911: Descent Into Tyranny

The New World Order's Dark Plans to Turn
Earth into a Prison Planet.

Alex Jones

Dedicated to My Grandfather, My Wife and Rex – for the past and the future.

INTRODUCTION

The New World Order system of world conquest has always been visible, but it is so hulking and massive that it has remained hidden in plain sight.

One of the most common pre-conditioned responses I hear from the average compartmentalized individual is that there couldn't be a society of people working for world government. Those in denial proclaim, "It's too big...it would unravel...they couldn't keep it hidden..."

The average person judges the world according to their moral compass. Because most individuals are not ruthless, sociopathic control-freaks, they cannot even begin to fathom the dark gulfs that are the souls of the servants of the global elite.

The New World Order is a synthesis of the survivors of empires, of super-merchant families, of barbarian kings, of banking families established in the middle-ages, and of the royal families of Europe. Over time, they have learned that if they can simply conceal the true magnitude of their power and install puppet rulers from the cultures they dominate, the people will accept greater forms of tyranny.

In the late 20th Century, as the formation of a true world government entered its final stages, the globalists began to do what was unthinkable just a few years before. They began to admit that there really was a move towards a New World Order, complete with a World Court, World Taxes and a World Army to enforce its despotic laws.

Just a few years ago, the average man on the street refused to even admit the possibility of a world government. Now that same individual will bellow, "Yes, there's a world government – and we need it to protect ourselves from terrorism!"

The globalists' plan is so far along that now they must admit that world government is a reality. Their propagandists are hailing the New World Order as the only system that will keep us safe and secure.

In reality, it is the world government itself which is conducting the terrorist acts.

I can think of no better way to introduce this book than with a collection of quotes by members of the global elite touting this dehumanizing system.

THE NEW WORLD ORDER, IN ITS OWN WORDS

“National Socialism will use its own revolution for establishing a new world order.”
Adolph Hitler during World War II

“Out of these troubled times, a New World Order can emerge under a United Nations that performs as envisioned by its founders.”
President George Bush, September 11, 1990 State of the Union

“When the struggle seems to be drifting defiantly towards a world social democracy there may still be very great delays and disappointments before it becomes an efficient and beneficent world system. Countless people – will hate the New World Order – and will die protesting against it. When we attempt to evaluate its promise, we have to bear in mind the distress of a generation or so of malcontents, many of them quite gallant and graceful-looking people.”
H.G. Wells, in his book entitled, “The New World Order” (1939)

“We are not going to achieve a New World Order without paying for it in blood as well as in words and money.”
Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., in “Foreign Affairs,” July/August Issue 1995

“Today, America would be outraged if U.N. troops entered Los Angeles to restore order. Tomorrow they will be grateful! This is especially true if they were told that there were an outside threat from beyond, whether real or promulgated, that threatened our very existence. It is then that all peoples of the world will plead to deliver them from this evil. The one thing every man fears is the unknown. When presented with this scenario, individual rights will be willingly relinquished for the guarantee of their well-being granted to them by the World Government.”
Dr. Henry Kissinger, Bilderberger Conference, Evians, France, 1991

“If this were a dictatorship, it'd be a heck of a lot easier, just so long as I'm the dictator.”
George W. Bush, 12/18/00, CNN

“In short, the ‘house of world order’ will have to be built from the bottom up, rather than from the top down. It will look like a great ‘booming, buzzing confusion’ to use William James’ famous description of reality, but an end run around national sovereignty, eroding it piece by piece will accomplish much more than the old-fashioned frontal assault.”
Richard N. Gardner in “Foreign Affairs,” April 1974

“No one will enter the New World Order unless he or she will make a pledge to worship Lucifer. No one will enter the New Age unless he will take a Luciferian Initiation.”
David Spangler, Director of Planetary Initiative, United Nations

“A total world population of 250-300 million people, a 95% decline from present levels, would be ideal.”

Ted Turner, in an interview with Audubon magazine.

“In the event that I am reincarnated, I would like to return as a deadly virus, in order to contribute something to solve overpopulation.”

Prince Philip Reported by Deutsche Press Agentur (DPA), August, 1988.

“I must confess that I am tempted to ask for reincarnation as a particularly deadly virus.”

Prince Philip, in his Foreward to If I Were an Animal; United Kingdom, Robin Clark Ltd., 1986.

“I don't claim to have any special interest in natural history, but as a boy I was made aware of the annual fluctuations in the number of game animals and the need to adjust the 'cull' to the size of the surplus population.”

Preface to Down to Earth by HRH Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, 1988, p.8.

“We are on the verge of a global transformation. All we need is the right major crisis and the nations will accept the New World Order.”

David Rockefeller

“It is the sacred principles enshrined in the United Nations charter to which the American people will henceforth pledge their allegiance.”

President George Herbert Walker Bush Addressing the General Assembly of the United Nations, February 1, 1992

“But this present window of opportunity, during which a truly peaceful and interdependent world order might be built, will not be open for long. Already there are powerful forces at work that threaten to destroy all our hopes and efforts to erect an enduring structure of global interdependence.”

David Rockefeller Speaking at the Business Council for the United Nations, September 14, 1994

"In the next century, nations as we know it will be obsolete; all states will recognize a single, global authority. National sovereignty wasn't such a great idea after all." Strobe Talbot, President Clinton's Deputy Secretary of State, as quoted in Time, July 20th, 1992.

"We shall have world government whether or not you like it, by conquest or consent." Statement by Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) member James Warburg to The Senate Foreign Relations Committee on February 17th, 1950

“Our task of creating a socialist America can only succeed when those who would resist us have been totally disarmed”

Sarah Brady, Chairman of Handgun Control to Senator Howard Metzanbaum, "The National Educator," January 1994 Page 3

"When we got organized as a country, and we wrote a fairly radical Constitution with a radical Bill of Rights, giving a radical amount of individual freedom to Americans...and so a lot of people say there's too much personal freedom. When personal freedom's being abused, you have to move to limit it. That's what we did in the announcement I made last weekend on the public housing projects, about how we're going to have weapon sweeps and more things like that to try to make people safer in their communities."
President Bill Clinton, 3-22-94, MTV's "Enough is Enough"

"We can't be so fixated on our desire to preserve the rights of ordinary Americans."
President Bill Clinton, "USA Today," March 11, 1993, Page 2A

"Whatever the price of the Chinese Revolution, it has obviously succeeded not only in producing more efficient and dedicated administration, but also in fostering high morale and community of purpose. The SOCIAL EXPERIMENT in China under Chairman Mao's leadership is one of the most important and successful in human history." David Rockefeller Statement in 1973 about Mao Tse-Tung, New York Times, August 10, 1973

"The truth of the matter is that you do have those standby provisions, and the statutory emergency plans are there whereby you could, in the name of stopping terrorism, apprehend, invoke the military, and arrest Americans and hold them in detention camps."
-- U.S. Representative Henry Gonzalez, August 29, 1994

"We are moving toward a new world order, the world of communism. We shall never turn off that road."
Mikhail Gorbachev 1987

"There does exist and has existed for a generation, an international . . . network which operates, to some extent, in the way the radical right believes the Communists act. In fact, this network, which we may identify as the Round Table Groups, has no aversion to cooperating with the Communists, or any other groups and frequently does so. I know of the operations of this network because I have studied it for twenty years and was permitted for two years, in the early 1960s, to examine its papers and secret records. I have no aversion to it or to most of its aims and have, for much of my life, been close to it and to many of its instruments. I have objected, both in the past and recently, to a few of its policies . . . but in general my chief difference of opinion is that it wishes to remain unknown, and I believe its role in history is significant enough to be known."
Professor Carroll Quigley, in his book Tragedy and Hope, 1966.

"Even though it is quite true that any radical eugenic policy will be for many years politically and psychologically impossible, it will be important for UNESCO to see that the eugenic problem is examined with the greatest care, and that the public mind is informed of the issues at stake so that much that now is unthinkable may at least become thinkable."
Sir Julian Huxley, first Director General of UNESCO, 1946-1948

“Since March 9, 1933, the United States has been in a state of national emergency. A majority of the people of the United States have their lives under emergency rule. For 40 years freedoms and governmental procedures, guaranteed by the Constitution have, in varying degrees, been abridged by laws brought forth by states of national emergency.” Senate Report 93-549 (1973).

“Under Socialism you would not be allowed to be poor. You would be forcibly fed, clothed, lodged, taught, and employed whether you liked it or not. If it were discovered that you had not the character and industry enough to be worth all this trouble, you might possibly be executed in a kindly manner. . . .” [This is compassionate liberalism.] Fabian Socialist Bernard Shaw in his Intelligent Woman's Guide to Socialism and Capitalism, 1928.

"Beware the leader who bangs the drums of war in order to whip the citizenry into a patriotic fervor, for patriotism is indeed a double-edged sword. It both emboldens the blood, just as it narrows the mind. And when the drums of war have reached a fever pitch and the blood boils with hate and the mind has closed, the leader will have no need in seizing the rights of the citizenry. Rather, the citizenry, infused with fear and blinded by patriotism, will offer up all of their rights unto the leader and gladly so. How do I know? For this is what I have done. And I am Caesar."

-- Julius Caesar

"The lie can be maintained only for such time as the State can shield the people from the political, economic and/or military consequences of the lie. It thus becomes vitally important for the State to use all of its powers to repress dissent, for the truth is the mortal enemy of the lie, and thus by extension, the truth becomes the greatest enemy of the State."

-- Dr. Joseph M. Goebbels in His Diary

911: Decent into Tyranny

The House of World Government

For many years I have been exposing the criminal activities of the global elite, also known as the New World Order. This collection of power-mad megalomaniacs has been engineering a successive string of terrorist events to usher in a corrupt world government—a world government where, public documents show, populations will be herded into compact cities, issued national ID cards, and even given implantable microchips.

In this book we are first going to look at some historical examples of tyrants and governments—oligarchies alike—using disasters (in many cases terrorist events that these tyrants themselves perpetrate against their populations and bureaucracies) to create a crisis in order to convince the people to exchange liberty for so-called security.

We will start our analysis of the use of the Hegelian dialectic of problem-reaction-solution by looking at some historical examples, going back to Nero, who burned Rome, then blamed the fire on the Christians. We will then fast-forward to Adolph Hitler, who burned the Reichstag (the German Capitol Building Complex) shortly after being elected so that he could blame its destruction on the Nazis' political enemies. He did this in order to destroy the German bill of rights and constitution, using the crisis to declare martial law in the Reich. Turning next to the Northwoods document from 1962, we will examine how the Joint Chiefs of Staff and many other sectors of the federal government, up to the highest levels, were planning to blow up airliners full of American citizens as a pretext for war.

We will also cover how the federal government trained and controlled the men who cooked the bomb and drove the truck in the horrible first attack on the World Trade Center in 1993. The FBI was caught on video and audiotape by their informants admitting to helping arrange the bombing of the World Trade Center complex in order to get their Police State agenda through. Then, of course, in 1995 there was the Oklahoma City bombing. There are staggering amounts of evidence which we will cover in this book proving the fact that the government had prior knowledge and was instrumental in engineering the attacks on the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City.

Of course, none of you have to be reminded of the tragic events in 2001 on September 11. My friends, the government didn't just have prior knowledge of the September 11 Al-Qaeda attacks. They actually funded, trained, protected, coddled, and shepherded Al-Qaeda into this country. The shadow government trained many of the terrorists at the Pensacola Naval Air Station in Florida. The White House threatened FBI and defense intelligence officers who tried to stop Al-Qaeda with arrest and imprisonment.

President Bush signed secret document W199-eye two months before the attack of September 11, threatening US agents and obstructing their investigations of Al-Qaeda (BBC Newsnight Transcript, November 6, 2001: "Has Someone Been Sitting on the FBI?"; Times of India, November 7, 2001: "Bush Took FBI Agents off Bin Laden's Trail"; AFP, November 7, 2001 "Bush Thwarted Probe Against bin Ladens"; Ananova, November 7, 2001: "US Agents Told to Back off bin Ladens"; The Guardian, November 7, 2001: "FBI and US Spy Agents Say Bush Spiked bin Laden Probes Before 11 September").

Why would the globalists in control of our intelligence community orchestrate such terror? Right after the attacks, Bush's approval rating went from forty-five percent to ninety-plus percent. The U.S.A. Patriot Act, which effectively eviscerated the Bill of Rights and the Constitution, was passed, radically expanding the scope of the already colossal police state complex. Their cashless society, compact city, control grid is accelerating into place as Americans scramble for "security."

The people were pre-conditioned before all of these attacks to give up their liberties so that the government could protect them from terrorists. However, we must look at who really stands to gain from these acts and at who has the motive. Take the case of the Oklahoma City Bombing. The government tripled the FBI's anti-terrorism funding in 1996 after the attack, but, of course, more funding and police powers in the hands of the Feds only insured that the next attack would be worse. Now the government is demanding even more power and funding. They didn't protect us in 2001 from Al-Qaeda, did they? No, instead they funded and protected the terrorists.

The US government has consistently created or exacerbated problems so the social engineers can call for more control. For example, the government has been orchestrating the phony drug war for decades. Now there is triple the heroin and double the cocaine on our streets (Justice Department crime statistics) than there was eight years ago. Our prison population has gone from 1.3 million to 6.5 million in the last two years, with the numbers of Americans who are incarcerated ever increasing. Similarly, the globalists held a war on poverty, and now poverty and personal and corporate debt have only increased. The government had a fifty year program supposedly fighting illiteracy. Drops in children's test scores can be tracked to uniformly follow the level of government involvement -- the more government involvement, the lower the test scores.

Now the government is stepping up their "war against terrorism." As this "war" progresses, you are only going to see escalations in terrorist acts, because after each horrible event the government gets more power, more control over our lives, and more funding. A dozen people died at the first World Trade Center attack; one hundred sixty-eight died in Oklahoma City; three thousand died in the second World Trade Center attack by the government. Now they are telling us to get ready for more attacks, and if we don't take the implanted microchips, if we don't accept the microchipped population, then we are going to get attacked again. Already the states admit that they are implementing a national ID card scheme.

And then there is the total goal, the reason the New World Order elites are pushing all of this. We know they want tyranny. We know this global government is behind it. (They are now publicly talking about a New World Order.) How did they get all this power? And what is their final goal?

Their goal is a world population reduction of eighty percent with everyone crammed into compact cities. The United Nations is preparing to release mass plagues on the earth because the elite forces want to extend their lives with life extension technology while culling the "human herd" down to a "manageable level." They know that technology is a double-edged sword. It can be used to empower humanity, but it can also be used to totally enslave humanity. They know they are in a race against time and their window of opportunity is closing. They must dehumanize us now -- they've got to enslave us here on the global plantation, or they are going to lose control.

The New World Order is run by absolutely ruthless individuals who are hell-bent on dehumanizing the entire populace. They are obsessed with total control. These megalomaniacal sadists are absolutely sworn to the creation of a worldwide tyranny called the New World Order. This is the evidence, and it is conclusive.

Terror in History

War.

Empires are built and maintained by it. Populations rally during times of war. Nothing on earth centralizes power like war. Throughout history, leaders have used this unifying force to control populations. Humans instinctively shift into mindless "group think" when faced by an outside threat—whether real or manufactured. Now, in the twenty-first century the system of control continues, but with more sophistication. If there isn't an enemy to fight, one has to be manufactured.

Here are some examples from history of dictators using terrorism to get what they want:

Nero and Rome

In A.D. 64, on the tenth of August, Nero, the emperor of Rome, set the city ablaze while he fiddled. You see, he had a problem: the Christians were getting too popular. So Nero torched Rome and blamed it on the Christians. After this manufactured crisis, the people were more than happy to put the Christians into the arena and to cheer as they were torn limb from limb. This persecution of the Christians is only one of many ancient examples of governments persecuting groups of people after creating crises.

The Maine and the Lusitania

On February 15, 1898, William McKinley's navy committed treason when it blew up its own ship in Havana Harbor to create a pretext for war with the Spanish government. Simply by blowing up this ship, the Maine, the United States was able to finally dominate the Western Hemisphere and take control of dozens of islands in the Pacific. Then in World War I, when the American population was reluctant to enter the European conflict, the British sailed one of their largest naval auxiliary ships, the Lusitania, through waters known to be heavily patrolled by German U-boats. The Germans ran multiple full-page warnings in the New York Times, telling Americans not to travel on this ship which they knew to be heavily laden with armaments destined for the trenches. When German torpedoes sunk the Lusitania, Americans were faced with casualty lists of their dead countrymen and finally succumbed to war-fever.

Hitler's Reichstag

And then, of course, we have the notorious Nazi regime's use of the Hegelian dialectic. Adolph Hitler had already been elected president, but he wanted to abolish the chancellery and to make himself Führer. To do that, he had to create enough of a crisis to create massive levels of fear in the population so that they would willingly lay down their republic and give it into the hands of his monstrous system.

Historical documents from Nazi archives show that on the night of February 27, 1933, Adolph Hitler's Stormtroopers burned the Reichstag government building to the ground. A wave of arrests then took place across the Reich as the Führer told the people that he would protect them and that they would have a Utopian world. Everything would be given to them by the state, as long as they offered total fealty and support of their Führer. The people bought Hitler's promise of a Utopia . . . and were totally enslaved.

Hitler had used the alchemy of dictators: the Hegelian dialectic of problem-reaction-solution. Attack yourself, blame your enemies, and tell the public you can protect them if they give up their freedoms.

FDR and Pearl Harbor

On December 8, 1941, after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, the following words were broadcast across the United States by US President Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

“Yesterday, December 7, 1941—a date which will live in infamy—the United States of America was suddenly and deliberately attacked by naval and air forces of the empire of Japan.”

It may have been a surprise attack to the American people, but it wasn't to the federal government and the military. Months before the attack, they knew the Japanese were preparing for an all-out assault in the Pacific.

The History Channel and many historical records have reported that twelve days prior to the attack, Roosevelt knew the actual date of the strike. The government had in its possession Admiral Yamamoto's communiqué reading, "On the morning of December 7 we will attack the Pacific fleet at Pearl Harbor and deal a death blow."

On November 25, 1941 the Secretary of the War Department, Henry Stimson, wrote in his diary, "President Roosevelt brought up the event that we are likely to be attacked perhaps as soon as next Monday, for the Japanese are notorious for making an attack without warning, and the question was how we should maneuver them into the position of firing the first shot."

The Honolulu Advertiser front page headline on November 30, 1941 read: "Japan May Strike over Weekend." Still, the military was told to go to the lowest level of readiness, the ships in the harbor were lined up in tight rows, and the aircraft on the airfields were put into circles, nose tip to nose tip.

Roosevelt had campaigned to keep America out of the war, but his backers had been funding the Japanese war machine for years. They had also been financing and encouraging Hitler's blitzkrieg.

The Anglo-American establishment based in New York and London needed a global crisis to bring in a global government and the birth of the United Nations. That's why six months before the attack on Pearl Harbor, Roosevelt had the naval command remove the code-breaking machines from Pearl Harbor, as well as dismantle the radar. They had to have the crisis to justify the creation of this global system of tyranny.

Think of the dastardly deed the White House had committed, leaving our troops, our sailors, our boys to die. The global elite had attempted to create a League of Nations at the end of World War I. When it failed, World War II had to be bigger, on a larger scale, so the people would say, "Give us a global government to protect us from these horrible wars."

The Cuban Missile Crisis and the Operation Northwoods Document

Concerning the Cuban Missile Crisis, President John F. Kennedy broadcast these words on October 22, 1962:

“Good evening, my fellow citizens. This government, as promised, has maintained the closest surveillance of the Soviet military buildup on the island of Cuba. Within the past week, unmistakable evidence has established the fact that a series of offensive missile sites is now in preparation on that imprisoned island. The purpose of these bases can be none other than to provide a nuclear strike capability against the Western Hemisphere.”

In the early 1960s, the federal government needed an excuse, a pretext, to invade Cuba. The government actually put the plan to paper in the notorious Operation Northwoods document. The story was first reported in James Bamford’s Book, Body of Secrets and carried in published media reports on ABC News (ABC News, May 1, 2001: “Friendly Fire: U.S. Military Drafted Plans to Terrorize U.S. Cities to Provoke War with Cuba”) as well as in the Baltimore Sun (Baltimore Sun, April 24, 2001: “New book on NSA sheds light on secrets: U.S. terror plan called Cuba invasion pretext”).

In the Operation Northwoods document, the federal government proposed blowing up airliners full of Americans, saying: “Casualty lists in U.S. newspapers would cause a helpful wave of indignation.” The madman, the architect of this plan, was General L. L. Lemnitzer, Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff. He got his Faustian plan approved all the way up to the Secretary of Defense. President Kennedy was not amused.

In this plan, they elaborated on how Washington, D.C. could be bombed and then Cuba could be blamed; or how they could dress U.S. Army soldiers as Cubans, then have them attack Marines at Guantanamo Bay. In another part of the plan, just as the U.S.S. Maine was sunk as a pretext for entry into the Spanish-American War, it was suggested that the Navy could blow up one of its own ships. The whole document is an insane testament to the effectiveness of the cold-blooded use of problem/reaction/solution. The document details how the Hegelian dialectic could be made to work in order to motivate the American people to get behind the government’s push for a war, in this case a nuclear war with Cuba and the Soviet Union.

It’s hard for any decent person to be able to wrap their mind around the thought processes that the controllers are/were using. You must understand that they are after raw power and that history has shown that there is no better way to seize power, expand power and maintain power than through controlled crises that harness the militant tribal enthusiasm of the howling mob.

President Kennedy had always been a servant of the elite, but he was so shocked by the Operation Northwoods document that he signed Executive Order 11110 shortly before his death announcing that he would abolish the Federal Reserve System. He also began to pull American soldiers out of Vietnam, and signed an order to abolish the CIA. For taking these decisive actions on behalf of our Constitutional Republic, Kennedy was assassinated. He had decided to be a leader of the people and to defend their interests. The New World Order could not allow that to happen.

The 1993 World Trade Center Bombing

The Federal government had their eye on the World Trade Center complex as a target for a manufactured crisis since at least the early 1990's. This time the problem-reaction-solution system was to be activated not against some foreign enemy, but against the American population's sense of security as a pretext to expand the powers of the security and intelligence agencies inside the US.

The October 28, 1993, edition of the New York Times ran an article headlined, "Tapes Depict Proposal to Thwart Bomb Used in Trade Center Blast" (see also October 31, 1993, New York Times; Chicago Tribune, December 15, 1993: "Informants' Recordings Show FBI Had Prior Knowledge of the Bombing"). The federal government was caught on tape by their informants ordering them to let the bombing go forward, to cook the bomb, to give the terrorists the detonators, to create yet another crisis . . . this time to usher in a police state and a war upon the American people.

Unlike the Operation Northwoods plan, the FBI actually carried out the attack on the World Trade Center in 1993. They hired a retired 43-year-old former Egyptian army officer, Emad Salem, paid him $1,000,000 and gave him real explosives and a detonator. They told him to build the bomb and to give it to the foolish people that he was controlling in order to allow them to attack the World Trade Center complex.

There was a major problem with their plan: Mr. Salem was not as ruthless and sociopathic as the FBI and its globalist controllers. He began to get very concerned right before the attack, asking himself why he was being giving real explosives if this were to be just a "sting operation." When he was told to let the attack go forward, Mr. Salem secretly recorded John Anticev, head of the New York office of the FBI, ordering him to let the bombing take place.

The World Trade Center bombing of 1993 is just one of many stories consisting of government-sponsored terrorism that has been swept under the rug. One of the spin masters' favorite tools is to underreport stories of earth-shattering importance while magnifying stories of little or no significance to mammoth proportions.

Unlike Pearl Harbor where the government allowed the Japanese to attack as a pretext for war, the federal government financed and controlled the 1993 attack on the World Trade Center to bolster a system of anti-terrorism and to sic a homeland security system on the American people. One main problem with their plan: the drivers of the truck didn't park it against the main support column as they had been ordered to do by Mr. Salem and the FBI. Instead they parked it about a dozen feet away, and so it didn't bring down the building. Consequently, the Federal Government didn't get the massive death toll it needed to create the martial law system it was hell-bent on implementing against our Constitutional Republic.

To the horror of the American people, the Feds finished the job on September 11, 2001.

Oklahoma City Bombing

April 19, 1995. Multiple bombs ripped through the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building in downtown Oklahoma City. As usual, Federal fingerprints were all over this tragic event.

President Bill Clinton, taking his orders from the New World Order chieftains, needed a crisis to get his plans for a socialized America and gun control agenda through. Taking a page out of history's handbook, Bill Clinton knew that a crisis of this magnitude, including endless images of mangled children would pull on the heartstrings of Americans. They would beg for the Antiterrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act (S.735) that he had failed to pass just a year before. The bill absolutely eviscerated massive sections of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

We have been investigating the Oklahoma City tragedy for over six years and the amount of evidence is staggering. Let's just hit some of the key points:

Oklahoma City's NBC affiliate, KFOR, in a live broadcast immediately after the bombing, reported:

“. . . devastation that that one explosion caused, because here is now what we are starting to learn about the succession, or what someone obviously hoped would be a succession of explosions. The first bomb that was in the Federal Building did go off. It did the damage that you see right there. The second explosive was found and defused. The third explosive that was found—and they are working on right now as we speak, I understand—both the second and third explosives—if you can imagine this—were larger than the first. So try to imagine two or threefold happening what we’ve already seen there. It is just incredible to think that there was that much heavy artillery that was somehow moved into the downtown Oklahoma City Federal Building.”

A few minutes later, Oklahoma City CBS affiliate KWTW’s Jennifer Reynolds had the following to add:

“We just saw, if you were watching, there was a white pickup truck backing a trailer into the scene. They are trying to move people out of the way so they can get it in. It appears to be the Oklahoma City bomb squad—their bomb disposal unit essentially is what it is—and it is what they would use if the report that we gave you just a few moments ago turns out to be correct, that they have found a second explosive device of some kind inside that building. They will back that trailer down there, and the bomb squad folks will go in and they will use that trailer. . . . This is how they would transport the explosive device away from this populated area to try to do something with it.”

At the same time, CNN reported:

“The Justice Department is reporting that a second explosive device has been found in the A.P. Murrah Building in downtown Oklahoma City. Mike, you’re still with us aren’t you?”

[Mike Arnett, an attorney in downtown Oklahoma City, on phone with CNN] “Yes, and in addition to that, what we were told at the scene a few minutes ago was that in fact two different explosive devices were found in addition to the one that went off, for a total of three.”

Another reporter for KWTW stated:

“It has now been confirmed through federal authorities that a second bomb has been found inside that federal building in Oklahoma City. It was an explosion at 9:00 this morning that did that damage you’re look at right there—blowing off the entire north face of that building. Again, you’re looking at the north face. A second bomb was found on the east side of that building. A bomb squad is on the scene. That second bomb has not exploded. We don’t know quite the status yet—if they have managed to defuse it—but it has been confirmed that a second bomb has been found on the east side.”

Oklahoma governor Frank Keating, on the telephone with reporters, said:

“The report that I have is that one device was deactivated. Apparently there is another device, and obviously whatever did the damage to the Murrah Building was a tremendous, very sophisticated explosive device.”

KFOR also reported:

“President Clinton just called Governor Frank Keating. He says that three FBI anti-terrorist teams are en route to Oklahoma City right now. They are saying that this is the work of a sophisticated group. This is a very sophisticated device and it has to have been done by an explosives expert, obviously with this type of explosion.”

A doctor on the street outside the carnage told reporters:

“The medical teams downtown are unable to get into the wreckage to retrieve more of the injured because of the presence of other bombs in the area.”

KWTV reported:

“I just took a look down the street at the Murrah Building again. I see another bomb truck going, so apparently they are going to try to get out that third bomb that’s been talked about. Still a lot of activity around the Murrah Building . . . security concerns that another one could go off.”

KFOR also reported:

“Fortunately, it didn’t, because the second device that they found, we understand, was even more powerful than the first. They then found a third device. You can see the look on this woman’s face—the fear that she might have to go through the same thing again. They then found a third device, which was also larger than the first. Hard to feel lucky at this point, but certainly through some good work by some munitions experts and the explosive sniffing dogs, further tragedy has certainly been averted here.”

Terrorism expert Dr. Randall Hearther had this to say:

“It was a great stroke of luck that we have actually got defused bombs. It’s through the bomb material that we will be able to track down who committed this atrocity.”

It would have been an incredible help to have been able get a hold of those unexploded bombs. Unfortunately the BATF agents, according to police and firefighter testimony, were inside removing them and spiriting them away, because they had to keep their story straight (that there was only one bomb, a truck bomb). Out of hundreds of people we interviewed, we couldn't find a single person who said they'd only heard one explosion. One witness, Charles Williams, who worked in downtown Oklahoma City at the time of the bombing, said unequivocally that he felt two blasts very close together.

It is historical fact, part of the public record, that there were multiple devices inside the Oklahoma City building and that there were at least two explosions. The emergency radio transmission transcripts show clearly that the police and firefighters witnessed the BATF removing unexploded devices.

We also have the scientific evidence. The University of Oklahoma's own seismographic reports, as well as the U.S. Geological Survey reports—two different scientific institutions—show multiple explosions. But for there to have been multiple explosions, Timothy McVeigh would have had to have accomplices . . . and that didn't fit in with the federal story, especially if the reality showed that it had to be a group that had access to a federal building for long, extended periods of time, like the BATF and the FBI.

General Benton K. Partin, former head of Air Force Weapons Development with thirty-plus years running the Air Force Weapons Development Program, has multiple engineering degrees. General Partin was amazed by press reports claiming that the building had been blown in and that a truck bomb could cause that damage, when even a basic understanding of explosive signatures shows that the building was blown not from the outside in, but from the inside out.

Within days of the blast, General Partin was on the scene. He was, of course, barred access. Thankfully, from video as well as photographs of the columns, it was obvious to his trained eye that the columns had been blown off by shaped charges. In a detailed report, the former head of Air Force Weapons Development laid out the physics, the mathematics of this truth. In his report, he stated that it was a physical impossibility that a truck bomb—even made with military-grade explosives—could even begin to generate the explosive force that was brought against the Oklahoma City Federal Building.

Now the seismographs come in. The seismographs first registered one distinct explosion, and then a group of explosions so close to each other that they could not be separated. You see, the Feds had to have a diversionary blast. They had to be able to tell the world that it was one lone nut—Timothy McVeigh—out front. They needed McVeigh’s truck bomb outside so that they could cover the fact that there were actually explosives inside the structure. If you look at the actual crater that the supposed truck bomb generated, it was so small that it could hardly be measured. However, in later media reports that explosion grew bigger and bigger and bigger (Newsweek, May 1, 1995).

Another key piece of evidence that General Partin raised was that a single bomb explosion could not account for the failure of columns that were farther away at the back of the building compared to the non-failure of columns that were much closer to the supposed truck bomb blast. He concluded that the asymmetrical nature of the damage to the Murrah Building was one indication that shaped demolition charges were used in the bombing.

In modern history, thousands of buildings of every type and design have been destroyed commercially to make way for new structures. But that didn’t matter to the BATF, the federal government, or the media. They turned structural engineering on its head, demanding and telling the world that a single truck bomb actually did this damage, even though the blast’s signature clearly showed that the building had been blown out, not in. Not only was the scientific and engineering world shocked with disbelief, but the general public wasn’t buying the story either. They had seen what had happened. Read this news report from Channel Four that aired live on the day of the tragedy:

“Some of the floors have just crashed together. I mean, there are some points where you just literally can’t get in at all. And then from Chopper 4, at some particular points we could see all the way through the building. That's the force of the explosion. It just blew out the walls and everything inside."

Outraged by the federal cover-up, leaders from across Oklahoma, led by State Representative Charles Key, banded together to write The Final Report—550 pages detailing this criminal federal operation.

Now let's look at the cowardice of the BATF agents. You see, they received a warning . . . but they didn't pass it on to the children in the daycare center.

On KFOR, the Oklahoma City NBC affiliate, a reporter speaks with eyewitnesses who were working inside the Federal building with agents of the BATF. Their faces were blacked out to protect their identities:

Witness' Employer Speaks: 'What he told him is that he thought they had received a tip that morning of the bomb.'

Reporter: Yet another witness, a rescue worker, says after she talked with an agent at the bombing scene she also suspected the ATF was warned and agents stayed away from their office.

Witness: 'I asked him if his office was in the building, and he said yes. And I asked if there were any ATF agents still in the building and he said, "No we weren't here."

Reporter: Witness #1 approached an ATF agent nearby. He claims he asked the agent what had happened and Witness #1 said this is what the agent told him:

Witness: ‘He started getting a little bit nervous. He tried reaching someone on a two-way radio. Couldn’t get anybody. I told him I wanted an answer right then. He said they were in the briefing. None of the agents had been in there. They had been tipped by their pagers not to come into work that day. Plain as day out of his mouth—they were tipped. Why wasn’t anybody else? There was a lot of people, good people, died down there, and if they knew, they should have let everybody else know.’”

Oklahoma City paramedic Tiffany Bible, who heroically responded with her unit just minutes after the blast on April 19, 1995, swore in an affidavit that when she arrived the BATF was in full mock gear. Bomb gear takes at least thirty minutes to put on. When she asked them, “Oh my goodness, were you guys hurt inside the blast?” they said, “No, we got tipped off by our pagers not to come in today.”

Linda Cavanaugh, a reporter for KFOR News, reported:

“Were agents forewarned about a bomb in Oklahoma City? Did they know the Murrah Building was a target? The ATF says no, absolutely not. But tonight in a story you will see only on the NewsChannel, you are about hear otherwise from people who were at the Murrah Building that morning.

Woman Speaks: ‘We’re asking simple questions and we can’t get any answers, so it makes us that much more curious, you know. Where the hell were they?’

Linda Cavanaugh: The NewsChannel did ask for a private meeting with ATF officials to discuss the credibility of these witness reports, but the ATF refused saying they had no more to say on the subject.”

Spin doctors say Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone, and so did Timothy McVeigh in Oklahoma City. And we're told to believe it, but hundreds of eyewitnesses reported seeing Middle Eastern men crawling all over this operation. Let's look at John Doe #2.

KFOR Interview:

“As I sat there, I seen that McVeigh was with another person.”

Interviewer: “Do you have any doubt in your mind that there was a passenger in the Ryder truck?”

Witness: “Even more, I have no doubt there was. There was definitely a second person, no matter what. There was two people in this vehicle.”

Representative Charles Key stated: “John Doe #2—there was a $2 million price put on his head. And now they are saying there was no John Doe #2.”

KFOR showed surveillance video of a man running away from the Ryder truck and reported the following:

“Our witnesses picked out a photo line-up. The NewsChannel shared the information and surveillance tapes of this man with FBI. They have had some of that material long before our reports went on the air.

Witness: ‘I was standing in the building and I looked out the window and seen the Ryder truck and I seen a man get out the Ryder truck.’

Reporter: She was just ten feet away from the man depicted in this sketch when he stepped out of the Ryder truck.

Witness: ‘He was olive complexion and he was . . . he had black curly hair. He was wearing a baseball cap but his curls were sticking out of his hat. It was short in the back but you could still the curls in his hair. He was not American. He was foreign. You can tell by his skin, his face, the way his face was.’

Reporter:

We asked FBI spokesman Dan Vogel, ‘Is John Doe #2 still part of the investigation? Does he exist?’ The answer: ‘Yes, we are still trying to locate and identify John Doe #2.’ The man in our reports is Iraqi. Today the FBI says they ‘are not pursuing a Middle Eastern connection. This doesn’t mean it has been ruled out. That could change tomorrow.’”

State, local, and federal police around the country actually detained dozens of Middle Eastern men trying to exit the country, many of whom were former Iraqi Republican Guard officers like Al-Hussaini Hussain, who worked at the Boston airport. Despite all this evidence, the Clinton Justice Department said to release them, that they did not want to talk to them, and that there was no Middle Eastern connection.

In the making of this book, our team has interviewed scores of former and current FBI agents, police officers, and detectives who were on the scene and worked the case. They confirmed that they detained members of the Iraqi Republic Guard who were trying to flee the United States. They would search their bags and find blue jogging suits and bomb making materials. They would try to hold them, try to charge them. According to my sources, they could have convicted these men in front of a jury. Still Bill Clinton demanded their release.

Later I interviewed David Schippers, the man that impeached Bill Clinton, the man that brought down the mob in Chicago. Mr. Schippers stated that the Oklahoma City bombing team was made up of the same people involved in the World Trade Center attack on September 11. The grand plan of the Feds begins to unfold.

The evidence shows that the Iraqis were brought to the United States after the Gulf War, that they had previously been trained in the 1980's for the war with Iran, and that they are now working for the shadow government, i.e. the national security dictatorship. So when the Feds need a crisis to distract the public we all better look out.

Local television stations raised the obvious question: If McVeigh acted alone, why was the Federal Government refusing steadfastly to release the surveillance tapes?

KFOR's Kevin Ogle reported:

“The details are chilling. We'll also focus on surveillance cameras — cameras that caught the bombing on tape . . . and maybe the men behind the bombing. The NewsChannel has new information tonight that there's a chance that surveillance tapes could be the smoking gun evidence. We asked candid questions in a rare face-to-face meeting with ATF officials close to the investigation. We learned that video collected from downtown businesses the morning of April 19 may someday be played before a jury. Officials won't say who or what exactly is on the tape. However, numerous sources have confirmed the tapes exist and that they reveal more than one bomber.”

Jayna Davis, another reporter for KFOR, reported:

“This is a question we have all been asking. We've been asking that question since we first broke the story that surveillance cameras aimed at the Federal Building could have captured all those involved on tape. Sources have confirmed those tapes exist, and that they show more than one bomber. The FBI also confirmed those tapes exist when they refused to release them, claiming the video is part of a criminal investigation. Now for the first time, we get an on-the-record response from the head of the Dallas office, ATF. We learned that video could be unveiled as part of the prosecution’s case. No officials will discuss specifically what is on the video, but we have been able to recreate some of what may have been captured by downtown surveillance cameras through the eyes of the witnesses. You are looking at a computer recreation of the final movements of the Ryder truck according to the people who crossed its path at 5th and Harvey moments before the explosion. Tonight at 10:00 the witnesses will detail their memories of how they believe the suspects carried out the crime and made their getaway. All these accounts share a common and unsettling similarity. The witnesses say they saw several accomplices, including the infamous John Doe Number 2. ATF officials tell us the elusive John Doe is still part of this case, but will not comment any further. However, they did tell us there is a lot about this case we don’t know yet—information you can’t find in the indictment against Timothy McVeigh, Terry Nichols, and Michael Fortier.”

Suspect Worked at 9-11 Airport”

Another report on KFOR said this:

Kelly Ogle: “It was just hours after the bombing when the NewsChannel first told you about the possibility that surveillance cameras may have captured the explosion—and the killers—on tape. Our sources and sources for the LA Times describe what is actually on those tapes. The information shows some huge surprises. The biggest: that it may have been John Doe Number 2, not Timothy McVeigh, who detonated the bomb. Brad Edwards has the latest in this exclusive NewsChannel report.

Brad Edwards: “Our new information comes directly from a source that has seen parts of those surveillance tapes. It also comes from reports now in the Los Angeles Times. But perhaps the biggest surprise is contained in the NewsChannel’s own information. Timothy McVeigh was not the last person to leave the Ryder truck. In fact, another person sat inside the cab of the truck after McVeigh got out. We believe that man is John Doe Number 2, a man who, for all we know, is still on the loose, leaving open a vital question: Was it John Doe Number 2 who actually set off the bomb, not Timothy McVeigh as we’ve all been led to believe? NewsChannel 4 has for weeks been demanding copies of the surveillance tapes from the FBI. The federal government so far is dragging its feet, but many people in the investigation have seen the tapes, and now so has a source willing to describe to the NewsChannel what the tapes show. The LA Times report shows there was a surveillance camera near the corner of 5th and Harvey, and another near the corner of 5th and Robinson. Federal investigators recreated the time sequence leading up to the bombing by matching the video and still photos from the surveillance cameras. Since we can’t show you the tapes ourselves, we’re reenacting what our source says he saw on those tapes. As witnesses told the NewsChannel before, the tapes show the Ryder truck parked in front of the Murrah Building where we now know the blast went off. As witnesses also told us, the tapes showed two men sitting inside the Ryder truck. A man strongly resembling Timothy McVeigh gets out of the driver's side, steps down. He then appears to have dropped something on the step up into the truck. He bends down and appears to pick something up off the step. Then, he turns and walks directly across 5th Street through the Journal Record building. All this time, John Doe Number 2 is still inside the Ryder truck sitting on the passenger side. Time passes. The surveillance tape is time-lapsed photography. Without knowing exactly the time interval between shots our source can't be sure how long John Doe Number 2 sat in that cab. What was he doing all of that time? Then the tape shows John Doe Number 2 getting out of the passenger side of the Ryder truck. Again, the tape shows that a bombing witness accurately described what happened next to NewsChannel 4: 'I was standing in the building and I looked out the window and I seen the Ryder truck and I seen a man get in the Ryder truck.' The tape shows John Doe Number 2 getting out, shutting the passenger side door. He steps toward the front of the truck and is momentarily out of the frame of the surveillance camera. But shortly he appears back in frame walking toward the rear of the truck, still on the sidewalk in front of the Murrah Building. Again he turns east toward the front of the truck, looking toward the street. John Doe Number 2 then walks diagonally across 5th Street toward the east, as if heading toward the YMCA or the intersection of 5th and Robinson. He again leaves the frame of the camera. Another camera shooting from another angle clearly shows the actual explosion that destroyed the Federal Building and killed 169 people. So what does the mysterious John Doe Number 2 look like in the tapes? The man who stayed inside the Ryder truck, possibly triggering the bomb? His features are obscured by a baseball cap on the portion of tape seen by our source, the same kind of cap shown on the composite drawing first released of John Doe Number 2. The cap was a sports cap, flame style. The man himself was taller than the man resembling McVeigh, and much thicker in build. He appears to have a dark or olive complexion. Our source saw only a few minutes of tape. He didn't see all of the almost twenty minutes of surveillance tapes that reportedly were distributed to FBI agents around the country to help in their investigation. But they do show enough to raise some crucial questions: Who actually set off the bomb? What was John Doe Number 2 doing in the cab of the truck after the McVeigh lookalike got out? And, how did John Doe Number 2 get away from the Murrah Building? [Rep. Charles Key says] 'My understanding is there was a video of McVeigh getting out of the Ryder truck, jumping into this other pickup with John Doe Number 2. Where is that video? Are we ever going to get to see it?'

Do you realize what you have just read? The government had multiple surveillance camera tapes. In fact, it finally came out in court (when the federal government declared in 2001 that they wouldn't release the videotapes because of national security implications) that there were actually twelve surveillance cameras tapes showing different Islamic individuals, Arabic men in company with McVeigh and others. The cameras also show the BATF agents hiding out right down the street, preparing to pounce on the operation and declare themselves the heroes, the saviors, and the victims. Think about it. In 2001 and into 2002, the federal government has claimed national security and refused to release twelve-plus surveillance camera tapes. What have they been hiding?

The Feds never tried to use these tapes in court. If the tapes showed Timothy McVeigh pulling up alone and bombing the building, and if it were just a truck bomb, why not use these tapes to prove McVeigh's guilt as the sole perpetrator? Why didn't they use the tapes? What's on them? After you have seen all this evidence, it is clear: federal involvement. They are ratcheting up the police state right here in America, and they are using manufactured terrorist events to get the job done.

According to an article run on January 19, 2002 in WorldNetDaily entitled "Was FBI early arrival in Oklahoma City? —Hotel receipt shows top terror man showed up 9 hours before blast," Danny Culson, the FBI's top counter-terrorism agent, checked into an Oklahoma City hotel nine hours before multiple blasts tore through the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building. The Embassy Suites Hotel receipt for Danny Culson, the director of the FBI's Terrorist Task Force and founding commander of the Bureau's Hostage Team, was dated April 19, 1995, with a check-in time of 0020. That's military time for 12:20 a.m.—almost nine hours before the blast. But Chief Agent Culson lied to the America. He told a Time magazine reporter in 1999 the harrowing tale of how he sped at over a hundred miles an hour from his home in Dallas to get there after the bombing to save people and conduct an investigation. Coincidentally, the FBI won't release any of the credit card statements and records for any of their agents. What are they trying to hide?

"The system wasn't working. Going through the system didn't work. I did everything they advised me to do. It didn't do any good."

—Hoppy Heidelberg, dismissed grand juror

Hoppy Heidelberg was an upstanding member of the community with no criminal record. He had been a grand juror for years, but when he started asking questions about the Middle Eastern connection, FBI prior knowledge, and BATF involvement, the FBI had the bravado to come to his house brandishing firearms and to tell him to shut his mouth if he knew what was good for him. When he refused to be part of the cover-up and demanded that he be able to call witnesses as was his right as a grand juror, the judge kicked him off the case.

In another bizarre twist, Martin Keating, Governor Frank Keating's brother, wrote a novel entitled The Final Jihad. In the book, a Tom McVeigh masterminds the bombing of an Oklahoma City Federal building. Keating's brother dedicated the book to the Knights of the Secret Circle, a term used by members of the Illuminati when they talk about their organization. Martin Keating wrote the book two years before the bombing.

KFOR's Linda Cavanaugh made this report, which pertains to this novel:

“The NewsChannel has learned of another strange development. Apparently, before the bombing, Governor Frank Keating's brother, Martin, had been working on a novel about terrorist bombing in Oklahoma City. Stranger still, one of the characters in the novel was named Thomas McVeigh.

The tragic events of Oklahoma City, if the truth were made known to the public, would seem even more horrible and tragic. The federally-manufactured bombing is now a monument to the police state, a monument to the sacrifice the government made of American lives, American blood and American tears. It gave the Feds an excuse to circle the wagons against the American people, to have a pretext to expand their police state. They covered the whole operation up. It is clear that they had prior knowledge; that multiple bombs were detonated on the inside of the building; that the Feds have grabbed the twelve surveillance camera tapes and are refusing to release them, even in 2002; that the FBI threatened grand jurors; and that they destroyed the crime scene by demolishing the building and burying it under guard. The federal government blamed this tragic event on Christians, conservatives, and gun owners, but if you look at the evidence, it is clear that they are behind it. They used this, just like Hitler used the Reichstag, to get martial law cranking in America.

It seems that crime certainly does pay—especially when it’s government-sponsored terrorism against its own institutions. KFOR had this to report following the Oklahoma City bombing: “$62 million is coming to Oklahoma soon to help anti-terrorism and disaster relief efforts.” That’s right, the BATF locally got tens of millions of dollars in extra funding. So did every other controlling federal agency.

Increases in Federal funding to the State of Oklahoma in 1996:

- $23.52 million—General Services Administration, Counter-terrorism Fund salaries and expenses
- $27.94 million—FBI salaries and expenses
- $3.27 million—FEMA’s Disaster Relief Emergency Contingency Fund.

There was a $24 billion increase in anti-terrorism funds, which was tripled after September 11. Of course, the BATF ensured that the Murrah building was completely demolished so there couldn’t be any evidence of their heinous acts. And—that’s right—they actually buried the building under guard at a private landfill with Wackenhut guards protecting it.

From A to Z, there are federal fingerprints all over the Oklahoma City Bombing, and the government is doing everything it can to suppress the truth. Bill Clinton is the servant of the New World Order, whose approval rating exploded after the attack. His attack dog, the Butcher of Waco, Janet Reno was very happy to blame everything on Christians, conservatives, and gun owners. It was her excuse to expand federal control over local police and to merge the military with the police in new giant anti-terrorism training programs where the military and police prepare for mass gun confiscation and the extermination of the American people.

September 11, 2001

You've seen the evidence of government-sponsored terrorism throughout history. Now let's take a closer look at what happened on September 11, 2001 and how it is being used to usher in a New World Order.

“What is at stake is more than one small country. It is a big idea. A new world order, where diverse nations are drawn together in common cause to achieve universal aspirations of mankind—peace and security, freedom and the rule of law. Out of these troubled times, our fifth objective, a new world order, can emerge. Now we can see a new world coming into being, a world in which there is the very real prospect of a new world order.”

—President George Bush, State of the Union Address, September 11,

The Council on Foreign Relations (CFR)—an organization publicly sworn to destroy American national sovereignty and to usher in a tyrannical police state—could not contain its glee on September 14, just days after the tragic attack, when its members announced their New World Order. At a meeting broadcast on C-Span, Gary Hart, co-chair of the U.S. Commission on National Security in the 21st Century, stated: “There is a chance for the president of the United States to use this disaster to carry out what his father, a phrase his father only used once, and it hasn't been used since—and that is a New World Order.”

There it is. The CFR actually admitted that this crisis was helping it to bring in a New World Order, a global government. Now let's examine how the globalists plan to get that job done.

For decades going back to Jimmy Carter and Zbigniew Brzezinski, the National Security Advisor, the New World Order overlords had been breeding and creating these terrorists organizations, funding them, and training them to attack America. Zbigniew Brzezinski, co-founder of the Trilateral Commission with David Rockefeller and other luminaries of the global system, actually bragged in his 1998 book The Grand Chessboard, of how America would be attacked by Afghan terrorists. A war for global government would then take place in Central Asia that would be used as a reason to roll out national ID cards and a global police state here in the United States. According to Brzezinski's book, everything that is happening now was planned decades ago.

Brzezinski's book continues to explain how America must survive by following the basic rules of empire and how outside enemies are needed to mobilize the population behind the imperium's hegemony.

In The Grand Chessboard Brzezinski writes:

"...To put it in a terminology that harkens back to the more brutal age of ancient empires, the three grand imperatives of imperial geostrategy are to prevent collusion and maintain security dependence among the vassals, to keep tributaries pliant and protected, and to keep the barbarians from coming together." (p.40)

- "Moreover, as America becomes an increasingly multi-cultural society, it may find it more difficult to fashion a consensus on foreign policy issues, except in the circumstance of a truly massive and widely perceived direct external threat." (p. 211)

- "The attitude of the American public toward the external projection of American power has been much more ambivalent. The public supported America's engagement in World War II largely because of the shock effect of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. (pp 24-5)

The relationship between the CIA and the Afghan freedom fighters, the Mujhadeen, predates Ronald Reagan. The bonds of rapport there with the Central Intelligence Agency led to the creation of their super-asset: Osama bin Laden, the rich Saudi Arabian sheik whose family to this day builds most United States military bases in the Middle East, North Africa, and Central Asia. It is on the record that bin Laden is a CIA asset (see MSNBC article, “Bin Laden comes home to roost: His CIA ties are only the beginning of a woeful story,” by Michael Moran). So, every time an American president needs a distraction overseas, a ship or an embassy gets blown up. On October 12, 2000, the U.S.S. Cole, while docked at the port of Aden in Yemen, was attacked. Seventeen Americans were killed, and thirty-nine wounded—sacrificed yet again on the altar of globalism.

For examples of this, look at Bill Clinton’s Presidency. Every time Bill Clinton was in trouble an embassy, a ship, a barracks would suddenly blow up, just like the Federal Building in Oklahoma City. The CIA asset bin Laden was delivering time and time again, and Bill Clinton was there, protecting him, refusing to take files from foreign countries like Sudan, Iraq, and Afghanistan that indicated where Al-Qaeda was in the world, where they were active -- even in the continental United States. Sudan offered to arrest bin Laden on three separate occasions. Bill Clinton answered by bombing, with state-of-the-art cruise missiles, their only pharmaceutical plant, denying Africa desperately needed medicines (Los Angeles Times, December 5, 2001: “Clinton Let Bin Laden Slip Away and Metastasize”; London Times, January 6, 2002, “US Missed Three Chances to Seize Bin Laden”; Worldnetdaily, October 31, 2001, “Was Clinton pro-Taliban?”; The Village Voice, October 31, 2001, “Thanks, But No Thanks—How the U.S. Missed a Chance to Get Bin Laden”).

In reality the New World Order scheme is a lot bigger than just Republicans or Democrats. The truth is that the Central Intelligence Agency, controlled by Wall Street, has been grooming Bin Laden and his family over the last fifty years to carry out dangerous projects in the Middle East, Central Asia, and North Africa. Back in 1996, according to the Times of India, the CIA worked in tandem with Pakistan to create the Taliban (Times of India, March 7, 2001: “CIA Worked in Tandem with Pak to Create Taliban”). Then in 1998, when the Afghans offered to arrest bin Laden, the CIA responded by publicly telling them to do no such thing. They needed this bogeyman for one more big action (Washington Post, October 29, 2001: “Diplomats Met with Taliban on Bin Laden—Some Content U.S. Missed Chance”). Through all of this, Bin Laden’s family was being rewarded with giant satellite company deals, oil company mergers, and some of the biggest construction projects in the world.

Gary Hart, at the CFR meeting mentioned earlier, said:

“There is a new world coming. America will become increasingly vulnerable to hostile attack on our homeland, and our military superiority will not entirely protect us. Americans will likely die on American soil, possibly in large numbers.”

So, bin Laden in a known CIA asset that the New World Order has used time and time again to further its agenda. No matter what corner of the September 11 tragedy you look into, you will always find government involvement. Here, broken down for you, are just some of the many facts that prove that September 11 was part of a larger globalist program.

CIA Meeting with Bin Laden in July 2001

Shortly after September 11, witnesses came forward documenting for the record the fact that bin Laden met with the CIA Section Chief for ten days in Dubai in the American hospital. French intelligence was so upset by what they had learned that they purposely published media reports prior to September 11 specifically warning that bin Laden was planning to hijack aircraft and fly them into tall buildings in downtown Manhattan as well as the Pentagon (This Is London, October 31, 2001: “CIA agent ‘met Bin Laden in July’”; Ananova, October 31, 2001, “Bin Laden ‘met CIA agent before terror attacks’”; Le Figaro, October 31, 2001, “La CIA aurait rencontré Ben Laden en juillet”).

CIA Shepherds Hijackers

It emerged in May of 2002 that the Central Intelligence Agency had officers and assets shadowing two of the hijackers. Newsweek ran the headline, “The Hijackers We Let Escape,” reporting the fact that the CIA followed these two men into Malaysia where they had a meeting with senior leaders of the Al-Qaeda in 2000. The CIA flew out of Los Angeles closely tracking Al-Qaeda-Pakistani Intelligence useful idiots Nawaf Alhazmi and Khalid Almihdhar. Both men attended what the FBI called an Al-Qaeda summit. The American people were shocked to learn that the CIA had been following the hijackers for four years. Even after their meeting in 2000 with the leadership of the Al-Qaeda, Alhazmi and Almihdhar were allowed to return to the United States and to enroll in flight schools. Reports in the BBC and the Washington Times confirmed that the CIA had pressured US Embassies abroad and the INS to issue visas for all 19 of the hijackers (Newsnight, November 6, 2001, “Has Someone Been Sitting on the FBI?”).

Pentagon Mass Casualty Exercise

Even before July 2001, the government had received multiple warnings. The military district of Washington, D.C. took the warnings of the plans to fly hijacked passenger jets into New York and Washington, D.C. landmarks seriously. The Army’s online news service reported in its November 3, 2000 edition that the Pentagon conducted a mass casualty exercise simulating a terrorist attack on the Pentagon building by a suicide hijacker flying a large passenger jet. Despite this publicly available record, a Joint Congressional Intelligence Committee conducted a top to bottom whitewash concerning government prior knowledge. The committee found that the government had never even considered the possibility of hijacked airliners being flown into buildings.

Of course, the Pentagon and the Defense Department didn’t need to be warned. The first media reports that came out said that five of the hijackers had been trained at the Pensacola Naval Air Station (Newsweek, September 15, 2001, “Alleged Hijackers May Have Trained at U.S. Bases”). Later reports from the Pensacola News Journal, in an article headlined “Pensacola NAS links faces more scrutiny,” confirmed that three of the hijackers had been trained there two years before the September 11 attack. The San Francisco Chronicle, on November 4, 2001, in an article headlined “Al Qaeda terrorist worked with FBI—Ex-Silicon Valley resident plotted embassy attacks,” also reported that one of the top lieutenants of Al-Qaeda was actually an FBI asset, not to mention a member of the U.S. Army.

W199-eye

The next piece of evidence you are about to read is the biggest smoking gun of all. President George W. Bush signed secret National Security order No. W199-eye telling FBI agents as well as defense intelligence officers that if they tried to stop Al-Qaeda they would be arrested under national security implications (Newsweek, October 1, 2001: “Access Denied”; Ananova, November 7, 2001: “U.S. agents told to back off bin Ladens”).

With regards to the secret National Security order w199-eye, the BBC was told by senior FBI agents: “the document is marked “Secret”. Case ID-199-Eye W.F. 213.589. 199 is FBI code for case type. 9 would be murder. 65 would be espionage. 199 means national security. W.F. indicates Washington field office special agents were investigating ABC - because of its relationship with the World Assembly of Muslim Youth, AMY - a suspected terrorist organisation. ABL is Abdullah Bin Laden, president and treasurer of WAMY.”

This secret, leaked document has been in many publications, including BBC News Online, Agence France-Press, and the London Guardian. Lawsuits have now been filed by FBI agents who were outraged by the fact that they were not allowed to stop Al-Qaeda (Judicial Watch, November 14,2001, “Active FBI Special Agent Files Complain Concerning Obstructed FBI Anti-Terrorist Investigations”; The Times of India, November 8,2001 “Bush took FBI agents off Laden family trail”).

The global crime syndicate that George W. Bush and his family work for has everything to gain from the September 11 attacks: a national ID card, a national control grid and a cashless society. It's part of the public record. George W. Bush signed the documents threatening defense intelligence and FBI agents with arrest if they stopped Al-Qaeda (AFP, November 7, 2001, "Bush Thwarted FBI probe against bin Ladens"; The Guardian, November 7, 2001, "FBI and U.S. Spy Agents Say Bush Spiked bin Laden Probes Before 11 September"). This is the most absolutely treasonous, treacherous thing he could possibly do.

CNN's "American Morning with Paula Zahn" reported that FBI deputy director John O'Neill resigned because he felt the U.S. administration was obstructing the FBI in their attempts to stop Al-Qaeda (CNN, January 8, 2002, "Explosive New Book Published in France Alleges that U.S. Was in Negotiations to Do a Deal with Taliban"). The show went on to report that Bush signed W199-eye restricting the investigation. Again, this is high treason . . . and absolute fact. George W. Bush signed this publicly reported document. The BBC has a copy of it. The body of evidence is conclusive. George W. Bush is an intimate partner with bin Laden and a traitor to America.

Advance Preparation for War

Months before September 11, 2001, Indian and Pakistani diplomats had gone public with the fact that U.S. Special Forces were massing in Tajikistan, preparing for full-scale invasion of Afghanistan (BBC News, September 18, 2001, "U.S. 'planned attack on Taleban,'""). That's right, the U.S. government was massing troops outside Afghanistan, publicly getting ready for an invasion right before September 11.

FBI Deputy Director John O'Neill's Untimely Demise

We have already talked about FBI Deputy Director John O'Neill quitting because George Bush signed the order forbidding him to stop Al-Qaeda. The reason for his not going public now? Mr. O'Neill is dead. His new job was head of security for the World Trade Center complex and he died in the collapse of September 11, his first day on the job.

The London Independent, on May 25, 2002 Reported:

“But before leaving, O’Neill shared his grievances with the French authors Guillaume Dasqui and Jean-Charles Brisard. In Bin Laden: The Forbidden Truth, published last November, they recount O’Neill’s claim that his probe of Mr. bin Laden and al-Qa’ida in Afghanistan had been blocked by the US oil lobby. John O’Neill was right but he paid for his judgment with his life.”

The Bush-Bin Laden Family Connection

The Bush and bin Laden family connection goes back half a century, and by the 1970s George W Bush and Osama bin Laden, as well as his big brother, were already vacationing together, and owning airports and oil companies together (Daily Mail, December 17, 2001, “Bin Laden’s family link to Bush”). Even before September 11, the Wall Street Journal had called for the Bush family to end their relationship with the bin Ladens.

The Carlyle Group, Oil, Opium and Bombs

The Carlyle Group is the biggest defense contractor on the planet. The majority owners of the Carlyle Group are the Bush family and the bin Laden family. They are profiting in the hundreds of billions off of this new war (Judicial Watch, September 28, 2001, “Bush Sr. in Business with Bin Laden Family Conglomerate Through Carlyle Group”; The Village Voice, October 11, 2001, “Bush Sr. Could Profit from War”; BBC News, December 4, 1997, “Taleban in Texas for talks on gas pipeline”).

While almost every sector of the market has been steadily declining, defense and security stocks have been increasing or holding their value. The Carlyle Group, before September 11 was listed as one of the top five defense contractors in the world. Since the attacks of September 11, it has taken the lead as the largest defense contractor in the world thanks to special treatment by senior shareholder George W. Bush (Wall Street Journal, September 27, 2001)

On December 4, 1997, a BBC headline read, “Representatives of the Taleban are in Texas Visiting the Headquarters of Unicol.” The article went on the report that they were in Texas with the Halliburton-connected pipeline construction company (Dick Cheney was the CEO of Halliburton from 1995 to 2000), Unicol to negotiate their support for a pipeline, which would be built by Halliburton.

Afghanistan represents the heart of the Central Asian oil reserve. Central Asia has the second largest oil reserve in the world. It is almost completely untapped. On February 12, 1998 the Vice President of Unicol, John J. Maresca, testified before the House that a trans-Afghani pipeline would be impossible until a single, unified power was in control of Afghanistan (Testimony in the House International Relations Committee). By April 2002, the Head of the World Bank had opened offices in Afghanistan, at which point the World Bank announced it would fund the Afghan pipeline.

Afghanistan alone supplies over a third of the world’s opium supply. The region of Central Asia supplies over half. Since the global occupation armies took control of Afghanistan, opium production has skyrocketed to record levels. Europe is now awash in heroin, and the coffers of western intelligence agencies are busting at the seams with the untraceable drug money. (London Observer, November 30, 2001, “With Taliban Gone, Afghans Look Forward to Bumper Opium Crop.” ; London Independent, November 21, 2001,” Opium Farmers Rejoice at the Defeat of the Taliban”: London Guardian, February 21, 2002 “(Government) fears flood of Afghan heroin.)

The Buildings’ Collapse

Dozens of respected publications have asked the simple question, “What brought those buildings down?” Especially Building 7, which wasn’t even hit by an aircraft. New York firefighter Louie Cacchioli, 51, who was trapped inside the building reported that multiple bombs were going off all around him (People Magazine, September 21, 2001). There were other witnesses: former military munitions experts and police officers, as well as structural engineers who made similar observations. The oldest fire fighting magazine in the country was absolutely outraged, demanding a real investigation. According to their evidence, there is no way aircraft could have brought down those buildings (Fire Engineering, January 2001 Issue, “WTC Investigation? A Call to Action”; New York Daily News, January 4, 2002, “Firefighter Mag Raps 9/11 Probe”).

And don’t forget Building 7. Nothing hit Building 7, and still it collapsed in a symmetrical fashion. Building 7 was Part of the World Trade Center complex, standing 44 stories high. On September 11, during my live radio show, I called a friend, Jimmie Wright who has a degree in structural engineering and who worked in the World Trade Center complex in the World Financial Center Building. Mr. Wright reported live on the air as the buildings were collapsing that it was the “most beautiful demolition implosion that he had ever seen.” Later in the day we talked to Jimmie Wright again. He said building 7 had imploded as well.

Pre-warnings to Public Officials

The September 12, 2001, The San Francisco Chronicle reported that Mayor Willie Brown was warned by the federal government not to fly on September 11. He was warned the evening before. Now under pressure from the White House, Willie Brown refuses to say exactly which federal agency warned him, maintaining only that he was warned not to fly on September 11. If only the American people had gotten that warning. But of course, if the people had been warned, then the planned attack wouldn’t have had its desired effect of causing the people to beg for a nightmare global police state.

On September 3, Salmon Rushdie, author of The Satanic Verses, got a warning from the U.S. authorities not to fly. They went so far as to ban him publicly from air travel. The FAA admits on record that they took this action. Here you have more chilling evidence of the U.S. government's prior knowledge (Times of London, September 27, 2001, "Rushdie's Air Ban").

Warnings from Abroad

Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak says that he gave the United States specific warnings that something big was going to happen in New York 12 days prior to September 11th. In an interview in December of 2001, he stated, "We expected that something was going to happen and informed the Americans. We told them."

Other warnings were ignored from Russia, Israel, Germany, and France. On September 14, 2001 Ananova news service reported that German police confirmed that an Iranian deportee phoned warnings to US police agencies including the Secret Service about the impending attack on the World Trade Center.

A month before the attacks, Israel intelligence warned US intelligence of Al-Qaeda plans to attack highly visible targets like the Pentagon, World Trade Center, White House and CIA Headquarters (London Guardian, September 16, 2001, "Israeli security issued urgent warning to CIA of large-scale terror attacks").

Doctor Tatyana Koryagina, a leading Russian economist in Vladimir Putin's inner circle, in an interview with Pravda on July 12, 2001, stated that America was a giant financial iceberg and that a private $300 trillion group working towards world government was going to launch an attack on the US financial system. During this interview she also stated that the attack would come in the next few months.

Flight School Warnings

The flight school in Minnesota where Zacarias Moussaoui was training called the FBI numerous times with grave concerns that Moussaoui didn't want to learn how to land. (Star Tribune, December 21, 2001, "Eagan flight trainer wouldn't let unease about Moussaoui rest"). When the FBI Agents tried to get warrants to search Moussaoui's computer and tap his phone, the higher-ups at the FBI refused to give them to him.

The FBI Agents who were trying to investigate the 20th hijacker said they were threatened, thwarted, obstructed, and intimidated for trying to do their jobs. Frustrated agents in Arizona and Minnesota got together and speculated that an Al-Qaeda mole had infiltrated the FBI (Washington Times, May 25, 2002). The Agents had it backwards: the FBI, through the intelligence community, controls Al-Qaeda.

Then, after September 11th, multiple groups of 14-man Syrian and Sudanese teams began arriving at a Fort Worth, Texas flight schools, despite the fact that both nations have been listed by the State Department as sponsors of terror. The men had M-1 visas which were set to expire in a month, but they still demanded that the Mechem Airport Flight School train them. After a second wave of Syrians arrived at DFW Airport, the Chief Inspector for the INS confronted them with the fact that there was still a small plane training ban in effect. The Syrians responded by saying that the flight ban was about to be lifted. When the INS Chief Inspector called the FBI to tell them that the men were in violation of immigration laws and that he was suspicious, the FBI said that the men had their blessings to attend the flight school (WorldNetDaily, October 16, 2001).

Eye in the Sky

For over 30 years, the National Security Agency has had voice recognition software that is able to single out key words and statements and to red flag them for analysis.

Antennae farms ring the planet, intercepting every type of radio traffic, recording satellite transmissions, and analyzing emails and faxes. By 1996, the Echelon system operated by the US, the UK, Canada, Australia and New Zealand had openly installed giant snooping hubs into every telecommunication system. Every phone call in the world, at some point, is routed through Echelon, then routed again through Europe's system, known as Infopol 9. Those fully aware that Big Brother is indeed watching at all times, wonder how on earth something like September 11th could happen without the government knowing about it.

The fact is, the NSA had received many warnings in the years and months preceding the attacks of September 11th. The day before September 11th, the NSA intercepted two detailed messages out of Afghanistan discussing specific attacks on New York. (Washington Post, June 20, 2002, "NSA Intercepts On Eve of 9/11 Sent a Warning"). Upon learning the news that someone deep inside NSA had leaked the information of its foreknowledge, the White House went into a rage, demanding the individual responsible for exposing government complicity be brought up on treason charges.

Now, a major provision of the Homeland Security total takeover legislation is that there will no longer be any Title 5 whistleblower protection for any of the 170,000 Federal employees who will work for the Homeland Security behemoth (Washington Times, June 22, 2002, "Security Bill Bars Blowing Whistle"). That means that government officials now have open license to engage in more waste, fraud and to use their favorite mechanism of control—terrorism. Federal employees will now be gagged slaves -- the property of the state, forced into complicity, silently watching the corruption as it spirals out of control.

Agents Come Forward

On May 30, 2002 Judicial Watch, the public interest law firm known best for its role in the impeachment of Bill Clinton, held a press conference at the National Press Club featuring FBI Special Agent Robert Wright. Agent Wright, standing well over 6 feet, began to cry shortly after he began to tell his story. He said that he had been threatened that he would be arrested on National Security violations if he told the press what he knew about government prior knowledge.

Representing Agent Wright, David Schippers, former lead council in Bill Clinton's impeachment in the House Judiciary Committee, stated that the agents that he represented could not divulge the majority of their information on government prior knowledge. He said that there many other agents from around the country who wanted to come forward and tell how they had been prevented from stopping Al-Qaeda. They were unable to do so because of similar threats. Schippers himself had received a letter from the Justice Department the day before the press conference threatening all those coming forward with arrest.

Larry Klayman, President of Judicial Watch, went on to point out that the Bush family likes to vacation with the bin Ladens and to stay at their home when they are in Saudi Arabia. Judicial Watch also questioned why the FBI, that had threatened Robert Wright and many other agents, was so supportive of FBI Agent Coleen Rowley, who had come forward with peripheral information about prior knowledge. The reason the FBI did this was because they were desperate to have the appearance that they were not engaging in a cover-up, and Coleen Rowley, in her now-famous memo, was stating that she had been blocked from going after the hijackers, but that it was just a bureaucratic snafu, and that the government just needed more funding.

In the first seven months after September 11, those of us in the research community who understood what had really happened at the World Trade Center and Pentagon were reporting the truth to the people through alternative media channels. The globalists were stunned by the speed at which the information chronicling their program was being disseminated. They had to get control of the situation, so they admitted that there was lots of prior knowledge, insisting that the reason for this was that there were too many agencies and that they couldn't communicate with each other.

As a solution they proposed total centralization of power under the Executive Branch and a massive $38 billion increase in anti-terrorism operations. All 7,400 neighborhood watch programs were to go under FEMA, Americorps would need to recruit 1 in 24

Americans to be paid spies of the Federal Government, and the new Northcom Command (which had been set up just prior to September 11) would put 350,000+ US Army troops on the streets, with foreign armies standing by to save us “if we needed the help.” They put out this spin, and their willing accomplices in the government–controlled media were able to completely sidestep issues of insider trading, CIA-Al-Qaeda complicity, Bush on Cipro etc.

Colonel Comes Forward

In early June of 2002, Lt. Col. Steve Butler, the Dean of the Defense Language School in Monterey, California wrote a letter to the editor of the Monterey Herald, saying that Bush had prior knowledge and stood to gain from the attack. In this letter Colonel Butler stated, "Of course Bush knew about the impending attacks on America. He did nothing to warn the American people because he needed this war on terrorism. His daddy had Saddam and he needed Osama.”

The press reported that Colonel Butler was suspended from his post, and that the Air Force was preparing to Court Marshall him under Article 88 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice, which forbids bad-mouthing commanding officers or the President. A June 17, 2002 Reuters article reported that Colonel Butler’s case had been resolved without moving to a Court Martial. The schemers at the Pentagon undoubtedly got a call from deeper in the bowels of the national security dictatorship telling them not to conduct an embarrassing trial where Butler could bring forth the evidence of the globalists’ wicked deeds.

The $7 Billion Lawsuit

I interviewed San Francisco attorney Stanley Hilton on my syndicated radio talk show. Hilton is the lawyer who filed a $7 billion lawsuit on behalf of four hundred family members of victims who died in the World Trade Center, Pentagon and Pennsylvania crash sites. He filed his suit in US District Court against President Bush and other top government officials for allowing the terrorist attacks to occur.

Hilton has also been in consultations with Air Force Lt. Col Steven Butler, and says that what the press won't tell you is that Col. Butler is enraged over the fact that he was forced to train the lead hijacker, Mohammed Atta at the Defense Language School in the late 1990s. That's the same Mohammed Atta who was given training at the Pensacola Naval Air Station with two other principal hijackers. Hilton says that Butler has been in contact with hundreds of graduates from his 24 years at the Defense Language School (which trains code breakers and spies for the military) who are outraged over government complicity. Butler told Hilton that it is common knowledge in Defense Intelligence that the entire September 11th tragedy was engineered to be a trigger to get the American people in a frenzy which would then allow the Bush Administration to tighten its political grip.

Stanley Hilton told the listeners of my radio broadcast that he has proof from dozens of high-level officers in every branch of the Armed Services, especially the Air Force and Space Command based in NORAD, that Bush ordered the fighter aircraft to stand down on September 11 and that Bush conspired to create the September 11 attacks for his own political gain. Named in the suit were Vice President Richard Cheney, National Security Advisor Condoleeza Rice, Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld and Transportation Secretary Norman Mineta.

Stanley Hilton is a former top aide for Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole and has written critically acclaimed books concerning government-sponsored terrorism throughout history. He says that he also has sources in the CIA, FBI, NSA and Naval Intelligence who can confirm the allegations made in the lawsuit.

Protecting the Taliban

But you are saying, “Hey, wait a minute. What was that whole war about? We went in there and took out the Taliban, Right?” No. The military escorted out a couple hundred goat herders to torture them publicly at “Camp X-Ray” in Guantanamo Bay. The real leadership of Al-Qaeda and Taliban, the few that were left in Afghanistan when the war started, were flown out to safety and paid in gold bars in Pakistan by the U.S. federal government (The Times, January 21, 2002, “U.S. ‘let Taleban men escape’”).

Conspiracy Fact

George W. Bush, in a speech at the United Nations broadcast on CNN on November 10, 2001, told the people not to tolerate anyone who investigates these facts:

“Let us never tolerate outrageous conspiracy theories concerning the attacks of September 11, malicious lies that attempt to shift the blame away from the terrorists themselves, away from the guilty.”

According to him, it’s un-American to investigate the facts.

What you are about to read is not a Freudian slip. It is a carefully crafted speech as Bush throws it in your face about dark cults of evil getting power out of human suffering.

President George W. Bush at the Pentagon Memorial:

“The hijackers were instruments of evil who died in vain. Behind them is a dark cult of evil who seeks to harm the innocent and thrives on human suffering. Theirs is the worst kind of cruelty—the cruelty that is fed, not weakened, by tears. Theirs is the worst kind of violence! Pure malice while daring to claim the authority of God. We cannot fully understand the designs and power of evil. It is enough to know that evil—like goodness—exists. And in the terrorists evil has found a willing servant.”

The Schippers Interview

Five months before September 11, David Schippers, the man who impeached Bill Clinton and brought down the Chicago mob, booked investigative reporter Jayna Davis on “The O’Reilly Factor.” Davis warned of an impending terror attack on lower Manhattan.

Following is a transcript of an exclusive interview with David Schippers from my syndicated radio broadcast, The Alex Jones Show:

DS: I began to get information concerning a Middle Eastern connection to Oklahoma City

AJ: We’ve had Colonel Craig Roberts, who was a detective working the case, on this show many times—a month before the attack predicting that one was imminent. He has all that same information. They actually arrested some of these guys and the Justice Department in ’95 said, “Release them.”

DS: That’s right. And the word’s out even today that they—the Oklahoma City Police—are not allowed to touch them. And again, from what I’m understanding, they are up to something again in Oklahoma City. I don’t know what it is or what their target it, but these same people are at it again.

AJ: Now later, you got it from FBI agents in Chicago and Minnesota that there was going to be an attack on lower Manhattan.

DS: Yeah, that’s what started me calling. First of all, I tried to see if I could get a congressman to go to bat for them, and at least bring these people out there and listen to them. I sent them information and nobody cared. It was always, “We’ll get back to you.” Then I reached out and tried to get to the attorney-general when finally we got an attorney-general in there that I would be willing to talk to. Again, I used people who were personal friends of John Ashcroft to try and get him. One of them called me back and said, "All right, I talked to him. He will call you tomorrow morning." This was like a month before the (jet aircraft suicide) bombing. The next morning I got a call. It wasn't from Ashcroft. It was from someone in the Justice Department . . .

AJ: One of his handlers . . .

DS: Yeah, and I started telling him the situation. He said, "You know, we don't start our investigations at the top." I said, "I'd like to talk to the attorney-general because this is vital." He said, "We don't start our investigations at the top. Let me look into this and I'll get back to you." Well, as I sit here today, I've never heard back from him.

AJ: Again, David Schippers, you're big in Washington. You were the top lawyer who got Clinton impeached. You are highly respected. You know the senators, the congressmen. You're calling up. You've got these FBI agents and others feeding you this information. They are being pulled off the cases. They are angry. That's even been in the news in Minnesota and Illinois. They know what is going to happen. The Sudanese in '96 and '98 tried to arrest bin Laden for Clinton, tried to give us the names of Al-Qaeda. Clinton wouldn't take it.

DS: He didn't want any part of it.

AJ: Wouldn't touch it. So we've got all of this developing. We've got police officers and FBI on the ground who know who bombed Oklahoma City. They've got them in custody with blue jogging suits and bomb-making components. They are ordered to release them. All of this is unfolding. 3,500 to 5,000 Iraqi Republican Guard. We know there is a Saddam-Iraqi connection here. They knew this. Why in the world, David Schippers, did they allow this to take place, is the question.

DS: I'll tell you something, This is one of the things. To me, it is almost inconceivable, inconceivable, that with the knowledge they had, that they would turn their back. Just assume that they had investigated and gone in after the Oklahoma City bombing as they are doing now. There never would have been an attack on the Trade Towers. As a human being, as a former prosecutor, as a lawyer, as a guy who represents agents all over the United States, it is inconceivable to me that those bureaucrats in Washington would turn their back on the obvious for their own purposes.

AJ: And now the World Trade Center complex is absolutely destroyed.

DS: There's more coming.

AJ: Now you know that from your sources—I know you represent a bunch of FBI agents who are hopping mad, you probably can't talk about the specifics. You say they are hopping mad. You say you are representing them. Are they getting ready to sue or something?

(Note: by mid-May 2002, several of the FBI agents represented by Schippers have attempted to go public, but the Bush administration has been successful in pressuring Congress to confine their memos dating from before September 11th warning of Al-Qaeda's plans to hijack aircraft and to fly them into buildings. Their testimony has been confined to secret intelligence committees, and now the media is focusing on fragments of the giver story of government prior knowledge and involvement in September 11th, thus whitewashing the entire story.)

DS: They are hoping to. I don't want to get them into court. I want to get them into the Intelligence Committee, someone who has the authority and the ability to go the FBI bureaucrats and say, "Butt out. We're going to do this right."

AJ: I'm sure you're aware that on the History Channel, they've been reporting for years, and its now confirmed, that we had prior knowledge of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor and they allowed that to take place. And now you see the U.N. empowered, the World Court empowered. It looks like the U.N. is going to get to take over the oil supply in Central Asia. The face-scanning cameras were in trouble; now they are on the fast-track. This has sure brought the police state upon us.

DS: It sure has. And I've been saying for years that once you've had license, which we've had, the next step is tyranny. It really is scary. The whole thing is scary. The American people are saying, "I want to be safe." Ben Franklin said, "If you give up your liberties for security, you will eventually lose both your security and your liberties."

AJ: Absolutely. What was the intel you were getting from these agents. What were they saying?

DS: This agent here in Chicago filed the affidavit where he laid out the whole way that the money moves; the way it is handled; how it comes out of the Middle East into the Chicago area—not only Chicago, but into the United States; how it is covered; how the operatives are covered; and then how the money is transferred back; and where it is kept while it is here. And that affidavit ran like thirty pages. Laid it out. He had to go through hell on earth in Washington. He had to fight like a tiger. Everyone in his own bureau and in the Department of Justice was against him, and still is.

AJ: Now, the FBI agents in Minnesota knew about all this and had the evidence, but they couldn't even get a wire tap or a warrant to search these guys. We're talking about some of the actual hijackers.

DS: Exactly. This woman (Jayna Davis) that was talking to me. She had other contacts in Naval intelligence and other areas. She was reporting there was one of these terrorists that was involved or connected with the bombing in Oklahoma City was working at the Boston airport. A friend of mine who happens to be an agent had information showing that there were Hamas agents working in baggage areas at O'Hare airport with free access to any part of the airport. But no one would listen. Clinton and his boys didn't want the United States to realize that Flight 800 was a terrorist attack, and that Oklahoma City was a terrorist attack, because they didn't want to have to admit that the intelligence of the United States was totally destroyed.

AJ: Craig Roberts says it best. They wanted to demonize the patriots, the Christians, and create this internal security force to watch Americans, because the precious Arabs can't do anything wrong.

DS: That is exactly what they started. I can't remember exactly what nitwit it was who said, "You know, you can really blame some of the Rush Limbaughs and the talk show hosts who are fomenting this terror."

AJ: That was Bill Clinton.

DS: Clinton made that statement. They had a handy guy in McVeigh. They had a real handy guy. I also know—and I know this through affidavits that I've read—that there were people, eyeball witnesses, who saw the Middle Eastern man running from the scene alongside McVeigh.

AJ: And why don't the Feds just release those twelve surveillance camera tapes if it is just McVeigh alone?

DS: Surveillance camera tapes are going to show that there was a Middle Eastern man running with him. Some of these people who gave affidavits were interviewed by the FBI during the course of the investigation. They were interviewed about the second person they saw, and the agents tried to make them say that the second person was Nichols. Every single one of these people said, "Absolutely not. It was a Middle Eastern-type individual."

AJ: Al-Hussaini Hussain.

DS: Now, listen to this. None of those 302s—those investigative reports—have ever surfaced. Now the FBI comes up with all these thousands of documents that they claim they overlooked. But the key ones where they tried to get the witnesses to say it was Nichols never surfaced.

AJ: What were they saying about the attack on lower Manhattan?

DS: The original report I got was that they had arranged for three attacks on the United States. One: They were going to take down an airliner. Two: They were going to attack a federal facility in the heartland of the United States.

AJ: The first was TWA Flight 800. The second was Oklahoma City.

DS: And the third one was going to a massive attack in lower Manhattan. The original plan was a suitcase tactical nuclear weapon. These people that I was talking to were very, very credible people.

AJ: Here's the bottom line question. You're getting into an attack on lower Manhattan—the third big attack. What did you say? Who did you talk to? We know you tried to get to the attorney-general.

DS: My first move was to go through some of the people I knew in Congress. I was really working on a two-front war. On the one hand I wanted to get someone to listen to Jayna [Davis, of KFOR News] about Oklahoma City and what was coming up—what may be coming up. On the other hand, I was trying to get somebody to understand that Hamas has infiltrated the United States. I tried the House, I tried the Senate, I tried to get to the Department of Justice. The very people who put up roadblocks about the terrorists under Clinton are still there. They still constitute almost like a moat between the people with information and the people who should hear the information.

AJ: So, when you're talking to these Justice Department people and folks in Congress, trying to give them all this information, what do they say to you?

DS: "Oh, my, that's wonderful. We'll get right back to you." I have never got a call back. I was on a radio program back east, in Pittsburgh, and I hinted at this, I hinted that the FBI was sitting on information when they should have been sharing it with others, and as a result there was a breakdown in intelligence. The next morning I got call from the office of the Speaker of the House, who happens to be an Illinois Republican.

AJ: Dennis Hastert

DS: Yes, Hastert. They said, "We understand you've got some information, etc." I said, "Yes, I do. I would really like to share it with somebody. I've got at least two, and maybe three, witnesses that should be subpoenaed to come out there and testify in executive session and tell you what I was talking about." "Okay, we'll get back to you." I've never heard again. A couple of days later I got a call from the Senate Intelligence Committee. "We hear that you've got information, etc." "Yes, I have information and I'd be perfectly willing to bring it out to you, or I'd be perfectly willing to have my witnesses go in there and testify, but they have to be subpoenaed." "Okay, we'll get back to you." That was last week. I still haven't heard from them. I talk to people like you who are in the media, people who are really well aware of what is going on, and they cannot believe that this can happen. Strangely enough, the one group I have not heard from is the FBI intelligence people. Of course, if I did hear from them, I wouldn't talk to them anyhow because they are totally incompetent.

AJ: They got their funding tripled after the suicide attacks. . .

DS: Sure, boy, that's great. They can all get a raise, and they can all sit around and tell everybody their informants tell them this and informants tell them that. I'm still trying to get somebody to listen to me out there, and to listen to my witnesses. You know, Jayna Davis, had the same stuff she showed me, she walked into the FBI office in Oklahoma City shortly after the bombing and said, "Here. I have all this material. It may be of some assistance to you." They said, "We don't want it." They refused to even take it.

AJ: Just like Sudan trying to give us the names of Al-Qaeda and arrest bin Laden . . .

DS: Exactly.

AJ: . . . and they said, "We don't want to do that." Well, then, I think if you're an investigator, you're a prosecutor, Mr. Schippers. You prosecuted the president of the United States. Successfully got the indictment . . .

DS: Prosecuted the outfit here in Chicago for five years.

AJ: . . . so you know, you can see the motive. I see more intelligence funding. I see a cashless society with the biometrics. I see an expanded U.N. I see NATO planes patrolling our skies. U.N. General MacKenzie, on "Nightline," September 19, eight days after the attack, said, "We need U.N. troops on our borders." I see global government being empowered, and a takeover of the Middle East and Central Asia by the West. I see great dividends for them by allowing this to happen.

DS: I hope you are wrong. I do. But I can't fight with you or argue with you on it, because it does seem to be heading that way.

AJ: For trying to protect their country, the heroes get crucified.

DS: The heroes get crucified, and the bureaucrats sit out there and tell each other what a great job they are doing until another city blows up, and then they say, "We need more tools." They have all the tools in the world. They could have found the money years ago, if they had just listened. We've got to go public because we tried to do it the right way. We tried to do it by going to the people in whom you would normally repose your confidence and trust. It didn't work. Nobody cares.

AJ: Well, we know this. The bureaucrats are going to get even more funding now.

The Anthrax Attacks

You want more evidence of prior knowledge? On October 24, 2001, the Associated Press reported that Ari Fleischer, in a White House press briefing, admitted that George W. Bush and much of his cabinet were already on Cipro on September 11, four weeks before the first traces of anthrax popped up in Boca Raton, Florida. Since then, the FBI had admitted that the anthrax was sent from Fort Detrick, Maryland, a U.S. biological weapons lab. The anthrax letters arrived at the Capitol building at a critical juncture, just as the USA Patriot Act was being considered.

Pakistan's Secret Police and the "Airlift of Evil"

Pakistan's Secret Police (ISI) is a publicly known front of the CIA. In 2000, US intelligence agencies aided General Musharraf in a successful coup. In late 2001, Pakistani intelligence, using US aircraft, airlifted 6,000 taliban and al-Qaeda leaders to safety out of Afghanistan (MSNBC, November 29, 2001, "Airlift of Evil"; The New Yorker, January 21, 2002, "The Getaway"; The Times, January 21, 2002, "US Let Taleban Men Escape").

In the summer of 2001, Pakistani ISI chief, General Ahmed, ordered an aide to wire-transfer $100,000 to Mohammed Atta, who, according to the Federal Government, was the head terrorist in the suicide hijackings. Soon after revelations of this transaction surfaced, General Ahmed resigned.

Who would have ever guessed that General Mahmoud Ahmed, the Head of Pakistani Intelligence, the man who wired $100,000 to Mohammed Atta, would just so happen to be in Washington DC the week of September 11th? General Ahmed arrived September 4th in the United States on an official visit and State Department visa. From September 4-9 he met with the heads of U.S. intelligence, including CIA Director George Tenet.

On the morning of September 11, General Ahmed was in a breakfast meeting on Capitol Hill with both of the chairmen of the Senate and House Intelligence Committees, Senator Bob Graham and Representative Porter Goss. Months later, in July 2002, these same Congressmen on the Joint Intelligence Committee feigned ignorance and conducted a shameless Warren Commission-style whitewash of the government prior knowledge story.

It is important to note that the government prior knowledge story that dominated the front pages of newspapers in May of 2002 was in itself a distraction. The propagandists knew that they were losing control of the story as more and more people began to come forward to blow the whistle on government involvement in September 11th. As concrete facts began to emerge documenting the evidence that September 11 was a carefully crafted intelligence operation conducted by the West, they needed to get out in front of the story and to gain control of it. Ari Fleischer and Condoleeza Rice, and even Bush gave speeches admitting that mistakes were made, but “it was all accidental. They just missed the clues...and if the people would just give up their liberties the security forces would be more than happy to ensure their safety.”

The problem wasn't that the CIA had founded, funded and shepherded the radical Islamic brigades, nor was it that they were using these groups to destabilize Arab countries as a type of super-provocateur core, it was that the tripling of the anti-terrorism budget in 1996 wasn't enough. The internal security forces needed an additional $38 billion “to keep us safe.” That's why they missed all the warnings.

That's right, Bush “missed” all the warnings, from the French, from the Germans, from the Russians, and from the Iranians. I guess that's why he had already gone over detailed war plans to occupy Afghanistan on September 9th (source: MSNBC, May 16, 2002) and had the necessary documents on his desk ready to be signed. Of course, he had to wait until September 11th, when the CIA-controlled Al-Qaeda carried out their operational orders and gave him the pretext to make his move.

Military in Place Prior to 9-11

In early September, 2001 years of military planning came together just in time for September 11th. In a giant exercise code-named Operation Swift Sword, 23,000 British troops had massed in Oman. Coinciding with Operation Swift Sword, 2 US carrier battle groups arrived right on time in the Gulf of Arabia, just 10 miles off the Pakistani coast. Simultaneously, more than 17,000 US troops rendezvoused with 23,000 NATO troops in Egypt for Operation Bright Star.

The entire military force was in place before the first passenger jet slammed into the World Trade Center (sources: Fox News, CNN, The Observer). Then, on the 19th of May, 2002 the White House put out a press release saying that the President had papers on his desk that would set in motion an attack on the Taliban and al-Qaeda (Washington Post, May 20, 2002).

Jeb Bush Declares Martial Law on September 7, 2001

On the homefront, President Bush's brother, Florida Governor Jeb Bush signed an unprecedented emergency State Executive Order (01-261) laying out new guidelines for setting up military rule (martial law) in Florida. Governor Jeb Bush signed his Executive Order on September 7, 2001 despite the fact that there were no major natural or man-made disasters at the time of its drafting.

"I hereby declare that a state of emergency exists in the state of Florida...The Authority to suspend the effect of any statute or rule governing the conduct of state business, and further authority to suspend the effect of any order or rule of any government entity...The authority to seize and utilize any and all real or personal property as needed to meet this emergency...The authority to order the evacuation of any or all persons from any location in the State...The authority to regulate the return of the evacuees to their home communities...I hereby order the Adjutant General to activate the Florida National Guard for the duration of this emergency.” ~Florida Governor Jeb Bush, September 7, 2001, (Associated Press, September 9, 2001, State of Florida Website Listing State Executive Orders)

Insider Trading

Also in early September, between September 5th and 10th, 4,744 record put options (a highly risky form of speculation where you bet against a stock that it will go down) were purchased against United Airlines’ stock, compared to only 396 call options (speculation that a stock will go up in value). This was a highly abnormal level of put options that were purchased, and not against airline stocks in general, but against United Airlines.

Many of United Airline’s put options were bought through Deutsche Bank/AB Brown, a firm managed until 1998 by the current Executive Director of the CIA, A. B. “Buzzy” Kronguard (Sources: London Independent, New York Times, Wall Street Journal).

On September 10, 2001 a record 4,516 put options were placed against American Airlines compared to just 748 call options (source: London Independent, October 14, 2001, “Mystery of Terror “Insider Dealers”). Continuing the pattern, the put options were purchased only against American Airlines and United Airlines, not against airline stocks in general. The put options purchased on both airlines were 600% over normal. All of this activity took place at a time when airline stocks were doing well compared to other sectors (Reuters Business, September 10, 2001, “Airline Stocks May be Poised to Take off”).

It is a known fact that intelligence agencies world-wide monitor stock trading with particular attention being paid to speculators, but, because insiders were running the put option scam, the public wasn't warned.

In late May of 2002 the Feds arrested some low-level FBI agents who were allegedly feeding off the CIA's table. Jeffrey Royer and Lynn Wingate were arraigned on charges they were involved in a stock trading racketeering conspiracy. The FBI agents were arrested along with an Arab man named Omar Elgindy. They were charged with passing confidential intelligence information concerning the attacks of September 11 on to Elgindy, who allegedly set the puts for them. (Newsday, May 30, 2002)

Empty Offices and Schools

There were stories in the New York Post, Newsday, and MSNBC after September 11 confirming that businesses and schools in a wide swath around the World Trade Center complex in lower Manhattan were, in many cases, half-empty on the day of the attacks. School children had been their teachers that the World Trade Center buildings were going to be knocked over in the next week.

Employees of one of the world's largest instant messaging corporations, Odigo, did not show up to their offices in the World Trade Center on September 11. Employees told the press that they had received warnings from their head office in Tel Aviv not to go into work that day because there would be a massive attack on the towers. The Tel Aviv offices of Odigo are next door to the Institute for Counter Terrorism (Ha'aretz, Sept 26, 2001; MSNBC, September 27, 2001).

Ashcroft Forewarned

Certain VIPs and public officials were warned not to travel: Mayor Willie Brown, Solomon Rushdie... and John Ashcroft. CBCNEWS, on July 26, 2001, in an article titled, “Ashcroft Flying High” reported:

“In response to inquiries from CBS News over why Ashcroft was traveling exclusively by leased jet aircraft instead of commercial airlines, the Justice Department cited what it called a "threat assessment" by the FBI, and said Ashcroft has been advised to travel only by private jet for the remainder of his term.”

Agents Sue Bush’s Justice Department

You’ve already read about one of the most overlooked smoking gun government prior knowledge/involvement stories: the story of the leaked top-secret document, W199-eye. Bush signed this document blocking U.S. intelligence and the FBI from stopping Al-Qaeda two months before the attacks of 9-11. Agents like Robert Wright with the help of Judicial Watch are suing his Justice Department over it.

You must realize that the Democrats are involved in the cover-up as well. The New World Order controls things at the top, and if we don’t hold government responsible they are going to use this terror to get more control over our lives.

Now President Bush is seeking to restrict Capitol Hill probes. He had Dick Cheney call six separate congressional committees and threaten them, telling them not to investigate September 11 (Washington Post, January 30, 2002, “Bush Seeks to Restrict Hill Probes of Sept. 11”). Shocking many Americans, President Bush has also activated the secret government, going so far as to call it the “shadow government.” For the first time in history, FEMA command bunkers are brimming with National Security Agency personnel. On top of that, Congress wasn’t even advised of Bush’s shadow government plans. Neither the Senate leader nor the Speaker of the House was even told about the shadow government, despite the fact that Constitutionally they are in the direct line of ascension in the chain of power for the Presidency (Washington Post, March 1, 2002, “Shadow Government Is at Work in Secret”). Why isn’t the President including elected officials in the “continuity of government” program?

Congresswoman Cynthia McKinney

Congresswoman Cynthia McKinney is a complex person. While she has a history in Congress as a tax and spend liberal, she has also given a speech on the floor of the House detailing how, as Head of UN Peacekeeping, UN Secretary General Kofi Annan personally oversaw the mass murder of 800,000 Rwandans.

In April of 2002, McKinney granted an interview with a radio station in Berkeley, California. During the interview she pointed out that the Bush family had a long relationship with the bin Ladens and with Osama bin Laden specifically. She said that Bush stood to gain politically on the domestic front from the attacks and in Central Asia with the Unicol oil pipeline. She called for an investigation of the facts.

What most Americans don't realize is that the social architects that steer the mass media structure were very concerned as more and more prominent Americans like David Schippers and FBI Agent Robert Wright began to go public with documented evidence of government prior knowledge and involvement. The media chose to focus in on Congresswoman McKinney's obscure radio interview as a way to politically polarize the debate, while subtly playing the race card.

Now anytime someone heard someone talking about government prior knowledge and involvement, the thought would automatically pop into their mind that the comments were coming from the extreme left-wing of the Democratic party and that it was just partisan mudslinging. The whole thing was a set up from the beginning. The establishment chose to publicly "whip" the Congresswoman in the kangaroo court of big media controlled public opinion.

Senator Zell Miller from her own party issued a statement castigating McKinney and saying that her comments were dangerous and irresponsible. McKinney's response to the demonization was, "We hold thorough public inquiries into rail disasters, plane crashes and even natural disasters," she wrote. "Why then does the administration remain steadfast in its opposition to an investigation into the biggest terrorism attack in history?"

After a week of wall to wall smear attacks in the press, where she was billed as a kind of Anti-Christ, the Atlanta Journal-Constitution held a poll asking if the people thought there should be a Congressional investigation of government prior knowledge. A slim majority of 52% out of over 15,000 respondents said yes. The Atlanta Journal-Constitution pulled the poll after posting it for only eight hours although they had originally planned to leave it up for three days. The poll was even promoted by talking head pundits on the national cable shows who would say things like, "Go to the Atlanta Journal-Constitution website and vote to tell America what you think of this traitor." But in the end the poll backfired on them. The puppet masters thought that the poll would show 75-80% of the American people declaring that they didn't want an investigation. Instead, over half agreed with the Congresswoman. It is interesting to note that they pulled the poll after it climbed past the 50% mark.

The Motive

In order to be able to profile the elite and to understand what their plans are for the future, it is integral to refocus on their motive in carrying out their September 11th operation. The illuminati and its allied organizations, which represent the dominant power cartels of the world, are threatened by sovereign nations. They view sovereign nations as populations of human beings that are not under their control. The term that the New World Order mouthpiece media uses for sovereign nations is "rogue states."

By carrying out September 11th, the globalists created a tailor-made excuse to invade and subjugate sovereign nations simply by labeling them as "those that harbor terrorists." They created a situation to get the people living in the heart of the empire to support endless wars of aggression.

Far too many people analyzing the activities of the ruling oligarchy think that the September 11 event was only about oil and pipelines. Others focus in on bloated record defense budgets. Still others only see it as a pretext for Big Brother to gain total control domestically with a high-tech Police State. In reality, all of these points are valid. Globalist planners have laid out long-term strategic goals and only make slight adjustments in their overall program when absolutely necessary.

When the New World Order moves in a big way, the event must always serve at least 90% of their main objectives. Out of the legion of reasons that the New World Order launched that attack the two biggest are: ushering in an Orwellian police state that would make the “Ministry of Love” feel second string, and the fuelling a worldwide neo-imperial hyper-tyranny where the individual is completely dehumanized.

Putin Uses Terror

Back in 1999 Vladymir Putin was a rising young star in Russia who had just stepped down from his position of KGB (now known as the Federal Security Bureau (FSB) Section Chief of Saint Petersburg. Putin was Boris Yeltsin’s top deputy, and he had a problem on his hands. How was he going to get into office when the polls showed the people didn’t want him? Simple. Putin used the Hegelian dialectic. His secret police were caught blowing up three separate apartment buildings. Moscow police arrested his agents in an apartment building placing hexagen, a highly explosive plastique. Now, in 2002, members of the FSB have gone public with the information, as well as explosives experts and Vladimir Putin’s former associate, Boris Berezovsky (The Guardian, March 6, 2002, “Former ally links Putin to Moscow blasts”; Moscow Times, March 6, 2002, “Berezovsky Says Putin Knew About FSB Role”). After Berezovsky reported that the government was behind the bombing, Putin ordered his media empire seized.

Back in 1999, desperate to apprehend whoever was responsible for the deadly bombings of three apartment buildings in which 350 people had died, Moscow police caught three members of the FSB in the act of planting bombs in a fourth apartment building. The agents had carried out the attacks to create fear throughout the population. Now other top government officials have gone public, saying that they knew the government was actually preparing to bomb buildings in 1999 as a pretext for control.

The videotapes that prove Putin's dastardly use of the Hegelian dialectic are being sought out for seizure by the Russian government (Moscow Times, March 11, 2002, "Berezovsky Film Seized at Customs"). Boris Berezovsky has created a documentary about these events and has screened this film in Paris, London and Warsaw. The film contains testimony from members of the FSB, Moscow Police and Russian journalists who witnessed the hexagen plastic explosives that had been planted in the fourth Moscow apartment building.

The Bill of Rights – a Terrorist Manual?

In a political cartoon carried in the Austin American Statesman, we find the following words: "So, carrying one of those terrorists manuals, are we?" Pictured is Ashcroft standing over Uncle Sam, reading a book that says "The Bill of Rights." Sound's like a joke, doesn't it? You are about to see the evidence that the government views the Bill of Rights and Constitution in just this way. They are teaching police that if you read the Bill of Rights, you are with the terrorists.

What has America come to? We are becoming more and more Sovietized every single day, and our new gracious homeland leader is George W. Bush. It's a sick joke. Who really stands to gain from this terrorism? The evidence is clear. The forces of the New World Order. Now let's talk about terrorism.

"Let's talk now about terrorism, and about those who see violence against innocent civilians as a legitimate means, in their view, to achieve their ends."

—Dan Rather, CBS news anchor

“This new law that I signed today will allow surveillance of all communications used by terrorists, including e-mail, the internet, and cell phones.”

—George W. Bush, President of the United States

“The answer is yes. It is a war we have to win if we are going to protect the people of this country. I think the real issue is, what do we sacrifice, what do we give up in the process? So there is going to be a continuing trade-off between security and liberty and freedom going forward into the twenty-first century.”

—Gary Hart, co-chair of the U.S. Commission on National Security in the 21st Century

“Security is having this discussion right now with the political leaders. We are probably going to be asked to do some things that many people may not like because it is going to call into question some of the freedoms that we have had.”

—Dan Quayle, former Vice-President of the United States

The Politics of Terror in the Twentieth and Twenty-First Centuries

Examine most major terrorist events and you will find governments financing terrorist organizations to get a desired political outcome, and to condition their population to accept higher levels of control. You seen despotic control-freaks like Hitler, Stalin, and Mao. You’ve seen them use these techniques throughout the twentieth century. Now in the twenty-first they are telling us it is going to be the century of terror and the century of a New World Order.

Look at the U.S. government. They tell us to give up our rights, while they stubbornly demand that our borders stay wide open, allowing tens of millions of people to pour across our borders, come in through our ports, and to fly in on airplanes. The globalists have the nerve to tell American citizens that we must accept a national ID card in the name of safety. What twisted logic: The government tells us to leave the borders open even after September 11, but subjects the American people to unprecedented police state measures. That doesn't make any sense, unless you are the ruling oligarchy that is hoping for more terrorist attacks to generate more fear, as well as to balkanize the United States along ethnic lines.

Police State USA

[Note to publisher: insert pictures: 8- FBI-TerroristFlyer-front and 9-FBI-MCSOTerroristFlyer-Back]

The government has declared patriotic Americans to be the terrorists. Examine this FBI flier—they have gone out nationwide—where the FBI actually states that Christians, conservatives, and gun owners are part of terrorist organizations. Defenders of the U.S. Constitution are listed as terrorists. If police encounter them, they are instructed to call the FBI Anti-Terrorism Hotline immediately . . . and this includes both defenders of the U.S. Constitution, and people who make numerous references to the U.S. Constitution.

We were all raised to be defenders of the U.S. Constitution and the Bill of Rights. Elected leaders, police and firemen have all sworn an oath to protect and defend the Constitution of the United States. In the new “Amerika,” the Homeland Security Bureau is taking over our local police and demonizing those who believe in the principles this Republic was founded on. Face the facts, America. The government sees you as terrorists because you stand in the way of worldwide serfdom here on the global plantation.

Marya Jones, a reporter for WDBF-TV in Virginia reported the following concerning the abuse of police power in the United States:

“Abby Newman claims the checkpoint was unconstitutional. State Police say the stop was legal and Newman took it too far when she assaulted them. You can take a look from the video from the trooper’s car, taken here from the website infowars.com and judge for yourself.”

The reporter then showed a tiny computer screen superimposed on the television screen so no one could tell what was actually happening. Here’s a transcript of what really happened when a conservative-looking woman tried to invoke her rights at a warrantless checkpoint.

Trooper: I need to know who you are.

Newman: No, you don’t.

Trooper: Yes, ma’am, I do.

Newman: I’m not speeding. I’m not intoxicated. I have given you no reason to stop me. And this irritates me. And I would be very happy to go into town and talk to the supervisor. [The trooper then opens her door.] This is my vehicle. Sir, you cannot . . .

Trooper: Step out of the vehicle.

Newman: No, sir. You cannot reach into this vehicle.

Trooper: Sure I can.

Newman: You cannot reach into this . . .

Trooper: I need to know who you are.

Newman: You do not.

Trooper: I must know who you are before you can go down the road.

Newman: I have not broken any laws.

Trooper: I have not accused you of breaking any laws, ma’am.

Newman: You have just reached into this vehicle and opened my door and . . .

Trooper: I have no idea who you are.

Note: The officer admits she has done nothing wrong, but she still must present her papers. This is all part of being guilty until proven innocent.

Trooper: I need to know who you are. Do you have a driver's license?

Newman: You just proved to me you don't have probable cause because you don't . . .

Trooper: Shut your ignition off for me.

Newman: Pardon?

Trooper: Turn your car off for me.

Newman: Why do I have to turn my car off?

Trooper: Because I'm asking you to turn your car off.

Newman: You are violating my United States Constitutional rights. Any laws that go contrary to the United States Constitution are null and void (Marbury v. Madison), and I do not have to submit to them. I am not intoxicated. You have already stated you don't know who I am. So therefore . . .

Trooper: That's the whole point. I don't know who you are. I have told you who I am, okay. This is an approved checking detail site. Are you going to tell me who you are?

Newman: No, sir.

Trooper: You're not going to tell me who you are?

Newman: You have not charged me with anything. You have not told me I have done anything wrong, and I don't owe you that, sir. Because I don't serve you, you serve me. Because when you take one, you take another, you take another, and before you know it, we can't go anywhere without our papers. And that's what this is. May I see your papers, please? You can't travel down this road, ma'am, unless you show me your papers, please. . . . You've already told me that the stickers are in order. I wasn't traveling at undue speed. I have done nothing wrong, and this is absolutely wrong. [The trooper then reaches into the vehicle]. Don't reach inside my vehicle.

Trooper: I'm going to place you under arrest for obstruction of justice.

Newman: What am I obstructing? Sir!?!

Trooper: Step out of the car for me. [The officer then begins to pull Mrs. Newman from her vehicle]. Step out of the car for me.

Newman: You are physically forcing me out of . . .

Trooper: [Pulling Mrs. Newman from vehicle] Step out of the car.

Newman: No, sir . . . don't you touch any of my personal belongings in this car. You're right, I recorded this conversation. Yes, I did.

Trooper: [Handcuffing Mrs. Newman] Resisting arrest.

Newman: It is not assault.

Trooper 2: I'll get the car

Newman: Don't you take one single item out of my car, sir. I'm not fighting you.

Trooper: You're under arrest for resisting arrest, obstruction of justice, and assault on a police officer.

Newman: I did not assault you.

Note: Think about our priorities in America. At a warrantless, Fourth Amendment-violating checkpoint, they pull over a housewife with no criminal record. When she simply doesn't want to get out of her car, they grab her and charge her with assaulting them.

Trooper: You have the right to remain silent. Anything you say can and will be used against you in court. You have the right to speak to an attorney and have him present while you are being questioned. If you cannot afford to hire an attorney, one will be appointed to represent you without any cost to you if you desire one. Do you understand these rights as they have been read to you? [She doesn't answer.] Do you understand your rights as they have been read to you? [She still does not answer, and is then led to the police car and taken into custody.]

Note: They are not concerned with our borders being wide open or the tens of millions of containers coming in each year that aren't even searched. Instead, they are worried about a woman on the side of the road and what she's reading, thinking, and doing. This is the first-generation thought police right here in the United States. This type of activity is un-American. These officers should be ashamed of themselves.

Here's where things really get interesting as they begin to dig through her car and find what they consider subversive material:

Trooper 1: [Searching car] Strategies of Submarine Warfare. Hidden Agenda.

Trooper 2: Man, she's into this weird crap.

Trooper 1: Power Plays. Ruthless.com. The Bear and the Dragon. Patriot Games.

Trooper 1: I might as well get a record started.

Trooper 2: Do you want to ask her, or do you just want to get the next one?

Trooper 1: Just get the next one. She's invoked her right to remain silent, even though she don't believe in our laws.

“Even though she don't believe in our laws.” No, trooper, it's you who doesn't know our laws. You're the one who is overthrowing our Constitution and our Bill of Rights. Our country was founded on people not being stopped like criminals and being searched. The Fourth Amendment States: “The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.”

Trooper 1: You won't believe all this paraphernalia in here. I mean, look at this clipboard right here. Comment Upon Voluntary Nature of Social Security. It's a whole riot act about why you don't have to have a Social Security card.

Trooper 2: She's just anti-government, isn't she?

Trooper 1: She apparently belongs to some kind of Klan, or something. Dixieland Law. General Constitution Society. I mean, . . .

Anti-government? A member of the Klan? For knowing her Constitutional rights? For being a member of the Constitutional Society? The attitudes and statements of these police officers show that the FBI training of our police has really paid off.

Note: As you read this conversation between troopers discussing anti-government paraphanelia in Abby newman's car, be aware they are referring to its contents, which include several pocket Constitutions, one of my Police State 2000 videos, the Harrison Ford movie, Patriot Games, and more.

Trooper 1: I mean . . . this is . . .

Trooper 2: She's definitely studied on it, hasn't she?

Trooper 1: I'm telling you. What is the truth?

Trooper 2: I'm wondering if we can keep that for any reason.

Trooper 1: Is it evidence of a crime? You know, is it evidence of a crime? If it relates back to obstruction of justice, I would say yes.

Trooper 2: I would think obstruction of justice is . . .

Trooper 1: That would be the appropriate charge, and that relates to it.

Trooper 2: That's why she did it. I mean, she may be the one that would want to bring that to court. I don't know . . .

Trooper 1: I don't know either. It would probably be fine reading, but I'm not sure if I can seize it or not. I don't know that this is illegal.

Trooper 2: Exactly.

Trooper 1: I think she can read it all she wants to.

Trooper 2: Now, if they've actually outlawed that, that is . . . and I think they have.

Abby Newman was vindicated by a jury of her peers and found not guilty of assault on a "royal" police officer and of resisting arrest. They still tried to get her for simply invoking her Constitutional rights. Digging through her goods they are heard to say, "Oh, look, anti-government paraphanelia. What are we going to do?"

In another case we have video shot by a news helicopter of one of my listeners at a checkpoint. The police pulled Ferrell Montgomery over, and the SWAT team attacked him. Despite the fact that he was unarmed and that they had rendered him unconscious with three taser guns, the police released a dog on him, and allowed it to savagely tear at his body for over three minutes. They then tried to frame him by holding up two jumper cables and saying that they were "pipe bombs." Of course, a month later they admitted all the charges were false. Still, that didn't stop them from having a little fun, a little manhunt.

America, it is time to wake up to what is happening. We are being treated like animals. Ferrell Montgomery was just pulled over, attacked for no reason, shot with three taser guns, then mauled by a police dog for simply pointing out his Fourth Amendment right to not be searched without a warrant.

The Register-Herald, a mainstream newspaper in West Virginia on September 2, 2001, ran a story with the headline, "Christians a 'hate group.'" They found out the FBI and law enforcement schools across the state—and across the country—are teaching police that Christians, all Christians, period, are hate criminals, and are all part of a terrorist group if they believe in a second coming of Christ. Note that all this propaganda originates from the Justice “Project Megiddo” report, where they list as terrorists:

- home schoolers
- gun owners
- anyone who cares about freedom
- anyone who believes in Jesus Christ
- anyone who believes in the Second Coming
- anyone who discusses a New World Order conspiracy theory
- anyone who talks about a New World Order takeover.

The evidence is clear: If you resist a New World Order takeover, you will be classified as a “hate criminal.” They say that you’re a terrorist if you talk about a New World Order. Well, there definitely are some government terrorists that talk about a New World order, like former President George Bush, for example.

“It is a big idea, a new world order. Out of these troubled times, our fifth objective: a new world order can emerge. . . . Now we can see a new world coming into view, a world in which there is the very real prospect of a new world order.”

—President George Bush, September 11, 1991

“The president, George Bush, has talked time and time again about a new world order, and this is the best chance to begin to establish the new world order.”

—Dan Quayle, on CNN

One of my listeners in Missouri, a patriotic firefighter, sent us footage of a FEMA commando demonizing the Founding Fathers and Christians to a group of police and firefighters in a classroom setting. Here's the transcript:

“Think about the Christians, okay. Do you accept Jesus Christ as your Lord and Savior? No. What did they do? They took your head off. They beheaded you if you didn't accept Jesus Christ as your Lord and Savior. See, this is reality. Yeah, they're terrorists. But the bottom line is, to them they are not. Now why is that important to understand? Because they are as committed to their cause and to their way of life as you are to yours. And they see you as being wrong. That is very difficult. When people are passionate about what they believe in, they become a very difficult enemy to beat. Who was the first terrorist organization in the United States? The Founding Fathers. Thomas Jefferson. George Washington. Paul Revere. These guys right here, did they try to scare people? They tried to intimidate the British. Did they use acts of violence? Your Founding Fathers, my Founding Fathers, were involved in acts of terrorism against British officials, because they systematically had British officials assassinated. Assassinated. . . . George Washington —Mr. Honest who cut down a cherry tree and admitted it—is the same guy who signed death orders, if you will, on members of the British government, the British crown, who they wanted to eliminate because politically they influence in certain pockets of the United States—at that time the thirteen colonies—and they wanted to divide and conquer. . . .

“They may kill a whole lot of civilians. And I'm going to be honest with you. If they kill ten thousand civilians tomorrow with a biological agent, that's too bad for them.”

Talk about demonization. If anyone is going to kill civilians, it's the Feds. They're the ones who have a track record of slaughtering innocent Americans. All the evidence shows that the globalists are the killers and that they are responsible for the deaths of three thousand at the World Trade Center and Pentagon.

The USA Patriot Act – No Sunset Clause

Bush signed the U.S.A. Patriot Act, which eviscerated the U.S. Constitution and Bill of Rights. Section 213 delays warrants. It means they can sneak in your house for any reason, take whatever they want, and never even tell you they were there. You're thinking, "Oh, that's okay. There's a sunset clause." The media said that HR 3162 ends in 2005. Well, if you look at that subsection, all of the key areas that violate your Constitutional rights contain no sunset provisions, meaning that these laws never expire (U.S.A Patriot Act, Sunset Provision, Section 224).

Out of one thousand sixteen sections, Section 802 has to be the most frightening. You see, this defines a domestic terrorist as anyone who is involved in "acts dangerous to human life that are a violation of the criminal laws of the United States or of any State." Under their definition, even those committing misdemeanor crimes, like two high school football players getting in a fistfight at a party are engaging in terrorist activities. This is an absolute outrage. In truth, the people who passed this legislation are the real terrorists. They are the real criminals and have engaged in sedition against our Constitutional Republic.

Congressman Ron Paul said that none of the Congress was allowed to even read the bill, and that they were threatened by the White House with charges of anti-patriotism if they didn't sign it. He said the Founding Fathers revolted over much lighter forms of tyranny.

"Unfortunately, we may not always be able to tell you why that agent or agents are knocking on your door. . . . Is there a chance that some of your civil liberties may slip while we guarantee the security of this country? Maybe. Maybe."

—Stephen Steinhauser, FBI agent on PBS' Lehrer Newshour

Conditioning and Preparation for Total Takeover

Slimeball FBI agents like Stephen Steinhauser gave speeches all over the country in huge meeting halls, telling people they have to give up their liberty for security. Now we are seeing urban warfare teams pop up in major cities and small towns alike. They would like you to believe that this is some new phenomenon that has emerged since September 11. I'm about to present the evidence that this has been going on over the past decade here in the United States, and to show you how they have been training the cadres of officers to go out and train the mass of troops for a total militarized takeover of the United States of America in the name of protecting the population from enemy terrorists.

In truth, the military has been training to attack the American population for some time, through "Urban Warfare Training Exercises." Back in 1999, Texas got hit by six black helicopter raids. During the first military occupation drill, the Kingsville police station was set ablaze by US Army commandos. Military checkpoints were instituted across the state, and mayors were forced to throw the invading armies out of their cities in response to public outrage.

Police chiefs went public about these bizarre military takeovers of American cities. These exercises were carried out not only by Army Special Operations from Fort Bragg, but included foreign troops. Czechoslovakian troops, on American soil, were terrorizing the public, running around firing automatic weapons. The operations were to condition the public, and to acclimatize them to accept the military—with foreign troops—working with our local police (Corpus Christie Caller Times, February 13, 1999, "Operation Last Dance: Army exercises in South Texas"; WorldNetDaily, February 17, 1999 "Army admits live ammo used"; WorldNetDaily, February 15, 1999, "Fear and Loathing in Kingsville, Texas"; Austin-American Statesman, April 17, 1999, "Invasion, South Texas: Army exercises make black helicopters the talk of town").

In my video, Police State 2000, I shot footage of Delta Force troops—U.S. Special Forces with Czechoslovakian commandos—running around in downtown Kingsville, Texas, setting fire to local structures. Years before, Army Special Operations were released on the civilian population. The controlled media put out hundreds of reports stating that the hallmark of a delusional “kook” was their obsession with “imaginary” black helicopters. Then, in the mid 1990’s, when the militarization exercises began in American towns and cities, the public had been pre-conditioned not to speak out against the takeover, because only “delusional freaks” talked about such things.

“Looking out your window and seeing unmarked helicopters with troops, and ninjas in black suits with assault rifles. Its kind of spooky.”

—Tomas Sanchez, Kingsville Emergency Manager

Urban Warfare Training practices exist to train the public, the police, and the military to believe that all of these militarized police actions against the population are acceptable. Read this quote from the mayor of Port Aransas, Texas. He was quite upset.

“Nobody wants to get in their business, but we ought to be able to answer questions. Especially when they are flying at dangerously low levels and alarming the citizenry.”

The chief of police of San Antonio refused for two years to let Delta Force take over the city. When he refused, they just did it anyway. They don’t care about local authorities.

Transcript with Al Philipius, police chief of San Antonio from my video, Police State 2000:

Police Chief: They approached me to get me to change my mind. Well, then, when we said no, then some elected officials were contacted to bring pressure to bear. And then offers were made to give money, cash money, to elected officials' charities if they could get us to change our minds. As one of my deputy chiefs said, in some circles that's called bribery. They wanted to carry out operations. I'm still getting contacted by various officials. I mean, they never would take no for an answer.

Alex Jones: So they were not respecting your jurisdiction?

Police Chief: They were not respecting our jurisdiction. I don't think they respected our decision not to go into predominately minority areas of the city where we had vacant warehouses and buildings and try to do those types of exercises at those locations in the middle of the night.

Alex Jones: What type of exercises? Oh, I'm sorry. In the middle of the night?

Police Chief: In the middle of the night. Sometime between nine p.m. and midnight. I mean, people become frightened. We drew a lot of our decision-making on experiences that had happened in a lot of other cities. We were very concerned some things that had happened over there. We didn't get any real good, clear answers.

Alex Jones: So they were being secretive about it?

Police Chief: Very secretive.

Carlos Lerma, the City Manager of Kingsville, Texas who was interviewed on February 9, 1999 stated the following:

Alex Jones: We're just curious about Army Special Operations from Fort Bragg coming here—Delta Force. And we'd like just basically to ask some questions about, was the public informed beforehand? Are you aware of the Tenth Amendment and Posse Comitatus, and things like that?

Official: I'm probably not aware of the Tenth Amendment, but I made the decision not to inform the public.

He made the decision not to warn the public, the emergency managers, or the police when eight black helicopters slammed into the town. Here is the chief of police in Alice, Texas, Jack Compton, admitting foreign troops.

Interviewer: The government is training other so-called friendly countries?

Jack Compton: They are training friendly countries, and I'm not at liberty to give you their names. But I know that they are.

Interviewer: They were there in Alice a couple of weeks ago?

Jack Compton: Yeah.

What a startling revelation for a small-town police chief: the foreign troops were there. He went on to tell our cameras that locals were told that they would be arrested if they left their homes during the five hour operation. He said that the population, if allowed to watch the training, might learn their tactics. In other words, it's okay to let the Czechoslovakian troops know Army Special Operations' tactics, but not the American people. It is clear, in their eyes we are the enemy. We pay the bills, we built this country, but now we are captive slaves of this government. If they get our guns, it's all over.

In footage we have from Fort Hood, Texas, the BATF—the gun confiscators—train with the Green Berets for an assault on the Waco compound, the wooden church full of men, women, and children. Violating every canon of a free society, the military with the state police and the BATF assaulted the Branch Davidians. And then, of course, on April 19 they actually burned the structure down, full of men, women, and children. The training and the assaults on the population having been going on for over a decade here in the United States. The death toll is climbing.

What's happened to our Special Forces? What type of cowards have they been twisted into that they go out and attack American citizens, wooden churches full of men, women, and children, and then slough it off as, "Oh, well, they're just a bunch of cult members"? Whatever happened to live and let live? And whatever happened to the federal law barring troops from assaulting civilians? Whatever happened to the 1878 law, Posse Comitatus, which forbids Federal troops to engage in law enforcement activities inside the United States (specifically checkpoints and search-and-seizure)?

From the film, Police State 2000

Alex Jones (reporting from a hilltop overlooking military operations in urban terrain):

"I'm in northern California, in Oakland, where Marines have come in for Operation Urban Warrior, which should be deemed Operation Desensitization of the Population. They have role players. They have fake camps set up. You name it. We're going to take you in and show you what is happening."

Military loudspeaker (surrounded by role-players dressed as Americans begging not to be interned in a concentration camp):

"Attention. Attention. Attention. American forces are here to help. Please remain calm. We will not tolerate civil disobedience."

Note: I've made two documentary films on the police state and have been to many of these military training operations where they hire hundreds of role players to beg and scream, "We're Americans. Please don't put us in camps. Don't take our guns."

The loudspeakers blare as women and children are led handcuffed to the interrogation center of the camp:

“Attention. Attention. Attention. Due to the large number of people arriving, you will experience a short delay. Please remain calm and cooperate so that we can process you into the camp faster.”

A young marine officer discusses urban pacification techniques:

“That’s a hostile act. The technology they are working on makes you nauseous. In the past, in a situation like that she might have been shot. In the future, we want to give our Marines a non-lethal option where they can say, ‘No, she is not armed, maybe threatening, but I don’t want to kill her,’ or him, or them. Use your soundwave rifle, I guess you could call it, and down they go.”

Suddenly the young marine officer stopped rambling about non-lethal weapons.

He directed the tour’s attention to see a man on his knees with a gun to the back of his head, and stated:

“Now you’re going to see an execution.”

“Now you’re going to see an execution”? This terrifying un-American statement is documented on videotape in my film, Police State 2000. If you find this hard to believe, examine this statement that was made by Army Private Matt Guckenheimer, who recently returned home from the undeclared war in Afghanistan.

He told the his hometown paper, the Ithaca Journal on May 25, 2002, in an article titled, "Memories of War":

"We were told there were no friendly forces. If there was anybody there, they were the enemy. We were told specifically that if there were women and children to kill them."

At least, during Operation Urban Warrior in 1999 in Oakland, the people weren't buying the Police State propaganda. Here's an interview conducted with a man on the street.

Man on street: Well, I think terrorism is being practiced on the residents of the city of Oakland, because many of the retired teachers, retired military people, have informed me that they understand what is going on, and it is not anything that relates to humanitarian training whatsoever. This is psychological, as we in the research community say, this is a psy-ops. They are preparing people for what is coming, not for what is being presented today.

Alex Jones: So you're saying they are preparing people to accept it with incrementalism?

Man on street: That's is correct, like the old frog example. You know, you put the frog in the water and you just gradually continue to raise the heat on the water until the frog is cooked. And that's the way it works.

Of course, that was California in 1999. By 2000, they were actually arresting people in Swansboro, North Carolina (WorldNetDaily, April 14, 2000, "Marines on Main Street: warfare training, car searches scare some residents, thrill others"). The Pentagon called these activities "training," "patrolling." Their operations entailed taking over the City Council buildings, running checkpoints, searching people's cars, taking them to jail for minor infractions, and confiscating firearms. The attitude in the local newspaper was something like, "Oh, wow, the Marines are out on the roads just helping us, because the government said it wasn't a question of if, but when the next terrorist attack was coming and we are going to have to give up our liberties for security." Remember what the FBI agent said: "Are you going to have to give up your rights? Maybe... Maybe..."

Preparing the cadres. Searching people's cars. Taking people to jail. Is this Russia? Is this Mexico? No, this is the new America.

We showed you what was happening in Oakland in 1999, and Swansboro in 2000. In 1998 in Hebron, Maryland, the military was publicly training children to go and find out where the gun owners lived (The Daily Times, September 4, 1998, "Hebron at ease under 'siege'"). We interviewed the commander of the Marines and he admitted they were doing house-to-house searches with volunteers for weapons sweeps. When we talked to Marines on the ground, they admitted this was for a domestic takeover, to fight domestic insurgents.

How do you feel about the military patrolling America? Taking over the City Council? Taking over the Town Hall? Working with the local police? Wide-awake Americans realize that this is all part of a process to integrate the public into the new homeland security police state.

The Army teams descending on America's cities have an obsession with the youth. They coordinated large gangs of young children to rove around day and night on their bicycles, reporting intelligence about citizens in Hebron, Maryland to Marine Corps officers in plain clothes. There were also hundreds of active duty military marching around in plain clothes directing the civilian police.

They want to terrorize you into believing that America needs a secret police, otherwise al-Qaeda “will get us.” This system that is being created is diametrically opposed to everything our veterans have fought and died to preserve.

Through think tanks and psychological warfare programs, social architects have created a program of incrementalism in the last decade that has brought us to this point in America. Since September 11 they have their pretext, their excuse, to roll the troops out en masse. They’ve announced this rollout in the Washington Post on November 21, 2001. The headline reported that the United States Army plans to deploy 365,000-plus troops to patrol our highways. This will be the new American way of life under NORTHCOM.

Imagine Marines in your backyard, in your front yard, or walking down your streets in the middle of the night. Well, you’re a patriot, aren’t you? I certainly am, but this is a deadly, dangerous precedent that is being set. They are brainwashing our military.

In my film, Police State 2000, we have footage of Marines backed up by local police ordering a man with a camera to stop filming and to turn his camera off. There are two questions here: 1. What is it that they have to hide? 2. Why are Marines engaging in law enforcement activities that violate the First Amendment?

An article from Reuters, February 16, 2002, was headlined “Marines to Practice Urban War in Real City.” This article details how Marines are occupying multiple cities in the continental United States, and that they are engaging in strategic deception against the population. Jenny Holbert, the Marine Corps war fighting spokesperson, told the public, “Oh, this is the first time we’ve done something like this. It’s very unusual. We’ve never been in an American city. We’ve never done urban warfare training in an American city before.” The above statement is an out and out lie counting on the ignorance of the reporter. As of the writing of this book, the Marine Corps website states that they’ve conducted 144 such “training” missions. Our film crews have been to eight of them.

The Army War College called for foreign troops to occupy the United States back in 1999. Now George W. Bush has actually done it. A headline from the CBC on October 30, 2001 read, “Military Favors a Homeland Command: U.S. bill calls for continental security perimeter.” They want hundreds of thousands of foreign U.N. troops on our streets. And the shadow government wants 365,000-plus U.S. troops to “patrol the U.S.” (to patrol our highways, our neighborhoods, our communities in total violation of Posse Comitatus). The globalists are announcing publicly that they are actually scrapping the law that prohibits Federal troops from policing civilians (AP, November 24, 2001, “1878 Military Law Gets New Attention”). Not that it even matters. They have already turned our local police into para-military organizations.

In February of 2002, two Special Forces trainees were killed by a sheriff’s deputy. You ask why? They were trying to disarm him (Ashville Tribune, February 25, 2002, “Soldier killing ‘tragic’ error”). They were trying to take over local law enforcement. This is the new type of training our military are being given—to overthrow the civilian government, the elected government right here in the United States. Shockingly enough, there are actually two cases of this type of takeover that took place in the same week in North Carolina, where the military were being trained to go up against the local police to takeover town halls.

Every day in America, militarized SWAT teams kill innocent people. Seldom are they held accountable. More often, they kill their own officers, and still they are not charged. What’s happening in America? How did they become so militarized? We interviewed a former Marine Corps officer who, in 1989, while he was in the Marine Corps, was serving search warrants on American citizens’ homes and businesses. Here’s a transcript of that interview from my film 911: The Road to Tyranny:

Alex Jones: Just start at the beginning for us—how you first got started in the military, and some of the things you did, and later in life, some of the questions that you started raising yourself after you had ended your tour with the Marine Corps and become a police officer.

MC Officer: I started out and I joined the Marines. I tested real high in the HAZVAB, which is the Armed Forces Vocational Aptitude Battery. Did real well in that, and was a MP 1500 Military Police. From that I was sent over to various duty stations. I began to have an interest in civilian law enforcement, so I was able to take part in joint military police and civilian police exercises.

Alex Jones: We've seen military training all across the country—the black helicopters, the Special Forces, in cities. And it seems like it has been ratcheted up in the last five years from just basic training to actual live fire in city streets. What type of relationship did you have with law enforcement when you were in the Marine Corps?

MC Officer: Very cohesive, a lot of interaction. In 1988 and 1989, I helped assist in three search warrants; a lot of entry team operations, giving civilian law enforcement advice and critiquing how they're doing on raids, such as crack houses or supposed terrorist organizations, as far as multiple entry points of a home whether it be through the roof, the windows, the front door, or a combination of all at the same time.

Alex Jones: So, you were actively, as a member of the United States Marine Corps active duty, out with civilian law enforcement serving search warrants to homes?

MC Officer: That's correct. They weren't missions; they were called exercises. But it was actual, with real what we call combatants. It was live. It was the real deal, helping execute search warrants. Late '80s. I've actually been on point with an MP5 (German fully-automatic rifle).

And I was not in a police uniform; I had a police flak vest on and a police jacket, and black BDUs.

Alex Jones: These were obviously drug dealers?

MC Officer: One. Maybe.

Alex Jones: What were the other raids concerning?

MC Officer: One was a pawn shop owner, and the other was working jointly with the ATF.

Alex Jones: As a member of the Marine Corps, you are telling us you raided a civilian business with the BATF going after guns.

MC Officer: It was the business owner's home.

Alex Jones: Oh, the business owner's home.

MC Officer: The homes were civilian homes—some upper middle-class to white-collar homes. One was a warehouse facility.

Alex Jones: Later on in life, out of the Marine Corps, you got into law enforcement. Is that when you started asking questions once you learned more about the civilian roles?

MC Officer: Toward my end in law enforcement, when I started getting discouraged with it, yes. That's when I started questioning. But when you're younger, you're trying to achieve, and you've got all the fancy jewelry on and all the badges, and the cars with all the decals and lights, and you know. You get disillusioned by a lot of different things once reality hits, and just by the way law enforcement has changed . . . and it is changing a lot.

Alex Jones: How has it changed?

MC Officer: How people perceive law enforcement as more of an occupying army than somebody that is there to be part of that community and help that community. Like I said before in a prior interview, before people knew the law enforcement officer that patrolled their neighborhood or could go down to the city police department and ask for help. Where now, it's more that you are making trouble for yourself by going to report a crime, or just the perception that people have of law enforcement now. Don't get me wrong, there's some great cops out there, some of the best, and they're still there doing the job well. But for the most part, it's treated like an occupying army. You're seeing a lot more of the training, putting distance between yourself and the people you're trying to protect.

- END TRANSCRIPT -

Note: The Marine we interviewed came forward because of an outrageous Army checkpoint that he witnessed blocking northbound traffic of I-35 just south of Austin, Texas. They were searching cars for drugs.

These are the new rules of engagement. It's an us-against-them mentality. Peace officers should be defenders of the people, the kind of local leaders you bring a hot cup of coffee, a slice of pie. In the old days they would help you get the cat out of the tree. That was before they became militarized and then merged with the military. That was before they started patrolling our streets and running our country. That was before the Second Amendment was under attack and almost destroyed. That was before the government started shipping in the heroin and the cocaine to create societal crises for their means.

Now what do we have? Black helicopter raids in late 2001 on St. Louis (WorldNetDaily, December 7, 2001, "Helicopter Assault' Startles East St. Louis"). We have the Army document they gave us back in 1999 on the side of the highway at a military checkpoint, which says, “Give us a call, local police departments. We’ll serve search warrants on your citizens’ homes.” [Insert Graphic: 11_DOA.doc]

Our cameraman confronted members of the Temple, Texas Police Department who were aiding regular Army units in the search of vehicles at a checkpoint blocking an access road off I-35 north of Austin. When the police were asked why they were searching civilians’ cars, Lieutenant Best of the Temple Police Department told our cameraman to turn his camera off. When he refused, a plainclothes BATF agent walked up and gave our man a five-page document which can be viewed at infowars.com.

The document states that police in 77 Texas counties should call Fort Hood if they need assistance in any matter. In May of 2000, we were in the town of Belton, directly adjoining Temple, Texas, and ran into the same Army units conducting a mock terrorist attack.

The following is an excerpt from an announcement given to the press by the Mayor of Belton, TX only 300 feet from burning cars, troops and helicopters. This announcement can be seen in my film, 911: The Road to Tyranny:

“On Saturday, May 12, at approximately 8:50, an explosive device went off in the Bell County Annex, in the 500 block of East Second Street in Belton. The Belton Police Department responded to that, as well as the Belton Fire Department and the Belton EMS. The Belton Police Department is currently investigating the cause of the explosion. The explosion took place on the east end of the building causing several casualties and injuries. The police department has secured the scene and requested assistance from the Ft. Hood [Delta Team].”

They made it sound real. The entire spectacle of this Belton, Texas “exercise” was staged in the great tradition of Orson Well’s War of the Worlds broadcast. They told the public it was really happening, conditioning them to accept this merging of the military and the police in the name of public safety.

One officer, on camera, asked me, “Were you at this scene in Temple?” When told it was my cameraman who was there he said, “So, he put me on the Internet.” We told him, no we didn’t put him on the Internet, we put him on television, and asked if he had a problem with that. He said, “Yes, I do, because there were pictures on the Internet, and someone put them on there without my permission.” We had to explain to him that he was a public servant, and that permission was not required.

The scary part was that just for asking questions, the military and police were angry at us. We were “bad” citizens for not mindlessly going along with their manufactured hysteria operation.

In a live broadcast, Erin Fletcher for KVUE News reported at another staged event in Austin, Texas in 2000 from the scene of the Texas State Police headquarters:

“Twenty DPS workers have gone on ambulances to area hospitals. Some of them have been treated and released now. The rest are in stable condition. EMS tells us another five drove themselves to area hospitals and that they checked out about one hundred sixty-one people here on the scene.”

After witnessing multiple psychological warfare operations concerning the fake attacks, I got in my car and drove to the scene of the State Police headquarters hoax. As Erin Fletcher was reporting live from on-scene on the local NBC affiliate, KVUE, I walked right up behind her with a bullhorn, live on television and began screaming, “stage-managed event – it’s absolutely fake, it’s absolutely fake! This is a psychological warfare operation against you!” Consequently, this was the last fake attack conducted by the Federal government with the local police department in Austin, Texas.

Unfortunately, these psychological operations continue around the country.

In 2000 alone, in Austin, Texas, there were eight separate fake biological warfare attacks. They even had a fake nuclear spill, shut down I-35 and called out the National Guard. A couple of weeks later, the Feds quietly announced, “Oh, it was just a drill,” but you should have seen the psychosomatic response of the people. Suddenly, the hospitals were jammed-packed. The population was buying their lies.

We all thought this couldn't happen here, that only in Russia or Nazi Germany could governments get away with so many terrorist actions. We have all been incrementally trained to accept these Unconstitutional actions. Now we have to learn to say no and get in the face of this disgusting tyranny. We have dignity. We're human beings. We cannot allow government to continue its gross violations of the Bill of Rights and the Constitution.

Torture and the Government

Did you ever think you would see our government talk about torture or lauding the virtues of torturing prisoners? Well, now it is actually being reported in dozens of publications (Washington Post, October 22, 2001, “FBI considers torture as suspects stay silent”; London Guardian, March 12, 2002 “US Sends Suspects to Face Torture”). Of course, if you're not for torture, you're with Al-Qaeda.

Even phony liberals like Alan Dershowitz have been publicly promoting torture, telling us it is time for us to reassess our laws to accept it . . . for the terrorists, of course. Remember, the evidence shows that the Federal Government is training local police that the most conservative and law-abiding people are terrorists. In a New York Times article discussing the use of torture on civilians they talk about using cattle prods and rubber hoses on the American people. And who is going to do the torturing? FEMA—the Ministry of Love.

Concentration Camps

For years, we warned people about FEMA (Federal Emergency Management Agency). The federal documents have been around for decades and include round-up plans and concentration camps. People used to laugh at us when we said this in December of 1999. Then came Seattle. FEMA housed and protected government-placed “anarchist” provocateurs, but put five hundred peaceful demonstrators in a FEMA camp on the outskirts of town. FEMA used the old Sand Point naval brig to detain hundreds of American citizens.

Of course you don’t have to travel to Seattle to find internment facilities. We woke up one morning in Austin, Texas, and found a FEMA camp in our own backyard. The Federal Government paid Travis County to convert part of the old airport into an emergency management center. The following is an excerpt from my film, Police State II: The Takeover.

I asked a Security Guard at the front gate of the decommissioned Robert Mueller airport about the FOX report that they had taken a 747 hanger and converted it into a holding facility for the citizens of Austin in case of a civil emergency. He stated:

“Travis County came out with inmates and they cleaned it all up, swept it, pulled weeds, and then they got inside and reinforced the doors and stuff with bars.”

They announced it on the news; they threw it in our face. The U.S. Army and FEMA were operating out of an old 747 hangar. There are bolts and chains in the floor, port-a-poties, thousands of cots and armored vehicles. The local FOX affiliate (KTND) was given a tour and the County and City admitted that it is an overflow facility in case of a civil disturbance.

Emergency Health Powers Act

Long before the September 11 attack, they were lovingly preparing to take good care of us. After the attack, the Washington Times, in an article entitled, “Wartime presidential powers supersede liberties” reported George W. Bush enacted five hundred dormant legal clauses and provisions, allowing censorship, martial law, and forced round-ups. There is also the Emergency Health Powers Act which allows the government to force entire towns into sports stadiums or aircraft hangers and authorizes troops to “shoot a grandmother” if ordered to do so (Detroit Free Press Washington, November 7, 2001, “Vast quarantine role advocated for states”).

Concerning the passage of the Model States Emergency Health Powers Act(MSEHPA) by many of the states, Joseph Farah, Director of the Western Journalism Center, wrote in a report for WorldNetDaily (June 21, 2002, “Fascism at the Door”) that MSEHPA is a “nightmarish, Orwellian federal-state power grab.” Reporting on the text of the legislation, Farah writes, “It authorizes the "control of property" – a nice term for confiscation of everything, including – but not limited to – your house, your car, your guns, your food, your clothing and your fuel. It authorizes the management of people – meaning forced vaccinations, incarceration and restrictions on transportation. It also authorizes the government to seize control of communications.”

Most of the fifty states are passing the Model States Emergency Health Powers Act as we write this book. It is an Adolph Hitler wish list that is quickly manifesting itself at every level of government.

The plans talk about how to deal with the millions of dead bodies; how they are going to round us up; how they are going to herd us into compact cities (November 7, 2001 Detroit Free Press quotes the Federal head of MSEHPA detailing how they plan to use sport stadiums as detention camps); and how to use slave labor at the different federal camps, which they have already been doing since 1989 at twelve different Army bases – see the Army Civilian Inmate Labor Program.

Army Civilian Inmate Labor Program

The Civilian Inmate Labor Program was conducted in secret at US military bases from 1989 to 1996. This nightmare program was recently declassified. If Civilian Inmate Labor Programs are so wonderful, why did the Army keep them secret for over seven years? There are thousands of pages of documents on the Army's website detailing the massive scope of this program, much of which is still secret. Many of the documents are contradictory. For example, on the same page it will say that the Army is not allowed to house and use State inmate labor, and, in the next paragraph will say that they have been housing and using State inmate labor.

[Note to publisher: please insert inmate.htm file as one page in book with black border and the captions "Public Document from the US Army's Website]

You see, there are a lot of things going on in the country that Sally Soccer Mom and Joe Six Pack have been kept in the dark about. Globalists have been busy building FEMA camps and getting you ready to submit to their tyranny in the name of safety. There are bills like H.R. 2977 where they talk about different mind control systems they have developed using different ultra-low frequency mind control devices that can make you become sick, or even kill you.

H.R. 2977

From H.R. 2977 (A bill, that on the surface restricts mind-control weapons, but in reality actually authorizes their use):

107th CONGRESS

1st Session

H. R. 2977

Mr. KUCINICH introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on Science, and in addition to the Committees on Armed Services, and International Relations, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the `Space Preservation Act of 2001'.

SEC. 6. NON SPACE-BASED WEAPONS ACTIVITIES.

Nothing in this Act may be construed as prohibiting the use of funds for--

- (1) space exploration;
- (2) space research and development;
- (3) testing, manufacturing, or production that is not related to space-based weapons or systems; or
- (4) civil, commercial, or defense activities (including communications, navigation, surveillance, reconnaissance, early warning, or remote sensing) that are not related to space-based weapons or systems.

SEC. 7. DEFINITIONS.

In this Act:

- (1) The term `space' means all space extending upward from an altitude greater than 60 kilometers above the surface of the earth and any celestial body in such space.
- (2)(A) The terms `weapon' and `weapons system' mean a device capable of any of the following:
 - (i) Damaging or destroying an object (whether in outer space, in the atmosphere, or on earth) by--
 - (I) firing one or more projectiles to collide with that object;
 - (II) detonating one or more explosive devices in close proximity to that object;
 - (III) directing a source of energy (including molecular or atomic energy, subatomic particle beams, electromagnetic radiation, plasma, or extremely low frequency (ELF) or ultra low frequency (ULF) energy radiation) against that object; or

(IV) any other unacknowledged or as yet undeveloped means.

(ii) Inflicting death or injury on, or damaging or destroying, a person (or the biological life, bodily health, mental health, or physical and economic well-being of a person)--

(I) through the use of any of the means described in clause (i) or subparagraph (B);

(II) through the use of land-based, sea-based, or space-based systems using radiation, electromagnetic, psychotronic, sonic, laser, or other energies directed at individual persons or targeted populations for the purpose of information war, mood management, or mind control of such persons or populations; or

(III) by expelling chemical or biological agents in the vicinity of a person.

(B) Such terms include exotic weapons systems such as--

(i) electronic, psychotronic, or information weapons;

(ii) chemtrails;

(iii) high altitude ultra low frequency weapons systems;

(iv) plasma, electromagnetic, sonic, or ultrasonic weapons;

(v) laser weapons systems;

(vi) strategic, theater, tactical, or extraterrestrial weapons; and

(vii) chemical, biological, environmental, climate, or tectonic weapons.

(C) The term 'exotic weapons systems' includes weapons designed to damage space or natural ecosystems (such as the ionosphere and upper atmosphere) or climate, weather, and tectonic systems with the purpose of inducing damage or destruction upon a target population or region on earth or in space.

H.R. 2977 is an actual federal document, an actual bill, admitting that they are spraying chemical and biological weapons on us through the use of something called chemical trails that they are adding to jet fuel, especially in military aircraft.

Undetectable Police State Weaponry

And then, if you go to law enforcement catalogs like Shomer-Tec, one of the biggest law enforcement and military catalogs in the world, there are devices for sale like the Super-Sonic Nausea System. The police brag that they have been using this contraption for years to manipulate and stop activists from speaking at political rallies by inducing nausea at a distance. The device can make a whole crowd get sick without their being able to hear it or to determine the source of the nausea-inducing wave.

Low-frequency weapons testing has been cited as a possible source of the mysterious Kokomo, Indiana hum. ABC News reported on the Kokomo Hum, where an entire town of people became ill from an ultra-low frequency attack on a mass scale (ABC News, February 13, 2002 “The Kokomo Hum: Reports of Mysterious Noise and Illness in Indiana).

Indoctrination of Our Children

Throughout history, empires have understood the importance of winning the hearts and minds of the people. In recent years in the United States we have seen an explosion of police state indoctrination focusing on the youth – the old notion of “get ‘em while they’re young.” Whether it’s Nazi Germany, or the New Homeland Security Agency, the youth are always a centerpiece of any secret police tattletale society.

Now let’s see how they are indoctrinating our children. The following is an excerpt from a 3-minute commercial that the City of Austin airs daily on Travis County Television Channel 17. We have received reports confirming identical programs nationwide.

Television Ad:

Police Officer to children in classroom setting:

“You can give information without having to give your name.”

“You guys have all the information that I need.”

“You guys can get paid for good tips, anywhere from up to $200. If you’ll sign this card, you’ll get one of these membership cards.”

They then show a close-up of the card and it reads, “report weapons...” We have confirmed from the actual teaching materials that children as young as seven are paid to report the types of firearms their parents own. They are also encouraged to keep an eye on their neighbors.

The public service announcement continues with one of the children involved in this program stating:

“Now I have the responsibility for taking care of my school and making sure no kinds of crimes are going on during school, or drug dealers are dealing drugs, or nobody gets hurt.”

By foisting this East German-style program on our children, the government gets millions of young people into the police state system. Police condition them to be members of the secret police. The very fabric of America is destroyed as children are paid two hundred dollars every time they turn someone in, including members of their family.

It is incredibly painful to see how far America has slipped. They’re are dozens of different names for these programs, but they’re all the same: WAVE, SAVE, DARE. This has nothing to do with drugs; the government ships the drugs in. That’s public knowledge. It’s about creating a whole generation of government snitches, of secret police, like the Soviet youth league. They give the children discount credit cards, toys, CD players, and sometimes thousands of dollars for turning their parents in for “owning firearms.” I’ve seen the handbooks, and we show you detailed close-ups in my film, 911: The Road to Tyranny.

You have a Second Amendment right to keep and bear arms, and of course, firearms aren’t illegal. Still, the globalists have told us that they will be banned and they’re preparing the next generation to accept this horrible system.

The head of the Violence Policy Center, a leading anti-Second Amendment think-tank, told the Austin-American Statesman in its March 25, 2001 edition that, despite the fact that there are 100 million gun owners in America, firearms will be banned because they are, “educating children about guns in the schools,” so that when these children are adults they will ban guns. This is an amazingly arrogant comment. The social engineers know that the average child’s parents have abdicated their responsibility to be involved in their child’s moral development, and that the legions of control-freak change agents now have total control through the schools and television.

They are also training your children to be prisoners. Children use ID cards, and, in hundreds of school districts, thumb-scans to buy their lunches.

Drills at Schools

Across the country, SWAT teams are putting the finishing touches on our new prison-style schools, by conditioning our kids with “mock-terrorist/school shooting attacks.” SWAT teams’ so-called anti-terror drills at schools are really just conditioning exercises that are part of Federally-funded FEMA programs to condition the children that it’s completely normal to have men dressed up like executioners screaming at them, taking over their schools without warrants, and ordering them, with their hands behind their heads, onto busses where they are taken to undisclosed locations.

Manipulated by the propaganda organs of the mainstream media, many frightened Americans may be thinking: “Hey, we all saw what happened at Columbine. We’ve got to protect our children. We've got to put fences up. We've got to turn them into prisons. We've got to have them searched without warrants.”

It has now come out in court documents that SWAT team members were caught on tape admitting they actually shot the children at Columbine. It has been confirmed that at least six of the thirteen were killed by the SWAT teams (AP, December 7, 2001, “Columbine Student Killed by Cop”; AP, December 8, 2001 “Rohrbough: Ballistics show police killed Daniel”).

In terrorist drills, sadistic predators across the nation get to enjoy abusing and traumatizing children as young as six years of age. Men in black uniforms yell and scream and throw profanities at them (that we won't print here) as they beg and cry and plead. They are then loaded on buses and taken to a local jail where they are dragged around like filth and treated like criminals. A whole generation is learning how to be slaves, learning how to bow down and beg and to put their hands behind their heads when the “ring wraiths,” the “dark lords” appear.

The controlled news media claims that there is an epidemic of school violence. The fact is that more Americans die in football accidents in public schools than from gun shot wounds. Fifty-four children died in the year 2000 in high school football accidents. Fifty-two died in school shootings (source: Department of Justice).

And many of these children died at the hands of SWAT teams. SWAT teams are notoriously trigger-happy and frequently shoot their own officers. Take Fort Worth, Texas, where the “Cop of the Year” was shot in the head by one of his comrades at a SWAT team drill at a school. In Detroit, they shot a kid in the face in one of these so-called drills.

Conditioning Through Media and Cartoons

Children are under especially heavy police state conditioning bombardment through cartoons. One cartoon, featuring the character Buzz Lightyear recently ran an episode where a delivery was being made to the superhero's home by a futuristic mailman. In this cartoon, the deliveryman used not only a retinal scan but also DNA to verify the identity of the recipient. If we were to show you all the evidence in children's cartoons and media of face scanning, thumb scanning, national ID cards, and the overall police state, this book would be five hundred pages long. Let's just look at the facts.

Biometrics and the Cashless Society

Washington, D.C., has already implemented a card—which is held with the CIA and the National Security Agency—for all children. It contains all kinds of biometric information -- face scans, thumb prints, you name it (Washington Post, August 15, 2001, "DC Plans ID Card for Students"). If the children want their school lunches, they have to thumb scan to get them. No thumb scan, no food (ABCNews.com, January 10, 2002, "Finger Food"; CBS News, January 24, 2002, "Fingerprints Pay for School Lunch").

All this trains the children for the cashless society and gets them into the database. Think about it. Thumb scanning in government schools to get food. You would expect to read about something like this in Aldous Huxley's Brave New World or George Orwell's 1984, but it's actually happening . . . and it's only the beginning.

It's not just children who are being conditioned. Adults across the land are biometrically scanning to bank. And not just bank— but to get their lunches too, at Kroger and HEB food stores from Texas to New York.

GPS Control Grid

Now the Feds have expanded their tracking control grid by passing a law that all new cell phones, starting in October 2001, have to be satellite trackable so they know exactly where you're at . . . for your safety (www.bn.com, September 16, 1999, "Feds OK Cell Phone Tracking”; CNET News.com, November 10, 2000, “Wireless phone tracking plans raise privacy hackles”). Whatever happened to the Fourth Amendment?

Then there’s OnStar. The federal government is in talks with the states to force everyone to have an OnStar-type tracking system in their car for tracking as well as taxation purposes. Private companies are racing ahead to implement this Big Brother system. Rental car companies are imposing fines of $450 for going one mile over the speed limit (ZDNet News, June 19, 2001, “Car spy pushes privacy limit”), and that’s if you pass the thumb scan to get the rental car (Wired News, November 21, 2001, “No Thumbprint, No Rental Car”).

England, the United States, Canada and Australia have published plans for a unified satellite tracking system to be in all cars by 2005. This system will tax and trace all drivers and turn your car off if you haven’t been a “good globalist.” The Canadian newspaper, The National Post, on June 10, 2002, reported, “Transport Canada wants to make global positioning systems and ignition immobilizers standard issue on new vehicles.” The London Guardian, on February 24, 2002, in an article titled “Drivers Face Road Charge by Satellite,” reported that drivers face charges up to 45 pence (around 65 cents) a mile. Such plans would effectively turn your car into a taxicab for the New World Order. This entire tracking/taxing grid is being set up to be integrated with the world tax on fossil fuels known as the Kyoto Treaty.

We saw all this coming in 1997, when I got arrested protesting that fact that Texas had already implemented mandatory biometric face/thumb scans to get a driver’s license. I led a protest of over 100 concerned citizens at the State driver’s license facility in Austin, Texas, pointing out that the database created by this agency in concert with the Federal government was to be used as a part of a cashless society taxation control-grid. In my case, disorderly conduct charges mysteriously disappeared off the books. The control-freaks didn’t want to create a court case where I could challenge them for violating my God-given rights.

Now here's Dan Rather on CBS Nightly News talking about what they have planned for you and your family in the new police state America:

“Nonviolent offenders don't even have to be behind bars. They can be tracked by Global Positioning Satellite that can spot them down to a few feet. Electronic boundaries like those we impose on pets could be set up for these inmates, and surgically implanted electrodes could even shock them until they return to where they're supposed to be.

Doctor Speaks: ‘One thing we could implant would be a subliminal implant. In other words, basically a message is being typed into the subconscious constantly, “Do the right thing,” “Do what's required of you,” “Be a good citizen,” “Don't disobey the law.”’”

This slug would love to make you do what's required of you and slam you into a super-max prison. Our prison population has jumped to 6.5 million in the last two years. Now they are talking about robots controlling us and implanting the entire population with microchips—or you're for Al-Qaeda.

Microchipping the Population

Before the year 2002, most people would laugh at you if you talked about the government wanting to implant the population with microchips. I remember back in spring of 2000 reading an Army War College report that had been published by the Federation of American Scientists in which the Army discussed not just how to get the average American to accept a microchip under their skin but how to get them to take a brain implant. This document outlined their analysis of the psychological makeup of the average citizen and predicted that by 2025, with the support of media propaganda, everyone would accept a brain chip.

Here's a section from the document:

Ethical and Public Relations Issues. Implanting "things" in people raises ethical and public relations issues. While these concerns may be founded on today's thinking, in 2025 they may not be as alarming. We already are evolving toward technology implanting. For example, the military currently requires its members to receive mandatory injections of biological organisms (i.e., the flu shot). In the civilian world, people receive mechanical hearts and other organs. Society has come to accept most of these implants as a fact of life. By 2025 it is possible medical technology will have nerve chips that allow amputees to control artificial limbs or eye chips that allow the blind to see. The civilian populace will likely accept an implanted microscopic chips that allow military members to defend vital national interests. Further, the US military will continue to be a volunteer force that will freely accept the chip because it is a tool to control technology and not as a tool to control the human.

[Note to Publisher, please insert graphic: microchip with the caption: "Storyboard from Army Document on Implanted Microchips]

Now, the mainstream media is peddling implantable microchips as a cure-all. On "Sixty Minutes," Andy Rooney, in one of his famous commentaries, stated:

"Something has to change, though. They have to find a better way to identify the bad guys, or the rest of us are going to stay home and watch the world go by on television. But we need some system for permanently identifying safe people. Most of us are never going to blow anything up. And there's got to be something better than one of these photo IDs—a tattoo somewhere maybe."

(Note from Alex: weren't prisoners in concentration camps tattooed in Nazi Germany?)

"The Saudis use an American device to scan the eyes of travelers. I wouldn't mind having something planted permanently in my arm that would identify me. If we don't do something, people are going to stop flying. If they stop flying, and I don't go to the Giants games, it means the bastards have won."

We're not going to let you win, Rooney. We read what you just implied. We're with Al-Qaeda if we don't take the microchip.

In a report by Diane Sawyer on "Good Morning America", we learned about a Florida family who were implanted with microchips:

"We have a Florida family who are really pioneers in a brave new world. They have volunteered to be the first ever to have microchip identification devices implanted into their bodies."

Woman: 'After 9/11 I was really concerned with the security of my family...'

Top CFR lieutenant Diane Sawyer, for eight minutes, sat there in a sickening fashion with this poor, pathetic family as they discussed how they were all taking microchips because they believed in America and wanted to stop the terrorists. Ladies and gentlemen, this is something out a science-fiction horror movie. They are taking chips because they stand with the Mother Government. We're all living in a Nazi Germany "Twilight Zone." Now politicians are announcing that they want to get chips (Wired News, February 15, 2002, "Politician Wants to 'Get Chipped'").

This brainwashing is directed at all sectors of the population, and it is everywhere. This is the prison grid, turning the whole world into a cashless, controlled system. I have read the federal documents, the total plan, to force us into these compact cities. You absolutely must resist the thumb scans, the face scans, the retina scans, and the biometric cameras that can recognize you and scan your face against a billion faces in a single second.

Once the cashless society control-grid snaps into place, you won't be able to get anything unless you've been government-approved as not being a thought criminal -- not food, water, a house, or a job. You already heard them say that gun owners, conservatives, Christians, libertarians, and anybody that doesn't go along with global New World Order tyranny will be watched, tracked, and controlled. The New World Order gang has a reason they want to control you, and they're out there bragging about their plans.

Technology – The New World Order's Double-Edged Sword

While they love using technology to control the under-masses, the globalists see technology as a double-edged sword. They see technology as a threat to their monopoly of power, so the New World Order gang, in their twisted reasoning, has decided that they need to tightly control and suppress technological developments, especially the life-extension technologies which they are greedily hoarding. In order to suppress these developments, they must dumb-down and enslave 99.9% of the population and create parallel technological systems, with the suboid servant population totally unaware of the ruling class reality. The delusional, inbred globalists envision themselves as the guardians of humanity, managing our lives as they fly above our compact cities on the way to a technological Mount Olympus.

Bill Joy, cofounder and Chief Scientist of Sun Microsystems, cochair of the presidential commission on the future of IT research, and coauthor of The Java Language wrote the following in the August 04, 2000 issue of Wired Magazine:

“Why the future doesn't need us.

Our most powerful 21st-century technologies - robotics, genetic engineering, and nanotech - are threatening to make humans an endangered species...

... We hear in the news almost every day of some kind of technological or scientific advance. Yet this was no ordinary prediction. In the hotel bar, Ray gave me a partial preprint of his then-forthcoming book The Age of Spiritual Machines, which outlined a utopia he foresaw - one in which humans gained near immortality by becoming one with robotic technology. On reading it, my sense of unease only intensified; I felt sure he had to be understating the dangers, understating the probability of a bad outcome along this path...

... If the elite is ruthless they may simply decide to exterminate the mass of humanity. If they are humane they may use propaganda or other psychological or biological techniques to reduce the birth rate until the mass of humanity becomes extinct, leaving the world to the elite. Or, if the elite consists of soft-hearted liberals, they may decide to play the role of good shepherds to the rest of the human race. They will see to it that everyone's physical needs are satisfied, that all children are raised under psychologically hygienic conditions, that everyone has a wholesome hobby to keep him busy, and that anyone who may become dissatisfied undergoes "treatment" to cure his "problem." Of course, life will be so purposeless that people will have to be biologically or psychologically engineered either to remove their need for the power process or make them "sublimate" their drive for power into some harmless hobby. These engineered human beings may be happy in such a society, but they will most certainly not be free. They will have been reduced to the status of domestic animals...

“Population Control” and The Global Elite

Now the Bilderberg group in Reuters (which they own) has gone public that it actually grooms our presidents and our prime ministers; that, yes, its members really are international bankers; yes, royal families are involved; yes, the bilderberg group runs the central banks; and, yes, the elitists see us as the property of a global superstate (Reuters, May 23, 2001, “Secretive Bilderberg group to Meet in Sweden”). Bilderberg member Prince Philip, in his own publication, If I Were an Animal, brags about how he would kill eighty percent of the population; how his great dream is to come back as a virus.

So you see, these psychos are creating a Matrix-like control system and talking about killing you, from Ted Turner at the U.N. to Prince Philip. They are out of control and on a massive power trip.

Phony Environmentalism

People like Ted Turner and Maurice Strong have been pushing, writing the textbooks for a massive environmental movement control system to steal all of the private property not already in their wicked hands. They are ramming through their agenda using the phony environmental movement. The environmental movement has nothing to do with saving the environment, and everything to do with stealing property and empowering world government. The New World Order gang is promoting their world-wide landgrab as a religious movement. James Coburn, an actor involved in the environmental movement, said: “We’ve lost our way. The earth is a living organism. We’ve got to praise our Mother Goddess.”

UN Takeover and “Population Control”

I produced a documentary video called America Destroyed by Design. We traveled six thousand miles around America and witnessed the horror of the United Nations taking over our national parks and monuments through mechanisms like the World Heritage sites and the Man and the Biosphere programs. Now, under the Desertification Treaty, passed by congress and signed into law on October 18, 2000, seventy percent of the country is under United Nations jurisdiction (source: Congressional Record). Through international treaty congress has given control over most of the 50 states’ land mass to the United Nations. Under the guise of preserving our natural resources, the entire world is being brainwashed through every medium imaginable to relinquish control over private property to the United Nations.

[Note to publisher: INSERT graphic: 13-biodiversity].

The United Nations Convention on Biodiversity, ratified by many nations way back in the 1990s, stated that human beings are nothing more than cattle and must be controlled by a centralized law enforcement police state; that property rights are not absolute; that people are the problem; and that a global tyrannical government is going to have to step in to save the earth. This a prime example of tyrants making excuses for their criminal activities.

The UN Convention on Biodiversity Report then goes on to talk about how we must get rid of eighty-plus percent of the world's population (we're talking about five-plus billion people) or else there won't be enough resources to go around. Talk about a rationale for slavery.

The United Nations, in this report, brags about how wonderful ancient societies were in using infanticide, human sacrifice, homicide, feuding, and other bloody practices as a way to control population. They actually endorse these practices in this report.

The United Nations doesn't just talk about killing people in the name of saving the earth, they've actually put their plans into action. The Burmese army killed two thousand people and drove thirty thousand from their homes to make way for a United Nations biosphere sanctuary(source: London Guardian, March 23, 1997).

The UN has also laid out detailed plans of how they can murder half the world's population by restricting fertilizers and access to irrigation water (GBA Section 11.2.2.5 page 761). This UN document has already talked about bizarre occult rituals like human sacrifice as being integral parts of maintaining populations at sustainable levels. It talks about how ancient societies used the environment and considered it to be holy; how Christians are bad because they cut down the sacred groves where they engaged in their special rituals that helped maintain and replenish nature.

This bloodthirsty control-freak theme echoes through elitist circles at places like the Georgia guidestones, owned by Illuminati leaders, that talk about reducing the world population by eighty percent (the number we heard from Prince Philip and Ted Turner so many times before); the statement that the elite must maintain the population, forcibly, at five hundred million.

And now, from recently declassified government documents in Australia, we learn that world-famous microbiologists, Nobel Prize winners, were seriously contemplating and planning to release biological weapons to reduce an overpopulated world (The Age, March 10, 2002, “Burnet’s solution: The plan to poison SE Asia”). The revelation is contained in top-secret files declassified by the National Archive of Australia.

I challenge everyone to read the nightmare Kyoto Treaty—a total United Nations takeover of the world’s energy supply and a huge taxing mechanism to control the populations of the earth. Behind this New World Order takeover plan is junk science. There is no global warming. Thousands of scientists have come forward to say we are in a natural weather cycle, and that one major volcanic eruption emits more carbon gasses than all of man’s industrial output combined over 50 years.

Eugenics

Those who control the machinery of government would have us believe that they have our best interests at heart, but in reality they are obsessed with implementing horrific programs of population control. Eugenics programs in the United States from the 1920’s to 1979 sterilized hundreds of thousands of Americans, declaring the children of single parent families simple-minded if they scored under a B+ on their report cards. Those children were sterilized, and, in many cases after being taken into custody, were interned in maximum security mental institutions where medical students would conduct hysterectomies and engage in medical experimentation on them. The young men were castrated.

In another government-sponsored atrocity, thousands of black me were told they were receiving treatment for syphilis. In reality, these ‘experiment subjects’ were being allowed to die slow deaths, in some cases for over 40 years, while they spread the disease to thousands in the Tuskegee Experiment.

Fluoridation

"Fluoridation is the greatest case of scientific fraud of this century, if not of all time" (Dr Robert Carton, "Marketplace" Canadian Broadcast Company Nov 24th,1992.)
Dr Robert Carton, a scientist who spent 20 years working for the US EPA

Fluoride is a known toxin that causes cancer, severe bone fractures and retardation of children. Leading scientific institutions, major universities and Nobel laureates have exposed its danger, yet fluoride is being crammed into the water worldwide. The amount of solid scientific evidence that fluoride kills is overwhelming. Those who dispute this reality are flat-earthers, denying the facts of what is happening in our society.

Only 2% of Europe fluoridates their water. In 1992 a study by the New Jersey Department of Health (Cohn PD, A Brief Report on the Association of Drinking Water Fluoridation and the Incidence of Osteosarcoma among young Males. New Jersey Dept of Health, Nov 8th, 1992.) found a strong link between fluoridation and bone cancer (osteosarcoma) in young males. They reported that osteosarcoma rates were three to seven times higher in fluoridated areas than non-fluoridated areas.

Fluoridated water has been linked to decreased birth rates because it interferes with levels testosterone of males (Freni SC, Fluoride in Drinking Water & Decreased Birth Rates. Journal of Toxicology & Environmental Health No 42, pp109-121, 1994.) Chinese studies show reduced IQ in children overexposed to fluoride through drinking water. Further effects include memory loss, headache, reduced concentration, depression and confusion(Zhao LB, Liang GH, Zhang DN, Wu XR, Effects of a High Fluoride Water Supply on Children's Intelligence. Fluoride 29:4 pp 190-192, 1996. Li XS et al, Effect of Fluoride Exposure on Intelligence in Children. Paper to 20th Conference of International Society for Fluoride Research, Beijing, Sept, 1994.)

A major university study conducted over decades compared rates of bone cancer in Northern Ireland, where water is fluoridated, and the South where water is not treated with fluoride. The rates of rare bone cancer were 45% higher in the North. The evidence that fluoride is a dangerous toxic waste that the New World Order is disposing of in our water supply is overwhelming.

Aspartame

Another widespread chemical attack launched by globalist juggernaut is aspartame, the taste that kills. Calling aspartame a poison is doing it a favor. According to the scientists and brain surgeons I've interviewed, this is one of the biggest killers in the United States today. It is in over nine thousand foods.

Vaccines

Then there are vaccines. Everything from cancer viruses to DNA fragments and mercury has been found in vaccines. The entire vaccine supply is contaminated. And what is the government doing? Mandating more and more injections of our children.

The Chicago Tribune reported in 2001 that 60 top scientists met in Chicago to present overwhelming evidence that cancer viruses found in monkeys are in many of the vaccines. A recent poll in the United Kingdom, showed that over 80% of the population opposes the mandatory injection of the measles, mumps and rubella (mmr) vaccine. A news anchor has gone public with the fact that this vaccine has brain-damaged his child. Autism is up over 2000 percent and is rising in the industrial world proportionately with the increase of mandated vaccinations.

Elites throughout history have always sought to control their serfs. Now the elite has almost unlimited technologies. They have the technologies that will allow them to have extended, perhaps eternal lives with the help of cybernetic interfaces. The globalists (and they talk about this in their own policy papers) are not about to allow you and your family to have access to this technology. Unless we stop them, they are going to herd us into the reservations to control us with this new, advanced technology. They are obsessed with it. Unchecked, they will exterminate eighty percent of us, while creating a technology-driven metropolis-utopia for themselves.

The atomic soldiers, Project SHAD... I could go on for days. I have rooms full of documents and Congressional testimony. Wake-up. Open your eyes and look around you. A bunch of sicko control-freaks run the world.

Conclusion

You've seen the historical record. You've seen the facts that government sponsored and controlled terrorism in the final decades of the twentieth century, going into the new millennium in 2001. This is a call to arms, a call to the information war, to wake up your friends, your family, people in your community, your churches, your universities, your schools, and to realize what we are facing. The evidence is absolutely overwhelming and cannot be denied.

Look at elites throughout history. Their pleasure and enjoyment is feeding upon populations and controlling them. We are dealing with control freaks. You have to learn about human history to understand our enemy. You have to look around you and study the systems of power that surround you. Get outside the paradigm, outside the box. Educate yourself on these facts, and then educate others on how to resist the system. Whatever you do, never turn in your firearms. We are trying to fix these problems peaceably, but we do have every right to defend ourselves and our families from this tyranny.

You see, this is a warning to everyone. If we are unable to defeat this New World Order, the terror attacks are going to begin to escalate. They are going to get worse, until the United Nations program for an eighty percent world population reduction is actually realized.

Please study this and look at the facts. You need to get out the word. You have to make it the issue in your community if we are going to defeat this system. More terror attacks are coming, and it is up to you get the word out of who is behind them, because by doing that, we are able to shine the spotlight on these creatures and to show how they are using terror to get more power and control.

When we expose their evil paradigm, the globalists lose the power they have over us. No longer will they be seen as our loving saviors just taking our rights away for our best interests; they will be exposed to be the bloodthirsty, evil tyrants that they are. Then the illusion will be shattered, the curtain of lies thrown back to reveal them for the beasts that they are. If you don't shatter that illusion of control, it is over for America, it is over for the world, and it means absolute, total dehumanization.

We need Paul Reveres all across this country—black, white, old, young—to fight for this Republic and against these slave masters.

Note: Alex Jones is a documentary filmmaker and syndicated talk-radio host. Before the attacks, in July of 2001, Jones was on the record on his radio and television shows and on his website – www.infowars.com – stating that Osama bin Laden was a known CIA asset and that his intelligence sources were stating that the government was planning an attack on New York as a pretext for more control.

The book you have just read, 911: Descent into Tyranny, is adapted from his film, 911: The Road the Tyranny produced in late 2001/early 2002. Jones decided to write this book because his friends, family and listeners suggested that it would be helpful in reaching more people. Dozens of requests from the hearing impaired finalized the decision to write the book.

Much of the book is a word-for-word transcription from the film, 911: The Road the Tyranny. The following chapters have been added by the author to hopefully give the reader a greater understanding of what we face as a species. We are desperate to get this book out as quickly as possible to the people so they can prevent the existing government terrorist paradigm from exploding across the world. The pages of this book themselves are the bibliography. To read the articles, government documents and legislation cited in this book in detail, please visit our website at www.infowars.com.

WORLD BANKERS FEED OFF OF CRUMBLING ECONOMIES

In late 2002, the stock market in the United States is plunging. The controlled media tells us that it is a symptom of corporate greed and an accidental occurrence.

The truth is that recently released central bank cartel documents show that the entire global financial melt-down in a purposefully engineered consolidation. The following is a transcript of an interview with award-winning investigative journalist Greg Palast in which Palast blows the IMF World Bank program of slavery wide open.

Transcript of Interview of Greg Palast, Journalist for BBC and Observer, London, by Alex Jones

Alex Jones Radio Show, Monday (PM), March 4, 2002

AJ: This is earth shattering. Can you break it down for us and tell us what the economists have done?

GP: Well, I'll tell you two things. One, I spoke to the former chief economist, Joe Stiglitz who was fired by the (World) Bank. So I, on BBC and with Guardian, basically spent some time debriefing him. It was like one of the scenes out of Mission Impossible, you know where the guy comes over from the other side and you spend hours debriefing him. So I got the insight of what was happening at the World Bank. In addition, he did not brief me but I got some other sources. He would not give me inside documents but other people handed me a giant stash of secret documents from the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund.

And so one of the things that is happening is that, in fact, I was supposed to be on CNN with the head of the World Bank Jim Wolfensen and he said he would not appear on CNN ever if they put me on. And so CNN did the craziest thing and pulled me off.

AJ: So now they are threatening total boycott.

GP: Yeah, right. So what we found was this. We found inside these documents that basically they required nations to sign secret agreements, in which they agreed to sell off their key assets, in which they agreed to take economic steps which are really devastating to the nations involved and if they didn't agree to these steps, there was an average for each nation that signed one-hundred and eleven items that they are required to sign on to. If they didn't follow those steps they would be cut-off from all international borrowing. You can't borrow any money in the international marketplace. No one can survive without borrowing, whether you are people or corporations or countries - without borrowing some money and having some credit and ...

AJ: Because of the debt inflation pit they've created.

GP: Yes, well, see one of the things that happened is that - we've got examples from, I've got inside documents recently from Argentina, the secret Argentine plan. This is signed by Jim Wolfensen, the president of the World Bank. By the way, just so you know, they are really upset with me that I've got the documents, but they have not challenged the authenticity of the documents. First, they did. First they said those documents don't exist. I actually showed them on television. And cite some on the web, I actually have copies of some...

AJ: Greg Palast dot com?

GP: Yes, gregpalast.com. So then they backed off and said yea those documents are authentic but we are not going to discuss them with you and we are going to keep you off the air anyway. So, that's that. But what they were saying is look, you take a country like Argentina, which is, you know, in flames now. And it has had five presidents in five weeks because their economy is completely destroyed.

AJ: Isn't it six now?

GP: Yea, it's like the weekly president because they can't hold the nation together. And this happened because they started out in the end of the 80s with orders from the IMF and World Bank to sell-off all their assets, public assets. I mean, things we wouldn't think of doing in the US, like selling off their water system.

AJ: So they tax the people. They create big government and big government hands it off to the private IMF/World Bank. And when we get back, I want to get to the four-parts that you elegantly lay out here where they actually pay off the politicians billions to their Swiss bank accounts to do this transfer.

GP: That's right.

AJ: This is one of the biggest stories ever, please continue.

GP: So what's happening is - this is just one of them. And by the way, it's not just anyone who gets a piece of the action. The water system of Buenos Aires was sold off for a song to a company called Enron. A pipeline was sold off, that runs between Argentina and Chile, was sold off to a company called Enron.

AJ: ...And then the globalists blow out their shell corporation, Enron after transferring the assets to another dummy corporation and then they just roll the theft items off.

GP: You've got it. And by the way, you know why they moved the pipeline to Enron is that they got a call from somebody named George W. Bush in 1988.

AJ: Unbelievable. Stay right there. We are talking to Greg Palast.

BREAK

AJ: We are talking to Greg Palast. He is an award-winning journalist, an American who has worked for the BBC, London Guardian, who has dropped a massive bomb-shell on the Globalists and their criminal activity. There is no other word for it. You link through at inforwars.com, you can link to his web site - gregpalast.com, or any of the other great reports he has been putting out. He now has the secret documents. We have seen the activity of the IMF/World Bank for years.

They come in, pay off politicians to transfer the water systems, the railways, the telephone companies, the nationalized oil companies, gas stations - they then hand it over to them for nothing. The Globalists pay them off individually, billions a piece in Swiss bank accounts. And the plan is total slavery for the entire population. Of course, Enron, as we told you was a dummy corporation for money laundering, drug money, you name it, from the other reporters we have had on. It's just incredibly massive and hard to believe. But it is actually happening.

Greg Palast has now broken the story world-wide. He has interviewed the former top World Bank economist. Continuing, Sir with all these points... for the average person out there, in a nutshell, what is the system you are exposing?

GP: We are exposing that they are systematically tearing nations apart, whether it's Ecuador or Argentina. The problem is some of these bad ideas are drifting back into the U.S. In other words, they have run out of places to bleed. And the problem is, this is the chief economist, this is not some minor guy. By the way, a couple of months ago, after he was fired, he was given the Nobel Prize in Economics. So he is no fool. He told me, he went into countries where they were talking about privatizing and selling off these assets. And basically, they knew, they literally knew and turned the other way when it was understood that leaders of these countries and the chief ministers would salt away hundreds of millions of dollars.

AJ: But it's not even privatization. They just steal it from the people and hand it over to the IMF/World Bank.

GP: They hand it over, generally to the cronies, like Citibank was very big and grabbed half the Argentine banks. You've got British Petroleum grabbing pipelines in Ecuador. I mentioned Enron grabbing all over the place. And the problem is that they are destroying these systems as well. You can't even get drinking water in Buenos Aires. I mean it is not just a question of the theft. You can't turn on the tap. It is more than someone getting rich at the public expense.

AJ: And the IMF just got handed the Great Lakes. They have the sole control over the water supply now. That's been in the Chicago Tribune.

GP: Well the problem that we have is - look, the IMF and the World Bank is 51% owned by the United States Treasury. So the question becomes, what are we getting for the money that we put into there? And it looks like we are getting mayhem in several nations. Indonesia is in flames. He was telling me, the Chief Economist, Stiglitz, was telling me that he started questioning what was happening. You know, everywhere we go, every country we end up meddling in, we destroy their economy and they end up in flames. And he was saying that he questioned this and he got fired for it. But he was saying that they even kind of plan in the riots. They know that when they squeeze a country and destroy its economy, you are going to get riots in the streets. And they say, well that's the IMF riot. In other words, because you have riot, you lose. All the capital runs away from your country and that gives the opportunity for the IMF to then add more conditions.

AJ: And that makes them even more desperate. So it is really an imperial economy war to implode countries and now they are doing it here with Enron. They are getting so greedy.

GP: I've just been talking to, out in California just yesterday, from here in Paris, the chief investigators of Enron for the State of California. They are telling me some of the games these guys are playing. No one is watching that. It's not just the stockholders that got ripped off. They sucked millions, billions of dollars out of the public pocket in Texas and California in particular.

AJ: Where are the assets? See, everybody says there are no assets left since Enron was a dummy corporation - they transferred all those assets to other corporations and banks.

GP: Well yea, this stuff has really gone just like a three-card Monty game. I mean remember that there is money at the bottom. You did pay California's electric bills according to the investigations, they are telling me that they were pumped up unnecessarily by 9 to 12-billion dollars. And I don't know who they are going to get it back from now.

AJ: Well they caught the Governor buying it for $137 per megawatt and selling it back to Enron for $1 per megawatt and doing it over and over and over again.

GP: Yea, the system has gotten completely out of control and these guys knew exactly what was happening. Well, you have to understand that some of the guys who designed the system in California for deregulation then went to work for Enron right after. In fact, here I'm in London right now and we have, the British has some responsibility here. The guy who was on the audit committee of Enron, Lord Wakeham. And this guy is a real piece of work, there isn't a conflict of interest that he hasn't been involved in.

AJ: And he is the head of NM Rothschild.

GP: There isn't anything that he doesn't have his fingers in. He's on something like fifty Boards. And one of the problems, he was supposed to be head of the audit committee watching how Enron kept the books.

And in fact, they were paying him consulting fees on the side. He was in Margaret Thatcher's government and he's the one who authorized Enron to come into Britain and take over power plants here in Britain. And they owned a water system in the middle of England. This is what this guy approved and then they gave him a job on the board. And on top of being on the board, they gave him a huge consulting contract. So you know, this guy was supposed to be in charge of the audit committee to see how they were handling their accounts.

AJ: Well, he is also the head of the board to regulate the media.

GP: Yes, he is, because I have run into real problems, because he regulates me.

AJ: They are also trying to pass laws in England where you've got an 800-year old well, or in some cases a 2000-year old well that the Romans built that's on your property and they say we are putting a meter on it. You can't have your own water.

GP: Yea, and that's Lord Wakeham. I mean this is the guy from Enron. He is a real piece of work. He can't be touched here because like I say he actually regulates the media. So if you complain, he's got his hand on your pen.

AJ: Burrow into NM Rothschild, you'll find it all there. Go through these four points. You've got the documents. The IMF/World Bank implosion, four points, how they bring down a country and destroy the resources of the people.

GP: Right. First you open up the capital markets. That is, you sell off your local banks to foreign banks. Then you go to what's called market-based pricing. That's the stuff like in California where everything is free market and you end up with water bills - we can't even imagine selling off water companies in the United States of America. But imagine if a private company like Enron owned your water. So then the prices go through the roof. Then open up your borders to trade - complete free marketeering. And Stiglitz who was the chief economist, remember he was running this system, he was their numbers man and he was saying it was like the opium wars. He said this isn't free trade; this is coercion trade. This is war. They are taking apart economies through this.

AJ: Well look, China has a 40% tariff on us, we have a 2% on them. That's not free and fair trade. It's to force all industry to a country that the globalists fully control.

GP: Well, you know Walmart - I have a story in my new book about how Walmart has 700 plants in China. There is almost nothing in a Walmart store that comes from the United States of America, despite all the eagles on the wall.

AJ: Exactly, like 1984, then they have big flags saying "Buy American" and there's hardly anything --- it's Orwellian double-think.

GP: What's even worst is they will hire a factory and right next to it will be the sister factory which is inside a prison. You can imagine the conditions of these workers producing this lovely stuff for Walmart. It's really....

AJ: And if an elitist needs a liver, they just call.

GP: (Laughs) I know, it's grim. In fact, I talked to a guy, Harry Wu, is his name and, in fact, he broke into, he's been in Chinese prison for 19 years. No one believed his horrible stories. He actually broke back into prison, took a camera with him and took pictures of the conditions and said this is the conditions of factories where Walmart is getting its stuff made at, it's all....

AJ: I was threatened to be thrown off TV here in Austin when I aired video of little girls 4-years old chained down to die in China, skinnier than Jews in concentration camps. And I was threatened, if you ever air that again, you will be arrested.

GP: Well you know, it is horrifying stuff that, unfortunately, I have been handed and Stiglitz, was very courageous for him to come out and make these statements. The documents really sealed it because it said this is what really happened. They really do say sign on the dotted line agreeing to 111 conditions for each nation. And the public has no say; they don't know what the hell is happening to them.

AJ: Go back into privatization. Go through these four points. That's the key. It sends billions to politicians to hand everything over.

GP: Yea, he called it briberization, which is you sell off the water company and that's worth, over ten years, let's say that that's worth about 5 billion bucks, ten percent of that is 500 million, you can figure out how it works. I actually spoke to a Senator from Argentina two weeks ago. I got him on camera. He said that after he got a call from George W. Bush in 1988 saying give the gas pipeline in Argentina to Enron, that's our current president, George W. Bush. He said that what he found was really creepy was that Enron was going to pay one-fifth of the world's price for their gas and he said how can you make such an offer? And he was told, not by George W. but by a partner in the deal, well if we only pay one-fifth that leaves quit a little bit for you to go in your Swiss bank account. And that's how it's done.

AJ: This is the

GP: I've got the film. This guy is very conservative. He knows the Bush family very well. And he was public works administrator in Argentina and he said, yea, I got this call. I asked him, I said, from George W. Bush. He said, yea, November 1988, the guy called him up and said give a pipeline to Enron. Now this is the same George W. Bush who said he didn't get to know Ken Lay until 1994. So, you know.....

AJ: So now they are having these white-wash hearings...

GP: Well, you know, I was there in May, telling people in Britain you've never heard of Enron, but ... And these are the guys who have figured out how to manipulate this government. In fact, we saw some interesting documents, a month before Bush took office, Bill Clinton, I think to get even with Bush's big donor, cut Enron out of the California power market. He put a cap on the prices they could charge. They couldn't charge more than one-hundred times the normal price for electricity. That upset Enron. So Ken Lay personally wrote a note to Dick Cheney saying get rid of Clinton's cap on prices. Within 48 hours of George W. Bush taking office, his energy department reversed the clamps on Enron. OK, how much is that worth for those guys. You know that has got to be worth a lot, that paid off in a week all the donations.

AJ: Listen at the bombs you are dropping. You are interviewing these ministers, former head of IMF/World Bank economist - all of this, you've got the documents, paying people's Swiss Bank accounts, all this happening. Then you've got Part 2, what do they do after they start imploding?

GP: Well, then they tell you to start cutting your budgets. A fifth of the population of Argentina is unemployed, and they said cut the unemployment benefits drastically, take away pension funds, cut the education budgets, I mean horrible things. Now if you cut the economy in the middle of a recession that was created by these guys, you are really going to absolutely demolish this nation. After we were attacked on September 11, Bush ran out and said we got to spend $50 to $100 billion dollars to save our economy. We don't start cutting the budget, you start trying to save this economy. But they tell these countries you've got to cut, and cut, and cut. And why, according to the inside documents, it's so you can make payments to foreign banks - the foreign banks are collecting 21% to 70% interest. This is loan-sharking. In fact, it was so bad that they required Argentina to get rid of the laws against loan-sharking. because any bank would be a loan-shark under Argentine law.

AJ: But Greg, you said it yourself and the documents show it. They first implode the economy to create that atmosphere. They set up the entire climate that does this.

GP: Yea, and then they say, well gee, we can't lend you any money except at these loan-shark rates. We don't allow people to charge 75% interest in the United States. That's loan-sharking.

AJ: Part 3 and Part 4. What do they do after they do that?

GP: Like I said, you open up the borders for trade, that's the new opium wars. And once you have destroyed an economy that can't produce anything, one of the terrible things is that they are forcing nations to pay horrendous amounts for things like drugs - legal drugs. And by the way, that's how you end up with an illegal drug trade, what's there left to survive on except sell us smack and crack and that's how...

AJ: And the same CIA national security dictatorship has been caught shipping that in.

GP: You know, we are just helping our allies.

AJ: This is just amazing. And so, drive the whole world down, blow out their economies and then buy the rest of it up for pennies on the dollar. What's Part 4 of the IMF/World Bank Plan?

GP: In Part 4, you end up again with the taking apart of the government. And by the way, the real Part 4 is the coup d'etat. That's what they are not telling you. And I'm just finding that out in Venezuela. I just got a call from the President of Venezuela.

AJ: And they install their own corporate puppet government.

GP: What they said was here you've got an elected president of the government and the IMF has announced, listen to this, that they would support a transition government if the president were removed. They are not saying that they are going to get involved in politics - they would just support a transition government. What that effectively is saying we will pay for the coup d'etat, if the military overthrows the current president, because the current president of Venezuela has said no to the IMF. He told those guys to go packing. They brought their teams in and said you have to do this and that. And he said, I don't have to do nothing. He said what I'm going to do is, I'm going to double the taxes on oil corporations because we have a whole lot of oil in Venezuela. And I'm going to double the taxes on oil corporations and then I will have all the money I need for social programs and the government - and we will be a very rich nation. Well, as soon as they did that, they started fomenting trouble with the military and I'm telling you watch this space: the President of Venezuela will be out of office in three months or shot dead. They are not going to allow him to raise taxes on the oil companies.

Note: This Interview took place on The Alex Jones Show on March 4, 2002. Forbes.com reported on a Venezuelan Coup D'Etat on March 12, 2002 in an article titled, "Coup D'Etat In Venezuela Will Let Oil Flow."

AJ: Greg Palast, here is the problem. You said it when you first came out of the gates. They are getting hungry, they are doing it to the United States now. Enron, from all the evidence that I've seen was a front, another shell, they would steal assets and then transfer it to other older global companies, then they blew that out and stole the pension funds. Now they are telling us that terrorism is coming any day. It's going to happen if you don't give your rights up. Bush did not involve Congress and the others who are supposed to be in the accession if there is a nuclear attack in the secret government, Washington Post - "Congress Not Advised of Shadow Government." We have the Speaker of the House not being told. This looks like coup d'etat here. I'm going to come right out with it. We had better spread the word on this now or these greedy creatures are going to go all the way.

GP: I'm very sad about one thing. I report this story in the main stream press of Britain. I'm on the BBC despite Lord Wakeham. I know he doesn't like me there. I'm in the BBC, I'm in the main daily paper, which is the equivalent of the New York Times or whatever, and we do get the information out. And I'm just very sorry that we have to have an alternative press, an alternative radio network and everything else to get out the information that makes any sense. I mean this information should be available to every American. After all, it's our government.

INFOWARS.COM EXCLUSIVE: BOHEMIAN GROVE

To understand the mindset and character of the New World Order crowd, it is important to examine their activities when they are on “holiday.” On July 15, 2000 the secrecy of an elite encampment in Northern California abruptly ended. The story has been featured on the cover of Esquire Magazine, the San Francisco Chronicle, as well as on television from England to Japan. This story of the occult rituals conducted by the New World Order elite at the Bohemian Grove is true and documented on film.

Occult Activities at the Elite Bohemian Grove in Northern California Exposed! Alex Jones Tells His Story

Austin, TX -- Last July, documentary filmmaker Alex Jones infiltrated Bohemian Grove, becoming the first person to capture the bizarre occult activities of the all-male elite club membership on videotape. This footage recently aired in England, Ireland and Scotland on UK Channel Four as Part Three of a four-part special: The Secret Rulers of the World.

Alex Jones was inside the 2,700 acre elite compound for over five hours, and states, "Thank God I caught the whole thing on videotape because no one would believe me if I hadn't. I have trouble believing what I witnessed with my own two eyes. It was actually that bizarre."

For over 128 years, world leaders have traveled to Sonoma County California in the month of July. Almost immediately, bizarre rumors began to circulate in the local press that something dark and occult was going on. The rumors entailed dark stories of men in black and red robes and a giant 40-foot stone owl, to which something, or someone was being sacrificed.

Alex Jones, being a radio talk-show host had heard the rumors many times, so he decided to look into it and did some research. To his surprise, mainstream media articles from Parade Magazine, the Associated Press, Reuters, the Sacramento Bee, and the Washington Times confirmed the incredible. World leaders were traveling yearly to the rural redwood-covered hills of Northern California and photos actually existed of the giant stone owl and the men in black and red robes.

"I was angered," Jones said, "that in over 50 years there had been only a handful of news stories written on Bohemian Grove, and that these stories calmly reported on the rumors and engaged in a whitewash, thus hiding a giant story in plain view."

Reading about all the law enforcement and Secret Service protecting the Grove's mysteries every July, Jones took the challenge of Jon Ronson of World of Wonder Productions to "blow Bohemian Grove wide-open with his hidden cameras."

After traveling from Austin, Texas to San Francisco, Jones and the other members of his team, met up with the British filmmakers and began a three-day investigation before attempting to enter the Grove.

On July 15, 2000, Alex Jones and his assistant, Mike, equipped with two hidden video cameras and disguised as members of the Bohemian Club successfully infiltrated the elite cult compound.

One of the most commonly asked questions is: How did they get in?

Following is a transcript of a taped interview with Alex Jones, who describes his infiltration of the super-secret elitist camp and what he witnessed inside:

"The Bohemian Club lies within a range of large hills and cliffs with 300-400 ft. drops. The club itself consists of large log cabin-style homes built into the gorge walls.

There is only one entrance on the north side of the compound, which is a paved road, appropriately named "Bohemian Avenue."

A low barbed-wire fence surrounds the entire perimeter of the club, but the fence doesn't matter because there is only one place where the hills come together, leaving an opening traversable by foot or car. Simply stated, the Bohemian Grove is a walled city.

After being dropped off near the Bohemian Club, we inserted ourselves into the woods about 100 yards from the main entrance. After going over the barbed wire fence, we found ourselves in what can only be described as a moat. The entire area along the road to the foot of the cliff walls had been dug out and flooded.

We were able to make our way across the expansive swamp by jumping from broken tree limbs and other debris.

After climbing up a steep embankment, pulling our way up by gripping on tree roots, we found ourselves in a large parking lot, with hundreds of cars. We saw several dozen Bohemian Club employees/servants getting out of the vehicles, which were everything from Mercedes-Benz to Ford Tempos.

At about 100 yards through the trees, we saw a much larger parking lot, filled with more late-model, luxury-style cars. Obviously, this was the parking area of the actual 2,000 members of the Bohemian Club.

When you come in on the main road, the moat, the swamp and the embankment are off to the right (off to the west) just 50 yards or so. By going across the swamp or moat, we made our way past the first two checkpoints, which consisted of a small guard shack on the left-hand side of the road and another 50 yards down the road another guard shack on the right-hand side of the road.

It's a good thing that we decided to sneak around the first two checkpoints, by entering through the Bohemian Grove employee parking lot, because the real checkpoints lie deeper inside the Grove. There was a checkpoint in the middle of the road (a large guard shack with several dozen security people) and then guard shacks on the left and right sides of the road, which were kind of like the German-style checkpoints you see in old news reels.

I told Mike I thought it would be a good idea if we tried to get on one of the large trucks (the flat-back open trucks that had padded seats that were picking up members of the Bohemian Club as well as the employees). So, we went ahead and walked through the woods to the Bohemian Club member parking area and waited for one of the large trucks to pull up, at which time myself and Mike climbed onto the back with two older gentlemen.

Mike and myself made small-talk conversation as we got onto the black-top road and drove deeper into the Grove, now approaching these larger checkpoints. In the two or three minutes that we were on board the truck, we caught an interesting conversation on tape, as two of the members discussed the prices of their ceremonial robes (all of that is in my video, Dark Secrets: Inside Bohemian Grove).

Our first close call happened as we neared the main checkpoint. The truck actually stopped, at which time an older, gray-haired man made eye contact with the driver of the truck and walked around the back of the truck to stare myself and Mike right in the eye. Obviously, he was afraid that we might be guests of the two older gentlemen we were riding in with in the truck (as Bohemian Club members are allowed to bring guests) so he didn't ask us who we were or what we were doing. The guards went ahead and waved us on with a look of suspicion.

Then we were really inside the Bohemian Grove. We had heard all of the bizarre rumors and were about to find out what was really going on inside. The mystery was getting closer to being solved.

The truck drove in for several more minutes and stopped at which time we off-loaded. I told Mike that I wanted to get to cover. It took us about 45 minutes to an hour to walk all the way through to the bottom of the gorge, at which point the road ended and a car could no longer drive on it, as it turned into a concrete-paved, blacktop foot-path.

We reached the end of the gorge, which is an observation deck at the top of a 300-foot cliff overlooking the Russian River and the small town of Monte Rio on the other side. It was my plan to have the least amount of contact with the Bohemian Club members and staff as I could and to wait until nightfall to attempt to get out our hidden cameras and to catch the Cremation of Care ceremony on tape.

At this point, I should digress and go back and say that as we were walking into the Grove we came within about ten yards of the 40 foot stone owl that sits to the north side of the small lake. We were only about seven yards away from the black altar that sits at the base of the owl.

So, already at this point we had proven a big rumor true: yes there is a giant stone owl – yes there is an altar. As we were walking deeper into the grove, past the lake, we even saw little metal crosses sticking up from the water's edge. We'll get to those little metal crosses later.

So, now we had been there about an hour at the observation deck. There was no one around. All of the sudden, there was an older gentleman, about 67-70 years old, wearing a Sonoma County Sheriff's Department uniform coming up the path . We didn't even see him coming. I believe he was the Sheriff, and he started speaking to us in some kind of code.

He looked directly at me and said, "Were you here in 1913? Are you one of the old ones?"

Now obviously, I was 27 years old and the man knew I wasn't around in 1913 and that I wasn't one of the old ones. Knowing that he was testing me, I just calmly said, "Yeah, I'm with the Hillbillies."

To explain that, there are about 95 different clubs within the Bohemian Club. All the different club houses and log cabin-style mansions that are built into the cliffs have different names and different memberships. The most elite club, according to press reports is Mandaley, with Henry Kissinger and Paul Volcker, former Federal Reserve Chairman and other New World Order bosses.

The Hillbilly Camp is the camp that the Bushes are members of, along with many other notables in American industry, banking, media and government. At that point he smiled and said, "Well, enjoy the day." He then turned around and walked off.

After he left I said to Mike, "Look, we've got to get to a new position and hide ourselves in the woods." So we traveled back into the gorge, off the cliffside and the observation deck. About half-way into the gorge, we noticed that two men in dark suits and sunglasses were following us. I decided to slow down.

The two men ,who were obviously private security, Secret Service or somebody's private body guards, walked up to us and asked us our names. I gave them my fake name and Mike gave them his fake name, and we told them that we were members of the Hillbilly Club.

They said, "take it easy, don't stress yourselves out and enjoy yourselves," which was a theme that came up more later. At this point, we had been confronted twice and were now being followed. I told Mike that we had to get into a heavily populated area where a lot of the Grove members were congregating.

So we went into several of the clubs and almost had our identities blown. We went in and had a few drinks, because everyone was drinking copiously and they were offering us wine in some of the clubhouses. We then got back on the road and into a large outdoor feasting area, where hundreds of tables were being set from some party or revelry.

I told Mike we should go up the steep road into the hills where some of the larger structures were located. It took us about 20 minutes to walk up the road into the only hills that were accessible by foot. At that point some of the employees began to ask us why weren't riding the truck up. We told them that we wanted exercise, at which point they started acting pretty suspicious.

We noticed that high up in the hills many of the large log cabin structures were deserted, with many large outside decks. So we went into the Web Camp and just made ourselves comfortable. (The camps have different names like Lost Boys, Doom, Dragon etc.) We simply sat out the next hour, reloaded our hidden cameras and got them back into place.

By then, the shadows were getting long and it was just a few minutes until dusk. We started to hear bizarre chanting and singing coming from down below us in the gorge. So we traveled back into the gorge. On our way back down, we saw thousands of men chanting and singing drunkenly beneath the giant redwoods.

It was like something out of a fantasy novel. I expected to see a dragon come hopping by any moment. There were huge skulls hanging down from the floodlights, satanic-styled owls with glowing eyes, (a lot of trappings of death) that we could now see in the twilight illuminated by the large floodlights.

The feasting revelers were beginning to break up and to travel down paths towards the lake. We decided to go ahead and mix in with them and go where they were going. They were going towards the east side of the bank about 100 yards across the north tip of the lake where the idol and altar stood.

As we were walking around the lake, the only black man we saw, a very large man, saw myself and Mike walking very quickly compared to other members in the crowd (we wanted to get a good place on the east side of the bank to watch the Cremation of Care ritual – most of the rumors I had heard were now coming true).

He said, "trouble yourselves not! Take it easy! The cares of the world are off your shoulders! You're not supposed to walk that fast." He then gave us two full-color programs. On the cover of the program, they show Moloch, the big owl, with a burning body enflamed beneath it (the program can be viewed at infowars.com). [note to publisher: please insert image: bg/program_scan with the following caption: Program Cover from the Bohemian Grove Cremation of Care Ceremony] Also a little demon, with the initials PJ was sweeping up someone's ashes on the lower left-hand corner of the program (which is also on my film, Dark Secrets: Inside Bohemian Grove) [note to publisher: please insert image: bg/program_demon with the following caption: Demon "PJ" on Program Cover from the Bohemian Grove Cremation of Care Ceremony].

Thousands of the men began to gather on the eastern bank, private servants (as opposed to the Bohemian Grove employees, who all wear red shirts and who weren't allowed to be present for the ritual) began to put out chairs for their elderly employers.

The sun had now sunk behind the hill. It was completely dark and you couldn't even see the other side of the water. There were bats flying around and a lot of natural fog building on the surface of the water (there is a lot of fog in Northern California that time of year).

Picture this, if Count Dracula lived in North America, he would live in Sonoma County. This was spooky stuff. The hair on the back of my neck was beginning to stand up at this point.

Then, out of the woods, all of the sudden came thirty priests in black robes, their faces painted up like death, with a man dressed like the Grim Reaper pulling a wagon with a bound body. Then we noticed something that we had seen during the day. Large black canopies had been unfurled out of the trees on the western side of the bank (we're on the eastern side – only about 70 yards away at that point) and they unfurled those, and the wagon pulled behind it.

The men then began to yell out, breathing heavily, "burn him again! He's going to get what he deserves! Kill that son of a bitch!"

Now, I must digress and say that the reason I was able to see the priest in the black robes, the priest painted-up like death, and the bound body on the back of the wagon, was because they were all carrying torches. The place was somewhat illuminated by the torches being carried by the thirty priests in front and the thirty priests behind the wagon.

Probably out of the entire ritual that I witnessed, the most important aspect of the ceremony was what happened first. The wagon went behind these big black sheets hanging out of the trees, down to the ground, obscuring the view, and for about 10 minutes nothing happened.

It was quiet except for the hateful shouts of the old men, who said things like, "Oh yeah! Burn that bastard! Kill him! That's what he deserves!" All we could hear was them whispering and smacking their lips. This went on and on.

Now on the west side of the bank, (we're were on the east side, about 60-70 yards away) at the front, about 100 yards away on the north side, is the idol, sitting in darkness. No one was paying attention to that. Everyone was distracted as they stared across the water at whatever was happening behind those black curtains with that bound body.

Whether it was an effigy or real, we do not know. (This is kind of like the Skull and Bones ritual that the New York Observer caught on tape. They claim that the video shows them slitting the throats of ceremonial effigies.) Is all of this in effigy? We don't know.

We were all focused at what was going on across the pond. Suddenly the owl was lit up by some flood lights and out ran a hundred priests or so in black, red and green robes. Most of them were in black, some in red and a couple in silver or green robes.

Then, out came the high priest, who went through all his incantations about the dead (who is dead at the Grove in the past, may their spirits be conjured and brought back there by the "great owl"). He praised the owl for about twenty minutes and he talked about "goodly Tyre and Babylon."

(I know how bizarre this all sounds, just remember that we have all of this on tape in my video, Dark Secrets: Inside Bohemian Grove, which has aired nationally in the United Kingdom, and might air here in the United States, unless it is suppressed.)

So, the priest talked about "goodly Tyre and Babylon." Well,, there is only one "great owl" of Babylon and "goodly" Tyre. If you read your Bible, or any historical document of the time, they were burning children in the Babylonian and Caananite kingdoms before the owl-god Moloch.

Suddenly, (again, we had initially been misdirected from the owl by the activities behind the curtains across the bank, then we were paying attention to the owl and the priests on the island) back on the west bank, there was an old-fashioned river-style boat, with that grim reaper character who had been driving the wagon, and he was poling himself across the water with the bound body up on the bow.

He brought the bound body to the high priest who was waiting for it at the foot of the owl, at the bottom of large circular steps on which the owl sits. Then, in very macabre fashion, two of the black-clad priests rubbed and caressed the sacrificial body and brought it before the owl.

The body begged for its life, over a speaker system. They refused it mercy. They took it up onto the altar. The "great owl" told them to burn the body (which they called "dull care,") which looks like a human wrapped up in black cloth. Right above the altar there was a large stone lamp that was burning that they call the "eternal flame." The high priest took an unlit torch and lit his torch with this flame.

The body again begged for mercy. The high priest then walked down (with some difficulty, because this high priest was so old, he could hardly even walk), and lit the pyre on fire. He began to say that he would read the signs in the remains, a deep occult tradition. This is not the Hollywood devil with red pajamas – this is the real deal, Babylon mystery religion-style.

The body continued to scream in pain. Suddenly, all of those little metal crosses that we had seen along the bank during the day burst into flame. So, I was there witnessing something right out of the medieval painter Hieronymus Bosch's Visions of Hell: burning metal crosses, priests in red and black robes with the high priest in a silver robe with a red cape, a burning body screaming in pain, a giant stone great-horned owl, world leaders, bankers, media and the head of academia engaged in these activities. It was total insanity.

So the ritual ended and all the old men started breaking up and going back to the big hall in the giant redwoods. Myself and Mike high-tailed it out of there, walking at a brisk pace. We encountered no resistance when we left. We walked right by guards and were out on the main road, Bohemian Avenue.

It is a lot easier to get out of the Grove than it is to get in, because a lot of these world leaders that you read about in the news leave the Grove to go into the small town Monte Rio. They go into the bars for prostitutes that are flown in from around the world to service them.

Down the road the British media was waiting to pick us up. They asked us, "Did you get it? Did you get it?"

One of the producers, John Sergeant, said, "You've done it Alex! You've blown Bohemian Grove wide open!"

There is so much more to this story that we don't have time to get into. I decided to have this interview transcribed and put on my website, WWW.INFOWARS.COM. You really need to get the film, or at least look at the photos or the stills of the video on infowars.com. Look at the program there with the burning body and read the mainstream media news stories about the history of the Grove, and you will realize how real all this is.

You need to do this because a week after I got out of the Bohemian Grove, a group called the Bohemian Grove Action Network, (a group that protests the Grove and is against the corruption, elitism and how women are denied access, because the Grove is all-male, of course), contacted different press outlets. I got ten unsolicited media calls from the west coast media.

I gave them the information, and we put the video clips on the web at infowars.com. They all said that the infiltration and what our cameras caught on tape would be a huge story. After that, we never heard from them again.

That shows the power of the Grove. The only places we have been able to get information out about Bohemian Grove has been on talk radio across the country, the Internet, and now across the United Kingdom. Hopefully, they've broken the ice abroad by broadcasting this over UK Channel Four and this true story of Bohemian Grove will make it into the mainstream United States media.

This has really been life changing for me, to go in there and witness this and then have some people spin it, like, "oh, it's just fraternity fun." These people were deadly serious. This is a story that needs to be told and the establishment is trying to suppress it. Please spread this information to every corner of the world.

KNOW YOUR ENEMY: THE COMMUNIST MANIFESTO

Some people think that we're fighting an international communist conspiracy. In reality, Communism is merely a bastard child of the New World Order.

Communism consolidates the people's wealth into the hands of an all-powerful central state, and national sovereignty is then collapsed into the greater hegemony of world government. Never the less, it is a vitally important exercise to read the Communist Manifesto written by Marx and Engels in 1847.

In this exercise, examine each of the ten planks and then compare them to the current political climate of the United States – our laws, government structures, and the outlook of the American people. It is clear to anyone who has a rudimentary understanding of political systems that the globalists have implemented at least eight of the planks in the United States, with the other two partially in place. We as Americans have been coerced and manipulated by the occupational government to become practicing communists. This is what the global banking cartels wanted all along: to sell the people on accepting feudalism by packaging it as a movement for and by the people.

THE TEN PLANKS OF THE COMMUNIST MANIFESTO

- 1. Abolition of private property and the application of all rent to public purpose.
- 2. A heavy progressive or graduated income tax.
- 3. Abolition of all rights of inheritance.
- 4. Confiscation of the property of all emigrants and rebels.
- 5. Centralization of credit in the hands of the State, by means of a national bank with state capital and an exclusive monopoly.
- 6. Centralization of the means of communication and transportation in the hands of the State.
- 7. Extention of factories and instruments of production owned by the State, the bringing into cultivation of waste lands, and the improvement of the soil generally in accordance with a common plan.
- 8. Equal liability of all to labor. Establishment of Industrial armies, especially for agriculture.

9. Combination of agriculture with manufacturing industries; gradual abolition of the distinction between town and country by a more equable distribution of the population over the country.

10. Free education for all children in government schools. Abolition of children's factory labor in its present form. Combination of education with industrial production, etc. etc.

KNOW YOUR HERITAGE: THE BILL OF RIGHTS

Distrustful of a powerful central government, the thirteen original states wanted to carve into stone the people's God-given rights. They did this with the first ten articles of the United States Bill of Rights. Contrast the forethought and substance of the original Bill of Rights with the snake oil ideology of the international bankers as contained in their Communist Manifesto.

The Preamble to The Bill of Rights

Congress of the United States begun and held at the City of New-York, on Wednesday the fourth of March, one thousand seven hundred and eighty nine.

THE Conventions of a number of the States, having at the time of their adopting the Constitution, expressed a desire, in order to prevent misconstruction or abuse of its powers, that further declaratory and restrictive clauses should be added: And as extending the ground of public confidence in the Government, will best ensure the beneficent ends of its institution.

RESOLVED by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, two thirds of both Houses concurring, that the following Articles be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States, as amendments to the Constitution of the United States, all, or any of which Articles, when ratified by three fourths of the said Legislatures, to be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of the said Constitution; viz.

ARTICLES in addition to, and Amendment of the Constitution of the United States of America, proposed by Congress, and ratified by the Legislatures of the several States, pursuant to the fifth Article of the original Constitution.

Constitutional Amendments 1-10: The Bill of Rights

Note: The following text is a transcription of the first 10 amendments to the Constitution in their original form. These amendments were ratified December 15, 1791, and form what is known as the "Bill of Rights."

Amendment I

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

Amendment II

A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed.

Amendment III

No Soldier shall, in time of peace be quartered in any house, without the consent of the Owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

Amendment IV

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

Amendment V

No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of War or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

Amendment VI

In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the Assistance of Counsel for his defence.

Amendment VII

In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury, shall be otherwise reexamined in any Court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

Amendment VIII

Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

Amendment IX

The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

Amendment X

The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

Think about all the abuses that the government commits against the people, and then compare those abuses to those listed in the Declaration of Independence.

IN CONGRESS, July 4, 1776.

The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America,

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, -- That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security.--Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the mean time exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavoured to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.

He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary powers.

He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harrass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies without the Consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to the Civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended

Legislation:

For Quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock Trial, from punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing Taxes on us without our Consent:

For depriving us in many cases, of the benefits of Trial by Jury:

For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended offences

For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighbouring Province, establishing therein an Arbitrary government, and enlarging its Boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these Colonies:

For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Governments:

For suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large Armies of foreign Mercenaries to compleat the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of Cruelty & perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow Citizens taken Captive on the high Seas to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavoured to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known rule of warfare, is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these Oppressions We have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms: Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A Prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have We been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which, would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace Friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the united States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name, and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be Free and Independent States; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.

DOCUMENTARY FILMS BY ALEX JONES
911: THE ROAD TO TYRANNY (item 01)

The mainstream media is whitewashing and lying about what really happened on September 11. This film is shaking the foundations of Washington, D.C. as the most comprehensive and revealing documentary film covering what really happened on September 11th and who stands to gain.

The government needed a crisis to convince the people to willingly give up their liberty in exchange for security. Now the painful facts are in. The dark forces of global government are funding, training and protecting terrorist networks worldwide. 911: The Road to Tyranny documents the ruthless history of governments orchestrating terrorist attacks against their own people to scare them into total submission. In this brutal expose you will witness the birth of a global police state that surpasses Orwell's nightmarish visions. It's all here: the history of government sponsored terrorism, the modern implementation of fear-based control and, most frightening of all, the New World Order's future plans. This is one film you cannot afford to ignore. The future of free people everywhere is at stake.

DARK SECRETS: INSIDE BOHEMIAN GROVE (item 02)

DARK SECRETS:
INSIDE
GROVE

The Club at Bohemian grove is located inside a 2,700 acre redwood grove. Known members have included Nixon, Eisenhower, Reagan and the Bush family. At this unholy place a 3,000 year-old Caananite cult is being revived. Each year at the Bohemian Grove, members of this all-male ultra-elite club don red, black and silver robes and conduct an occult ritual wherein they worship a giant stone owl, burning a human being “in effigy” as a sacrifice to their owl god. Now, for the first time in history, an outsider has infiltrated Bohemian Grove with a hidden video camera and caught the ritual on tape. That man is Alex Jones and the shocking footage he caught on tape is just part of this must-see bombshell film, Dark Secrets: Inside Bohemian Grove. (runtime: 124 minutes)

POLICE STATE: THE TAKEOVER (item 03)

Alex Jones exposes the problem-reaction-solution paradigm being used to terrorize the American people into accepting a highly controlled and oppressive society.

From children in public schools being trained to turn in their peers and parents, to the National Guard and Army patrolling our country's highways, this film reveals the most threatening developments of police state control in our age.

COMPREHENSIVE ANNUAL FINANCIAL REPORTS EXPOSED (item 06)

Alex Jones interviews Walter Burien, Commodity Trading Advisor (CTA) of 15 years about the biggest game in town. There are over 85,000 Federal and regional governmental institutions: school districts, water and power authorities, county and city governments – and they own over 70 percent of the stock market.

This is an absolute must-see to pull back the curtain of lies on the private takeover of our society. This tape also includes an interview with Joe Banister, former IRS

Special Agent exposing the fact that the IRS is a collection agency for the private, run-for-profit Federal Reserve. (runtime: 124 minutes)

A MESSAGE FROM ALEX JONES

I have been absolutely amazed and excited by the incredible response I have received from people who have gotten my latest film, 911: The Road to Tyranny. The new film and my new book, 911: Descent into Tyranny are, without a doubt, some of the best tools we have to pull back the curtain of lies and manipulation being spewed by the propaganda systems of the New World Order.

I'm asking everyone who is impressed with the new film and this book to order additional first generation copies and to give and/or resell them to the public. By doing this, you will support those who are fighting for freedom. And just as important, by purchasing original copies, you will ensure that a high-quality book or film gets into the people's hands.

Freedom lovers all over the world are setting up public and private viewings of my film in churches, schools, gun shops, hunting and shooting clubs, veterans' organizations and even local movie theaters in an effort to alert the population. After the viewing, many of these activists offer original copies of 911: The Road to Tyranny purchased from us for sale. In a similar way, my book could be offered in these venues, or in local stores or bookfairs. You don't need to do the math to understand the explosive power of grassroots action in the infowar.

The Republic is in great danger of being completely overthrown and needs your help now.

RESISTANCE IS NOT FUTILE!

Resistance is not futile in this final battle against the forces of globalism.
it is a necessity that all free peoples sound the alarm in the great tradition of Paul Revere.
