersonal relationship troubles. However, the #2 Star brings about success for all property and real estate-related endeavours.

In general, if you use this Main Door a lot, it would not be advisable to try to forge a partnership or joint-venture with any other parties. Otherwise, these new connections will only bring about worries and problems. As relationships also come under severe stress, it would be beneficial for occupants or residents of this building to work hard to keep morale up, and to make extra effort to care for one's physical health and prevent illnesses.

Useful Tips

If your property faces the Northeast 2 sector, you will be able to experience good property luck when using the Northeast Main Door.

If the property sees a mountain or a hill to the Northeast, this denotes substantial financial support from external parties.

Using the 12 Month Outlook based on Bedroom Location Section

To use this section, you must know the location of your property's Main Door, and the location of your bedroom. Note that your bedroom may be located on the Ground Floor or 1st or 2nd floor.

1. Identify the location of your Main Door.

In the example below, the Main Door is located in the West. So turn to page 145, for the section on the 12 month outlook for all 8 bedrooms for a West Main Door House.

2. Identify the location of your bedroom.

In the example below, the Bedroom is located in the South. So turn to page 154, and you will find the 12 month outlook for your bedroom, located in a West Main Door house. (Note: Instead of the bedroom, you can also use the same analysis for your office or study room located in that sector.)

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

If you're involved in public office or politics in any way, you might find it a good idea to move around more and get in there among the grassroots while on your travels. This will enable you to score popularity points and cement your reputation while simultaneously advancing your career. It will only work in your favour to put yourself out in the public eye at this point in time. People already in committed, long-term relationships might find this the perfect month to seal the deal, so to speak - so it's a good time to tie the knot, if you've been thinking about it!

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

If you're involved in athletics, sports, or journalism, you'll find yourself enjoying a fairly good month in terms of your work and productivity. However, it will be your reputation that will enjoy a good boost during this period of time. If you're patient, you'll get all the just rewards that are due to you. Elderly people using the room in this sector during this time will face an increased risk in strokes, and may also have to deal with potential arterial blockages and blood-circulation problems and complications.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

This month, those of you in the forestry and dairy farming industries will notice a spike in interest for your products, so you'll be able to reap the benefits of that demand. Entrepreneurs and business people will find that their company enjoys the effects of good team morale, as employees will go out of their way to produce results for the company. However, you will do well to remember to steer clear of any form gambling and financially-speculative activities this month, because the chances for sustaining huge losses are remarkably high.

May 5th - June 5th of 2010 辛巳

Married couples using this room might find themselves walking on eggshells this month, as the likelihood of the female partner being argumentative is high. Those of you who need to embark on any travel trips should take the necessary precautions and invest in a good insurance policy. Fire hazards are possible this month, so be careful when using electrical appliances and items – and exercise wisdom and caution by checking the electrical wiring in your home this month, especially if it's prone to being faulty.

June 6th - July 6th of 2010 壬午

It's a good month for relationship ties in general, and those using this room will find it especially beneficial to consolidate both personal and professional relationships. If it's the latter, don't hesitate to strike up deals or negotiate pacts that will merge both parties closer together, as this will only work in your favour. Where personal relationships are concerned, it will be a good time to make romantic relationships official, or even take the next step and put marriage plans in place. You'll also find that opportunities to travel actually boost your reputation and stature this month, putting your name in bright lights in whatever industry or field you're in!

July 7th - August 6th of 2010 癸未

More room to breathe - literally and figuratively! - is what is needed among couples using this room this month, and you'll find your relationship improving by leaps and bounds. You'll be inclined to be more tolerant of each other, and accepting of each other's quirks and flaws, when there is more breathing room between the partners. Where finances are concerned, however, huge financial losses are likely if you decide to dabble in gambling and speculative investments. This might be a time to keep your wallets firmly in your bags and pockets!

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

A good month to pack your bags and take off on a jet-setting trip around the world – or even to at least one other destination! This month bodes well for your travel activities, so if you've been itching to go on a holiday or on a trip, this is the right time to do so. Your travel trips are likely to go well, and you're bound to gain quite a bit from your travels as well. It's a month of growth and happiness for couples who use this room, and those of you in longterm relationships will find your ties growing warmer, closer, and more intimate. However, pregnant women are better off not using this room for the duration of this month.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

The home will be far from a safe haven and refuge from the troubles of the world this month, as most squabbles and tension are likely to arise on the domestic front. There will be a lot of family disputes and issues arising that are likely to trouble you and cause some upheaval in your ties with others. In particular, these disagreements are likely to affect the female occupants more than the others. Relations between married couples are also likely to be strained this month, so you will do well to remember to exercise lots of forbearance and patience.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

This will be a good month to focus on self-cultivation, as this room bodes well for just such pursuits. If you intend on pursuing a course in self-improvement and development, such as physical fitness regimes or motivational seminars and talks, then this would be the ideal room to use in order to enjoy favourable results. If you're likely to be travelling quite a bit this month, then it would be best for you to consider investing in some travel insurance. You might run into a few problems while on the move, and you'll be better able to deal with these issues with some form of protection in place.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

This will be a good month to get studious! All manner of things related to academics and scholarly activities will enjoy favourable luck, so if you're sitting for important examinations or writing theses, and other such activities along those lines, then you would do well to use this room. Writers and literary types who want to put out new work and receive a favourable response will find this the ideal month to look around for publishers and agents. Travel activities will also allow you to reap benefits, as it will be a good time to expand your business or forge new alliances and partnerships.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Couples who use this room will find that the air is heavy with tension and discord this month. Strained relations could lead to frequent disagreements or quarrels. One way to deal with it would be to travel together to another place, as travelling will help to dissipate some of the tension. Those of you in the financial and literary fields will find that you're able to bring to fruition many of your deals that are based abroad. Possible kidney and lung ailments are possible, though, so keep an eye out for any irregularities.

January 6th – February 3rd of 2011 己丑

To prevent yourself from sustaining huge financial losses that could severely set you back, avoid getting into gambling, or any speculative financial activities. In that light, avoid getting into any property deals or investment, either, as the results could be far from good. Females using this room should consult their gynecologists this month to ensure that there are no unexpected complications or troubles. Married couples are likely to face quite a bit of tension and disagreements this month, so endeavour to be patient.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

After working hard to earn your cash, it's understandable if you're a little reluctant to part with it. However, if any month was a good month to do it – this would be it! Consider doing your research and investing your money in the financial markets, as you're likely to see viable returns, and maybe even some profits! Using this room can also improve your romantic relationship. Both of you are likely to be in better harmony and agreement.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Couples keen to start a family should use this bedroom for the month, and your chances of conceiving will be higher. You'll have to do a bit of travelling to and fro before you can start to see any financial gains, but while you may have to put up with a little discomfort, the benefits are tremendous. Where legal documents and contracts are concerned, scrutinise it carefully before putting pen to paper – being negligent in this matter and signing what you don't carefully observe could land you in legal hot soup later on.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

You've got an eye for beauty, and while that may not be a bad thing, don't let it be the only thing you seek. As your luck in romance is fairly good this month, make sure that your potential partner is not just an attractive package, but has all the inner qualities that you're looking for, too. Interestingly enough, people using this room might be afflicted with eye trouble at this point of time! If you're dabbling in the equities market or speculative financial ventures, you're likely to see some considerable gains this month.

May 5th - June 5th of 2010 辛巳

People using this room will find that their levels of recognition increase at the workplace, and with it the opportunity to receive a promotion. However, you will need to bear in mind that the promotion is only the first step – as greater power and prestige comes with its fair share of added responsibility. If you've been developing a proposal or waiting to apply for a grant, than this is the month to do it. It's a good time to promote your ideas and consider selling them, as well. The outcome is favourable for you to receive financial backing for your plans. Professional and personal relationships proceed quite well this month, and you will be able to enjoy an improvement in your ties with others.

June 6th - July 6th of 2010 壬午

If you're keen to dip your toes into the waters of spiritual or reliaious pursuits, then this is the room you'd want to use. Similarly, activities like meditation and others along those lines will bode well for you this month. If you work in media and marketing, or are involved in consultancy, then you'll have new avenues and opportunities opening up for you. If you're looking for capital to help you fund a project or deal, then you're likely to receive the offers you need!

July 7th - August 6th of 2010 癸未

Bear in mind that the presence of negative external landforms outside this sector will increase the risk of fires. You will also find yourself gaining some form of positive publicity by the media this month, and it will be good for you to use this in a beneficial way to further your professional and business interests. However, if you're in transport and travel industries, then you should be on award against competition and rivalry. You should be aware that possible hostile takeover bids are likely, so you can't relax and let down your guard now. Remain watchful, and always try to be one step ahead of your competitors.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Your hard work may enable you to get transferred to another department or division within your workplace. This, however, will be a transfer on your favourable terms, as the perks and benefits of this new position will benefit you greatly. This will be in due recognition for all your efforts. If you're feeling under the weather, don't neglect the symptoms and hope it goes away. Get it checked out, as otherwise you might exacerbate the situation into something serious. Speculative investments in finance and equities markets will result in favourable outcomes for you this month. But don't get too investment-happy and pour your hard-earned wealth into every possible portfolio.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

If you own a business, you might be at the risk of fraud. In order to circumvent the problem, it will be better for you to do some financial spring-cleaning and conduct audit checks in order to lessen the risks. If you have a vast web of contacts, utilise them well and find ways to enable them to increase your profits. If you're a student, avoid using this room for your studies and revision, especially if you're due to sit for an examination soon. And where your relationships are concerned, both personal and professional, it would be wise to hold your tongue in most matters and maintain a low profile.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

If you let work stress get the best of you, it will! Don't succumb to work pressure easily, as you should exercise more control over your time to attain peace of mind. It will be extremely important for you to manage your time well and achieve proper balance between your work demands and your personal needs. Pregnant women are advised against using this room this month, as it could cause complications that could result in a miscarriage. Don't get involved in any financially unsound or speculative schemes this month, such as gambling, as the possibility to incur massive financial losses is high.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

If last month wasn't good for you to invest your cash, this month will prove to be quite the reverse. It will be a good time to invest your money in the financial markets, because you're likely to make quite a killing on the investment circuit! So proceed deliberately, but you don't have to hold back. This room will also improve relationship ties for couples, in addition to benefiting students who will be sitting for examinations soon.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

If you're looking to have children, then this is the room you should use. Your efforts are likely to bear the right kind of fruit! The only way you're likely to see income this month is through travel, but don't look at it as a bad thing! There are plenty of gains to be made through your travels, so don't hesitate to grab the opportunity when it comes knocking. Be careful when signing legal documents. Don't be negligent about the fine print.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Be careful of potential eye problems this month. It would be best for you to get it checked out early in order to prevent any sort of serious problems. You will fare well on the romance front this month, but you need to keep your priorities in order. While a handsome or pretty face is all well and good, there is more to making a relationship work than good looks and a charming exterior! So when picking your potential partner, choose wisely, and consider what they're like in terms of personality and temperament. Also consider how compatible the two of you are together.

Bedroom Sector Main Door North West

Where work is concerned, this is a highly competitive month. You'll find rivalries to have intensified to boiling point. As such, office politics and drama will be played out with concentration. It would be best, and safest for you, to remain the detached, impassioned observer. If you get involved, you're likely to be beaten down by your rivals. Those of you who are entering the career workforce for the first time should be extra vigilant, as there is a strong likelihood that you will be manipulated or exploited. Don't trust anyone too easily; maintain a healthy sense of skepticism.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

If you're involved in politics and public service, then you're likely to enjoy a favourable month. You'll enjoy the benefits of strong support from the public, which could help you rise in ranks and attain more respectable positions in the political parties to which you feel affiliation. Foreign connections and networking will bring favourable results for you, or even if you're in a professional partnership with someone who lives abroad. Make this your month of being a professional social butterfly, as it will be a good time for you to forge new connections and build relationships from scratch.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

If you own a business or enterprise of any sort, you might find this month a little tough going. You'll find it hard to make any progress, so it will best not to waste your energy trying too hard. Instead, just keep a low profile and secure your position at where it is. Where your physical health is concerned, you will need to be careful of potential head injuries this month. Also, lung infections or lung-related troubles might crop up. Avoid all forms of speculative investment, or you'll only end up losing your money.

May 5th - June 5th of 2010 辛巳

For this month, this room bodes well for academic luck. If you're a student using this room for studies, you'll find that it will benefit you when you sit for any examinations this month. Any deals located abroad or in other countries will need to be concluded and closed this month, especially if it involves some form of asset acquisition. This room also bodes well to further your romantic ties, and it will bode well for furthering relationship ties – however, this will only work if there is no natural water in this sector.

Couples who use this room might run into a spot of romantic trouble this month. If your relationship is strained and tense, don't give in to your temptation to be short with your words, and hurtful with your actions. Instead, it would be better for you to be more tolerant and understanding of each other. If you're involved in the furniture business, you will find that profits will pour in! Generally, those using this room should be circumspect in behaviour and speech, as there is a good chance that lawsuits might dog you, and people will talk about you behind your back. Don't give them fodder for gossip; keep a low profile.

July 7th - August 6th of 2010 癸未

Expectant women should avoid using this room for the month, as miscarriages could result. In general, if you're in poor health or feeling unwell and frail, avoid this room altogether, as otherwise you will be prone to illnesses. Marital tension is rife for couples using this room. Be more tolerant of each other, as no one is perfect and every person comes bundled with a package of flaws. The more you strive to understand each other, the stronger your relationship will be - and the chances of being bothered by trivial differences will lessen.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Generally, this will be a favourable month for most. Relationships will go well, and you will do well where your career is concerned. All that you need to succeed and make inroads at work is already in you; so use your knowledge, wisdom, and unique talents to get ahead. Be proactive in doing this, and take the initiative, and the results will be in your favour! This is an especially good month for Gua 6 people to highlight and showcase their own talents.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

This month continues much in the same vein as before where work is concerned. Don't be too modest or shy to show off your true abilities and talents at work, as this way true recognition lies! Doing so will enable your superiors and bosses to notice you, and value your contribution, leading to a much-deserved promotion for you. Married couples using this room will notice an increased improvement in relationship ties. If you're in the midst of negotiating or closing new deals, make an effort to seal the deal this month as the results are likely to be in your favour.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

If you're involved in the real estate industry, then this would be a good month for you to consider some sound investment opportunities. If you're single and looking for some romance this month, then this would indeed be the room to use! If you're into professional sports and athletics, or work with machinery, it will be good for you to take advantage of the opportunities at your disposal.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Be careful not to drink and drive this month, or otherwise you could get into an accident while on the road. This room doesn't bode well for relationships this month, either, as the likelihood of these ties ending badly and causing a dent to your reputation is quite strong. At work, you'll have some personal battles as well – colleagues who are jealous of your success and envious of you will not hide their need to compete. Don't play into their hand, or else you'll get sucked into a vicious game that will leave no winners.

Go all out in striking foreign deals this month, because the outcome will be profitable. Don't stick to your usual network of connections this month; consider expanding to include people from abroad, as well, in order to incur some benefits. Go all out there and be visible – this is not the time to be a wallflower! Politicians will find that they enjoy a favourable month, leading to good support from the grassroots that can propel their careers forward.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

If you're a business owner, progress is likely to be slow or even stagnant this month. Don't beat your head against the wall trying to move past the obstacles; instead, just use this month as a cushion and lie low, while finding ways to consolidate your position. It will be of no use to you to consider ploughing ahead when the time is not right. You may be a little fragile where health is concerned; watch out especially for your lungs. Head injuries are also possible.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

Certain health problems will present themselves to people using this room this month. These will mostly be in the form of injuries like ligament, muscle, and tendon injuries. Be particularly careful if you lead an athletic lifestyle, play sports, or workout. If you're newlyweds using this room, then you should be prepared for the honeymoon period to definitely be over, as tension and strife will figure prominently. Be cautious when dealing with these problems, and be gentle when dealing with each other. Sleeping in this room will also cause some mental stress and emotional instability. Think of ways you can de-stress and relax otherwise the pressure will get to you.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Further misunderstandings and disagreements will plague couples this month, so you will have to guard against these becoming full-fledged problems. Try to approach each problem calmly, and don't over-react or the repercussions could be unfavourable. Most of you using this room will find that problems are hard to solve this month. It will be challenging to get to the root of the matter. Don't try too hard; just let it go, and the situation will improve in time. Certain serious health issues could come up, like throat and mouth cancer, so get yourself a thorough check-up if something doesn't seem right.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

If you own or run a company or a corporation, a key problem that you'll face this month is your employees' lack of motivation. It is imperative that you boost their morale, or the repercussions could be severe in the coming months. This concern should override any financial or strategic directives you seek to implement at this point in time. Those of you using this room will also sense a chill descending upon your romantic relationships. It might be better to consider using another room in the meantime. Health-wise, pay attention to potential kidney and eye problems that could develop into something more.

May 5th - June 5th of 2010 辛巳

Any health issues this month, even seemingly minor ones, should be thoroughly checked out. Don't put off going to the doctor if you have, or you'll have to pay for your oversights later on – and the consequences could be serious. Better to be safe than sorry. Pregnant women should avoid using this room for the month, or complications could arise. You will also stand to lose some in property dealings, so if something seems too risky then it's better to avoid it altogether.

June 6th - July 6th of 2010 壬午

Financial losses are still quite possible for this month, so it's best to toe the line and avoid risking anything. That means speculative financial investments are a big no-no! Gambling is another highrisk activity that you'll do best to avoid. You'll find yourself having to beat down tough competition this month, which will leave you feeling drained of energy. Try not to drown your sorrows in alcohol, if you can help it, as drinking too much this month could result in casual relationships with less than casual outcomes! So be on guard, and try to be on your best behaviour to ride out the stress of this month.

July 7th - August 6th of 2010 癸未

There is trouble in paradise this month for those of you who are happily ensconced in relationships and marriages. Be careful that small arguments and disputes don't turn into something nasty and serious. Lay low if you have to. You'll find that your employees, if you run a business or corporation, to be less than helpful this month. So if need be, avoid scheduling major projects and tasks that require their serious collaboration and input. This would be a better time to go at it alone.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Again, this is another month to avoid risky transactions. This is especially true where property deals are concerned. You'll stand a chance to lose money, rather than gain it. You might also want to avoid diving into anything new this month, as the chances of it enjoying success are slim to none. It would also be a good idea to avoid this room if you're feeling generally listless and poor of health, as the energies present here could exacerbate the issue. This is particularly true if you're having gastrointestinal issues.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Couples using this room for this month will find their relationship ties somewhat strained, and testy at points. Even seemingly normal and ordinary arguments could get blown out of proportion. If using another room is unlikely, then bear this in mind and avoid getting into any serious discussions this month. Those of you who are business owners and managers in the tourism, travel, and media industries will also find it hard-going. You'll have some trouble meeting your sales targets. Health-wise, bladder and kidney problems should be anticipated.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Be on guard for fire hazards this month, and check out all the electrical wiring in your home. If you run a company, try not to focus so much on creating profits and boosting your financial standing. You have more important things to look into, and that includes ensuring that your employees are satisfied. Focus on building team morale, because if that is flagging, no amount of planning can take your company further.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

High risk investment deals are a no-no for this month as well. The results could be bad, and this is especially true where property deals are concerned. It would be best to stake your bets on this another time. If you own a business, don't think about expansion at this point. Instead, seek to consolidate your position and use it to leverage new connections. There will be a time in the future to make things bigger than they are.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Couples will continue to have problems in their relationship. Your best bet is to prevent these from becoming serious full-fledged arguments. Be objective in evaluating each problem, and don't let your emotions take the reign. If it seems like solving certain issues in your life feels like you're beating your head against the wall, then take a step back and relax. Not every problem needs to be solved immediately. Some solutions will come to you with patience, in time.

January 6th – February 3rd of 2011 己丑

You might find your kidneys, or your eyes, acting up this month. Get the problem checked out immediately. Don't prolong it, or the repercussions could be bad. Those of you in relationships should be prepared for an inevitable chill in your ties as a result of using this room. Try to find ways to infuse some warmth and closeness in your interactions with each other. If you're a CEO or a director of your company, the lack of motivation among your employees should be the key problem you try to solve this month. This should take priority over other strategic and business implementations you might have planned.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

This month, those using this room will clarity of thought at its peak, and logical thinking and clear-headedness prevails. This is the month when you will want to put strategic thinking and planning into action, because the results that come out of it will be positive. But if you're offered investment deals that sound too good to be true, it probably is. Don't be swayed by the sweet-talking of conmen, as you'll not only end up losing your money but become mired in legal troubles as well. Children who use this room will likely benefit from the good energies to do well in academics.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Those of you in the restaurant or food and beverage industry will find it a good month to consider expansion. If you're required to travel to conclude the deals or negotiation, all the better for you, as the outcome is likely to be in your favour. If you run or operate a business and will need to do some leveraging in order to float your company, you'll find that the hard work this month is its own blessing in disguise. The month is auspicious for just such activities, and your efforts will not go unrewarded. Possible health problems that could crop up from using this room will be related to the eyes.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

If your health situation is frail and weak to begin with, this is not the month to push your body further. Don't be reckless and negligent; your body has served you well throughout the years, so now you should give it the proper care it deserves! Otherwise, internal injuries are possible. Fraud and theft could plague people using this room, resulting in a loss of finances. However, speculative financial investments are likely to yield some good profits.

May 5th - June 5th of 2010 辛巳

Recognition and praise could come your way at work, with bouquets instead of brickbats thrown at you! With this recognition there exists a chance to get promoted, and to have your status and authority at the workplace also strengthened. Don't be too modest – you've done your work and you deserve your time to shine, so step forward accordingly. Parents might have to deal with difficult, rebellious sons if their sons are using this room. A change of rooms might restore peace to the household and calm their rebellious natures.

June 6th - July 6th of 2010 壬午

It would be best to avoid important business decisions this month if you sleep in this room, because disputes are possible - particularly those born in the Year of the Goat. Along with this comes the possibility of slander, as well. Those in business should toe a conservative line this month, because if risk stepping out of line, a possible demotion is what will greet your efforts! It will be best for you to play by the rules and consider attempting any risks only in the future. Couples using this bedroom this month must be patient and tolerant with each other, especially so since both of you will be listening to others instead of each other.

July 7th - August 6th of 2010 癸未

If you own or run a business, be super vigilant of rivals posing as allies, as this will result in losses for their enterprise. Wolf dressed as sheep clothing will be heading your way this month, so exercise skepticism and be on guard. Couples should make an effort in their relationships this month. Neglecting your other half could result in poachers honing in on your territory! In other words, don't neglect to pay attention to your partner, or you might find others are more than willing to step into your shoes. Newfound fame and enhanced reputation will bring an increase in wealth for those in the literary and creative arts field.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Those in the analytical, research, statistical, or scientific fields will benefit from the good energies of this sector and find breakthroughs in their line of work. What seemed mired in uncertainty before will now seem crystal clear! If you're in the mining and construction industries, then you will find this a good month to make inroads into your competitors' markets. If you're reluctant to implement the changes that are required in your line of work, you'll find this an immensely challenging month indeed. It's best to adapt to the new requirements and stretch your creative-thinking muscles.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Speculative investments, especially in the futures market, will return favourable profits. This is a month where you can afford to play around with your money! If you're in merchant banking or equity dealing, you'll be able to negotiate some favourable deals and strike a good profit. Couples using this bedroom will need to be discreet and tolerant of each other, as disputes and arguments will be prominent this month. If there's nothing nice to say, then you're better off not saying anything! You may suffer a loss of income through legal issues caused by financial problems this month, so you will need to be on guard and be careful.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

If you're in the legal field, you will do well financially this month, but bear in mind that you won't be seeing the money and rewards for your efforts immediately. These can only be claimed at a later date. There is a heightened increase in risk of robberies and theft this month. Those who want to change careers or who want to start new businesses should do so this month, because you'll find that the opportunities to do are available, and the results are likely to be good.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Clarity of thought will favour those who need to make important decisions this month, so those of you facing big decisions needn't be overly worried! Just be calm and consider your options without too much of an emotional to-do, and you're likely to reach a conclusion easily. If you're involved in business, hostile takeovers from rivals and enemies are possible; so you need to be prepared with some retaliatory plans. Be ready for some fierce competition and be ready to fight back! Romantic interludes should be avoided this month, as it will only bring about trouble and heartache.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Hold your tongue, and you may just save yourself a world of potential trouble by doing so. This is not the month to fly off the handle and give in to your emotional outbursts! And see if you can delay or postpone any major business decisions to a more favourable period, because otherwise they're all likely to go wrong. If you're feeling sick and unwell, then using this room will only make your condition worse – so see if there's a chance for you to move into another room temporarily.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Professionals in the engineering and technical fields will find your skills and talents duly being recognised by your boss and superiors, resulting in a possible promotion and salary increment for you. This is definitely good news for you! But for those of you in the position of employer and boss, don't be too surprised or overwhelmed if you find your employees seemingly working against each other. They could just lack a clear sense of direction and a sense of purpose! This is when you need to step in and set some clear guidelines. Those of you using this room will also find your emotions a little too close to the surface this month. If you slip into depression and find yourself overwhelmed, don't hesitate to seek help from another – or even to consider professional help and therapy to get you back on your feet.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

If you're in the publishing or media industries, then you can gear up for a pretty spectacular month. You'll be able to make sizeable investments that can ring in quite a hefty chunk of profits - however, you'll need to be sure that you're not taking any shortcuts. Keep all the legal strings tied and all issues in place, and you're likely to do well. In fact, lawyers could come up in general for people using this room, as this month does bring about sudden and unexpected highly-charged problems. If you're not careful, it could necessitate the involvement of lawyers. Be patient and calm through it all. Couples who use this room will also find themselves at opposite ends of the spectrum, as misunderstandings are rife. Keep the lines of communication open to prevent emotional distance.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

If you're looking anew in the romance department, then there's no better place to scope out prospective mates than among your own circle of friends and acquaintances! Think about the awkward getting-to-know-you phase you can skip; plus you'll already have an idea of your prospective partner's good and bad points. You'll be able to make some quick investment gains this month, but don't attempt it alone. In order to move things forward, you'll need to rely on the advice of people in the know. If you're in the business of leisure and entertainment – specifically adventure and theme parks and games - you'll see the financial aspects of your business doing well this month.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

This month, the fires of romance will be easily snuffed out, and there is a high chance of short-lived relationships. However, in terms of finances, this is a fairly favourable month. Property investments that you may have dabbled in at some point in the past will start to show returns this month. At the same time, salaried workers and employees who are working for someone else will find this a good month to make some cash on the side. Explore all possibilities for freelance and side income – if it's based upon your interests and passions, it's a double bonus!

Health issues are of primary importance this month, so try to make your own wellbeing a priority. The possibility of limb injuries is high, and you may also experience some food poisoning issues. Also, get your blood checked to make sure nothing is amiss. Where work is concerned, those of you in the travel and communication industries will find this a bumper month in terms of increased status. You'll enjoy enhanced status and recognition in your field, and will likely also see promotions and advancements in your career.

As much as possible, you need to reign in the party animal in you this month and spend some quiet time at home. Too much time spent at bars and nightclubs will only invite unwanted trouble into your life at this point. However, you do require the center stage spot at this point in time - where your career is concerned. Any publicity you get as a result of the work you do will result in strong career advancement, so don't shy away from the limelight where your job's concerned! Females using this room who invest in enterprises and businesses located abroad will profit well from it, enough to make some sustainable financial gains.

July 7th - August 6th of 2010 癸未

Money is possible this month, through opportunities made and realised through real estate. However, it doesn't come easy, as misunderstandings and quarrels are likely to plague you before you're able to see the gains. Where your work or business is concerned, you're able to make some financial profits by attracting new clientele and customers to your enterprise. But you need to be ambitious and strong, as the only way to attract new people is to take on your competitors headfirst. Children and young people using this room will do well in their studies, as the sudden changes brought upon them in their work will benefit them and help them to obtain the results they want in their examinations.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

They say if you've got it, flaunt it, but you're better off keeping your extra wealth under wraps this month! There is a risk of robbery and theft for those using this room, so it's best to keep a low profile where money matters are concerned. Your relationships are rife with emotional undertones this month, so you'll be better off having a clear head about matters at hand. Separate reason from emotion and don't confuse your feelings with the issue at hand.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

People in the legal and judicial fields will do well this month, and see some recognition and advancement at the workplace. Others will find that this is a somewhat challenging month, as rivalries intensify and competition becomes strong. This will affect both employers and employees, and put a damper on the morale somewhat. It will be important to keep an eye on the future and see the bigger picture. The green-eyed monster rules the roost in the domestic sphere this month, and as a result, you're likely to be knee-deep in fights and quarrels. Keep your relationship free of suspicion and finger-pointing as much as possible.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Words said and words misunderstood will be the general theme this month, as misunderstandings are rife and relationships are likely to be a little tense as a result. This applies to both personal and professional ties, so you might want to be a little careful with what you say and how you convey your message. Negative forms or features located outside this particular sector and room will negatively affect any of your business dealings, as legal tussles are likely to be the result of it. But, in general, you will need to be sensitive and attuned to all the legal details in all of your business deals this month, because otherwise you're liable to face some problematic issues in the future.

You'll have to guard against jealousy creeping into relationship this month, or it could result in a lot of painful arguments. If you're able to put things into perspective and exercise a lot more patience, things will go smoothly for you. You should avoid using this room as a study, as there could be sudden disruptions that might cause your examination results to go in entirely a different direction than you hoped. Possible gossip or rumours might plague the people using this room, resulting in a loss of reputation or credibility. Endeavour to keep your head above water and avoid doing anything that will cause further speculation.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Stress and turbulent emotions might be the hallmarks of this month, but travelling about this month will help you enhance your reputation. Your public image will receive a much-welcomed boost. If you're working in a legal capacity, or in a legal advisory of any sort, your services will be much needed this month! Business will be booming for you.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

You might find it difficult to keep the true fires of love burning brightly if you're using this room this month. Short-lived romance may be one of the things you have to deal with. However, if you're a salaried employee and on a secure payroll, don't just wait for the cheque to come in at the end of the month. This is a good time to go scouring about for some opportunities to make extra side income. Finances are looking good in general, and if you've made property investments earlier, you're likely to see the gains now.

Couples using this room this month will have a happier and more contented time of it, and both of you are also doing well in your respective careers. As such, satisfaction is high in both personal and professional aspects. Try your best not to situate any children in this bedroom this month, as they are likely to become rebellious and difficult to control. The common word parents will be hearing is "No!" Employers should be careful with how you deal with interpersonal relations with your employees, as they will be somewhat disgruntled and prone to defiance. They are likely to challenge authority, and you will have a harder time managing this.

A change of sorts awaits you in your career this month, be it a pay raise or career advancement in the guise of a promotion. This is particularly true for people who are Gua #1. Investment and merchant bankers who engage in stock and corporate deals will make good financial profits. All deals that you strike at this point in time are favourable. If you're a couple using this room this month, you're likely to receive some good news that will put a smile on both your faces!

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

This will be a bumper month for you if you're in the legal industry, as there will be a strong demand for your skills and expertise. Your time will be spent constructively. But you do need to be wary of gossip, as this might plague you and cause a slight dent to your reputation. As such, it might be preferable for you to take a backseat this month and keep a low profile. Because jealousy and rivalry will be intense, even small missteps can result in possible legal tangles. You'll also find that relationships begun this month will be passionate, but short-term, flings rather than long-term partnerships with a potential future.

If you've been a hardworking, faithful employee in your company thus far, you'll find that you get your rewards and benefits this month! Your efforts will not go unrecognised. Those of you who run or manage a company should take it easy on your staff and employees this month, especially if you need to achieve your goals urgently. They will respond better, and produce better work, if you take the pressure off of them. If you're a professional sports player, you will find yourself outshining your competitors this month.

If you're using this room this month, you will find that most of your efforts go unnoticed by your boss or superiors. A certain feeling of invisibility might creep in! You will have to work doubly harder to obtain even the simplest form of acknowledgement. Don't bend over backwards to receive recognition - just roll with it and bear in mind that this time will pass soon. You might want to make an effort to invest in property transactions this month, as there is a chance of making good financial gains. People who use this bedroom this month will find that anxiety, stress and mental pressure will start to take its toll. Make an effort to learn how to distress and relax, as otherwise the repercussions will only affect you.

July 7th - August 6th of 2010 癸未

If you dabble in speculative investments in equities and stocks, you'll find that this a good month to make some profits of it and enjoy some financial gains. But resist the urge to shout about your profits to all and sundry, as it will be better for you to conceal this windfall. If you're an academic, or involved in the literary field, this will be a great month for bouts of new inspiration and ideas - and better still, these are likely to lead to good financial gains as well. Newly-weds who are using this bedroom will find this month to be a conducive one for enhancing growth and development.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Be extra careful when you're driving and on the road this month. The risk of accidents is particularly high. Don't cut corners and be cautious. Adolescents using this room this month will be particularly fractious and rebellious, and will continue to test the boundaries set by their parents. Parents will have to be particularly patient and unyielding, at the same time! If you work in the engineering industry, you'll find yourself on the good side of your bosses and superiors, and a pay raise is entirely possible this month!

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

If you're in the real estate industry, then make the most of the positive energies of this month! Consider investing in some worthy property deals, as you're likely to receive good profits in return. If you're working in the insurance field, you are also likely to expand your business. Business will be good and you'll benefit tremendously from it all. You'll also find yourself battling bouts of depression and dealing with tumultuous emotions and feelings.

North

If you're in the literary and academic fields, this is a good month for you to receive recognition and rewards that can lead to both fame and advancement! This is most definitely a beneficial month in store. Analysts will find this an exciting month, as your career will take off as a result of your smart and strategic positioning in the equities market. Partnerships and alliances do well this month, especially for those who invest in their future together.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

There will be a heightened risk of family discords and tension for this month. Try not to let your emotions be blown about by every wind, or you'll risk saying the wrong thing and offending people. Negative structures outside this room during the month indicate a high possibility of the son in the family turning against the father, or having some intense disagreements. Where work is concerned, you will find that there is a lot of internal fighting going on, leading to heightened office politics. It would be best to keep your head down and stay out of it. Health-wise, older men using this room should pay attention to any health problems that arise out of blood and lung disease or complications.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

There are some good news for investment and merchant bankers, as you'll be able to conclude certain deals in the share and equity markets that will bring you good profits. Those of you work a salaried job will finally gain long-awaited respect and accolades from your superiors – which could happily lead to a pay raise or even a promotion. If you're using this room this month, chances are your emotional landscape is a little dotted with anxiety. You may be feeling somewhat fragile emotionally, and prone to suffering from excessive loneliness. It would be the best time not to retreat from friends and loved ones, but to try to spend more time with them to assuage the isolation you feel.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Where health is concerned, elderly people should be on guard against possible kidney ailments. Get yourself checked out early if things seem amiss. Couples who are using this room will also find that they are more prone to arguments and fights. If you find yourself at it like cats and dogs, then you should take some time away and consider going on a vacation. If you run a business with a partner, you will also find yourself bickering over the slightest thing. It will be a matter of each of you attempting to assert control over the other.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

At work, you will need to protect and act in your own best interests. Otherwise, you will find that rivals who appear in the guise of friendly colleagues will be looking to undermine you this month. Be careful about how much you reveal to others, especially your ideas about new developments and projects. However, your personal and professional relationships are positive and smooth this month. In terms of finances, this might be a good month to consider changing homes if it's something you've wanted to do for awhile.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

If you work as a judge, or in the legal field, or are a doctor - you'll find this a month when your services are really needed. People will come to you for your counsel and help, especially when times seem particularly hard. It will be a good time to give the best service you possibly can to cement your reputation. This will not be the ideal bedroom to use if you're looking to start a family, so it would be best to avoid it if you're serious about doing so.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

As a salaried employee, you will find it hard to make money this month, no matter how high you jump or how flexible your backbending is! The best solution is to give up trying so hard and pay more attention to yourself, without compromising the quality of your work. If you're in the legal field, your judicious and fair skills will be in demand! Your current clients just can't stay away from you, and new ones will come flocking, as well. Make the most of it and use this opportunity to gain new business.

This is a difficult month for those of you in merchant banking, shares, and stock trading, as your deals will sometimes fall flat. Your profits will start to dwindle, as a result, and cause some serious losses. In general, this is not a good month for you to get involved in the financial markets at all, as sustaining heavy losses might be the only result that arises out of this. Women who use this room should be careful of illnesses and accidents, which could lead to some grave consequences.

If you're working in the media and consulting industries, or in marketing, you'll find that investing in property will actually lead to profits. Make the most of this favourable time to do so. If by chance, you find yourself having to spend more time with your in-laws this month, you will face an increased risk of arguments and tension. To prevent unwanted conflicts, it might be better to just take a holiday, or use alternative accommodation. Where health is concerned, women are more likely to suffer from gastrointestinal problems. Don't ignore these problems and hope that it will go away, as it will only likely become worse with time.

July 7th - August 6th of 2010 癸未

If your work involves logistics or strategy and deduction in any way, you will find this month to be quite a challenge. As such, if you're looking to hire fresh minds, it might be best to defer this to a more favourable time in the future. Hiring new people now could result in getting the stubborn and less-intelligent (even idle) employees who could only cause you more loss than gain. If you're single and on the lookout, then this is the month when romance could strike from Cupid's bow! Make an effort to expand your social circle and meet new people.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

If you find yourself of weak and poor health of late, don't just hope for the symptoms to go gway. It would be better for you in the long run to get it checked out sooner rather than later. If you're thinking of making some additional income through investment ventures, you can do no better than going into real estate this month. You're likely to see some good profits as a result. If you're a married woman, however, it will behoove you to have your guard up! There are sweet-talking wealthy men about who would only want to use you for their own gains, so don't be swayed.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Domestic disharmony might be the theme for the month, because you'll find yourself mired in arguments with your family members more frequently. You'll need to exercise greater patience and tolerance. Try not to dwell only on the negative side of things, and see the good side of everyone even when in the midst of an argument. If you're a student using this room and you're writing examinations this month, your results might not be favourable you might want to consider temporarily using another room. In general, confusion reigns for this period of time and, so you'll find it difficult to make important decisions.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Those of you embarking in new relationships this month should not take things seriously, as you may be putting in more hope than is necessary. Things may not be what they seem, and after awhile the real situation will shine through. The females in this house might tend to be stubborn and foolish, which means that no important decisions should be made this month. Otherwise, you risk looking back on these decisions later and wondering why on earth you made them!

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

If you're in real estate and property development, you're likely to find this a good month to make beneficial property investments. The gains to be derived are likely to be profitable. If you've been gunning for a promotion, or seeking to be elevated to a higher position in society, then this could be a very fulfilling month for you. You'll be able to attain and realise your expectations and goals. Those of you with heart and eye problems will find that these problems will aggravate you this month.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

If there are elderly ladies using this room in your house this month, they will have to pay very close attention to their health. This is particularly because they are susceptible to gastrointestinal ailments and illnesses that can lead to more serious and major problems if left untreated. If you're living with your in laws, this is a month for you to maintain your distance. Even if you don't live in the same household, try to minimise your contact with them as your interactions will be frosty.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

You'll find disagreements and arguments rife this month, and if you get too carried away and become too ensared in these quarrels – legal problems are what you're likely to face! You may also find yourself entangled in arguments with your spouse or partner. Bearing this in mind, it will be best to bite your tongue more often than not, than to give in to the temptation of saying exactly what you feel! Those of you who have outstanding fines and summonses, especially traffic-related ones, clear them up this month, or the law could catch up with you sooner than you think! This applies to your tax returns, as well.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

Males will run into health problems this month, which will largely present itself as stomach ailments. Take extra care of your health and don't neglect any existing medical conditions. It would be best to stay away from all speculative investments this month. If you're in the engineering business, however, it is the right time to ao all out and find new clients. Parents will find that children using this bedroom will be prone to being more defiant and stubborn than usual! Move them to another room if the situation becomes uncontrollable.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Unfortunately, people using this bedroom will be plagued by mental and emotional instability. If some of you are already prone to depression or mental illness, you might want to consider using another room. Those among you who are footloose and fancyfree when it comes to finances (ie. comfortably well-off!) will find this a generally good month that is free of troubles. It's also a good month for speculative investments in the defense industries, as it will produce good profits. Ensure that you do all the research and groundwork beforehand.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

People involved in the logistics, courier, and tourism businesses will enjoy increased profits this month. You will be able to make quite a comfortable income from those gains. For those among you whose jobs at work involve strategic thinking or analysis, there will be a chance for you to advance your career and create quite a name for yourself this month. In general, the outlook for health and relationships is stable - so you don't need to worry about anything, as there will be very few problems.

Some of you who use this room will find yourselves more susceptible to flus and colds, or illnesses that attack your respiratory systems. Therefore, you should maintain a healthy lifestyle and change your daily habits so that you boost your immune system. If a particular illness, even though minor, takes a long time to cure, be sure to get professional medical treatment. It's a good time to make an appointment with your boss to discuss possible salary increments or promotions. Beware that there are jealous, resentful individuals keen to bring you down, though.

Couples who are newly-married will find this a good month, as their relationship will be harmonious and intimate, with many happy moments enjoyed together. Salaried employees who have been patiently waiting a promotion, and further recognition, will find their wishes being granted this month. In general, it's a favourable month for property and gilt investments. So, don't be afraid to make a bold move, as the gains are likely to be very good.

July 7th - August 6th of 2010 癸未

A favourable month is in store for you, especially if you're in the field of academics, or sitting for a major examination. You're likely to pass all tests with flying colours! For those of you required to travel for work and business purposes, you will find that your trip yields immensely successful outcomes. People who are in steady, committed relationships will find that ties are more harmonious than ever, and that your partner is as-equally sincere and committed as you are.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Those among you who are involved in professional and competitive sports will find this a good month, as you'll be able to obtain good results in all your tournaments and competitions. Faithful employees will find that all your efforts will be rewarded this month with more than just a pat on the back, so expect some financial gians to come your way! Elderly members of the household should be treated with care and understanding, as they might become somewhat stubborn when it comes to health issues this month. Bear in mind that they might be more afraid than anything else.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

If you're keen on increasing your profits, this will be the month to do it. However, try not to be too hasty or careless when it comes to signing any legal contracts or documents, as you may succumb to the fraudulent manipulations of some unscrupulous people. Or, you might also end up getting much less than what you expected. This is not a good room for couples that are looking to start a family. Where health is concerned, occupants could suffer from kidney or head-related ailments and injuries.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Couples using this room will have a better month, as there are improved communication ties. You will be able to enjoy a smoother, more intimate relationship that will leave you both feeling fulfilled. Those among you working in the marketing and consulting fields, or in research and development, will find that business starts to pick up this month. There is also a very good chance of promotion among the more senior female employees. Travel bodes well for you this month, as you'll be able to close lucrative property deals while you're abroad.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Elderly males using this room should be careful of certain health problems, particularly if you are susceptible to diseases or ailments affecting your lungs and blood circulation system. Those of you who hold a position of authority and power at work will have to be prepared for possible defiance from your subordinates. Parents will face a similar situation at home, with your children. People who dabble in the share market will stand to make some good financial gains this month.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

You will find that your success at work will increase for reasons that you are not exactly clear about. However, there is no reason to be worried – just enjoy it! Those among you in the real estate and property businesses will find that you profit from a lot of your dealings this month. Salaried employees who are looking for ways to increase your pay and gain greater benefits will stand a chance of fulfilling your ambitions this month.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Be prepared for intense business rivalry at work, which could lead to intense backstabbing and jealousy. You will need to watch your back, and avoid getting involved in an argument or confrontation. Otherwise, it would get blown-out of proportion. Therefore, make an effort to keep your emotions under control and strive to stay in control of the situation, instead of being overly-reactive. Politicians will find their reputation improving among the masses this month, so enjoy your burst of popularity and make the most of it. In general, people using this room should guard against kidney troubles and must closely monitor their health.

This month, females who use this room have to be careful of potentially illicit relationships. These relationships could very well end in disaster, especially if there is water located outside of this sector. Health-wise, you need to be careful of potential head injuries and brain problems this month. In general, however, most people will find that opportunities crop up quite a bit, resulting in profits and maybe even a substantial increase in income.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Those among you who work as surgeons will find that there is an increase in demand for your services, most likely through word of mouth for your skills. At the workplace, there will be increased competition and rivalry, and this is largely caused by the female figures. As such, there could be plenty of arguments and disputes taking place, and you will do well to stay out of it. Those of you who are parents should not become overly involved in your careers to the point of neglecting your children, as it will only bring a significant amount of troubles.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

You'll be able to gain some beneficial results through real estate ventures, but bear in mind that it will inevitably lead to some stress and pressure. Even when you're working hard for financial gain, you have to ensure that you get a proper amount of rest so as to not over-exert yourself. Mental and emotional problems are prevalent this month, so for those of you already prone to these issues, extra care should be taken to prevent the issue from worsening.

Pregnant women should avoid using this room this month, as it could lead to complications - or in the worst-case scenario, a miscarriage. Likewise, students and scholars should also avoid this room if you're sitting for important examinations. Try to use another room if possible, as this room will likely bring about poor results. It's a good month for you to invest in property and real estate, so make an effort to select the best type of property that gives you maximum returns.

This month, you'll have to be a lot more skeptical than usual as certain people will make an effort to come off like butter wouldn't melt in their mouths! Remember, if something or someone seems too good to be true, it probably is. Be careful of the papers and documents you are required to sign, and check it through several times to ensure that you don't misinterpret the fine print. Students and scholars should avoid using this bedroom for their studies and revision. The energies here are not conducive for such work. Avoid making any major decisions this month, as well.

This is a good bedroom to use if you're looking to become involved in spiritual issues, or if you wish to develop your spiritual cultivation. Those of you who work as salaried employees should be careful of falling into arguments and disputes at the workplace this month, because if it gets particularly nasty or serious, it could end in legal issues. Those among you who are involved in romantic relationships will find yourself also embroiled in quarrels and arguments.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

There are plenty of good opportunities and openings this month that enable you to make more money. However, don't be too excited or greedy and become carried away, as the constant pursuit for more will only lead to more stress and discontent. If you're single, you'll be happy to know that Cupid seems to be on your side this month! There will be opportunities to meet your ideal partner. At the same time, do closely observe the operations of your business if you have one.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Couples, either those married or in long-term relationships, will face arguments and disharmony this month. Both parties need to remain calm and tolerant, as otherwise the situation is likely to deteriorate into a tense one. If you're close to cutting a deal this month, you should not be deceived by appearances. Probe deeply into each one and evaluate them objectively, otherwise, you risk spending quite a bit of money. In general, you need to be careful of all business deals this month - as rivals and competitors are out to deceive you.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

If you are interested in spiritual or metaphysical knowledge and practices, you may want to use this bedroom. But do ensure that you check outside this sector to ensure that there are no negative features or structures outside, as otherwise the opposite effects are likely, and you will run into obstacles and problems. Real estate agents, as well as those looking to sell their houses, should make their best offer to prospective buyers. This enables you to reap good financial benefits.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

This is a very good month to make large investments in property and real estate, as the returns will be extremely good. Therefore, if you've long had an eye on one, don't hesitate to acquire it at this point in time. Those among you in the upper-social circles of society will find that this month brings with it plenty of opportunities to rub shoulders with the rich and famous, and you will be able to be introduced to the crème-de-la-crème of society. However, those of you who are married should be careful that your spouse is not seduced by a rich and powerful person who is only out to have a good time.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Those of you who are married should minimise the amount of contact you have with your in-laws. If you do so, you'll be able to eliminate quite a bit of troubles and conflicts that will serve to increase you stress. In general, however, this is a good room to use. Ensure that you manage all your work-related stress well, as otherwise it could start to affect your health. This could appear in the form of stomach ulcers and digestive-tract issues. Take it easy, and give yourself plenty of rest.

January 6th – February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Be careful when you drive and are on the road this month, as you might risk getting into a traffic accident. Don't be reckless and negligent when you're in the driver's seat, especially. Real estate and property deals that are struck this month are likely to bring about profitable gains. However, personal relationships will be rather strained and tense this month, so do exercise plenty of tact and sensitivity when dealing with your partner.

Bedroom Sector Main Door East North

It will be a good month for married couples and newly-weds who use this bedroom, as their relationships become more intimate and harmonious. Those among you involved in the literary field should look for publishers in order to put out new work this month, as it could very well result in fame and fortune for you. This is not the time to be shy and retiring about your talents! Scholars and students approaching important examinations this month should use this room to sleep in or to study, in order to benefit from the good energies that are present here.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Your good reputation and honour will be enhanced this month so you should use this time to promote yourself aggressively, but not too aggressively that you turn people off! A modicum of good grace will always help, especially when you know that your talents and abilities will then do the larger work of speaking for itself. If you are expecting to conclude deals in the entertainment industry this month, you should take advantage of this, as the outcomes will move in your favour. Those in a committed relationship will find this a good month to formalise your partnership. If you've long wanted to pop the question and ask about marriage, this would be the ideal time to do it.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

People working in the agriculture, forestry or dairy farming will have a good month, and should use it to further your name in your industry, or to consider expanding and acquiring new farms. Marital problems are likely to affect couples using this sector so spouses should try to travel more to give one another more space, and to allow yourself to miss each other. This can lead to greater intimacy between the two of you in the long run. The elderly people using this room will face the risk of stroke or arterial blockage related to circulation this month, so they will need to exercise extra caution.

Expectant mothers should avoid using this bedroom this month, as you otherwise risk having pregnancy complications or a possible miscarriage. Females who are ready to enter the world of romance and dating again should be careful of the people they choose. There is a strong risk that you may fall for someone with a shady personality, or one who is not who he seems. Those of you who make a living from your artistic or creative talents, you may need to travel this month to earn your keep. It will, however, be ultimately worth your while and prove to be immensely beneficial.

People who are seeking new romantic involvements will find yourself struck by Cupid's arrow this month, and will have favourable luck meeting new partners. Artistic and creative people will also benefit from using this sector, particularly if you are seeking to market their skills abroad. Those of you who are parents may find that your children seem to be more prone to picking fights with others. You might want to consider relocating them to another bedroom. You certainly don't need them to be continuously engaged in some form of unfriendly or unhealthy rivalry!

This month, you will need to tread carefully, as hidden agendas and ulterior motives may affect your business affairs. Make sure that you fully understand what you're in for, before you finalise any important deals. Pay attention to the small details so that you don't miss out on anything. On the domestic front, you could well experience some trouble arising from a misunderstanding between the ladies in your household; particularly between mothers and daughters-in-law. Be fair and tactful in handling any such situation, or you risk making it worse. Health-wise, keep a look-out for ailments affecting your abdominal region, or even possible stomach and pancreatic troubles.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

You'll want to use this bedroom if you're sitting for a major examination soon, or happen to dabble in the academic, literary or media fields. The energies here are conducive for just such endeavours. Newly-weds and couples in a committed relationship will also find this room to be an ideal bedroom for romance and cultivating solid, loving ties. However, do be careful of any significant water forms or features outside this sector, as these indicate the possibility of scandals or infidelity instead, with the possibility of betrayal.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Your fine negotiation skills will be able to net you substantial financial gains from your investments, so go ahead and seize every opportunity that presents itself. This is also an ideal month to establish a joint-venture or partnership with another party, more so if you're looking to expand your business or capitalise on a larger portion of equity ownership. Mergers and expansions will bode well for you at this point. Those among you in a steady, committed relationship and wish to take your relationship to the next level, this will be the ideal month to do it, preferably over the course of a romantic dinner or weekend getaway.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

On the domestic front, problems with the in-laws may plague those who share a home. Therefore, it is best to avoid contact or even move away for the month to prevent any major disagreements and quarrels. Those of you working in metaphysics and alternate therapies industries should use the media to promote and market your business, as you will find it very fruitful and beneficial. However, most of you in general have to be careful of female subordinates or superiors causing problems at work by making sudden unexpected changes this month.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Couples and newly weds will want to avoid using this room to sidestep any unnecessary tension and conflicts that could arise. If this isn't possible, be tactful and tolerant when dealing with your loved one, especially when arguments occur. Furniture manufacturers and shop-owners will find this a favorable month. However, it is always advisable to carefully go over all legal documents before signing. Otherwise, you risk inviting unnecessary future complications. You'll want to use this bedroom for all meditative, religious or spiritual pursuits, if you're so inclined. The energies present here will allow your mind to be at peace, and allow you to reach a greater sense of spiritual fulfillment.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Those of you in the financial and banking industries might need to travel abroad to conclude deals. Grab the opportunities, because these overseas deals will yield many profits. This is also a good month for people involved in professional and competitive sports, as your reputation enjoys a good boost. However, you'll need to be prepared that the financial benefits won't be as quick to arrive. Where health is concerned, lung or kidney problems are likely for people who use this bedroom, particularly if there are negative features located outside. It would be safer to avoid using this sector for the duration of the month.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

This will not be a very good month for most endeavours, unfortunately. Marital bliss won't be there to be enjoyed for those among you who are married, so give each other some breathing space this month, and be patient. Things will get better once this month is out. Keep a sharp eve out for any negative features outside this sector, as these indicate the risk of a possible infection, or worse, liver or breast cancer. Where finances are concerned, hold on to your money, and do not invest in real estate or property at this point in time. If you do, you'll only recoup losses.

If your employer has recently undergone a financially-challenging time, you need to be a little more patient in expecting any extra benefits, increments, or advancements. This is likely to affect everyone in the company, across the board, so it will be best not to expect too much. However, this room is likely to be beneficial for students and scholars. Your exam results will be good if you use this room for your revision and learning throughout the month.

March 6th – April 4th of 2010 己卯

Matters of the heart enjoy a significant boost from use of this room this month. This is especially true if you're already in a committed, loving relationship. Make an effort to cultivate closer ties, and you'll start to see results in your partnership. In general, it would be good for people to use this room more frequently this month. If you do, you stand to benefit from receiving acclaim and recognition from others for your talents and efforts.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Those of you who own or run your own business and are looking to expand, or are interested in diversifying your area of commercial operations should definitely use this room to enjoy favourable results. If you work hard and expand your network of contacts, you should be able to enjoy the results of your hard work. But you shouldn't be afraid of putting in the necessary legwork to achieve the results you want. In addition, make and effort to travel this month, as it will bring about some wealth luck as well!

The energies present in this room for this month augurs very well for academic luck, so children or students whose exams are just around the corner should use this bedroom to sleep in to enjoy maximum results. In addition, they should strive to use this room in which to perform their studies and revision. If you are in sales and marketing, you will want to double your efforts this month and pursue every business opportunity that comes your way. Success and financial gains are likely to swiftly follow. You may also want to use this room for meditative or spiritual pursuits.

It's a good month for all relationship endeavours for people using this room. Those of you who have long been involved in committed relationships and wish to take their relationships to the next level (ie. propose!) should do so this month. Couples who wish to start a family will also benefit from using this room. Business partnerships and joint ventures also fare well this month. If you are almost nearing the end of a deal or negotiation, this would be a very good time to gun for a spectacular closing!

July 7th - August 6th of 2010 癸未

Wealth luck will be particularly favorable for those of you who depend on your network of contact and business allies to secure revenue. But you need to remember that moderation is always the key to success and a well-balanced life. You will only be doing yourself a disfavor by overworking or neglecting your health, as you could well end up suffering from fatigue, stress, cardiac problems or even eye ailments. It would also be advisable to spare some time to hire a qualified electrician to check the wiring and electrical system of your home or workplace, to minimize the risk of a fire hazard.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Bear in mind that you should drive carefully this month, and ensure that the necessary insurance policies are up-to-date, as there's a possibility of a travel-related accident. Be extra cautious when you're on the road, in general. Your earlier investments will yield substantial gains this month, so now's the time to cash in on them. If you are a boss or employer, you can expect employees to be a little more defiant this month, and they will be tempted to question your authority. Make an effort to understand the grievances of your staff before you decide to take any action.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

This is not the month to embark on anything major. Avoid concluding that all-so-important business deal or making any important investments this month. These may cause more losses than gain. Instead, wait for the right opportunity to make your move. The presence of any negative features or structures outside this sector of your home or office poses the threat of food-poisoning to those who use this sector frequently throughout the month.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Females who work in the marketing, public relations and sales industries will find this to be a most rewarding month. But pay attention to your marriage and relationship, as otherwise your spouse may end up feeling neglected. In general, most of you will find that your diligence and commitment to your job earns you the recognition of your superiors and colleagues. You will be able to use this to your advantage by expanding your network of contacts to bring you financial and monetary rewards.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Students due to sit for important examinations soon should use bedroom to study and sleep in, if possible, as the energies present here will be very favourable for creating good results. Beware of the presence of any significant body of water within or beyond this sector, however, as it might not bode well for romantic relationships. Partners may stray and betray one another, or be tempted by an external party and succumb to an affair.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Make an effort to use this bedroom more frequently this month. Chances are, you stand to benefit from your efforts, as your abilities and skills will be recognised by others, especially by those in positions of authority. Those involved in the travel, tourism or engineering industries will find this month to be a relatively profitable one. Therefore, go all out in cultivating all the opportunities that come your way, and don't allow yourself too rest on your laurels too much this month.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

It's a good month to embark on some travel, especially if it's related to work and business. Doing so will enable you to enjoy favourable wealth luck, and lay the groundwork for future positive financial activities. Look out, though, for any sharp or negative features outside this sector. The presence of such features only increases the risk of heart disease or eye problems. Therefore, if the signs present themselves early on, get yourself thoroughly checked out by a medical professional to ensure that nothing is wrong.

Bedroom Sector Main Door East West

The good news: romance is on the cards this month for people using this room! However, you should expect short-term passionate flings rather than anything lasting and concrete. If you keep this mind, and keep your expectations low, you should be able to enjoy it for what it's worth. There should be an improvement in interpersonal relationships amongst family members and friends at this point in time, so use this time to strengthen your ties and cultivate strong bonds. In general, this is a month to mind your own business because if you meddle in other people's affairs, you're likely to incite anger and resentment, rather than garner any form of gratitude.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Those among you involved in professional and competitive sports will find this a very favourable month for your respective fields and disciplines. You'll be able to augment your reputation, and garner some acclaim. In a sense, it's all about putting your name out there this month! The presence of a Nobleman star allows most of you to derive help from others in order to fulfill your goals and ambitions, leading to much success. However, be careful of those who try to use you to fulfill their own gains.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

This is a tough month for business owners. All your attempts at progress and moving forward will be stymied, so those of you who own your own enterprise need to think in less ambitious terms this month. Instead of planning how to grow and expand and move forward, consider consolidating your position instead. Any sustained efforts in the former will only lead to setbacks anyway, so you might as well use this period of time in a more constructive way.

This is a good room for children and scholars to use as a study, especially if they are facing important examinations this month. It generally bodes well for academics and exam preparations, resulting in favourable results in tests. Those involved in ports and transportation will do well financially this month, as deals increase and profits also start to multiply accordingly! Couples are likely to benefit from the good energies of this room for the month, particularly if there is a well-situated mountain outside.

Business booms for those in the furniture or publishing industry this month, so do your best to try to attract more customers – because it will result in greater profits. Look for overseas and offshore business opportunities in particular, as those will enhance the bottom line even more. Couples using this room may experience some marital discord this month. Patience and tolerance will be needed in liberal amounts so as to not further aggravate the tension in the relationship.

This will be the ideal month for you to offload property from your property portfolio, as it will result in good financial gains. Think about what you need to do, and then proceed to act on it shrewdly! If you are pregnant, it would be best to avoid this room this month. Otherwise, you risk some complications or even a possible miscarriage. Do not accept remarks or information at face value from anyone this month, as you are surrounded by people who are only out to look after their own interests. You won't be getting the most accurate answer, and may even have the wool pulled over your eyes.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

This is a good month for those in the creative industries, as there is a chance for you to make a name for yourself and get into the limelight. Good financial profits are set to follow, so what are you waiting for? Those in committed relationships should be careful of temptation this month, as this will lead to tension with your partner. Avoid inciting their jealousy or suspicion by getting too flirtatious with someone else, even if you think it's only harmless. There are many mentors and helpful people around you this month, so go ahead and embark on your most ambitious endeavours - you are likely to get all the support and assistance you need.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Relationships should be good this month so if you wish to take it to a new level, you should do so and don't let your fear or inhibitions hold you back. Remember, fortune - and romantic luck - favour the brave! Let your intelligence and innate wisdom flower, as it will lead to opportunities that bring about a promotion, or a greater sense of authority at the workplace. This is the month to show the boss what you are made of, so don't hold back! It is time to gain the rewards for your hard work. Health-wise, be careful of eye and heart problems if there are negative formations outside this sector.

It will prove to be a favourable month for employees who are hoping for a career promotion, as the results are likely to be quite spectacular this year. Evidently, all your hard work and initiative have impressed all the right people! Business owners will make money this month, particularly if you are in the oil, gas, or mining industries. Travelling can bring about positive benefits at this time, and this includes possible new investors with new venture opportunities and partnership deals.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

A fairly competitive month is in store for you at work, with office politics at their height. You need to avoid getting involved with your rivals, as you are sure to end up on the losing side. Avoid also taking sides in any feuds that seem to be taking place, especially the subtle ones! This month, romance is best left alone. Not only are things likely to end badly, but it might also tarnish your reputation. In terms of personal safety, avoid driving while under the influence of alcohol this month, as there is a good chance that you will get caught and have to pay a heavy fine, or sustain a few injuries.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Politicians and public servants will have a good month enjoying excellent public support and may even find themselves rising up the ranks in government or in their parties. You will be able to receive plenty of help from people this month, and they will help you break past some of the more persistent barriers and overcome those pesky obstacles. Still, be wise and discerning about whom you choose to trust, as there are plenty of wolves dressed in sheep's clothing out to take you for a little spin. If there was ever a time you need to put on your skeptic's cloak, this month will be it.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Romantic relationships are plagued by the shadow of the greeneyed monster this month. As much as possible, couples should avoid using this bedroom to avoid inviting undue trouble. In addition, pregnant women should move out this room and into another where possible. There is a likelihood of serious complications, or even a miscarriage, if they continue to use this room.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

Fire hazards will pose a serious problem this month and electrical wiring should be checked where it is old and in need of replacement. Don't forget to also double-check all your gas and stove outlets. This month, those of you who own or manage a company should delay all investment deals and focus on employee motivation instead, as distraction by monetary issues could result in financial ruin. Your mentors and superiors are not around this month and as a result, you may find your business contracts and prospects lessening or drying up. You will need to make more of an effort to keep yourself visible.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Conservative property deals will bring financial gains this month, but you need to ensure that extreme caution needs is exercised throughout the deals. Relationships don't fare very well, and those using this bedroom should be extra patient with their loved ones and exercise a greater a sense of tolerance. This month, cutting words will have long-lasting hurtful effects on others. Younger children in the home may have health problems this month in the form of muscle and tendon injuries, so parents may need to keep a watchful eye.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

It's a tough and difficult month in store for lawyers, as you will have trouble putting your case across. Hence, winning cases also become marginally harder. Communication is at an all time low this month, so couples using this bedroom should be careful about what is said, and also what is done, as this could exacerbate any strains and tensions and prolong it for an indefinite length of time. Miscommunications will be a problem this month and those in the cell phone and IT industry will find that losses may be incurred.

Where health is concerned this month, you would be better off taking care of your own health, and seeking immediate treatment from your doctor at the first sign of an illness. Don't neglect or put off attending to obvious warning signs. Do not engage in any high-risk ventures this month, especially where property and real estate are concerned. The chances of incurring huge amounts of losses are very high! And by 'high-risk' ventures, we are also talking about gambling, games of chance and speculative investments. Leave the lottery and numbers game to another time, when the chances of winning are higher!

Those of you who are involved in the tourism, travel and/or media business, this might be a challenging month for you. As such, refrain from making any major decisions this month. Chances are, you would already be in a confused and irritable state of mind, and this doesn't augur well for your sense of reasoning and judgment. Expectant mothers should not use this bedroom, as this will only result in pregnancy complications. Where possible, move into another bedroom for the time-being.

Where relationships are concerned, your relationship with your partner will also be affected, due to a possible interference by a third party. This could lead to some pretty tense arguments. If you're working in the tourism, courier and logistics industries, you'll find yourself having to double your efforts this month. Help or support from friends, superiors and mentors will not be forthcoming, but don't give up easily as perseverance will pay off.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Those of you involved in professional and competitive sports should watch how you go about in practice and competition, to prevent against injuring your tendons, ligaments or bones. Keep an eagle eye on the property market this month, and seize any good deals that come your way! Should you, however, encounter any hostile competition that threatens to derail your investment plans in the property concerned, pull out of the deal immediately. You might also want to be on the lookout for malicious, petty-minded people who will be out to backstab you and spread rumours and gossip.

This is not a month to get involved in any major decisions or business deals, as these will not end up as good investments and may even result in some losses. There is a possibility of concluding property deals this month, but as soon as there are any hints of volatile, argumentative bargaining involved in securing the investment, you need to withdraw from the deal. It will definitely not be worth the fight. Gastrointestinal problems will plague elderly females using this room, so they will need to take greater care of their health.

Those among you who make a living as counsellors, life coaches, and trainers will find this month a bumper month – as you will literally be inundated with new clients seeking your help and assistance. If you work as senior personnel in your corporation, you should be vigilant against third parties who are out to extort large sums of money from you. Keep your friends close, but keep your enemies closer! If you've long been involved in a tumultuous and unsettled personal or professional relationship, you'll find this to be the month that puts it all to an end.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Accidents and mishaps may plague you this month, so be careful when you're out travelling... even if this means venturing out your front door! However, this particularly applies to road-related mishaps – so be careful when on the road or when driving. If you have children, you will find that your teenage daughters are apt to be more rebellious than usual this month. Open the channels of communication to find out exactly what's wrong, instead of reacting with emotional anger.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Avoid investing in high-risk portfolios this month, because you'll only stand to lose – not gain! In general, it's a month to keep an eagle eye on all your financial expenditures. It's easy for your money to trickle out of your fingers at this point, and you don't want to see that happen after all the effort you've put in. Be especially vigilant, as there is a heightened risk of armed robberies and thefts. In terms of health, do consider relocating to another bedroom if that's possible; otherwise, you're at risk of suffering from ulcers, gallstones, and gastrointestinal issues.

If you want to make money at this point in time, it's time to ask for help! Others with accumulated expertise and wisdom in financial matters will able to offer you advice that is worth gold – so listen up. But do be careful whom you approach, as there is a proliferation of fraudsters lurking about, just waiting to pull the wool over your eyes. You'll be feeling mentally and emotionally down this month, and just feeling out-of-spirits in general. Don't beat yourself over it, as everyone feels this way in varying degrees at different points in their lives. However, if it feels like unmanageable depression, or simply something you can't cope with – then do not hesitate to seek professional help, or simply see a counsellor or therapist.

Pregnant ladies should consider moving out to another room where possible. Try to make alternative arrangements where possible, as otherwise you will suffer the risk of complications or a possible miscarriage. People working in the communications industry will find this a good month to make some sound financial investments. If you're an academic, or a teacher and educator, you are likely to gain recognition for your hard work thus far if you use this bedroom.

If you own a business, you can relax a little this month because you look set to expect an increase in customers and clientele. This is largely through referrals and word of mouth, so give yourself a pat on the back and carry on doing what you-re doing – whatever it is, it is proving to be good! It will be fine to dabble in quick investments, as you are likely to see some gains. But be careful, because there is also an increased risk of fraud and theft. Your relationship boat is being rocked hard by tumultuous waves this month, so consider docking at an island somewhere far away so the both of you can have some much-needed peace and time alone together!

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

The threat for expectant ladies is still present when using this room, so it might be best for them to consider using another room altogether for the duration of their pregnancy. Elderly females using this bedroom will also be at risk for health problems, and this will appear in the form of stomach and abdomen troubles. It will be a profitable month for doctors in general, due to people recognising your expertise and wanting to be treated by only the best medical practitioner – you!

Fire hazards are a serious threat this month. Protect yourself by double-checking all your electrical wiring and systems, preferably by an experienced professional. Don't just limit this to your home if you own a business, get your office and work space checked out too, especially if you sleep in this room. Decisions are best left to another time; both for professional and personal ones. Injuries are also a risk this month, and it's possible that you might suffer from a broken limb if you engage in risky contact sports, or extreme physical activities.

In matters of the heart, single people should avoid expecting a serious relationship out of anything that has just begin. The outlook for long-term relationships is dim, but that doesn't mean that you can't enjoy a few casual relationships and gain some valuable dating experience! If you've been huddled away in your lab or workspace, busily crafting something new and ingenious - this is the time to share your inventions with the world! There will be good publicity and word-of-mouth that can help propel your career forward. Negative structures located outside this sector can lead to an increased risk of fire hazards.

Certain niggling health troubles crop up for people using this room this month, and although they are by no means serious, it can still be somewhat troublesome. Pay attention to any throat ailments, or to toothaches and gum infections. Get it checked out as soon as possible instead of avoiding it and hoping it goes away! Communication is at an all-time low this month, so you're likely to get entangled in miscommunication and misunderstandings with the people closest to you. It's not a month for love, either, as your new infatuation or romance is likely to lead to scandal, not great happiness!

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Ah, the sweet young female with the silver tongue and the face of an angel - the bane of red-blooded men everywhere. This month, men have to be careful of just this sort of temptation, as otherwise you'll only find yourself entangled in a compromising and embarrassing situation! Guard against frivolous temptation. Be also careful with your personal safety this month, as there is a risk of robbery and theft. If you run a business, avoid embarking on any new ventures, and instead, seek to eliminate internal fraud committed by dishonest employees.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

It's a volatile month for relationships, as disagreements caused by jealousy and suspicion are likely to cause some gloom in love ties. You'll have to make more of an effort to keep the relationship on an even keel. People working in the legal and judicial fields will do well this month, because you're bound to be inundated by requests for your services. Elderly women using this room and prone to stomach ailments might want to consider temporarily moving into another room for the month.

Communication in general will suffer from a temporary collapse this month so don't rely on word-of-mouth deals and agreements. Get everything down in black and white. Likewise, don't count on people delivering the right message to others this month, as the threat of lawsuits is high. Where possible, have a written message prepared instead. Romance also takes a backseat to bickering this month, as miscommunication is rife, driving a wedge between partners. In that same vein, be prepared for arguments and conflicts at the workplace. Understand that this is a temporary alitch, and avoid overreacting to explosive situations.

Those of you who have steadily been working hard and putting in extra labour will find your efforts being recognised, and perhaps even rewarded, this month. Continue to do the good work – even when it seems that you're plugging away alone, someone is always observing! If you work as a politician or civil servant, you need to keep a low profile this month in order to avoid unnecessary scandals and gossip. If you invest in properties, you're likely to see good profits this month – but you'll need to travel to meet with quality buyers and close your deals.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Elderly ladies using this room should be aware of potential health troubles in store. There will be signs of illnesses, and even if these seem minor, you need to get them checked out to ensure that it isn't anything serious. Students who will be sitting for examinations soon should avoid using this room this month, because it will not be conducive for your learning and studies. There is some female trouble to be expected at work and at home, so if there are messy fights or conflicts involving females, whether in the domestic or professional sense, steer clear out of it!

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

This month might leave you smiling in satisfaction, as it will generally be a very smooth and productive one. This will be true both in a professional or personal sense. In addition, newly-married couples who have just embarked on an exciting new life should use this bedroom for its positive energies. Property investors should be bold this month and invest in the properties of their choice, as it will likely lead to good results. However, ensure that you read the fine print of all documents before committing to anything.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

There is a good chance that any romantic escapades you embark on this month will do better than you expected, but you should be careful of jealous individuals spreading gossip about you. In terms of health, if you've been in poor health of late, be extra careful as there is a chance of recurring illness this month. Real estate ventures will be successful and bring great financial success but you should make sure that all the legal issues are covered, as there could be problems later on.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Elderly ladies using this room should be careful of potential injuries this month, especially ones that result from the use of sharp metal objects and implements. In general, you will also have to be careful of fire hazards this month. This will be particularly exacerbated if there are any negative features located outside this sector. Those of you involved in athletics or competitive sports will do well if you use this bedroom this month.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

There is a possibility of mental and emotional strain for people using this room, which may cause stress or even hallucinations for you this month. Try not to let stress get to you too much, or your mental health will suffer. Schedule some regular time out from work, and don't let your work take priority over your wellbeing. Make sure that any deals concluded this month does not rely on capital, as this may end in losses that could be potentially serious. Employees will find that no matter how hard they work this month, they will find it difficult to make money. Just lay low and consolidate your position for now.

You stand a good chance of generating substantial financial gains by investing in real estate or property, as long as you remember to vet through each and every deal carefully before committing yourself to it. But do note that if there are water features located outside this sector, there are significant losses in store for you instead. Females using this bedroom will tend to behave in a more domineering and assertive manner this month, although they should also mind their health, as they are particularly susceptible to stomach-related ailments.

Pregnant ladies should avoid using this bedroom this month, as there's a very high possibility of miscarriage or premature delivery. There could be other complications in store, as well. It will be best to postpone that real estate deal you've been eyeing, until the month is over. Right now, rushing into such a deal will only incur losses for you. On the domestic front, there will be plenty of squabbles to keep you busy. You will have to play mediator for relatives who are in the midst of tussles.

Any dealings pertaining to real estate or properties would probably result in losses for you this month, so avoid investing in real estate at this point in time. On the domestic front, you might find the elder ladies in your household behaving in a more stubborn manner. You will need to be patient, and seek to understand their viewpoint and disgruntlement by sitting down and talking to them where possible. Where health is concerned, watch out for potential eye afflictions this month. Consult your physician at the first indication of trouble.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

If you happen to be suffering from a chronic illness of any sort, you need to take extra care of your health this month. Try to implement healthier daily routines that will keep your illnesses at bay. And be mindful of any negative landform features located outside this sector, as these are possible indicators of trouble involving older females. However, any property or real estate dealings you embark on this month will probably land you substantial financial gains.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Do bear in mind that confusion may come into the decisionmaking process if you are using the bedroom this month, so it is preferable to refrain from making any key decisions at this point. If this can't be avoided, seek the help of trusted confidants who can be objective about your situation. Pregnant women should be careful if they are using this room this month, as there is a risk of miscarriage or untimely delivery. Ensure that you take the proper precautions. If you're a student, you should avoid this sector for study or revision if you are facing important examinations this month.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Those of you who run a company and need to employ more staff members this month, it will be best to postpone this to a more favourable time. Otherwise, you risk selecting people who are the skim of the cream, as opposed to the cream of the crop! If there are negative formations outside this sector this month, it could cause deteriorating vision or even blindness for the people using this room. However, don't worry unnecessarily but just take the proper preventive measures.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Reign in any temptations you might have to engage in speculative investments, or high-risk ventures. You will probably end up with a lot less than you expected. This is not the right time for you to commit to major deals. Otherwise, all you will gain are losses. Elderly women using this room should consult their doctor at the first sign of abdominal troubles. Otherwise, this could risk becoming something very serious, with long-term consequences.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Married females using this room should be careful of running into troubles with your mothers-in-law, especially if you live under the same room. Try not to get into any arguments, if possible, and hold your tongue where possible. Otherwise, things will only be bad for you. But this will be a good room to use for those writing important exams soon. It will also work well for people involved in the real estate and property industries. You will be able to strike good deals and make quite a bit of money this month, so it will be an ideal time to take your career to the next level.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

This month brings about its fair share of legal troubles. Some could be as minor as speeding summons, or in the worst case scenario, it could be complicated lawsuits. Parents with sons using this bedroom will find them being more rebellious and defiant this month, and possibly there will be a lot more arguments. You can move them to another room for the month, or simply ride it out as this will only be temporary. In general, this room doesn't bode well for relationships in general, as even the elderly women using it will be susceptible to petty bickering during the course of the month.

This room bodes well for scholarly activities and examinations, as students who use this bedroom for their studies and revision will greatly benefit from the energies present. You will be able to enjoy a clarity of mind and intense concentration that will be a boon to your revision process. In general, this is a good month for most of you to engage in a full-blown expansion of your business, or to consider forming alliances with partners abroad. Those single and looking for love might be able to find some temporary distractions, but nothing long-term will come out of it.

Females need to be on guard if they use this room this month, as potential squabbles and petty disagreements will plague you and destroy your peace of mind. Where possible, try to remain removed from all of it. If you're in the midst of concluding financial investments, you will find that this is a good month for you - with negotiations likely to end well! In general, it's a good month for joint ventures in finances. It's a good time to build upon your current partnerships and alliances.

Couples who want to find that loving feeling again should consider using this room, as it will keep the home fires burning! However, be careful of any significant water features located outside this sector, as that could lead to one of the partners straying or becoming involved in an affair. Specialists in the media and consultation industries will be able to enjoy much fame and publicity this month, so let your talents and capabilities shine! This room will also benefit academics, scholars, and researchers, as well as students.

This is not a month for female employees, as you will not find support or encouragement from your superiors to be forthcoming or readily-available this month. However, don't let this get you down too much, as you should plan your goals and workload accordingly, to reduce the effects of any sudden hiccups - and doing so will allow you to be in control. This is not a month to use this bedroom for students and scholars sitting for important examinations, as your results will be worse than you expected. But there are good outcomes from any joint-venture projects you undertake in the financial world.

Romantic relationships come under strain this month, and couples using this bedroom will find that their relationships are a little more tense than usual, and plagued with petty quarrels. Consider going off on a trip together to strengthen ties, or doing some activity or hobby together that can remove you from your daily cares, at least for a little while. If you're involved in management and consulting, this will be a good month to expand your business. Professionals in the literary and media fields will also do quite well this month, as inspiration just seems to flood you!

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

This month, you'll have to be careful of the legal documents that you sign. Ensure that you read the fine print, and if you're not sure what's going on, enlist the help of a legal professional to ensure that everything is above-board. It's also a month to be careful of your words and how you say your words, or otherwise you might that something you said in jest or anger will be back to haunt you! Those of you who have been feeling upset and unappreciated by your bosses and superiors this month need to continue to lay low, and avoid drawing attention to your concerns, as this is not the time for it. It might only backfire on you.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

People with an artistic and creative bent will find the energies of this room benefiting them this month, especially if you pursue commercial opportunities abroad. You'll be able to garner both mass attention and critical acclaim. At the workplace, you'll need to tread carefully, as office politics are at an all-time high. It could become unhealthy and out of control, so try not to get involved. Parents of children using this room may need to be more patient than necessary, as their children are liable to be influenced by peer pressure and be more rebellious than usual.

Those of you in relationships should give your partner some breathing space this month, especially if you find that both of you are more quarrelsome than ever lately. It would also be advisable for you to keep an eye open for health issues, particularly breast cancer or liver ailments, if you happen to be using this bedroom. It will also prove to be a volatile, unstable month to indulge in the stock market, so it would be much better for you to hold on to your money just a little longer.

It's a good time to go on a long-dreamed of vacation, as you've earned this time off and should rightfully claim it! And chances are, as you might also be able to embark on a little fling while you're abroad – but bear in mind that these are likely to be short-term ones, rather than anything lasting. Professionals in the marketing and consultation businesses should consider going ahead and publishing a research paper that you've been working on long enough.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

This month, keep a strong watch on your back and what you say. Malicious people are out to get you in any way possible, so don't give them ammunition to launch any attacks. Where your health is concerned, pay close attention to head or brain-related injuries. In any case, seek professional medical treatment if possible instead of letting it slide. Those among you involved in the artistic and creative fields will enjoy success this month, although you might have to travel to earn your income. But this can be a positive thing, as being in a new place with fresh sights and sounds can serve as fodder for your hungry muse!

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

If you're actively involved in the real estate and property field, and wish to realise your returns on investment, then this is the month to do so. Professionals and enthusiasts dabbling in the metaphysical and esoteric fields will also benefit from the energies of this room. However, if you happen to be a married woman sleeping in this room, don't be surprised to find your relationship with your mother-in-law to be slightly tense this month, especially if you both live under the same roof. Don't give in to your emotions, and where possible, avoid contact with your in-law to avoid potentially explosive conflicts.

Pay attention to any negative external features outside this sector of both your home and office, as the presence of these can heighten the risk of fire hazards. In any case, ensure your safety by double-checking all the electrical wiring and gas outlets in your home by a professional. This is one thing worth spending time on! People working in the fashion industry, whether in design or retail, might find travelling to be the way to go this month. Doing so will increase your revenues and lead to greater business opportunities.

If you work in public and civil service, or are somehow involved in politics, this will be a good month for you. You stand to gain a promotion or career advancement, but you need to ensure that you're willing to double your efforts and step up to the plate. A possible salary increment is also in store for all your efforts, so you will have quite a bit to look forward to! Things are pleasant and even joyful on the homefront, which gives you plenty of reason to stay at home and spend time with your loved ones.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Lately, your friends might have commented that you're starting to seem more and more like Grumpy the Dwarf. And it might very well be that you're being more irritable and somewhat more hostile than ever lately. You'll need to keep your emotions from bubbling over the surface, however, as you might scald others and land yourself in hot soup! You'll have to make more of an effort to remain calm to prevent others from becoming hurt or offended by your words and behaviour.

Your relationship and health luck are both looking good this month. Make the most of your luck prospects and milk the most out of every opportunity that comes your way! Remember that sometimes the same opportunity doesn't knock on your door twice. There are fires burning a-plenty at your workplace this month, and you shouldn't add fuel to the already explosive office politics and issues. Try to put out the fires, instead, by attempting to solve the problems before it gets out of hand. Those of you dabbling in futures, equities and stock trading should go all out with the chances that crop up.

Those of you in romantic relationships and using this bedroom will have to be extra-sensitive to your partner's feelings this month. There is a chance that both of you will be crabby and moody and prone to feeling things more profoundly than usual. Try to be a bit more understanding and a lot more tactful, instead of saying the first thing that pops into your mind. Where business interests are concerned, it's not the right time to make any investment deals, because these are unlikely to generate profits. Watch out for any negative formations or structures located outside this sector, as food poisoning is likely.

This is not an ideal month to place elderly folk or those weak in health in this bedroom, as the energies present there would only further aggravate their health problems. Liver problems in particular would be a significant worry. If you happen to be involved in the education business, look out for competition from industrial rivals. The good news is that you stand to profit from your endeavours so long as you execute your business plans with care ands shrewdness. Females in the public relations and marketing industries using this room will find tremendous benefits coming to them at work.

August 7th – September 7th of 2010 甲申

At this point in time, fortune favors the wise and prudent, so invest carefully and only after much deliberation. This month also brings domestic and family-related problems, but do your best to try to solve them quickly and swiftly to prevent things from festering into a more serious situation. And if you happen to counsel or provide others psychiatric or psychological treatment, you will be pleased to know that your beneficiaries will appreciate the wisdom, advice and knowledge you share with them.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

If you happen to be in a serious, committed relationship, it goes without saying that unsavory nightclubs, entertainment areas and places of ill-repute should be avoided at all costs this month - as there are temptations in store that could risk jeopardising your relationship! Those who dabble in metaphysics will be able to use the good energies of this room to broaden their knowledge. On a similar note, employees in the marketing, sales and consultation industries who have been toiling at their jobs will probably reap the fruits of their labour soon enough, so keep your chin up!

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Go ahead and pack your suitcase this month, as travel opportunities in the name of business beckon you temptinaly. Positive financial gains are likely to be the happy outcome. This is definitely a good month to ensure that your passport and other travel documents are valid and in order. Those among you who work in the entertainment industries will also experience an increase in business, with an increased amount of clients and customers. If you're married, consider going on a vacation with your spouse as this is an extremely ideal time to foster even closer ties with your loved one.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Those among you who have been more spiritually inclined these days will find this a beneficial room for your pursuits. Things bode well for you in terms of improving your knowledge. Or you might want to consider embarking on a spiritual or meditative retreat to cleanse your thoughts and purify your mind. It will be very good for you to get away from the heavy worries of your daily life. Fire hazards are possible this month, so be extra careful with your daily routines and check through all your wiring and gas outlets.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Where things on the domestic front are concerned, happy occasions and events and celebrations are likely. So surrender to the moment, pack your cares away in a hard-to-reach place, and enjoy the pleasure for what it is. There will be plenty of opportunities to reconnect with your loved ones and enjoy closer, more intimate ties with your family members. Budding entrepreneurs looking to establish a joint-venture or partnership with another party should also seize the opportunity to do so this month, as the outcomes look very good.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

If your passions involved creating and inventing, this is a good room to use this month! Inspiration will flood you with new ideas, and your past knowledge grounds it in the realm of the possible. Make an effort to promote yourself and make your work known to others, no matter how humble you are, because you deserve it. It's also a very suitable month to make efforts to widen your network of contacts, particularly if you're working in the communications industry.

Bear in mind that those of you who use this room will have to battle poor health this month. While the implications are not serious, it is however strong enough to merit your care and concern. In particular, pay special attention to any problems that crop up with your head and mouth. This is not the month for romance, either, so it would be best for you to stay away from all forms of it lest it results in a diminished reputation and markedly lowered spirits.

This is a good month to make progress with your personal reputation in your field or industry, or even to gain recognition at work. You need to ensure that people recognise you for what you do, and how you do it. So accept the credit given to you, and enjoy it with good grace! Complicated relationships or estrangements can be smoothed out and amicably resolved if you are using this room, so use it to your advantage if you need to make amends with someone. Joint venture opportunities are likely and plentiful at this point in time, and these should be followed-up, as they should end in good profits in the long-term.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

This is not the month for you to dabble in shares and equities, as there are plenty of tough challenges ahead for you. It would be best for you to consider working on another aspect of your life, instead of focusing on making financial decisions - or even personal ones. Clarity of mind is lacking for you at this point, and so any major decisions you make may be clouded by uncertainty.

Those of you involved in the world of academia will find that you receive recognition for your work this month if you use this room. People will finally start to know you for the work you do. Be careful if you are involved in any joint ventures and partnerships this month, because these just may have hidden legal entanglements that will take you by surprise. Romantic relationships will be on the upswing this month for those using this bedroom, but you need to be careful if there are water features outside this sector.

Overseas and offshore business opportunities will enhance the bottom line for your business this month, so grab these opportunities as they crop up. Those in the furniture business will find that financial gains will be made this month. However, a loss of wealth and legal problems are possible this month as a result of betrayals and rumours spread about your business. You may need to watch your back and safeguard your interests as much as possible, and employ some form of damage control if the backbiting becomes too rampant.

If you're married, you should be careful of third-party gossip causing you some amount of tension in your relationship. Guard against unwarranted and unreasonable jealousy, as this will cause a certain amount of problems. There is a chance of miscarriage for pregnant women using this sector this month, so if it's possible to move to another room, do it. Those in the real estate business will find that property deals return good profits this month, and you are likely to enjoy some good financial gains.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Use your inner talents of wisdom and knowledge to gain the promotion you deserve. If this requires you having to speak up about your talents and abilities and making it known, so be it! You've been humble and self-effacing for far too long. If you're involved in professional, competitive sports, you will do well in international competitions this month if you use this bedroom. Elderly people should be careful of head injuries especially if there are negative features and structures outside this sector.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Those aspiring to achieve literary success should showcase their talents this month. You'll find that people are receptive to what you offer, and you have a greater chance of meeting publishers, agents, and editors. If you're in professional or competitive sports, you will do well this month, and you should maximise efforts while the going is good. However, do bear in mind that mental instability and emotional stress are significant problems this month for those using this bedroom.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Water-related industries such as tourism, travel, logistics and the spa industry will have some positive publicity and should return favourable profits as a result. Those of you who work in those fields are likely to see a bigger bonus this year! Spouses may feel a bit neglected this month, as one partner is busy making money while the other is being sidelined. Ensure that you devote enough time and energy to your relationship, and don't sacrifice it for the sake of your career. Look into property investments this month, as there are good deals to be had with good financial rewards that could keep you comfortable for some time.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Short-term passionate flings rather than long-term affairs will be the result this month for people using this bedroom. If you have any romantic designs on someone and want them fulfilled, it's best to keep this in mind. It's a month to mind your own business, because if you meddle in other people's affairs, you are likely to get into arguments rather than be on the receiving end of a wave of gratitude. Resentment and anger are thus the likely results. Office politics are simmering to boiling point this month, and this will therefore be a period of sharp competition and intense rivalries.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Make a name for yourself in your field of industry this month, as you stand to make greater acquaintances and thus establish and cement your position. Try to go after joint-venture deals and partnerships that you began awhile back, as the outcomes are likely to bring strong profits in your favour. This is the month to go for the broke, rather than sit back and wait for the opportunities to fall into your lap!

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Try to put off all important decision-making to another point of time, as any decisions you do make right now will likely have the opposite effect of what was intended. If possible, request the input of clear-minded and objective confidants or people you trust. Expectant mothers are advised to use a different room this month, as there is a risk of complications. Likewise, people using this room should be prepared for possible accidents while on one of their travelling trips.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

Women who use this room should have a mammogram this month, as there is an increased risk of breast cancer. Avoid all forms of business expansion and growth this month, if possible. This is because you will end up making incorrect decisions that are most likely to end up in financial losses for both yourself and your company. Pregnant women should avoid sleeping in this room for the month, as the risk of miscarriage is possible, and the chances of other complications also high.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Those among you involved in any business partnerships should not discuss important issues this month, as communication is at an all-time low. In fact, if it particularly involves negotiations or deal-breaking, it should be kept to another time. Couples may find it hard to conceive if they use this room this month, so if you are keen to start a family you may want to consider using another room. Also, beware of possible health issues may appear in the form of kidney and water retention.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Religious enthusiasm could end up in fanaticism for people using this bedroom this month. If there are people out to incite you to pursue dubious-sounding religious affiliations or groups, it would be best to stay away. Monetary issues and relationship problems may cause added stress this month, casting a shadow on the domestic front. Those in the political arena, and looking for some sense of advancement, will find that friends and acquaintances will be around this month to help them with their political aspirations.

Good profits can be made from conservative property deals but to benefit from these opportunities, you will need to watch the markets carefully. Carefully avoid taking any untoward financial risks. Younger children in the home may have health problems this month in the form of ligament, muscles and tendon injuries. In general, relationships don't fare well this month, and those using these rooms should be patient with their loved ones. Avoid getting impatient and losing your temper, because it will only make things worse. As much as possible, avoid falling into petty arguments.

Unless you're prepared to face up to the consequences or repercussions of a casual fling, no thanks to a night of binging, do not overindulge in alcohol, or spend too many an evenings at the pubs and nightclubs. You might find that you're taking away one type of stress and bringing on another! Also, those suffering from poor health should seriously consider moving out of this bedroom, to mitigate the risk of having their health worsened by a skin or liver ailment. This month promises to be a challenging one at work as well, where rivals and competitors will heat up the competition and challenge you considerably.

Those involved in the legal or arbitration business will be pleased to know that with the proper amount of effort, you will be able to enjoy the fruits of your labour sooner than you expected. However, this month you should refrain from giving personal loans, especially to relatives and family members, as you can't afford to be impudent and you might not see the money again. Children using this bedroom are likely to be more rebellious and difficult to control or discipline this month.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Ambitious or optimistic as you may be, this is simply not the right time to embark on a new enterprise or venture, as the probability of tasting early success is very low. Instead, it might be more prudent for you to wait for a more suitable time to make your move. The end results could be a lot sweeter! Resist the temptation to aamble and engage in any form of speculative investment, as you may end up poorer than when you first started. Elderly ladies suffer from the risk of appendicitis or oral disease if they use this room this month, consider putting them in another room.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Expectant mothers should avoid using this bedroom this month, as the risk of miscarriage is quite high. If you're a business owner or manager involved in the tourism, travel or media business, you should be prepared for your sales targets to fall slightly below the mark this month. Scholars and academics, on the other hand, will find the energies of the month auguring well for their reputations. Go forth and publish that paper you've being toiling away at, or present your findings at a conference. This will be a good way for your star to shine brighter.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

This month, you should steer clear of any high-risk investment deals, as they could well burn a hole in your bank account at the end of the day. Those working in the entertainment industry will find it tough-going this month, and very lonely, what with your superiors and co-workers apparently being unable or unwilling to back you up. Remember that you can still make a difference by working smart, instead of just working hard! Health issues to watch out for are eye or heart-related problems.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Prepare for some backstabbing and betrayal from within the company. If you own or manage one, be sure that you keep your employees at the forefront of the company eye this month. Gastrointestinal problems will plague the elderly using this bedroom, so they will need to take extra care where stomach issues and troubles are concerned. There is a possibility of concluding property deals this month but as soon as there is any indication of volatile, argumentative bargaining to secure the investment, withdraw from the deal as the outcome will not be worth the effort.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Get a qualified electrician or technician to check the wiring of your property because the risk of fire hazards is high. Those among you who are advocates and solicitors, you might find it hard to put your points across this month in presenting your case in court. Don't be unduly frustrated, though. If you keep your wits about you, and remain calm and patient as you go about executing your duties. Married couples or those of you in committed relationships will also be put to the test this month. But don't allow a bad patch to ruin your entire relationship. Instead, find ways to overcome the bad patch.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

If you are due to sit for an important examination soon and do not wish to be distracted, then it would be wise to avoid using this bedroom this month. Head injuries or lung ailments are the significant health problems that you need to look out for. Those of you in the communications and public relations industries will also find miscommunication to be rife. In general, wealth luck is generally poor for those using this bedroom, so refrain from making any investments for the time being.

Hostile and aggressive takeovers are possible for your corporation, so if you sleep in this room then you should be aware of competitors who will take you on as well. In general, this is a favourable bedroom for children, as it will be beneficial for their studies and academic work - particularly if they're sitting for exams. Health problems may come in the form of liver trouble this month and if there are negative structures outside this sector, then the impact of this will be markedly worse.

Young boys who are using this room will find that leg injuries are cropping more often than usual, especially if they're involved in sports or athletics this month. Those in the cell phone industry will have a very good month, and you'll be able to make good financial gains and profits from a well-performing business. There are plenty of business conflicts this month and as a result concluding deals should be left for a more suitable time when there is less acrimony.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Fraud and embezzlement by friends and family members will result in a feeling of betrayal for those who use this bedroom this month. You will have to be discerning with the people whom you choose to confide in with sensitive information. Those working with heavy machinery should be extra careful this month, as there is an increased risk of injury while at work. Exercise more caution than you typically would and never neglect or overlook your own personal safety. Employees will find that petty politics raises its head at this point in time and should not be tempted into arguments and disputes as these could end up in legal problems. The best thing to do would be to play it subtle and take no sides in an araument.

There's a likelihood of disputes brewing within your family members, so try to prevent it from escalating into something serious. Also, pay attention to personal safety this month as the risk of robberies and muggings is high. Bear in mind this month that by failing to keep abreast of current trends and staying on top of your game in your industry, you only risk losing your share of the market or even niche market. This month, additionally, pay particular attention to communication. Lack of it could potentially undermine your endeavours and set you back.

Couples using this room might run into a spot of trouble, so both partners must be patient and tolerant. Avoid listening to other people instead of each other. Refrain from playing the blame game and pointing fingers, as this will only make the situation worse. Additionally, stay away from gambling this month, as the result will be a significant loss of wealth. Those in poor health should avoid using this bedroom this month as all forms of illnesses could take a turn for the worse.

This promises to be a profitable month for most people using this room, but especially for those in the construction industry. Seize every opportunity to embark on business trips, as these will yield positive outcomes for you. Couples using this bedroom should be more sensitive to each other's emotions this month. Be more tactful and sensitive in your daily interactions, and avoid taking each other for granted. Keep a look out as well for liver-related problems, or any feeling of light-headedness, more so if you notice the presence of a negative form outside of this sector. Seek immediate treatment at the first sign of trouble.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

You will do well to hold your tongue, rather than offer unsolicited advice to those who are incapable of appreciating your good intentions. Instead, focus on building yourself up. Where business is concerned, review and go over your strategies. This is a good month for strategising and decision-making in general, but not for business expansion and growth. Be prepared for unexpected surprises as well, if using this bedroom. Nothing is quite what it seems.

September 8th – October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Those among you who are involved in the real estate and property market should aggressively market yourselves, as this is a good chance to make money. This is not the month to be overly humble or self-effacing when it comes to your talents and capabilities! Those in the service industry will have opportunities to make money this month, but you will need to pay all taxes earned as the tax officials will be on your tail otherwise! On the homefront, do note that there is a potential for disharmony between mother and son this month, and this will cause arguments that could result in family feuds.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

If you've been feeling poorly of late, you need to be extra vigilant this month because the risk of physical injuries is quite high. Seek the advice and treatment of a physician at the first sign of trouble; otherwise the situation could well become serious. The risk of fraud and theft is also high this month. Nothing's absolutely certain, but you can always play your part in averting such risks, by ensuring that good security controls are in place. There will be windfall gains for those involved in business ventures with overseas or offshore partners.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Where possible, avoid traveling for business-related purposes, as the outcomes from such trips will not be favourable to you. It would just be an added expense that won't really lead to anything solid. If you've been toiling at your job and sense that a promotion is just waiting for you, you just might be right! And if it comes, you will be elevated to a position with more power, status and authority, which as you probably know is more than well-deserved. Male adolescents using this room will be slightly more temperamental and rebellious than usual, so parents will need to be prepared!

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Resist the temptation to gamble and indulge in any form of speculative investments this month, unless you wish to risk accumulating huge financial losses – which, let's face it – no one does! If you have by chance come into extra money lately, it would be advisable for you to remain discreet and prudent on your financial status. There are people out there keen to stretch out their itchy fingers and take what's not theirs. Be careful also of health problems that will appear in the form of ulcers, gallstones or liver-related ailments; have these treated at the first sign of trouble.

Monitor your employees or staff closely this month, as there's a chance that a dishonest individual or two might be up to some hanky-panky at work. Fraud or theft is likely, as is betrayal of any kind. But don't automatically start suspecting everyone on your staff – just be more discreet and observant. Those among you who make a living from the literary, creative or artistic fields will be pleased to know that good tidings await you this month, in the forms of fame, reputation, and money. Those suffering from depression or any mental problems might want to consider moving out of this bedroom for the duration of the month to prevent aggravating your condition.

You should be prepared for a conflict between the women of the house this month. This will primarily be caused by misunderstood words and hurtful comments. If you're female, be careful of your speech this month to avoid stepping on anyone's toes. There is an increased risk of fraud and embezzlement from employees this month, so if you own or run a company, you may need to keep a watchful eye without resorting to being overly suspicious and hostile. Pregnant women should try to find another room to sleep in this month, as there is a high risk of complications and miscarriage.

Those among you in the fashion, apparel and cosmetics industries will find that the financial side of the business takes off this month. However, companies that are having problems attracting new clients should consider implementing some changes in their approach. Don't just go with the tried-and-tested methods that are stale and outdated. Relationships are generally quite rocky this month, so great care should be taken to keep the peace and the relationship will be on track.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

This month, property investments should yield good returns but you need to make sure that all deals are scrutinised properly before being signed. Otherwise, legal problems could arise and come back to haunt you later. Fire hazards are a problem this month, and any old buildings should have the electrical circuits checked by a professional as a safety precaution. There could be an increase in stomach-related problems this month, especially for elderly women using this room. If it gets to be increasingly bad, consider using another room.

This looks set to be a favorable month for people working in the communications industry, so seize the opportunity to enhance your reputation and expand your clientele. However, avoid making any significant investments this month, as wealth luck will not be on your side. You may be greeting losses instead of gains! You might also face some intense business rivalry or competition at work, with the situation being further compounded by the risk of theft or burglary this month. Stay calm and keep your wits about you, it will be more than needed at this point.

Those of you working as salaried employees, stay out of office politics and gossip, as you could well find your words being used against you by your rivals or enemies. You might also find your relationships with others plagued by conflicts and disagreements, no thanks to jealousy rearing its ugly head at the wrong time. Seek first to understand others, before you make yourself understood. And needless to say, think before you say or do anything that will cause you regret later on.

July 7th - August 6th of 2010 癸未

Certain nigaling health problems come to the fore this month, so drink lots of water, get plenty of rest, and be on guard for any possible throat ailments. This is also the time of the year when communication is at an all-time low, and misunderstandings abound. As such, couples need to be more patient and understanding of each other's emotions and wants. At work, be sure to communicate coherently, otherwise you risk having your words being misunderstood or misrepresented, thereby leading to stickier problems.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Expectant mothers need to seriously consider changing bedrooms, at least until the month's over, to negate the risk of pregnancy complications. Married females living in close quarters have to be careful of getting into a tiff with their mothers-in-law, as these could have long-term consequences. However, on the bright side of things, your personal and professional relationships are looking good this month, so take advantage of them to expand your network of contacts.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Lawyers, advocates and solicitors, and those dabbling in the legal profession will find this month to be a fairly favourable one. This month, it pays to be prudent and discreet with the amount of information you share with the world. The risk of robberies and theft is high, so don't share information with others if you've recently come into some wealth. Those involved in a serious relationship might find things to be a little strained or tense this month. It might be better off giving each other room to breathe instead of trying to immediately 'fix' the situation.

Property deals could go sour owing to a breakdown in negotiations, which is a direct result of a miscommunication especially if you are in the mining, minerals and semi-precious stones industries. Avoid new romantic relationships this month, as these could end up in scandals and cause more misery than joy for you. It will be best to focus on another aspect of your life. Do not make any major personal or business decisions this month, as discussions over these matters may have been clouded with miscommunication. You will end up making some bad choices if pressed into it.

This is a good time to watch your health, especially if you've been feeling rather poorly of late. Otherwise, you risk falling ill and acquiring some form of blood disease, or suffering from food poisoning. Males, in particular, have to avoid over-indulging in alcohol for both physical and mental reasons. If you happen to work in the civil service or are a politician, this is the time to keep a low profile and avoid attracting unnecessary attention to yourself, as it will likely backfire and set your cause back a few steps.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Seek the limelight at work if possible, and let people know what you're doing. Your ascent up the career ladder should thereby proceed in a smoother manner. Couples will have a happier month this month, and you will do well in your chosen careers as well. Both your professional and personal lives will complement the other nicely, leading to much contentment. Children using this bedroom this month will be rebellious and difficult to control, and parents may have to exercise greater authority than necessary. If your job involves strategic thinking or analysis, you will find that you have the chance to advance your career and make a name for yourself this month. Don't hesitate to grab the opportunities to promote yourself.

Investment and merchant bankers concluding deals in the share and equity markets this month will benefit from good profits in the months to come. Therefore, if something appears promising, do your best and go for it! You will receive the recognition, career advancement and financial reward you deserve this month, propelling your career to new heights and bringing a new level of job satisfaction. Newly-married couples will find this a very good month for harmonious relationships, and you will enjoy better communication and improved ties.

For those of you trying to make an honest living from a regular job, don't bother with trivial disputes or arguments at the workplace this month, which could fester into legal complications if blown out of proportion. Ignore your rivals and the proliferation of backstabbers at work, and concentrate on your job. The rewards are a lot more fulfilling than being caught up in office politics. Those who are actively involved in the trading of stocks and shares will be pleased to know that there will be gains to be made from their transactions. Garner the input and help from more seasoned investors, if you're unsure how to proceed.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Engineers, technicians and people generally involved in the technical and engineering professions will find your career prospects looking more promising this month. Keep up your good work, as these can lead to possibilities that never occurred to you before. The sweet taste of success will come to you in time. Investment deals, especially risky ones, are a big no-no this month, unless you're particularly looking forward to ending up with legal problems on your hands! Athletes and sportspersons should also guard against any sports-inflicted injuries; particularly those affecting their legs and feet.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

For those of you using this room, this is the month when your efforts and capabilities are recognised by your superiors, and things start looking up as far as your job is concerned. You've been doing something right all this while, so keep up the good work. Real estate or property specialists will equally be pleased to welcome repeatcustomers, and new ones as well, as they find their clientele base expanding. Additionally, couples looking to conceive and start a family should use this bedroom this month.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Those of you involved in consulting businesses, think tanks, strategic decision-making processes, and others whose work requires wisdom and intelligence and critical thinking will attract fame and good fortune this month. In other words, your talents and capabilities will finally get its due reward. In general for most of you, your wisdom and intelligence at work will be recognised and superiors will entrust important projects and deals to you that could result in advancement and promotion. In other words, it may be your month to shine at work, so don't shrink from the limeliaht! For those wanting to start a family, this will still be a suitable month in which to do so.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

This is generally not a good month for those in the entertainment industries, as well as the electrical and electronic industries. Demand for your services and products will be somewhat diminished, resulting in a loss of profits. Defer any important decision-making as far as personal and professional relationships are concerned to a more suitable time, because it will be hard for you to be rational and logical this month when emotions are running high. Elderly people using this room this month will be more susceptible to heart attacks and strokes, so they might want to consider moving to another room.

December 7th – January 5th of 2011 戊子

You will receive the accolades, recognition, advancement and financial rewards you've worked so hard to achieve in your professional life. So it's time to kick back, put your legs up, and let the accolades pile up! Investment and merchant bankers who specialise in stocks, equities and corporate deals and mergers also stand to make substantial monetary gains on-the-job, so double your efforts if you want to gain more out of it. Couples using this room will enjoy a heightened relationship with closer ties and a better sense of fulfillment.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Lawyers and professionals dabbling in the legal field will find their services much sought-after this month as others become familiar with your name and expertise. Salaried employees should be on the lookout for disputes and office politics at the workplace this month, as power struggles are taking place in full force. But stay out of them, to avoid running into any legal entanglements later on. Where matters of the heart are concerned, don't give your heart away too easily this month. Any romantic flings that crop up this month are likely to be just that - flings, and nothing more.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

Those among you who earn your bread and butter in the financial industry will find new clients this month. This will occur as a result of fortuitous word of mouth, especially if you travel quite a lot for your work. Travel will increase your chances of profits, so try not to refuse any of these opportunities. This month, you should strive to keep out of office politics as you could come out of it worse than you expect, or may even be saddled with legal issues as a result. Romance heats up this month with possibility of short-term passionate flings, but unfortunately these may not develop into anything more serious or long-term.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

If you're involved in professional and competitive sports, you're going to find this a good month. There is much in the way of advancement coming up for you, leading to much career progress and development. Certain developments may seem new or overwhelming, but as long as you're certain of your abilities, you're likely to do well! Also, get out there and make the most of all the connections you make with all the people you meet, as this is also a good month for exactly those activities.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

The threat of financial loss looms over this month, robbing all speculative investments, primarily those equity, of its fun. It would be best to avoid all risky investments, and to stay away from gambling altogether. You won't be happy, otherwise, staring at all those zeroes in your bank account balance! Health issues also come to the fore this month for people using this room, especially serious ones like breast and liver cancer. Go for a thorough medical check-up if certain signs are troubling you.

This is a favourable room for students and scholars facing important examinations this month. It will work well during the preparations for the exams, leading to much favourable results. Any deals involving asset acquisitions concluded this month should do very well, especially if these are overseas investments or if you're dealing with contacts abroad. You'll find yourself being drawn into good relationships with others this month, and both your personal and professional ties will enjoy a nice boost.

People who work in the furniture industry will find this a rather good month, as you will be able to enjoy significant profits that will give your business a boost. However, be on the alert for anyone who might potentially be a backstabber, as betrayals will cause a loss of wealth and result in legal problems this month. Don't trust too easily, especially those who are keen to help you sell the moon but at a cost. Partnerships and new alliances should be avoided this month, as they will result in a financial loss for you that will be hard to overturn.

Older women who are sick, or feeling frail of health, should avoid using this room this month if possible. It might be better to move them into another room for the meantime, as otherwise the possibilities of ill health are strong. Avoid picking fights over small things this month, or it could result in serious arguments for couples using this room. Where possible, let the small things blow over or else it could turn into something serious. Disputes and negligence will result in property investments turning sour this month, and if you're not careful, you'll ruin your good relationship with your contacts as well. There will be many unforeseeable problems this month so contingency plans will need to be in place to avoid major setbacks. If you already have a good Plan A, be sure to work out a secure Plan B as well! Those of you involved in competitive sports should be careful of accidents resulting in bone, ligament and tendon injuries.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

This will be a trying month for business partners, as there is a possible fallout from accumulated tension and stress that have built up over the months. If you're not careful, you will find it leading to further complications that could deplete your wealth and income. People using this room for the month should also guard against possible health problems, as otherwise serious complications will be the result.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

It will be a dry month for new business contacts and associates, as your mentors and superiors will not be around to help you get your act together. Don't be too reliant on them, as that won't be able to help you very much. You've got to be able to put together the skills you've learn in order to be able to handle matters yourself, especially if the situation demands it. Health complications continue on to this month, so don't ignore any of the warning signs.

Business owners should avoid any expansion this month and should, instead, focus on consolidating their current position. It will be best in the long run to pay extra attention and care to customers and clients, as disloyalty amongst employees is rife, and they will seek to undermine you through your most sensitive point - your clientele. Keep in mind that conservative property related deals will bring good financial gains this month, but those of you who own a business will lack the leverage to benefit from positive investment outcomes.

Competition and rivalry, especially from competitors, will affect the people using this room for the month. If you're not careful, this could digress into a very emotional issue that could result in acute psychological warfare. You will need to be on guard, but don't overreact and resort to petty responses. Lawyers will have a tough time putting their case across this month, and may need to use every ounce of strength to fight. In general, people using this room should be careful as accidents could be caused by mishaps with other people, resulting in muscle and tendon injuries.

Those among you who play sports for a living and compete professionally will find the competitions an uphill battle this month, and should instead use the time for some physical improvement that can bring future benefits. Stress and depression may end in mental instability or neurosis this month, especially if there are negative external forms located outside this sector. Health issues may also arise in the form of migraines or headaches this month, so try to relax more and not let worries and anxieties get to you. Sometimes, it's just not worth it to sweat the small things!

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Stay away from the fashion and apparel industries, as the outcomes for those industries are likely to be quite disastrous this month. If you're working in those lines, it will be best to lay low and postpone any plans for expansion. For business owners this month, everything that can go wrong, will, and even those things that usually run smoothly will cause trouble and obstruction. You will need to be prepared, and have a backup plan. Pregnant women should be careful when using this bedroom this month, as there is a risk of complications and troubles. If possible, switch to another room for the duration.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Speculative investments and gambling should be resisted this month, as it is likely to bring financial losses. You'll do well to curb all your instincts to gamble and take a risk! Problems arising this month will be difficult to solve as the cause is not easily evident, and your rivals will take quick advantage of this factor. It is imperative that you keep your guard up. Stay away from casual relationships this month, as it is likely to result in sexually-transmitted diseases and will be more trouble than it's worth, both psychologically and physically.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Those involved in labour negotiations or in the legal field will find this a good month, as the outcomes are generally promising and you are likely to gain a victory. This month, you'll need to pay close attention to your behaviour, as unwise remarks and a lack of common sense will give rise to problems that will be hard to shrug off in the future. You'll be a magnet for bad investment advice this month, so you will need to double check all tips that you receive as deals signed this month may well turn sour.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Mothers and older women who use this bedroom for the month will find an increased risk of kidney problems and related ailments. If possible, you might want to move them to another room to lessen the impact. In general, bad external formations outside this sector can lead to an increase in accidents and illnesses for the occupants, so ensure that there are no negative structures outside this sector. Do not try to make property acquisitions this month, as this will likely end in failure.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Those in the academic and literary fields will benefit from new ideas and inspiration that are likely to bring favourable financial gains this month. Don't ignore an idea even if seems crazy, as that just might be the ticket! If you are in metal trading or share and equity trading, this is a month where good deals will be concluded and financial gains are made. Scholars and students who are facing important examinations should make use of this room for their study preparations, as academic results are likely to be favourable.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Professional sportspeople should be careful of leg injuries or accidentally hurting themselves if they use this room this month. Don't neglect these injuries if they occur, and get medical treatment. There is an increased risk of car accidents and injuries this month, so be especially cautious if you're on the road. There will be increased tension between father and son this month, especially if there are negative structures located outside this sector.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Salaried employees may find that you face obstructions in career prospects this month, but you need to be patient and wait it out, as this is only temporary. Continue to put in good effort and don't skimp on the quality of your work. Women may experience gynecological problems this month if they use this bedroom, so any complications or troubles should be checked out immediately by a medical professional.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Entrepreneurs and those wishing to start new ventures should use the good energies of the Southwest bedroom to go out and make a start. It will provide auspicious vibes for new beginnings. A rocky relationship or business partnership that is on the verge of a break up will be exacerbated if this room is used this month. If you're facing any troubles in your romantic or professional relationships, you may want to take extra care in your dealings with the other party. Be careful of what you say, especially in moments of stress and anger.

There is a possibility for you to make money this month from side investments that will return good profits. If you make smart decisions, you can expect to enjoy a well-padded wallet! However, be careful not to work too hard and skimp on rest! If you're a doctor, you will find that you have increased business this month. Couples in this house may find that they are unable to have children, and using this bedroom this month will complicate things further. If possible, you should try shifting to another room in order to improve the situation.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

As an employee, you will find that you are working harder this month, but income and deal closure do not seem to be concluded. In other words, the benefits of your hard work are not clearly visible – but don't give up faith just yet! However, this is a good month to make financial gains from the sale of property assets, so you might want to divest off your portfolios. Those involved in religious pursuits or those gaining spiritual knowledge should use this bedroom this month, as it is conducive for exactly those types of activities.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

If there is a need to sign legal documents, be particularly careful this month. You will need to exercise extreme caution in all your legal dealings. If you need to enlist professional legal advice, so be it. There are greater gains to be earned than going it alone and suffering greater losses. Be careful of potential financial losses caused by negligence, though. This is the month to step up on your vigilance.

Mothers and daughters in law will be having tense relations this month, so if you're either one of the above, it will be best to exercise tact and diplomacy in your dealings with the other! Women in the literary field will have a time to shine this month, as they will receive awards and achievements for all your creative labours thus far. This is a time for self-cultivation and if the opportunity arises, you should take a self-development course. It is a good month to work on improving yourself, and you're likely to feel a lot better about your life in general.

Make sure that all taxes and fines are up-to-date this month, or you may find yourself in trouble with the law otherwise! Getting yourself extricated out of that mess might require all of your creativity and ingenuity. Couples should make sure that they spend as little time together as possible, as they will end up with tense and stressful situations if they share this room this month. It will be better instead to give each other some much needed space. This is a good sector for those who wish to become involved in religious or spiritual endeavours.

If you're in the medical field, you will find that your skills are in great demand this month, and you can expect to enjoy an increase in profits. Those of you wishing to invest in property will find that this a good month to get involved in the venture, as the returns will be quick and profitable. Get the advice of the experts for guidance if you need it. Women who are pregnant should avoid this sector this month, as the chance of miscarriage is possible, or some other complications.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

While your financial luck is still somewhat good, you will need to exercise some caution and not get too carried away. Don't spend too much of your money too soon, or else you'll be left with nothing. Maintain good ties with your friends and family and don't let any arguments escalate out of control this month, as you'll have a hard time putting the pieces back together otherwise. Don't be too gullible this month as people may tend to take advantage of you.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Be careful in your business dealings this month, as things are not what they seem and rivals are out to deceive you. Don't be easily misled by being overly trusting. Remain doubtful of the person or circumstance that seems to be too good to be true! Academic luck is not good this month, and if you're a student you may find that your thought processes lack clarity, and your work might be muddled as a result. There is a possibility of discord, arguments and family disharmony for people who use this bedroom this month, so pay more attention to your communication and ties with each other.

Paranoia and superstition may set in this month, resulting in emotional setbacks for those you who succumb to the worries and excessive agitation. The key thing is to maintain some form of emotional strength despite the negative feelings, and possibly share your worries with a trusted friend. Gastric and intestinal problems will plague those using this bedroom this month, so those who are prone to these issues should take care. Older people in politics will find that you make good headway in the political field, and you will receive recognition for your work in the community.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Couples using this room will be distracted at work as a result of your romantic involvement, so don't allow your relationship to affect your professional life. It is just a rough patch that will soon return to normal, so in the meantime concentrate on your career instead of blowing it off. Investment in gold mines this month will return good profits for you, so if you've always wanted to invest in gold mines, this is the time to do so! Ill health is also a problem this month, with head and brain problems coming to the fore. Take note of any sudden headaches, and it will be best to go for an early medical check-up if it troubles you.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Those of you who have property portfolios to divest should do so this month, as you are likely to gain some very pretty profits from it! The name of the game this month is work, work, and more work - and this is especially true for salaried employees. Don't be disheartened if the benefits of hard work are not yet forthcoming at this point in time, because it will come soon enough.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Financial loss as a result of negligence or disputes is possible, especially for those of you directly involved in the world of finance. You will need to step up your vigilance and be more aware of the trends around you. This is not the right time to take it easy or slacken your grip on things. Where health is concerned, abdominal illness is a problem this month for people using this room. However, it will most likely affect the older women in the home more than anyone else.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

It's a good month for relationships this month, and those of you who have long wanted to take yours to the next level should do so at this point in time! If you've wanted to propose marriage for some time, then the outcome is favourable for you to do it now. Those among you who work as authors and journalists should make a vested effort this month to look for publishers and give your written work its proper platform! If you're sitting for examinations, it'll also be beneficial for you to use this room.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

This is a good month to conclude all the deals you've had juggling in the air for awhile now. There are plenty of profitable and lucrative investment opportunities available for grabs this month, but you'll need to be eagle-eyed and alert to spot them as they come up. Therefore, make it your mission this month to make an outstanding closing. Those of you using this room will also find it a continuing good month for relationships.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

There is much good news to look forward to on the professional front for people using this room. You stand a very good chance of getting that promotion or career advancement you've longed for, or at least receive some significant form of recognition for all your hard work thus far. This is especially true for those of you work in the real estate and property fields. In addition, there are profits aplenty to be gained from investments in the property market.

Words need to be used with care this month, as there is a tendency for misunderstandings arising out of words misconstrued. Therefore, think carefully before saying anything this month, as you might find yourself having to eat quite a lot of your words otherwise! Those of you in the business of furniture retail will have a good month, but you will need to be careful when signing any legal documents. Double-check everything at least once. If your work involves being at construction and work sites, then be careful while using sharp metal objects.

It's a good month for both personal and professional relationships, so if you want to cultivate closer ties, this would be the ideal time to do it. This is especially the case in communication, as the more you work on making it better, the greater the results will be! As much as possible, though, avoid dabbling in speculative investments - especially in equities, shares, and futures. Losses can be quite huge, so it would be best to avoid it altogether. Your stature, reputation and name will improve if you travel to conduct business this month, so strive to make as many business opportunities abroad!

July 7th - August 6th of 2010 癸未

This is not a month for gambling, because financial losses are the only thing looming on the horizon. In that vein, those among you who have dabbled in speculative investments – particularly involving property or real estate - should withdraw from these deals or divest their investments before they endure any significant losses. Ladies using this room are likely to run into some serious health problems this month, so to be safe it would be best to schedule a mammogram to rule out possibilities of breast cancer.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Health problems continue into the month, with asthma and bronchitis being some of the major ones plaguing people using this room. If you show symptoms of these illnesses, get medical treatment so as not to worsen your situation. Gambling activities should be avoided this month at all costs. Ladies who own businesses will find that travels abroad to conclude deals lead to very good financial gains. Make the most of the work travel opportunities that crop up this month!

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Those of you who are artistically creative should make an effort to approach the international market, as the demand for quality work is high, and you're likely to receive creative support for your work in addition to acclaim. Those travelling this month should expect some sudden changes or last-minute problems. It would be best for you to invest in some good travel insurance. Children using this sector could be encouraged by peer pressure to get involved in rebellious activities. If you're a parent, it pays to be more aware of your children's friends and their leisure habits.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Female employees will have an excellent month, especially those of you who work in the real estate industry. Profits will literally be pouring in for you! However, as competition amongst women employees intensify, little progress may be made on the actual work projects for those of you in the other industries. Try not to get caught in the middle of professional rivalries. This is a good month to invest in self-cultivation, either by attending new courses or learning a new trade. Consider taking a class in something that you've always wanted to try.

There will be harmonious relations for those who use this bedroom this month, but they have to be careful of there being no water features outside this sector. Those of you working in the arts and culture industry will be able to generate good exposure from the media this month, leading to increased recognition for your work. You can expect to prepare for your moment in the spotlight! This is a good month to build alliance partners abroad, or embark on business expansion, so consider focusing your endeavours on the international arena at this point in time.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Relationships are generally on the upswing this month and those using this bedroom should take full advantage of them. Make an effort to reconnect with old friends, spend more time with family, and further strengthen your marriage and love relationships. All your endeavours in this particular area of your life are likely to go down well, giving you favourable results. However, this is not a good time to travel, as your rivals will make inroads into your client base whilst you are away. It will be best to stay closer to home and keep an eye on your business proceedings.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Health issues may arise in the form of back and spine injuries this month, so take extra care when performing physical activities. This also applies for those of you who exercise frequently and play sports, or who dabble in extreme sports. Where finances are concerned, this is the month to get involved in joint ventures. If this is in your line, then it is suitable to get involved in gilt bonds or shares, as the profits are likely to be significant.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

This month starts of with a very small bang, so it would be highly advisable for you to keep a low profile! This means playing it cool and keeping your cards close to you both in the personal and professional areas of your life. There is a tendency for a significant loss of wealth this month if you're not careful, so keep your investments conservative. If something seems too risky at this point in time, avoid it. There will be better opportunities cropping up in the future.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

People using this room will find that it does not bode well for their academic or learning pursuits this month. As such, students and scholars who are sitting for their examinations will be better off using another room. Otherwise, your results may not be as good as you expect them to be.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Things at work start to get a little demanding, and you might have to juggle multiple projects to please your superiors. If it becomes overwhelming, you need to speak up and ask for help. There is no shame in doing that, because you only succeed in providing half-hearted work if you don't have the time or the energy to give it your best!

Those of you using this room will find it a very good month for romance. If you're already in committed relationships, you'll find that your relationship can progress comfortably to the next level with very little effort on your part. If you're single and looking, this is the month to step up the pace (or make a move if someone has already caught your eye!) Those of you working in the engineering or travel industry should go forth and ask for a promotion this month as results are likely to be good.

This will prove to be a very good month, professionally, for people using this room. There are strong chances for a promotion for salaried employees, while those among you who are selfemployed or own businesses will be able to enjoy an enhanced reputation. Fame and increased business are likely to be the results of that. Personal relationships will also do well this month, so make an effort to forge closer ties with your loved ones.

Make this your month of self-improvement, as any attempts at selfcultivation will be fruitful and leave you feeling satisfied. Consider embarking on a new program for living, or take up meditation and other soul-replenishing activities. Clarity of thought is at its unvarnished prime this month, so it will be a good time to make an important decision you've been holding off. Health will generally be good, but ensure that there are no negative features located outside this sector.

August 7th – September 7th of 2010 甲申

People using this bedroom will be able to celebrate with some good news this month. Married couples may be able to welcome a new crying, squirming bundle of joy into their arms! The rest of you in committed relationships should be able to go forth and pop the question - and receive the desired answer. In terms of finances, it's all looking quite rosy as well – as property investments are likely to bring in positive results.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Uncle Scrooge has nothing on you this month in terms of a bad temper, as your mood will be lot sourer than usual due to the effects of sleeping in this room. This might lead you to be very anti-social, and you'll find it difficult to get along with others and simply enjoy a good time. Don't worry too much or push things along, because it will blow over soon. Partners in relationships should avoid being too clingy this month, as both of you need more space.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Trouble comes this month in the form of openly defiant and rebellious subordinates and employees. Try to find out the reasons behind this, as they are most likely disgruntled over some issue that proves to be quite significant. This is not the time for heavy-handed authority, as they are more likely to respond positively when you show some compassion. This way, the problem can be easily solved and everyone is able to move on.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Health concerns come to the fore this month, leading up to some troubling matters if you're not careful. In particular, food poisoning is very likely, especially if there are negative structures located outside this sector. If you are not careful, it's likely to lead to stomach and digestive problems that cause you much discomfort, even if it's not serious. Stick to low-profile, conservative investments this month, as financial loss rather than gain is likely to be the norm.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

You'll face quite a bit of difficulty at work this month, as very little support is received for your ideas and projects. Without the encouragement and help from others, the obstacles in place are likely to be harder to overcome. If possible, avoid starting any major or important projects this month. It will be better to just lay low and do your planning at this stage, conserving your energy and productivity for a more fruitful time in the future.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Those of you who are salaried employees will find that your employers' expectations start to increase tenfold this month! Dealing with their demands will be somewhat difficult, yet all you can do is to try to fulfill them to the best of your ability. If however, you find that the workload is too much to cope with, endeavour to discuss this with your superiors and try to find a middle ground that works for everyone.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

This is not a good month to indulge in gambling and speculative investments, as you may find yourself counting your losses more than anything else otherwise! It will be best for you to be conservative instead, and avoid all forms of risky financial endeavours. Romance luck is not too favourable for this month, and boring as this may sound, you will be better off focusing on your career at this point! Elderly ladies using this room should be careful of any stomach problems that crop up.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

For people relying on communication skills this month, whether it's your bread and butter or you're simply using masses of it to get things done, this month will give you some problems. You'll have trouble trying to articulate exactly what you want to say, or you may end up misfiring and sticking your foot into your mouth. As much as you can, think before you speak! Also, any pending legal matters in your life should ideally be put to rest – forever – this month. Otherwise, it could end up draining your finances, which is something you definitely do not need.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

At the workplace this month, things are liable to get somewhat nasty. Put all sharp implements away as backstabbing is rife! What you need to do is duck when you have to, and run when you need to. There is no sense in getting involved in office politics because it will only bring you pain and stress. Work pressure starts to mount, in general, so be aware of the effects this will have on you and your relationships.

This is not a good month for both professional and personal relationships, so avoid rocking the boat whenever possible. This is not the month to make a stand or put your foot down! Instead, do your own thing and stay out of the line of fire until things start to improve. Don't get involved in property deals that are particularly risky, as you stand the chance to lose in a big way. Be cautious when it comes to your finances, as it will help you go further in the long run. Health-wise, be careful of nerve and tendon injuries.

Vocal abilities are under strain this month for people using this room, so be especially careful if you need to deliver speeches and presentations, or are scheduled for any speaking engagements. It will be a challenging month for lawyers in general, as you'll find yourself facing some obstacles in putting your case across. People using this room will also find the competition heating up from professional and personal rivals, resulting in emotional situations heavy in manipulation and confrontations.

Your Wealth Luck is somewhat weak for this month, so all investment deals should be steadfastly avoided in the best interests of your bank account! This is also not the month to be particularly tenderhearted when people come by asking you for loans, as you're unlikely to see your money back if you lend it out. Health-wise, be careful of any physical injuries that could result in head or bone injuries. If any minor health ailments crop up, it would be best for you to get yourself bundled off to the doctor at the first chance possible to avoid serious complications in the future.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Where your professional life and work are concerned, this is a month for you to lay low and keep a low profile. Getting involved in anything too ambitious this month will only backfire. Likewise for all new projects and endeavours - best to begin it at a more favourable time in the future. In terms of your health, you take care to get all minor illnesses checked out - or otherwise, you might have a more serious problem on your hands. If possible, avoid long-distance travel by car or automobile this month, because accidents are very likely. Avoid breaking traffic laws as well.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Pregnant ladies should be careful this month, because complications with your pregnancy are likely if you're using this room. If possible, you should switch to using another room. Other health problems that are likely to affect people using this room include liver infections and skin disease. As much as possible, get adequate rest and give yourself plenty of respite so as to not overstrain your body. Be prepared for a fierce fight put up by your rivals and competitors this month, so get geared up for a battle that is likely to leave you feeling quite drained.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

The risk of fire hazards is quite strong this month, so be careful of your stove and kitchen gas outlets, and check all your electrical wiring. Where your work schedule is concerned, you need to take some time to plan and organise your projects carefully. If you find that your plate is overflowing or even filled to the brim, then make your opinion known and demand for a more reasonable timeline.

It's a good month for you to stick your toes in property dealings, but maybe one toe is just about best for now! It's better to be conservative with your finances than to splurge all-out this month. Any problems that come up in your relationships and marriages at this point in time should be handled with maturity, diplomacy and tact. Young children and toddlers are at risk for muscle, tendon and ligament problems and injuries this month, so pay extra attention to their movements this month.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Any disagreements or conflicts that crop up with your family members and loved ones at home must be addressed with diplomacy and goodwill this month, or else they risk escalating into something more serious. Be patient and listen to what others have to say before drawing your own conclusions. Those in the legal profession, such as lawyers and advocates, will have some trouble putting their cases across this month. Your chances of winning your cases this month are quite slim, so it might be best to push forward your litigation to another time where possible.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Health issues are of primary importance this month, as you're liable to be suffering from headaches and migraines that will greatly dampen your enthusiasm for the fun things in life. Make an effort to pay more attention to what your body is trying to tell you, and to give it what it requires, and you should feel much better. But bear in mind that any negative structures or landforms outside this sector could cause emotional instability or depression, or possible mental problems. If you find yourself unable to cope with the pressure, then don't delay in getting help.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

This month, it will be good to have your wall of skepticism back up again, because there will be plenty of fraudsters around ready to offer you too-good-to-be-true investment deals. Avoid getting into any of this, or you'll risk a serious financial loss. But rest assured that your mind is in top form at this point, and your thoughts have a clear-cut purpose and clarity to them – so it's the ideal time to put your strategic plans into action. You're likely to get the results you want.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

If you've long been in love and have been ready to take your relationship to the next level, then this is the month where you should pull out all the stops. It's a favourable month for you to pop the big question or at the very least, bring the topic up! The results are likely to be what you want. You might be doing well in your life and enjoying a few successes, but resentment and envy are ripe all around you. Don't feed the flames of others' jealousy by boasting about your achievements; instead, play it cool and keep a low profile instead. Better to share your happiness with those nearest and dearest.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Those of you who have business deals or connections with partners abroad are likely to have some unexpected financial gains this month. Health-wise, people who are already battling infections and illnesses should be extra careful this month, as internal injuries are likely. Be especially vigilant and don't take your physical wellbeing for granted. There is also the unfortunate chance for robberies and thefts to occur this month, so be cautious with your belongings, cash, and assets. Conceal the existence all valuables as much as you possibly can.

Elderly males who are using this room will have be careful with their health this month, as potential lung problems can develop into something serious. Take all proper precautions and visit the doctor as soon as something seems slightly amiss. Male teenagers who are using this room, meanwhile, will be a lot more rebellious and insolent than normal, so it would be a wise idea to consider using a different month to cool that defiant spirit. Those of you who are due for some form of progress in your career are likely to see a possible new position that brings with it greater power and authority for you.

If you're working in the service industry, you'll be enjoying relatively good business this month. But bear in mind that you must keep on top of your taxes, or otherwise all that good effect will be negated! People in the real estate or property industries will have to push a little harder this month to see any form of revenue. Don't be afraid to try new things instead of sticking to the tried and tested. Things on the home front will be less than rosy, especially in families where mothers and sons are living together. Arguments and conflicts are likely between these two members of the family, so the best way to overcome it is to let each other enjoy more space.

July 7th - August 6th of 2010 癸未

If you use a bedroom in this sector as a bedroom, emotional and psychological problems are likely to plague you and cause some discontent. Feeling edgy and anxious will be the hallmarks of the effects generated. People in the marketing and media fields will find the month tough going in many respects, and it will seem that despite all your pushing and prodding, not much results or gains are likely. In terms of striking business deals, this is the month to play it safe. Go with your gut instinct to trust people you've dealt with before instead of going down a whole new path.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Watch your words this month, as any words spoken out of rash anger or emotion are likely to get you into some trouble. This is trouble you don't need, so you're much better off remaining silent when you can't think of anything nice to say. In terms of romance, any new encounters this month should be kept casual and light, as the chances of those becoming serious and long-term are slim to none. Fraudsters and conmen are still out to make a killing, so go into any deals or professional negotiations with your eyes wide open and your guard up.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

If you're in real estate and property investment, this is a good month for you to give your portfolios a nice boost. Strong results are likely. Those of you who are married with find this month bringing about its fair share of tension and stress, putting some pressure on your relationship and causing more discord between the two of you. As serious fights could lead to separation or even divorce, don't let anything fester for too long. As much as possible, avoid fighting over anything as well, as these are likely to end badly.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Where health is concerned, liver-related trouble and illnesses are what you need to watch out for this month. If you work in the travel industry, you can expect some abrupt changes and developments that could actually turn out very well for you, and lead to some nice increased profits! Those of in the midst of negotiations will that things are going well, only to have rug abruptly pulled out from under you. Try to keep your expectations low, and don't put all your eggs into one basket.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Things on the career horizon are looking bright for you, and all the hard work and effort you put into your job will not go unnoticed! You might be looking at a possible promotion and/or raise that are bound to keep you happy. Where your physical health is concerned, it's a good month for you to get moving and head to the gym! If you've ever wanted to lose some weight, there's no better time to start than now. However, the possibility of car accidents is very strong, so be carefully when you're behind the wheel and limit long-distance travel.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Those of you who have been feeling under the weather and somewhat physically weak should avoid using this sector as much as possible. If any of your illnesses become worse, it would be best to consult a doctor as soon as possible. Decisions involving your business deals should be postponed to a later time. Otherwise, the risk of disputes or slander is high, and this is the kind of trouble you don't need at this point. You'll need to be a little more eagle-eyed with your staff than normal, as there are a few of them defecting to the other side... or just attempting to get away with some fraud.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

If your work involves research and strategy, then you'll find this to be a good month professionally. You'll be able to rise up the ranks and make a name for yourself in your career. This is the time for you to step up to the limelight and shine. However, most people using this sector will find that, in general, emotional instability is a constant plague. Overstress and anxiety could lead to a mild form of depression, so try to counteract that by doing soothing, uplifting activities that can absorb your attention without draining your energy. If you're signing important documents, reread the fine print and be extra careful with what you put your name to.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

Pregnant ladies using this room should be careful, as possible complications can arise as a result of using this room, especially in relation to the confinement period. Try to use another room for the month if possible. In general, for everyone using this room, health problems to watch out for include possible kidney ailments. People in the media and publishing fields will find that any investments that are made this month are likely to bring in profits, so go all out in pursuing the leads that seem particularly good.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Economists among us will find this a good month, as their skills and expertise are more in demand than ever - giving a nice boost to their income while cementing their professional reputation. People who work in the sports equipment and fitness apparel industry can look forward to good results, but only after overcoming quite a few obstacles. While the initial hard work can be demotivating, persevere on because the end results will be more than worth the effort. In general, the risk of theft and burglary is high, so take extra precautions and enforce a home security system.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Expectant ladies who use this room could suffer a possible miscarriage, so it might be better to consider using another one. In general, people who use this room will be prone to stomachrelated illnesses and trouble, especially elderly women. Take proper precautions and don't neglect your health. Fire-related accidents and hazards are very likely this month, especially if there are negative landforms or structures outside this sector.

If you've been harbouring thoughts about starting new ventures in the communications industry this month, think again - because there are many impediments along the way that will slow you down and cause unnecessary delays and losses. It will be best to attempt this at a more favourable time in the future. Those seeking some short-term romantic pleasure will find that flings will bring their fair share of mud being slung at you! You don't need more trouble at this point, so don't go looking for any, either. Ladies who invest in business deals and ventures in another country are likely to enjoy good profits.

Fire hazards crop up again this month, so do be careful with your electrical appliances, and double check all electrical wiring and gas valves and openings thoroughly. Don't be negligent and careless, as the risk is high. Avoid getting into any joint ventures at this point, because they could bring you financial losses instead of success. If you're an entrepreneur or a businessperson, let your wildest, most innovative idea take root - it will bode well in terms of promoting you and your career, and you will gain admiration and acclaim.

There are plenty of opportunities for you to smile this month, as you are likely to enjoy good Wealth Luck - with opportunities to make a small killing in the property and real estate industries! Additionally, your personal relationships are enjoying some good vibes, so make an effort to spend more time with the people you care about as this emotional investment will bring about its own rewards. If you own a business, this is the right time to attract new customers and clients that could lead to solid financial returns, so make a concentrated effort to pull them in. Try out new ideas and techniques that could give you a different response.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Be careful with your personal belongings, money, and valuables, as there is an increased risk of robbery and theft this month. At the same time, professional rivalry really starts to heat up. You'll need to protect your material and intellectual properties equally, so it'll be a balancing act for sure! Married men should steer clear of temptation, and avoid doing anything that will compromise the sanctity of your marriage vows. Otherwise, you might risk causing some serious damage to your relationship. In general, people using this room should be careful of potential injuries to the limbs.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Lawyers and solicitors are likely to have a good month of it, as business prospects come your way and you reaping the benefits of all that! Enjoy the results of your hard work. Elderly women who use this room should be prepared for possible limb-related injuries or health problems, so don't take any warning signs lightly. People in the cellphone and telecommunications device industries will enjoy a good month as financial profits come rolling in.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Those of you who are just starting out professionally in the sports arena will find this a good month to focus on the specific sport you're interested, and develop your talent. The results are likely to be very good. Women involved in business ventures, especially those in the medical field, will do well to make some wise and clever business deals that could rake in some huge profits. At work, keep an eye on your competition, or otherwise you could find yourself mired in a messy argument or lawsuit.

People in the cellphone industry who found much to be excited about in a previous month will now have to battle annoying technical problems and glitches. It will take up all of your time and energy trying to put these things to right. If you're an actor, or a doctor, you'll incite the interest of the media this month – and this will be a good thing! Your reputation will enjoy a nice boost that will bring in further accolades and benefits. This month, err on the side of caution and try to be conservative, as otherwise you'll find yourself trapped in some sticky legal complications that will require the intervention of lawyers.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

You might be overwhelmed by the demands of your relationship this month, but it's not an excuse to run away. In fact, don't try to dance or party your sorrows away in clubs and bars as you'll be mired deeper in unwanted problems. This is a good month to look on the bright side of things, and failing that, do some soul searching. You just might be able to find the solutions to your problems if you look hard enough. Career-wise, you are ripe for some recognition, but you need to be wise enough to find the avenues to carve out a good name for yourself.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

There's no better time than the end of the year to forge closer ties with your colleagues and business partners and affiliates, along with your family and friends. Thriving, well-nurtured relationships are the bedrock to a happy existence, and you'll have plenty of chances to water yours with love and care this month! Your Wealth Luck is also good this month, and there will be plenty of chances for you to make some good profits from the entertainment and property industries. While this is a good month for you in all respects, be careful of international business deals and contracts, as you might miss something in the legal fine print that could cause some problems. Have a lawyer look over your documents to be safe!

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

Adolescents using this room will be hard to handle this month, being more rebellious and insolent than usual. Parents might find it hard to make them see reason, so if you think it's worth the effort, it might be better moving them into another room and out of this sector. If you're into professional sports, be careful this month, as leg and tendon injuries are very likely. Those of you in the engineering and paper industries will find it a good month in terms of increased business and profits.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Put your health as your first priority this month, because you're likely to be facing some health issues that could be further exacerbated if you're negligent. In particular, kidney and stomach issues could crop, especially if there are negative forms or structures located outside this sector. People with real estate investments should consider selling off some of their property this month, as the value would have appreciated and the chance to make some profits is high.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

While your health troubles are lessened somewhat this month, you still need to be careful of potential headaches and migraines. Ensure that you get enough rest as too much stress will only make things worse. If your job role involves strategic thinking and analysis, this will be a goo month for you! You'll see chances to advance your career and strike a reputation for yourself. Use your talents and skills to your best advantage and plan carefully on how you can let others see the best of your true abilities.

Long-term investments bring about great dividends for you this month, but steer clear of getting too gung-ho and confident by trying to continue your winning streak the wrong way. Don't get into any short-term investments at this point hoping to make a quick buck, because the opposite is likely to occur. Sons who use this room may be particularly defiant towards their fathers, and some discord could be likely on the home front. But otherwise, health and relationships are both good for most people using this room, and you'll definitely feel a sense of rest and relaxation seeping into your life.

If you find yourself in need of help this month, don't be afraid to ask for it. There is no shame in being sincere and upfront about your needs. This may be particularly relevant where your business projects are concerned. Consider asking the opinion of an older or wiser mentor, and you just might see the negative transforming into the positive faster than you expected! Stress and mental pressure affect you quite strongly this month, and that in turn will play havoc with your ability to think clearly and reason things out. Ensure you have some time-out for relaxation, and don't overstrain vourself.

People who work in the legal and advertising industries will find an increased demand for your skills, which will have good repercussions in terms of bolstering your finances. However, for most people, jealousy and competition will start to heat up at the workplace, causing some messy legal issues if left to escalate out of control. If possible, try to play the role of peacemaker and smooth over ruffled feathers, lest the situation explodes into something that no one can handle. Those of you in the throes of new love would do well to bear in mind that these are likely to be short-term rather than long-term, so keep your expectations in proportion.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

This is not the best time for you to consider thoughts of business expansion, as it will not work out in your favour. Spend your time concentrating on your core products or services, instead, and wait for a better time in the future to consider further development. High-risk investments should be avoided this month at all costs, because it could bring about some potentially severe legal problems. People who work in the engineering industries will be well-supported by their bosses and superiors, leading to some nice financial remunerations!

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

That's the sound of Cupid's arrow hurtling through the air that you're hearing this month! Romance in all its flowery and sweet guises is likely to sweep you off your feet, so if you're single and ready to mingle – go out and do it! Health-wise, however, possible eye ailments or infections are likely, so do take care of them you'll need them to help you scope out your potential romantic partners. If your line of work falls under state security and defense, this month requires you to do your homework before you invest in any new technology. Knowing exactly what you're doing will help you increase your profits.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

If you work in the printing, courier, or logistics industries, you will need to travel out of the country to seek new markets for your products and services this month. However, look upon these travels with a bright eye, because they're likely to help you rake in the profits. People using this room will suffer from mental stress and emotional instability, so be prepared for some topsy-turvy thoughts and feelings. However, it's a good month to reach out and forge a new alliance with another party or person, as it will likely lead to a profitable future.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Fathers and sons will run into problems with each other again this month if they use this room, so it might be best to keep them out of this sector where possible. Some minor health issues could also be quite bothersome, but take the time to treat it properly as otherwise it could grow into more serious complications. Steadfastly avoid all forms of speculative investments this month, unless you're in the engineering industry – in which case you should expand and actively seek out new clients and customers.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

You will enjoy a positive and harmonious relationship with your partner this month, so take advantage of this time to cultivate the relationship and foster closer and more intimate ties. In terms of wealth, you'll be able to gain some money from investments previously made in the real estate and property industries. In general, this month brings about some happy tidings for you – so don't be afraid to indulge in a few celebrations!

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Romantic relationships begun this month or in the recent past are unlikely to turn to be anything other than short-term flings, so don't hope too much from it. Otherwise, you risk having your heart broken. Have an eagle eye trained on all your rivals and competitors this month, and this applies to everyone in the workplace – whether you're the employer or the employee. Just keep your head down and focus on your work, and things will likely blow over.

Bedroom Sector Main Door Southwest Northeast

Deals and negotiations made under the table could cost you more money in the long, on top of exploding in your face, so you should ensure that everything is on the straight and narrow. Rivals in the workplace, or even some of your subordinates, are looking for ways to step over you and pull out the rug from under your authority, so be wary and just a little bit guarded or you'll risk being caught by surprise. There is money to be made from property deals, but the legal details must be all sorted out first.

If you're looking to conceive or start a family, then avoid using this room for the month as the energies will not be conducive. Watch out also for potential fire hazards and risks, so take all proper precaution and don't be negligent in any way. Also, be more careful when you're around hot water, as the chances of burns and scalding are high. On the whole, be careful of the tiny mishaps involving water, electricity, and fire.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

This sector will be well-suited for activities related to spiritual or religious knowledge and pursuits. Using it as a bedroom may cause some emotional turbulence or instability, and in some extreme cases, depression. Be on guard against this and sleep in another room for the time being, if possible. At work, you'll find yourself putting your nose to the grindstone but the likelihood of seeing any rewards for that is slim.

If you're in the medical industry, or work as a medical professional, you're likely to do well this month. But pregnant ladies are advised not to use this room, because the risk of complications and miscarriage is high. If you're in doubt, it would be best to seek the advice of your doctor at the first sign of trouble. The same applies to elderly ladies using this room – if something seems amiss, seek professional medical advice to avoid worsening complications. For those of you sitting for examinations, avoid using this sector for this month, or your results may not be good.

You'll be facing quite a bit of stress at the workplace, and if you're not careful this could lead to health problems - such as gastrointestinal issues and ulcers. If you can't avoid the stress, you will do well to learn how to manage it. There is no point in sacrificing your health for work! There is a strong likelihood that you'll be able to make money from investment in the property industries, but ensure that you take the time and effort to do your homework and analyse the deal from every angle. The worst thing you can do for yourself is to rush into something blindly just because the opportunity presents itself.

Those of you in marriages or committed relationships will find this a particularly difficult month, so you will both do well to be more tolerant and forgiving. There's no point in uttering the first hurtful word that comes to your mouth, as you'll only do your relationship a disservice and bring about needless pain. Those of you who are writers - or wishing to be one! - should stop dreaming about doing it and actually do it, as the energies are conducive for your literary pursuits. So get those journals and notebooks out and start scribbling!

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

If people already gravitate towards spiritual and religious pursuits, the energies prevalent in this sector could precipitate the inclinations further this month. Where health is concerned, however, you might want to get a professional medical opinion if some particular situation is troubling you. Otherwise, it could become a persistent illness or symptom. It's a favourable month for those of you dealing in real estate and property, and it'll be a good time for you to acquire new portfolios, even if these are small ones.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

This month, you'll do well to steer clear of signing important documents and contracts. This is because things are not what they seem, and you'll have to ensure that you're paying attention to the fine print and understanding all that each and every word implies. If you're sitting for a major exam this month, avoid using this room if possible. In general, arguments could plague domestic harmony this month, causing family members to exchange heated words with each other. If you can't exactly prevent every argument, then keep your cool throughout each and every one to avoid saying anything you will regret later.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Depression and stress-related mental anxiety will plague the people using this room this month. You need to manage your lifestyle carefully, or otherwise risk paying the heavy price of emotional disturbance. The plus point is that it will generally be a problem-free month for people using this room, so if you're committed to finding peace of mind, you're likely to find it! Make an effort to streamline your life according to your desires, and you're likely to feel rested, peaceful, and well-adjusted.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

All of you professionals in the legal field will enjoy bouquets, not brickbats, this month! Your contribution to your field of work will earn you the respect and esteem of others, cementing your reputation as one of the top ones in your line of work. Healthwise, the presence of any negative landforms outside this sector could cause some serious health implications, which can include diseases as severe as cancer. There are substantial financial gains to be made from all your business dealings, but make sure you know exactly what to do in order to actually see these profits.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

There is much money to be gained from property investments this month, so use all your knowledge in this field to make it work for you! Your personal life is not going as smoothly as you'd like, because those of you who are married will be facing some problems with your in-laws. Smooth over these problems as best as you can, as there is no point in fanning the flames with more anger. Where your physical health is concerned, be careful of any illnesses that could affect your spleen or internal organs, or you're likely to be seeing the interior of a hospital more often than you'd like.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

It would be a wiser move to refrain from making any major investments or starting up new projects this month. The only things you're likely to get are the effects of some poor decision-making, so it would be best to put it off to a more favourable time in the future. Couples should avoid using this sector for the month, because the energies present will be somewhat detrimental to the harmony of your relationship. Those of you working for others, keep a low profile. Just concentrate on your work and avoid getting into anything that could lead to an argument or even a legal problem.

Students and scholars set to write important examinations should probably spend more time in this room, or use it for their studies and revision. People who are involved in research and development should probably also grab the opportunities presented this month, and go forward and publish their thesis or papers. Newly-weds and those of you starting on the first rosy steps of new relationships will find this month rewarding in all things romance! Minor conflicts are easily smoothed over, and a general sense of harmony and contentment pervades.

Business deals that take place this month will be golden, so any opportunities that come up this month should be grasped without hesitation! Females who work in the entertainment industry will benefit tremendously this month, because you'll be subject to accolades and acclaim. You will be justly rewarded for months of hard work and effort. Couples who have long pondered the issue of matrimony can officially set the date for wedding bells to ring.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

People in the forestry and dairy farming industries will find business demands increasing this month, which is good news for you, because revenues and profits see a happy upward spike too! In general, it's a good month for you to make a property-related investment or enter into property deals. Elderly women using this room might have migraines, or in worst-case scenarios, a stroke. Pay attention to all any signs that indicates something's amiss.

If you're a lawyer, legal advisor, or someone working in the legal field, your expertise is very much in demand this month! It's best that you gear up for a productive but busy time ahead. However, it's best that those of you using this room steer clear of conflicts, arguments, and quarrels this month. They might take a turn for violence, and this is not something you want to be caught up in. Be particularly careful when working with sharp tools and implements this month, like knives and scissors.

For professional sportspeople and individuals involved in competitive sports, this is the month to make a name for yourself and cement your reputation as one of the best. However, bear in mind that won't necessarily come with financial rewards! Romantic relationships will start to take on a whole new level of intensity and commitment this month. It will be a good time to make important decisions together or to have that talk you've both been putting off for awhile now.

For people using this room, it would be best to avoid business deals, ventures, and investments this month as the outcome will not be favourable. There will be more chances of losses than gains. Married couples will have to endure strained, tense relations this month. Instead of pushing the matter, simply give each other more space and things will return to normal. This is not a good month to play in the stock market, as only financial losses could result.

August 7th – September 7th of 2010 甲申

Females in the professional arena with female superiors and bosses will find this a month of recognition. You'll finally be duly recognised for your diligence and hard work. It's also a good month to satiate that travel bug in you, so get your bags packing and get on that plane to that far-flung island you've been dreaming about! Those of you in management and consulting, and there are good financial benefits to be gained, and profits to be enjoyed. You will see a substantial increase in your wealth standing.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

If you're travelling this month, you should be prepared for last minute changes and problems that could hamper an otherwise smooth trip. It might also require you buying some health insurance. Those in the fashion and cosmetic industries will find this a good month in terms of increased exposure and revenue. Where your professional life is concerned, things seem to be on an upswing, as recognition comes your way and a promotion and advancement are in store. But you will need to bear in mind that these come with its own set of responsibilities and issues.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

You might run into some problems with female subordinates at work, so be particularly cautious this month. Ensure that all your communication is clear and direct. You'll have good opportunities to make a profit from property dealings abroad, and this will work out even better if you're required to travel to sign the documents! If you're interested in meditation and reading, this room will be conducive for those activities.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Singles who are looking for love will be in a good position to find it this month, but this is only if there are no natural water formations located in this sector. In general, it's a good month to consider expanding your business or building alliances with international partners. At the same time, do consider revisiting business connections made in the past as these will bode well for you. People in the mining and engineering industries will find that their business does well this month, and profits come trickling in.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

This will not be the ideal month to engage in speculative or high-risk investments, so it's best to just lay low and keep your money safe. Otherwise, you'd end up with less than what you first started out with! However, it is a good month to focus on building relations with your colleagues, business affiliates, partner, and loved ones. Generally, all relationships will be infused with an air of contentment and intimacy, and will bode well in sustaining long-term ties. If there is work-related travel in the cards for you this month, grab the opportunity, as it will bring about an enhanced stature and reputation.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Females will be at a higher risk of breast cancer in general, while all individuals should watch out for potential liver problems. It would be best to go for a thorough medical check-up just to be safe. Business owners should ensure that they don't cut corners in making deals this month, or else the long arm of the law could catch up with them at some point in the near future! Avoid gambling or speculating on property or real estate, because you stand to risk more losses than gains.

Bedroom Sector Main Door Southwest Northwest

A pat on the back for your diligent perseverance thus far! This is the month when you can sit back and say, "I did it!" The rewards and recognition come fast and furious, and with it, the chance for a promotion. Forget about being humble and modest for once, because this time you deserved it... so enjoy it! Those of you who are sitting for exams this month will enjoy the energies present in this sector, because it will prompt you to do well.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Good luck with the ladies and the men follows you around this month if you use this room. If you've long been single and antsy to get into the dating scene, this is a good time to begin! Those of you working in the engineering and travel industries should take this month as a chance to make the most of every opportunity that comes your way. The ability to gain some wealth increases, so make the most of it and you might be laughing on your way to the bank.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

If you're working in the academic, mining, or engineering fields, this is a particularly favourable time for. Make great opportunity of what comes your way, and be especially crafty with using your vast network of contacts. People can be your ticket towards gaining more revenue and opening up new vistas. As your professional and personal relationships start to improve, you can make more of an effort to cultivate your ties with the various people in your lives to keep the important ones permanent.

Things are good in terms of pursuits of the spiritual or religious nature, so if you've been doing a little meditation and mind-development exercises of late, this is the beneficial sector to use. If you work in the cosmetic and fashion industries, you need to remember that one day you're in, and the next day you're out... so make the most of your opportunities this month to promote and market yourself aggressively! There is gold to be struck but only if you're willing to put in the effort and the legwork.

Cupid will smile upon couples using this bedroom for the month. If you've long been in a relationship that's heading towards matrimony, don't be too afraid to propose to your loved one if you feel like it's time! If you're married and have always wanted to start a family, this is also a good month to try. Professionally, people dabbling in the real estate and property industries will be able to make quite a few profits from their worthy investments made earlier.

If you own a business, conduct regular audits to ensure that nothing amiss is taking place, as fraud will prove to be quite a costly burden to bear this month! There is never such a thing as being too safe, rather than being regrettably sorry. Make the most of your connections this month, because you'll have a chance to take some of your contacts and make them work for you – in terms of gaining profits. It's a good time to begin some mass exposure for your business or your work by engaging the mass media, so go all out on a well-planned and well-thought out publicity blitz.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Be disciplined and be cautious, especially if you're involved in metal, futures, equities, or stock trading. For those of you working for others, this is the month to toe the line and smile sweetly, because challenging or questioning authority can lead to embarrassment for you. Also, a possible defeat is likely. Don't think too much about them, and concentrate instead on your work. Parents who find their kids disobedient or rebellious should consider moving them into another room, or risk plenty of conflicts and high-pressure negotiations!

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

This will be a month to give your mind a break, so avoid having to make big decisions. You're under quite a bit of pressure from your work, and you're not in top form where mental reasoning is requited. You'll be somewhat short-tempered too, as a result, so it's best to bite your tongue, more often than not... and ride out the month. Otherwise, you'll find yourself embroiled in a nasty fight that does nothing to assuage your stress! Watch out for possible illnesses like heart or eye disease. Get a thorough check-up if it's overdue.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

This will not be the ideal room to use this month if you're a student or scholar sitting for an important examination. It might be better for you to do your revision and studies in another sector. If you're female, you will be facing some trouble at the workplace, as you'll find it hard to be suitably supported by your superiors in all that you do. Be careful that you don't step on any toes, and if you need something clarified in black and white, then that is what you should ask for. The rest of you, especially those who own your own business or company, will find it a good month to increase your reputation as long as you keep an eye on potentially-disloyal employees. They could besmirch your good name through acts of fraud.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Those of you involved in the fields of counseling and psychology will see an increase or surge in people's recognition and need for your skills. More than ever before, people will be flocking to you for your expertise, and you'll be more than able to help. Students and scholars sitting for examinations will be happy to see some good results coming in this month.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

If you were born in the Year of the Goat, you should be a little more patient and diplomatic when dealing with unpleasant or plain weird situations. Becoming rash and hasty as a result of your temper or impatience will only serve to set you back further. So exercise a little willpower, and you'll be all the better for it. Romance luck in general improves for people using this room. Use this time to delve deeper into a current relationship, or start a new one that bears promise.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Good academic results and performance awaits people who use this sector for the month, so pop the cork on the champagne bottle and celebrate! You'll also find yourself advancing nicely in both professional and personal relationships, cultivating better relationships that propel you forward in your life. Make the most of the good energies by spending more time with the people you care about, as it will greatly improve your sense of wellbeing.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

A month of jealous tensions could cause some marital discord or relationship trouble for people using this room this month. Don't let pent-up resentment dictate the flow of your actions or words, as some of that will be hard to undo in the future. If you're signing documents this month, don't! It might be better to put it off to a better time, as legal issues might cause some problems this month. On the home front, you will need to check all electrical wiring and be careful of any fire-related hazards.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Joint ventures or partnerships are touched by Midas' hand this month, so it will do you well to take advantage of the opportunities that crop up! Don't delay in taking action when it is needed; this month requires courage and swiftness on your part, before any form of rewards or benefits could come your way. If you're involved in competitive sports, this could be a stellar month for you. However, you need to be aware that there are plenty of people around wishing to bring you down. Be on guard.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Those of you in the property and real estate industries will find this a particularly tough and challenging month. This is mainly due to the fact that you have trouble organising your thoughts and achieving some form of clarity in your analytical processes. This might cause you unnecessary problems when it comes to making decisions, so it might be better off for you in the long run to delay those decisions, if possible, to a better time in the future.

Where health is concerned, kidney problems might plague the people using this room this month, so watch out for signs of those and seek medical opinion early, if necessary. Children or students who need to sit for important examinations should be careful about using this room for revision and study, as any negative structures or landforms outside this sector could cause some problems. If you have any offshore deals in the making, best wait for a more favourable time in the future before finalising them.

This room could cause fights and arguments and cause both partners to be at odds with each other for couples using this room. This is a month to be especially careful with the things you say. Weigh each word carefully before uttering them. Legal problems rear their head again this month, and possible betrayals and about-faces are likely. People might turn against you, poisoning the reputation of your business. This is will no doubt bring about its fair share of stress and anxiety, and the rumours are likely to affect your business relationships - but keep your head low and endure it, as it will blow over very soon.

Elderly males using this room will do well to get their health problems checked out early this month. In the real estate business, there are plenty of good deals to be made and struck. However, you will need to exercise your analytical powers to choose the right ones and make a home run! It will be worth your time to be completely thorough in checking out credentials. In fact, it is particularly important that you sift through all the information you come across this month, because people are out to pull the wool over your eyes.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Temptation does its devilish dance in front of most people using this room this month, and it's a particularly testing time for newlyrecovering alcoholics. The best way to cope? Put yourself out of the way of all forms of temptation. In general, romance fares quite poorly for this month. Possible affairs are likely, or the temptation is there for one, causing strain to fall on the relationship. Be careful how you proceed, as the consequences are serious and breakups and separation are likely.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Relationships that begin this month or were begun in the recent past are not likely to have long-term potential. It would be wiser for you not to invest your all into it. It will be a better long-term investment, instead, for you to focus on your career and work on building up your professional life. Medical problems that start off as minor and unimportant could become more serious in the future, so get medical treatment even if it seems like a trifling issue at this point. If you work in the entertainment industry, exercise extreme care and deliberation when signing contracts, and don't put pen to paper if even the smallest thing seems amiss.

If you're married, pay more attention to your spouse if you feel you've been spending too much time on your career. If you're the neglected one, then make your feelings known instead of letting it fester inside. Those of you in real estate, or with property deals and investments, will find that profits find their merry way to you this month – but you'll need to be quick enough to make the most of opportunities as they crop up. Health problems involving the lungs might crop up this month, so take extra care.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Your health continues to be somewhat weak this month, so make an effort to put your physical health first and foremost. Ulcers could cause some problems if you're not careful. This is not a month to stick your nose into other people's problems and affairs, as you could get dragged into some sticky messes, and will only have to bear the brunt of other people's resentments as your reward. Relationships will be distracting you from more important matters at hand, so keep your concentration focused on what is of higher priority.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Your personal reputation takes centre stage this month, and not in a way you might have imagined! In fact, it could be that your name and character are called into question, so don't provide fuel to the fire in any way by making missteps. Pay close attention to your words and actions, being careful not to do or say anything in a fit of anger or carelessness. If you're a professional sportsperson, you will do well this month. However, it will be best to be wary of competitors.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Elderly men using this room will have to be careful of potential injuries to the head this month. Extra care should be taken when moving about or doing some challenging physical activities. Relationships tend to come under fire this month, regardless of whether it's personal or professional. There's not much you can do to alleviate the strain, so just let things run its course and don't react emotionally to the situations that crop up.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

Bright young kids using this room for exam preparation and studies will likely see the positive benefits in their examination results. It's a good place for mental alertness and stimulation. Watch the words that come out of your mouth this month, because any words said in haste or tactlessness could come back to bite you - bringing along some legal problems with it! Beware of competitors stinging you when you least expect it; to recover you need to be quick on your feet and agile in the mind, and be ready to flexibly import new changes if the need arises.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Be prepared to put in some long hours in the office this month if you want to keep your business flourishing, and see the profits continue to tumble in! Put in some extra labour now and you'll taste the sweet results of it for long after. Use expert knowledge, whether gleaned from your own research or through word of mouth, to accumulate profits from the real estate and property markets. Your personal relationships could falter under some heavy-duty arguments, but with an effort to keep things civil and diplomatic, you'll be able to come through with minimal damage.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Pay close attention to your employees this month, because they may be involved in underhand dealings such as theft and fraud. Ensure that stringent auditing procedures are in place. Business deals that are conclude abroad, or done with partners overseas, should be conclude this month. However, before you put pen to paper and sign any legal documents, be sure to read the fine print. If you've recently undergone any medical procedures, it would be best to avoid using this room.

At the workplace, you will need to keep an eye out on your competitors, because they will be going all out to keep you down. If you let them get away with it, they could keep a possible promotion out of your path. If you work with heavy machinery and dangerous tools, be extra careful this month. Don't be careless and negligent, or an accident could likely happen. In general, you're also at risk for car accidents and travel-related mishaps.

Avoid all forms of gambling this month, as the only things likely to greet you are heavy losses. You are somewhat reckless this month and far from being able to make good judgment calls! Even speculative investments are a no-no at this point, as financial losses are not the worst that can happen – legal troubles are! Employees and subordinates are likely to be defiant and rebellious at this point, and a confrontation might take you aback, so be ready to act to prevent things from getting worse.

People in the media and marketing industries will enjoy the fruits of this month, as it brings great achievements and high honour. You should enjoy what comes your way without worrying too much about the future. But for those of you who suffer from depression and related issues, it might be best to move away from this room for the month. Bear in mind that covert, underhanded schemes by your competitors will only lead to financial loss, and possible legal problems through fraud or embezzlement.

August 7th – September 7th of 2010 甲申

Those of you who work in analytical or scientific fields will enjoy the positive energies of this sector, and may find this affecting your work in good ways. You'll have clear breakthroughs in projects or tasks that you were working on. If you're in politics, going on a campaign for this month bring about high chances of success, but it depends on how aggressive you are! If you're in the communications and construction industries, you will be able to make good headway into your competitors' markets this month.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

This will not be the ideal month for you to ponder upon your relationship, or spend endless hours musing about 'where it's going' and 'what it all means.' Doing so can backfire on you and prolong any necessary actions you need to take. At this point in time, you will need to be more action-oriented. It's a good time to conclude any of your property deals, but be specific on the details - or otherwise, messy legal issues will rear their ugly head! If you fall ill this month, don't ignore the signs – what may seem trivial and minor could lead to something a lot more serious if you're not careful.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

There is a strong likelihood that you will have to battle rumours and gossip, which could lead to strong conflicts, while using this room this month. It might be best for you to switch to another if this is affecting your peace of mind. Those of you working in the publishing or printing industries will find this a good month in terms of financial profits, especially when it comes from sales abroad. If you're involved in any arbitration work, you are likely to see good results as your skills are very much needed.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Elderly males who use this room or sector will be susceptible to certain health problems and conditions, so it will be best to seek medical treatment immediately instead of pushing it forward to another time. Where relationships are concerned, it will be an exhausting month for those using this room. Your partner may suspect you of dishonesty and infidelity, so nip those jealous symptoms in the bud by being straightforward, or it could grow into something quite ugly. If possible, avoid going on any business trips this month!

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Possible injuries are likely this month, especially those brought on by driving accidents. So be extra careful and don't be negligent in your safety habits, like choosing not to wear your safety belt and suchlike. Your health isn't looking too rosy this month, either. You'll have to battle ulcers, gallstones, and possible liver diseases. This is also a bad month to indulge in your gambling instincts, because any risks you take with your finances will only end in severe losses. All speculative, high-risk investments should also be avoided – as it might result in lawsuits in addition to losses.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

If you're writing exams at this point in time, this will be a good room to use for your exam studies and preparations. But those of you in the business world will have to be extra cautious, because there is a likelihood of fraud and embezzlement. Put all your business transactions and legal documents under the magnifying class to make sure you catch all the details in the fine print! If you're looking to make more money, listen to the financial advice given to you by mentors or experts. This is the type of advice you can use for a long time, into the future.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

For mothers and daughters using this sector for the month, there will be some tension and stress to battle through – resulting in frayed relations. It would be best for both parties concerned to steer clear of each other and give each other some space until things start to improve soon. Negative publicity, and misunderstandings that arise out of that, will cost you your job if you're not careful. Play your cards well and be very careful. But those of you in the travel industry are likely to fare well, and can even consider expanding your business this month.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Pay more attention to your personal safety this month, so you will need to be careful of where you go, and what you do. It wouldn't hurt for you to be extra cautious and implement all necessary precautions. People working in the fashion and beauty industries will see their profits increase this month, which will generally lead to lighter spirits and moods among the employees. For those of you in the courier, logistics, and transportation industries, be on guard against deals that appear too good to be true – remember that all that glitters isn't really gold!

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Doctors and medical practitioners using this sector will find a demand for their skills increasing, as more people become aware of your expertise and want your services over that of others! Where romance is concerned, this might be a good month for you attempt a new relationship. This might be best among your own circle of friends and acquaintances, as you'll be able to skip that awkward 'getting-to-know-you' phase. Be careful of potential fires caused by faulty wiring, short circuits, and malfunctioning electrical equipment.

If you own or run a business, proceed with caution when you launch or undertake any new ventures and projects this month. You'll also need to be a little more eagle-eyed with your employees than normal, as some disgruntled ones are capable of committing fraud or embezzling your company. Pay attention to personal safety this month, and in general be more aware and less negligent as robberies and thefts are likely otherwise. Males using this room need to be careful of flirtatious, sweet-talking females... especially if your will is weak. Otherwise, you're likely to get yourself entangled in a sticky situation.

June 6th - July 6th of 2010 壬午

For females who have overseas investments and business deals, this will be a good month for you - especially if you need to travel to conduct those deals abroad. For most of you, good publicity will come your way this month, putting you in the limelight and catapulting your career forward in a good way. In general, people using this sector will do well to avoid disreputable nightclubs and entertainment outlets - because visiting these places will bring about more problems than fun!

July 7th - August 6th of 2010 癸未

Technical problems will be plaguing people in the cell-phone and communication industries, so you'll need to be ready to fix what is wrong, and be flexible and adapt to the changes. This month, in general, people need to be careful about what they say to others. Your casual or flippant remarks may go down the wrong way, which could result in problems. In personal relationships, too, watch out for potential jealousy issues that could cast a shadow over your happiness. Avoid responding with jokes or humour - this is a situation that requires maturity and tact.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Pregnant ladies will do well to use another room this month, as otherwise you can expect possible complications with your pregnancy. Ladies living together in close proximity will find themselves at odds with one another this month. Avoid all domestic problems by being neutral, and avoid fanning the flames with thoughtless remarks and insinuations. If you work in the travel and communication industries, it is likely to be a favourable month for you if you need attention and publicity to further your work.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

If you're single, available, and looking to start a relationship, then this will be a good month to scope for potential prospects among your friends! Short-term investments also bode well for you at this point, but you need to keep an eye out on the possibility of robbery or theft that will make any wealth you have a short-lived experience. For those of you in business, your reputation enjoys quite a boost, especially among your network circle. Keep up your high standards of service.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Fire hazards are very likely this month, so check the electrical circuits and wiring in your home, as well as all your gas outlets. Don't be negligent or careless with your safety. People sitting for important examinations should avoid using this room, and pregnant women should also refrain from using this bedroom – or possible complications could arise.

It's a good month for female entrepreneurs to venture into markets abroad, because there will be substantial profits to be gained from deals and agreements concluded in another country. But in general, people using this room should refrain from beginning new commercial ventures this month. You're likely to face some serious obstacles from the start, which will delay your progress and waste your time. It will be best for you to wait for another time. Be prepared for heartbreak this month, as possible romantic flings you're involved in could turn out to be a short-term one that may cause you some pain.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

It's a good month for those of you regularly bitten by the travel bug, as this month bodes well for all kinds of travel activities. Get your bags packed, book your flight, and get ready to expand your horizons! It's also a good month for prospective businesspeople, because if you've long wanted to begin an enterprise or start a business, this will be the right time to pursue your dreams. However, beware of potential unstable emotions that may plague you, and lead to a tarnished public image. Keep a tight lid on those explosive emotions, as otherwise it will get the better of you and ruin your reputation to some extent.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Those of you in real estate or property development, or have invested in those industries, will stand to gain a good amount of financial profits this month. In general, most of you will find this an ideal time to take down your professional competitors. You'll stand to significantly widen your customer base. Students and scholars who use this room to prepare for examinations will find the results positive.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

Avoid all forms of speculative investments this month, as the profits are likely to be anything but good. However, if you're in the engineering industry, this will be an ideal time to expand and seek new clients and business. Be careful of possible new travel-related injuries this month, especially to the limbs. If you're involved in competitive sports, you will need to be careful of potential sprains and tendon injuries that could end up being more serious. This is especially true if there are negative formations outside this sector.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

You're likely to gain some good financial profits at this point in time from property and real-estate related investments. This will be especially true if you've long been negotiating some serious discussions to conclude it. People using this room will tend to be overcome by some mental pressures, resulting in emotional volatility. If you already suffer from depression, you might want to consider using another room to avoid exacerbating the situation. If you're involved in the metaphysics field, or have strong interest in it, this is a good month to take advantage of the good energies of this sector.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

For those of you in jobs or career positions that require strategic thinking and detailed analysis, this will be a good month for you to advance your career and push forward. You'll be able to gain a name for yourself within your current company, or the industry that you're in. In general, most people will benefit from the presence of wise coaches and mentors, so make an effort to listen to their advice – as nuggets of wisdom are contained within their words. Rocky, struggling business relationships and partnerships will enjoy the benefits of the good energies of this room, as potential breakups can be averted and harmony restored.

People working in the entertainment and electrical industries should be careful, as possible bad business could lead to some serious financial losses. You might have to make more of an effort than usual in order to keep things going at an even keel. People holding positions of power and authority should be aware that there may be rumblings of dissent below you, creating various forms of challenges. At the home, this can be seen through disputes between sons and fathers, or sons defiantly challenging their father figures. Employers should be careful with labour relations and arbitration, because employees are likely to be rebellious and difficult to manage.

Good financial gains can be made by taking some risks and really making an effort to put yourself out on a limb; but focus on property or ailt investments because these are likely to give you high profits. Investment and merchant bankers engaging in stock and corporate deals will find that their bottom lines are well on the way to increasing. Elderly people using this bedroom for the month should try to use a different room, as there is a possibility of the risk of heart ailments.

At the workplace, you should be prepared for competition starting to heat up. Rivalry increases and jealousy and envy come to the mix, but extreme care needs to be taken not to allow this situation to escalate into hostility. If you're not careful, legal issues could be the ramifications. The best thing to do at this point would be to keep your head down and concentrate solely on your work. Those of you who are sticking your toes into the waters of love this month will find these new relationships to be fleeting, short-term affairs. Avoid investing too much of your time or emotions into it.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

It's quite a good month for people in the engineering industry to realise their aspirations and fulfill their dreams and goals. It will bode well for you at this point in time, especially if you have worked hard to gain these financial rewards and acquire some recognition. Fathers or sons using this room are likely to experience tense and strained relations. To ease the situation and make the relationship smoother, both should preferably be using rooms in other sectors. Negative formations located outside this sector could result in headaches or leg injuries for the occupants.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

In general, the situation at work will be less than ideal. Employees and subordinates are feeling disgruntled and defiant, and they are liable to betray their employers and their companies. At the very least, they may fall into behaviour and actions that could cost their company a significant amount of money. Also, hostile takeovers are very much likely this month - it would be better to take the appropriate action and have the initiative to right the situation, rather than be taken by surprise by the consequences. People using this room might also suffer from headaches and migraines, largely brought upon by stress.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

People in academia, or in the civil service, will receive due recognition for their work and research, and will also enjoy a heightened status within their industry. You will also find it a good month to make money through smart and well-planned deals, but beware of the negative aspects to the situation, as well. Some unfortunate accidents could result as a result of earning this money. Spend a considerable amount of time improving both your personal and professional relationships, as these will bear fruit in the later months. This is a good month to focus on intensifying your connections.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Tensions between fathers and sons are further heightened this month if both of them use this room, and this will be further exacerbated if there are negative structures and forms outside this sector. For the elderly members of the household using this room, don't neglect the signs of any minor ailments. Delaying medical treatment could result in further complications down the road. Professionals in the engineering industry will glean unexpected recognition, and possible financial rewards, if they use this particular room.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

In general, for most people using this bedroom, there is plenty to smile about as there is quite a bit of good news awaiting. Those among you who have put in your fair share of effort into your work, projects, and activities thus far will find it a good month to reap the benefits. It's also an ideal time of the year to take up some property or gilt investments, but it requires you to occasionally enter unchartered territories and take some risks. There are several ill-intentioned souls out to put a dent in your plans, so be on the alert for that.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Legal professionals and academics will find your skills much sought-after this month, especially as others become aware of your expertise and are keen to utilise your abilities. Any relationships begun this month, whether personal or for professional purpose, will be fleeting in duration. Don't put in effort and expectations like you would for long-term ones, and you should be fine. The green-eyed monster in all its forms will rear their ugly heads this month, which could cause a fair bit of trouble for you. Step away from the limelight and maintain a low profile, and things will likely blow over.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

It will be a good month for property investments, whether it may be in existing property or those in the development stages. You are likely to see some good financial benefits from these deals. For those of you who are interested in moving up the career ladder, and are looking to gain a promotion – this will be the month where your dreams are fulfilled. Moving up to the upper echelons of society is also possible, for those who desire such an ascent. This will be the ideal month to make significant changes to your home, or to put your house on the market if you've been waiting for the right time to do that.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Those among you who are doctors will find business prospects increasing this month. This is not so much that people are falling ill at a more alarming rate, but more because they flock to you for your superior skills and expertise! There is a very strong chance for most of you to make a decent amount of money from side investments this month. These are likely to bring you increased profits.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

If you're involved in spiritual pursuits, or interested in developing your spiritual or religious knowledge, this would be the ideal room to use. The energies present here are very conducive for those types of activities. Good financial gains could arise out of smart real estate ventures. However, bear in mind that this could bring with it its fair share of stress and tension, so try not to sacrifice your own peace of mind simply to gain more money. Those of you who work for others will find yourselves working harder than ever this month, but your income or benefits don't seem to rise in proportion.

Sudden business opportunities and deals that come up this month should be carefully considered and dealt with. You may want to enlist the help of experienced, skillful lawyers to help you weed out any irregularities before you get entangled in something messy. Haphazard thoughts and emotions could send relationships spiraling out of control this month, so most of you will do well to maintain a low profile and give each other more breathing space. It's not a good time to force any issue. Professionals in the legal field, especially judges and lawyers, will enjoy recognition and praise for your efforts.

Those among you working in the media, publicity, and journalism industries and fields will find money pouring into your pockets quite easily this month! Make the most of it, as you will have worked hard for these rewards. People involved in real estate will have ample opportunities to dabble in property-related speculative investments at this point in time. Most of you using this sector will find it a good time to immerse yourself in self-improvement and self-cultivation, so grab any chances that arise that enable you to take a course or program to improve your knowledge or skills.

Relationships come under fire this month for people using this room or sector, and constant arguments and quarrels are very likely. Try your very best not to contribute to the tension. Instead, aim to alleviate the situation by approaching it calmly, and without reacting to everything in an emotional manner. People working for others should be careful not to get too drawn into workplace politics and gossip, or to take sides in any disputes. Otherwise, these could erupt into large-scale problems that no one will be interested to clean up in the end.

August 7th – September 7th of 2010 甲申

The situation at work is a little tense for you this month, because there are plenty jealous subordinates and co-workers who will be ever-ready and willing to chip away at your efforts and hard work. Try not to pay attention to them, and instead focus on your work – and this will blow over quite swiftly! Avoid getting into any deals that promise short-cuts, or even underhanded methods of obtaining swift results. In the long run, it could turn out very sour and cost you quite a bit of fortune. However, your personal relationships are likely to do quite well this month.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Married couples should watch out for discords in marriage, resulting in arguments and general family disharmony. Make an effort not to let your emotions get the best of you. Endeavour to deal with the arguments and quarrels with a sense of proportion, and be patient and tolerant because it will go a long way! If you're a property developer, or involved in real estate, you will be able to make good, sound investments in property – but first you need to ensure that you read the fine print, or have the documents vetted by a skillful lawyer, to catch any irregularities.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Love is likely to bloom for singles who are available and on the lookout! You will find this a good month to meet a person who will capture your interest and send your pulse racing, so don't waste the opportunities that present themselves! Those of you involved in business ventures that require you to engage plenty of logic and deduction in order to produce your income will run into difficulties, however. But to improve your business opportunities, most of you should consider focusing on networking, as meeting new people could be the ticket to more profits.

Unfortunately, a month of unforeseen and unexpected problems is in store for you, so you will need to be quick on the uptake to be able to respond to these last-minute problems. It will be an ideal time to figure out a Plan B, and a Plan C too... for good measure! Your relationships will be plagued by misunderstandings, largely caused by tumultuous thoughts and emotions. It will be better for you to lay low and avoid pressing the issue or engaging too closely with others. What you and everyone else needs right now are more breathing space and time to let things simmer down.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Health problems and troubles are likely to crop up this month, resulting in colonic or gastrointestinal illnesses. Seek medical treatment as soon as something is amiss, as neglecting the symptoms will only make you feel worse in the long run. Those of you bitten by the literary bug, or with talents and interests in the area, will find this a month of recognition and rewards. Married women who are using this room and living in the same home as your in-laws will find that relations are testy and strained this month—so keep a low profile and try not to engage too closely with them.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Those of you who have an accumulated store of unpaid and uncleared fines, summonses, and taxes will do well to attend to these matters this month! Otherwise, you risk paying a heavier penalty in the form of legal problems. Elderly women who use this room or sector, and who drive vehicles, should be careful of potential car accidents this month. Try not to drive for too long, or for further distances, unless it is absolutely necessary. For most of you, personal and professional relationships come under fire as arguments and disputes, including backbiting, are rife. Keep a cool head throughout it all, and avoid dragging your emotions into the matter – as the results are likely to be ugly!

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

If you work in finance, you will need to travel quite a bit to solicit potential business prospects. See this as a good thing, because moving about to seek new clients and customers can bring very good results for you. Where work is concerned, in general, there will be quite a bit of competition and rivalry to deal with. Office politics will be at its height, requiring your adeptness at circumventing the stuff. It's not a good month to focus on romance, because you might find that your reputation will be the thing to suffer. It might be best to focus your energies elsewhere.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

If you're a student or a scholar sitting for examinations this month, you will do well to use this room in this particular sector. The energies present here are conducive to studies and revision. Any form of scholarly or learning activities that you do here are likely to be able to benefit you. If you are in politics, you will find this a good month, especially if you need to ascend the political ladder, and gain the support of the grassroots. It's a good time for you to do networking, as it will bring about good results and stronger connections with your clients and customers.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Jealousy has a big role to play in your relationships this month, so you will need to make an effort to keep everything at an even keel. Don't let the green-eyed monster take control, because otherwise jealousy and suspicion will take over the relationship and cause its downfall. Those of you in travel, logistics, and courier will find that this is the month to be vigilant and careful, as the turnover will be adversely affected.

Any form of speculative investments, especially in asset acquisitions, will bring about a surfeit of profits. This is particularly true if it involves travel abroad in order to gain it. If you have to sit for important examinations this month, you will do well to use this room – because it bodes well for scholarly pursuits. In general, you'll be able to enjoy favourable relationship conditions, but be careful of the presence of water in this sector. It could result in possible relationship scandals that will cause a significant amount of stress and anxiety.

Where your business relationships or partnerships are concerned, you will have to be careful of possible tensions and problems that could cause a strain. It will be best to avoid forming new alliances at this point in time, because it's not likely to work in your favour. You should also be prepared for possible rumours plaguing you and your business endeavours this month. While it may seem trivial, it could cause you some problems with wealth, and result in some messy legal issues. Relationships could also come under pressure this month, so you'll have more tolerant and less apt to losing your cool.

Gossip arising out of third-party interference will cause tensions in your marriage and relationships this month, so be careful to what you listen to, and to whom you put your trust. Otherwise, you'll have to endure certain problems that will have some longterm repercussions and consequences. If you choose to make investments in property this month, you are likely to enjoy some profitable results.

August 7th – September 7th of 2010 甲申

It's a month to take on significant and ambitious projects, as there are plenty of mentors and advisors around who will help you do what you need to do. Don't be afraid to ask for help when you need it, because you are likely to get the assistance that you need. For people involved in creative industries, you'll need to be ready to step into the limelight because you're likely to get the attention you need and make a name for yourself. Where your career is concerned, you need to make the right changes to ignite what is stagnant.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

For people who are in the food and beverage or entertainment industries, this will be a relatively profitable month. Go all out to make the most of the deals that will be headed your way! If there are any romantic interludes to look forward to this month, they are likely to be short-lived. It will be better for you not to put too much into it, and to focus on other aspects of your life instead. Healthwise, be careful of heart and eye ailments, as these are likely to develop into something more serious.

Those of you dabbling in the property field will be astounded by the many spectacular deals that come up. Keep an eagle eye out on possible good ones, but remember this month that you will need to close on your deals. This is a favourable month for all business deals in general. Where matters of the heart are concerned, bear in mind that your spouse will feel neglected this month, as your focus on your career could sideline intimacy and connection.

There's a time to be nosey, and there's a time to keep your nose strictly out of other people's affairs – and this is one of those times to do the latter! If you become enmeshed in the lives of others, you're likely to see resentment and brickbats being flung your way, as opposed to gratitude and bouquets. Where your physical health is concerned, get your travel and health insurance updated if you by chance you're going to be going out of town.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

For most of us, networking forms a big part of our day-to-day jobs. February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

If you're looking to expand any buildings, like your home or your office space, you should keep all expansion work to a later time. At this point in time, it would be best for you to focus on consolidation. For those hoping to gain some financial profits, it might be favourable to try conservative, long-term property deals. However, bear in mind that the results will take time to bear fruit. People working in the insurance industry will have to work long hours and put in overtime in order to prevent any potential financial losses.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Ruffled feathers and irritable tempers are more than likely to cast its long shadows over relationships this month. You'll have to battle out quite a few arguments, and with tensions running high, long-term problems as serious as divorce are likely to arise if you don't keep your own grievances and emotions in check. If speeches and presentations are likely to feature in your near future, be careful, because you could suffer from potential problems with your voice.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Older males using this room will find themselves being promoted to a position of greater authority, but it could end with disastrous results if you're not careful. If you own or run a corporation, be on the lookout for rumbles of discontent from among your employees. Disloyal ones are likely to pull the wool over your eyes to undermine the company and its superiors. For most people using this room, beware of stress and depression. You might be feeling less emotionally and mentally anchored than usual.

This month, you'll have to pay careful attention to your health. Any symptoms that seem minor should be checked out thoroughly, in order to prevent any serious illnesses from developing. In general, where work is concerned, you'll do best to lay low and avoid the ambitious projects this month. Things are not likely to progress smoothly, so it will be to your benefit to keep a low profile. Even in real estate and property transactions, you will do best to steer clear of major deals until a better time in the future.

Females using this room should be careful of potential cancer risks, especially breast cancer. Avoid succumbing to the temptation to engage in speculative or high-risk investments, including gambling. The chances of losses are higher than the potential gains. Problems come to the fore this month, both professional and personal. There are no easy solutions to solve them, as the source of most of it are also guite obscured. Be careful of potential enemies and rivals looking to take advantage of your situation, as well.

There is trouble brewing in your work situation, and it will not be the right to wholly depend on or rely on your employees. You might find that they create more trouble than what's worth. It will be best to postpone any projects that require sustained teamwork and the collective support of all your staff. Males might have to face off some lawsuits this month, especially those that arise out of car or vehicle accidents. People in serious relationships will find this a trying month of many arguments, disrupting the general peace.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

It would be best for pregnant women to avoid sleeping in this sector for the month, as otherwise complications could arise that could lead to serious problems. In general, people using this room should focus more on their careers than on their romantic lives, as Cupid's arrow is not headed in your direction at this point in time. Hold off on making important decisions if you're trying to expand your business - otherwise you could risk making some seriously dodgy ones that will cost you quite a bit in terms of finances.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

For people in the publishing industry, success and career advancement will come at the end - but only after slogging through some serious hard work! Also, be wary of certain someones who will go all out to undermine your position and point of view. You're likely to experience minor fallouts in your professional and personal relationships this month, so be prepared. It will also be a generally difficult month for lawyers, as you will face problems putting your case across in an effective manner.

Romantic relationships continue to falter under stress and extreme pressure, resulting in tense relations and frazzled nerves. It will be imperative for both parties to be more understanding and considerate to each other. People working in the IT industry will have a very good month, primarily due to new business opportunities springing up from connections and recommendations.

It's not a good month for your finances, and this is largely in due part to disloyal subordinates undermining your moves. Be careful of potential accidents that could be suffered in the hands of careless people. Possible muscles or tendon injuries could be the result. In general, using this room will aggravate any existing health problems, and create potential new ones. This is especially the case with eye diseases, or head injuries.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Where your health is concerned this month, try to avoid eating out. You might have to battle some indigestion and stomach troubles. It will be best to prepare the food at home, for the sake of your physical wellbeing. Lawyers will find their number of clients increasing this month, so make the most of your extra business! Avoid making any significant financial investments this month, especially if you're in the communications industry – as the risk of losses is very high.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

People who have to sit for important examinations soon will have trouble focusing your attention, and will find your mind wandering. Try to reign in your concentration, or else it could bear repercussions in your exam results. Isolation and Ioneliness will plague the people using this room this month, so try to prevent it by seeking out the company of your good friends and family members. This is especially true if you wish to unburden some of the heavy cares on your soul. If you're involved in professional sports, it will be best to concentrate on improving your fitness level instead of participating in competitions.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

Those among you who work in the travel industry should consider expanding their business this month, as it is likely to be successful from the start. The energies are conducive for growth, so start implementing those well-thought out strategies! Actors and doctors will find that they suddenly attract media attention that will have positive effects on their careers and reputation. In general, however, the signing of documents should be kept to a minimum or preferably left for a more suitable time, as there will tend to be complications as a result of misunderstandings or misheard information.

If you've come into some extra money or material acquisitions lately, don't advertise this to others this month as there is an increased risk of robbery and burglary. There is also an increased risk of occupational injury, especially for people involved in hazardous jobs. Be extra careful when handling heavy and dangerous machinery. Negligence never pays, so value your own personal safety. Where relationships are concerned, this is a good month to start a new one – particularly with someone from amongst your circle of friends.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Those of you who are doctors are likely to have a more profitable month, due to your skills and expertise being recognised by a wider group of people. As such, they will choose to flock to you for your superior treatment rather than go elsewhere! Females in the medical and finance industries will find this a bumper month in terms of financial profits. All of you who are employed will find that opportunities to make a side income are very good, so here's your chance to further increase your income and pad out your savings stash!

There is no publicity that is bad publicity, they say, and this proves to be true for those of you involved in the jewelry or cell phone industries. You will find that a certain amount notoriety will actually help you improve your business! Women will continue to do well this month, although most people in general can expect promotions and recognition to come your way. But with this comes an increase in the amount of travelling you need to do for work. Those of you in weak health should be careful of food poisoning or blood-related diseases.

This is a good month for travel, so those of you who enjoy it should take advantage of the good energies of this sector and start packing your bags and booking your plane tickets! There is a fire hazard this month so be careful when using electrical appliances which are in need of attention. Also, examine all your electrical and gas outlets. But in general this month, you should be especially careful and refrain from attempting any reckless moves. Those among you who have created new inventions should use this month to launch it into the public domain.

It will be highly likely that your relationships - both personal and professional – may hit the rocks this month. But take heart, as the underlying reason behind this unpleasant scenario is plain and simple miscommunication. So be sure to talk to others, not about others, and you'll weather the storm quite nicely. Expect to encounter some disputes or arguments at the workplace, although it's always wise to stay out of any issues that may lead to misunderstandings. Most importantly, scrutinise all legal documents and contracts before concluding any business deals this month, to avoid the possibility of running into any legal complications later on.

August 7th – September 7th of 2010 甲申

This month, you must make a concentrated effort to mind the words that you say. It's only a myth to suggest that words will never hurt anyone, so pay attention to yours. This is especially true of the words expressed in anger or hurt. And this could lead to a conflict between the female members of the household, particularly if you share the house with your in-laws. Those of you sitting for exams in near future will do well not to use this bedroom. Professionals in the media and publishing fields can consider expanding their business this month, but ensure that you seek legal advice before you do so.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Love comes to those who go out and seek it, so if you're single and searching, then this is the month for you to enter the game of love! You never know when you might meet the love of your life, but even if you don't, chalk it all up to experience - which is invaluable. There is a heightened risk of theft and burglary this month, so it would be in your best interests to install a secure alarm and security system in your home and workplace. Lawvers and legal professionals will find that their services are much soughtafter at this point in time, leading to profitable financial gains.

If there are negative features outside this sector it would be very unwise to embark on any business dealings at all this month, as these will lead to financial losses – especially for people in the engineering and construction industries. Do not become involved in any property deals because these will end up in legal problems. At its worst, you might even wrangle with conmen who are out to cheat you of your money. Personal relationships will be strained this month, and make sure that you do not end up drinking too much as a solution to all of life's woes, as this could result in a serious addiction.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Fatigue and exhaustion may overwhelm you this month, primarily if you've been occupied countering opposition or intense competition at work. But remember that no job should be held at the expense of your personal health and contentment, so give yourself time to rest and recuperate to get back your energy again. Avoid embarking on all new ventures or enterprises this month, because you're likely to come across a few serious stumbling blocks that will put your plans on hold and invite needless legal complications.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Have a qualified electrician or professional in the field check the wiring and electrical appliances in your property, because there is a strong risk of a fire hazard. A good tip for entrepreneurs and business owners this month: make full use of the mass media in promoting your business's products or services, as it will lead to more revenue! In general, most of you stand to gain from greatly enhanced status, reputation and public image, but especially so if your core business revolves around real estate or properties.

Couples should try to use this room this month to foster closer ties and promote intimacy, and both of you will be feeling a lot contented with the state of your relationship. In the professional arena, don't just ignore your competitors – engage them in a strategic manner. You'll never know what opportunities could arise from increased profit margins, as well as widen your customer base. Professionals involved in the property and real estate markets will find plenty of revenue-generating opportunities, but be prepared to deal with a little conflict and misunderstanding that will arise before you're finally able to seal the deal.

Fathers and sons will endure increasingly tense and strained relations this month, particularly if either one of them is using this bedroom. Try to move them out to another room if the situation becomes particularly bad. Where investments are concerned, stay away from them – unforeseen legal problems could come up to further derail your plans. Those of you in competitive and professional sports should be careful of injuries this month, particularly sprains and tendon injuries. This will be especially true if there are negative formations outside this sector.

This is a good month to reevaluate your investment portfolio. Consider selling off those that have made good profits while investing in others that appear to have lucrative future potential. People who suffer from mental instability or depression should find alternate accommodation this month, as this room will tend to exacerbate the problem and create further emotional volatility. If you're involved in a family business, there are opportunities for prosperity, but you will need to be careful when signing documents and concluding deals as you could become confused or even fooled by others.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Your reputation and efforts at your job will finally be acknowledged this month, and your superiors will be inclined to reward you with substantial financial benefits. In general, relationships will run smoothly at this point in time, so if you wish to finalise the partnership, this is the month to take that big step! If you're an analyst, you will find this an exciting month as your career is liable to take off due to strategic positioning in the equities market.

Those of you aiming for the #1 spot in a professional sports tournament or competition should use this room, as it will be greatly beneficial in your endeavours. Similarly, employees and workers in the courier, logistics and printing industries should double their efforts this month, as you are likely to be rewarded with that promotion and salary increment you've been seeking all along! Married couples, however, are in a spot of trouble. Both partners need to be more mindful of each other's feelings and emotions this month, to preserve harmony in the relationship.

This is not a very favorable month for most – if not all – endeavours, to say the least. Elderly males using this bedroom may find themselves especially susceptible to lung problems this month, so extra care and attention must be paid to their health. Employers might find it necessary to keep a tighter rein on their company's finances, as employees will tend to be disloyal and even dishonest at work. Keep an eagle eye out for all fraudulent activities. If you're a salaried worker, however, you may also well find your efforts going unnoticed by your superiors - so be patient, and continue to work diligently.

Couples using the North bedroom will find their relationship harmonious and thriving this month. Communication flows smoothly, and it will lead to an increased sense of contentment and happiness! Use this room if you will be sitting for an important examination soon, or if you happen to be involved in the academic and scholarly fields. Meanwhile, those of you in the marketing, consultancy and strategic-planning businesses will find your services and expertise much sought-after this month - so go ahead and show them what you're made of!

August 7th – September 7th of 2010 甲申

Stay away from any form of speculative investments this month, although you may most certainly use this time of the year to expand your business and widen your clientele base. This will be especially pertinent if you're involved in the engineering business. And do not neglect any seemingly minor ailments, or they might develop into more serious conditions. Therefore, seek the advice of your doctor at the first sign of trouble or irregularity. If you're going to be travelling this month, be extra cautious, and ensure that you've the necessary insurance policies in place. This is because the risk of meeting with an accident while travelling is somewhat high.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Couples looking to conceive should try to use this bedroom this month, if you don't already. This is the best way to get your endeavours to bear fruit, so to speak! Meanwhile, metaphysics professionals should also venture forth and expand their businesses, as this is a good time to do so. And if you happen to have a portfolio of several properties under your wings, it will be the right time to divest some of these off, and pocket the profits from your investments. You might find yourself laughing all the way to the bank.

This will be a fairly good month to engage in long-term investments, so do your homework and research and get cracking! Those of you who are analysts will also find your career taking off quite nicely as a result of positive developments in the equities and financial markets. Ensure that you strike while the iron is hot. Similarly, academics, scholars and those involved in the literary, creative or artistic fields will find their skills and efforts recognised and possibly even celebrated, thereby bringing them a good measure of fame and brighter career prospects.

You will need to be aware of travel-related problems this month that could result in injury to the limbs. Be careful when you're out on one of your travel adventures, and invest in a good form of insurance. Injuries are also especially prevalent for those of you involved in extreme sports. Those among you who are working as salaried employees should watch out for competition at work and keep out of any arguments, as these could escalate and end up in legal issues and troubles. For those in the engineering industry, this is generally a good month, because there could be unexpected recognition and financial rewards coming your way if you use this bedroom.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Traders deeply immersed in the precious metals or metal futures market will derive beneficial spin-offs from their investments in these industries this month. Therefore, pursue any new leads with vigour and don't be afraid to take some bold risks. Newly-married couples who wish to enjoy a good start to your new life and relationship should also use this bedroom for happy results. Those of you attempting to invest in the stock market will do well to heed the advice of your mentors and financial advisors, and act on their suggestions accordingly. There is no reason for you to stumble about if you're unsure – ask for advice from the right people, and you're bound to receive it.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Don't expect any newfound relationship to develop into anything long-term or concrete, so save yourself the heartache and keep your expectations light. Avoid investing too much time and too many emotions into it. Jealousy and intense rivalry threaten to disturb your peace of mind this month, but you need to manage yourself carefully to prevent this scenario from escalating into something worse – such as a legal issue. On the other hand, this month looks set to be a positive one for legal professionals, as you will find your services and skills to be very much sought-after.

Bedroom Sector Main Door Southeast Northeast

Any underhanded deals may you attempt this month will end up turning sour and costing you money, so make sure that these are all above board and vetted by legal experts. It is not worth it to take a few shortcuts when the consequences could involve costing you more time and money. This is the month to invest in real estate but make sure that all the legal issues are taken care of beforehand. Those among you who expect to be promoted to positions of authority at work, and higher social status in general, could find your ambitions being fulfilled this month.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Educators, trainers and speakers will find this a difficult month as you will have significant problems trying to put your point across. This could lead to you feeling intellectually and creatively stymied for a temporary duration. Judges and doctors will find this a time when people come to them for help and advice, especially in difficult times. People who specialise in the metal futures markets will do well this month and should stay focused on that specific market and not try to spread themselves too thin, as this will not work. In other words, avoid being the Jack or Jill of all trades or you'll only suffer from a burnout!

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

People who are susceptible to spiritual activities and disturbances will find that they are especially adversely affected this month and should consider using a different room. Those among you who are salaried employees will find that no matter how hard you work, you will have difficulty translating that labour into financial profits and gains. Someone will always be undercutting you and causing unexpected trouble. Be patient, however, because this is only a temporary setback. If there are negative features outside this sector, then there is a chance for you to lose money in the stock market – so avoid dabbling in it at this point in time to be safe.

Medical practitioners will find plenty of opportunities to serve the sick and needy this month, and enhance their reputation in the process – so continue to do your good work, as all your efforts are recognised by the people who need it most. Be careful of any negative external formations outside this sector, as it could spell trouble in the form of stomach ailments, which will particularly affect the elder females in the household.

Expectant mothers are advised to avoid using this room for the time-being in order to minimise the risk of a miscarriage or possible complications. Couples using this room should be mindful of each other's feelings and sensitivities this month, to maintain harmony within the homefront, and for the sake of your loved ones. Otherwise, you risk being at odds with each other. All in all, the energies of this sector do not augur well for most - if not all – endeavors this month, as students using this room to study in will find their thoughts clouded, and their academic and mental abilities dulled and stymied.

Elderly males using this room are advised to go for a full medical check-up at the first sign of trouble, to prevent minor ailments from developing into something more serious and complicated. In general, people should avoid running afoul of the law this month, and conduct their behaviour well in public. Meanwhile, those involved in the field of research and development might want to refrain from making any important decisions this month, as your mind is not at its sharpest, and your ability to think rationally and logically is not be at its best.

August 7th – September 7th of 2010 甲申

This is a good month to invest in viable real estate or property developments, so act shrewdly and prudently, but be prepared to strike while the iron is hot. Those of you looking to sell your home may want to make a concentrated effort to do so this month, as you stand to reap substantial profits from your sale. In general, you should pay special attention to your health, as any nealigence could lead to serious problems - and huge sums of money being spent to treat and cure them.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Where possible, avoid engaging your female co-workers in unhealthy competition this month, to sidestep the possibility of ending up with a dispute or even legal issue in your hands. It will be best to simply hunker down and focus on your own work, instead. Get a qualified expert to check for any fire hazards in your home and office this month, especially if you notice any negative external features located outside this sector. If you are an experienced lawyer, you could be pleasantly surprised by a promotion to a position of status and authority this month.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

This is not the month to bite off more than you can chew, especially when it comes to property investments. Things could easily take a turn for the worse, no matter how promising they may look initially. Try not to spread yourself too thin where your finances are concerned. And while this room is a good one to use to gain spiritual knowledge, watch out for any negative structures outside this sector, as you could end up feeling quite disturbed by the negative energy instead. In general, if you have a tendency towards emotional or mental instability, avoid using this room this month to prevent further exacerbating the situation.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Students or candidates bound to sit for examinations soon should refrain from using this bedroom for revision and learning purposes. If you do, you will find your results to be less than stellar! Any unexpected business issues that arise this month should be dealt with carefully and swiftly, with the help of legal professionals if necessary – to prevent these problems from becoming much worse, with long-term implications. Those of you in the chemical and mechanical industries, however, will find this to be a smooth-sailing, hassle-free month.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

On the domestic front, try to minimise contact with your in-laws this month, or otherwise you risk inciting some domestic discord that will sour relations with you and your spouse. You need to make a concentrated effort to manage your stress levels properly, or you could otherwise end up with gastrointestinal problems or ulcers as a result of immense work pressure. Those of you dabbling in the property or real estate business stand to gain financially, as long as you have carefully and diligently worked through all your potential deals.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Disputes, legal issues and power struggles may cause business partners to split up this month – so seek to resolve your differences amicably and swiftly. Don't let any conflicts fester and develop into something long-term. Meanwhile, elderly ladies need to guard against injuries caused by sharp or metal objects if using this room for the month. For the sake of your relationship, it might be best not to use this room this month – more so if you find your relationship with your other half is strained and tense as of late. It will be a shame to risk having your relationship end in a separation or divorce just because of a temporary bad patch, and something that could have been prevented.

It's a good month for romantic ties for couples using this room, but it depends on there not being excessive amounts of water located outside this sector. If there is, the unfortunate result could be extramarital affairs and dalliances. Scholars and students who will be sitting for important examinations sometimes soon will benefit from the good energies of this sector in their revision and studies. Generally, it will be a good month for most to consider business expansion and growth, or to further alliances with overseas partners and negotiators – particularly for those involved in the mining sector.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Investments made by those you in the internet technology industries will find that the outcomes are good, and a lot likely to be better than you hoped! Negotiations will be in your favour, and the profits could be quite substantial. It will not be a good month for travel, however, because you will lose out some to your competitors while you are away. It will be better for you to remain at home and keep a close eye on what your competitors are cooking up, while staying closely observant of your own management procedures. There will be plenty of joint investment opportunities cropping up this month, so people who are interested should consider pursuing it at this point in time.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Those among you in the field of real estate should stop being humble and go all out in promoting yourself and your skills! You will find this action reaping dividends in the form of professional recognition, and a possible promotion. In general, it's a good month to consider buying some property – and it will be even better if you need to travel abroad to conclude your negotiations. Similarly, join ventures in the property industry will go well, but it will be particularly good if these are consolidated abroad.

If you're working for others, and your boss happens to be female, you're likely to be rewarded for your outstanding performance and dedication. It will likely come in the form of a promotion and salary increment, so be prepared to celebrate. For ladies living in the same house as your husband's family, it will not be a month to celebrate, however. The best thing to do would be to keep a low profile and avoid getting in anyone's way, as this could go a long way toward dispelling the tension. Pregnant mothers should avoid using this room for the month to avoid any possible dangerous complications.

It will be a very good month for those of you involved in professional and competitive sports, but in terms of recognition and reputationbuilding rather than wealth. However, even if the financial gains don't come now, your heightened stature will only lead to greater ones in the future. Those of you work in the mining industries, or in financial trading, will enjoy good profits this month from all your efforts. This will be a good month to bring your relationships to a new level, both in the professional and personal sense. In the latter case, you might even want to use this month to consider popping the big question regarding marriage.

Females come under fire from using this room this month, as you'll be susceptible to stress and increasing pressure and tension. As a result, your emotions might be a lot more topsy-turvy than you'd like! This could result in some health troubles if you let it get the best of you, primarily in the form of ulcers and gastrointestinal issues. For those of you who are married and living with your in-laws, you'll do well to minimise your contact with them to avoid creating any undue strains. In fact, consider taking a vacation - it will ease both your spirit and body. However, do ensure that you invest in a good form of travel insurance before you embark on your jet-setting adventures!

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

It is a good month to be with other people, as both your personal and professional relationships flourish and you enjoy good, harmonious ties. This will be a month to formalise any ties, if these thoughts have lain dormant in your mind for some time. Scholars, academics, and researchers will do well using this room, as the energies here will help them in their work and allow the results to come along beautifully. The same effects are true for writers and journalists - and who should take their efforts one step further and start scouting about for places to publish their work.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

You'll have to be on the lookout for backstabbing and underhanded dealings at the workplace this month. Keep your guard up, and be wary of the resentful few around you who are unhappy as their career path seems to be on a descent. As a result, they're likely to cause troubles for those around them. In general, the sense of unfriendly competition, coupled with deception, will also dog professionals in the entertainment industry. Those of you working in the food and beverage industry should be careful of possible health laws, because you will do well with the exception of a few run-ins with the law for this reason. If you're not careful, it could lead to financial losses.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

If you have property deals abroad, this will be a very good month to make some financial profits. Don't be afraid to travel quite a bit to sign a few documents, as the results will be so good as to outweigh a little bit of trouble. For most of you, consider this a month of self-improvement, as all endeavours begun along these lines will have extensive benefits. Consider taking up that class or new hobby that you've always dreamed about. Married females, however, will have some troubles with their mothers-in-law this month, so be sure to bite your tongue whenever your angry – because this way contentment lies! Don't be too emotionally reactive, or the situation will only get worse for you.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Sticks and stones may break their bones, and words will find a way to hurt them! So be mindful of the words that come out of your mouth this month, as if you say something hasty in anger or heightened emotion, it will likely cause some trouble and rear its ugly head for some time after. Quarrels will begin at the drop of a hat this month, so bear this in mind and avoid getting enmeshed in one for trivial reasons. Try to resolve all conflicts as swiftly as possible. People working in the media, or in marketing and publicity, will have to vet through all legal documents with care before putting pen to paper.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

If you're pregnant, this will not be a good month for you to travel or move around too much. This is because the threat of accidents is strong, so you'll be better off just putting it off until after your pregnancy. It's a good month in general for improving interpersonal ties, whether it be with your colleagues or loved ones, or even your business partners and affiliates! All dealings in shares and equities are likely to bring in the profits at this point in time, but you will need to do it with thought and deliberation, as opposed to simply rushing through. If you do the latter, the results could be entirely the opposite from good!

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Females using this room should go for a thorough medical check-up this month to eliminate any possible diseases, especially serious ones like breast cancer. If at all possible, avoid using this room for the time-being for the betterment of your health. Avoid all temptations that lead you to gamble or indulge in speculative investments, or otherwise you could only be seeing zeroes in your bank account balance this month! Love relationships undergo some pressures, so if you're one half of a couple – the best thing you can do for your relationship this month is to give it some space and room to grow, and you will find it 'growing' a lot healthier as well.

Bedroom Sector Main Door Southeast Northwest

This month, you'll have to be prepared to be at loggerheads with your family members and those whom you live with. Domestic issues crop up and demand to be addressed, leaving you very little peace. However, don't put off addressing these issues, because the sooner you deal with them, the less likely they are to have long-term implications. At the workplace, don't be afraid to step out on a limb and take the initiative as the need arises – as your star will glow brighter, and you'll find yourself swiftly ascending the career ladder as a result!

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

This is a good room for activities of the metaphysical kind, so if you're a keen student or practitioner of these arts, then you may want to continue using this room to further your skills. You'll be able to widen you field of knowledge and find revolutionary and unique ways to use age-old techniques and principles. It's a good room for romance, as well, as couples who use this sector will find their relationship to be sugar and spice and everything nice! Harmonious ties and warm intimacy will make the situation an extremely happy one for both of you.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

For married couples, the good romantic vibes continue into this month, lending an air of magic to your relationship. However, be careful of the presence of excess water outside this sector, as this could lead to extramarital temptations and affairs. Those of you who've been putting in the necessary long hours and effort at work (and you know who you are!) will be able to enjoy the sweet taste of the fruits of your hard labours! You'll be able to glow for a little while under the limelight, and find your stature at work improving by leaps and bounds.

If you are required to travel about to conclude some business deals, do it with a smile, because these are likely to bring immense profits! Don't reject any of the opportunities that crop up. Personal relationships continue to proceed at an even keel this month, bringing you much domestic bliss. Home is indeed where the heart is, and as a result, you'll be happy spending time at your abode with your loved ones. It's also an ideal month to indulge in some personal transformation, or self-cultivation and development.

If you're keen to engage in joint ventures or partnerships in order to let your business grow and expand, this will be the right time to do so. Profits will increase and you'll be able to make your business more well-known. Travelling in order to conclude deals in property development and real estate will be a boon this month, as well. Those of you who are in politics or civil service will be able to push forward and advance your cause, and might even get a promotion and salary increment out of it! But there are no shortcuts to success, so ensure that you've done the groundwork in preparation.

Fire hazards are possible in and around your home this month, so ensure that you get all your electrical wiring and gas outlets thoroughly checked. Don't be careless and negligent with these things, or a serious problem could occur. People working in the marketing and consultancy businesses will have favourable wealth luck this month, and as a result you'll be seeing higher profit margins! This is likely to be due to your expanded network of contacts, so nurture these professional relationships to the best of your ability. Personal relationships need to be watched over carefully, because there is a potential for betrayal if a third party enters the picture.

August 7th – September 7th of 2010 甲申

There will be slight shake-ups and changes at the workplace, but it will likely work in your favour if you're using this room. Whatever surprises that come up, you can bet that they will be good surprises for you! Those of you trading in the metal, futures, stock and equities markets must grab the bull by the horns and be bold this month - without sacrificing shrewdness and wits, of course! Couples using this room will have to try to spend more quality time together, especially if either one of you has been travelling a lot of late to fulfill various obligations.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

There is trouble in paradise this month, and you and your partner could be at loggerheads with each other. This is likely to be due to the lack of quality time between the two of you, so now might be the appropriate time to consider taking the long-needed vacation together. It will also keep malicious third-party intruders at bay. For those of you running businesses, keep an eagle eye on your financial proceedings, as otherwise fraud could cause you to lose a lot of your money. Legal issues could also arise, but these are not likely to be serious, long-term ones.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Good results and a solid reputation deservingly await those who have toiled at their work, especially players in the media, travel and courier industries. In particular, females working in the marketing and public relations fields should make use of the energies of the month to excel at work, and thereby earn themselves a more enhanced reputation. Extra wealth is bound to come along in the process! As long as there is no natural body of water located in the exterior of this sector, both your personal and professional relationships will also be harmonious and thriving.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Some family issues will crop up, causing a temporary derailment in your smooth proceedings – but these are likely to blow over quickly, as long as you address those issues swiftly as they come up. Don't allow anything to fester for too long. Be bold at work this month, and you're likely to reap the rewards. However, don't be foolish or brash in anything – it's the right time to strike forward with courage, using all your knowledge and shrewdness. You'll be amazed at the financial rewards that await you should you choose to do so.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Romantic relationships will prosper for couples using this room this month. You will want to make the most of this happy time by making an effort to spend more time with each other. You'll be surprised at how it feels like you're getting to know each other all over again – but with the comfort of an established trust between you. Professionals in the engineering and travel industries will be smiling all the way to centre of the stage this month, as they are finally given the recognition they deserve for the hard work put in thus far. A promotion, or some form of career advancement, is in order as well.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Academics, scholars, and researchers will do well to use this room this month. You'll be highly inspired and energised where your work is concerned, and will find the willpower and courage to publish your writings. As such, a good amount of recognition is set to follow your actions. You'll be blessed with marital bliss by tapping into the energies of this bedroom this month, but be forewarned that the presence of too much water in this sector might also result in affairs or sexual scandals.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

If the travel bug hits you this month, then by all means go ahead and indulge – but do be cautious and take out some form of travel insurance, as there is a slight risk of limb injuries. Your relationships with friends and family take on a sweeter turn, and you'll be able to enjoy increased warmth and intimacy with them. Academics and researchers will be able to market their ideas and commercialise their findings, but you'll need to remove your rose-tinted glasses first, as not everyone is out to help you. Be guarded and vigilant against unscrupulous types who want to take you for a ride, and you should do just fine.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

This will be a good month to brush up or improve on your social skills, because networking is the path to success! Don't shy away from making new contacts and connections this month, as you are likely to reap financial rewards, and professional recognition, through these new ties. However, it will bode well for you to keep both eyes wide open. Although people are generally helpful to you, there are a few who will not think twice to stick a knife in your back, so be smart and discerning about who you choose to trust.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Business owners will be stymied by a lack of progress this month. No matter how much you push and prod, you find yourself not having budged from your current position. Don't waste your time and energy, as this situation is temporary and soon the winds of change will start to blow. In the meantime, consolidate your position effectively, and keep your grander ambitions in place for the future. Couples using this room should be more open and communicative with each other to put any suspicious concerns from either party at bay.

Romantic relationships start to improve this month, as there is opportunity to communicate and share experiences. This will forge a closer bond and create a heightened sense of camaraderie and intimacy. Those of you involved in the construction industry will see this as a good month, because you will somehow receive media recognition for what you do – increasing your business opportunities and spearheading more profit-making projects. Fame, recognition and publicity will come to those in the marketing and public relations industry, resulting in increased profits and revenue.

Any disputes or conflicts that arise this month should be settled in an amicable manner, as otherwise you could find yourself battling out in the law courts - draining you of both your finances and your energy! In fact, people in general need to be careful of inciting lawsuits, and guard against giving people a reason to talk about you behind your back. Pay attention to your behaviour this month and try not to step on anyone's toes. Partnerships and new alliances formed recently could become strained for people using this room.

Expectant mothers should be extra cautious using this bedroom, as possible complications could set in. If possible, use another room in order to avoid any troubles. It's a good month for people involved in the real estate business, because deals are likely to be profitable. When people seem overly helpful in sharing information with you at this point in time, be sure to put on your skeptic's cloak. Avoid accepting anything at face value, as you seem to be unfortunately surrounded by people who are only looking out for their own interests.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Temptations abound for people in committed relationships, so you must be careful not to get too carried away and doing something that will compromise the integrity of your relationship. In general, it's a good time to do a spring-cleaning of your lives this month, both literally and figuratively! It's the right time to throw out the old and bring in the new. Plenty of mentors and wise elders are around you this month, so consider taking up that particularly challenging and ambitious project. Their help will allow you to do well, resulting in some very nice financial rewards.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

It's a good month for married couples to consider going on a holiday together. All you need to do to improve your relationship is to get away from the daily stresses of the 'real world' and find a way to reconnect deeply. For those of you applying for a promotion, it's a good month to go ahead and do it. Your superiors have likely recognised your talents and abilities, and will be very inclined to reward you accordingly. Watch out for spine or bladder problems, however, if you are using this room.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

This is an excellent bedroom for those in the printing and media fields, as financial gains are ripe and plentiful this month! You should close out business deals at this point in time, especially if it is in the property sector. This is because the terms are likely to be in your favour, so don't hesitate to do it if the timing is right. Spouses may feel a little neglected, as one partner is busy making money and has no time for the other half. Endeavour to pencil in more time together in your schedule, as relationships are like growing plants and also need tending to!

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Avoid taking on your rivals this month or getting involved in office politics, as you are sure to come off second best and this will compound your frustration. Refrain from getting involved at all and use this month to recapitulate your talents and strengths. Do not get involved in casual relationships this month as these may end up tarnishing your reputation or just causing general problems. What may seem to be a harmless distraction could turn out to be anything but! Couples using this bedroom should be wary of issues that could cause jealousy and lead to marital discord. It will be best to address these directly and openly as they come up.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Those of you in professional, competitive sports will find this a very good and productive month. This is especially true if you are required to compete or participate in sporting events abroad. Don't refuse any of the opportunities that come up, as it will prove to be very beneficial. You will have plenty of people willing to afford you assistance this month, but you'll need to be a little vigilant that those with ill-intentions are out to sabotage you. Don't make it easy for them by being too trusting.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Those among you who own a business in the logistics, courier, or travel industries, be prepared for a difficult month ahead. You are likely to face financial challenges that could set you back a bit. But having a contingency plan will help to ease the situation and ensure you endure the transition period well. In general, business owners should avoid embarking on anything ambitious this month, and should instead focus on consolidating their position and improving their current procedures.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

This is a month to avoid all possible property-related deals, and anything that involves an element of risk, as financial losses are very probable. This is especially true for those of you involved in the architecture industry. Avoid using this room this month, as your health will be poor – and you are likely to suffer from gastrointestinal troubles and diseases. Those of you who hold positions of considerable authority in your career might want to consider investing in property this month, because it is likely to be very beneficial for you.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

People who are ČEOs, or in senior authority positions will find that applying intelligence and smarts to all their proceedings will lead to greater achievement. You're likely to receive further elevation in your status in your organisation, and enjoy a greater sense of visibility. There is a very good chance for money to be made through smart investments in spas, fisheries, and information companies this month – but bear in mind that the window is small, and so you will need to grab your opportunities quickly. It will good to have a good amount of knowledge, so do your homework in preparation.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Those of you working in the furniture industries will have to work smart, instead of merely working hard. This is because you'll be battling the lack of support from your bosses and superiors, and you will need to focus on getting your efforts back on track. It will be the wise thing to do to postpone all investment deals and focus on reigniting employee morale instead. People working in the political arena will gain a lot of support from your friends, family, and acquaintances this month – pushing your stature further up and increasing your visibility.

It's not a good month for relationships, and people who use this room should endeavour to exercise more patience and tolerance with their loved ones. In addition, you'll be feeling strained and pressured, resulting in emotional and mental instability due to excess financial and relationship problems. You should try to find ways in which you can take some time out to recuperate and conserve your strength. There are profits to be made from property deals, as long as these are conservative and you keep your aftention tightly focused.

If you were set to deliver speeches or presentations this month, you might literally find yourself with no words coming out of your mouth – as a result of impaired vocal abilities. As such, alternative arrangements will have to be made. Missed meanings and miscommunication will plague most people this month, and in addition, those of you in the cellphone and telecommunications and IT industries will have to sustain some financial losses. For those of you unfortunately mired in legal disputes, it will be best for you to find a way to delay the case or settle, because the chances of winning are very minimal at this point in time.

For students sitting for important examinations this month, you might want to move them out of this room temporarily – otherwise they will be easily distracted. Professional sportspeople and those participating in competitive sports events will find this month to be auite challenging and difficult. It will be better not to participate in competitions, and to focus on improving your skills instead. Those among you who are required to travel in order to make a living will also find this month very difficult in many respects, especially if you hold positions of authority in your career.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Rocky relationships become even rockier this month, and you'll have to quell your temper or your inclination to retort with sharp words. To avoid inflicting long-term damage on the relationship, step back from all conflicts and maintain a low profile. The situation should revert back to normal soon. Don't get into any real estate and property transactions this month, as it will likely be unprofitable. Business owners are likely to find that everything that can possibly go wrong this month will go wrong, so it will be smart not to begin any new projects at this point.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Expectant mothers are advised not to use this bedroom for the month, and to also go for a thorough medical-check up, to prevent the risk of pregnancy complications or a miscarriage. In fact, those who have been suffering from chronic or persistent health problems should consult their physician without delay. Otherwise, you are likely to end up with kidney problems or diabetes as the result of poor health coupled with negligence. Pay special attention while on the roads this month, or you risk meeting with an accident.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

The good energies of this room for this month should help those among you involved in the legal and arbitration fields, so use it to advance your cause and career. If you're establishing a new business in the field of property development or real estate, you will come to your success relatively quickly. Parents will find that children using this room this month will be a lot more defiant, rebellious, and difficult to control – so make sure you take the reigns instead of your children controlling you!

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

As much as possible, new romantic relationships should be avoided this month, as the outcomes will be less than happy and therefore fall far below your expectations. It might be a better idea to concentrate on some other aspect of your life. If you're looking to expand your business, get some advice from mentors or seasoned professionals in your field – otherwise you risk making incorrect choices that will cost you quite a bit, financially.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Communicate more openly with your partner this month, to hedge the possibility of a misunderstanding. Being more direct and honest will help, as well. You need to be extra sensitive to your partner's feelings, as your relationship will be severely tested this month – and it's really not worth seeing it fall apart at the seams, just because of a temporary rough patch. Lawyers may find it harder than usual to put their points and argue their cases effectively, too, no thanks to the energies present in this sector, which bodes ill for all forms of communication.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

You might want to monitor your employees or staff just a little more closely this month, as there's a possibility of disloyal (and overly ambitious) subordinates who will attempt to unseat you. And if you happen to have just established a new relationship be it personal or professional – be sure to give your partner some 'breathing space'; otherwise you may find the strength of your partnership eroding over time. All in all, this looks set to be a trying month, especially for those in authority, who are compelled to travel to earn their keep – remember; perseverance is the key to success.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

You are likely to make good gains this month if you're using this room, and you will know how to protect your interests well enough. However, do bear in mind that there are plenty of swindlers and ill-intentioned people out to spin a pretty tale on you this month. So you will have to be extra cautious of all your recent acquisitions. Using this room will benefit the people who are doing academic work and studies, and for those sitting for examinations. But unexpected changes will also crop up, requiring you to be able to adapt swiftly and be flexible.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Young males, in particular, should be careful of sustaining injuries from sharp metal objects and implements. If possible, they should try to limit their usage of these objects for the month. Those of you in the military and involved in strategy should find this a beneficial month, because you'll be able to plan well for the future. It will also be a good time to accumulate some financial profits from any property investments, especially when using your past experience and superior knowledge to your best advantage.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Those of you who have recently undergone any medical procedures should stay away from using this room, because otherwise there is a high risk of complications. These could lead to long-term troubles if you're not careful. If you're in the midst of business negotiations with overseas partners, this is the month to close the deal as you're likely to reap huge profits. But be sure to read the fine print of all legal documents and understanding it before putting your signature on any of it. There is also the disturbing risk of fraud or theft present this month, either from your staff, or from your family members.

This month, it's all about paying attention to your own personal safety, as there is a strong risk of robbery. This is true if you notice negative external structures or formations outside this sector. It's also important for you to keep your nose out of any disputes and quarrels, as well as avoid participating in any gossip, as legal entanglements are likely to arise out of it. If you're an analyst or scientific researcher, or involved in the IQ-related field, you will find the energies here to bode well for your work this month. However, this depends on there being a good mountain formation located towards the West.

Romantic relationships come under pressure due to gossip and miscommunication. Don't let the words of others influence your thoughts and emotions, because you know each other best. Exercise fortitude and tolerance, and you'll find that things become a lot better. In general, you should avoid all forms of gambling and speculative investments this month because it's only likely to result in losses. However, if the investments are in real estate there is a chance that you could see some profits.

Males looking for a new relationship are likely to meet a compatible new partner this month. The energies of this room bode particularly well for newly-burgeoning romantic relationships! Take advantage of good financial advice given to you by others, especially experts in the field, and invest in research and development. People in the media and travel industry may find this a month of achievements and great honour, and you will find your reputation enjoying a good boost.

August 7th – September 7th of 2010 甲申

This is a challenging month that could result in financial losses but bear in mind that important lessons can be learnt! This will result in positive changes for you, as you'll be able to recoup from any losses and apply the valuable lessons for your future planning. People in analytical or scientific fields will benefit from the good energies of the sector, and find breakthroughs in their field of work. Do not be drawn into family arguments and disagreements as these could result in major divisions within the family. Try not to take sides, as it will be your duty to remain impartial at all times. Taking sides will only add fuel to the fire and worsen an already explosive situation.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

New ventures need to be analysed correctly as financial loss is possible from negligent decision-making. Do your homework and research and the results will be in your favour. All you need to do is put in a couple hours of extra legwork now to reap its dividends way into the future. People who are in real estate and property development should invest in clearly thought-out deals in their field of work, as this is a time to make beneficial returns. Those of you who are married should be frank, direct, and open with your spouse this month and discuss all important decisions with each other, as neglecting to do so could lead to stressful relations with your partner.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

People in the legal fields will do well this month, as persuasive powers and the ability to argue constructively will result in positive features this month. Those of you who are able to articulate your arguments well should make the most of the positive energies of this room. Travel brings positive outcomes for you and could result in an increase in status this month, especially if you are in the construction or architecture business. But in general, all senior personnel should be on their guard against thieves and unscrupulous third parties who will end up extorting large sums of money from you.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

If you're a contractor who has been working hard to land that 'deal of a lifetime' that could change your life, then watch out for any potential tenders, and don't hesitate to submit your bid accordingly. Don't be too cautious that miss out on a good opportunity! However, those working on construction sites should prioritise their safety and keep their helmets on at all times while on-site, to minimize the risk a head injury. This proves to be a significant risk at this point in time. Parents may also find their sons rebellious and prone to questioning their authority and advice this month, so it may be wise to temporarily relocate them to another bedroom.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

All gambling activities should be put on halt, unless you expect to see zeroes in your bank account balance! In that same vein, avoid all forms of investment this month because they might start off sweet... but end up sour. Have any deals vetted through and scrutinised by a legal professional before you proceed, if it cannot be avoided. Female inhabitants of this room are advised to go for a thorough medical check-up or mammogram this month, especially if you're previously been diagnosed for breast malignancies.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

The energies prevalent in this bedroom could cause volatile emotions and a turbulent mental state, so don't be too hard on yourself if you run into emotional or psychological problems. Those of you who own or manage a company will have to be careful of potential fraud or cheating by your employees, so ensure that all stringent auditing processes are in place. But people in the media and marketing industries will find this a generally favourable month, with accolades and recognition easily coming your way.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

This month, ugly legal issues could be your main topic of concern. If these problems seem overwhelming and insurmountable, there's absolutely no reason for you to suffer in silence. Turn to some of your mentors, or even experienced seniors and helpful people at the workplace, and they just might shine a light on some solutions that you wouldn't have thought of on your own. As far as health goes, there is nothing serious to look out for. Do, however, watch out for minor ailments – because if these are left untreated, then it could develop into something more serious.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

If you're prone to eye problems in general, or use contact lenses, then watch out for potential eye infections. Get it treated immediately to avoid further developments. People with existing heart conditions are also advised to seek medical counsel at the first sign of anything being amiss. People using this room will be able to enjoy supreme Peach Blossom luck this month, so expect to find Cupid pointing his arrow in your direction! If you're single, be your most charming self in order to ensnare someone new; while those of you in relationships can enjoy taking your relationship to a more committed level.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Some of that Peach Blossom luck from the previous month will continue to trickle into this month as well, enabling you to enjoy harmonious, thriving relationships. This will be a good month to further intensify your ties by embarking on relationship-enhancing activities, like enrolling in some fun classes, or taking a vacation together. If you're the academic or scholarly type, then you'll find your professional status enjoying quite a boost. This will be combined with the possibility of a possible promotion, as well!

Your decision-making capacities are in full bloom this month, so make the most of it by allowing yourself to make good decisions! Your thoughts are lucid and coherent, allowing you to chart a logical path from thought to action that will result in good outcomes. If you're in the fashion industry, a conclusion in some deals is imminent. You may need to travel in order to do so, but the financial gains are quite high. This will also be a good room to use for peaceful, contemplative activities like meditation and self-healing.

Politicians and civil and government servants will find this a good month to improve on their status and position. In fact, it comes without any effort as all, due to your tireless and unceasing efforts for the betterment of public service. Those in the diplomatic corps will also find this a good month, because a wave of positive publicity will turn the tide in your favour, garnering you support and acclaim from others.

Males who are married should put a check on their roving eyes this month, as being tempted could lead to something serious which is exactly what you don't want. Dabbling in an extra-marital dalliance, no matter how "casual" or meaningless, will result in dire consequences for your marriage. So if your ties of matrimony are important to you, steer clear out of any sort of trouble. Business owners might get the chance to enjoy a spot of publicity in the press; capitalise on this opportunity to expand your business further, whether it's through more contacts or revenues.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Women in the household are particularly prone to eve and heart ailments this month, so be on guard. If possible, get a thorough check-up in order to eliminate any negative possibilities. This might prove to be a profitable month if you're dabbling in speculative investments in metal trading, or equities and stocks. However, always stay one step ahead of the rest, and keep abreast of the current trends. This way, you'll be able to swiftly capitalise on any favourable openings that may suddenly crop up.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Be extremely cautious in your dealings with money this month, because it is possible that ugly disputes over it can arise. Don't be negligent in whatever it is you have to do. In other ways, as well, you could find yourself feeling extremely agitated and harried, so avoid making any important decisions while in this state. While you're stressed, your mental faculties will not be working at their optimum best. But at the same time, be wary and alert to what is going on around you, as any fraud that is going on right under your nose could result in legal problems.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Go ahead and go all out in finding new and creative ways to expand your business, as well as your current network of contacts, as you stand to gain favourably from it in the financial sense! Make an effort to get in touch with all your old associates, colleagues, and friends, as you'll never know what could work in your favour. Get some media coverage, as well, where your business expansion activities are concerned. This can further improve your reputation and bring in new business leads. In the domestic realm, be careful not to let the tension in your relationships develop into something serious.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

It's a good month to feel self-satisfied, because your ability to make money from your investments will benefit you greatly! You also have the uncanny knack of knowing how to invest your gains, so listen to your own counsel this month and proceed without hesitation. Be careful of potential legal trouble though, and get advice on how to solve sticky legal messes from people with more experience.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

If you're working in the engineering and technical fields and industries, then this is the month to schedule an appointment with your bosses and superiors! If you've been pulling in the late nights and burning the midnight oil and working hard, you will do well to present your case for a promotion, a raise, or both. The likelihood of things working out in your favour is high. You'll also enjoy good romance luck, so this is no time to be a retiring and shy wallflower! Singles will enjoy good prospects, and those of you happily committed to another will also derive the benefits in terms of heightened intimacy and closeness.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Those of you involved in academic and scholarly luck will find this a bumper month. A pay raise and a promotion are in store for you, so make the most of all the opportunities that come your way to allow yourself to be recognised for the fine work that you do. Your relationships will also continue to progress in the same smooth, harmonious vein as the previous month. Make an effort to keep things going well by scheduling in lots of time together with your loved one, as keeping the home fires burning will keep everything else running smoothly as well!

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

If you're a scholarly or academic type using this room this month, you'll be able to benefit from the energies here. This is especially true if you're sitting for important examinations this month. Use this as a study or bedroom if you need to pass those tests with flying colours! If you're unable to use it as a bedroom, it will help nevertheless to do the bulk of your studying and revision here.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Those in the publishing or furniture industries will find this a bumper month of sorts, especially if use this room as a bedroom. You will enjoy a good surge in business opportunities and revenues. It will be good for you to seek out overseas opportunities, as well, or offshore deals, as these will likely increase your financial gains in greater sums! However, couples using this room will experience temporary rifts. Marital discord is unfortunately rife, so both of you must make the utmost effort to be patient.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Pregnant ladies are advised to avoid using this room for the month, or it could otherwise lead to unwanted complications. Stay on the safe side, and opt to rearrange your sleeping and living arrangements for a little while. If you're in the real estate and property industry, then you're likely to enjoy a month of progress and developments. Make the most of the opportunities to further enhance your career prospects.

Those of you using this room will find the spotlight trained on you this month, bringing you lots of positive publicity and recognition. Don't waste this opportunity due to untimely modesty! Instead, make the most of it in order to gain more attention for yourself and your career, or even your business. However, where health is concerned, elderly individuals should be careful of potential kidney problems. Those of you involved in the travel, tourism, or even courier and logistics industries will be able to enjoy some positive benefits this month as a result of using this room.

Don't be retiring this month, because this is a good month to show off your true talents and capabilities to your superiors! You'll be duly noticed and recognised, and may even be in line for a possible promotion or career advancement. If you're in the midst of business negotiations or closing a deal, you might find that things will go smoothly and in your favour. Students sitting for examinations will also benefit, while on the romantic front, there is a marked improvement in relationships!

Those of you who are single, unattached, and on the prowl, this room bodes well for you on the relationship front this month! Turn on that charm and go all out in ensnaring a potential romantic mate. People in the construction industry and literary field will benefit from a surfeit of opportunities headed their way. Those of you in the travel and logistics businesses will also gain aplenty from the proliferation of new opportunities. This will be a good time to strike new deals and forge alliances with business partners or associates abroad. In terms of investment opportunities, there is a chance for you to enjoy a good agreement and be able to seal the deal!

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Curiosity killed the cat, as the say, and while it will certainly not harm you in any detrimental fashion – it will certainly land you in hot water this month! This is the month to lay low and avoid poking your nose, even if it's just the tip of it, into other people's affairs. If you go ahead and do it anyway, you must be prepared for anger - which can lead to arguments and discord, and a general feeling of ill-will that will be directed at you. As long as you keep this in mind, this month in general sees an improvement in your ties with friends and family members.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Relationships that have endured some strained complications, or even estranged, will find itself being amicably straightened out this month. Things will seem to go back to normal and ties will once again be friendly. In that case, it will be a good room to use if you're ensnared in a divorce or corporate break-up, as the energies present here can lend an air of agreeableness and cordiality to the proceedings, instead of bringing up resentments and ill-feeling. Professionally, this is an ideal month to make progress on your personal reputation or gain more recognition for your work. It's best to step up and acknowledge credit for what you've done!

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Couples using this room must make an effort to communicate more with each other, as otherwise suspicion and jealousy will make their unwelcome entrance! This could lead to general discord and friction, souring what could otherwise be a sweet connection. So do your best to prevent this from happening. Pregnant women should also avoid using this room for the month, because possible complications include miscarriage, and that's something to definitely avoid.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

If you have children who are sitting for examinations this month, this is the room you want to put them in! The energies here are very conducive to revision and studying, and you'll find that their heightened sense of concentration and focus will enable them to pass their exams and do quite well. In general, academics and scholars will benefit greatly from using this room too.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Couples who use this room will generally find their relationships being plagued by quarrels and disagreements. Exercise fortitude, because giving in to your impulse to say cutting words could lead to greater trouble. Make an effort to try to understand what your partner is going through, and don't only focus on your personal point of view. Business opportunities will be good for those in the publishing and furniture industries.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

This will be a good month to sell off property, as you'll find the profits to be quite numerous and of good value. Investing in property will also be a good idea this month, as the future outcome for investments made this month is likely to be favourable. Expectant women should avoid using this room, as the chances for complications and miscarriage are quite high.

Bedroom Sector Main Door Northwest Southwest

Pregnant women, particularly those born in the Year of the Horse, will want to avoid using this room, as the risk of complications to your pregnancy is high. To minimise the risk of a potential miscarriage, try to consider using another room for the time-being. Relationships will suffer from strong pressure and strain these month, leading to tense relations. The only antidote to the extremes of frosty relations or fiery arguments is to exercise more patience, discretion, and tact. Politeness and consideration will still go a long way, even among people who have long known each other.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

For those of you in the legal field, especially lawyers and legal practitioners, this will be a challenging month that will require quite a bit of effort and creative thinking on your part. Otherwise, sticking to your usual tactics might find you having some serious problems in putting all your cases across. Health issues will also come to the forefront this month, so don't neglect your physical wellbeing. Health problems that you should watch out for are mouth problems, or even speech-related issues. If something seems wrong from the start, don't hesitate in getting the necessary medical attention.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

This is not the month to venture forward in speculative investments, as you stand a very strong chance of losing more than you gain! Consider this a month to lay low and keep your wealth close to you. On a more personal note, you might feel lonely and a little down and out while using this room this month. Don't be too overwhelmed by occasionally negative feelings, as this is only temporary and will soon come to pass. Seek enjoyment among good friends and make an effort to do more of the things you love and enjoy.

Tricky situations come up quite a bit this month, especially in so far as your relationships are concerned. The trick to handling these tricky situations is to seek a solution that is always mutually amicable and beneficial. Don't be on the warpath, and avoid wanting to antagonize your partner just to win the fight. You may win the argument, but you will have lost a lot more. So try to cool your emotions that threaten to boil over. Professionals in the IT industry will find that the outcome of your work will not be exactly proportionate to the amount of time and effort that you've put in! Also, it would be best to steer clear out of any joint-ventures for the month, as these will likely end in disaster.

If you've lately profited from any of your recent investments, this is the month to cash-in on your gains! That's not to suggest that you must then spend it all, however. But it will be favourable for you to do so now, as the timing is favourable. Do avoid dabbling your cash in the share market, however, because there is a strong chance that you might lose all that you had worked hard to get! Females using this room will be prone to liver issues; get medical attention at the first sign of trouble.

This is a favourable month for lawyers and mediators, but maybe not so much if seen from another perspective! There will be plenty of disputes and conflicts requiring your arbitrary and mediating skills. Use you wit and ingenuity to resolve them, and your reputation also enjoys a boost. Be careful of potential car accidents this month, so be extra-cautious when you're out and about, and on the move. Those of you with children will be dealing with slightly more rebellious spirits than normal - don't lose your patience and temper too quickly. Instead, surprise them into obedience with tact, understanding and patience!

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Family-run businesses and organisations will be plaqued by disputes and internal arguments this month, especially amongst family members. Matters are likely to blow out of proportion and get out of hand swiftly, if they are not addressed and solved in due time. The situation at the workplace, in general, is not exactly uplifting – possible betrayals are likely among colleagues, so you'll need to watch your back and have your guard up. This is also not a good month for major decision-making, so put off important decisions to another time. Rushing into it now can only bring about negative results.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

CEO's, directors, and people in management positions will find that their intelligence and aptitude brings about good results for the company. This, naturally, sees your status and authority enjoying a boost within the corporation. Where your health is concerned, kidney stones may pose a problem. Avoid making things more serious by indulging in gambling and drinking, as it will not only adversely affect your health - but will also bring about negative consequences in your life, as well.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

If you're in the IT industry, you are likely to do quite well this month! This will be due to a bevy of satisfied clients who will help you expand your network of contacts by recommending you to others. But health-wise, strokes and internal bleeding pose a serious problem – so people suffering from ill-health in general should guard against this. Couples using this room will endure a bout of strained relations this month, and the best way to deal with it will be to loosen the strings and give each other more breathing room.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

There is a chance to make money from conservative propertyrelated deals, but if you're involved in business, you might find yourself being unable to leverage off the benefits of your positive investment gains. It will be best to enjoy the gains, then, without hoping that it multiplies into something more. Expectant women are advised against using this room for the month.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

It's trouble central where relationships are concerned this month. There will be a proliferation of arguments and quarrels between you and your partner, leading to a heightened sense of tension between the two of you. But the situation is only as bad as you allow it to be. Avoid trying to worsen the situation by maintaining a stubborn stance; try, instead, to be more patient and forgiving. Lawyers will find this month somewhat hard-going in terms of effectively conveying your cases. Be more flexible in your approach.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Individuals who are prone to depression and are already suffering from its symptoms are advised to avoid this room altogether. The energies present here for this month will only heighten your feelings of despondency. In general, most people using this room will endure a bout of loneliness and emotional instability. You might feel unwanted or isolated. Don't pull away from your friends as you might want to; instead, seek out companionship with those whom you trust and feel comfortable with. All forms of speculative investments should be avoided for the month.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

Employees may be feeling disgruntled and apt to do something about this month, and so if you're an owner or a simply a manager or a boss, be prepared for some defiant attitude. Sons will be inclined towards their fathers, too, if they're using this room for the month. In general, people using this room will feel inclined towards melancholy. Loneliness will prevail, and if it's starting to bother you a little too much, you can either use another room or actively force yourself to get out more and meet more of your friends.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Health will be the primary issue for those of you using this room for the month. Males, in particular, will be prone to liver problems and ulcers. Limb injuries might also be a strong risk. Be extra careful with your body and prioritise your health so that the symptoms don't develop into something serious. It will not be an ideal month to play around with your money, even if it's in the hopes of gaining some profits! It's best to avoid all forms of speculative investments and gambling, otherwise you risk seeing a big loss.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

This month, pay attention to your loved one or spouse, as other people might be trying to encroach into your territory! Don't be negligent of their needs and wants. While you may have been busy tending to your own issues related to work, it's high time that you now focus on them to make sure they feel well-loved and cared for. Otherwise, they might be distracted by the attention shown to them by others. If you own a business, be observant of all that your competitors are up to – or you might find the rug being pulled out from under you!

If you're using this room, drive carefully this month and don't be negligent. Try not to break any laws or take short cuts, as this could affect you adversely. Be on the lookout for potential problematic situations at work, which could develop into more serious situations if left unchecked. Potential robberies and thefts are also likely this month, so upgrade your security measures and install reliable alarm systems.

You'll be glad to know that all forms of speculative investments, especially those in the futures markets, will generate substantial profits for you this month! But do scrutinise all business deals and contracts carefully, because the slightest oversight will prove to be very costly to you in the future. Any decisions that need to be made that involve your spouse or partner needs to be discussed thoroughly. Be sure to pay attention to what he or she has to say, because failing to do so will place a heavy strain on your relationship.

If you're interested in starting your own business this month, or considering changing careers, then this is the month to do so! All activities of such nature are likely to be favourable and bring you good result. Those of you who are in public relations, however, will have to be prepared to face some unforeseen problems rearing their ualy heads. You will need to slow down, take stock of your situation, and plan your next move accordingly. Where your health is concerned, take care of yourself and pay extra attention to your liver this month.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Where your personal ties with others are concerned, this is not a month where things will go smoothly. It will be best for you to just play less of an active role and melt into the background for a little while, as giving others some breathing room will allow things to fall into place. Those of you with children will find them inclined to question your authority and being a little defiant! Don't react with anger, you'll only make the situation worse and alienate them. Best to sit down with them and chat, to get to the root of the problem, if there is any – it could be just a phase they're going through!

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Those of you with your own businesses need to steer clear of trouble this month, as trouble comes to you uninvited for the most part anyway! Avoid getting into messy disputes and arguments. You won't do much to fall into these, so refrain from willfully attracting it in the first place! Always think before you act or say something, otherwise you risk adding fuel to an already explosive situation. Couples using this room will endure strained relations for the month, so make extra effort when communicating with each other. Children should be kept away from sharp instruments and implements this month.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

You may be entangled in a weird power struggle with friends this month, leading to a break-up of ties. In the worst case scenario, this could lead to a legal problem. Try to see the bigger picture and don't let your emotions get the best of you, as the outcome could be ugly for all involved. If you've recently undergone a serious medical treatment, or some form of surgery, then it's best to avoid using this room or it could prolong what could otherwise be a speedy recovery. Avoid letting more complications come into the picture.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Elderly males who are using this room will be best advised to go for a thorough medical check-up. This is because they're at an increased risk for internal bleeding and injuries. It would be best to eliminate any potential dangers from the outset. Using this room could also lead you to feel increasingly solitary and cut off from the world. Try to assuage your loneliness by doing more of the thing you enjoy, instead of staying in and brooding, which will admittedly feel very tempting at this point in time!

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

Couples using this room must make more of an effort to listen to each other this month, instead of focusing too much on what other say. Doing this will cause your relationship to enter rocky and unstable territory. Be open and direct in your communication, but remember to also be tactful and considerate. It goes a long way! Males using this room will still need to be careful of their health this month, as problems with their livers could crop up. Possible injuries to the limbs are also likely.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Business owners must have their guards up this month, and be ready to scope out the competition! If you're not careful, you're rivals could be up to all sorts of mischief that cost you quite a bit of money. It would be better to spend some time and effort now keeping them at bay than regretting it later when you're left to clean up the mess. Those of you in relationships should pay special attention to your partners, or risk turning neglect into something potentially serious.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

If you're a student or a scholar sitting for examinations pretty soon, you can't go wrong with using this room. This will help you gain good results and move you forward. Female entrepreneurs who have business links and contacts abroad will find this a good month. You stand to enjoy quite a bit of financial profits as a result of your ventures finally pulling in good returns. While you may feel like you want to slack off a little at this point, it's actually the best time to hit back harder and double your efforts.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

This is the month to stay at home and curl up with a book, or to catch up on those DVDs. Stay away from clubs and places of ill repute – and while you're at it, from shady characters with even shadier motivations and interests! Otherwise, you'll find yourself embroiled in quite a bit of trouble that even your adventurous streak will find a tad too messy. Businesses suffer from the risk of a potential fire this month, so ensure that all your fire alarms are in good working order, and do a thorough spot-check to root out possible oversights than can lead to this risk.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

The energies present in this sector bode well for relationships. Those of you who are in long-term committed partnerships and are thinking of taking things a step further – don't hesitate to do it this month. If you're thinking of popping the big question, be brave, grab the moment, and go for it! Wealth luck is smiling down upon you this month, so you might want to try your luck in small ways – such as playing the lotto, or entering the sweepstakes. You'll never know just what you might win!

If you've recently come into some money, well, it will be best to keep that knowledge to yourself this month – or at least, share it only with your nearest and dearest! You'll only ask for trouble by flaunting your newly-acquired wealth, or spending lavishly. Eat a big slice of humble pie, and things will go along a lot smoother than expected. Single men will find that they have a tendency to attract the 'wrong' type of women this month. If so, it would be best to lay low then find yourself living out your own version of 'Fatal Attraction'!

Lawyers and legal practitioners will find yourself enjoying a good month, as your services become more in demand and your skills and capabilities are up to it! But in general, where work is concerned, stay out of office politics. Fights that don't involve you should remain exactly that - fights that don't involve you! Otherwise, you'll be dragged into messes that will cause further problems, and you don't need any of that. Females, especially elderly ones, will have to battle gallstone issues or stomach problems.

Employees working the 9-to-5 should be careful of their words this month, as miscommunication happens quite a bit easily. While this might seem minor, at this point in time, misplaced words could cause you some cash - or worse yet, your job! Even relationships are not spared the plague of miscommunication, so if things seem strained and reaching breaking point - be tactful. Where you have the option not to say anything - don't! If you're negotiating deals, make sure you look through everything in black and white before you even nod in agreement.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

If you're in the cellphone and mobile communications industries, technical glitches will plague you this month! Don't allow yourself to become overwhelmed, however, as these are only temporary and will be cleared up as soon as the month is out. The greeneyed monster creeps into relationships and causes quite a few upsets. It's vital that both of you remain clear and direct in your communication at all times, as being vague and misleading will only lead to worse trouble.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

Those of you who consider yourself single and lonely, you won't be single and lonely for long! But you'll have to keep your eyes open wide when among friends, because your romantic apple of your eye could come from your existing group of friends and acquaintances. Health concerns will plague you this month, particularly in the form of eye ailments and blood issues. However, this will be a good month in terms of wealth - you'll be able to make some swift investment gains, but you will need to proceed upon gaining some advice from people with some experience and know-how.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

If you're a professional athlete or involved in sports, then you stand to gain the gold this month when you enter any competitions. Give it your best shot no matter what it is. Doctors and medical service officers will enjoy a good boost in your reputation and professional status, thanks to your tireless efforts in aiding the ailing members of the public! Romantic relationships that have just begun will go well, as long as you don't expect too much from it. Don't even expect it to develop into something long-term, as it may not, but that doesn't mean that it still can't be enjoyable and good for you.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

This room bodes well for attempts to cement and further your reputation, as your status will increase considerably. In addition, you might get both that promotion and pay raise you've been gunning for. Ladies who do business will also find this a profitable month for you, especially if you're closing lots of deals overseas! This room is also favourable for activities related to academics and studies. If you need to mug hard for an exam, this would be the place to do it to ensure you get favourable results!

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

If you were born with the inventive, creative streak, this is the month for you! If you enjoy coming up with new ideas, gadgets, and gimmicks, now's not the time to be a modest wallflower. Put your talents to the forefront by showcasing your creations when you have the opportunity – an exhibition seems like the best bet. If you own a business, check for potential fire hazards this month.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Your wealth luck is favourable this month, and taking a chance on something like the lottery could actually and unexpectedly result in some gains for you! However, be smart even in your risks and especially when you play – don't gamble all your hard-earned money in one fell sweep. Be smart and prudent about playing with your cash and you just might strike big. This is also a good room to use to take further steps in your relationships, or to formalise your partnerships.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

Health issues are what will trouble you this month, as there will be a proliferation of certain ailments this month. This will primarily involve the eyes and heart, as well as the respiratory system. Where business is concerned, make sure you only strike conservative deals – but you would be better off biding your time and waiting for another moment to make your move. This will not be the ideal time to attempt to strike it big or make a play for a major negotiation.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

Emotional instability will be the bane of your existence this month, as feelings of loneliness and isolation will plague you and bring your spirits down. There is no need for you to suffer alone, however, as that will only set you in a deeper funk. Make an effort to spend more time with your trusted friends and loved ones as doing so will be a gentle balm to soothe your feelings. Where work is concerned, if you've been working hard all these months, you'll find that you get your rewards this month.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

The situation at your workplace heats up this month, as competition and rivalry start to increase and give you some pressure. Instead of bending to the pressure and getting involved in the backstabbing game, maintain a low profile while still keeping your guard up. No matter what, you need to protect your own territory! Just be vigilant while keeping a cool and detached distance from it all.

After last month's strenuous situation, this month finds you breathing easy where both your professional and personal lives are concerned. Now that everyone has eased up on trying to beat one another in the rat race, you'll find an opportunity to forge closer ties with your colleagues and business partners, as well as your loved ones and friends. But those of you who manage or direct a company need to be prepared for rebellious employers, while those of you working for others will need to be prepared for hard-to-please superiors! Don't let this get you down, and don't let it hinder you from attempting to make significant financial progress.

This month, you need to steer clear off Cupid's arrow, as it will not be an ideal month for love and romantic pursuits. You'd do much better focusing on moving up the career ladder, instead. While at work, be careful and considerate in how you handle workplace disagreements and tiffs. If a conflict comes up, keep your cool. Otherwise, you run the risk of jeopardizing your place in the company! Those of you who own businesses need to have eyes on the backs of your heads, as well, to ward off competitors! Possible takeover bids are likely, so keep your guard up and your feelers out.

If you're involved in the academic and literary fields, you'll find this a good month for you in terms of increased inspiration and ideas. Go with your gut, and your head, and develop these new ideas well – as these are likely to bring about financial gains. But bear in mind that you'll have to make it visible to the right people, so choose your audience carefully when you present it. For couples looking to conceive, this room will be ideal to use for the month. People who deal in metals trading and the stock market will be able to derive good profits.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Elderly people using this room should be extra vigilant of their health this month. Don't neglect any health troubles that crop up, as doing so will only aggravate your condition and turn what was minor into something serious. If you're going to be travelling this month, you should be careful not to hurt or injure your legs and limbs, because there is an increased risk of this at this point in time. Adolescents using this room will be particularly prone to being rebellious and difficult this month - yes, more so than usual! If it's causing disruptions to your family, then situating them in another room will help.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

If you've dabbled in property and real-estate investments in the past, then this would be a good time to sell as the chances of earning a good profit are high. So take good stock of your portfolios and consider this option as means of attaining extra finances. Those of you in relationships will have harmonious and strong relations with your partner. You'll definitely enjoy improved ties in general with your loved ones. However, bear in mind that some elderly family members might be prone to kidney and stomach ailments.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

If you're a new entrepreneur, or have recently set up a business, you should make full use of the energies present here this month. It will be a favourable start to your ventures. Those of you working in the banking and finance industries will be on the receiving end of due recognition this month, which could lead to a promotion. Students and scholars due to sit for an important examination soon will do well to utilise this room for their learning and revision.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Those of you in relationships will enjoy better and more harmonious relations with your partner this month. This will boost both your spirits, as even your career trajectory is smooth and you're both excelling in your respective jobs. Avoid making significant business deals and negotiations this month, however, because it will be better to wait for a better time in the future. Be careful of potential health ailments, too, which will primarily affect your eyes and heart. Respiratory illnesses might bother you this month, as well.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

If you've been working hard at your jobs these last few months, putting late nights and extra hours – and you know who you are! – then you can expect your efforts to be rewarded this month. So be prepared for some praise and accolades, and possibly something more, if all goes well. Couples who are on the path to matrimony will find this the ideal month to move things up further a notch. If you're ready for marriage, then this is the time to make it official. Generally, most people using this room for the month should be prepared for a topsy-turvy emotional landscape.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

The situation at work is liable to be stressful for you this month, as the sense of competition increases and rivalry and backstabbing both start to take on a whole new meaning! Don't fall into petty office politics. Be aware of what's going on, but keep your head low and focus on your work instead of the people. In that same vein, you will be better off concentrating solely on work instead of pursuing matters of the heart this month, as the latter is not likely to go anywhere.

February 4th - March 5th of 2010 戊寅

If you're in a relationship, this month requires you to have the patience and fortitude of a saint! You do not have to go out of your way to be self-sacrificial and martyr-like, but do remember that you'll need to be tolerant and patient with each other. Disagreements will crop up, and your primary goal this month is to ensure that these do not get out of hand and blow out of proportion. In terms of business deals or investments, this is not the month to gun for a conclusion or close them, because it will not work out in your favour.

March 6th - April 4th of 2010 己卯

This room augurs well for academics and scholars, as the energies here are conducive for studious pursuits and learning in general. If you're sitting for important examinations in the near future, then this is the room you want to make use of! In general, this room will bode well for self-cultivation and development pursuits. If you're keen to improve yourself and find new avenues for growth and maturity, you will do well to concentrate on this room.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

Office politics take centre stage at your workplace this month, so you'll be obliged to dodge bullets! Aside from being extremely agile, you'll need to steer clear of the carnival of catty arguments and petty gossip by generally being pleasant and agreeable, but in no way biased. Backstabbing will also be rampant, so you will need to have your guard up, or at least don a metaphorical suit of armour! Also, be sure to clear all your outstanding fines, taxes, and summonses – otherwise you just might find the law catching up with you in just the way you have been trying to avoid!

If you've made a deal or investment in real estate and property lately, then you'll stand to make handsome gains this month. The profits are quite considerable and should leave you smiling! Those of you in frail or weak health lately will find that using this room will continue to plague people using this room. To avoid aggravating your medical health troubles, use another room until you feel better. As such, doctors and medical practitioners will find their services to be highly sought-after in their work.

Pregnant ladies are advised to go for a full medical-check up this month, because there are strong chances that you might run into complications while using this room. It will be best to prevent any untoward troubles than to regret them later. Also, be careful when you're on the road – as car and automobile accidents are likely. Be very cautious and don't do anything risky. If you're into competitive or professional sports, you will do well this month, especially if you are required to travel for an event.

If you're a pregnant woman and using this room, you might run the risk of miscarrying if you don't pay special attention to your health. Other health problems that you could face include gastrointestinal ailments. If you have stomach trouble, you should make an effort to seek medical treatment at the first sign of something being amiss. Speculative investments in property or equities, as well as stocks, will result in profits for you. However, you still need to be cautious when you proceed with making the deals.

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

Parents are likely to find their children being reclusive and solitary. and being unwilling to socialize with others. You will need to exercise patience and fortitude in dealing with them, and don't be quick to lose your temper. The more patient you are with them, the more they will reveal their troubles to you. Be patient to see if you can help them sort it out. If there is water is located outside of the room, then this could indicate a potential affair for the married ladies – so be on guard. Gastrointestinal illnesses might also plague the people using this room.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

The potential for good financial gains is very high this month, so you might want to consider taking a small gamble - or at the very least, buying an affordable lottery ticket - which will give you good financial gains. But don't be too carried away by the dollar signs you see, and remember to only spend what you can certainly afford. Where work is concerned, arguments and jealousy proliferate. As such, it would be best for women to stay out of these disputes, or otherwise the only outcome would be disaster! Children using this room to prepare for their examinations could run into some obstacles. If those examinations are important enough, it would be best to move them to another room.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Legal practitioners and professionals will likely find their skills in great demand this month. Those of you who are involved in business should be careful to note that any deals you strike should not involve too much capital. Otherwise, the potential for financial losses are immense if the risks are too high. If you're a superior or a boss, take pains to communicate in a more coherent and tactful manner to your subordinates. This is to alleviate the risk of any possible legal complications that could arise.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Pregnant women should be careful of using this room for the month, or potential serious complications like a miscarriage could occur. Other health issues that are likely to come up include appendicitis, so if any stomach aches seem out of the ordinary, get yourself checked out by a doctor immediately. Couples using this particular room should make special effort to be tolerant of each other, and be especially patient.

December 7th - January 5th of 2011 戊子

It's not a particularly good or favourable month for the women in the household, and there is a strong possibility for arguments and conflicts erupting due to words said in rash anger. If possible, contact between the female members of the household should be limited in order to prevent this from becoming a serious problem. This room bodes well for scholarly pursuits, and people sitting for examinations would benefit well from using this room.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

Couples using this room should try to be less in each other's face this month, as apparently too much of a good thing can sometimes be a bad thing! Give your partner enough room to breathe, because spending too much time together can result in arguments and fights that will prove to have been pointless and unnecessary. Just do your own thing, and cultivate your own interests, and bear in mind that absence will make the heart grow fonder! Steer clear of any sort of office politics this month, as well.

Women using this area will have to deal with a lot more disputes and arguments than they thought possible, and if they're not careful, it could lead to a very serious situation. At its worst, it could denigrate into a lawsuit. Be more circumspect with your words, if you're a female, and don't be so quick to anger. If your work requires you to come into close contact with sharp instruments and knives on a regular basis, be extremely cautious. Prioritise your own safety and don't be lackadaisical about it.

If you're involved in professional sports, then you will want to welcome the chance to travel and compete this month! You'll find that your chances of doing well are better abroad than it is in your home country. It is generally a good time to get moving and to satiate that travel bug in you, especially so if it involves work. Concluding deals that require you to travel to make them will bring about good changes of profits, as well as cementing your reputation and status.

April 5th - May 4th of 2010 庚辰

If you're knee-deep in property or real estate investments, it's still not too late to pull out. In fact, it's best you do it now rather than later, when the markets take a plunge and sees you reaping the losses! This is not the month to gamble with your finances either, quite literally, so cast all temptation aside and put your cash under lock and key – or somewhere where you can't get at it. Women in the household might want to get a medical check-up to rule out possible skin problems or breast malignancies.

If you're an artist, or having designs on becoming an artist, then now's not the time to be the shy and retiring type hiding modestly behind your skills! You'll need to let people know of your talent, and what better way than doing it through an exhibition of your works. The time is ripe to do so, and acclaim is likely to follow. Those of you who specialize in selling car and automobile accessories should go all out to target your better and bigger markets. This is a month when aggressiveness will work for you! Couples who are using this room will find this month to be a little difficult, however, as you'll have to put in more effort than usual to keep your relationship on a smooth and even plane.

The tensions that affected couples in the previous month will likely spill over to this one, affecting the female half more so than the males. In this case, both of you should bear in mind that tact and tolerance can go a long way toward soothing ruffled feelings. For those of you who are involved in the literary industry in any way, this might be a month of unhealthy rivalry and deceit. Watch your back, as backstabbers are aplenty. You might want to travel to strike deals and perform negotiations. This is particularly beneficial for those in the arts, marketing, and consulting.

Health issues come to the forefront this month, so if you're suffering from any ailments affecting your internal organs (particularly your spleen), then take adequate care. Elderly women should also be careful to consult their doctor at the first sign of anything being amiss. If you're in journalism or astronomy, this will be a good month for you in terms of getting funding, or attracting potential sponsors. Use your persuasive charms to the best of your ability!

August 7th - September 7th of 2010 甲申

If you're a model or a talent in the entertainment industry, you're used to having the spotlight on you. This month, however, you'll be literally basking in the limelight as all things related to you being in the centre of attention will go down favourably. So you should grab this opportunity to all out on a publicity blitz to promote yourself and your work! Academics and scholars will also enjoy a nice boost to their reputation. Embarking on foreign relations, or merely forging an alliance with partners abroad, will bode well for your business endeavours.

September 8th - October 7th of 2010 乙酉

If you're in the service industry, this will be a good month for you as long as you stay put, that is! Travelling will not be a good idea for the moment, as any sort of moving about will only reduce your financial gains. If you're looking to conclude and finalise any of your business deals that have been up in air for some time now. then this is the month to push forward and do it.

October 8th - November 6th of 2010 丙戌

Married people will be at it like cats and dogs this month, so to avoid being at loggerheads at every waking moment, be more careful with each other. This doesn't mean that you have to walk on eggshells, but be more respectful and considerate of each other. Sometimes the slightest thing can be the cause of immense hurt. Elderly people, or those of frail health, will be under the risk of a stroke or arterial blockage due to poor blood circulation. It would be best to go for a thorough medical check-up sooner rather than later.

November 7th - December 6th of 2010 丁亥

Pay attention to your physical health this month, and don't take anything for granted. If you've been feeling rather under the weather lately, then you should be taking extra precautions. This is particularly the case as you're under the risk of lung ailments and illnesses this month, so see your doctor at the first sign of prolonged wheezing and coughs. Be careful if you have to use sharp metal implements or knives, or an accident of the painful sort could be in order.

If you're a politician or a civil servant, or working for the government in some capacity, be careful with any deals or negotiations that involve real estate and property. Try not to let your guard down too soon, because then you could find yourself entangled in serious disputes. However, this will be a good month in general to travel to conclude any business deals. Travelling abroad to wrap things up can only serve to improve your reputation and status, while also increasing financial gains.

January 6th - February 3rd of 2011 己丑

This will not be the month to indulge in your interest in gambling activities. Financial losses will be possible this month, so tame your impulse to gamble if you want to be safe. Speculative investments, especially in the property industry, could result in huge losses as well. It would be best for you not to get involved in these for the meantime, until things seem surer in the future months.
