Reverse Speech™ is the term used to describe the phenomenon of Glossolalistics: the analysis of an unconsciously acquired verbal language built into the sounds of human speech. Reverse Speech is a registered trademark owned by David John Oates.

This Book is dedicated to my very good mate, the late Gregory James Albrecht. Greg was the co-author of Beyond Backward Masking, and the inspiration behind some of the early theoretical development in Reverse Speech.

RIP Greg Albrecht 1954-2019

The flame that you and I started will live on!

With special thanks to Naomi Longson and the students of the 2016 and 2018 Practitioner classes, who found many reversals for this book.

Notes

All reverse text quoted in this book is displayed in bold. Where two or more reversals occur in the same section of forward dialogue they are separated by a slash /. In each section of forward dialogue quoted, the precise forward words that created the reversals are indicated by brackets [ ]. I strongly suggest that the reader examine the forward and reverse in context. That will add extra meaning to the interpretation.

All reverse and forward text is quoted exactly as it occurs, and many of these examples can be heard on the Reverse Speech website: <www.reversespeech.com>. No tampering or altering or enhancing of any recordings has been made. What is quoted in this book is exactly what was said, forwards and backwards.

Foreword

I have been privileged and honoured to have worked closely with David Oates over the last two years. Prior to that I started my Reverse Speech journey in August 2015 where I thoroughly enjoyed and quickly completed each of the courses offered and was a fully trained Practitioner by March of 2017. Whilst thoroughly enjoying the application of Reverse Speech in a therapeutic way, assisting many clients in their personal and professional lives with outstanding results, I was asked to join the Reverse Speech team in February 2016. I started working with David, assisting students going through their own Reverse Speech studies.

David's research and own journey into Reverse Speech has been nothing short of phenomenal. David states that:

Language is bi-level: forward and reverse. As the human brain constructs the sounds of speech, it forms those sounds in such a way that two messages are delivered simultaneously. One forwards, which is the conscious mind speaking, and the other in reverse, which is the unconscious mind speaking.

When forwards speech in humans is recorded and then, when the recording is played backwards, there are clear audible words and sentences that can be heard in amongst the standard gibberish.

His discovery is that reversals really are Voices from our Unconscious Mind, and forward speech produces clear reversals that offer us the truth of what we are really thinking, as the unconscious mind does not lie. It is impossible to lie when reversals access truth only. According to the research and analysis of thousands of reversals found, David Oates has never discovered one instance of someone being able to withhold the truth in reverse. Reverse speech allows the mask of the personality to become transparent, revealing a person's honest feelings and their inner thoughts. All is laid out right in front of you! It has also led to further discoveries of the unconscious mind and all that it means in a spiritual sense.

Based on this truth, this book gives a brilliant account of all that Reverse Speech has uncovered, in a simple to follow way. It allows the reader to gain a greater understanding of what Reverse Speech can truly do and the fascinating discoveries David has made through the reversals themselves over the span of 35 years. The examples and explanations given throughout the book have a unique way of giving the reader an inside look at the workings and applications of Reverse Speech. Whether you are well versed with Reverse Speech or have limited knowledge, it has solid and fascinating information for everyone.

Each chapter takes a detailed look at what the unconscious mind has uncovered, and the reversal references throughout the book are intriguing, as David explains so well the interpretations behind the reversals. What it is that the unconscious mind is really saying and the metaphoric nature of reversals, which give a whole new meaning to and how it relates to spirit and the soul.

Preface

Welcome. This is my seventh book on Reverse Speech, which I find rather ironic because in Reverse Speech, Seven is a metaphor for Divine approval, and this book is all about the spiritual aspects of Reverse Speech. I have been planning to write this book for the last year and have really spent that year thinking about what I wanted to say and how to say it. Then, as most of my ideas come to me, I suddenly had the whole book in my mind one day and I started writing. It took me three weeks.

My Christian faith and spiritual beliefs shine through in this book, although, as you will see, they are rather unconventional. I also quote verses from the Bible to illustrate some of my points. I hope people will not be offended by this. By no means do I believe that the Bible is the only sacred scripture, or that it is the only source of God's word, whatever that means. It is, however, what I know and how I was raised, so naturally it affects my thinking.

Personally, I also find the Gnostic Gospels quite fascinating, they also influence my thinking and have been quoted in this book as well.

I guess I just want to be upfront, because if I have a bias, this is it. I have, however, written this book mainly from the lessons I have learned from Reverse Speech, and if I am to be true to that then I cannot ignore the spiritual because Reverse Speech is all about the spiritual. I have known this from the very beginning of my research but have always felt uneasy talking about it publicly. Now I am ready.

In the early days of my work, my fundamentalist beliefs affected my research greatly, but as time went on and I learned to step outside of what I believed, I began to learn new things. I started to see life differently and I started to trust Reverse Speech and what it was telling me. Over time my beliefs and attitudes changed as I began to learn what Reverse Speech, the Voice of the Spirit, was telling me.

I ask you, the reader, to do the same thing I learned I had to do, and the same thing I ask my students to do. Suspend your beliefs momentarily, whatever they may be – political, religious, conspiratorial, or whatever – and come with me on a wonderful journey through the unconscious mind.

Remember, truth is always stranger than fiction.

The Voice of the Spirit

IN NOVEMBER 1987, my research partner, Greg Albrecht, and I, announced to the world that we had discovered another human sense, or, as the news broadcasts called it, the seventh sense. We called this discovery 'Reverse Speech'. Our basic claim was that language is bi-level, and that hidden within the sounds of speech there exists another form of human communication. This form occurs in reverse and can be heard if human speech is recorded and played backwards.

Since that time, I have written many books on the topic and travelled the world, lecturing and teaching about this phenomenon. Reverse Speech has occupied my entire life and my thought processes. I am still as astounded and passionate today about its existence as I was the day I found my very first speech reversal in 1984.

In my many books I have presented studies that support its existence and I have written extensively about the many common patterns that can be found in this phenomenon. The prime one, that Greg first observed, was the principle of complementarity. That is, that forward speech and reverse speech are connected and relate to each other. It was this single observation that greatly helped me believe in its existence.

It is not my intention in this book to cover old ground and repeat what has already been covered in other books. Rather, I want to take the reader on a journey into a whole new world – the world of Truth.

This book will cover what Reverse Speech has taught me over the years. When I first started my research all I was convinced of was that Reverse Speech existed. Well, it took me a while, but I eventually got there. I knew nothing about human consciousness or behaviour. I didn't even know there was a left and right brain hemisphere. In my early years I worked with youth as a counsellor and youth pastor. My background was Christian. My father was a Uniting Church minister in Australia and I had been raised with Christian values.

I initially started my work in the early eighties because I had heard about backward messages in rock and roll and I wanted to know what it was all about. This curiosity, which started as hobby, eventually turned into full-time research, and ultimately my career and life's work.

Once Greg and I published the theory in 1987 I resolved then and there to let Reverse Speech teach me about itself. I was painfully aware of my lack of knowledge and, after my initial approaches to academia were met with ridicule and rejection, I knew I was on my own. Greg had left the research at that stage to pursue his first love of teaching, and I was left with the daunting task of deciphering this new technology (which I called it) and somehow tell the world that it existed.

One of my first questions, and a question that stayed with me for many years, if not decades, was, what exactly was speaking backwards? Yes, it existed but we had no conscious control over it and it appeared, for all intents and purposes, to be unconscious in nature. We didn't know we were doing it and we had no idea what it was saying.

My answers gradually came to me over the years through Reverse Speech itself.

Probably the very first reversal that put me on the path to answer this question occurred in June 1988, when I had been asked to lecture at a Neuro Linguistic Programming seminar in Sydney. I was talking to a group of people about my work and I said:

'I've been suddenly thrust into this role where I have people coming to me and saying, David, I want to know what's going on inside my head and I think, bloody hell [you're asking me and all I do is play tapes backwards].'

A reversal occurred in this section on the precise forward words that are bracketed. The reversal said, Let's look at that, all I am inside.

This gave me my first clue. When you examine the forward phrase, 'All I do is play tapes backwards,' the reversal tells us what we hear when we play tapes backwards: All I am inside.

So Reverse Speech was an access into the totality of Self. But was the totality of self? What exactly did All I am inside mean?

When I released my second book in 1991, Hidden Messages in Human Communication, I proposed a three-level structure for Reverse Speech, which I was partially inspired to create from the works of Carl Jung, an early 20th century psychiatrist. Jung proposed that there were three layers of consciousness: the conscious mind, the Personal Unconscious and the Collective Unconscious, which he described as being a storehouse of all knowledge containing archetypal and mythological motives of which the conscious mind had no knowledge whatsoever. He discussed these theories extensively in his book, The Archetypes and the Collective Unconscious.

From this model and my observations over the previous few years, I devised a structure which I called the three levels of Reverse Speech. I proposed that Reverse Speech came from three distinct parts of the mind. First there was conscious thought and knowledge, or what we were aware of thinking at the time of speaking. These were the type of reversals I primarily found in the early years of my work. However, as time went on, and I started working with clients, I was beginning to find more and more metaphors or archetypal images. These would use words like Wolf, Goddess, Soul, Eden, Lancelot, and a host of other archetypal and mythological images.

At first I had no idea what these metaphors meant or what their purpose was, but I was slowly starting to notice some common trends. The first observation was that there were verbs and nouns. I called the verbs Operational Metaphors and the nouns Structural Metaphors. I divided these into Second Level reversals for the verbs because they seemed to be action words, and the nouns I called Third Level reversals because they seemed to correlate with Jung's theory of the Collective Unconscious.

Clients have often said to me over the years, 'I don't use these words in my normal speech, I don't even know what they mean. Why are they appearing in my reversals?' My answer is always, 'Because there is a common universal mind that connects us all. There is a whole other world in the deep unconscious mind.'

This really leads me on to the next major observation in my research, and that is that there is in fact a whole other world and intelligence that operates inside us. By the mid-nineties, when I had started my first practice in San Diego, California, I had developed a theory about the metaphors of the unconscious and was well into compiling an extensive Reverse Speech metaphor dictionary.

Using the principle of speech complementarity, I had subscribed meanings to hundreds of metaphors, having seen them appearing in the same context repeatedly. In addition to this, I had begun to understand that the deep unconscious not only thinks in pictures, or metaphor, but the metaphors themselves, particularly the structural metaphors, actually create human behaviour.

This was a major discovery, and a complete vindication of Jung's work. Human behaviour is caused and created by a series of complex metaphoric structures in the deep unconscious mind. The voice of Reverse Speech has taught me this over the years and it has also taught me how these structures can be changed and altered, thus affecting human behaviour. Using Metaphor Restructuring, a hypnotic technique I developed over the years, I would get my clients to picture the metaphors and then change the pictures according to instructions given in reverse (I will cover this at greater depth in Chapter 12). I was essentially bypassing the conscious mind and working directly with the unconscious. This created powerful shifts in behaviour, and many of my clients were seeing lifelong problems disappear by using this technique.

Also, in the late 1990s, as I started writing my book It's Only a Metaphor I was beginning to make other unexplained observations in my work. Primarily, that the message that appeared in reversals many times appeared in the person's life. The first time I really noticed this was when it affected me personally. I was dating a lady at the time and doing what I advise all my students not to do. I was analysing our reversals and monitoring the relationship in reverse. One day I found a very clear reversal on her that said, I will shift the bedroom.

The next week I was stunned to see that she had rearranged her whole bedroom, and two weeks after that she found a new partner and I was gone. She literally did shift the bedroom – physically and sexually.

As time went on I probed my clients' lives more and I found this phenomenon appearing across the board. Many times my clients' reversals would exactly duplicate their lives, down to the clothes they wore, the car they drove, and the people they mixed with. Another stunning example I remember from those early days was when I was working with a young man and I found a reversal that said, Car, there will be an accident. I warned him to drive very carefully, yet two weeks later he was sitting at traffic lights and was rear-ended. This was an accident that was totally not his fault, while he was stationary. There was no way he could have anticipated it, so how could that information appear in his reversals?

In the years to come I found other stunning examples. In Bill Clinton's inaugural address for his second term I found a reversal that said, World will come to damn you. We all know what happened in Bill Clinton's second term, and that was the Monica Lewinski scandal, which led to his eventual impeachment and the condemnation of the entire world. In JFK's inaugural address in 1961 I found a reversal that said, Head is hit in the car. This is a chilling prediction of his assassination in 1963 where the Zapruder film clearly shows a shot to his head. How could he have possibly known that in 1961?

And '911'. I found reversals on two separate Australian clients in 2001 that both predicted a disaster to hit America. One reversal said, Soon plan evil on America, and the other said, They'll fuss with the USA. Neither of these clients had any connection to America and were both puzzled with the reversal. Then, on September 11 2001, as I watched the planes hit the twin towers, I remembered those two reversals with a chill, and I wondered even more what exactly we were tapping into with Reverse Speech. What indeed was speaking backwards? Clearly it was more than the three levels I had originally ascribed to Reverse Speech.

As with all the questions I have had about Reverse Speech over the years, the answers came in the form of reversals. The first significant one occurred in the late 1990s. One of my students, Jack Johnston, was talking into his tape recorder, looking for answers. What was speaking backwards? In one section he says this forward: 'Is there the voice of God among you, [or are you servants of Divinity, servants of God], or is there the voice of God?'

Backwards he said, God was in the verse. He's the living force in the verse. We are Earl.

This powerful reversal is profound. For a start, Reverse Speech itself, in another reversal, describes itself as a Sacred verse. The reversal implies that this sacred verse, or Reverse Speech, is directly inspired by God. He is the living force in the verse. The statement We are Earl means we are great and grand and noble.

In another reversal found on me during a radio show, I talk directly about the spiritual dimension of Reverse Speech in response to a question asked:

Sometimes people ask me does Reverse Speech endorse any particular religion and the answer to that is no. There are no deities or religions that Reverse Speech endorses or says this is right and this is wrong. It just talks about the Soul and the endlessness of life [and that in itself is] very powerful.

Backwards I say, It's the Voice in Heaven.

Reverse Speech describes Heaven as residing within, not without, and this is in keeping with many religious philosophies. The Kingdom of God resides within, according to Jesus in Luke chapter 17.

Reverse Speech describes itself as the Voice in Heaven, influenced by God, that comes from all parts of our being.

OK, let's get more specific. Reverse Speech is full of reversals that use the third person giving advice and instructions concerning life and our life decisions. For example, a Reverse Speech Analyst was speaking into his tape recorder once, looking for financial advice. A very clear reversal occurred that said, You're frightened, lean on me. Clearly this voice in reverse knew his emotional state, but who exactly is me?

Here a client receives a specific instruction in reverse as she is talking about life issues. The reversal says, Deal with sad youth. Another client receives an instruction about a new relationship with a reversal that says, This is shallow, abandon it. Who or what is giving these instructions and how deep does Reverse Speech go? Clearly it is far deeper than the three levels I initially devised, and in my 2016 book, Unveiling the Truth, I propose an endless structure of the human mind, or consciousness.

Which brings us to probably the most important aspect of Reverse Speech to discuss in this chapter, and that is the human Soul. There is hardly a recording I analyse for clients that doesn't refer to the human Soul. In fact, it is probably the most common metaphor in Reverse Speech, along with Wolf. Reverse Speech is constantly discussing the state of the Soul. It describes the Soul as alive and active and an essential and integral part of our nature as humans. The Soul does not speak in reverse but the Voice that does speak backwards is continuously discussing the Soul as though it is the very foundation stone of our psyche.

Here are some of them:

1. A Reverse Speech Practitioner talking to his client: Soul serve you, make you feel love.
2. A stockbroker talking about the future of his investments: And my Soul with the devil. (His investments failed.)
3. A client talking about a life filled with debauchery: Angry Soul.
4. A Reverse Speech student talking about my discovery of Reverse Speech: God's nourished his Soul.
5. A client talking about constant failure in her business: It must hurt the Soul.

6. A client talking about passing hereditary traits on to children: Our Soul looks down in heaven.

7. Another client talking about her fascination with the human psyche: The Soul, it's sharing the force on this.

These are just seven references of the many thousands I have on my files that talk about the human Soul. We will discuss these references and the Soul at far greater depth as this book continues.

The point I am trying to make with all this though is that Reverse Speech discusses the totality of the human psyche. There are not three levels. There is just an ever-deepening layer of consciousness. From the conscious mind, to the sub-conscious, to the unconscious, to the collective unconscious, to the Soul and to Heaven itself.

So, what is speaking backwards? What is this Voice? After thirty-five years of research with Reverse Speech I can state with great confidence that it is the Spirit speaking. And the Spirit is just one aspect of the Divine. I have spent thousands of hours, analysing thousands of tapes, for over thirty-five years, pondering this question.

According to Reverse Speech, the Spirit is an aspect of God, one part of the many parts of Divinity. It resides within and it is always with us. It is talking constantly in reverse, describing itself as the metaphor known as The One. It details what we are thinking at the time of speaking, whether it be a truth or a lie or just random thoughts. It tells us of the state of our emotional and spiritual and physical wellbeing, giving us advice and guidance. It describes our behaviour and our world, telling us why and how we do the things that we do. And it describes our relationship with God and who God is.

Many people already know the voice of the spirit exists.

Arab News talks about this voice, quoting the Quran:

Before any decision we have to make, we hear a voice that shows us the way and directs us toward what is right. From the moment we wake up in the morning, wherever we may go and whatever we may do, this voice accompanies us. Nobody else can hear it but that voice speaks to us of justice, moral virtue, humility, honesty and sincerity; in short everything that is good. This internal voice that shows us the way and commands us to do what is right is the voice of the conscience. In one verse of the Quran, Allah speaks of 'the two paths' (Quran 90:10). In other words, in addition to a voice calling one to goodness, there is another calling one to evil. Knowingly or otherwise, people either follow the path of our Lord, their consciences, or else that of corruption, Satan.<sup>1</sup>

Other people try to access this voice through a variety of means, whether it be prayer, meditation, hypnosis or drugs. Sometimes it speaks to us in our dreams.

But the most direct way it speaks is with Reverse Speech.

With Reverse Speech you can hear the voice of the spirit. You can find out who you are and why you are here

At the end of Chapter 1 of the very first book on Reverse Speech, Beyond Backward Masking, Greg and I make a very bold statement:

The implications of this are far-reaching and profound. Reverse Speech and Speech Complementarity may very well be the key that unlocks many deep secrets in the subconscious mind as well as that dimension of the human psyche commonly referred to in religion as the Soul.

This statement has proven to be very prophetic. My research has indeed uncovered many deep secrets of the mind, our world, and the Soul, maybe even God. This book explores these findings. And in words found in the Gnostic Gospels, it says:

I will speak to those who know to hear not with the ears of the body but with the ears of the mind. For many have sought after the truth and have not been able to find it. (The Testimony of Truth IX 29)

Reverse Speech, the voice of the Spirit, speaks directly to the ears of the mind, the unconscious mind, not the body. If you are ready to hear these Truths, then read on.

Is God only a Metaphor?

REVERSE SPEECH is full of metaphoric imagery, and when you think about it, this is not surprising. The power of pictures has long been known, and the phrase, 'A picture is worth a thousand words,' is often quoted. The Bible is a book of metaphors, and the book of Revelations is one giant metaphor from beginning to end. When read with a knowledge of metaphors from Reverse Speech, Revelations is actually a wonderful story about the evolution of the human race, not its destruction. The Garden of Eden is a majestic metaphor about the birth of consciousness, and the teachings of Yeshua were mainly in parables, or metaphors.

The title of my book, It's Only a Metaphor, is tongue-in-cheek for those who haven't realised it yet. Metaphors are everything. They dictate our behaviour and, with the power of the Soul, they create the experiences we have in the world in which we live.

So, is God only a metaphor? It depends on how you understand metaphors.

I had a dilemma when I first started documenting metaphors in transcript form. Do I capitalise them or leave them in small letters? I eventually decided to leave them in small letters. But what do I do about God? Is he/she/it another metaphor, or something more? Is God, in fact, God? Or is God merely a metaphor?

It took me decades to answer that question, and I'm not even close to being one hundred percent sure, but this is what I know so far.

I do capitalise God, but the word God is not common in Reverse Speech – not like Soul, which occurs constantly, in virtually every recording I analyse. God is always referred to as male in Reverse, using words like He, His and Him. Now here comes the clanger, which will not win me many friends in the fundamentalist Christian community. God goes by many names in reverse. Two of the main ones are Yahweh and Allah. Both words are what we call mirror image reversals. They say exactly the same thing forwards and backwards, which I find fascinating. Yahweh was the name the early Jews called God, and Allah, of course, is the Muslim designation.

I have found the word Allah on professed Christians describing God, and they usually take great offence to the fact they used the word Allah. And I have found Yahweh on Muslims. I have an amazing reversal on Nelson Mandela where he says backwards, I love the Lord Krishna forever. Now, Mandela was a professed Christian, so what was he doing using the word Krishna to describe God?

God goes by many other names too in reverse: Elohim, sometimes shortened to El; Alpha, a shortened version of Alpha and Omega; Shiva, Ganesha, and other Hindu gods. Also found referring to God are ancient Roman and Greek gods: Thor, Zeus, Isis, and Ra. Buddha also occurs occasionally, as well as Odin. Yeshua frequently appears as a name for Jesus, which was Jesus' original name in Hebrew. Interestingly enough, the name Jesus Christ often reverses to say Shark's disease or Sharks of Eden, depending on how it is said, which does not sound very healthy to me. Does the whole Christian religion have the name wrong?

Reverse Speech talks about God as having many facets, or, as I like to say, faces. Christians talk about the triune nature of God, which they refer to as the Trinity: Father, Son and Holy Ghost. But Reverse Speech says God has many more faces than just three. There are many parts to God.

To put God in a box and say that this is all that God is, or that this is the only path to God, is to totally misunderstand the nature, power, majesty and vastness of God in whatever name you choose to call Him. Some Christians, not all, believe they have the only path to God. They quote the words of Yeshua, where he says, 'I am the way and the truth and life, no one comes to the Father except by me'.

They use this quote to justify their dogmatic position that they have the only path to God (don't all religions think that?). But the quote is misunderstood. Yeshua said 'the Father', not God. The Father is just one of the many faces of God and, as far as I am aware, Christianity is the only religion that teaches God as being a loving Father. Other religions teach other aspects of God. They all have one small portion of the total truth. God is vast and will not fit into the boxes we create for him.

The same is true of metaphors. Each metaphor is only one portion of the truth, or self, but combined they create the whole.

Reverse Speech often refers to the metaphor Sound or the Word as the means of creation. We create the world we live in with Sound, or the Word, in the Whirlwind. The sound, or Word, as Reverse Speech describes, creates our world (more on this later). The first words of the book of John in the Bible say, 'In the beginning was the word and the word was with God and the word was God.'

Let me repeat that. And the word was God. The word, or the metaphor, creates all things. God created the world with Sound. God is the word, or metaphor, and the word creates. The book of Genesis tells us, 'God said, let there be light.'

We use the same language in reverse. Reversals are constantly talking about the word or the sound as a means of creation. We speak into being that which we want to experience according to the wishes of the unconscious mind. We, like God, have the power of creation, but it happens in the unconscious, not the conscious.

The song, 'Fly like an eagle', contains a reversal that says, We really are God. And a reversal I found on a client said, The word of God lives within me. We already know from Reverse Speech and religious literature that the kingdom of Heaven lies within, therefore God resides within all of us, not up in the clouds somewhere.

Reverse Speech tells us that God, in His many forms and names, is a living force within.

Other reversals:

1. A client suffering from depression: And God lives, he's the wisdom shepherd.

2. The Reverend Jerry Falwell in a sermon: The will of God's reign is love.

3. A client talking about her meaning in life: God, He lives in my heart.

4. Senator John Kerry: I am the God who gives you my Soul.

The last reversal is very significant: I am the God. And the reversal, We really are God, tells us a wonderful yet confronting truth. God resides within, we all have access to His power and, because He resides within, we are also God. The Bible tells us that we are made in the image of God. Therefore, we are just like God with all wisdom and majesty and power. We have either forgotten this basic truth or are too scared to accept it. Some may even call it heresy!

A phrase in Reverse Speech that appears occasionally is I AM, meaning I have knowledge of who I am, and I am God. When someone declares I AM in reverse, they are acknowledging the power of God within and even going so far as to say that they are God.

So, is God a metaphor? To truly understand that question and its answer you must understand that metaphors are more than mere words. They are living entities within the unconscious with power and autonomy in their own right. Metaphors combine and work together to create the dance of consciousness. They make us who we are, and they create our life and world.

The force they use for this creation process is called the Whirlwind.

Greg and I commented on the Whirlwind in our first book, but we knew very little about what it meant or what it was. Research found that the word appears abundantly in many religious writings: the Bible, The Upanishads, the Songs of the South, to name just a few. Whirlwind also appears across the board in many cultures and traditions.

An interesting reversal occurs on the minister who married Prince Harry and Megan Markle when he talks forwards about the unconditional love of God for the world. It says, Whirlwind of God.

The Whirlwind is a living, unifying force that surrounds all of us and the entire planet. It binds us altogether, connects us, and is an important avenue of unconscious communication contributing to the collective unconscious. According to Reverse Speech, it's the active power God uses for Creation.

I used to call it a metaphor in my early books but since I have come to understand metaphors to be more than mere words to be translated, but are rather living forces within, I see the Whirlwind in the same light. As I said earlier in a reversal, God was in the verse, he's the living force in the verse. The Whirlwind is the means by which God creates and the means by which we create because we are God! Our ultimate destiny and the purpose of evolution is to realise that fact and begin to create consciously using the Whirlwind, rather than being slaves to our unconscious patterns that create our world whether we like it or not. God is the living force; therefore, we are the living force. I will cover this in greater depth further on in the book.

To prove to yourself that the Whirlwind, or living force, is real, try this experiment at home. Get a partner and stand in front of them. Rub your hands together, and get in rapport by matching body positions. Take a deep breath and hold your hands about six inches out from their body. You will feel a gentle pressure or warm sensation, which varies in intensity and distance as you rub your hands over the outside of their body. This is the Whirlwind that you are feeling. Some people call it the aura, but that term is only part of what the Whirlwind is and does not describe its true power.

Metaphors are real. They exist. Creation is real. It operates through Sound in the Whirlwind. In the beginning was the Word. God was the Word, and he created more Words with sound. We are the sum of all the words of creation.

So, is God only a metaphor? Are metaphors only metaphors? The answer to both questions is no. God was the original Word, that created all things through Sound. He is part of our entire metaphoric structure. We can choose to access this metaphor or ignore it. Either way it is continuously creating. Realise this simple fact, dive into the unconscious, and you too can master the powers of creation.

The Soul

THE SOUL HAS always been a mystery to me. What exactly is it? Is it a spirit? Does it have mass or energy? Does our consciousness reside in the Soul and does it survive death? Many of these questions have been answered during my years of research with Reverse Speech.

For a start, lets clear up some confusion about Soul and Spirit. These two terms are often lumped together as being the same thing. They are not. The Soul is us. It is the I, the sense of being who we are as sentient beings. One could call it our consciousness, but that term is misleading because of the definition of the conscious mind. The Soul is the part that thinks, the part that knows we exist, the part that has all knowledge. The Soul knows all and contains the storehouse of all knowledge, but because we are disconnected from the Soul, our conscious mind knows only a small amount of this total knowledge.

In the early twentieth century a series of interesting experiments were conducted in Dorchester, Massachusetts, by Dr Duncan MacDougall. Dr McDougall was attempting to prove that the human Soul had weight. He conducted several experiments with patients who were near death. He weighed their bodies just before death and at the exact moment of their death he noted a sudden and immediate weight loss, in all of his patients, of 21 grams, give or take a gram or so. All other variables such as equipment and air in the lungs were considered, but nothing could explain this loss of weight. Dr McDougall concluded that the human Soul had a weight of approximately 21 grams and left the body at the precise moment of death. <<https://www.historicmysteries.com/the-21-gram-soul-theory/>>

Reverse Speech tells us that the Soul lives forever. However, it doesn't tell us in what form this will be. Maybe more reversing will reveal the answer to this question in time. Some people believe we reincarnate and the Soul moves on to another life, but Reverse Speech gives us no answers to this question after the thirty-five years I have been doing it. In the few times I have explored reincarnation I have always gotten the same response: Do not go there. That knowledge is not to be viewed, and so I am content knowing that my Soul, or the part of me that is sentient, will go on after the death of its current vessel, my physical body.

The Spirit, on the other hand, is not us per se, or the way we understand us as being. Reverse Speech is quite clear on this fact. The Spirit is a part of the Divine that resides within. Christians call it the Holy Spirit. The Divine spirit lives in us all. It is constantly talking to us, giving us advice and guidance. Sometimes we can sense its voice as a feeling or a knowing. Sometimes it talks to us in our dreams. Whether we can perceive its voice depends on how in touch with ourselves we are. The more congruent or the more conscious we are, the more we can accurately discern what the spirit of the Divine is telling us.

But if we really want to hear its voice accurately and know exactly what it is saying, all we must do is play a recording of speech backwards and there it is – constantly talking.

So, what does Reverse Speech tell us about the Soul? For a start, the Soul has emotions. It can be happy or sad, angry or bitter, love or hate. It has these emotions because our unconscious selves have chosen to experience these emotions, and the Soul, which is us, also experiences the same emotions.

Reverse Speech also tells us that the Soul is like a computer hard drive, storing all our experiences and words and thoughts with perfect clarity and recollection in its giant storage bank. What our conscious mind has forgotten the Soul remembers, and the Soul carries all this information with it beyond physical death.

Now we come to what is probably the most significant function of the Soul. The Soul creates our world. It creates because it is Divine, and it is Divine because we are Divine. The Soul uses the Whirlwind as the means of this creation process. And it creates what we tell it to create, either consciously or unconsciously. As it stores and remembers the experiences of our life, starting in the womb, then progressing through childhood and onto adulthood, it feeds those experiences back to us. Thus, the person who has grown with sadness and pain will create life experiences to produce more sadness and pain. The same is true of joy and success. The Soul will create those experiences for us as well because we have told the Soul, consciously or unconsciously, that that is what we want.

The following examples help illustrate this:

1. A client talking about her fascinating life and her desire to help people: The Soul, it's sharing the force on this. In other words, the Soul is sharing her love of life and people.

2. A litigious client talking about suing a company: It's the Soul I battle. The reversal speaks for itself. It is her own Soul she is fighting, and this is manifesting as lawsuits in the physical world.

3. A salesperson wondering why she is failing in her business: It must hurt the Soul. Her failures are a way of damaging her Soul and she is creating more failures for more damage.

4. A client wondering why he is manifesting chaos in his life: The Soul will need panic. He is manifesting chaos to create panic in his Soul because at some point in his life he has learned that panic is normal. The Soul knows no right or wrong. It merely does what we tell it to do. It is the Spirit that is our conscience.

5. A client talks about lack of support in her life and how this makes her very uneasy: Look, your Soul will feed the worries. It is her Soul creating the worries in her life, once again because at some stage she told her Soul this is what she wants, either through her thoughts, actions or environment.

6. This example is on me, as I was experiencing a period of severe depression in my life following the recent death of my son, and a very nasty public lawsuit: My Soul give the pain. The reversal itself has emotion. You can hear the pain in the reversal. My Soul was giving me the pain because that is what I had fed it for almost two years. I immediately booked myself in to session work and fixed my Soul. A reversal I found shortly after I had finished the session work said, My Soul well.

So, what do we know about Soul so far:

1. It is sentient; it is the sense of I, or I exist.
2. It has feelings and emotions.
3. It creates and manifests.
4. It survives the body's physical death.
5. It stores all our life experiences with perfect recall.

This brings us to another aspect of the human Soul. It is an integral part of the collective unconscious. It is connected to every single person on the planet through the Whirlwind. This Whirlwind has, as one of its many functions, a means of unconscious communication. As a person in London thinks a thought, that thought connects to the Whirlwind and is received by a person in Sydney at the same time, just like the internet sends an email. In fact, the internet probably exists because this unconscious communication net exists, and we have become more conscious as a species. Remember, the world in which we live reflects who we are.

This unconscious communication has been going on ever since we first became sentient in humanity's past, maybe in the Garden of Eden. Thus, all knowledge that has ever existed, all thought that has ever transpired, exists inside all of us. Indeed, to go one step further, the collective unconscious also has knowledge of the future because that too is one of our senses. That is why I can find a prediction of 911 on an Australian client, or a prediction of JFK's own assassination on his inaugural address.

Therefore, I can find references to Rome or Jerusalem, or the Garden of Eden or Camelot in my client's reversals, because they are all a part of our heritage. Not only that, but the heritage they represent has guided us into the people we are today. We evolve as each new event or idea is added into the collective unconscious. This is evolution. It is happening now. We are venturing into space as a species because we are continuing to evolve. We will move to the planets and the stars as the collective unconscious grows even more, and we become more conscious of it.

Humanity's evolution happens because we evolve. Outer space exploration will continue as we as a species learn how to become more conscious, accept that we are spiritual beings and begin to learn from the voice of the Spirit. German author Johann Wolfgang von Goethe predicted this, particularly the words, 'when one spirit to another speaks'.

The star's course then you'll understand and nature, teaching you, will then expand the power of your soul as when one spirit to another speaks. (Faust, Act 1, Scene 1)

This is one of the most important messages that Reverse Speech has for the world.

Finally, in this chapter, let's look at the structure of the Soul. Reverse Speech describes the Soul as having three distinct parts. One part is Fire. It is the energy that fuels the Soul and creates the life force for the body. Reverse Speech refers to this as sexual energy. Then we have Light. This is the Divine. It's that simple.

Thirdly, and a little bit more complicated to explain, is the Ark, or the Ark of the Covenant. This metaphor resides in the very centre of the Soul and it contains the metaphors known as the Laws or Verses. The laws and verses are the rules and conduct we live by. They tell us what to do, good or bad, right or wrong. We write these laws and verses as we live, and as we receive information from the Whirlwind to be added to the collective unconscious.

Also residing in the Ark is a record of our metaphoric structures as they exist in the unconscious mind (more on this next chapter). When we experience physical death and our Soul leaves the body, we take with us the record of our experiences and the metaphors we have lived by.

So, if you don't like who you are, you better change fast because that's what you will take with you when your Soul leaves your body!

The Unconscious Kingdoms

THERE EXISTS MANY other worlds in the deep unconscious. We are not one entity but a combination of hundreds if not thousands of different parts. I call these entities and their many parts The Unconscious Kingdoms. They consist of metaphors and what are sometimes called archetypes. At Dictionary.com an archetype is described thus: In the psychology of Carl Jung archetypes are the images, patterns and symbols that rise out of the collective unconscious and appear in dreams, mythology and fairy tales.

Reverse Speech goes further than this and says that not only do archetypes, or metaphors as I call them, appear in dreams and mythology, but they are active and essential parts of the unconscious mind and human behaviour. The reason why they appear in dreams and mythology is because they exist within. Metaphors work together to create who we are.

The many Kingdoms in the deep unconscious are alive and active and have their own unique functions in human behaviour. The Kingdom of the Ocean consists of many different metaphors: the Ship, the Mast, the Helm, the Surf, and the Weather, to name just a few. These metaphors refer to our life's journey and the control we have over our own life and direction, including how well we navigate through the storms and turmoils of life.

The Kingdom of Rome is also a major metaphor. It also consists of many other different sub-metaphors: Soldier, Caesar, Market, Battle, Nero. These metaphors refer to commerce and business and our own personal world. The strength and dominance of the Rome metaphor directly affects our personal wealth and success. If we have control of the helm in our Ship and Rome is large and busy, then we are in control of our life and are successful. I have been able to bring success to many client's lives working with these metaphors.

All these scenarios are constantly played out in the deep unconscious as the energies of the metaphors create sparks that fire the neurons that control the brain.

The brain itself has its own Kingdom called the House. There are elves and gnomes that live in the House and these carry the messages from one part of the mind to the other. The many rooms in the House represent different parts of the mind. I often go to these different rooms in my metaphor journeys with my clients. In 2005 my daughter suffered a serious traumatic brain injury when she fell two stories at a shopping centre. She was given a very poor chance of surviving the night, and if she did, I was told she would be institutionalised for the rest of her life. I refused to accept this diagnosis and after she did survive the night, I made a metaphor journey for her, embedded subliminally into relaxing music. The journey consisted of her seeing a broken-down house and having the elves rebuild the house. My daughter's recovery was nothing short of miraculous and within a year she was back living at home and now shows no sign of the diagnosis she was given.

Other common Kingdoms are The Garden of Eden with Adam and Eve, the river of Life, and the waterfall that represents the Heart. Camelot is also common, with Merlin and Arthur and Lancelot, and the legend of Rocelin where Merlin lost his magic. The Kingdom of Jerusalem appears with the Temple and the Library that contain knowledge and wisdom, and of great importance is the Kingdom of Heaven where God and the Soul reside. Heaven appears in Reverse Speech as a majestic crystal city with Golden Streets. Often the archangel Michael guards the gates to the city and lets people in. I take clients to this Kingdom on a regular basis because it is such an integral part of Reverse Speech.

And so the list goes on, with hundreds of other metaphors and dozens of different Kingdoms. Human behaviour and personality are formed by the unique metaphoric structure each individual person has.

Let's take the common metaphor Wolf. It appears on a regular basis. It refers to drive and motivation. If a person has a normal-sized Wolf, their drive and motivation will be strong. Metaphors, though, never work on their own. There are also many other metaphors that interact with each other. If the Wolf metaphor is accompanied by Rome, then the person will be highly motivated to build a business. Whether that business will be successful or not depends on other metaphors they are running. The metaphor Goddess refers to hope for the future and our dreams. If this is accompanied by the Wolf metaphor then this person will be motivated by their hopes and dreams. If, however, Wolf is accompanied by Satan, which refers to anger and negativity, then the person will be an angry, aggressive person, and probably get right in your face!

This is the true structure of the unconscious mind and human behaviour. Everyone is different, no one has the same metaphors, and no one thinks the same. The journeys I take my clients on, which I call Metawalks, are wide and varied. Likewise, none are the same because no person is the same. There is, however, a standard metaphoric structure just like the physical body has a standard structure. I will discuss this further in the last chapter.

Modern psychiatry will never work effectively with talk therapy and psychotropic drugs, because they don't get to the root causes of the behaviour, which are the metaphors we all carry in the many Unconscious Kingdoms. Carl Jung got very close to it and he spent his entire career studying metaphors and archetypes. But Jung didn't have Reverse Speech. Modern psychiatry doesn't have Reverse Speech, and until the psychiatric profession wises up and realises that there is a direct path to the unconscious that speaks in words that we can hear and understand, it will forever remain in the archetypal dark ages.

Reverse Speech is real. It exists. It is the voice of the spirit and, if we learn to listen, it teaches us about ourselves, and one of the most important lessons it teaches us is that we are all spiritual beings. We all have a Soul and we are all Divine. The Unconscious Kingdoms and metaphors are also spiritual in nature. They are thought forms with spiritual power and this power is generated by the fire of the Soul.

The Bible tells us that we were all made in the image of God. To me, this tells us that we are just like God with His infinite wisdom and infinite power. This wisdom resides in the Collective Unconscious, which no one really knows even exists. The infinite power resides in the Soul, which we give lip service to but are totally cut off from its real power. Yeshua, who raised Lazarus from the dead, told his disciples that even greater things than these will they also do. We all have this spiritual power. It resides in the unconscious Kingdoms and the Soul itself.

The trouble is we are incongruent for the most part and totally unaware of the many worlds that live inside. To put it bluntly, we are totally out of touch with reality and the Truth of creation. The powers of creation that we exercise every minute of every day all happen in the Soul and the Whirlwind and are directly influenced by the Unconscious Kingdoms we all have.

Some people say that the conscious mind is only five per cent of our total consciousness. I think that figure is too high. I would estimate it as less than one per cent, given the many amazing talents and abilities that Reverse Speech has told me we all have inside.

It is my fervent hope, and indeed my mission, to tell the world about this amazing discovery of Reverse Speech and the many very profound Truths it tells us about ourselves. In time, as the world slowly awakens to its existence and begins to learn from its voice and accepts the wisdom it can impart, it will literally create a revolution of thought and spiritual power. It will elevate us as a species from the brain-dead race that we currently are, despite our many achievements, and take us to new heights of evolution. In fact, I would go so far as to say that the discovery of Reverse Speech will take us to the next evolutionary leap as we realise that we really are God and begin to access the wisdom of all things that reside in the Collective Unconscious.

It will lead to the fulfilment of Revelations 21:1-4.

Then I saw a new heaven and a new earth. The first heaven and the first earth disappeared, and the sea vanished. And I saw the Holy City, the new Jerusalem coming down out of heaven from God, prepared and ready, like a bride dressed to meet her husband. I heard a loud voice speaking from the throne, 'Now God's home is with men! He will live with them, and they shall be his people. God himself will be with them, and he will be their God.'

This wonderful metaphor talks about our awakening, to our awareness of God and the Unconscious Kingdoms within.

We shall evolve.

Reverse Speech Practitioner Jack Johnston once had a reversal when he was talking about the mission of Reverse Speech and the work that we do. It said, We deal with Revolution.

Reverse Speech indeed is a revolution, A revolution of thought and consciousness and belief. It will change the world.

The Many Human Senses

WE HAVE TRADITIONALLY been taught that we have five senses: sight, touch, hearing, taste and smell. Reverse Speech tells us that there are many more in the unconscious, and the ones we are aware of are far more powerful than we have previously understood.

Let's take the sense of smell, for example. It's a very common theme in Reverse Speech and reversals frequently refer to specific odours such as roses, perfume, incense, farts and a host more. In fact, I once started compiling a dictionary of all these odours, but a well-publicised lawsuit in America kind of got me side-tracked and I never went back to it. Reverse Speech says we are transmitting and receiving odours all the time as a form of unconscious communication. These odours are imperceptible to the conscious mind, but they are recognised by the unconscious, which processes the information the odours contain. It is another form of unconscious communication. Do you know the saying, a bad smell just walked into the room? It is probably far more factual than you realise.

Dogs, whose sense of smell is far more acute than ours, can recognise these unconscious odours. In fact, many studies show that dogs can be trained to detect cancer in humans by the subtle odours we cannot consciously perceive.

Sometimes these unconscious odours can become conscious. Some shamans have been known to manifest the scent of roses at will. Have you smelt an unexplained odour? You may have just been consciously perceiving momentarily what is unconscious.

This very thing happened to me in a dramatic fashion in the late 90s when I had my practice in San Diego. It may seem unbelievable, but I can assure it happened and there were many witnesses. I started to experience odours in my office as I worked with clients. These odours were strong and powerful and could be smelled by my staff and those in the adjacent offices. So strong were the odours that we had to buy a large fan to clear out the office in between clients. Sometimes they blew through my office like breezes and you could actually feel the wind. There were dozens of different odours, from candle wax, to perfume or burning rubber.

After a few weeks of this, and some very puzzled and awed clients, I began to realise what these odours were and the effect they were having in my session work. The odours nearly always related to the issues my clients were working on. For example, a Jewish client who was struggling with his heritage had the strong odour of dirty, smelly feet. This reminded both me and him of the ancient Jewish prophets who walked into the deserts. One client had the strong smell of candle wax and this triggered a memory in her of being molested in a church as a young child. Another client who had a marijuana habit he was trying to break filled the office with the odour of fresh marijuana. And the list goes on. Dozens of different odours and dozens of different clients.

The odours continued for about a year, and appeared in my personal life during this time as well. Then as quickly as they came, they faded away. There have only been two incidents I have personally experienced since that time. One occurred about two years later when I was driving past my old burned-out house with my good friend, and right-hand man, Jeff Toth. Even though it had been a year since the house fire, the car was suddenly filled with the powerful odour of smoke. We rolled down the windows and jumped out of the car. There was no odour. We hopped back into the car and there was the odour again, just like the fire was happening now. We rapidly drove away, and the odour disappeared.

The only other incident occurred a few years later when I was teaching a live class in Townsville, Australia. Some of my students were farmers running a large cattle station. I was telling the students the story about the odours and they asked me to manifest some odours at will. I laughed and said, 'I can't do that, I don't even know how they happened in the first place.'

Nevertheless, after class, when we were driving back to the station where I was staying, suddenly the car was filled with the strong odour of cow dung. We were still in the township at that stage. There were no cows in sight. That is the last time I have experienced the odours, although some of my students have reported smelling unexplained odours in the house, including one student who woke up to the strong smell of roses all through her house.

How are these unconscious odours becoming conscious? My own personal theory is that as we listen to tapes in reverse we are opening ourselves up to the world of the unconscious and bringing to consciousness what is usually unconscious. All these odours occurred during a very busy time in my practice. I was booked solid with clients every day and analysing recordings every night. I was filling myself with the unconscious mind and it was in person. Well, that's my theory anyway.

The next human sense to discuss is what Reverse Speech calls Sound. It also refers to it as The Word or Logos, but sound is the more common term. This sound is an energetic vibration that contains unconscious information and is transmitted, like radio waves in the air, through the energy field known as the Whirlwind. I suspect the skin is both the transmitter and receiver. Just as radio waves cannot be seen or heard or perceived without special equipment, so it is with The Sound. This sound, like Reverse Speech, is constantly communicating, transmitting unconscious information, our thoughts and emotions, our history, our heritage and our knowledge.

In time, just as we learned how to harness the magic of radio waves, we will learn how to harness the magic of Sound. Its exact nature will be discovered, equipment will be built, and we will have conscious awareness of this other form of unconscious communication that uses the Whirlwind as its conduit. And knowledge will increase, and the seals of the sacred scrolls shall be broken.

Another human sense is the ability of foresight, or seeing into the future. I discussed this phenomenon briefly earlier in this book. I see many references in Reverse Speech that accurately predict the future. We have knowledge of the future because in the world of the unconscious there is no time. There is only existence.

I relayed earlier the story of I will shift the bedroom. I have other, equally compelling, stories. One story I tell often is that of a reversal that occurred on me during a radio interview I was giving. One of my analysts analysed the recording of the show and found a reversal on me that said, On a highway, there's a chill here. The reversal was totally out of context with my forward dialogue and I had no idea what it meant.

Two weeks later I was flying to see Jeff Toth. Jeff lives way out bush in Oregon, ironically in an area called the Oregon outback, and I had to fly into a regional airport to see him. Just as the plane was about the land it started circling the airport, and the pilot announced the airport was snowed in and we had to return to Portland. We arrived back in Portland and, intrepid little me, never being one to be beaten by a challenge, hired a four-wheel drive vehicle and drove out to see Jeff instead. Well, an hour into my journey it started to snow. Not too bad at first, but me, not being used to driving in snow (after all, I come from Australia), was a little bit perturbed.

As time passed the snow became heavier and heavier, until I was driving through a raging blizzard, and down to five miles an hour. And, just to add to all the confusion, I was also driving on the wrong side of the road! I finally arrived to see Jeff, in about three feet of snow, and it was freezing! The reversal, On a highway, there's a chill here, had become dramatically true.

I discussed earlier about 911 and JFK, but Princess Di also predicted her own death, and the means of that death, in her secret tapes recorded in 1991. Two significant reversals occurred. One said, And I was left to save us, so we had an accident, and the other said, Suicide that chauffeur. I don't want to get into any theories about conspiracies or murders because I have done no research on this, but the reversal predicted an 'accident' and uses an interesting word, 'suicide'. One could argue that the chauffeur who was driving Princess Di virtually did kill himself due to the alcohol in his blood and the high speeds he was driving at.

An amusing reversal occurs on Hillary Clinton as she is on the campaign trail for president. It says, I wish I won. Of course, she hadn't won or lost at that stage, so the reversal was a future thought. I call these types of reversals, Premonitions.

There is also a category of reversals I call Future Tense Reversals. These, like premonitions, accurately predict future events. Here are some of them:

1. George W. Bush, two weeks before the second Iraq war: We will sit in Bagdad. Two weeks after this reversal he invaded Iraq and the US sat in Bagdad.

2. A businessman talking about his business. There'll be an awful fuckup. A few weeks later he messed up one of his client's orders and it cost him a lot of money.

3. Australian Prime Minister, John Howard, after the Bali bombings in 2002, in which 88 Australians were killed: They will fuck the tourists. In 2005 there was another bombing in Bali, in which more tourists were killed.

4. Nicola Tesla talking about the new power of electricity and how it will provide the world with unlimited energy: Your emissions will be bad. A true statement. The by-products created by the current generation of electricity are indeed bad. That's why we need to go for more natural resources such as wind and solar.

5. Finally, an amusing reversal on a businessman talking about earning $10,000 a week from his company: My wife will keep spending it. He later said to me, 'You don't want to see my wife's credit card bill!'

Of course, Reverse Speech itself is another human sense and, like the sense of hearing, reversals can be received and understood by the unconscious mind. It, along with smell and Sound, all contribute to our intuition or inner knowing, and they all add to our overall Collective Unconscious knowledge. I am sure there are other avenues of unconscious communication yet to be discovered. We have only just begun our search.

Finally, I need to discuss our powers of Creation. I have mentioned this many times already and, although it is not strictly a sense, it is a power and an unconscious process that is constantly transpiring. The metaphors that we run in our unconscious mind are mirrored in the physical world. If you want to change your life and the world in which you live you must change the metaphors in the unconscious.

Changing Metaphors and Creation

I HESITATED INCLUDING the technique I describe in this chapter (and chapter twelve) in the book because I have covered this topic extensively in my other books, particularly It's Only a Metaphor, where I describe in depth how I developed the technique I call Metaphor Restructuring. I describe the technique as a way of changing unconscious patterns, but the truth of the matter is that it does a whole lot more than changing the unconscious. It also works directly with the Soul and can change the way we create and manifest our physical world. Therefore, seeing this book is partially about Creation, it is only logical that I describe this technique at least in part.

The basic premise of Metaphor Restructuring is that the deep unconscious mind thinks in pictures, or metaphor. Human behaviour and personality traits are formed and determined by a construct of the metaphors and Unconscious Kingdoms within. Reverse Speech session work will not only give us a snapshot of these unconscious structures, but will also allow us to listen to the voice of the Spirit, who knows why these patterns exist, and many times how they can be changed.

Using the images of the metaphors, and the instructions of the Spirit, gained over two 30-minute audio recordings, I then design a series of metaphor journeys I call Metawalks. I give my clients these journeys under a state of light hypnosis. Many of my clients describe the journeys I take them on as being shamanic adventures because the Metawalks really are working with the spiritual Kingdoms within. It is common for my clients to see the images before I suggest them, and it is common for the images to be in vivid technicolour.

Some clients tell me beforehand that they cannot be hypnotised, but to this day I have yet to counsel someone who has not been able to achieve a sufficiently relaxed state to experience the Metawalk – even though all my work is done either over the phone or via the internet. I have no face-to-face clients.

I begin my journeys by creating unconscious rapport with my clients by imagining my Whirlwind extending out across the miles and surrounding my client's Whirlwind, wherever that person may be in the world. I then use the Whirlwind to transmit the images to my client's unconscious mind and change the images, like one would change an image in Photoshop.

As the images change, so do the metaphors change, hence the behaviour associated with those metaphors also changes. Well, that's the theory anyway. In practice it's often not that simple. Sometimes, if not many times, the unconscious mind can object to being changed. It likes things just the way they are, thank you very much. In fact, I often find dysfunctional patterns in my clients that are deliberately created by the unconscious because that is how it was programmed to act from the womb onwards. And, if you believe in reincarnation, I have one reversal, and one reversal only, from my thirty-five years of research, that may suggest some current patterns are also affected by past lives. It occurred on a client as he talked forward about his life being affected by experiences in past lives. The reversal says, My Soul obey them.

Here are some examples of the unconscious creating its own problems:

1. A client talking about a violent, abusive marriage: Make him abuse me. Her unconscious wants to be abused and will create the situation for her to be abused.

2. A young man talking about his relationship: But I must muck it. He has an unconscious need to create havoc in the relationship.

3. A client talking about a troubled life: I am wanting new grief. This client will create life circumstances for herself to make grief in her life.

4. A good friend of mine with cancer: I try to kill, I want it. He died shortly after I found this reversal. (RIP Jerry Hirsch).

5. A client talking about money problems: Wanting the self-doubt. She is creating her money problems to give herself self-doubt, and she wants this.

6. A client with a chronic cough: Forced the fuck, may I benefit. This reversal goes one step further than some of the others, by suggesting he is benefitting in some way from the cough.

I call these examples, Unconscious Objections, and they must be overcome and addressed before any real change can take place. Sometimes it can take a whole round of metaphor restructuring (eight sessions) just to change the objection before the real issues can be addressed in a second round. If the unconscious issue has progressed to such an extent that the physical body has been affected with disease, it may take several rounds of session work to correct.

Metaphor Restructuring is not a magic pill, but it is getting closer all the time. My success rate is not perfect, particularly with physical issues, but it has gotten better over the years as I understand Reverse Speech more and more. I think with time and more researchers, it could develop into a major life-changing modality for the whole world. It already is for many of my clients.

Which brings me to what is probably the most important observation of my work with clients, and that is that as the pictures of the unconscious mind change, so do the world and lives of my clients also change. This is because, as I have discussed before in this book, the world in which we live truly is an image of the world inside.

The Soul is constantly creating through the Whirlwind, and it creates a reflection of the pictures in the deep unconscious with Sound. I have a reversal on a client when she talks about finding peace in the world. The reversal says: The whirlwind, let it speak your mouth by you. In other words, speak into the whirlwind (with Sound) that which you desire.

However, this is where we get to the big problem and the main reason why many affirmations don't work and why things don't go the way we planned. We create from the totality of the psyche, not just the conscious mind. In fact, the conscious mind really has no control over what we create and many times we are slaves to our unconscious patterns. The Bible tells us that we have free will, and that is true, but this free will resides with the totality of self, and the conscious part of us is less than one per cent of the whole, as I stated before. So, all you are really doing in life is sitting in the passenger seat of a driverless car that is following a pre-programmed route entered into the GPS.

Why this is so I am not too sure. Why do we not have access to the totality of our mind? Why have we allowed ourselves to become slaves to the unconscious? Part of it may be because of self-denial. We are either in denial of our dysfunctional patterns, or in denial of the Divine within. Or maybe we simply have not evolved sufficiently as a species to access these parts.

Whichever is true, Reverse Speech is here now to open the door. We can now look at the pictures or 'Word', which create our world, and we can now change our pre-programmed patterns, hence the reality in which we live.

Would you like to meet the God within? Reverse Speech can take you there. Would you like to change the pictures that create your world? The wisdom that Reverse Speech can access can show you how to do that too.

You can take control of your life and you can change your world. All it takes is courage and the curiosity to look within and accept what is there, whatever that may be and will the changes you desire to happen. And this will must come from the Unconscious mind. I may be wrong, but I know of no other modality that accesses the Unconscious like Reverse Speech does.

THE STILL SMALL VOICE WITHIN

The Spirit has always been with us. It has always been guiding us and talking to us. With modern technology we have been able to discover its voice. In the last hundred years we have advanced technologically beyond all measure. We have put men on the moon and we are on the way to Mars. (Go Elon Musk!)

It is now time to advance spiritually, to know that we are the great I AM. With these powers we can change our patterns and recreate our life and our world.

Reverse Speech shows the way. Join the revolution.

The Day of Truth

TRUTH COMES IN many forms. The first six chapters of this book have discussed the spiritual truths about us that Reverse Speech has revealed. I have spoken about the Divine within and about how our destiny as a race is to discover that Divinity and manifest it into the physical world. However, for that to happen the world must come into Truth and congruency. Currently we are so far away from Truth, it seems to be an almost impossible task.

Our whole world runs on secrecy, lies and image. Governments have entire departments dedicated to hiding secrets. (Can anyone say CIA?) Spin doctors are just run-of-the-mill in Washington DC. Advertising barely has much to do with the truth but is more about image and presentation. Not only does the Government lie but so does the average person. In fact it has been estimated that the average person tells 1092 lies every year, with men telling thirty per cent more lies than women<sup>1</sup>.

And we wonder why we are incongruent and out of touch with the Divine.

For us to advance in both our personal lives and the future of our civilisation we must learn to tell the Truth, as ugly or unpleasant as that may be. The Bible tells us this is essential, and it talks about the coming of the days of Truth. In Matthew 10:26 we are told, 'Whatever is covered up will be uncovered and every secret made known.' Luke 12:1-3 goes even further:

Be on guard against the yeast of the Pharisees, I mean their hypocrisy. Whatever is covered up will be uncovered and every secret made known. So, then whatever you have said in the dark will be heard in broad daylight, and whatever you have whispered in men's ears will be shouted from the housetops.

The Gnostic Gospels have a similar quote:

Days come when the inhabitants of earth are seized with great panic and the way of the Truth hidden and the land will be barren of faith ... An unknown voice will be heard by night and all will hear, and the earth will break open vast regions. (The Apocalypse of Ezra 5:4-13)

This quote from the Gnostic Gospels gets even more specific about another voice: 'Preach from your housetops that which you hear with your ear and in the other ear'. (The Gospel of Thomas v29)

Reverse Speech is a direct fulfillment of these prophecies. It is here to expose the yeast of the Pharisees. Read that as the thoughts and deeds of our political and religious leaders. The secrets in their hearts will be shouted from the rooftops and broadcast over satellites to the whole world. In Saint Paul's vision of Christ, recorded in the book of Revelations, he describes Christ as having a two-edged sword coming out of his mouth. I find this vision interesting because in Reverse Speech Sword is a metaphor for communication or speech, and it could be argued that a two-edged sword is the bi-levelled nature of speech – forwards and backwards.

So, let us now do exactly that, and start looking into the hearts of men and begin the process of revelation.

Pope Francis

In this chapter we will begin with church leaders, starting with Pope Francis, the leader of the Roman Catholic Church, and the largest Christian denomination in the world.

Pope Francis, born Jorge Mario Bergoglio 17 December 1936, is the 266th and current Pope of the Catholic Church in Rome. Here are speech reversals found on Pope Francis's visit to the United States in September 2015. First, a reversal found while he was meeting with President Obama in the White House grounds:

'I would like all men and women of the world will in this great nation to support the efforts of the international community to protect [the vulnera]ble in our world.' I love him. A reversal of peace.

Now, here are reversals found on his speech to the United States Congress:

'... Lincoln, liberty; [Martin Luther King], liberty in plurality and non-exclusion; Dorothy Day, social justice and the rights of persons.' Eat the Holy cum. A very disturbing sexual reversal.

'This conviction [have, has led me], from the beginning of my ministry, to advocate at different levels for the global abolition of the death penalty.' Evil, suck cock. Another disturbing sexual reversal.

'Here [we have] to ask ourselves: Why are deadly weapons being sold to those who plan to inflict untold suffering on individuals and society?' Fuck you. Using an expletive, is he angry at those who cause suffering, or does this reversal show another side to Pope Francis, a side that is hidden from plain view?

'The challenges facing us today call for a renewal of that spirit of cooperation, which has accomplished so much good throughout [the history of the United] States.' I'm evil, you seek it. A disturbing reversal. He calls himself evil and says he seeks evil.

'For those peoples and their nations, from the heart of American democracy, I wish to reaffirm my highest esteem and appreciation. Those first contacts were often turbulent and violent, but we know it is very difficult to judge the past by [the criteria] of the present.' I raped the other kid. These sexual reversals on the Pope are becoming increasingly more concerning. Is the sexual corruption in the Roman Catholic church that pervasive? Or is the Pope himself involved in sexual improprieties?

‘... When it fosters a culture which enables people to dream of full rights for all their brothers and sisters, [as Martin Luther King sought to do] ...’ Murder was the Catholic answer. Another disturbing reversal. Does the Catholic church have blood on its hands? History tells us it does. A lot of it!

‘And I have no doubt that the [United States and this] Congress have an important role to play.’ Sinner, that’s the family. Is he calling the United States a sinner, part of a family of sinners?

‘As never before, from within and without. Fundamental relationships are [being called into question] ...’ The children know Him. Normally I would say this is an innocent reversal but given the history of sexual reversals and the like on the Pope so far, and the context of the forward dialogue, I believe he is questioning the fundamental relationships the church has had with children.

‘While working to realise their great and noble aspirations, [who are not led astray by facile proposals], and who face difficult, difficult situations.’ They are sober, they are tougher, yes, they’re grownup. I believe this is a reference to the children who were abused by the church. They have now grown up and are taking action!

‘And that in times of crisis and economic hardship a spirit of [global solidari]ty must not be lost.’ We have lost the vault. Vault would appear to be a metaphor for something precious. Has the church lost its authority? I believe it has. It no longer represents the essence of what Yeshua taught.

There are three main possible explanations for the Pope’s reversals. Any or all of them could be true:

1. He is a paedophile priest himself.
2. His reversals reflect the collective consciousness of the Catholic church, which has gone way off track and is riddled with sex scandals.
3. These are deeply repressed sexual desires brought about by a life of celibacy.

No matter which is true, the sex scandals in the Catholic church are not going to go away anytime soon. More and more high-ranking priests, and even cardinals, have been out-ed in recent days, either being paedophiles themselves or covering up the sex crimes of other priests.

Billy Graham

Incongruities and ulterior motives are not just isolated to the Catholic Church. They can be found in major Protestant denominations as well. The well known evangelist, the late Reverend Billy Graham, who I used to adore as a teenager (I remember being mesmerised at one of his rallies in my home town of Adelaide), has some rather disturbing reversals about the exact nature of his many crusades. Here are some quotes from various sermons.

'If you have a doubt of your relationship to God tonight you make sure, or you might be like that [priest you may be in the church] but not sure of your relation[ship to God].' The Church, and they damage youth / God is business. This is a disturbing reversal implying the church is damaging youth and God is all about business. The crusades are business ventures.

'And a counsellor standing by now to answer your questions and [to help you to make that] commitment to Christ or to [talk to you about] whatever problem you may have in your life.' God dammit, be quiet / Public profits. This is his Spirit telling him to be quiet, don't speak. You are more concerned with money and profits.

'[For the Spirit] searches all things, [the deep things of God].' Rips them off / God doesn't yet feed them. He doesn't believe what he is saying and is ripping the people off. This is the third reversal now about money being his motivation. Interestingly, according to the wealth-tracking site TheRichest.com, Billy Graham's net worth was an estimated $25 million at the time of his death. That would rank Graham as one of America's eight richest pastors.

'Many of our young people are [spiritually dead and concerned with the issues] of our hour that we're living in history, surfing with the pleasures of the world.' I was a shit. Be the curse, the devil's curse. He is preaching the gospel of the devil, not God, doing more harm than good.

'Tonight, you're going to have an opportunity to [receive Christ into your heart and to make sure of your relationship with him].' You made the business shallow, I boast shaman. His Spirit speaks to him once more telling him he is cheapening the Christian message. He ignores the voice of his Spirit and boasts of his own importance.

'[You may be in the choir, God has spoken to you, you get up and come].' Mark the pedigree, Read the books that I doubt, and they damn me. He is damaging Christianity and the very books he preaches about (presumably the Bible) are his own damnation.

'And the Holy Spirit can be resisted, [Ye do always] resist the Holy Spirit. As your Fathers [did, so do ye].' You see a war within / Here you are slaves. He is also resisting the Holy Spirit, and he acknowledges we are all slaves of the unconscious.

'I want us all to [bow our heads] in prayer.' How I bore you. He doesn't believe in himself.

Billy Graham on JFK assassination

'I couldn't keep the tears back [because in these] days of television a prominent person like that is like a member of our family.' He's a faggot. It is well known that Billy Graham didn't like JFK and he actively campaigned against his election due to his Roman Catholicism.

'And then nation which [has lost its leader] is thrown into a crisis and the whole world feels the crisis.' I feel proud of it. He is either proud of the crisis or proud JFK is dead. Either way it's not good.

Franklin Graham (Billy Graham's Son)

'Luke, Jesus said, and he said unto them take [heed and beware of covertness] for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things he possesses.' Sensitive affair with money. Maybe a congruent reversal but more likely he is following in his father's financial footsteps.

'And today, the false security that we have in America. It's unbelievable to me. We're sat beside these two oceans for so long [we think it can never happen here].' Pray, if I have anger to give you. Pray to God because Franklin is angry and projecting that anger onto the congregation.

'But I do believe that we have a factor in history [now that's never been there before], the ability to destroy the whole human race in one great blast.' All the bad never prevents Divine. A positive reversal. No matter how bad things are, the Divine can never be extinguished.

‘And then sex perversion was another one of their great sins, one of the last direction a nation takes before judgement comes is the perversion of sex. [Sex was given by God] there’s nothing wrong with it.’ Our garden of angels’ kiss. A wonderful reversal about the joys of sex.

‘But inside you know that you’re not committed to Christ, judgement coming, the storm clouds [gathering, the lightning flashing], the thunder roaring.’ You shall feel hell in your rags. He condemns them all to hell.

‘Constantly throughout the Bible it says judgement is coming, prepare to meet thy God while there’s time, death in itself is a judgement.’ The judge is a voice within. This is a very profound reversal consistent with the message of this whole book. The Judge is indeed the voice within, the still small voice that Elijah talks about in I Kings 19:12: ‘And after the fire, there was a still small voice, and it was so when Elijah heard it that he wrapped his face in his mantle.’ It is the still small voice, the voice of the Spirit that is our very own Judge. The Judge lives within and it speaks partially through Reverse Speech, or, as Nostradamus called it, the voice in Limbo.

Here are more reversals on other religious leaders and evangelists.

John Hagee

‘God gets emotional about Jerusalem from this moment forward to the rest of our lives.’ The Jewish Bible show them the stigma / They are the terrible. He damns the Jewish people.

‘The headlines will be screaming millions are missing without a trace.’ Your sin was within. Yes indeed, sin is within – more internal than external.

Peter Popoff

‘You got cancer of the stomach? Are you ready for God to burn that cancer out? [Here it goes in the mighty] ... Devil back off. Back off Devil!’ Scamming this world theory. He believes Christianity to be only a theory not a fact, and he is scamming this theory.

Vernon McGee

‘My friends it [just narrows itself down] to what he said to Simon Peter by the sea of Galilee. Lovest thou me?’ My advice is rancid. Not a man to get counselling from.

‘The Lord Jesus Christ said to Simon Peter after his confession, on this rock I will build my church. [Simon Peter makes it] very clear that the living stone ...’ The scam beneath the mask. The whole thing is a scam underneath the pious mask he is wearing.

Gordon B. Hinckley

(Former head of the Mormon Church)

‘That we have a beautiful day here in Salt Lake City. It is absolutely magnificent weather [and how grateful we are for it].’ We’re all for our evil feared one. Presumably referring to Satan. It doesn’t put a good spin on his welcome.

Joel Osteen

'You know it was a big storm but [you know maybe next time we] would be a shelter before, get people housed before the storm, but nobody dreamed, and even the mayor he never dreamed he would fill up ten thousand evacuees in the big shelter just down the street from us.' You must send in your money. Forwards he is justifying why he didn't take in refugees during the 2017 hurricane. Backwards he tells us his real motives.

Robert Tilton

'Jesus walked up and down these hills with the disciples to pray, [then they would go out] ...' I want the women. His mind is on other things.

'Come on people give me a little break. You make the decision if [you're going to listen or] repeat the lies of the devil or you're going to buckle under and stay with me.' I'm selling your grief. He is using his congregation's ails to bolster his ministry.

'We're just going to keep on, we're going to get bigger and bigger and bigger. Not to be big [but just to help and reach] more people.' Keep on stealing it, I have sinned. Speaks for itself. He is stealing money.

Kenneth Copeland

'There has been over a billion, three come into this ministry since it went into operation.' God damn you. He has no respect for his congregation.

'I have enough of the Holy Ghost power on the inside of me right now.' I am the reaming ass. He is aggressively stealing.

'I've already appropriated that (a billion dollars), I've been walking in that a long time.' I laugh and it will bleed you over. He is bleeding them all dry and laughing about it.

'I have confessed that I am in the billion flow and I am a billionaire in the Kingdom of God.' I'm raking it. Yes, he is. He owns private planes and mansions and has lots of money!

A Gospel Song at a Copeland rally: The snake is my shepherd. This is a very clear reversal. They aren't serving Christ. They are serving the snake, or Satan.

Bob Larson, exorcist

'(Demonic screams) I bind all the spirits from the [kingdom of hell].' And I will kiss you sweetie. Doesn't sound very godly.

Speaking in Tongues

The following examples were found in a recording made of a Pentecostal church service where they were speaking in tongues.

I am a demon monster I am, I am, Yes I am

Satan serves my soul

How is the dinner?

Pastor John Kilpatrick speaks in tongues to protect Trump from Witches: It fucks you — oh shit.

Creflo Dollar, Prosperity Gospel Preacher

‘That’s why they ask the question what does a preacher need with an airplane? If you knew what we did you wouldn’t ask that question.’ I look at self as I have the winning. He is concerned with his own needs and he is indeed winning.

‘Hallelujah, glory be to God. I wouldn’t say this except the spirit of God led me to say it. Now you see why the devil tried so [aggressively to dis]credit my voice.’ Satan has filled the Soul. Speaks for itself. It’s not the Spirit of God that is leading him.

‘Just because the world don’t have it, don’t mean you can’t have it. You are the children of the almighty God. Dream!’ I give now more Hitler, and there’s Lucifer. He is preaching an evil Satanic doctrine.

These reversals are very concerning, because what is being seen on the outside of these alleged men of God, is totally different to what we are seeing on the inside. In the Bible, I Samuel 16:7, we read:

But the LORD said to Samuel, ‘Do not look at his appearance or at the height of his stature, because I have rejected him; for God sees not as man sees, for man looks at the outward appearance, but the LORD looks at the heart.’

Other intentions and motives are not just limited to the Christian community. Here are two prominent figures from the alternate field.

Dolores Cannon

Dolores Cannon was a bestselling author and past-life regressionist and hypnotherapist who specialised in the recovery and cataloguing of Lost Knowledge. She taught her unique technique of hypnosis all over the world. She died in 2014.

‘It can also heal it because the power [is tremendous].’ Satan uplifts you. One must wonder whose power was she accessing?

‘Your guides, your guardian angels, they [want to help you], they really love you.’ Really for Hitler. Another concerning reversal using the same metaphor as Prosperity Gospel Preacher, Creflo Dollar.

‘Some of them became universes, [some of them became] galaxies.’ Get rid of us. Her Spirit says she must go.

‘Everything before we’re [done, we have to know what it’s like].’ Still I warn, you fuck in mud. Her Spirit continues to chastise her, warning her she is doing great harm.

‘It doesn’t matter. It’s all a form of expression of the [source of God].’ God the source. A congruent mirror image reversal.

Neale Donald Walsch

Neale Donald Walsch is the American author of the series Conversations with God. He is also an actor, screenwriter, and speaker.

‘They’re trying to find some phrase that would grapple with [the enormity of what we would call God].’ Dark walk do you over, here's the money. This reversal questions both his motives and source.

'So, the statement from God you got me all wrong [is not an insignificant] one, it's a revolutionary one.' Let me say nothing. He should just keep quiet.

It is the heart of man that is important, not his conscious thoughts, or actions or words. Reverse Speech shows us the voice of the heart. It shows us what God hears, and God in Revelations 2:23 says, 'And all the churches will know that I am He who searches the minds and hearts; and I will give to each one of you according to your deeds.'

In his day, Yeshua condemned the church leaders. In Matthew 23:27-36 he says:

How terrible for you, teachers of the Law and Pharisees! Hypocrites! You are like whitewashed tombs, which look fine on the outside, but are full of dead men's bones and rotten stuff on the inside ... Snakes and sons of snakes! How do you expect to escape from being condemned to hell?

The church today is no different than it was two thousand years ago in Yeshua's time. The leaders stick to the outside form of religion but deny its real power. They talk of sin and redemption, but inside they are worse than those they try to convert. Do you know the only time Yeshua ever talks about Hell and punishment is in reference to church leaders and alleged believers and those who say they follow him but do not?

In Matthew 7:21-22 we hear Yeshua say:

Not everyone who calls me ‘Lord, Lord’ will enter into the Kingdom of Heaven – when that day comes many will say to me, ‘Lord, Lord! In your name we spoke God’s message, by your name we drove out many demons and performed many miracles!’ Then I will say to them, ‘I never knew you. Away from me, you evildoers!’

I challenge the modern church to embrace Reverse Speech, but I know they will not. They don’t really want to hear the voice of the Spirit. They called Reverse Speech the voice of Satan. But the Day of Truth has now arrived. God, who resides within, knows the heart of man, and hears their voice, forwards and backwards. Will you open yourself to the Spirit? Or will you do what Yeshua predicted the religious leaders would do?

I will send you prophets and wise men and teachers; you will kill some of them, nail others to the cross, and whip others in your synagogues and chase them from town to town.’ (Matthew 7:34)

Hasn’t it always been that way? We give lip service to Truth but choose to believe the lies.

Now it will be different. Reverse Speech is here.

Sexual Predators in Supreme Power

AS A SOCIETY WE are constantly programmed and conditioned to believe whatever is in the interests of one group, or party, or church, or whatever it may be. We think we are thinking independently but that is rarely the case. I have been in a unique position over the past thirty odd years to watch what happens on the world stage, and then see the truth in Reverse Speech. Rarely do the two match up. That is, what we are told to believe, or even think we have come to believe independently, rarely is the real truth. I only publish a small fraction of what I find, and even then I am vilified for daring to go against public opinion.

This happened to me in a most dramatic way in September 2018 when I analysed the testimonies of Supreme Court Nominee Judge Brett Kavanaugh, and his accuser Dr Christine Blasey Ford. Briefly, Dr Ford accused Judge Kavanaugh of sexual assault, which allegedly happened during his teenage years. Not only this, but other women came forward with similar accusations and the whole ugly affair became a huge controversy, threatening to derail Judge Kavanaugh's chances of sitting on the Supreme Court. I have included a small selection of some of the reversals found on both Dr Ford's testimony before Congress and Judge Kavanaugh's testimony.

Dr Ford's reversals are congruent with her testimony – in other words, she is telling a true story. There are no signs of hypnotic implants or mind control. Brett Kavanaugh's reversals are evasive and confirm a youth of heavy drinking and memory blackouts. To quote his own reversals: he simply does not remember.

Dr Ford: 'One evening that summer after a day of diving at the club, I attended a small gathering at a house [in the Bethesda] area. There were four boys I remember specifically being at the house.' I suffered from it. This reversal is a conscious thought. She suffered from what happened at the house.

Dr Ford: 'This is what terrified me the most and has the most lasting [impact on my life]. It was hard for me to breathe and I thought that Brett was accidentally going to kill me.' Feel them attack me. This is a congruent reversal confirming her story. They attacked her.

Dr Ford: 'Both Brett and Mark were drunkenly laughing during the attack. They seemed to be having a very good time. [Mark seemed ambivalent] at times urging Brett on and at times telling him to stop.' Oh, it makes me scum. Describing how she felt during the attack.

Dr Ford: ‘And the last time that he did this, we toppled over and [Brett was no longer] on top of me. I was able to get up and run out of the room.’ No one to help. Adding extra information to her tale.

Dr Ford: ‘And feeling an enormous sense of relief that I [escaped that house] and that Brett and Mark were not coming outside after me.’ Sore heart speaks it. She is speaking out of the pain in her heart.

Question by a prosecutor: ‘We’ve heard a lot about FBI investigations ah, when did you personally first request an FBI investigation?’

Dr Ford’s response: ‘I guess when we first started talking about the possibility of a hearing [I was hoping that there would be a] more thorough investigation.’ When they do it then they force you out. She accurately predicts her future. The FBI Investigation (unsurprisingly) cleared Judge Kavanaugh and Dr Ford was discredited. She hasn’t been heard from since. Other accusers of Judge Kavanaugh have come forward and admitted they lied, but Dr Ford has always stood by her story, even though she has since been vilified, as was I for daring to go against public opinion when most thought she was lying.

Now let’s look at some of Judge Kavanaugh’s reversals in his testimony before Congress.

Judge Kavanaugh: ‘A bunch of us went to dances with her, she hung out with us as a group. [The media circus that has] been generated by this thought and reported that it referred to sex, it did not.’ But that’s the curse, I deem it. He has a curse that he has spoken into being.

Judge Kavanaugh: ‘Mark Judge has provided sworn statements [saying this didn’t happen and that] I’d never did or would do. (Senator) But we would like the FBI ...' And then they plan this sin, yes. This reversal may refer to the fact that he thought he was being set up by the Democrats. He probably was, as a reversal further on suggests.

Judge Kavanaugh: 'Some of you were lying in wait and had it ready. This first allegation was held in secret for weeks by a democratic member of this committee and by staff. [It would be needed only if] you couldn't take me out on the merits.' Feel war within, you do it. Reinforces his belief that he is being set up by the Democrats, but he is in conflict inside. Why?

Judge Kavanaugh: 'But your coordinated and well-funded effort to destroy my good name and destroy my family [will not drive me out].' Lying, don't stumble. The meaning of this reversal is obvious. He is lying and telling himself to not make a mistake.

Judge Kavanaugh: 'I intend no ill will to Dr. Ford and her family. The other night Ash[ley and my daughter Eli]sa said their prayers and little Elisa, all of ten years old.' How the Lord damn you. He is being condemned by his Spirit, or he is saying Dr Ford will be damned.

Judge Kavanaugh: '... [said to Ashley we should pray for the woman].' I know with the filth that she will try this. He knew this was going to happen.

Judge Kavanaugh: 'I never had any sexual or physical encounter of any kind with Dr Ford. I never attended a gathering [like the one Dr F]ord describes in her allegation.' Forgot, you know with guilt. He has forgotten the event but knows he is guilty.

Question from a Senator: ‘Ah, was there ever a time when you drank so much you couldn’t remember what happened or part of what happened the night before?’

Judge Kavanaugh: ‘[No, I remember what hap]pened and I think you’ve probably had beers senator and, and ...’ Don’t remember that one. A direct lie. He does not remember.

Unknown Senator: ‘Liz Richards is a college classmate, she’s now a medical doctor um, and I’m quoting uh, from a recent interview she gave um, she said Brett Kavanaugh um, drank more than a lot of people, he’d end up slurring his words, stumbling. It’s not credible for him to say he’s had no memory lapses on the nights he drank to excess, I know because I drank with him. Um, how should we assess that?’

Judge Kavanaugh: ‘She then goes on if you, if you kept reading and says [she actually can’t point to any s]pecific instance like that.’ See that guilt, make you shy. The accusations are accurate. He is guilty.

Judge Kavanaugh: ‘I don’t think that, I don’t, I, I do not think that’s a fair characterisation um, and Chris Dudley’s quoted in that article and I refer you to what Chris Dudley said, I spent more time with Chris Dudley in college than just about anyone [and I refer you to what he said].’ They see old youth forgotten. He was indeed a heavy drinker in his youth and he has forgotten a lot of what he did.

Judge Kavanaugh: ‘I’m here today to tell the truth. I’ve never sexually assaulted anyone. Not in [high school], not in college, not ever.’ Hoax ya. He is lying.

Judge Kavanaugh: ‘My family and I intend no ill will toward Dr Ford or her family. But I swear today, under oath, before the Senate and the nation, [before my] family and God I am innocent of this charge.’ Yeah, I’m awful. His Spirit continues to profess his guilt.

Senator: ‘Well thank you judge, welcome we’re happy to have you here ah, my friend from ah, [I’d just like to say a few] words, my friend from Arizona emphasised yesterday that we have before us today two human beings ...’ We face a guilty guy. His Spirit knows the truth.

Senator Dianne Feinstein: ‘Dr Ford asked for confidentiality and that’s what I did. We all know that if I had referred her allegations to the FBI when she would not come forward, there would’ve been nothing to do. The FBI] would’ve had an anonymous allegation with no name, no contact information, and no way to follow up.’ I paid, words that you funded. The Democrats paid someone or many people to set this whole thing up.

So, we have here a nasty little political scandal that, even though it was based on truth, was set up and paid for by the Democrats to discredit Judge Kavanaugh. It did not work and Judge Kavanaugh was confirmed to the Supreme Court and is now a Supreme Court Justice. The public vilified Dr Ford just as the reversals said they would, and they also vilified me for speaking the truth.

Now we have two – yes, two – sexual predators sitting on the Supreme Court of the United States of America. The second one is Justice Clarence Thomas, who was accused of being a sexual predator by Anita Hill in October 1991. The following are some of their reversals from this hearing.

Anita Hill's Testimony

Hill: '[After approximately] three months of working there, he asked me to go out socially with him ...' Give them the stuff. She is ready to tell all.

Hill: 'I hoped my employer would abandon his [social suggestion], however [to my regret] in the following few weeks he continued to ask me out.' The sex was so saucy / Played around. She enjoyed the alleged advances.

Hill: 'My working relationship [became even more strained] when Judge Thomas began to use [work situations to discuss sex], his conversations [were very vivid].' Have sex with it. Show this girl. Once again, she enjoys it.

Hill: '[I told him that I did not want to talk] about these subjects.' I will fuck. No one can doubt it. Do we have a loose woman here or someone out to destroy?

Hill: '[It took no initiative to inform anyone]. I took no initiative to inform anyone but when I was asked by a representative of this committee to report my experience ...' Now we make night news. Raise the sin. No one forced it. She likes the publicity and was not forced into it.

Hill: '[The name that (Thomas) referred to was long Dong Silver].' It was not long. There was no refusal. Certainly, no reluctance here. What was not long?

Hill: 'Well, I can tell you that [and he compared] his penis size. [He measured his] penis in terms of length. Those kinds of comments.' The rave must be heavy / You shame here. She is strongly motivated to cause Thomas harm in the hearings.

Clarence Thomas's Testimony

Thomas: 'But either myself or [the chief of staff would have] to honour it.' Her pants, the feasting was somebody. A phallic flashback.

Thomas: '(There was not) as I have [indicated, any] discussion or [pornographic material] or any attempt to ever date Anita.' Meet your dick / Don't wear wisdom. He is lying, and his sex drive overpowers his common sense.

Thomas: 'I have people who worked with me who [had not seen any such activity] who did not corroborate these activities.' Feel a bit cursed. I seem to be stung. Yes, I think he was stung, very effectively, by a vicious woman.

Thomas: 'I believe this may be a quote on my enemy [and I refuse to believe that] and argue with him.' I feel the disease running. What disease is he referring to?

Conclusion

There was no sexual harassment as such, but there were graphic conversations, which they both consented to. However, Hill was after blood. The sense I get is that of a woman scorned. Both parties were not telling the whole truth and, despite Thomas's denials, he did act in a sexually predatory fashion.

How will the presence of two sexual predators on the Supreme Court affect future decisions? I don't know but it can't be good.

However, I guess the main point I am trying to make here is that the truth is rarely what we perceive it to be. Behind the magnificent monuments in Washington DC, and the Holy Sanctuaries of the Halls of Power, there beats the heart of a ravaged beast – lying, manipulating and doing all they can to present an image to the public that is acceptable to all.

Reverse Speech is here to cut through all that bullshit. It will reveal the Truth that lies beneath. But, like I said earlier, that truth will not be welcome. The world does not run on truth. It runs on lies and deceptions and false fronts.

The late broadcaster, Art Bell, said something very prophetic to me in an interview once:

I tell you it is power, David. It may almost be too much power. I have questions about that and whether the world is really ready for that kind of absolute truth and I wonder if Reverse Speech is going to end up in a fist fight. It probably is.

Those of you who know my career and have read It's Only a Metaphor, will know how my relationship with Art Bell ended. It was in a fist fight. A sixty million dollar lawsuit, actually, which all began over a single reversal I played on his show. It was on one of his favourite guests, a remote viewer named Ed Dames. Dames was predicting doom and gloom, severe weather anomalies, life on Mars, and a host of other outlandish tales. On one section of his speech I found this:

Let me tell you what Psitech stands by. In the Cydonia region there is one specific feature that we have remote viewed time and time again. We were so astounded by it. [And again, don't forget these are] very interesting to us.' Received the big fund making it up.

Ed Dames did indeed receive a big fund, in the form of tens of thousands of sales of his DIY remote-viewing kits, which he sold as a result of his appearances on the Art Bell Show. And all the weather anomalies that he predicted? Well, they never happened. What about the interesting feature in the Cydonia region? Well, that turned out to be a pile of rocks photographed by satellites in Mars orbit.

So, what did Art Bell do with that reversal on his favourite guest? Well, he terminated the interview, never had me on the show again, and threatened to destroy my career. Which he did. You can read all about it in It's Only a Metaphor, along with the house fires and death threats and lynch mobs outside my home.

Truth, real Truth, is expensive in a society based on lies and spin. I went to America in 1989 as a naïve young Aussie thinking the world would beat a path to my door. I was not expecting guns, lawsuits, spies and house fires.

This, too, is the reality of truth in a world afraid of the light.

Did We Go to the Moon or Not?

PEOPLE LOVE CONSPIRACY theories and governments love people to have conspiracy theories. The more conspiracy theories floating around out there, the more the real Truth can be ridiculed, subjugated or lumped in as just another conspiracy theory. In my book, Unveiling the Truth, I covered the many conspiracy theories surrounding the JFK assassination, and broke right through them all to discover the real truth. Go to <<http://www.jfkassassinationsolved.com>> for more information about this.

But, probably one of the most successful conspiracy theories have been the ones surrounding the alleged (sic) moon landings. Personally, it wouldn't surprise me if some government department somewhere manufactured this conspiracy theory for whatever devious purpose of their own. Either way it has been remarkably effective and in a recent British survey, it was revealed that a staggering 52% of Britons did not believe we went to the moon.<sup>1</sup> Mind you, the same survey said that 64% of Brits don't believe dinosaurs existed so I'll let you ponder that one.

Now, I don't intend to go into all the arguments for and against the moon landings. There's plenty of them on YouTube. You can see the conspiracy theorists' arguments and NASA's replies. I do intend to comment, however, on the few Reverse Speech videos about the moon landings on YouTube. Most of these videos have been made by people with no training in Reverse Speech at all and most claim we didn't go to the moon. If you listen to their reversals, they simply don't exist. They too are manufacturing false evidence to prove some conspiracy theory of their own. Reverse Speech is a lot harder to do than what it may first appear. I will cover this in chapter thirteen of this book.

So, what really happened? Did we go to the moon or not? Here are my findings.

Apollo 11 was the first spaceflight that landed humans on the moon on 20 July 1969. Neil Armstrong became the first man to step onto the lunar surface. Aldrin joined him about twenty minutes later. They spent about two hours and fifteen minutes together on the surface. The following transcripts have been taken from live recordings on the moon surface and subsequent press conferences.

Armstrong: 'That's [one small step for man], one giant leap for mankind.' Man will spacewalk. As he steps onto the lunar surface he declares his hope for humanity's future in space.

Aldrin: 'Through the upper surface of the soil with about five or six inches of bay, it ah, breaks loose and ah ??? it [ah were caked on the] surface when in fact it really isn't.' And I get your word. He is hearing Houston.

Aldrin: 'There ah, the blue collar of my boots have ah, completely disappeared now, and it is all, still don't know exactly what [colour to describe this sort of], greyish, cocoa colour.' But there's dark, see the dust. Giving extra information about the moon walk, a true statement.

Aldrin: '(Aldrin) Neil is now [unveiling the plaque that is ... (Armstrong) For those who haven't ah, read the plaque, ah, we'll read the plaque that's on the front landing gear of this LEM.' Off from your LEM. A congruent reversal, giving the location of the plaque both forwards and backwards.

Armstrong (talking to the President from the lunar surface.) 'Thank you, Mr President. It's a great honour and privilege for us to be here representing not only the United States but men of [peace with all nations] and with interest and curiosity and with a vision for the future.' They share all the fib. This reversal is often quoted by naysayers claiming that they lied about being on the lunar surface, but the key is in the complementarity. The precise forward words are, 'Peace with all nations,' and that was the fib. At the height of the cold war and the US's fervent desire to beat Russia to the moon, there was hardly peace with all nations at that time in history.

Aldrin: 'Right in this area there are two craters, ah the one that's right in front of me now as I look off in about the uh, 11 o'clock position from ???' Yes, I know it. A congruent reversal, confirming what he said.

Aldrin: '[Got my suit dirty at] this stage.' Needed this helmet. A congruent reversal. He needs the helmet as he exits the lander.

Aldrin: 'I wanna uh, [backup and] partially prove that.' The backup. Yet another congruent reversal, using the same words backwards as he does forwards. He is backing out of the lander.

Aldrin: 'It might be ah, a secondary strut, backup had little thermal effects on it] right here in the ????' Then I step. Yet another congruent reversal as he steps down the ladder. This man is definitely telling a true story.

Aldrin: 'So, anyway Houston um, talked [a minute or two then they said], well look uh, we're going to look over all the circuits see if we can get around that circuit breaker, ah if it can't be activated.' We've seen a noose with dilemma. A congruent reversal. Their lives were in danger because of a broken switch.

Aldrin: 'There's electricity behind that. I'm not sure I want to stick my little finger. Here's a ball point [pen but that's metal], mm, OK. We did have a felt tip pen, it wasn't illegal but somehow it wasn't on the, the list.' LEM set them there. Stating a fact. The LEM put them on the lunar surface, not a TV studio.

Armstrong: '???, you're on, you've got three more [steps then a long one].' And I'll remember space. He will always remember his experience in space and the moon.

Armstrong: 'The moon has no atmosphere so you're flying in a vacuum, and the gravity is much lower, so the characteristics of a [flying machine in that envi]ronment are very different then they are here on earth.' You land that mission now. A congruent reversal. As he recalls his landing on the moon the reversal supports his story, saying the same thing.

Armstrong: 'Those variations and be able to feel comfortable in flying the Lunar Module to ah, to the [surface of the] moon in, in the actual condition.' It was the first. Another congruent reversal. It was the first mission to land on the moon.

Armstrong: 'But he banged into the circuit breaker that controlled the SN engine that got us back into orbit ah, I think that ah, that when we recognised that we thought uh, it probably will hold but uh, maybe we better see if there's a way to increase our chances of uh, of, of, maki[ng sure the circuit breaker wouldn't] automatically disengage.' Look, we'll get the solution. A congruent reversal as they troubleshoot a problem on the spacecraft. Both Neil and Buzz often tell the story of the broken switch for the main booster rocket and how they fixed it with a felt-tipped pen.

Armstrong : '[Ron I, you know I really] think that had we not that we'd still been alright but uh, it was just insurance, it's nice to get a little insurance.' We were wanting that knob. Another congruent reversal. A switch had broken in the lander and they needed to fix it.

Armstrong: 'We'd been de[scending about two thousand] metres a minute, we're now down to about below a thousand metres in altitude. Uh, Houst, my, my ah, my computer tells me that we're, it's taking us to a landing just on the right side of that big crater on the, up on the left-hand corner, the slopes are steep and the rocks look very large, the size of automobiles, certainly not a place that I want to land. So, I took over manually from the computer, the auto pilot and flew it like a helicopter on out to the west to try to find a smoother more level landing spot.' I boosted our burn in this. A congruent reversal. He flew longer than planned to find a landing site.

Apollo 11 Astronauts News Conference

Michael Collins: 'The uh, the LEM I had, an easy time, because I had a docking target, which is not too clearly visible here, which allowed me to align the [probe, and the drone], which is that dark spot you see on the upper right.' Involved in that walk. Whilst he didn't walk on the moon he was involved in that walk.

Aldrin: '[We did find that] uh, mobility on the surface was in general uh, a good bit better than perhaps we uh, had anticipated it.' They now fib you. An incongruent reversal, probably because he was told conditions would be worse than they anticipated.

Aldrin: 'The uh, two experiments, uh, that you saw in the previous picture, uh, were deployed in the scientific equipment bay. Uh, we found that uh, getting them down [uh, produced] no significant problems.' See the fun. They had fun on the lunar surface.

Aldrin: 'That is the US Eagle, carrying the olive branch, to the lunar surface, and we thought it was appropriate to uh, deposit this replica of [the olive branch uh], before we left.' I share the lie. The lie is not that they didn't go to the moon, the lie is the olive branch, a symbol of peace at the height of the Cold War. It was this same topic that produced the previous reversal of They share all the fib.

Aldrin: ‘Of course the Apollo 12 mission will have two different periods of, of EVA one early in the mission, and then a sleep [period, and then another EVA], uh, following that uh.’ Yah, we were running in the dirt. Remembering his time on the moon

Aldrin: ‘I, I, I don’t think we have any particular uh, recommendations for how, how they should change their mission. It, it is a continuing, uh, evolvement of uh, EVA [capability, and uh, scientific ex]ploration that, that they are undertaking on that flight.’ Benefit NASA and hear the love with Dick. Presumably referring to President Richard Nixon, the missions did benefit NASA and the whole United States.

Aldrin: ‘The moon is uh, takes on more of a, of a brown colour uh, almost uh, [and becomes uh, almost] a rosy looking place uh, a fairly friendly place.’ To Mars making it. They thought they were going to Mars next.

Armstrong: ‘In the bottom right of the, uh, photograph, is the crater, Masculine, and in the bottom centre is the mountain [called Boot Hill].’ I did walk. Following along from his famous reversal, Man will spacewalk, Neil confirms he did indeed walk on the moon. This reversal directly responds to conspiracy theorists who say that Armstrong’s reversal, Man will spacewalk, means they will in the future walk in space, but they didn’t then. Well, the reversal, I did walk, dispels that argument. Man will spacewalk / I did walk.

Armstrong: ‘In that it degraded our ability to determine not only our altitude, and altitude rate in the final phases, but also, and probably more importantly, our translational velocities o, over the ground. It’s uh, quite important not to stub your toe [during the final phases of] touchdown.’ This is it, why offer nerve. The time has come. Be cool.

Armstrong: ‘Excellent view of the, our, our uh, take off trajectory and tranquillity [base as we left]. And at all times through the ascent we could pick up, uh, landmarks.’ Fail, you’re so sad. I put this one in because I document everything, I have no idea what it means, and the conspiracy theorists can have a field day with it!

Armstrong: ‘Yes, we were concerned about running low on fuel and the range extension that we did to avoid the boulder field and craters uh used up [significant percentage of our fuel margins and we were ah, quite close to our legal limit.’ We promised to NASA, they defend this. They promised to fulfil their mission and they did.

Armstrong: ‘We were never able to see stars from the lunar surface, or on the daylight side of the moon, by eye without [looking through the optics].’ Skip by the Eagle. I guess that’s what they did – skipped by the Eagle.

Apollo 11 Astronauts’ Twenty-Year Reunion News Conference

Armstrong: ‘Well I (clears throat) there can be some very attractive cases made for going to Mars some of the various uh, approaches to doing that in both manned and unmanned ah, [machines ah, seem to] be very persuasive to me.’ We’ve missed Mars mission. They did too. Everyone expected to be on Mars by then.

Aldrin: ‘And it indeed was ah, a philosophical moment of achievement. It was also ah, a, a technical challenge as we found that the flag didn’t exactly ah, perform as we ah, put it together and it ah, didn't stick in the ground exactly the way we thought it would, there was no breeze to wave it so maybe artificially create a little breeze. So, it was a great mixture with a [I think a sense of] pride and ah, will be a remembering event photographing ah, individuals alongside the flag.' Does NASA give that? Meaning unknown, maybe NASA gives a sense of pride.

Aldrin: 'Those first few seconds when you and I touched down and, and a, there was a, there were [numerous things that ah, we needed to do but] we also needed to announce to the world that we were there and then pause for moment and things were quiet.' The word within you heard this NASA moon. A profound reversal. The Word Within You. The part of us that is Divine took us to the moon and began our destiny in space. We spoke it into being!

As can be clearly seen by these reversals, we most definitely went to the moon. All the reversals are congruent and support their story. When I present these reversals at lectures, people sometime ask me, well if we went to the moon how come we haven't photographed the landing sites with all the satellites we have up there? The answer is, we have. You just have to google it. Here are the pictures.

THE STILL SMALL VOICE WITHIN

This is a hi-resolution image from the new LRO (Lunar Reconnaissance Orbiter) of the 1969 landing site of Apollo 11, the first men on the moon and you can even see the footprint tracks.

This is another hi-resolution image from the new LRO (Lunar Reconnaissance Orbiter) of the 1971 landing site of Apollo 15. Notice the LVR (Lunar Vehicle Rover) on the right side of the image.

This is a hi-resolution image from the new LRO (Lunar Reconnaissance Orbiter) of the 1972 landing site of Apollo 17, where the last men on the moon walked. The inset is of the descent stage of the landing module left there when they launched back to Earth.

So, we did go to the moon, and we will go to Mars and then, as we learn the secrets of the Whirlwind and discover our own Divinity, we will go to the stars. That is our destiny as a species.

God promised Isaac in Genesis 26:4: 'I will give you as many descendants as there are stars in the sky, and I will give them all this territory. All the nations will ask me to bless them as I have blessed your descendants.'

That verse has always intrigued me. That's a heck of a lot of descendants. There are about 10 billion galaxies in the observable universe. The number of stars in a galaxy varies, but assuming an average of 100 billion stars per galaxy, means that there are about 1,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 (that's 1 billion trillion) stars in the observable universe!<sup>1</sup>

The current population of earth is a mere 7.5 billion people. How on earth is Isaac going to get 1 billion trillion descendants? Where would we fit them all? The answer is simple. I believe our destiny as a species is to spread across the universe.

Some people choose to believe we didn't go to the moon, not so much because they believe the government is lying to us, but because they are afraid of their own greatness. We are afraid of what we are and what we can become.

What if it is our destiny to populate the known universe? That's what God promised. What amazing technologies can we develop, and maybe are even developing now? (Area 51, anyone?) What will we become as we learn to gain the courage and vision to accept our Divinity, to move beyond our fear and dare to dream?

Can we dream that we are God? That's what Reverse Speech says. The stars are ours. We just have to speak it into being.

Skulduggery in High Places

IN THIS CHAPTER I will continue with one of Reverse Speech's many roles, and that is exposing every secret in the hearts of man. We will start with the assassination of Robert Kennedy in 1968.

The 2016 Reverse Speech Practitioner class were given a group assignment, as all practitioner classes are, and the objective of this group assignment was to endeavour to solve the mystery of the assassination of Robert Francis Kennedy by Sirhan Sirhan. Was it a crazed lone gunman or part of a larger conspiracy? Was he mind controlled to shoot RFK? Here is the report they prepared, written by Reverse Speech Practitioner and Trainer, Jeannette Teagle.

The Assassination of Robert Kennedy

Each student in the class took several recordings to analyse for reversals, looking for clues as to what really happened on 6 June 1968.

The following questions must be asked. Was Sirhan unwittingly hypnotised, or otherwise covertly manipulated, into shooting Bobby Kennedy? Was he hypnotised using waking or conversational hypnosis by phone? Were post-hypnotic suggestions implanted during these conversations? The following reversals would suggest that there were: They seal with your phoning / I am forced to do it / I'm a murderer show my gun / the sad murder/ they did it.

There are reversals which show Sirhan accepting responsibility for his actions and showing signs of remorse. I am the one / I'll describe it / it's a sad man they condemn / you took the fall / I'm willing to be force / all the hurt I wrecked him / please no order it's my place to say how. He also acknowledges that he is taking the fall for someone else, who to this day remains unidentified, and questions his hold on reality. No thoughts must not / you know they're off this planet / heard Dad's lesson / you lose in the soul that's why that hell / I might be bad.

Let us look at events leading up to the assassination. Sirhan was seen on several occasions with another man and a lady. Both these people were also present at the time of the shooting. The lady wore a white dress with polka dots, was light skinned, with dark hair [He has won]. They found the suspect in question (woman) and that she had nothing to do with the murder; they said she was Valerie Shultie [Is Bush heal]. Who were these people and what part did they play in the set-up for the shooting? Were they there to ensure that Sirhan carried out the shooting? Did either of them fire the fatal shot out of sight of the other witnesses? [The girl / they shoot him / someone knows a weapon.]

We see photographer Scott Enyart questioning his actions in the lead-up to the shooting. He wonders if he may have inadvertently aided the assassin when he took a handful of press passes and handed them to his friends [I reckon if I helped murderer used photographer making easy]. Immediately after the shooting he had to hand over the roll of film to the police. This was a 36-shot roll of film and when he finally had the photographs returned to him there were only 26 photos. What did he capture on film that the authorities did not want released? Was it the actual shooter?

Once Sirhan was arrested at the Ambassador Hotel [The terror] he was taken to police headquarters where he was hypnotised [In therapy room / how do you feel / remember it / Yes, the wolf is under Roisin*], and direct suggestions implanted, even though the people concerned knew that it would not hold up in court.

The police and authorities considered the shooting an open and shut case with only one person responsible – Sirhan. The reversals show that they were not looking for anyone else and did not want the legal process to drag on for years. The police department that was investigating the murder assured the public that this time there would be no lingering doubts about the perpetrator of the crime [It's not about differences / give up the Bush]. The Los Angeles police department were sure they had the killer [I've never had any doubt / buy him]. They would not commit any questions to remain unanswered about the man accused of shooting Kennedy [Is Bush the disease in arm with Bob].

This is evident if we look at Sirhan's gun, an eight-shot revolver, which still had six bullets in it when he was arrested.

The theory of a second gun being involved in the shooting was the discovery of thirteen shots [Then is nice]. The question must be asked as to why this gun was not tested? A similar gun was tested, and the results presented in court. The reversals around the police handling of the arrest and subsequent investigation lead us to believe that they wanted a quick result from the court case. The testimony of Dwayne Wolfer was questioned due to the (perceived) mistakes in the writing of dates on the documents presented. It appears that 'Exhibit 55' had information about the wrong bullets. There was a frequency anomaly not being present on the Iver Cadet 55 [Our future] but being present on the Hand R9 SS [Preserve me].

How did the LAPD firearms expert get away with mislabelling and misidentifying evidence on documentation presented to the court? Marshall Horwitz, author of many legal books – amongst others, The Rules of Evidence – went on to say that real experts of integrity have not examined portions or all of the evidence [Yes there was no one else]. Also, why was security guard Cesar not made to testify? He did not want to be put on the stand as a witness. Eyewitnesses could not say if he had pulled his gun from his holster or not, nor whether he had fired his gun. The reversal [Saw her murder now] makes us question whether he saw who fired the fatal shot.

Dr Thomas Noguchi, Chief LA County medical examiner and coroner, said that the fatal bullet was fired from no more than three inches away. This contradicts witnesses who say that Sirhan was two and half feet away from Bobby Kennedy [Three foot]. Noguchi was initially fired from his position before being exonerated and reinstated. Three of the bullets entered his body and one went through his suit coat at the right upper seam [They'll know]. The second discovery was the presence of two double shots [Arsehole by Bush]. There are two such incidences of those double shots [Does Shuster have power]. The Shuster family have all been in politics.

A criminalist with no affiliation to any law enforcement agencies, William H. Harper, states that 'There were two 22-caliber guns involved and two different types of bullets used'. He goes on to say that 'Based on the police trajectory diagram, Bobby Kennedy was killed by bullets fired from behind him'. The question of whether Sirhan fired the fatal shot would seem to be easily resolved by matching the bullet that killed Kennedy to Sirhan's gun [Me slip it Bush].

We see the name 'Bush' coming up regularly throughout the reversals and must ask if this family was somehow responsible or connected to the events of 6 June 1968. The 'mob' shows up in reversals from other recordings [see mob / the serious mob], as do Arab immigrants. 'Arab immigrants shoot Kennedy so clearly it must be Middle East politics' [Be the next Bush]. Bush also appears predominately on the JFK assassination. (See Unveiling the Truth.)

Having read all the transcripts and listened to the reversals, this class could not prove conclusively whether, (a) Sirhan was the actual assassin working on his own, or (b) that he was set up to take the fall. If the correct answer is the latter, there is no evidence of who may have been behind the conspiracy, if in fact it was a conspiracy to remove the Kennedy family from public office. The crowd at the Ambassador Hotel were heard chanting, 'We want Bobby! We want Bobby!' with the reversal being [We want Bobby in].

Maybe at some time in the future other evidence may come to light, which will provide conclusive answers one way or another.

Sirhan Sirhan

The following reversals on Sirhan Sirhan were found by me on various interviews he did in prison, particularly with David Frost in 1989.

Sirhan Sirhan, born 19 March 1944, is a Jordanian citizen of Palestinian descent. He was convicted of the 1968 assassination of US Senator, Robert F. Kennedy. He is currently serving a life sentence at the Richard J. Donovan Correctional Facility in San Diego County, California. On 5 June 1968, at around 12.15 am, PDT, Sirhan fired a .22 calibre revolver at Senator Robert Kennedy and the crowd surrounding him at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles, shortly after Kennedy had finished addressing supporters in the hotel's main ballroom. George Plimpton, Rosey Grier, author Pete Hamill, and 1960 Olympic gold medallist Rafer Johnson, were among several men who subdued and disarmed Sirhan after a lengthy struggle. Kennedy was shot three times: once in the head and twice in the back, with a fourth bullet passing through his jacket. He died nearly twenty-six hours later. Five other people at the party were also shot, but all five recovered. This is a Reverse Speech analysis of Sirhan and what was found from several different conversations and times of his life. Perhaps revealing for the first time what really transpired.

‘The pa, the newspaper stands were screaming out, uh, the, the, the headline [you know, for the racing] was uh, for the racing entries for the following day.’ They seal with your phoning. Was a hypnotic suggestion given to him over the phone?

‘That’s, that’s what, really what [led me to them basically], the big party that was gon, gonna be, you know, help down there, and I want.’ It’s a sad man they condemn. He is sad. It’s that simple.

‘And, uh, having nothing to, to do that [day since the race track] was closed, I decided to go to and uh, to the, to the firing range and, and shoot my gun.’ That Jew is so sad. The sadness is repeated, but who is the Jew?

‘I—I agree with that. [And he did].’ They did it. Who are they? What did they do?

‘The idea that, that it was done w—with uh, with the full uh, requirements of the [law for a first degree murder, I—I don’t think that it was ...’ You took your fall. Was he the fall guy and took the blame for the people who are unnamed?

‘That there was a—a history to it, that dated back to 1947 or 1948 uh, when [the Pali, when the s]tate of Israel was created, forcibly, on the Arabs.’ Someone knows a weapon. He was either given or told about a weapon by another party.

‘Where, when I began to focus on it, it erupted a, soon after the, the, the 1967 war, [where the Arabs had lost and the Israelis] won and uh ...’ You lose in the Soul, that’s why that hell. Once again Reverse Speech discusses the state of the Soul. His loss is in his Soul. That’s why he is sad and in metaphoric hell.

‘I really feel that it was immediately after, you know, [while I was going through trial] because at the time of the shooting, I was not really in full control of my senses ...’ Then rush the boys who allowed it. Who were the boys who allowed the assassination?

‘You know as it was talking, and it was, it was the, the keys were tapping and I was reading messages on it. Obviously, I know, know now and I knew immediately then that it was a [teletype machine but at] the time that I was, you know, looking at it I didn’t – it didn’t snap that it was a teletype machine.’ Got the mission I crack. He was given a mission, which he carried out.

‘I, I j–, I since, I really felt that I was going to be put to death for, for, for my offence and I just tried to [maximise as] much as I could.’ But I’m a scandal. He personifies the scandal he has caused.

‘I, I agree, and I sincerely, I sincerely regret [having done that], in retrospect ...’ I might be bad. Might be? Is this a denial of responsibility?

‘Just the old Sirhan, and jus, jus, and, and, an, and resolve to live uh, a new Sirhan, a [new rebirth and, and, an]d start out life with a new slate.’ In the therapy room. What happened in the therapy room? A hypnotic implant?

‘It allowed me to shed all the old Sir[han and the old ide-as] and the old uh, compulsions and the old, uh, you know, uh ...' See God born in there. Has he experienced a spiritual awakening in jail?

'... Ogree, egregious about, you know, being humane and merciful and, and, [and carrying out the, the law] uh, as impartially towards me as you would carry it out towards other, you know, formerly.' All the hurt, I wrecked him. Speaks for itself. He knows what he has done. There may also be some regret in that reversal.

'I, that I had, you know, extinguished a, a, you know, a great star, you know, a world saviour perhaps, a, a champion of all [mankind and uh], it's hard for me to live with this experience.' End that marked man. Bobby Kennedy was a marked man from the moment he ran for the Presidency. Sirhan Sirhan knows he ended his life. This may also be regret.

'... Have experienced in life. Especially this, this event, you know, [the assassination of Robert] Kennedy, and, and the trauma, and the horror ...' The whirlwind shared assassin. There were other people caught up in the whole energy of this assassination.

'And ... we ha—have known what the [fifty phantom jets were going], were designed for and what were they going to do ...' Michael fed the bloody fifth. Who is Michael and what was he fed?

'You know, w—we were, [when you're in San] Quentin, I was locked down all the time in, in, in a cell, in an adjustment centre.' They're screwing you. He feels as though the system has screwed him.

'This parole board is uh, is, is trying to ingratiate themselves by pretending to carry out the Kennedy family's wishes [and I doubt that, that they, that they are].' I have the debit with, with my gun. He is carrying around a large debt because of the act he committed.

‘No, I can’t. [But I will say this to you], that I was never part of any conspiracy.’ And you see this liar. This is a very clear reversal and a straight-out confession. He was part of a larger conspiracy.

911

What happened in New York City on 11 September 2001 has become part of American history now. It propelled the United States into a war on several fronts to root out and destroy Osama Bin Laden and Al Qaeda. There have been many conspiracy theories surrounding this attack. Was it an inside job? A false flag? Were the buildings deliberately brought down by explosives? Let us see what Reverse Speech has to say about this.

First, reversals on President George W. Bush responding to the attacks:

‘I have directed the full resources of our intelligence and law enforcement communities to find those responsible and bring them to justice. We will make no distinction between the terrorists who committed these acts and those who harbor them.’ Skies see the limit with terror. A reversal of resolve. Bush is determined there will be no more attacks from the skies, and there haven’t been since 2001.

‘Initially the terrorists may burrow deeper into caves. Our military action is also designed to clear the way for sustained, comprehensive and relentless operations to drive them out.’

I am avowed. Another reversal of resolve. He is committed and determined.

‘Tonight, the United States of America makes the following demands on the Taliban. Deliver to the United States authorities all the leaders of El Qaeda who hide in your land.’ I must reveal the law. Laying down the law.

‘An act of war was declared against the United States of America.’ Rule the planet, Dad. Ulterior motive of control? His father’s new world order?

‘The Taliban must act and act immediately, they will hand over the terrorists or share in their fate.’ You’re leading the planet. Say it’s on their blood. Ulterior motives again? Using the terrorist situation to establish firmer planetary leadership?

There are no reversals on Bush that suggest he had any prior knowledge of, or participation in, the 911 attacks as some conspiracy theories claim. He was determined to beat the terrorists but also to use this tragedy to cement the US’s power in the world.

Here are some reversals on Vice President Dick Cheney four days after the attacks:

‘We have made certain requests of the Pakistanis. [They have agreed to work with us in this] endeavour and some of that’s covered in the statement there.’ And so, they’ll go with the deal that they had. There was a deal made with the Pakistanis. What this deal was is not stated.

‘On the other hand, in terms in the sophistication of it it’s interesting to look at. Because clearly what happened, you got some people committed [to die in the course of the operation]. You got some pieces. You got them entering the United States. They came here, some of them enrolled in our commercial aviation schools and learned to fly.' The show by the Sultan, guard it. This reversal seems to hint at Arab involvement, which Cheney has knowledge of and is protecting. Interestingly, there were many conspiracy theories floating around at that time that suggested the US government flew a bunch of Saudis out of the US immediately after the attacks. But they're just rumours. Or are they?<sup>1</sup>

'And simply say we have had discussions with the Paks, President Bush called president [Masharaf just yesterday] afternoon from Camp David. They had a good conversation.' They have a sexy Russian sub. Is this part of the deal referenced earlier?

Here are some reversals on Paul Wolfowitz, US Deputy Secretary of Defence under George W. Bush. These comments were made the week after 911.

'It's not going [to be solved by] some limited military action, its going take, the President has said, and secretary Rumsfeld has said, a broad and sustained campaign against the terrorist network.' Yeah, our boss hidden. Who is the hidden boss?

'We're talking about our intelligence capabilities which are impressive and could be made more impressive. [But we're also talking] about our economic strength, we're talking about our diplomatic strength.' We caught the sorrow with this. I think their strengths were not as great as they thought, and they were caught off-guard.

‘I know every Indonesian, and I know has got to be shocked that people claiming this is just[ified by the Muslim] religion. Every religion has its extremists, and these are religious extremists we are dealing with.’ Kill the Muslim without doubt. Sympathetic forwards but stating the US’s intentions in reverse.

Now for one of the real villains, Larry Silverstein, the owner of the World Trade Centre:

‘And I’m going down to visit my tenants, my new tenants [at the trade centre, getting to know them], understanding their problems and so forth.’ My bombs making us testify. ‘My bombs?’ What bombs is he talking about and what is he testifying? I suspect it’s in the reversals.

‘The first plane hit, then the second plane hit and of course when the second plane hit [it became obvious that this was terrorism.] They see I make it. This is a direct confession. Silverstein was involved in the attacks.

‘And I ended up getting a call from the fire department commander [telling me that they were not] sure they were going to be able to contain the fire, and I said you know we’ve had such terrible loss of life, [the smartest thing to do is pull it], and they made that decision to pull.’ I know it, they be lost / Sultan said I’m silly. This is damning both forwards and in reverse. The phrase ‘to pull’ is a common term, meaning to conduct a controlled demolition. The reversal says he knows all is lost. It references a Sultan yet again (so did Dick Cheney).

‘You get the sense of determination [on occasion in her voice, yes dear] I’ll go, and then just minutes later received the telephone call to turn on our television set and witnessed this tremendous circumstance.’ Say you’re got that person to solve in the sheik. Here we have the phrase yet again! Arab involvement.

‘She kept me from going down to the Trade Centre, she said you gotta go to the dermatologist. [By the way] I never made it to the dermatologist that day but at least my intentions were right.’ Blow it up. This is another direct confession. Silverstein blew up the towers after the planes hit.

My overall conclusion is that President Bush was clueless, but Dick Cheney had prior knowledge of the attacks and Saudi involvement, as did the mass murderer, Larry Silverstein. Finally, Reverse Speech predicted this event in reversals found on Gaddafi, leader of Lybia at the time. I played these on the Jeff Rense Program a year prior to the attacks.

‘And we suffered [more during all these years but now] we thank God and we thank the international community.’ Welcome, crazy dog needing bomb. Who needed a bomb and what did they need a bomb for?

‘Express my gratitude to the international community and to the regional organisations that [exerted the forces during all these] years.’ I see more meetings, they go for the President. I think Gaddafi was in on the planning of 911 and the plane that crashed in Pennsylvania was going for the White House.

Lavoy Finicum

Robert LaVoy Finicum (27 January 1961 – 26 January 2016) was an American spokesman for the militia group, Citizens for Constitutional Freedom, who seized and occupied the Malheur National Wildlife Refuge in the State of Oregon, United States, on 2 January 2016.

On 26 January 2016, law enforcement officers attempted to arrest Finicum and other occupation leaders while they were traveling along a remote highway away from the occupation site. After fleeing the officers, Finicum was stopped by a roadblock, where he challenged officers to shoot him. He was shot and killed by state troopers while moving his hands toward his pocket, where officers later claim they found a loaded weapon.

Prior to the occupation, Finicum lived in Arizona where he made a living as a foster parent and operated a no-income cattle ranch.

Finicum: 'I'm going to ask them [if they want to go out]. Who are you?' I have no weapon. He says this as he is confronted by the police. His reversal says I have no weapon yet the Police claim there was a weapon on him. Did they plant it?

Children in truck: 'Please protect us God, please God.'
God thank you. Congruent reversal.

Woman crying: Help you / Oh my God.

The family of Oregon occupation spokesman, Robert 'LaVoy' Finicum, filed a wrongful death lawsuit in federal court against the United States, the FBI, Oregon State Police, the US Bureau of Land Management, Oregon's governor, and others, on the second anniversary of his death. The complaint claims Finicum was shot ‘assassination style’ by ‘one or more militarised officers of the Oregon State Police and/or FBI’ as he was trying to drive ‘across the county border’ to seek the protection of Grant County Sheriff, Glenn Palmer, on 26 January 2016. ‘Finicum was deliberately executed by a pre-planned government ambush, after he had exited his vehicle with his hands up,’ the complaint says.<sup>1</sup>

Mark Zuckerberg

Mark Elliot Zuckerberg (born 14 May 1984) is an American programmer, internet entrepreneur, and philanthropist. He is the chairman, chief executive, and co-founder of the social networking website, Facebook. His net worth was estimated to be US$51.2 billion, at June 2016.

There are two sides to Zuckerberg that I want to present here. First, the secret of his success, and secondly, the skulduggery and secret purpose of Facebook.

The secrets of his success are simple. He taps into the Divine with and he flows with the Whirlwind.

‘When we start talking about that we thought that was crazy, right, it was way bigger than any service in the world that had been built, it was ten digits long, [it just, it felt] crazy, we’d never get to that.’ God fetches it. The power of the Divine within has brought this to him.

‘We took a step back and I thought all right well our mission isn’t actually to get one in seven people in the world to be connected, we want to connect everyone, so it’s a big issue that only around a [third of the people in the world] had access to the internet.’ Whirlwind, I’ll beat with that Earth. He is connected to, and flows with, the Whirlwind.

Now, here is his other side as he testifies before Congress, 10 April 2018. He endured five hours of questioning in front of a rare US Senate joint committee hearing, answering questions about the misappropriation of up to 87 million users’ profile data by Cambridge Analytica and Russia’s use of the platform to spread propaganda and misinformation.

‘I can’t be clearer on this topic. We don’t sell data. That’s not how advertising works ah, and I do think we could probably be doing a clearer job [explaining that given the mis]perceptions that are out there.’ Send in the big gun, your notes. He is getting ready for battle with the US Congress.

‘We’ve limited it so now people can only bring their data when they go to an app ah, but that’s something a lot of people do on a daily basis is [sign into apps] and websites with their, with Facebook and that’s something that were, were ...’ Spies in us. This reversal speaks for itself. The CIA and other organisations are connected with Facebook.

‘Congressman, we have a number of measures in place to protect, uh, minors specifically. [We make it so that] adults can’t contact minors who they, they aren’t already friends with ...’ Nervous, they damn you. He is nervous testifying because he is being damned by the Congress.

‘Ah, we took the step of fundamentally changing how the platform works so now uh, when you sign into an app you can bring [your information] and if a friend is also signed into the app, then we'll, then the app can know that you're friends.' The sham of knowing. Facebook is all a big sham to get people's information.

'We do not allow hate [groups on Face]book overall so, ah, if, if there's a group that ah, their primary purpose or, or a large part of what they do is spreading hate we will ban them from the platform overall.' Safe, my spook. Spies again. Facebook is involved in intelligence operations and he thinks he is safe from being discovered.

'For as long as Russia has people who are employed who are trying to perpetrate this kind of interference, ah, it will be hard for us to guarantee that we're going to fully stop everything ah, but it's an arms race [and I think that] we're making ground and are doing better and better and are confident about how we're going to be able to do that.' I give fear on it. He is afraid. (I would be too, given what he knows.)

'[Yes, Congress]man, we believe that everyone around the world deserves good privacy controls.' They're not safe. An important incongruent reversal. People's data is not safe and since I published this transcript on my website in April 2018, there have been two more serious breaches of data at Facebook. Yes, they are not safe.

'Congressman, I'm not, [I'm not familiar with all of the things the F]TC said although I am very familiar with the FTC order to consent itself.' See favours, enough with the law, it'll ruin the thunder. He is getting favours and sees himself as being beyond the law.

'That when developers told us that they [weren't going to sell data], that that was a good, good representation but one of the big lessons that we've learned here is that clearly, we cannot ah, just take developers word for it, we need to go in and enforce that.' Our dear loss, gonna go. More data loss.

'If you delete your account, we immediately make it so that your account is um, is no longer available once your, once you're done deleting it, um so no one can [find you on the service]. We wouldn't be able to recreate your account from that.' Subverse, I know enough. He is involved in subversive activities and has much knowledge.

'It's just the sheer volume of content on Facebook that we can't, no amount of people that we can hire will be enough, we need to rely on and build [um, sophisticated] AI tools that can help us flag certain content.' They could see the smut. A congruent reversal. He is monitoring content.

'For that we need to build AI systems that can go and identify a number of their fake account networks and just last week we traced back the Russian activity to specific fake account network.' It's the CIA Lord within you. Speaks for itself. Facebook is being used by the CIA.

My overall conclusion of these reversals is that Facebook is a front for intelligence operations and users' data is far from being safe.

This chapter has only shown an infinitesimal small amount of the many scandals and hidden agenda that operate in high places. Sirhan Sirhan was programmed to kill RFK. 911 was an inside job involving the Saudis, and an intentional controlled demolition was used to bring down the WTC. Lavoy Finicum was murdered by the Oregon State Police. And Facebook is a front for intelligence operations.

How's all that for starters? I can assure you that this is just the tip of the iceberg. I am just one man. Imagine what more we could discover and reveal if we had hundreds of Reverse

Truth in Washington DC

TRUTH IN WASHINGTON DC almost seems to be a contradiction in terms. In fact, the whole political game is just one big lie of spins and deals and secrets, and the list goes on. We all know this. I'm not saying anything new. So why do we allow it to happen? Is it because none of us feel we have the power to change the system? We are slaves to the system and that very slavery is what is keeping us from accessing the Divine within, including all our other hidden senses and wisdom. We will never evolve until we become congruent in all things, in both our political and personal lives.

This is the great Truth that Reverse Speech teaches. Be honest in all things, be congruent, and that congruency will begin to open our consciousness to greater powers. Does it start at the top and work its way down? Or does it start at the bottom and work its way up? I think both are true. Reverse

Speech calls for revolution. That is, personal revolution and collective revolution. We must demand honesty and transparency from our leaders – political and religious.

In time, as the revolution of Truth that Reverse Speech will bring grows, our leaders will be forced to be honest and they won't like it one little bit. As the book of Revelations says, 'And they called out to the mountains and to the rocks, "Fall on us and hide us from the eyes of the one who sits on the Throne"' (Revelations 6:16). I see that verse being fulfilled on a regular basis in my private session work and training classes as my clients and students are forced to face their own Truths. I see students dropping like flies, and clients not completing their sessions.

This fear will happen politically as well, as our leaders see the people rise and demand Truth. It will take a revolution. A revolution of Truth. And as the world grows in truth and congruity so will we harness our greatness.

We saw a perfect example of the power of congruency when Donald Trump was elected President of the United States, despite never having held political office before and having a rather abrasive attitude. His secret lay in his congruency. I wrote about that in my book Unveiling the Truth. He wanted the best for America, he was genuine in his desire and that gave him congruent reversals. His opponent, on the other hand, Hillary Clinton, had strong incongruent reversals and so she lost.

However, as Trump's Presidency began and the responsibilities of being the leader of the free world fell upon him, cracks began to appear in his amour, such as his promise of Mexico paying for his border wall.

Trump: 'I want to get the wall started. I don't want to wait a year and half before I make my deal with Mexico, [and we probably have a] deal sooner than that, and by the way Mexico has been so nice.' They will not deal with us. An incongruent reversal. He knows Mexico won't pay for the wall and, at the time of writing, there is a government shut-down, all over funding for the wall. Not only will Mexico not deal with him, but the Democrats won't either.

Trump: 'As you know we're negotiating [NAFTA, see how that goes], but Mexico will pay in some form Mexico will pay.' I got ICE, that's fine. It doesn't matter if they won't pay for it, he's got ICE (Immigration and Customs Enforcement). With the December 2018 invasion of the southern border by a caravan of thousands of refugees, he is using ICE quite a lot.

Here he is promising to build a great partnership with other nations: 'We will attempt to build a great partnership with those and other countries [but in a mann]er that always protects our national interest.' I made it up. It's all spin. He just makes it up as he goes.

Trump: 'We are discussing Syria as part of an overall deal. When they made the Iran deal what [they should have done] is include Syria.' I'm full of shit. Speaks for itself, and in December 2018 he proved this reversal to be true in a dramatic way by pulling troops out of Syria.

Trump: 'With this strategy we are calling for a great reawakening of America, a resurgence of confidence and a [rebirth of patriotism] prosperity and pride.' Resist to get the therapy. This is a strange reversal. Some people were questioning Trump's mental health at the time. Could this be in reference to that? Was he refusing to bow down to those who wanted him to have therapy?

Here he is promising to bring jobs: 'If we could keep jobs instead have them go to India and having them go, [I mean Mexico].' I could scam you. An incongruent reversal. It's all a scam.

Here he is at the UN: 'I was elected [not to take power] but to give power to the American people where it belongs.' I get this con. Here is the same theme yet again. It's all a con and scam to him.

Here we see the same theme as he talks about North Korea: 'It's going to remain what it is now. I don't even want to use the term maximum pressure anymore because I don't even want to use that term.' I'm a scammer. The theme continues.

Here's an amusing reversal as he touts his favourite line of the fake news: 'Our biggest obstacle and their greatest ally actually is the media. You can believe it. We got stories that are so big, and the media doesn't pick them up.' And they get worse than a zero. He grades the media as being even worse than a mark of zero.

This reversal describes all of Washington DC: 'We need to vote against guys like John Tester [that can destroy a man] with inuendo.' And they all sin together. All of Washington runs on lies and spin.

The theme continues with this reversal as he warns Canadian Prime Minister, Trudeau, over comments at the G7 summit: 'When I put in a counter veiling tariff just to get us up a little bit, so the balance isn't so much, it's like this, they said oh that's terrible.' America's in all the shit. This is contrary to his well-known reverse phrase during the election campaign where he used to constantly say backwards, America is the best. Maybe he learned new information when he got into office?

Trump in North Carolina: 'God bless you all. We'll see you soon. Thank you.' Always sell God. Has shades of Billy Graham, selling God.

Trump in Florida: 'Our plan [will be much] better health care at a much lower cost.' Scum people. He shows no respect for the people.

In the following reversals his ego shows:

Trump (withdrawing from Iran Nuclear Deal): 'After these consultations it is clear to me that we cannot prevent an Iranian [nuclear bomb].' I'm real good. Got a big head, Donald?

Trump at Nato Summit: 'Because the pipeline in coming in from Russia so we're gonna have to figure that out. I brought it up. [Nobody brought it up but me] and we all are talking about it now and actually I think the world is talking about it now maybe more than anything else, but we're going to figure that one out.' In the planet, I'll be the one. He sees himself, probably rightly so, as the most important person on the planet.

Trump talking About Russia hacking elections: 'I have said that before, I have said that numerous times before and I would [say that is true].' My wolf said I'm the best. He even tells himself how good he is.

Here is Trump in a good light as he addresses Congress: 'At our meeting I asked them, how are you doing? How is business? They said that it's good. [I asked them further]. How are you doing with other countries.' I love Messiah. An expression of a Christian faith or maybe a megalomaniac, as the next reversal would seem to suggest.

Trump on using nuclear weapons: 'There's a whole lot of talk about that and that's a [bad thing not a good thing]. The last person to use nuclear would be Donald Trump.' Get the gun, you're sad. This reversal seems to imply he would use nukes.

Trump Rally in Arizona: 'We [will make America safe again].' I got fierce high crime, a gamble. What is Donald Trump up to? High Crimes? Shades of Nixon, maybe?

Trump on Las Vegas shooting: 'America's praying [for you and America's] praying for all the victims of this terrible shooting.' See crime in a wave. He comments on the series of shootings in the US. It is crime in a wave.

President Donald Trump Hannity Interview, January 2017

President Donald Trump sat down with Sean Hannity at the White House for an hour-long, cable-exclusive interview on 25 January 2017, where the President talked about the current hotbed issues. The President talked about a wide range of topics, including how he plans to defeat ISIS and radical Islamic terrorism. One of the other topics he spoke about was Obamacare and how he plans to replace it with something better. He didn't hesitate to take a swing at what he calls, 'The dishonest media,' talking about the story that evolved from the bust of Martin Luther King supposedly missing from the Oval Office. Trump then went on to talk about his plans for extreme vetting for refugees coming from such countries as Syria or Yemen. This is the Reverse Speech analysis of the interview and the results of that analysis:

Trump: 'Well I'm going to keep as many as I can, you know politics and stuff [sometimes you make a promise and for some reason you can't because you have opposition on the other side that raises their hand and make it impossible.] You mustn't miss the mob by giving madness. He is telling himself that he needs to follow through with what he has promised.

Trump: 'And we're going to take care of a lot of people that were mistreated by government for many, many years and that's uh, really how I won [the election in the first place Sean], you know that probably better than anybody.' My ship surfing in the shallow. Metaphor, he is on thin ice.

Trump: 'It's not going to be so easy for people to come in any more. You look at what's gone on, I mean, we could just go one after another but then you go to other countries and you look at [Neace and you look at] different places all over Europe and you look at what's happening with Germany, it's a mess the crime is incredible.' They're killing the scene. Immigration is killing America and these other countries.

Trump: 'They leave the meeting and they have a news conference about what I said, been talking to the cameras about exactly what I [said at the meeting, which is fine, because I say things that I don't mind going out, because I assume they're going to do that but the deal was we wouldn't talk to the press.] Who will name the Goddess. Goddess is a metaphor for hope. Who is going to bring hope to this mess?

Trump: 'And by the way just so you understand, the Middle East, I don't want to be like, you know, they said this speech can be dark on occasion. When we spend six trillion dollars, when I was interviewed last night [by David Muir he said], “Aren’t you going to make them angry,” I said, “Angry how can they be more angry then they are right now, who we going to make angry”.’ Nasty ho the beggar. He does not like those in the Middle East who he perceives are stealing money from the US.

Trump: ‘In communications say look you have some very honest ones but, but I get stories [that are so false] and so dishonest, I wish, well yeah they said Martin Luther King’s bust was taken out of the Oval Office by me.’ Soul force I led. He was in contact with the power of his soul as he campaigned.

Trump: ‘They would like three hundred, three hundred and fifty people in the room, over a thousand wanted to come, and if I took a vote right now, I would’ve won three hundred [fifty to nothing] believe me. But even that was demeaned as much as they could demean it.’ Have fun with it. He is having fun being President.

Trump: ‘And, and it doesn’t work.’ Hannity: ‘You know it’s, you can’t even buy a catastrophic plan.’ Trump: ‘Correct. And the deductibles are so high, [that unless you get] hit by a tractor you’re never going to be able to use it.’ Angry sell not bad. He is selling his health care plan and doesn’t mind showing anger about it.

Trump: ‘And it was such a success, OK. So now I see CNN and other people say well who was in the audience from Trump? Trump, I went there with a few people, there’s nobody, it was all CIA. They said but I heard [the first row and the first two, you saw that] press conference, Sean did a great job.’ I will see your stuff when the world suffered. He believes he will shine, fixing the sufferings of the world.

Trump: 'He said to me the other day, that was so great everyone loved it, everybody loved it. When I got back I saw the speech, they didn't li[ke it, it wasn't respectful], it was a smattering of applause, it wasn't a smattering it was, there were like three hundred to three hundred and fifty people in the room, over a thousand wanted to come.' Wolf helps you, the Soul would ache. He is motivated to succeed but has pains in the Soul.

Trump: 'And President Obama told me something that was, I thought terrific. And I believe he means it. He said if you came up with a better plan and you could get a better plan approved he would support it. And I actually believe [he means it]. I do believe we're going to have a much better plan, I think we're going to have a cheaper plan.' That's near me. He is close to having a new health care plan.

Trump: 'Because the people that we're going against they don't wear uniforms. They're sneaky, dirty rats. [And they blow people up] in a shopping centre and they blow people up in a church. These are bad people.' I will be bold in it. He will fight them aggressively.

Trump: 'Well I think it is one of the worst deals I've ever seen, and I'm not just talking about the nation, no, no. I think it's, what? How about $1.7 billion, and [that was a ransom payment], in cash, $1.7 billion in cash.' The madness, there was a winner. The deal was crazy, and the other side won.

Trump: 'But, if we can get along with Russia, it's good for Russia, it's good for us, we go out together and [knock the hell out of] ISIS ...' But Allah had fun. They might be going to knock the hell out of Isis but he perceives Allah as having fun doing the attacks.

Hannity: 'I assume you're going to be putting, there's a picture of your father.' Trump: 'Picture of my father, right.' Hannity: 'That wasn't there yesterday.' Trump: 'No it wasn't, I just added that. [That's good, you know that]?' Hannity: 'I did notice that.' Trump: 'Well you picked that up fast.' They're wanting Nixon. He knows that the Left are out to get him and want him impeached, like Nixon would have been had he not resigned.

President Trump's SOTU Speech, January 2018

The reversals of Donald Trump on the State of the Union are a mixed bag. His love of America is obvious, as well as his belief in, and strengthening of, the military. However, this strategy may lead the US to war. He is incongruent on some of his policy statements, yet some people have suggested that these reversals may be referring to the Democrats, who clearly did not like his speech. Some of his other reversals are congruent and supportive and he genuinely wants bi-partisan support to get his agenda through. There are also a couple of reversals that hint at things going on behind the scenes that he cannot talk about, maybe coercion.

President Trump: 'Over the last [year, we have made in] credible progress and achieved extraordinary success.' They're damned by your way. Incongruent reversal. He is doing harm.

President Trump: 'We endured floods and fires and storms. But through it all, [we have seen the beauty of] America's soul.' We leave the mess for you. Incongruent reversal. It's all a mess.

President Trump: 'Thank you to David and the brave people of California, thank you very [much David], great job.' The bad scum. Incongruent reversal. We have seen his lack of respect for people in a previous reversal.

President Trump: 'So to every citizen [watching at home tonight], no matter where you have been, or where you come from, this is your time.' Beyond, there's more than you show. He is not telling the whole story

President Trump: 'In April, [this will be] the last time you will ever file under the old and very broken system.' Hear bullshit. Incongruent reversal. He is telling them what they want to hear.

President Trump: 'Many car [companies are now] building and expanding plants in the United States, something we haven't seen for decades.' Why not see the muck. Incongruent reversal. Things are not rosy like he is saying.

President Trump: 'We can lift our citizens from [welfare to work], from dependence to independence, and from poverty to prosperity.' Go with their flow. He wants to see citizens at work.

President Trump: 'Let's open great vocational schools so our future workers can learn a craft and realise [their full potential].' I snagged the pulpit. He certainly did. Now he is one of the Pharisees.

President Trump: 'I want you to know that three hundred and twenty million hearts are right now breaking for you. [We love you. Thank you].' We get the value. Congruent reversal.

President Trump: 'We can make sure that other families never have to endure this kind of pain. [Tonight, I am calling on the Congress to] finally close the deadly loopholes that have allowed MS-13, and other criminal gangs, to break into our country.' It's Iraq then the lock made on it. Meaning unknown.

President Trump: 'So tonight, I am extending an open hand to work with members of both parties, Democrats [and Republicans], to protect our citizens of every background, colour, religion, and creed.' Make a love unit. Congruent reversal. He wants bipartisan support.

President Trump: 'But for our security, and for the future of America. [In recent weeks, two terrorist attacks in New York were made possible by the Visa lottery and chain migration.] Let the terrorist. Congruent reversal. He is saying America let the terrorists in.

President Trump: 'His brother and sister gave what little food they had to help him recover and ate dirt themselves, perma[nently stunting their own] growth.' NORAD you've not sealed it. Is Norad insecure?

President Trump: 'It was that same yearning for freedom that nearly two hundred and fifty years ago gave birth to a special place called America. It was a small clu[ster of colonies caught between a] great ocean and a vast wilderness.' And used the proxy in the lock first. Meaning unknown.

President Trump: 'With a revolutionary idea that they could rule themselves. That they could chart [their own destiny]. And that, together, they could light up the entire world.' Here to save NORAD. Norad again!

President Trump: 'And freedom stands tall over one [more monument], this one. This Capitol. This living monument ...' Then we numb Rome. Incongruent reversal. They are numbing and dumbing down what the US stands for.

President Trump: 'They sacrifice to raise a family. [They care for our chil]dren at home. They defend our flag abroad.' Shall fake it. Incongruent reversal. He is faking his concern.

President Trump: 'You are powerful witnesses to a menace that threatens our world and your strength truly [inspires us all. Thank you very mu]ch, thank you.' America forces are up. Congruent reversal.

President Trump: 'Young patriots like Preston teach all of us about our civic duty as Americans, and I met Preston a little while ago and he is something very special that I can tell, great future, [thank you very much for all you have done Preston. Thank you very much].' America, I serve mud, we lost America. Incongruent reversal. He swaps and changes about his opinions of America.

President Trump: 'Here tonight are Steve Staub and [Sandy Kep]linger of Staub Manufacturing, a small beautiful business in Ohio.' Fuckin' ass. Incongruent reversal. His disrespect continues.

President Trump: 'And when captured overseas, [they should be] treated like the terrorists they are.' Give the shit. Congruent reversal. He wants to give them shit. Water boarding?

President Trump: 'And [we celebrate our police], our military.' Seal a murder bless you. Oh my! What does this mean?

President Trump: 'That is what Americans have [always] stood for.' See a war. An ominous prediction!

President Trump: 'Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, everywhere. We are with you, [we love you, and we always] will pull through together, always.' See a war unit we value. War again.

President Trump: 'With us tonight is one of [the toughest] people ever to serve in this House.' So fuck it. He has a rather nasty, flippant attitude.

President Trump: 'We heard about Americans like firefighter [David Dahlberg].' Their blood livid. Probably referencing anger.

President Trump: 'Otto joined a tour to North Korea. At its conclusion, this wonderful young man w[as arrested] and charged with crimes against the state.' The terrors. Congruent reversal. He experienced terrors.

President Trump
Kim Jong Un Summit President Trump
Kim Jong Un Summit, 12 June 2018

The June 2018 meeting between US President Donald Trump and North Korean leader Kim Jong Un will be one for the history books. Just a few months previous to this, North Korea and the United States were walking into a nuclear war. Today, they are no longer on that path and, at least on the surface, it seems to be due to a successful meeting between the two leaders. Here are the speech reversals that we have found on various audio clips of the summit. Trump shines in these examples.

President Trump: '[Well thank you very much everybody we appreciate it. We're getting ready to go back.]' I'm very careful. He is cautious

President Trump: 'Nearly seventy years ago, think of that, seventy years ago an extremely bloody conflict ravaged the Korean peninsula. Countless people died in the conflict including tens of [thousands of brave] Americans. Yet while the armistice was agreed to, the war never ended to this day, never ended.' Failed business. Congruent reversal. The war failed on all fronts.

President Trump: 'But peace is always worth the effort, especially in this case. They should have been done years ago, [they should've been resolved a long time ago.]' You live with the shit. He lives with the mess he was left.

President Trump: 'We dream of a future where all Koreans can live together in harmony. Where families are reunited, and hopes are reborn and where the light of peace chases away the [darkness of war].' Oversee God. Does he see himself as more important than God?

As can be seen by all the previous reversals on President Trump, he is hardly the saviour he presented himself as being, and even though he has America's best interests at heart, as his pre-election reversals suggested, what he is doing now, by his own admission in reverse, is a con and a sham. How can a man change so much from before his election to after his election? I am reminded of George H.W. Bush's famous line, 'Read my lips. No new taxes.' Then a year after he was elected taxes were increased.

Here are some reversals on other key players in international politics. First, former Secretary of Defence, Mattis. (Mattis resigned in December 2018 over differences with Trump's policies.)

Mattis (talking about North Korea): 'I think the most important thing is to recognise if you're going to an objective [down the track] and you want take your vehicle, your train down the track.' Die in mud, the mud, mud. Aggressive words to an aggressive regime.

Mattis (talking about South Korea): 'Will discuss [other ways to make] certain our military is always ready to p[rotect] this republic.' Kim, deal with us. A plea for cooperation.

Mattis (talking about the whole Korean Peninsular): 'Together with the spirit of collaboration I'm confident we'll continue to provide for the security and prosperity for our nation and the region.' Seal the battle for nukes. He is determined that the US will win any nuclear confrontation.

Mattis: 'And it will be a lot smoother organisation. It'll move rapidly against the enemy, more fluidly against the enemy.' Demonise, they gave the power on Google. The internet has changed the world and can now be used against us.

Mattis (responding to a question about North Korea's missile capability): 'We always assume [that with a testing program] they get better with each test.' My wolf attack with the weather. Does this refer to weather warfare? I am reminded of former Defense Secretary William Cohen's reversal in 1998 that said Plan evil weather.

Here is Maxine Waters (Democrat talking about James Comey): 'If she had won the White House, I believe that given what, he did to her and what he tried to do she should have fired him yes.' And I'm full of shit. The reversal speaks for itself. More shit in Washington.

Maxine Waters (defending her position against Trump): 'These parents want to know where their children are. Any parent would want to [know where their chil]dren are.' Bullshitter won. Presumably talking about Trump Maxine Waters: '[I don't care about] Clinton. I'm going to work every day until I get him impeached.' America, I'm ill. She is one sick lady and needs to go.

Trump (responding to Maxine Waters's call for impeachment): '[Maxine Wa]lters, a very low IQ individual.' Only a scam. He calls Waters plans to get him impeached merely a scam.

Here is British Prime Minister, Theresa May (confronting Netanyahu about Palestinian murders): 'Hundred Palestinian lives lost in a deteriorating situation in Gaza and we can talk about how we alleviate the situation. How [we can assure we can get that] position where can find a way through and talk about a two-state solution.' I beg you with bullshit, fuck you. Nice diplomatic words forwards but the voice of her heart shows her real feelings.

Here is Canadian Prime Minister, Trudeau: 'I'm not asking for consent. I'm asking for permission to continue without being interrupted.' I'm as ass. Out of the mouth of his Spirit!

Here is John Kerry (Democrat) bashing Trump: 'And we proved in the course, and I lay it out in this book, when I came back from, the war it was not an easy thing to [stand up. People forget that] today.' That faggot will be financing it. Presumably a reference to Trump.

Here we see a different type of reversal from Ivanka Trump: 'I tell them their grandfather is going to Washington DC with the [goal of helping as many people as he possibly can.]' This will be the answer. Get right with the Lord. Yes, I agree. That's the whole message of this book.

Here is Vice President, Mike Pence, at CPAC: 'This is our time. This is the chance we have worked so hard [for so long to see].' Kiss them all Lucifer. A concerning reversal from a man with a professed Christian faith.

Now we have former Speaker of the House, Paul Ryan, on health care: 'This is a chance and the best and only chance we're going to get and that's [why I'm really excited], thank you very much.' America, Let's heal you now. A congruent reversal showing a good man. It's a shame he is no longer speaker.

Kushner (talking about Saudi Arabia): 'What are your fears over the coming days, [will be adding].' I'm evil, high evil. And that reversal says it all!

So, as you can see, we have a big problem in politics. I'm sure the 'founding fathers' would be turning in their graves. Their wonderful dream of Democracy has been replaced by lies and spin and only exists now as an outward façade of a far deeper disease.

I don't know how to fix it. The human soul is diseased, and this has affected our institutions and our way of life. Maxine Waters summed it up when she said in reverse, America I'm ill. As far as I'm concerned, they are all ill!

We need to find our way again. We are like a rotting ship being tossed around on the oceans of life with a broken helm. How do we find our way?

The Still Small Voice Within is always speaking to us, showing us the right path. We must learn to listen to its Voice, so we can create Heaven here on Earth. That is our true destiny.

As a client's reversal once said in this section of forward speech: 'So what I'm wondering in my brain now is when people are praying, and things are happening. Are they [doing it themselves? Like] is our brain that powerful? Is that what's happening?' Your voice has the knowing.

DAVID JOHN OATES

Yes, the brain is that powerful, and the still small voice within has all knowing and all knowledge.

Let he who has ears, listen.

Journeys through the Unconscious

IN THIS CHAPTER I am going to present two complete case studies of clients going through session work. We will look at their sessions, the Metawalks conducted, and the final results. The language used in the reversals is typical in these types of recordings.

Client one is a man in his mid-thirties who is looking to enhance his business and professional life. He had been on a personal growth journey for several years before coming to see me. Here is the complete transcript, forward and reverse, of our first session, with meanings of all the metaphors.

First Transcript

‘There’s an element of validation, [am I doing the right thing] so that’s kind of why I wanted to [get in touch with you].’ I sniff Whirlwind / Jesus trust me first. These are two very positive reversals. First, he sniffs the Whirlwind. We discussed the sense of smell in a previous chapter, and we explained the Whirlwind as being a universal force that binds us together. The reversal is telling us he is in contact and aware of this universal force. The second reversal, using the metaphor, Jesus, shows a spiritual confidence. (0:00:19–0:00:21)

‘So, it kind of feels like something moving [on that front] and [starting to see it’s sort of] the direction I want to take.’ We can send this love / Marvellous, the verse with his force. Love is a marvellous metaphor in Reverse Speech. It is described as the force that binds us and the universe together. The metaphor Verse is a common theme, which I see in most transcripts. Our behaviour and personality are formed and orchestrated by the laws and verses in the Soul. These two reversals add to the first two and show this person is in excellent touch with the forces of the Whirlwind, and his behaviour only adds to his positive personal power. (0:01:56–0:01:58)

‘Relaxation and energy flow work. Some with individ[uals and then] with the groups as well.’ Then that sword. Sword is a common metaphor referring to communication. I mentioned previously how I believe the two-edged sword refers to the two-fold nature of speech. This reversal shows he had good communication with other people in the group. (0:04:21–0:04:23)

‘Really sort of finding the energy within me, a lot of the electrical energy that were creating lots of states of bliss and very high states of conscious that ordinarily I’ve only ever achieved with shall we say [medicinal things in the past].’ Hell soft and I sniff the bad. The reversal occurs as he discusses forwards how he has used ‘medicinal things’ in the past to achieve higher states of consciousness. The reversal suggests this is not the best course to take. It ‘smells’ bad. (0:04:50–0:04:52)

‘I just got a lot of clarity and a lot of certainty that came out of [the whole thing as well so], in previous conversations that we were having [and recordings that we have done].’ Your soul sing it warm / My Jesus, we look in there. These two reversals give great credence to the benefits of analysing recordings in reverse. Using the common metaphors Soul and Sound (sing), and then Warm, which means to be spiritually active, his personal metaphor of Jesus is being activated. (0:05:54–0:05:57)

‘And this whole area of consciousness and personal development and somehow, I wasn’t finding a way of melding the two and I was thinking do I have to choose between the two of them, if so how do I pursue [the personal development]?’ Then beloved will surf with this. ‘Beloved’ is a term of endearment for the Spirit. Surf means to move through life, so his current direction is opening himself up to his Spirit. (0:06:29–0:06:32)

‘I’ve [decided to put the amazon thing], at least for now anyway, to one side, so I really to check that also. Is it the right thing to do?' Yet there's a neighbour we shut off. The reversal says he is shutting off an opportunity. (0:07:18–0:07:20)

'Before I would just look at a fee [and move onto the next client], now I'm starting to explore different ways of having success related results.' Dark scandal in my money. He is incongruent over the way he is making money. This incongruity must be resolved if he is to have further success. (0:08:49–0:08:52)

'I just want to [one hundred per cent validate that this is the right] path for me.' Go with the Sinbad, dear the love message. Sinbad is a rare metaphor but he is a sailor and an adventurer. The reversal also uses the metaphor Love, which is described in Reverse Speech as the force that binds it all together. The reversal confirms that he is on the right path. (0:09:33–0:09:36)

'I borrowed the IP from somebody else [in the sense I took the challenge].' You book this lesson. Reverse Speech constantly talks about life as being a series of lessons as we grow and evolve. He has a lesson in this experience. (0:12:03–0:12:06)

'But I'm, starting to now feel that I need to own my own IP and own my own model within that.' I am beloved. Using the spiritual phrase of 'I AM', he is owning his own divine power. (0:12:17–0:12:20)

'Life is trying to tell me yes get on and do it.' Say you must. His Spirit talks directly to him, telling him he must do it. (0:13:30–0:13:33)

'I just thought it was [purely about self-development] and my own version of it whereas now I think it's more around this business plan and personal transformation.' The lovely force our belief. All parts of him are congruent with his plans for self-development. (0:13:56–0:13:59)

'The business model is effectively the educo model.' They give this effort. Reverse Speech often uses the phrases 'us, they, we, them'. They refer to multiple parts of the psyche working together. The reversal shows all parts of him are working towards his goal. (0:16:00–0:16:04)

'So, start with the founders and CEOs and over time they would then get their own personal business transformation [and start to build] a really successful company.' The lord was Rocelin. This is a nasty metaphor. It comes from the tales of Camelot where Merlin the magician was imprisoned in the fairest of Broceliande (Rocelin) and robbed of his magic by a dark fairy named Niniane. Anyone running this metaphor is likely to be highly overbearing, draining energy from those around them and destined for failure. It is essential that this metaphor be eradicated from the psyche. It is like a cancer and serves no positive function. (0:16:23–0:16:26)

'[She's sort of] kind of a guru up there in the world with high levels of consciousness.' Marvellous dish. I think he likes her. (0:17:37–0:17:40)

'Beyond that it's kind of more live in the now as much as possible.' Warm Shiva knock on me. Using Shiva as one of the many names of God, Warm means to be spiritually alive. He is asking for Divine help. (0:20:43–0:20:46)

'I just finished a project with them [and now discussing ah] working with them on a small fee plus equity.' Find your sex beyond that. Sex is an extremely common metaphor. It is the energy that powers the psyche. The voice of this man's spirit is telling him to find his energy and fulfillment beyond this current project. (0:21:25–0:21:28)

'Is it going to be enjoyable and pleasant to work with Gemma and Paul. [These are the two] people involved in the business.' See the walk. His Spirit talks to him again, telling him this is just part of his life's journey. (0:21:43–0:21:46)

'For [someone to go to the seminar and then start building this].' Send your lord Rocelin on a muscle's nexus. This is a difficult reversal to interpret. The fact that Rocelin has come up again and this time as a Lord is rather disturbing. Combining this reversal with other reversals we have seen in this session, one must ask if there is something fundamentally wrong with his attitude towards business, which definitely must be addressed in the Metawalks. (0:22:37–0:22:40)

'But it will fundamentally mean that ultimately it starts at the top.' Remember the flow. His Spirit once again tells him to go with the flow – remember the Sex and the Whirlwind, they will lead you. (0:24:16–0:24:19)

'I don't obviously want to go [full pelt down this road] if the unconscious is telling me, no, no, this is not the way to go.' And my white wolf will. The White Wolf is the most powerful wolf of all in Reverse Speech. Often referred to as the Shewolf, she is the part of the mind that assists in the manifestation and creation process. His Spirit is saying you will manifest this path before you. (0:25:04–0:25:07)

Once this transcript is presented to the client, and the meanings of the reversals discussed, a further thirty-minute recording is made. The purpose of this recording is to obtain instructions from the Spirit as to how to alter some of the dysfunctional metaphors he has. As always, the answers are also in metaphors.

Second Transcript

'[So, in my sense there are a lot of reversals there] from the journey I'm going on.' Reversals serve the law. Is this myth from there? This reversal tells us that reversals have the answer. They dictate to us what the law (or verse) is saying. (0:00:28–0:00:31)

'Or the direction I'm taking, particularly on the personal development space seems to be the thumbs up.' Beloved will surf to marry kiss. Yes, this is clearly the direction he needs to be on, and his Spirit wants him to move forward. (0:00:37–0:00:39)

'Keep on looking at lots of ideas and options and different alternatives [and that will not] ending up making a decision on pursuing any particular one.’ On more fun. His spirit is saying this is a good direction. Have more fun! (0:01:17–0:01:18)

‘Since I’ve been in my own employment, I probably [struggle to probably even] hit that salary level.’ You feel the rot with your verse. This reversal tells us the reason for his incongruity around money, noted in the first session where he said backwards, Dark scandal in my money. It also tells us what we need to do: ‘Remove the rot from his verse’. This will be achieved in the Metawalks to follow. (0:02:03–0:02:06)

Here he is responding directly to a question I asked him about the dark scandal in his money: ‘That was a bit of a puzzle to me because on the face of it, [it sounds a bit like] if sort of like there’s something inherently immoral in what I’m doing.’ There’s a God, it was my Spirit. His reversal directly accesses the Divine and uses the word Spirit itself, which is quite rare. It reassures him that there is nothing immoral in what he is doing and to fix his incongruities around money we need to access the Divine. This will be achieved with Metawalks going to Heaven, which is where both God, and the verse we need to fix, resides. (0:02:50–0:02:52)

In this section he still explores the meaning of the dark scandal: ‘The scandal is I have all these [targets or dreams] and breakthroughs in what I’m earning.’ Knew Daddy laws. We already know that his money issue is connected to ‘rot in the verse’. This reversal shows the Law (or verse) was handed down from his father. (0:03:30–0:03:32)

‘Now I’m probably doing better [the last sort of six] to twelve months.’ Kiss little soul. This reversal is the Spirit speaking, giving more instructions on how to fix his pattern. As is consistent with the theme so far, his answers lie in the Kingdom of Heaven where God, the Soul, the verses and the laws reside. (0:03:58–0:03:59)

‘Certainly, a lot better than I was [the year before and the year before that].’ Our wolf will be your wolf, obey him. This is a direct message from the Divine through his Spirit. The many faces of God will be his motivation. Obey his Wolf and he will succeed. We will do this in the Metawalks. (0:04:02–0:04:04)

‘Down the line, next year an equity or bonus and [that’s the sort of] path to [more financial freedom].’ That sad harvest / My youth will shut off warm. More incongruent reversals around money. His ‘youth shutting off warm’ is the verses and laws that have hindered him. (0:05:42–0:05:44)

‘It’s not me just being upset with him about it, [it’s knowing that] I’m doing it wrong.’ And run Satan. Satan is a metaphor in Reverse Speech that I haven’t fully grasped yet. If one is to say that God is not only a metaphor, then it’s logical to say that Satan isn’t either. Nevertheless, my own personal belief system does not accept the existence of a living being called Satan. This doesn’t stop me, however, from working with the metaphor in Metawalks, and I have been known to perform exorcisms under trance because that is what the reversals told me to do. Satan means anger, negativity, sabotage, spiritual emptiness. To ‘run’ a metaphor means to activate it. The Satan metaphor is running in this man's relationship and it must be dealt with in a Metawalk. (0:15:49–0:15:52)

'Free, having my power restored. Just feeling [a little more in the moment and not in thought].' Wolf, I'm the man, the gnome bill it. Here the Wolf metaphor appears again in the context of giving him strength. Gnome and elves mean essentially the same thing in reverse, although gnomes can sometimes refer to dysfunctional elves. They are the electrical impulses in the nerves. We will use this image in a Metawalk. (0:19:29–0:19:34)

'To completely eliminate Rocelin. That would be useful, given that that's part of my journey anyway is [make sense that that is um] also part of the Metawalk.' Moses troubles messed them. Moses is a common metaphor, meaning to hear the messages from God. There is an issue with the Moses metaphor and this is contributing to Rocelin's power. It must be dealt with in a Metawalk. (0:20:05–0:20:09)

Responding to a question about what metaphor do we use to replace Rocelin: 'One that's deeply spiritual and the high spiritual one, one that is loving and powerful. [I don't know if there's one that captures all three].' Yes, troubles will fuck them all. This is essentially a warning. No amount of work will succeed while the negative metaphors exist. (0:21:52–0:21:55)

'I want to be able to find a model [and a way of working] which [gives me financial freedom].' You go, whirlwind / the youth will shut off, feel Satan. These reversals tell us that part of his solution lies in the Whirlwind. We will use this in the Metawalks. The problem of his youth is pinpointed again, with Satan being a concern. (0:23:01–0:23:06)

First Metawalk

Using the reversals from the first and second transcript, two individualised personal Metawalks are then written to change the undesirable metaphors and bring in a new metaphoric structure. The secret is in the pictures. As we change the pictures we change the metaphors and hence the behaviour these metaphors are creating.

Initial specialised trance inductions are first given to create the desired state and to access the part of the mind where metaphors reside. This process takes three or four minutes. The following Metawalk was then given.

Start walking on a beach with your beloved. See God walking towards you. You kiss and embrace. God calls the wolf and he comes running towards you. You connect on the beach and then you and your beloved leave the beach and travel to green rolling fields. (This is a standard Metawalk image meaning family happiness.) You see elves harvesting crops. A dishevelled and dirty Moses then walks up and disrupts the elves in the fields. You see a Whirlwind surrounding Moses. It sucks him up and takes him away. Then you see Sinbad the sailor. You follow him to the Castle of Camelot on top of a hill. Sitting on the throne in the castle is Rocelin. Shiva walks into the castle and forcibly removes her. He gives you a sword and you stab Rocelin in the heart. Gnomes carry out the body and bury it. You sit on the throne and servants come and serve you.

Second Metawalk

The second Metawalk deals with issues of the Soul, and laws and verses. I have a standard journey I take my clients on to the Soul, which has been developed over many decades of Metawalks. The journey goes like this:

Start in the Garden of Eden with your wolf. Go to the river of life and fall asleep under a tree on the banks of the river. Imagine you are leaving your body. You float through the clouds and are greeted in the air by Pegasus, the white-winged horse. You hop on his back. He takes you into the outer atmosphere of earth and into the regions of outer space. You travel past the moon and planets until all you can see everywhere you look are stars. Then you come to a land of mist floating in space. This is the metaphor known as the mists of Heaven. You land in the mist, hop off the back of Pegasus, and in the distance you can see a beautiful crystal city with streets paved with gold. This is the Kingdom of Heaven, which resides in the deepest regions of consciousness.

You walk towards the gates of the city, but Satan appears and blocks your path. You try to walk around him, but he blocks your every move. Then two angels fly out of the city walls. They fly up to Satan, grab him by the shoulders and take him away. You then walk up to the city gates and are greeted by the Spirit. The Spirit leads you into the city and you walk together down the golden streets. In the very centre of the city you see a large marble temple. This is the home of the Soul. You enter the temple and in the very centre there is a large fire burning with a brilliant column of white light shining out of the centre of the fire. This image is the Soul itself.

You walk into the fire and feel the energy and power of the fire. You then walk into the light itself. As you stand in the Light, you feel the energy of Love filling and bathing all parts of your being. Then on the ground you see a golden box. This is the Ark of the Covenant. It contains the laws and verses of conduct, behaviour, personality and creation. These laws are written from the womb onwards; some would say from past lives onwards. You open the Ark and inside you see several sets of scrolls and stone tablets. One of these scrolls is rotten and dirty. You pick it up, brush off the dust and hold it up in the Light of the Soul, which cleanses and purifies the scrolls. You then find the scrolls marked the Laws of Youth. You also hold these scrolls up to the Light, which once again purifies and cleanses them. Having cleansed the laws and verses, you close the Ark and rise up in the Light. Greeting you in the air is Pegasus the horse who takes you back to the Earth, where you float down and re-enter your body.

When you awaken you see all the other positive metaphors we have worked with in the two journeys waiting for you. God, the Wolf, the Beloved, the elves and Sinbad. All of you walk to the very centre of the Garden of Eden where you see a mighty whirlwind spinning like an energy vortex. You all walk into the centre of the whirlwind where you merge together and become one with the wind. And a state of congruity is achieved.

Third recording – Post Metawalk

Following the two Metawalks, a third recording is made to see what changes have taken place and what work, if any, is still needed. Here is this transcript:

Here he is talking about an improvement in his financial situation: 'This was then going to [the next level which is] actually happening.' System will develop standard. This is a positive future Tense Reversal indicating his inner system will evolve. (0:02:01–0:02:03)

'So, this was twelve days.' Your wolf man. His Wolf has become a part of him. These first two reversals are showing a shift. (0:02:11–0:02:13)

'[I've always been wanting to speak or wanting] some people to talk about life.' It's my Lord Jesus. He's by the door. A very positive reversal. He is experiencing a spiritual awakening. (0:02:58–0:02:60)

'After we have that experience then we kind of knows it's there and [know what to do].' Surf the wind. The spiritual awakening continues. Move with the energy and flow of the Universe. (0:03:43–0:03:46)

'And then using that as guidance system in life.' The God is our machine then. Another spiritual reference. God guides his life. (0:04:55–0:04:58)

'I'm [still a beginner in all of that in the sense] I got that.' Marvellous lesson. I go with your naked wolf. He learned lessons from his Metawalks and he now moves forward with hope and motivation. (0:06:55–0:06:56)

‘Even [since the seminar] I still have sometimes have dark moments.’ Serves this marvellous. His dark moments aside, the lessons are still marvellous. (0:07:57–0:07:59)

‘That was in itself the price of freedom, helping other people.’ My youth will doubt the grey force. We have had progress in restructuring the lessons of his youth. His youth now doubts the dark energy. (0:09:08–0:09:11)

‘I just don’t need to be [concerned about trying to work everything out.]’ God give this masterful wine. The progress from our work continues to shine through. Wine is spiritual nourishment. He is asking to be nourished by God. (0:09:17–0:09:20)

‘And trying write the book and [I got a little bit caught] up in all of that.’ They blew in Heaven. These are marvellous reversals. He is in touch with the wind from Heaven. (0:09:38–0:09:41)

‘One thing, that connection with life, even before [intellectually knowing it], but now having an experience of it.’ Calm the thing around you. The awesome reversals continue. He is calm. (0:12:41–0:12:43)

‘That in [itself is the right thing to do], to help people come to the seminars.’ Indeed, you love the Word. He is obtaining control over the powers of Creation. He loves THE WORD. (0:14:10–0:14:12)

‘... Soft mumbles ...’ What’s in our wisdom. He is searching his wisdom within. (0:16:49–0:16:51)

‘But [there’s a part of me that feels] I can still do the business.' Give your voice to him, solve with your help. It is unsure who 'you' is in this reversal. I'm assuming God, given the context of other reversals. He is beginning to access the Divine within. (0:17:18–0:17:21)

'... Mumbles ... [where it's more] aligned to the energy.' Warm soul come look. The theme continues. He has been spiritually enlightened as a result of the session work. (0:17:40–0:17:42)

'But the question actually [is, is it right] in the moment?' Soul visit, it is well. We have had success with our journey to the Soul. 0:19:14–0:19:17

'[At this point I think] I need to see what the reversals are saying.' Give that help with it. The reversals give help. (0:20:50–0:20:53)

'[From what I'm] saying in reverse.' Adam with his soft mirror. His male energy is looking into the mirror of Reverse Speech. (0:20:55–0:20:57)

'I'm interested to see what the [reversals say and where] that takes me.' Have whirlwind, the reversals serve. This reversal confirms that he is connected with the Whirlwind and it shows the power of reversals. (0:21:50–0:21:53)

As can be seen from these reversals, the Metawalks we did on this man had great effect. Rocelin has gone, the rotten verse has gone, his youth has been healed and he is in contact with the Divine. No further work is necessary with this client and the round of session work is completed with one final Metawalk based on these reversals.

Final Metawalk

Start in a meadow with your wolf. See Jesus. He creates a Whirlwind. You step into the Whirlwind and it transports you to the Kingdom of Heaven. See God in Heaven. He hands you a set of scrolls which contains your WORD. You return back to the Earth via the Whirlwind. Adam greets you and holds up a mirror. You admire your reflection. You then see the Light of your Soul shining down from the heavens. You step into the light and merge and become one with the Light.

Client Two

Client two is a man in his early fifties who was sexually abused as a young child. This abuse has affected his whole life and caused him to offend himself in his twenties. The purpose of the session work was to clear up any issues remaining from his abuse and to disconnect himself from another person's negative energy, after he had unwisely, and without training, done Reverse Speech session work on him.

First Transcript

'Yeah I do not like the hot and humid weather.' A girl honoured the heart. A nice reversal to begin with. His innocent nature cares for his heart. (0:02:03–0:02:05)

'But I was trying to heal my[self from my] sexual abuse and I thought I might have done some harm.' I'm a force. He acknowledges he has power and strength. (0:02:51–0:02:53)

'I was horrified, when I came out with my personal information this was some twenty-seven years ago.' Thus, he lost my soul sin. Unsure who 'he' is in this reversal. He is talking forwards about coming clean with his own offending. Maybe this caused him to lose sin in the soul. (0:03:17–0:03:20)

(Talking about a relative) 'But I was trying to [get her attention and say], look if you really care about your child don't post her picture online. Perverts, whatever.' Your lesson shat her head. She was offended by what he had to say. (0:05:36–0:05:39)

'Keep an eye on you and your child and track you down [and do whatever].' Her battle would want it. She is creating a situation for her child to be abused. (0:05:55–0:05:57)

'I said I want you to know this is serious and [I wanted twenty] some years ago that your parents and all the children had known about this.' He lost the Noah. He lost his own salvation, which caused him to offend. (0:06:56–0:06:58)

'You have your documentary going thank God to educate more people and solidify [Reverse Speech in the world].' Whirlwind sheep serve you. Commenting on the power of Reverse Speech to access the Whirlwind. (0:10:39–0:10:41)

(Talking about a friend) 'His wife had kicked him out and had gotten in trouble [with the law. He had felonies].' Seen the life they howl. He has seen and understands the life people lead committing felonies. (0:11:47–0:11:49)

'I was like, well what about [the Metawalks]. I told him about those.' Soul remembered laugh. He talks about the power of Metawalks, and how they can bring his friend joy and laughter. (0:13:24–0:13:27)

(Talking about working with someone with Reverse Speech even though he had had no training) 'I'm a novice, I haven't had professional training. I want to be upfront with you. Everything detailed.' You'll fry the Noah. This is the second time Noah has appeared in a dysfunctional manner. He will do his friend more harm than good working with him with Reverse Speech without professional training. (0:16:41–0:16:43)

'I won't do anything unless you approve of it, consent [and all that stuff. And I said at least] let's tape-record a short thing.' I'll seal that lesson. Fuss, they want it. Sometimes people want chaos in their lives, as this client's friend does. By working with him without training he will only make this pattern stronger. (0:16:49–0:16:51)

'So, he said OK, he wanted to heal, he wants help, [he wants anybody] to help him. So, I said OK lets tape-record.' You love inner soul. Reverse Speech taps into the Soul, and this client loves it! (0:17:14–0:17:16)

'I had been out of the link with Reverse Speech for a while, [so I needed] to attune my hearing again. [So, I took maybe two to three weeks.]' Heard within your soul / Still you twist it. Yes, Reverse Speech does allow you to hear within your soul. This is a true statement. But without proper training it is very easy to twist and manipulate your findings. Kind of like trying brain surgery on a friend after watching a YouTube video about it. (0:17:31–0:17:33)

‘Well anyway, I tape-recorded and [by the end of the week] I started listening to it all night long.’ Deal with the knee love. This is his Spirit talking to him, telling him he needs to learn humility. (It is dangerous doing session work on someone without training.) (0:18:51–0:18:54)

‘Finally, I got to the point where I can really hear some [reversals really good].’ God, you lose a servant. This is his Spirit warning him yet again about untrained analysis. It is dangerous for him spiritually. (0:19:07–0:19:09)

‘He prayed to God and he said God be with us in our session here and recording and [guide me whatever] in this healing but his reversal at the time was saying, “Go the fuck away, yeah”.’ Your battle in God. This whole exercise is dangerous and is a spiritual battle. (0:19:50–0:19:52)

‘Your description is where you take the [whirlwind and you encircle] your client in the whirlwind [along with you].’ Your verse knowing in the whirl / We feel Noah. Forwards he is describing a technique I use to create unconscious rapport with my clients. He acknowledges that I know what I am doing. He also feels he is beginning to help. (0:23:00–0:23:03)

‘You’re never supposed to do it with spouses or close friends because it can ruin relationships and he said yeah, yeah, yeah, and I said OK, [and then one last thing before I] began to [play the reversals] to him.’ Making that elf in its foul London / I’ll serve you with elf. These are two complicated metaphors. I have previously noted in this book that ‘elf’ refers to electrical impulses in the brain and nervous system. The very act of playing reversals stimulates these elves into action. In this case, however, there are unconscious issues represented by the metaphor Foul London. Without addressing this, the activity of the elves will only lead to harm. (0:25:00–0:25:05)

‘It jumped from him to me to cause the chaos that has ensued since then. [But he was] praying to God. Bowed his head and closed his eyes [supposedly], I mean supposedly to God.’ Now silly, silly help / Pass it on / Heal his office. A dire warning to any readers out there who may be tempted to try session work yourself without proper training. The reversals say the help was silly and he passed onto my client his own issues. Now his Spirit is telling him to heal his office, or the CPU of the mind. (0:26:01–0:26:02)

‘I was like man, [he’s got the felony, he’s got this dark] negative prison energy, he’s got all that [dark energy].’ God’s so dark, seen the life with that / Soul the battle. My client’s friend has very dark energy that has affected his whole life. There is a battle in his Soul and this battle is reflected in his life. (0:27:11–0:27:13)

‘Seemingly wonderful energy in my head, [in my head coming] through and I thought this is great and then I tried to bring myself back into my focus.’ You muck the helmet. He had no protection from the negative energy of his friend.

(0:28:08–0:28:10)

‘That night we were friendly, and it was the night before work [and I played the reversals] and he was like yes I hear that but is it up to interpretation.’ I’ll serve you with guilt on it. His service was tainted by the fact that he had no training. (0:29:49–0:29:52)

‘And then I had to go to bed early in the morning, [wake up for] my job and I wanted him to leave.’ Drove the guilt. Confirms the previous reversal. (0:30:51–0:30:53)

‘She said your uncle has a police record, sexual abuse, did you know? And she goes no I didn’t know, oh my God. [And I wanted] everybody to know [and they should have known] twenty years ago.’ You better know / Sail on the mission. He agrees his family should know about his past offence and will endeavour to make this right. (0:33:03–0:33:06)

Second transcript – Pre-Walk

(What did you think about all the reversals last week?) ‘[Very intense, very deep], potentially if it was all about me.’ Feed nerves net. He is caught in a nervous trap. (0:00:49–0:00:51)

‘Some of it [looks like it might have been about] the person I was trying to help.’ I will never damn the gospel. Meaning unsure. Maybe he wants to be true to his inner self, or Christian faith. (0:00:57–0:00:59)

‘Well, I was trying to heal my[self anyway] because I was not finding a voice.' Sick girl in a force. His innocence is damaged, and this is affecting his energy. (0:03:31–0:03:34)

'I never got to the point of [saying that I was sexually abused] at that point.' See, you'll trust around a mess. He is still attached to his sexual abuse and it is affecting his actions today. (0:04:18–0:04:21)

'One cousin having a [pot-smoking father] and hiding away from society.' Her love, it won't stop. She will continue to love her father. (0:05:13–0:05:16)

(Talking about his offence to his family) 'They believed when I told them I made a mistake however everything else after that [they shut me down].' My passion wide in my shit. This is a disturbing reversal, he is still connected to the sexual acts of his past. (0:06:36–0:06:39)

'How I approached them is saying [look this is] what I did years ago, I sexually abused [and therefore] I did something, the worst possible thing any human being can do in life.' See sin go / Your friend there. Even though he is no longer offending, this reversal confirms the previous analysis that he is still connected to the sexual misdeeds of the past. (0:09:02–0:09:05)

'She went behind my back [and one of my nieces said] to her you shouldn't do this.' Bless the scene. This is his Spirit talking to him telling him to bless the situation with his family. (0:12:16–0:12:17)

'She said to her well if he thinks of suicide [I wish he'd just] go ahead and do it and get it over with.' Yeshua our source. Using Jesus' Hebrew name, he states that the spiritual is what he draws upon now. (0:12:43–0:12:45)

'My mother was very [upset at the meeting], and my brother walked out of the meeting with my niece.' Your demon met with us. Still talking about his past sexual offences, the reversal shows he is still attached to them. (0:13:23–0:13:26)

'So I sat down [that evening] and I told mum don't worry I'll write a statement about who I am today.' Then be Adam. It will be the honest manly thing to do. (0:14:30–0:14:32)

'I'll direct you to the things that have helped me. [Reverse Speech] I mentioned.' Sheep servant. Reverse Speech is here to serve the sheep (the people). (0:16:32–0:16:34)

'My approaching was being open and honest, [in other words] telling my truth.' Soul will want it. His soul wants him to tell the truth. (0:17:14–0:17:16)

'And then life creates [another problem outside myself like I] encountered my cousins with their boys with their problems.' Got your force on your soul, your love Nirvana. He has inner strength, love and peace available to him. (0:19:29–0:19:32)

'And he brought the father to me at [first I was] afraid that he might be angry.' So, I serve pain. His sexual misdeeds in his past still bother and affect him. (0:21:40–0:21:42)

'He went through Alcoholics Anonymous and one of their things [was forgiveness] and he said I forgive you, so my victim has forgiven me for what I did years ago.' Send bigger soul. This is a powerful spiritual truth. Forgiveness will always enhance spiritual power. (0:23:23–0:23:25)

'He did say he has questions [but in my discussions] I answered his questions.' The sex is dumb. He expresses regrets over his past actions. (0:24:01–0:24:03)

'A reason for living would be to give a voice to sexual abuse or artistic [or writing ability, writing books] would be great.' Scrub your error, hear the Lord when you dare not. This is his Spirit speaking to him telling him to cleanse himself of his past deeds and listen to the voice of Divine even if he dares not. (0:24:35–0:24:39)

'And [I discussed that this year] about my niece in general she was kind of like stabbing me in the back.' Raise the bad sex you got. This reversal may simply be about this man's niece talking about his past misdeeds. (0:25:15–0:25:18)

'They all called me and [texted me saying they supported me].' In the office, you've now seen disgust. In the central CPU of his mind he still feels the disgust of his past deeds. (0:25:35–0:25:38)

'She's always selfish and people [say this more so than me], always about herself. It would be nice to heal the rift between us.' In the lost soul, say this. An interesting reversal. It references the soul as being lost but talks about the power of manifestation – to speak into being the rift being healed.

(0:27:49–0:27:52)

‘Having these, my avenues of [expression shut down] and some say that my friend has a demon or some entities stuck with him, [maybe it’s metaphor wounding].’ My passion shouts / Still bearing it, your new wolf pronounce dilemma. He is still carrying the sins and guilt of his past, even though he has now chosen a new path. He yearns for a mission. (0:29:01–0:29:03)

First Metawalk

These first two Metawalks are a little bit more difficult to write than they were with the first client. Firstly, because there is more than one issue being discussed. There is the negative connection and energy after his ill-advised attempt to perform Reverse Speech session work, and there are also his sexual issues and subsequent rifts with his family because of them. In addition to this there are many more reversals telling us what the problem is, rather than giving instructions on how to fix it. Nevertheless, here are the Metawalks I wrote. The third recording after the Metawalks will tell us how effective they were.

You are sailing on the Ocean. Noah holds the helm. The wind rises, and you raise the sails higher. The ship moves swiftly towards the land. You weigh anchor and you and Noah row to the shore. When you get there the wind builds up even more and it becomes dark and stormy. See a little girl in the distance. She beckons you to follow her. She leads you and Noah to a green meadow where the sun is shining. You see a shepherd tending his sheep. A whirlwind spins near the sheep. Noah walks over to the whirlwind and is sucked up. The little girl watches and you see she is covered in faeces. Take her to a river that flows through the meadow and wash her. She then leads you to the Kingdom of Nirvana that lies beyond the meadow. You walk to an office building in the Kingdom. It is chaotic and messy. Elves appear and start to clean the office. You and the girl see Yeshua walking up to you. He leads you away from the office and takes you to a waterfall feeding a river. Together all three of you laugh and play and love in the waterfall. You then rest on the banks of the river and drift off to sleep.

Second Metawalk

Start on the banks of the river. Yeshua leads to your wolf. You run and play together. A demon runs in and attempts to break up the play but your wolf snarls and chases the demon away. Yeshua then takes you to Pegasus, the white-winged horse who waits to take you to the Kingdom of Heaven. You hop on his back and he takes you into outer space and to the Mists of Heaven.

Waiting at the gates of the city is God Himself. You battle with him momentarily because he seems dark to you but in his force you see wisdom and you fall to your knees before him. He touches you on the forehead and light fills you both.

Enter the crystal city and you can see angels lining the streets singing songs of praise about the Gospel. You come to the centre of the city where you see the large marble temple. You walk inside and see your soul. But the fire is low and the light is dim. Angels walk into the temple and they form a ring around the fire. They sing to the fire and the light and the sound of their voices cause the fire to burn with a fury and the light to shine so brightly it illuminates the whole temple. You then walk into the fire and the light and draw strength from its love.

On the ground you see the Ark of the Covenant. You open the Ark and see a set of scrolls inside. These contains the laws and verses of behaviour. You open the scrolls and find the law that says, 'I serve pain'. You scrub this law away with your finger and write a new law that says, 'I serve love'. You scroll down again and find a law that says, 'I will serve you with guilt'. You scrub that law away and write a new law in its place. This law says, 'I will serve you with freedom'. You then roll up the scrolls, put them back into the Ark and rise in the air where Pegasus waits to take you back to Nirvana.

On your return Adam waits for you, as well as a new and rejuvenated Noah. All of you, together with Yeshua and the clean girl, walk to the Whirlwind in the centre of Nirvana. You step inside and all these parts of you merge together and become one.

Third Recording – Post-Metawalk

'[I'm not sure whether I was fearing last week] or this week in the beginning but I would notice that often I would see spiritually or psychically.' You sail nude. Slow the wish on it. Nude is to be feeling vulnerable and exposed. He still feels wary and the changes are only happening slowly. (0:02:32–0:02:34)

'From time to time I can see a single eye that will appear in my inner vision and when I was a child or whatever I had seen this sometimes sitting with my neighbour who was a professional psychic.' The guess won't shatter the soul. The meaning of this reversal is unclear. It may mean that his soul is stronger now. (0:03:16–0:03:19)

‘He also communicates through a portal with something. I don’t [understand all what he does].’ Side with the one answer. He is talking forwards about spiritual mediums of communication. His reversals tell him to go with it. (0:06:20–0:06:23)

(Talking about his cat) ‘I would get angry at times and I was shocked and amazed that she would get really sensitive to it and it would bother her, [and I felt really bad but I didn’t] know how to stay calm.’ You got a bad deal often. This is not a good reversal for the recording following the Meta-walks. It shows there are still issues. (0:08:44–0:08:47)

‘He said that you can, and James Von Prague and other, and my psychic neighbour said that you can [directly verbally speak] because we’re in the physical plane that, that will manifest words that you speak.’ Keeps your love. This communicates another great spiritual truth. The energy of love is essential to manifestation. (0:13:09–0:13:12)

(Talking about the desire to offend again) ‘And at least I’m more conscious [as to the possibility], the potential for me to manage it more.’ Get with the Odin path. This is a direct message from his Spirit. If he is to succeed in his wish, he must use the Odin metaphor, which means to walk steadily towards your goals. (0:16:40–0:16:43)

it telling him to be strong and diligent and use effort to succeed. (0:18:03–0:18:06)

‘We did, in [2010 we did address abandonment some] too. Maybe it’s on a deeper level that I haven’t addressed yet.’ Must in the neighbour saga. Build a nest. His Spirit talks to him again, telling him he needs to address these issues and the ongoing saga of his neighbours (or family). He must also find a nest (a place of comfort to begin again). (0:18:35–0:18:38)

‘The psychic attack as I called it when I was trying to help this guy through Reverse Speech, and I wasn’t going to [do anything with him David] if I didn’t get a confirmation from Reverse Speech [to go forward].’ The bad I feel, I seen it / You’re all fog. These are not good reversals. He had no idea what he was doing, was walking in the dark and creating negative energy. (0:18:55–0:18:59)

‘And a reversal I got on myself said “seed earth enema”.’ Surf with this. He made the decision to proceed working with his friend using Reverse Speech despite the fact the reversal hinted that it would be shit (enema). (0:20:29–0:20:30)

‘So, I told him this work is going to be like seeding earth [for him] for his healing, but it would feel like [he was having] an enema.’ Surf my help / Then you act silly. He went ahead and did a lousy job. (0:20:37–0:20:39)

‘And [he wrote a script for me] to do a film with him a few years back.’ He must fix it all. It’s a bit difficult to tell who

'he' actually is but given the exact forward words where the reversal occurred, I suspect he's talking about me, because I wrote a script for him (a Metawalk) that would hopefully 'fix it all'. (0:22:12–0:22:15)

'I want him to know the true me and where I come from. I'm not [doing anything anymore]. I want to be healthy, and he said fine, I have a sexual addiction too, help me with it too.' Come healing, you're feeling Odin. This is a nice positive reversal. It shows he genuinely wants healing from his sexual addiction and he is already on the path. (0:24:13–0:24:16)

'Then he tells me [she likes me and I'm like] wow, and I think all my life, all my sexual crap I've been through and I've been looking for somebody.' Kill my name, kill bitch. Ouch! There's still a deep issue here that needs to be addressed. (0:25:56–0:25:58)

'So, he says don't worry if she makes a move on you, it's OK with me, [and I said, what?! that's all right?] And I'm thinking she's going to leave him for me.' You rust that soul, that's our name. There are sexual issues still running that need to be addressed. (0:27:06–0:27:09)

Overall, these results are pretty good. They show a healing is beginning and he wants this healing. There are, however, sexual issues still running, and I will try and address these in the final Metawalk, but my personal recommendation would be to do another round.

Final Metawalk

Walk on a pathway through a desert. See Odin on the path. You walk together. A fog appears and inhibits your view. A woman approaches you on the path. You push her away and command Odin to kill her. He touches her instead and surrounds her with love. The fog fades and you and Odin walk ahead on the path, leaving the woman behind. Ahead of you, you see a brilliant column of white light. This is the light of the soul. As you approach the light you see there are dark patches in the light. You enter the light and see a name plaque on the ground. The plaque has your name on it, but it is spelt wrong. You erase the wrong name and chisel your name correctly into the plaque. The dark spots in the soul fade away.

You leave the light and walk with Odin. You see your family and neighbours on the path. You embrace them and feel their love. It gives you a sense of security. You continue walking and ahead of you, you see two whirlwinds. The whirlwind on the left represents the energy attached to the undesirable pattern, and the whirlwind on the right represents the energy attached to the new structure that we have created in our Metawalks. Imagine the whirlwind on the left shrinking in size until it completely disappears. In the meantime, the whirlwind on the right grows in size and moves into the centre of the path. You and Odin walk into the whirlwind and merge with the wind.

Conclusion

As the previous two case studies have shown, Reverse Speech is very spiritual in nature. The language used is spiritual, the metaphors are spiritual, and the topics discussed are also spiritual. These transcripts are by no means isolated cases. They are typical of all session work that I conduct. The journeys vary from person to person, but the Soul is a common theme in all of them. That is because Reverse Speech tells us it all happens in the Soul first.

In fact, the word 'Metawalk' frequently reverses to say Soul remembered. It is what is called a Constant Reversal. There are about fifty of them. They are words and phrases that usually reverse to say the same thing from person to person. The phrase 'Reverse Speech' frequently reverses to say Sheep Server, and 'reversal' often reverses to say Soul Server. The spiritual nature of Reverse Speech is built into the very names and terminology that it uses. I did not realise this when I devised these names. They just came to me.

The phrase Reverse Speech came to me at 3 am in April 1987, and I knew that's what we had to call this new phenomenon. The phrase 'speech reversal' just evolved, and Metawalk is a combination of two words: Walkabout and Metaphor. A Walkabout is a spiritual pilgrimage that the indigenous Australians make into the outback. Thus, a Metawalk is a spiritual pilgrimage into the metaphors of the deep unconscious (represented in Reverse Speech as a desert). Many of my clients have called them Shamanistic journeys. They restructure our negative patterns and open us up to the great I AM. As the Bible says in Matthew 3:2-3:

Turn away from your sins – Someone is shouting in the desert, 'Get the Lord's road ready for him; make a straight path for him to travel!'

The Face of the Water

A REVERSE SPEECH Practitioner once said that learning Reverse Speech was like taking the path of a Jedi Warrior. In fact, a very clear reversal occurs on Darth Vader in Star Wars once where he says forward: ‘Obi Wan once thought as you do. You don’t know the [power of the dark side]’. Backwards he says: We ask God for the power. The power of both the light and the dark can be accessed through what Star Wars called The Force, and what Reverse Speech calls the Whirlwind. God manifests our unconscious will – good, bad or indifferent – with and through the Whirlwind.

The second case study I presented in the previous chapter shows the dangers of doing Reverse Speech without knowing what you are doing, or what forces you are accessing. Reverse Speech is far more than mere words backwards to be transcribed. The words have power and life. They directly access the Whirlwind and, without careful and correct analysis, they can cause great harm, as my client in the last chapter discovered. The energies accessed through the Whirlwind can be fierce.

My autobiography, It's Only a Metaphor, shows the many trials and tribulations I encountered as I began to experiment with Reverse Speech and started working with clients. I had no road map, no one to tell me what to do or where to go. I learned through trial and error and taking some rather perilous risks. Hopefully this chapter will help you get started on this journey and avoid the many pitfalls that lie before you.

Carl Jung has a marvellous quote in his book, The Archetypes and the Collective Unconscious, that dramatically describes what the new intrepid Reverse Speech researcher will encounter:

Whoever looks into the face of the water will first of all see his own face. Whoever goes to himself risks a confrontation with himself. The mirror does not flatter, it faithfully shows whatever looks into it; namely the face we never show to the world because we cover it with the Persona, the mask of the actor. But the mirror shows the true face. This confrontation is the first test of courage on the inner way, a test sufficient to frighten off most people.

If they don't know what they are doing, the first thing a new researcher will see is his or her own face, or a reflection of who they are in the gibberish. The sceptics say that all Reverse Speech is, is Pareidolia. This is a psychological phenomenon that causes people to see patterns in a random stimulus. The sceptics use this argument claiming that the only thing that occurs backwards is random sounds, and people are essentially imagining meaningful phrases into the gibberish. In one sense the sceptics are correct. Genuine speech reversals only occur on average once every twenty or thirty seconds of speech, and even less than that in public media broadcasts. Because genuine speech reversals are only one to two seconds long, this means that there are large sections of gibberish that anyone can imagine anything into. One fallacy floating around out there is that there is no gibberish. This is a false belief made up by those who want to project anything they like into the gibberish.

Before I had developed rigid linguistic requirements to help students identify and accurately transcribe genuine reversals, some of my earlier classes in the eighties and nineties were rather disastrous. I could usually tell more about the student's own belief systems and behavioural patterns by the reversals they turned in for homework, than the person they were analysing. Thankfully this is improving as I learn more about how to teach Reverse Speech to others.

Either by accident or design, I had a distinct advantage when I started my research because I had been a ham radio operator for many years (and still am, VK5ADO). I was used to sitting at my desk for hours on end with headphones on, deciphering faint voices and garbled signals, picking out meaningful sounds from the static and random noises of radio. Even my knowledge of Morse code helped because I had learned how to discern faint dots and dashes buried deep in the static. This had unknowingly given me the skills of recognising consonant and vowel sounds, syllable count, and, surprisingly enough, the typical sing-song nature of genuine speech reversals.

Any radio enthusiast knows that single-side band signals have a musical quality to them and the tonality can vary as the frequency varies. Many genuine speech reversals also have this same musical, sing-song quality. They can be easily recognised in the gibberish. They stand out like beacons in the night amongst the monotone sound of the surrounding gibberish. Once found, other people will hear them easily, many times with no previous prompting.

However, learning to find these genuine reversals requires several factors. Firstly, you must know yourself well and be essentially honest, congruent and mentally stable. You must be able to set your own belief systems aside, whether they be religious, conspiratorial, political or whatever they may be and analyse independently. I realised this very early on in my research when the first reversals I found seemed to confirm my fundamentalist Christian beliefs at the time, and I was finding no negative reversals on myself at all. (See Appendix B, Analysing Private Conversations, in my first book, Beyond Backward Masking.) This was in the days before I knew that to analyse your own speech, at least in the first year or so, was a very definite no! I woke up one day and I just knew. I had to step outside what I believed or wanted to believe and find what was actually there.

This is where courage comes in. As Jung says:

But the mirror shows the true face. This confrontation is the first test of courage on the inner way, a test sufficient to frighten off most people.

Reverse Speech is a mirror both for the analyst and the person being analysed. In order to analyse accurately every Reverse Speech researcher must first of all face themselves. How can you lead others into the process of self-discovery if you haven't taken the same journey? How can you expose the unconscious thoughts of others if you haven't been exposed to your own? Although strongly suggested, I don't make session work compulsory for the first six months of training, but it is compulsory for the final six months. In the first six months it doesn't really matter because the process itself weeds out those who aren't suitable for Reverse Speech.

Either they can't step outside of themselves and they project into the gibberish, despite being given the documentation guidelines every student must follow, or the very process of listening to tapes backwards stimulates the unconscious, and deeply repressed patterns are forced to the surface.

The gibberish becomes a mirror for themselves and I see students go into psychic shock and panic as they begin to analyse recordings backwards. Being unable to accept responsibility for themselves, I see them project and transfer their own issues on to me. I have a drawer full of angry emails accusing me of all sorts of dastardly things, ranging from murder to being a cult leader, or a drug addict, control freak, and a host of other fanciful things. I can vividly remember one student who had a particularly nasty reaction and sued me for a refund of course fees. In court she read a prepared statement comparing me to Adolf Hitler and Charles Manson with desires to start Armageddon and rule the world! She lost her case.

Reverse Speech, and, by definition, me or the trainer, becomes a mirror for the student's own issues and they see in me or, even worse, the people they are analysing, their very own issues. They accuse others of being the very people that they are but cannot or are unwilling to see. As Carl Jung says:

In the realm of consciousness we are our own masters; we seem to be the factors themselves. But if we step through the door of the shadow, we discover with terror that we are the objects of unseen factors. To know this is decidedly unpleasant, for nothing is more disillusioning than the discovery of our own inadequacy. It can even give rise to primitive panic because the anxiously guarded supremacy of consciousness is questioned in the most dangerous way. (Archetypes of the Collective Unconscious)

The dropout rate in classes is high. Typically, only about 25% of all students will complete the first six months of training. Fortunately, though, most students who go onto the advanced class get through this part of the course. This is because they have learned to face their own issues and analyse independently outside of their own belief systems. Those who were unsuitable were weaned out earlier on by the process itself. If you can't face yourself, you will never be good at Reverse Speech.

Reverse Speech scares people. It's as simple as that. That's why it is still small and relatively unknown, despite thirty years of extensive media coverage and hundreds of lectures that I, and others, have given all over the world. It scares people for several reasons. One of them is obvious. We are all going to have to become honest with others and with ourselves. This is not just our religious and political leaders, and used car salesmen, but we must be honest to ourselves as well. And that's tough!

Next, all secrets must be revealed. Bye-bye CIA, Mossad, ASIO, and others. (The truth about UFOs, anyone?) But the real reason, I believe, is spiritual.

We must understand that we are more than the sum of our parts. This physical body is just a vessel for the Soul's (or that which is 'I') experiences on earth. The Spirit of the Divine guides us in our journey and it speaks backwards.

Reverse Speech opens the inner world that philosophers and shamans and theologians have been searching for and writing about for centuries. It allows us to look into the face of the water, and if we can face and accept what is there, we can begin to consciously access what was previously unconscious and learn to accept our own Divinity.

Isn't that a marvellous truth! So why isn't the world beating a path to our door?

Fear.

Arise Soldiers of Truth

THROUGHOUT THIS BOOK I have discussed the concept of Truth. It is Truth, total and complete truth, that the small still voice within reveals. This truth comes in many forms. Even in its simplest form, which is the revelation of truth in our conscious minds, its discovery, once accepted, will shake civilisation to its very core. From those harmless little white lies we all tell each other every day, to the huge gigantic government coverups, such as the JFK assassination, the truth about UFOs, or perpetual motion, plus the myriad of other lies and secrets and coverups. Reverse Speech is here to expose them all.

It will revolutionise law enforcement because where the lie detector ends, Reverse Speech begins. No longer will criminals be able to hide behind their lies, half-truths and fake alibis. Reverse Speech will reveal their guilt or innocence. It will reveal motive, accomplices and where evidence can be located. No one can hide. The Miranda rights will need to be changed to say, 'Anything you say forwards or backwards can be used against you in a court of law'. The smart criminal will have to say absolutely nothing if they don't want to be unconsciously incriminated! And private investigators will now have another tool to add to their investigative tool box.

Reverse Speech reveals many other truths as well that we harbour below our consciousness. It can tell us when we are sick, and what caused that sickness. Sometimes it will tell us what herbs and medicines to take to heal the sickness. Surprisingly, or maybe not so surprisingly to those in the know, Reverse Speech talks about marijuana as being a major healing medicine for a wide variety of ailments. It has also mentioned basil, sage and morphine as medicines in some cases of sickness. Personally, I believe Reverse Speech holds the answer for the cure for most, if not all, diseases of the body. Ranging from cancer, to dementia, to diabetes and asthma, to name just a few. We just need the right people with the right medical knowledge to learn Reverse Speech and document its many healing secrets.

Then we come to the Collective Unconscious, which contains all knowledge, all wisdom and all Truths. I have previously described the Collective Unconscious as being a giant communications network, like the internet, with a massive hard drive holding all information forever. Messages are passed along from person to person and life to life through what has been called The Process of Oral Tradition. First proposed by Greg Albrecht in 1989, this Process of Oral Tradition passes information along using Reverse Speech, Odour, Sound in the Whirlwind, and other avenues of unconscious communication we are yet to discover.

People who claim to have knowledge of past lives, sometimes with intricate intimate details, may be tapping into the hard drive of the Collective Unconscious. When you awaken at night with a brilliant idea or suddenly have an amazing inspiration or flash of knowledge, you may also have been tapping into the Collective Unconscious. Some genuine psychics get their information from the Collective, and successful experiments with ESP are also receiving their information from the Collective Unconscious through the Whirlwind.

All this information can be communicated and revealed through Reverse Speech and, as I have said before, as we learn its secrets so will we evolve.

What if scientists started using Reverse Speech to discover the secrets of the cosmos, or how to travel faster than light and achieve interstellar and maybe even intergalactic travel? Reverse Speech has already given me a clue about light speed. It has said we need to Fold the Whirlwind. But, alas, I do not know what that means. Will you be the person to explore this issue further and discover its secrets? With the help of Reverse Speech you may even develop technology to harness the power of the Whirlwind.

Then we come to the human psyche. Can we map the unconscious as an explorer maps a new land? Carl Jung spent his life studying and exploring the nature of the psyche, and wrote many books on the subject. Modern medicine is slowly learning the secrets of the brain, but what causes each person's own unique personality and behavioural patterns often alludes them. That is because who we are as individuals is not created by mere brain chemistry alone, as some medical practitioners believe. Rather, who we are lies in the deep unconscious and the Soul itself. Sometimes we can become slaves to mental dysfunctions just as we can become slaves to physical dysfunctions, but this does not affect the I AM, or the sense of us.

Reverse Speech teaches that just as the human body has a correct structure – arms, legs, eyes and ears etc – so too does the unconscious body or mind. It also has its own correct structure consisting of metaphors and archetypes. The meanings, functions and structure of these metaphors likewise appear to be universal. We don't see an arm growing out of someone's forehead, just as we don't see a ship embedded into a brick wall.

In the few other languages we have examined, we have found that the metaphors we find in English can also be found in these other languages and they also have the same meanings. (This does not include Asian languages, which have not yet been examined.) I have therefore concluded that the unconscious mind does indeed have a landscape that is constant and can be mapped and explained.

To this end I have written an extensive metaphor dictionary that includes not only the meaning of the metaphor but also its standard image in a Metawalk. If a client sees the metaphor differently than the dictionary describes, then the metaphor is dysfunctional and needs to be changed. (We don't want an arm growing out of the forehead now, do we?)

In addition to the Metaphor Dictionary I have also started work on a detailed metaphoric map of the unconscious mind. This map starts at the ocean, moves to the beach, then the desert, the Garden of Eden and finally Heaven. As clients travel this journey they visit some of the many unconscious Kingdoms and interact with other key metaphors.

This map, however, is still in its very early stages of development and is currently only taught in the advanced class. It will be elaborated in future books.

Finally, the real revelation of Reverse Speech is that of the existence of the human Soul. In fact, Reverse Speech may very well be the first real solid evidence we have that there is another intelligence inside of us. It can be heard like any other voice. The influence of its voice can be measured in the human brain by an EEG machine, and speech recognition technology is just now in the beginning stages of development that will automatically locate and decode reversals. That will stop the naysayers in their tracks, once and for all!

Can you imagine a society where God lives among men? Where there is no more sickness, no more pain and no more deceit? That is the ultimate destiny of Reverse Speech and that is what the many prophecies among many religious writings that I have quoted in the book tell us. God will live among men because we have learned that God in His many forms and many names resides within us. Reverse Speech will teach us to manifest that Divinity onto the earth.

When will this happen? That is entirely up to you. Yeshua changed the world with twelve lowly fishermen and a few hundred followers. The movement he started saw the collapse of the Roman Empire in a mere three hundred years. Mind you, his teachings have now largely been forgotten today, as Chapter Seven in this book showed. Reverse Speech will remind us once again of the eternal spiritual truths that Yeshua and other Holy Men and Prophets have taught us. Its existence has always been known, and its discovery has been foretold by religious writings and other prophecies.

Would you like to be a part of the revolution that Reverse

Speech says it will begin? Then act. Don't just put this book down and say what an interesting book. Do something about it.

You know, I had three separate people approach me before the 2018 Reverse Speech analyst class wanting to do a recording about whether they should take the class or not. On all three people the reversals were very plain, and all said the same thing: 'Take training'. It is your spiritual destiny. Do you know how many of those three went ahead and started training? Not one.

Do you know how many people follow through and do what their reversals in session work say they should do? Virtually none.

Why are we so stuck? Why are we so afraid to act when we have a very plain voice that tells us what to do?

If the words I have written in this book have had any impact on you at all, then I challenge you to do something about it. Download our apps for both iPhone and android and start reversing! It will only cost you $5, and your time. That's not a bad price to pay to hear the voice of your soul. Email your findings to your friends and local TV and radio stations. If you're serious then take the plunge and do session work or take training. Listen to the voice of your own Spirit. The more people who do it, the more the revolution will grow.

Join me. I have a full and fulfilling life living my mission and serving my God, who I call Yahweh. You can too. Reverse Speech shows you how.

You are one of the sounds of the soundless symphony. Meet your real voice within. Today is the day that all people in the world begin to see the Truth. You are one of the representatives of the world. (Tamo-san, 1989, Awkw)

THE STILL SMALL VOICE WITHIN

DAVID JOHN OATES

About the Author

DAVID JOHN OATES was born in rural Australia 30 October 1955, the first-born son of a young Methodist minister. He spent his early days traveling with his family from church to church, and fiddling with his hobby, electronics. By his early teens he was building amplifiers for his small rock and roll band and experimenting with radio equipment.

He went to a private college for his high school years but left early without graduating and moved into his early career as an insurance clerk. In his spare time he was involved in church youth groups and working for drop-in centres catering for street kids.

At the age of twenty, despite having a severe speech stutter, he secured a job as a representative for life insurance, a career he excelled in, and obtained his amateur radio license, a hobby that also required the ability to speak clearly.

By his mid-twenties, David had left insurance and devoted his full-time attention to his youth work. It was while running a halfway house for street kids in 1984 that he first heard about backward messages in rock and roll, and a new hobby was born — playing tapes backwards. He rapidly became obsessed with this new hobby, and by 1987 he had developed his theory of Reverse Speech.

Since that time David has had an active career, now spanning thirty-five years, furthering the field of Reverse Speech as his full-time occupation. He has developed new theories and designed therapeutic and training techniques. He has published several books on Reverse Speech, including Beyond Backward Masking, Voices From the Unconscious and It's Only a Metaphor, plus numerous training manuals.

Overcoming his speech stutter, he has lectured around the world to crowds of thousands, and trained hundreds of students. He has also instigated some of the first mainstream studies and presented Reverse Speech on thousands of radio shows, including his own show, The David John Oates Reverse Speech Show, that ran successfully for three years, syndicated coast to coast in the United States, where David lived for ten years in the 1990s. In the United States he has appeared on dozens of television programs, including CNN's Larry King Live, Geraldo, Leeza Gibbons, Strange Universe, and Extra, to name a few. In Australia he has appeared on such shows as Good Morning Australia, Today Tonight, A Current Affair, and Today. His work has also featured in hundreds of papers and well-known publications such as The New York Times, Harpers Review, Omni magazine and Discover magazine.

David has been compared to Thomas Edison, Alexander Graham Bell and Nicola Tesla, and his work described as being of Nobel calibre, with far-reaching ramifications in such fields as law enforcement, business and psychology.

He is a certified hypnotherapist and trainer, and currently attends to his therapy and corporate consulting business using Reverse Speech techniques. David resides in Adelaide, South Australia.
