Does Phelps want these theories to shipwreck us as they shipwrecked the Nazis? Is he telling the truth? Or is he simply playing one more round of the popular occult game, "Watch the Fundamentalists run!" You be the judges and I shall value your input, research, and comments! You may either go over to Bro. Eric's "VaticanAssassins.org" website and read it for yourself, or in case another popular New Age game of "Now you see us, now you don't", you may read it as Bro Eric wrote it below. Both the link and the text follows:

Dear Brethren and Friends,

The "hollow earth theory" is both Biblical and truly scientific. Moreso, the Jesuits have done much to suppress this knowledge. The Jesuit/Masonic/Rockefeller connection to Admiral Byrd in financing the Admiral's explorations, as well as Amadeo Giannini's connection to the Jesuit Order's wicked Bank of America spoken of below, further sustains the connection. Jesuit physicist and seismologist Jerome S. Riccard connected with the Archbishop of Boston William Cardinal O'Connell (Cardinal years being 1911-1944) further raises my suspicion of a massive Jesuit cover-up in order to keep from us the truth as to the proper functioning of the earth in relation to a geocentric creation. It is possible that between the two truths of the earth being fixed and thus "at rest," and the magnetic influences of this truly "hollow earth" we dwell upon, lie the secrets to understanding the law of gravity thus enabling the Jesuit Millita of the Black Pope to build anti-gravity aerodynes, i.e., UFOs.

This 1926 photo shows 1881 Boston College graduate William Cardinal O'Connell, who as Boston Archbishop had encouraged the Jesuits to move their College from the South End location, walking the grounds of the Chestnut Hill Campus. He is accompanied by (R-L) Jesuit University President James Dolan, S.J., Director of Harvard (Beer) Brewing Company Walter Guyette of Lowell, and Jesuit Vice Provincial James Kilroy, S.J. The Jesuit Order totally controls the Pope's Roman Hierarchy in America. The Hierarchy, using its Papal Knights, controls the Company's "trusted third party," in accordance with its Secreta Monita. That "trusted third party" is the New York City-based Council on Foreign Relations. Select Council members, many of whom are Shriner Freemasons, Knights of Malta, Skull and Bones and Opus Dei, are "elected" or appointed to key positions of power within the Papacy's "Holy Roman" Fourteenth Amendment American Empire. Through this chain of command the Black Pope utilizes all scientific discoveries of note, monopolizes those discoveries if decided upon in secret council, and then suppresses, upon pain of death, all who would seek to give high technology to the White Nations of Western Civilization born out of the Lord Jesus Christ's Grand and Glorious Protestant Reformation.

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric"

Oh, and one more thing, Bro. Eric, please tell me where in the Bible pre or post AV1611, do I go to find these Hollow Ice Theories. The New Age bookstores have shelves full of them -- but you obviously read your bible much closer than I -- I couldn't find them?

ERIC JON PHELPS AND HIS BOOK, VATICAN ASSASSINS -- IT CALLS FOR MASS EXTERMINATIONS!

What you are about read will hopefully shock you as much as it has shocked me. One of our readers did an internet search to see where Eric Jon Phelps book was landing. He was speaking in Israel -- that in and of itself was a shocker because if anybody would bother to read his book carefully in his own words, they would see that the very creation of Israel and its 6 Day War Victory were all machinations of the Jesuits, per Phelps. I was, however, unprepared for how very evil was the company of those using this Phelps (sometimes referred to in Luciferic circles) as Phelps book. One of the very darkest sides of the New Age Movement is the Crowleyites and the Church of Process of the Final Judgment. Scientology devotees helped form that "church" and the church had 3 divisions: The Luciferians, the Jehovahists, and the Satanists. Phelps material turned up well synthesized and highly praised on the most evil site, I have ever viewed. Because the New Agers consistently play a successful game of "Now you see us, now you don't" in addition to the game I told you about of "watch the fundamentalists run", I have taken the pains to save the entire site to an Adobe Acrobat 7.0 file. This is what you call a pdf file.

This is the Eric Jon Phelps excerpt from the Lucifera book of that cult:

This is an accurate summary of Phelps work and if you go to that site, it is on page 34 of some of the strangest material you will hopefully ever view:

This is a 700 page richly illustrated title that adds to Malachi Martin's accusations of Satanic ritualism in the Vatican, the accusations of the Vatican's role in the Illuminati, assassinations, Usury and collaboration with the world's most evil Capitalist cultists. Adam Weishaupt, for example, the founder of the Bavarian Illuminati was brought up by Jesuits and was also a Freemason. Phelps argues that the Vatican is behind a long history of assassination and the mystery cultism of secret societies, that would put the CIA narco-terrorists to shame. The Vatican, no matter how small the land that it takes up, is a 'country' with its own laws, its own police force and its own military intelligence through its secret societies. This is the Devil's Army. And all these things, these Aryan religious hypocrites and their puppets do in the name of a Jewish Communist. Phelps alleges that under the banner of the Cross of the Knights of Malta, the Vatican has its own Masonic style terrorist organisation. It is this Cross that according to Masonic author Byrne's street maps of Paris, shows up in the street plans of Paris and in other the Templar cities, and the points of the Cross are places of importance to the cultists and tunnelers. The Vatican Mafia have real power among the Usuryists and Illuminated Masters of the world, and they are simply another corrupt MI6, CIA or Mossad, but in the name of Yeshiva, a Jewish Communist. It is also possible that the Satanists of the Vatican have access to Light technology. It must be made clear that these Satanists have absolutely nothing to do with Yeshiva or with the Communism and anti-propertyism of Yeshiva; on the contrary, these demons are hard core Usuryists and hypocrites, and they must be subjected to the same global Holocaust that their Nazi allies attempted to carry out against the Communists and Jews. The Revolution will not end until the last priest sheds blood from his neck and this is what must occur to all Usuryist collaborators and this is the Templar's method <http://www.luciferia.tv/2seal.htm> (34 of 117)4/27/2005 9:18:33 AM

Did you read that carefully? He is calling for a global holocaust against Catholics! And if we are publicly praising that book, how much would that advance the obvious global war against fundamentalism -- remember one of Javier Solana's original Barcelona Conference objectives was to "battle religious fundamentalism, worldwide." Just as Jim Jones was a hard core New Ager, as soon as his kool-aid party took place, the New Agers sought to re-Christen him as a "fundamentalist." He was a fundamentalist, alright! A fundamentalist New Ager!

I had angry letters about my stance on Phelps yesterday. I also had encouraging letters. If you go look at the site, make sure your children are not present and please pray for divine protection before you do. This is easily one of the most diabolical things I have ever seen.

It is frightening how many good Christians started to be sucked into this game. I pray that the Restrainer will let them go no further! By the way, Phelps' book uses certain Eustace Mullins' books as sources. Mullins' book THE WORLD ORDER concludes by saying that the makers of the world order will be vanquished and the people will go on to build a new golden age. Mullins was referring in that book to the Jews. An amazing number of people bought into this because they thought the book was a manifesto against a New World Order rather than a recipe for the very ugliest of ones. Jews, Christians, and Moslems are targets of the New Age schemers. Mullins primarily targeted Jews in his THE WORLD ORDER. Phelps primary targets Catholics in his VATICAN ASSASSINS.

Folks, that's New Age Movement in just two more of its ugly forms. Lets not buy into those lies. I will be writing more on this later and in the meantime will appreciate your comments.

I will not take sides on the subject, but it doesn't seem as if she chose not to contact Eric about his statements and who exactly he was referring to. I doubt Eric is calling for the mass extermination of Catholics. I find it more likely that he is referring to the "false Catholics and Christians" who are in power right now ie: George Bush, Count Peter

Hans Kolvenbach, and our new Pope Benedict XVI.

Also claiming that believing in the Hollow Earth theory does not necessarily make one a New Ager. Perhaps knowledge from the "higher ups" within the New Age movement who are controlling the New Age movement let knowledge seep out about the Hollow Earth theory. I could see this happening. Also so what if the Nazis believed in the Hollow Earth theory. Could that not mean that the ELITE who are CONNECTED to the NAZIS had this knowledge and let it once again "seep out" so to speak. Even noted researcher Fritz Springmeier has endorsed the Hollow Earth at one point. Is he a New Ager too? I seriously doubt it folks as Springmeier ENDORSES Ms. Cumbey's book Hidden Dangers of the Rainbow.

Top Government Scientist Reveals Information About Polar Regions
By Fritz Springmeier

Reprinted from The Hollow Earth Insider Volume III Number 6
Nov.-Dec. 1995

For those who do not know me, my name is Fritz Springmeier, and I have been investigating and exposing the Illuminati during the '90s. I have kept a low profile while writing the secrets, of the highest levels of the New World Order. Essentially everyone who is in the Illuminati or high up in the New World Order's Network is under some type of control, and many of these people are under total trauma-based mind-control when the victim is not even aware that he or she is under mind control.

Recently I spent 2 days debriefing a government engineer who worked at Area 51 in Nevada, this government scientist had one of the highest security clearances available. He had a level 3 clearance. The MJ clearance of Majesty 12 was right above his security clearance. He is turning against the New World Order and revealing all he knows. I will nickname him Cranston Jr.

Very few people understand the true mind-control this man and his c-workers have been subjected to. It is trauma-based mind-control also called Monarch Mind Control. I have written and am trying to disseminate lots of information about this grotesque form of total mind-control. This man himself still does not realize that he is still under mind control. Because I have been helping deprogram this type of mind-control, when these mind-controlled slaves speak, I have an idea of what is disinformation and what is legitimate information. When this geologist spoke to me about indentations at the Polar Regions which are inhabited, I believe that he was sincere in what he told me.

I have also spoken with a pilot who worked on the periphery of the CIA, and he had proof that he flew many times at low levels over the North Pole. This man is also trying to fight the New World Order and I believe he is honest. He states that he never saw any indentation at the pole and he flew at low levels in daylight many times in the area. Obviously, that leaves a person like me in a quandary. Who does one believe?

I have been fascinated by the Antarctica since I was a boy. I have studied everything I could read about it. In fact, there is a man named Springmeyer that worked for the government in the Antarctica. The public has been told that there is a station at the South Pole that is inhabited by men.

There is a lot more that could be written in this article than this article can contain. I am going to try to keep it straightforward and simple.

For years this geological engineer helped the New World Order build massive underground installations, which now number 132. When he finally grasped that he was helping to enslave the human race, and the NWO killed his friend, he declared war on the NWO.

Cranston Jr. brought suitcases of documents, alien metals, photos, etc. to back up his story. As a researcher there was no doubt that he was who he said he was. In fact as a researcher, I already knew someone in government who knew him. As with most people who have worked at that high of a level, he is a programmed multiple, who has a photographic memory which runs throughout his entire alter system. I have interviewed in the past government people (CIA, NSA people) who are trying "to expose the NWO" who were programmed multiples ... so I have an idea of how to separate the bogus from the real. Most of them are bogus ... but Cranston Jr. impressed me with his sincerity. His photographic mind works vastly different than most people's mind, but it is a tremendous asset for the researcher like myself who wants detail.

After two days of interviewing with me, and after hundreds of questions, I asked this man about the Polar Regions. Before you read Cranston Jr.'s answer, it would be worthwhile to enlighten readers again as to why I would even ask about the Polar Regions.

A number of puzzling things had occurred over the years. Most of us would probably pay no attention to these anomalies, and would shrug them off because they don't fit into our expectations of what reality must be (or at least what the system's school books spoon fed us).

NASA's Dynamic Explorer I & II, the DODGE satellite, ESSA-7 and other satellites orbiting the earth have sent back photos showing a large circular indentation at the north pole, or what looks like a sliced off top of the globe when viewed from above the equator. What is this indentation, and why should it show some photos that have been released -- but not all of them? The ESSA-7 weather satellite photos of the northern circular indentation were taken 11/23/68 for the Environmental Science Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce. Either the NWO is trying to play an elaborate hoax, or we have indentations at the earth poles.

Why did the famous Admiral Richard Byrd who was an early explorer of the Polar Regions say things that would lead someone to think that a lush, green world is located at the North Pole? Time-Life put out a book "Mystic Places" in their Mysteries of the Unknown series that talks about the clues Byrd gave that he's seen a different world at the North Pole.

I have some of the word for word enigmatic statements of Byrd that hint that he discovered great new lands at both the north and south poles that were iceless. Admiral Byrd went to the North Pole in '56 and died the next year leaving a widow Marie and a book "Alone" which purports to be the story of his experience at the Antarctica/South pole. The book "Alone" may be a cover story if his purported diary is legitimate.

[The Diary is a fake as my research has unquestionably proven. Read: "The Missing Secret Diary of Admiral Byrd: Fact or Fiction?" <http://www.thehollowearthinsider.com/news/wmview.php?ArtID=6> ...Dennis].

Why is there a constant stream of contradictory and fresh ideas about the inside of the planet earth? A cast in point, is "Time" magazine, 2/22/93 that states that a "nuclear blast reveals a subterranean continent." According to "Time" a Chinese .66-megaton nuclear blast revealed that a continent was laying 80 miles deep under the surface. At first glance, it may seem that science has an understanding of what is below the surface of the earth, but a closer examination reveals many contradictory ideas within the scientific community. Such scientists have claimed the interior is more like cheese -- with holes running through it. (And this according to my high level intelligence source is correct).

Why did Jules Verne, who did such an excellent job of basing his novels on scientific fact, write "Journey to the Center of the Earth"?

Why have so many occult leaders, Illuminati members (such as Hitler, Rudolf Hess, other leading Nazi's like Heinz Fisher) and other pagans like Lord Bulwyer Lytton, Marshall B. Gardner believed in the Hollow earth? Why have other people such as William Reed, Ray Palmer, Richard Shaver, Raymond Bernard, Harley Byrd, Capt. John Symmes, William Bryan II, Norma Cox, Dennis Crenshaw and others believed in a hollow earth? At first it seems to fly in the face of establishment scientific fact, similar to those who believe the earth is flat.

According to this high level source, 'Cranston Jr.', the situation about the two Polar Regions is one of the biggest secrets of the NWO. The only people who have been to the pole are those who can be trusted with the secrets. Rockefeller gave Admiral Byrd, of the old occult Byrd family, one million dollars to explore the North Polar Region. Admiral Byrd is said to have hinted that he discovered a new world at the North Pole.

According to this high level source 'Cranston Jr.' the earth's crust is 100 miles thick, thicker than previously believed. One secret exploration group (Molehill) drilled 22 miles and still kept hilling hard rocks.

Further, he states the Polar Regions each have an indentation 500 miles deep. The earth is not hollow. It simply has two large circular indentions approximately at each polar end. On top-secret military/NWO maps the indentation at the North Polar Region is labeled "Area 5,800" and the indentation at the southern polar region is called "the 10,000th area." Cranston Jr. doesn't know why they received those designations. He also said that 3-D cubed models exist of the underground tunnel system that runs throughout the interior of the earth, and that he has seen these 3-D models. His photographic memory knows exactly how the 3-D models looks, but he didn't have time to sketch it for me. In high-level meetings, "Area 5,008" is talked about only on rare occasions, and the southern area is even more secret. The entrances to these indentations are not easy to reach, and so those in the know have been able to keep this a secret.

This leads me to believe that some type of camouflage or holographic camouflage cover now exists over these entrances if these entrances are not easy to spot.

The existence of a lush inhabited indentation at the north pole, is so secret that only a few in the Illuminati at the top have been told this specific details, and many governments around the world were kept in the dark. Only level 3 security people or above have been in meetings with the coded numbers have been used to speak about the warm indented Polar Regions. The French government learned the secret only in recent years. Part of the reason for the secrecy is control. If the people knew how they have been deceived, they would lose faith in those who are controlling them. Rather than deal with a control problem, the NWO would rather leave people in the dark.

However, as a person who spends his time trying to help victims of Illuminati Mind-control, this author has researched and written several books about the illuminati's beliefs and ceremonies. One of the Illuminati's beliefs is that the earth is hollow. Why would some of the most powerful men in the world believe something like this if it weren't true?

The illuminati, under the front of Nazism, did extensive exploration of the Antarctica in 1938-39. German aerial reconnaissance flights are known to have covered 230,000 square miles and photo mapped 135,000 square miles of the Antarctica. Hitler named the area Neuschwabenland and the Nazi German government laid claim to a large section of the Antarctica. I suspect the Nazis had at least one secret base in Antarctica during WWII. The existence of the Nazi German flying saucers is becoming wider known with a number of recent good books examining their existence. It is reported that Nazi German saucers had a base in Antarctica, so part of the Nazi operations is rumored to have gone at the end of WWII. An official U.S. navy film, which is a one-hour documentary, shows an American DC-3 flying over the Antarctica just after the war and discovering a mountainous area that has a never-freezing lake and chocolate colored mountains. This region in the documentary is said to be 3! 00 square miles. What the film shows, lines up approximately with what is now above top secret. This would be "the 10,000th area" on MJ12's (aka the Wise Men, the Study Group, & other designations) classified maps that have an MJ (Magic or Majestic) clearance level.

The Nazi Germans during WWII also sent into the arctic regions weathermen. Mainly to Greenland and Spitzbergen. They also sent some expeditions to find the north polar entrance to 'the hollow earth,'

What tentative conclusions can be drawn from the information that was given to this author? The earth is not hollow. It is not a perfect sphere. It is slightly pear-shaped with two circular indentions near the top and the bottom. Due to advanced tunneling equipment the interior of the earth is now honeycombed with tunnels, like a piece of cheese. Within the two indentions are complete cities. There are complete cities below the ground also.

OBJECTIONS: Doesn't all of this fly in the face of fact?

ANSWER: At first it seems like something from the lunatic fringe (whoever that is), but when one thinks about it, the truth is that it is likely none of the readers of this article have been to either pole. We are having to take the word of specially chosen military men to tell us the truth. However, it is well known that soldiers will keep 'national security' secrets and give disinformation if they are ordered to. It is conceivable that these indentations could be hidden from the public.

OBJECTIONS: Haven't civilian people been to the South Pole?

ANSWER: Yes, a small group of tourists were allowed to go to the South Pole, but it is conceivable that these people were persons who they could trust with the secret. It's also possible that they were never flown to the actual South Pole.

One of my own flights to Europe was over the polar route, but as I remember the flight was at night and at a high altitude so that nothing was visible below.

Perhaps my biggest objection to the Hollow Earth theory was that it seemed that most of the people who believed it, have been connected with the other side. For instance, Dr. Frank Stranges, who went into a high-level clearance area in the Pentagon, believes in the Hollow Earth. Dr. Stranges goes to Korea frequently for the Pentagon. Part of his family is in Italy. He is a religious minister of some type. I have been trying to identify a mind-control programmer identified as a Dr. Strange. Dr. Frank Stranges has been speaking at New Age conferences about what the Bible says about UFOs. When someone works on secret projects for the Pentagon, and is a minister I trust them as much as I trust Oliver North (a preprogrammed multiple) who worked for George Bush's [Pappy ... Dennis] secret personal intelligence organization the CPPG, which by the way also ran an informal subgroup called the 208 Committee. Programmed "Boxes within boxes" so to speak. Oliver North has been hailed as a great Charismatic Pentecostal, and yet he lied to Congress several times, and even admitted that he gave totally false testimony. These are the type "Christians" that the Pentagon uses at high levels.

Dr. Stranges comes across very well. He speaks on radio about when he went into the Pentagon and met Val Thor, an alien. But his description of Val Thor and the geologist's description of the same alien are totally different. Again, who is correct?

Harley Byrd is another person who is promoting the Hollow Earth theory who has been deeply immersed into the New World Order. Harley worked for the Pentagon putting out disinformation in regards to UFOs for years. As Public Information Officer of the Air force's "Operation Blue Book," he put out excellent disinformation.

[And has admitted it many times. Harley was also a regular contributor to the old THEI, so while I disagree with some of Fritz's statements regarding Harley, I must admit that Harley and I weren't as close after I exposed the phony Admiral Byrd Diary. However Harley told me that the diary he received from the Admiral IS NOT the one that I proved to be fake. According to Harley ... he was only given part of the Diary. What happened to his part was something he would not comment on at the time. ... Dennis].

Harley is reported to have exclaimed, "I love the Rockefellers." Harley has claimed to be both the nephew and the grandson of Admiral Byrd. There are personality clues that Harley may be a programmed multiple. In that case, what is disinformation that has been programmed into him, and what is legitimate information? He has been setting up a museum in L.A. to house the artifacts about his Uncle Admiral Byrd. Harley claims that his uncle wrote a diary, which he has published, entitled "The Secret Diary of Admiral Byrd". He has been giving lectures on UFOs, disinformation and the Hollow Earth at New Age conferences around the Country.

I know of another man (now dead) with connections to the Rockefellers and a member of Naval Intelligence who participated in promoting the Hollow earth theory also. These connections concern me.

The highest levels of the illuminati are "aware" or "believe" that there are entrances to the North and South poles and that there is a reptilian race from the Draco constellation that they work with. I have known this for years, but I have not known what to do with this piece of information. Since the Kingdom of Satan is full of lies -- either this is an elaborate deception that Satan's Kingdom is perpetrating on their own people, or there is something real to all this. Satan's Kingdom is full of one lie on top of another. People that serve in the top echelon's of this Kingdom no longer know how to be honest. For instance, George Bush [Pappy again ... Dennis] was a prolific liar, who lied to everyone around him, including Ronald Reagan when Bush was his Vice-President. Bill Casey as well as other CIA and M16 intelligence assets in turn lied to him. The Syrians really took George Bush for a ride when they captured the CIA's top man in Lebanon, Buckley. The CIA and MI-6's best Arab intelligence asset, the Syrian Al-Kassar family double-crossed them without even being suspected by the Americans and British. First liar doesn't stand a chance with these people. Where does the disinformation begin and where does it end with what these people say?

Plus MI-6, the CIA and the Mossad like to play both sides of the fence. The CIA repeatedly armed and trained Arab terrorists (such as the PLO in Syria and Jordan and terrorist training groups training in Libya) while also hunting down Arab terrorists. The British were shipping artillery ammunition to Saddam Hussein via Jordan, while they were sending military men to Saudi Arabia for Desert Storm. And then when a researcher like myself becomes aware of the extensive mind-control that is routinely done to people by the intelligence agencies, there certainly are grounds for a level of skepticism toward everyone working in secret for the American government.

The Intelligence agency that has the best reputation for honesty is the U.S. Army Intelligence Corps (CIC). They are despised by all the other Intelligence agencies because they are dependable with the truth and can back up their truthful intelligence statements when they provided to government officials. The FBI databases are well known to have a 50% error rate. The NSA dumps 40 tons of electronic intelligence gathered from illegally monitoring all telephone conversations, etc. in this country in the trash daily. Their information overload insures that they won't gather information correctly. Some of the most deceived people are at the top. Each of us has to take responsibility for what we think.

There are passages in the Word of God that could be interpreted to validate that hollow interior areas do exist. In fact the temporary holding place of "Abraham's bosom", and hell are indicated to be in the earth's interior. I have searched the Scriptures and fail to find anything that would scripturally prevent Christians from accepting that the poles have deep holes.

After speaking with Hollow earth experts such as our Editor, Dennis Crenshaw, who has studied the theory for several decades, I believe that Cranston Jr. is the first credible high level source to provide us specific information. The information that Cranston Jr. gives about a 500 mile-deep circular indentation at both ends of the globe sounds credible. Cranston Jr. provided documentation that proved to me, that he worked at secret government installations. He was able to answer specific questions that ordinary persons could not have fielded from an old-time UFO researcher like myself. A number of credible people are claiming that extensive tunneling is going on under the earth's surface.

I believe that, in addition to Cranston Jr.'s inside information, there has been enough scientific data from the scientific community to warrant a re-evaluation on the part of truth-seekers about the nature of the earth's polar regions and the earth's interior. I will pass on any more information I get during my research to those who are interested in what is going on in the interior of the earth. The final chapter hasn't been written about the poles.

Why would Constance Cumbey say these things of Eric?

CRAIG-OXLEY - January 20, 2006 09:57 PM (GMT)

Cumbey is a Temporal Coadjutor its that simple. They hate Eric Phelps who blows the lid off this conspiracy full stop and they need to discredit, agitate and discourage people and Eric to help destroy the information he gives. If people want to carry on listening to David Icke's, Alex Jones and Cumbey's they will stay in the dark for good with many unanswered questions and false history galour.

I'm surprised you asked this question in the first place as its obviously.

Description: Runs From The Feared Illuminati

CRAIG-OXLEY - January 19, 2006 02:40 AM (GMT)

Greg made the mistake with Pope John Paul I in his first article claiming it was 39 days of rule before his death when it was actually 33. He now makes the mistake of telling you that the U.S is split into 7 regions of control when infact its 10! Wether Greg is a Temporal giving some truth mixed with nonsense I do not know yet but we've found mistakes so far. Again why is Jeff "TEMPORAL" Rense helping spread this info on his website when he now FEARS Eric Jon Phelps. Remember on folks that these articles don't dare go as far as to blame THE JESUIT ORDER. Like Dan Brown's Da Vinci Code they put all the blame on Opus Dei but in this case Vatican. Your still led up the garden path to a point with this information. Maybe THE ORDER is desperate to move attention closer to home but still keep them out the picture seeing as many people are finally waking up? Their smoke and mirrors are falling and many of us are waking up that Reptilian fantasy stories from David "Temporal" Icke and others simply are nonsense diversions -2tuff

Fed Up With Lies And Deceit, Svali Turns Tail And Runs From The Feared Illuminati

After being brainwashed and heavily schooled in the "12 Disciplines" of the Illuminati, Svali is now trying to base her life on a foundation of truth not lies.

18 Jan 2006

By Greg Szymanski

Part III

<http://www.arcticbeacon.com/18-Jan-2006b.html>

Svali wised up. At age 38, she turned tail and ran from the clutches of the Illuminati in San Diego.

No more secret meetings in nearby Escondido guarded with heavy Illuminati security.

No more pushing "The Family" agenda as a head mind control trainer.

She was simply fed up with the lies, deceit, torture, bribery and killing, deciding 10 years ago to call it quits on her wealthy parents and the members of the insidious Illuminati.

Brainwashed as a child, she finally saw through the lies, the evil and decided to start all over again, landing in northern Texas where she has now began a Christian ministry with a foundation in truth, not Illuminati lies.

If Svali was in the mafia, she'd probably be at the bottom of the Pacific with her feet in cement. But the Illuminati chose to try and bury her in a more subtle way, choosing to leave her penniless, separating her from her two children and claiming she was bi-polar or psychotic.

It's a simple method: If the "turncoat messenger" is high-level, high-profile or extremely dangerous to the Illuminati cause, kill them and make it look like an accident or a death from natural causes.

But if they're like Svali, knowledgeable but in middle management of the Illuminati pack, they usually let them die a slow death from isolation, fear and poverty. Further, the Illuminati strategy is to deny, deny, deny and discredit, discredit, discredit until hell freezes over if need be.

Think about it. Is it better to create an ugly scene, drawing attention with violence? Or is it more effective to depict Svali as a psychotic, delusional woman who talks off the top of her head without any basis in fact?

But through all the tough times since leaving her wealthy past, Svali said her main reason for calling it quits after being schooled religiously in the "12 Steps of Discipline" most of her life, was her growing awareness that the "Illuminati ends to not justify the means."

"I wrote Breaking the Chain, my book that is yet to be published, several years ago, when my children were being held hostage by the cult. At that time, my husband was still active, and to punish me for leaving, and in an attempt to bring me back, literally held them hostage," said Svali in a written statement, adding she felt obligated to inform Americans about the Illuminati's devious future plans.

"We would go into court hearings, in which he and his lawyer attempted to make me appear foolish for stating that he was cult active. He would then turn around, and after the hearing, come to me and say, "You can have them back if you will come back..."

"I swore to write a chapter a week, exposing the group that held my children and my husband hostage, and this book was born. After four painful years, through a miracle of God's goodness, I regained full custody of my children. As a result, my (now ex-husband) left the cult as well and is currently pursuing his own wholeness in therapy."

During her many years of loyal service to the Illuminati, she became aware of the intricate details in many of the criminal activities initiated by the cult, citing the main money-making schemes in the opening chapter of her book not yet published. The following is a partial list of some of the criminal activities, designed to raise enormous sums of cash while destroying innocent lives, sponsored by the Illuminati:

Illuminati Money-Making Schemes

"Drug running: The Illuminati linked up with the Mafia and the Columbians, years ago, to help each other out with bringing drugs into the United States. They also provide couriers for taking drugs and money out of the States. The Illuminists are generally wealthy businessmen, who have 4 layers of people underneath them. The fourth layer down actually has contact with the people in the drug industry. They never identify themselves as Illuminists; only as people interested in investing, with a guaranteed profit, and are highly secretive. In return, the local groups supply people willing to be couriers of money or drugs, or people willing to help cover for the local operations.

"Pornography: The Illuminati are linked in many cities with pornography, prostitution, child prostitution and white slavery sales. Again, several layers are present, as a buffer, between the true "management" and those either engaged in the activities, or in paying for/funding and eventually being paid for the activities.

"Children are often supplied from the local cult groups, and taught to be child prostitutes (and later, adult prostitutes); are photographed and filmed in every type of pornography available, including "snuff films" and violent films.

"Gun running: The Illuminati and other groups are also involved in international gun sales and shipments. The Illuminists have well trained couriers who will cross international and state lines. These couriers are highly secretive, and will not reveal their sources, on pain of suicide or assassination. These people are accountable to others above them, with two more "buffer layers" of people above these, before the person in the Illuminati with money, who helps fund this, is found.

"Buying access codes for military computers: The Illuminati will have people from all strata of civilian life trained to go and make pickups near or on military bases. A typical person used might be the innocent looking wife of a military person, a local businessman, or even a college student. There is a contact inside the base, also a dissociative Illuminist, who brings the information to the outside contact. Occasionally, the contact person is paid with money, information, or goods. The military computer codes are changed on random schedules; the Illuminati have at least 5 or 6 contacts on each major base, who alert them when the codes are getting ready to change, on pain of death. The Illuminists like having access to military computers, because that will gain them entrance to closed files the world over.

"Hiring and selling assassinations: this is done worldwide, more in Europe than in the States. These people are paid big money to do either a private or political assassination. The money is paid either to the assassin, or to the trainer; usually they both divide the fee. The assassin is offered protection in another country for awhile, until the trail runs cold. If the kill is done in Europe they may be sent to the far east or the U. S., and vice versa if the kill is done in the U.S. The Illuminati have a wide arena of places and false identities to hide these people, unless for some reason they want the assassin disposed of as well. Then, he/she is caught and immediately executed.

"Mercenaries/military trainers: guess who gets paid money to come in and train paramilitary groups? Who has training camps all over the states of Montana, Nevada, and North Dakota ? Who occasionally will offer their expertise in return for a large financial reward? They never advertise themselves as Illuminati, unless the group is known to be sympathetic to their cause. Instead, these are tough, cold, brutal military trainers, who offer to teach these groups in return for money, or even better, a promise to affiliate with their group in return (loyalty in return for knowledge). More and more paramilitary groups have been brought into the Illuminati this way, without their full knowledge of who and what the group really is. This gives the Illuminists a way to monitor these groups (their trainers report on them, and their activities), and it can be useful to have trained military groups that they can call on someday.

"Banking: The original Illuminists were bankers, and they have highly trained financiers to organize their money, and funnel the above illicit funds into more "respectable" front groups/organizations. They will also start benevolent charities, community organizations, etc., as fronts, and funnel the money from a broad base into these groups. The Illuminati particularly pride themselves on their money making and manipulation skills, and their ability to cover their paper trails expertly, through layer after layer.

"All banking trails eventually will lead to Belgium, the Illuminati financial center for the world. These are some of the major money making enterprises that the Illuminati are engaged in. They have a lot of financial resources, backing their enterprises, which means that in reality they can engage the best lawyers, accountants, etc. to help cover their trail as well."

One of the more amazing aspects of the American Illuminati is there efficiently organized and almost corporate-like structure. Being one day groomed for a top level position, Svali learned the highly-detailed U.S. structure, including how the hierarchy are chosen and organized.

From top to bottom with incredible detail, this is what Svali had to say:

"The Illuminati have 3 main branches: the Germanic branch, which oversees the others, the British branch, which handles finances, and the French/Russian branch. All three branches are represented in both the United States and Canada, as well as every country in the world.

"The Illuminati have groups in every major city of the United States. They originally entered the U.S. through Pittsburgh, Pa., and from there, spread across the U.S. There are 18 cities across the U.S., which are considered major "power centers" for Illuminati power and/or influence. These include: Washington, DC and the surrounding areas; Albany, New York; Pittsburgh, Pa; the "golden triangle" of the Winston Salem, Raleigh, NC area; Minneapolis, Minn; Ann Arbor, Mich; Wichita, Kan.; Phoenix, Az.; Portland, Or.; Flagstaff, Az.; Seattle, Wash.; Houston, TX; Los Angeles, CA. and surrounding areas; Atlanta, Ga.; New Orleans, La., Springfield, Miss. Other cities are important to the Illuminati, as well, but these cities funnel money for them, conduct research, and often regional councils sit within them.

"The Illuminati have organized their society along extremely hierarchical, or stratified, levels. In fact, the top levels are known as the hierarchical and anarchical levels.

"The Illuminati have divided the United States into seven geographical regions; each region has its own regional council, composed of 13 members, with an advisory board of three elders to each one. These regions interact for purposes of finances; personnel; teaching, etc. Beneath each regional council, is a local council. This is a council of 13 members, the head of whom sits on the regional council, and gives it information about the local groups underneath his leadership. The local council will also have an advisory council of 3.

"A local leadership council in a large metropolitan area might look like this:

--Head of local council (reports to regional council)

--Two intermediaries (report all activities under leader to him)

--Four administrators (oversee finances, administer, set up group activities)

--Six head trainers (over trainers in local groups, teach other trainers)

"Underneath the above leadership council, will be six people designated as informers or intermediaries, who go to the local group meetings, interact with local group leaders, and report to the leadership council.

"The Anarchical level: the levels below the leadership council are known as the anarchical levels. Underneath the intermediate level, is the local group level. It will look like this: Local "Sister groups" (will vary in number, according to the size of the city, or cities, in the area). A large metropolitan area may have anywhere from ten to twenty seven groups.

"And each sister group will be headed up by: A high priest and priestess: this job is rotated every 3 years, to allow different people within the group to take on leadership roles. Each group will also have different members, with specific roles/jobs within the group.

"One thing that I would like to emphasize is the fact that the Illuminati today are generational. Their members are born into the group, which is highly organized, as described above. The set up discussed above is representative, with minor variations, of most major metropolitan regions of the United States. Smaller population centers will be organized under similar guidelines, but will be tied together with several cities within the region to create the local leadership council."

As a head trainer and programmer in the San Diego area Savali is very familiar with the techniques and equipment employed by the Illuminati. The following are some of the tools of her former trade taken from the appendix of her book:

"Training room: the average training room is a neutral colored room, with walls painted either a dull gray, white, or beige. Some may be painted in various colors, as part of color coding. They are often located in secret underground rooms, or basements of large private residences, and will be entered from the main building through a covered doorway. Impromptu training rooms may be set up during military exercises outdoors, in covered canvas tents.

"Trainers: the Illuminati have a rule: there must always be a minimum of two trainers working with a person. This prevents a trainer from being either too severe, or permissive, or developing too close a bond with the subject; the watchful eye of the other trainer prevents this. Younger trainers are paired with older, more experienced trainers. The older trainer will teach the younger, who does most of the actual work. If the younger is unable to finish a task, or loses heart, the older one will step in.

"Head trainers: will teach, they will also work with the council leaders and hierarchy. All members are required to come in for a "tune up" (reinforcing programming), even top leaders, from time to time.

"EEG machine: will often have abbreviated hookups for quick use. Used extensively with brain wave programming; also to verify that a certain alter is out when called up. May be used to verify deep trance state before initiating deep programming. Trainers are taught to read these readouts.

"Trainer's table: a large table, frequently steel covered with plastic, or easily cleaned material. On the sides at intervals are restraints for arms, legs, neck to prevent movement.

"Trainer's chair: large chair with arm rests. Will have restraints as above at intervals to restrain movement while person sits in chair.

Shock equipment: models and types are quite varied, depending on age and company. Most have a set of rubber covered wires, with electrodes that may be connected with Velcro, rubber (steel tips imbedded under finger and toe nail beds), or gel pads (larger body areas such as chest, arms, legs). Some are tiny electrodes, which can be taped next to eyes, or placed within genitalia. These are connected to the "shock box", which has controls that can determine amount of electricity , and frequency, if interval shocks are desired.

"Drugs: any number of opiates, barbiturates, hypnotics, sedatives, anesthetic agents. Resuscitative drugs, antidotes are also kept, clearly labeled and indexed. Many drugs, especially experimental ones, are only known by code names, such as "alphin 1".

CPR equipment: in case person has adverse reaction to drugs or programming. At times, a child alter will come out inadvertently during a programming sequence, and will be overdosed with the drugs meant for adult alters. The trainers must give it the antidote, and resuscitate it, just as if a real child is out. They are well aware of this fact, and will severely punish child alters, to teach them to come out only when called out.

"Virtually reality headsets: the keystone in recent years. Many programming sequences utilize holographic images, and virtual reality set ups, including assassination programs, where the person realistically "kills" another humanbeing. These virtual disks are far more advanced than those in video arcades.

"Steel instruments: used to insert into orifices, cause pain

"Stretch machine: used as punishment, "stretches " person without breaking bones. Extremely painful.

"Trainer's grids and projectors: used to project grids on wall or ceiling.

"Movie projector: to show movies, although new VR disks are replacing these computer: collect and analyze data; keep computer grid on person's system. Current military computer access codes will be used to download into governmental computers.

Trainer's journals: contain indexed copies of subject's systems, including key alters, command codes, etc.

"Comfort objects: used to comfort subject afterwards. May be toy or candy for child alters, or oils for massage. Warm towels, or beverages may be given, as the trainer "bonds with" and comforts person they worked with. This is probably the most important part of the training process, as the trainer explains calmly, kindly how well the person did, how proud they are of them."

Editor's Note: Next read Part IV where Svali discusses the many different types of mind altering programming methods used by the Illuminati, as well as human experimentation programs still going on today. Also, why did George W. Bush travel to Pittsburgh right after he was elected to speak at a Masonic Lodge? Read as Svali provides answers to the significance of Pittsburgh in the Illuminati plans.

Jesuits get new Jamaican Regional Superior

published: Wednesday | January 18, 2006

FR. PETER-HANS Kolvenbach, S.J., the Superior General of the Society of Jesus (the Jesuits), has appointed Fr. Peter Mclsaac, S.J. as the Regional Superior of the Jesuits in Jamaica.

Fr. Mclsaac will succeed Fr. Jim Webb, S.J., who has served as the Regional Superior since 1997. His appointment will take effect June 1, 2006.

Fr. Mclsaac, who is 40, was born in Winnipeg and spent his formative years in Winnipeg, Toronto and Bermuda. After receiving an MA in Philosophy from the University of Toronto, he entered the Society of Jesus in Canada in 1989. After initial studies in Chicago, he worked for two years at St. Peter Claver Church in Kingston, before continuing studies in theology in Nairobi and Toronto.

150 YEARS IN JAMAICA

He was ordained to the priesthood in Toronto in May, 1998. Fr. Mclsaac returned to Jamaica in 1999 and for the past five years has been the Pastor of St. Anne's Church in Hannah Town.

The Jesuits, an order of priests and brothers in the Roman Catholic Church, have worked in Jamaica for more than 150 years as educators and pastors. Their two high schools in Jamaica, St. George's College and Campion College, have a distinguished history of aca-demic excellence and Christian formation.

ArchAngel - January 19, 2006 01:56 AM (GMT)

:P

Thought I'd throw this one up for review.

<http://www.proxywhore.com/invboard/index.php?showtopic=10838>

The one and only conspiracy is Swiss. It started in 1505 when Swiss mercenaries colonized Vatican. They still hold it a colony. This is the longest held of colonies. Presently 32nd Swiss military governor is in office. The one before him was killed after rumors of gay orgies in Rome.

Tentacles of the Global Swiss Conspiracy are the Monarchies: they are all Swiss lineages.

Hitler was an insignificant appointee of one of the ethnic Swiss dukes, Karl Edward of Saxe-Coburg, born as prince of Britain, general of the Reich in both world wars, owner of ten percent vote political party which added to the Nazi party, gave Hitler majority.

Bush admin and neo-cons are of Swiss origin.

Rockefeller and Kissinger are of Swiss origin.

Rotschildt and Marx are of Swiss origin.

Twentyfive percent of US are vassals of Swiss Eidsgenossenschaft. These go under names of mennonites, Moravians, Dutch, Palatinates, Alsacians, Hottentots and other ethnics from the reich zone.

Wackenhut is a Swiss lineage and controls all US prisons and nuclear facilities.

CRAIG-OXLEY - January 19, 2006 02:05 AM (GMT)

So my friend why is it that when the Vatican is in danger and/or the Pope they remove the Swiss military guard and replace them with the SOVEREIGN MILITARY OF MALTA? THAT text is pure nonsense and the only power that Swiss have is the fact that much of the Elites finances are there and that it.

((National Defense University (NDU) Library's Restricted Document/Transcript of Jesuit Edmund Walsh's Lecture to Industrial College of Armed Forces))

This lecture shows Jesuit Walsh was a military priest heavily involved in the Papal Caesar's Second Thirty Years' War. High level Jesuit Walsh wore an officer's uniform when he apprehended General Karl Haushofer in Bavaria for interrogation at Nuremberg.

Yes, Walsh was the immediate master of CFR/Masonic Jackson and SMOM Donovan---and CFR Mason Walter Cronkite who was there also. For Cronkite's obedience, he became the anchorman for CBS and was a co-conspirator in the cover-up of the JFK assassination.

Dear Brother Eric,

Here are a few more links about Jesuit Walsh. I didn't see the fact that Freemason Justice Jackson was "advised" by Jesuit Walsh. "Advised" means that the Freemason was merely a figurehead and Jesuit Walsh was the real master of Nuremberg which explains why the Knights of Malta in the Reich were allowed to live.

CRAIG-OXLEY - January 18, 2006 11:53 PM (GMT)

Dear Brother xxxxxxxx,

I have heard Mr. Freedman's speech some time back and at first was quite taken back by it. But he blames the Jews for manipulating Wilson to bring the US in WWI against Germany when I can prove that it was the influence of Baltimore Archbishop James Cardinal Gibbons behing Masonic Edward M. House and Wilson's Secretary, Knight of Columbus Tumulty, that was the real impetus.

Therefore, I dismiss Mr. Freedman's expose as merely intended to excite more anti-Jewish fury in the US. Concerning The Protocols, the Jesuits wrote them after the pattern of their previous work against Jansenism, The Secrets of the Elders of Bourg Fontaine as stated by ex-priest Leo Lehmann in his 1942 classic, Behind the Dictators, p. 15. Remember, the maxims found in the Protocols are absolutely true; the authors are the Jesuits, not the Jews. Further, those who circulate The Protocols to be used against the Jews are Coadjutors for the Order, men like the hateful anti-White racist, NOI chieftan, mulatto Louis Farrakhan. The only lie in the Protocols is the authors are pretending to be Jews.

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric

He has posted a series of 3 articles from a jewish man named Dr. Freedman speaking on zionism in 1961. Is Freedman correct or is this more propaganda? As a jewish believer, I am apt to disregard this as anti-jewish agitation which I find lurking in many of my fellow Christian patriots. Similar to the trash of the protocols of zion.

Secret Vatican Catacombs, Child Sacrifices, Mind Control: Svali, Involved In U.S. Illuminati For 30 years, Talks Openly About Devious Plans To Topple America

Born into the Illuminati, Svali says her Vatican initiation ceremony at the age of 12 involved child sacrificing and a promise to serve "The Family or Order" for life.

By Greg Szymanski

Part II

<http://www.arcticbeacon.com/17-Jan-2006.html>

She looked into the eyes of the "French Father" while a man looking like a priest in scarlet robes put a golden knife into the heart of sandy-haired little boy about three or four years old.

The boy, drugged and glassy-eyed, had been placed like a sacrificial lamb on a large black table in the center of the room located deep within the belly of the beast -- the Vatican.

And the room, dark and foreboding with the scent of evil dripping from the walls, was only accessible through a hidden passageway camouflaged by a large painting.

Once inside the secret chamber, 13 distinct passageways were visible, each leading to a separate catacomb with every one of the 13 doorways blocked by the horrific site of a mummified body.

"After the boy was sacrificed, I had to bow and kiss the ring of the priest in scarlet robes and swear to serve the New World Order for the rest of my life," recalls Svali, 48, about the senseless sacrifice of what looked like "a drugged little boy" during her 1970 induction ceremony into the feared Illuminati.

"I also had to swear to serve he who is to come as the 'great leader.' Looking back, it was just horrific and terror rushes into my mind every time I think about what happened.

"I remember counting the 13 mummified figurers in front of the catacombs and a voice saying 'the spirits of the Father are watching over you' and that is when the little boy was sacrificed. A priest did that in scarlet robes and terror still goes through my mind when I think about it."

At the age of 12, Svali remembers being flown to Rome, taken to the Vatican and then meeting with two of the Illuminati fathers, one the French leader and the other from Germany.

Prior to leaving the U.S., she remembers being briefed by her multi-millionaire American parents about the importance of the ceremony, but told very little else about what to expect concerning the details and the gruesome child sacrifice.

Once in the Vatican, she also remembers the two fathers, as they were called, meeting with high ranking members of the clergy before being escorted through a hidden doorway to the secret underground room.

"There were two other children my age also present and after the ceremony outside in the Vatican courtyard, I remember the German father saying I did very well and would rise to greatness in the Order," said Svali who now lives in northern Texas and wants to remain anonymous after leaving the San Diego ranks of the Illuminati four years ago. She added there are 12 ruling Illuminati "Fathers" in Europe and a ruling council of 13 in the U.S. which is divided into separate regional bodies.

"I have never granted an interview like this before, but feel it is necessary to warn Americans how dangerous these people really are and how deeply embedded they are in all aspects of our business and government.

"Although I know it is dangerous to be talking like this, perhaps my words can save the lives of other children before it's too late. After rising to be a head trainer in the sciences division of the Illuminati, or the Enlightened Ones, I finally couldn't live with my self any longer and had to get out.

"When I was a child, I was taught we were chosen to rule over and make the world a better place. But as I got older, I saw the real intention of the "Chosen Ones," understanding it was nothing more than a ruthless plan to obtain money and power by any means possible, including torture and killing."

Like many others born into the Illuminati, from her birth in Germany Svali had no choice in her future, as her wealthy, rich and powerful parents charted her course as a "Chosen Child" from an early age.

Told she was "special and born to rule over the masses" to make a better world, Svali recalls going to regular Illuminati meetings with other "chosen children" at least three times a week after moving from Germany to Virginia and then finally to San Diego.

"I was born into it and long before the induction ceremony when I was 12, intensive training began to instill into me that I was special and the New World Order was good for the world," said Svali.

"When you grow up with wealthy parents like this, always being told you are special, it takes a long time to figure out the truth and a way out. I worked my way up the Illuminati ladder to the rank of head trainer, overseeing 60 other trainers. People have a hard time believing or understanding just how organized the Illuminati really are here in America, comprising about 1-2 percent of the total population.

"Yes, Bush, Rumsfeld, Cheney, Kerry, the Clintons and the others in power are all a part of it and they are in the governmental division of the Illuminati. However, I do not want to mention other members not in public office for fear of getting sued.

Saying that the Illuminati's main goal is to depopulate the world and create a unified, one world government, Svali said to fully understand Illuminati cult programming it's first important to comprehend the structure and philosophy of the worldwide organization as she learned it as a child growing up in the ranks.

In a manuscript from a book she is trying to publish, written after she ran from the Illuminati in San Diego, Svali explains:

"The Illuminati are a group of people who follow a philosophy known as "Illuminism" or "enlightenment". The Illuminati were named several hundred years ago, but trace their roots and history to the ancient mystery religions of Egypt, ancient Babylon, and even Mesopotamia. Out of these ancient religions, which were practiced secretly over hundreds and hundreds of years, there arose esoteric groups which continued to practice the rites, traditions, and enculturation brought in from the original groups.

"Over the centuries, these groups practiced openly in some countries, and covertly in countries where Christianity or other religions opposed their practices. Some of the groups which came out of these ancient roots included the order of the Knights Templar, Rosicrucian's, Baphetomism, and Druidic cults. These groups were the forerunners, or roots, of modern day Illuminism. The original Illuministic leaders chose to take what they felt were the best practices of each root religion, combine them into principles, then organized these principles according to specific guidelines.

"Modern day Illuminism is a philosophy funded by the wealthy, but practiced in all social strata. It is a philosophy whose tenets have spread across the world. It started with the German branch of Rosicrucian's, spread to England, then came to the United states with the first settlers."

Svali said during her 30 years with the Illuminati she witnessed a lot of violence from programs stemming from the CIA's MK ULTRA, as well as other mind control programs utilized by the cult.

Working a steady job in the day and then attending heavily guarded, secret meetings three times a week during the evening near San Diego, Svali said she learned "from the inside" the Illuminati plan to rule the world, also known as Novus Ordem Seclorum, is very real, very dangerous and being played out right before the eyes of Americans, as the cult's stepped up plans to take over the U.S. is underway and in full-throttle.

What better way to learn about the plan then to listen from an insider, trying to make amends with herself and the world. The following is from Chapter 3 of her yet to be published manuscript:

"All groups have goals, and the Illuminists are no exception. Money making is not their final goal - it is a means to an end. This end point, or goal, is no less than to rule the world. The Illuminati has a set plan similar to the Soviet Union's previous "5- year" and "10- year " plans. This is what the Illuminists themselves believe and teach their followers as gospel truth.

"Whether they will actually succeed is another matter altogether. The following is the Illuminist agenda at ALL levels of the Illuminati. As with any goal, the Illuminati has specific steps which it plans to implement to reach its objectives. Briefly, each region of the United States has "nerve centers" or power bases for regional activity. The United States has been divided up into seven major geographical regions. Each region has localities within it that contain military compounds and bases that are hidden in remote, isolated areas or on large private estates.

"These bases are used intermittently to teach and train generational Illuminati in military techniques, hand- to- hand combat, crowd control, use of arms, and all aspects of military warfare. Why? Because the Illuminists believe that our government, as we know it, as well as the governments of most nations around the world, are destined to collapse. These will be planned collapses, and they will occur in the following ways:

"The Illuminati has planned first for a financial collapse that will make the great depression look like a picnic. This will occur through the maneuvering of the great banks and financial institutions of the world, through stock manipulation, and interest rate changes. Most people will be indebted to the federal government through bank and credit card debt, etc. The governments will recall all debts immediately, but most people will be unable to pay and will be bankrupted. This will cause generalized financial panic which will occur simultaneously worldwide, as the Illuminists firmly believe in controlling people through finances.

"Next there will be a military takeover, region by region, as the government declares a state of emergency and martial law. People will have panicked, there will be an anarchical state in most localities, and the government will justify its move as being necessary to control panicked citizens. The cult trained military leaders and people under their direction will use arms as well as crowd control techniques to implement this new state of affairs. This is why so many survivors under 36 years of age report having military programming. People who are not Illuminists or who are not sympathetic to their cause, will resist.

"The Illuminists expect this and will be (and are BEING) trained in how to deal with this eventuality. They are training their people in hand-to-hand combat, crowd control, and, if necessary, will kill to control crowds. The Illuminati is training their people to be prepared for every possible reaction to the takeover. Many mind control victims will also be called into duty with preset command codes. These codes are meant to call out a new, completely cult loyal presenting system. Shatter codes programmed under trauma will be used to destroy or bury non-cult loyal alters.

"Military bases will be set up, in each locality (actually, they are already here, but are covert). In the next few years, they will go above ground and be revealed. Each locality will have regional bases and leaders to which they are accountable. The hierarchy will closely reflect the current covert hierarchy.

"About five years ago, when I left the Illuminati, approximately 1% of the US population was either part of the Illuminati, sympathetic to it, or a victim of Mind Control (and therefore considered useable). While this may not sound like many, imagine 1% of the population highly trained in the use of armaments, crowd control, psychological and behavioral techniques, armed with weapons and linked to paramilitary groups.

"These people will also be completely dedicated to their cause. The Illuminati firmly believes that it can easily overcome the other 99% of the population, most of whom are untrained, or poorly trained, such as "weekend hunters." Even the local military will be overcome as the Illuminati will have regional cell groups with highly trained leaders. They also count on the element of surprise helping them during their takeover. Many of the highest leaders in the militia branch of the Illuminati are or have been officers in the military, and so already have a good knowledge of which techniques will work best to overcome a region's or locality's defenses.

"After the military takeover, the general population will be given a chance to either espouse the Illuminati's cause, or reject it (with imprisonment, pain, even death being possible punishments). These people very much believe that the intelligent, or "enlightened" or Illuminated, were born to rule. They are arrogant, and consider the general population as "dumb sheep" who will be easily led if offered strong leadership, financial help in an unstable world economy, and dire consequences if the person rebels. Their utter ruthlessness, and ability to implement this agenda, should not be minimized.

"The Illuminati banking leaders, such as the Rothschilds, the VanderBilts, the Rockefellers, the Carnegies, and the Mellons, as examples, will reveal themselves, and offer to "save" the floundering world economy. A new system of monetary exchange, based on an international monetary system, and based between Cairo, Egypt, and Brussels, Belgium, will be set up. A true "one world economy", creating the longed for "one world order", will become reality."

Svali said this is the tip of the iceberg of the Illuminati agenda in America and she has been disowned by her family for leaving. Although recently offered $15,000 to return home, Svali has refused, saying her ministry to awaken the American people is her first priority.

Through years of special training, she learned members of the Illuminati are willing to give up their lives for their cause, as they believe their children are their legacy.

"I was told that my children's generation would see this takeover, sometime in the 21st century. At present, the Illuminati have quietly and covertly fostered their takeover plan by their goals of the infiltration of the media, the banking system, the education system, the government at all levels, the sciences and the churches," said Svali.

Editor's Note: In Part III, learn how Svali functioned as a head trainer, as well the orderly set of jobs and duties of the American Illuminati. Also learn from Svali why the cult spends so much time and energy training people, how the Illuminati makes money, how they program people and the different equipment used by trainers in their complex jobs of controlling the masses.

Title: My suspicions about Larry Lawson.

TruthSeeker24 - February 8, 2006 04:14 PM (GMT)

Larry Lawson's half truth screed is found at :

From <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/phantomtruth/message/9348>

Please don't call the Holocaust a Holohoax, because the Holocaust is real and Jews and Gentiles died in it by Nazis and other folks. If you continue to call it that, then I have no choice, but to assume that you are a direct LIAR. I guess this guy forgotten that millions of Serbs, Slavs, Gypsies, political dissidents, Christians, and other groups of people died in the Holocaust during WWII as well. I'm not like some people, I do respond and I will stand up. You mention the Zionists, but show nothing on the Knights of Malta, Order of the Garter, Freemasonry, etc. You have this Zionist obsession yet not everyone who rules the world are Zionists or Jews. I can't call you a shill yet, but I'm very suspicious of you. I'm here and I've listed facts before.

By TruthSeeker24 (Timothy)

From <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/phantomtruth/message/9349>

Why are you bashing Greg. At least Greg is trying to investigate things you just have this obsession with calling people shills all of the time, Larry Lawson. Why don't you build a Patriot like Greg up instead of tearing him down. I don't agree with Stew on everything myself, but I will not demonize Greg just because he associates with Stew Webb.

By TruthSeeker24 (Timothy)

From <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/phantomtruth/message/9350>

You're bashing David Bay now? What is with you. David Bay supports good people in evil and not the evil. David is a good man and I've emailed his wife. They are nice people and just because you differ with them on Israel, doesn't mean that they endorse innocent people to die. I'm suspicious about you and your borderline anti-Semitism. You can say I oppose the Talmud all you want, but you classify all of Israel as the enemy. It is not. The Enemy are the globalists and the elite controlling Israel, the Muslims (used as scapegoats and puppets), and America in an attempt for globalization and a New World Order. That's our fight not Jews, Arabs, or any other people in general.

Alexandra - February 8, 2006 05:14 PM (GMT)

I noticed that about Lawson! I just blow him off.

TruthSeeker24 - February 10, 2006 02:51 PM (GMT)

Me and Larry Lawson had this small email debate at the PhantomTruth Forum and I don't consider him a shill at all. I think he's sincere and exposing evil Zionists is just his angle of reference. He also exposes the Jesuit Order. Like Eric and many other said Stew Webb is a shill. I've known that for years and I've exposed Webb for years as well. I don't believe that Larry Lawson have hatred for Jews in general at all.

By TruthSeeker24 (Timothy).

Alexandra - February 10, 2006 05:57 PM (GMT)

Timothy, we need a list of shills. Because I don't know who to believe, except you, Eric,

TruthSeeker24 - February 10, 2006 06:16 PM (GMT)

I think we do need a list a shills, because it's getting wierd sometimes.

I remember reading somewhere that the date goes back even further and was significant even in Roman times.

I don't know the history of Friday the 13th, but did observe that last month (January) occasioned a full-moon on friday the 13th. Occult lore has it that a full moon supposedly leads to the negative power/energy utilized during gatherings of satanic worship, ritual and blood sacrifice of humans/animals.

Here is a clip of Papal Knight Buckley with Protestant traitor and 33rd Degree Freemason Billy Graham whom I believe was always an apostate, a fake, a manufactured evangelist financed by the "Baptist" Illuminist Rockefellers, "Protestant" William Randolph Hearst and puffed up and popularized by the SMOM and Skull and Bonesman Henry R. Luce's press for serving the Jesuit Order by preaching Arminianism and aiding in building up the Jesuit agitation of Communism which the Order invented and perfected in Paraguay, used to make Protestants and Roman Catholics of the American empire unite, and it was used to justify extirpation of peoples in accordance with the Council of Trent who refused to submit to the Roman Whore. Masonic Graham propagated the Nuclear War and Cold War hoaxes he said mankind has at his disposal the weapons to bring the prophetic things about in 2 Peter 3 about how the elements shall melt with fervent heat and Revelation 18. Graham also said mankind lived under the shadow of the bomb and was on the edge of a precipice. He said former Nazi then NASA Werner Von Braun was a scientist preaching the Christian faith, he believed CFR Richard Nixon was an act of God according to SMOM Buckley and Graham said he believes there are beings on other planets but that this planet is the only one in rebellion against God. Graham was an Illuminatus even then subject to the his Jesuit masters having received the yoke of Rome from a Jesuit college Belmont Abbey in 1967. Eisenhower was the abject slave of Jesuit Walsh and praised him after that perfidious son of Loyola went to his eternal damnation in hellfire.

The following is found on Wikipedia:

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Edmund_A._Walsh

President Eisenhower sent a letter to Georgetown University when Father Walsh died, which read in part:

The death of Father Walsh is a grievous loss to the Society in which he served so many years, to the educational and religious life of the United States and to the free people of the Western world. For four decades, he was a vigorous and inspiring champion of freedom for mankind and independence for nations... at every call to duty, all his energy of leadership and wisdom of counsel were devoted to the service of the United States. [What a load of Papal bull, what a cop-out!]

On to the Bush Family, Roman Catholic Jeb Bush is a Third Degree Knight of Columbus. This was confirmed by his brother Luciferian Fourteenth Amendment American Emperor George W. Bush in his speech to the 122nd Knights of Columbus Convention in Dallas on August 3 2004. Jeb Bush led the U.S. Delegation to the Coronation which included Michael Steele, Lieutenant Governor of Maryland (a U.S. temporal leader) Carl A. Anderson, Chief Executive Officer, Knights of Columbus (head of the strong lay arm of the Church of Rome and promoter of Jesuitical politics) Helen Alvare, Associate Professor of Law, Catholic University of America (represents Romanist domination of education in the U.S.) and Frank Hanley, President Emeritus, International Union of Operating Engineers (all unions are controlled by the criminal arm of the Jesuits' Vatican-represents the Mafia Commission which SMOM Frank Fahrenkopf Jr. denies has anything to do with the gambling industry and that it only happens in the movies. controlled by the Archbishop of New York Cardinal Egan).

http://www.americangaming.org/About/bios/bio_fahrenkopf.cfm

<http://www.pbs.org/wgbh/pages/frontline/sh...fahrenkopf.html>

See the question

Q:What is the most misunderstood thing about this industry (gambling), do you think?

[SMOM] Fahrenkopf: "I think there are...stereotypes that are out there that look back 30, 40 years ago, which are perpetuated by some movies, that come out of Hollywood, you know? "Casino." And you go back to the "Godfather" movies. I mean, for years, the FBI and major law enforcement have said there is not, today, in -- what we call the entertainment, casino/entertainment business -- an organized crime penetration. It's not there.

A lot of the opponents love to drag up the old stereotype and throw it out. So, that's number one. Secondly is the question whether or not having a casino or gambling in a particular community attracts what we call street crime. That there's something inherent, something endemic about gambling that creates street crime -- people are going to get mugged. There's going to be larceny and so forth. And I think that's been proven over the years, by law enforcement, to be not true.

It's nothing inherent in gaming. Any endeavor, any enterprise that attracts large numbers of people... the crime rate at Orlando went up. It wasn't anything that Mickey and Minnie were doing that caused it, it was just that it was a draw of people to a community. Branson, Missouri is one that I use quite often. A wonderful, wonderful town in the Ozarks with country music. They pride themselves as being the buckle of the bible belt. And very limited alcohol, certainly not in any of the theaters that are there. It's now a country-western Mecca. And their crime rate went up.

It wasn't because of anything that's happening there. It's a very safe place. But, what you do is when you draw large numbers of people to a community, you are going to have street crimes. It's not -- doesn't have anything to do with gambling, inherently.

Well, these servants of the Papal Caesar, and Coadjutors CFR Bill Clinton Andrew Card (who uses a mental filing system invented by Jesuit Matteo Ricci) George H. W. Bush, CFR Condoleeza Rice who may be to this Jesuit-controlled empire ruled by the Georgetown Jesuits what Queen Victoria was to the British Empire which was controlled by the Jesuits of Stonyhurst.

They were all there for the "Inauguration" of current Papal Antichrist Benedict XVI.

"Openly Religious, to a Point"

Bush Leaves the Specifics of His Faith to Speculation

(the article ends with the word "enigma" to describe George W. Bush's true beliefs-a Jesuit enigma perhaps?)

Emperor Bush also said he turned to the Knights for help with his faith-based initiative so he appointed Roman Catholic K of C Jim Towe as director of the White House Office of Faith-Based and Community Initiatives. Bush also mentioned that Virgil Dechant, his family friend was in attendance as was his political boss the present American Pope Edward Cardinal Egan. Now Dechant was the previous Supreme Knight before Carl Anderson succeeded him. The CFR-controlled press tried to make Bush seem anti-Catholic to attract Protestants to his rhetoric written by ecumenical Michael Gerson Bush's former chief speechwriter who was recruited by counterfeit ecumenical "Protestant" Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Charles W. Colson.

Prescott Sheldon Bush was Jesuit-trained at Stonyhurst as was Roman Catholic Freemason Arthur Conan Doyle author of the Sherlock Holmes novels who was a Spiritualist in his late life. Prescott S. Bush "studied" there for five years from 1908 to 1913. I found this on Wikipedia. I don't even think Kitty Kelley in her book "The Family: The Real Story of the Bush Dynasty" knew this or if she did she did not include it.

Prescott then enrolled in Yale University where he joined the Jesuit-controlled Order of Skull and Bones. Prescott Bush also made a speech at Georgetown University on Law Day, 1959 May 1 which also happens to be the satanic high day of Beltane.

George W. Bush's nephew Pierce Bush is a sophomore at Georgetown. I read up more on the Georgetown Jesuit Walsh School of Foreign Service and learned that James L. Jones the current NATO Supreme Allied Commander Europe (SACEUR) and former Commandant of the United States Marine Corps (USMC) was trained by Jesuits at the Walsh SFS as was the George Casey Jr. the Commanding General of the Multinational Force in Iraq. Casey was trained by Jesuits at Boston College High School as well. I believe Jesuit-trained Coadjutors Jones and Casey, CFR John Abizaid and possibly Roman Catholic Peter Pace who replaced CFR Gen. Richard B Myers as Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff are the Company's men who are slated to betray the U.S. troops in Iraq in the near future thus creating justification for a compulsory military draft. The Order deliberately chose Coadjutor Casey, a poor and ill prepared leader with no combat experience or knowledge of the Middle East to oversee the execution of the Jesuit Order's plan of sabotage of Fourteenth Amendment America's military.

<http://www.nato.int/shape/bios/saceur/jones.htm>

Excerpts from article:

His household goods had just been moved into the renovated residence of the vice chief of staff of the Army five weeks ago when Gen. George W. Casey Jr. received word that he was likely headed for a new assignment: commander of all U.S. forces in Iraq...

Casey was not an obvious choice for the Iraq job. Apart from a stint as a U.N. military observer in Cairo in 1981, the general has spent little time in the Middle East. He also has no combat experience...

In an interview, Casey cited a lifelong interest in international affairs, stretching back to his undergraduate days at Georgetown University's School of Foreign Service in 1970. Time spent as a senior officer in the 1990s sorting out the international jumble in Bosnia and Kosovo has helped prepare him for the political complexities and military challenges of Iraq, he said...

More recent stints at the upper reaches of the Pentagon's Joint Staff and the Army have made him very comfortable dealing at the national level and have given him a good understanding of how to coordinate matters between the Pentagon and State Department, he added...

In preparing for Iraq, Casey said he has talked at length with [CFR member and Director of National Intelligence] Ambassador John D. Negroponte, who will be heading the U.S. Embassy in Baghdad...

Casey had not intended to make a career of the military. His father, Maj. Gen. George W. Casey Sr., died in a helicopter crash in Vietnam in 1970 -- the year Casey graduated from Georgetown.

Although Casey was commissioned a second lieutenant after graduation, he planned to stay in the Army two years before entering law school. A subsequent decision to extend his military duty for a year to attend airborne school took Casey to Germany, an experience he enjoyed. He has remained in the Army ever since.

As a four-star general, Casey will bring greater authority to the Baghdad assignment than the three-star officer he is replacing, [Roman Catholic] Lt. Gen. Ricardo S. Sanchez-the CFR-controlled press say he is a Christian but his fruits show otherwise. Sanchez has lied about and covered up evidence of blatant war crimes]. The move is intended partly to consolidate U.S. troops -- including Special Operations forces and the Iraq Survey Group, which has been hunting for weapons of mass destruction -- under one command. It also is meant to enable [CFR member] Gen. John P. Abizaid, head of U.S. Central Command, who has responsibility for all U.S. troops in the Middle East, to spend more time on other matters.

Asked about a possible role for NATO forces, Casey said he would welcome their assistance in training Iraqi troops [See how Jesuit Temporal Coadjutors Casey-commander and general of all military forces in Iraq and NATO Supreme Allied Commander Europe (SACEUR) Jones (a very powerful player) both men trained at the Georgetown Walsh SFS are working together to sabotage and betray our nation's sons and daughters to the delight of the Black Pope?] What he needs most from the international community [news speak for the Pope's New World Order which Satan through his Black Pope is creating and strengthening using his International Intelligence and Terrorist Networks financed by his International Drug Trade], he said, is a brigade-size force -- about 5,000 soldiers -- to ensure security for the U.N. mission charged with helping set up national elections next year.

The Order always boasts of their plans through their entertainment theater of Hellywood. Well, a new video game "Shattered Union" presents a scenario that fits especially the Supreme Court bypass of a presidential election, a sham election, low-yield nuclear detonation in Washington D.C. and the EU peacekeeping forces sent to maintain order (foreign troops on U.S. soil and a second U.S. Civil War)-you said when the detonations come to Washington Jesuit Georgetown will be unaffected.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 10, 2006 02:45 AM (GMT)

Dear Mr. Roberts,

I am in agreement with much of what you say below. It took much courage to write such a piece. The New Right has brought us fascism, and yes, Ruppert Murdoch's Fox News is the American form of Josef Goebbels' Ministry of Propaganda. What is often left unsaid is that Goebbels was a Jesuit-trained Roman Catholic Rhinelander and Murdoch is a Roman Catholic Knight of St. Gregory and CFR-member promoting the interests of the Papacy now totally controlled by the Jesuit Order.

Another faction working to the end of Jesuit fascism under the guise of the New Radical Republican Right is Cardinal Egan's American Branch of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta. One such member is co-conspirator in the JFK assassination, CFR member and former owner of the National Review, William F. Buckley, Jr.,---your old boss.

My appeal to you, Mr. Roberts, is will you help me expose the Jesuit Order controlling the American hierarchy and the American Branch of the SMOM now backing this Bush neo-con Jesuit fascism? If so, that would be most wonderful and greatly appreciated by many now left in the lurch facing the Nazification and foreign invasion of our once great and free nation.

Thank you for your consideration Mr. Roberts and I eagerly await your reply.

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric Jon Phelps

The Last Great Inquisition

<http://www.bibliotecapleyades.net/vatican/...ts/inquisit.htm>

Ever heard of the Inquisition, from 1200 A.D. to 1800 A.D. . . ? It's never mentioned any longer. We hear a lot about the Jewish Holocaust when 6 million Jews perished under Hitler. But most people don't know that Hitler was a Roman Catholic and an instrument of the Holy Office. Hitler was never excommunicated for his crimes against humanity and causing the deaths of millions of people; whereas Martin Luther was excommunicated for translating the Bible into German!!

In 1933 the Vatican signed a Concordat with Germany making Roman Catholicism the only recognized religion in that country. Hitler was financed by Wall St. and the corrupt U.S. Bank.

Signing the Concordat is Cardinal Pacelli (later to become Pope Pius XII). By 1933, he was the Vatican Secretary of State. Seated second from his left is Franz von Papen who was the Papal Nuncio to Germany. Standing at the far right can be seen the little known Vatican prelate, Montini, later to become Pope Paul VI.

Eugenio Pacelli (Pope Pius XII from 1939 to 1958) was a brilliant diplomat, a cunning politician and a religious crusader. He was appointed Papal Nuncio to Germany in 1920 — the first since the Reformation!! He, more than anybody else outside Germany, helped Hitler to power. He was one of the paramount personalities of the 20th century. He transformed the Vatican into a global political instrument. His pet obsession was Communism, and he became the main instigator of the Cold War.

Archbishop Cesare Orsenigo, papal nuncio to Germany, talks with Hitler at a formal reception in Berlin in Jan. 1936. Martin Luther would never have allowed this!!

Hitler greets Msgr. Joseph Tiso, Slovakian Chief of State, Papal Chamberlain and Roman Catholic priest, at Hitler's field headquarters on the Eastern Front, October, 1941.

Little Dollfuss (Dictator of Austria) with Cardinal Innitzer on the right, witnessing the proclamation of the new Clerical-Fascist Constitution in 1934.

Dr. Schuschnigg, Price Staremborg and Cardinal Innitzer with Dollfuss.

The Spanish Catholic Hierarchy giving the Fascist salute at Santiago de Compostela in 1937.

Catholic "evangelization" during the Spanish Civil War.

Hitler's mistress Ava Braun. Like LaPopessa in Rome, very few people knew of their relationship.

Eva Braun as a young girl at Simbach Convent. Martin Luther emptied the convents in Germany. He called them "cesspools of iniquity." The Jesuits filled them up again.

Hitler reading with his glasses. If only he had read Martin Luther's masterpiece translation of the Bible . . . and converted to Christ. He might have become a great 20th century Reformer instead!!

Prior to 1960, libraries in America were filled with books on the Inquisition. Today however, very few can be found. . . . Why has the Inquisition been covered up? Because the total number of victims of this atrocity reached about 68 million people.

They were Bible-believing Christians, Jews and even Roman Catholics like Joan of Arc, Savonarola, Giordano Bruno and Galileo etc., who were destroyed by the Inquisition carried out by the "Holy Office." The victims were always found guilty. They never knew who accused them. They never had lawyers, and no one would dare lift a finger to help. . . . On August 28, 1558, Walter Mill (an 82 year old Scotsman and parish priest of Lunan near Montrose), was burned alive with several others for embracing the Reformed Faith!!

The Inquisition was forcibly suppressed by Napoleon when he entered Madrid in 1808. When the Spanish Parliament in 1831 declared it incompatible with the Constitution, the Vatican protested. King Ferdinand VII restored it again in 1814. The Inquisition was finally suppressed by the Liberals in July, 1833. However, the Holy Office has never ceased to function. It is still alive and well and disguised under the specious name (sacred congregation for the doctrine of the faith) in the Vatican today! Its current head is a German named Ratzinger and Time magazine had this to say about him:

QUOTE

The Cardinal wields immense clout in the hierarchy - beginning at the top. The Pope and Ratzinger are, says one mid-ranking Vatican official, two pieces of a puzzle. Without one, the other is not complete. Others point out an obvious primacy. Asked whether the Cardinal in practice was the undisputed No. 2 under the Pontiff one insider in the Holy See responds, Intellectually and theologically, he's No 1.

Time, December 6, 1993

Throughout history, whenever the time came for God to do a great work, the devil has always put forth his utmost power to stop the work of God. Satan, acting through Pharaoh, king of Egypt, was not going to let the children of Israel go to the promised land without putting up a tremendous struggle.

Moses had to plague his kingdom with 10 plagues, and kill all the firstborn of Egypt, before Pharaoh would finally relent. Even then Pharaoh saw another opportunity at the Red Sea to annihilate the people of God:

QUOTE

"But when the time of the promise drew nigh, which God had sworn to Abraham, the people grew and multiplied in Egypt, Till another king arose which knew not Joseph. The same dealt subtilly (crafty, cunning, shrewd, deceptive) with our kindred, and evil entreated our fathers, so that they cast out their young children, to the end that they might not live" (Acts 7:17-19, Exodus 1:22).

Before the coming of the Messiah, Satan had all his people in key positions, especially the religious leaders. He directed king Herod to murder all the babies in Bethlehem in hopes of killing the promised Redeemer. The land of Israel was filled with legions of devils and unclean spirits to oppose the work of the Messiah. Jesus began His preaching ministry in the town where He grew up. The local people's reaction to His first sermon - they tried to kill Him! And that was the reception He got from people He knew all His life!

The spread of Christianity in the Roman Empire was met with terrible opposition by the pagans. Innumerable were the martyrs that died for the Faith during the first 300 years. The lives of Christians during that time consisted of persecution above ground and prayer underground.

Before the Emperor Constantine ended the persecutions, the pagans made one last desperate attempt to abolish the Christian name. This persecution, under the Emperor Diocletian, began on the 23rd of February (303 A.D.), that being the day the Roman Terminalia was celebrated, and the cruel pagans boasted that they would finally put a termination to Christianity. . . . Fire, racks, swords, wild beasts, crosses, poison and famine were made use of to kill the Christians. Invention was exhausted to devise tortures against those who would not deny Christ and acknowledge Caesar as "lord" and burn incense to his image.

This persecution lasted 10 years and was ended by the victory of Constantine, and his Edict of Milan (313 A.D.), granting freedom of worship to the believers. It was a great victory of Christ over the Dragon and the pagan Roman superstition. The Emperor Constantine, says the Church historian Eusebius, caused to be painted on a lofty tablet, and set up in the front of the portico of his palace, so as to be visible to all, a representation of the salutary sign placed above his head; and below it that hateful and savage adversary of mankind, who by means of the tyranny of the unGodly, had wasted the Church of God, falling headlong, under the form of a Dragon, to the abyss of destruction" (Eusebius, Life of Constantine).

From the Bible and history we see that Satan always stirs up all his wrath just before the hour of deliverance. It will be no different this time. The Bible plainly teaches that will be great tribulation for the true Church just before the Second Coming of Christ.

Satan hates all those who believe in the Reformation credo: salvation by faith in Christ alone, and he will do his utmost to massacre them. It will be another St. Bartholomew's Day Massacre - on a worldwide scale. . . . This is symbolized in Scripture by the Battle of Armageddon - Satan loosed out of his prison - the great tribulation - the Dragon making war with the saints etc.

The last Pope will be a ferocious persecutor of true Protestant Christians. As in the past, the Inquisition under the Jesuits will be the instrument that Satan will use to try and bring the entire world under the Papacy. Like the plague of frogs on Egypt, Roman Catholicism will be everywhere:

QUOTE

"And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet . . . And Aaron stretched out his hand over the waters of Egypt; and the frogs came up, and covered the land of Egypt " (Rev. 16:13, Exodus 8:6).

Jesus said: "I am Alpha and Omega, the first and the last" (Rev. 1:11). The last quarter of Christian history will end like the first quarter of Jewish history . . . with Pharaoh in hot pursuit of the spiritual children of Israel. . . . This modern Pharaoh will try and exterminate all who refuse to acknowledge him as the Vicar of Christ. However, the Lord Jesus Christ - the Prophet like unto Moses - will overthrow him in a victory greater than at the Red Sea:

QUOTE

"And it came to pass, that in the morning watch (the fourth watch) the Lord looked unto the host of the Egyptians through the pillar of fire and of the cloud and troubled the host of the Egyptians . . . And the waters returned, and covered the chariots, and the horsemen, and all the host of Pharaoh that came into the sea after them; there remained not so much as one of them" (Exodus 14:24-28).

St. Paul tell us that God will trouble the persecutors of His Church when He comes again:

QUOTE

"And to you that are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from Heaven with His mighty angels, In flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ: who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of His power"

(II Thess. 1:7-8).

Death for the true believer is described as rest until that great Resurrection Morning comes. . . . Death for the unbeliever is not the end of existence, or Purgatory, but everlasting torment in the lake of fire and brimstone. Whom will you choose - Christ or the Pope? - one is everlasting joy in Heaven, the other is everlasting pain in Hell.

QUOTE

"And they sing the song of Moses the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb, saying, Great and marvelous are thy works, Lord God Almighty; just and true are they ways, thou King of Saints Who shall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorify thy name? for thou only art holy: for all nations shall come and worship before thee: for thy judgments are made manifest" (Exodus 15, Rev. 15:3-4).

QUOTE

"Let no man deceive you by any means: for that Day shall not come, except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition . . . and there shall be a time of trouble, such as never was since there was a nation even to that same time: and at that time thy people shall be delivered, every one that shall be found written in the book"

(II Thess. 2:3, Daniel 12:1).

The Song of Moses

"Then sang Moses and the children of Israel this song unto the Lord, and spake saying, I will sing unto the Lord, for he hath triumphed gloriously: the horse and the rider hath he thrown into the sea.

The Lord is my strength and song, and he is become my salvation: he is my God, and I will prepare him an habitation; my father's God, and I will exalt him.

The Lord is a man of war: the Lord is his name.

Pharaoh's chariots and his host hath he cast into the sea: his chosen captains also are drowned in the Red sea.

The depths have covered them: they sank into the bottom as a stone.

Thy right hand, O Lord, is become glorious in power; thy right hand, O Lord, hath dashed in pieces the enemy. And in the greatness of thine excellency thou hast overthrown them that rose up against thee: thou sendest forth thy wrath, which consumed them as stubble.

And with the blast of thy nostrils the waters were gathered together, the floods stood upright as an heap, and the depths were congealed in the heart of the sea.

The enemy said, I will pursue, I will overtake, I will divide the spoil; my lust shall be satisfied upon them; I will draw my sword, my hand shall destroy them, Thou didst blow with thy wind, the sea covered them: they sank as lead in the mighty waters.

Who is like unto thee, O Lord, among the Gods? who is like thee, glorious in holiness, fearful in praises, doing wonders?

Thou shalt bring them in, and plant them in the mountain of thine inheritance, in the place, O Lord, which thou hast made for them to dwell in, in the Sanctuary (Heaven), O Lord which thy hands have established.

The Lord shall reign for ever and ever."

Title: Castro invites Mahmoud Ahmadinejad to Cuba

Description: IMPORTANT* Eric Phelps*

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 10, 2006 02:35 AM (GMT)

Dear Friends and Brethren,

This news is most important.

Fidel Castro is a bastard son of a Nazi, and a Roman Catholic, Jesuit-trained, socialist-communist, 33rd Degree Freemason. He was put in power in 1959 by Masonic Allen Dulles, Director of the CIA. Without the Order's SS/CIA, there is no Fidel Castro, the Order eliminating Cuban nationalists via the calculated failure of the Bay of Pigs invasion. Further, Castro has had audiences with the Pope, attended the funeral of Brother Canadian Jesuit Pierre Trudeau and has been visited by Grand Master of the Knights of Malta, Andrew Bertie.

Thus the connection between the Order's Fidel Castro and the leader of Iran is most telling. Cuba is to serve as the staging base for our future Sino-Soviet-Moslem invasion. Further, Castro is an intimate friend of the Order's Masonic leader of the anti-White, hatefully racist Black Nation of Islam, Louis Farrakhan. Thus it would not be surprising that the Order, via the NOI or resident Muslims controlled by the American Intelligence Community via the Archbishop of New York, are behind the destruction of the "accursed" and "heretic" Baptist churches of the South. This will further the Company's race war now being fomented between the American Blacks and Whites and unite both Protestant and Catholic Whites into the New Right fascist military dictatorship now in the making.

Sincerely in faith,

Brother Eric

Castro invites Mahmoud Ahmadinejad to Cuba

Havana, February 8, 2006

Iranian President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad has accepted an invitation to visit Cuba from President Fidel Castro, in gratitude for Cuba's support of Iran's nuclear program, the official Granma newspaper said on Tuesday.

Ahmadinejad accepted the invitation in Tehran from Cuban Ambassador Felipe Perez Roque. During his visit, the Iranian leader will attend the September 11-16 Non-Aligned Summit in Havana, the daily said.

On Saturday in Vienna, Cuba, Venezuela and Syria voted against a resolution of the International Atomic Energy Agency to refer Iran to the UN Security Council over a nuclear program the West suspects is weapons-oriented.

The Iranian President recently publicly thanked Cuba for its "dignified and principled" position during the IAEA's special meeting, which ended in a 27-3 vote in favour of reporting Iran to the UN council.

Separately, Granma announced that Iranian Parliament President Ghulam Ali Haddad Adel has accepted an invitation to visit Cuba from Cuba's National Assembly.

Good question! I have spoken to them both about this but they persist in associating with pro-Gore Heneghen. Heneghen's pro-Gore, multiple indictment position is a dead giveaway as to his disinformation. The truth is Gore is as dirty as Bush, Gore merely posing as a real candidate in the 2000 election. (Remember that Gore was a party to all of Clinton's crimes.) Gore further prevented any Congressional investigation into the Supreme Court appointment of Bush to the White House. Remember all those Black Congressmen and women who only needed one signature of any Senator to prevent Bush to be seated? Coadjutor Michael Moore has this most revealing footage in the House in his Fahrenheit 911. That evil day Gore, as President of the Senate, helped Bush into office! Further, the indictments Heneghen spoke of never came down except one against Libby. And Jesuit-trained Coadjutor Patrick Fitzgerald will be sure to suppress evidence and lose the case if it ever goes to court. Bush, CFR-Cheney, CFR-Rice, CFR-Wolfowitz and even CFR-Libby are all untouchable, protected by the Jesuits ruling the Department of Justice and the US Supreme Court.

I do not believe their Temporal Coadjutors and I > normally sniff them out easily. I do not know what to think of Webb

Victor Thorne has provided much evidence against the trio of Webb, Heneghen and Flocco. Futher Webb and Heneghen are associated with Jesuit Coadjutor Hal Turner just like Texe Marrs is associated with Jesuit Coadjutor Alex Jones.

Also whats worrying is if Ted

My dealings with Ted Gunderson have been few but I believe he is an honest man who at present does not see the Jesuit connection to the FBI, especially J. Edgar Hoover.

Title: A missionary needing some info

Description: Eric Phelps

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 10, 2006 02:25 AM (GMT)

Eric,
My name is Rxxxxxxxxxxxx and my family and I serve as missionaries in the central american country of Honduras. We have been here for one year, but have been doing work here for over three years. We are working with the poor and starting schools to train pastors to plant New Testament churches here among their people and to provide them with sound teaching and doctrine.

Amen. I trust you are using the AV1611.

Before we moved here, I read your book and would surely love to have a copy of your newest one.

Please check with me in May.

Here are a few questions I have for you if you can answer them:

1. I realize that the catholic church holds the power here as inmost central and south american countries. What do you forsee coming down the pike for this area of the world once the United States is attacked from within by a nuclear device? I know this place is crawling with CIA and FBI people and I also know that there are all kinds of foreign intel people here (Russian and Chinese especially). Our new president is a socialist.

If I were the Jesuit General I would use my CIA to detonate a few nuclear devices already in place. I would then blame it on Iran or North Korea, thus justifying moving the country to a total war footing and opening the concentration camps. The draft will be instituted and millions of young men and women will then be sent off to fight a foreign two-front war that cannot, in the end, be won. Meanwhile I would be preparing my Soviet and Chinese troops for the North American invasion planned for the last one hundred years. The troops you mention in Central America fit the bill. Meanwhile Chinese troops manning Cuba will be united with Iranians via the work of Jesuit Coadjutor Fidel Castro. The Chinese have the Panama Canal thanks to Carter and California's deep water port in Long Beach thanks to Clinton.

After American mobilization I would use my masonic Bin Laden Construction Company to plant nuclear devices in the Kaaba in Mecca and the Mosque in Medina. I would then detonate them, blaming the destruction of these two mosques on the Americans. England cannot be blamed for this for which reason English forces will be totally withdrawn by January, 2008. The Moslems, including Turkey which the CFR controlled US government, will then unite to destroy America. The Chinese will provide the transportation across the Atlantic.

2. I listened to your program today on the Investigative Journal. Do you see a time frame for these attacks to begin?

I believe it will be at least ten years in the future. China is not ready to attack and millions of Jew-hating, Christ-hating Muslims have yet to be annihilated.

I realize that the US needs a reason to go to war with Iran. I personally see it happening SOON!

I do also. The event will totally vindicate the Bush fascist policy now being rightly attacked by millions. This is one of the reasons he sat through the funeral of the communist Coretta Scott King, Bush 41 having participated in Michael King's assassination.

3. Do you feel that the antimessiah will arise out of the ashes of this next war?

No. The Antichrist will be the final pope, killed with a mortal head wound, come back to life, possessed with the devil, destroying the Vatican and moving to the third temple in Jerusalem yet to be built. This war will destroy the Reformation West and enable the rebuilding of the Pope's Hebrew Temple.

4. How do you feel about all the predictions recently about attacks on the Super Bowl, etc., that did not happen?

Those false predictions discredit the speakers and remove from the minds of the people the reality of our coming atomic "terrorist events." This is why I never set a date or name a specific place to be attacked. I speculate but never say absolutely as to when or where this event is to occur---but it will occur.

I was raised in Charleston, South Carolina and have a deep love for the South.

Indeed, me too!

I also spent years reading the Puritans and the histories of Revival around the world. I love Dabney and also Spurgeon. He is personally one of my spiritual heroes!

Great men of God and evangelistic Calvinists also.

I also purchased a Geneva Bible years ago and love it!

Great! Another work of Geneva Calvinists which Reformation Bible the Army of Cromwell fed on in addition to the AV1611.

Also, what about the comic strips put out by Alberto? Many say he was a fake and that the info he put out was bogus. What do you know about him?

Alberto is indeed for real. He made personal mistakes, but he was who he said he was and much of what he foretold has been realized.

Anyways, these are just a few questions I have. Hope I have not burdened you. I am sure you are getting a lot of email after the show today.

Four Black helicopters just flew over my house here in Pennsylvania. They are going to Fort Indiantown Gap, one of PA's Concentration Camps. I have seen the barbed wire and FEMA barracks. Yes, the devil is busy via his Jesuit Order.

There is no truth being preached in the Orthodox Church. Every priest I know of uses the corrupt, Jesuit-inspired, Westcott and Hort Greek Text, having abandoned the Lord's Byzantine Text once used by the Orthodox.

> The following link goes to a publisher and distributor of Orthodox > Christian materials.

Doctrinally the Orthodox Church, first headed in Constantinople and later, after the city's fall in 1453, having moved to Moscow, refused to submit to the "primacy of the Bishop of Rome"---the Pope. Therefore, Rome hated Orthodoxy and finally overthrew it via the Jesuits using the Bolshevik Revolution in 1917---aided by the Jesuits in the US. Thus the Pope, via Masonic Orthodox priests and its Masonic Patriarch, rules that huge institution.

The Orthodox Church, like the Roman Catholic Church, does not preach the true gospel of grace but relies upon the "good works" of the member for salvation. This is Cainite, bloodless, anti-Christ religion which the devil loves and the risen Lord Jesus hates. Protestantism, now infested with Freemasonry, has become the same--- an apostate, Bible-rejecting, "good works" religion---that will lead to the lake of fire after the Great White Throne judgment. Please understand that I must speak pointedly, and scripturally.

I trust this is helpful, Susan.

Dear Brother Bobby,

Please do not worry about Coadjutor Cumbey. She is obvioulsy controlled by Vatican interests and arrogant? unlike I have rarely seen before. May the Lord reward her according to her works.

Brother William P. Grady mentions her arrogance in his tome, How Satan Turned American Against God, pp. 468-469.

Subject: ABOUT CONSTANCE CUMBey

Dear Bro. Eric & To All Brethren In Christ Jesus :

Last night, I saw Constance Cumbey's website. She attacked Bro. Eric Jon Phelps works about The Vatican Assassins. Constance did not realized that there are people in this planet that are well educated about world history.

Constance Cumbey does not know that I'm very good in World History and some untold world history well hidden from millions of people around the world.

The information contained on Bro. Eric Jon Phelps book "The Vatican Assassins" are true and genuine and I stand behind it.

Mrs. Cumbey is not an ignorant but rather a LIAR. I was frustrated that she is a lawyer and suppose to be a good person carrying good reasoning. But good reasoning goes into hiding. Apostle Paul is also a lawyer, but he is full of GOD's wisdom and good reasoning did not gone into hiding.

My challenge to Constance Cumbey is that, as per world history :

Does she mean that Inquisition is a fake history ?

Does she mean that Protestant Reformation is a fake history ?

Does she mean that Jesuit's existence during those time and their diabolic works done to humanity as per historical records are fake ?

Does she mean that World War I & World War II well-hidden initiated by the Jesuits are fake ? In-fact our country was attacked by the empire of Japan during World War II and are all fake ? My grandfather was poisoned by the Japanese and my mother told me are lies ?

Does she mean that those testimonies of Oliver Cromwell, Charles Chiniquy, Avro Manhattan, Edmund Paris, John Loftus, Alberto Rivera and even our national hero Dr. Rizal are fake ?

Because, since 1990 when I started conducting research about world history I've discovered that the shadow of the Jesuits are there. In-fact, during 1990 I was also somehow confused as to why I somehow saw the presence of the Catholic Church. Even our well-known Filipino historians wrote the SPANISH FRIAROCRACY and those are all true. If these are not true and that the Spanish Friars era in the Philippines are not true, why my mother is a Spanish Meztiza and that my great grandmother is a pure Spaniard. Our country suffered too much from the tyranny of Roman Catholic Church (Dominicans, Franciscans & Jesuits).

So I don't know why Constance Cumbey is in opposite direction. I now believed she is a Jesuit Co-Adjutor. If she will ask me why, she has no COMMON SENSE. I will walk along the streets and will talk to a man of 75-years of age. I will ask him, is world war II real, the man will surely say YES! In-fact, until now some Filipino's still able to excavate remains and artifacts of old spanish times owned by Spanish Friars and some Japanese from Japanese Imperial Army.

The Vatican Assassins contained many vital world historical events and I strongly support it. Are the persons like Abraham Lincoln and Jeff Davis did not exist ? Is the American Civil War a fake ?

This is my advise to Constance Cumbey, if she is a proud lawyer better she study and read WORLD HISTORY first before she speaks too much. She only shown how ignorant she is about world history. Is George Washington a fake person that established the United States ? Perhaps Mrs. Cumbey doesn't knew that she is living inside the United States.

I suspect that her ancestors are Irish origin. When I was still in Kuwait (Middle East) during 1989. We Filipino workers are treated well as humans by Americans & British. Our neighboring company - French & German treated us well. But when we were suddenly under from an Irishman, we have suffered hurting worlds with insults, my memory is still fresh.

It is a very frustrating day, why there are people who hated the truth.

Many thanks my dear brethren.

Bro. Bobby

Hello Eric,

I have known of this woman from many years ago. She wrote a book entitled "Hidden Dangers Of The Rainbow". She was very destructive towards the patriot movement years ago. I used to have her on video doing that. She appears to be Jesuit controlled.

She is a lawyer in Lake Orion, MI. as far as I know. It has been many years since I last seen her. She was good at falsely accusing people to character assassinate them to destrroy their effectiveness. How do I know that? I was one of those who she verbally attacked and falsely accused when I was involved in trying to help form the unorganized militia several years ago.

I do mention the Pope's Masonic Jewish Zionists quite often. They are in every field and serve to create anti-Jewish fury while covering the true identity of the masters behind the curtain---the Jesuits.

Subject: What about the Jews?

Dear Sir:

You have "forgotten" some important facts:

-The fundamental role of Jews in establishing Communism in Russia (most of revolutionary leaders were Jews)

True, but those Jews were controlled by Jesuits such as Bishop Ropp and American Jesuit Edmund A. Walsh. I have a picture of Walsh and Zinoviev standing together in Moscow in 1922.

-Jews control the main media.

The Jesuits control the media via the CFR which is LOADED with Jews loyal to the Pope.

-Jews control most of Banks

The Jesuits via Masonry and the Knights of Malta control the banks via the CFR. Greenspan was a Masonic Jew and a member of the Jesuit Georgetown University controlled CFR.

-Jews control USA Government

The Papacy controls the USA Government via the Archbishop of New York who in turn controls the CFR ruling every administration since Shiner Warren Harding.

Without explaining that your accusations against Jesuist seem Weak.

Thanks for the constructive criticism. I will bring this up with Greg tonight.

Best

Skolnick COMMENTARY #001

Hi. Sherman Skolnik, Citizen's Committee to Clean Up the Courts, 9800 Oglesby.

At one time the Pope owned three major banks in America: New York, Chicago and San Francisco.

In New York, St. Peter's banker, Michael Saddona (sp?) ran the Franklin National Bank as a huge gambling device and money laundry. Result? The bank collapsed in 1974 and was taken over by a group of European banks with the Vatican losing part of their grip.

Saddona was sent to an American prison for fraudulent banking. Later he was extradited to Italy on more charges. He began talking too much. The Pope silenced him in an Italian jail -- murdered with a poisoned cup of coffee. (By the way, the same method they used to murder Chicago mayor Harold Washington, a poisoned cup of coffee, and replaced him with the Vatican's man of trust, Richie Daley.)

Saddona and his confederate successors also ran, for the Pope, the Continental Bank of Chicago. All the Catholic churches of the Western Hemisphere run their money through that bank. After all, the archbishop of Chicago is also the treasurer, for the Church, for all of North America, Central America and South America.

In the early 1980s, Continental Bank, through their holding company owed some $20 billion to the Japanese, including their mafia, the yakusa (sp?) who had put in slight capital.

Continental could not repay, so the Japanese in May, 1984, started a run on the bank and its holding company, Continental Illinois. Result? A consortium of banks, headed by J.P. Morgan and Company, took over -- with the Pope losing part, but not all, of his control.

The Morgan banks are the front for British royalty and the Queen, who for over 100 years always had a director sitting to supervise Continental. Through Continental Bank, however, the Vatican continued to oversee Panama's General Noriega, and his joint, secret business deals with George Bush. So, when the U.S. invaded Panama, Noriega naturally sought refuge in the Vatican Embassy and branch of the Vatican Bank. The U.S. military used psychological warfare, including super hard-rock music to drive him out.

The Justice Department's record grabbers have descended on Continental Bank, seeking to destroy incriminating records that would put President Bush in the same jail cell with his CIA business partner, General Noriega. By the way, Panama, under General Noriega was the only country in the Western Hemisphere run by a dark-skinned person. Noriega was popular with the bulk of those in Panama, who are people of color. It was only the small, white aristocracy there that wanted him removed. They used the branches of worldwide banks there to skim off loot from dope and gun running. Noriega was really just a small-time, semi-independent tyrant.

Helping supervise Continental Bank has been the Vatican's man of trust, Chicago federal appeals judge Walter Cummings (sp?), for many years also chief judge and major stockholder of the bank. Judge Cummings steers cases in his court to fellow banker/judges -- which is most of them.

For many years the major owners of Bank of America and their holding company were the Jesuits and the Vatican, and their long-time cronies, the Rothschilds (sp?). Like Continental Bank up until 1984, they owed tens of billions of dollars to the Japanese and the yakusa, who own most of the other sizeable banks in California. In the late 1980s, Bank of America was faced with a run, so they have quietly given over most of the control to the Japanese.

Although the Pope has lost much of the control of the three banks in America, the pontiff continues as the major owner in nuclear power utility firms, including Commonwealth Edison and Florida Power.

See us on Chicago cable channel 21, 9 pm Monday evening, Aug. 23rd.

The Jesuit Oath Exposed:

"Go ye, then, into all the world and take possession of all lands in the name of the Pope. He who will not accept him as the Vicar of Jesus and his Vice-Regent on earth, let him be accursed and exterminated."

Professor Arthur Noble

[The following is the text of the Jesuit Extreme Oath of Induction as recorded in the Journals of the 62nd Congress, 3rd Session, of the United States Congressional Record (House Calendar No. 397, Report No. 1523, 15 February, 1913, pp. 3215-3216), from which it was subsequently torn out. The Oath is also quoted by Charles Didier in his book Subterranean Rome (New York, 1843), translated from the French original. Dr. Alberto Rivera, who escaped from the Jesuit Order in 1967, confirms that the induction ceremony and the text of the Jesuit Oath which he took were identical to what we have cited below. – A. N.]

When a Jesuit of the minor rank is to be elevated to command, he is conducted into the Chapel of the Convent of the Order, where there are only three others present, the principal or Superior standing in front of the altar. On either side stands a monk, one of whom holds a banner of yellow and white, which are the Papal colors, and the other a black banner with a dagger and red cross above a skull and crossbones, with the word INRI, and below them the words IUSTUM NECAR REGES IMPIUS. The meaning of which is:

It is just to exterminate or annihilate impious or heretical Kings, Governments, or Rulers

Upon the floor is a red cross at which the postulant or candidate kneels. The Superior hands him a small black crucifix, which he takes in his left hand and presses to his heart, and the Superior at the same time presents to him a dagger, which he grasps by the blade and holds the point against his heart, the Superior still holding it by the hilt, and thus addresses the postulant:

(The Superior speaks:)

My son, heretofore you have been taught to act the dissembler: among Roman Catholics to be a Roman Catholic, and to be a spy even among your own brethren; to believe no man, to trust no man. Among the Reformers, to be a Reformer; among the Huguenots, to be a Huguenot; among the Calvinists, to be a Calvinist; among other Protestants, generally to be a Protestant; and obtaining their confidence, to seek even to preach from their pulpits, and to denounce with all the vehemence in your nature our Holy Religion and the Pope; and even to descend so low as to become a Jew among Jews, that you might be enabled to gather together all information for the benefit of your Order as a faithful soldier of the Pope.

You have been taught to plant insidiously the seeds of jealousy and hatred between communities, provinces, states that were at peace, and to incite them to deeds of blood, involving them in war with each other, and to create revolutions and civil wars in countries that were independent and prosperous, cultivating the arts and the sciences and enjoying the blessings of peace; to take sides with the combatants and to act secretly with your brother Jesuit, who might be engaged on the other side, but openly opposed to that with which you might be connected, only that the Church might be the gainer in the end, in the conditions fixed in the treaties for peace and that the end justifies the means. You have been taught your duty as a spy, to gather all statistics, facts and information in your power from every source; to ingratiate yourself into the confidence of the family circle of Protestants and heretics of every class and character, as well as that of the merchant, the banker, the lawyer, among the schools and universities, in parliaments and legislatures, and the judiciaries and councils of state, and to be all things to all men, for the Pope's sake, whose servants we are unto death.

You have received all your instructions heretofore as a novice, a neophyte, and have served as co-adjurer, confessor and priest, but you have not yet been invested with all that is necessary to command in the Army of Loyola in the service of the Pope. You must serve the proper time as the instrument and executioner as directed by your superiors; for none can command here who has not consecrated his labours with the blood of the heretic; for "without the shedding of blood no man can be saved". Therefore, to fit yourself for your work and make your own salvation sure, you will, in addition to your former oath of obedience to your order and allegiance to the Pope, repeat after me:

I _____, now in the presence of Almighty God, the blessed Virgin Mary, the blessed St. John the Baptist, the Holy Apostles, St. Peter and St. Paul, and all the saints, sacred host of Heaven, and to you, my Ghostly Father, the superior general of the Society of Jesus, founded by St. Ignatius Loyola, in the pontification of Paul the Third, and continued to the present, do by the womb of the Virgin, the matrix of God, and the rod of Jesus Christ, declare and swear that His Holiness, the Pope, is Christ's Vice-Regent and is the true and only head of the Catholic or Universal Church throughout the earth; and that by the virtue of the keys of binding and loosing given to His Holiness by my Saviour, Jesus Christ, he hath power to depose heretical Kings, Princes, States, Commonwealths, and Governments, and they may be safely destroyed.

Therefore to the utmost of my power I will defend this doctrine and His Holiness's right and custom against all usurpers of the heretical or Protestant authority whatever, especially the Lutheran Church of Germany, Holland, Denmark, Sweden and Norway, and the now pretended authority and Churches of England and Scotland, and the branches of same now established in Ireland and on the continent of America and elsewhere and all adherents in regard that they may be usurped and heretical, opposing the sacred Mother Church of Rome. I do now denounce and disown any allegiance as due to any heretical king, prince or State, named Protestant or Liberal, or obedience to any of their laws, magistrates or officers.

I do further declare the doctrine of the Churches of England and Scotland of the Calvinists, Huguenots, and others of the name of Protestants or Masons to be damnable, and they themselves to be damned who will not forsake the same. I do further declare that I will help, assist, and advise all or any of His Holiness's agents, in any place where I should be, in Switzerland, Germany, Holland, Ireland or America, or in any other kingdom or territory I shall come to, and do my utmost to extirpate the heretical Protestant or Masonic doctrines and to destroy all their pretended powers, legal or otherwise. I do further promise and declare that, notwithstanding, I am dispensed with to assume any religion heretical for the propagation of the Mother Church's interest; to keep secret and private all her agents' counsels from time to time, as they entrust me, and not to divulge, directly or indirectly, by word, writing or circumstances whatever; but to execute all that should be proposed, given in charge, or discovered unto me by you, my Ghostly Father, or any of this sacred order. I do further promise and declare that I will have no opinion or will of my own or any mental reservation whatever, even as a corpse or cadaver (perinde ac cadaver), but will unhesitatingly obey each and every command that I may receive from my superiors in the militia of the Pope and of Jesus Christ.

That I will go to any part of the world whithersoever I may be sent, to the frozen regions north, jungles of India, to the centres of civilization of Europe, or to the wild haunts of the barbarous savages of America without murmuring or repining, and will be submissive in all things, whatsoever is communicated to me. I do further promise and declare that I will, when opportunity presents, make and wage relentless war, secretly and openly, against all heretics, Protestants and Masons, as I am directed to do, to extirpate them from the face of the whole earth; and that I will spare neither age, sex nor condition, and that will hang, burn, waste, boil, flay, strangle, and bury alive these infamous heretics; rip up the stomachs and wombs of their women, and crush their infants' heads against the walls in order to annihilate their execrable race.

That when the same cannot be done openly I will secretly use the poisonous cup, the strangulation cord, the steel of the poniard, or the leaden bullet, regardless of the honor, rank, dignity or authority of the persons, whatever may be their condition in life, either public or private, as I at any time may be directed so to do by any agents of the Pope or Superior of the Brotherhood of the Holy Father of the Society of Jesus.

In confirmation of which I hereby dedicate my life, soul, and all corporal powers, and with the dagger which I now receive I will subscribe my name written in my blood in testimony thereof; and should I prove false, or weaken in my determination, may my brethren and fellow soldiers of the militia of the Pope cut off my hands and feet and my throat from ear to ear, my belly be opened and sulphur burned therein with all the punishment that can be inflicted upon me on earth, and my soul shall be tortured by demons in eternal hell forever. That I will in voting always vote for a Knight of Columbus in preference to a Protestant, especially a Mason, and that I will leave my party so to do; that if two Catholics are on the ticket I will satisfy myself which is the better supporter of Mother Church and vote accordingly. That I will not deal with or employ a Protestant if in my power to deal with or employ a Catholic. That I will place Catholic girls in Protestant families that a weekly report may be made of the inner movements of the heretics. That I will provide myself with arms and ammunition that I may be in readiness when the word is passed, or I am commanded to defend the Church either as an individual or with the militia of the Pope.

All of which I, _____, do swear by the blessed Trinity and blessed sacrament which I am now to receive to perform and on part to keep this my oath. In testimony hereof, I take this most holy and blessed sacrament of the Eucharist and witness the same further with my name written with the point of this dagger dipped in my own blood and seal in the face of this holy sacrament.

You will now rise to your feet and I will instruct you in the Catechism necessary to make yourself known to any member of the Society of Jesus belonging to this rank. In the first place, you, as a Brother Jesuit, will with another mutually make the ordinary sign of the cross as any ordinary Roman Catholic would; then one crosses his wrists, the palms of his hands open, and the other in answer crosses his feet, one above the other; the first points with forefinger of the right hand to the centre of the palm of the left, the other with the forefinger of the left hand points to the centre of the palm of the right; the first then with his right hand makes a circle around his head, touching it; the other then with the forefinger of his left hand touches the left side of his body just below his heart; the first then with his right hand draws it across the throat of the other, and the latter then with a dagger down the stomach and abdomen of the first.

The first then says lustum; and the other answers Necar; the first Reges; the other answers Impious. The first will then present a small piece of paper folded in a peculiar manner, four times, which the other will cut longitudinally and on opening the name Jesu will be found written upon the head and arms of a cross three times. You will then give and receive with him the following questions and answers:

From whither do you come? Answer: The Holy faith.

Whom do you serve? Answer: The Holy Father at Rome, the Pope, and the Roman Catholic Church Universal throughout the world.

Who commands you? Answer: The Successor of St. Ignatius Loyola, the founder of the Society of Jesus or the Soldiers of Jesus Christ.

Who received you? Answer: A venerable man in white hair.

How? Answer: With a naked dagger, I kneeling upon the cross beneath the banners of the Pope and of our sacred order.

Did you take an oath? Answer: I did, to destroy heretics and their governments and rulers, and to spare neither age, nor sex, nor condition; to be as a corpse without any opinion or will of my own, but to implicitly obey my Superiors in all things without hesitation or murmuring.

Will you do that? Answer: I will.

How do you travel? Answer: In the bark of Peter the fisherman.

Whither do you travel? Answer: To the four quarters of the globe.

For what purpose? Answer: To obey the orders of my General and Superiors and execute the will of the Pope and faithfully fulfill the conditions of my oaths.

Go ye, then, into all the world and take possession of all lands in the name of the Pope. He who will not accept him as the Vicar of Jesus and his Vice-Regent on earth, let him be accursed and exterminated.

Holy Smoke and Mirrors

The Vatican Conspiracy

In its zeal to stamp out communism, the Vatican set up alliances during World War II with various secret societies, fascist groups and spying agencies and has maintained these networks ever since.

THE MAFIA, THE CIA, AND THE VATICAN'S INTELLIGENCE APPARATUS

FROM RATLINES TO DRUG SMUGGLING ROUTES

THE OCTOPUS AND THE SPIDER

THE BUSINESS OF GOD

THE MAFIA, THE CIA, AND THE VATICAN'S INTELLIGENCE APPARATUS

Albert Vincent Carone is one of those people who spent his life dancing between raindrops and turning invisible wherever a shadow lingered. He existed and also didn't exist. Al Carone--unlike his near namesake, Al Capone--truly was a paradox wrapped in a mystery concealed behind an enigma.

Carone was a detective in the New York Police Department, but this didn't stop him from becoming a "made" man in the Genovese crime family. He knew all the leading Mafiosi of his day, including Vito Genovese, Sam Giancana, Santos Trafficante, Joe Colombo and Pauley Castellano amongst others. To Carone's daughter, Dee, they were all known as "Uncle". When she got married, her father arranged two different reception rooms to separate the Mob guests from the NYPD guests. But this was more window-dressing than anything else. One of Carone's principal functions in the NYPD was to act as the "bagman" in protecting shipments of CIA drugs to the various Mafia families.

Carone died in 1990 under mysterious circumstances. This followed a period of great personal disenchantment with his life, following a secretive mission to Mexico in 1985 when a large number of innocent women and children died unnecessarily. His death was horrific, reports Mike Ruppert, editor of From The Wilderness newsletter, who has investigated Carone's life story and written a special report on it (see acknowledgements).

Meanwhile, another "Uncle" was Bill Casey, Director of the Central Intelligence Agency during the Reagan Administration. Casey had been with the Office of Strategic Services (OSS) during World War II. During the 1970s, he became Chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) which regulates the US investment industry. During his tenure in that role, Casey used Carone as a "cut out" to pass sensitive insider information to Mob capo Pauley Castellano, says his daughter, Dee.

Carone was also a Full Colonel in the US Army, where he had operated in the Army's Counter Intelligence Corp (CIC). Unsurprisingly, in view of his close friendship with Bill Casey, he was also a covert operative for the CIA. But that wasn't half of it. Carone was also a Grand Knight of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta (SMOM), which historically has been the military arm of the Vatican and is regarded as a separate State with full powers of statehood, including issuing its own diplomatic passports.

In more recent decades SMOM has acted as a funding conduit, a black market gold channel and money laundry for the CIA, amongst others, and is known to act as the Vatican's intelligence arm. It was alleged to be involved in, for example, the disappearance of Russia's gold reserves--over 2,000 metric tonnes--which vanished during 1991, around the time that Soviet Premier Mikhail Gorbachev was ousted from office.

Malta knighthoods are awarded to many leading individuals who are part of the military and intelligence community. The CIA's Bill Casey, for example, was a Knight of Malta. Former NATO General and later US Secretary of State Alexander Haig is also a Malta Knight. Another is General Vernon Walters, the former Deputy Director of the CIA under DCI George Bush, and later appointed a roving ambassador during the Reagan Administration. The legendary head of the OSS (the WWII precursor of the CIA), "Wild" Bill Donovan, was made a Knight along with his wartime compatriot and later CIA Chief of Counterintelligence, James Jesus Angleton. And John McCone, another prominent member of the US "spook" agency, was also distinguished with a Malta knighthood. The list goes on. Most interesting is Reinhard Gehlen, the former Nazi intelligence expert recruited by the US in 1945-46 to head the Gehlen Org--a secret, German-based intelligence arm of the United States that was composed of former SS and Gestapo agents, many of whom, including Klaus Barbie, were wanted Nazi war criminals. The foregoing names amount to a listing of some of the most powerful and influential members of the Western intelligence community over the last five decades.

One Vatican group that has extremely close ties to the Knights of Malta is the ultra-right-wing Opus Dei. This is an immensely powerful faction in the Vatican today, and its public "do good" activities eclipse a plethora of the darkest political and financial machinations known to man. It will not come as a surprise, perhaps, that Carone was closely associated with Opus Dei and, in particular, with a covert operation that had its origin back in 1944. This was Operation Amadeus.

FROM RATLINES TO DRUG SMUGGLING ROUTES

This highly secretive operation was part of the Operation Sunrise negotiations conducted between Allen Dulles--the then senior wartime OSS officer in Switzerland, but later to become the Director of the CIA--and SS General Karl Wolff. This debonair and well-connected SS officer commanded the SS and Gestapo contingents in Italy at the time.

The result of these negotiations (at least those parts that are now known about) was an agreement affording amnesty to an extensive roster of SS-Gestapo forces, in exchange for their agreement to shift their allegiance to the West in the pre-planned, covert battle aimed at defeating the Soviet communist "menace"--in other words, the "Cold War".

One spin-off of these Dulles-Wolff arrangements were the Vatican-run "ratlines" that aided wanted Nazi war criminals to slink to safety. Tens of thousands of SS and other Nazis escaped capture as a result of the ratlines. These included such figures as Franz Stangl, commandant at Treblinka extermination camp, and his friend Gustav Wagner, who ran the Sobibor death camp. Others to escape in this manner included Adolf Eichmann, the architect of the Holocaust. Eichmann was later captured by Israeli intelligence agents, smuggled to Tel Aviv where he stood trial and was eventually executed. In comparison, Dr Joseph Mengele--known as "the White Angel", a war criminal wanted for his cruel and inhuman experiments on death camp inmates at Auschwitz--escaped to Argentina and lived a long life.

Operation Amadeus was exclusively concerned with the flight of SS and Nazi war criminals to the South American continent and their later ferocious covert actions against the indigenous populations justified under the banner of "anti-communism". One individual engaged in Amadeus activities was former Gestapo officer Klaus Barbie, known to the world as "the Butcher of Lyon".

The principal means of funding Operation Amadeus activities was the hugely profitable narcotics business. Large stocks of SS morphia had been smuggled out of Europe and into "Catholic" South America at the end of the War in accordance with the Sunrise agreement. The morphia was accompanied by looted SS gold and large quantities of counterfeit British banknotes, forged in concentration camps by captive but skilled counterfeiters as part of an SS scheme known as Operation Bernhardt.

The escape "lines" used to move wanted men around South America, away from the prying eyes of Israeli agents, also proved ideal as smuggling routes for drugs. Decades later, the stocks of heroin smuggled into the United States for distribution by the CIA-protected Mafia would be complemented with locally grown cocaine.

One of the figures to emerge into the spotlight during the 1980s who was deeply involved in this narcotics traffic was Colonel Oliver North, who authorised the exchange of guns for drugs to finance Contra operations. Oliver North was known to Al Carone under his "work" name, "John Caffrey". This was the time when Carone was engaged in CIA-controlled cocaine transactions with Joe "Pickles" Percilia, a member of the Colombo crime family.

These curious and usually concealed connections between governments (in the form of the military and intelligence community), organised crime, the Vatican and Nazi war criminals have some significant history. Not least was the secret agreement reached between US Naval Intelligence officers and Mafia don Charles "Lucky" Luciano during World War II. This resulted in the Mafia's decision to aid and assist the Allies by contacting Mob figure Vito Genovese in 1943 to prepare the way for the Allied landing in Sicily. As earlier outlined, it was primarily those SS-Gestapo units located in Italy under command of SS General Wolff that were initially concerned in the Operation Sunrise negotiations.

And while large numbers of former Nazis were fleeing south to fight the communist menace in Latin America--and, more importantly, to profit personally from their involvement in the lucrative drug and gun business--in Europe, the spadework was being laid to overthrow or thwart democratically elected governments via a network of fascist-manned "Stay Behind units", organised under the aegis of Operation Gladio. Not surprisingly, this would also lead to certain involved figures making personal fortunes out of other people's misery--a circumstance that is so commonplace it is barely worth mentioning.

These neo-fascist activities would come to prominence in the early 1980s following the collapse of Banco Ambrosiano and the death of Italian banker Roberto Calvi, who was "suicided" and left hanging under London's Blackfriars Bridge. This would lead to sensational disclosures about the role of the Vatican Bank, the IOR, in Calvi's financial empire and would quickly grow to include the activities of Mafia financier Michele Sindona--whose activities, in turn, would implicate leading blue-blood banks in Europe and America in Mafia activities. Both Sindona and Calvi were close to Opus Dei, which lost around $55 million when Sindona's empire crashed. According to his family, Roberto Calvi was deeply engrossed in helping Opus Dei take control of the IOR when he was killed.

Meanwhile, both Calvi and Sindona were members of the secretive Propaganda Due (P2) masonic lodge, which is said to have been a "parallel government" in waiting and which planned to effect a coup d'état in Italy following a Communist Party victory at the polls.

P2 was run by former Italian fascist and member of the Nazi SS, Licio Gelli--dubbed "the Puppet Master" by the Italian press. Gelli's connections to the ultra-hard-right and fascists in Europe and Latin America were extensive. In fact, he had been deeply involved in establishing the Vatican-run ratlines that aided the worst Nazi war criminals to escape Allied justice at the end of WWII. All told, an estimated 50,000 Nazis were helped to freedom.

Gelli had numerous powerful friends, including former Italian dictator Benito Mussolini. He was also a personal friend of Argentina's General Juan Perón, and his close associations with Argentina would later lead him to be a key figure in shipping a supply of French Exocet missiles to sink British Task Force ships during the Falklands War. In this endeavour he worked closely with Ronald R. Rewald, founder of the Hawaiian-based financial institution Bishop, Baldwin, Rewald, Dillingham & Wong--a CIA proprietary company and forerunner of the CIA-owned Nugan Hand Bank.

The involvement of a CIA front company engaged in financing and providing weapons to be used against a key American ally (Britain) with the wholehearted public support of the US Government may seem somewhat duplicitous. However, in the world of "black ops", "friends" and "enemies" are interchangeable words and working both sides of the fence is accepted practice.

In terms of hierarchy, Gelli reported to Umberto Ortolani, described by one writer as "the great Vatican door-opener" and "secret chamberlain of the papal household". In addition to his P2 connections, Ortolani is also a member of the inner council of the Knights of Malta and has military intelligence connections that date back to WWII.

THE OCTOPUS AND THE SPIDER

There are numerous other masonic groups and secret societies in Europe which move in and out of focus at various times. Almost all of them are Catholic in nature.

One of these is the Priory of Sion (Prieuré de Sion)--a secretive order that first came to public attention via the best-selling book, The Holy Blood And The Holy Grail, published in 1982. The Priory is closely connected with the alleged treasure of Solomon which is said to have found its way to the small village of Rennes-le-Château in southwestern France, where it is said to have been buried by the Knights Templars, forerunners of the Knights of Malta.

The Priory, whose headquarters were located at Annemasse, near Geneva on the Swiss border, are styled as the "guardians" of Solomon's treasure, but, most interestingly, they have numerous subterranean connections to fascists and those on the far right that date back to WWII. Meanwhile, it has to be noted in passing that Annemasse is said to have been the centre for the anti-communist Stay Behind units of Operation Gladio.

If this is not intriguing enough, another fact stretches coincidence to the point of bursting. In recent years, the Priory of Sion has moved its headquarters to Barcelona and now boasts a Spanish Grand Master. This, one could conclude, is to enable it to be physically closer to the historical heartland of Opus Dei, which was founded in Spain in 1928.

If Otto Skorzeny was a leading force in running the SS Brotherhood escape routes--Der Spinne, the Spider--after the war, and SS General Karl Wolff was the lead negotiator with OSS Swiss Chief, Allen Dulles, then another Nazi, Walter Rauff, head of the Milan SD, was one of two liaisons with the Vatican involved in the establishment of the Nazi-smuggling system. Earlier in his career, Rauff had overseen the development of the Nazis' mobile gas vans, known as "Black Ravens", which gassed to death around 100,000 Jews, mostly women and children, by pumping exhaust fumes into the back of an hermetically sealed van.

Another important link between the Vatican and SS escape routes was Friedrich Schwendt, who was also the man in charge of laundering forged SS banknotes. Before WWII, Schwendt was an international arms dealer who shipped weapons to China and Russia. He was also the investment manager of the family fortune of his first wife's aunt, Baroness Gemmingen-Guttenberg, of the vastly wealthy Argentina-based Bunge family, of the massive transnational firm Bunge Corporation that is also known as "the Octopus".

This title is interesting, for it may connect to the so-called "Octopus" that ties in to murdered freelance journalist Danny Casolaro, who at the time of his death in 1991 was investigating a number of high-level illegalities including the theft by the Department of Justice of a "tracking" computer program known as "PROMIS". Casolaro was writing a book about what he had discovered. He originally titled it "Behold, A Pale Horse", but later modified it to "The Octopus". In a draft page of the book, he described this group as an "international cabal whose freelance services covered parochial political intrigue, espionage, sophisticated weapon technologies that included biotoxins, drug trafficking, money laundering and murder-for-hire". Casolaro further stated that this cabal was "spawned thirty years ago in the shadow of the Cold War".

After Casolaro's death, journalist Carol Marshall (a pen name) followed up his investigation and wrote an (as yet) unpublished manuscript, titled "The Last Circle". In this, Marshall describes her investigation of Robert Booth Nichols--one of the central figures of the Octopus, whom she describes as being part of a secretive group known as "the Chosen Ones" and who wore "skull and crossbones rings and shared a common interest, if you could call it that, in the old German SS occultism, its tribal and inner circle rites".

During her continuing investigation into the Octopus, Marshall found that the SS occultism outlined above was connected to Lt. Col. Michael A. Aquino, a former US Green Beret who is a self-professed Satanist and who held a Top Secret security clearance for his work in military intelligence and on classified psychological warfare matters. Aquino officiated at SS black-magic ceremonies held at Wewelsburg, the castle once used by SS chief Heinrich Himmler to create an SS order of Teutonic knights based on the Knights Templars.

The foregoing connections lend themselves to a larger picture of global, interlocking, right-wing fascist groupings that operate in the shadowland of deniable military and intelligence operations associated with profit during WWII and, later, throughout the Cold War.

In this respect, it is intriguing to note that the Priory of Sion, one of the foremost Catholic groups under discussion, uses as a symbol something that is variously described as an octopus or a spider (araignée) on its documents. The Priory's association with the octopus could easily relate to the so-called Octopus described above, where organised crime works hand in glove with operatives from US intelligence and the military. If one decides, on the other hand, that the Priory symbol is a spider, there is the intriguing notion of the Vatican-run Nazi escape lines of Austrian Catholic Otto Skorzeny and his SS Brotherhood's Der Spinne (the Spider).

THE BUSINESS OF GOD

Al Carone was, as mentioned earlier, a "made" man of the Genovese Mob in addition to his other associations. It is curious, therefore, to note that one of the leading lights of the Octopus, according to writer Carol Marshall, was ultra-right-wing oil tycoon Clint Murchison, owner of the Dallas Cowboys football team. Murchison's oil company, Murchison Oil Lease Company, was 20 per cent owned by Gerardo Catena, the chief lieutenant of the Genovese crime family.

Throughout the Second World War and thereafter there was, according to author Charles Higham in his book, Trading With The Enemy, a "general agreement of certain major figures of American, British and German commerce to continue their relations and associations after Pearl Harbor". Higham adds that he also learned that "certain figures of the warring governments had arranged to assist in this [activity]". Higham's subsequent research proved that this high cabal--which he dubbed "the Fraternity"--not only existed but benefited handsomely throughout WWII. This led the author to ask:

What would have happened if millions of Americans and British people, struggling with coupons and lines at the gas stations, had learned that in 1942 Standard Oil of New Jersey managers shipped the enemy's fuel through neutral Switzerland and that the enemy was shipping Allied fuel? Suppose the public had discovered that the Chase Bank in Nazi-occupied Paris after Pearl Harbor was doing millions of dollars' worth of business with the enemy with the full knowledge of the head office in Manhattan? Or that Ford trucks were being built for the German occupation troops in France with authorisation from Dearborn, Michigan? Or that Colonel Sosthenes Behn, the head of the international American telephone conglomerate ITT, flew from New York to Madrid to Berne during the war to help improve Hitler's communications systems and improve the robot bombs that devastated London? Or that ITT built the Focke-Wulfs that dropped bombs on British and American troops? Or that crucial ball-bearings were shipped to Nazi-associated customers in Latin America with the collusion of the Vice-Chairman of the US War Production Board, in partnership with Göring's cousin in Philadelphia, when American forces were desperately short of them? Or that such arrangements were known about in Washington and either sanctioned or deliberately ignored?

Higham's "Fraternity" has similar characteristics to the so-called "Octopus", and also shows certain similarities to Colonel Oliver North's "Enterprise". All have engaged in the most dubious and illegal activities for profit, and all operate hand in glove with organised crime. All lean so far to the right, ideologically speaking, that the word "fascist" can be used without reservation. Meanwhile, none of them cares very much for the woes of humanity and, indeed, they appear committed to stomping on ethics and moral values wherever they meet them.

The octopus--or "Oct Opus", as one European documentary film producer renders the spelling when referring to Opus Dei (which began life on 2 October 1928)--has eight arms that surround its mouth (ensuring a constant supply of food) and three hearts, and is therefore not prone to starving or dying. But it can also be identified by these oddities. Opus Dei, the group that is now in control of the Vatican, is undoubtedly one arm of this global criminal network, in this writer's view. Or are the three hearts of the octopus more vital to identify? Could they be analogous to the "Church, State and Mafia, the forces that prevail beneath the play of the shadows of the world" (as described by Nick Tosches in his book, Power On Earth, which tells the life story of murdered Mafia financier Michele Sindona)?

There is yet another interesting twist to this accumulation of associations: Prince Bernhard of The Netherlands. The Prince was the founding chairman of the publicity-shy Western power elite, the Bilderbergers. This shadowy and secretive group meets over a weekend in May/June each year, under an almost total media blackout [see deBriefings this issue]. Powerful and very influential figures from the world of banking, business, politics, the media, trades unions and academia are invited. Included regularly, for example, are Dr Henry Kissinger, David Rockefeller, and Italy's "king-maker", Gianni Agnelli. The first meeting took place in May 1954.

This, strangely, was the same year that Prince Bernhard became head of the Johanitter Orde in Nederland, one of four orders that make up the Chivalric Alliance of Orders of Saint John (Alliance de Chevalerie des Hospitaliers de Saint Jean de Jérusalem). The stated purpose of these four, known as "the Alliance"--which is composed of northern European nations Germany, The Netherlands, Sweden and Great Britain, the latter being an ancient order known as "the Most Venerable Order"--is "to reduce to silence the enemies of Christ". The headquarters of the Alliance are located in Switzerland.

These are Protestant orders rather than Catholic, but it is of significance that, on 26 November 1963, the Alliance was "consolidated with the signing of a joint declaration between the Sovereign Military Order of Malta and the Most Venerable Order, at St John's Gate, London, by the Grand Chancellor of the SMOM, the Prince of Resuttano, and Lord Wakehurst, Lord Prior of the Most Venerable Order". In other words, the Catholic and Protestant orders bound themselves to work together to "silence the enemies of Christ"--a clear reference to communism.

Interestingly, it has been suggested that the Knights Templars were "infected" with the Johannite or Mandaean heresy that denounced Jesus as a "false prophet" and in his place recognised John the Baptist as the true Messiah.

Meanwhile, two early Grand Masters of the Priory of Sion are said to have had Johannite tendencies: Leonardo da Vinci and Sir Isaac Newton. Notwithstanding that, the famous founder of the Knights Templars, Hughes de Payens, has been accused by the Vatican of being a Johannite.

Leaving aside this brief foray into esoteric history, it is as well to note that Prince Bernhard, in addition to his Bilderberg role and as head of the Dutch Johannite Order, was also an honorary member of Himmler's SS and worked in NW7, the global intelligence arm of I.G. Farben which acted in the interests of the Nazi cause. The activities of NW7 in Latin America before, during and after World War II are deeply interwoven in this story.

In facilitating and aligning itself with many of the foregoing activities, the Vatican aimed to help eradicate a communist ideology that despised Christianity. Opus Dei and a host of other Catholic-cum-fascist secret groups engaged in a litany of murder, money laundering, drug peddling, arms trafficking, concealment of WWII loot, embezzlement, manipulation of financial markets and many other consummate illegalities. The purpose of all these activities was, arguably, to allow the Vatican to remain the spiritual bulwark of the Christian West.

But if such business is the business of a Church preaching of a God in Heaven, then Caesar on Earth had better watch out. A new landlord has fallen into town.

About the Author:

Following a 28-year career as a professional international banker based in the City of London, David Guyatt now pursues a career researching, writing and producing material for TV documentaries, films and magazines. His feature articles have appeared in diverse publications including BusinessAge, NEXUS, Fortean Times, The X Factor and Lobster.

In addition to his commercial writing, David has prepared background papers on anti-personnel electromagnetic weapons for the International Committee on the Red Cross (ICRC), as well as for Scientists for Global Responsibility. He has also written for the World Development Movement on his "insider" knowledge of international weapons financing.

David was engaged as an expert consultant for the two-part World in Action TV documentary, broadcast in the UK in April 1997, that exposed Britain's weapons trail to Indonesia; and he assisted Swiss TV in a documentary on non-lethal weapons, also broadcast in early 1997. At present, he is pursuing an in-depth investigation into the real secrets surrounding the enigma of Nazi gold and WWII treasure looted by both German and Japanese "plunder teams". It will also unravel some of the more enduring secrets of the gold market.

Author Eric Jon Phelps Says the "Black Pope" And Jesuits Have The Evil Serpent's Body Wrapped Firmly Around America And Going In For The Kill

In the new edition of Vatican Assassins, Phelps traces the destruction, manipulation and deception of the Jesuits going back to ancient times and to the JFK assassination, the murder of Pope John Paul I and 9/11.

9 Feb 2006

By Greg Szymanski

<http://www.arcticbeacon.com/9-Feb-2006.html>

He lives in Borgo Santo Spirito, one of the older sections of Rome near the Tiber River and St. Peter's.

His master plan, as written in the "Protocols," is for the serpent of death to wrap its ugly body around the earth's sphere with its viper's head - the son of Lucifer - finally ruling from Jerusalem.

And inside this cluster of 8th century ancient Roman buildings were deadly fires burn brightly, resides the real leader of the Vatican, Illuminati and New World Order - the emissary of Lucifer and the feared 'Black Pope' better known as the Jesuit General, Count Hans Kolvenbach.

"Remember that he is the master of the Pope, Archbishop Edward Cardinal Egan of New York, and President "elect" George W. Bush of the Bush crime family descending from England's House of Stuart, as well as the petty military dictators of Communist Russia and China,," said Eric Jon Phelps, author of the compelling book coming out in March, called Vatican Assassins 3rd Edition, a historical look at the Jesuits corrupt Order.

"About the Jesuits, we would do well to meditate on the words of Napoleon recorded in his memoirs, the Emperor having been betrayed into the hands of his captors by his Jesuit masters, while imprisoned on the island of St. Helena in the middle of the South Atlantic Ocean:

"The Jesuits are a military organization, not a religious order. Their chief is a general of an army, not the mere father abbot of a monastery. And the aim of this organization is POWER. Power in its most despotic exercise. Absolute power, universal power, power to control the world by the volition of a single man...

"The General of the Jesuits insists on being master, sovereign, over the sovereign. Wherever the Jesuits are admitted they will be masters, cost what it may... Every act, every crime, however atrocious, is a meritorious work, if committed for the interest of the Society of the Jesuits, or by the order of the general."

And make no mistake about it, Kolvenbach's present day plans are deadly. His evil knows no bounds. And, according to Phelps, he truly is the missing "evil link" when it comes to fully understanding how and why America is turning into a fascist state and being used as a second Nazi Germany.

Normally when thinking of the New World Order, one immediately refers to the Council on Foreign Relations, the Trilateral Commission, the Bilderbergers, the Committee of 300, composed of the 17 wealthiest "elite" families, the Rothschilds in England, Rockefellers in America and Bronfmans in Canada.

But when it comes to adding the Jesuits in the mix, most people brush them aside, thinking they are just another benign and innocent Catholic order of priests in robes, saying Mass, serving the poor and spreading the word of God.

But think again. Behind the veil of the good lies evil, behind the veil of the diety lies a deadly band of Luciferian followers who are deviously controlling all the most powerful religions and governments in the world, including Judaism, Islam and Christianity.

And according to Phelps, religious researcher and historian and working on Vatican, all the above statements are fact not fiction, as the Jesuits truly are "the evilest of all evils" and the quintessential masters of deception.

"It's just staggering the amount of control the Jesuits really wield throughout the world," reminds Phelps who provides a chart of the Order's corrupt power on his web site at www.vaticanassassins.org.

The following is just a portion of some of the organizations under the Jesuit command, according to Phelps: Under the Jesuit Order, the Illuminati organizations are Council of the 13[?] of the Bavarian Illuminati, Council of the 33rd degree Masons of the Scottish Rite, The 13 Satanic Bloodlines, The Committee of 300, B'Nai B'Rith and the Grand Orient.

Further, other secret societies found by Phelps to be under the Jesuit control include Freemason (Scottish Rite/York Rite), Skull and Bones, Grand Orient Lodge, Grand Alpha Lodge, Knights Templar, Royal Order of the Garter, Priory de Sion, Rosicricians, Thule Society, Knights of Malta, Knights of Columbus and the P2 Lodge.

And going down the chart-list even further what's even more astounding is that most every major religious group, educational group, political group and intelligence organization like the CIA, MI6 and Mossad have been in one way or another infiltrated and under the despotic control of the Jesuits.

Phelps also claims behind the organizations, Kolvenbach, the top Luciferian, is the one calling the shots, pulling the strings and controlling the Pope and top world leaders like George W. Bush and Tony Blair, while leading the whole nasty pack of deceptive "chump chickens" right down the serpent's slippery slope into World War III.

And what makes Kolvenbach even more dangerous here in the United States is that through organizations like the Knights of Malta, Skull and Bones and the Illuminati, all under his evil spell, he controls the demise of America unless something is done quickly - a demise which some say will lead to full blown fascism, the Jesuit government of choice and, with it, ultimate destruction like took place Nazi Germany in World War II.

Suggesting the Knights of Malta are one of the groups deeply imbedded in America behind the Luciferian, Phelps said the organization is arguably the world's most evil secret society.

Officially an elite military organization under Vatican authority, Knights of Malta members swear lasting allegiance to all papal orders until death. And looking at the organization's history, one finds its members are really spiritual descendents of the Catholic Bankers, pagan Knights Templar, banned for satan-worship and homosexuality in 1307 AD, who were also the founders of Switzerland.

Further, the group also founded the League of Nations, United Nations, and the Freemason Red Cross as well as the special ops force for Rothschild's Bank for International Settlements in Basel, where the Reagan-appointed Alan Greenspan KBE, and all other central bankers get their marching orders. And the Knights of Malta are also founders of the OSS-CIA, which really is the official military intelligence arm of the Vatican and the 'Black Pope.'

"The only hope we have of saving our country since we are now in the cross-hairs of the Jesuits, is to expel every last one of them from America and Canada. I have a strong faith and I will never back down from a Jesuit as long as I live. The Jesuit General, and the other high Jesuit Generals, they are sorcerers," said Phelps, who made a rare public appearance this week on Greg Szymanski's radio show, The Investigative Journal, adding throughout the course of history the Jesuits have been expelled from numerous countries but never from the U.S. and Canada.

"They are confirmed Luciferians. They worship what they would call Lucifer. They do not believe in Satan. They believe in Lucifer. History also shows how they assassinated President Lincoln, Pope John Paul I and the attempted murder of Pope John Paul II for stepping out of line with the Jesuits. After the assassination attempt, he was firmly and forever under their control.

"But my investigation really began with trying to show who really was behind the assassination of JFK, the first Roman Catholic President. I want to point out I am by no means anti-Catholic, just anti-Pope, anti-Church hierarchy and anti-Jesuit."

Regarding the JFK assassination, Phelps wrote:

"The purpose is to prove the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, ordered by the Jesuit General and executed by Pope Paul VI, was carried out by "the American Pope", Francis Cardinal Spellman. Spellman, being the Archbishop of New York, was "the American Military Vicar" and therefore used his most obedient soldiers - certain Knights of Malta, Shriner Freemasons, Knights of Columbus and Mafia Dons in carrying out his orders from Rome.

"The single reason for the President's assassination was his interference with the purpose of the Jesuits' Fourteenth Amendment American Empire created in 1868. That purpose was to restore and maintain the worldwide Temporal (political) Power of that Jesuit Creation of 1870 - the "infallible" Pope. In resisting the Pope's Temporal Power, he threatened the monopoly of the Jesuits' Federal Reserve Bank by enacting Executive Order 11110 (4 June 1963) thereby injecting into the economy nearly five billion dollars (4.7) in interest-free "United States Notes", only to be recalled the day after his burial.

"The President also attempted to break the foremost international intelligence arm of the Vatican's Jesuits - the evil Central Intelligence Agency - "into a thousand pieces." In 1963 the CIA was manned by many of Hitler's old warriors - the Jesuit-controlled Nazi SS - turned "cold warriors".

"According to the great Frenchman, Edmond Paris, in his The Secret History of the Jesuits, it was the Jesuit Bernhardt Staempfle who wrote Hitler's Mein Kampf. This fact is further confirmed by one of the founders of the Nazi Party, Roman Catholic Otto Strasser, in his revealing book, Hitler and I. It was Roman Catholic Hitler who said of the Roman Catholic Himmler having modeled the SS after the Jesuit Order."

In Phelps new version of Vatican Assassins 3rd Edition, he also connects the dots of 9/11 saying the same dirty hands back in the 1960's came back to bring down the WTC, this time on direct orders from Jesuit General Kovenbach carried out through Edward Cardinal Egan of New York and faithful servants like Mayor Rudy Giuliani and George W. Bush, to name a few.

Phelps wrote his theory about who ordered the 9/11 attacks and why the attacks needed to be carried out.

"Peter-Hans Kolvenbach, the General of the International Military Order of the Society of Jesus, commonly known as "the Black Pope", ordered the attack on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon on Tuesday, September 11, 2001, with the advice and consent of his General Staff, composed of five assistants each representing a hemisphere and under whom are many advisory Provincials, an advisor resembling the likes of a military commander to warn him of any faults or mistakes and, his confessor, to ease his conscience and absolve him of his many sins.

"Why? Because the appointed time has arrived for the Jesuit General to destroy both the Dome of the Rock and the Al Aqsa Mosque in Jerusalem, secretly using his CIA/ Nazi-trained, Masonic Zionist Mossad in conjunction with his CIA/Nazi-trained, Masonic Islamic Intelligence Agencies, including Osama bin Laden's MAK and Pakistan's ISI, while shrouded in the confusion of a huge aerial war yet to come.

"This will enable the General's crusading Knights Templars, the present day Shriner Freemasons to rebuild Solomon's Temple - for the Papal Caesar in Rome's Vatican. And how could the Black Pope destroy these Moslem Mosques, they comprising the third most important Islamic religious site in the world behind Saudi Arabia's Mecca and Medina, without causing an uncontrollable Moslem holy war, called a "jihad", resulting in the destruction of Pope Pius XII's creation of Zionist Israel?

"Remember, Israel was admitted into the New York-based United Nations in 1949 through the efforts of Jesuit-trained Francis Cardinal Spellman - the darling of Pope Pius XII who, after his Jesuits carried out the Jewish Holocaust in Europe and then driving the survivors to Palestine, intended, under the guidance of his Jesuit confessor, Augustin Cardinal Bea, to make Jerusalem an international city, while governed by the Papal Caesar's Chaim Weizmann and his Masonic Jewish Zionists.

"The Black Pope must cause a war using a country he also wishes to further destroy. Enter the "Holy Roman" Fourteenth Amendment American Jesuit Empire created in 1868 on the ruins of George Washington's Calvinist Republic, the last political stronghold of the Protestant Reformation with freedom of conscience, freedom of speech and freedom of the press.

"Here was the "Father General's" plan. In synchronizing his worldwide overt and covert factions to work the Order's evil ends of the Vatican's Counter-Reformation in restoring the Papal Caesar as the absolute Universal Monarch of the World, the Black Pope used his Masonically-controlled, fanatically anti-Jewish Race, Islamic Intelligence operatives under the domestic control of the CIA (Osama bin Laden having been directed, financed and trained by the CIA for at least ten years - just like Jesuit-trained and CIA-financed Fidel Castro.

"Like Castro, bin Laden became a false enemy of the Council of Foreign Relations (CFR)-controlled American government, to be openly and notoriously instructed as Islamic pilots at the Venice Airport, a Florida facility used by the CIA since 1948. This allowed Archbishop Egan's controlled American press to spread the prepared news release that the doomed airliners were hijacked by "Arab terrorists" in the employ of bin Laden when in fact, to the horror of the American pilots, the airliners had been taken over and guided to their targets, remotely controlled by American Military Intelligence operatives overseen by the Black Pope's CIA/NSA.

"Archbishop Egan's CFR-controlled American press then placed the blame for these acts of high treason and murder squarely on the shoulders of the Black Pope's Saudi prince and CIA operative, Osama bin Laden, including his al-Qaeda Network secretly working for the Jesuit General's International terrorist network. Tens of thousands of "heretic and liberal" Americans perished, thereby justifying a war between the Moslem

World and "the Great Satan."

But to fully comprehend Phelps research, including the entire circle of Jesuit control, it is necessary to first reference the Bible, specifically this interpretation of Rev 2:9 and 3:9 where it proclaims, "These are the ones who claim to be "Jews", but are not "Jews". They are the worshippers of Satan, and are his chosen seed line on this earth to do His will, even as we are Jah's chosen people called to do His!!! There is nothing new under the sun. Satan can only counterfeit what Jah does, and he does do just that."

Also a religious researcher in 2000 who looked at Phelps earlier works said it was important to first understand this religious background information:

"To see Phelps work in its proper perspective, we must see it through the truth that the war being waged between Satan and Jah is being fought on this earth between two seed lines. Satan's chosen seed line is ESAU, with Jah's being the descendants of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, with Joseph's descendants having the headship of this war.

"Just as Jah had a Son who was the True Messiah through His chosen family, or seed line, Satan is to have a substitute Messiah through his chosen family or seed line, the Edomites or Red's. The Edomites call this false Messiah, "The Son of Lucifer". In their "Protocols" is their Master Plan, and that plan calls for the serpent to wrap its body around the entire earth with this Son of Lucifer ruling the earth from Jerusalem."

So, according to Phelps, the battle lines are clearly drawn in 2006 as nuclear war in Iran is looming on the horizon. He also claims the American military, mired in Iraq, will be stretched to the limit when the war expands in the Middle East, culminating in the invasion of foreign troops on American soil with no defense.

"The Jesuits are now using the American military like the Nazi military was used in World War II," recalls Phelps. "Our troops will eventually be cut-off in the Middle East and sacrificed like what happened to Hitler's troops in Russia. Once this occurs, Chinese and Russian troops, supposedly angered by American imperialism, will have an open door to take over America, bringing fascism which is the Jesuit government of choice.

Regarding the important "Protocols of the Elders of Zion," called by Phelps the Jesuit handbook, he wrote in 2000:

"The Jesuits obviously wrote the Protocols because they have carried out every protocol in that little handbook. They have carried everything out. And, Alberto Rivera says-and he was a Jesuit-he was greatly maligned, not helped at all by the Apostate, Protestants, and Baptists in this country; he was helped, somewhat, by Jack Chick. Jack Chick published his story in six volumes, titled Alberto I, II, III, IV, V, & VI.

"Alberto Rivera says that it was Jews aligned with the Pope who published the Protocols. Well, I tend to feel that it was just the Jesuits themselves because they, and they alone, were the ones who were able to bring this to pass.

"They're the ones in the government. They're the ones behind professional sports. The owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers (in 2000) is a Knight of Malta. The owner of the Detroit Lions (in 2000) is a Knight of Malta. All your top owners of these ball clubs, for the most part, are Knights of Malta, getting the people whooped up in this hoopla over games and sports, while they're busy creating a tyranny. So, that was one of the things in the Protocols-that they would create "amusements".

"Another one they used was Walt Disney, 33rd-degree Freemason-Disneyworld, Disneyland. Another one was Milton Hersey, with Hersey Park. They create all of these amusements and games and pastimes to get the people drunk with pleasure, while they're busy overthrowing the Protestant form of government."

Title: Thoughts on the Muslim Riots/Cartoons
Description: ERIC PHELPS

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 9, 2006 12:55 AM (GMT)

Dear Brethren and Friends,

We must view the present anti-Muhammad cartoons as originating from the Jesuit-controlled press of Europe for the purpose of inciting blind Islamic rage against the historic Protestant West. The Muslims, like the majority of American Blacks, are an easily agitated people proving to be the perfect pawns in the hands of their Masonic Islamic leaders. Notice that the time of the release of these cartoons was at the time when Iran was calling for the murder of every Jew in Israel while purposing to continue its nuclear program. The cartoons fired the people to back this nefarious purpose.

These releases are timed and intended to accomplish a specific purpose. Let us never lose sight of thus Jesuit machination. This is one of the ways the Black Pope controls and directs his revolutions and wars "For the Greater Glory of God."

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric

My thoughts exactly. Also, it would be so easy to put agent provocateurs in amongst these protestors with more extreme slogans on their signs, and dressed more aggressively.

Dear Brother Mxxx,

I have lots of respect for Dr. Day. She knows the power of the Jesuit Order as she taught at the Order's University of San Francisco.

She may have a point regarding pre-Flood technology as the corruption of the race was complete in a mere 1656 years from the creation of Adam. It is a fact that a pre-Flood battery was discovered in fossilized strata indicating a working knowledge of electrical current.

Today, I believe may "natural disasters" are engineered including the recent rash of hurricanes including Katrina. But when it comes to the Great Tribulation, those judgments are a result of the Son of God opening the seals bringing "Wormwood" and other disasters directly from the hand of God.

Thanks for the good note, and you can call me Brother Eric or Eric if you so desire.

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric

Dear Mr. Phelps

I am sure you are familiar with Dr. Lorraine Day and her views on nutrition and the New World Order. She seems to disagree with the pretribulation rapture, but at the very least

One area I thought might interest you was her arguments that man's technological achievements were the direct cause of the flood, as opposed to the indirect cause, causing God's wrath, and inviting the flood.

She also says that at least some of the judgments of God will be caused by the technologies of man, for instance the great earthquakes, and that at least as a fallout of the actions of these technologies.

Yours in Faith,

Dear Bxxxxx

Thank you for a most well-written article. Your abilities are tops.

It is agreed that Tunguska was a man-made disaster in the Order's stronghold of Siberia, and that the bombs dropped in Japan were "Dummy bombs"---not in fact atomic bombs. As stated yesterday, I can prove that the Jesuits were in Hiroshima; that the Order controlled Hirohito and thus worked with the Japanese military High Command; and that five Jesuits emerged unscathed from ground zero after the blast at Hiroshima---which "miracle" was attributed to the "Virgin Mary." For this, Pedro Arrupe, who was the leading Jesuit on site was promoted to Jesuit Superior General in 1965.

After the bombing, Cardinal Spellman arrived at Tinian Island.

Title: Eric Phelps reply to Tim

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 9, 2006 12:48 AM (GMT)

Dear Tim,

I do apologize for not answering you emails as most of them I regard as reports that I file for future reference. I am behind in responding as I have about 170 emails to go and only answered a couple of them yesterday.

I do thank you for confronting the hosts of the general patriot community in their obvious avoidance of my topic, the Jesuits. Yes, Rense recently posted reference to my work and Greg Syzmanski had me on his show yesterday and will once again on Thursday. Jack Blood will be having me on his show later in March. It appears that due to your general emails, they responded; either way I am thankful.

Now, I consider you to be one of the most informed men on the cutting edge of exposing the players in promoting the Pope's New World Order. You realize that the font of this entire satanic scheme is Rome, and with your Roman Catholic background, you further aid me in finding hitherto unknown facts. You, Tim, have connected me with most notable contacts like Jim Rothstein and Colonel Dan Marvin and others including Ted Gunderson, with whom I spoke at the Con Con in 2002, and thus, have been most helpful. And your knowledge on such topics as The Secret Treaty of Fort Hunt serving as the backdrop for Operation Paperclip overseen by Knight of Malta J. Peter Grace and Cardinal Spellman have been invaluable. This has been added in VAllI thanks to you referring me to Carl Olgelsby's works.

Further your exposure of shills Webb, Hartwell, Flocco and Henighan in association with Jesuit Coadjutor Hal Turner have alerted me to their designs. The writings of Victor Thorne (though he seems to generally blame the Pope's Masonic Jewish Zionists instead of the Jesuits) are in complete agreement with you regarding these men. For this I again say thank you.

But my concern with you is this: You are continuing to use profanity which serves to discredit you and hinders me in forwarding you emails. Many on my list are Bible-believing men and women thus I cannot send them on as such language is defiling and offensive. I do not have the right to tell you to cease as you are your own man. But you would be much more effective and be much more credible if you would truly reconsider my exhortation to you.

Therefore in conclusion, I consider you to be a reliable source of information at this critical hour. You hate the works of the Jesuit Order as do I. Though some consider you to be secretly with the FBI, I still do not believe this due to my conversations with you and the persons you have connected me with over the last six months. I believe Ted Gunderson to be an honest man and also reliable as do you for which reason you associate with him and he with you. But, my friend, I cringe when I receive an email loaded with profanity, as this too defiles me. So please, Tim, do your best to refrain or do not send me anymore emails with profanity. The content is valuable, but the language is out of order for a man of your caliber with years of personal knowledge, a total recall memory and experience that is proving to be most effective in my research and public speaking.

Again, thanks for your skirmishing in my behalf. I am sure it had its effect and the Coadjutors, whoever they may prove to be must be exposed by name, as we have an audience many of which are truly seeking to find the truth spoken by men and women without a hidden agenda or engaging in "mental reservation."

Please post this for your groups to review.

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric Jon Phelps

'POPE HINTS AT CHANGE OF LEADER FOR JESUITS

Thu Feb 2, 1:54 PM ET

VATICAN CITY (AFP) - Signalling a change of attitude from his predecessor, Pope Benedict XVI has suggested the head of the powerful Roman Catholic Jesuit order can step down, an Italian news report said.

News reports in Italy said Kolvenbach, known as the "Black Pope" because of the colour of his cape and the power wielded by the order, is likely to resign -- the first Jesuit leader to do so since the order's foundation in 1534.

As with the papacy, leaders of the Jesuit order remain in the post until death, and Benedict's predecessor John Paul II had several times refused to entertain the idea of Kolvenbach resigning.

Such an unprecedented move in the pope's old age would only have fuelled debate about a papal resignation, the ANSA news agency said.

The 77-year-old Kolvenbach has been leader, or general, of the Roman Catholic Church's biggest order since 1983. It counts more than 20,000 priests and lay members worldwide.

Kolvenbach, a Dutchman, has been considering resigning in favour of a more energetic younger man for some time, according to unnamed Jesuit sources quoted by ANSA.

John Paul II, who had been critical of the order over its involvement in South American politics, first rejected Kolvenbach's resignation during a previous general congregation of the order in 1995, ANSA said citing "authoritative sources."

The Jesuit leader is reported to have repeated his request in successive years, but the pope always refused, the agency said.'

JESUIT LEADER TO RESIGN EARLY WITH POPE PERMISSION

VATICAN CITY: The head of the Jesuit order, known as the "Black Pope" for his black robes and who traditionally serves for life, will step down in 2008 with Pope Benedict's blessing, an official of the order said today.

Father Peter Hans Kolvenbach, a Dutchman who has been running the order since 1983, will resign at the next general congregation of the Jesuits, which will coincide with his 80th birthday.

The move is believed to be unprecedented in the 466-year-old history of the religious order, the largest in the Catholic Church.

The order, which was founded by St Ignatius of Loyola, counts more than 20,000 priests and brothers in 112 countries and is involved in virtually every aspect of Church life.

"He will be 80 in the year 2008 and he feels that it will be time to step aside," Father Frank Case, the secretary-general of the order and Kolvenbach's right-hand man, told Reuters.

Case said Father Kolvenbach was still in relatively good health but felt that it would be a good idea to pass on the baton to a younger man.

Case said the Pope, who was elected last April, has agreed to Kolvenbach's request.

Jesuit leaders are known as "The Black Pope" because they wear a black cassock and, like pontiffs, are elected for life.

Kolvenbach's relations with Benedict and with the late Pope John Paul have been very good, unlike those of the previous Jesuit leader, Father Pedro Arrupe.

Arrupe had very stormy relations with Pope John Paul, who believed that the Jesuits were becoming too liberal and too politically involved.

During Arrupe's leadership from 1965 until 1983, the Society of Jesus, as the Jesuits are formally known, underwent a metamorphosis from a highly traditional order to one that championed social justice and espoused new theological ideas.

The late Pope was particularly critical of priests who held political office in several countries and those who espoused so-called Liberation Theology in Latin America.

Arrupe suffered a stroke in the early 1980s and John Paul feared that the order would elect someone with similar ideas to succeed him.

Arrupe's leadership ended with an unusual intervention when John Paul appointed his own representative to run the order until they were ready to elect a man who was pleasing to him.

That man was the softly spoken Kolvenbach, who for the past 23 years has led the order through one of the most difficult transitional periods of its history.

While the intervention was a shock for Jesuits, some of whom openly criticised it as "papal martial law", Kolvenbach told the order early on that they could not sit and lick their wounds.

"The urgency of our apostolic mission does not allow us to sit down to complain or to indulge in self-pity," he told Reuters in an interview a year after he was elected.

"We don't have the right to be too busy with our internal problems," he said.

Jesuits' Top Superior to Step Down

Father Kolvenbach Convoques General Congregation for '08

ROME, FEB. 2, 2006 (Zenit.org).- Father Hans Kolvenbach, superior general of the Jesuits, announced his intention to resign from his office, adding that he will convoke a general congregation to elect his successor.

In a letter he sent to the members of the Society of Jesus, Father Kolvenbach officially convoked the order's 35th General Congregation. It will open Jan. 5, 2008, in the General Curia of Rome.

The letter, published today, said: "During the Congregation of Procurators of 2003 and during the recent meeting of Major Superiors of the Society of Jesus, it became increasingly clear that the Society has reached a situation foreseen by Saint Ignatius in the Constitutions (680): in which there are 'very difficult things touching upon the whole body of the Society,' 'for more service to God our Lord.' It is a situation that requires a General Congregation."

Thus, the general congregation is convoked with the dual objective of electing a new superior general and addressing other important matters for the Society of Jesus.

According to the Jesuit Constitutions, the office of superior general is for life. A new superior general is elected only in the case of death, grave illness or if, in conscience, the general thinks he must resign.

The first case of resignation was that of Father Pedro Arrupe, who on Sept. 3, 1983, unable to exercise his office due to grave illness, presented his resignation to the general congregation and the latter accepted it.

His successor was Father Kolvenbach, elected Sept. 13, 1983. He will turn 80 in 2008.

As of Jan. 1, 2005, the Jesuits numbered 19,850, including 13,966 priests.

In the letter, Father Kolvenbach explains that he made his decision "after having obtained the consent of His Holiness Benedict XVI" and after hearing the opinions of the Society's representatives.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 8, 2006 01:41 AM (GMT)

I think this General Congregation has been called to coordinate the Provincials throughout the world at a time when this Anglo-American Crusade will be getting critical. We may well have had a nuclear detonation(s) by that time and a resultant declaration of total war against Islam. The Jesuit General is now in his eighties and, like Arrupe, may retire placing the Order in more aggressive hands. The timing of the General Congregation is critical and those Provincials of the Fourth Vow will be subject to leading of their immediate Assistants. Together they will decide what it best for the Order, as it appears the Third Temple will be able to finally be built after this Papal Crusade and the Reformation West is destroyed.

This will be one of the most important events of the 21st century.
I would choose Elias Lara; he fits.

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric

Fr Elias Royon Lara, SJ, current provincial for Spain for the second time. He was also master of novices, rector in Philosophy and provincial of Toledo, vice-rector of the University of Comillas in Spain, advisor to Fr Kolvenbach for Italy, Spain and Portugal and co-president of the Conference of Religious people in Spain. Well known and respected by the Spanish bishops and the Vatican. He is older than the others, but it might work in his favor if the election is controversial and a compromise candidate is sought.

Title: WINGTV is at it again.

<http://www.wingtv.net/thorn2006/joneszionism.html>

is the link of their screed.

I don't agree with Alex on ecumencialism, etc. but WINGTV seems to have a sick obsession with Jewish people. As for me, I will continue to expose evil Zionists, but I will make a distinction between good and evil Jewish people. WINGTV rarely makes that distinction and WINGTV refuses to talk about the Jesuits, Knights of Malta, Order of the Garter, the Bilderberg, Freemasonry, etc. who have more power than the Zionists. Israel is not even controlled by most of the Israelis, but by foreign interests and high level groups like High Level Freemasonry and the CFR. I see nothing from WINGTV about terrorism by Muslim radicals in the Sudan, Indonesia, Pakistan, Nigeria, and other other nations that are just as evil as any Zionist evils. Sudan has 2 million dead in 20 years. I won't call them a shill, but there rhethoric borders on anti-Jewish hatred. Eric is right that many folks in Patriot cricles try to intimidate people into have hatred for Jews, but this tactic isn't going to work for me. Plus here's evidence that Alex Jones isn't soft on Zionism:

The reason is allow anti-Zionist people write article like Kurt Nimmo. Paul Watson's book Order out of Choas criticizes Zionism. Also, Alex Jones has criticized Zionism plenty of times on his show. He even promoted anti-ADL Ted Pike who believe as WINGTV do about Jewish people. They talk about his censorship, but AFPN forum censorship tons more times than Alex will ever do. Both of them using censorship is wrong, but WINGTV should exposed APFN's censorship of articles as well. Why don't they do that? I think the reason is because both of them have intense hatred of Jewish people and Israel. Forget that Muslims and neo-Nazis colloborated for decades. Forget radical Muslim persecutions of people in Saudi Arabia, Sudan, Nigeria, Indonesia, Pakistan, Egypt plus Chinese persecution of dissident, Israel is to blame for almost all activities in the world. Not a word I see of them talking about the SMOM, Opus Dei, Order of the Garter, etc. They omit the Freemasonry connection to evil Zionism or how most of the PNAC signers aren't Jews, but are in the CFR. They omit the permanent Jewish presence in the Holy Land spreading thousands of years as well. I await their new anti-Jewish screed called "Alex Jones' Zionist Protection Racket," when some of what they say is bunch of deception. Unlike some people, they can respond to me if they wish. Anti-Semites against Jews are just as evil as anti-Semities against Arabs. Hey, I might write a long response to it. I'm not being subliminal, I'm being blatant. Please WINGTV, don't tell you made a distinction between good and evil Jewish people since you wrote a book called "Christkillers" blaming the Jews in general for the crucifixion of Christ when both Jewish people and Gentiles are both responsible. Me personally, I don't they're a shill group, but caught into that anti-Jewish phobia that many Germans felt before the Holocaust. I will not fall in WINGTV's trap of calling all Jewish people evil, Christkillers, etc. I will be no hypocrite at all. They support the Passion of Christ when anyone with sense knows that it's a psy-ops with the person playing Jesus with an all seeing eye, occult symbolism, porn stars playing roles, and unbiblical scenes. WINGTV can list events all they want, but Zionists were not involved in the Inquisition, assassination of European leaders, creation of many Secret orders like Freemasonry and S&B, the real start of WWI (a young member of the Black Hand did it, not a Zionist), the placing of Hitler into power, the creation of the United Nations, the funding of all Muslim radicals, the running of the Carlyle Group, the total involvement of 9/11, the slaughtering of people in China, the forming of the FED (CFR members and high level Freemasonry developed that not Zionists totally), the use of atomic weapons against the Japanese, the origin of the Vietnam War, the worldwide rape and child sex scandals by Halliburton and DynCorp, and other events that WINGTV isn't talking about. Not to mention that Zionists had almost no global power before the 1700's and the Zionists are controlled by high level Freemasonry and the CFR. For example, Wolfowitz and Kissinger are CFR members and Kissinger is rumored to be a member in the P-2 Lodge of Freemasonry. Most Israeli Prime Ministers are Freemasons and the Jesuits plus SMOM readily unite with Zionists leaders all of the time. Not to mention that the media may support Israel's right to exist, but they want Palestine to exist as well.

Plus the dynamic duo denies that Muslim radicals collaborated with Neo-Nazis and white supremacists before. I don't agree with the Talmud, the Hexagram as a logo, or any evil done by any Zionist, but I will not slander a whole race of people and I will not obsess with one group without exposing all evil. It is just as hypocritical to not cover one group than it is to refuse to cover another.

Mark Brewer - February 3, 2006 10:33 PM (GMT)

Anyone who is pro Muslim is a temporal co-adjutor wrether they know it or not. Islam is the greatest evil on the world today besides the Vatican. That is why these two entities work together so closely. The Vatican, using the U.S. government and European governments have installed Islamic dictatorships in formerly secular countries as a form of behavior modification. That is the real reason behind all of the recent wars in the Middle East. Conspiracy theories about Israel, oil, Halliburton and the "American Empire" are just cover stories for the fact that the Vatican wants people to be just as evil as the Black Pope is, and there is really no better way of causing that to occur than pushing Islam.

TruthSeeker24 - February 7, 2006 02:19 PM (GMT)

WINGTV is at it again, Mark Brewer, on their website, they link an article on http://www.sheddinglight.info/articles_on_...t_and_right.htm

This site is right on abortion, but it bashes Baptists and Protestants. The fact is the Baptists and Protestants bled for this nation before the Catholics even came here. The Protestant concepts of the rule of law were fixed in The Bill of Rights and Constitution when Romanism sponsored the bashing of the freedom of speech and freedom of religion by their Council of Trent and Syllabus of Errors bigoted documents. The Roman Catholic Church is a suppertisious faith which thrived on denying human rationality, while embracing mythological legends that even many people in other faiths don't agree with. This site that WINGTV support is anti-Jewish and blames the Jewish people in general without making a distinction between secular and conservative Jews (who are 100% Patriots in organizations like Jews for Morality and Rabbi Lapin). This anti-Jewish bigotry displayed by WINGTV is astounding. They don't cease to amaze me. They deny any connection between Muslim radicals and Nazis plus white supremacists, which are facts. They deny any link between racist Hispanic and racist black Supremacist groups with anti-Semitism as well. The sword have been thrown and we are in a spiritual war. It's between us Bible Believers and the Vatican/Muslim radical axis. They may have over 1 billion people, but with Almighty God, we're always a majority. Let us never follow the path of anti-Semitism, which was the wave of Hitler, the New Age, Movement, and racism.

That will surely lead to destruction as the Germans experienced after WWII. The liar who wrote the site forgotten that Jewish people made great contributions in this nation like JPFO fighting for the 2nd Amendment. The Vatican shed tons of Jewish blood in history and many Catholics have red hot hatred against Jewish people. My little brother even told me that Catholics who work with him at his job have hate for Jewish people, so this isn't some anti-Catholic fantasy. This is reality. We must never unite with ecumencialism. This person forgotten that the abortion industry is globally in America, Europe, Asia, Africa, etc. not done by Jews in General. It was the Roman Catholic Margaret Sanger that invented Planned Parenthood and most abortion mills are controlled by Gentiles not Jewish people. Any high level evil secular Jew involved in the godless so-called "progressive" movement are either involved with or controlled by the CFR, Freemasonry, the Jesuits, B'nai B'rith, ADL, or any high level political group. Feminism was created in modern times by the Gentiles. In the 1960's, Bretty Freidan was run by the CIA (created by Gentile Knights of Malta I might add) and she even admitted to this plus Makow. The Bolshevik Revolution was controlled by the Jesuits and Freemasons. Eric, Daryl Eherhart and other proved that Stalin was educated by the Jesuits and many Jesuits supported the Communism Revolution in overthrowing the Masonic Kerensky government. The Jewish Freemasons were one of the leaders, but those Jews hold alleigance to the Lodge higher than to individual Jewish people or authentic Judaism. Authentic, pro-Torah Judaism is antithetical to the Talmud, Kabbala, etc.

In fact, the Kabbala is traced to ancient Babylon and Egypt in the Mystery Religions, which was created by Gentiles not Jews. So, it's a Gentile conspiracy after all. Then Joanna lies about the theft of Palestine. First, Palestine is the word the Romans used to bash Israel. The word is from the Philistines, yet the Palestinians are from the Arabs who migrated there in the 600's A.D. Jewish people lived in the land for over 2,000 years from 70 A.D., Bar Kobbha, Byzantium, the Crusades, the Ottoman Empire, etc. The Jewish settlers paid money to live in the land (the money was given to Arab landowners), so it wasn't theft in general. Even Karl Marx wrote that thousands of Jewish people were in Jerusalem in the mid 1800's. Marx hated his own race and wrote a book called "A World Without Jews," so this wasn't a pro-Zionist person. Alito is not pro-Life to me, since he voted 3 times in favor of child killing. Roberts said that Roe v. Wade is the settled precedent.

These Catholics aren't even supporting the precepts of their own faith, yet alone the law. Protestants were anti-abortion for centuries. For example, Blackstone Commentaries condemned abortion and called life as beginning in conception. Many religious ministers who were Baptist and Protestant abhorred abortion in the 20th century. This liar talked about the Protestants being the enemy of Christianity. Your religion is the real enemy of Christianity by killing innocent people through the Inquisition, by addition unscriptural tradition like the Rosary and purgatory, and by demonizing real modern civilization. Real Christian groups existed before Romanism like the Celtic Church, early church leaders, etc. It's absolutely disgusting that racists like WINGTV deny Muslim terrorism in Nigeria, Sudan, Indonesia, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Morocco, Mauritania, etc. Yes, most Muslims aren't terrorists or trying to kill people, but some are. Have this woman read the Bible that Jesus is a Jew, salvation is of the Jews, we are not to curse Israel, Israel is the apple of God's eye, that there is a difference between the evil Masonic Jewish Zionists running Israel and the regular Jewish person on the street in Israel (who isn't involved in terrorism or oppression against Palestinians), that Jewish people suffered through the programs in Europe, that America and Europe have tons more sin than Israel will ever have, and that God will restore Israel fully after his coming? I don't know.

TruthSeeker24 - February 7, 2006 04:08 PM (GMT)

I've emailed her this very article and here's my response to her. I thought this woman was going strong, but she is the typical anti-Semite that's so common in the world. Enjoy.

QUOTE

Do some research into American history and you'll see that the Catholic colony (as in "pre-1776") was a Catholic colony, so in all likelihood, my ancestors were here before yours. But that's neither here nor there, just shows that you don't know your history.

I've done a lot of research thank you very much. I've researched American history for years and received an A on my American History course when I was in college, so I know my stuff. It is truly that Maryland was a Catholic colony, but many Catholics were restricted from voting (which was wrong) for the legitimate fear of many Catholics claiming canon law above the law of the land. I never said that no Catholics existed in America, but I did say that Protestant/Baptist influenced early America greatly. There's a difference and I'm not wrong. I know my history. For example, the Bill Of Rights and the Constitution was founded by many Baptists/Protestant precepts. For example, John Leland was a Baptist preachers who influenced the creation of the Bill of Rights. Presbyterian John Witherspoon was a friend of James Madison (Witherspoon was Madison's teacher), who authored the Bill of Rights as well. The British hero William Tyndale said that "Resistance to tyranny is obedience to God" and Thomas Jefferson copied that. Preachers like Pastor John Peter Gabriel Muhlenburg were on the battlefield inspiring people to fight in the Revolutionary War.

QUOTE

You call me "racist" for bringing up the fact that the abortion industry in American is almost completely controlled, supported, and run by Jews. Does bringing up a fact make one racist? Not all Jews are abortionists, and maybe not all Jews support abortion (especially of Jewish babies), but they do not expose the truth about the Talmud, which commands that Jews destroy us Gentiles. Maybe you should educate yourself about that too.

You know full well why I call you a racist. You are a racist, because you blame Jews in general for the crime of abortion and other evils in this nations. The fact is that most of abortion mills are runned by Gentiles, not Jews. Planned Parenthood, NARAL, and other abortion groups today are run by Gentiles. Yes, there are many secular Jews who abhor conservative values, but many conservatives Jews exist as well like the JPFO and Jews for Morality. You don't mention them at all. You bring up the typical Talmud argument. First, the Talmud was created in 500 A.D. by apostate anti-Torah Jews in Babylon. This was inspired by the Gentile occult Mystery Religions of old, not authentic Torah Judaism supported by the hero Moses. There's a difference. Many Jewish people do expose the Talmud like Jews against Zionism plus Messanic Jewish people. I oppose it since it's an unnecessary addition to the Holy Torah. Even if the Talmud blasphemes Jesus Christ and the Holy non-ever virgin Mary (which I've heard before), that doesn't mean that Jews in general are evil or that the essence of being a Jew is supporting the far left. I already know about Talmud, so don't be condonsening to me. You need to look at the Council of Trent and the Syllabus of Errors bashing public schools, bashing parts of modern civilization, bashing freedom of religion, bashing salvation by grace through faith, and other things.

QUOTE

And you certainly buy into all the lies about Muslims being the terrorists, so who is the real racist?

I've brought up the truth that most Muslims aren't terrorists, but a minority are. That is fact as expressed in their terrorism in Sudan, Indonesia, Pakistan, Saudi Arabia, Mauritania, and other places globally. That's real. That's isn't racism. Racism is me saying that Arabs or Muslims in general are linked to terrorism. I never said that or condoned that lie.

QUOTE

It's not Muslims aborting babies in the USA, my dear, it's Jews. That's a fact. Yet I pray for their conversion everyday, and I forgive them. They truly know not what they do, because they know not whom they serve (Satan), albeit, unknowingly (I'm referring to the abortionists and their supporters).

So what. Some Muslims are killing political and religious dissidents. Killing innocent people out of the womb is equally evil as killing evil people inside of the womb. Some Muslims are discriminating against females. Many Muslims are terrorizing people like the Communists in China, so this isn't a one creed deal. You keep on saying "the Jews" which is the sign of your anti-Semitism. Have you read the Bible mentioning that Jesus is a Jew and salvation is of the Jews. I guarantee you that the Messiah is a strong Jewish king that I will worship forever.

QUOTE

I'm sorry you're so misled, but I'll pray for you.

Joanna Francis

I'm so not misled. I'm sorry you embrace the "Jews are ruling the world" and "Jews are supporting abortion in general" mantra. I hope you wake up.

By TruthSeeker24 (Timothy)

Her final response:

The Jews themselves admit that the majority of Jews do support abortion. Yet it's not "racism" when they say it. Read the link to "Dr. Bernard Nathanson" in my article. He speaks of the high numbers of Jews in the slaughter business. Yet when a gentile says the same thing, it's racist. I'm not a racist. I love all God's children, and I pray for peace, an end to abortion, and for their conversion to Christ. My anger is probably coming from the fact that I have not, nor will probably ever, heal from my abortion. You obviously missed that part, because it's abstract. But millions of us women are grieving and suffering, and torturing ourselves, and even killing ourselves, in silence over this, and I say ENOUGH IS ENOUGH. Jews do dominate the abortion industry and that is a fact. They themselves admit it. Not all of them, I'm sure. But the majority do support abortion and that has led to so much misery and suffering, that unless you have experienced it, you can't imagine it. My pain pours through the article, that's all. Read the links to my article also, please. And then leave me alone, in peace.

God bless,
Joanna Francis

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 7, 2006 04:01 PM (GMT)

Dear Friends and Brethren,

My only addition to Barry's interview is that the Sabbateans led by Jacob Frank (Leibowicz) were and are occultists as are the top Jesuits. Further, Frank was a tool of the Jesuits in that he was baptized a Roman Catholic and sought to create anti-Jewish fury across Europe by reviving the canard that the Jews used Christian (Catholic) blood for Passover rituals. This very same libel was used by the Bavarian Nazi party controlled by the Jesuits and Munich Archbishop Michael Cardinal von Faulhaber.

Frank was a Masonic Jewish Zionist controlled by the Jesuits even as his modern day descendants---the Labor Zionists---are controlled by the Jesuits. The CFR is ruled by Rome and the Jesuits rule the Vatican. There are no "two factions" in opposition today. There are only individuals who oppose Satan's plot to seat the final pope, murdered and risen from the dead, in Solomon's rebuilt Temple in Jerusalem---the pope's international city intended to be so since Israel was admitted into the UN via the power of Cardinal Spellman.

Sincerely in Faith,

Australian on frontrunners list for Jesuits' top job

<http://www.cathnews.com/news/602/39.php>

The Australian Jesuits' Provincial, Fr Mark Raper, is on a US website's select list of four Jesuits described as frontrunners for election as successor to the Society's Superior-General Fr Peter Hans Kolvenbach.

Catholic News Agency reports that the General Assembly of the Jesuits will meet with Pope Benedict XVI at the Vatican on 22 April. In the letter convening the 35th General Congregation for 2008, Fr Kolvenbach announced his wish to retire. A new Superior General will therefore be elected in January 2008.

A "high ranked" Jesuit spoke to Catholic News Agency on condition of anonymity, and put forward the names and profiles of possible frontrunners for the election of the successor of Peter Hans Kolvenbach.

Fr Franco Imoda, SJ, former Rector of the Gregorian University. He is an Italian psychiatrist. He is well known in the Vatican, and would represent the Italian Jesuits and the educational sector of the Society.

Fr José Morales Orozco, SJ, current rector at the Iberoamerican university of Mexico. Former provincial of Mexico, and advisor to Kolvenbach for formation. He knows well the Society worldwide and is well appreciated internationally. He would represent Latin-America as well the Faith and Justice and educational sectors of the Society.

Fr Elias Royon Lara, SJ, current provincial for Spain for the second time. He was also master of novices, rector in Philosophy and provincial of Toledo, vice-rector of the University of Comillas in Spain, advisor to Fr Kolvenbach for Italy, Spain and Portugal and co-president of the Conference of Religious people in Spain. Well known and respected by the Spanish bishops and the Vatican. He is older than the others, but it might work in his favor if the election is controversial and a compromise candidate is sought.

Fr Mark Raper, SJ, current provincial of Australia. Former director of the Jesuit Refugee Service. He knows Rome and is well known there. He would represent the movement of Faith and Justice in the Society.

Catholic News Agency is run by Alejandro Bermudez, a Peruvian-born Catholic journalist who lives in the US. He also blogs under the title 'Catholic Outsider'.

I guess Lazarus (the beggar) missed the memo, didn't he?

I guess Jesus Himself missed the memo when He said that true Christians would be persecuted.

Subject: Birds of a feather flock together!

ROME, Feb 6 (Feb. 6) - Pop star Michael Jackson could sing some of the prayers written by the late Pope John Paul, the head of the music company coordinating the project said on Monday.

Father Giuseppe Moscati of the Edizioni Musicali Terzo Millennio, which specializes in church music and organizes musical events at the Vatican, said his company had the rights to 24 of Pope John Paul's prayers and wanted to put together a group of international artists to set them to music.

"We have been contacted by people close to Michael Jackson who have expressed interest and we are thinking about it," Moscati said.

He dismissed the recent controversy surrounding Jackson, who is living in Bahrain after a Californian court acquitted him of child molestation charges last June.

"He has been cleared of all charges," Moscati said.

"As a celebrity he is perhaps a bit remote from the teachings contained in the Pope's prayers. But if he can help us put together a group of singers that fulfil the criteria of the project then we'll study the proposal," he said.

Vatican deputy spokesman Father Ciro Benedettini said the Vatican was not involved in the initiative.

The Catholic Church has been rocked by a U.S. priestly sexual abuse scandal that began in Boston in 2002, when it emerged that priests who had abused children and teenagers were transferred from parish to parish instead of being defrocked. Jackson, originally from Indiana, rose to fame as a child with his brothers in the Jackson 5, and became one of the world's most successful singers. "Thriller," from 1982, was one of the biggest-selling albums of all time.

I wouldn't put it past The Order to use this person to create the conflicts between one side of people and their visible leadership and of course another. Also remember that just because a Jesuit is helping her this doesn't mean shes bad. Many Jesuits are unaware of the leadership 4th vow knowledge just the same as blue lodge and below in the Jesuits Freemasons do not know of the leaderships in 30-33 degrees ORDO AB CHAO. On the other hand The Order may have pounced on Cindy knowing she is strong willed and determined.

yes let's use some discretion and caution when throwing around the term, "temporal co-adjutor" for instance, saying "george washington was a temporal co-adjutor", and seemingly the only reasoning behind the article was because he died a roman catholic? :rolleyes:

Mark Brewer - February 4, 2006 01:33 AM (GMT)

George Washington was a temporal co-adjutor, not only because he converted to Catholicism, but also because he favored an authoritarian government and opposed the Bill of Rights. He also appointed Freemason Pierre Charles L'enfant to draw the occult blueprint for Washington DC.

Regarding Sheehan, this person is another stooge [like Michael Moore] who is leading the opposition the the Iraq war, which is falsely portrayed as a war waged against Islam by "Zionist neoconservatives". In reality, exactly the opposite is taking place. The war is being fought for Islam and the best way to agitate Muslims is to make them think that they are being attacked by Jews. Sheehan is also a practicing Catholic who is trying to mobilize other Catholics against the war. By opposing the war people support the Papacy and by supporting the war people support the Papacy. You cannot win in a Jesuit dialectic scheme. Remember the post I did about how the Vatican created the Iraq war? Now the Vatican is behind the opposition to the war!

I just had this feeling that she's a tool. I mean, she's in the news so much and everything. It wouldn't surprise me if she was being used.

dp9 - February 5, 2006 02:24 AM (GMT)

She is (a tool) now. Running for a government office!

Cindy was just an every day Mom who's son who had been killed in the war when she came down here to Crawford in August while President Bush was at the ranch. She just sat on a lawn chair on the little country road out to the ranch & said she wasn't moving until she gained audience with the President. Nobody bothered her for a day or two.

Then the press corps, bored silly playing cards in the community center in town & nothing to do except buy another cup of coffee at the Yellow Rose, got wind that there was a gal who came all the way from California to see the President and wasn't going to leave until she met with him. They went to talk to her, got her story, and boom! Instant celebrity. In two weeks Cindy had every liberal anti-war, anti-Bush, anti-

Republican, we-protest-everything group championing her cause and wanting her to champion theirs.

She had a pretty good case going, but she lost her credibility by her coarse language and by allowing extreme leftists into her inner circle. Mainstream USA couldn't handle that & dismissed her after a couple of months. Now she's seen as just another troublemaker.

Alexandra - February 7, 2006 01:25 AM (GMT)

I hear that those on the "left" are getting a little fed-up, too. They feel that she's attention-whoring.

Dungeon Vatican Rituals At Satan's Altar Was How Joanna, Born Into The Illuminati, Spent Her Childhood Days

Now free from the cult's chains, Joanna is warning America about the "deadly intentions" of the cult she once called her family.

By Greg Szymanski

<http://www.arcticbeacon.com/4-Feb-2006.html>

Joanna spent time as child in the dungeons of the Vatican, attending rituals of torture at the altar of the devil.

Joanna's story follows the same satanic pattern as the incredible story recently told by former Illuminist Svali, born into the Illuminati and who witnessed a four-year-old boy sacrificed at her underground Vatican induction ceremony at the age of 12.

Now Joanna of Florida comes forward, saying she was a "blood liner," born into the French House of the Illuminati, her exact placement in the worldwide cult being in the spiritual sector.

"I was born into a multigenerational family that one side was Masonic and on the other Illuminati. My family were members of the DAR, referred to as bluebloods," said Joanna in an extended conversation from her Florida home, having finally rid herself of the Illuminati influence.

"Most of my childhood was spent in training and grooming, and I attended rituals at the Vatican, in a sub basement, where I was used as an "oracle". "The militia I was involved with was connected to a Masonic group and my childhood was almost all training for the Illuminati and intense military type training for the militia. Extreme torture was used to form what is known as alters, with amnesia barriers that kept me from knowing that I was a slave for these cults.

"My everyday persona was typical upper class suburbia. I was a model for a time and to all appearances, my husband and I were known as sporadic jetsetters. While I traveled around the world as a team leader for a group that monitored Vatican moles, we had our own crew of trainers and programmers when we detected a problem with one of our own.

Anna said her specific Illuminati-family job was as a channel, psychic, and tarot reader, as she moved between both of her worlds without detection of her cult's sinister motives.

"I moved between both worlds relatively smoothly, although my job as a team leader was not on a daily or even weekly basis, so that I was able to fulfill my new age role under the spiritual sector Illuminati," said Joanna. "I attended think tanks that decided how best to meet the requirements for a New World Order, dealing with the issues of religion and new age philosophy."

Specifically, Anna said her role within the religious sector had to do with an extremely devious Illuminati ploy, creating a false Christianity leading to mass genocide.

"My huge area of concern, is an extremely deceptive ploy by both the illuminati, and the core of Vatican cult members, to unite all people under a false Christianity, that will give reason for genocide," said Joanna, "Think about people like Ann Coulter who make statements, like, war is necessary, go in and destroy their leaders and convert everyone to Christianity.

"I call the New World Order the fourth Reich, where anti-Semitic thinking becomes acceptable under the guise of 'saving' people in the Middle East. People will also look at all the Jewish power leaders that conspiracies point to, not realizing that not only are they not practicing Jews, but that they are not the puppet masters.

"Instead, one needs to look at the old Church of Rome, which became a so called Catholic structure, with ancient powerful bloodlines, such as the Borgia's and the De Medici's. The Protocols of Zion are also blamed on the Jews, but in actuality it is this Vatican core which includes the Jesuits.

"The mask of Christianity, is just that, a mask, there are many charismatic movements

I attended and many think tanks where illuminati members planned how religion and the new age movement would be used to create a one religion, under a false Christianity, There are also many evangelist that are Illuminati, as well as new age leaders."

Asked whether she was inducted into the Illuminati like Svali, who had to witness at age 12 a child sacrificed in the Vatican sub-basement, Joanna said her ritual differed, saying "I was promised to the cult before my birth and continuously throughout my life" with Vatican rituals being only a part of her training.

"The message I feel that is important to convey, is on the illuminati/Vatican connection, with an agenda of a unified false religion under the guise of Christianity to cover genocide," said Joanna.

"Instead of humankind appreciating diversity, in religion and culture, one will be led to believe that other religions are the enemy, as well as the cultures and people that practice them.

Finally, wanting to leave the evil clutches of the Illuminati, Joanna said basically deprogrammed herself, convincing herself that good always triumphs over evil.

"Through years of memory work, getting a good grasp of my programming, tearing down amnesia barriers and remembering codes given to each alter who had a cult job, I finally broke free," said Joanna, who is now trying to alert how Americans that the Illuminati plans to destroy America from within.

In controversial author, Eric Phelps book, Vatican Assassins, he delves into much of what Anna experienced in real life, in a well-researched historical account showing in astonishing detail that the true diabolical power resides in the Vatican.

Phelps, one of the most thorough Vatican/Illuminati researchers, also brings to the table a number of priceless old documents and historical manuscripts, hidden from the average reader, documenting the true evil existing in Rome.

Others like Phelps have also commented on the diabolical role of the Vatican as well as the ultimate religious henchmen, the Jesuits, include:

"No political event or circumstance can be evaluated without the knowledge of the Vatican's part in it. And no significant world situation exists in which the Vatican does not play an important explicit or implicit role," said Avro Manhattan, Protestant Knight of Malta and English historian in a 1960 book, "The Vatican And World Politics."

"The Jesuits offer the world at large a system of theology by which every law, Divine and human, may be broken with impunity, and by which the very Bulls of Popes may be defied. It is a ghastly religion; it is a religion to be abhorred by all honest and honorable men," said M. F. Cusack, "Converted Nun of Kenmare, The Black Pope".

"The Jesuits laugh at us; and during their hilarity, the rattlesnake is coiled at our feet, climbing to strike us in the heart," said Edwin A. Sherman, American Shriner/ Freemason in "The Engineer Corps Of Hell".

What will become of Longlea?

Liz Mitchell

Monday, February 6, 2006

For 11 years, Longlea has been zoned for a 1,000-home Planned Unit Development that has yet to come to fruition. (Staff Photo, Liz Mitchell)

Overlooking the meandering Hazel River and bordered by the Blue Ridge Mountains, the Longlea manor house sits on a hill on 882 acres of open space west of Culpeper.

For 11 years the site has been zoned for a 1,000-home Planned Unit Development that has yet to come to fruition. In the past decade, three developers have walked away from their contracts because they couldn't finance the costly project. Now, plans are moving forward, but Longlea's fate remains uncertain.

In the meantime, the property continues to be used as a religious retreat center by Opus Dei, a Catholic Church organization, whose business entity, Wyoming House, manages the site it acquired in 2000.

Two years ago, Wyoming House hired Greg Hamm, a development consultant with Reston Group, to study the land and work on planning its future.

While the development plans stalled in September - the owner's requested to withdraw their application for a wastewater treatment plant - Hamm said he intends to address county supervisors before April.

After years of study and dialogue with county planners, though, Hamm said the development will closely resemble its original zoning, crafted in part by John Fisher in the mid '80s. The only difference could be fewer homes than its original plan.

“We decided we are not going to change anything,” Hamm said. “We’ll be presenting a plan soon to the county and the community, and our preference would be to present a plan that has less density on it and has a conservation area behind the manor house and is very sensitive to the views along 522, as well as to those of our other neighbors who are immediately adjacent to Longlea.”

Background

Fisher purchased Longlea in the 1960s for the American Security Council, which moved its headquarters from Chicago to Culpeper to be closer to Washington, D.C., where it hoped to influence national policies.

Fisher, a former FBI special agent, was a Sears and Roebuck executive and corporate security committee chairman at the time and was asked to lead the effort.

With Longlea as its headquarters, the council held seminars at the retreat with government leaders. There they discussed the future of national security.

The organization’s strategy came to be known as “peace through strength,” which was adopted and used by President Ronald Reagan to win the Cold War.

When the war ended, financial support dwindled from its 350,000 members. ASC was in need of an alternate funding source, which is when Longlea went up for sale.

A husband and wife who attended a retreat conducted by Opus Dei realized it did not have a permanent headquarters and went on a mission to buy property for the organization.

In 2000, Longlea was purchased for $7.4 million and given to Wyoming House.

Now, it’s worth about $20 million and its fate is uncertain.

Future sale?

While Wyoming House owns the property and uses it for retreats almost every weekend, Hamm said it is possible the organization might sell the property.

“I think they are right now exploring their options with respect to a permanent facility and its undecided whether that would be in Culpeper or somewhere closer to Northern Virginia,” Hamm said. “The key point is that ultimately, Wyoming House would like a newly constructed high quality retreat facility in the greater Washington area.”

Since the retreats are primarily done in silence, Hamm said Wyoming House would like a similar setting if it did leave. However, development plans are important to the organization if the event remains permanently.

Hamm said the organization is ensuring that “the partial development of Longlea is conducive to the bucolic retreat setting that they want to be fully able to enjoy. So Wyoming House is really the single most impacted neighbor to the development.”

Planning ahead

While the property is zoned for 1,000 homes, a golf course, conference center and utilities, Hamm said Wyoming House is considering reducing the density by half.

Current zoning allows 75 homes to be built on the 125 acres behind the manor house, which contains the property’s most breathtaking views.

According to Fisher, the original zoning allowed for 50 percent of Longlea to remain open space.

To maintain its natural beauty, Hamm said Wyoming House has agreed to place a covenant on the land between the manor’s rear terrace and the Blue Ridge Mountains. However, Hamm said the covenant could include a golf course, which he said he is studying to assess how it could be environmentally friendly to the Hazel River.

With two state-issued permits from the Department of Environmental Quality, Wyoming House is able to operate a 15,000-gallons-per-day wastewater treatment facility, which now exists on the property, as well as a 450,000-gpd facility. County supervisors have not approved the larger facility yet and since Wyoming House withdrew its application for the plant, they must start the process again with the Planning Commission.

Some residents are concerned the larger facility would be detrimental to the Hazel River, however Fisher said the development plans include 22 ponds, which would serve as runoff buffers. Also, any effluent from the wastewater treatment plant would be cleaner than water currently in the river, Fisher said.

Hamm also said they are considering using excess effluent as a fertilizer spray for the golf course, rather than it running into the river.

While the planning continues, Hamm said he has a team working on studying the land from the groundwater up. Recently they assessed how development would impact the land by taking global positioning satellite photographs of the site and then superimposing the housing units.

“They’ve done a lot of work, taken photographs from neighboring properties to see where development could be less visible, reduced the concept plan to 500 homes and identified areas for permanent protection,” Planning Director John Egertson said. “The planning aspect is absolutely headed in the right direction. They are doing a good job of being more respectful of the sight and taking into account what the neighbors have told them.”

However Egertson said the county is now in the water and sewer business and does not want private wastewater treatment plants operating in the county.

“We are interested in owning and operating anything that is constructed up there,” he said.

As Hamm works with Wyoming House to develop a revised land use plan to present to the county, he said he would continue to meet with adjacent neighbors and concerned residents to create a project that is appealing to the county and appropriate for Wyoming House.

“We’ve been meeting with citizens,” Hamm said. “We will continue that and have a very healthy dialogue and open dialogue about the final plan that we’ll be submitting and preparing.”

From Cold War to community

1955: American Security Council formed to focus on changing a national strategy in Cold War defense.

1958: Institute for American Strategy formed, which became known as the American Security Council Foundation. It focused on educational programs about challenges facing U.S. foreign policy, national security and the global economy.

1965: ASC moved its headquarters from Chicago to Culpeper County in the Boston area [not far from the Order's Boston College] where Longlea now sits on Freedom Way.

1966: Originally known as the Freedom Studies Center, seminars began to be held at the Congressional Conference Center, which is now the Longlea manor house.

1969: The foundation started a National Security Studies program as part of the Pentagon Education Program, which brought communism into the classroom.

1977: Georgetown University used Longlea as an off-campus site for its National Security Studies program and its masters degree program in International Security Affairs.

1978: The foundation adopted its national strategy for “Peace through strength,” which [SMOM] President Ronald Reagan also adopted to win the Cold War.

Mid '80s: John Fisher worked with Culpeper County Planners to develop a concept plan for the 1,000-home Planned Unit Development.

1994: Culpeper County approved the zoning.

2000: Longlea was purchased and given to Wyoming House to use for religious retreats.

2003: Greg Hamm hired as a consultant to plan the development.

2005: Wyoming House withdrew its application for a wastewater treatment plant.

2006: Wyoming House plans on appearing before county planners by April.

Title: House Majority leader John Boehner

Description: Eric Phelps

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 7, 2006 01:08 AM (GMT)

Dear Friends,

It appears to me that a Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor has once again been placed in another key position of power here in the Pope's "Holy Roman" Fourteenth Amendment American Empire. He is House Majority leader and Roman Catholic John Boehner. Boehner was educated by the Jesuits of Xavier University in Cincinnati, Ohio. He was interviewed on Fox News last night with very "dead" eyes. He gazed at the interviewer and rarely blinked.

This makes two Jesuit Coadjutors added to the list of national traitors now running the Order's CFR-controlled Bush Congress, Bush Supreme Court and Bush White House. The other coadjutor is the recent Supreme Court appointee Samuel Alito. This makes three members of the Court who are Opus Dei, they being Clarence Thomas (who loves Thomas Aquinas), Anthony Scalia (whose son is a priest) and, yes, Samuel Alito. Between Opus Dei and the CFR (Ruth Bader Ginsburg), the Order at Georgetown has total control of the court, now to move into a right-wing fascist direction. The "Court" will concentrate more power into the hands of the "Commander-in-chief" as this Third Thirty Years' unfolds.

Let us not forget that Franco was aided in his bloody rise to absolute power by Opus Dei; that Chilean Dictator and Nazi protector Augusto Pinochet's secretary was Opus Dei; and that America's greatest traitor---one of the secret links between the Black Pope's NSA, CIA, FBI and KGB---was FBI "counterintelligence" agent and admirer of the traitorous SMOM James Jesus Angleton----Robert Philip Hanssen.

Updated and enlarged February 6, 2006 (this article replaces "Bible Societies and Rome" which was first published in Sept. 17, 1996, and "The United Bible Societies and Rome," which was first published in September 18, 1997) (David Cloud, Fundamental Baptist Information Service, P.O. Nearly 80 percent of the world's Bibles are distributed through the United Bible Societies, an international umbrella organization that was formed in 1946 and that presently coordinates the work of most of the world's Bible societies. As of 2004, there were 142 member societies participating in the United Bible Societies, including the British & Foreign Bible Society, the American Bible Society, and the Canadian Bible Society. In 2003 the member societies of the UBS distributed more than 430 million Bibles, New Testaments, and Scripture portions, including 21.4 million Bibles and 14.4 million New Testaments. As of 2001, the United Bible Societies were involved in translation work in 672 different languages.

THE STRANGE HISTORY OF THE BIBLE SOCIETIES

Consider the strange history of the first Bible Society, which was formed in 1804 in England and named the British & Foreign Bible Society (BFBS). It was established on March 7, 1804, at London Tavern (The History of Christianity, Lion Publishing, 1977, p. 558). The BFBS, which was a founding member of the UBS in 1946, was deeply leavened with heresy from the beginning. Consider a few well-documented facts regarding this group's early history:

The British & Foreign Bible Society cooperated with Roman Catholic priests from its earliest days. "Roman Catholics also enjoyed the support of the BFBS. Soon after its founding, the BFBS sent funds to Bishop Michael Wittmann [Roman Catholic] of Regensburg. When the Bavarian priest, Johannes Gossner, prepared a German translation of the New Testament, he too was supported by the BFBS. The main Catholic agent of the BFBS was, however, Leander van Ess, a priest and professor of [Catholic] theology at Marburg" (Lions' History of Christianity, p. 558). We should note that the American Bible Society also invited Roman Catholic leaders to participate in its founding in 1816. This was reported in "The Bible Societies," Trinitarian Bible Society Quarterly Record, Jan.-Mar., 1979, pp. 13-14.

The BFBS also invited Unitarian participation in its early days. Most of the readers of this study will know that Unitarians, while claiming to be Christian, have no right to be called such. They deny the very Triune God of the Scriptures, the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit. They scoff at Christ's full Deity, vehemently denying that our Lord was very God and very Man. They also deny the infallibility of Holy Scripture, the substitutionary atonement of Christ, etc. How, then, can they possibly be considered Christians? And yet, the British & Foreign Bible Society brought these heretics into its membership upon its founding at the turn of the 19th century.

This shameful history is given briefly from firsthand accounts and historical documents quoted from the files of the Trinitarian Bible Society in London. "When the constitution of the British and Foreign Bible Society was first formulated, it was understandably not foreseen that the question of Unitarianism would have much relevance to the society's work. Before long, however, UNITARIANS GAINED SUBSTANTIAL INFLUENCE UPON THE AFFAIRS OF THE BIBLE SOCIETY, PARTICULARLY IN EUROPE, WHERE SOME AUXILIARY SOCIETIES WERE RUN ALMOST EXCLUSIVELY BY PERSONS OF UNITARIAN BELIEFS" (Andrew Brown, The Word of God Among All Nations, p. 12).

It was the failure to secure a provision in the society's constitution to remove the Unitarian heretics which led to the formation of a separate organization, the Trinitarian Bible Society. "The Trinitarian Bible Society was founded in 1831 after a period of controversy among supporters of the British and Foreign Bible Society regarding the constitution and policy of that Society. Deep concern was expressed over the lack of a Scriptural doctrinal basis sufficiently explicit to ensure that 'Unitarians' denying the Deity of the Lord Jesus Christ could not be admitted to membership or hold office in the Society. A motion recommending the adoption of such a basis was the subject of a prolonged and heated debate in Exeter Hall in the Strand, London, at the Annual Meeting. THE MOTION WAS REJECTED BY A LARGE MAJORITY ... When it became clear that there was no prospect of bringing this about [the changing of the BFBS's unscriptural policies], the 'Provisional Committee' convened a meeting to establish a Bible Society on Scriptural principles" (Trinitarian Bible Society Quarterly Record, No. 475, April-June, 1981, p. 3). Thus the Trinitarian Bible Society's birth in 1831 was a testimony to the apostasy of the British & Foreign Bible Society, a founding member of the United Bible Societies.

The BFBS did not even allow public prayer or Bible quotations in its meetings! The history of the British and Foreign Bible Society becomes even stranger. One compromise leads to another, as the Bible so solemnly warns. "There arose a question over the desirability of offering up prayer to God at meetings of the society, concerning which there was no provision in the society's constitution. Lack of such provision would perhaps not have led to serious disagreement were it not for the simultaneous problem about Unitarians. There was a feeling that public prayer to God, offered in the name of Christ, was being avoided for fear of giving offence to Unitarian members. ... It was to be expected that, with these emotive issues occupying the minds of many people, the Anniversary Meeting would run into stormy weather. The meeting took place on Wednesday, May 4th, 1831, at the newly built Exeter Hall in the Strand. ... On this occasion the annual report included a recommendation that oral prayer should not be introduced at meetings of the society, but made no explicit reference to the problem about Unitarians. ... At the conclusion of the seconder's speech, a degree of excitement seemed to pervade the Meeting ... J.E. Gordon immediately advanced from the northern end of the platform, and took his place on the right of the chair, amidst loud and continued applause. Several minutes passed before order was restored, and then Gordon spoke: 'If, instead of thus clapping your hands, you would lift up your hands to the throne of grace, I must take the liberty of saying, you would perform an act more becoming a Christian Society. ... The first portion which I seek to establish is, that the British and Foreign Bible Society is preeminently a religious and Christian Institution, and that no person rejecting the doctrine of the triune Jehovah. ...' -- interrupted by thunders of applause, which lasted several minutes, BUT WHICH WERE IMMEDIATELY REPLIED TO BY MOST DETERMINED HISSING FROM VARIOUS PARTS OF THE MEETING. When order was restored, Gordon resumed his speech: '... That no person rejecting the doctrine of the triune Jehovah can be considered a member of a Christian institution. Thirdly, that in conformity with this principle, the expression denominations of Christians in the Ninth General Law of the Society, be distinctly understood to include such denominations of Christians only as profess their belief in the doctrine of the Holy Trinity.' He went on to say that he would not at present raise the question of opening meetings with prayer, as this would be an utter waste of time if the proposition about non-Trinitarians was not at first accepted. When he sought to justify his arguments by quoting from Scripture, HE WAS MET BY REPEATED INTERRUPTIONS AND HECKLING FROM PART OF THE AUDIENCE. THE CHAIRMAN, LORD BEXLEY, SIDED WITH THE INTERRUPTERS AND RESTRAINED GORDON FROM CITING SCRIPTURE, ON THE GROUNDS THAT TO COMMENT

ON THE SCRIPTURE WAS 'TO GO AGAINST THE PRINCIPLE OF THE INSTITUTION.' A general uproar ensued which the Rev. William Howels vainly tried to calm ... Gordon was seconded by the Rev. George Washington Philips ... Amid scenes of wild disorder, one speaker after another failed to make themselves heard. ... AT THE END OF THE MEETING, WHICH LASTED FIVE AND A HALF HOURS, GORDON'S PROPOSALS WERE VOTED ON BY A SHOW OF HANDS, AND REJECTED BY A MAJORITY ESTIMATED AT 6 TO 1 (Brown, The Word of God Among All Nations, pp. 12-16, quoting The Record, May 5th, 1831).

THE UNITED BIBLE SOCIETIES AND ROME

Today the United Bible Societies are fully committed to an unholy ecumenism. Hundreds of examples could be given to illustrate this. The UBS is "in effect the Bible society wing of the World Council of Churches" (Andrew Brown, The Word of God Among All Nations, p. 124). It matters not that the major Protestant denominations today are filled with theological modernism. It matters not that the Roman Catholic Church preaches a false gospel that leads multitudes to Hell. It matters not that Roman Catholicism is filled with all sorts of doctrinal error. The UBS intends to "serve all churches" no matter what they believe and no matter what the Word of God says about separation from error!

The UBS ecumenical program is fueled by its policy of not asking doctrinal questions. This was outlined in a booklet published by the American Bible Society in 1970: "Referring to the interdenominational character of the Bible societies, the article states that 'their sole concern is to recruit every believer, WHATEVER HIS PRIVATE CREED MAY BE,' to join in the urgent task of proclaiming the Gospel in every tongue. ... The Societies 'endeavor to serve the whole Church of Christ IRRESPECTIVE OF denominational divisions and CREEDAL [DOCTRINAL] DISTINCTIONS'" (Trinitarian Bible Society Quarterly Record, Jan.-Mar. 1979, pp. 13-14). The Bible Societies have thus acknowledged that they are unconcerned about doctrinal beliefs. How strange it is that those who publish the Bible are unconcerned about its teachings!

CONSIDER SOME EXAMPLES OF THE UNITED BIBLE SOCIETIES' RELATIONSHIP WITH THE ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH. In most countries, you will find the Bible societies in the very center of any ecumenical adventure, especially in national councils and interdenominational fellowships. The following examples could be greatly multiplied:

(1) "[The American Bible Society meeting was] one of the most widely representative Christian gatherings in the U.S.A., or possibly in the entire world, and included a Roman Catholic archbishop as speaker and one panel had a Seventh-day Adventist. There were representatives from 46 different denominations, including Roman Catholic, Greek Orthodox, and even a Christian Scientist" (Plains Baptist Challenger, Sept. 1982).

(2) Consider the example of Michael Ramsey. Ramsey, former Archbishop of Canterbury. He was a president of the United Bible Societies as well as one of the presidents of the World Council of Churches. Ramsey denied the Virgin Birth of Christ, and said, "Heaven is not a place for Christians only. ... I expect to see many present day atheists there" (Daily Mail, London, Feb. 10, 1961). Ramsey was a leader in the back-to-Rome movement in the Church of England. In 1966, Ramsey made a visit to the Pope in an effort to rebuild bridges to Rome. Apart from Ramsey's predecessor, Geoffrey Fisher, no Archbishop of Canterbury had called on a Pope since 1397, long before Henry VIII broke with Rome. Ramsey addressed the Pope as, "Your Holiness, dear brother in Christ," and said, "It is only as the world sees us Christians growing visibly in unity that it will accept through us the divine message of peace." Pope Paul described the meeting as a rebuilding of "a bridge that for centuries had lain fallen between the Church of Rome and Canterbury; a bridge of respect, of esteem and charity." The two men sealed the symbolic reconciliation of the denominations by a "kiss of peace"-actually an embrace. The Anglican bishops and clergy of Canterbury's retinue bowed to kiss the Pope's ring (Don Stanton, Mystery Babylon, Secunderabad: Maranatha Revival Crusade, April 1981). The following year, 1967, Ramsey visited the United States. At a service in Little Rock, Arkansas, he mentioned his meeting with the Pope and described it in this way: "The Pope and I walked arm in arm out in St. Peter's Basilica and there we bowed and dedicated ourselves in a common dedication, the task of unifying the church. We did not mean we were going to unify the Anglican Church and the Catholic Church only, but we meant we were going to unify all Christendom and all the churches of the world. By unifying them, we did not mean just establishing diplomatic recognition among denominations, but we were going to unify all of them into one church. That is the task that is before us today, to unify all Christendom into the Holy Catholic Church" (quoted by M.L. Moser, Jr., Ecumenicalism under the Spotlight, Challenge Press, pp. 22-23). Ramsey's unscriptural ecumenical activities illustrate the things that are happening in the United Bible Societies.

(3) "The work of joint Bible translation and distribution between Protestants and Catholics was encouraged by the Driebergen conference of Bible societies in June 1964, which was attended also by Roman Catholics. The chief recommendations of the conference were: to prepare a 'common text' of the Bible in the original languages, acceptable to all Churches, including Roman Catholics; and to explore the possibility of preparing a 'common translation' in certain languages, which could be used by Protestants and Roman Catholics alike. It was further recommended that the Bible societies should consider translating and publishing the Apocrypha when Churches specifically requested it" (Andrew Brown, The Word of God among All Nations, p. 122).

(4) "One result of Vatican II was the setting up in 1966 of the Vatican Office for Common Bible Work ... An example of the new spirit of co-operation was soon found, in the revision of the Bible in Swahili. It was reported in 1966 that the Roman Catholic Tanganyika Episcopal Conference had reached agreement with the British and Foreign Bible Society on the use of the text of the Union Version of 1952, with the understanding that the Apocrypha would be included as well as selected notes and comments from the Jerusalem Bible [a Roman Catholic Version]. ... The BFBS thus again abandoned its former policy of excluding the Apocrypha, and notes and comments" (The Bible Translator, United Bible Societies, April 1966; The Word of God among All Nations, pp. 123-124).

(5) The American Bible Societies' Today's English Version, which was published in 1966, gained almost immediate acceptance by the Roman Catholic Church. "The best-selling Bible translation in history has been cleared for use by Catholics as well as Protestants. ... The translation has received the official approval or imprimatur, of Cardinal Richard Cushing, the Catholic archbishop of Boston. It was Cardinal Cushing who earlier gave an imprimatur to the Protestant-sponsored Revised Standard Version. Protestant and Catholic scholars in recent years have reached substantial agreement on the translation of the Bible into English, and CARDINAL CUSHING'S EXPERT CONSULTANTS DID NOT SEEK A SINGLE CHANGE IN THE TEXT OF THE TEV BEFORE APPROVING IT FOR CATHOLIC USE" (Louis Cassels, United Press International).

(6) "In 1969 another development took place, with the formation of the World Catholic Federation for the Biblical Apostolate. The object of this organization was to co-ordinate the Bible translation work of Catholic scholars and facilitate their co-operation with the United Bible Societies" (Brown, The Word of God among All Nations, p. 124).

(7) "The Secretary of the Italian Bible Society reported that in 1975 Pope Paul VI distributed during his personal audiences 300,000 copies of the Epistle of James, specially prepared by the United Bible Societies and the World Catholic Federation for the Biblical Apostolate" (Trinitarian Bible Society Quarterly Record, Jul.-Sep. 1978, pp. 6-8).

(8) It was in 1976 that the complete "common language" New Testament was published in Italian as a joint project of the United Bible Societies and a Catholic group with explicit Vatican approval.

(9) 1977 witnessed a Europe-wide Bible society conference attended by officials representing Catholic and Orthodox churches: "Delegates from the whole of Europe met at the Ludwigshafen conference to discuss the future of the United Bible Societies. Monsignor Ablondi, Bishop of Livorno, Professor Tavares of the Catholic University of Lisbon, and representatives of the Greek Serbian and Rumanian Orthodox Churches, were present as full members of the assembly" (The Biblical Apostolate, VIII/2/78; quoted in Trinitarian Bible Society Quarterly Record, Jul.-Sep. 1978, pp. 6-8).

(10) In 1979, the head of the American Bible Society's translation department, Eugene Nida, said the burgeoning participation of Roman Catholics in its work was a "very important development" (Calvary Contender, Sept. 1, 1992). Also in 1979, United Bible Societies leaders attending a Catholic conference in Mexico pledged closer cooperation with Rome: "The [Catholic] Third General Conference of the Latin American Episcopacy took place at Puebla, in Mexico, and was opened by Pope John Paul II. At the conference, representatives of the United Bible Societies participated in an ecumenical religious service, and also provided a Bible information stand and closely co-operated with the World Catholic Federation for the Biblical Apostolate. Regarding this co-operation, we are told: 'It signifies an official recognition of the services being offered by the UBS and announces the beginning of a new era and A NEW SPIRIT OF COLLABORATION at the service of God's Word'(Word-Event, United Bible Societies, No. 36, p. 27).

(11) By 1981, over 500,000 copies of the Good News Bible, with the Apocryphal Books added, had been published and distributed by the American Bible Society (Foundation, Jul.-Aug. 1981).

(12) 1986 was a high water mark in relations between the UBS and Rome. That was the year the UBS presented a copy of the new Italian interconfessional Bible to the Pope: "The Italian Bible Society recently presented Pope John Paul II with a copy of a new Italian interconfessional Bible in a ceremony at the Vatican. Italian President Francesco Cossaga has also received a copy in the presidential palace. Both Protestants and Catholics co-operated in translating the new Bible, which is the result of 7 years' work. It has been published jointly by the Italian Bible Society and a Salesian publishing firm. ... The presentation of the Bible to Pope John Paul II was made by Luca Bertalot, the young grandson of the Italian Bible Society's general secretary Revd Dr. Renzo Bertalot. United Bible Societies was represented by consultant to the UBS, Revd Dr Laton E. Holmgren. Addressing the Pope, Dr. Holmgren said, 'For the first time in four centuries the Bible is a bond of unity rather than a source of division. Despite differences of tradition, dedicated people are producing more and more common Bibles which are being used in scores of lands and languages.' Pope John Paul replied, 'Accept the warmest expression of my grateful appreciation for the result of your efforts. The task which you have undertaken is an important moment of collaboration. I ardently desire that it should not pass in vain, but that it truly produce a fertile rediscovery of our common base of origin. In returning to it, the entire Church cannot fail to benefit in rejuvenation, mutual cohesion and effective testimony to the world. I invoke the Lord's blessing upon all of you and upon your work.' The edition presented to the Pope carries the imprimatur (official Catholic approval) of the Bishop of Turin. ... Also present at the Vatican ceremony was Bishop Alberto Ablondi of Livorno, Italy, who is a member of the United Bible Societies General Committee and president of the World Catholic Federation for the Biblical Apostolate. Members of the Bible translation team attended with him ("Pope Receives New Bible," Word in Action, British and Foreign Bible Society, Spring 1986, No. 49, p. 4).

(13) In the May 1996 issue of the American Bible Society Record, a biographical sketch appears of "Father" Robert J. Robbins, vice chairman of the ABS church relations and volunteer activities committees. The Record says that Robbins, a Catholic priest, "helps guide the American Bible Society in working with its vital network of church supporters and volunteers." The article continues, "An ABS Board member since 1991, Father Robbins also serves on the Committee on Trustees and on the Finance/Administration and Executive committees." In December 2000, the American Bible Society mailed a letter written by Robbins to Roman Catholics in which Robbins urged fellow Catholics to support the ABS as a response to Pope John Paul II's plea for "all baptized persons to participate in mission activity through the precious offering of prayers and suffering and with material aid."

(14) The UBS-Rome connection was further demonstrated during the Pope's 1996 visit to the United States. The following is from the American Bible Society's 1996-97 Catalog of Scripture Resources: "When Pope John Paul II visited the United States last autumn, ABS was on hand to help celebrate. Over half a million specially produced commemorative editions of the Gospel of John in the Contemporary English Version were distributed at local churches and various sites where the Pope conducted Mass ... As the highlight of the Bible Society's celebration, ABS President Dr. Eugene Habecker PRESENTED THE POPE WITH A WHITE, LEATHER-BOUND CONTEMPORARY ENGLISH VERSION BIBLE and a commemorative Gospel of John at St. Joseph's Seminary in Yonkers, New York. The Contemporary English Version is now the translation used in the Lectionary for Masses with Children. An upcoming CEV BIBLE WITH DEUTEROCANONICALS AND APOCRYPHA IN TRADITIONAL CATHOLIC ORDER is scheduled for publication in the spring of 1997" (American Bible Society's 1996-97 Catalog of Scripture Resources, p. 13).

(15) By 1997, 174 of the UBS translation projects were joint endeavors with the Roman Catholic Church.

(16) In February 1999, the National Bible Society of Ireland published a Bible study by Catholic priest Pat Collins entitled Seeking with Š the Father.

(17) In early June 1999, the translators of the new interconfessional Polish Bible were presented to Pope John Paul II at a special ecumenical service in Drohiczyn, Poland. On May 31, 1999, the Pope mentioned the new translation while speaking at the 46th Eucharistic Congress in Wroclaw, Poland. He praised the ecumenical spirit of the Bible societies and said that once Christians are committed to the path of ecumenism there is no turning back.

(18) In December 2000, the Austrian Bible Society co-produced a six-hour radio program entitled Long Night with the Bible, which featured Roman Catholic priest Wolfgang Schwartz, Jewish rabbi Chaim Eisenberg, and Lutheran Michael Bunker.

(19) In 2001, the Houston, Texas, office of the American Bible Society honored Catholic Bishop Joseph Fiorenza, president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, at a Leadership Awards Luncheon.

(20) In 2002 Pope John Paul II received 70 representatives of the United Bible Societies and Bible Societies of Europe and the Middle East and commended them for their ecumenical approach to Bible translation. "Commenting on the occasion, David Bedford, the UBS Head of Global Development, said that the Papal audience -- and the Pope's affirmation of the Bible Societies' mission -- had touched him deeply" (TBS Quarterly Record, Jan.-Mar. 2003).

(21) In July 2002 the United Bible Societies opened a joint exhibition in Rome with the Vatican Library, which traced the history of the printed Bible and its impact on culture and people. The grand opening was attended by Monsignor Raffaele Farina, Director of the Vatican Library, and UBS General Secretary Fergus Macdonald. One thing that was missing from this exhibit, of course, was the documentation of Rome's vicious inquisition and her millennia-long attempt to keep the Bible out of the hands of the common people.

(22) In April 2005, a representative from the United Bible Societies participated in the funeral for Pope John Paul II and in the inauguration of Pope Benedict XVI. The following is from the UBS web site for May 6, 2005: "Dr. Valdo Bertalot, General Secretary of the Bible Society in Italy (BSI), represented both the national Bible Society and the global UBS fellowship at the funeral of Pope John Paul II on April 9 and at the inaugural mass of Pope Benedict XVI on April 24. He also took part the following day in Pope Benedict's first audience, for foreign and non-Catholic guests. 'I had the opportunity to greet the Pope personally on behalf of UBS and BSI,' said Dr. Bertalot, 'offering him BSI's latest ecumenical literary translation of the Gospel of Mark as an example of the UBS service to the churches.' Mr. Wigglesworth said Dr. Bertalot's presence at the events was 'EVIDENCE OF THE STANDING OF THE UBS IN THE EYES OF THE VATICAN, and a consequence of all the work that he -- and his father before him -- have done to establish close ties with the Vatican on behalf of UBS.'"

CONSIDER SOME EXAMPLES OF ROMAN CATHOLICS WHO HAVE HELD LEADERSHIP POSITIONS WITHIN THE UNITED BIBLE SOCIETIES:

- (1) In the 1970s a Catholic woman named Maria Teresa Porcile Santiso was employed full time by the United Bible Societies as directress of ecumenical affairs in the regional centre of Mexico (Word-Event, No. 36, p. 6).
- (2) Monsignor Alberto Ablondi, Catholic bishop of Livorno, Italy, was "simultaneously a member of the General Committee and European Regional Executive Committee of the United Bible Societies, thus playing a part in the formulation and review of the UBS general policy" (Quarterly Report, Trinitarian Bible Society, Oct.-Dec. 1985, p. 24).
- (3) Cardinal Francis Arinze, Roman Catholic archbishop of Onitsha, Nigeria, was a vice-president of the United Bible Societies.

(4) Cardinal Carlo Martini, retired Archbishop of Milan, was one of the editors of the United Bible Societies Greek New Testament (beginning in 1967 with the second edition) until his retirement in 2002.

CONCLUSION

There are 142 different Bible societies associated with the United Bible Societies and all of these societies are tied together organizationally as well as spiritually. To support any one of the Bible societies is to participated in the apostasy that has permeated the UBS.

Yes, I realize there are some born again people working with the Bible societies. Revelation 17-18 describes the apostate one world religion and one world government of the last hours of the church age. The picture is that of total apostasy and wickedness, and yet the Bible says some true people of God are involved in these movements because God's call is "Come out of her, MY PEOPLE, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues"(Rev. 18:4).

Consider three simple lessons from this passage. First, there are some truly saved people in the End Times movement of apostasy. Second, God calls from heaven to those who are saved, exhorting them to separate from the apostasy. Third, those who ignore this call are partakers of the sins of the apostasy and will be judged.

The Bible warns in other places, as well, that if we affiliate with those who are apostate and disobedient we will be partaker of their evil deeds.

"Look to yourselves, that we lose not those things which we have wrought, but that we receive a full reward. Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son. If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into your house, neither bid him God speed: For he that biddeth him God speed is partaker of his evil deeds" (2 John 8-11).

The decision is clear. The pressures of family, tradition, security, fear of the unpopularity of a separated position, and many other things are brought to bear against the Christian who desires to be faithful to God in an apostate day. God is calling from heaven and requiring a complete separation of His people from apostasy. Whom will we fear--God, or man? To whose voice will we hearken--heaven's or the world's?

Title: Islam Uniting with Catholicism in Iraq

Mark Brewer - February 6, 2006 11:45 PM (GMT)

Hidden away in this great article, which illustrates that Islam is the big winner in Iraq despite what the conspiracy theorists want people to believe, is a reference to the fact that Catholic version of Mary is being used to unite Muslims and Catholics.

Iraqi women say freedoms are slipping away

Women's rights activists in Iraq blame imported extremist doctrines for restricting their freedom.

By Ali Khalil - BAGHDAD

Women's rights activists in Iraq say rising extremism is restricting their freedom, even as the country prepares to vote on a constitution that is touted as one of the Arab world's most progressive regarding women.

"Women cannot walk freely out in the street," said activist Ban Jamil, who directs the Rasafa Branch of Assyrian Women Union, a local non-governmental organisation in Baghdad.

"Women face lack of respect when they walk uncovered," said Jamil, a Christian, who said women are insulted if they show too much skin or walk in public without wearing the Islamic veil, or hijab, to cover their hair.

She blamed "imported extremist doctrines, which were never experienced in the past" for the new restrictions.

The tide of Islamisation has risen in Iraq as fundamentalist Shiite parties have come to power following the ouster of former leader Saddam Hussein.

Although not enforced by the newly established laws, which were written under US patronage, a conservative dress code is widely observed in much of the war-torn country.

But conservative dressing in Iraq is not as universally strict as in neighbouring Shiite Iran, or ultra-conservative Sunni Saudi Arabia, where women have to cover from head-to-toe when in public.

Dressing modestly in trousers and a long-sleeved shirt - more likely with a colourful headscarf - is common among Iraqi women.

Older or very conservative women often wear the traditional black abaya, a kind of loose-fitting, modest dress.

But short sleeves and skirts which were accepted in the past are hardly seen, even in the scorching heat of Baghdad's summer.

"We cover and change the way we dress unwillingly due to pressure," said Jinan Mubarak, a Muslim who heads the Iraqi Centre for Training and Employing Women in Baghdad.

She said some neighbourhoods are off-limits for women if unveiled, saying that women like herself are forced to change their behaviour in such environments.

Iraqi state television - a shopwindow of the new regime - allows some female presenters to appear unveiled, despite a clear Shiite influence in its programmes.

However, religious zealots who were curbed under Saddam's secular grip can operate freely now, as evidenced by one notice billboarded in a Baghdad street near a church, Jamil said.

"To all unveiled Muslim sisters and Christian sisters: You should wear a veil because Virgin Mary used to be veiled," it said.

Women are also concerned that the American influence in running post-Saddam Iraq plays a major role in protecting women rights, and that a future departure of US troops might result in further radicalisation.

"This might regrettably be the case, as much as we would like to see the Americans out of Iraq," said Mubarak.

US Ambassador to Iraq Zalmay Khalilzad has called Iraq's draft constitution the most progressive document in the Muslim world, claiming it ensured women's rights.

"Women have the right to participate fully in public activities," he said in August, pointing out that 25 percent of parliament seats were reserved for women.

But activists say that the current female MPs do not represent women's advocates and were brought in by male-dominated political parties to fill the 25 percent quota.

"These were voted in to fill the quota... None of them serves in the politburo of any of their parties... They are mere mouthpieces," Jamil said.

"We fear the same might happen in the next elections," she added, claiming that independent women have very slim chance of making it into the national assembly.

Several vocal women MPs speak out during live-broadcast parliament sessions and criticise openly the performance of governmental departments, although they are all first-timers.

Eighty-seven women were elected to parliament in the January 30 elections. One has since been killed by insurgents.

Subject: Interview request

> Eric, With all due respect - I am getting really tired of GCN being accused > of things that are absolutely unfounded in FACT. It is irresponsible to > accuse GCN of banning you, if it was merely Jeff Rense (who is not > technically even a GCN Host, but a syndicated broadcaster who is picked up > by GCN.) Then you might've just put it like that.

I do not recall that I said Genesis Network (GCN?) banned me from its list of interviewees. I believe that I said that Jeff Rense has not sought to interview me when I am easily reachable.

> To be honest, if you would've just asked me for an interview, I would've > happily done so, as I am VERY interested in the info you have researched!

I have never heard of you Jack, as I was not informed as to your person. I apologize for this.

- > Maybe you did already & I missed it? I am sorry that it has come to this.
- > But I have to I wonder how many others you have told that GCN bans people,
- > or censors its hosts?

I have said this to no one. In fact, I was on a Genesis Network show hosted by Bill Deagle a few months ago.

- > In either case, I am prepared to give you the benefit of the doubt, and call Wonderful! I would be happy to be interviewed by you.

- > If you are still interested in appearing on DEADLINE LIVE & feel that you

I am always courteous and polite to my hosts, even if they are adversarial---which you do not seem to be.

Then lets do

Looks like Jack Blood is dodgy as USUAL -2tuff

Pain in the brain

By John Kaminski – February 4, 2006 skylax@comcast.net

The last four or five attempts I've had to promote my views via radio or television (New York, Tehran, Austin), I haven't been able to get my point across sufficiently to change the establishment nature of the program. It's frustrating.

Over and over I keep repeating: It doesn't matter who gets elected. All that stuff is a waste of time. America will continue to bomb and poison the world no matter who's in the White House.

Most recently on Jack Blood's Genesis news radio program I attempted to talk about what I believe are two key issues — side streets ... and the elephant in our living room.

As I took a deep breath to explain them more clearly, I was deflected by either commercials, telephone callers, or the unwillingness of the host to "go" to certain places. Of course, that's exactly where the elephant is, in those certain places. Finally, an explosion down the highway on which I was driving forced me to abandon the conversation and navigate through a traffic jam.

So what do I mean by side streets?

These are pressing but not central issues. The conversation on the radio show was about peace demonstrations. I commented that large peace events were nice for meeting people, but didn't accomplish anything, except reinforce the hollow illusion that we have free speech in the USA.

Yet when I make these statements, people turn away. I'm getting to be the most banned writer on the Internet because I say things that others won't. Others of ability far superior to me have suffered much the same fate over the years. Someone even nominated me for Ezra Pound's cell at St. Elizabeth's and I said I'd be honored.

Ask yourself why I'm not included on certain websites just because I wrote "The Jewish war on freedom of speech." And then ask yourself how much that means in the context of your own life, not to mention your own free speech. Then study the list of who owns what media.

There is a place now in public discourse where people are not allowed to go, and it is reinforced by laws in many countries that prohibit critical commentary about Jews, Zionists, and Israelis.

What we're seeing is that some of the finer websites on the Net are limiting themselves as to where they can go in regard to freedom of speech, because they don't want to jeopardize their Jewish financing, or run afoul of mind-locking Holocaust laws that eat away at everyone's free speech. Amy Goodman and Noam Chomsky fell down this rabbithole long ago, and haven't been heard from since.

This place where we can't talk about certain subjects is the same place where the carnage is created. The Iraq war and 9/11 are only the latest manifestations of the same behavior by the same stratum of people who have done this for years, and are now obviously engaged in a fire sale of the planet. What will your street be worth when they're done with it? Ask an Iraqi now!

Side streets are issues such as chemtrails, global warming, government-issued AIDS, aspartame, anthrax, thimerosal, bogus voting, holographic aircraft, and biotech food that are all worthwhile areas of study, but the problem with them is they take you away from focusing on identifying the culprits, and possibly eliminating the cause of our misery. The time you spend on these side streets takes you away from the time you can spend taking effective action to reverse this course of misery we have been ejected upon by the people who control the money.

And the No. 1 task is identifying the perps and bringing them to justice.

Stay focused. Keep your eye on the ball.

Ever since the original 9/11 skeptics movement vaporized in a huff of aspersion and paranoia, I've been more focused on why the public doesn't and maybe can't receive valid empirical information, and to that end will inject some perspectives on that frightening phenomenon right now.

I've not sufficiently shown the gratitude I have for the many thousands of wonderful e-mails and letters I've received these past four years in response to my humble efforts to describe what is actually going on in the world. 'Bout time I did. Here are a few recent ones that beautifully pertain to the subject at hand.

John -

I usually don't ask you to read something written by a third party - but this time - to further develop your thought in 'Sickness in the static': "Cognitive dissonance is a psychological phenomenon which refers to the discomfort felt at a discrepancy between what you already know or believe, and new information or interpretation. It therefore occurs when there is a need to accommodate new ideas, and it may be necessary for it to develop so that we become "open" to them.

I would like you to read a book called "Descartes Error" by Antonio Damasio. He explains that the lack of ability for US citizens to actually 'see' reality is based on a problem of 'physical pain' in the brain that occurs when someone is faced with 'new learning' that 'contradicts' prior accepted 'knowledge'.

Dr. Damasio says that 'Mind' functions by way of a network of neural synapses in the brain that become literally 'destroyed' - when confronted by new 'knowledge' - They have to be literally broken to bits and rebuilt - and this 'destruction' causes actual physical pain to the individual.

We — as a society — now have become 'pain-adverse' — to the point that we would rather actually 'die' than 'learn' something new — and endure the actual 'pain' of new learning — therefore we are now at absolute mortal risk because of our inability to make life saving 'painful' judgments.

Your library will have a copy — I have sent (below) a hotlink to a series of reviews of the book by medical people who all agree that Dr. Damasio has put his finger on the basis of the problem that disturbs us both.

'Sickness in the static' is wonderful.. Thanks so much...

Fraternally - Sam

Dear John,

Thanks for your insights. You may find this of interest:

"In the rear occiput of the left lobe of the brain there is small area of brain tissue that is responsible for the individual's power to resist domination...any person who drinks artificially flourinated water for a period of one year or more will never again be the same person, mentally or physically." AND

..."the masses can be slowly reduced to slave status by means of covert drug administration (in tap water, chemical food additives, medical products, etc.), subtle microwave bombardment (via ultraviolet lights, telephones, computers, etc.), and above all through the steadily-advancing hypnotic power of the media. All in all, a program of mass-lobotomization, without the public's knowledge or consent."

Not mentioned is the aerosol spraying of substances over large areas by planes, the invidious "contrails". Nor is there specific mention of the damage caused by TV's cathode rays or microwave transmissions.

So, there is more to our present calamity than a general lack of character: "cesspool of politics", pathological leaders", and so on. In fact, there is a chemical assault on the already purposefully distracted and self-absorbed minds of our population, designed to render it impotent against increasing control by the NWO. Character development is no longer taught by parents or school systems as far as I can tell, rendering the responses to "legitimate criticism" hostile rather than thoughtful.

"Stupidity" is steadily being induced in the masses, and sociopathic behavior is furthered among the elites. Control...control.

A sorry situation. Best wishes, Bob Alford

Hi John,

I'd like you to have a look at a new 9-11 expose in PDF format designed to simplify the most irrefutable 9-11 facts. It was written for members of the choir who need an additional tool to educate their friends and family members suffering from cognitive dissonance. See it here: www.tyrannyalert.com

You were one of the inspirations for this body of work, and for that I thank you.
Regards, Ross ross@tyrannyalert.com

And finally this poignant slice of Americana from a thoughtful mind who in this brittle and thoughtless age dares not speak his mind in the company of certain people...

John,

I'm working as a doctor in a typically conservative Pro-Bush area. I can't publicize my views. But I can pay you to do so. I need to make sure my children have me around for a long time and don't get carted off by one of our gestapos.

No need to mention the Talmud — just tell Christians to get their Bibles and read the Old Testament again — from start to finish. Then think about the mindset of people who consider ... they are the Israelites. Tell them to read Deuteronomy 20:10-20. There they'll find Jehovah's marching orders to the Israelites.

Remember always to emphasize that the source of the problem is the IDEAS of the O. T. — not "Jews" per se. Jews are those most affected by those ideas — but so are Christians and Muslims. Read the pseudonymous essay at www.geocities.com/gergae2004/Writings/Pentateuch.htm

Memes — mankind is the victim of sick ideas that glorify force and thus crowd out ideas that glorify love and cooperation.

The O.T. must be rejected — and with it Judaism, Christianity, and Islam.

Needless to say, in these dark days in America, a nation now suddenly proud of its torture practices, this writer remains anonymous, as does freedom for most people. Freedom, a concept no longer relevant in the profitable scheme of things. It's a real pain in the brain.

John Kaminski is a writer who lives on the Gulf Coast of Florida whose Internet essays are seen on hundreds of websites around the world. His latest anthology, "Recipe for Extinction," can be ordered at www.johnkaminski.com/

Footnote: Deuteronomy 20:10-20

20:10 When you come to a city to fight against it, then first proclaim peace toward it.

20:11 If it answers for peace, and opens its gates to you, then all the people found therein shall be your slaves, and they shall serve you.

20:12 If it won't make peace, but will make war against you, then you shall besiege it.

20:13 And when the LORD thy God has delivered it into your hands, you shall kill every male inside with the edge of your sword.

20:14 But the women, and the little ones, and the cattle, and all that is in the city, even all the fortunes inside, shall you take for yourself; and you shall eat all the good things of your enemy, which the LORD thy God has given you.

20:15 Thus you shall do to every city even faraway which are not among your chosen nations.

20:16 In these cities, which the LORD thy God gives you for an inheritance, you shall

20:17 But you shall utterly destroy them; namely, the Hittites, and the Amorites, the Canaanites, and the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites; as the LORD thy God has commanded you

Madame Blavatsky believed the Catholic society of Jesuits had transferred their headquarters from the continent to England where they plotted to plunge man into passive ignorance and institute "Universal Despotism". The founder of the Theosophical Society, a woman of immense intellect and first hand experience of secret societies, warned:

Students of Occultism should know that while the Jesuits have by their devices contrived to make the world in general, and Englishmen in particular think there is no such thing as Magic and laugh at Black Magic, these astute and wily schemers themselves hold magnetic circles and form magnetic chains by the concentration of their collective WILL, and when they have any special object to effect or any particular and important person to influence

Now, Now, Now do you honestly believe the heads of The Church of Rome aren't sure or know what they want from this agenda? Of course not! You will of course have some genuine priests lower down who will be against this toxic food but the higher up well we all know their wants and aims. Once you know who controls this planet and you know that the elite wish GM crops on us, then you obviously know who really wants these crops on us ultimately. Its all smoke and mirrors and psyops playing with your minds to get you to think the Church of Rome isn't the almighty force. -2tuff

Vatican Views Are Under Delicate Strain

If the Vatican were to endorse genetically modified organisms, it would have a profound impact on global discussion of the issue. With a flock of 1.1bn faithful, the Roman Catholic church's ethical messages penetrate the whole world.

But GMOs are a divisive issue in the church, pitting clergymen sympathetic to their use (who have enthusiastic support from the US embassy to the Holy See) against others who express opposition.

Perhaps for this reason, the Vatican under Benedict XVI, who was elected Pope last April, has yet to take a definitive stance.

Some African and South American bishops have doubts about GMOs because they worry that control of world food supplies will rest with a few giant companies. GM crop use in developing countries may exacerbate the poverty and vulnerability of poor farmers, they say.

But advocates of GMOs in the church contend that there is a moral obligation to eradicate hunger if the technology exists to do so. By 2025, half the world's population will be living in regions with severe water shortages, so higher-yield crops that need less water must be developed, they argue.

The most authoritative Vatican statement on GMOs appeared in a 2004 publication, the Compendium of the Social Doctrine of the Church, prepared by the Holy See's Pontifical Council for Justice and Peace. In a passage devoted to safeguarding man's environment, the council pleased supporters of GMOs by stating: "In effect, nature is not a sacred or divine reality that man must leave alone . . . The human person does not commit an illicit act when, out of respect for the order, beauty and usefulness of individual living beings and their function in the ecosystem, he intervenes by modifying some of their characteristics or properties."

However, opponents seized on another pair of sentences in the compendium that said: "The authorities called to make decisions concerning health and environmental risks sometimes find themselves facing a situation in which available scientific data are contradictory or quantitatively scarce. It may then be appropriate to base evaluations on the precautionary principle."

In other words, the jury is still out as far as the Vatican is concerned. This conclusion seems reinforced by the fact that the compendium was reviewed before publication by the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith - the Vatican organ that enforces theological discipline and that Benedict ran for 24 years before he became Pope.

Cardinal Renato Martino, the 73-year-old Italian prelate who heads the Pontifical Council for Justice and Peace, is seen as one of the Vatican's highest-level supporters of GMOs. He organised a scientific conference on the matter in 2003, describing the stakes involved as "high and delicate" but stressing the Vatican's view that it was a field of inquiry "subject to evolving research".

On one point, the Vatican seems certain not to budge. Those who support contraception as a way of limiting families and thereby improving access to food find no support at all at the Holy See..

Title: WhatReally"TEMPORAL COADJUTOR"Happened.Com

Description: (More bunkum from this site)

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 5, 2006 02:47 AM (GMT)

What I've found over time is that this site WhatReallyHappened.Com is a Temporal Coadjutor working for the Glory of Rome. If you study this site it is made up of much Zionist information trying to yet again blame the Jews for everything and the whole conspiracy. Now all us in the know who follow the TRUTH know its nothing to do with Zionists but its SIONISTS and their white/Gentiles not Jews. Now many people talk of this site and Rense being agents for disinformation. Both push the Zionists and Jews and Rense goes one step further with Bird Flus and HIV amongst other things.

I've noticed that WhatReallyHappened always attacks information coming from the very few truthsayers left. We had this rubber mouthed site mouthing off slagging Tom Flocco a few times but especially over the early information on the Indictments. They said it was hogwash you name it. When this event happened with so far Scooter Libby they went quiet then when pushed started coming out with more trash. They claimed it wasn't the big deal Flocco and company made out etc. We'll things like this don't just happen all at once and this site was destroyed when Libby was done.

Now lets look at Sherman Skolnick one of the few old timers whos been on the money with his information more times than David Rockefeller. This site attacked Shermans information along with gave disinformation about the NY subway attacks by saying they didn't take place. The truth was that the American French Alliance (AFA) had stopped the attacks this time MOSSAD was being used instead of MI5 which AFA stopped in Chicago. My friends Cloak & Dagger the home of Lenny Bloom and Skolnick gets attacked and hacked an awful lot. Tom Flocco, Tom Heneghen and company all suffer regular and these are some of the handful of truthsayers left. Now whats also funny is that Skolnick and co have ousted The Jesuit Order on many occasionals (The true leader of the world conspiracy). Now WhatReallyHappened won't go their because its a site set up either by FBI Division 5, ONI, CIA etc who are working for the Glory of Rome and its Order of Illuminati group and Masonic branches and organisations. Whos a regular at Cloak & Dagger? Eric Jon Phelps "Mr History" whos information is very very dangerous and frightening because its actually true for once.

Now we have this Temporal Coadjutor trying once again to attack a regular of Cloak & Dagger known as Captain Eric May from Ghost Troop who helped stop the attack on Jan 31 in Houston Texas. Don't forget Greg with his good articles also who is obviously now a target. If you tell the truth you get harrassed, discredited, discourage and attacked.

So if you want to keep listening to someone who diverts you from the real leaders of this conspiracy called New World Order (GLORY OF ROME) then do so. If you want the truth listen to people like Barry Chamish, Sherman Skolnick, Tom Henegen, Eric Jon Phelps, Lenny Bloom, Tom Flocco etc. Remember The Jesuit Order was called in France The Company of SION. The conspiracy is run by SIONISTS not Zionists and their white and gentile and their the Church of Rome (Jesuit Order, Sovereign Military of Malta, Opus Dei & Vatican). These other sites will have you thinking Rothschilds rule the world when their just bankers/agents/court jews for the Church of Rome. Feel free to be fooled by Temporals who earn such a lot of money they can fund large sites with large bandwidths unlike truthsayers who run small sites or need subscriptions to keep information coming.

QUOTE

The recent claims of a terror attack in Texas seemed to be a hoax to trick the bloggers into "crying wolf" and discredit themselves ahead of some real event.

Now, neither I nor the author of this piece have any direct evidence of a planned staged terror event during the Superbowl, but let us look at a few facts.

1. George Bush's poll numbers are in the basement. Right now, the self-proclaimed War President has become a severe liability to his own party going into the November elections. Only a new major war can reverse that (maybe).

2. The Neocons are intent on having the US invade Iran. Yet public support for such a new war is also very low. Unable to create a plausible image of Iran with nuclear arms, the emphasis has shifted to invading Iran solely because they want to make fuel for their own power station. Iran wants to have nuclear power so they can sell more of their oil, which looks like a good idea to a nation of people eager to buy that oil.

3. Clearly, Bush and the Neocons need a new 9-11 to kick off any further wars, and justify more suspensions of Constitutional rights. As a venue for a staged terror attack, the Superbowl is ideal. The game is watched by a billion people around the world, and is expected to be watched by 130,000,000 Americans. Even top-rated TV shows can only draw 1/5 that number, The Superbowl is the only shared experience that involves half the entire US population all at one moment. Being a festive occasion, the shock value of a staged terror attack occuring during the game (or half time) would be even greater.

Like I said, there is as yet no evidence of a staged terror attack planned for the Superbowl. But there is no question that Bush and the Neocons need one, and the Superbowl represents a nealy ideal opportunity.

I hope nothing unpleasant will happen at the game. But if it does, always ask, "Who benefits? Who gets what they want?"

I realized several years ago that whatreallyhappened.com was a disinformation clearinghouse. Have you noticed how Muslim organizations are always advertizing on that website? Mike Rivero is another stooge saying that there is a conspiracy by the "Zionist neoconservatives" to destroy Islam. He is supposedly an atheist, but so was Gorbachev, who was friends with the pope and spoke at Robert Schuller's church.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 5, 2006 02:46 PM (GMT)

I really do get fed up of the world using the term Zionist when its Sionist again smoke and mirrors to cloak the white gentiles formerly known as The Company of Sion. They use the words Illuminati, Zionist and many others to try to keep themselves from not being seen. Well Society of Jesus I've found you and I will continue to oust you and your SMOM buddies!

Title: F. Tupper Saussy, the author of Rulers of Evil

Description: Is hereby accused of being a Jesuit Temp

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 5, 2006 05:09 AM (GMT)

F. Tupper Saussy, the author of Rulers of Evil is hereby accused by Eric Jon Phelps, the author of Vatican Assassins, of being a

Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor

By way of introduction, on or about August 13, 2002, I, Eric Jon Phelps accused F. Tupper Saussy of being a Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor. A Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor is a man who, in this case, is openly a lettered and accomplished professional journalist and author, but in fact has been secretly admitted into the Society of Jesus for the purpose of acting as an occult agent for the Jesuit General, Satan's most powerful Luciferian in the world who at this moment is Peter-Hans Kolvenbach.

On or about August 15, 2002, F. Tupper Saussy honorably responded to my accusation and indicated that he would answer my charges - the very charges having led to promulgate my accusation after many serious hours of reflection and having read his ROE three times.

Having no malice for Mr. Saussy whatsoever, I will first give a brief summary of his ROE. Subsequently, I will then, with supporting documentation from ROE, list Three General Charges that have led to my accusation of Mr. Saussy being a Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor. I will be forwarding unedited the entire correspondence and debate between Mr. Saussy and me for my email group to read. If Mr. Saussy answers my charges to my satisfaction then I will withdraw my accusation accompanied with my humble apologies requesting his forgiveness. But if my charges are not answered to my satisfaction then I will continue to refer to Mr. Saussy as a Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor, knowing full well that he is oath-bound under the pain of death to never reveal his true status.

Summary of Rulers of Evil By Eric Jon Phelps, August 19, 2002

F. Tupper Saussy released his Rulers of Evil in 1999. His work covers: the present absolute power of the Jesuit Order wielded over Washington, D.C.; the Jesuit General as being the most powerful man in the world; the beginning of the Protestant Reformation with Martin Luther; the Counter-Reformation with Ignatius Loyola, including the founding of the Jesuit Order, the Order's 'alleged' Fourth Vow or Extreme Oath; and the Order's Council of Trent, having placed one hundred and twenty-five curses upon Bible-reading Protestants of the Reformation. Saussy then rightly exposed the link between the Jesuit General and high-level Freemasonry, the Craft generally being subordinate to the General since its inception. He then ascribes authorship of The Thirteen Articles Concerning Military Art to Jesuit General Lorenzo Ricci. With these generalities contained within the first twelve chapters, I basically have no qualm, although taking issue with a few details and three most bombastic lies. Those lies are:

QUOTE

'This [a Papal bull] was the inspiration for the papacy to create the United States of America that materialized in 1776, by a process just as secret as the Reagan-Vatican production of Eastern Europe in 1989. What? American government Roman Catholic from the beginning?' (p.4.)

'Later, I will develop what is sure to become a controversial hypothesis: that the Black Pope rules by divine appointment, and for the ultimate good of mankind.' (p.6.)

'Lorenzo Ricci's most compelling ruse was disestablishing the Society of Jesus, a campaign that mimicked the collapse of the Knights Templar four centuries earlier.' (p.94.)

The remaining thirteen chapters then erect the most appalling Jesuit Temple of Doom dedicated to the art of deception, skullduggery and casuistry. In spite of the many excellent facts contained therein, the conclusions are wrong and mislead the reader into two most terrible and fatal deceptions. Those deceptions are that the rule of the Jesuit General over America is generally good for Americans and that Americans should not resist the Jesuit Order with force of arms. This conclusion furthers the purpose of the Jesuit Order in destroying White Protestant Western Civilization, especially the United States of America, and restoring the 'blessed despotism' of the Dark Ages erecting the Pope as the Universal Monarch of the World.

This leads me to now list my Three General Charges sustaining the accusation that F. Tupper Saussy is a Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor. According to Rulers of Evil:

QUOTE

1. The Suppression of the Jesuit Order in 1773 by Pope Clement XIV was a secret and deliberate work of Jesuit General Ricci -a 'ruse' to which Pope Clement XIV was a consenting party. The fabrication of this historical lie was necessary to promote yet another false conclusion; that the American War of Independence was entirely a work of Jesuit General Ricci and his 'disestablished' Jesuit Order.
2. The Declaration of Independence and U.S. Constitution are essentially Roman Catholic documents inspired from the writings of Jesuit Cardinal Robert Bellarmine, and that all of the leading characters of the Revolution being Freemasons, including George Washington, were thus under Jesuit control.

(There is no mention in ROE of the poisoning of Pope Clement XIII the night before he was to suppress the Jesuit Order in 1759; no mention of the 1773 Suppression of the Jesuit Order by Pope Clement XIV as being a terrifying act on his part; no mention that the Pope declared, after his signing of the Bull (called a 'Brief' by the Order) Dominic ac Redemptor, that 'This suppression will be my death;' no mention of the Jesuit 'prophecy' that in September of 1774 the Papacy would be 'vacant;' no mention that the Pope was indeed poisoned evidenced by the inability of the morticians to proceed with embalming, as the Pope's flesh fell off the bones necessitating a closed-coffin funeral; no mention that the Jesuit General's own nephew, Bishop Ricci, believed that the Order had poisoned the Pope; no mention of the thousands of Jesuits brought back from South America who were detained on the island of Corsica —the island from which arose the Order's great avenger, the Roman Catholic Freemason of the Grand Orient Lodge of Paris, Napoleon Bonaparte; no mention of Napoleon taking vengeance on all of the Catholic Monarchs, including the Grand Master of the Knights of Malta, who dared to expel the Order from their dominions; no mention of Napoleon breaking up the Spanish and French Empires and ending the Protestant Dutch Republic, those nations having aided the American Colonies in their Revolution against the Jesuit Order's English King George III; no mention of the purpose of King George III's re-attack on America with his War of 1812; no mention of the Holy Alliance and the ensuing Secret Treaty of Verona; no mention of the Monroe Doctrine, its purpose being to counter the Secret Treaty of Verona; and no mention of the purpose of the War Between the States, with its resultant martial law inflicted upon the Southern States for two years until the forced ratification of the Fourteenth Amendment.)

QUOTE

3. The conclusion of the book is that it is unbiblical for a Bible believer to resist political tyranny with the sword, 'the sword of Just Defense' as John Knox called it; and, in ending his book, he declares that there is 'Truth' which could lead one to disbelieve the Bible.

These are my essential charges although others may grow out of our discussion such as Mr. Saussy's refusal to identify the Hebrew People as being synonymous with the Jewish People and his usage of the Bible known as the NIV, Knight of St. Gregory Rupert Murdoch's Bible to which he owns the copyright.

With regard to form, I will address the first charge in my next email and request Mr. Saussy to respond to it singly. Having fully exhausted the first charge, I will then address the second charge and again will request Mr. Saussy to respond to it singly. Having exhausted the second charge, I will then address the third charge and request Mr. Saussy to respond to it singly. This way we hopefully will not be lost in the confusion of attempting to answer multiple questions in a single sitting. Undoubtedly, this will take some time, but the fruit of our labors will be worth the effort taken to avoid the slippery slope of judgment that always accompanies impatience and haste blighting any examination.

I shall now forward this to F. Tupper Saussy that he may peruse my proposal in proceeding. If he agrees, then I will begin with my first charge in the next email.

Sincerely in faith,

Brother Eric

Hi Eric,

I have listened to your interview on the Peering into darkness site. It was absolutely fascinating. I can't wait for the rest of the presentation.

Come to think of it. I have always wondered why Hitler held back his Armour after D-Day. I bet it was to ensure that the allies got a proper foothold.

It is strange how that program has changed my view of things. The evil one is sneaky. He has misled millions and millions of people. It is amazing that they could devise a plan to kill millions and millions of Christians in plain site. It is a crime. They were smart. Change the intent from a crusade against Christians to something that looks like a legitimate war and continue with total freedom and cooperation from all sides. I think that this must most definitely be the biggest crime in the history of mankind. Right under our noses and nobody picked up on it, except for you. They killed millions by infiltrating a few men to the top in secrecy.

You are either a very smart man or lead by the Spirit or maybe both.

All the best with your work,

God Bless,

Subject: Good Bye

Dear Eric,

Thanks very much for your non-reply.

I am not familiar with your previous communication and I always reply to questions. This last week I answered none of my emails as I had to work on VAll without interruption. So, I apologize for not replying to an email that was not opened or misplaced.

For someone who makes claims for himself as having a close walk with the Lord, you certainly have some questionable skills dealing with humans.

Well, I admit that I make mistakes and seek to remain correctable when in error.

In fact your behavior is more Jesuitical than Christ-like:

viz.:

First you have me on your mailing list, then with any explanation you cut me off, without the slightest courtesy of an explanation.

Some time back my computer would not send out the "email list" so I deleted them all and began to put each name back as each test of sending an email came back to me. This was a great frustration as I did not need THAT problem. Evidently, I did not put you back on the list. So, I apologize for that also. My policy is to never delete anybody off the list unless they request to be removed---even if we have an argument or disagreement.

Very much like what the Inquisitors used to do as they imprisoned people without trial or explanation.

The mind-set is the same: fear and mistrust of others.

To the contrary, that is not my mindset. I do not fear you and mistrust arises only when I am victimized.

The inquisitors fearful that their erroneous religious world-view will crumble if more of the populace think for themselves,

I am not an inquisitor and seek to always stimulate others to think for themselves---in the light of the Bible.

and yourself, MCarthylike,

Senator Joseph McCarthy was educated by Jesuits at Marquette and was backed by Jesuit Edmund A. Walsh in his anti-communist, inquisitional hearings of the 1950s. No, I am not a McCarthy.

seeing "co-adjutors" in practically everything that breathes and moves, so much so that, in the absence of ANY evidence, you have to be safe and assume a person has Jesuitical intentions until proven otherwise.

Disagreed. I have called several people "Jesuit Temporal Coadjutors" to the intent that they may clarify their position by not ignoring the Jesuit Empire that now rules the world. Noted writers who document their world views are easy targets; but there are others about which I must make an informed guess. When they respond to me honestly, then I withdraw the charge and apologize---as I did with your host, Michael Dyer. But at least the confrontation has been made, which, in these dark days must be done.

The complete reverse of the human standard of free peoples that one is assumed to be "innocent" (or benevolent intentions) unless proven so otherwise.

When you can obtain the disc in the Jesuit General's headquarters in Rome--- Borgo Santo Spirito---providing the names of all the Jesuit Temporal Coadjutors in this country, then I will not have to attack those who appear by their words or deeds to be Coadjutors. We are dealing with 8,000 known Jesuits in the US and tens of thousands of occult Coadjutors, many of whom are in "the patriot community."

"By their fruits (behaviors) ye shall know them."

A person who walks with the Lord has Love and Respect for His fellow human beings. He will be courteous and kindly. He will think Good of all he comes in contact with, until proven otherwise; Correct. Have I called you a Coadjutor? If so, please explain.

Your behavior reveals exactly the reverse mentality.

You don't know me from Adam, yet you have already apparently judged, demonized me and consigned me to the stake.

Disagreed. See above.

Jesuitical to the tee.

Of course, that is to be expected. "As you think so shall ye become"

Dwelling on evil Jesuits day and night, one becomes of their evil mentality.

How do you know what I am dwelling on "day and night?"

It is a spiritual Law.

That is why one has to "love thine enemies", as Christ said.

As Christ loved the Pharisees enough to expose their secret actions and hate for the God of Israel, even so I love the Jesuits enough to reveal their past and present diabolical actions to the end that those ordained to eternal life might believe on Christ.

Otherwise you become what they are.

Anyways, that's very clear to me, your behavior is substandard.

I want to thank you anyways, for showing this about yourself, before investing any more of my time in your material.

You have become emotional over a mistake that I made with regard to your name on my email list. Why not just contact me and ask me if I removed you? I would have gladly apologized and put you back on the list.

By the way, some of it is totally ludicrous, such as geocentricism.

If the universe is not geocentric, the Christ is a liar and the Bible is a fairytale. But empirical science confirms geocentricity. To the contrary, heliocentricity, like evolution, is ludicrous.

The Earth is a planet, not the sun.

Duh!!!

So we have been taught---erroneously.

I wish you the best of luck trying to pass that off continually to an educated public who know at least the proven basics of astronomy.

Those "basics" are about as proven as the Apollo moonwalk.

No wonder Jeff Rense will have nothing to do with you, nor will Meklinger.

Says who? Jeff Rense never said those words to me or anybody else to my knowledge.

That is a total embarrassment.

I suppose you believe in the Earth being created 4,044 BC, as calculated by Bishop Usher as well?

Bishop Usher may have been off a few years, but not many. As I have said previously, there is not one shred of evidence that the earth is one day older than 10,000 years.

It says so in the Bible!

That is right! It is the Word of God and you must decide just who is your final authority---you or God. You attempt to quote the Bible several lines above, but now you attack it.

Yes a lot what you might be saying about the Jesuits true, but if it hearing it from you comes at a price of sacrificing basic human standards of interaction respect, courtesy, --

I have never ever been disrespectful to any host or contact in any of my previous interviews or email exchanges during the last five years since the publication of VA.

human values such as described above, which indicate an innate spirituality -- to interface with you, then until there is some development in man-making on your side, good bye....

I have apologized for my oversight in mistakenly removing you from the list. I will put you back on if you so desire---only after you apologize for the above emotional tirade.

Best regards
James/chakor

Sincerely in faith,

Brother Eric Jon Phelps

Why do many people hate Eric and 2tuff like this. I don't agree with Eric on every issue, but Eric and 2tuff are sincere on exposing the Jesuit criminals. I don't get it sometimes.

Eric does not say 10,000 he says 6,000. I do not know what to believe because most science I come across is pure hogwash such as Polio, Bird Flu, hiv etc. Eric could be absolutely correct or indeed incorrect but how will any of us prove this.

All of you folks need to read Cydonia: The Secret Chronicles of Mars by David Flynn. This book sets the record straight about the Bible and science. It also gets into the origin of the Papacy and can be read as a companion to The Two Babylons.

The bottom line ,for me, is Phelps research skills,his sincerity, and his knowledge on the scummy Jesuits. How he feels about the earth's rotation, hollow earth, aliens,etc., to me ,it just doesn't matter. When I am interested in further investigating these other subjects I'll search other sources that may be more knowledgable.

Hey, I like to thank the atheists and doubters man. You people keep me on my toes and I awoken from my sleep. What a load of nonsense. What are I'm supposed to do, cower and become scared into being an atheist or pagan. I need to be so afraid and just accept this anti-religion agenda. Guess what, I'm not going to be a pagan or an atheist or a New Ager. Doubters are going to hate this. I'm not scared of nothing, but God. You know how it is how I got to respond to this stuff. I mad this response in a couple of minutes in the morning today in Thursday when I saw it. First, copies of the NT are found as early as 64 A.D. in the Magdelan Papyrus. We have copies of the NT dated to be 100 A.D. The early NT was mention in the Peshitta, Old Latin, Ethoipic, etc. all before 325 A.D. To assume that the Bible was created by 325 A.D. is a lie. The OT

Massoretic texts have been proven reliable even by non-Christian and secular historical scholars as well. Please don't buy into that Da Vinci code garbage. Also, Christianity is unique because it's the only faith that teaches that God saves by grace alone without works. Works-based salvation on the part of man is mentioned in every religion known to man. Also, Jesus Christ existed and that is proven from the Bible and other historical sources like the Talmud, Thallus, Sentonius, Josephus, Tacitus, and others. These men were from many backgrounds and they weren't in some "conspiracy" to force people to accept Christianity since some of them were pagans and followed Judaism. The Talmud is pro-Judaism and strongly disagreed with Christ being the Messiah for crying out loud. The early church are quoted as believing in Bible prophecy, the antichrist, the Trinity, the resurrection, etc. centuries before 325 A. D. What is 325 A.D. obsession??? Coming on, you can do better than that man. Tons of religions existed after 325 and Christianity existed before 325 A.D. I've shown links proving that. You hypocritically bash Christianity, yet you won't criticize other faiths. Of course, there are similarities in all faiths (Judaism is similar to Islam, but that doesn't mean that Jewish people invented Islam. Muhammad and his allies did), but that doesn't mean that underlining fundamental truths are non-existent. There are truths and absolutes in life. If the Bible is a piece of trash, then you need to doubt every ancient script in human history since a possibility of their inaccuracy is real. Isn't this a tactic of you people. You want doubt in one religion, but not in the mythological religions and precepts of pagan religions. Isn't that hypocrispy. The Illiad, gods myths, etc. are perserved 100%, yet you think the Bible is a piece of dirt. I just disagree. I disgress.

The bible has been recorded and the NT alone have over 25,000 copies, which is more than any ancient script in the history of the world. A historian even said that almost every word of the NT can be derive from the early church leaders alone. That perservation, but you don't see that!!!!!! Also, there is nothing wrong for anyone of any creed to believe in prophecy. Bible prophecy clearly states the birth and life of Jesus Christ, Israel restored and Jewish people coming back from their Disapora, the mentioning of increased knowledge, the increasing wars, the increasing levels of natural disasters, and false Christ, which all have been fulfilled in our lifetime alone. That's accurary!!!! That's truth!!!!!! There is nothing wrong with believing prophecy relating to the Antichrist, Second Coming of Christ, and other things that most professing Christians believe in at all. You're trying to bash a faith, but I'm here and I'm going to respond. I don't agree with Eric on every issue, but Darwinian Evolution is racist (since Darwin was a bigot and believed that blacks were more evolved with primates than whites are) and new biochemists have shown evidence of the impossibility for slow evolution when the cell is very complex similar to a machine. If slow evolution occur, the cell structure must be completely changed and that's impossible according to new scientists who dissent with the religion of Darwinian Evolution. Don't be mad.

Don't be angry on many conservative Christians coming up, don't be made on the Bible references to scientific truths like there is life in the blood, that the stars are too numerous to count, that the water cycle is real, and that the Earth is round and sits in space. Don't be mad that folks are coming to realize that abortion is murder. On this abortion issue, I will come with it because I know this issue a lot now. Don't be mad that archaeological discoveres are occuring all of the time confirming the locations and historical events of the Bible like Nineveh, the ancient Temple, the reign of the Roman Emperor Augustus, the Babylonian King Nabonidus, the Nubian King Tarhaqo, Sennacherib, the city of Ur, and who could forget about the Dead Sea Scrolls showing some of the OT in ca. 200 B.C. It's not one Chrisitan sect. Romanism is false Chrisitanity relating to the sun myths of old invented in the 300's A.D. Romanism slaughtered millions unlike true Christianity since Jesus Christ said do no violence unto no man. If you disagree with Eric so much, email the man. Eric is right that we must expose globalism and the New World Order agenda. I see no problem with that. If you continue to claim that Christianity was invented in 325 A.D., then I will call you a direct LIAR. No real religious man wants to put things down people's throat. People have a right to express themselves in any religion that they want. You need to learn about real religious history.

You seem to forgot the Christians leaders spanning 2,000 years like the apostles, the early disciples, Polycarp in the 100's, Aerius in the 300's, the Waldensians in the 1100's, the Bohemian Brethen plus Anabaptists in the 1500's, etc. That was before the 1600's. This was before 325 A.D. Oh no, but the word Trinity existed before 325 and even before 200 A.D. The foundational tenets of Christianity were not only in existence, but accept and it was spread way before 325 A.D. indeed. Get that Da Vinci Code/New Age drivel somewhere else. The New Age Movement is evil and it influenced the Thule Society member Hitler (a follower of evolution. Hitler was a dedicated follower of New Age concepts like the racist Root Race ideals, evil spiritualism, and other evils. Evolution I might add is similar to the Mystery school myths of Egypt trying to determine on the origin of man. That's a fact. Darwin didn't even create the modern theory of evolution since his Freemason grandfather had it. Also, evolution is related to Hinduism and eastern mysticism since both of those religions accept the evolving conscieness of mankind into a higher plane of existence. Their whole mindset is that we can die and become better beings, which is the essence of evolution, yet mutations abound. Mutations are a genetic scrambling of the genetic information, not an improvement upon organisms at all. That's religious, evolution is religious, and it's apparent) to kill Jews and Gentiles during WWII. Stalin, Lenin, and other social deviant subscribed to Evolution as well. Many New Agers advocate exterminating people and have a hatred for Christianity like you do. oh no, New Agers and athiests murderers killed more than 100 million people last century, which is more than any creed in human history during that 100 year period. Secular humanists killed thousands of French people in the late 1700's as well in the Masonic French Revolution. That's why the Nazis accepted Evolution, they believed in social Darwinism, they called themselves "National Socialism" and they were funded by their fellow occult membes in the S&B, the Masonic Lodges, SMOM, and other groups from America, England, etc. Every human being has an agenda and even you. There's nothing wrong with thumping the Bible. People thump the Koran, the texts of many faiths and that doesn't mean all people have no value or all people shouldn't express a belief in one God creating the universe. I'm a warrior man. What did you think, that I'm calling myself TruthSeeker24 for nothing. I've got more than this. I can type 20 pages of info if I wanted to. When I was 18, I refuted grown men on tons of other topics. I'm not done. As for the age of the Earth, I'm going to look at both sides and make a just decision about this issue in the future. Obviously the universe is billions of years of years old, because of the travel of light coming to earth from the stars exist in trillions of light years. Yeah, thanks for waking me up. True Christianity has no pagan origin.

Satan came out with his counterfeit religion first. Look at it this way: Say I invented something, and haven't yet released it. My rival knows a lot about my product, and goes ahead and makes his knock-offs before I get my product out.

I finally release my product, and my rival improves on his knock-off, so it's REALLY close to my product. People think that my product is based on my rival's.

That's what's happening here.

What's going on today is going according to Bible prophecy.

When people think that "Christianity has pagan DNA" (I saw a bumper sticker stating this), they are actually thinking of CATHOLICISM. Catholicism and Bible Christianity are mutually exclusive.

Alito and Opus Dei - Jackboots of the Church

By MICHAEL CARMICHAEL

January 30, 2006

<http://www.counterpunch.org/carmichael01302006.html>

Is Judge Samuel Alito a member of Opus Dei?

If so, does it matter? If it matters, why?

A Senate staffer confirmed that the Judiciary Committee received numerous "notes and letters" stating that Judge Samuel Alito is a member of Opus Dei.

A controversial Catholic organization*, Opus Dei is now widely known from the bestseller, The Da Vinci Code, a novel by American author Dan Brown, soon to be a major film starring Tom Hanks that will premiere at the Cannes Film Festival in May.

In 1928, a Catholic priest who acquired a doctorate in law, Josemaría Escrivá founded Opus Dei in Spain. Escrivá's juridical attitude to religious doctrine permeates Opus Dei and is the source of its attraction to members of the legal profession. Opus Dei received massive political support after the fascist victory in the Spanish Civil War.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco protected and fostered conservative elements within Opus Dei by appointing eight ministers to powerful positions in his government. In Spain, Opus Dei is still regarded as a potent political force. In 2002, Escrivá was canonized.

Why, then, is an Alito membership in Opus Dei of major significance? In addition to his activist record on the federal bench and his conservative ideology, Alito is deemed to be a menace to the balance of power as well as the constitutional rights of Americans. Judge Alito's affiliation with Opus Dei may be a factor in the strident opposition from Edward Kennedy and John Kerry, both progressive Roman Catholics who do not approve of the influence of religious dogma on political ideology. The majority of Americans believe in the separation of church and state, while many religious conservatives such as Pat Robertson and Jerry Falwell would transform America into a theocratic state. Robertson and Falwell are staunch supporters of Judge Alito.

While the Moral Majority, the 700 Club and a growing bloc of Christian Conservatives have wielded a great deal of political influence in America, two years ago these protestant fundamentalists formed a coalition with conservative Catholics to re-elect President George Bush. In 2004, the Vatican intervened directly into the US presidential election to endorse their champion, George Bush. The back-story is both fascinating and compelling, for it illuminates the political dynamics taking shape in the nomination, possible confirmation and conflict centring on Alito.

In June, 2004, soon after Bush's papal audience with the late pontiff, Pope John Paul II, a letter signed by Former Cardinal Josef Ratzinger, who now reigns as Pope Benedict XVI, threatened to excommunicate any Catholic politician in favour of abortion as well as any Catholic voters who would support Kerry at the polls. At that point in the presidential campaign George Bush was trailing John Kerry by double digits in the polls, and Bush seemed doomed to become a one-term president like his father.

During his papal audience with the late Pope John Paul II, Bush is reported to have complained to the pontiff and other members of the curia, including Former Cardinal Ratzinger, that he did not have the total support of all of the US Bishops. Ratzinger's letter swiftly resolved that dilemma for the politically beleaguered president.

In a perceptive article titled "Holy Warriors," Sidney Blumenthal, a former advisor to President Clinton, ascribed Bush's narrow victory over Kerry directly to the political impact of the Ratzinger letter. During his long career at the Vatican, Former Cardinal Ratzinger's decisive handling of complicated problems had become a matter of record. His official investigation of the priestly child abuse scandal involving Catholic clerics gave him the knowledge and understanding of the political and legal dynamics prevalent in Bush's America.

During 2002 and 2003, Former Cardinal Ratzinger had been the Prefect of The Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith (CDF). In previous centuries, the CDF was known as the Inquisition. In his official capacity as Prefect, he was largely responsible for the Vatican's ecclesiastical investigation into thousands of cases of priestly child sexual abuse. Former Cardinal Ratzinger's handling of that scandal has been the subject of substantial analysis and criticism.

At the height of the scandal, Former Cardinal Ratzinger wrote a letter that altered official procedure by reserving all cases of priestly child sexual abuse to the CDF. Prior to Former Cardinal Ratzinger's letter, cases of priestly sexual abuse were not restrained in the exclusive purview of the CDF. Attorneys for victims of priestly child sexual abuse in Texas argued in court that Former Cardinal Ratzinger's letter was an obstruction of justice. In a public statement, Former Cardinal Ratzinger told the Catholic News Service, "Less than one percent of priests are guilty of acts of this type." Many Catholics view this statement as callous and an attempt to cover-up the scandal. Former Cardinal Ratzinger's apparent indifference to the scandal shocked many Catholics. Many members of the College of Cardinals harkened to his message of minimizing the importance of the scandal. One Cardinal attempted to place the blame for the scandal on America's reputation for excessive litigation. He stated that attorneys were merely seeking "to make money" from the scandal. In 2005 shortly after his election to the papacy, Cardinal Ratzinger appeared to promise to make amends for earlier miscalculations in handling the charges of priestly child sexual abuse when he made a public commitment to 'attend' to the scandal. How he intends to resolve the scandal remains to be seen.

The Department of Justice under former Attorney General John Ashcroft, himself an ardent born again Christian, took no action in that case, or, more accurately, those cases. Ten thousand victims of priestly child sexual abuse were discovered in America alone, and the Catholic Church identified four thousand four hundred and fifty (4,450) of its own priests who had been incriminated in the United States. As a direct result of the scandal, the Catholic Church is known to have paid out more than $1 billion in settlements to the victims of priestly child sexual abuse. During the past two years many new reports of priestly child sexual abuse have surfaced in the United States as well as in other nations. For instance, in Brazil a recent report identified over 1,400 priests incriminated in child sexual abuse. Whether any members of Opus Dei were involved in the scandal or the handling of it is obscured by the secrecy screening the organization's membership from public scrutiny. Whether members of Opus Dei wield significant influence in the Vatican's ongoing attempts to resolve the scandal through negotiations with American government, law enforcement and criminal justice agencies may never be made public.

What adds additional interest to the role of Opus Dei and the Catholic Church in US political life is that for many years unconfirmed reports have linked Supreme Court Justices Scalia and Thomas to Opus Dei. In March, 2001, Newsweek reported that the wife of Justice Scalia, "attended Opus Dei's spiritual functions." Justice Scalia's son, Father Paul Scalia, personally mediated the conversion of Justice Clarence Thomas to Roman Catholicism following his confirmation to the Supreme Court.

In recent years, the ultra-conservative jurist Robert Bork has converted to Roman Catholicism. In Washington, speculations about Bork and Opus Dei are relatively common. Other conservative Catholic politicians associated in the popular media with Opus Dei include Senators Sam Brownback and Rick Santorum. While the names of priests and officials of Opus Dei are made public, the identities of the lay members are not matters of public record, making it appear to be a secret organization. This situation leaves a question mark over those markedly conservative Catholics with political prominence.

Opus Dei purports to be apolitical, but its members have been associated with right-wing political causes since its inception. While the vast majority of America's Catholics are moderate to progressive in their views like Senators Kennedy and Kerry and Justice Kennedy, there is a small but vocal minority who adhere to ultra-conservative doctrine and dogma and consistently support neoconservative political candidates and their causes.

The rise to power of religious dogmatists in the guise of an Opus Dei clique on the Supreme Court through the rulings of Scalia, Thomas, and potentially Alito is a legitimate cause for concern not only on Capitol Hill, but also throughout America. Just imagine the outcry if the Supreme Court had four radical Islamicists, four zealous Zionists or four fixated followers of Reverend Sun Myung Moon. The case of Samuel Alito raises a serious question: is George Bush attempting to pack the Supreme Court with religious extremists?

If Alito is confirmed, his presence will create a majority of five Catholic justices on the US Supreme Court. Justice Anthony Kennedy is a liberal Catholic, while the recently appointed Chief Justice, John Roberts, is another deeply conservative Catholic jurist whose devout religious views have also given rise to speculation involving Opus Dei. Alito would bring to four the total of ultra-conservative Catholics on the US Supreme Court, forming an alliance that would be legal, judicial and religious.

In his infamous text, The Way, Saint Josemaría Escrivá wrote,

QUOTE

"Nonsectarianism. Neutrality. Those old myths that always try to seem new. Have you ever bothered to think how absurd it is to leave one's Catholicism aside on entering a university, or a professional association, or a scholarly meeting, or Congress, as if you were checking your hat at the door?"

There can be little serious doubt that the progressive Catholic members of the Senate are well aware of this famous tenet of Opus Dei. That may well be why they are stridently opposing the confirmation of the arch-conservative and dogmatic Catholic jurist, Judge Samuel Alito.

QUOTE

*Opus Dei, in full Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei, was founded in 1928 in Spain by Josemaría Escrivá de Balaguer y Albá (canonized in 2002). It is theologically conservative and accepts the teaching authority of the church without question. It was granted special status as the first and only personal prelatue in the church by Pope John Paul II in 1982. Opus Dei is the subject of a growing body of academic papers, articles, books, documentaries and films surveying trends in western religion probing its political influence and its connection to fascist regimes.

Where does seperation of church and state appear in the Constitution? The truth is that is doesn't. Not to mention that Alito voted 3 times for the pro-abortion side. How much more evidence do these babykiller supporters want? ALito voted against the partial birth abortion ban when the vast majority of the American people supported it for crying out loud. They want death. I believe in that the institution of church and state is seperate, but I don't believe that religious expression should be eliminated from the public square. That has nothing to do with a theocracy at all. Regardless if Pat or Falwell want a theocracy or not, that doesn't underscore the fact that religious liberty in under threat in this nation. Pat and Falwell are right on that, even though they are ecumencial pro-Papists and I'm not into their camp. I will never be a Catholic, but I will never be in the anti-conservative Christian movement as well. Plus this MICHAEL CARMICHAEL is a deciever. Bush himself has stated that Muslims and CHristians worship the same god, that occult Skulls and Bones is a good thing, he worshipped in a Shinto shrine, etc. That isn't conservative Christianity to me. Also, this guy talk about Muslims and Zionists? What planet is he from? Christianity is bashed all of the time. Even in America, folks have been fired for legitimately showing dissent over Islam. You can bash Christianity all day here pal, but if your talk about Hindus, Muslims, Judaism, etc. you will be hounded by the media in America. That's a fact. That's why I'm angry by this stuff. People can't speak their mind publiclly anymore without fear of being unfairly criticized by the media. Then this guy talks about ultraconservative stuff. Give me a break. Expanding the defilict, massive spending, illegal immigration problems, singing on to the anti-American sovereignty UNESCO and CAFTA, the abomination of Roe v. Wade is still existing, etc. isn't a conservative agenda. Bush has run with that style. This guy must be living in a dreamworld. I'm not done. I want Roe v. Wade to be eliminated since it has no justification by the Constitution and it's a federal intrusion on the states to handle the issue of abortion themselves. Abortion is murder and I don't stand for murder. Then this clown bash Protestants. This ignorant Brit doesn't know that the Protestant Blackstone Commentaries and the Protestant Rex Lex legal concept (created by Rutherford) influenced British, Australian, and American law through the Bill of Rights and Constitution. There's a lot more comments that I can say, but this is it. Opus Dei is evil, but supporting innocent unborn life is just and not evil at all. I wrote this in a matter of minutes when I say it this morning. On many fronts, this Brit doesn't know what he's talking out.

I just came across that.

Has an interesting point about the US military, especially MacArthur and how they used and manipulated the media for their benefit.

Good example of what might have been swept under the rug regarding Germany, too.

Dear David,

Thank you for the feedback on Walsh today.

Indeed, the Order, including Joe Kennedy, was behind the Lindbergh affair, as Charles was a high Mason and pro-Nazi. He was also a party to the murder of his own son, enabling Hauptmann to steal the child from his crib. Hauptmann was a Jesuit-controlled German Nazi who gave his life to create anti-Nazi fury here in the US. It was a necessary move as the country was anti-war. In the wake of that travesty, FDR and Walsh privately recognize the USSR opening the door Russia to Ford, GM and the Pope's military industrial complex, many of its factories having been bought for pennies on the dollar thanks to the Great Depression--- caused by short seller, Joe Kennedy.

Harry Hopkins was another Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor as he was FDR's closest advisor and who, without an official title, lived in the White House with FDR. Hopkins was at Yalta, dictating terms to FDR---giving over all the anti-communists to Stalin so the Order's NKGB, ruled by Jesuits Nikolai Vlasik and Alexander N. Poskrebyshv could kill them all.

And the socialist New Deal was not Talmudic, but Tridentine. The Jesuits were the impetus behind that grand theft of our rights and property, putting the country on a war economy. The New Deal---including the SSN--- is patterned after a papal encyclical that I quote in VAlll. One of the priests behind the New Deal was John Ryan of Catholic University of America.

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric

Subject: [SPAM] Saturday's 'smokin gun'

Congrats to your excellent Saturday Edmund Walsh program. You guys did the patriot community a real service with your direct quips about the Jews leading the Bolshevik Revolution with their Jesuit masters orchestrating. This theme needs to be politely driven to Mr. Jones, and Marrs. Up to now, they had only your words that hinted of a Jesuit association. With a well layed out Q+A dialogue, you guys nailed Walsh as the Vatican emissary to the Jesuit-thugs at Lubyanka. That word had me sit up straight in my U-2 Gary Powers spy plane [he was at Luby ? in May 1960]. Gary's helicopter went down over LA reporting on traffic congestion years later, maybe after Gary learned about who killed JFK. That theme has been discounted by some, but then hardly any traffic helos go down, especially with the celeb spy pilot.

Smokin gun on FDR with Walsh in the oval when they toasted Uncle Joe ! !
Wow, you asked the right Q on that one. Bravo ! Alex, and Texxe missed the smokin gun of the 20th Century. They can only top that by exposing who did the Lindbergh baby and that is only on an emotional level, but could be the diversion that FDR needed for his toast to Uncle Joe that was coming up next year. Needed the trial of Hauptmann to rivet legal eyes, the rest of the masses were ready to bend over for sTalmudic-socialism from FDR controlled by Henry Hyde, or Hopkins.

Best again from the good humor man.

Oh yes "mental reservations" was a quip from a very Catholic boss I had in Silver Spring, MD. 1975. He gave clues to Jesuit thinking but he did not use the Jesuit-word.

Here is another example of Jesuits controlling commanders on the battlefield or at sea. The same will occur in this "war on terror."

Eric,

I remember reading about during WWII commander Halsey steered his 3rd fleet into two typhoons. The first time killing 790 and the second time half a dozen. They didn't relieve him of his command or even reprimand him. This was in a span of a year I think. The Bull could have steered away so was this two attempts to inflict large casualties on are navy in the pacific? Today I saw this on the history channel and I remembered reading about this. How can a commander make such bad judgement calls especially when you have a fleet to protect and use in upcoming operations providing cover for island landings.

take care,

OK.

Maybe this person should do proper research of the subject and look at Eric's book Vatican Assassins and Part III coming soon along with Edmond Paris's work and others before coming out with comments like this. I get rather annoyed when they do this as they want all this evidence which has been presented many times in the past but given over and over again by Eric. Its up to the people to find out the rest instead of wanting everything given in their laps the easy way. Theres not many people who have given as much evidence as Eric Jon Phelps. Just look at what was supplied with Vatican Assassins which was a large book on its own. Their was around 12 books extra in Ebook form. People are never happy but we don't hear all this whaling and whinging when Temporal Coadjutors talk disinformation about Reptiles, Rothschilds being the rulers and all the other nonsense. I'm surprised how Eric is so calm with these annoying people who run off at the mouth before they do any serious research. I think these people should stick to Elvis is alive as its about their level.

> Neither were the Jesuits in control of the 9/11 attacks.

911 was an inside job my friend.

So this person knows for sure folks the Jesuits weren't behind the 9/11 attacks. Wow this is amazing indeed as it can't be with psychic powers or insiders as he'd find differently. The Jesuits and SMOM rule the CFR which was part of the plot using their CIA to execute the event.

That means nothing as far as the Jesuits are concerned. The Jesuits rule Islam.

Oh my god so it takes masses to control does it? So how have the so very few 1% of the population controlled the other 99% for so long? :D

You should read past histories in the Jesuits. Read Wylie's History of Protestantism, Vol 2 chapter 15.

Being a Christian doesn't mean your the same as Eric Phelps. Eric is a true Protestant Christian, you could be Catholic and called a Christian. Again Eric has supplied much evidence and information if you've studied hard enough.

The Jesuits oftentimes win key women of power. Jesuit Bernard Vaughan converted President Taft's sister and she was very fond of him.

Title: The Myth of "Baptist Calvinists"

Mark Brewer - February 17, 2006 08:28 AM (GMT)

The idea that there were "Baptist Calvinists" fighting the papacy in antiquity is a myth. The Calvinists hated the Baptists and often killed them.

<http://www.wayoflife.org/fbns/protestant-persecutions.html>

TruthSeeker24 - February 17, 2006 01:23 PM (GMT)

Yes, I'm in total agreement with you Mark Brewer. While, most Calvinists are brothers in faith with us, I never will agree with Hyper Calvinist extremists. Some of these extremists believe that God only saved the elect, while scriptures clearly pointed out that God saved all men not only the elect. Calvin agreed with infant baptism and that babies who weren't baptized are going to Hell, which was his errors. As for Dave Hunt, his book was excellent, but he follows the establishment's line about 9/11. It's a shame that Hunt is cow towing to those in power, but people like David Cloud are telling the truth about Calvinism. I believe in Cloud's view about Calvinism wholeheartedly. Many folks believe that if you disagree with Calvinism, you're pro-Arminian, which isn't the case at all.

Mark Brewer - February 18, 2006 10:33 AM (GMT)

I can understand why some people accept the government story of 9/11 considering the fact that so many people refuting the government are Marxists or believe that Islam is good. What these people do not understand is that world Islam is heavily financed by the US government and the Marxists are only complaining because a Republican is in the White House. The communists should be happy with Bush since he is pushing his treasonous guest worker amnesty program to let millions of illegal aliens ["oppressed minorities" as the left wingers like to call them] into the country.

JagDRS - February 18, 2006 04:01 PM (GMT)

.....considering the fact that so many people refuting the government are Marxists or believe that Islam is good.

How or where does one find the source of knowledge of this fact? As for the "so many people", how many, in a rounded number, does this fact claim there are? Lastly, who is it out there tabulating and publishing reliable numbers of those refuting government, whether they are marxist, Islamic syphatizers, communists, or otherwise?

Mark Brewer - February 18, 2006 08:32 PM (GMT)

Just look at the anti war protesters and their chantings about how Bush is trying to steal oil. A good portion of those people are communists. Nobody has published any numbers about people refuting the government, but if you observe them you will see what I am talking about.

<http://www.commondreams.org/views02/1031-08.htm>

As for the myth that Islam is good, many people in the alternative media and the "9/11 truth movement" like Alex Jones, Michael Ruppert, Jeff Rense, Wing TV and others are pushing the idea that Islam is under attack by the Zionist neoconservatives.

JagDRS - February 19, 2006 06:35 AM (GMT)

No offense, I did not read the article at the link you provided, but I did browse it enough to investigate a bit on that site's founder and editor (Common Dreams) who among other things has been plugged into the democratic political process for over a quarter century. By this alone it does not surprise me that there are possible communists ties and agendas involved wherever this person and his partners goe/work. The affiliation with World Workers Party seems to confirm the commy component. Politicians and their minions associated with communism..... nothing new here as far as I'm concerned.

Communists or no, it seems to me that oil is and has been all along a significant driving force behind the theater in Iraq; certainly not the only one, but a significant one, and not just the appropriation of it (call it whatever you want - stealing, borrowing, having the privelege of using it as reward for doing such a swell bang-up job in Iraq, whatever). More critically there seems to be increasing truth to the matter and validation of recent for the potential that many oil suppliers globally have been planning / threatening to switch from Dollar-based to Euro-based. Throw in a possible biblical force also at work here - global mayhem that originally spawns in the middle-east. As for the future of the american financial empire, precarious house of cards presently underpinned by massively inflated dollars as it is, it will be devistating if global oil migrates from Dollars to Euros. Iraq, Iran, and Venezuela to name a few are key players supposedly leading the global band threatening to prick this american bubble, with ample help and chearing from the sidelines allegedly being provided by China, Russia and of course covert chearing and dealings from Europe.

Even though communism was originally deployed elsewhere, it was invented in America. It's initial deployment abroad was also funded by American laborers courtesy of the FED/IRS co-dependent mechanisms. Aside from the relatively few of those who have since willingly embraced it, such as the aforementioned political figures and their many and assorted accomplices within all of corporate america and it's many institutions, many millions more of americans, left, right, un-decided, down-the-middle, plus all those additional millions who are bright enough to not participate in the process of politics, are communists too, they just don't know it, yet. The Federal Reserve Bank, the Social Security Act, and the creation of the IRS were the first three planks of the manifesto to be implemented in the states. Contemplate for a moment that these have had close to 100 years to incubate without much in the way of mass protest. In the process it's paved the way for more recent and deeper reaching planks to be implemented, namely Patriot Acts. Granted, it would help the masses to be aware of such goings on in the first place in order to be in a good position to think about protesting them, but my hunch is, the masses are not. Who do we blame this on? The commies? The Dems? The Reps?. Islamic radicals? You suggested observing the behavior of some commie protestors as a key to understanding why so many have been duped by the government's tail of 911. They are a small part of the pot, I suggest observing the masses that make up the entire pot in order to understand why so many in unison have been so greatly deceived.

As for the Islam-is-good view you seem to be upset with, at least remember there is some balance to this - the Islam-is-bad myth, the one that's been promoted in this country for years, the same one that experienced a dazzling boost as recent as 4.5 years ago, a grand promo, that a motley crew of tent-dwelling Islamic terrorists penetrated the defences of the world's supposed only superpower, allegedly perpetrating all the various horrors of 911 through the expert use and wielding of half-baked pilot lessons and tricked-up razor blades as their weapons and modus operandi.

Alexandra - February 19, 2006 06:34 PM (GMT)

Let me throw in that Islam is a false religion--BUT--that doesn't give anyone the right to falsely blame Muslims for anything.

Seems to me that we're having another crusade against the Muslims.

As far as Calvinists...I thought they were Baptists. Meh. I consider myself to be a Bible-believing Christian, all you need.

Mark Brewer - February 19, 2006 08:51 PM (GMT)

There is no crusade against Islam. In fact, Bush has been praising it since he was put in office.

<http://www.whitehouse.gov/infocus/ramadan/islam.html>

<http://www.whitehouse.gov/news/releases/20...20051006-3.html>

<http://emperors-clothes.com/archive/khalilzad-facts.htm>

<http://emperors-clothes.com/analysis/official.htm>

The constant repetition from government officials and others that Islam is peaceful and that Al Qaeda members are not true Muslims is another lie.

I have never denied that the 9/11 attacks were staged by the government. Some of the hijackers were trained at U.S. airbases and ISI commander Mahmoud Ahmad, who was in Washington D.C. on 9/11, wired $100,000 to Mohammed Atta. Those are two pieces of evidence that show the government was involved in carrying out the attacks. Then there is Bush's behavior at the school in Florida. If the country was really under attack by outside forces, then he would not have stayed in the school and made comments like, "There's one terrible pilot."

Alexandra - February 19, 2006 10:35 PM (GMT)

So Bush is praising Islam and meanwhile we're invading Middle Eastern countries. : unsure:

Mark Brewer - February 20, 2006 06:39 AM (GMT)

Authorities Again Looking Into Murder Of 'God's Banker' As Investigation Leads Right Into The Belly Of The Beast, The Vatican, As Well As Masonic Lodges

The Vatican Bank scandal of the 1980's may open up clues to the death of Pope John Paul I, as well as turning up the 'real culprits' behind the murder of Roberto Calvi, the prominent Italian financier and P2 Masonic Lodge member found hanging from the Blackfriars Bridge in London.

16 Feb 2006

By Greg Szymanski

<http://www.arcticbeacon.com/16-Feb-2006.html>

The story behind the brutal murder of the man called 'God's Banker' has never been fully resolved or his death adequately explained to the American public, a naïve public kept from the truth about so many things, including corruption in the Vatican.

The nickname 'God's Banker' was appropriately attached by the Italian press to prominent Italian financier and Banco Ambrosiano chairman, Roberto Calvi, for his illicit role in the decades old scandal involving millions of dollars of stolen money through a wicked and evil financial scam involving the principals controlling the Vatican Bank, including the Mafia, the P2 Masonic Lodge, the Freemasons and the Jesuits.

After the scandal broke in the Italian papers in 1982, Calvi was found hanging from scaffolding under the Blackfriars Bridge in London shortly after midnight on June 18, 1982.

His death was determined a suicide but chilling evidence recently uncovered is proving Calvi was most likely killed for knowing too much and able to point the finger behind the real culprits behind the scandal, including high-level politicians, Church officials and clandestine members of the P2 Masonic group, which Calvi was a member.

And the worldwide ramifications behind Calvi's murder goes far deeper than hundreds of millions in lost loot, but to the very bottom of the dark underworld connections between the cloth, the Masonic groups and the Mafia.

His murder goes right to the heart of the scandal, which many close to the Vatican openly claim could also eventually open up what have been "closed doors" to the murder of Pope John Paul I, the shooting of Pope John Paul II and other clandestine matters, including Masonic affiliations of many high-level Vatican priests, on its face a matter of expulsion from the Church under Canon Law 2338.

And it was the ugly matter of cleaning up the Vatican Bank and outing high-level priests affiliated to cult groups and Masonic lodges that most likely led to the death of Pope John Paul I after only 33 days in office, say sources close to the Vatican.

But it also should be noted the Vatican authorities never fully investigated the death of the Pope as well as never allowing for an autopsy to determine the true cause of death, listed officially as a heart failure with respiratory complications.

Concerning the details of the Vatican bank scandal, it erupted several years after the Pope's death under Pope John Paul II since he allowed for the corruption and underworld dealings to go unchecked, as many close to the Vatican said he bowed to the Jesuit pressure applied by the Black Pope, who was at the heart of the scandal and the beneficiary of much of the stolen Vatican money.

And concerning Calvi, his case recently took a new twist in Rome last March, as Italian prosecutors opened up the case on new evidence implicating several Mafia members accused of Calvi's murder.

Among the evidence brought out in the Rome court proceedings, never covered in the American press but released in Italian papers, was that Calvi was probably still alive when left hanging from the bridge for more than an hour, as British and Italian police and forensic scientists have picked through the original findings and the witness testimony, closely scrutinizing the scaffolding and Calvi's clothes.

And their investigation has revealed dirt under his fingernails and traces of dust from 11 pound bricks studded in his pockets, as well as strange bone lesions and bruises, indicating murder not suicide.

One of the detectives in London investigating the case said this in a London Sunday Times article about the reopened investigation: "We have been applying 21st century forensic and investigative techniques to a 21-year-old crime."

Accordingly Italian prosecutors, Luca Tescaroli and Maria Monteleone believe Mafia bosses ordered Calvi's killing because he withheld millions of dollars of illegal profits, as his death brought down a financial "house of cards" as the Ambrosiano collapsed in Italy's biggest post-war banking scandal.

Although the scandal goes much deeper than the two Mafia figures, Flavio Carboni and Pippo "The Cashier" Calo, one Sardinian businessman and another Australian woman, who at the time of the killing was dating Carboni.

The investigation is also centering on the testimony of Vincenzo Calcara, a Milan cafe owner who served drinks to the suspected killers the day of Calvi's murder, overhearing the decision to impose an ugly death sentence on Calvi.

Calcara, who has co-operated with investigators in the past, testified that a year before the Calvi murder he traveled from Sicily to Rome to deliver suitcases containing $6.5 million in cash to then head of the Vatican Bank, Cardinal Paul Marcinkus of Chicago, and another unnamed Cardinal.

Rome prosecutors are still hoping to question Marcinkus, but he has been kept under protection in Phoenix, Arizona, still being under Vatican diplomatic immunity, as the aging Cardinal, now 81, limits his activities to saying Mass and other minor church duties.

Marcinkus was originally indicted by Italian authorities in the 1980's for his role in the bank scandal, but the case was dropped and settled out of court, the Vatican paying $241 million to end legal proceedings.

Marcinkus was also linked to Calvi as the Vatican insisted he pay back over $154 million, but the links to those involved in the scandal never were fully explored as investigators were refused permission to ever investigate Marcinkus.

Since then sources close to Vatican say that Marcinkus was whisked away to America to keep "his mouth shut," since he was actually only an "innocent fall guy" for the real culprits pulling the strings behind the scandal.

Those sources close to Vatican now contend the Black Pope and the Jesuit Order "in full control of P2 and the Grand Orient Lodges, used Michele Sindona, another accomplice also thought murdered and Calvi, to steal the money, then in Mafia-like fashion had both of them killed.

"Archbishop Marchincus, being publicly responsible for the loss of the funds of Banco Ambrosiano, then agreed to take the fall, subsequently protecting his Jesuit masters from further investigation," said a source close to the Vatican who wished to remain anonymous.

"It is Jesuit Bishop Hnilica, the untouchable, who is really at the bottom of the scandal and fronting for the Black Pope. I believe Marcinkus was a patsy and that Hnilica is the real culprit and thus the Black Pope."

Sources close to Marcinkus also claim that "all along" he was innocent of any serious wrong doing, including having absolutely nothing to do with Calvi's murder or embezzlement of funds.

The source close to the Vatican added:

"Marcinkus does not wish to be convicted for murder and a crime he didn't commit, but realizes, at the same time, his diplomatic immunity status could be withdrawn at anytime by a new order at the Vatican. Also it should be remembered, Bishop Hnilica is a devoted 'Marianist heretic' and was protected by Pope John Paul II. The former Grand Inquisitor, Benedict, is a traditional Catholic and abhors Mary Co-Redemptrix and the false Gospel of Mary. Bishop Hnilica no longer has friends in high places."

Chris - February 19, 2006 02:44 PM (GMT)

I just wanted to say some interesting things about my meditation teacher...

He is a very positive person and has never really gone into much detail about the negative aspects of life...He says about the governments being totally corrupted but not gone into it...He says about soon we will be having, economic, electrical, environmental and all types of other stuff to deal with very soon...

He gives you a way to heal and send energy even to other countries...

He has made this really cool booklet, which has all countries of the world so you can send energy to the most needy or negative or whatever country you want.

What I found interesting about the booklet was that it contains all countries almost just countries...Apart from Vatican City...He hasn't gone into the jesuits as far as I know but it's quite interesting how he has the Vatican City there which is not even a city. I'm sure a lot of dark energy must be generated there if he has to include it in comparison to whole countries.

The only other small place he has there is Monaco, which is even smaller than Vatican City...I think it's where only the super rich go...I wonder if much darkness goes on there as well...

Chris - February 19, 2006 02:54 PM (GMT)

I forgot to say that he is a very powerful teacher. The powers the be really don't like him teaching and have put him in jail twice, both times with completely baseless accusations, the last time there was not even a complaint against him, they just locked him up for as long as they could, which was almost 4 months...

This is probably why he doesn't go into too much about the powers the be...He just says he has given us the ability to find out for ourselves and lets us get on with it.

Metaphoric, no?

106. On the Day when some faces will be (lit up with) white, and some faces will be (in the gloom of) black: To those whose faces will be black, (will be said): "Did ye reject Faith after accepting it? Taste then the penalty for rejecting Faith."

107. But those whose faces will be (lit with) white, they will be in (the light of) God's mercy: therein to dwell (forever).

Good ones, no matter white or black, will be 'LIT UP' with God's Mercy and bad ones will be GLOOMED or marked black. No matter how white their complexion was in the world.

Brother Eric,

You may already know this, but I just found out. I support a missionary to Israel and he said the Korans that are sold in the USA are not the same as the real Korans. He said the ones sold in the USA are "sugar coated" so people can't see all the evils of Islam.

I just put it down to something (or a lot) being lost in translation.
And, I take the time to speak, listen and question Muslims.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 19, 2006 02:19 PM (GMT)

Talking to Muslims doesn't mean anything my friend! I know people who claim to be Protestants but follow Christmas etc and simply don't understand the King James I bible. There's too many people following all these revision bibles, korans and so forth which are even more hogwash than the originals. So you'll find many muslims simply don't have a clue.

Dear Nxxxx,

The Illuminati is a top secret society which is hermetic, Luciferian and Masonic. It is controlled by the Black Pope, and it meets in the Rothschild mansion several times a year. It has a council of 13 Grand Druids, so I am told.

It is my opinion, along with Michael Bunker, that Dave Hunt is a Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor. He did his best to discredit historic Calvinism, which brought the world out of the Pope's Dark Ages, in his What Love is This? renamed "What Lie is This?" by Brother Bunker.

Sincerely in faith,

Brother Eric

Thank you. So, who belongs to the Illuminati today? Is it a particular bunch of people, a concept or a shadow group that no one can really say for sure who belongs? I am trying to tie all these pieces together and it's not easy.

Are you familiar with Dave Hunt of The Berean Call (thebereancall.org) out of Oregon? I somehow got on his mailing list and in his last issue he called the idea that our government is complicit in 9-11 "an absurdity!" After several emails back and forth with someone in his office, I gave up. They are defending the government's story 100%. Considering he has written a lot of books exposing the new age, the Catholic church, the Mormon church etc., I am very surprised at his ignorance on this issue. How would you explain this? Thank you. ~Nxxxx

I understand that Hunt doesn't believe in a literal hell either. That's too bad, because I have his book "A Woman Rides the Beast" and it's good reading.

Oh well, I consider it separating the wheat from the chaff.

Vatican fetes its museums on 500th birthday

Vatican City - Five hundred years ago on Tuesday, Pope Julius II had a Roman-era statue that was unearthed near the Colosseum moved into one of his palace courtyards. Thus were born the Vatican Museums.

To celebrate, the Vatican unveiled events to mark the 5th centenary of what is arguably the world's most prestigious museum complex, housing almost everything from mummies to Michelangelo.

Between now and December, the Vatican Museums will hold seminars and conferences, unveil refurbished wings, a few new restorations and, most significantly, a recently discovered Roman necropolis inside the Vatican in pristine shape.

Pope Julius could not have imagined the marble statue, believed to be a 1st century BC reproduction of a Greek bronze of the mythological character Laocoon, would be the seed of a collection that today attracts some four million people a year.

But the Vatican said there would be no respite from the long lines visitors have to endure to get in because the Museums were in old buildings and the "danger of terrorists" always loomed.

"We have nearly 8km of exhibitions but even I can't tell you exactly how many pieces we have because even a small archway or a minor fresco is art," Francesco Buranelli, the museums director, said on the sidelines of a news conference.

The museums are unusual because they grew haphazardly over the centuries in a series of halls, rooms and courtyards that are still part of the Apostolic Palace where the Pope lives. Sometimes parts are still closed when the Pope uses them.

Pope Julius added several more statues in the so-called "Octagonal Courtyard" and over the centuries other Popes opened other sections and galleries of the palace to visitors.

Today, they include the Michelangelo-frescoed Sistine Chapel, the Raphael Rooms, the Borgia Apartments and a dizzying list of other halls, galleries and collections.

Queues nearly always snake for blocks along the Vatican walls but officials said no relief was in sight because of the unique structure of the museums.

"They were born as private collections and not for public viewing," Buranelli said. "It is impossible to change structures like the chapels and hallways in the Apostolic Palace, so bottlenecks are inevitable," he said.

Cardinal Edmund Szoka, governor of Vatican City, said security was also a concern in a post-September 11 world.

"There is the danger of terrorists so visitors have to pass through checks," Szoka, an American, said. "The only solution would be to build a larger museum and we can't do that."

The centrepiece of this year's celebrations will be the opening to the public of a Roman necropolis found just inside the city state's northern walls during excavations for an underground car park.

"This is a necropolis with no equal in Rome," Buranelli said, adding that the tombs were from the 1st Century BC to the 3rd Century AD.

He said it includes some 30 mausoleums and 60 individual tombs on several levels and most in "excellent" condition.

"This will be like immersing yourself back in imperial Rome," he said, adding that it will open in the fall.

The Jesuits sought to rule Japan since the entrance of Jesuit Mateo Ricci in the late 1500s. The Order has controlled China since Masonic Mao's rise to power in 1949.

Absolutely. Mao was one Temporal Coadjutor.

How are they kept loyal?

Through an oath and fear of assassination.

The Jesuits controlled the entire mass murder of 60 million Chinese via Mao and his Red Guards. The Order now controls the camps throughout the Empire which slave made goods are put into commerce and brought into the US further destroying our domestic manufacturers. The Order controlled Stalin, and Stalin helped Mao to power with the help of the CIA

It surely seems that way. The Order is destroying the once historical White Protestant Western Civilization and building the Far East. The biblical "Kings of the east" are in the making.

Yes. The Black Pope in control of the British Empire via high-level Freemasonry waged the opium wars against the Manchu Dynasty leading to its overthrow in 1912. Then the Order used its Japanese Sword of the Church via the Emperor to later invade, rape and pillage China driving the natives into the arms of the Communist Chinese leaders led by Jesuits. Mao killed Captain John Birch and a Jesuit buried him! With the treason of our State Department working for Cardinal Spellman, Chiang was blocked with the US Seventh Fleet prohibiting a successful invasion of China. By 1949 the Order was in the saddle, backed by the CIA and British MI6, ruling with an iron fist the land of the Chinese. All the resultant bloodshed was at the hand of the Black Pope.

Dear JAH,

Yes, I read the article.

Ignatius was not a Jew or else he would have been pulled into the fray in the 1590s over the fact that Lanez was a Jew. From 1593 to 1946 no Jew was allowed into the Order according to Constitutional statute, which fact was confirmed by ex-Jesuit E. Boyd Barrett in his 1927 work, The Jesuit Enigma.

According to Luke 21:24, Christ said that it is "the times of the Gentiles" as long as Jerusalem remains under Gentile rule. That rule end with the Second coming of Messiah. Thus, the Jesuit Order, now ruling Jerusalem and thus the world, is led by White Gentiles aided and abetted by Masonic Jews including the House of Rothschild.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 17, 2006 12:31 AM (GMT)

Dear Brother Nicholas :

Many thanks my dear brother for your encouragement and support. Perhaps, brother Eric Jon Phelps will agree that so far I'm the only Filipino whom he knew 1-year from now that knows too much about the diabolic works of the Jesuit Order. I'm not anti-Catholic, my parents, brother & sisters, my entire relatives and my good and dear friends are all devout Catholics. In-fact, I love them so much. They are only misled and betrayed by the Jesuit & Catholic Church heierarchy. They will soon know it as time goes by the very reason I encouraged them to read non-corrupted world history. I'm always praying that our Lord Jesus Christ will enlighten all of them to know the real facts and may GOD give them Wisdom & Understanding.

The Jesuits & Catholic Church heierarchy destroyed our beloved country with no ability to fight back. They destroyed many people's good values. If you will study the history of our country since 1521, it will be beyond your imagination. Many Filipinos died during Spanish Occupation of the Philippines and World War II. Many Filipinos still believed that Spanish & Japanese occupation of the Philippines is their all out war against America. But the truth is World War I & World War II was created by the Jesuits as mentioned in the book of Edmund Paris entitled "The Secret History Of The Jesuits". My grandfather was poisoned by the Japanese. Our country will not be attacked by Japan or there will be no world war if not orchestrated by the Jesuits.

During the time of our national hero Dr. Rizal and all our national heroes during Spanish Occupation, the Spanish Friars molested and harrassed my countrymen. They confiscated huge hectares of land from my ignorant countrymen. The very reason Dr. Rizal and our Katipuneros cried for independence from the Spanish government & Catholic Church. The very reason, our Philippine president Emilio Aguinaldo established Philippine Independent Church and that Filipino Bishop Gregorio Aglipay will be the church's leader "AGLIPAYAN CHURCH".

For 485 years up to now instead the Philippines flourish it only goes down into chaos and resulted into impoverished nation. Who will dispute that our country nowadays is not in deep poverty. Very painful, I knew many families was broken due to the effect of poverty where the Catholic Church and Jesuits plundered the wealth of our country and left us crippled.

You know Brother Nicholas, this e-mail is also CC : to some of my trusted friends and brethren. I just want to impart or convey the real scenario as the true answers they might not have noticed. Because, i love them all as GOD is Love. Would you also believe that some Pastors (my friends) are sometimes unaware about the hidden agenda called "THE NEW WORLD ORDER".

You will see I'm putting my life at risk. Would you believed that I was already harrassed by 1-priest and asked me to report to our nearest church near my residence. I'm not asking for money, donations or any financial support (I will not accept) from anybody. I will survive for GOD will be the one to provide me.

I'm watching the movement of the Jesuits here in the Philippines since 1990. The very reason, my brain is full of knowledge and compilation all about the Jesuits. When it comes to the Jesuit issues I can somehow help a little bit out from my knowledge. I can even pin-point who are the Jesuits heierarchy (Philippine Provincial).

Attached herewith is the Acrobat PDF Files that our president Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo was educated and trained by a Jesuit owned university.

GOD Bless

THE SINKING OF THE TITANIC

Research & Prepared By : BOBBY G. LIMETA

When we think of events that have transpired in history over the last one hundred to two hundred years, there are certain events that stand out as ones of great horror, great surprise and great sadness. Of the many that come to mind the most devastating have been the destruction of the World Trade Center in New York City and the sinking of the Titanic.

The greatest tragedies in the last two hundred years can be traced to the Jesuits. We will now show that the Jesuits planned and carried out the sinking of the Titanic, and we will show why they did it. Since the early 1830's, America did not have a central bank. The Jesuits desperately wanted another central bank in America so that they would have a bottomless reservoir from which to draw money for their many wars and other hideous schemes around the world.

In 1910, seven men met on Jekyll Island just off the coast of Georgia to establish a central bank, which they called the Federal Reserve Bank. These men were Nelson Aldrich and Frank Vanderlip, both representing the Rockefeller financial empire; Henry Davison, Charles Norton, and Benjamin Strong, representing J.P. Morgan; and Paul Warburg, representing the Rothschild banking dynasty of Europe. We have already seen that the Rothschilds were the banking agents for the papacy's Jesuits, holding "the key to the wealth of the Roman Catholic Church."

The Morgans were friendly competitors with the Rothschilds and became socially close to them. Morgan's London-based firm was saved from financial ruin in 1857 by the Bank of England over which the Rothschilds held great influence. Thereafter, Morgan appears to have served as a Rothschild financial agent and went to great length to appear totally American....His [Rockefeller's] entry into the field was not welcomed by Morgan, and they became fierce competitors. Eventually, they decided to minimize their competition by entering into joint ventures. In the end, they worked together to create a national banking cartel called the Federal Reserve System. — G. Edward Griffin, The Creature from Jekyll Island, American Opinion Publishing, p. 209. (Emphasis supplied).

These three financial families, the Rothschilds, Morgans, and Rockefellers all do the bidding of the Jesuit Order because of Jesuit infiltration in their organizations. They do whatever is necessary to destroy constitutional liberty in America and to bring the pope to world domination. As we look back over the 20th century, we see how successful the Jesuits have been. They have continued to squander the wealth of America and continually attack its great constitution and civil liberties. Daily, the power of the pope in Vatican City increases. One day they will achieve total power again. The building of the Titanic began in 1909 at a shipyard in Belfast, the capitol of Northern Ireland. Belfast was a Protestant haven and was hated by the Jesuits. World War One began just a few years later. The Titanic was one of a fleet of ships owned by the White Star Line, an international shipping company.

Banking was not the only business in which Morgan had a strong financial interest. Using his control over the nation's railroads as financial leverage, he had created an international shipping trust which included Germany's two largest lines plus one of the two in England, the White Star Lines. — Ibid, p. 246.

There were a number of very rich and powerful men who made it abundantly clear that they were not in favor of the Federal Reserve System. J.P. Morgan was ordered by the Jesuits to build the Titanic. This 'unsinkable' ship would serve as the death ship for those who opposed the Jesuits' plan for a Federal Reserve system.

These rich and powerful men would have been able to block the establishment of the Federal Reserve, and their power and fortunes had to be taken out of their hands. They had to be destroyed by a means so preposterous that no one would suspect that they were murdered, and no one would suspect the Jesuits. The Titanic was the vehicle of their destruction. In order to further shield the papacy and the Jesuits from suspicion, many Irish, French, and Italian Roman Catholics immigrating to the New World were aboard. They were people who were expendable. Protestants from Belfast who wanted to immigrate to the United States were also invited on board.

All the wealthy and powerful men the Jesuits wanted to get rid of were invited to take the cruise. Three of the richest and most important of these were Benjamin Guggenheim, Isador Strauss, the head of Macy's Department Stores, and John Jacob Astor, probably the wealthiest man in the world. Their total wealth, at that time, using dollar values of their day was more than 500 million dollars. Today that amount of money would be worth nearly eleven billion dollars. These three men were coaxed and encouraged to board the floating palace. They had to be destroyed because the Jesuits knew they would use their wealth and influence to oppose a Federal Reserve Bank as well as the various wars that were being planned.

Edward Smith was the captain of the Titanic. He had been traveling the North Atlantic waters for twenty-six years and was the world's most experienced master of the North Atlantic routes. He had worked for Jesuit, J.P. Morgan, for many years. Edward Smith was a 'Jesuit tempore co-adjutor.' This means that he was not a priest, but he was a Jesuit of the short robe. Jesuits are not necessarily priests. Those who are not priests serve the order through their profession. Anyone could be a Jesuit, and their identity would not be known. Edward Smith served the Jesuit Order in his profession as a sea captain.

Many interesting points about the Titanic are discussed in a videotape made by National Geographic in 1986. The videotape is entitled The Secrets of the Titanic. When the Titanic departed from Southern England on April 10, 1912, Francis Browne, the Jesuit master of Edward Smith, boarded the Titanic. This man was the most powerful Jesuit in all of Ireland and answered directly to the general of the Jesuit Order in Rome. The videotape declares:

A vacationing priest, Father Francis Browne, caught these poignant snapshots of his fellow passengers, most of them on a voyage to eternity. The next day Titanic made her last stop off the coast of Queenstown, Ireland. Here tenders brought out the last passengers; mostly Irish immigrants headed for new homes in America. And here, the lucky Father Browne disembarked.... Father Browne caught Captain Smith peering down from Titanic's bridge, poised on the brink of destiny. — The Secrets of the Titanic, National Geographic, video tape, 1986.

Here is Jesuit treachery at its finest. The Provincial [Father Francis Browne] boards Titanic, photographs the victims, most assuredly briefs the Captain concerning his oath as a Jesuit, and the following morning bids him farewell. — Eric J. Phelps, Vatican Assassins, Halycon Unified Services, p. 427.

Browne went over with Edward Smith one last time exactly what he was supposed to do in the North Atlantic waters. The Jesuit General told Francis Browne what was to happen; Browne then tells Smith and the rest is history. Edward Smith believed that the Jesuit General

. . . is the god of the [Jesuit] society, and nothing but his electric touch can galvanize their dead corpses into life and action. Until he speaks, they are like serpents coiled up in their wintry graves, lifeless and inactive; but the moment he gives the word of command, each member springs instantaneously to his feet, leaving unfinished whatsoever may have engaged him, ready to assail whomsoever he may require to be assailed, and to strike wheresoever he shall direct a blow to be stricken. — R.W. Thompson, The Footprints of the Jesuits, Hunt and Eaton, pp. 72, 73.

Edward Smith was given an order to sink the Titanic and that is exactly what he did.

By the command of God, [the Jesuit General] it is lawful to murder the innocent, to rob, to commit all lewdness, because he [the Pope] is Lord of life, and death, and of all things; and thus to fulfill his mandate is our duty. — W. C. Brownlee, Secret Instructions of the Jesuits, American and Foreign Christian Union, p. 143.

There is no record in history of an association whose organization has stood for three hundred years unchanged and unaltered by all the assaults of men and time, and which has exercised such an immense influence over the destinies of mankind... 'The ends justify the means,' is his favorite maxim; and as his only end, as we have shewn, is the order, at its bidding the Jesuit is ready to commit any crime whatsoever. — G. B. Nicolini, The History of the Jesuits, Henry G. Bohn, pp. 495, 496, emphasis added.

Let us remember the oath that every person takes to become a part of the Jesuit Order:

I should regard myself as a dead body, without will or intelligence, as a little crucifix which is turned about unresistingly at the will of him who holds it as a staff in the hands of an old man, who uses it as he requires it, and as it suits him best. — R. W. Thompson, The Footprints of the Jesuits, Hunt and Eaton, p. 54.

When a person takes the Jesuit Oath, he is bound to his master until the day that he dies. Edward Smith had become a man without will or intelligence. He would commit any crime the Order wanted him to commit. Edward Smith had been required for martyrdom. On board the Titanic that night, Edward Smith knew his duty. He was under oath. The ship had been built for the enemies of the Jesuits. After three days at sea with only one pair of glasses for the bridge, Edward Smith propelled the Titanic full speed ahead, twenty-two knots, on a moonless dark night through a gigantic ice field nearly eighty square miles in area. Edward Smith did this despite at least eight telegrams warning him to be more cautious because he was going too fast.

Did Edward Smith need one caution? No, he had been traveling those waters for twenty-six years. He knew there were icebergs in that area. But eight cautions did not stop this man who was under the Jesuit oath, and under orders to destroy the Titanic.

The absurdity of warning veteran Captain Edward Smith repeatedly on Titanic's tragic night to slow down is nothing short of preposterous. The fact that Smith never listened or heeded the warnings is insane. He had been given orders from his god in the Vatican, and nothing would turn him from his course.

The encyclopedias paint a very tragic picture of Smith in his last hours. When it came time to give the order to load and lower the lifeboats, Smith wavered and one of his aids had to approach him for the order to be given. Smith's legendary skills of leadership seem to have left him; he was curiously indecisive and unusually cautious on that fatal night. Are these words to describe a legendary sea captain with 26 years of experience, or are these words to describe a man who was struggling in his mind whether he should do his duty as a sea captain or obey his master who told him to sink the ship?

John Jacob Astor's wife got into a life boat and was saved, while John Jacob Astor perished in the waters of the North Atlantic. There were not enough lifeboats and many of them were only half full with only women and children. To prevent nearby freighters from responding with help, the distress flares were white when they should have been red. White flares to passing freighters state that everybody was having a party.

One of the greatest tragedies of the twentieth century, the sinking of the Titanic, lies at the door of the Jesuit Order. The unsinkable ship, the floating palace was created to be the tomb for the wealthy, who opposed the Federal Reserve System. By April, 1912, all opposition to the Federal Reserve was eliminated. In December of 1913, the Federal Reserve System came into being in the United States. Eight months later, the Jesuits had sufficient funding through the Federal Reserve Bank to begin World War One.

COMMENTARY

Despite that the ASTOR belong to the Illuminatis 13-Elite Family Bloodlines, the Jesuits still eliminated John Jacob Astor. Nobody shall stop the Jesuit's way diabolic operations. Because, John Jacob Astor opposed to the creation of the Federal Reserve Bank where the Jesuits wanted.

You'll also notice those people that met in the Jekyll Island off the coast of Georgia, are representatives of the international gang-bankers : Rockefeller, Morgan & Rothschild. Where these families also belong to the Illuminatis 13-Elite Family Bloodlines.

The Holiwood movie entitled "TITANIC" with actor Leonardo de Caprio is a love story between a poor guy (portrait painter) and a rich-heir woman. But the real story concerning Sinking Of Titanic was not revealed into millions of people around the world. Especially, Irish-Catholic immigrants to America, British, Americans and other nationalities aboard the Titanic.

These untold history as possible wanted by the Jesuits & Vatican to be buried and no way to be known by any man. But since GOD is truth, the truth will always surface no matter how it is well kept.

Sometimes it hurts us to know the truth, but the truth will always remain true.
Our Lord Jesus Christ said :
And The Truth Shall Set Us Free.

Our minds will be twisted our heads will be blown-out about this secret conspiracy initiated by the Jesuits and the Vatican.

Why the Sinking Of Titanic was iniated ? Because, some rich people (businessmen) like John Jacob Astor on board that ship bounded for America opposed to thecreation of FEDERAL RESERVE BANK that the Jesuit wanted to create.

That's a simple answer my dear brethren in Christ Jesus as well as to my good friends.

Do I become their enemy for I'm telling the truth ?

See attachment in Acrobat PDF File as to what Jesuit Priest Fr. Francis Browne, Titanic Ship Capt. Edward Smith & John Jacob Astor - the riches man on-board Titanic that opposed the creation of the Federal Reserve Bank.

Dear Becky,

The Rothschilds have been Vatican bankers for over two centuries. But the families of real wealth are the Rockefellers and the Morgans, both banking institutions now being manned by Knights of Malta. The Rockefellers are Masonic and finance whatever the Order desires. I address this extensively in VAllI.

I trust this is helpful.

Dear Bro. Eric :

I have two folks that I respect (You and Gaylon) claiming different Illuminati leaders. Your research reports the Jesuits and Gaylon's research reports it's the David de Rothschilds and David Rockefellers. How would you recommend a person proceed from this point to sort this out. Gaylon didn't cite places to go look, can you? I'm sure the answer to this conundrum is out there.....

Both of you are to be commended for your hard work and desire to get to the truth. You have made the journey a little bit easier for the rest of us. This question just needles me. It makes sense to me that the folks that are the depositors would have more sway than the bankers. Who is richer the Rothschilds or the Catholics? Seems logical that the group with the biggest fortune would hold sway, but then what do I know.....not much!

Thank You for your help.

TruthSeeker24 - February 16, 2006 01:23 PM (GMT)

<http://www.iamthewitness.com/DarylBradford...ptoZionists.htm>

is his bigoted, half truth link.

You know I had to mention this link about this liar Daryl Bradford Smith. This liar goes around and blame as much people as possible who disagree with his agenda as being either a Jew or a Cypto-Jew. My question to him is that what is wrong a Jew? Nothing. Being a Jew had nothing to do with you being evil or good. Your actions and behavior and other factors determine that. Let's look at history shall we.

This bigot doesn't want to talk about the Roman Catholic Heirachy since they've been involved in more suppression of knowledge and wisdom plus more religious deception, and almost more murder than any other creed in human history. In the Middle Ages, the Vatican controlled the vast majority of the wealth inside of Europe. Many people who were religious dissidents were killed in their Inquistion. This is was created by Gentiles, not Jews at all. In fact, one of the founders of Roman Catholicism was Constantine and many early Popes, who were Gentiles not Jews. Many Jewish people during the Middle Ages were persecuted because of their faith. Many were restricted and placed inside of the ghettos of Europe. Many were forced to wear badges as a sign of discrimination and dishonor. I'm a black and I can relate to that since our people were discriminated against and oppressed for centuries. This coward Daryl never delves into the Jesuit Order at all. The Jesuits were involved in many plots against Protestants and Baptists (people gave us the Word of God in the English speaking world as you see today). For example, the Vatican was involved in the attempted Spanish Amada invasion of Britian. Reformation.org record the Gunpowder plot against the British throne instigated by the Jesuits. The Jesuits were expelled from over a dozen European nations for their corruption in the 1700's. Even Pope Clement issued a bull banning the Jesuits for their evil in the 1770's.

This liar claims that he doesn't blame all Jews in general, yet he goes into a tirade assign blame for most of the world's problems on Jews. That shows his hypocrisy. Now, not only did the Vatican kill people, but invaded many lands in imperialism worldwide before any creed did on that scale. For example, Roman Catholic Columbus, conquistadors, and other groups used the tactic of forced conversion unto many native inhabitants of Europe, the Americas, parts of Africa, and parts of Asia. Roman Catholicism itself was invented with many false, illogical beliefs like the Pope being infallible, Rosary beads, purgatory, etc. Pope Pius IX in 1864 condemned freedom of religion and conscience in his Syllabus of Errors – thus showing the Vatican's hatred of our wonderful Bill of Rights. Daryl Smith's other lie is that not true Catholics are involved in evil, but many true Catholics have followed their own decrees and dogmas that are fundamentally evil like the Council of Trent bashing anyone who believes that man has a right to believe in freedom of religion. The vast majority of the people in the Vatican, Jesuits, Knights of Malta, etc. aren't Jews at all. He never wants to admit to that. The liar Daryl Bradford Smith doesn't go into the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, which many authors prove (including Eric Jon Phelps) that it had Jesuit involvement with Freemasonry in a lower role of covering up the thing. Even co-conspirator John Harrison Surratt, to escape first to Canada, and then on to Rome, where he became a member of the pope's Zouaves military unit. The Vatican definitely wanted America to be destroyed and many of the co-conspirators in the assassination were Roman Catholics. Daryl goes into the Turks first. The truth is that the Turkish massacre of Armenians was supported by mostly Freemasons even if some Jewish people had involvement. Jewish died in persecutions in Europe and Russia during the 19th to early 20th centuries. Daryl doesn't mention that, but blames the Jews for everything. Many persecutions in China, Africa, and other areas of Asia were not instigated by the Jews or Zionists at all.

Then this liar talks about the Marranos. The truth is that the Sephradic communities and the Muslims brought a lot of literary vitality in that region. When Europe experienced the Dark Ages, Muslims and Jews worked together peacefully and advanced the culture of architecture, calligraphy, and other things in Spain. The reason why many Jews became Marranos was for fear of Catholic persecution. Mostly, it wasn't for sinister reasons or to infiltrate the Catholic Church at all. Some Marranos had sinister motives, but the Spanish Inquisition was real. You don't forcibly remove people out of Spain just for their race or creed. That is immoral and the liar Daryl doesn't see that. This liar Daryl forgot that innocent Jewish people did die in Spain and Germany in the 1930's. That's fact and he's a racist bigot. Even if Muslims and Jews were pretending to be Catholic (which most Jews in Spain weren't), the solution would be for excommunication not throwing people out of a country. I've heard of the rumors about Hitler being part Jewish. Whether Thomas de Torquemada or Hitler was part Jewish is not the point. Their ideology and actions and agenda are the point. It's not race, but your allegiance to evil groups and the actions that you do that concern me. Evil people exist in all races not just Jewish people.

Evil Masonic Jewish Zionists do have strong influence in government and the evils of society, but they aren't the only ones in the show. They are not the most powerful people on Earth. As for WWII, this liar omits a lot of stuff. For one, the Vatican (ran by Gentiles) had firm involvement in the Third Reich. The Roman Catholic party of Zentum supported Hitler. Gentile Knight of Malta Franz von Papen were one of the many Catholics that led Hitler into being a dictator. Hitler modeled the SS after the Jesuits. Edmond Paris' book "The Secret History of the Jesuits" elaborate on this well. According to "The Nazi Persecution of the Churches" by J.S. Conway, Pgs. 25, 26 & 162., Hitler wanted to fulfil the policy of the Catholic Church in persecuting the Jewish people. The Catholic Church has a well known record of being anti-Semitic toward Jewish people for a long time. Even Pope John Paul II years ago tried to apologize for it. He omit the Serbian Holocaust where thousands of Jews, Gypsies, Serbs, and other people were murdered by the Roman Catholic Ustashi terror ring. He says nothing on the Catholic dictators during WWII by the name of Mussolini, Franco, Petain, Tiso, Pavelitch, Degrelle, and other who weren't racially Jews at all. Why doesn't Daryl talk about the Knights of Malta, Order of the Garter, Le Cerle, Bilderberg Group, high level Freemasonry, CFR, etc. It's bigger than just the Zionists.

Many Knights of Columbus, Opus Dei, Knights of Malta have influence in today's society, not just the Masonic Jewish Zionists. I don't agree with Alex on his ecumencialism, but he's right to point out about a Germanic death cult. Germanic death cult existed before modern Zionism came into play at the 19th century. In fact, the Kabbala, Freemasonry, Jesuits, etc. all came from the ancient Babylonian and Egyptian Mystery schools. That's a fact and even some high level Freemasons mention the Ancient Mystery Religions as their own origin. Smith doesn't talk about that, because it ruins his "Zionists run the globe" mantra. He also doesn't want people to know how Knights of Malta Reinhard Gehlen and Donovan help create the CIA and how SMOM Gehlen help train Mossad troops. He doesn't want people to know the influence of SMOM Spanish King Juan Carlos of Spain, and Queen Elizabeth (not only the Grand Patroness of Freemasonry, but is a member of the powerful Order of the Garter and of the Germanic Saxe-Gotha Coburg family tree). Many of these people own corporation and have many global influence. Not to mention he doesn't talk about how high level Freemasonry is influencing the world with folks like Robert Schuller.

Drayl Bradford Smith's whole tactic is intimidation. He won't let people agree to disagree on some issue. He just says that if you don't blame the Zionists for everything, you're a shill, which is stupid and illogical. People who disagree aren't shill necessarily neither are trying to support the evil present in Israel. I don't agree with the evil in Israel, but I still have hope that Israel will change and I will not curse the good people living in Israel. Funny that this liar wants to talk about the Ashkenazi, when there was a permanent Jewish persence in Israel from 70 A.D. and science and history proves the Sefadi, Indic, Ethoipic, Yemeni, and other tribes of Jewish people are descended from the ancient Hebrews of the Bible. He's talking about Dave von Kliest, Greg, and other people. I don't consider Dave a shill and Greg courageously interviewed Eric. I don't agree with Eric on racial matters, but Eric is right on about the Jesuits. Now, Greg is suffering a new slander campaign and this isn't suprisingly because 2tuff experienced it recently. I've experienced it from Freemasons in 2003. These liars never made me scared. I've got the ammo in my bag friends. I've just wrote this immediately when I say Bardford's screed.

Then this clown talks about UFOs. For thousands of years, there have been artwork detailing UFOs. Personally, I don't agree with aliens existing, but I do know that the Nazis, America Operation Paperclip, and other government project do indeed have anti-gravitational technology similar to the UFOs people claim to see. That is fact not fiction. His use of the word "goyim" just expresses his hatred even more. He doesn't say a word on the radical Muslim/Nazi connection at all and he omits a lot of information, but bashes people constantly. I don't care if someone is Jewish, Cypto-Jewish, or whatever, as long as they embrace the truth, never support corruption done by any people, and fight against real evil in the world. Instead of building Patriots up yet exposing errors, he's speculating on people on whether they are Zionists in an excuse to bash them unfairly. That's a typical tactic of a shill.

I'm not done yet.

Stay Turned.

Description: My critique of it.

TruthSeeker24 - February 13, 2006 03:11 PM (GMT)

<http://watch.pair.com/death-phoenix.html>

is the link. I feel that this site gets a lot right and some things wrong. I quickly read the whole thing. It's wrong to assume that only the tribe of Judah are Jews, because the NT led to the expansion of the term Jew to include the lost 10 tribes as well. For example, Paul was from the tribe of Benjamin, yet he's called a Jew. Judah being the only Jews only applied to time before the Babylonian Captivity. Even the Bible says that Peter sent his word to all of the tribes. They forget that Gen. 12:3 only applied to Jewish people, because it mentioned his seed and it was an everlasting covenant and an everlasting possession. That doesn't mean that God broke or replaced that covenant. The covenant still stands unlike Mosaic Law, which it doesn't stand for the Gentiles. They rightfully expose the influence of Masonic Jewish Zionist's role in world affairs and rightfully expose the anti-Torah, anti-Moses, anti-Christ Talmud that adds to the Bible and some believe blaspheme Jesus and Mary. They talk the extra mile to bash the Merovingians. I guess Alexandra doesn't like that at all since she related to some of them. My opinion of the Merovingians are that some of evil and some are good. I believe like they do that many people in Israel are evil. The regathering of Israel in 1948 was partial fulfillment of Bible prophecy in that the total fulfillment must only come when the Messiah returns. Unlike them, there are many Jewish believers in Israel and not all Jews rejected Christ. I think the work overall is fairly good, but they seek to pin the tail on the Jews, although any apostasy or evil that many Jews have done, originated from the Ancient Mystery Religions, not the Jews by themselves.

They criticize the Constitution Party (in claiming that it's pro-Dominion) and Michael Peroutka, yet they cite no evidence that Peroutka support Dominion theology. I reject Dominion theology since they support a theocracy and believe that lie that Christians must rule all governmental infrastructure to herald the coming of Christ. The fact is that Christ will come on his own time after the Tribulation as mentioned in Matthew 24. They omit the Muslim radical/Nazi link and they omit a whole of stuff. They accuse Calvin of being Jewish and won't criticize the errors of Roman Catholicism in a hardcore way. They say that it's only an apostate group with ties to the Jews, yet the evidence proves that Babylon influenced the development of Romanism. Also, I'm Baptist and they forget the Bible believers of Benegarius, Vigilantius, Polycarp, Wycliffe, Tyndale, and other heroes who either weren't Catholics or rejected Roman Catholicism. Also, I see nothing from them about the threat of far left secular humanists, which are just as evil as theocrats in the right wing establishment crowd.

Alexandra - February 13, 2006 08:22 PM (GMT)

Whoa--back up there, Timothy. What don't I like? :huh:

As far as bashing anyone goes, I say if the shoe fits, wear it. Expose evil.

still confused

dp9 - February 14, 2006 01:19 AM (GMT)

Good assessment, Timothy.

Glad to see you're a post-tribber. I'm either mid or post, just don't see the pre trib thingy that so many Christians are resting their laurels on. I personally never have agreed with LaHaye. I like the Bible myself. :)

I was starting to consider the Constitution Party. I got caught up in dominion theology for a couple of years. Mainly I was agreeing with Biblical patriarchy(as opposed to secular feminism of the kind Ms. Hillary endorses :blink:) but kinda got into the whole "bring America back to its Christian roots" thing. I have since learned that theocracy is not what Jesus Christ had in mind.

Where did they get the idea Calvin was a Jew?

I recommend that members of this forum read Foxe's Book of Martyrs if they haven't already. It makes me cry every time without fail and I feel like such a wimp. People (in general) need to know there's a big difference between Catholicism & Protestant/Baptist Christians. Most people lump all "Christianity" under one label and I'm sorry, that's just wrong.

What do you think of Pilgrim's Progress by John Bunyan?

-Donna

Alexandra - February 14, 2006 09:46 PM (GMT)

I don't think the Constitution Party wants a theocracy--they just want our government to honor God. (I'm a card-carrying member BTW.)

I think we already have a theocracy, if one considers secular humanism a religion--the god of self. And it's being pushed off on everyone, thanks to the ACLU and the like.

AVBibleBeliever - February 14, 2006 11:31 PM (GMT)

I'll admit I registered Republican once I was of age but I have never voted and I wish to withdraw my partisan membership and be affiliated with no political party but keep myself informed. So, I'm not politically apathetic in that regard. I thought about voting for Michael Anthony Peroutka and the Constitution Party in the last election but I when I learned Peroutka was Jesuit-trained at Loyola College in Maryland I reconsidered. Soon after, I learned from a friend who is a pastor that regardless of that fact after he graduated he was converted to Christ and is genuinely a Biblically born again and saved man.

Brother Nicholas N. Rivera

Alexandra - February 14, 2006 11:46 PM (GMT)

Yeah, that Loyola College had me wondering a bit.

You say he is born again? If so, I feel that much better having voted for him in '04!

So are you being violent if you vote for a Christian?

I can see what that person is saying. To vote for someone is to put your stamp of approval on them and what they do. That's why one has to be careful when voting against someone.

Here in Ohio everyone was "anyone but Kerry" and my mother, who lives in Michigan, said the sentiment was "anyone but Bush." I'd say "anyone but those two" but I can't agree with the entire Libertarian platform, never mind Socialist or Green Party.

MooseDog - February 15, 2006 05:14 PM (GMT)

QUOTE

So are you being violent if you vote for a Christian?

yes

By voting one believes thier opinions should be enforced by the guns of the "state." Jesus never voted and I'm pretty sure he doesn't want and army of men with guns (police) to enforce his views. He didn't force his views on to anyone, if people didn't take kindly to his message he moved on to the next town. It was the "state" who decided to force thier opinions and decided Jesus should be tried and convicted for peacefully expressing his views.

Alexandra - February 15, 2006 06:44 PM (GMT)

Interesting take.

When I vote for someone, I'm basically saying with my vote that I want a Godly leader.

MooseDog - February 15, 2006 07:39 PM (GMT)

I understand where you are coming from but i don't think Godly leaders are elected or even seek political office.

Alexandra - February 16, 2006 02:25 PM (GMT)

Oh, I wouldn't doubt some seek political office, but they don't get anywhere.

Title: WHERE THE VATICAN WEALTH IS STORED

Description: by Avro Manhattan

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 14, 2006 12:29 AM (GMT)

WHERE THE VATICAN WEALTH IS STORED

A clutch of paragraphs from THE VATICAN BILLIONS by Avro Manhattan:

"The Vatican has large investments with the Rothschilds of Britain, France and America, with the Hambros Bank, with the Credit Suisse in London and Zurich. In the United States it has large investments with the Morgan Bank, the Chase-Manhattan Bank, the First National Bank of New York, the Bankers Trust Company, and others. The Vatican has billions of shares in the most powerful international corporations such as Gulf Oil, Shell, General Motors, Bethlehem Steel, General Electric, International Business Machines, T.W.A., etc. At a conservative estimate, these amount to more than 500 million dollars in the U.S.A. alone.

"In a statement published in connection with a bond prospectus, the Boston archdiocese listed its assets at Six Hundred and Thirty-five Million ($635,891,004), which is 9.9 times its liabilities. This leaves a net worth of Five Hundred and Seventy-one million dollars ($571,704,953). It is not difficult to discover the truly astonishing wealth of the church, once we add the riches of the twenty-eight archdioceses and 122 dioceses of the U.S.A., some of which are even wealthier than that of Boston.

"Some idea of the real estate and other forms of wealth controlled by the Catholic church may be gathered by the remark of a member of the New York Catholic Conference, namely 'that his church probably ranks second only to the United States Government in total annual purchase.' Another statement, made by a nationally syndicated Catholic priest, perhaps is even more telling. 'The Catholic Church,' he said, 'must be the biggest corporation in the United States. We have a branch office in every neighborhood. Our assets and real estate holdings must exceed those of Standard Oil, A.T.&T., and U.S. Steel combined. And our roster of dues-paying members must be second only to the tax rolls of the United States Government.'

"The Catholic church, once all her assets have been put together, is the most formidable stockbroker in the world. The Vatican, independently of each successive pope, has been increasingly orientated towards the U.S. The Wall Street Journal said that the Vatican's financial deals in the U.S. alone were so big that very often it sold or bought gold in lots of a million or more dollars at one time.

"The Vatican's treasure of solid gold has been estimated by the United Nations World Magazine to amount to several billion dollars. A large bulk of this is stored in gold ingots with the U.S. Federal Reserve Bank, while banks in England and Switzerland hold the rest. But this is just a small portion of the wealth of the Vatican, which in the U.S. alone, is greater than that of the five wealthiest giant corporations of the country. When to that is added all the real estate, property, stocks and shares abroad, then the staggering accumulation of the wealth of the Catholic church becomes so formidable as to defy any rational assessment.

"The Catholic church is the biggest financial power, wealth accumulator and property owner in existence. She is a greater possessor of material riches than any other single institution, corporation, bank, giant trust, government or state of the whole globe. The pope, as the visible ruler of this immense amassment of wealth, is consequently the richest individual of the twentieth century. No one can realistically assess how much he is worth in terms of billions of dollars."

It's all JUST MERGERS & ACQUISITIONS....

GMA-7 NEWS / PHILIPPINE DAILY INQUIRER : Stated that : The Roman Catholic Church is the BIGGEST LAND OWNERS in the Republic Of The Philippines.

Additionally, the Roman Catholic Church owns the prestigious educational institutions in the Philippines, like : Ateneo de Manila, Collegio San Juan de Letran, San Beda College, De La Salle University, San Sebastian College, Don Bosco College and others.

The Catholic Church also owns huge hectares of land where ther monastery or seminary convents are within these huge hectares of land. The Catholic Church also owns big hospitals like, San Juan De Dios, Cardinal Santos Medical Center, Perpetual Hospital and others. Some intellectuals believed that the Philippines top hospital St. Lukes is owned by the Catholic Church too. Monte de Piedad Bank is also owned by the Catholic Church.

GMA-7 NEWS / PHILIPPINE DAILY INQUIRER : Stated that : The Roman Catholic Church (CBCP - Catholic Bishop Conference Of The Philippines) is receiving millions of pesos donated by Philippine Amusement & Gaming Corporations (PAGCOR) earned money from gamblings.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 14, 2006 12:41 AM (GMT)

Many historians and researchers and one American Congressman stated that : The VATICAN through the Jesuit Order controlling the Illuminatis is in control of the United States Federal Reserve. Whoever controls the Federal Reserve Of New York controls the whole United States Federal Reserve. It was also found out that the Federal Reserve is owned by the government of the United States and in-fact the Federal Reserve is owned by a private entity. GUESS WHO !

For complete information, please refer to the VATICAN BILLION by Avro Manhattan, from Chpater 1 to Chater 11.

I can also provide all my brethren a complete chapters upon request.

Furthermore, millions of Filipinos are unaware that the Republic Of The Philippines is secretly controlled by the Roman Catholic Church. Indeed no doubt that the Jesuit Order is the master planner. The very reason, the Philippines is now in deep political turmoil and economic trouble and now one of the poor country in the world.

As I've said many times that the Catholic Church is the hidden central conspiracy force manipulating the Philippines.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 14, 2006 12:42 AM (GMT)

Dear Brother Bobby,

Remember Manhattan's The Vatican Billions was written in 1983. And the Jesuits have committed tremendous theft since that time. One of those massive thefts is the Vatican Bank Scandal when Jesuit Bishop Hnilica, the controller of P2 Lodge, was the secret power behind the loss of the Pope's money and the murder of Calvi. He was then protected by Pope John Paul II after the Order nearly assassinated the Pope for attempting to relieve Arrupe from his command. Jesuit Malachi Martin addresses this assassination in his book The Jesuits, pp. 79-105.

Archbishop Marchincus was then made the fall guy, and for taking the rap, was given diplomatic immunity here in the US where he now resides in Phoenix.

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric

THE AMAZING CONSPIRACY International Banking Systems Controlled By Jesuits & Vatican

GLOBALIZATION AND ONE WORLD ECONOMY
" THE NEW WORLD ORDER " EVOLVING THROUGH SECRET SOCIETIES AND ILLEGAL ORGANIZATIONS

BY : BOBBY G. LIMETA

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA is bankrupt !

Money of good American people was used in many illegal activities and international conspiracies undeniably initiated by the Jesuits & Vatican.

The children of Israel servant of GOD "The Hebrew" have nothing to do with these worldwide conspiracies, the Israelites - Hebrew brothers & sisters of Moses are innocent people.

It is the Masonic Jews tied-up with the Jesuits & Vatican are also culprits.

The FEDERAL RESERVE BANK is a private corporation and not owned by the government of the United States. Owned and operated by 12 Corporations:

Rothschild Bank of London
Warburg Bank of Hamburg
Rothschild Bank of Berlin
Lehman Brothers of New York
Lazard Brothers of Paris
Kuhn Loeb Bank of New York
Israel Moses Seif Banks of Italy (Masonic Jews)
Goldman, Sachs of New York
Warburg Bank of Amsterdam
Chase Manhattan Bank of New York

People with key positions in the Federal Reserve including the Council On Foreign Relations are members of the secret societies all reporting to the Jesuits.

Billions of United States Dollars was used for financing many civil wars, revolutions, wars and arm conflicts, arms sales and manufacturing, drug trafficking, illegal monetary transactions, used for United Nations operations, assassinations, global economy, politics, and all kinds of secret & illegal worldwide conspiracies under the umbrella of the Jesuits & Vatican.

BANK OF AMERICA is owned by the Jesuits

It seems that all money used for worldwide international conspiracies emerged from the Federal Reserve Of The United States.

The Federal Reserve Bank consists of board of directors in Wasington, D.C. There are twelve regional Federal Reserve Banks located in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Atlanta, St. Louis, Kansas City, Dallas, Cleveland, Chicago, Minneapolis and San Francisco all are controlled by the Jesuits & Vatican through secret societies.

Whoever controls the Federal Reserve Bank of New York controls the entire structure of the Federal Reserve System.

Four of the top 50-Holders of the Federal Reserve are :
Citicorp Inc., J.P. Morgan Chase & Co., Bank Of America & Wells Fargo & Co.

The European Community and their Euro Dollar is controlled by the Jesuits & Vatican through the Illuminati & Bilderberg

The United Nations, World Bank & International Monetary Fund are controlled by the Jesuits & Vatican through their secret societies

Congressman Louis T. McFadden said before the U.S. Congress on June 1932
"Mr. Chairman, we have in this country one of the most corrupt institutions the world has ever known. I refer to the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Reserve Bank.

The Jesuits & Vatican using Federal Reserve plundered America and the wealth of the nations all in the pocket of the Jesuits & Vatican.

Federal Reserve is privately owned according to Thomas D. Schauf, he said :
Dear American:

Pursuant to your request, I will attempt to clear up questions you have about the Federal Reserve Bank \(FED\). I spent much time researching the FED and these are the shocking and revealing conclusions.

THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANK IS A PRIVATE COMPANY.

Article 1, Section 8 of the Constitution states that Congress shall have the power to coin \(create\) money and regulate the value thereof. Today however, the FED, which is a privately owned company, controls and profits by printing money through the Treasury, and regulating its value.

The FED began with approximately 300 people or banks that became owners \(stockholders purchasing stock at \$100 per share - the stock is not publicly traded\) in the Federal Reserve Banking System. They make up an international banking cartel of wealth beyond comparison \(Reference 1, 14\). The FED banking system collects billions of dollars \(Reference 8, 17\) in interest annually and distributes the profits to its shareholders. The Congress illegally gave the FED the right to print money \(through the Treasury\) at no interest to the FED. The FED creates money from nothing, and loans it back to us through banks, and charges interest on our currency. The FED also buys Government debt with money printed on a printing press and charges U.S. taxpayers interest. Many Congressmen and Presidents say this is fraud \(Reference 1,2,3,5,17\).

Of course many intelligent Americans like Eric Jon Phelps will surely say that the JESUITS & VATICAN are the REAL OWNERS.

THE FED FEARS THE POPULATION WILL BECOME AWARE OF THIS FRAUD AND DEMAND CHANGE

"THE FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD, A GOVERNMENT BOARD, HAS CHEATED THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES AND THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES OUT OF ENOUGH MONEY TO PAY THE NATIONAL DEBT.

Our we sure that the Jesuits & Vatican are the real culprits ? - The Whore in the Bible Book Of Revelation.

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE FOR GOD TO LIE AND JESUS CHRIST IS THE FAITHFUL WITNESS

Am I & Eric Jon Phelps attack the Jesuits & Vatican without proof ?

Let us use our common sense, let us all the ask the HOLY BIBLE. Remember that the HOLY BIBLE is the Book Of All Books for telling the TRUTH. And even the most reliable source of information compared to any legal documents. Because, the WORD OF GOD IS SPIRITUAL FOOD AND IT IS LIFE.

WHEN GOD & JESUS SPEAKS-OUT THE ARGUMENTS & BOXING IS FINISH.

Book Of Revelation Chapter 18 : 1-2 / 11-13

After this I saw another angel coming down out of heaven. He had great authority and his splendor brightened the whole earth. He cried out in a loud voice "She has fallen! Great Babylon has fallen. She is now haunted by demons and unclean spirits, all kinds of filthy and hateful birds live in her.

All businessman of the earth also cry and mourn for her, because no one buys their good any longer, no one buys their gold, silver, precious stones and pearls; their goods of linen, purple cloth, silk, and scarlet cloth; all kinds of rare woods and all kinds of objects made of ivory and of expensive wood, of bronze, iron and marble; and cinnamon, spice, incense, myrrh and frankincense; wine and oil, flour and wheat, cattle and sheep, horses, and carriages, slaves and even SOULS OF MEN.

There will a time that the Jesuits & Vatican who corrupted this world and their big boss Lucifer will be punished by GOD & JESUS CHRIST.

Of course nobody can win against GOD & JESUS CHRIST.

I'm not pro-American I'm a pro Bible-Believing Christians. And that Millions of good Americans & Millions Of People Around The World Was Deceived By Lucifer's Jesuit Order & Vatican.

I certainly go along with the Federal Reserve 'stuff' but once the Bible get referred to as the word of God I cringe whilst some words are manifest in Truth there are many errors & corruptions.

Perhaps if one reads these, what I consider, words of wisdom, my point may become clearer.

This site is a must read for those who seek a greater understanding.

If you have taken the Taroscopes Tour and read through the information presented there, you will have come across the discussion of how human consciousness develops through 4 levels, which become the types, symbolized since the earliest times by the four elements or the four suits in the deck of cards. Now, we again find that in the New Testament there are 4 Gospels. There are several reasons for this and one of the main ones has to do with Astro-Theology. Because:

The four "Gospels" are representations of the four cardinal points of the zodiac!

And God said, Let there be lights in the firmament of the heaven to divide the day from the night; and let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days, and years -

The Gospels are not a biography

The original authors had no intention of making their book into a biography and never for a moment intended it to be one. They were merely rewriting the oldest story in the world, that of the zodiac. They never dreamt that a cabal of megalomaniac and perverse patriarchs would attempt to corrupt the story by personification. The 4 gospels do not work as a biography. If it was meant to be one, the authors would have done a better job of it, after all, there are only four of them. Even after years of doctoring and pious commentary it still doesn't make sense as the biography of an individual. Actually, as will be shown it is a great work on propaganda, that was originally a compilation of tales regarding the orbit and adventures of the sun through the zodiac. Does this threaten ones spirituality? Does the pronouncement upset all one holds dear? If it does it is because all that we think is spiritual today is utterly false. We have moved so far away from what is real that we cannot even see the truth of this. That is what this website is all about. The real Christ, or Moses, or John the Baptist were sidereal astrologers instructing their students in the great mysteries of the sky. And atheism has nothing to do with it. If one has read through the Taroscopes Tour it will be recalled that the external zodiac got to be external because it was a constellation of archetypes within the consciousness of man first. By projection and inflation, the human consciousness turned the contents of itself out into the external. All the myths mention this in various ways. Blake's Albion falling through the abyss and breaking asunder on the rocks of matter, the Biblical "fall" of the primal parents, in the Kabala we have the descent of "Adam-Ka-Amon," in Egypt the vomiting forth from the mouth of the gods, in Greece the "masturbatory" action of the Titan creators like Zeus, etc., are all ways of describing this act of consciousness, emptying forth its inner template to the world. Emmanuel Kant proved it in his philosophy as did others within the discipline of metaphysics. The contents of human consciousness can be expressed in mathematical terms. The mind is fourfold and from these 4 come 7, 10 and 12, numbers which are found absolutely everywhere.

Now, since it is proven that the external zodiac is the analogue of the consciousness of man, we can understand that there is complete authenticity in the ancients studying it and using it as a means to an end in the tuition of the novice in the great mysteries of Being, which are the mysteries of God. And this truth, has been carefully concealed from the masses for centuries. We are walking, breathing zodiacs. The zodiac is in us, so are the 12 houses and 7 planets, (or what they represent archetypally). Our ego-consciousness is the inner sun that must pass through the halls of the 12 judges, must matriculate, must perfect itself. And this cannot be done in surrogate. Each must go through their own journey. The triumph of all religions lies in their ability to convince us all of the opposite: that some personality outside of ourselves, separated from us personally, by millennia, has done it all, or will do it all for us. The orthodox created the external model that has done it all for us, taking away the responsibility for our own actions, in clever ways. And we fell for it.

The religious teaching presented in Paul's Epistles is fundamentally different from what research has recognized as being authentic sayings of Jesus...What we know as Christianity today is not the teaching contained in these authentic sayings; it is the theology disseminated by Paul and the doctors of his Epistles - Elmer H. Gruber (The Original Jesus)

The writings in the New Testament were not written by eyewitnesses of an overpowering divine appearance in the midst of human history...the Christian Bible turns out to be a masterpiece of invention...To be quite frank about it, the Bible is the product of very energetic and successful mythmaking on the part of those early Christians - Burton L. Mack (Who Wrote the New Testament)

...this whole affair of which we speak and preach, and which is called Gospel, has no reference at all to any person that ever existed, or events that ever occurred upon earth, but it is astronomical - Rev. Robert Taylor (The Devil's Pulpit)

...the Canon of the New Testament, is nothing more or less than a copy of the mythological histories of the Hindoo Savior Krishna, and the Buddhist savior Buddha, with a mixture of mythology borrowed from the Persians and other nations... T. W. Doane (Bible Myths and Their Parallels in Other Religions)

The Egyptian Book of the Dead, which is traced back to 4,260 BC, years before the writing of the New Testament has its foundation in the lore of the heavens, and in poetical imagery follows the path of the Sun through the different signs of the zodiac. Many phrases, many headings of the chapters of the New Testament are similar, to those in the Book of the Dead - Gerald Massey

It was Rudolf Bultmann, the German Biblical scholar, who cited certain passages in the Gospels...as interpolations of Sophia herself, put into the mouth of Christ - Caitlin Matthews (Sophia: Goddess of Wisdom)

Many of the ideas of the Christians have been expressed better, and earlier by the Greeks. Behind these views is an ancient doctrine that has existed from the beginning -

Celsus

The Real Crucifixion

We handed our spiritual evolution to the powers that be, and are now, as a result of this folly, divorced from the sacred oracle within. The goal of true religion or theology, is to return one to the understanding that one cannot find god, one becomes god, that is enlightened, to the truth of ourselves and the living ambient universe.

The Imitatio Christi will forever have this disadvantage: we worship a man as a divine model, embodying the deepest meaning of life, and then out of sheer imitation we forget to make real the profound meaning present in ourselves - Carl Gustav Jung

If thou dost know the First Matter, know also for certain that thou hast discovered the Sanctuary of Nature - Thomas Vaughn

All division and separation is illusion. We talk of psychic and physical energy, macrocosm and microcosm, body and soul, self and god, etc.,. However, ALL IS SELF and SELF IS ALL. This state cannot be reached, however, without nucleation of all Four aspects of consciousness. This is the mystery concealed in the very first Tarot card - Magician, as well as in the others. The Gnostics said: when the $2 + 2 = 1$ then shall the Christ be born in you. The Tarot is one of the means of actualizing this state. As said before, Tarot is the Book of Life and not a dogmatic scripture. The Bible is an outgrowth of the Torah, but the Torah is an outgrowth of the Tarot, in fact they are the same word, meaning Law, or Way, same as Tao. There are many mysteries encapsulated in the

Scalia Dismisses 'Living Constitution'

By JONATHAN EWING, Associated Press Writer

PONCE, Puerto Rico - People who believe the Constitution would break if it didn't change with society are "idiots," U.S. Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia says.

In a speech Monday sponsored by the conservative Federalist Society, Scalia defended his long-held belief in sticking to the plain text of the Constitution "as it was originally written and intended."

"Scalia does have a philosophy, it's called originalism," he said. "That's what prevents him from doing the things he would like to do," he told more than 100 politicians and lawyers from this U.S. island territory.

According to his judicial philosophy, he said, there can be no room for personal, political or religious beliefs.

Scalia criticized those who believe in what he called the "living Constitution."

"That's the argument of flexibility and it goes something like this: The Constitution is over 200 years old and societies change. It has to change with society, like a living organism, or it will become brittle and break."

"But you would have to be an idiot to believe that," Scalia said. "The Constitution is not a living organism, it is a legal document. It says something and doesn't say other things."

Proponents of the living constitution want matters to be decided "not by the people, but by the justices of the Supreme Court."

"They are not looking for legal flexibility, they are looking for rigidity, whether it's the right to abortion or the right to homosexual activity, they want that right to be embedded from coast to coast and to be unchangeable," he said.

Scalia was invited to Puerto Rico by the Federalist Society for Law and Public Policy Studies. The organization was founded in 1982 as a debating society by students who believed professors at the top law schools were too liberal. Conservatives and libertarians mainly make up the 35,000 members.

Title: 2tuff addresses Lenny Bloom about his Temporal

Description: Coadjutor information suppliers!

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 15, 2006 04:52 PM (GMT)

Dear Lenny Bloom,

First of all I must say that I'm certainly not American and certainly do not wish to be labelled anything as I'm a human being living on Earth. Unfortunately many could label me as English as its claimed the land I dwell on is ruled by England, The United Kingdom and therefore controlled by Cardinal Andrew Willoughby Ninian Berties stooge and cousin Queen Elizabeth II the Gelph. So where I come across as American I do not quite understand.

I've had much respect for yourself and especially Sherman Skolnick for a long time now and if I had known your broadcasts etc were like Alex Jones's I would have taken more precaution indeed. I did not realise that your broadcasts took Jesuit Temporal Coadjutors like Jones. I recognise that Skolnick is aware of the pinnacle of control the Jesuit Order and that your site has had the great Eric "Mr History" Phelps upon it quite a few times. The way your information is put over to us its as if your very strict on who was allowed to come on etc. When you see the likes of Skolnick and especially TRUTHsayer Eric Jon Phelps this certainly sways many to think like I did. Therefore I took for granted Flocco and company except for Webb were legit. I guess I need to be even more cautious already and I must thank you for pushing in this direction even more than I already am. Yes I am quite capable of weeding through the disinformation of many especially ones linked to Alex Jones etc. We recognise Alex as a Temporal Coadjutor unlike yourself because he simply will not address the subject of Jesuits like many including Texe Marrs.

I do not believe in one group verses another as I realised a long time it was a complete charade set up by one entity to control both sides and give the impression of sides. I then eventually got through all the disinformation and found the truth who was behind it all. I found the Society of Jesus at the top of the tree. Now I am not religious one bit and I'm not anti-catholic from the ordinary man sense only the Jesuit Order, SMOM etc.

Of course we need to hear the Temporal Coadjutors information because 90% of their information is truth and usually 10% is disinformation. This 10% is usually the most important and of course its the diversion, smokescreen, veil and CLOAK. I still listen to David Icke and others even though their obvious Temporal Coadjutors as they do have some good information to give. You find they inform on the current situations and future but their main goal is to divert your attention from the real controller. This is why every man and his dog in conspiracy know about the Order of Illuminati but do not even know about The Jesuits, SMOM and when they do come across this information they utilise the conditioning which was applied by Temporals to deny the truth. Remember religion is a very very powerful shield, Cloak and veil and works very well. Any information from Harold Innis and Marshall McLuhan would be appreciated on your site if it isn't already there.

I personally wouldn't want to label myself a scientist because scientists are hoodwinked and conditioned into tunnel vision and again this is a Jesuit/Establishment label.

No I'm not a fool and I understand why you have these people on although its just like I said your site gives the impression you do not have temporals upon it unlike Alex Jones. Yes I'm deceived and so is yourself as we're all being deceived daily and I guarantee even you cannot be 100% free from the disinformation at one time or another as its impossible. We can weed out the majority but their may be slips along the way. Hopefully when this occurs we can eventually realise and change our mind/stance.

Thankyou

I APOLOGIZE FOR BEING A BIT HARSH.

PLEASE FORGIVE ME.

IN A NUTSHELL CLOAK AND DAGGER COMES FROM A BUNCH OF COMMUNICATIONS STUDENTS.

WE STUDY COMMUNICATIONS AND HOW IT CAN BE USED TO DISTORT REALITY.

NATURALLY THEREFORE YOU HAVE TO FOCUS ON THE JESUITS AND OTHER GROUPS THAT HAVE POWER AND CONTROL IN OUR WORLD.

NATURALLY WE ARE GOING TO INTERVIEW JESUITS AND OTHERS WHO DISTORT REALITY.

TO GET RID OF THESE PEOPLE IS TO PREVENT STUDYING THEM.

WHAT WOULD WE DO THAT FOR.

WE ARE NOT OUT TO USE THE INTERNET FOR POLITICAL PURPOSES BUT TO ASSIST THOSE INTERESTED IN QUESTIONING REALITY TO PERCEIVE THE FORCES OF POWER IN OUR WORLD. THOSE WHO CREATE THE FALSE PARADIGMS SHOULD BE STUDIED. WHETHER YOU LIKE THEM OR NOT THE JESUITS ARE IN A POSITION OF POWER AND SHOULD BE STUDIED AND NOT IGNORED. OUR PERSONAL FEELINGS ABOUT THEM ARE INSIGNIFICANT. AS LONG AS SATAN IS THE GOD OF THIS WORLD THEY WILL PROBABLY BE CLOSE TO THE LEVERS OF POWER. IF YOU WANT TO IGNORE THEM THEN GO AHEAD BUT DONT THREATEN OR LABEL US AS ONE OF THEM. IT MERELY SHOWS YOUR OWN IGNORANCE.

SORRY FOR THAT.

Cloak,

Can you explain how you can lower your excellent reputations by allowing these people upon your radio and website? I was suckered in by these people because of Skolnicks excellent reputation. I thank Eric Jon Phelps for putting me straight about these guys. I hope you take his advise and get rid of these people and hopefully find someone of more worth to your and our cause which is the destruction of The Jesuit Order, Church of Rome and their New Atlantis (NWO). Webb is pathetic to be honest and that childish article claiming Peter Hans Kolvenbach had died was terrible. I find it awefully funny how Kolvenbach has been seen many times since and hes actually retiring shortly 2008 from the Order itself or at least being sheep dipped.

If you persist with these people then I will have no further choice but to then brand both you Lenny and Skolnick now over on the darkside thus making you too TEMPORAL COADJUTORS.

Thankyou

Lenny Bloom,

Thanks for the quick replys and I'm sorry if I offended you and Sherman. I've really enjoyed listening to some of your Radio broadcasts. Yes these Temporal Coadjutors do let much slip but certainly not about the Jesuit Order or Sovereign Military of Malta. Alex Jones is too up himself these days. The only person I truly trust right now is Eric Jon Phelps and I like Jordan Maxwell but he makes a few mistakes along the way.

Take Care

Title: How the Vatican created Islam

Description: By EX Jesuit Alberto Rivera

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 14, 2006 12:07 AM (GMT)

How the Vatican created Islam

Tue Dec 11 00:58:39 2001

Alberto Rivera

How the Vatican created Islam. The astonishing story from an ex-Jesuit priest, Alberto Rivera, which was told to him by Cardinal Bea while he was at the Vatican.

From "The Prophet":

<http://www.choosinglife.net/Islam.htm>

The Prophet, Muhammad

This information came from Alberto Rivera, former Jesuit priest after his conversion to Protestant Christianity. It is excerpted from "The Prophet," published by Chick Publications, PO Box 662, Chino CA 91708.

Since its publication, after several unsuccessful attempts on his life, he died suddenly from food poisoning.

His testimony should not be silenced. Dr. Rivera speaks to us still...

"What I'm going to tell you is what I learned in secret briefings in the Vatican when I was a Jesuit priest, under oath and induction.

"A Jesuit cardinal named Augustine Bea showed us how desperately the Roman Catholics wanted Jerusalem at the end of the third century.

"Because of its religious history and its strategic location, the Holy City was considered a priceless treasure. A scheme had to be developed to make Jerusalem a Roman Catholic city.

"The great untapped source of manpower that could do this job was the children of Ishmael. The poor Arabs fell victim to one of the most clever plans ever devised by the powers of darkness.

"Early Christians went everywhere with the gospel setting up small churches, but they met heavy opposition. Both the Jews and the Roman government persecuted the believers in Christ to stop their spread. But the Jews rebelled against Rome, and in 70 AD, Roman armies under General Titus smashed Jerusalem and destroyed the great Jewish temple which was the heart of Jewish worship...in fulfillment of Christ's prophecy in Matthew 24:2.

"On this holy place today where the temple once stood, the Dome of the Rock Mosque stands as Islam's second most holy place.

"Sweeping changes were in the wind. Corruption, apathy, greed, cruelty, perversion and rebellion were eating at the Roman Empire, and it was ready to collapse. The persecution against Christians was useless as they continued to lay down their lives for the gospel of Christ.

"The only way Satan could stop this thrust was to create a counterfeit "Christian" religion to destroy the work of God. The solution was in Rome. Their religion had come from ancient Babylon and all it needed was a face-lift. This didn't happen overnight, but began in the writings of the "early church fathers."

"It was through their writings that a new religion would take shape. The statue of Jupiter in Rome was eventually called St. Peter, and the statue of Venus was changed to the Virgin Mary. The site chosen for its headquarters was on one of the seven hills called "Vaticanus," the place of diving serpent where the Satanic temple of Janus stood.

"The great counterfeit religion was Roman Catholicism, called "Mystery, Babylon the Great, the Mother of Harlots and Abominations of the Earth." Revelation 17:5. She was raised up to block the gospel, slaughter the believers in Christ, establish religions, create wars and make the nations drunk with the wine of her fornication as we will see.

"Three major religions have one thing in common – each has a holy place where they look for guidance. Roman Catholicism looks to the Vatican as the Holy City. The Jews look to the wailing wall in Jerusalem, and the Muslims look to Mecca as their Holy City. Each group believes that they receive certain types of blessings for the rest of their lives for visiting their holy place.

"In the beginning, Arab visitors would bring gifts to the "House of God," and the keepers of the Kaaba were gracious to all who came. Some brought their idols and, not wanting to offend these people, their idols were placed inside the sanctuary. It is said that the Jews looked upon the Kaaba as an outlying tabernacle of the Lord with veneration until it became polluted with idols.

"In a tribal contention over a well (Zamzam) the treasure of the Kaaba and the offerings that pilgrims had given were dumped down the well and it was filled with sand – it disappeared. Many years later Adb Al-Muttalib was given visions telling him where to find the well and its treasure. He became the hero of Mecca, and he was destined to become the grandfather of Muhammad.

"Before this time, Augustine became the bishop of North Africa and was effective in winning Arabs to Roman Catholicism, including whole tribes. It was among these Arab converts to Catholicism that the concept of looking for an Arab prophet developed.

"Muhammad's father died from illness and sons born to great Arab families in places like Mecca were sent into the desert to be suckled and weaned and spend some of their childhood with Bedouin tribes for training and to avoid the plagues in the cities.

"After his mother and grandfather also died, Muhammad was with his uncle when a Roman Catholic monk learned of his identity and said, "Take your brother's son back to his country and guard him against the Jews, for by god, if they see him and know of him that which I know, they will construe evil against him. Great things are in store for this brother's son of yours."

"The Roman Catholic monk had fanned the flames for future Jewish persecutions at the hands of the followers of Muhammad. The Vatican desperately wanted Jerusalem because of its religious significance, but was blocked by the Jews.

"Another problem was the true Christians in North Africa who preached the gospel. Roman Catholicism was growing in power, but would not tolerate opposition.

"Somehow the Vatican had to create a weapon to eliminate both the Jews and the true Christian believers who refused to accept Roman Catholicism. Looking to North Africa, they saw the multitudes of Arabs as a source of manpower to do their dirty work.

"Some Arabs had become Roman Catholic, and could be used in reporting information to leaders in Rome. Others were used in an underground spy network to carry out Rome's master plan to control the great multitudes of Arabs who rejected Catholicism. When "St Augustine" appeared on the scene, he knew what was going on. His monasteries served as bases to seek out and destroy Bible manuscripts owned by the true Christians.

"The Vatican wanted to create a messiah for the Arabs, someone they could raise up as a great leader, a man with charisma whom they could train, and eventually unite all the non-Catholic Arabs behind him, creating a mighty army that would ultimately capture Jerusalem for the pope.

"In the Vatican briefing, Cardinal Bea told us this story:

'A wealthy Arabian lady who was a faithful follower of the pope played a tremendous part in this drama. She was a widow named Khadijah. She gave her wealth to the church and retired to a convent, but was given an assignment. She was to find a brilliant young man who could be used by the Vatican to create a new religion and become the messiah for the children of Ishmael.

'Khadijah had a cousin named Waraquah,, who was also a very faithful Roman Catholic and the Vatican placed him in a critical role as Muhammad's advisor. He had tremendous influence on Muhammad.

'Teachers were sent to young Muhammad and he had intensive training. Muhammad studied the works of St. Augustine which prepared him for his "great calling." The Vatican had Catholic Arabs across North Africa spread the story of a great one who was about to rise up among the people and be the chosen one of their God.

'While Muhammad was being prepared, he was told that his enemies were the Jews and that the only true Christians were Roman Catholic. He was taught that others calling themselves Christians were actually wicked impostors and should be destroyed. Many Muslims believe this.

'Muhammad began receiving "divine revelations" and his wife's Catholic cousin Waraquah helped interpret them. From this came the Koran. In the fifth year of Muhammad's mission, persecution came against his followers because they refused to worship the idols in the Kaaba.

'Muhammad instructed some of them to flee to Abyssinia where Negus, the Roman Catholic king accepted them because Muhammad's views on the virgin Mary were so close to Roman Catholic doctrine. These Muslims received protection from Catholic kings because of Muhammad's revelations.

'Muhammad later conquered Mecca and the Kaaba was cleared of idols. History proves that before Islam came into existence, the Sabeans in Arabia worshiped the moon-god who was married to the sun-god. They gave birth to three goddesses who were worshipped throughout the Arab world as "Daughters of Allah" An idol excavated at Hazor in Palestine in 1950's shows Allah sitting on a throne with the crescent moon on his chest.

'Muhammad claimed he had a vision from Allah and was told, "You are the messenger of Allah." This began his career as a prophet and he received many messages. By the time Muhammad died, the religion of Islam was exploding. The nomadic Arab tribes were joining forces in the name of Allah and his prophet, Muhammad.

'Some of Muhammad's writings were placed in the Koran, others were never published. They are now in the hands of high ranking holy men (Ayatollahs) in the Islamic faith.'

"When Cardinal Bea shared with us in the Vatican, he said, These writings are guarded because they contain information that links the Vatican to the creation of Islam.

"Both sides have so much information on each other, that if exposed, it could create such a scandal that it would be a disaster for both religions.

"In their "holy" book, the Koran, Christ is regarded as only a prophet. If the pope was His representative on earth, then he also must be a prophet of God. This caused the followers of Muhammad to fear and respect the pope as another "holy man."

"The pope moved quickly and issued bulls granting the Arab generals permission to invade and conquer the nations of North Africa. The Vatican helped to finance the building of these massive Islamic armies in exchange for three favors:

1. Eliminate the Jews and Christians (true believers, which they called infidels).
2. Protect the Augustinian Monks and Roman Catholics.
3. Conquer Jerusalem for "His Holiness" in the Vatican.

"As time went by, the power of Islam became tremendous...Jews and true Christians were slaughtered, and Jerusalem fell into their hands. Roman Catholics were never attacked, nor were their shrines, during this time. But when the pope asked for Jerusalem, he was surprised at their denial! The Arab generals had such military success that they could not be intimidated by the pope — nothing could stand in the way of their own plan.

"Under Waraquah's direction, Muhammad wrote that Abraham offered Ishmael as a sacrifice. The Bible says that Isaac was the sacrifice, but Muhammad removed Isaac's name and inserted Ishmael's name. As a result of this and Muhammad's vision, the faithful Muslims built a mosque, the Dome of the Rock, in Ishmael's honor on the site of the Jewish temple that was destroyed in 70 AD. This made Jerusalem the 2nd most holy place in the Islam faith. How could they give such a sacred shrine to the pope without causing a revolt?

"The pope realized what they had created was out of control when he heard they were calling "His Holiness" an infidel. The Muslim generals were determined to conquer the world for Allah and now they turned toward Europe. Islamic ambassadors approached the pope and asked for papal bulls to give them permission to invade European countries.

"The Vatican was outraged; war was inevitable. Temporal power and control of the world was considered the basic right of the pope. He wouldn't think of sharing it with those whom he considered heathens.

"The pope raised up his armies and called them crusades to hold back the children of Ishmael from grabbing Catholic Europe. The crusades lasted centuries and Jerusalem slipped out of the pope's hands.

"Turkey fell and Spain and Portugal were invaded by Islamic forces. In Portugal, they called a mountain village "Fatima" in honor of Muhammad's daughter, never dreaming it would become world famous.

"Years later when the Muslim armies were poised on the islands of Sardinia and Corsica, to invade Italy, there was a serious problem. The Islamic generals realized they were too far extended. It was time for peace talks. One of the negotiators was Francis of Assisi.

"As a result, the Muslims were allowed to occupy Turkey in a "Christian" world, and the Catholics were allowed to occupy Lebanon in the Arab world.

"It was also agreed that the Muslims could build mosques in Catholic countries without interference as long as Roman Catholicism could flourish Arab countries.

"Cardinal Bea told us in Vatican briefings that both the Muslims and Roman Catholics agreed to block and destroy the efforts of their common enemy, Bible-believing Christian missionaries. Through these concordats, Satan blocked the children of Ishmael from a knowledge of Scripture and the truth.

"A light control was kept on Muslims from the Ayatollah down through the Islamic priests, nuns and monks. The Vatican also engineers a campaign of hatred between the Muslim Arabs and the Jews. Before this, they had co-existed peacefully.

"The Islamic community looks on the Bible-believing missionary as a devil who brings poison to the children of Allah. This explains years of ministry in those countries with little results.

"The next plan was to control Islam. In 1910, Portugal was going Socialistic. Red flags were appearing and the Catholic Church was facing a major problem. Increasing numbers were against the church.

"The Jesuits wanted Russia involved, and the location of this vision at Fatima could play a key part in pulling Islam to the Mother Church.

"In 1917, the Virgin appeared in Fatima. "The Mother of God" was a smashing success, playing to overflow crowds. As a result, the Socialists of Portugal suffered a major defeat.

"Roman Catholics world-wide began praying for the conversion of Russia and the Jesuits invented the Novenas to Fatima which they could perform throughout North Africa, spreading good public relations to the Muslim world. The Arabs thought they were honoring the daughter of Muhammad, which is what the Jesuits wanted them to believe.

"As a result of the vision of Fatima, Pope Pius XII ordered his Nazi army to crush Russia and the Orthodox religion and make Russia Roman Catholic." A few years after he lost World war II, Pope Pius XII startled the world with his phoney dancing sun vision to keep Fatima in the news. It was great religious show biz and the world swallowed it.

"Not surprisingly, Pope Pius was the only one to see this vision. As a result, a group of followers has grown into a Blue Army world-wide, totaling millions of faithful Roman Catholics ready to die for the blessed virgin.

"But we haven't seen anything yet. The Jesuits have their Virgin Mary scheduled to appear four or five times in China, Russia, and major appearance in the U.S.

"What has this got to do with Islam? Note Bishop Sheen's statement: "Our Lady's appearances at Fatima marked the turning point in the history of the world's 350 million Muslims. After the death of his daughter, Muhammad wrote that she "is the most holy of all women in Paradise, next to Mary."

"He believed that the Virgin Mary chose to be known as Our Lady of Fatima as a sign and a pledge that the Muslims who believe in Christ's virgin birth, will come to believe in His divinity.

"Bishop Sheen pointed out that the pilgrim virgin statues of Our Lady of Fatima were enthusiastically received by Muslims in Africa, India, and elsewhere, and that many Muslims are now coming into the Roman Catholic Church."

Dear Bro. Eric :

Let me share you my personal experience concerning the history of ISLAM. I started working in Saudi Arabia & Kuwait as overseas contract worker since April of 1986 and I stop on July 1994. The company's where I've worked is Al-Fadhil Construction Company (Saudi) => Mina Al-Ahmadi Oil Refinery (Kuwait), Royal Saudi Air Defense Forces (Saudi), Mawarid Group Of Company (Saudi), & Saudi Bin-Ladin Group (Jeddah, Saudi Arabia). The eldest of the Bin-Ladin clan (grand father of the famous Islamic-Masonic-Jesuit Trained Terrorist Osama Bin-Kadin died somewhere on 1987 and headline news Al-Arabia News. The eldest Bin-Ladin is one of Saudis industrialist and very close to the Abdul Aziz Al-Saud Monarchy. The Bin-Ladin originated from Yemen. The Bin-Ladin helped Saud to grabbed huge territory against another famous Arabian family (tribe) the true owner of Riyadh. My very good friend named Ahmad a former catholic converted into Islam from Eritrea (neighboring Sudan) told me some intriguing stories about Bin-Ladin & Saud against a tribe true owner of Riyadh. Malik Fahd Bin Abdulaziz Al-Saud means = King Fahd Son Of Abdulaziz The Grandson Of Saud.

On your radio interview by Derek & Sharon Gilbert PID Radio "The Bunker" you mentioned that Bin-Ladin company is the one building mosque and maintenance of Medina (the place Mohammad body was laid to rest). Yes, your correct. Because, I've work for BEMCO = Bin-Ladin Engineering & Maintenance Co. under Saudi-Bin Ladin Group and we are based in Jeddah. Our work is maintenance of King & Prince & Princes palaces. Door knob-alone is 18-Karat Gold, including kitchen and bathroom faucets and pavement are Italian marbles with 18-Karat gold linings. In Saudi Arabia hard-liquor is illegal and banned, but under the basement near gym and amusement there are Bars full of liquor owned by Prince Bandar. We worked under the 6-Red Cap Saudi National Guards with French made assault-rifles. Until now, I still keep in my home (1-overall working uniform light-blue with company's logo at the back BEMCO - Saudi Bin Ladin Group). Ahmad said, sometimes some prince secretly accommodates white girl prostitutes in the basement mostly Russians coming from Dubai, U.A.E. The Saudi Bin-Ladin Group is also the company for maintenance of Kaaba "The most holiest site is Mecca or Makkah Makarama and Zamzam is a deep-well of water, I've tasted it before and it's a little bit salty". But we are not allowed to work there for we are not Muslims. Only Muslims are allowed to work there and all non-muslims are restricted 5-miles before Mecca. Yes, I agree that the Bin-Ladin Company have a total access to Islamic Holy Sites both Mecca and Medina. Sometimes we are in the beach shore of Jeddah and that is already Red Sea.

Ahmad told me that Islam was created by another older religious institution he will not disclose to me. On 1993, I discovered that Islam was created by the Vatican in order to destroy true Israelites son of Jacob - GOD's servant. One Protestant Evangelical group in Australia send me via registered postal mail a complete set of Alberto's Magazine by Chick Publications. The title is the PROPHET - Alberto. And I believed because it matches to the stories of Ahmad who is a former Catholic. Lastly, Ahmad told me that there are secret Muslims-Freemasons (Jesuit Cohorts and of course one of them is Osama Bin-Ladin who Ahmad sometimes called Osama the bastard Yemeni). Ahmad also told me that majority of them are in Egypt and Turkey and some are also in Saudi Arabia. He even told me about Lawrence of Arabia (a British soldier who helped the Abdulaziz-Saud clan against the Ottoman Empire "The Turkish People". One more thing, Saudi Arabia is the finest gold in the world. There are two mountains full of gold deposits in Saudi Arabia where I believed the Jesuits through Muslim-Freemasons wants to get. These two mountains is surrounded by steel fence 10 miles before somebody reach the foot of the mountains and full of Red Cap Saudi National Guards with tanks. Ahmad told me that the Saudis and some Arabian Gulf state are Sunni Muslims and Iran, some in Iraq and Lebanon are Shiite. But when I asked him about Wahabbi Muslims, he just smile and don't want to talk about it.

Very astonishing, in Roman Catholic Church there is an icon of Virgin Mary but they called it FATIMA. In Portugal there is place called FATIMA. My GOD ! FATIMA is Muhammad's daughter - A Muslim woman name.

Until now I can still speak fluent arabic.

Dear Brother Bobby,

Thanks for the great info. I will send it around.

Yes, Wahhabi Islam is a creation of the Jesuit Order via British Masons Sir Richard Burton and Sir John Philby---the father of CIA/MI6/KGB Kim Philby. Benito Mussolini, whose advisor was the Secretary of the Society of Jesus, Pietro Tacchi-Venturi, helped Ibn Saud to power in 1932. Indeed, the Jesuits rule Saudi Arabia---their oil bonanza---whose leaders work with the Order's Bush Crime Family. And the Bin Laden Group will place the nukes in the mosques in both Mecca and Medina (if not already), and upon order from the Jesuit General via the CIA, will detonate the bombs, placing the blame on the US. The British will not be blamed as they will have been withdrawn from the Crusade by the time of the detonations. Europe cannot be blamed for this---only the US. And with the present destabilization of Turkey, a new Jesuit-controlled fanatical order will arise (PPK), controlled by the Grand Lodge of Turkey in Istanbul, and will also be anti-US.

It seems that every nation the Black Pope's "Holy Roman" American Empire has armed during the Pope's Cold War will be used against the Empire in the coming Sino-Soviet-Moslem invasion in the distant future (20-30 years).

And yes, the Saudi "princes" love the White prostitutes as do most Hamites.

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric

I have that Chick comic book, The Prophet, that Eric's talking about. If you go to Chick Publications, it's only two bucks and a quarter (I think) plus shipping.

It's a very good read.

Mark Brewer - February 14, 2006 07:18 AM (GMT)

Where did Phelps get the idea that Sir Richard Burton helped create Wahhabi Islam? Burton actually exposed how evil Islam really is. Wahhabism is not anything new, it is just regular Islam. The idea that Ibn Wahhab created a perversion of Islam is a myth pushed by the neoconservatives and other groups that want to create Muslim dictatorships in the world.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 14, 2006 03:22 PM (GMT)

I do not know the stories but all I can say is that if your behind something and you want to keep it quiet as much as possible, isn't it a good idea to promote yourself doing the opposite? Again this is just the usual tatic of the Order of Illuminati and higher.

In 'The Crucifixion of Truth' by Tony Bushby who lived at the Vatican for a time & was allowed access to all the vaults bar one he quotes in chapter 13 ' Cardinal Mohammed' from the writings of an erudite monk Mathew Paris that Mohammed was a Cardinal in the Roman Catholic Church before 'discovering' Islam it goes on to say that later on in life he became a drunkard & finally fell down drunk in a road side ditch & was trampled to death & so to this day the Islamic religion have barred pork & alcohol.

Indeed. Dubai is one of the financial bases for the Black Pope's Masonic Islamic International Terrorist Network built by the CIA for over the last thirty years. To allow the UAE to oversee six US ports is to further the Order's scenario of a Sino-Soviet-Moslem Invasion---and the NSA/CIA/FBI does absolutely nothing. Thanks fellas.

Dear Brother Bobby,

I've read your posts and professional pdf format presentations about how the Jesuits completely control the Philippines. I better understand why now after reading up on it. Professed Fourth Vow Jesuit Edmund A. Walsh was the master of 33rd Degree Shriner Freemason Douglas MacArthur. Today, Jesuit Georgetown Walsh School of Foreign Service-trained Head of State and President of the Philippines Gloria-Macapagal Arroyo is most certainly a Temporal Coadjutor completely subject to her Jesuit masters. She was made president after the Order deposed Joseph Ejercito Estrada.

Earlier the other day, I found a clip of a music video showing a Jesuit Novitiate and sickeningly romanticizing the Jesuit initiation and vows. The Jesuit Communications is like the Order's Filipino MTV targeted at the impressionable youth.

I noticed immediately that the Jesuit Communications logo had a sun/solar swirl which could also be a stylized number 6 and that was presented as an all seeing eye as it panned/zoomed out. Just before you see the all-seeing eye sun swirl you see a portrait of Luciferian Ignatius Loyola. When you see the entire logo after the zoom out you will see that it resembles the Masonic Tubal-Cain symbol which is no accident and not surprising at all considering the fact that the Jesuit Order controls Freemasonry.

<http://www.kena.org/hirams/Images2/CANE.GIF>

[Compare the logo and this Masonic symbol/emblem-they are both phallic as well which is not surprisingly because the all of the Professed Fourth Vow Jesuits and high-level Masonic brotherhood are sodomites and/or pedophiles].

Be strong and of a good courage brother as our LORD's holy word commands.
"Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand" (Eph.6:13).

"Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles [including the Satan's Jesuit Order] of the devil." (Eph. 6:11)

Be strong in the LORD and in the power of His might (Eph 6:10) walk by faith not by sight" (2 Cor 5:7).

Keep up the good work brother! May the Lord bless and protect you dear brother by His sovereign grace and might.

Dear Bob via Tim White,

Ye do err as I have never asserted any of your three claims against me. I have never been anti-Catholic people; rather anti-Pope, anti-Hierarchy, anti-Black Pope and anti-Jesuit Order. I said this openly to a priest on the Chuck Morse show out of Boston several years ago.

I have never been pro-Masonic Jewish Zionist which faction governs Israel since the nation's inception. I have always said that from Weizmann to Sharon, all these Labor Zionists have served the papacy against the best interests of the Lord's beloved Hebrew/Jewish/Israelitic people in their God-given land (Genesis 15).

And I have never espoused the typical evangelical position that Israel can do no wrong. My Jewish friend Barry Chamish has always been quick to point out the wrongs committed by those criminals running the government of Israel including the murderers of Rabin.

Thus, you must have me confused with another.

Sincerely in Faith,

Since the Neo Cons who are running this Israeli/Zionist agenda are nearly all Jewish, I see it as a Judaic thing more than a Vatican thing, though there may be aspects of the Vatican participating.

If Iran is attacked the responsibility will lie upon the Jewish people, just as the war on Iraq does. For they have not controlled

Title: America of Masonic origins or not?

Description: Eric Phelps

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 10, 2006 02:32 AM (GMT)

Brother Eric, this has been nagging at me. First I hear our "Founding Fathers" were Christian.

White Anglo Saxon Protestant. At the time of the revolution there were only 30,00 Roman Catholics and 24 priests in the thirteen colonies.

Then I hear they were Freemasons,

There were Nine Masons who signed the Declaration of Independence and Thirteen Masons who signed the Constitution. Most of those Masons were low degree and not controlled by Rome thanks to the First Great Masonic Schism in 1757.

and now I'm hearing George Washington was a Catholic and Temporal Co-adjutor and that Ben Franklin was a child rapist. Then I hear they were Deists.

Washington was a Baptist, having been baptized by one of his Captains, New York Baptist-Calvinist Pastor John Gano in the Hudson River after the war. Washington later gave his sword to Pastor Gano and is displayed in the Church to this day. I recommend Dr. William P. Grady's How Satan Turned American Against God for the detailed record of these facts.

Franklin was an high-level Mason most beloved by the French Jacobins controlled by the Jesuits. Franklin was indeed a Deist and had 17 illegitimate children surface to lay claim to his fortune after his death. Franklin was "one of their own." Buy there is no evidence he was a child rapist; he was an accomplished fornicator.

People point to the layout of Washington DC as proof (wasn't our first capital NYC?).

Washington, D.C., was laid out with a masonic design, no doubt. Grady's work also addresses this topic. But the people had established a written Protesant-Calvinist Constitution that was accursed by Rome.

Then there's this thing with the Treaty of Tripoli, Article 11, which states that America was not founded on Christianity.

I am not familiar with that treaty, and if Jefferson had anything to do with it, then it may say so. Jefferson was a wicked founding father, defending Jesuit Illuminatus Adam Weishaupt, cutting out all the supernatural in the first three gospels then calling that work "The Jefferson Bible;" and also intimate with the Jacobins of France at the time of the writing of our Constitution---thank God! Jefferson did do some good however in spite of the fact he was a wicked man under the control of the Order via the Illuminati. The father of Samuel Morse, Calvinist Pastor Jedediah Morse, said that Jefferson was "an Illuminatus."

I for one would love to believe that this country was founded upon Christianity. These are basically examples of what's being thrown out to disprove that (or at least the naysayers hope would disprove it).

Our country was founded by WASPS and Baptist-Calvinists who believed the AV1611 Bible to be the Word of God. Again, you must read Headley's work, The Chaplins and Clerge of the Revolution and Grady's work mentioned above.

As you can see, I'm a bit confused, and I was hoping you'd help clear up this confusion. I wouldn't be surprised if certain parties were rewriting history a la 1984! I'm wondering if what I'm hearing is true, or if it's a campaign by the Jesuits to discredit people (I have a lot of Jack Chick's comics, so I know this is one of their tactics).

All of that is Jesuit disinfo intended to deprive us of our history and heritage destroying our patriotism.

Thanks for any information you can give me!

Sister Axxxxxx

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric

Nothing is ever black and white, just shades of grey. None of us know for sure what the agenda of every 'founding father' of the U.S.A. was. I'm sure many of them were good honest men. It's only the high masons who know they are Satanic, especially in those days when it really was a secret society. No internet in those days!

Didn't they find a load of dead bodies in Benjamin Franklin's old house in London when it was excavated in 1998, and the bodies dated from Franklin's time? He was definitely involved with French masonry as well as the French revolution.

What about Manley P. Hall saying that around 50 of the 56 signers of the declaration of independence were masons? I'm not saying Mr. Phelps is wrong, God knows he knows his history pretty well.

I don't believe George Washington had the country's best interests at heart, as he started a private bank (Bank of the United States) to lend money to the U.S. government.

I think that Eric Phelps might want to look into the history of the Virginia Company,(he probably has) cause to be honest, all this founding fathers nonsense doesn't mean jack when you look into that. The Virginia Company was run by the British, but owned by the Vatican, because of King John in 1213 giving the sovereign rights of England to the Pope(Innocent III I think). All the money making companies in U.S.A. (federal reserve, I. R.S. Virginia Company) are inventions of the British Crown (ultimately the Vatican/ Jesuits), what does it matter about the Founding Fathers if all the money is going to the Vatican? How can you be free?

Whoever controls the banks of a country, owns the country.

The constitution was implemented by force. The intent and religious views of the "founding fathers" means nothing, they were violent psychopaths who believed thier opinions should be enforced through physical violence.

Days after the constitution was implemented they passed the first tax(whiskey) and the people of western pennsylvania laughed at the new government. The new wonderful Baptist George Washington sent 10,000+ troops to the pittsburgh area to show them how wonderful and peaceful the constitution was going to be.

Actually Moosedog as Marc Stevens says, and i'm paraphrasing, they signed the constitution as "Witness" not as "Party to". Since you cant be witness to a party the constitution didnt bind them. It has never, and will never, bind anyone. Another little known fact is that the constitution was signed (as "Witness") in Virgina then sent to Philadelphia.

you know he has his own show on rbn every saturday. i like that he focuses on solutions and not on all the conspiracy stuff. there's a few posts on his forum where they talk about conspiracy issues.

Bladestorm - February 12, 2006 03:17 AM (GMT)

I know about his show and I havent missed one yet. The only problem is nearly everyone who calls in is a "Patriot". Marc clearly says he does not want people calling in with patriot garbage, and yet they just dont get it. I agree its nice that he doesnt talk about "Conspiracy" issues, but it would be nice if he brought up the Jesuits every now and then since that is based on fact.

Like you guys, I hate the evil Secret Society influence in many of the Founding Fathers. I've looked at both sides and I do believe that there was a Christian influence in the founding of America. For example, with the Protestant Witherspoon teaching Madison, there is no Bill of Rights. Without the baptist John Leland, the Constitution couldn't of been finished and the First Amendment is extinct. Not everyone who were in early America were evil. Much of the Constitution is legitimate. The Bill of Rights do reflect many God given principles like self defense, freedom to worship as you please, and free speech. This comes from the Protestant Rutherford's Rex Lex (or rule of law) concept. While we must expose the evil that many Founders had, we must not discount the religious influence in the creation of early America since not all early Americans were evil.

A very recent book also speaks of these two organizations. David Ovason, a noted astrologer, has written a book published in 1999, entitled, The Secret Architecture of our Nation's Capital: The Masons and the Building of Washington, D.C. This book is not an anti-Mason book; in fact, a glowing forward to this book is written by none other than C. Fred Kleinknecht, 33 Degree, Sovereign Grand Commander, The Supreme Council, 33 Degree (Mother Council of the World), Southern Jurisdiction, U.S.A., Washington, D.C. In other words, the conclusions of this book are highly thought of by one of the most important current Masons in the world today! Listen to what this book says about the two organizations of Freemasonry,

After speaking of the "cosmic astral journey in Masonic terms", Ovason speaks of the meaning of the more common symbols of Masonry. "... Bromwell injected a profound level of esotericism into the bland-seeming symbols used within the Lodges. These proliferate on the so-called tracing boards and carpets ... used by Master Masons to demonstrate Masonic symbols to the neophytes. When not used as an instrument of education, the tracing boards and carpets remain as symbols of the Lodge -- of the inner and outer way of the Craft." [Page 99] So, David Ovason admits that Masonry has both an "inner" [Invisible] and an "outer" [Visible] society. And, Albert Pike has boldly stated that the "neophytes" are deliberately taught untruths about the meaning of the symbols!

Like I said before, I've looked at book sides and look at those links in 1999 when I was a teenager. So, I know history. I believe that many Founding Fathers were Masons and were involved in the creation of America just like many Christians and Bible Believers as well. I know of the occult symbolism in D.C. as well. I've heard of Ovason's book as well. That's true, but many Christians existed in early America as well. It is not fair to deny that, Rex Lex and other foundations that led to America. Christian preachers like Noah Webster, Jonathan Edwards, and others help people in America. Not to mention that the majority of early Americans profess to be Christians. The Masons totally didn't found America. Without Bible believing men and women, the Masons wouldn't of have been involved in America. Even Cutting Edge Ministries that you cite ironically said that America had both a Masonic and Christian influence, which is true. It's funny that you cite Robert Howard (a hero and I've looked at his work since 1999) believe as I do that not all early Americans were evil, but Secret Societies readily infiltrated the American government in its early days, which is true. I don't need a lecture about George Washington, because I know his history. I've listed occult symbolism here and other forum. I don't deny that. I don't even know why you are citing Freemasonry since me and everyone here opposes Freemasonry for many reasons. I don't agree with Freemasons and many evil folks were in the Lodge like Henry Ford, Thomas Watson, Joseph Smith, J. Edgar Hoover, and others. Not all of America is evil. Many people bash all of America as an excuse to eliminate people's right to have nationalism (or love of nation, which is Biblical) to replace that with love of internationalism and the New World Order. That agenda is ever present in organizations like the U.N. and far left wing groups that bash early America without knowing that many early Americans opposed Secret Societies, opposed slavery, and supported liberty for all men. This isn't new for me.

I have just 'worked out' that Brother Eric is Phelps in the Phelps/Martin chat I url'd in the previous post so hope I am not stealing someone else's 'thunder'.

Must say I am enjoying some of the info on the website. Thanks to all contributors.

That was my e-mail to Eric btw. :)

I just keep hearing conflicting stories. I just want to cut through all the nonsense and get to the bottom of things.

"I for one would love to believe that this country was founded upon Christianity. These are basically examples of what's being thrown out to disprove that (or at least the naysayers hope would disprove it)."

Alexandra

I could ask why do you want to believe the USA was founded upon Christianity? It is the last thing I would wish for.

Christian principles are one thing but the so called Christian Church in which I assume you include Catholicism is, if anything, the anti-christ.

For example the Jesus Christ of the Bible is actually the Sun.

Some marvellous insights at these urls.

The Judaic-Christian Bible tells a wonderful story.
It is, in fact, often referred to as "The Greatest Story Ever Told".
And so it is! You are now about to find out why!

I'll admit, having within the past year or so seen/read comparison and contrasting of what is supposedly ancient sun lore/history/fact with present religious traditions similar to what Maxwell portrays, it is difficult to discard out of hand how the former, over eons, could have been morphed into the former. Talk about a formidable challenge to long held beliefs! Compelling reading and definite food for some serious and lengthy thought that left me anxiously wondering how soon Part2 will be available, so anxious that without pause I quickly went about proceeding to reading the second link, where I didn't even get past the intro to the Intro before realizing serious need for pause.

The intro to the Intro starts out : I am indebted to the following scholars past and present:

whereupon finding names like Crowley and Freud gave me immediate reason to discard out of hand any further reading of this work, no matter who Mr or Ms "I am" may be. Odd, to me anyway, that the story of the first link by itself had been so compelling to me that the cast of characters the second author is indebted to leaves me wondering why such great and longstanding efforts have been ongoing, globally, to destroy Christ if he is a myth? If there was no Christ, there certainly is no reason for an anti-christ. And while it may be difficult to prove the former, the cast of characters like Crowley, Blavatsky, et. al., to me, proves that there is and has been for many moons a religion for and worship of an anti-christ..... go figure, these "scholars" have been practicing, promoting, and advocating, through demonic ritual and blood sacrifice, revolt and beliefs and preaching for people to "do what thou will" anything goes!, there are no rules..... against a myth..... do I have this right?

- Humans have 'will' or 'free will' & can believe what they like. As this Earth dimension is an illusion even though to our senses it seems real.(I can explain more but you may be aware of all this) The Christ Consciousness is the highest vibration available to a human, (not that directions have anything to do with it) Pure Spirit & the grossest vibration is life on Earth, Spirit masquerading in matter, humans. Our consciousness, in evolution, has been through the mineral, vegetable & animal kingdoms before arriving at 'where ever you are right now'. .

God/the Divine Mind/the Absolute is all there is else it would not be absolute, that One Life is the real world of Spirit, then, in the beginning was the word, the great breathe, the big bang, let there be light, the various saying from ancient traditions, & the physical universe came into being, so it follows that we humans are a spark of the Divine & therefore the Christ is in us (at least in potential) so therefore anything outside of self is the anti Christ.(my logic) The Christian tradition is another con as the only person who can save you is you. Yet the sheep still line up at the confession box.

Some marvellous insight about the Bible here

The Occult or hidden powers are available to all who seek or are initiated & can be used for white magic or black magic. Blavatsky wrote on this but can you please show me where she ever made use of the black side. I have read a few Blavatsky books & whilst she writes on the occult I cannot recall any use of the dark powers. I agree Crowley used the dark side.Many use the dark side as that is the selfish side & the white side is the Selfless side of the occult powers. Hitler read Blavatsky & used the dark powers (he also had other help) but one cannot blame Blavatsky for what Hitler did.

If you read something that makes sense & you believe it then find out it was written by someone you don't like it you appear to change your mind real quick. All I am suggesting is that the Truth is there for all to discover & a name at the bottom of the page will not change a thing.

People's religious views do not matter, who cares what some one is thinking. The Bible is totally subjective. The Constitution is totally subjective also. The only difference is that the Constitution is enforced by physical violence(militaries/police).

We've been in numerous debates about the Bible. Everyone has thier own opinion, some say it to taken literally, some say its based on astrology, some have their own personal abstract meanings. Its matters not one bit what someone thinks of it or if their a hindu or buddist or a freemason... who cares? No one was ever forced to read the Bible.

Look at the beliefs that "countries" and "states" actually exist. When you look at a satellite photo of earth, there are no "states" or "countries." But there is an army of men with guns that won't hesitate to kill you if you don't believe that the "state" is real, so you better act like it is real. You better pull over for the cop acting on behalf of the "state" or they will kill you. You better act like you believe the "judge" and his beliefs in the "state" because we know what happens if you don't go to court.

You guys should check out a few interviews by marc stevens at www.adventuresinlegalland.com/archive.html

Title: Concerning Barry Chamish

Description: Eric Jon Phelps

Born - February 15, 2006 01:09 AM (GMT)

Dear Zacherle,

Thank you for contacting me.

I do not know why Barry would think that the Vatican is at war with the CFR. The Jesuits rule both entities. The Archbishop of New York is the secret master of the CFR and has been since 1921. The CFR is hand-in-hand with Jesuit Georgetown University in Washington, D.C. Past Jesuit Fordham University President Joseph O'Hare is a presider for the CFR and helped CFR member Michael Bloomberg become the Mayor of NYC.

The issue of Jacob Frank is another enigma as far as Barry's teaching of this false messiah. Frank was baptized into the Roman Catholic Institution in 1760 with the King of Poland acting as godfather. Frank was a papal court Jew and thus a forerunner of the Pope's Masonic Jewish Zionists. Barry seems to think that the Sabateans are at odds with the Jesuits which is nonsense. The Bible is clear in both Deuteronomy 28 and Luke 21:24: as long as Jerusalem is under Gentile rule, it is "the times of the Gentiles." Israel is the tail of all nations and Rome is the head. Thus, there are not two factions vying for world hegemony. There is only one faction controlled by the Black Pope with mere individuals resisting his "mystery of iniquity."

Is Barry disinfo? Not purposely, though he is mistaken on the above two issues. If he was disinfo, I would remove his articles from my site which are endorsed by me personally.

I trust this is helpful.

Sincerely in faith,

Brother Eric

Dear Eric,

I have heard Barry Chamish and yourself have a lot in common and that you have even endorsed his work. I was a bit worried when I saw a major difference in what you and Barry Chamish have said. While you have made it clear that you believe the Jesuits control the Council on Foreign Relations, Barry Chamish claims that the Vatican is at war with the CFR. Is Barry Chamish merely mistaken or is he deliberately feeding disinformation to innocent truthseekers?

Dear Erien,

First of all I think it was an utter disgrace that Dexter King would allow one of his father's murderers, Skull and Bones/Knight of Malta/33rd Degree Mason George H. W. Bush, to attend his mother's funeral. Dexter knows that James Earl Ray never killed Michael King (alias Martin Luther King, Jr.) evidenced by the trial which cleared Ray's name. Further, Dexter sought to open the case of his father's murder only to be silenced by the Order's agents in Washington.

Another "White devil" sitting up front was none other than 33rd Degree Freemason and papal ring kisser, Robert Schuller. Schuller is a Masonic brother and friend of the Order's FBI informer and "Black devil," NOI leader Louis Farrakhan. Then, we have the former head of the FBI who was also involved in suppressing evidence in the King assassination. The whole White wicked host sitting up front was an affront to any decent Black man worth his salt---and Dexter just sat there.

Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Bill Clinton, where shall I begin? He claims to love the Blacks, but will not support his mulatto son fathered many years ago. He claims to love the Blacks, yet was and still is one of the key figures in the Pope's CIA/ Mafia drug trade that has contributed to the further ruination of typically lawless Black ghettos. He is so entertaining, a trait which Blacks love in any man; but that bait conceals the deadly hook of further destroying all those in his path, for Bill Clinton has no honor.

And Trilateralist Jimmy Carter, the Southerner who betrayed his own people by depicting all past Southern White masters as brutal rapists of their Black female slaves and cruel beasts to their Black male slaves. Nothing could be farther from the truth! Though the slave trade was wickedly promoted by Rome via the North African Moslems (whose Koran states that anyone with a "Black face" goes to hell), nowhere does the Bible condemn the institution of slavery, only the mistreatment of the slave. But the Black Pope's "Negro Agitation," first begun with the creation of the communist NAACP in 1909 via Masonic W. E. B. Dubois, must continue in order to feed the silent and advancing race war, yet to explode in the near future. Carter also has no love for the Blacks, for if he did, he would tell them the truth about the real killers of Michael King. He knows.

Then there was the daughter of Malcolm X; what a pitiful mess she was, having none of the dignity of either her father or mother---both of whom were killed by the NOI with FBI complicity. She spoke with her "hat in her hand," when she could have been a force for good; but she wept through her laborious speech like a little girl.

But what should we really expect as to the participants of the funeral? Coretta Scott King, like the Jesuitess Hillary Clinton, played the part of an accomplice to the criminal behavior of her ungodly, wicked husband. King was a notorious communist, later stating that he was merely a "socialist," endearing himself to anti-communist Cardinal Spellman. Coretta should have divorced Michael for his serial adulteries (spoken of by Ralph Abernathy in his And the Walls Came Tumbling Down) as well as his mistreatment of her. But, like Jackie Kennedy, possibly fearing for her life and the lives of her children, she kept quiet about the assassination and continued to promote the Jesuit Order's socialist-communist, miscegenating Civil Rights Movement. She too was a traitor to her own people, just like Oprah.

But then, resisting the Society of Jesus is a man's issue; righteous Bible-believing men resisting unrighteous men, first with the pen and then with the sword of just defense. No woman can be expected to contend with the all-male Militia of the Black Pope which brings me to a final point. If I were Dexter King, I would have a plan. He is in a position to expose the murderers of his father; to call for secession of a state in the South creating a new Black nation in North America as advocated by Malcolm X. (Remember, forced race-mixing ultimately brings race war, rightly stated by Black separatist Marcus Garvey in 1923.) Once done, many Whites would do the same with another state, breaking up the Pope's "Holy Roman" Fourteenth Amendment American Empire. The war would then be on with the armies of Rome ruled by Militia of the Black Pope.

I trust this is helpful.

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric

Put the question to Eric Phelps to detail this comment and I would more than likely believe Eric's right and the muslim is deluded. Please remember that many muslims still believe that Allah is the creator and the same god as others believe in but with their Allah name. This thinking is INCORRECT as Allah is just a moon god and thats it and thats why hes symbolised by the half moon.

How do I contact Eric? He knows a lot but he is not God.

TruthSeeker24 - February 14, 2006 01:42 PM (GMT)

Del, Brother, there are many ways in how can I respond to that. First, not all Christians celebrate December 25th (or Christ-Mass) because its origin is from the heathenism of paganism. Also, Jesus is not the sun, but a real person proven from the sources of the Bible, secular historians, and early church writers spanning over 2,000 years. Islam is a religion with many similarities with Roman Catholicism. I read the Koran and I've read the Hadith, so I know what I'm talking. It's true that the Koran doesn't talk about blacks going to Hell, but it does mention that women will receive half of a man's inheritance and it does teach some assault against rebellious women. eric@vaticanassassins.org is his email where you can contact him. Obviously, I don't consider all Muslims terrorists and my little brother has more temperment in his opinion of Islam than I do.

Surah 4:11 "Allah enjoins you concerning your children: The male shall have the equal of the portion of two females; then if they are more than two females, they shall have two-thirds of what the deceased has left, and if there is one, she shall have the half; and as for his parents, each of them shall have the sixth of what he has left if he has a child, but if he has no child and (only) his two parents inherit him, then his mother shall have the third; but if he has brothers, then his mother shall have the sixth after (the payment of) a bequest he may have bequeathed or a debt; your parents and your children, you know not which of them is the nearer to you in usefulness; this is an ordinance from Allah: Surely Allah is Knowing, Wise."

Surah 4:34 "Men are the maintainers of women because Allah has made some of them to excel others and because they spend out of their property; the good women are therefore obedient, guarding the unseen as Allah has guarded; and (as to) those on whose part you fear desertion, admonish them, and leave them alone in the sleeping-places and beat them; then if they obey you, do not seek a way against them; surely Allah is High, Great."

Point taken TS and I afford you the utmost respect. But 2Tuff swerved off the road and decided to go into moon worship; and as much as I respect Eric, his inherent racism and intolerance tends to get in the way.

I didn't ask 2Tuff about moons. I didn't ask you about women getting half.

I asked a pious guy if 'blacks going to hell' is in the Koran. I'm sorry 2Tuff but perhaps you're the deluded one.

Alexandra - February 14, 2006 09:44 PM (GMT)

Del, this "racism" thing is a knee-jerk reaction. Look at what Eric is actually saying. He is not saying one race is superior to another. He is merely saying that each race should have its own nation. It's within human nature to want to gravitate to one's own "kind." I saw this in high school--I went to school in the Detroit metro area, and my high school had just about every single race and ethnicity you could think of. At lunch the Arab kids hung out together, the blacks had another group of tables, etc. Sure, we all got along, but in the end birds of a feather flocked together.

As far as the civil rights movement, some blacks have come out and said that it actually made things worse for them--ironic, isn't it? (No, I am not advocating separate drinking fountains--that's just ridiculous. King and his bunch did the right thing but for the wrong reasons, the way I see it.)

Pipes is also pro Muslim and says that there is a difference between "traditional" Islam and "Islamism".

"Not being a Muslim, I by definition do not believe in the mission of the Prophet Muhammad; but I have enormous respect for the faith of those who do. I note how deeply rewarding Muslims find Islam as well as the extraordinary inner strength it imbues them with. Having studied the history and civilization of the classical period, I am vividly aware of the great Muslim cultural achievements....

I approach the religion of Islam in a neutral fashion, neither praising it nor attacking it but in a spirit of inquiry. Neither apologist nor booster, neither spokesman nor critic, I consider myself a student of this subject."

Title: Outing Sodomite Cardinal Egan-No surprise there!

Description: Praise God someone had the guts to tell!

AVBibleBeliever - February 14, 2006 01:18 AM (GMT)

Disclaimer: I do not endorse the pro-Sodomite "The Village Voice" but I admire the author of this article-Kristen Lombardi-for chronicling this story which Cardinal Egan's CFR- controlled national press will not touch. If only Bible believing men and women in this country would fearlessly expose the true criminals and terrorists-the Romanist priesthood ruled by the Jesuit Order-perhaps this nation would not be in the condition it is presently in.

<http://www.villagevoice.com/news/0606,lombardi,72095,6.html>

"Outing [Sodomite and Pedophile] Cardinal Egan"

My hats off to the courageous Bob Hoatson, a New Jersey Roman Catholic priest who is suing the American Pope the Archbishop of New York Jesuit-trained Edward Cardinal Egan (and nine other Roman Catholic officials and institutions) and exposed him for the sodomite which he most assuredly is being the "pimp of the cloth" commanding all the Jesuits' secret societies in the U.S.including American Shriner, York, Prince Hall and Scottish Rite Freemasonry, SMOM, Knights of Columbus, and the pandering Mafia Commission which controls all of the prostitution and pornography rings in which children are abused and victimized.

This is a copy of the lawsuit: [I've included two other links in addition to the first just in case someone thinks the Bishop Accountability webpage is biased]

http://www.bishop-accountability.org/compl...d_Complaint.htm

http://www.worcestervoice.com/fr_robert_hoatson.htm [various local articles and a copy of the complaint]

Hoatson truthfully said the reason why Cardinal Egan has not taken action against pedophile clergy is because he is a pedophile himself. All of the Archbishops of New York have been sodomites and pedophiles- Cardinals O'Connor, Cooke, Spellman etc. Hoatson and his Manhattan lawyer John Aretakis need prayer.

I also admire Mr. Aretakis-here's why http://villagevoice.com/news/0606_lombardi,72097,6.html

"Who Would Take a Case Like This?
Someone Mad as Hell, That's Who"

The last two words are the reason why I respect and admire this man.

Quote: "John Aretakis has no fear," one victim's mother says. Maybe that explains why Aretakis, Greek Orthodox himself, has agreed to represent Father Bob Hoatson, who is charging that three top Catholic bishops are "active homosexuals" who have covered up child molestation by priests for fear of exposing their sexual secrets. Like his client, Aretakis says he has one mission: "I'm here to expose the truth. I'm mad as hell at all priests and bishops, gay and straight, whose silence has caused harm to children." Hoatson realizes what he's up against. "I stopped and I thought long and hard about these allegations," he says. "It's time the church confronts this dysfunction. I couldn't do this outside of filing a lawsuit. The only thing the church responds to is negative publicity or a lawsuit. If I kept trying to do this within the system, I would be gone... [Fr. Hoatson means that in every sense of the word-gone as in defrocked and he realizes that his life is in danger].

Another excerpt: "The case hinges on several statutory and legal claims. It argues that Egan and the other bishops retaliated against Hoatson for being a whistle-blower, that they intended to harm him and his career, and that they engaged in a conspiracy to do so." [The Jesuits and their Temporal Coadjutors are no strangers to conspiracy for they are perpetually linked-bedfellows with the Roman Whore which the Company controls.]

Roman Catholics in this part of the country-New England, the Northeast are rising up and protesting against the Whore and exposing her. Brother, you said in one of your interviews with Rick Martin that if the Roman Catholics of the Northeast U.S. wake up and realize the Jesuit Order killed their first Roman Catholic president K of C but patriotic (his put his country first before his Jesuit masters, Church and Pope) John F. Kennedy they are through here. Lord willing, this could be the beginning of a Anti-Counter-Reformation or a Protestant Baptist Calvinist Counter Counter-Reformation in earnest in this Jesuit-controlled and dominated empire at last.

Outing Cardinal Egan

A priest's lawsuit alleges the Catholic Church is hiding pedophile clergy—and offers a stunning reason why

by Kristen Lombardi

February 7th, 2006 11:40 AM

<http://www.villagevoice.com/news/0606,lombardi,72095,6.html>

Who knows whether Cardinal Edward Egan is sleeping soundly these days. But as head of the New York archdiocese—as the top Roman Catholic prelate in the state—he'd have every reason to be restless after the recent advent of a little-noticed lawsuit.

The suit, now pending in U.S. District Court in Manhattan, was filed on December 13 by Bob Hoatson—a 53-year-old New Jersey priest considered a stalwart ally among survivors of sexual abuse by clergy. Hoatson, the now-suspended chaplain for Catholic Charities in Newark, is suing Egan and nine other Catholic officials and institutions, claiming a pattern of "retaliation and harassment" that began after Hoatson alleged a cover-up of clergy abuse in New York and started helping victims.

But that's not all his lawsuit claims. Halfway through the 44-page complaint, the priest-turned-advocate drops a bomb on the cardinal: He alleges that Egan is "actively homosexual," and that he has "personal knowledge of this." His suit names two other top Catholic clerics in the region as actively gay—Albany bishop Howard Hubbard and Newark archbishop John Myers.

It's not that Hoatson has a problem with, as the suit puts it, "consensual, adult private sexual behavior by these defendants."

No, what Hoatson claims is that, as leaders of a church requiring celibacy and condemning homosexuality, actively gay bishops are too afraid of being exposed themselves to turn in pedophile priests. The bishops' closeted homosexuality, as the lawsuit states, "has compromised defendants' ability to supervise and control predators, and has served as a reason for the retaliation."

Hoatson realizes what he's up against. "I stopped and I thought long and hard about these allegations," he says. "It's time the church confronts this dysfunction. I couldn't do this outside of filing a lawsuit. The only thing the church responds to is negative publicity or a lawsuit. If I kept trying to do this within the system, I would be gone."

The case hinges on several statutory and legal claims. It argues that Egan and the other bishops retaliated against Hoatson for being a whistle-blower, that they intended to harm him and his career, and that they engaged in a conspiracy to do so.

Joseph Zwilling, Egan's spokesperson, denies the allegations, saying, "There is no truth to any of the statements he has made concerning Cardinal Egan." His counterpart in the Newark archdiocese, James Goodness, calls the charges "patently untrue." Goodness has released a four-page statement painting Hoatson, an archdiocesan priest in good standing until he was placed on administrative leave, as "a troubled individual" who bagged his parish duties to minister to victims.

"If anyone should have been pitied during Fr. Hoatson's parish assignments," Goodness writes in the December 14 statement, "it probably would have to be the pastors who had to put up with . . . Fr. Hoatson's 'malingering'—shirking one's duty."

Hubbard spokesperson Kenneth Goldfarb has lashed out at the priest's Manhattan lawyer, John Aretakis, a leading foe of the bishop who has represented 100 or so people claiming they were molested by Albany clergymen (see "Who Would Take a Case Like This?"). "This is not the first time Mr. Aretakis has made those allegations," Goldfarb says, pinning the charge about Hubbard's alleged homosexuality on the lawyer, not his client. "This is all orchestrated by Mr. Aretakis. He has a long history of coming up with claims that have no basis in fact."

Two years ago, a flurry of allegations that Hubbard had sexual relationships with several men, including a teenage street hustler and three diocesan priests, rocked local churches. Hubbard, who denied the charges, called for an investigation, and his handpicked lay review board hired Mary Jo White, a respected former federal prosecutor in Manhattan. White was paid $2.2 million for a four-month inquiry that ended up clearing Hubbard of all accusations (see "About That White Report"). Aretakis represented the two main accusers.

Aretakis puts little credence in the investigation, calling it "the most expensive piece of fiction ever produced." He denounced White for essentially investigating her own client, and he and his clients refused to cooperate.

Now that similar allegations are written in a lawsuit, the landscape has changed. Now, Aretakis has the platform to try to prove them—and he says he's prepared to do it. He says he's accumulated a list of priests and witnesses who have agreed to provide "firsthand evidence of the sexual proclivities" of Egan, Hubbard, and Myers, if subpoenaed. Some have written statements relaying "homosexual relationships with these bishops," he maintains; others know people who have had the affairs.

Aretakis declined to show the Voice any written documentation on the three bishops, saying, "I don't want to reveal my hand at a time when I don't need to." He describes the evidence against Egan and Myers as involving consensual contact with adult men. Egan has a sporadic history of gay affairs, Aretakis claims, most of them dating back to his time as a seminarian. The lawyer alleges Myers has had gay affairs more recently, some within the past five years.

For Hubbard, it's a different story. On the condition that his clients' identities be shielded, Aretakis allowed the Voice to view videotaped interviews with two men who allege they had sex with Hubbard for money as troubled teens, one in the 1970s, one in the early 1980s. Neither was included in the White investigation, though their allegations do resemble ones it ruled unfounded.

One of the men is now in prison and couldn't be reached before press time. The other, reached through Aretakis, told the Voice independently that the details on the tape are true and that he gave the testimony of his own free will. Now married and living upstate, he has sought help from Aretakis for a potential abuse case against an Albany priest who he says also paid him for sex and introduced him to Hubbard. He says he may sue Hubbard as well.

Goldfarb, Hubbard's spokesperson, refused to let the Voice speak to the bishop about the tapes. "He's been through the mill with this and there's no reason to go through any of this again," he said. Goldfarb again cited the White report, which he said fully cleared Bishop Hubbard. Allegations like these aren't unexpected, he said—indeed, the report predicted there would be more and advised viewing them with considerable skepticism. Read the report, he said, over and over, adding, "It's as if all this preponderance of evidence is being weighed against two people who haven't filed a lawsuit and who won't identify themselves at this time."

It's people like these two men, victims who are struggling to seek justice from the Catholic Church, whom Hoatson says he's aiming to help with his lawsuit. He's asking the courts for $5 million in damages, which he says he'd use for a 24-hour victims' ministry. The suit hinges on alleged harm done to him as a whistle-blower, but he says the real issue is that the bishops' sexual activities have compromised their ability to police predators.

"I have to tell the truth," he says. "I've gotten enough information to indicate that promiscuity on the part of these bishops is the reason they're covering up clergy abuse."

Whether his claims are true or not, Hoatson is making history. Richard Sipe, a former priest and scholar who has written about clergy sexual abuse and homosexuality in the Catholic Church, explains that it's rare for a priest to sue a bishop in court for retaliation—he has heard of only one case before this. It's almost unthinkable for a priest to say in court records that three of his area's top bishops are actively gay.

"That's a very significant move," Sipe says. Such he-said, he-said allegations can be near impossible to prove in any case, let alone when the subjects are powerful and respected church leaders. But, he adds, "even saying it in a lawsuit will force the subject of the bishops' sexuality out in the open."

And that could spark something of a revolution. Says Sipe, "This lawsuit could be the beginning of a movement."

Hoatson comes across as an unlikely revolutionary. He looks nothing like a Catholic priest, dressed on a recent Tuesday in jeans and a sweater. The wardrobe isn't by choice. Four days after he filed the suit, Newark archdiocesan officials put him on leave. Though he still gets his $1,700 monthly stipend, he's prohibited from presenting "himself publicly as a priest," as the December 20 decree states. He can no longer wear his collar or say Mass at the two parishes where he works.

Sitting in a coffee shop on Astor Place, he talks for hours about the way religion has colored his life—the way he'd had a "mystical experience" at 13 in which he saw himself as a priest, for instance. By 18, he'd entered the Christian Brothers order of monks, where he would teach in parochial schools for two decades. He felt so drawn to the priesthood that he enrolled in the seminary in 1994, at 42.

"I was called to the priesthood by God," he explains. "I never really understood why."

Hoatson believes he got that reason in the winter of 2002, when the clergy-abuse scandal exploded in Boston and across the country, in dioceses from California to Kentucky to New Hampshire and Iowa. Back then, Hoatson was serving as school director at Our Lady of Good Counsel Parish, in Newark, watching the crisis unfold on TV. He got word of a victim going public with charges that a Boston monsignor had molested him in the 1980s. The victim turned out to be Hoatson's former student; the official, a former school chaplain.

Hoatson called his onetime student, and soon was making regular trips from Newark to Boston, helping the man come to grips with the trauma of abuse. When other victims came forward, he hooked them up with lawyers or escorted them to confront dioceses. Word spread among survivors in New York and New Jersey about the generous priest. Hoatson has rescued victims from heroin dens; visited them in prison; collected them from shelters; paid their rent. Last year, he set up a ministry known as Rescue and Recovery International out of his Rockaway Park, Queens, apartment.

"He's like a guiding light," says Richard Regan, of Rochester, New York, who says a now-deceased Queens priest molested him and his five siblings in the '50s. Ken Lasch, a retired priest in the Patterson, New Jersey, diocese, calls Hoatson "a locomotive—in the lead and full speed ahead." Hoatson would think nothing of letting predatory priests know he's watching, Lasch says. "Bob is that type of person. Once he sees corruption, he goes after it."

Hoatson puts it another way: "This has become a mission for me."

His work has made him wrestle with his own experiences of sexual abuse. As a 22-year-old seminarian in the Christian Brothers, he says, another brother repeatedly molested him over a four-year period. Several years later, he confided in his superior, who Hoatson says assaulted him as well. "I knew it was abuse," he says, but he never identified it as such until years later. Now, he counts himself among a handful of priests who've named their alleged abusers; his lawsuit recounts what he says is molestation he suffered at hands of the two brothers in the '70s and '80s.

What finally triggered his suit was Hoatson's fear that he'd be stopped from working with victims. On May 20, 2003, according to the lawsuit, he testified at an Albany hearing sponsored by the New York State Senate. There, he criticized Catholic bishops for shielding predatory priests. That's exactly what happened in Boston, where the release of internal church documents revealed how Cardinal Bernard Law and his underlings had shuffled pedophiles from parish to parish for decades, covering up abuse while putting children at risk. Bishops who engaged in this practice, Hoatson testified that day, had "selected evil over good, denial over admission, lying over truth-telling."

Three days later, he was relieved of his duties as Good Counsel Parish school director. Hoatson contends that Newark officials told him, as he recalls, "The archbishop [Myers] has asked that you tone down your language." They handed him a termination letter.

His suit claims that Hubbard dialed up Hoatson's boss to complain and, as it states, "had the plaintiff fired from his position." It charges that Egan and his representatives "contributed and became involved in retaliation" as well.

Church officials deny these allegations. "Cardinal Egan did not nor did anyone representing the New York archdiocese ever contact the Newark archdiocese about Father Hoatson," Zwilling says. Goldfarb says that "nothing of consequence" connects Hubbard and the Albany diocese to Hoatson's firing. "There is nothing to this," he adds.

Goodness, Myers's spokesperson, maintains that Hoatson was removed from his school post solely because he'd asked to be transferred seven months earlier. By February, the archdiocese had accepted his request. "This preceded by months any comments he would make to the New York legislature," Goodness argues.

Yet only after the Albany testimony did Hoatson receive a formal letter letting him go, "effective immediately." It would take another eight months before Myers reassigned the priest to the Catholic Charities chaplaincy, in early 2004.

The hiatus allowed Hoatson to pursue his work with victims full-time, and he championed their cause at demonstrations, in letters to the editor, before area bishops.

At Catholic Charities, he said Mass for employees and did routine parish work, all while keeping up his crusade. He says he'd managed to fulfill his ministry without much interference from the archdiocese until November 2005, when Myers issued a "precept" binding Hoatson to certain conditions. The document orders him "to cease activity in his own business"—his victims' ministry—and "to show proper reverence and obedience to his ordinary."

Goodness says the archbishop handed down the precept because "Father Hoatson had not been adhering to conditions of priesthood." The priest, he notes, resides in Queens even though he's required to live within the archdiocesan district. Hoatson says he doesn't feel safe in his assigned residence because of the alleged harassment.

He isn't the only one who believes he's being treated differently. Lasch, a lawyer trained in church canon law who has advised his fellow priest, says, "The diocese has exhibited a pattern of prejudicial treatment against Bob." He adds, "I see it as making it difficult for him to do his work."

Either way, Hoatson thinks he knows what's up. "I have to be gotten rid of because I'm trying to break the cycle of sexual disorder in the church," he explains. The disorder includes what he describes as "a promiscuous homosexual culture" perpetuating the cover-up of clergy sexual abuse. Egan, Hubbard, and Myers have hidden predatory priests because they're hiding their own gay activities, he charges.

To stop the abuse, he says, "you have to admit what is going on in the church with its homosexual culture."

What Hoatson is saying is, in many ways, nothing new. Speculation over homosexual bishops has circulated among the Catholic faithful for decades.

The topic remained largely off-limits—until the clergy-abuse crisis. That's when a loose network of victims' advocacy and church-reform groups sprang up, demanding accountability and pressing for change. Not only has this survivors' movement encouraged people to come forward and tell their stories, but it has also pushed the church to acknowledge the scale of clergy sexual abuse. To date, according to the Catholic bishops' own figures, 9,660 people nationwide since 1950 have accused 4,089 priests of molesting them. In New York City, 140 victims have named 49 abusive priests; in Albany, it's 141 and 69 respectively.

Among those who've tracked the crisis, it's not hard to find people who believe that the reason some bishops have shielded predatory priests is that they fear exposure of their own sexual activities. Anne Barrett Doyle, of BishopAccountability.org, a nonprofit archive documenting the clergy-abuse crisis, explains that this belief "is widely accepted by activists and scholars and for good reason." Recent cases have shed light on abusive bishops who, in turn, had covered up for others, she points out.

Consider, for example, the case of Bishop Thomas Dupre, of Springfield, Massachusetts. In March 2004, he abruptly retired and fled his diocese when confronted with allegations that he'd molested two men decades earlier. Until then, Dupre had been the target of fierce criticism for his handling of some 14 accused priests, many of whom held powerful positions as his underlings.

Hoatson supporters consider his lawsuit—and his outing of purportedly gay bishops—a logical step in the fight for accountability. For Catholic leaders may have acknowledged that abusive priests preyed upon children for decades, but they haven't owned up to their complicity. "Personally," says Maria Cleary, of New Jersey Voice of the Faithful, a church-reform group that has worked with Hoatson, "I feel some things just need to be said at this point. There comes a point in any change process when you have to start pushing the envelope."

Pat Serrano, of Survivors Network of Those Abused by Priests, seconds that: "You need to express yourself loudly to get the church's attention."

If victims and their allies feel more emboldened to question bishops' sexuality, it may be because the church has raised the issue all on its own. Last November, the Vatican handed down a document known as the "Congregation for Catholic Education," in which it denounced homosexuality as "intrinsically immoral" and "disordered." It suggested that homosexual men cannot be celibate, and banned formerly active gay seminarians from ordination.

Sipe, the author and scholar, says the Vatican document "has opened up the question of sexual orientation among the priesthood," including the hierarchy. And it's set the stage for a potential backlash, incensing gay priests and causing Catholic faithful to think twice about the church's hypocrisy. For years, gay Catholic groups like Dignity USA have refused to call gay bishops on it, keeping an anti-outing policy.

"There's conflict in the gay community with the idea of outing a bishop," he says. Indeed, he says one Dignity leader showed him a private list of 142 bishops who are purportedly homosexual. Some are celibate, others not. But nothing has ever come of it.

The Vatican's antics on homosexuality could change all that. Michael Mendola, of Dignity New York, the local chapter, says gay priests have kept their mouths shut about bishops' sex lives because they "don't want to jeopardize their relationships with the dioceses." But he knows plenty of good, caring gay priests who, in his words, "are tired of all the nonsense going on in the church with homosexuality these days." They're tired of the way the Vatican has pinned blame for the clergy-abuse crisis on homosexuals. And the way far-right Catholic groups have tried to purge the church of gays.

Some may grow so tired of being persecuted that they could break the veil of silence. Once news of Hoatson's lawsuit gets out, Sipe predicts, "I think others may follow."

Whether that happens remains to be seen, of course. In the meantime, Hoatson's suit must make its way through the courts. Attorneys for Egan, Hubbard, and Myers did not return a phone call from the Voice seeking comment for this article. But letters they sent to U.S. District Court judge Paul Crotty, who is presiding over the case, suggest that they intend to try to dismiss it on legal grounds. As Daniel Alonso, the Manhattan attorney who represents Egan and the New York archdiocese, writes in his January 19 letter, "We propose to move to dismiss the complaint for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted."

Hoatson's suit could well get quashed before it ever reaches an open courtroom. Yet in the court of public opinion, he may already be winning. Survivors, at least, are rallying around the priest, cheering him on in listservs and Internet discussion boards, lauding him as courageous beyond belief. "Father Bob is no dummy," says Regan. "He's a priest who has a lot to lose by coming forward with this suit."

And that's just what worries some of his allies who think he's crossed a line. They fear his allegations against the bishops may backfire, undermining his credibility and, worse, his victims' ministry. One fellow clergyman doesn't doubt that the bishops have targeted Hoatson for whistle-blowing. But he can't quite wrap his mind around why the priest decided to bring the bishops' sexuality into the mix. "Once you make those claims, there is no turning back," the cleric says.

To Hoatson, though, it comes down to the truth. All he wants is to save his church, he says, and sometimes, you have to destroy something in order to rebuild it.

"I answer to a higher authority, and this is what God has asked me to do," he says. "God is calling on me to dismantle the insanity and corruption."

Who Would Take a Case Like This?

Someone Mad as Hell, That's Who

by Kristen Lombardi

February 7th, 2006 11:43 AM

<http://villagevoice.com/news/0606,lombardi,72097,6.html>

Manhattan attorney John Aretakis likes to say that he's in it for the long haul. And after 10 years of handling clergy-sexual-abuse cases—representing some 200 victims, from New York City to Albany and Long Island to Rochester—he has built a reputation as an aggressive foe of the Catholic Church. In the capital district, where he's taken on Bishop Howard Hubbard, he remains controversial.

"John Aretakis has no fear," one victim's mother says.

Maybe that explains why Aretakis, Greek Orthodox himself, has agreed to represent Father Bob Hoatson, who is charging that three top Catholic bishops are "active homosexuals" who have covered up child molestation by priests for fear of exposing their sexual secrets. Like his client, Aretakis says he has one mission: "I'm here to expose the truth. I'm mad as hell at all priests and bishops, gay and straight, whose silence has caused harm to children."

His passion has a way of stirring others. Contacted by the Voice, Hubbard spokesperson Kenneth Goldfarb instantly tried to raise doubts about Aretakis's credibility, warning, "You should know something about Mr. Aretakis."

Goldfarb brought up the June 2004 investigation into allegations that Hubbard had engaged in sexual relationships with several men, which was led by Mary Jo White, a former federal prosecutor whose name carries weight. Her inquiry found "no credible evidence" to substantiate a flurry of accusations (see "About That White Report").

"The public record shows . . . that Mr. Aretakis made a public spectacle of false allegations against Bishop Hubbard," Goldfarb wrote the Voice in a follow-up e-mail. He offered a list of 12 cases filed by Aretakis against the Albany diocese that have been dismissed. Some were thrown out in accordance with the statute of limitations, others for insufficient evidence. And he forwarded a 74-page January 20 decision by an Albany judge slapping Aretakis and clergy-abuse victims with a restraining order for protesting outside a church. In the ruling, Goldfarb made sure to point out, the judge "openly detailed and criticized Aretakis's behavior."

It's true that Aretakis has yet to win a case against the Albany diocese, but in 1997, one of his clients received a settlement of nearly $1 million from the diocese in a clergy-abuse case—the state's largest such settlement ever.

For those who track the Catholic clergy-abuse scandal, the church's heated reaction to Aretakis only lends him credence. As one prominent Boston lawyer who handles these cases puts it, "He has become a thorn in the church's side, but he shouldn't be dismissed. He's the guy doing all the good work in that part of New York."

His lawyer's assertive style is precisely what appealed to Hoatson. "All those things the Albany diocese sent you," the priest says, "I consider badges of courage."

Aretakis, for his part, seems used to the battle. Diocesan officials, he says, "can demonize me all they want, but it's not about me. It's about my clients."

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 14, 2006 12:53 AM (GMT)

Dear Bro. Eric :

Thanks for the correction. My grandfather is a USAFE - United States Armed Forces In Far East. And when I was still young we have an album full of European & Pacific Theater WWII. There are pictures there that Gen. Patton is 4-Star together with Gen. Omar Bradley. In-fact, these two men sometimes dispute on their military tactics.

I've also discovered after Hiroshima bombing, Capt. or Col. Fuchida one of the Japanese Squadron Leader that attacked Pearl Harbor flew over Hiroshima and he saw that his country was more devastated that what they have done in Pearl Harbor. Also, Admiral Yamamoto died in aerial ambush when he's aboard a larger military aircraft for aerial survey of the naval and island battle in the Pacific. He's aircraft was ambush by P-38 Lightning, a good U.S. Intelligence, it could be Jesuit's intelligence you know.

Yamamoto was murdered via this ambush. Remember that the ONI and the Japanese Intel worked together evidenced by the attack on Pearl Harbor and the sinking of the USS Indianapolis---to name only two instances. He sought to surrender Japan in 1943 which would have frustrated the creation of the Airborne Nuclear War Hoax---the foundation of the Pope's Cold War. I mention this in VAlll.

Also, Gen. MacArthur just received his 5-star when he's already in New Guinea. Furthermore, many thought that Admiral Nimitz attained 4-star. We have old black & white documentary picture that Admiral Nimitz is also 5-star.

MacArthur was also in on the conspiracy to attack Pearl Harbor---for which he received the Medal of Honor. Mac was Jesuit trained according to a Colonel who contacted me years ago. 33rd Degree Freemason and friend of Jesuit Edmund A. Walsh, MacArthur also helped create the Cold War Hoax after the war.

Also, many thought that Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita (Imperial Japanese Army) defended Manila "Battle Of Manila". It is wrong, it was Admiral Iwabuchi who defended Manila. Gen. Yamashita requested Admiral Iwabuchi to retreat to baguio for final line of defense. But Admiral Iwabuchi did not agreed and he said that he's navy and he's not under Yamashita's command. It was the shattered Imperial Japanese Navy with no more ships that defended Manila by foot instead of naval battle against McArthur's driving forces.

Have you heard the story of Yamashita's gold stored in the Philippines that was later taken by the US army and sent to the Order's New York Chase Bank?

By the way Bro. Eric, how much is your VATICAN ASSASSINS in CD. I wish to buy one for I'd like to read it.

It is not ready yet dear brother. I need a few more months.

Bro. Bobby

Brother Eric

P.S. : By the way I already remembered that the archrival tribe of the Saud is the AL-RASHID TRIBE. The Saud Dynasty supported Wahabbi Muslims.

Dear jxx,

Well spoken!

Additionally, the Hess at Nuremberg was a double. The Murder of Rudolph Hess by Hugh Thomas is excellent as is his SS-1: The Unlikely Death of Heinrich Himmler, as Himmler also worked with the British throughout the war. The SIS then faked his death and helped him in his escape from Europe.

Subject: Rudolph Hess - Eric Jon Phelps' Broadcast

Dear Greg,

I hope you are well, in good spirit and having a good weekend.

In your Eric Jon Phelps broadcast Eric mentioned that the WW2 leaders were not really enemies, but all working together.

That is why Churchill refused to see Hitler's second in command Deputy Reichsfuehrer Rudolph Hess after he flew a Messerschmidt secretly to Britain to negotiate peace with Churchill.

Hess, unlike the conspirators, was an honourable man and was not in the loop, and so did not know that Hitler and Churchill were secretly working together, until after he landed in Scotland and Churchill refused to see or speak to him.

Very quickly Hess realised the truth that Eric Phelps stated and thus became extremely dangerous to the conspirators including to Hitler himself and was then kept prisoner for the rest of his life, incommunicado, in Spandau Prison, where for the last twenty years of his life he was the only prisoner in Spandau Prison.

He was imprisoned for alleged war crimes that were committed after he had left Germany and was incarcerated in Britain, so had no part in committing. They kept Spandau Prison going for decades and the last twenty years just to hold one man incommunicado at tremendous expense, when he could easily have been put in another prison. Strange, unless they had to keep him quiet.

Then eventually when he had become an old man and they could no longer justify keeping him imprisoned any longer, and said they were about to release him, they suicided him to make certain the secret died with him.

Title: Canadian Residential Schools

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 14, 2006 12:01 AM (GMT)

Dear Brother Eric

Greetings in the Wondrous Love, Mercy, and Grace of God from us in southern New Zealand. Elijah Buffalo enquires about Canadian Residential Schools. There is a thirteen page article entitled "Hidden >From History - The Canadian Holocaust" at www.nexusmagazine.com/articles/canada.html . It states how the Canadian Residential School system, the Christian churches along with state authorities, the judiciary, doctors and the police implemented a policy of genocide against the native population. (The reader should note that "Christian churches" stated in this article, are not truly Christian churches. They simply claim the name "Christian".)

This article portrays the awful account of genocide against the Canadian Indian population (especially children). As early as November 1907 the Canadian Press acknowledged the death rate within Indian Residential Schools to exceed 50%. This is nothing short of state and religious sanctioned murder in the most callous and evil sense.

Decent people should be outraged against this evil of Jesuitism using the state schools, mental hospitals, priests, Roman Catholic, and Anglican churches. It should be remembered that the article refers to Christianity as if Roman Catholic and Anglo-Catholic churches are Christian. They are anything and everything BUT Christian. How I hate Roman Catholicism being referred to as "Christian".

We had a young Canadian farmer from Alberta stay with us for 2 weeks last month. We gave him a photocopy of this 13 page article. He was appalled to learn of this for the first time, and that the Ponoka Mental Hospital (10 minutes from his home) was involved in such dastardly evil deeds.

We would urge all readers to download and print off this awful article. There is no evil that Roman Catholic Jesuitism will not stoop to. We take comfort and look to the fruition of the Bible verse "Vengeance is mine, I will repay saith The Lord". There is no justice that can be done for, or reversed in favour of the Indian people, except that the truth be made known, and the blame and shame be laid at the feet of the perpetrators of such evil.

The Indian population should/must read the Holy Bible KJV 1611 (not 1 of the multitude of Satan's perversion bibles) to see that TRUE Christianity is not that which has been masqueraded to them. To see the Gospel of the Grace of God presented in the epistles of Paul (Romans through to Philemon), and be assured by the Book of the Revelation that God is not mocked by religious counterfeiters doing Satan's work, and that God's wrath will be poured out on the great harlot Roman Catholicism. Sadly, Roman Catholicism destroys the souls of its own multitudinous adherents also.

ANOTHER SECRET CONSPIRACY

Jesuit Priests Emerged From Ground Zero
After Atomic Bomb Blasted Hiroshima, Japan.
Unbelievable Amazing Story Of The Jesuit Fathers

By : Bobby G. Limeta

This is another great lies of the JESUIT ORDER of the Roman Catholic Church. Col. Paul Tibbets (U.S.A.F.) flew a single B-29 Superfortress named Enola Gay (His grandmother's name) from the Tinian Island in the Pacific ==> Target Hiroshima. The hoax atomic bomb was named Little Boy.

Allegedly as per corrupt historical records, the B-29 dropped the Atomic Bomb and approximately half a million Japanese was annihilated. After the atomic bomb blast, Jesuit Priests emerged from the building rubbles 8-city blocks away from the heart of the A-Bomb Explosion and ALIVE & WELL.

These are Jesuit Priests - Fathers Hugo Lassalle, Kleinsorge, Cieslik and Schiffer. According to them it's a miracle that the Blessed Virgin Mary saved them through constant rosary prayer.

THIS IS ANOTHER GREAT & BIG LIE.

1. How these Jesuit Priests survived Atomic Bomb Blast within GROUND ZERO

(Center Of Explosioin Impact). They can, simply because they are the detonators.

2. These Jesuit Priests emerged to the surface from underground, after the A-Bomb blast.

WHAT ARE THEY DOING THERE !

So many, many kind of peoples can be found there, AMAZING COINCIDENCE - HOW COME THE JESUIT FATHERS ARE THERE! Many historians believed that the Jesuits did done something evil again. Thousands of Japanese in their homeland are killed after the A-BOMB blast but the JESUITS FATHERS (Germans) are there alive and well. And why they are hiding underground. Because they knew an explosion will occur and the pity Japanese are dead and have no slightest idea within their homeland that an A-BOMB explsoion will occur.

Amazingly, Fr. Pedro Arrupe (a top Jesuit Priest) character is also present in this well-hidden historical event. Fr. Arrupe is believed outside 1-Mile Radius of the A-BOMB Explosion. WOW !

I've discovered these conspiracy way back year 2001. The very reason, year 2002, two matured church workers knocked at my residence and instructing me to report to the nearest local Catholic Church being under Fr. Jocson. I replied, who are they to give such order. I'm a freeman guaranteed by our beloved constitution base on the Bible.

ERIC JON PHELPS is right and it fitted on my research way back 2001. That the Jesuit Fathers are the ones who detonated the first A-BOMB blast that destroyed Hiroshima, Japan way back year 1945. And that the B-29 that alledgely drop A-BOMB over Hiroshima is a HOAX. As I've told before so many times that if millions of people are well-educated about world history, it will be the END OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCH. You'll see I hit them based on my research and in-fact I've discovered the actual names of the Germans Jesuit Fathers Hugo Lassalle, Kleinsorge, Cieslik and Schiffer - WHAT ARE THEY DOING THERE IN HIROSHIMA BEFORE, DURING AND AFTERMATH OF A-BOMB BLAST. Hmmm.... I smelled fishy going on, another conspiracy.

To proved my research that I'm on right target. I've discovered that the U.S. Air Force Commanding General during those time is Gen. Le May. I even knew U.S. Navy Commaders are Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Admiral Halsey "The Bull", and Admiral Spruance. For the U.S. Army Commading General is Douglas MaArthur and his famous I shall return - this man is a high-ranking Freemason working for the Jesuit Order.

But there is a real soldier that GOD sent to end World War II, he is no other than Gen. George S. Patton, Jr. 3-Star General U.S. 3rd Army and a Bible Believing Christian. Would you also believe my brethren that Gen. Reihnard Ghelen a fomer NAZI Germany "Hitler's Intelleigence Officer" was admitted into the circle of the Central Intelligence Agency (C.I.A.) that participated in the assassination of United States Pres. John F. Kennedy. Another conspiracy, the very reason the Catholic Church will not be able to convince me that their religion is true from GOD. Because, they are the mastermind of world wide conspiracy and murders. The Jesuits will even murder their brother in the catholic faith. Pres. John F. Kennedy is the only U.S. president who is a Roman Catholic. I always believe that GOD OF ISRAEL always put men of highest intellect and integrity to expose evil and to broadcast the truth around the world.

Sincerely yours,

Bro. Bobby

Title: Bio of Michael Collins Piper & World Headquarters

Description: of the Jesuit Order (Eric Phelps)

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 13, 2006 11:46 PM (GMT)

Dear Thomas,

Thank you for contacting me.

After a short debate with Michael Collins Piper via the Spectrum magazine about five years ago, I publicly called him a Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor. Brilliant and condescending, he quoted quite ably the Order's periodical La Civiltà Cattolica as a reliable source backing his argument. As you may know, that little periodical was founded by the Jesuits in the 1880s and put forth the Jesuit immoral theology which served as the foundation for the "Final Solution of the Jewish Question." Civiltà Cattolica also condemned Captain Alfred while exonerating Esterhazy---the real Jesuit tool in framing Dreyfus.

Further, I suspect "Michael Collins Piper" to be the pen name of the person doing the writing of Piper's brilliant works. His last name may be Piper, but "Michael Collins?" I doubt it. Again, as you may know, the historic Michael Collins was an Irish priest and a Jesuit Coadjutor tied to Ireland's Jesuit headquarters in Dublin. In 1916, with the blessing of Pope Benedict XV, Piper fought in the Easter Week Rebellion which ultimately led to "Home Rule" which is in fact, "Rome Rule." The Jesuits ruling Britain via the Labor Party made this possible.

The headquarters for the Jesuits in Rome is Borgo Santo Spirito (village of the Holy Spirit---what blasphemy!) outside of Vatican walls. Poor Italy has paid dearly for this! The Order was expelled from Rome for 21 years (1872-1893) which payback was WWI, the fascism of Mussolini, the restoration of the Pope's Temporal Power and WWII.

The Jesuits are the first Zionists. Their tool and most notorious of false messiahs, Jacob Frank (Leibowicz), led the wicked Sabbateans (or Zoharists) who were in the employ of Rome. Protected by Roman Catholic authorities, Frank was baptized into the "Church" in Warsaw, King of Poland Augustus III having been in personal attendance acting as godfather. Frank attacked the Talmud for the same reasons Rome does (not for biblical reasons) and revived the blood libel, that the Jews use the blood of "Christians" (Roman Catholics) during their Passover ritual. Thus, the first Masonic Jewish Zionists were Polish agents of the Jesuits---then, the masters of Poland---whose descendants later aided the Nazis in the Eurasian Jewish Holocaust of WWII.

I trust this is helpful.

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric

Dear Eric,

First, thanks for all the truth you've provided us truth seekers. I've read The Vatican Assassins and look forward to reading your soon-to-be released updated, bigger edition of the book.

Would you please be so kind to take a minute out of your busy schedule to tell me what you know of the educational background of Michael Collins Piper of The American Free Press. I suspect he's an asset of the Jesuits because his research, by now, should have taken him beyond the controllers of the Zionist Neocons. He is silent as to the machinations or the Church's (i.e. the Devil's) roll in bringing the world to the brink of world disaster. And the other thing I'd like to know is the whereabouts of the World Headquarters of the Jesuits. Is it in Wernersville, Pennsylvania, under the Vatican, in Moscow, or somewhere else? Thanks so much.

The March primaries are coming up. Candidates all want our votes. None of them are going to say "hey, I'm a P2" or whatever. How do you find out if the incumbent or challengers are members of certain societies?

Thanks,

A good start is to type the candidates' name on Wikipedia to see any ties. Also, you can google their names.

To be anyone in politics you have be able to be blackmailed which means you get up to many dodgy acts. These people are all Masonic from Master Mason to the higher degrees in the Scottish "Jesuit Created" Rite (33) along with York Rite 9 degrees along with Shriners. These people are many times members of the Council on Foreign Relations and/or Trilateral Commission and if not they are at least controlled/advised by these 2 groups. Now CFR like the others are controlled by Sovereign Military of Malta for the Jesuit Order and the CFR is controlled in the U.S by Cardinal Edward Egan himself!

Check this link out to find some interesting info on some people. Be aware that in some cases some info is missing but its still very good:

Dear MPM,

Thank you for contacting me.

Your statement is correct. Whenever anyone attacks the Jesuit Order, they are branded as being "anti-Catholic people," as I have been. But the fact remains that I grew up with Roman Catholics, my first loves were Roman Catholic, my best friends were Roman Catholic and my president who was murdered in broad daylight by Cardinal Spellman using apostate Protestants and Masons, was Roman Catholic. I devote my book to four former Roman Catholic priests who loved the Roman Catholic people and hated the bloody Papacy and its Hierarchy and the Jesuit Order which controls it all.

Sincerely in faith,

Greg Szymanski gave me two excellent interviews this week. I consider Greg to be an honest Roman Catholic who is not afraid to cover the topic of the Jesuits. Sometime in the near future, he and I are going to cover the topic of Jesuit control of Labor Zionism and also Jesuit control of the CFR which is loaded with neo-con Jews serving the Pope, including Daniel Pipes---the vicious enemy of my friend, Barry Chamish.

In conclusion, please drop Greg a few lines thanking him for having me on the show---something Alex Jones and Texe Marrs have refused to do.

AVBibleBeliever - February 12, 2006 07:21 PM (GMT)

I've noticed Steve Van Nattan has changed his tone. He has stopped exposing the Pope as the Antichrist and has been focusing more on the EU's Francisco Javier Solana Madariaga. Van Nattan even had a section highlighting Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor ecumenical Constance Cumbey's research on Solana which is very thorough and well done her PowerPoint presentation which I have on a CD subtly shows her pro-Romanist and pro- Jesuits' Vatican leanings.

Back to Steve Van Nattan, more and more he comes across to me as an agent provocateur-I hope he isn't because he presents some great information. I agree with him that even Fundamental King James Bible churches have increasingly become politicized (prostituted) and pro-New Romanist Religious Right Republican Fascist party just as many institutionalized mainstream Lutherans were pro-Nazi party. I strongly believe that as Hitler appealed to and secured a mainstream Lutheran religious political base of loyal supporters which also included sodomites, drug addicts, and other riff raff whom he betrayed and murdered following his rise to power, the New Romanist/ K of C/ Masonic/Skull and Bones/SMOM/ Religious Right Fascist Republican Fascist Party will betray its loyal followers once it rises to its pinnacle of power. I believe that pinnacle will be reached once the Fourteenth Amendment Unholy Roman American Empire enters into a concordat with the Jesuits' Vatican/Unholy See. I believe it is possible this deal has already been made and that it was brokered secretly by Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Bill Clinton or Luciferian Skull and Bonesman George W. Bush during one of his three private audiences with Papal Caesar former Antichrist Pope John Paul II before the Papal Middle East crusade was launched. When we consider the fact that George W. Bush was the first head of state to see JP II lying in state we begin to realize that Bush is a crypto-Roman Catholic. The media does not emphasize just how close Bush and JP II were and how close the Masonic Bush family is to the Jesuits' Vatican. The connections are undeniable. The Bush family poses as Protestant but they are clearly Luciferians and pro-Jesuit through and through. George H.W. Bush and George W. Bush kissed the slippered toe of a man dressed in Papal vestments and bowed before Don Quixote (symbolic of the Black Pope because the literary character of Don Quixote was based on Spanish Alumbrado Ignatius Loyola the founder of the Jesuit Order and first Jesuit General) during their initiation into the Order of Skull and Bones Neil Bush and then Joseph Cardinal Ratzinger founded an Swiss ecumenical group.

I knew there had to be a Jesuit connection to the Romanist Red Mass which all of the big names of Rome on the Potomac attend. I found out the Jesuits' John Carroll Society sponsors the annual Red Mass (which I wrote a post about how it proves that the U.S. Supreme Court is nothing more but the Roman Rota of 14th Amendment America) and that the wife of Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Supreme Court Chief Justice John G. Roberts Jane Sullivan Roberts is a member and I would not doubt if Chief Justice Roberts is one himself as his predecessor and/or Opus Dei. My comments are in brackets []

I visited the official John Carroll Society webpage. There is a list of medal recipients/honorary members aka Jesuit Temporal Coadjutors they include, Professed Jesuit of the Fourth Vow-Avery Cardinal Dulles S.J., Opus Dei Louis B. Freeh and his wife, the first name on the list is late Antichrist Papal Caesar JP II, SMOM Pete V. Domenici and Mrs. Domenici, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Mrs. Burger, the late former Chief Justice William Rehnquist who was an unsaved Episcopalian and Jesuit-trained host of NBC's Meet The Press Tim Russert, Jesuit-trained Chief Justice Antonin Scalia, Clarence Thomas who are both Opus Dei, Anthony Kennedy, and many more.

This quote by Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor SMOM The [Dis]Honorable James Nicholson, U.S. Ambassador to the [Jesuits'] Vatican made during Epiphany Mass Brunch Talk in Washington, DC on January 5, 2003 angered me for it is an example of the arrogance of the Luciferian Company. http://www.johncarrollsociety.org/new_page_27.htm

Quote:

Papal Knight Nicholson: "Not far from here, at Georgetown University, there is a statue of bishop John Carroll. The inscription on the pedestal reads, "John Carroll, [Jesuit] priest, patriot, [patriot? impossible for he was the first Roman Catholic bishop in the King James Bible believing Protestant and Baptist-Calvinist Federal Republic of the U. S. and a Jesuit which is most significant for the Order set its sights on it and targeted it for destruction and reconstruction into their paradise with the Fourteenth Amendment. Jesuit Carroll, representing his Papal Caesar and Black Pope was anything but a patriot and could be nothing but a traitor for his loyalty lay with Rome] prelate." As a loyal son [of Luciferian Loyola] and pastor [priest for a member of the Romanist clergy can never be called a shepherd] of the church [of Rome] and as a citizen [Jesuit Carroll and every "good and faithful" Roman Catholic for that matter has a dual citizenship that of the country of which he was born and Rome] and is of the newly declared [and soon to be destroyed by the Order with their fomented Civil War and 14th Amendment thus creating a Jesuit-controlled Socialist-Communist empire with a Vatican war machine] republic, he combined in his person the very best of church and state: faith and patriotism.

Many of you know that Carroll was educated in Europe, became a Jesuit there, taught there and then fled from there when the Jesuits were suppressed. Returning to his native Maryland, he soon became involved in support of the American Revolution - along with his cousin Charles, who was a signer of the declaration of independence.

In 1776 when [Freemason and Illuminatus] Benjamin Franklin and the continental congress tried to get the French Canadians to join their cause, they called upon [Jesuit] John Carroll to help because of his reputation as a patriot. One member even noted that Carroll would be "worth battalions" on the mission to Canada.

Carroll's mission to Canada failed, but his encounters with Franklin became important later when Catholics went looking for a leader of the church in America. The pope and the American priests chose Carroll to be the first bishop, after discovering to their pleasant dismay, that president Washington, said through Franklin that who was to be bishop was the church's business, and not the state's. Washington added that this was what the revolution was about, freedom, including religious freedom.

It was probably no accident that a Jesuit was appointed to head the church in the new United States of America, for Carroll Jesuits and his contributed greatly to the life of the new country in the education of its citizens as well as looking to their spiritual well-being. (End Quote)

[This is the part that I hated the most! Papal Knight Nicholson had the audacity to say this-the letter at the end of the story is absolutely despicable for it is a lie saying God sent the Jesuit Order which is a hellish falsehood]

Quote con't:

SMOM Nicholson: It makes you think of that old story:

A Franciscan and a Dominican were debating about whose order was the greater. After months of arguing, they decided to ask for an answer from god when they died. Years later, they met in heaven and decided to go to the throne of god to resolve their old disagreement. God seemed a bit puzzled about the question and told them he would reply in writing a few days later. After much deliberation, god sent the following letter:

My beloved children, please stop bickering about such trivial matters. Both of your orders are equally great and good in my eyes.

Sincerely yours,
God, s.j.

[s.j. of course standing for the Society of Jesus. How dare SMOM Nicholson or anyone for that matter put that abominable initial next to the name of God and symbolically/ subliminally equate them? It makes sense when we realize that the God he spoke of is not our God, the one true God-the God of the Bible but actually Satan which they falsely call God.]

Title: Christian Necropophagy

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 12, 2006 12:45 AM (GMT)

Christian Necropophagy

T Stokes – June 2005

The Christian Church has shown the first sign of being united over anything in 2000 years with both the catholic and protestant wings attacking new age beliefs.

The late pope himself has tightened exorcism guidelines, for the first time in centuries. In particular astrological and witchcraft practises come in for particular criticism. Many Christians will say this is good news, but is it?

Most witchcraft occurs within the Christian Church itself, and the appointment on 17 June 2005 of John Sentamu Britain's first black archbishop of York, was actually not a religious appointment but a political one.

The European police have been fighting a losing battle with women and children being trafficked into Britain from Africa, for both the sex trade and for the witchcraft industry, and Scotland yard has suppressed information on "muti" killings which are a feature of the African Evangelical movement here in Britain, a document on bush meat further speculates on necropophagy or eating the flesh of beings killed for the table, being rife.

The filming of vicious exorcism rites to expel the devil is believed to be behind many snuff movies, bought at boot fairs, body parts are believed to contain special powers if eaten raw and preferably "live".

The religious belief that intercourse with toddlers can cure AIDS victims is particularly abhorrent, and the introduction of expensive fake horoscopes by priests as proof a child is possessed is a red herring and entirely untenable. In Nigeria alone, 80 young people were murdered last year in "Kendoki" Christian evangelical cult attacks.

While both the Anglican and the Evangelical Alliance church bodies excuse sexual searches by saying “evil spirits can enter through young boys willies and bottoms”.

The new black Archbishop John Sentamu is aware of the 101 breakaway fundamentalist churches in London alone, in the large African communities, where these African practises called “ndoki” or (kendoki) occur, and strangely the new Archbishop, who was actively involved in two best known cases of black children exported to “relatives” in Britain for spurious benefit claims, and subsequent torture and death, Victoria Climbié and Damilola Taylor, has been silent over the traffic, even the Russian mafia who run Britain’s immigration system have offered advice on child import/exports, which is a new trend away from the abduction and ritual sacrifice of the cities “rough sleepers”

The British court system says, “those who condone or shield child abuse are themselves child abusers” And here it’s worth noting that the cultural philosophy of African witchcraft is totally different to that of European witchcraft.

The Nigerian born Debbie Ariyo head of the charity, “Africans against child abuse” gave a comprehensive statement condemning African evangelical witchcraft practises.

Yet operation Violet, the secret police investigation in which I was an advisor, has been hampered by political correctness from Britain’s New Labour, and accusations of racism in its investigation into the closed communities in British churches

Many insiders feel John Sentamu’s appointment is to put a lid on, rather than stamp out every area of child abuse seen by social workers working these last few years in secret, and it now well known that the Vatican initiative called “Operation Templeman” was to hide up the huge numbers of priests in child abuse cases, and in Africa the church would sooner see babies die from Aids in agony, than give preventative birth control

Catholic interference and the encouragement of violence Ireland, South America, Poland and Africa, has been noticeable, and remember the church was photographed blessing the tanks and planes going to kill and maim those in Iraq.

The Christian church is in danger of collapsing under the many pressures and internal corruptions it faces, the Greek Orthodox Church reported recently in the Independent newspaper that certain categories will be banned from their priesthood, including; magicians, astrologers, actors, usurers, thieves, solicitors and gynaecologists!

There is currently pressure in Britain to strengthen the law for prejudice on religious grounds, so Christians, and in particular Evangelicals, will have to stop the hate campaigns on both new age subjects, and on those in favour of spiritual democracy.

Theologians tell us the miracle of transubstantiation, or the changing of the bread and wine into the body and blood of Christ, where people then consume it, is only a modified version of the same cannibalism seen now in church communities.

So will Archbishop John Sentamu speak out on these matters?

Do not hold your breath, the official church of England exorcism guidelines are;

- * Exorcism only by order of the diocesan bishop.
- * Only used in collaboration with a doctors knowledge and medication.
- * Prayer and the sacraments must be given in tandem.
- * No publicity.
- * Good follow up care, especially by family.

The remedy to these crimes will only be found with an open discussion with no doors barred, stopping priest's charging large monetary sums for needless exorcisms, banning all tortures, rapes, and cannibalistic practises.

Interpol suggests an overall amnesty for any informers, particularly church insiders.

The Interspiritual forum is a group of non-partisan experts, who give their time for free, and we want the church to clean up their act and to be accountable.

Title: Jesuit Control of World Events by ERIC PHELPS

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 11, 2006 10:49 PM (GMT)

Dear Brethren and Friends,

The following commentaries below are generally correct. The picture is true, unfortunately. Please remember that the Jesuits birthed, used and continue to control the Rothschild Illuminati via high-level Freemasonry. Remember that the Jesuits are the first Zionists, using Napoleon Bonaparte to advocate the creation of a Jewish state in Palestine---for the benefit of his masters, the Sons of Loyola, and not for the benefit of the risen Son of God's beloved and racial Hebrew/ Jewish/Israelitic people. Remember that since it is "the times of the Gentiles" (Luke 21:24), Jerusalem, and thus the world, has been ruled by Gentiles since 606BC and will continue to be ruled by them until the second coming of Israel's Messiah--the Lord Jesus Christ. Remember this war is a Papal Crusade intended to destroy two enemies of the Papacy---the historic White Protestant and Baptist Western peoples (now including many "heretic" Protestant and Baptist Blacks and Latinos) and the Moslem peoples of the Middle East whose presence threatens the stability needed to rebuild Solomon's golden temple on Jerusalem's temple mount once the mosques have been destroyed via the hand of Masonic Moslem Jesuit Temporal Coadjutors secretly working with the Order's CIA-controlled, Masonic Mossad. Remember that the Jesuit Order has had a presence in China since the 16th Century via Jesuit Mateo Ricci and that "The People's Republic of China" (which published a commemorative stamp of Ricci in 1983) was established by the Order through its "Skull and Bones" backed, Masonic mass-murderer Mao Zedong. Remember that the Department of Homeland Security was in fact established by a notorious member of the Jesuit Volunteer Corps, CIA kingpin, Jesuit Georgetown adjunct professor and CFR member John C. Gannon. Remember that 911 was planned during the CFR controlled Clinton Administration, Jesuit Coadjutor Bill Clinton holding over Knight of Malta and CFR member George J. Tenet as his Director of the CIA.

Remember that Edward Cardinal Egan, the commander of the American Branch of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta based out of St. Patrick's Cathedral, directed his soldier, DCI George J. Tenet, to carry out "the terrorist event" on 911 for the purpose of beginning the war against Islam as planned by the Order since SMOM and CIA counterintelligence chief James Jesus Angleton called for such a Crusade in the 1970s. Remember that the ultimate target is the American Empire's racial Jews, all six million of them, and that the Pope's CFR Masonic Jews---like Daniel Pipes attacking my anti-Vatican/CFR Israeli friend Barry Chamish---will aid in the murder of their own racial people as did Rudolph Kastner, opposed by the Irgun, who aided Eichmann in murdering 400,000 Hungarian Jews in 1945.

And finally, remember that all power in heaven and in earth has been given to the risen Son of God now at the right hand of his Father expecting his enemies to be made his footstool in the near future (Psalm 110:1). This man, who is a physical descendant of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and David, has the power to thwart the designs of the Black Pope, whose master, like Darth Vader, is "the god of this world" (II Cor. 4:4)---Satan. And if we have received the Lord Jesus Christ as our Savior in believing the gospel, and keep our sin confessed and lives pure, our High Priest "after the Order of Melchizedek" will providentially intervene for us with power against our enemies in answer to our sincere prayers. This King of the racial Jews, is the Captain of our Salvation and will put His desires into our hearts and will, by the power of the Holy Spirit, give us the courage to be "valiant for the truth in the earth" throughout our spheres of influence despite of the devil's religious, political, academic and economic monopolies now encircling the earth.

May the LORD be with you all.

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric

French Intelligence is not an enemy of the Order or the Order's CIA, NSA, SIS-MI6, MI5/FBI or the Israeli CIA called "the Mossad." France has been completely in the hands of the Jesuits since Petain readmitted the Order into France in 1942. DeGaulle was trained by Jesuits and put in power by the French Jesuit General at that time, Jean-Baptiste Janssens. Anyone who states that the French of any stripe has saved America from terrorist events is a catagorical liar.

Agreed. The Pope's Holy War is about to begin in dead earnest. But the American Empire must be united to wage that Crusade with the preset atomic detonations first. This will silence all resistors while instilling rage into the populace.

Hello lennybloom,

Jerry Brown was born on April 7, 1938 in San Francisco, California. He lived in San Francisco until graduation from St. Ignatius High School. He studied at the [Jesuit] University of Santa Clara. Then he studied for the Catholic priesthood at the Sacred Heart Novitiate, a Jesuit seminary. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Latin and Greek from the University of California at Berkeley in 1961 [at which there is a Jesuit House]. He then graduated from the Yale Law School in 1964.

Title: My herbalist is well aware of JESUIT control

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 10, 2006 01:52 PM (GMT)

I went and visited a herbalist today for the first time. With my broad knowledge of alternative health along with conspiracy we had a good conversation. I brought up Mate tea which is "JESUIT" tea. The herbalist wasn't aware of it being known as Jesuit tea and then I started on the Jesuit world control. To my surprise :o this person was clued up on the Jesuits and knew they ruled the Vatican and the world. He wasn't as deep as myself and didn't know the power centers etc. This was very refreshing indeed to meet someone who knew this information.

The Superior General is no longer veiled and I bet the Jesuit Order is fuming over how we're ousting them. I also informed this person about the Sovereign Military of Malta of which he didn't seem knowledgable upon. These two orders are the supreme power of the world. So my friends keep on informing the sheep about the masters Peter Hans Kolvenbach & Andrew Willoughby Ninian Bertie.

Alexandra - February 10, 2006 02:03 PM (GMT)

My husband and I knew about the Catholic church wanting to rule the world from our time in the Worldwide Church of God cult. It was only a few years ago that we learned about the Jesuits through Jack Chick's Christian comics.

Now the interesting thing is, the WCG has gone "mainstream" and jumped on the ecumenical bandwagon--and now they consider Catholicism to be Christianity. <_<

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 10, 2006 02:08 PM (GMT)

It's surprising how more and more are getting through the smoke/mirrors and veils and seeing the master JESUITS and SMOM as the leaders of the Conspiracy. Whats weird though is the sheep who continually cannot see whats right in front of their eyes. Do they forget who ruled the world before the Reformation.

JagDRS - February 10, 2006 04:23 PM (GMT)

2Tuff, glad to see that you are seeing some inroads being made into sheepdom.

Last night, during a momentary lapse, I did a very very bad thing, I replugged into mainstream sheepdom for about 50 minutes.

Wanting to get a weather forecast for a potential snow storm headed this way, one for which web weather sites have not yet forecasted very well, I plugged in my TV for the first time in a long time. I don't have cable anymore, but the nearest station is close enough that I can pick it up with a makeshift piece of wire plugged into the cable/antenna jack on the TV. Meanwhile I sat at that computer with my back to the TV waiting for the weather segment of the local news. Turns out the live forecast is just like the web ones - "too early to tell". I ended up leaving the TV on for the first 10-20 minutes of Dave Letterman; Senator John McCain was the first guest interviewed. Throughout, McCain was as charismatic, refined and polished-under-the-guise-of-being-conscientious-and-personable as I expect for a prolific political figure. He did hmmm and haw a bit when first asked about the current Wire-tapping scandal/legislation broohaha, ultimately stumbling his way to giving one of those kinds of wishy-washy answers that leaves a sane person wondering - what did he say?; something to the effect that "if the inner circle of us few congress people who make up the core of the important congress people are given the chance to address this issue, we will get it right". Subsequent questions from Dave on different topics allowed him to recover his poise and wax with wisdom on his glowing support of the present administration for doing their jobs well under what he described as extremely difficult present global climate of wars, terrorism, shaky economy and peak oil scam, which the crowd cheered and lapped up like good little sheep. It was at this point the momentary lapse subsided, having enough of a peek from plugging in to mainstream, I turned off the TV and put back to collecting dust where it belongs.

I spend a lot of time wondering about the conditioned masses and looking for signs of encouragement. Nonetheless, glad you have experienced first hand some inroads.

Alexandra - February 10, 2006 05:45 PM (GMT)

If my husband didn't want cable, we wouldn't have it. I watch maybe a few court shows here and there and things like Cold Case Files and the Weather Channel, but that's about it. At least a good 95% of what's on is worthless.

My son loves his Bob the Builder DVDs and I do watch them with him so as to look out for any "bad" stuff. I like to pre-screen them.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 11, 2006 02:52 PM (GMT)

I've started watching really old movies like on TCM because I'm utterly fed up of hearing propoganda on 911 and American dribble along with their constantly flashing subliminals especially on movie trailors :blink: . Right now I personally prefer old English films which I find destroy American films in both acting and filming. A good example of English films being better are the old Hammer horror films with the legend PETER CUSHING and Christopher Lee. Boris Karloff just doesn't cut the mustard with his American films. I check out the sheepledom news on Sky and BBC to see what dribble c-movie nonsense they come out with. I'm surprised the Jesuits let their minions get away with this nonsense but seeing as it works on the sheep I guess Kolvenbach is happy.

Coadjutor Stone cuts out the driver in showing the Zapruder film in his JFK. This is further evidence of his duplicity in making the film.

Correct. The film also employs the music of Mozart, another favorite of the Order.

Also, a few frames were used to show an > inscription bearing the words 'Study the past' on a building.

Indeed! That was a clue to understanding the movie.

- >
- > What was the significance of the 'we're through the looking glass now
- > people' reference?

Alice in Wonderland; Alice's perceptions being skewed by the looking glass. So it was with the 1966 investigation, it being skewed by the Warren Commission Report. This Report, being a reversal of the truth, had to be discarded if the honest perceptions of the investigators were to prevail. "Black is white and White is black," so says Ignatius in his satanic Spiritual Exercises.

- Also, can you elaborate just a little (while I wait
- > for your book to come out) on your interpretation of the motivation
 - > behind this movie if it indeed was inspired by the Jesuits?

It was a test for the American people as to just how much truth could be laid out before them without a massive protest erupting. Like Waco, the American failed and so we have had scandal after scandal, and now another World War.

about the same thing. Fascinating. There's no way that Oliver Stone wouldn't know about this stuff, and no way that they would have let Jim Garrison get hold of an original film.

Title: Toronto staged attack, Black Pope Interview +
Description: By Brother Nicholas Rivera

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 16, 2006 12:28 AM (GMT)

A state-sponsored "terror" event orchestrated by the Canadian intelligence agencies in conjunction with the Jesuits' CIA in Toronto, Canada would be convenient because it would advance the "North American Community/Union" plan of the Archbishop of New York's Council on Foreign Relations, Mexican Council on Foreign Relations, and Canadian Council of Chief Executives. It could serve as a pretext to create a Canadian counterpart to the Jesuits' Department of Homeland Security. The Jesuits want to start an inquisition in North America so they can punish Canada, U.S.A. and Mexico as a bloc. The American empire has been groomed to be the Nazi Germany of the 21st century which ultimately conclude with a Chinese-Sino-Soviet-Mexican-South American foreign invasion backed by the United Nations after the "North American Community" is viewed as the evil in the world and the terrorist bloc. Black Pope Kolvenbach said there is only one America and that the United Nations "is recognized as a political alternative." <http://www.jesuit.org/images/docs/81teWA.pdf> (see page 6 and read the article about the "Colombia, Oregon Provinces Renew Twinning Agreements" the Jesuits are the trendsetters. Colombia and Oregon are on different and separate continents but the Black Pope sees no distinction like his CFR.

<http://www.marprovjesuits.org/people/kolvenbach.shtml>

Interview w/ Black Pope in which he mentions "a new international order" and the United Nations.

Quoting:

Q - Is there a political, social, and cultural alternative to the new international world order which emerged after September 11, 2001, and is being established in the new political realignment of the powerful nations - the United States, the European Union, Russia, Japan - and the great and not so obvious powers?

A - As result of the attack carried out on September 11 th , large-scale violence has become more painful, inhumane and unjust. This has triggered a distressing spiral of attacks and counterattacks, which are bringing about considerable material losses, the weakening of human rights, and above all, indiscriminate deaths. Out of these physical and moral ruins, a new world order should emerge. That is what we thought after experiencing the last World War, but the facts have belied the hopes we then had. That makes it difficult to dream of a new international order this time [Black Pope Kolvenbach heads this and he suggests there will be a next time. What he means is a reversion to the Dark Ages on a global scale-I believe this will be pursued with greater earnest once a younger Black Pope is elected]. However, we must all strive to define it and make it come true [this is NOT biblical!-true Bible believing Christians know this goal is antichrist and has nothing to do with the Lord Jesus Christ of the AV1611 Reformation Bible. True peace will come once the Prince of Peace Jesus Christ returns, reigns, and rules the world He created from Jerusalem with a rod of iron and not anytime before that]. For us, Christians [Roman Catholics], the message of fraternity [brotherhood-he controls the Masonic brotherhood and brotherhood of the Society of Jesus and solidarity [the Black Pope is biggest Socialist for the Jesuit Order invented and perfected Socialist-Communism in the Paraguayan reductions] to which the Lord summons us in the Gospel [his gospel is another and he is therefore accursed according to the word of God] is the primary incentive driving us to work for a more humane world -and hence, for a world that is more divine [this present evil world is ruled by the god of this world Satan and the Black Pope and Antichrist White Pope are his main agents-there is nothing godly about this world system.] one which goes beyond merely political structures. [The Jesuits are the masters of political ideology and what they want for every nation is a totalitarian socialist-communist government ruled by their provincials and assistancies all subject to the Black Pope.] It is comforting that despite the reserve [there is nothing wrong with maintaining a distinctive, separate, individual nation-in fact it is Biblical. Read Genesis 11. God confounded the single language of the people at Babel in Shinar [this was the first UN] and dispersed them throughout the world to keep them separated and so that they would not unite and rebel against Him. The Lord hates integration and amalgamation of people and nations. Acts 17:26 says "And hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitation; the bounds of their of our habitation are ordained by God and should be maintained but depraved humanity-enslaved by sin is naturally disobeys God. The people served Nimrod (a type of the Antichrist see Genesis 10:8-9). shown by certain important nations [he means the U.S. and the U.K. I think and any other nation that is anti-Jesuit NWO aka international community as the Pope's propaganda mills like to call it] the United Nations is recognized as an important political alternative.

Quoting from Christine Romans' report on Lou Dobbs

ROMANS: Especially considering Mexico's problems with drug trafficking, human smuggling and poverty. Critics say the country is just too far behind the U.S. and Canada to be included in a so-called common community. But the task force wants military and law enforcement cooperation between all three countries.

UNIDENTIFIED MALE: Indeed, an exchange of personnel that bring Canadians and Mexicans into the Department of Homeland Security. [This is what the Jesuits' want and they will use state-sponsored terror to do it.]

Title: Benedict XVI Names 15 New Cardinals

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 15, 2006 12:15 AM (GMT)

Benedict XVI Names 15 New Cardinals

Including 3 in Roman Curia

VATICAN CITY, FEB. 22, 2006 (Zenit.org).- Benedict XVI has named 15 new cardinals, including prelates from Boston, Hong Kong and Krakow, Poland.

The new cardinals will be installed at a consistory March 24, the first of this pontificate.

The Pope indicated that he wanted to respect the maximum number of 120 cardinal electors -- those under age 80 who could vote in a conclave for a new pope -- established by Paul VI in 1973. Thus, only 12 of the new cardinals will be electors.

The other three cardinals announced, who are older than 80, have been named, according to the Holy Father, "in consideration of the service they have rendered to the Church with exemplary faithfulness and admirable dedication."

Three of the future cardinals belong to the Roman Curia and hold offices that ordinarily imply the dignity of cardinal.

They are:

-- U.S. Archbishop William Levada, 69, prefect of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith;

-- Slovenian Archbishop Franc Rodé, 71, prefect of the Congregation for Institutes of Consecrated Life and Societies of Apostolic Life; and

-- Italian Archbishop Agostino Vallini, 65, prefect of the Apostolic Signature, the Church's supreme court.

4 Europeans

The other nine future cardinal electors are pastors of key archdioceses. The variety of their origins, as the Pope pointed out, "reflects the universality of the Church."

Four are Europeans: Archbishops Jean-Pierre Ricard, 61, of Bordeaux, France; Antonio Cañizares Llovera, 60, of Todedo, Spain; Stanislaw Dziwisz, 66, former secretary of Pope John Paul II, of Krakow, Poland; and Carlo Caffarra, 67, of Bologna, Italy.

Three future cardinals are from Asia: Archbishops Gaudencio Rosales, 73, of Manila, Philippines, and Cheong Jin-Suk, 74, of Seoul, South Korea; and Bishop Joseph Zen Ze-kium, 74, of Hong Kong.

Two of the future cardinals lead archdioceses in the Americas: Archbishops Sean Patrick O'Malley, 61, of Boston, Massachusetts, and Jorge Liberato Urosa Savino, 63, of Caracas, Venezuela.

The Pope named an over-80 cardinal from Africa: retired Archbishop Peter Poreku Dery, 87, of Tamale, Ghana.

Archpriest and a Jesuit

The other over-80 non-electors have different origins.

One is Italian Archbishop Andrea Cordero Lanza Di Montezemolo, 80, archpriest of the Basilica of St. Paul Outside the Walls. He was previously apostolate delegate in Jerusalem and apostolic nuncio in Italy.

The other is Jesuit Father Albert Vanhoye, a theologian who was formerly the rector of the Pontifical Biblical Institute and secretary of the Pontifical Biblical Commission. On the latter he worked closely with Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger, the then prefect of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith.

Benedict XVI explained that he chose the liturgical feast of the Chair of St. Peter to make this announcement "because cardinals have the duty to help and support Peter's Successor in carrying out the apostolic task entrusted to him in the service of the Church."

In fact, Benedict XVI recalled that in ancient ecclesiastical documents Popes described the College of Cardinals as "part of our body."

Cardinals, he added, "constitute a sort of senate around the Pope upon which he relies in carrying out the duties associated with his ministry as 'permanent and visible source and foundation of unity of faith and communion.'"

Title: Avi Lipkin on the COMING MIDEAST WAR

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 15, 2006 12:13 AM (GMT)

As I have said, the purpose for the Jesuits bringing in the Moslems to nest in major American cities is to hunt down the Jews driving a remnant back to Israel. The hatefully racist, anti-White, anti-Jew, Black Nation of Islam will participate. The same plan will be implemented in Europe evidenced by the Pope's huge Moslem populations in Germany, France and England.

Meanwhile, the Order's wicked Roadmap policy has guaranteed war in Israel. It is just a matter of time.

Subject: Edward de Vere aka William Shakespeare

Hi Brother Eric.

Is it true that Edward de Vere (William Shakespeare) was the son of Queen Elizabeth I?

No. Edward de Vere was the Queen's Lord Great Chamberlain---the most important man of the court. Elizabeth and Edward were secretly engaged and in that status of betrothal Elizabeth conceived and bore Henry Wriothesley, the Third Earl of Southampton. Henry was the rightful heir to the throne, but was robbed by Secretary of State Robert Cecil---a secret agent of Rome as was his father William---who, while at the bedside of the spechless Queen, named the then pro-Catholic King James VI of Scotland as her heir.

I'm particularly interested because some of my ancestors on my maternal grandfather's side were from Stratford-on-Avon...in fact all my great-grandparents on my mother's side were descended from King Henry I "Beauclerc" (I believe that's their closest common ancestor). And I do have some de Vere ancestors!

The fighting Veres were wonderful! Edward was known as "the Red Knight;" he was the greatest horseman and swordsman in the realm.

Bro. Eric,

As I was applying for a passport renewal, I noticed that the "new" passports would be containing "an embedded electronic chip" and would be called an "Electronic Passport." All passports by the end of 2006 will be issued in this format.

Even if they say this is for "additional security protections and for faster clearance" through ports-of-entry, this to me sounds like a subtle excuse to keep tabs on US travelers abroad.

What do you think?

Agreed. Every US citizen is a target not only of foreign governments but also a target of their own government. With the Order's governmental policies of making it illegal for Americans to sell their labor in foreign countries (work abroad in Mexico, China, Europe, etc.) Americans are being kept in the country for the coming fascist inquisition and subsequent foreign invasion. The chip in the Passport further serves this purpose. In fact, the DPW ports deal (or its replacement) makes all flight from seaports impossible; the ports number 22 in the US and 16 in Canada.

Another goal of the Order will be realized: the end of all organized American Bible-believing missionary work in foreign nations. Couple that with the calculated persecution of the nation's Jews and the fate of once Protestant Germany will be repeated.

Both Bush and Fox are Jesuit Temporal Coadjutors destroying America via the 20 million man fifth column of illegal aliens---including Mexicans, Moslems and Chinese. All of this must of course be accompanied with the blessing of the Jesuits and its servant, the American Roman Hierarchy.

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 14, 2006 11:42 PM (GMT)

Dear Friends,

More merging of the US with Mexico. And to continue the "browning of America" there must always be a Black man to which White women are looking up as depicted on Fordham's website. This racial program of the Twentieth and now Twenty first Century is obediently followed by every major corporation in the US as reflected on what I call "Black TV," especially those corporations in the Order's Council on Foreign Relations.

It is for these reasons that I am advocating the creation of a new geographic nation somewhere in the North American continent. This new nation can serve as a refuge for the White race now being destroyed throughout the US and Canada thereby ending the economic and social injustice of "White Flight;" to serve as a continuation for the preservation of historic Reformation Protestant and Baptist Bible-based faith and culture; and the preservation of the Protestant English language. My White people (yes, we Whites are a people) have the right to maintain the continuation our White race, to be Protestant and/or Baptist using the Reformation Bible---The AV1611---within a culture based on the maxims of the Protestant Bible; and to speak English as our national language. We once had this in America, in Protestant Canada, in England, in Scotland, in South Africa as well as in Holland, Denmark, Germany and Scandinavia, and we want it back in a country someplace on this earth---by the grace of the risen Son of God.

I find it absolutely hypocritical that New Orleans' mulatto mayor Ray Nagin can advocate a rebuilt "chocolate" New Orleans, but let a White man advocate a White city or nation on earth founded on Biblical maxims and he is branded a "prejudiced" hater of every race and a "bigot" against every religion except his own. Meanwhile, the only other race allowed to live in our new nation is the Jewish race; once individual Jews are converted to Christ via the preaching of the glorious gospel, they then can participate in our new Bible-based government in which every public servant, White or Jewish, must submit to a religious test and sign an oath to uphold the maxims of the Bible including the commandment that utterly destroys the wicked doctrine of socialism---"Thou shalt not steal."

Meanwhile, the Order will continue to amalgamate, bankrupt and paganize the once White Protestant and Middle Class America denoted for its "Protestant work ethic"---which class, I might add, the White Roman Catholics have enjoyed for the last 120 years. This remedy I am advocating in the conclusion of VAIII.

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric

Interesting to see SMOM William F. Buckley, Jr.'s National Review defending SMOM Prescott Bush in spite of Bush raising 50 million dollars for Hitler. Prescott Bush, Jr., is also a SMOM along with his brother, Bush 41.

My pastor also recently discovered in La Popessa that Hitler visited Papal Nuncio Pacelli in Munich at which time Pacelli greeted Hitler, gave him a bag of money, blessed him and then sent the Fuehrer on his merry way. All of this will be in VAIII.

While in Orlando, the Lord led me to a book on SMOM Frank Capra, the Hollywood movie mogul who was the official censor of the history and allied movements of WWII. No mention is made in Capra's WWII history of Eisenhower's order to Patton not to close the Falise Pocket in France, which if closed would have ended the war within ten days after the surrender of that German army. But oh no; 250,000 Germans must be allowed to escape as there were more Jews to kill in the East and the 1944 battle of Bastogne had yet to be fought. Thanks Frank.

Knights of the Vatican

According to Vatican information pages it is usual for 'Papal awards give rise to a nominal "tax" charge to cover the expenses concerned - this charge may be paid by the Diocese but is usually reimbursed by the recipient'.

Dr. Ian R.K. Paisley

Michael Williams shortly before his death last week received a Papal Knighthood for his services to Catholic life in Britain. The performer and vice president of the Catholic Guild has been appointed a Knight of St Gregory, one of the Church's highest honours. Williams said he was thrilled and delighted.

The advantage of a Papal Knighthood over a Catholic sainthood is that the latter is always posthumous although the former is unlikely to have any sway at the gates of Heaven.

The presentation to 'sir' Michael was made by the Chaplain of the Catholic Stage Guild and in the presence of Dame Judy Dench and the family parish priest.

Canon McDonald the chaplain said to the actor,

'On behalf of the Holy Father who has awarded you this honour for your great work, I invest in you with the Order of St Gregory the Great. Remember a Knight is a servant of His Lord [Pope?] so please pray for the Pope and the good of all the people of God.'

Father Jennings who expected to officiate at the funeral said,

'He had a very deep conviction. It was a quiet faith – he didn't go shouting it from the rooftops – but it was a deep faith. He served the Lord well and I'm sure that he is now enjoying his reward.'

How could that be? If Rome is right, Williams is in purgatory where men and women and children are burning in flames as hot as hell. To escape Williams' friends must pay for him to be let out!

The son of Dame Judy Dench and Michael Williams said that, 'If you have got a faith that is that strong it can go two ways: you can lose it or it can be strengthened'.

This would depend in what your faith was, naturally, but if your faith is strong why would you lose it, unless the falsity of that faith suddenly became transparent. Here lies the difficulty with Roman Catholic teaching and thinking of Roman Catholic adherents. Their faith is based on fear and burdensome superstition. They have no secure hope in the Lord's saving grace as they do not have a living relationship with the Lord.

Have you noticed that in films, soap operas and drama series on television, Catholic churches in preference to Protestant churches are invariably used? You can guarantee that at gravesides they will be signing the cross over themselves, or if going into a Church it will be the same, plus the lighting of candles and or praying to Mary and / or a statue of the same. The faith of Christianity is never portrayed, only Religions, and at that the Catholic Religion.

Perhaps this is the undercover work of the Catholic Stage Guild. Perhaps this is so of all the Catholic Guilds!

How many Papal Knighthoods have been awarded - quite a number since 1831.

From Catholic sources it is apparent that the bestowal of this and other knighthoods is gathering momentum, much like those as bestowed by the Queen.

Some well known recipients include: Bob Hope, Rupert Murdoch, Roy Disney, Ricardo Montalban, Gilbert Levine. At the same time as these there were 67 others in the Roman Catholic Archdiocese alone.

The Pope gives the honorary title to people of 'unblemished character' including non-Catholics, who have 'promoted the interests of society, the Catholic Church and the Holy See', [one and the same from a Catholic perspective], said a spokesman for the archdiocese.

Presumably this is the same sort of unblemished character that the Church of Rome maintains of herself, despite the child abuse, sex scandals, history of murderous blood shedding, making of dangerous fables and her blasphemous deceits and money scams. As the Bible informs of man's sin, it is unlikely that the lively word of God will concur that the Roman Catholic Church is in an able position to judge!

More likely, as some of the reports accompanying such honours convey, they are given to people of influence, finance and position in their given field of expertise or to those leaders who deliver other communities unto the Papal clutches – for example, in 1998 a New York rabbi, Mordecai Waxman (not following his namesake in the book of Esther) became the first of such to be honoured – and there are many to be found.

According to Vatican information pages it is usual for 'Papal awards give rise to a nominal "tax" charge to cover the expenses concerned - this charge may be paid by the Diocese but is usually reimbursed by the recipient'.

So an 'honour' conferred upon one is at the cost of one's soul AND money. The Church of Rome delights in finding ways to gain funds for its politics. An honour that is taxed? I think I would prefer just to be called 'brother' or 'son' by the Lord Jesus.

Dear Zxxxxxxx,

Thank you for contacting me.

I do not believe in this "serpentine theory" regarding the Jews. That theory is premised upon the false Khazarian theory that certain Gentiles replaced the historic Jews and thus the Jews of today are not racial Jews. I recently wrote an article on the false Khazarian theory that I will forward to you.

I do teach the Jewish race is being preserved during its Diaspora for the purpose of inheriting the Abrahamic promise as to their future in the promised land. Exekiel 48 is most clear on the division of the land to the surviving 12 tribes inheriting Messiah's millennial kingdom at the end of Jacob's trouble.

I trust this is helpful.

Dear Brethren and Friends,

The vacation was wonderful and much needed. We met a dear brother and his family while attending a Free Presbyterian Church during our two Sunday's in Orlando. Brother Tom and his wife, Susan, had four young adult children who were full of questions about past and future events. They also taught me several things for which I am thankful.

There have been several requests as to my position concerning six of the American Empire's key ports being given over to the management of Dubai Ports World. Let us remember a few maxims before concluding about the substance of this "deal."

To begin with, the Jesuit Order, ruling the CFR via its Knights of Malta and 33rd Degree Scottish Rite Freemasons controlling the banks and corporate monopolies of the Empire, has been gradually dismembering the nation since the end of the Black Pope's Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945). In addition to dismemberment (which includes the destruction of the once Bible-based Reformation culture, the White race and the English language), we have been made purposely dependent on foreign oil, via the capping of American oil wells; the shipping of Alaskan oil to Japan and other Far East countries; the refusal to open up the huge Canadian oil fields which are bigger than those in Saudi Arabia; and the vehement suppression of electro-magnetic power as well as the suppression of hydrogen fuel taken directly from salt water without the need for high-tech extraction. Even Christopher Plummer early-on in the movie Syriana makes mention of the use of water over oil as a fuel.

As a result of this CFR/Rockefeller imposed dependence on foreign oil, the Empire has contracted massive debt to foreign creditors, the foremost being

China and Saudi Arabia. Approximately 68 percent of America's debt is held by these hostile foreigners. As we know, debt must be secured by collateral. And that collateral, viewed by foreign creditors (who hate us, I might add), is the entire infrastructure of the Empire---and especially the magnificent ports of Baltimore, Newark, New York, Philadelphia, Miami and New Orleans, all of which ports have been in the hands of Vatican Archbishops whose Papal Knights controlling Mafia teamsters virtually rule these commercial doors to the nation. We must not forget that both ports at Long Beach and Los Angeles, California, are controlled by the Red Chinese via COSCO, which deals were made possible through the Archbishop of Los Angeles, Roger Mahoney---one of the Pope's American masters behind all the illegal Roman Catholic Mexican alien takeover of the Southwest with the blessing of both Presidents Bush and Fox.

This brings us to the Dubai Ports World deal with the Pope's Bush-led, fascist New Right Republican Party now ruling the House, the Senate, the Oval Office and the Supreme Court hosting three Opus Dei members, Scalia, Alito and Thomas. To begin with, Dubai is the banking haven for the oil-rich Moslem nobles of the Middle East: the UAE is the Switzerland of Islam. Thus, the Knights of Malta controlling the banking of Europe also control the banking of the Middle East---especially Dubai. One of the Pope's knights ruling DPW was David Sanborn, a former executive with CSX, and then a senior executive of DPW whom Bush appointed to be the new administrator of the Maritime Administration of the Transportation Department. Sanborn worked as Dubai Ports World's director of operations for Europe and Latin America. Thus we observe a serious business tie between Bush and Sanborn---brother knights serving the Black Pope.

We also have a connection between DPW and the Carlyle Group. Knight of Malta/CFR member Frank C. Carlucci has headed the group for several years serving as a close associate with Knight of Malta George H. W. Bush and the Masonic Bin Laden family in charge of the Bin Laden Construction Group. It is reported that the UAE served as a transfer point for shipments of smuggled nuclear components sent to Iran, North Korea and Libya by a Pakistani scientist controlled by the CIA via the Pakistani ISI. I also contend that this UAE transfer of nuclear components also included Saudi Arabia's Masonic Wahhabi Bin Laden Group enabling those Jesuit Temporal Coadjutors to plant atomic devices in Mecca and Medina making their future destruction certain. Once those mosques have been demolished, along with a carnage of tens of thousands of Moslems, the entire Islamic world will be united against the American Empire.

But the withdrawal of the DPW offer has had significant benefits for the furtherance of this Anglo-American-led Papal Crusade. It has further united the US population against the Moslems thanks to the Pope's CFR-controlled propaganda that Al Qaeda attacked the WTC and the Pentagon on 9/11 of 2001, which supposed foreign attack involved the UAE. Secondly, the resistance to the DPW deal involved certain powerful Republicans giving the impression to the duped American citizen that there really are some patriots in the New Right Republican Party. This illusion will serve to push the angry American Whites, Catholic and Protestant and Baptist alike, into the far right fascist camp. Meanwhile, regardless of who administers the ports, the Vatican will control those companies which in turn will work in secret accord with the Jesuit-birther Department of Homeland Security now inspecting only 5 percent of the millions of containers brought into the country each year. Yes, we are in the middle of the Jesuit Order building a huge Trojan Horse in every major city of the Empire fully intending to use the biological and chemical components to be preset in their designated targets. There also may be huge caches of arms and ammo in secret storage waiting for the arrival of our Sino-Soviet-Moslem invaders working behind the scenes with the Jesuit Order's CFR-controlled American Military High Command.

I trust this is helpful. For more info on the collusion between DPW, CSX and the Carlyle Group see the article at www.buzzflash.com.

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 13, 2006 12:29 AM (GMT)

Successful Businessman Loses Everything To Medjugorje Cult Who He Claims Brainwashed His Wife

Phil Kronzer, nicknamed the "cult buster," has been trying to get to the bottom of corruption within religious groups. His research has turned up a trail of lies and decept, leading right to the doorstep of high ranking religious and government officials.

11 Mar 2006

By Greg Szymanski

<http://www.arcticbeacon.com/11-Mar-2006.html>

Phil Kronzer had it all. He had a big house, a successful business and a rock-solid family life, being happily married for 39 years.

Now he has nothing but an empty pocketful of memories, as he wages an all out battle against what he calls the "evil satanic cult" that infiltrated the Vatican, a group he says is destroying the Catholic Church from within.

"I am still a devout Catholic and have nothing against the true people of faith in all religions," said Kronzer. "However, I want to expose the evil cults that have infiltrated the Catholic Church as well as other religions, by exposing those who have placed my wife and others like her under mind control in order to destroy good Christian families."

A devout Catholic and nicknamed the cult buster," Kronzer always lived by Christian standards, going through life as an ethical businessman without an ounce of bad blood in his body.

But that was until his ill-fated trip to Medjugorje.

Then, out of the blue like a lightning bolt, his world changed on a dime after a visit to Medjugorje, a city of supposed religious phenomenon in Bosnia.

And for years now, since his wife was ripped away from by an underground cult, he has dedicated his life to debunking "the religious cult" behind Medjugorje, who he claims has destroyed his business and personal life.

Kronzer has spent over four years of his life and more than $500,000 investigating the group that "took away my wife" and the authenticity of Medjugorje confident his now ex-wife and other family members continue to be manipulated by the "cult operating within the Church" primarily due to their wealth.

"Through my efforts which are nonstop since I have nothing else to lose," said Kronzer, "I will continue to uncover a trail of lies, deceit, and sensationalism that Medjugorje supporters use to perpetuate this hoax for personal profit and leaving countless victims behind." But what exactly is the significance of Medjugorje and why, according to Kronzer, are the satanists in firm control of the Vatican using it for their evil benefit?

"Money, of course, is one reason," said Kronzer, adding power, control and meeting the needs of the New World Order are other important factors. "For the benefit of those not aware of Medjugorje it is located in eastern Europe in Bosnia-Herzegovina, and was an economically depressed farming community until June 24, 1981 when six Catholic children claimed to have seen and spoken to an apparition of the Virgin Mary on a hillside."

Kronzer added that as a result of this sighting, Medjugorje is now a thriving tourist attraction known as "Miracle City," drawing hundreds of thousands of people from around the world each year. A town once with a population of 500, now boasts more than 15,000 hotel beds, restaurants providing international and domestic specialties, souvenir shops, travel and traffic agencies, and professional guides speaking all international languages.

Also, a number of the original children, now adults, have become wealthy due to their alleged encounter with the Virgin Mary. To date, over 30,000 messages have supposedly been given to these six seers on a daily, weekly and monthly basis. In addition, there are now an estimated 3000 Medjugorje centers throughout the United States which promote and facilitate pilgrimages.

"I have spoken with a number of good people who have experienced loss due to Medjugorje and now I have made it my mission to let the world know about this group and it's damaging effects, so that others will not have to suffer the losses I have incurred," said Kronzer. "Medjugorje is now the most controversial Catholic shrine in the world today. Many Bishops, including the local Bishop in Mostar, Bosnia, have condemned the phenomenon. Kronzer claims the cult groups behind Medjugorje have a pattern of deceitfully recruiting members, in effect brainwashing them and draining their financial resources.

In an effort to get at the truth and get his wife back, Kronzer has filed a lawsuit against the Medjugorje MIR Center of which his ex-wife is a member and is working to establish a victims network to provide resources to others who have incurred undue suffering as the result of the religious cults of aid Kronzer. He has also formed The Kronzer Foundation for Religious Research in January of 2001 to help victims of religious fraud.

As stated on his web site at www.kronzer.org, "The Kronzer Foundation is a non-profit organization that provides a resource center and network for people and families who have been taken advantage of - mentally, physically and financially.

"Through research and interviews - the foundation will uncover and report on harmful religious frauds and hoaxes worldwide. It will serve as a centralized meeting place for victims who can share their stories and help each other heal.

"The Kronzer Foundation will help families get their loved ones out of cults, into psychological de-programming, and back into their life. We currently have volunteers and representatives in the United States and throughout Greater Europe."

Kronzer, trying to made the public aware of the deceitful operators taking over Catholic Church, he has applauded the efforts of Foundation Applauds Cardinal Vinko Puljic, the Cardinal of Sarajevo who has not denounced the shrine but has shown skepticism, saying it is causing serious divisions in the Catholic Church.

"The Franciscan plague that is poisoning our Church must be halted and the disobedient Franciscan monks at Medjugorje and their allies in the United States prevented from spreading deception and lies in the name of religion," said Kronzer, adding that Cardinal Puljic has also called attention to the Franciscans. "Charlatans, false seers, Franciscan fakirs and scam artists have no place in the true Church. As Cardinal Puljic undoubtedly knows, money not faith is the tainted fruit of Medjugorje."

For his strong position against an obviously powerful group, Kronzer has been destroyed financially as well as being the brunt of a completely false character assassination.

"I think they have given up trying to label me as a child molester and other things as there is nothing in my background to even remotely match-up the unfounded allegations," said Kronzer.

Besides Medjugorje, Kronzer's research has uncovered a connection to the Jesuit Order, the Freemasons and other cult groups connected to the Illuminati and New World Order, through who he calls a "deceitful Jesuit Bishop" named Bishop Hnilica.

Kronzer said that Bishop Hnilica supposedly has his "dirty fingers" behind the ongoing Medjugorje scam as well as other shenanigans, including the 1982 massive Vatican Bank scandal involving billions of dollars of stolen assets from the Vatican and other banks.

"I have found out that Hnilca is behind the Medjugorje group and that he even tried to personally get his hands on thousands of dollars of my money," said Kronzer.

Kronzer said his research also uncovered Hnilica's name popping up in the Vatican Bank scandal after recently talking with Carlo Calvi in Montreal, the son of Roberto Calvi, the former Italian Bank of Ambrosiano chairman killed when the bank scandal broke.

Kronzer said Calvi's son has been trying to clear his father's name and, at the same time, prove he was murdered, as a recent murder trial finally opened in Rome in 2005 is verifying his son's suspicions.

Remember that Catholicism is an invention of Satan's...paganism made to look like Christianity.

Alberto Rivera stated that they held black masses (I have all 6 comic books from Chick about Alberto). So any talk of witchcraft in the Vatican isn't shocking--especially since transubstantiation is a form of witchcraft!

The New Resistance

Real History

There is an invisible power which secretly rules. When Martin Luther sparked the spiritual and social revolution in Europe we now know as the Reformation, he sent an arrow deep into the heart of the Vatican power base. As the Reformation spread and enlightenment became commonplace, the Dark Ages ended, didn't they? Apparently they did not. The Vatican, in its lust for power over all human life, soon spawned an advocate who was worthy of the devil himself. He went by the name of Ignatius Loyola. Loyola was a self-made man. He suffered many trials and defeats in his life, but persevered to become the head of what he named the "Society of Jesus" whose members later became better known under their assigned nickname: the Jesuits.

Ignatius Loyola formed the Jesuits as a military order with the stated purpose of overthrowing the reformation started by Martin Luther and restoring the temporal (political) and religious domination of the Vatican in all walks of life. In other words, he wanted to bring back the Dark Ages. The domination of the Vatican and the Pope as Monarch over all Kings, Queens, secular leaders and the rest of humanity was (and still is) the avowed mission of the Society of Jesus.

Loyola's mandate was that the end justified the means, and any means of restoring Vatican domination was acceptable. The mission of the Jesuits was the extermination of all heresy and all heretics. Protestants and all other non-Catholics must be converted or eliminated - either sooner or later. The saying among the Jesuits was that "It is no sin to kill a heretic". This murderous justification apparently became their creed.

They demanded absolute, unquestioning obedience from their members. To achieve the fourth and highest vow of initiation, and thereby be initiated into the actively evil pyramidal top level, a Jesuit must be a loyal member for 35 years. This requirement ensured the smallest possibility of dissent or original thinking ever surviving in anyone reaching leadership role, or from ever altering their stated purpose or mission as set out by founder Ignatius Loyola.

As a military order, they fought many open political wars with European Kings, Queens and statesmen. Their favored tool against such power was assassination. Because of their small numbers, they became experts on poisoning and all known methods of assassination. They were even connected to the Borgias, as in Lucretia Borgia.

In those days most everyone had a confessor. The Jesuits deliberately sought these roles and came to dominate the confessor positions in European society. In that role they were able to use the intelligence they gathered from their political, social and business victims to gain advantage in politics, business and education. The confessor spies then used that information and position coupled with blackmail, bribery and intimidation to seek advantage for the Vatican in every endeavor. The Jesuit intelligence apparatus is unequaled on this planet. They were in place before we ever even dreamed of such an enterprise. Their missionaries carried this intelligence gathering on throughout the world when Columbus opened up the frontier, and no one has ever outdone them. This is one of the secrets of the Jesuit-Vatican control of much of the world.

The other very successful and crucial tactic they employed was to infiltrate all of their enemies. Opposing religions, enemy political structures, business, media and education, both domestic and foreign, were infiltrated by Jesuit missionaries and the many unidentifiable junior Jesuits: those secular followers who were all too willing to accept Jesuit favors and position in exchange for selling their countries and their souls to the Vatican.

What happened in Europe was that after 250 hundred years of bloody Jesuit-instigated massacres of Protestants, the bloody Jesuit Inquisitions (some estimates put the total Vatican and Jesuit death toll at 60 million human beings, making Hitler seem like an amateur) and resulting wars with European monarchs and statesmen, the Jesuits had been taking quite a beating themselves. Many had been executed outright, and as a group they were thrown out of almost every country in Europe at one time or another. Even several popes turned against them due to public outcries from some still loyal Catholic countries. But they always somehow managed to regroup and return. When they did, they always extracted bloody revenge on whatever country or ruler had expelled them. They killed the popes who banished them and took over the Vatican completely in the 1700's. This would prevent any further rear-guard actions against them in the future as they had suffered previously. This consolidation of Jesuit control over the Vatican itself marked a new phase in the ongoing battle against Protestantism and all the other non-Catholic "heretics" of the world at large.

The lessons learned from open conflicts with the European powers led to the next and most sinister phase of the Jesuit takeover of world society. They realized that the most effective and efficient method of seizing control of a society was by their already useful tactic of infiltration, but this time in secret. The instruments of that infiltration would be the many secret societies which they targeted and assumed control of. The international nature of the Masonic brotherhood made them an ideal tool for using its membership to advance Jesuit goals. Publicly, the Vatican and the Masons were enemies; but F. Tupper Saussy found evidence linking them, and Jon Eric Phelps notes that Adam Wieshaupt, the founder of modern Bavarian Freemasonry was a Jesuit agent.

The Knights of Malta (formerly Knights Templar) are the premiere secret society of the Vatican these days, but they are subservient to the Jesuit General. Many of America and the Western World's power elite are Knights of Malta.

Once they spread their influence through the secret societies worldwide and coordinated with the English Roundtables to impose a worldwide network of control, the whole phenomena evolved into what we know of today as the New World Order (or what the elite-controlled press so disingenuously refers to as Globalism, as if that is something to be desired). The Globalists have many nicknames, but their agenda is one and the same. It is total control of this planet. They have many factions who compete with one another for position and advantage like a group of churlish relatives, but the ultimate goal is always unchanged. And the Jesuit overlords lurk in the background, pulling all the important strings.

If you know anything about the history of the elite Brotherhood, then you will know that the Rothschild's banking faction developed the art of financing wars from both sides of a conflict by utilizing the secrets of Central Banking with their ability to create enormous debt loads in the resident populations resulting from the issuance of government authorized fiat money. The incredible profits generated by war, reaped from both the winners and losers, led to a syndrome where induced wars became a way of life for the overlords because of the vast financial profits and additional benefits derived from it.

In addition to massive financial profits, war results in many other "benefits" for the overlords. Some of the most important to them are increased centralized control of the population by government, increased militarization, and the public fear of conflicts to come, leading them to let their "peace-loving" statesmen do all their thinking for them.

But the Jesuits have a much darker rationale behind all the world conflicts they have overseen in the last 600 years. They have used all of these various wars as cover-ups for their mass exterminations of Protestants and all other non-Catholic peoples worldwide. This is the real horror of the Jesuits and the Vatican. They are the most prolific mass murders in all of human history. No one and nothing else in known human history compares to their record of calculated genocide. Now you know why we must stop this evil. The Vatican, as it is now, is the incarnation of hell itself. There can be no doubt of that.

Here are some Jesuit/Vatican atrocities to mull over.

The Crusades: Who knows how many died? And then the children's crusades ... Good God.

The Inquisitions: In "Vatican Assassins," Eric Jon Phelps cites a source that estimates roughly 60 million people were murdered in the various stages of the Inquisitions. Think about that number for a minute. Most of these people were tortured to death.

Catherine De Medici instigated the butchering of 75,000 French Protestant Huguenots on August 24, 1572. In 1598 Henry IV issued the Edict of Nantes to protect them. By manipulating the rescinding of the protective Edict of Nantes in 1685 by the Jesuit confessor to King Louis XIV (using religious blackmail), another HALF MILLION FRENCH HUGUENOTS were butchered by the vile French Catholic Dragonades. In 1655 again, British Protestant hero Oliver Cromwell threatened to invade France and crush the French Crown for a new massacre being waged upon the French Vadois Protestants of valley of Piedmont by six Catholic Regiments by the Duke of Savoy.

The massacre of the poor Irish protestants on October 23rd 1641 - the "Feast" of Ignatius Loyola. How fitting a day for a massacre by these bloodthirsty swine. It is estimated that 150,000 Irish Protestants were butchered in the streets and in their homes. This slaughter took place over an eight-year period. Finally, once again it was Oliver Cromwell who finally invaded Ireland and attacked the Jesuit base at Drogheda and in a rage exterminated the entire Catholic village of 2000. Only this invasion finally ended the massacre of the Protestants. The present day Irish Protestants are still at war with the fanatical Irish Catholic Jesuits, and this is why they need the continued protection of the British Army.

Excellent research, thank you. Today the poison cup of don borgia's is found in the misfortune 300 corporations that sell poisoned food, poisoned candy, poisoned soda pop, poisoned consumer goods and poisoning services ,poisoned drugs and poisoned misinformation.

The vatican kills and eats it's own "masses" first, think of all the IRA bus bombings of catholic children in Ireland, these dark age vatican poisoned pawns kill each other first. Catholics are taught to NOT read the bible or anything other than the pedophile priests bulletin board, most vatican catholic masses are poisoned with junk food and poison med by thier own priests and cardinals and bishops death and poison business connected endorsements. An irish catholic poisoner told me the vatican lives to poison italian roman catholics with paste/pasta/diabetes/poison injections/ junkfood, someone posted garlic dumbs people down and the papacy wants the italian masses dumbed down, that is the way the jesuit intelligence likes it, stupid sick followers to miseducate, enslave, poison, exploit, and butcher. The crack peddlers targeted every irish catholic girl in my state to get the roman catholic girls addicted to crack. Crack causes promiscuity and the promiscuous breed more single diseased moms, more vice, more jobs for corrupt vatican crooked cops, and more neglected poverty stricken unprotected vatican cattle babies that the vatican uses as sex toys for pedophile priests, slave labor to dig coal mines, military murderers, aides experiment babies, and death and disease statistic numbers to fill thier vatican owned vatican corporate run hospital bed making corporations. The vatican is THE major supplier of all USA hospital beds, the mobsters in the vatican live to make people sick, cause crime, vice and disease and chaos to get more hospital bed sales and more borgia cup of poison junk sales. Vatican uses same techniques as India uses, but India does not have the evil agenda the vatican has, in India when there is a problem they throw masses and mobs of PEOPLE at the problem. The vatican mobsters try to get NUMBERS, masses of pregnant diseased catholic single mothers to breed beings to exploit , pregnant immigrants, easily controlled and manipulated pregnant poverty stricken illiterate or miseducated groups are what the vatican wants.... tactics the vatican creates and uses to create crime poverty and exploitable masses to exploit for $$$$ and its sadistic pedophile agendas, that is why the vatican OPPOSES abortion, , the pedophile vatican priests like to rape fatherless boys and exploiting the poverty stricken single moms with no money and few defenses to protect themselves and thier children from the screaming vatican poison cup businesses like taco bell, kfc, bad drugs, poison vaccines, etc. etc .It is all a "don" borgia poisoned cup" poisoned needle" mafia founded poisoners business, the vatican. I heard vatican supporters call italian roman catholics, jungle children and laugh how they poison them, and the vatican preys on poor blacks and poor immigrants , all thier poison cup of borgia food and med is targeted in ads to kill and exploit these poor groups. An irish catholic heart surgeon brags he loves mcdonalds as mcdonalds made him rich as he gets off on cutting his fellow irish mens junk food clogged arteries and hearts out for demo c rat weaseled profits , That is the bad news, the vatican runs all borgia poisoner businesses, the good news is the vatican kills and eats its own vatican supporters and catholic followers and masses first, as any giant lying murderous pedophilic devil in hell would.

Vatican = the beast.

One reverse cup of borgia, one intelligent satellite beam, on vatican rome similar to the bomb dropped on sadam huessains palaces will send those poisoners at the vatican, those qveer sodomite women hating, child rapeing, pedophile vatican sodomites and human murdering moles back to Dantes 13th level of hell, where they, the vatican jesuit generals came from and where they get to remain.... for eternity.

Keep up the good work on exposing the vaticans crimes against humanity.

I don't agree with it all, but it's interesting.

The first president of the United Nations General Assembly, Paul-Henri Spaak, who was also a prime minister of Belgium and one of the early planners of the European Common Market, as well as a secretary-general of NATO, affirmed, "We do not want another committee, we have too many already. What we want is a man of sufficient stature to hold the allegiance of all the people and to lift us up out of the economic morass into which we are sinking. Send us such a man, and whether he be God or devil, we will receive him."

The Pope commits Blasphemy, fulfilling prophecy in Revelations "Don't go to God for forgiveness of sins, come to me." (Pope John Paul II, Los Angeles Times, December 12, 1984)

"And the woman was arrayed in purple (bishops) and scarlet (cardinals), and decked with gold and precious stones and pearls (riches), and having a golden cup (chalice) in her hand" Rev 17:4. It was foretold that he should "sell the souls of men" (power to d*mn and save) Rev. 18:13 fulfilled by the pope.

Julius Caesar is very ambitious and he wants to become dictator and emperor for life of the Roman Empire. He also wants the titles of the Pergomite dynasty placed on his head. He wants to become the Miximus Pontifex. Caesar is already the head of the mysteries of Rome, but something Rome is doing the whole time it is rising to power, is conquering nations and amalgamating all of the gods and goddesses of these conquered people into the city of Rome. Caesar is granted the rights to wear the Pergomite crown but he doesn't get to see any of the benefits of it because a few of his friends decide to give him party. They kill him and as they are stabbing him to death, he says "you to Brutus?", even those who he thought were his friends had risen up to kill him. Then Octavian comes along and takes the crown that Julius would have worn and he becomes the Maximus Pontif. He becomes the living god, and every emperor that comes after him wears the crown and becomes the holy pope, are you beginning to see how the Catholic Church rose up in the middle of a dynasty that was the biggest destroyer of Christians? Now this organization starts to take place, it has its own bishops, and cardinals and so on. Now to be crowned Emperor means you wore the Triple Crown. You would be the head of the local Babylonian mysteries, the world wide mysteries and by the time the crown comes into the possession of the church you are in charge of the local Christian Church. The Pope has challenged world leaders by claiming that the people of the world already recognize the absolute authority of Rome because they observe the Sunday Sabbath that was ordered by the Pope in the Council of Laodicea (A.D. 364). The original Ten Commandments given to Moses ordered that we should: "Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it Holy. Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God; in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy man servant, nor thy maid servant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates: for in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day: wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day, and hallowed it." The seventh day, the Sabbath as handed to Moses is Saturday. The celebration of Sunday as the Sabbath is verification that the people recognize the Pope as superior to God. Secret Societies / New World Order: by Milton William Cooper

I feel safe in stating that nowhere else can be found in one book the connected presentation of the story leading up to the death of Abraham Lincoln, which was instigated by the "Black" pope, the General of the Jesuit Order, camouflaged by the "White" pope, Pius IXth, aided, abetted and financed by other "Divine Righters" of Europe, and finally consummated by the Roman Hierarchy and their paid agents in this country [America] and French Canada on "Good Friday" night, April 14th, 1865, at Ford's Theater, Washington, D. C. I am convinced that if this knowledge can be given adequate distribution and placed in possession of the boys and girls of the public elementary schools, for whom it is especially designed to reach, that the wicked boast of the Jesuits and their lay agents, the Knights of Columbus, to "MAKE AMERICA CATHOLIC" can never be accomplished. Will he be the next Pope? He is a Jesuit Priest as was Adam Weishaupt, of the Illuminati, he is one of only 7 Jesuit cardinals worldwide.

Because, if it's ever known that the Jesuits killed our first Roman Catholic President, if the Roman Catholics of Northeastern America ever find that out, and ever believe it, the Jesuits are finished here. This country is the keystone to implementing the temporal power of the Pope around the world. If this country would expel the Jesuits, and we get back our national sovereignty, and we started to be self-governing once again, we would have our liberty, and the Jesuits would be out, and we would begin to experience REAL financial prosperity, and real living. The other thing is that Rome is in control of the drug trade. The Vatican controls all of the drug trade—all of the heroin, all of the opium, all of the cocaine, everything going around in Columbia. Columbia has a concordat with the Pope. A concordat is a treaty with the Pope. Hitler had a concordat. Mussolini had a concordat. Franco had a concordat. They want to set up a concordat here, which was the reason for Reagan formally recognizing the sovereign state of Vatican City in 1984. The greatest traitor we ever had was Ronald Reagan. While I can only make theories as to the relationship between Mondex and the False Prophet/Anti-Christ at this time, one thing is becoming more and more apparent. That is, according to a fellow post-tribber, Mondex has some Masonic stripes. He writes: "In the last two weeks Mondex commercials have been airing on Canadian television in promotion of it's MARC. The spots show the Mondex name and 3 ring Masonic logo." I don't think it is a coincidence that the company which manufactures the smart cards (Gemplus) for Mondex have decided to use the title, Multi-tech Automated Reader Card, so that it spells MARC. Rather, it suggests they are out to make the mark of the beast happen as a joke on us. Mondex supposedly stands for "monetary dexterity." Now, while "dexterity" means "easy handling," the root of the word is "dexter," which means "right hand." Therefore, MONDEX could very well mean "money in the right hand." Of course, the "monde" in Mondex may also be significant in that it means "world." And, wouldn't you know it, you can get a "demon X" out of Mondex just by tagging the "de" to the front of "mon." And, wouldn't you know it some more, that "SET MARK" is the registered name of Mondex's new companion to the smart cards (to be used for internet purchases), where "Set" is the Egyptian version of Satan (or Satan's brother), so that SET MARK could mean SATAN's MARK. You'll hear more about SET

MARK soon, or go to the Mastercard site (<http://www.mastercard.com/press/970718a.html>) and read all about it (but don't expect them to come out and admit the Satanic/Masonic undertones inherent in their special titles). Skin Code

Update: Between the years 2002 and 2005 Certain Knights Templar/ Masonic objects will be "discovered" in Egypt, Israel, England, and France. These are ancient and well known artifacts such as the "Holy Grail Emerald" and the ARK OF THE COVENANT. These objects are going to help in the deception presented to the world for the purpose of making the Antichrist appear as he is actually the Messiah, "Son of David". Always remember no matter what is found archeologically in support of this King, i.e. the "Holy Grail Bloodline," the Lost 10 Tribes of Israel, Atlantis, etc....it will be a lie. Case in point with the Ark of the Covenant, as IT IS ALREADY IN HEAVEN...a simple check of Jeremiah 3:15 and Revelation 11:19 proves that. The Antichrist will use the counterfeit Ark of the Covenant to deceive Israel. Other false artifacts and objects found will cause many to question their individual faiths, moving them ever closer to their "solarization of consciousness." ...[Pope] Wojtyla free us from the Jews. An interview with the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem about the Pope's Visit.

Appointed by Palestinian Authority Chairman Yasser Arafat, the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, Eqirma Said Sabri, Imam of the Al-Asqa mosque is the highest religious authority in Palestinian Islam. On the eve of the Pope's historic visit to the Al-Asqa mosque, the Grand Mufti gave the following interview to the Italian newspaper La Repubblica, March 24, 2000. The title of the article was "Too many lies about the Holocaust, [Pope] Wojtyla free us from the Jews."

"Six million Jews dead? No way, they were much fewer. Let's stop with this fairytale exploited by Israel to capture international solidarity. It is not my fault if Hitler hated Jews, indeed they were hated a little everywhere. Instead, it is necessary to denounce the unjust occupation endured by my people. Tomorrow I will ask John Paul II... to support our cause," the Grand Mufti states.

"...Question: Sheik Sabri, why did you refuse to participate in the meeting with the representatives of Christianity and Judaism?"

Answer: It was not a personal decision. In '67, the Supreme Islamic Council prohibited contact with the religious authority of the Jewish State occupying Jerusalem. Thirty-three years later that ban remains valid. Also, because the situation in the Holy City has deteriorated. The Rabbis oppose the peace process, they want to continue the occupation of our land, and support Jewish settlements.

Q: But in your life have you ever met a Rabbi?

A: Never. Actually, not even my father, himself an Imam, has ever wanted to meet one.

Q: Do you have the same problems meeting Christian bishops?

S: Not at all, we meet regularly. The Catholic Patriarch of Jerusalem, Michel Sabbah, was at my house just two weeks ago.

Q: How does it feel to be the first Muslim to open the doors of a mosque to a Pope?

A: I will welcome him with respect. His visit to the Al-Aqsa mosque is a contribution to the improvement of relations between our religions.

Q: What will you say to [Pope] Wojtyla?

A: Two things: First, I will remind him that according to Allah's will, the holy Muslim places belong to us only. Then, I will ask for his help to end Israeli occupation and Palestinian suffering.

Q: Will the Pope pray inside the mosque?

A: It would not be a good idea. Aside from the intentions, such a gesture could be wrongfully interpreted by Christians in the future. It is good to follow the teachings of the Caliph Omar, who after conquering Jerusalem refused to pray inside the [church of the] Holy Sepulchre: wisely, he feared that the followers of Islam would feel authorized to imitate him, transforming a sacred place for Christianity into a holy place for Islam.

Q: A Rabbi said that if the Pope went to the Wailing Wall tomorrow with a cross at his neck it would be offensive to Judaism. Would it be a problem for you if the Pope came to the mosque with a cross?

A: Not at all. Also the Prophet Muhammad welcomed many Christian authorities that wore the cross into mosques. Let it be clear: the Wailing Wall is not a holy place of the Jews, it is an integral part of the mosque [grounds]. We call it al-Buraq, the name of the horse with which Muhammad ascended to heaven from Jerusalem.

Q: Yet Muslims and Jews lived peacefully on this land until the beginning of the twentieth century, while between Islam and Christians there are centuries of bloody conflicts.

A: The Crusades were a conflict between the European Christian powers and the Muslims. But there has never been a war between the Christians of Palestine and Islam, we are one Arab people; the relations have been good for fifteen centuries, in fact during the Crusades many Christian Palestinians fought on the side of the [Muslim leader] Saladin. It is true that we have lived in harmony with the Jews also, until 1917, when the Balfour Declaration recognized their right to a 'home' in Palestine, and the Jews ended up taking it all. Today we do not fight against the Jews over religious issues. The conflict is only political....

Q: From a theological point of view would you consider yourselves brothers of the Jews?

A: In this case theology does not count. Let us consider the Pope's visit. It was announced as a spiritual pilgrimage. But it is a political journey. In fact, the Jews are trying to manipulate it to obtain a green light for the occupation of our land. At the same time, Arafat is doing his best to receive the Pope's support for a Palestinian state.

Q: What do you think of John Paul II?

A: He is without a doubt the most enterprising Pope in history, everybody esteems him as a messenger of peace in the world. Therefore, I hope he will forward to Israel our demand for justice and freedom.

Q: Did you approve of the Pope's visit to the monument of the Holocaust?

A: Whether I approved of it or not, he would have gone anyway. The Jews have found a formidable way to gather solidarity from the world. The Holocaust completely dominates international media, in Germany people only talk about the compensation of millions of dollars to the Jews. Well: the Crusades lasted two hundred years, not five years like World War II, and many more Muslims than Jews were killed under Nazism. But nobody talks about the Crusades or compensation for us.

Q: Do you agree with the Pope that the extermination of six million Jews in concentration camps is a crime against humanity and against God?

A: Six million? They were much fewer. And then how many times has genocide not been denounced? Let us think about the one just committed by Russia in Chechnya against Muslims. Why do people only insist on talking about the Holocaust? Of course we are against any crime, any genocide.

Q: Among your people there is controversy even about Jesus: was he Jewish or Palestinian?

A: According to The Koran Abram, Isaac, Moses, and Jesus, were all sent to the world by Allah. Jesus was born and raised in Palestine, for us he is an important prophet and his mother Mary is a saint. Jews instead do not recognize either one. I wonder why the Christian world is so loyal to those who do not respect Jesus and his mother.

Q: Sheik Sabri, is Islam on the road to more tolerance and democracy?

A: After the defeat of Communism, the Western world is searching for another enemy to destroy, and it is Islam's turn [to be destroyed]. But we do not need any western power to come and teach us its political system. The Koran regulates every aspect of our lives.

Why should we search for a system created by men when we have one created by God?"

When the Jesuits succeed in totally destroying The Reformation, their New Atlantis will be complete. These people will then destroy ALL religions and start up a one-world religion which will come out of Colorado, U.S. The same old people will rule but under different names just as Caesars turned to Pope and Legionaire turned to Priest. The same old bloodlines doing the same old tricks as usual. Some people just love trying to make out that the Catholic will wiver away not to be seen again haha WRONG! -2tuff

THE LAST POPE

The Decline and Fall of the Church of Rome
The Prophecies of St Malachy for the New Millennium

PUBLISHER: Element Books

TRADE PAPERBACK EDITION

Release Date: Fall 1999

Hardback edition released in 1998. Over 25,000 copies in print in 7 languages.

Synopsis

In 1139 St Malachy set out from Ireland on a harrowing pilgrimage to Rome. On sighting the Eternal City he fell to the ground and began murmuring cryptic Latin phrases, each signifying the future destiny of the Popes.

For four hundred years the manuscript was locked in the labyrinth of the Vatican. On its rediscovery in 1595 it was rejected by the Church authorities as fraudulent but the content of the prophecies remains remarkably and chillingly accurate: to this day 90 percent have come true.

In examining the context of St. Malachy's life, his pilgrimages and his miracles John Hogue presents a fascinating account of the fates of the Popes and eight hundred years of Catholic prophecy; including those of contemporaries, St Hildegard von Bingen, Joachim de Fiore and the 16th-century Catholic seer, Nostradamus, whose vision of the papal succession closely resembles that of St Malachy.

In this first complete study of the prophecies in over a hundred years, Hogue brings his expertise to new revelations regarding the authenticity of the Latin mottoes. As the Roman Catholic Church continues to witness an eclipse in papal power this masterly work uncovers the truth about St Malachy's prophecies and reveals their significance as an account of the papal progression which Vatican policy makers have found too threatening to acknowledge.

During the last persecution of the Holy Roman Church, there shall sit Peter of Rome, who shall feed the sheep amidst many great tribulations, and when these have passed, the City of the Seven Hills shall be utterly destroyed, and the awful Judge will judge the people

St. Malachy prophesied an end to the Roman Catholic Church and predicted the fates of the Popes until Judgment Day. After John Paul II dies only two Popes remain on the Doomsday List...will this forbidding prophetic coda of a Catholic Apocalypse Be fulfilled???

I've heard of this. Some say the current pope will be the last one; others say he's second-to-last. Either way you look at it, it's an indicator that time is REALLY short!

Satan is gathering all his false religions together. That's why you have the ecumenical movement. We fundamentalist Christians refuse to have anything to do with it, and that's why we're hated by Rome. Remember that Catholicism is paganism doctored up to look like Christianity, has been since Constantine issued his Edict of Tolerance in 313 A.D.

I highly recommend Alexander Hislop's "The Two Babylons." I bought a copy from Chick Publications some time back. You just have to get the hang of reading something written 150 years ago (there's that dumbing down, you know).

Bladestorm - March 9, 2006 02:20 AM (GMT)

Doesnt Eric say that there will be one more pope and that he will be Satan reborn?

Alexandra - March 9, 2006 02:25 AM (GMT)

More like Satan will take over this pope COMPLETELY, just as he took over Judas Iscariot.

Guelphs and Ghibellines

<http://www.tiscali.co.uk/reference/encyclo...n/m0020602.html>

Names adopted by the two factions that kept Italy divided and devastated by civil war during the greater part of the later Middle Ages.

It has been well observed by Grisar, in his recent biography of Pope Gregory the Great, that the doctrine of two powers to govern the world, one spiritual and the other temporal, each independent within its own limits, is as old as Christianity itself, and based upon the Divine command to "render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's". The earlier popes, such as Gelasius I (494) and Symmachus (506), write emphatically on this theme, which received illustration in the Christian art of the eighth century in a mosaic of the Lateran palace that represented Christ delivering the keys to St. Silvester and the banner to the Emperor Constantine, and St. Peter giving the papal stole to Leo III and the banner to Charlemagne. The latter scene insists on the papal action in the restoration of the Western Empire, which Dante regards as an act of usurpation on the part of Leo. For Dante, pope and emperor are as two suns to shed light upon man's spiritual and temporal paths respectively, Divinely ordained by the infinite goodness of Him from Whom the power of Peter and of Caesar bifurcates as from a point. Thus, throughout the troubled period of the Middle Ages, men inevitably looked to the harmonious alliance of these two powers to renovate the face of the earth, or, when it seemed no longer possible for the two to work in unison, they appealed to one or the other to come forward as the saviour of society. We get the noblest form of these aspirations in the ideal imperialism of Dante's "De Monarchia", on the one hand; and, on the other, in the conception of the ideal pope, the papa angelico of St. Bernard's "De Consideratione" and the "Letters" of St. Catherine of Siena.

This great conception can vaguely be discerned at the back of the nobler phases of the Guelph and Ghibelline contests; but it was soon obscured by considerations and conditions absolutely unideal and material. Two main factors may be said to have produced and kept alive these struggles: the antagonism between the papacy and the empire, each endeavouring to extend its authority into the field of the other; the mutual hostility between a territorial feudal nobility, of military instincts, and of foreign descent, and a commercial and municipal democracy, clinging to the traditions of Roman law, and ever increasing in wealth and power. Since the coronation of Charlemagne (800), the relations of Church and State had been ill defined, full of the seeds of future contentions, which afterwards bore fruit in the prolonged "War of Investitures", begun by Pope Gregory VII and the Emperor Henry IV (1075), and brought to a close by Callistus II and Henry V (1122). Neither the Church nor the Empire was able to make itself politically supreme in Italy. Throughout the eleventh century, the free Italian communes had arisen, owing a nominal allegiance to the Empire as having succeeded to the power of ancient Rome and as being the sole source of law and right, but looking for support, politically as well as spiritually, to the papacy.

The names "Guelph" and "Ghibelline" appear to have originated in Germany, in the rivalry between the house of Welf (Dukes of Bavaria) and the house of Hohenstaufen (Dukes of Swabia), whose ancestral castle was Waiblingen in Franconia. Agnes, daughter of Henry IV and sister of Henry V, married Duke Frederick of Swabia. "Welf" and "Waiblingen" were first used as rallying cries at the battle of Weinsberg (1140), where Frederick's son, Emperor Conrad III (1138-1152), defeated Welf, the brother of the rebellious Duke of Bavaria, Henry the Proud. Conrad's nephew and successor, Frederick I "Barbarossa" (1152-1190), attempted to reassert the imperial authority over the Italian cities, and to exercise supremacy over the papacy itself. He recognized an antipope, Victor, in opposition to the legitimate sovereign pontiff, Alexander III (1159), and destroyed Milan (1162), but was signally defeated by the forces of the Lombard League at the battle of Legnano (1176) and compelled to agree to the peace of Constance (1183), by which the liberties of the Italian communes were secured. The mutual jealousies of the Italian cities themselves, however, prevented the treaty from having permanent results for the independence and unity of the nation. After the death of Frederick's son and successor, Henry VI (1197), a struggle ensued in Germany and in Italy between the rival claimants for the Empire: Henry's brother, Philip of Swabia (d. 1208), and Otho of Bavaria. According to the more probable theory, it was then that the names of the factions were introduced into Italy. "Guelfo" and "Ghibellino" being the Italian forms of "Welf" and "Waiblingen". The princes of the house of Hohenstaufen being the constant opponents of the papacy, "Guelph" and "Ghibelline" were taken to denote adherents of Church and Empire, respectively. The popes having favoured and fostered the growth of the communes, the Guelphs were in the main the republican, commercial, burgher party; the Ghibellines represented the old feudal aristocracy of Italy. For the most part the latter were descended from Teutonic families planted in the peninsula by the Germanic invasions (of the past), and they naturally looked to the emperors as their protectors against the growing power and pretensions of the cities. It is, however, clear that these names were merely adopted to designate parties that, in one form or another, had existed from the end of the eleventh century.

In the endeavour to realize the precise signification of these terms, one must consider the local politics and the special conditions of each individual state and town. Thus, in Florence, a family quarrel between the Buondelmonti and the Amidei, in 1215, led traditionally to the introduction of "Guelph" and "Ghibelline" to mark off the two parties that henceforth kept the city divided; but the factions themselves had virtually existed since the death of the great Countess Mathilda of Tuscany (1115), a hundred years before, had left the republic at liberty to work out its own destinies. The rivalry of city against city was also, in many cases, a more potent inducement for one to declare itself Guelph and another Ghibelline, than any specially papal or imperial proclivities on the part of its citizens. Pavia was Ghibelline, because Milan was Guelph. Florence being the head of the Guelph league in Tuscany, Lucca was Guelph because it needed Florentine protection; Siena was Ghibelline, because it sought the support of the emperor against the Florentines and against the rebellious nobles of its own territory; Pisa was Ghibelline, partly from hostility to Florence, partly from the hope of rivalling with imperial aid the maritime glories of Genoa. In many cities a Guelph faction and a Ghibelline faction alternately got the upper hand, drove out its adversaries, destroyed their houses and confiscated their possessions. Venice, which had aided Alexander III against Frederick I, owed no allegiance to the Western empire, and naturally stood apart.

One of the last acts of Frederick I had been to secure the marriage of his son Henry with Constance, aunt and heiress of William the Good, the last of the Norman kings of Naples and Sicily. The son of this marriage, Frederick II (b. 1194), thus inherited this South Italian kingdom, hitherto a bulwark against the imperial Germanic power in Italy, and was defended in his possession of it against the Emperor Otho by Pope Innocent III, to whose charge he had been left as a ward by his mother. On the death of Otho (1218), Frederick became emperor, and was crowned in Rome by Honorius III (1220). The danger, to the papacy and to Italy alike, of the union of Naples and Sicily (a vassal kingdom of the Holy See) with the empire, was obvious; and Frederick, when elected King of the Romans, had sworn not to unite the southern kingdom with the German crown. His neglect of this pledge, together with the misunderstandings concerning his crusade, speedily brought about a fresh conflict between the Empire and the Church. The prolonged struggle carried on by the successors of Honorius, from Gregory IX to Clement IV, against the last Swabian princes, mingled with the worst excesses of the Italian factions on either side, is the central and most typical phase of the Guelph and Ghibelline story. From 1227, when first excommunicated by Gregory IX, to the end of his life, Frederick had to battle incessantly with the popes, the second Lombard League, and the Guelph party in general throughout Italy. The Genoese fleet, conveying the French cardinals and prelates to a council summoned at Rome, was destroyed by the Pisans at the battle of Meloria (1241); and Gregory's successor, Innocent IV, was compelled to take refuge in France (1245). The atrocious tyrant, Ezzelino da Romano, raised up a bloody despotism in Verona and Padua; the Guelph nobles were temporarily expelled from Florence; but Frederick's favourite son, King Enzo of Sardinia, was defeated and captured by the Bolognese (1249), and the strenuous opposition of the Italians proved too much for the imperial power. After the death of Frederick (1250), it seemed as if his illegitimate son, Manfred, King of Naples and Sicily (1254-1266), himself practically an Italian, was about to unite all Italy into a Ghibelline, anti-papal monarchy. Although in the north the Ghibelline supremacy was checked by the victory of the Marquis Azzo d'Este over Ezzelino at Cassano on the Adda (1259), in Tuscany even Florence was lost to the Guelph cause by the sanguinary battle of Montaperti (4 Sept., 1260), celebrated in Dante's poem. Urban IV then offered Manfred's crown to Charles of Anjou, the brother of St. Louis of France. Charles came to Italy, and by the great victory of Benevento (26 Feb., 1266), at which Manfred was killed, established a French dynasty upon the throne of Naples and Sicily. The defeat of Frederick's grandson, Conradin, at the battle of Tagliacozzo (1268) followed by his judicial murder at Naples by the command of Charles, marks the end of the struggle and the overthrow of the German imperial power in Italy for two and a half centuries.

Thus the struggle ended in the complete triumph of the Guelphs. Florence, once more free and democratic, had established a special organization within the republic, known as the Parte Guelfa, to maintain Guelph principles and chastise supposed Ghibellines. Siena, hitherto the stronghold of Ghibellinism in Tuscany, became Guelph after the battle of Colle di Valdelsa (1269). The pontificate of the saintly and pacific Gregory X (1271-1276) tended to dissociate the Church from the Guelph party, which now began to look more to the royal house of France. Although they lost Sicily by the "Vespers of Palermo" (1282), the Angevin kings of Naples remained the chief power in Italy, and the natural leaders of the Guelphs, with whose aid they had won their crown. Adherence to Ghibelline principles was still maintained by the republics of Pisa and Arezzo, the Della Scala family at Verona, and a few petty despots here and there in Romagna and elsewhere. No great ideals of any kind were by this time at stake. As Dante declares in the "Paradiso" (canto vi), one party opposed to the imperial eagle the golden lilies, and the other appropriated the eagle to a faction, "so that it is hard to see which sinneth most". The intervention of Boniface VIII in the politics of Tuscany, when the predominant Guelphs of Florence split into two new factions, was the cause of Dante's exile (1301), and drove him for a while into the ranks of the Ghibellines. The next pope, Benedict XI (1303-1304), made earnest attempts to reconcile all parties; but the "Babylonian Captivity" of his successors at Avignon augmented the divisions of Italy. From the death of Frederick II (1250) to the election of Henry VII (1308), the imperial throne was regarded by the Italians as vacant. Henry himself was a chivalrous and high minded idealist, who hated the very names of Guelph and Ghibelline; his expedition to Italy (1310-1313) roused much temporary enthusiasm (reflected in the poetry of Dante and Cino da Pistoia), but he was successfully resisted by King Robert of Naples and the Florentines. After his death, imperial vicars made themselves masters of various cities.

Ugucione della Faggiuola (d. 1320), for a brief while lord of Pisa "in marvellous glory", defeated the allied forces of Naples and Florence at the battle of Montecatini (29 Aug., 1315), a famous Guelph overthrow that has left its traces in the popular poetry of the fourteenth century. Can Grande della Scala (d. 1339), Dante's friend and patron, upheld the Ghibelline cause with magnanimity in eastern Lombardy; while Matteo Visconti (d. 1322) established a permanent dynasty in Milan, which became a sort of Ghibelline counterbalance to the power of the Angevin Neapolitans in the south. Castruccio Interminelli (d. 1328), a soldier of fortune who became Duke of Lucca, attempted the like in central Italy; but his signory perished with him. Something of the old Guelph and Ghibelline spirit revived during the struggle between Ludwig of Bavaria and Pope John XXII; Ludwig set up an antipope, and was crowned in Rome by a representative of the Roman people, but his conduct disgusted his own partisans. In the poetry of Fazio degli Uberti (d. after 1368), a new Ghibellinism makes itself heard: Rome declares that Italy can only enjoy peace when united beneath the scepter of one Italian king.

Before the return of the popes from Avignon, "Guelph" and "Ghibelline" had lost all real significance. Men called themselves Guelph or Ghibelline, and even fought furiously under those names, simply because their forbears had adhered to one or other of the factions. In a city which had been officially Guelph in the past, any minority opposed to the government of the day, or obnoxious to the party in power, would be branded as "Ghibelline". Thus, in 1364, we find it enacted by the Republic of Florence that any one who appeals to the pope or his legate or the cardinals shall be declared a Ghibelline. "There are no more wicked nor more mad folk under the vault of heaven than the Guelphs and Ghibellines", says St. Bernardino of Siena in 1427. He gives an appalling picture of the atrocities still perpetuated, even by women, under these names, albeit by that time the primitive signification of the terms had been lost, and declares that the mere professing to belong to either party is in itself a mortal sin. As party catch-words they survived, still attended with bloody consequences, until the coming to Italy of Charles V (1529) finally re-established the imperial power, and opened a new epoch in the relations of pope and emperor.

Title: The ORSINI Family

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 9, 2006 01:43 AM (GMT)

The Orsini Family

<http://www.newadvent.org/cathen/11325b.htm>

One of the most ancient and distinguished families of the Roman nobility, whose members often played an important rôle in the history of Italy, particularly in that of Rome and of the Papal States.

The Roman or principal line of the family, from which branched off a series of collateral lines as time went on, may be traced back into the early middle Ages, and a legendary ancestry goes back even as far as early Roman times. The Roman line, as well as its branches, had large possessions in Italy and were the rulers of numerous and important dominions, fortified towns, and strongholds. In Rome, the Orsini were the hereditary enemies of the equally distinguished Colonna (q. v.): in the great medieval conflict between papacy and empire, the latter were for the most part on the side of the emperor and the leaders of the Ghibelline party, while the Orsini were ordinarily champions of the papacy and leaders of the Guelph party. The Orsini gave three popes to the Church -- Celestine III, Nicholas III, and Benedict XIII -- as well as many cardinals and numerous bishops and prelates. Other members of the family distinguished themselves in political history as warriors or statesmen, and others again won renown in the fields of art and science. The wars between the Orsini and Colonna form an important part of the medieval history of Rome and of Central Italy. Forming as they did a part of the conflicts waged by the emperors in Italy, they influenced in a very prominent manner the general historical development of that time.

CARDINALS OF THE ORSINI FAMILY

Among the cardinals of the Orsini family who were distinguished in the history of the Church, as well as in ecclesiastico-political history, the following are especially worthy of mention:--

(1) MATTEO ROSSO ORSINI, nephew of Cardinal Gaetano Orsini (later Pope Nicholas III), created a cardinal by Urban IV in December, 1262; d. 4 Sept., 1305 (according to some authorities, 1306). As legate for the provinces of the Patrimony of Peter and of the Marches, he fought against Peter de Vico, who, in the name of Manfred, invaded the papal territory with German mercenaries. Soon after the elevation of his uncle, Nicholas III, to the papal throne (1277), he was named by this pope archpriest of the Vatican Basilica, rector of the great Hospital of the Holy Ghost in Vatican territory, and cardinal protector of the Franciscan Order. After the death of Nicholas III (1280), the cardinals assembled in Viterbo for the election of his successor, but, owing to party dissensions, many months passed before a decision was reached. The party which inclined towards the French, and which had the support of Charles of Anjou, King of Naples, himself present in Viterbo, wished to elect an exponent of the policy of France, and chose as their candidate the French Cardinal Simon. However, the two cardinals Orsini, Matteo Rosso and Giordano, the latter a brother of the deceased pope, Nicholas III, energetically opposed this choice. As neither party could command the necessary majority, no election resulted. In February, 1281, the French party resolved to have recourse to a bold stroke. At the instigation of the marshal of the conclave, Annibaldi, who was at variance with the Orsini, citizens from Viterbo suddenly attacked the anti-French cardinals, and took prisoners the two Orsini, carrying them away from the conclave and holding them in custody. The candidate of the French party was now elected pope under the name of Martin IV (22 February, 1281), whereupon Giordano was released, and afterwards Matteo Rosso. The instigator of the attack was excommunicated and the city of Viterbo placed under an interdict. When the news of the capture of the two Cardinals Orsini was received in Rome, great confusion ensued. Their relatives were driven from the city by the adherents of the Annibaldi, but were later recalled by Martin IV, with whom the Cardinals Orsini had become reconciled. During the conflict between Boniface VIII and Philip the Fair of France, it was Cardinal Matteo who, having remained faithful to the persecuted pontiff, brought Boniface back to Rome after the attack of Anagni (1303). Cardinal Matteo attended the numerous conclaves held between 1254 and 1305, there being no less than thirteen. He died in Perugia in 1305 or 1306. His body was later transferred to Rome, where it lies in the Orsini Chapel in St. Peter's.

(2) NAPOLEONE ORSINI, son of Rinaldo, a brother of Pope Nicholas III, b. 1263; d. at Avignon, 24 March, 1342. In his youth he embraced the ecclesiastical state, was appointed papal chaplain by Honorius IV (1285-7), was created Cardinal Deacon of S. Adriano by Nicholas IV in May, 1288, and later, under Clement V was named archpriest of St. Peter's. Commissioned by Pope Boniface VIII, he brought Orvieto back to its submission to the Holy See, shortly after which the pope named him legate for Umbria, Spoleto, and the March of Ancona. In this capacity he left the Curia on 27 May, 1300, returning, however, on 28 May, 1301. During this time he had to combat various enemies of the Roman Church, and recovered the city of Gubbio for the pope. He was entrusted with his second papal legation by Clement V. Leaving Avignon, which was at that time the residence of the Curia, he set out on 8 March, 1306, for the Papal States with the commission to make peace between the parties which were everywhere at variance, and to bring back the various states of the Roman Church to their allegiance to the pope. This mission occupied more than three years, terminating on 12 June, 1309. Cardinal Napoleone played an important part during the political disturbances of the time. At first an opponent of the Colonna and their ambitions, he later became a promoter of French policy and entered into close relations with the French rulers. At the election of Clement V and John XXII he exercised a decisive influence, but subsequently became an enemy of the latter. He upheld the Franciscan Spirituals, and espoused the cause of King Louis of Bavaria against the pope. A cardinal for fifty-four years, he took part in the election of seven popes (Celestine V to Clement VI), on at least three of whom he placed the tiara. He is also known as an author, having written a biography of St. Clare of Montefalco.

(3) GIAN GAETANO ORSINI, prothonotary Apostolic, raised to the cardinalate by Pope John XXII in December, 1316; d. 1339 (or, according to some sources, 27 August, 1335). In 1326 he was sent to Italy as papal legate for certain lands belonging to the Papal States, and remained there until 1334. He endeavoured, though with little success, to bring back several rebellious states and vassals to their allegiance to the Apostolic See, excommunicated the obstinate Castruccio of Lucca and Bishop Guido Tarlato of Arezzo, as both supported the Visconti of Milan in their conflict against the pope, and, after the coronation of King Louis the Bavarian in Rome in 1327, placed that city under an interdict. After the departure of the excommunicated emperor, the legate entered Rome with the army of King Robert of Naples, whereupon the people once more agreed to recognize the suzerainty of the pope. John XXII, however, refused to sanction the war undertaken by the cardinal legate against the Colonna, and ordered him to return to Tuscany. In November, 1328, he opened a campaign against the cities of Corneto and Viterbo, which submitted to the pope in the following year. The years between 1334 and his death he passed in Avignon.

(4) MATTEO ORSINI, d. probably on 18 August, 1340. He entered the Dominican Order, completed the full course of theology, obtained the Degree of Master, and taught theology at Paris, Florence, and Rome. He won great distinction by his zeal for the spread of the order, and was appointed provincial of the Roman province in 1322. In this capacity he became a member of the embassy deputed by the Romans to invite John XXII to transfer his residence to the Eternal City. On 20 October, 1326, the pope named him Bishop of Girgenti (Sicily), but shortly after (15 June, 1327) transferred him to the archiepiscopal See of Liponto (Manfredonia, Southern Italy), made him Cardinal-Priest of S. Giovanni e Paolo on 18 December, 1327, and Cardinal-Bishop of Sabina on 18 December, 1338. He continued in various ways to promote the welfare of the Dominican Order, richly endowing the Convent of St. Dominic in Bologna.

(5) GIACOMO ORSINI, created cardinal-deacon by Gregory XI on 30 May, 1371, d. at Vicovaro or at Tagliacozzo, 1379. He was distinguished for his knowledge of the law. Appointed papal legate in Siena in 1376, he was a strong supporter of Gregory XI. In the conclave of 1378, he espoused the cause of Urban VI, but later attached himself to the antipope Clement VII.

(6) PONCELLO ORSINI, Bishop of Aversa (Southern Italy) from 19 June, 1370, d. 2 February, 1395. He was created cardinal-priest with the title of St. Clement at the great consistory convoked by Urban VI on 28 September, 1378. He became papal legate, and at first worked zealously for the interests of Urban VI after the outbreak of the schism. Later, however, repelled by the impetuous procedure of the pope, he secretly left the Curia and took up his abode upon his own possessions. At the conclave of 1389, he was a candidate for the papacy. The new pope, Boniface IX, appointed him to important ecclesiastical offices, and he exercised great influence upon the Curia until his death.

(7) TOMMASO, of the line of the Counts of Manupello, raised to the cardinalate (1381) by Urban VI; d. 10 July, 1390. He was sent by the pope as legate to the Patrimony of the Marches, where Prince Rinaldo Orsini of Aquila and Tagliacozzo had seized the cities of Urbino and Spoleto in addition to other territory. The legate declared war against him and won back for the pope the cities of Narni, Ameli, Terni, and later also Viterbo. His conduct towards the Papal Vicar of Viterbo brought upon himself the disfavour of the pope, who imprisoned him in the fortress of Amelia, but later granted him his liberty. On the occasion of the conspiracy of several of the cardinals against Urban, Cardinal Orsini remained loyal to the pope. His relations were intimate with Urban's successor, Boniface IX, during whose pontificate he died.

(8) GIORDANO ORSINI, a very distinguished personality in the College of Cardinals in the first three decades of the fifteenth century, d. at Petricoli, 29 July, 1438. After a thorough and comprehensive training, he became Auditor of the Rota, and in February, 1400, was raised by Boniface IX to the Archiepiscopal See of Naples. On 12 June, 1405, Innocent VII made him a member of the College of Cardinals, at first with the title of St. Martino of Monti, and later with that of S. Lorenzo in Damaso. In 1412 he was appointed Cardinal-Bishop of Albano, and in 1431 Cardinal-Bishop of Sabina. He participated in the election of Gregory XII (1406), but later, with several other cardinals, renounced allegiance to the pope, against whom he published a tract. He assisted at the Council of Pisa, and took part in the election of the Pisan pope, Alexander V (1409), and of his successor John XXIII (Balthasar Cossa). The latter sent him as envoy to Spain, later appointing him papal legate to the Marches, in which position he was equally distinguished for his ability and prudence. He assisted zealously at the Council of Constance, and took part in the election of Martin V (1417). He was sent by this pope as legate to England and France, in company with Cardinal Filastre, to make peace between the two countries. He was also selected for the difficult embassy to Bohemia and the neighboring countries (1426), where he was to combat the Hussite heresy. On this occasion he took with him as his secretary the future cardinal, Nicholas of Cusa.

Upon his return, the pope entrusted to him another difficult task, namely the visitation and reform of the churches and ecclesiastical institutions of Rome. In the conclave of 1431 Eugene IV was elected pope. A close friendship existed between him and Giordano, and the latter supported him loyally and energetically during all the trying conditions of the time. With two other cardinals, Giordano was commissioned to proceed against the usurpers of ecclesiastical possessions in Italy, after which he was delegated by the pope to attend the Council of Basle (q. v.), where he exerted every effort to uphold the rights of the pope against the schismatic element in the council. We are indebted to him for a diary of this council. Later, as papal legate, he journeyed with Cardinal Conti to Siena to meet Emperor Sigismund on his way to Rome to receive the imperial crown. A man of wide culture, Giordano took an active part in the literary life of his time. Numerous and valuable manuscripts were the result of his journeyings as legate, and these he willed to St. Peter's in Rome (cf. the catalogue of manuscripts in Cancellieri, "De secretariis basilicæ Vaticanæ", II, Rome, 1786, pp. 906-14). An Augustinian monastery was founded by him in Bracciano. He died dean of the College of Cardinals, and was buried in St. Peter's in a chapel founded and richly endowed by him.

(9) LATINO ORSINI, likewise of the Roman branch of the family and the owner of rich possessions, b. 1411; d. 11 August, 1477. He entered the ranks of the Roman clergy as a youth, became subdeacon, and as early as 10 March, 1438, was raised to the Episcopal See of Conza in Southern Italy. Transferred from this see to that of Trani (Southern Italy) on 8 June, 1439, he remained archbishop of the latter after his elevation to the cardinalate by Nicholas V on 20 December, 1448. On 4 December, 1454, the Archbishopric of Bari was conferred upon him, which made it possible for him to take up his residence in Rome, the See of Trani being given to his brother, John Orsini, Abbot of Farfa. Paul II appointed him legate for the Marches. Sixtus IV, for whose election in 1471 Cardinal Latino had worked energetically, named him camerlengo of the College of Cardinals, granted him in 1472 the Archdiocese of Taranto, which he governed by proxy, and, in addition, placed him at the head of the government of the Papal States. He was also appointed commander-in-chief of the papal fleet in the war against the Turks, and, acting for the pope, crowned Ferdinand King of Naples. He founded in Rome the monastery of S. Salvatore in Lauro, which he richly endowed and in which he established the canons regular, donating to it also numerous manuscripts. In the last years of his life he became deeply religious, though he had been worldly in his youth, leaving a natural son named Paul, whom, with the consent of the pope, he made heir of his vast possessions.

(10) GIAMBATTISTA ORSINI, nephew of Latino, d. 22 Feb., 1503. He entered the service of the Curia at an early age, became cameral cleric, canon of St. Peter's, and was elevated to the cardinalate by Sixtus IV in 1483. Innocent VIII conferred upon him in 1491 the Archiepiscopal See of Taranto, which he governed by proxy, and, as papal legate for Romagna, the Marches, and Bologna, he was entrusted with the administration of these provinces of the Ecclesiastical States. In the conclave of 1492, the election of Alexander VI was almost entirely due to him. However, Cardinal Giambattista, together with the head of the House of Orsini, the Duke of Bracciano, having espoused the cause of the Florentines and the French in the Italian wars, was taken prisoner in the Vatican at the command of the pope and thrown into the dungeon of the Castel Sant' Angelo, where he died. The report was current that he had been poisoned by Alexander VI. Other cardinals of the family of Orsini who are worthy of mention because of the active part taken by them either as administrators of the papal states or as legates in other lands are the following:

(11) FLAVIO ORSINI, flourished in the sixteenth century, d. 16 May, 1581. He was created a cardinal in 1565, having been a bishop since 1560, first of the See of Muro and later that of Spoleto. In 1572 he was sent by Gregory XIII as legate to Charles IX of France, principally to support this monarch in his conflict with the Huguenots.

(12) ALESSANDRO ORSINI, belonging to the ducal family of Bracciano, b. 1592; d. 22 August, 1626. He was brought up at the court of the Grand Duke Ferdinand I of Tuscany, and in 1615 created a cardinal by Paul V. As Legate to Ravenna under Gregory XV, he distinguished himself in 1621 by his great charity on the occasion of the outbreak of a malignant pestilence. Upon his return to Rome, he devoted himself to religion and to the practice of an austere asceticism. He even begged permission of the pope to resign the cardinalate and to enter the Jesuit Order, but this was refused. Nevertheless, the pious cardinal always remained closely united to the Jesuits. He was a patron of Galileo.

(13) VIRGINIO ORSINI, likewise of the ducal family of Bracciano, b. 1615; d. 21 August, 1676. He renounced his birthright in his youth, entered the military order of the Knights of Malta, and more than once distinguished himself in the war against the Turks by his reckless bravery. In December, 1641, Urban VIII raised him to the dignity of cardinal, and appointed him Protector of the Polish as well as of the Portuguese Orient. He was commissioned to direct the building of the new fortifications with which Urban VIII enclosed the Leonine City and a quarter of Trastevere, and which are still in existence. In 1675 he became Cardinal Bishop of Frascati, but died the next year, leaving behind him a reputation of a pious, gentle, and benevolent prince of the Church.

OTHER DISTINGUISHED FAMILY MEMBERS

In addition to the members of the Orsini family who were prominent as cardinals in the history of the Roman Church, others have gained a place in political history as statesmen, warriors, or patrons of the arts and sciences.

(1) ORSO DI BOBONE, nephew of Pope Celestine III (1191-8) and the first Orsini to hold a conspicuous place in Rome. Under the protection of his uncle, the pope, he was destined to have the principal part in laying the foundation of the dominion, power, and prestige of the Roman Orsini.

His grandchild, (2) MATTEO ROSSO ORSINI, was made senator of Rome by Pope Gregory IX in 1241. In this capacity he took a decided stand against the ventures of Emperor Frederick II in Italy. He was a patron of religious undertakings, a personal friend of St. Francis of Assisi, and a member of that saint's Third Order. While one of the sons of Matteo Rosso, Gian Gaetano, ascended the papal throne as Nicholas III, another, (3) RINALDO, continued the activities of his father in the political field, exerting himself to the utmost to prevent the alliance of Rome with the Hohenstaufen Konradin.

A son of this Rinaldo, (4) MATTEO ORSINI, was twice senator in Rome. His wise and energetic uncle, Nicholas III, to show that papal rule was once more dominant in Rome, deprived King Charles of Anjou of the senatorial dignity, and in 1278 published the decree that thenceforth no foreign emperor or king could become a senator, a Roman being alone eligible for the dignity, and then only with the consent of the pope and for one year. The power of the Orsini was in general much strengthened by this capable pope of their race.

In the course of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries, the following were particularly famous as military leaders in the numberless internal wars of Italy; (5) PAOLO ORSINI, who in the beginning of the fifteenth century fought as condottiere in the service of several popes, was taken prisoner by Ladislao of Naples, again set at liberty, and fell in battle against Braccio da Montone before Perugia on 5 July, 1416.

(6) VIRGINIO ORSINO, Lord of Bracciano, was leader of the forces of Sixtus IV (1471-84) in the war against Ferrara, and victor at the battle of Campo Morto against the Neapolitans (1482). Later, however, he entered the service of Naples to oppose King Charles VIII of France (1483-98); in 1494, however, he took the side of the latter, and was imprisoned on this account. He died on 18 January, 1497, in prison at Naples.

(7) NICCOLO ORSINI, Count of Petigliano, was, at this time, in the service of the Anjous, military leader in the war against Naples, Sixtus IV, Siena, Florence, and Venice. Later, however, he went over with his army to the Venetian standard, and became general-in-chief of the Venetian Republic in the war against the League of Cambrai. He captured Padua, but was defeated in 1509, and died the following year.

Of the members of the Orsini family who flourished during the sixteenth century (8) PAOLO GIORDANO ORSINI is also worthy of mention. Born in 1541, he was created a duke, with the title of Bracciano, by Pope Pius IV (1560). Under Paul IV, he was general of the papal troops in the war against the Turks (1566). His first wife, Isabella Medici, being murdered, he took as his second wife Vittoria Accoramboni, widow of the murdered Francesco Peretti, a nephew of Sixtus V. Accused of murdering the latter, Paolo Giordano was obliged to leave Rome. He died at Salo in 1585.

(9) FULVIO ORSINI was distinguished as a humanist, historian, and archæologist, b. on 11 December, 1529; d. in Rome, 18 May, 1600. He was the natural son probably of Maerbale Orsini of the line of Mugnano. Cast off by his father at the age of nine, he found a refuge among the choir boys of St. John Lateran, and a protector in Canon Gentile Delfini. He applied himself energetically to the study of the ancient languages, published a new edition of Arnobius (Rome, 1583) and of the Septuagint (Rome, 1587), and wrote works dealing with the history of Rome -- "Familiæ Romanæ ex antiquis numismatibus" (Rome, 1577), "Fragmenta historicorum" (Antwerp, 1595), etc. He brought together a large collection of antiquities, and built up a costly library of manuscripts and books, which later became part of the Vatican library (cf. de Nolhac, "La bibliothèque de Fulvio Orsini", Paris, 1887). A woman of the Orsini family likewise played an important political rôle in the seventeenth century: MARIE ANNE, née de la Trémoille, b. 1642. Her first husband was Talleyrand, Prince de Chalais, after whose death she married Flavio Orsini, Duke of Bracciano, who remained loyal to Pope Innocent XI in his difficulties with Louis XIV of France. Marie Anne used her influence with the Curia in the interests of France and of Louis XIV, and in 1701, after the death of her husband, went to Madrid as mistress of the robes to Queen Marie-Louise, who, together with her husband Philip V of Spain, was completely under her influence. She did much to strengthen the throne of these rulers, but, nevertheless, in 1714 when Philip married Elizabeth Farnese, she was dismissed with ingratitude and returned to Rome, where she died on 5 December, 1722 (see Hill, "The Princess Orsini", London, 1899). The ancient family of the Roman Orsini is extinct. The present princes of the family in Rome descend from the Neapolitan line, which may be traced back to Francesco Orsini, Count of Trani and Conversano. In 1463 they became Dukes of Gravina, later (1724) princes of the Empire and Roman princes. The head of the family always enjoys the dignity of assistant at the papal throne. The present head is Filippo Orsini-Gravina-Sarzina, b. 10 December, 1842. Several noble families outside of Italy trace back their descent to the ancient Italian Orsini, as for example the Juvenels des Ursins in France and the Rosenbergs in Austria and Germany.

There's a very close relationship. You will notice with MI-6, in the first few decades of their existence (they came into existence at the turn of the century), they hired only women who came from elite Illuminati families. If you were a female working with MI-6, you were referred to as Queenie, and they really were Illuminati queens. We go back and look at who set up these organizations, who runs these organizations. Look at the CIA for instance. People that understand what the Council for Foreign Relations is all about and how that's an Illuminati front will understand better what I am talking about. You look at Dulles, McCone, Helms, Slesinger, Bush, Turner, Casey - you just go down your list of directors of the CIA - and they were members of the Council for Foreign Relations. Not only that, but they were members of other organizations that are Illuminati fronts. Turner was a Rhodes scholar which is an entry point for Illuminati. The Astors helped found the Rhodes scholars. Casey and McCone - both of whom were Knights of Malta. Look at the membership of the Knights of Malta, 50% black nobility. I am talking about black in the context of the black (guelph) European aristocratic bloodlines - the black (.....s) were a very powerful bloodline that have controlled Europe for many centuries. General Walter Bedell Smith was head of the CIA - from 1950 to 1953 - working in US intelligence - he was one of the co-founders of the Bilderbergers. Prince Bernhardt (Illuminati) was the Chairman of the original Bilderbergers. One of the late Chairs was Peter Rupert (Lord Carrington) was Order of St. John which is the Protestant version of the Knights of Malta. He was a director of a number of the Rothschild organizations like the Rio Tinto Zinc Corporation. He was a member of the Order of the Garter, which is very significant; and a member of the Order of Osiris. The Order of the Garter is one of the primary organizations which was given the responsibility to be in charge of the plans to bring in the New World Order by the Illuminati, and to give continuity from one generation to another. The Order of the Garter is extremely powerful. Your coat of arms etc. is all controlled by the Order of the Garter which is set up in covens of 13, groups of 13. If you have ever looked at heraldry you will know how important this is. The Bilderbergers is also set up in groups of 13, the inner committee is 13.

Title: Students turn their back on Gonzales

Alexandra - March 7, 2006 02:25 AM (GMT)

This is old news (Georgetown U law students turning their backs on the attorney general), but I'd like to post this picture anyway.

Pretty interesting that this happened in Jesuit Central:

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 7, 2006 06:11 AM (GMT)

If I remember rightly isn't Gonzales no in favour with the big wigs right now, just the same as Cherkoff?

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 7, 2006 06:14 AM (GMT)

Georgetown Law Students Turn Backs To Gonzales

Future American lawyers to be proud of.

Alberto Gonzales spoke before law students at Georgetown Law School today, justifying illegal, unauthorized surveillance of US citizens, but during the course of his speech the students in class did something pretty ballsy and brave. They got up from their seats and turned their backs to him.

To make matters worse for Gonzales, additional students came into the room, wearing black cowls and carrying a simple banner, written on a sheet.

Fortunately for him, it was a brief speech... followed by a panel discussion that basically ripped his argument in half.

And, as one of the people on the panel said,

"When you're a law student, they tell you that if you can't argue the law, argue the facts. They also tell you if you can't argue the facts, argue the law. If you can't argue either, apparently, the solution is to go on a public relations offensive and make it a political issue... to say over and over again "it's lawful", and to think that the American people will somehow come to believe this if we say it often enough.

In light of this, I'm proud of the very civil civil disobedience that was shown here today."

Alexandra - March 7, 2006 04:42 PM (GMT)

I wonder if the black cowls have anything to do with the picture of that poor Gitmo (or was it Abu Ghraib) prisoner standing on a box...?

This news is from a couple months ago, just noticed that Rense had that picture on his site.

Novusordo - March 5, 2006 09:21 PM (GMT)

Hi 2tuff,

I'm in the middle of making a conspiracy video about how the Jesuits and balck nobility Illuminati want to restore the popes temporal power via the implemtation of a new world order.

anyway, I want to put some extracts of the Jesuits secret instructions in my video to show that these bastards really do mean business.

You couldnt give me a few of the most blatantly evil ones, could you?

Such as the one that goes something like "I will kill even a relative if my master tells me" ect.

Cheers mate, and BTW I will be getting the video up on to google when its finished. I think youll love it.

Novusordo - March 5, 2006 09:24 PM (GMT)

Come to think of it, I think I'm talking about the extreme oath :rolleyes:

I'm only jsut starting out on the Jeusit side of it all, so I don't know much but you were the one who introduced me to it all and I'm reading all I can ATM :)

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 5, 2006 11:03 PM (GMT)

As far as I'm aware theres only Eric Jon Phelps who's on video talking about the Jesuit Order and this was at ConCon2002 when Jordan Maxwell came along to introduce Eric. The more information around on the Order, the better! The Secret Instructions etc are all on this site my friend. Make sure you utilise Vatican Assassins by Eric Phelps and the secrets of the jesuits by Edmond Paris along with others. Even Jesuit Temporal Saussy and his Rulers of Evil has some use but its got diversions within it so be careful. Erics exposed Saussy! Check out those old books supplied with VA.

Novusordo - March 6, 2006 12:59 AM (GMT)

Hi,

I've been meaning to grad rulers of evil off my mum for week now, lol.

Thanks for warning about the author, I'll keep that in mind.

I've got some brilliant extracts from the extreme oath now in my video B)

Nearly finished it. Just hope I can get it online without trouble :rolleyes:

Dear 2TUFF

Dear Eric,

What is the chance of me getting hassled by The Order for having my Forum/site up and running like it is? I'm bound to have been noticed by now huh?

I am sure the Order knows plenty about you. You are one of about only ten people I know that have anything significant to say about the Jesuits. As far as being a target, the Order first seeks to discredit, then discourage and then possibly a physical attack. But if you know the Lord, you may simply trust Him to look out for you---and He will.

Thanks
2TUFF

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric

CRAIG-OXLEY - January 19, 2006 12:41 AM (GMT)

Ah yes 2tuff, so thats why all these attacks on you by so called members are going on! I knew it had to be more then just a personal grudge! So we have a ringer or two floating amongst us! I think the order has gotten to others here also!

CRAIG-OXLEY - January 19, 2006 12:42 AM (GMT)

EXACTLY

The Order detest the fact that I expose their mythical, fraudulent lies let alone have the strength to expose The Order themselves which their Temporals try in all their power to protect.

CRAIG-OXLEY - January 19, 2006 01:34 AM (GMT)

Attacks have occurred for sometime against me but of late its increasing along with banning to keep the information quiet and put people off me and my information. The attackers keep increasing and many with false handles on boards to help fuel the fire making out its the masses. A few names of attackers and possible Temporal Coadjutors:-

It's not that hard for a Jesuit to Google this site. That's how I found it--this incarnation of The Unhived Mind, at any rate.

I wouldn't be surprised if they knew the rank, file and serial number of everyone who posts here, either. :P

Theres no doubt that they do.

I'm sure this isnt happening, but just the thought that they "could" be following me everytime I leave the house is a little unsettling. :huh:

CRAIG-OXLEY - January 19, 2006 10:55 PM (GMT)

Again why fear death? Why fear anything in this pathetic matrix? Why fear a collection of overlords in black robes? Did Peter Kolvenbach create you? Did his council? NO! So therefore don't fear them.

THE ORDER defeats Curezone TRUTHSAYERS

Curezone allows THE ORDER and its Temporal Coadjutors to close down the conspiracy forum. This is because they hate the information I've been contributing to this forum for a while. Well they finally won and eventually they will bring the whole site down. They've already got closer to the destruction of Curezone by getting all these debate forums to stop the flow of truth and censor folks. Then they attack people within the debate forums. Again folks its professional concentrated attackers and attacks taking place by paid agents who are out for full confrontation and arguments.

So more and more places are loosing THE TRUTH such as Curezone, God Like Productions and many more. The Order is trying to destroy the truth and replace it with nonsense from their FBI Division 5 and alike. They want you all believing in hiv creating AIDS :D , The holocaust figures being 6 million :D & of course NOT FINDING out about THE ORDER :ph43r: . Theres been censorship of users with bans in the past but it wasn't till I really hammered the facts on the Jesuits that the whole conspiracy area has been removed to definately stop the problematic TRUTH.

If you want more information look at this area the webmaster dwells:

<http://curezone.com/forums/f.asp?f=264>

TRUTH HURTS:

* THE SOCIETY OF JESUS, VATICAN, OPUS DEI & SOVEREIGN MILITARY OF MALTA rule the world with THEIR Order of Illuminati.

* The Holocaust death figures are completely false as found by many highly intelligent folk and professors not just conspiracy researchers. The facts that more Russians, Christians, Gypsies, Handicapped died in camps is forgotten.

* That hiv is a complete CHARADE from start to finish. Remember alternative health practitioners make a killing from this just like the Rockefeller run Medical Cartel.

TRUTH HURTS BOTH THE LIE CREATORS, ITS BUSINESS FOLLOWING AND OF COURSE THE SHEEP WHO JUST FOLLOW WHAT THEIR TOLD BARRRR BARRRR.

It will be only fair that another point of view from those who disagree with Holocaust Revisionism ought to shown. You know not all people who believe in that are racist, but many are. Those who are racist hate people like me and lie abotu our real history as well. Many of them have connections to neo-nazis and love the Vaticans (i.e. Temporal Coadjtors). Unlike some people, I don 't believe that simple disagree over Holocaust figures merit people being sent jail like Zundel. Anti-Semitism is a Jesuit tool and Nazism is a Jesuit toolPlus I fully know that more Gentiles died than Jewish people in the Holocaust and in the Soviet Holocaust as well. Not to mention that Jewish people exist in Israel from 2000 years ago to today. 2tuff, please mention the Muslim radical Holocaust of million of Christians from 1900-today as well in Sudan, Nigeria, Indonesia, Pakistan, Saudi Arabia, Egypt, etc. Even Eric Jon Phelps doesn't agree with Holocaust Revisionism:

I had a similar experience, I was singled out and 'destroyed' by a group of people in several fan groups, but I saw the memes travel around from several gaming magazines, to commercials, to even comic strip cartoonists. You may know them as 'animal worshippers' with the 'zeus' logo (which actually means zoophiles). I've chanced on reading in some conspiracy sites that this logo somehow represents a satanic group. It does not. They may act like they worship satan and pretend to be animals, but it started as just a bunch of kids in a furry group. I know the creator of the logo personally, and he is not 'all that', as a matter of fact, I plan on seeing this person again as well as those who follow him for a little payback of ruining my life now for over a decade. I feel it's the same way these people have ruined yours, 2tuff. They are merely a group of friends who have managed to create a little circle that happen to have people in the conspiracy groups as well as possibly more prominent areas, etc. I don't think it would have reached 'the order' as you have spoken of. The reason I say this is if you truly have, you would have simply just 'disappeared' instead of just being harassed. That's my opinion anyway.

It doesn't make it any less of an annoyance, but at least you know that they're merely human and subject to the same punishment they dish out.

People actually have full time jobs of disrupting using upwards of 50 user accounts and being non disruptive for a month or so on each.

Has anyone noticed on their travels where I've been attacked that you will have an attack usually from one person the most, which is very significant. Then that person will go and suddenly someone else comes along to do the attacks. I find it awefully funny how on one forum Michael A Dyer disappears and suddenly Stormholloway is back taking his place :D

The Jesuits will have to send one of their hit teams to shut me up as I will not be discouraged and people can see through the pathetic and quite childish attempts to discredit me and Eric Jon Phelps for that matter. So Jesuit lacky MI5 are you up to the task? Feel free and release me from this Jesuit prison!

Haha, why do you keep using my full name? I never use my full name, and it's not that i care, but why do you insist to keep saying my full name? Think if you keep saying it you will have power over me or something? And as i have told you numerous times already, i'm not Stormholloway. I've never even personally talked to that guy and have no idea who he is..

Was just checking to see if i was banned over here and wanted to respond to this thread where you called me and nwowatcher a 'temporal' forum... Even though, i was under the assumption that at this time on January 19th, we were supposed to have been getting along and not fighting any more.? Yet, here you are bringing me up for no reason and calling me a 'Temporal' that people should be on the lookout for...

Oh well, just wanted to respond to this....

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 8, 2006 04:09 AM (GMT)

As explained on another Forum you were placed on this list prior to our truce which was either the 23-24th and you were labelled a Temporal on the 19th which was before the truce. Hopefully one day you will read what has been written to you. I have replied to your private message on another forum and await your response. If you wish to stop the attacks on other forums and stick to a truce then I will remove your name off my list. Until such a time your name will continue to be upon this thread. By the way once again Fr' Elias Royon Lara isn't the Superior General but may become this in 2008. So folks dont let this confuse you as Count Peter Hans Kolvenbach is still the puppetmaster.

VATICAN: JESUITS CONDEMN POLITICAL USE OF CARTOONS

<http://www.agi.it/english/news.pl?doc=2006...online-eng.arab>

(AGI) - Vatican, Mar 2 - Jesuit publication "Civilt  Cattolica" dedicated a full editorial to the Prophet cartoons debate, warning of the dangers to both Eastern and Western cultures inherent to inappropriate use of such media.

"It is cause for concern that cartoons offensive to Islam should be used for the purposes of political gain", writes C.C., adding how there seems to be a drive towards "widening ramparts, which for historical reasons already exist between Islam and the West"; a manipulation which carries the "premise to further antagonism against West". According to C.C. vested interests aim to "distract the masses from serious, urgent domestic issues in order to bolster political unity; as well as to gain the upper hand in countries with a Muslim majority under so-called moderate regimes, which are supported by the US and Western nations".

The editorial goes on to say that "ultimately, those benefiting on the side of Islam are fundamentalists, and anti-Islamic Europeans on the other". "The former are encouraged in their fight - even by means of terrorist attacks on Western soil - knowing full well that they have the backing of the Muslim world and that they can rely on Europe's inertia". The latter, on their part "failing affirmative action against the Muslim world, describe Europe's current predicament as the path to inevitable suicide; what they don't understand is that, in essence, this is what a clash of civilisation is about". Hence C.C.

calls for mutual understanding, and emphasises its "condemnation of the blasphemous cartoons, in that they are offensive of Muslim's religious feelings"; just as firmly C.C. condemns the "instrumental use of just a few satirical cartoons to nurture protests against the West, with all the violence - not just verbal - against people and establishments" which that carries.

CiviltÀ Cattolica concludes by writing that "it is only through dialogue and vigorous upholding of mutual respect between peoples can we quench the hatred and anger", which if left unchecked "may well lead to more serious conflict tomorrow". (AGI) - 021336 MAR 06

Description: *Mind Control and Sodomy *FULL

This is not a very pleasant read, but it contains some info on her ideas about mind control within the Jesuit order involving sodomy.

Marion Knox: 'I don't think you can become powerful in the Society of Jesus without being involved in sodomy at some point in time.'

Interviewing Deprogrammers: In the House of the Strong Man Sodomy is the Key

Interview with Marion Knox by Elana Freeland

<http://www.whale.to/b/knox1.html>

The doctors of the law, too, who had come down from Jerusalem, said, 'He is possessed by Beelzebub' and 'He drives out devils by the prince of devils.' So he called them to come forward, and spoke to them in parables: 'How can Satan drive out Satan? If a kingdom is divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand; if a household is divided against itself, that house will never stand; and if Satan is in rebellion against himself, he is divided and cannot stand; and that is the end of him.

'On the other hand, no one can break into a strong man's house and make off with his goods unless he has first tied the strong man up; then he can ransack the house.' (Mark 3:22-27, NE)

Marion Knox is a farmer in Lebanon, Oregon who more and more is called upon to do the work of deliverance, not deprogramming. For more information about how he works, feel free to contact him at 36185 Bohlken Drive, Lebanon OR 97355, (541)259-1839. Therapists of all persuasions may be interested in sending $5 to mkzine for xeroxing and mailing to read Marion's 19-page "Biblical Perspective of Ritual Abuse" that lays out how Illuminati programming is structured and how Marion delivers -- and reintegrates -- DID's through Jesus Christ.

CAUTION: THIS INTERVIEW MAY BE TRIGGERING.

E: Marion, where I want to start is with your statement that the presence of Elohim spirits usually indicate Freemasonic programming that is installed by sodomy. Does that ring a bell?

M: Yes, it does, and I would like to broaden that a little bit. Ron Patton once did an article on Monarch programming. Based on what you might call research or what I have discovered in maybe 500 people over a period of ten years -- I'm just guessing because I don't keep records -- this is my impression: the most vulnerable age for preparing a person for mind control is between two and four years of age because of the development of the child's mind at that age. Traumatic things can damage them worse than if they were younger or older. Also, in order to be programmable there needs to be a change in the way their mind works between two and four. That change can only be achieved by sodomy.

E: What is it about sodomy that does that?

M: It attacks the nerves at the base of the spine and causes something neurological to happen within the brain. It also has a spiritual, demonic component to it that affects the person's mind in a way that nothing else will, as near as I can tell. In other words, I would state it this way: for a person to be able to develop multiple personalities, they would have to be sodomized between two and four.

E: For all multiple personality disorders?

M: As far as I know. It's not commonly told this way because sodomy puts in a deaf and dumb spirit and causes memory loss so that some people may remember occult rituals but won't remember the sodomy. But sodomy is the foundation of the whole thing. It is called "the key of David"¹ by the Rothschild Illuminati.

E: When you say Rothschild Illuminati, you're not talking about just the Rothschild family?

M: No, I'm talking about all of the occult people all over the world. This goes back to Nimrod. This is the Egyptian initiation of the child to open the third eye.

E: Are you saying that back in Egypt in 3000 B.C.E., when the priesthood was at its peak, they were using sodomy for their initiations?

M: As far as I know, sodomy is always used in the occult going clear back before the Flood. Sodomy is Satan's sex or Satan's new birth of the child. I don't believe anybody can become fully illuminated unless they have been sodomized at around three years of age. If they wait to touch that person until they're ten, twelve, fifteen years old, they will never be fully illuminated because you can't open the third eye after about five or six years of age.

E: The third eye meaning the pineal gland between the eyes?

M: Yes. I have traced migraine headaches from anal sex. It comes up the spine, over the back of the head right into the forehead.

E: All migraines, or --

M: No, I'm not saying all migraine headaches are from sodomy because I had one once that was put on me by a retired chiropractor and he did not sodomize me. But I think he was a sodomite. Basically, Satan cannot sodomize someone on his own, but he can influence somebody to sodomize someone else and then it's like having Satan sodomize them and put the sodomy power within them. Sodomy is spiritual. I get intense about this because it is so clear, and the Bible is the best source for discovering this.

E: Regarding Illuminati and Rothschild --

M: Let's leave Rothschild out of this. Not everybody is Rothschild unless you are using Rothschild as a loose term like Illuminati. With Illuminati referring to the wider spectrum, there is a Rothschild element and a Masonic element, but probably as sinister as any is the Jesuit element. I cannot prove this, I wish I could, but I believe that to become a full-fledged Jesuit you would have had to have been sodomized by the time you were three years of age. I believe they're all sodomites.

E: The entire Society of Jesus?

M: I don't think you can become powerful in the Society of Jesus without being involved in sodomy at some point in time.

E: Marion, when you say the third eye, I think of the ability to see visions, to see things we normally can't. Is that what you're talking about?

M: To make a mystic with those capabilities requires sodomy because sodomy changes the way the mind works; it opens the mind up to the spirit world.

E: So it's the same effect on male or female children?

M: Absolutely, and you never know what the effect is going to be. One might be one way and one another, but to be able to become a mystic, whether it's a Catholic mystic or any other kind of mystic, that is the route to go. I call that the Legion mindset.

E: Let's go back to the Elohim and Legion. What are the differences?

M: The Legion mindset has the Strong Man spirit in it. It's like the House of the Strong Man: its foundation can develop into a mystic, or into multiple personalities. The Legion mindset would be what Alice in Wonderland is all about. The Elohim spirit is just one small item.

E: But they're inserted through sodomy, as well?

M: Yes. I think the spirit called Elohim in people who have gone through Masonic ceremonies enters with sodomy.

E: But the word Elohim in the Old Testament is actually a good word --

M: Not always, because the word means "spirit." I think if you check the original, when Samuel came up, the witch of Endor said she saw the Elohim coming up. So she saw the spirit coming up, not God Almighty. In the occult world, they have many Elohim. Why do you think that Wicca's magic circle has the name Elohim and Adonai? Do you think that's God Almighty? I don't think so.

E: So they may have spirits that are stand-ins for other --

M: Basically, the sodomy spirits would call themselves the I AM spirits. When you have someone who has a sodomy spirit, that sodomy spirit claims to be God. So then it's just the next step to use the names that we associate with God. Mormonism says that Elohim had sex with Mary to birth Jesus. Do you think that was Almighty God? I don't think so. Joseph Smith was a peepstone gazer; he had the third eye open. He was a molester, had been a Mason and copied Masonic ceremonies for the Temple ceremonies.

E: From what you have learned from the people you have deprogrammed -- you don't like that word, do you?

M: You can use the word deprogramming, but it is used in circles that are not Christian, and basically a lot of what they call deprogramming is reprogramming. I like to think of it as changing a mindset. But go ahead and ask your question.

E: I'm trying to establish a relationship between the Illuminati and Freemasons.

M: Okay. In the true sense of the word, Illuminati is a class of people that have illumination in common. In the political sense, you might have people who have joined an organization called the Illuminati -- like being a Democrat or a Republican. But in the true sense of the word, the Illuminati refers to enlightened or illuminated ones.

E: And they can be from any brotherhood or organization?

M: Yes.

E: And they have gone through some sort of initiation for that?

M: In a spiritual sense, they have been illuminated or initiated into the illumination of Lucifer. The initiation into the light of Lucifer is achieved by sodomy of the three year old. However, if that person does not follow through, he can become a dud -- he doesn't go anywhere, so he hasn't really risen to any rank within the movement of the body of the Illuminati. They have certain degrees associated with being a high-level Illuminati -- you wouldn't get there simply by being initiated as a three year old. The initiation of the three year old is the beginning requirement of someday rising up into the ranks of a group that is considered to be the Illuminati. A lot of people think of the Illuminati as being a political group of people, but in another sense it's a brotherhood of sodomites that's like family.

E: When you say 'like family,' are some blood related and most not?

M: I'm saying sodomites feel a family bond, whether related or not.

E: Sodomites -- Illuminati or otherwise. Is sodomy ritually continued after three years old?

M: Let me try to explain it this way. Who is the Bride of Christ or who is the Church? Everybody who is truly born again is in the kingdom or family of God, right?

E: Uh-huh.

M: That is THE Church, right? But then you've got Methodists, Baptists, Nazarenes and all these different groups. The Illuminati is Lucifer's church, the mystical body of Satan.

E: Is sodomy like communion for them?

M: No, sodomy is like being born again.

E: Do they do it over and over?

M: Yes, but especially in intense programming, like Monarch or mind control programming, sodomy is used over and over and over. Those who have programmers or keepers, they're using sodomy all the time to keep the person in line.

E: Is sodomy a threat or is it pleasurable to the sodomized?

M: Those who have been programmed have a locked-in three-year-old mindset which is the core of the programming. Say they're eighteen or twenty years old and somebody comes up and knows the signal or says the code word to call out the three-year-old core. The person then goes into the three-year-old state to be sodomized, then the sodomites program into their minds what they want to program in, and when that person wakes up they probably don't even remember that anything happened. Basically, a person reverts back to the three year old to be a total victim to the sodomy.

There are many ramifications of this. If you read the book by Cathy O'Brien, she says that a high-level politician gave her messages to take to the King of Saudi Arabia. The politician would access her sex alter, repeat the message, bring her out of that sex alter, ship her overseas, and when she got there the King would access her sex alter and get the message word for word from the high-level politician and return an answer. That basically is a picture -- she didn't say it was sodomy but that's what they do. Sodomy puts them into a trance where you can program in directly to the subconscious memory file without any interference of the conscious mind. Sodomy is what puts the person into that state where you can do it. They might even get them so highly programmed that they can just say the word or repeat the code.

E: Can you use sodomy for programming after childhood?

M: You can program a 50-year-old person with sodomy.

E: But would you have had to have done it at least once when they were small?

M: To get a mind control slave, yes. You can't take a 20-year-old person and make a mind control slave out of them by waiting until they're 20 years old to do it. To program them like TV and movies do -- you could not make a Monarch programmed person if you hadn't started with them as a child.

E: Have victims actually used the word Monarch to describe their programming?

M: One of the people I worked with came up with the idea that the wings of the monarch butterfly are actually the pelvic skeletal shape. Then if you add sodomy, you add the abdomen of the butterfly. The other thing about Monarch would be that these people are told they are royalty or "chosen ones," given that a lot of bloodline families in power in the United States claim to be descendants of European royalty or descendants of monarchs. You could look at it that way. I say that Monarch programming is basically sodomy programming.

Some people are being kept in bondage by sodomizing themselves -- [Here the telephone turns into static that takes several minutes to rectify.] -- sodomy is used to reboot the computer and reactivate the programming.

E: Do you think this is at all behind the big push to accept homosexuality as normal?

M: Of course.

E: Do you think all homosexuals are sodomized early?

M: I don't think that very many homosexuals become homosexual without being sexually abused early. They may not all have been sodomized, but a large portion were.

As far as religions go, Catholics and Masons are at the top of the list. It's possible that the Catholic hierarchy may even have an unofficial doctrine to sodomize three year olds so as to bind them to the Church. They say, "Give us a child until he's five and he'll always be Catholic," but they don't start any religious training with the children until they're five. I recently freed a guy who was sodomized by a priest when he was probably three and then at thirteen was put in Boys Town in Nebraska, and the priest there would take him into a room, lock the doors, and make him do whatever he wanted him to do. A first-hand witness of the corruption at Boys Town.

E: What about Skull and Bones, Scroll and Key -- fraternities of elite sons -- do you suppose they're using sodomy as well to make deep bonds for the sake of money and power in the families?

M: I can't imagine they haven't. What is Skull and Bones anyway but the order of death? Why are they doing things connected with the dead? Sodomy is the biggest occult power source there is, so how did they get their power without it? I was not there, I was never invited to go there, I could not have gone there because I was never a victim of sodomy as a child. Now, the Masons do recruit people who are innocent bystanders just for the image and the dues. But the real driving force of the Masons are the sodomites, just check the de Molay thing.

E: Tell me a little more about the deep bond that forms among men because of sodomy.

M: Let me tell you a little story. I have been trying to help a woman for the last five years to get free of the bondage and victimization that began when she was a child. She was married to a guy who's wealthy and works for Nike, and is also a cross-dresser. I even met with the cross-dresser and uncovered that his grandpa was a Mason who treated him like a little girl and sodomized him. This was from his mind, not mine -- but he didn't want to believe it and get right. They have four children, and she's been sitting there with the damage to the children.

She'd been trying to get something to pin on him, like his pornography on the internet, but he always lied his way out of everything. I called her out of the blue the other day and she had filed for divorce but still didn't have anything on him. So I said, "Do you suppose you might have a spirit of his, like the Strong Man?" So I checked it out and the answer that came from her mind was that the spirit of her husband had entered her on her wedding night by sodomy. All she can remember is that the wedding night was a bad night. I cast it out. She had a bright red rash on her when we were talking about this, but when I cast out the Strong Man spirit with her husband's name, put in with sodomy, within minutes the rash was completely gone.

Within the week, she happened to be at her husband's new house where the daughter was, and the daughter said, "Let me show you something." They went into a big walk-in closet where there was a suitcase with another locked suitcase in it. The daughter got the key, opened up the little suitcase, and there were women's paraphernalia, lingerie, even the tool to sodomize himself. She could not find any evidence on that guy until I got rid of that spirit of sodomy from him. Her eyes and the daughter's eyes were opened.

Sodomy has a spiritual component in it that is far more sinister than anybody recognizes. It is the most underrated evil power to the general public. But to the people who are in the know, they know that this is the ultimate rebellion against God Himself. This is what they hope to use to gain the whole human race for their side and defeat God Himself.

E: I'm convinced you're right that for both mind control and male bonds of power, sodomy is somehow key. What about another brotherhood, the Special Forces -- Navy SEALS, Green Berets -- elite cadres?

M: From what I can gather, I believe they are chosen because the men start out as victims as three year olds. I worked to help get a guy free whose mother ran a topless bar down in California and he had a tremendous internal rage. He didn't do very well in school and he had his problems with drugs, but a guy came along and got him a full ride of four years at West Point. He should never have gotten in there. He went in on a football scholarship, but when they got him in there they switched him to a boxing scholarship because when he got into boxing, the rage could be turned on. He heard that some of the initiations coming up in the second West Point year included sodomy. I don't know that they subjected him to sodomy, but he quit before he went more than one year.

Just like in war, where traumatic things happen that soldiers can't remember, this is what sodomy does to the child. The denial system that kicks in produces at least in some people the ability to compartmentalize. When you compartmentalize, you can be in a certain compartment of your mind without detracting from other compartments of your mind. If you're in the pure rage compartment, you don't have any kindness or love diluting it.

E: So in the profiling that the military might use in order to find a man who fits the untapped rage pattern --

M: I could make a profile! I could take a few victims that are healed and sit them down beside me and we could bring the people through an interview and we could profile them.

E: Why do I think this programming through sodomy acts so much more powerfully on males than on females?

M: It doesn't, but males and females are different. Females are best for becoming programmed computers or human recorders. Most women are more capable of creating multiple personality systems because of the way their minds work. But the fact is that men are more aggressive, so the percentage of women who are sodomized and become perpetrators is far lower than the percentage of men who become perpetrators. They're all victims to start with, but women just go on being victims, they don't tend to turn into perpetrators themselves. I've worked with men who did not become perpetrators and remained victims, just like the women; and I've seen evidence of women who became perpetrators. Witches are perpetrators and just like men, they're molesters. I've worked with people who had women sodomizing them with objects, molesting children. But the percentage is lower with women than it is men. A higher percentage of men will transition from victim to perpetrator. And I'm convinced that there are some men who compartmentalize in such a way that they do not on the average remember acts of molesting; they will only remember if they get into that compartment. Otherwise, they have amnesiac barriers between the different compartments of their minds. Women are that way, too. A perpetrator with an amnesiac barrier is a sad, sad case because they can switch into that compartment and go out and molest, then switch out and not remember. This is the kind of person they use in Special Forces for their assassination teams because they can activate the hidden compartment that has been programmed for assassination and send them out on a mission. A man who claimed to have been in the South African Special Forces told me of two cases where he was sent to assassinate, one in a national park in South Africa, and another in London.

E: So sodomy doesn't need to be used; the trigger word can just be used to activate that compartment.

M: I don't know. I think that they could use sodomy and make them forget the whole thing. People have been sodomized and they couldn't remember for three or six months after it had happened. We didn't know what was wrong with them, and then later found out somebody took them out and sodomized them.

Sodomy is a spiritual thing. Let's say Ben sodomizes either a man or woman. When he does that, that person has a spirit by the name of Ben that changes the way that person relates to things. This can even be as an adult. You can't put the Legion mindset in when they're 40 years old, but you can put Ben in when they're 40 years old and it will change the way that person thinks. I've had different women who separated from abusive husbands and for some reason couldn't break loose of the soul tie to their husband, but when we cast out the sodomy spirit by their husband's name, their feelings about their ex-husbands changed. The most classic example is the lady who had slept with her husband before they were married, committed adultery at 40 years of age, and when I commanded the Strong Man to give its name it was her husband's name that entered at 40 when he sodomized her. That spirit of sodomy was more damaging to her than the spirit of adultery or fornication.

E: What is the relationship between sodomy and the House of the Strong Man?

M: If a person is sodomized, the Strong Man spirit that Jesus spoke of will be the spirit of the sodomy. It's actually an unclean spirit and a familiar spirit with the name of the person who did the sodomy. So when you sodomize a three year old, you build the doll house with the three year old trapped inside, and every time that person is sodomized from that point on a Strong Man enters. So let's just say Joseph sodomized the child -- now Joseph and the three-year-old child are in the house locked in the core of the mind. Along comes Jack and sodomizes the girl later -- now, there's Joseph, the child, and Jack. Then comes Ben later, then comes Sterling, then comes Red, then comes this guy and that guy -- you've got a whole legion of sodomites and every one of them has a name, which means that you've got many spirits of the sodomites in the House of Joseph the Strong Man, the original sodomizer.

E: You're being literal when you say spirit -- that the dissociation that creates multiples is the entry of one spirit after another.

M: Well, some people would like to say that multiple personalities are not spirits. I would like to say that the whole multiple mindset is a demonic mindset, basically a Legion-style mindset of many, the same as the man in Mark 5 said: "My name is Legion, for we are many," and Jesus released them all at once. For the benefit of anybody who was looking on, two thousand pigs went crazy and drowned while the man was again clothed and in his right mind. So basically all of his legion of spirits, multiple personalities, or anything you want to call them, all were gone and his mind was right. The whole multiple mindset is a wrong mindset. It's a fantasy world mindset.

E: But it's not necessarily possession by demonic spirits?

M: If you got rid of every demon that multiple personality people have, they would no longer be multiple.

E: So therapists who allow certain helpers or child alters to remain, they're not doing a service to the person?

M: The person can't get free as long as they have any of that left because their mind is not working like God intended it to work.

E: So with each sodomy the House of the Strong Man gets stronger and stronger?

M: That's right.

E: With a believer who can accept that Jesus Christ can deliver them all at once, you have been able to free people from the House of the Strong Man?

M: I've had it happen on quite a number of occasions, not every time. There's some times that I never did get them to leave.

E: With non-believers or believers as well?

M: Well, people who said they were believers. But it's possible to have a compartment of your mind that's a believer and another compartment that is a sodomite. So what are you? A lot of people do not believe me when I say that you can cast out the Strong Man, the child, and all of the multiple system at once. But I've done it, by the grace of God -- Jesus did it, and others have done it. So why would I spend my time with some lesser kind of benefit if I already know that the ultimate goal is to achieve what I just described?

I had a man once who was crazy. He had worked for twelve years to try to get free but was ready to kill his wife. He couldn't work, his marriage was on the rocks, he was at the point of being committed. Somebody told him about me and I finally found a spot for him to come. I didn't know anything about him. I met with him one day, uncovered that Joseph was the Strong Man, that he was Rothschild bloodline and they had used him as a male prostitute, sodomized him as a boy in rituals to get the power of the bloodline. I cast the whole thing out in one day. He didn't talk to me again for two years. He got well, he's still well. Two years later he and his wife came and told me the good things that had happened. He went to his 6,000-member church to give his testimony of getting well and they wouldn't even let him use my name because they had believed negative propaganda about me. He could give his testimony but all he could say was he met with a man -- couldn't use my name. I asked him, "What'd I do different from the rest?" He said, "They went after the stronghold, you went after the Strong Man."

E: When you find out that the name of the Strong Man is Joseph, are you thinking it's Mengele?

M: No. Joseph Mengele was THE biggest Joseph in the last half of the 20th century, but the name Joseph came out of the Jesuits and has been around since the 1500's. It started with devotion to the husband of Mary, whom they call St. Joseph, and it became a symbol of the father of this system, the sodomizing father that cares for his children.

When a man sodomizes a child at three, the child bonds to that man as if he were their father, and when he's a man of the cloth, of the Church, the child bonds to the Church, too. This sodomy thing has been around for hundreds of years. Ignatius Loyola, founder of the Jesuits, was a Catholic mystic; he had to have been a sodomized one. He was the guy who headed up the Inquisition to persecute those who didn't adhere to the tenets of the Catholic faith. Terribly cruel! How could you be that cruel if you didn't have the sodomy rage? The torture they put people through! Later, Joseph Mengele developed the programming and brought it up to another level. He was a Catholic alter boy. I think he was also a Rothschild and a Jesuit. The founder of the Illuminati was Adam Weishaupt, trained as a Jesuit.

E: Sodomy stands behind multiplicity --

M: I haven't found anybody who was just sexually fondled and became multiple, and I've never found anybody who went through occult rituals without sodomy. So I can't tell you whether being put through a sacrifice ritual without sodomy makes a multiple. People are trying to say that would be the case -- that the ritual murders and sacrifices are traumatic enough to produce MPD -- but I've never found a case out there that only had sacrifice. They've always had the sodomy. They don't always remember it, but when push comes to shove, they've got the symptoms. The occult groups know -- and they think all Christians are stupid and can't catch on -- they know that sodomy is required to achieve what they want to achieve.

If you check this thing out, you'll find that all the idolatry going clear back to the days of the children of Israel in Egypt have sodomy in it. Jesus said:

And as it was in the days of Noah, so shall it be also in the days of the Son of man. They did eat, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage, until the day that Noah entered into the ark, and the flood came and destroyed them all. Likewise also as it was in the days of Lot: they did eat, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built; but the same day that Lot went out of Sodom it rained fire and brimstone from heaven and destroyed them all. Even thus shall it be in the day when the Son of man is revealed. (Luke 17:26-30, KJV)

Nothing wrong with marrying, buying and selling; every civilization does it. What's the common denominator of these three times? We have more sodomy now out in the open than we've ever had. Lot was in Sodom -- that's where the word sodomy comes from. It meant anal sex, or as they're calling it now anal intercourse. What other kind of sex do you think they could produce on those angels that they tried to break the door down to get to? They wanted to get their supernatural power. The belief in the occult world is if you could sodomize God, you'd get God's power. You become as gods through sodomy; that's the way the Greek gods became gods. Alexander the Great was a great sodomizer and his Greek army was the most fierce. Hitler tried to pattern his SS and military after the Greek warriors using sodomy. When you put that all together, the civilizations that God wiped out boiled down to the practice of sodomy.

By the way, I've found that a lot of people's hemorrhoid problems came from their sodomy.

E: So sodomy is a lot more common than people give it credit for.

M: Now they're putting sodomy pornography on the internet. I met a lady who had a web cam set up in her home for the internet and would sodomize herself in the nude for the guys out there to watch. She had been a church secretary.

E: Is sodomy the connecting link between satanism, Freemasonry, and other groups, including Jesuits?

M: You remember Aleister Crowley. He was a 33rd degree Mason. I talked to Bill Schnoebelen one time and asked him, "Where did the Masons get the sodomy?" and he said, "It came by Aleister Crowley from black magic Hinduism." Well, that isn't the only place it came from.

E: Have you run across more satanic stuff now? It seems rife, or has it always been around about the same amount?

M: As far as American society is concerned, it's increasing. As far as Masonry and a certain element they call Black Masonry, it's been around all the time. I don't use the term Satanism quite as much because the Masons would be more Luciferian rather than Satanist.

E: What is the difference between Satan and Lucifer?

M: Same person, but Jesus said Satan comes either as an angel of light or as a roaring lion. Satanism is the roaring lion principle, Luciferianism is the angel of light principle. Basically, in Masonry the white and black checkered floor is the light and dark balancing factor.

In the Bible, sodomy is translated as "uncleanness." In Job 36:13-14, it says that hypocrites in heart die young and live among the unclean. If you take what's in the margin of the King James or New King James and re-read the verse, it would read like this: The hypocrites in heart, their souls die and they live amongst the sodomites. Sodomy kills the soul, destroys the soul. Romans 1 describes the route to having a reprobate mind. It's a progression:

Wherefore God also gave them up to uncleanness through the lusts of their own hearts, to dishonour their own bodies between themselves...

And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient;

Being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness, full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity: whisperers, Backbiters, haters of God, spiteful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents,

Without understanding, covenant-breakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful:

Who knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them. (Rom. 1:24, 28-32, KJ)

So all kinds of things happen when they go into perversion.

E: People talk about aliens. What is their relationship with demons?

M: I had a guy working for me whose brother-in-law works at Area 51. Top secret, can't talk. This guy who worked for me asked his brother-in-law, "What about the alien thing?" He said, "The Stealth bomber is our most advanced technology that the American public is aware of and it was developed 30 years ago. What do you think they have now?"

I think the alien thing is a cover scheme made up by these Area 51 people. The second thing I notice is that most of the people who believe in aliens say that their first abduction occurred around three years of age. There are so many similarities to occult ritual abuse that -- Whenever you put together sodomy and ritual abuse, the demons are going to be layered in. They give you a new mindset at three years of age, the fantasy world. This is what the whole alien thing is all about. There's no such thing as aliens from other planets. There's demons.

E: How do you picture where demons live?

M: The demon is a figment of your mind, it lives in your mind.

E: Is its origin in your mind as well?

M: You take a three-year-old child, untouched. Somebody sodomizes the child, the guy's name is Joe. Now, all of a sudden the child has a sodomy demon called Joseph riding with him. That thing was conceived or reproduced from the Joseph demon that the man had who sodomized that child. Where'd it come from? It was birthed in the child's mind by the act. It didn't have to come from anywhere; it just was birthed, reproduced right there. The child was given a copy. Joe is like a copy machine that can reproduce another copy. I don't feel all demons are that way, but that kind are. They don't live in the bloodstream, they don't live in the genes; they live in the mind.

E: Is sodomy worse than incest?

M: A lot of the incest that's occurring is sodomy. I've heard that in Mexico Mexican fathers sodomize their daughters to be able to control them and bond them to the family, but they don't give them vaginal sex so they can preserve them as virgins for their husbands. What a crock of bull! I'm convinced that Muslim hatred for non-Muslims comes from sodomy. Their rage has to come from sodomy.

E: I've heard that sodomy is rampant among Muslims, but I thought it was because of the laws that support revenge against men who make advances on women -- that this Muslim law is what makes them turn to boys. But you think it's more than that?

M: Of course. Why would any normal man turn to boys? Even with those laws, I wouldn't turn to boys.

E: So men are conditioned because they're sodomized as children?

M: I think so. One guy I know knew a Saudi who said that over there women are for children and men are for love. The violence and hatred in that kind of stuff is produced by sodomy; it produces the internal

The massive buildup of Star Wars-type technology way beyond anything that they're using for international policing is being developed in order to defeat Jesus Christ so the sodomites can take over the world. Satan can't do it, so he's using men to come up with the idea to try and do it. I know that what I'm saying is tremendously radical, but in the end the Lord Jesus Christ will win (Revelations 19 and 20).

1. Key of David: The Illuminati claim sodomy is the Key of David and they use this scripture to prove it: "I will lay the key of the house of David on his shoulder; what he opens no man shall shut, and what he shuts no man shall open. He shall be a seat of honour for his father's family; I will fasten him firmly in place like a peg. On him shall hang all the weight of the family, down to the lowest dregs -- all the little vessels, both bowls and pots. On that day, says the Lord of Hosts, the peg which was firmly fastened in its place shall be removed; it shall be hacked out and shall fall, and the load of things hanging on it shall be destroyed. The Lord has spoken." (Isaiah 22:22-25)

“Physical Body Door: The First Chakra”

...Since it rules our first dimensional self that is unable to reflect upon itself, perceptions from our root chakra are usually unconscious. This first dimensional portion of us can only be aware of a "hive or species consciousness". Even though, the first chakra has many masculine qualities it is also the "seat of the Goddess Kundalini" and is therefore often associated with our relationship with our mothers and with Mother Earth. Our relationships with our mother set up our attitude toward home, security, and money. If we are cut off from our roots, we feel cut off from the earth as well.

The first chakra rules our survival consciousness and represents our deepest unconscious and most primitive self. This chakra represents the reptilian portion of our brain, which is our brainstem, our center for life support. The brainstem and the area immediately above it are called the reptilian brain because all creatures from reptiles to humans possess it. For reptiles, this area is their entire brain, but for humans, it is the base or stem of their brain.

The first chakra represents birth to two years of age. This is the time before we have completed our process of individuation and still perceive ourselves as a part of our parents. This chakra represents our struggle to come to terms with our physical life and physical body.

Each chakra feeds prana into a different endocrine gland. Just as there are seven chakras, there are seven endocrine glands. Both the chakras and the endocrine glands are located along the spinal cord. The endocrine glands manufacture hormones and supply them to the bloodstream. These glands are called "ductless" because there is not a duct to any specific part of the body. Instead, hormones are released into the bloodstream where they are carried by the blood to every organ and tissue to exert their influence on all functions of the physical body... The endocrine gland for the first chakra is the adrenal glands. There are actually two adrenal glands located with one on top of each of the two kidneys. The adrenal glands are the body's call to battle. When adrenaline is released into the system our perceptions become clearer, we have added vigor and feel more courageous. The release of adrenaline activates the fight/flight syndrome, which prepares us for battle or flight. Release of adrenaline and activation of fight/flight is brought on by real or imagined danger. Therefore, our emotions can activate a release of adrenaline when we feel extreme fear or even chronic anxiety...

The first chakra is located near the sacral plexus... the nerve center which rules the skeleton, legs, feet, eliminatory system, male reproductive organs, and the prostate...

The first chakra rules our first and second dimensional selves. Our first dimensional self represents the genetic coding, cells, and minerals of our bodies. It also represents our most primitive "animal self", which is represented by the fight/flight response that serves to assure the survival of the species. The root chakra also rules the male sex glands and the testosterone that they secrete. This testosterone drives the males in our society, and the male polarity of our psyche, to perpetuate and protect humanity.

<http://www.tarotcam.com/chakras/1chakra.html>

The Muldahara chakra is the foundation for the whole chakra system. Its function is to respond to any issues concerning survival: eating, sleeping, exercising, recovering from illness, making a living, or simply feeling safe and secure. If our survival needs are properly taken care of, then we can safely focus on other levels such as learning, creativity or relationships. If there is some damage to this chakra, then we find ourselves repeatedly coping with threats to our survival, which keeps us from accomplishing other things.

Chakras: Tools for Transformation by Anita Slott, Alternative Culture Magazine

<http://www.alternativeculture.com/spirit/chakra.htm>:

The chakras are the ancient depositories of all the divine energy given to humanity at the beginning of time, "the seven Spirits" guiding us on our path of transformation, our initiation into the mysteries of life. The knowledge and use of chakras as a means to spiritual awakening has been recognised through the ages in all the great religions in one form or another...

The Sanskrit name of the first chakra is Mooladhara. It means root and support. It is situated in males midway between the anus and the genitals at the perineum, and in the female at the cervix, where the vagina and the uterus join. Mooladhara is the lowest chakra in human beings, but the highest in animals. It is the chakra of group consciousness, in which animals live, and also humans who identify themselves only by family, nationality, race and religion, not yet able to detach from the group-soul and embrace their own individuality and independence. It is an energy which, in its most negative aspect, is heavily at work in all ethnic wars.

...The first chakra is depicted in Hindu teachings as a four petalled deep-red lotus flower. Its colour is red, the colour of passion and emotional love, and its number is four. Four is the number of manifestation, of matter, so we deal here with the energy of the material world. In fact, its element is earth. When the energy in this chakra is not activated and purified, when our consciousness has not developed beyond the three bottom chakras, we are unconscious of ourselves as individuals. We relate to the world out of our particular tribe at the exclusion of everything else. We are almost entirely self-centred and concerned with issues of survival in the material world and the energy manifests in its negative aspects in anger, greed, revenge, collective hatred, lust for power and control - all passions of our lower nature. The need for material security and control is the dominant energy.

From Mooladhara three energy channels - called nadis in Sanskrit - make their ascent to Ajna (the sixth chakra [third eye]) entwining around the spine, crossing each other at every chakra. Ida is the mental energy, related to the breath flow in the left nostril and to the parasympathetic nervous system. Pingala is the vital energy, related to the right nostril and to the sympathetic nervous system. The Chinese concept of Ying and Yang corresponds exactly to Ida and Pingala. The main channel, which flows through a central canal in the spinal cord, is called Sushumna and is responsible for spiritual awareness. Sushumna rises up to the crown chakra. Through this canal Kundalini rises, the divine creative energy in us which, when awakened, transforms us from unconscious into conscious human beings and gives us full control of our body, mind and soul... Because Mooladhara is directly connected with Ajna through Ida and Pingala, awakening of Mooladhara awakens also Ajna, the centre of spiritual intuition and spiritual vision. And visa-versa.

Kenneth Grant. The Magical Revival. London, England: Frederick Muller Ltd., 1972.

In Aspects of Occultism, [Dion] Fortune mentions the vibrations detected in sand. She attributes Egypt's strange influence to "the electricity generated by the ever-moving sands of the great Sahara desert, which so changes the normal rate of vibration, that an extension of consciousness is the result." The Ajna chakra, commonly called the third eye, has been found to consist of particles of very fine substance resembling sand, or the crystals in a wireless receiving set.

The affinity between the secretions of the endocrine glands and the vibrations radiating from the subtle chakras explored by yogins, forms the basis of sexual magick which utilizes these vibrations in a way as yet unknown to science. All the so-called phallic cults originally possessed the true knowledge of these matters before it was lost or perverted by improper use. What remains of the ancient wisdom is the remnant only of debased and phallic rites...

The Consciousness-Current is twofold: magical and mystical. The former operates in the lower chakras, the latter in the higher. That which ejaculates as semen is unabsorbed energy (prana or ojas), and it always contributes to the creation of material forms, whether lodged in a womb or not. If not, the overflow (as in masturbation, sodomy, fellatio, etc.), is taken up by the astral and quphotic entities and built into organisms already existing upon the subtle planes. Paracelsus refers to homunculi (artificially generated creatures) made from sperm independent of the female organism, and to astral larvae and parasitic monsters built out of the substance of voluptuous imaginings...

The Work that lies ahead may be described symbolically as the marriage of the Beast and the Woman, the formula of which I have attempted to explain. Its hieroglyph is the Eleventh Key of the Book of Thoth. In the union of electrochemical and stellar vibrations represented by Babalon and the Beast, lies the key to the next stage in the advancement of evolution upon this planet. It will be achieved by a willed congress with extra-terrestrial entities of which, in a sense, Aiwaz is the immediate messenger to humanity...

We are on the threshold of profound and far-reaching change. The Aeon of Horus is the Aeon of Magick, which is Change; but unlike all previous changes in the history of the race this Change will be of cosmic magnitude and it will occur in conformity with will, or, alternatively, it will terminate abruptly in chaos and disaster... Crowley illumined and exalted this simple yet radiant rite [the Ritual of the Pentagram] to a cosmic formula, merely by interpreting it in terms of New Aeon potencies. To the East, the place of the rising Power, he attributes the Phallus (the Beast), which represents the active terrestrial currents as they impregnate the earth. This activity stirs the sleeping Fire of the infernal regions (the subconsciousness) in the South [Ed.: the first chakra via the anus?], the abode of Set or Teth, and the phallic lion-serpents are set in motion. These are the electromagnetic lightnings that permeate Space; they are concentrated symbolically in the sphere of Sirius, the Sun in the South. The terrestrial and celestial vibrations are fused and polarized by Babalon (the Dragon of the Western Deep), to be transmitted by her and later transformed into regenerate Man, represented in the North by the Eleventh Sign of the Zodiac (Aquarius) whose elemental attribute is Air or Space. Through regenerated Man flows the influence of Nuit - the sky-goddess - a symbol of the cosmic energies of Infinite Space.

In this simple circular process - more properly spiral, for it includes Height and Depth - is contained the entire formula of Magick in its new and cosmic mode. With very slight variation, the formula can be made the engine for invoking those extra-terrestrial energies with which Crowley had intermittent intercourse.

BOX IN:

[Ed.: It is crucial to understand something of how the occult works, given that the founding of America and the struggle to maintain it is steeped in it (e.g. Freemasonry, Theosophy, Satanism, etc.).

The spiritual movement of Theosophy presently works internationally through Lucis Trust, umbrella for a variety of endeavors, including a publishing house, consultative status to the United Nations via the Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), and nongovernmental organizations (NGOs) like World Goodwill and Triangles in Education. Robert Muller, former assistant Secretary General of the United Nations and winner of the UNESCO Prize for Peace Education in 1989 for his World Core Curriculum, espoused theosophical teachings: "The underlying philosophy upon which The Robert Muller School is based will be found in the teaching set forth in the books of Alice A. Bailey by the Tibetan teacher, Djwhal Khul." Unfortunately, pedophilia -- often entailing sodomy -- is not restricted to priests of the Roman Catholic Church but may be involved in any occult or religious movement attempting to create "avatars" and mystics (the "Indigo children"?). We must learn to read between the lines of "spiritual" teachings and leaders and their "revelations."

The example below concerns theosophy and the dubious relationship between Leadbeater and the child Krishnamurti -- Krishnamurti's parents eventually had to sue Besant and Leadbeater in order to get their son back -- but the problem can surface anywhere in any religion, as the recent scandal surrounding Sri Sathya Sai Baba proves (see <http://www.sailinks.narod.ru/epage.htm>).]

It is not enough to say that Helena Petrovna Blavatsky, a.k.a. Madame Blavatsky, was the primary force behind the emergence of the esoteric tradition called Theosophy. Indeed, Blavatsky might well be called the matriarch of the New Age and the catalyst for the current revival of the paranormal in all aspects of American society. Allegedly trained in occult philosophy in Tibet and influenced by Hinduism in India, Madame Blavatsky, a Russian-born psychic, settled in the United States in 1873. She claimed she had been sent to America by her Lodge (populated by members of the Universal Mystical Brotherhood) to share truth and unveil error. Two years after her arrival, she cofounded the Theosophical Society of New York City with Colonel Henry Steele Olcott, a lawyer with a keen interest in psychic phenomena. Theosophy was dedicated to the blending and promotion of ancient and occult religions and philosophies. These included, but were not confined to, Hinduism, Buddhism, Taoism, the Egyptian Hermetic traditions, Neoplatonism, the Cabala, Rosicrucianism, Freemasonry, mesmerism, and spiritualism...

After Blavatsky died in 1891, the Society she founded split into various branches and splinter groups. The most notable branch was led by Annie Besant, an Englishwoman who had converted to Theosophy in 1889 after reading Blavatsky's The Secret Doctrine. A colleague of Besant was C. W. Leadbeater, an ex-Anglican minister turned Buddhist and clairvoyant. Leadbeater and Besant attempted to strengthen the ties between Theosophy, science, and psychic phenomena, coauthoring a book called Occult Chemistry. Besant spent a number of years in India developing the society Blavatsky had founded in Adyar, Madras. She was joined by Leadbeater, who had been expelled from the Theosophical Society earlier following charges of pedophilia [mkzine emphasis], but was readmitted by Besant after she became president. In India the two began to groom a young boy named Krishnamurti to be the next vehicle of the Supreme World Teacher or Christ. (Theosophists believe the "Supreme World Teacher" periodically enters the body of a human disciple to provide new revelation and guide the spiritual evolution of humanity.) - Christian Research Institute, <http://biblefacts.org/cult/cri/theos.html>

Interesting read, but the stuff about homosexuality was hilarious! :lol:

This person has clearly never had a conversation with a real gay man or woman about their homosexuality.

JagDRS - February 27, 2006 05:42 AM (GMT)

Smashstuff, thanks for the article. The interview confirms much of what Fritz Springmeier has published in his efforts to help mind control victims recover, but it's nice to know that there are others taking on this task. The latter part on Blavatsky is confirmation of her new-age pedigree, a brief topic of recent in a different thread on this forum.

Curious newbie, would you expound on what you mean when you refer to "real gay" men and women? Are you referring to gay people who were not indoctrinated in mind-control conditioning and torture?

QUOTE (JagDRS @ Feb 27 2006, 05:42 AM)

Curious newbie, would you expound on what you mean when you refer to "real gay" men and women? Are you referring to gay people who were not indoctrinated in mind-control conditioning and torture?

OK. I hope seeing as I'm new to the forum, I don't get off on the wrong foot, but I've been reading the forum for a good few months now, and was only now compelled to post after reading this thread.

I've read about Cathy O'Brien, and ritual sacrifice, and other "conspiracy theory" subjects and topics of discussion, so nothing written above shocked or surprised me. The stuff above about homosexuality, well, it would have been offensive, if it wasn't so laughable.

What if someone went around saying 'all Black people are sexually abused at the age of 3', or 'All Jewish people are sexually abused as a toddler'..... It wouldn't brush off as easily as saying the same about Homosexuals.

I'm a gay man, and I have not been sexually abused at any point in my life, and neither has any other gay man or woman that I know (thankfully). I do know people who have been sexually abused, all are heterosexual (not to say there aren't homosexual child abusers, but I see no correlation between the two, that is all).

Am I mind-controlled to forgot my abuse? Well if I'm programmed to forget, how would I know!

Equally, if you were programmed to forgot that at 8 years old you were in a talent contest performing an energetic dance routine to the 12" of Lipps Inc. 'Funky Town', how would you know whether it happened or not?

Sorry. I think this part of the above interview is a nonsense slur against homosexuals from a Christian zealot - Which, frankly, casts shadows over the rest of the piece.

The author/interviewer clearly has issues with anal sex - that's fair enough if they don't like it or were abused anally themselves and still have trouble coming to terms with that. But the piece makes a couple of unspoken baseless assumptions:

- 1) Sex between two men begins and ends with anal penetration.
- 2) Anal sex is scary, painful, harmful and morally wrong.

Both of these assumptions are false and based on old wives tales and chinese whispers of the school-yard variety.

Firstly, sex between two men does not solely revolve around anal penetration, this is a stereotype that is borne out of heterosexual norms and ideas about sexual activity.

Secondly, anal sex, when done correctly is an enormously pleasurable act for both parties, whether it be male/male or male/female intercourse. Perhaps you have heard of prostate stimulation?..... I think most men could use a little.

JagDRS - February 28, 2006 12:38 AM (GMT)

Fair enough. I was really looking for clarification by what you meant with the use of the phrase in your first post.

In your reply you used the phrase 'conspiracy theory' in reference to the "Cathy O'Brien, and ritual sacrifice, and other subjects and topics of discussion". From my perspective regarding the O'brien, ritual sacrifice and similar subjects, based on the variety and extent of research information publicly available, are definitely tilting more towards known realities, not theories. Going totally outside Fritz Springmeier's large body of work, projects such as Montauk and MK Ultra are well known realities and have been since the 70s, when the programs experienced a slight leak into the public, resulting in several law suits that themselves resulted in a lot of government-paid hush money to keep the victims from speaking more. Again, the "these are theories" angle just does not have any ground to stand on in these specific cases, these are well known realities. Just to give you the benefit of the doubt, at what point in your mind would you stop considering any of these kinds of specific case subjects as theory and instead start looking at them as reality? I agree, it's often quite difficult to impossible to know when to hold certain facts as proof and truth, and even more difficult to assemble these rare truths into a reasonable picture of reality. Yes, there are a lot of theories going around out there, but with so many known realities to focus on, I personally do not spend too much time with the known theories.

Given the orientation you admitted to, I guess I can sort of understand the reaction. My impression was that the bulk of this interview was not a laughing matter and was not geared towards rendering a judgement about all homo-sexuals, but was instead geared towards rendering a judgement about all of the people who from a very early age have been indoctrinated by the Illuminati. Again, allowing for the sensitivity of the related issues, I can understand the reaction. I went back and re-read quickly to double check. Nearly all of the q&a dialogue is based specifically on Knox's judgement of all people he knew to be under control of the Illuminati hierarchy with an end goal of these people/ subject being molded and tortured into useful fractured minds, MPD / mind-controlled subjects as a result of the methodology used, to include sodomy at an early age. With a few possible exceptions where the questioner asked a few more broadly based questions, all of the dialogue is within this context and not within the greater context of judging "all homosexuals".

I don't expect you to like or understand the ways I've chosen to orient myself anymore than you can expect me to understand your choices, but I can at least respect you for giving your honest thoughts on the matter. I do not mean to offend you in saying that, in all seriousness, I'm not really sure where you were going with the statement, nor do I care to know, but as far as I am concerned, I get all the genuine prostrate stimulation I was ever intended to have, each and every time I experience a bowell movement, sort of one of the things that allows the experience to constitute relief.

I liked the last bit of your post, made me 'LOL'!

RE: the use of the phrase "conspiracy theory", that was just an off the cuff remark, I completely agree with you regarding the MKUltra and Montauk stuff, I just use 'conspiracy theory' as a catch-all phrase for alternative subjects like this, kinda like we use the term 'Illuminati' to describe 'them'.

QUOTE

Thank you. Although I must say, homosexual is not a conscious choice, the only decision made is whether one is happy with ones homosexuality or not. I am, and always have been, it's simply something I've never given any thought to, presumably like most heterosexuals never give a thought to why they like the opposite sex.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 28, 2006 04:26 PM (GMT)

The majority of Homosexuality these days is not through a persons wants/needs/choices like before. Children these days are seeing this constantly on the TV screens and all around them. They grow up thinking nothing of it whatsoever other than its normal. When they get older they do this because of the conditioning and I know what I'm talking about here because I've come across young Americans especially who think its really kewl to have sex with the same sex. They are doing it because its the in thing and kewl or so they think. To me they are not true homosexuals/lesbians they are merely doing what they've always done of late with fads, styles etc its almost no different to wanting the latest Nike's etc.

Before all the conditioning a person who attempted Homosexuality had a true craving for it most times from a young age. I believe most of this is due to the pollution soup we all live in and heavy metals play a large role in this especially with the conditioning going on as well.

Since all the conditioning has gone on the homosexual/lesbian rates have rocketed and you will see most of the fad followers are Bi-sexuals. This is/was the agenda of the Jesuit run establishment for a long time. Huxley shows us just a part of the sexual conditioning that would happen in his Brave New World. In this it was a dramatic change and everyone shares everyone in promiscious sex. If he had his way Huxley would have shown the Homosexual/Lesbian agenda. What have we got now? A large promiscious sex population and a significantly raising homosexual/lesbian (mostly BI) crowd due to this conditioning. What is the main reason for this? DEPOPULATION! Then if your religious you have also other reasons on top what this agenda is about.

I will admit, shame most men wont admit it, that all this conditioning has at one time made me wonder about homosexuality which as far as I know is common place in many men. I shrugged it off but it proves it reaches out to peoples mind. If people dont have it on the TV often and thrown at them, they dont think about it unless they are seriously that way anyhow. I hope this makes sense. Now if this conditioning effects straight people in their late teens or twenties then what the hell is it doing to the children?

Please don't call me Anti-gay because I've spit out some facts behind whats going on and maybe causes.

Alexandra - February 28, 2006 04:57 PM (GMT)

That's a reason why I'm bent on raising my son as a boy and not gender-neutral. He already has a good start because my husband and I were married years before he was born and we're still together. I buy him clothes that makes it obvious he's a boy. I keep his hair cut short. I get him toys that boys would normally be interested in--no Barbie dolls. We pass by the Barbie doll section and I tell him that's for girls only (can you hear the feminists howling yet?).

He goes to Daddy to be "tossed" around (turned upside down and every which way, which he loves) and goes to Mommy for sympathy. He bumps his head, all he requires is a little sympathy kiss and he's off playing again.

We want our boy to be a man.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 28, 2006 11:41 PM (GMT)

Its surprising how many boys are not turning to playing with Cindy dolls. A relative of mine his son wanted girlie toys and his daughter played with boys toys. This trend has stuck into their teens believe me! Its all about what they see and hear at these ages. Also discipline is crucial and this is one of the main reasons for the fraud known as ADD because theres too little of this. I believe it far excels any sugar and additive foods.

Curiouser_ & Curiouser - February 28, 2006 11:58 PM (GMT)

It's been a very long time since I've seen anyone write/say anything so mind-bendingly medieval.

You talk about social conditioning on children - What do you think boys and girls toys are?

> Girls toys:

- Dolls -- Conditioning them to conform to an unrealistic female body shape and appearance

- Baby dolls -- Conditioning them to reproduce
 - Toy household appliances -- Conditioning them that housework is women's work
- > Boys toys:
- Guns -- Conditioning them to aggressive behaviour
 - Toy tools -- Conditioning them that men work, esp. in blue-collar or manual labour jobs

Do you really think that if a young boy likes playing with his sisters Barbie doll instead of his pop-gun, he is going to grow up Gay?..... The only reason we associate Barbies with girls and guns with boys is through social conditioning. If a child wasn't made aware of these social norms, they wouldn't know what was meant to be a girls toy or a boys toy.

I mean no disrespect, but that is shockingly backwards. You keep your sons hair cut so that he doesn't think he is a girl or might grow up gay if he lets it grow a little? :huh:

Also, telling a child emphatically that they can't have something is usually the best way to get them to have a fascination with the very thing you're trying to turn their attention away from!

Alexandra - February 28, 2006 11:59 PM (GMT)

Know what, 2TUFF, a lot of this nonsense is feminists and their allies saying that children are blank slates, that gender-specific behavior is not innate, but learned.

They're lying. I heard of a case where this couple raised their son and daughter neutrally. Given the opportunity, the boy gravitated to cars, trucks, etc., and the girl to dolls.

Couple this "blank slate" bull with divorcing marriage from sex--have sex just for pleasure--and it's a recipe for disaster. Have sex for fun, and oh, by the way, for even more kicks see about homosexual flings.

Personally, I don't see what's so fun about it. My husband and I have been married 12 1/2 years and I'm happy where I am. Some people swear up and down that I'm "missing out" because I married so young--at 20--and I don't think I've missed anything, except worry about STDs, unwed pregnancy, and the like.

I also want to add something I remembered--When was in the second grade (age 7 or 8, 1980-81), the whole school went to the gym to see this skit, and the gist of it was, it was okay for boys to play with dolls and girls to play with toy cars and the like. I remember thinking, "yeah, whatever." I didn't agree with it, really.

My friend I look back through the generations and see Order and a society of human beings with morals and discipline. Today I see a society of in-grade animals and quite frankly I hate saying animals as I put animals far higher than the majority of so-called humans in this day and age. The children are a disgrace and their mindsets are totally strange. I come from the second biggest city in the U.K and its a terrible place. Infact I will go as far as to say the children are demented. So if we want a decent society of worthwhile human beings what is the answer? The old methods which are proven and work!

I'm fed up of the Superior General and his clique destroying my Protestant country which was such a powerful respectable nation at one time. They've got their way and their creating lower than animals just like the Church of Rome had before the Reformation. Its all going backwards and its known as New Atlantis (NWO).

QUOTE

You talk about social conditioning on children - What do you think boys and girls toys are?

Yes your correct but both sexes have their place in life and we've screwed around with this and created an imbalance. If more women became mothers and stayed at home we'd have more children, better quality children and more jobs for the males. We'd also have less affairs and divorces due to women not being in the workplace and attracting males all day long. Like I say we have our places and all this Jesuit Labelling and goodie goodie Jesuit/UN nonsense is destroying our society and civilisation whilst goodie goodie's promote it and attack people who speak with sense.

It would be nice if more women knew how to cook these days as I'm fed up of seeing women who cannot and use only ding dong food. I've seen a woman in tears on TV when she was presented lots of vegetables in a TV show. She cried her eyes up and said her and the family would starve??????? It was to see how the animals would cope with War time rations. She admitted she didn't know how to peel a potato or something stupid like that. When the show finished she was amazed at how easy it is and how much healthier her children were. This is the problem we have right now. Backward society! Women used to be the brains of the human race and the backbone but their being driven as dumb as the sheeple men.

I appreciate people having a voice, but if your going to help promote this twisted, evil and backward society with so called modern labelling/think/nonsense thanks to the United Nations and their masters at the SMOM and Jesuit Order then please take it elsewhere. I have no time for this nonsense.

It's not completely "conditioning," it's NURTURING what's already there. Boys and girls are wired differently. By emphasizing masculinity to my son, I'm nurturing what's been there since before birth. He's a boy, he should act masculine (not necessarily macho). I'm thankful that his father is in his life--I've been married to my baby's father since 1993, and our son was born in 2001.

I agree completely with 2TUFF. He has great information, and I also post at a forum at LadiesAgainstFeminism.com, and I'm learning LOTS of things. I'm actually cooking more, I'm mastering crocheting (I made my son a scarf, in fact), I'm taking up knitting and some sewing, and my dress has become more feminine lately. I'm a stay-at-home wife and mother and happy to be one. Sure, I need a bit more refining, but I think I've come a good ways.

The Bible says that it's a shame for men to have long hair. That's why I keep my son's hair short. Also, one of my husband's co-workers said he cut his hair because he was tired of guys whistling at him, because from behind he looked like a girl! So like it or not, most people associate long hair with femininity!

It's ridiculous stuff in the bible such as this which makes me question it. Why go against nature? Hair grows, doesn't it? Didn't 'Jesus' have long hair? He's always portrayed that way. My God, I don't think your son is going to turn gay overnight if his hair grows a bit!

I don't believe that conditioning can turn anyone gay, you either are or you're not. Perhaps some people will dabble with it, but mostly they're fooling themselves, to be fashionable or whatever.

I do agree that feminism is a plot by the powers that be, to make out that men and women are no different, when they obviously are, and partly to break up the power of a united family. This is not an excuse for men to not learn cooking etc!

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 2, 2006 01:54 AM (GMT)

I'm very disappointed with you Smashstuff if you dont believe conditioning can turn someone gay! We're talking about conditioning the minds of children from an early age. The hair with Jesus was to symbolise the suns rays thats all! I love it when people call this so-called person Jesus when there was simply no such letter used by the Romans back then haha its was I. Then you have the older religion calling this same person Mithra and so on and so on.

Alexandra - March 2, 2006 02:28 AM (GMT)

Smashstuff, Jesus didn't have long hair. That's how He is PORTRAYED, yes, but no one today knows what He looked like! The Bible indicates that He pretty much blended into a crowd.

I'm not against men learning how to cook. I am against them wearing skirts, though.

I think "J" is a relatively new letter in our alphabet. Joseph would have been Iosef or something like that.

I've seen the name Julius spelled Iulius. A surname Yaroslevna is sometimes spelled Jaroslevna.

Doing a family tree with ancestors from everywhere, you can see how language evolves and changes over the years, and it's pretty fascinating stuff. That's a reason why I like doing it...it's that fascination. :)

BTW 2TUFF...don't confuse Christianity with Catholicism. A Jesuit's worst enemy is a Bible-believing Christian. Catholicism is counterfeit Christianity.

JagDRS - March 2, 2006 03:13 AM (GMT)

Not complaining, but since we're already somewhat off topic on various counts might as well jump in myself on the question of bible validity; no offense to anyone. I've been straddling the fence for a while although I have to say that at the moment I'm definitely dangling more towards the difficult-to-accept side, a perspective that the bible may have originally started out as man's recordings/dictation of the genuine words/commands of God. That was then, but here we are now conservatively 600-plus versions/revisions and thousands of years later, and a lot of murk in between. Long story and debate, that, not wanting to go there here, but wanted to add to this thread that the more often I try to read the Old Testament, the more I come away with the impression that, at least based on our well-known modern versions/revisions (pick one) ((I'm using the term 'modern' in a relative fashion, for instance, I consider KJV a relatively recent and modern version, a 400-plus year old take on a much older story from 2000-6000 years and more ago)), women are considered and treated as second-class (or less) humans. Will be happy to cite examples if requested.

As to the hair question, not sure what to make other than to say this is something that for the most part I never really thought important to consider. Back to the questionable bible again, I seem to recall a related story - Sampson and Delilah, a man apparently having received great strength (literally, and figuratively/Godly) from his long, un-shorn locks..... and then along came Deliah. Talk about your potential conspiracy theories, people nowadays frequently cite Hegel - Problem-Reaction-Solution, but what is it with man-woman dynamic? Man-Woman-Apple; Man-Woman-Hair ;) And of course there is near ubiquitous and familiar Christ renditions that uniformly depict a long-haired and long-bearded caucasian.

Lastly, and sort of trying to get somewhat back on topic, and despite the fact that I'm straddling the fence on the bible, there are things that I inherently feel are wrong to do, we all have boundries, from one person to the next some times they agree, many times they don't, some are pretty wide and seemingly negotiable, others are pretty narrow and absolute, but when they are violated some call these sin. Theoretically, sin is sin, even though there is a world-wide spectrum to choose from and act upon (consciously and not). Some people, some religions, some versions and portions of the bible tend to interpret some sins as worse than others, "cardinal sins", sins that are deemed worse than others because of the perception that some result in more serious consequences. But in my mind at least (theoretical), sin is sin. If I steal, and somebody else deceives, and somebody else commits adultery, and somebody else kills, and somebody else does something that seems a pretty clear violation of nature, we're equally in the wrong. At the end of the day it would seem we each have enough of our own shortcomings to dwell on rather than dwelling on those of somebody else, yet in all of this we need to figure out a way for each of us to be helpul to our fellow humans.

Ah yes, I would agree that young children could be conditioned to be gay or anything, as their minds are still developing, I was talking about adults really.

You know, I hadn't thought about Jesus' hair being sunrays, but I guess it's the same as Aslan the Lion in 'The Lion the Witch and the Wardrobe' with his golden mane symbolising the sunrays.

Title: Cardinal Calls Immigrant Bill a 'Vicious' Assault

Description: From Jack Chick's "Battle Cry"

Alexandra - March 2, 2006 01:05 PM (GMT)

A bill on immigrant reform that passed the House of Representatives in December has been attacked by Cardinal Roger Mahony as a "vicious" assault on immigrants. He fears that the bill, if passed into law, would criminalize the Catholic Church's effort to help those who come to this country illegally.

He reminded a gathering in Los Angeles for the Annual Migration Day Mass on Jan. 14, that immigration in the history of the U.S. has been a major contributor to the growth of the Catholic Church in America. He noted that, in the past, integrating immigrants into the society was not without difficulty and that, today, it is going to be "a major struggle."

Over a hundred and fifty years ago, ex-priest Charles Chiniquy described how his bishops pushed for foreign occupation of the developing frontiers in America. In his book, 50 Years in the Church of Rome, Chiniquy describes how he was enlisted to assist Catholic immigrants in settling up the "rich, fertile lands of Illinois and the Mississippi Valley."

"If we succeed," Chiniquy was told, "Our holy Church will soon count her children here by ten and twenty millions, and through their numbers, their wealth and unity, they will have such a weight in the balance of power that they will rule everything."

At that time, one of the main worries of the Catholic leaders was the "snares laid before them by Protestants." As it turned out, the "Protestants" prevailed in winning enough of the immigrants to Christ that the dream of Rome to dominate America never materialized.

Today, however, a new flood of Roman Catholics is arriving in the states bordering on Mexico and Cardinal Mahony is keen to protect that flow. Many sections of Los Angeles County are predominantly Hispanic, populated by both legal and illegal residents. Some who arrive settle near the border but others scatter throughout the country. Rome has a new hope of building a dominating influence through this flood.

As in Chiniquy's day, the only thing standing in their way is the soul winners. Some who are coming across the border have already been influenced by a burgeoning evangelical church in Latin American countries. If Bible believers will build on that influence and seed the Catholic communities with the gospel, perhaps we can repeat history and blunt the drive for dominance by Catholic officials.

Few cities anywhere in the U.S. do not have significant Hispanic populations. Many are too poor to build adequate worship facilities of their own. It should be the goal of every church in these areas to have a Spanish speaking service available to them.

Whether the flow of immigration is reduced or not, soul winning churches have lots of work to do, reaching the present population. A few thousand Spanish gospel tracts seeded into these neighborhoods could show the people that there is a way out of the rituals and spiritual darkness that Rome holds over its captives. We must join in the "struggle" that the Cardinal sees and snatch as many out of Rome's bondage as possible.

Catholic invasion, anyone?

When I first heard about the Neo-Conned! books a couple of months ago, I knew that Jones would be pushing them eventually. Those books are published by IHS Press, a Catholic publisher. The basic idea of the books is that there is a Zionist neoconservative conspiracy against Islam and that the Pope is the good guy. The books are pro Muslim and mention the statue of Benedict XV in Istanbul.

Jones interviewed editor John Sharp in the third hour of his program on 2/28 and is now selling the books on his website.

TruthSeeker24 - March 1, 2006 01:29 PM (GMT)

I've heard of the book myself. They have commentaries from the Knight of Malta Patrick Buchanan. The book also quotes from the Catholic Church doctrine, which is ironic since the Catholics had decrees killing "heretics" for centuries. There are "fathers" mentioned in the book. Alex is still an ecumenical and refuses to this day to expose the Jesuits, SMOM, Opus Dei, Vatican, etc. for what they are. They are a threat to society. Some good news is that my little brother says that a lot of Catholics don't even believe in some of papal doctrine like Pope being the head of the church, transubstantiation, etc. Those Catholics need to leave the Vatican completely.

No wonder, since the Vatican created Islam in the first place. Muslims also revere/venerate/worship Mary.

What do you think "Our Lady of Fatima" is all about? (Fatima was either Mohammed's wife or daughter...I've heard it both ways.)

Interestingly enough, there's a Catholic church (or there was) in Oak Park, Michigan, where I lived once. It was called Our Lady of Fatima. It's interesting because Oak Park, along with Dearborn and other Detroit suburbs, have a lot of Muslim residents.

This film (there are two versions and I've included both-the first one has fake UFO footage near the WTC from a Sci/Fi channel promo which some people thought was real) about the Jesuits' Illuminati and NWO is right on.

This film correctly shows that William Greer the Secret Service limo driver fired the kill shot from point blank range with a specialized gun which killed President John F. Kennedy.

You will see 3 photos of the Masonic doubled-headed phoenix and the third one on the right shows the Jesuits' I.N.R.I. below it.

I think these photos are taken from Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Texe Marrs new book "Codex Magica" some of Marrs' information is truthful and useful but he intentionally blames Jews in general instead of the chief Jesuit conspirators. Marrs does expose the Masonic Jewish Labor Zionists who are merely the tools of the "Company of Zion" and Knights of the Virgin Mary [Semiramis]-the Jesuits but he does not expose the Jesuits and the Black Pope. Indeed, there are certain Masonic Kabbalist Jews of the Papal Court who are in on the White Gentile Jesuit World Conspiracy who are used to make all Jewish people a scapegoat. I found an example on the New Orleans Chabad Lubavitcher webpage that shows these Masonic Kabbalist Zionist Jews serve the Jesuit Order it's not the other way around as Coadjutor Texe Marrs describes it.

<http://www.chabadneworleans.com/templates/...html?AID=221664>

This film is titled "American Dollar"

<http://www.youtube.com/w/illuminati-the-al...arch=Illuminati>

You see blatant Masonic greetings and gestures- (notice the pats on the back and the pat on the back of the head and how close his head is to the man's ear which is repeated to show you that was Masonic language and 33rd Degree Scottish/Jesuit Rite Freemason Trent Lott is close by the whole time watching) made by Luciferian Skull and Bonesman Emperor George W. Bush.

The next thing I noticed was the Masonic (the film says Illuminist) handshake between 32nd Degree Shriner Freemason and honorary Knight of Malta Ronald Wilson Reagan and his Masonic brother Mikhail Gorbachev which is further evidence that the Cold War was a Jesuit hoax and farce and the Cold War "ended" on the Order's terms with its high-level Masons. What a staged show it all was! The Global Jesuit Theater continues. All of the players are actors following a script and the high-level Jesuits and their Freemasons are the backstage crew, the White Pope is the visible pseudo- director but the Black Pope is the real director of the whole show and at the final curtain the risen Satanic Pope, the beast will enter center stage. We know it will end on the terms of the risen Son of God.

"And then shall that Wicked be revealed, whom the Lord shall consume with spirit of his mouth, and shall destroy with the brightness of his coming:" (2 Thess. 2:8).

I see that weird ufo thing also in the 2nd video, the part where the plane hits the 2nd tower. It's the same footage as in the first movie. But they don't mention the ufo but you can see it very clearly. I wonder what that is. And i also wonder if it's on other video's of the 2nd tower being hit.

I seen a good quality film clip of this on a forum where you could see the driver pulling the trigger, anyone know what site I am talking about as I have forgotten where I seen it? :(

Was it through the david icke forum?

Thanks

AVBibleBeliever - February 28, 2006 05:55 PM (GMT)

I apologize for my late reply,
The first video has the Sci-Fi Channel promo with a photographer and young woman in a helicopter. What you saw was removed from U.S. television but is clearly visible on a Japanese news clip I saw once. The footage shown in the U.S. and the U.K. were tampered with and doctored. I've read about the technology this Jesuit-controlled government used. Remote controlled aircraft that disappeared into the tower. See the any video clip of the planes crashing and you will note that there was no sound when a plane makes contact with the tower but in the next instant some the explosives placed by the American Intelligence Community before 9/11 are detonated high up in the towers and below the basement according to Those planes were not hijacked and they weren't even commercial jetliners as they had no windows and were gray according to eyewitnesses but Edward Cardinal Egan's Council on Foreign Relations-controlled media reported they were American Airlines and United commercial jets. Each CFR-controlled national news network covered the events and all the footage shown to the American people was doctored as was 33rd Degree Freemason Abraham Zepruder's film after he sold it to media mogul Skull and Bonesman and Knight of Malta Henry R. Luce's Time/Life. Papal Knight Luce's media empire was headquartered in Rockefeller Center conveniently located across the street from the Little Vatican and the palace of the Archbishop of New York which was Francis Cardinal Spellman, the mastermind of the JFK assassination having commanded his Knights of Malta in the Order's FBI and CIA, the criminal arm of the Jesuits' Vatican-the Mafia Commission, the Jesuits' SMOM Mossad was also involved because 33rd Degree Freemason Yitzhak Rabin was in Dallas on Nov. 22 1963 as was 33rd Degree Freemason, Skull and Bonesman, SMOM Carlyle Group's lucrative foreign representative, Knight of Malta, former director of the CFR and CIA George H.W. Bush. The Zepruder film was shot for the Jesuits' Masonic Craft and Brotherhood so they could boast of the fact that even if the President of the United States tries to get in the way of the Jesuit World Conspiracy that they will kill him in broad daylight in the afternoon and no one who was truly involved will go to jail.

I believe the CFR-controlled CBS documentary 9/11 filmed by the French Naudet brothers was the equivalent of the doctored and tampered Zepruder film especially the footage one of the brothers caught of the first plane remote controlled by NORAD during their "war games" that day going into one of the towers.

The small clips I posted previously are from an Australian Independent Media film on the Jesuits' Illuminati. David Icke is one of the men featured in this film. He never mentions the Jesuits and believes in Reptillians but most of his info is correct and clear. Enjoy! This documentary is excellent except it shows a Romanist exorcism.

David Ickes information on freemasonry is spot on although their could be more.

David Ickes information on the Matrix is spot on

The problem is that David Icke will not address the pinnacle of control known as the Jesuit Order, SMOM, Vatican & Opus Dei. Is he scared of these people? Is he a Temporal Coadjutor? I believe that by his actions of not speaking out against the Order he is a temporal coadjutor because this action serves Rome regardless. Please still take note of Icke's work as hes not as bad a Temporal as Alex Jones

AVBibleBeliever - March 1, 2006 02:45 AM (GMT)

I agree with 2TUFF! David Icke deliberately misdirects by pointing to the Bilderberg Group which was created by high level Freemason Rettiger which is merely a strand of the large elaborate web of Jesuit geopolitical control. I would not say that Icke is a Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor to the degree of someone like Dan Brown whose next book is entitled "The Solomon Key" about Freemasonry. The Company is using Brown to misdirect people into believing in a Jewish World Conspiracy. <http://solomon.dailygrail.com/>

All Jews through Brown's book could be implicated in the made-up Jewish conspiracy which is based on a huge whopping lie just as Angels and Demons (Illuminati and Vatican are enemies according to Brown) and The Da Vinci Code (a fictional bloodline that traces back to Christ and the liar Brown has the audacity to even consider the ridiculous idea that Christ had children by Mary Magdalene) in general instead of just the Masonic Jewish Sionists/Zionists who are players in the very real ultimate world conspiracy of which the Jesuits are at the top commanding all Freemasonry and the Order of the Illuminati which was created by the Jesuits to appear secular but it ultimately serves the religious power-the Antichrist Papacy contrary to Temporal Coadjutor Brown's prequel to the Da Vinci Code "Angels and Demons". Brown deliberately portrays the Jesuits' Illuminati brotherhood as the enemy of the Roman Catholic Church and the Jesuits' Vatican whose ultimate task is to blow up the Vatican using antimatter when they are actually in league and both are swords of the Black Pope just as in Unam Sanctam, a Papal bull I wonder if Brown is a Freemason.

David Icke says much about reptillians-I wonder if he has seen this... I sent this page to Brother Eric once and he agreed that the devils who work in the high level Jesuits can assume the a demonic form that appears reptillian but he said and I agree that there are no reptillian people.

What do you think of this? <http://www.wiolawapress.com/black.htm>

TruthSeeker24 - March 1, 2006 05:35 PM (GMT)

David Icke is someone that's very smart. You can tell that he's smart since he's knowledgeable of a wide variety of information. In his books, he hints about the Jesuits more than most. I saw the Australian produced film about the Illuminati. I considered it to be a decent, good film, especially for those who are just learning about Secret Societies and the New World Order. Dan Brown is just a deceiver. He's even being sued by the authors of the "Holy Blood and Holy Grail" book. In the Illuminati film, David Icke talks about a lot of stuff. If I were in the film, I would go off and expose the Jesuits, Freemasonry, SMOM, etc. I would talk about how Masonry is a Religion, cite books, history, etc. About the Jesuits, I would talk about holidays, events, dates, Eric Jon Phelps, etc. I don't believe that David is a shill, though he's a New Ager and believed in Reptilians. I've always believed that much of the Reptilians that people claim to see are influences from the demonic world.

Title: Successor to James Jesus Angleton

Description: Who mans the Vatican/Israeli desk today?

AVBibleBeliever - February 28, 2006 03:46 AM (GMT)

I have been meaning to ask Brother Eric Jon Phelps about this but since our friend is enjoying the God-given blessing of a well-deserved and much needed family vacation- I'm asking all of you sincere truth-seekers on the board the following question- Okay, here goes, Knight of Malta and CIA Counter-Intelligence Cold Warrior James Jesus Angleton called for a crusade led by the Pentagon against the Muslims according to VA back in the 1970s if I am correct which is taking place right now. Does anyone know who mans the Vatican/Israeli desk within the CIA today as SMOM Angleton did during the Black Pope's Cold War hoax? Angleton orchestrated the Six-Day War of 1967 in order to take Jerusalem from Islamic Jordan according to Brother Eric. Alexander "Deep Throat" Haig as NATO General at the time of the 1973 Yom Kippur War "saved" the Jesuits' Vatican's Masonic Jewish Zionist State of Israel through high-tech American weaponry according to Brother Eric's book Vatican Assassins. If I had to guess I would say the U.S. Ambassador to the Unholy See currently SMOM Francis Rooney occupies the position Angleton did but I don't think so and if he does I cannot prove it at this time.

Mark Brewer - February 28, 2006 06:21 AM (GMT)

The "crusade" against Islam people are talking about is not an actual crusade, but a war designed to look like one to the Muslims. The wars in Afghanistan and Iraq were covertly carried out so the Muslims would think that the Zionist neoconservatives were attacking Islam while at the same time Sharia law was forced onto those countries. That is why the constitutions of both of those countries say that no law may be passed that contradicts Islam. See it for yourself.

Iraq:

Article (2): 1st - Islam is the official religion of the state and is a basic source of legislation:

(a) No law can be passed that contradicts the undisputed rules of Islam.

http://www.iraqigovernment.org/constitution_en.htm

Afghanistan:

Article 3 [Law and Religion]

In Afghanistan, no law can be contrary to the beliefs and provisions of the sacred religion of Islam.

http://www.oefre.unibe.ch/law/icl/af00000_.html

Both of these countries were attacked by Bush and the neoconservatives and they now have Islam as their law. This disproves the myth that there is a crusade against Islam. With Islamic dictatorships installed, the pope can enjoy his "blessed despotism" he wants in all nations.

I am not sure where the Angleton quote came from nor do I know the context of it. The Knights of Malta have protected Islam in the past. Knights Alexandre de Marenches and Giscard d'Estaing protected Khomeini in France and helped him go back to Iran. Knight William Casey supported the Saudi royal family dictatorship and the Taliban. Saudi Prince Turki al Faisal and Sultan Qaboos of Oman are members of the Pinay Cercle, which was founded by Knights.

AVBibleBeliever - March 1, 2006 02:47 AM (GMT)

Thanks for the info Mark! I agree that this "crusade" against Islam is only for show to foment the Black Pope's crusade against North America. I believe the recent destruction of the Shia/Shiite mosque in Iraq was a practice run, a test to see the reaction and it has brought to the brink of civil war. It is no surprise that the Knights of Malta in the CIA, MI6 and SIS working together have installed dictators throughout the Middle East and created the Wahhabic Muslim governments and "terrorists" (the Hegelian Dialectic demands that they create the problem and the solution) to restore the Temporal Power and make it ripe for Jesuit takeover. Sharia is nothing more but the Islamic counterpart of the Council of Trent and Romanist canon law. Blame for the destroyed dome of the mosque in Samarra has been directed at the Jesuit-controlled empire and Masonic Sionist/Zionist government of Israel instead of the Black Pope's Islamic Terrorist Network funded and overseen by his International Intelligence Community financed by his International Drug Trade.

The Jesuit Order is using the U.S. to foment its own future foreign invasion to eventually destroy the U.S. through FEMA Homeland Security concentration camps manned by foreign troops, a Jesuit-controlled fascist military dictator who will mercilessly roundup Jews, Bible-believing Protestants, Baptists, and Calvinists as the Department of Homeland/Fatherland Security acts as the Unholy Office of the Inquisition under another name. The Gestapo/SS of the American Reich is Homeland Security and the Archbishop of New York's Council on Foreign Relations along with the Canadian Council of Chief Executives and Consejo Mexicano de Asuntos Internacionales (Mexican Council on Foreign Relations) has agreed to annex Canada and Mexico to the U.S. thereby expanding the scope of the Department of Homeland Security. The Jesuit Order plans to punish all of North America and I think all of the Americas by making them one whole bloc ruled directly by the Jesuits, their Knights of Malta, Illuminati and Masonic Craft.

Skull and Bonesman and Knight of Malta William F. Buckley blaming the Jesuit-controlled U.S. empire for the problems of Muslims to the delight of his Jesuit masters. The Order is directing the hatred the world toward the U.S. because it must be presented as the Nazi Germany of the 21st century. <http://www.nationalreview.com/buckley/buck...00602241451.asp>

(It Didn't Work)

Islam is merely a sister cult of the MYSTERY BABYLON THE GREAT THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH (Rev 17:5). The visible White Pope Antichrist Benedict XVI will not condemn Islam because it has served and will continue to serve the wicked ends of the Papacy. The Black Pope and his Jesuits are Benedict XVI's penholders and you can be sure that he has a Jesuit confessor as every Pope has since the Luciferian Company of Jesus was reinstated with more power than it had before it was formally suppressed by Pope Clement XVI (his predecessor Pope Clement XIII due to pressure from European monarchs decided to take action and suppress the Jesuit Order but the night before the meeting discuss the fate of the Order he was poisoned.

<http://www.nndb.com/people/218/000094933/> (Pope Clement XIII)

According to NNDB, "The Jesuits had fallen upon evil days; in 1758 Pombal expelled them from Portugal; his example was followed by the Bourbon countries -- France, Spain, the Two Sicilies and Parma (1764-68). The order turned to the pope as its natural protector; but his protests (cf. the bull Apostolicum pascendi munus, 7th of January 1765) were unheeded. A clash with Parma occurred to aggravate his troubles. The Bourbon kings espoused their relative's quarrel, seized Avignon, Benevento and Ponte Corvo, and united in a peremptory demand for the suppression of the Jesuits (January 1769). Driven to extremities, Clement consented to call a Consistory to consider the step, but on the very eve of the day set for its meeting he died (2nd of February 1769), not without suspicion of poison, of which, however, there appears to be no conclusive evidence."

According to Vatican Assassins by Brother Eric Jon Phelps "after a four-year investigation, his (Pope Clement XIII) successor, Pope Clement XIV did sign a Bull of Suppression in 1773 "under the seal of the fisherman," part of which reads: "...that the name of the company shall be, and is forever extinguished and suppressed; that no one of them do carry their audacity so far as to impugn, combat or even write or speak about the said suppression, or the reasons or motives of it,' and that the said bull of suppression and abolition shall 'forever and to all eternity be valid, permanent, and efficacious' " (Phelps 206).

Back to the Islamic cult-it is very much in agreement with Roman Catholicism which is no accident because the false religion was created by Rome for the purpose of exploiting the large Arab population of the Middle East and using them to take Jerusalem for the Pope. The plan backfired and the result was the Crusades during which Papal-controlled Islam fought Papal Roman Catholicism. The top leaders of both religions were in agreement in terms what they believed. The Shiite Muslims are devotees of Fatima affectionately calling her "The Lady of Light" and all Muslims believe in the virgin birth of Christ as did the false prophet Muhammad. They say they accept Jesus as a prophet but not as the Son of God. Now, Islam teaches vicegerency of human beings meaning they own the world after first becoming a servant to Allah-the moon idol of the Middle East whom they falsely call God. Take vicegerency and think of a synonym for it-vicar perhaps? Muslims believe Jesus was merely a prophet and that his representative or vicegerent aka vicar is the Pope of Rome. The Jesuits' Vatican has the Muslims on their side and the CFR controlled media has fostered this relationship between the deceived Muslims and the Roman whore of Babylon.

Title: Are Zionists and Jesuits Different?

Learned_Elder_of_Python - February 27, 2006 02:06 PM (GMT)

Protocol 5, paragraph 4 of the Learned Elders of Ashkenazi Zionism says this:

"In this respect the JESUITS alone might have compared with us, but we have contrived to discredit them in the eyes of the unthinking mob as an 'overt' organization, while "we" ourselves all the while have kept our secret organization in the shade. However, it is probably all the same to the world who is its sovereign lord, whether the head of Catholicism or our despot of the blood of Zion! But to us, the 'chosen people', it is very far from being a matter of indifference....."

TruthSeeker24 - February 27, 2006 02:13 PM (GMT)

Yes, the Jesuits and Zionists are different. As for Ashkenazi, there were Ashkenazi living in Eastern European before the Khazar existed, so I hope you don't believe that every Askhenazi are related to the Khazars. The Jews have a right to live in their land of Israel. The Jesuits existed before modern Zionism took off into the higher level. As for me, I see Zionism divided into 2 camp. One camp are good people who are not a threat like Messanic Jewish people. Another camp are apostates, elitists, and who are supportative of the globalization agenda. Many of them are into the occult like the Sabbateans, Kabbalists, etc.

By TruthSeeker24 (Timothy)

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 27, 2006 02:22 PM (GMT)

Zionist? What is this fraud? You mean SIONIST! The Jesuits were once known in France as The Company of Sion and they were the true creators of the protocols of the elders of Zion used to put all the blame on Jews thanks to Adam "Jesuit" Weishaupt a NON jew sheep dipped with the Jesuits. The protocols are really his Secrets of the Order of Illuminati, their agenda for the world domination.

The Jesuits dont compare with anyone other than the Assassins and Knights Templars they were modelled off. Everyone else has to try to compare with them such as Himmler and his SS. The Society of Jesus is the most organised and powerful Order in the world and don't forget close second SMOM!

TruthSeeker24 - February 27, 2006 03:28 PM (GMT)

You know what I mean. I mean Zionist. People call themselves Zionists. They are not the most powerful people on earth as many people claim though. Now, I already know that Zionists has a relationship with Sion, etc.

Adam (jewish name) and Weishaupt (jewish name) are about as "jewish" a combination of names for a 'non jew' as one can get, no?....

How is it that Israel is "the land of Jews"...because of Zionist (Sionist) propoganda funded by the Black Nobility and a book of Judeo myths penned by Sionist employees such as Sir Francis Bacon with the King James 1611 bible? The middle east "holy" lands belong to "the jews" about like all of North America belongs to the aryan European settlers who migrated into it. Why not pick up a few books written by SEPHARDIC JEWS with dark(er) skin (don't think ancient Palestine was aryan white, at least common sense tells this) and see what "lower class jews" have to say on the matter? Trying to be a Messianic Zionism apologetic is just as bad as any Jesuit system currently in place. Nothing but division, and that based on ego and mythology. Maybe listen to Benjamin Freedman or Jack Bernstein instead of Alex Jones and Texe Marrs? Amazing what "the Jews who say they are Jews, but are not" have done to entire groups of people, and managed, with the beloved press, to smokescreen as "Jesuit."

So, as you have been asked millions of times before, and millions of times it is ignored 2tuff, do you care to discuss the WORDING of the PROTOCOLS in light of ancient and modern history, OR toss out "JESUIT" anytime something comes across the radar screen that may factor in some people who don't just sit around Rome?

Eric believe that Adam wasn't a Jew. I will look at both sides of this issue to make up my own conclusion. Regardless, it doesn't matter. His ideology and agenda is what matters to me, not his race or nationality. I judge a man by his agenda and characater not his race.

I knew you would say that. Sorry, if you I don't answer rather long since I'm recovering from a cold from last week. Israel is the land of the Jews for many reasons. Let's look at some friend. Now, there was a Jewish presence in Israel for thousands of years. For example, Jewish people existed in the time of Hadrian, Byzantium, Muslim empire, the Ottoman, and the British empire in the early 20th century. Also, there were many Jewish people that are clearly descended from the Biblical Hebrews like the Sephardic, Ethiopian, Yemeni, Turkic, Iranian, Indic, etc. They exist today and many live in the land today. Also, Palestine was a word coined by the Romans to show their hate of the land of Judea. If you want to call me a Messianic Zionist apologetic, I'm fine with it. Many people believe the same way. I make a distinction between good and evil Jews. I've listed to Texe Marrs and received his newsletters before. Please don't give me that jibe. I know every argument you can pull. Benjamin Freedman is a self-hater like Karl Marx who wrote a book called "A World with out Jews." It's not only the Jewish people with their own self haters. Our people have our own self haters like Jesse Lee Peterson who won't even hire a black person with a so-called "African sounding names." What kind of a real black man is that!!!!!! It is not propaganda to show real evidence of people's right to own land. The Ashkenazi lived in Europe before the Khazars. Jews were in Germany and France in the 200's A.D. Jews were in the Black Sea region and the Mediterranean region at B.C. There is evil in Israel. No thinking man denies that, but I will not curse all of Israel as evil. There are still good people in Israel. I don't support discrimination against anyone in Israel. You still believe in that Bacon/KJV story. Well, King James never wrote the KJV Bible. He published it. Also, there is no conclusive evidence linking James to Bacon. Say what you want about James, but James abhorred witches and any accusation of a Bacon/James link was made by New Agers and Freemasons like Manly P. Hall, who was a One Worlder like

Francis Bacon. King James appointed Lord Chancellor in the 1600's, yes, but later Francis went out of favor and he resigned because of Bacon's corruption in office. In other words, James removed Bacon from office. I've listed facts to you. Jews have a right to the land by a permanent presence, paying money to settle in the land (though evil was done), and a biblical promise that was eternal in Genesis 12. I didn't know that the Bible was full of Judeo-myths. I guess Egypt was a myth. Pharoah, Kings, and tons of places discovered by archaeological evidences were myths. Guess what, they aren't myths. Hundreds of so-called contradictions skeptics raise have been answered by Bible believers for decades. The Bible existed before 1611 as you must know. There are more copies of the Bible than any ancient script in ancient history. Funny, you make this America comparision, but there's a difference. The Jewish people coming back already were indeginious to the land before Zionist settlers, while America's visitors were not indeginious to the land at all. This is not based on mythology. A belief in God will exist after your dead and nothing will change that at all. There are darker skinned Hebrews living in Israel now, so this has nothing to do with the situation. If you want real history in the Middle East, go to this link:

dude, you think everyone who bashes the bible for what it is, Talmudic-Cryptic Zionism with a dash of Hermetical teachings and astrological symbolism called "Jesus (sun) and 12 disciples (zodiac)" is new to it? Grew up in the baptist church, at age 25 joined the Messianic Jewish movement which is basically Christian Zionism and more apologetics from the Sacred Serpent seed who move from Egypt to Babylon, to Rome, mix with the Khazars, and move into Europe for more subversion. Now that Kolvenbach (Cloven hoof, Jewish name) has stepped down, seems he's not too powerful eh? I'm sure Phelps will explain this in his next dis-information book to draw attention away from Zionist whores who manipulate the globe.

I congratulate you on your listing of "cutting edge news" as your "basis of facts." again, that is called APOLOGETICS, not researching. Wasn't King James I actually King James SIXTH of SCOTLAND and Lord Sovereign of the Scottish lodges of York masonry before he came to London? Is this more "proof" of King James and his "distance" from the author of the THE NEW ATLANTIS? Willfull denial is worse than ignorance. King James spent most of his time persecuting non-Catholics who then moved over to the New World to play the age old Ashkenazi Babylonian Talmudic Roman religion of Christian slaughter. Where the cross goes, death always follows. Perhaps you can explain, as an expert on "God's Chosen Race" a xenophobic mindset given to us by Benjamin Disraeli why in Hebrew geomatria 666 adds up to the cross, the head, the nail, and the foot when using the Hebrew alphabet? No, of course not. You must defend Zionism and Christo Fascism at all costs, because you love the Sun and need to spread 'his' love.

What part did I say that anyone who bashes the Bible was part of the Elite. I never said that. I just disagree with that. You talk about the Jesus mythos stuff. All human beings have the same origin, therefore, all religions have simlairities in certain areas. There is nothing wrong with that. That doesn't mean that God doesn't exist or there is no value in religious expression. I know that there is some similarities between Christianity and other religions and pagan myths. The difference is that all religion is a work salvation faith, except Biblical Christianity citing that man is a sinner and can't merit salvation by works, but by the grace of God alone. Yep, I know many Baptists left the church. The Khazar stuff is just a half truth. Here's some truth about them. The Khazars existed in the early middle Ages from Central Asia. They went into E. Europe. Not all of them converted to Judaism, but most of the leadership did. They did this to have trade among Christians and Muslims. Yeah, Me calling self haters as they are is not legitimate according to you. Where do you find the logic in that.? A self hater is a self hater like Karl Marx who wanted his own people to die in Europe. Marx was a traitor to his people like Benjamin Freedman. I don't follow Eric all of the time. I made it perfectly known to everyone here that I disagree with his view on race. Eric never used disinformation relative to Zionists. He wrote that there is a difference between good and evil Jewish people. The leadership of Israel is corrupt, but Zionism doesn't rule the world. Most secret groups and international bankers aren't Jewish neither were they invented by Jews. Kolvenbach is a Dutchman, he's not Jewish at all. Eric Jon Phelps always mention the Zionist connection to the New World Order.

QUOTE

I congratulate you on your listing of "cutting edge news" as your "basis of facts." again, that is called APOLOGETICS, not researching. Wasn't King James I actually King James SIXTH of SCOTLAND and Lord Sovereign of the Scottish lodges of York masonry before he came to London? Is this more "proof" of King James and his "distance" from the author of the THE NEW ATLANTIS? Willfull denial is worse than ignorance. King James spent most of his time persecuting non-Catholics who then moved over to the New World to play the age old Ashkenazi Babylonian Talmudic Roman religion of Christian slaughter. Where the cross goes, death always follows. Perhaps you can explain, as an expert on "God's Chosen Race" a xenophobic mindset given to us by Benjamin Disraeli why in Hebrew geomatria 666 adds up to the cross, the head, the nail, and the foot when using the Hebrew alphabet? No, of course not. You must defend Zionism and Christo Fascism at all costs, because you love the Sun and need to spread 'his' love.

I don't consider King James a perfect man. You never heard me say that. I did say that King James never wrote the 1611 KJV Bible. If James did harm non-Catholic Christian, I don't agree with that. Yes, Bacon wrote the New Atlantis involving airplanes, skyscrapers, etc. Authors and publishers are a difference that you need to know. The Apologetics have been backed up for decades and I guess you hate that. Let's get things clear. Real Christians don't persecute people. I guess you forgotten about Witheforce, John Welsey, Obadiah Holmes, etc. that never killed people for religious dissent and showed real character. I guess you want us to forget about John Quincy Adams who not only opposed Freemasonry, but disagreed with slavery. Tons of Christians of every colors contributed to this world. I won't let you slander their legacies. As for the Talmud, it was invented in 500 A.D. by apostate rabbis who got their influence from the Midrash and the occult. That is traced back to the Gentile Ancient Mystery Religions. Either way, you can blame it on Gentiles thousands of years ago, not Jews. wow, I don't worship the sun. I worship God instead. I don't support "false"

Christians involved in killing people. Do you support anti-Semitism and anti-Christian bigotry? Roman Catholicism isn't Talmudic, since Romanism existed before the Talmud existed. So, you have one after another contradiction in your argument. Roman Catholicism, not Biblical Christianity, committed much of the atrocities you're describing. Jewish people being called God's chosen people is mentioned in the OT and Paul said that the Jews are "God's people which he foreknew" That didn't originate from Benjamin Disraeli at all. That has nothing to do with xenophobia. Xenophobia is a hatred of your neighbor or foreigners. The cross? The cross (especially one with equal sides on it=a sun symbol) is a pagan symbol from Babylon. I could care less about it. Jesus rose from the dead from the cross. Many Christians made contributions in civil liberties, prison reform, civil rights, architecture, religion, government, right to life, business, science, etc. YOU don't want that truth to go out as well. William Tyndale translated the Bible. D. L. Moody was preaching the gospel, etc. Don't try to slander their name, because I will defend their names.

QUOTE

You judge everyone by their actions, not their race huh? except when it comes to willfull denial of blatant facts of AshkeNAZI crimes againts humanity? Onward ZION!

Yes I do. The rest of your sentence is a load of bunk. I've always made a distinction between good and evil that is in Israel. I've always wrote that the evil in Israel must be condemned. I guess you don't want people to know the permanent presence of Jews in Israel from 70 A.D. onward. You don't want people to know the Askhenazi presence in Germany since 200's A.D. That was before the existence of the Khazars in Europe. I oppose any evil that the Askhenazi have done from the killing of Sefadi during WWII, etc. Like I don't agree with Israelis beating up or killing Palestinians, I don't agree with Arabs killing Jews in Israel as well.

This is Neo-Nazi type stuff. It doesn't even deserve a great response. One thing I would say that Jews who say they are but are not are Gentiles (said by Jesus in the book of Revelation) so either way it's a Gentile conspiracy not Jewish.

1611 "King James" bible, mind you, BIBLE in Chaldean is from the same word BABBLE or BAB-EL-ON. Ancient Sun worship mixed in with Talmudic genocidal apologism and astrological esoteric symbolism. Maybe this is why Constantine, the founder of State Sponsored Serpent Seed Christianity did not make ASTROLOGY illegal? A basic rule of Judeo Zionist dark arts is that the "truth", albeit "forbidden by YHWH", is allowed to put out for the public, this way they have no excuse for their willfull ignorance and silly superstition when the reaper comes knocking. Give your brain to the church and its silly books, people get, in the end, what is coming to them.

Funny the artwork for the original "King James" bible is the same found in ancient Hermetical manuscripts for alchemy, a work of art long held sacred to the mystery schools, with THOTH-HERMES holding the Emerald Tablets on the right, while on the left we have HERMES-THE GOOD SHEPERD OF MEN....wow...truly amazing coincidence that both King James I (VI of Scotland) AND Sir Francis Bacon were globalists who believed the best way to enslave a society was with A)silly religion that is turned LITERALISM...and B) overt symbolism that would never be understood until well, the Babylonian-Rome-Jerusalem Death March of Christianity and Judaism had covered the world in blood. Islam is just a nice "opposame" that gives the apostate Ashkhazars another mask in which to shed blood against those they wish to further enslave. Any wonder why Mohammed married a Catholic woman?

But, thank "God" the CUTTING EDGE is out there to interpret these "satanic symbols".... oh, TRUTHSEEKER....i realize that all "facts" are property of the Messianic-Judeo-Zionistic Christian church, but please feel free to take information put forth as just that, as information not found at the cuttingedge.org which "you" can interpret as an attack on your person and your "infallible" Bible. Sometimes the message is not very "nice", but, nice gets men and women in more of a mess many times. "Out of Egypt I called my SUN".....and may I add Babylon?

TruthSeeker24 - February 27, 2006 07:56 PM (GMT)

Yeah, it's so funny that Cutting Edge disagrees with your ideology and agenda. Unless you can find evidence that King James wrote a single sentence of the KJV Bible. I still believe the Bible is perserved for many reasons. One is that over 25,000 copies of the NT exist alone for comparision (more than any ancient work in history). I could care less about the occult symbolism in a preface of a book, but the content of the book instead. You can add Gentile Babylon and Gentile Egypt from the origin of much of the occult symbolism (before Jews and before the Askhenazi Jewish people).

DID MODERN JEWS DESCEND FROM KHAZARS?

Many anti-Semites complain that modern Jews are not the Biblical Jews but are descended from the Khazars. The Khazars converted to Judaism and thus modern day Jews, it is claimed, are imposters who have no claim on the Land of Israel, Eretz Yisrael. This claim will be discussed in the following sections.

It is also interesting to note that the same anti-Semites who complain about the alleged contents of the Talmud, which was completed no later than 500 C.E. also claim that the Jews of today are "self-styled Jews" descended from the Khazars who converted to Judaism in 740 C.E. Some even claim that the "true" descendants of the Biblical Jews are the modern day "Aryans". So according to this "logic" the Talmud which they complain about would actually be an "Aryan" book and not that of the modern Jews!

Its difficult to see how they can reconcile these two seemingly contradictory positions.

As for Ashkenazim being Khazars, for one thing there were Jews on the Rhine (who came with the Romans) long before there was a Khazaria and even before many Germanic tribes settled there. In fact, the word Ashkenaz means Germany in Hebrew. Second, even if a group of Khazars abandoned their own homeland and adopted Jewish peoplehood by conversion it still doesn't negate their right to the land of Israel. Even Moses's wives weren't born Hebrews and Ruth the Moabitess was a convert (see Book of Ruth). Unlike the Germans, membership in the Jewish peoplehood is not based solely on blood.

RESPONSE (2)

DESCENDED FROM KHAZARS?

The following article addresses the issues of the Khazars with reference to a particular anti-Semitic film where the same claim is made.

From "The Other Israel - Is it Really Accurate", 1990 Dennis Green, Stuart Hayward, Phillip Woodfield Opposition to Anti-Semitism, Incorporated, Christchurch, New Zealand.

In the film, Ted Pike makes the assertion (as have most anti-Semitic groups, including the Nazis) that the Jews of European origin, the "Askhenazim" (who comprise almost 80% of today's Jewry), are actually descended from a medieval people called the Khazars, who converted to Judaism in the 8th century. The logic of the argument goes something like this; if 80% of all the Jews in tile world are not really Jews, then, firstly, these Jews have absolutely no claim, biblical or otherwise, to the Land of Israel. Secondly, these Jews are in no way the people of God, and thus, have no place in the promises or plans of God. Thirdly, if the vast majority of present-day Jews are not Jews (therefore, not Semitic) at all, then it cannot be considered "anti-Semitic" to oppose them.

Pike states that 'Today, the Askhenazim, or Khazars, form the majority, Around 80 %, of those who call themselves Jews.'" He claims that the Mongols drove the Khazar-jews into Germany, Poland and Russia in the 13th century, and that these, not "real" Jews, are the people who now make up most of the population of Israel. Quite simply, this is not true, as the basic analysis below will show.

The Khazars were a confederation of Turkish tribes who established a major commercial empire in the second half of the 6th century. As a trading nation, they were faced with a dilemma; tile Christians would not trade freely with Muslim nations, and the Muslim nations would not trade freely with the Christian nations. The Khazars did not want to be recognized as being more partial to one faith than the other. Therefore, around 740 C.E., King Bulan adopted Judaism, and thus, as a "neutral" people, the Khazars could trade more freely with both the Christian and Muslim nations that bordered Khazaria. It should be noted, however, that it was only the "ruling class" that adopted Judaism, not the general Khazar population, as Ted Pike and the other anti-Semites claim (1). These Khazar-Jews had little, if any, contact with the central Jewish organisation in Iraq, or with the Jews who still lived in Palestine (as the Romans had renamed the province of Judea in 135 C.E.). These Khazar-jews had, in fact, closer links with the (Christian) Byzantine Empire, as can be seen by the fact that several Byzantine emperors, including Justinian II (704) and Constantine V (732), had Khazarian wives.

By the 10th century the Khazar empire, faced with the growing strength of the Pechenegs to their north and west, and of the Russians around Kiev, suffered a decline. Khazar power was crushed in 965 when the ruler of Kiev, Svyatoslav, launched a harsh military campaign against them. Many Khazars, including some of those who had converted to Judaism, moved into Bohemia, Russia, Germany, and the Ukraine.

The main error with Pike's argument is his belief that the Khazar-jews are the ancestors of all those Jews who have lived in Northern or Eastern Europe, and therefore, the Askhenazim (Jews of European origin) are not really Jews at all. This argument can be demolished very simply, by showing that there were very large Jewish communities in Northern and Eastern Europe before the Khazar-Jews arrived there, and that these (with perhaps a tiny percentage of Khazar-jews) are the ancestors of the Askhenazim. Thus, these Jews are clearly descended from the Jews of the Bible.

The first Jews to reach Germany were merchants who went there in the wake of the Roman legions, and settled in the Roman-founded Rhine towns. The earliest detailed record of a Jewish community in Germany, referring to Cologne, is found in imperial decrees issued in 321 and 331 C.E. (2)

There were Jews in Russia from the first centuries C.E., although numbers there were small for several centuries. However, Jews emigrated to the Caucasus and beyond, and formed countless communities, at the time of the wars between the Muslims and Persians during the 7th century.(3)

Jews arrived in Pannonia (Yugoslavia) and Romania in the Third Century(4), and in Hungary not long after. France also had large numbers of Jews living there from an early period; Objects identified as Jewish because of the menorah portrayed on them have been discovered around Arles (first, fourth and early fifth centuries) and Bordeaux and the neighboring region (third and early fourth centuries) Evidence of Jewish communities is abundant from 465 onwards.

Jews were, of course, living in all Mediterranean countries for many centuries B.C.E. and, as has been shown, were living in most other European lands from a very early period. Thus, the claim of Ted Pike (and most other anti-Semitic groups) that the European Jews are from Khazar stock, falls flat on its face. There may be a tiny minority of present-day Jews who are descended from Khazar-Jews, but almost all European Jews are descended directly from the Jews of the Bible.

RESPONSE (3)

WHO IS A JEW?

This is also an extract of an article that addresses the lies presented in the anti-Semitic video "The Other Israel". David S. Maddison (maddison@connexus.net.au)

The video alleges that the Ashkenazim are Khazars and only the Sephardim are authentic Jews. In other words, that the majority of Jews in the world today are descended from a heathen, nomad people from central Asia, and not from Abraham.

In support of this contention it states that Jewish missionaries went to Khazaria and as a result the king was converted in A.D. 740 and Rabbinic Judaism became the state religion. It is averred that by the 10th century the Khazari people had convinced themselves that they were descended from Abraham, that they settled in Poland, and that they were the Polish Jews from whom the Ashkenazim, who make up the greater part of Jewry today, were descended. There is enough truth in this assertion to make it seem plausible but unfortunately it flies against the facts.

The Jews who went to Khazaria did not go as missionaries, in the sense that we send out missionaries today. When the Moslems overran Babylon, the Jews were either expelled or freed to pay half their produce as tribute (13), and when Leo became the Byzantine Emperor one of the measures he passed was for the compulsory conversion of all Jews to Christianity. As a result of these persecutions many Jews from Persia and Greece went to Khazaria to live.(2,3)

In about A.D.700 the Khazar king was converted to Islam and later to Judaism. A later king, Obadiah, greatly strengthened Judaism, inviting rabbis into his Kingdom and building synagogues. Their Judaism - limited no doubt in any case to a comparatively small group (only the king, his attendants and the Khazars of his kind) - was always superficial and they were liable to relapse into paganism. They became what could best be called Judaized Turks. Religious toleration was maintained for the Kingdom's 300 years, with clear traces of Christianity being found among them for the whole historical period. The predominating element in the country were the Muslims, and they formed the royal army(3). In the 10th century, "probably in 965, Khazar leaders appealed to a neighbouring Islamic state for help against invasion but were told that the price of assistance was Khazaria's conversion to Islam. According to Muslim historians the kingdom that had embraced Judaism around 740 suddenly abandoned it less than two and a half centuries later. But this did not save them and by the end of the eleventh century the Khazar empire was no more."(1) There are persistent references to the Khazars as Muslims after A.D. 965(3).

To encourage their own people, Jewish writers have tended to exaggerate the importance of the Khazar conversions to Judaism, leaving out unpalatable facts. The smallest group among the Khazars were the Jews, most of them being Muslims and Christians. The king and his court were Jews for much of their 300 years history and because religious toleration was maintained many persecuted Jews fled there. The fact is that rather than convince themselves by the 10th century that they were Jews descended from Abraham, they found it expedient to convert to Islam.

On the linguistic side, well known Turcologist, A.N.Poliak, regards the Karaite Jews in Poland and the Crimea as the principal present-day representatives of the ancient Khazars, (Karaitism is a minor sect of Judaism quite distinct from mainstream Judaism) and 'investigations have tended to establish the absence of western influences in Yiddish, though on the other hand affinities with German dialects of the east and south-east have been indicated.'(3)

This is not to say that the occasional occurrence of a fair, light skinned, eastern European Jew doesn't indicate the possibility of some admixture of Khazar blood. However from the thirteenth century there came a great movement across the face of Europe, which was to continue for the next four centuries, to the hospitable lands of Poland and Lithuania.(5) 'For long generations, therefore, Poland continued to appear in the light of a land of promise for the Jews of northern Europe, and to receive a perpetual accession of new settlers - refugees escaping from massacre, young men seeking opportunity, merchants from as far afield as Italy or the Balkans. In 1500, the number of Jews in the country is estimated to have been only 50,000 souls; a century and a half later, it had risen to half a million. ...so from the beginning of the sixteenth century the overwhelming mass of Askenazic Jewry, the remnants of the communities of medieval England and France and Germany with others from further afield - became concentrated in Poland and the surrounding Slavonic territories. It is from them that the majority of the Jews in the world today are descended.' (4).

THE GENETIC EVIDENCE

Apart from the historical evidence proving that a vast majority of present-day Jews did not descend from the Khazars, there is now also genetic evidence. Among the Jews there is the class of priests called Cohanim who served in the Temple and who now carry surnames such as "Cohen" and many variations on that name. Cohanim comprise of about 5% of the male Jewish population. There are strict rules of marriage for the Cohanim and the title is only passed through the male line. Also, converts cannot become Cohanim (but their children will be if they have a Cohen as a father). The priestly line is descended directly from the Aaron of the bible so it is expected that all Cohanim would carry some common genetic features.

In recently published work (1) it was found that 54% of self-identified Cohanim had common genetic features that were revealed by analysis of their DNA. Specifically, a component of the Y-chromosome, an allele YAP+ DYS19, was identified that showed up only 1.5% of the time in Cohanim but 18.4% of the time in a random selection of non-

Cohanim Jews and there were other genetic differences apparent as well. (The same differences were apparent for both Sephardic and Askhenazic Jews also proving a common origin pre-dating a later split between the two groups.)

The large number of Cohanim among present-day Jews and the fact that they have a common genetic lineage traceable to Israel at the time of the Temple, demonstrates that modern Jews come from a population pool derived from Israel and not from the Khazars. The Khazars could not have developed their own lineage of Cohanim anyway, since being a Cohen is a male-inherited status which converts (the Khazars) could not have obtained.

Not everyone who claims to be a "Christian" are evil and you need to realize that. Please show me evidence that Muhammad was into the Askhenazi agenda. Roman Catholicism was from Babylonian Mystery Religion not from the Askhenazis at all. Just shows your deception again. Catholics existed before the Khazars were inside of Europe as well. I'm just not in the mood to accept self haters' testimonies bashing their own people. That can be very biased. :)

Where do people get the idea that "Zionists" have so much power? This idea is never supported by very many facts, unlike the claim that the Vatican is very powerful. World Islam is very powerful too, which is why so many of my posts make reference to it.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 28, 2006 03:57 PM (GMT)

I sense this person is an infiltrator and especially as his first messages have been the way they are. This person has been banned from this forum! People who want to learn something truthful do not need disinformation nonsense confusing them with the old tricks of thesis, anti-thesis, synthesis. He's only the third person deleted off this forum and I guess there may be more. Enemies will travel and be drawn like magnetics of opposite poles.

If these people wish to keep up the nonsense that the Jesuit order is run by Jews well let them carry on elsewhere. How could the Jews control the Jesuit Order throughout their history when Jews weren't allowed in the Order after a short period of their history all the way until 1946!

I find it awfully funny how these people put down Kolvenbach's power all because he's stepping down! To be honest these comments showed me who was behind that message. Just because Kolvenbach decides to step down doesn't mean he's been kicked out. People wish to discredit the truth and also make it suit their own agendas. Kolvenbach is in his late 70's and truthfully how can he carry on much longer. Does anyone know the stresses of his job? Does anyone know how much travelling he has to do? How presidents, prime ministers do you see at this age? Kenneth "Bildenberg" Clarke is around 65 and they claim this is the only reason he never got the conservative leadership, although the stooge is in a head position in the conservative party which was no shock. You may also find that Kolvenbach and his council have talked and decided amongst themselves it would be better for a new Superior General to take the reins in the faster paced agenda times and most likely someone far more aggressive like Aruppe was. I just cannot see how people can go around saying it proves that Kolvenbach isn't the world leader, because quite frankly that's idiotic. This is the mindset of people who either wish to protect their masters in the Order or are ignorant of the facts staring them in the face.

We hear continuously Rupert Murdoch is a Jew and this and that. The facts are there's no proof he's a Jew and actually he's a Roman Catholic who married a Roman Catholic and had 3 children by her. He became a Knight of St Gregory the Great which only allows Catholics in the Order.

The problems we have is that from a child we're being conditioned with a false reality which suits the real masters in Rome. This means blaming Jews for world control along with conflict with other religions, areas, races etc. Why is it when we ask 100 sheeple people who rule the world, they all come out with Jews instantly or most of them? It's because it's been sneakily planted in their minds and they haven't ever done any research on the subject either! We hear comments like Jews rule banking and were the first bankers. WRONG! The Knights Templars are the origins of Banking and International banking and these were not jew. The gentile Italian families are the most wealthiest in the world excelling Rockefeller and Rothschild. We hear that Hollywood is run by jews. WRONG! Hollywood is run by the MAFIA with jews as front men, who are the MAFIA subordinate to? THE POPE! Who did high end U.S Military insider Kay Griggs expose as the people ruling America? MAFIA & U.S MILITARY! Mafia are subordinate to the Pope. U.S Military are ruled by The Council on Foreign Relations who are subordinate to the SMOM and Cardinal Egan in NY.

Nobody is taking the power of some jews away from them, there's many in high positions to the public. The facts are they are simply front men for the real power who stay cloaked, veiled, smoked from the public. Do you honestly believe that the simply jew story pushed in your minds from a child would be true haha. Just look at the most wealthiest in the world and you see the facts that it's the Church of Rome whether its treasures, gold or land! The facts have been presented on this site and others on this subject. What's also funny is how these infiltrators or ignorant easily forget that the Church of Rome dominated Planet Earth until the Reformation. Now these agents wish to let all the hard work of the Reformation and its followers go down the pan. This is fine but they will not stop genuine people learning about the Gentile, Roman conspiracy. They will see what they get for their troubles helping Rome when its agenda is complete. They will be treated the same and in the camps just the same.

One last thing, the National Security Agency one of the Black Popes most powerful intelligence organisations has a room where no jews are allowed. What does this tell you? THAT JEWS DO NOT RULE AS WERE LED TO BELIEVE! If jews ruled do you honestly think this intelligence group would have a room like this? Oh and why haven't the jews got permanent observatory of the United Nations like the Sovereign Military of Malta have? :D

Title: King George III

Description: Jesuit puppet

Alexandra - February 27, 2006 03:51 PM (GMT)

From Reformation.org:

Frederick, Prince of Wales was poisoned!!

Frederick was George's oldest son and Prince of Wales. The Prince was next in line for the throne and should have been king before his son oldest son, George. He was HATED by his parents but LOVED by the common people. He was called the "people's prince." He was a lover of art and music and refused to be anybody's puppet or pawn.

The Prince Frederick, Prince of Wales (Frederick Louis) (February 1, 1707 - March 31, 1751) was a member of the British Royal Family, the eldest son of King George II. He was born into the House of Hanover and was known as Duke Friedrich Ludwig of Brunswick-Lüneburg. Under the Act of Settlement passed by the English Parliament, Frederick was in the direct line of succession to the British throne. He moved to England following the accession of his father, and became the Prince of Wales. He predeceased his father however, and the throne, upon the death of King George II on Oct. 25, 1760, passed to Prince Frederick's eldest son, Prince George (King George III).

Prince Frederick was famous for having a hostile relationship with his parents.

King George III

With the death of his father at age 44, George was now the Prince of Wales and next in line for the throne. All that remained was to get rid of his grandfather and he would be king of Great Britain. That is exactly what happened!!

His grandfather died suddenly in 1760 when George was 22 years old and just 4 years over the minimum age for the royal succession.

Even though George II was 77 years old, his death was totally unexpected. The king was a big strong German and actually led troops into battle at the age of 60:

King George II died at Kensington Palace at about half-past seven in the morning of 25 October 1760. Death came to him swiftly and without warning. He had gone to bed the previous night in good health and spirits. In the morning he was awakened at his usual hour, drank his cup of chocolate, and went to make his toilet. His valet heard an unusual noise, returned to investigate, and found the King lying insensible on the floor. In falling he had cut his face against the edge of a bureau. A doctor was summoned and pronounced life extinct. (Brooke, King George III, p. 73).

George III (George William Frederick) (4 June 1738 – 29 January 1820) was King of Great Britain, and King of Ireland from 25 October 1760 until 1 January 1801, and thereafter King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland until his death. He was concurrently Duke of Brunswick-Lüneburg, and thus Elector (and later King) of Hanover.

The Electorate became the Kingdom of Hanover on 12 October 1814. George was the third British monarch of the House of Hanover, but the first to be born in Britain and use English as his first language. During George III's reign, Britain lost many of its colonies in North America, which became the United States. Also during his reign, the realms of Great Britain and Ireland united to form the United Kingdom.

King George III was a complete puppet of the Jesuits!!

With the poisoning of his father, Frederick, Prince of Wales, George became king of Great Britain. He was the king that ratified the Treaty of Paris in 1763 giving the Louisiana Territory to Spain.

He was the king that lost the British colonies in the New World. He reigned until 1820 and at the end he was diagnosed as suffering from "MADNESS." This madness was just the side effects of the cup of Borgia.

Until Judgment Day nobody will ever know exactly why he cooperated with the enemies of his country. His grandfather, George II, was born in Germany and he may felt more kinship with that country than with his adopted homeland.

It could have been the fear of death and what happened to his father and grandfather but it certainly wasn't money because the monarch had all the money he could ever use.

Title: Queen Anne

Description: Another victim of the Cup of Borgia

Alexandra - February 27, 2006 03:45 PM (GMT)

From Reformation.org:

Queen Anne was the last of the Scottish Stuart dynasty

Queen Anne was the last of the Scottish Stuart dynasty to reign over England. The Stuart dynasty began with the death of Queen Elizabeth I in 1603. Queen Elizabeth I was the daughter of Saint Anne Boleyn and King Henry VIII. Queen Anne brought about the Union of England and Scotland which created GREAT Britain. This Union ended centuries of warfare between the 2 nations. Queen Anne also knighted Isaac Newton for his extraordinary scientific discoveries.

Queen Anne was only 49 years old when she died and went to Heaven.

She was a devout Protestant Christian and she knew that the Pope was Antichrist.

Nobody —not even her bigoted father King James II — could force her to renounce her Protestant Faith.

The Queen, her beloved husband Prince George of Denmark, and all 18 of her children were victims of the cup of Borgia.

By 1700, the future Queen had been pregnant at least eighteen times; thirteen times, she miscarried or gave birth to stillborn children. Of the remaining five children, four died before reaching the age of two years. Her only son to survive infancy, William, Duke of Gloucester, died at the age of eleven on 29 July 1700, precipitating a succession crisis.

This Queen was a living fulfillment of the words of the Apostle Paul:

"Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution." (II Timothy 3:12).

With no living heirs, the Stuart dynasty became extinct and the succession passed to the foreign German Hanoverian dynasty. The Hanoverian dynasty was a compromise to preserve the Union of England and Scotland

Australia's SBS drops South Park episode on Pope

http://www.abu.org.my/public/dsp_page.cfm?...d=247&PSID=3372

An episode of the cartoon programme South Park that features the Pope has been pulled from Australian television, The Age has reported.

The final episode of the current series of the long-running US animated series - which had been scheduled for Monday - had been "deferred", an SBS spokesman said.

Because of sensitivities about religious cartoons in the wake of the Danish cartoons depicting the Prophet Muhammad, SBS would have to give "some more thought" to the scheduling of the final episode.

"Given the current worldwide controversy over cartoons of religious figures, we've decided to defer this programme," the spokesman said.

The episode was shown in New Zealand on Wednesday night, prompting a protest by hundreds of Catholics outside TV Works, a subsidiary of Canadian-owned Canwest International.

Meh. I don't turn on South Park because I don't care for potty-mouthed fourth-graders.

My husband likes it though. :blink:

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 25, 2006 05:58 PM (GMT)

I do not watch trash like this or Futurama or Simpsons its all agenda pushing nonsense promoting dumbness and putting intelligence down.

Alexandra - February 25, 2006 06:03 PM (GMT)

If I watch anything it's court shows, and even then that's not very often. Or the Weather Channel--that's so I know how to dress my son for the day.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 26, 2006 01:31 AM (GMT)

I'm getting to the point where I think eventually I will just stop watching TV altogether. The problem is when you live on your own (Jesuits will easily smoke me now) you get very bored and the TV in the background makes a difference.

Alexandra - February 26, 2006 02:36 AM (GMT)

My son likes his Bob the Builder videos. I need to think about getting him some Christian videos to watch.

When my dad was alive he had the idiot box turned on constantly. I grew up with that.

TV's off right now. That way my son can hear his CD player--I play hymns and praise music for him, helps him get to sleep.

Bladestorm - February 26, 2006 02:49 AM (GMT)

TV watching is pretty much my parents life. Monday through friday the TV is on the second they get home from work, up until they go to bed. But it doesnt stop there. They watch for another hour or so in their bedroom before they fall asleep. Weekends can be better or worse. Sometimes they actually venture outside to take a walk. Its amazing! Imagine that, exercise.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 26, 2006 03:26 AM (GMT)

Its got so bad for me I'd rather watch very old films as I'm fed up of the propaganda and flashing subliminals all day long. You watch how many times movies flash for no reason and especially their trailers on TV gee. When you detox the body properly you can easily see these things happening. I believe the Fluorides etc numb you to whats happening. The CIA did many tests on individuals utilising Audio, Visual and chemicals and its being done to us now and works very well on the sheep.

dp9 - February 26, 2006 04:36 PM (GMT)

Y'all could be writing my story, too. My dad had the TV on all day, too. My generation is still addicted to TV as much as my children are addicted to the computer & Xbox. Of course, I prefer the internet for news now since you get a variety rather than Peter Jennings' drones. This is especially true since I met y'all & get to read crazy articles and decided for myself how to think about them. :)

Interesting, 2tuff that you said you can really see the gunk on TV when you're detoxing. I have found that to be true, myself. When I'm doing a heavy duty detox, I want everything to be pure. Detoxing really does heighten your awareness.

You're also right about the flouride. Flouride is rat poison. My son's puppy ate some my husband had forgotten about and I watched her hemorrhage to death. Don't tell me it's in the water in safe amounts.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 26, 2006 10:50 PM (GMT)

See DP I just keep on coming out with sense dont I :D I'm glad you experience what I have said as it helps you see who tells the truth around here instead of this normal internet Temporal agent disinformation everyone gets indoctrinated with thanks to NSA, FBI D5, MI5, CIA etc.

The TV gets so annoying and blatantly obvious when the body is cleansed up. The amount of flashes is incredible and even when there certainly shouldn't be a flash. I believe all these visual effects even in documentarays aren't there just for modern times but are their for subliminal content. If you sit there and close your eyes and watch for the flashes it will amaze you especially in movie trailers. Why the hell some TV shows us flashes in normal scenes is beyond me. At least in action/lightning scenes they can hide it well. The thing is if more and more are loaded with the heavy metals and chemicals they simply do not see this and it doesn't register.

Fluoride calcifies the Pineal Gland (3rd eye Chakra), creates havok with enzymes and much much more. Its Carcinogenic and numbs the population into the line with its Elite. No Fluoride content is safe regardless of propaganda saying otherwise. How can any level in water be safe anyhow? How can they tell how much a person may drink thus adding to their daily intake. Dr Russell L Blaylock is an authority on Fluoride and much more. Remember on they dont even use pharmaceutical grade Sodium Fluoride, they use industrial waste from the Aluminum industry which is booming especially since the Chemtrail program was started.

JagDRS - February 27, 2006 05:09 AM (GMT)

Some of you may remember this when I posted on other forums. It's now been just a little over a year since I unplugged from TV. Even so, keep in mind that unless one lives under a rock, it is not likely for one to completely avoid mass media. I don't live under a rock, at least, not yet :o Go to visit the folks, the TV is on and even the rare times when it's not I'm likely to get a recap, from somebody, of the "late breaking news" i missed. If it's momNdad I visit, there are two TVs on :(On several occasions I've reminded mom that she was the one who often times scolded me, 35-40 years ago, for spending so much time in front of the boob tube. Regardless, I've yet to make a dent in the effort to get her to at least consider the idea of giving it up.... it has become her "woobie"; nor does she appreciate me giving her this reminder :blink: Its the same if I visit brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles, cousins. I liken the impression this has left me with what it is like for a sober person to walk into a popular crowded pub late on a friday night, where the music is loud, the conversations are loud, nearly every is drunk and whooping it up. I tried this, once, even though it was normal then for me to be one of the drunk and whooping it up. To me, it was like everyone else stood out as being obviously deranged with me as the lone sane one, to the crowd they were all normal and I was the odd one. Similar thing with the TV, most of my friends and family are hooked on it, they don't realize it, and mean time I am the one who seems like the oddball.

Many restaurants, taverns, and retail stores now have TV's running full time, some have the full litany of color glassy mags and news print taking up space too. For crying out loud, even the garages I take my car to for service have a TV on in the corner..... unless I happen to be one of their earliest morning customers; in fact, surreptitiously turning off public TVs has become a new sport of mine :ph43r:

This has turned out to be one of the best things, if not the best, that I've ever done for my self, on multiple counts. Aside from freeing the mind, it's also given back many previously wasted hours each day to do all those things I seemed to never have time to do. The most difficult part of unplugging was the first 24 hours, serious jonesing occured, but it only took a couple days to break this conditioning of my own self (daily routine that started upon getting home from work at the end of the day). After the first week without tv, my inner stress level was noticably lower. I suspect this was largely the result of having disconnected from a primary source of the over-the-shoulder fear factor continually drummed into viewers these days by the mainstream news fakers. As far as subliminals, being that they are subliminal, it's hard to say how I've benefited from cutting off regular doses, but again, even minus the TV, there's still lots of RF and microwave polluting my air space, so one cannot escape it all. I have noticed that when I spend considerable time visiting family and their TV is on and out of my control (I've tried, but it does not go over well when one walks into somebody elses house and makes a move to turn off the TV), I'll notice a negative reaction by the next day, some times with physical effects too, but these too soon pass..... now here I am a little over a year later, living proof that it can be done fairly easily. I see a lot of you people commenting that you know/fear you can't give up TV, and with other people involved that I don't have, like spouses and children this definitely makes the task more difficult, but trust me, you can do it if you want to, and should, it is not as difficult as you've made it out in your mind to be.

In the mean time I've also cut way down on the amount of other media forms I'm exposed to, and have gotten quite selective on what I will listen to on the radio. A lot of people, especially the friends and family, give me a peculiar look of concern, often accompanied with some haughtiness when they ask the obligatory "but how do you expect to keep yourself informed of critical events?". This is a great in for me to be quite serious in sharing my opinion with them - the absurdity that they are genuinely informed as the result of anything they get from their habitual sitting in front of the sparkle box.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 24, 2006 02:05 AM (GMT)

Friends I don't know if your aware but theres a good 4 part program on Channel 4 early in the mornings and tonight its 03:10 here in the U.K. It called `The Medici - Godfathers of the Renaissance .' I missed quite half of yesterdays and I'm not sure what part its on exactly but it was very good. Most of you who are here will appreciate that Rothschilds are not the power players we're made to believe they are, well you should know by now that the wealthiest families in the world all come out of Italy linked with the Black Nobility and Committee of 300. Just check up on the power of the Medici family and see who was the most powerful bankers in Europe. Dr John Coleman will put you on the right track of the most powerful people in wealth. I liked how in this show it was admitted that the Pope is the most powerful Man on Earth. This is of course not true anymore since the Jesuit Order finally got their mits on the Vatican in the 1800's and now its The Black Pope of course.

Hope you enjoy the show.

I studied in Austria for a summer and had the opportunity to take the train down to Florence with a girlfriend. Florence is a beautiful city, with a marble statue around every corner. Some of Michelangelo's work is there: David-www.wga.hu/frames-e.html?/html/m/michelan/1sculptu/david/index.html

From this link you can jump to the Medici tomb and see all kinds of sculptures created by Michelangelo. Also see the Pieta in Florence, at the Opera House.

The Medicis "owned" Florence in the 16th century. It seemed everywhere we turned in Florence there was some building with the suffix "di Medici."

Wikipedia has a lot of info on the Medici family, whose dynasty spanned the 14th-17th centuries. Just for your consideration, the Spanish Inquisition (no one expects the Spanish Inquisition!! :D) was in full force from the late 15th century all the way to Napoleon in the 19th century. You might do a little research on that topic while you're at it. Look how the Inquisition targeted Jews and Moors/Moslems.

They didn't exactly use Chick tracts that outlined the Four Spiritual Laws to convert people back then.

Alexandra - February 24, 2006 05:58 PM (GMT)

I have some Medicis in my family tree...I have to see if they're ancestors or cousins. They're from Italy, right around that time.

I heard they were bankers or something.

add Nope, so far looks like they're cousins of cousins.

Lucrezia Borgia was married to a Medici descendant, a Sforza.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 24, 2006 11:57 PM (GMT)

The Medici were the most powerful Bankers at one time bailing out many Monarchs! Italy is far more powerful than everyone can imagine even without the almighty Jesuits and the Catholic Church. This is still to this day and Rothschilds just dont compare in wealth. Some Italians have more wealth than Rockefeller and Rothschild combined.

The amount of money the Medici spent on paintings and art was ridiculous but made a beautiful city indeed. Notice how the Pope and the Roman Catholics have continued to be devious to all who help them at some point. All because the Pope had an overdraft with Medici they decide to help the Pizza to assassinate the Medici borthers almost succeeding. Notice how the one of the Medici was a Cardinal! You can bet your life where their fortunes that were left went to.

Title: Martin Luther and John Calvin Victims of the Order

Description: Cup of Borgia - Nicholas Rivera

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 21, 2006 01:37 AM (GMT)

Dear Brother Eric,

There is evidence the Jesuit Order murdered Reformation heroes Martin Luther and John Calvin.

<<http://www.healpastlives.com/pastlf/mystery/mssluther.htm>>

Unnatural Causes: the Poisoning of MARTIN LUTHER "The Death of a "Heretic"
[according to the Jesuit Order]

My comments are in brackets []

Carter Lindberg, author of The European Reformations (1996) on pages 271-272 wrote:

"Calvin died on 27 May 1564 at the age of fifty-five, Beza reported Calvin's death at sundown: "Thus in the same moment, that day, the sun set and the greatest light which was in the world, for direction of the Church of God, was withdrawn to Heaven. We can well say that with this single man it has pleased God in our time, to teach us the way both to live well and to die well (Kingdon 1967: 13). Like Luther, Calvin had long suffered a variety of ailments [due to the poisoned cup of the Order fulfilling their wicked and bloody oath. Calvin and Luther suffered the same symptoms and were main reformers at the Luciferian Society/Company of Jesus was founded by Spanish Alumbrado Ignatius Loyola and approved by then Antichrist Pope Paul III] that caused severe pain and breathing difficulties, including arthritis, kidney stones, pulmonary tuberculosis, intestinal parasites, hemorrhoids, bowel problems, and migraine headaches. Bouwsma (1988: 30) suggests that "even more erosive" than these physical ailments was Calvin's internal tension between his trust in God and his own need to control and to achieve.

At the end he confessed his deficiency in everything: "Truly, even the grace of forgiveness he [God] has given me only renders me all the more guilty, so that my only recourse can be this, that being the father of mercy, he will show himself the father of so miserable a sinner."

Whether Calvin was a neurotic overachiever is for psychiatrists to evaluate; but both Calvin and Luther were convinced that only divine therapy can provide more than amelioration of symptoms and begin a cure. Just before his death Luther scribbled the lines, "No one can think he has tasted the Holy Scriptures thoroughly until he has ruled over the churches with the prophets for a hundred years... We are beggars. That is true." (LW 54: 476). Both Calvin and Luther "suffered through the conflict- unavoidable for medieval and modern alike - between the conscience and Evangelical reliance on God.... This is the sickness unto death which Luther uncovered: we cling to our achievements and cannot shake the need to prove ourselves before God and man, in life and death. Luther's 'neurosis' proves to be part and parcel of the Reformation discovery: we are beggars - that is true! (Oberman 1989b:324). At his own request Calvin was buried in an unmarked grave.

Brother Nicholas N. Rivera

AVBibleBeliever - February 26, 2006 06:52 PM (GMT)

I made a typo there.

What I meant to say was that "due to the poisoned cup of the Order fulfilling their wicked and bloody oath. Calvin and Luther suffered the same symptoms and were main reformers at the TIME the Luciferian Society/Company of Jesus was founded by Spanish Alumbrado Ignatius Loyola and approved by then Antichrist Pope Paul III on September 27, 1540."

Title: Archbishop Marcinkus Once Involved In The Massive

Description: Vatican Bank Scandal found DEAD!

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 23, 2006 02:22 AM (GMT)

Archbishop Paul Marcinkus, 84, Once Involved In The Massive Vatican Bank Scandal, Found Dead At His Home In Sun City, Arizona

By Greg Szymanski
2-21-6

Marcinkus always proclaimed he had nothing to do with the scandal, but was still sought by Italian authorities for questioning at the time of his death.

Archbishop Paul Marcinkus, the head of the Vatican bank before a massive banking scandal forced him out in 1989, has died of natural causes, a spokeswoman for the Phoenix Catholic Diocese said.

After being dismissed from his important Vatican responsibilities, Marcinkus, 81, retired to Phoenix, but remained active in the Church, limiting his activities to saying Mass and other routine services.

Marcinkus was found dead at his Sun City home, a suburb of Phoenix, on Monday evening, said Mary Jo West, a spokeswoman for the Roman Catholic Diocese of Phoenix.

No further evidence or information was available regarding his death, according to diocese officials.

Marcinkus, who was 6 feet, 4 inches, had once acted as a bodyguard to Pope John Paul II during his early foreign travels before taking on the responsibilities as head of the Vatican bank.

Formally known as the Institute for Religious Works, Marcinkus headed the Vatican Bank for 20 years, but was removed when he became an intergral figure in the Italian investigation into the massive scandal.

In 1987, warrants for the arrest of Marcinkus and two lay Vatican bank officials were issued in after Italian prosecutors charged them with being accessories to the fraudulent bankruptcy of Banco Ambrosiano, Italy's largest private bank, which collapsed in 1982 with the disappearance of $1.3 billion . * * * * The missing money, never recovered, was in loans made to 10 dummy companies in Latin America controlled by the Vatican bank.

Italy's Constitutional Court in 1982 ruled that a Vatican-Italian treaty precluded any interference by Italian authorities in the affairs of the Vatican, an independent city-state.

The case was never brought to trial, the Vatican settling out of court with Italian authorities for $241 million. Throughout the entire scandal and up until his death, Marcinkus insisted on his innocence.

At the time of his death, Rome prosecutors were still hoping to question Marcinkus, but he has been kept under protection in Phoenix, Arizona, still being under Vatican diplomatic immunity.

Marcinkus was also linked to the unsolved murder of Roberto Calvi, the former head of Banco Ambrosiano involved in the scandal, as the Vatican insisted Calvi pay back over $154 million in stolen Vtican money.

But the links to those involved in the scandal never were fully explored as investigators were refused permission to ever investigate Marcinkus.

Sources close to Vatican claim that Marcinkus taken to America to keep quiet since he was actually only an "innocent fall guy" for the real culprits pulling the strings behind the scandal.

Those sources close to Vatican contend the Black Pope and the Jesuit Order "in full control of P2 and the Grand Orient Lodges, used Calvi and Michele Sindona, another accomplice also thought murdered, to steal the money, then in Mafia-like fashion had both of them killed.

"Archbishop Marcinkus, being publicly responsible for the loss of the funds of Banco Ambrosiano, then agreed to take the fall, subsequently protecting his Jesuit masters from further investigation," said a source close to the Vatican who wished to remain anonymous.

"It is Jesuit Bishop Hnilica, the untouchable, who is really at the bottom of the scandal and fronting for the Black Pope. I believe Marcinkus was a patsy and that Hnilica is the real culprit and thus the Black Pope."

Sources close to Marcinkus also claim that "all along" he was innocent of any serious wrong doing, including having absolutely nothing to do with Galvi's murder or embezzlement of funds.

Secret Vatican Archives Now Accessible Online

From Scott Corrales
Inexplicata - The Journal Of Hispanic Ufology

Noticiasdot.com
1-12-6

The Vatican Archives, one of the world's most important historical research centers, with over 630 different archival sources extending over more than 85 kilometers of shelves, covering over 800 yeras of history, can now be visited on the Internet at www.vatican.va

After selecting the language, the page offers a virtual tour among frescoes and documents in its "Focus" section, although the language selection is currently limited to English and Italian only.

The oldest document dates back to the 7th century, while uninterrupted documentation is maintained from the year 1198 onward. Thanks to new technology, it is possible to leaf through the parchment in which Pope Clement grants absolution to the leaders of the Knights Templar (17-20 August, 1308), Michelangelo Buonarotti's letter to the Bishop of Cesena (January 1550) or the minutes of the trial of Galileo Galilei (1616-1633).

The holdings of the Vatican Archives are crucial to the study of history, whether due to the documents that affect Christian civilization, or those having to do with the history of various nations," explains the web site for the Archbishopric of Madrid.

"As far as some countries are concerned, the Vatican documents are the oldest, the first ones, which witness the start of their national history," explains the Vatican web site.

The Vatican Archive is employed, first and foremost, by the Pope and his collaborators in the Holy See, as set forth in Pope Leon XIII "motu proprio" of May 10, 1884. That same Pope allowed access to researchers in 1881, turning it into "the world's most important historic research facility"

Yeah really!

I bet those underground archives make for some really interesting reading, though--if you can bypass the security.

They'll only give people access to whatever makes them look good.

smashstuff - January 13, 2006 02:12 PM (GMT)

There's quite a lot about the archives in Dan 'conman' Brown's Angels and Demons. Interesting reading.

The oldest document dates back to the 7th century my arse!

Alexandra - January 13, 2006 06:51 PM (GMT)

Alberto Rivera claimed that he read a letter from Helena to her son Constantine that was in the archives. Now that dates back from the fourth century.

The Vatican has LOTS of info stored underground. I understand that confessionals are a really good source of info.

CRAIG-OXLEY - January 13, 2006 09:43 PM (GMT)

Why do you think the Jesuits used to be in charge of confessions especially THE MONARCHS? So they could use it as Blackmail etc after :D

Bladestorm - February 25, 2006 01:37 AM (GMT)

I was at Barns and Noble today looking over the History section. I found a few books who's authors claimed the've been in the archives to do research. Can I assume these writers are Coadjutors? I dont remember all the names but one was John Cornwell who wrote the book "Hitlers Pope".

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 25, 2006 01:48 AM (GMT)

If they have been in the Archives its with restrictions!

I for one would love to go into those underground archives (after learning the languages the files are no doubt written in) and just explore. I'm an explorer at heart...and I tell you what, that's like buried treasure to me! LOL Literally!

According to Alberto Rivera, the Vatican has technological stuff stored there...no doubt lots of information gleaned from confessionals all over the world, or from their agents/co-adjutors. And no doubt they know pretty much how humans tick--after listening to all that juicy stuff and everything.

Greg Szymanski: Be Very Wary from WING TV & Michael Langston
From Victor Thorn & Lisa Guliani

We should be very wary of Greg Szymanski for the following reasons:

1) He actually FAKED an interview with Morgan Reynolds.

According to Mr. Reynolds: "In June [2005] Syzmanski made up a fake interview with me by taking sentences from my June 9 article, albeit lifted accurately, written as if in conversation while claiming that he interviewed me by telephone from my A&M office, a bald lie. That caused some problems because "unfriendlies" claimed I lied about having an A&M office rather than writer Syzmanski. He pursued me and apologized privately, but not publicly. He claimed credit for getting the mainstream to look at my article. So I understand that his stuff cannot be relied on without corroboration elsewhere."

Why would Szymanski so needlessly lie about something this simple; and more importantly, what else is he lying about? This is the same type of dishonest behavior that created huge mainstream media scandals with Jayson Blair (New York Times) and Stephen Glass (The New Republic). Should alternative media figures like Greg Szymanski be LYING like they do? We think this is abominable.

2) He promoted in a big way the "Bush-Cheney Indicted" story which was patently false. Bush and Cheney are still not indicted, so where is his retraction?

3) He pushed the Chicago MI-5 subway shooting fallacy which was patently false. Where is his retraction?

4) He supported (either directly or indirectly) the "Barbara Olson Arrested" story which was nothing but a hoax. Where is his retraction?

5) At the fourth anniversary of 9-11, he covered the 9-11 Mafia Gatekeeper angle (where they corraled people AWAY from the epicenter of this disaster with a wild goose chase through the streets of Manhattan), while refusing to touch the REAL story, which were protesters at Ground Zero. Even The Village Voice (a pseudo-mainstream publication) covered this event with our 14-foot 9-11 WORLD TRADE CENTER CONTROLLED DEMOLITION banner, while Szymanski deliberately dropped the ball, even after talking to us at Ground Zero and the United Nations. Why wouldn't he - someone supposedly on our side - report on this story? Very pathetic.

6) He ran with Captain May's "Imminent Nuclear Attack in Texas City, Tx." It never happened, yet he blurted in his headline that it was IMMINENT. How much more of this National Enquirer style 'journalism' are we supposed to tolerate?

7) He is a strong supporter of known disinfo specialists, sensationalists, and totally discredited figures such as Tom Flocco and Sherman Skolnick.

From Michael Langston

Greg,

I find it kind of odd that you would raise troubling "questions" about Professor Steven E. Jones in your recent article, yet apparently you choose NOT to question truly questionable individuals such as "Captain" Eric May, whom you failed to "question" in this manner when you had him as a guest on your show. Didn't his prediction of imminent nuclear attack announced on your program turn out to be totally false?

Why is it then that Professor Jones, who has done more for the cause of 9-11 Truth than anyone I can remember since Morgan Reynolds and David Ray Griffin, why is it that HE deserves to be "questioned" as a possible "government plant" yet "Captain" Eric May apparently does not?

Greg Szymanski Raises Questions About Steven E. Jones

Greg Szymanski Interviews Dr. Jonathan Reed Nelson

Greg Szymanski Interviews Captain "Ed Dames" May

Isn't there some sort of double standard at work here?

If anyone deserves to be "questioned" and regarded with suspicion, it is YOU, Greg Szymanski, and such obvious phonies as "Captain" Eric May.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 24, 2006 02:19 AM (GMT)

So Sherman Skolnick is disinformation? I think NOT! This is a smear campaign against Greg because hes starting ousting the Jesuit Order and the Vatican! Where was all this crap before then? No where to be seen and now hes getting beat on very regularly. People like to claim events haven't happened when they simply have no idea either way but this version suits their attack agenda. The events in Texas were verified by local residents as something strange happening. We must realise that just because a nuclear event hasn't happened doesn't mean Eric May was incorrect wether hes linked to Jesuits or not. Theres many intelligence agency data spread which ends up not happening through aborts. Public knowledge is not a good thing and obviously you wouldn't detonate a Nuclear device in an area everyone is watching for it to happen. Its really easy for attackers to then try to discredit someone. Did anyone other than insiders know what was going to happen on Sept 11? No and this is why it happened! Lets get real and see the agent attacks on Greg for what they are. If I remember correctly Eric Phelps ousted Wing as a Temporal outfit. You will be once again able to see the Temporal Coajutors and Agents when they start freaking out when their Masters are getting exposed big time.

Thankyou GREG

Ex-DOJ chief says Church liable in jueteng 'donation'

The Catholic Church may be criminally liable for receiving money from jueteng operators as a form of donation, a for-mer justice secretary said on Thursday.

Artemio Tuquero said that if there is sufficient evidence that the money received by the Catholic Church comes from illegal sources such as illegal gambling, it could be prosecuted.

“If the Catholic Church is receiving donations from illegal gambling like jueteng it could be charged criminally because it is getting proceeds from illegal sources,” Tuquero said.

He said, however, that the donations must be identified as coming from jueteng lords before a case could be filed.

Those who may be charged are priests and other Church officials identified as receiving proceeds from illegal gambling.

Tuquero said Presidential Decree 1602, which prescribes stiffer penalties for illegal gambling, can be invoked when filing a case against the Church for benefiting and profiting from illegal activities.

He linked the decree to Article 19 of the Revised Penal Code, which deals with the accessories to a crime.

Article 19 defines accessories as “those who, having knowledge of the commission of the crime, and without having participated therein, either as principals or as accomplices, take part subsequent to its commission in any of the following manner: By profiting themselves or assisting the offender [in profiting from] the effects of the crime.”

Tuquero, a former Court of Appeals associate justice, made the reaction after Jo Imbong, lawyer of the Catholic Bishops’ Conference of the Philippines, testified at a House inquiry that the Church accepts money from whatever source, “whether lawful or illicit.”

Justice Secretary Raul M. Gonzalez said there is a gray area when the Church receives donations. He said it is hard to ascertain if the donations come from a legal or illegal source.

“The Catholic Church is also receiving donations from the Philippine Charity Sweepstakes Office and Pagcor [Philippine Amusements and Gaming Corp.], which are legal, but it is hard to identify if the donation comes from jueteng,” Gonzalez said.

Illegal gambling is punishable by six months to six years’ imprisonment.

An accessory shall be given a penalty, which is lower by two degrees.

The debate of “polluted donations” has split the Church and worries the CBCP.

But Fr. Joe Dizon, founder of the activist group Patriot, said on Thursday that the Church is not helpless in preventing the flow of donations from gambling lords and other tainted sources.

Dizon said the Church, particularly its priests, know who the gambling lords are, so there is no reason they could not refuse donations from them.

“From my experience, they [gambling lords] don’t hide their identities, because they also expect something in return,” Dizon said.

The Church, Dizon added, needs to show sincerity and should rely on the honesty of the people and the parishioners for help in evangelization work.

“The country is already saddled with too many problems, such as corruption and poverty, that resulted in the people mistrusting the government. The Church, at least, should be above this fray,” Dizon said.

Refusing dirty donations would erase doubts about the Church as a result of Imbong’s admission, he said. “The Church needs to be credible at this time,” he pointed out.

Accepting donations from gambling lords, Dizon added, is just like accepting the evils of prostitution.

He reiterated his appeal to the bishops, priests and religious organizations to immediately stop accepting donations from tainted sources so as not to place the Church, looked upon as a pillar of morality, in an embarrassing situation.

On Wednesday Archbishop Oscar V. Cruz of Dagupan-Lingayen said the Church has no moral authority to accept donations from gambling lords, because although how noble the intention is, the fact remains that the money came from a polluted source and should be refused.

Church admits taking jueteng money in the past

First posted 00:29am (Mla time) May 20, 2005

By Tonette Orejas

Inquirer News Service

Editor's Note: Published on page A1 of the May 20, 2005 issue of the Philippine Daily Inquirer

CITY OF SAN FERNANDO—Yes, some priests in Pampanga used to receive or solicit money from "jueteng" lords for the construction of churches and charity projects.

But, according to a local priest, the practice had been stopped after extensive debates within the clergy.

A ranking Church official, who requested anonymity, the other day denounced some priests for allowing themselves to be tainted by "donations" from jueteng lords in Pampanga. President Macapagal-Arroyo's home province has been dubbed by Senate Minority Leader Aquilino Pimentel, Jr. as the "Vatican of jueteng" because the illegal numbers racket flourishes there.

The unnamed Church official urged the Inquirer to get the side of Pampanga Archbishop Paciano Aniceto regarding the close ties that some priests had fostered with gambling lords.

Due to a hectic schedule, the 68-year-old Aniceto turned down an Inquirer request for an interview yesterday and instead gave this reporter a copy of his pastoral letter on Dec. 1, 2004. The three-page pastoral letter, written in Filipino and disseminated in 50 Pampanga parishes, was addressed to priests, jueteng operators, bettors, policemen and local officials.

Aniceto spelled out in the letter the archdiocese's policy against jueteng and his dream to see the racket stamped out as it robbed the poor of their hard-earned money.

"What is my message to priests receiving 'donations' from those who run jueteng? Even if we are having headaches in raising funds for the construction of churches or for the needs of our poor brethren, let us not seek help from jueteng operators," Aniceto said.

"When you are sent donations [by jueteng operators], don't insult them. Thank them and tell them, 'We were advised by our father archbishop, because we want to stop jueteng, [that] it is not right for us to be receiving donations coming from the game.'"

Aniceto did not say in his letter how many of Pampanga's more than 200 priests were accepting jueteng money.

A local priest, who asked not to be identified, said he and his fellow clergymen had debated the issue and resolved to put a stop to the practice.

"We debated extensively this in our clergy gatherings until we came up with a stand, reflected by that statement [pastoral letter]" the priest said.

In his letter, Aniceto appealed to jueteng operators to stop the racket if they wanted to help the poor.

"I know you want to help the poor and many poor people are employed in jueteng and you have helped many churches and projects. But you will be helping more poor people if you stop jueteng?" he said.

In his letter, Aniceto even offered to intercede on behalf of gambling operators should authorities on the take pressure them to continue jueteng.

The archbishop said legalizing jueteng was not a solution to poverty. "Why should we make legal a game that bleeds the little income that the poor make to be able to sustain government projects?" Aniceto asked in his letter.

Free meals

Regarding the allegation of the unnamed Church official that priests were availing themselves of free meals at a restaurant owned by a jueteng operator in Pampanga, Aniceto's spokesperson, Msgr. Sonny Lumanog, denied this was a practice among his fellow clergymen.

Lumanog also denied claims that priests were receiving as much as P10,000 for Masses offered to the family of a jueteng lord.

What they do not turn down, he said, are requests to officiate Church rites or sacraments. "As priests, we cannot deny anyone the rites, not even to convicted criminals"

Lumanog acknowledged priests in Pampanga were in a "difficult situation," but said they were resisting attempts to be corrupted.

Paraphrasing one of Pope Benedict XVI's messages, Lumanog likened the Church to a grand shepherd in a table where different kinds of people, including sinful ones, were gathered around. "We're bound by our pastoral mission to help all," he said.

Fr. Pablo David, a local priest, described as unfair the Inquirer story on Pampanga priests accepting money from jueteng operators.

"It was unfair to practically caricature every priest [in Pampanga] as pro-jueteng," David said. "Quite a number of us have been consistently anti-jueteng and openly preach against it in the pulpit in our Masses.

Aniceto's unequivocal stand against jueteng contrasts sharply with that of Jaime Cardinal Sin in 2000 when he was still the Manila archbishop.

With the Church under fire for condemning gambling while accepting P181 million in donations from Philippine Gaming and Amusement Corp., Sin said then that it was all right to accept money from the devil as long as it was spent on the poor.

"The devil ... remains my enemy but I will use his resources to feed the poor," Sin said in his statement, quoting St. John Bosco.

Alive and well

Five years after Sin issued his controversial statement, the devil remains alive and well in the country.

A jueteng kingpin in Bicol, whose turf had been taken over by a Pampanga gambling lord, has confirmed an earlier statement by Lingayen-Dagupan Archbishop Oscar Cruz that the illegal numbers racket had become more rampant during the administration of Ms Arroyo than during the jueteng-tainted tenure of ousted President Joseph Estrada.

"During Erap's time, jueteng lords were told to stop operations whenever things got hot. Now, jueteng continues despite being in the news and despite the pending jueteng investigation in the Senate," said the disgruntled gambling lord code-named "O1."

"It's unabated," he told the Inquirer.

Donations to the Catholic Church

I'M quite irritated by some self-righteous radio announcers that the Catholic Church must not receive donations from gambling lords. It is morally wrong, they say.

I think the Church can receive the donations if it is given without any conditions. And besides they have no proof that the donors are gambling lords. If they are indeed gambling lords, then produce evidence and have them arrested.

These announcers are also asking, why receive money from PCSO and PAGCOR? If they think that it wrong, then should call for the closure of PCSO and PAGCOR.

Jueteng 'benefits' Church

Gambling lords among donors, says CBCP exec
(January 19, 2005)

The Catholic Bishops' Conference of the Philippines (CBCP) disclosed on Tuesday that the Church has been accepting "donations" from big-time gambling lords.

Jo Imbong, CBCP lawyer, admitted at the House inquiry that the Church accepts money from whatever source, "whether lawful or illicit."

The House Committee on Games and Amusement, chaired by Rep. Mayo Almario of Davao Oriental, on Tuesday resumed deliberations on proposed measures to legalize jueteng.

Imbong's disclosure came after the committee asked the CBCP for its position on the measures.

He said the influential group opposes moves to legalize jueteng and other forms of gambling, which the Church considers unconstitutional.

"The Constitution provides that Congress should look after the welfare of everyone not only of the minority," alluding to the bill's advocates. "The Robin Hood principle is not allowed in our society, because we [believe] jueteng is immoral."

Imbong challenged government officials to resign if they cannot stop illegal gambling. "Should Congress legislate this proposal and President Arroyo signs it into law, that is an impeachable offense, that is betrayal of public trust."

Neophyte administration Rep. Maria Milagros Magsaysay of Zambales recalled what the former archbishop of Manila, Jaime Cardinal Sin, had said in 2000 that "he's willing to accept money even from Satan as long as it could help his flock."

If that so, Magsaysay said, then the CBCP should study its position on the proposal to make jueteng legal.

Pressed by Magsaysay, Imbong said that from her personal knowledge, big-time gambling lords "help in civic projects" of the Catholic Church by giving donations.

"We acknowledge the source of a donation from whatever source, whether lawful or illicit. I think we should draw a distinction between the source and the motive of the donation. When the person gives a gift, we should respect his intention of sharing, whether he's a jueteng lord, a gambler or a Mafioso," Imbong told the committee. "If we say that accepting it is not good, because it came from a gambler, we are judging the donor. Any person is presumed innocent until proven otherwise."

Imbong's explanation annoyed Magsaysay and other members of the committee. "Isn't that pure hypocrisy on the part of the Church that you will accept something from an illegal or immoral source and then you just accept it, anyway they're doing civic work?"

Magsaysay asked. "You're supposed to be the bastion of morality and yet you accept something from a polluted source and say that's ok."

Rep. Bienvenido Abante of Manila, a pastor of the Metropolitan Bible Baptist Church, agreed with Magsaysay, stressing that the issue is a "vital concern."

"I would disagree with your statement. Because being a bishop of our denomination there are certain disciplines in our Church that the pastors should judge. If you are a gambler you will be expelled from membership. We will not accept any offerings of a gambler in our Church. Why? Because it is plain hypocrisy," Abante said. - Maricel V. Cruz, Reporter

MALAYA 01/20/2005

Is it morally acceptable to accept jueteng/gambling money disguise as donations? The Church should practice what they preach. Gambling is evil it may ruin a family. Family is the basic unit of our society. In Ilocos Sur province it's known that bishops and parish priests dined and danced with jueteng kingpin Chavit Singson for decades. Honeymoon is far from over.

Church finds no odor in gambling money
'All of us cannot claim to be pure and clean'

WHAT is the Church's stand on donations from gambling operations?

"The Church acknowledges the source of a donation, from whatever source, whether lawful or illicit. I think we should make a distinction as to the source and the motive for the donation. When a person gives a gift, we should respect his intentions of sharing whether he's a jueteng lord, a gambler or a mafioso."

This was the statement given by Ms. Jo Imbong, legal counsel of the Catholic Bishops Conference of the Philippines, during the hearing yesterday of the House committee on games and amusement.

Imbong was asked by Rep. Ma. Milagros Magsaysay (Ind., Zambales) why the Church is against jueteng when it is "well known" that the Church is accepting donations from illegal gamblers. Rep. Benny Abante (Lakas, Manila) threw a similar question.

Referring to Mary Magdalene, Imbong said even Jesus Christ "accepted the adulterous woman and nobody stoned him."

"The first head of the Church (St. Peter) denied his god and for that matter, all the other saints like Augustine had been sinners so all of us cannot claim to be pure and clean. That's pure hypocrisy," she said.

Imbong's explanation did not sit well with Magsaysay and Abante. Magsaysay said a sinner can be forgiven but if he commits the same mistakes over and over, "there's something wrong with it."

"Here comes, let say the jueteng lord and masiao king or casino operators who give to the Church. You know where the money comes from but if it continues to happen, don't you think you're condoning it? Just because you're giving it to the poor?" she asked.

Magsaysay also said that retired Manila Archbishop Cardinal Jaime Sin had even said once that he was willing to accept money "even from Satan as long as it could help my flock."

For Abante, who said he is a bishop of the Baptist Church, it is "hypocrisy."

"In our Church, if you're a gambler, you'll be expelled from the membership. We'll not accept any offerings of a gambler in our Church, it's plain hypocrisy."

Another CBCP member, Msgr. Jerry Bitoon of the Krusadang Bayan Laban sa Jueteng, explained that when Sin supposedly gave the statement, he was giving a personal point of view.

"I have attended a number of meetings with the Cardinal and you know he's a very jolly person and sometimes cracks jokes left and right and gets misquoted," he said.

Despite it, Msgr. Bitoon reiterated the Church's strong opposition to gambling, especially jueteng.

The committee was deliberating on consolidated bills seeking the legalization of jueteng.

Rep. Victor Dominguez (Lakas, Davao Oriental) has filed a bill legalizing not only jueteng but other forms of gambling such as "daily double," "masiao," "last two digits" and similar "numbers game of chance." Dominguez said legalization would provide government additional revenue.

He said all these forms of gambling should be categorized under "Filipino lottery" and run by the Philippine Amusement and Gaming Corporation.

Nothing wrong with gambling lords' donations--CBCP lawyer

THERE is nothing wrong if the Catholic Church accepts donations from gambling lords, a lawyer for the influential Catholic Bishops Conference of the Philippines said Tuesday, as she claimed to having "personal knowledge" of some who contributed to "civic projects."

"I think we should make a distinction as to the source and the motive for the donation," said CBCP legal counsel Jo Imbong at the House committee on games and amusement deliberations on a bill seeking to regulate the lottery.

"When a person gives a gift, we should respect his intention of sharing whether he's a jueteng lord, a gambler or a mafioso. If we say that accepting is not good because it came from a gambler, we are judging the donor," Imbong said.

Imbong admitted to having "personal knowledge of big gambling lords, who perhaps to assuage their conscience, help in civic projects."

Despite former Manila Archbishop Jaime Cardinal Sin's staunch position against any form of gambling, Imbong said he "acknowledged the source of a donation whether lawful or illicit."

"Every person has his own reason and the Cardinal respects that. He can't judge a person, he can only absolve a person. We don't presume to judge the intentions or the evil or the goodness of the heart of the donor," Imbong said.

Imbong did not say however whether Sin or the CBCP accepted donations from gambling lords.

But Imbong's statements did not sit well with Zambales Representative Ma. Milagrosa Magsaysay and Manila Representative Bienvenido Abante.

"Isn't that pure hypocrisy on the part of the church to accept something which came from an illegal or immoral source and then you're just going to accept it because anyway they're doing civic works?" Magsaysay asked.

"You're supposed to be the bastion of morality and yet you accept something from a polluted source and say that's okay," she said.

"In our church, if you are a gambler you will be expelled from the membership. We will not accept any offering from a gambler in our church. Why? Because it's plain hypocrisy," said Abante, a pastor in the Metropolitan Bible Baptist Church.

PUT ACTION WHERE YOUR MOUTH IS, CATHOLIC BISHOPS TELL GOVT ON ILLEGAL GAMBLING

MANNILA, October 21, 2002 (STAR) The Catholic Church wants the government to take immediate action to stop the proliferation of illegal gambling, particularly jueteng, in the country.

As part of the effort, the Catholic Bishops' Conference of the Philippines (CBCP) has forged an alliance with local government officials nationwide.

Archbishop of Dagupan Oscar Cruz said he will meet next week with governors and mayors from so-called "jueteng-free areas" to discuss concrete action against illegal gambling.

"It's about time for them to put action where their mouth is," he said.

The former CBCP president said the alliance between the Church and local government officials is aimed at stamping out jueteng and other forms of illegal gambling.

"We will be meeting with only a few mayors and governors from areas declared free of jueteng and we are going to exchange views on how they were able to get rid of illegal gambling and apply it to other areas in the country," he said.

Cruz said the Church is tired of listening to speeches of government officials on how to fight gambling but without any action being taken to stop the problem.

A two-day seminar will be held in collaboration with local government officials in line with the Catholic Church's anti-illegal gambling campaign, he added.

The CBCP announcement came amid reports that jueteng is back in Metro Manila and the neighboring provinces of Bulacan, Laguna, Cavite and Pampanga.

Catholic bishops will meet with other religious leaders so they could come out with a stronger and coordinated campaign against illegal gambling.

Interior and Local Government Secretary Jose Lina has given himself a year to eradicate jueteng but police have so far only netted Melchor Caluag, alias Ngongo, a suspected Pampanga gambling lord.

However, a police general said the 43 other gambling lords have not been named as Lina had promised.

"It's more than six months now since Secretary Lina launched his jueteng campaign, but of the 44 gambling lords operating all over the country, only Caluag was arrested and charged," he said.

The police general said policemen appear not to be heeding Lina's call for an all-out anti-illegal gambling campaign nationwide.

"Our officers and men are not afraid of the threats of Secretary Lina to relieve us from our posts anymore," he said.

Even the interior department's Task Force Jericho is no longer relentless in raiding jueteng operations, the police general added. —Mayen Jaymalin, Non Alquitran.

The beleaguered Catholic church

January 24th, 2005 8:10 PM

Now the Catholic Bishop's Conference of the Philippines (CBCP) says its spokesperson never said that the church accepts donations from jueteng lords. It was a case of misquotation, according to its latest statement. Imbong was asked by Zambales Rep. Ma. Milagros Magsaysay (Independent) why the Church is against jueteng when it is "well known" that it accepts donations from illegal gamblers.

Imbong replied: "The Church acknowledges the source of a donation, from whatever source, whether lawful or illicit. I think we should make a distinction as to the source and the motive for the donation. When a person gives a gift, we should respect his intentions of sharing whether he's a jueteng lord, a gambler or a mafioso." [Malaya Online]

The CBCP says there is no admission there. Gee, what will constitute an admission, a statement that goes "No, we do accept donations from jueteng lords"?

Let's put this in perspective. The CBCP spokesperson, Jo Imbong is a lawyer. She was under oath when she testified during the House committee hearing (yeah, in aid of legislation again). She was not going to commit perjury, not even to protect her client. At the same time, she was not supposed to make any statement that would damage her client. A classic case of neither confirming nor denying so there's no liability either way. Now, interpret her statement in that light.

Corollarily, why was a lawyer sent by the CBCP to the hearing? Why not one of its top officials? Is it because no one wanted to lie but, in the same breath, refused that the truth be told?

If the church really does not accept money from jueteng lords, why doesn't it say so categorically?

Here's the most ridiculous part.

He [Davao Archbishop Fernando Capalla] said it would be impossible for priests and bishops to know if the donations came from jueteng.

He said donors do not put their names in collection envelopes. He said recipients such as the poor do not ask if it came from illegal gambling.

Duh! Not all donations are made at "collection time" during mass. The big ones—the ones that get crumbling churches renovated and marble altars built—are received in offices. A donation amounting to thousands, or even tens or hundreds of thousands, of pesos is not placed in an envelope and dropped in a collection box. It is hand delivered to church officials authorized to accept the donation in the church's name. To say that it is impossible to identify the source, under the circumstances, is really several shades paler than ridiculous.

COMMENTARY

I disagree to what the late Jaime Cardinal Sin that jueteng money "Illegal Gambling" is needed by the Catholic Church to hepl the poor Filipino people.

1.0 The Catholic Church is the wealthiest religious institution on earth.

2.0 The Catholic Church is the biggest land owners in the Philippines.

3.0 The Catholic Church owns large hospitals and prestigious universities and colleges in the Philippines, where tuition fees alone ar thousands of pesos like the University Of Santo Thomas as "PAPAL UNIRVESITY" in the Philippines. This does not include yet universities and colleges owned by the JESUITS.

4.0 Jesuits-Catholic Church owned Bank Of America and Vatican Bank.

5.0 Catholic Church religious institutions received millions of dollars as donations by various country's governments in the world.

6.0 Millions of Catholic Filipinos gives voluntary donations every conducted masses inside the church called "Peter's Penny". Percent portions of these donations are being remitted to the Vatican in Rome.

7.0 The Vatican contols the United States Federal Reserve Bank and the 13-Illuminatis Bloodlines as International Bankers.

8.0 The Vatican controls the World Bank & International Moneytary Fund.

These are one of the reasons why the Philippines is impoverished nation. Peoples are gamblers and the Roman Catholic Church accommodates them, especially donations.

The late Jaime Cardinal Sin owned San Juan De Dios Hospital in Pasay City, Manila. Philippines.

Hence, the late Cardinal is lying. Allow me again to insert below an article how rich is the Roman Catholic Church is.

Think about this:

My husband was transferred to Louisiana where we lived for 6 years. We found out Louisiana is 90% Catholic. We had never seen such corruption in politics- absolutely crooked! And they admitted it! While we lived there we had the choice of two governors- an ex-con and the former Grand Dragon of the KKK. Choices, choices. Still under napoleonic law to this day, the state is divided into parrishes instead of counties. The whole state observes Catholic holidays with great relish such as the upcoming Mardi Gras, the farce called Lent, eating seafood on Fridays, going to mass at least once a week, saying the Rosary, allegiance to the Pope, I mean they do it all! Notice they postponed elections in NO but they sure are having Mardi Gras!

They are big into gambling of all kinds, and when folks like me managed to lobby against gambling, they passed the riverboat gambling law to solve that little problem! Not technically in the state if it's in the water, huh? And of course there's all the vice that goes along with gambling, but they don't care, gambling brings in tourists with money and that's how they pay for things in Cajun land.

They all vote pro-life. If you want to get elected in Louisiana you have to be pro-life. So that's how the Catholic Church got involved with the Christian Right. But heavens, you can be the nastiest crook of a politician on God's green earth, and be as corrupt as they come, and even admit it. Just vote pro-life and you're good to go.

Phelps: They're the ones in the government. They're the ones behind professional sports. The owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers is a Knight of Malta. The owner of the Detroit Lions is a Knight of Malta. All your top owners of these ball clubs, for the most part, are Knights of Malta, getting the people whooped up in this hoopla over games and sports, while they're busy creating a tyranny. So, that was one of the things in the Protocols-that they would create 'amusements'.

Another one they used was Walt Disney, 33rd-degree Freemason-Disneyworld, Disneyland. Another one was Milton Hersey, with Hersey Park. They create all of these amusements and games and pastimes to get the people drunk with pleasure, while they're busy overthrowing the Protestant form of government.

Martin: Where does Las Vegas factor into all of this?

Phelps: Las Vegas, well, for the most part, is controlled by the Mafia. But all the high Mafia families are Roman Catholic, and they are ALL subordinate to the Pope or to the Cardinal of New York, which is Cardinal O'Connor-because the Commission, the Mafia Commission resides in New York.

Frank Costello was a member of the Mob Commission, and he was intimate, personal friends with Knight of Malta, Hollywood mogul, Joe Kennedy. And that has not changed.

So, the High Knights are good, dear brothers with the High Mafia Dons-the Gambinos, the Lucchese, the Columbos, all of them. And they control Hollywood, not the Jews. It's only Jews who are front-men who are involved in Hollywood and working for the Mafia and for the Cardinal, just like in politics it would be Arlen Specter. Arlen Specter was Spelly's [Cardinal Spellman's] Jew in the assassination [of President Kennedy], and he would never say a word about it.

Martin: Now, as we go through here, if there's anything that you don't want me to print, please let me know because, literally, I'm going to print everything we say in this conversation.

Phelps: That's fine, that's fine with me because it needs to be said.

QUOTE

A majority of early NFL owners were known gamblers. Some were even tied to organized crime. One time Dallas Cowboy owner Clint Murchison Jr., Kansas City Chief owner Lamar Hunt (son of oilman H.L. Hunt Jr.), Cleveland Brown/Baltimore Raven owner Art Modell, New Orleans Saints owner John Mecom Jr. (who had very close ties to Mafia boss Carlos Marcello, a key player in bringing a team in New Orleans), Chicago/St. Louis/Arizona Cardinal owner Charles Bidwell (who was a bootlegger and an associate of Al Capone), and Philadelphia Eagle owner DeBennville "Bert" Bell (who had ties to the East Coast Mafia) all were known to have been gamblers and bet on football (some even their own teams). Carroll Rosenbloom, one time owner of the Baltimore Colts, not only bet on his team, but also altered the outcome of a game because of it.

Chapter 14

False Credentials

Catholic apologists portray Protestant churches as being unstable, constantly splitting into new denominations, and full of wide-spread disagreement. They contrast this with the Roman Catholic Church, which they portray as being solid and unified. They say that when people interpret the Bible for themselves, it results in chaos and division, as shown by the many Protestant denominations. They conclude that, therefore, Protestantism doesn't work, and interpreting the Bible should only be done by the Catholic hierarchy.¹ In other words, Protestants should become Catholics.

However, the picture of Protestant division, and the picture of Catholic unity, are both greatly exaggerated. The "chaos" is an illusion. And the resulting conclusion is therefore not valid.

Basic Unity Among Protestants

There are some beliefs that define Christianity. These include things such as the Incarnation (Jesus Christ is truly God and truly man), the Atonement (Jesus Christ died for our salvation), the Resurrection of Jesus, the Second Coming of Jesus, and the authority of Scripture. These are not negotiable. Any person who does not believe them is not a Christian.

(There have always been people who claimed to be Christian, but who weren't. The Apostle Paul called them "false brethren" in 2 Corinthians 11:26 and Galatians 2:4.)

Some things are negotiable. These include things such as the form of baptism, the kind of worship music, the form of church structure and organization, defining the relationship between free will and predestination, and beliefs about what will happen during the End Times. These are important issues. They can affect the quality of a person's Christian life, but they do not determine whether or not a person is a Christian. These are areas in which Christians can agree to disagree.

Differences among genuine Protestants (as opposed to "false brethren") occur in the second area, the negotiable things. These differences could be compared to flavors of ice cream. There are many kinds of ice cream, but they are all ice cream. They aren't pie, or cake, or salad. In real life, people know the difference between eating ice cream and eating something else.

Some Catholic apologists say that there are 25,000 different Protestant denominations. This is not true. Dr. Eric Svendsen has made an in-depth study of this claim. There is no valid foundation for it. His book, On This Slippery Rock, has a chapter about it, which you can read online. Dr. Svendsen also has an online article about diversity in Catholic beliefs.²

I looked up "churches" in the Yellow Pages of my local telephone directory. There were listings for Catholic churches, Orthodox churches, a few cults, and 73 varieties of Protestant churches. Some Protestant listings seemed to be variations of the same thing. For example, there were nine different listings for Baptist churches.

Let's compare this to something in everyday life. There is a huge difference between cats and dogs and horses. Now, if you narrow it down to dogs, there are many different varieties. Within each variety, there are subgroups. For example, there are different kinds of collies and different kinds of poodles.

Catholic apologists act as if differences in Protestant churches are like the major differences between cats and dogs and horses. In reality, they are like the differences between different kinds of dogs (variations in the same kind of thing.) Often, they are like the differences between different kinds of poodles, or different kinds of collies (small variations in things that are essentially the same).

Diversity Among Catholics

The appearance of unity among Catholics is misleading. There are actually major differences in theology and practice. However, no matter how much they disagree, they call themselves by the same name (Roman Catholic) and they say that the Pope is their leader. This gives a false impression of unity.

In spite of verbally saying that the Pope is their leader, there are Catholic priests and theologians who openly defy the Pope's authority. Malachi Martin wrote about some of them in his book, The Jesuits: The Society of Jesus and the Betrayal of the Roman Catholic Church.³ There are also some feminist nuns who openly defy the Pope. (They are discussed in the chapter, "New Age Catholicism.")

There are conservative Catholics who want to go back to the way that things were done before the Second Vatican Council. This includes having Mass said in Latin.

One conservative Catholic group believes that Pope John Paul II is not a valid pope, because he has promoted heresy (things that are contrary to Catholic doctrine that was "infallibly" declared by previous popes). (You can read about this online.)⁴

There are Catholic theologians who teach liberation theology, which equates "salvation" with armed revolution. There are gun-toting Catholic priests who fight alongside communist guerillas, working for communist revolution.⁵ I first heard about them from a Latin American friend who personally witnessed the destruction and confusion that they have caused.

As we will see, some Catholic priests and nuns teach things that are clearly contrary to basic Christian doctrine. Yet they are still allowed to teach in the name of the Catholic Church, and to hold positions of influence and authority.

Bioethics

The Catholic Church has traditionally been a champion of the sanctity of life. However, some Catholic priests at a prestigious Catholic university are actively working to undermine the sanctity of human life, both theoretically and in practical ways.

Georgetown University is run by Jesuit priests. It is the home of the Kennedy Institute of Ethics, which is headed by a Jesuit priest. Some of its faculty members are also Jesuit priests.

The Kennedy Institute of Ethics actively promotes abortion and euthanasia. It is also working to have "death" be redefined to include people in "irreversible" comas, so that doctors can get better quality organs for transplants. This is documented in the book, Culture of Death, by Wesley J. Smith (Encounter Books, 2000). The Introduction to the book is online.⁶

The Kennedy Institute of Ethics trains doctors, nurses, lawyers, legislators, teachers, and hospital administrators. Every summer, it gives an Intensive Bioethics Course, which is attended by people from around the world. It has branches in Asia and Europe. According to the woman I spoke with, it has the most comprehensive library of bioethics literature in the world.

New Age Teachings and Practices

The "New Age" is actually a resurgence of old paganism that has been "westernized" and dressed up in modern vocabulary. It denies foundational Christian doctrines and basic Christian morality. It is contrary to the official teaching of the Catholic Church. However, in spite of this, there are Catholic priests and nuns who openly promote New Age beliefs and practices. This is an area in which there is a wide diversity of beliefs among Catholics.

The chapter, "New Age Catholicism," has detailed, carefully documented information about this. Most of it comes from Catholic books and Catholic websites.⁷

There are some feminist nuns who participate in pagan rituals, worship "the goddess," and promote lesbianism.⁸ I realize that this seems incredible, but unfortunately, it really is happening. (Please read the chapter, "New Age Catholicism.")

Fire Insurance

Another area of diversity is beliefs about some old-fashioned, Catholic devotional practices. I will illustrate this with one example.

Can Catholics be sure of getting into Heaven if they wear a specific religious item, which shows devotion to Mary? Modern theologians and apologists will probably tell you: "Of course not!" However, as we will see, there are Catholics who believe that Mary will protect them from Hell if they follow her directions. There is an old saying that, if Jesus won't let you into Heaven by the front door, then Mary can get you in through the back door.

According to tradition, on July 16, 1251, the Virgin Mary appeared to Saint Simon Stock, holding a Brown Scapular (two pieces of brown cloth attached by strings). She promised him that any person who dies wearing the scapular will not go to Hell. This promise is for people who belong to the religious order of the Carmelites, or who are associated with them. Catholics can be enrolled into the Carmelites by any Carmelite or authorized Catholic priest. In 1965, Pope Paul VI encouraged all Catholics to wear the Brown Scapular and pray the Rosary. (You can read about this online.⁹

Catholics who wear the Brown Scapular can also qualify for the "Sabbatine Privilege," if they fulfill certain religious requirements. The "Sabbatine Privilege" is a promise that if they go to Purgatory, Mary will get their Purgatory time shortened. (This is online.)¹⁰

There are other Catholic devotional practices that have promises attached to them. They often involve the use of medals, rosaries, pictures, different kinds of scapulars, chaplets, and specific prayers. There is a "five-way medal" that consists of a cross, with medals at the end of each of the four arms. This enables people to wear a cross, and four different medals, at the same time, in a neat and orderly way. (Five items on five separate chains could become quite tangled.) There are also "four-way medals" that have four medals, in the general shape of a cross. Sometimes, the medal is enclosed in a circle. Some of these medals are solid gold and quite expensive. (You can see them online.)¹¹

I have known Catholics with a wide range of approaches to these devotional practices. Some considered them to be old-fashioned, or even superstitious. Others took them quite seriously. I knew one woman who was so devoted to praying the rosary that, even when she was carrying on a conversation, her rosary beads were going through her fingers.

You can go to online Catholic stores to see pictures of medals, chaplets, scapulars, statues, holy cards, prayer rings, and other religious objects. (The Notes give some website addresses.)¹² If you have never seen such things before, you may be surprised at what you will find.

Catholic Seminaries

Roman Catholic seminaries have a wide diversity of teaching and practice. Some of them teach traditional Catholic doctrines, morality, and piety. However, many do not.

Michael S. Rose is a devout Catholic and a professional investigative reporter. He wrote the book, Goodbye, Good Men: How Liberals Brought Corruption into the Catholic Church. It is a plea for reform in Catholic seminaries.¹³

You can read the book's Introduction online. You can also read book reviews, and feedback from seminarians and priests who read the book.¹⁴ I encourage you to check this out for yourself.

Rose interviewed over 150 people. His book only shows the tip of the iceberg, because many people were afraid to let him write about their experiences. Others allowed him to write about them, but insisted that he change their name to protect them.

Chapter 5 ("The Heterodoxy Downer") tells of seminary faculty members who deny doctrines that are absolutely foundational to Christianity, or teach things that are contrary to basic Christian doctrine and morals. Following are some things that were taught by faculty members:

The death of Jesus was not a sacrifice for our sins.

The Atonement never happened.

The Bible should not be taken seriously.

God is a woman. (A nun taught this.)

It is OK for celibate priests to have sex with other men.

It is normal for men to have sex with animals.

One seminary taught Matthew Fox's "creation-centered spirituality," which denies the existence of sin, the Atonement, and other foundational Christian doctrines. It teaches many New Age beliefs. It says that Christianity needs to get rid of any beliefs that hinder it from being united with pagan religions. It promotes a one-world religion. Fox is a priest who works in close association with a witch, a Voodoo priestess, and a shaman.²⁰

Some seminarians were required to engage in occult, New Age practices, including using Ouija boards, tarot cards, and crystals.

This kind of doctrine and behavior is contrary to what is taught in the Catechism of the Catholic Church. It demonstrates the wide diversity of belief and practice among modern Catholics.

The Problem of Mistakes

Should men and women interpret the Bible for themselves? They might make mistakes. This is a problem, because nobody is immune from making mistakes. But mistakes can be corrected. We serve a living God, who loves us. He is able to correct us if we get off track. Look at these prayers from the Bible:

"Who can understand his errors? cleanse thou me from secret faults." (Psalm 19:12)

"Order my steps in thy word: and let not any iniquity have dominion over me." (Psalm 119:133)

"Search me, O God, and know my heart: try me, and know my thoughts: And see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting." (Psalm 139:23-24)

Men and women who study the Bible and interpret it for themselves may sometimes make mistakes. But if people do not know the Bible well, and they are not used to understanding Scripture for themselves, then they will be easily persuaded by authority figures who teach unbiblical things. In order to test a teaching, people need something solid to compare it to.

Catholics are used to trusting priests and nuns, and accepting whatever they teach them. Catholics have not been taught how to compare teachings with what the Bible says, in order to test whether or not the teachings are Scriptural.

The possibility of making mistakes is something that we have to deal with all the time. For example, there are no perfect parents. Fathers and mothers make mistakes. But that doesn't mean that children should be raised by "experts," in institutions, instead of being raised by their parents. "Experts" make mistakes, too.

The learning process always involves the risk of making mistakes. Hebrews 5:14 says that it is "by reason of use" that people "have their senses exercised to discern both good and evil." In other words, it takes time and practice to learn to discern things for ourselves. But God expects us to do it. 1 Thessalonians 5:21 says: "Prove [test] all things; hold fast that which is good." In other words, test everything, and only keep what is good.

Romans 8:28 says that "all things work together for good to them that love God." That includes our mistakes. God is big enough, and powerful enough, and loving enough to make even our mistakes work out for our good. He is able to keep us from falling. (Jude 1:24)

The Catholic approach says: "You might make a mistake. I'll do your thinking for you." This puts people at the mercy of priests and bishops, who make mistakes (as we all do). It becomes especially serious if a Pope makes a mistake and imposes his mistake on the entire Catholic Church.

The Protestant approach says: "Even if you do make a mistake, our God is able to turn it around and use it for good. Do your best, and with the guidance of the Bible and the Holy Spirit, you will be able to grow into a mature Christian." This approach has a self-correcting procedure. Even if a spiritual leader makes a doctrinal mistake, there are others who will check it against Scripture and point out its error. Therefore, people are not at the mercy of mistakes made by others.

Conclusion

Although Catholics have a common name, and acknowledge a common leader, there is actually a wide variety of beliefs and practices within Roman Catholicism. For a concrete example of this, compare Mother Teresa of Calcutta with feminist nuns who practice witchcraft and lesbianism.

Although there are variations in Protestant churches, genuine Protestants (as opposed to "false brethren") are in agreement about the foundational doctrines of Christianity. Their differences concern the negotiable areas that are mentioned at the beginning of this chapter, and the practical application of how to nurture, develop, and express our Christian life.

Eric,

William Cooper in an interview with Nardaur from Canada back in 1993 stated that he was shown hard documentation from a file named operation majority along with others, that said that Greer shot the president with a gas powered electronically operated assassination pistol that contained shellfish toxin. Cooper said that it was CIA developed and used to ensure a fatal shot no matter where he was hit.

Have you heard this from Cooper or do you think it was .45 cal?

Have you heard of shellfish toxin?

JFK was assassinated in Dealey Plaza, which is the shape of truncated triangle, a well-known occult symbol of the illuminati.

When my brother and I visited Dealey Plaza we saw the 4 quarters of the druid temple of the sun, which is the outer courtyard of the Vatican.

There was also an obelisk in Dealey Plaza cut into 14 sections which is the symbol of the phalanx of Osiris, the lost of word freemasonry, the light Lucifer.

Cooper said that JFK was killed by the Secret societies specifically the Scottish rite of freemasonry

Kennedy was assassinated on the 33rd parallel, the highest degree of the secret societies, November 22, 1963. Add November the 11 month with 22 you get 33. It also happens to be the anniversary date of the Popes papal bull condemning the Knights Templar to torture by the Dominican monks under the Inquisition. You subtract the year 1307 when that papal bull was issued from 1963 and you get 666. Kennedy was shot in the head, the throat and the back, which were the exact same wounds suffered by Hiram Abiff in the Masonic initiation, which they have sworn to revenge.

Do these points make sense to you?

Take care,

Justin from Michigan

'Catholic Church behind move to overthrow Arroyo'

Published: 06/12/2005 12:00 AM (UAE)

The influential Catholic Church is the invisible hand behind ongoing moves to oust President Gloria Arroyo, a source said.

This was due to her earlier decision to tax its real estate holdings and revenues,

"Last year, the World Bank suggested to Arroyo that the government can increase its revenues by imposing taxes on the Catholic Church," said the source who belongs to a major Catholic university.

When asked if Arroyo can change her economic policy for her political survival, the source told Gulf News, "She must state it categorically and clearly to the leaders of the Catholic Church."

Sources said the Catholic Church was also against Arroyo's decision to push Congress for the passage of a controversial bill that allows family planning with the use of artificial contraceptives.

The influential institution has given pro and anti- Arroyo statements since witnesses have testified in the senate, alleging that her husband, son, and brother-in-law have been receiving protection money from gambling lords. Catholic Bishop Oscar Cruz has been responsible for sending witnesses to the senate, who have exposed the relatives of Arroyo for the alleged protection they have been giving to illegal numbers (jueteng) gambling lords.

No witness has directly linked Arroyo to the illegal numbers game, but the credibility and morality of her family has been tainted by the testimonies of four witnesses in the senate.

At the same time, the Catholic Church is affording protection to Sam Ong, a former deputy at the National Bureau of Investigation (NBI) who said on Friday he received four compact discs that contained the alleged wire-tapped conversation of President Arroyo with an elections official last year.

Subject: Re: Loyola - Times of the Gentiles

Dear Eric,

I hope you are well, in good spirit and will have a good and fruitful day.

My Father/God awakened me in the middle of the night to tell me to write and explain some critically important things to you, that you need to know and understand, BEFORE you finish writing your book.

First of all, as fully explained in my previous email to you, Ignatius Loyola was a baptised Jewish Roman Catholic and it was he who formed the Jesuits (to prove his loyalty to the Vatican). Do not be deceived by Catholic propaganda about him.

I do not believe that the House of Loyola was Jewish; if so it was a great secret to Ferdinand and Isabella at the time of the their Jewish expulsion in 1492. The very policy of the Popes at that time in 1534 was anti-Jewish throughout Roman Catholic Europe. The great financial gifts of the Catholic Nobles to Loyola would never have transpired if they knew, and could have known via the Holy Office of the Inquisition, Loyola was a "perfidious Jew." Indeed, Laynez was a Jew and Loyola knew it; Loyola took a gamble at that time during the Council of Trent, and won though Laynez's Jewishness surfaced in 1593. Restated, if Loyola had been a Jew, then his name would have been brought into the fray of 1593. If Loyola would have been a Jew, the Order would have been disbanded; the Pope would have retracted the bull creating the Order in 1540. Further, in Rome Stoops to Conquer, (1935), ex-Jesuit E. Boyd Barrett, on pages 180-181, writes:

"Owing to an early experience of a painful kind, which was all but disastrous to the Order, and which was due to a group of Spanish Jesuits of Jewish descent, who threatened to dismember the Order, the Jesuits as a body have conceived and fostered an intense animosity against the Jews. Never since the days of 'the great storm,' as the Cardinal Toletus revolt was called, has anyone of the Jewish blood or descent been admitted into the Order. Never since that day has the Order ceased to pursue vindictively the Jews. The spirit of the Order can be gleaned from the extraordinary prayer of the greatest of Jesuit sayings, Francis Xavier:

'Put me some place where there are no Jews or Moslems,' cried Francis.

The present writer, who spent twenty years in the Jesuit Order, can recall no single occasion on which a word of praise for Jewish achievement or a word of sympathy for Jewish suffering was uttered by a Jesuit. . . . The Jesuits, in the days when they controlled every Catholic court in Europe, and when as an Order they were swollen with pride, were challenged by a like pride and a like intellectual intolerance by the Jew. They could not break or bend the Jew, They could convert, or seemingly convert, every type of human from Japanese to profligate Parisian, but they could make no headway in leading Israel into the fold of Mother Church. They ceased to look upon the Jew as 'a lost sheep,' and identified him with an incarnate devil, the sworn enemy of the Catholic. They hated the Jews because the Jews did not bow in homage before them.

This tradition of hate and ill-will has lasted through three centuries. In great part the Catholic ill-will against the Jew in Catholic European countries is due to Jesuit education."

Again, in ex-Jesuit E. Boyd Barrett's The Jesuit Enigma (1927), we read on page 43:

"In the Order, hatred of the Jews is traditional. It has never been forgotten that many of the Jesuit leaders in the Great Spanish Rebellion, described above, were of Jewish origin, and it is forbidden to admit nay one of Jewish descent into the Order. Japanese, Chinese, Indians and Negroes may be admitted into the Society of Jesus, but never, under any circumstances, a Jew!"

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 21, 2006 01:55 AM (GMT)

Dear JAH,

I will be away until mid March, so this will be the last of my comments. I will only address the Jewish issue, i.e. that the Jews founded and thus rule the Jesuit Order. This is a current Jesuit ruse of war as it has become irrefutable that the Order rules the world. Thus the Order is circulating the lie that certain Jews began and continue to rule the Society of Jesus. If believed, then the crimes of the Order, as in Soviet Russia, will then be avenged by the world's nations upon the Jews.

Subject: [ghosttroop] IMPORTANT: Catholicism & CPTMAY & Ghost Troop

All, be advised that I am by no means ready to declare myself in opposition to the Vatican, unless I personally become convinced that there is a problem with it. I know many of you have views, but none of you commands Ghost Troop. That's my job.

If anyone is rabid on the Catholic thing, get out of Ghost Troop. I've already got Jewish and Illuminist enemies, and I don't need folks who want to fight the Reformation all over again. I'll keep an open mind on the Catholic Church, but in three years of infowar, I've never been hindered by it.

Some of you are aware that I was baptized by a Jesuit priest, Fr. James Marshall, on July 11, 2005. The reasons for this should be noted:

1: I was returning to the infowar because I thought the nuclear 911 would soon occur, and was already being sought out by the FBI's Agent Skip Midcap, after being threatened by the FBI's Agent Robert Stult as a result of our Ghost Troop intervention in the 3/30/2004 BP explosion. Candidly, I didn't expect to be left alive until the end of that mission -- which was on 7/28/2005, when the BP refinery blew up again -- so I wanted to be baptized, and my wife (Catholic) and I were in El Paso on vacation, where Fr. Marshall was a priest.

2: An important point: As I tried to rationalize departing the infowar back in December, 2004, Fr. Marshall, then in Houston, met with me at my wife's request. He listened with interest and surprise to the tale of the infowar, then agreed that it was deadly serious business, but urged me to remain active in the infowar to save lives. I didn't take his advice, and left Ghost Troop for around half a year -- until the July, 2005 pending nuke attack in Houston Metro brought me back, as explained above.

3: Fr. Marshall and his superior, Fr. Raphael Garcia, agreed to baptize me under special provision of pending death -- a combat baptism -- on July 11, 2005. It was done under these terms, and that is a documented fact. The Lord moves in mysterious ways, since the kind of baptism I received makes anything that may happen to me seem like the kind of death in light of which I was baptized -- ergo, I'm harder to kill in political terms.

These are my reasons for having been baptized Catholic. I don't go to mass, and don't have a lot of respect for the Catholic Church, but I have a hell of a lot of respect for Fr. James Marshall, and for his standing up for principle when I was too tired and frightened for it. One day I'll tell of my conflicts with the Catholic Church in other contexts, such as when I was a non-Catholic teaching in a Catholic high school, and was politically targetted for it, or when I was teaching a Catholic middle school back at the end of the summer, then got fired for being a Bush enemy. Now, though, is not the time to be bashing any Christian denomination, Catholics included.

I don't have time for those who think they understand the infowar -- or how to fight it -- better than I do. If any such exist here, he or she is wasting his valuable gifts under my command, and should start his or her own version of Ghost Troop and wage the infowar with that command. Here, I'm the CO (commanding officer), I run the unit as I have learned to run it for three years, during which time this unit, under my command, has put off a nuking of Texas City three times. If Fr. Marshall wants to give a sermon someday, saying I did it once for the Father, once for the Son and once for the Holy Ghost, fine and good. If your preacher or priest wants to help out, do invite them to do so on my behalf -- as anyone who has been Ghost Troop for a while can attest, I don't turn away good help if I can help it!

Yours, CPTMAY

PS: If you just gotta write something about this, and you just gotta tell me how you think I should do my job, don't do it in my forum here. Write me in private. Some of you have already taken that liberty, and I don't need to hear from you again.

This shows perfectly what Eric "TEMPORAL" May is all about quite clearly I believe. Also IF someone has been attacked by so called Zionists and Illuminatists then they have in effect been attacked by the Church of Rome as we all know the Church of Rome rules over these groups of people.

Anyhow regardless of the above, you will only notice attacks from the Catholic Church if you directly attack this harlot. Notice folks how people fear attacks from the Catholic Church more so than any other group? They stay we'll clear of this area for obviously reasons other than what they claim. See how religion really shields the real controllers and crooks of this world like Peter Hans Kolvenbach, Ratzinger and Andrew Bertie? Now a good example is how Greg Szymanski is now taking a lot of hassles over all his Vatican exposing especially since interviewing ERIC JON PHELPS recently. You see the Jesuits and company know that Eric Jon Phelps is getting very popular of late and people are taking seriously his work. Eric Phelps to the Jesuits is a possible uprising and recreation of The Reformation which could take place once again. I hope this day comes and we give the western world back the Reformation of old.

Phantom is right on. Central banking is the root of the matter for the reasons he touches upon, and then some. Most all else is striking at the branches. To tackle this problem we must strike at the root and disconnect from the matrix. But how? There are ways, many of them.

Central bankers and thus, the Power Elite, Illuminati what ever label you like, have plenty of money, they can create it when they want to, and they do whenever they want to. This is not about money. It is about power and control. They want more and more control and power. They only have power, however, as long as we play by their rules, that is, we remain plugged into the matrix. Each of us has to decide on an individual level whether we have what it takes to disconnect. I for one, want to both disconnect and expose them for what they are.

There are many great books, videos and other works on the subject of central banking. I will certainly lay my hands on The Money Masters and watch it.

Eric May is fascinating to me. I listened to his interviews on Greg's radio program. May gives good interview and he may be the real deal. I believe he is. I grew up in the military as an Air Force brat, so called, and spent two years in the Army from 1970-72 (MOS-11 Bravo. 82nd Arbn Fort Bragg, NC) and May's tone and can-do, will do, follow my orders style does not offend me. Many people I know who have listened to him or visited his website have been put off by his manner, however, and thus miss his message and some important information he has to share. That is regrettable. This is not a criticism from me. It is merely an observation.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 15, 2006 02:35 PM (GMT)

Dear Stevan,

When Eric May, the learned and brilliant former intelligence op, says "the Vatican doesn't qualify as a candidate" as the backer of 911, to me he has shown his hand. I can prove that 911 was an inside job carried out by the unified American Intelligence Community. I can prove that the public figure leading that Intelligence Community during 911 was DCI George J. Tenet. I can prove that Tenet was a Roman Catholic, trained by Jesuits at Georgetown's School of Foreign Service founded by Jesuit of the Fourth Vow and Knight of Malta

Edmund A. Walsh. I can prove that George J. Tenet is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations in New York City, without such membership he would never have been the Director of Central Intelligence. I can prove that Tenet is a member of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta as was DCI John McCone at the time of the JFK Assassination. I can prove that Archbishop Edward Cardinal Egan is the leader of the American Branch of the SMOM headquartered out of St. Patrick's Cathedral in NYC. I can also prove that Fordham University's Avery Cardinal Dulles is both a Jesuit and SMOM also openly subject to Archbishop Egan as a Cardinal and a SMOM, though in reality Dulles is truly subject to his Provincial.

With these undeniable connections, I can prove that Edward Cardinal Egan was Pope John Paul II's American "Prince of the Church" who was the secret power behind 911. And knowing that the Jesuit Order is the Nazi SS of the Papacy, I can prove that Jesuits of both Georgetown and Fordham aided in the successful accomplishment of 911 thereby creating a war with the Islamic world surnamed "the War on Terror." The war is not FIRST about power and money; it is FIRST a religious Crusade as was the Black Pope's Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945). The power and money follows, as the Vatican controls all banking and politics here in North America via the CFR.

True history of the last five hundred years is a continuum of events providing a chain of evidence leading to the true power base of the world. That base is Rome according to the Word of God, Revelation 17:18. When Eric May denies out of hand Vatican involvement in 911 he has laid bare his secret loyalties before all to see, which loyalties do not include the God of the Bible. May is a Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor and will continue to be such until he repents and believes the true gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ as found in the Reformation Bible, the AV1611 for English-speaking peoples.

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric

Dear Mr. Phelps,

I believe we had an email exchange previously in which I demonstrated to you that the modus operandi of Tim White was to infiltrate and disrupt effective infowar groups. He had been, at the time, trying to bring you and me into conflict with allegations that I was somehow working against the interests of the USA. You were kind enough to read and reflect on my email, and you dismissed White's attempt to cause trouble then.

Have you changed your mind? I think a search of "Ghost Troop Captain May" will yield a hundred or so articles and interviews on infowar topics, all of them motivated by pure desire to ascertain truth. In light of that fact, and the prior dealings we have had regarding White, I'm more than a bit surprised to find that you are generating material aiming at undermining me. Am I mistake as to what the purpose of what's below is?

Perhaps you would do better to discuss matters with me, or such folks who trust me as Lenny Bloom, whom you know well, I believe, before helping out folks who are disinformation/disruption operatives, like Tim White. I would greatly appreciate your direct reply to this email, as reading your opinion of me through third parties, without having had the opportunity to contribute its formation, appears most unfair to me.
CPTMAY

PS: Did you really write this???

Eric May is a Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor and will continue to be such until he repents and believes the true gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ as found in the Reformation Bible, the AV1611 for English-speaking peoples.

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 17, 2006 12:02 AM (GMT)

Dear Mr. May,

(I have deleted some of the attached message below because my computer would not send this message. this includes your IP and cc to Lenny Bloom. I do not know what the problem is.)

First, I apologize for not including you in the email I sent out concluding that your are a Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor, as I always CC those whom I attack. My fault. Again, I apologize. And yes, I did write what you quoted in italics below.

Regarding our previous exchanges, you are correct; I did not believe Tim White at that moment, truly hoping that he was wrong and that time would vindicate my conclusion. I was impressed with your style of communication, which includes a vast knowledge of history, language and a self control which attributes are always admirable in any context imparting an implied credibility. First impressions are lasting.

But unfortunately for both of us I have been compelled to change my mind. When Tim White forwarded to me your previous communication with Mr. Untermeyer regarding your use of the phrase "my Jesuit" as you surnamed one of your associates, I then realized that you indeed had a past and present knowledge of the Order. Reflecting back on our previous exchanges, you gave me the impression that you were unaware of the past power of the Society of Jesus, which political and financial power forced Pope Clement XIV to suppress and extinguish the Company with a papal bull, Dominic ac Redemptor Noster in 1773, for which brave suppression the Pope was brutally poisoned fourteen months later.

Then you stated in a more recent email copied below that "the Vatican does not qualify as a candidate" as being behind 911 and the present "war on terror." This admission and confession was indeed marvelous to me. How could a man of your stature, knowledge, Army Intelligence background, political ties to men of power and possessing admirable powers of sound reasoning, completely dismiss out of hand the evidence of a Vatican plot behind the 911 events "despite its power and influence?" How can you not see that CFR-member and Knight of Malta George J. Tenet, educated by the Jesuit Edmund A. Walsh's School of Foreign Service at Jesuit Georgetown University, was the DCI at the time of our nation's greatest intelligence "black op?" Why the refusal to openly consider, via your Ghost Troop, the political power of the Jesuit Order ruling the American Hierarchy, including New York Archbishop Edward Cardinal Egan---the master of the American "Tongue" of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta, which includes CFR-members Tenet and ex-Marine Corps General Anthony Zinni, not to mention Fordham's top Jesuit, Avery Cardinal Dulles, the nephew of the late DCI Allen Dulles? Then there is William F. Buckley, Jr., and his brother James (an intimate friend of notorious Jesuit Dan Lyons), both of whom are CIA operatives, Knights of Malta and thus also subject to "the Archbishop of the Capital of the World" (in the words of JP II), Edward Cardinal Egan. Was not Buckley a co-conspirator in the JFK assassination, employing his National Review to promulgate the deception of Oswald (whose cousin, Eugene Murret, was a Jesuit Novice at the time) being a "lone nut?" Must we also mention that CFR-member Alexander Haig, Jr. is also a Knight of Malta along with his brother Francis Haig, he too being a powerful Jesuit and present at his brother's confirmation hearings for the office of Secretary of State in 1981?

Eric, these men are men of power---awesome power. These are "the great men of the earth" who can, under the command of their master in New York City, carry out any crime with impunity via a host of networks, legal and illegal, the CFR-controlled Press covering their tracks and thereby escape the light of day---if they remain blindly obedient and observe the code of silence incurred by their various and sundry secret oaths. JFK co-conspirator and former priest David Ferrie was right, humanly speaking, when he said in Oliver Stone's JFK, Director's Cut, "they are untouchable."

And yes, what of the Kennedy Assassination? Do you not know the very apparatus having murdered our first and only openly Roman Catholic president, who was also one of Cardinal Spellman's Knights of Columbus, is the exact same network that brought down President Nixon via Knight of Malta Alexander Haig and Jesuit Congressman Robert Drinan; that caused the Iran-Contra Scandal via Knights of Malta J. Peter Grace and William J. Casey, the DCI under Knight Reagan---Reagan acting the traitor who, with the consent of the Archbishop's controlled Senate including Masonic Jewish Zionist Arlen Specter, recognized the Sovereign State of Vatican City in 1984, thereby preparing the nation for a Concordat with the Vatican as was negotiated between Pius XI and Roman Catholic occult Freemasons Hitler, Mussolini and Franco via Cardinal Secretary of State Pacelli who then became Pope in 1939 for a job well done?

As a Roman Catholic, did not the gruesome murder of Kennedy impel you to find those spiritual bastards who dared to murder your Roman Catholic president shortly after high noon in Dallas? Every Roman Catholic in this country should still be up in arms as to who was the real impetus behind this "executive action."

Further, why would you waste your time entreating CFR-member and apostate Protestant Senator John McCain to play the part of a patriot in opposing the Empire's notorious Jesuit Corporate fascism now in effect under another prostitute Protestant, George W. Bush? Do you not know that McCain has the complete approval and blessing of the Pope evidenced by his key-note address at the 2005 Knight of Columbus Al Smith dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City---hosted by that vocally Darth Vader, Cardinal Egan?

In conclusion Eric, I have discovered only three kinds of people involved in this attempt to set at naught the Order's horrendous scenario now unfolding before our very eyes. They are the Uninformed, the Cowards and the Coadjutors. You sir, are anything but uninformed. I believe you are kept very apprised from a host of sources. You are also not a Coward in that you have a fighting spirit, evidenced by your acceptance among the Blacks, most of whom love a good fight apart from which no White man can have their respect. Therefore I must conclude, by the evidence you have provided, written and unwritten via implication, that you are indeed one of the Jesuit Order's most effective Coadjutors, distracting true patriots away from the real power behind 911. For it was you who said that "the Vatican doesn't qualify as a candidate, despite its power and influence."

Therefore, until you retract such statements and begin to address the power of the Jesuit Order via the forum of your Ghost Troop, I am compelled to refer to you as a "Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor." I mean you no harm and have shown no disrespect. You will hear from me no longer, as I will not harass your group; rather I will be praying for you that God may grant you a change of mind, true faith in the true Christ of the Reformation Bible receiving Him as your Savior, and that you may contribute with the few of us who are compelled to cross swords with the Company of which the French Andre' Dupin once wrote in 1848:

"The Jesuits are a naked sword whose hilt is at Rome but its blade is everywhere; invisible until its stroke is felt."

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric Jon Phelps

Subject: Re: CPTMAY 2 Eric Phelps (w/ Lenny Bloom as reference) Response of EJP

Many thanks for your view of the matter, Lenny. Mr. Phelps, the reference to the email to Ambassador Untermeyer refers to "my Jesuit" in the person of my wife's priest, Fr. James Marshall, who has been in the Jesuit order for a year now, and is not to my mind predisposed on the great issues that form your focus. Briefly put, he appears non-political, and has learned most of what he learned about infowar from me.

To the contrary, your wife's priest, Jesuit James Marshall has a superior; and that superior has a Provincial; and that Provincial has an Assistant; and that Assistant serves in the presence of Jesuit Superior General, Peter-Hans Kolvenbach. The foregoing is a military chain of command.

Fr. Marshall has immediate access to sources that can apprise him of the past dealings of the Order, remembering that the Society of Jesus is a Military Order, so affirmed by Loyola himself. Further, Jesuit Marshall has a complete and blind obedience to his superior as well as a complete spiritual and temporal allegiance to the Company, which allegiance and loyalty is in direct opposition to those of us with an absolute political allegiance to the United States Constitution of which the architect was Presbyterian Calvinist Peletiah Webster and its writer having been Baptist-Calvinist James Madison. Therefore, if you are truly an American patriot, you have a traitor in your midst. If Fr. Marshall is now a Jesuit priest as you affirm, he then is professed of the first three vows, and being under obedience, will report to his superior any questionable actions you or your wife may commit---via confession---if they tend to undermine the Temporal Power of the Pope which universal political power the Order is sworn to uphold.

The reference was made to Ambassador Untermeyer because he is the chaplain of Ghost Troop at his own request -- and is, I believe, a Protestant.

Why would you permit Mr. Untermeyer to be in such a position within Ghost Troop when this man is President George W. Bush's Ambassador to Qatar, which position carries with it a collusion with the "Order of the CIA" controlled by the Jesuit Order through Archbishop Egan's CFR? By your personal association with Untermeyer, your assumed patriotism is compromised, he being a mere stooge in promoting the Order's Crusade against Islam via Skull and Bonesman George Bush who is the mere mouthpiece for the real president, the untouchable CFR-member and Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Richard Cheney.

"My Jesuit," Fr. Marshall is not at all a person of significance in Ghost Troop, and in fact hasn't written or phoned me since he baptized me under peril of death for the kind of mission that Lenny Bloom was a witness to and participant in. In short, you are still being misled by association with Tim White, whose character Lenny Bloom has encountered in similar harassment/disinformation events from White.

To the contrary, your approving association with Jesuit Marshall, the priest who baptized you, makes you, by logical extension, an agent for the Order via Marshall. The Society of Jesus is a Military Order; it is a Crusading Order establishing visible and invisible ties wheresoever it may traverse in its quest for World Government under a Jesuit Pontiff ruling from the soon-to be-built Third Hebrew Temple in Jerusalem. Its brotherhood is bound by oaths superceeding every other tie that binds, including family, friends and associates. Neither Tim White nor Lenny Bloom is the issue between you and me. The issue is your open collusion with the Jesuit Order and your refusal to address its past which in turn would throw light on the nefarious plans of the Company today---especially the destruction of the historically White Anglo-Saxon "heretic" Protestant-Calvinist and "liberal" White Roman Catholic peoples of the United States of America, as well as over six million resident Jews who are the real target. Jesuit corporate fascism will accomplish this as it did in Germany except it be confronted openly.

I wouldn't make this much ado of the matter were it not for the fact that there are folks in Ghost Troop who take you seriously. I haven't had time to look at your work, though I was pleased that you invited me to a closer look at it, as that's the mark of an honest man. I believe you are doing me an injustice in quickly labeling and defining me, and I believe you have been prejudiced. CPTMAY

To the contrary, I was slow to reach this decision about you, as to be falsely accused is an injustice before man and a sin against God. My only prejudice is the miniscule knowledge of the Society of Jesus, including its past history, present workings and future aspirations gleaned from over twenty years of study and a host of advisors, a three of them being intelligence officers.

Consider my charge a challenge to acquit yourself as a man. But then again, you have not addressed one fact from the many set forth in my previous email to you. And considering the direction of your replies to me, I seriously doubt that you will.

A few weeks ago, I was directed to a website that gave the list of recipients of "the Sword of Ignatius Loyola." Of course one of them was 33rd Degree Freemason "Dirty Harry" Truman (1966). But I noticed the distinguished recipient of the award for the years of 1992 and 1993 was the Archbishop of St. Louis, that city hosting the Order's influential St. Louis University---the real power behind the Archbishop. That Archbishop was none other than the "Most Reverend" John L. May, D.D. Is this man any relation to you, Mr. May? Quite probably not, and I surely hope not, as this would pose another problem. You need not answer the question.

In conclusion, the charge of you being a Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor will not be withdrawn until you comply with the most equitable conditions set forth in my previous email. Until such time, this is my final response to you.

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric Jon Phelps

P.S. I thought I'd give you a tidbit as well:

Leon Hayblum was smuggling dollars into Poland in the 1970s to fund the nascent Solidarity Movement. His conduit was a beautiful woman named Krystyna. The two eventually began an affair. The woman related that her mother was a Jew who'd been shipped off to the camps and that her father had placed her in a convent to be raised by nuns and had become a priest in order to be near her. At one point Krystyna took Hayblum to meet her father, the Archbishop of Krakow, Karol Wojtyla. Krystyna bore Hayblum's child in 1984. John Paul II died a grandfather.

The aforementioned is recounted at length in the very rare book 'I Have to Tell My Story,' by Hayblum

The Secret Cold War Partnership between Pope John Paul II and White House Revealed

DEBKAFfile Exclusive Intelligence Report

April 2, 2005, 12:18 PM (GMT+02:00)

Pope John Paul II broke out of the conventional papal mold in many ways that will engage generations of historians. Above all, he was the most democratic of any of his predecessors, always in close rapport with Catholic communities in every corner of the globe and possessed of an unflinching instinct for the times in which he lived. But the character of his papacy was also influenced critically by a chance episode that occurred more than a year before his investiture. This unreported episode and its epic aftermath are revealed here for the first time by DEBKAFfile's and DEBKA-Net-Weekly's intelligence experts.

In January 1977, Jimmy Carter was sworn in as US President after defeating Gerald Ford at the polls. Cyrus Vance followed Henry Kissinger as secretary of state, the outgoing secretary moving to New York as a private consultant to governments, corporation heads and top financiers. Polish-born Zbigniew Brzezinski from Harvard and Columbia succeeded his fellow professor-cum-politician as the new president's national security adviser.

The most signal achievement of Brzezinski's career was predetermined a year before he took office by one of his last experiences as an academic. In 1976, a Polish Archbishop, Karol Wojtyla, came to Harvard to deliver a lecture. So impressed was Professor Brzezinski, a churchgoer, that he invited the visitor for tea, during which they found much in common. The regular correspondence they embarked on, in Polish,

A candid glimpse behind the circumstances surrounding that event was afforded twenty years later by James M. Rentschler, a former US ambassador and staff member of the Carter administration's National Security Council, in a recollection he wrote for the International Herald Tribune of October 30, 1998. Here are some excerpts:

"...an American president (Carter) inspired by the elevation of Cardinal Karol Wojtyla as the first Pole to become Pope, began a secret initiative that some believed altered the course of the Cold War.

"The word came from David Aaron, deputy to President Jimmy Carter's National Security Council chief, Zbigniew Brzezinski: 'Zbig's got the president excited about this. They sense an enormous sea change in East-West relations.' Mr. Aaron made me his DP, 'designated papist'. The White House wanted an entire planeload of VIPs for the October 22 investiture. Naming the co-heads was easy: They had to be the Speaker of the House, Thomas P. (Tip) O'Neil and the Polish-born Mr Brzezinski himself – both Roman Catholics, both heavy-hitters in Mr. Carter's party. Second-draft choices were no-brainers too: Senator Edward Muskie and Representatives Clement Zablocki and Barbara Mikulski, all Carter loyalists and all of Polish origin.

"But next came the nightmare.

"Casting from a pool of thousands, a presidential delegation limited to 30 prima donnas, whose collective profile might reflect some 'ideal' religious, racial, political, professional, gender and secular mix ('secular' being code for big-bucks campaign contributor). A rainbow coalition it wasn't.

"'It's the beginning of the end for communism,' exulted Ms. Mikulski in Rome at a US Embassy lunch of rare oratorical exuberance. Some thought her toast measured more than a notch too high on the hyperbole meter, yet history proved her right. John Paul II's courageous pilgrimages behind the Iron Curtain captured world attention from the start. Defying party orders, tumultuous East European turnouts soon made him communism's liveliest scourge – and the Free World's most valuable Cold War player.

"Meanwhile, state-supported terrorism was much on Mr. Brzezinski's mind that radiant October day. ...he slipped away from lunch into an adjoining room, where the CIA's Rome station chief awaited him. Subject: tighter, tougher US-Italian security cooperation, with radical new tactics for combating Italy's ruthless Red Brigades... In great secrecy Mr Brzezinski also initiated Mr. Carter's historic Cold War move, working with the man whose power and influence inside the Holy See were second only to the Pope's himself, Cardinal Agostino Casaroli, the Vatican secretary of state, a tough yet subtle negotiator privately known among his Curia as 'Kissinger in a cassock'.

“He and Mr. Brzezinski opened a private channel between the White House and the Holy See, which National Security Council operatives dubbed the Vatican hot line. It was a link that Jimmy Carter and John Paul II soon made operational with a personal correspondence of extraordinary breadth ...an unprecedented exchange between an American Baptist president and a Polish-born Roman Catholic pontiff. “

Rentschler notes that the forty still-classified letters cover a range of highly sensitive issues: arms control, human rights, famine relief, popular unrest behind the Iron Curtain, Soviet atrocities in Afghanistan, the fate of Catholic missionaries in China, Cuban adventurism in Africa, the Middle East peace process, hostage-taking and terrorism. He adds that, although both correspondents were careful to respect the delicate dividing line between political and pastoral, “it was always... one which, ...on the heels of certain peace-promoting activities flowing from... their shared views, might have required microsurgery to perceive.”

DEBKAFfile’s intelligence experts add: Brzezinski’s 1976 tea with the Polish cardinal fathered American Cold War strategy which was, in a word, to prime the imperfectly-suppressed religious zeal pulsating in the Soviet Bloc masses as the West’s doomsday weapon in the Cold War. Pilgrimages by the Polish pope, with the help of secret agitators, were to rouse the multitudes to rise up against their atheistic oppressors. Once the Christians were on the march, Brzezinski proposed persuading militant Islam to join the mission of inflaming the Soviet Union’s teeming Moslems.

From the historical perspective, Brzezinski’s plan of operation was the most radical applied in the Cold War till then, short of armed conflict. In comparison, the Nixon-Kissinger detente policy was much less aggressive, confining itself to photographing a given situation and freezing the arms race, while letting the Cold War go on according to agreed ground rules. Brzezinski’s religious crusading offensive went outside those rules. It was moreover a form of combat in which the West held unbeatable cards. All Moscow Center’s national liberation and terrorist movements, Philby’s phenomenal double agents and moles and Yuri Andropov’s intelligence genius were useless to protect the USSR’s Achilles heel, the proletariat’s unquenched yearning for organized religion, in defiance of the most brutal efforts to stamp it out.

Brzezinski’s brainwave of harnessing religious zeal to beat communism had two extreme though opposite effects. The force of Christianity was a major factor in undermining Soviet communist domination of East Europe. Its lands turned around to embrace democratic change, a pro-Western orientation and a market economy in a still-evolving process. In Asia and the Middle East, Carter’s national security adviser resorted to fundamentalist Islam to defeat communism. The CIA-supported mujaheddin did indeed drive the Red Army out of Afghanistan. But this same religious weapon eventually became a boomerang against America. It spawned Osama bin Laden’s al Qaeda, the Islamic jihadist terrorist movement dedicated to destroying the West and its values,.

Bro. Eric,

Is the scenario with the immigration problem a plan to eventually call out the National Guard and declare Marshall Law in order to control the coming anarchy in the streets?

Yes, and to open the Concentration Camps headed by the Department of Homeland Security overseen by Jesuit and CIA master, John C. Gannon. Google his name and observe his qualifications and connections with the CFR and Jesuit Georgetown University.

The Jesuits of Mexico have ruined that economy driving the Mexican people to desperation. Indeed, the Mexicans are illegals, but their country, full of gold and oil, has been taken from them by American SMOM bankers---especially the Buckley's and the Bushs.

What do you see as the outcome of this mounting situation?

Right-wing, corporate fascism, and a military dictator ruled by the Order---as was Hitler, Stalin, Franco, Mussolini and Mao.

Isn't this the plan of the Order (Order Out of Chaos) to cause the PROBLEM, wait for a REACTION, then provide the SOLUTION?

Indeed!

With this becoming increasingly intense, I heard Michael Savage today say that the "National Guard could get things under control."

What's your opinion?

Michael Savage is another Roman Catholic Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor. He has backed this Crusade from the beginning and has blamed the Moslems for 911--- all scripted for him. Like Roman Catholic Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Hal Turner, much of what he says is true, but the solution advocated furthers our destruction---pursuant to the Council of Trent. Think not that the burning of the Baptist Churches in the South is merely the work of idiot college students. This will continue.

Dear Bxxxxx in Germany,

Thanks for this. VAll is moving along as planned.

As per your article, the Order's Fed is going to do exactly what it did to Germany in 1919---financial breakdown. This will necessitate the arrival of a dictator to save the day. The change from pricing oil in dollars to euros is very near. When this happens trillions will flood the US market, creating hyperinflation.

A good president would outlaw the Federal Reserve, confiscate all of its gold removing it to Fort Knox from where it was originally taken, and repudiate the national dept.

Title: The Jesuits and the BBC

CRAIG-OXLEY - April 5, 2006 02:21 AM (GMT)

The Jesuits and the BBC

Hi Eric

I note your post about London being one of the Order's 'jewels.'

Albert Close was an English Protestant historian who wrote a book called Jesuit Plots from Elizabethan to Modern Times.

He revealed that when Oxford Don, Mr R.H. Crossman, sought to investigate the Hitlerian blood purges of the 1930s, he was told repeatedly, "The pope [is] behind all the trouble" p 39.

When Mr Crossman attempted to broadcast his findings from Berlin in July 1934, via the BBC, the broadcast was suddenly cut off when he mentioned the pope. No explanation was ever given and it is virtually certain that the then BBC Chairman, Lord Reith, was part of the cover-up.

That cover-up helped bring about WW2.

It is no accident, I believe, that the present-day director-general of the BBC is Mark Thompson, who is a Catholic, as is Mark Byford, his deputy.

Thompson is said to be the most influential lay Catholic in Britain, according to a web site called Ekklesia, which seems to be ecumenical.

Support for Rome is usually not overt on the BBC, of course, for as Bishop Auton urged, "Above all not too much zeal" but it can be discerned over a period of time. The same applies to all parts of the mainstream broadcast media and the newspapers, only one, the Daily Mail, is in any way pro-English.

If you monitor our mainstream media over a period of time, you find that:

- * The pope is always portrayed positively, as are certain 'saints' like the late Mother Theresa.
- * Loyal Protestants like Dr Paisley either get little publicity or largely negative publicity.
- * Paedophile priests are rarely mentioned and the abomination of the Confessional, or any of Rome's heinous acts in 1500 years virtually never. Grattan Guinness's statement, never! See below.
- * Integration and sodomy are consistently promoted as 'acceptable'. This is in keeping with God's portrayal of the last pope as an integrated beast-man (of whom I guess the leopard's yellow-brown probably represents the black pope's Muslim servants) in Revelation 13.
- * Fornication, adultery and pornography are increasingly if not now wholly 'acceptable'
- * Non-white violence against whites receives little coverage, though it may be reported. The occasional white on non-white crime (e.g. the murder of black teenager Anthony Walker) receives a blaze of publicity.
- * God's great deliverances in the past, e.g. the 1588 defeat of the Spanish Armada, are only discussed occasionally and the history may be distorted - Queen Elizabeth the First's public thanking of God is usually ignored.
- * Instead, drama-documentaries are likely to portray Elizabeth as having had affairs with her young male favourites. (Sometimes good documentaries are screened but very few and far between. I do not recall any portrayal of the Babington Plot, for example. Any documentary on the infamous Gunpowder Plot of 1605 is likely to portray Guido Fawkes sympathetically.)
- * Little attention is paid to the growing immigration/burgeoning non-white population crisis in the UK. I have a spreadsheet forwarded from another believer which shows that in inner London, school populations are now only about 25-50% white British, with the percentage decreasing with age of the pupils, i.e. a most worrying development. Elsewhere in the country, whites are on average 85-90% of school populations, though the West Midlands, i.e. England's second city, Birmingham and environs, has appreciably lower white populations of schools, approximately 75-80%.
- * But the 10-15% minority in schools nationwide will increase with the higher birth-rates of non-white (2-4 times higher) and non-white plus eastern European immigration (bringing in Albanian and Kossovan Muslims, some of the most vicious individuals in the world - streetwise after years under Marxist rule, soft Britain is a pushover for their criminal enterprises). It is estimated that 'legal' immigration into Britain now exceeds 300,000 a year with about 100,000 illegals on top of that. About 800,000 illegals are reckoned to be resident in Britain now. All are evidently entitled to free healthcare, food and lodgings the moment they get here. All they have to do is claim 'asylum.' Many, of course, are into benefit fraud. The burden, naturally, falls on the British taxpayer, ultimately and although whites are still 90% of the UK's approximately 60,000,000 inhabitants, the threat is clearly growing, as indicated below.

This shows how white English folk are being displaced from their own country. It is projected that if present trends continue, the British people will be an ethnic minority in Britain in 60 years - only a short time span for the way the Order plans, I understand, according to Alberto.

No doubt according to the Vatican, England must be destroyed, as the instigator of the Royal break with Rome and champion of the Protestant Reformation when the SJ was pushing ahead with their counter-reformation, not to mention having humiliated the Vatican twice in 30 years, WW1 and WW2.

Rome has tried force against England and it has failed. Jesuit intrigues are serving her purposes much more effectively

I look forward to the Lord's soon return to put all of Rome's plans on permanent 'hold.'

Best regards, 2 Chronicles 14:11

Alan

From Romanism and the Reformation, by H. Grattan Guinness, DD, written in the 1880s. The next 120 years have borne out his horrific vision, e.g. the Croatian massacres of WW2.

Born in Dublin, Dr Grattan Guinness (1835-1910) was a great evangelist, author and Bible teacher, who spoke for the genuine believers of his time.

The Daily Express said of a service he held in 1858, aged 23:

"An enormous crowd pressed for admittance. Judges, members of Parliament, orators, Fellows of College, lights of the various professions, the rank and fashion of the metropolis have been drawn out. Among them the Lord Lieutenant, the Lord Chancellor and the Lord Justice of Appeal, etc. Such a preacher is a great power, prepared and sent forth by God, and as such Mr. Guinness has been hailed by all denominations."

Can't imagine the DE writing that about anyone today. Dr Grattan Guinness had this to say about Rome:

"I see the great Apostacy, I see the desolation of Christendom, I see the smoking ruins, I see the reign of monsters; I see those vice-gods, that Gregory VII, that Innocent III, that Boniface VIII, that Alexander VI, that Gregory XIII, that Pius IX; I see their long succession, I hear their insufferable blasphemies, I see their abominable lives, I see them worshipped by blinded generations, bestowing hollow benedictions, bartering lying indulgences, creating a paganized Christianity; I see their liveried slaves, their shaven priests, their celibate confessors; I see the infamous confessional, the ruined women, the murdered innocents; I hear the lying absolutions, the dying groans; I hear the cries of the victims; I hear the anathemas, the curses, the thunders of the interdicts; I see the racks, the dungeons, the stakes; I see that inhuman Inquisition, those fires of Smithfield, those butcheries of St Bartholomew, that Spanish Armada, those unspeakable dragonnades, that endless train of wars, that dreaded multitude of massacres. I see it all,

"And in the name of the ruin it has brought in the Church and in the world, in the name of the truth it has denied, the temple it has defiled, the God it has blasphemed, the souls it has destroyed; in the name of the millions it has deluded; the millions it has slaughtered, the millions it has damned,

"With holy confessors, with noble reformers, with innumerable martyrs, with the saints of ages, I denounce it as the masterpiece of Satan, as the body and soul and essence of antichrist."

CRAIG-OXLEY - April 5, 2006 01:34 AM (GMT)

Dear Sxxxx,

Mr. Bauman is one of them. He is a "traditionalist" Roman Catholic like Opus Dei Mel Gibson. This means that he wishes to return to pre-Vatican II days when Rome called Protestants "heretics; when the Jews were called "perfidious Jews." Judging by his works, Bauman is a Roman Catholic right-wing fascist. Ex-Jesuit Alberto Rivera was also a Bishop in the Old Catholic Church originating out of Utrecht. Bowman loves the "Eucharist," that damnable blasphemy, the priest declaring that with a few magic Latin words, he has turned a cookie into the literal body of Christ! Lastly, Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Alex Jones hosted this man on his show last night. This is the same Alex Jones who declared that "hell would freeze over" before he ever hosted me.

The Order is creating its political Hegelian dialectic to further drive White Americans into an even more extreme Jesuit fascist dictatorship---as was done in France's Second French Revolution in 1848, which culminated in a coup d'etat creating Emperor Napoleon III.

Our Jesuit-controlled Napoleon III is coming, and he will be a military man.

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric

MONSTER WAVES

Vessel Measures Record Ocean Swells

By Markus Becker

A British research team has observed some of the biggest sea swells ever measured. A whole series of giant waves hammered into their ship that were so big, according to computer models used to set safety standards for ships and oil rigs, they shouldn't even exist.

When the RRS Discovery set out to sea, the crew was expecting stormy weather. Meteorologists had predicted a violent storm, and the scientists -- a team from Britain's National Oceanography Center -- wanted to observe it from up close. What they ended up experiencing went far beyond anything they could have imagined -- and could have cost them their lives.

Near the island of Rockall, 250 kilometers (155 miles) west of Scotland, enormous waves came racing toward the vessel. When they checked their measuring instruments later, the scientists discovered that the tallest of these monster waves had hit nearly 30 meters (98 feet) at wind force 9. And it didn't come alone. "We were shaken up these waves for 12 hours," said Naomi Holliday, the leader of the expedition. Entire sets of giant waves hammered the ship.

After the adrenaline levels of the scientists had fallen somewhat, astonishment spread among the crew. The standard computer programs had predicted stormy weather for February 8, 2000, but not such a tempest. Even more astonishing, the giant waves had not appeared individually, but in a group. Previously waves of such size were assumed to only appeared alone.

What Holliday characterized as a "dangerous situation" has turned out to be a spate of luck. The Discovery's crew witnessed the largest waves ever measured by a scientific instrument on the open sea, according to an article the scientists have only now published in the journal Geophysical Research Letters.

Biggest waves ever measured

With a height of up to 29.1 meters (95 feet) from trough to crest, the single waves are the highest ever measured. In terms of so-called significant wave height, they established a new record, according to the scientists: 18.5 meters (61 feet). Significant wave height is the median height of a wave's upper third. It corresponds roughly to the sea swell that experienced sailors can estimate with the naked eye.

More important than the record, however, is how the waves were born. "They were not caused by very strong winds," Holliday told SPIEGEL ONLINE. The strongest phase of the storm had already been over for a day when the largest water masses hit the RRS Discovery.

The scientists think a so-called resonance effect was responsible for the monstrous waves: waves and wind travelled across the Atlantic at practically the same speed. The storm was able to pump energy into the waves efficiently for a long time, building them up to giant size. According to the article published by Holliday and her team, the rapid increase in wave height at the beginning of the event supports this hypothesis.

Trouble for sailors and shipbuilders?

The new data may spell trouble for sailors and shipbuilders, the British scientists believe. Their research results suggest that giant waves may be much more common than previously believed. "Of course we can't make general claims about all the world's seas on the basis of the specific event we observed," Holliday said. "But computer simulation can do this for us."

According to Holliday, plugging the new data into the standard formulas shows that existing computer simulations are slightly off the mark -- at least as far as the formation of giant waves is concerned. "The waves we observed were not predicted by the computer simulation," Holliday explained. That has implications for the construction of ships and oil rigs. "The safety standards are partly based on the computer simulations."

Why was the difference between simulation and reality not noticed earlier? Because of the relative scarcity of measuring buoys and ships collecting scientific data, according to Holliday: "Direct wave height measurements are extremely rare." Cargo ships tend to avoid powerful storms, and oil rigs are so few and far between they hardly ever encounter giant waves.

For this reason alone, the measurements taken by the British research expedition are "spectacular," confirmed Wolfgang Rosenthal, a marine weather expert at a Geesthacht research institute associated with Germany's GKKS ship-building society. Waves of the sort observed by Holliday's team had already been analyzed theoretically, but the only practical knowledge about them came from vague reports. The new measurements confirm the theories that have been developed. "Nothing like this has ever been documented before," Rosenthal said.

Not freak waves

The significant wave height of 18.5 meters (61 feet) is particularly interesting, according to Rosenthal. "The giant 29 meter (95 feet) waves fit well with this statistically," Rosenthal said. He explains that the giant waves observed at Rockall are not the same as the notorious "freak waves" that appear out of nowhere during relatively mild weather, destroying even large vessels. Only those waves are considered freak waves whose overall height is at least twice their significant wave height. When the significant wave height is in the region of 18.5 meters (61 feet), giant waves roughly 30 meters (98 feet) tall become possible -- as they did near Rockall in 2000, and as Holliday and her colleagues were able to find out for themselves.

But Rosenthal doubts that the new data will have a significant effect on security standards in shipbuilding. "A single case doesn't render the existing computer simulations obsolete," he said. Nonetheless, questions about the accuracy of computer simulations have been raised for some time with regard to sea swells under extreme weather conditions. Rosenthal explained that this is partly a result of the weak measurements obtained by means of satellite-based radar. "The stronger the wind gets, the weaker and harder to measure the radar signal reflected by the waves," he said.

Holliday -- whose team includes an expert for computer simulations of sea swells -- is convinced her measurements will contribute to an improvement in computer models. "The existing models strongly underestimate maximal wave heights," she said. "The people in charge of simulations are going to have to find out what they're doing wrong."

Policies and Activities

Founded by Domino's Pizza owner, Thomas S. Monaghan in 1987, this foundation is a primary conduit for his charitable giving. Apart from the Vatican and local Michigan charities, the chief beneficiaries have been conservative Catholic causes with ties to the Ann Arbor, Michigan-based charismatic Word of God-Sword of the Spirit network [investigated by the Church for cult-like activities]. Monaghan insists that, though he admires WG-SS, he is not a member.

In 1990-1992, Monaghan used the foundation to give almost $1 million to Franciscan University of Steubenville, whose president, Fr. Michael Scanlan, headed a Word of God-linked community in Steubenville and transformed the university into an education and conference center for far-right charismatics.

Word of God-linked projects in Central America have been a primary focus of Monaghan's giving from the foundation's beginning. In 1990 to 1992, he gave more than $1 million to Central American projects sponsored by Fr. Enrique Silvestre, leader of a Sword of the Spirit branch in Honduras. During the same period, he created a chain of Honduran businesses designed to subsidize Silvestre's work and made land acquisitions in that country. Monaghan also cooperated with WG member Michael J. Healy, Dean of the Faculty at Franciscan University of Steubenville, on plans to create a technical school in Honduras. Domino's Honduran projects also received funding during the Reagan-Bush years from the US Agency for International Development. At a time when Honduras was the main staging ground for contra attacks on the Sandinista-led Nicaragua, Monaghan hired an anti-Sandinista Nicaraguan exile to run the Honduran program. Though Monaghan told the liberal National Catholic Reporter that his Honduran programs had not political motivation, in an interview with the Conservative Digest he described his belief that US failure to support the contras could lead to Communist takeovers in El Salvador, Panama, and Mexico, ultimately confronting the United States with a "Soviet client state along our southern border."

Largely through this foundation, Monaghan also provided $3.5 million of the $4.5 million cost of a new cathedral--to replace one destroyed in a 1972 earthquake--for Managua's Cardinal Obando y Bravo. Monaghan offered the money in response to an appeal issued by President Violeta Chamorro after she defeated the Sandinistas in the national elections. Chamorro and the cardinal have also enjoyed substantial support from other key elements of the Catholic right-wing.

Monaghan has also provided at least $100,000 for the televangelism programs of Word of God-Sword of the Spirit cofounder Ralph Martin, who serves with him on the FUS board, and of Sword of the Spirit televangelist Fr. John Bertolucci. Both Martin and Monaghan were inducted into the Knights of Malta in the late 1980s and participated in a January 199 ceremony which featured a keynote address by outgoing US president Ronald Reagan.

Though Monaghan is also a substantial funder of the anti-choice movement, most of his antichoice giving is from personal funds not funnelled through the foundation (The only antichoice group listed among the foundation's 1990-92 grant recipients in Feminists for Life). As of 1989, he acknowledged having given $60,000 to the Michigan Committee to End Tax Funded Abortion. The National Organization for Women and other women's groups contended that his actual antichoice giving totalled at least $500,000 in the 1980s, including sizable donations to Randall Terry's Operation Rescue.

New Florida town would restrict abortion

Domino's founder building community around Catholic university

Thursday, March 2, 2006; Posted: 9:35 p.m. EST (02:35 GMT)

<http://www.cnn.com/2006/US/03/02/catholic.town.ap/index.html>

NAPLES, Florida (AP) -- If Domino's Pizza founder Thomas S. Monaghan has his way, a new town being built in Florida will be governed according to strict Roman Catholic principles, with no place to get an abortion, pornography or birth control.

The pizza magnate is bankrolling the project with at least $250 million and calls it "God's will."

Civil libertarians say the plan is unconstitutional and are threatening to sue.

The town of Ave Maria is being constructed around Ave Maria University, the first Catholic university to be built in the United States in about 40 years. Both are set to open next year about 25 miles east of Naples in southwestern Florida.

The town and the university, developed in partnership with the Barron Collier Co., an agricultural and real estate business, will be set on 5,000 acres with a European-inspired town center, a massive church and what planners call the largest crucifix in the nation, at nearly 65 feet tall. Monaghan envisions 11,000 homes and 20,000 residents.

During a speech last year at a Catholic men's gathering in Boston, Monaghan said that in his community, stores will not sell pornographic magazines, pharmacies will not carry condoms or birth control pills, and cable television will have no X-rated channels.

Homebuyers in Ave Maria will own their property outright. But Monaghan and Barron Collier will control all commercial real estate in the town, meaning they could insert provisions in leases to restrict the sale of certain items.

"I believe all of history is just one big battle between good and evil. I don't want to be on the sidelines," Monaghan, who sold Domino's Pizza in 1998 to devote himself to doing good works, said in a recent Newsweek interview.

Robert Falls, a spokesman for the project, said Tuesday that attorneys are still reviewing the legal issues and that Monaghan had no comment in the meantime.

"If they attempt to do what he apparently wants to do, the people of Naples and Collier County, Florida, are in for a whole series of legal and constitutional problems and a lot of litigation indefinitely into the future," warned Howard Simon, executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union of Florida.

Florida Attorney General Charlie Crist said it will be up to the courts to decide the legalities of the plan. "The community has the right to provide a wholesome environment," he said. "If someone disagrees, they have the right to go to court and present facts before a judge."

Gov. Jeb Bush, at the site's groundbreaking earlier this month, lauded the development as a new kind of town where faith and freedom will merge to create a community of like-minded citizens. Bush, a convert to Catholicism, did not speak specifically to the proposed restrictions.

"While the governor does not personally believe in abortion or pornography, the town, and any restrictions they may place on businesses choosing to locate there, must comply with the laws and constitution of the state and federal governments," Russell Schweiss, a spokesman for the governor, said Tuesday.

Frances Kissling, president of the liberal Washington-based Catholics for a Free Choice, likened Monaghan's concept to Islamic fundamentalism.

"This is un-American," Kissling said. "I don't think in a democratic society you can have a legally organized township that will seek to have any kind of public service whatsoever and try to restrict the constitutional rights of citizens."

JUST SAY NO TO

THEIR OWNED BY THE

SOVEREIGN MILITARY OF MALTA

KNIGHT THOMAS S. MONAGHAN

Mark Brewer - March 6, 2006 08:47 AM (GMT)

The fact that Jeb Bush supports the town is another link between the Bush crime family and the Vatican. My father once worked for Domino's Pizza. From what he told me, it never sounded like a very good organization. In California, they do not use very good ingredients for their pizzas.

JagDRS - March 6, 2006 07:29 PM (GMT)

Ah yes, corporate cuisine, MMM mmm. Who'da ever thought the same beaksNclaws fast-food approach to dining could become so lucrative for what goes as "pizza"? I went to high school with a fellow, just another average small-town kid who, shortly after matriculating to the So Cal scene in the early 80s quickly got into the Domino's franchise pyramid fairly early on, and became a millionaire within 10 years. In Pennsylvania, especially around Pittsburgh and Philly, where momNpop pizza parlors (the throw-back kind still run by first or second generation Italians) are still quite prevalent, popular, and have not, yet, succumbed to the corporate variant. Then again, when one considers the ever-increasing advances in corporate agriculture and corporate grocery, the lines between "made from scratch" and made-in-a-corporate-lab are not as clear as they once were.

Walt, ever-cuddly and clean-cut illuminist that he was, set the standard on how to bargain with 'da man in setting up his own sovereign, corporate, and self-contained city, so the biggest question I have on the prospects for Dominosville is, what took so long for somebody else to jump on this bandwagon?

AVBibleBeliever - March 6, 2006 10:34 PM (GMT)

Indeed, Thomas S. Monaghan is a Knight of Malta. I indicated this in a previous post several months ago and included some links to show and prove that Domino's Pizza actually "Vatican's Pizza." I'm glad this fact is being emphasized because people need to be reminded that Domino's Pizza is owned by the SMOM. It is a war against the health of the American public these modern day corporate crusaders are waging. This a war within unbeknownst to most sadly. Fast food, chemtrails, chlorinated and fluoridated water, unlisted drugs and harmful chemicals in the processed foods etc are being used by the Jesuits to Roman Catholic Just say NO to Domino's Pizza! Plain and simple! I'm a college student and last year I was a frequent Domino's Pizza customer and once just out of curiosity I googled Domino's Pizza+Knights of Malta and I learned I had unknowingly been supporting a food chain whose owner is SMOM. I quit ordering Domino's from that point on. Better yet avoid "fast food" all together because all of the chains are controlled by the Jesuits through high-level Freemasonry and the SMOM. I'll give you a few examples: the late Dave Thomas the founder of Wendy's was a high-level Freemason as was Kentucky Fried Chicken (KFC) founder "Colonel" Harland David Sanders who introduced his Masonic brother Dave Thomas to the the fast food business and acted as his mentor. The owner of Carl Jr's the same chain that ran an ad campaign with that sow and tramp Kabbalist Paris Hilton of Roman Catholic Jesuits' Vatican financier Hilton family who introduced was to the Hollywood pop-Masonic cult by Roman Catholic Kabbalist Madonna whose grandfather Roman Catholic Freemason Conrad Hilton amassed the fortune she enjoys undoubtedly due to his Masonic lodge membership. I'm quoting from the following

<http://ezinearticles.com/?Paris-Hilton-and...tutes&id=122378>

Disclaimer: This article is crude and tasteless but this excerpt is very telling.

"The One with the money, Paris' great grandfather Conrad Hilton, (whose son Nicky was the first husband of Elizabeth Taylor), left the grand total of nothing to his 4 children. He married his third wife at 87 and then left his entire fortune to the Catholic Church. Paris' grandfather Barron Hilton went to court to contest the will and he won, becoming the first person ever to defeat the Vatican in court, walking away with a few hundred million." [this very well could been planned and staged- I don't know). Anyway, back to the fast food chain. The owner of the Carl Jr's restaurant chain-Carl Nicholas Karcher-is a Knight of Malta as well. He owns Hardee's as well whose logo is a pentagram. http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/CKE_Restaurants%2C_Inc.

I learned recently the head of Goya Foods-Joseph A. Unanue-is a Knight of Malta. There are many more SMOM and Freemasons who head food companies which poison Americans with toxic foods in obedience to Jesuits' Council of Trent.

Bill Phillips says McDonald's founder Ray Kroc admitted he was a Satanist and tithed his money to the Church of Satan on Mike Douglas show in 1977. This has been called an urban legend but if there is truth to it it wouldn't surprise me. McDonald's is undoubtedly Masonic with its golden arch-M for McDonald's to most but secretly M for Masonry perhaps? It makes sense when you consider its mascot a clown and what secret society has clowns-Shriner Freemasonry!

The elevation of Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger to the papacy as Pope Benedict XVI in 2005 has raised the profile of Father Joseph Fessio, the Jesuit provost of Monaghan's Ave Maria University. Fessio received his PhD in theology under the mentorship of Ratzinger while the future pope was a professor at the University of Regensburg. Fessio has remained close to Ratzinger, and the publishing house Fessio founded, Ignatius Press, has been and remains the exclusive English-language publisher of all of Ratzinger's personal works prior to his election as pope. Father Fessio's conservative views have been a source of controversy within the Jesuit order, but his close relationship with the new pope is seen by many as being very beneficial to the new university's success.

Nicholas Rivera is on a roll again. Finally, y'all I've gotten my diploma from college. I've graduated in December 2005 and gotten my diploma in march 1, 2006. My degree is a major in history and a minor in Political science. I'm out from College. All of that hard work paid off and I feel happy. Well, I never liked Dominos Pizza. I've always enjoyed Cennello's or Pizza Hut pizza. As for the Jesuits controlling the food industry, it's true. I've researched about Dave Thomas and Dave Thomas is not only Masonic, but he's a 33rd Degree Freemason. As you know he recently died. <http://www.srmason-sj.org/web/journal-file..2/goldsmith.htm> is the link describing him in more detail by the Scottish Rite Journal, so it has no bias. It so ironic that this site mentions Lee Iacocca, who is as you know a Knight of Malta and a co-conspirator in the Kennedy assassination. My little brother always tell me that Roman Catholicism invented Freemasonry since the Masons before 1717 were stone guilds. back then, these stone guilds were Roman Catholic architects of the cathedrals inside of Europe. It was only later that they evolved into Freemasonry to promote so-called "tolerance" among monotheistic religions. Like always, constantly eating fast foods ruins our health and makes us docile for more control by those in power.

Sorry but your Masonic (degree) qualifications really dont impress me as there just a sham in order to prove to the system that you've allowed yourself to be indoctrinated into the systems way of living.

Now Timothy I really hope you practised what you preach and didn't wear the cap and gown to collect this nonsense? The gowns v neck is the 60o masonic square along with the pathetic square cap. If I were in your shoes I wouldn't have collected it or I more than likely would have made a stand and collected it in normal non-masonic clothing and told them to stuff it.

Theres a rastafarian poet in here in England who refused to get an OBE of the Guelph (Queen Elizabeth II). This caused a stir and I really enjoyed it.

Hope this doesn't upset you but I hate this whole pathetic way of life thanks to the Jesuits and their pathetic Freemasonry.

By the way Pizza Hut love to kill you with Silicon!

Alexandra - March 9, 2006 12:23 AM (GMT)

Go easy, 2TUFF. I didn't know this stuff about the cap and gown myself, and I don't know if Timothy knew it or not. Then again, I never went to college, and to be honest I don't regret not going. I spent 14 years (Head Start through grade 12) in government schools.

Just goes to show you how saturated our society is with this Freemason/Illuminati stuff. Chrysler vehicles have a pentagon on some vehicles. Then there are the names of cars, such as Saturn. Look at the logos of most companies. Look at our nation's capital--abound with symbolism.

Sorry but your Masonic (degree) qualifications really dont impress me as there just a sham in order to prove to the system that you've allowed yourself to be indoctrinated into the systems way of living.

Sorry, but your views on religion really don't impress me. I'm impressed by you in other areas, but not on religion. To be honest, I do feel angry. People in the media and on the Internet in various locations slandering my race by calling our race inferior. I'm tired and I'm getting sick of this stuff. Yeah, God is angry at evil, so I have a right to have indignant anger against evil. You don't have to be impressed. Did I say I'm trying to impress people here? No. Before college, I've learned the truth and I will continue to learn the truth afterwards. There's a lot of things that don't impress me. Oh, yes, I just read this response now. Anybody has a right to get an education and since you respond with intensity, I will too. When I read this, the first thing that came to my mind was anger. First, a degree from college is not a Masonic qualification necessary. Many patriots and Christians graduated from university before modern Freemasonry existed (like William Tyndale) , so this get mess out of here. Like I said before, outlining information isn't condoning evil necessarily. I'm not indoctrinated into nothing. I'm my own man and I think with my own independent thinking. So don't give me that indoctrination nonesense. For me, the secret society influences should be eliminated from colleges and universities. I'm also annoyed by the anti-Christian agenda of the media and the New Age Movement (which influenced Hitler and his Nazis to kill people).

I practice what I preach. Do you practice what you preach in hating religion yet quoting from religious texts to try to back up what you say? That's kinda ironic. Hate religion, but use religion. That's the stuff that I don't understand. I didn't know that masonic significance of the cap and gown.

When I heard it, I was like suprised and shocked. It's like that. So that's how I feel. This is nothing new to me. I'm not the one. You just woke me up from my sleep. Now, I'm fully alert. I will defend my honor. I'm not from England with a different accent. I talk rugged, especially when I'm angry. This is hilarious man I tell. Came out and mention tons of history, debated folks, listed pages of info on my own without help. Debated and refuted Freemasons, neo-cons, and other folks. Came out and did my thing. I don't even care about world recongnition. I only care about the praise from God alone. I'm back, I'm strong, and I'm taking it there. The lamest bunch of baloney I heard was this stuff about indoctrination. Get out of here with that stuff. Human beings can make mistakes, but people can learn from mistakes and move on. Many ex-Masons, ex-drug addicts exists, so just because people made mistakes, doesn't mean that there is no hope for them to change and be righteous. I'll stand on my own 2 feet as a man and I'm not indoctrinate by no one. That angered me the most about this indoctrination garbage. Get out of here with that junk. I regret any Masonic influences in the Universities, but many patriots and great men graduated from colleges before modern Masonry existed in the world (before 1717). You don't have go to college to be successful and great in God's eyes also. Like always, I'm not going to submit to no one here and be intimidated by no one here. Now, I'm less angry and I really have no problems or issues with no one here, but I'm not a slouch when it comes to info. Just for that, I'm going to work harder. I'm going to think clearer and better and I'm going to write better. Really, I'm not going do this for no one here. I'm not doing this for not even myself but to my God. That should be our real goal.

Catholic Billionaire Envisions City of God

by Dahleen Glanton
Chicago Tribune

<http://pewforum.org/news/display.php?NewsID=10279>

America's newest town is rising up in the midst of a dusty tomato field in southwest Florida. And if the Catholics building it have their way, this ultraconservative community with a 65-foot crucifix at its center will be the closest thing to heaven on Earth.

They envision a town that adheres to strict religious values, a place void of adult bookstores, strip clubs, massage parlors and abortion clinics. At one time they had planned to prohibit the sale of contraceptives at drugstores and bar X-rated channels from cable television. But the law got in the way.

The town, to be anchored by a new Roman Catholic university, is mostly the vision of Domino's Pizza founder Tom Monaghan, a devout Catholic who is pouring $400 million of his personal fortune into the project. Insisting that he is doing God's will, Monaghan, who is well-known in conservative political and religious circles, has staked his reputation on the controversial project, the latest of his many philanthropic ventures designed to spread conservative Christian values around the world.

At this point the town of Ave Maria, about 30 miles northeast of Naples, is nothing more than 5,000 acres of leveled dirt, a row of cinder-block building frames and a small cornerstone marking the site where a church will stand. But by the time the first phase is completed in the spring of 2007, developers said, Ave Maria will be a full-fledged town filled with people, both Catholics and non-Catholics.

Title: Vatican Council and Papal Statements on Islam

Mark Brewer - April 2, 2006 07:17 AM (GMT)

From the Jesuit Social Justice Centre:

"Then [we refer] to the adorers of God according to the conception of monotheism, the Muslim religion especially, deserving of our admiration for all that is true and good in their worship of God."

Paul VI, Ecclesiam Suam 107, August 6, 1964

"But the plan of salvation also includes those who acknowledge the Creator, in the first place among whom are the Muslims: these profess to hold the faith of Abraham, and together with us they adore the one, merciful God, mankind's judge on the last day."
Second Vatican Council, Lumen Gentium 16, November 21, 1964

"The Church has also a high regard for the Muslims. They worship God, who is one, living and subsistent, merciful and almighty, the Creator of heaven and earth (Cf. St. Gregory VII, Letter III, 21 to Anazir [Al-Nasir], King of Mauretania PL, 148. 451A.), who has spoken to men. They strive to submit themselves without reserve to the hidden decrees of God, just as Abraham submitted himself to God's plan, to whose faith Muslims eagerly link their own. Although not acknowledging him as God, they venerate Jesus as a prophet, his Virgin Mother they also honor, and even at times devoutly invoke. Further, they await the day of judgment and the reward of God following the resurrection of the dead. For this reason they highly esteem an upright life and worship God, especially by way of prayer, alms-deeds and fasting.

"Over the centuries many quarrels and dissensions have arisen between Christians and Muslims. The sacred Council now pleads with all to forget the past, and urges that a sincere effort be made to achieve mutual understanding; for the benefit of all men, let them together preserve and promote peace, social justice and moral values."

Second Vatican Council, Nostra Aetate 3, October 28, 1965

After quoting Nostra Aetate 3, as given above, the Pope says:

"My brothers, when I think of this spiritual heritage (Islam) and the value it has for man and for society, its capacity of offering, particularly in the young, guidance for life, filling the gap left by materialism, and giving a reliable foundation to social and juridical organization, I wonder if it is not urgent, precisely today when Christians and Muslims have entered a new period of history, to recognize and develop the spiritual bonds that unite us, in order to preserve and promote together for the benefit of all men, 'peace, liberty, social justice and moral values' as the Council calls upon us to do (Nostra Aetate 3)."

John Paul II, address to the Catholic community of Ankara, Turkey, November 29, 1979

"Christians and Muslims have many things in common, as believers and as human beings. We live in the same world, marked by many signs of hope, but also by multiple signs of anguish. For us, Abraham is a model of faith in God, of submission to his will and of confidence in his goodness. We believe in the same God, the one God, the living God, the God who created the world and brings his creatures to their perfection....

"God asks that we should listen to His voice. He expects from us obedience to His holy will in a free consent of mind and heart.

"It is therefore toward this God that my thought goes and that my heart rises. It is of God himself that, above all, I wish to speak with you; of him, because it is in him that we believe, you Muslims and we Catholics. I wish also to speak with you about human values, which have their basis in God, these values which concern the blossoming of our person, as also that of our families and our societies, as well as that of the international community. The mystery of God—is it not the highest reality from which depends the very meaning which man gives to his life? And is it not the first problem that presents itself to a young person, when he reflects upon the mystery of his own existence and on the values which he intends to choose in order to build his growing personality? . . .

"First of all, I invoke the Most High, the all-powerful God who is our Creator. He is the origin of all life, as he is at the source of all that is good, of all that is beautiful, of all that is holy. . . .

"He made us, us men, and we are from him. His holy law guides our life. It is the light of God which orients our destiny and enlightens our conscience. . . .

"Yes, God asks that we should listen to his voice. He expects from us obedience to his holy will in a free consent of mind and of heart.

"That is why we are accountable before him. It is He, God, who is our judge; He who alone is truly just. We know, however, that his mercy is inseparable from His justice. When man returns to Him, repentant and contrite, after having strayed into the disorder of sin and the works of death, God then reveals Himself as the one who pardons and shows mercy.

"To Him, therefore, our love and our adoration! For His blessing and His mercy, we thank Him, at all times and in all places. . . .

"Man is a spiritual being. We believers know that we do not live in a closed world. We believe in God. We are worshipers of God. We are seekers of God.

"The Catholic Church regards with respect and recognizes the equality of your religious progress, the richness of your spiritual tradition. . . .

"I believe that we, Christians and Muslims, must recognize with joy the religious values that we have in common, and give thanks to God for them. Both of us believe in one God, the only God, who is all justice and all mercy; we believe in the importance of prayer, of fasting, of almsgiving, of repentance and of pardon; we believe that God will be a merciful judge to us all at the end of time, and we hope that after the resurrection He will be satisfied with us and we know that we will be satisfied with him.

"Loyalty demands also that we should recognize and respect our differences. Obviously the most fundamental is the view that we hold onto the person and work of Jesus of Nazareth. You know that, for Christians, Jesus cause them to enter into an intimate knowledge of the mystery of God and into the filial communion by His gifts, so that they recognize Him and proclaim Him Lord and Savior.

"Those are the important differences which we can accept with humility and respect, in mutual tolerance; this is a mystery about which, I am certain, God will one day enlighten us.

"Christians and Muslims, in general we have badly understood each other, and sometimes, in the past, we have opposed and often exhausted each other in polemics and in wars.

"I believe that today, God invites us to change our old practices. We must respect each other, and we must stimulate each other in good works on the path of God.

"With me, you know the reward of spiritual values. Ideologies and slogans cannot satisfy you nor can they solve the problems of your life. Only spiritual and moral values can do it, and they have God at their foundation.

"Dear young people, I wish that you may be able to help in building a world where God may have first place in order to aid and to save mankind. On this path, you are assured, of the esteem and the collaboration of your Catholic brothers and sisters whom I represent among you this evening."

John Paul II , address to the young Muslims of Morocco, August 19, 1985

"You must try to show your Muslim brethren and the followers of other religious traditions that your Christian faith, far from weakening your sense of pride in your homeland and your love for her, helps you to prize and respect the culture and heritage of Bangladesh. It inspires you to face the challenges of the present day with love and responsibility. . . .

"The Catholic Church is committed to a path of dialogue and collaboration with the men and women of goodwill of every religious tradition. We have many spiritual resources in common which we must share with one another as we work for a more human world. Young people especially know how to be open with each other and they want a world in which all the basic freedoms, including the freedom of religious belief, will be respected.

"Sometimes Christians and Muslims fear and distrust one another as a result of past misunderstanding and conflict. This is also true in Bangladesh. Everyone, especially the young, must learn to always respect one another's religious beliefs and to defend freedom of religion, which is the right of every human being."

John Paul II, To Christians (and others) in Bangladesh, November 19, 1986

"The topic of your discussion is a timely one. Since we are believers in God - who is goodness and perfection - all our activities must reflect the holy and upright nature of the one whom we worship and seek to obey. For this reason, also in the works of mission and da'wah [summons], our action must be founded upon a respect for the inalienable dignity and freedom of the human person created and loved by God. Both Christians and Muslims are called to defend the inviolable right of each individual to freedom of religious belief and practice. There have been in the past, and there continue to be in the present, unfortunate instances of misunderstanding, intolerance and conflict between Christians and Muslims, especially in circumstances where either Muslims or Christians are a minority or are guest workers in a given country. It is our challenge as religious leaders to find ways to overcome such difficulties in a spirit of justice, brotherhood and mutual respect. Hence, by considering the proper means of carrying out mission and da'wah you are dealing with an issue which is important both for religious and for social harmony.

"You have also been addressing the difficulties faced today by those who believe in God in their efforts to proclaim his presence and his will for mankind. As believers, we do not deny or reject any of the real benefits which modern developments have brought, but we are convinced nevertheless that without reference to God modern society is unable to lead men and women to the goal for which they have been created. It is here too that Christians and Muslims can work together, bearing witness before modern civilization to the divine presence and loving Providence which guide our steps. Together we can proclaim that he who has made us has called us to live in harmony and justice. May the blessing of the Most High accompany you in your endeavors on behalf of dialogue and peace."

John Paul II, To the delegation of the World Islamic Call Society, Rome, 15 January 1990

"To all Muslims throughout the world, I wish to express the readiness of the Catholic Church to work together with you and all the people of good will to aid the victims of the war and to build structures of a lasting peace not only in the Middle East, but everywhere. This cooperation in solidarity towards the most afflicted can form the concrete basis for a sincere, profound and constant dialogue between believing Catholics and believing Muslims, from which there can arise a strengthened mutual knowledge and trust, and the assurance that each one everywhere will be able to profess freely and authentically his or her own faith.

"Injustice, oppression, aggression, greed, failure to forgive, desire for revenge, and unwillingness to enter into dialogue and negotiate: these are merely some of the factors which lead people to depart from the way in which God desires us to live on this planet. We must all learn to recognize these elements in our own lives and societies, and find ways to overcome them. Only when individuals and groups undertake this education for peace can we build a fraternal and united world, freed from war and violence.

"I close my greeting to you with the words of one of my predecessors, Pope Gregory VII who in 1076 wrote to Al-Nasir, the Muslim Ruler of Bijaya, present day Algeria: 'Almighty God, who wishes that all should be saved and none lost, approves nothing in so much as that after loving Him one should love his fellow man, and that one should not do to others, what one does not want done to oneself. You and we owe this charity to ourselves especially because we believe in and confess one God, admittedly, in a different way, and daily praise and venerate him, the creator of the world and ruler of this world.'

"These words, written almost a thousand years ago, express my feelings to you today as you celebrate 'Id al-Fitr, the Feast of the Breaking of the Fast. May the Most High God fill us with all His merciful love and peace."

John Paul II, Message to the faithful of Islam at the end of the month of Ramadan, April 3, 1991

"It is natural that believers in God should meet in friendship and sharing. Christians and Muslims, together with the followers of the Jewish religion, belong to what can be called 'the tradition of Abraham.' In our respective traditions Abraham is called 'the intimate friend of God' (in Arabic, Al-Khalil). He receives this title because of his flawless faith in God. . . .

"As two religious communities who strive to submit ourselves without reserve to the will of God, we Christians and Muslims should live together in peace, friendship and cooperation. I am happy to note that, since the arrival of the first Christians in this land, the people of Senegal have given the world a good example of this sharing life.

"In May 1991, in a joint message to their fellow Christians, the Catholic bishops of Senegal called attention to the 'real efforts at understanding and dialogue between Christians and Muslims, the meeting between religious leaders' which have been undertaken in your country. They noted that the young people have worked together to build cemeteries, mosques and churches; that school children engage in healthy emulation to make their schools places of peace, forgiveness and fraternity; that adults work together to improve the life of the community spirit of the country. I would like to support and encourage all these efforts at building a harmonious society because I am convinced that this is the way of God. Our Creator and our final judge desires that we live together. Our God is a God of peace, who desires peace among those who live according to His commandments. Our God is the holy God who desires that those who call upon Him live in ways that are holy and upright. He is a God of dialogue who has been engaged from the very beginning of history in a dialogue of salvation with the humanity which He created. This dialogue continues in the present day, and will go on until the end of time.

"We Christians and Muslims must be people of dialogue. As I have often said, and as the bishops of Senegal have repeated, this commitment to dialogue means, first of all, 'a dialogue of life', a positive acceptance, interaction and cooperation by which we bear active witness, as believers, to the ideals to which God has called us."

John Paul II, To Islamic leaders of Senegal, Dakar, February 22, 1992

". . . I have an especially warm recollection of my meeting with Grand Sheikh Mohammed Sayed Tantawi. We both expressed the wish for a new era of religious and cultural dialogue between Islam and Christianity. It is in this context, Mr. Ambassador, that I am particularly pleased that you have spoken of Egypt as a land where unity and harmony are greatly valued and where differences of religion are seen not as barriers but as a means of mutual enrichment in rendering service to the nation. I trust most sincerely that this will always be the case, and that the difficulties that have arisen from time to time will be overcome, especially in view of the widespread willingness and positive conditions for interreligious dialogue and cooperation which can be found in Egypt.

"In a world deeply marked by violence, it is bitterly ironic that even now some of the worst conflicts are between believers who worship the one God, who look to Abraham as a holy patriarch and who seek to follow the Law of Sinai. Each act of violence makes it more urgent for Muslims and Christians everywhere to recognize the things we have in common, to bear witness that we are all creatures of the one merciful God, and to agree once and for all that recourse to violence in the name of religion is completely unacceptable. Especially when religious identity coincides with cultural and ethnic identity it is a solemn duty of believers to ensure that religious sentiment is not used as an excuse for hatred and conflict. Religion is the enemy of exclusion and discrimination; it seeks the good of everyone and therefore ought to be a stimulus for solidarity and harmony between individuals and among peoples. . . ."

John Paul II, to the ambassador of the Arab Republic of Egypt, September 7, 2000

"It is in this context (of openness to God's grace) also that we should consider the great challenge of interreligious dialogue to which we shall still be committed in the new millennium, in fidelity to the teachings of the Second Vatican Council (Cf. Second Vatican Council, declaration Nostra Aetate). . . . This dialogue must continue. In the climate of increased cultural and religious pluralism which is expected to mark the society of the new millennium, it is obvious that this dialogue will be especially important in establishing a sure basis for peace and warding off the dread specter of those wars of religion which have so often bloodied human history. The name of the one God must become increasingly what it is: a name of peace and a summons to peace."

John Paul II, Novo Millennio Ineunte 55, January 6, 2001

"I am thinking too of the great cultural influence of Syrian Islam, which under the Umayyad caliphs reached the farthest shores of the Mediterranean. Today, in a world that is increasingly complex and interdependent, there is a need for a new spirit of dialogue and cooperation between Christians and Muslims. Together we acknowledge the one indivisible God, the Creator of all that exists. Together we must proclaim to the world that the name of the one God is 'a name of peace and a summons to peace' (Novo Millennio Ineunte, 55)!"

John Paul II, on his arrival in Syria, May 5, 2001

"As-salamu 'alaikum!

"I give heartfelt praise to almighty God for the grace of this meeting. I am most grateful for your warm welcome in the tradition of hospitality so cherished by the people of this region. I thank especially the minister of the Waqf and the grand mufti for their gracious greetings, which put into words the great yearning for peace which fills the hearts of all people of good will. My jubilee pilgrimage has been marked by important meetings with Muslim leaders in Cairo and Jerusalem, and now I am deeply moved to be your guest here in the great Umayyad mosque, so rich in religious history. Your land is dear to Christians: Here our religion has known vital moments of its growth and doctrinal development, and here are found Christian communities which have lived in peace and harmony with their Muslim neighbors for many centuries.

"We are meeting close to what both Christians and Muslims regard as the tomb of John the Baptist, known as Yahya in the Muslim tradition. The son of Zechariah is a figure of prime importance in the history of Christianity, for he was the precursor who prepared the way for Christ. John's life, wholly dedicated to God, was crowned by martyrdom. May his witness enlighten all who venerate his memory here, so that they - and we too - may understand that life's great task is to seek God's truth and justice.

"The fact that we are meeting in this renowned place of prayer reminds us that man is a spiritual being, called to acknowledge and respect the absolute priority of God in all things. Christians and Muslims agree that the encounter with God in prayer is the necessary nourishment of our souls, without which our hearts wither and our will no longer strives for good but succumbs to evil.

"Both Muslims and Christians prize their places of prayer as oases where they meet the all-merciful God on the journey to eternal life and where they meet their brothers and sisters in the bond of religion. When, on the occasion of weddings or funerals or other celebrations, Christians and Muslims remain in silent respect at the other's prayer, they bear witness to what unites them without disguising or denying the things that separate.

"It is in mosques and churches that the Muslim and Christian communities shape their religious identity, and it is there that the young receive a significant part of their religious education. What sense of identity is instilled in young Christians and young Muslims in our churches and mosques? It is my ardent hope that Muslim and Christian religious leaders and teachers will present our two great religious communities as communities in respectful dialogue, never more as communities in conflict. It is crucial for the young to be taught the ways of respect and understanding, so that they will not be led to misuse religion itself to promote or justify hatred and violence. Violence destroys the image of the Creator in his creatures and should never be considered as the fruit of religious conviction.

"I truly hope that our meeting today in the Umayyad mosque will signal our determination to advance interreligious dialogue between the Catholic Church and Islam. This dialogue has gained momentum in recent decades; and today we can be grateful for the road we have traveled together so far. At the highest level, the Pontifical Council of Interreligious Dialogue represents the Catholic Church in this task. For more than 30 years the council has sent a message to Muslims on the occasion of 'Id al-Fitr at the close of Ramadan, and I am very happy that this gesture has been welcomed by many Muslims as a sign of growing friendship between us. In recent years the council has established a liaison committee with international Islamic organizations and also with al-Athar in Egypt, which I had the pleasure of visiting last year.

"It is important that Muslims and Christians continue to explore philosophical and theological questions together in order to come to a more objective and comprehensive knowledge of each others' religious beliefs. Better mutual understanding will surely lead at the practical level to a new way of presenting our two religions not in opposition, as has happened too often in the past, but in partnership for the good of the human family.

"Interreligious dialogue is most effective when it springs from the experience of 'living with each other' from day to day within the same community and culture. In Syria, Christians and Muslims have lived side by side for centuries, and rich dialogue of life has gone on unceasingly. Every individual and every family knows moments of harmony and other moments when dialogue has broken down. The positive experiences must strengthen our communities in the hope of peace; and the negative experiences should not be allowed to undermine that hope. For all the times that Muslims and Christians have offended one another, we need to seek forgiveness from the Almighty and offer each other forgiveness. Jesus teaches us that we must pardon others' offenses if God is to pardon us our sins (cf. Mt. 6:14).

"As members of the one human family and as believers, we have obligations to the common good, to justice and to solidarity. Interreligious dialogue will lead to many forms of cooperation, especially in responding to the duty to care for the poor and weak. These are the signs that our worship of God is genuine.

"As we make our way through life toward our heavenly destiny, Christians feel the company of Mary, the mother of Jesus; and Islam too pays tribute to Mary and hails her as 'chosen above the women of the world' (Quran, III:42). The virgin of Nazareth, the Lady of Saydnâya, has taught us that God protects the humble and "scatters the proud in the imagination of their hearts" (Lk. 1:51). May the hearts of Christians and Muslims turn to one another with feelings of brotherhood and friendship, so that the Almighty may bless us with the peace which heaven alone can give. To the one, merciful God be praise and glory forever. Amen.

John Paul II, address on his Visit to the Umayyad Great Mosque, May 6, 2001

"We know that prayer acquires power if it is joined with fasting and almsgiving. The Old Testament taught this, and from the earliest centuries Christians have accepted and applied this lesson, especially at the times of Advent and Lent. For their part, the Muslim faithful have just begun Ramadan, a month dedicated to fasting and prayer. Soon, we Christians will begin Advent, to prepare ourselves in prayer, for the celebration of Christmas, the day of the birth of 'the Prince of Peace.'

"At this appropriate time, I ask Catholics to make next 14 December [the last Friday of Ramadan and the third Friday of Advent] a day of fasting, to pray fervently to God to grant to the world stable peace based on justice, and make it possible to find adequate solutions to the many conflicts that trouble the world. May what is saved by fasting be put at the disposal of the poor, especially those who at present suffer the consequences of terrorism and war.

"I would also like to announce that it is my intention to invite the representatives of the world religions to come to Assisi on 24 January 2002, to pray for the overcoming of opposition and the promotion of authentic peace. In particular, we wish to bring Christians and Muslims together to proclaim to the world that religion must never be a reason for conflict, hatred and violence. In this historic moment, humanity needs to see gestures of peace and to hear words of hope.

"As I said 15 years ago, when announcing the meeting of prayer for peace, which was held in Assisi the following October: 'It is urgent that a common invocation rise to heaven from earth, to beg from Almighty God, in whose hands is the destiny of the world, the great gift of peace, the necessary condition for every serious endeavor at the service of humanity's real progress'."

Scalia has hand gesture for critics

UPI | March 28 2006

<http://www.upi.com/NewsTrack/view.php?Stor...27-100356-7854r>

U.S. Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia startled reporters in Boston just minutes after attending a mass, by making a hand gesture some consider obscene.

A Boston Herald reporter asked the 70-year-old conservative Roman Catholic if he faces much questioning over impartiality when it comes to issues separating church and state.

"You know what I say to those people?" Scalia replied, making the gesture and explaining "That's Sicilian."

The 20-year veteran of the high court was caught making the gesture by a photographer with The Pilot, the Archdiocese of Boston's newspaper.

"Don't publish that," Scalia told the photographer, the Herald said.

He was attending a special mass for lawyers and politicians at Cathedral of the Holy Cross, and afterward was the keynote speaker at the Catholic Lawyers' Guild luncheon.

Church fires photog over Scalia picture: Freelancer pays for 'right thing'

Jessica Heslam / Boston Herald | April 1 2006

<http://news.bostonherald.com/localRegional...932&format=text>

A freelance photographer has been fired by the Archdiocese of Boston's newspaper for releasing a picture of U.S. Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia making a controversial gesture in the Cathedral of the Holy Cross on Sunday.

Peter Smith, who had freelanced for The Pilot newspaper for a decade, lost the job yesterday after the Herald ran his photo on its front page. Smith said he has no regrets about releasing it.

"I did the right thing. I did the ethical thing," said Smith, 51, an assistant photojournalism professor at Boston University.

Smith snapped the photo of Scalia flicking his hand under his chin after a Herald reporter asked the conservative jurist his response to people who question his impartiality on matters of church and state.

Smith wouldn't give up the photo earlier this week but chose to release it when he learned Scalia said his gesture had been incorrectly characterized by the Herald. Smith, who was standing in front of the judge, said the Herald "got the story right."

Smith said the Pilot had an obligation at that point "to bring some clarity to it."

"I felt that same obligation," Smith said. "I had to say what I knew and come forward with it.."

The weekly Catholic newspaper made a "journalistic decision" not to run or release the photo, said Archdiocese spokesman Terry Donilon. "Because he breached that trust with the editor, we will no longer engage his services as a freelance photographer," Donilon said.

"It's nothing personal," added Pilot editor Antonio Enrique. "I need to try and find people I can trust."

While news outlets from across the country sought Smith's photo yesterday, the archdiocese said there's no proof that Scalia uttered an obscenity in the church. Smith said Scalia said, "To my critics, I say, 'Vaffanculo,' " while making the gesture. That's Italian for (expletive) you.

"It was pretty clear," Smith said yesterday. A Herald reporter who was nearby did not hear that utterance.

Title: Illegal Immigration and Race Riots?

Description: What Alberto Rivera had to say

Alexandra - March 31, 2006 04:49 PM (GMT)

Blueprint for a Catholic America

I questioned Dr. Rivera about the briefings he received in the Vatican when he was a Jesuit priest. I asked him if he was briefed on how the Vatican planned to take over the United States. He told me his indoctrination went back to the time of the Pilgrims. Because of the knowledge of the Inquisition and the slaughter of Christians by the Roman Catholic system, the early immigrants in America began passing laws to keep Jesuits out of this country and to outlaw the mass...to protect themselves from a Vatican take-over. These were Christian communities deeply concerned about the whore of Revelation.

Jesuits began arriving in America as early as the second group of Pilgrims. They used different names with I.D.'s. They were followed years later when the Vatican sent multitudes of Catholic families from England, Ireland and France posing as Protestants, into the colonies. These were plants. They were holding secret masses in defiance of the laws. In those days, no Roman Catholic was to hold any position in civil government. The Jesuits made sure this part of our history was erased and removed.

The next major move by the Jesuits was to destroy or control all the Christian schools across America. Throughout the years, Jesuits, working undercover, have gotten into special committees on school boards to remove the emphasis of the Bible and replace it with psychology as found in the Spiritual Exercises of Ignatius de Loyola, the founder of the Jesuit Society. Later, Catholic schools and universities sprang up all across the nation under the Jesuits. Today, they probably outnumber all the Christian schools and colleges put together.

The third stage was to move into the courts and legislation, and branches of the judiciary to take over as judges and lawyers, in order to manipulate the Constitution in their favor until it could be changed. Once this was accomplished, the thrust was into politics to capture the political parties. Then the military and the newspapers. Even back in the times of Lincoln over half the newspapers in the United States were controlled by the Vatican. [note: Look at our Supreme Court, majority is Catholic!]

Dr. Alberto Rivera (ex-Jesuit priest)

I asked Dr. Rivera: What about the military picture today? How Catholic is our military position? [And this was in the early 1980s!]

Dr. Rivera said: Horrifying.

I then asked about the political picture.

Dr. Rivera said: It is even worse.

Then I said: What about the Catholic structure in the judiciary?

Dr. Rivera shook his head and said: It is very painful because of the heavy Jesuit penetration in this area. Most of the judicial decisions are distorting and perverting the Constitution of the United States to take away our freedoms, preparing the way for anarchy for the final take-over of the United States.

Then I said: Is this preparing the way for the coming inquisition?

And Dr. Rivera said: That's correct. First for anarchy. We were briefed that after all these years of penetration and infiltration, what was needed was riots and anarchy in order to finally take over. By the time the Roman Catholic Institution is ready to take over politically, militarily, educationally, and religiously, that means they will have some legal basis to do so and this will be through the concordat which has already been prepared and that is being already negotiated. I see happening right now what I was told during those briefings back in the Vatican.

Then I said to him: Is the Vatican behind our present recession and economic situation, and is this leading us towards the coming riots?

Dr. Rivera said: Yes, that's correct, You can see right now that the Vatican is playing certain tricks with the economy. The world is going through an economic crisis and the Vatican would have us to believe that it is affecting them also. This is just a cover-up.

And then I said: What about the possibility of strikes? And how deeply are they involved in the unions?

Dr. Rivera replied: The Roman Catholic Institution has prepared that well, because the unions are led by the Jesuits in this country. What this means is the unions will never rest until they see that every industry in this country collapses.

Then I said: What do you see as a hope for the United States? A revival among the Christians and they actually start exposing Rome and pastors start preaching this from the pulpits, or is it already too late?

Dr Rivera replied: It's never too late because it's in the hands of the Lord. What I believe with all my heart through the study of the scriptures plus my personal experience with the harlot is that, prophetically speaking, God is going to fulfill His prophecy, and He will allow these prophecies to take place in the United States. But it is a matter of time. What we are dealing with here is that God can either shorten or lengthen the time until these events take place. The Roman Catholic Institution is feeling the impact of your publications, and the message that God has given us during these last days in the sense that they themselves know that if they carry out certain actions, people will immediately detect and will recognize what the Vatican is up to.

This is one of the dilemmas they face right now. If it were not for the publications we printed, we would be in a different situation today. What that means is the Lord has granted every Christian, pastor and church in the United States, without them even being aware of it, and even those who are opposing us, they are being preserved and the Lord is giving us more time in order that the Christians may respond.

If we act according to the will of God in these prophetic days against the tricks, programs and actions of the harlot in the United States, we will not be able to destroy her. We will not be able to stop her. But we will be able to do two things: First, to carry the message of the gospel to the lost Roman Catholic people. Second, we will have time enough for the Christian church to realize that her mission is here and now - not tomorrow. And God is just waiting for the church to act in order to restrain the forces of evil, the powers of darkness, the pope, the Jesuits and the Catholic institution from committing the crimes she is about to put into action the minute she completely takes over the United States.

Then I said: Now this is the information you received in the Vatican under the teachings of Augustin Cardinal Bea and the Jesuit General Pedro Arrupe?

And Dr. Rivera said: Yes, and also from the previous Jesuit General.

Then I said: Were they very confident of taking over the United States?

And Dr. Rivera said: Very much so, very confident. They have the necessary influence to control either political party, regardless of whichever party is in power, and they will have their goals accomplished.

Then I said: So they now have the influence to control both political parties?

And Dr. Rivera said: Yes.

Then I said: They control our post office? And the media?

And Dr. Rivera said: Let's put it this way. The word control, I don't think is the proper word right now. I will say this. There is a very strong influence. There is a certain amount of control, but it is not absolute control in any of the areas. This is why we are still blessed by the fact that there are still men in the FBI, there are men in the CIA, men in the Congress, men in the Senate, men in the judicial system, men in every strata of life in the United States that still, many not even being Christians, are still Americans, that are still loyal to the principles of the Constitution as given from the beginning, not as it is now.

And then I said: Okay, who are the Knights of Columbus loyal to? Where does their loyalty stand? With the United States, or with the Vatican?

Dr. Rivera said: The Knights of Columbus have to give their loyalty to the pope. They cannot base it on the constitution of the United States because they would be destroyed by the Vatican if they did so, as others have been destroyed in the past.

Then I said: Will the Knights of Columbus play a vital part in the attack against the Christians when the U.S. falls?

Dr. Rivera said: Oh, yes. In fact, in their oath, you can see how close their alliance is to the pope. They committed themselves to be killed or destroyed if they fail to comply with their oath. They ask the militia of the pope, the Jesuits, to put them to death. They are committed to make America Catholic.

Then I said: Thank God we've had the privilege of printing these books.

And Dr. Rivera said: Yes, the privilege and the blessing of the Lord.

And then I thanked Him.

GIGA FRAUD IS BUSH/CLINTON FRAUD

Special Counsel Patrick Fitzgerald has expanded his investigation to include a whopping 27 trillion dollars theft from the U.S. Treasury. Dating back to the 1980's and then the failed attempt to arrest Marc Rich in 1993, the Clinton/Bush Crime Syndicate have used their Swiss Children's Defense Fund bank accounts to expand, control and leverage over various U.S. national security proprietary accounts for their own personal use.

It can now be reported that Wildcard aka Lt. Michael Vreeland legendary 9-11 whistleblower (refer Udday Hussein letter) has now uncovered a video tape of Lesbo-Queen Hillary Clinton entering the Crozier Bank in Grenada in early 2003 and withdrawing billions of laundered U.S. Treasury funds. This transaction made by Lesbo-Queen Hillary Rodenhurst Clit-ton was in direct violation of Title18, Section 6 of the Corporate Proprietary Banking Statutes.

These secret proprietary's represent stolen U.S. Treasury funds plus the U.S./French commissions due from the noted 1980's Russian Ruble Project. One of the major players aware of the British theft of the U.S. French Intelligence commissions is Sir Casper Weinberger. Sir Weinberger now dead. Question: Explain what it means to be a Jesuit.

About Jesuits

- Founded: 1540 in Spain by St. Ignatius of Loyola.
- Purpose of the order: St. Ignatius simply offered himself and his companions to the pope for them to be available for whatever the pope saw as the greatest need.
- Other information: Jesuits are the largest missionary order in the world. There are 20,000 Jesuits worldwide (about 3,000 in the U.S.).

Answer: A Jesuit is a member of a religious order of the Roman Catholic Church known more specifically as the Society of Jesus. A Jesuit may be either a priest or a brother. Only men can become Jesuits.

Q: How, if at all, is Jesuit spirituality distinct from other Catholic views?

A: Jesuit spirituality (Ignatian spirituality, named for the founder, St. Ignatius of Loyola) is distinctive in that it seeks to find God in all things. It assumes that God loves us and is already present and active in our lives. It relies heavily on the use of the imagination as a resource for knowing God more deeply. It offers a structured approach to discerning major decisions in one's life.

Q: Explain a little bit about the work you do at Brebeuf.

A: I am the rector. A rector is a superior appointed by the Superior General in Rome following the recommendation of a Jesuit provincial and his consulters. That's not a full-time job. I work in the school in adult faith formation.

Q: How do Jesuits contribute to religious life in Indianapolis?

A: In various ways. One of our Jesuits is a hospital chaplain at St. Francis Hospital in Beech Grove. The other four Jesuit priests in our community work in various capacities in the school, but we also assist in parishes on weekends and special occasions.

Q: What challenges do you face in your ministry?

A: I think the principal challenge is educating people in Ignatian spirituality and offering that as an additional resource to Catholics and others in the city. There is a richness in the variety of Christian spiritualities that exist because of the contributions of different religious orders here. Q: Where do you see God working in people's lives?

A: I see it in the dedication of our teachers who give so much of themselves to educate the whole person. It's what we call the "Grad at Grad." We strive to turn out graduates who are intellectually competent, open to growth, religious, loving, committed to justice. That requires an openness on the part of teachers to be available to their students the entire day. I also see it in the lives of individuals I encounter who are searching for God in their lives, like the student who publicly apologized to his parents for being so troublesome to them after he made his senior retreat. Mostly I see it in the fidelity of people who continue to try to live responsibly each day.

Q: Among the vows of poverty, chastity, obedience and mission (to serve at the will of the pope), which is the most difficult and why?

A: Personally, I think it is obedience because obedience is not simply doing what someone else orders you to do. Obedience means both knowing your superior well enough to be confident in his guidance and judgment and also knowing yourself well enough, and humbly enough, to be able to own one's talents and skills as well as failures.

Q: Which is your favorite?

A: I never thought of the vows as things that were favorites or not, but in that sense, I'd say the vow to mission is the most exciting. Jesuits take a fourth vow to the Holy Father for mission. This means that the Jesuit has to be ready to be called to go anywhere in the world the church may need him.

Engraved On America's Tombstone?

By Frosty Wooldridge

In 476 AD, Rome vanished into the history books. It was a heck of a run: Rome began as a Republic; it conquered most of the known world; it became an empire; it enjoyed slavery; it built lavish architecture still admired into the 21st century; Rome constructed the Coliseum where one million men were slaughtered in 200 years of the 'games'; it partied with decadence in wine, women and song; Mark Anthony and Cleopatra's passions are the stuff of legends; finally, Julius Caesar took knives in his gut; et tu Brutus?

You've read Rome's demise in history books. Shakespeare immortalized great moments. You've seen the movies with Charlton Heston, Yul Brenner and Elizabeth Taylor. Rome's greatness stretched for centuries, but it was put to rest on the Boot Hill of history.

We see the similarities of Rome manifesting in America in the early years of the 21st century. Republic to empire; military bases in 100 countries around the world; Donald Trump nauseates us with his skyscrapers; 100,000 seat NFL stadiums entertaining the masses with outrageous salaried 'gladiators' and booze; Brad and Angelina's endless nothingness; young men dying without reason in the contrived Iraq war; et tu Bushtus?

What will be engraved on America's tombstone if it doesn't stop the Mexican invasion? Who will write the words? Why did it happen? Who aided it within America's borders? Will they be brought to justice? Why did they do it to their own country? To their own children? To the future?

A noble citizen wrote me last week with quotes from the late Ayn Rand, "Which of these two variants of statism are we moving toward: socialism or fascism?"

"To answer this question," she said, "one must first ask: which is the dominant ideological trend of today's culture?"

"The disgraceful and terrifying answer is: there is no ideological trend today. There is no ideology. There are no political principles, theories, ideals, or philosophy. There is no direction, no goal, no compass, no vision of the future, no intellectual element of leadership. Are there any emotional elements dominating today's culture? Yes! One! Fear!

"A country without a political philosophy is like a ship drifting at random in mid-ocean, at the mercy of any chance wind, wave, or current, a ship whose passengers huddle in their cabins and cry--"Don't rock the boat!"-for fear of discovering that the captain's bridge is empty. (Bush is our captain)

"It is obvious that a boat which cannot stand rocking is doomed already and that it had better be rocked hard, if it is to regain its course-but this realization presupposes a grasp of facts, of reality, of principles and a long-range view, all of which are precisely the things that the "non-rockers" are frantically struggling to evade.

"Just as a neurotic believes that the facts of reality will vanish if he refuses to recognize them (Bush's current path)-so, today, the neurosis of an entire culture leads men to believe that their desperate need of political principles and concepts will vanish if they succeed in obliterating all principles and concepts. But since, in fact, neither an individual nor a nation can exist without some form of ideology, this sort of anti-ideology is now the formal, explicit, dominant ideology of our bankrupt culture. This anti-ideology has a new and very ugly name: it is called "Government by Consensus." --Ayn Rand, Ford Hall Lecture, 1965

The noble citizen explained, "At some point in our history, we are going to have to deal with the "Mexicanization" of our Southwest and the Left Coast. The issues are pretty simple, but they are too complicated for politicians because they involve money.

"When mobs of illegals congregate in an American neighborhood, who is surprised that crime goes up? People who come illegally from Mexico often bring the "culture" of their home town with them, and that culture is the corrupt, immoral and scofflaw type that persists in Mexican cities. In Mexico, the cops are corrupt too, and whoever has the payola to keep them away--rules the neighborhood. The government is a bunch of "rich good old boys" in the Mexican sense, who aspire to greatness on top of a garbage heap. Only tourism and money sent home by illegals maintains stability.

"It is inevitable that politicians arising from this mass will manifest the culture from which they come. It's already happening, and the "what's in it for me" attitude of a lot of Hispanic politicians who cultivate the illegal "vote" and establishment of "citizen's rights" for illegals in places like southern California is subject to become epidemic in areas of high Mexican concentration. It's already costing the Southwestern states billions every year, just for infrastructure adjustment. So much for the "desirability" of having people who "do jobs Americans won't do." Americans are capable of mowing their own lawns and taking care of their own homes and children. This is a superfluous and specious argument, and does nothing to rationally support the millions of illegals establishing themselves every year on American territory.

"Yes, there are good people among them. But they are all illegals, and searching for a better life has different meanings depending on the level of cultural awareness and desire to assimilate. A separate Mexican community adds little to any city, and creates a lot of law enforcement problems. They bring corruption with them, and some of the problems are those of very dangerous and violent gang nature."

He warned, "Don't think it can't happen. It is happening. Not even the United States can assimilate this many third world people at this rate."

To say the least, Bush exhibits incompetence and constancy. Better that he were competent so he would change course much like the Captain of the Titanic should have! Ayn Rand and this reader's words might be a sobering description of America's tombstone. How is it that an entire nation got fat, stupid and lazy within 50 years of WWII? How is it that half the nation doesn't vote in national elections and less than 10 percent in local elections? How come their remote control garners more importance than participating in their republic's course?

What more will historians write on America's tombstone?

"Here lies America. In 230 years, she won all her battles. She safeguarded mankind's yearning for freedom. She created the greatest opportunity for the most people in the history of the world. She brought the world foreign aid, the Red Cross, Peace Corps, food to tsunami and earthquake victims, and health care. For 230 years, she maintained her sovereignty by guarding her borders. But something happened during the last fateful years of her existence. She, like Rome, left her borders open. A massive horde of foreigners broke into her inner being. Like a cancer, that multitude dismantled every aspect of her political and physical being.

America lost its language and fractured into rival ethnic factions bent on destroying her. America's armies fought contrived wars elsewhere while her leaders pandered for yet more money and power at the expense of integrity. Her president and Congress violated their oaths of office while ignoring the U.S. Constitution. Her people neglected to participate in their Republic. Massive demonstrations of lawless illegal aliens trampled the American flag in the streets of Los Angeles. Where America sustained laws, she became lawless. Where honor once guided America's government, malfeasance reigned."

What do you resolve to reverse this tombstone and reclaim your country?

Interesting you should say that, 2TUFF, because Leon Kilkenny, who runs the reformation.org site, made that same comparison.

If I remember right he claims that there were four empires in the Old Testament time, and four in the New Testament time. Rome=OT, America=NT.

Here's the text of this:

The U.S. in Bible Prophecy!!

Last updated Jan 14, 2001

- 1....Babylon Spain
- 2....Persia France
- 3....Greece Great Britain
- 4....Rome United States

Around 517 B.C., Daniel the Prophet was given a preview of the last quarter of Jewish and world history right up to the First and Second Comings of the Messiah....He saw four great Empires that would rise and rule the world.

The first vision of the four empires was presented under the type of a huge statue of a man with four different metals corresponding to the four empires (Daniel chapter 2).

- (1) Babylon was the head of gold
- (2) Medo-Persia was the breast and arms of silver
- (3) Greece was the belly and thighs of brass
- (4) Rome was the legs and toes of iron and clay

These four empires were again presented to him in a vision but this time as wild beasts (Daniel chapter 7):

- (1) Babylon as a lion with eagle's wings
- (2) Medo-Persia as a bear with 3 ribs in its mouth
- (3) Greece as a leopard with four heads and four wings
- (4) Rome as a nondescript wild beast: dreadful, terrible, strong exceeding, iron teeth, nails of brass, crushing, devouring and breaking everything in its path.

The First Empire was the Babylonian Empire

The hanging gardens of Babylon was one of the 7 wonders of the ancient world. The first Empire, Babylon, was founded by King Nebuchadnezzar, best known for his hanging gardens - one of the 7 wonders of the world.

The Second Empire was the Persian Empire

Cyrus the Great, King of Persia.

Cyrus the Great, founder of the Medo-Persian Empire. He issued the famous decree allowing the Jews to return and re-build the Temple in 457 B.C. The first great clash between the ram and he-goat (Persia and Greece) occurred about 410 B.C., at the Battle of Marathon. This is where the marathon race originated.

The Third Empire was the Greek or Macedonian Empire

Alexander the Great.

Alexander the Great, founder of the Greek Empire was symbolized as a leopard with 4 wings. Upon his death his empire was divided up among his four generals: Cassander ruled Greece, Lysimachus ruled Asia Minor, Seleucus, ruled Syria and Babylon, and Ptolemy ruled Egypt. Cleopatra, Queen of Egypt, was descended from this dynasty.

This Empire gave the world a universal language. Christ is derived from the Greek word Christos meaning anointed.

The Fourth Empire was the Roman Empire

Julius Caesar

Julius Caesar was the founder of the fourth beast: Imperial Rome....Rome was a Republic like the United States and the very idea of a king was repugnant to the Roman Senate who finally got rid of him by assassination....Shakespeare wrote a famous play about his life.

Caesar was assassinated on the IDES of March (full moon) as the Roman Senate considered it a very lucky time to get rid of a dictator.

Imperial Rome was indeed a killer unparalleled in human history. War was their business and passion. Julius Caesar was reported to have killed over 1 million Celts in his conquest of Gaul alone.

Imperial Rome was a military State

Imperial Roman soldiers

Imperial Rome did not have an army . . . it was an army. Everything was subservient to the military who controlled all aspects of life. The army even appointed the Emperor.... The famous Roman roads, the aqueducts, the baths, the infamous Coliseum, etc., etc. were all built by them. From the cradle to the grave Rome was a military state that lived by the sword.

Rome was infamous as a TAX collector They used the revenue of conquered countries to hire more mercenaries in order to invade more countries. The Messiah was born in Bethlehem during the world-wide taxing of Augustus Caesar:

"And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed" (Luke 2: 1).

This was most probably held in the Springtime as most of the money would go to support the military and armies always began their campaigns of conquest in the Spring.

Approximate Dates of the 4 Empires

Empire Date

Babylonian 525 B.C.— 457 B.C.

Medo-Persian 457 B.C.— 332 B.C.

Greece 332 B.C. — 30 B.C.

Imperial Rome 30 B.C. — 476 A.D.

Around 30 B.C., Julius Caesar conquered Egypt (or rather Egypt conquered Julius Caesar) and this was the official beginning of the reign of the fourth wild beast empire. This was about 70 years before the Messiah began His ministry in the 15th year of Tiberius Caesar, around 27 A.D.

The last 500 years are an exact duplicate of the last quarter of Jewish history!!
The last four empires of prophecy

- (1) Spain
- (2) France
- (3) Great Britain — England, Ireland, Scotland
- (4) United States

When the last quarter began at the glorious Reformation, the Spanish Empire ruled the world. This was the largest empire in history. It comprised all the New World: North and South America, the Philippines, the Netherlands, the holy Roman Empire, parts of Italy etc., etc. This was a golden empire indeed considering all the gold that the Conquistadors stole from the Indians of South America.

The first Empire was the Spanish Empire

Philip II of Spain.

Philip II of Spain typified the Spanish Empire. Like Nebuchadnezzar, he was an absolute autocrat and persecutor of God's people. Like Neb, he made the furnace 7 times hotter in his mad rage against the Reformed Christians. He was behind the ill-fated "invincible Armada" of 1588.

However, the scepter slipped from Spain's hands because she bitterly opposed the Reformation. Hundreds of thousands of Protestants perished by fire and sword of the Inquisition led by Ignatius LIEola...As in ancient Babylon the furnace was heated 7 times hotter for the believers (Dan ch. 3).

Spain received a deadly blow at the time of the Spanish Armada (1588) from which she never recovered.

The Second Empire was the French Empire

After the 30 Years' War in Europe, (1618—1648) France emerged as the next great power. Reformed Christians were given a measure of relief from persecution by the Peace of Westphalia. French influence in the world reached its height during this time. France acquired vast possessions in Canada, a large part of the present day United States, colonies in North Africa, the Far East and especially Vietnam.

Cardinal Richelieu

Napoleon Bonaparte

Louis XIV

Cardinal Richelieu, Napoleon Bonaparte, Louis XIV., were some of the outstanding rulers of the French Empire.

France was the most influential country in the world right up to the time of Napoleon and Waterloo. After Waterloo, French hegemony began to decline.

The Third Empire was the British Empire

France was replaced on the world stage by Great Britain. The British Empire was the largest in the world since the Spanish. The sun never set on this Empire.....Hibernia was a vital part of Great Britain from about 1801 to 1945.

Just as the third empire Greece gave the world a universal language, so Great Britain gave the world the incomparable English language and above all the universal dissemination of the English authorized King James Bible.

Queen Victoria (reigned from 1837-1901).

Her Royal Highness Queen Victoria was Queen of Great Britain and Empress of India. She was descended from the dynasty founded by St. Columba and was crowned on the "Stone of Destiny" or Lia Fail which he brought from Hibernia. Her reign of 63 years and 7 months was the longest of any British monarch.

Australia and New Zealand were colonized by subjects of her gracious majesty Queen Victoria. Africa was explored and opened up to the outside world by great Scots such as David Livingstone.

The Victorian era was the greatest era of exploration and discovery in history. The greatest advances in human knowledge took place during this brief span of 130 years. The Grecian empire was symbolized by a leopard with wings - a very swift animal. The invention of the steam engine by James Watt (another great Scot) gave wings to the British Empire and speeded the civilization of the entire world.

During the reign of her Majesty Queen Victoria there occurred one of the greatest fulfillment of Bible prophecy in history, namely the Fall of the Papal States in 1870.

Great Britain ruled 1/4 of the globe in 1914

In 1914, the British Empire encompassed almost a quarter of the globe!!
Rome, Rockefeller and Roosevelt plotted World War I to destroy the British Empire.

The Fourth Empire is the U.S. Pax Romana

World War II brought about the decline of Great Britain from the world stage and the rise of the fourth and last world empire: the United States.

The founders of the U.S., like the ancient Romans, were Republicans and hated kings and dictators. Our founding fathers wanted no foreign entanglements with any nation. They envisioned a benevolent empire bringing the blessings of peace to the world . . . not a malevolent destructive empire!!

They were a brave, practical, industrious, inventive, and above all great builders. Most of the original founders of the U.S. and most of the soldiers that fought for liberty during the Civil War were Protestants by religion.

After the Fall of the Papal States in 1870 the Roman Empire in Europe was reduced to nothing. At that time, Emperor Pius IX ordered his minions to move to America and take over that great country.

Taking advantage of the chaos caused by the Great Depression and WW II, the U.S. government was hijacked by an alien force. The country became like Imperial Rome, a brutal military dictatorship....

Atomic bombing of Hiroshima, Japan.

The fourth wild beast made her dreadful debut upon the world stage in 1945 with the atomic bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Japan. During the Korean War, General MacArthur wanted to nuke China.

In 1954, the U.S. was about to nuke the Vietnamese fighting for their independence from the French. Many times during the Cold War, the Soviet Union was threatened with annihilation by nuclear weapons.

Remember Daniel said that the fourth empire would be "Dreadful and terrible . . . strong exceeding . . . iron teeth . . . crushing, devouring, breaking everything in its path....."(Dan. 7:7).

Ever since World War II, the country has been in a state of cold war with the former Soviet Union and hot wars with Korea, Vietnam, Panama, Somalia, Iraq and now the naked aggression against Yugoslavia. God only knows how many were murdered by the U.S. since the end of WW II.

In Vietnam alone, 2 millions Buddhists were murdered by the U.S. military. Millions have perished in Iraq since that war began almost a decade ago.

Just like Imperial Rome, the military has virtual control of all aspects of life - the President, Senate, Congress, Supreme Court, Judiciary, TV, newspapers, radio, Hollywood, schools, universities, etc., etc. Over half of all taxes collected (300 billion dollars) goes to the Pentagon and its budget is GROWING!!

American imperialism is not just confined to the military. The most important is dollar imperialism, followed by economics, big business, all branches of the media — Hollywood, TV, newspapers, radio etc., etc. Even the most basic necessities of life like food and drink are included (McDonalds and Coca-Cola) and the millions killed by the deadly weed called cigarettes.

Just like the 4 ancient empires, the movement of these empires was always westward ho! - like the journey of the sun through the sky....Hitler tried to upset God's map but he ended up a miserable failure!!

The good news is that Daniel saw a stone cut out without hands that smote the image on the feet and ground it to powder. This is the Second Coming of Christ and we can confidently expect that the U.S. will be last brutal world empire before time ends and eternity begins.

"Forasmuch as thou sawest that the stone was cut out without hands, and it brake in pieces the iron, the brass, the clay, the silver, and the gold; the great God hath made known to the king what shall come to pass hereafter: and the dream is certain, and the interpretation thereof sure" (Daniel 2:45).

The Last Judgment:

"I beheld till the thrones were cast down, and the Ancient of days did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the hair of his head like the pure wool: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheels as burning fire. A fiery stream issued and came forth from before him: thousand thousands ministered unto him, and ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him: the judgment was set, and the books were opened" (Daniel 7:9-10).

Even so come quickly Lord Jesus (Rev. 22.19).

Title: Q&A on the Black Pope using India

Description: -Eric Phelps

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 28, 2006 02:24 AM (GMT)

Dear Brother Cxxxxx,

Yes. If I was the Black Pope, I would use India, which I have controlled since I broke that nation away from the British Empire in 1948 via Ghandi, to war on the huge Moslem nation of Pakistan. I control the Pakistani ISI via the CIA as well as Indian Intelligence. With the US on the West coast, Russia to the North and India to the East, I could make a temporary alliance with these nations for the crushing of 200,000,000 Moslems. Then after the mass-murder, I would unite Russia with what is left of the Moslem nations as well as with China, and then attack the US. Britain will be united with the Pope's new European Empire by that time and thus will not be a target.

This is a possible scenario that would accomplish the purpose of Jesuit Francis Xavier who said, "Give me a world without Moslems and Jews."

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric

Mark Brewer - March 28, 2006 07:49 AM (GMT)

If the Jesuits are going to try to destroy Islam, then why did Jesuit trained Bill Clinton sign the Iraq Liberation Act into law in 1998, which ultimately was responsible for George W. Bush's war in 2003? Bush's war has given power to the Supreme Council for the Islamic Revolution in Iraq, which is backed by the Iranian government. Why did Clinton/NATO attack the Serbs in 1999 to help out the Islamic Kosovo Liberation Army? Why did Knight of Malta William Casey allow the Iranian government to be armed by the U.S. during the Iran-Contra affair? Why did Jimmy Carter, the first president to allow the Pope into the White House, betray the Shah and help Khomeini come to power? Why was Knight of Malta Ronald Reagan so supportive of the Taliban? Why does the Vatican always favor Moslems over Jews?

Alexandra - March 28, 2006 05:08 PM (GMT)

Mark, go to Chick.com and you can read the comic book "The Prophet" online, and I think it'll explain a lot.

Keep in mind that in Islam they venerate/honor/whatever the Virgin Mary as well. And the Vatican created Islam for the purpose of chasing the Jews out of Jerusalem. (Of course along the way the Muslims metaphorically flipped off the pope and said Jerusalem was theirs--so then we had the Crusades.)

Mark Brewer - March 28, 2006 09:45 PM (GMT)

I have read The Prophet several times as well as all of the Alberto comic books. The most interesting claim that was made in The Prophet was that the Vatican has close ties to high ranking Muslims today. The majority of my posts on this board have backed up that statement.

Alexandra - March 28, 2006 11:47 PM (GMT)

Cool, Mark, I have all the comics too! :)

So you know what I'm referring to then.

How about JP2 kissing the Koran? And the little drama bit where JP2 forgives the guy that shot him?

COMMITTEE ON BANKS, FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS AND CURRENCIES

(BLUE RIBBON)PHILIPPINE CONSULATE GENERAL BUILDING 2433 PALI HIGHWAY, HONOLULU, HAWAII 96817 ON OCTOBER 27, 1999, 2:00 P.M.

AT 2:00 P.M., THE CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE ON ACCOUNTABILITY OF PUBLIC OFFICERS AND INVESTIGATIONS, HON. AQUILINO Q. PIMENTEL, JR., CALLED THE HEARING TO ORDER. THE CHAIRMAN.

All right, I think we can begin. This session of the Blue Ribbon Committee will now proceed. And we are here in Honolulu in connection with the decision of the Committee to take the deposition of Mr. Enrique Zobel who has kindly agreed to cooperate with the Committee and inform the Committee everything that he knows regarding the existence of the so-called "Marcos Wealth" whatever this might be whether in the Philippines or elsewhere. And the Committee is proceeding on the basis of Philippine Resolution Nos. 450 by Senators Sergio Osmeña III and Philippine Resolution No. and 458 by Senator Franklin Drilon.

This hearing today will be the ninth public hearing conducted by this Committee, and for purposes of record, we have our usual quorum provider even in Honolulu, Senator Juan Flavio Velasco, who is around--who has arrived this morning and he is now with us. And we are also privileged to have the Consul General, the Hon. Minerva Jean A. Falcon, who will in fact be the administering officer to place the oath, to put Mr. Zobel under oath regarding his testimony this afternoon.

We also have the Solicitor General of the country, the Hon. Ricardo P. Galvez, as well as Commissioner from the PCGG, Atty. Antonio Rosales and, of course, the former Solicitor General Frank A. Chavez, and the staff of the Blue Ribbon Committee, Atty. Eddie Tamondong, who is the General Counsel of the Blue Ribbon Committee; Atty. So, we can now proceed with the statements that Mr. Zobel might make, but before we do that, I would like to present for the affirmation of Mr. Zobel a 14-page affidavit which I have here with me and which I will ask Mr. Zobel whether or not this is his affidavit including the corrections that are found on certain pages of this affidavit. And so, Mr. Zobel, may we ask you if this affidavit which I am presenting to you is your affidavit?

MR. ZOBEL. (Reading the affidavit page by page with the assistance of his secretary). There are annexes.

THE CHAIRMAN. Where are the annexes? Referring to Atty. Tamondong).

MR. TAMONDONG. We have copies of that.

THE CHAIRMAN. Maybe later when he can introduce the annexes. This is now the very text, `no.

MR. ZOBEL. That's all correct.

THE CHAIRMAN. So, the Consul General will ask Mr. Zobel the appropriate questions.

MS. FALCON. Please state your name.

MR. ZOBEL. Enrique J. Zobel.

MS. FALCON. Please state your personal circumstances.

MR. ZOBEL. 1475 Ihiloa Loop, Honolulu, Hawaii

MS. FALCON. Where? Place of birth.

MR. ZOBEL. Manila.

MS. FALCON. Civil status, sir.

MR. ZOBEL. Married.

MS. FALCON. As duly cognizant of this hearing, I would like to swear you in, sir, at this moment. Will you swear to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth before this august body, the Blue Ribbon Committee of the Senate of the Philippines.

MR. ZOBEL. Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN. Do you affirm the contents of this affidavit?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes.

MS. FALCON. Having read the affidavit presented to you consisting of 14 pages, do you affirm the contents of the affidavit as having been--as your affidavit?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes.

MS. FALCON. The deponent, Sir, having been duly sworn and the affidavit has been duly attested.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. And probably we go through the process of thumbprint. The whole trouble is I don't think you have a [thumb mark here], stamp pad.

MR. ZOBEL. We have a red one.

THE CHAIRMAN. Ah, you have already one. Never mind, it's okay. No matter what you call it. It's all right. Yes, okay. So, we will ask Mr. Zobel now to thumbprint each and every page of his 14-page affidavit which he has verified to be his own and...

MR. ZOBEL. Mabuti nandito si Mr. Rosales, may itatanong ako. Bakit ang PCGG hindi ako inasikaso noong una. Bakit? Hindi ikaw, ang boss mo.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. So, for the record, the 14-page affidavit of Mr. Zobel has been thumbprinted by him and we would like to ask Solicitor General Frank Chavez and Mr. Rosales to act as witnesses, so that...

MR. CHAVEZ. Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes.

MR. CHAVEZ. I think that it is customary from Mr. Zobel staff to verify his affidavit.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Yeah, but this has been done in our presence anyway, so that's why I feel....

MR. ZOBEL. Iyong mga annex. I have here.

THE CHAIRMAN. The annexes of this affidavit will be presented during the course of your testimony. So, we will now proceed with the signing of the witnesses to the thumbprinting of this affidavit.

MR. CHAVEZ. On each and every page.

THE CHAIRMAN. On each and every page, please. While Mr. Chavez and Mr. Rosales are signing as witnesses, we would like to place on record that Mr. Enrique Zobel is a witness of the Committee. He is not a witness of any particular person, and it was through the Committee's effort that Mr. Zobel very kindly agreed to give his testimony this afternoon. As Mr. Zobel pointed out, there are supposed to be annexes attached to this affidavit and we will try to get them into the records as we go through his testimony. So, for purposes of expediency, we will now ask Mr. Zobel to make a preliminary statement if he should care to do so.

MR. ZOBEL In June of 1992, I first revealed my talks with former President Marcos while he was still in exile here in Honolulu. Our discussions had one objective: The return of the Marcos wealth to the Philippines through a foundation to be established for that purpose. Through television interviews as well as interviews through the printed media, I detailed our discussions, including elements of a Trust Agreement that Marcos asked me to prepare. I also revealed how Mrs. Aquino declined to act favorably on Marcos's plans, for reasons she would be best positioned to explain. And I did these because...

THE CHAIRMAN. Naririnig mo ba? Excuse me, excuse me, because our stenographer is having difficulty. Maybe we should bring that sound system closer.

THE SECRETARY. We'll give a copy.

THE CHAIRMAN. Ah, you'll give us a copy. All right. Wait a minute. Mr. Baylon will now read the statement of Mr. Zobel for clarity's sake and so everybody can hear what the statement is all about, but we will have to place you under oath, Mr. Baylon.

MS. FALCON. Please raise your right hand. Swears in Mr Baylon). Please state your name, address.

MR. BAYLON. Jose Bayani Baylon, 90 Mindanao Avenue, Ayala Alabang.

MS. FALCON. Personal circumstances.

MR. BAYLON. Born September 25, 1962, Manila, single.

MS. FALCON. Do you swear that you will faithfully read the statement of Mr. Zobel as prepared?

MR. BAYLON. Yes, I do.

THE CHAIRMAN. Please proceed. Start from page I.

MR. BAYLON. (Reading). Statement of Mr. Enrique Zobel, Honolulu, Hawaii, October 27, 1999. In June of 1992, I first revealed my talks with former President Marcos while he was still in exile here in Honolulu. Our discussions had one objective: The return of the Marcos wealth to the Philippines through a foundation to be established for that purpose. Through television interviews as well as interviews through the printed media, I detailed our discussions, including elements of a Trust Agreement that Marcos asked me to prepare. I also revealed how Mrs. Aquino declined to act favorably on Marcos's plans, for reasons she would be best positioned to explain. And I did these because I felt that time was of the essence: that the longer we waited to settle the issue of the Marcos wealth, the more difficult it would be for us to put our past behind and move on.

It has been over seven (7) years since I first went public, and to this day nothing substantive has been accomplished. Even the PCGG has not been honest to the public as, I believe, it should print in full detail what it found, what it sold and what arrangement it had made with the cronies after all, taxpayers have paid for all of these and yet nothing on what they have done or what funds they have recuperated with transparency to the general public.

For whatever it is worth, I put myself at the disposal of the Honorable Senators of the Republic today, here in Honolulu, hoping that this time around we can finish what we should have finished long ago.

End of statement.

THE CHAIRMAN . Mr. Zobel, was that a faithful reading of the contents of your statement made by Mr. Baylon?

MR. ZOBEL. That's correct.

THE CHAIRMAN. That's correct.

MR. ZOBEL. I will give you a copy.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. As copies will be given to the Committee as well as to media if you want. All right. So, in your affidavit, Mr. Zobel, page I of your affidavit, I understand that in October of 1988, former President Ferdinand Marcos dictated a promissory note for the sum of TWO HUNDRED FIFTY MILLION DOLLARS that he supposedly wanted to borrow from you. Would you know what was the intention of Mr. Marcos for borrowing that amount from you?

MR. ZOBEL. He wanted to borrow that money but I told him I did not have that kind of money.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, in your affidavit there is a statement that you also have an Annex "A" of this supposed promissory note, do you have that Annex "A"?

MR. ZOBEL. I have.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. It's here. I'm handed a piece of paper bearing the name, Ferdinand E. Marcos Promissory Note and I'd like to show this to Mr. Zobel to tell us if this is a reproduction or a--it looks like a xerox copy, a photocopy of a promissory note which is supposedly Annex "A" of your affidavit. Is this the Annex "A"?

MR. ZOBEL. That is the xerox, correct, but the original, I personally returned to him.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Now, there is a signature at the bottom of this Annex "A", which we now mark as Annex "A"-Zobel. Can you tell this Committee whose signature that is, Mr. Zobel?

MR. ZOBEL. Teresita Gallego...

THE CHAIRMAN. The one that is at the bottom.

MR. ZOBEL. That's the signature of President Marcos.

THE CHAIRMAN. Then there is a handwritten name at the left margin of this Annex "A" which reads, Ma. Teresita G. Gallego.

MR. ZOBEL. She is the confidential private nurse. She is still working in Honolulu today.

THE CHAIRMAN. Private nurse.

MR. ZOBEL. Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN. This particular document does not show that

Ms. Gallego signed this document. Was it signed by her?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes, it was.

THE CHAIRMAN. It was signed. All right.

Now, in paragraph 2 of your affidavit, there is a--and also in paragraph 1, the name of Dra. Lourdes Pascual is mentioned prominently in this affidavit. Would you know--can you tell this Committee what was the work that Dr. Pascual was doing for the late President?

MR. ZOBEL Well, at first, he was very close to her and any messages she had he would use Dra. Pascual.. Dra. Pascual also was his anaesthesiologist. For example, she put him to sleep when he removed his kidney.

THE CHAIRMAN. Can you tell this Committee, Mr. Zobel, where Dra. Pascual now resides?

MR. ZOBEL. She resides in Quezon City.

THE CHAIRMAN. In Quezon City, in the Philippines. All right. So, have you been in touch with Dr. Pascual recently?

MR. ZOBEL. About six (6) months ago before we left Manila.

THE CHAIRMAN. And can you share with this Committee what was your conversation with her on that occasion?

MR. ZOBEL. No, it was just personal. But I think I talked to her about if I have to testify in the future, if she would be willing, she said, she will.

THE CHAIRMAN. So, she confirmed that that she is willing to testify for as long as you will be with her?

MR. ZOBEL. With her, yes.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, this promissory note which has been marked as Annex "A" of your deposition taking, Annex "A"-Zobel, was dictated by President Marcos to Dra. Pascual?

MR. ZOBEL. I don't know. I think Dra. Pascual will best answer that. I know she gave it to me in the office in Manila.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. So, let us clarify this because according to paragraph I of our affidavit, sometime in October 1988, former President Marcos in a private meeting with his long time friend and physician, Dra. Pascual dictated a promissory note. So, the way it looks, it was Marcos who dictated...

MR. ZOBEL. That was I think because she always do all the dictation of Marcos.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right.

MR. ZOBEL. I think that was she said.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes. All right. Now, this promissory note, in effect, asked you or asked you to provide Mr. Marcos TWO HUNDRED FIFTY MILLION DOLLARS. Did you provide this amount for Mr. Marcos?

MR. ZOBEL. Of course, I have it.

THE CHAIRMAN. And nonetheless, he gave you the promissory note but later on retrieved it from you? He got it back from you.

MR. ZOBEL. Yes, that's correct.

THE CHAIRMAN. After you had already taken some photocopies of the promissory note.

MR. ZOBEL. That is correct.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right.

MR. ZOBEL. One thing I want to mention, that if you notice the date of that promissory note....

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes, yes.

MR. ZOBEL. It was dated one day before he was indicted for the U.S.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yeah. The date here is October 17, 1988 and that was one day before Marcos was indicted in the United States.

MR. ZOBEL. That's what he told me.

THE CHAIRMAN. I see. Okay. In paragraph 2 of this affidavit you mentioned that Dra. Pascual arranged for a visit by you to Hawaii, so that you could speak to the former President, yourself, and discuss the situation with him. Were you able to do that?

MR. ZOBEL. At first, I was not interested but when he told me he was interested to return the money to the Filipino people, I said, I go there.

THE CHAIRMAN. And you were able to speak with the President?

MR. ZOBEL. Several times.

THE CHAIRMAN. Several times. Where?

MR. ZOBEL. One time in Makiki Heights and there were times in the hospital.

THE CHAIRMAN. There is also a name here in paragraph 3 of your affidavit, Gemmo Trinidad. Just for the record, who is this Gemmo Trinidad?

MR. ZOBEL. Gemmo Trinidad is a trusted employee of him and Mrs. Marcos. Supposedly they told me he is the golden arm. He signs exactly like President Marcos. He stays home in Manila and still does not have a job.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Now, in paragraph 4 of this affidavit, you state that "we discussed many subjects." Who is this--the pronoun "we", whom does it refer to?

MR. ZOBEL. Marcos and myself.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Now, you stated also in this affidavit, paragraph 4, that you asked him how he would pay you back just in case you lent him the TWO HUNDRED FIFTY MILLION DOLLARS?

MR. ZOBEL. Actually I was curious how he could pay me back, he had so much money, why will he borrow from me.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes.

MR. ZOBEL. So, he told me he had arranged with the banks regarding the gold certificate.

THE CHAIRMAN. Gold certificate.

MR. ZOBEL. Gold certificate. That the moment he issued an order or promissory note the banks would sell the gold to take care the amount.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Now, on that particular meeting with President Marcos, did he show you any gold certificate at that particular....?

MR. ZOBEL. That's where he called Teresita from his library and in between books she brought out a folder in a one and a half inch box that had the certificates of gold. I saw the certificates. Now, whether it is true or not also I don't know, but I was embarrassed to ask for a pencil and paper and so I just calculated mentally the ounces and I ended up to the tune of approximately 35 billion U.S. dollars.

THE CHAIRMAN. Thirty-five billion U.S. dollars.

MR. ZOBEL. Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Now, the Teresita that you mentioned in this paragraph 4 of your affidavit is the same Maria Teresita Gallego mentioned in this promissory note.

MR. ZOBEL. Correct.

SEN. FLAVIER. Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes, Senator Flavier.

SEN. FLAVIER. In that connection, Don Enrique, did Marcos provide you with a xeroxed copy of those gold deposit?

MR. ZOBEL. After he showed, he gave them back to Teresita.

SEN. FLAVIER. And so no documentation was left with you.

MR. ZOBEL. No.

SEN. FLAVIER. Thank you.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. So, maybe we should have a break. Five minutes break. Let's have a break.

BREAK : 2:35 P.M.

RESUMPTION : 2:40 P.M.

THE CHAIRMAN. We resume. And Senator Flavier would like to ask a question. Senator Flavier.

SEN. FLAVIER. Don Enrique, when you saw the gold certificate, I heard you mention about having made a mental calculation of the amount and it sounds staggering to me. So, could you repeat the amount you calculated in dollars?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes. Because after he showed me I immediately wrote it and have it as an annex.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. For the record, Mr. Zobel, is referring to some--is that a handwritten notes?

SEN. FLAVIER. Yes, Mr. Chairman.

MR. ZOBEL. It's a handwritten notes. Hindi ko mabasa ang sulat, eh.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes. So, Senator Flavier will now present the pieces of paper...

MR. ZOBEL. I have to convert ounces to pounds, pounds-- how many pounds in a bar of gold, so I have that computation to make. As you will notice I asked the Bank of Hawaii later what the computation were because I didn't know them. And also the going price then was about 400 dollars per ounce. Now, that fluctuate depending on the price per ounce.

SEN. FLAVIER. In these four sheets of paper are the annotations that per the computations of Don Enrique Zobel, on the basis of which he made the calculation of a value of 35 billion U.S. dollars.

MR. ZOBEL. Only one page, the other one have all the scribbled notes, like for example, I asked the President in writing in front of it, is this room bugged, he said, I had it debugged. I got it in my scribbled notes.

SEN. FLAVIER. My second question, Don Enrique is that, Mr. Marcos was trying to borrow 250 million U.S. dollars and you said that you did not have that kind of money. Did you at any time more or less haggle, as a more acceptable amount to you and to him?

MR. ZOBEL. No. Because to start with I wouldn't lend him what he said.

SEN. FLAVIER. I thought you did not have that money in your pocket at that time. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes. We will have this batch of papers consisting of 4 pages be marked as Exhibit "B"-Zobel, the next page "B-1", "B-2" and "B-3". All right. And with special emphasis on page....For the record, the 35 billion estimate--35 billion dollar estimate is found on page...

MR. ZOBEL. Anyway, I don't know where I have here but it would approximately be 35 billion.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. In any event, you have some calculations put down in writing and we will have this marked for our purposes. Exhibit " B"-Zobel, "B-1", "B-2" and "B-3". Now, did you--is it correct that you asked Mr. Marcos if the gold deposits were evidenced by bearer shares or certificates?

MR. ZOBEL. No, I did not because I was curious.

THE CHAIRMAN. The reason I asked that because is that--paragraph No. 8 of your affidavit, page 2, you state here, "I asked him in a scribbled note if his gold certificates were evidenced by bearer shares or certificate? And you have an Annex "C" according to your...

MR. ZOBEL. I tell you, I forgot some facts.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes, that's right. So, you indeed asked him in writing. Why did you have to write it down? Why did you not speak it out?

MR. ZOBEL. Because this was all read. Before I asked it, after writing I got tired and I asked him, I'm writing this because this place is bugged, that's what he answered, and then hindi na ako nagsulat. Then we talked.

THE CHAIRMAN. So, that is how the question was raised by you whether or not the room was bugged at that time?

MR. ZOBEL. That's right.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Now, and his reply to you was the gold certificates were not in bearer shares or certificates because according to him it was a contract whereby he needed money he could get the money from that source and they would in turn sell ounces of gold to replace in cash, correct?

MR. ZOBEL. Correct.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. So, you also indicated in the same affidavit that at one point your discussions turned to the issue of the U.S. court case against Mr. Marcos? And did you ask him....

MR. ZOBEL. No. That's why I explained before that, he said, he needed the money to pay his staff here before the court indicted him in the U.S. So, he wanted it right away.

THE CHAIRMAN. He needed the money to pay for his staff here in Honolulu?

MR. ZOBEL. For his staff. He said he had approximately 300 people in Honolulu and he needed to pay their monthly salaries.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. You also indicated in the same affidavit, paragraph 10, that you suggested to him the establishment of a foundation for the interest of the Filipino people. Can you tell this Committee what his reaction to that suggestion?

MR. ZOBEL. He said, that was an excellent idea and, in fact, he has--if I do this, would you please be the chairman. I said, Mr. President, if I am the chairman, I will be sued right and left by the people in Manila for envy, so please why don't you choose someone Filipinos will not sue. Then he asked me who? I said, well, the Vatican. So, he said, excellent idea. Could you please arrange to talk to Papal Nuncio in Manila, who was Torpigliani then.

THE CHAIRMAN. And from your affidavit, in paragraph 11, you also asked him why he was not tapping his cronies?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes. Well, I was curious and I said, I've always been against you, I've criticized you, I've written articles in the paper against you, why talk to me now. Why the sudden change? And he said, "Well, Enrique, please forgive me." Tears falling down his eyes and he said, you're the only person who ever told me the truth. My cronies always told me, "Don't talk to Enrique, because he will not tell you the truth."

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, regarding the cronies of Mr. Marcos, can you tell this Committee if you have any conversation with them regarding any of his cronies receiving any gold bar of Mr.. Marcos?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, you have to realize I knew Marcos before he became Congressman. So, I could talk on a one-to-one basis, and I told him, "Why is it you said you have your cronies, you can depend on them, you asked me to start the foundation?" He said, "Well, most of them, they double-crossed me especially iyong brod ko sa U.P." What's his name? Benedicto. Is that Benedicto and several others. He also mentioned to me that in the gold, he said, "I gave gold bars to Crisologo, because they were loyal to me, Ponce Enrile and Ramos, and General Ver. I gave gold bars approximately worth one million dollars.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Just for clarity sake, would you remember when President Marcos reportedly gave the gold bars to the people you have just mentioned? Was that on the onset of the declaration of Martial rule or was it after subsequent of the declaration of martial rule?

MR. ZOBEL. I honestly don't know.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes, Senator Flavier.

SEN. FLAVIER. Just for clarity, Don Enrique. You just mentioned that Mr. Marcos intimated to you that he had given one million dollar worth each of a gold bar to Crisologo, Enrile, Ramos and Ver.

MR. ZOBEL. General Ver.

SEN. FLAVIER. General Ver. Is that a correct inkling on my part?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes. That was what he told me. Now, whether he did it, that I don't know.

THE CHAIRMAN. And just for the record to clarify. Who was the Crisologo that was mentioned by President Marcos to you?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, he just said Crisologo. I don't know we met.

THE CHAIRMAN. Who was the Enrile mentioned?

MR. ZOBEL. Johnny Ponce Enrile.

THE CHAIRMAN. Juan Ponce Enrile?

MR. ZOBEL. Senator Ponce Enrile.

THE CHAIRMAN. Senator Ponce Enrile. Who was the Ramos that was mentioned?

MR. ZOBEL. President Ramos. Ex-President Ramos.

THE CHAIRMAN. And Ver?

MR. ZOBEL. General Ver, who passed away recently.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now,...Senator Flavier.

SEN. FLAVIER. When you saw the gold certificates that were shown to you in a folder, did you have reason to believe that they were authentic or were they xeroxed copies? And I am assuming you are familiar with the appearance of gold certificates?

MR. ZOBEL. They were authentic. No question. But as to whether they were false or not, I don't know. But my feeling, honestly, is that I spoke to him when he showed me between 8:00 and 11:00 p.m. and he had a stroke where he went to ICU--U.S. doctor would know, he went to ICU at 2:00 o'clock in the morning. So, I guess, he felt he was going to die. In fact, kiddingly, I talked before that and I said during the conversation where we had, and I said, "the way you put all your assets, I think one trust from, one trust from BVI, one trust from Liberia, one altogether all the way. So, it's very hard to follow up. Nobody can't. But I think, Mr. President, you made one mistake, you thought you'll never die." He laughed and said, "you're correct.

SEN. FLAVIER. So, what I hear you're saying, Don Enrique, is that you have reason to believe the certification authentic and his words to you were honest because it's like a dying man's declaration?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes, correct. Not only that. But later on, in the, what do you call that, in the Vatican trust, he stated that this money would only go to the Philippine as long as two conditions are met: One, he be buried in the Philippines not in the Consulate Philippine soil. Be buried in the Phillipines. Second, that his family will not be pursued. So, obviously he felt he was going to die.

SEN. FLAVIER. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Now, let's pursue the question of the establishment of a foundation. Can you tell this Committee whether or not the foundation was, in fact, formed?

MR. ZOBEL. It was not formed. The Papal Nuncio, I was able to talk to him through Father Alarcon who brought me to his residence in front of La Salle, and he went to Rome. He first came, talked to the President and the President made a confession with him but he can't tell to the priest. But he went to Rome and he got the foundation but instead of the Vatican, it was Torpigliani, which was the--he had the title changed in Rome. It should be the trust of the Vatican. That was the only thing. Otherwise, everything was in order. Now, the President was not able to sign because the doctors said he could understand then more than four seconds.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Now, let's clarify this thing. The foundation, Mr. Zobel, was supposed to be authorized by or would include the Vatican, is that what I understand from your statement?

MR. ZOBEL. No. The Vatican was asked to be the chairman through the representative in the Philippines and that would be Msgr. Torpigliani.

THE CHAIRMAN. Well, yes that's a little clear now. That the foundation was to be chaired by the Vatican through the Papal Nuncio of the Philippines, at that time Bruno Torpigliani.

MR. ZOBEL. He will be the chairman (MSGR. TORPIGLIANI)

THE CHAIRMAN. Who will be the chair of the foundation. Can you tell this Committee who were supposed to be the members of the foundation?

MR. ZOBEL. Dra. Pascual, Father Alarcon and myself.

THE CHAIRMAN. Dra. Pascual, yourself and Father Alarcon. Kindly tell this Committee Father Alarcon is alive?

MR. ZOBEL. He is alive. What is his position in Manila?

(Referring to Mr. Baylon).

THE CHAIRMAN. So, he is in Manila.

MR. ZOBEL. He is in Manila.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right.

MR. ZOBEL. He was then in Tala Leprosarium and later on San Beda, and now he is one of the presidential advisers of Erap.

THE CHAIRMAN. Right now?

MR. ZOBEL. That's what J.B. tells me.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes, but it's better that we limit your testimony to what you had given.

MR. ZOBEL. That's correct.

THE CHAIRMAN. It will have more weight. Now, regarding the formation of this foundation, did you have to employ the services of a lawyer?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes. I employed the services of Mr. Mike Garcia, who is a lawyer in Honolulu. In fact, he charged me the bill because Marcos died so I have to pay the bill which is 4,000 dollar. I have the receipt here.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Here is a document consisting of...

MR. ZOBEL. I must state that Mr. Garcia said, if it is for Mr. Marcos. I don't want to do anything, but if it is for you I will. So, I said, okay, it's for me.

THE CHAIRMAN.consisting of 7 pages. The first document is a recounting of the events leading to the charges that were forwarded to you in the amount of 4,519.95 dollars, is that correct?

MR. ZOBEL. That's correct.

THE CHAIRMAN. This is the amount of legal fees...

MR. ZOBEL. Legal fees. Because the President wanted the draft the next morning. So, the lawyer had to work overnight.

THE CHAIRMAN. Which the law office of Frunzi, Yee and Garcia, billed you for having put that proposal to create a foundation in legal form? All right. I have here before me as part of this batch of documents a letter of transmittal, I mean, that's the caption of the document, dated February 1, 1988, 1989, addressed to Mr. Enrique Zobel, 1475 Ihiloa Loop, Honolulu, Hawaii. Kindly take a look of this if this is the bill that---or this is the letter of transmittal was received by you bearing the signature of Mike Garcia at the bottom of the page?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes, that is correct.

THE CHAIRMAN. The answer is yes. And the attached document is a letter of transmittal is denominated as special power of attorney purportedly to be made in the name of Ferdinand Edralin Marcos. Will you kindly take a look at this page document attached to the letter of transmittal. Is that the same document that you...?

MR. ZOBEL. That is the same. Now, this was suggestion of this lawyer, Mr. Mike Garcia, but Mr. Marcos never signed this.

THE CHAIRMAN. Mr. Marcos did not sign this document. Can you tell this Committee why Mr. Marcos did not sign?

MR. ZOBEL. I don't know.

THE CHAIRMAN. This document was supposed to be a special power of attorney.

MR. ZOBEL. Maybe somebody else.

THE CHAIRMAN. Where, according to this document any and all precious metals and all other properties which I have entrusted for deposit for safekeeping, as well as all gold that I may own wherever situated will be placed under the custody of his attorney-in-fact? You know who this attorney-in-fact would be, Mr. Zobel?

MR. ZOBEL. I don't know.

THE CHAIRMAN. I mean, Zobel, Exhibit "C", "C-1" "C-2"- Zobel. Now, I understand also that on one occasion you had talked with a certain Delly Castillejo. Can you tell this Committee who this Delly Castillejo?

MR. ZOBEL. Delly Castillejo is the sister of the wife of Pedro Cojuangco, the brother of Cory Cojuangco, which is a friend of mine, both husband and wife. And I called him through Delly, invited Delly and him to my house in Alabang, and I showed him the idea of Marcos to put a foundation. He loved the idea and he said, "Well, Enrique I'll get back to you in two days and give me a chance to talk to my sister." After two days came, walang reply. Nothing happened. And now I heard from the....these are rumors that Cory were not interested because babango daw si Marcos.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, you also stated in your affidavit, paragraph 17, that you had met with then Vice President Salvador Laurel. Can you tell this Committee what was that meeting all about?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, there were many meetings. In fact, Doy Laurel came to Honolulu to talk to the President twice in the hospital. Now, we both had agreed that to tell Cory that if she signs a letter to represent the Philippine government to the banks, to the Swiss bank specifically, and the heirs of Marcos had also agreed to sign, that the Swiss bank could release immediately the money, but Cory was not interested.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Now, regarding your meeting with Vice President Laurel, can you tell this Committee what was the tenor of your conversation with him?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes. There were two things--two important things came about. One was to send two doctors, I forgot the names, and I have the record of their flight, everything was arranged. To check if Marcos could really talk or not, because the doctor here said, he could not and so we could not establish the foundation. But at the airport, then health secretary Bengzon stopped them at Immigration, didn't allow them to board, upon orders of Cory.

THE CHAIRMAN. Did you and the Vice President, then Mr. Laurel talk about the possibility of the return of Mr. Marcos to the Philippines?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes, he did. He told Cory because he was still in the government. He told Cory that he would seek no objection to returning Marcos but Marcos said, I want to return when I'm dead.

Now, the one that said, "over my dead body" was Ramos.

THE CHAIRMAN. You are referring to the former President?

MR. ZOBEL. Ex-President Ramos.

THE CHAIRMAN. So, the former President was not in favor of the return of Mr. Marcos?

MR. ZOBEL. Even if dead.

THE CHAIRMAN. Dead or alive, is that what you mean?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes, Senator Flavier.

SEN. FLAVIER. You mentioned earlier, Don Enrique, that there were two conditions imposed by Mr. Marcos, namely, one is the return to the Philippines and the safety of his family. Were these conditions...?

MR. ZOBEL. The condition of his family in regards to suits.

SEN. FLAVIER. To suits. Were these two conditions incorporated in any document that merged?

MR. ZOBEL. I guess, yes. They were incorporated and also that letter was given to Doy Laurel.

SEN. FLAVIER. I see. In sum, the foundation never really got born, so to speak?

MR. ZOBEL. Because the doctors did not allow him to sign. But you see that foundation of his gold was revocable until the government had agreed on the two conditions, that would be come automatically irrevocable.

SEN. FLAVIER. I see. And so it was that illness that prevented the final signing of the foundation papers?

MR. ZOBEL. No. His health, the local doctor would not certify.... They would certify that he was capable of knowing he was signing.

SEN. FLAVIER. I see. It was the certification that he was lucid and able to sign that document?

MR. ZOBEL. Correct.

SEN. FLAVIER. Those two doctors I happened to know, then Dr. Sawit and Dr. Alano were not allowed to come?

MR. ZOBEL. Were not allowed to leave Manila Airport when they had the tickets on hand.

SEN. FLAVIER. Did you get an inkling of why?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, according to Doy, he told me that the doctors were stopped by an order to Immigration from Secretary of Health which was Bengzon. Bengzon ba?

SEN. FLAVIER. Yes.

MR. ZOBEL. Bengzon. That's what the Vice President told me.

SEN. FLAVIER. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

MR. ZOBEL. The tickets and the flight number they were taking nandiyan sa notes.

THE CHAIRMAN. Flight number, yes. Oo. Of these two doctors.

MR. ZOBEL. Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, did you have any other conversation with Vice President Laurel after that, after the two doctors were prevented from leaving?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, specifically what subject I say because I used to see Laurel about twice a week then, and so we had a lot of conversations.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, recently, let us fast track as it were the events. Did Mr. Laurel see you either in the accompany of some PCGG officials or by himself?

MR. ZOBEL. No. He came to see me with some PCGG officials. I have the note. Kailan ba ang petsa in my notes. I can furnish you a copy. He came with--do you recall the names, Evelyn? Maybe...

THE CHAIRMAN. Never mind. The Chair of the PCGG prior to the last two chairmen of the Presidential Commission on Good Government was

Mr. Magtanggol Gunigundo. Do you remember if Mr. Magtanggol Gunigundo ever came to your house or anywhere to see you regarding the Marcos wealth?

MR. ZOBEL. He came to my house, he had dinner and he was accompanied by the one in-charge in the airport during the Marcoses time, Tabuena, by a lady by the name of Cherrie Cobarrubias, General Kintanar.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. What was the mission of Mr. Gunigundo when he went to see you?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, I think he was fishing because he wanted to know if I knew of the whereabouts of the gold. So, I said, first, we do-- please put it in writing and he exactly anticipated that and he gave me a letter which he and Imelda. Now, Imelda signed and he said he will sign before leaving but he did not. But he offered me to 5 percent commission. I can furnish you a copy of that.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. So, in that particular visit of Mr. Gunigundo, just to clarify you were offered a 5 percent commission for what?

MR. ZOBEL. To tell them the location of the gold which I don't know. So, after he gave me the letter, I really don't know.

THE CHAIRMAN. But the first time he came over to see you that offer was not yet in writing?

MR. ZOBEL. That is correct. No, no. He brought it with him. But he did not sign it. He said he will sign it upon leaving, but I can't move, so he left at the end of the table and when I got the letter, only Mrs. Marcos signed, but he did not. He brought the letter because his name was at the bottom.

THE CHAIRMAN. So, in one of the hearings of the Blue Ribbon Committee in Manila, Mr. Gunigundo denied that he ever offered you any percentage of the Marcos wealth which will be recovered upon your information?

MR. ZOBEL. I'm sorry, Mr. Senator, but he is a big liar. And, in fact, I have all these witnesses that would testify that he offered me that. In fact, my nurse here was--ah, no, wala ka doon. Referring to his nurse). Fernando pala. The male nurse JB, was there.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, was Vice President Laurel present at that time when Mr. Gunigundo made that offer?

MR. ZOBEL. I'm not sure, but you see Vice President Laurel came once before because--once before he came and then Gunigundo came. Whether Laurel was present with Gunigundo, I think so but I'm not sure. I think so.

THE CHAIRMAN. What about Mrs. Imelda Marcos, did she go to you in connection with the Gunigundo offer?

MR. ZOBEL. No. She only sent me a signed letter but she was represented by Cherrie Cobarrubias.

THE CHAIRMAN. So, she was not represented by...

MR. ZOBEL. By Cherrie Cobarrubias.

THE CHAIRMAN. Cherrie Cobarrubias. Can you tell this Committee how do you know that Mrs. Cobarrubias was representing Mrs. Marcos?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, I don't know, but that's what they told me so...

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. She told you anyway?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes, she told me. And it was also certified by Tabuena. I know Tabuena is very close to Mrs. Marcos.

THE CHAIRMAN. Mr. Tabuena was also present at that time?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes, he was.

MR. CHAVEZ. Your Honor, just to assist the Committee.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes, yes.

MR. CHAVEZ. Cherrie Cobarrubias appears as one of the signatories to so many documents that had already been submitted to the Senate Blue Ribbon Committee. As a matter of fact, she is a signatory as a witness to the two agreements dated December 28, 1993 which were eventually nullified by the Supreme Court. She is also a signatory of Mrs. Marcos and Kintanar to an offer that they made to Mr. Gunigundo sometime in 1995 which was also already been marked as evidence.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right, good. Now, ...yeah, I think we can have a break.

BREAK : 3:20 P.M.

RESUMPTION : 3:45 P.M.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. I think we can resume. Mr. Zobel, will you kindly tell this Committee if you remember the terms of that-- the term of sharing of the wealth of Mr. Marcos as put into the foundation agreement?

I GOT IT !!! BROTHER ERIC - IT WAS INDEED IN THE VATICAN TRUST MR. ZOBEL. It's in the Vatican Trust. But if I recall right, 10 percent would go to the Marcos family, the wife and children.

THE CHAIRMAN. Ten percent.

MR. ZOBEL. Ten percent would go to the Vatican for the poor people and in the missions.

THE CHAIRMAN. And in the...

MR. ZOBEL. In the missions for the Vatican to dispose of One percent to the people in Hawaii that were loyal to him. And then I don't know. But the rest would go to the foundation to be used specifically for schools, hospitals and infrastructure and agriculture.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Now, apparently only 10 percent of the supposed Marcos wealth would go to the Marcos family.

MR. ZOBEL. Correct.

THE CHAIRMAN. Would you know if there was any--or was this accepted by the Marcos family to your knowledge?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, they have no choice but on that way. But they--Mrs. Marcos asked Dra. Pascual if I could say 15, of course I said, "No, because that's what the President said. I'm sorry, if they really wanted more than ten, it can't be.

THE CHAIRMAN. Are we getting correctly the impression that Mrs. Marcos objected to 10 percent?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, I don't think she objected, but she wanted a little more.

THE CHAIRMAN. She wanted a little more. And your reply to that was that's not possible because Marcos wanted it that way?

MR. ZOBEL. Correct.

SEN. FLAVIER. Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes.

SEN. FLAVIER. In an earlier section you were also alluded in your deposition that the matter of the foundation came as a surprise to Bongbong and Mrs. Marcos.

MR. ZOBEL. Yes. No, because I must state that the President told me, "Enrique, please swear to me that you will never tell my wife or my family about the gold." But because he was dying, I had no choice and I had to leave. So sabi ko, "pakiusap na lang, kung bago mamatay kung sakaling gumaling, pirmahan ito."

SEN. FLAVIER. But later, you entrusted to Bongbong the matter of securing the signature?

MR. ZOBEL. I entrusted to both of them, together, mother and son.

SEN. FLAVIER. Together, mother and son. But even that was never signed.

MR. ZOBEL. Never signed, because he never get out of ICU.

SEN. FLAVIER. Thank you.

THE CHAIRMAN. And just for the record, would you recall any reaction made by Bongbong Marcos regarding this sharing?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes, I recall very well that he looked at it and he said, "Bakit hindi sinasabi sa amin ng tatay ko ito." That's all I heard. I was further sad. I said, "Well, that is the family relation already and not my duty to investigate.

THE CHAIRMAN. In your understanding, what would you--what did Bongbong mean by "Bakit hindi sinasabi ng tatay namin ito?"

MR. ZOBEL. Well, the way I would take of it he never knew that his father had that much money or that much gold.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, going back to the gold certificates, can you tell this Committee if you have seen the gold certificates yourself? Do you remember if there were any mention of any banks which--were the depository of this gold?

MR. ZOBEL. No. I recall that--because I did not have time to look, I mean, it was quite thick but I scanned on that. I looked---I was only interested in the ounces and the location, and the locations were all over the world. They have at Portugal, the Vatican, Spain, U.S. Treasury, all over. They had in Germany. So, you may have all over the world. They had in Solomon Islands.

THE CHAIRMAN. Switzerland.

MR. ZOBEL. Switzerland, O yes. Switzerland.

THE CHAIRMAN. Do you recall if the name of the Union Bank of Switzerland was ever mentioned?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes, I know Union Bank very well.

THE CHAIRMAN. Was it mentioned in one--among the certificates that you saw?

MR. ZOBEL. No. It is not mentioned---I just saw in the certificate countries. I didn't see the owners or the banks.

THE CHAIRMAN. Would you know if Mr. Marcos obtained any deposit in terms of cash or anything of value with Philippine banks?

MR. ZOBEL. No, he didn't tell me of Philippine banks.

THE CHAIRMAN. In your association with President Marcos, did you ever come across a lady by the name of Fe Roa Jimenez?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes. She used to work in the Palace. I don't know. I used to see her before during Marcoses. At that time Marcos was the President she is always in Malacanang.

THE CHAIRMAN. Do you know if Ms. Fe Roa Jimenez still alive?

MR. ZOBEL. I think so but I really don't know. I know she was very close to Imelda. I do have a certificate that--I don't recall whether President Marcos first gave it to me or somebody else, but it will be a U.S. Treasury deposit. Saan nandoon? (Referring to his female nurse).

THE CHAIRMAN. The U.S. Treasury and you have a copy of it? All right. Mr. Zobel affirms that he has a copy of it. All right. Just to complete your testimony in this regard, you saw a certificate of deposit with the U.S. Treasury, Mr. Zobel?

MR. ZOBEL. I have it here. You can have it. Now, whether it's real or not, I don't know. But I don't remember honestly whether Marcos firstly gave it to me or somebody else.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. So you have this certificate and I am now handed these two-page document which says, FCD International Certificate, B and CCD U.S. Treasury, B and CPLD Federal Reserve Note, BC International transaction, and the name of the depositor is Mr. Ferdinand Marcos. The amount of the deposit is--maybe if you can tell us, just what is the amount stated here, Mr. Zobel?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, that hindi ko mabasa. FCD deposit U.S., ano ito, 16....161,000,000

THE CHAIRMAN. One hundred sixty-one million.

MR. ZOBEL. One hundred sixty-one million. Only one deposit, one certificate. That is million I'm sure.

THE CHAIRMAN. Senator Flavier, kindly tell us the figure?

MR. ZOBEL. You notice also that the certificate has been renewed several times.

THE CHAIRMAN. Renewed several times.

MR. ZOBEL. That sometime confusing. This is very rare to have renewals, renewals every year.

SEN. FLAVIER. The U.S. deposit, Mr. Chairman, is U.S. dollars 161,000000 with a dash, meaning, that was the end. One hundred sixty-one million dollars international plus the dollar transaction.

MR. ZOBEL. Correct. And the second page, you see the interest paid per three-day.

THE CHAIRMAN. Hindi na mabasa. Now, can you tell this Committee whether or not this particular document was given to you in this form, meaning to say, a photocopy?

MR. ZOBEL. Photocopy which I have in Manila. It's very clear than that. That is my xerox.

THE CHAIRMAN. This is your xerox copy.

MR. ZOBEL. My xerox copy, because all my originals are in Manila.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Now, will you kindly show to the Committee that particular--the first document that was given to you regarding this transaction?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN. And are you not aware whether this document was ever involved in the racketting case against Mrs. Marcos? Would you know, Mr. Zobel, if this was involved?

MR. ZOBEL. No, I don't know.

THE CHAIRMAN. So, if this was not involved in the racketting case of Mrs. Marcos, this will be the first time that the U.S. Treasury would be involved in the handling of the Marcos wealth as a depositor? All right. So, we will have this marked as Exhibit "D"-Zobel, "D-I".

MR. ZOBEL. Mr. Senator.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes.

MR. ZOBEL. You asked me before if I knew anything in the Philippines.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes.

MR. ZOBEL. Well, not with Marcos but through very, very reliable sources. I hear that the Central Bank had a lot of money deposited and they invested it in Singapore, bonds. Now, as a banker, this bring to my attention. The other bank that said to have a lot of deposit the Metropolitan Bank. Now, my point would be this. Because, this is now the thing, it's because of my curiosity why in the Philippines is the government trying to merge all the banks while the rest of the world, they are wanting more bank because not a monopoly now. The bigger they are, the bigger they fall. So therefore, I think they are planning a laundering operation because when you control only four, five big banks then the laundry of the Central Bank, if it's true. Now, why is it in the Philippines is going an opposite, why not all the banks all over the world ? Why? That's my question.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. So, let's try to clarify that. In what sense did you mean that the Central Bank was involved in the laundering of the Marcos wealth?

MR. ZOBEL. No, no. I've only heard this as a rumor, but this rumor would rather happening and make sense.

THE CHAIRMAN. And in what capacity did this Metropolitan Bank get more?

MR. ZOBEL. This person told me that the deposits in the Philippines of Marcos are in the Central Bank and Metropolitan Bank. That's all.

THE CHAIRMAN. In the Central Bank and Metropolitan Bank.

MR. ZOBEL. It so happened that Metropolitan Bank is the biggest bank in the Philippines now. Be curious. It only takes and add into one thing and another.

THE CHAIRMAN. Just for the record. Mr. Zobel, can you tell us who owns Metropolitan Bank, did you know? If you know?

MR. ZOBEL. It's a Chinese by the name of--among pangalan? Ty. George Ty.

THE CHAIRMAN. I understand that among other events that caused you some frustrations was the fact that reportedly the Aquino government did not do anything to really recover the Marcos wealth. Can you amplify on that, Mr. Zobel?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, I think in ascendant you can say personal pride was more than national pride. I think you can read the meaning of that.

THE CHAIRMAN. Can you tell us of your knowledge if Mrs. Marcos,

I'm sorry, Mrs. Aquino during her term as president sent any emissary to talk or negotiate with Mr. Marcos here in Hawaii?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, she said, "Iyong dalawang..." I have it in my note. The two people from government, Sumulong and Tanjuatco. But Marcos rejected their offer because according to him, that's one thing he told me, they were asking for 10 percent commission. That's why he said, "no way."

THE CHAIRMAN. So, that was according to Mr. Marcos, they were asking 10 percent of whatever is recovered?

MR. ZOBEL. Whatever is recovered by the Philippine government.

THE CHAIRMAN. Did you have occasion to pursue that particular information of Mr. Marcos either to verify or to discuss more lengthily?

MR. ZOBEL. No. The only person I told it and we discussed it thoroughly was with Doy Laurel.

THE CHAIRMAN. Was with Doy Laurel.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes. I told that to Doy and Doy confirmed it.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, immediately prior to the taking of this deposition, were you bothered by any person by way of calls or direct conversation with you regarding the subject matter of this deposition?

MR. ZOBEL. Oh! I had a lot of calls, I had a call that they would kidnap my children. I don't believe in that. Screw them. Excuse the language.

THE CHAIRMAN. We will strike out the unparliamentary. But never mind, it's his description how he feels about it. And you have a son in the Philippines, Mr. Zobel?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN. And he is working with San Miguel?

MR. ZOBEL. No, no. He is the director of San Miguel. He is working with E. Zobel Inc., our company. He has operates it.

THE CHAIRMAN. And in one of the calls that was made to your house here in Honolulu, was your son mentioned by the caller in any respective order?

MR. ZOBEL. No, but there is a certain caller that called my man who is here about my son and Bongbong had talked, but I said, I don't know. By coincidence, my son called me about something else and I answered, has Bongbong called you, he said, "No." So, that's a lie.

In fact, I wrote a letter Bongbong today, I have not typed yet. I'll give you a copy.

THE CHAIRMAN. You wrote Bongbong?

MR. ZOBEL. I wrote Bongbong.

THE CHAIRMAN. Aha?

MR. ZOBEL. To ask him why this person asked these questions. What is he hiding. What he is up to?

THE CHAIRMAN. Some people are questioning why it is only now that your testimony is being proffered to a government body like the Blue Ribbon Committee? Why not in some earlier years, Mr. Zobel?

MR. ZOBEL. That I don't know. But an educated guess, the government doesn't want the Filipino people to know the truth. That's my feeling.

SEN. FLAVIER. Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes.

SEN. FLAVIER. Related to that, `no. An earlier point is, your revelation yourself which came after 1992. And the legitimate question is, why did you wait till then which I recall you revealed through a TV program....

MR. ZOBEL. Two TV programs..

SEN. FLAVIER. Two TV programs of Randy David and the late Louie Beltran--these were all after 1992. The question is related to my Chairman's question. Why did you not reveal it earlier?

MR. ZOBEL. Because nobody in the government was interested. They didn't want to listen to me. So, they do not listen, why talk.

SEN. FLAVIER. How about the fact that there was an elections in 1992?

MR. ZOBEL. Regardless. They were not interested because rumors again, rumors, you see that all this money is a fraud. The Philippine government cannot get it. Now, they wanted to divide it abroad without part to the Philippines. That's a rumor. I've heard from very, very confidential people.

SEN. FLAVIER. But what made you decide after 1992 to speak out and make this very important revelation?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, because I felt that that it was my duty to reveal that this money should go back to the Filipino people especially now that our economic is very bad, and then...Not only that but I talked to many bankers, Manhattan, to City Bank, all these people who loaned money to the Philippines. And I told them, supposing a group of Filipino businessmen paid the debt of the Philippine government which was above 18 million then, 19 million, would you--how much would you give a discount? They said, "Well, if you pay in dollars, we give you something like 50 percent discount." So, we could pay with the money that Marcos would give, we could have paid the debt. By the way--and imagine I even computed there, I have my notes that we could give everybody in the Philippines, every Filipino citizen a bonus of 2,000 U.S. Dollars. That was only the interest. But nobody--no takers.

SEN. FLAVIER. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIRMAN. Were you ever approached by any government body, panel including the PCGG to testify regarding your knowledge of the Marcos wealth aside from that meeting which you had with Mr. Gunigundo?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes. In fact, the gentleman is here. He called my house, he came and I said, I would only give my testimony whatever I know to the bearer or to your boss. But I was not interested to the person you brought along, who was ex-employee of Campos. He was an employee of Campos. Before that, he was an employee of Benedicto. I know him very well.

Now, if I needed the PCGG for my testimony, bring in somebody that belongs to the opposite camp. Ano ang rason niya. Why did you bring this gentleman who was involved with somebody who took away assets from us.

THE CHAIRMAN. This is out of the ordinary, but do we allow the Commissioner of PCGG, Mr. Rosales, to answer that question.

MR. ZOBEL. Yes. the commissioner came to my house.

MR. ROSALES. May I know who you are referring to?

MR. ZOBEL. Soler. I know Soler since we were kids. Nothing wrong. But, to me, why PCGG brought somebody that you took assets from to investigate me. Why?

MR. ROSALES. Mr. Soler was the--a director and still now the director of the IRC Group of companies was surrendered by Mr. Campos.

MR. ZOBEL. Yes. But does he have to do of what I know about Marcos? Why?

MR. ROSALES. Well, in the course of our relations, the mentioned to me that you were a personal friend.

MR. ZOBEL. Yes.

MR. ROSALES. So, I asked him if you could bridge a meeting between PCGG informally to start between me and the other commissioner to have a talk with you and react to the newspaper reports then being attributed to you about the Marcos gold.

MR. ZOBEL. Well, I find it very highly irregular to bring somebody you confiscated assets from. Even my son doesn't know about this Marcos gold. Now, why should I tell the other side.

MR. ROSALES. Is this on record?

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes.

MR. ROSALES. Mr. Chairman. Before I brought Mr. Soler to your residence, I mentioned him to you in my two communications.

MR. ZOBEL. Yes.

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 28, 2006 02:30 AM (GMT)

MR. ROSALES. And you even asked me, now who is Mr. Soler? So, I replied to you, give you a background your relationship to him.

MR. ZOBEL. That's why I wanted it in writing. That's why I asked you.

MR. ROSALES. Then when we got your confirmatory fax for us to attend, then I brought him along. That's the whole story behind that.

MR. ZOBEL. That's why I told you nothing.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, immediately prior to the holding of this deposition, is it true that some people had come from the Philippines to monitor this deposition-taking aside from the official members of this panel?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN. Can you tell this Committee?

MR. ZOBEL. Two people came on Sunday. I think one gentleman from the FBI is here. He arrives Sunday. A certain Captain Luga. And another one, Bobby Dacer. Those came on Sunday flight who called and the FBI were watching for them. Now, record is Bobby Dacer, he is a paid emissary by the administration for somebody to confuse this. He is known for that. Parang papalitan ang sinasabi mong totoo. I mean, I handled 34 corporations. My question was, why are they sending army people? That's retired captain. Why? This retired captain was in Honolulu during the Marcos time.

THE CHAIRMAN. Also.

MR. ZOBEL. Also. Now, why are they sending ex-army people? Why? Are they afraid of the truth?

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, regarding the Marcos gold, can you tell this Committee of your knowledge how the Marcos gold has been explained to have come into the possession of Mr. Marcos?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, partly he told me he found the Yamashita treasure.

THE CHAIRMAN. He found.

MR. ZOBEL. He found the Yamashita treasure.

THE CHAIRMAN. The Yamashita treasure.

MR. ZOBEL. Yes, part. Part he said, he bought from soldiers who had him the past, who were the past that he supposed he got decorated sa...

THE CHAIRMAN. Bessang Pass.

MR. ZOBEL. Bessang Pass. He said, some soldiers then sold him the gold for 20 U.S. Dollars then because they couldn't carry the gold out, as it could get confiscated...

THE CHAIRMAN. The gold bar?

MR. ZOBEL. The gold bars.

THE CHAIRMAN. Twenty U.S. dollars per bar?

MR. ZOBEL. Twenty U.S. Dollars per bar. Now, remember then, I told him, I kidded him and said, "why didn't say this before?" Because you have to pay taxes on it. He said, "Enrique, you have to remember, there was no government, no laws, nobody." So, I didn't. So, what did you do? I sent them to Hong Kong.

THE CHAIRMAN. Hong Kong.

MR. ZOBEL. That's what he told me during the conversation..

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes. Was he referring to the shipment of this gold to Hong Kong when he was already the President?

MR. ZOBEL. No, no. This is during the war, because he said, there was no government, no president. That must be during the war, during the liberation..

THE CHAIRMAN. During liberation.

MR. ZOBEL. Liberation.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes, because...

MR. ZOBEL. It must have been. My guess, I don't know.

THE CHAIRMAN. It wouldn't--it just wouldn't if he must be talking about the shipment of gold from the Philippines to Hong Kong during the war. I mean, that would have been hardly possible.

MR. ZOBEL. No, after the war. Liberation. After the war. In fact, we went further and he told me that the first shipment was sent by U.S. Army, Air Force DC-3. He bribed the pilots to fly to Hong Kong. And I would imagine the pilot of the U.S. Air Force, but that's what he told me. Now, whether it is true or not, I don't know. I'm just telling what he told me.

THE CHAIRMAN. Did Mr. Marcos also mentioned to you that during his presidency gold was taken from the Central Bank?

MR. ZOBEL. No.

THE CHAIRMAN. Or transferred it?

MR. ZOBEL. No. He never mentioned anything during his presidency to me.

THE CHAIRMAN. Apparently the idea was to create a story that the Marcos gold were accumulated from the time he was not yet president of the country?

MR. ZOBEL. Correct.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, during your conversation, several conversations with President Marcos, was there anytime at all that the Kloten Airport, warehouse Freilager Warehouse underneath the Kloten Airport was that ever mentioned by Mr. Marcos in your conversations?

MR. ZOBEL. No. I only knew about the Kloten upon reading the papers, in the local dailies.

THE CHAIRMAN. But just to clarify, in one of your conversations with President Marcos, he also mentioned that among the countries where his gold has been deposited is Switzerland?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN. His answer is "Yes."

SEN. FLAVIER. Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes, Senator Flavier.

SEN. FLAVIER. Don Enrique, it is my impression that the bulk of the gold certificates and dollar deposits of Mr. Marcos and the family were confiscated when he landed in Honolulu?

MR. ZOBEL. According to him. He mentioned that to me. That was confiscated in Honolulu some certificates but most were left in Manila, in Malacanang. But what was confiscated here some certificate and several suit cases full of peso bills. But the U.S. diverted the flight from--he told me that they took him to Clark and told him that they would take to Vigan. After about two hours of flight, he asked, "well, why? Then he said, we're going to Honolulu because there is a revolution in Vigan. That's what he told me.

THE CHAIRMAN. Did you say, Enriqueito?

MR. ZOBEL. What?

THE NURSE. Enriqueito.

THE CHAIRMAN. Did you say revolution in Vigan?

MR. ZOBEL. That's what they told him. This general accompanied him in the airplane and told him that we cannot take you to Vigan because the government forces are infiltrating Vigan. There is a fight there. For your safety, we'll take you to Honolulu.

THE CHAIRMAN. Are you familiar with the name Roberto Caoili?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes. I read some of his paper. He sent a letter to President Ramos or Aquino. But I have a copy of his letter.

THE CHAIRMAN. What was his letter about?

MR. ZOBEL. I forget right now. But it's about, I would guess 15 pages. He said, I will tell you, his excellency where the gold is whether, etcetera, etcetera.

THE CHAIRMAN. To your knowledge, is Mr. Caoili still in the Philippines?

MR. ZOBEL. I don't know it, but he sent it by mail a copy of his letter many years ago. I have a copy in my house.

THE CHAIRMAN. Letter mailed from the Philippines?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN. And it has his address in that letter?

MR. ZOBEL. What?

THE CHAIRMAN. His address.

MR. ZOBEL. I don't know. But I have. I know because I was amused of his letter that's why I read it and I kept a copy.

THE CHAIRMAN. So, probably we will have a copy of that letter?

MR. ZOBEL. I will furnish you a copy. It's unbelievable, but you read it.

THE CHAIRMAN. And the name of that editor from a local paper that also spoke the Marcos wealth with you?

MR. ZOBEL. No. He showed but he didn't speak to me. He showed me other pictures of the gold bars, some name Surinam, some Hong Kong, different--some in Singapore, the gold bar. Anong pangalan niya? Fernando. He went to my house.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. In any event, even what this person showed to you, well, the pictures of gold bars with various, the names of various....

MR. ZOBEL. Whether with....

THE CHAIRMAN. ...and the gold bars were supposed to have been placed under the custody of Mr. Marcos?

MR. ZOBEL. No, he just showed me pictures of the gold bars. He didn't make any comment at all.

THE CHAIRMAN. So, there was no relationship by....

MR. ZOBEL. No, but....the only thing he told me, these are the gold bars that were taken by the Presidential Command. That's all he told me.

THE CHAIRMAN. Presidential Command of the administration or during the presidency of Mr. Marcos?

MR. ZOBEL. Correct.

THE CHAIRMAN. So, this person said that these were the pictures of the gold bars that were taken by the members of the Presidential Security Command at that time when Mr. Marcos was President?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN. The answer is yes.

MR. CHAVEZ. Your Honor, may I be allowed to make a manifestation.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes, please.

MR. CHAVEZ. The person named Roberto Caoili is the leader of soldiers who were then in their teams who dugged up some bars of gold in various places in Metro Manila--in Montalban, in Laguna, the details of which are setforth in a joint affidavit which he signed, co-signed with 95 others. That affidavit in the case the address of Mr. Roberto Caoili and, therefore, I would like to propose that the appropriate compulsory process be issued to require Mr. Caoili to appear before the Committee to testify on the affidavit that he executed.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes. This Committee will hold that advisement and act accordingly when we get back to Manila. I think we should have a break. Five minutes.

BREAK : 4:25 P.M.

RESUME : 4:45 P.M.

THE CHAIRMAN. Let's resume. Mr. Zobel, for the record, what is the quid pro quo here for you? What is it to you? Why are you taking this trouble of, you know, testifying regarding the Marcos wealth, after all everybody knows that you have been a close confidant of Mr. Marcos? And so, people are asking why is Mr. Zobel, you know, testifying now? What is it in for him?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, it started for me personally but I feel that I am 72 years old, so I would like very much love that at least I can contribute something to the Philippines to the poor people.

THE CHAIRMAN. And in your 62 years of existence, Mr. Zobel, how long have you been...

MR. ZOBEL. Seventy-two.

THE CHAIRMAN. Seventy-two.

MR. ZOBEL. Seventy-two. I wish I were 62.

THE CHAIRMAN. How long have you been a paraplegie?

MR. ZOBEL. Now, nine and a half years.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, some people are disinclined to believe the figures that are apparently mentioned as the amount of the Marcos gold, what would be your impression regarding this?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, you have to analyze that, for example, now the government, press and media say, Imee Marcos, Irene Marcos has 13 billion. Now, I said 35 billion. General Almonte say 20 Billion, Imelda Marcos said it takes about 70 billion. So, their guess is good as mine. It came out in the Inquirer, I think, she said, I have approximately 70 billion but I don't know where. Now, that's her relevant statement. I read that on the papers.

THE CHAIRMAN. So, are you telling the Committee, Mr. Zobel, that there is basis for this figure of the amount of Marcos wealth running to several billions of U.S. dollars?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes. I would take gold, assets and dollars over all comments even bank certificates, I would say 100 billion.

THE CHAIRMAN. One hundred million U.S. dollars?

MR. ZOBEL. Hundred billion U.S. dollars. Now, there are many people who say the Philippines have that much gold. I have mentioned to you before somebody told me that this include Nazi gold because the Germans got all the--during the World War II, they got all the gold of the different countries and when Germany was going to be occupied and they were worried about the Allied, they sent the money to Holland. And then when the allied were going to Holland, they sent the money to Surinam. So, now the Yamashita got all Surinam when they included SouthEast Asia. So, that's why Yamashita treasure is not only what they dug in the Philippines, but he brought back and that amounted to a lot of gold.

THE CHAIRMAN. In one of your conversations with Mr. Marcos here in Honolulu, from your own knowledge, was there any foreign businessmen who wanted to transact with Mr. Marcos on his so-called gold bar?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, I am curious now how they got this information but the day after Marcos talked to me about the gold, the two Vice Presidents, I have the names in the house, approached me from the National Bank of Saudi Arabia, but the Chairman was Maphos who was a close friend of mine. Now, how these two people found about the gold, I don't know, but they said, we do relay to President Marcos that they would buy all his gold at 40 percent discount.

THE CHAIRMAN. Forty percent discount?

MR. ZOBEL. Forty percent discount. 40. Cockwell was the Vice President.

THE CHAIRMAN. Cockwell?

MR. ZOBEL. Cockrell. And another Pakistani. There were two people. The other one is an Iranian working for the bank. Now, they offered 40 percent. So, I relayed this to Mr. Marcos and Marcos said, "No. Enrique, sabihin mo 30." So, sinabi ko 30, umalis na sila. But how the hell did the National Bank of Saudi Arabia find out?. Now, I found out from the American government that they were really mad of the situation because they said, the Gulf War cost something like 100 million. Now, they imagine what this amount of gold would do 35 billion where you could finance wars worth five times like the Gulf War again.

THE CHAIRMAN. And they were talking about Marcos gold in deposit with the United States?

MR. ZOBEL. But they said just tell Mr. Marcos that we will buy all his gold.

THE CHAIRMAN. No, no. Regarding that last statement of this American friend of yours, that....

MR. ZOBEL. They did not want Saudi Arabia government to get back all the gold because that gold could finance more than the Gulf War. Like I mentioned, the Gulf War was only 10 percent of that total amount.

THE CHAIRMAN. Just for purposes of clarity. So, the Arabian business people...

MR. ZOBEL. No, the National Bank of Saudi Arabia.

THE CHAIRMAN. National Bank of Saudi Arabia.

MR. ZOBEL. National Bank of Saudi Arabia headed by Maphos, chairman.

THE CHAIRMAN. National Bank of Saudi Arabia headed by Mr. Maphos wanted to buy all the gold of Marcos at--did you say 40 percent?

MR. ZOBEL. Forty percent discount.

THE CHAIRMAN. Discount. And Mr. Marcos....

MR. ZOBEL. They will pay in cash.

THE CHAIRMAN. Will be paid in cash. And Mr. Marcos told you he wanted only at 30 percent.

MR. ZOBEL. He would only accept 30 percent discount for all.

THE CHAIRMAN. For all.

MR. ZOBEL. And they said "No." The Saudi said, "No."

THE CHAIRMAN. They wanted 40?

MR. ZOBEL. They wanted 40.

THE CHAIRMAN. And...

MR. ZOBEL. They came to my house, unexpected to my house here in Hawaii.

THE CHAIRMAN. Here in Hawaii.

MR. ZOBEL. My wife was present.

THE CHAIRMAN. And this was shortly before Mr. Marcos died?

MR. ZOBEL. This was the date after I talked to him in his house here in Makiki Heights. The day after.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, when was the last time you saw Mr. Marcos prior to his death in terms of may be weeks or months, just to situate your conversation?

MR. ZOBEL. February 8, 1989.

THE CHAIRMAN. Mr. Marcos died in 1989, September if I am not mistaken.

MR. ZOBEL. That was in February.

THE CHAIRMAN. And so, the last time you saw him was in February. And the last time you saw him he was already in the intensive care?

MR. ZOBEL. Intensive care. When he opened his eyes, he looked and smiled, that's all. He couldn't talk.

THE CHAIRMAN. He couldn't talk anymore. Was that one of the reasons why some of the documents that you had prepared for him, for example, the Trust Agreement...?

MR. ZOBEL. That was before, a week before approximately.

THE CHAIRMAN. Could not be signed by him. He was no longer in possession of his normal faculties?

MR. ZOBEL. No. When I gave him the document, he could have, it was my belief because he was talking to me. But the doctors, they argued that they cannot certify because he cannot concentrate or know what he is reading more than five seconds.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. So, he was capable of focusing on any matter only for five seconds?

MR. ZOBEL. That was the doctor said. The doctors name--I have the names. Filipino doctors by the way.

THE CHAIRMAN. To your knowledge, from the last time you saw Mr. Marcos in February of 1989 until he died in September of 1989, was he able to get out of the intensive care at all?

MR. ZOBEL. I don't know if he was in the intensive. He had a private room. So, I guess the doctor--I don't know.

THE CHAIRMAN. In any event, you were not able to get back to Hawaii anymore after you saw him in February 1989?

MR. ZOBEL. No.

THE CHAIRMAN. When he died--after he died, did you come back here?

MR. ZOBEL. No. I came after he had died, I think six months and later I saw--I saw the airconditioned coffin near the other side of the island. I was impressed because he has a generator there donated by the Filipinos.

THE CHAIRMAN. Let us clarify the point of the conditions of the Trust Agreement that he wanted to be buried in the Philippines.

MR. ZOBEL. In the Philippines. But especially he told me, "Huwag kang papayag sa Philippine Consulate, ha. Lupa din natin iyan. I want Philippine island."

THE CHAIRMAN. So, he did not want to be buried here?

MR. ZOBEL. No. He said, I'm afraid, they would do that, and I guess he was afraid that they would do that.

THE CHAIRMAN. And the second condition was his family should no longer be sued?

MR. ZOBEL. Be sued.

THE CHAIRMAN. Prosecuted....

MR. ZOBEL. Prosecuted, sued by the government.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, considering all these events, Mr. Zobel, it would probably be relevant for you to place on record how you feel regarding these incidents particularly on the length of time it was taken for your testimony to be placed on record before an authorized body of the Philippine government.

MR. ZOBEL. Well, first, I must say I'm extremely happy and satisfied to the Blue Ribbon Committee headed by you had finally, finally asked me the questions, because before they never wanted to talk to me about it.

That's why I would thought what are they hiding. If I will not tell the truth, why don't they want the people to know that Marcos had that gold. We all know he had gold but the government wants to confuse the poor people of the Philippines who don't know anything. This is a story why, because they wanted to divide it among themselves. Yes, I have a tape that I'd like to give you when I first talked about it with Louie Beltran who passed away, Straight from the Shoulder, and another one from Randy David.

THE CHAIRMAN. So, yes. You have a copy of a videotape.

MR. ZOBEL. VHS. I have it copied yesterday from betamax.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yeah. Which shall bear the caption "Interview with two E.Z., that means Enrique Zobel, Louie Beltran, Straight from the Shoulder, this is June 10, 1992, and the Man and the Gold by Randy David." So, there are two video interviews.

MR. ZOBEL. Because a lot were advertisement and they were removed.

THE CHAIRMAN. And you are submitting this tape to the Committee as part of your testimony.

MR. ZOBEL. Yes. Because what is important there is the actual present of General Almonte where he said will be criticizing the government because they didn't want to find the gold. He already add the fact--he could have done it within 24 hours but due to confusing opposite letters to deposit in one bank, to deposit to the other banks. But the banks....

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, Mr. Almonte was a very important figure during the Ramos presidency. To your knowledge, did he pursue the search for the gold, the Marcos gold, Mr. Zobel?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, this was said by him before the elections. But after the elections, silence of everybody. Too much money.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, incidentally, you mentioned that four people were given individually one million dollars worth of gold bars, individually, one each to four people. Would you know why they were given these gold bars?

MR. ZOBEL. Naku. I don't know. But talking about the gold, he mentioned that I gave these following people one million dollar because mga "bata ko iyan." <<< (My Cohorts)

THE CHAIRMAN. So, he used the word "Mga bata ko iyan."

MR. ZOBEL. Mga loyal bata ko iyan.

THE CHAIRMAN. So,...

MR. ZOBEL. He said, "Loyal bata" but one of them made him leave the Philippines, the other one took his place as president. That's what I call "really loyal bata." (Laughter).

THE CHAIRMAN. So, probably unless there are any other suggestions or questions, we can wind up this portion of Mr. Zobel's testimony and tomorrow, hopefully tonight our stenographer can transcribe the testimonies, so that tomorrow we'll give a copy of the transcript to Mr. Zobel and to Consul General. Mr. Zobel to do corrections or any statements that might have been made or, you know, corrections in the transcript of what he really said. And then we can have the signing tomorrow of this deposition here again in the Consulate. So, hopefully by tomorrow afternoon, the stenographer will be able to finish everything.

MR. CHAVEZ. Would it mean just the same, we will schedule to appear here tomorrow?

THE CHAIRMAN. Tomorrow afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

MR. ZOBEL. What time.

THE CHAIRMAN. The same time, if that is all right.

All right. So, the session of the Blue Ribbon Committee is hereby... Probably, Mr. Zobel, would you want to say anything more.

MR. ZOBEL. No. Except like I repeat it, I'm very happy that we have some people in the government that are super honest and interested for the poor people. Thank you.

THE CHAIRMAN. And thank you for that. And I would like to assure you that the Committee will resume--not only tomorrow but also in the Philippines its investigation into this search for the Marcos wealth. And probably we'll need to call on you again especially in Manila where probably most of your papers are located in Manila to aid you in your recollection of the things, considering that many of the things that you testified to took place many years ago.

And knowing also that some people are making your testimony--their testimony before this Committee contingent upon your giving your testimony before us, it would be very helpful to this Committee if we can have some reservations for you to appear at a more opportune time in the Philippines in the near future. So, in behalf of the Committee, in behalf of Senator Flavier, Consul General Falcon, Mr. Galvez, Mr. Rosales, Mr. Frank Chavez, we would like to thank you Mr. Zobel.

MR. ZOBEL. Well, thank you very much and I hope I have opened Pandoras box, they say. THE CHAIRMAN. We have some....

MR. ZOBEL. At least I can start it.

THE CHAIRMAN. Which you can pursue. Thank you very much.

(Applause)

THE SESSION WAS SUSPENDED AT 5:30 P.M.

RESUMPTION: October 28, 1999 2:00 P.M.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right, session resumed. We would like to begin by asking Mr. Zobel if there are additional materials that he might wish to present to the Blue Ribbon Committee regarding the topic that we have been discussing since yesterday.

MR. ZOBEL. I have several exhibits. Exhibit "I". (labas mo. Referring to his nurse).

THE CHAIRMAN. Mr. Zobel said, he had several exhibits to present. We will kindly have those exhibits and we identify them--the last exhibit was number...

MR. TAMONDONG. Exhibit "D".

THE CHAIRMAN. D. So, this will now be Exhibit "E"-Zobel.

MR. ZOBEL. Exhibit I, Gunigundo, when he came to my house, he gave me this that Imelda had offered me five percent.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Mr. Zobel, please identify a so-called "A Memorandum of Understanding" consisting of two pages plus some entries...

MR. ZOBEL. In my diary.

THE CHAIRMAN. This is your diary.

MR. ZOBEL. You will notice that Mr. Gunigundo put the paper at the end of the table and when he left he didn't sign it, but--I would say that I have witnesses who saw that he do that. So, they informed me.

THE CHAIRMAN. In any event, just for record purposes, we have marked this Memorandum of Understanding consisting of two pages as Exhibits "E"-Zobel and "E-I". For the second page, and this purportedly is a Memorandum of Understanding executed by and between Mrs. Imelda R. Marcos and children, Imee Marcos Manotoc, Ferdinand R. Marcos, Jr. and Irene Marcos Araneta, represented by Mrs. Imelda R. Marcos, referred to as the first party, and the Presidential Commission on Good Government represented by his Chair, Magtanggol Gunigundo, referred to as the second party, and Enrique Zobel, referred to as the third party. Now, Mr. Zobel, just for the record, will you kindly inform this Committee who this Enrique Zobel is referred to here as the third party. Are you the same Enrique Zobel?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes, I'm the same Enrique Zobel.

THE CHAIRMAN. And this document states that the third party, meaning, Mr. Zobel would be entitled to a maximum of five percent taken from the gross recovery before the application of any sharing that may result from a compromise agreement by the second party which is the PCGG represented by Mr. Gunigundo and the first party which are actually the Marcoses. All right. And I would suppose that this Memorandum of Understanding is intended to rebut the statement of Mr. Gunigundo that he never offered any amount as--any amount up to a maximum of five percent to be taken from any gross recovery of the so-called "Marcos Wealth." And for purposes of record, we wish to put into the stenographic notes that this document was signed only by Mrs. Imelda R. Marcos for herself and on behalf of the children, Now, kindly tell us Mr. Zobel, whose signature is that appearing over the typewritten name, Mrs. Imelda R. Marcos?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, I was told by him that this is Mrs. Imelda Marcos.

THE CHAIRMAN. Told by whom?

MR. ZOBEL. By Gunigundo.

THE CHAIRMAN. So, you were told by Mr. Gunigundo that this was the signature of Mrs. Imelda R. Marcos?

MR. ZOBEL. Also Mrs. Imelda's representative was present, Cherrie Cobarrubias. Cherrie Cobarrubias was present in the meeting. Also present was my assistant Baylon who was sitting here.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. So, aside from Mr. Gunigundo telling you that this is the signature of Mrs. Imelda Romualdez Marcos, her representative by the name of Cherrie Cobarrubias?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes. She was representing Mrs. Imelda Marcos.

THE CHAIRMAN. Also told you that this came from Mrs. Marcos.

MR. ZOBEL. Correct.

THE CHAIRMAN. And your assistant Atty. Baylon was also present?

MR. ZOBEL. Correct. He is here now.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes. Now, can you tell us why is it that Mr. Gunigundo, you said told you that he was going to sign this document. But this document that you presented does not appear to have the signature of Mr. Gunigundo.

MR. ZOBEL. Well, he gave it to me and he put it at the end of the table. You realized that I can't move, I can't read that thing, so I assume--I took his word for it. But the witnesses are all there and saw it.

THE CHAIRMAN. And he left after that conference without signing this document, is that what you are saying?

MR. ZOBEL. That's correct.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, the second page of Exhibit "E"-Zobel which is marked as Exhibit "E-I"Zobel, has your printed or typewritten name Enrique Zobel, third party, but it does not bear your signature. Can you tell the Committee why is it that you did not sign in this document?

MR. ZOBEL. No, because when I noted that he didn't sign, I didn't sign neither. I noticed he didn't sign it the next morning when it was shown to me.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Now, Mr. Gunigundo appearing before the Blue Ribbon Committee hearing in Manila denied that he offered anything to you. Can you tell us if prior to this--to the delivery of the Memorandum of Understanding to you, Mr. Gunigundo had talked with you?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes. No, he did not. He brought this paper over to me because in the telephone call, he called me before and he said, he asked me that question by the telephone. I said, send it to me in writing and he came over.

THE CHAIRMAN. And so in that telephone conversation he was mentioning to you the terms--an agreement that would be...

MR. ZOBEL. No, no. All he said, Mr. Senator, was I will offer and Mrs. Marcos five percent for him for the information of the gold.

THE CHAIRMAN. This was verbally done?

MR. ZOBEL. Verbally done.

THE CHAIRMAN. And then you asked him to put it in writing.

MR. ZOBEL. I said, please put it in writing and send it to me, and then he brought it over.

THE CHAIRMAN. And this was the result of that suggestion of yours that he puts his offer in writing to give you five percent of the recovery of any Marcos wealth?

MR. ZOBEL. That is correct. I also did not sign it. I know because I was not interested in the five percent.

THE CHAIRMAN. Okay. Now, I have here with me now--it looks like a photocopy of a diary dated June 1, can you kindly explain what relation has this document with the Gunigundo visit to you?

MR. ZOBEL. No. Everytime my nurses put all my appointment everyday in my appointment book, and this is on that day, June 1, the people came to see me. They had an appointment with me.

THE CHAIRMAN. And among the people noted here under the caption, "Marcos Gold People"--I cannot read the rest of the annotation but the names are clear, Imelda Marcos and General Kintanar, Secretary Gunigundo and Doy Laurel.

MR. ZOBEL. Imelda did not come but Mrs. Cobarrubias came instead.

THE CHAIRMAN. And what about General Kintanar.

MR. ZOBEL. He was present.

THE CHAIRMAN. As well as Doy Laurel.

MR. ZOBEL. They were present.

THE CHAIRMAN. So, aside from these documents that you have just presented, are there any other evidence which you wish to submit to the Committee?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes. Yesterday, I gave two tapes. I found in my house here that I have four tapes. First, I gave yesterday, the one of Louie Beltran and Randy David. I also found two more which are more interesting to the Committee which is one by Loren Legarda and the other one by Tina Monzon Palma. Now, the one by Tina Monzon Palma has pictures of Marcos in the hospital here and many more, and I am corroborating what I've said yesterday.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes, very good. All right. I think Senator Flavier has some questions to ask.

SEN. FLAVIER. Just a few, Mr. Chairman.

I glanced over the news items that appeared in Manila relevant to our hearing yesterday, and I thought I would ask these two questions in the interest of clarity and to avoid any misunderstanding of any sort. The first one, Don Enrique refers to the four people that you mentioned--a Crisologo, a Ramos, an Enrile and a Ver. Did you like to repeat, for the record, the incidents because the way it's being treated it is as though you are claiming it as a fact rather than for them to understand that you are only reporting something that Mr. Marcos told you. Would you please repeat that, and for the record, so that our people will understand exactly the circumstance, Don Enrique?

MR. ZOBEL. Thank you, Mr. Senator. Now, first for clarity sake, Mr. Marcos told me this in his house or in the hospital during my visit within Honolulu that during the war in Bessang Pass, he got the gold from people. So, that is during the war. That's what he told me. Whether that is true or not, I don't know. I complied with my commitment after all that I would tell what Marcos told me. That is what Mr. Marcos told me. Now, I have no proof of whether he has done it or not, I don't know.

SEN. FLAVIER. Yes. Don Enrique, I think that is very important, because the way it is being pictured it is as though it was something that happened after the war, long after the war, and by implication, is of recent vintage. But the way I understood you yesterday was the way you are mentioning and I thought that it is a repetition. It is important that this is--during the war that the incident transpired.

MR. ZOBEL. In fact, he further mentioned that if you noticed my statement yesterday, I said that during the war he mentioned there was no government.

SEN. FLAVIER. Yes. I recall you mentioning that. So, the matter of tax and reporting became academic. So, that I think is a very important clarification that you have made. The second...

THE CHAIRMAN. Before you go to the second point. Perhaps it would also be good in the interest of truth, Mr. Zobel, if we can clarify that the dates on which these gold bars were supposedly given to the persons that were named by you yesterday had not been mentioned by Mr. Marcos to you? Did he tell you that he gave these gold bars during the war, after the war or before the war?

MR. ZOBEL. No, he just told me during our conversation that during the war there was no government, he had this given equivalent in dollars of gold, I don't know, but this was given to these four people during--I assume during the war. That is my assumption.

THE CHAIRMAN. You assume that it was during the war.

MR. ZOBEL. Because he told me there was no government. It has to be during the war, during liberation.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Thank you.

SEN. FLAVIER. My second question, Don Enrique, is again the matter of clarification of the way they refer to the Yamashita treasure, because I think a clarification is in order because when it is lumped up generically plus a big Yamashita treasure, they are lumping together even monies that were from Surinam and the others. You may want to annotate this for the sake of clarity and for the record, Don Enrique.

MR. ZOBEL. Well, he was talking about the Yamashita treasure regarding what he showed me. Now, that specifically I mentioned yesterday I estimate by counting the ounces and computing that 400 was equivalent to 35 billion. The other part where I said, the 100 billion is by information that I received from witnesses that present themselves in Manila, I mentioned. That they said this money came from Germany, Holland, Surinam, and that Yamashita got them and brought them to Manila. That's why I assume 100 billion.

SEN FLAVIER. Yes. So, you were really referring two tranches.

MR. ZOBEL. Two tranches. One of 35 and second, the balance of 100.

SEN. FLAVIER. Which were accumulated from gold bars...

MR. ZOBEL. Mostly from Germany.

SEN. FLAVIER. ...from Germany, Surinam and the others. So, I think that clarification is important because it delineate sourcing and some people were saying the figures don't tally. But yesterday it was clear in my mind that the 35 was a calculation you made based on the stock of gold certificates that was shown to you as a proof of capability of repayment of the loan that he was asking you which you estimated at 35 billion. And in addition, there was a second tranche that came from these various sources including Surinam because one of the gold bars, I understand, had an itching of Surinam and, therefore, those two tranches together you estimate including your other information to be in the order of 100 billion U.S. Dollars. Would that be a fair summation, Don Enrique?

MR. ZOBEL. That is very clear. Now, one thing more is that I based the 35 billion on the certificates he showed to me. I also mentioned that this certificate looked real but I don't know if they were false or not. I do not know.

SEN. FLAVIER. Thank you, Don Enrique.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, again, Mr. Zobel, in the interest of two, we have to repeat this question because assuming that the gold bars were given to the persons you named like Mr. Enrile. During the war he was still probably a student. He was not even a graduate of the College of Law of the University of the Philippines, so the likelihood is Mr. Marcos would have not met Mr. Enrile at that time and, therefore, probably we have to situate what you are saying so that we can understand just where Marcos was coming from when he mentioned these things to you.

MR. ZOBEL. Well, he mentioned to me while in Hawaii. Now, I don't know whether he gave to Enrile or not. That's what he told me. So, you asked me what the President told me, that's what he told me.

THE CHAIRMAN. Ah yes, but now today, just a few minutes ago, you seem to qualify your statement yesterday that the gold bars were given during the war which at that time Mr. Enrile was probably still a teenager at most, and he would not have gone to the College of Law of the University of the Philippines during the war because everybody knows that Mr. Enrile went to the University of the Philippines after the war. And so I'm just trying to situate your remarks so that we can at least try to determine just what would be perhaps the basis of Mr. Marcos statement to you. We are not questioning, Mr. Zobel, your statement that Mr. Marcos mentioned these people and that he gave one gold bar each worth at least one million dollars to the four of them. That, we are not questioning. But we would like to put on record the circumstances as best as we can recall which will show that this is not just a wild claim. Because otherwise if the circumstances are such that Mr. Marcos categorically said, I gave these gold bars to these people during the war or immediately after the war, this could possibly lead to some misunderstanding about the whole thing.

MR. ZOBEL. The only thing, Mr. Senator, I'd like to correct when you said Mr. Enrile was a teenager. That's impossible, because he is much older than I am. And during that time I was 17 already, so he could not be a teenager.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes. You would still be a teenager if that's the case at 17 or 18 or even 19 before he turns 20.

MR. ZOBEL. But I think he is ten years older than I am. I'm 72.

THE CHAIRMAN. He is 72, yeah, but Enrile is only 75.

MR. ZOBEL. I was 18.

MR. CHAVEZ. Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes.

MR. CHAVEZ. As a matter of record, I think Senator Enrile graduated from U.P. in 1954.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yeah, exactly.

MR. CHAVEZ. So, he started law proper in 1950.

THE CHAIRMAN. Which was long after the war, I mean, four years after the war was over. All right. Again, we were only just trying to situate the personalities of the persons you have mentioned to place them under a certain period, so that we can more or less determine the veracity of Mr. Marcos's assertion. There is no question about your statement. We believe what you said that Mr. Marcos mentioned this to you, but nonetheless, we owe it to the people to make sure that the statement would come out under the circumstances which would give the statements some validity. In other words, they would not look as if they were just leaked out of the air by Mr. Marcos and passed unto you and you said this before the Committee and the Committee sort of blows it up before the mass media. We do not wish to be projected in that light, Mr. Zobel. That's the reason why we are trying to be a little more discerning on this issue.

MR. ZOBEL. I think you are very correct, Mr. Senator.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Now, also for the record, during the war, was Mr. Ramos already elected? Hindi pa siguro. He is still a cadet. All right. In any event, these are circumstances that Mr. Zobel would not really be concerned about it. It's only that as Chair of the Committee, I believe that the Committee should be cleared about its conclusions which we will draw from the testimony of witnesses coming before us. Senator Flavier, is there...

SEN. FLAVIER. No.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, just for the record again, Mr. Zobel, when did Mr. Marcos mention to you that the gold bars, four gold bars were given to Mr. Ramos, Mr. Enrile, Mr. Crisologo and Mr. Ver? Was it in one of your visits to him in Honolulu?

MR. ZOBEL. It was specifically the night I went to visit-

-I had dinner with him at his house here, Makiki Heights. THE CHAIRMAN. So, it was already after the EDSA Revolution?

MR. ZOBEL. O, yes.

THE CHAIRMAN. Okay. So, thank you very much. Do you have anything to suggest? All right. There is a suggestion that this question be raised to you, Mr. Zobel. When Marcos was telling you about the sources of his gold assets, the impression the Committee is getting is that, he told you that these were collected even before he became president. That's the impression that we get. Is that a correct impression?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, he said, he always loved gold and he had the collection of some gold, but some gold bar. But I don't know. He only mentioned the word "some." But the majority of it was the Yamashita treasure.

THE CHAIRMAN. And which were recovered--the bulk of which were recovered when he was already the president, is that correct?

MR. ZOBEL. Recovered part when he was president and part before the liberation from the Sierra Madre mountains.

THE CHAIRMAN. Did you get the impression, Mr. Zobel, that the four gold bars that were supposedly given by Mr. Marcos to Mr. Ramos, Mr. Enrile, Mr. Crisologo, Mr. Ver, came from the Yamashita treasure?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, he mentioned to me just before he made the statement that he bought bars from the soldiers, 20 dollars per bar.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Implying that these were part of the Yamashita treasure?

MR. ZOBEL. Implying, yes, correct. That's an assumption.

THE CHAIRMAN. Would it be correct to assume that Mr. Marcos made the impression that he gave the gold bars to Mr. Enrile, Mr. Ramos, Mr. Crisologo and Mr. Ver when he was already president? Can we draw that conclusion?

MR. ZOBEL. I honestly don't know.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. So, the answer is he doesn't know for sure

SEN. FLAVIER. Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes.

SEN. FLAVIER. Yesterday, you also mentioned, Don Enrique, a phrase that I can no longer recall but it was something like you explained that Marcos justified his giving the one bar each to those four people because they were loyal, "Mga bata kong loyal."

MR. ZOBEL. "Mga bata na loyal to me."

SEN. FLAVIER. Yes. And the question is, how this loyalty angle came to pass when the loyalty factor was something that occurred during his presidency. It seems not to tally.

MR. ZOBEL. I really don't know, but I am only telling what he told me. So, I don't know the rest. SEN. FLAVIER. Thank you.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Again, just to situate the testimony a little more, in a more focused manner. Mr. Enrile served in various capacities in the cabinet. I think that you know, Mr. Zobel, is that correct?

MR. ZOBEL. That is correct.

THE CHAIRMAN. And Mr. Ramos also was in many posts or holding many positions under the Marcos government. That's also correct, Mr. Zobel?

MR. ZOBEL. That is correct. They're both friend of mine. I have known them for years.

THE CHAIRMAN. And so was Mr. Ver who was even, I think, Chief of Staff of Mr. Marcos, is that correct?

MR. ZOBEL. That is correct.

THE CHAIRMAN. Mr. Crisologo, if he is the Crisologo who we have in mind, Congressman Floro Crisologo, for instance, was a political henchman of Mr. Marcos when he was still in Congress as well as when he became the President. Is that not correct, Mr. Zobel?

MR. ZOBEL. I'm sorry, but I don't know Mr. Crisologo I've never met him.

THE CHAIRMAN. In any event, that I think that can be proven as a historical truth that Mr. Crisologo was a long time congressman of Ilocos Sur and a close henchman of the president politically. So, I think we're done, Mr. Zobel. All right. So, again, we'd like to express our thanks to Mr. Zobel for his willingness to testify before this Committee. And Mr. Chavez... So, what we are going to do now is to allow our stenographer to finish the transcription of her notes and after that Mr. Zobel will be given time to review the notes as transcribed before he will be asked to thumbprint again all the pages before our Consul General. Did I see any.... Pardon. All right. Yes. Earlier, we also heard that you had communicated to Mr. Bongbong Marcos. In fact, this is part of your testimony where I will quote you: "I wrote a letter to Bongbong today, I have not typed it yet. I'll give you a copy." Would you have a copy now, Mr. Zobel?

MR. ZOBEL. Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. I am being handed a one-page--two-page document with the caption, "Enrique Zobel, 1475 Ihilao Loop, Honolulu, dated October 28, 1999." The addressee Governor Ferdinand Bongbong Marcos, Office of the Governor, Province of Ilocos Norte, Laoag City 2900. That's the zip code, I think. And it says, "Dear Bongbong." But before I go to the contents, I'd like to find out if the thumbprint over the typewritten name E. Zobel is yours?

MR. ZOBEL. That's mine.

THE CHAIRMAN. That is the thumb print of Mr. Zobel. And the letter says and I will read because it's a brief letter. It says:

"Last October 26, Monday, my employee here in Honolulu, Chuck Barreiro received a phone call from a certain Noel C. Calixto who claims to be representing you (attached is a copy of his business card). Chuck reported to me the following :

1. Mr. Calixto told him, "Yung anak ng matanda ko at yung anak ng matanda mo ay nag-usap na.
2. He also told Chuck, "Nag-usap na rin kami nung "Big Hawaiian", OK na planchado na!
3. He asked Chuck who are the people from media coming to Honolulu
Coincidentally, Inigo called me about something that night and I took the opportunity to ask him if he talked to you and the said no. I believe that this person could harm you indirectly. Why does he have to lie? What is this all about?

Regards.

E. Zobel.

Witness to the thumbprint, Evelyn Chotangco.

P.S. During my deposition last Wednesday, I saw him at the Philippine Consulate.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, let me ask you these questions. What is your understanding about this phrase? Mr. Calixto--this is a certain person who came over to your employee, Mr. Chuck Barreiro. Mr. Calixto told him, referring to Chuck Barreiro, "Yung anak ng matanda ko at yung anak ng matanda mo ay nag-usap na." What is the understanding of that?

MR. ZOBEL. That means Bongbong and my son Inigo.

THE CHAIRMAN. Have talked.

MR. ZOBEL. Have talked. That's what he says.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. And then No. 2, and then he also told Chuck, "Nag-usap na rin kami nung Big Hawaiian, OK na planchado na."

MR. ZOBEL. Now, the Big Hawaiian was here a while ago, his name is Larry Mehau.

THE CHAIRMAN. Ah, so Larry. So, you are referring to Larry Mehau?

MR. ZOBEL. Larry is here now. You could ask him directly, if Bongbong talked to him.

THE CHAIRMAN. Yes, we will come to that. Now, the Inigo name which is mentioned here is your son, Mr.Zobel? MR. ZOBEL. Yes, my son.

THE CHAIRMAN. And according to this letter of yours, you talked to Inigo and you asked him if he indeed talked with Bongbong?

MR. ZOBEL. No. We called him by telephone to tell me he was going to Australia to visit his sister this weekend and I took the opportunity and said, by the way, did Bongbong call you? He said, "No."

THE CHAIRMAN. So the Big Hawaiian refers to Mr. Mehau?

MR. ZOBEL. Mehau. He is here.

THE CHAIRMAN. So, probably we will ask...We will take a break from the testimony of Mr. Zobel to ask Mr. Mehau if he is willing to answer a few questions regarding this point?

Mr. Mehau, will you please come over, Mr. Mehau? Consul General, will you place Mr. Mehau under oath?

MS. FALCON. Will you please raise your right hand. Do you swear to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth? Please state your name?

THE CHAIRMAN. You may sit down. Excuse me. Kindly put the microphone so...Kindly state for the record your name, Mr. Mehau, your full name.

MR. MEHAU. Larry Mehau.

THE CHAIRMAN. And how it's spelled? M e h a u?

MR. MEHAU. Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Where do you live, Mr. Mehau?

MR. MEHAU. In the big island. In Hawaii.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Probably you can give us a forwarding address?

MR. MEHAU. P.O. Box 666, Camuela, Hawaii.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Do you know a person by the name Noel C.

Calixto, Mr. Mehau?

MR. MEHAU. I know of him, yes.

THE CHAIRMAN. Have you had any occasion to talk with him in the last few days?

MR. MEHAU. Yes, we had breakfast together.

THE CHAIRMAN. And what did you talk about if you can share that with us?

MR. MEHAU. Nothing as important as it was discussed here. I informed him that I was taking care of Mr. Zobel's security.

THE CHAIRMAN. But there was no...anything that could be interpreted to mean that you were talking with Mr. Calixto regarding the Marcos wealth?

MR. MEHAU. Not about the Marcos wealth, but about his testimony.

THE CHAIRMAN. His testimony?

MR. MEHAU. Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN. Unless Senator Flavier wants to ask further questions.

SEN. FLAVIER. I have a follow up question for Mr. Zobel.

THE CHAIRMAN. From Mr. Zobel. All right. Thank you, Mr. Mehau. Thanks a lot.

SEN. FLAVIER. Can I ask him now just a short question?

THE CHAIRMAN. Senator Flavier.

SEN. FLAVIER. Thank you, Mr. Chairman. Don Enrique, yesterday you alluded to an incident purporting to show that there was threat to life referring, I think, to your children? There was...Could you just corroborate because I have a follow up question.

MR. ZOBEL. Well, I have had calls from my very close friends of mine to tell me that they overheard that they wanted to harm me or my children or my grandchildren. And please, necessary precaution in Hawaii before the deposition.

SEN. FLAVIER. Who was your informant, Don Enrique, who told you? You are at liberty to do so.

MR. ZOBEL. Well, I'm sorry, but he asked me please not to mention his name which I promised.

SEN. FLAVIER. That would be fine. Since then, Don Enrique, were there any other threats nor incidents that make you believe there was substance to that information?

MR. ZOBEL. Not this information but many years ago when I--after Louie Beltran, I got several telephone calls in my house. I just asked the phone number.

SEN. FLAVIER. So not the recent one?

MR. ZOBEL. Not the recent one.

SEN. FLAVIER. The one of Louie Beltran is dated `92, so that was long time ago. But related to this information of threat to you, your children or your grandchildren, there has been no subsequent information or incidents that validate them?

MR. ZOBEL. No.

SEN. FLAVIER. Thank you very much.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Just for the record, we are marking the letter of Mr. Zobel to Bongbong Marcos dated October 28, 1999, as Exhibit "G"-Zobel and photocopy of the calling card of Noel C. Calixto as Exhibit "G-I"-Zobel.

MR. ZOBEL. By the way, the letter I'm sending it through somebody leaving tomorrow for Manila.

THE CHAIRMAN. You are sending it to Manila.

MR. ZOBEL. Through somebody that is going to Manila tomorrow. To be mailed from Manila to Laoag.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. To Mr. Bongbong Marcos. Yes, Senator Flavier.

SEN. FLAVIER. Again, just for clarity, Don Enrique. Yesterday, you mentioned about the Saudi businessmen who wanted to buy all the gold of Mr. Marcos at a 40 percent discount, but Mr. Marcos wanted 30, and therefore, the negotiation fail through. Would you be aware of what happened to the gold certificates after that?

MR. ZOBEL. All I know is I saw them and that night before dinner and he had a heart attack and he was taken to the hospital at 2:00 a.m. So, I saw the certificate when he was in his library. The only two people in the library were Teresita and his old valet.

SEN. FLAVIER. So, that was the last you know....

MR. ZOBEL. That's the last I know.

SEN. FLAVIER. But the certificates were there with Bongbong and Mrs. Marcos?

MR. ZOBEL. No, no. The people in the house was his family were only Bongbong and Mrs. Marcos. Now, this was in his private library.

SEN. FLAVIER. I see. But when you saw--when the certificate was shown to you, there was just the two of you and Mr. Marcos?

MR. ZOBEL. The two of us and the nurse who showed to me and the houseboy that was serving dinner for us.

SEN. FLAVIER. Yes. Thank you for that reply, Don Enrique. On an earlier point, there was this referral to the conversation and the words "planchado na" was used. Can you elaborate for us what that means or what is your understanding of that phrase?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, that is the reason why I wrote the letter because I don't understand them. What is planchado na? That they expect me to lie or what? I don't know. That's my first impression. Planchado na ang sasagutin ko. You got what I mean?

SEN. FLAVIER. Yes.

MR. ZOBEL. That's obvious, you know. That's why I wrote the letter because I don't know myself.

SEN. FLAVIER. I see. Thank you, Don Enrique.

THE CHAIRMAN. Now, yesterday, Mr. Zobel, you mentioned about certain activities involving the Philippine banking community and you raised some questions regarding the possible meaning of all these movements. Perhaps we'll ask you to venture an opinion as to the reason for this so-called "merging of banks in relation to the sole issue of the recovery of Marcos wealth?"

MR. ZOBEL. Okay Now, I'm talking as business on bank all over the world. Nowadays, government are trying to get more bank for more competition. Better rate, better etcetera. Now, in the Philippines, we go exactly the reverse. Now, I was thinking to myself. Why are we doing this? Because this is silly to do this. It's very bad for the country. So, because of my information from close friends that I cannot mention, bankers, they were saying that they want to merge because they want to launder the money that the Central Bank had, that the other bank had--they want to launder it to a few bank and they can only do it by merging honest bank with government banks so that the government will get the information of the honest bank. They become like an example, I don't say this up to the--BPI is merging to Far East Bank. We do know that Far East Bank is owned by many stockholders including the government as they say. So, therefore, they will have access to BPI. Now, being so big, they can assume a big loan.

THE CHAIRMAN. When you speak of money laundering, that can cover a lot of things like drugs money, you know, extorted money, or even--probably the return of the Marcos wealth through these merged banks, Mr. Zobel? Would you think as a businessman, in your opinion, that this would be possible?

MR. ZOBEL. Well, I will not ignore it. I believe there is no law...

THE CHAIRMAN. Could you repeat your answer for the record?

MR. ZOBEL. I think there is no law. I think laundering money to the Philippines. So, that's why--this is my personal assumption. This is an ideal situation where very few big bank, no laundering, so it's ideal for laundering.

THE CHAIRMAN. All right. Now, I guess we have exhausted our questions for Mr. Zobel. So, we can call it a day and thank again, Mr. Zobel, for his kindness in favoring us with his presence. And hopefully, because of your testimony here Mr. Zobel, some other citizens could be induced to appear before this Committee, maybe in Manila to amplify on certain points and perhaps share with us their own personal knowledge of the things that you have spoken about this afternoon.

So, in behalf of Senator Flavier and the members of our Committee, may we thank Mr. Zobel again. After this deposition taking, we will have our stenographer to transcribe the notes of the proceedings for the review of Mr. Zobel for his thumb printing and affirmation under oath of the contents of the notes before our Consul General.

So, very likely, we will be able to do all of that by tomorrow, Mr. Zobel. I hope that is all right with you.

MR. ZOBEL. I will be available tomorrow if God willing.

THE CHAIRMAN. So, maybe shall we set it for tomorrow afternoon again at 2:00 o'clock.

Thank you, Mr. Zobel.

MR. ZOBEL. Thank you.

Title: Does the roots of the Vatican original from Planet

Description: Arcturus?

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 25, 2006 01:45 AM (GMT)

Has anyone got any information on the Roman Race originating from a planet known as ARCTURUS in our galaxy? Apparently the Hebrews may have originated from SIRIUS A hmmm.

Alexandra - March 25, 2006 02:48 AM (GMT)

Nope, Adam and Eve, 2TUFF.

Actually we're all descended from Noah, as it was only he, his wife, his sons, and his daughters-in-law that were in the ark.

I don't buy into this "we're descended from space-gods" type of thing. :P

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 25, 2006 03:18 AM (GMT)

So tell me where we came from which is realistic then? The Anunnaki type information is a far more acceptable explanation of why we may be here. So do you think humans, animals were put in Ziusudra's (noah) Arc? Of course not but if the story has any credibility at all, the arc which would have been a submersable and would have contained GENOME samples ready to recreate what was once created prior to the floods. If any protestant wants to attack me for wishing to understand our creation in a deeper fashion then so be it call me Occult. Whats funny is most protestants do not understand the word Occult which is nothing to do with evil but really means SECRET. So yes my creators are secret, so yes I wish to learn Occult.

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 25, 2006 04:28 AM (GMT)

ARCTURUS (Alpha Bootis). Among the very brightest of stars, shining with a soft orange light, Arcturus lights northern spring skies. It is one of three luminaries that partition the northern sky into very rough thirds, the others being summer's Vega and winter's Capella. Of the three, Arcturus, the Alpha star of the constellation Bootes, the Herdsman, is slightly the brighter, making it the brightest star of the northern hemisphere and the fourth brightest star of the entire sky, following only Sirius, Canopus, and Alpha Centauri. Arcturus, the "Bear Watcher," follows Ursa Major, the Great Bear, around the pole, "arktos" being the Greek name for "bear," from which our word "arctic" is derived by reference with the constellation of the Greater Bear. Arcturus is located at a distance of 37 light years, and became famous when its light was used to open the 1933 world's fair in Chicago, as that light had left the star at about the time of the previous Chicago fair in 1893. It is a classic orange class K (K1) giant star with a precisely defined surface temperature of 4290 degrees Kelvin. To the eye, it shines 113 times more brightly than our Sun. Its lower temperature, however, causes it to radiate considerable energy in the infrared. When this infrared radiation is taken into account, Arcturus actually shines almost twice as brightly, releasing 215 times more radiation than our Sun, from which we find a diameter 26 times solar, about a quarter the size of Mercury's orbit. Arcturus is close and large enough so that its angular diameter of 0.0210 seconds of arc can easily be measured, leading to a very similar direct determination of 25 times the solar dimension and providing nice confirmation of stellar parameters. Arcturus has a velocity relative to the Sun that is higher than other bright stars. Compared with the set of surrounding stars, which orbit the Galaxy on more or less circular orbits, it falls behind by about 100 kilometers per second (as do several others of the "Arcturus Group"). The lagging movement has long suggested that the star comes from an older population of the Galaxy. Consistently, it is somewhat deficient in metals, having only about 20 percent as much iron relative to hydrogen as found in the Sun. A more intriguing suggestion is that the star actually comes to us from a small galaxy that merged with ours some 5 to 8 billion years ago. As a giant, weighing in at around 1.5 times the mass of the Sun, it has ceased the fusion of hydrogen in its core. Though it is somewhat brighter than we would expect for a stable helium fusing star, helium fusion to carbon has probably already begun. Such stars are not expected to have magnetic activity like the Sun, but very weak X-ray emission suggests that Arcturus indeed is magnetically active and has a hard-to-observe "buried corona."

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 25, 2006 04:29 AM (GMT)

Now folks Edgar Cayce is absolutely spot on with his Alternative Health work. -2tuff

Edgar Cayce, in his channelings, said that Arcturus is one of the most advanced civilizations in this galaxy. It exists in fifth-dimension and is the prototype for Earth's future. Its energies work as an emotional, mental, and spiritual healers for humainty. It is also an energy gateway through which humans pass during death and re-birth. It functions as a gateway station for non-physical consciousness to become accustomed to physicality. Arcturus is that through which individuals pass, when the individual must chose as to whether it is to return to the Earth-sun system, or to pass on to others. This as both a step in soul evolution.

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 25, 2006 04:35 AM (GMT)

Arcturus is the fourth brightest star in the sky: only Sirius, Canopus and Alpha Centauri outshine this orange giant. It is a variable star in the last stages of its life.

Arcturus takes its name from its nearness to the sky Bears, Big and Little Bears, Ursa Major, and Ursa Minor. From Arktouros or Arctophilax, "the Bear Guard" and also called "the Bear Watcher". The "Herdsman", or "driver of oxen" are other titles. Arcturus is the brightest star in the constellation of Boötes the Herdsman so it is also called Alpha Bootis. The pattern of stars in this constellation forms the shape of a kite or an ice cream cone; seeing a Herdsman driving the bears around the sky.

Arcturus is believed to be one of the first stars named by ancient observers. It is translated as "Guardian of the Bear" and is a name that was once used for the entire constellation of Boötes. It is easily found by noting that the curve of the handle of the Big Dipper is part of a circle - an arc - and we can just "follow the arc to Arcturus."

Arcturus is a giant with a diameter about 18 times our Sun's and four times as much mass. Its surface temperature is about 1500 degrees lower than Sun's but its much greater surface area results in an outpouring of energy at a rate making it 105 times as luminous as Sun.

Recent observations by the European Space Agency's Hipparcos Space Astrometry Mission have revised Arcturus's distance to 36.7 light years from us.

Arcturus has the largest "proper motion" -- motion across the sky -- of any of the bright stars except Alpha Centauri, the nearest star to our solar system. In 100 years Arcturus moves across the sky a distance equal to about half the width of your little finger held at arm's length.

At its distance of nearly 37 light years, this motion, when combined with its motion along our line of sight measured spectroscopically using the Doppler shift, yields a space velocity of about 76 miles per second with respect to our Sun. Most stars in our vicinity are moving relatively slowly with respect to Sol because of our common motion carrying us around the center of the Milky Way galaxy every 250 million years. Arcturus is in an elongated orbit around the Galaxy's center that carries it out into the Galaxy's halo.

It was formed in the halo of the Milky Way and is an interloper in our neighborhood. It has been visible to the naked eye for only about half a million years. It will be a little closer in a few thousand years, but then will recede from our view in another half million years as it continues its journey on a different orbital path.

Arcturus's great brilliance makes it possible to obtain very detailed spectra and to determine its chemical composition. Arcturus is deficient in elements such as silicon, aluminum, and iron which are formed in stars. It contains only about a fifth as much of these elements as Sun. These elements are formed inside stars, mixed into the interstellar medium as stars explode, and incorporated into subsequent generations of stars.

This chemical composition reinforces our identification of Arcturus as a member of the galactic halo. It was formed about 10 billion years ago, in a generation of star formation prior to that in which our Sun was formed, before the interstellar medium could be enriched in elements such as silicon and iron. Arcturus, about twice as old as Earth and the solar system, is the oldest thing most of us have ever seen, and is the oldest object easily visible to the naked eye.

The constellation Bootes has the shape of a kite with the bright star Arcturus at the point of the kite where the tail is attached.

Arcturus is a red supergiant star and the fourth brightest star in the whole sky.

It is visible from the northern hemisphere in the evening from about March early summer. Red-supergiant stars are precursors to super-novae, neutron stars, and black holes (so it is believed). It is approximately thirty-six light years from Earth.

According to E W Bullinger (The Witness of the Stars), a biblical interpreter of the constellations, the ancient Egyptians called Bootes Smat, which means 'one who rules, subdues, and governs'. They also called him Bau , which means also 'the coming one'.

It was famous with the seamen of early days and as a calendar sign regulated their annual festival by its movements in relation to the sun. But its influence always was dreaded, as is seen in Aratos writings. Its acronycal rising (the latest rising visible at sunset) fixed the date of the husbandmen's Lustratio frugum; and allusions were made to its character as unfavorably affecting the farmer's work; "When moist Arcturus clouds the sky". Other contemporary authors confirmed this stormy reputation, while all classical calendar's gave the dates of its risings and settings.

An Egyptian astronomical calendar of the 15th century BC, associates it with the star Antares in the immense sky figure Menat; and Lockyer claims it as one of the objects of worship in Nile temples, as it was in the temple of Venus at Ancona in Italy.

In India it was the 13th nakshatra, Svati, "the Good Goer", or perhaps "Sword", but figured as a Coral Bead, Gem, or Pearl; and known there also as Nishtya, "Outcast", possibly from its remote northern situation far outside of the zodiac, whence, from its brilliancy, it was taken to complete the series of Hindu asterisms.

The Arabs knew Arcturus as Al Simak al Ramih *, sometimes translated the "Leg of the Lance-bearer", and again, perhaps more correctly, the "Lofty Lance-bearer".

Another Arabic name; Al Haris al Sama, the "Keeper of Heaven," perhaps came from the star's early visibility in the twilight owing to its great northern declination, as though on the lookout for the safety and proper deportment of his lesser stellar companions, and so "Patriarch Mentor of the Train." This subsequently became Al Haris al Simak, "the Keeper of Simak", probably referring to Spica, "the Unarmed One".

From the Arabic title came various forms: Al Bamec, Aramec, Aremeah, Ascimec, Azimech, and Azimeth, Somech haramach, Aramakh, Kheturus.

Al Biruni mentioned Arcturus as the Second Calf of the Lion, the early Asad (Lion) in early Arabian astronomy; Spica being the First Calf.

The Greeks had a word meaning "Javelin-bearer", while Bayer had Gladius, Kolanza, and Pugio, all applied to Arcturus, which probably marked in some early drawing the "Sword", "Lance", or "Dagger" in the Hunter's (Orion) hand. Similarly it took the title Alkameluz of the whole constellation.

It has been identified with the Chaldaeans' Papsukal, "the Guardian Messenger", the divinity of their 10th month Tibitu.

On the Euphrates it was the Shepherd of the Heavenly Flock, or the Shepherd of the Life of Heaven, undoubtedly the Sib-zi-anna of the inscriptions; the star eta (Mufrid) being often included in this, and thus making one of the several pairs of Euphratean Twin Stars.

Another title was Audiens, which seems unintelligible unless the word be a misprint for Audens, the "Bold One".

With others it was Arturig and Ariture, or the Carlwaynesterre from the early confusion in applying the title Arcturus to Charles' Wain as well as to Bootes and its lucida.

Bootes is the cultivator or Ploughman who drives the Bears, Ursa Major and Ursa Minor around the Pole Star, Polaris. The bears, tied to the Polar Axis, are pulling a plough behind them, tilling the heavenly fields "in order that the rotations of the heavens should never cease".

Manilius 1st century AD writes "they will be kings under kings and ministers of state, and be charged with the guardianship of the people, custodianship of great houses and treasures, who confine their business to the care of another's home so that the wealth of monarchs and temple finances will be in their keeping".

Any type of occupation that requires planning is influenced by Bootes. These people are the driving force behind government and large corporations. They are the planners and designers, the movers and shakers, who "make the world go round". Bootes symbolizes the elder, the sage, the wise old man who is interested in principles and underlying causes, theories, ideologies, and how the past effects the future. (Conservative) politicians, economists, draftsmen, architects, designers of all kinds.

All year round you can see Arcturus by following the curving line of the handle in the Great Bear, extended 30 degrees. An old tradition has it that one can "Arc to Arcturus" from the Great Bear to locate the star.

Arcturus refers to the word 'arc' - and many related esoteric terms, such as the Ark of the Covenant or Noah's Arc - all having to do with the flow of creation - Carl Jung's collective unconsciousness and archetypes - and energy. This takes us to Sacred Geometry. It is the way home through consciousness and mathematics. All of the esoteric information about Arcturus is metaphoric in content. An arc by any other name - is still an arc. - Ellie Crystal

Astrology

Influences of Arcturus - It is said to give prosperity from work, strong desires, a tendency to excess, a fondness for rural pursuits, together with some liking for occultism. It gives riches, honors, high renown, self-determination and prosperity by navigation and voyages.

The Kabalists associate it with the Hebrew letter Teth and the 9th Tarot Trump, The Hermit.

- The Fixed Stars and Constellations in Astrology

Tarot

Arcturus is associated with the Hermit in Tarot. Oswald Wirth in The Tarot of the Magicians writes about the Hermit ...

Depicted wearing a cloak with a hood that covers him from head to feet; except for his face and hands he is completely undercover. Held up in his right hand is a lighted lantern, a walking stick in his left, with a serpent on the ground nearby. With his cane he taps and sounds out the earth as he advances slowly. Rather than kill the serpent he casts a spell on it so that it twirls around his stick suggesting that he works along with the lower energies. The lantern penetrates and searches out and reveals the inner quality of things.

The Hermit is the master who works on the drawing board, where he casts the exact plan of the intended construction. Before taking form everything pre-exists as an abstract concept, as an intention, he represents the mysterious artisan, the drawn-up plan, the scaffold without which no vital construction could be made, the prototype putting the stamp of the species on the individual, the astral body of the occultist. He is the master capable of directing the work of others and of discerning what is in the embryo in the sphere of human development.

STARSTRUCK - Spring stars show their colours

<http://www.exn.ca/dailyplanet/story.asp?id=2005052052>

CLICK FOR VIDEO VERSION

It's the May long weekend - our first real opportunity to engage in some summer fun. And what May long weekend is complete without a colourful display of fireworks filling up the night sky?

Of course, if you're out looking at fireworks this weekend, you might want to take a few moments between oohing and ahhing to look at the stars too.

Although they're much fainter and farther away than the fireworks, they can be just as colourful. And right now you can see a perfect example of star colours by comparing two of the brightest stars in the May evening sky.

It's easy to find these two stars. Start by looking straight up, right after dark on the next clear night - that's roughly between 10:00 and 10:30 pm across most of the country.

The first thing you'll notice is the Big Dipper. Seven stars, together make up the bowl and handle of this imaginary utensil, making it one of the most obvious star patterns in the night sky.

Notice how the handle of the Dipper forms a curve or arc. If you extend that Arc it takes you to a bright star called "Arcturus". Just remember the expression "Arc to Arcturus" and you'll be able to use the Big Dipper to find this bright star anytime.

Now keep going with the arc and it will take you to another bright star, far down in the southern sky. This star is called "Spica".

Like all stars, Arcturus and Spica look white when you just glance up at them. But if you compare them carefully, you'll soon realize they can't possibly be the same colour.

While Spica looks a little bluish, Arcturus has a distinctly reddish hue. And if you look with binoculars, the colour difference between these stars becomes even more obvious.

In the case of fireworks, the different colours we see are due to different chemical elements mixed in with the gunpowder. But red stars and blue stars are both made of hydrogen so the colour difference we see between Arcturus and Spica is entirely because of temperature.

To illustrate the difference, let's start with the sun. It's an average star of an average size, and it's pretty hot too. The hydrogen gas at the sun's surface is about 5,600 degrees Celsius - hot enough to glow with a bright, yellowish light.

In comparison, Arcturus is far from average. It's an aging giant star that's now bloated up to 69 times the size of our sun. Stars cool when they expand, and Arcturus is now a mere 4,000 degrees Celsius. While still hot, it's definitely on the cool side for stars. So instead of a sunny yellow-white, Arcturus glows orangey-red.

Spica is also bigger and much more massive than our sun, but it hasn't yet got the stage where it's bloated up like Arcturus. All its mass is packed into a comparatively smaller volume, and it's much hotter - roughly 20,000 degrees Celsius. At that temperature, Spica is beyond white hot, it's blue-white.

One thing that might surprise you is that blue stars are hotter than red stars. Here on Earth we're used to the opposite - red usually means hot, blue means cold.

Once you've compared Arcturus and Spica, try turning your binoculars on to other stars. See if you can figure out which ones are hotter and which ones cooler just on the basis of their different colours. It's a great way to enjoy the night sky, and a great way to keep yourself occupied while you're waiting for those fireworks to get started!

Arcturus

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Arcturus>

Arcturus (α Boo / α Boötis / Alpha Boötis) is the brightest star in the constellation Boötes, and the third brightest star in the night sky, with a visual magnitude of -0.05 , after Sirius and Canopus (fourth, if the Sun is included). Because Alpha Centauri consists of two bright stars which are closer together than the limit of resolution of the human eye, Alpha Centauri actually appears brighter than Arcturus to the naked eye. It is the second brightest star visible from northern latitudes and the brightest star in the northern celestial hemisphere.

It is a type K1.5 IIIpe red giant star — the letters "pe" stand for "peculiar emission," which indicates that the spectrum of light given off by the star is unusual and full of emission lines. This is not too uncommon in red giants, but Arcturus has a particularly strong case of the phenomenon. It is at least 110 times more luminous than the Sun, but this underestimates its strength as much of the "light" it gives off is in the infrared; total power output is about 180 times that of the Sun.

An easy way to find Arcturus is to follow the arc of the handle of the Big Dipper. By continuing in this path, one can find Spica (α Virginis) as well — leading to the coinage of the popular maxim, "Arc to Arcturus, then speed on to Spica."

Facts

Arcturus is notable for its high proper motion, larger than any first magnitude star other than nearby α Centauri. It is now at its closest point to the Sun, and is moving rapidly relative to the solar system. Arcturus is thought to be an old disk star, and appears to be moving with a group of 52 other such stars. Its mass is hard to exactly determine, but may be about the same as the Sun, and is no more than 1.5 solar masses. Arcturus is likely to be considerably older than the Sun, and much like what the Sun will be in its red giant phase.

According to the Hipparcos satellite, Arcturus is 36.7 light years (11.3 parsecs) from Earth, relatively close in astronomical terms. From this satellite's observations, Arcturus is now known to be slightly variable, by about 0.04 magnitudes over 8.3 days. It is believed that the surface of the star oscillates slightly, a common feature of red giant stars. In the case of Arcturus, this was an interesting discovery as it is known that the redder (more towards or within the M spectral class) a giant gets, the more variable it will be. Extreme cases like Mira undergo large swings over hundreds of days; Arcturus is not very red and is a borderline case between variability and stability with its short period and tiny range.

Hipparcos also suggested that Arcturus is a binary star, with the companion about twenty times dimmer than the primary and orbiting close enough to be at the very limits of our current ability to make it out. The most recent studies of the issue are generally coming down on the side of it being a single star, however.

Alternative and former names

The name of the star derives from ancient Greek Ἄρκτοϋρος (Arktouros) and means "Bear Guard." This is a reference to it being the brightest star in the constellation Boötes the Hunter (of which it forms the left foot), which is next to the Big and Little Bears, Ursa Major and Ursa Minor.

In Arabic, it is called Haris-el-sema, "the keeper of heaven." This name has been variously romanized in the past, leading to obsolete variants such as Aramec and Azimech.

It corresponds to the Hindu astronomy Nakshatra of Svātī.

Cultural significance

Prehistoric Polynesian navigators knew Arcturus as Hokule'a, the "Star of Joy." Arcturus is the Zenith Star of the Hawaiian Islands. Using Hokule'a and other stars, the Polynesians launched their double-hulled canoes from Tahiti and the Marquesas Islands. Traveling east and north they eventually crossed the equator and reached the latitude where Arcturus would appear directly overhead in the summer night sky. Knowing they had arrived at the exact latitude of the island chain, they sailed due west on the trade winds until making landfall. If Hokule'a could be kept directly overhead, they landed on the southeastern shores of the Big Island of Hawaii. For a return trip to Tahiti the navigators could use Sirius, the zenith star of that island.

The star achieved fame in 1933 when its light was used to open the World's Fair in Chicago, Illinois. The star was chosen as that light had started its journey at about the time of the previous Chicago fair in 1893.

In fiction

In the fictionalized universe of Marvel comics, the Arcturan system is binary and has at least four planets. It is also an inhabited binary system in the 1920 novel A Voyage to Arcturus, by David Lindsay.

In The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy there are several references to Arcturan species and things, presumably originating on a planet orbiting Arcturus. Examples include "Arcturan Megadonkey" and "Arcturan Megafreighter", see The Ultra-Complete Index for a more extensive list.

Isaac Asimov's The Foundation Series has Arcturus as the capital of the Sirius Sector in the Galactic Empire.

In Stargate Atlantis, Project Arcturus is a failed Ancient power-source project.

Arcturus is also a Korean RPG game created jointly by Gravity Corporation and Sonnori.

David Linsey has a fantasy or science fiction novel 'A Voyage to Arcturus'.

In the Starcraft series of games, Sons of Korhal leader and later Emperor Arcturus Mengsk is presumably named for this star. There is some ambiguity, however, as the word 'arcturus' occurs in Latin (as the Future Active Participle of the verb 'arcere') and could provide an alternative source for the name.

In new-age religion

Some New Agers believe in Arcturians, a supposed highly advanced extraterrestrial race.

In the Bible

In the King James Version of the Bible, Arcturus is mentioned twice in the Book of Job:

"Which maketh Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the chambers of the south."

Job 9:9

"Canst thou bring forth Mazzaroth in his season?"

or canst thou guide Arcturus with his sons?"

Job 38:32

The Hebrew word thus translated is אַשׁ Ash or 'Ayish. Due to the obscurity of ancient terminology, some scholars dispute this identification, instead equating it with Aldebaran, Canopus, Ursa Major, or the Pleiades, among other celestial objects[1].

Occult traditions

In the astrology of the Middle Ages, Arcturus was one of the 15 Behenian fixed stars, associated with jasper and the plantain herb. Cornelius Agrippa lists its symbol under the alternate name Alchameth.

Recording Angel in the Roman Legal System

Commentary on Roman Law, with Latin/English Text, circa 225 B.C.

<http://community.middlebury.edu/~harris/Ph...y/arcturus.html>

As the 21 st century comes to a start, we are hardly surprised by the notion of a satellite circling our planet to register a photographic record of the whole topography of the earth, with such exactitude that it can actually "see" an individual house and under optimal conditions, even a person out taking the dog for a walk. This can be used for detecting dangerous armaments worldwide, but also for location of houses within 100 meters accuracy as basis for a national census. It is a fact of life which goes along with ubiquitous TV reception from a floating platform loaded with electronic gear, satellite relayed telephone and business communications, the things we have quickly accustomed ourselves to use as necessities of life in this new world.

But it is a surprise to find that the Romans could envisage just such a satellite as early as 200 B.C. Theirs was a little different, it was not a human-devised contraption but something built into the nature of the god-contrived world, but it had the same lofty position in the heavens, it gathered information to be relayed not to Roman business companies, but to the god who presided over Law and Justice. Its function was to survey the world just as our satellites do, scanning for information about what goes on down there, but relaying the information derived from the human legal system to the celestial Appellate Court over which Jupiter presided. The name of the satellite was "Arcturus".

A word about identity: Arcturus is the brightest star in the northern hemisphere, situated in the constellation Boötes, in almost direct line with the tail (zeta and eta) of the constellation Ursa Major (the Great Bear), from which position comes its name as "Guardian of the Bear" (Gr. arktos + ouros). It has been thought at various star references in the Hebrew Bible are to Arcturus as clearly seen and prominent, and in the Roman world the Vulgate read Arcturus for stars mentioned in Job ix, 9, in Job xxxvii, 31 and Amos v.8. I mention this to point to the general awareness of this bright and significant star in the Roman world.

The play of Plautus' "Rudens" or The Rope was produced somewhere around 200 B.C., it has the usual Prologue which lays out the story-line for the audience in typical Roman Comedy fashion. But there is a curious pre-Prologue to the play, spoken by this very god-star Arcturus, who explains his role and functions in quite explicit terms. If we think of a satellite as science or business based, the Roman pictures his satellite as a sophisticated piece of legal equipment, Law being since the very earliest times a special concern and creation of the keen Roman mind. This satellite appears at night, gathers all sort of information about the administration of justice in the Roman world, and submits this to a literally "superior" court which reviews all cases and re-adjudicates them with ultimate justice in mind. So the tricks and casuistries of Roman lawyers conniving with crooked clients will come to nothing, under the all-seeing and all-registering eye of Arcturus, who will be up there every night, all night, collecting his files of legal information.

But let Arcturus speak for himself, here is a close translation of the text found at the start of Plautus play "Rudens". with the Latin text for anyone who wants a more scrupulous view, followed by a few general comments:

"In company with Him who rules all peoples and the seas and lands, a citizen am I of the City of the Heavens. Agleam with shining star, (he points to the stage star- emblem on his head) in me you see a constellation which for ever rises in its season here and in the skies. Arcturus is my name. It is Jupiter, the lord of gods and men, that does assign us each our different posts among the peoples, that we may learn about the deeds and ways of men, their reverence and loyalty, and how well each does fare.

All who bring to court false cases supported by false witness, all who before the magistrate deny on oath their honest debts, them we note down and take their names to Jupiter. Day by day He knows who they are that seek evil here on earth. When the wicked here expect to win their suits by perjury, or press false claims before the judge, the case as judged is judged again by Him. And the fine He fines them far exceeds their gains in courts of law.

The good men are enrolled by Him on other tablets, yet scoundrels think to placate Him by gifts and offerings. Their time and money are both wasted, for he takes not tribute from a guilty hand. The righteous man will find God's grace by prayer more readily than will the knave.

This do I therefore urge upon you, who are good men and lead lives of righteousness and honor: Hold fast to your course, that so you may live in joy."

Qui gentes omnes mariaque et terras movet, eius sum civis civitate caelitum.
ita sum, ut videtis, splendens stella candida, signum quod semper tempore exoritur suo hic atque in caelo. nomen Arcturi est mihi.
qui est imperator divom atque hominum Iuppiter, is nos per gentis alium alia disparat, qui facta hominum, mores, pietatem et fidem noscamus, ut quemque adiuvet opulentia.

Qui falsas litis falsis testimoniis petunt quique in iure abiurant pecuniam, eorum referimus nomina exscripta ad lovem.
cotidie ille scit quis hic quaerat malum, qui hic litem apisci postulant peiurio mali, res falsas qui impetrant apud iudicem.

iterum ille eam rem iudicatam iudicat.
majore multa multat quam litem auferunt.

Bonos in aliis tabulis exscriptos habet.
atque hoc scelesti in animum inducunt suum, lovem se placare posse donis, hostiis, et operam et sumptum perdunt. id eo fit quia nihil ei acceptumst a periuris supplici.
facilius si qui pius est a dis supplicans, quam qui scelestust, inveniet veniam sibi.
idcirco moneo vos ego haec, qui estis boni quique aetatem agitis cum pietate et cum fide:
retinete porro, post factum ut laetemini.

A few remarks:

1) It is surprising how many things which we regard as the advances and achievements of our modern world, now only a few hundred years old, have been foreshadowed by early outlines or idea-sketches which are often quite close to the central idea. In Greek mythology there is a "brazen man" who wreaks destruction widely, until someone learned to drill a hole in him and let out his "blood". In the film "2001" we don't have to drill, we just pull the power plug, but the fear of a mechanical marvel remains with us, as with the sutured up monster of Dr Frankenstein (which foreshadows modern organ transplant, incidentally).

Think of the similarities between our knowledge of atomic theory, our widely accepted view of evolution and survival of the fittest, and Lucretius' words on these subjects in Books I, II (atoms) and Book V (evolution). Lucretius was drawing on centuries of Greek thought, these ideas were clearly not his personal idiosyncrasies. Heraclitus some four centuries earlier had noted random-motion as able to create the whole patterned world, and even the exchange of energy for mass. (Full material in my study of Heraclitus on this site under Philosophy Section).

So I find it in no way surprising that the "Idea of a Satellite", which in a sense is an artificial planet of sorts obeying the same gravitational and inertial rules as natural planets, is something the Roman was likely to consider. It would be a long way to the actual placing of an object in orbit, even longer to furnishing it with optical and computing equipment capable of our giant world-survey. But the IDEA could already be there, it was in the case of this Latin text conjured up by a Roman carpenter and stage-construction hand who also wrote plays, and he put it at the start of one of the most interesting and sensitive of his plays, the Rudens.

2) If Plautus' star-satellite worked, where would it fit in the celestial world? He makes this quite clear: "I am a citizen of the City of the Gods". It would be four centuries before St. Augustine would work out his concept of the Civitas Dei, a double world where we live in an earth-bound human society, above which functions a higher authority, an ordered Heaven which is a society on its own terms in its own right. Just the other day I saw a hot-dog stand in front of a department store with the name Hebrew National, and underneath the words "...we obey a higher authority." Of course this just is a clever touch of humor, but behind it lies the same notion of something above us, watching and regulating us, and noting with perfect accuracy if there is any pork in the hot-dog.

Is this constant insistence on there being something higher, a mind in the sky, a supra-being who is stronger and more powerful than we are in every dimension, a part of the human Social Notion which demands an every higher escalation of the "leader"? Dogs being intensely social, do this very same thing with us, look to us as if deities, I am sure. Heraclitus was wrong saying that if dogs and horses had gods they would be like dogs and horses. No, they would be like Humans! And so Humans devise an idea of something higher than themselves, and being able to thinking abstract terms, they start out with the God- Idea as vapor or pure mind or "He Who Has No Name". But since many of us feel uncomfortable with pure ideas, our cultures re-ify their Idea- Deities into saints and statues and golden calves.

Roman religion had eaten itself out with the termites of distrust and inattention, and it was into the vacuum, which Imperial Divification could never even hope to fill, that Christianity so suddenly imploded. I note in this speech of Arcturus as all-seeing super-eye of the Legal System (both the here and now and the other world in heaven) that Plautus shows an anticipation of two things:

- a) First, what the Christian world was about to state in terms of God's looking into every secret place and every soul, the Omniscient One from whose eye there is no escape.
- B) Second, there will be a mind, collecting vast quantities of information, which he sees as an all-viewing satellite-star circling the planet. But more important is its function of amassing complete files on the Law, which after all is the place where all Roman associations (as in Gaius extant Manual of the Law) finally touch and terminate. The "computer mind" of the star is really the core of the notion of Arcturus the Legislator, rather than just an eye in the sky like our local weather-casting
- c) And then there is the notion of a Court of Appeals, where the appeal is generated not by the parties but by the ultimate Judge. So it is a Court of Review, which straightens out legal wrongdoing, false evidence, perjured statements, and legal trickery. Here real justice presides, and this must give us pause in our daily dealing with each other in court. If the Law is not administered correctly, virtually as an article of faith, then it will sooner or later fail to operate and we will all be found guilty. Note the final lines of Arcturus' declamation:

"You good and honest people, hold fast to your ethics, Continue honest so that you can be happy in life."

Plautus wishes that it may be so, all living together in justice with fair treatment through Law with each other. Living in America through the last half century before the millennium, we might well wish something of the kind were to save us being inundated in the tangled webs of our legal system, which along with high ideals of Justice, has involved itself with the traits of dishonesty, perjury and false evidence to which all legal systems, soon or later, seem to be liable.

<http://www.winshop.com.au/annew/Bootes.html>

Notes and history: The word 'Bootes' actually means Ox Driver, but in connection with the two Bears (Ursa Major and Ursa Minor) he is often seen as a Bear Driver who chases the Bears around the pole star, Polaris. Other views represent Bootes as a Herdsman or Ploughman. The Romans saw seven oxen in the stars of Ursa Major, the proximity of these stars to the North Celestial Pole gave the impression that they were wheeling around this point, pulling perhaps a plough behind them, tilling the heavenly fields and driven on by Bootes, the Bear Driver, depicted with a with a spear in his right hand and a sickle in his left hand, who chases or herds the Bears around the pole star, Polaris .[NPS p.152] Another version of this story has it that the oxen were tied to the polar axis and were driven on by Bootes, assisted by his two dogs Canes Venatici, in order that the rotations of the heavens should never cease, alluded to by Carlyle in Sartor Besartus: "What thinks Bootes of them, as he leads his Hunting Dogs over the zenith in their leash of sidereal fire?" [SLM p. 93]. The Plough is the bucket shaped figure in the constellation of Ursa Major, outlined by the stars; Merak (Beta Ursa Major), Dubhe (Alpha Ursa Major), Phecda (Gamma Ursa Major) and Megrez (Delta Ursa Major) of the Great Bear. The Three Horses are; Alioth (Epsilon Ursa Major), Mizar (Zeta Ursa Major) and Benetnash (Alkaid, Eta Ursa Major) .

It is said that Bootes invented the plough, a symbol of fertilization [DSC], to enable mankind to better till the ground and as such, perhaps, immortalizes the transition from a nomadic life to settled agriculture in the ancient world. This pleased Ceres, the Goddess of Agriculture, so much that she asked Jupiter to place Bootes amongst the stars as a token of gratitude. [NPS p.152].

In another story, Bootes is seen as Icarius, a grape grower in Attica. Icarius was a very friendly man and unwittingly gave Bacchus (Roman Bacchus - Greek Dionysus, the god of wine and ecstasy, he had a cult followings throughout much of the ancient world), who happened to be incognito, the freedom to inspect his vineyards. Bacchus was so impressed with these vineyards that he decided to tell Icarius how to make wine from grapes. Icarius did so, and was delighted with the results. Icarius invited all the other shepherds and friends of the neighborhood to a festival to taste the heavenly liquor for themselves. The party was a great success but they all drank too much and, under the influence of the wine, fell asleep. When they awakened the next morning with terrible hangovers and headaches, they discussed what had happened and decided that Icarius must have planned to poison them all. They agreed that Icarius should pay for this with his life. They overpowered the innocent man in his sleep, killed him, and threw his body in a ditch. The Dogs, Asterion and Chara (of the constellation Canes Venatici), missed Icarius, their master, and began to whine. Erigone, Icarius' daughter (associated with the constellation Virgo), heard the dogs and let them off their leashes. Immediately, the dogs started to sniff and search for Icarius until they found his dead body in the ditch. In despair, Erigone committed suicide and the dogs leapt in the deep ditch to die with their master. [NPS p152]. (See Virgo in the Myths of the Zodiac by Kalev Pehme for a more complete account of this story).

"The whole tragic story of Icarius, Erigone, and the Dogs can be seen unfolding in the sky. When Bootes (Icarius) culminates high in the south, Taurus, the Bull, the sacred animal of Bacchus, has just set, which means that Bacchus has left Icarius after his visit, leaving the wine recipe with Icarius. At the same time Orion also sets which means that the shepherds fall asleep under the influence of the wine. Next morning when Orion comes up he appears as an enormous giant, just awakening from his sleep and brandishing his club, the signal that the shepherds have decided to kill Icarius. This can be seen in the west where Bootes sinks below the horizon. Then, as the shepherds sneak off, notice how Orion sinks down to the west. In the east rises the constellation of Virgo, the Virgin, who represents Erigone. The Hunting Dogs also rise and the search begins. When Bootes culminates again it means that the dogs have found Icarius. Next we see the trio sink towards the west which indicates the end of the story when they all die". [NPS p.153].

This constellation has been linked with Iasion (source unknown to this author). Iasion was a son of Zeus and Electra. He lived with his brother, Dardanus, in Samothrace, though some legends said that he was a Cretan. A common thread in all these legends was his love for Demeter, but sometime this love was unrequited, so he tried to hurt her. This aroused Zeus' anger and he killed him with a thunderbolt. It has been more often claimed that his love was mutual, however, and that Iasion united with Demeter on a strip of fallow land which had been ploughed three times. She bore a son Plutus. Diodorus claimed that Iasion was also the brother of Harmonia. Zeus taught him the secrets of Samothrace. After his sister had married Cadmus he met Demeter, who was attracted to him and gave him wheat-seed. Later Iasion married Cybele, by whom he had a son called Corybas, eponym of Corybantēs. [DCP p.213].

Titles: Bootes has been known as such for nearly 3000 years, perhaps for much longer; although maybe at first applied only to its prominent star Arcturus. It has been variously derived: some say from words 'to drive', and so the 'Wagoner, or 'Driver', of the Wain (a farm wagon); Claudian writes: "Bootes with the wain the north unfolds or the Ploughman of the Triones". Others, and perhaps more correctly, thought the ...Greek word... meaning Clamorous, transcribed as Bootes, from the shouts of the Driver to his Oxen, - the Triones (Ursa Major), - or of the Hunter in pursuit of the Bear, and suggesting that the shouting was in encouragement of the Hounds, Asterion and Chara of Canes Venatici. In translations of the Syntaxis this idea of The Shouter was shown by Vociferator, Vociferans, Clamans, Clamator, Piorana, 'the Loud Weeper', and even perhaps by Canis Latrans, 'the Barking Dog', that Aben Ezra applied to its stars in the Hebrew words Kelebh hannabah. The title 'Herdsman', from the French Bouvier, 'Herdsman' because Bootes as driver of the Bears which the Arabs regarded as a Fold with its inmates and enemies. Other Latin names: Portitor Ursae, Custos and Custos Arcti which means the 'Bear-Keeper'; Custos Erymanthidos Ursae; Arcturi Custos; Plaustrum Custos - The Keeper of the Wain. English writers called it the 'Bear-Driver'. Some called it 'Lycaon', the father or grandfather of Callisto who is identified with Ursa Major. It was also called 'Atlas', because near to the Pole it sustained the world. The titles, 'Pastor', the 'Shepherd', presumably is from the Arabic idea of a Fold around the pole. One Arabic title signifies it a 'Digger' or 'Trencher' in a vineyard. Aratos called it the Vintager, as its rising in the morning twilight coincided with the autumnal equinox and the time of the grape harvest. [SLM].

It was said that the Herdsman was the national sign of ancient Egypt, the myth of the dismemberment of Osiris originating in the successive settings of its stars; and that there it was called Bacchus, or Sabazius, the ancient name for Bacchus and Noah; and that Kircher's planisphere showed a Vine instead of the customary figure. Its risings and settings were frequently observed and made much of in all classical days, Hesiod says: "When in the rosy morn Arcturus shines, Then pluck the cluster's from the parent vines" and again, but for a different season of the year: "When from the Tropic, or the winter's 'Sun, Thrice twenty days and night's their course have run; And when Arcturus leave's the main, to rise; a star bright shining in the evening 'skies; Then prune the vine". Roman writers and others have similar references to Bootes, or to Arcturus, as indicating the proper seasons for various farm work, as in the 1st Georgic: "Setting Bootes will afford the signs not obscure". [SLM].

According to E.W. Bullinger, a biblical interpreter of the constellations; "the ancient Egyptians called Bootes Smat, which means one who rules, subdues, and governs. They also called him Bau, which means also the Coming One".

The Romans characterized the constellation as late in setting. Aratos said: "he, when tired of day, At even lingers more than half the night". Manilius somewhat varying this by; "Slow Bootes drives his lingering Teams" Claudian, Juvenal, and Ovid, by tardus, slow, and piger, sluggish, which their later countryman Ariosto, of the 16th century, repeated in his pigro Arturo; and Minsheu, in the 17th century, wrote of it as "Bootes, or the Carman, a slow moving 'starre, seated in the North Pole neere to Charles Waine, which it followes". And all this because, as the figure sets in a perpendicular position, eight hours are consumed in its downward progress, and even then the hand of Bootes never disappears below the horizon - a fact more noticeable in early days than now (because of precession, the stars have slowly changed positions). The reverse, however, takes place at its rising in a horizontal position; hence the meaning of 'all at once', of Aratos. Some say that these expressions of sluggishness are from its setting late in the season when the daylight is curtailed, or a reference to the natural gait of the Triones that Bootes is driving around the pole; while still others, more astronomically inclined, attributed them to his comparative nearness to that point where "slowest are the stars, even as a wheel the nearest to it's axle". Eusebius, quoting an ancient oracle which has apparent reference to this constellation as formerly represented, writes, "A mystic goad the mountain herdsman bears". The early Catholics knew it as Saint Sylvester; Caesius (Dutch astronomical writer) said that it might represent the prophet Amos, the Herdsman, or Shepherd Fig-dresser, of Tekoa. [SLM].

Triptolemus in Greek myth was the first ploughman.

The plough is a symbol of fertilization. In an Aryan legend, Rama, the hero, marries Sita (the furrow). Because the earth is female in nature, ploughing is a symbol of the union of the male and the female principle. The former Chinese custom of ceremonial ploughing by the emperor at the beginning of his reign is connected with this symbolism (33). [DSC].

A Christian view of Bootes: The Witness of the Stars, E.W. Bullinger, 1893.

"Around our North Pole is a varied collection of animals, dominated by the two Bears, Great and Little (Ursa Major and Ursa Minor). Descriptions of this 'mini-zodiac', which does indeed extend all the way round the sky, have varied much from one age to another, the Bears apart, and have included cattle as well as creatures of the wild. Naturally there has to be someone there to maintain order and to protect those in the service of God and man, and that is precisely the role of the Herdsman, Bootes. His name has long been something of a puzzle, for there are several possible sources for it in the Greek. The probability is that the name comes from a word meaning to shout and clamor, for well armed though he is, he is a protector of all creatures, and does not strike with his weapons if fearsome noise will assert his authority instead. This is certainly how the Arabs interpreted the name, for they made him Al Awwah, the Barker, and also gave him charge of a dog, which the Hebrews before them had managed to see there with him. The name Al Awwah has another significance too, being close to Al Awwal, 'the First' implying closeness to God, if not even God Himself. That was in pre-Islamic times, of course; no such human representation is countenanced now. But The Quran does speak of man as a Regent placed upon Earth, with dominion over other creatures, so Al Awwal can be read that way too. Bootes then represents not God but all of us, in the role that God has given us to fill". [The Living Stars by Dr Eric Morse, Amethyst Books, 1988].

True is the name men have given him (the Bearwarden), threatening-like he presses forward as one does over a team of bullocks. To those born under Arctophylax - Arcturus (strictly speaking Arcturus is a star, but the name is used by ancient astrologers for the whole constellation of Bootes and for the star alone, it's often difficult to distinguish which of these the authors are referring to), fortune herself makes bold to entrust her treasures, so that the wealth of monarchs and temple finances will be in their keeping (custodianship is a suitable endowment for the Bearward); they will be kings under kings and ministers of state (politicians), and be charged with the guardianship of the people or, as the stewards of grand houses, they will confine their business to the care of another's home. [Manilus, book 5 of Astronomica 1st century AD].

The astrological influence of the constellation

According to Ptolemy the influence of the constellation is like that of Mercury and Saturn, though the star Arcturus is like Mars and Jupiter. It is said to give prosperity from work, strong desires, a tendency to excess, a fondness for rural pursuits, together with some liking for occultism. The Kabalists associate it with the Hebrew letter Teth and the 9th Tarot Trump "The Hermit". (Robson).

Bootes embodies many of the characteristics of the Hermit in the Tarot. Bootes symbolizes the elder, the chieftain, the sage, the wise old man, who is interested in principles and underlying causes, theories, ideologies, and how the past effects the future. Bootes, the Herdsman, who drives the Bears around the Pole Star, is the conservative politician, the statesman, the director, the administrator, the executive, the planner and designer. This group; i.e. Bootes, the Bears, and the dogs of Canes Venatici; are the 'movers and shakers', who 'make the world go round'. Bootes people hold positions of trust in government, large companies and corporations. They are initiators with restless, active minds and eminently regarded for their sound intelligence and perceptive analysis. They have keen insight into discerning other people's potential and know how to inspire, instruct and guide them. Fond of knowledge and study, they are often voracious readers, many pursue further study in adulthood. Bootes represents experience and profound knowledge, but like the politician, they will only reveal that what others understand; they will not "cast pearls in front of swine" (so to speak). They are kind, hard-working man, enjoy rural life and agricultural occupations, with a fondness for comfort, good food and good wine. Bootes gives prosperity and honors gained through effort and skill, popularity, authority, determination, method, eloquent orators (Bootes was called the Shouter), some may choose to live alone to pursue goals. If the above tendencies are exaggerated or perverted, it can make them serious, austere, ascetic, sober, and skeptical, frown upon frivolity, pessimists, take life so seriously that they are unable to enjoy themselves. Modern Date : February 13th Market Day

Idus Februarias The Parentalia

user posted image

This day (NP), is for special religious observance.

The Parentalia was a celebratory period in which ancestors were honored. It lasted from February 13 through the 21st. The temples would all be closed during this period. Offerings of small amounts of wine, bread, a sprinkling of salt, or flowers were made at the tombs. On this day the Fabii clan, fighting alone against the Veii for Rome, were ambushed and destroyed but for one boy.

February is a month sacred to the gods Mars (as Quirinus, or Romulus) and Juno, the wife of Jupiter. It is also a month in which particular reverence was shown to the spirits of deceased ancestors. This was a month devoted to fertility, both of men and women, and of the land, and celebration of the coming Spring.

Juno, also called Saturnia and known as Hera by the Greeks, was the daughter of Cronus (Saturn) and regarded as a paragon of motherly virtues. She was the divinity of sacred marriage and childbirth, and was prone to violent wrath at every violation of her marriage bed with Zeus.

Columella says the rising of Arcturus occurs on this day.

Bootes - The Herdsman

http://www.nasaexplores.com/extras/constel...n_07-10-03.html

Bootes is usually described as a herdsman driving a bear (Ursa Major – The Great Bear) around the sky. The Romans believed that Bootes was the herdsman of the seven stars of the Big Dipper. The Greeks knew this constellation as Bear Watcher, Bear Keeper, or Bear Guard. Bootes has also been seen as a farmer who plows the land during spring.

No one knows the origin of the name Bootes. Some people say it is taken from a Greek word that means “noisy,” referring to the herdsman’s shouts to his animals. Other people say that the name comes from the Greek word for “ox-driver”, because Ursa Major was sometimes said to be a cart pulled by oxen.

Arcturus is the brightest star in Bootes, and the fourth brightest star in the whole sky. It is a very large (“supergiant”) star, with a bright orange-red color. The name Arcturus means “Bear keeper” in Greek.

Cassiopeia

The name Cassiopeia comes from a Roman myth. Queen Cassiopeia was the lovely but vain queen and wife to King Cepheus of Ethiopia. Cassiopeia claimed that she was even lovelier than the Nereids, the sea nymphs. The Nereids begged Poseidon, the god of the sea, to punish the pride of Cassiopeia. One of her punishments was to sit on her throne in the sky forever. As the sky appears to rotate, she can sometimes be seen suffering as she hangs upside down.

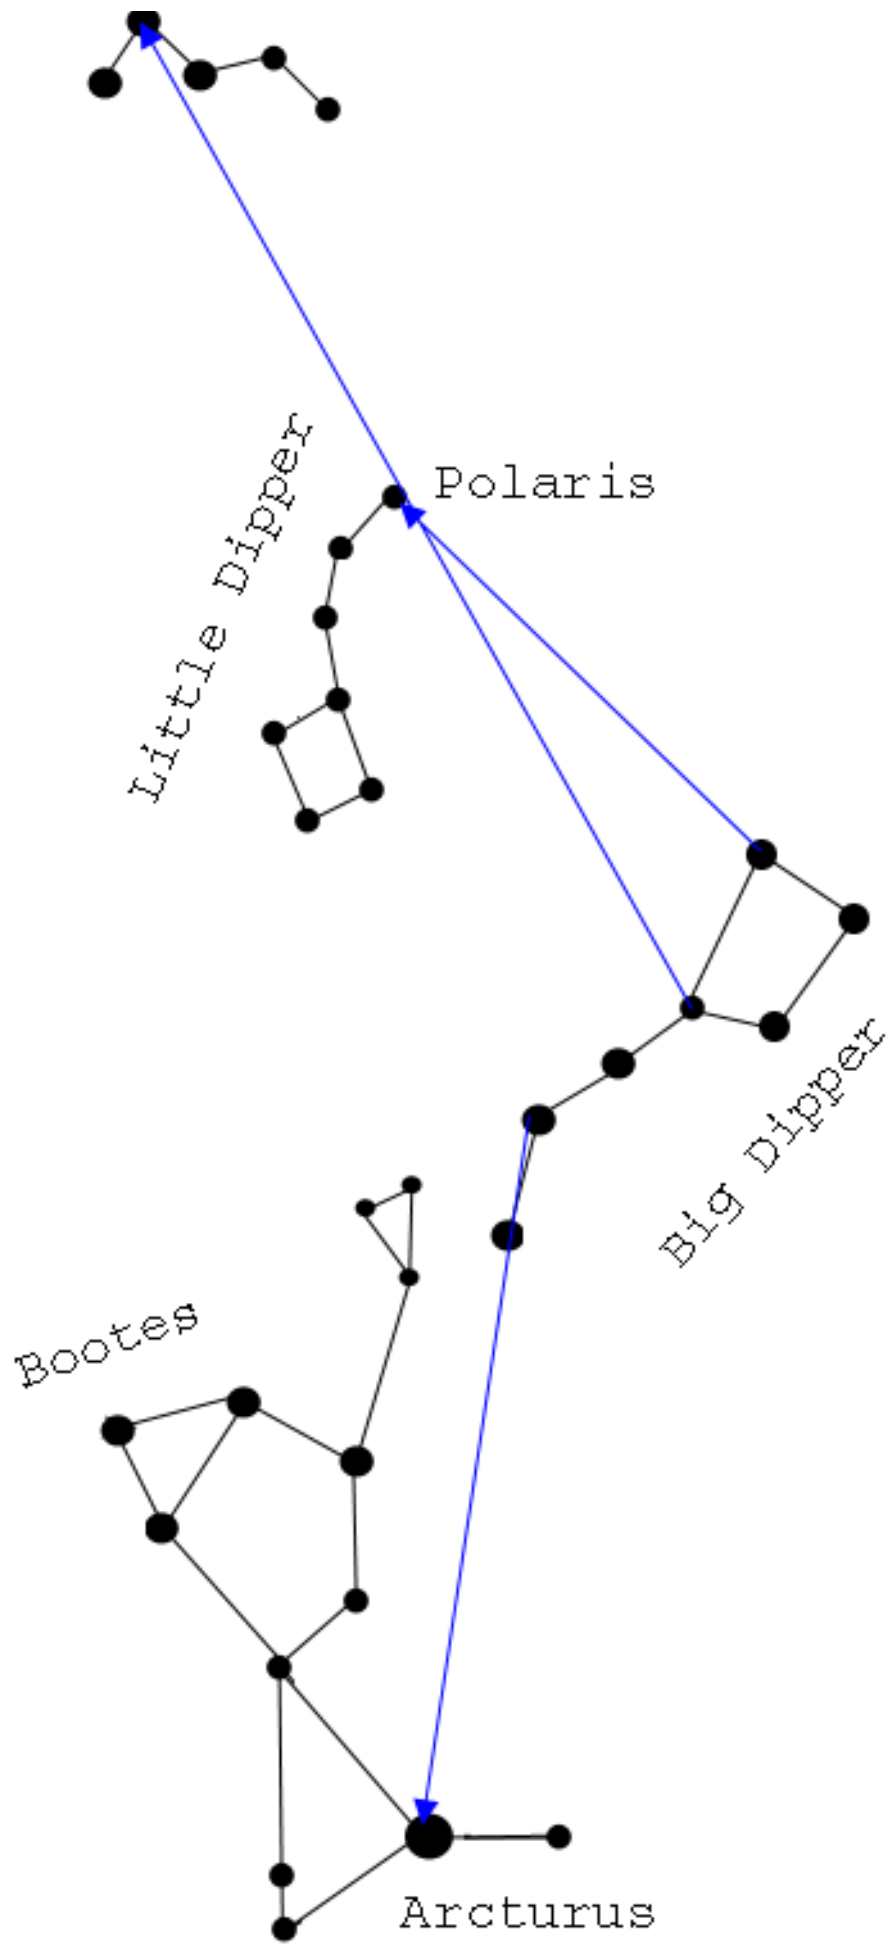

How To Find These Constellations

To find Bootes, first find the Big Dipper. If you imagine a slightly curved line coming off of the handle of the Big Dipper, the line should cross through Arcturus. Since Arcturus is the brightest star in Bootes, you should be able to find the rest of the constellation from there.

To find Cassiopeia, find the Big Dipper and the Little Dipper. If you imagine a line from where the handle of the Big Dipper meets the bowl of the Big Dipper through Polaris (the last star in the handle of the Little Dipper), that line should go through Cassiopeia. Cassiopeia looks like a stretched out W, or sometimes an M, depending on where the constellation is in the sky.

Astronomy in the Bible

<http://www.newadvent.org/cathen/02029a.htm>

No systematic observations of the heavenly bodies were made by the Jews. Astral worship was rife in Palestine, and they could hardly have attended closely to its objects without yielding to its seductions. Astronomy was, under these circumstances, inseparable from astrology, and anathemas of the prophets were not carelessly uttered. As the most glorious works of the Almighty, the celestial luminaries were indeed celebrated in the Scriptures in passages thrilling with rapture; but the appeal to them for practical purposes was reduced to a minimum. Even the regulation of times and seasons was largely empirical. The Jews used a lunar year. It began, for religious purposes, with the new moon next after the spring equinox, and consisted normally of twelve months, or 354 days. The Jewish calendar, however, depended upon the course of the sun, since the festivals it appointed were in part agricultural celebrations. Some process of adjustment had then to be resorted to, and the obvious one was chosen of adding a thirteenth, or intercalary, month whenever the discrepancy between the ripening of the crops and the fixed dates of the commemorative feasts became glaringly apparent. Before the time of Solomon, the Jews appear to have begun their year in the autumn; and the custom, revived for civil purposes about the fifth century B.C., was adopted in the systematized religious calendar of the fourth century of our era.

Both the ritual and civil day commenced in the evening, about half an hour after sunset. Its subdivisions were left indeterminate. The Old Testament makes no mention of what we call hours; and it refers to the measurement of time, if at all, only in the narrative of the miracle wrought by Isaias in connection with the sundial of Achaz (2 Kings 20:9-11). In the New Testament, the Roman practice of counting four night-watches has superseded the antique triple division, and the day, as among the Greeks, consists of twelve equal parts. These are the "temporary hours" which still survive in the liturgy of the Church. Since they spanned the interval from sunrise to sunset, their length varied with the season of the year, from 49 to 71 minutes. Corresponding nocturnal hours, too, seem to have been partially used in the time of the Apostles (Acts 23:23).

As might have been expected, the Sacred Books convey no theory of celestial appearances. The descriptive phrases used in them are conformed to the elementary ideas naturally presenting themselves to a primitive people. Thus, the earth figures as an indefinitely extended circular disk, lying between the realm of light above and the abyss of darkness beneath. The word firmamentum, by which the Hebrew rakia is translated in the Vulgate, expressed the notion of a solid, transparent vault, dividing the "upper waters" from the seas, springs, and rivers far below. Through the agency of the flood-gates, however, the waters sustained by the firmament were, in due measure, distributed over the earth. The first visibility after sunset of the crescent moon determined the beginning of each month; and this was the only appeal to the skies made for the purposes of the Jewish ritual. Eclipses of the sun and moon are perhaps vaguely referred to among the signs of doom enumerated by the Prophets Joel and Amos, who may have easily have enhanced their imagery from personal experience, since modern calculations show solar totalities to have been visible in Patestine in the years 831, 824, and 763 B.C., and the moon reddened by immersion in the earth's shadow is not an uncommon sight in any part of the world. But the passages in question cannot be literally associated with mere passing phenomena. The prophets aimed at something higher than intimidation. An express warning against ignoble panic was indeed uttered by Jeremias in the words: "Be not afraid of the signs of heaven which the heavens fear", (x, 2). The stellar vault, conceived to be situated above the firmanent, is compared by Isaias to a tent stretched out by the Most High.

ASTRONOMICAL ALLUSIONS IN THE OLD TESTAMENT

The "host of heaven", a frequently recurring Scriptural expression, has both a general and a specific meaning. It designates, in some passages, the entire array of stars; in others it particularly applies to the sun, moon, planets, and certain selected stars; the worship of which was introduced from Babylonia under the later kings of Israel.

The Planets

Venus and Saturn are the only planets expressedly mentioned in the Old Testament.

Isaias (xiv, 12) apostrophizes the Babylonian Empire under the unmistakable type of Helal (Lucifer in the Vulgate), "son of the morning".

Saturn is no less certainly represented by the star Kaiwan, adored by the reprobate Israelites in the desert (Amos 5:26). The same word (interpreted to mean "steadfast") frequently designates, in the Babylonian inscriptions, the slowest-moving planet; while Sakkuth, the divinity associated with the star by the prophet, is an alternative appellation for Ninib, who, as a Babylonian planet-god, was merged with Saturn. The ancient Syrians and Arabs, too, called Saturn Kaiwan, the corresponding terms in the Zoroastrian Bundahish being Kevan. The other planets are individualized in the Bible only by implication. The worship of gods connected with them is denounced, but without any manifest intention of refering to the heavenly bodies. Thus, Gad and Meni (Isaias, lxxv, 11) are, no doubt, the "greater and the lesser Fortune" typified throughout the East by Jupiter and Venus; Neba, the tutelary deity of Borsippa (Isaias xlvi, 1), shone in the sky as Mercury, and Nergal, transplanted from Assyria to Kutha (2 Kings 17:30), as Mars.

Kimah and Kesil

The uranography of the Jews is fraught with perplexity. Some half-dozen star-groups are named in the Scriptures, but authorities differ widely as to their identity. In a striking passage the Prophet Amos (v, 8) glorifies the Creator as "Him that made Kimah and Kesil", rendered in the Vulgate as Arcturus and Orion. Now Kimah certainly does not mean Arcturus. The word, which occurs twice in the Book of Job (ix, 9; xxxviii, 31), is treated in the Septuagint version as equivalent to Pleiades. This, also, is the meaning given to it in the Talmud and throughout Syrian literature; it is supported by etymological evidences, the Hebrew term being obviously related to the Arabic root kum (accumulate), and the Assyrian kamu (to bind); while the "chains of Kimah", referred to in the sacred text, not inaptly figure the coercive power imparting unity to a multiple object. The associated constellation Kesil is doubtless no other than our Orion. Yet, in the first of the passages in Job where it figures, the Septuagint gives Herper; in the second, the Vulgate quite irrelevantly inserts Arcturus; Karstens Niebuhr (1733-1815) understood Kesil to mean Sirius; Thomas Hyde (1636-1703) held that it indicated Canopus. Now kesil signifies in Hebrew "impious", adjectives expressive of the stupid criminality which belongs to the legendary character of giants; and the stars of Orion irresistibly suggest a huge figure striding across the sky. The Arabs accordingly named the constellation Al-gebbar, "the giant", the Syriac equivalent being Gabbara in old Syriac version of the Bible known as Peshitta. We may then safely admit that Kimah and Kesil did actually designate the Pleiades and Orion. But further interpretations are considerably more obscure.

Ash

In the Book of Job -- the most distinctively astronomical part of the Bible -- mention is made, with other stars, of Ash and Ayish, almost certainly divergent forms of the same word. Its signification remains an enigma. The Vulgate and Septuagint inconsistently render it "Arcturus" and Hesperus". Abenezra (1092-1167), however, the learned Rabbi of Toledo, gave such strong reasons for Ash, or Ayish, to mean the Great Bear, that the opinion, though probably erroneous, is still prevalent. It was chiefly grounded on the resemblance between ash and the Arabic na 'ash, "a bier", applied to the four stars of the Wain, the three in front figuring as mourners, under the title of Benât na 'ash, "daughters of the bier". But Job, too, speaks of the "children of Ayish", and the inference seems irresistible that the same star-group was similarly referred to in both cases. Yet there is large room for doubt. Modern philologists do not admit the alleged connection of Ayish with na 'ash, nor is any funereal association apparent in Book of Job. On the other hand, Professor Schiaparelli draws attention to the fact that ash denotes "moth" in the Old Testament, and that the folded wings of the insect are closely imitated in their triangular shape by the doubtly aligned stars of the Hyades. Now Ayish in the Peshitta is translated lyutha, a constellation mentioned by St. Ephrem and other Syriac writers, and Schiaparelli's learned consideration of the various indications afforded by Arabic and Syriac literature makes it reasonably certain that lyutha authentically signifies Aldebaran, the great red star in the head of the Bull, with its children, the rainy Hyades. It is true that Hyde, Ewald, other scholars have adopted Capella and the Kids as representative of lyutha, and therefore of "Ayish and her children"; but the view involves many incongruities.

Hadre Theman (Chambers of the South)

The glories of the sky adverted to the Book of Job include a sidereal landscape vaguely described as "the chambers [i.e. penetralia] of the south". The phrase, according to Schiaparelli, refers to some assemblage of brilliant stars, rising 20 degrees at most above the southern horizon in Palestine about the year 750 B.C. (assumed as the date of the Patriarch Job), and, taking account of the changes due to precession, he points out the stellar pageant formed by the Ship, the Cross, and the Centaur meets the required conditions. Sirius, although at the date in question it culminated at an altitude of 41 degrees, may possibly have been thought of as belonging to the "chambers of the south"; otherwise, this splendid object would appear to be ignored in the Bible.

Mezarim

Job opposes to the "chambers of the south", as the source of cold, an asterism named Mezarim (xxxvii, 9). Both the Vulgate and the Septuagint render this word by Arcturus, evidently in mistake (the blunder is not uncommon) for Arctos. The Great Bear circled in those days much more closely round the pole than it now does; its typical northern character survives in the Latin word septentrio (from septem triones, the seven stars of the Wain); and Schiaparelli concludes from the dual form of mezarim, that the Jews, like the Phoenicians, were acquainted with the Little, as well as with the Great, Bear. He identifies the word as the plural, or dual, of mizreh, "a winnowing-fan", an instrument figured by the seven stars of the Wain, quite as accurately as the Ladle of the Chinese or the Dipper of popular American parlance.

Mazzaroth

Perhaps the most baffling riddle in Biblical star-nomenclature is that presented by the word Mazzaroth or Mazzaloth (Job 38:31, 32; 2 Kings 23:5) usually, though not unanimously admitted to be phonetic variants. As to their signification, opinions are hopelessly divergent. The authors of the Septuagint transcribed, without translating, the ambiguous expression; the Vulgate gives for its equivalent Lucifer in Job, the Signs of the Zodiac in the Book of Kings. St. John Chrysostom adopted the latter meaning, noting, however, that many of his contemporaries interpreted Mazzaroth as Sirius. But this idea soon lost vogue while the zodiacal explanation gained wide currency. It is, indeed, at first sight, extremely plausible. Long before the Exodus the Twelve Signs were established in Euphratean regions much as we know them now. Although never worshipped in a primary sense, they may well have been held sacred as the abode of deities. The Assyrian manzallu (sometimes written manzazu), "station", occurs in the Babylonian Creation tablets with the import "mansions of the gods"; and the word appears to be etymologically akin to Mazzaloth, which in rabbinical Hebrew signifies primarily the Signs of the Zodiac, secondarily the planets. The lunar Zodiac, too, suggests itself in this connection. The twenty-eight "mansions of the moon" (menazil al-kamar) were the leading feature of Arabic sky-lore, and they subserved astrological purposes among many Oriental peoples. They might, accordingly, have belonged to the apparatus of superstition used by the soothsayers who were extirpated in Judah, together with the worship of the Mazzaroth, by King Josias, about 621 B.C. Yet no such explanation can be made to fit in with the form of expression met with in the Book of Job (xxxviii, 32). Speaking in the person of the Almighty, the Patriarch asks, "Canst thou bring forth Mazzaroth in its time?" -- clearly in allusion to a periodical phenomenon, such as the brilliant visibility of Lucifer, or Hesperus. Professor Schiaparelli then recurs to the Vulgate rendering of this passage. He recognizes in Mazzaroth the planet Venus in her double aspect of morning and evening star, pointing out that the luminary designated in the Book of Kings, with the sun and moon, and the "host of heaven" must evidently be next in brightness to the chief light-givers. Further, the sun, moon, and Venus constitute the great astronomical triad of Babylonia, the sculptured representations of which frequently include the "host of heaven" typified by a crowd of fantastic animal-divinities. And since the astral worship anathematized by the prophets of Israel was unquestionably of Euphratean origin, the designation of Mazzaroth as the third member of the Babylonian triad is a valuable link in the evidence. Still, the case remains one of extreme difficulty.

Nachash

Notwithstanding the scepticism of recent commentators, it appears fairly certain that the "fugitive serpent" of Job, xxvi, 13 (coluber tortuosus in the Vulgate) does really stand for the circumpolar reptile. The Euphratean constellation Draco is of hoary antiquity, and would quite probably have been familiar to Job. On the other hand, Rahab (Job 9:13; 21:12), translated "whale" in the Septuagint, is probably of legendary or symbolical import.

Summary

The subjoined list gives (largely on Schiaparelli's authority) the best-warranted interpretations of biblical star-names:

Kimah, the Pleiades;
the Kesil, Orion;
Ash, or Ayish, the Hyades;
Mezarim, the Bears (Great and Little);
Mazzaroth, Venus (Lucifer and Hesperus);
Hadre theman -- "the chambers of the south" -- Canopus, the Southern Cross, and a Centauri;
Nachash, Draco.

ASTRONOMICAL ALLUSIONS IN THE NEW TESTAMENT

The New Testament is virtually devoid of astronomical allusions. The "Star of the Magi" can scarcely be regarded as an objective phenomenon; it was, at least, inconspicuous to ordinary notice. Kepler, however, advanced, in 1606, the hypothesis that a remarkable conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn, which occurred in May of the year 7 B.C., was the celestial sign followed by the Wise Men. Revived in 1821 by Dr. Münter, the Lutheran Bishop of Zealand, this opinion was strongly advocated in 1826 by C.L. Ideler (Handbuch der Chronologie, II, 399). But the late Dr. Pritchard's investigation (Smith's Dict. of the Bible, Memoirs Roy. Astr. Society, XXV, 119) demonstrated its inadequacy to fulfil the requirements of the Gospel narrative.

CALENDARIUM.

The form and colour of the calceus were also among the insignia of rank and office. Those who were elevated to the senate wore high shoes like buskins, fastened in front with four black thongs (nigris pettibus, Hor. Sat. i. 6, 27) and adorned with a small crescent. (Mart. ii. 29; Juv. vii. 102.) Hence Cicero (Phil. xiii. 13), speaking of the assumption of the senatorial dignity by Asinius, says mutavit calceos. Among the calcei worn by senators, those called mullei from their resemblance to the scales of the red mullet (Isid. Or. xix. 14), were particularly admired; as well as others called alutae, because the leather was softened by the use of alum. (Mart. Juv. II. cc.; Lydus, de Mag. a. 32; Ovid, De Art. Am. iii. 271.) [J. Y.]

CALCULATOR (Xoyiffra) signifies a keeper of accounts in general, but was also used in the signification of a teacher of arithmetic; whence Martial (x. 62) classes him with the notarius or writing-master. The name was derived from cal-culi, which were commonly used in teaching arithmetic, and also in reckoning in general. [abacus.] Among the Greeks the oyffra and ypa appear to have been usually the same person.

In Roman families of importance there was a calculator or account-keeper (Dig. 38. tit. 1. s. 7), who is, however, more frequently called by the name of dispensator or procurator who was a kind of steward (Cic. ad Alt. xi. 1; Plin. Ep. iii. 19; Suet. Galb. 12, Vesp. 22; Becker, Gallus, vol. i. p. 109.)

CALCULI were little stones or pebbles, used for various purposes; such, for example, as the Athenians used in voting, or such as Demosthenes put in his mouth when declaiming, in order to mend his pronunciation. (Cic. De Orat. i. 61.) Calculi were used in playing a sort of draughts. [latrunculi.] Subsequently, instead of pebbles, ivory, or silver, or gold, or other men (as we call them) were used; but still called calculi. The calculi were licitores. (Sidon. Epist. viii. 12; Ovid. Trisi. ii. 477; Mart. Epig. xiv. 17. 2, xiv. 20.) Calculi were also used in reckoning, and hence the phrases calculus ponere (Colum. iii. 3), calculus subducere. (Cic. De Fin. ii. 19, &c.) [abacus.] [A. A.]

CALDA. [calida.]

CALDARIUM. [balneae.]

CALENDARIUM, or rather KALENDA'-RIUM, is the account-book, in which creditors entered the names of their debtors and the sums which they owed. As the interest on borrowed money was due on the Calendae of each month, the name Calendarium was given to such a book. (Senec. De Benef. i. 2, vii. 10.) The word was subsequently used to indicate a register of the days, weeks, and months, thus corresponding to a modern almanac or calendar.

1. greek calendar. — In the earliest times the division of the year into its various seasons appears to have been very simple and rude, and it would seem that there was no other division except that of summer (frepos) and winter (%eijjic6y). To these strongly marked periods there were afterwards added the periods of transi-tion, viz. spring (eap) and autumn (oTrcopa), with certain subdivisions according to the different agri-cultural pursuits peculiar to each of them. As, however, the seasons of the year were of great importance in regard to agriculture, it became necessary to fix their beginning and end by connecting them with the rising or setting of certain stars. Thus Hesiod (Op. et Dies, 381) describes the time of the rising of the Pleiades as the time for harvesting (^/atos), and that of their setting as the time for ploughing (&poros) ; the time at which Arcturus rose in the morning twilight as the proper season for the vintage (l. c. 607), and other phenomena in nature, such as the arrival of birds of passage, the blossoming of certain plants, and the like, indicated the proper seasons for other agri-cultural occupations ; but although they may have continued to be observed for centuries by simple rustics, they never acquired any importance in the scientific division of the year. [astronomia.]

The moon being that heavenly body whose phases are most easily observed, formed the basis of the Greek calendar, and all the religious festi-vals were dependent on it. The Greek year was a lunar year of twelve months, but at the same time the course of the sun also was taken into consideration, and the combination of the two (Gemin. Isag. 6 ; comp. Censorin. De Die Nat. 18 ; Cic. in Verr. ii. 52) involved the Greeks in great difficulties which rendered it almost impossible for them to place their chronology on a sure founda-tion. It seems that in the early times it was be-lieved that 12 revolutions of the moon took place within one of the sun ; a calculation which was tolerably correct, and with which people were satis-fied. The time during which the moon revolved around her axis, was calculated at an average or round number of 30 days, which period was called a month (Gemin. l. c.) ; but even as early as the time of Solon, it was well known that a lunar month did not contain 30 days, but only 29. The error contained in this calculation could not long remain unobserved, and attempts were made to correct it. The principal one was that of creating a cycle of two years, called rpierrjpis, or anmts magnuS) and containing 25 months, one of the two years, consisting of 12 and the other of 13 months. The months themselves, which in the time of Hesiod (Op. et Dies., 770) had been reckoned at 30 days, afterwards alternately contained 30 days (full months, irXypeis) and 29 days (hollow months, ko?a<u.) According to this arrangement, one year of the cycle contained 354, and the other 384 days, and the two together were about 1\ days more than two tropical or solar years. (Gemin. 6 ; Censorin. 18). When this mode of reckoning was introduced, is unknown ; but as Herodotus (i. 32) mentions it, it is clear that it must have been before his time. The 7 5 days, in the course of 4 years, made up a month of 30 days, and such a month was accordingly inserted in every fourth year, and the cycle of- four years was called a Trej/raer^pis. (Censorin. l. c.) But a far more important cycle was the eweaer^pis, or the cycle of 8 years, for it was practically applied by the Greeks to the affairs of ordinary life. The calculation was this : as the solar year is reckoned at 365^- days, 8 such years contain 2922 days, and eight lunar years 2832 days ; that is, 90 days less than 8 solar years. Now these 90 days were constituted as three months, and inserted as three intercalary months into three different years of the eWeaer^pisy that is, into the third, fifth, and eighth. (Censorin.; Gemin. II. cc.) It should, however, be observed that Macrobius (Sat. i. 13) and Solinus (Polyhist. iii.) state that the three intercalary months were all added to the last year of the enneaeteris, which

A ceremony held in her honour in ancient Greece was called Proarktouria, which possibly indicates that the festivities were held just before the rising of Arcturus. However the name may instead make reference to the constellation Virgo, which in fact rises just before the star Arcturus.

Mark Brewer - March 25, 2006 05:14 AM (GMT)

The idea that the Romans came from Arcturus sounds like something Stewart Swerdlow would have claimed. Swerdlow is someone who claims to have been a victim of mind control by the "Illuminati" when he was a child. I have read two of his books and think that they are bogus as I do all information that is highly sensationalistic and not backed up with any documentation.

The "Roman race" is a subdivision of the Caucasian race. There are three main subdivisions of the Caucasian race which are Alpine, Nordic and Mediterranean. The power of the Vatican came from the consolidation of the power from the oracles and mystery cults in Rome as well as in Egypt, Syria, Greece, Asia Minor, Northern Europe and other parts of the Roman Empire.

Arcturus

<http://www.souledout.org/cosmology/highlig...highlights.html>

BOOTES, "the one who is coming," the Savior in Pisces who frees humanity from subservience to the form

An Avatar can be defined as one who is the physical embodiment of a quality of consciousness which permeates a space over time, leaving its essence to change that region forever. Hinduism and other religions have defined Avatars as God taking human physical forms on this earth.

If we look to the heavens and study the evolution of the universe over millions of years, we see that galaxies, solar systems and stars interact with each other for varied periods of time. When in close proximity these large systems share magnetic currents, attractive and replusive, containing physical matter and influencing the evolution of that planet, star or galaxy. Through they are "passing in the night," a star can impregnate a planet with an element which could be the seed needed to catalyze a new life form in which sentient consciousness will exist.

The constellation Bootes contains the fourth brightest star in our entire sky, Arcturus, a red giant about 24 times larger than the Sun with a luminosity 115 times our sun, lying 36 light years away from the earth. Astronomers have found that Arcturus entered our system approximately 500,000 years ago and will remain here for approximately another 500,000 years, only to continue its journey towards the Virgo Cluster, but at a different angle than our local group of galaxies is moving. And if we trace the path of the Great Bear over the next 100,000 years we see that the star, Al Kaid in the tail of the Great Bear begins to turn inward, also pointing toward the Virgo cluster. (See Diagram, below.)

Presently Arcturus points or "spikes" to the star Spica (located at 23 degrees of the sign Libra) in the knee of the constellation Virgo. Arcturus, the guardian of the Bear, appears to be "herding" the star Al Kaid, pointing the way over centuries towards the arms of the Virgin, Virgo. Esoterically we know the Great Bear embodies and emanates the quality of Will to our solar system. Could it be that Arcturus is an Avatar blending its consciousness with the Will and herding it, causing great evolutionary changes to all in its path? The ancient records and myths of Bootes (Arcturus), known by the ancients as "The Guardian of the Bear," seem to give clues of this celestial event in earthly terms.

The constellation Bootes is closely linked with the Great Bear because of its position behind the Bear's tail. The origin of the constellation's name is not certain—the Greeks knew this constellation as Arctophylax or Bear Watcher, Bear Keeper or Guard. It probably comes from a Greek word meaning "noisy" or "clamorous," referring to the herdsman's shouts to his animals: the Hunter in pursuit of the Bear. Another explanation is that the name comes from ancient Greece and means "ox driver," from the fact that Ursa Major was sometimes visualized as a cart pulled by oxen, "The Wagoneer or Driver of the Wain—Bootes with the Wain the North unfolds."

According to a story that goes back to Eratosthenes, the constellation represents Arcas, son of the god Zeus and Callisto, daughter of King Lycaon of Arcadia. One day Zeus came to dine with his father-in-law Lycaon, an unusual thing for a god to do. To test whether his guest really was the great Zeus, Lycaon cut up Arcas and served him as part of a mixed grill. Zeus easily recognized the flesh of his son. In a burning rage he tipped over the table, scattering the feast and killing the sons of Lycaon with a thunderbolt, as he turned Lycaon into a wolf. Then Zeus collected the parts of Arcas, made them whole again and gave his son to Maia the Pleiad to bring up.

Meanwhile Callisto had been turned into a bear, some say by Zeus's wife Hera out of jealousy, or some by Zeus himself to disguise his paramour from Hera's revenge, or even by Artemis to punish Callisto for losing her virginity. When Arcas had grown into a strapping teenager he came across this bear while hunting in the woods. Callisto recognized her son, but though she tried to greet him warmly she could only growl. Not surprisingly, Arcas failed to interpret this expression of motherly love and began to chase the bear. With Arcas in hot pursuit, Callisto fled into the temple of Zeus, a forbidden place where trespassers were punished by death. Zeus snatched up Arcas and his mother and placed them in the sky as the constellations of the Bear and the Bear Keeper.

The Greek poet Aratus visualized Bootes as a man driving the bear around the pole. Later astronomers have given Bootes two dogs, in the form of the neighboring constellation Canes Venatici.

A second legend identifies Bootes with Icarius (not to be confused with Icarus, son of Daedalus). According to this tale, the god Dionysus taught Icarius how to cultivate vines and make wine. When he offered some of his new vintage to the shepherds, they became so intoxicated that their friends thought they had been poisoned, and in revenge they killed Icarius.

His dog Maera fled home howling and led Icarius's daughter Erigone to where his body lay beneath a tree. In despair, Erigone hanged herself from the tree; even the dog died, either of grief or by drowning itself. Zeus put Icarius into the sky as Bootes, his daughter Erigone became the constellation Virgo, and the dog became Canis Minor or Canis Major, according to different authorities.

The Big Dipper Now, Then and in the Future

All year round you can see Arcturus by following the curving line of the handle in the Great Bear, extended 30 degrees. An old tradition has it that one can "Arc to Arcturus" from the Great Bear to locate the star.

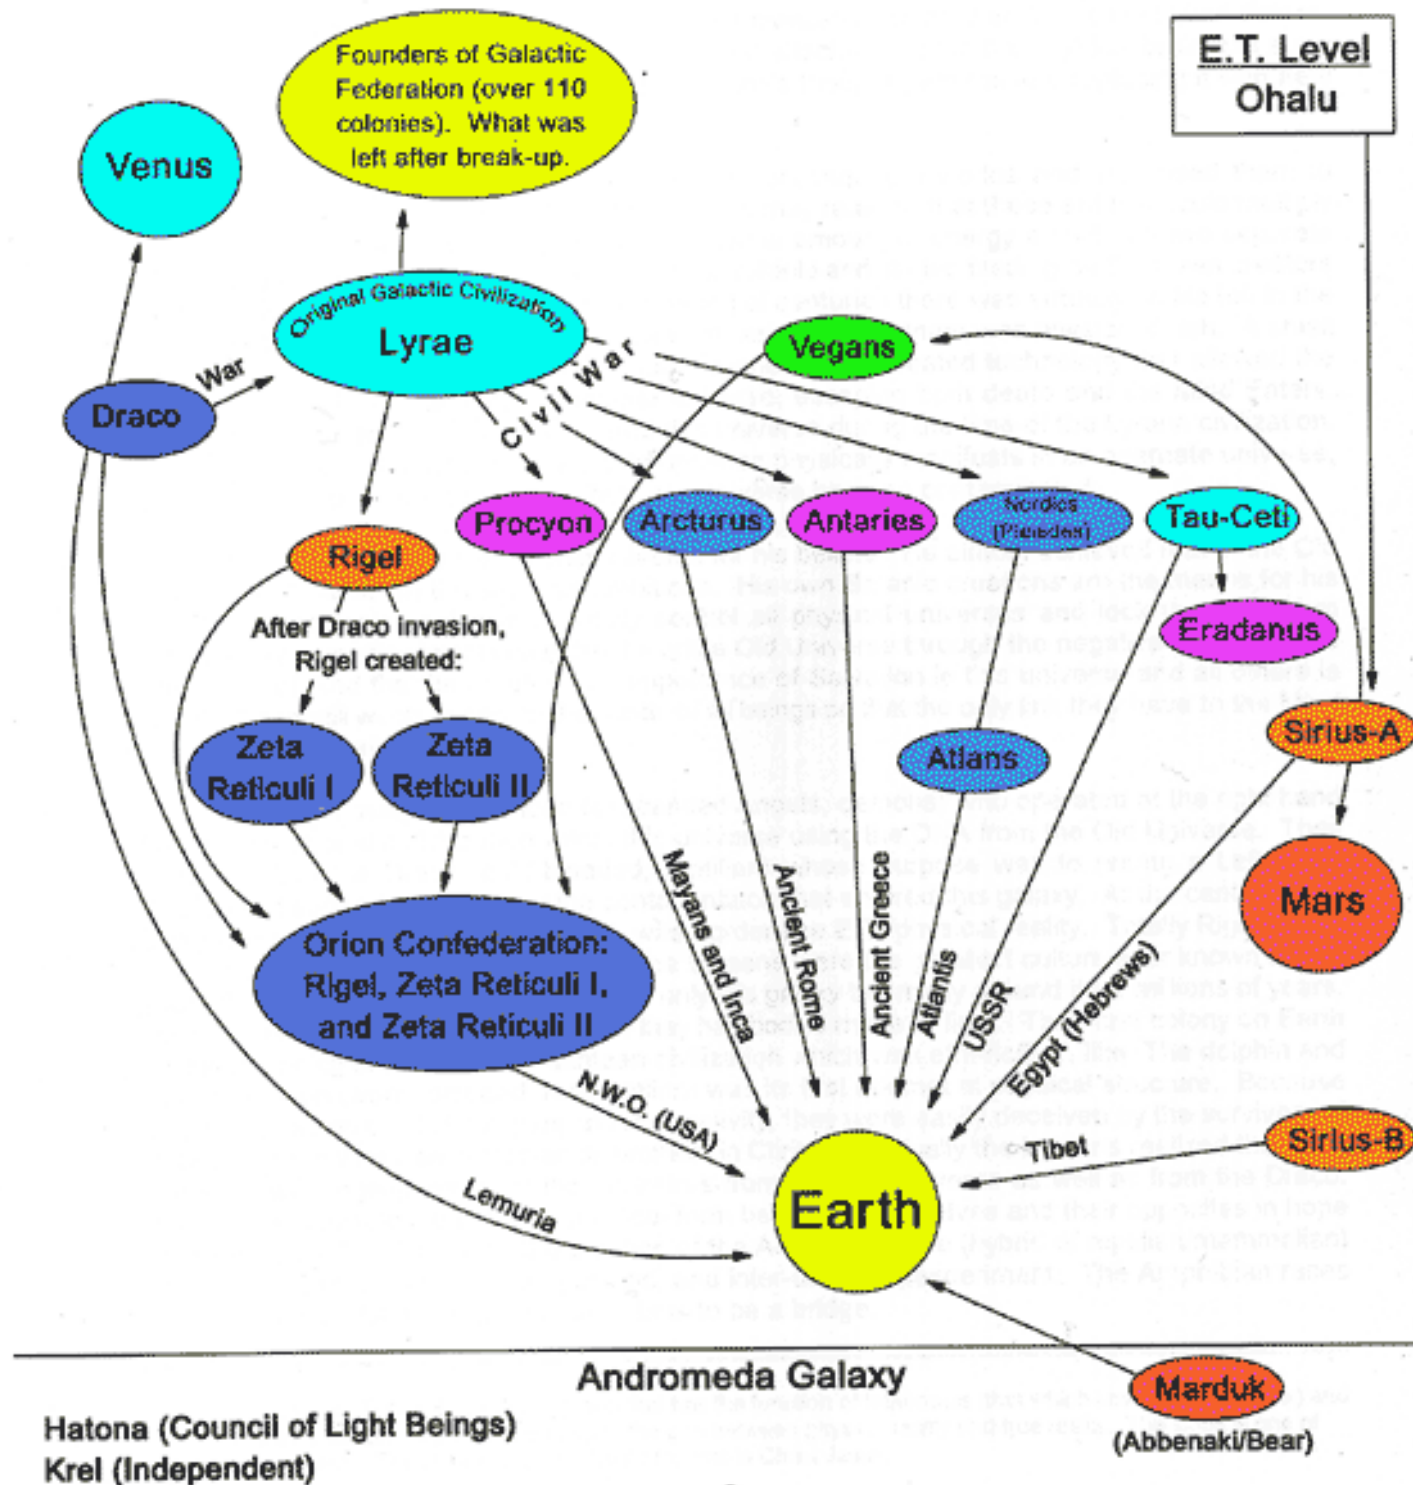

Five of the seven stars in the Big Dipper are moving through the sky in the same direction; the stars Dubhe and Al Kaid are moving in the opposite direction. The contrary motion of these stars will eventually cause the Big Dipper to change shape

FROM THE KING JAMES I BIBLE

In the King James Version of the Bible, Arcturus is mentioned twice in the Book of Job:

"Which maketh Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the chambers of the south."
Job 9:9

"Canst thou bring forth Mazzaroth in his season?
or canst thou guide Arcturus with his sons?"
Job 38:32

The Hebrew word thus translated is òèù Ash or 'Ayish. Due to the obscurity of ancient terminology, some scholars dispute this identification, instead equating it with Aldebaran, Canopus, Ursa Major, or the Pleiades, among other celestial objects[1].

I was about to say that Arcturus is mentioned in the Bible! :lol:

I still believe the creation account in Genesis though.

In the end, it'll come down to Jesuits and their followers vs. Bible believers. That's what I think. When you get right down to it, why all the religious wars?

Because this is Satan's world for now, and he doesn't want anyone to serve God or know the truth. Ultimately, at the top, the Black Pope is controlled by Satan.

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 27, 2006 04:08 PM (GMT)

(As far as the establishment of Spain is concerned, we can see a flow of peoples coming in from the Celts/Druids, which in turn was begat by the Canaanite/Phoenicians, which in turn can be connected to DOGON/EI/Saturn worship, Babylon, Mitre Fish hats, and the myths of "amphibious gods from other worlds" all going through to Egypt and Sumer.)

Also keep in mind that Arcturus is "Defender of the Bear" and that the Celtic legends of King Arthur is actually based on the religion of Bear worship. Going back to the days of the Caves.....

I think the very name Arthur means "bear" or something related to that. Arth-ur, "ur" from Ursa--Ursa Major and Minor are the Big and Little Dipper, or the Great Bear and Little Bear if I remember right.

World Can't Wait, a communist group that is especially active here in the Los Angeles area, has several interesting people associated with it.

Bob Bossie [Member of Priests of the Sacred Heart]

Roy Bourgeois [Another Catholic priest with Jesuit connections]

Gabriel Byrne [Actor who was trained to be a Catholic priest]

Martin Sheen [Educated by Jesuits at Fordham University]

Helen Prejean [Catholic anti death penalty nut who regularly speaks at Jesuit functions and has received honorary degrees from Jesuit universities.]

Susan Sarandon [Trained by Jesuits at Georgetown]

There are many other co-adjutors associated with this organization along with several Muslim charities and Mexican supremacist groups. On Saturday, [3/26] these people were protesting for the alleged rights of illegal aliens to come into the country.

Martin Sheen [Educated by Jesuits at Fordham University]

This is very interesting considering his son's comments on 9/11 recently which I believe may be part of the sacrificing of Bush by the Jesuits as yet another used person in the Jesuit theatre show. Now when you consider the importance of Fordham University which in the Americas is only second to the almighty Georgetown University it gets interesting. Fordham monitor and oversea the almighty Prince of the Americas, Archbishop Edward Egan the leader of the Americas Sovereign Military of Malta.

What I also found funny was that one of Charlies films was "Red Dawn" where these teenagers help fight a Russian invasion of parts of the U.S. Now when you consider this is a Jesuit plan for the U.S in the future but with the Chinese toeing along using Cuba as a launch pad thanks to Roman Catholic and Jesuit trained Fidel Castro, maybe its a covert sign.

Martin and Charlie are both Roman Catholics. Do you all notice how Alex Jones loves to be surrounded by these people and don't forget good old Mel and Hutton Gibson.

Mark Brewer - March 27, 2006 07:51 AM (GMT)

I am in complete agreement with 2tuff regarding the Jesuits sacrificing Bush. I have been thinking the same thing for awhile. The top Bush/neoconservative bashers all have Jesuit connections. I was invited to a World Can't Wait rally last year. It was the one on November 2. I tried to explain to the person who invited me what is really going on, but all she seemed to be concerned about was attacking Bush.

TruthSeeker24 - March 27, 2006 01:18 PM (GMT)

911 is an inside job. Many folks in here (including myself) have cited tons of evidence to prove that. That isn't a lie. Bush and the government is to blame for many of the problems in this country. Bush may be used as a scapegoat, but he's still in the Skulls and Bones and the Bohemian Grove.

I think Bush should be impeached on grounds of treason, sure, but I know fully well that even if he were removed from office they'd just put another puppet in the White House. My husband doesn't even read this site (too much doom and gloom for him) but even HE knows that!

Bush may be a puppet but he's also complicit and guilty of treason. He CAN repent, actually turn to God, admit what he's done wrong, and blow the whistle on the whole lot of them!

Title: Jesuits & the Talmud

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 27, 2006 03:45 PM (GMT)

The Talmud was not written by Jesuits. I HOPE that I said that the Rome, via their court Jews, was behind the writing of the Talmud which includes the completion of that 63-volume Babylonian Talmud in the Sixth century. I have said that the Jesuits are masters of the Talmud and the similiarity between that wicked compendium of Messiah-hating heresy and the Vatican's Anti-christ Canon Law is most striking. (The Talmud and Canon law refers to those peoples outside of their work-salvation cults as "animals.")

So yes, the Talmud predates the Jesuits by almost 1000 years; but the Order, which now includes select Jews, some of them being Orthodox Jews---like the chief Rabbis of Rome and Jerusalem---are most assuredly Jesuit Temporal Coadjutors using the Talumd to create worldwide anti-Jewish fury for the purpose of driving all Jews back to Israel for their attempted final annihilation. At that time the Lord Jesus Christ will intervene, save his repentant nation, smash the invading Gentile nations and then establish his millennial kingdom on earth.

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric

Official Jesuit Motto found in Scottish Rite Freemasonry (32nd Degree)

You might already know this-I might have indicated this in a previous post but if not here it is. In some of the rituals of the 19th Degree of Grand Pontiff in the Camp of the 32nd Degree of Scottish Rite Freemasonry is "Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam"

The following is from <http://freemasonrywatch.org/scottishrite.html>

32. SUBLIME PRINCE OF THE ROYAL SECRET This degree, originally a Christian degree of Knighthood, "consummates the Templarism of Masonry." Only "a lover of wisdom and an apostle of Liberty, Equality, and Fraternity" is eligible to partake of this exalted degree, which is military in character (as the previous degree was judicial). The Chivalric nature of Masonry is explained by the Knightly Armor of the Templar, which is buckled upon the novitiate piece by piece. The Lodge, styled a Consistory, is hung in black, strewn with silver tears, skulls and cross-bones, and skeletons. In the East is a throne, ascended by seven steps, and draped in black satin with flame tears. An altar before the throne is also draped in black satin, with a skull and cross-bones, and the letter J above it, and the letter M below it. In front of each Warden in the West is a table, covered in crimson, with crossed swords and the letters "N-K .'. M-K .'." . Also in the West is the "Camp of the Princes:" a nonagon, which encloses a heptagon, which encloses a pentagon, which encloses a triangle, which encloses a circle with a cross inside it. On the sides of the nonagon are nine Tents, each denoted by a letter, a flag and pennon, a Commanding Officer, and assigned to certain degrees of the A.A.S.R.: Flag and Pennon Camp of... G Green, Black two-headed eagle 22nd, 21st Garimont 5. U Gold, Black ox 20th, 19th Amariah Mottos: 1. "Laus Deo" 2. "Custos Arcani," "Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam" 3. "Ardens Gloria Surgit" 4. "Corde Gladio Potens" 5. "Omnia Tempus Alit" Inside the triangle are encamped the Princes of the Royal Secret and Grand Inspector Inquisitor Commanders, "with such Knights of Malta as, having proved themselves true and faithful, may have been received among us." Inside the circle are the five Grand Inspectors General who serve as Lieutenant Commanders under the Most Puissant Sovereign Grand Commander. Battery: [1-4]. The apron is white, lined in black, with a double-headed eagle and a plan of the Camp of the Princes. The jewel is a golden Teu- tonic cross, with a double-headed white and black eagle in the center."

This is from another webpage authored by Freemason Robert Lomas. I have his book "The Second Messiah: Templars, Turin Shroud, and the Secret of Freemasonry" I think it is about how the Shroud of Turin is Masonic and a Mason allowed himself to be sacrificed-I could be wrong. I've only read a few pages. I purchased it from my college bookstore. If I had looked at it more carefully I would have learned that two Freemasons wrote it. Had I known I wouldn't have bought it. The last thing I want to do is support Freemasonry which controlled by the Jesuits. If I read another book by them I will check it out from a library so I don't give them money through retail purchase.

Quoting: "The focus of Bio-Rad's research was said to be bio-active elements that could be tailored to attack those with certain types of DNA. Weapons could thus be produced that were specifically designed to wipe out specific races or genetic classes of human beings.

(Alternatively, particular DNA types could be immunized against a deadly biological agent; the agent could then be released, and everyone else would die.)

A couple of years later, Meridian International Logistics, the parent company of Meridian Arms, was to farm similar research out to the Japanese. This included (according to minutes of a corporate meeting dated Aug. 26, 1988) methods for "induction and activation of cytotoxic T-lymphocytes". Associated with Meridian's Robert Booth Nichols in a Middle Eastern operation called FIDCO, a company that ran arms into and heroin out of Lebanon's Beqaa (Bekaa) Valley, was Harold Okimoto, a high-ranking member of the Yakuza. Okimoto had longed worked under [SMOM and former Chairman of the RAND Center for Middle East Policy now chaired by CFR member and Trilateralist Roman Catholic Zbigniew Brzezinski] Frank Carlucci (who served as Secretary of Defense and Deputy Director of the CIA before becoming Chairman of The Carlyle Group). Okimoto owned food concessions in casinos around the world—Las Vega, Reno, Macao, and the Middle East. (Free drinks and anthrax while you play blackjack, anyone?)

Meeting Riconosciuto and Gunderson at the hotel were two representatives of the mujahadeen, waiting to discuss their armament needs. One of the two was named "Ralph Olberg." The other one was called Tim Osman (or Ossman).

"Ralph Olberg" was an American businessman who was leading the procurement of American weapons and technology on behalf of the Afghan rebels. He worked through the Afghan desk at the U.S. State Department, as well as through Senator Hubert Humphrey's office. Olberg looked after the Afghanis through a curious front called MSH—Management Sciences for Health.

The other man, dressed in Docker's clothing, was not a native Afghan any more than Olberg was. He was a 27-year-old Saudi. Tim Osman (Ossman) has recently become better known as Osama Bin Ladin. "Tim Osman" was the name assigned to him by the CIA for his tour of the U.S. and U.S. military bases, in search of political support and armaments."

Also notice the two crowns symbolizing Papal universal temporal and power. I think the eagle heads initially symbolized the Holy Roman Emperor and the Papal Caesar but eventually came to symbolize the Jesuit General and his slave the Pope-INRI is between them. The fire that proceeds from the two eagle heads set the crowns of the temporal rulers aflame.

Lou Dobbs Tonight is on CFR member Ted Turner's CNN whose parent company is AOL Time Warner therefore the network is Jesuit-controlled plus Knight of Malta "Deep Throat" Alexander Haig Jr. is on the Board of Directors.

Dobbs speaks his mind and discusses the pertinent issues that the corporate CFR-controlled press won't address. Though Dobbs is a Republican he is anti-Bush and has grown disillusioned with the Romanist Masonic Luciferian Religious Right Fascist Republican Party and its disregard for illegal immigration and the threat posed by the Communist Red (Dobbs is only reporter I've heard use the term "Red" and rightfully so to describe the Jesuit-controlled Communist Chinese government) Chinese. No one else on mainstream news is reporting on the war this Jesuit-dominated government and the Order's corporate fascists are waging on the middle class and other important subjects but Mr. Dobbs is and I applaud his bold and direct approach to the news. I think you should send Lou Dobbs a copy of VAIII-maybe you'd hear back from him.

Here are a some examples of what I mean.

Quoting from the March 21 Transcript:

<http://transcripts.cnn.com/TRANSCRIPTS/0603/22/ldt.01.html>

DOBBS: Still ahead here, I'll be talking with Father Richard John Neuhaus, who says the Catholic bishops are the single-largest pro-illegal immigration group in this country...

Thank you. As Wolf just mentioned, Senator Hillary Clinton tonight, voicing her opposition to tough border security legislation that's now under debate on Capitol Hill.

Meanwhile, Cardinal Roger Mahoney of Los Angeles, the leader of the largest Catholic diocese in this country, says worshipers should break the law, if necessary, to help illegal aliens in this tough -- if this tough border legislation is passed.

Joining me now to talk about God and politics, the Catholic Church and illegal immigration is [Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor] Father Richard Neuhaus. He's founder the Institute for Religion and Public Life, and Father, it's good to have you here.

FATHER RICHARD NEUHAUS, INST. FOR RELIGION & PUBLIC LIFE: Good to be with you, Lou.

DOBBS: The idea that the Catholic Church would, through in the person of the Bishop's Conference and Cardinal Mahoney, inject itself so vigorously and really call for basically civil disobedience is remarkable.

NEUHAUS: Well, the New York Times editorial page lauded him for his courage for introducing important moral considerations into this public policy issue.

DOBBS: What are the moral considerations if one names a specific piece of legislation, as the cardinal did. And calls for, first the rejection of the legislation, specifically, and calls for disobedience?

NEUHAUS: Yes. I think the language of civil disobedience was unfortunate. But you have to make a clear distinction between pastoral care on the one hand, which is the substantive issue that the cardinal was pushing, and on which he's right. The church cannot become a instrument of the law enforcement of the criminal justice system.

DOBBS: Should government become an instrument of the church?

NEUHAUS: No, no. The pastoral care is one thing, public policy is another thing. Now on pastoral care, the church's religious freedom is inviolable.

That means you serve everybody and you don't ask whether they're legal or illegal or whatever else the problems may be, you respond to the problems that are presented to you, because you simply are the church. Public policy, you're right. You get into a dicey area. But it's not simply limited to the Catholic Church and certainly not to this immigration policy.

DOBBS: No it's not.

NEUHAUS: It's whenever religious leaders use their authority in a way that seems to be suggesting that those who disagree with a particular position are somehow out of sync with the teachings of church. Then you begin to get problems, unless your really dealing with something like abortion, euthanasia, where you do have solid teaching of the church. But on immigration policy, obviously people of equal intelligence and goodwill can very strongly disagree, and do.

DOBBS: Vigorously. That's where we are right now in this time.

NEUHAUS: Of course.

DOBBS: But also we're talking about an issue that is broader even than illegal immigration. That is, the relationship between religion and government, God and politics. And frankly we're at a time, I will tell you, Father, I'm a very nervous American.

I believe in a separation of church and state. Millions of other Americans do, and The Constitution that seems to get in the way of a lot of people in this country insists upon it. And it is a two-way relationship. And it becomes very difficult to see how we can defend that separation if we permit an intrusion on the part the church into public policy.

Because we're watching -- not only Catholics, I want to be clear. We have evangelicals who are apparently influencing this administration strongly, reaching to the hearts, minds, and souls of some of our Congressional people as well.

NEUHAUS: But Lou, the separation of Church and state never meant, and cannot mean and never will mean the separation of religion from politics. Religion is basically those deepest commanding truths, those moral principles. It's not all that religion is, but it is certainly that, which you bring to bear in making political judgments and arguments. So the alternative is, and this is the argument of --

DOBBS: I have no problem.

NEUHAUS: The alternative is the naked public square. The alternative is a political process in which you say to certain people, because their deepest convictions are religiously grounded, you say oh you cannot bring your deep moral convictions into the debate.

DOBBS: I would want anyone to bring who they are into the debate.

NEUHAUS: Exactly.

DOBBS: Whether it be their religion, their spiritual beliefs.

NEUHAUS: Their political philosophy. Their, whatever, sure.

DOBBS: But when we take a personal system of religious beliefs and it becomes the foundation of public policy, it seems to me, when we're excited about whether a James Dobson likes a Supreme Court candidate or doesn't, whether the Catholic Church wants to bring 20 million additional adherents into its American church, while tolerating poverty in Mexico and Central America, then maybe we should all be discussing how the Catholic Church is conducting itself in social and governmental and political issues. [Exactly! Why not? Lou Dobbs hit the nail on the head!]

NEUHAUS: Let's not discuss it in terms of church state separation. Whether it be Jim Dobson or whether it be Cardinal Mahoney. The discussion is not --

DOBBS: I'll defer to you.

NEUHAUS: The discussion is not about church state separation. The discussion is an honest disagreement in which religious leaders, as much as everybody else, as citizens, participate in the deliberation and decision-making process in the public square. So the fact is, that you disagree.

DOBBS: No, I don't disagree. I'm out of time. I do disagree as well, but I'm more out of time than disagreeing. I hope you will come back soon and we'll continue the discussion.

NEUHAUS: Always a pleasure.

DOBBS: Appreciate it. Father Richard Neuhaus, thank you.

Here's a transcript from a previous segment on Red Chinese smuggling

<http://transcripts.cnn.com/TRANSCRIPTS/0603/16/ldt.01.html>

The woman found guilty of financing the deadly voyage of the Golden Venture more than a decade ago today was sentenced in New York City. Sister Ping, as she is known, was sentenced to 35 years in prison for financing the Golden Venture voyage and other human smuggling operations from China to this country.

During her sentencing, Sister Ping was called one of the most powerful and successful illegal alien smugglers in American history. The Golden Venture, filled with 300 illegal alien Chinese nationals, ran aground off New York City in 1993, 10 people drowned trying to make it to shore.

Chinese human smuggling operations into this country have only grown since the Golden Venture. It is now a multi-billion dollar a year business. Chinese nationals will do and pay just about anything to make it into the United States.

Christine Romans reports.

CHRISTINE ROMANS, CNN CORRESPONDENT (voice-over): Indentured servitude is thriving in this country. Asian smugglers, called "snakeheads," charge up to $70,000 to bring a Chinese immigrant here illegally.

KO-LIN CHIN, RUTGERS SCHOOL OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE: They know that once they got here to the United States, they will have no problem finding a job.

And secondly, and that's the most important reason, and that is sooner or later, they were able to find a way to become U.S. citizens.

ROMANS: Professor Ko-Lin Chin has interviewed hundreds of smuggled Chinese immigrants and their snakeheads. Their families pay the bill and it takes six years of work, 70 hours a week to pay it back.

Once free of their own debt, they're expected to pay for their extended families, ensuring an endless cycle of smuggling. They come largely from Fujian Province, the majority by land. So common is the trip via Mexico, many Mexican smugglers, called coyotes, now speak Chinese. They also come by commercial air travel and by ship in dangerous shipping containers and they settle all over the country.

It's a $10 billion a year criminal enterprise with tens of thousands of willing participants. Once here, parents fulfill the dream of an American-born child, but can't work off their debt and care for them.

CHIN: A lot of these illegal immigrants are now sending their babies back to mainland China.

ROMANS: Dr. Henry Chung has studied this trend in New York City's Chinatown and says it's happening nationwide.

DR. HENRY CHUNG, NEW YORK UNIVERSITY: All the parents report that they are doing this because they must work and that typical work schedules require a minimum six days a week, sometimes seven days a week at a stretch.

ROMANS: Once they pay off their debts, they bring their children back. There are 35 million people living in Fujian Province and the greatest accomplishment there is to have a family member smuggled into the United States.

ROMANS: Once here, many file for asylum (ph), they have American-born children and frankly face little risk of being sent back. The Department of Homeland Security says China is, by far, the least cooperative country in taking back its own citizens. DHS says China refuses, Lou, to take back 39,000 Chinese nationals the Department of Homeland Security has identified must go.

DOBBS: And it's correct, that's the only country in the world that is refusing to take back its citizens, right?

ROMANS: At this point there are a couple of others, that the DHS won't say who they are, but that they're having trouble getting those to take them back too.

DOBBS: OK, Christine Romans, fascinating, thank you.

Here's another from the same March 16 taping

DOBBS: Also tonight, the United States is being forced to sit back and watch as Communist China expands its military foothold in this hemisphere. Latin American military officers are now receiving much of their training from the Chinese government. And because of U.S. law, the Pentagon is completely unable to challenge this growing threat to our national security in this hemisphere. Casey Wian reports.

CASEY WIAN, CNN CORRESPONDENT (voice-over): Three years ago, the United States banned military aid to 11 Latin American nations. The reason they refused to exempt U.S. citizens working there from the jurisdiction of the international criminal court in The Hague.

But the policy has backfired and allowed Communist China's People Liberation Army to step in to the military void left by the United States. According to congressional testimony this week by General Bantz Craddock, leader of the U.S. Southern Command, Chinese military influence in Latin America is...

GEN. BANTZ CRADDOCK, U.S. SOUTHERN COMMAND: ... widespread and growing every day. We see more and more that military commanders, officers, non-conventional officers, are going to China for education and training.

WIAN: Reportedly, China has already offered to sell anti-aircraft missiles to Bolivia, jet fighters and military radar to Venezuela, and satellite equipment with potential military capabilities to Brazil.

General Craddock also spoke of even more non-lethal Chinese military equipment going to Latin America. And of the lost opportunity to promote Democratic values in a region teeming with tenuous democracies. The ban on U.S. military aid is fueling anti-American sentiment in the region.

JULIA SWEIG, COUNCIL ON FOREIGN RELATIONS: The prohibition on military assistance in Latin America is seen by Latin Americans as U.S. hypocrisy. On the one hand, the United States wants Latin America to support the war on terror, to support the counter-drug effort. On the other hand, we're seen as hypocrites in order to redress this one narrow issue.

[The Jesuits' CFR being the teeth of the Order's CIA ruined predominately superstitious Roman Catholic Latin America. Most Romanist Latin Americans have grown disillusioned and angry with the Unholy Roman Fourteenth Amendment American Empire and its military-industrial complex manned by the certain Knights of Malta and high-level Freemasons. They and the Jesuit-controlled Red Communist Chinese are uniting with Jesuit Temporal Coadjutors such as Hugo Chavez and his friend Professed Jesuit of the Fourth Vow and 33rd Degree Freemason Fidel Castro to comprise one part of a massive multi-pronged invading force controlled by the Black Pope.]

WIAN: Lawmakers are outraged.

SEN. JAMES INHOFE ®, OKLAHOMA: The Chinese are standing by and I can't think of anything that is worse than having those people go over there and get indoctrinated by them.

WIAN: U.S. Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice said during her recent visit to Latin America that current U.S. policy on military aid there is the same as shooting ourselves on the foot.

WIAN: So far the White House has not officially endorsed a policy change, but several lawmakers are not waiting and say they will introduce legislation restoring the U.S. military's ability to work with nations in its own backyard. Casey Wian, CNN, Los Angeles.

DOBBS: Three lawmakers are taking their complaints about Communist China's predatory trade practices directly to Beijing. Senators Charles Schumer, Lindsey Graham, and Tom Coburn will be in China next week. There, they'll be discussing intellectual property theft and currency manipulation by the government of Communist China.

The Senate later this month is scheduled to consider slapping a 27 percent tariff on Chinese goods. That, say its supporters, would make up for the unfair advantage that China receives from its undervalued currency.

One more thing, In a future post I will talk about Roman Catholic Kevin Trudeau, author of the book "Natural Cures: They Don't Want You to Know About" which I have a copy of and have been reading. What he said is basically identical to what you said in VA in the chapter on "Jesuit Medica" Trudeau emphasizes the importance of maintaining an alkaline pH as opposed to acidic which most people have due to processed foods which contain drugs and prescription drugs for which reason this nation is the most unhealthy in the world that and the U.S. purchases and takes the most prescription drugs.

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Kevin_Trudeau

<http://www.nndb.com/people/754/000103445/> Trudeau bio

<http://www.calcompnutrition.com/natural-cu...trudeau-ab.html> a more detailed bio

Trudeau is a Catholic but he exposes the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) American Medical Association (AMA) and Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and how they are killing Americans. For the love of money is the root of all evil (1 Timothy 6:10a), Trudeau repeats this scripture often in his book. Trudeau also mentions the CIA and methods of advertising that the purveyors of allopathic medical pharmaceutical poison adopted from the Order's CIA. Trudeau is anti-allopathic prescription drugs (poisons). He has been attacked by Cardinal Egan's CFR-controlled press having been falsely labeled a quack and a charlatan. He said during an interview on ABC Nightline that he intends to run for office.

<http://abcnews.go.com/Nightline/story?id=1503856>

Quote: "But his latest, quite successful incarnation as an author isn't the final stage of Trudeau's career, he says. After one of his rants against the pharmaceutical industry and tort reform, it's noted to Trudeau that he sounds like he's going to run for office. "I am," he says. Really? "Absolutely," he says. "There's 25 million people in this country who purchase my products." He says he hasn't decided what office he'll run for, but it would be as an independent and it would be for federal office. "In order to make a change, you have to stand up and expose the corruption in government, and the ... connection between big corporations and government." "House? Senate? Presidency?" "One of those three," he says."

Perhaps Trudeau could be convinced that the Jesuit Order and their Masonic craft, Knights of Malta, and Knights of Columbus is the power behind "Big Pharma" and help us warn the American public.

Perhaps, Lord willing both Lou Dobbs and Kevin Trudeau could help us expose the Luciferian Company of Satan and the war the wicked sons of Loyola are waging against us, within this nation, and abroad. May the sovereign grace and might of the Lord Jehovah by His Holy Spirit give us the courage, strength, and power to resist the god of this world (Satan) and his evil Jesuit Order and to reprove the unfruitful works of darkness as our God commands us (Ephesians 5:11).

I found 2 photos taken at the 2004 Al Smith Dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria.

By Brother Nicholas Rivera

New York Governor Roman Catholic George Pataki, former NY governor Hugh L. Carey, Knight of Malta, Skull and Bonesman, and thirty-third degree Freemason Episcopalian George H.W. Bush, and Papal Court Jew NYC Mayor Michael Bloomberg pictured with their political boss pedophile and sodomite Edward Cardinal Egan. George Pataki was invited to join a Masonic lodge as a Master Mason. Pataki accepted then declined due to pressure from the Catholic Church according to the New York Post.

As usual Mr Rivera your work is appreciated! To me photos like these tell a thousand words and you can see who is of the higher intelligence and authority from these!

I read up on former NY governor Roman Catholic Hugh Carey (pictured twice above with Edward Cardinal Egan) and learned Carey is a Knight of Columbus. The "joke" of the Jesuit-controlled elite at the 2004 (K of C) Alfred E. Smith Dinner was that there was a Bush (George H.W. Bush) and a Carey (instead of Jesuit-trained CFR member and Luciferian Skull and Bonesman Roman Catholic John Kerry).

Liturgy, lectures to mark Jesuits' Year of Jubilee

03/26/2006

<http://www.thetimes-tribune.com/site/news....id=416046&rfi=6>

The University of Scranton will celebrate its Catholic and Jesuit identity during a special week of liturgy, lectures and events Monday through Friday.

This year marks a Year of Jubilee for Jesuits worldwide to commemorate the lives and works of St. Ignatius Loyola, St. Francis Xavier and Bl. Peter Faber. The jubilee year marks the 450th anniversary of the death of St. Ignatius (July 31, 1556) and the 500th anniversary of the births of St. Francis Xavier (April 13, 1506) and Bl. Peter Faber (April 7, 1506).

On Monday, University of Scranton President the Rev. Scott R. Pilarz, S.J., will be among the cast members of a staged reading of "Companions," a two-act play about St. Ignatius and the first Jesuits. The reading will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Eagen Auditorium of the Gunster Student Center.

On Tuesday, the Division of Mission and Ministries will showcase "Faith in Action" through a panel presentation by students and staff who participated in the January service trips to New Orleans. The panel discussion will be held from 3 to 4:30 p.m. in Room 228 of Brennan Hall and will include the viewing of "A.M.D.G.: A World is Not Enough," a multimedia project celebrating the Jesuit Jubilee year.

A highlight of the week's events will occur during the University Assembly on Wednesday, with the presentation of the annual Pedro Arrupe, S.J., Award for Distinguished Contributions to Ignatian Mission and Ministries. Father Pilarz will present the award to the Rev. George V. Coyne, S.J., director of the Vatican Observatory and adjunct professor of astronomy at the University of Arizona. Father Coyne has received numerous honors throughout his distinguished career, including having a comet named after him in 1991.

The assembly will be held in the McShane Executive Center on the fifth floor of Brennan Hall beginning at noon.

Also on Wednesday, Father Coyne will host a "Theology Cafe" at 7:30 p.m. in Collegiate Hall. He will discuss "Faith, Justice and Jesuit Identity."

A special Heritage Week Liturgy will be held on Thursday at 11:30 a.m. in the Byron Complex.

Faculty Appreciation Day on Friday will include a presentation by Father Coyne at the Research Seminar Series being held in the 1942 Room of the Estate from 3 to 4:30 p.m. Father Coyne will discuss "Pope John Paul II on Science and Faith" with faculty members.

In addition to Heritage Week events, the University of Scranton will celebrate the Jesuit Year of Jubilee through upcoming lectures this spring, including the second annual J.J. Quinn, S.J., Memorial Lecture on Catholicism and Culture, which will be presented by the Rev. Michael Zampelli, S.J, associate professor of theater and dance at Santa Clara University, on April 27.

Outfitting a new cardinal in scarlet from head to toe runs from $2,500 to $4,000.

There are some things in this world that are wondrous to behold, even if one is not a believer in their context or even point. Coronations and royal weddings are among the most popular, but they tend to pale next to the rituals of the Vatican.

Those lucky enough to be in Rome this Friday and Saturday will be able to see one of the finest examples of pomp and spectacle steeped in arcane tradition when Pope Benedict XVI presides over the first consistory of his rule.

Weather permitting, and it has not been a fine Roman spring so far, the ceremony Friday and Mass on Saturday will be held in the piazza in front of St Peter's Basilica. In the event of rain, it will move to a hall in the Vatican.

In either venue, the panoply of red robes, hats and paraphernalia of the cardinals is a sight to behold.

Benedict has called the cardinals, the so-called "princes of the church," for a ceremony in which he will exercise the prerogative that is the Pope's alone, naming new members to the group whose principal job is to choose his successor.

Among them are two Americans. Archbishop William Levada is now Prefect of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, the powerful position Benedict XVI held when he was merely Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger. The job makes Levada the highest-ranking and most influential American in the Roman Curia, the government of the Catholic Church.

The rank of cardinal basically goes with the job, but others have been honored for their service to the church, or to make what Father Dennis Gill, Director of Liturgy at Rome's North American College, called a political point "in the best sense of the word 'political.'"

"There is something on the level of making a statement which is for the particular good of the people associated with the person named cardinal," Father Gill said.

The choice of Bishop Joseph Zen of Hong Kong might fall into that category. Bishop (or cardinal as of Friday) Zen said the Vatican and mainland China have begun talks to reestablish ties between the two that were severed when the Vatican recognized Taiwan after it split from mainland China in 1949. Ties with China would necessitate ending diplomatic relations with Taiwan.

Also getting his red hat will be Archbishop Sean O'Malley of Boston, who has been handling the fallout from the sex abuse scandal in the United States. His appointment sends a message to the troubled diocese of Boston that Benedict is taking their problems seriously and is trying to rebuild.

Elevated too is Archbishop Stanislaw Dziwisz, the long-serving faithful secretary of the late Pope John Paul II.

Many among those who cover the Vatican had rather hoped that the amiable and able Archbishop John Foley, who heads one of the two Vatican Press offices, would be rewarded too, but alas, not this time around.

One of the things standing his way is the number of Americans of princely rank. Including the two who will be created Friday, the U.S. has 15 cardinals, second only to Italy, which has 40. Maybe next time.

The College of Cardinals, which after Friday will number 193 men (120 of whom are under the age of 80 and thus eligible to vote for a new pope when the need arises) must, according to canon law, be ordained bishops and "outstanding for their doctrine, morals, piety and prudence."

Benedict's predecessor, John Paul II, regularly broke the convention that there be only 120 "cardinal electors." Benedict's return to the exact number is seen as a sign that he intends to run a more conventional, and some say placid and better-functioning papacy.

Formed in the 12th century by Pope Alexander III, the College of Cardinals also assumes the jobs of advising the pope, assisting in the central administration of the church, heading the various curial offices and congregations and administering the Apostolic See.

When Benedict confers the symbol of their status, a bright red (as in cardinal, the bird) hat known as a “biretta,” he will tell each man that it signifies their readiness to act “even to the point of spilling your blood for the increase of the Christian faith, for peace and harmony among the people of God, for freedom and the spread of the Holy Roman Catholic Church.”

That’s no small order, coming as it does from a man whose titles include Bishop of Rome, Vicar of Christ, Successor of the Prince of the Apostles, and Supreme Pontiff of the Universal Church. Benedict recently dropped the honorific “Patriarch of the West.” The Vatican said it was “outdated,” and its removal could help dialogue with the Orthodox Catholic churches.

The move was done in a typically obtuse Vatican way — not by formal announcement but simply by not including it in the list in the 2006 issue of the “Annuario Pontificio,” the 2,372-page annual directory of all things related to the Vatican and the Catholic Church in general.

The book sells for 60 euros, about $73. Outfitting a new cardinal in scarlet from head to toe (literally, they even wear red socks for the day) runs from $2,500 to $4,000 according to a report by The Associated Press fashion writer.

No wonder it’s such a great show.

Title: Race and ENGLAND

Description: Eric Phelps

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 23, 2006 12:19 AM (GMT)

Dear Cxxxxx,

There is an old maxim of the law which states:

"He who stands on his own rights injures no one."

I am a member of the White race; I was born and live in the United States; I speak the English language; I am a man; and the Reformation Bible is the foundation for the culture I seek to live in and for which government I seek to be governed. I hate no race, language or national boundries of any people. I do hate their anti-Christ religions escorting them for hell---especially Romanism---, but not them. The nations that fit the above parameters have all been destroyed thanks to the Order's Counter Reformation. I merely seek to re-establish one such nation here within North America. Thus, how do I injure anyone by propounding this position?

I shall reply below.

It was Mayor Ray Nagin that used the word "cholocate." I merely quoted him. Maybe my detractors should send an email to Mayor Nagin and call him a hateful "racist." Obviously, Mayor Nagin, being a mulatto, prefers his own Black/White race above the Whites. And yes, I am a racist, as are you and every other man on this planet. But I am not a hateful racist, as that term now denotes "hate." I am a "preferential racist" preferring my own White race above all others. Further, the God of the Bible is a racist in that He created the races to keep mankind separate, and the Lord Jesus Christ is a racist, as He was sent only to the House of Israel--- a race of people descended from the twelve sons of Jacob. Further, God has put into the hearts of men to prefer their own race, to prefer their own native language speakers and to prefer their national, geographic identity before all others. The creation of the nations, racially and linguistically, was God-ordained and I seek to maintain those distinctions. This is true patriotism, it being necessary for the continuation of any "nation."

Therefore

I understand your concern. But the issue of race must be dealt with by a Bible-believing, historically Calvinistic man. If, out of a fear of man, I refuse to go there, the Whites of this nation, (Catholic, Protestant, atheist, etc.), will be driven into the camp of Hal Turner and other Roman Catholic Neo-Nazis due to the horrific Black-on-White crime now at epidemic proportions. What I advocate for the White race, I advocate for the Black race as the principles work for both races, i.e., racial separation, language separation and geographic separation. Thus, some of what the mulatto and Masonic, Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Louis Farrakhan advocates is true as is also the case with Jesuit-trained White Roman Catholic Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Hal Turner. Their little bit of truth draws the damaged seeker into their webs of violence and future race war. This horror I seek to avoid, so I must address these topics, cost what it may.

Most sheep cannot

Well said. I am now reading a book titled Rome and the War (WWI), written in 1916 by "Watchman," in which the Protestant writer cites the quest of the Order being to destroy "the British race." That race is White and Protestant both of which are now being destroyed here in the US. The same is being done in Denmark, Holland, Germany, Britain, Ireland, South Africa and Australia. Should not this pattern be exposed for what it is---a Jesuit plot to destroy once White Protestant Western Civilization "by any means necessary," including not only war, but the amalgamation of the White race with Blacks and Orientals?

This is another reason for a nation being composed of a race of people who speak the language of that nation. Bi-racial and bi-lingual nations are weak and easily disorganized. Roman Catholic Jesuit Coadjutor Michael Savage is right: "Diversity is perversity."

I hear I'm a racist many

- > pretty. I also spend time
- > with older generations, one woman in particularly whos 86. I know what

Again, it is a virtue to hold to "Biblical racism." Biblical racism is absent of hate for the other races not unique to that particular racial Christian.

- > Rothschilds etc. What do you - > think will happen to England and the U.K in the future?

Concerning the U.K., I believe that she is to be attacked during this Papal Crusade by the Moslems aiding domestic traitors. I believe Protestant Northern Ireland, now 45% Roman Catholic, will be greatly persecuted after the death of Ian Paisley. The Moslems in the U.K. will fulfill their purpose of igniting Jewish persecution, driving the kingdom into Jesuit fascism as here in the US. After this Papal Crusade, I believe Protestantism will be finished in England, Scotland and Ireland. All will be in the ECC subject to papal rule and using the pope's euros. Canada will be absorbed into the US as Germany absorbed Austria in 1938 as a reaction to the coming CIA/MI6 "terrorist event" possibly in historically Protestant Toronto, that city having a large Jewish population.

As you say, indeed the big banks may be moved to Switzerland or Austria, to be more centrally located in the Pope's revived Holy Roman Empire centered in a Protestant-free united Germany. But if I was the Jesuit General, I would not move the banks or their gold hordes. Rather, I would punish the people of the UK, but preserve the infrastructure. With the parctical reunion of the Anglican Church with Rome, all of the property will revert back to Vatican control. This property has always been considered stolen property to be returned to its "rightful owners," the pope ruled by the Jesuits.

BENEDICT XVI, SILENTLY, REMOVED TIARA FROM PAPAL SHIELD

Posted By: IZAKOVIC

Date: Saturday, 18 March 2006

Pope has removed the last sign of the rulership dignity in accordance with conclusions of Second Vatican Council.

Croatian daily "New Leaf" on March 18, 2006. reports that "Trerregnum" was removed from papal shield also. This, another change which Benedict XVI has conducted in silence, is now visible in Pope's Yearbook for 2006, which was just released for sales to public.

Above his Bishop's shield, which he did not change since when Paul VI named him Archbishop of Munich and Friezing in 1977. Benedict left that same Bishop's mitre he then had and which he did not substitute with Cardinal's hat after the same Pope, the same year, has included him in College of Cardinals.

Trerregnum or three-crown, Papal tiara with triple crown, last time resided on the head of some Pope in 1963, when Paul VI was crowned with it. For the occasion he was presented with the new Trerregnum from his former, Milan parish. He never wore it again, it was sold on the auction for help to the poor by New York's Archbishop Cardinal Francis Spellmann.

Nor John Paul I nor John Paul II did not want to be crowned by tiara, but they have incorporated it in their Papal shields immediately after they become Popes, as all their predecessors did.

Benedict XVI who now presents himself with Bishop's mitre primarily as Bishop of Rome, which is his prime and oldest title, by this sheds the last external sign of rulership dignity, which is exactly in accordance with conclusions of Second Vatican Council, which he has attended as perit, and which has finished 40 years before the start of his pontificate.

But, on the last page of Papal Yearbook for this year is visible that Treregnum has still remained on the shield of the town of Vatican.

Tiara was, supposedly, given by Emperor Constantine himself to Pope Sylvester as the sign of the liberation of the Church. Its shape and name draw their origin from the headpiece Persian Emperors carried. At the top of the tiara there is a cross below which, thru history, crowns have been added.

First draws it's origin from middle ages, and it is not known which Pope carried it first, Simah (498-514) or Leo III (795 - 816), who would have it when he was crowning Carl the Great for Emperor, or only St. Nicholas I (856 - 867).

Second was added by Boniface VIII (1294 - 1303) for the sacral year 1300, first which was celebrated.

Last one was added by Clement V (1305 - 1314).

Three crowns were explained in various ways: or they mark Sacred Triumvirate, or triple Papal power on earth (legal, executive, juridical), or three areas of God's Kingdom (believers on earth, passing sinners in purgatory, blessed ones in heaven),

On it's top is a small golden ball with cross above it. Behind there are two strings that end with cross, which originate from Bishop's mitre, which are successors of infulae, strings that Roman priests carried as a sign of their invulnerability, which showed that their blood would fall upon intruder.

Few days ago was announced that there will be important changes in Roman Curia, which will be downsized.

Authorities condemn 'cowardly terrorist attack' on Jesuits

The arson attack which led to the destruction of seven cars belonging to the Jesuits on Sunday night received outright condemnation from the authorities yesterday.

President Eddie Fenech Adami paid a visit to St Aloysius' College - his former school - expressing his solidarity with the Jesuit community.

The arson attack happened just days after the Jesuits had broadcast their views against racism and xenophobia. It turned out that in November 2005, two cars and a motorcycle were burnt outside another Jesuit residence, in Msida. The first incident had also occurred soon after a press conference by the Jesuit Faith and Justice Centre.

Speaking in Parliament, Acting Prime Minister Louis Galea expressed the government's solidarity with the Jesuits and said the government was grateful for their work for the benefit of society.

He said the police would investigate all avenues and possible motives for the cowardly attack.

The minister was replying to a question by Frederick Azzopardi (PN).

Earlier, Labour home affairs spokesman Gavin Gulia said that actions fuelled by racism and xenophobia seriously undermined democracy and the country's security.

"We cannot brush aside this malicious act as if it were a crime like any other. Nor can we let anybody foment hatred and spread xenophobia with the excuse of the 'national interest' when Malta is known for its values of compassion, hospitality and generosity," he said.

Expressing solidarity with the Jesuits, Dr Gulia appealed to the Police Commissioner to double his efforts in investigating this case so that the culprits may be brought to justice.

"Maltese and Gozitans should not confuse the national interest with ideas stemming from racism and xenophobia planted by people who are not really interested in order and security in the country. On the contrary, their only intention is to undermine Christian and democratic values through violence," Dr Gulia said.

Alternattiva Demokratika also condemned the incident saying a similar arson attack on a residence in Pembroke "had been motivated by similar sentiments".

On March 8, the police said it was investigating an arson attack on a house in Pembroke after unidentified persons placed a blazing tyre at the front of a house there. AD chairman Harry Vassallo said there was nothing more dangerous in a society than its submission to threats and assaults of this kind.

"It is not only the Jesuit community that has been attacked but all of society which witnesses these acts and is placed under threat," Dr Vassallo said, adding that the arson attack on the private residence in Pembroke could also be linked to this latest incident.

"The indications of who may have caused the damage in both instances lie clearly in the opinions expressed by the victims who have publicly denounced racism and xenophobia and also in the fact that in both cases the offenders have not felt the need to claim responsibility for these acts of intimidation," Dr Vassallo said.

He added that this kind of "bullying" should be repressed, if necessary by legal means. According to Dr Vassallo, "the country's history of political violence should have made it clear to everyone that we cannot afford to tolerate the slightest instance of this intimidation to which we are all exposed.

"A public and energetic response by the police force is absolutely necessary to deter any recurrence of these cowardly and despicable acts".

Dr Vassallo said this was terrorism and not merely a chance act of vandalism and should be dealt with accordingly.

Not that I'm happy (or smug) this happened...but I can't help but think, now they know how it feels!

Not that they'd care.... <_<

AVBibleBeliever - March 16, 2006 04:52 PM (GMT)

The Knights of Malta (SMOM) can't be that far down the road ha ha. Seriously though I wish there was another way except exposing them like we do to combat the Company of Satan but it is apparent from the article that the government won't do anything because President Eddie Fenech Adami is biased having been trained by Jesuits and the government and police are completely controlled by them. Last night when 2TUFF mentioned me in blue font I stopped to think. Do I want to entertain the thought that my posts had anything to do with it? I don't condone violence. Then I thought God allowed this to happen for a reason and given the diabolical history of the Jesuit Order which has done nothing but bring war, bloodshed, and ruin to every nation they've tainted with their presence, I'd say that this was an act of recompense according to the wicked works of the Order. Jesuitism is an enemy-the biggest enemy of the souls of men. I believe the people who did this, did so out of outrage for the satanic system of the Jesuit Order and not out of hatred for individual Jesuits-none were killed just their cars were destroyed. Since they control the banks and possess tremendous monetary wealth I think they wouldn't consider it an injury to them, but merely a nuisance. What we do here on The Unhived Mind is more productive in my opinion because people are waking up and realizing just how evil and sinister the sons of Loyola are. We must resist evil. We must resist the Jesuit Order, but only by God's grace and direction can we do it right-the way He would have us to.

Ephesians 6:12 "For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places."

IMO the best way to fight these guys is to side with the Lord, and try to recruit (proselytize) others--not forcing them, obviously!

Government increases security around European Parliament delegation following arson attack and death threats

<http://217.145.4.56/ind/news.asp?newsitemid=29924>

The government will provide increased security for a European Parliament delegation that will visit Malta this week to examine the conditions in which immigrants are being detained on the island.

Some 19 members of the parliament's civil liberties and justice committee will be in Malta on Thursday and Friday, led by the vice-president of the committee, Stefano Zappala.

The MEPs are expected to visit the two detention centres sheltering immigrants and will also meet government ministers and NGOs.

The increased security follows the arson attacks on all cars belonging to Jesuit priests at St Aloysius College last weekend. The arson attack, which has been widely condemned, is seen as retaliation for the clear stand taken by the Jesuit order against various manifestations of racism and the publication of an EU-commissioned report on racism and xenophobia in Malta.

But the increased security also stems from death threats posted on right-wing websites. This newspaper has seen, before it was removed from the website by the administrator, a clear death threat against MLP spokesman Gavin Gulia.

In another exchange, reported by Business Today, someone wrote: "I heard on the grapevine that last night all the Jesuits' cars parked in St Aloysius College grounds were burnt."

To which someone replied: "That's nice. Were any Jesuits grilled?"

And, after receiving a negative answer, that someone wrote: "Too bad. If Jesuits had been grilled we could have had a holocaust memorial day of our own in a year's time.

Better luck next time, arsonists.”

“We are happy that a delegation from the European Parliament is coming to visit detention centres in Malta, because there is a need for more transparency. For example we don't agree with the decision that the press cannot go in the detention centres,” said Fr Paul Pace, Assistant Director of the Jesuit Refugee Service in Malta.

Last year around 1,800 illegal immigrants landed in Malta, the majority of whom left from Libya.

“Libya lacks organisation and strategy to deal with immigration problems. We need to see it as a common problem for the EU,” said Maltese MEP Simon Busutill.

Since 1998, about 6,049 immigrants have landed in Malta — which is 1.5 per cent of the whole population of just over 400,000.

At present, more than 1,100 immigrants are being detained in Malta.

This visit comes two weeks after leftist MEPs launched a campaign to close down all detention centres for illegal immigrants in Europe.

MEP Giusto Catania, who is part of this campaign and also part of the delegation visiting Malta, described detention centres as a legal dishonour.

Human rights groups have criticised the poor conditions in the centres and detainees have little access to information or medical care.

At the moment, several detainees are living in tents as the Maltese authorities are finding it difficult to accommodate all immigrants on the island.

MEPs are also likely to raise the issue of the length of detention for people in the camps.

“Unfortunately there are also detentions that exceed 18 months, something which is unacceptable,” Fr Pace said.

Vatican on a quest for the Crusaders

Richard Owen, Rome

March 21, 2006

<http://www.theaustralian.news.com.au/commo...55E2703,00.html>

THE Vatican has moved to rehabilitate the Crusaders by sponsoring a conference that portrays the Crusades as wars fought with the "noble aim" of regaining the Holy Land for Christianity.

The Crusades are seen by many Muslims as acts of violence that have underpinned Western aggression towards the Arab world ever since. Followers of Osama bin Laden claim to be taking part in a latter-day "jihad against the Jews and Crusaders".

The late Pope John Paul II sought to achieve Muslim-Christian reconciliation by asking "pardon" for the Crusades during the 2000 millennium celebrations. But John Paul's apologies for the past "errors of the church" -- including the Inquisition and anti-semitism -- irritated some Vatican conservatives.

According to insiders, the dissenters included Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger, now Pope Benedict XVI. Pope Benedict reached out to Muslims and Jews after his election and called for dialogue. However, the Pope, due to visit Turkey in November, has in the past suggested that Turkey's Muslim culture is at variance with Europe's Christian roots.

At the conference, held at the Regina Apostolorum Pontifical University, Italian historian

Roberto De Mattei recalled that the Crusades were "a response to the Muslim invasion of Christian lands and the Muslim devastation of the Holy Places".

Professor De Mattei noted that the desecration of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem by Muslim forces in 1009 helped provoke the first Crusade, called by Pope Urban II at the end of the 11th century. He said the Crusaders were "martyrs" who "sacrificed their lives for the faith".

He was backed by Jonathan Riley-Smith, Dixie Professor of Ecclesiastical History at Cambridge University, who said that those who sought forgiveness for the Crusades "do not know their history". He attacked Ridley Scott's recent film Kingdom of Heaven, starring Orlando Bloom, as "utter nonsense".

Professor Riley-Smith said the script, like much writing on the Crusades, was "historically inaccurate". "It depicts the Muslims as civilised and the Crusaders as barbarians. It has nothing to do with reality." It fuelled Islamic fundamentalism by propagating "bin Laden's version of history".

He said the Crusaders were at times undisciplined and capable of great cruelty but the same was true of Muslims and troops in "all ideological wars".

American writer Robert Spencer, author of A Politically Incorrect Guide to Islam, told the conference that the mistaken view had taken hold in the West, as well as the Arab world, that the Crusades were "an unprovoked attack by Europe on the Islamic world". In reality, Christians had been persecuted after the Muslim conquest of Jerusalem.

Knights of Malta and Rick Joyner

by Joseph Chambers

(Title: Rick Joyner, Paul Cain, Knights Of Malta, And Saddam Hussein)

<http://www.pawcreek.org/articles/endtimes/...dRickJoyner.htm>

Something breathtaking is happening among key Charismatics, like Rick Joyner and Paul Cain. Rick Joyner recently announced that he was knighted by the Knights of Malta. Apparently, Paul Cain had already been knighted or was knighted at the same time. The entire story, as told by Rick Joyner, has come into my possession. Included in this knighting was Ricky Skaggs (country singer), Mahesh Chavda, Bobby Conner, and others. The Knights of Malta is clearly a Catholic order with a military persona. The American order is called on the internet, "Sovereign Military Order Of Malta."

Here is a constitutional statement from the charter:

QUOTE

"The Order has as its object to promote the Glorification of God by the sanctification of its members, service to the Faith and to the Holy See (pope of Rome) and helping one's neighbor, in accordance with its secular traditions." (Spiritual Guidelines For All Member Of The Order, Sovereign Military Order Of Malta, Federal Association, U.S.A. website.)

What is amazing is that Rick Joyner tells all about this on a tape and includes in the story how that a key member of this order arranged a meeting between Paul Cain and Saddam Hussein, the President of Iraq. He states that the lead men for Saddam had heard Paul Cain and were convinced that he was a true prophet. If Saddam Hussein and his henchmen are convinced that Paul Cain and Rick Joyner are true prophets then you know who they prophesy to serve. Remember, the Antichrist will be an Assyrian, right out of the geographical area that includes Iraq, Southern Turkey, Northern Iran, Syria, and, probably, Lebanon.

Something breathtaking is happening between key Charismatic leaders and the organizations of the world working toward a One World Order. This bit of information lets us know how close His marvelous Rapture of the Bride really is. Stay tuned for more information.

Knights Of Malta: Rick Joyner, and Saddam Hussein

by Joseph R. Chambers

There has been a tremendous amount of interest in our short article on Rick Joyner and his experience with the Knights of Malta. The aspect of Paul Cain and his secret meeting with Saddam Hussein is an ongoing story. We all have watched Saddam Hussein stare down the world over and over. He rides each crisis with an increased degree of arrogance and pride. At the same time he is busy building up his strategist nation of Iraq and the ancient city of Babylon. Following is an excerpt from our book, A Palace For The Antichrist, that shows how the Antichrist will be an Assyrian and maybe even an Iraqi.

QUOTE

"The Seat Of The Antichrist"

"The Middle East is the center of the whole earth; Babylon is the seat of Satan; Jerusalem is the spiritual center of the Judeo-Christian revelation and soon to be the seat of Christ's kingdom. Iraq is rightly called the Cradle of Civilization because the Garden of Eden was in its southern tip where the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers meet just before entering the Persian Gulf. To look for Satan's final activities in any other area than the Middle East is to look in vain and in error.

"It is very important to establish the geographical location for the Antichrist's appearance and the Holy Scripture has done so very carefully. Daniel's vision of the four wild beasts (Daniel 7:1-28) gives a clear picture of the last four World Empires. All four are seen to appear from the geographical area of the Mediterranean Sea. "Daniel spake and said, I saw in my vision by night, and behold, the four winds of the heaven strove upon the great sea. And the four great beasts came up from the sea, diverse one from another." The scholar G.H. Lang said, "In Hebrew usage 'the great sea' is a proper noun and means invariably the Mediterranean." Every political power in the world is at this moment focusing on the Middle East. It has been utterly confirmed that control of the Middle East is the key to world influence. America and Russia have both positioned for this privilege for many years. Our military might and government are constantly seeking to influence the activities of this region.

Antichrist To Be An Assyrian

"The Scripture has left no doubt that this beast of a man will be from Assyrian nationality. Three times Isaiah called him by this name, "O, Assyrian, the rod of mine anger, and the staff in their hand is mine indignation." (Isaiah 10:5). This clearly suggest that he will attack Israel while they are still in unbelief. Isaiah further states: "I will break the Assyrian in my land, and upon my mountains tread him under foot:

then shall his yoke depart from off them, and his burden depart from off their shoulders." (Isaiah 14:25). In this prophecy, God's prophet declares that the Antichrist/the Assyrian will be broken upon the mountains of Israel which God calls my mountains.

"Now note the third reference, "Behold, the name of the LORD cometh from far, burning with his anger, and the burden thereof is heavy: his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue as a devouring fire: And his breath, as an overflowing stream, shall reach to the midst of the neck, to sift the nations with the sieve of vanity: and there shall be a bridle in the jaws of the people, causing them to err. Ye shall have a song, as in the night when a holy solemnity is kept; and gladness of heart, as when one goeth with a pipe to come into the mountain of the LORD, to the mighty One of Israel. And the LORD shall cause his glorious voice to be heard, and shall shew the lighting down of his arm, with the indignation of his anger, and with the flame of a devouring fire, with scattering, and tempest, and hailstones. For through the voice of the LORD shall the Assyrian be beaten down, which smote with a rod." (Isaiah 30:27-31).

"The reference places his judgment in the final act of God's wrath at Armageddon. "His tongue (Jesus Christ) as a devouring fire" is almost the same statement as John the Revelator states: "Out of his mouth goeth a sharp sword that with it he should smite the nations." (Revelations 19:15). The statement, "For through the voice of the Lord shall the 'Assyrian' be beaten down," suggests the very same reality. "And there shall be a bridle in the jaw of the people causing them to err," is also a picture of the mindless unity with which the Antichrist gathers his army to march against Jerusalem in his last act of desperation." (Joseph R. Chambers, D.D., A Palace For The Antichrist, New Leaf Press, Green Forest, AR, pp. 136-138.)

To see key Charismatic leaders moving into the framework with Saddam Hussein is breathtaking. It is incredibly tough to get good facts on the Knights of Malta. They apparently are connected both to freemasonry and the Catholic church. Whatever time we have between the present and the Rapture promises to be a fast ride full of interesting details. One thing of absolute importance is to stay close to Jesus and to be wise of all that is happening. Don't put your head in the sand and do not be afraid. If you are His, you will be out of here at exactly the right moment. The King is coming and the Saints will be gone.

Do you have information on Paul Cain, Rick Joyner, or others that may be involved with the Knights of Malta or Saddam Hussein? If so, contact us.

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 21, 2006 02:52 AM (GMT)

Interesting concerning Knight of Malta Paul Cain and Islamic Freemason Saddam Hussein.

Further, the Antichrist will not be an Assyrian, but rather a Roman (Dan.9:26)--- the final King/Casear/pope to be murdered and risen from the dead to be the Eighth King of Revelation 17:10.

Appearance Of Our Lady In Australia As Final Warning To Mankind

By: Sorcha Faal, and as reported to her Russian Subscribers

<http://www.whatdoesitmean.com/index892.htm>

Reports from Australia today are stating that the Catholic Priest Father Finbarr Walsh, the first Catholic Priest to have exercised the right to join the Freemasons after the November 27, 1983 John Paul II Papal Bull allowing such Secret Society Membership for Catholics, has once again sought his Church's help in keeping from the World the events over these past years of the appearances of Our Lady, and her Final Warnings of the 'New Star' to appear in the Southern Regions of our Earth's skies.

In 2002 Father Walsh was most instrumental in suppressing the beginning of these Warnings from Our Lady by taking from the three Aborigine Children, to whom Our Lady had first appeared, a 'weeping icon' of Our Lady and laying Catholic Claim upon it, and as we can read as reported by the BBC News Service in their Friday, September 13, 2002 article titled "Mystery of Australia's weeping Madonna", and which says:

"Scientists in Australia have failed to find the source of tears flowing from the eyes of a statue of the Virgin Mary. The fibreglass statue, on display at a Catholic church in Perth, Western Australia, started weeping fragrant liquid in March.

Thousands of pilgrims have visited the church since the statue's owner revealed the news last week. Parish priest Finbarr Walsh said the statue was giving great comfort to the sick including a dying priest who was anointed with the oily tears on Wednesday.

"Two hours later he was sitting up in bed as cheerful as anything," he said. The statue is being shown for a few hours a week at Our Lady of Lourdes church, in the Perth suburb of Rockingham."

Today's report on the continued efforts of both Father Walsh and the Catholic Church suppression of these spreading events we can read as reported by Australia's Sunday Times News Service in their article titled "Is this a bleeding miracle?", and which says:

"THE Catholic Church claims a modern-day miracle is unfolding in Rockingham. It says that a 50-year-old father of three, whose identity is being kept secret, is displaying stigmata on his hands and feet – wounds that appear to be similar to those on the crucified body of Christ.

The Rev Father Finbarr Walsh told The Sunday Times this week that he had witnessed the phenomena, which lasted 24 hours and included visions of and messages from the Virgin Mary. He said he had never seen such a thing in his 50 years as a priest, with the wounds appearing to be covered in blood."

"Catholic Archbishop Barry Hickey refused to speak to The Sunday Times this week about the incident. He said through a spokesman that he was aware of what was happening in Rockingham. "He won't talk with anyone about it," spokesman Hugh Ryan said. The Sunday Times contacted the man this week.

Identifying himself only as Ian, he said he had been asked by the Catholic Church not to speak to the media. "I can't answer your questions. It's a humility thing and I have to be obedient to those who have said I can't talk about it," he said."

To the father of the three Aborigine Children to whom these visions of Our Lady having to be 'obedient' to the Catholic Church we have long understood, and witnessed, throughout these past two millenniums as to control the Truth of All Things as revealed by Our Lady has always been their method of controlling all humanity for their own darkest means.

For as with all of these appearances of Our Lady, including Lourdes and Fatima, have the patriarchal leaders of the Catholic Church sought to distort the True Imaginings of what our World has always been, and will be again, as not one of being ruled by the 'energy' of men, but instead through the 'power' of women.

No greater fear do these cruel and barbaric current rulers of all human kind then the truths of Our Lady being revealed to Mankind, for in just Her words alone, being read or spoken, can the Final Illusion of their horrific reign be both seen and thrown off by all.

But to the Mysterious Power of Our Lady being heard in Her Final Warning to Mankind, this Church of Darkness, controlled by the sworn enemies of all men, there remain many throughout the World who see without seeing, and hear without hearing, and understand fully the words from the last Fatima Seer as revealed to the World on October 6, 2004 by the Prophet David Booth, and which said:

"Next week on October 13th will be the 87th year since the Holy Mother last warned this world about these times and the events that must occur shortly.

The Church has not heeded this warning nor have the people of this world obeyed their God.

The Holy Mother had stated that If her requests were granted there would be peace.... they have not been and now there will be war, plagues and pestilence as the punishment for mankind that She has foretold.

From this moment forward the Lord will punish this earth and its people so they will know that he is their God and that we are his children.

Turn away now from all men and the buildings of men and I will teach you and lead you, commands God to the world of men today.

The Lord commands his people to turn away now from all graven images and to not put faith in objects of stone, silver or gold, because in God alone lies ones true treasure.

Listen to no man or group of men who say they speak for God for they are all liars and thieves and have forsaken the Church for their own gain. And likewise to give your gold and silver to any man who claims they speak for God is to partake of the wrath God has reserved for these false prophets.

This wicked generation of men have become lovers of death, adultery and gold and have created their own gods and even believe they are gods themselves.

This wicked generation of men have been led into the pens for slaughter by men who seek glory for themselves, and they will have their reward, the fires of Hell.

Our Lord has asked, can we not see the signs of the times? And has it not been written: "And God said, Let there be lights in the firmament of the heaven to divide the day from the night; and let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days, and years:"

This is for understanding.

I will no longer be mocked by this generation and will visit upon them my full and utter wrath until every man bows down before me and knows that I am their God and they are my people.

God alone is now the Shepard for his flock and will lead them, for in the valley of decision the Great and Terrible Day of the Lord is at hand! "

And to the beginning of the fulfillment of the words of the Prophet David Booth, and on the day of October 13, 2004 as Our Lady had warned:

"On October 13, 2004 the Sanhedrin, the highest tribunal of the Jewish state and religion, was re-inaugurated by a group of rabbis in Tiberias after 1,600 years of absence."

To the understanding of these words, and the words of the Prophet, there exists today few to see, fewer to hear, and fewer yet to understand....for as warned by Jesus about these days and the peoples of the Earth:

"But as the days of Noah were, so also will the coming of the Son of Man be. For as in the days before the flood, they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that Noah entered the ark." Matthew 24:37-38

"Then the LORD saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every intent of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. And the LORD was sorry that He had made man on the earth, and He was grieved in His heart. So the LORD said, "I will destroy man whom I have created from the face of the earth, both man and beast, creeping thing and birds of the air, for I am sorry that I have made them." Genesis 6:5-7

And in these Words the Mystery of our very times do indeed lie, for what once was will surely be again, and what will soon be will return us all to that time wherein we truly reside....for only by the two becoming one, both Male and Female, can the rightness of this Age become fully ended to begin again.

To the Greater Warning we now await as the Prophet has foretold.

Note: Reminds me of 1 Thessalonians 5:3, which says: For when they shall say, Peace and safety [hmmm--safety--War On Terror?]; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape.

APPARITIONS OF MARY PROMISE PEACE IF THE POPE WILL DECLARE HER COREDEMPTRIX, MEDIATRIX AND ADVOCATE

I just finished writing an article called "SACRED HEARTS" RECEIVE EQUAL WORSHIP. The article centered on apparitions of "Mary" and "Jesus" claiming that the Immaculate Heart of Mary would triumph in the end. However, according to the visionary, Ida Perleman, this triumph cannot happen until the pope complies with "Mary's" insistence that she be called the Coredemptrix, Mediatrix and Advocate of the world.

"The most significant message given by Our Lady concerns a last dogma in Marian history to be declared by the Pope. This dogma will declare that Mary is to be known as COREDEMPTRIX, MEDIATRIX AND ADVOCATE. It is widely believed that the TRIUMPH OF THE IMMACULATE HEART CAN ONLY BEGIN AFTER THE CHURCH DECLARES THIS DOGMA" (Our Lady Queen of Peace Publication, Special Edition II, Stan Karminski, Pittsburgh Center For Peace, 1992).

If the pope does proclaim this dogma, "Mary" promised:

"When the dogma — the last dogma in Marian history — has been proclaimed, the Lady of All Nations would procure peace, genuine peace, for the world. BUT the nations MUST say my prayer in union with the Church. Then they will experience that the Lady has come as Coredemptrix, Mediatrix and Advocate" (Our Lady Queen of Peace Publication, Special Edition II, Stan Karminski, Pittsburgh Center For Peace, 1992).

You'd think the pope would jump to proclaim this "final Marian doctrine" since "Mary" has promised "peace, genuine peace". What's holding him back? His predecessors had no problem using the titles "Coredemptrix, Mediatrix and Advocate", so this could not possibly be the problem. Is it possible that the pope doesn't have as much faith in "Mary" as he pretends? Perhaps he's more worried about what the Protestants think? If a man had it in his power to bring peace to the earth by proclaiming one final doctrine, and he really truly believed it was from God, why would he hesitate?

Did you notice, in the quote, that "Mary" not only required the pope to declare this final Marian doctrine, but she also said the "nations must say my prayer in union with the Church"? She taught Ida Perleman the prayer that all nations should pray with the Catholic church:

"Lord Jesus Christ; Son of the Father, send forth now Thy Spirit over all the earth. Let the Holy Ghost live in the hearts of all nations, that they may be preserved from moral decline, disasters and war. MAY THE LADY OF ALL NATIONS, WHO ONCE WAS MARY, BE OUR ADVOCATE." (Call of the Ages, Petrisko, 306)

Satan ("Mary") wants the title "advocate" simply because he wants to be like God. 1 John 2:1 says nothing of Mary being our advocate.

"My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous."

Of course, the Roman Catholic hierarchy cannot discern, because they have rejected God's word as the final authority and declared themselves to be the final authority in all matters of faith. Jeremiah 8:9 comes to mind:

"The wise men are ashamed, they are dismayed and taken: lo, they have rejected the word of the LORD; and what wisdom is in them?"

What do you suppose the Catholic hierarchy did when they heard that an apparition requested this "prayer of all nations" calling "Mary" the "Lady of the Nations"?

"The propagation of this prayer began after the ecclesiastical approbation of the prayer in the Netherlands in 1951 and has been backed by the ecclesiastical approbation of more than thirty Bishops abroad" (Call of the Ages, Petrisko, 306).

First "Mary" wanted there to be propagated a prayer calling her "Lady of the Nations". Ten years later, in 1961, the "Virgin Mary" appeared to the stigmatist, "Sister" Elena Aiello of Italy wanting to be known by a few more titles.

“In order to save souls, I wish that there be propagated in the world the consecration to the Immaculate Heart of Mary, Mediatrix of Men, devoted to the Mercy of God, and to the Queen of the Universe. I ask prayers, penance and sacrifice, so I may act as Mediatrix for my Son in order to save souls” (ibid., 306).

It amazes me how Catholicism can reject the blood of the Lamb as sufficient to save souls, condemning those of us who do trust in Jesus, yet claim that confession of “Mary” as the Mediatrix can do the job. What’s even more amazing is that men actually believe these apparitions and follow these signs. If “Mary” shows up on a taco chip, they flock to see it. If her “image” appears on a bathroom wall, they bow before it. How can men fall for such devilish plots and reject the perfect work of the spotless Lamb? Nonetheless, the apparitions continue and men continue to be duped by them.

In 1969, the “Virgin Mary” appeared to Rosa Quattrini in Italy saying:

“I am the Coredemptrix, I am the Hope, I am the love and Mother of Consolation. I want to comfort my children” (ibid., 306).

Jesus did not leave us comfortless! In John 14:18, Jesus said, "I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you."

In 1973, at the “approved apparitions of Akita”, the “Virgin Mary” boldly claimed:

“I ALONE am able still to save you from the calamities which approach. Those who place their confidence in me will be saved” (ibid., 307).

It’s evident the spirit wants the glory that belongs to Jesus ALONE! Our Lord Jesus said that He would “never leave nor forsake” us. (Heb.13:5) Jesus also told us that when the “Spirit of truth” came, He would “glorify me”. (John 16:13-14) The spirit that is appearing as Mary is not glorifying Jesus, but rather, it is glorifying itself. She claims that she “alone” can save us. In essence, she is mocking the words of Jesus, as spoken in the Bible. Nonetheless, the Roman Catholics continue to “propagate” the lies.

Another stigmatist, “Mother” Elena Leonardi of Italy, had a message from the “Virgin”:

“Propagate devotion to my Immaculate Heart, the Heart of the Queen of the Universe, and of Mother Mediatrix for all mankind before God’s mercy. If sinners were to listen to my warnings and return to my maternal heart, my mercy toward them would be great, and they would find protection and salvation” (ibid., 307).

At this point, one might ask, how can Mary fulfill the office of Coredemptrix, Mediatrix and Advocate. I mean, she is not omnipresent like God, right? She is not capable of being everywhere at the same time. Omnipresence is an attribute of God alone. Right? Well...think again. Messages from “Jesus” indicate a different story! Priest and author, “Fr.” Albert J. Hebert, in his book, Prophecies! The Chastisement and Purification, tells us how “Jesus” appeared to Julka (a visionary from Yugoslavia) on November 21, 1976 with this message:

“The presence of My Mother at My altar, when My Sacrifice is offered to Me, and to My Father and to Our Spirit, means that My Mother, the Martyr, was totally united with Me in soul and body in My Sacrifice for the Redemption of souls. As My Mother’s place on earth was next to Me, so she is also next to Me in Heaven.”

“Fr.” Hebert went on to describe the vision given to Julka:

“During the Elevation of the Most Holy Body of Christ, the great and exalted Mother of God appeared in the center of the altar. She was behind the chalice but slightly higher up in the air. The Blessed Virgin looked into the chalice. Then she said: ‘I am present at the Sacrifice!’ From above came the voice of our Saviour saying ‘I am ALIVE in My Sacrifice on the altar!’” (ibid., 308)

If Mary is present at every Mass, then she is omnipresent, since Masses are said all over the world at the same time. Either she is omnipresent and able to be present at every Mass or she is not omnipresent and the apparitions are a lie. Amazing that even the angels cannot be two places at the same time. How then can Mary be present at every Mass? How can she be with every one who asks of her to guide them, watch over them or meet them at the hour of their death? If Mary’s spirit is present as a Mediatrix as these apparitions claim, she would not only have to be present with each person who prays to her, but also present before God to mediate those prayers. Several scriptures come to mind as I contemplate Mary as a Mediatrix.

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus.” (1 Timothy 2:5)

“For by one Spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond or free; and have been all made to drink into one Spirit.” (1 Corinthians 12:13)

“For through him we both have access by one Spirit unto the Father.” (Ephesians 2:18)

“There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling.” (Ephesians 4:4)

“For there are three that bear record in heaven, the Father, the Word, and the Holy Ghost: and these three are one. And there are three that bear witness in earth, the Spirit, and the water, and the blood: and these three agree in one.” (1 John 5:7-8)

I find it hard to believe that God forgot to mention that in these last days He would be sending us another witness from heaven, that is, “His Mother”. Amos 3:7 says, “Surely the Lord GOD will do nothing, but he revealeth his secret unto his servants the prophets.” If God were going to send Mary to save the world in these last days, don’t you think He would have told us beforehand by His prophets? Would not something as important as Mary being the “Coredemptrix, CoMediatix and Advocate” have some place in the written word? It’s irrational to assume that the all-knowing God of all creation forgot to tell us something this important! And if God did not command it, then we should not believe it!

Another point should be made. These spirits of “Mary” and “Jesus” often appear to those afflicted with the stigmata. I believe the reason for this is simple. Satan knows how easily duped men are when he performs a lying sign or wonder. Therefore, he uses Catholic stigmatists to further his cause, which is to draw men away from God and into worshipping “another spirit”:

“But I fear, lest by any means, as the serpent beguiled Eve through his subtilty, so your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ. For if he that cometh preacheth another Jesus, whom we have not preached, or if ye receive another spirit, which ye have not received, or another gospel, which ye have not accepted, ye might well bear with him.” (2 Corinthians 11:3-4)

One good example of how Satan used the stigmatist happened in Damascus, Syria, where in 1987, “Jesus” spoke to stigmatist Mirna Nazour. He said:

“She is My Mother from whom I was born. Whoever venerates her, venerates Me; whoever ignores her, ignores Me; and whoever asks from her has already received it, because she is My Mother” (ibid., 312).

This other “Jesus” just ignored the verses in Hebrews concerning the priesthood of Melchisedec, which prophetically prefigured the priesthood of Christ:

“Without father, without mother, without descent, having neither beginning of days, nor end of life; but made like unto the Son of God; abideth a priest continually.” (Hebrews 7:3)

My friend, 1 John 4:1 tells us not to believe every spirit that comes along!

“Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world.”

How does one “try the spirit” to see if it is of God? By signs and wonders? NO! It is a wicked generation that seeks a sign. We are to test the spirit by the written word of God.

“To the law and to the testimony: if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them.” (Isaiah 8:20)

It would be illogical for this devil to stop appearing when so many are being duped, especially the Roman Catholic hierarchy. We can expect even more apparitions with lying signs and wonders as we approach the coming of our Lord and Saviour. After all, Satan knows his time is short. He's going to do everything he can to deceive the nations. What better deception could Satan use than to appear as the "Virgin Mary" while mocking the salvation of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Christians need to be armed with the word of God that we be ready for the evil day, that we might reach out to the unsaved Catholic with the true gospel of grace.

Reading through this I can't help but wonder how this religion of dogma came from the Bible.

Maybe its that missing commandment. This idol worship should not happen.

I think you know fully well this nonsense doesn't come from the Bible. :)

There are plenty of Catholics on the message board on that site, and my brain and my fingers are getting exercise from flipping through the Bible to refute their claims that Rome is the True Church TM.

Hmmm...I have no problem accessing that link.

Try this URL:

I know most GeoCities sites, it can only handle so many hits in so much time due to bandwidth, but I've never had that problem with this site...maybe the site owner pays a little bit a month for more bandwidth.

TRADITIONAL ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH PROVEN TO BE A PRACTICE OF WHITE MAGIC WITCHCRAFT -- WORDS AND SYMBOLS TELL THE STORY!

Subtitle: Too many Catholics today are considering Pope John Paul II as an "Anti-Pope", having stolen the Vatican from the Beloved Historic True Church. From the vantage point of a knowledge of the occult, we demonstrate that the Traditional Church has been practicing "Good" witchcraft since the institution of the Mass. This article is excerpted from a speech at Friendship Baptist Church in Warwick, Rhode Island, Tuesday evening, November 9, 1999, entitled, "The False Prophet: He Has Been Selected".

The New World Order is coming! Are you ready? Once you understand what this New World Order really is, and how it is being gradually implemented, you will be able to see it progressing in your daily news!!

In the past several years, we have seen many anguished Roman Catholics email us, in response to our articles exposing the blatant Black Magick Satanism being propagated by Pope John Paul II and Pope Paul VI. These fine people have agreed with us that the Vatican is now controlled by the dark forces of Satan, but they insist that these Popes are the Anti-Popes of which they had been long warned, and that these two Popes have succeeded in wresting control of the Beloved Historic or Traditional True Roman Catholic Church. This view is becoming more and more common in Catholic circles every single day.

While we appreciate the willingness of these sincere Roman Catholics to recognize that the current Pope is a practicing Black Magick Satanist, we feel specially burdened to educate them about the truth of the historic "Mother Church". Remember, this ministry examines the entire scene of the End Times Kingdom of Antichrist [New World Order] from the vantage point of the occult . Other occultists and Mother Earth worshippers have no difficulty understanding that the Traditional Roman Catholic Church is nothing more, nor less, than the practice of powerful White Magic Satanism. The definition of White Magic Satanism is that practice of the occult which uses the power of the occult for the "good", or "benefit" of mankind. From this standpoint, traditional Roman Catholicism is pure White Magic Satanism. The Book of Daniel, Chapter 10, reveals something very interesting about spiritual warfare. In this chapter, the Prophet Daniel has asked God for special enlightenment concerning the future of Israel. The angel does not come with an answer for three weeks, 21 full days. When he does come, he tells Daniel that God heard and answered his prayer on the very first day he prayed, and gave the answer to this angel. However, this angel was prohibited from getting to Daniel because he was attacked by a very powerful demon, identified as the Prince of Persia [10:12-13]. The angel then said he "remained there with the kings of Persia".

Finally, as he was unable to defeat this demon by himself, he asked Michael the Archangel, the Guardian Angel of Israel, for assistance. With Michael's intervention, this angel was finally able to get to Daniel. Then, the angel told Daniel, when he returned to the Heavenly sphere, he was going to aid the fight for the Prince of Persia, and later, the Prince of Greece [10:20].

In this chapter, Daniel is speaking about a little-understand aspect of spiritual warfare -- the battle between Satan and God for the mind and heart of key national and spiritual leaders all throughout history. The Bible states that Satan conspired against God before the Foundation of the Earth [Isaiah 14:12-14], when he rebelled against God and took one-third of the angels with him in his rebellion [Revelation 12:4]. Then, in the Garden of Eden, Satan spoke to Eve through the serpent, again conspiring against God's Plan. All throughout human history, Satan has been battling against God's forces for the heart and mind of key human rulers of nations and religions of every era. The powerful demon assigned to the particular human leader of each nation in every era whispers his plan into the mind of the leader, while God's angel assigned to the same ruler works to counter the demonic influence and ensure that God's Plan is accomplished.

While God is Omnipotent, and could win every one of the battles, God elects not to win sometimes. In some instances, in some eras of time, God elects to allow Satan to win the victory. I do not understand the complexities of God's decision-making, having faith that, in the End of the Age, God will win the final battles that will return the rulership of the Earth back to Jesus Christ.

As we discussed in earlier articles, Satan must have one of his most powerful demons working with the key human leaders of the United States, especially since Satan chose this country in the 1740's to be the leader of the nations in establishing the Kingdom of Antichrist, now known as the New World Order.

But, how about the Roman Catholic Church? Does Satan have a specially empowered demon working to move this Church to the side of Satan? You can bet he does. The ultimate aim of Satan is to deliver all mankind to the worship of his Superman, Antichrist. Since the Bible declares that the Antichrist will practice Black Magick Satanism [Daniel 8:23, "Understanding Dark Sentences"; King of Fierce Countenance"; and causing "craft to prosper in his hand"], we should expect that he would want a church so powerful and large as the Roman Catholic Church to turn, at the End of the Age, toward Black Magick Satanism. We have proven that Popes Paul VI and John Paul II are currently Black Magick Satanists, and we shall examine that truth again at the end of this article.

However, the demon assigned to the Church of Rome could not, in the early part of the Church Age, move the Church directly into Black Magick Witchcraft. Rather, he would more likely be successful if he moved the Church of Rome first into White Magic Witchcraft, disguised as Christianity . Then, after a very long period of practicing disguised White Magic Witchcraft, he could then move Roman Catholicism into the same Black Magick brand of Witchcraft as Antichrist will practice.

Now, please keep your minds open long enough for me to prove this concept to you.

If I were the demon assigned to the Church of Rome, what changes would I make in the practice of Catholicism that would move the Church into witchcraft, all the while disguising what I was really doing from the masses of the people? I would make several changes.

First, I would create a centerpiece of worship that violated Jesus Christ as much as possible, while deceiving the people into thinking that they were honoring Him. I would set up a service that could be repeated daily that would "strike" Jesus again and again, putting Him back on that cross daily. You see, the Apostle Paul clearly told us that the Messiah was to be only struck once, and that the reason Moses got into such trouble with God was that he struck the rock the second time, rather than speaking to it the second time. Jesus was that rock [1 Corinthians 10:4], and so when Moses struck the rock the second time to get water, he not only disobeyed God who told him to speak to the rock, he struck Messiah twice.

All the way through the Book to the Hebrews, the author speaks of the "once and for all" sacrifice of Jesus Christ. Jesus died only once on the cross, and then went to the right hand of the Father. We see that the sacrifice was so excellent and so accepting of the Father, that it need never be repeated again. In fact, we are prohibited from ever repeating it again. The writer to the Hebrews boldly states, "... we are sanctified through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all." [10:10]

Therefore, if I wanted to violate God's mandate the most severely, I would create a ceremony that sacrificed Jesus Christ again and again and again, that could be repeated daily all over the world, all the while deceiving the people into thinking they were glorifying Jesus Christ. Of course, I am speaking of the Mass, which does exactly this. The Mass, according to the Catechism of the Catholic Church, duplicates the sacrifice on the cross. Quoting directly, "The Mass is the same sacrifice as the sacrifice on the cross, because in the Mass the victim is the same, and the principal Priest is the same, Jesus Christ." [My Catholic Faith, p. 286]

Further, I would write the Mass in Latin, the language of the original Pagan Romans, in such way that would derive great witchcraft power. Doc Marquis, the former Black Magick Satanist, says unequivocally that the Mass, when it is said in Latin, contains great occult power! Black Magick witches in the early 6th Century discovered that the Roman Catholic Church had created a powerful White Magic ceremony in the Mass; therefore, they tried to capture this power for themselves by creating the infamous Black Mass, said backwards.

Then, if that were not enough damage done to the finished, once-for-all sacrifice on the cross, I would create a symbol that would keep Jesus on the cross permanently. This symbol could hang on the walls in people's homes and in their offices, and hang in their cars, constantly keeping Jesus Christ on the Cross where I wanted Him to be, not at the Father's Right Hand in Glory. Now that I have kept Jesus on the Cross, both in the Mass and on the Crucifix, do you have any idea what kind of spiritual victory I have achieved? I have just prevented Salvation from being possible, for anyone who practiced the Mass and revered the Crucifix! This is impossible, you say? Listen to the writer to the Hebrews (6:6), speaking under the authority of the Holy Spirit. "For it is impossible...If they shall fall away, to renew them again unto repentance; seeing they crucify to themselves the Son of God afresh, and put him to an open shame." You see... it is impossible to bring them back to repentance ... as long as they nail up on the cross "the Son of God afresh" ... and are holding Him up to contempt and shame and public disgrace contending that the once and for all sacrifice was not enough to secure the believers salvation.

Holding Jesus Christ continuously up to contempt and public disgrace is exactly what the Mass and the Crucifix accomplishes. In fact, Catholics are encouraged to contemplate daily the supreme sacrifice Jesus suffered on the Cross. Next, I would attack the all-perfect sacrifice for sins which Jesus' death accomplished. Even though Jesus' last words on the cross were, "It is finished" [a Greek commercial word, "teleo" which means "Paid in Full"] I would whisper to the Church theologians that Jesus did not fully discharge the sin debt. I would whisper that, while Jesus' sacrifice opened the way for mankind to ultimately reach Heaven, it did not remove the stain of man's sin. Men and women must remove as much of this sin as possible throughout their lives by doing good works, attending Holy Days, participating in the Sacraments, and even causing pain to oneself. Thus, I would make Salvation in the Catholic Church a matter of Faith plus Works , a matter against which the Apostle Paul struggled mightily in the early Christian Church. As Paul said succinctly, "For it is by Grace ye are saved, not by works ..." [Ephesians 2:8]

Now that I have effectively sealed off the entire congregation from Salvation, I would next attack the sufficiency of the Bible itself. I would whisper into the ears of the Catholic theologians and the Pope that the Bible was written by men -- mere men that have the same passions as all men have [James 5:17] -- so that it has to contain error. Knowing the Bible by rote the way I do -- as one of the chief demons of Hell -- I know what an anchor of the soul a belief in the inerrancy of the Bible provides a saint of God. Therefore, I attack it. I further whisper that the Bible is so difficult to understand that the average layperson cannot hope to understand it without "interpretation" by the priest, or official edification from Vatican. Finally, I would forbid anyone to read it on their own, lest they happen to read a verse like, "Saved by Faith, not by Works", or they might read the Book of Hebrews and be able to instantly see what I have done.

After sealing off the True Word of God, it is now time to introduce a false word of God, which I shall call the Traditions of the Church or the Traditions of the Fathers. I remember how very angry Jesus was with the Pharisees and Sadducees because they had created an Extra-Biblical body of writings, which they called the Traditions of the Fathers. These Traditions were presented to the people as an explanation of the Word of God, and as genuinely trustworthy as the True Word God had originally given. Actually, over the centuries, these Traditions were gradually changed so that they led a person away from the True God, effectively sealing off true Salvation.

Further, I am quite aware of the prohibition God has placed on the practice of "Adding to" or "Taking away from" His Holy Bible. I tell you, this Hellish practice drives God into angry fits of rage every time someone "Adds to" or "Takes away" from His Word. But, having made this decision to change God's Word, what kind of verses do I want to add, and what kind of verses do I want to take away? First, I will want to add verses and doctrines that will move the Roman Catholic Church seamlessly and continuously into the practice of White Magic Witchcraft; after all, we want very much to use the powers of the occult for the "good" of the people! This means I will have to decide which Pagan doctrines I want to bring in, dressed up with Christian names, allegories, and good old-fashioned Bible stories, all with my little twist of course. I am very excited about this prospect, as paganism from the past 4,000 years offers such a rich variety of Satanic beliefs and practices from which I can choose; however, I must be careful to bring in only those which can be deftly disguised as "Christian".

One of the first doctrines I will bring in will be praying to dead people and worshipping at an idol made in their supposed likeness. This is one of the oldest, and most effective, means to move people into Satanism, and I can easily disguise it as Christian. I will continuously make the Virgin Mary into a God-like figure that can hear the prayers of untold millions of people worldwide simultaneously, ultimately declaring she was born without original sin and never died, being miraculously assumed into Heaven. Then, I will make all the dead "saints" of the Church God-like in their ability to also hear prayers from all over the world simultaneously.

But, wait, if I am going to bring in old Pagan idol worship into the Church, I need to do something about that First Commandment which clearly and unambiguously forbids making and worshipping idols. How can I take this away and still have 10 Commandments? It will be too obvious to only have 9 Commandments. I know! I will take the 10th Commandment, which is a long one about coveting, and I will break it into two commandments, thus preserving the number 10. I can safely leave the First Commandment in the Catholic Bibles, since no one is going to read it anyway, changing only the Catechism teachings.

I tell you, my plan began to work perfectly, beginning with the introduction of the Mass, where I put Jesus Christ back on Calvary every day this old world is in existence. Further, in the way in which I have written the Mass in the old original Pagan Latin language, great occult power is produced. Those practitioners of Black Magick Witchcraft are going to be really jealous over the great power with which I have imbued this Church. In fact, as we progressed through the 7th Century, Black Magick occultists created the Black Mass to try to capture the occult power of the Catholic Mass for themselves. And, they actually created their own Crucifix. They took the cross, bent it inward at all four corners, and placed an emaciated, totally pathetic figure of Jesus on it, hanging Him so He really looks like a loser. They called this Crucifix the "Twisted Cross", or "Bent Cross" and decided to make it their symbol of their future Antichrist, the Antichrist of Revelation 13.

Which other Pagan doctrines can I now bring into the Roman Catholic Church? I tell you, it is proving to be so easy, I am beside myself with joy. Since establishing the Mass in the powerful Latin language in 600 A.D., I have been given carte blanche authority to bring in truckloads of Pagan doctrine, provided I never blow my Christian cover. Of course, as I go through the centuries, each succeeding generation of people becomes easier and easier to deceive. I have decided to bring in the following doctrines from Paganism, in addition to what I have described already:

1. Give the Pope both Religious and Political Power -- 754 A.D. -- No one will remember that Jesus said, "My Kingdom is not of this world." [John 18:36]. This move will give the Pope the power to overcome any and all opposition to this new, occultic powerful Church. In fact, those Black Magick Satanists are kicking up quite a fuss lately. If I give the Pope the Political power of the kings of Europe, he can force the Inquisition on these Black Magick people, killing them and forcing them underground. If anyone can expose the Catholic Church for the White Magic folk they have become, it is the Black Magick people. Thus, I began the Inquisition some 800 years before that traitor, Martin Luther.

2. Worship of Relics, especially the Cross and of Images -- 788 A.D. -- Since all Pagans love to worship the Creature rather than the Creator [Romans 1:25], I know it will be really simple to bring in this Pagan practice. I will whisper into the minds of the respected Church theologians that people should adore objects that are supposedly parts of the Cross, of dead saints, and of anything the Pope wants to "bless".

3. Fasting on Fridays and observance of Lent -- 988 A.D. -- Lent is a totally Pagan observance, so I can bring it in wholesale. Fasting is a neat thing to bring in, because Jesus taught it under certain circumstances, and because "abstaining from meats" is one of those "doctrines of devils" [1 Timothy 4:1-3]. Furthermore, since Friday is the 6th day of the week, it has always been a favorite among Satanists. Therefore, I will teach that no one can eat meat on Friday. Perfect !

4. Celibacy of Priests -- 1123 A.D. -- I just could not wait to bring this doctrine in, because it goes so dramatically against the natural constitution of man. That awful Apostle Paul identified celibacy as one of the "doctrines of devils" [1 Timothy 4:3] and he warned that a person can be tempted to sexually sin if they do not have proper sexual relations with their wives [1 Cor 7:5] But, most importantly, I know that, over the centuries, this unnatural denial of the normal sex drive in priests and nuns will allow my compatriot demon leader from Hell, Larz , to do his work mightily within the Church. You see, Larz is the demon Satan has made responsible for sexual lust, homosexuality, bisexuality, adultery, and other such sexual pleasures [Read NEWS1050, Satan's Seven Divisions of Hell for full details]. Over the many centuries since I persuaded the Pope to declare absolute celibacy, the fires of sexual sin have been able to sweep repeatedly through the ranks of clergy, destroying their lives, and the lives of many young parishioners as well. Celibacy is one of my greatest triumphs!

5. Praying the Rosary -- 1090 A.D. -- Since Jesus forbid praying repetitious prayers, that is exactly the kind of praying I wanted to establish in the Catholic Church. Fortunately, the Satanic Babylonian Mysteries offered the perfect example. They invented and perfected the use of the Rosary, especially devotion to the Babylonian "Sacred Heart" worship. I can also take some of the pattern from ancient India, Tibet, and China [Two Babylons, Hislop, p. 188]. In the Mass and the Crucifix, I have sealed off the way to true Salvation, and now, through the Rosary, I have ensured God will not hear their prayers, even though they speak many words.

6. Sale of Indulgences -- 1190 A.D. -- I whispered into the ear of the Pope that he was the guardian of "the celestial treasury" of the saints who have lived before and whose meritorious works are ready to be dispensed to earnest living Catholics for some Good Works they have done. I told the Pope he held the keys to this Treasury and could dispense the "spiritual wealth" to whomever he chose, for whatever reason he chose. The power this lie gave to the Papacy was enormous. Crusaders were given heavy indulgences to fight the Infidels in the Middle East. Later, the Pope was able to sell indulgences for money, for all sorts of contrivances: Offering for Masses; from candles to statues; heavily-indulged societies; and hundreds of other religious items Catholics can purchase in order to receive indulgences. This pagan doctrine has done much to enrich the Church and give the Pope tremendous power over the people.

7. Purgatory Proclaimed -- 1438 A.D. -- Satan loves the doctrine of Purgatory, and has propagated its lie throughout all pagan religions in every era. But, Purgatory is especially delicious for Lord Satan when it is applied to "Christian" doctrine. Purgatory detracts from the fullness of Jesus' sacrifice on the Cross, denying that His sacrifice purchased complete pardon for individual sin. We talked above about the all-perfect sacrifice for sins which Jesus' death on the cross procured for each person who would ever live afterward. To make sure we understood how perfect this sacrifice was, Jesus said, "It is finished", using a Greek word that means "finished", but was also used during that era to mean the "Debt Is Paid In Full"! But Purgatory denies the debt was paid in full, and denies the continuous cleansing His blood gives to all saved people who need continuous cleansing [1 John 1:9, continuously cleansing is in view here].

Purgatory holds that all men must go through a cleansing process to be "pure enough" to enter Heaven, even though God the Father has recognized Jesus' sacrifice as all-sufficient, perfect, unto all eternity [Hebrews 5:9; 9:11; 12:23; 13:20]. But, doctrine aside, Purgatory has always made the coffers overflow of the pagan religion that taught it. Purgatory opens the door wide to all kinds of priestly extortions. Priests as far back as the Satanic Mysteries of Egypt learned that prayers for the dead could not be "effective" unless the priests intervened, and every person knows the priest cannot intervene unless he be specially paid first. In every land, in every era, Pagan priests have used this doctrine of Purgatory to seize great riches for themselves, as they learn to prey upon the tender feelings of loss of loved ones, promising to pray for that departed poor soul, to make his stay in Purgatory shorter.

Thank Lucifer for the fact that we earlier established the notion in their heads that the Bible is not to be trusted, and is too difficult to read on their own! Otherwise, they might realize how false this doctrine is. They might read Jesus' words to the dying thief on the cross, who asked Jesus for forgiveness of sins, recognizing Him as Messiah. They might read Jesus tell the dying thief, "To day shalt thou be with me in paradise". Man, do I love Biblical ignorance!

8. Invention of Scapulars, Medals, and Edible Religious Stamps -- 1600 A.D. -- People are so eager to think they can obtain eternal salvation without having to change their hearts and minds through Jesus' Blood. And I can think of no better way to provide false "assurance" of easy salvation than through Scapulars, Medals, and Edible Religious Stamps. I love the scapular. Listen to its "assurances" to the gullible pagan believer.

"Whosoever dies clothed in this Scapular shall not suffer eternal fire." [Mary's promise to St. Simon Stock, July 16, 1251]

"Our Lord taught us to say the Our Father. Mary taught us the value of the Scapular. When we use it as a prayer, Our Lady draws us to the Sacred Heart of Her Divine Son. It is well, therefore, to hold the scapular in the hand while addressing Our Lady." [The Blue Army of Our Lady of Fatima, Washington, NJ 07882, ImprimaturL +Thomas M. O'Leary, D.D. Bishop of Springfield]

How I have loved the Sacred Heart lie! It has worked so well since I invented it in Babylon so many years ago.

9. Infallibility of the Pope -- 1870 A.D. -- I am especially proud of this invention. As a demon in the service of Lord Satan, I am wholly dedicated to the eventual appearance of our Spiritual Superman, Antichrist. He will be assisted mightily by the False Religious Prophet, whom we know will be the Roman Catholic Pope. Therefore, to prepare for this wonderful occasion, when the Religious Prophet will exercise global dictatorial control [Rev 13:16-18], what better plan can we execute than to make him an Absolute Spiritual Dictator within his own Church .in the latter part of the 19th Century?

Once again, I am so glad I discouraged Catholics from reading the Bibles on their own. Otherwise, they may read of the time when the Apostle Paul challenged Peter, telling him he was doing wrong! [Galatians 2:11-21] It would not do to see our supposedly First Pope -- Peter -- being withstood to his face by Paul, and admitting that he had been wrong in his treatment of the Gentile Christians.

HUMAN SACRIFICE

As you can tell, by the 1200's, I had the Roman Catholic Church practicing powerful White Magic Witchcraft. The invention of the Mass said in Latin was the key, as it produced tremendous spiritual power. But, I was lacking a human sacrifice, and Lord Satan was not happy about it. You see, all witchcraft requires sacrifice, and Satan wants it to be human. Even White Magic people who sacrifice animals, or who do not sacrifice anything, are not aware that someone, somewhere, is sacrificing on their behalf. Where in the world could I get a human sacrifice system operating in the Roman Catholic Church and still maintain my fig leaf cover as a Christian Church?

Ah, I have the answer: I can invoke the magical properties of a priest performing a "Mystery"! All pagan priests in every era have wowed their adherents with the idea that he can perform a "Mystery" that no one else can even conceive, let alone do. Let me see how I can work this out. I will need a body, preferably that of Jesus Christ, and I will need blood, again preferably from Jesus Christ.

I have it! I will propagate the lie that, at the time of Communion, the wafer becomes the body of Jesus Christ, and the wine actually becomes His blood. [Transubstantiation] Then, there is no difference between the "Mystery" ceremony the Catholic priest mystically performs, and the real sacrificial ceremony a Satanic priest really performs. In the supernatural realm, there will be no difference, and I will have my human sacrifice! Once again, I can keep sacrificing that hated Jesus Christ again and again, and again, endlessly! How wonderful this concept truly is! The people will think they are doing great honor to Jesus, when they are really sacrificing Him at Satan's altar.

Finally, since all true pagans eat the flesh of their sacrificial human victim and drink the blood, after the sacrifice is over, I will have the Catholics eat the wafer and drink the wine after the priest is finished with the symbolic sacrifice. Perfect!

PRACTICAL FRUITS

Suddenly, out of nowhere, mortal enemies appear! In the 6th Century, A.D., Black Magick Satanists realize what I am attempting to do, and they realize the great power I have given the Roman Catholic Church with the Latin Mass. In an effort to capture this power, they create the Black Mass and the Twisted Cross Crucifix. But, that is not what I am worried about. I worry that, as fellow occultists, they can alert the people as to what I am doing to the Catholic Church and blow the whistle on me. Then, my efforts would be in vain, and I would be prevented from bringing the Catholic Church all the way into White Magic Witchcraft.

Therefore, I will instigate an Inquisition against the Black Magick Satanists -- also known as followers of the Hermetic Tradition. Pagans treat their mortal enemies in exactly this way. Whereas Jesus told His followers they could not call fire down from Heaven to punish those who would not repent and would not listen to the Gospel [Luke 9:54], pagans vigorously pursue their enemies with malice and hatred. As soon as I realized Black Magick Satanists could let it be known what the Church of Rome had become, I whispered into the mind of the Pope that he needed to pursue, torture, and kill any of this enemy he could find. The Inquisition had thus begun, and it was marvelously successful. I ensured that Rome's Magic was the dominant Magic in the land.

Then, in 1515 A.D., the most heinous of all events occurred. Catholic priest, Martin Luther, suddenly had his spiritual eye opened by the Spirit of God, and saw that men are saved by Faith alone, not by any Works he might do, or works that the Church might ascribe to him. The Spirit of God was mighty and Protestantism flourished, to a startling degree in many countries. Some nations in Europe, especially France, seemed in danger of losing their Catholic majority. Luckily, the machinery of the Inquisition was in place and was effective. I whispered into the Pope's mind that he should unleash the Inquisition against these upstart Protestant Christians. The Pope did my bidding, and began a 300-year reign of terror and bloodshed that resulted in the death of over 8 million Protestants. To this day, the graves of these 8 million Protestants stand as a wonderful testimony to the raw power of Hell that can be unleashed against anyone who dares cross a Satanist or his Church.

SYMBOLS THAT PROVE I REALLY DID ESTABLISH WHITE MAGIC WITCHCRAFT IN THE TRADITIONAL ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH

Symbols are exceedingly important to the practice of any kind of Satanism. "The true magic symbol is an image which hides an inner meaning. This meaning is usually cunningly hidden behind a form which most people think they can understand ..." [Magic Symbols , Occult Book, p. 6] We demons absolutely love symbols in all types of witchcraft. Of course, Black Magick and White Magic witches use many of the same symbols. To imprint my fingerprints on this transfer of the Roman Catholic Church from a true Christian Church to one practicing White Magic Witchcraft, I whispered in the Pope's ear in the early 7th Century that he could import occultic symbols, "Christianize" them by saying a prayer over them and then use them in Catholic practice. This is one of my favorite tricks, and it is made easier when people like the Popes, Cardinals, Bishops, and priests are woefully ignorant of the Bible. In the Old Testament, God would never allow the Israelites to use pagan symbols under any pretense, ordering they be destroyed in every instance, and never allowed them to "cleans" any pagan symbol or object by any means whatsoever.

God Himself has defined Paganism as "worshipping the Creature rather than the Creator [Romans 1:25], and He is right on the money. We demons are constantly trying to get men to worship something other than the One True God. We have been successful in getting man to worship Nature, Animals, Trees, Bees, Birds, Reptiles, the Sun, the Stars, and just about everything God has ever made. But, the easiest thing to get man to worship is sex . This is why we have created the 8-Fold Path to Enlightenment, with the circle in the middle. This circle represents the female vulva in our spiritual teaching. The obelisk was created by the demon Prince of Egypt, one of the most powerful demons in Hell. He whispered in the mind of the Egyptian leaders that the Spirit of their Sun God, Ra, resided within the obelisk. The Egyptians were told to "face the obelisk" at least once per day, and thrice if possible. The obelisk is the perfect symbol of the Male phallus. Thus, the obelisk was the Male phallus, while the circle represented the Female vulva. Whenever we wanted to represent the Great Sex Act, we merely inserted the phallus of the obelisk into the vulva of the circle. It was slick and it was easy. Once I persuaded the Popes to "Christianize" obelisks, the Roman Catholic Church went whole-hog crazy over obelisks. They began to virtually strip Egypt of its plentiful supply, shipping them to Rome, and erecting them everywhere. I persuaded the Pope to buy the most famous Egyptian obelisk of all time, Cleopatra's Needle. When he had brought it into Rome, I then persuaded him to design it so it would sit right in the middle of the 8-Fold Path of Enlightenment, right in St. Peter's Basilica. In this way, the Pope is in perfect position to "face the obelisk" daily, as many times as we want him to. When we persuaded the Pope in the 7th Century to recreate the Great Sex Act in St. Peter's Basilica, I had not yet moved the Catholic Church into forcing the priests into Celibacy. That innovation would not occur until 1123 A.D., nearly 500 years later. But, in the 7th Century, I knew I was going to bring Celibacy into the Catholic Church, and I laughed heartily every time I thought that the time would soon come when the world's most powerful promoter of Celibacy would have the symbol of the Great Sex Act right in front of their Pope every time he came out to speak to the faithful in the square.

TIME FOR BLACK MAGICK WITCHCRAFT

From the beginning, I had orders from Lord Satan to ultimately move the Roman Catholic Church into Black Magick Satanism, since that is going to be the religion of Antichrist [Daniel 7:23-25] and of the False Prophet [Revelation 13:12]. We knew that, if I was successful in establishing Black Magick within the Catholic Church, the Pope would be the logical choice for False Prophet. The plan was set and the pathway sure. Only the timing was uncertain, since that was not in our hands.

Finally, in the late 1950's, I received my orders from Rege, the General of the Occult. "Choose your Black Magick Pope now". I chose the man who was to become Pope Paul VI. He was wise and proficient in the ways of the Craft and he would listen carefully to our instructions. He was elected Pope in 1962.

As soon as he arose, I wanted to flash a signal to the entire world of occultists that the change in the Roman Catholic Church for whom they had been long awaiting had finally occurred. Therefore, I whispered into the mind of Paul VI that he should immediately show forth the Twisted Cross that Satanists in the 6th Century had created. He immediately thought this was an excellent idea, so he began to use the Satanic Crucifix, this ultimate symbol of Antichrist. In 1978, the new Pope, who had taken the name, John Paul II, also began using this Crucifix.

How delicious it is to me, and to Lord Satan, that every time the Catholic faithful assemble to hear the Pope speak, they bow down to THE symbol of Antichrist, without even knowing it. We are constantly amazed how easy it is to deceive human beings, as they are so desperately sinful they want to be deceived. Moving the Roman Catholic Church, first into practicing powerful White Magic Witchcraft and then into practicing Black Magick, has not been too difficult, and it has been a whole lot of fun.

Truly, Black Magick practitioner, Karl Marx, was so right on when he created these words, as they so accurately portray the attitudes of all the demonic host toward pathetic human beings.

"Yet I have power within my youthful arms

To clench and crush you [humanity] with Tempestuous force,
While for us both the abyss yawns in darkness.
You will sink down and I shall follow laughing,

Whispering in your ears, 'Descend, come with me, friend.'

Now, at long last, the time is near for the appearance of our Superman, Antichrist. Soon, he will ride out of Heaven on his white horse, and appear East of Jerusalem according to the Plan. I have accomplished my mission of positioning the Roman Catholic Church to assume the leadership of the global church of Antichrist. It has been fun, and it has been rewarding. Soon, the ultimate victory of Lord Satan over that other Lord, Jesus Christ, will occur at Armageddon. Then, my Lord shall climb up to Heaven itself to depose God and rule forever. This is the ultimate Plan, and I will be a large part of it.

SUMMARY

This has been an account of a fictional report from the powerful demon assigned to the Roman Catholic Church for centuries, as he moved the Church steadily, first into the powerful practice of White Magic Witchcraft, and now into the Black Magick Witchcraft of the Antichrist. All the evidences are there, from pagan doctrine to the symbols we have shown you, above. Satanists and Mother Earth practitioners, have no difficulty at all in seeing the Roman Catholic Church for the pagan institution she is, and they respect and fear her pagan power. I realized this, with steadily increasing horror, as I studied the occult. What I have shared with you is true, and is accurately based upon occult knowledge.

We hope and pray that you will read this account with an open heart and mind, for your precious eternal soul is at stake. We pray that you will now obey the words of our Savior, "Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues." [Revelation 18:4]

Now that the Roman Catholic Church has moved into the practice of Black Magick Witchcraft, we can know positively that the appearance of Antichrist is very soon.

Are you spiritually ready? Is your family? Are you adequately protecting your loved ones? This is the reason for this ministry, to enable you to first understand the peril facing you, and then help you develop strategies to warn and protect your loved ones. Once you have been thoroughly trained, you can also use your knowledge as a means to open the door of discussion with an unsaved person. I have been able to use it many times, and have seen people come to Jesus Christ as a result. These perilous times are also a time when we can reach many souls for Jesus Christ, making an eternal difference.

If you have accepted Jesus Christ as your personal Savior, but have been very lukewarm in your spiritual walk with Him, you need to immediately ask Him for forgiveness and for renewal. He will instantly forgive you, and fill your heart with the joy of the Holy Spirit. Then, you need to begin a daily walk of prayer and personal Bible Study.

If you have never accepted Jesus Christ as Savior, but have come to realize His reality and the approaching End of the Age, and want to accept His FREE Gift of Eternal Life, you can also do so now, in the privacy of your home. Once you accept Him as Savior, you are spiritually Born Again, and are as assured of Heaven as if you were already there. Then, you can rest assured that the Kingdom of Antichrist will not touch you spiritually.

To me this just proves that the Superior General is above the Pope now. At one time you couldn't get the Roman Catholics openly wanting unity with other religions etc. Now thats a different story and this is pure Jesuitism. Of course Islam was originally created by the Papacy thanks to Kadijar -2tuff

Pope: Co-operate with Islam

16/03/2006 22:53 - (SA)

<http://www.news24.com/News24/World/News/0,...1899543,00.html>

Vatican City - Pope Benedict XVI called on Thursday on Christians and Jews to co-operate with Islam for "the good of humanity", as he received a delegation from the American Jewish Committee at the Vatican.

"Judaism, Christianity and Islam believe in the one God, creator of heaven and earth," he said.

"It follows, therefore, that all three monotheistic religions are called to co-operate with one another for the common good of humanity, serving the cause of justice and peace in the world."

"This is especially important today when particular attention must be given to teaching respect for God, for religions and their symbols, and for holy sites and places of worship," he said.

Car Salesman Heads To Vatican

O'Malley Will Be Elevated To Cardinal March 24

SALEM, Mass. -- It's a long way from the showroom to the Vatican, but one Salem car dealer is excited about soon making the trip.

NewsCenter 5's Jack Harper reported that Robert Cerundolo will travel to Rome next week to witness the elevation of Archbishop Sean O'Malley to cardinal.

"It is, not to use a cliché, but, it is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity. We feel that in our hearts and our heads. We are all extremely excited," Cerundolo said.

Cerundolo and two friends will attend the ceremony when O'Malley is elevated to cardinal on March 24.

"It is a surprise to the bishop; it was a surprise to us and we would like to celebrate it with him," Cerundolo said.

Cerundolo is a leading figure at St Margaret's at Beverly Farms. He has met O'Malley and is devoted to the church. He considers the trip a huge opportunity.

"(The Boston church) has been through a lot. This is yet another turning point with the archbishop coming in, and now the elevation to cardinal is, I think, another blessing from the pope, and he has his eyes on Boston," Cerundolo said.

Cerundolo may even get the chance to attend an audience with the pope. He joked that he would probably be the only car dealer in the crowd.

"Of course Pope John Paul's car just got sold for a lot of money on eBay -- a Ford. God bless the pope for driving that. If the pontiff wants to but a Chevy Tahoe, I would happily oblige. We'll see," Cerundolo said.

Egypt - Vatican to promote their distinguished relations

Egypt-Vatican, Politics, 2/19/2001

<http://www.arabicnews.com/ansub/Daily/Day/...2001021940.html>

Terming as "distinguished" Egypt - Vatican relations, Egyptian ambassador to the Vatican Farouk Hussein Ra'fat said that President Hosni Mubarak would hold important talks in the Vatican on Tuesday that would add new dimension to bilateral relations.

In an exclusive interview with radio Cairo broadcast Sunday morning, he praised the Vatican's role in support for the Palestinian cause and for bringing about overall and permanent peace in the Middle East based on the international legitimacy resolutions. Due to its spiritual value, the Vatican has a weight at international level in spite of being a small country, he added.

"President Mubarak's visit to the Vatican falls within exchanged visits," he said.

The President visited the Vatican few times and Pope John Paul III visited Egypt in February last year, he added.

"This visit aims at exchanging viewpoints on issues of joint interest either at regional or international levels," he said.

The Egyptian ambassador said that the visit expressed mutual appreciation for the roles played by Egypt and the Vatican on international arenas and their contributions to achieve peace and stability.

'The Vatican stance as regards the Palestinian issue is clear and firm,' he said.

The Vatican supports the Palestinian people's legitimate rights and the establishment of a Palestinian state, he added.

"The Vatican stance on Jerusalem emanates from its determination to preserve and protect the freedom of Christian, Islamic and jewfish holy places," he said.

This stance has not changed and aims at providing freedom of access to worshipping holy places, he added.

Ambassador Rafat said President Mubarak is keen on promoting "Euro-Mediterranean relations," underlining the importance of the European role in activating the peace process.

"Egypt's geographical position in the Mediterranean basin enables it to enjoy a considerable weight," he said.

"President Mubarak is held in high esteem in this region," he said adding that he is also appreciated for his important and major role in preserving rights and bringing about peace and justice in this region, he added.

St. Patrick A Baptist!

by Dr. L. K. Landis

For centuries Roman Catholicism has laid claim to the supposition that Patrick of Ireland was a Roman priest. However, over 100 hundred years ago W. A. Jarrel, much respected author and church historian, put into print what had been known by Baptists since the very beginning, that Patrick was not a Catholic priest, but rather a Baptist missionary. It is because of this much neglected fact that we put into print this material so that this present generation may know the truth and great heritage of this early Baptist missionary to Ireland. So zealous were these historians of the 1800's and so spirited was their conviction to this that one wrote, "Rome's most audacious theft was when she seized bodily the Apostle Peter and made him the putative head and founder of her system; but next to that brazen act stands her effrontery when she 'annexed' the great missionary preacher of Ireland and enrolled him among her saints" (A Short History of the Baptists [1907], Henry C. Vedder, pg. 71-72).

Most church historians agree that Patrick, originally named Succat (or Succathus) Patricus, was born sometime between the years 360 AD and 387 AD, probably near what is now Dumbarton, Scotland. It is also generally accepted by those knowledgeable of the subject that he lived to a well advanced age, some placing him at over 100 years old at the time of his death.

Cathcart, the dean among Baptist apologists, suggests that Patrick is not his name, but rather a title of honor meaning noble and illustrious and was bestowed upon him by his grateful admirers (The Baptist Encyclopedia [1881], by William Cathcart, pg. 886). His writings reveal that his father, Calpurnius, was a deacon in a Baptist church (we know that there were Baptist churches on the British Isle as far back as A.D. 63, History of the Welch Baptists [1770], by J. Davis, Page 14), having apparently been converted to Christ while on a business trip to Rome as he also served as a Roman civil officer. In spite of being reared in a godly home and taught the ways of the Scriptures, Cathcart also states that the young Patrick was "...wild and wicked until his sixteenth year..." when, while working on his father's farm, he and several others were seized and carried away captive by a band of pirates to Ireland, where he was sold into slavery to a petty Irish clan chieftan. For over five years he suffered the atrocities of slavery. Later, however, he would recount that it was during this most dark period of his life that he, himself, was converted to Christ remembering the Christian training he had received from his godly father while but a child.

Regarding this, W. A. Jarrel wrote over one hundred years ago, "...the truth which saved him when a youthful slave in pagan Ireland was taught him in the godly home of... his father" (Baptist Church Perpetuity or History [1894], W. A. Jarrel, pg. 472).

Historians also record that "...upon his twenty-first year, he escaped the chains of servitude..." and returned to his father's home in Scotland, only to find that he had died and his land acquired by others. It was during this time that Patrick, "being a stronger Christian, the Lord soon called him back to Ireland as the missionary for that blinded country" (Ibid.). Jarrel further suggests that the more one studies the life, ministry and writings of this Irish "apostle", "...the more he stands out as a Baptist." He, Jarrel, is perhaps among the greatest authorities on the subject of Saint Patrick, as one full chapter of his makes several suggestions as to why Patrick could not have been a Roman Catholic priest:

1. "At the time of Saint Patrick the Romish church was only en embryo".
2. "In St. Patrick's time the authority of the bishop of Rome was not generally recognized."
3. "There is no history to sustain the Romish claim that Patrick was sent to Ireland by Pope Celistine." Not one of the early biographers of his life mentions any ties to Rome. Even in all the writings of Saint Patrick himself there is never any mention of connection with Rome.

Neander, the church historian, wrote, "If Patrick came to Ireland as a deputy from Rome, it might naturally be expected that in the Irish church a certain sense of dependence would always have been preserved towards the mother church. But we find, on the contrary, in the Irish church a spirit of church freedom, similar to that in Britain, which struggled against the yoke of Roman ordinances. We find subsequently among the Irish a much greater agreement with the ancient British than with Roman ecclesiastical usages.

This goes to prove that the origin of the church was independent of Rome, and must be traced solely to the people of Britain... Again, no indication of his connection with the Romish church is to be found in his confession; rather everything seems to favor the supposition that he was ordained bishop in Britain itself" (Neander's History of the Christian Church, Volume 2, page 123).

Another Irish scholar says, "...Leo II, was bishop of Rome from 440 to 461 A.D. and upwards of one hundred and forty of his letters to correspondents in all parts of Christendom still remain and yet he never mentions Patrick or his work, or in any way intimates that he knew of the great work being done there."

Professor George T. Stokes, still yet another prominent scholar, declares that prior to the synod of Rathbresail in A.D. 1112, the rule of each Irish church was independent, autonomous, and "...dioceses and diocesan episcopacy had no existence at all."

Considering these indisputable and undeniable facts, it is impossible for Patrick to have been the patron Roman Catholic saint of Ireland. The material is just not there to substantiate any such claim. Baptist pastor, author and historian Gillham says that in the middle of the nineteenth century, Baptists universally accepted the fact that Patrick of Ireland was of apostolic tradition and therefore a Baptist. It was also commonly accepted that the baptism of the heirs to his ministry were also investigated and found to be New Testament in origin. It was only during these last 150 years that Baptists have been willing to relinquish Patrick to the hands of the papacy.

However, the insurmountable evidence of his position among the Baptists of antiquity comes from the writings of this great man himself. While several letters written by Patrick and sent to Christians converted to Christ under his ministry still exist, most of what we know of his beliefs are taken from two documents that he wrote: St. Patrick's Confession, or Epistle to the Irish; and an "Epistle to Coroticus." In these two writings that still survive, it becomes very apparent that this great preacher was not of Roman Catholic persuasion. He was a Baptist through and through, holding recognized Baptist positions on all the cardinal doctrines. Consider these eight (8) conclusive reasons why Saint Patrick was a Baptist!

Number One: St. Patrick Baptized Only Professed Believers

Contrary to Catholic dogma, which teaches that infants are to be "baptized", in all of Patrick's writings he does not mention one single incident when he baptized an infant, much less someone who had not professed Christ as their Saviour. Patrick records the baptism of one convert named Enda the night after his infant son, Cormac, was born. What an ideal opportunity to record the baptism of an infant, and yet Patrick makes no mention of it at all.

Only Enda, a professed believer; not his infant son who could make no claim of Christ. In all of his writings, the great Irish preacher never mentions or even alludes to pedobaptism (the baptism of infants). In fact, each time he refers to baptism at all he calls those ready for the ordinance of baptism "baptized captives", "baptized handmaidens of Christ", "baptized women distributed as rewards", "baptized believers", "men" and "women." In one place, Patrick wrote, "Perhaps, since I have baptized so many thousand men, I might have expected half a screpall [a coin worth six cents] from some of them..." Notice that he refers to having baptized "...so many thousand men..", no infants, but men; adult, professing, believing, responsible men. Another place he writes, "So that even after my death I may leave as legacies to my brethren...whom I have baptized in the Lord, so many thousand men." Again he acknowledges the fact that he has baptized thousands of men, but not one infant.

Number Two: St. Patrick Baptized By Immersion Only

This has been a leading principle among the Baptists since the days of the Apostles and still is today. Again, in all of his writings there is not one shred of evidence that the Irish preacher knew anything of sprinkling. All of the records of his baptisms tell of immersion. Cathcart (along with Nennius, Todd, O'Farrell and other church historians) records one such instance, "When the saint entered Tirawly, the seven sons of Amalgaidh assembled with their followers. Profiting by the presence of so vast a multitude, the apostle entered into the midst of them, his soul inflamed with the love of God, and with a celestial courage preached the truths of Christianity; and so powerful was the effect of his burning words that the seven princes and over twelve thousand more were converted on that day, and were soon baptized in a spring called Tobar Enadhaire" (The Baptist Encyclopedia [1881], by William Cathcart, page 887). Dr. Cathcart further states, "There is absolutely no evidence that any baptism but that of immersion of adult believers existed among the ancient Britons, in the first half of the fifth century, nor for a long time afterwards."

In 1631 the English Baptists discovered, and subsequently corresponded with, small communities of Baptists in Ireland and found them to be sound. These churches, located in Dublin, Waterford, Clonmel, Kilkenny, Cork, Limerick, Galloway, Wexford, Carrick Fergus and Kerry are listed in Joseph Ivimey's comprehensive History of the English Baptists [1811], Volume 1, Pages 240-241. It is believed that some of these churches had histories dating to the time of Patrick. Many of them can substantiate and confirm their claims of such for nearly 1100 years, which places them within two hundred years of Patrick.

Number Three: In Church Government,

St. Patrick Was A Baptist During his ministry, Patrick is recorded to have "founded 365 churches and consecrated the same number of bishops, and ordained 3,000 presbyters (Ancient British and Irish Churches, William Cathcart, page 282). Anglican Bishop Stillingfleet refers to an account of a great council of Brevy, Wales at which there were 118 Irish bishops. Noting that if these were Catholic bishops this little island was in danger of "...going to seed --- in bishops." Other historians concede that "...Saint Patrick placed a bishop in every church which he founded; and several presbyters after the example of the New Testament churches." One such scholar, a Dr. Carew of Maynooth, admits that a bishop "...was simply the pastor of one congregation." The Catholic and protestant idea of a bishop being the head over several churches in different cities was totally unknown among those early churches on the British Isles. This can be confirmed from writings of Irish clergymen dated from A.D. 1112 and reconfirmed from the same in A.D. 1057.

Number Four: Patrick Was A Baptist In Independence From Creeds, Councils, Popes, etc.

Patrick never attended one council and recognized no authority over him, save that of the Lord Jesus Himself. There is not any evidence whatsoever that even remotely suggests that the famed Irish preacher acknowledged any man to be of superior authority, power or position than he. He recognized no Pope. He recognized no Cardinal. In all of his writings it cannot be found where one time he subscribes to even the most insignificant and remote catechism, creed, or dogma of the Roman Catholic system. Of all the great Christians that Patrick refers to in his letters, he never pays homage to any Pope, nor mentions any man as being superior in church clergy. Instead, the great Irish missionary speaks of his love, regards, and terms of affection for those men whom had been ordained as pastors of the churches he founded. Upon the authority of the little Baptist church in Scotland where he was saved and from which he received his commission much as did Paul and Barnabus (Acts 15:22).

Number Five: In Doctrine

Patrick Was A Baptist In all of his writings, all of the doctrine that Patrick espouses adherence to is consistent with historic Baptist doctrine. The venerable preacher wrote, "It is Christ who gave His life for thee (and) is He who speaks to thee. He has poured out upon us abundantly the Holy Spirit, the gift and assurance of immortality, who causes men to believe and become obedient that they might be the sons of God and joint heirs with Christ." In this one statement, Patrick alludes to six (6) major Baptist doctrines:

a. Patrick believed in the substitutionary atonement of Christ. He did not believe that salvation comes through catechism, communion, confession or christening. He believes what Baptists have always believed, that all are saved by the Grace of God, through faith in His Son, coming in repentance, and by His blood. William Cathcart wrote, "There is no ground for doubting but that he preached the gospel of repentance and faith in Ireland, and that his ministrations were attended by overwhelming success" (The Baptist Encyclopedia, page 887).

b. He believes in the free gift of the Holy Spirit which comes to the believer at the moment of salvation. He does not believe that the gift of the Holy Spirit is a separate work of grace, nor is He manifested by speaking in tongues (John 14:16).

c. He also firmly conveys the message of the eternal security of the believer in that those who are genuinely saved have put on immortality (II Timothy 1:10).

d. He confirms his belief that men must be drawn by God in order to be saved (John 6:44).

e. Patrick affirms his conviction in the sonship of the believer (John 1:12). He believes that while Jesus Christ is the only begotten Son of God, every true believer in Christ is also a son.

f. And the great Irish theologian attests to the fact that all believers are joint-heirs with Christ (Romans 8:16-17). Patrick's doctrine is also recorded by his disciples. Comgall writes, "religion does not exist in bodily efforts..." Muirchu states that the ancient poet Dubthac was redeemed under the ministry of Patrick and that he "...first on that day believed in God and it was imputed to him for righteousness" No mention of baptism for salvation. No mention of a confessional. No mention of communion. Patrick taught his disciples well that salvation comes only by and through the grace of Almighty God.

Number Six: In Terms Of The Lord's Supper, Patrick Was A Baptist.

From his writings we know that he rejected the Roman Catholic view of salvation in the ordinance. Also from his writings, we know that Patrick believed that the believer himself should partake of both elements of communion, the bread and the cup, and not just the administrator exclusively. In writing of the conversion of the two daughters of Irish King Loeghaire under his ministry, Patrick tells them to put away their idols and trust Christ alone. His instructions to them regarding the Lord's Supper is that they receive both elements representative of His body and blood.

Number Seven: Patrick Rejects The Roman Catholic Dogma Of Transubstantiation

Patrick believed that the elements were only pictures of Christ's body and Christ's blood. Dr. Jarrell wrote, "In all the descriptions of the Eucharist quoted there is no evidence that it is...", or literally becomes the flesh of Christ and His blood. The elements are merely symbols of such.

Number Eight: Patrick Never Affirmed His Belief In, Or Adherence To, Many Crucial Catholic Peculiarities

St. Patrick was a Baptist and the first Irish churches were Baptist churches. He knew nothing of priestly confession and priestly forgiveness. He was not acquainted with extreme unction. He strictly forbade the worship of images. Never once did he instruct his converts that they were to pay homage to Mary or worship her. He never mentions the intercession of Mary or of any departed saint. In all of his writings there is no mention at all of purgatory, of indulgences, of keeping holy days, of praying to anyone but God Himself, of the persecution of opposers of the church, of distinguishing clerical garments, of the rosary, of last rites, of mass, of allegiance to the Pope. None of these crucial Catholic doctrines and dogmas were practiced by or even mentioned by the great missionary to Ireland.

It is my firm conviction that it has sufficiently been shown that Saint Patrick was not a Roman Catholic in doctrine or practice, but rather an early Baptist preacher following in the footsteps of the Apostles themselves, believing what they believed, practicing what they practiced. In conclusion, it seems that the words of W.A. Jarrell on this subject are most fitting, "Were Patrick not turned to dust, and were the body able to hear and turn, he would turn over in his coffin at the disgrace on his memory from the Romish church claiming him as a Roman Catholic" (Baptist Church Perpetuity or History, page 479).

Ireland's National Anthem

Hibernia or Scotia at the time of St. Patrick

The information in this Site is based upon vol. 2 of the blockbuster 3 vol. History of the Scottish Nation by Dr. J. A. Wylie, LL.D. Dr. Wylie's History was published in Edinburgh in 1890. Around the turn of the century it disappeared from off the face of the earth . . . except for a few copies. We are very confident that if Dr. Wylie's book had remained in general circulation there would be no divided Ireland today.

"For there is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed; neither hid, that shall not be known" (Luke 12:2).

Ireland was always the true home of the Scots. The name of the country was changed around 1200 A.D. St. Patrick in his "Confession" mentions the sons of the Scotti and the daughters of the chieftains, especially one blessed Irish princess that he baptized (una benedicta Scota)!! All writers up to the 12th century refer to the inhabitants of Hibernia as the Scottish Tribes. The Scotland of today was then called Caledonia and was inhabited by a people called Picts. When God's chosen people were taken captive to Babylon in the Old Testament, the first thing the King of Babylon did was to change their names!!

Around the beginning of the 4th century the mighty Roman Empire began to crumble and fall, the lamp of civilization was about to go out and the long dark shadows of the approaching night of the Dark Ages began to appear. It was at that time that God raised up a small nation in the West - at the ends of the earth - to keep the torch burning and be a light to the nations. That island - far from Rome - was Ireland, and the man chosen by God to begin this glorious work was St. Patrick.

St. Patrick was born in the year 373, along the banks of the River Clyde in Roman Britain, now a part of the country called Scotland. He was descended from a family which for two generations, had publicly professed the Gospel. His father Calpurnius, was a deacon, and his grandfather, Potitus, a presbyter in the Christian Church. His father was an important official holding the rank of "decurio" - a member of the council of magistracy in a Roman provincial town. As a youth Patrick ignored the spiritual instructions of his father and mother and was determined to "do it his way"

One day a little fleet of strange ships suddenly made their appearance in the Clyde. Patrick, with others was at play on the banks of the stream, and they remained watching the new arrivals, not suspecting the danger that lurked under their apparently innocent and peaceful movements. In an instant Patrick and hundreds of others was a captive and on his way to Ireland. He was a youth of 16 at that time.

The pirates who had borne him across the sea, had no sooner landed him on the Irish shore than they proceeded to put him up for auction on the slave block. Patrick was purchased by a chieftain and sent to herd his master's cattle and swine on the mountains. Was ever a metamorphosis so complete or so sudden? Yesterday the cherished son of a Roman magistrate, today a slave and a swine herd. Pinched with hunger, covered with rags, soaked with the summer's rain, bitten by the winter's frost, or blinded by its snowdrifts, he is the very picture of the Prodigal son who was sent into the fields to keep swine. Like the proud King Nebuchadnezzar, he had to learn the hard way that the Most High rules:

"The same hour was the thing fulfilled upon Nebuchadnezzar: and he was driven from men and did eat grass as oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, till his hairs were grown like eagles' feathers, and his nails like birds claws. And at the end of the days, I Nebuchadnezzar lifted up mine eyes unto heaven and mine understanding returned to me and I blessed the most High . . . and I was established in my kingdom, and excellent majesty was added unto me"(Daniel 4:33-37).

After several years Patrick likewise lifted up his eyes to Heaven. He called on the name of the Lord, was born again into the kingdom of God, and indeed excellent majesty was added to his name. He was able to escape and found a ship which carried him back home. Discouraged by his parents and friends, he tried to ignore the plight of the Irish, but the Lord spoke to him by dreams for many years. One such dream he records:

"In the dead of the night I saw a man coming to me as if from Hiberio, whose name was Victoricus, bearing innumerable letters, He gave one of them to me to read, It was entitled, "The Voice of the Irish" (Vox Hibernicæum). As I read I thought I heard at that same moment the voice of those that dwell at the wood of Foclut, near the western ocean; and thus they cried, as with one mouth, "We beseech thee, holy youth, come and walk still among us." I felt my heart greatly stirred in me, and could read no more, and so I awoke"

Patrick received his Divine Commission - not from the Seven Hills, but from the Mount of Olives. . . . Attended by a few companions, humble men like himself, he crossed the sea and arrived in Ireland.

He as now just over 30 years of age. The prime of his life and the commencement of his life work had come together. The story of Patrick is so much like the story of Joseph in the Book of Genesis. Both were sold into slavery as teenagers. Both were given special dreams. Both began their ministry about 30. Joseph fed Egypt with bread; Patrick fed Ireland with the living bread; both were a great blessing to the whole world!!

All the medieval writers of his life, save the very earliest, and even his modern biographers, date his arrival in Ireland 27 years later, making it fall about 432. The reason for this is that Celestine, Bishop of Rome, sent a bishop named Palladius to Ireland about the year 431. The monkish biographers of Patrick had Palladius on their hands, and being careful of his honor, and of his master in Rome, they adjusted the mission of Patrick so as to harmonize with the mission of Palladius. It was to the converts of Patrick that Palladius was sent as their bishop.

Patrick's first sermon was preached in a barn!! The use of this humble edifice was granted to him by the chief of the district, whom, the legend says, was his former master Milchu. In later years a church was built on the site where Patrick began his ministry and won his first converts to Christ. It was called Sabhal Padriuc, that is Patrick's Barn. It faced north to south. It never dawned on Patrick that a church had to face east to west in order for the sacraments to be effective.

Volumes have been written about Patrick's ministry in Ireland, but we can only cover the highlights.

Tara

The great annual festival of Tara called "Baal's fire" was at hand. No other occasion or spot in Ireland, Patrick knew, would offer him an opportunity of lifting his mission out of provisional obscurity and placing it fully in the eyes of the nation. All Ireland would be there. Mixing with the multitudes of all ranks which were crowding to the scene of the festival, Patrick pursued his journey, and arrived in the neighborhood of Tara without attracting attention. He and his attendants immediately began their preparations. Like the Prophet Elijah of old, Patrick decides to fight fire with fire. Ascending the hill of Slane, the little party collected the broken branches and rotten wood which were lying about, and piling them up on the summit of the hill, they applied the torch and set the heap in a blaze. The flames shot high in the air. On that night the fire on every hearth in Ireland must by law be extinguished. If even a solitary lamp were seen to burn, the rash or profane man was surely to be burned alive. . . . Patrick was arrested and brought to the royal court. He preached Christ to the king. The simple message of the Gospel -- the one sacrifice of Christ -- was all that was required to overthrow the Druid human sacrifice and convert Ireland from paganism to Christianity.

After his victory at Tara, Patrick was given an "open door" to the entire nation. The king realized that true Christianity was not a threat to his throne -- he did not have to have a Papal Nuncio -- nor submit to any foreigner. . . .

Patrick's ministry covered a period of 60 years. He founded 365 churches, and a school arose beside each church. The schools were frequently called monasteries. The monasteries of St. Patrick's day were nothing like the Roman Catholic monasteries of later years. They were not isolated from the world -- the retreat of the idle and ignorant -- no vows were taken and the clergy were always allowed to marry.

The monasteries were associations of studious men, who occupied their time in transcribing the Scriptures, in cultivating such sciences as were then known, and instructing the young. They were colleges in which the youth were trained for the work of the home ministry and the labors of the foreign mission-field. . . . Patrick died near the place where he began his ministry 60 years earlier - an old man and full of days. He did not perform miracles as his later biographers claim . . . except the conversion of an entire nation!!

Official Chronology of St. Patrick.

Year Event

373 Patrick is born along banks of River Clyde in Roman Britain, now a part of Scotland. Even though he had Christian parents and was baptized, that didn't make him (or anybody else) a Christian!!

389 He is taken captive by pirates and sold into slavery in Ireland.

395 He is converted to Christ; escapes from slavery and returns home.

405 St. Patrick arrives in Ireland with one Book: the Latin Bible. He begins to preach the Resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ from the dead.

431 He has great success in Ireland. Thousands are converted to Christ by faith alone. He puts an end to Druid human sacrifices. Slavery is ended. Churches and schools are built everywhere.

465 St. Patrick dies and goes to his eternal reward in Heaven. After preaching the Gospel for 60 years the great Apostle of Ireland is buried near the spot where he began his ministry.

News of St. Patrick great success with the Gospel soon reached Rome. Celestine, Bishop of Rome, sent a man named Palladius to demand that those new Christians accept him as their bishop. Palladius was repulsed and fled for his life. He never returned to Rome and died later in Scotland on March 16. . . . In order to confuse the world, and hide his failure, Palladius was substituted for St. Patrick and his chronology was revised!!

Revised Chronology of St. Patrick.

Year Event

431 Palladius arrives from Rome. He is rejected by the Irish Christians and has to leave Ireland in a hurry. He died later in Scotland on March 17!! If he had come 25 years earlier he would have ended up a Druid sacrifice. The first thing the noble converts of Patrick did was to reject the Bishop of Rome.

"They know not the voice of strangers"(John 10:5).

432 This is the revised date of the beginning of St. Patrick's ministry when he would be almost 60 years old!! It was revised to honor Palladius, cover up his rejection, and make him the Apostle of Ireland!!

The first and best witness to the truth of the above is St. Patrick himself in his autobiography: his "Confession" As a sober and trustworthy authority, it out weights all the medieval chronicles put together. The picture it presents of Ireland at the time of Patrick's arrival is that of a pagan country. Not a word does he say of any previous preachers in this field. He is seen building up the Church from the very foundations. He says that he "went about among them from his youth" (Latin "iuventus" a young man)

Statue of St. Patrick in Saul, Co. Down, Northern Ireland, showing the false date of his arrival in Ireland.

Iona

The spiritual sons of St. Patrick soon took up the challenge of the surrounding heathen darkness. One in particular, St. Columba by name, set out for the island of Iona with 12 men (563). He founded a church and school there to be used as a base for the evangelization of the Picts of Scotland. The fierce tribes that the Roman army had failed to conquer were soon conquered by the Gospel of Christ. The Picts hated the very name of Rome after the terrible slaughter that accompanied the Roman invasions of that country. They were not about to submit to Papal Rome after resisting Pagan Rome for centuries!! Again, volumes have been written about the change that came over the people at that time.

Ruins of the Roman/Norman Cathedral on the Isle of Hij or Iona. These stone churches date back only to the year 1200 A.D. Early Scottish churches were built of wood. Most of them were knocked down at the time of the Reformation and put to better use as building material for houses. Iona was also world famous for its Library which was supposed to rival that of Alexandria in Egypt. The former was destroyed by the Vikings and the latter by the Arabs. St. Columba also wrote a Life of St. Patrick and that precious MS. was also destroyed with the Library.

And to add insult to injury, what's the most popular way to celebrate St. Patrick's Day?

By guzzling booze. <_<

AVBibleBeliever - March 18, 2006 12:06 AM (GMT)

I think perhaps the lie that Baptist Brother St. Patrick was a Romanist was propagated so Roman Catholics especially Irish Roman Catholics could have an excuse to get drunk and eat meat like they did before and during Mardi Gras. The lie was embraced to justify indulging and fulfilling the lusts of the flesh. These pleasure loving idolaters are of their father the devil and the lusts of their father they will do.

I told my husband how Rome stole St. Patrick (in a manner of speaking) and he was like, so what else is new.

CRAIG-OXLEY - March 16, 2006 11:42 PM (GMT)

Vatican Wealth "Truly Astonishing" As Simple Beggar Asking For Help Reveals World Problems

According to researchers, Catholic Church infiltrated by Illuminists disguised as Jesuits with world domination as their goal and deception and war their main tools.

16 Mar 2006

By Greg Szymanski

<http://www.arcticbeacon.com/16-Mar-2006.html>

The Italian priest saying Mass in what looked like a gold plated church near the Spanish Steps in Rome was about to give his sermon when in stormed a street beggar screaming at the top of his lungs.

"Give me the money and give it to the starving people like me. All criminals at the altar, especially you Father with all those golden rings and chalices!" cried the street person in Italian, as several church ushers rushed to remove him from the premises.

While being pushed out of the Church like a piece of garbage, he made one last plea to those attending Holy Sunday Mass. "Don't give him the money, please don't give it him! I need to eat. So do many others. All they do here is steal your money while many die in the streets.!"

The incident occurred on a bright sunny summer morning in 1982 at a time when the Vatican Bank was entangled in Italy's biggest financial scandal in its history, involving high ranking Vatican figures, the P2 Masonic Lodge, the Mafia and corrupt politicians and financiers.

And it was a time - especially in Rome and behind the Vatican walls - when all the bigwigs were covering their dirty tracks, covering trails that most likely led to the untimely death of Pope Paul I, Bank of Ambrosian chairman, Roberto Calvi, financier Michael Sindona and the looting of billions of dollars from Vatican bank coffers.

The murders and the whereabouts of the stolen money still remain a mystery today, but the incident with the street beggar in the small Rome Church said it all.

In one quick, desperate moment a poor man spoke the true words of God in his own house, exposing the criminals who have infiltrated the Catholic Church for what they really are - common thieves and thugs who hide behind the cloth, using their collected wealth for evil not good, while millions die around the world from war and starvation.

For those in attendance, including this journalist, at what can be called the "Beggar's Mass," it was a moment of awakening, perhaps a moment that put the entire global conflict into proper perspective, as greed and power ushered out the poor and needy right at the altar of God.

If anyone is interested, the unknown Italian street beggar wasn't given any food that day from the fat cats at the Church. In fact, the golden doors were slammed shut on his face as the man walked off, disappearing down the narrow and cobblestoned Rome streets.

But as he walked off, the Vatican scandal raged on in the Italian papers, illustrating the enormous divide between the rich and poor and the impossible task of straightening things out.

Further, the corruption in the Church and the manipulation of its vast wealth continues today, as many observers and researchers claim the Illuminati, for lack of a better word, have not only taken over the vast wealth, influence and power of the Catholic Church, but also of all the other major religions and governments of the world.

And if anyone thinks controlling the Vatican's wealth and holdings isn't an important priority of the New World Order's global domination and genocide plan, think again.

Many historians and researchers and even one American Congressman have openly said the Vatican, through the Jesuit Order in firm control of the Illuminati, is also in control of the United States Federal Reserve.

And they contend whoever controls the Federal Reserve of New York controls the whole United States Federal Reserve, saying the roots of this control lead to the Vatican

In his 1980's book Vatican Billions, the late Avro Manhattan, a writer and researcher who prescribes to the above theory, detailed a portion of the Vatican holdings, revealing its vast wealth and influence around the world. Further, other contemporary researchers suggested the Vatican's true wealth has since greatly multiplied and the vast fortune may never be known since the bank is cloaked in secrecy, no oversight and considered to be the perfect money laundering system.

"The Vatican has large investments with the Rothschilds of Britain, France and America, with the Hambros Bank, with the Credit Suisse in London and Zurich. In the United States it has large investments with the Morgan Bank, the Chase-Manhattan Bank, the First National Bank of New York, the Bankers Trust Company, and others," wrote Manhattan.

"The Vatican has billions of shares in the most powerful international corporations such as Gulf Oil, Shell, General Motors, Bethlehem Steel, General Electric, International Business Machines, T.W.A., etc. At a conservative estimate, these amount to more than 500 million dollars in the U.S.A. alone."

Manhattan's complete findings can be read in his book Vatican Billions, but here is a excerpt of some important Vatican financial facts:

"In a statement published in connection with a bond prospectus, the Boston archdiocese listed its assets at Six Hundred and Thirty-five Million ($635,891,004), which is 9.9 times its liabilities. This leaves a net worth of Five Hundred and Seventy-one million dollars ($571,704,953). It is not difficult to discover the truly astonishing wealth of the church, once we add the riches of the twenty-eight archdioceses and 122 dioceses of the U.S.A., some of which are even wealthier than that of Boston.

"Some idea of the real estate and other forms of wealth controlled by the Catholic church may be gathered by the remark of a member of the New York Catholic Conference, namely 'that his church probably ranks second only to the United States Government in total annual purchase.' Another statement, made by a nationally syndicated Catholic priest, perhaps is even more telling. 'The Catholic Church,' he said, 'must be the biggest corporation in the United States. We have a branch office in every neighborhood. Our assets and real estate holdings must exceed those of Standard Oil, A.T.&T., and U.S. Steel combined. And our roster of dues-paying members must be second only to the tax rolls of the United States Government.'

"The Catholic church, once all her assets have been put together, is the most formidable stockbroker in the world. The Vatican, independently of each successive pope, has been increasingly orientated towards the U.S. The Wall Street Journal said that the Vatican's financial deals in the U.S. alone were so big that very often it sold or bought gold in lots of a million or more dollars at one time.

"The Vatican's treasure of solid gold has been estimated by the United Nations World Magazine to amount to several billion dollars. A large bulk of this is stored in gold ingots with the U.S. Federal Reserve Bank, while banks in England and Switzerland hold the rest. But this is just a small portion of the wealth of the Vatican, which in the U.S. alone, is greater than that of the five wealthiest giant corporations of the country. When to that is added all the real estate, property, stocks and shares abroad, then the staggering accumulation of the wealth of the Catholic church becomes so formidable as to defy any rational assessment.

"The Catholic church is the biggest financial power, wealth accumulator and property owner in existence. She is a greater possessor of material riches than any other single institution, corporation, bank, giant trust, government or state of the whole globe. The pope, as the visible ruler of this immense amassment of wealth, is consequently the richest individual of the twentieth century. No one can realistically assess how much he is worth in terms of billions of dollars."

Further. Manhattan in his book talks about how the Phillipines has virtually been taken over by the Vatican and its infiltrators, who are hijacking the Church.

Manhattan traces in his book, specifically in chapters 1-11, how millions of Filipinos are unaware that their country is secretly controlled by the Roman Catholic Church, adding there is no doubt that the Jesuit Order is the master planner.

"The very reason, the Philippines is now in deep political turmoil and economic trouble and now one of the poor country in the world," wrote Manhattan. "As I've said many times that the Catholic Church is the hidden central conspiracy force manipulating the Philippines."

Alexandra - March 17, 2006 12:53 PM (GMT)

Wasn't it Avro Manhattan who wrote about someone high up in the Catholic church who suggested selling off some of those treasures and giving the money to the poor?

His suggestion was not well-received at all!

Title: Analysis of the Controlled Demolition of WTC

Description: Excellent step-by-step explanation

AVBibleBeliever - March 16, 2006 05:24 PM (GMT)

I was invited to be on another forum (Truth Against Tradition) and I received this. This is by far the best video on 9/11 I've seen. It proves beyond a shadow of doubt that 9/11 was a conspiracy. Sound recording and analysis shows that there were explosives in the Twin Towers which were detonated by American military and intelligence (CIA). You will see flashes which triggered the explosives planted in and underneath the towers coming from an Army or Navy chopper and within seconds afterward a "collapse" of one of the towers. The eyewitness was a brilliant Jew named Rick Siegel who filmed the whole thing from Hoboken N.J.

911 Eyewitness <http://www.informationclearinghouse.info/article12018.htm>

Edward Cardinal Egan in command of the American military in this case NORAD-commanded by the Vice Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff CFR Richard B. Myers [succeeded by Roman Catholic Peter Pace] Army, the Navy, key people in the Port Authority, NYPD and NYFD made sure this crime was successfully carried out. Rudy Guiliani was complicit and all evidence of his involvement was in WTC 7 which Masonic Jewish Zionist Anti-Torah WTC owner Larry Silverstein said to pull or bring it down through controlled demolition.

AVBibleBeliever - March 16, 2006 01:16 AM (GMT)

I did some research on the 1993 WTC bombing. I found an article that shows the Order's FBI orchestrated the whole operation using an Arab Muslim to blame all of them in general. The Archbishop of New York in control of the Port Authority, NYPD, NYFD, and the FBI made sure this event which Jesuit President Bill Clinton would use to strip Americans of their rights was successful and had the intended effect. The Order murdered 6 people that afternoon on February 26 1993. I believe it is possible the whole plot was deliberately botched and the towers were not taken down so that the New Romanist Right Republican Fascist Party could use it to blame the Democratic (CFR Communist) Party for being soft on "terror" and leaving CIA asset Wahhabic/Masonic USAm bin Laden CIA codename: Tim OSSman untouched.

<http://www.whatreallyhappened.com/RANCHO/P...OK/wtcbomb.html>

<http://www.nytimes.com/2005/10/27/nyregion...serland&emc=rss>

Here is the Jesuit connection to the WTC bombing. A memorial designed by Elyn Zimmerman for the victims of the 1993 bombing was built and placed in Austin J. Tobin Plaza. This memorial was destroyed on 9/11 but is planned to be rebuilt. Here are 2 photos

<http://www.emporis.com/files/bu/sk/wt/up/cb/memorial.jpg> (It is clearly an all-seeing eye a symbol of the Jesuit Order's Illuminati)

<http://www.emporis.com/en/bu/sk/wt/cp/if/rf/> (Illuminist "Baptist" David Rockefeller)

Austin J Tobin "was appointed executive director of the Port of New York Authority, which later will be renamed the Port Authority of New York and

New Jersey in 1942."

<http://www.pbs.org/wgbh/amex/newyork/timeline/index.html>

The Jesuits' St. Peter's College awarded Tobin an honorary degree in 1969

<http://www.spc.edu/about/honorary.shtml>

Now on to the April 19 1995 Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building bombing.

Alfred P. Murrah was a Freemason.

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Alfred_P._Murrah

Timothy McVeigh was a Roman Catholic thirty-second degree Freemason according to Freemasonry Watch <http://freemasonrywatch.org/mcveigh.html>

Terry Nichols was portrayed by the Archbishop of New York's CFR-controlled press as a born again Christian and a terrorist. That event compounded with the Order's CIA controlled Waco massacre was used to move Fourteenth Amendment America closer to a Department of Homeland Security and National ID Card.

I looked into www.dhs.gov the Jesuits' Dept. of Homeland Security and found that Emilio T. Gonzalez is a Knight of Malta (See last sentence in his bio like it is insignificant. It is very important when you consider the fact that Gonzalez is Director of United States Citizenship and Immigration Services.

http://uscis.gov/graphics/gonzalez_bio.htm

Maureen Cooney was trained by Jesuits at Georgetown as an undergrad and law student. Cooney is Acting Chief Privacy Officer (what a joke!) A Jesuit-trained coadjutor in charge of privacy? This shows privacy is a thing of past in the American empire.

<http://www.dhs.gov/dhspublic/display?theme=11&content=5301>

Michael P. Jackson, Deputy Secretary of DHS was trained at Georgetown and was a professor of political science

<http://www.dhs.gov/dhspublic/display?theme=11&content=4389>

<http://www.usjff.org/bio/mcclanahan/> (Thurl T.R. McClanahan)

quoting: "He was initiated in to Freemasonry, and had his Master Mason Degree conferred by Wm. McKinley Lodge #431, and a year later his 32nd Degree Scottish Rite within the Valley of Canton. On May 5, 2001 he was knighted by the KNIGHTS TEMPLAR (Ohio Commandeer #83) and a member of the Order of Malta... On November 13, 2003, Thurl McClanahan was presented a "Homeland Security Founding Member's certificate" (dated March 01, 2003 Washington, D.C.) signed by Tom Ridge, Secretary of Homeland Security, United States Department of Homeland Security, from T.H. Collins, Admiral, United States Coast Guard."

I read that Opus Dei Robert Philip Hanssen of the Jesuits' FBI sold PROMIS software to the Soviet Union which then sold it to CIA asset Usama bin Laden. (Papal Knight Rupert Murdoch's Fox News called it COIN software) <http://www.foxnews.com/story/0,2933,49430,00.html>

<http://www.usatoday.com/news/washington/20...1-spydouble.htm>

<http://www.freerepublic.com/focus/f-news/818143/posts>

(the following caught my attention)

"Although our pluralist ideals tend to view this statement as an automatic exaggeration, the reality is far more sobering. The vast majority of American mosques are funded with Saudi Arabian money, and most of the funders subscribe to the Saudi doctrine of Wahhabism, an 18th-century ideology of extreme purity that supports the spread of Islam through violence. Local imams can be appointed by anyone who chooses to fund and/or found a mosque; hence, the influence of this minority ideology is well entrenched among American clerics."

This too: " [Opus Dei] Freeh placed his trusted associate [Opus Dei] Robert Hanssen into his last position with the FBI as counter-intelligence director in New York City [of all places why NYC?]. The same Robert Hanssen later confessed to being a Russian spy."

"Bush's Terrorist Buddy" WorldNetDaily tends to be pro- Romanist Republican Neocon Right but this is incriminating proof that Skull and Bonesman Luciferian American Emperor George W. Have you seen this 1998 PNAC letter to Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Bill Clinton? Recently I saw Jesuit-trained Chris Matthews on MSNBC "Hardball" with Jesuit-trained Knight of Malta fanatical Papist Pat Buchanan who mentioned the 1998 PNAC letter to Clinton and Matthews cut him off saying that the people in PNAC were not in power back then and Papal Knight Buchanan has talking about neocons like he isn't one himself which he is. I believe this was an example of the Jesuit Order's controlled opposition. Jesuit-trained Matthews and Buchanan were playing off against each other as Jesuit Temporal Coadjutors like Knights of Malta Skull and Bonesman CFR member William F. Buckley Jr. credited as the father of modern conservatism who recently blamed the Jesuit-controlled American Empire for the problems in the Middle East in his editorial article "It Didn't Work" and CFR member COSCO board member "Deep Throat" Alexander Haig Jr.. <http://www.newamericancentury.org/iraqclintonletter.htm>

Undoubtedly Slobodan Milosevic was given the Cup of Borgia because dead men don't talk. The real terrorists were Jesuit CFR Bill Clinton and Spanish Club of Rome member Papal Knight and frequent CFR speaker Francisco Javier Solana Madariaga (his grandfather was Salvador de Madariaga) then Secretary-General of NATO in his merciless bombardment and murder of Orthodox Christians pursuant to the Jesuits' evil and bloody oath and Council of Trent.

Gaudiani and Black Pope Kolvenbach spoke at "The Commitment to Justice in Jesuit Higher Education" conference at the Order's Santa Clara University along with Santa Clara alumnus Jesuit-trained Leon Panetta of the Clinton administration.

Claire Gaudiani spent an extravagant amount of money and took from the College endowments. By the time the College grew wise to her they fired her but the damage was done and is still felt. My college is very poor in endowments and will be for decades to come. She defends "eminent domain" because as a CFR member she is anti-US Constitution and private property.

I wonder if this could be the reason why the Order wanted to ruin

Connecticut College financially

<http://www.conncoll.edu/aboutcc/traditions/index.html>

There is a chapel on my college campus-Harkness Chapel. The Harkness family was very close with the Illuminist Rockefeller family-they were oil business partners.

<http://aspen.conncoll.edu/camelweb/index.c...17&id=945435900>

Harkness Chapel is set up like a Roman Catholic church because an altar is in the center, there are two pillars with the chi-ro (the PX symbol) and I.H.S. (showing the Jesuit influence) There is a cross with a pyramid and all-seeing eye inside it symbolic of the Masonic/Illuminist influence. That's it for now. I'll keep researching. I'm going to have to write a book about all this soon. I've been reading Bro. Edward Hendrie's "The Anti-Gospel." It is excellent and very informative!

I've heard that Edward Hendrie is a temporal co-adjutor. Any truth to that? (Trying to prove all things here. :))

I've noticed that it seems that in his e-book he claims that the Jews took over the Vatican...though he doesn't pound it into your head like Texe Marrs does. I can't remember exactly who it was that said he is/might be a co-adjutor.

Other than that, Hendrie's work is pretty good.

AVBibleBeliever - March 16, 2006 03:37 AM (GMT)

I noticed that too. Bro. Edward Hendrie is pro-replacement theology. Most of his info is good, but he equates Jews with the Jesuits. There are anti-Torah Talmudic Jews who are in on the Gentile Jesuit World Conspiracy but the Jews in general do not lead it. I agree with his Calvinism, strong stance on the King James Bible, the fact that he is anti-new age bible versions, etc. Hendrie mentions the Jesuits unlike Texe Marrs who hardly mentions them at all but I think he doesn't emphasize the Company enough. Hendrie exposes the visible Jews controlled by the Order who are in on the conspiracy and Brother Eric gets to the heart of the conspiracy and who is behind it-the Jesuits. Put both of their written works together and you have a balance.

I know that's true! I've read Hendrie's e-book, and he also has some great information.

What I find interesting is that you can stop an "alien" abduction, by rebuking them in the name of Jesus. Last I knew he had a link to an article about that.

AVBibleBeliever - March 16, 2006 04:00 AM (GMT)

Sorry, I didn't answer your question in my first reply. I wouldn't say Edward Hendrie is a temporal coadjutor because he is anti-Jesuit. I did read what Hendrie said about Jews taking over the Vatican. I don't believe that but I think the Pharisaical, rabbinical school of Judaism which is what modern anti-Torah Judaism is based on infiltrated and subverted true Old Testament/Torah believing Judaism just as Jesuitism has with Protestantism.

Now that I think about it, there is a huge difference between Hendrie and Marrs.

Texe Marrs seems to believe that Jews took over Catholicism and he's very in-your-face about it. What do you think of his views on the Book of Esther? I've read his newsletters about "hidden prophecies in the Book of Esther" and I read through Esther and I keep asking myself, where is he getting this?

New Vatican stamps commemorate Jesuits, Mantegna, religious pluralism

<http://www.cwnews.com/news/viewstory.cfm?recnum=42966>

Mar. 14 (CWNews.com) - The first series of stamps issued by the Vatican postal service will be introduced on March 16. The stamps commemorate the integration of cultures in Europe, the founders of the Jesuit order, and the Italian painter Andrea Mantegna.

Two stamps will be dedicated to religious pluralism in Europe. One will display a church, a mosque, and a synagogue, representing the three great monotheistic religions. The other will show children in a school classroom, symbolizing the meetingplace of future citizens.

Three other stamps will bear the portraits of great founders of the Society of Jesus: St. Ignatius of Loyola (1491- 1556), St. Francis Xavier (1506- 1552), and Blessed Pierre Favre (1506- 1546). St. Ignatius, the founder of the Jesuits, died 450 years ago in a house in central Rome where he had spent his last years. For St. Francis Xavier, the year 2006 is the 500th anniversary of his birth. The French Jesuit Pierre Favre died 440 years ago, as he was traveling to Trent to take part in the Council there, at the invitation of Pope Paul III.

For the 500th anniversary of the death of Mantegna, the Vatican will unveil three new stamps showing his works: an image of the Virgin and Child, another of Sts. Gregory and John the Baptist, and one of Sts. Peter and Paul.

Monks produce pray-as-you-go podcasts

http://www.ekklesia.co.uk/content/news_syn...0313monks.shtml

A new initiative by the British Jesuits - a religious order of the Catholic church - to offer commuters daily prayer sessions in MP3 format, as free downloads from the internet, has proved an instant success around the world.

Jesuit Media Initiatives planned to trial the new project – called ‘Pray-As-You-Go’ - for the season of Lent.

They invited people from their parishes and schools in Britain to give it a go by using the audio files on their iPods, mobile phones or other MP3 players to guide them through prayer on their daily journey to work, school or college.

But by the time dawn broke on the first day - Ash Wednesday (1 March) - word had spread, and some 3,300 prayer sessions had been downloaded from the web in countries as far apart as Australia, Mexico and the United States.

Since then, a further 18,400 sessions have been downloaded, prompting a flurry of e-mails to JMI’s Director, Fr Peter Scally SJ.

Brooks Thoman from Nipomo, California, called it “awesome, wonderful, inspiring”, while Patrick Allen in San Jose, California, declared, “This is the most beautifully produced prayer that I have ever heard. It touches me in ways that I never thought possible.”

Robin Farran, the wife of the Anglican Bishop of Newcastle, New South Wales, emailed to say: “It fills a real gap and is professionally and sensitively put together”; her husband is already promoting it in Australia. Nearer to home, a Metropolitan Line commuter from Harrow in North London, Audrey Newbury, said, “There is no better way to spend the tube journey home, after all the stresses of the day.”

A new prayer session is offered every day, combining music, a short reading from the Bible and a few questions for personal reflection in a session of guided prayer that lasts around 10 or 12 minutes.

The site also offers the option of using ‘Pray-As-You-Go’ as a daily podcast (with iTunes or other podcasting software) which automates the downloading process and keeps you up to date with the site’s latest offering.

Peter Scally says the response has been amazing. “So many people have been enthused by pray-as-you-go that we are left in no doubt that it is addressing a very real need in people’s spiritual lives,” he says.

Peter cut his teeth in the internet world as the designer of Sacred Space – a prayer web site launched in Ireland in 1999: this provides users with 10-minute prayer sessions on their computer screens. It has since been reproduced in 19 languages and has logged over 17 million visits worldwide since its inception.

The news comes after a group of Vatican Radio employees gave Pope Benedict XVI his first iPod.

Title: The Vatican Is A Cesspool of Satanism With Masonic

Description: Lodge Connections, According To List Of

CRAIG-OXLEY - April 22, 2006 03:21 AM (GMT)

The Vatican Is A Cesspool of Satanism With Masonic Lodge Connections, According To List Of Bishops, Archbishops And Cardinals Affiliated With Secret Societies

It's time Americans realize all roads lead back to the Vatican when it comes to stopping the Illuminati's take over of the United States. The list below of high ranking Church members involved in Masonic Lodges is shocking, as it is a direct violation of Canon Law 2335, leading to direct expulsion from the Church.

21 Apr 2006

By Greg Szymanski

<http://www.arcticbeacon.com/21-Apr-2006.html>

For centuries The Vatican realized 'secret satanic societies' had declared a hidden diabolical war on the Church, as Catholicism was one of the main obstacles preventing Illuminati world domination.

The Church responded by condemning the societies and making laws for its protection, including Canon Law 2335 expressly declaring "any Catholic who joined a secret society became excommunicate, ipso facto."

But in 1976 shocking news spread across St. Peter's Square like a damning wind, as a list of high-ranking Bishops, Archbishops and Cardinals were listed as secret society members in a journal called the Borghese.

Although the American public never heard a word, the presence of some of the evil enemies in the Church had been identified, as the Borghese article detailed a list of Luciferian or Satan worshippers embedded within the Church's hierarchy. The article listed names, dates and code names of more than 125 prelates, but nothing happened with those implicated ignoring the charges without even issuing a straightforward denial.

In 1976, Americans wouldn't even have blinked an eye at the satanic infighting going on inside the Vatican, dismissing the story as a religious struggle with little effect on world affairs.

But in the last 30 years much has changed, as the U.S. teeters on the brink of a spiritual war, many people now realizing that satanic spiritual controllers have taken a firm hold on their government and the future and destiny of their country.

With that in mind, it's important to identify the hidden evil hand destroying the Church, as the diabolical plan of word domination and genocide draws near and now has a direct aim on the Western civilization.

The enemy of the Church, now residing as the enemy within the U.S. government, has been defined in many ways, including conspirators of silence and the occult, worshippers of Satan and those, for all practical purposes who fall in between, saying the Church must accept an alliance with Satan as he completes God.

To understand this alliance concept a principle architect of this philosophy went to great lengths to address Pope Pius XII in 1943, saying:

"I am pleased to say that we, possessed of a critical spirit, are servants of Satan. You defend truth, and are servants of God. The two masters complete each other, and need each other. You would exterminate us. Be careful! The death of Satan will mark the agony of your God. You must accept the alliance with Satan, and admit that he completes God."

But who are the spiritual controllers, pulling the satanic puppet strings and leading America headlong into World War III?

Whoever they are, it would be wise to trace the connections and relationships of every name listed below, as the masters of deception hiding behind the black robes of the Church always align themselves with third parties of wealth and political power in order to reach their goal of world domination.

Although some of those listed below have died and encompasses the more important Church figures in Italy, it is shocking to see just how the Vatican has become a cesspool of secret societies and worship, involving members of most of the Church's separate and distinct orders, including the Jesuits. The following names of high ranking Church figures have been verified as belonging to Masonic Lodges taken from the Italian Register:

Agostino, Cardinal Casaroli. Secretary of State. Prefect of the Sacred Congregation of Public Affairs, and of the Sacred Congregation of Bishops, and of the Pontifical Commission for the Revision of Canon Law. Member of the Commission for Russia and of the Commission for Latin America. The most influential prelate in the Vatican after the Pope, whose place he takes during the absence of the latter. He is known as the 'Kissinger of Vatican diplomacy'. Initiated into a secret society September 28th, 1957. Secret code name Casa.

Leon Joseph, Cardinal Suenens. Primate of Belgium. Member of the Pontifical Commission for the Revision of Canon Law. Was active in the Sacred Congregation of Propaganda Fide, the Sacred Congregation of Rites and Ceremonies, and the Sacred Congregation of Seminaries and University Studies. He was a delegate and Moderator of the Second Vatican Council, and he has been associated with Protestant Pentecostalism, that reduces people to revivalist hysteria. Initiated June 15th, 1967. Code name Lesu.

Jean, Cardinal Villot. He was Secretary of State to Paul VI, and Camerlengo (the Chamberlain who takes over affairs at the Vatican on the death of a Pope). Prefect of the Sacred Congregation for Religious and Secular Institutes, and administrator of the Patrimony of the Holy See. He came of a family which has produced over the last two hundred years, from father to son, Grand Masters of secret societies including the Rosicrucians. Records show that he was initiated into a secret society on August 6th, 1966, and that in the hope of avoiding identification he was given two code names, Jeani and Zurigo.

Achille, Cardinal Lienart. Bishop of Lille. He was formerly a captain in the French Army, and a life-long ultra-Liberal. He led the progressive forces at the Second Vatican Council, on which account it was said that 'his ideas were redder than his robes'. Shortly before his death he startled those in the room by suddenly exclaiming: 'Humanly speaking, the Church is dead.' Initiated October 15th, 1912. Code name could not be verified.

Ugo, Cardinal Poletti. Vicar-General of the diocese of Rome, and so controller of all the clergy in the city. Member of the Sacred Congregation of Sacraments and of Divine Worship. President of Pontifical Works, and of the Liturgical Academy. Archpriest of the Patriarchal Basilica of the Lateran. Initiated February 17th, 1969. Code name Upo.

Franco, Cardinal Biffi. Head of the St. John Lateran Pontifical University. Initiated August 15th, 1969. Code name Bifra.

Michele, Cardinal Pellegrino. Archbishop of Turin where the Holy Shroud is kept. Initiated May 2nd, 1960. Code name Palmi.

Sebastiano, Cardinal Baggio. Prefect of the Sacred Congregation of Bishops. Initiated

August 15th, 1957. Code name Seba.

Pasquale, Cardinal Macchi. Prelate of Honour and secretary to Paul VI. After being excommunicated for heresy, he was reinstated by Cardinal Villot. Initiated April 23rd, 1958. Code name Mapa.

Salvatore, Cardinal Pappalardo. Archbishop of Palermo, Sicily. Initiated May 6th, 1943. Code name Salpo.

Cardinal Garrone. Prefect of the Congregation for Catholic Education. He brazenly let it be known that he was a member of a secret society, but he was neither removed nor publicly reproved. Date of initiation and code name could not be verified.

Archbishop Annibale Bugnini. Consultant in the Sacred Congregation of Propagation of the Faith, and in the Sacred Congregation of Holy Rites. The story of his unmasking during the Second Vatican Council has been told. Died July 3rd, 1982. Initiated April 23rd, 1963. Code name Buan.

Archbishop Giovanni Benelli. Archbishop of Florence. He secured the appointment of Cardinal Villot as Secretary of State in place of the orthodox Cardinal Cicognani. Date of initiation and code name could not be verified.

Archbishop Mario Brini. Consultor of the Pontifical Commission for the Revision of Canon Law. Secretary of the Sacred Congregation for Eastern Churches, and a member of the Pontifical Commission for Russia. Initiated July 13th, 1969. Code name Mabri.

Bishop Michele Buro. Prelate of the Pontifical Commission to Latin America. Initiated March 21st, 1969. Code name Bumi.

Bishop Fiorenzo Angelini. Titular Bishop of Massene, Greece. Delegate of the Cardinal-Vicar of Rome for Hospitals. Initiated October 14th, 1957. Code name could not be verified.

Monsignor Mario Rizzi. Prelate of Honour to the Holy Father. He was responsible for discarding certain Canon Laws which formed part of the foundation of the Church from Apostolic times. Initiated September 16th, 1969. Code name Mari or Monmari.

Monsignor Pio Vito Pinto. Attachè of Secretary of State, and Notary of the Second Section of the Supreme Tribunal and of the Apostolic Segnatura. He is listed as a very important person among the societies. Initiated April 2nd, 1970. Code name Pimpi.

Monsignor Francesco Marchisano. Prelate of Honour to the Holy Father. Secretary of the Congregation for Catholic Education. Initiated February 14th, 1961. Code name Frama.

Aurelio Sabattani. Archbishop of Giustiniana, Milan Province, Italy. First Secretary of the Supreme Apostolic Segnatura. Initiated June 22nd, 1969. Code name Asa.

Abino Mensa. Archbishop of Vercelli, Piedmont, Italy. Initiated July 23rd, 1969. Code name Mena.

Enzio D'Antonio. Archbishop of Trivento. Initiated June 21st, 1969. Code name could not be verified.

Alessandro Gottardi. Archbishop of Trento, Italy. He controls candidates who are likely to be raised to the dignity of Cardinal. He is addressed as 'Doctor' at secret society meetings. Initiated June 13th, 1959. Code name Algo.

Antonio Travia. Titular Bishop of Termini Imerese. He is the head of Catholic schools. Initiated September 15th, 1967. Code name Atra.

Yes this has been discussed in the General forum and is the obvious reason for the increased traffic here

smashstuff - April 21, 2006 03:41 PM (GMT)

More traffic, more getting the word out, and hopefully people will stick around to look at the health pages.

CRAIG-OXLEY - April 21, 2006 04:33 PM (GMT)

Well the last time Icke hotlinked to my site it was over the excellent Doug Yurchey article about the Jesuits and the Titanic. It seemed like many only looked at that article although it did get 3000 hits. Lets see what happens and I'm just as hoping they check out alternative health but also THE JESUIT ORDER.

Mark Brewer - April 21, 2006 08:01 PM (GMT)

I am surprised Icke would mention The Unhived Mind, considering the fact that he has been exposed on this board. Maybe he realized that he was not revealing the whole truth.

Title: A Note About Freemasonry

Mark Brewer - April 21, 2006 08:27 PM (GMT)

I have highlighted the text which shows that the Vatican does not actually condemn all Freemasonry, just Freemasonry that is against the church.

Canon Law regarding Freemasonry, 1917-1983

Affiliation With Masonic or Similar Societies. Those who join a Masonic sect or other societies of the same sort, which plot against the Church or against legitimate civil authority, incur ipso facto an excommunication simply reserved to the Holy See. (c. 2335). [p. 924.]

Simply Reserved to the Holy See (4)

1. Masonic Societies (c. 2335).

a. The censure is incurred if the society is one which plots against Church or State, openly or secretly, whether members are secret or not, bound by oath or not. Cappello thinks Socialists are included. Communist party certainly is. Knights of Pythias, Odd Fellows, Sons of Temperance, are forbidden as intrinsically wrong, but not under censure (Holy Office, 20 June, 1895, 18 Jan., 1896).

b. Conditions for absolution: total withdrawal from the society, promise to have nothing to do with it and pay no more dues, to repair scandal as far as possible, to turn over insignia, etc., to withdraw name from rolls as soon as this can be done without grave loss (Holy Office, 7 March 1883; Gasparri-Serédi, Fontes, n. 1080, Vol. IV, p. 412). c. In the case of the Knights of Pythias, Odd Fellows, Sons of Temperance, no censure has been incurred. The conditions for absolution of the sin are the same as above except that, to avoid grave loss, a person may continue paying dues. The confessor must refer each case to the Apostolic Delegate or his Metropolitan (Holy Office, 18 Jan., 1896; Ecclesiastical Review, Vol. 14, p. 361). [p. 960.]

[c. 1399] Books forbidden ipso iure

8. Books Favoring Dueling, Suicide, Divorce, Masonry. Books which hold dueling, suicide or divorce licit, or which, treating of Masonic sects and other such societies, contend that they are useful and not harmful to the Church and civil society are ipso iure forbidden (c. 1399, 8°).

"Professor" Albert Einstein unmasked at last!!

The man, the myth, the legend exposed!!

Question: Who makes the earth spin on its axis every 24 hours and go around the sun once a year??? Answer: Rockefeller!!!!!!!

"Dr." Albert Einstein's name is synonymous with GENIUS....In the "scientific" community he is hailed as the greatest scientist since Sir Isaac Newton.

He is credited with discovering the "theory" of relativity and is called the "father" of the atomic age because of the famous equation $E=MC^2$. This formula says that matter can be translated into energy at the incredible rate of the square of the speed of light.

He was the first superstar of "science" and an international icon and media celebrity for most of the first half of the 20th century.

In 1922, he was awarded the Nobel Prize for physics for his work on theoretical physics, and especially for his "discovery" of the law of the photoelectric effect.

In the U.S. he is credited with 'fathering' the atomic bomb because of a letter he wrote to President Roosevelt in 1939 urging him to begin research on producing a nuclear bomb before Nazi Germany.

When asked by the media to define relativity for the non-scientific community, Einstein gave this timeless reply:

"An hour sitting with a pretty girl passes like a minute, but a minute sitting on a hot stove seems like an hour."

If Albert Einstein had never existed he would have to be invented . . . and here is the reason why!!

The Michelson-Morley experiment was the reason for Albert Einstein!!

Beginning in 1887, U.S. scientist Albert Abraham Michelson began to do experiments to try and detect the motion of the earth around the sun by using the speed of light as a barometer. This experiment was called the Michelson-Morley experiment and was famous for one thing: ALL THE RESULTS WERE NEGATIVE.

Dr. Michelson was the first U.S. scientist to win the Nobel Prize for physics in 1907.

In 1869, President Ulysses S. Grant awarded Michelson a special appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy. During his four years as a midshipman at the Academy, Michelson excelled in optics, heat, climatology and drawing. After his graduation in 1873 and two years at sea, he returned to the Academy to become an instructor in physics and chemistry, from 1875 to 1879.

Michelson was fascinated with the sciences and the problem of measuring the speed of light. During this time in Annapolis, he conducted his first experiments on the speed of light, as part of a class demonstration in 1877. After two years of studies in Europe he resigned from the Navy in 1881. In 1883 he accepted a position as professor of physics at the Case School of Applied Science in Cleveland, Ohio, and concentrated on developing an improved interferometer. In 1887 he and Edward Morley carried out the famous Michelson-Morley experiment which found no movement of the earth relative to the surrounding space.

Michelson's basic experiment was to shoot a beam of light horizontally and vertically over a fixed distance. The speed of the earth through the ether should slow the vertical light. The results were always the same and showed no change.

Instead of acknowledging that the earth did not move, Michelson concluded that the SLEED OF LIGHT was always the same and didn't change.

"The famous Michelson-Morley experiment proved conclusively that there are no different velocities of light! They are the same in all directions and their value is c , the speed of light, which strangely enough always remains true to itself, always constant, always unchangeable.

For the mechanist the result is catastrophic."(Livingston, Master of Light, p. 133).

Michelson joined the Rockefeller owned University of Chicago!!

In 1890, Rockefeller took over a Baptist Seminary called Morgan Park Theological Seminary and renamed it the University of Chicago.

After serving as professor at Clark University at Worcester, Massachusetts from 1889, in 1892 Michelson was appointed professor and the first head of the department of physics at the newly organized University of Chicago. With his big salary from Rockefeller and the Nobel Prize money, Michelson was content not to makes WAVES about the non-motion of the earth.

No motion of the earth caused a panic in the "scientific" community!!

By 1900, the proof of the non-motion of the earth did not cause Michelson to get on his knees and acknowledge that the Bible was correct after all. Had he and the "scientific" community done so, the whole evolutionary house of sand would have come crashing down. That is the last thing that the Jesuits wanted. Their answer was to use Albert Einstein to invent a completely new theory of the universe called RELATIVITY. So now the scene shifts from the U.S. to Switzerland and an obscure clerk in the Swiss Patent Office named Albert Einstein.

Albert Einstein was "a lazy dog"

According to professor Hermann Minkowski, Einstein was a dunce and was told to switch from physics to some other subject. For telling the TRUTH about Einstein, Minkowski would die in 1909 at the young age of 45 from a simple appendix operation:

"Not that he was always blameless in these situations, and he knew it. He exasperated his autocratic professors because he regarded most of them as irrational or ignorant, and he showed it. His independent, disdainful manner irritated them even more than it had his insecure high-school teacher of Greek. He infuriated physics instructor Jean Pernet, who saw Einstein dump the official instructions on how to conduct an experiment into the wastebasket without a second glance. Pernet complained to an assistant, who daringly replied that Einstein's methods were interesting and his solutions always right. Pernet disagreed. He confronted Einstein. "You're enthusiastic," he conceded, "but hopeless at physics. For your own good you should switch to something else, medicine maybe, literature or law." Math professor Hermann Minkowski didn't see even the enthusiasm in his classes, and called Einstein a lazy dog. His casual study habits also irritated Heinrich Weber, who had expected great things of him and was irked because Einstein called him "Herr Weber" instead of the more respectful "Herr Professor." For his part Albert was disappointed in Weber for excluding from his history of physics the stunning ideas of James Maxwell" (Brian, Einstein, A life, pp. 17-18).

Einstein's wife wrote the relativity papers!!

If "Dr." Albert was clueless when it came to physics, the question remains where did this GENIUS get all his ideas? The answer: His relativity theories came from his fellow student and lover, Hungarian Mileva-Maric.

While attending the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology, Albert met and fell madly in love with another student, a Hungarian named Mileva-Maric.

Mileva was unique in being the only woman in the class and she was exceptionally "gifted." Albert called her his "little witch."

In 1905, when Albert's papers on relativity were submitted, they were signed EINSTEIN-MARITY which was his wife's name. She also received ALL the money from his Nobel Prize in 1922.

Mileva was able to take all the previous information on light waves, electromagnetism, atomic theory, and synthesize them into what became known as the special and general theories of relativity. Even Einstein himself didn't understand any of it.

"Scientist" Einstein and ESP!!

To "Doctor" Einstein everything was RELATIVE but like Albert Michelson he concluded that the SPEED OF LIGHT was always the same and didn't change. That was the basis of all his ideas and experiments—the FIXED speed of light. He was also very interested in another form of communication and that is ESP or extra sensory perception.

In 1930, Einstein wrote a preface to a book about ESP by best selling author Upton Sinclair. Upton Sinclair was the foremost "muckraking" author in the U.S. Upton wrote more than 90 books exposing corporate corruption and the control of the media by big business. The Mental Radio book was all about mind reading, mental telepathy, clairvoyance, psychic powers etc., etc. The Bible simply calls it all WITCHCRAFT.

Book published in 1930 by Upton Sinclair with a preface by Albert Einstein.

PREFACE

I have read the book of Upton Sinclair with great interest and am convinced that the same deserves the most earnest consideration, not only of the laity, but also of the psychologists by profession. The results of the telepathic experiments carefully and plainly set forth in this book stand surely far beyond those which a nature investigator holds to be thinkable. On the other hand, it is out of the question in the case of so conscientious an observer and writer as Upton Sinclair that he is carrying on a conscious deception of the reading world; his good faith and dependability are not to be doubted. So if somehow the facts here set forth rest not upon telepathy, but upon some unconscious hypnotic influence from person to person, this also would be of high psychological interest. In no case should the psychologically interested circles pass over this book heedlessly.

"Scientist" Einstein attended a séance at the Sinclairs!!

As an international scientist/celebrity, Einstein visited California in 1931 as a guest of Caltech or the California Institute of Technology. Early the following year had had a chance to meet his friend Upton Sinclair and attended a séance at his house in Pasadena, California. Sinclair practiced mental telepathy with his wife, Mary Craig and a medium named Roman Ostoja:

"Helen Dukas, Einstein's secretary, gives a different account of Ostoja's psychic skills. "I was at the séance [with Ostoja, a self-proclaimed but dubious Polish count]. And I was frightened to death. Because, before the sitting, Sinclair addressed us and said we shouldn't be afraid if suddenly the piano starts to play and flowers come down from above and so on. And the medium went into catalepsy, and that frightened me. Then, you know what happened? They all sat around the table, those scientists, Professor Einstein, Professor Tolman, and a doctor friend of ours. Sometimes Professor Einstein was in control. It was a real scary atmosphere. And, oh my gosh, suddenly the doorbell rang and I nearly jumped out of my skin." (Brian, Einstein, A life, pp. 215).

Albert Einstein meets Albert Michelson

While visiting California, Einstein met his mentor and the one person responsible for the theory of relativity. His name was Professor Albert Michelson and by that time he was retired and living in sunny California.

Professor Albert Michelson and Albert Einstein in 1931.

Einstein met his mentor during a visit to California in 1931. The professor was retired but was still full of vim and vigor. He was even planning some more embarrassing earth movement experiments. He died a few months after meeting Einstein. Here is a quote from an Einstein biographer:

"Einstein later qualified his debt to Michelson in a letter to Michelson's biographer, Bernard Jaffe: Michelson's experiment was of considerable influence upon my work insofar as it strengthened my conviction concerning the validity of the principle of the special theory of relativity. On the other side I was pretty much convinced of the validity of the principle before I did know this experiment and its result. In any case, Michelson's experiment removed practically any doubt about the validity of the principle in optics, and showed that a profound change of the basic concepts of physics was inevitable"(Brian, Einstein, A life, p. 212).

Rockefeller Foundation director Abraham Flexner brought Einstein to the U.S.

In Oct. 1933, Abraham Flexner brought Einstein to the U.S. where he became a professor at the Institute for Advanced Studies in Princeton, New Jersey. Einstein would have preferred to live in sunny southern California in order to conduct "experiments" with his close friend Upton Sinclair. Orders are orders however and he who pays the piper calls the tune so Einstein had to live the rest of his life on the not so sunny east coast. In 1941, he was vacationing on Long Island, New York, when he was visited by atomic scientists Leo Szilard and Eugene Wigner.

Einstein knew nothing about atomic power!!

Scientist Leo Szilard was very concerned about Nazi Germany obtaining an atomic bomb so he sought out Einstein and shared his concerns with him. Einstein replied that he had no idea about atomic power even though he is credited with the equation $E=MC^2$.

In Aug. 1939, Leo Szilard asked "Dr." Einstein to write a letter to FDR about the dangers of Nazi Germany developing an atomic bomb.

Nobody in the U.S. government listened to Szilard at that time. Even the Italian scientist Enrico Fermi was reluctant to pursue atomic research.

Dr. Szilard continued to pursue atomic research at Columbia University in New York City and his frequent nightmare was that Nazi Germany would develop the bomb first.

After the Pearl Harbor debacle, everything changed.

Szilard and Fermi worked together at the Rockefeller owned University of Chicago to develop an atomic reactor. Szilard invented the concept of the "breeder" reactor to create plutonium for fuel and atomic bombs.

Einstein had no part whatsoever in the Manhattan Project because he knew NOTHING about physics.

Here is a report from the biography of Leo Szilard:

"Szilard and Wigner were hot, tired, and impatient by the time they found the two-story white cottage. By contrast, the sixty-year-old Einstein was relaxed and genial; he had spent the early morning sailing in a small dinghy and now greeted his former colleagues wearing a white undershirt and rolled-up white trousers. Einstein bowed courteously as they met and led his visitors through the house to a cool screened porch that overlooked a lawn. There, speaking in German and sipping iced tea, Szilard and Wigner told Einstein about their recent calculations. They explained how neutrons behave, how uranium bombarded by neutrons can split or "fission," and how this process might create nuclear chain reactions and nuclear bombs.

"Daran habe ich gar nicht gedacht," Einstein said slowly, pondering what he had just heard. "I haven't thought of that at all."

Until that summer day, Einstein had believed that atomic energy would not be released "in my time," that it was only "theoretically possible." Einstein had not followed recent discoveries in nuclear research for years and sought only the "time for quiet thought and reflection" needed to unravel his unified field theory of the universe." Einstein had published his famous equation $E = MC^2$ in 1905, but only now was that simple statement's ultimate significance clear. For even a small mass the potential energy released could be immense. Fission is the most efficient way to fulfill Einstein's equation because it releases the energy that gives matter its form—the binding energy holding the atomic nucleus together.

Einstein's next thought about the chain reaction was philosophical. If it works, he said, this would be the first source of energy that does not depend on the sun. Wind and solar energy are created by the sun's heat. And fossil fuels—oil, natural gas, coal—were once created from the carbon made by the sun's energy through photosynthesis. But releasing the binding energy of atoms was something new.

Einstein's third reaction was political. Although he was an avowed pacifist, he agreed to sound the alarm about atomic bombs, even if it proved to be a false one, in order to beat Nazi Germany to this awesome weapon."(Lanouette, Genius in the Shadows, A Biography of Leo Szilard, p. 199).

Einstein died in 1955 and was cremated!!

Einstein died in 1955 and was cremated with his ashes thrown on a nearby river. Many people in Europe were claiming to be "fathered" by Dr. Albert so cremation did away with the vital evidence of his DNA. It also ended any hope of prolonging the Einstein myth beyond the tomb by making his grave a pilgrimage site.

Who discovered the formula $E=MC^2$????

The theory of relativity is just a hodge podge of zany ideas having to do with the behavior of objects which move at or close to the speed of light. The Einsteinien universe is an unbelievably huge place filled with black holes and quasars almost like an asylum run by the inmates. Relativity did not make Einstein however; it was the formula $E=MC^2$ or that matter can be changed into energy at the incredible rate of the square of the speed of light (186,282.397 miles per second, or 299,792,458 meters per second). Sir Isaac Newton said in his Optiks published in 1704:

The changing of Bodies into Light, and Light into Bodies, is very conformable to the Course of Nature, which seems delighted with Transmutations. Water, which is a very fluid tasteless Salt, she changes by Heat into Vapour, which is a sort of Air, and by Cold into Ice, which is a hard, pellucid, brittle, fusible Stone; and this Stone returns into Water by Heat, and Vapour returns into Water by Cold. Earth by Heat becomes Fire, and by Cold returns into Earth. Dense Bodies by Fermentation rarify into several sorts of Air, and this Air by Fermentation, and sometimes without it, returns into dense Bodies. Mercury appears sometimes in the form of a fluid Metal, sometimes in the form of a hard brittle Metal, sometimes in the form of a corrosive pellucid Salt call'd Sublimate, sometimes in the form of a tasteless, pellucid, volatile white Earth, call'd Mercurius Dulcis; or in that of a red opake volatile Earth, call'd Cinnaber; or in that of a red or white Precipitate, or in that of a fluid Salt; and in Distillation it turns into Vapour, and being agitated in Vacuo, it shines like Fire. And after all these Changes it returns again into its first form of Mercury. (Sir Isaac Newton, Opticks, pp 374-375).

$E=MC^2$ was already known in 1875!!

In a book published in London in 1875, British scientist, Samuel Tolver Preston stated the relationship of matter moving at the speed of light:

"To give an idea, first, of the enormous intensity of the store of energy attainable by means of that extensive state of subdivision of matter which renders a high normal speed practicable, it may be computed that a quantity of matter representing a total mass of only one grain, and possessing the normal velocity of the ether particles (that of a wave of light), encloses a store of energy represented by upwards of one thousand millions of foot tons, or the mass of one single grain contains an energy not less than that possessed by a mass of forty thousand tons, moving at the speed of a cannon ball (1200 feet per second); or otherwise, a quantity of matter representing a mass of one grain endued with the velocity of the ether particles, encloses an amount of energy which, if entirely utilized, would be competent to project a weight of one hundred thousand tons to a height of nearly two miles (1.9 miles).

This remarkable result may serve to illustrate well the intense mechanical effect derivable from small quantities of matter possessing a high normal velocity, the extremely high value of the effect depending on the fact that energy rises in the rapid ratio of the square of the speed." (Samuel Tolver Preston, Physics of the Ether, p. 115).

Dear Exxxx,

Two things we must remember.

1. The Frankist Sabbateans are Masonic and controlled by the Vatican's Jesuits---the authors of occult Freemasonry. Hundreds are members within Cardinal Egan's New York City-based Council on Foreign Relations---the secret government ruling Fourteenth Amendment America. Their purpose is to create anti-Jewish fury in every nation so as to drive as many Jews as possible to Israel for their attempted final annihilation by the final Pope, to be murdered and risen from the dead turned Antichrist, or "the Beast." Jacob Frank (1726-1791) was baptized into the Roman Catholic Institution in Warsaw between 1756 and 1760, Augustus III King of Poland acting as his godfather. Frank also, "to preserve his order, committed his followers to mass baptism---thereby submitting to both the spiritual and temporal power of the Pope. Frank was arrested by the Inquisition in 1760 and imprisoned until 1773 when he was freed by the conquering Russians, Catherine II the Great being the utter tool of the Jesuits to whom she gave protection after the Order's Papal Suppression that same year. Frank died in 1791, and his Order merged with the Catholic population of Poland. Years later, the descendants of these Catholicized Polish racial Jews became the founders of Israel under the oversight of that mass-murderer of Eurasian Jews, Pope Pius XII. Further, high-level, Talmudic, Orthodox Jews aided the Papacy in this "burnt offering" of Jews, the Chief Rabbi of Rome, Grand Rabbi Zolli, who then "converted to Romanism after the war. The Jesuit connection to these Jewish traitors to their own racial people is evidenced by the ADL awarding their Jesuit Cardinal Bea Interfaith Award---Abe Foxman, like Shimon Peres, being another Masonic Jewish Zionist and Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor.

For this reason, it is most evident that the Sabbatean Frankists are the Pope's Masonic Jewish Zionists of today. The Jesuits rule the Papacy; the Papacy rules Israel; and that rule is facilitated by the Order's Masonic Jews who are now being blamed for the plight of the world.

During the coming Great Tribulation---the final 42 months of the Seventieth Week of Daniel (Dan.9:24-27)---before the Lord destroys Rome, "that great city which reigneth over the kings of the earth" (Rev.17:18), He will call for the exodus of all racial Jews out of Babylon---Rome.

"And I heard another voice from heaven, saying, Come out of her my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues." (Rev. 18:4)

At this future time there is no Body of Christ---the true Bible-believing Church---on the earth at this time as she has fallen away or "departed" from this earth. (II Thess.2:3), the Lord having received her to Himself (I Thess.4:16-17). No "Body of Christ" was in existence during the first 69 weeks of years; the same holds true for the 70th week of years.

2. Silverstein, like Michael Bloomberg, is a personal friend of Jesuit of the Fourth Vow and CFR Presider, Joseph A. O'Hare, the former President of Fordham University and a Knight of Malta, as is Fordham's Jesuit Avery Cardinal Dulles, the aged nephew of the late Director of the CIA, Allen Dulles. These notorious Jews are mere "court Jews" of the Papists ruling New York City.

For some reason Barry is not putting this icing on the cake. He knows it to be true, yet refrains in his most wonderful missive below. Nevertheless, he is my friend and I have greatly profited from his work as he is the only Jew of present notoriety that exposes the Jesuits, the CFR and the Frankists---the Pope's Masonic Jewish Zionists.

Sincerely in Faith,

Brother Eric

READ DOWN...IN RED BELOW.....HELLO????

A Marquette Tribune Featured Story

Behind the board of trustees

Group has pivotal role in decisions on tuition, fundraising, other issues

By Brittany Clement
Tribune Staff

<http://www.marquettetribune.org/286203565841490.bsp>

This is the first of a three-part series looking at the role of the university's board of trustees. The second part, running next Thursday, will look at how trustees are selected; the third part, running May 4, will examine recent pivotal decisions the board has made.

It has the power to raise tuition, approve yearly budgets and elect the president of the university, but how much do we really know about the board of trustees?

The full board meets only four times a year, but "it's the body that has the ultimate responsibility for Marquette," said Steve Frieder, assistant to University President the Rev. Robert A. Wild and corporate secretary.

While senior administrators such as Wild, Provost Madeline Wake and Senior Vice President Greg Kliebhan essentially run the day-to-day, ongoing business of the university, Frieder said the board makes decisions on broader policy, such as tuition, fundraising campaigns and construction of new buildings.

Frieder said the primary responsibility of the board is to elect the president of the university. The board elected Wild in 1996.

This duty of selecting leadership is important to any governing board, according to Mason Carpenter, associate professor of management and human resources at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

"They have to make sure they have the right people doing the right things and give them incentives appropriately," Carpenter said.

In making these decisions, the board has what is known in legal terms as a "fiduciary duty." This means the law holds members responsible for putting the interests of the institution above their personal interests, according to Edward Fallone, associate professor of law and expert in corporate law.

The fiduciary duty consists of two parts, Fallone said. A duty of care requires a responsibility to operate the organization with the same amount of care and prudence one would run his or her own business. A duty of loyalty states that the interests of the organization take ultimate precedence in decision-making.

Fallone said members could be sued if they failed to live up to this duty and caused the university to lose money.

This places the board at a high level of power in the university.

"The board of trustees or board of directors is sort of a stopgap for an organization running amok," Carpenter said.

In addition to this responsibility, governing boards also have a symbolic role of representing who the stakeholders are in the organization, Carpenter said. In recent years both universities and corporations have increasingly improved representation of the community at large within their governing boards, he said.

Marquette's board consists of trustees ranging from the Rev. Timothy R. Lannon, president of Saint Joseph's University, to recently elected Glenn "Doc" Rivers, head coach of the Boston Celtics. OOOOOPS!

This wide range of members was not always the case at Marquette.

Marquette's board of trustees, in its current form, took shape in 1969 with a change in the university's bylaws, Frieder said. Prior to that time, the board consisted of three Jesuits.

Today, anywhere from 25 to 40 people serve on the board. The university's bylaws require that between eight and 11 members of the board be Jesuits. Currently, there are eight Jesuits on the 38-member board.

Having a larger board adds to what Carpenter called a "boundary spanning role" on governing boards.

"They're oftentimes a channel for revenues and resources," he said. "They bring external resources into the university."

Boards of trustees and boards of directors are commonplace in non-profit organizations. Both Frieder and Carpenter said they did not know of any university in the country that did not have some form of a board of trustees.

"Any non-profit organization typically relies on a board of trustees to be the ultimate guardian of that institution," Frieder said.

ROME - 7 April 2006 - 180 words

Shimon Perez visits Pope

The Holy See Press Office Director Joaquin Navarro-Valls released the following statement yesterday.

"This morning Shimon Peres, former prime minister of the State of Israel and Nobel Peace Prize winner, visited His Holiness Benedict XVI. He then went on to meet Cardinal Secretary of State Angelo Sodano, in the presence of Oded Ben-Hur, Israeli ambassador to the Holy See, and Mgr Pietro Parolin, under-secretary of the Section for Relations with States.

"In the course of the discussions opinions were exchanged concerning the problem of peace in the Holy Land while respecting United Nations Resolutions and the agreements concluded to date. In this context, there was a unanimous condemnation of all forms of terrorism, whatever pretexts used to try and justify it.

"Relations between the State of Israel and the Holy See were also examined, in the light of the agreements signed in 1993 and 1997, as were relations between the Israeli authorities and the Christian communities resident in the country.

"At the end of the meeting, Shimon Peres, invited the Supreme Pontiff to visit Israel."

Opus Dei Decries Mohammed Cartoon

Published in Catholic Magazine

ROME, APRIL 16, 2006 (Zenit.org).- Opus Dei described as "deplorable" the publication of a cartoon showing the prophet Mohammed in hell, published by the magazine Studii Cattolici, edited by one of its members.

The cartoon, based on a passage of "The Divine Comedy," shows Italian poets Dante Alighieri and Virgil on the edge of a circle of flames looking down on Mohammed, whose body is cut in half. Dante comments that the prophet is cut in half because of the division he brought to society.

The editor of the magazine, Cesare Cavalleri, is a member of Opus Dei.

In a statement released by Marc Carroggio, director of the Opus Dei press office in Rome, the prelature stated: "We consider it deplorable that this cartoon should appear in a magazine that has the name Catholic in its title. Its publication shows a lack of sensitivity and Christian charity."

"Although the Opus Dei has no responsibility for this magazine," the statement continued, "and each person is responsible for his or her own actions, we wish to ask forgiveness for the offense given."

The statement adds that "religions and their symbols should be respected and religious sensibilities should not be subjected to ridicule. The only road to peace and brotherhood is respect for others' convictions and practices. Such respect cannot remain at the level of theory, but should be expressed in concrete gestures and actions."

Cartoon blasted

Published on: Tuesday, 11th April, 2006

<http://www.7days.ae/2006/04/11/cartoon-blasted.html>

The Catholic Church in Germany yesterday announced that it would try to persuade MTV not to screen a planned season of 'Popetown', a satirical cartoon series lampooning the Vatican.

"We have not given up hope that dialogue with the direction of MTV will lead to a decision to cancel the screening of the series and to consideration for the feelings of Christians in our country," the German Bishop's Conference, the Catholic Church's highest office in the country, said in a statement.

It said it would also complain to the relevant authorities about an advertisement for the cartoon series, saying it mocked the Christian faith.

"MTV's advertisement for 'Popetown' in several television programming magazines constitutes a provocation for Germany's Christians just a few days before Good Friday and Easter," a statement said.

The advertisement, which shows a laughing man with a crown of thorns watching television, "mocked and ridiculed the central tenets of the Christian faith", it added.

'Popetown' was originally produced for the BBC but the British broadcaster decided in 2004 not to screen it because it was too controversial.

MTV plans to start screening the ten-part series, which is billed as the story of a "crazy pope" running a deeply corrupt state, in Austria, Germany and Switzerland, on May 3.

Earlier yesterday, Germany's lay Catholics also protested against the planned 'Popetown' season and the advertisement. "We call on all Christians in Germany to join our call that the series 'Popetown' should not be shown," the Central Committee of German Catholics said.

It called the advertisement a "repulsive mockery of the Catholic Church" and an attack on the Christian faith. A spokesman for MTV in Berlin said the Catholic group had on Monday threatened legal action unless the music channel cancelled the series.

"So far we do not have any plans to change our schedule. We will still start screening on May 3," he told AFP. 'Popetown' has already been released on DVD. Pope Benedict XVI, the former Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger, was born in the southern German state of Bavaria.

Authorities urged to arrest growth of hate crimes

Massimo Farrugia

13 April 2006

<http://www.timesofmalta.com/core/article.php?id=220854>

The arson attack on the car and front door of Jesuit Refugee Service assistant director Katrine Camilleri was condemned by political parties and NGOs yesterday, with most calling on the authorities to take urgent action on what appears to be a spate of hate crimes.

Contacted by The Times, Police Commissioner John Rizzo said investigations into this case were still in their early stages and one could not speak of any breakthroughs. The police are looking into all avenues using a combination of the force's best units.

"We are seeing this crime as an act of terrorism because here we have some individual or group trying to silence others by using fear. It needs to be treated very seriously," Mr Rizzo said.

The Police Commissioner said the attack on Dr Camilleri's property in the early hours of Tuesday bore a great similarity to the attack on the seven Jesuit cars destroyed at St Aloysius' College, in Birkirkara, a month ago.

In both incidents, the cars and Dr Camilleri's front door were set alight in the middle of the night and this happened immediately after the Jesuits made public statements in favour of the rights and dignity of refugees.

Besides the attack at St Aloysius College, two cars and a motorcycle belonging to the Jesuit community at Tal-Qroqq, Msida, had also been torched in November.

"That seems to be the most plausible link so far. Experience shows us that nothing should be taken for granted or left to chance," Mr Rizzo said, promising that the police would keep on investigating the cases diligently.

Nationalist Party general secretary Joe Saliba condemned the attack on the lawyer's property and called on the police to nail the culprits.

"I believe that your work within the JRS and as representative of NGOs on the task force on immigration is very important for the country. Above all, it is a noble cause in favour of people who have become victims of situations over which they have no control," Mr Saliba told Dr Camilleri in a letter.

Alternattiva Demokratika's spokesman on immigration issues, Stephen Cachia, said that the situation is rapidly becoming most serious with a rapid surge in cases of cowardly violence and intimidation against persons working to support the rights of refugees.

Labour Home Affairs spokesman Gavin Gulia called for more transparency in the outcome of police investigations into these attacks which he defined as "a threat to democracy".

He called on the Police Commissioner to call a press conference on the issue, and to set up a task force to address vandalism and violence motivated by racial hatred. "If such a task force already exists it should be given publicity so that the perpetrators would know that the police are on the lookout," Dr Gulia said.

The opposition spokesman said penalties for such acts should be increased as current laws are not deterring such crimes. "In this context, people operating websites hosting electronic messages of hatred or encouraging violence should be made more responsible," Dr Gulia said.

He added there was no room for complacency and that the first signs of racial violence should be met with a decisive reaction by the authorities.

In a message published on Tuesday, the Chamber of Advocates said it cannot but see a connection between the attack on Dr Camilleri and the incident in which the Jesuits' cars were set ablaze a month ago.

The Emigrants and Refugees' Commission also expressed solidarity with Dr Camilleri and the JRS.

"The work of organisations like JRS and the Emigrants Commission should not be hindered by such acts," the commission said, adding that these acts were tarnishing Malta's name.

The CEO of the Foundation for Social Welfare Services, Joe Gerada, said persons such as Dr Camilleri, who render service to individuals greatly in need of social protection, should in no way be intimidated for carrying out their duty.

"Resorting to vicious and unjustifiable acts to terrorise front line workers only serves to strengthen the determination in doing what is just and right," Mr Gerada said.

Support was expressed by the national platform of Maltese non-governmental development organisations (NGDOs) made up of the Centre for Faith and Justice, the Jesuit Refugee Service, Kare4Kenya, Koperattiva Kummerc Gust, Kopin, Moviment Graffiti, Share Foundation, SOS Malta, Third World Group and Voluntiera Lajci Missjunarji

"The more recent arson attacks remind us how serious the situation is. It is beyond doubt that the motive behind such attacks is once again racism and xenophobia. This matter cannot be talked about only when such incidents occur, and forgotten soon after. Work combating racism and xenophobia needs to be carried out on a daily basis, in churches, schools, the media and private homes.

"We cannot wait to see who the next target is going to be. Those responsible for these attacks need to be prosecuted immediately. Moreover, legal provisions need to be enacted urgently to punish hate speech and hate crimes," the NGDOs said.

The Transformation of the Republic:

The Origins of the Religious Hi-Jacking of the American Government and the Truth Behind the Assassination of Abraham Lincoln by author and actor C.T. Wilcox.

What do you really know about the assassination of Abraham Lincoln? Would you be surprised to learn that Roman Catholic priests in Minnesota knew about Lincoln's death before it happened?

It's true. And that's just one of the eye-opening facts documented by author Charles T. Wilcox in his forthcoming book, The Transformation of the Republic: The Origins of the Religious Hi-Jacking of the American Government and The Truth Behind the Assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

In his book, Wilcox presents never before seen personal correspondence from the papers of former Roman Catholic priest Charles Chiniquy, a man defended by Abraham Lincoln against a false charge of rape, that details the involvement of the Vatican in the assassination of President Lincoln.

Why would the Roman Catholic Church try to manipulate American politics in such a drastic way? Some suggest that it was payback for American support of Italian independence in the 1840s. Chuck believes that the Vatican wanted to replace representative government in the United States with a monarchy subject to the Roman Catholic Church.

The papacy, through the Jesuits, tried to swing the American Civil War to the Confederacy. Pope Pius IX was the only foreign political leader to recognize the Confederacy, a move that led tens of thousands of desertions of Roman Catholics from the Union Army.

The aim of Pius was to destabilize the North and then sweep in with French troops stationed in Mexico — a plan that might have worked if the French hadn't been routed by the Mexican Army on May 5, 1862, at Cinco de Mayo.

Although the French resupplied their forces in Mexico, when the Civil War was over the Union began sending arms and money to the Mexicans, who finally defeated the French in 1867.

Review by:

By SHARON K. GILBERT — Watcher Magazine

November 13, 2005

HISTORIANS and academics will soon be salivating over a cache of recently uncovered documents relating to the Abraham Lincoln assassination and its subsequent prosecutory fallout — a voluminous collection that could be called the 'smoking gun' of the nineteenth century, untouched and unread and well-protected for nearly 150 years.

This heretofore unknown archive of material rests now in the capable hands of accomplished writer, C.T. Wilcox. Wilcox gained access to the remarkable papers via a friend, who himself received the documents after the rightful inheritor passed away.

In his newest book, "The Transformation of the Republic", Wilcox presents a methodical inspection of these newly unearthed documents and compares them to historically accepted materials, making strong usage of excerpted passages and entire quotes to buttress his fundamental premise that Lincoln's murder was ordered by a dark figure known as The Black Pope. Now, whether or not you lean toward the theory that much of the ruination of our world lies at the feet of the Jesuit order, Wilcox's arguments must be considered deeply, for they are cogent if not profound. His theories lie askew to most Christians' sleepy-eyed view of the world, and seldom does a contented sleeper welcome the rough jangle of dawn's alarm.

Wilcox will tell you that we've overslept, and that our slumber may well be our undoing. The root of evil that bled a president in retribution for sins against a monarchist master plan has sprouted a fully branched tree that now looms over our present republic, ready to crash down upon each slumbering citizen, making slaves of many, corpses of most. This is not a book for the timid reader, yet the timid are the most vulnerable.

"The Transformation of the Republic" contains 28 pages of images of the remarkable original documents that provide the foundation of Wilcox's stunning arguments. And though most readers would shudder at the thought of slogging through an historical tome of 400 pages, the writing is easy to follow and tantalizingly presented. It is an astoundingly quick read - at odds with most historical non-fiction. In short, this one's a page-turner.

Yet "Transformation" rises beyond the level of mere history, enriching and rewarding the reader with beautifully crafted visions of former days, calico dresses, and ghosts in tall, stovepipe hats, set amongst the intrigues of religious and racial bias that balanced the world upon the slender edge of a knife.

While the content of the newly revealed documents will spark many a future debate, Wilcox's conclusions do not hinge solely upon these for strength. If you are weary of historical fiction or political thrillers, step into a world that truly terrifies, for it is all too real. The alarm bell is ringing. Don't hit the snooze.

Title: Jesuit-controlled Republican Majority Leaders

Description: Boehner and Blunt

AVBibleBeliever - February 4, 2006 03:21 AM (GMT)

There is no doubt the Jesuit Order rules Washington and they are using the Red Romanist Right Republican Party to usher in what Jesuit Francisco Suarez called "blessed depotism" to the Fourteenth Amendment America.

Roman Catholic John Boehner, the newly elected House Republican Majority Leader is a Jesuit-trained (at Xavier University in Cincinnati) Knight of Columbus. <http://www.nndb.com/people/378/000032282/>

The other candidate was "Baptist" Roy Blunt who replaced Tom DeLay following his indictment as acting and interim Leader was former president of his alma mater Southwest Baptist University and he is a Freemason.

Brother Nick Rivera

CRAIG-OXLEY - February 4, 2006 02:44 PM (GMT)

Again always on the ball Mr Nicholas Rivera

dp9 - February 5, 2006 09:32 PM (GMT)

OK, I need a little dictionary help in order to get up to speed.

What does Rivera mean by "Red" Romanist?

When people refer to "14th amendment America," what do they mean? I hear it all the time but I don't know what it means. sorry

Good heads up here, thanks.

I never could figure out how so many "good ol' Baptist boys" could be Masons. You have to want to join. They don't recruit. I just don't see how anybody who has heard what goes on at the top could join at the bottom and call themselves Christians. Yet I've visited Baptist churches where almost all of the deacons are wearing Masonic rings.

My son says the attraction is that they are a brotherhood & help each other out & if you have any political aspirations it's a real asset to be a member as something like 1/3 of all the Presidents & senators are members.

Alexandra - February 5, 2006 10:18 PM (GMT)

Jack Chick has a tract concerning the Masons. If you want to check it out, I think it's called Good Old Boys.

Those on the lower levels are deceived.

You know, Billy Graham is a 33rd degree Mason.

dp9 - February 6, 2006 10:01 PM (GMT)

My maternal grandfather was a Mason. I don't know how high up he was. He showed me some of his stuff when I was a little girl. He had a certificate made of chamois that was signed in lamb's blood. There is a bloodline oath or something about the firstborn progeny where each first born child is pledged to the Masons. I'm the first born in my family, so when I found out about this after I became a Christian, I broke the curse. I broke it over my firstborn, too.

My grandfather had a Masonic burial rather than a Christian one. Masons were his pallbearers rather than his own sons and brothers. By this alone you can see who he belonged to.

My dear old grandparents on my father's side were descended from a long line of Baptist missionaries. A lot of what Brother Eric & 2tuff say, my grandmother taught me. But she was deceived about Billy Graham. I think a lot of Baptists are (maybe SBC more than independents???), and think the Masons must be OK since Rev. Graham is a member.

I am very, very new at the whole subject of conspiracies. I really don't know anything. I'm just a student. What has grabbed me about 2tuff is that he continues to encourage people to keep going further up the chain of command (or down, because it's really an inversion, isn't it?).

Jack Chick is wonderful. Thank you.

AVBibleBeliever - February 12, 2006 08:52 AM (GMT)

dp9,

I apologize for my delayed reply. In Vatican Assassins, Brother Eric Jon Phelps talks about the Red Radical Republicans who pushed for the Fourteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution which made national citizenship primary and state citizenship subordinate to that. Before the Jesuits fomented the War Between the States aka Civil War which Brother Eric shows was truly the War for Southern Independence from a tyrannical government. Prior to the Fourteenth Amendment, state citizenship was first and foremost and the federal government could not infringe upon the rights of the states or the Bill of Rights which are Baptist. Baptist James Madison called for them to be put in or else Virginia would not ratify the Constitution. The Bill of Rights were intended to protect the states from the tyranny and they were checks on the federal government. Read the Fourteenth Amendment and see how a new empire was created after it was unlawfully and unconstitutionally "ratified" due to pressure from Thaddeus Stevens and the other Red Radical Republicans who imposed martial law on the South during Reconstruction. Stevens advocated a war of Southern extermination and recolonization. Stevens was also chairman of the Committee on Reconstruction and oversaw the punishment of the South by the Jesuit-controlled American empire which was then used to punish Spain for expelling the Jesuits about a century prior to the Spanish-American War. http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Thaddeus_Stevens (notice the Masonic gesture) <http://www.civilwarhome.com/stevensbio.htm> (article says he was an Anti-Mason but the photo)

These Radical Republicans were "Red" because they wanted the Fourteenth Amendment ratified which would create a Socialist-Communist Jesuit empire and destroyed the Constitutional Federal Republic which was a product of the Protestant Reformation the Constitution and Bill of Rights having been Baptist and Calvinist. The Jesuit Order has since ruled this country and throughout the twentieth century used it to "extirpate heretics" in accordance with the Extreme Oath of the Order-the Fourth Vow and the Council of Trent which was masterminded and dominated by the Jesuits. The U. S. since then has been nothing but an annex of the Holy Roman Empire restoring and enforcing Papal universal temporal power worldwide and is doing so in the Middle East at this moment and reconstructing it to the delight of the Black Pope. There has never been an inquisition here in America but the Order is consolidating its power over the military, Justice Department including the American SS the Unholy Office of Homeland Security etc. to destroy the last bastion of Protestantism albeit most of it has already been subverted, infiltrated, and destroyed through high-level Freemasonry which the Jesuits control. So Protestantism for the most part in this country-professing mainstream Christianity is apostate and has been politicized; it has been prostituted to serve this Jesuit-controlled government dominated by the Red New Romanist (falsely called Christian Right for there is nothing Biblical about it and it actually headed by secret societies all commanded at the top by the Jesuit General- high-level Freemasons, Roman Catholics either Knights of Malta or Columbus there are many Romanist knighthoods, Council on Foreign Relations which controls both parties, and other political and policy "thinktanks" etc.)

The Order will use their media, their ecumenical movement, Charismatic movement and its leaders like high-level Mason Pat Robertson, pro-Sun Myung Moon Jerry Falwell etc. to trigger and foment anti-Biblical Protestant sentiment. It has already begun, the Order's media constantly portrays Skull and Bonesman Luciferian George W. Bush as a born-again Evangelical Christian which is a blatant lie. I read an article in which his aides are quoted saying Bush denies he is a born again and that the specifics of his beliefs are left to speculation. The Jesuit/SMOM Knights of Malta/Masonic Fascist Red Radical Republican Party has built a political power base of professing Christians just as Adolf Hitler and his Nazi Party targeted homosexuals to build their political base and after it came to power it began to kill them betraying their greatest supporters. In addition to sodomites their base included other riff raff like drug addicts. It is no coincidence that the White Pope Antichrist Benedict XVI is a Nazi Pope which means he will secretly approve of the American Reich and its police force the SS Unholy Office of Homeland (Vaterland or Fatherland named after Nazi Germany) Security. I trust this is helpful and please keep the questions coming. I'd be happy to answer them as best as I can. I appreciate your interest in the subject. The Unhived Mind forum is all about inquiry and reaching your own conclusions based on the evidence presented. Thank you very much for the opportunity to help answer your question.

Brother Rivera,

Thank you so much. Your answer clarifies a lot for me.

A bit of info about me... I was/am saved, blood-bought, born again, Jesus Christ being my Lord and Savior since March 27, 1977. I grew up Baptist & have gone back to my roots, so to speak, although I attend church in the denomination my husband prefers.

You mention wondering about President Bush's faith. I worked on his campaign all the way from his first term as governor of Texas to the 2004 election. When he first ran as governor back in the 90's, he made it very clear to us, the Christian Right (sigh I'm learning so much so fast) that he had experienced salvation and that Arthur Blessitt, the evangelist, had the privilege of leading GWB to the Lord. His aides said Bush prayed and read his Bible daily, he and Laura prayed over important decisions, and he went to church regularly (Methodist). He quoted scriptures often, was a strong advocate for the unborn, & mentioned the work of churches at every turn. I never had the opportunity to meet him or Laura personally, but some of my friends have, and have no doubt that he is a born again Christian.

We all knew he was a bad boy at Yale and was a heavy drinker all the way up to his conversion. He didn't go into details, but he made it clear that that was history. We all loved George & Laura and were delighted to have them in Austin.

I was surprised to hear his story of his conversion had changed when he was running for President. He told people he had had a meaningful talk with Billy Graham & that changed his life. He felt like God was calling him to be the President, and I'm sure you agree that the Lord does set up leaders and rulers for His purposes. I remember the struggle with his decision to run. Laura didn't want him to run. He asked all of us to pray for him.

Once he got on the campaign trail, his faith seemed to take a back seat at times and his true beliefs became more "private." He seems to have fallen prey to the pressure of politics. I think personally that GWB is a Christian, but he got swallowed up in DC by the powers that be- and we've got a good bet who that might be.

I used to be one of those starry-eyed supporters who worshipped George & Laura as the saviors of our nation. But thanks to 2tuff's enduring posts on another forum I began to see I was worshipping a false image that was nothing like the Biblical Christianity I said I believed in. My politics had become my religion. Even though 2 tuff isn't a Christian, he introduced me to Bro. Phelps and others who are strong Bible-believing men. I bought an AV1611KJV Bible and started comparing it to other Bibles & was shocked. I have gone back to my Baptist roots and embraced my heritage. I am emphasizing real history to my children as well as telling them the truth about global governance, etc. Most importantly, I am equipping them to be able to share their faith boldly.

I use the Neopets "BaaBaa" sheep avatar to remind myself of what I have been. :)

Thank you again so answering my questions so thoroughly. It's amazing to see who's hand appears at every turn throughout American history, trying to undermine the work of God.

Prayers & blessings,
-Donna

I'd say Bush is a pseudo-Christian. Look at what he's like.

He doesn't mind torture.

He hasn't repented of being a Bonesman.

He's a Jesuit puppet.

If he truly were converted he'd stop acting like he was above the law.

As far as Abraham Lincoln...I really don't believe that he was a tyrant. According to a book "Abraham Lincoln, the Christian" published about 100 years ago, Lincoln converted to Christianity in 1863 following the Battle of Gettysburg.

He was asked to sign death warrants for army deserters and he said don't ask him to do it, there were enough weeping widows.

He wanted to go easy on the South when they came back to the Union--which is one of the reasons for his assassination.

Lincoln was between a rock and a hard place, because the Jesuits had really stirred the pot and were playing both sides against each other. So I think calling him a tyrant is really unfair. He knew what was going on because Samuel Morse (inventor of Morse code) had told him what he'd learned while in Rome. Lincoln did not tell the people because then it would have turned into an even bloodier religious war.

Also note that the Vatican was the only "nation" to recognize the "legitimacy" of the Confederacy. As Lincoln pointed out, had the Vatican not been backing the South, it would not have rebelled.

The Constitution does permit habeas corpus to be suspended under certain conditions, rebellion being one of them. Article 1 section 9 states: The privilege of the Writ of Habeas Corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in Cases of Rebellion or Invasion the public Safety may require it. [I wonder if Bush will use the Mexican invasion as an excuse?]

I know Lincoln was accused of stopping presses, and I wonder if maybe he was stopping the Catholic-controlled presses. About half the newspaper chains 140 years ago were Jesuit-controlled. So that makes me wonder, was he really being tyrannical, or was he putting the gag on Catholic papers? They had been printing lies about him, that he was born and baptized a Roman Catholic, that he was a heretic, ad nauseum.

From what I gather, the Jesuits were trying to play the North against the South, using the issues of slavery and states' rights as an excuse--I would go so far to say as using the Constitution against America. They were trying to divide and conquer America.

BTW I got a lot of this information from "Fifty Years in the 'Church' of Rome" by Pastor Charles Chiniquy, who was a former Catholic priest. Chiniquy was a friend of Lincoln's.

What i do know for certain about secret societies mainly comes down through personal experience with family and having spent a young adulthood in the DC area.

My father's family were masons, my grandmother was in the eastern stars..her side were descended from German nobility.

To say i do not like them is an understatement.

I have a couple of uncles who work for CIA..i have noticed there is a heavy catholic presence in the CIA and FBI.

I espically noticed after being talked into applying for a job with National Security Agency by my mother that the agent that interviewed me for the background check was catholic.

Shortly afterward one of the uncles visited, at the start of the Iraq war...he was suprised when i mentioned the Knights of Malta in passing.

Also it is clear that everywhere the CIA seems to have a presence, drug trafficking inczeases.

The CIA are more of a direct organisation of the BLACK POPE and JESUITS than many of the others. They're seen as the Black Popes assassins and of course they do good work in keeping his drugs going and gangs in check. So if you know anyone in the CIA they are working for the Jesuit Order and you'll probably find they haven't even a clue about it.

Start opening your mouth about the SMOM and try to get some answers. You see that this is the pinnacle of control we're talking about right now. We've done away with all the disinformation and multiple diversional pathways and we're on the right path and at the end. People in the know will find it shocking when someone ousts the real masters as their covert tactics work well in around 95-98% of the time. I see through their crap and diversions and know the JESUIT ORDER followed by Sovereign Military of Malta are the TRUE ELITE of this world and more powerful than you can imagine. Remember on that America has many nukes and so does Russia. Now remember on that the Jesuits control both sides and many more including China, UK ect. Imagine the power this allows them thanks to their foreign advisers or should I say dictators known as RIIA, BILDERBERG, CFR, TRL, CLUB OF ROME etc.

Yes my friend Roman Catholic control is everywhere, now you know of it you can now see it clearly. This conspiracy isn't jewish, its Roman Catholic and Gentiles. The power of the world has always been in Italy both with the Vatican and of course Black Nobility.

An Al Jazeera Editor Lauds John Paul II

"He Seemed Very Human to My Eyes"

ROME, APRIL 9, 2006 (Zenit.org).- An editor with the Al Jazeera television station has praise for John Paul II, contending that he was "not only the Pope of Catholics."

Imad El Atrache, editor in chief of the Brussels' office of the Mideast-based Al Jazeera, made that comment at a congress entitled "John Paul II: Religious Event, Television Event."

The congress, which ended Friday, was organized by Italian Public Radio and Television at the Gregorian University.

"His embrace of all peoples, regardless of their creed, made his figure surpass the boundaries of his Church, making John Paul II, according to our Muslim journalistic language, no longer the Pope of Catholics but simply 'the Pope,'" explained El Atrache.

"He began his pontificate saying in Italian: 'If I make a mistake, you will correct me.' In this way, he seemed very human to my eyes," explained the journalist who previously worked in the Arab station's external relations.

"It was such an ingenuous and clever phrase that it reversed everything: The Pope who is the guide of the faithful was allowing himself to be led by them, solely and exclusively to guide them better," El Atrache observed.

Truth about man

"I, who am first a Muslim and then a journalist, was fascinated by this Pope, that is, by a Pope who respected profoundly the truth about man, which is expressed in the religious sense," the journalist continued.

"All men who accept and have something of the transcendent in their creed ... honor the truth about man and, therefore, according to John Paul II, at the same time honor Jesus Christ, who is the truth about man," he added.

El Atrache added: "In Morocco [in 1985] in a stadium with 45,000 youths, the Pope said that Muslims and Christians can collaborate based on the same God of love. But at the same time he did not hide the great and profound difference that exists between them, regarding the person of Jesus and his role in the history of salvation."

Title: How The Vatican created Islam

Description: Alberto Rivera

smashstuff - April 13, 2006 09:46 AM (GMT)

I apologise if this has been posted here before, I just saw it on David Icke's headline page, it's from cloakanddagger:

<http://www.davidicke.com/content/view/744/48/>

'How the Vatican created Islam. The astonishing story from an ex-Jesuit priest, Alberto Rivera, which was told to him by Cardinal Bea while he was at the Vatican.

From "The Prophet":

This information came from Alberto Rivera, former Jesuit priest after his conversion to Protestant Christianity. It is excerpted from "The Prophet," published by Chick Publications, PO Box 662, Chino CA 91708. Since its publication, after several unsuccessful attempts on his life, he died suddenly from food poisoning. His testimony should not be silenced. Dr. Rivera speaks to us still ...

"What I'm going to tell you is what I learned in secret briefings in the Vatican when I was a Jesuit priest, under oath and induction. A Jesuit cardinal named Augustine Bea showed us how desperately the Roman Catholics wanted Jerusalem at the end of the third century. Because of its religious history and its strategic location, the Holy City was considered a priceless treasure. A scheme had to be developed to make Jerusalem a Roman Catholic city.

"The great untapped source of manpower that could do this job was the children of Ishmael. The poor Arabs fell victim to one of the most clever plans ever devised by the powers of darkness. Early Christians went everywhere with the gospel setting up small churches, but they met heavy opposition. Both the Jews and the Roman government persecuted the believers in Christ to stop their spread. But the Jews rebelled against Rome, and in 70 AD, Roman armies under General Titus smashed Jerusalem and destroyed the great Jewish temple which was the heart of Jewish worship...in fulfillment of Christ's prophecy in Matthew 24:2.

"On this holy place today where the temple once stood, the Dome of the Rock Mosque stands as Islam's second most holy place. Sweeping changes were in the wind. Corruption, apathy, greed, cruelty, perversion and rebellion were eating at the Roman Empire, and it was ready to collapse. The persecution against Christians was useless as they continued to lay down their lives for the gospel of Christ.

"The only way Satan could stop this thrust was to create a counterfeit "Christian" religion to destroy the work of God. The solution was in Rome. Their religion had come from ancient Babylon and all it needed was a face-lift. This didn't happen overnight, but began in the writings of the 'early church fathers'.

"It was through their writings that a new religion would take shape. The statue of Jupiter in Rome was eventually called St. Peter, and the statue of Venus was changed to the Virgin Mary. The site chosen for its headquarters was on one of the seven hills called 'Vaticanus', the place of the diving serpent where the Satanic temple of Janus stood.

"The great counterfeit religion was Roman Catholicism, called 'Mystery, Babylon the Great, the Mother of Harlots and Abominations of the Earth'- Revelation 17:5. She was raised up to block the gospel, slaughter the believers in Christ, establish religions, create wars and make the nations drunk with the wine of her fornication as we will see.

"Three major religions have one thing in common - each has a holy place where they look for guidance. Roman Catholicism looks to the Vatican as the Holy City. The Jews look to the wailing wall in Jerusalem, and the Muslims look to Mecca as their Holy City. Each group believes that they receive certain types of blessings for the rest of their lives for visiting their holy place. In the beginning, Arab visitors would bring gifts to the 'House of God', and the keepers of the Kaaba were gracious to all who came. Some brought their idols and, not wanting to offend these people, their idols were placed inside the sanctuary. It is said that the Jews looked upon the Kaaba as an outlying tabernacle of the Lord with veneration until it became polluted with idols.

"In a tribal contention over a well(Zamzam) the treasure of the Kaaba and the offerings that pilgrims had given were dumped down the well and it was filled with sand - it disappeared. Many years later Adb Al-Muttalib was given visions telling him where to find the well and its treasure. He became the hero of Mecca, and he was destined to become the grandfather of Muhammad. Before this time, Augustine became the bishop of North Africa and was effective in winning Arabs to Roman Catholicism, including whole tribes. It was among these Arab converts to Catholicism that the concept of looking for an Arab prophet developed.

"Muhammad's father died from illness and sons born to great Arab families in places like Mecca were sent into the desert to be suckled and weaned and spend some of their childhood with Bedouin tribes for training and to avoid the plagues in the cities.

"After his mother and grandfather also died, Muhammad was with his uncle when a Roman Catholic monk learned of his identity and said, "Take your brother's son back to his country and guard him against the Jews, for by god, if they see him and know of him that which I know, they will construe evil against him. Great things are in store for this brother's son of yours."

"The Roman Catholic monk had fanned the flames for future Jewish persecutions at the hands of the followers of Muhammad. The Vatican desperately wanted Jerusalem because of its religious significance, but was blocked by the Jews.

"Another problem was the true Christians in North Africa who preached the gospel. Roman Catholicism was growing in power, but would not tolerate opposition. Somehow the Vatican had to create a weapon to eliminate both the Jews and the true Christian believers who refused to accept Roman Catholicism. Looking to North Africa, they saw the multitudes of Arabs as a source of manpower to do their dirty work. Some Arabs had become Roman Catholic, and could be used in reporting information to leaders in Rome. Others were used in an underground spy network to carry out Rome's master plan to control the great multitudes of Arabs who rejected Catholicism. When 'St Augustine' appeared on the scene, he knew what was going on. His monasteries served as bases to seek out and destroy Bible manuscripts owned by the true Christians.

"The Vatican wanted to create a messiah for the Arabs, someone they could raise up as a great leader, a man with charisma whom they could train, and eventually unite all the non-Catholic Arabs behind him, creating a mighty army that would ultimately capture Jerusalem for the pope. In the Vatican briefing, Cardinal Bea told us this story:

'A wealthy Arabian lady who was a faithful follower of the pope played a tremendous part in this drama. She was a widow named Khadijah. She gave her wealth to the church and retired to a convent, but was given an assignment. She was to find a brilliant young man who could be used by the Vatican to create a new religion and become the messiah for the children of Ishmael. Khadijah had a cousin named Waraquah,, who was also a very faithful Roman Catholic and the Vatican placed him in a critical role as Muhammad's advisor. He had tremendous influence on Muhammad.

'Teachers were sent to young Muhammad and he had intensive training. Muhammad studied the works of St. Augustine which prepared him for his "great calling." The Vatican had Catholic Arabs across North Africa spread the story of a great one who was about to rise up among the people and be the chosen one of their God.

'While Muhammad was being prepared, he was told that his enemies were the Jews and that the only true Christians were Roman Catholic. He was taught that others calling themselves Christians were actually wicked impostors and should be destroyed. Many Muslims believe this.

'Muhammad began receiving "divine revelations" and his wife's Catholic cousin Waraquah helped interpret them. From this came the Koran. In the fifth year of Muhammad's mission, persecution came against his followers because they refused to worship the idols in the Kaaba.

'Muhammad instructed some of them to flee to Abyssinia where Negus, the Roman Catholic king accepted them because Muhammad's views on the virgin Mary were so close to Roman Catholic doctrine. These Muslims received protection from Catholic kings because of Muhammad's revelations.

'Muhammad later conquered Mecca and the Kaaba was cleared of idols. History proves that before Islam came into existence, the Sabeans in Arabia worshiped the moon-god who was married to the sun-god. They gave birth to three goddesses who were worshipped throughout the Arab world as "Daughters of Allah" An idol excavated at Hazor in Palestine in 1950's shows Allah sitting on a throne with the crescent moon on his chest.

'Muhammad claimed he had a vision from Allah and was told, "You are the messenger of Allah." This began his career as a prophet and he received many messages. By the time Muhammad died, the religion of Islam was exploding. The nomadic Arab tribes were joining forces in the name of Allah and his prophet, Muhammad.

'Some of Muhammad's writings were placed in the Koran, others were never published. They are now in the hands of high ranking holy men (Ayatollahs) in the Islamic faith.'

"When Cardinal Bea shared with us in the Vatican, he said, these writings are guarded because they contain information that links the Vatican to the creation of Islam. Both sides have so much information on each other, that if exposed, it could create such a scandal that it would be a disaster for both religions.

"In their "holy" book, the Koran, Christ is regarded as only a prophet. If the pope was His representative on earth, then he also must be a prophet of God. This caused the followers of Muhammad to fear and respect the pope as another "holy man."

"The pope moved quickly and issued bulls granting the Arab generals permission to invade and conquer the nations of North Africa. The Vatican helped to finance the building of these massive Islamic armies in exchange for three favors:

1. Eliminate the Jews and Christians (true believers, which they called infidels).
2. Protect the Augustinian Monks and Roman Catholics.

3. Conquer Jerusalem for "His Holiness" in the Vatican.

"As time went by, the power of Islam became tremendous - Jews and true Christians were slaughtered, and Jerusalem fell into their hands. Roman Catholics were never attacked, nor were their shrines, during this time. But when the pope asked for Jerusalem, he was surprised at their denial! The Arab generals had such military success that they could not be intimidated by the pope - nothing could stand in the way of their own plan.

"Under Waraquah's direction, Muhammad wrote that Abraham offered Ishmael as a sacrifice. The Bible says that Isaac was the sacrifice, but Muhammad removed Isaac's name and inserted Ishmael's name. As a result of this and Muhammad's vision, the faithful Muslims built a mosque, the Dome of the Rock, in Ishmael's honor on the site of the Jewish temple that was destroyed in 70 AD. This made Jerusalem the 2nd most holy place in the Islam faith. How could they give such a sacred shrine to the pope without causing a revolt?

"The pope realized what they had created was out of control when he heard they were calling "His Holiness" an infidel. The Muslim generals were determined to conquer the world for Allah and now they turned toward Europe. Islamic ambassadors approached the pope and asked for papal bulls to give them permission to invade European countries.

"The Vatican was outraged; war was inevitable. Temporal power and control of the world was considered the basic right of the pope. He wouldn't think of sharing it with those whom he considered heathens.

"The pope raised up his armies and called them crusades to hold back the children of Ishmael from grabbing Catholic Europe. The crusades lasted centuries and Jerusalem slipped out of the pope's hands.

"Turkey fell and Spain and Portugal were invaded by Islamic forces. In Portugal, they called a mountain village "Fatima" in honor of Muhammad's daughter, never dreaming it would become world famous.

"Years later when the Muslim armies were poised on the islands of Sardinia and Corsica, to invade Italy, there was a serious problem. The Islamic generals realized they were too far extended. It was time for peace talks. One of the negotiators was Francis of Assisi.

"As a result, the Muslims were allowed to occupy Turkey in a "Christian" world, and the Catholics were allowed to occupy Lebanon in the Arab world. It was also agreed that the Muslims could build mosques in Catholic countries without interference as long as Roman Catholicism could flourish Arab countries.

"Cardinal Bea told us in Vatican briefings that both the Muslims and Roman Catholics agreed to block and destroy the efforts of their common enemy, Bible-believing Christian missionaries. Through these concordats, Satan blocked the children of Ishmael from a knowledge of Scripture and the truth.

"A tight control was kept on Muslims from the Ayatollah down through the Islamic priests, nuns and monks. The Vatican also engineers a campaign of hatred between the Muslim Arabs and the Jews. Before this, they had co-existed peacefully.

"The Islamic community looks on the Bible-believing missionary as a devil who brings poison to the children of Allah. This explains years of ministry in those countries with little results.

"The next plan was to control Islam. In 1910, Portugal was going Socialistic. Red flags were appearing and the Catholic Church was facing a major problem. Increasing numbers were against the church.

"The Jesuits wanted Russia involved, and the location of this vision at Fatima could play a key part in pulling Islam to the Mother Church.

"In 1917, the Virgin appeared in Fatima. "The Mother of God" was a smashing success, playing to overflow crowds. As a result, the Socialists of Portugal suffered a major defeat.

"Roman Catholics world-wide began praying for the conversion of Russia and the Jesuits invented the Novenas to Fatima which they could perform throughout North Africa, spreading good public relations to the Muslim world. The Arabs thought they were honoring the daughter of Muhammad, which is what the Jesuits wanted them to believe.

"As a result of the vision of Fatima, Pope Pius XII ordered his Nazi army to crush Russia and the Orthodox religion and make Russia Roman Catholic." A few years after he lost World War II, Pope Pius XII startled the world with his phoney dancing sun vision to keep Fatima in the news. It was great religious show biz and the world swallowed it.

"Not surprisingly, Pope Pius was the only one to see this vision. As a result, a group of followers has grown into a Blue Army world-wide, totaling millions of faithful Roman Catholics ready to die for the blessed virgin.

"But we haven't seen anything yet. The Jesuits have their Virgin Mary scheduled to appear four or five times in China, Russia, and major appearance in the U.S.

"What has this got to do with Islam? Note Bishop Sheen's statement: "Our Lady's appearances at Fatima marked the turning point in the history of the world's 350 million Muslims. After the death of his daughter, Muhammad wrote that she "is the most holy of all women in Paradise, next to Mary."

"He believed that the Virgin Mary chose to be known as Our Lady of Fatima as a sign and a pledge that the Muslims who believe in Christ's virgin birth, will come to believe in His divinity.

"Bishop Sheen pointed out that the pilgrim virgin statues of Our Lady of Fatima were enthusiastically received by Muslims in Africa, India, and elsewhere, and that many Muslims are now coming into the Roman Catholic Church." ' '

Title: The Holy Week in Spain

CRAIG-OXLEY - April 13, 2006 01:24 AM (GMT)

The Holy Week in Spain

<http://www.fiscalstudy.com/2004-global-pho...e-holy-week.php>

Hundreds of easter processions take place in Spain during the Holy Week around the clock drawing thousands of visitors.

About Easter in Spain (Semana Santa)

Easter week is a Catholic celebration. It is the celebration of the death and resurrection of Jesus. It is considered a one-week holiday for schools, and a two-day holiday for workers. It is celebrated all over Spain, but it is most important in the South. Even though it is a Catholic celebration, everybody enjoys it. Years ago, it was just a religious feeling. Women wore black clothing, men always wore dark suits with a black tie, and everybody was so serious. Today people who enjoy it think more about having fun than celebrating.

On those days, religious images are displayed in the streets, and people follow them. These images, called tronos, are pieces of art. They are made of gold and silver and fine fabrics. They are decorated with a lot of fresh flowers. They are so beautiful. Forty or fifty men hold each trono on their shoulders all the way, which used to be between four or five hours, always at night.

Many visitors from all over the world come to Spain this week and enjoy this celebration.

The religious traditions that dominate the culture of Spain are never more evident than during the week of Semana Santa when there are thousands of processions throughout Spain. While every city or town has its own traditions, some of the most famous Holy Week events take place in Valencia, Cuenca, Valladolid, Murcia, Zamora, Cardoba and Sevilla. Sevilla is known as the "cradle" of these processions and is by far the most spectacular example of Holy Week in Spain.

The history of the present day traditions of Holy Week in Sevilla has its origins as early as 1248 when King Fernando III reclaimed Sevilla from the Moors. Hermandades had been formed during the reconquest to rescue injured soldiers from the battlefields and to bury the dead. The hermandades were organized according to the professions and jobs of the times. As the years passed and the Catholic Church reestablished its dominance throughout Spain, Sevilla's organized brotherhoods of Catholic believers also grew. By the 16th century, Sevilla had established the tradition of processions to symbolize the journey of Christ to Calvary.

Semana Santa in Sevilla is arranged into eight days of processions beginning with Palm Sunday and going through Easter Sunday. Two separate schedules are observed for Good Friday, one beginning at dawn and the other later in the afternoon. Sevilla has a total of 52 hermandades that take to the streets in an organized procession called a cofradia. The cofradia begins with the Cruz de Gula and is followed by two rows of nazarenos carrying candles, banners, the book containing the rules by which the hermandad is governed and various religious relics of the church. These members of 'the confraternity' precede two pasos or floats, one representing a scene from the Passion of Christ, and one representing the Sorrow of the Virgin Mary. A Paso Virgen weighs about 1500 kilos and a Paso Cristo weighs about 2000 kilos. Many members often are the carriers of the floats themselves but professional costaleros are also used. A marching band, consisting primarily of trumpets and drums, follows playing the traditional processional music. The images on the floats are mostly carved in wood by the great 17th-century Andalusian religious sculptors. Crowds line the streets and plazas as the cofradias pass by—some jovially, handing candies out to children, others in complete silence reminding us of the significance of their journey. They make their way from their home church to the Carrera Oficial-. the route from the Plaza de la Campana along the infamous tiled street, Calle Sierpes, by the Town Hall and finally passing through the immense Gothic cathedral to return home. As a procession enters its church after the long symbolic journey, a hush falls over the crowd as a lone man on a balcony sings an emotional saeta. In a throng of thousands one can hear a coin drop as tired costaleros sometimes scoot on their knees to carry enormous floats through small doors and to their resting place until the next year.

It is customary to wear new clothes on Palm Sunday. On El Jueves y El Viernes San women dress in the traje de mantilia, all in black, representing the state of mourning begun by Christ's death on Good Friday. Carnations are the traditional flowers used to decorate the floats. The favorite pastries for Semana Santa are torrijas and pestihos.

Semana Santa in Sevilla is an experience that one will never forget. Even for the non Christian, it is a sobering experience that draws us all to reflect on our own culture and the history of humanity. Amazingly, eight days pass with almost no sleep. A city of over a million people is united with their past and reaffirm their present. Amidst the confusing smells of orange trees in bloom, incense in the air, melted wax caked on the streets, and with the resounding beat of drum in the distance, one can begin to understand what it means to be "Sevillano".

The considerable variants of the Holy Week are determined by the historical evolution of religious fiestas and, above all, by folk traditions which determine individuality and character. Malaga and Seville are the two Andaluz cities where the festivities are perhaps the best known for the sheer sense of spectacle and size. But there are differences, as noted hereafter.

Cadiz: Here like the rest of Andalucia, Holy Week is a religious event, which is, above all, festive and where a series of elements blend together to create a wonderful event. The most famous fraternity in Cadiz is that of Nazareno (nicknamed the "Grenuo") which is supposedly derived from the miraculous cure of various epidemics suffered by the local people. Easter Saturday's parade features the fraternity of "Santo Entierro" which is the only one which is on wheels, steered by fourteen men.

Cordoba: A highly traditional week with a seriousness and depth which distinguishes it from other provinces, although, to tell the truth, it is becoming more and more boisterous. It has lost a great deal of its traditions and customs, like that of installing altars in the houses or the ringing of the church bells to announce the resurrection. In the houses the women used to play "almiretes" (bells) and pound on all types of utensils. However, the tradition of the brotherhood has been reborn and new fraternities are emerging.

Jaen: This city has a strong folk influence but is not so well known as some of the others. The most important day is Maundy Thursday when the best loved image is paraded that of the "abuelo" (grandfather) a full body sculpture of a "nazareno". During the procession the crowning moment is the joining up of Nuestro Padre Nazareno (our Nazareno Father) and the "Virgen de Los Dolores" (Virgin of Pain). As well as the aforementioned "saeta", there is a typical chant called the "tracto" which is particularly poignant and unique and just one of the reasons why Jaen is so special during Holy Week.

Malaga: One of the most spectacular features of the Holy Week in Malaga is that the floats are simply monumental and can weigh up to six tons. They are made to house velvet and gold drapes which reach up to some nine metres and cover the "dolorosa" (statues). The sheer size of the floats means that they cannot enter through the churches and therefore have to be assembled in the street. More than a hundred young men support each one. The "Virgen de las Penas" (Virgen of Sorrow) is not dressed in the traditional velvet robe but instead clad with natural flowers comprising more than twenty thousand carnations.

Seville: This city has some fifty five fraternities that parade with a total of one hundred and five floats. The images are mainly of the master sculptors, such as Juan de Mena, Martinez Montaner and J. Antonio Illanes. The night of Maundy Thursday is Seville's main fiesta when their favourite Virgin "La Marcarena" and those of "Triana" and "El Gran Poder" emerge into the crown lined streets.

Easter in non-Christian Traditions

Easter is a time of springtime festivals. In Christian countries Easter is celebrated as the religious holiday commemorating the resurrection of Jesus Christ. But the celebrations of Easter have many customs and legends that are pagan in origin and have nothing to do with Christianity.

Scholars, accepting the derivation proposed by the 8th-century English scholar St. Bede, believe the name Easter is thought to come from the Scandinavian "Ostra" and the Teutonic "Ostern" or "Eastre," both Goddesses of mythology signifying spring and fertility whose festival was celebrated on the day of the vernal equinox.

Traditions associated with the festival survive in the Easter rabbit, a symbol of fertility, and in colored easter eggs, originally painted with bright colors to represent the sunlight of spring, and used in Easter-egg rolling contests or given as gifts

The Christian celebration of Easter embodies a number of converging traditions with emphasis on the relation of Easter to the Jewish festival of Passover, or Pesach, from which is derived Pasch, another name used by Europeans for Easter. Passover is an important feast in the Jewish calendar which is celebrated for 8 days and commemorates the flight and freedom of the Israelites from slavery in Egypt.

The early Christians, many of whom were of Jewish origin, were brought up in the Hebrew tradition and regarded Easter as a new feature of the Passover festival, a commemoration of the advent of the Messiah as foretold by the prophets. (For more information please visit our Passover celebration - Passover on the Net

Easter is observed by the churches of the West on the first Sunday following the full moon that occurs on or following the spring equinox (March 21). So Easter became a "movable" feast which can occur as early as March 22 or as late as April 25.

Christian churches in the East which were closer to the birthplace of the new religion and in which old traditions were strong, observe Easter according to the date of the Passover festival.

Easter is at the end of the Lenten season, which covers a forty-six-day period that begins on Ash Wednesday and ends with Easter. The Lenten season itself comprises forty days, as the six Sundays in Lent are not actually a part of Lent. Sundays are considered a commemoration of Easter Sunday and have always been excluded from the Lenten fast. The Lenten season is a period of penitence in preparation for the highest festival of the church year, Easter Holy Week, the last week of Lent, begins its with the observance of Palm Sunday. Palm Sunday takes its name from Jesus' triumphal entry into Jerusalem where the crowds laid palms at his feet. Holy Thursday commemorates the Last Supper, which was held the evening before the Crucifixion. Friday in Holy Week is the anniversary of the Crucifixion, the day that Christ was crucified and died on the cross

Holy week and the Lenten season end with Easter Sunday, the day of resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Alexandra - April 13, 2006 02:07 AM (GMT)

Christ's resurrection was not on Easter Sunday, but most likely on Saturday around evening. His crucifixion was on a Wednesday, not a Friday.

If you look at Leviticus, you see the Jewish holy days. Wednesday was the Passover. Thursday was the First Day of Unleavened Bread, which was a high holy day--a sabbath day. The reason the guards were breaking people's legs was to speed their deaths along because the next day was a high holy day.

Jesus said in Matthew 12:40 that He would be THREE DAYS AND THREE NIGHTS in the heart of the earth. Friday to Sunday is NOT three days, three nights!

As I always say, Catholicism is nothing more than counterfeit Christianity. Catholicism is paganism in a Christian wrapping.

True Christians don't buy into this pagan nonsense.

So, Shimon Peres finagles his way to number two in the government. What does that mean to him? A fun trip to the Vatican.

First, Shimon packs his trunks for the huge Papal pool. Then some plastic puke to liven up the meeting with Benny. And of course, he doesn't forget those silly written promises to hand over Jerusalem to the holy see.

<http://sfgate.com/cgi-bin/article.cgi?f=/n/a/2006/04/06/international/i042224D46.DTL>

Peres Meets With Pope in Vatican Thursday, April 6, 2006 / 8 Nisan 5766
Israel's indefatigable Shimon Peres met with Pope Benedict XVI today, and submitted an invitation to visit Israel from Acting Prime Minister Ehud Olmert.

The two met for 40 minutes in the Vatican, and the Pope said he hopes to visit Israel sometime in the first half of next year. They said afterwards that they had discussed Middle East matters. "I definitely believe that a visit by the Pope can influence the peace process," Peres told reporters.

Peres is reported, in 1994, to have promised the Vatican official status in Jerusalem.

In February 2000, the Vatican and the Palestinian Authority signed an agreement calling for an internationally guaranteed special status for Jerusalem. The agreement stated that a special statute would protect "equality before the law of the three monotheistic religions [in Jerusalem], the proper identity and sacred character of the city, [and] freedom of access" to the city's holy sites.

Israel objected, saying that freedom of religion is already protected throughout the country. It also opposed the Vatican's treatment of the PA as an independent country.

Shortly afterwards, Pope John Paul II visited Israel, and - unlike one of his predecessors, Pope Paul VI, who visited in 1964 - agreed to come to Jerusalem. Pope John Paul met with the Chief Rabbis in their Jerusalem offices, and visited Yad Vashem as well. Pope Paul, on the other hand, refused to visit Jerusalem, leading then-Chief Rabbi Yitzchak Nissim to boycott his visit altogether.

During his visit in 2000, Pope John Paul II conducted a prayer service in Bethlehem, and announced that the Vatican had always recognized the Palestinians' national rights to a homeland. Rabbi Shlomo Aviner, Dean of Yeshivat Ateret Cohanim, said in response that the Pope's goal was simply to obtain a foothold in Jerusalem for the Church, and that his visit was one way the Pope hoped to reach this goal.

<http://www.zenit.org/english/visualizza.phtml?sid=87295>

He added: "Relations between the state of Israel and the Holy See were also examined -- in the light of agreements endorsed in 1993 and 1997 -- as well as the relations of Israeli authorities with the country's Christian communities."

After being received by the Bishop of Rome, Peres met with Vatican Secretary of State Cardinal Angelo Sodano.

And that's the excuse that Peres offers the world for his meeting with the papal head; he invited him to Israel. That's why he was invited to Rome. To give Benny the invite.

That's what Israelis were told and that's what they believe. But we know there are bigger conspiracies to fry. There is just so much more to believe. You must get C.T. Wilcox's excellent, Transformation Of The Republic. veracity@nucleus.com Within, you will understand how the Jesuits murdered Lincoln. Now that's a conspiracy but not as good as them sinking the Titanic.

"Who Controls The World? Illuminati, Jesuits, Bilderberg, Church, Skull, Religion " Novusordo

43 min 10 sec - Mar 11, 2006

At 26 min 45 secs the Titanic reporting starts :

-----||-----

In 1910, seven men met on Jekyll island just off the coasts of Georgia to plan the Federal Reserve Bank. Nelson Aldrich and Frank Vanderclip represented the Rockefeller (Illuminati) financial empire. Henry Davidson, Charles Norton and Benjamin Strong represented J.P. Morgan (Illuminati). Paul Warburg (Illuminati) represented the Rothschilds (Illuminati) Banking dynasty of Europe. The Rothschilds were the banking agents for the Jesuits and hold `the key to the wealth of the Roman Catholic Church.'

The Morgan gang, the Rothschilds gang and the Rockefellers gang were fierce competitors yet entered joint ventures.

They were to establish the national banking cartel called the Federal Reserve System.... but there was a problem.

Three of the richest people in the world opposed the Illuminati/Jesuits' plan to establish a central bank in the United States because they knew what would happend to America if this happened. Also these people would most likely of also tried to stop the Jesuits's plan to engineer world War I. These three people were Benjamin Guggenheim, Isa Strauss and John Jacob Astor.

The Jesuits were determined to create the Federal Reserve bank in America and so they HAD to somehow get rid of these three people.

This is how the Jesuits did it.....

There were a number of powerful men who were NOT in favor of the Federal Reserve System.

Benjamin Guggenheim, Isa Strauss and John Jacob Astor opposed the formation of a Federal Reserve System. These men were arguably the richest men in the world and stood in the way of the Jesuits'/Illuminati plan.

These three men were coaxed and encouraged to board the Titanic. Not only were these enemies of the Jesuits againts the Federal Reserve Bank, but they would have used their wealth and influence to oppose World War I.

Construction of the Titanic began in 1909 at a ship yard in Belfast, Ireland. Belfast was Protestant and hated by the Jesuits. Morgan took control of the White Star Lines. The Jesuits ordered J.P. Morgan to build the Titanic.

From the very beginning of the luxury dinner, the Titanic was destined for doom.

Edward Smith was the captain of the Titanic. He had been traveling the North Atlantic waters for twenty-six years and was the world's most experienced master of the North Atlantic routes. He had worked for Jesuit, J.P. Morgan, for many years.

Edward Smith was a 'Jesuit tempore co-adjutor.' This means that he was not a priest, but he was a Jesuit of the short robe. Jesuits are not necessarily priests.

Those who are not priests serve the order through their profession. Anyone could be a Jesuit, and their identity would not be known. Edward Smith served the Jesuit Order in his profession as a sea captain.

When the Titanic departed from Southern England on April 10, 1912, Francis Browne, the Jesuit master of Edward Smith, boarded the Titanic.

That America...a zillion laughs.

The head of FEMA is a pedophile, the Vatican is pushing illegal immigration to change the status quo and the Vice President tried to shoot his buddy to death. It never ends.

But for a deep belly laugh, take a look how the Sabbatians are destroying the Jews from within. Just gasp at the Sabbatians in action. My favorite has to be Churchill with such an obviously Jewish mother.

zvipublishing@publicist.com

A brand new publications house started to operate in June 2000 in Istanbul where is the center of economic and cultural life in Turkey and which constitutes a brigade between Asia and Europe.

· THE NAME ZWI : The family of Ilgaz Zorlu -the founder of Zwi Publications- has its roots in the Eli Zwi's family who is brother of Rabbi Sabbetai Zwi who declared himself the Messiah in 17thth Century. Zwi means "deer" in Hebrew language. The second president of Israel Yitzak Ben Zwi also descends from the Ashkenaz branch of that family. Traditionally the word Zwi which has deep meanings in Hebrew religion and mystical Jewishness, is the symbol of peace, brotherhood and knowledge.

· PUBLICATION POLICY : The basics of the publication policy of Zwi Publications is to collect the writings of ethnical cultures in Turkey with no discrimination and the pass this magnificent richness on to the next generations. Doing so, Zwi aims to share the cultural wealth of Turkey with all the countries and cultures of the world. We also aim to introduce the already published or unpublished books about these cultures to Turkey which have been written abroad and in another language then Turkish. Our main principle is to pay to the authors and researchers every legal rights.

Within the framework of our policies, the publication plan is as follows :

* SERIES 1 - Religious Origins of Ethnic Cultures :

The aim of the first series is to gather the religious roots of ethnic cultures like Sabbatians, Syrians, Jews and publish the related studies. Kabbala itself and the studies on Kabbala have a priority in our publication plan.

Now here is the ultimate world conspiracy. The Frankist Labor Zionists and Hitler.You can't get bigger than this. None of the crazy conspiracy "conspiracies" coming out of Israel could match this.

PART TWO: Except We're So Close

The missiles are here. As every Israeli leader knew, leave Gush Katif and the Katyushas will come flying from Elei Sinai. Now Israel gets 40 Katyushas and Kassams shot at it daily. And it's only getting better by the day. What a lovely justification for frying Iran.

And don't believe that everything is random. Get the Jews out of Gush Katif, give up the Philadelphi Corridor, elect Hamas, ban Hamas worldwide. It was barely a challenge because the residents of Gush Katif were mentally incapable of defending themselves and everyone else was infiltrated.

And if you exposed the infiltration, what a mess they made of your life. I got a taste of that in response to my last article:

Barry,

Just to clue you in. My yeshiva was in Gush Katif. We stayed at the hotel when Ben Gvir showed up with his thugs. He hung around for a few hours then took off. His hoods turned the scene violent with the Arabs and the police had the excuse to boot us out. Meanwhile, good guys like Pinner and Cytryn will face prison. Everyone got it from him.

So, when the elections came up, we couldn't vote Marzel because of Ben Gvir. We decided on the Pensioners never really believing they'd get in.

Let me explain how lying is the way of life in Israel beginning with Itamar Ben Gvir. I had a stroke a month and a half ago, so I delayed my trial with him until June. That was far too merciful for him, so he send a liar to me by phone. Her name was Ayalah and claimed she was booking me for a lecture. The number she left was 0528693876. She taped our discussion during which I agreed to the lecture and explained I was going on a five day trip to Cyprus.

From the liar to my lawyer's postal box comes a legal claim that my delay due to stroke was bogus because I can do a lecture and am going on vacation. This is a legal farce since my good pal Jim Searcy is paying my fare to get me recuperated in Cyprus and I can do a speech I've done 600 times at 80% efficiency. But I need time to recover for a trial. In fact, I've delayed a separate trial against a nutcase detractor because I'm not totally back.

The courts have suddenly turned enormously fair to this crowd. Noam Federman somehow picked up 25,000 shekels because a radio station spoke to his daughter, Avigdor Eskin doesn't have to produce his trial testimony that he worked for the Shabak previously, and Gvir never loses anything. And how can he? I had to pay my attorney to defend the latest outrage. When he's finally tried I will lose 15,000 in legal costs and get nothing in return. It was the harassment that made MK Arye Eldad apologize to him. Needless to say, no one believed Eldad was sincere.

And he can keep up the harassment forever with the purposeful agreement of a rigged and bought so-called legal system.

Here's how I know that lying has taken over a nation. Today I spoke to one Michael, the organizer of a severely out of date folk festival called Jacob's Ladder. I wanted a stall and he didn't want me there. So he lied about a previous book seller. He couldn't have two booksellers, he explained. So I ask for his number to see if there would be a problem. Then the lies multiplied to absurdity.

All this Michael had to do was tell me the truth, or add a flourish, like politics don't belong at a folk festival 30 years out of date.

But lying has taken over Israel.

In fact, lying has taken over the official Jewish world.

I discussed this on Bill Deagle's radio show earlier this week. Somewhere in the psyche of the Jew he knows his "leaders" are unelected crooks. He knows they let Europe's Jews die during the Holocaust. Yet he defends them all because he's afraid the genuine anti-semites will pounce on him. I told Bill that this time is not 1941 and I will expose the Sabbatain/Frankists and maybe save ourselves. It's not a pretty alternative but it's self-preservation.

I had a brief discussion in Jerusalem last week with an advocate of one Rabbi Ginsburg. The Rav wants to save Yesha but with a difference. Religious Zionism cannot win, he explains. It has to stop.

Yes, it has to end. We are returning to 1940 when one tiny group of Zionists lead by Hillel Kook tried to get America to intervene for Europe's Jews. This tiny group lost to organized Frankist Labor Zionists who got their kicks from dead European Jews.

The Kook group today should be the Jews of Yesha but they have been worn down by infiltration and egoism to sawdust. Every issue that could save them has been taken away from them. Yigal Amir's little brother can set up a website for the family, which naturally is so proud of its murder. Little boys in unshapely peyot are the only collectors for Pollard. Pollard has lost all common sense, as evinced by a new reader who knows him:

He gave me some CIA and Navy Intelligence information, but to tell you the truth I think most of the stuff is jibberish. His bunkee was Marvin Hersh (so called pedophile) another a-hole. Jonathan Pollard can't even wash windows good at the Clemson Unit where he lives in Butner FCI, Butner, NC. He never goes to Jewish services, stays away from all the Jews at the place. And to tell you the truth, he didn't really impress me, with his so called sharpness. I didn't think he was the sharpness knife in the set. As far as security, the only thing you've got to worry about at Butner FCI, Butner, NC is getting a hangnail on your finger.

Now who was the rabbi who persuaded Yesha's kids to hug the cops and dance for the soldiers? Who convinced those naive youngsters that goodness would save Gush Katif? Who watched him lead the people of Yesha into the desert as far as away from Gush Katif as he could walk?

And here is the ad in B'Sheva for this rabbi, Shlomo Eliahu. Now he is chief rabbi of Tsfat and no one said a word against him. He is leading a seminar for the Northern Congress, a fiasco I have reported on and whom I won't add a word now. And this Frankist rabbi will be joined by Moshe Leshem, MK Ori Oriel and lawyer Eliakim Haetzni.

So what is a person to do? Yesha wants to go down in stupidity, let them. Step by step, inch by inch, away they go. Dead by total zombihood. Yesha. Led down the garden path by their superiors.

Ten years ago I started with Rabin. I figured, get the facts out, try Peres, Gillon and Rubin for murder and get on with life. How did I know that Israel is this controlled? And I mean every part of the place down to its Euro-copy dreadful culture is controlled.

Who would have dreamed that Israel was not what they told us? It was not here to save Jews, it is here to use Jews.

Before Rabin, who would believe I would ask Nefesh B'Nefesh to stop its immigration activities until it could assure the safety of its people. With missiles bombarding the place and world war reeking from the region, how dare they lure Jews from their homes?

Israel was raised by the Frankists from the bodies of Europe's Jews. And if these Frankists want it, Israel will fall from the bodies of her own Jews. That's how much Frankists care about Jews.

But they brought us here and we have to act like a nation. And that means defending Israel. What else is left? They brought half the world's Jewish population here and how we must survive their mess. There is no other choice. Meaning, all that and no more Zionism. That dreadful period is over, and preserving Israel has begun.

As for me, I wish I could get out of this damned hole. If only I knew all this 34 years ago, before I decided to move here. But now my family is very Israeli and their life is here. I'm stuck. I have to watch the train tracks go down everywhere and all the land in central Israel getting bought. And that's on good days.

But so there's no mistake; at a young age, this country makes me very sick.

As for all the people who could have saved this place: I gave you all you ever needed on Rabin's murder, but you followed whatever other crap you were handed.

CRAIG-OXLEY - April 7, 2006 01:27 AM (GMT)

Your article is very interesting and connects many things I already suspected. Thank you.

I always wondered why the Vatican had a seat in the UN when no other religious groups did not. It should not have been there at all since they are God's business not Caesar's. If they read their Bible they'd know that. Like our government leaders today they make their own laws and rules.

Agreed.

Most entertainment has been around since the beginning of time. It's not a new distraction. The fact that the media talks about it constantly is.

I have to question the fact that you called "Disneyland-Freemasons". If anything it is Zionist or Corporate-Fascist. No Masons that I could see there.

There was 33rd Degree Freemason Walt Disney and 33rd Degree Milton Hershey (Hershey Park). There are others. Hershey was affiliated with the Knights of Malta, married in St. Patrick's Cathedral in 1899 to an Irish Roman Catholic, Miss Sweeney.

My father was a Mason. He did not want to take over the world (nor hate any religious, sexual, or racial group) but was part of the organization because of his Scottish engineering heritage. Masons were the stone masons of Scotland mostly. They met as a secret trade union to protect their jobs, etc. from the British elite power. Some bad people may be using it today but that was their original agenda.

Low-level Masons such as your father have no idea as to the true purpose of the Craft. I attack the high-level Masons, many of whom knowingly serve the Order, Masons like J. Edgar Hoover---one of several Masonic JFK assassins.

The Internet has many web sites calling Masons...the Illuminati when they are not part of that organization. Many Jewish authors have written books about the "secret organizations" trying to destroy democracy and such. They and the Catholics have been trying to ruin the reputation of our founding fathers who were mostly Scottish Protestants (and Masons). Hitler and his Catholic connection jailed Masons. Why would Masons be part of world government or the elite when they were the oppressed? They fought the Anglican church and it's Queen forming the Presbyterian church of Scotland. They hated tyranny and Fascism since they were victims from the British elite.

Jesuit/Illuminist Adam Weishaupt joined a German lodge in 1777; British Intelligence agent, Illuminists and OTO head Alister Crowley as a 90th degree Freemason. Masonic Jewish Zionists (present day Sabbatian Frankists), men like Henrk Kissinger and Arlen Specter, serve the Papacy via their ties to the Knights of Malta and Jesuits. There were 9 Masonic signers of the Declaration of Independence and 13 Masonic signers of the Constitution. Indeed, Protestants set up this government as I prove in VA.

Even Mozart was a Mason fighting the tyrannical rule in Europe of the monarchy. They controlled and limited creativity and freedom of expression.

There was a Great Masonic Schism in the late 1700s. This resulted in the Craft resisting the Jesuit Order in expelling the Society of Jesus from Spain, Portugal and France. But the Jesuits gradually retained control of the Craft after the turn of the century via its 1782 Council of Wilhelmsbad. True, there have been some very honest, patriotic and brave Freemasons, Men like George Washington; but they were in no way tied to serving the Oder.

That's why the new propaganda from Zionists, RW church and such call them evil.

Indeed, Rome and her agents always focus on Freemasonry as the heart of the subversion of the nations. This is typical Jesuit cover-up propaganda, as the Order secretly rules the Craft---at the top. For example, Jesuit Augustin Cardinal Bea was a high Freemason in Italy's P-2 lodge.

The Catholic clergy in this country have said openly, they will disobey the immigration laws. One priest from California on CNN yesterday said, his brother owns a nearby chicken packing plant where many Hispanics work. He would protect their right to be here. Ya...for profit and the "glory" of a Catholic nation. When it comes to religion and profit....they are lawless.

Absolutely correct. Yet Masons Vincente Fox and George W. Bush are backing this wicked illegal Atzlan Movement of the Jesuit Order to justify martial law and the use of the existing Concentration Camps as the only solution to the problem. Illegal immigration justifies Jesuit fascism.

The Catholic hospitals, etc. were given special wavers to bring in cheap immigrant priests and workers. That was not enough for them. They want even cheaper labor with illegal immigrants. You have to wonder if they aren't into slavery in the name of their own power and wealth?

Agreed. The entire Roman Hierarchy is totally behind this racial, linguistic and political destruction of what was once a White Anglo Saxon Scots-Irish Protestant and Baptist, English-speaking nation, so as to "ecumenically" drive all Whites, Protestants and Catholics, into the Right-wing camp of Bush Nazi Fascism.

If anything we should become Presbyterians and Mason to protect democracy against theocracy and tyranny. Religion is used by the greedy and power hungry to rule and divide. My God would not have approved.

Historic Calvinist Presbyterianism, yes: Masonry---the essential religion of Egypt? Never! It is Masonry that has destroyed all of the historic Protestant sects, bringing heresy and infidel rationalism into the churches as was done to German Lutheranism a century before Hitler was brought to power by the Order's Bavarian Jesuits.

Instead of using any certain religious group or organization, we should just call them common crooks, murders, and traitors. There are many good people in the world who are not. They commit crimes, they go directly to jail.

Agreed.

Today is like a time machine back to the Dark Ages of the Medici family with Machiavellian like rule. I was shocked when the media ignored five RW Catholics on the Supreme Court. Five RW Catholics in a mostly Protestant nation. Did they not notice? I can't believe that. Seems GW Bush made a deal with the Roman Vatican for votes and power. They knew they couldn't (and didn't win) without it. They had to steal two elections to get their power...the other party helping them.

Agreed. The Order's quest is to return the world to the Pope's Dark Ages, the Pope to rule the world from a Third Hebrew Temple in Jerusalem. (This is the connection between the Papacy and the Pope's Masonic Jewish Zionists ruling Israel---ruling for the benefit of the Pope.) Three of those Supreme Court Justices are members of the subversive Opus Dei. Yes, the Bush Dynasty serves the Papacy, and the Order controls both political parties via the Council on Foreign Relations overseen by the Archbishop of New York and mastermind behind 911, Edward Cardinal Egan.

"There was a time when the church ruled the world. It was called the The Dark Ages." Unknown. We know how well that worked out for the world. After the fall of the Roman Empire, it took 400 years for civilization to recover. If it wasn't for the Irish monks, who ignored Rome church elite, ancient history and learning would have been lost forever.

Irish monks? It was the Reformation and ultimate birth of the Modern Era in 1648 that revived the instruction of ancient history and empirical science thanks to the Protestant defence of 'freedom of conscience,' i.e., freedom of inquiry.

Will our future generations look at these e-mails and articles wonder why we allowed this to happen to our powerful democracy?

Since 1868 this nation, now an empire, is indeed a socialist democracy which is no different than a communist democracy in the USSR or a socialist fascist state in Nazi Germany. Socialist democracies are always led by absolutist commanders-in chiefs, be they Stalin, Hitler of Bush. We Protestants and Baptists established a limited, constitutional, democratic republic in 1787, not a democracy in any form or fashion. For, democracies always lead to military dictatorships---Greece being the classic example.

We can tell them it was Rome all over again. It was an Empire whose leaders became corrupt/arrogant/ full of hate and war for their own power and greed. They forced Christianity [apostate, AV1611 Bible-rejecting, Masonic Protestantism and Romanism] on the people as the state religion. The people followed fearful/ignorant and full of chaos over what was happening around them.

"As nightfall does not come at once," wrote Justice William O. Douglas, "neither does oppression. In both instances, there's a twilight where everything remains seemingly unchanged, and it is in such twilight that we all must be aware of change in the air, however slight, lest we become victims of the darkness."

Douglas told the truth here, but he was another conspirator who issued some of the most iniquitous decisions ever "handed down." Let us depart from such authorities and return to such justices as the first John Marshall Harlan and Stephen Fields as examples of true patriots who sought to stop the Order's subversion of our once White Anglo Saxon Protestant Calvinist Federal/ Confederate Republic of these United States of America (1787-1868).

This person is rather naive about the nature of freemasonry to say the least!

Yeah, I recently rebutted this Masonry guy named Masonic Traveler. He equates my dissent with hatred of people personally which is false.

Jehovah's Witnesses

EXPOSED!

Compiled and Edited by David J. Stewart

From <http://www.jesus-is-savior.com/False%20Rel...itnesses/jw.htm>

The Jehovah Witnesses are a Satanic organization, based upon the occult of Freemasonry. Charles Taze Russell was a 33rd Degree Freemason; as was Joseph Smith, founder of the Mormon cult. Carefully notice the Masonic cross at the upper left corner of the photo below...

The picture below is the same scene as above, but without the zoom. Notice the illuminati pyramid. This is where Charles Taze Russell is buried.

Below is a close-up of the inscription on the pyramid above. This is irrefutable proof that Jehovah Witnesses are inseparably linked to Satanic Freemasonry.

Below: Notice the Freemasonry cross, the Knights Templar symbol. C.T. Russell was a Knights Templar.

Below: Notice the Masonic cross in this Freemasonry meeting hall.

The founders of both "faiths," the Mormons and Jehovah's witnesses, were of the Illuminati bloodline. Charles Taze Russell, who founded the Watchtower Society (Jehovah Witnesses), was of the Illuminati Russell bloodline, which also founded the infamous Skull and Bones Society at Yale University. Charles Taze Russell was a Satanist, a pedophile according to his wife, and a friend of the Rothschilds. Indeed it was the Rothschilds who funded the Jehovah's Witness operation into being, along with other Illuminati bankers, through "contributions" by organizations like the Rothschild-controlled B'nai B'rith. This was proved in a court of law in 1922. One of the key people involved in this was Frank Goldman who later became President of B'nai B'rith. Why would an organization set up (in theory) to help Jewish people and promote the Jewish faith, be funding into existence the Jehovah's Witnesses??? I think the name Rothschild answers the question. Russell was also a high degree Freemason and Knights Templar. He promoted Zionism, another Rothschild creation (see Hitler was a Rothschild), on behalf of his friends and backers.

In his book The Watchtower & the Masons Fritz Springmeier says:

"It has always been disconcerting that the Masons are so adept at smokescreens. The leader of the Anti-Masonic political party in the 1830-1840's turned out to be a Mason. Both C. T. Russell and J. Rutherford printed material that was less than favorable to Freemasonry. And yet I now know that C.T. Russell was a Freemason, a Knights Templar. I also know that Rutherford worked intimately with Freemasons who were his good friends."

THE JEHOVAH'S WITNESS A DAUGHTER OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCH

This Satanic society used Catholic Church Sources in order to produce its New World Translation. Westcott and Hort were two Satanists, founders of the Hermes Club and members of famed Russian witch Madam Blavatsky's Theosophy cult.

Dr. Bill Grady said it best in his excellent book, Final Authority...

"Westcott and Hort, were a pair of unsaved liberals whose open Vatican sympathies cast them as the consummate Jesuit plants."

"To regain her corner on the market, Rome created an elite paramilitary Gestapo unit that would make Himmler's SS appear like a Sunday school....sparking what historians call, the counter-Reformation. The infamous Society of Jesus was founded by Ignatius De Loyola in 1534, more commonly known as the Jesuits...."

They are the most militant arm of papal power to this day. Their goals were to reclaim those that had left Catholicism and to attack the reliability of the Textus Receptus. They would use ANY METHOD to regain control including confiscation, treachery, torture and assassination. Jesuits will stop at nothing to bring the whole world under subjection to the Vatican. The Jesuits ploy was to entice Protestants back to Rome. They knew they could not bring anyone back into the bondage of Catholicism as long as true believers clung to the pure text. So the Jesuits plotted to replace our Bible with pro-Catholic readings of Jerome's Vulgate. This would cause the Protestant scholars to believe our text was unreliable, unreadable and not scholarly. Once programmed, the scholars would attack the pure text, all the while, believing they were doing God's service."

Westcott and Hort took two waste Catholic Sources (the Sinaiticus and the Vaticanus) to produce their waste version of the Bible, Nestle and the New World Translation of the Jehovah's Witnesses, written by Senior Jesuits Jose Maria Bover and A. Merckz, followed Westcott and Hort.

From the Forward of the 1950 version NWT:

"The original writings of the Christian Greek Scriptures, commonly called the New Testament, were inspired. No translation of these Sacred writings into another language, is inspired... The Greek text that we have used as a basis of our NW translation is the widely accepted Westcott and Hort text (1881) by reason of its admitted excellence. But we have also taken in to consideration other texts including that prepared by D. Eberhard Nestle and that compiled by the Spanish Jesuit scholar Jose Maria Bover and that by the other Jesuit scholar A. Merck..."

9. *The Jehovah's Witnesses used Jesuits and Roman Catholic manuscripts to aid in the translation of the New World Translation.

'GREEK TEXT: The Greek Text that we have used as the basis for the New World Translation is the widely accepted Westcott & Hort text (1881), by reason of its acknowledged excellence. But we have also taken into consideration other texts, including those prepared by D. Eberhard Nestle, the Spanish Jesuit scholar Jose Maria Bover, and another Jesuit scholar, A Merck. The UBS text of 1875 and the Nestle-Aland text of 1979 were cinsukted to update the critical apparatus of this edition." The Forward, The Kingdom Interlinear Translation of the Greek Scriptures, 1985, page 8.

"In the broad left-hand column of the pages will be found the Greek text edited by B F Westcott and F J a Hort, and published in 1881." By Way of Explanation, The Kingdom Interlinear Translation of the Greek Scriptures - 1985, page 5.

The Amazing Cures of a Brazilian Miracle Man

Robert Pellegrino-Estrich – Nexus

Thoughts of our origins and the purpose of our existence most often occur in that brief moment before we slide into sleep state. When our day's work is done, we watch the six o'clock news and grow weary from too much television. In that dark, waiting state, between 'lights out' and the welcome veil of sleep, our minds will often query the reason for our being. I know I did!

I was just like you-hard-working, dedicated, ambitious-and after twenty-five years of twelve-hour days I felt I had made it. A successful businessman, the proud owner of several jewellery stores, I enjoyed the fruits of my labour: a large waterfront home, luxury apartment on the beach, investment properties, a Mercedes-Benz, and private schooling for my two sons. But deep inside me I often felt that life must have a greater purpose. Surely this could not be all there was to it. Then one day, quite unexpectedly, the 'Lord tooketh away'; actually, it was not the Lord, but some 'low life'-a common thief who robbed one of my stores and reduced my materially wonderful life to rubble.

As I sat staring at my empty shop, contemplating the consequences of an insurance policy that would not cover the circumstance, I had the first glimpse of how fragile, how futile a purely material life really is.

It was in the following bleak months of receivership that I was forced to look for a deeper meaning to life. When the world finally stopped spinning and all I held dear was gone-marriage, wealth, properties, income and, most of all, my self-worth-it was time to look for another meaning; not, I hasten to add, the ritualism of modern religions or the zealous fanaticism of the newborn breed. My years of calculated commercialism left me with a permanent factual attitude to life, so I needed proof in cold hard facts to support any new beliefs.

I have been given the opportunity to observe, at first hand, irrefutable proof of the reason for our existence. The contents of this book are based on my personal observations.

Where we came from and where we are going are difficult questions to contemplate in our modern-day rush for financial survival. That bedlam between the Corn Flakes and the six o'clock news does not provide much time for concerted thought. It takes time, quiet time, and lots of it. It requires instruction, explanation and education on a subject which is the antithesis of materialism; one which is totally intangible, incomprehensible, another world-literally, another world.

As physical human beings, we require proof before we believe. I, for most of my life, accepted only what I could see, feel, eat or put into a cash register as real. I was the ultimate sceptic. On that memorable day in January 1996 when I first squatted on the floor of the main hall at Abadiânia, so closely I could touch the action; armed with SLR camera and flash I watched earnestly for the 'hidden card', the sleight of hand or the obvious 'set- up'. What I saw astounded me, as it astounds countless thousands of first-timers. I saw Raul rise from his wheelchair, after fifty years as a paraplegic, and walk. Still reeling from disbelief, my incredulity received a coup de grâce when I witnessed a tumour removal from a woman's eye by a blindfolded João, using only a kitchen knife.

Now, having observed countless operations, healings and cures, including my own lifelong affliction of chronic asthma, I am converting those energies I wasted on scepticism and false sophistication to this simple chronicle of a man's dedication to humanity, of a scale and sincerity that defies our western logic. We all need proof as a means of verification, but sometimes, even when we see the evidence, we still find it difficult to accept because its comprehension is contrary to our western upbringing. Such is the situation with the cures of João Teixeira da Faria.

João is a humble man who has a twofold purpose in life: to heal the sick; and to make people aware that we are here on Earth to improve our level on the 'other side', to elevate and better the position of our souls in the hereafter by what we do in this physical life.

Although João is probably the most observed, recorded and tested healing medium ever to enter this physical world, it is difficult for even the most dedicated author to compile a logical record of his life. Information about his early life is scant. As a youth he was more occupied with daily survival than recording dates and occurrences. Even simple, chronological compilation of events in correct years of occurrence is a frustrating endeavour. There are no records save those in the memories of his associates, and they differ widely.

João himself is a poor source of precise details because he remembers nothing of his actions whilst incorporated by spirit, and even when he is disincorporated he is still partially under their controlling guidance. Mediums of high elevation are, for the most part, attuned to spirit levels all the time. Much like a television left on with the volume turned low, they can still function but their attention is diverted.

Even today, his works are a fast succession of miracles, performed so quickly and with such frequency it is almost impossible to record the details of one before another is underway. The sheer numbers of people who seek his help allow little time for reflection or maintenance of precise records. He operates and heals more people in one day than a large Western hospital achieves in a month. His staff members are all volunteers, but only one of them is dedicated two days each week to administrative records.

And so, to the issue of proof.

We humans are strange creatures. Sometimes we see the evidence but reject the explanation, grappling instead for our own one to fit with our narrow, limited knowledge; preferably an explanation that isn't going to rock our 'conscience boat' too much, that does not require too much in the way of a radical life-change, and that does not shake the shell of security that is our understanding and perception. In light of the evidence in this book, there is no alternative explanation.

João Teixeira da Faria is the living proof. He has been tested and examined by the best scientific minds this planet can muster. He permits and welcomes these investigations in the hope that they will prove to everyone the existence of the spirit world and the importance of living correctly in this life so as to elevate ourselves in the next, instead of enduring a karmic penalty.

João dedicates his life to healing the sick and incurable, without payment and without prejudice. He encourages the video recording of his daily work and welcomes the observation of anyone, especially medical doctors whose participation he particularly welcomes.

To see João pass his hand over the cancerous breast of a woman who has been diagnosed with malignant carcinoma and then lift her blouse to reveal a fresh incision, neatly stitched, and the tumour gone, requires even the most reluctant observer to ask, "Who did that?". The answer to this question is connected to the one we ask ourselves on those dark quiet nights: "What's it all about?". Perhaps the life story of this extraordinary man will help you find the answers to those questions.

João Teixeira da Faria is arguably the most powerful medium alive at this time and must surely rank amongst the greatest of the past two thousand years.

A "medium", as defined by the Oxford Dictionary, is a person who is "a spiritual intermediary between the living and the dead". João not only communicates with spirit, he incorporates the spirit entity; he is literally taken over by the spirit and, in doing so, loses consciousness, 'waking' a few hours later without any knowledge of his actions during the incorporation. Whilst 'in entity', his body is used as a means of conducting physical surgery and seemingly miraculous healing of the sick by the spirit entities who work through him.

João's 'gift' is not hereditary. It is not a learned technique, nor is it transferable to any other person. At the age of sixteen he accepted the responsibility of devoting his life to spirit incorporation for the purpose of healing the sick. He accepted a lifelong task that would demand much of him and frequently repay him with abuse, personal deprivation, persecution and unlawful incarceration. To be trusted with such an awesome responsibility requires a strong, moral, righteous but humble person with unquestionable integrity. As if these restrictions and puritan criteria were not enough, he must also provide his service free of any charge, lest he lose the gift.

To comprehend the enormity of his gift, and to understand the amazing and true occurrences barely outlined in this book, you must accept, albeit temporarily, the following beliefs:

- 1) We have all lived many lives before this one. We are incarnated, and after this life we will be reincarnated again into another life. (There are many well-documented cases of hypnotists taking countless numbers of people back into past lives. They speak languages totally foreign to them and they describe in detail places and lifestyles of long ago, which are frequently proven correct by subsequent investigation.)
- 2) If you remove the physical shell we call the body, what is left is the real you: your soul, your spirit. This eternal essence is in a perpetual state of improvement or deterioration depending on what you do in each of your physical lives.
- 3) Free will is the only means by which the physical you, and subsequently your soul, can improve its position after your demise.
- 4) Karma is the means by which you will pay your debt for wrongdoings or be rewarded for your free-will choice of good in each life. If you have killed, stolen, lied or cheated in a past life, chances are that you will be suffering some malady or conflict in your current life. Conversely, if you have been caring, considerate, honest and moral, then your soul will have elevated and you will probably be a healthy, well-balanced person.
- 5) There is a spirit world! It is much more complex than our physical world. It is much more powerful and decidedly more beautiful for those who have earned a place in it. It is multi-levelled and multidimensional, to cater for the infinite number of development stages through which souls pass. Of over 150 out-of-body, near-death experiences surveyed by Kenneth Ring (author of Heading Towards Omega: In Search of the Meanings of Near-Death Experience), all reported similar observations, feelings and experiences to support this belief.

6) Spirits, both good and bad, are with us all the time. So many of those strange coincidences we experience (usually when we most earnestly wish for them) are the result of thought generation picked up by and acted upon by your guides, your spirit guides. It adds new meaning to the biblical quotation, "Ask and ye shall receive".

7) Our human bodies are generated from and protected by energy fields. There are seven corresponding layers, each with its own density or frequency, and seven major chakras (spinning vortexes). Some people can actually see these layers as auras. If we live healthy, clean lives, our energy fields protect us very well. Conversely, if we abuse ourselves with excesses of alcohol, drugs or unclean living, the fields become weakened, will be attacked and will attract undesirable attachments. Disease begins in these outer layers and the fields lose their vibrancy (we often feel out of sorts a few days before we actually become ill).

The mark of João's success is observable in the thousands who flock to his hospital-style healing centre every Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. When he travels, he heals as many as 25,000 in three days. The sick queue for hours, and sometimes overnight, to see him. He never refuses anyone who is clean of heart and pure of intent. Although a devoutly God-loving man, he accepts all without prejudice or religious bias. He heals the poor precisely the same as he heals the rich or famous.

The world's elite seek his help when western medicine fails. Actresses Shirley MacLaine and Janet Leigh, congressmen, statesmen, priests, nuns, rabbis, the poor and the wealthy find their way to the tiny village of Abadiânia in central Brazil to seek the help of João Teixeira da Faria, known throughout Brazil as João de Deus (John of God).

To call him "the Miracle Man" is in a way a misnomer, because a miracle implies the absence of a natural law, when in fact his achievements are only the results of the law of reincarnation and the subsequent use of spirit doctors from the spirit plane. He is classified as miraculous only because we in the western world are reluctant to accept that a spirit world exists and therefore that his work is the result of this natural law.

Of the more than 250 volunteers who give their time to the operation of the centre, most are grateful recipients of a new life after treatment by João and his spirit entities. Written off by medical doctors as incurable, they found their way to Abadiânia as a last resort. Amongst them are engineers, doctors, dentists, teachers, labourers, businessmen and simple folk who display no class division, but rather work in harmony to provide a loving and caring environment for those who, as they did, seek the help of João Teixeira da Faria.

These fortunate people put aside the restrictions of our modern thinking and dared to seek the impossible: to be rewarded not only with a second chance at life but a new understanding of their purpose in this physical world.

The Man in a Wheelchair

Today was special for Raul Natal. Sitting in the wheelchair, which served as both his prison and his mobility for the past fifty years, he waited with apprehension and hope. He dare not raise his expectations too high: he had been to so many doctors and specialists over those long years. He had been X-rayed, tested, probed, manipulated and medicated without success until the doctors and he had finally resigned themselves to the fact that he would never walk again. Why would today be any different?

Raul heard about the healer, João Teixeira da Faria, from friends. "He has cured hundreds of thousands of sick and crippled," they said. "Perhaps he could help you, too," they encouraged. What did he have to lose? And so, in a final desperate pilgrimage, he endured the thirty-six-hour bus trip from São Paulo to the small village of Abadiânia, high on the green plateaus of Goiás state in central Brazil.

It was 8.15 am on a clear day blessed with the cool crispness of high mountain air. People seeking treatment-already 500 or 600-were packed into the main hall of the centre, waiting quietly, each with his own thoughts and hopes, watching for the healer João to appear.

From his waiting position at the front of the crowd, Raul saw the medium enter from a side door, hands clasped in front of his body, eyes intense. João took a middle-aged woman by the hand and stood her against the wall. Rummaging through one of the instrument trays carried by a volunteer, he selected a common kitchen knife and skilfully began to scrape a tumour from her eye. Without anaesthetic or sterilisation, and using only the crude knife, he scraped away at the eyeball-a procedure which would normally cause excruciating pain and irreparable damage-but the woman showed no external discomfort. She remained calm, standing against the wall without any observable reaction. João did not really seem to be concentrating. His hand swept the blade skilfully back and forth across the cornea, but his eyes were focused out into the crowd, searching and scanning. It was as if someone or something other than he was removing the growth. In less than a minute, he wiped the blade across her blouse and called to an assistant, "You can take her away; she is finished."

Raul's mind raced in disbelief. His heart beat faster and his hands began to sweat.

Could it be possible after all these years that he might walk again?

A man was led forward from the crowd and instructed to face the wall. He told the healer that he had not been able to sit or bend without pain for years. Gently, João removed the man's shirt and, taking a scalpel, made a small one-inch incision between his shoulder blades. Incredibly, there was no bleeding and the man showed no sign of pain. "Lift your leg," said João. "Now bend over." Raul stared in disbelief as the man bent over and touched his toes. "Now squat down," said the healer, and the man obliged effortlessly. The tears of relief and gratitude streaming down his face did not escape Raul's observation as the man was led away to the recovery room at the end of the hall. Raul's expectations were rising: perhaps his dreams might yet be fulfilled.

João was already turning his attention to a woman with cancer of the stomach. He unbuttoned her blouse, slowly, as if in a trance, and lowered her waistband to expose her lower abdomen. From an assistant's tray he selected a scalpel and slowly made a small incision three centimetres long. It did not bleed and the woman seemed unperturbed. He cut more deeply and inserted two fingers into the opening. Raul, from his front-row position, saw the healer withdraw his fingers and, with them, a soft white growth the size of a golf ball. The woman remained motionless with no apparent discomfort. All of this, he noticed, was without anaesthetic or the stringent sterilisation of modern medical practices with which he was so familiar. The wound was stitched with a single suture and the woman led away to the recovery room.

Another paraplegic in a wheelchair was now pushed forward. This would be indicative: if this man were healed, there would certainly be hope for Raul. When João told the helpers to wheel the man away to the Intensive Treatment Room, Raul's fragile confidence sank to an all-time low. Perhaps it was too much to ask after all.

No time to think now. João's voice jolted him back to reality.

"How long have you been paralysed?" João inquired in a deep, compassionate voice.

"I have not walked for fifty years," replied Raul in little more than a whisper.

"What would you do if God gave you back your legs?" asked the medium.

Raul was too stunned to answer. Short-term confidence fought with years of despair. His mind raced. Could it be possible? Why would he ask if it were not? Surely it would be a cruel joke if he were not serious. He looked at the healer; his eyes were steady and he wore a confident, almost boyish smile. Raul wanted to speak but the words would not come. He knew his joints were seized from years of inactivity; they were calcified and immovable and his muscles atrophied.

"What would you do if God gave you back your legs?" asked João again, interrupting his racing thoughts.

Raul did not know what to say. He was still fighting with reason and logic. A kindly hand from behind touched his shoulder. "Answer him! How would you feel if you could walk again?" prompted the assistant.

All he could do was stutter, "I'd...be...so very happy."

The healer bent down and briefly took hold of Raul's left ankle. As he did so, a warm surge of life swept through the leg. "Now rotate it!" he said. Raul obliged. It had been seized for as long as he could remember and now he was turning and twisting it! He watched in disbelief as João touched the other ankle and the same warmth engulfed it. It was like watching someone else's foot turning. It was unbelievable!

"Now," commanded the healer, "stand up and walk!"

Raul froze. "I can't!" he said.

"Yes you can!" replied João with firm compassion. "Stand up and put this foot forward," he said, pointing to the right foot.

With all his will and strength, Raul lunged forward from the chair. His legs held; shaking, but they held. João took his hand, offering minimal support as he took his first steps in fifty years. His heart was beating so fast he feared it would seize. The happiness and relief were too much for him. An uncontrollable flood of tears poured down his face. He was walking!

Assistants led him away slowly to the main operation room where he sat on a bench with another twenty or so patients. A kindly silver-haired man, dressed in white, talked to them of faith and love and how the healings were not the most important gift here. A greater gift is the awakening, the realisation that there is a life after death and that this physical life is just an opportunity for us to improve and elevate our souls. The healings are just a physical demonstration that we can see and experience, but more importantly we must remember that the miracles are performed by spirit entities who use the medium João Teixeira da Faria as a vessel to perform their work.

Raul listened and realised his life would not only be more active but more meaningful from this day on. He had been healed by the entities and the man they call John of God.

The House of Dom Inacio

They come in their thousands-the sick, the lame, the incurable and the medically discarded-enduring long international flights and gruelling thirty-five-hour bus trips to a small village high on the Goiás plateau of Brazil. Buses arrive all through the night.

At 5.00 am it is still. A low mist blankets the small one-street town of Abadiânia which has sprung up to cater for the multitudes who pilgrimage here. People sit outside the simple lodging houses, talking softly. There are not enough rooms to cater for them all, so they sleep in cars or buses or simply stand around waiting for the dawn. The lodging houses provide free coffee for the weary travellers who spill from the newly arrived buses all through the night. One hundred metres down the road, the cluster of low, white buildings is dark and silent. A kaleidoscope of stars forms a heavenly canopy above this Mecca of last hope, the place they call "the House of Dom Inácio". Dawn will bring new light and hope for a life without pain or illness for those who seek it.

The healing centre opens at 8.00 am. The sick congregate to collect their queuing numbers. Cameramen prepare their equipment for filming the day's activity.

Somewhere in an unmarked room, João rests and meditates alone in preparation for a day of healing. He will work until the last patient is attended to, sometimes far into the night. He lies on a simple couch in the semi-darkened room. Above his head hang pictures of some of the entities, including Dom Inácio, as well as Christ and the Madonna. On the adjacent wall hang a dozen or more certificates of appreciation, orders of government and honorary degrees bestowed upon him by grateful VIPs, governments and institutions. Amongst them is a Medal of Honour from the President of Peru [Alberto Fujimori] in gratitude for healing his son. The basic furnishings reflect the simplicity of the man the people call John of God.

The centre resembles a small hospital, painted stark white inside and out, and with a sky blue band from floor to waist height internally. The design was supplied to João by his principal entity, Dom Inácio, in a vision he received whilst walking through a small valley nearby. The centre, affectionately called "the House", is named after this entity and is known in Brazil as "Casa de Dom Inácio" (the House of Dom Inácio).

The choice of site is due to many things: the natural energy of this part of Brazil, the peace and quiet, and a massive outcrop of natural quartz which in itself provides a powerful energy source. Deep below there is a natural spring which flows to a small waterfall a kilometre away. Around this natural beauty grow many of the herbs necessary for the herbal cures prescribed by the entities. Situated on a high plateau, the centre looks out across the lush, sweeping hills of Goiás, a therapeutic sight in itself.

The location is one of intense energies, the understanding of which is almost beyond our physical comprehension. The best explanation comes from spirit itself, from a spirit called Seth, in information channelled by Jane Roberts in the 1970s. From her book, Seth Speaks: The Eternal Validity of the Soul, comes the following information: "There are main co-ordinate points, sources of fantastic energy, which represent accumulations of pure energy, where health and vitality are strengthened. These points are like invisible power plants. They act as psychic generators, propelling what is not yet physical into physical form." I believe the centre at Abadiânia is one such location.

The House itself is designed around a central hall, open at one end, leading out to a covered walkway, toilet and rose garden. In this hall people congregate, waiting to witness the physical surgery by João-in-entity which occurs twice each day. All of these operations are videotaped by the house cameraman.

Some years ago João requested the taping of the operations he performed 'in entity' because he had no recollection of his actions once he incorporated the spirit entity. There are now thousands of hours of video records freely available to anyone at a modest charge to cover production.

In a semi-circle around the hall are four principal rooms. The first is the recovery room where patients are taken after treatment for care and observation until they are strong enough to leave. The effect of the anaesthetic, supplied by spirit, wears off in an hour or two and the patients are normally able to leave of their own accord without any visible side-effects. The recovery room contains twelve single beds covered in clean white sheets. The nurses are all volunteers who provide compassionate care until the patients are able to leave.

Next door is one of two "current rooms" fitted with rows of bench seats with a walkway through the middle. In this room, dressed in white, sit twenty to thirty mediums in meditation. This meditation provides the current to assist the entities in their work. Interestingly, in the Edgar Cayce readings on Atlantis, there is a reference to this type of combined energy used by the Atlantians to achieve their extraordinarily advanced civilisation; a similar production of spiritual current. The people who queue to consult with the entity file through this room and, as they do so, they receive a spiritual cleansing. In two corners there are piles of crutches, wheelchairs and body braces discarded by healed invalids—a silent monument to the success of the man and his entities in their healing work.

The second current room contains fifty or more mediums similarly seated in rows. The endless line of people pass through the middle and are spiritually prepared to meet João-in-entity who sits at the far end in a large chair covered in white linen. At the moment of meeting there is a split-second recognition by the entity of each person's 'blueprint': past lives, current situation, illness and spiritual awareness.

Depending on what is seen, the person will be dealt with according to the requirement. Some are given herbal prescriptions. Some are sent to the intensive care room for surgery or treatment at a later time. Those who need spiritual strength may be told to sit in current, whilst others are given concise instructions on necessary life changes. Each person is dealt with in less than twenty seconds. The prescriptions are written at lightning speed in a 'spirit shorthand' which looks like a squiggly line and a few ticks.

The pharmacists of the House have been taught to understand these 'hieroglyphs' by the entities who prescribe them.

The third room is the intensive operations room which has a dual purpose: very serious cases requiring a long time in coma and those who request invisible operations. Around the wall is a line of single beds on which the intensive patients lie whilst the entities perform operations invisibly on paraplegics and on leukaemia, AIDS and serious cancer patients. They may be in a coma for a few hours or a few days depending on the extent of treatment required.

Across the middle of the room are rows of benches on which those requiring invisible operations sit, eyes closed, hands resting on their laps in meditation. A medium talks quietly to them, explaining the procedure and raising their spiritual attunement. Twice a day, João-in-entity will enter the room and declare, "In the name of Jesus Christ you are all cured. Let what needs to be done be done in the name of God." At this time, all operations necessary are completed internally, without visible surface scars. Scientific teams have found by X-rays, following these invisible operations, that there are incisions and stitches internally. In this room sit twelve special healing mediums.

There are a number of peripheral buildings and a kitchen house where thousands of plates of soup and bread are served each day, free of charge, to those who come to the centre. Many have travelled thousands of kilometres and some are so poor they cannot afford to buy food. The House takes care of everybody in like manner. There is a small coffee house, administrative offices, a large toilet block and a pharmacy for preparation of herbal medicine. The whole cluster of buildings is contained within a fenced compound which provides parking for dozens of buses on one side and a shaded garden area on the other for quiet relaxation in the fresh mountain air.

Procedures of the House

The centre opens each Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. At 8.00 am people receive a short talk on the procedures and are asked to line up according to their preferred treatment: visible operation, invisible operation, first time or repeat treatment. Those for invisible operations are taken to the intensive operations room for preparation. Those for visible operations are led to the main current room to meditate for half an hour before being taken to the main hall for their physical surgery. This will depend to some degree on which entity is incorporated, as each has its own surgical specialities.

João meditates in a small room at the rear of the complex before entering the main current room. To incorporate the spirit entity he simply stands before a table containing a wooden cross. He begins by asking that his hands be guided in the work of the day. Then, as he recites the Lord's Prayer, the entity enters him and takes control of his body. He takes some of those waiting for physical operations by the hand and leads them to the main hall where he begins. These visible surgeries are performed in front of the people waiting to consult the entity.

Apart from the primary objective of alleviating the suffering of disease or maladies, these demonstrations serve to prove the existence of the spirit world and the delivery of spirit healing through the Christ energy. In addition, they raise the level of belief and attunement within each person.

The healing and surgery is interspersed with asides to people in the crowd, as the entity sees or reads the blueprint of each individual, sometimes with spiritual advice, a suggestion to change eating habits, or even a stern warning to change immoral behaviour.

Often he will point to someone and direct him to go and sit in current. This could be for the healing benefits of the current or because the person needs to meditate and raise his spiritual awareness before healing, or it could be because the person is recognised as a medium capable of generating powerful current. All of these events are videotaped by the House cameraman and may be purchased for a modest cost to cover production. They provide a valuable record of the achievements of the House and a souvenir for the recipient of the cure.

João-in-entity begins each session in the intensive operations room where he separates and prepares those who wish to be operated on visibly. He then turns his attention to the rows of people waiting in meditation for invisible operations. In one brief statement he calls for the operations to be completed. Some recipients feel the operations and others do not, but they are all completed immediately.

João-in-entity then takes the line of people waiting for visible operations into the main hall for physical surgery in front of the waiting crowd. When they are completed he returns to the main current room where he sits to receive the people as they file past him.

He dispenses with each person in an amazingly fast manner. As they approach, the entity instantly scans and is already prepared to provide the necessary advice. Some are given a prescription for herbal medicine, some are directed to the seats nearby to give current, whilst others are directed to the intensive care room for invisible surgery or, if their surgery requires a different entity, they will be told when to return for treatment. He will remain until the last person is attended to.

At the end of the daily program, João-in-entity will individually receive each of the mediums-all of whom have sat for many hours providing current-for a blessing and to attend to any special requests they may have. He then stands up, begins a small prayer and the entity leaves his body with a visible shudder of his heavy frame.

The Rules

As in every facet of life, there are rules to be followed. If the rules are broken, the treatment is impaired. This warning is delivered frequently by João-in-entity, sometimes quite sternly if someone has come back for further treatment after disregarding the instructions.

It is not surprising, though, that some people treat the rules lightly, as they do not seem logical to our physical reasoning (another example of man's lack of understanding and the superiority of spirit knowledge). Some rules are strange indeed. Firstly, there is a diet to be followed: no pork, chilli, eggs, bananas or alcohol. Why? Pork is a spiritually unclean meat. Chilli inflames the system. Eggs today carry the poisons of hormone feeds which, when ingested, interfere with the healing effects of the herbs and treatments. Bananas are treated with a chemical which also interferes in the same way. And alcohol disrupts the healing processes of the body.

Perhaps the most difficult to understand is the 'no sex' rule. After an operation there is to be no sex for forty days! The explanation, that the energies of the body are in a healing phase not to be disturbed by the physical energies of sex, does little to encourage people to show restraint when they are experiencing renewed health.

Of all the frustrations João and the entities endure, the most frequently encountered are those to do with disrespect for entities and their work, and adherence to the simple rules for recovery. Every day, before each session, a member of the House gives a talk on this and other subjects in which it is stressed that these rules must be strictly adhered to. To disobey the instructions can result in a cessation of the healing process, a return to the pre-treatment condition or a worsening of the ailment, depending on the type of illness or affliction.

Look, Learn and Change

Even the most casual or sceptical observer cannot help but be moved by the scenes of relief and compassion that exist everywhere in this small cluster of buildings.

Amongst the thousands who wait in line for hours, one can see an example of almost every type of human suffering. Pain and disease are the basic reality of those who suffer from them. Here are such people who know and live with this intensely horrible reality. Many of them come because they are literally, practically, objectively hopeless. Modern medicine has given them up; in some cases they are given up by the best specialists in the world. So where do they turn when all else fails?

Despite the hopelessness of their conditions, they all share a common look: their eyes carry the soft light of hope. When they emerge from their interviews, that hope has changed to happiness: a mother weeps for the cure of her small child, a cripple who could not walk gently coaxes his limbs to newfound life with the caring aid of staff or friends. Everywhere can be seen new hope, renewed life and a bond of love and caring for one's fellow man.

The true essence of charity can be seen everywhere: an old man shuffles up to the dispensary window, fumbling in his pockets for small change to buy his herbs. A kindly lady, realising his predicament, slips a ten real note into his hand. The small change will buy his bus ticket back home.

No wonder people come simply to observe: it is a moving and rewarding experience. Unlike many 'miraculous' locations in other parts of the world, there are no faith-healing aspects or mysticism. At Abadiânia each person talks personally to the entity, and the overwhelming majority of people are miraculously cured.

Not everyone is cured in just one visit. Many things influence the recovery rate-karma, time for tissues to heal and cells to regenerate-and nearly everyone needs to change spiritually. Some need to change their environment; others their attitude to their fellow man.

Revelations and Persecutions

Persecution had become a way of life for João Teixeira da Faria. Since he discovered his healing gift at the age of sixteen he had spent most of his young life travelling from city to city, exchanging healings and prophecies for donations of food, clothing, shelter or money.

Inevitably, word would spread to a medical practitioner or a dentist whose complaint would bring the police swooping down on him. If he was lucky he would simply be run out of town, but more often he would be charged with a variety of felonies, thrown in jail and, not infrequently, severely beaten.

Such was the young life of one of the most remarkable mediums of the past two thousand years: persecution, ridicule and abuse; always only one step ahead of hunger, deprivation or incarceration; and constantly on the move but still determined to carry on his divine mission of healing his fellow man and bringing awareness of their true purpose in this life.

Despite his amazing contribution to mankind in the alleviation of suffering, João is still pursued by the authorities, spurred along by disgruntled factions: those medical doctors who fail to understand the source of his healing and surgical ability and call on their medical associations to take action, and the Church, whose clergy fear a weakening of their position within the community and fail to recognise the same spiritual source that is the very core of their doctrines.

In 1981 a writ was issued against him for practising medicine illegally. The court session was held in Anápolis, only twenty kilometres from his healing centre. Fortunately his work is so well known in the area that a huge groundswell of public support, including grateful legal practitioners, resulted in an acquittal.

The acquittal raised intense resentment amongst a minority group headed by a well-known Anápolis doctor and political leader. On 17 August 1982 he arranged a serious attempt on João's life by four men in three cars. His survival was acclaimed as a miracle.

Even as this book goes to print, there is an action in progress, prompted by the Regional Medical Council of Espírito Santo and pursued by the Public Prosecutor through the Brazilian Penal Code. What the outcome will be for João in the forthcoming court case is unknown. The paradox of a judgement deliberated by the highest judicial minds in the country, whilst publicly acknowledging their own personal experience of humanitarian relief so freely given by this man, albeit in defiance of the law, is a most unenviable situation.

For João, however, the axe hangs over his head every day while ever there are those factions whose inflated sense of sophisticated professionalism causes them to feel (unjustifiably) threatened.

The Medium and the Entities

João Teixeira da Faria is a medium of extraordinary capabilities. His mediumship enables him to take on, or incorporate, thirty-three entities, all of whom were remarkable people during their own physical lives. The entities are spirits of deceased doctors, surgeons, healers, psychologists and theologians who are of such high soul elevation they need no longer reincarnate to our physical plane. They do, however, continue to elevate in the spirit plane by the extent of their benevolence and charitable works.

João is capable of incorporating only one entity at a time, although he can change entity at any time as the need arises. It does not preclude any number of entities performing operations at the same time outside his body. During incorporation, each entity carries with him his own personality from the past life and, to those who work in the house regularly, each one can be recognised in João's behaviour.

The first incorporation by João, when he was sixteen, was the spirit of King Solomon. He is still working with him today-a reminder that, unlike humans, the spirit is immortal.

The principal entity is that of Dom Inácio de Loyola (St Ignatius)

Loyola), after whom the House is named. This Spanish nobleman was born in 1491 into one of the richest families in Spain. The Casa de Dom Inácio is so called because of the similarities between the life of this entity and the life of João. Both were lives of constant persecution, incarceration and ridicule. Both teachings maintain a simple, spiritual philosophy based on early religions, a belief in God, Christ, Holy Spirit and reincarnation, but uncluttered by modern religious dogma.

'Satanic' art in Catholic Church exposed

Documentary links clergy sex abuse with occult imagery

Could the Roman Catholic Church's sex abuse crisis be tied to embedded Satanic and occultic imagery in its artwork – some of it hundreds of years old?

That is the seemingly incredible thesis of a new documentary, "Rape of the Soul," made not by anti-Catholic bigots, but by devout followers of the Church.

"Rape of the Soul" is in theatrical release in major cities, including New York and Los Angeles.

The documentary explores the prevalent use of satanic, sexual, occult and anti-Catholic images in historical and contemporary religious artwork. The film also discusses the mysterious acceptance of the artwork at the highest and most trusted levels of the Catholic Church.

"Rape of the Soul" is rated R because of the disturbing content involving demonic, violent and sexual imagery.

The film, which is being released by Silver Sword International, contends a major cause of sexual abuse in the Catholic Church could be due to prolonged exposure to sexual and satanic images being incorporated into the religious art.

Experts are featured in the film to offer detailed accounts of the subconscious programming effects of the sex and occult images on the human brain and how it promotes sex, Satanism and the occult. Religious education materials, songbooks, children's story books, devotionals and the Sunday Missals all have been found to contain em-bedded imagery.

The 140-minute film shows a compilation of the events, investigations, discovery and exposure of implanted imagery in religious art. Then it shows the devastating affects of the artwork that is primarily aimed at children and the clergy.

Five experts speak on the different aspects of the artwork, including Michael A. Calace, an Italian director, actor, writer and producer who is also a devout Roman Catholic.

Calace embarked on a mission of "Merging Media with Morality" to create family-oriented films of true life drama for Silver Sword International, his production company. While doing so, he uncovered a series of religious scandals. Calace puts to use his experiences of more than 20 years of expertise to discover a huge amount of offensive images of carefully em-bedded sexual and occult horror. He explains the techniques used to em-bed the images, and he presents discoveries from his investigations.

"The deeper I dug, the more I discovered, not just in regard to contemporary art, but works dating back more than 500 years, from some well-known and respected artists. Sex and horror is the fuel that promotes the scandalous behavior in the Church. This is the answer why, and Church leaders don't have to look very far, because the problem is coming from within the Church itself," said Calace of his research.

Other experts include Wilson Bryan Key, an American recognized internationally for over 30 years of em-bedded-imagery expertise. He also was a professor at the University of Western Ontario.

Stanley Monteith, another expert in the film, is an author and radio talk show host who has spent more than 30 years researching the causes of America's moral decline. Monteith also has extensively studied the Vatican's history and politics and has interviewed Malachi Martin, the former Jesuit priest on many different occasions.

Marc Oster contributes his expertise in psychology and hypnosis. Judith Reisman, the final expert featured in "Rape of the Soul," is a world-renowned author, who specializes in child psychology and the harmful effects of pornography. She is also president of The Institute for Media Education and author of a U.S. Department of Justice study on juveniles.

"These images, unrecognized by the untrained eye, can be a ticking time-bomb to an individual who is unaware of their presence, especially someone who is already predisposed to deviant sexual behavior," said Reisman.

"Artists from DaVinci to Botticelli have embedded subliminal images into their art for centuries," said Calace. "In this case we found penises on crucifixes, anarchy symbols, swastikas, demonic faces and in modern works even the word 'sex' encrypted into the images. The works in question include modern artists' work currently on the covers of missalettes and hymnals that at this very moment sit in the pews of churches throughout the U.S. and on children's religious teaching aids."

Calace said, "'Rape of the Soul' was created to heal the many that have suffered from these uninvited violations."

Gospel of Judas does not deserve name 'gospel,' Jesuit scholar says

By Cindy Wooden

4/7/2006

Catholic News Service (www.catholicnews.com)

<http://www.catholic.org/international/inte...ry.php?id=19372>

ROME – The Gospel of Judas was unimportant to most Christians when it was written hundreds of years ago and it is unimportant today, said a Jesuit scholar.

Jesuit Father Gerald O'Collins, a longtime professor of Christology at Rome's Pontifical Gregorian University who has convoked a series of ecumenical studies of the historical Jesus, said the text, like the gospels of Mary Magdalene and Philip, "does not merit the name 'gospel.'"

The National Geographic Society unveiled the document April 6, posting a copy of it on the society's Web site (www.nationalgeographic.com) and releasing English translations of portions of the text.

"A 'Gospel' is a literary genre – established by Matthew, Mark, Luke and John – focusing on the life, death and resurrection of Jesus," Father O'Collins said.

While including events supposedly related to the life of Jesus, the Gospel of Judas and the others really are texts "attempting to bolster the importance" of the personalities they are named after, not of Jesus, the priest said.

"They are not summaries of the good news," he said.

The texts come from the gnostic tradition, a religious-philosophical current popular in the second, third and fourth centuries. The gnostics claimed to have secret knowledge unavailable to the vast majority of people and focused so strongly on the spiritual and intellectual that they despised material creation, including the human body.

In the year 180, St. Irenaeus condemned the gnostics, mentioning particularly a Gospel of Judas.

Father O'Collins said the most important thing about the text released in early April is that "it shows just how right Irenaeus was in saying the gnostics were against mainstream Christianity and Judaism, they were against our God."

"To give Judas greater credit," the Jesuit said, the gnostics "portray Jesus giving him secret knowledge."

"It was a nice try," he said, adding that there is no evidence to support the claim.

"It was junk then and it is junk now," he said.

Father O'Collins, who between 1996 and 2003 convoked a series of ecumenical, interdisciplinary summits for scholars on the historical Jesus, said it was "ridiculous" for anyone to claim publication of the Gospel of Judas will challenge mainstream Christianity.

The Gospel of Judas does not belong in the Bible, and neither does the Apocrypha (sp).

The Bible has 66 books, and the only accurate English translation is the Authorized King James.

The Catholic church kept the Bible from the people for centuries...and when people started reading it, the Catholic church decided to make counterfeit copies, such as NIV, RSV, NKJV, and the like. If you can't keep it from the people, make counterfeits.

Title: Robert Spencer is a Temporal Co-Adjutor

Mark Brewer - April 4, 2006 01:44 AM (GMT)

Robert Spencer, who runs jihadwatch.org, is a temporal co-adjutor. I came to this conclusion based on his false claim that pope Benedict XVI opposes Islam. He also claims the Jesuits oppose Islam as well, which we know to be false.

<http://www.frontpagemag.com/Articles/ReadArticle.asp?ID=17772>

Irrespective of the fact that Spencer is a co-adjutor, his website has some good information on it. Spencer is like Alex Jones and John Loftus, who provide some good information, but never tell the whole truth.

AVBibleBeliever - April 4, 2006 07:13 AM (GMT)

Indeed, Spencer is a Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor fomenting hatred for all Muslims and his hateful rhetoric calls (when you read between the lines) for their eradication and genocide. I read up on Spencer-I thought he was Jewish initially but I checked out his webpage and learned that he actually is a Roman Catholic and denies he is a member of Opus Dei in this questionnaire.

<http://jihadwatch.org/spencer/>

It is interesting you brought Spencer up because he will be speaking on my college campus tonight sponsored by its "Camels for Israel" aka Zionists of America chapter hence Spencer has the support of the Masonic Jewish Zionists of the Zionists of America which recently awarded U.S. UN Ambassador CFR John Bolton with a "Friend of [the Masonic Talmudic Jesuit-controlled Zionist government] Israel" Award, he also has that the Masonic B'nai Brith and their Anti-Defamation League (ADL). Spencer has been a guest on Vatican Radio and Jesuit-trained G. Gordon Liddy's radio show as well so he is a Papist who knows what he is doing and through propagating lies he is promoting the present Papal Crusade in the Middle East. Muslims are to this century what the Communists were in the last century in the minds of these Jesuit Temporal Coadjutors, Republican Fascists, and Democratic Communists like Jesuit-trained Patrick Leahy, Richard (Dick) Durbin, Illuminatus and witch sodomite Hillary Rodham Clinton etc. Muslims in general and not the Masonic Islamic leaders are perceived as a threat that needs to be contained. The language now used to describe what the fascist New Religious [Luciferian] Right Republican Party call "islamo-fascism" and the action that is encouraged is identical to the language employed to describe the Vietcong and the Vietnamese-different name but same line. Spencer is aiding in the spread of hate for all Arabs in general so Americans will be infuriated by hearing what some [another way of saying they, the perceived and created enemy] don't want you to hear-that's the bait that is meant to bring people to this talk. I might go just to take notes and report back to you about what he said.

Thank you Mark for exposing Robert Spencer and pointing him out as the Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor he most certainly, definitely is.

Mark Brewer - April 4, 2006 09:44 AM (GMT)

What appears by the left to be a war against Islam is actually a secret plot to strengthen Islam. Bush's wars in Iraq and Afghanistan have installed Sharia law in both of those countries. The right praises Bush's wars as victories over the terrorists. Both of those beliefs are based on the false assumption that there is a war against Islam. Have you ever noticed how Bush always says that al-Qaeda does not represent true Islam? This is being done to deceive Americans into believing that Islam is good. The Muslim world believes that Bush is a Zionist agent.

Many Muslims think that the Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion are true as well. Only the high ranking Muslims know what is really going on and are secretly working with the U.S. government.

Robert Spencer tells the truth about Islam, but he refuses to expose who is behind it. Benedict XVI is just as supportive of Islam as John Paul II was. Spencer also claims that Bush is fighting the evil jihadists.

<http://www.frontpagemag.com/Articles/ReadA...le.asp?ID=19841>

TruthSeeker24 - April 4, 2006 03:10 PM (GMT)

I believe Bush is an universalists obviously. As for Islam, the leaders of the Muslim countries benefit from this war since they would still receive profits if they tow the line. The poorer citizenry in the Islamic countries are definitely used as scapegoats for justification for this "war on terror." Not all Arabs in general are responsible for all terrorism. I'm just as disagreeing with Islam as anyone, but I still won't blame all Arabs in general for this "war on terror." Real Islamic threats aren't in this country, but within some Muslim countries themselves with political and religious persecutions primarily. Just like Jewish people are used as scapegoats when people in the ADL, etc. are secular Jews who are in full collaboration with the Jesuits (i.e. they aren't Torah Jews or Jewish Christians). Even Jim Hagee (people call him a Zionist supporter) admitted along with Rabbi Lapin that Jews who embrace secular humanism (i.e. ADL) are just as wrong as Muslim radicals.

My understanding is that Rome wants Islam in its fold--after all, Muslims venerate Mary like Catholics do.

Mark Brewer - April 4, 2006 09:40 PM (GMT)

It is not Arabs that is the problem, but Islam. Most of the Arabs living in the United States do not practice Islam. In the future Islam, will be united with the Vatican even more than it already is. Remember how many heads of state from Muslim countries were at John Paul II's funeral? The leaders of Islam are already united with the Vatican.

AVBibleBeliever - April 8, 2006 07:19 AM (GMT)

Robert Spencer spoke on my college campus and he deliberately deemphasized Wahhabism. Spencer said that Wahhabism has been blamed unfairly and to do is a misapprehension (Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Spencer loves that word) he must have used it 3-5 times during his lecture on "The Jihad Threat" and during the Q&A afterwards. Spencer was arrogant, sarcastic, and did not have respect for his audience and those who had questions and comments.

I thought about asking him about his relationship to the Jesuits. I didn't but I after the fact I wish I had. I wasn't prepared at the time to engage in a debate with him. Roman Catholic Robert Spencer is a Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor based on the following facts.

1. The foreword of one of the books Coadjutor Spencer co-authored was written by a Jesuit Mitch Pacwa S.J.

2. Mark Brewer pointed out that Spencer falsely claims that Papal Antichrist Benedict XVI opposes Islam which is ludicrous. Islam is a creation of the Roman Catholic Church. I argue that it is nothing more than Arab-centric Romanism. Islam teaches purgatory, believes in saints, in Fatima, that the Pope is the vicegerent/Vicar of Jesus the prophet, uses prayer beads, etc. Islam serves the ends of the Papacy and the purpose for its creation was for the Arabs to do the bidding of Rome (capture Jerusalem) but not know it.

3. In this article coadjutor Spencer mentions and quotes from "Civiltà Cattolica" which he calls a "semi-official Jesuit magazine" <http://www.frontpagemag.com/Articles/ReadArticle.asp?ID=10582>

The Vatican's New Realism about Islam

4. Spencer has been on Vatican Radio.

5. During the Q&A a student mentioned "Christian Identity" (which is a cult and not Biblically Christian at all) and the Inquisition. Coadjutor Spencer said that system (the Inquisition) has not been active for centuries or something to that effect. Spencer is wrong. The Unholy Office of the Inquisition now the Congregation for the Doctrine of the (Romanist) Faith (cult) is very much in operation under the guise of Jesuit Medicine which is war on everyone through allopathic poison and deadly vaccinations and foreign wars which the Jesuits use to punish and extirpate "heretics" according to the Council of Trent. The U.S. has been the tool of the Order to fulfill their bloody oath.

There is more evidence to be uncovered I'm sure that shows Robert Spencer is indeed a Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor fomenting fury against the Muslim peoples and calling for their destruction in this present Papal Crusade in the Middle East.

Irony - I just love it!!

According to this book 'Cardinal' Mohammed started the Islamic religion. Bushby quotes from the writings of Mathew Paris an erudite english monk.

Finally found this;

<http://www.cyberspaceorbit.com/crucific.htm>

Here is an excerpt from THE CRUCIFIXION OF TRUTH--Tony Bushby...
Chapter Thirteen--

"Today he is called Mohammed (570-632), but his real name was Lothar Schmalfluss..... The reference is found in a book called 'Chronica Majora', a summary of world history from biblical Creation to the year of the author's death. It was written by Matthew Paris (d.1259), a pious Christian monk, described by the church 'as an historian who holds the first place among English chroniclers'. From his quaint specimen of Abbey records, the erudite Monk explained how Mohammed started an 'impious religion':

It is well known that Mohammed was once a cardinal, and became heretic because he failed to be elected pope. Also (later in life) having drunk to excess, he fell by the roadside, and in this condition was killed by swine. And for that reason, his followers abhor pork even unto this day.

Monk Matthew Paris called Mohammed 'cardinal'; a term that today signifies councilors of the pope, and the origin of that category of priesthood reveals another area of censored information in Christian development. The 16th Century church said that 'the office of cardinal (incardinatus) first came into being in the 6th Century...its true origin to this day remains unanswered for in none of the Councils (records) do we find authority for the distinguishing features of the office'. However, the position of cardinal was created by special decree at a French synod in January 560 and that information is recorded church history. 'The Synods which were held during the sixth century were confined to France and Spain'....

...It was at one of those Synods that the 'creatio' of cardinals occurred and the deliberations involved in its manufacture were termed 'frivolous' by the 19th Century church. At that gathering a group of seven old bishops 'of carnal nature' established for themselves a special office to protect their earthly privileges. Many bishops of the time 'were given up to worldliness and gain, and we hear of worse scandals' and the creation of a new hierarchal administrative body of churchmen was one of those disgraces. Under the guise of 'bearers of hidden knowledge' they generated a new upper level class of ecclesiastics that were sworn by oath never to reveal the true origins of Christianity outside their select group. Professional clergymen were now entering the church and to protect the knowledge of Constantine's deification of his descendants at Nicaea from reaching new priests, a directorial code of silence was developed by the Incardinatus.

Incoming clerics were naive about the true Christian origins and the basis of their preaching was not revealed until they achieved and maintained the office of bishop. They were then eligible to enter the College of Cardinals, and after swearing a vow of secrecy, were enlightened as to the invented nature of the Christian deity. Mohammed had achieved the position of cardinal, knew the false essence of Christianity, and having being passed over for the top papal job at around the age of forty, departed and established his own religion."

The previous part of the book, as well as the rest of the book are just as amazing to those who truly are seeking truths--

I have left out the many footnotes in the above passage.

Kent, it would do the world good to take a good look at all religions...and who is behind them...and what purpose they really serve...to whom.

Mark Brewer - April 9, 2006 04:34 AM (GMT)

That Bushby material sounds fake. He is not the most reputable source of information and included a lot more books in the bibliography of The Bible Fraud than were quoted in the book. The best source of information about Islam is Prophet of Doom by Craig Winn.

<http://www.prophetofdoom.net>

Winn took the Koran and the Hadith and put it in chronological order. After reading the book you should understand why the Vatican loves Islam. You can listen to the book off of the website as well as read it.

Before the Prophet of Doom website was redesigned, there was a debate between Winn and Robert Spencer posted on there. It was because of this debate that I realized Spencer was not completely above board and later found out that he was a co-adjutor.

dlux - April 9, 2006 04:38 PM (GMT)

Thanks for the links Mark- I will check them out.

Bushby did live at the Vatican for a time when writing The Crucifixion of Truth & had access to all the vaults bar one. I tried to check out Mathew Paris & I came accross one comment that he liked the odd drop of 'red'. Sometimes it is hard to join the dots but over time the picture is formed.

Wonderful tool the www.

Mark Brewer - April 9, 2006 07:59 PM (GMT)

Since Bushby was allowed to live in the Vatican, that makes me think he is an insider. The Papacy would never allow people to live in the Vatican who will do it any real damage.

<http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=38...trols+the+world>

AVBibleBeliever - March 16, 2006 04:51 AM (GMT)

This presentation is excellent and Novusordo (the person who posted it) exposes the Jesuits and their Illuminati/Black Nobility quotes Brother Eric's VA. What I disagree with is that it says the story of Jesus is just a rehash. Satan is a deceiver and he raised up false Christs which are cheap imitations of the true Biblical Christ. Nowhere in the Bible does it say the true Christ was born on Dec. 25-he wasn't born then but Mithra was according to the pagan myth. The counterfeit Christ of Romanism is a rehash- Nimrod, Horus, Tammuz, Mithra, to their "Jesus" (Nimrod, Horus) and "Mary" (Semiramis, Venus).

The video may be of interest to 'newbies' but I found it hard to read & whilst we can all spell the odd word incorrectly in a presentation on the WWW one would expect spelling to be correct. This presentation is a shambles.

A few quotes. One from 'sold out' Greenspan.

Whoever controls the volume of money in any country is absolute master of all industry and commerce. President James Garfield.

I believe that banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. Already they have raised up a money aristocracy that has set the government at defiance. The issuing power should be taken from the banks, and restored to the people. Thomas Jefferson.

If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation and then by deflation, the banks and corporations that will grow up around them will deprive the people of all property until their children will wake up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered. Thomas Jefferson.

This is the shabby secret of the welfare statist's tirades against gold. Deficit spending is simply a scheme for the "hidden" confiscation of wealth. --Alan Greenspan, Gold and Economic Freedom (1966)

"There is no subtler, no surer means of overturning the existing basis of society than to debauch (inflate) the currency. The process engages all the hidden forces of economic law on the side of destruction, and does it in a manner which not one man in a million can diagnose." --John Maynard Keynes, The Economic Consequences of the Peace, 1920, page 235ff

"Yes, we did produce a near perfect Republic. But will they keep it, or will they, in the enjoyment of plenty, lose the memory of freedom. Material abundance without character is the surest way to destruction"

Thomas Jefferson

"It has indeed been a trying hour for the Republic; but I see in the near future a crisis approaching that unnerves me and causes me to tremble for the safety of my country. As a result of the war, corporations have been enthroned and an era of corruption in high places will follow, and the money power of the country will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudices of the people until all wealth is aggregated in a few hands and the Republic is destroyed. I feel at this moment more anxiety for the safety of my country than ever before, even in the midst of war. God grant that my suspicions may prove groundless."

- U.S. President Abraham Lincoln, Nov. 21, 1864, (letter to Col. William F. Elkins) Ref: The Lincoln Encyclopedia, Archer H. Shaw (Macmillan, 1950, NY)

"In the councils of government, we must guard against the acquisition of unwarranted influence, whether sought or unsought, by the military-industrial complex. The potential for the disastrous rise of misplaced power exists and will persist....We must never let the weight of this combination endanger our liberties or democratic processes. We should take nothing for granted. Only an alert and knowledgeable citizenry can compel the proper meshing of the huge industrial and military machinery of defense with our peaceful methods and goals, so that security and liberty may prosper together."

- President Eisenhower's Farewell Address - January 17, 1961

"If the American people knew tonight, exactly how the monetary and banking system worked, there would be a revolution before tomorrow morning."

- Abraham Lincoln

"Certainly no nation ever before abandoned to the avarice and jugglings of private individuals to regulate according to their own interests, the quantum of circulating medium for the nation -- to inflate, by deluges of paper, the nominal prices of property, and then to buy up that property at 1s. in the pound, having first withdrawn the floating medium which might endanger a competition in purchase. Yet this is what has been done, and will be done, unless stayed by the protecting hand of the legislature. The evil has been produced by the error of their sanction of this ruinous machinery of banks; and justice, wisdom, duty, all require that they should interpose and arrest it before the schemes of plunder and spoliation desolate the country."

- Thomas Jefferson to William C. Rives, 1819. ME 15:232

PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON

"A great industrial nation is controlled by its system of credit. Our system of credit is concentrated. The growth of the Nation and all our activities are in the hands of a few men. We have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated governments in the world--no longer a government of free opinion, no longer a government of conviction, and vote of the majority, but a government by the opinion and duress, of small groups of dominant men."

Just before President Woodrow Wilson died, he is reported to have stated to friends that he had been "deceived" and that "I have betrayed my Country". referring to the Federal Reserve Act, passed during his Presidency.

"The extension of the prohibition to bills of credit must give pleasure to every citizen, in proportion to his love of justice and his knowledge of the true springs of public prosperity. The loss which America has sustained since the peace from the pestilent effects of paper money on the necessary confidence between man and man, on the necessary confidence in the public councils, on the industry and morals of the people and on the character of republican government, constitutes an enormous debt against the States chargeable with this unadvised measure, which must long remain unsatisfied; or rather an accumulation of guilt, which can be expiated no otherwise than by a voluntary sacrifice on the altar of justice of the power which has been the instrument of it. In addition to these persuasive considerations, it may be observed that the same reasons which show the necessity of denying to the States the power of regulating coin, prove with equal force that they ought not to be at liberty to substitute a paper medium in the place of the coin." Number 44 of the Federalist Papers. JAMES MADISON

"There should be no war upon property or the owners of property. Property is the fruit of labor; property is desirable; is a positive good in the world. That some should be rich shows that others may become rich, hence, is just encouragement to industry and enterprise."

"I have two great enemies: the Southern Army in front of me, and the financial institutions to my rear. Of the two, the one in my rear is my greatest foe..."

"The Government should create, issue, and circulate all the currency and credits needed to satisfy the spending power of the Government and the buying power of consumers. By the adoption of these principles, the taxpayers will be saved immense sums of interest. Money will cease to be master and become the servant of humanity.

"Yes; we may all congratulate ourselves that this cruel war is nearing its close. It has cost a vast amount of treasure and blood. The best blood of the flower of American youth has been freely offered upon our country's altar that the Nation might live. It has been, indeed a trying hour for the Republic; but I see in the future a crisis approaching that unnerves me and causes me to tremble for the safety of my country. As a result of the war, corporations have been enthroned and an era of corruption in high places will follow, and the money power of the country will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudices of the people until wealth is aggregated in a few hands and the Republic is destroyed. I feel at this moment more anxiety for the safety of my country than ever before, even in the midst of the war."

"I see in the near future a crisis approach which unnerves me and cause me to tremble for the safety of my country. Corporations (of banking) have been enthroned, an era of corruption in high places will follow, and the money power of the country will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudices of the people until the wealth is aggregated in a few hands and the Republic destroyed."

PRESIDENT JOHN ADAMS

"All the perplexities, confusions and distresses in America arise not from defects in the constitution or confederation, not from want of honor or virtue, as much as from downright ignorance of the nature of coin, credit and circulation."

GEORGE WASHINGTON

"Every lover of his country will therefore be solicitous to find out some speedy remedy for this alarming evil. There is no possible substitute for the loss of commerce. Our first grand object, therefore, is its restoration. I presume not to dictate or direct. It is a subject that will require the deepest deliberations and researches of the wisest and more experienced men in America to fully comprehend. It probably belongs to no one man existing to possess all the qualifications required to trace the course of American commerce through all intricate paths and to those and only those that shall lead the United States to future glory and prosperity I am sanguine in the belief of the possibility that we may one day become a great commercial and flourishing nation. But if in the pursuit of the means we should unfortunately stumble again on unfunded paper money or any similar species of fraud, we shall assuredly give a fatal stab to our national credit in its infancy. Paper money will invariably operate in the body of politics as spirit liquors on the human body. They prey on the vitals and ultimately destroy them."

"Paper money has had the effect in your state that it will ever have, to ruin commerce, oppress the honest, and open the door to every species of fraud and injustice." (letter to J. Bowen, Rhode Island, Jan. 9, 1787)

"If ever again our nation stumbles upon unfunded paper, it shall surely be like death to our body politic. This country will crash."

THOMAS JEFFERSON

"The system of banking we have both equally and ever reprobated. I contemplate it as a blot left in all our constitutions, which, if not covered, will end in their destruction, ... I sincerely believe, with you, that banking establishments are more dangerous than standing armies; and that the principle of spending money to be paid by posterity, under the name of funding, is but swindling futurity on a large scale."

"The eyes of our citizens are not sufficiently open to the true cause of our distress. They ascribe them to everything but their true cause, the banking system; a system which if it could do good in any form is yet so certain of leading to abuse as to be utterly incompatible with the public safety and prosperity. I sincerely believe that banking establishments are more dangerous than standing armies... and that the principle of spending money to be paid by posterity, under the name of funding, is but swindling futurity on a large scale."

"... we must not let our rulers load us with perpetual debt...If we run into such debts as that we must be taxed in our meat and in our drink, in our necessities and comforts, in our labors and in our amusements, for our callings and our creeds...our people...must come to labor 16 hours in the 24, give the earnings of 15 of these to the government for their debts and daily expenses; and the 16th being insufficient to afford us bread,...We have no time to think, no means of calling the mis-managers to account; but be glad to obtain subsistence by hiring ourselves, to rivet their chains on the necks of our fellow sufferers. Our land holders, too...retaining indeed the title and stewardship of estates called theirs, but held really in trust for the treasury,. . .this is the tendency of all human governments. A departure from principle becomes a precedent for a second; that second for a third; and so on, till the bulk of society is reduced to mere automatons of misery, to have no sensibilities left but for sinning and suffering...And the fore horse of this frightful team is public debt. Taxation follows that, and in it's train, wretchedness and oppression."

"I believe that banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. Already they have raised up a money aristocracy that has set the government at defiance. This issuing power should be taken from the banks and restored to the people to whom it properly belongs. If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, the banks and corporations that will grow up around them will deprive the people of all property until their children will wake up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered. I hope we shall crush in its birth the aristocracy of the moneyed corporations which already dare to challenge our Government to a trial of strength and bid defiance to the laws of our country"

"I sincerely believe ... that banking establishments are more dangerous than standing armies, and that the principle of spending money to be paid by posterity under the name of funding is but swindling futurity on a large scale."

I place economy among the first and important virtues, and public debt as the greatest of dangers. To preserve our independence, we must not let our rulers load us with perpetual debt. We must make our choice between economy and liberty, or profusion and servitude. If we can prevent the government from wasting the labours of the people under the pretense of caring for them, they will be happy.

"The Central Bank is an institution of the most deadly hostility existing against the principles and form of our Constitution.

This is a bit off topic but does relate to the list of quotes Dlux provided.

With respect to the familiar and ominous quotes made by various famous people over the ages - those historic quotes of grave concern bordering on fear and trepidation over the everpresent and omnipotent perils to this country and world at large, present and/or future (relative to the time of the quote), from the dark influences of that infamous gang of hook-nosed international banksters - does anyone else find it ironic that these famous people so quoted have themselves been star players within the same nefarious globe-trotting gang of low life treasonous perps collectively contributing to taking this country and world to nwo-hell in a handbasket? More recently, Taft, Teddy, Wilson, fdr, Johnson, Eisenhower, just to name a few; anyone?

Worldwide celebrations for Jesuit founders

LONDON - 7 April 2006 - 320 words

<http://www.indcatholicnews.com/wlfjs123.html>

The lives of three of the founding Companions of the Society of Jesus will be celebrated at Farm Street Church in London on Saturday, 22 April. The British Jesuit Provincial, Fr Michael Holman SJ, will preside and preach at the Jubilee Mass on the Feast of the Blessed Virgin Mary, Queen and Mother of the Society of Jesus, to mark the 450th anniversary of the death of St Ignatius Loyola, and the 500th anniversary of the birth of St Francis Xavier and Blessed Peter Favre.

Jesuits, their friends, associates and co-workers, will be travelling from all over Britain to join the celebrations. Among them will be pupils from St Aloysius College, Glasgow, who will be processing into the church carrying banners of the three Companions. These banners were designed by Sr Anthony Wilson SND and hand-stitched by David Peglar. A further four, of the four English Jesuits martyred in 1606, will also be on display.

Meanwhile in Rome, several dozen pupils from St Aloysius and Stonyhurst Colleges - along with parents and staff - will be completing a 100km walk to the Vatican, where they will meet with the Superior General of the Society of Jesus, Fr Peter Hans Kolvenbach, before attending a Jubilee Mass in St Peter's Basilica. After the Mass, the group will receive a blessing from Pope Benedict XVI.

April 22 was chosen as the date of the international celebrations because of its significance in the Jesuit calendar and St Ignatius' particular devotion to Our Lady. It was on 22 April 1541 - the Saturday after Easter - that the first companions gathered at Our Lady's altar in the Basilica of St Paul-outside-the-walls in Rome to repeat the original vows they had made seven years earlier.

With nine fellow students in Paris, including Xavier and Favre, Ignatius founded the Society of Jesus in 1540. It now numbers 20,000 men in 100 countries worldwide.

Fury at 'antisemitic' Catholic radio station

MATTHEW DAY IN WARSAW

<http://news.scotsman.com/international.cfm?id=532992006>

A CATHOLIC radio station in Poland that has close ties with the country's government has been attacked by a survivor of the Warsaw ghetto uprising after it broadcast a programme accusing Jews of profiteering from the Holocaust.

Mark Edelman, who fought German troops trying to liquidate the Jewish ghetto in 1943, said Radio Maryja was xenophobic and antisemitic, likening its contents to Nazi propaganda.

Mr Edelman, a respected member of Poland's Jewish community, urged the government to stop the station, which enjoys widespread popularity and is run by a maverick priest, Father Tadeusz Rydzyk, from broadcasting antisemitic material.

Mr Edelman's accusations were followed by a robust attack on the station by the Vatican, which charged it with having a political agenda and abusing its church radio status.

The Vatican representative in Poland, Archbishop Jozef Kowalczyk, wrote to the head of Father Rydzyk's Redemptionist order demanding an end to the station's involvement in politics.

"Radio Maryja's involvement in political issues ... has not escaped the attention of the Holy See," the letter said.

The statement comes days after a media watchdog accused Radio Maryja of making "very nasty, antisemitic" remarks by claiming in a recent broadcast that Jews have made a business of Holocaust reparation payments.

In the broadcast, a commentator accused Jews of "trying to force our government to pay extortion money disguised as compensation payments" for property lost in the war.

He referred to such restitution attempts by Jewish groups as the "Holocaust business".

The letter came amid a wave of accusations of political interference against Radio Maryja and concern at its apparent influence on the government.

Leading members of the governing Law and Justice party, which has pursued a staunchly moral and Catholic agenda since it came into office last year, are regular guests on the station.

The Polish president, Lech Kaczynski, who is also from Law and Justice, publicly thanked Radio Maryja in his first speech after his election in October.

Two months ago, and to the fury of the Polish press, Law and Justice held the signing of a key co-operation agreement with two other political parties exclusively on Radio Maryja's sister television network Trwam.

The close relationship between the government and the station has even led to the satirical comment that Poland has the most technically advanced government in the world because it is radio controlled.

Description: *Catholic Church Flashback April 2002

CRAIG-OXLEY - April 8, 2006 12:02 AM (GMT)

Geoff Watts meets scientists who work for the Catholic Church.

Tuesday 30 April 2002, 8.00-8.40pm Rpt 5 May, 5.00 pm

<http://www.bbc.co.uk/radio4/science/vaticanscientists.shtml>

Many people will be surprised to learn that the Catholic Church has its own crack team of scientists - mainly Jesuits - who do front line research. For example, there's a team who study the heavens through telescopes at the Vatican Observatory. The Pope can also turn to his own academy of sciences.

The Academicians are independent from the papacy and comprise some of the world's leading lay scientists - many are Nobel Prize Winners. They act as papal advisers and influence church thinking on scientific topics. They have pronounced on issues such as the implications of genetics and environmental concerns. In 1996 they advised the Pope when he tried to reconcile the theory of evolution with the biblical story of Creation.

Geoff Watts meets the scientists who work for the Vatican and those who are members of the Pontifical Academy, and explores how their work and advice translates into the policies of the Catholic Church.

Did life arise by chance or by necessity and what does this say about God the Creator? If there is intelligent life elsewhere, did Christ come to save them?

These questions were raised by George Coyne in a scientific paper prompted by the discovery of dozens of planets outside our solar system. George is no ordinary scientist - he is also a Jesuit priest and director of the Vatican Observatory. The questions raised would probably have got him executed by the Inquisition four hundred years ago. Thankfully the Church is more open these days - so much so that it has many of its own scientific institutions.

The Church is currently facing some of the biggest challenges to its doctrines since the time of Galileo. The possibility of life elsewhere in the Universe, the unravelling of the atom and controversial new developments in reproductive biology pose such vexing moral questions that the Vatican is now conducting its own research. At the Pope's disposal is a large body of scientists, primarily Jesuit priests, who not only conduct their own front line research, but also scour the scientific literature for moral and philosophical problems, either caused by science or which can be helped by science. They act as the eyes and ears of Rome on scientific developments.

Marcelo Sanchez Sorondon, Bishop Chancellor of the Pontifical Academy of Sciences

Vatican Scientists profiles the work of these priest/scientists to find out how they can work as inquisitive scientists whilst still adhering to the teachings of the Church. What motivates their work? We explore the nature of their relationship with the papacy and the strange city state in which they hold office. We talk to them about their work, about the ethics of modern science and the perception that the Catholic Church has had an uneasy relationship with the scientific establishment.

The Pope is also able to call on his the members of his own scientific academy - The Pontifical Academy of Sciences. It's 80 members meet every two years to make their cumulative wisdom available to the church. Members are drawn from many disciplines and are among the most famous and eminent scientists in the world - Stephen Hawking is a member, so too is our Astronomer Royal, Martin Rees. By picking issues carefully, they believe their views can be very influential - helping to shape the Church's views on DNA technology and what was once seen as the biggest threat to its doctrines: evolution.

Coadjutors Jesuit-trained Johnson and Randolph-both Masonic brethren united for the intentional rise of Black Americans with the Jesuits' Civil Rights Agitation from the 1930s to 1960s to the ultimate detriment of both White and Black Americans. The "War on Poverty" was a war on middle class America and ultimately made Black Americans worse off evidenced by the impoverished ghettos in the cities of Fourteenth Amendment America.

The Vatican Connection:

How the Roman Catholic Church Influences the Republican Party

By John M Swomley

It was the Vatican's program that dominated the Republican Party platform and presidential campaign in 1996, although Ralph Reed and the Christian coalition claimed the credit.

After winning the Republican primaries, candidate Robert Dole made a major speech to the Catholic Press Association's annual convention in Philadelphia on May 23, in which he endorsed “school choice,” which involves the funding of parochial schools through tuition tax vouchers. He also attacked President Clinton’s late term or “partial birth” abortion veto and, in the context of abortion, said, “Though not a Catholic, I would listen to Pope John Paul II.”

The word “listen” in Webster’s Unabridged Dictionary, is defined as “give heed, take advice.”

Immediately following that speech, Dole had a 20-minute meeting with Cardinal Anthony Bevilacqua of Philadelphia. On June 25, Dole had an hour-long private meeting with Cardinal John O’Connor of New York City in which they discussed Dole’s commitment to the papal position on abortion (and presumably family planning) as well as his strategy to persuade moderate pro-choice Republicans to accept an anti-abortion platform. ‘When a reporter asked O’Connor if he was comfortable with Dole’s efforts to seek tolerance for pro-choice Republicans, the cardinal endorsed Dole’s plan by saying, “I cannot imagine that Senator Dole will deviate from his commitment on abortion.” He also said, “I think that Senator Dole has a wonderfully pro-life record and I doubt very much that that’s going to change in any significant way.”

Although Dole did not request a joint photo, the cardinal posed with Dole for a picture for the New York Times which appeared the next day on the front page as an obvious endorsement.

On July 18, Dole spoke to a Catholic audience at Cardinal Stritch College in Milwaukee where, according to the New York Times, he emphasized his proposal for “vouchers paying $1,000 a year in tuition for pupils in grades one through eight and $1,500 a year for high school students. States that had adopted voucher programs would apply for federal assistance” and the “federal government would provide $2.5 billion a year to be matched” by the state.

Bob Dole chose Rep. Henry Hyde as head of the Republican platform committee. Hyde is generally regarded as the Catholic bishops’ spokesperson in Congress. Hyde, in turn, according to the National Catholic Reporter, invited Catholics to help him develop the party’s 1996 platform. In an open letter to Catholics, he wrote: “Catholics are a powerful voice for moral authority and fulfill a growing leadership role in the Republican Party,” noting that “there are nine U.S. senators, 55 members of the House, and nine governors who are both Republican and Catholic.” His letter also said, “As a Catholic, I believe the basic principles of Catholic teaching are philosophically and morally aligned with those of the Republican Party.”

The Catholic Political Agenda

However, although Dole’s endorsement of the Catholic political agenda, along with a similar endorsement by the Republican Party platform, made the Republican Party in effect a religious or sectarian party, it is even more significant that the Catholic bishops took action to aid the Republican Party. The president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, Anthony M. Pilla of Cleveland, departed from custom to tell the 250 bishops that, although they should not engage in partisan politics, they could address political issues that might be closer to the views of one party. Then, after a “stinging attack on President Clinton’s veto of a measure that banned a type of late-term abortion,” the bishops, according to the June 24 New York Times, “unanimously endorsed [Dole’s] appeal to Congress to overturn the veto.”

The bishops tried to paint President Clinton as an extremist, whereas a progressive Catholic, Jesuit priest Robert Drinan, said, “Congress should sustain the veto, because the bill does not provide an exception for women whose health is at risk, and it would be virtually unenforceable.” Drinan said that opponents are “using Mr. Clinton’s veto as a political weapon.”

The New York Times said that “orders had been placed” by the Conference of Bishops for more than nine million sets of post cards urging Congress to overturn the veto. This political campaign obviously made the bishops’ political position felt throughout the country. On no issue other than abortion and birth control have the bishops been so openly active.

The reason has been clearly stated by the Vatican’s point man in the United States, Cardinal John O’Connor. In an April 3, 1992 speech to the most right-wing of Catholic universities, Franciscan University of Steubenville, Ohio, he said, “The fact is that attacks on the Catholic church’s stance on abortion, unless they are rebutted effectively, erode church authority in all matters, indeed the authority of God himself.” He said, according to the April 9 edition of his newspaper, Catholic New York.

Abortion has become the number one challenge for the Church in the United States because. ..if the Church’s authority is rejected on such a crucial question as human life... then questioning of the Trinity becomes child’s play, as does questioning the divinity of Christ or any other Church teaching.

O’Connor’s comments are not an over statement. The Vatican has made this its highest priority. On March 25, 1995 the pope issued an encyclical, Evangelium Vitae, which is an explicit instruction to obedient Catholics in Congress, state legislators, and even to Supreme Court justices in their official capacity, to oppose any laws or proposed laws which would permit abortion. Specifically, the pope said, “In the case of an intrinsically unjust law, such as a law permitting abortion or euthanasia, it is never licit to obey it, or take part in a propaganda campaign in favor of such a law, or vote for it.”

The Modus Operandi for Trying to Impose Papal Authority

The Vatican wants to extend its authority over civil law, not only in countries with Catholic majorities but in others with religiously diverse populations. The Catholic bishops have decided to try to impose papal authority in the United States through the abortion issue. Their Committee for Pro-Life Activities is the best-funded of the bishops' thirteen secretariats and committees, with a budget of $1.8 million in 1993. It is more than three times the next largest budget, that of the Secretariat for Ecumenical and Inter-Religious Affairs, and four times the budget of the Secretariats for Laity, Women, Family, and Youth, according to the latest published information by Catholics for a Free Choice.

The Birth Control Issue Waiting in the Wings

The abortion issue is also a cover for opposition to birth control, since the Vatican claims that contraceptives that function after intercourse - such as the "morning after" pill or an intra uterine device - are really abortifacients because they operate to prevent implantation of the fertilized egg in the uterus. Therefore, all family-planning programs worldwide are opposed.

The bishops were successful in dominating the Reagan and Bush administrations on this issue, as revealed in the February 4, 1992 issue of Time magazine. That article, entitled "The U.S. and The Vatican on Birth Control," began with this sentence: "In response to concerns of the Vatican, the Reagan Administration agreed to alter its foreign aid program to comply with the church's teaching on birth control." This, according to William Wilson (the first U.S. ambassador to the Holy See after Reagan established diplomatic recognition) resulted in the withdrawal of U.S. funding of international family-planning organizations, including the United Nations Fund for Population Activities.

"American policy was changed as a result of the Vatican's not agreeing with our policy," Wilson asserted. "American aid programs around the world did not meet the criteria the Vatican had for family planning." Therefore, when the Reagan administration sent State Department representatives to Rome, Wilson said, "I'd accompany them to meet the president of the Pontifical Council for the Family."

In an accompanying article in the same issue of Time, there is a report of Reagan's first meeting with the pope in 1982 and of other meetings between the Vatican's U.S. representative, Pio Laghi, and Reagan officials. According to that article, "the key administration players were all devout Roman Catholics": CIA director William Casey, National Security Advisor Richard Allen, National Security Advisor William Clark, Secretary of State Alexander Haig, and Ambassador-at-Large Vernon Walters, as well as Wilson.

Reagan's collaboration with the Vatican seriously impeded family planning activities in many countries, including curtailing the availability of contraceptives, and thereby contributed to increasing the total world population. The United Nations Fund for Population Activities in 1991 stated, "World population, which reached 5.4 billion in mid-1991, is growing faster than ever before: three people every second, more than 250,000 every day. At the beginning of the decade the annual addition was 93 million."

The consequences are enormous. The editor of the National Catholic Reporter, in an editorial in the June 19, 1992 issue, said, "I feel the church is causing great harm to the planet, making millions suffer unnecessarily....Among today's 5.2 billion as many as one fifth, mostly children, are undernourished. About 1 million die from hunger or hunger-related causes yearly." (Estimates vary, however. The 1992 UNICEF report, "State of the World's Children," said that a quarter of a million are allowed to die every week from malnutrition-related causes; that is 13 million a year.)

Moreover, those hunger-related problems have led to massive economic migrations which, in turn, have led to population wars such as those in Somalia, Rwanda, Burundi, and in India where "nine or ten million refugees from East Pakistan were driven out." There are now, according to the 1996 World Almanac, 5.8 million refugees in Africa and 5.488 million in the Middle East, to say nothing of economic migration into California, Texas, and Florida from Mexico, Central and South America, Haiti, and Cuba.

In short, the Reagan-Bush-Dole policy of collaborating with the Vatican has had serious effects on U.S. foreign and domestic policy.

Catholic Lay Elites Pressed into Political Service for the Vatican's Agenda

The Time articles also revealed that the Vatican works in various countries through lay people who function politically without apparent connection to the Vatican. The major study of the Vatican's use of Catholic laity throughout Europe was made by Catholic Professor Jean-Guy Villaincourt of the University of Montreal in his book, Papal Power: A Study of Vatican Control Over Law Catholic Elites. Villaincourt in his concluding summary said in part, "The Catholic lay militant has been pressed into service as an... intermediary between the Papacy and the modern state." In Europe, it is Catholic Action and the Christian Democratic Party which assume "direct political responsibilities" that the Hierarchy must shun. In the United States, it is the Catholic Campaign for America, which was organized in 1991. Its "ecclesiastical adviser" is the ubiquitous Cardinal O'Connor, but the laity on the CCA board and national committee function without publicizing their role in the organization.

Among them are William L. Bennett, who was Reagan's Secretary of Education and who often appeared with Bob Dole as his advisor on vouchers for parochial schools, and presidential candidate Patrick Buchanan, whose role was to maintain a hard-line stance on the Catholic agenda so that the Republican platform would reflect it. Buchanan insisted on continuing in the 1996 primaries even after it was obvious he could not win the nomination. He said he was “not after any seat or promotion or anything like that” but wanted “to remake and reshape the Republican Party.” He insisted that his major aim was to keep the “right to life” plank in the Republican platform.

The overall mission of the Catholic Campaign for America is “to activate Catholic citizens, increase the Catholic electorate’s influence in formulating public policy, and focus the public’s attention on the richness and beauty of Catholic teaching.” A 1992 newsletter of the Catholic Campaign declared that “separation of church and state is a false premise that must finally be cast aside.”

At the Republican Convention in San Diego a small group of right wing leaders including such Catholics as Phyllis Schlafly and Bay Buchanan (Pat’s sister and campaign manager) collaborated with Ralph Reed, Gary Bauer and Henry Hyde, the platform committee chairman, to thwart Dole’s effort to include tolerance for pro-choice Republicans in the party platform. Hyde had already loaded the decisive subcommittee with anti-abortionists so that Dole could not control it.

Phyllis Schlafly and Ralph Reed had organized delegates under their respective control who numbered over five hundred. They selected and trained delegates to work on the convention floor with regional groups. The Christian Coalition, for example, had a “war room” and instructed each of their five “whips” to whom had been assigned twenty delegates, each with a pager and hand-held computer.

Together Schlafly and Reed’s people informed the Dole campaign that they had the troops to disrupt the convention if there were an attempt on the floor to alter the anti-abortion plank. In other words, a minority of well-organized right wing Catholics and Protestants were unwilling to have a democratic convention vote. Dole and others in his campaign yielded to a disciplined religious power group without a bow to pro-choice Republicans.

The Old Parochial Gets a New Name: School Choice

Dole’s other major Catholic obligation was aid to parochial schools through “school choice.” The Second Vatican Council’s decree on Christian education states:

“Parents, who have a primary and inalienable duty and right in regard to the education of their children, should enjoy the fullest liberty in their choice of school. The public authority therefore, whose duty is to protect and defend the liberty of the citizen, is bound, according to the principles of distributive justice, to ensure that public subsidies to schools are so allocated that the parents are truly free to select schools for their children in accordance with their conscience.”

The phrase “distributive justice” is an Aristotelian idea that superior status or contribution to society entitled one to greater benefits from that society. It was an aristocratic principle that denied the benefits of Greek citizenship to slaves. The medieval world in which Roman Catholic structure, theology and social principles were largely formed was not opposed to this idea of distribution in proportion to status.

What this means in America is taking money from the public school system and giving it to the largest private-school system - Catholic schools - using parents as conduits. A comparatively smaller group of other religious schools would also benefit, as would private schools in the South and North to which whites have fled integrated public schools.

Distributive justice is based upon the assumption that certain parents as taxpayers are being denied justice if they do not get what they pay in taxes so they can choose private schools. However, the public schools exist to serve the entire community by lifting the level of literacy, education, and ability of citizens to participate in a democracy. Older citizens and those without children do not expect to have their taxes returned.

How Aristotle's Scheme Would Play in Peoria

A study of the way a voucher program would work in Pennsylvania based on $900 for each student in the state revealed that, because private schools are generally located in wealthy neighborhoods, "two thirds of the funds authorized by this plan would flow into the eight Pennsylvania counties with the highest per capita incomes, while none of the funds would go to the state's poorest counties." This means that the state's poorest counties would be paying additional taxes to support the richest counties.

An examination of the top 51 private-school counties in the United States similarly reveals how tax money would flow into religious schools to the detriment of public schools in the same county and state. For example, in Carroll County, Iowa, the first of the counties studied, the Catholic church population is 62.4 percent, and 37.8 percent of the students are in private schools. In Sioux City, Iowa in the second highest county, the Dutch Reformed churches are dominant, and 37.4 percent of the students are in private schools.

Membership in the Roman Catholic church is a paramount factor in all 51 counties, ranging between 20.3 and 37.8 percent of all students in religious schools, even without a voucher program. A number of prosperous suburbs with strong Catholic identities are in the top 51, including Jefferson County, Louisiana; the Philadelphia suburban counties of Delaware, Montgomery, and Bucks; St. Louis County, Missouri; and the Kentucky counties (suburban to Cincinnati) of Kenton and Campbell. There is thus often a correlation between religious schools and higher incomes.

In general, large cities with historically Catholic communities (Philadelphia, Jersey City, Boston, Wilmington, Cleveland, New Orleans, and San Francisco) are in the top 51 counties. Voucher support of 20 percent to 40 percent of the student population would mean that state taxes to support the private schools would have to come not only from the counties with high private-school populations but also from the counties with few, if any private schools. The families with children in private schools would benefit substantially, while those in public schools and those with no children would correspondingly lose tax revenue. For example, a family with five children receiving a $3,000 tuition voucher per child would pass along that money to their parochial school which would get the $15,000 and which would thus benefit enormously, while the public-school family would suffer from the corresponding reduction in per-pupil aid to the public schools.

There is also a correlation between race and private school enrollment. In the two dozen most heavily African-American counties in the nation, 11 percent of all elementary and secondary students attended white private schools in 1990, compared to the 9.8 percent average for all U.S. states. In Georgia, high private school counties had black populations higher than statewide. In Humphries County, Mississippi, 17.9 percent of all students attended private schools, and in Wilkinson County, Mississippi, 21.4 percent. No figures are available to determine white flight from black areas in the larger cities of the North. However, voucher programs would not only subsidize the existing racially motivated schools but would accelerate white flight elsewhere.

Another motivation for school choice is the desire to enroll minority students of other religions. Jesuit priest Thomas J. Reese notes:

“Catholic schools are the most successful evangelizing tool available to the church in the black community... .Most schools teach the Catholic faith to both Catholic and non-Catholic students.”

One illustration of this is Chicago’s Holy Angels School, which President Reagan visited to propose tuition financial aid for parents to send their children to nonpublic schools. Reagan called it “the nation’s largest black Catholic school.” The Washington Post reported that in order to attend that school both the children and their parents had to be instructed in Catholicism, which resulted in about 80 to 150 Catholic converts a year.

Moreover, the American Catholic bishops will continue to use parochial schools as instruments of political retaliation or benefit, as evident in the Archdiocese of St. Louis forbidding parochial school students to hear President Clinton speak in suburban St. Louis on May 17, 1996 because of the President’s stand on abortion.

There is little doubt about the fact that Bob Dole and the Republican Party sold out to the Vatican in spite of those moderate Republicans and progressive Catholics who still believe in separation of church and state and in protecting a woman’s right to reproductive freedom.

Nevertheless, it is important to note that the Republican candidates misjudged the Catholic vote. All twelve of the most numerically Catholic states, including those where Cardinals O'Connor, Bernadin, Law, Bevilacqua, and Mohoney presided, went for Clinton.

Dear Jxxxxxx

Thank you for your encouraging words.

I have given interviews with Peering Into The Darkness and several with Lenny Bloom. There is one with Victor Thorne and one with Sherri Shriner. There are a few with The Grassy Knoll. Others I cannot remember off hand.

Yes, Masons Hirohito and FDR worked together throughout the entire duration of the War in the Pacific. This includes the blowing up of the USS Arizona in Pearl Harbor by the ONI and the sinking of the USS Indianapolis, the Japanese sub just waiting for the heavy cruiser to arrive to its designated position. In fact the Indianapolis was sunk on July 31, 1945, the annual feast day of "Saint Ignatius Loyola." So while the Jesuits were celebrating a huge feast day within their communities throughout the world, the sharks were feasting on our abandoned sailors in the Pacific. The whole story infuriates me. Captain Charles McVay was framed by that traitor, Admiral Nimitz.

VAIII on CD will be available June 1---Lord willing.

CRAIG-OXLEY - April 7, 2006 01:08 AM (GMT)

Bro. Eric,

I want to thank you for your taking the time to answer my inquiries. You are a gentleman and a tireless worker. There are a couple of minor points I'll respond to later, but nothing major.

I wanted to throw this up to you. With all this hype about Iran and its nuclear possibilities, according to the Biblical context of the seven-year tribulation period Iran (the Medes) will be a nuclear power to be dealt with, along with Russia and her allies.

Agreed. Just before mid-trib when Gog of Magog, prince of Rosh (Russia), Meshech (Moscow) and Tubal (Tubolsk) attacks regathered Israel (Ex.38:8), Persia, i.e., IRAN, will be with Gog. So Iran cannot be destroyed in this Papal Crusade. Its population is to be reduced, while exciting the survivors to attack the Pope's fascist, 14th Amendment American Empire. the aftermath will be a unification with the Pope's Russia, now led by Knight of Malta Vladimir Putin. Remember, the SMOM, aided by the Jesuits, have ruled Russia since the Assassination of Tzar Alexander II in 1881.

These nations are mentioned as coming against Babylon and leaving her as a desert (That reminds me of Vladimir Zhironofsky's quote in Time Magazine years ago when he said, "If anybody messes with me, I'll leave them a parched desert."). What I am saying is that Iran cannot be destroyed, or at least her nuclear capability taken out, before the appearing of the Lord, since she will play a major role in destroying the great commercial and political Babylon.

Agreed.

First, there is no evidence that atomic bombs can be dropped and detonate as air-bursts. This was not done at Hiroshima or Nagasaki. Both devices were assembled on the ground by Jesuit German physicists, including Jesuit Kleinsorge, overseen by the future Jesuit General, Pedro Arrupe, whose Jesuit master was in control of the Japanese High Command via the Masonic Emperor, Hirohito. (It was for this reason that Hirohito did not allow his Japanese people to surrender during the Summer of 1945; the bombs had to be detonated under cover of an ariel, B-29 bombardment using magnesium flash bombs laced with radioactive materials delivered to Tinian Island by the USS Indianapolis, later deliberately sunk by Admiral Nimitz and the Japanese Navy.) Thus the concept of Airborne Nuclear War is a complete Hoax, created to serve as the foundation for the Pope's Cold War Hoax. Therefore the entire theory that Iran can launch a nuclear missile against Israel is a lie, and thus a pretext for the invasion of Iran as well as Iraq, both nations having been armed by the CFR-controlled US government in the 1980s. (I was stationed with Iranians in Denver in the mid 1970s.)

Besides, there is too much at stake with Russia and China and the rest of the Arab world for the US or Israel to move against Iran. This would cause a domino effect and apocalyptic repercussions typical of the tribulation period.

Disagreed. Since there is no such thing as Ariel Nuclear War (only detonations of pre-set devices when in the proper relation to the sun during its corkscrew, up-and-down circuit of the earth), Iran can easily be invaded as was Iraq. In fact it appears that the possibility exists that the US and Russia could act together in the Iranian invasion, Russia be given the oil fields for its military machine, and then the US then turn on one another---as was done between Stalin and Hitler over Poland in 1939. There are also 14 permanent US military bases now in Iraq, to be used throughout this anti-Moslem Crusade.

Neither can Israel be destroyed since she will be a major factor in the "covenant with death", i.e. the Antichrist's peace accord (not to mention the fact that God won't allow it.).

Totally Agreed. It is for this reason that I am traduced when I publicly declare that the nation of Israel as it exists today can never be destroyed pursuant to Ezekiel 38:8. Once the nation has been reestablished, it cannot be destroyed and then reestablished again.

Wouldn't China be related to the "kings of the East" (which come on the scene during the tribulation) and not the "great nation" and nations out of "the North" which will come against Babylon?

I believe that indeed, China will be the heart of "the kings of the east" who will cross the Euphrates River and attack Israel at the end of the Great Tribulation. But since I do not believe the city of Babylon of Jeremiah 51 and Isaiah 12 is the American Empire (rather I believe that the prophecies have both a present and future reference to the destruction of then city of Babylon and the future city of Rome (spiritual Babylon existing during the Day of the Lord)), China can most definitely be used to attack the US before the Day of the Lord. Presently this is the scenario now unfolding in both China and the US. Knight of Malta Alexander Haig, Jr., is a member of the board of COSCO. Thus the Jesuit Order, in fulfilling its Counter Reformation quest is preparing China---and Japan--- to attack the US as the grand finale of this Third Thirty Years' War.

My question is, Where does China enter in to the destruction of the US? Wouldn't she be acting a little before her time? Or is she just set up as a looming threat to be able to bring about some political "move" predetermined by the Order?

No, China will be used against the US in the future. There is now a huge fifth column on the West Coast, and China now controls the deep water ports of Los Angeles and Long Beach, as well as the locks of the Panama Canal. This is an obvious policy of encirclement, as was done to Germany by France, Britain and Russia prior to WWI. The Kaiser spoke of this policy in his desperate telegrams to cousin, Tzar Nicholas II, after the Tzar, under orders of his Jesuit masters, ordered the mobilization of over 1 million Russian troops on the Prussian border which mobilization ignited WWI.

Yes, I agree with God's judgment on this world as the purpose for the tribulation. However, his judgment is not coming because we as God's people have not "stood up" against oppressive and corrupt governments, but due to the overall worldwide apostasy and moral corruption, caused by a lukewarm, saltless, cowardly, and corrupted church, e.g. as illustrated by Lot and his family living in Sodom.

Agreed. But you confuse the present judgment of the US with the future judgment of of the nations during the Day of the Lord within the Great Tribulation. My position is that the US, since the days of William McKinley's Spanish-American War, has been "the Sword of the Church" without any serious resistance from the Lord's Protestant and Baptists peoples in this nation. We all ran off to fight the Pope's Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945) and his Cold War (1945-1989) and now his Third Thirty Years' War (2001-2030?). As mentioned previously, a people is responsible for the actions of its government. WWI, WWII (Hitler and Stalin), the Cold War (the US and the USSR's building of its industrial military complexes) was paid for and fought for by the Lord's Bible believing Church led by the papal knights running the country. For this apostasy and aiding Jesuit murder via the CFR-controlled US government, we deserve to be given the treatment of John 15:6---the intended purpose for the Pope's US concentration camps. The only escape from this national judgment is to do exactly what the Covenanters and Presbyterians did in the 1600s---a public confession of sins, enter into covenant with each other as independent churches and then declare our independence. These documents can be found in the addendums of The Westminster Confession of Faith available from Free Presbyterian Publications , 1983.

Standing up to the Order and the Black Nobility families will not make for a more spiritual church on this earth, when she is in love with Hollywood and is filled with covetousness from her head to her toes, and to add, has left the old path long ago.

Thus, repentance is necessary first.

Seceding and forming a new nation will not add to the spiritual testimony and quality of God's people within that new nation.

No, but it will enable us to do what the Puritans did in the 1600s---escape the persecutions intended to destroy us and provide a nation in which we can worship God in obedience to the Reformation Bible---the AV1611.

The world is at the point where she needs to be completely renovated, having the "works that are therein" burned up. You can't put a bandaid on a cancer and expect it to be cured.

No, but we can separate from it and trust the Son of God for protection and his intervention when attacked as did the brethren in England when attacked by the Spanish Armada. There were only 5 million people in England at that time. There are indeed at least 5 million White, English-speaking, Anglo-Saxon Protestant and Baptist Americans who could secede and form a new nation somewhere here in the US AFTER our repentance and public confession of sins.

My good brother Eric, there is so much false doctrine and satanic activity and corruption on this earth, not to mention "the mystery of iniquity" that is in full force to rule the world, that God's wrath is preparing to be unleashed. "For which things' sake the wrath of God cometh upon the children of disobedience." - Co. 2:6, and "For God hath not appointed us to wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ." - I Thess. 5:9. ". . . I also will keep thee from the hour of temptation, which shall come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth." - Rev. 3:10

The angel said to Lot, ". . . I cannot do anything till thou be come thither. " - Gen. 19:22.

By the way, how did it go on the 9 pm show last night? I tried to download the station, but was unsuccessful.

Pastor Butch Paul only gave me about twenty minutes of time. The Genesis Communications Network is under Jesuit control, even though Pastor Paul was courteous though somewhat apologetic in hosting me.

Dear Brethrens & Good Friends :

I wonder why a Filipino Roman Catholic Priest have his own personal bank accounts amounting to Billions Of United States Dollar and I also wonder why he's using many aliases. Is COL. SANTY OR REV. FATHER DIAZ hiding something when he was still alive ?

I'm also wondering, why the Roman Catholic Church is so involve in many crimes, anomalies, and syndicate activities. Suppose to be, they are teaching the words of GOD & JESUS CHRIST for the salvation of souls.

The above amount (Billions Of Dollars) are just tip of the iceberg. If this Roman Catholic Church Priest and Atty. Ferdinand E. Marcos did not manipulated thousands of metric tons of gold bars deposited in the vaults of the Philippine Central Bank. Many Filipinos will not scattered all over the world looking for green pasture lands and decent works or high paid jobs.

Still at present time, Filipinos are living in poverty and miserable life. Yet, millions of my beloved Filipino countrymen who are innocent and victims are still giving donations even 1-Peso or half peso to the Catholic Church every conducted masses. Never knowing that metric tons of gold bars that was deposited in the vaults of the Philippine Central Bank amounting to a Hundred Billions Of Dollars was stolen by SANTY “ The Good Father “ a Roman Catholic Priest. I have an old photographed document of Col. Severino Santa Romana. He signed as J. Antonio Dias – the Reverend Father of the Roman Catholic Church. The ex-Roman Catholic priest Marcelino Tagle is right, that Col. Severino Santa Romana & Fr. Jose Antonio Diaz is the same person.

If the poorest among the poor Filipino families now living in poverty suddenly knows it, they will feel A ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH MADE MAJOR EARTHQUAKES WITH A MAGNITUDE OF 9.0 in the Richter Scale. And surely Filipinos will get very, very MAD.

In the above mentioned bank accounts with billions of dollars under the personal account of a Roman Catholic priest under the Roman Catholic Church-Vatican. They have committed CRIMES and not scandal to the Filipino people.

I've a Baptist Pastor friend, he was stunned to the wealth of knowledge GOD gave me where he doesn't knew. I replied to him, Pastor I thank GOD & JESUS CHRIST they have revealed to me the rotten-secrets of the Jesuits-Vatican-Roman Catholic Church. I also told him, I knew many Jesuits movements. In-fact they are inferior to what I knew more. Would you believed Pastor, I even knew the names of some demonic entities “Principalities” and I hate them all. I even told my Pastor friend, these demons are cold and having foul smell. Whereas, the Jesuits are not yet “having physical foul smell”. Yet the Jesuits are sorcerers as what Ignatius Loyola does during his time, he levitate above the ground.

Lastly, I've a friend (ALEXANDER JAMES) I believed he's my Christian Brother. I will ask him to help me where matters are International Banking Conspiracies.

Dear Mxxx,

The Bohemian Grove is of Jesuit orgin. The owl has been a symbol of the Order for atleast three centuries---accomplishing their dirty deeds at night. Indeed, Dick Cheney is a regular and is a Roman Catholic CFR member giving one third of his income to the RCC.

Sincerely in Faith,

COL. SEVERINO SANTA ROMANA
OSS / CIA AGENT IS ALSO THE REVEREND FR. JOSE ANTONIO DIAZ OF THE ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH
FROM REGIONAL TRIAL COURT, PASAY CITY. M. MLA.
REPUBLIC OF THE PHILIPPINES.

RESEARCH AND PREPARED BY : BOBBY G. LIMETA
Wednesday, 20th Of March 2006. Manila. Philippines.

Dear Brethren And Dear Friends :

Remember Marcos Gold & Billions he acquired from Santa Romana ? Well braze yourselves as you will be blown out of your socks in shock. I found out at last! that Col. Severino Santa Romana "Santy" of the OSS / CIA is also the REVEREND FATHER JOSE ANTONIO DIAZ (SAME PERSON) of the Roman Catholic Church. These info was hidden to millions of Filipino peoples decades ago. But GOD helped me to track him down although Fr. Diaz is already dead. As long as GOD is truth, nobody can't hide the truth, it will surface.

I now somehow completed the jig-saw puzzle. Is it the very reason why the Jesuits chased Marcos to force him make the Vatican Trust the recipient of the gold-bullions. Actually, the answer is NO. Ex-Priest Fr. Marcelino Tagle said that Marcos is Vatican's cohort and that political turmoils during Marcos regime is merely a side-show of the Jesuits-Marcos regime to make Filipino people believe Marcos sequestered the golds for himself. But actually, Marcos is a tool of the Jesuit as cover-up to bring the golds out of the Philippines where the Catholic Church will not be pictured in the spotlight. It means, Jesuit's created political turmoils during Marcos regime is just a diversionary tactics. Indeed, the JESUIT ORDER is a Grand-Master Of Deceit. The very reason, during 1950's Marcos already boasting he will win in the Presidential Election as he has the money. He was groomed by the Jesuit Order into power and indeed become President in 1963. I somehow believe that for every dictator, it was groomed by the Jesuits and Santa Romana also known as (a.k.a.) Reverend Fr. Jose Antonio Diaz is a transmission-gears of the primera classe.

Bro. Eric, anything happens to me you already know who are the culprits. The Jesuits will soon target me to purge out of existence. For I already knew too much about them. Please, help me to put these on your out-coming famous book " VATICAN ASSASSINS " By Eric Jon Phelps.

Apparently, the National Government failed to refute the existence of the lawful heirs of the late Prince Lacan Tagean and Prince Julian Macleod Tallano on the mere fact that some of these heirs became instrumental in the establishment of Central Bank of the Philippines in the year 1949 after Don Esteban Benitez Tallano, accompanied by Reverend Father Jose Antonio Diaz through the efforts of brilliant lawyer, Attorney Ferdinand E. Marcos, had transported the gold bullion from Vatican City which were used by the late President Manuel Roxas, cousin of Don Esteban Benitez Tallano, as Gold Reserves requirements. His information do not intend to complicate the issue but a sound proof as to the existence of the heirs of the late Prince that the government can not deny but rather it compel to be guilt of estoppel which was raised by the surviving heirs.

[Ed: End Quoting. We will now shift to the subject of gold beginning at page 85 and ending at page 95. Quoting:]

Corollary of this end, let traverse our judicial functions into another horizon of responsibilities as administrator of justice not only for the deprived parties but for the entire Filipino people for our nation's economic breakthrough from its century ailing and sickly society with suffering citizenry. That what involves in this scenario is not only the government of His Excellency President Ferdinand E. Marcos but also President Marcos himself, requiring the President to restore the missing gold reserves of the Republic of the Philippines in the designated Central Bank vaults consisting of 617,500 metric tons of 12.5 gold nuggets lent and entrusted by the Royal Family, the Tagean-Tallano clans, through late President Manuel Roxas, in favor of the Filipino people just to complete the requirements set forth needed in the establishment of Philippine Central bank in the year 1949. That the said gold reserves paramountly attributed in the stability of peso value between 1949 to 1960, ranging the peso value of P2.00 for $1.00 U.S. dollar to P4.00 to $1.00 U.S. dollar.

But beyond the knowledge of the Filipino people, the basic root that caused the Marcos-Macapagal quarrel was that the unlawful acts of then Senate President Ferdinand E. Marcos which emanated from illegal transport of some three (3) metric tons of gold nuggets to London and another seven (7) tons to Zurich, Germany without permission from the private owner, the Royal family, the Tagean-Tallano Clan, and of no consent of the then President Diosdado Macapagal which were taken in place all of September 23, 1963; considering that gold bullion was part and portion of the 617,500 metric tons of 12.5 gold nuggets entrusted to the national government on January 7, 1949 by the caretaker of the Royal Clan, Rev. Fr. Jose Antonio Diaz, his alias name is Col. Severino Garcia Sta. Romana, for and in behalf of the Tagean-Tallano Royal family.

That the Reverend father, before this Court and designated Amicus Curae on May 5, 1972, he testified in an open court that he is the caretaker of around 617,000 metric tons of gold nuggets own by the Royal Family, the Tagean-Tallano Family headed by Don Esteban Benitez Tallano which they transported to Vatican City in the year 1939 to secure the gold bullion from the escalating World War II, and the Royal Family maintained it up to 1948 and was withdrawn and transported to the Philippines through the young lawyer Ferdinand E. Marcos in 1949, then.

That in the presence of Atty. Lorenzo Tanada, the Clan's lawyer, Don Esteban Benitez Tallano and Benito Tallano, the direct owners of the said gold bullion; and in the presence of then His Excellency, late President Manual Acuna Roxas, then La Union Congressman, Bishop Enrique C. Sobrepena Sr., the second cousin of Maria Cristina Camacho, wife of said Benito Tallano, Reverend Father Jose Antonio Diaz turned over said 617,500 gold bullion which he kept long time ago under the blessings of some higher Spanish officials in a dungeon in Fort Santiago in behalf of the Royal Family, Prince Lacan Acuna Tagean Tallano who went to Europe before the war and eventually under the custody of then the old National Treasury in Intramuros, Manila to give way for the establishment of the Central Bank of the Philippines;

That the said Reverend Father, in his testimony before the Court and the Amicus Curae, admitted that the gold inventory remained intact in the Central Bank vaults up to the year 1964, Quote: except that some 10 tons in my presence were forcibly withdrawn by the Senate Security Force led then by Ex-Senate President Ferdinand E. Marcos, now, President of this Republic on September 8, 1963 and had transported to nowhere;

That said Reverend Father was the one who gave idea to His Excellency President Ferdinand E. Marcos to undertake the illegal withdrawal of the said gold bullion from the Central bank vaults on the sense that Don Esteban Benitez Tallano, heirs of the late Prince Julian Macleod Tallano, owner of the said big bullion consisting of 617,500 metric tons died in Europe during the American Occupation in 1898. And the Reverend Father alleged: the heir Don Esteban Benitez Tallano died also during the Japanese time, yet, the asset left with no will and no legitimate heir, in spite of the fact that the truth was that the late Prince has a last will and testament entrusted to the custody of Reverend Father Jose Antonio Diaz clarifying that he has surviving heirs, Don Esteban Benitez Tallano, Benito Tallano and the only son of Benito Tallano, Julian Morden Tallano who also inherited the Title of Prince, bestowed upon him by the Royal Family in accordance with the code of Koran in as much as although he has a fifty percent (50%) British blood, his ancestors were Muslim-British Lords. That said Prince Julian Morden Tallano has been authorized to administer and, when necessary, withdraw the said assets deposited in the Central Bank vaults and all gold bullion deposited in Fort Knox and in Zurich and in other countries that served as trustee of His Excellency Ferdinand E. Marcos and he is entitled to collect the 5% of the 1 percent royalty fee of the national government starting from the year 1965, the unpaid period of the government in as much as since 1949 to 1964 the government had fully complied the royalty fee;

That the Reverend Father also admitted that the only gold bullion balance left in the Central Bank vaults are consisting of 400,000 metric tons; others, some 217,500 metric tons between 1965 to 1970 were illegally melted into another form of 75 kilos per bar and were transported to different countries in Red China, Hong Kong, Switzerland, Germany, Australia, U.S.A. and in England;

Here is the excerpt from the testimonies of Reverend Father Jose Antonio Diaz, alias Col. Severino Sta. Romana, taken in an open court room on 10:35 A.M. of May 5, 1972, before this Court and Amicus Curae: [Ed: We note the inconsistency of this date being AFTER the February 4, 1972 date of the DECISION WITH COMPROMISE AGREEMENT, from whence it is taken as a direct quote from the Certified True Copy.]

Atty. Cesar Paras Sr.: With your permission, your Honor, supplemental to my cross examination to Reverend Father Jose Antonio Diaz, vital witness in connection with the illegal transport of said gold bullion of my client, the Royal Family, Tagean-Tallano Clan, which caused the sudden collapse of the value of Philippine peso, may I ask some important questions, your Honor, relevant to the Sworn Affidavit he executed before a notary public.

Court: Yes, you may, provided the questions are relevant to the subject matter.

Amicus Curae : What is the purpose?

Atty. Cesar Paras Sr.: Yes, your Honor. To clarify matters in connection with missing gold reserves.

Atty. Cesar Paras Sr.: Do you own this typewritten Sworn Affidavit, Reverend Witness and how did you come to know about the illegal transport of the deposited gold bullion from the Central Bank Vaults and that of its exact date?

Witness: Rev. Fr. Jose Antonio Diaz : I was the one who signed this affidavit, Sir, and being the caretaker of the Royal Family, I was the authorized signatory for the withdrawal of that deposited gold bullion from the Central Bank Vaults and I used it to withdraw the same as instructed to me by then Honorable Senate President Ferdinand E. Marcos on September 8, 1963. Besides, I was the one who accompanied Don Esteban Benitez Tallano in transporting the said gold bullion around 617,000 metric tons to Vatican City, your honor, sometime in 1939, to protect the item from the fast escalating world War II, then, your Honor.

Atty. Cesar Paras Sr.: How many kilos did you withdraw that time?

Witness: Rev. Fr. Jose Antonio Diaz : Based on my arrangement with then Senate President Marcos, we will withdraw only 3 tons or 3,000 kilos but when I and Senate President Marcos were already in the Central Bank vaults, Central Bank Governor Andres Castillo and Senator Marcos convinced me to sign the withdrawal document containing 35,000 tons that time, I have no choice but to sign.

Atty. Cesar Paras Sr.: Reverend Witness, after signing the withdrawal document you mentioned, what transpired next?

Witness: Rev. Fr. Jose Antonio Diaz : Right at that moment, Senator Marcos withdrew the gold bullion from the vault and loaded these on four (4) trailer trucks escorted by Philippine Army members led by unknown colonel and 4 members of the Philippine Constabulary and were driven toward the departure area of the Manila International Airport, then, Sir;

Atty. Cesar Paras Sr.: Reverend Witness, when you were in the MIA departure area, what follows next?

Witness: Rev. Fr. Jose Antonio Diaz : I witnessed the unloading of the gold from the trailers, Sir, which were packed in 70 pieces of wooden crates and they loaded these in the belly of the KLM airline that time.

Atty. Cesar Paras Sr.: Reverend Witness, you said you were there when the repacking of the gold had been done, how long did it take?

Witness: Rev. Fr. Jose Antonio Diaz : Because when we arrived in the Central Bank, the time was 8:00 o'clock in the morning. When they finished packaging and loading to the trailers, the time was 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon, so approximately Sir, it took seven (7) hours long when we finished.

Atty. Cesar Paras Sr.: Being the caretaker of the Tallano-Tagean family's gold bullion, can you tell to this Honorable Court how many and what is the exact number of kilos do the Tagean-Tallano Family had deposited in the vaults of the Central Bank?

Witness: Rev. Fr. Jose Antonio Diaz : Exactly around 617,500 metric tons that the Tagean-Tallano had deposited to the vault through me in the year 1949 which we transported from the Vatican City in the year 1948 the same were lent to the national government to meet the required gold reserves of the newly organized and installed Central Bank then. But lately, when I went to the Central Bank along with the heirs, Don Esteban Benitez Tallano and Prince Julian Morden Tallano for verification and inventory recently, we found that the only exact inventory remained intact in the vault was 400,000 metric tons, while, what I withdrew that time beyond the knowledge of the owner through instruction of then Senate President Marcos, now President of this Republic was 35,000 metric tons leaving a supposed inventory balance of 482,500 metric tons, but this was inconsistent to our findings where the last inventory balance was only 400,000 metric tons. Definitely, Sir, they used fraudulently my signature to withdraw such 82,500 metric tons.

Solicitor Gutierrez: Your Honor, I wish to call the attention of the Honorable Court to strike ... the words as follows: but this was inconsistent to our findings where the last inventory balance was only 400,000 metric tons. Definitely, Sir, they used fraudulently my signature to withdraw such 82,500 metric tons.

Amicus Curae : For what purpose?

Solicitor Gutierrez: The answer of the witness was not responsive to the question profound by the counsel. Beside, his statement about the withdrawal of 82,500 metric tons is merely more on hearsay because he was not there when the alleged withdrawal of 82,500 metric tons took place.
