Raijin Ryu: A golden dragon used by Ultimate Ryukendo. Details still unknown.

SHOT Organization

SHOT, Shoot Hell Obduracy Trooper, is the anti-demon force in Akebono. Since nobody would believe that demons even exist, SHOT keeps itself in secret. There are only four members, not counting the Madan Warriors. SHOT's Headquarters is hidden beneath the Akebono police station through a special elevator that only its members know of. The police force is probably the best place to hide SHOT, because Akebono's real police force is hideously incompetent.

Yuuya Amachi: The commander of SHOT. He appears to be the "janitor" at the police station, though. Koichi Shiranami, Ryujinou, believed that Amachi had killed his parents, when in reality Amachi had protected a young Koichi from the explosion caused at the Madan Suits European Testing Facility.

Rin Sakyou: SHOT's operator and secretary at the Akebono Police Station. Had a brother, now deceased, who sought to protect the fireflies at his lake so that Rin could be happy. Appears to be close to Kenji, even though he couldn't get her name right when they first met.

Kichi Setoyama: SHOT's Magical Engineer, who sends the Keys and reads the writings that bring about developments against Jamanga in the Canon of Light. He doesn't really know anything, but does serve as a gateway between the Canon of Light and SHOT's purposes.

Professor Mikuria: One of SHOT, a professor of magic that Kichi respects.

Allies and Civilians

Kaori Nose: A florist that Kenji met on his first day in Akebono. Later on, was tricked by Lady Gold into believing that Ryukendo had cut Ichiko and Ritsuko. There appears to be a romantic relationship going on between the two, since Kenji got jealous when Koichi neared her to get flowers for drawing out a Jamanga demon. Kaori was chosen as the leader of the Akebono vigilante group when she won the martial arts tournament.

Komachi Kurihara: A lady in white that only Kenji and GekiRyuKen can see. This doesn't do much for their reputation. She's actually a spirit of the first Head of Police at Akebono, a female detective. She assisted Kenji in his first fight against Jack Moon. When spirits were being resurrected, she lived again, and delayed giving Kenji the Akebono flower needed to defeat the demon. She left with the other spirits, but returned. She still wants to hang around.

Ichiko Nakazaki and Ritsuko Takakura: A pair of lively, somewhat incompetent lady cops in Akebono that try to keep the town's peace. More often than not become victims of Jamanga's latest plan.

Umi: Kenji's fiancée, but she entrusts Rin to watch over him. Was the one to inform Akebono of the Martial Arts tournament.

Maria: One of Bloody's Jamadroids that was taken in by SHOT and removed of her battle systems. She obeyed Fudou's orders only, but never seemed to smile. When the Jamadroid control tower's barrier had trapped Fudou, Maria rushed in and took his place in the barrier, allowing Fudou to finish off the tower and delete all the androids. In her final moments, she smiled at last.

Arsenal

Ultimate Dragon: (Arutimetto Doragon) A more powerful version of the God GekiRyuKen used by Ultimate Ryukendo.

God GekiRyuKen: (Goddō Gekiriuken) A powered-up version of the GekiRyuKen. It is a sword-and-shield combo, similar to Wolzard's from Magiranger. Finishers include "RyuuOu Madan Slash".

Twin Edge GekiRyuKen: (Tsuin Eij Gekiriuken) A double-edged sword made from the Madan Dagger and GekiRyuKen. Each of its finishers is a "Super" version of the God GekiRyuKen's.

GekiRyuKen: (Gekiriuken) Kenji's partner, henshin device, and primary weapon. Also used to activate the Keys that Kenji finds. Finishers include "Madan Slash" (Ryukendo), "Blazing Slash" (Fire Ryukendo), "Freezing Slash" (Aqua Ryukendo) and "Thunder Lightning Slash" (Thunder Ryukendo).

Madan Dagger: (adan Daga) When Kichi couldn't figure out how to reveal his latest Key, Fudou went down into the power spot and brought the Dagger Key to life. He gave it to Kenji, who was fighting Rock Crimson on the surface. The Madan Dagger is a small dagger, similar to the GekiRyuKen, that attacks with "Dagger Spiral Chain", or can combine with it to make the Twin Edge GekiRyuKen.

Magna GouRyuGun: (Magana Goriugan) Magna Ryugunou's combined weapon. It's so powerful that Magna Ryugunou must hold it in both hands. Its finisher is the extremely strong "Magna Dragon Cannon."

GouRyuGun: (Goriugan) Fudou's partner, henshin device, and primary weapon. It's used primarily as a gun, but a small blade can be extended from the bottom for close-range combat. Finishers include "Dragon Shot" and "Dragon Cannon", although the latter wasn't gained until Fudou achieved it in Episode 6. GouRyuGun was destroyed by Bloody's UFO in Episode 23, and returned in Episode 27 when Fudou became Magna Ryugunou.

Madan Magnum: (Madan Magamu) A small gun/knife, similar to the Madan Dagger, used by Magna Ryugunou. It can attach to the GouRyuGun to make the Magna GouRyuGun.

Madan Knuckle: (Madan Nakaru) Summoned by the Knuckle Key, it can be used by any of the three warriors as their wrist pad transforms into a powerful, long-distance blaster. Its primary attack is "Knuckle Spark".

Madan Key Holder: (Madan Kii Horuda) Worn around the waist of the Madan Warriors, it can call forth the appropriate key for any situation. Ryukendo's is blue, Ryugunou's red, and Ryujinou's black.

SHOT Phone: SHOT's method of communication and demon tracking. The second function was used when a bug spreading an iron-scab-causing virus was so small that SHOT's scanners couldn't pick it up. The Phones, however, could.

ZanRyuJin: (ZanRiuJin) Koichi's partner, henshin device and weapon. Extremely talkative. Unlike the GekiRyuKen and GouRyuGun, the ZanRyuJin is worn as a brace, rather than around the belt. It serves as a battle axe for the most part, but a second mode, Archery Mode, fires fast-moving arrows at enemy targets.

Canon of Light: A book that knows of the past and the future. It gives clues as to the whereabouts and ways to unlock the hidden power of the Keys. Kichi doesn't really know much about it, such as who wrote it, but he is SHOT's only method of making use of the thing.

Keys

Henshin Keys

RyuKen Key: Transforms Kenji into Ryukendo. (GekiRyu Henshin)

God RyuKen Key: Transforms Kenji into God Ryukendo.

RyuGun Key: Transforms Fudou into Ryugunoh. (GouRyu Henshin)

Magna RyuGun Key: Transforms Fudou into Magna Ryugunou.

RyuJin Key: Transforms Koichi into Ryujinoh. (ZanRyu Henshin)

Weapon Keys

Knuckle Key: Summons Madan Knuckle.

Dagger Key: Summons Madan Dagger.

Magnum Key: Summons Madan Magnum.

Attack Keys

Final Key: Used to activate finishers for the (God) GekiRyuKen. Comes in Fire/Burning, Aqua/Blizzard and Thunder/Lightning variations.

Shot Key: "Dragon Shot" finisher with GouRyuGun.

Cannon Key: "Dragon Cannon" finisher with GouRyuGun.

Axe Final Key: Axe finisher with ZanRyuJin.

Archery Final Key: Bow finisher with ZanRyuJin.

Mode Change Keys

Fire Key: Transforms Kenji into Fire Ryukendo.

Burning Key: Transforms Kenji into Burning Ryukendo.

Aqua Key: Transforms Kenji into Aqua Ryukendo.

Blizzard Key: Transforms Kenji into Blizzard Ryukendo.

Thunder Key: Transforms Kenji into Thunder Ryukendo.

Lightning Key: Transforms Kenji into Lightning Ryukendo.

Ultimate Key: Transforms Kenji into Ultimate Ryukendo.

JuuOu Keys

Leon Key: Summons Brave Leon.

God Leon Key: Summons God Leon.

Kong Key: Summons Fire Kong.

Burning Kong Key: Summons Burning Kong.

Shark Key: Summons Aqua Shark.

Blizzard Shark Key: Summons Blizzard Shark.

Eagle Key: Summons Thunder Eagle.

Lightning Eagle Key: Summons Lightning Eagle.

Wolf Key: Summons Buster Wolf.

Magna Wolf Key: Summons Magna Wolf.

Shadow Key: Summons Delta Shadow.

Raijin Ryu Key: Summons Raijin Ryu.

Jamanga

DaiMaOu GrenGhost: Jamanga's "King of Demons", trapped in a green orb hovering in the eternally black sky of the area where the Jamanga armies reside. Only when enough Minus Energy, brought about by negative human emotions, is collected, can he be revived. He has yet to be revived, though.

Jack Moon/Mechanimoon: "In the shadow of the moonlight, true darkness will arrive. Jack Moon, suisan!"

Jack Moon is a swordsman for Jamanga, and Ryukendo's rival. After Episode 12, he vanishes, and later returns in Episode 21, to meet his defeat by the Twin Edge GekiRyuKen's Super Thunder Slash under a solar eclipse. Later on, Jack Moon was revived as Mechanimoon, a cyborg version of himself with golden adornments to his armor.

Dr. Worm: Jamanga's monster-maker, who creates Majuu from the Madan Keys. Does the menial work, such as resurrecting Rock Crimson and telling Lady Gold not to sit on his demon creation pedestal. He and Jack Moon aren't on good terms.

Lady Gold: A female warrior who fights without demons. She once made the entire town distrust SHOT, and invaded people's dreams with a special orb. She has three servants of her own, Tsukaima in gold, silver, and pink skirts that are tougher than your average footsoldier. She later gains a Catwoman-like outfit.

Rock Crimson: A warrior who transforms into a massive ball of stone. Has amazing raw power, but gets set off if anybody calls him "idiot". He was broken into pieces by Ryukendo's Twin Edge GekiRyuKen, only to be revived later on, at which point he was defeated by Ryugunou, Ryujinou, and Fire Ryukendo with the Twin Edge GekiRyuKen.

Baron Bloody: Killed Koichi Shiranami's parents in an attempt to destroy the Madan RyuCore. Also sent Asteroid, in the form of Angela-sama, on Akebono, and was present during Jack Moon's final battle in Episode 21.

Tsukaima: Jamanga's never-ending supply of cannon fodder. These purple-bodied, yellow-striped, one-eyed, bat-eared soldiers appear when there's trouble to be caused. However, they're neither bright nor difficult to defeat. Gaynemedede, Phobos and Europa are three stronger Tsukaima in skirts that assist Lady Gold; later on they gain a Sentai-team-like form.

Majuu (Demon Beasts)

Giga Flower: (2) A flower that was planted by Dr. Worm in Akebono, and eventually grew to giant size under the watchful eye of a young boy, Shigeru. All it took was one Blazing Slash from Ryukendo to bring it down.

Balloon Gamma: (6) A giant monster that turned people into balloons, and would've made them explode within an hour of their ballooning. With a careful eye and steady hand, Ryugunou defeated the balloon Majuu with ease.

MegaNouma: (7, 25) A monster who attacked with large weights, causing general havoc around Akebono. Defeated by Fire Ryukendo and Fire Kong's Fire Cannon. Later revived with Rock Crimson's Regeneration Key and defeated by RyuJinOu and Aqua Ryukendo.

Edenoid: (8, 25) A humanoid fish that dirtied the waters of Akebono. He couldn't be detected, but it was revealed that his body temperature was much higher than normal, allowing him to slip by. Defeated by Aqua Ryukendo's Freezing Slash from atop the Aqua Board. Later revived with Rock Crimson's Regeneration Key and defeated by RyuJinOu and Aqua Ryukendo.

Beremon: (11) A Jack Moon clone powered by the Thunder Key, created by Jack Moon himself. Once Beremon was taken into the tank Dr. Worm had been driving in Episode 3, by the means of all of SHOT's forces, Beremon was replaced by the real Jack Moon, never to be seen again.

Beyond/Beyond Dark: (19, 25) Brought the spirits of the dead back to life, almost a ghost in his own regard. Defeated by the Twin Edge GekiRyuKen. Later revived with Rock Crimson's Regeneration Key and defeated by RyuJinOu and Aqua Ryukendo.

Music

Opening Themes

"Madan Senki Ryukendo" by Hiroshi Kitadani (1-29)

"GO! Ryukendo" by Kenji Ohtsuki (30-)

Ending Themes

"EVERYBODY GOES" by Nanase Aikawa (1-13)

"Beautiful" by Mariko Shibano (14-28)

"Madan Senki Ryukendo" by Hiroshi Kitadani (29)

"Prism of Eyes" by MAX (30-)

The show's background music is composed by Michiru Oshima.

WR.

DIR. Ouji Hiroi

EPISODES: 52 YEAR MADE: 2006 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

TV AICHI / WE'VE INC

CREATOR: TAKARA TOMY

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 52

DATE OF PREMIER: 08/01/2006

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 31/12/2006

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Kenji Narukami/Ryukendo SHOGO YAMAGUCHI, Jyushiro Fudo/Ryugano GEN, Kaori Nose HIROKO SATO, Komachi Kurihara FUMIE HOSHOKAWA, Yamakiichi Seto KENTARO MIYAGI, Rin Sakyo KUMI IMURA, Yuya Amachi KEI SIMIZU.

- 1 - 1 THIS IS THE HERO!
- 1 - 2 BURN! BECOME A FLAME!
- 1 - 3 DASH! KING OF BEASTS
- 1 - 4 FREEZING EQUIP! AQUA RYUKENDO
- 1 - 5 THAT GUY'S THE RIVAL
- 1 - 6 SINGLE BLOW CERTAIN VICTORY! DRAGON CANNON!
- 1 - 7 I SUMMON YOU, GORILLA JUUOU!
- 1 - 8 THE DEMON HIDDEN IN THE WATER
- 1 - 9 RING ON, BELL OF FRIENDSHIP

-
- 1 - 10 THE MONSTER FROM THE WEST
 - 1 - 11 POWER OF THE THUNDER KEY
 - 1 - 12 FORBIDDEN ACTIVATION! THUNDER RYUKENDO!
 - 1 - 13 A MEETING SURPASSING TIME
 - 1 - 14 THE NEW ENEMY
 - 1 - 15 FEAR SQUIRMING IN THE DARKNESS
 - 1 - 16 ENEMY? FRIEND?
 - 1 - 17 HOW ABOUT A DREAM?
 - 1 - 18 SEALED WINGS! THUNDER EAGLE!
 - 1 - 19 DEMON REVIVED
 - 1 - 20 FUDOU-SAN'S DAY OF AGONY
 - 1 - 21 GOODBYE, SWORDSMAN OF THE MOONLIGHT
 - 1 - 22 MARTIAL ARTS CONFERENCE IN TOWN
 - 1 - 23 VISITOR FROM OUTER SPACE
 - 1 - 24 GREAT DECISIVE AERIAL BATTLE!
 - 1 - 25 DAIMAOU'S EGG
 - 1 - 26 SHOT SPECIAL COURSE! WHO IS THE CHAMPION
 - 1 - 27 POWER UP! MAGNA RYUGUNOU!
 - 1 - 28 DIRECT TO THE HEART OF THE MACHINE
 - 1 - 29 BIRTH! GOD RYUKENDO!!
 - 1 - 30 TUNNEL OF PERPLEXITY
 - 1 - 31 THE GREAT INCIDENT IN AKEBONO!
 - 1 - 32 YOU LAUGH, SHIRANAMI
 - 1 - 33 TRINITY! RYUJINOU'S NEW POWER
 - 1 - 34 THE WORLD'S LARGEST UMBRELLA
 - 1 - 35 AIMING FOR THE AKEBONO STAGE
 - 1 - 36 THE FIGHTING GHOST
 - 1 - 37 THE YELLOW RING OF HAPPINESS
 - 1 - 38 RESCUE THE SHOT BASE!
 - 1 - 39 THE WINGS OF LIGHT WHIRL TO THE STARS
 - 1 - 40 THE WORST MANEUVERS IN HISTORY!?
 - 1 - 41 RYUJINOU BECOMES A DOLL
 - 1 - 42 RECIPE OF MAGIC
 - 1 - 43 MY HERO
 - 1 - 44 AKEBONO CITY IS CLOSED
 - 1 - 45 ALL JAMANGA APPEAR! ULTIMATE MANEUVERS
 - 1 - 46 THE FOURTH-NOTICED TARGET

- 1 - 47 THE MYSTERIOUS DRAGON SOLDIER
- 1 - 48 ULTIMATE EQUIP! ULTIMATE RYUKENDO!
- 1 - 49 DAIMAOH REVIVED! FINAL BATTLE
- 1 - 50 THE KEY THAT OPENS THE FUTURE
- 1 - 51 THE BLACK MOONLIT NIGHT OF CHRISTMAS
- 1 - 52 FAREWELL, MADAN WARRIORS!

MAGICIAN'S HOUSE, THE

Mary, William and Alice arrive at 500 year-old Golden House for Christmas, unaware that a time-travelling magician, is eager to make them guardians of his beloved Golden Valley.

A time-travelling magician, talking animals and special effects, plus a cast boasting Ian Richardson, Neil Pearson and Sian Philips - it all adds to a spellbinding Sunday tea time show for the BBC. This marks a decidedly higher quality of show for children than we have been used to from the BBC, who have previously produced good quality SF shows for kids, but not many of quality have been produced in the 1990s. With an impressive array of good actors and well used special effects this show is actually quite good, but perhaps a little too close to another time travel magician in the form of CATWEAZLE, but this is a new generation who would have never heard of shows such as CATWEAZLE. What perhaps mares this show a little is its bending over backwards to try to sell the show to an American audience by having an American actor in one of the roles, this is even entangled within the plot, perhaps a little dramatic license that has stretched away from the original book. The show was mostly filmed in Wales hence the show being made the BBC Wales.

Katie Stuart who played the troubled child Mary Green, is also know for her role in THE CROW: STAIRWAY TO HEAVEN, a very similar role to her character in CROW. Steven Webb played Edward Knickers in another BBC SF production JULIA JEKYLL AND HARRIORT HYDE.

THE BBC prides itself on bringing magic to Sunday tea times. Many of its recent adaptations have been of classic children's stories such as The Chronicles of Narnia and The Borrowers, but The Magician's House is a more modern story which also includes family problems of the Nineties. It was this that attracted the producer Stephen Garrett to ask William Corlett to adapt his novels for television. "William Corlett is the real magician here," he says. "He has conjured up a world where magic is seamlessly interwoven with the disjointed reality of children's lives today. This gives the magic a grounding and depth which it wouldn't have if it had been set in some sugar-coated fantasy. That's why it will work for adults every bit as much as for children. It's intelligent not patronizing drama."

The quartet of novels was written in the late Eighties and optioned by Stephen Garrett's Kudos Productions in 1994. It took several years of securing funding, from the Children's Film and Television Foundation, the BBC and several Canadian sources before it could go in front of the cameras. "It's been a long haul," says Stephen, "but we persevered because the project had such potential. The biggest challenge was all the magic involved. The tv and film industry has become adept at electronic trickery, but we wanted to create something that felt more magical. Bill Corlett gave the magic a context - a quasi-scientific framework with children entering the bodies of animals. They say never work with children or animals, we did both - plus special effects - and hopefully the audiences will agree that it works. As it happened, the children and the animals were a delight even the rats!"

The series was shot in the space of six weeks in Canada with Vancouver island doubling as William Corlett's native Welsh borders. The writer was able to visit the filming and found it was a surprising match. "The first shot was in a studio, the Magician's study in 1599," he says. "On set I discovered the room I had imagined 10 years ago looking out on the Forest of Dean. How did that happen? How did Glen Pearson, production designer, gain access to my brain and recreate precisely what was in there 10 years ago? It was an amazing step from my imagination into reality."

He admits that being there made him a little emotional. "My Mum and Dad were still alive when I was writing the books and yet they'd both gone before the quartet was finished. They were a major influence in my life and the completion of the books helped me through my grief. When I sat here and watched the filming, I knew they would be really chuffed to see the imaginary world of their son come to life. So much of my life, heart and soul went into writing those books. There are moments when a tear is justified."

The Cast

The cast is a mixture of accomplished British and Canadian actors, many of whom are familiar faces. Ian Richardson, who has played everything from Shakespearean roles to detectives and ghosts, brings a necessary authority to the 16th Century Magician of the title, Stephen Tyler. "I have played several magicians in my time including Prospero and Merlin, but what I like about Stephen Tyler are his flaws," he says. "He can't do everything and he also gets very bad tempered when things aren't going his way, which makes him human as well as magic."

When Jack Green and his daughter Mary, his nephew William, his niece Alice and his pregnant partner Phoebe Taylor arrive at Golden House, the 16th Century Magician is determined that the baby will be born there. He uses his ability to travel through Time and inhabit animals to ensure his descendant will achieve his or her destiny in becoming the protector of the valley. "I got quite fond of the animals," says the actor. "Even though the dog was much more interested in playing with his frisbee than acting. I was devoted to my owl, a lady called Ivy. I had no trouble with her while she was actually sitting on my shoulder, but when she was getting her balance she occasionally stuck a talon into my neck so a steady supply of Elastoplast was required! By a strange coincidence, I had just completed filming Gormenghast for the BBC in which I play an old man who goes mad, thinks he's an owl and sits on the mantelpiece going 'Hoo!'"

He believes the adventure is perfectly suited to appeal to youngsters. "Children prefer magic to gritty realism in my experience but the central issue of conservation should please those who want everything to have a social relevance. Personally I think kids are more interested in ripping yarns, they enjoy being a little bit frightened especially when they know it's going to turn out well in the end."

The issues of conservation mainly come from Meg, a native of Golden Valley whose grandfather once owned the Magician's house. She is an animal crusader, who befriends wild creatures, particularly the badgers which are at risk from badger batters. "She is very wild and bizarre," says Sian Phillips who plays Meg. "But she is also fun. I love the countryside too and I do love badgers, but I don't live with them."

Sian was cast very late in the day. The part was originally going to be played by another actress, but she pulled out at the last minute and that's when William Corlett thought of his old friend. "I was literally on my way to the south of France for a holiday when I got a call from Bill on set in Victoria asking me to play Meg. I had to put down my bag, repack, head to the airport and fly to Canada instead. But it all fell into place."

They had first met when she appeared in his series Barriers in 1980 and they stayed in touch ever since. "I've known these books since they've been written," she says. "I've sat downstairs doing something else while he was upstairs writing them. The way it is being filmed is wonderful and I am intrigued by the fantasy of the story. I'm superstitious and magic fascinates me."

While the Magician wants to use magic for good, his apprentice sees the chance to use it for his own gain. Morden, played by Canadian actor Chris Redman, takes his master's gold and uses it to travel to the future where he hopes to ensure that Golden Valley stays in the hands of his descendants. "I think he is somewhat misunderstood," says Chris. "He's an orphan, raised by a strict old man who sometimes does not listen. I wanted the audience to have some sympathy for him despite his dark side." Initially he is not able to use the power as easily as the magician and ends up transporting a rat (voiced by Jennifer Saunders) 400 years into the future instead. So the actor got the chance to work with both Ian Richardson and a small furry creature.

"I was nervous about working with such a brilliant actor, but my misgivings were quickly put to rest. It turned out to be the best experience of my career. He is a kind, gentle person - it was a privilege to work with Ian... I'm not really big on sewer life, so having a rat run up your arm and sit on your shoulder was a little unsettling."

Representing the voice of normality and reason among magic and talking animals is Jack Green, trying to reconcile the daughter from his broken marriage with his new life with Phoebe and their impending baby. Neil Pearson, who plays the father figure, says the experience was "a breath of fresh air". He's best known by television viewers as the cynical womanizer of the police drama Between the Lines, the cult leader in Heaven on Earth and as Dave in the tv newsroom sitcom Drop the Dead Donkey. The Magician's House was very different. "I've spent most of my career swearing, killing people or getting naked," he says. "I don't do any of those things in this show! Everyone else has a much better time than I do. Ian Richardson gets to play a wizard, Sian Phillips gets to play a mad old woman in the woods, the kids get to morph into animals and I get to wear a check shirt and say, 'hey, stay away from there, kids' a lot!"

The net result has been a pleasing magical tale suitable for Sunday tea-times. Canada is a surprising match for Wales and the sparse use of computer graphics for special effects retains the ancient mystical atmosphere. But with all productions, there were a few things which were sent to try them. "High on the list must be arranging a blizzard in midsummer," remembers the producer Stephen Garrett. "Not to mention trying to find Canadian actors who could speak in something approaching a convincing Welsh accent - a fruitless struggle we eventually abandoned. One auditioning actor took us on a ten thousand mile tour featuring three continents in a single sentence!"

Only the first two books of William Corlett's four-novel series were dramatized for The Magician's House which means there's an opportunity for a sequel. For the writer, it is something he would be happy to see happen. "It all began a lifetime ago in my study," he reflects, "writing in the early morning, often up before five, with the light inching up over the forest and the sound of the owl outside the window - never dreaming of where it all would lead. The Magic has become reality."

The Magician's House has been roundly sold as a "Sunday Teatime family drama" suggesting a BBC attempting to conjure up a bygone era of cosy firesides and buttered muffins that may or may not have happened. What few efforts there have been in this genre in the last decade have largely been unchallenging adaptations of accepted works such as E Nesbit's Five Children and It; Edwardian middle class values for a Nineties middle class audience that the BBC thinks still exists. We would never expect junkies or other totems of TV 'realism' in this slot - it's an unapologetically escapist bolthole - but at least The Magician's House brings the teatime drama somewhere close to the present day. At least the resultant friction spices up proceedings. Canadian Mary Green and her cousins Will and Alice Constant come to Wales to spend the Christmas holidays with Mary's estranged Dad, Jack Green, and Jack's pregnant partner Phoebe. Mary is an allAmerican brat, often whiny, sometimes seemingly influenced by Friends, but occasionally just spunk enough to inject some life into the piece. Her best line has her accusing Phoebe of being her dad's mistress. The blonde and simpering Alice and the ever-wet Will can't help but appear anaemic by comparison.

If it updates the images of family, elsewhere The Magician House's is as traditional as we would expect; a Christmas Holiday in the countryside, magic and time travel are the staple elements. The Magic comes in the form of Ian Richardson's time traveller Stephen Tyler - the white wig is pure Hartnell and the irascibility and twinkling eyes are both there in equal measure. One problem however - and it's a major drawback that runs through the production - is that with Tyler only occasionally warping through to today from the 16th Century he never really becomes the children's conspiratorial confidant as he ought to.

Talking owls and rats flit between the two eras but there is never quite enough interstitial interaction and the whole thing seems rather lacking in direct incident as a result. Likewise for the majority of the story the villain of the piece, misguided sorcerer's apprentice Morden, fails to become the physical, evil presence that children love to be scared by. He's also too much a misunderstood, foolish boy to be very frightening to anyone and this makes for a rather bloodless production. It's largely left to a swarm of actually rather cuddly rats to spook the squeamish. Aside from the fantasy aspects, there's also an attempt to tack on a sort-of-fashionable eco-subplot about saving the local badger population, one which never seems that essential to the future of Golden House. To be fair, almost all of these criticisms are answered in a brilliant final episode which puts right these faults, if a little too late in the day.

Despite its obvious highpoints, those old enough to pay a licence fee will still have several questions for the BBC. The production has largely been funded by the same Canadian tax breaks and state funding incentives that took The X-Files to Vancouver. This has resulted in perhaps the most ludicrous location shoot ever undertaken: BBC Wales have shot this entirely Welsh based drama on Vancouver Island! Sian Phillips is ridiculously underused, no doubt due to the Cando-Cymru set up, while elsewhere there is some obvious dubbing of Welsh accents onto Canadian actors which also infuriates. It comes nowhere near to a truly frightening reinvention of the children's fantasy genre but at least part six has a try. The Magician's House is a lightly demanding, jolly romp which children are sure to have enjoyed but one which never does enough to help older viewers forget and forgive the all too-obvious joins resulting from the co-production methods employed. Still, anyone expecting some sort of covert Doctor Who revival will be pleased to see that it ended in a quarry.

Thank goodness for the repeats of The Magician's House, I thought, which I had seen only sporadically on its first broadcast a month or two earlier. Oddly, it seemed almost as disjointed and lacking in cohesion when seen in its entirety - perhaps an inevitable result of adapting two novels into one television serial. Nevertheless, it was a perfectly good, if unremarkable, example of BBC children's drama, with good production values and some nice special effects. Ian Richardson was well cast as Stephen Tyler, although it must be noted that as in many such serials, there was a tendency for both young and old actors to moderate their performances to a kind of genteel BBC coziness. Neil Pearson was the clearest example of this, and it's instructive that the serial's best performance came from an American, namely Katie Stuart as Mary.

In one surprising respect though, The Magician's House was far from genteel: in the last episode particularly, there were some strong scenes of animals suffering, including a lengthy death scene for the mortally injured collie, Spot. (The fact that Spot was improbably revived at the end goes some way to mitigate these distressing scenes, but also looks suspiciously like cheating.) Several badgers and a rat also came off worse during the course of the serial, although obviously Magical ideas were in plentiful supply in The Storyteller, which was even better than I remembered it from childhood. What surprised me this time round was the fact that there were actually very few 'creatures' involved, with fewer muppets in the entire series than in the first half hour of Return of the Jedi. The fact that all of the guest stars were British surprised me too, as I'd always imagined the series was American. The reason, I think, was its film-quality production values, which gave it a superior feel unknown to most British dramas. John Hurt's narration adds an awful lot, of course, but at bottom it's Anthony Minghella's superbly lyrical scripts that made this a classic series. If he ever comes to my house for tea, he's getting the best chair by the fire.

WR. William Corlett.

DIR. Paul Lynch.

EPISODES: 12 YEAR MADE: 1999 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 2

BBC WALES, A KUDOS PRODUCTION, FOREFRONT ENTERTAINMENT GROUP.

CREATOR: WILLIAM CORLETT (Based on his Novel)

TYPE OF SHOW: FANTASY

FORMAT: SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 6, (2) 6

DATE OF PREMIER: 31/10/1999

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Stephen Tyler/ The Magician IAN RICHARDSON, Jack Green NEIL PEARSON, Meg Lewis SIAN PHILIPS, Voice of the Rat JENNIFER SAUNDERS (1), Mary Green KATIE STUART, Matthew CHRISTOPHER REDMAN, Alice Constant OLIVIA COLES, William Constant STEVEN WEBB, Phoebe Taylor KATE GREENHOUSE (1)/KENDALL CROSS (2), Kev MARTIN EVANS (1), Arthur MATTHEW WALKER, Dave TIM CADENY, Mr. Parsons BERNARD CUFFIELD (1), Jack Green NIEL PEARSON (2), Charles Morden ROBERT WISDEN (2), Mark JESSE MOSS, Voice of Jasper the Owl STEPHEN FRY, Voice of Spot the Dog and Cinnibar the Fox RICHARD PEARCE.

Books Based on this series.

The Magician's House: The Door in the Tree	W. Corlett	2000
The Magician's House: The Steps Up The Chimney	W. Corlett	2000

1 - 1

Mary, William and Alice arrive at 500 year-old Golden House for Christmas, unaware that a time-travelling magician, is eager to make them guardians of his beloved Golden Valley.

Wr William Corlett

Dir Paul Lynch

1 - 2

The Rat tells Mary that Phoebe, her father's girlfriend, is a witch.

Wr William Corlett

Dir Paul Lynch

1 - 3

The children learn more about the magic of Golden House, while Mary arranges an accident for Meg.

Wr William Corlett

Dir Paul Lynch

1 - 4

Phoebe goes into labour and is trapped by Rat in the cellars of Golden House, Mary realises she has been duped by Morden.

Wr William Corlett

Dir Paul Lynch

1 - 5

Mary realises that Morden is inhabiting a rat.

Wr William Corlett

Dir Paul Lynch

1 - 6

Tyler confronts Morden and challenges him to a final battle for primacy.

Wr William Corlett

Dir Paul Lynch

2 - 1

A greedy developer threatens Golden Valley with plans to turn it into a theme park, and in the 16th Century, the Magician accidently creates powerfull Black Gold.

Wr William Corlett

Dir Graeme Lynch

MAGMA MAN

AKA: FAIYAMAN

AKA: FIREMAN

Deep in the Earth's underground, near its core, lives a race of people known as the Agan. They are very sensitive to the light that our sun radiates on the surface of the planet and if exposed to it for longer than three minutes it causes their demise. Despite this danger, one brave Agan has decided to travel to the planet's surface so that he may help protect mankind from new dangers that are making an appearance in the world.

In order to accomplish his mission successfully he joins forces with Misaki Daisuke, a member of the Scientific Attack Force (SAF). Now whenever trouble arises and our hero is needed Daisuke uses the Fire Stick to unleash the power of Fireman, a giant hero who will do everything in his power to help protect the Earth.

Produced by Tsuburaya Productions in 1971, Fireman is an interesting show that capitalizes on the popularity of many of the company's other hero programs, specifically the Ultraman series. Despite its obvious similarities to the better know Ultra-heroes, Fireman stands out in many respects and in some areas is even better than many of Tsuburaya's other programs.

The area in which I found Fireman to be better than many other shows in its genre is in the stories that were written for each episode. These were very mature in their nature and had a heavier element of serious science-fiction to them than many other hero programs of its time, which relied more on kid-friendly narratives that would be easier to digest. From the beginning of the show to its very unpredictable and sad end, Fireman demanded to be watched.

As usual with anything made by Tsuburaya the special effects were of the highest quality, albeit the optical effects seemed to be used in a limited fashion in this series. The most amazing work as far the effects go were done on the models and sets used to depict Fireman's world. Everything from the houses/buildings to the military equipment that appeared to help Fireman fight the giant monsters was incredible.

Unlike the models used in the series and some of the other effects, I found the monsters that were used in Fireman to be a mixed bag. While most of them were just amazing to look at several of the costumes used were poorly done and disrupted the flow of the program when they appeared. In a way some of these monsters destroyed the illusion of Fireman's world being a real one, you suddenly realized that you were watching two guys in rubber costume fighting on a small set full of miniatures. This is something that only affected a handful of episodes though and even then its probably not as bad I am describing it.

Finally, I like to note that the music in this show was excellent! After watching Fireman for this review I pulled out my Tsuburaya hero song collection and listened to some of the songs/music from the program. It had to be some of the best giant hero music ever recorded and I highly recommended for fans of tokusatsu music.

Conclusion

Fireman is the type of show that needs to be watched by all tokusatsu fans and as such I ask that you look it up and get some episodes to check out. I especially recommend it to those fans who may have only seen Tsuburaya's better known Ultra-shows, as Fireman is a nice change of pace from those programs

Special Effects by Jun Oki (special effects supervisor) and Kazuo Sagawa (special effects supervisor).

WR. Bunkou Waktasuki

DIR. Jun Oki

EPISODES: 30 YEAR MADE: 1973 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

TUSBARAYA PRODUCTIONS.

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 30

DATE OF PREMIER: 07/01/1973

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Daisuke Misaki/Fireman NAOYA MAKOTO, Commander Umino GORO MUTSUMI, Saburo Mizushima
SHIN KISHIDA, Hajime Chiba SEI HIRAIZUMI, Mariko Hayama HIROKO HURIHARA

MAHOU SENTAI MAGIRANGER

AKA: MAGIC TEAM MAGICAL RANGER

The Five Oz siblings were outside with their mother after a family emergency when a strange symbol appeared from under them. Their mother hurried them aside and a giant monster appeared. They all ran toward home but their mother decided to go back to fight the monster. She transformed into a warrior and destroyed the monster. After witnessing that, their lives were never the same. Five Magus built Magitopia where their family is from. A war between the Infershia and Magitopia had occurred unbeknownst to humans. The Infershia have now risen from within the Earth and are after revenge from their imprisonment that occurred nearly a decade ago. Now endowed with magic powers, the Oz siblings vow to live up to their family's legacy. They are yet to discover many more family secrets.

Show Opening/Closing Changes:

From the first episode before the opening sequence, there is an opening to the hour block of Magiranger and Kamen Rider Hibiki announcing it is Super Hero Time. Before the ending sequence, Mandora-boy is always there with a magical lesson or recap of the magic used on the show be it the newest arsenal or a trick a ranger did. When it is something involving Wolzard, Nai and Mea are there. The opening sequence changes in episode 21, each ranger gets a graphic that matches MagiShine's, probably to cover up the last one where the helmet visors reflected a room with lights and chairs. This sequence also features Wolkaizer, Travelion and FireKaizer with the other MagiMajins. In episode 32, Firekaizer is replaced with MagiLegendKing. Before Episode 31, the Super Hero Time opening returns but this time, with the Legend Magiranger and Magishine and the new Hibiki riders which occurs more often after episode 33. In episode 35, the Pantheon gods take the place of the Infreshia.

Characters

Ozu Family

These five children (three brothers and two sisters) lived peacefully with their mother, on the notion that their father died in an expedition in Antarctica. But upon learning the truth, their mother revealed to them their family legacy. Over time, they learn their father was a Heavenly Saint. The five siblings also receive the power to attain "Legend" form. By the final half of the series, the siblings were reunited with their parents.

Kai Ozu (Ozu Kai)/MagiRed The youngest, Kai is a Red Mage, a wizard who has power over the Burning Flame Element. He's a sophomore student who's into soccer and fights a lot with Tsubasa. He's straightforward and impulsive, which often leads to him making mistakes, but he is also kind-hearted and very brave for his age. He hates to be babied and wants to be treated like an adult. He was most upset about his mother's apparent death by Wolzard, and swore vengeance for it, until he learned that Wolzard was his father. He has a special talent for Alchemy. His primary attack is "Red Fire," where his body is engulfed in flame creating a Phoenix which burns any adversary it flies through. As Legend MagiRed, Kai's MagiBolt "Flares Up Flame", which is more powerful than Red Fire. In the special "Tokusei Magiranger Special", Kai gains the Golden GripPhone and with it, the ability to become KaiShine. As KaiShine, he wields the KingCalibur and wears MagiShine's armour, with a red neck scarf in place of MagiShine's flowing golden cape. In the end of the series, he becomes a sort of a liaison between the "Surface World" and Infershia. He also now dresses in his father's traditional Magitopian robe.

Tsubasa Ozu (Ozu Tsubasa)/MagiYellow The 4th born, Tsubasa is a Yellow Mage, a wizard who wields the power over the Galloping Thunder Element. He's intuitive, a realist and usually rational. He looks at life crossways, is a bit closed in himself, cynical and sarcastic. He often bickers with Kai and wants to live up to their older brother's standards. His special talent is potion work. His primary attack is "Yellow Thunder," where he shoots a barrage of lightning arrows from his MagiStick Bowgun. As Legend MagiYellow, Tsubasa's MagiBolt "Rains Forth Lightning".

Urara Ozu (Ozu Urara)/MagiBlue The 3rd born, Urara is a Blue Mage, a sorceress with power over the Shaking Water Element. She has a gentle heart, often acting motherly (Smoky considers her his mother figure). She's a passive sort, listening to the others and holding her tongue, hiding her own feelings of hurt and distress until they boil over and she explodes. Furthermore, a practical joke Kai played on her when they were children induced a fear of frogs, which she had to overcome to restore Hikaru to normalcy. Although she initially shows great animosity towards Hikaru, she eventually fell for and married him in Stage 47. Her special Ability is fortune telling and prophecy. Her primary attack is "Blue Splash," which acts as either a high powered stream of water or a barrage of exploding geysers. As Legend MagiBlue, Urara's MagiBolt "Becomes a Water Tornado". In the end of the series, she stays in Magitopia with Hikaru with Magiel still adjusting to her living there.

Houka Ozu (Ozu Hōka)/MagiPink : The 2nd born, Houka's a Pink Mage, a sorceress with power over the Blowing Wind Element. She can transform into various objects. She is cheerful and flighty, stringing along several boyfriends. She has a narrow focus, though, and can be a troublemaker. She works as a fashion model when she feels like it. She also has a talent for transformation magic, turning herself into any form she can imagine. Her primary attack is "Pink Storm" where she transforms into an electric fan and blows away the bad guys. As Legend MagiPink, Houka's MagiBolt "Blows Piercing Wind".

Makito Ozu (Ozu Makito)/MagiGreenThe 1st born, Makito's a Green Mage, a wizard who wields the power over the Howling Earth Element. He spent his life growing vegetables on his property, Aniki Farm, and cooking delicious meals himself. He's usually a cheerful fellow and moves at his own pace, but he does have a nasty temper and can get on people's nerves. He tends to be a father figure to his siblings. Hikaru's arrival initially leaves him feeling replaced both as head of the household and in the heart of his girlfriend Erika. His special talent involves Herbology. His primary attack is "Green Ground" where he creates a ground shockwave by slamming his MagiStick Ax against the ground. As Legend MagiGreen, Makito's MagiBolt makes "Boulders Go" flying at any enemy. As seen in Stage 37, Makito can speak some English, in which he gave directions to an American tourist.

Miyuki Ozu (Ozu Miyuki)/MagiMother A strong, gentle, ideal mother, she raised her five children alone after Isamu disappeared. She kept many secrets from them as Isamu had her promised, not the least of which was the truth about Isamu & herself. She was a White Mage, a sorceress wielding the power of over the Sparkling Ice Element whose main attacks were "Deep Freeze" and "Ice Arrows". She wore white armor with a snowflake emblem on her helmet and wand. Miyuki was seemingly killed by Wolzard, but in reality, her death was faked with her MagiStick remaining to have the siblings believe their mother was killed. She later helped her children in spirit when they battled Branken with MagiKing. Miyuki returned in Stage 44 to help her children defeat Toad, who held her prisoner prior to their reunion.

Isamu Ozu (Ozu Isamu)/Madou Knight Wolzard (Madoukishi Urzaado)-Wolzard Fire mysterious figure who first appeared to work for the Infershia as their most important member. Wolzard was a Black Mage, a wizard who wields the power of darkness. At first, he frequently fought MagiRed as Kai sought to avenge his mother's death and defeated Wolzard in a one-on-one duel. He mysteriously disappeared after Branken's death and reappeared a little after Memmi took over and went on to fighting MagiShine. Over time, Wolzard's identity was finally revealed as the Magirangers' father. His real name is Heavenly Champion Saint Blajiel, the ultimate warrior of the Heavenly Saints who wields the power over the Ferocious, Raging Fire Element. Blajiel took on the human form of Isamu Ozu and married Miyuki but he soon had to leave his family when the Magitopia/Infershia war escalated. Before he left, Isamu had Miyuki promise him not to reveal the truth about their magic to their children unless otherwise. Once more a Heavenly Saint, Blajiel sacrificed himself to have Lunajiel seal the Hades Gate if he should fail to destroy N Ma before he could enter the human world. But within the Gate, Blajiel was finally defeated by the Four Beastman Four Kings of Hell and transformed into Wolzard by N Ma. Over time, Wolzard began to piece his past together and began helping the Magirangers more and more. Memmi recaptured Blajiel and turned him back into Wolzard, but Kai managed to permanently free his father from the Madou Spell. Blajiel immobilized the Magirangers after absorbing their Legend powers, as they intended to fight his plan of stopping N Ma from entering the human world. He was thought to have died in doing so, but he survived by holding N Ma's soul in his body. As WolKaiser, Wolzard was unknowingly struck by Vancuria with one of Dagon's scales, which served as a tracking device for the Hades Gods to find him. After capturing him, the Hades Gods successfully extracted N Ma from him. Left for dead, Isamu was soon healed and joined his family to fight the Hades Gods in a new Red-armored form, Wolzard Fire, by absorbing Wyvern's fire attack and using his newfound power to destroy the Hades God. He duelled Kai again in Stage 48 before he left for Magitopia to confront N Ma in a battle which seemingly claimed his life. However, he was soon revived by the Nightmare Sisters to aid his family in destroying N Ma. He could enlarge himself and combine with Barikion to become either WolKentaurus or WolKaiser. When Wolzard was evil, his main attack was "Dark Madou Slash". Now that he is good, his main attack is "Raging Storm Slash". Because of his biological position in the family, he is sometimes called MagiFather.

Hikaru (/MagiShine): His real name is Heavenly Saint Sunjiel, a Heavenly Saint who wields the power over the Shining Solar Element. He was transformed into a frog by Raijiei 15 years ago only to be restored by MagiBlue, as only a Blue Mage's kiss can break the spell. He currently lives with the Ozu siblings as their mentor in the ways of magic and comes to their aid when he's needed. Hikaru was the one who killed Meemy in a life or death game. Both Houka and Urara have dated him, but he ultimately marries Urara in Stage 47. Though he is not related to the Ozu family by blood, he considered his mentor Blajiel as a father-like figure and can now amplify this since he is now Isamu's son-in-law. Hikaru foresaw his death at the hands of N Ma, and apparently the vision came true, when N Ma struck him down when both Hikaru and Isamu confronted him in Magitopia. However, he was soon revived by the Nightmare Sisters to fight N Ma at his wife's side. Hikaru's main attack involves Smoky becoming a laser-beam in the "Smoky Shining Attack". Another attack of Hikaru's is with his Saint Sword in the "Prominence Crush". Other attacks include "Prominence Shower" and "Prominence Drop." At the end of the series he lives in Magitopia with his wife, Urara by his side.

Allies

Mandora Boy: A young Mandrake the Magiranger met when they found their secret headquarters. Despite being in a pot, he can hop around as well as fly. In the Movie, he grew into a Beanstalk-like ladder for the Magirangers to go to Magitopia in order to see Magiel.

Smoky the Magical Cat (Mahouneko Smokii): Hikaru's mischievous feline genie who resides in the MagiLamp, which was found in the cave that was Raijiei's tomb. He came into being from a volcano in Magitopia. He gathered piles of treasures until one day he opened the Annihilation Box. To save him, Sunjiei sucked him into the MagiLamp. Smoky was spared, but he can't last out of the lamp for more than three hours. However, Smoky can be released from the curse if he grants the wishes of others, but Smoky prefers to grant only one wish to whoever awakens him from his slumber, and only if he is compensated for his services. When the Ozu gang wish for the Infershia to be gone, and he denies their request, stating that the power the Infershia wield is greater than his own. He can get brief glimpses of the future. He sometimes enlarges himself to help the gang out. Despite being a goof-off, he is a capable fighter and once piloted Travelion. He sees Urara as a mother figure and bickers with Mandora Boy now and then. He seemingly met his demise in Stage 48 protecting Urara as Dagon attacked her, but he was revived by the Nightmare Sisters to help MagiShine for the final fight against N Ma.

Goddess of the Mini-Spring: Appears in the "KaiShine vs. MagiShine" special, a shapeless entity who takes the form of Miyuki Ozu. Kai's MagiPhone falls in the spring she protects and she offers him the Golden GripPhone or the Silver MagiPhone. She is nice and concerned; however, tends to repeat herself.

Others

Yuka Yamazaki: The manager of Kai's high school soccer team. He developed a strong crush on her, though she fell in love with MagiRed, unaware that he's Kai. In the movie, King Glúm attempted to marry her in order to bring N Ma into the human world. By the end of the series, she appears to have figured out that Kai and Magired are one and the same.

Eriko Ikeda: Makito's girlfriend. She gave him Petit Eriko as a gift, and appeared interested in Hikaru when he and the Magirangers returned from their extracurricular lesson in the Marudeyouna World. Eriko's interest in Hikaru further raised Makito's tension with Hikaru.

Tetsuya: Houka's photographer friend who she was about to marry after learning that he had the Skeleton's curse. His personality is similar to Houka and that alone tends to irritate Makito. When Bulrates made Houka lose her memory, Tetsuya tried to court Houka for a second time. Makito and Tsubasa made sure this wouldn't happen.

Akane: A friend of Kai's from school. Kai helps her bake the Christmas cakes her family sells every holiday season, and his determination to succeed allowed successful sales in spite of disaster when Kai and Hikaru went to help her.

Tokusou Sentai Dekaranger

Arsenal

Mahou Holy Staff DialRods: Predecessors to the Magiphones, and the result of combining the MagiPhone and MagiStick. Each one has a rotary dial design with the numbers 1-5 at the top, and performs a MagiBolt attack. When put together while casting the spell "Gii Golu MagiBolt", the Magirangers can perform the "Legend Finish". Tsubasa transformed his DialRod into the DialRod Bow Gun by casting the spell "Goo Magiuro". In the finale, MagiRed wielded both his MagiStick and DialRod in performing the "Fatal Blade" attack.

MagiPhones: The MagiRangers' transformation devices utilize the spell "Maagi Magi Magiro" (106). With the power of the Oath Rings, the MagiRanger can cast the spell "Maagi Magi Magi Magiro" (1006) to access their Legend powers.

MagiSticks: The MagiRanger's magic wands. MagiRed's MagiStick transforms into the MagiStick Sword; MagiYellow's becomes the MagiStick Bowgun and MagiGreen weilds the MagiStick Ax. Blue, Pink's and Mother's are the only ones that don't transform. MagiMother's MagiStick was also longer, like the DialRods.

Fire WolzaPhone: Wolzard Fire's transformation device, a red version of the WolzaPhones that utilizes the spell "Goolu Golu Golu Goludiuro".

Sky Hokis: Five Brooms that transform into the MagiRangers' flying vehicles.

MagiPunch: MagiRed's personal weapon, summoned via the "Gi Gi Gigiru" spell (883). The "Fire Screw Upper" finishing attack can be performed while wearing these gloves. MagiPink and MagiYellow have also worn these gloves.

Green Muscles: MagiGreen can cast the "Magi Maagi" spell (01) for extra strength.

Rock Armor: Upgraded version of Green Muscles used by Legend MagiGreen, summoned by the "Golu Maagi" spell.

Oath Rings: Presented by Hikaru, said to be worn by the Five Legendary Magicians who helped create Magitopia.

MagiLamp: MagiShine's lamp and Smoky's home when he's not needed. It can transform into the MagiLamp Buster and perform the "Shining Attack".

MagiBlue used the MagiLamp Buster once for her "Smoky Blue Shining Attack." With DekaBreak inside the MagiLamp Buster, it performs the "DekaBreak Shining Fist" attack.

GripPhone: MagiShine's transformation device. After inserting a MagiTicket, he casts the spell "Goolu Golu Goludiuro".

Skarpet: MagiShine's flying carpet.

KingCalibur: MagiKing's weapon. It was also used by Kai when he briefly became KaiShine.

Saint Sword: A sword used by the Heavenly Saints, often used by MagiShine. These include: final battle against Memmi/Raijiei, Drake, and against N Ma. Sunjiei can perform the "Prominence Crush" with this sword in hand.

Silver MagiPhone: The Goddess of the Mini-Spring presented a silver version of the MagiPhone that "brings peace, like the snow falling on the ground". Although Kai didn't choose it, it later reversed his own backfired spell that transformed him into a copy of the Hades Beast Spider. Miyuki's MagiPhone transformed into the silver version in Stage 44.

Gold GripPhone: The Goddess of the Mini-Spring presented a golden version of the GripPhone that can "make ideas real". Kai dishonestly chose it and ended up transforming into KaiShine. During this time he brandished the KingCalibur, trapped Hikaru in the MagiLamp with a mini-Destruction Fire, and finally turned himself into a copy of Hades Beast Spider, at which point the Phone closed itself off to Kai. "Golu Goolu Goo Goo" is the Gold GripPhone's primary spell.

Fire WolSabre: Wolzard Fire's weapon of choice with which he can perform the "Raging Storm Slash".

Fire Jagun Shield: Wolzard Fire uses this shield to protect himself in battle. Unlike the original Jagun Shield, this one does not contain N Ma's eye.

Majin, Majuu and Mecha

When facing giant Hades Beasts, Beastmen or the Hades Gods, the MagiRangers press a special code on their MagiPhones: 107 "Maagi Magi Magika" to transform into giant armored forms called Majin. But upon obtaining the "Legend Power", the Magirangers gained the power to become armored beasts called Majuu as well. There are few Majuu that can be summoned to help the MagiRangers out when needed. The only Mecha in the series is Travelion.

MagiKing No.1: The Majin perform "Majin Gattai" (Majin Combination) when they dial 1205 "Maagi Giruma Magi Jinga" to invoke the combination. He wields the KingCalibur sword that is used in his "Magical Climax" finishers, "Mahou Slash" & "Tenkuu Mahou Slash". Wolzard sealed MagiKing and took its power for his own, until FireKaiser destroyed the seal.

MagiPhoenix: MagiRed's Majin Form. Wields the Phoenix Sword.

MagiDragon: Its four components combine when they dial 125 "Maagi Giruma Jinga" on their MagiPhones. MagiPhoenix rides it into battle.

MagiGaruda: MagiYellow's Majin form. His arms, Garuda Wing, can be used as weapons.

MagiMermaid: MagiBlue's Majin Form. She wields the Mermaid Lance and can fuse her legs into a fishtail for swimming in water.

MagiFairy: MagiPink's Majin Form. She wields the Fairy Cutter and can turn into the Majiren Ball the others use in attacks. Notably smaller than the others (as tall as MagiTaurus' head).

MagiTaurus: MagiGreen's Majin Form. He wields the Taurus Axe. Notably bigger than the others (twice as tall as the average Majin).

Madou Horse Barikion: Horse-like Majuu that serves under Wolzard. He appears from the ground when summoned. After Kai selflessly saved the creature's life, Barikion helped the MagiRangers regain their MagiKing powers by forming FireKaiser with MagiRed. But as Wolzard revealed, Barikion only combines with whoever he acknowledges as a great warrior worthy to unite with. However, after the battle with the Two Ultimate Gods Drake & Sleipnir, Barikion and all of its forms were never seen again.

WolKentaurus: Wolzard fuses with Barikion when he utters "Uuza Douza Zanga". With Wolzard now purified, the spell for combination is likely to be "Goolu Luuma Gongga". Wolzard joins with Barikion in its four-legged configuration, becoming a giant centaur.

WolKaiser: When he utters "Uuza Douza Uru Zanga", Barikion becomes a suit of armor around Wolzard.

Also known as the Supreme Ruler of Darkness. His weapon is a staff made of Barikion's mane and tail.

WolKaiser is now formed by the spell "Goolu Luuma Golu Gongga". Attacks with "Madou Slash" & "Dark Madou Slash" while being evil, while under good it's "Tenkuu Masou Slash".

FireKaiser: A combination, though only seen in Stages 9 & 18, that results from the fusion of MagiPhoenix with Barikion. The spell used is 2105 "Giruma Maagi Magi Jinga" to invoke the combination. His weapon is a staff made of Barikion's mane and head, using it in his "Fire Spin Braid" attack.

Mahou Express Travelion: A magical train mecha MagiShine uses, able to cross dimensions, such as the Marudeyouna worlds. It can transform into Mahou TetsuJin Travelion when MagiShine uses a MagiTicket for the spell "Goo Goo Goludiuro". In battle mode, it can fire the cannon barrel in its chest for its "Destruction Fire" attack and from the funnel on top of its head "Steam Bazooka". Travelion has two miniature trains stored in its legs, the Remote Liners, that can be used to bind an enemy. Travelion has also performed rapid-fire punches and kicks in battle.

Holy Horse Unigorgon: Unicorn Majuu, he first appeared in the MagiRanger Movie and resurfaced to help Kai try to free Blagel from being Wolzard. Unigorgon appears to be a white version of Barikion with a horn on its forehead.

SaintKaiser: Unigorgon becomes a suit of armor around MagiPhoenix. His weapon is a staff made of Unigorgon's mane and head. The spell used is 1025 "Maagi Magi Giruma Jinga" to invoke combination. It bares a remarkable resemblance to FireKaiser as well. Attack "Saint Horn Finish" involves flying into the sky and then falling back down again head first with the staff.

MagiLegend: The combination of MagiFirebird and MagiLion when the MagiRangers use the spell code 5 "Maagi Giruma Golu Jingajin". Armed with the ScrewCalibur, MagiLegend performs the "Magical Climax" finishers, "Fire Tornado" & "Final Slash".

MagiFirebird: Legend MagiRed's Majuu Form when he uses the spell 3 "Maagi Golu Majuluu" on his DialRod.

MagiLion: Legend MagiYellow, Blue, Pink & Green's Majuu Form when they use the spell 4 "Maagi Giruma Golu Gogolu" on their DialRods.

Heavenly Saints/Tenkuuseija

The Magirangers' magical and elemental powers are drawn from these magical and holy entities. Their domain is Magitopia, a heavenly paradise created by the Five Legenday Magicians. Others include: Blajiel (Isamu Ozu/Wolzard), Sunjiel (Hikaru/MagiShine) and Raijiel (Memmi).

The Five Legendary Magicians: These Heavenly Saints were earned great power, and were the ones that created the domain called Magitopia. They were once human and were briefly seen in the Magiranger Movie.

Heavenly Saint Flajiel: Heavenly Saint of Flame, represented by a Red Mage. Kai's powers are drawn from this one.

Heavenly Saint Boljiel: Heavenly Saint of Thunder, represented by a Yellow Mage. Tsubasa's powers are drawn from this one.

Heavenly Saint Splajiel: Heavenly Saint of Water, represented by a Blue Mage. Urara's powers are drawn from this one.

Heavenly Saint Winjiel: Heavenly Saint of Wind, represented by a Pink Mage. Houka's powers are drawn from this one.

Heavenly Saint Grounriel: The Ent-like Heavenly Saint of Earth, represented by a Green Mage. Makito's powers are drawn from this one.

Heavenly Saint Lunajiel: Heavenly Saint of the Serene Moonlight Element, she was targeted by the Infershia as she is the "Key to the Gate", whose death would open the Hades Gate. Her memories were sealed by Raijriel and she took on the form of a young woman named Rin. The Magirangers managed to help her regain her memories as Lunajiel. At first, she had little confidence in the Magirangers' abilities and sought to destroy the Infershia herself, only to be captured to complete Branken's plan to open the Hades Gate. It would have cost Lunajiel her life, but she was saved from this fate by Kai. After Branken's death, Lunajiel departed to Magitopia. In the movie, Lunajiel showed the siblings the Great Hall where Magiel hails from. Lunajiel would later reappear to help the Magirangers master their Legend Powers, cure those infected by Mold, and reveal more of the events of 15 years ago relating to Blajiel whom was last seen by Lunajiel prior to her memory loss. In Stage 47 she appears beaten up to inform everyone that Magitopia was under attack by N Ma. Lunajiel tried to warn Magiel of N Ma's arrival, but N Ma still managed to kill Magiel (although it was later revealed she survived) and destroy Magitopia, but Lunajiel was saved by Magiel. After informing the Magirangers, she teleported away. She aided the Rangers in the finale.

Heavenly Saint Chronojiel: Heavenly Saint of Time and Space. Time magic was considered to be dangerous for anyone to wield, and he placed a curse upon all Time magic and retreated into another dimension in the form of a mountain. When MagiYellow used the same Magic to try and see what happened in the past, he was stricken with a horrible side effect, opening a chasm through his chest which sucked in time, appearing as a dark whirlwind. Hikaru sealed him with a barrier spell and took him to find Chronojiel's staff, the only thing that could reverse the effects of the reverse magic on Tsubasa. After overcoming the odds, and even Wolzard's mind games, Hikaru removed the staff. Wolzard, however, used it as a chance to take out the unmoving Chronojiel, killing him with a blast from his Jagun Shield.

Heavenly Saint Snowjiel: Heavenly Saint of the Sparkling Ice Element, represented by a White Mage, who gave the MagiRangers their Legend power, when they found her inside a giant fish and melted her frozen heart with their powerful courage. Miyuki's powers are drawn from this one. Snowjiel is the most senior of all the Heavenly Saints, and is the only one that has two forms: infant and humanoid. She had the privilege of being the Five Legendary Magicians' pupil. She aided the Rangers in their fight against Drake, and in the finale.

Heavenly Arch Saint Magiel: Heavenly Saint of all Magic, she is referred to as the leader and the most powerful of the Heavenly Saints. She hails from the Heavenly Great Hall, and is a giant. When N Ma came to Magitopia in Stage 48, N Ma confronted Magiel, but Magiel sealed N Ma in an orb of fire, but N Ma broke the orb and began destroying Magitopia. Before Magiel was seemingly killed, she managed to teleport Lunajiel away to the human world. It turns out in the finale, she survived N Ma's assault by teleporting away.

Infershia

The Infershia are from the Kedomonon Realm at the center of the Earth, which was ruled by the mysterious N Ma. Years ago, N Ma created the Hades Gate to send his entire army to Earth, but was stopped by the Heavenly Saint Blajiel 15 years ago. N Ma uses his agents to break the seal so he can conquer the surface world. However, overtime, some of the Infershia began to realize N Ma's insane obsession of destroying the Heavenly Saints and the Ozu Family became too reckless due to some of the needless deaths. Once N Ma was destroyed, Sphinx took over rule to rebuild their world and start anew with Magitopia.

Absolute God N Ma (1-34, 46-49): The mysterious leader of the Infershia. Before N Ma was sealed away by Blajiel, he used his cursed reincarnation to transform Blajiel into his loyal servant Wolzard. N Ma contacted his minions via a white pool at the center of the lair, which turned red when in use, however, N Ma used the Slab of Judgement in Stage 47 to communicate with the remaining Hades Gods. N Ma's right fang was used to make Branken's sword, while his left eye was used to make Wolzard's shield. While his form was not entirely revealed until Stage 34, his appearance is of Lovecraftian origin. N Ma was resurrected when Memmi transferred the Magirangers' Legend powers into N Ma. The tendrils on his head each end with a serpent's/dragon's head. When Wolzard turned back into Blajiel, N Ma turned him back, but Kai broke his spell. N Ma was seemingly hindered by Blajiel when he sacrificed himself to stop N Ma by sealing the demon's soul in his own body. The Hades Gods managed to free N Ma from his new prison and he was resurrected in Titan's lifeless body, molding it to reflect his own image, a new, fallen angel-like humanoid form with a black skull cap that concealed his hideous brain. Absolute God N Ma could shoot numerous tentacles from his mouth, and can absorb anything with his mouth, which inadvertently was the cause of his downfall. While he used the remaining Hades Gods to fight the Magirangers, N Ma went to Magitopia to destroy the Heavenly Saints personally. N Ma destroyed Magitopia and tried to kill Magiel and almost Lunajiel, if Magiel had not have teleported her away. Blajiel and Sunjiel went to Magitopia to confront the Absolute God, but it resulted in Hikaru's prophesied death by N Ma's tentacles. N Ma also killed Isamu while up in Magitopia, and when he flew back to Earth, he mockingly tossed Sunjiel and Blajiel's corpses in front of the Rangers, which caused them much grief. N Ma sped up time so quickly that the Earth became a barren wasteland, and everyone except the Magirangers, the Heavenly Saints, and the Infershia were corroded by N Ma's actions. Even the Kedomono Realm was wrecked in his wake. N Ma's skull was shattered by Kai's DialRod attack, and he was also stabbed by Kai's MagiStick Sword, which the other rangers helped him wield, which caused the surface world to be restored. N Ma was shocked to see Sphinx alive and betraying him, and further enraged about the death of Dagon along with Vancuria siding with Sphinx by reviving her and the others that died. N Ma was finally destroyed when the entire Ozu family overflowed N Ma with their courage, causing him to implode. (Supreme Master)

Victory General Branken ((1-18): The high commander, though it seemed Wolzard was calling the shots. This sparks a rivalry between them as Wolzard seemed to have left Branken trapped in the seal, and because of this they constantly fight amongst themselves. He wielded the Hell Fang, which is a sword made from N Ma's fang. Branken was part machine, and had gears that moved and a standing horn that steam came out, especially when he was angry. Born a High Zobil, Branken fought his way up to his current rank and has no tolerance for failure. Branken had a horrible temper, attacking High Zobils, Vancuria and Wolzard when angry. He desired to take over as the new ruler of the Infershia and desperately wanted out of the seal. For that, he sent Vancuria and the Three Solitary Confinement Hades Beasts to find the "Key", Lunajiel, so that he can open the Hades Gate and send forth the entire Infershia army, as well as finally enter the surface world of his own free will. In Stage 6, Branken managed to rise to the surface world with the help of Wolzard's magic, and grew giant to face the Magirangers, until Kai as MagiPhoenix teleported him back to the lair. When Lunajiel was captured by Wolzard, the Hades Gate had risen to the surface, and Branken managed to pry the Hades Gate open and entered the surface realm. Branken's plans were foiled when Lunajiel was freed, and when she once again sealed the Hades Gate. Both he and his ambitions were soon destroyed by the bonds of the Ozu siblings (Who were aided by MagiMother's spirit and magic) with MagiKing. Only his Hell Fang remained, which Wolzard takes for his own.

(Morticon) Madou Priest Memmi (19-34): The high commander who takes over when Branken was killed. He wielded an extendable fan, which had a mirror that allowed Memmi to see what was happening on the surface world, but in the Duel Bond he wielded a Magitopia sword. He was originally the Heavenly Saint Raijiel, the Heavenly Saint of lightning who saw magic as a way to grant his own selfish desires and along with Sunjiel was Blajiel's pupil. He betrayed his comrades by reporting their plans to N Ma, leaving Blajiel to the mercy of the Hades Beastman Four Kings of Hell, and sealing Lunajiel's memories after she sealed the Hades Gate. Sunjiel, who had learned of Raijiel's treachery, fought him and, upon being turned into a frog, sealed himself and the mummified Raijiel in a cave, an event which Raijiel swore undying revenge for. His lifeless body remained there until it was found by Nai & Mea, who took him to N Ma to be resurrected to replace Branken. Memmi, seeing himself a vassal to N Ma, worked hard to bring N Ma into the human world with his clever planning. Because he was a Heavenly Saint, Memmi was also a master of magic himself with an affinity for lightning spells, replacing Wolzard in the process. Memmi acted as the priest for King Glúm's and Yuka Yamazaki's wedding, and created the wedding ring. He, Apollos, Babon, and Vancuria had Urara and Jasmine captive in the lair. When he became desperate to resurrect N Ma he sent the Hades Beastman Four Kings of Hell and used Forbidden Hades Beasts to do his bidding, as well as resorting to Forbidden Magic. Memmi used the Magirangers' Legend powers to revive N Ma, which was successful. He was finally killed off by Hikaru (Who used Memmi's own sword) in the Magitopia Duel Bond, reverting back to Raijiel as his body dissolved into dust while his final words that were of the ones to succeed him.

Infershia's Hades Gods: The Infershia Pantheon (35-49): The ten gods of Hades itself. When the great beast N Ma was destroyed, the Hades Gods were revived to punish the infidels who defeated him. They were in a deep slumber within the depths of the Kedomono Realm in the Valley of the Gods until the Nightmare Sisters found their lair with the Book of Prophecy and reawakened them. They almost killed Vancuria when they first met her. The Hades Gods all have one goal; to bring Divine Punishment upon humans. Each member possesses a Dark Aurora, which heralds the coming of the gods. Legend tells if those on the surface defy the gods, both the surface and heavenly worlds will be destroyed. The Hades Gods follow their laws known as the Dark Precepts. The Hades Gods were divided into the lower tier known as the Five Warrior Gods, which included Titan, Wyvern, Toad, Cyclops, and Ifrit, the middle tier known as the Three Wise Gods that included Dagon, Sphinx, and Gorgon, and the upper tier known as the Two Ultimate Gods, which included Sleipnir and Drake (Infershia's Shield and Halberd). The members of the Hades Gods were divided, formed alliances with each other, and each had their own schemes. Dagon, Sleipnir, and Sphinx generally worked together, Gorgon worked with Drake and Toad, Ifrit dueled with Titan, Cyclops was a loner, and Wyvern talked with Nai & Mea. They intended and were successful in resurrecting N Ma, and most of them (excluding Titan, later Sphinx) showed a degree of loyalty to him.

Warrior Hades God Ifrit(35-36): The Warrior God with a fiery body and soul. A fire demon who uses a club with a ball and chain as his weapon. The first of the Hades Gods chosen to challenge the Magirangers and bring their wrath upon humans. He could evaporate anything he glared at. To be merciful, Ifrit lit a tower on fire that represented the time that the surface realm had to repent and beg for their lives before he would begin his Divine Punishment, and burn everything to ash. To be sporting, and to enhance his own enjoyment, Ifrit lit another tower on fire, saying that he would destroy the rangers before the tower was consumed. He also promised to tell the rangers where their mother was should they defeat him. When the fire died down, Dagon threw his trident at Ifrit's image in the Slab of Judgement, and killed him in order to maintain the Dark Precepts. Otherwise, it is said, N-Ma would not be able to be reborn. Before Ifrit turned to stone and blew up, he revealed to the Magirangers that one of the other members of the Hades Gods has their mother captive.

Warrior Hades God Cyclops (35-38): The best sharp shooter Warrior God. He was a robotic demon who wielded a sniper rifle with a bayonet. He would have shot and killed Vancuria if Wyvern hadn't have stopped him from doing so. The second to challenge the Magirangers. He got really angry when his attacks failed, but he recomposes himself to think of a strategic plan. He was a robotic master sniper who went after the siblings in a game of cat and mouse where they had to evade his shooting until sunset or disappear upon getting shot. Anything he shot would turn red and disappear. Cyclops could see everything with his thermal sight. He managed to take out Makito, Houka, and Urara by hiding in the mirror world and shooting through reflections, but Tsubasa then defeated him with his DialRod Bow Gun to save his siblings. Cyclops was then killed by MagiLegend with assistance from Travelion.

Wisdom Hades Goddess Gorgon (5-40): The slyest of the Wise Gods. Gorgon used a mirror-shield as her weapon that can release snakes to turn the surface world to stone, she herself can turn into a giant snake to devour her enemies. She became the fourth to challenge the Magirangers after conning Toad into fighting the MagiRangers knowing it was her turn to fight after Cyclops. Gorgon prophesied that Sphinx would be killed by one of their own, and she did get killed. She managed to petrify Smoky while devouring Urara, Makito, Tsubasa, and Hikaru in her Gorgon's Garden. She then went to the surface world to get the powerless Kai and Houka, but Sphinx cured the two and Gorgon's plans began to fall apart as Kai and Houka freed their captured siblings and Hikaru from her stomach with a new spell. Gorgon grew large to only be killed by MagiLegend with Travelion's assistance, restoring Smoky back to his mobile self.

Ultimate Hades God Drake (35-42): The most violent Ultimate God. Drake is armed with a sword that can shoot streams of lightning, has the strongest Infershia armor that protects him from any blow except to the neck, and can grow giant wings to fly, and extend his neck while giant on the surface world. In Stage 35, Drake started to destroy some buildings to bring fear to humans. In Stage 37, when it was Cyclop's turn to battle the rangers, Gorgon suggested that Drake go to the surface on his own and battle them. Drake was able to withstand Travelion's "Destruction Fire" attack to Hikaru and Smoky's surprise, but Sphinx drove Drake away before he could finish Sungel off. Being upset that Gorgon was defeated he started to attack the other gods until Sphinx told him no one cares about what he feels for Gorgon. This upsets Drake even more and tries to kill Sphinx when she had her back turned away however Wyvern stops his attack. The two gods fought each other until selection was made for Divine Punishment choosing Drake. Hikaru discovered that Drake's weakness was his neck after striking him in the neck and remembering that Kai as MagiPhoenix also damaged him by kicking him in the neck, and transformed into Sunjiel and defeated him in a truly stunning confrontation. In his last stand, Drake battled along side Sleipnir (who at the time was being used by Dagon to lure out Wolzard). He was weakened by MagiLegend's ScrewCalibur to the neck and was killed by a Destruction Fire to the neck from Travelion.

Warrior Hades God Toad ((5-44): The most gluttonous Warrior God. Toad carries a hammer that also serves as a trumpet. He occasionally ate Zobil & High Zobil from a bowl. He could shoot various poisons from his warts, such as a poison that switched bodies and a poison that acts as an acid, he could summon frog embryos all over the world, and had dopplegangers of the Magirangers in his game of chance. The third to challenge the MagiRangers, although at the time he wasn't selected by the Slab of Judgement. Instead Gorgon conned him into going, as Gorgon knew that she was the next to go as she caught a glimpse of a page from the Book of Prophecy. Toad fought Kai and Houka and ended up accidentally switching their bodies. This later prevents them from being able to transform to fight Gorgon. He also switched Nai & Mea's bodies, which caused them to not be able to become Vancuria. Toad goes into battle with Travelion but flees back to Hades as selection was taking place. After Drake's death, Toad was chosen to carry out the Hades God's wrath. He is the one who was shown collecting souls along with capturing Miyuki after her supposed death and adding her to his collection in the depths of the Kedomono Realm with his dark aura hiding her. However, Toad met his end at the hands of the Legend MagiRangers & MagiMother.

Warrior Hades God Wyvern (35-46): He is a Warrior God who weilds a scepter. He stopped Cyclops from killing Vancuria, he talked with Nai & Mea, introduced them to each member of the Hades Gods, and treated them the kindest out of the Hades Gods until it became his turn to fight the MagiRangers while punishing Titan. He along with Dagon and Titan ambushed Wolzard and was the one who carried N Ma's soul. During the fight against Houka and Makito, he knocked Makito's DialRod out of his hand, then tried to kill him with a hailstorm of energy, but Titan intervened and took the hailfire himself. After making amends with Titan once they escaped from Wyvern (who was also unaware that he was being spied on by Vancuria, who informed Dagon via fish-scale hand radio about their escape), Makito and Houka the latter being disguised as Titan lured the flying Wyvern out of the forest (Makito even delayed him with thorns) and into the quarry, where Wyvern caught Houka impersonating Titan by seeing her pink bow and forced her out of the disguise with an energy barrage. He fought Makito and Houka alone until the two Rangers were backed up by Kai, Tsubasa, Urara, and Hikaru (who managed to get out of an earlier entanglement with Sphinx). He forced all six Rangers out of their armor with a powerful attack before using an even stronger one to try to destroy them, but Isamu showed up and absorbed the flame. After arrogantly hitting Vancuria (who arrived to witness the Rangers' destruction and inform Wyvern on Titan's whereabouts) out of his way after learning that Dagon wanted him to find Titan, he charged toward Isamu, who had by now transformed into Wolzard Fire. Wolzard Fire killed Wyvern with the Raging Storm Slash after an incredibly short standoff.

Warrior Hades God Titan (35-46): The most muscular Warrior God. One of the Hades God's strongest members, he uses a double bladed staff. Titan has a afro-like head and no eyes. Once he accidentally stepped on Nai & Mea in Stage 39. He, Dagon, and Wyvern ambushed Wolzard, and Titan was the one who destroyed Wolzard's Jagun Shield. Chosen to carry on the Hades God's goals, he followed his Divine Punishment of using the surface electricity to create a large bolt of ball that would fall to surface. Titan is revealed to actually have a kind heart as Houka saw for his caring for other life. She ended up convincing him to cancel his divine punishment which shocked Makito. Houka affectionately calls Titan, "Afro-Kun". Later, Titan was chosen by N Ma's soul to hold his spirit for his reincarnation. Titan was then congratulated by Sphinx and Wyvern for that honor of him to sacrifice his body. However, he told them he would not die so Wyvern and Sphinx consider this an act of treason and Wyvern pursued him. He ran off with Houka & Makito to avoid Wyvern from killing him. While the Magirangers were facing Wyvern, Titan fled to a lake where Dagon ambushed and killed him, allowing N Ma to be revived in the god's lifeless body, remolding it in his image. Titan's disembodied spirit, was punished by banishment into the lake of sleep with the eternal sea.

Wisdom Hades Goddess Sphinx (he wisest of the Wise Gods, she makes sure the other gods follows the dark precepts and serves as the observer of their activities. She reports her fellow Gods' schemes to Dagon. Sphinx uses an arm-mounted lionish-shield/gauntlet/bazooka with a retractable blade. She was the one that reversed Toad's spell on Kai and Houka to make things fair and was the one who drove Drake away in Stage 38 when he was about to finish off Hikaru. She also reversed Nai & Mea's bodies back. In Stage 46, she abducts Kai, Tsubasa, Urara, and Hikaru in order to comprehend more on how they get their power to defeat the Hades Gods one by one. Specifically chosen by N Ma to carry out Divine Punishment in Stage 47; she shortly fights the rangers easily defeating Travelion and MagiLegend with her gauntlet. She considered there was no importance of the surface world to the Infershia anymore and disappeared after fighting the rangers. She was then confronted and attacked by Sleipnir and Dagon, who seemingly killed her under N Ma's orders for not destroying the Magirangers. She survived the ordeal with Vancuria's ability of resurrection, and saved Miyuki from Dagon, and tried to change Dagon's ways, but she had no choice but to kill Dagon when he did not go down peacefully. After N Ma's defeat, Sphinx became the new ruling leader of the Infershia, ending the war between her kind and Magitopia peacefully, and she began rebuilding the Kedomono Realm after it was wrecked by N Ma's power.

Ultimate Hades God Sleipnir (35-48): The most reliable Ultimate God. A knight like demon who wields either a lance or a jagged sword and a shield. Sleipnir acts like a leader and an advisor in the Hades Gods. When the Hades Gods first appeared in Stage 35, he blocked MagiLegend's ScrewCalibur Fire Tornado attack and defeated the impertinent MagiLegend. He arrives on the surface world in a Hades Chariot being pulled by two smaller Barikion-like horses (The first chariot was destroyed by Wolzard, but he used a new one when he attacked the city during his Divine Punishment) and battled alongside Drake in Stage 42 (he was sent by Dagon to draw out Wolzard, which worked) and he ended up battling WolKentaurus but WolKaiser sent him back to Hades. He and Dagon confronted Sphinx because of her treachery, and attacked her, and let Dagon finish her off. After Sphinx was taken care of, Sleipnir was chosen to carry out Divine Punishment in Stage 48 Sleipnir attacked the city to draw the Magirangers out and faced the Magirangers in MagiLegend and easily defeated MagiLegend with a spinning cork screw-like attack, but was finally destroyed when a confident Kai knocked him down and destroyed his shield, and then the Rangers used the Five Fantastic Aerial Attack to kill him off.

Wisdom Hades God Dagon(35-49): The seemingly-invincible leader of the Hades Gods and most powerful of the gods (although he is only in the middle class Wisdom God tier, in which he is the only male member) who uses a trident as a weapon. His head looks like an actual fish. He was the one who killed Ifrit for not fulfilling his promise of destroying the surface world before the flame he lit was spent in Stage 36. Dagon also faced Wolzard's spirit in Stage 40, when Wolzard confronted him at a lake. He had Vancuria plant one of his fish scales on Wolzard to track him. In Stage 42, he sent Sleipner to draw out Wolzard. In Stage 43, after Nai & Mea had successfully located where Wolzard was hiding, he, along with Wyvern and Titan, went to ambush Wolzard. He was angered by the fact that N Ma's soul was contained in Wolzard's body and took personal pleasure of extracting N Ma's soul from him, as well as seemingly killing Blajiel, when he created a crack in the Earth below him, which caused him to plummet to the fiery depths below. He also gave another of his scales to communicate with Vancuria, so that he had information on the situation with Wyvern and Titan, as well as give Vancuria orders. He was the one who ambushed and killed Titan so that N Ma could be revived in Titan's body. Dagon was the one who slew Sphinx with the help of Sleipnir, when Sphinx did not destroy the Rangers as well as the surface world when she had the perfect chance to. Dagon was confronted by MagiMother in the finale while Sleipner faced the other Rangers, and fought with her until the Rangers intervened. He then blasted them and teleported himself and MagiMother to the Infershia lair, but before that he attempted to blast Urara with an energy ball, but Smoky intervened and died, taking the hit for Urara. Dagon was surprised and infuriated when Sphinx arrived, alive and well. Dagon was also angered by the fact that Vancuria defied him by resurrecting Sphinx. Even though Sphinx offered him a chance to change his ways, Dagon refused and tried to strike her down again, but Sphinx blasted Dagon with her bazooka, thus ending Dagon's life.

Yougen Spy Vancuria The Infershia's spy, and the immortal Queen Vampire who can pass through the seal to overlook her masters' plans as she splits herself up into the Nightmare Sisters. She had a bit of a crush on both Branken (Until the he tried to kill her for her failure) and Memmi (though she couldn't stand him at first). Vancuria did have some admiration for Wolzard as he helps her sometimes (Like increasing her power threefold). With the help of Hades Beast Leech, Vancuria had the vampirized Houka under her control until Tsubasa and the other Magirangers broke the spell on their sister and finally ended Vancuria's winning streak over them. The Rangers managed to destroy Vancuria with Tsubasa's Crystalization Dawn and the Magi Cross attack which crucified and blew her up, but that same night she reconstituted herself and destroyed the Crystalization Dawn. She awakened the Hades Gods when she discovered their lair. She is like a hummingbird in size when compared to the Gods who were naturally giant. She was kept alive by the Hades Gods so that she could serve them as a spy. She spied on Drake when he went to the surface world to fight Hikaru, because of Gorgon's suggestion. She was hardly used by them until Dagon had her place one of his fish scales on Wolzard so the Hades Gods could track him. She carries another one of his scales to communicate on-site with Dagon. She also helped Wyvern fight the Magirangers before Wolzard Fire came to the rescue. Vancuria also traveled with Dagon and Sleipnir to see Sphinx and began to have second thoughts about N Ma. Vancuria resurrected Sphinx and apologized to Dagon for this treasonous action, and was stunned when she killed Dagon. In the end, she joined Sphinx in the "new Infershia".

(Necrolai) Nightmare Sisters Nai & Mea . Mischievous vampirish girls dressed in Gothic Lolita attire. They usually cause trouble for the Magirangers at any chance they get. They can shoot bolts of energy from their mouths. Nai seems to be the 'older sister' as Mea tends to only repeat a portion of what Nai has just said. In order for the two girls merge back into their true form, they hold hands and touch cheeks. When Wolzard briefly powered them up, Nai gained a stonedark crossbow while Mea used an enormous seven barreled cannon. Both of these weapons can be used by Vancuria once her components merge. The Nightmare Sisters were the ones that discovered Raijiel and brought him back to their lair to be revived as their new commander, Memmi. The Nightmare Sisters gain another power boost again for a time in the form of the WolzaPhones, enabling them to use magic like Memmi and Wolzard, but the phones were eventually reabsorbed by Wolzard. They also discovered the Valley of the Gods with the Book of Prophecy. When the Hades Gods were awakened, the Nightmare Sisters are not used as much like with their previous superiors except as guinea pigs in Toad's "body switch" curse, negating their ability to re-fuse back to Vancuria until Sphinx cured them. The duo were given purpose when Dagon have them put a tracking scale on Wolzard. The Nightmare Sisters also witnessed Sphinx's death at the hands of Dagon, and were both incredibly shocked by this event with second thought about their association with the Infershia as it was. They showed off their healing abilities by restoring Blajiel, Sunjiel, and Smoky. In the end, they joined Sphinx in the "new Infershia".

Madou Sentai Yamirangers (43, Outside Stage Show): They are black-caped doppelgangers of the Magirangers created by Memmi. Another version of this evil Sentai is seen in Stage 43, only this time, they are black-necked doppelgangers of the Magirangers created by Warrior Hades God Toad.

High Zobils Higher-ranked Zombies who wield either large spear-like staffs or whips and leads the Zobils into battle as a field commander. They can also control some of the Hades Beasts. They first appeared in Stage 3, where the one that fought against and was beaten by the Rangers was killed by Branken as punishment for incompetence. Branken was originally a High Zobil himself. Toad occasionally ate High Zobil from a bowl. (Styxoids)

Zobils Corpse-like soldiers who wield axes and follow the High Zobil. There are thousands of them in the lair. Underneath their helmets are their repulsive rotting skulls with maggots. Occasionally Toad would eat Zobil from a bowl. In the finale, they are shown with builder hats rebuilding part of the Kedomonon Realm. (Hidiacs)

Arsenal

Hell Fang: Branken's own sword, made from N Ma's fang. Wolzard soon claimed it as his own after Branken's death, forging it into a new WolSabre.

Jagan Shield: Wolzard's shield, made from N Ma's eye. It was eventually crushed under the power of Titan's staff.

WolSabre: Wolzard's sword which he uses in battle. The original WolSabre was destroyed by MagiRed. When Branken died, Wolzard claimed what was left of him: the Hell Fang. Not long afterwards, he forged Hell Fang into the new and current WolSabre.

WolzaPhones: Created by Memmi from Wolzard's magic, they are Nai & Mea's transformation devices. With them, the sisters can use the same spells as Wolzard and Memmi and can merge into forms other than Vancuria. They also used the phones to enlarge the Hades Beastmen. Wolzard eventually took back the WolzaPhones when the Magirangers gained their Legend power to restore his magic. In the finale, apparently Nai & Mea get a WolzaPhone to keep in contact with the Ozu Family.

Book of Prophecy: An item whose very writing details every single event in the Infershia's past, present, and future. Before flying away it enabled the Nightmare Sisters to find the Valley of the Gods. Nai & Mea found the Book again in Stage 39 to read about Cyclops, but Gorgon takes it and sees that it will be her turn after Cyclops, and then it flies away again.

Slab of Judgement: A deteriorating block that stands at the top of the Hades God's throne. The Slab selects which Gods' turn it is to enact Divine Punishment by shooting a ball of light that circles the Hades Gods when they form a circle, and selects a God by landing on the God's weapon. It also acts as a portal for the Gods to pass through into the surface realm. N Ma used it to personally select Sphinx as the one to enact Divine Punishment in Stage 47. N Ma inadvertently destroyed the Slab when he used it to enter into the Hades God's lair.

Hades Beasts

The (meijuu (literally 'Hades' and 'beast') are the Kedomono monsters that fight the Magirangers. The first three were naturally giant, but the rest were human size when first depicted. When these humansized Hades Beasts are killed, Wolzard used a spell that resurrects the monsters and makes them grow. They emerged onto the surface through a portal with strange symbols on the ground.

Hades Beast Troll (1, 9): A giant beast (not the same size as the Majin but larger than a two-story building) whose appearance results in the Oz Siblings learning the truth of their family as their mother froze the beast with her powers and shattered him. Another Troll appears later (this one wearing different clothing than the first) and was killed by the Magirangers. He was later resurrected by Wolzard and used the MagiKing powers to turn the monster into Hades Beast Stone Troll, but he was finally killed by FireKaiser and the powers of MagiKing are returned to the Magirangers.

(Troll) Hades Beast Blob (2): A giant monster who devours MagiRed, MagiGreen, and MagiBlue, only to sneeze them out thanks to MagiPink. He was the first to be killed by the MagiMajin. (Mucor) Hades Beast Worm (3): A huge, eight-headed worm-like creature (similar to Orochi) that could travel underground, which was the first to be killed by MagiDragon. (Hydra Worm)

Hades Beast Cockatrice (4): Turns people into a statues which it eats at its leisure. After it turned MagiBlue into a statue, MagiRed used his sister's mirror in the next battle to turn the monster's attack against it. MagiRed used his Red Fire attack and shattered the petrified Cockatrice into many stone pieces. But Wolzard used his dark magic to resurrect the monster and enlarge it. This Hades Beast was the first to be killed by MagiKing. (Clawbster)

Hades Beast Mimic (5): Nai & Mea's pet Hades Beast; able to take on a taxi-like form. Its loyalty to the Nightmare Sisters was used against it when MagiPink took on the disguise of Vancuria and lured the monster into a trap she and the others set up. Killed by MagiKing. (Taxi Cab Monster)

Hades Beast Fungus (7): A mushroom-based monster who can shoot spore gases from its body at its victims. Those affected will suffer effects starting with a slowdown of their movement leading to a lingering death. Killed by the MagiMajin.

Hades Beast Manticore (8): Possessed the power to make people dance against their will so that he could eat them once they were exhausted. He had a fascination with MagiBlue and MagiPink, targeting their brothers. He was defeated by the girls when they perform their "Magical Sisters Dance" attack. Killed by MagiDragon.

Hades Beast Specter (10): A Hades Beast sealed in a jar, it merges with any inanimate object in contact with, turning it into a suitable vessel. It possessed Petit Eriko, a cactus given to Makito by Eriko, a woman he is in love with. But MagiKing managed to extract Specter out of Petit Eriko and destroy it.

Hades Beast Leech (11): Used by Nai & Mea when they posed as the rock band "Bloody Nightmare Sunday", it sucked blood out of people through its tendrils to turn them into vampires, while Nai & Mea hypnotized them. Once it was killed by MagiKing, all its victims returned to normal.

The Three Solitary Confinement Hades Beasts (13-15): Stronger types of Hades Beasts. They were the strongest monsters in the Infershia Prison and were called upon by Branken to look for the "Key" to unsealing the Hades Gate so Branken could become the new ruler of the Infershia.

Solitary Confinement Hades Three Beast Ogre (13): The third strongest Solitary Confinement Hades Beast to be in Branken's contest for ideal monsters to find the "Key" and destroy the MagiRangers. He wielded a club like staff. He overwhelmed the siblings with his strength and speed, though he was killed by MagiKing.

Solitary Confinement Hades Three Beast Ghoul (13-14): The second Solitary Confinement Hades Beast to go after the "Key", a hyena-like beast with spikes on its back and metal boxing gloves. Wolzard acknowledged the monster as a warrior. While strong, its power increased when it absorbed Ogre's power. It died at the hands of MagiRed using the new MagiPunch gloves, using their attack to incinerate Ghoul with a super flaming punch.

Solitary Confinement Hades Three Beast Skeleton(13-15): A skullfaced monster, the strongest monster sent to find the "Key". He wielded a spiked staff. He could reassemble himself by using his red skull when he is blown apart. He used his "Red Skull Curse" attack to make person he encounters vanish in thin air. Though he was killed by MagiKing, Skeleton managed to find the "Key", Rin with Vancuria's aid.

Hades Demon Gate Guard Beast Gargoyle () (17-18): This monster was perched on the Hades Gate and flew down from it and helped Branken in the unsealing of the Hades Gate, as well as protect it. Killed by MagiDragon.

Hades Beast Spider () (23-24, special): Belbireji's helper, it eats the souls the Incubus obtained for it to perform its "soul bomb" attack. Spider was killed by a recovered MagiYellow. In the "Tokusei Magiranger Special", Kai accidentally turned himself into a copy of Spider with the Golden GripPhone, only to be reversed by the Silver MagiPhone after he realized the error of his lies.

Hades Beast Living Sword () (Movie): King Glúm do Bridon's metallic Godzilla-like servant that is actually an animated sword. He fought and defeated MagiKing, and aided in King Glúm's kidnapping of Yuka Yamazaki. He was absorbed by his master, in order to become Sword of Glúm, only to be killed by SaintKaiser.

Forbidden Hades Beasts (31-32): Created by Memmi using Forbidden Magic.

Hades Machine Golem (31): Bulrates soul was sacrificed to revive this monster in the Infershia Marudeyouna world, since Bulrates was over 300 years old, and it needed a soul that old. He was the first to be killed by MagiLegend while in the surface realm. Its death proved that the Magirangers were worthy of keeping their Legend powers without having to turn into Heavenly Saints.

Hades Fungal Beast Mold (32): A green-orb sent by Memmi to infect people with its mold and kill them when it opens its one eye. Vancuria carried Mold around. Makito became one its many victims. However, it was due to the Legend MagiRangers that everyone was freed of Mold's infection as it was killed. However, Memmi summoned a powered up red High Mold that infected MagiLegend, but thanks to Wolzard it was destroyed.

Hades Beastmen

Hades Beastmen, or Meijuujin, were originally humans in life who sold their souls to N Ma. Beldan, Belbireji and Gaston were enlarged by Memmi, but the ones that followed were enlarged by Vancuria using the WolzaPhones. (Kirikage does not count as he enlarged himself.)

Hades Beastman Gremlin Garim (20): A Hades Beastman who was a human with a love for mischief in life before he sold his soul to N Ma. Was a friend of Nai and Mai. He was summoned by Memmi to cause chaos while aiding in N Ma's resurrection by using the extracted fear from his victims as ink for his "Calamity Inviting" pen that he used to make a giant Madou circle to sacrifice every human within it. He was killed by MagiShine.

Hades Beastman Behemoth Beldan (21): A Hades Beastman who was sent to cause earthquakes. He wielded a hammer and spike, and intended to use them to trigger an earthquake by striking a precise spot. He was the first to be killed by Travelion.

Hades Beastman Ninja Kirikage (22): A Master of the art of invisibility. He wielded two katanas. He used ninja Zobil. He kidnapped Houka and brought her to his palace, where he used a device to keep the rangers from using their henshin, until Houka destroyed the device. Could make himself grow giant (by saying "Nipou! Big Body!"). He was killed by Travelion.

Hades Beastman Incubus Belbireji (23-24): A brutal, mean lady-killer character. He seems to have once had a relationship with Vancuria. Belbireji had his own pet Hades Beast, Spider, who was also his helper. He could suck the souls out of his victims and transfer them into Spider's body so it could use them as energy for a soul bomb attack. He met his end at MagiKing's hands.

Hades Beastman Thief Gaston (25): A Beastman who stole MagiRed's courage and the ticket MagiShine uses to summon Travelion for Vancuria. He then was ordered to use some of the other items he had stolen to make a dynamite stick which was supposed to blow up the surface world. MagiRed soon rejoined his siblings as he regained both his courage to form MagiKing, while Hikaru regained control of Travelion, killing Gaston with it.

Hades Beastwoman Harpy Peewee(26): A blue-bird like Hades "Beastwoman" summoned by the Nightmare Sisters to use her voice to cause hunger pains in people to manifest as deadly worms. Peewee refers to herself in the 3rd person. She was defeated by MagiBlue and Smoky's double teaming and killed by MagiKing and Travelion.

Hades Beastman Berserker King Glúm do Bridon (Movie): He kidnapped Yuka Yamazaki with his servant the Living Sword's aid, and intended to marry Yuka Yamazaki as part of his plan to bring N Ma into the human world, as well as resurrect his army of demons. He used a diamond ring that absorbed the souls of humans to put Yuka Yamazaki under his control and make her love him. He wore a helmet that concealed his hideous face. His armor could shoot out spikes, and wore a cape during his wedding. He wielded a glaive that could also turn into a sword or a gun. His marriage would have been successful, if Kai hadn't had intervened. He absorbed his minion Living Sword to become the scorpion/centaur Sword of Glúm . He was killed by SaintKaiser with MagiDragon's and Travelion's aid.

The Hades Beastman Four Kings of Hell (27-31, 33): The most evil humans who sold their souls to N Ma, they were the ones who defeated Blajiel 15 years ago. Memmi was forced to release the four when his lords patience was wearing thin. Wolzard "welcomed" them. Their debut served in the MagiRangers obtaining the "Legend" power.

Hades Beastman Four Kings of Hell Samurai Cursed Blademaster Shichijuro (27): Though the weakest of the four, his blade has the ability to turn the best of friends into hated enemies and constantly drinks sake. He used this power on the Ozu siblings, but Makito's passion for his younger brothers and sisters broke the curse. Shichijuro's body was destroyed by MagiTaurus, but the spirit of his sword possessed Makito, until Hikaru destroyed it.

Hades Beastwoman Four Kings of Hell Seiren Atrocity Princess Neries (27-28): The only female member, Neries is a rival and friend of Vancuria and mistress of song-based attacks and can manipulate silk cloth as a weapon. The 3rd most powerful of the four, she used the recently deceased singer Lei to gather the souls for her to consume by giving Lei a singing voice in the form of collar. But when Lei refused to help anymore, Neries consumed the nymph for her betrayal. But Tsubasa managed to free Lei from Neries before the "Beastwoman" was killed by the "Wonderful Shining" attack.

Hades Beastman Four Kings of Hell Yeti Subterrain King Zee (27-30, 33): The leader and most powerful of them all. He carries a weapon which resembles a hockey stick. He and Bulrates created an "Evil Ice" which they planned to turn the world into ice. Zee was temporarily powered up by the souls of the other Kings, thus enabling to use their skills. He was a master of ice attacks. He was killed by the Legend MagiRangers when they knocked Zee onto the Evil Ice, which caused both Zee and the Evil Ice to shatter. In Stage 33, he was shown about to attack Raijiel, but Raijiel moved so he could hit Blajiel in a 15 years ago flashback when the Heavenly Saints attacked the Infershia.

Hades Beastman Four Kings of Hell Kobold Hell's Wiseman Bulrates(27-31): The 2nd most powerful, he carried a bubble blower-like staff that absorbed the remains of Shichijuro, Neries, and Zee. Bulrates was apparently over 300 years old. Bulrates could also create bubbles and boulders with the staff. Bulrates caused Houka to keep losing her memory after thirty minutes after she saw Bulrates and Zee creating their Evil Ice. Bulrates also endowed Zee with the powers of the other Kings. Bulrates' staff was broken by a powered up the MagiKing slash, but Memmi restored it, as well as imbuing him with power and youth. He was killed by Legend Magirangers. Memmi used Bulrates' soul as part of the forbidden ritual to create the Marudeyouna world that held Hades Machine Golem, as well as revive it, but it was later killed by MagiLegend.

Hades Beastman Demon Apollos () (Magiranger vs. Dekaranger): A Beastman from the Kedomono Realm posing as an Alienizer named Agent X. He wielded two swords and could shoot lightning from his eyes. He followed the footsteps of Agent Aburera, and even bore resemblance to him, with his third eye and wings. He was working with the Alienizer Babon to fulfill his conquest. Apollos held Urara and Jasmine hostage in the Kedomono Realm, until he got Miyuki's "Heavenly Flower Brooch" in order to power up Apotrex mecha. When the Rangers came to rescue Urara and Jasmine at the Tower of Screams in the Marudeyouna Worlds, Apollos defeated the Rangers and stole the Heavenly Flower Brooch. Apollos and Babon then powered up Apotrex, and were about to destroy the planet with it, when the Rangers destroyed it with a combined mecha attack. Legend MagiRed and DekaRed in Battlizer Mode beat him with the Fire Finish. Apollos and Babon were soon killed when the Heavenly Flower Brooch endowed the Rangers with the magical power needed to destroy the duo with a combined team attack.

Gestalt Hades Beastman Chimera (33-34): A Hades Beastman created by Memmi in another dimension by use a forbidden spell that fused the spirits of fallen Hades Beasts and Beastmen into one entity after tricking Hikaru & Lunajiel to a confrontation. He is referred to as the most powerful Hades Beastman. Chimera had three talking faces, and they are its main face, Neries the Seirin's face, and Beldan the Behemoth's face.

Chimera also has Troll's left arm, Peewee's feathers, Cockatrice's feet, and a crocodile head with a moustache for a right arm. After defeating Hikaru and Lunajiel, he helped Wolzard capture the rangers. Chimera witnessed the revelation of Wolzard's true identity. Memmi used Chimera to stop the Rangers from escaping to the surface realm. He was killed by SaintKaiser.

Magical Spells

Magiranger

106 - Maagi Magi Magiro: Mahou Henshin Spell.
 4 - Magine: Detransformation Spell.
 107 - Maagi Magi Magika: Become Majin.
 186 - Maagi Gii Magiuro: Transforms MagiFairy into Magiren Ball
 125 - Maagi Giruma Jinga: Form MagiDragon.
 1205 - Maagi Giruma Magi Jinga: Form MagiKing.
 803 - Gii Magi Gijiru: Summons KingCalibur
 1207 - Maagi Giruma Magi Magika: MagiKing's "Tenkuu Mahou Slash" attack.
 209 - Giruma Magi Majuna: MagiKing's "Magical Shower" attack.
 1285 - Maagi Giruma Gii Jinga: MagiKing's "Magic Family Slash" attack.
 2105 - Giruma Maagi Magi Jinga: Form FireKaiser.
 06 - Magi Magika: Attack using elemental power
 26 - Giruma Magiro: Kai's Alchemy Spell.
 56 - Jinga Magiro: Tsubasa's Potion Spell.
 16 - Maagi Magiro: Houka's Disguise Spell.
 03 - Magi Jijiru: Urara's Divination Spell.
 003 - Magi Magi Jijiru: Advanced Divination Spell.
 27 - Jiruma Magika: Makito's Herbology Spell.
 99 - Majuna Majuna: Spell for invisibility.
 204 - Giruma Magi Magiine: An exorcism spell, used to remove Specter from Petit Eriko.
 2004 - Giruma Magi Magi Magiine: A variation of the above spell used to free those consumed by evil spirits.
 67 - Magiuro Magika: Increases the senses.
 59 - Jinga Majuna: Team Attack.
 883 - Gii Gii Gijiru: Summon MagiPunch. Also used for "Magical Sisters Dance" in Stage 8.
 01 - Magi Maagi: MagiGreen's "MagiMuscle" Spell.
 126 - Maagi Giruma Magiuro: "Magical Tower" Spell. Also used by the fake MagiPink and MagiBlue to form a giant frog.
 Roogi Maneegi Magi Mamarugi: Forbidden Spell, reverses time to show the caster what happened in the past. Being a forbidden spell, whoever casts this feels the ravages of time on his/her very being.
 216 - Giruma Magi Magiuro: A spell that returns things that someone else has stolen.
 287 - Giruma Gii Magika: "Smoky Blue Shining Attack" Spell.
 417 - Magiine Magi Magika: Used by Kai to free Yuka Yamazaki from King Glúm's hold in the movie.
 1025 - Maagi Magi Giruma Jinga: Form SaintKaiser.
 806 - Gii Maji Majiro: Makes MagiKing cut better.
 44 - Magiine Magiine: A Spell that restores what was destroyed.
 92 - Majuna Giruma: Causes someone to lose their balance.
 Golu Goolu Goo Goo: Uses the Idea card with the Gold Grip Phone.
 9888 - Majuna Gii Gii Gii: Transformed Spider-Kai back into himself with the Silver MagiPhone.
 104 - Maagi Magi Magiine: Separates the soul from the body.
 Magi Majuulu Goolu Jingga: Five Fantastic Aerial Attack
 Maagi Magi Majendo: Combines the powers of the entire Ozu Family into one attack that destroys N Ma.
 Maagi Giruma Deka Magika: Combines the powers of the Magirangers with the Dekarangers to destroy Apollos and Babon for good.

Legend Magiranger

1006 - Maagi Magi Magi Magiro: Chou Henshin Spell.
 1 - MagiBolt: Individual attack with DialRod.
 2 - Gii Goru MagiBolt: Legend Finish: Team attack with DialRods.
 3 - Maagi Golu Majuru: Become MagiFirebird.
 4 - Maagi Giruma Golu Gogoru: Become MagiLion.
 5 - Maaji Jiruma Golu Jingga: Form MagiLegend
 Gii Golu Jijiru: Summons ScrewCalibur
 Maagi Giruma Golu Gogika: ScrewCaliber Fire Tornado
 Maagi Golu Gojika: Urara's Fantastic Splash attack.
 Golu Maagi: Makito's Rock Armor spell.
 Goo Magiuro: Transforms Tsubasa's DialRod to DialRod Bow Gun.
 Magiine Luludo: Used by Kai and Houka to free Hikaru, Makito, Tsubasa and Urara from Gorgon.

Magi Magi Gojika: Creates a stream of pressurized water that can cut almost anything. Used by Urara to destroy a giant toad created from the fake MagiPink and MagiBlue, and then to change the dice to gain the upper hand in Toad's board game.

Giruma Giruma Gongga: Brought Miyuki back.

Gii Golu Majuna: Allows someone to phase through solid matter.

MagiShine

Goolu: Teleportation Spell (Used on Magical cat Smoky).

Goolu Golu Goludiuro: Tenkuu Henshin Spell

Goo Goolu Gogika: Light Attack Spell

Luuma Goolu Gogika: "Shining Smoky" attack, "DekaBreak Shining Fist" attack.

Luuma Goludiuro: Used once to punish Smokey. Also used to change the Magiranger's clothing.

Goo Golu Luludo: Calls Travelion.

Goo Goo Goludiuro: Travelion's Transformation Spell

Goru Goru Gogika: Travelion's Reverse Destruction Fire attack.

Luuma Goludo: Memory Spell

Luuma Lujuna Goludiuro: Limited the amount of power the MagiLegends used.

Gongga Goo Lujuna: Creates a barrier.

Luuma Gongga: Temporarily paralyzed the MagiRangers. Also used by Isamu so he could finish his 15 year old battle against N Ma.

Lujuna Gojika: Freed Hikaru from the MagiLamp and exited the mini-garden.

Luludo: Teleported DekaBreak into the MagiLamp.

Heavenly Saints

Goru Luludo: Used by Lunajiel to trap the Magiranger in another dimension.

Goo Gojika: Extends Lunajiel's Staff.

Goru Gojika: Lunagel's Moonbeam attack.

Gooru Lujuna: Used by Lunajiel to teleport.

Goolu Golu Gojika: Transforms Lunajiel into her giant Saint form.

Goo Goru Gojika: Lunajiel's Moonlight Circle attack.

Golu Lujuna: Used by Lunajiel to negate the Legend Power's side effects.

Luuma Gongga Lujuna: Creates a barrier over a great distance.

Gongga Lujuna: Creates a shield.

Jiruma Golu Majuulu Gogolu: Used by Snowjiel to grant the MagiRangers their Legend Power.

Goolu Golu Majuulu: Transforms Snowjiel from infant form to adult form.

Wolzard

Uuza Uru Ugaro: Enlargement Spell

Douza Uru Ugaro: Monster Enlargement Spell

Uu Uru Zazare: Summon Valkirion

Uuza Douza Zanga: Form WolKentaurus

Uuza Douza Uru Zanga: Form WolKaiser

Uuza Ujira: Teleportation spell

Uzaara Ugaro: Empowerment spell.

Douza Uru Zazaado: Magical Wolf Spell

Uuza Douza Uru Ugaro: Increases dark magic attacks.

Uru Zazare: Create WolSabre

Douza Uru Zazado: Wolf Blast

Douza Uzaara: Monster Restoration Spell

Uuza Douza Zazare: Dream contacting

Douza Uru Zazare: Brought Branken to the surface.

Uu Uu Zazare: Spell Breaker

Uu Ujira: Removed his magical power from his body.

Uru Ugaro: Dark Madou Slash

Douza Ujira: Reflects elemental attacks.

Maagi Golu Magika: Blajiel's "Blazing Storm" spell.

Goolu Luuma Golu Gongga: Used by the now-purified Wolzard to form WolKaiser.

Goolu Golu Golu Goludiuro: Chou Tenkuu Henshin spell, transforms Isamu into Wolzard Fire.

Maagi Golu Gii Magika: Blajiel's "Raging Storm Slash" attack.

Luludo Goludiuro: Transformed the library into a wedding chapel.

Goolu Golu Goludo: Breaks N Ma's powerful, dark, cursed reincarnation.

Memmi

Meeza Zazare: The spell that resurrected Raijiel as Memmi.

Douza Mezara: Bug Transformation Spell.

Megaro: Attack Spell.
 Zazaado: Attack Spell.
 Meira Mazaado: Fan Transformation Spell
 Douzane Mejira: Hades Beastman Summoning Spell
 Douza Meru Zazaado: Magical Centipede Spell.
 Mei Zazare: Teleportation Spell
 Douza Meeru Mee Mejura: The Hades Beastman Four Kings of Hell summoning spell.
 Megaro Mezaara Meru Douza: Imbued Bulrates with youth and power, as well as creating the Infershia Marudeyouna world and Hades Machine Golem.
 Mee Zazare: Mold summoning spell, summoned Smoky into his hand during his Duel Bond with Sunjiel.
 Megaro Zanga Meru Douza: Chimera creation spell.
 Douza Meru Meru Mejira: Used to transfer the Magirangers' Legend powers to N Ma.
 Douza Meru Megaro: Enlargement Spell.
 Meeza Meru Megaro: Super Enlargement Spell.

Name Puns/Facts

To clarify "Mahou" and "Madou" both refer to Magic. But while "Mahou" is used for white magic & magical, "Madou" is used for Black magic & sorcery

MagiPhone codes

The numbers stand for the following magical commands:

1. "Maagi" to have a strange change
2. "Giruma" to use a technique
3. "Gigiru" to use an weapon
4. "Magine" aganist the enemy
5. "Jinga" unite
6. "Magiro" body
7. "Magika" usage of elemental energy/power
8. "Gii" using the phone itself
9. "Majuna" To use the power of light
0. "Magi" A soldier/person

Magirangers and Associates

NOTE: Despite the fact Hikaru is Sunjiel, as MagiShine he essentially becomes an additional MagiRanger. Anything related to him in this form will be placed here. Rin was a name given to Lunajiel before the revelation of her true form so it is here as well.

The Ozu family name, originally written in kanji as, is possibly an homage to the The Wonderful Wizard of Oz stories, as it shares the same romaji, Ozu. When the Ozu siblings' names are put in order of age from oldest to youngest, the term "Mahoutsukai" (Magician in Japanese) is formed by taking the first kanji from each of their names.

"Kai" means "leader". This is obviously reflected in as having leadership in his team.

"Tsubasa" means "wings", which is shown as his symbol is of the Garuda and forms the wings in the MagiDragon/MagiKing combinations.

"Urara" means "bright" due to her personality showing maturity and intelligence at most times. Also is a pun of the word uranai who meaning fortune telling

"Houka" means "fragrance", somewhat referring to her being the girly of the sisters.

"Makito" means "sower", referring in owning the Aniki Farms and his talent in herbology.

"Miyuki" means "deep snow" in Japanese, referring to Miyuki's element being ice/snow.

"Isamu" means to being brave and courageous, referring to his bravery.

Wolzard's name is an amalgamation of the words "Wolf" and "Wizard". In addition, U ru za do is only one syllable away of how the Japanese would spell 'Wizard' - U i za do.

MagiShine's name functions similarly to the pun in Wolzard's name - Ma ji sha i n is again only one syllable away from Ma ji sha n, 'Magician'.

Mandora Boy's name is a double pun. "Mandragora" (which would be Mandoragora in Japanese) is another name for "Mandrake", a plant that in legend was said to shriek when pulled from the ground. "Mandragoras" are also the name for familiars given to Magicians to be used for consultation (although in myth they are somewhat sinister as they are given to the Magician by the Devil!).

"Hikaru" means "to shine", it can also be inferred simply as "light".

Smoky (there's no e in his name) is named so because genies are usually thought of as creatures that are made of smoke or mist.

Skarpet. Sky + carpet.

"Rinrin" in Japanese is an adverb that describes the sound a bell makes. Rin was named so because of the bell she carried and the sound it made.

The spell of "majine" (4 on the MagiPhone) is a pun in itself. "Ne" is occasionally used in a negative term in the Japanese language, so "majine" would literally be "no magic", hence its use in transforming back to their civilian forms.

The KingCalibur is a mix of the words King and the old English word Calibur. Same goes for ScrewCalibur. Both names are also a reference to King Arthur's sword, Excalibur.

When translated literally, the KingCalibur's name means 'King Steel'.

Heavenly Saints

For mostly every Heavenly Saint that has appeared, the first part of their name correlates directly to their power/element/association. The last part, "Jiel" can be romanized as "Jeru" like in "Enjeru" or ""Angel"". As a result, they are sometimes referred as "????-Gel".

"Fla" is short for "Flame".

"Bol" is short for "Bolt".

"Win" is short for "Wind".

"Spla" is short for "Splash".

"Groun" is short for "Ground".

"Luna" is Latin/Spanish for moon. Lunajiel is associated with the moon/night.

"Rai" is a Japanese word referencing lightning and was the name of a Japanese thunder god. Raijiel/Memmi has shown an affinity with lightning.

"Chrono" is a prefix related to time, Chronojiel uses time magic.

"Magi" for "Magic".

"Bla" is short for Blaze. It was rumoured to be short for Brave, and the romanized version of it, "burai", means "villainy". However this is disproven since Brajiel uses fire magic.

"Snow" for snow.

Infershia

The name 'Infershia' is a pun on the word 'inferno', obviously relating to fire and Hell.

The 5 leading main villains of the show are reminiscent of the 5 major movie monsters of yesteryear: Count Dracula the Vampire (Vancuria), Dr. Frankenstein's monster (Branken), the Mummy (Memmi), the Werewolf (Wolzard, while evil), and the Gillman/Creature from the Black Lagoon (Dagon). Both Dagon and N Ma are homeages to demon gods in H.P. Lovecraft's works: Dagon & Cthulhu. Also the Zobil are reminiscent to zombies.

N Ma's name is a direct reference to Enma (whose correct name is actually Yama), the Japanese guardian/judge of the underworld. His "Aboslute God" form is a combination of the designs of Cthulhu & Satan, giving him a Balrog-like appearance.

Memmi's name is a direct reference to the Egyptian 4th/5th Dynasty wab priest Memi

A Pantheon is a group of gods in a particular religion. While his name lead to a connection to N Ma's Lovecraft basis, Dagon's appearance harkens to Dagon the chief fish god of the biblical Philistines.

Vancuria's name is an amalgamation of the word "Vampire" and the name Dracula. Nai & Mea read/said in Japanese is "Nai to Mea" (the "to" is the Japanese equivalent of "and") or more to the point the single word "Naitomea". This is the Japanese pronunciation of the English term "Nightmare". Nai & Mea appeared in most of the episodes except Stage 48.

The black-caped Magiranger dopplegangers mentioned in the Memmi article are called the Yamirangers.

"Yami" means "darkness" in Japanese.

Trivia

Is the second Sentai series with a marriage involving members of the team, the first is Choujin Sentai Jetman. MagiBlue is the sixth Ranger to have water-based theme. The others were Blue Dolphin (Aqua Dolphin), NinjaBlue (Logan), GingaBlue (Gingarilla), GaoBlue (Gao Shark) and HurricaneBlue (Hurricane/Karakuri Dolphin Mecha), who water-based attacks are similar to MagiBlue's.

Is the first Sentai series with a married couple, and later with two, first Miyuki & Isamu, and later Urara & Hikaru.

Wolzard being the Rangers' father is similar to Gosei Sentai Dairanger, where one of the villains was really Ryuu Ranger's father, somewhat similar to Darth Vader in Star Wars.

First color-changing upgrade (Wolzard Fire).

The first Super Sentai series with a female White Ranger that is not part of the main team.

Is an eighth Sentai series with a romantic involvement with the members of a team. The first series is JAKQ Dengeki Tai, the other series are Hikari Sentai Maskman, Choujin Sentai Jetman, Gekisou Sentai CarRanger,

Makito/Magi Green YUKI ITO, Houka/Magi Pink AYUMI BEPPU, Urara/MagiBlue ASAMI KAI, Tsubasa/MagiYello KIROYA MATSUMOTO, Kai/MagiRed ATUSHI HASIMOTO, Miyuki/MagiMother
AZUSA WATANABE, Yamazaki KAORU KIRATA, Rina/Lunagel MEIBI YAMANOUCHI, Hikaru/MagiShine YOSUKE ICHIKAWA, Nai CHIKAI HORAN, Mea TOMOMI KITAGAMI.

- 1 - 1 THE MORNING OF THE JOURNEY'S BEGINNING
- 1 - 2 BRING OUT COURAGE
- 1 - 3 RIDE THE MAGICAL DRAGON
- 1 - 4 KING OF THE MAJINS
- 1 - 5 THE WAY OF LOVE
- 1 - 6 RULER OF DARKNESS
- 1 - 7 INTO THE DREAM
- 1 - 8 YOU'RE SURELY HEROINES
- 1 - 9 FIERY UNION OF FRIENDSHIP
- 1 - 10 IF THE FLOWERS BLOOM
- 1 - 11 NIGHT OF THE VAMPIRES
- 1 - 12 MARK OF DETERMINATION
- 1 - 13 IF IT IS MOTHER
- 1 - 14 BURNING FURANCE PUNCH
- 1 - 15 THE BRIDE'S ELDER BROTHER
- 1 - 16 KEY OF THE GATE
- 1 - 17 I DON'T NEED YOUR KINDNESS!
- 1 - 18 POWERS UNITED
- 1 - 19 THE MAGIC LAMP
- 1 - 20 KISS ME, FROG
- 1 - 21 LET'S GO ON THE MAGIC EXPRESS
- 1 - 22 A DATE IN KYOTO?
- 1 - 23 FORBIDDEN MAGIC
- 1 - 24 THE MENTOR'S RISK
- 1 - 25 STOLEN COURAGE
- 1 - 26 BELIEVE!
- 1 - 27 MY BOUNDS
- 1 - 28 THROUGH ALL ETERNITY
- 1 - 29 REPEATING "WHAT'S THAT?"
- 1 - 30 POWER OF LEGEND
- 1 - 31 THE EXTRAORDINARY MAJIN
- 1 - 32 FATHER'S PROMISE
- 1 - 33 TOWARDS THE INFERSHIA
- 1 - 34 BONDS OF COURAGE

- 1 - 35 VALLEY OF THE GODS
- 1 - 36 DIVINE RETRIBUTION
- 1 - 37 SNIPING
- 1 - 38 BIG BROTHER'S PROMISE
- 1 - 39 CONTARY BROTHER AND SISTER
- 1 - 40 THE GORGON'S GARDEN
- 1 - 41 THE TEACHER OF TEACHERS
- 1 - 42 CONFRONTATION! TWO ULTIMATE GODS
- 1 - 43 GARDEN OF THORNS
- 1 - 44 SCENT OF MOTHER
- 1 - 45 TWO FRIENDS
- 1 - 46 HEAD OF THE LAKE
- 1 - 47 THE MAGIC IS IN YOU
- 1 - 48 DECISIVE BATTLE?
- 1 - 49 RETURN OF THE LEGEND

MAJIN HUNTER MITSURUGIAKA: DEMON HUNTER MITSURUGI

Three Mitsurugi ninja, Jin (blue scarf & stripes on helmet), Suisei (yellow scarf & stripes on helmet), Genri (female, red scarf & stripes on helmet), battle the alien warriors of the Scorpion Army (Sasori Gundan).

These three ninja are ahead of their time. They wear motorcycle helmets...

...and in addition to being armed with swords and throwing daggers they carry hand grenades.

An elderly ninja who is the keeper of the Mitsurugi Ninja's secrets gives the three siblings three magical short swords.

"Chi! - Gi! - Ai!"

When a giant monster appears the three ninja use their magic short swords to transform into the giant, armed warrior Demon Hunter Mitsurugi.

Demon Hunter Mitsurugi carries a sword and a shield, and fires exploding shells from his chest.

Unlike most other tokusatsu series which used men in costumes the giant hero and giant monsters in Majin Hanta Mitsurugi are models animated using stop action photography. The legendary Iga ninja Hattori, Hanzo is a regular character in this series. He's not the hero of this series however, so he's usually needs help.

Features stop motion animation effects.

Dash Into The Storm is the opening theme for Majin Hanta Mitsurugi.

The series was re-released in Japan on the 18/11/2000 as a DVD box set.

WR.DIR.*EPISODES: 12 YEAR MADE: 1973 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1*KOKUSAI BROADCASTCREATOR:*TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHEROFORMAT: SERIESLENGTH (MINS): 0 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: JapaneseSEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 12DATE OF PREMIER: 08/01/1973AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 26/03/1973SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:*FILMS:

- 1 - 1 CRUSH THE SCORPION ARMY CORP'S SPACE NINJAS!
- 1 - 2 THE SEVERED HEAD LAUGHS FROM THE PRISON GATES
- 1 - 3 BREAK THE DEVIL'S CURSE!
- 1 - 4 GOLD APPARITION! CAIN WHALE'S MAGIC

- 1 - 5 EARTHQUAKE MONSTER APPEARS!
- 1 - 6 ATTACK OF MONSTER GANDARAR!
- 1 - 7 MOBILE GIANT FORTRESS ROADOS!!
- 1 - 8 A BLACK DEMON BLEEDS RED!!
- 1 - 9 DESPERATE AIR FIGHT!
- 1 - 10 SATAN'S MESSENGER: SCORPION MONSTER
- 1 - 11 FROM HELL: KOMANGER!
- 1 - 12 SCORPION ARMY CORPS! ANNIHILATION OPERATION

- 1 - 23 RECOVERY
- 1 - 24 BURIED ALIVE
- 1 - 25 RECONDO
- 1 - 26 FLYING LAB
- 1 - 27 HURRICANE MESA
- 1 - 28 ASTRO FEMALE
- 1 - 29 THE EXTRA SENSE
- 1 - 30 MAN IN A CAPSULE
- 1 - 31 THE DROPPER
- 1 - 32 HIGH DIVE
- 1 - 33 DAREDEVILS
- 1 - 34 EARLY WARNING
- 1 - 35 BREAKOFF
- 1 - 36 HIGHWAY TO DANGER

MAN CALLED SLOANE, A

A Man Called Sloan featured Robert Conrad of THE WILD WILD WEST fame returning in the role of television secret agent - this time in a contemporary setting. A Man Called Sloan was somewhat similar to another 1960s espionage series, THE MAN FROM U.N.C.L.E. In A Man Called Sloan, the American ran UNIT replaced the internationally based U.N.C.L.E.. Where as the organisation of evil which was constantly being battled changed from THRUSH to KARTEL.

UNIT was a top secret counter intelligent organisation headquartered behind a fake story front. Sloan was unit's top operative and was a spy very much in the James Bond mold. His partner in the field was Torque, an imposing black man whose right hand had been cut off and replaced by a metal one. This metal hand could be easily removed and replaced with a variety of useful gadgets. Their boss in UNIT HQ was the director. Kelly was a top UNIT scientist whose main job was developing the devices that Sloan and Torque needed for their field missions. EFI 3000 was UNIT's computer.

Death Race 2000, the series pilot was a two hour long movie featuring Robert Logan as Sloane, it was not broadcast however until 1981, a year after A Man Called Sloan was cancelled. Besides the change in the lead actor. Death Race 2000 also featured Torque as a bad guy who is killed in the film. His resurrection and change of allegiance were not referred to in the series.

Rosalind Chao who had starred in STAR TREK : DEEP SPACE NINE and STAR TREK : THE NEXT GENERATION guest starred in episode 1.3 - "Tuned for Destruction".

UNIT agent Thomas Sloane (Robert Conrad) battled the evil international organization KARTEL. An android who spit fire and a satellite that fired laser beams were two examples of KARTEL handiwork. With Ji-Tu Cumbuka, Dan O'Herlihy and Karen Purcell.

WR. Peter Allan Fields, Stephen Kandel, Dick Nelson, B.W. Sandefur, Jimmy Sangster, Pat Dunlop, Rich Meyer, Jack V. Fagarty, Don Ingalls, Patrick Matthews.

DIR. Alan J. Levi, Michael Preece, Elizabeth Lindberg Gallagher, Winroch Kolbe, Jack Starrett, Lewis Teague, Robert Conrad.

EPISODES: 12 YEAR MADE: 1979 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: WESTERN

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 12

DATE OF PREMIER: 22/09/1979

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 22/12/1979

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS: DEATH RACE 2000 (1981)

Thomas Remington Sloan III ROBERT CONRAD, Torque JI-TU CUMBUKA, Kelly KAREN PURCELL,
The Director DON O'HERLIHY, The Voice of EFI 3000 Michele Carey.

1 - 1 DEATH RACE 2000

1 - 2 NIGHT OF THE WIZARD

1 - 3 TUNED FOR DESTRUCTION

1 - 3 THE SEDUCATION SQUAD

- 1 - 5 MASQUERADE OF TERROR
- 1 - 6 DEMONS TRIANGLE
- 1 - 7 THE VENUS MICROBE
- 1 - 8 COLLISION COURSE
- 1 - 9 SAMURAI
- 1 - 10 SWEATHEARTS OF DISASTER
- 1 - 11 LADY BUG
- 1 - 12 ARCHITECT OF EVIL
- 1 - 13 THE SHANGRI - LA SYNDROME

MAN DOG

A band of renegades from the 26th century - known simply as The Group - escape to the present where they meet schoolkids Kate, her brother Duncan and friend Sammy. Forcing the children to keep quiet about their presence, they transfer the mind of their leader, Levin, into Sammy's dog Radnor.

But The Group are being pursued by Gala, a secret police from the future, led by Halmar, and the children find themselves helping the runaways to obtain a vital piece of equipment they need before they can return to the future.

Little-known BBC drama series from 1972, about a trio of present-day children who were involved in a conflict between opposing groups from the future. This six part series was produced by Anna Home, later head of BBC's Children's Television, who also shared director chores with Paul Stone.

WR. Peter Dickinson

DIR. Anne Home (Eps 1-3), Paul Stone (Eps 4-6).

EPISODES: 6 YEAR MADE: 1972 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 1

A BBC PRODUCTION

CREATOR: PETER DICKINSON

TYPE OF SHOW: TIME TRAVEL

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 25 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 6

DATE OF PREMIER: 03/01/1972

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 07/02/1972

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Kate CAROL HAZELL, Sammy JANE ANTHONY, Duncan ADRIAN SHERGOLD, Levin CHRISTOPHER OWEN, Halmer JONATHAN HARDY, Mrs. Morris MOLLIE SUDGEN, Mr. Morris JOHN RAPLEY, Henry ROY BOYD, Gala One DEREK MARTIN, Gala Two RAY TAYLOR, VALERIE GEORGESON, SEBASTIAN GRAHAM-JONES, DAVID MILLETT, DAVID PELTON, ROGER MARSTON, ARNOLD PETERS, TONY CERASOLI, ELIZABETH ADARE, MURIEL HUNTE, CHRISTOPHER JOBLING, IAN SHARP, EDNA GOODYEAR, DARYL GROVE.

- 1 - 1 THE MAN WHO COULD WALK THROUGH DOORS
- 1 - 2 MISTER MAKES HIS MARK
- 1 - 3 THERE IS NO DUNCAN
- 1 - 4 THE CONSIGNMENT
- 1 - 5 ON THE RUN
- 1 - 6 YOU HAVE 30 SECONDS..

MAN FROM ATLANTIS

The last survivor of the lost city of Atlantis, he first appeared in a set of four TV movies. Washed up on a California beach after a storm, this half-dead amphibian is rushed to a naval hospital where a beautiful woman doctor, Elizabeth Merrill, saves his life by popping him back in the water after X-rays have shown he has gills where his lungs should be. Dr Merrill christens the submariner Mark Harris and recruits him to the Foundation for Oceanic Research. While helping Dr Merrill and her colleagues in the supersub Cetacean, he hopes to find out if he is indeed the sole survivor of his race. The quartet of TV movie-episodes combined some exploration of the character with stories about a missing submarine, alien invasion, space spores and a crazy scientist, but once the 'series proper' began, the quest for the Atlantean's origins ebbed away as the plots trod the same deep water as the tail-end of Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea, with silly villains, sea monsters, undersea races and time travel stories.

Victor Buono played the lead villain, Mr Schubert, with the same tongue-in-cheek style he'd used as King Tut in Batman. The other main regulars were Brent, Shubert's incompetent accomplice, and C. W. Crawford, the director of the research foundation.

Soggy series that started well but ended up as just another TV also-swam. Man From Atlantis, played by Dallas star Patrick Duffy in his first major TV series, had piercing green eyes, gills, webbed hands and feet and could outswim a dolphin.

British TV critics poured cold water on the whole venture, either dismissing it as 'puerile rubbish' or taking the mickey out of Patrick Duffy's swimming trunks. Faster than a plate of sushi, more powerful than Flipper, more mindless than "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea", look, down there under the ocean, swimming in a legs-together undulating dolphin parody, it's Patrick Duffy as ... The Man From Atlantis! With webs between his fingers and bright green eyes, he fights a never-ending battle for the United States Navy and the Foundation for Oceanic Research.

A green-eyed stranger with gills and webbed hands is found nearly dead on a beach. He is revived by an attractive female scientist who, realising that he is not human, places him in a tank of water. Believed to come from ATLANTIS, he is persuaded to work for the Foundation for Oceanic Research, and is soon off on his first mission, to tackle an overweight villain in his underwater headquarters. Though the settings and special effects were sometimes eye-catching, the general intellectual level of this and subsequent episodes, which featured aliens, monsters, time-warps, etc., was no higher than that of VOYAGE TO THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA. The series was cancelled after 1 season.

Novelised versions of the first 2 episodes were Man from Atlantis: Sea Kill * (1977) and Man from Atlantis: Death Scouts * (1977), both by Richard Woodley. Man From Atlantis surfaced on ITV in September 1977 - and sank in January 1978. (In the London area it was ditched two weeks 'early' and replaced by Logan's Run). Each episode was accompanied by a warning to young viewers not to try to copy Mark Harris's underwater feats. British TV critics poured cold water on the whole venture, either dismissing it as 'puerile rubbish' or taking the mickey out of Patrick Duffy's swimming trunks.

The Man From Atlantis starred Patrick Duffy, who would later rise to fame on Dallas, as Mark Harris a man who may have been the last survivor from the lost continent of Atlantis. Mark had webbed hands, bright green eyes and had superhuman speed and strength underwater. Although he could survive out of the water he became weaker the longer he stayed out and could eventually die if he stayed out long enough. The Man From Atlantis started out in the spring of 1977 as a series of four made for TV movies. The first of these had Mark discovered washed up on a beach and dying. Dr. Elizabeth Merrill, soon discovered that Mark was a water breather and saved his life. Upon recovering however Mark had no recollection of his past or where he was from. He befriended Dr. Merrill and eventually became a valued member of the Foundation for Oceanic Research- a quasi government organisation dedicated to exploring the seas. Much of the Foundation's exploration was accomplished on the Cetation, a supersub capable of going places regular submarines could not.

The four TV movies were well written, often dealing with Mark's quest to find his true origin. The pilot did feature the first appearance of Mr. Shubert, a mad scientist type whom would become Mark's regular nemesis when The Man From Atlantis returned as a weekly one hour series in the fall of 1977. The hour episodes tended to become more and more silly as the series progressed. Besides Mr. Shubert and his increasingly ridiculous plots, Mark had to deal with a leak in the ocean, was transported to alternate dimensions, battled sea monsters and had an adventure in the old west.

The TV movies also featured Dr. Miller Simon as a colleague of Dr. Merrill's. The hour episodes featured C.W. Crawford as the bureaucratic head of the Foundation of Oceanic Research, which Mark and Dr. Merrill were employed by. Although the series was something less than a success in America, The Man From Atlantis became quite popular in communist China when it became the first American series to be broadcast there.

The series executive producer was Herbert F. Solow, producer was Herman Miller, music was by Fred Karlin and the special effects were created by Tom Fisher. The series first reached the UK on the 24th September 1977 and finished its run on the 14th January 1978, which was on the ITV network. Only one director was asked to come back to direct another episode, Virgel Vogel, every other director of the show only directed on the series once.

"If we had been able to include a laugh track on The Man from Atlantis, we could have let the audience know that, 'Hey, this is a comedy!'" says producer Herman Miller. He's serious. Miller contends that the audience couldn't relate to the comedic thrust of the series. "They needed permission to laugh," he says. "People didn't know what to make of it, and it confused them."

The initial four Man from Atlantis movies were played straight and pure. The 1977 pilot film took a serious look at what could happen to an underwater "Mr. Spock" if he were thrown into mankind's midst. When the weekly series debuted, the format had undergone a transformation. Tongue-in-cheek adventures prevailed as amphibian Mark Harris faced giant jellyfish, mermaids, gunslingers and sea elves. The capper was Oscar, the friendly two-headed seahorse in the episode "Scavenger Hunt." Misunderstood and lonely, the amiable animal plays with explosive fuel canisters on the ocean floor.

"It was actually a very funny series," notes Miller. He admits, however, that there was nothing funny about the mail from angry science fiction fans who felt the comical edge was a sinister development. "We got indignant letters from viewers who wrote, 'What have you done to this show?'" says Miller. "Or, 'This is supposed to be science fiction. How dare you do this kind of stuff.' The people we heard from seemed to prefer the pilot film."

"There was a science fiction magazine at the time that wrote us a brutal, nasty letter," recalls Man from Atlantis story editor Larry Alexander. "It said, 'We were considering giving your show coverage. After seeing your show, we're not going to give you any coverage. You have treated science fiction with disrespect.' I was stunned. I thought we had a nice, light show. If people want to blame the tongue-in-cheek for the show's failure, they can place the blame on my door completely."

The first TV movie dealt more with the question of Mark Harris's background. Was he from Atlantis? How would he fit with the human culture? Mark, a polite, gentle creature, couldn't recall his past. With Dr. Elizabeth Merrill's help he tried to piece together his history. The story line never resolved the question of Mark Harris's origin, and in the series, the question was moot.

"Herbert Solow saw it as an underwater Star Trek," notes Alexander. "Since the seas are a mysterious place, you could find all kinds of planets and interesting characters underwater. It was a reasonable, viable premise. It's a bit of a stretch to presume that there are civilizations beneath the sea, but if you accept that premise, it worked. The submarine was like the starship Enterprise from Star Trek."

The Man from Atlantis pilot film was a huge success. The ratings were a smash, and the response from viewers was strong. NBC followed this with three TV movie sequels. "My field is mainly doing pilots", says Herman Miller. "Herbert Solow asked me to do a quick rewrite of two of the TV movies following the pilot, and they turned out well. The pilot in particular was a very good science fiction vehicle." When the network expanded Mark Harris's adventures into a weekly series, Herman Miller accepted Solow's invitation to produce the show. "I immediately hired Larry Alexander as story editor. He's a good guy, and he was the best story editor I had had in years."

As the series took shape, Miller recalls, "We had a lot of conferences with the people at the network. They wanted to know what we planned to do with the series. We kicked around some ideas. Although the pilots had been terribly serious, we reached the notion of, 'Let's have some fun with this series.' That idea worked as far as we were concerned. NBC agreed to doing the show this way." "The network executives were not science fiction fans," claims Alexander. "One of their main concerns was that women don't like science fiction. How could we attract that large portion of the audience?" Maintaining a serious approach to the series didn't interest Alexander. "The TV films were well produced, but they were too depressing. Too dull. There was nothing interesting about them."

Two weeks before the series premiered, Alexander saw red when he read TV Guide's fall preview issue. "Their write-up of The Man from Atlantis basically excoriated the series," he says. "[The editors] hadn't seen a frame of film or read a script. They made it up. I read this and said, 'Oh, really? How can they say that?'" Although Alexander took the brickbats from some science fiction fans for the show's content, he reveals that he was no stranger to the genre. "As a kid I was a big buff. I read Isaac Asimov and Arthur C. Clarke. I was even a member of the Science Fiction Book Club." Although he had high hopes for The Man from Atlantis, he heard the death knell long before the ratings came in. "The New York Times reviewed an episode I had written that featured the villainous Dr. Schubert. They said, 'What a wonderful, witty show.' I took the review to Herb Solow, and he said, 'This is a rave review. We're home free!' I said, 'No, Herb. It's all over. We're a bomb.' He looked at me, stunned, and said, 'What are you talking about?' I said, 'We're a hit in New York from 59th Street to 80th Street, from Central Park West to the East River. In other words, we're the New Yorker of science fiction shows.' I knew that in terms of ratings and audiences, we were doomed. It was too witty. We had a perfectly workable format, but the audience wouldn't pick up on the tongue-in-cheek humor."

Alexander is quick to admit that a previous TV adventure, Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea, played an important part in shaping the series. "That was one of my problems with The Man from Atlantis," he says. "When they hired me, I said to Herb Solow, 'You realize, of course, that what we're doing is Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea with an alien.' Herb replied, 'Well, yes... but no.' Which meant that's exactly what we were doing. Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea was a very strange show. I thought it was written for infants. On Man from Atlantis, we tried to be witty. That didn't turn out to be the key to success, but we knew that we had to play the stories straight. If you wink at an audience and let them in on the joke, you're through."

Alexander's favorite character on the show was the portly Dr. Schubert, played by Victor Buono. His weekly plans to dominate the world always went belly-up, but he was back the next week. "Victor Buono was wonderful. Before we were canceled, I wanted to do an episode where Schubert loses all of his money and ends up on skid row. He plots his revenge on the man from Atlantis from a flophouse. I always threw in Schubert jokes. There's one episode where he's plotting a nefarious scheme while playing Schubert's unfinished symphony on an organ. He's interrupted by his assistant, and Schubert looks up to heaven and says, 'One day I'm going to finish this!' That's an example of the things I did that people missed. This may sound terrible to science fiction buffs, but I wrote The Man from Atlantis as if it were The Harvard Lampoon. The show assumed that people had a college education." To Alexander's regret, Dr. Schubert was phased out of the series during the middle of its run. "The original idea was that he was going to be in every episode. That got tiring. It got to be like, 'Is he the only villain in the world?' So it was a conscious decision. It's unfortunate. The character was the best thing about the show."

Alexander had mixed feelings about Patrick Duffy's interpretation of the role, feeling that the man from Atlantis came across as too dry. "He was a nice guy, though, and very much into transcendental meditation. He would sit on a rug each day and hum. "[One day] Herb Solow and I were watching the dailies and Herb suddenly yelled at the projectionist, 'Stop the film! Turn on the lights!' Herb ran over to the phone and said, 'Will somebody tell Patrick Duffy to shave his armpits! He's supposed to be an undersea creature. Undersea creatures don't have hairy arms!'"

Belinda J. Montgomery, who added the feminine touch as Dr. Merrill, vanished from the series toward the end of its run. "Belinda was a terrific person and a good actress," says Alexander. "She didn't quit. She was dropped from the last two episodes. She was very upset about it. It was a decision by the brass. I don't know what that was all about. I do remember somebody saying that [her Elizabeth Merrill character] was slowing the show down and making it too soft. Keep in mind, this was when the show was in deep trouble. We all knew that it wasn't going to last and [the studio and network] were doing everything they could to keep it going."

One thing they might have tried (but didn't) was changing the time slot. "Man from Atlantis was up against Happy Days and Laverne and Shirley," says Herbert Solow. "Those two series were so tough that we actually got better ratings up against the 1977 World Series." For as long as the show lasted, though, writer Stephen Kandel had a blast. "I loved that series," he says. "It was a hoot. Whatever I pitched, they bought. "C.4V Hyde" was Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. We played it sideways, skewed. "The Naked Montague" was Romeo and Juliet. I not only carefully misquoted and requoted Shakespeare, I used the man from Atlantis to save the two lovers. He created a long and happy life for them. If the series had continued, I was planning to write "19,000 Leagues Below the Surface," "S. Panza and Friend," "Whore and Piece," "Napoleon and Charlotte Russe" and anything else I could get away with. In other words, Man from Atlantis was a fantasy adventure with a sense of humor. A rare and happy combination."

The series sank from NBC's schedule in 1978. It bobbed to the surface many years later in the form of a big residual check in Larry Alexander's mailbox. "It was a huge hit in Communist China," he says. "That was around 1984. I found this $25,000 check staring at me in the face." Financial perks aside, Alexander says, "I enjoyed doing The Man from Atlantis tremendously. I would have watched it even if I hadn't written for it. Let's face it. How many witty science fiction programs does one come across?"

CAST NOTES

Patrick Duffy (Mark): Born 1949. Duffy starred (as Bobby Ewing) on Dallas (1978-91) and in the 1990s comedy series Step by Step.

Belinda J. Montgomery (Elizabeth): Born 1950 in Winnipeg. Montgomery played the title character's mother on the 1990s TV series Doogie Howser.

Alan Fudge (C.W.): Born 1944. "Alan used to play a lot of villains on Quinn Martin's detective shows during the 1970s," says writer Larry Alexander. "He's a fine actor." Fudge continues to work in guest roles on TV series such as the new Columbo.

WR. Mayo Simon, Robert Lewin, Larry Alexander, Michael Wagner, Jerry Sohl & Luthor Murdoch, Peter Allan Fields and Stephen Kandel.

DIR. Dennis Donnelly, Ed Abrams, David Moessinger, Dann Chan, Virgel Vogel, Lee H. Katzin, Harry Harris (LOST IN SPACE), Robert Douglas and Richard Benedict.

EPISODES: 17 YEAR MADE: 1977 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

A SOLOW PRODUCTION FOR NBC

CREATOR: HERB SOLOW

TYPE OF SHOW: UNDERWATER

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 17

DATE OF PREMIER: 04/03/1977

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 06/06/1978

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Mark Harris PATRICK DUFFY, Dr. Elizabeth Merrill BELINDA J. MONTGOMERY, C.W. Crawford ALAN FUDGE, Mr. Schubert VICTOR BUONO, Brent ROBERT LUSSIER, Dr. Miller Simon KENNETH TIGER, Jomo RICHARD WILLIAMS, Chuey J. VICTOR LOPEZ, Jane JEAN MARIE HON, Alan ANSON DOWNES.

Books Based on this series.

Ark of Doom	Richard Woodley	1978
Killer Spores	Richard Woodley	1977
Man from Atlantis - Death Scouts #2	Richard Woodley	1977
Man from Atlantis - Sea Kill #1	Richard Woodley	1977

RELATED SHOWS:

VOYAGE TO THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA

1 - 1 MAN FROM ATLANTIS (100 MINUTES)

After a violent storm at sea, the inert body of a man is found on the beach near the Naval Undersea Center. But this is no ordinary man. Equipped with webbed hands and gills instead of lungs, he can breathe underwater, swim faster than a dolphin and dive to incredible depths. He is nursed back to health by Doctor Elizabeth Merrill and given the name Mark Harris. In return Mark agrees to work for the Foundation of Ocean Research and his first assignment is to seek out a missing submarine carrying top military officials. Swimming to incredible depths, Mark discovers an enormous undersea habitat constructed by Mr. Schubert, a maniacal scientist who plans to destroy all the nations of the world with their own nuclear weapons through an ingenious method of mind control.

Wr Mayo Simon

Dir Lee H. Katzin

1 - 2 THE DEATH SCOUTS (100 MINUTES)

Mark investigates the disappearance of three scuba divers and becomes involved with a pair of aliens who are the advance force of an alien invasion.

Wr Robert Lewin

Dir Marc Daniels

1 - 3 KILLER SPORES (100 MINUTES)

When a space capsule crashes in the ocean near the Cetacean, Mark and Elizabeth agree to investigate. When they arrive Mark is rendered unconscious by a screeching sound. They discover hundreds of strange, blue, intelligent spores that take over Mark's body attempting to find a way back into space. However they don't know Mark will die if he does not return to water within a few hours.

Wr John D.F. Black

Dir Reza Badiyi

1 - 4 THE DISAPPEARANCES (75 MINUTES)

A demented scientist, Dr. Mary Smith, abducts and drugs top scientists from around the world -- including Elizabeth Merrill -- to work on a secret project.

Wr Jerry Sohl, Luther Murdoch

Dir Charles S. Dubin

1 - 5 MELTDOWN

Schubert threatens to cause world wide flooding by using powerful microwaves to melt the earth's polar ice caps unless the government turns Mark Harris over to him.

Wr Tom Greene

Dir Virgil Vogel

1 - 6 MUDWORM

When a multi-million dollar underwater probe malfunctions and begins attacking any ship that travels near it, Mark must reason with its highly advanced brain and convince it to stop.

Wr Alan Caillou

Dir Virgil Vogel

1 - 7 THE HAWK OF MU

Mark, investigating a power outage, discovers a centuries old hawk statue from the legendary civilization of Mu. The statue, when used properly, can remove the power from a large area. Schubert discovers the power of the hawk statue and Mark must prevent him from taking it.

Wr David H. Balkan, Luther Murdoch

Dir Harry Harris

1 - 8 GIANT

The oceans are leaking through a fissure in the ocean floor. A conman named Muldoon agrees to guide Mark through the fissure to investigate. However, Mark is unaware that giants inhabit the other side of the fissure and Muldoon has already stolen gold from one of them.

Wr Michael Wagner

Dir Richard Benedict

1 - 9 MAN O'WAR

Using his genetic scientists, Schubert produces a giant jellyfish which he intends to release unless his extortion demands are met.

Wr Larry Alexander

Dir Michael O'Herlihy

1 - 10 SHOOT-OUT AT LAND'S END

Mark is somehow linked with a man named Billy, existing in a wild west town, who appears to be his twin. Investigating, Mark arrives in the town and discovers Billy had the same webbing as Mark but has had it removed.

Wr Luther Murdoch

Dir Barry Crane

1 - 11 CRYSTAL WATER, SUDDEN DEATH

Schubert attempts to make a satellite weapon to knock out the Earth's communications. However, to power the weapon he needs the energy crystals protected by a forcefield under the ocean. The crystals actually power the forcefield that protects an underwater city.

Wr Larry Alexander

Dir David Moessinger

1 - 12 THE NAKED MONTAGUE

An underwater landslide transports Mark to Verona, Italy ... in the days of Romeo and Juliet.

Wr Stephen Kandel

Dir Robert Douglas

1 - 13 C.W.HYDE

C.W. develops a Jekyll and Hyde personality after swallowing a mysterious liquid.

Wr Stephen Kandel

Dir Dann Cahn

1 - 14 SCAVENGER HUNT

Mark encounters Muldoon, who is using a sea monster to make island natives sacrifice young girls to him.

Wr Peter Allan Fields

Dir David Moessinger

1 - 15 IMP

An impish little man enters an underwater station and causes the crew to become irrational simply by touching them. After three crewmen die the F.F.O.R. hears Duke, the last crewman talking, over the radio in a childish manner and investigates. Mark swims over and brings Duke over to the Cetacean, not knowing the imp has stowed aboard.

Wr Shimon Wincelberg

Dir Paul Krasny

1 - 16 THE SIREN

While investigating the mysterious loss of three ships in one part of the ocean, Mark and the crew of the Cetacean encounter a submarine operated by a modern day pirate. The pirate has captured a mermaid that can produce a hypnotic siren song, which mesmerizes anyone who hears it, even Mark.

Wr Michael Wagner

Dir Edward M. Abroms

1 - 17 DEADLY CARNIVAL

Mark goes undercover to investigate members of a carnival planning to break into a museum. The only way to break into the museum is through an underwater tunnel of which only Mark can swim. When he is approached, he refuses. The owner of the carnival is then kidnapped and threatened unless Mark helps.

Wr Larry Alexander

Dir Dennis Donnelly

MAN FROM TOMORROW, THE

WR.DIR.*EPISODES: 0 YEAR MADE: 1958 COUNTRY: CAN SEASONS: 0*CANADIAN BROADCASTING CORPORATIONCREATOR: KITTY MARCUSE (writer)TYPE OF SHOW: TIME TRAVELFORMAT: SERIESLENGTH (MINS): 15 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: EnglishSEASON BREAKDOWN: (1)DATE OF PREMIER: 07/07/1958AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE*SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:*FILMS:

STEFAN GAIR, MICHAEL MORROW

MAN FROM U.N.C.L.E., THE

The Man from U.N.C.L.E. was about a pair of secret agents Napoleon Solo and Illya Kuryakin, who worked for the United Network Command for Law and Enforcement (U.N.C.L.E. for short) an international organisation devoted to overcoming threats to world peace. Solo was an American who was a suave agent in the James Bond mold who always got the girl in the end. He was a Korean War veteran and held a degree in philosophy. His partner Illya Kuryakin was a Russian, something of an oddity at the height of the cold war.

But then U.N.C.L.E. was an international organisation. Originally Illya Kuryakin was to be a minor character. but his character soon became a pop culture icon and his role was elevated to one which was the equal to Solo's. The threats to the world the pair were called upon to deal with often came from THRUSH. which was another world-wide organisation devoted to taking over the world. The pair of agents would get their assignments from Mr. Alexander Waverly whose office was in U.N.C.L.E. headquarters which was located in a secret complex which one entered through a dry cleaning shop.

A sequel was also made called THE GIRL FROM UNCLE. David McCallum is famous for starring in many SF shows including SAPPHIRE AND STEEL, VR.5, THE OUTER LIMITS, FRANKENSTEIN: THE TRUE STORY and THE INVISIBLE MAN (1975).

8 feature films had theatrical release outside the USA. Each consisted of 2 episodes edited together, sometimes with added footage, to make 90min films: The Spy with My Face (1965), To Trap a Spy (1966), One of Our Spies is Missing (1966), One Spy Too Many (1966), The Spy in the Green Hat (1966), The Helicopter Spies (1967), The Karate Killers (1967) and How to Steal the World (1968). A subsequent telemovie was Return of the Man from U.N.C.L.E. (1983).

The Man from U.N.C.L.E. series of ties was complex, 23 titles appearing from ACE BOOKS in the USA and 16 from Souvenir Press in the UK. 10 of the 23 Ace books were reprints from books originated by Souvenir, and 6 of the Souvenir books were reprints of books originated by Ace; in the case of #3 in the Ace sequence, the reprint confusingly appeared before its original. None of the books was based directly on the tv scripts; all were original stories. As all the Souvenir editions appeared, either before or after their UK release, in Ace editions, we list only the Ace sequence:

#1: The Thousand Coffins Affair * (1965) by Michael AVALLONE, #2: The Doomsday Affair * (1965) by Harry Whittington, #3: The Copenhagen Affair * (1965) by John Oram, #4: The Dagger Affair * (1966) by David MCDANIEL, #5: The Mad Scientist Affair * (1966) by John T. PHILLIFENT, #6: The Vampire Affair * (1966) by McDaniel, #7: The Radioactive Camel Affair * (1966 UK) by Peter LESLIE, #8: The Monster Wheel Affair * (1967) by McDaniel, #9: The Diving Dames Affair * (1967 UK) by Leslie, #10: The Assassination Affair * (1967) by Joan Hunter HOLLY, #11: The Invisibility Affair * (1967) by Thomas Stratton (Robert COULSON and Gene DEWEESE), #12: The Mind Twisters Affair * (1967) by Stratton, #13: The Rainbow Affair * (1967) by McDaniel, #14: The Cross of Gold Affair * (1968) by Fredric Davies (Ron ELLIK and Steve Tolliver), #15: The Utopia Affair * (1968) by McDaniel, #16: The Splintered Sunglasses Affair * (1968 UK) by Leslie, #17: The Hollow Crown Affair * (1969) by McDaniel, #18: The Unfair Fare Affair * (1968 UK) by Leslie, #19: The Power Cube Affair * (1968 UK) by Phillifent, #20: The Corfu Affair * (1967 UK) by Phillifent, #21: The Thinking Machine Affair * (1967 UK) by Joel Bernard, #22: The Stone-Cold Dead in the Market Affair * (1966 UK) by Oram, and #23: The Finger in the Sky Affair * (1966 UK) by Leslie. McDaniel felt A.A. Wyn, publisher at Ace, was not paying him enough; the initial letters of the chapters in #8 spell out AAWYNISATIGHTWAD.

The Man From U.N.C.L.E. was the most successful of the many espionage series which appeared on TV in the mid- 1960's in response to huge success of the first few James Bond movies. The Man From U.N.C.L.E. in fact had a very small link to the James Bond films. The series was devised by producer Norman Felton who sought the help of James Bond creator Ian Fleming. When the producers of the Bond films series learned of Fleming's involvement in The Man From U.N.C.L.E., they forced him to drop out. Fleming's sole contribution to U.N.C.L.E. was the name of the main character Solo. The Man From U.N.C.L.E. was originally going to be called Solo however the Bond film producers blocked this since a minor character in one of the Bond novels they held the rights to was also named Solo.

Each episode of U.N.C.L.E. would feature an ordinary person who wound up getting involved in the middle of the action. At times their help would be sought out, while more often they just happened to be in the wrong place at the wrong time. The episodes also featured a plethora of gadgets such as the U.N.C.L.E. gun which through a variety of attachments become almost any hand held weapon. The most famous U.N.C.L.E. gadget however was U.N.C.L.E. pen which was an ordinary ink pen which contained a high power two way radio. 'Open Channel D', was the saying used to get the pen to work.

The first season of The Man From U.N.C.L.E., produced in black and white, is generally regarded as the series best the episodes were more serious. The series became immensely popular and the second season now in colour, kept much of the tone of the first season, although more humour was added. U.N.C.L.E.'s popularity was world-wide and the two part episodes were released theatrically overseas.

This allowed them to benefit from a much larger budget than two regular episodes, and the production values reflect the extra money spent on them. The third season of The Man From U.N.C.L.E. saw an injection of camp: Batman had just become popular. Third season episodes often bordered on the totally ridiculous, and the series' ratings dropped. This same camp attitude killed The Man From U.N.C.L.E.'s spin off series, The Girl From U.N.C.L.E. after its first and only season. The fourth season saw the return of the more serious elements that had made the series popular to begin with. It also featured a spiced up U.N.C.L.E. headquarters with old NASA computers. However it was too late the ratings did not pick up sufficiently and a growing movement to do away with violence on TV forced the show to be taken off the air midway through its fourth season. In the early 1980's Solo and Kuryakin would be called out of retirement to save the world one more time in the TV movie Return of the Man from U.N.C.L.E.: the 15 Years Later Affair.

The series producer for season one was Sam Rolfe and David Victor took over from season two, the executive producer was Norman Felton. The first showing of UNCLE in the uk was between the 24th June 1965 and the 22nd March 1968 on BBC1. The BBC stuck devotedly to the UNCLE cause, screening 90 episodes in two bumper runs. The second run also included the 29 episodes of THE GIRL FROM U.N.C.L.E. which alternated with the Man from U.N.C.L.E. until November 1967. The first season was made in Black and White and is ignored when being sold to foreign markets, in the 1990s the only episodes that usually get seen are those that were filmed in colour.

"It all began with the idea of a never-never world in which an international group where everybody is good works together to beat the hell out of whoever is bad. I picked UINCLE simply as a bunch of letters I could make a name out of" - Sam Rolfe, producer.

The Man From U.N.C.L.E. was a 1960s escapist fantasy about the far-fetched exploits of a pair of super-spies, Napoleon Solo and Illya Kuryakin, role models for every young boy with a ballpoint pen to talk to. . . UNCLE stood for United Network Command for Law and Enforcement, and existed to protect the world from all forms of disruption, terror and exploitation. Its never-never world was entered via a hidden door in a New York tailor's shop (Del Floria's), unlocked by a steamy squeeze on the trouser press. It was the cue for a series of all-action, tongue-in-cheek spy adventures involving futuristic hardware glamorous girls, complex plots exotic locations and cliffhanging climaxes. Science fiction? Well . . . there was always THRUSH.

THRUSH were the bad guys, forever plotting to rule the world by foul means rather than fair. Modelled on the SPECTRE organisation of the Bond movies, they were prompted by a diabolical computer into inflicting a variety of space-age perils such as a death ray ("The Maze Affair"), a human vaporiser ("The Arabian Affair"), invisible killer bees ("The Birds and the Bees Affair"), a radiation projector ("The Moonglow Affair"), even a volcano-activating device (The cherry Blossom Affair"). A spin-off series, The Girl From U.N.C.L.E., ran for just one year. Stefanie Powers starred as feisty Anril Dancer, with Noel Harrison (son of Rex) as English agent Mark Slate.

Two secret agents for the United Network Command for Law Enforcement took on the evil agents of T.H.R.U.S.H. The series began as a semi-serious spoof of the James Bond genre (007 author Ian Fleming was involved in the preliminary planning of the series). As the series progressed, it turned campy. By series' end, the villains and plots bordered on pure fantasy.

When audiences began to drop in 1967, producer Anthony Spinner was brought in to bring back the realism. However, the series had passed its prime and was canceled in January 1968.

Robert Vaughn starred as Napoleon Solo. His co-star, David McCallum, became the surprise sex symbol as Russian-born Illya Kuryakin. Leo G. Carroll monitored the agents from his control panel at U.N.C.L.E. Vaughn and McCallum reprised their roles in the 1983 TV film Return of the Man from U.N.C.L.E. Guest stars included Jack Lord, Julie London, Michael Rennie, Joan Collins, Nancy Sinatra, Sonny and Cher, Jack Palance and Telly Savalas. "What made The Man from U.N.C.L.E. so good, initially, was its wonderful style, which it lost," says writer Sheldon Stark. "It didn't have a solid foundation. Those are the kinds of shows that waver after two or three years."

Golden Globes

Best TV Star (Male) - Nominated - "Man from U.N.C.L.E., The" (1964) - Robert Vaughn (1965)

Best TV Star (Male) - Nominated - "Man from U.N.C.L.E., The" (1964) - David McCallum (1966)

Best TV Star (Male) - Nominated - "Man from U.N.C.L.E., The" (1964) - Robert Vaughn (1966)

Best TV Show - Winner: "Man from U.N.C.L.E., The" (1964) (1966)

Best TV Show - Nominated - "Man from U.N.C.L.E., The" (1964) (1967)

WR. Alan Caillou, Peter Allan Field and Dean Hargrove, Henry Sharp, Dick Nelson, Howard Rodman, Mark Siegel, Jerry McNeely, Berne Giler, Jaskson Gillis, Sheldon Shark, Don Richman, Horman Hudis, James N Whiton, Harlan Ellison, Yale Udoff, Glorie Elmore, Robert E. Thompson, Norman Hudis, Boris Sobelman, Leonard Stadd.

DIR. Richard Donner, Joseph Sargent and Alvin Ganzer, Don Medford, Marc Daneils, John Newland, John Peyser, Ron Winston, Sherman Marks, Tom Gries, Jud Taylor, Alf Kjellin, Barry Shear, E. Darrell Hallenbeck, George Waggner, Otto Lang, Bill Finnegan, Sutton Roley.

EPISODES: 105 YEAR MADE: 1964 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 4

AN ARENA PRODUCTION FOR MGM TELEVISION

CREATOR: SAM ROLFE

TYPE OF SHOW: CRIME

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 29, (2) 28, (3) 28, (4) 14.

DATE OF PREMIER: 22/09/1964 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 15/01/1968

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS: RETURN OF THE MAN FROM U.N.C.L.E. (1983), THE SPY WITH MY FACE (1965), TO TRAP A SPY (1966), ONE SPY TOO MANY (1966), ONE OF OUR SPIES IS MISSING (1966), THE KARATE KILLERS (1967), THE HELICOPTER SPIES (1967), HOW TO STEAL THE WORLD (1968), THE SPY IN THE GREEN HAT (1966).

Napoleon Solo ROBERT VAUGHN, Iilya Kuryakin DAVID MCCALLUM, Mr. Waverly LEO G. CARROL, Del Floria MARIO SILETTI.

Books Based on this series.

The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 1 - The Thousand Coffins Affair	Michael Avallon	1965
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 10 - The Assassination Affair	Joan Hunter Holly	1967
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 11 - The Invisibility Affair	Thomas Stratton (Robert Coulson and Gene Dewee)	1967
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 12 - The Mind Twisters Affair	Thomas Stratton (Robert Coulson and Gene Dewee)	1967
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 13 - The Rainbow Affair	David McDaniel	1967
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 14 - The Cross of Gold Affair	Frederick Davis (Ron Ellik and Steve Tolliver)	1968
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 15 - The Utopia Affair	David McDaniel	1968
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 16 - The Splintered Sunglasses Affair	Peter Leslie	1968
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 17 - The Hollow Crown Affair	David McDaniel	1968
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 18 - The Unfair Fare Affair	Peter Leslie	1968
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 19 - The Power Cube Affair	John T. Phillifent	1968
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 2 - The Doomsday Affair	Harry Whittington	1965
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 20 - The Corfu Affair	John T. Phillifent	1967
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 21 - The Thinking Machine Affair	Joel Bernard	1967
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 22 - The Stone-Cold Dead in the Market Affair	John Oram	1966
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 23 - The Finger in the Sky Affair	Peter Leslie	1966
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 3 - The Copenhagen Affair	John Oram	1965
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 4 - The Dagger Affair	David McDaniel	1966

The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 5 - The Mad Scientist Affair	John T. Phillifent	1966
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 6 - The Vampire Affair	David McDaniel	1966
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 7 - The Radioactive Camel Affair	Peter Leslie	1966
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 8 - The Monster Wheel Affair	David McDaniel	1967
The Man From U.N.C.L.E. 9 - The Diving Dames Affair	Peter Leslie	1967

RELATED SHOWS:

SAPPHIRE AND STEEL

GIRL FROM U.N.C.L.E., THE

INVISIBLE MAN, THE (1975)

VR5

1 - 1 THE VULCAN AFFAIR

The Technological Hierarchy for the Removal of Undesirables and the Subjugation of Humanity (THRUSH) launches an attack on the New York headquarters of the United Network Command for Law-Enforcement (UNCLE) in order to kill Alexander Waverly, head of the agency. But the THRUSH agents are caught when they try to enter the headquarters building, and rather than be apprehended, they do themselves in by consuming poison. The assassination attempt was made because Waverly has become aware of the plot by THRUSH murderer Andrew Vulcan to murder a visiting dignitary, Premier Ashumen of Natumba. To stop him, top UNCLE agents Napoleon Solo and Illya Kuryakin are sent to prevent any harm coming to the African leader.

Wr Sam RolfeDir Don Medford1 - 2 THE IOWA SCUBA AFFAIR

Solo is in Iowa when he is attacked by a soldier from a nearby secret airbase. The soldier is killed, and when Solo examines the man's motorcycle, he finds that it contains a scuba suit. He goes to the airbase to investigate, but he and a pretty young girl he befriends are nearly killed several times. Still being pursued by unknown murderers, Solo finds out that political extremists are planning to steal a nuclear-armed aircraft from the base to use it as extortion against a Latin American country.

Wr Harold Jack BloomDir Richard Donner1 - 3 THE QUADRIPARTITE AFFAIR

Years after a top-secret fear-inducing gas is lost in an aircraft accident, a scientist in Yugoslavia is murdered after becoming terror-stricken. Professor Raven's daughter Marion flies to UNCLE headquarters in New York to request help in finding out why her father was murdered. When Solo and Illya are put the case, they find they must assault an underground fortress to destroy the only example of the experimental gas that causes extreme fear!

Wr Alan CaillouDir Richard Donner1 - 4 THE SHARK AFFAIR

Believing the world will end in atomic war, Arthur Farnley Selwyn, a.k.a. Captain Shark, loots ships and kidnaps selected passengers to form his own 'Noah's Ark' to rebuild the world after the war.

Wr Alvin SapinsleyDir Marc Daniels1 - 5 THE DEADLY GAMES AFFAIR

When it is discovered that Hitler isn't really dead, but just in suspended animation, both U.N.C.L.E. and Thrush agents seek out Dr Amadeus who plans to reanimate the Nazi leader.

Wr Dick NelsonDir Alvin Ganzer1 - 6 THE GREEN OPAL AFFAIR

Napoleon Solo goes undercover to investigate why an U.N.C.L.E. agent has apparently gone berserk and uncovers a Thrush mind-control plot.

1 - 7 THE GIUOCO PIANO AFFAIR

The sequel to 'The Quadripartite Affair'. Napoleon Solo and Illya Kuryakin finally catch up with the two escaped conspirators.

1 - 8 THE DOUBLE AFFAIR

Thrush use plastic surgery to replace Napoleon Solo with an evil twin.

1 - 9 THE PROJECT STRIGAS AFFAIR

Napoleon Solo must find a way to bring down a diplomat who is trying to spark US/USSR tensions.

1 - 10 THE FINNY FOOT AFFAIR

After all the inhabitants of a Scottish village mysteriously die from old age, Napoleon Solo and Illya Kuryakin must locate the responsible chemical which speeds up the aging process.

1 - 11 THE NEPTUNE AFFAIR

A rocket launch which releases a damaging spore into the Soviet grain belt is traced back to the US. Illya Kuryakin is made to return home to Russia, who threaten to retaliate, so Napoleon Solo is forced to search alone for the group of scientists who are trying to start World War III.

1 - 12 THE DOVE AFFAIR

Thrush have assassinated the leader of an East European country and Napoleon Solo must stop them from taking power.

1 - 13 THE KING OF KNIVES AFFAIR

Napoleon Solo and Illya Kuryakin must work to stop a deposed ruler from retaking power of an European country.

1 - 14 THE TERBUF AFFAIR

Napoleon Solo is approached by an old flame to help an oppressed East European country. He and Illya Kuryakin discover that her husband is collaborating with the country's secret police.

1 - 15 THE DEADLY DECOY AFFAIR

Napoleon Solo and Mr. Waverly have both been given the task of escorting the same Thrush agent. One of the agents, of course, is a decoy.

1 - 16 THE FIDDLESTICKS AFFAIR

Napoleon Solo and Illya Kuryakin employ the skills of a thief when they plan to blow up a Thrush banking center hidden in a Caribbean casino.

1 - 17 THE YELLOW SCARF AFFAIR

An Indian cult who prey on innocent travellers, murdering them for their money, inadvertently get themselves in trouble with U.N.C.L.E. and Thrush when they kill a U.N.C.L.E. agent and take the stolen Thrush secret he was carrying.

1 - 18 THE MAD, MAD TEA-PARTY AFFAIR

It's all go! A mysterious stranger wandering in and out of U.N.C.L.E. Headquarters, preparations for a world leaders conference, two Thrush agents infiltrating U.N.C.L.E. and planning to kill said world leaders, and ... there are fish in the drinking water.

1 - 19 THE SECRET SCEPTRE AFFAIR

A complex plot of deceptions as Illya Kuryakin tags along with Napoleon Solo as he goes to the aid of his old Commander.

1 - 20 THE BOW WOW AFFAIR

Illya Kuryakin is on the trail of gypsies who are somehow turning dogs against their owners.

1 - 21 THE FOUR STEPS AFFAIR

Thrush agents plan to assassinate the child leader of a Himalayan nation.

1 - 22 THE SEE PARIS AND DIE AFFAIR

Two cousins steal $500 million worth of jewels from a diamond syndicate and both U.N.C.L.E. and Thrush want to find out how they pulled it off.

1 - 23 THE BRAIN KILLER AFFAIR

Mr. Waverly is poisoned by Thrush agents.

1 - 24 THE HONG KONG SHILLING AFFAIR

Napoleon Solo and Illya Kuryakin must find out why people are killing each other over a coin.

1 - 25 THE NEVER NEVER AFFAIR

A bored U.N.C.L.E. translator is sent on a fictitious mission by Napoleon Solo but she is accidentally given a top secret microdot and a Thrush agent is quickly on her tail.

1 - 26 THE LOVE AFFAIR

A Thrush agent is posing as a religious leader called Brother Love and it is Illya Kuryakin's job to flush him out.

1 - 27 THE GAZEBO IN THE MAZE AFFAIR

Illya Kuryakin is kidnapped by a villain, presumed dead seven years earlier and is used as bait to lure Napoleon Solo.

1 - 28 THE GIRLS FROM NAZARONE AFFAIR

Napoleon Solo and Illya Kuryakin hunt for a potion that enhances a person's ability to recover from even serious injury, but Thrush want the potion too.

1 - 29 THE ODD MAN AFFAIR

Napoleon Solo and Illya Kuryakin must work with a former agent to stop 'Mr. Zed' from uniting a band of terrorists and forging an alliance with Communist countries.

2 - 1 THE ALEXANDER THE GREATER AFFAIR (1-2)

Alexander (Rip Torn) a megalomaniac industrialist, plans to conquer the world like his namesake, Alexander the Great by breaking each of the ten commandments along the way. He has his henchman Parvix (David Sheiner) steal the army's "will gas" to help him do so, and Solo investigates. Solo encounters Tracey Alexander (Dorothy Provine), Alexander's ex-wife, who wants to tag along with Solo to get the money Alexander owes her. The trail leads Solo, Illya, and Tracey to a posh party at Alexander's, where Solo defeats him in a human chess game; to a tomb, where Alexander and his aide Dr. Kavon (David Opatoshu) leave Solo tied under a descending scimitar while Illya and Tracey are hanging over a bottomless pit with a candle burning their rope; To Alexander's farm in Virginia, where Illya is nearly cut in two by various farm implements.

2 - 2 THE ULTIMATE COMPUTER AFFAIR

Illya Kuryakin infiltrates a South American prison camp where Thrush are storing the 'Ultimate Computer'.

2 - 3 THE FOXES AND HOUNDS AFFAIR

U.N.C.L.E. and Thrush agents compete to gain possession of a mind-reading device created by a magician who has been murdered by Thrush.

2 - 4 THE DISCOTHEQUE AFFAIR

Napoleon Solo is given the job of searching for Thrush security records.

2 - 5 THE RECOLLECTORS AFFAIR

The 'Re-collectors' claim to be trying to locate works of art stolen by the Nazis but all is not as it appears.

2 - 6 THE ARABIAN AFFAIR

Illya goes to find Thrush's vaporizing machine, but is captured by Sophie, the headstrong daughter of the local tribal chief, Sulador. In New York Solo convinces retiring THRUSH agent David Lewin that THRUSH intends to kill him, and elicits his help. Lewin and Solo are taken to the base in the desert, just as Illya leads the band of nomads, whose confidence he has gained, in an attack on the base.

Wr Peter Allan Fields

Dir E. Darrell Hallenbeck

2 - 7 THE TIGERS ARE COMING AFFAIR

Solo and Illya go to India to help Suzanne de Serre, a French botanist trying to find out why the jungle is dying and local natives are disappearing. Prince Panat and Drusilla Davina, along with Colonel Quillon, are systematically using a chemical to destroy the jungle and kidnapping natives to work in the jewel mines for the prince.

Wr Alan Cailou, Paul Tuckahoe

Dir Herschel Daugherty

2 - 8 THE DEADLY TOYS AFFAIR

THRUSH is so eager to get their hands on a boy genius that they murder the boy's father. But then they have to deal with the boy's madcap aunt.

Wr Robert Hill

Dir John Brahm

2 - 9 THE CHERRY BLOSSOM AFFAIR

THRUSH eastern in Japan acquires a volcano-activating device, and Solo and Illya, along with Cricket

Okasada, a film student, infiltrate a toy store and a karate school to find it. THRUSH leader Mr. Kutuzov oversees local THRUSH head Harada in the operation, and Solo finds himself fighting for his life against a life size sword wielding puppet.

Wr Mark Weingart

Dir Joseph Sargent

2 - 10 THE VIRTUE AFFAIR

French fanatic Robespierre seeks to destroy France's vineyards in his quest for virtue, and Solo enlists the aid of scientist Raoul Dubois and his daughter Albert in combating the plan. Illya is captured by THRUSH agent Carl Voegler and, with a target painted on his back, is hunted through the woods by Voegler's archers.

Wr Henry Slesar

Dir Jud Taylor

2 - 11 THE CHILDREN'S DAY AFFAIR

A top-level U.N.C.L.E. conference is to be held in Switzerland, but a nearby boys' school is actually a THRUSH front run by Mother Fear and Dennis Jenks that is training its students to be assassins. Solo is captured by the boys, and, when he refuses to reveal the conference location, is forced to operate the controls of two electric trains so they do not collide with each carrying a vial of deadly nerve gas. Illya and Anna Paola, a social worker who resent children, are also captured. The escape, and arrive at the conference just as the boy's choir is ready to kill Waverly and the others with THRUSH rifles from under their robes.

2 - 12 THE ADRIATIC EXPRESS AFFAIR

Solo and Illya board the Adriatic Express train on New Year's Eve to intercept Madame Nemirovitch, a THRUSH agent who is carrying a chemical that is capable of stopping the reproductive process. Eva, a young girl who delivers a message to Madame Nemirovitch as the train leaves, is caught on board. Throughout the evening, the THRUSH agent and Solo and Illya engage in a battle of wits as the train speeds along its route.

Wr Robert Hill

Dir Seymour Robbie

2 - 13 THE YUKON AFFAIR

Squire G. Emory Partridge returns, having acquired in Alaska a large quantity of Quadrillenium X, a very heavy metal with high magnetic powers which THRUSH wants to use to disrupt world communications. Solo and Illya are nearly killed by the local Eskimos, but are saved by the chief's daughter, Murphy. Partridge and his niece Victoria capture them, but they escape only to end up in a tavern brawl.

2 - 14 THE VERY IMPORTANT ZOMBIE AFFAIR

Solo and Illya travel to the Caribbean to help Dr. Delgado, who is under a voodoo curse and in a zombie-like trance thanks to the local dictator, El Supremo, and his chief of police, Captain Ramirez. The U.N.C.L.E. agents are assisted by Suzy, an American hairdresser whom El Supremo will not let leave the island. They eventually turn to voodoo queen Mama Lou to turn the tables on him.

2 - 15 THE DIPPY BLONDE AFFAIR

THRUSH agent Harry Pendleton is captured and commits "suicide" with a reversible chemical, but his superior, Simon Baldinado, refuses to revive him because he is attracted to Pendleton's girlfriend, Jojo Tyler. Solo gets Jojo to help U.N.C.L.E. retrieve the ion projection machine Baldinado has hidden at the mortuary front for THRUSH by feigning affection for Baldinado, who allows his personal plans for Jojo to affect his judgment.

2 - 16 THE DEADLY GODDESS AFFAIR

Solo and Illya travel to Circe to intercept a drone plane carrying a load of THRUSH cash. There, they encounter THRUSH agent Colonel Hubris, as well as two local girls who are looking for husbands.

2 - 17 THE BIRDS AND THE BEES AFFAIR

THRUSH has developed with the aid of Dr. Elias Swan, a strain of minute, deadly bees. THRUSH agent Mr. Mozart captures Illya and Tavia Sandor and uses a high-frequency sound machine that threatens to shatter their eardrums to force Illya to take him to U.N.C.L.E. headquarters so he can release the bees. Illya does so, but Mozart is intercepted, and in a battle on a rooftop Mozart is shot and the bees get loose.

2 - 18 THE WAVERLY RING AFFAIR

When secret "File 40" documents turn up outside headquarters, Waverly assigns Solo and Illya to find out if George Donnell is a double agent. Carla Drostin is too anxious to accuse Donnell and Solo must use special "Waverly rings" to try and expose the real double agent.

2 - 19 THE BRIDGE OF LIONS AFFAIR (1-2)

Illya investigates the mysterious disappearance of cats in Soho, and he and Solo discover that a salon run by Madame De Sala is a front for her plan to develop a rejuvenation process, which De Sala plans to use on the now elderly target of her romantic desires, Sir Norman Swickert. Assisted by Joanna Sweet, a nurse, they end up in the bottom of a wine press. Meanwhile, THRUSH agent Jordin plots to obtain the process for THRUSH.

2 - 20 THE FOREIGN LEGION AFFAIR

Illya parachutes out of a plane carrying THRUSH code documents, but lands in the desert at an abandoned Foreign Legion post run by Captain Basil Calhoun (Howard Da Silva). Illya is accompanied by a stewardess, Barbara (Danielle DeMetz) while Solo races to find them before THRUSH does.

2 - 21 THE MOONGLOW AFFAIR

While investigating a THRUSH plot to sabotage space shots, Solo and Illya are incapacitated by a quartzite radiation projector. Waverly assigns new trainee April Dancer along with over the age of retirement agent Mark Slateto find the antidote and destroy the plan. April infiltrates the cosmetics company of THRUSH agent Arthur Caresse as a model, but she is uncovered by Caresse's sister Jean.

2 - 22 THE NOWHERE AFFAIR

Solo, while searching for a secret map in Nevada, swallows an amnesia capsule just before being captured. THRUSH agents Arum Tertunian and Longolius try to revive his memory with a seductive female agent, Mara, while Illya races to find him before he starts to remember.

2 - 23 THE KING OF DIAMONDS AFFAIR

Solo and Illya discover that the world diamond market is being affected by a gang of English criminals headed by Blodgett, who smuggle diamonds inside pudding sold unwittingly by Victoria Poque. They enlist the aid of a master diamond thief, Rafael Delgado. Solo and Victoria end up in Brazil, with Solo tied to the front of a cannon and about to be executed.

2 - 24 THE PROJECT PEOPLE AFFAIR (AKA THE PROJCT DEEPHOLE AFFAIR)

THRUSH agent Elom tries to kidnap a geologist who has developed an earthquake activating machine, but mistakes debt-ridden salesman Buzz Conway for the scientist. Solo and Illya let THRUSH go on thinking Conway is the scientist, while Elom lets his attraction for THRUSH agent Narcissus Darling interfere with his judgment. Conway is captured, and Solo and Illya must rescue him and find the machine

2 - 25 THE ROUND TABLE AFFAIR

Lucho Nostra and a group of criminals take over a tiny European country, Ingolstein, because it has no extradition treaty. Prince Frederick is afraid to kick them out, so Solo convinces princess Vicky to return and do so, only to find that she cannot because the treasury has been replaced with IOU's to Nostra for the prince's gambling debts. Nostra arranges for permanent protection by forcing a marriage between Vicky and one of his henchmen, Artie King, but the two actually do fall in love. King duels Nostra, with the fate of the country riding on the outcome.

Wr Robert Hill

Dir E. Darrell Hallenbeck

2 - 26 THE BAT-CAVE AFFAIR

Solo uses hillbilly clairvoyant Clemency McGill to counter the efforts of Count Zark, a vampirish THRUSH agent who plans to use radioactive bats to jam the world's radar systems from his castle. Solo and Clemency make their way to the castle with Illya, but Zark manages to release the bats.

2 - 27 THE MINUS X AFFAIR

Solo and Illya try to protect Professor Lillian Stemmler from THRUSH after she invents a drug called Plus X, which heightens all the human senses. Unbeknownst to them, she is a THRUSH agent herself who at first cooperates willingly, then has second thoughts. But THRUSH agent Rollo kidnaps her daughter Leslie and forces her to cooperate. The drug is given to three THRUSH agents who will attack a U.S. government plutonium plant using their superior senses, while at the same time the guards will be given a dose of Minus X, which dulls the senses.

2 - 28 THE INDIAN AFFAIRS AFFAIR

THRUSH agent L.C. Carson uses an Indian reservation as a front for his plan to assemble a hydrogen bomb, and kidnaps the tribe's chief, High Cloud, to ensure cooperation. Solo arranges for the Chief's daughter Charisma to return, but she ends up being kidnapped along with Solo and Illya, who is disguised as an Indian. Solo and Illya, along with a band of young Indian warriors on Motorcycles, encircle Carson and his men and try to stop them before its too late.

3 - 1 THE HER MASTER'S VOICE AFFAIR

Solo investigates a girl's school for the daughters of VIP's, including Miki Matsu, who has valuable secret information from her father, a Japanese diplomat. THRUSH agent Jason Sutro has gained the cooperation of the headmistress, Hester Partridge. The assistant dean, Verity Burgoyne, and all of the girl students have been brainwashed by Sutro to go into a trance upon hearing a recording of Brahm's Lullaby, and are ordered to kill Solo.

3 - 2 THE SORT OF DO-IT-YOURSELF DREADFUL AFFAIR

Solo is nearly killed by a superhuman, robotlike girl, Margo Hayward, one of an army of such devices invented by Dr. Pertwee for THRUSH. Illya joins up with Margo's ex-roommate, Andy Francis, and finds the laboratory, where a roomful of robots attack them.

Wr Harlan Ellison

3 - 3 THE GALATEA AFFAIR

In spoof of "My Fair Lady," Solo is recuperating from a fall into a Venice canal, Illya teams with Mark Slate to uncover Baroness Bibi de Chasseur, a THRUSH money courier who has contact with the treasurer of THRUSH. They recruit a barroom entertainer, Rosy Shlagenheimer, an exact double, to impersonate her. The switch is made, but in the confusion the Baroness makes another switch and poses as Rosy, then finds herself falling in love with Slate.

3 - 4 THE SUPER COLOSSAL AFFAIR

Frank Cariago, the U.S. head of a crime syndicate, is under pressure from Uncle Giuliano. Cariago decides to buy a movie production directed by Sheldon Veblan so his girlfriend, Ginger Laveer can have the starring role. But the picture is a disguised plan to drop a bomb on the family's biggest rival-Las Vegas.

3 - 5 THE MONKS OF ST. THOMAS AFFAIR

THRUSH agent Abbot Simon takes over the monastery at St. Thomas to use the mountain location to aim a new laser gun at a long distance target the Louvre in Paris. Solo visits the area and meets Andrea Fouchet, and together they try to stop Simon before he destroys the world's greatest art treasures.

3 - 6 THE POP ART AFFAIR

A dissatisfied THRUSH collaborator tips U.N.C.L.E. off to a new deadly hiccup gas. A pendant he wears leads Illya to Greenwich Village and an art gallery run by Mark Ole, a THRUSH agent. Starving artist Sylvia Harrison joins Illya, who is nearly suffocated at the hands of a foam producing machine.

3 - 7 THE THOR AFFAIR

Solo and Illya are assigned to protect Dr. Fazie Nahdi, a Gandhi like peace advocate, during a conference. Nellie Canford, a high school teacher, becomes linked to their efforts when her dental work begins receiving radio transmissions. Mahdi stays at the home of Brutus Thor, who is actually a THRUSH leader who is trying to kill him and Illya is trapped in a room full of toys that begin firing real bullets.

3 - 8 THE CANDIDATE'S WIFE AFFAIR

Solo and Illya protect Miranda Bryant, the wife of a presidential candidate, from a THRUSH plot to kidnap her, not realizing that she has already been kidnapped and replaced with a double Irina, an unwitting dupe of THRUSH. When they do catch on, the candidate, Senator Bryant and his aide Fairbanks, agree to play along but Fairbanks is the one behind the plot to put a THRUSH agent in the White House.

3 - 9 THE COME WITH ME TO THE CASBAH AFFAIR

Solo and Illya go to Algiers to obtain a rare old book containing a THRUSH code from Pierrot La Mouche who has stolen it from his boss, Colonel Hamid. But La Mouche has a high price he wants U.N.C.L.E. to help him obtain Janine whom he is in love with.

3 - 10 THE OFF-BROADWAY AFFAIR

An off-broadway actress is murdered during a phone call to U.N.C.L.E., and Solo and Illya investigate a connection between the show and a sudden malfunction in U.N.C.L.E.'s communications. The understudy, Janet Jarrod, takes over the lead role, and Illya joins the cast to find the jamming device.

3 - 11 THE CONCRETE OVERCOAT AFFAIR (1-2)

While in Italy investigating a THRUSH plan to divert the Gulf Stream with heavy water, Solo finds himself eluding THRUSH guards, and ends up hiding under the bed of Pia Monteri. Solo escapes a shotgun wedding, the family feels Pia's honor has been compromised, and the girl's American uncles retired Prohibition-era gangsters "Fingers" Stilletto, Enzo "Pretty" Stilletto, and Federico "Feet" Stilletto are called. At the island headquarters of Louis Strago, Illya is tortured by Strago's sadistic female assistant, Miss Diketon. Solo joins forces with the Stiletto brothers to try and rescue him.

3 - 12 THE ABOMINABLE SNOWMEN AFFAIR

Illya goes to the Himalayan country of Chupat to protect the high lama, but is shot by "Calamity" Rogers, an American rodeo star. Solo is sent to find Illya, and learns that the prime minister has kidnapped the real successor to the throne and intends to install his own son instead. An entranced girl, Amra Palli tries to kill Solo after being brainwashed by the prime minister.

3 - 13 THE MY FRIEND THE GORILLA AFFAIR

In Africa, Professor Kenton has developed a superman formula which he has been using on the natives, hoping to build an army with which to conquer all of Africa. Premier Khufu resists the use of the drug on his people. Illya meets up with Harry Blackburn, a shady safari guide, and Marsha Woodhugh, who is searching for her lost sister, a Tarzan like woman named "Girl" who has captured Solo.

3 - 14 THE JINGLE BELLS AFFAIR

Solo and Illya must protect Premier Georgi Koz, a Khrushchev like European leader, on a visit to New York, Priscilla Worth is befriended by Loz and she takes him to a school for Santa Clauses run by Francis X. O'Reilly where just one of a series of assassination attempts against him must be thwarted by the two U.N.C.L.E. agents.

3 - 15 THE TAKE ME TO YOUR LEADER AFFAIR

Scientist Adrian Cool spots a UFO approaching earth on his radar. His daughter, Coco is kidnapped, and Illya follows and he's captured also. Simon Sparrow, a power-mad millionaire, has faked the approaching UFO to secure power for himself as the representative on earth of the "aliens". Sparrow captures Solo and puts him in an experimental wind tunnel to kill him, but he is saved by Corinne. Coco develops a crush on Illya; while they are trying to stop Sparrow, they end up aboard his "UFO".

3 - 16 THE SUBURBIA AFFAIR

Dr. Rutter, after inventing antimatter, hides out in Suburbia under the name Willoughby because he fears his creation will be used destructively. Solo and Illya take a house there to find him. But THRUSH agent Miss Witherspoon also wants to find Rutter, and when Rutter sends his neighbor Betsy after some rare medicine from the pharmacist, Fletcher, the chase is literally on the find Rutter first.

3 - 17 THE DEADLY SMORGASBORD AFFAIR

Solo goes to Sweden to obtain a new suspended animation device from Dr. A.C. Nilson, but the device and its inventor are taken by THRUSH. The doctor's daughter Neila helps Solo find him, and the doctor's assistant, Inga Anderson also feigns cooperation but is actually working for THRUSH agent Heinrich Beckmann. Beckmann uses the device to invade U.N.C.L.E.'s Scandinavian headquarters, and only Solo has a chance to stop him.

3 - 18 THE YO-HO-HO AND A BOTTLE OF RUM AFFAIR

Investigating the shipment of a tidal-wave machine by THRUSH, Illya ends up aboard a merchant vessel run by Captain Morton. Morton is obsessed with his past disgrace in a court martial, and the crew is on the verge of a mutiny, which Illya leads just as THRUSH arrives to take possession of the device.

3 - 19 THE NAPOLEON'S TOMB AFFAIR

President Nasasos Tunik visits Paris. His assistant, Malanez, is determined to persuade the president that the French are his enemy, and arranges for various embarrassing and insulting incidents to occur. Solo and Illya are assigned to see that the visit goes smoothly, but Tunik falls in love with Candyce, and Malanez plans to disgrace Tunik by framing him in a plot to steal the body of Napoleon from his tomb.

3 - 20 THE IT'S ALL GREEK TO ME AFFAIR

In Greece, Illya tries to recover stolen U.N.C.L.E. documents, but they fall into the hands of Stavros, a Greek bandit, who has ambushed Illya, thinking he is his daughter Kira's convict husband, Manolakas returning from prison. Kita is in love with Nico instead, and Solo and Illya must resolve the love triangle in order to retrieve the documents.

3 - 21 THE HULA DOLL AFFAIR

Brothers Simon and Peter Sweet both rival THRUSH leaders vying for promotion, do not realize that the toy hula doll they possess has an extremely powerful new U.N.C.L.E. explosive inside that is activated by heat. As the outside temperature rises, Illya and Solo try to recover it with the help of Wendy Thyme. Solo poses as a representative of THRUSH Central, but Mama Sweet a real member of THRUSH Central appears on the scene.

3 - 22 THE PIECES OF FATE AFFAIR

Jacqueline Midcult writes a best selling novel, The Pieces of Fate, which U.N.C.L.E. Recognizes as being based on a series of missing THRUSH diaries. She loses her memory during a THRUSH attempt to kill her, and THRUSH agents Ellipsis Zark and Jody Moore, a book critic, plot to kidnap her and find out where she found the diaries. Solo and Illya take Jacqueline to a small town where her Uncle Charly and Aunt Jessie live, to try and revive her memory, but Zark and Moore follow and they all converge on the attic where the diaries are hidden at the same time.

Wr Harlan Ellison

3 - 23 THE MATTERHORN AFFAIR

A dying man carrying a partial film with the secret of Project Quasimodo, a miniature atomic bomb, gives only one clue to finding the rest of the film: the name of Marvin Klump, inept car salesman. THRUSH agents Rodney Backstreet and Beirut capture Klump. Solo and Illya, with the aid of Klump's sister Heather, follow them first to the Alps, then back to the U.S., where the answer to the puzzle lies in a cemetery.

3 - 24 THE HOT NUMBER AFFAIR

A THRUSH code is hidden in a dress pattern, and Solo and Illya go to the garment district and encounter the design shop of two down on their luck designers and their model Ramona and the cutter who has a crush on her, Jerry. THRUSH also tries to retrieve the garment, but Ramona keeps forgetting where she left it.

Wr Joseph C. Cavella

3 - 25 THE WHEN IN ROMA AFFAIR

In Rome, American tourist Darlene Sims becomes the unwitting carrier of a perfume atomizer with a secret formula. THRUSH uses a suave ladies man Cesare Guardia to charm Darlene, but he falls in love with her in the process.

3 - 26 THE APPLE-A-DAY AFFAIR

Solo and Illya find that THRUSH agent Colonel Picks has developed exploding apples, which will be used to trigger a nuclear stockpile. Nina Lillette, a pretty hillbilly girl, latches onto them for excitement. Illya joins a picking crew at the farm, but he is buried alive in a tunnel with the volatile apples.

Wr Joseph C. Cavella

3 - 27 THE FIVE DAUGHTERS AFFAIR (1-2)

Solo and Illya visit the laboratory of Dr. True, who has discovered how to extract gold from seawater. But Dr. True dies from a poison given him by THRUSH agent Randolph, and Randolph also kills his wife Amanda. The gold extraction formula was distributed in portions by True to his daughters, in inscriptions on a photo of himself. Solo and Illya meet Sandy True, who accompanies them to Rome, to find her half sister Margo, now unhappily married to the destitute Baron de Fanzini to London, to find the next sister Imogen, who has been arrested by a Constable for indecent exposure and finally the Alps, to find Yvonne, who is breaking off an unhappy relationship with Karl Von Kesser. But after decoding the message in Japan, Solo, Illya and Sandy are captured by Randolph and taken to THRUSH central for execution.

3 - 28 THE CAP AND GOWN AFFAIR

Solo and Illya are responsible for the security during Waverly's upcoming address to his alma mater, but the campus is seething with protest. Illya joins the demonstrators, and meets Minerva Swight, the daughter of the dean. The head of the board of regents, Jonathan Trumble, is a THRUSH agent, and he hires campus agitator Gregory Haymish to try and kill Solo and Illya, while Trumbull's THRUSH superior, Number 24, undergoes plastic surgery so he can impersonate the dean during the ceremony and kill Waverly himself.

4 - 1 THE SUMMIT-5 AFFAIR

Visiting Berlin headquarters in preparation for a high level U.N.C.L.E. conference, "Summit Five," Solo finds agent Heinz Newman (Don Chastin) mysteriously murdered. Illya goes to Berlin, as does Harry Beldon (Albert Dekker), one of Waverly's counterparts in Section 1. Beldon suspects that either Solo or Gerald Struthers (Lloyd Bochner) committed the murder, while Illya suspects Beldon's secretary Helga Deniken (Suzanne Cramer), but Beldon himself turns out to be the traitor, and he plans to kill Waverly at the conference.

Wr Robert E. Thompson

Dir Sutton Roley

4 - 2 THE TEST TUBE KILLER AFFAIR

A dying UNCLE agent warns Napoleon and Illya that a group of supermen is being bred by THRUSH. The duo discover a school set up by the enemy organization in Mexico, who has already produced 7 emotionless killer students! As a graduating exercise, one is chosen to eliminate Solo and Kuryakin after they follow the boy to Austria.

Wr Jack Turley

Dir E. Darrell Hallenbeck

4 - 3 THE J FOR JUDAS AFFAIR

Solo and Illya are asked by Adam Tenza (Chad Everett) to protect his millionaire industrialist father Mark Tenza (Broderick Crawford) from assassination by THRUSH, much to the resentment of the elder Tenza. When Tenza is killed by a bomb, Solo and Illya must find out where J Tenza's other son, James is, to protect him also. But Adam Tenza is actually planning to kill J, in order to hand his father's empire over to THRUSH.

4 - 4 THE PRINCE OF DARKNESS AFFAIR (1-2)

Solo and Illya are assigned to investigate a mysterious ray from the sky that killed the inhabitants of an African village. They find expert safecracker and fugitive from justice Luther Sebastian (Bradford Dillman), now a leader of a cult called the Third Way, and enlist his help in their plan to break into to the safe of Parviz Kharmusi (John Dehner) and steal the thermal prism that powers that deadly ray. Solo runs into Annie Justin (Carol Lynley), who is looking for Sebastian, who framed her boyfriend. Azalea (Lola Albright) helps Solo escape from Annie, and takes him to Kharmusi. But Sebastian reveals he has stolen the prism for himself so he can put it into orbit and extort the world.

4 - 5 THE MASTER'S TOUCH AFFAIR

In Portugal, Solo is taken prisoner by Pharos Mandor (Jack Lord), a THRUSH chief ready to defect if his arch rival, THRUSH assassin Stepan Valandros (Nehemiah Persoff), does not kill him first. Solo meets Mandor's girlfriend, Cathy Welling (Leslie Parrish). Mandor tells Solo U.N.C.L.E. must kill Valandros or he will not defect, but his real aim is to eliminate Valandros and promote himself up the THRUSH ranks.

4 - 6 THE T.H.R.U.S.H. ROULETTE AFFAIR

THRUSH agent Barnaby Partridge (Michael Rennie) uses his island gambling casino to brainwash VIP's into committing suicide by playing on their secret fears. U.N.C.L.E. sends Taggart Coleman (Charles Drake) to the island to help Solo and Illya uncover the process, and he encounters an old love interest there, Monica (Nobu McCarthy). But Partridge takes Illya prisoner and subjects him to the process training him to kill Solo.

4 - 7 THE DEADLY QUEST AFFAIR

Illya recuperating in the hospital, is kidnapped by an old enemy, Viktor Karmak (Darrin McGavin), to lure Solo into a trap. Solo follows a clue to a twelve block condemned area of Manhattan, and finds modern artist Sheila Van Tillson (Marlyn Mason). Karmak appears and announces that Solo has until dawn to find Illya before a deadly gas kills him, while Karmak and his pet jaguar will try to hunt Solo down at the same time.

4 - 8 THE FIREY ANGEL AFFAIR

In a Latin American country, Illya and Solo try to help the popular national leader, Angela (Madlyn Rhue) protect her government from the Secret Three, a revolutionary group backed by THRUSH. Solo is captured by the Secret Three, but escapes after learning that Vinay (Victor Ludlin), a friend of Angela's is plotting against her. He tells her husband, General Abaca (Joe Sirola), but the general is actually the one plotting to overthrow his wife's government and have her killed.

4 - 9 THE SURVIVAL SCHOOL AFFAIR

Illya goes to U.N.C.L.E.'s secret island training academy, the Survival School, to help Jules Cutter (Richard Beymer) find a THRUSH infiltrator who has assassinated a trainee. Suspicion focuses on three trainees Melisa Hargrove (Susan Odin), John Saimes (Chris Robinson), and Harry Williams (Charles McGraw), and Illya must find out who is the real double agent.

4 - 10 THE GURNIUS AFFAIR

Solo and Illya go to visit a Nazi war criminal in prison, Von Etske (Will Kulova), but find that he has escaped with the aid of a special thought controlling device. His escape was observed by photographer Terry Cook (Judy Carne). Von Etske is joining forces with Zorgon Gurnius (George Macready), a fellow former Nazi, to reactivate their wartime triumvirate. Illya intercept Nexor, and finds that he is his exact double. He decides to impersonate Nexor to foil the plan.

4 - 11 THE MAN FROM T.H.R.U.S.H. AFFAIR

Solo and agent Andreas Petros (Robert Wolders) are sent to the island of Ibos, where the Technological Hierarchy for the Removal of Undesirables and the Subjugation of Humanity has been spending huge amounts of money on some unknown project. Solo, posing as a visiting THRUSH official, meets Dr. Killman (John Larch), the head of the project, and Marnya (Barbara Luna), who reveals that Killman is working on an earthquake device, as the real THRUSH emissary arrives.

4 - 12 THE MAZE AFFAIR

Oliver Barnes (Lawrence Mantaigne), a THRUSH agent, unsuccessfully tries to destroy a package. Solo and Illya suspect a connection between this and a new "molecutronic gun" developed by Dr. Fabray (William Marshall). Solo runs into Abbe Nelton (Anna Capri). Fabray turns out to be a THRUSH collaborator. The entire scheme was a plan to get Illya to take the "gun" actually a bomb, into U.N.C.L.E. headquarters in Trojan Horse fashion.

4 - 13 THE DEEP SIX AFFAIR

In London U.N.C.L.E. agent Brian Morton (Peter Bromilow) is planning on getting married much to Waverly's disapproval. Solo and Illya help Morton on his current mission, stopping THRUSH agent Commader Kroler (Alfred Ryder) from stealing the plans for a new supersubmarine. Waverly tries to dissuade Laura Adams (Diana Van Der Vlis), Morton's fiancée, but to no avail. Morton and Laura are then kidnapped by Kroler, and Kroler threatens to kill Laura if Morton does not obtain the sub for him.

4 - 14 THE SEVEN WONDERS OF THE WORLD AFFAIR (1-2)

Mr. Webb (Mark Richman), a THRUSH agent, and Margitta Kingsley (Eleanor Parker), the wife of U.N.C.L.E. agent Robert Kingsley (Barry Sullivan), plot to steal a docility gas from General Maximilian Harmon (Leslie Nielson), who has kidnapped Professor David Garrow (Dan O'Herlihy) and his son Steve (Tony Bill). Harmon and a group of scientists consider themselves the "Seven Intellectual Wonders of the World" and, with the gas and the troops, plan to take over control of the world and ensure peace.

MANANA PUEDE SER VERDAD (TOMMOROW IT CAN BE TRUTH)

One of the few series of Argentine or Spain (The exact country of origin for the show could not be determined) science fiction, it had a tone very similar to the successful (and still well remembered) TWILIGHT ZONE. After finalizing the third season of MASTERPIECES OF TERROR, Ibáñez (Mint and Sawyer) tried the adaptation of original stories of authors like Ray Bradbury, Mann Rubin.

Original Music by Waldo de los Ríos.

For season 1 episode 5, they filmed an adaptation of The Third Expedition, part of the Martian Chronicles books by Ray Bradbury.

The series was believe to have been completed in 1964, but no final air date exists.

WR. Chicho Ibáñez-Serrador.

DIR. Edgardo Borda, Chicho Ibáñez-Serrador (as Luis Peñafiel)

EPISODES: 6 YEAR MADE: 1962 COUNTRY: SPA SEASONS: 1

TELEVISION ESPANOLA (TVE)

CREATOR: RAY BRADBURY

TYPE OF SHOW: ANTHOLOGY

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 50 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: Spanish

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 6

DATE OF PREMIER: 11/08/1962

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN: Season 1 : 11/08/1962 - 01/09/1962

FILMS:

NORA CULLEN, NARCISO IBANEZ MENTA, CARLOS LARRANAGA, JESUS PUENTE, TINA SAINZ.

- 1 - 1 H. NEWMAN, MEDICINE DOCTOR
- 1 - 2 THE MAN WHO LOST HIS LAUGHTER
- 1 - 3 BULBS (SERIAL)
- 1 - 4 BETWEEN DEADS
- 1 - 5 THE THIRD EXPEIDTION
- 1 - 6 THE FOX AND THE FOREST

MANHUNT ON MYSTERY ISLAND

Stirling, fresh from her exploits as the whip-wielding heroine of Zorro's Black Whip (1944), here has the traditionally more passive role of the perpetually threatened heroine. With criminologist Bailey she searches for her missing father, Taylor. He's a scientist who has just invented a 'radiatomic power transmitter' and been captured by Barcroft's swaggering villain, a reincarnation of the infamous pirate Mephisto, courtesy of a transformation machine (a chair set in a room full of electrical gizmos which, with the aid of a dissolve, transforms anybody into the likeness of Barcroft).

The film's middle section, which sees Bailey dividing his time between rescuing Stirling's imperilled heroine and trying to discover the identity of Mephisto, is overlong and relies on too many transformation scenes, but the enthusiastic fights, masterminded by action specialist Canutt, are in true serial style. The serial was produced by Ronald Davidson, the cinematographer was Bud Thackery and the special effects were created by Howard Lydecker and Theodore Lydecker.

WR. Albert DeMond, Basil Dickey, Jesse Duffy, Alan James, Grant Nelson, Joseph Poland.

DIR. Spencer Gordon Bennett, Wallace Grissell, Yakima Canutt.

EPISODES: 15 YEAR MADE: 1945 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

REPUBLIC

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: CRIME

FORMAT: CINEMA SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 15

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

RICHARD BAILEY, LINDA STIRLING, ROY BARCROFT, KEENE DUNCAN, FORREST TAYLOR, JACK INGRAM.

-
- 1 - 3 TRAPPED LIKE RATS
 - 1 - 4 LOVE THY NEIGHBOUR
 - 1 - 5 FRED'S A-COURTIN'
 - 1 - 6 THE SANDMAN COMETH
 - 1 - 7 GOOD ON YA
 - 1 - 8 BRING ME HARRY ORCA
 - 1 - 9 DAD'S BUMMED OUT
 - 1 - 10 WEBS, THE REALLY TANGLED KIND
 - 1 - 11 NATIONAL SECURITY RISK
 - 1 - 12 A LITTLE OLD TIME JAZZ
 - 1 - 13 HAWAII BLUES
 - 1 - 14 GOOD CHEER ON YA
 - 1 - 15 BRAINIAN MANSION
 - 1 - 16 LITTLE BIG FLY
 - 1 - 17 MONEY DEAREST
 - 1 - 18 THE CASE OF THE BROKEN RECORD
 - 1 - 19 THE LIVE SHOW
 - 1 - 20 TINA'S EXCELLENT ADVENTURE
 - 1 - 21 TURNER : THE BOSS
 - 1 - 22 THE CLIFFHANGER
 - 2 - 1 LUCK BE A LADY THIS SEASON
 - 2 - 2 THE NEW LOOK
 - 2 - 3 LATE NIGHT HARRY
 - 2 - 4 TURNER : THE REBELLIOUS YEARS
 - 2 - 5 MAN AND MACHINE
 - 2 - 6 DRIVING MS. IDELLA
 - 2 - 7 THE CELEBRITY VISITOR
 - 2 - 8 THE ATTACK OF KILLER KEIFER
 - 2 - 9 LENNY . . . ONE AMOUR TIME PART 1
 - 2 - 10 UGLY LIKE ME
 - 2 - 11 A HATFUL OF BRAIN
 - 2 - 12 BURIED BY THE MOB
 - 2 - 13 MISERY LOVES COMPANY
 - 2 - 14 DOWN AND OUT IN CEDAR SPRINGS
 - 2 - 15 IKE'S GOT IT BAD. . . REAL BAD
 - 2 - 16 TURNERATOR TOO
 - 2 - 17 BABY HEAT

- 2 - 18 STREETCAR NAMED IDELLA
- 2 - 19 TURNER'S IMAGINARY FRIEND
- 2 - 20 IDELLA'S BREAKDOWN
- 2 - 21 SOPHISTICATED LADY
- 3 - 1 THE LONG HOT MANSION
- 3 - 2 RAGING LENNY
- 3 - 3 COLLEGE DAYS
- 3 - 4 THE PRINCE'S BROAD
- 3 - 5 IKE'S BLAKE EYE
- 3 - 6 SCIENCE IS ONLY SKIN DEEP
- 3 - 7 IKE'S NEW BUDDY
- 3 - 8 AS THE WORM TURNS
- 3 - 9 CAPE SCARY
- 3 - 10 WRESTLING WITH THE TRUTH
- 3 - 11 THE SCIENCE FAIR
- 3 - 12 LOVE: TURNER STYLE
- 3 - 13 ATOMS GONE WILD
- 3 - 14 WALTER UNDER THE BRIDGE
- 3 - 15 TINA AND THE TEARDROPS
- 3 - 16 LOVE LETTERS
- 3 - 17 IKE FOR PRESIDENT
- 3 - 18 FREDDIE HAS A LITTLE LAMB
- 3 - 19 IT AIN'T OVER TILL UNCLE JOE SINGS
- 3 - 20 UNCLE HARRY AIN'T FEELING SO GOOD
- 3 - 21 THE WAY HE WAS
- 3 - 22 IDELLA'S NEW CAREER

BATTLESTAR GALATICA

AUTOMAN

GALACTICA 1980

HIGHWAYMAN, THE

NIGHTMAN

TEAM KNIGHT RIDER

BATTLESTAR GALATICA (MINI)

BATTLESTAR GALACTICA (2004)

- 1 - 1 MANIMAL
- 1 - 2 ILLUSIONS
- 1 - 3 FEMALE OF THE SPECIES
- 1 - 4 NIGHT OF THE BEAST
- 1 - 5 HIGH STAKES
- 1 - 6 NIGHT OF THE SCORPION
- 1 - 7 SCRIMSHAW
- 1 - 8 BREATH OF THE DRAGON

FILMS:

Detective Bobby Mann DAVID ANDREWS, Sergeant Eve Edison YANCY BUTLER, Captain Margaret Cleghorn S. EPATHA MERKERSON.

1 - 1 PROTOTYPE

L.A. Detective, Bobby Mann, is partnered with a cybernetic female named Eve. Eve discovers evidence linking another cop, Mann's childhood friend, to a series of murders of international steel brokers.

Wr Robert De Laurentis

Dir Vern Gillum

1 - 2 DATING GAME

When the series of murders are linked by the same dating service, Eve is set up for a date with the suspect

Wr Glenn Davis, William Laurin

Dir Bill Corcoran

1 - 3 NO PAIN, NO GAIN

Eve enlists the help of an ex-cop to help investigate murders committed to obtain body parts.

Wr Michael Wagner

Dir Brian Grant

1 - 4 WATER, WATER EVERYWHERE

Mann's neighbor, a food-reporter, investigates the murder of a fellow reporter who broke a story about a contaminated reservoir.

Wr Neil Cohen

Dir Allan Arkush

1 - 5 TORCH SONG

Eve becomes friends with a singer who believes her sister was killed by the music executive that's tormenting her.

Wr Nancy Bond

Dir James A. Contner

1 - 6 MANN'S FATE

When a man seeking revenge on the cop who put him in prison destroys Mann's home, Mann moves in with Eve.

Wr Robert De Laurentis, Glenn Davis, William Laurin

Dir James Quinn

1 - 7 TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES

When a mother and daughter agree to testify against her husband's mobster employers, Eve is assigned to protect them and gains further understanding about the human condition.

Wr Morgan Gendel

Dir Armand Mastroianni

1 - 8 BILLION DOLLAR BABY

Parental instincts are sparked in Eve for a genetically engineered baby that's worth millions to baby brokers who will kill for the child.

Wr Nancy Ann Miller

Dir Vern Gillum

1 - 9 COLD, COLD HEART

Investigating the death of a doctor who's the only hope for a terminally ill cryonics scientist, Mann poses as Eve's dying brother.

Wr Phil Bedard, Larry Lalonde

Dir James Quinn

MARINE KONGAKA: MONSTER MARINE KONG

WR.DIR.*EPISODES: 26 YEAR MADE: 1960 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1CREATOR:*TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHEROFORMAT: SERIESLENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: JapaneseSEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 26DATE OF PREMIER:*AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE*SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:*FILMS:

MARTIAN CHRONICLES, THE

Col. John Wilder leads a human expedition to Mars, but finds his feelings torn when he discovers that he's killing the native population.

Rock Hudson wore his usual stolid expression throughout - a feeling usually shared by audience and critics alike. Actor of note are Darrin McGavin (KOLCHAK: THE NIGHT STALKER) and Roddy McDowal (PLANET OF THE APES, THE FANTASTIC JOURNEY).

The problems with this disappointing, expensive ($8 million) adaptation cannot be blamed entirely on Anderson's sluggish direction (see also LOGAN'S RUN) or Matheson's script (which establishes somewhat artificial continuities between the 11 stories he adapts), or even the inflexible performance of Rock Hudson as Colonel Wilder, the main linking character. Bradbury's own words, which for many readers work poetically on the page, tend to sound stilted when spoken, and clash with the realism that tv seems to demand. The answer might have been to make the words more austere and find a visual poetry to substitute, but in this the production mostly fails, though some aspects (the Martians and their strange masks) are authentically otherworldly.

The insistent moralising (not untrue to the book) comes over as hackneyed and sentimental. Another director might have done better than Anderson, but the book is intractably literary and probably inappropriate for film or tv. Bradbury was reported to be unhappy with the production. The producers for the series were Andrew Donally and Milton Subotsky.

WR. Richard Matheson

DIR. Michael Anderson.

EPISODES: 3 YEAR MADE: 1980 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

A HARLES FRIED PRODUCTION

CREATOR: RAY BRADBURY

TYPE OF SHOW: EARTH FUTURE

FORMAT: MINI-SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 92 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 3

DATE OF PREMIER: 09/08/1980

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 23/08/1980

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Col. John Wilder ROCK HUDSON, Ruth Wilder GALE HUNNICUTT, Sam Parkhill DARRIN MCGAVIN, Father Stone RODDY MCDOWALL, Elma Parkhill JOYCE VAN PATTEN.

Books Based on this series.

The Martian Chronicles (US)	Ray Bradbury	1950
The Silver Locusts (UK)	Ray Bradbury	1951

1 - 1 THE EXPEDITIONS

1 - 2 THE SETTLERS

1 - 3 THE MARTIANS

MASKED RIDER

Masked Rider is a costumed hero similar to the Power Rangers (although there is only one of him). In his 'civilian' identity he is Dex, a youth from the planet Edenoi. Edenoi is the planet which the Power Rangers' robot Alpha is from, a fact that ties the two programmes together. Edenoi is featured prominently in the episodes of Mighty Morphin Power Rangers which introduce Dex and Masked Rider, but the series Masked Rider itself is set on contemporary Earth. Edenoi is a war-torn planet in the midst of a civil war. The war on Edenoi is one in which a band of freedom fighters are faced up against Dex's uncle Count Dregon. Dex's grandfather is King Lexian and is the world's rightful ruler, making Dex a prince. King Lexian gives Dex great powers which enhance his natural insect-derived alien abilities. Dex is sent to Earth to protect our world from the advancing evil of Count Dregon and his army of insectoids.

Upon arriving on Earth Dex is 'adopted' by the Stewart family and learns to live among the humans while keeping a constant vigil for Dregon's forces. The Stewart family is a multi-ethnic family. The Stewart family consists of: the white patriarch Hal, a television repairman; Barbara, the Asian-American caterer; Molly, a teenage white girl who has both brains and beauty and Albee, a precocious 10-year-old black boy. Upon arriving on Earth and moving in with the Stewarts, Dex does his best to act like a normal human youth by enrolling in Leawood High School and developing a social life there. Dex brought his pet Ferbus to stay with him on Earth. Ferbus is a short bipedal creature with limited intelligence and a habit of finding trouble.

When Dregon or his forces threaten, Dex uses his powers to turn into the Masked Rider and defeat them. Dregon's chief aid in his conquest of Earth is Nefaria. The Masked Rider is essentially a super-powered grasshopper on a motorcycle.

Masked Rider is based on the Japanese SF show KAMEN RIDER BLACK RX (see separate entry) and a great deal of Japanese footage is used in the show. In one episode many of the Masked Riders joined forces based on the many different shows of KAMEN RIDER. The pilot episode of this show was based on KAMEN RIDER ZO.

Masked Rider is a spin-off from the highly popular children's series Mighty Morphin Power Rangers. Masked Rider, the series' title character, first appeared in the three-part 3rd season premiere of Mighty Morphin Power Rangers. The regular series premiere of Masked Rider, introducing the supporting cast, was first broadcast the week after the introductory MIGHTY MORPHIN' POWER RANGERS story was finished.

Like other Saban-produced series MIGHTY MORPHIN' POWER RANGERS and VR TROOPERS, Masked Rider gets its action and effects footage from a Japanese programme, in this case one called Blackrider RX. NOTE: Guest stars are not given on-screen credit and are thus unknown. The series was first seen on FOX in the UK and The Fox Kids Channel in the UK, with a further showing on ITV.

Masked Rider is an American adaptation of the Japanese television series Kamen Rider Black RX, the ninth in a line of series in the popular Kamen Rider Series franchise. It was produced by Saban and aired on FOX part of the Fox Kids program block from September 16, 1995 to November 20, 1996.

The main title character of Masked Rider was featured on a 3-part Power Rangers episode before his own series started. The Rangers themselves were never mentioned in the Masked Rider television series, however, as Saban reformatted the series to sever links with Power Rangers, because the popularity of that series was declining at the time (although its ratings have since recovered). The Rangers did, however, make a guest appearance in Masked Rider's short-lived comic book adaptation.

Characters

Main

Dex Stewart: The hero of the story. Dex originates from the fallen planet of Edenoi. On Edenoi, he is its prince and his grandfather is the king. In Edeno's royal family, the powers of the Masked Rider are passed down from generation to generation. As the current Masked Rider, Dex is sent to Earth to stop his evil uncle, Count Dregon, from enslaving the Earthlings. He is adopted by the Stewarts and tries to interact with American culture. Dex has many capabilities that Earthlings don't have. He can materialize a crystal on his forehead to transmit his thoughts to others, use it to scan and x-ray, and sense nearby danger. Dex has superhuman strength, super-speed, and telekinetic abilities. While trying to blend in, he appears unusual to everyone else. In order to transform into Masked Rider, he yells out the phrase, "Ectophase Activate!"

Ferbus: Dex's pet and friend. Ferbus is a furry bipedal animal with a beak. He wants nothing more than to be at Dex's side. Ferbus has a big appetite and can get into some trouble at times, but fortunately, Dex manages to bail him out at the right moment. When Ferbus first arrived, Molly and Albee had to hide him due to Hal's allergies; once he revealed himself, Ferbus was accepted as part of the family.

Hal Stewart: Dex's adoptive Earth father, a full-time handyman and part-time inventor. His personal workspace is filled with assorted junk and recycled parts. Hal often assembles a weird invention in his spare time which sometimes backfires. He has, however, invented very useful items with some help from Dex. One of his more successful creations is the alien detector alarm that goes off when Count Dregon or his agents come within the radius of the house. Hal was at one point allergic to animal fur, though he had seemingly developed a tolerance as he no longer sneezed around Ferbus.

Barbara Stewart: Dex's adoptive Earth mother. She works as a caterer and part-time as a homemaker. Barbara keeps an eye on the family's well-being and constantly has her husband stick to his diet. In one episode, Count Dregon banished Nefaria and brainwashed Barbara into his new commander but her love for Dex broke the spell.

Molly Stewart: Dex's adoptive Earth sister. Molly always tries to steer Dex in the right direction and help him adjust to life on Earth. Since his arrival, they develop a strong sibling relationship. Dex, in turn, always supports Molly to the best of his ability. In one episode, Molly tried out for the cheerleading squad and made the cut, though her career as a high school cheerleader is never mentioned afterwards.

Albee Stewart: Dex's adoptive Earth brother. Albee looks up to Dex with enthusiasm as any little brother would. He tries to help Dex get accustomed to Earth by encouraging him to watch a great deal of television. Of course, Albee's help can sometimes lead to Dex acting strange in public. In one episode, he dreamt that he gained the Masked Rider's powers. In his dream, Count Dregon put Albee through a triple death match against three tough Insectivores, but Albee managed to destroy them all.

Villains

Count Dregon: The main antagonist of the series, and Dex's uncle, the son of King Lexian. Because of his place in the royal lineage, Dregon couldn't inherit the Masked Rider powers. He was banished for his evil deeds. Dregon is determined to have the powers even at the cost of destroying his own family and his home world. Dregon took advantage of Edeno's peaceful way and enslaved everyone in full swoop. He wears a gold mask to hide scars he sustained in a duel with King Lexian, and in the episode "A Friend in Need", it is said that Dregon was an old rival of Lord Zedd from Power Rangers.

Nefaria: A human-looking female in black-and-red armor (possibly an Edinoite like Dex and Dregon). Nefaria uses the yellow feather on her helmet as a weapon or to write messages. She hardly goes into battle and is often seen on Earth giving commands. Nefaria has sometimes flirted with Dregon, but she's often ignored. Sometimes, Nefaria accompanies any monster in the Supernatural category. Her eyes regularly glow bright red, and she has an extremely sinister laugh.

Cyclopter: A blue robotic biker in a leather jacket, slack, and one red eye on his face. Cyclopter has faced Masked Rider in battle occasionally. He is armed with a laser gun and a powerful motorcycle named Cannon Wheels. His head can detach from his body to float around on its own (This implies that Cyclopter is probably a robot or cyborg). Sometimes, Cyclopter accompanies any monster in the Robot category.

Double Face: A tall man dressed in a blue-green naval coat and white tights. Double Face's distinct feature is that he has two faces: his primary face is the large red visor on his "helmet", and the tiny face on his forehead. He has gone to battle Dex personally with swords and daggers. Sometimes, he accompanies any monster in the Man-Beast category.

Gork: A small, unusual creature that speaks in rhyme. Gork is constantly hopping about and annoying everyone else on the Spider Base. He is most cowardly and quick to ditch a battle before it's even over. Sometimes, he accompanies any monster in the Alien Lifeform category.

Fact: A small robot that gives out statistical data, calculations, and probabilities concerning a plan before Count Dregon makes any final decision.

Plague Sentry: The leader of the Plague Patrol that oversees the enslaved Edenoites. He first appeared in the Power Rangers episode "A Friend in Need." His helmet has two long horns, and he rides a horse and is clearly immune to the toxic gas that the Edenoites are forced to excavate. He fits the category of Double Face's unit.

The Maggots: Tall, humanoid maggots that serve as grunts. They're not so bright, and hardly get the job done. Count Dregon makes reference, in one episode, that the Maggots belong to Nefaria when he commands her to "dispatch her Maggots." They can spew slime and shoot threads from their mouths.

Commandoids: An alternate set of grunts with hockey mask-like faces. They come in three colors: gray, brown, and black.

Plague Patrol: See List of Mighty Morphin Power Rangers monsters (Season Three).

Cogwarts: A trio of toad-like mutants that were sent to assist Plague Sentry and his Plague Patrol in their battle against Masked Rider and the Power Rangers. The three of them were destroyed by Masked Rider in "A Friend in Need Part III".

Supporting

King Lexian: Dex's grandfather. King Lexian bestowed the powers of the Masked Rider to Dex when he became far too old to carry on the responsibility. He still communicates with Dex from time to time, giving Dex guidance. King Lexian also built Alpha 5, who had been assisting Zordon years before Dex began his mission on Earth.

Magno: Masked Rider's talking car. Magno is a red car modeled after an ant-like bug. She is capable of driving at high speeds and digging underground.

Combat Chopper: Masked Rider's talking chopper. Chopper is a wisecracking motorbike modeled after a grasshopper. He can go at faster speeds than Magno. With the help of Dex, Chopper can also change into two other variations depending of which color Masked Rider uses, Super Gold or Super Blue.

Patsy Carbunkle: Patsy is a spoiled brat that thinks the world should revolve around her. Patsy always lies to further enhance her reputation as the most popular girl. Patsy is condescending towards the Stewarts and thinks they're all weird, and often rivals with Molly. She does, however, have a soft spot for Dex and occasionally tries to flirt with him.

Herbie: Patsy's friend and unwitting partner in her schemes, Herbie is a stereotypical geek. Although he is friends with the brattiest girl in Leawood, he is still a nice, but cowardly, guy.

Principal Henry Chalmers: The principal of Leawood High School. Chalmers is much like Principal Caplan and encourages teamwork and enforces discipline. He has an obsessive suspicion of Dex's unusual behavior. Although he means no harm, Chalmers constantly keeps his eyes on Dex hoping to find answers.

Moon Dude: The owner of the arcade that Dex, Molly, and Albee frequently hang out at. His arcade has been host to several events and competitions that Dex and his siblings have participated in, such as a dance contest and a video game tournament. In one episode, Moon Dude employed Dex when Dex was looking for a job.

Masked Rider Warriors: The previous Edenoian champions who used the powers of the Masked Rider, summoned through time to help Dex battle the super-monster Bruticon. Their varied appearances suggest the Masked Rider armor somehow changes with each user.

Warrior Leader: Wore a black bodysuit, green armor, silver gloves and boots, and a red scarf. This was Kamen Rider 1.

Warrior Commander: Had a green costume, a red helmet with green eyes, and a "V" on his Accelerator. This was Kamen Rider V3.

V3: Wore a gray suit with a large "X" on his chest. This was Kamen Rider X.

Riderman: Looked more a red/green lizard than grasshopper. This was Kamen Rider Amazon.

Masked Rider X: His helmet had large green eyes, and he wore red armor over a black bodysuit, and a big "S" on his chest (which is strange, considering his name). This was Kamen Rider Stronger.

Amazon: A green-and-brown Rider with the ability to fly (but was never seen flying onscreen). This was Skyrider.

Strongman: Wore a black-and-silver costume, and had special abilities built into his gloves. His arsenal included a dimensional warp which he used to retreat the Warriors from battle. This was Kamen Rider Super-1.

Z-Cross: A warrior in red-and-silver armor. This was Kamen Rider ZX (the only Rider whose name was not mixed up in the show, as his name is pronounced as "Z-Cross" in Japan as well).

Two additional Masked Rider Warriors appeared but were not named. One looked like the Warrior Leader, but had red gloves and boots (Kamen Rider 2). The other had an interchangeable arm weapon and wore a blue helmet that exposed the lower half of his face (Riderman).

Criticism

Despite the use of the official English language title of "Kamen Rider" ("Masked Rider") for the series, at the demands of Toei and the series' creator, the late Shotaro Ishinomori, was not a success. Among other problems, Masked Rider (like Power Rangers) was not a flawless transition in adapting the footage for Kamen Rider by far, and glaring errors occur time and again. Eventually, the editing team began using such a variety of footage from completely different Kamen Rider series and movies that not even long distance shots could disguise the fact the Masked Rider costume in such footage did not resemble the costume used in the U.S. version on the most frequent basis.

Furthermore, the fact that Kamen Rider, a very dark and serious franchise, was adapted into a goofy, situation comedy TV show was said to have enraged Shotaro Ishinomori (along with many fans of the original Kamen Riders). Ishinomori was reportedly so utterly repulsed by the series that he refused to allow any further American adaptations of his work by Saban.

However, this would not be the final form of Kamen Rider to show up in the US, since Media Blasters has announced the license to Kamen Rider the First for release in 2007, making it the second Kamen Rider title to show up in the US in over a decade, the first being JN Productions' release of Kamen Rider V3. However, unlike Saban's Masked Rider these are subtitled versions of the Japanese programs with no refilmed or edited footage.

The series used footage from Kamen Rider BLACK RX, and the two theatrical movies Kamen Rider ZO and Kamen Rider J. The ZO footage was used in the pilot episode "Escape from Edenoï" and the J footage was used in the episode "Saturday Morning Invasion." The cut editing in Masked Rider was so bad that the viewer could see the face of Tetsuo Kurata's (the original Japanese actor) character, Minami Kotaro (Kamen Rider BLACK RX's civilian form). The same goes for the editing between the Black RX and the ZO and J footage.

Count Dregon and Nefaria were the only villains to appear in the US footage; the other main villains appearances come from the BLACK RX footage. It can be easily seen that Dregon and Nefaria are played by one pair of actors when appearing on screen alone or with only each other, and by a different pair of actors when seen together with Double Face, Cyclopter or others. The Maggots were created for the series. Robo Rider and Hydrasect are the only monsters to appear in the US footage.

Ferbus was primarily an animatronic hand puppet performed by Paul Pistore (who performed the voice) and assisted by puppeteer Michael Brachfeld. The puppet was constructed by the Chiodo Brothers, who are known as the creators of the cult classic Killer Klowns from Outer Space.

Ferbus (stunt double: used in full body and long shots) was portrayed by Verne Troyer, the actor who would go on to play Mini-Me in Austin Powers: The Spy Who Shagged Me and Austin Powers in Goldmember. Verne was added to the cast when it was found that the mechanical "stunt Ferbus" didn't work properly.

Wendee Lee and Jason Narvy were well-known for their roles in Power Rangers for the roles of Scorpina (in voice) and Eugene "Skull" Skullovitich. In contrast to Kamen Rider BLACK RX, Ridon (Magno) had a male-voice.

A Maggot has made a cameo appearance in two Power Rangers series:

In Power Rangers: In Space, at the Onyx Tavern in "Flashes of Darkonda."

In Power Rangers: Lost Galaxy episode titled "Heir to the Throne."

In Kamen Rider, it was common near the end of the series for the heroes of previous Kamen Rider series to team up with the current hero against the leader of his enemies. These characters also appeared in an episode near the end of Masked Rider as well. Because this was the first season, they became the Edenoï warriors who had wielded the Masked Rider powers before Dex in the episode "Invasion of Leawood." Their original names are kept, but except for ZX ("Z-Cross"), they are all ascribed to the wrong Kamen Riders (Skyrider is Amazon, Amazon is Rideman, etc.). Some of them were renamed: Stronger became Strongman.

In Black RX, the protagonist used the Riboken. This weapon was thrust into the monster, slowly sawed in half causing massive sparks to shoot out as the Riboken sliced through the enemy. This was deemed extremely violent for children's programming and was softened. In Masked Rider, it was renamed the Electro Saber, which finished off monster by merely shooting fireballs at the monster.

The Masked Rider/Mighty Morphin Power Rangers team-up has so far been the closest thing to a Kamen Rider/Super Sentai team up. So far, the only other tokusatsu hero that Kamen Rider (of any incarnation) has teamed up with was Ultraman. As of 2006, the closest Super Sentai/Kamen Rider crossover in Japan is Kamen Rider Kabuto/Tendou and his sister being seen on the Boukenger sets during the "Super Hero Time" segments. Recently, there were segments which featured Satoru/BoukenRed fighting along side Tendou and eating at Bistro La Salle.

Ken Merckx (Count Dregon), who in this show was credited under the name Ken Ring, made additional appearances on Power Rangers: Time Force (in the human role of Dr. Michael Zaskin) as well as provided the voices of different monsters in different Power Rangers series, including the Org General Nayzor in Power Rangers: Wild Force.

David Stenstrom (Hal) would be best known the following year for providing the voice of the leader of the Machine Empire, King Mondo, in Power Rangers: Zeo. He also provided the voice of the fallen angel monster Demonite in Power Rangers: Lightspeed Rescue, among other monsters in future PR series.

At the time this show was released, the Power Rangers franchise was not crediting any guest stars on their show, nor were they crediting any voice actors for doing "Monster of the Day"-type voices. The second adaptation, VR Troopers, did not credit its guests and voices either. Masked Rider, however, changed that and credited everyone who guest starred on the show during the end credits, voice or otherwise. This trend would continue in the Beetleborgs series the next year, and the PR franchise would finally pick up this habit in 1999. Ironically though, T.J. Roberts was credited for his role as Dex during his only appearances in Mighty Morphin' Power Rangers during the credits for "A Friend in Need". Masked Rider's Super Blue outfit was only seen once in U.S. Footage.

According to a logo guide, Ferbus' theme was later used on Saban's 1996 logo. The music from the show would later be used for the English dub of Digimon.

WR. Shuki Levy, Shell Daneilson, Clifford Herbert, Peter Meech, Jane Macintosh, Joseph Kurr, Mark Litton, Diane Mathers, Margo McCahon, Kati Rocky, Mark Litton.

DIR. Shuki Levy, Worth Keeter, David Frost, Rob Malenfant.

EPISODES: 40 YEAR MADE: 1995 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 2

SABAN INTERNATIONAL./TOEI/BUG BOY PROD

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 25 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 27, (2) 13

DATE OF PREMIER: 16/09/1995 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 20/11/1996

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Prince Dex T.J. ROBERTS, Molly REHUNON J. SLAVER, Albee ASHTON MCARN II, Hal Stewart DAVID STERNSTROM, Barbara CANDICE CAMILLE BENDER, Count Dregon KEN RING, Nefaria JENNIFER TUNG.

RELATED SHOWS:

MIGHTY MORPHIN' POWER RANGERS, THE (inc. THE MIGHTY MORPHIN' ALIEN RANGERS)

KAMEN RIDER

KAMEN RIDER STRONGER

KAMEN RIDER BLACK

KAMEN RIDER BLACK-RX

BIG BAD BEETLEBORGS

POWER RANGERS ZEO

1 - 1 ESCAPE FROM EDENIO (1-2)

As Dex and his friends continue the fight to free Edenoi, Count Dregon sets his sights on Earth and sends down the powerful Destructosphere. When Dex learns of Dregon's plans, he travels to Earth to stop him and is taken in by the Stewart family before the battle begins.

Wr Shuki Levy, Shell Danielson

Dir Shuki Levy

1 - 2 LICENCE TO THRILL

Dex is ready to start driving, but he gets a big surprise when his instructor is revealed to be a disguised Insectivore.

Wr Joseph Kuhr

Dir Worth Keeter

1 - 3 PET-NAPPERS

The Stewart family prepares for an alien attack. Then, Count Dregon sends Nefaria to recruit a couple burglars. Now, Ferbus is in danger of being kidnapped. Can our hero protect his friend?

Wr Clifford Herbert

Dir Worth Keeter

1 - 4 BUGS ON THE LOOSE

Count Dregon plans to turn the Stewart family into insect warriors. Now, Ferbus must find Dex fast before Dregon's evil plan starts to bug the Stewart family. Then, Dex must summon his team. Can our hero save the Stewarts from Dregon's threat?

Wr Peter Meech

Dir Worth Keeter

1 - 5 ARCADE ACE

A video wiz at the Cosmos has Albee bummed. So, Dex faces off with the arcade ace. Then, while Ferbus discovers bananas, Dregon sends a monster to Earth. Can our hero stop Count Dregon's monster?

Wr Jane Macintosh

Dir David Frost

1 - 6 SUPER GOLD (1-2)

Lexion sends Denais on a mission to Earth. Then, he's kidnapped by Maggots, and turned into the evil Robo Rider. Can our hero rescue his friend?

Wr Mark Litton

Dir David Frost

1 - 7 THE GRANDMA FACTOR

The Stewarts' Grandma drops by for a visit. Meanwhile, Count Dregon sends his own visitors, who kidnap Grandma. Can our hero save Grandma from a pair of monsters?

Wr Peter Meech

Dir Worth Keeter

1 - 8 SOMETHING'S TRASHY

The kids start a clean-up campaign in Leawood and it's just another day at the office for Count Dregon. Then, Nefaria supervises a little cleaning herself. This gives Cyclopter another idea for an evil monster. Can our hero stop the monster?

Wr Clifford Herbert

Dir Worth Keeter

1 - 9 WATER WATER EVERYWHERE

The Stewarts plan a day at the pool and Count Dregon plans a way to defeat the Masked Rider and rule the world. While the kids enjoy the water and Ferbus enjoys the hot dogs, the enemy begins his evil plan. Can our hero stop it?

Wr Joseph Kuhr

Dir Worth Keeter

1 - 10 FERBUS' FIRST CHRISTMAS

It's Christmas time and a homesick Dex learns more about the holiday. Meanwhile, Count Dregon's crew plots to ruin things for everyone by having Nefaria sneak Maggots into the Stewart house to kidnap Santa Claus. Can Dex's Masked Rider powers save Christmas?

Wr Margo McCahon

Dir Worth Keeter

1 - 11 STRANGER FROM THE NORTH

A student from another country visits Leawood High. While the young visitor gets a tour, Count Dregon prepares a new threat for our hero. Now, the Masked Rider must battle Dregon's new monster. Can our hero stop his evil plan?

Wr Clifford Herbert

Dir Worth Keeter

1 - 12 DANCE CRAZY

The kids catch dance fever. Meanwhile, Count Dregon plans to defeat the Masked Rider with an all-new Insectivore. While the dancers compete for the big prize, Count Dregon has a big surprise for our hero. Can he stop the enemy's evil threat?

Wr Margo McCahon

Dir Rob Malenfant

1 - 13 THE GREEN-EYED MONSTER

The kids enjoy a day of dirt bike racing and Ferbus enjoys a few treats. Then, Ferbus is left behind and Dex goes looking for him. But, Count Dregon has a surprise for our hero. Can he defeat Dregon's evil forces? Also, Chopper gets over his jealousy of Dex riding another motorcycle real fast when Dregon creates a tractor beam strong enough to transport Dex to the Spiderbase and into his evil clutches. It's up to Magno and Chopper to rescue Dex before Dregon discovers a way to steal his powers.

Wr Kati Rocky

Dir Rob Malenfant

1 - 14 THE HEAT IS ON

A heat wave hits the city, making Ferbus get sick. The evil Heliotoid is to blame. Can our hero cool things off?

Wr Michael Ryan

Dir Worth Keeter

1 - 15 KNOW YOUR NEIGHBOR

The Stewarts become contestants on a hit TV show. Now, Count Dregon is steamin' mad and sends Cycloptor, the Maggots, and the Electrosect monster to the studio to stop the show. But, the show must go on. Can our hero stop the Maggots?

Wr Mark Litton

Dir Worth Keeter

1 - 16 THE DASH

Dex is running a little late, and Mr. Chalmers and the Coach discuss the state track championship. Then, "somebody special" flies by. Count Dregon hatches a evil plan. Can our hero Dex save the day????

Wr Mark Litton

Dir Worth Keeter

1 - 17 BATTLE OF THE BANDS

Dex, Molly and Albee enter a battle of the bands competition and begin rehearsing. But Dex has bigger things to worry about when he has to fight the Blue-Fanged Louse, an energy absorbing monster.

Wr Diane Mathers

Dir Rob Malenfant

1 - 18 FERBUS MAXIMUS

After a dubial showdown between Cycloptor and the Masked Rider, Count Dregon considers Nefaria's next evil plan. When Ferbus takes a bite, strange things begin to happen. Can this evil spell on Ferbus be reversed? and can are hero Dex save the day again????

Wr Jane Macintosh

Dir Rob Malenfant

1 - 19 UNMASKED RIDER

Patsy becomes suspicious of Dex, which gives Count Dregon an excellent idea. Then, Nefaria has a plan. And King Lexian sends Donais on a mission, bring the powers of Super Blue to Dex. Can our hero prevail against Dregon's evil forces?

Wr Jane Macintosh

Dir Rob Malenfant

1 - 20 FERBUS' DAY OUT

The family is going out to a restaurant to celebrate Hal and Barbara's wedding anniversary, but Ferbus can't come and is left alone at the house. He accidentally locks himself out and gets chased by dog catchers. Meanwhile, Dex has to battle a new monster and Double Face, who is armed with the powerful Super Sword.

Wr Margo McCahon

Dir Rob Malenfant

1 - 21 JOBLESS

Our hero seeks gainful employment. The job search is tough, until he lands a gig at the arcade. But Count Dregon unleashes a scheme to stop the new employee. Can our hero take the fizzle out of Count Dregon's plan?

Wr Jane Macintosh

Dir Rob Malenfant

1 - 22 BACK TO NATURE

The family goes camping and Count Dregon uses the opportunity to launch an attack. The Water Bug is sent to attempt to blow up Leawood Bay Bridge to lure Dex into a trap. Meanwhile, a scientist in the woods catches Ferbus, thinking he's a baby sasquatch.

Wr Joseph Kuhr

Dir Rob Malenfant

1 - 23 TESTING 1,2,3

Nefaria sets into a motion a scheme to ruin Masked Rider's secret identity, by tricking Principal Chalmers into studying Dex's homelife, trying to determine what makes him such an exceptional student. When his repeated testing fails to expose Dex, Dregon sends down Gork and Fleazoid to attack the city.

Wr Clifford Herbert

Dir Worth Keeter

1 - 24 SHOWDOWN AT LEAWOOD HIGH

One tough student arrives at school, named Big Bubba! Now, Herbie and Dex must show the new kid around, while Count Dregon sends his own new kid to school. Can both bullies be stopped at once?

Wr Margo McCahon

Dir Rob Malenfant

1 - 25 POWER CUT

An explosion in Leawood Canyon leads Dex into a trap, where the Boulder Beetle monster begins to sap the Masked Rider powers out of him via negative proton rays. If that's not bad enough, Doubleface has a War Saber and a Reptosect monster waiting to finish him off, and Dex is missing Albee's recital!

Wr Jane Macintosh

Dir Worth Keeter

2 - 1 SATURDAY MORNING INVASION

Count Dregon discovers alien competition. Can our hero defeat Count Dregon and his new titan of terror?

Wr Mark Litton

Dir Rob Malenfant

2 - 2 PASSENGER FERBUS

It's Grandma's 75th Birthday, and she's sent Dex's family airline tickets to come celebrate with her. Once he's aboard the plane, Dex won't be able to leave without revealing his identity, so Count Dregon sends down an Insectivore to enslave the Earthlings. Will Dex be able to transform and defeat the enemy in time?

Wr Mark Litton

Dir Rob Malenfant

2 - 3 MIXED DOUBLES

Count Dregon's plan to defeat our hero includes cloning the entire Stewart Family, and then cloning himself. Is this a new form of family value, or is Count Dregon just cloning around?

Wr Steve Sessions

Dir Worth Keeter

2 - 4 MILLION DOLLAR FERBUS

Albee puts Ferbus' name on a winning sweepstakes ticket. Meanwhile, Count Dregon has met his match. Can our hero beat the powerful Lavasect?

Wr Margo McCahon

Dir Worth Keeter

2 - 5 ECTOPHASE ALBEE

A backyard stumble transfers Masked Rider's powers to Albee. So Count Dregon and Nefaria send Manosect to battle our young hero. Can Albee use Masked Rider's powers to defeat Dregon's monster?

Wr Jane Macintosh

Dir Worth Keeter

2 - 6 RACE AGAINST TIME

The action moves into high gear! Count Dregon gives Albee a present, a car that cannot lose: the Revenator! He leads Dregon's forces to Dex's cave, where they plan to destroy Magno & Chopper. Can the Masked Rider put the brakes on this motor monster?

Wr Joseph Kuhr

Dir Rob Malenfant

2 - 7 CAT-ATOMIC

Cheerleading tryouts are coming up, and Molly is unsure about trying out. Count Dregon wants to transform the Leawood Lions mascot into Catatron. Can the Masked Rider face his ferocious feline fury before it mashes Molly's chances?

Wr Steve Sessions

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

2 - 8 INDIGESTION

Count Dregon cooks up a malicious meal, and it's fed to Dex. His worst nightmare is about to begin! Can the Masked Rider digest this dilemma?

Wr Glen A. May

Dir Rob Malenfant

2 - 9 DEX AT BAT

A banana and a monster become the key to a mystery. Our hero must brave a haunted house, and a strange & frightening bat beast. Count Dregon gives the Stewarts a big, hairy problem when he turns the bat Albee is watching into a monster. Masked Rider will have to give up his powers or see Leawood destroyed. Will our hero get a banana split?

Wr Clifford Herbert

Dir Rob Malenfant

2 - 10 THE INVASION OF LEAWOOD

Count Dregon unveils a dastardly plot. Unless Masked Rider surrenders to him in less than an hour, Leawood will cease to exist! King Lexian tells Dex that there is a small hope, the legacy of Masked Rider Warriors. Can our hero stop Count Dregon?

Wr Margo McCahon

Dir Rob Malenfant

2 - 11 THE EYES OF EDENOI

Count Dregon gives our hero the evil eye. Dex tells the legend of the Ocusect, how any Edenoite that looks at the eye in the middle of its forehead, is frozen with fear, forever. Dregon plans to use his own Ocusect to trick Dex into being pulled inside its eye, where he can take his Masked Rider powers. Is our hero in the eye of the storm?

Wr Mark Litton

Dir Rob Malenfant

2 - 12 EXIT NEFARIA, ENTER BARBARIA

There's mutiny on Spiderbase! Count Dregon unleashes an evil kidnapping scheme, turning Barbara Stewart into Nefaria's replacement. Can the Masked Rider save his mother from the clutches of Count Dregon?

Wr Joseph Kuhr

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

2 - 13 DETENTION

Count Dregon sends Maggots to implant the Brain Mite in Dex's mind. It will stab the Masked Rider's brain and take control of his arms and legs. Dex can't control himself! Can the powers of Masked Rider crack the Brain Mite before it scrambles his mind?

Wr Mark Litton

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

MASTER MYSTERY, THE

. The plot concerns the wealthy inventor and boss of International Patents Inc. (possibly a reference to Thomas Edison), played by Pike, who develops all kinds of contraptions in his secret underground laboratory, located below his isolated castle. Locke (Houdini) is the agent of the department of justice charged with investigating the company. He falls in love with the tycoon's daughter (Marsh), but both are mercilessly persecuted by a creature called Robot Q (Buckley) which constantly sequesters Marsh in her father's palace, having disposed of the old man, and puts Houdini in apparently inescapable traps. In the end, it is revealed that the robot was in fact a man who managed to endow himself with supernatural strength through a mysterious device.

An unfortunate experience for the famous escapologist Houdini, who had counted on films to make Houdini a lot of money and to immortalise his astounding escapes. The serial achieved neither, partly because he didn't appear to understand cinema very well. He had assumed that audiences would notice that the escapes he performed in the movie had not been faked through cinematic means but were being performed 'live' on camera. However, the time when viewers naively thought that what they saw on the screen was 'real' had long since passed and Houdini's adventures seemed no more extraordinary than those of dozens of other serial characters.

One of the writers, Reeve, did better work on THE CARTER CASE (1919), a serial in which Marsh and Pike also performed. Houdini made two more major films, unfortunately equally unsuccessful: The Grim Game (1919) and Terror Island (1920). The serial was produced by Benjamin A. Rolfe.

WR. Arthur B. Reeve, Charles A. Logue

DIR. Burton King

EPISODES: 15 YEAR MADE: 1918 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

OCTAGON FILMS

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: CRIME

FORMAT: CINEMA SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 15

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Locke HARRY HOUDINI, MARGARET (MARGUERITE) MARSH, WILLIAM PIKE, RUTH STONEHOUSE, CHARLES GRAHAM, Robot Q FLOYD BUCKLEY, JACK BURNS, EDNA BRITTON.

RELATED SHOWS:

CARTER CASE, THE

MASTER, THE

It began with two children, Nicky and Judy, and their dog, Jokey, becoming marooned on the isle of Rockall while out sailing off the west coast of Scotland. There they encounter a community under the sway of a despotic 150-year-old ruler who calls himself The Master. This sinister villain, aided by an inscrutable Chinaman, is plotting to hold the world to ransom by targeting high-powered destructive lasers on major cities.

A highly developed intellect, The Master controls people's minds by telepathy. Sensing that Nicky is also telepathic, he decides to groom the boy as his successor. But Nicky gets wise to his plotting and he and Judy, plus a handy squadron leader called Frinton, determine to thwart his diabolical schemes. This doesn't prove easy as The Master has a nasty habit of telepathically compelling his enemies to stand in the path of his lasers where they are instantaneously vaporised - a particularly vivid end met by several of the cast including eccentric scientist Dr McTurk (a terrific crazy-eyed role for John Laurie).

Underlying the story is the issue of whether it's right to kill for good, as the children decide that the only way to stop The Master is to kill him. In the final episode, with the fiend's world ultimatum delivered, Nicky lures him up to the top of the island intending to shoot him. In the event, though, the question is dodged as The Master slips and breaks a leg - a seemingly innocuous injury, but a fatal one for his brittle body. As the Marines arrive on the island, the kids and Frinton escape by helicopter seconds before The Master's fortress blows up.

From his granite fortress on the isle of Rockall, a 150-year-old, Shakespeare-quoting, telepathic madman plots to take over the world. But this was not your everyday story of world domination . . . this was The Master, one of television's creepiest villains, and the man who dragged ITV children's drama out of the shadow of the BBC. The six-part serial, shown in 1966, made history for its makers, Southern Television. It was the first big drama the company had produced for the ITV network and cost around £6000 an episode - more pro rata than other ITV companies were spending on their children's drama. And it reached number 2 in the kids' ratings - relegating Doctor Who to third, but denied the top spot by Pinky and Perky! The Master was adapted by Rosemary Hill, later head of single plays at the BBC, from the final novel of T.H. White, author of The Sword in the Stone.

Rockall being in reality an inhospitable lump of rock in the Atlantic, the location sequences were shot around Swanage and Portland. Veteran actor Olaf Pooley endured an hour-long make-up session to emerge as the old man in the rubber mask, while 16-year-old Adrienne Posta was 'strapped up' for her part as 12-year-old Judy. TV astronomer Patrick Moore made a guest appearance as himself. The story was written by Rosemary Hill and based on a novel by T.H. White. The producer for the series was T.H. White and John Braybon, the designer was John Dilly, and the title sequence was directed by Fred Tucker.

WR. Rosemary Hill.

DIR. John Braybon, John Frankau.

EPISODES: 6 YEAR MADE: 1966 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 1

A SOUTHERN INDEPENDENT TELEVISION NETWORK PRODUCTION

CREATOR: T. H. WHITE

TYPE OF SHOW: MANKIND

FORMAT: SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 6

DATE OF PREMIER: 11/11/1966

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 15/02/1966

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

The Master OLAF POOLEY, Chinaman TERENCE SOALL, Nicky PAUL GUESS, Judy ADRIENNE POSTA, Frinton GEORGE BAKER, McTurk JOHN LAURIE, Pinkie THOMAS BAPTISTE, Jim JOHN WOODNUTT, Father RICHARD VERNON, Bert ANTHONY EADY, Skipper ROY PATRICK, Pierpoint JOHN BROWN, Joe MORRIS PERRY, Sub-editor LEONARD WOODROW, Reporter FRANK JARVIS, TV Man LEWIS JONES, Himself PATRICK MOORE, Fish Fryer MARGARET ASHCROFT, Customer JENNIFER STUART, Newscaster JOHN MCGAVIN, Newsagent JOE GIBBINS, Customer YVONNE WALSH, TV Reporter ALEX MACINTOSH, Woman ZENA BLAKE, Teacher ROWENA TORRENCE, Office Worker IAN LINDSAY, Jokey Trained by John Holmes.

1 - 1 THE YELLOW HANDS

1 - 2 TOTTY MCTURK

- 1 - 3 BEHIND THE ANTLERS
- 1 - 4 THE SQUADRON LEADER
- 1 - 5 WORLD OF DISBELIEF
- 1 - 6 DEATH BY MISADVENTURE

MASTERS OF SCIENCE FICTION

Master of Science Fiction was an anthology series, displaying the works of authors such as Isaac Asimov, Ray Bradbury, Robert Heinlein and HG Wells.

The show will follow a similar format to Masters of Horror, with each hour long episode taking the form of a separate short film adaptation of a story by a respected member of the science fiction community hence the Masters in the title.

The show is to be hosted by the (off screen) computerized voice of physicist Stephen Hawking.

This is what happens to an original series at ABC when its mercurial entertainment president Stephen McPherson doesn't like it: It gets put on hold for more than a year, trimmed from six episodes to four and then buried deep within the bowels of television Siberia. That's what they call it when you air Saturday nights at 10 in August. It simply wouldn't be possible for a broadcast network to more effectively guarantee that a series be viewed exclusively by close friends and family members of the production team, unless they cut the national signal and screened it instead on someone's front porch.

But this, alas, is the fate that has befallen "Masters of Science Fiction," and the shame of it is that from the looks of the first two hourlong installments, the network is appallingly firing a fatal bullet through an anthology project of genuine artistic vision. The problem is, it apparently doesn't track as nearly shallow enough for the suits whose job it is to prevent pretty much anything that's unique and imaginative from accidentally leaking out to the public.

But hey, as long as there's room in sweeps for such literary masterpieces as "National Bingo Night" and "Shaq's Big Challenge," ABC should remain safely insulated from most programming that could somehow be construed as brainier than your average speed-dating mixer. Imagine the same guy whose network boasts such MENSA candidates as "The Bachelor" and "Wife Swap" referring to a show that dramatizes short stories by such legendary writers as Harlan Ellison and Robert A. Heinlein as "very uneven" and "a little bit problematic." That's how McPherson described "Masters" in justifying his slicing it down and burning it off. And by comparison, this would make "According to Jim" . What? A bellwether of consistency? A landmark comedic achievement?

There surely are times when it's ridiculously easy to feel like we've crossed over into "The Twilight Zone," isn't it? As it happens, this idea is particularly apt given how "Masters of Science Fiction" (not to be confused with Showtime's exceptional "Masters of Horror," which might or might not see a third season) pays homage to that Rod Serling classic. Co-produced by Starz Media and incorporating the computerized voice of iconic physicist Stephen Hawking as our unseen host, the four-parter (two other installments were inexplicably killed) finds such distinguished writers as Oscar nominee Michael Tolkin and Howard Fast and short stories from directors including Mark Rydell, also an Oscar nominee. And the ingenious, irascible Ellison adapted his own material in a teleplay for the short story "The Discarded" that airs Aug. 25.

First up on Saturday is "A Clean Escape," with a teleplay by Sam Egan and direction from Rydell. Oh, and by the way, it just so happens that it stars Judy Davis and Sam Waterston (Oscar nominees both) in the futuristic John Kessel tale about a dying doctor (Davis) who goes to great lengths to uncover why a patient of hers (Waterston) can't remember the past 25 years of his life. It's smart and twisty and intense and superbly performed, with Rydell's directorial work lifting the piece to a whole other level. The second, "The Awakening" (with Michael Petroni both scripting and directing from a Fast short story, airing Aug. 11) features Terry O'Quinn ("Lost") and Elisabeth Rohm in a superb hour that blends wartime drama with paranormal undertones to great unsettling effect.

Anne Heche and Malcolm McDowell co-star in the third episode, "Jerry Was a Man," airing Aug. 18 and adapted by writer-director Tolkin from the Heinlein tale. The Ellison contribution -- boasting the acting talents of a couple of greats named John Hurt and Brian Dennehy -- closes out a provocative, rich, lavishly produced, sharply performed quartet that ABC has seen fit to disdainfully conceal rather than proudly celebrate. But let them trim so much as a minute from the end of "Dancing With the Stars" and we'd never hear the end of it as the audience rose up in spastic rage.

Series Produced by Keith Addis .. Executive producer , Ben Browning .. Co-producer , Andrew Deane .. Executive producer , Adam Goldworm .. Co-producer , Brad Mendelsohn .. Executive producer , Brendan Ferguson .. Co-producer, John W. Hyde .. Executive producer , Grant Rosenberg .. Supervising producer, Lee Wilson .. Consulting producer.

Series Original Music by Laura Karpman.

Series Cinematography by James L. Carter, Jacek Laskus.

Series Film Editing by Stephen Mark, Conrad M. Gonzalez , Richard Nord.

Series Casting by Mary Jo Slater.

Series Art Direction by Susan Parker.

Catherine Schroer .

Series Set Decoration by Josh Plaw.

Series Costume Design by Deborah Everton.

Series Makeup Department - Amanda McGowan .. First assistant makeup artist , Julie Beaton .. Assistant makeup artist, Sarah Pickersgill .. Special makeup effects artist , Geoff Redknapp .. Special makeup effects artist.

Nicholas Podbrey .. Special effects makeup coordinator.

Series Second Unit Director or Assistant Director - Tarnya Cook .. Third assistant director , Alexia S. Droz .. Second assistant director , David Markowitz .. First assistant director, Peter D. Marshall .. First assistant director.

Series Art Department - Gavin De West .. Props , Terry Weaver .. Property master, John Beatty .. Construction coordinator, Eric Partridge .. Assistant property master, Kevin Tomecek .. Construction foreman.

Series Sound Department - Jay Cheetham .. Background sound editor , James Fonnyadt .. Sound designer, Andre Iwanchuk .. Dialogue editor , Glen Noseworthy .. Adr mixer , Mike Beckett .. Music editor, Kevin Belen .. Sound re-recording mixer / foley mixer, Todd R. Mason .. Sound effects recordist , David Scott .. Sound effects editor , Graeme Hughes .. Sound re-recording mixer, Iain Pattison .. Sound re-recording mixer , Paul A. Sharpe .. Sound re-recording mixer, Bill Mellow .. Sound re-recording mixer.

Series Special Effects by Dan Rebert .. Creature effects supervisor / prosthetic supervisor , Chris Hatchwell .. Lead fabricator , Lars Lenander .. Special effects coordinator .

Series Visual Effects by Todd Liddiard .. Digital compositor , Bryce Rieger .. Digital compositor , Julie Bergman .. Animator / visual effects , Lionel Lim .. Digital compositor, Adam Marisett .. Visual effects artist , Christopher Ahrens .. Visual effects artist , Sébastien Bergeron .. Digital effects supervisor , Adrian Chan .. Modeler / modeler and texture artist, Stephen Paschke .. Digital effects artist.

Andrea Caretta .. Digital artist: title design , Lisa K. Sepp .. Visual effects producer , Lee Wilson .. Visual effects supervisor.

Series Stunts - Brett Chan .. Stunt coordinator , Christopher Gordon .. Stunt Double: John Hurt.

Series Camera and Electrical Department - Prem Marimuthu .. Rigging gaffer , Harold Bernard .. Second assistant camera: "a" camera , Fraser Boyle .. Key grip , Larry Portmann .. Focus puller: "a" camera , Jim Van Dijk .. Camera operator: "a" camera / steadicam operator , Gary Viola .. Camera operator: "b" camera , Christopher K. Stenberg .. Video assistant.

Pascal Jean Provost .. Cinematographer: second unit.

Series Casting Department - Lynette Therrien .. Casting assistant.

Manny Fernandez .. Casting assistant.

Series Costume and Wardrobe Department - Daevina Danyluck .. Truck costumer, Allisa Swanson .. Costume design assistant / assistant costume designer , Audrey Wong .. Costume set supervisor.

Series Editorial Department - Rosmary Conte .. Post-production coordinator , Nicholas Sousa .. Assistant editor / first assistant editor, Tim Craig .. First assistant editor , Amy Flint .. Assistant editor.

Series Other crew - Heather Douglas .. Assistant to producers, Jennifer Ross .. Music supervisor , Erin Dixon .. Production assistant, Stephanie Herbert .. Assistant production coordinator , Deborah Loven .. Assistant accountant , E. Jeff Olson .. Assistant: Mr Mendelsohn , Adrian Salpeter .. Assistant: Lisa Richardson, Nora Kroll-Rosenbaum .. Assistant to composer , Nicole Oguchi .. Production coordinator , Gary Stamford .. Set wireman , Frederik Wiedmann .. Orchestrator / score mixer.

Karen Lo .. Assistant location manager.

Janet D. Munro .. Script supervisor.

Nicholas Podbrey .. Puppeteer.

WR. Sam Egan, Harlan Ellison, Robert A. Heinlein, John Kessel , John Kessels , Josh Olson , Michael Petroni , Michael Tolkin , Walter Mosley, Robert Sheckley.

DIR. Jonathan Frakes , Michael Petroni , Mark Rydell , Michael Tolkin , Harold Becker , Darnell Martin.

EPISODES: 4 YEAR MADE: 2007 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

IDT ENTERTAINMENT, INDUSTRY ENTERTAINMENT, AMERICAN BROADCASTING COMPANY (ABC), ANCHOR BAY ENTERTAINMENT

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: ANTHOLOGY

FORMAT: ANTHOLOGY

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 6

DATE OF PREMIER: 04/08/2007 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Himself (narrator) STEPHEN HAWKING.

1 - 1 A CLEAN ESCAPE

Set in a post-Apocalyptic future, psychiatrist Dr. Deanna Evans interrogates a confused man who is suffering from a lapse in memory.

Wr Sam Egan

Dir Mark Rydell

1 - 2 THE AWAKENING

In war torn Baghdad, U.S. soldiers discover a mysterious casualty which they can't identify as human.

Wr Michael Petroni

Dir Michael Petroni

1 - 3 JERRY WAS A MAN

This futuristic episode revolves the seventh richest couple in the world. Their lives take a turn when they acquire an anthropoid named Jerry.

Wr Michael Petroni

Dir Michael Petroni

1 - 4 THE DISCARDED

A group of people are sentenced to drift in space forever, they take one final chance at returning back to Earth.

Wr Josh Olson, Harlan Ellison

Dir Jonathan Frakes

1 - 5 LITTLE BROTHER

Set in the future, we are introduced to courtrooms without human judges or juries, and automated justice is the law of the land.

Wr Walter Mosley

Dir Darnell Martin

1 - 6 WATCHBIRD

In the not to distant future, a society creates robots to prevent killing before it takes place, they soon discover the fragile formula of life and death.

Wr Sam Egan

Dir Harold Becker

MATHS-IN-A-BOXAKA: MATHS-IN-A-BOX: EVENS AND ODDS AND ENDS

Tagline "Tikki Tikki Tox it's Maths-In-A-Box."

An Alien (Powka) from an unknown place crash lands on Earth. His space ship is the size of a dice and the on board computer is now broken. He meets two children who, through a series of adventures, teach him and his computer Maths in an effort to fix his space ship so he can get 'home'. To get into the space ship they say 'Tikki Tikki Tox, Into the Box' and vice versa to get out. At the end of each show the computer sings a song to show understanding of what it has been taught.

Original Music by Alex Glasgow, produced by Morton Surguy. Shown on BBC1.

WR. Alex GlasgowDIR.*EPISODES: 0 YEAR MADE: 1980 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 1*A BRITISH BROADCASTING CORPORATION (BBC) PRODUCTION.CREATOR: ALEX GLASGOWTYPE OF SHOW: ALIENS ON EARTH FORMAT: SERIESLENGTH (MINS): 18 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: EnglishSEASON BREAKDOWN: (1)DATE OF PREMIER: 25/05/1980 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE*SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:*FILMS:

Powkah EUGENE GEASLEY, Tracy MELISSA WILKES, Paul CLARK FLANAGAN, Mrs Dixon PIPPA SPARKES, computer ALEX GLASGOW

MAX HEADROOM

Set '20 minutes into the future', it depicts a decaying urban environment where television is the only growth industry. A fierce ratings battle is raging and Network 23 is winning, thanks to its use of 'blipverts' - a form of subliminal selling where 30 seconds of commercials are condensed into a three-second burst, giving viewers no time to change channels. But the blipverts, created by the station's teenage computer whiz-kid Bryce Lynch, have a lethal side-effect - they cause some viewers literally to explode. Anxious to preserve profits and ratings, Network 23 president Grossman is determined to keep the lid on the story.

But when the station's own star investigative reporter Edison Carter uncovers disturbing evidence, Grossman and Bryce unleash two disreputable body-snatchers to bring him in. After a remarkable pursuit in which Carter's 'guide' Theora Jones and Bryce vie for control of the building's computer-operated systems, Carter comes a nasty cropper on a car park barrier. Bryce proposes to keep Carter's disappearance quiet by translating his memory and physical appearance into data, and computer generate him on to a TV screen. Thus Max Headroom is born, taking his name from the last words Carter saw on the car park sign before he blacked out. Ultimately, Carter gets his man and Max winds up in the hands of a hard-up pirate TV channel called Big-Time Television where his scratch-style stammer and razor wit make him a mega hit.

Max Headroom began as a stylish satire on television culture and became a phenomenon. The world's first computer-generated TV presenter turned into one of the 1980s most charismatic media celebrities, moving from video linkman to chat-show host, Coca Cola salesman and star of an American adventure series from the makers of Dallas. In the end, over-exploitation may have killed the video star, but the Max Headroom effect has been felt world-wide.

Max's genesis started in 1982, with a commitment by Chrysalis Records executive Peter Wagg and C4's commissioning editor Andy Park to find a new way of linking pop videos. The name and characterisation came from advertising copywriter George Stone, and visualisation from directors Rocky Morton and Annabel Jankel. The result was a £750,000 television film, Max Headroom, written by Steve Roberts, first screened on Channel Four in April 1985.

Once the Max Headroom character was established, the media machine took over. The film was followed by the video and chatshow series, The Max Headroom Show, lucrative ad campaigns, records, books, computer games and even cosmetics. In America, Lorimar produced a multi-million dollar adventure series for the ABC network, beginning with a reworking of the original film story. Some 14 episodes were made, spanning two seasons from March 1987, but failed to secure high enough ratings to justify any more.

Canadian actor Matt Frewer reprised the role which had called for a four-and-a-half hour make-up job to transform him into his alter ego (and an equally uncomfortable one-and-a-half hours to take it all off again), while Amanda Pays was also back as Theora Jones. Among new faces in the series were Chris Young as Bryce Lynch - now more of a good guy - and Jeffrey Tambor as Carter's producer, Murray.

Steve Roberts remained with the show - as executive story editor, a regular writer, and co-producer of the second season. The classic 'coals to Newcastle' deal finally took place when the Max Headroom series was screened back where it all began, on Channel Four, in 1989.

Matt Frewer who played the character of Max Headroom, also starred in the Canadian SF/Paranormal show PSI-FACTOR : CHRONICLES OF THE PARANORMAL.

Max Headroom the character was in existence long before the TV series that bore his name was even thought about. Max first appeared on British TV in the early '80s as the presenter of a pop music video show. Only his head would appear against a computer generated background and for a while the public was led to believe that Max was indeed a computer generated image himself. In reality he wasn't. He was Matt Frewer, a Canadian actor. As Max he was loud, obnoxious and had the tendency to stutter. After a couple of years as a video presenter Max was given an origin story which was broadcast on Channel 4 in 1985. Known by several different titles- Max Headroom: the Original Story. Max Headroom the Movie and Rebus: The Max Headroom Story- this British production served as the pilot for the American TV series that followed.

In Max Headroom: The Original Story Max was given an origin. Set in the near future. 'Twenty Minutes into the Future' to be exact, television is the only growth industry and the big TV networks are continuously trying new things to get the ever-important ratings. Edison Carter is an investigative TV reporter, star of the show What I Want to Know, a live series controlled by Theora Jones at the Network 23 studios. One of Network 23's newest innovations was blipverts a type of advertising that compresses an entire commercial break into a few seconds, preventing the audience from changing channels. They have one unfortunate side effect: people watching them sometimes explode. Edison Carter discovers this fact, and before he can go public finds himself pursued by a couple of thugs who plan to take him to a body bank. While being chased his motorcycle crashes and he becomes unconscious. Boy genius Bryce Lynch transfers Edison's personality into a computer where it becomes Max Headroom, taking his name from the last thing he saw: a sign in the garage stating 'Max Headroom, 2.3M'. Max is seen by Blank Reg, the owner of a small pirate TV station Bigtime TV, as the perfect means to boost his ratings and by the pilot's end Max is with Bigtime.

When Max first came to America he came as the host of The Max Headroom Show on Cinemax a talk show with Max as the presenter He also appeared on Late Night With David Letterman and became the star of several Coca-Cola ads. By the spring of 1987 he was ready for his own American TV series. The pilot episode for this series was similar to the UK pilot. Omitted from it is the body bank subplot- this would appear later in a separate episode- and Max becoming part of Bigtime TV- he stayed with Network 23. The series had three performers from the pilot reprise their roles: Frewer as Max Edison, Amanda Pays as Theora and William Morgan Shepard as Blank Reg. In addition Bryce Lynch boy genius made the transformation from bad guy to good guy. Max Headroom however is not the star of the series rather Edison Carter is. The episodes are about Edison Carter investigative reporter. Max is only around as comic relief and to occasionally help in the investigation.

The series was a moderate success on ABC and after a spring tryout ABC renewed the series for the fall of 1987. However a new night and time provided ratings which were somewhat of a disappointment and the series was yanked from the schedule after only 5 episodes were broadcast (3 additional episodes had been completed and several others were in various stages of production). The last of these to be broadcast had Max saying some unkind things about the network executives where the preview of next week's episode would have been, if there were a next week. Two of the unaired episodes were broadcast the following year as 'NEW' programming in a schedule of mostly reruns. The final episode was first broadcast in Britain and has since shown up in the United States during reruns of the series on various cable networks.

Perhaps the series was cancelled because it took the executives at ABC the better part of a year to realise that they were the network television executives who were often portrayed on the show in a unfavourable fashion. Max in fact referred to them that way in the never broadcast 'next episode' promo which was part of the final episode. The 'promo' simply stated that there would be no last episode due to some idiot's decision to cancel the series.

The executive producers for the series were Philip De Guere (Ep. 1), and Peter Wagg (Eps. 2-14), the producers were Peter Wagg, Brain Frankish and Steve Roberts (Season two only), executive story editors were Steve Roberts (Season one) and Michael Cassutt (Season Two). The music was created by Cory Lerious (Season One), Michael Hoening, and Chuck Wild (Season Two, main theme), the designer was Richard B. Lewis and the directors of photography were Paul Goldsmith and Robert Stevens (Eps. 1, 3 only). The series first UK run began on Channel Four from the 2nd Maruha - 14 June 1989, two years after the series had premiered in the US.

A mass media phenomenon often springs from unlikely roots. In the case of Max Headroom, the phenomenon began with music videos. From there, it blossomed into talk shows, books, commercials and a prime-time dramatic television show. It was in 1981 that Peter Wagg, then head of Creative Services for Chrysalis Records in London, received a call from Andrew Park of England's newest television station, Channel Four, asking for a half hour show for rock videos. Chrysalis Records agreed and arranged financing, but who would be the host? Seeking some thing interesting and innovative, Wagg went to a friend, advertising copywriter George Stone, for advice. Stone suggested a computer-based format. It was Stone who suggested the title Max Headroom, an abbreviation of "maximum headroom," the street-sign warning for tall trucks entering tunnels or underpasses.

By 1983, Wagg had pulJed in the video/animation directing team of Rocky Morton and Annabel Jankel for more nourishment and inspiration. (They directed the 1993 feature Super Mario Brothers.) Believing that just computer graphics and animation were not enough, they decided that Max needed personification. A group of these individuals-professionals in the fields of music, advertising and video-realized what they really desired was a "paranoid conspiracy movie." By this time, they had settled on an image: an investigative reporter who bashed his head against a lifting car barrier-with the words "Maximum Headroom 2.3" emblazoned in yellow and black-while trying to escape villains on a motorcycle. Channel Four was interested in a video series but just didn't have the financial clout for a one-hour TV movie. So, in 1984, Wagg took the concept to the HBO/Cinemax offices in New York. Intrigued by the ideas and images, within 48 hours the three-piece suits in the board room at HBO/Cinemax decided they were willing to gamble and forked over half a million dollars to Wagg.

By summer George Stone was no longer involved, so Steve Roberts, a writer, penned a screenplay. The rough story of Blipverts was sketched out. In this tale of subliminal advertising via television in the twenty-first century, it was Network 23's investigative reporter, Edison Carter, who discovered the harmful effects their commercials were having on viewers. People were actually exploding when they overdosed on the ads! It was up to Carter to expose this insidious plot that had brought his network to the top of the ratings war. But when he got too close, Carter ran for his life and accidentally brought about the birth of Max Headroom.

Even while the team fine-tuned the script, Wagg continued work on a Max Headroom video version. Before the project could go any further, somebody had to portray Max. An extensive casting search led them to a Canadian, Matt Frewer. An early decision was not to use a British actor because Wagg wanted Max "to travel," to break the international boundaries and not have a Brit get in the way of that. In October 1984, a script was finalized, and shooting commenced in November at Wembley, at an abandoned gasworks. In early 1985, Max Headroom premiered on Channel Four and was well received. This premiere served as a prelude to the video series. From here, the intensive media interest and the rumblings of a worldwide phenomenon began. By fall 1985, the film and video series began running on the Cinemax cable channel in the U.S. Steve Roberts added fuel to the forthcoming frenzy when he slapped together a pictorial novelization of the film and a second book; a humorous Max Headroom's Guide to Life was released.

Dubbed "the ultimate talk show" The Max Headroom Show on Cinemax was witty and flashy, with state-of-the-art jokes. It pulled in such guests as musician Sting, actors Jack Lemmon, Michael Caine and William Shatner, and hairstylist Vidal Sassoon, plus a variety of other entertainers. How much further was this computer-generated video character going to go? A media phenomenon usually involves spinoffs such as lunch boxes, greeting cards, watches, t-shirts, skateboards, computer software games, and tons of copies of the film on videotape-and Max Headroom was no exception.

Flirting with the danger of overexposing an already widely recognized cult and pop figure, Wagg signed on a major corporate sponsor, Coca-Cola. Max Headroom would do commercials for their brand new product, the new Coke. The slogan fit into the character's predilection for stuttering-"C-C-Caatch the wave!" Alien director Ridley Scott directed two of the commercial series. The impact was amazing-stuttering became "in" at schools and colleges across America.

When Wagg approached NBC and CBS with the idea of an ongoing one-hour dramatic series built around Max Headroom, they turned him down, perhaps sensing the short lifespan of the gimmicky, smarmy talk-show host-cum-softdrink-pitcher. But ABC, then the third place network, gave him a free hand and said he could do it his way.

At this point, Simon and Simon producer Philip DeGuere climbed aboard. "I thought it was hysterical that an American television network wanted to take Max Headroom and put it in front of the American audiences," says DeGuere. "I was given a script of the one-hour British pilot that was done. I was told that ABC wanted to do this on American television, would I be interested in doing it? I was really quite astonished. I had never seen anything like it before, and I thought it was wonderful. It was obviously a biting satire on television. I also thought that there was no conceivable way that the show would work for any length of time on American television because it was obvious to me that the people involved in putting Max on American television didn't understand the show. Putting Max Headroom on American television is a little like George Bush saying he's going to vote for Bill Clinton. Everything about Max Headroom was diametrically opposed to American network television issues. And we could spoof.

Therefore, it was apparent to me that the only reason they wanted to put it on the air was because they were familiar with the cult-like appeal of the character. I would never have taken a project like Max Headroom to a network based on a concept or a script." DeGuere says that it was very dangerous for him to become involved with something that he believed the producing network did not understand. Alarm bells were ringing in DeGuere's ears over potential disagreements and creative differences because of the very nature of the subject: a television series satirizing network programming and network manipulation of viewing audiences. But the existing British pilot was the ace up his sleeve. "I said, 'Look, here's this film. Here it is! It's 60 minutes long. You want that on American television, correct?' And they say, 'Yes!' So I said, 'Ok, I'll put that on American television for you.'" says DeGuere. "Every time I would get into trouble, I would just go back to that and say, 'Wait a minute! Look! Here's the original film. This is what you said you wanted. This is what I'm doing. Now, get off my back!"

That was the position he adopted to produce the American pilot. "I made it very clear that I had no interest in actually doing the series," points out DeGuere. "All I was going to do was be executive producer of the pilot. I knew that doing the series would be a nightmare beyond belief. Especially when you get into the grind of series television, and you have a network on your case, and you're talking all the time, and you're dealing with something that they are absolutely incapable of understanding-you'd never be able to keep the show on track! It would just be an unpleasant experience. As a consequence I have to say I did not have any vision for the stories. It was not my job, and I didn't have to worry about it. All I did was see to it that the original show was cleaned up and made a bit more comprehensible and rendered more palatable for American viewers."

Of the premise and the intended audience, DeGuere says, "The style of the series was to see stories on film from Edison Carter's camera viewpoint. It was done well and imaginatively, and I think the setting was fabulous. I think stories could have been told in that setting, but I don't think that was a show that ever should have been on American network television. That show would have been better if it was done like Dr. Who, or the new Star Trek. That might have been better if it had been done directly for syndication."

The show's avant garde nature categorized it as "an experiment as far as ABC was concerned. [I felt there would be] certainties of having the same kinds of network interference [on this show] as I did on Twilight Zone. I wasn't directly involved with it, so I can't say whether it was similar to those experiences. All I can say is that the network insisted on trying to kick over the show into production and that cannot have a beneficial effect on them."

Director Thomas J. Wright had a much closer involvement with Max Headroom than did his friend DeGuere. "Phil wanted me to do the pilot and I wasn't available to do it. But as soon as I was available, I came in. It really was a lot of fun. But again, a very expensive show as you can tell by looking at it."

Responsible for three episodes of the series, "Rakers," "War" and "Dieties," Wright remembers the show fondly and says, "The shoot was probably 14 to 15 hours a day for an eight-day shoot. It was very complicated in putting it together. There was lots of video playback, lots of live feed, lots of action, lots of technical stuff. Coordination and everything had to be well thought out. But it was also a lot of fun. Great people. They were very tough shows, and I learned a lot."

Evaluating his work, Wright says, "I did two out of three very good shows for them. I gave them a really good cinematographer, and the shows I did are very, very good. A lot of style, good acting, worked very well. I had a lot of fun. The cast and crew were really into it. But they were very difficult shows." Shooting on-site was one of the staples of the show, giving it a rundown, dirty and decrepit, futuristic look. Wright remembers the show's field trips. "When we did 'War,' we went on location for five to six days in Fontana at the old steel plant they were tearing down, near San Bernadino. 'Rakers' was done at an old building at Long Beach that was going to be torn down. We shot a lot there and built sets in this building and on the stage in L.A. But we would look for different places, and they liked what I was doing. For instance, when I got ready to do 'War,' they let us stay on location for six days. On TV this is not something that's done. You just don't do it. But we did it, and it was one of the best shows and one of my favorite shows. 'Rakers' and 'War' are very complex and full of so much style. Imagewise, scenes, acting, special effects, costumes everything. 'War' is like a little movie. When I look at it-and I usually don't look at the stuff I've done-I can't even believe what was in 'War'! Some of The Running Man was also shot at the Fontana steel plant before it was torn down. It was very otherworldly looking."

Max Headroom, says Wright, "was a whole new concept for TV and was supposed to be a big breakthrough and a lot of new inventive stuff. But that was one of the problems. If you are going to do a show like that, then you go all out, which they did at first. It was always over-budget because it was a big, big deal. But after the first season they decided they couldn't keep doing this, so they started trimming. New people came in, and money and time was cut and the scripts changed to accommodate that and it's not the show it was any more. It was taken out of their hands." What made the show's lifespan so short, according to Wright, was, "when it became so expensive to make and the audience started dropping off because they started cutting the money, which meant they cut stories, and the quality started going down compared to the first ones, it just didn't make it."

One of the difficulties of a show like Max Headroom was to try not to lose focus of the title character, given the many elements installed in the show. DeGuere and Wright readily acknowledge this problem.

"It became something of a gimmick," agrees DeGuere. "And it wasn't an easy gimmick to incorporate. Television works according to formulas. Take, for example, The Incredible Hulk. The formula of The Incredible Hulk was very simple. Twice on every fifteen-minute segment, the guy had to Hulk out. The theory is to construct a story that allows that to happen. Some very successful television series have been built around that kind of basic gimmick. So, just because there's a gimmick involved doesn't mean it isn't going to work."

"Max Headroom as a character tended to be something of a gimmick because it didn't really have a lot to do in a lot of the shows." "That's right," says Wright. "People got tired of the same old thing over and over, and it was the fight against the [ABC] network. Again, according to what you want to do, and what input you give the writers, and so forth, it starts. And if you start being limited it reflects ~all the way down the line. It's like dominoes. It's very true, everything gets affected once you start pulling out certain things."

Matt Frewer, the star of the show as Edison Carter/Max Headroom, says that in the end, when the show got pulled from ABC's schedule, "It was really tragic. I went out and got drunk and all I was worried about was my headache!" Frewer's practical reaction was, "Okay, on to the next thing. It wasn't too bad because that kind of thing happens. I think it got canceled because the ratings were so bad. Also, because I think it became a sort of culty thing, and I think we bit the hand that fed us a few times when we probably should have nibbled. I think we were also guilty in the end of style over content. There was so much time spent on trying to get the brightwhite-light-through-smoke look of the show. As great as it was, it made the characters and the plots suffer a bit."

"Yes, it did," agrees producer DeGuere. "Although I don't know if that was necessarily part of the problem. A lot of the successes during the eighties were often style over content. Specifically, Miami Vice and Moonlighting. I don't think style over content is necessarily a bad thing in TV in terms of success. But I agree with all of the other things that Matt said. And I think that in context, just from my own experience, let me explain this way: The premise that Max Headroom was based on is very difficult to include in storylines. It was very hard to work in the Max Headroom character in all the stories and give Edison Carter something to do and [have] all the other characters bouncing around. And because they didn't want to sacrifice any of those elements that were stylistic, I think the evolution of the stories undoubtedly suffered in some regard. I wasn't close enough to the process to really know that well."

Wright says, "I don't know why the show would suffer because of style-but what I saw was ... the D.P [director of photography] kept a really good style and good look to the show, then after so many episodes he wanted to leave and do other things. I don't know. It depends on the director. You always want to create a style on the show you do, but still, it shouldn't inhibit your storytelling at all. Matt was great and was in it one thousand percent, but when you start seeing it happen, there's nothing that you can do."

Asked if he accomplished what he set to do with his character, Frewer is philosophical. "Not really. The Edison Carter character ended up being a fairly sort of strait-laced, lantern-jawed hero. I wanted to do more than that, but I was discouraged from doing that, and in a way that was okay because it was a real contrast to the way I played Max-a sort of wacky, let-your-rubberhair-down kinda guy. It was unsatisfying to do it the way I was encouraged to do it. ... But Max was a great calling card for me. There are plenty of actors out in Los Angeles who don't have anything, and here I was playing two leads in a TV series, so it was a fantastic springboard. I'm not bitter about it at all."

In the end, Wright notes with a grin that there was a lot of irony attached to the show because it was a series that spoofed network programming and politics. "I think one of the inside jokes was we would do a scene and the network will never get it, you know, and it would be a sort of a turnabout on what was happening with the real network and the production company. Sometimes we'd write an off sided scene to that and it went and the real network thought it was great. That happened quite a few times."

Looking back, DeGuere feels that in the end the show "turned out very well. In fact, I personally liked the American version better than the British version. I think it makes more sense. There were some things in the British version that were left hanging. Oh, I think the series turned out very well. I was quite impressed. However, I never expected it to be a success. Based on my experience in television, I had a pretty good idea of how much unusual entertainment television audiences could sit through. And Max was way too much for everyone. It was fast moving, it didn't give you a chance to go to the bathroom in the middle of the show, you really had to pay attention to it to follow it. On top of that, it was very, very funny in a very unique kind of way, and there wasn't anything quite like it on television. I just didn't think there was any possibility of it finding an audience. I couldn't resist putting something that outrageous on TV "

CAST NOTES

Matt Frewer (Edison Carter/Max): Born 1958. After this show, Frewer landed two sit-coms, Doctor, Doctor (1989) on CBS and Shaky Ground (1992) on Fox. He also guest-starred in Star Trek-The Next Generation's "A Matter of Time." He's also been busy with comedy features like Short Time (1990) with Dabney Coleman.

Amanda Pays (Theora Jones): Born 1959. After Max, Pays, who is married to L.A. Law's Corbin Bernsen, returned to prime time in 1990 with a role in The Flash as Dr. Tina McGee. She's also appeared in the Fox series The X-Files (1993).

WR. Steve Roberts, David Brown, Michael Cassutt, Joe Gannon, Philip DeGuere, Arthur Sellers and Adrian Hein.

DIR. Victor Lobl, Maurice Philips, Janet Greek, Todd Holland, Thomas J. Wright, Tommy Lee Wallace and Francis De Lia.

EPISODES: 14 YEAR MADE: 1987 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 2

A CHRYSALIS/LAKESIDE PRODUCTION IN ASSOCIATION WITH LORIMAR TELEPICTURES/ film - CHRYSALIS VISUAL PROGRAMMING LTD FOR CHANNEL FOUR

CREATOR: GEORGE STONE

TYPE OF SHOW: EARTH FUTURE

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 6, (2) 8

DATE OF PREMIER: 31/03/1987 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 05/05/1988

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS: MAX HEADROOM - THE MOVIE (1985).

Edison Carter/Max Headroom MATT FREWER, Theora Jones AMANDA PAYS, Ben Cheviot GOERGE COE, Bryce Lynch CHRIS YOUNG, Murray JEFFEREY TAMBOR, Ms. Formby VIRGINIA KISER (1), Ashwell HANK GARRETT (except Eps. 4, 10, 12) , Edwards LEE WILKOF (except Eps. 4, 8, 10, 12) , Blank Reg WILLIAM MORGAN SHEPPARD (except Eps. 1-2, 5, 8-9, 13) , Dominique CONCETTA TOMEI (Eps. 3-4, 6-7, 10, 12 and 14).

RELATED SHOWS:

PSI FACTOR: CHRONICLES OF THE PARANORMAL

1 - 1 BLIPVERTS

In the near future, it will be illegal to have a television that can be shut off. Ratings are all that matters. To improve ratings, Network 23 creates - Blipverts. Blipverts are high speed commercials condensed into a few seconds and embed themselves into the viewers mind. Unfortunately, the commercials can have a side effect. A few viewers have exploded while watching them. Network 23 star reporter, Edison Carter, is investigating the side effects of the blipverts. Edison discovers that the Network executive Ned Grossberg is aware of the problem and is covering up the issues. Ned decides that Carter must die but he wants his death to be keep a secret. He wants to replace Edison with a computer stimulated version of Edison. Bryce Lynch creates this computer simulated version and calls him Max. Carter survives. Both his real and simulated version prove to be a tough duo. Grossberg intended to destroy Carter instead he created a team bent on his destruction.

Wr Joe Gannon, Steve Roberts

Dir Farhad Mann

1 - 2 RAKERS

Max is concerned that there is a homicidal madman running around and laying waste to people. He is surprised when he finds out that "Missile Mike" is a violent children's television show. Max's concerns are not completely unfounded. There is an illegal sport called raking. Individual use these motorized skate board for a deadly match. They fight on these boards until one of them is unable to continue the match. People gamble on the results of the match. As the story progresses, Theora receives a phone call from her sister-in-law Winnie. Winnie is upset because Theora brother, Shawn has taken up the sport of raking. Theora sets Edison onto the case. Edison beaks into a raking arena and stops a match in which Shawn is scheduled to fight. It is an unfair match because Shawn is injured. Edison wants to keep this sport outlawed because it is so dangerous. Zik Zak is wanting to legalize it and sponsor it.

Wr James Crocker, Steve Roberts

Dir Thomas J. Wright

1 - 3 BODY BANKS

In this episode two people being stalked by Breughel and Mahler. This pair of thugs captures the pair. They beat the man consciousness and leave him. They take the woman and sell her to the woman to Nightingales Body Bank. She is moved to the top of the list for organ transplant surgery. It does not matter that she is an unwilling donor because she is only a blank or unregistered citizen. The man regains consciousness and goes to Edison with the story of his attack and kidnapping. Edison recruits the help of Blank Reg, a rough-and-tumble but good-hearted blank who runs a pirate TV station called Big Time TV. Reg leads Edison to the Breughel and Mahler. These two thugs lead Edison to the doctor who has been victimizing the blanks. All the victims are female. Before Edison can answers to his questions someone kills the doctor. Edison is now out of clues. Max comes in to help Edison. Max is stopped from helping by Cheviot and Network 23's corporate sponsors at Zik Zak want Max's attentions on sponsorship announcements. Edison and Max evidentially find out that a wealthy Plantaganet wants pituitaries from the female bodies for an operation which could save his aging mother. Even 21st century medicine can not keep her going forever. The only other alternative is to keep her mind alive by stealing the technology that created Max. Edison and Max eventually save the day and stop the plot from happening.

Wr Steve Roberts

Dir Francis Delia

1 - 4 SECURITY SYSTEMS

In this episode Security Systems Incorporated (SSI), is the world's leading provider of personal and corporate security and surveillance systems. It has access to more privileged information than anywhere else in the world including government organizations. There is a hostile takeover of SSI happening. While the company's CEO says she is terrified, she is outwardly calm. Edison suspects something more is happening. After questioning her, he discovers his credit and his ID no longer work. He can not go home. He can not go to Network 23. The Metro Cops are casing him. Edison get help from Blank Reg and Dominique. To get out of this mess he will also need the assistance of Max and Bryce. Bryce is the only one with the hacking skills necessary to make Edison a citizen again and uncover the secret of who's buying out SSI.

Wr Michael Cassutt

Dir Tommy Lee Wallace

1 - 5 WAR

In this episode a news package broker contacts Network 23. They offer an exclusive access to a terrorist group called White Brigade for a premium price. Cheviot refuses the offer; he does not want to be bought by a terrorist group. The next day the group blows up an entire city block, only rival network Breakthru Television has the coverage. Network 23's board or directors is anger over Breakthru's sudden ratings surge. The networks are all in the middle of a global rating sweep. Edison Carter wants to expose this sinister link between Brakkthru and White Brigade. The board of directors supports him with the investigation. Edison eventually tracks the terrorists to their headquarters. There he discovers that the terrorist war is actually being fought for television. It is a war of publicity with as few casualties as possible to avoid negative reaction from the viewers. White Brigade bombers feel that their deal with Breakthru TV is no longer serving their cause. They change their policy regarding casualties.

Wr Martin Pasko, Rebecca Parr, Michael Cassutt, Steve Roberts

Dir Thomas J. Wright

1 - 6 THE BLANKS

In this episode we find out that Simon Peller has won another term for the public telelection system. The satellite signals suddenly go haywire, interrupting broadcasts on all the networks. Television is not the only area affected. Even the blank service television is not working. An ultimatum is issued: if Peller does not reverse his policy of imprisoning all blanks, unregistered citizens, the central computer system will be crashed. Bryce and Theora hatch a plan to find the hackers. They get the attention of the hackers with Max. The hackers take the bait but decide to keep Max. Edison threatens to resolves the situation by making a systems crash which would lay the city to waste at sundown. He finds out that someone he considers a friend could be on the wrong side of the fight.

Wr Steve Roberts

Dir Tommy Lee Wallace

2 - 1 THE ACADEMY

In this episode the Hackers are disrupting network transmissions by hacking into satellite transmissions with their own high-power signals. Cheviot assigns Bryce the task of tracking down the pirates. Bryce discovers the source of the signal at the Academy of Computer Sciences. He does not want to expose his Alma mater. Instead he says the source is at Blank Reg's Big Time Television. The Metrocops arrest Blank Reg. Dominique pleads with Edison to help clear her husband's name. Edison suspects that Max knows the truth. Max is aware that Bryce falsified the coordinates given to the authorities. Because there is a tight-knit relationship between the ACS students, and Network 23's sponsorship of the school, Edison has a difficult time in clearing Blank Reg's name.

Wr David Brown

Dir Victor Lobl

2 - 2 DEITIES

In this episode we seen that televangelism is just as common in the future as in the present. The Vu-Age Church is the first religious organization to operate primarily on television. The Vu-Age's promises video resurrection for their believers. They claim to be able to store cortical scans and keep them until cloning is perfected and their personalities can be placed into a new body. This promise gets Murray's attention and he assigns Edison to the story. Uncharacteristically Edison is not enthusiasm at the prospect of exposing a resurrection scam. We discover that Edison's lack of support for the project is centered on Vu-Age's high priestess, Vanna Smith. Vanna is old flame of Edison's. Edison disagrees with her claim that video resurrection can happen. Vanna Smith points out that Edison's own alter-ego, Max is proof to the contrary. She and Edison start to rekindle their old relationship. Murray wonders is there less to the story than he first imagined or is Edison losing his edge.

Wr Michael Cassutt

Dir Thomas J. Wright

2 - 3 GROSSBERG'S RETURN

This episode focuses on a vicious political battle between Simon Peller and his rival candidate Harriet Garth. Network 23 is supporting Simon a fair and honest man. Harriet is being backed by Network 66. Recently Network 66 has hired Ned Grossberg. He is the ex-Network 23 executive that got fired in the first episode with the blipvert scandal. He wants to become the new executive for Network 66. Edison and Murray fight to keep 23's coverage proper and without mudslinging. Grossberg will do anything for his goal. His aim is to take over Network 66 from the inside, not to propel a particular candidate into office. He engineers a political scandal that takes down Garth. He hopes in the process to destroy the career of Edison Carter as well.

Wr Steve Roberts

Dir Janet Greek

2 - 4 DREAM THIEVES

This episode focuses "dream houses." Edison is doing an exposé on a new industry. The industry sells dreams. People pay to experience the immersive, tactile sensations of others' dreams. During the investigation Edison encounters an old friend who was once a rival report, Paddy Ashton. Paddy is an articulate Irishman. He is out of place a drifting blank and he stills has a grudge against Edison. Paddy turns up dead a few hours after Edison shares a drink with him. Edison recalls in their last conversation about Paddy was telling him about dream donors. For people to buy dreams, others must donate them. This usual provides an earning a pittance for the donator. Paddy was managing to live off of selling dreams. Edison thinks this may have something to do with his death. Edison decides that to best investigate he will go undercover as a dream donor. He finds that dream house attendants have been forcing their donors to have intense subconscious sensory experiences. The process has killed some of the donors with their own nightmares.

Wr Steve Roberts

Dir Todd Holland

2 - 5 WHACKETTS

In episode a huge residential building collapses. The destruction takes many lives of the residents with it. Edison is assigned to the story. He arrives at the scene of the disaster and is stunned to see the survivors rejoicing at the rescue of television sets instead of people. Despite the magnitude of the collapse and Edison's live coverage, Big Time TV pulls ahead of Network 23 in the ratings. Big Time TV has a mind-numbingly dumb game show that is becoming wider popular. Edison does not understand the appeal of the show. In addition, he thinks that it is odd that this same is being watched by all of the survivors of the building. A police officer from the scene thinks this is suspicious too. He approaches Edison with his suspicions. After he shares information with Edison, he is found dead. The viewers request the show be run for the 11th time in a row. Big Time TV now with its new show "Whacketts" has even pulled ahead of Network 66. Edison and Bryce discover that a subliminal video signal is embedded into the one episode of "Whacketts". The signal has an addictive effect on the viewers. It produces a stream of endorphins in the person brain who is watching. The number of people addicted is increasing rapidly. Ned Grossberg is trying to buy the show from Dominique at Big Time TV. This would result in an entire population becoming addicted. Max has fallen victim to the addiction.

Wr Arthur Sellers

Dir Victor Lobl

2 - 6 BODY GROBAGS

In this episode a new way to create a child is shown. Society is now able to eliminate the need for a woman to carry a child for nine months in her womb. Fertilized eggs can be extracted and placed into nutrient-rich Grobags. This accelerates the birth, eliminates the pain of childbirth, and allows the child to be customized by the parents. One of Theora's friends is giving the process a try. The baby turns up missing. Edison is assigned to the investigation and discovers disturbing information about the company offering this service. Mean while Ned Grossberg has successfully wooed Bryce Lynch over to Network 66. Unfortunately Edison discovers a horrifying link between the disappearances of a genetically-engineered genius babies and Network 66's new ratings hit "Prodigies." These discoveries impact Bryce and Ned's plans.

Wr Adrian Hein, Chris Ruppenthal

Dir Janet Greek

2 - 7 NEUROSTIM

In this episode Edison tries to find out more about Zik Zak's latest promotional gimmick. Zik Zak's is giving away free Neurostim bracelets with every burger pack. This has driven sales of the burgers sky high. You would think that Zik Zak would welcome this reporter. It would increase sales and they are both working for the same Network. Instead they set out to end his investigation by giving him an addictive Neurostim bracelet. Edison discovers personally that the Neurostim is a mental narcotic. The user is able to dream any dream they wish that is in their own mind. This changes the users personality and ability to function to do the normal daily routine. Bryce discovers a way to break the addiction. Edison is about to shake off his Neurostim addiction and restore his personality by patching Max through the bracelet. Edison is happy to be rid of the addiction but realize that he is competing with Max for attention, even in his dreams.

Wr Arthur Sellers, Michael Cassutt

Dir Maurice Phillips

2 - 8 LESSONS

Network 23 censors are trying to shut down a secret school in the fringes. In this episode a yearly festival surrounds the return to earth of debris from fallen broadcast satellites. Edison and Theora get out of the control room to join Blank Reg and Dominique for the festivities. Edison and Theora are troubled by a new a new censorship body. Edison has just notified of his on-air "transgressions." It seems the new regulators how the power to deem good taste. As they enjoy the festival, Edison stumbles across a story. During a raid of a nearby home, a Metrocop arrested a man for showing pirated educational programs to children. In addition, a street performer is picked up by the Metrocops. Edison rescues the street performer's daughter and tries to launch a "live and direct" newscast. If the censors block the broadcast, will anyone ever learn what really happened? The censors maybe able to ensure that the entire population only learns what they want learned.

Wr Adrian Hein, Steve Roberts

Dir Victor Lobl

MECANOCRIPT DEL SEGON ORIGEN (MANUSCRIPT OF THE SECOND ORIGIN)

A day, a girl of 14 years, Dawn, sees as children of the town beat and throw to their Didac neighbor of 9 to the marsh near their town. It recriminates the action to them and she is arranged to throw itself to the water to save the boy. Just before sending, the boys they shout above indicating that a group of objects flattened and silverplated sees itself to occupy all the sky.

Once White it leaves the water with Dídac, realizes that the boys lie in the ground immovable. When one approaches observes that they are dead... like all the people of the town and.

(note - the plot above comes from the book, rather than the TV series, no plot for the series exists)

Manuel de Pedrolo (who wrote both the novel and screenplay) was born in 1900 and died in 1990, he was a renowned author, who wrote all of his works in Catalan. Hence the reason why this work was translated for TV3 a Catalan based television station.

Cinematography by Juan Carlos Lausin, Second Unit Director or Assistant Director - Jordi Frades first assistant director.

WR. Xesc Barceló , Manuel de Pedrolo

DIR. Ricard Reguant

EPISODES: 7 YEAR MADE: 1985 COUNTRY: SPA SEASONS: 1

TELEVISIO DE CATALUNYA (TV3)

CREATOR: MANUEL DE PEDROLO (NOVEL)

TYPE OF SHOW: ALIENS ON EARTH FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Catalan

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 7

DATE OF PREMIER: 29/09/1985 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Alba AGUEDA FONT, Dídac Niño GUILLEM D'EFACK, Dídac Joven MOISES TORNER, Guía del Futuro MARIA FERNANDA GIL.

MEEGO

Meego is a 9000 year old alien whose spaceship crashes on Earth and is discovered by Alex, Maggie and Tripp Parker whilst out walking their dog. The three children take a liking to Meego and convince their single father to take him in as a nanny. Meego agrees to stay until his ship is fixed, but eventually grows attached to the children and stays. Meego brings advanced technology such as a watch which can control people. Mr. Parker is also not aware that Meego is an alien. Meego also have seven hearts.

"Meego" was a sitcom about the title character, an outer space alien from planet Marmazon 4.0 who crash lands on Earth and is discovered by Alex Parker, a young boy, who brings him home. His father, Dr. Parker, is recently widowed and an important surgeon who can never make time for his children, so Meego is hired as the children's nanny. He agrees, with Alex, the only one who initially knows he's an alien, to stay on as nanny while his ship is repaired. "Meego" was produced by Miller-Boyett-Warren Productions and Warner Bros.

All shows were originally aired on CBS from 8:30-9:00 p.m. on Fridays in the 1997-98 season. Ross Brown was the executive producer and creator. The series was developed by Thomas L. Miller, Robert L. Boyett and Michael Warren. This US sitcom was an ill-conceived idea, and a very unoriginal idea, just re-using ideas which have been done better in such shows as MORK AND MINDY and ALF, the show is very similar to another badly made British SF show MIKE AND ANGELO.

This cheap sitcom didn't last long in the US being cancelled before the end of its first season. As with most shows of this type, there is always a morality tale at the end of each episode. The acting is extremely poor, especially that child actors, the only good actor is Bronson Pinchot who plays the alien Meego 'Smith', who like Mork before him manages to hold up the show, just.

The series was first shown in the UK on Sky One, at the very early time of 7.30 - 8.30 am, showing two episodes a day for one week in 1998. There were no on screen titles shown. In the US only six of the 10 episodes aired, before being taken off the screen. All 10 episodes were broadcast in the UK, on its first run.

Barclay, the dog, is the only actor under five feet tall worth saving from this cloying mush. Ed Begley Jr. and Bronson Pinchot are sorely wasted. CBS wisely saw fit to cancel the show after only six episodes, though the threat remains that some of the unaired (in the US) episodes will show up in the summer to fill holes in its schedules. The executive producers for the show were Thomas L. Miller, Robert L. Boyett, Michael Warren and Ross Brown.

WR.

DIR.

EPISODES: 13 YEAR MADE: 1997 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

MILLER-BOYETT-WARREN PRODUCTIONS/ WARNER BROS. TV.

CREATOR: ROSS BROWN

TYPE OF SHOW: COMEDY

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 13

DATE OF PREMIER: 17/09/1997

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 24/10/1997

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Meego "Smith" BRONSON PINCHOT, Dr. Edward Parker ED BEGLEY JR., Maggie Parker MICHELLE TRACHTENBERG, Tripp Parker WILL ESTES, Tripp Parker ERIK VON DETTEN (Pilot Only) , Alex Parker JONATHAN LIPNICKI, MARIANNE MUELLERLEILE, MICHAEL MILHOAN, DEBRA MOONEY, LANCE E. NICHOLS, PAIGE PETERSON.

RELATED SHOWS:MY FAVOURITE MARTIANMIKE AND ANGELO

- 1 - 1 "PILOT"
- 1 - 2 LOVE AND MONEY
- 1 - 3 THE TRUTH ABOUT CARS AND DOGS
- 1 - 4 IT'S GOOD TO BE KING
- 1 - 5 FATAL ATTRACTION
- 1 - 6 HALLOWEEN
- 1 - 7 SATURDAY NIGHT FEVER
- 1 - 8 MAGIC PARKET
- 1 - 9 LIAR, LIAR
- 1 - 10 MOMMY N' MEEGO
- 1 - 11 PERFORMANCE ART
- 1 - 12 CAR AND DRIVER
- 1 - 13 I WON'T BE HOME FOR CHRISTMAS

MEGA MINDY

Series Produced by Sven Duym Producer.

Series Original Music by Olaf Janssens.

Series Second Unit Director or Assistant Director - Joke Pevenage .. First assistant director.

Series Sound Department - Bart Vanvoorden .. Sound re-recording mixer , Olaf Janssens .. Sound effects editor.

WR.

DIR. Matthias Temmermans

EPISODES: 20 YEAR MADE: 2006 COUNTRY: BEL SEASONS: 2

STUDIO 100 , SYLVESTER PRODUCTIONS

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO

FORMAT: SERIAS

LENGTH (MINS): 25 STILL IN PRODUCTION: Yes B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Dutch

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 13, (2)

DATE OF PREMIER: 29/10/2006

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Commissaris Migrain SJAREL BRANCKAERTS, Oma Fonkel NICKY LANGLEY, Mieke / Mega Mindy FREE SOUFFRIAU, Toby LOUIS TALPE, Opa Fonkel FRED VAN KUYK, Moeder Migrain MARITEETE VAN ARKKELS, Baron BOB VAN DER VEKEN, Butler PAUL SCHRIJVERS, Journaliste BIANCA VANHAVERBEKE.

MEGAROMAN

AKA: MEGALOMAN

AKA: BLAZING SUPERMAN MEGALOMAN

AKA: HONO NO YUSHA MEGAROMAN

AKA: SUPERMAN OF FIRE MEGALOMAN

The planet Rosetta has been taken over by the Black Star army led by Captain Dagger. Takashi Shishido and his mother Rosemary escaped to Planet Earth after his father Gou was captured by Dagger, who is actually Takashi's evil twin brother Hiroshi! While living peacefully on Earth, Takashi attends a kung-fu school in Japan, and has four friends, but they had no idea that he was from another planet, a secret only his martial arts teacher Takamine knew. But when Captain Dagger initiates his attack on Earth using his army of various giant monsters, Rosemary (who also goes by the civilian name "Mari") gives Takashi the Megalon-Bracelets, with which he can transform into the giant long-haired warrior Megaloman to fight the evil monsters for the protection of Earth. Early in the show, Takashi's four martial arts school friends, Seiji Kurogawa (a tough, Bruce Lee-like fighter), Hyosuke Yuri (the comedy relief), Ran Takamine (Master Takamine's daughter & Takashi's girlfriend) and Ippei Saru (the little kid) discover his secret and Rosemary decides to invite them to join Takashi in battle. So she gives them their own Megalon Bracelets to transform into a quartet of multicolored martial arts super-warriors to fight alongside Takashi!

Actor Yuki Kitazume, who played Takashi Shishido (the alter-ego of Megaloman) and Captain Dagger, originally auditioned for the role of martial arts teacher Takamine. This series was Kitazume's acting debut.

Megaloman

Shishido Takeshi is the son of Shishido Go, an Earth Human and Mari (Rosemary) a member of the Tategami Tribe of the Rosetta Star System. Takeshi's father was killed by the Black Star Tribe's Leader, Capt. Dagger as they attempted to escape to Earth. With his dying breath, Takeshi's father urged him to flee to Earth with his Mother to prevent Earth from falling into the hands of Dagger's forces. Settling on Earth, Takeshi and his Mother sought refuge with family friend Takamine Sougen. There Takeshi trained in the arts of Kung Fu to prepare for the day that Capt. Dagger would come to Earth.

When Capt. Dagger's forces arrived Takeshi's mother Mari handed him the Megalo Bracelets that houses the mystical power of the Tategami No Rosetta (The Tategami Tribe of the Rosetta Star System). These Bracelets unite the mystical powers of his Earth heritage and the powers of the Tategami Tribe of the Rosetta Star System to change Takeshi into the Titan of Fire Megaloman.

Takeshi dons his battlesuit with a command of Energy Up. Takeshi can fly in human form.

Takeshi turns into Megalo Man with a shout of Megalooooou.

Megaloman's Main Special Attack is his Megalo Fire. This unique attack is generated from Megaloman's long mane of hair. When ignited, Megaloman's Megalo Mane stands erect and glows with Megalo Aura. Once sufficient Megalo Aura is generated, Megaloman whips his hair and flings the Megalo Aura at the enemy. The Megalo Aura becomes a fireball of energy called Megalo Fire which utterly destroys anything it hits.

In addition to his Megalo Fire, Megaloman has numerous other weapons:

His Megalo Blade is a silver sabre that he can use to slash and stab his enemies. It can also be thrown like a javelin. The Megalo Blade can also be transformed into two shorter sais that can be used in close combat.

Megaloman utilizes a host of Kung Fu inspired fighting attacks like his Megalo Kick.

Takamine Dojo

The Takamine Dojo (School) is run by Kung Fu and Martial Arts Sensei/Sifu Takamine Sougen. He was an acquaintance of Shishido Go. He later took in and helped Mari train Takeshi for his eventual encounters with Capt. Dagger. In the final episode, Takamine is killed in battle fighting the Black Star Tribe. Takamine Sensei has various students (disciples) as part of his school. They help Takeshi in his battles with Dagger and the Invaders. The team of students are as follows:

Takamine Ran Takamine Sensei's daughter and only child. Her style of Kung Fu utilizes graceful and swift moves. She is also a master at using sais. She is in love with Takeshi, who is her same age.

Yuri Yosuke Easygoing member of the troupe. Loves to eat. His style of Kung Fu takes advantage of his size and strength. Was later transformed into the monster Terrogirasu by Capt. Dagger's henchman, Beroc. Is eventually returned to normal. Has an older brother who is an Investigative Reporter.

Kurogawa Seiji Bruce Lee look-alike and edgy member of the troupe. Utilizes an aggressive style of Kung Fu. Is a master at using the nunchakus. He works as a Car Mechanic on his spare time. Was killed by Capt. Dagger's henchman, Beroc while protecting Takeshi.

Masshira Ippai Youngest student at the Dojo. Parents own a small Ramen Shop. Incorporates a Monkey Style of Kung Fu which takes advantage of his tiny size. Despite his age, he is able to take down adults twice his size.

When they join hands and link up, they are able to don specialized costumes, which protect them from the various Invader henchmen. Each wears copies of the Megalo Bracelet which enable them to communicate with each other and to detect Invaders. The Megalo Bracelets enable them to combine their energies and fight as one. They change into their Megalo suits with a call of Turn Energy.

The Invaders

The Kokusei Zoku (Black Star Tribe) is a vast galactic invading force originating from the Rosetta Star System. They are led by the mysterious Capt. Dagger, who is in reality Hiroshi, the twin brother of Takeshi and son of Shishido Go.

He is aided in his conquests by a host of gigantic monsters and robots which he calls his Monster Army. He also commands an army of human-sized soldiers. These 'Invaders often disguise themselves in various human guises to infiltrate human society. These Invaders are incredibly nimble and often incorporate various acrobatic attacks. Capt. Dagger was a subordinate to the Golden Masked Tyrant, Sulamar but eventually killed his master to usurp control of the Black Star Tribe.

Capt. Dagger's main underling is the vicious and cunning, Beroc. Beroc is one of the Black Star Tribe's most gifted intellects. Beroc often came up with strategies which exploited specifically targeted Megalo Man's human weaknesses. Beroc's only son, Taigun was killed by Megalo Man. Beroc is responsible for the deaths of two of Takeshi's closest human friends, Seiji and Hyosuke. He is killed by Takamine Sougen.

The Invader base is hidden deep within Japan's mountain range (Takeshi and company eventually pinpoint their whereabouts using one of his father's devices, the Battleship Box).

Writer Kariya Tetsu would later go on to write the trend setting, Gourmet cooking manga "Oishinbo" (1980).

Megaloman was Kitazume Yuuki's first starring role (he had actually auditioned for the part of Takamina Sougen, the Master of the Takagami School). Kitazume would later go on to appear in a string of "made-for-TV" films. He appeared in two movies, Kadokawa Haruki's "Oedipus No Chitou"(Blade of Oedipus) and the Nikkatsu film "Rouge".

Takabayashi Yukiko provided the voice for teacher Eva Beadle Simms in the Japanese dubbed version of "Little House on the Praire".

Child star Houzumi Pe Pe appeared in various programs such as Giant Robo (1968) and NHK's SciFi Kid's drama "Jyuichini Iru"(And There Were 11 "1974). As a teen and young adult, he would star in the high school drama "Tobidase!, Seishun"(Escape! My Youth-1972), the comedy "Ore Tachi No Tabi"(Our Journey "1975), and Tokusatsu Cult favorite Super Robot Red Baron (1974).

Inoue Takao is another distinguished voice actor who lent his voice to the Japanese dubbed versions of 'Lawrence of Arabia', 'Last Emperor' (he usually dubbed Peter O'Toole), and 'Giant' (he dubbed Rock Hudson).

Kurobe Susumu, who played the evil Beroc, is best remembered as Hayata in Tsuburaya's landmark series 'Ultraman' [1966]. The slightly Caucasian looking actor can also be seen in a host of Toho movies including 'King Kong Escapes' (1967), ' Son of Godzilla' (1967), ' Destroy All Monsters' (1968) and ' Latitude Zero' (1969). He has also appeared in episodes of Tsuburaya Pro's ' Ultraman'(1967).

Sugi Madoka is the stage name for Sugimoto Minako. Sugi has been taking Modern Ballet lessons since the age of 2 from the Hiraguchi Ballet School. She won the title of Ms. University Japan in 1979. Appeared in the TBS Drama 'Korogi Bashi' (Cricket Bridge '1980) and 'Aijyu Gakuen'(Academy of Sorrow '1980). After graduating from the Japan School of Performing Arts in 1981, she began performing with the Ichibangai (Number One Boulevard) Performance Troupe. During the later half of the '80s, Sugi performed in various musicals in Japan such as 'Peter Pan'. She later began producing musicals and musicals at the Aoyama Theatre, such as the Operetta 'Merry Widow'. She is currently acting as Chair/Supervisor for the children's talent agency, 'Minny Story Dance' in Aoyama.

Often unfairly compared to Tsuburaya's 'Ultraman Leo' (1974) with which it shares some similarities:
 Both Giant Heroes utilize various 'kikutou' fighting skills when battling their enemies.
 Both Giant Heroes battled against the invading forces from a 'Black Star'.
 Both Giant Heroes incorporate themes based on a 'Lion' motif.

Megalo Man came out at about the same time as Tsuburaya's 'Ultraman 80' (1979).

Megalo Man was Toho's last entry into the Tokusatsu TV show genre. Toho's other Tokusatsu creations include: 'Yuke! Godman' (Go! Godman 1972), 'Ai No Senshi, Rainbow Man' (Warrior of Love Rainbow Man 1972), 'Ryusei Ningen Zone' (Human Comet Zone 1973), 'Hikari No Senshi 'Diamond Eye' (Warrior of Light 'Diamond Eye' 1973), Kawakita Kouichi who helped provided the Special Effects work for Megalo Man as has done work for 'Ultraman A'(1972), 'Ryusei Ningen Zone' (Human Comet Zone -1973), 'Sayonara Jupiter' (1984) and 'Godzilla vs. Biollante' (1989). Other credits include: 'Gunhead' (1989), 'Godzilla vs. King Ghidorah' (1991), 'Godzilla vs. Mothra' (1992), 'Godzilla vs. Mechagozilla' (1993), 'Yamato Takeru' (1994), 'Godzilla vs. Space Godzilla'(1994), 'Godzilla vs. Destroyer' (1995) and 'Mothra' (1996).

Megalo Man's look is inspired by the Shishi or Lion costumes often found in Japanese Kabuki Theatre. Kabuki (Dance/Music/Craft) is a traditional form of Japanese theater. It was founded early in the 17th century by Okuni, a shrine maiden who brought her unique and lively dance style to the dry river beds of the ancient capital of Kyoto, and over the next 300 years developed into a sophisticated, highly stylized form of theater.

While the costumes used in domestic plays are often realistic representations of the clothes of the Edo period, historical plays often use magnificent brocade robes and large wigs reminiscent of those found in the Noh theater.

One well-known trademark of kabuki is the extravagant makeup style called 'kumadori' that is used in historical plays. There are about a hundred of these mask-like styles in which the colors and designs used symbolize aspects of the character.

The base color for most styles of make up is the white 'oshiroi', made from rice powder. White was used for many reasons; white skin in Japan has traditionally been associated with the upper class. The White base completely masks the actor's features, allowing new features to be painted on; and the white base was an excellent projection to the audience in the days before electricity. The aragoto style of acting ("rough [violent] business") uses the kumadori makeup, which uses bold strokes of color, usually red or blue/indigo. Kumadori, is said to have been influenced by facial expressions on Buddhist statues and the Noh masks. Red lines generally symbolize virtue and strength, while blue lines are associated with evil. Brown is worn by villains among court nobles and by gods; and purple, light green, pink, and gold are seldom used but for special characters. Ghosts and some animal roles (like the Lion) also use the kumadori makeup.

While lions have never lived wild in the islands of Japan, they were imported in graphic form through China and Korea. The shishi-mai or lion dance is often seen at shrine festivals and at New Year's, when performers visit each home in the neighborhood to cast out evil. Lions are also of great symbolic importance in Okinawa, where they are embodied as protectors (similar to European gargoyles).

Another Tokusatsu Hero which incorporated the Kabuki Shishi Costume is the obscure Tokusatsu Show Shishi Kamen (Lion Mask Yamato Kikaku/Nihon TV, 1973).

Infamous U.S. Independent Film Studio Troma also used elements of Kabuki (albeit in comical fashion) in their outrageous Superhero parody, Sgt. Kabuki Man, NYPD.

Shares several similarities with the Anime Super Robot Show 'Chodenji Machine Voltes V' (Super Electromagnetic Machine Voltes Five- 1977-1978). As in Megalo Man, Voltes V told the story of five martial arts students who were recruited to fight off the advancing alien invasion of the Bazan Empire. Similarly as in Megalo Man, the main villain, Prince Hinnel turns out to be the brother (half-brother) of the hero.

Original Music by Shôzô Tozuka & Seiji Yokoyama.
 Stunts - Junji Yamaoka action coordinator
 Other crew - Hiroshi Kumagai Conductor
 Designs - Ikeda Masao
 Executive Producer - Besho Koji
 Producer(s) Shimomura Kiichi, Shinoda Yoichi, Yamamoto Yoshio
 Cinematography Nomura Kazumasa, Mori Yoshihiro
 Lighting - Kishida Kunio
 Makeup - Takahashi Teruhiko
 Action Choreography - Kobari Shin

WR. Kariya Tetsu, Tamura Tatsuo, Tomita Yashuhiro, Ito Koji

DIR.

EPISODES: 31 YEAR MADE: 1979 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

TOHO

CREATOR: KARIYA TETSU

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 31

DATE OF PREMIER: 07/05/1979 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 14/12/1979

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Takashi Shishido/Megaloman/Captain Dagger YUKI KITAZUME, Berlock SUSUMU KUROBE, Ran Takamine (Pink) MADOKA SUGI, Hyôsuke Yuri (Yellow) PEPE HOZUMI, Seiji Kurogawa (Blue) JIMMY ARAKI, Ippei Saru (Green) KOJI HASHIMICHI, Rosemarie (Takashi's mother) YUKIKO TAKABAYASHI

- 1 - 1 RAGE ON! FIRE TITAN
- 1 - 2 THE MEGALON BRACELET OF FRIENDSHIP
- 1 - 3 ROAR! SPACE KUNG-FU
- 1 - 4 SET FORTH THE MONSTER ARMY
- 1 - 5 PHASE ONE OF EARTH'S CONQUEST
- 1 - 6 TO BATTLE THE INVISIBLE ENEMY
- 1 - 7 FIGHT ON! WARRIORS OF LOVE
- 1 - 8 CLOSE CALL! THE TINY HERO
- 1 - 9 BATTLE WITH TEARS! LIVING WEAPONS
- 1 - 10 THE FALLEN U.F.O.
- 1 - 11 THE BATTLE WORLD IS APPROACHING EARTH
- 1 - 12 SMASH! THE BLACK STAR ARMY'S TREACHERY
- 1 - 13 THE INVADERS BIG BATTLE STRATEGY
- 1 - 14 KIDNAP THE EARTH CHILDREN
- 1 - 15 LAUNCHING MISSILES! AIM AT THE FIRE TITAN
- 1 - 16 GOLD MASK! HE ARRIVES ON EARTH
- 1 - 17 WHERE IS THE SECRET MONSTER BASE
- 1 - 18 THE MONSTER DECIMATED THE TOWN
- 1 - 19 THE AMPHIBIAN ALIENS! SECRET OF THEIR SCALES

- 1 - 20 THE MONSTER ARMY'S GREAT ATTACK - ACT I
- 1 - 21 MEGALO MAN'S DIRE SITUATION - ACT II
- 1 - 22 THE STOLEN MEGALON FIRE
- 1 - 23 ESCAPE FROM THE HANDS OF EVIL
- 1 - 24 ([CAPT.] DAGGER IS ALIVE
- 1 - 25 TEARS ON THE LION'S MANTLE
- 1 - 26 BEWARE THE WEB OF THE SPIDERS! UNABLE TO CHANGE
- 1 - 27 THREE SECONDS TO MELTDOWN! LASER MONSTER JADONGA
- 1 - 28 BAFFALON, THE MONSTER ASSASSIN
- 1 - 29 DON'T HURT THAT MONSTER! TERROGIRASU, THE SAINT
- 1 - 30 PRESIDENT DAGGER'S COUNTER ATTACK! SPARK MONSTER DESPAR
- 1 - 31 FATEFUL SHOWDOWN! MEGALO MAN VS. MASKED MONSTER DAGGER

MEN INTO SPACE

CrazyAboutTV.com

Semi educational American series about the adventures of a space pioneer and his crew in and around a moon colony. The space programme depicted in Men Into Space advanced quite a bit faster than the United States space programme did in real life. When the series started we had not yet put an man into space, while the first episode depicted the first trip to the moon. Within the course of a year on the series a moonbase was established, a permanent manned space station built and the first manned mission journeyed to Mars. All the goals that NASA had been unable to accomplish in over a quarter of a century since the first manned landing on the moon.

The series, made in 1959, prided itself on its authenticity and its absence of monsters or little green men. Each script was said to have been submitted to the American Defence Department and anything which couldn't possibly happen was then ruled out. Triggered by the Russian launch of Sputnik on 4-5 October 1957, this explicitly science fictional show had technical support from USAF, Navy, Army, and various scientific organisations, in an impressive attempt at authenticity -- making this the first "Hard Science Fiction" series on television. It featured drama in spacecraft, space station, Moon Base, and in the vicinity of various planets and moons in the solar system.

Using marvellous sets, costumes, and background "Matte" paintings by Chesley Bonestell (Dean of Space Artists) this series presumed that men would first go into space on an aerospace plane (perhaps a X-15 atop a Navaho booster), then build a toroidal space station, then use the space station as a base from which to probe the moon, and finally to land on the Moon. In fact, President Kennedy scrapped such plans when CIA reports suggested that the Russians were going a "quick and dirty" route to orbit, preparing to send men into space in capsules launched by modified ballistic missiles.

He tasked NASA with an equally crude but immediate approach. The rest is history. Hence, "Men Into Space" is history as it SHOULD have been, based on the plans of Werner Von Braun and his cohorts. We still have not built the National Aerospace Plane (NASP), we are years behind on space station construction (set to start in late 1998), and, while we got to the moon in 1968 (as opposed to the early 1970's predicted by "Men Into Space") we went to visit, and never built the moon base, nor did we boldly go onwards to Mars. Some critics (see "Future Tense" p.294) found the show "bland and unexciting" and blamed the low-budget artificiality of the sets.

With the cancellation of CAPTAIN VIDEO AND HIS VIDEO RANGERS, TOM CORBETT, SPACE CADET and SPACE PATROL in 1955 a huge void was created in outer space based series. It would be four years before this void was filled with Men Into Space. Unlike its juvenile predecessors. Men Into Space was a series aimed at adults attempting to give a realistic portrayal of space travel in the near future in a semi-documentary fashion.

To accomplish this, ZIV productions, the company responsible for SCIENCE FICTION THEATRE, unlisted the aid of the United States Defence Department. The Defence Department approved scripts for scientific accuracy as well as providing stock footage of missiles. The series' only regular character was Colonel Edward MacCauley, the astronaut in charge of the United States space programme and the person who headed up many of its most important missions.

The lack of a regular supporting cast did not help the series as each episode would have MacCauley interacting with a new group of characters. Since the Defence Department would not approve stories about alien invaders or mad scientists, conflict in the series arosed from having to face the hazards of space exploration and from differences in opinion between MacCauley and the guest cast. When Men Into Space was first placed into Syndicated reruns it was retitled Space Challenge. The title of the syndicated reruns returned to Men Into Space by the late 1960's.

The BBC screened a season of 13 stories in its Saturday 5:00 pm teatime slot (usually home to western series such as Range Rider) and followed it with Billy Bunter! Only the last episode 'Flight to the Red Planet' was not aired during the shows original run.

As science itself became the dominant theme in the latter part of 1950s science fiction television, The Man and the Challenge, like Men into Space, favoured the role of the American scientist in researching man's endurance. Presumably in preparation for space travel, the series' research centred on the contributions of Dr. Glenn Barton, an athlete, medical expert and ex-Marine modelled on real-life researcher Col. John Paul Stapp, whose fame as the rocket sled jockey made the cover of Life magazine and served as the inspiration for the film On the Threshold of Space, released by Twentieth Century-Fox in 1956. As a result, the series' emphasis was always on the man and not the generic man. This distinction is emphasised in the pro-gram's signature (see below) as well as the narratives.

Producer Ivan Tors, the man behind the effective series Science Fiction Theatre (q.v.), explained in Telefilm magazine (September 1959) that "Col. Stapp's experiments on him-self filled me with great admiration, and I fashioned The Man and the Challenge on a similar personality, a doctor and researcher, who experiments with danger and survival."

Information on this series is scant. After an exhaustive search we were able to find just one episode, "The Windowless Room," complete with commercials but lacking closing credits. Information below has been compiled by cross-referencing television listings in newspapers and other episode log sources, including TV Guide. Cast information has been assembled from various reference works on science fiction television.

Technical Information

FORMAT: Half hour adventure series centring on the exploits of Dr. Glenn Barton, primary researcher for the Human Factor Institute, a government agency seeking people willing to undergo dangerous missions for the purpose of scientific observation.

BROADCAST HISTORY: Network: NBC; Saturday 8:30-9:00. Original Airdates: September 12, 1959, to September 3, 1960. Sponsor: Chemstrand Corporation and Winston Cigarettes. Seasons: 1. Total Episodes: 36 black-and-white.

Signature

Barton is seated in the cockpit of a rocket sled, and as he dons his crash helmet we see the title "The Man." This scene is followed by footage of the rocket sled in action over which the title "and the" zooms toward the camera. As the rocket sled slows in a gush of water, the title "Challenge" zooms toward the camera. The unidentified announcer pro-claims, "The Man and the Challenge," followed by an introduction of the episode's sponsor.

Production Staff

Production: Ziv Television Programs, Inc. Producer: Ivan Tors. Associate Producer: Andrew Marton.

This is a case in which network meddling may have proved beneficial to the creators. In a September 1959 newspaper interview, star George Nader mentioned that the series was originally titled Challenge. The article added that network officials demanded a title change because they felt that the program may be mistaken for a game show, currently in disrepute because of the scandals. The title was changed and, perhaps, that made the difference in the series' approach to its theme.

Originally titled Moon Probe and later simply Space, Ziv's Men into Space premiered on CBS on Wednesday night, September 30, 1959, nearly two years to the day after the launching of Sputnik I and, more dramatically, only 17 days after yet another monumental feat performed by the Soviet Union, the circling of the moon by the Russian space probe, Lunik II. There is little doubt that the launching of Sputnik I served as impetus for the production of Men into Space and, considering the political climate of the times, just such a pro-gram was needed to inspire confidence in America's ability to conquer space. Sputnik had struck a serious blow to the American ego and sense of complacency.

Early in the development of the Men into Space series, the co-operation of the Department of Defence was secured on the condition that the Defence Department would be granted script approval. The Department of Defence and the United States Air Force seemed principally concerned with technical accuracy, i.e., the truthful depiction of the theories of space exploration, rather than any editorial control over the series' content.

Considering the devastating blow to America's technology meted out by Sputnik's launch, the air force had little choice but to present an image to the American public that was concerned more with the air force's scientific capabilities to supersede the Soviet Union than with any presumed ideological superiority. Capt. M.C. Spaulding of the USAF's Ballistic Missile Division was named technical advisor of the series. He managed a pool of advisors from various government agencies including the air forces Air Research and Development Command, the School of Aviation Medicine and the Office of the Surgeon General. Location filming would take place at the Space Medicine Centre at Randolph Field, Texas; Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio; Cape Canaveral in Florida; Edwards Air Force Base in California; and the navy's testing ground at Point Magu near Santa Barbara, California. The "moon" existed on a sound stage at the Ziv studios off Santa Monica Boulevard in Hollywood.

Brought in to produce the series was veteran producer and art director Lewis J. Rachmil. A graduate of the Yale University School of Fine Arts, Rachmil began his film career in 1930 serving as art director for the Paramount Long Island studios in New York. Moving to Hollywood in 1935, he began a long association with Harry Sherman Productions, serving first as art director and finally as associate producer. Since 1940, he was the associate producer for all of the Hopalong Cassidy features, and in 1945 became head of production for the remaining Hopalong Cassidy features released through United Artists. In 1947, Rachmil became head of production at General Service Studio in Hollywood. He later moved to RKO as a producer of such program features as Bunco Squad (1950), Roadblock (1951) and director William Cameron Menzies' The Whip Hand (1951). In 1952 he joined Columbia Pictures and produced, among many programs, Fritz Lang's Human Desire (1954) and William Asher's offbeat science fiction thriller The 27th Day (1957).

Considering Rachmil's tenure as a producer of low-budget films and his background in art, he was a logical choice to supervise a series that would rely heavily upon art direction to depict its "other world" locations, but was budgeted at a modest $50,000 per episode. I

In a shrewd venture, Rachmil secured the talents of preeminent space artist Chesley Bonestell to provide the production design (or, as the credits read, "Space Concepts") of the series. Bonestell had done much the same thing for producer George Pal's features Destination Moon (1950), When Worlds Collide (1951), The War of the Worlds (1953) and Conquest of Space (1955). Bonestell also received recognition for his evocative cover illustrations for both Coliers and Life magazines; among his most important paintings was the 10 x 40 foot mural of the moon's surface painted for the Boston Museum of Science only two years before his work with Men into Space.

Praising Bonestell's knowledge of space, a CBS spokesman bragged that Bonestell could "tell you the exact angle of incidence of the sun's rays on Deimos," adding, "When the series enters the realm of conjecture-what the surface of the moon will look like, for instance-its ideas are not based on imagination or fancy."

Bonestell carried with him to his work on Men into Space essentially the same "concept" of the moon's appearance which he had used on previous occasions. Bonestell envisioned the moon as a great craggy vastness, filled with sharp, jagged and treacherous obstacles. By the mid-1960s, lunar orbiting satellites would prove that the moon had a much smoother surface, the result of being softened by eons of meteorite bombardment. Bonestell would be forced to admit his mistake.

While Bonestell designed the "look" of the series, Rachmil buried himself in stacks of publications which dealt seriously with the exploration of space. From this research, and the advice of experts, Rachmil declared that his series would emphasize the "correctness" of technical problems men and women would encounter in space exploration and the colonization of the moon. But Rachmil found himself with a technical problem all his own.

A maximum budget of $50,000 per episode did not allow for spectacular special photographic effects so crucial to a series about space exploration. Although he had at his disposal thousands of feet of government film of rocket and missile testing, only special effects footage could depict man's venture into space. By necessity, Rachmil sought the talents of Jack Rabin, Irving Block and Louis DeWitt, a trio of special effects experts who catered mainly to budget minded producers. Their plight was compounded by the air force's insistence on accuracy; hence, any cost cutting gimmicks or even small deviations from the accepted designs of actual space probes and space stations were prohibited. All spacecraft and even the moon colony itself were constructed according to air force specifications. In the long run, Rabin, Block and DeWitt managed to pull it off, offering exceptional photographic effects under serious budgetary restrictions. (All three men received credit in the pilot episode, but only DeWitt received credit in the remaining episodes.)

To simulate floating sequences in the weightless and near weightless conditions of space, Rachmil turned to Peter Foy, the theatrical rigging specialist who manoeuvred Mary Martin through the air in her many performances of the play Peter Pan. Rachmil and the technical advisors, however, had Foy change his technique; Peter Pan had been flying, they rightfully argued, but men and women in space are helpless, and so Foy had to alter his equipment (a contraption consisting of rope, airplane cable and piano wires, some of which were half the thickness of pencil lead) so that the astronauts would, as he said, "float awkwardly."

After several attempts, Foy discovered that the machinery didn't allow for rapid changes of pace, and so he operated the controls manually, a task made all the more difficult considering the weight of the actors (dressed in 75-pound spacesuits) suspended at a height of 40 feet and flown along a 100-foot soundstage. Compounding his task further was the need to "float" the electronic equipment carried by the astronauts as well as the large, bulky mock-ups of the space probes themselves, all in a single setting.

Finally, after two years of research and negotiations, a cast and crew were assembled to produce the pilot episode. William Lundigan, whose connection with the Ziv organisation went back to 1955 when he appeared as a test pilot in the premiere episode of Science Fiction Theatre, was selected to play Col. Edward McCauley, a veteran air force commander chosen to lead America's efforts toward colonising the moon. Lundigan was supported by Angie Dickinson as his wife, Mary, and Charles Herbert as the couple's son, Peter.

While Rabin, Block and DeWitt handled the photographic effects, Cy Simonson, whose previous work included the Adventures of Superman series, handled the stage effects, and Maxwell Smith, who supervised the electronics on Science Fiction Theatre, handled the instrumentation and equipment. Edward Cronjager photographed the pilot (he was replaced by William F. Whitley for the duration of the series), and Robert Kinoshita was art director. Joe Wonder, who served as production supervisor on many Ziv programs, returned for yet one more series, organising the many facets of production.

With the pilot finished and sponsorship secured (American Tobacco Company, namely Lucky Strike cigarettes, and Gulf Coast gasoline), production on the series went into full operation. Directorial assignments were shared among several directors, including William Conrad, Herman Hoffman, Walter Doninger, Alvin Ganzer, Charles Haas, Lee Sholem and Otto Lang. Various writers, mostly freelancers, worked under the supervision of story editor Robert Warnes Leach. Joseph Silver replaced Thomas Scott as film editor. Angie Dickinson was replaced by Joyce Taylor as Mary McCauley; the only other recurring characters were Maj. Norgarth and Gen. Devon, played by Tyler McVey and Russ Conway, respectively, but their appearances were infrequent.

Each episode would begin with several scenes from the episode accompanied by the uncredited announcer whose oracle-like voice, deep and prophetic, offered what amounted to commentary on the theme of the episode. For example, in "Contraband," the theme of human nature is clearly outlined. After explaining that progress in technology will enable man to travel to distant planets, the narrator tempers the "sense of wonder" by remarking that "no matter where he travels, one thing will always be the same: man himself. Human nature will not change in the strange outposts of space. There will always be love and hate, courage and fear, and even greed. This is the story of an expedition to a distant world that was brought to the brink of disaster by one man's greed."

"Moon Probe," the premiere episode, told of an orbital flight of the moon; commander McCauley and his crew found the going much rougher than would the crew of Apollo 8, with an identical real-life mission, just nine years later. The Apollo 8 mission went perfectly; in "Moon Probe," one of the spacecraft's stages fails to separate and McCauley is required to free the trouble-prone second stage. In the process the Colonel is set helplessly adrift in space. Miraculously he is eventually taken back on board when the XMP-13 manoeuvres into position for the rescue.

Owing to its government research origins, "Moon Probe" emphasised the technical triumph of putting the first men into space, but Arthur Weiss's script was not devoid of the human element, as much a requirement of the narratives as the technical hardware itself. In providing prospective writers with editorial guidelines, story editor Leach made it clear that what he wanted were "dramas with strong documentary tone which tell of man's attempt to conquer space. Authenticity plus humanising elements for the characters involved are of the utmost importance [emphasis added], "Moon Probe" centres on the scientific wherewithal necessary to launch three explorers into space and then to rescue one of them when an accident hurls him into space. Director Walter Doninger chose a documentary style: Relying heavily upon close-ups, he creates suspense through the intrusive use of cross-cutting, particularly in cross-cutting four elements (McCauley adrift in space; the rescuers giving chase; ground control directing the rescuers; the anxious family and reporters awaiting McCauley's fate.)

The "humanising element," particularly Mary and Peter waiting for developments, offered insight into the approach taken by Men into Space. The first hint of this approach comes after McCauley is hurled into space. The ground commander orders tracking stations in the free world to monitor McCauley, but immediately corrects himself "No, make it world-wide." In the denouement, the Colonel tells McCauley that "missiles can be repaired in flight, now you've proved that beyond any doubt." But the stoic McCauley, holding a model of the missile, replies, "Something else was proved, too, let's not forget it. For one half hour the entire world made one human life more important than anything else."

CBS touted Men into Space as "a documentary of the future—solidly rooted in fact." As an example, in 1958 the Soviet astronomer Nikolai Kozyrev noted activity in the crater Alphonsus which he suggested might have been of volcanic origin. Considerable scientific attention was suddenly focused on the Alphonsus crater and possible explanations for the reported activity. This real-life debate soon found itself incorporated into a series script. In "Moon Cloud," broadcast in February 1960, McCauley and two brilliant scientists explore the Alphon-sus crater seeking an explanation. The expedition is seriously complicated by the jealous hatred one of the scientists harbours for the other.

McCauley represented one of those quiet, heroic figures which have now gone out of style. As the series developed, he evolved into almost a perfect paradigm of the way America was then pleased to view itself. At a time when the military was held in high esteem, McCauley was proudly exhibited as the best that the military had to offer. His presence was a reassurance to the nation that its welfare was in strong capable hands. Lundigan occasionally found McCauley a little too perfect and rebelled against the image. Rachmil once reported, "Bill's only problem is that he doesn't want to appear infallible. When he asks for a script change, it's because he thinks McCauley is being too noble. We've made McCauley more human, I think, because Bill has complained: 'I'm no hero, so take me off the hook.'"

Eight months after Men into Space left the air, President Kennedy stood before Congress and set forth his agenda for space: "I believe this nation should commit itself to achieving the goal, before the decade is out, of landing a man on the moon and returning him safely to Earth." To former viewers of the Men into Space series, much of what would follow in the coming years would seem familiar as life fulfilled art.

Technical Information

FORMAT: Filmed half hour series projecting a Cold War vision of the colonisation of the moon and the early exploration of space.

BROADCAST HISTORY: Network: CBS. Original Airdates: September 30, 1959 to September 7, 1960. Sponsors: American Tobacco, National Carbon, Longines Wittnauer. Seasons: 1. Total Episodes: 38 black-and-white

Signature

OPENING: The program's signature was a montage beginning with a stylised launching of an Atlas ICBM succeeded by a flight from the earth to a vast ocean of stars. Simultaneously, the narrator acknowledged "the co-operation of the Department of Defence and especially the United States Air Force in the development of the following new dramatic television program." In the network version, a package of Lucky Strike cigarettes appeared as the narrator explained that Men into Space was "presented tonight by Lucky Strike." The title itself literally came forward from the far shores of space, accompanied by David Rose's commanding theme which relied heavily upon brass, pounding tympani and full stops for emphasis.

Production Staff

Production: Ziv Television Programs, Inc.
 Theme Music: David Rose.
 Producer. Lewis J. Rachmil.
 Associate Producer Mel Epstein
 Story Editor Robert Warnes Leach
 Space Concepts Chesley Bonestell
 Technical Advisor Capt. M.C. Spaulding
 Production Manager Joe Wonder
 Director of Photography William F. Whitley
 Film Editors Thomas Scott and Joseph Silver
 Art Direction Robert Kinoshita
 Set Decorations Charles Thompson
 Assistant Director Dale Hutchinson
 Special Effects Cy Simonson
 Photographic Effects Louis DeWitt
 Instruments and Equipment Maxwell Smith
 Audio Supervisor Al Lincoln
 Sound Editor Sid Sutherland
 Music Editor Milton Lustig
 Wardrobe Pat Kelly
 Makeup George Gray and John Holden.

When the economy-minded studio ZIV spent over $3,000 on astronaut garb for its new space series, insiders knew the little studio was serious about sending Men into Space into the ratings stratosphere. "All of this stuff is authentic," said a ZIV spokesman. Even William Lundigan's magnetic space shoes cost $75 apiece.

As the space race between the United States and the Soviet Union took off in the late 1950s, CBS decided to launch a series that reflected manned space flight. The most prestigious backing for the show came from the Department of Defense-which furnished technical advice, research and its facilities for the series-and the U.S. Air Force. Great effort went into ensuring that Men into Space was as accurate as possible. There would be no monsters or time warps or visitors from other worlds. The series format was projected just a few years ahead of real space accomplishments. McCauley rescued trapped astronauts, piloted space shuttles and repaired orbiting space stations. Occasionally he went to the moon, and once to Mars.

Technically, the series presented the best special effects for TV at the time. However, the characters and human drama often failed to reach orbit, thanks to the dry plots.

Writer Robert Hecker recalls that when he submitted his story, "Earthbound" (starring Robert Reed as a stowaway), the technical concerns outweighed the plot. "In one story conference, their primary concern was, 'You can't have a stowaway because of the weight. Even an extra 100 pounds would abort the mission.' I told them that in the near-future time of the series, weight wouldn't be so critical. A stowaway could be possible. Besides, we should be allowed a little literary license. After all, half of the things depicted on Men into Space were highly problematic." Hecker convinced the producers but says, "We had at least three conferences on how much weight could we get away with. Nothing about character or plot. They were so bound up in the technical details, they tended to lose sight of the story."

Nevertheless, Hecker admired the technical integrity of the series. "Men into Space was ahead of its time, but not by much. Most of the events, such as moon landings and space walks, were already being investigated by scientists and the Aeronautics Institute, which later became NASA." Hecker, who is a Lt. Col. USAF (retired), was well versed in what he wrote. "When I wrote for the series, I was writing scientific and technical audio-visual reports for North American Aviation, Lockheed, Hughes, Douglas Aircraft and various government agencies. I had an inside track on the latest technology."

While the series aimed at the future, its treatment of women was strictly primeval. An entertaining example, "The First Woman on the Moon," cast Nancy Gates as a housewife who agrees to spend three months on a moonbase. The less-than-progressive James Clavell script has the female astronaut bursting into tears the minute she walks into her lunar living room. The male astronauts snicker that the psychiatrists predicted such behavior. While the men wear helmets clearly stating their rank, the housewife has a helmet reading "Mrs. Hale." At first moody and irritable (because there are no shopping centers on the moon, states the sympathetic narrator), Mrs. Hale recovers with a sense of humor and passes her space test.

Actress Nancy Gates-Hayes, who retired from acting in the early 1970s to raise her four children, chuckles about the experience now. "At the time they were all male chauvinistic pigs!" she laughs. "Thankfully, things have changed." She was intrigued by the real-life science of the episode. "It was not your usual TV fare," she says. "People ask me about westerns I've done and all I remember is that we rode horses. A show like Men into Space put us on a lunar landscape. There was also someone from NASA on the set. He explained to us that within ten years they would be going to the moon, and we were fascinated. This was 1960, and man walked on the moon nine years later." She was also required to fly through space, recalling, "They lifted us up on wires and floated us around. It was such an unusual show I brought my son, Jeff, who was seven at the time, to the set. He loved it. He was a big science fiction fan. He went on to produce the series Time Trax."

Another guest star, Don Eitner, recalls that while ZIV was a small operation, "it was a very active TV studio. The other major studios were saying, 'Oh, TV is beneath us. We're not going to get involved.' ZIV was one of the leading producers of syndicated shows, and I was one of their stock players. "On Men into Space, they did the space scenes against a black backdrop. There wasn't any process work like they do today. They literally wired us and suspended us up in space. It wasn't dangerous because they only hung us up a few feet. It was fun to do."

Walter Doniger, a director of several episodes, also enjoyed his stint with the series. "It gave me the opportunity to do something that hadn't been done before, particularly dealing with the technical problems. We filmed the pilot at Lancaster, California, at Edwards Air Force Base, where they had all of this space equipment." Doniger fondly recalls star William Lundigan as "a very nice man. He was not a star or a man with a magic about him, but he was competent in the role. He was pleasant to work with and took instructions."

Writer Jerome Bixby provided the story for the segment "Is There Another Civilization?" in which the explorers try to reconstruct an alien spaceship by using the piece of an alien ship as a guide. "I cringed a little when I watched it," notes the science fiction novelist. "Such detailed reconstruction of an alien craft based on examination of a shard is, to put it mildly, unlikely. But I had written it!" Bixby had another story idea that didn't reach filming stage. "It concerned a guy stranded in a lifeboat. He's spotted by a manned satellite. The Defense Department nixed it. They said that was impossible. Preposterous, they said." Bixby, however, knew that such technology was possible. "

They probably didn't want a satellite's spy potential emphasized on network television," Bixby reasons. Bixby, however, classifies Men into Space as a valiant attempt to realistically depict space travel. "As I recall, the production staff knew little about science, but they did care, [and] had a technical consultant. The science used on the series seemed sound. The series was ahead of its time. Bill Lundigan was also an asset: competent, easy to work with and a very funny guy. The one weakness was the special effects. They were toothpick, hairpin and bubblegum, due to a limited budget." Despite the cast and crew's determination, the series' initial strength in the ratings faded quickly. The series ended after one full season. However, Robert Hecker feels it left its own legacy. "Men into Space was an enjoyable show," he says, "and it helped to pave the way for other space adventure series to follow."

CAST NOTES

William Lundigan (Col. McCauley): Born 1914. A former radio announcer who turned to TV after his movie career waned in the 1950s, Lundigan made his last TV appearance on Marcus Welby, M.D. (1970). He died in 1975.

WR. Aurthur Weiss, Ib MelChoir, William Templeton, James Clavell, Robert Hecker, Lewis Jay, David Duncan, Michael Plant and Donald Duncan.

DIR. Lee Solem, Alvin Ganzer, Jack Herzberg, William Conrad, David Friedkin and Walter Doniger.

EPISODES: 38 YEAR MADE: 1959 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

A UNITED ARTISIT PRODUCTION FOR CBS

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: SPACE FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 25 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 38

DATE OF PREMIER: 30/09/1959 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 07/09/1960

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Col. Edward MacCauley WILLIAM LUNDIGAN, Mary MacCauley JOYCE TAYLOR / ANGIE DICKINSON (PILOT), Lt. Johnny Baker COREY ALLEN, Captain Harvey Sparkman KEN DIBBS, General Nargarth TYLER MCVEY.

Books Based on this series.

Men Into Space Murray Leinster 1960

1 - 1 MOON PROBE

His family watching from mission control, Col. Edward McCauley who is commanding the first rocket into outer space must make a desperate gamble when the second stage of his rocket fails to jettison.

Wr Arthur Weiss

Dir Walter Doniger

1 - 2 LANDING ON THE MOON (AKA MOON LANDING)

Senator Jim Sloane questions the need for and cost of a mission to the moon after McCauley's first effort to the moon fails and his second effort leaves a crewman seriously injured during takeoff.

Wr James Clavell

Dir Walter Doniger

1 - 3 BUILDING A SPACE STATION

McCauley races against time in order to save an astronaut who is trapped when assembling the prefabricated units of a space station. The astronaut is the son of a air force general and trapped when his sleeve catches between sections of the space station.

Wr Meyer Dolinsky

Dir Otto Lang

1 - 4 WATER TANK RESCUE

Wr Ib Melchior

Dir Otto Lang

1 - 5 LOST MISSILE

Wr Michael Plant

Dir Walter Doniger

1 - 6 MOONQUAKE

Wr William Templeton

Dir Lee Sholem

1 - 7 SPACE TRAP

Wr Marianne Mesner, Francis Rosenwald

Dir Charles F. Haas

1 - 8 ASTEROID

Wr Ted Sherdeman

Dir Lee Sholem

1 - 9 EDGE OF ETERNITY

Wr Kalman Phillips

Dir Nathan Juran

1 - 10 BURNOUT

Wr Donald Duncan

Dir Alvin Ganzer

1 - 11 FIRST WOMAN ON THE MOON

1 - 12 CHRISTMAS ON THE MOON

Wr David Duncan

Dir Richard Carlson

1 - 13 QUARANTINE

Wr Richard Carlson

Dir Walter Doniger

1 - 14 TANKERS IN SPACE

Wr Arthur Weiss

Dir Alvin Ganzer

1 - 15 SEA OF STARS

Colonel McCauley pushes a young astronaut cadet to his limit during training. When Colonel McCauley is rendered unconscious the cadet has to land on Earth.

Wr Marianne Mosner, Francis Rosenwald, Kalman Phillips

Dir Lee Sholem

1 - 16 A HANDFUL OF HOURS

Wr Michael Plant

Dir Alvin Ganzer

1 - 17 EARTHBOUND

Wr Robert Hecker, Donald Duncan

Dir Nathan Juran

1 - 18 CAVES OF THE MOON

Wr Meyer Dolinsky

Dir Lee Sholem

1 - 19 DATELINE: MOON

Wr Robert Warnes Leach

Dir Alan Crosland Jr.

1 - 20 MOONCLOUD

Wr Michael Plant

Dir Otto Lang

1 - 21 CONTRABAND

Wr David Duncan

Dir Alvin Ganzer

1 - 22 DARK OF THE SUN (AKA DARK OF THE MOON)

Wr Alvin Ganzer

- Dir Alvin Ganzer
1 - 23 VERDICT IN ORBIT
- Wr Michael Plant
- Dir Nathan Juran
1 - 24 IS THERE ANOTHER CIVILISATION
- Wr William Templeton, Robert Warnes Leach
- Dir Nathan Juran
1 - 25 SHADOWS ON THE MOON
- Wr David Duncan
- Dir Alvin Ganzer
1 - 26 FLASH IN THE SKY
- Wr David Duncan
- Dir Walter Doniger
1 - 27 LUNAR SECRET
- Wr Michael Plant
- Dir Franklin Adreon
1 - 28 VOICE OF INFINITY
- Wr Ib Melchior
- Dir Alan Crosland Jr.
1 - 29 FROM ANOTHER WORLD
- Wr Beirne Lay, Jr.
- Dir Herman Hoffman
1 - 30 EMERGENCY MISSION
- Wr Kalman Phillips
- Dir Alvin Ganzer
1 - 31 BEYOND THE STARS
- Wr David Duncan
- Dir Jack Herzberg
1 - 32 MISSION TO MARS
- Wr Lewis Jay
- Dir William Conrad
1 - 33 MOON TRAP
- Wr Lewis Jay
- Dir Otto Lang
1 - 34 FLARE UP
- Wr Donald Duncan
- Dir Herman Hoffman
1 - 35 INTO THE SUN
- Wr Lewis Jay
- Dir Jack Herzberg
1 - 36 THE SUN NEVER SETS
- McCauley visits England and advises the British space program. He objects to the design of a second stage rocket. The British launch the spacecraft anyway and the second stage malfunctions hurling the craft into a tumbling orbit around the earth. With the help of a new British astronaut, McCauley pursues the crippled ship and succeeds in rescuing the crew.
- Wr Lewis Jay
- Dir Alvin Ganzer
1 - 37 MYSTERY SATELLITE
- Wr Lewis Jay

Dir William Conrad

1 - 38 FLIGHT TO THE RED PLANET

Wr Lewis Jay

Dir David Friedkin

MENTORS

Mentors premiered in Canada on June 12, 1999. Fifteen-year-old Oliver Cates has invented Visicron, an amazing piece of software that transports any historical figure into the present day for 36 hours. When problems arise, Oliver and his close friend Dee Sampson, also 15, select a famous person from the past to help them solve the problem on their own initiative. The kids discover facts not found in textbooks about these remarkable people-figures such as Albert Einstein, Joan of Arc, Lewis Carroll, Napoleon Bonaparte and Oscar Wilde-bringing history to life in an entertaining format. Loads of fun results from the juxtaposition of historical figures with the modern world. Without moralizing, each story promotes positive values and independent thinking.

Produced by Kevin DeWalt (executive producer), Production Management - Jim O'Grady (production manager: pilot), Second Unit Director or Assistant Director - Greg Fawcett (first assistant director), Stunts - Kirk Jarrett (stunt co-ordinator (ep.#37-10 aka "Remembrance Day")), Other crew - Laurette Bourassa (production coordinator). The series was filmed in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada.

WR. Bartley Bard, Margaret Bard, Wendy Brotherlin, Bruce Edwards, Greg Kennedy, Peter Lapres.

DIR. Michele Boniface, Gil Cardinal, Francis Damberger, Norm Fassbender, Fred Frame

EPISODES: 52 YEAR MADE: 1999 COUNTRY: CAN SEASONS: 4

ANAID FILM PRODUCTIONS, MINDS EYE PICTURES

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: TIME TRAVEL

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 0 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 13, (2) 13, (3) 13, (4) 13

DATE OF PREMIER: 12/06/1999 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 05/04/2004

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Oliver CHAD KROWCHUCK (1-2), Crystal Cates (ep.#37-10 aka "Remembrance Day") SAMANTHA KRUTZFELDT (3), Dee SARAH LIND (1-2), Anne Cates BELINDA METZ (1-2), Roy Cates SHAUN JOHNSTON (1-2), Ted Sampson DARYL SHUTTLEWORTH (1-2), Ellen Sampson DAVINA STEWART (1-2), Simon Cates STEVIE MITCHELL (3), Peggy Cates JANE SOWERBY (3), Norm Cates BRIAN MARTELL (3)

- 1 - 1 THE GENIUS
- 1 - 2 SMART ALECK
- 1 - 3 RAISING THE SIEGE
- 1 - 4 LEWIS IN WONDERLAND
- 1 - 5 LITTLE EMPEROR
- 1 - 6 WILDE CARD
- 1 - 7 A NINTH TO BEETHOVEN
- 1 - 8 A TRANSIENT, SHINING TROUBLE
- 1 - 9 THE PRESENCE OF ST. NICK

- 1 - 10 THE RAVEN
- 1 - 11 HARRIET'S PATH
- 1 - 12 THE CRUSH
- 1 - 13 THE RESCUE
- 2 - 1 THE TRUTH IS IN HERE
- 2 - 2 HER GRACE UNDER PRESSURE
- 2 - 3 DEAR DIARY
- 2 - 4 THE GLORY TRAIL
- 2 - 5 RIGHT PLACE, RIGHT TIME
- 2 - 6 NOTHING BUT NET
- 2 - 7 FATHER'S DAY
- 2 - 8 THE BOOK OF LOVE
- 2 - 9 STRANGER IN A STRANGE LAND
- 2 - 10 THE FIRE SHIP
- 2 - 11 KLONDIKE DAZE
- 2 - 12 SEER AND NOW
- 2 - 13 FUTURE TENSE

MERCY POINT

It's ER in space! A team of "mednauts," led by Chief Surgeon Dr. Grote Maxwell (Joe Morton), treat the various and sundry illnesses of humans and aliens at a hospital located in deep space. That leaves plenty of room for emergency room gore, such as when a synthetic mednaut loses his head or a gooey alien suffers a meltdown. Just don't ask how much the insurance is.

You have to at least applaud UPN for trying. Mercy Point, with its ER meets DEEP SPACE NINE premise, is pretty daring, if not entirely compelling. It's fun to sit back and watch the freak show of aliens traipse in to the space hospital to be treated for minor scrapes and major bruises, but you can't help but laugh when Mercy Point tries to create high drama out of it. You couldn't care less if alien X lives or dies, and that's the biggest difference from ER, other than that the fact that Mercy Point's staff isn't nearly as good looking. Still, can't wait to see if any Ferengi show up with ear infections.

Pre-publicity had not been received well, it being dubbed Deep Space 90210 and ET ER and the pilot has been described as just plain bad. The kind of bad that makes you resent being alive while you're watching it. The kind of bad that makes you gasp in wonder, and angrily contemplate the horrific lack of creative and economic savvy which allowed a show like this to be produced. STAR TREK : THE NEXT GENERATION's John De Lancie turns up in the pilot episode as a hospital administrator.

The origins of the show itself come out of a motion picture script Callaway wrote entitled 'Nightingale One'; the UPN network persuaded him to produce it for TV instead. Executive producers for the series were Terry Callaway, Michael Katleman and Lee David Zlotoff, associate producer for the series was Eric Valente, visual effects supervisor was Elan Soltes. Original costume design was by Heidi Katzenski, costume designer was Terri Bardon. The producer for the series was Deborah Starr Sibel, supervising producer was Brent V. Friedman, co-executive producer was Vahan Moosekian, executive producer was Joe Voci and Scott Sanders.

The various writers for the series included Terry Callaway. The directors included Michael Kettleman. The music was created by Jon Ehrelich, and the production designer was Graeme Murray. The series was first seen in Britain on the 7th January 1999 at a respectable 8.30pm time slot, it was however shown on the newly revamped Sci-Fi channel (sic) where it could get only limited viewing figures, a show that will pass in the annals of SF TV history without anybody really noticing, a case of good tray, but not good enough.

ER in the 23rd century. This is the established description of the this UPN sci-fi series Mercy Point. It's what those who've seen it are calling it anyway. The series, 250 years in the future, is set on a space station at the farthest outreaches of space. Here, a team of trauma doctors and support staff, lead by veteran television and film star Joe Morton (Terminator 2: Judgement Day, Brother From Another Planet) as Dr. Grote Maxwell, care for the sick and injured of the of galaxy, human and alien alike.

The show is touted as less about phasers and space battles than it is about relationships and emotional conflicts. The context is the vast expanse of space and all that involves, the content is fundamentally romance, emotion and the dilemmas inherent in the interaction of the creatures of the universe, human and otherwise. It's not STAR TREK style medicine being practised here. No uniformed doctors waving chirruping gadgets over patients diagnosis and heal. These space based doctors apparently dress like the guys at the local medical centre and will be actively opening and closing their patients, whilst wading through whatever goo, goop and squiggles happen to pop out.

This is not to suggest the show won't be high-tech. It has a big budget that will be used to dazzle the audience with high-end special effects both inside and outside of the space station. Rumour has it that the premiere episode has an alien creature losing its head, and getting it put back. Still, the idea here is not so much a technically flashy show with lots of space jargon, but something that's part ER, part Melrose Place with just a dash of BABALON 5. At least, that's the hype.

The series was cancelled after episode 3, Trey Callaway who is the shows creator and executive producer claimed, 'this' "demonstrates UPN's lack of confidence in their own judgement". The series was moved from its planned Wednesday slot and became a companion show to shows such as Moesha and Clueless. Its creator claimed that he got no support from the studio marketing wise. An original plan to show Mercy Point just before STAR TREK: VOYAGER in the US was scrapped when SF show SEVEN DAYS took the slot.

We want people to come away from this show saying much more than just, 'Wow, what a coot ride.' So says Trey Callaway, executive producer of the new American SF series, Mercy Point's. Whether the audience will be saying complimentary things once the Sci-Fi Channel begins airing the show this month is more open to question.

The first fantasy casualty of the 1998/99 season in America - its parent network UPN showed two episodes before announcing that the third segment would be its last - Mercy Point was hailed as "ER In Space". Although the series tries to capitalise on two very popular current trends, namely medical dramas and science fiction, its failure can probably be attributed to following the guidelines for neither. Any medical show attracts its audience because of a mixture of interest in the back stories of the characters who are in the Emergency Room (whether it's ER, Chicago Hope or Casualty), so that the audience comes to care about what happens about them, and an interest in the lives of the regular characters - the doctors and the nurses who work there. Science fiction shows can normally rely on good stories, strong characters, cool special effects - or hopefully a combination of all three. On paper, Mercy Point has a lot going for it. A tightly constructed future history was compiled by the producers, explaining how mankind had expanded from Earth, as well as all of the medical advances that were made between 1998 and 2249. AIDS was cured in 2009, the emotional centres of the brain identified in 2012. Meanwhile, a colony was established on the Moon in 2024, and on Mars at the end of the 21st Century when contact with alien life forms was made.

Mercy Point is a medical research station inside a group of independent space stations known collectively as Jericho, which sit at the edge of the Sahartic Divide - an area of space into which ships go but from which they rarely return. The effect is like a frontier town in the Old West, where various groups have banded together for their own protection. In Jericho, aliens and humans work together in a loose alliance governed by the Inter Species Council. The doctors based at Mercy Point have to deal with all the various problems that can arise from the station's position, as well as less obvious ones (such as a human child sharing an alien friend's lunch!). "Although it is set in the year 2249, there is a certain timeless aspect to the show," says executive producer Lee David Zlotoff. "What we want people to see is that although the world has changed, human nature is still the same - people are still going to live, die and fall in love, just like they do now."

What this means in practice is that, unlike many television science fiction shows, Mercy Point doesn't show a particularly optimistic view of the future - Earth is home only to the super-rich, and Mankind has enslaved other races in its path to the stars. Alien physicians don't necessarily like their human counterparts -magnifying conflict of personalities which can make a show successful into a far more underlying racist theme. This unwitting dichotomy is underlined by executive producer Joe Voci's emphasis on "the future of the human heart". Joe Morton, most recently seen in Blues Brothers 2000, leads the ensemble cast as Dr Grote Maxwell, described as the "primary emergency physician whose gentle but rock-solid demeanour earns him the respect of his peers and wins him the confidence of his patients."

His boss, Dr Hayden Breslauer - Maria Del Mar from William Shatner's Tek War series - is simply described as "the highly-skilled Director of Medicine" whose purpose seems more to react with her younger sister Dru (Small Soldiers' Alexandra Wilson), who has just been assigned to the station, much to Hayden's displeasure. Dru also has a romantic history with Caleb Durado (Brian McNamara), the Director of Extra-Vehicular Medicine, which, in a wonderful piece of interpretation of terminology, means that he's the doctor who makes house calls (or should we say, spaceship calls?). Species and Deep Space Nine guest star Jordan Lund hides beneath the prosthetic make-up of Dr Batung, the resident 'cranky' doctor who also happens to be an alien. And where would any science fiction series be without its resident know-all computers, in this case the ANI (android nursing interface), and HIPPOCRATES, a talking computerised database which is linked to every operating room on Mercy Point, and which can provide instantaneous background information and advice on all patients (thereby depriving all of that terrible waste of time trying to find out information which can propel the plot forward...)

Shot in Vancouver, Mandalay Productions and Columbia Television have brought in various experts to try to bring an air of authenticity to the show. Emergency room physician and author Dr Mark Brown acts as medical consultant to the series, saying that, "the producers have been very inventive with the medical cases depicted in Mercy Point. While it's set 250 years in the future, the series deals with medical issues that are logical extensions of problems we're grappling with today." They also employ the make up talents of Steve Johnson, whose work also graces Poltergeist : The Legacy, THE OUTER LIMITS, STARGATE SG-1 and another new series, FIRST WAVE.

Dr Batung is the main recipient of his attentions, although the other species encountered have also posed challenges. Unfortunately, the level of the special effects work has not been as high - the original pilot had to 'borrow' footage from Starship Troopers, and this is an area which the producers clearly decided to play down. "This show is going to bring up lots of moral and ethical issues that run much deeper than what you would see on a typical sci-fi show," states Trey Callaway. Bearing in mind the medical issues which have been raised by BABYLON 5 and DEEP SPACE NINE, to name but two, the claim may show the fundamental flaw in thinking that has led to the show's speedy cancellation...

At the furthest-known explored point of the galaxy sits an Earth colony called Jerico, neighbouring the unstable, mysterious area of Space called the Sahardic Divide. Gathering there with typical curiosity is the Human race, rubbing shoulders with alien cultures in exciting developments of science, military and medicine. Mercy Point, the frontier hospital of the colony, is the focus of UPN's ex-citing new fall show, which some critics have describes as 'ER among the stars'.

Creator Trey Callaway is understand-ably excited about the show, having been a huge Science Fiction fan for as long as he can remember. "I saw Star Wars 12 or 13 times," he grins. He even seems pleased when the show is compared to ER. "I'm a big fan of ER myself, and I think there are certain aspects of ER that we would love to be com-pared to. We certainly pace our show in a way that is similar to ER. Beyond that, probably the biggest similarity is that, for us, a real strong focus in the show lies within the characters, the relationship with each other and the patients, a lot of romance, a lot of emotion. It's a very crucial aspect of the show".

Science fiction is a tough genre to be accepted in, but Callaway isn't worried about playing ball with the big boys, the benchmark Babylon 5 or Star Trek. He freely admits he's a bit of a Trekkie, but is really attempting to do something a little different. "One of the things that we've tried to do in particular is let these doctors get their hands dirty In other words, rather than do the Star Trek notion of medicine, which is -" he pauses, twittering a passable impression of a tricorder, "and you're better. We're trying to suggest here that yes, we have advanced medical technology and medical science in great leaps and bounds 250 years from now, but there are still going to come those occasions when you're going to have to get your hands dirty " Being on the border of known Space, Mercy Point is the first hospital that has aliens together.

It therefore makes sense to have an alien doctor on the staff, and the job falls to Dr Batung - a bigoted being who treats patients with the extraterrestrial version of alternative medicine... and has a real prejudice against humans. Taking further advantage of the setting, Callaway also introduced ANI, a Simbot android nurse. "She has high organisational skills, with a great degree of compassion pre-programmed within certain perimeters. And she makes an incredible lead Nurse. Where we mine the drama from this is that she can work 24 hours a day and look really good doing it, the rest of the human nurses on board take great issue with this. In other words, they see the writing on the wall. "So, for us, no matter what kind of technology we employ, we always try and find the root, the human root, and what's going to make this accessible, understandable, relatable to a 20th Century audience."

The origins of the show itself come out of a motion picture script Callaway wrote en-titled 'Nightingale One'; the UPN Network persuaded him to produce it for TV instead. Turning a one-off film into a weekly series must've been a big step; does Callaway feel that he's going to run out of ideas? "If I give you too many future stories, I'd have to put you in an escape pod and send you to the Sahardic," he confides. "But I can guarantee it will run the gamut from small to large cases. You're going to have small stories like a kid comes in with belly-ache and is diagnosed with nothing more than bellyache until we find out it's a much bigger problem because he traded lunches at school with an alien. That's a small kind story. And then it runs the gamut from there to the first time a human being is infected with a computer virus."

Callaway certainly feels that there is a great mileage out of the extraordinary positioning of Mercy Point, and its rather unusual society. But he is quick to point out that this isn't just about the locale, but rather the unique situations it presents. "As far as Science fiction goes, look, I love Science Fiction. I always have. But I will actually say that I'm a bigger fan in some ways of the medical drama, of those very life-and-death issues. And what really appeals to me about this project is that even though we are 250 years into the future, we're saying that basically people and aliens are still going to live, they're still going to going to die , they're still going to fall in love, they're still going to disagree. Those aspects of it are what really rings true to me."

Mercy Point is a strange hybrid best summed up by the high concept pitch of 'ER in Space'. Taking place on a space station somewhere on the final frontier, the series, as presented in a 26-minute presentation episode, chronicles the attempts of a team of mednauts to cure both human and alien patients. The show is filled with the usual medical series clichés - doctors having urgent conversations while moving briskly through corridors; arguments between doctors on the most appropriate course of action; and personality conflicts ("If that chip on your shoulder was any bigger, it would have its own gravitational pull!"). There's the doctor who's done his time and wants to leave, but can't bring himself to do so (Joe Morton), and the traditional short-sighted bureaucrat concerned; more about the bottom line than the patient (John De Lancie, taking on his usual feature film putz role instead of having fun as Q).

The difficulty in judging the presentation episode is the fact that although there are aliens on board, none of them are featured players. In other words, we see the human doctors struggling valiantly to save their lives, but their role is primarily to just lay there. It's an absolute necessity for the series to have an alien among the mednauts, so that the character can serve as the prism by which we view humanity and as a means of discussing our limitations and potential as a species.

The focus of the show is Joe Morton, who has proven himself extremely capable of switching back and forth between ensemble drama (television's Equal Justice) and sci-fi thrills (Terminator 2: Judgement Day). He makes whatever he plays real, and that's an incredibly important element of a show like this. There's one aspect of the presentation reel that really sticks out negatively: in an attempt to show how far medicine has come between now and the 22nd century, there is a ludicrous scene in which a doctor loses his head (literally) and Morton performs a 'recapitulation' procedure that works. There are lots of slow dissolves after the operation to convey concern among fellow staffers, but their worried faces can't hide that, in the end, it's an utterly unbelievable scene.

Episodes 1.6 - 1.8 were not showing during the series original run, they have been shown as part of the summer repeats in 1999 in US, and all episodes have been seen in the UK.

It was called Mercy Point, and it could have been very, very good, if only it had been given the chance. Unfortunately, it was given any chance at all. Bad reviews, and bad ratings meant that only four episodes were shown in the US before it was pulled from the schedules. Mercy Point deliberately set out to distance itself from the two big space-based TV franchises. With BABYLON 5 and STAR TREK the backstory - the political and cultural set-up of the galaxy, the relationships between all the races - is of critical importance to appreciating the full implications of the plots, and great effort is put into getting the exposition across as painlessly as possible. In Mercy Point we are told virtually nothing about how the galaxy works. All we know is that there is some fairly low tech space craft, an unrevealed number of alien races, some kind of ruling body known as the Interspecies Council with a reasonably friendly military force, and an unexplored region of space called the Sahartic divide (a combination of the Sahara and the Arctic, one assumes).

No galactic wars that we know of. No apparent or implied invasion fleets or threats to destroy everything. The series was about two things only: how being can get ill in the future and how people on a space station called Mercy Point get them well again. Joe Morton (best known perhaps as the man inadvertently responsible for creating Skynet in Terminator 2), played Grote Maxwell, the primary emergency surgeon on Mercy Point: a committed leader who would unstingingly give up anything - time, energy, his chance of a social life - to heal a patient, but who has no time at all for office politics or paperwork. He is supported in his work and secretly loved in private by the woman he works for, Director of Medicine Dr. Haylen Breslauer (Maria Del Mar). As well as her felling for Maxwell, Breslauer also has to cope with sibling rivalry from the first episode on when her younger, wilder sister Dru arrives on the station.

Yes, your right: it's soap opera. It's a series concerned more with the inter-relationships between the characters than with the actual elements of the plot. Frankly, any description of the viruses, accidents, tragedies and surgical procedures of the seven finished episode would be pointless: the important thing is that Dru and CJ end up together, as do Maxwell and Haylen. And we care that they do.

WR.

DIR.

EPISODES: 8 YEAR MADE: 1998 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

MANDALAY TELEVISION (A LIONS GATE COMPANY) IN ASSOCIATION WITH COLUMBIA TRI-STAR TELEVISION FOR UNITED PARAMOUNT NETWORKS

CREATOR: TERRY CALLAWAY, DAVID SIMKINS & MILO FRANK.

TYPE OF SHOW: MEDICAL

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 5

DATE OF PREMIER: 06/10/1998

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Dr. Grote Maxwell JOE MORTON, Dr. Caleb 'CJ' Jurado BRIAN MCNAMARA, Dr. Dru Breslauer ALEXANDRA WILSON, Dr. Haylen Breslauer MARIA DEL MAR, ANI - Android Nurse Interface JULIA PENNINGTON, Dr. Rema Cook GAY THOMAS, JORDON LUND.

RELATED SHOWS:*STAR TREK: THE NEXT GENERATIONOUTER LIMITS, THE (1995)STARGATE SG1FIRST WAVE*1 - 1 NEW ARRIVALS

A computer virus attacks a computer technician and soldiers. Operation in zero gravity saves an unborn baby and mother. Dru arrives as a new resident, confronting her estranged sister Haylen and former lover CJ. Grote tries to find his family. ANI is promoted to Head Nurse and helps save Tobitt who has resented her. CJ's past with Dru is discovered. Dr. Batung shows his skill but shows his dislike for humans.

Wr Trey CallawayDir Michael Katleman1 - 2 OPPOSING VIEWS

A shuttle accident sends passengers to Mercy Point. Accused of disobeying the dead pilot's orders, the dying co-pilot is given a memory download on orders of ISC's Charlie Bantam. The doctors resist his cold approach. Lily Parks becomes Dru first patient. A patient with lunar pneumonia is treated in cryostasis by CJ and Grote. Batung gives world famous gymnast Nancy Curtis two artificial legs. He tries to understand her anger, ends up apologizing to her and trying to motivate her. Dru catches Lt. Salisaw and CJ making out in a supply room. ANI is praised and sheds a tear. Haylen and Rema's boyfriends are introduced.

Wr Trey CallawayDir D.J. Caruso1 - 3 LAST RESORT

Grote is pressured by an influential man to perform an experimental procedure on his dying son, in which an ill alien would be sacrificed for his blood. The procedure fails and the son ends up saving an alien instead, with a reverse blood transfusion. Meanwhile, a female patient developing webbed fingers believes that she has been infected by an alien. Haylen diagnoses a guy she once dated as having Home Sickness Syndrome. Dru oversleeps on the first day of her residency.

Wr Brent V. FriedmanDir Joe Napolitano1 - 4 SECOND CHANCES

A patient's premature aging turns out to be caused by an illegal operation that had preserved an old scientist's mind by transplanting it into a young man's body. Grote faces an ethical dilemma, because one of the two minds must be sacrificed for the other to survive. Meanwhile, Haylen overrules Dru in the treatment of a patient whose arteries are clogged by synthetic blood, and ANI wonders what it would be like to have human feelings when she witnesses a couple holding hands.

Wr Gary GlasbergDir Randall Zisk1 - 5 NO MERCY

A high proportion of alien deaths at the station causes suspicion to fall on Dr. Maxwell, and a team arrives to investigate. Meanwhile, Haylen discovers that a woman in need of an eye transplant isn't likely to be helped by it, as she has already had several -- from C.J.

Wr Deborah Starr SeibelDir Michael Katleman1 - 6 *C.J.*1 - 7 BATTLE SCARS

Bortok and C.J. survive being jettisoned out of an airlock, but are in critical condition. Meanwhile, miner who has just struck the mother lode discovers that he won't live long enough to enjoy it, and Dru undertakes the detoxification of a drug-addicted teenager even though she has been unable to locate the mother to get permission.

Wr Jonathan Robert KaplanDir Lee Bonner1 - 8 PERSISTENCE OF VISION

The station crew recovers a capsule with a man who chose exile in an unexplored region of space as an alternative to prison, and now claims that his brain disease is the result of communing with God.

Meanwhile, Dr. Cook treats a woman whose nightmares are driving her to the brink of insanity.

Wr Brent V. Friedman

Dir Alex Graves

MESSAGE FROM SPACE: GALATIC WAR

AKA: UCHU KARA NO MESSEJI

In this Star Wars take-off, the peaceful planet of Jillucia has been nearly wiped out by the Gavanas, whose leader takes orders from his mother (played by comic actor Eisei Amamoto in drag) rather than the Emperor. King Kaiba sends out eight Liabe holy seeds, each to be received by a chosen one to defend the Gavanas. Each recipient, ranging from hardened General Garuda to Gavana Prince Hans to young Terrans Meia, Kido, and Aaron all have different reactions to being chosen.

This Godzilla of a film featured a hysterical Japanese cast and dubbing so bad it gave me diarrhoea. The scenes on 'Mars' were shot with a migraine-inducing red lens for some reason. Special effects were done by chroma-keying several walnuts (I'm not kidding). They actually bothered to release some plastic models after this film was released. I turned them over in my hands muttering 'Walnuts from Space' and they were still on the shelf at our local toy store four years later. Pray you never see this film.

Produced by Tohru Hirayama (producer), Akira Ito (producer), Yusuke Okada (producer), Naoyuki Sugimoto (producer), Tan Takaiwa (producer), Simon Tse (producer), Banjiro Uemura (producer), Yoshinori Watanabe (producer), Original music by Shunsuke Kikuchi, Ken-Ichiro Morioka.

Cinematography by Toru Nakajima, Special Effects by Shotaru Ishinori, Minoru Nakano, Masahiro Noda, Noboru Takanashi, Nobuo Yajima.

Message from Space was also shown in the US as a film, please note that the majority of the information shown here is infact from the film credits, however because the film was essentially the TV series stiched together, the credits are the same.

Of all the Star Wars rip-offs that were released during the late 70's and early 80's, perhaps only Star Crash is more shameless than this incredibly strange Japanese cash-in. Quite surprising, then, that this movie should also be the best of the bunch, with only Battle Beyond the Stars offering it any serious competition. Message from Space/Uchu Kara no Messeji owes most of its success, I think, to the sensibility of the studio that produced it. Toei, after all, is best known (in America, at least) for its anime, and Message from Space resembles nothing so much as a lavish live-action cartoon, Japanese style edgy, goofy, eye-catching, and surreal, all at the same time.

As our voice-over narrator tells us, the planet Telusia is dying, its entire surface ravaged by the war between its peace-loving but indomitable people and the Gavonnas, a race of steel-skinned conquerors from a distant star. Though the Telusians still fight on, the war is already lost, and their only hope lies in the intervention of their gods, the Liabe. In accordance with an ancient prophecy, the leader of the Telusians casts eight sacred Liabe seeds (actually ordinary walnut no, really!) out into space. These seeds will magically seek out eight heroes who will turn the tide against the Gavonnas, and rescue Telusia from its peril. The old leader then sends out his granddaughter, Emeralita (Etsuko Shihomi, from The Street Fighter and Dragon Princess), and her bodyguard, Urocco (Makato Sato, of The H-Man and The Lost World of Sinbad), to chase the Liabe seeds across the universe and bring the divinely ordained champions back to Telusia.

The Gavonnas, in their impregnable fortress on the other side of the planet, detect the launching of Emeralita's ship, however. The Gavonna ruler, Emperor Rockseia (Mikio Narita, from G.I. Samurai and Ninja Wars), takes little interest in this piece of intelligence at first, but when his mother (Eisei Amamoto, of King Kong Escapes and The Secret of the Telegian, acting in drag) tells him that she saw the release of the Liabe seeds just before Emeralita embarked, the emperor realizes the gravity of the situation. He dispatches the mighty flagship of his fleet (indeed, it seems to be the only ship in the Gavonna fleet) to intercept the fugitive princess, giving rise to what will only be the first of many Star Wars deja vu moments.

Meanwhile, in our own galaxy, a spoiled rich girl named Meia (Peggy Lee Brennan) is taking a cruise through an asteroid belt on her father's new space yacht. While Meia looks out the window and admires the glowing of the space fireflies particles of radioactive ash from the reactors of the starships that ply this part of space her vessel is buzzed by a pair of rough riders. These spacefaring hot-rodders, Aaron (Philip Casnoff) and Shiro (Hiroyuki Sanada, who alone among the cast was hired back for the spin-off series that aired on Japanese TV the following year), seem to be friends of Meia's, and she tries to convince the captain of her ship to follow them, even going so far as to attempt to seize the helm when he refuses. This wild scheme is nipped in the bud by the appearance of the Space Patrol, which serves as an analogue to coast guard, air force, and state police, all in one. The space patrol interceptor chases Aaron and Shiro out of the asteroid field, and down to the surface of a nearby planet. The rough riders are too crafty for the space cop, however, and use their superior piloting skills to force their pursuer to ditch his craft in a canyon. But before they can complete their getaway, something strikes both rough riders' vessels, forcing them to land as well. And when Aaron and Shiro inspect the damage to their machines, what should they find lodged in the engine nacelles but two of the Telusian Liabe seeds!

Either the Liabe gods have a thing for humans, or else we're the meanest bunch of ass-kickers in the universe, because the third Liabe seed also comes to an Earthling. General Garuda (Vic Morrow, from Humanoids from the Deep and The Evictors) and his distinctly R2-D2-like robot sidekick, Beba 2 (Isamu Shimizu), are hanging out at a showbar, celebrating the general's resignation from the military in protest of having been ordered to scrap his original robot, Beba 1, who had served him faithfully for over 30 years. Garuda is watching the dancers and getting shitfaced when he notices that somebody has put something in his drink something which rather looks like a large walnut. Not knowing what to make of it, he fishes the Liabe seed out of his glass and sticks it in his pocket.

By a remarkable coincidence, Aaron and Shiro, the rough riders, happen to be line cooks at the very club where Garuda is getting his drink on. Or at any rate, they are for the moment. Their boss isn't terribly happy with them right now, because he owes some gangsters a hell of a lot of money, which he gave to the rough riders' slimeball friend, Jack (Masazumi Okabe), for safe-keeping, only to have him turn around and lend it to them so that they could buy parts to repair their damaged hot rods. Now the gangsters have come looking for the cash, and nobody has a penny of it. Fortunately for all concerned, Meia, who turns out to be a rough rider herself, stops by to see her friends, and she is willing to put up the money, on the condition that Aaron and Shiro take her back to the asteroid field to collect some of those space fireflies she was admiring earlier. No one likes this idea very much (that Space Patrol pilot is sure to be on the lookout for Aaron and Shiro's ships), but Meia drives a hard bargain.

While the rough riders (with Jack in tow) are trying rather futilely to fill their pockets with glowing atomic ash (doesn't sound like too good an idea, if you ask me, especially since it means space-walking without pressure suits!), they spot Emeralita's badly damaged ship adrift among the asteroids. A quick look around the hulk reveals that Emeralita and Urocco are both still alive, and Meia and company have just begun trying to figure out what to do with them when the Gavonna battleship arrives on the scene to finish what it started. It's a good thing for our heroes that their ships were docked on the far side of Emeralita's from the Gavonnas, because otherwise, the aliens would surely have seen them escaping, and continued the chase after destroying their initial target. But instead, the Gavonnas return to Telusia, satisfied that their mission has been accomplished.

Back at Aaron and Shiro's swinging bachelor pad, the rough riders pump their new guests for information regarding what in the hell just happened. When Emeralita gets to the part about the Liabe seeds, the rough riders produce theirs (Jack has found one, too, by this point), and ask if they're what the alien princess is talking about. This turn of the conversation gets the attention of General Garuda, who just happened to have snuck into Aaron's place to sleep off his drunk, and who had been hiding with Beba 2 behind some kind of shelving unit while his hosts talked. Garuda is the only one of the Liabe Braves who quite lives up to the title; none of the boys has any intention of risking their asses to save Telusia. And much to the chagrin of Emeralita and Urocco, Garuda, too, backs out of the deal when he realizes it's shaping up to be just him against the Gavonnas.

Looking for a way to salvage the situation without looking like the coward he is, Jack pretends to know who received the other four seeds, and he offers to take Emeralita to them. His friends don't realize this, but Jack's show of concern is really just a ploy to raise more money to pay off the gangsters. (Don't ask me what happened to Meia's offer to front the cash if even the screenwriters don't know, what the hell chance have I got?) What Jack really ends up doing is selling Emeralita to an old hag with a horny mutant for a son, after seeing to it that Urocco has been gotten out of the way. But before Junior can make any use of his new toy, the Gavonnas, who apparently decided they hadn't been thorough enough after all, burst into the hag's shack, kill the mutant boy, and take Emeralita and the hag prisoner. When this ugly story gets out (courtesy of the not-dead-after-all Urocco, who has just enough fight left in him to track Jack to Aaron's pad), it causes quite a nasty schism among the rough riders. Aaron and Shiro, while they may not agree with Jack's methods, are right behind him when it comes to not getting involved in interstellar wars. Indeed, they go so far as to throw away their Liabe seeds. Meia, on the other hand, thinks her friends are a bunch of pusillanimous chickenshits, and storms off to take a head-clearing ride in daddy's space yacht.

This show of moral fiber apparently impresses the Liabe gods, because Meia gets a seed of her own while she's out flying. When she rushes back to show Aaron, Jack, and Shiro (whose guilty consciences have been torturing them with dreams of Emeralita's death), the Liabe take the opportunity to demonstrate that their will is not to be denied by sending Jack and Shiro's seeds bouncing in through the window to them. Aaron, for some reason, does not get his seed back, and falls into a sulk of positively Achillean proportions, a sulk in which he will remain for the next two reels or so. What finally snaps him out of it is the destruction of his house at the hands of the Gavonnas. You see, the Gavonnas have a machine that enables them to scan the memories of their prisoners, and one look at the hag's memories of Earth was enough to convince Emperor Rockseia that ours was the only planet in the universe beautiful enough to serve as a galactic conqueror's capital. Rockseia then revealed what a busy son of a bitch he'd been in the years since his conquest of Telusia by ordering the activation of the giant rocket engines his people had installed in the planet's crust. It wasn't until Telusia showed up in an orbit just beyond the moon's that we Earthlings received any indication that we'd earned a place on an alien conqueror's to do list. Now, Rockseia has issued an ultimatum to the people of Earth, and as a wee show of force, he has sent his big-ass battleship our way to blow some stuff up. Aaron's place just happens to be among that stuff, and what's more, the Gavonnas beam Jack aboard their ship as a prisoner. Aaron's righteous rage at this turn of events convinces the Liabe that he deserves a nut of his own after all.

General Garuda gets his Liabe seed back, too (amusingly, it finds its way into another tumbler of whiskey), when his old friend Noguchi (Tetsuro Tamba, from The Story of Ricky and Kwaidan), now the prime minister of Earth, comes looking for him with an important proposition. Noguchi knows Garuda is no longer with the military, but he feels the ex-general is the only man on the planet with the balls to serve as Earth's envoy to the Gavonnas. Rockseia has given the people of Earth just three days to surrender to him, and Noguchi wants Garuda to buy him some more time. Garuda is just in the process of turning his old friend down when he notices the glowing walnut in his drink, and comes to the conclusion that one does not turn down destiny.

That brings the total to five Liabe Braves out of the intended eight. Number six shows up when Aaron, Shiro, Meia, and Urocco have a little accident on their way to rescue Jack from his captivity. The four heroes are zipping along in Meia's ship (which has been modified to allow Aaron and Shiro's shorter-ranged vessels to ride piggy-back) when the Liabe seeds suddenly send out a pulse of energy that scrambles their navigational instruments. The ship crashes on a planet seemingly zillions of miles out of the way (if you're having a hard time getting a handle on Message from Space's interstellar geography, you're not alone), and it is there that they meet Prince Hann (Sonny Chiba, from Invasion of the Neptune Men and Terror Beneath the Sea). Hann is the rightful ruler of the Gavonnas (in which case, why doesn't he have metal skin like all the rest of his people?); evidently Rockseia usurped the throne by murdering Hann's parents. And what's more, Hann has around his neck a pendant made from a Liabe seed. Now it all comes clear, doesn't it? The reason the Liabe seeds caused Meia's ship to crash was that they needed a way to bring Prince Hann into contact with the other Liabe heroes, and to give him a means of getting the hell off of that miserable little planet. The Liabe Braves are soon back on their way to Telusia, where Urocco and Beba 2 will soon be chosen as the last of their number.

Meanwhile, Garuda's mission isn't going very well. The general tells his host that the people of Earth are by nature a stiff-necked, freedom-loving lot, and that Rockseia's methods will do nothing but embroil him in an endless guerilla war with human resistance fighters. If that happens, Earth will wind up as dead and barren as Telusia, and nobody wants that. But if Rockseia will give the Noguchi government more time to round up and pacify the crankier elements of the population, such a disaster could be averted. Naturally, this is all just a cover story; what Noguchi really wants is time to prepare for an all-out offensive against the Gavonnas, and Rockseia sees right through the ruse. After being sent on his way with an amnestied Jack in tow, Garuda links up with Emeralita's grandfather, the Telusian resistance, and the other Liabe Braves to plan one last, desperate gambit in defense of the Earth. The Telusian leader happens to know of a sure-fire way to defeat the Gavonnas, but he has thus far been unwilling to use it because of its dire consequences for his people. You see, one does not convert an entire planet into a mobile space fortress without providing it with some kind of power source, and deep within Telusia, the Gavonnas have built a huge reactor, accessible only through a narrow, spiraling tunnel. If somebody the rough riders, for instance could fly a small ship into that tunnel and deliver a powerful enough bomb to the reactor, the whole Gavonna war machine would go up in smoke. Mind you, the Telusians would be out a home planet in that case, but at this late stage of the game, there seems to be no other way to stop Rockseia. Hmmmm... a planet-sized death-machine whose one vulnerable spot is at the far end of a long, narrow access tunnel... why does this all sound so familiar?

As you could probably guess on the basis of the preceding four-page plot synopsis, Message from Space is just a wee bit too long for its own good. On the other hand, its extremely episodic story structure prevents it from ever bogging down too much you're never more than twenty minutes away from another little mini-climax. Not only that, the movie is such a treat for the eyes that looking at it can sometimes distract you from watching it. The sets and effects are inevitably cheaper-looking than those in Star Wars, from which this film's effects department so clearly took their inspiration (note, for example, how closely the Gavonna battleship resembles a cross between an Imperial Star Destroyer and the Battlestar Galactica), but they're still awfully impressive by 70's standards which is only to be expected, considering that Message from Space was reputed to be the most expensive movie ever made in Japan at the time.

The most enjoyable thing about Message from Space, however, is the interplay between its bald-faced cribbing from Star Wars and its sheer Japaneseness. In between the hilariously numerous scenes lifted directly from the most famous sci-fi fantasy of the 70's are jarring notes of a totally alien sensibility. Lucas' movies have often been compared to cartoons, with their emphasis on slenderly motivated action and unidimensional characterization, and the same could be said about Message from Space. But whereas Star Wars plays like an old Flash Gordon comic come to life, this movie's stylistic roots go back to anime and manga. Lucas never allowed his heroes to be as seriously flawed as Aaron let alone Jack, who sells Emeralita down the river before his conscience asserts itself. And just try to imagine Obi Wan Kenobi drinking himself under the table in the Cantina Cafe while watching G-string-clad dancers gyrating onstage! The design of Emeralita's ship which looks like a galleon, complete with sails and an old-fashioned wooden helm! betrays an obvious kinship to the title vessel in Space Battleship Yamato (or Starblazers, as we in the US know it), and the plot device of the magic walnuts is something that only a Japanese screenwriter could have thought of. There is also one final Japanizing detail to the script from Message from Space that is so subtle that many viewers might not notice it at all: at no point do any of the human characters bat an eyelash at the notion that they have been chosen to perform a mission for an alien god! When you really think about it, most Western or Middle-Eastern monotheists would have real trouble coming to grips with this idea, which would seem to strike at the heart of the whole one true God concept. The Shinto religion of Japan, however, allows for almost infinite proliferation of deities, and can easily expand to accommodate gods from another planet. It's stuff like this that makes me watch so many foreign-made movies the difference in cultural context allows them to surprise me in ways that American films rarely can anymore.

WR. Kinji Fuckasaku, Hiro Matsuda, Shotaro Ishinomori, Masahiro Noda.

DIR. Kinji Fuckasaku

EPISODES: 27 YEAR MADE: 1977 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

TOEI COMPANY LTD, TOHOKASHINSHA FILM COMPANY LTD.

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 27

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS: UCHU KARA NO MESSEJI (1978)

JERRY ITO, General Garuda VIC MORROW, Hans SONNY CHIBA, Aaron PHILIP CASNOFF, Meia
 PEGGY LEE BRENNAN, Esmeralida ETSUKO SHIHOMI, Noguchi TETSURO TAMBA, Rockseia XLL
 MIKIO NARITA, Urocco MAKOTO SATO, Shiro HIROYUKI SANADA, Mother Dark (in drag) EISEI
 AMAMOTO, Kamesasa NOBORU MITANI, Jackie MASAZUMI OKABE, Kido JUNKICHI ORIMOTO, 1st guard, at Headquarters entrance CHARLES SCAWTHORN, Beba, the robot ISAMU SHIMIZU, Lazare HARUMI SONE.

MESSENGER OF ALLAHAKA: ARA NO SHISHAAKA: ENVOY OF ALLAH

The prince of the Middle Eastern kingdom of Kabayan goes in search of four pieces of an ancient map, which he believes will lead him to a great lost treasure.

Oriental adventure in the style of the Arabian Nights, based on an idea by MOONLIGHT MASK creator Yasunori Kawauchi. Leading man Chiba would still be working 40 years later, playing a fearsome father-in-law in Shotgun Marriage. The mythical kingdom and many of the characters who inhabited it were named after the show's sponsor, Kabaya Confectionary.

WR.DIR.*EPISODES: 26 YEAR MADE: 1960 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1*NET (ASAHI)CREATOR: YASUNORI KAWAUCHITYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHEROFORMAT: SERIESLENGTH (MINS): 25 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: JapaneseSEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 26DATE OF PREMIER: 07/07/1960AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 27/12/1960SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:*FILMS:

SHINICHI 'SONNY' CHIBA, HITOSHI OMAE, KYOKO MIZUSHIMA.

METAL MICKEY

Metal Mickey was a sitcom about the Wilburforces, a British family that was typical in every respect save one. They had Metal Mickey - a household robot. The family consisted of the parents, who were never given first names, just Mother and Father along with their three children, Haley, Steve and Ken and Father's mother, Granny. Mickey was the creation of the family's youngest son, scientific whiz kid Ken.

Ken had created Mickey to help out around the house but soon found his creation taking on a personality of its own. Mickey was a five foot tall robot powered by atomic thunderbusters, which were often treated as candy. Mickey would often end up causing problems through his well intentioned help. Mickey was not your typical everyday robot, he was a magic robot. His magic powers allowed him to do things that were above and beyond robots that relied solely on technology such as journeying back in time, developing allergies and becoming 'fairy Godmother' to both Haley and Steve.

Advance publicity called it a 'children's science fiction comedy series', but really, Metal Mickey was never more than a sitcom with a robot as its star. The ITV series which first appeared in 1980, also attracted attention for its other 'Mickey' - former Monkee Mickey Dolenz who produced and directed. The producer for the series was Michael Dolenz, designers included Mike Oxley, Rae George, David Catley, James Dillion and Phil Coulter. The music was created by Phil Coulter.

He then went on to his own show from 1980 to 1983. Mickey was created and controlled/voiced by John Edward, some episodes of the show were produced and directed by Micky Dolenz, formerly of The Monkees pop group. The comic theme was of an ordinary British family whose youngest child is a science boffin and who created Metal Mickey to help around the home. The family consisted of a mother and father, two children and a grandmother. The show was made by London Weekend Television and shown on ITV.

British comedy actress Irene Handl played the grandmother, who Mickey affectionately called "my little fruitbat". Handl was never at home with science fiction, either watching it or appearing in it. She famously told BBC presenter Noel Edmonds, when he asked her whether she cried over the death of E.T., "Why should I cry over a bleedin' Hoover attachment?" When asked, therefore, why she was appearing in Metal Mickey, she gave the pragmatic reply, "'Cos I've got a mortgage, love!"

Trivia

Metal Mickey (song) is the title of a song by UK band Suede (band), released on September 14, 1992 on Nude Records. It charted at number 17 on the UK singles chart.

Metal Mickey's catchphrase was "boogie, boogie, boogie".

WR. Colin Bostock-Smith.

DIR. Michael Dolenz, David Crossman, Nic Philips.

EPISODES: 39 YEAR MADE: 1980 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 4

A LONDON WEEKEND TELEVISION PRODUCTION

CREATOR: COLIN BOSTOCK SMITH

TYPE OF SHOW: COMEDY

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 8, (2) 5, (3) 10, (4) 14.

DATE OF PREMIER: 06/09/1980 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 15/01/1983

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Father MICHAEL STAINTON, Mother GEORGINA MELVILLE, Granny IRENE HANDL, Ken ASHLEY KNIGHT, Haley LUCINDA BATESON, Janey LOLA YOUNG, Steve GARY SHAIL and Metal Mickey as Himself.

- 1 - 1 METAL MICKEY LIVES
- 1 - 2 SCHOOL MASTER MICKEY
- 1 - 3 MICKEY MAKES MONEY
- 1 - 4 TAKING THE MICKEY
- 1 - 5 HICKEY MICKEY
- 1 - 6 TOP SECRET MICKEY
- 1 - 7 MICKEY IN LOVE
 MICKEY IN LOVE
- 1 - 8 MUSIC MAN MICKEY
- 2 - 1 CAVEMAN MICKEY
- 2 - 2 MICKEY THE DEMON BARBER
 MICKEY THE DEMON BARBER
- 2 - 3 HARDMAN MICKEY
- 2 - 4 MANY A MICKEY
- 2 - 5 MICKEY PLAYS CUPID
- 3 - 1 IT CAME FROM OUTER MICKEY
- 3 - 2 A GIRLFRIEND FOR MICKEY
- 3 - 3 GOODBYE MICKEY
- 3 - 4 MICKEY AND THE FUTURE
- 3 - 5 FOOTBALL CRAZY MICKEY
- 3 - 6 MEDICAL MICKEY
- 3 - 7 FAIRY GODMOTHER MICKEY
- 3 - 8 MARSHAL MICKEY
- 3 - 9 MERRY CHRISTMAS MICKEY
- 3 - 10 PANTOMICKEY
- 4 - 1 MATURITY MICKEY
- 4 - 2 A NIGHT OUT WITH MICKEY
- 4 - 3 GO AWAY MICKEY
- 4 - 4 VIDEO MICKEY
- 4 - 5 HIS WORSHIP THE MICKEY
- 4 - 6 FANCY MICKEY
- 4 - 7 MICKEY MEETS MUMSIE
- 4 - 8 MICKEY UNDER SIEGE
- 4 - 9 THE INCREDIBLE SHRINKING MICKEY
- 4 - 10 MICKEY POPS THE QUESTION

- 4 - 11 SOMEBODY STOP MICKEY
- 4 - 12 MICKEY SAVES THE WORLD
- 4 - 13 THE CONFESSIONS OF MICKEY
- 4 - 14 MICKEY AND THE MAGIC WISHBONE

METALDAR

AKA: SUPER MAN MACHINE METALDER

AKA: CHOUJINKI METARUDAA

AKA: METELDER

AKA: CHOJINKI METALDAR

AKA: SUPER ROBOT METALDAR

In 1945, Dr. Koga Ryuuchirou designed Metalder as a secret weapon for the Japanese Imperial Army for use in the Pacific War. (cf. Iron Man No. 28), modelling it after his late son, kamikaze pilot Imperial Navy Second Sublieutenant Koga Tatsuo.

A pacifist, Dr. Koga put Metalder to sleep in the Silver Carcass base, alongside Springer, the Sidephantom, and the Metalcharger. They awoke 42 years later, when Dr. Koga put them to use against the Neros Empire, founded by Dr. Koga's former assistant, Japanese Imperial Army Major Muraki, now known either as Kirihara Gouzou or Godneros. In order to awaken Metalder's sense of justice, Dr. Koga let the Neros Army take him hostage, getting himself killed in the process. Metalder's rage allowed him to 'shunten' for the first time into his armored mode.

Thus began a long battle between Metalder and the Neros Army. In the end, he and his foe-and-later-friend Topgunder destroyed the Ghost Bank (Godneros' throne room) together. Topgunder died by the sword of Coolgin, but Metalder survived to behead Godneros with a chop. (Don't hold your breath to see Ryan do this to Grimlord in VR Troopers, especially now since Metalder footage is no longer being used.) But before he died, Neros managed to damage Metalder's Supergravitational Control Device. If left untreated, Metalder's supergravitational energy would engulf the Earth and destroy it.

Thus Metalder had his friend Kita Hakkou destroy the Device, preventing him from ever shunting back into human form. Like too many Toei heroes before and after him, Metalder wandered the Earth with Springer (a robotic dog)... (Where are all these retired heroes when the Earth needs them in the 90s? Bandai just designs 'em and scraps 'em within a year...)

With obvious similarities not only to KIKAIDA but also to ASTRO BOY and the anime series Big X, there is a certain irony in the producer's claim that the "original" idea was created by the house pseudonym "Saburo Yade". Within the limited demands of the Japanese hero genre, and particularly the Metal Series in which the show appears, its innovations extend to Neross's treatment of his lieutenants. Rather than simply send a minion to destroy Metaldar, Neross allows his monsters to engage in gladiatorial combat for the right to do so, thereby ensuring that the baddies fight each other for part of each episode to go in search of our hero. Beginning in a primetime Monday slot, the show was moved to Sunday mornings halfway through its run.

Metaldar was later bought and adapted for the American market in a new form that combined it with its predecessor SPEILBAN (see VR TROOPERS). The following year's show in the metal series chronology is JIRAIYA. Series produced by Susmi Yoshikawa, Itaru Orita, Jun Mikasa, Yuki Usui and Akira Okseki.

The basis for the first season of Ryan footage in VR TROOPERS. Toei's first robot hero series since KYOUDAIN (1976-77), the failed replacement show for KAMEN RIDER STRONGER. The similarities with Toei's first robot hero series, man-made Human Kikaider (Jinzou Ningen Kikaidaa) are numerous: The name of the main character is a reference to machines plus 'der.' (KIKAIDER is literally 'Machineder,' which I had expected Metalder to be titled when it was first announced early in 1987.)

He is an android with a two-tone colour scheme, blue on the left, red on the right. He has a humanoid mode (Tsurugi Ryuusei/Jirou) and is the 'son' of its creator. He drives a motorcycle with a sidecar (Sidephantom/Sidemachine). He has no weapons other than hands and feet. His rival and later ally is garbed in black (Topgunder/Hakaider). A closer look at the story will reveal many differences

Characters and mecha

Metalder/Tsurugi Ryuusei (Ryan's first Trooper mode in VRT). A super robot built by Dr. Koga at the end of the Pacific War. His Reflection Circuit gave him the same feelings as humans. Powered by 'supergravitational energy,' his killing techniques include the Super Oscillation Laser Arm chop, the G (for Gravity) Kick, the Metal Tornado spinning kick, the Head Crash ram, the Plasma Punch, the Metal Bomber punching attack from above, and the Thousand Hand Punches. Normally in human form as Tsurugi Ryuusei, whose looks and personality are directly modelled after that of Dr. Koga's son Tatsuo. Whenever his energies reach a peak from rage, with the cry "Ikaru!" (Rage!) he 'shunten's (lit. 'moment-shifts') into his metallic form. Like Tatsuo, loves music and plays saxophone from time to time.

Japanese Imperial Navy Second Sublieutenant Koga Tatsuo. The model for Metalder. Dr. Koga's only son. Died October 1944 as the first member of the Kamikaze Special Attack Squads ('tokkoutai'). Loved music and played violin. Would have been a violinist had it not been for the Pacific War.

Dr. Koga Ryuuchirou

Robotics genius who created Metalder and all the mecha listed directly below. After the Pacific War, went to America and became a staff member at NASA. Returned to Japan when he learned of the existence of the Neros Empire. Shortly after reviving Metalder, died to give the robot a sense of mission.

Springer (VRT: Jeb)

Robot dog that guards the Silver Carcass. Built by Dr. Koga before Metalder. Hence was Metalder's 'sempai' (senior) and 'aniki' (elder brother figure). Capable of human speech. Repairs Metalder and runs the machines inside the Silver Carcass. Enjoys watching TV, particularly anime. No, Jeb was not an American idea. Blame Toei for this one. Note however that no footage of Springer was ever used in VRT; Springer, unlike Jeb, has a metal torso and collar. Perhaps such costuming went against American screen animal rights laws?

Sidephantom (VRT: ?)

Metalder's blue, white, and red motorcycle with sidecar. Capable of flight and splitting into two. Looks awfully modern for something created in 1945.

Metalcharger (VRT: ?)

Metalder's car, a red four-wheel-drive Mazda Familia (323 in the US). Transforms into a winged aircraft. Amazing how Dr. Koga foresaw the exact design of a 1980s car, isn't it?

Silver Carcass (VRT: ?)

A special underground shelter built by Dr. Koga to house Metalder and all his associated mecha. Emerges above ground as three rotating silver boxes. The Sidephantom and Metalcharger launch from it. Contained a bed for repairs and other equipment. The VR Troopers' headquarters is modelled after the Silver Carcass' interior set.

Ougi Mai (2-)

Tomboyish camerawoman for the photo magazine Weekly Up. Tsurugi Ryuusei's first human friend and constant companion.

Ougi Shingo (34-37)

Mai's father. Newspaper reporter based in Washington DC. Asked by Mai to investigate Dr. Koga's past, finding clues to Godneros' identity in the process.

Kita Hakkou

Grand Prix motorcyclist intending to be the world's best. Originally head of a motorcycle gang. Met Tsurugi and Mai on a photo shoot for a new motorcycle magazine. Hunted from then on by the Neros Empire. Called himself 'Neros Hunter.' Saw himself as Mai's bodyguard. Had a thing for Mai. Tsurugi's rival for her love. Saved Earth by damaging Metalder's Supergravitational Control Device.

The Neros Empire (VRT: Ziktor Industries)

A secret empire that is the underbelly of the Kirihara Konzern (German: 'combine'), led by Emperor Godneros and divided into four armies. Covertly controls the world's criminal organizations, terrorists, finances, etc. Intends to conquer the world through economic as well as military means. Has a rigid ranking system of ten grades, from lowest to highest:

Title Loose translation

10 Keitoushi Light Fighter

- 9 Chuutoushi Medium Fighter
- 8 Kyoutoushi Strong Fighter
- 7 Rettoushi Fierce Fighter
- 6 Gekitoushi Furious Fighter
- 5 Bakutoushi Explosive Fighter
- 4 Yuutou Heroic Fighter
- 3 Boukon Violent Spirit
- 2 Goushou Brave General
- 1 Gaisei Victorious Saint

Competition to raise one's rank was extremely harsh within the Neros Empire.

Emperor Godneros (VRT: Grimlord [when sitting; never stood in Metalder])/Kiriara Gouzou (VRT : Karl Ziktor) □ The leader of the Neros Empire. Once Japanese Imperial Army Technical Major Muraki, assistant to Dr. Koga. (I wonder whether Karl Ziktor will one day be revealed as Tyler Steele's former assistant, though 'Grimlord's Dark Secret' implied otherwise) After the war, built the Kiriara Konzern under the youthful guise of Kiriara Gouzou. The world believed him to be a philanthropist at the head of an international financial empire, but he was actually far more: a master of all sciences who intended to conquer the world with his robots, monsters, and yen.

Secretaries K and S

Kiriara's spies. The Robert Palmer 'Addicted to Love' clone women on VRT are their equivalents, played of course by different actresses. K and S have never themselves appeared in VRT. Their VRT equivalents lack their green (K) and purple (S) supervillainess outfits.

The Four Armies (need VRT equivalents!)

The Armor Army

Consists of cyborgs and humans wearing armor.

Victorious Saint Coolgin (VRT: Decimator)

Godneros' right hand in silver ('gin') armor. A first-class strategist and swordsman. Is a dead ringer for Kiriara beneath his mask beneath a mask. (The VRT equivalent never was Ziktor's stand-in.) Rides in the sidecar of the red Mirage Hasha motorcycle, though once drove the blue Captron motorcycle. Defeated Metalder instantly with one sword attack in the former's first battle.

Strong Generals Tagsky and Tagsron, the Tag Brothers (VRT: Slice and Dice) Masters of sword and naginata.

Violent Spirit Tubo (VRT: ?)

Samurai-like master of sword and hook.

Violent Spirit Hidouman (VRT: ?)

Master of tachi and spiked ball.

Heroic Fighter Wogger (VRT: ?)

Entire body looks like a collection of grey tubes. Master of the spear. Later succeeded by lookalike Wogger II.

Heroic Fighter Barlock (VRT: ?)

Former decathlon athlete who kicked down his rival to enter the Olympics. After his rival committed suicide, he felt shame at his cowardice and sought out challengers to prove himself. Wears blue-green tights. Wields a scythe and chain in his right hand; a clawed gauntlet on his left.

Explosive Fighter Galador (VRT: ?)

Ninja master of magic.

Explosive Fighter Robinken (VRT: ?)

Camouflage-garbed commando.

Furious Fighter BenK (pun on the samurai Benkei; VRT: ?)

Defeated by Metalder, this modern-day samurai left the Empire. Died saving captives from the Empire.

Furious Fighter Jamune (VRT: ?)

Boxer with expensive upper body padding.

Medium Fighters Fu Fu Chu and Mukimukiman (VRT: ?)

Half-naked, comical wrestling rejects. Have only appeared in the background in VRT.

Light Fighters (basic type)

Generic fighters in black tights. Have only appeared in the background in VRT, if at all. Not VRT's Skugs (see section 5). Found in all four armies and hence will not be mentioned again. However, 'Kage' (Shadow) Light Fighters, trained in ninjutsu, are found only in the Armor Army. The only nonspecialized Light Fighter of note is the female Madonna of the Armor Army.

Mirage Hasha

Red motorcycle with sidecar for Coolgin's use.

II. The Combat Robot Army

Consists of androids that are Metalder's 'half-brothers.'

Victorious Saint Balsky (VRT: ?)

Leader of the Combat Robot Army. Silver robot with golden gear on forehead and yellow and black stripes on chest and forearm armor.

Brave General Galdos (VRT: ?)

Boxer with grey, floor mat-like plating on his head, shoulders, and thighs. Could discharge electricity through tentacles from his forehead.

(Former) Brave General Bigwayne (VRT: ?)

Black with grey armor plates. Originally the 'Titan of Legend.' Now an unranked repair robot. Escaped the Empire. Fought Metalder to aid his beloved disciple Gochak. Fires arrows from his right forearm.

Violent Spirit Topgunder (VRT: Darkheart)

Modelled after the fictional manga character Golgo 13. VIP assassin. Lone gunman in black tights who believed in fair play. Duelled Metalder alone. Carried a rifle which he supported with his oversized silver left arm. Even when he was punished for breaking military law, he escaped to duel Metalder. Saved by Metalder, he promised to duel again and went off to the mountains to practice. Eventually, he came to reject the cowardly ways of the Neros Empire entirely to become Metalder's ally. Succeeded by Crosslander. Brought down the Ghost Bank with Metalder, only to be murdered by Victorious Saint Coolgin. Rides a motorcycle.

(Former) Violent Spirit Crosslander (VRT: ?)

VIP assassin in red and white. The antithesis of his predecessor Topgunder. Coward willing to do anything to win. Worked with American terrorist organizations, killing government officials and receiving a promotion from Explosive Fighter to Violent Spirit before coming to Japan to kill Metalder. Wields twin pistols. Had his head damaged by Metalder; thereafter wore a winged snake ornament on his forehead.

Light Fighters Goblit and Dedemos (VRT: ?)

Crosslander's assistants. Gunmen in black with rifle and bayonet (Goblit) and handgun and drill (Dedemos).

Heroic Fighter Jaws (VRT: ?)

Shark-headed fighter in white tights with twin shoulder cannons and four cannons on his upper arms.

Explosive Fighter Gochak (VRT: ?)

Silver wrestler. When beheaded, grows a cannon head that looks like a leftover from another show (but isn't?)

Furious Fighter Gebarose (VRT: ?)

Silver with thick thighs, high jumping ability, and a featureless black faceplate.

Fierce Fighter Zargen (VRT: ?)

Black-robed and skull-headed with a scythe for a left hand.

(Former) Fierce Fighter Rhapsody (VRT: ?)

Plays a Stradivarius.

Strong Fighter Lortail (VRT: ?)

Feminine and white.

Circuladar

Golden motorcycle with rollcage.

III. The Monster Army

Consists of biotechnologically engineered creations.

Victorious Saint Geldring (VRT: ?)

Green muscular beast with skull-like head encased in a transparent egg-shaped shell.

Brave General Bridie (VRT: ?)

White-furred symbiote with detachable spider on his back.

Violent Spirit Bankora (VRT: ?)

Grey-skinned with white fangs on his chest and legs.

Heroic Fighter Gamadone (VRT: ?)

Brown-skinned with tentacle arms and antennae.

Explosive Fighter Damnen (VRT: ?)

Red-eyed lizard.

Furious Fighter Zakembor (VRT: ?)

Red-eyed cicada.

Light Fighter Hedogross (VRT: ?)

Green and froglike. Married the female slave, Wisdom. Had a son, Hedogross, Jr.

Captron

Blue motorcycle.

IV. The Armament Army (Both 'yoroi' and 'kikou' translate as 'armor,' but the former refers to body armor while the latter refers to 'armor' as in a modern 'armored corps.' Thus I don't call the Yoroi and Kikou Gundan the same thing.) Consists of walking arsenal robots.

Victorious Saint Dranger (VRT: ?)

Leader of the Armament Army. Red and silver with a tachi (longsword) in his right hand and five cannon fingers on his left. Has blades, guns, and lights mounted on his ears.

Brave General Megadron (VRT: ?)

Has circular head flanked by twin shoulder cannons.

Violent Spirit Darbarbo (VRT: ?)

Has missile launchers on chest and shoulders.

Violent Spirit Agmis (VRT: ?)

A walking red and grey torpedo with a spear gun.

Heroic Fighter Barbery (VRT: ?)

Humanoid helicopter.

Furious Fighter Strobe (VRT: ?)

Humanoid fighter plane.

Fierce Fighter Bulchek (VRT: ?)

Humanoid tank.

Vehicles shared by all four armies:

Dryguns (black 4x4 off-road vehicles) and Darkgungarries (black vans).

The Ghostbank

A ring of gates containing key army officers surrounding Godneros' throne. The area enclosed by the gates and throne was used both as an arena and as a strategy room. (Generals Ivar and Icebot in VRT never appear in the VRT equivalent of the Ghostbank because they are from Spielban. Ghostbank footage is no longer used in VRT. See section 5 for information on Grimlord's current staff, based on Shaider.)

The High-Tech Building

Grimlord's skyscraper headquarters in Shinjuku. Still appears in VRT's second season, though located in Cross World City (not Tokyo), of course.

Film: Man Machine Metalder (87.7.18)

Metalder had the shortest run of any Metal Hero series. To compensate for its lack of popularity (among the viewing public, not hard-core tokusatsu fans) Toei followed it up with an antithetical series, World Ninja Wars Jiraiya (which I will reserve for a future mini-Manual) that maintained Metalder's no-monster-of-the-week approach, but applied it to a storyline concerning modern-day ninjas (a genre last represented by Ninja Captors; see my Sentai Manual). Although Jiraiya had a longer run (50 episodes) and greater popularity than Metalder (this time among the viewing public and not tokusatsu fandom), Toei turned once again to technology for the next entry in the Metal Hero Series, the Robocop ripoff known as JIRAIYA.

Original Music by Ichirô Mizuki, Isao Sasaki, Seiji Yokoyama.

Other crew - Hideo Okamoto (character designer).

WR. Takaku Susumu, Yamazaki Haruya, Kakefuda Akihiro, Fujii Kunio, Uehara Shouzou, Ougisawa Nobuo, Nakahara Akira, DIR. Ogasawara Takeshi, Tomita Yoshiharu, Orita Itaru, Ito Yasuhiro, Konishi Michio, Mitsumura Tetsuji.

EPISODES: 39 YEAR MADE: 1987 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

TV ASAHI/TOEI

CREATOR: HATTE SUBOROU (SABURO YADE)

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 25 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 39

DATE OF PREMIER: 16/03/1987 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 17/01/1988

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS: MAN MACHINE METALDER (1987).

Tsurugi Ryuusei/Metalder/Koga Tatsuo SENOO AKIRA, Ougi Mai AOTA HIROKO, Kita Hakkou KAWAI HIROSHI, Kirihara Gouzou/Godneros TOUDOU SHINJIM, YUKO MITSUI, EMIKO YAMAMOTO, Prof. Koga KEN UEHARA, HIROSHI WATARI, KENJI OHBA, Top Gunder (voice) ATSUO MORI, Gaisei Balsky (voice) TAKESHI KUWAHARA, Ben K (voice) TOKU NISHIO, Hakkou, Kita (as Hiroshi Kawai) KAZUOKI TAKAHASHI, Hedogross (voice) NAOKI TATSUTA, Gaisei Gerudoring (voice) EISUKE YODA.

RELATED SHOWS:

GAVAN

SHARIVAN

SHAIDER

JUSPION

SPEILBAN

- 1 - 1 THE PORTAL OF NEROZ
- 1 - 2 I AM THE UNIVERSE
- 1 - 3 THE MACHINE MAN
- 1 - 4 METALDER VERSUS TORPEDO
- 1 - 5 THE PROFESSIONAL KILLER
- 1 - 6 BOXER IN ACTION
- 1 - 7 THE FLAMES OF DEFIANCE
- 1 - 8 A FAREWELL TO BARLOCK
- 1 - 9 HOPES AND DREAMS
- 1 - 10 THE PHILARMONIC ROBOT
- 1 - 11 THE HUNT FOR THE EX-APLHA
- 1 - 12 SIEGE OF THE NINJAS

-
- 1 - 13 THE RUNAWAY
 - 1 - 14 THE WARRIOR MADONNA
 - 1 - 15 MOTHERLY LOVE
 - 1 - 16 THE RIVAL BIKER
 - 1 - 17 THE DESERTER
 - 1 - 18 SECRET INFORMATION
 - 1 - 19 THE TRIUMPHAL RETURN OF TOP GUNDER
 - 1 - 20 MECANOL TROOP IN COMBAT
 - 1 - 21 MYSTERY OF THE FIREFLY
 - 1 - 22 WAR ON ROLLERSKATES
 - 1 - 23 THE DIARY OF A RUNAWAY
 - 1 - 24 THE RED PANTHER
 - 1 - 25 COLOSSUS'S OLYMPICS
 - 1 - 26 MATCH OF THE WARLOCKS
 - 1 - 27 UNEXPECTED RENDEVOUZ
 - 1 - 28 UNBEATABLE YOUTHS
 - 1 - 29 SAD STORY OF A DOG
 - 1 - 30 SILVERCAPS IN DANGER
 - 1 - 31 FATAL INSTANT
 - 1 - 32 THE CURSED FLOWER
 - 1 - 33 FRIENDSHIP ON THE LINE
 - 1 - 34 1001 FACES OF NEROZ
 - 1 - 35 EMPIRE OF EVIL
 - 1 - 36 THE MISSION OF THE CYBERNETIC UNIT
 - 1 - 37 THE RUINS OF THE COLOSSUS
 - 1 - 38 BLOODY COUNTERSTRIKE
 - 1 - 39 FOREVER METALDER

MICRONOTS!, THE

In the very distant future, humans have lost the ability to continue procreation when the world's cloning centers are sabotaged. A group of reluctant heroes volunteer to be shrunk to a subatomic scale and voyage through the body of the last fertile human to restore the genetic link necessary for continuation of the species.

Quotes:

Captain Giles Slate: We're going to save the human race.

Lieutenant D.A. Blackfoot: But the human race has left us here to die!

Captain Giles Slate: Yes. And we won't let them down.

Produced by Jackson Harvey (co-producer) and Diana Karanikas (co-producer)

WR. Jackson Harvey, Diana Karanikas

DIR. Tim Upham

EPISODES: 0 YEAR MADE: 1993 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: CLONES

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 0 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1)

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Captain Giles Slate CRAIG RICHARDS, Lieutenant D.A. Blackfoot LEXIE BIGHAM, Serff (android)
ALLISON CHASE, Jeffrey (ship's doctor) RUSS FEGA, Ensign Azaria CAROL HOYT, Ship's Computer
(uncredited) (voice) DIANA KARANIKAS, Jasmine (navigator) AMANDA RYAN, Montgomery
HARRISON YOUNG.

MIGHTY JACK (inc FIGHT! MIGHTY JACK)

AKA: FIGHT! MIGHTY JACK

AKA: TATKAE! MIGHTY JACK

Prominent politician Gonosue Yabuki (Yanaga) foresees the growing danger of Q, a high tech terrorist organization, and decided to form his own elite group to combat it. The eleven members of Mighty Jack have different specialties, though some are more useful than others in fighting crime - leader Hachiro (Nitani) is a professional mountaineer and lieutenant Akira (Nihei) is a test pilot, but deput Ippei (Minami) is a professional golfer.

Each time Q's cat stroking master-mind attempts to seize control of the world, the heroic team meet at their secret hideout and board the flying battleship Mighty Jack, normally to be found in its underground base. They can then assemble what they need en route to the danger site, using Mighty Jack's onboard weapons factory.

The direct inspiration for MJ lay with ULTRAMAN creator Eiji Tsuburaya and his love of the British show THUNDERBIRDS (NHK, 1966). Like THUNDERBIRDS creator Gerry Anderson, Tsuburaya was keen to produce a spectacular sci-fi effects show but hoped to capture an audience beyond the usual children at whom such series were aimed. With a leader writer who as a native of Okinawa, an island at the time still occupied by the US military, MJ grew out of the height of the cold war and the first stirrings of US involvement in Vietnam.

In other media, James Bond was literally storming Japan in 1967's You Only Live Twice, while THE MAN FROM U.N.C.L.E. (NTV, 1965 as 0011 Napoleon Solo) and WILD WILD WEST (Fuji, 1965) held primetime slots on Japanese Television. However, a breakneck production schedule defeated some of MJ's noble aims - amid many explosions, there was little time to choreograph proper dogfights, and the audience drifted away.

Admitting defeat with the adult audience (a real shame, as MJ had true potential), the Tsuburaya Studio retooled the series for younger viewers, renaming it Takakae! Mighty Jack (Fight! Mighty Jack.) for the final 26 episodes. With completely different story, the protagonists were now a five-strong team who represented the Oriental Branch of the Association of People's Peace and Liberty on Earth (A.P.P.L.E.), led by General Fujii (Junya Usami). Early episodes simply replayed the previous seasons mechanical battles and team-work, but the latter part returned to the monster-of-the-week angle favored by ULTRAMAN. Not only was this cheaper to produce than close-up model work, but it was easier for a young audience to understand. Music in the original series was by Isao Tomita.

Mighty Jack enjoyed one final flourish when the rights to the first season were purchased for English-language release by the Sandy Frank company. Instead of releasing the entire series, the distributors choose to combine episodes 1 and 13 with pieces of bridging footage lifted from the other episodes to make the movie Mighty Jack (1986). As with the later Tsuburaya production ARMY OF THE APES, the feature length edit in the only English-language incarnation of the series currently available.

Series was produced by Yasuyoshi Ito and Yasuji Morita.

Season one was 6th April 1968 to 29th June 1968, season two was 6th July 1968 to 28th December 1968.

Goofs:

Audio/visual unsynchronized: When rockets are fired from the submerged Mighty Jack, the sound effect is that of rockets firing into the sky, not that of torpedoes being launched under water. Upon their detonation we also hear explosions that one would only hear in the open air. The sound of the laser cannon being fired and subsequent explosions continue this sound error.

WR. Tetsuo Kinjo, Shinichi Sekizawa, Bunzo Wakatsuki, Ichiro Ikeda, Saburo Shibahide, Naohiro Fuji, Hiroyasu Yamaura, Masahiro Yamada, Keisuke Fujikawa.

DIR. Minoru Mitsuta, Mimachi Nonagase, Tsuneo Kobayashi.

EPISODES: 39 YEAR MADE: 1968 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 2

FUJI/TSUBURAYA PRODUCTIONS

CREATOR: EIJI TSUBURAYA

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 25 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 13, (2) 26

DATE OF PREMIER: 06/04/1968

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 28/12/1968

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS: MIGHTY JACK (1986)

Hachiro HIDEAKI NITANI, Ippei HIROSHI MINAMI, NAOKO KUBO, AKIYOSHI KASUGA, WAKAKO IKEDA, Akira MASAYA NIHEI, HIDEYO AMAMOTO, MASAYOSHI FUKUOKA, YOSHITAKA TANAKA, NORIAKI INOUE, MITSURO OYA, GORO MUTSU, ANNE MAIRE, Gonosue Yabuki JIRO YANAGA.

Fight! Mighty Jack cast - General Fujii JUNYA USAMI.

RELATED SHOWS:

ULTRAMAN

ARMY OF THE APES

MIGHTY MORPHIN' POWER RANGERS,THE (inc. THE MIGHTY MORPHIN' ALIEN RANGERS)

After being trapped in a cauldron for 20,000 years evil empress Rita Repulsa is realised by accident by astronauts on the moon. Together with her henchmen she decides to take over the world. Meanwhile on Earth a Pan-Dimensional being known as Zordon recruits five teenagers to fight the evil Rita and defend the Earth. They are Jason (Red Ranger) who is the leader of the team, Trini (Yellow Ranger), Zack (Black Ranger), Kimberly (Pink Ranger) and Billy (Blue Ranger).

Soon after Rita creates the evil Green Ranger, Tommy to fight the power rangers but he manages to fight her and decides to help the power rangers who are know a team of six. Just when Rita is getting comfortable on the moon another evil force arrives on the moon Lord Zedd who banishes Rita from Earth forever. He precedes to destroy the Green Rangers powers in which he succeeds but soon after Zordon makes a new ranger known as The White Ranger who just happens to be Tommy.

The Rangers discover that Jason, Trini and Zack have been chosen to be world peace ambassadors, so the time has come to replace them with new rangers, who turn out to be the friends of the Rangers. Rocky (Red Ranger 2), Adam (Black Ranger 2) and Aisha (Yellow Ranger 2). Rita returns to Earth with a new plan to make Lord Zedd fall in love with her, but Goldar discovers that the potion that made Zedd fall in love with Rita never worked and he actually does love her.

The Power Rangers know have to contend with two evil forces. Kimberly is having difficulty being a Power Ranger and training to be a Gymnast so after she has an accident she decides to leave the power rangers to concentrate on Gymnastics. She is replaced by Katherine (Pink Ranger 2) who previously worked for Zedd and Rita. Because Rita is doing a bad job her Father comes to Earth to take over the job and try to defeat the rangers.

The Rangers soon lose all the powers when Rita's father plants a bomb in the command chamber, to make matters worse the Rangers are turned into children. They are told of a power crystal known as the Zeo Crystal which can restore their powers, so five of the rangers must go a personnel mission to find them. Whilst Aisha is on her personal mission she decides to stay with a tribe of Indians and Tanya (Zeo Ranger 2 - Yellow) is sent to back to become a Ranger. This story continues in POWER RANGERS ZEO (see separate entry).

The hottest kids' adventure serial since the Turtles, the Mighty, Morphin Power Rangers combine the dynamics of the dinosaurs with martial arts skills, as they battle to save the world from evil intergalactic sorceress Rita Repulsa.

Austin St. John would also return playing Jason in the sequel POWER RANGERS ZEO. MMPR is based on the Rangers show's made in Japan and a lot of the footage is from those shows. Walter E. Jones would also later go on to star in the childrens SF show SPACE CASES and Thuy Trang would go on to take a role in the film The Crow: City of Angels. This was the first time that mixing a Japanesse show with American footage worked, it was done was before with the Australian show Ultraman : Towards the Future.

This show was a phenomen of the mid 1990s. Making it the worlds most successfull childrens show ever. Indeed, it earned Saban International Productions over 1 Billion Dollars, which resulted in them making several other similar shows, but none were as succesfull. The show however had a number of problems with the fact the so many actors and actress left, making only the comedy duo of Bulk and Skull the only actors to star in the entire show. The height of the shows success came with the 1995 film, which was about a villian called Ivan Ooze who wants to take over the world, but only the Power Rangers can stop him by discovering and ancient source of power - the like of which they've never used before.

The Mighty Morphin' Power Rangers used footage from three different Japanesse SF shows in its three season run which were, ZYURANGER (1), DAIRANGER (2) and KAKURANGER (3).

The Mighty Morphin Power Rangers' juvenile mix of action, comedy and entertainment made them an instant success in America. In the UK, their adventures have been seen on GMTV and on Sky One. Its UK airdate began in October 1993, having for a later seasons a respectable 5.30pm Saturday tea time slot where it on occasion went into Sky One's top ten programmes.

The spelling of names in the credits on Mighty Morphin Power Rangers tends to vary from episode to episode and season to season! Mighty Morphin Power Rangers was the brain child of Haim Saban who came up with the idea of taking the special effects action sequences from a Japanese sentai series and combining it with new footage shot in America featuring American teens to produce a new series. This new series would boast greater production values than its low budget would allow if the action sequences had to have been made from scratch. Although it was a hard sell Mighty Morphin Power Rangers found its way to Fox TV, where it first was broadcast in the wee hours of weekday mornings. Mighty Morphin Power Rangers has become unexpectedly popular with the teenage and pre-teen audience. Mighty Morphin Power Rangers was moved to late afternoons and Saturday morning broadcasts were added.

The series has been heavily merchandised with toys, video tapes candy and breakfast cereal being produced with the Mighty Morphin Power Rangers name on it. The Power Rangers' success has also inspired imitation, in the 1994 similar series such as: V.R. Troopers and Superhuman Syber Samurai Squad appeared. All sentai shows are Japanese with most being produced by Toei studios. Sentai is the Japanese word for task force. As a genre all sentai shows feature some type of evil group (demons, monster aliens, etc) who want to conquer the Earth. The only thing that stands in their way is a group of teens or young adults who are highly trained in martial arts. This group manages to obtain super powers to help them defeat the bad guys.

The shows feature colourful costumes, creatures, high tech weapons and fighting machines (colour coordinated to the user's costume) and lots of martial arts action. The first sentai series was Goranger which was broadcast in 1975. Each sentai series runs for one season in which the bad guys are defeated, the series is then replaced with another series that is unrelated to the previous one in everything but general concept. Zyu Ranger is the series where all the action sequences from the first season of Mighty Morphin Power Rangers was taken. Zyu Ranger was broadcast in Japan during the 1992-1993 TV season. Dai Ranger is the series where the action from the second season of Mighty Morphin Power Rangers was taken. In Japan Dai Ranger was broadcast during the 1993-1994 TV season.

During its first season Mighty Morphin Power Rangers featured battles between the Power Rangers and Rita Repulsa. Rita is an interdimensional sorceress who is released by astronauts on Mars from the prison that has held her and her lackeys for the past 10,000 years. Her entourage consists of an endless supply of Putty Patrollers (humanoid slaves created from putty). Goldar and Scorpinia, her two best warriors Finster, creator of her never ending supply of monsters, Baboo and Squatt. Rita has but one goal in her life the total domination of the universe. The Putty Patrollers were replaced by Tenga Warriors in the third season.

Rita's escape does not pass unnoticed by Zordon, the being who imprisoned her 10,000 years ago. Zordon is unable to stop Rita since he has become trapped in another dimension. He is however able to form the Mighty Morphin Power Rangers, a team of five teens to whom he gives special powers. The five teens are: Kimberly Hart, the Pink Ranger with the power of the Pterodactyl: Billy, the Blue Ranger with the power of the Triceratops: Zack, the Black Ranger with the power of the mastodon: Trini, the Yellow Ranger with the power of the sabre tooth tiger: and Jason Scott Lee, the Red Ranger with the power of the Tyrannosaurus Rex. Each of the teens has been given a power morpher. With their power morpher each can morph- or transform- into their Power Ranger identity.

Morphing involves more than just a new fancy costume, after morphing the Rangers gain abilities they did not have in their human form. Each power morpher has two pieces: a coin and a belt buckle. The power coin also allows each Ranger to create a power crystal which allows him or her to control their dinozord. Dinozords are fighting machines with powers based upon one of Earth's prehistoric creatures. The five dinozords are able to come together and join into one huge battle tank to battle creatures which none would dare take on single handedly. As needed Zordon prepares new weapons for the Power Rangers to fight with. He is able to communicate with them in their command centre where they see him on a misty screen. The command centre is manned by a robot named Alpha 5.

The American shot footage of Mighty Morphin Power Rangers features the Power Rangers in their civilian identities. They live in the town of Angel Grove where they attend Angel Grove High School. Each episode often features two plots. One plot involving teen angst a la Saved by the Bell. This storyline is interrupted by the bad guys' appearance, often in the form of Putty Patrollers. After the Putty Patrollers are defeated a bigger threat is discovered which all of the Power Rangers are needed to defeat.

During the series' run several changes have happened. Halfway through the first season a sixth Power Ranger was introduced. The new Ranger was Tommy Oliver, the Green Ranger. Unlike the other Rangers, the Green Ranger was one of the bad guys created by and under the control of Rita. The other Rangers break the spell that controls him and he becomes a good guy. He eventually loses his powers and is later given new ones and he becomes the White Ranger. During the second season Lord Zedd replaces Rita as the villain. Rita had been an underling of Zedd's. Zedd it seems became upset with Rita's inability to defeat the Power Rangers, and decided that he should do the job himself. Although he has not had any better luck. Midway through the season, Rita returns, gets married to Zedd and the two of them combine their efforts to defeat the Rangers.

Also during the second season three of the Power Rangers were replaced. Adam became the new Black Ranger. Aisha became the new Yellow Ranger and Rocky became the new red Ranger. The changes in characters were because the actors who originally created the roles were unable to come to terms with the producers regarding their salaries.

After the second season the Rangers appeared in a big budget theatrical film which was shot in Australia. Zedd and Rita were replaced as the villains in this film by Ivan Ooze. The film went on to prove that the TV series small budget was NOT the reason it is so bad, since throwing lots of money at the Power Rangers concept failed to make it any better. Footage shot in Australia however did appear in the second season when it was explained that the Rangers were on holiday in Australia. The film however was supposed to be set back in Angel Grove which is somewhere in the United States, however Sydney landmarks appear in the film meaning somebody somewhere is geographically challenged.

The third season saw the Rangers once again getting new Zords. The Red Ranger got a ninja zord, the Black Ranger a frog zord., the Pink Ranger a crane zord, the Blue Ranger a wolf zord, the Yellow Ranger a bear zord and the White Ranger a falcon zord. There was another cast change during the third season. Kimberly left Angel Grove and was replaced as the Pink Ranger by Kat, an Australian girl who had once been one of Rita's lackeys. Midway through the third season another big change occurred. The series changed its title to Power Rangers Zeo, in which the Rangers once again got new costumes and robots, with several of the characters changing their colours! Their powers now came from portions of a Zeo crystal as opposed to power coins as they had in the past Billy wound up losing his status as a Ranger but stayed with the group as a scientific adviser. Lord Zedd and Rita were also quickly dispatched by a new set of villains. King Mondo and Queen Machina, rulers of the machine world. NOTE: Guest stars are not given on screen credit and are thus unknown. The series' executive producers were Haim Saban and Shuki Levy.

WR. Tony Oliver, Shuki Levy, Stewart St. John, Gary Glasberg, Cheryl Saban, Shell Danielson, Mark Hoffmeier, Douglas Sloan, Mark Litton, Judd Lynn, Douglas Sloan and Buzz Alden & Charlotte Alden (yes, that Buzz Alden), who wrote the episode with his young daughter.

DIR. Robert Radler, Vickie Bronaugh, Douglas Sloan, Terence H. Winkless, Worth Keeter, Shuki Levy, John Stewart, Jerry P. Jacobs and Robert Hughes.

EPISODES: 156 YEAR MADE: 1993 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 3

SABAN INTERNATIONAL PRODUCTIONS

CREATOR: HAIM SABAN, SHUKI LEVY

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 20 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 60 + 1 (2) 53, (3) 43

DATE OF PREMIER: 21/08/1993 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 17/02/1996

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS: THE MIGHTY MORPHIN' POWER RANGERS: THE MOVIE.

Jason/Red Ranger AUSTIN ST. JOHN, Trini/Yellow Ranger THUY TRANG, Zack/Black Ranger WALTER E. JONES, Kimberly Heart/Pink Ranger AMY JO JOHNSON, Billy/Blue Ranger DAVID YOST, Tommy/Green Ranger/White Ranger JASON DAVID FRANK, Bulk PAUL SCHRIER, Skull JASON NARVY, Alpha 5 R. J.SHARF, Rita Repulsa BARBARA GOODSON, Squatt MICHAEL J.SORICH, Goldar RYAN O'FLANNIGAN, Zordon BOB MANAHAN, Rocky/Red Ranger 2 STEVE CARDENAS, Adam/Black Ranger 2 JOHNNY YONG BOSCH, Aisha /Yellow Ranger 2 KAREN ASHLEY, Kat/ Pink Ranger 2 CATHERINE SUTHERLAND.

Books Based on this series.

All-New Mighty Morphin' Power Rangers Scrap Book #2

Power Rangers: Alpha Activities

Power Rangers: Big Clean Up

Power Rangers: Bugged

Power Rangers: Double Trouble
 Power Rangers: Monsters from the Movies
 Power Rangers: Monumental Disaster
 Power Rangers: Morphin Mazes
 Power Rangers: Power Puzzles
 Power Rangers: Puzzle Scope
 Power Rangers: Ranger Games
 Power Rangers: Turbo Fun
 Power Rangers: Vacation on the Moon
 The Mighty Morphin' Power Rangers: Adventures on Phaebos
 The Mighty Morphin' Power Rangers: Defenders of the Universe
 The Mighty Morphin' Power Rangers: Dinozords Dynamic Mazes
 The Mighty Morphin' Power Rangers: Megazords Mighty Mazes
 The Mighty Morphin' Power Rangers: Powerzords Puzzles and Maps
 The Mighty Morphin' Power Rangers: Space Aliens Attack
 The Mighty Morphin' Power Rangers: The Movie - Piano Vocal Chords
 The Mighty Morphin' Power Rangers: The Movie Scrapbook
 The Mighty Morphin' Power Rangers: The Movie Storybook
 The Mighty Morphin' Power Rangers: The Official Game Book
 The Mighty Morphin' Power Rangers: Titanus's Briantwister
 The Truth about the Power Rangers

RELATED SHOWS:

VR TROOPERS
HIMITSU SENTAI GORANGER
DENGEKITAI SENTAI J.A.K.Q.
BATTLEFEVER J
DENSHI SENTAI DENJIMAN
TAIYO SENTAI VULCAN
DAI SENTAI GOGGLE V
HIKARI SENTAI MASKMAN
GO SEI SENTAI DAIRANGER
BIG BAD BEETLEBORGS
POWER RANGERS ZEO
POWER RANGERS IN SPACE
POWER RANGERS TURBO
POWER RANGERS NINJA STORM
POWER RANGERS S.P.D

0 - 0 ALPHA'S MAGICAL CHRISTASS (ON VIDEO ONLY)

1 - 0 DAY OF THE DUMPSTER (PILOT VERSION)

Five teenagers, who hang out in an average bowling alley, and occasionally use their karate skills to fend off a gang of mean bullies, are summoned to save the world by an intergalactic being named Zoltar. He gives them the power to become Power Rangers, and to call upon giant dinosauric robots called Droids to combat the forces of space witch Rita Repulsa.

Wr Tony Oliver

Dir Strathford Hamilton

1 - 1 DAY OF THE DUMPSTER

Following the accidental release of long-imprisoned evil space-sorceress Rita Repulsa, a benevolent sage known as Zordon drafts a group of five teenagers to help protect the planet as dino-powered warriors of goodness.

Wr Tony Oliver, Shuki Levy

Dir Adrian Carr

1 - 2 FOOD FIGHT

Ernie's Youth Center & Juice Bar sponsors an International Food Festival, in cooperation with Angel Grove High. The five Ranger teens are among those involved. Rita sends down Finster's latest creation, the aptly named Pudgy Pig, to consume the festival's food supply, as well as anything else he can fit into his hungry mouth. Pudgy Pig even ends up eating the Rangers' Power Weapons! A weak spot is noticed, involving his dislike for spicy foods, and soon the monster's eating binge comes to an explosive close. The International Food Festival also meets a messy demise, when Bulk & Skull start an uncontrollable food fight.

Wr Cheryl Saban

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 3 HIGH FIVE

The five Ranger Teens begin to settle into their new roles as protectors of both Angel Grove, and the entire planet. Billy, the genius boy in blue, invents a series of silver watchbands with which they can both talk to each other, and teleport to the Command Center (the Communicators). Meanwhile, at her evil palace on the moon, Rita Repulsa schemes to do to the Rangers what she did to Zordon long ago. With the help of Finster's device, she attempts to trap the Power Rangers inside of a strange Time Warp dimension. If that wasn't bad enough, Billy gets backed up to the top ledge of a mountain by some Putties. Trini, deadly afraid of heights, must confront her fear to help him out. The Rangers escape the Time Warp, and triumphantly fight Finster's creation: a skeletal warrior named "Bones", and a giant... umm... "Giant" monster summoned by Rita.

Wr Steve Kramer

Dir Adrian Carr

1 - 4 TEAMWORK

Kim & Trini attempt to shut down a local waste dump with a petition. Little do they realize, that the waste dump belongs to Rita! She's trying to trash the whole world, and has Finster create the Minotaur monster to help protect the dump site. Our heroes learn a valuable lesson in working together, using their Dinozords against the monster individually at first. Though the Megazord isn't enough, new Power Weapons for each of the Rangers, and their powerful combination, bring down the Minotaur. Though the dump site remains active, working together, the teens clean up Bulk & Skull's school hallway garbage mess quickly.

Wr Cheryl Saban

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 5 A PRESSING ENGAGEMENT

At the Youth Center, Jason attempts to break Bulk's benchpressing record, only to be severely distracted. Rita comes up with a plan to divide and conquer the Rangers, by splitting them up during a battle with the King Sphinx monster. It takes the Zord-charging power of their Coins' Power Crystals to bring everyone back together, and to take down King Sphinx & Goldar.

Wr Jeffrey A. Deckman, Ronnie Sperling

Dir Adrian Carr

1 - 6 A DIFFERENT DRUM

Kimberly's deaf friend, Melissa, has a tough time fitting in. When the Gnarly Gnome monster strikes, using music to hypnotize the children of Angel Grove, her handicap allows her to remain unaffected. With her aid, the Power Rangers put an end to the Gnome's symphony of destruction.

Wr Julianne Klemm

Dir Jeffrey Reiner

1 - 7 I, EYE GUY

Billy helps his young brainy buddy Willy with a Virtual Reality device for the Angel Grove science fair. Willy's intelligence and lack of self-confidence entices Rita, as she schemes to capture him and use his experiments for evil. The Eyeguy scopes the boy out, but fails to see the Rangers coming.

Wr Stewart St. John

Dir David Blyth

1 - 8 FOR WHOM THE BELL TROLLS

It's hobby week at Angel Grove High. The Ranger teens have all brought in various items reflective of their personalities. Trini brings in her doll collection, along with her favorite one of all, a blue elf named Mr. Ticklesneezer. Rita ends up stealing him, and turning him into a monster. Ticklesneezer goes around shrinking things and collecting them into bottles. This includes the Megazord, as the Rangers meet their first real defeat, only to have it turn out to all be just a dream of Trini's.

Wr Stewart St. John, Jeffrey A. Deckman, Ronnie Sperling

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 9 HAPPY BIRTHDAY, ZACK

The Ranger teens & Ernie plan a surprise party at the Juice Bar for Zack. The secrecy leads him to believe they've all forgotten about his birthday. Rita shows she cares, by sending down a special treat, a vicious black knight monster known as Nasty Knight. The Black Ranger faces off with him, Power Axe to sword. Later, Zack's birthday party goes off without a hitch, though Ernie ends up getting covered in cake instead of Bulk & Skull for a change.

Wr Stewart St. John

Dir Jeffrey Reiner

1 - 10 NO CLOWNING AROUND

The fair has come to Angel Grove, and the Ranger teens enjoy a day at it, with Trini's cousin Sylvia. The fair turns out to be a front for Rita, with numerous Putties as clowns. One such clown, named Pineapple, turns Sylvia into a cardboard cutout. He reveals himself to be a creature named Pineoctopus. Billy & Alpha solve Sylvia's 2-dimensional dilemma, and the Rangers shut down the evil carnival for good.

Wr Mark Hoffmeier

Dir Adrian Carr

1 - 11 POWER RANGER PUNKS

With the Ranger teens distracted, Baboo sneaks to Earth and drugs their lemonade with a magical potion. Billy & Kimberly are the only two to take a sip, but the effects on them are quite odd. They both start acting like punks, picking on kids at the high school, and even scaring Bulk & Skull. The other 3 Rangers have more important issues to deal with, namely Rita's Terror Toad monster. Zordon traps the two out of control teens in the Command Center, and sends Alpha off on a dangerous mission alone to seek the Singing Squash, with which to restore Billy & Kim to normal.

Wr Mark Hoffmeier

Dir David Blyth

1 - 12 PEACE, LOVE AND WOE

There's a big party coming up at the Youth Center, but the nerdy Billy is as dateless as ever. By coincidence, he bumps into an equally brainy girl named Marge, and the two hit it off. Soon, Rita's ally, Madame Woe, mistakes Marge for a Ranger, and captures her. The actual Rangers come to her rescue, combining their powers, and destroying her without even needing their Megazord. Billy & Marge happily go to the dance together, and she's never seen nor mentioned again afterwards.

Wr Julianne Klemm

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 13 FOUL PLAY IN THE SKY

Kim goes for flying lessons with her pilot uncle Steve. Bulk & Skull tag along. Rita's henchman Squatt spikes Steve's drink with a sleeping potion, which kicks into effect while in the skies over Angel Grove. Kim nervously takes over flying the four-seater plane, and with a little guidance from Alpha 5, lands safely. She then joins her teammates in battle with the Snizzard monster, already in progress.

Wr Shuki Levy

Dir Shuki Levy

1 - 14 DARK WARRIOR

Trini's famous scientist uncle Howard drops by the Youth Center, with a new invisibility formula. Rita spots it, and plans to use it on her new monster, the camouflaged creature known as the Dark Warrior. Billy gets sick of Bulk & Skull picking on him, and decides to reenroll in Jason's karate class. But as before, he doesn't fare well in it. Uncle Howard, not only a scientist but a master martial artist, offers to give him some training at the park. There, Dark Warrior kidnaps him, and orders him to give up the invisibility formula. He refuses, and gets strapped to a bomb capable of leveling the city. Billy saves the day, and manages to get his yellow belt with Uncle Howard's help.

Wr Mark Hoffmeier, Jeffrey A. Deckman, Ronnie Sperling

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

1 - 15 BIG SISTERS

Kim & Trini get the task of being "big sisters" to a mischievous little girl named Maria. Rita kidnaps the bratty child, with intent of using her to open a magic trunk filled with Power Eggs. The Rangers end up facing the Chunky Chicken monster to save the annoying girl. All of this, plus, Billy unveils his specially modified VW Beetle, known as the RADBUG.

Wr Shuki Levy, Gary Glasberg

Dir Jeffrey Reiner

1 - 16 SWITCHING PLACES

Billy's brain switching machine goes haywire (with a little help from Squatt & Baboo), causing his &

Kimberly's minds to swap bodies! Hilarity ensues when Billy as Kim, and Kim as Billy, spend a few days in each other's shoes... literally! Plus, the Genie monster rubs our heroes the wrong way.

Wr Steve Kramer, Shuki Levy

Dir Jeffrey Reiner

1 - 17 GREEN WITH EVIL PART 1 (aka OUT OF CONTROL)

Tommy, a new kid in town with martial arts skills that rival even Jason's, catches Kimberly's eye. Not just her, but Rita Repulsa also sees potential in him. She has her Putties kidnap him, and bring him to the moon. There, Rita places a spell over Tommy, turning him into the evil Green Power Ranger! Using his Dragon Power Coin, Tommy infiltrates the Command Center, gives Alpha 5 a virus, and trashes most of the control consoles. Zordon attempts reasoning with him, but fails, and gets cut off from our dimension. The Green Ranger then fights the other Power Rangers in battle, and with the Evil Space Aliens' help, takes our heroes by surprise while they're in their Megazord. The Ranger take the beating, and retreat to the damaged Command Center in the RADBUG. They restore Alpha, but fail to learn anything about the mysterious Green Ranger.

Wr Stewart St. John, Gary Glasberg

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 18 GREEN WITH EVIL PART 2 (aka JASON'S BATTLE)

With the Command Center still incapacitated from the Green Ranger's attack, Billy & Trini attempt to repair it and Alpha 5. Tommy returns to Earth, and acts cold & rude to Kimberly. Soon, after a successfully training run on the beach, Rita gives Tommy the Sword Of Darkness, which acts as a catalyst for keeping him under her evil spell permanently. Our heroes remain at a loss for a plan, but devote as much time into it as they can. Because of that, Jason informs Tommy at school that he'll be unable to work out with him later. Unbeknownst to Jason, the possessed Tommy then teleports him to the Dark Dimension! Trapped, with no way out, no way of morphing, and no way of contacting his teammates, Jason faces Goldar alone.

Wr Tom Wyner, Stewart St. John, Cheryl Saban

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 19 GREEN WITH EVIL PART 3 (aka THE RESUCE)

Jason continues battling Goldar in the Dark Dimension, and eventually, the Green Ranger as well. Luckily, in the nick of time, the Rangers & Alpha are able to lock on to his Communicator and teleport him out of there. But with Zordon still lost and the Command Center still in shambles, the victory is bittersweet, at best. To make things worse, Rita summons Scorpina, a female warrior long buried in a cave, with the ability to transform into a monstrous scorpion when in giant mode.

Wr Stewart St. John, Mark Ryan

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 20 GREEN WITH EVIL PART 4 (aka ECLIPSING MEGAZORD)

Goldar grows and attacks Angel Grove, and nearly eats Bulk & Skull. Meanwhile, the search for Zordon heats up, but while the Rangers are out, Green Ranger sneaks back into the Command Center, and attempts to sabotage it again. Alpha's prepared, capturing him in a stasis shield briefly. Rita frees him, and uses her Magic Wand to make him grow! He joins Goldar & Scorpina in fighting the Megazord, as Rita casts a spell to eclipse the sun and cut off its solar power reserves. Though the Power Sword helps add a boost of energy, the Megazord falls to the trio of evil. The Zords separate and scatter into a burning hole in the ground. Our heroes retreat in defeat, but learn from Alpha's brief short reencounter, the true identity of the Green Ranger: their new mood-swinging pal, Tommy Oliver!

Wr Stewart St. John, Cindy McKay

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 21 GREEN WITH EVIL PART 5 (aka BREAKING THE SPELL)

Kim confronts the evil Tommy in the Youth Center, but he simply informs her that she and the other Rangers will soon be destroyed. Utilizing his Dragon Dagger's flute mode, the Green Ranger summons forth the ancient Green Dragonzord from Angel Grove bay. It begins to rampage through the city, crushing and blowing up buildings. Zordon's transmission is finally reestablished with this dimension. The Megazord is recovered, and victoriously faces the Dragonzord.

The Sword of Darkness is destroyed, freeing Tommy from the evil spell. He's disoriented, but regrettably recalls everything he did while evil. The Rangers offer him a place among them, and he gladly accepts.

The Dragonzord forms with the Megazord, creating the Dragonzord in Battle Mode. Zordon then welcomes Tommy to the team, claiming the 6th Ranger was prophesied.

Wr Stewart St. John, Gary Glasberg

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 22 THE TROUBLE WITH SHELLSHOCK

Tommy settles into his new role on the team, by playing a friendly game of basketball with the other Ranger teens. On the moon, Rita naps, prompting Baboo & Squatt to take charge by making their own monster. Shellshock, a turtle with a stoplight atop his shell, is sent to Earth, and wreaks more havoc by accident than on purpose. Trini races for the Deandra Flowers. The 6 Power Rangers put his light on permanent red with the help of their two Megazords.

Wr Stewart St. John, Julianne Klemm

Dir David Blyth

1 - 23 THE SPIT FLOWER

Kimberly has the task of designing a flower float for an Angel Grove parade. Putties drop by the Juice Bar, and trash it before she can turn the design in. Kim frets over losing it, and soon has to face the evil flesh-eating-blossom-spewing Spit Flower monster. Tommy & Alpha rebuild the model float, and her design ends up in stock footage on TV.

Wr Peggy Nicoll

Dir David Blyth

1 - 24 ITSY BITSY SPIDER

Trini & Billy petition to save the Forest Spirit Statue from demolition. It supposedly protects the woods from nasty bug infestations. Rita swipes the statue and replaces it with a lookalike, which hides her Spidertron monster within. Zack brings his young Hip-Hop Kido class to the park to work out nearby, and all but the Black Ranger are put under a sleeping spell by Spidertron. Unfortunately for Zack, he's deathly afraid of bugs, spiders especially!

Wr Steve Kramer

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 25 LIFE'S A MASQUERADE

There's a costume party going on at the Youth Center! Rita uses this distraction to mine a special clay on Earth, from which she'll create a breed of Super Putties. She sends her own version of Frankenstein's Monster to the party, and he's immediately mistaken for Tommy (likely due to their similar high foreheads).

Wr Cheryl Saban

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 26 GUNG HO!

Jason & Tommy team-up for an upcoming Team Ninja competition at the Youth Center. They have trouble working together, as both are used to sparring one-on-one. As the other Rangers fight the nigh-invincible Super Putties, Zordon sends Jason & Tommy off to retrieve new weapons. They face a strange metal creature known as Titanus, and learn teamwork in the face of adversity. The Super Putties are wiped out, and Zordon reveals that Titanus is an old friend, who'll act as a Carrierzord for the Megazords, with which they'll create the Ultrazord!

Wr Mark Hoffmeier

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 27 WHEEL OF MISFORTUNE

The Ranger teens are involved with a stage play of Rumpelstiltskin at Angel Grove High. Kim's grandmother's antique spinning wheel is used as a prop. Bulk, as the title character in the play, nearly breaks it, and Kim freaks out. Rita sends her goons down to capture the wheel, and turn it into an evil Wheel Of Destruction. The Megazord faces the giant wheel, destroys it, but luckily, it reverts back to its original form, unharmed, just in time for the play, which is unusually short.

Wr Cheryl Saban, Mark Ryan

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

1 - 28 ISLAND OF ILLUSION (1-2)

There's an upcoming dance competition, and despite his usual smooth moves, Zack's got a heavy case of self-doubt. Rita is inspired, and after summoning the evil God, Lokar (who sends the Mutitus creature to face the Megazord), she traps them on a strange island dimension. There, the 6 Rangers face illusions preying upon their worst fears.

Wr Shuki Levy, Chris Schoon

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

1 - 29 THE ROCKSTAR

Jason and his young cousin Jeremy become embroiled in a plot by Rita & Scorpina to capture the powerful Mirror of Destruction. A Rockstar monster rounds out the cast.

Wr Peggy Nicoll

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

1 - 30 CALAMITY KIMBERLY

Kimberly wakes up on the wrong side of the bed, begins to have an extremely bad day. It turns to worse when Rita sends the Samurai Fanman down to Earth. He traps the bad haired, ratted clothed, annoyed Kim inside an urn, connected to another dimension. The Power Rangers race against the clock to free her before she's lost inside it forever.

Wr Tom Wyner, Julianne Klemm

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

1 - 31 A STAR IS BORN

Tommy competes with Bulk for a role on a Karate commercial. Meanwhile, the other Rangers end up trapped in a cocoon, thanks to Scorpina's pet worm creature. If that wasn't bad enough, Rita sends down the baseball-fevered Babe Ruthless monster! Our heroes, with the help of the MegaDragonzord, defeat this double threat. Tommy & the mayonnaise-tanned Bulk both get the commercial role, though for Karate-skills comparative reasons only.

Wr Cheryl Saban

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

1 - 32 THE YOLK'S ON YOU

There's a big talent show at Angel Grove High School. On the way there to assist Jason in a Martial Arts themed skill, Tommy gets captured by a group of Putties. On the moon, Finster creates the Fang monster for Rita's birthday. The Leo Gorcy-type voiced creature becomes enraged when Baboo & Squatt eat his Gooney Bird eggs. They tell him that the Rangers have his eggs, and a battle occurs. Tommy's freed, and the Ultrazord is used to end this case of framery.

Wr Cheryl Saban

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

1 - 33 THE GREEN CANDLE (1-2)

There's a dance coming up, but Tommy's got cold feet about asking Kimberly to it. On the moon palace, Rita unveils her master plan concerning her former employee, the Green Ranger. It seems that when he was working for her, he touched some magic wax, which is now linked to his Morphing powers. By turning the wax into a Green Candle, and lighting it, his powers will slowly fade away. To help ignite this into action, the Cyclops monster is sent to Earth. It mimics the Dragonzord, and begins to rampage through the city. Tommy is sucked into the Dark Dimension, and fights with Goldar, while his teammates face the Cyclops. He proves to be too powerful for them alone. The Green Ranger escapes from Goldar, and prepares to battle Cyclops. Everything is going as planned, as the Green Candle continues burning down.

Wr Stewart St. John, Mark McKain, Gary Glasberg

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 34 BIRDS OF A FEATHER

Zack grooms his young student to take part in a karate tournament, against an angry ward of Bulk & Skull. The Rangers face the chicken-like Hatchasaurus monster. He's defeated quickly, but manages to regenerate using his inner sentient heart-creature, known as the Cardiatron. Jason, using both his Red Ranger powers, along with the Green Ranger powers, must face this odd being alone.

Wr Julianne Klemm

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 35 CLEAN UP CLUB

Inspired by Trini's video project on pollution, the Ranger teens organize a Clean-Up Club. They set out to make Angel Grove Park a cleaner place. Rita sends down the Polluticorn monster, to undo all of their hard work, and destroy the world.

Wr Mark Hoffmeier

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

1 - 36 A BAD REFLECTION ON YOU

Rita's newest monster, the Twin Man, creates a special team of five Putty Patrollers, which have the power to transform into evil versions of the Power Rangers! These diabolical doubles wreck havoc on our heroes' lives, even framing them into getting detention. The evil doppelgangers attack the city, as the good guys remain stuck at the High School!

Wr Peggy Nicoll

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 37 DOOMSDAY (1-2)

Angel Grove Mayor Carrington declares today, "Power Rangers Day." There's a big celebration planned, and nearly everyone's going to be there. Bulk & Skull try to steal the Rangers' thunder by storming the stage as "The Incredible Bulkster" & "Super Skull". Rita captures the entire crowd of townspeople, and imprisons them in another dimension. The Rangers then have to fight Goldar, who pilots the mighty evil Cyclopsis, the War Zord! The Ultrazord prevails against his evil Warzord, destroying it. All is not won, however, as Rita gets in on the action, damaging the Rangers' Zords, and using Lokar to bring Cyclopsis back from oblivion.

Wr Stewart St. John

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

1 - 38 A PIG SURPRISE

The Ranger Teens organize a Pet Adoption program, which leads to an old lady bringing in her pig, Norman. The elderly woman turns out to be a Putty, and her pig is none other than Pudgy Pig reborn. Our heroes find out too late, and Bulk & Skull end up adopting the porker. The Rangers become involved with another battle with Goldar & Scorpina. Pudgy Pig, in this incarnation, turns out to be docile, and wants only to be with a female pig! Alpha returns Pudgy to being Norman, and lives happily ever after on the farm, until the eventual baconing.

Wr Shuki Levy, Douglas Sloan

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 39 LIONS AND BLIZZARDS

The Ranger Teens take part in the annual Oddball Games, a set of strange obstacle courses. They win (what a surprise), but their strange trophy gets swiped by Rita. It's turned into the evil Goatan, the Stormbringer, a Goat-Lion monster. Bulk & Skull are blamed for the trophy theft at first. Angela, having lost in the games to Zack, ends up going on a date with him at last. His Ranger duties cause him to be called out in the middle of the movie, and that kills their relationship.

Wr Shell Danielson

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 40 RITA'S SEED OF EVIL

The Ranger Teens plan to plant saplings in the park. Rita does some gardening of her own, by sending down the Octoplant seed. It blooms into the Octoplant, a monster hung up on its own appearance.

Wr Stewart St. John

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 41 CRYSTAL OF NIGHTMARES

There's a big test coming up, so the Ranger Teens head up to Billy's Uncle's cabin up in the mountains to cram. Goldar uses this brain-storming session to his advantage, by manipulating their dreams with the Crystal Of Nightmares. Their worst fears are played out in their dreams, causing them to be completely paranoid and afraid when they wake up. Against their current states of mind, Zordon has them seek out the Crystal, and destroy it. Overcoming their overwhelming self-doubts, our heroes shatter the crystal, and likely pass more than one tests.

Wr Shuki Levy, Douglas Sloan

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 42 SOMETHING FISHY

Jason, Zack, & Trini go scuba diving. Billy's invited, but this just brings up bad memories from his childhood. Seems as a boy, he was playing in a lake, when a fish bit his finger. Since then, he's been quite afraid of aquatic animals. Rita exploits this fear, sending down the Toxic Goo-Fish monster. Blue Ranger manages to overcome his fish phobia, and filets the villain.

Wr Cheryl Saban

Dir Robert Hughes

1 - 43 TO FLEA OR NOT TO FLEA

Ernie's Youth Center is going out of business, despite efforts to save it from shutting down. A stray dog wanders in, and gives Jason a rash! It's not ordinary rash, but the infection of Rita's newest monster, the Fighting Flea. Thanks to some Raid-style flea killing chemicals, Jason's de-rashed, and Fighting Flea is stamped out. The stray dog turns out to be the beloved pet of a rich woman, and, you guessed it, the reward money saves the Youth Center for another 5 years.

Wr Douglas Sloan

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

1 - 44 REIGN OF THE JELLYFISH

Angel Grove High School is preparing to bury a time capsule in the park, to be opened in 100 years. Among the items, is a picture of the Power Rangers. Rita's furious, sending down Baboo & Squatt to steal the capsule, and put a picture of her in it instead. She also sends down the Jellyfish Warrior monster to trap our heroes in another dimension.

Wr Stewart St. John

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

1 - 45 PLAGUE OF THE MANTIS

Trini trains with Master Li in a new fighting technique, known as the Praying Mantis style. She's unable to grasp the proper motivation for achieving the stances. Rita sends down a Mantis monster to face her, one on one. This works towards Trini's advantage in the long run, as she masters the technique, and helps her teammates take the Mantis down.

Wr Mark Hoffmeier

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

1 - 46 RETURN OF AN OLD FRIEND (1-2)

It's Parent's Day at the Youth Center, and all of the Ranger Teens' fathers & mothers are there. Rita decides to trap the parents in another dimension, and use them as ransom for attaining the Power Coins! To make things worse, Billy is placed under a spell, and steals the Dragon Dagger from the Command Center. With it, Goldar takes control of the Dragonzord, and sends it on a rampage. Helpless to help their parents, the five Power Rangers give up their Dino Coins. Goldar lies, takes the coins and refuses to release the parents. All seems lost, until our heroes realize one Power Coin remains, the nearly-depleted Green Ranger Coin.

Wr Shell Danielson

Dir Worth Keeter

1 - 47 GRUMBLE BEE

Billy gets his first B on a test ever. He's devastated. Rita is once again inspired by an event in a Ranger's life, and has Finster create a Grumble Bee monster. Trini & Billy face it, while their three teammates struggle to break free from an unbreakable rope at the basketball court.

Wr Cheryl Saban

Dir John Stewart

1 - 48 TWO HEADS ARE BETTER THAN ONE

Tommy & Jason teach the mothers of Angel Grove some self-defense courses at the Youth Center. Their motto for the moms, two heads are better than one. Rita is inspired, as always, and has Finster create a Two-Headed Parrot monster. Teamwork, two-heads times three, plus a Pamango fruit are needed to take out this double-bird brained menace.

Wr Mark Hoffmeier

Dir John Stewart

1 - 49 FOWL PLAY

Zack puts on a magic show for the kids at the Juice Bar. He's more interested in impressing Angela, and seems to succeed. Rita sends down the Peckster monster, causing Zack to pull a disappearing act just when he's about to woo the girl of his dreams.

Wr Peggy Nicoll

Dir John Stewart

1 - 50 ENTER THE LIZZINATOR

Kim's cousin Kelly has a tough time getting on the Angel Grove Junior High cheerleading squad. She offers some pointers, but the insecure redhead is unable to cope. Rita has Baboo & Squatt kidnap her for some reason, while she sends down the Lizzinator monster. The nearly invulnerable creature smacks cars around, along with the Red Ranger. The monster's eventually defeated with the Ultrazord, and Kelly gets freed from evil by use of her horrid cheers. She makes the squad, but you could easily guess that much.

Wr Stewart St. John

Dir Worth Keeter

1 - 51 TRICK OR TREAT

Kim faces Skull on the nation's biggest hit game show, Trick Or Treat! This Halloween-themed program does... guess what? Yes, it inspires Rita, and the Pumpkin Rapper monster is harvested on Earth. Tommy finds the evil pumpkin patch on his way to a karate tournament, and faces a gang of Putties guarding it. Kim's nearly winning the show, when her Ranger duties call. She fakes a faint, and Skull is declared winner by default. Our heroes first face an army of pumpkin-headed Putties, and then the Pumpkin Rapper, who makes even Vanilla Ice blush with his cheesy rhymes. Bulk & Skull later lose the grand prize, a new car, when the network reviews the tape and finds Skull cheated. Like game shows have never cheated before, eh?

Wr Ellen Levy Sarnoff, Danny Sarnoff

Dir Worth Keeter

1 - 52 ON FINS AND NEEDLES

Jason & Tommy teach free karate classes at the Youth Center. Rita's annoyed by their friendship, and sends down the Slippery Shark monster. His boomerang-fin weapon casts a spell on the two, causing them to hate each other intensely. This nearly leads to an all out brawl in the Youth Center, organized by Bulk & Skull. Luckily, their teammates intervene, and by forcing teamwork, Tommy & Jason break free from the spell and sink the shark.

Wr Douglas Sloan

Dir Worth Keeter

1 - 53 SECOND CHANCE

Ernie picks the new lineup for the Angel Grove Junior Soccer team, but a young boy named Roger isn't on it. He's friends with the Ranger Teens, which means he's gonna get special treatment for this injustice. A second tryout will be held, so our heroes help him train for it. Rita sends down the Soccadillo monster to keep with the soccer theme. The Rangers kick him around, and eventually score a goal by destroying him. Later, Roger doesn't only make the team, but he causes Ernie to make two soccer teams so that everyone can play.

Wr Mark Litton

Dir Worth Keeter

1 - 54 FOOTBALL SEASON

It turns out there IS something a Ranger teen isn't good at. Namely, Tommy, who struggles to make the Angel Grove High football team. His karate training messes up his coordination, but Ernie, who used to be an all-star fullback in college, helps him out. Rita sends down the Rhinoblaster monster to face the other Power Rangers, in a game of football with a squad of Putties. Long story short, Tommy makes the team, but then again, so does uber-geek Billy. We never see them play any games, so the team must be honorary only.

Wr Cheryl Saban

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

1 - 55 MIGHTY MORPHIN' MUTANTS

Miss Appleby assigns her class to find their personal fault, and attempt to correct it. Tommy's is obvious, he's incredibly forgetful! His teammates try to help out, but he forgets to use the things they made him to keep from forgetting. Meanwhile, Rita has Goldar specially train a group of Putties. Only five pass the tests, and are given the Badges Of Darkness, allowing them to morph into exact evil doubles of the Yellow, Pink, Blue, Green, and Black Rangers. To replace Red, the Commander Crayfish monster is created. These evil Rangers give the real ones a run for their money, with most of them even growing large during the Megazord battle!

Wr Douglas Sloan

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

1 - 56 AN OYSTER STEW

Angela's birthday is coming up, and Zack wants to take her out. He arranges a nice double date with Tommy & Kim and her at a fancy French restaurant. He seeks a pair of pearls earrings to give to Angela, but is unable to afford any. Zack finds a strange hustler at the park, who gives him a pair real cheap. It turns out, the hustler was a putty in disguise, and the pearls are the evil Pearls Of Stillness! Angela happily puts them on, and freezes everyone in the restaurant. Zack & Tommy are the only ones unfrozen, and must fight Rita's Oysterizer monster to undo the pearl's effects. The duo do so, but Angela's angered about the disintegrating earrings. The Rangers, in the Megazord & Dragonzord, take on Oysterizer under water! Later, Zack sings Angela a ballad, with Bulk & Skull providing the music. She's swept off her feet, and never seen or mentioned on the series again.

Wr Shell Danielson

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

2 - 1 THE MUTINY (1-3)

The Ranger teens take part in a charity 4-wheeler race on Earth. But up on the moon, things are far from routine. Rita Repulsa and her gang plan yet another attack, when Lord Zedd, Rita's boss and evil overlord, returns to our galaxy! The tall, skin-less, metal-plated face, tubed-veined man arrives, and has Rita placed in another Space Dumpster. She's failed once too often for his tastes, and she has to go. Goldar quickly changes allegiances, helping to shrink Rita down and shoot her off into the depths of space forever. Zedd alters most of the castle, and changes the Putty Patrollers into white-suited armored Z-Putties. They're sent down to Earth, and prove formidable foes, until their weaknesses are discovered (hit the big Z power source on their chests, and they shatter to pieces). Zedd creates the Pirantishead monster from a fish out of the Rampoon River, and sends it to Angel Grove. Its twin-fish flutes cause all of the Dinozords to become instantly frozen!

Wr Shuki Levy, Shell Danielson

Dir Shuki Levy

2 - 2 BEAUTY AND THE BEAST

Lord Zedd requires a bride! He has Goldar, Squatt & Baboo capture Kimberly to serve that honor. She's dressed as Rita Repulsa, and placed under a spell. Of course, the spell doesn't quite work, but she makes the most out of it by annoying the Evil Space Aliens. A small, prized mirror Tommy won for Kim is turned into the Mirror Maniac monster.

Wr Cheryl Saban

Dir John Stewart

2 - 3 WHITE LIGHT (1-2)

The Ranger Teens are excited to hear that Tommy is coming home by the end of the week. Little do they realize, that Lord Zedd has other plans in mind for the former Green Ranger. Tommy vanishes without warning, just as Zedd creates Nimrod, the Scarlet Sentinel. The monster, along with its twins, AC & DC, makes quick work of the Power Rangers. Defeated by the triple threat, things get stranger when the gang discovers the Command Center is powered down, and both Alpha & Zordon absent. Billy ventures to the darkened building alone, and manages to discover a hidden room through a veil of pure white light. It is there, that he witnesses Alpha & Zordon creating a new Power Ranger! Meanwhile, Bulk & Skull recover a strange golden object, after it crashlands in the park. It turns out to be Rita's mini Space Dumpster! They think it holds the key to unlocking the Power Rangers' identities, and set out to break it open, which is easier said than done.

Wr Shuki Levy, Shell Danielson

Dir Jonathan Tzachor

2 - 4 TWO FOR ONE

Kim & Tommy go on a date in Angel Grove Park. Kim brings the same purse with her that her mom brought on her first date with Kim's dad. Everything goes fine, until a platoon of Putties attack, and steal the purse. Lord Zedd turns it into the Pursehead monster, and uses a tube of lipstick from within said purse to create the Lipsyncher monster. The White Ranger & Saba take on Pursehead, while Pink & the other Power Rangers confront Lipsyncher.

Wr Douglas Sloan

Dir Jerry P. Jacobs

2 - 5 OPPOSITES ATTRACT

A centennial magnetic storm is brewing. Billy plans on monitoring it from a scientific perspective. Kim, and her pal Laura, take a troop of Girl Scouts into the woods. Laura, despite her 'beauty', turns out to be quite smart, and flirts with Billy somewhat. Lord Zedd sends down Goldar & the Putties to disrupt Billy's experiment. Swiping his magnetic monitoring device, Zedd turns it into the evil Magnetbrain monster. He wrecks havoc on the polarity of the city, sending chaos all around with repelling particles abound.

Wr Cheryl Saban

Dir Jerry P. Jacobs

2 - 6 ZEDD'S MONSTER MASH

It's Halloween, and the Ranger Teens are helping out at the Youth Center. Tommy escorts a group of kiddies dressed like Rangers out to trick-or-treating, only to have them turn out to be Putties. He's no match for them, and ends up sucked into the Dark Dimension. There, facing a Tombstone monster, Tommy is alone against a graveyard filled with formally-destroyed monsters!

Wr Cheryl Saban

Dir Jerry P. Jacobs

2 - 7 THE NINJA ENCOUNTER (1-3)

A fun-filled day at the park nearly turns to tragedy, when a runaway baby carriage speeds off alone the hilly sidewalks and open lawn with nobody able to stop it! Kim, Billy, and Tommy give chase. Three teens from Stone Canyon high school, Rocky, Aisha, and Adam (students of the baby Jacob's father, Mr. Anderson), also follow, with the help of their rollerblades and fancy martial arts moves. Both Kim & Aisha halt the runaway carriage just before it can plummet over the side of a steep hill. The six teens become fast friends. Later, at a Ninja Championship tournament at the Youth Center, the winning trio of white-suited ninjas turn out, to the Rangers Teens' surprise, to be their newfound friends! Lord Zedd, wanting to turn these skilled champions into his evil warriors, has Goldar & the Putties kidnap them. They also take Mr. Anderson, which leaves baby Jacob in the hands of some unlikely babysitters: Bulk & Skull! Rocky, Aisha, Adam, and Mr. Anderson, chained in a cave, await transformation to evil, as the Rangers remain baffled as to where they went.

Wr Shuki Levy, Shell Danielson

Dir Shuki Levy

2 - 8 A MONSTER OF GLOBAL PROPORTIONS

Representatives from all over the world come to Angel Grove for the World Teen Summit. Billy, of course, is the ambassador for the USA. Lord Zedd has the ambassadors kidnapped, and ransomed for the Power Coins. The Rangers hand a box of them over to Goldar: gold-foil chocolate Power Coins. The ambassadors are rescued, thanks to the help of Aisha, Adam, and Rocky. A four-headed statue made for the World Teen Summit is turned into a Four-Headed Monster. To aid the Thunderzords in combating it, Tor, the Shuttlezord, is unvieled, helping to create the Thunder Ultrazord, which squashes Four-Head, literally.

Wr Douglas Sloan

Dir Jerry P. Jacobs

2 - 9 ZEDD WAVES

Rocky, Aisha, and Adam compete in a triathlon. Lord Zedd sends down the Beamcaster monster, who places the citizens of Angel Grove under a spell to worship his evil alien master. It'll take some alteration of signals, and some help by those three new guys, to cancel Beamcaster's transmission for good.

Wr Mark Litton

Dir Jerry P. Jacobs

2 - 10 THE POWER TRANSFER (1-2)

Jason, Zack, and Trini are chosen for the World Peace Conference in Switzerland. This means the Power Rangers are going to need a trio of replacements. But first, in order to transfer the powers to anyone else, our six heroes must travel across the galaxy, to a place called the Deserted Planet. There, they attempt to locate the fabled Sword Of Light. The Rangers aren't alone on the Deserted Planet, as Lord Zedd & Goldar have followed in their very own, massive evil Zord, called Serpentera. So big, it not only can crush the Red Dragon Thunderzord & Tor the Shuttlezord in one of its clawed feet, but it does just that! Back on Earth, to prevent Zordon from choosing any replacements, Baboo & Squatt activate the Sleep Machine, which knocks out most of Angel Grove. Rocky, Adam, and Aisha (having recently transferred to Angel Grove High School from Stone Canyon for reasons never disclosed) are spared, and try to destroy the machine, only to end up captured by Putties. Elsewhere, just when the Power Rangers locate the Sword Of Light, Zedd fires Serpentera's laser-breath, thus obliterating most of the Deserted Planet.

Wr Judd Lynn

Dir Jonathan Tzachor

2 - 11 THE WANNA-BE RANGER

Due to a rare alignment of planets, Zordon has to de-ionize for a brief period. Lord Zedd exploits this by creating the Primator monster out of a white gorilla suit of Zack's. Primator can transform himself into an exact double of anyone, and uses that ability to confuse the Rangers by mimicking them. Meanwhile, Alpha 5 teleports out of the Command Center for a day, and winds up activating his self-destruct sequence when confronted by the monster.

Wr Ellen Levy Sarnoff, Danny Sarnoff

Dir John Stewart

2 - 12 PUTTY ON THE BRAIN

Lord Zedd zaps a pair of special sunglasses Billy's invented. When he & Zack put them on, they're placed under a spell where they think their teammates are Putty Patrollers! If that wasn't bad enough, the fire-breathing Saliguana monster is created.

Wr Mark Litton

Dir John Stewart

2 - 13 BLOOM OF DOOM

The Youth Center hosts a sign-up session for various after-school clubs. Predictably, each of the Ranger teens has their own club. Kim's gardening club proves unpopular, getting no one to sign up. Lord Zedd puts Kim under a spell, causing her to become violently jealous of Trini for having a successful club. He then sends down the Bloom Of Doom, but can Kim overcome her bitterness, alien-inflicted and otherwise, to work together to defeat it?

Wr Cheryl Saban

Dir John Stewart

2 - 14 THE GREEN DREAM

Tommy keeps having the same depressing dream lately, where he loses his powers in the middle of battle. Lord Zedd creates the Robo-Goat monster, and uses him to capture Tommy and turn him evil again! The possessed Tommy tricks his teammates into summoning the powerful Sword Of Power, and turns it over to Robo-Goat. The Rangers attempt to regain it, while Tommy, released from evil, finds his Green Ranger powers are running dangerously low (to the point he can't even summon the Dragonzord.)

Wr Stewart St. John

Dir John Stewart

2 - 15 THE POWER STEALER

The Ranger teens head yet another clean-up drive in Angel Grove Park. Lord Zedd sends down the Octophantom monster, who siphons off most of Tommy's Green Ranger powers. He also captures a couple of the Rangers, leaving only Billy & Jason to free their friends and defeat Octophantom via his only weakness: his vanity.

Wr Tony Oliver, Barbara A. Oliver

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

2 - 16 THE BEATLE INVASION

Inspired by the Ranger Teens' Broom-ball competition with Stone Canyon, Lord Zedd creates the Stag Beetle monster from the rival team's poster. The Stag Beetle briefly absorbs some of Tommy's waning Green Ranger powers, as expected.

Wr Mark Hoffmeier

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

2 - 17 WELCOME TO VENUS ISLAND

A day at the beach for Tommy, Kimberly, Trini & Trini's young neighbor Hallie is interrupted by Goldar & the Putties. Goldar kidnaps the young girl, and holds her for ransom on Lord Zedd's mystical Venus Island. The Rangers must race against the clock to get to Venus Island before it vanishes. Unfortunately, Zedd has the Invenusable Flytrap monster guarding the way.

Wr Judd Lynn

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

2 - 18 THE SONGS OF GUITARDO

The Ranger Teens go on a picnic in the park. Lord Zedd turns a cicada into the Guitardo monster, who steals Kimberly's acoustic guitar. With it, he's able to put the Power Rangers under a trance via an evil song spell. Kim and a nearly powerless Tommy are the only ones left to stop the music.

Wr Shuki Levy, Shell Danielson

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

2 - 19 GREEN NO MORE (1-2)

Tommy & Kim witness a transmission from the future, featuring Tommy, powerless during a major battle. This heralds the results of Zordon & Alpha's tests, which reveal that he only has enough Green Ranger energies for one last battle. Meanwhile, five grim bullies show up at Angel Grove High. They're polar opposites of our heroes, right down to matching colored clothing! Lord Zedd plans to forcibly make them his Dark Rangers. He has the five bullies captured, and sends the Turbanshell monster (a conkshell with worm creature) down to attack the Power Rangers. Tommy's dwindling Green Ranger powers are siphoned off by Zedd's Green Crystal, with which he will not only destroy Zordon, but power his Dark Rangers. Tommy ends up trapped in another dimension, totally Ranger-powerless, and facing Goldar alone.

Wr Stewart St. John

Dir John Stewart

2 - 20 MISSING GREEN

Jason, still feeling guilty over failing to get the Green Candle which resulted in Tommy losing his Green Ranger Powers, is depressed. He's having trouble focusing on a karate tournament, especially. The other four Ranger Teens decide to cheer him up, by going in search of Tommy, whom they believe to be at his uncle's cabin. On the way there, Goldar kidnaps the four, and creates Pink, Yellow, Blue & Black Candles, with which to drain their Ranger powers! The Red Ranger fights alone against a swarm of Putties, Goldar, and the Pipebrain Monster (made from the tournament trophy) to save his teammates. This time around, he's able to stop the candles from burning out. Feeling better, thanks to that and a brief transmission from Tommy, Jason wins the tournament.

Wr Ellen Levy Sarnoff, Danny Sarnoff

Dir John Stewart

2 - 21 ORCHESTRAL MANEUVERS IN THE PARK

There's going to be a jazz concert at the Youth Center! Curtis wants to play his & Zack's uncle's famous trumpet. It ends up getting stolen and turned into the Trumpet Top monster. His musical blasts cause the Power Rangers to hallucinate, making them think they're fighting monsters they've already defeated (including Stag Beetle, Grumble Bee, Praying Mantis, Lizzinator, Slippery Shark, Fighting Flea, and more).

Wr Douglas Sloan

Dir Jerry P. Jacobs

2 - 22 GOLDAR'S VICE-VERSA

There's an upcoming Vice-Versa dance at Angel Grove High School, where the girls ask the guys. For instance, Laura (from "Opposites Attract") asks out Billy. Two very familiar female punks target Bulk & Skull (the large girl wants Skull and the skinny one wants Bulk, of course), who flee desperately from them as they continue their search for the Power Rangers' true identities. A new karate-experty, dark haired, and mysterious girl named Sabrina shows up at the Youth Center, catching the eye of Adam. She essentially throws herself at him, angering his pal Aisha, who had been trying to get her dateless Ranger teammate a date for the dance with someone else. Long story short, it turns out Sabrina is actually Scorpina in disguise! She & Goldar ambush Adam & Aisha, which leads into a Thunderzord battle when the evil alien couple grow large. Scorpina & Goldar retreat before getting taken out by the Thunder Ultrazord. At the dance, Adam finally gets a date, and Bulk & Skull are tricked into dancing with their mothers... err, the female punks.

Wr Douglas Sloan

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

2 - 23 MIRROR OF REGRET

One of the students in Adam's kiddie karate class gets picked on by the others for being smaller, and being unable to perform the moves with perfect success. This brings back a flood of bad childhood memories for Adam, who recalls being treated the same way when he was young and trying to play soccer. Lord Zedd is inspired, and sends Goldar down with the Mirror Of Regret. Putties capture Adam, and he's forced to watch as his worst childhood memories are replayed before him. It's an attempt to crush his already wavering self-esteem, but when an image of his scrawny karate student practicing hard and perfectly executing some moves he had trouble with, the plan backfires. Adam shrugs off Goldar's plan, and destroys the Mirror. Also, Zedd sounds down the Skelerena monster, half skeleton & half hyena, to fight our Ranger heroes. With the help of Alpha's newly completed Power Cannon, Skelerena is disposed of. Later, Adam's student wins the respect of the fat, ugly, insecure bullies that were picking on him earlier.

Wr Cheryl Saban

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

2 - 24 SCAVENGER HUNT

There's a Scavenger Hunt going on in Angel Grove. The Ranger teens split up into two groups (Adam, Kimberly & Tommy in one team, and Aisha, Billy & Rocky in the other). They scour the city searching for items that are the answers to various riddle-clues. One of which is a toy cannon that once belonged to Billy's little cousin. Zedd turns it into the Cannontop Monster, and plans to have the creature blast the Rangers into the Lost Dimension. Our heroes stop Cannontop, and still manage to win the Scavenger Hunt, with a little biased help by Ernie.

Wr Stewart St. John

Dir John Stewart

2 - 25 WHERE THERE'S SMOKE, THERE'S FIRE

It's "Fire Safety Week" at Angel Grove High. Aisha is appointed Fire Safety Captain. She takes the job seriously... overly seriously, in fact. She cites Ernie for numerous fire-hazard violations, and just plain lets the job go to her head. When Lord Zedd creates the Flamehead Monster, Aisha tries to take it on by herself, and fails. She learns a valuable lesson from all of this, and the day is saved, I assure you.

Wr Jerry P. Jacobs

Dir John Stewart

2 - 26 THE GREYK BOOKALA ESCAPE

An intergalactic traveller from the planet called Bookala, of a race of the same name, lands in Angel Grove Park. His tiny spaceship is powered by a special diamond, which, if Lord Zedd can steal it, can be used to power the always-drained Serpentera permanently. The Power Rangers get involved, beat the Weldo monster, and aid Bookala in escaping back into outer space. Zedd turns the "decoy toy Bookala" into an evil Bookala, which our heroes also destroy. In gratitude, the magical real Bookala makes it snow in Angel Grove.

Wr Judd Lynn

Dir John Stewart

2 - 27 WHEN IS A RANGER, NOT A RANGER

Adam brings a kaleidoscope to school, explaining how light is broken down into many pieces and such. Lord Zedd is inspired, and sends Goldar down to steal it from him. The kaleidoscope is used to create the Scatterbrain monster. His 'brain-scattering' powers are used on Billy, Tommy, and Kimberly. They gain total amnesia, unable to remember who they are. Rocky, Adam, & Aisha attempt to restore their memories using prisms, but they too fall victim to Scatterbrain's attack. Bulk & Skull witness these events, and discover what they sought most: the true identities of the Power Rangers. But will they risk their knowledge of these facts to save the Rangers, and ultimately the world?

Wr Judd Lynn

Dir Jonathan Tzachor

2 - 28 ROCKY JUST WANTS TO HAVE FUN

Ernie gets a new pachinko machine and Rocky wants to try it. However, as usual, Lord Zedd is inspired by the events of the moment, and not only sends down an enemy called Pachinko Head, but he also places a spell on Rocky, where all he wants to do is have fun, and in the process, neglects his karate student. Pachinkohead turns all of the Rangers, except Tommy, into bowling ball sized Pachinko balls. Rocky, on the other hand, after yelling at Zordon, i.e. "Why should I listen to you?" is busy playing on the jungle gym. Tommy manages to distract PachinkoHead long enough using a frisbee to get the transformed teammates back to the Command Center. Alpha successfully turns them back into humans, breaking the spell on Rocky in the process. They then defeated Pachinko Head and Rocky returned to teaching his student.

Wr Mark Hoffmeier

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

2 - 29 FOREVER FRIENDS

A gymnastics competition is coming up for Kimberly, and one of her competitors is a girl from Stone Canyon, named Shawna. She just happens to be Aisha's former best friend, and is quite jealous of the relationship between Aisha & Kim. As a triangle of spite forms between them, the guys spent time working in Woodshop. Lord Zedd is, as always, inspired by their actions, and creates the Jaws Of Destruction monster out of a saw. The girls get captured, Kim & Shawna bond over the fact they're both children of divorced parents, and end up tying each other in the competition.

Wr Cheryl Saban

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

2 - 30 RANGERS BACK IN TIME (1-2)

Ms. Appleby assigns the class to bring in pictures of themselves when they were younger. Lord Zedd has a very complicated plan in mind, inspired by this trip down memory lane. Using the Rock Of Time, he reverses the Earth's rotation, causing everyone on the planet to revert in age by about 10 years! This includes the Ranger Teens, who instantly become Elementary Schoolers (attending 2nd grade in the High School, but ignore that). They have no memory of ever being Rangers, but luckily, Alpha 5 & Zordon do. They work on a plan to return time to normal, but while they do that, Zedd sends down his Putties to attack the Powerless Kids. Despite their lack of experience in fighting, the six kids, plus younger Bulk & Skull, take out the Putties once they discover how to aim for the 'Z'. Zedd creates the Photomare monster out of a Polaroid camera. She snaps a shot of the Powerless Kids, imprisoning them inside the picture!

Wr Shuki Levy, Shell Danielson

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

2 - 31 THE WEDDING (1-3)

Lord Zedd has to take his centennial slumber, where he naps for a few weeks once every hundred years. Given this time off, the Ranger Teens, along with Bulk & Skull, go on a school-based vacation in Australia. Little does ANY of them realize, that Rita Repulsa has managed to steer her Space Dumpster back to the moon. She crash lands, sneaks into the Lunar Palace, meets up with her still-loyal servant

Finster, and gets restored to her normal height. Rita uses Finster's love potion on Zedd while he sleeps. By the time he wakes up, she's been given a make-over to make her face younger ("I don't look a day over 1000!", she claims). Lord Zedd instantly falls in love with her, as expected. He plans a major wedding, which is exactly what she'd hope would happen, wanting to share his power, then eventually betray him when he least expects it. On Earth, Alpha leaves the Command Center for a relaxing stroll. Finster teleports down, and inserts a virus into his system! Alpha goes haywire, acting cruel and evil. He silences Zordon, and tricks the Rangers, still Down Under, to go to an abandoned theater. They do as ordered, but upon teleporting in, they discover that not only can they not teleport out, but the theater's filled with an army of previously destroyed monsters!

Wr Shuki Levy, Shell Danielson

Dir Shuki Levy

2 - 32 RETURN OF THE GREEN RANGER (1-3)

The Ranger teens get a high school assignment for their three-day weekend: what period of history would they like to have lived in? This inspires Zedd & Rita... or at least Rita, who consults her evil deity and old pal, the Ghost of Darkness. She's told that by removing the Rangers from their leader, Tommy, she will finally be able to attain victory. Rita summons the Wizard of Deception, who sends the teens back in time, leaving Tommy alone and vulnerable in the present. The Wizard then uses a piece of Tommy's hair to create a clone of him... with the powers of the Green Ranger! Only THIS Green Ranger is completely dedicated to the pursuit of evil. Billy, Kimberly, Aisha, Rocky, and Adam find themselves in Angel Grove, California... during the British Colonial days (circa the late 1700s)! They're chased down by redcoats, who believe them to be witches. Back in the present, Tommy, groggy from the Putty battle that resulted in his hair being clipped, meets his evil clone.

Wr Shuki Levy

Dir Shuki Levy

2 - 33 I CAME, I SAW, I ALMOST CONQUERED

2 - 34 A REAL FISH STORY

Rocky is working as a lifeguard at Angel Grove Lake. One of the young kids he's watching over, named Dougie, is afraid of going out for a swim, thinking monsters inhabit the waters. Lord Zedd, you guessed it, is inspired, and recreates some of his (and Rita's) more sinister water-based monsters. Slippery Shark, Piranhtishead, Toxic Goo-fish, and Commander Crayfish are reborn to wreak havoc. Billy & Aisha help Rocky out against the school of baddies, but the other three Ranger Teens are currently out scuba-diving! Even if the Rangers manage to defeat these monsters again, can they stop Zedd's newest creation, Tube Monster, the white & blue stripped innertube-based monstrosity? And can Dougie overcome his fears to save Bulk & Skull's lives?

Wr Douglas Sloan, Ellen Levy Sarnoff

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

2 - 35 LIGHTS, CAMERA, ACTION

The Power Rangers are scheduled to appear on "The Harvey Garvey Show", a local talk show, broadcast nationally. Despite how they're going to be morphed during it, Adam is a bit weary of being in front of the camera. Lord Zedd monitors this, and, as expected, is inspired to turn a studio camera into the Showbiz Monster. After showing some clips from previous episodes, the Rangers depart the talk show to go save the city, and narrowly avoid having their helmets yanked off by Bulk & Skull on live TV.

Wr Ellen Levy Sarnoff, Danny Sarnoff

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

2 - 36 BEST MAN FOR THE JOB

It's time to elect a new school president at Angel Grove High. Tommy runs, with Billy as his manager. Kimberly decides to run as well, with Aisha as her manager. The boyfriend & girlfriend opponents promise a fair race. Unfortunately, Rita Repulsa casts a spell on them, turning them into bitter rivals. This furious feud between White & Pink Rangers, which goes beyond the presidential race, leads to Goldar capturing Saba from Tommy's belt! He gives the sentient enchanted saber to Rita, who uses it to summon the White Tigerzord. Zordon & Alpha devise a rosy solution to break the spell on Kim & Tommy. Just in time, as the Thunder Megazord is needed to fight the evil White Tigerzord! During the battle, White Ranger is able to steal Saba back, and regain control of the Tigerzord. Long story short, Kimberly wins the election.

Wr Mark Hoffmeier

Dir John Blizek

2 - 37 STORYBOOK RANGERS (1-2)

Angel Grove High is sponsoring a book fair. Books of interest for everyone. One such book, a fairytale called "Grumble The Magic Elf", gains the attention of Kimberly, who remembers it from her childhood. Lord Zedd & Rita Repulsa use their magics to zap Kim, Tommy & Rocky INTO the storybook. Inside, they meet the title character, a Mr. Tinklesneezer looklike in a Santa Suit. He had a spell cast on him to make him grumpy, and has to deliver a cart of toys to some children to have the spell removed. Zedd & Rita also zap in some Putties, who steal the toys, making sure the story never ends, and ensures the three Ranger Teens remain trapped there forever. If that wasn't bad enough, they run into an evil snowman, who buries them in an avalanche.

Wr Douglas Sloan, Cheryl Saban

Dir John Blizek

2 - 38 WILD WEST RANGERS (1-2)

Tommy gives Kimberly a cactus as a present. Lord Zedd & Rita Repulsa steal it, and turn it into the Needlenose monster. Confused by the cactus' disappearance, the six Ranger Teens teleport from the Youth Center's hallway to the Command Center... all except Kimberly. She's accidentally sucked into a tear in the fabric of time, known as a Time Hole! Kim ends up in Angel Grove, circa 1880. There, she witnesses Bulk & Skull's ancestors, a pair of bandits known as One-Eyed Bulk & Doc Skullovitch, robbing a stagecoach. Tommy's ancestor, a man in a white cowboy suit on a white horse, known as the White Stranger, saves the day. Kim ends up in Ernest's Juice Saloon, where she meets Rocky's ancestor Rocko, Adam's ancestor Abraham, Aisha's ancestor Miss Alisha, and Billy's ancestor William. In the present, Zedd sends Goldar, Needlenose, and some Putties through the Time Hole, despite the protests of the remaining Power Rangers. The Time Hole closes, leaving our heroes hopeless to recover Kimberly. In old west Angel Grove, the evil space aliens wreck havoc on the town.

Wr Mark Litton

Dir Armand Garabidian

2 - 39 BLUE RANGER GONE BAD

In art class, a girl named Violet has a major obsessive crush on Billy. She even makes a statue of him! Rita & Zedd send Goldar, Baboo & Squatt down to turn it into a life-sized replica of the Blue Ranger. Except evil, as expected, the real Billy is captured and trapped in another dimension, while his evil twin steals the other Ranger Teens' morphers. Eventually, real Billy escapes from his prison, and confronts his evil twin, Two Blue Rangers at once creates quite confusion among the others! Eventually, the evil one is destroyed. Rita & Zedd turn Tommy's failed art project into a monster called Vase Face.

Wr Judd Lynn

Dir John Blizek

3 - 1 A FRIEND IN NEED (1-3)

Alpha 5 is depressed. He receives a distress signal from his creator, King Lexian, deposed ruler of the peaceful planet called Edenoi. Edenoi has been taken over by the evil Count Dregon and his minions. As a favor to Alpha, the Power Rangers take a trip to Edenoi (sans Kimberly, who is currently bed-ridden with the flu). Once there, they bump into Dregon's Plague Patrol. If that wasn't bad enough, the rebels fighting against Dregon's forces think the Rangers are bad guys! The rebels are led by a superpowered bug-armored warrior called the Masked Rider. This misunderstanding doesn't last long, but between Dregon's forces and Edenoi's instability due to all of the poison gas mining, nobody is safe.

Wr Shuki Levy, Shell Danielson

Dir Worth Keeter

3 - 2 NINJA QUEST (1-4)

Rito Revolto, a skeleton soldier with a raspy voice, lands on the moon. He's Rita Repulsa's younger brother, and he's brought with him several evil eggs, as wedding presents for his sister & Lord Zedd (whom he calls "Ed" often). While waiting for them to hatch, Rito is given an army of Finster's 'finest' remade monsters: Octophantom, Fighting Flea, Stag Beetle, and the Lizzinator. Rito Revolto takes these monsters to Angel Grove, where they fight the Power Rangers, and after growing, eventually destroy both the Thunder Megazord & White Tigerzord! The backlash of power in the morphin grid severely damages the Command Center, and essentially destroys the Rangers' current powers. Also in this episode: Ernie opens an outdoor cafe. Also, inspired by so many womens' love for men in uniform, Bulk & Skull announce their intentions to join the Angel Grove Junior Police Patrol, shocking everyone.

Wr Shuki Levy, Shell Danielson

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

3 - 3 A BRUSH WITH DESTINY

The gang discover that Kimberly's mother is moving to Paris with her new boyfriend who is a French painter. As Kimberly becomes ill with worry of what is going to happen to the power team when she departs she starts to have nightmares about a monster called Artismole (who happens to be a French painter!) Rita and Zedd take advantage of this and have Finster steal the monster from Kimberly's dream and uses it against the Rangers, the only one who can stop it is Kimberly.

Wr Gilles Wheeler

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

3 - 4 PASSING THE LANTERN

Adam attempts to learn more of his heritage when given his family's ancient lantern. Zedd & Rita plan to turn it into a monster, though Lanterra is accidentally created from a different one altogether. The Rangers defeat the monster, and Bulk & Skull's keen policing skills assist in recovering Adam's lantern safely.

Wr Kati Rocky

Dir Armand Garabidian

3 - 5 WIZARD FOR A DAY

Rocky finds himself wearing big shoes when he trades places with the strict Science Teacher, Mr. Wilton, as part of the school's new "Teacher for a Day" Project. Meanwhile, inspired by this unusual new project, Rito boasts that he can deal with the rangers if he were made emperor of evil for a day, an amused Lord Zedd officially gives him command of the Tengas, Rito puts a diabolical plan into motion that involves hitting the rangers on a personal level.... Rocky and Mr. Wilton are having trouble fitting into their roles, Rocky as a tutor, and Mr. Wilton as the world's only 45 year-old teen adolescent, the two bond over their difficulties and offer to help one another out, when Rito and the Tengas attack, Rito captures Mr. Wilton and transforms him into the evil Marvo The Meanie.

Wr Mark Hoffmeier

Dir Armand Garabidian

3 - 6 FOURTH DOWN AND LONG

Rocky's Uncle Joe, a well-known Quarterback, is going to speak to the Angel Grove Football team prior to their latest battle with arch-enemies Stone Canyon. A young boy called Alan, who wants to play for the team, finds himself in serious trouble when it is revealed he has problems reading, and causes several slip ups in his Chemistry Class, unless he improves, Mr. Wilton will see that he cannot play for the Angel Grove team INDEFINITELY. Rocky volunteers to help Alan study, Wilton agrees. Meanwhile, Lord Zedd and Rita create the Centiback monster, a creature made of a Centipede and the skills of a star player..none of course come from a canadian football player, Rocky encourages Alan in their study sessions by claiming that his Uncle also had the same kind of problems Alan had, the Centiback monster attacks the playing field, and starts transforming many of his victims into footballs, the Rangers arrive to stop him, but have to battle some Tengas before they can take out the Football Fiend. The Rangers play an evil football-style game with the Tengas and Centiback, by the game's end, the Rangers are transformed into Footballs courtesy of a Football-shaped beam fired by the Centiback, only Rocky survives. Rocky retreats to the Command Center, Rocky realizes he must turn the Centiback's beam's powers backwards to restore the Rangers to normal, he does so, but Centiback is turned giant by Zedd and Rita, the Ninja Megafalconzord kicks his butt. Alan is diagnosed with dyslexia and will get the proper tutoring on how to deal with the problem, allowing him to stay on the Football team and improve on his grades.

Wr Mark Litton

Dir Armand Garabidian

3 - 7 STOP THE HATE MONSTER (1-2)

Aisha is excited about getting into a popular club but when she goes to check the list of the people who got in she doesn't see her name on the list. When Kimberly confronts the leader of the club "Veronica" she tells Kimberly that the club will only allow teens who have rich families. Kimberly quits the club. This gives Zedd and Rita a new plan for a monster. They create The Hate Master who turns Kimberly, Tommy, Adam Billy, and Rocky against each other leaving Zordon and Alpha to find out why Aisha isn't affected.

Wr Stewart St. John

Dir Robert Radler

3 - 8 FINAL FACE-OFF

Lord Zedd and Rita bring a legend to terrifying reality when they release the Face Stealer monster from his 5,000 year slumber, he begins stealing the faces of the Angel Grove citizens..and even some of the Rangers, can our heroes literally save face and defeat this new threat?

Wr Douglas Sloan

Dir Armand Garabidian

3 - 9 THE POTION MOTION

Goldar, in an attempt to eliminate the effects of Rita's love potion on Lord Zedd for good, convinces Finster to create an antidote, meanwhile, the cupid-style "Miss Cheif" Monster causes a few broken hearts as she casts her own love spell across Angel Grove High

Wr Jackie Marchand

Dir Robert Radler

3 - 10 A RANGER CATASTROPHE (1-2)

Aisha is currently assisting a doctor at an animal shelter. After finishing and meeting Kimberly, Aisha spots a lonely, white cat in the middle of the park, Rita Repulsa, who had been spying, reveals to Lord Zedd and their henchmen that the feline is all part of her latest ploy. Meanwhile, the white feline transforms into a young, blond, teenage girl. The girl works for Rita, While Tommy is anticipating Kimberly's arrival, he meets the girl whose name is Katherine or "Kat". He is somewhat charmed by her, like any man would be, and agrees to help her repair her car during the wait. He does so and is convinced to take the car for a ride. This is all going according to plan, as Rita has Zedd transport the car into another dimension. The Rangers are alerted at the Command Center and presented with Tommy's current whereabouts.

Wr Douglas Sloan

Dir Douglas Sloan

3 - 11 CHANGING OF THE ZORDS (1-3)

Rita orders Kat to steal the Power Coins but she only manages to get one and that is the Pink Power Coin. When Ninjor's Power Coins are in the hands of evil they begin to affect the owner of that coin and Kimberly begins to become weak as her life essence is part of the coins power. With Kim's power coin Kat gains entry to the Falcon Zord whilst Tommy and Ninjor are fighting a giant Goldar. She knocks him out and throws him down to the ground. To make things worse Goldar defeats Ninjor in the battle and Lord Zedd captures both him and the Falcon Zord. Can the Rangers defeat the Evil Space Aliens without the Falcon Zord, Ninjor and Kimberly?

Wr Stewart St. John

Dir Jonathan Tzachor

3 - 12 FOLLOW THAT CAB!

Kimberly learns that a famous gymnast coach will be in town looking for athletes for his gymnastic team. Kat informs Rita of what just happened to Kimberly. So she & Zedd make up a monster called Crabby Cabby. While on patrol, Bulk & Skull help out a dude who locked his car keys inside. When he gets in the car & drives off fast, Kimberly tells those two that he was a carjacker & stole her car! Bulk & Skull hail a taxi, have the cab driver out of his taxi while Kimberly, Bulk & Skull chase after the carjacker, then during the chase, Rita & Zedd turn that cab into Crabby Cabby & hold the three hostage. Zordon informs the gang that Kimberly, Bulk & Skull are trapped in Crabby Cabby. So Alpha surprises them with their own cool Shark Cycles, the Rangers are on their Shark Cycles chasing after Crabby Cabby. After a long chase, Rita & Zedd make that monster grow! The Rangers then switch to their Zords, and at the right moment, free Kimberly, Bulk & Skull out of Crabby Cabby, then destroy it! Back at the Juice Bar, Kimberly's a little disappointed that she won't meet that gym coach. But to her surprise, she hears her car horn! Bulk & Skull actually do something right by capturing the carjacker & recovering Kimberly's car!

Wr Shuki Levy, Shell Danielson

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

3 - 13 A DIFFERENT SHADE OF PINK (1-3)

Kimberly meets Gunthar Schmidt, the famous gymnastics coach, who offers to train her personally for the Pan Global Games. Rita Repulsa, however, decides to ruin her chances by sending divided monster attacks to occupy and tire her out. Rita's plan succeeds, but leads to Katherine, her feline spy, to breaking her spell. She rescues Kimberly when she finds her unconscious on the gym mat.

Wr Douglas Sloan

Dir Robert Radler

3 - 14 RITA'S PITA

Rita creates a monster which infiltrates Tommy's body and gives the Ranger's leader an overwhelming desire to eat fast foods.

Wr Jackie Marchand

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

3 - 15 ANOTHER BRICK IN THE WALL

Katherine, with her usual activist personality, sets out to clean up an old lot and build a homeless shelter, recruiting all of her Ranger buddies to join her. Angry that Katherine had broken the spell, turning out to be a "goody-goody", Rita Repulsa teams with her brother, Rito Revolto, to ruin Katherine's project and deconstruct Angel Grove. After a few battles and the ruin of Katherine's day of work, four of the Rangers are entrapped by Rita's monster, the Brick Bully, but released by Alpha 5 and Zordon. Billy single handedly destroys Brick Bully, and Katherine receives special recognition for her work.

Wr Mark Hoffmeier

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

3 - 16 A CHIMP IN CHARGE

Lord Zedd and Rita transform Kelly, a monkey Kat is teaching to communicate with sign language, into the Sinister Simian, can the Rangers hope to defeat her without harming her?

Wr Douglas Sloan

Dir Terrence H. Winkless

3 - 17 MASTER VILE AND THE METALLIC ARMOR (1-3)

Rita and Rito's father, Master Vile, comes to the moon with a wicked scheme to destroy the Earth using an ancient power source known as the Zeo Crystal. To offset Vile's enhancing of the Tenga Warriors, the Power Rangers are given an upgrade of Metallic Armor.

Wr Mark Litton

Dir Robert Radler

3 - 18 I'M DREAMING OF A WHITE RANGER

Lord Zedd, determined to destroy the spirit of Christmas, hijacks Santa Clauses' workshop with hopes of sending children everywhere a device that will turn them evil...can the Rangers, without any powers, bring in the holiday season..and take out thier enemies?

Wr Ron Milbauer, Terri Hughes

Dir Douglas Sloan

3 - 19 THE SOUND OF DISCHORDIA

Katherine and Aisha work on thier entrant for a sing song competition to create a new theme for Angel Grove High's radio station, but the arrival of Dischoridia, another ally of Lord Zedds', ensures that Katherine and Aisha get down to a different beat when their bodies are taken over and forced to dance non-stop.

Wr Stewart St. John

Dir Marco Garibaldi

3 - 20 RANGERS IN REVERSE

It's Kat's birthday so the other Rangers take her to a surprise outing at a theme park. Whilst this is going on Master Vile sends Rito down with the Orb Of Doom. The Orb's power will make the Earth rotate backwards making everyone on the planet younger. The Rangers try to stop Rito but fail and they become young children. To make matters worse they are powerless. Rita, Zedd, Rito and Goldar make themselves grow and start rampaging through Angel Grove.

Wr Douglas Sloan

Dir Marco Garibaldi

3 - 21 ALIEN RANGER OF AQUITOR (1-2)

A giant Lord Zedd and his family reign blow upon blow to several buildings and Harbours and endangering lives at their leisure as they make their way to and through Angel Grove. But before they can destroy the city for good, Master Vile reduces them to their original size and lectures the evil team on nearly ruining his plans. Zedd insults Vile and he teleports them back to the Moon Palace, ending thier reign of terror for now, Vile announces that he is holding a Monster Conference, monsters from several planets will attend to destroy the Earth itself. Finally reunited with Zordon and Alpha, the Rangers ask if the Earth can be restored, Zordon says it is possible, but for now there are bigger concerns, Alpha suggests that Zordon summon the Alien Rangers from the Planet Aquitar to defend the Earth.

Wr Shuki Levy, Shell Danielson

Dir Vickie Bronaugh

3 - 22 CLIMB EVERY MOUNTAIN

At the Command Center, Billy is working on a device which, when powered by the Ranger's Power Coins, will reverse the effects of the Orb of Doom's time-alterations on whoever is bathed in it's energy, this will restore the Rangers to normalacy, meanwhile, at The Moon Palace, Lord Zedd and Rita, back in charge once more with the departure of Master Vile, scheme to defeat the Rangers for good, and the only way to do that is to destroy their Power Coins.

Wr Douglas Sloan

Dir Larry Kent Litton

3 - 23 THE ALIEN TRAP

At the park, Billy is working on a Hydro-Atmospheric Generator in hopes of duplicating the natural water of the Planet Aquitar, therefore allowing the Aquitian Rangers to remain on Earth without abandoning it for re-hydration purposes. The Aquitians, however, are already weakening, and Billy has to test out the Generator quickly, he and the kid Rangers help the Aquitians to the Angel Grove Lake. The Aquitians enter the lake, but suddenly, Goldar and Rito attack with the Barbaric Brothers, who contaminate the water, Rito then uses a remote control device to trap the Aquitians in a forcefield to prevent them escaping from the lake as it becomes awash in poison. The Kid Rangers are able to gain control of Rito's device by tricking him with a game of tag, with the Aquitians are released, and they defeat the Barbaric Brothers in a lengthy battle, when they grow, the Aquitians use the Battle Borgs and the Shogun Megazord. Lord Zedd is defeated for now, but with the Hydro-Atmospheric Generator destroyed earlier, the Aquitians are forced to return to Aquitar for a full re-hydration, leaving the Earth more vulnerable than ever...

Wr Stewart St. John

Dir Larry Kent Litton

3 - 24 ATTACK OF THE 60 FOOT BULK

The Kid Rangers decide to have some fun at the Angel Grove Splash City Water Park, but find their happiness spoiled by Bulk and Skull's mischievous pranks. Meanwhile, Rita and Lord Zedd send Rito and Goldar into the subterranean tunnels underneath the Command Centre, their goal is to set up an implosive device at the end of the tunnel which will reduce the structure to rubble, unfortunately, the two bumbling lose the map...and themselves Lord Zedd transforms Bulk into a monster, Brat Boy, and deploys him to attack the Rangers whilst the Aquitians are off-planet, when the Aquitians return, fully re-hydrated, they defeat Brat Boy, but he grows to an incredible size, the Aquitians battle him in the Battle Borgs. The Kid Rangers appeal to Brat Boy's human side, reminding him he DOES have friends (or at least one friend in Skull) Brat Boy resists Lord Zedd's mind control and returns to normal. Back at the Command Centre, Zordon tells the Rangers that the only way to restore their powers and the world to its present time is the Zeo Crystal, divided into different sub-sections across time, the Rangers must travel through the ages to locate each segment if they hope to defeat their enemies and save this world.

Wr Gilles Wheeler

Dir Paul Schrier

3 - 25 WATER ARE THINKING?

Billy and the Aquitians say goodbye to the Kid Rangers as they jump into a time hole to begin their search for the missing sub-sections of the Zeo Crystal. Cestro begins to weaken from lack of water, and the Aquitians communicate with local aquatic lifeforms to locate a source to replenish their comrade, whilst Lord Zedd calls in an old friend, Witchblade, to ambush Cestro whilst he is defenseless, he also generates a forcefield around the Earth to prevent the Aquitians from summoning the Battle Borgs from Aquitar.

Wr Jackie Marchand

Dir Paul Schrier

3 - 26 ALONG CAME A SPIDER

Billy seeks out a device he'll need to combine the Zeo Crystal sub-pieces, and ends up webbed-up by Arachnofiend. Meanwhile, Adam journeys to Korea at some point in the past in search of his Zeo Crystal, he seeks out an ancient wiseman known as Kai-Ogi for guidance, but all he runs into is oblivious people and a persistently annoying old man! Also, the Aquitians discover the joys of walking through a car wash.

Wr Steven Melching, Charlotte Fullerton

Dir Robert Radler

3 - 27 SOWING THE SEAS OF EVIL

Katherine and Tommy each try to retrieve their Zeo sub-crystals, Katherine's good heart is tested by people who look like future versions of herself, and Tommy learns of his Native American heritage from a wise old man called True of Heart, meanwhile, the Aquitians attempt to prevent Lord Zedd and Rita from summoning their sworn enemy, the Hydro Hog, to Earth.

Wr Stewart St. John

Dir Robert Radler

3 - 28 HOGDAY AFTERNOON (1-2)

Lord Zedd and Rita succeed in bringing the Hydro Hog to Earth, and the Aquitians are soon brought to their knees as he begins draining all the water on the Planet. Meanwhile, Aisha arrives in Africa searching for the final sub-segment of the Zeo Crystal, on this journey she meets a young girl called Tanya and learns of a crippling famine affecting the land.

Wr Shuki Levy, Shell Danielson

Dir Isaac Florentine

MIGHTY MOSHIN' EMO RANGERS

The Emo Rangers are a bunch of depressed teenagers who save the planet with help from special powers given to them by Captain Emohead. Mighty Moshin' Emo Rangers is a television show on MTV UK. The show is a parody of Mighty Morphin Power Rangers, and it also pokes fun at the Emo stereotype.

Mighty Moshin' Emo Rangers is a television show on MTV UK. The show is a parody of Mighty Morphin Power Rangers, and it also pokes fun at the Emo stereotype. Mighty Moshin' Emo Rangers is directed by Chris Phillips and Nick Pittom, who both live in Essex, England; sound design is by Dominic Sinacola who lives in Southampton.

Starting out as a fan-film project that was distributed on Youtube, Google Video and Myspace, the show was quickly picked up by MTV UK in 2006, and has also made its way to the US MTV.

Although a specific release date has yet to be announced, Chris and Nick have stated they wish to release a DVD of the show.

Background

The creators have given two versions for how the idea of the show came about.

1) One story suggests that in November of 2004, Chris was upset due to a breakup with his girlfriend. His friend Nick told him to "Quit being emo, you Emo Ranger!" to which Chris replied with "You Mighty Moshin' Emo Rangers!"

2) Another version comes from an interview with Chris; "I was sitting at my computer chatting to Pat from Dullshine (now of The Blood Roses). Pat sent me a picture of him dressed as a ninja leaping across a recording studio, and I said 'you look like an emo ranger'. I sat there for a few minutes and thought 'that sounds kind of funny' and then just heard in my head the term 'Mighty Moshin' Emo Ranger'. The more I thought about the name the more I was convinced there should be a show called Mighty Moshin' Emo Rangers, but there wasn't, which was annoying, 'cos I wanted to watch it." [4] However the story came about, using a Sony HDR-HC1 camcorder, Chris and Nick (who work as professional video editors) decided to film a low-budget Power Ranger parody based on the idea.

Due to the low budget (£100 GBP) of the show, most of it is filmed with Nick's camcorder and edited with Adobe After Effects on an old computer. The CGI was created in 3D Studio Max. The suits worn by the Emo Rangers in the first series are made of a black, skin-tight lycra, and the helmets and additional props are constructed out of papier-mâché. Additional voice dialogue was recorded at Mike Curtis Studios. Mike Curtis, the owner, is a member of the band Fei Comodo, who also provides the theme music for the shows. The actors recorded lines are then given to Dominic Sinacola, who also adds the sound FX. Dominic Sinacola also mixes down the rock soundtrack created by Fei Comodo, and then adds incidental scoring to stuff like the Evil Empress' Lair. [citation needed]

Before production began, Chris created a thread on the popular Power Ranger fan-forum Rangerboard. This thread was used by the crew to discuss and detail the production of the first episode, and some of the ideas that appeared in the final production originated in this forum thread.

Cast of Characters

The Emo Rangers

Ross: Introspective Emo Ranger (Played by Ross Fretten)

Ross is a young teenager who spends much of his time thinking about himself, his demise, the demise of the world and the surroundings (see existentialism). His Emo Ranger suit is black and white with a white emo hairstyle on the top, and has sagging pants. His Fightbot represents an emo teenager.

Based on information Chris posted onto Rangerboards.com during the development of the show, Ross is the leader of the Emo Rangers and will eventually gain a Battlizer mode. (The Introspective Emo Ranger is partly based on the White/Green Ranger Tommy Oliver of Mighty Morphin Power Rangers, and was originally intended to have a chest shield similar to the White/Green Ranger of that particular show).

It should also be noted that Ross defeated Funky Monkey without the aid of the other Rangers in the series second episode.

Vicken: Weeping Tears Emo Ranger (Played by Victoria Symes)

Vicken (or Vicky) is a depressed, pessimistic girl. She often cries at the smallest things. She also writes rubbish poetry. Her suit is black and yellow with the symbol of a teardrop. Her Fightbot resembles, in Chris' own words, a "yellow dragon/raptor/kangaroo."

John: Chronic Stoner Emo Ranger (Played by John Penn)

John is a confused drug user, and often pessimistic. His suit is black and green with a Cannabis leaf as the vizor. His Fightbot represents a bong.

Stef: Bleeding Heart Emo Ranger (Played by Stephanie Braithwaite)

Stef (short for Stephanie) is a pessimistic youth who got dumped by her boyfriend in front of the whole school. This filled her with anger which is the source of her power. Her Fightbot represents a bird.

Luke: Chaos Mohawk Emo Ranger (Played by Luke Markey)

A cynical, anticapitalist youth, his youthful movements in battle are one of his higher qualities. His suit is black and red and has an oversized mohawk haircut on the top. Luke hates the government, capitalism, and even his own mother. His Fightbot represents a robot with a mohawk.

Fai: FashionxCore Emo Ranger (Played by Fai Archer)

The only thing currently known about this emo ranger is that she is popular and trendy. Her suit is black and purple with a leopard skin top and over-gelled purple hairstyle. Her Fightbot is a carbon copy of the Mega Fightbot except with a purple motif and once again, a leopard skin jacket. In one of the mini-episodes, Fai hugs Luke and Luke winks at the camera, suggesting a possible relationship.

Unknown(Possibly John): StraightxEdge Emo Ranger

Not much is known about this Ranger except that his emo emblem is the "X" or cross commonly seen on the hands of members within the Straight Edge community. His primary color will be blue. It is also known that his Fightbot depicts a blue samurai. A promotional poster has recently been released on the official site that depicts John, the (possibly former) Chronic Stoner Emo Ranger, as the new StraightxEdge Emo Ranger.

Other Supporting Characters

Captain Emohead (Played by Richard Duval / Voiced by Marc Halls)

The mentor of the Emo Rangers and the one who granted them the powers they currently have. He is based on the character Zordon of Mighty Morphin' Power Rangers.

Evil Emperoress (Played by Kathryn Alder / Voice by Laura Bradley)

The arch enemy of the Emo Rangers. She has an aggressive attitude and a harsh outlook on life. She has the look of a young girl with wretched skin dressed in a Gothic style. She is loosely based on the character Rita Repulsa of Mighty Morphin' Power Rangers and even parodies the bad lip-synchronising of Rita. Also like Rita Repulsa, her base of operations is a castle on the Moon.

Colonel Crusher (Voiced by Chris Phillips)

A large robot who is the Emo Rangers' first enemy and the Evil Emperoress's bodyguard. When made to grow, he is taller than most office buildings and has a formidable arsenal of weapons, most noticeably the rotating blade on his right arm.

Hoodie Patrol

A group of the Evil Emperoress's henchmen. The faces of these villains are covered by the hoods of their sweatshirts. They are a parody of the Putty Patrol from Mighty Morphin' Power Rangers, even mimicking their mysterious voices in battle.

Funky Monkey (Played by Pat Willis/ Voiced by Chris Phillips)

Evil Emperoress' wacky humanoid punk monkey. Terrorized a local Chelmsford funfair and fought the Introspective Ranger until he was defeated.

MIK, MAK EN MON

WR. Dick Durver (Novel)

DIR. Paul Moreels

EPISODES: 23 YEAR MADE: 1986 COUNTRY: BEL SEASONS: 1

BELGISCHE RADIO EN TELEVISIE (BRT)

CREATOR: DICK DURVER

TYPE OF SHOW: COMEDY

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 0 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG:

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 15, (2) 8

DATE OF PREMIER: 07/10/1986 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 23/02/1988

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Professor Graf BERT ANDRE, GUIDO DE CRAENE, GOELE DERICK, KAREL DERUWE, RAYMOND JAMINE, Mon STEFAN DANHIEUZ, HARRY DE PUETER, Kolonel DAISY HAEGEMAN, KARLIJN SEILGEHEM, Mik DIMITRI VAN GOETHEM, Mak GRIGORI VAN GOETHEM, GRETA VAN LANGHENDOCK, Marcel LOUIS VERVOORT

MIKAZUKI

AKA: TETSUKOUKI MIKAZUKI

AKA: TEKKOKI MIKAZUKI

AKA: IRON ARMOR MACHINE MIKAZUKI

A series of strange events have begun to occur in Japan. Human thoughts are no longer confined to one's own mind, but rather can be manifested as living, conscious entities- belligerent, giant creatures called Edems.

In order to combat the Edems, the organization known as AIT has been formed. Launching into battle are the AIT Mission Specialists, equipped with powerful battle-suits and space age weapons and mecha. But with all their technology, they cannot hope to hold back the fierce tide of monsters being unleashed on their world, and can only look to the mysterious, towering figure known as Mikazuki for help.

Piloted by a young boy, Kazeo, Mikazuki will battle the Edems to bring peace. But can Kazeo withstand the responsibility of protecting his world? How can he, when he could not even keep his own father from disappearing from his side? What are the Edems? Why has Mikazuki appeared, and why did it choose this boy to pilot it? And what is the mysterious figure called Shingetsu, with power equal to Mikazuki's own? Humanity's battle against its own thoughts has begun! MIKAZUKI!

A giant robot show from former JETMAN collaborators Toshiki Inoue and Kieta Amemiya, Mikazuki's large budget shows in copious special effects, truly investing it with great potential. However, in a bizarre broadcasting experiment, the producers chose to show it in a monthly hour long episodes. Consequently, although it ran no longer than the average series of 13 25 minute episodes, it had little opportunity to build up a following, and soon lost viewers who forgot the previous episode's plot, or missed one episode and had to wait an extra month to find out what happened next. A similar scheduling experiment was tried in the same year with Figure 17: Tsubasa and Hikaru. The music was produced by HATAKE of Sharan Q. The 1st episode was shown as 90 minutes, and the rest as 60 minutes.

Director Keita Amemiya, whose past works include Moon Over Tao, Kamen Rider ZO, Kamen Rider J, Zeirum, and Jetman, does it again with the awesome self-produced, written, and directed series Mikazuki. Move over, Godzilla, because you may be losing your job to a giant watermelon.

Mikazuki is a very un-traditional series. The director created this series with complete control over every aspect, without pressure from any outside parties weighing down on his creative vision. While I would have loved to see a longer series, I think it accomplished everything it needed to, storywise, so elaborating further would be pointless. It also sets the series apart from the rest, especially seeing as how each episode is an hour long, allowing for a lot more build-up and detail for each singular story.

Unlike with Agito, where EVERYTHING is about mystery and complexity, I enjoyed Mikazuki more for the fact that it was just plain fun.

The special effects are easily some of the best I have EVER seen in any tokusatsu, period. The cities look very real for a tv series budget, and there are sequences that you would have thought of only seeing (done well) in a movie. When I first saw a shot of the camera yanking back through a broken window as the building flew through the air, crashing through the shielded arms of Mikazuki, I almost died with joy. The action sequences are truly a delight to see, but in a very different way from the typical martial arts style of Super Sentai or Kamen Rider. But, at the same time, there are still some very nice sequences involving the Mission Specialists in battle-suits, fighting human-sized enemies in a more traditional setting, and those fights do not disappoint. They even use a little wirework (flying), which I love. The bright and flashy effects enhance everything, from hand-to-hand to city-stomping, it's all done fantastically.

I don't want to give anything away, but the weird wind-up toy design of some of the mecha was off-putting at first, but eventually won me over, especially after I realized the little running gag of what happens to each mecha at the end of the episodes, and what will eventually happen at the end.

I find myself not wanting to give a lot of things away, as I think about the designs for the series. First, I'll say the AIT designs are a mixed bag for me. I liked the Red and Blue battle-suits, but the others looked odd, and I thought the holographic face-image was interesting, but ultimately got a little annoying and took me out of some of the scenes which were meant to be intense. And darnit, why didn't the female battle-suit appear in the first episode like everyone else?!?! The standard AIT uniforms were nicely designed, and I liked their little communicators (only used about once though), and they have one of the coolest looking methods of transformation into battle-suits I've ever seen.

Mikazuki's suit starts out annoying but, well, let's just say I start to like it more later. Shingetsu, which appears later, is BEAUTIFUL, and is a major butt-kicker, with easily my favorite giant mecha design of all time. Love it!

The storytelling is fun and flexible. We have cute comedic story, while still having some pretty dramatic character-moments. The main plot is nice as well, though I found it a bit confusing when I first watched it, simply because of the horrible subtitles I had to endure, but I got over it.

If you're a fan of the kind of tokusatsu that features plenty of animalistic giant monsters, city-stomping action, and great special effects and haven't seen Mikazuki yet, I don't know what you're waiting for. You'll never look at a watermelon the same way again. A-. MIKAZUKIIIIII!!!

WR. Toshiki Inoue

DIR. Keita Amemiya

EPISODES: 7 YEAR MADE: 2000 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

GRAPHICAL CORPORATION CROWN INC. / TOHO EIZO CO.

CREATOR: KEITA AMEMIYA & TOSHIKI INOUE

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 7

DATE OF PREMIER: 23/10/2000

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 24/03/2001

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Kazeo Isurgi YUTA KOCHI, JIRO HOTARUYUKI, SAORI HARA, SAKI TAKASAKI, TETSUYA SUGIMOTO, NAOMI AMAMIYA, Luna AKI HANO, YUKIJIRO HOTARU, TETSURO KOBAYASHI, Mikazuki (suitmation) KENPACHIRO SATSUMA, WAKANA YAMAZAKI, SAYAKA YOSHINO.

MIKE AND ANGELO

Long-running children's comedy drama series about a friendly and inventive, if over-eager, young alien living with an American family in England. Angelo started out as a mystery house guest, found by Mike King lurking in his wardrobe in the new house he and his mother, Rita, move into, and although Angelo could do all kinds of amazing tricks, such as talk to plants and dance on the ceiling, writers Lee Pressman and Grant Cathro admitted that they didn't actually decide the character was an alien until the second series. 'If anything he was an angel,' they said.

Mike and Angelo is the second longest running science fiction show in the world in terms of the number of seasons which have been made, the only show to last longer is DOCTOR WHO at 26 seasons. First shown in 1989, it began its eighth series in early 1997. Angelo underwent a transformation at the start of the third series, with Tim Whitnall taking over the role from Tyler Butterworth. The evelenth series of the show started on ITV in the UK on the 6th January 1999.

Also at the start of season 11, Michael Benz who had played Mike left the show, he was quickly put into the plot as going to America, and his replacemet was Mickey, a girl who lives next door, this of course meant that the series for the first time had no mike, making the title a look a little bit strange, but after 11 seasons you could have suspected some changes. Associate producer for the series was Lee Pressman, producer was Alan Horrox, script supervisor was Julia Hancock, designer for the series was David Bryan, music was created by Alan Coates and Kim Goody.

As season 12 started in the UK in January 2000, Mike was replaced for a third time with Michael Benz, who had played mike since season four, was replaced by Steven Gellar. Tim Whitnall (Also responsible for THE TELETUBBIES on the BBC) and Katy Murphy contiued their roles, but the character of Mickey and Daphine were phased out.

The cast has changed considerably over the years: the original Mike left (his character returned to America) but then returned (with a new actor). Then he left again and was replaced this time by a girl, Michaela. In series 12 a completely new Mike (Steven Geller) was introduced. Rita also left (replaced by Katy) and Angelo was played by two different actors.

Writers Pressman and Cathro have enjoyed a similarly durable ITV children's run with the light-dramas based on the character T-Bag - as in the series T-Bag Strikes Again (1986), T-Bag Bounces Back (1987), T-Bag And The Revenge Of The T-Set (1989), T-Bag And The Pearls Of Wisdom (1990), T-Bag And The Rings Of Olympus (1991), T-Bag And The Sunstones Of Montezuma (1992) and Take Off With T-Bag (1992). They also created the sitcom Cone Zone. With Alex Bartlette, Pressman wrote episodes of the children's light-drama show Snap.

WR. Lee Pressman, Grant Cathro, Alan Bartlette, James Stevenson, Ken Allen Jones.

DIR. Iain McClean, Neville Green, John Darnell.

EPISODES: 123 YEAR MADE: 1989 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 12

THAMES TELEVISION PRODUCTION /TETRA FILMS PRODUCTION FOR CARLTON TELEVISION (SEASONS 5-11)

CREATOR: LEE PRESSMAN, GRANT CATHRO

TYPE OF SHOW: COMEDY FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 10, (2) 10, (3) 13, (4) 10, (5) 10, (6) 10, (7) 10, (8) 10, (9) 10, (10) 10, (11) 10, (

DATE OF PREMIER: 16/03/1989 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 07/03/2000

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Mike King MATT WRIGHT (1-3), Mike King MICHAEL BENZ (4-11), Mike King STEVEN GELLER (12), Rita King SHELLY THOMPSON (1-6), Angelo TYLER BUTTERWORTH (1-3), Angelo TIM WITNALL (3-12), Mr Pinner JOHN LEVITT, Philippa ALESSIA GWYTHER, Katy KATY MURPHY (8-12), Zoe CANDACE HALLINAN (9,10), Sam KATIE PEARSON (7), Daphne ELIABETH ESTENSEN (11), Mickey GEMMA GREGORY (11)

- 5 - 1 NEW KID ON THE BLOCK
- 5 - 2 ROBOT RITA
- 5 - 3 PHANTOM ZONE
- 5 - 4 TUNNEL OF LOVE
- 5 - 5 MOUNTAINS OUT OF MOLEHILLS
- 5 - 6 PUTTING UP WITH PINNER
- 5 - 7 FLY ON THE WALL
- 5 - 8 BRETT'S LUCKY DAY
- 5 - 9 MR. PERFECT
- 5 - 10 HOMEWARD BOUND
- 6 - 1 LOVEBOAT
- 6 - 2 TRUST ME, I'M A DOCTOR
- 6 - 3 LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON
- 6 - 4 MODEL CHILD
- 6 - 5 UP TO MY NECK
- 6 - 7 BLAST FROM THE PAST
- 6 - 8 STUCK ON YOU
- 6 - 9 PINNER PLC
- 6 - 10 A WONDERFUL WIFE
- 7 - 1 MRS. SHORTFIRE
- 7 - 2 MAESTRO MIKE MOZART
- 7 - 3 BEAT IT, KID
- 7 - 4 LOVE IS BLIND
- 7 - 5 GHOST OF A CHANCE
- 7 - 6 IT'S A DOGS LIFE
- 7 - 7 ACTING UP A STORM
- 7 - 8 HAPPY FAMILIES
- 7 - 9 RECIPE FOR DISASTER
- 8 - 1 NIGHT OF THE ZOMBIE
- 8 - 2 PRIVATE ANGELO
- 8 - 3 DON'T GIVE A MONKEY'S
- 9 - 4 MY PAL PUCK

- 9 - 5 GOOD MORNING CRICKLEWOOD
- 9 - 6 AN ACTOR'S LIFE FOR ME
- 9 - 7 THE FUGTIVIE
- 9 - 8 THE LARKSWOOD KID
- 9 - 9 THE BIG FLAP
- 9 - 10 HERIES AND GRACES
- 10 - 1 OH GIVE ME A GNOME
- 10 - 2 ROOM WITH A VIEW
- 10 - 3 OUT OF THE WARDROBE
- 10 - 4 UPSTAIRS, DOWNSTAIRS
- 10 - 5 DOUBLE WHAMMY
- 10 - 6 SPACE INVADERS
- 10 - 7 STARS IN HIS EYES
- 10 - 8 IKE AND ANGELO
- 11 - 0 BARGIAN BASEMENT BIRTHDAY
- 11 - 0 MEN IN BROWN
- 11 - 0 PLEASE SIR

Katy's boss turns up with his son, who causes havoc when he starts playing with Angelo's inventions.

Wr Grant Cathro & Alex Bartlette.

- 11 - 0 MR. MOTERMOUTH

A salesman swindles Angelo, who decides to take revenge

Wr Lee Pressman

- 11 - 0 THE MERRY WIDOW
- 11 - 0 NAME DROPPER

- 12 - 1

Mike and Angelo play an unusual board game.

Wr Grant Cathro & Alex Bartlette.

- 12 - 2

A truth ray causes Katy to speak her mind to a visiting child star.

Wr Grant Cathro & Alex Bartlette.

- 12 - 3 TAKING THE PLUNGE

A bridegroom seeks refuge at Katy's house after jilting his bride.

Wr Lee Pressman

- 12 - 4 CHANGING ROOMS

Katy panics when a well-to-do friend wants to visit Larkswood Lane.

Wr Grant Cathro & Alex Bartlette.

- 12 - 5 SHIPMATES

Angelo causes mayhem when he accidentally brings a pirate into the house.

Wr Grant Cathro & Alex Bartlette.

- 12 - 6 TIMESHARE TV

Angelo strives to keep Katy and Daphne happy when each believes they are to receive a new TV.

Wr Lee Pressman

- 12 - 7 ANGELOPHOBIA

When Angelo becomes a stuntman he must confront his fear of snakes.

Wr Grant Cathro & Alex Bartlette.

12 - 8 THE EMPEROR'S NEW CLOTHES

Angelo wonder why the ruler of planet Ptarg is visiting him.

Wr Alex Bartlette & Grant Cathro

12 - 9 OVERNIGHT FROST

When Mike's headmaster starts overnight, Angelo teaches him how to be silly, resulting in him going to school dressed as an ostrich.

Wr Alex Bartlette & Grant Cathro

12 - 10 THE RETURN OF HANK SINATRA

Angelo most demonstrate his prowess as a crooner after Katy persuades him to star in an ice-cream advertisement.

Wr Lee Pressman

MILLENNIUM

Former FBI agent Frank Black has the ability to step inside the minds of serial killers based on the flimsiest of evidence. When his immersion into these sick and twisted minds brings him too close to the edge-and a serial killer begins stalking his family-he leaves the FBI and moves his family to Seattle. However, his abilities are needed there, and he is recruited by the secret Millennium Group, which has been fighting evil for nearly 2000 years.

Megan Gallagher starred in the sf show NOWHERE MAN as Thomas Veil's wife. This show was created by Chris Carter the man responsible for creating THE X FILES. The executive producer for the series were Chris Carter, James Wong and Glen Morgan, co-executive producers John P. Kousakis (Season Two), David Nutter (Season One), Jorge Zamacona and Ken Horton. Consulting producer was Chip Johannessen and the co-producer was Robert Moresco, Ken Dennis, Chip Johannessen and Frank Spotnitz (Season Two), with supervising producer Darin Morgan and John Peter Kousakis (Season One).

Millennium's chief claim to fame: its creator, Chris Carter of THE X FILES. Although initially intriguing, the series hit the same doom-and-gloom notes over and over throughout the first season, leaving some viewers cold. The second season lightened the tone somewhat and a few cross-ties to THE X-FILES (longtime viewers of both will pick them up immediately) helped revive interest in the show.

The consulting producers were Ted Mann, James Wong (Season Two) and Glen Morgan (Season Two), associate producer and editor was Stephen Mark (Season One) and John Michael Preece (Season Two). The production designers were Gary Wissner (Season One) and Sheila Haley (Season Two), the directors of photography were Peter Wunstorf and Robert McLachlan (Season Two). Futher editors included Stephen Marks (2) and Chris Willingham, ACE (3), the music was created by Mark Snow, who also did the music for THE X FILES.

Glen Morgan and James Wong, who took over the show for its second season, also created the SF action show SPACE: ABOVE AND BEYOND, it was after their show was cancelled that they came onto Millennium, not a decision they wanted to make, both left at the end of the second season. The X Files' twisted sister show returned for a second season with a darker Frank Black living up to his name. Under the direction of former SPACE: ABOVE AND BEYOND pioneers Morgan and Wong, this batch of episodes turned the show on its head, and largely succeeded. Jettisoning the unpopular 'seriel killer of the week' motif that hindered the first season, the incumbent producers concentrated more on the supernatural, prophecies and the manifestation of evil. Darin Morgan's contributions (Jose Chung's 'Doomsday Defense' and 'Somehow Satan Got Behind Me') were inspired satires, whilst 'Monster' lifted the lid on child abuse. Sadly, M & W were disillusioned by the time they reached the end of the year, considerably leaving Frank Black in a cabin with white hair and a dead wife.

AWARDS

Academy of Science Fiction, Fantasy and Horror Films.

Best Genre Network TV Series - Nominated - Millennium (1997)

Emmy Award

Outstanding Guest Actor in a Drama Series - Nominated - "Millennium" (1996) - Charles Nelson Reilly - For playing Jose Chung. (1998)

Outstanding Sound Editing for a Series - Nominated - "Millennium" (1996) - Mark R. Crookston (sound supervisor), Maciek Malish (sound editor), Reeves, Gabrielle (sound editor), Gladden, Ken (sound editor), Debby Ruby-Winsberg (sound editor), Donna Beltz (sound editor), Michael Kimball (sound editor), Susan Welsh (sound editor), Maupin, Jarmil (sound editor), Jeff Charbonneau (music editor), Michael Salvetta (foley artist), Murello, Gary (foley artist) - For episode "Owls". (1998)

Golden Globes

Best Performance by an Actor in a TV-Series - Drama - Nominated - "Millennium" (1996) - Lance Henriksen (1997)

Best Performance by an Actor in a TV-Series - Drama - Nominated - "Millennium" (1996) - Lance Henriksen (1998)

Best Performance by an Actor in a TV-Series - Drama - Nominated - "Millennium" (1996) - Lance Henriksen (1999)

WR. Chris Carter, Glen Morgan, James Wong, Jorge Zamacona, Ted Mann, Chip Johannessen, Charles D. Holland, Frank Spotnitz, Robert Moresco, Harold Rosenthal, Scott Harbinson, Walon Green, Erin Maher, Kay Reinil, Darin Morgan.

DIR. David Nutter, Thomas J. Wright, Winrich Kolbe, Randy Zisk, James Charleston, Raplh Hemecker, Michael Pattinson, Michael Watkins, Roderick J. Pridy, Cliff Bole, Peter Markle, Allen Coulter, Perry Lang, Rodman Flender, Darin Morgan.

EPISODES: 45 YEAR MADE: 1996 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 3

TEN THIRTEEN PRODUCTIONS & 20TH CENTURY FOX

CREATOR: CHRIS CARTER

TYPE OF SHOW: CRIME

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 22, (2) 23, (3) 22

DATE OF PREMIER: 25/10/1996 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Frank Black LANCE HENRIKSEN, Catherine Black MEGAN GALLAGHER (1-2) , Jordon Black BRITTANT TIPLADY, Lt. Bob Bletcher BILL SMITROVICH, Peter Watts TERRY O'QUINN, Emma Hollis KLEA SCOTT (3), Andy McClaren STEPHEN E. MILLER (3), Barry Baldwin PETER OUTERBRIDGE (3).

Books Based on this series.

Millennium 3: Weeds	Frank Spotnitz	1998
Millennium I: Things Fall Apart		1998
Millennium 2: Gehenna	Lewis Gannett	1997
Unofficial Companion	N. E. Genge	1997

RELATED SHOWS:

X FILES, THE

0 - 16 SATURN DREAMING OF MERCURY

1 - 1 "PILOT"

1 - 2 GEHENNA

The ashen remains of seven murder victims are discovered in a San Francisco park.

1 - 3 DEAD LETTERS

1 - 4 KINGDON COME

1 - 5 THE JUDGE

1 - 6 522666

1 - 7 BLOOD RELATIVES

1 - 8 THE WELL WORN LOCK

1 - 9 WIDE OPEN

1 - 10 WILD AND INNOCENT

1 - 11 WEEDS

1 - 12 LOIN LIKE A HUNTING FLAME

1 - 13 FORCE MAJEURE

-
- 1 - 14 THE THINE WHITE LINE
- 1 - 15 SACRAMENT
- 1 - 16 COVENANT
- 1 - 17 WALKABOUT
- 1 - 18 LAMENTATION (PART 1 OF 2)
- 1 - 19 POWER, PRINCIPALITIES, THRONES AND DOMINIONS (PART 2 OF 2)
- 1 - 20 BROKEN WORLD
- 1 - 21 MARANTHA
- 1 - 22 PAPER DOVE (PART 1 OF 3)
- 2 - 1 THE BEGINNING AND THE END (PART 2 OF 3)
- 2 - 2 BEWARE OF THE DOG (PART 3 OF 3)
- 2 - 3 SENSE AND ANTISENSE
- 2 - 4 MONSTER
- 2 - 5 A SINGLE BLADE OF GRASS
- 2 - 6 THE CURSE OF FRANK BLACK
- 2 - 7 19:19
- 2 - 8 THE HAND OF SAINT SEBASTIAN
- 2 - 9 JOSE CHUNG'S DOOMSDAY DEFENCE
- 2 - 10 MIDNIGHT OF THE CENTURY
- 2 - 11 GOODBYE CHARLIE
- 2 - 12 LUMINARY
- 2 - 14 THE MIKADO
- 2 - 15 OWLS (PART 1 OF 2)
- 2 - 16 ROOSTERS (PART 2 OF 2)
- 2 - 17 SIREN
- 2 - 18 IN ARCADIO EGO
- 2 - 19 ANAMNESIS
- 2 - 20 A ROOM WITH NO VIEW
- 2 - 21 SOMEHOW, SATAN GOT BEHIND ME
- 2 - 22 THE FOURTH HORSEMAN
- 2 - 23 THE TIME IS NOW
- 3 - 1 THE INNOCENTS
- 3 - 2 EXOGENSIS
- 3 - 3 TEOTWAWKI
- 3 - 4 CLOSURE
- 3 - 5 . . . THIRTEEN YEARS LATER
- 3 - 6 SKULL AND BONES

3 - 7 THROUGH A GLASS DARKLY

3 - 8 HUMAN ESSENCE

3 - 9 OMERTA

Wr Michael R. Perry

Dir Paul Shapiro

3 - 10 BORROWED

3 - 11 COLLATERAL DAMAGE

3 - 12 THE SOUND OF SNOW

3 - 13 ANTIPAS

3 - 14 MATRYOSHKA

3 - 15 FORCING THE END

3 - 16 SATURN DREAMING OF MERCURY

3 - 17 DARWIN'S EYE

3 - 18 BARDO THODOL

3 - 19 SEVEN AND ONE

3 - 20 NOSTALGIA

3 - 21 VIA DOLOROSA

3 - 22 GOODBYE TO ALL

MILLIENNIUM MAN

In our day and age, crime has infested the cities. The streets are no longer safe. Drugs and violence paints a dark and eerie portrait of our modern society. Organized crime has almost out-triumphed legal business and industries, and corruption is everywhere. The streets are roamed by hoodlums and even those dedicated to serve and protect can feel the fear creeping up on them. The new millennium calls for a new type of law enforcement. Fearless... Justice... Cybernetic...

Later on there was also a computer game based on the series made.

"Elvis" Episode: #1.1 - 9 September 2003

Thomas Anzenhofer

Florentine Lahme Nina

Michael Trischan

"Projekt Sunrise" Episode: #1.2 - 16 September 2003

Hans Peter Hallwachs

Kirk Kirchberger Holger Pohl

Doris Schretzmayer

"Brüder" Episode: #1.3 - 23 September 2003

Anne Cathrin Buhtz

Götz Otto Roder

Alexandra Reimer

"Zehn Plagen" Episode: #1.4 - 30 September 2003

Rainer Laupichler Krüger

Michael Lott Lennart Taube

WR. Lorenz Lau-Uhle & Claus Stirzenbecher

DIR. Joe Coppoletta, Sebastian Vigg

EPISODES: 4 YEAR MADE: 2003 COUNTRY: GER SEASONS: 1

CA SCANLINE PRODUCTIONS GMBH

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 46 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: German

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 4

DATE OF PREMIER: 09/09/2003

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Nicholas Beyer MARKUS KNUFKEN, Oliver Zorn SIMON LICHT, Dr. Kathrin Stern ANDREA LUDKE, Gregor Tannenberg RAINER GRENKOWITZ, Jonassen THORSTEN HAMMANN, Zimmer JOACHIM
DIETMAR MUES.

1 - 2 PROJEKT SUNRISE

1 - 3 BRUDER

1 - 4 ZENN PLAGEN

MINAMI'S SWEATHEART

AKA: MINAMI-KUN NO KOIBITO

AKA: MINAMI'S LOVER; A GIRL IN THE HAND

※実際の商品イメージとは異なります。

As they look in through the window of a high-class beach front restaurant, seven-year-old Hiroyuki Minami (Takeda) makes a promise to his decoted friend Chiyomi (Takahashi). On the day of his eighteenth birthday, he will treat her to dinner in the self same restaurant as a symbol of their eternal friend-ship. Ten years later, as graduation nears, Hiroyuki plans a motorcycle rider across America on Route 66, and Chiyomi realizes that graduation could separate them forever. She gently tries to remind him of his promise but he is preoccupied with Risaki (Chiba), a sassy school troublemaker who makes a show of kissing him while the scandalized Chiyomis is busy on the basketball court. Risaki promises Hiroyuki a very special birthday gift and send him photographs of herself semi-nude.

Meanwhile, Chiyomi discovers that her fearsomely handsome widower father (Kusakari) is planning to remarry and storms out of the house to talk to Hiroyuki. Finding him unsympathetic, she walks home in the middle of a storm and is almost hit by an out of control truck. Luckily (!), she is struck by lightning and saved from certain death by a miracle transformation that reduces her to mere inches in height.

Worried about Chiyomi's failure to appear in school the next day, Hiroyuki rebuffs Risako's advances and heads for the beach. Remembering his promise after all, he dutifully takes a seat at the restaurant, only to find the pint-sized Chiyomi clambering up to the window ledge. He takes her home in his jacket pocket, and she gets her secret wish - on Hiroyuki's first day as an adult, she wakes up beside him, albeit only inches tall.

Though initially prone to the clumsy acting that seems mandatory in so many teen dramas, MS soon reveals its true colours as a knowing pastiche of Peter Pan - compare to Never Land or the similar second chances of I'll Be Back. Hiroyuki's love for Chiyomi is genuinely innocent, and as he approaches adulthood she is prepared to give anything to keep the two of them young forever. He crosses the threshold into adulthood, wherease she is transformed into a Tinkerbell figure - the only way she can cling to their childhood is by literally leaping into fairyland. The rest of the script obliges her by overstating all her troubles in the fairy tale terms familiar from MASK OF GLASS, particularly the evil stepsister figure of Risako, who zips around in her boyfriend's Porsche.

Knowing the Japanese appetite for crime and mystery, one wonders why nobody is suspicious that a girl disappears after she is last seen with her long-time male companion, leaving only her abandoned clothes by the roadside. Like The Stand-In, this could have been on-so-sinister, but stays resolutely perky and innocent until the later episodes, when the story takes a decidedly unexpected turn.

Considering what must have been a low budget, the special effects are well excuted, leading to numerous comedy incidents redolent of HONEY I SHRUNK THE KIDS: THE TV SERIES, such as Chiyomi covering beneath the bed, terrified of the deafening howl of a vacume cleaner, pushed around the room by Hiroyuki's oblivious mother. In fact, the show picks up the moment Chiyomi shrinks, hiding its shortcomings beneath a series of set pieces such as her acuisition of suitable clothes (she gains a stragely shaped dress by pulling a fingerless glove over her head), or her panic-stricken escape from a menacing duck.

MS is based on the 1985 manga by Shungicu Uchida, the manga artist also responsible for Water Story and the notorious autobiographs Father Fucker. As one of Uchida's earlier works, MS seems less controversial, through ther are still odd throwaway momments, such as Hiroyuki's sister's preferred method of waking him up in the mornings - throwing back the bedclothes to get a look at his genitals! The story seems to have been a major influence on several unapproachable girlfriend anime of the years that followed, most notably the similiary pint-sized paramour of Handmaid May. It also has an irresistably camp quality, particularly when Hiroyuki enlists the school sewing circle to make new clothes or buys doll's clothes originally made for the Japanese Barbie clone Licca-chan. Actor Takeda does his street cred no favors by wearing a silly scarf and a ridicular pink denim jacket at inopportune moments. See also After School. Theme: Yumiko Takahashi -

"Tomodachi de Li Kara" (Okay to be Friends).

The series was produced by Kotaro Takahashi. The 11th episode of the series was infact a special episode broadcast later on thw 10th April 1995, but the series proper ended on the 21st March 1994.

WR. Yoshikazu Okada.

DIR. Shiro Nakayama, Kazuhisa Imai

EPISODES: 11 YEAR MADE: 1994 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

ASAHI

CREATOR: SHUNGICU UCHIDA (based on Manga)

TYPE OF SHOW: LITTLE PEOPLE FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 45 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 11

DATE OF PREMIER: 10/01/1994 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 10/04/1995

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Chiyomi YUMIKO TAKAHASHI, Hiroyuki Minami SHINJI TAKEDA, Riskao REIKO CHIBA, Chiyomi's
Father MASAO KUSAKARI, REI OKAMOTO, JUNJI TAKADA.

RELATED SHOWS:

HONEY, I SHRUNK THE KIDS: THE TV SHOW

MIRACULOUS MELLOPS,THE (inc MIRACULOUS MELLOPS 2, THE)

Sam, Michael and Jason are not looking forward to the first Christmas since their mother's death, and a neighbour is threatening Bill's business. Everything seems helpless until a shooting star appears. They soon discover the powers of telepathy.

On the moon, the moonlings are all intelligent children and all answer to the Grand Baby, the ruler of them all. But the Grand Baby is dying, so a shooting star is set to Earth to call upon the next Grand Baby. The shooting star lands in a family home causing various pieces of household items to inherit super powers. Two moonlings come to earth to help the kids put all items together and discover who the next Grand Baby is. The only thing standing in their way is a pesky interfering neighbour with the surname Dump.

Summary for Miraculous Mellops 2

The garden shop is having a reopening party and the kids decide to send a fax to the moonlings but when they get the number wrong they accidentally contact a race of aliens called Yucks who fly to planets and eat everything on them. Assisted by a young girl who lives in a black hole, and a window which can travel anywhere with a phone number. But as usual, Dump is still around to cause more mischief.

This Australian science fiction series was all about interplanetary co-operation and a giant super-intelligent baby who lived on the moon. This unusual show has been seen several times in the UK on Channel Four, the first showing was in 1992, in an early morning slot. No episode titles were shown on screen.

Produced by Andrew Blaxland (producer), Posie Graeme-Evans (producer), Original music by Chris Harriott, Second Unit Director or Assistant Director - Brett Popplewell (first assistant director), Sound Department - Phil Keros (sound recordist).

Two shows were made in 1991 and 1992, they are counted as one for the purpose of this database, with two seasons. It is not unusual in some countries to give a show a different title for a second series, if each series contains a single plot thread, which runs throughout the first series. A typical example of this is A GIRL FROM TOMMOROW and TOMMOROW NEVER ENDS. This is more likely to occur with Australian and New Zealand shows. Both shows however had the same cast.

Season 3...? - Network Ten were said to be interested in financing a third season after the first two did quite well. Apparently disagreements between series creator Posie Graeme Evans and series director Karl Zwicky prevented production from continuing, and Ten settled for replaying the first two seasons several times instead. The rights to the program are now held with the ACTF.

WR. P.J. Hogan

DIR. Karl Zwicky

EPISODES: 40 YEAR MADE: 1992 COUNTRY: AUS SEASONS: 2

NETWORK TEN

CREATOR: POSIE GRAEME EVANS

TYPE OF SHOW: ALIENS ON EARTH FORMAT: SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 20 (2) 20

DATE OF PREMIER: AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 04/12/1992

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Michael TROY BECKWITH, BILL CONN, Ralph DREW FORSYTH, Aunt Jocelyn JULIE GODFREY, Minon /Ebony LAUREN HEWETT, MAX PHIPPS, Jane KIM WALSH, Jason DAVID WALTERS, Samantha SALLY WARWICK.

MIRAI SENTAI TIMERANGER

AKA: FUTURE TASKFORCE TIMERANGER

AKA: FUTURE BATTLE TEAM TIME RANGER

Don Dorneo (Otomo) is the boss of the Launderers crime family, who escapes from the 30th Century and hides at the dawn of the 21st. Four Time Protection Team (TPT) officers pursue him from the future, but decide they need reinforcements upon arrival and recruit unwilling passerby Ryuya (Nagai) to be the Red Time Ranger - conveniently he is good at Karate. His four TPT associates include Ayase (Kido), an agile man diagnosed with a fatal disease that will kill him in just a couple of years who fights as Time Blue; Sion (Kuranuki) who transforms into Time Green and is responsible for intelligence and communication; Domon (Koizumi), a master of the 30th Century martial art of Grapp, who transforms into Time Yellow; and Yuri (Katsumura), a girl from the Intercity Anti-Organized Crime Squad, who has an encyclopedic knowledge of weapons, and transforms into Time Pink.

Their chief enemy, Don Dorneo, has conveniently hijacked an entire prison on his flight from the future and periodically thaws out monstrous inmates in order to commit crimes in the year 2000, in an innovative excuse for the monster-of-the-week fighting that has come to characterize so many of these "original ideas by Saburo Yade", that form the Super Sentai series.

Mirai Sentai Timeranger marks the first Sentai show on the 21st Century. For years, the sentai genre has been touted as kid stuff. And while this may be true in most cases, you cannot deny that after watching the first few episodes of TimeRanger that you get drawn in. The premise is simple: 4 people from the year 3000 get hurtled back into the year 2000 in order to capture a group of escaped prisoners (as well as an entire prison of people in suspended animation). With the help of a young man from 2K, they set up shop and begin the long, drawn out task of defeating creature after creature to return to their time. However, as time goes on, the plot begins to thicken and some very interesting twists are thrown in. And THIS is what I like about it the most. If anyone is curious about the show and they want to check it out, I say go for it. It's something you won't regret.

Like GOGO FIVE before it and its successor GOARANGER, Time Ranger was swiftly adapted for American audiences, forming the ninth season of the MIGHTY MORPIN' POWER RANGERS, under the title MMPR: Time Force.

Music in the original was by Koichiro Kameyama. The series was produced by Ken Fukuyoshi.

Characters

Timerangers

"TimeRangers! (name of prisoner), you are under arrest for violating the Time Protection Laws!"

Tatsuya Asami / TimeRed: A martial artist who was "drafted" into the team. He refuses to accept fate and his heritage as future CEO of his father's company. He believes that people can control their own destiny, but only if they fight for a desirable future.

Vortech Weapon: VolBlaster

Ayase / TimeBlue: Formerly a racer, this calm-headed figure has a knack for highspeed battles. He also has an incurable terminal illness. He is also become close friends with Tatsuya. When Tatsuya found out about Ayase's illness, he was determined to help his friend. Ayase is second in command. After time was altered at the end of the series, his illness was cured.

Vortech Weapon: VolLauncher

Sion / TimeGreen: An alien whose world was destroyed and who was thus raised on Earth. He is nimble and is curious of everything around him. He is also the TimeRangers technical expert able to work with any machine. He is (currently) the youngest ranger to exist being born around 2983.

Vortech Weapon: VolPulser

Domon / TimeYellow: Formerly a professional fighter, he tends to overdo it sometimes.

Vortech Weapon: VolVulcan

Yuuri / TimePink: Police officer from the 30th century. Since the police were aware of Don Dornero's plan, she posed as a TPD cadet to stop him. She has a grudge against Don Dornero for sending an assassin who killed her family. She practically leads the Timerangers.

Vortech Weapon: VolSniper

Naoto Takizawa / TimeFire: Tatsuya's rival and leader of the City Guardians established by the Asami Corporation. Unlike Tatsuya, Naoto came from the other side of the tracks, getting by on a scholarship as the two of them attended prep school. Naoto envied Tatsuya and wanted to be the best of the two. After becoming TimeFire the Asami group attempted to analyze the technology for mass production, but could not fully understand the 30th century Technology. Later he found out through Sion that the Londers monsters are just prisoners and only need to be recaptured. In Episode 37 he learned that the TimeRangers came from the 30th century, and because of his desire for power he chose to find a way to use his new knowledge of the TimeRangers to his advantage. Near the finale, after Wataru Asami was hospitalized in a previous episode, Naoto was able to use that knowledge to gain full control of the City Guardians. In the Finale, after Naoto was injured during the battle against Neo-Crisis he learned Wataru Asami was able to regain control of the City Guardians through quick legal maneuvering.

Naoto was kicked out of the City Guardians and fled because the City Guardians tried to take the V-Commander when they revealed that they were able to remove the Voice Lock function. In the end Naoto was killed from a Zenito's bullet, knocking him from a high-story of a building all the way to the ground but handed over the V-Commander to Tatsuya just before he died from his bullet wound.

Weapon: DV Defender (DV Difendā): TimeFire's personal weapon. It has three different forms it can take through the DV Change ability. In its standard form Vulcan Mode it becomes a Magnum gun, in Defender Mode, a blade is extended from the front end of the gun to create a sword. The third form Final Mode is where an energy blade is produced from the front end of Vulcan Mode to use the DV Re-Freezer.

Special Attack: DV Re-Freezer, By using the Final Modes energy blade the DV Re-Freezer attack can recapture a Londers prisoner.

Allies

TAC: A Navigation Robot in the form of an owl who transmits the launch of the TimeJets. He has a database on all Londers Criminals.

Robota: TAC's robotic assistant.

Wataru Asami: Tatsuya's father.

Kyuukyuu Sentai GoGo-V: Team up with them during Timeranger VS GoGo Five. Faced off against Pierre, the surviving footman of the Saima family (despite GoGo V's assumptions that they had killed him), who teamed with a Londers member and the relatives of past Londers criminals in a plan to take out both teams. During the Super Sentai Daishugou special's segment on GoGo V, the team instantly recognizes them due to their team-up.

Arsenal

Chrono Changer (Kurono Chenjā): The transformation device of the Timerangers. Before it is activated, they remove their everyday clothes and reveal a special body suit. The transformation call is "Chrono Changer!".

V Commander (V Komandā): TimeFire's transformation device. The transformation call is "TimeFire!". It is also used to remotely control the V-Rex/V-Rex Robo. When Naoto dies, he gives Tatsuya the V Commander so he can use the DV Defender and V-Rex.

Chrono Suits (Kurono Sūtsu): The suits that are formed when the transformation devices are activated.

Chrono Search (Kurono Sāchi): A built-in scope that allows the Timerangers to analyze the enemy.

Accel Stop (Akuseru Sutoppu): This function is created by Sion in Episode 21. When activated, the speed of the Chrono Suits are increased giving the TimeRanger superhuman speed, but the durability of the suits decrease.

Time Emblem (Taimu Enburemu): The badges of the Timerangers. The badges are used to identify the TimeRanger as police officers, as well as to create a storage unit for a recaptured Londers prisoner.

Assault Vector: Combination of the Spark Vector and Assault Mobile, the Assault Vector is a high powered gun that amplifies the Spark Vectors power up to 30 times higher than normal which fires a supercharged shot. Wielded by TimeRed, sometimes by TimeGreen.

Double Vector (aburu Bekutā): A pair of swords called the Spark and Arrow Vectors that each of the main Timeranger possesses. They can be joined to create a spear. Some of the special attacks that can be performed are Chrono Slash with the Spark Vector as well as the Twin Slash attack, which are a variety of double sword-based attacks such as Vector Hurry, Vector End (By slashing in two directions in the symbol of a clock such as Vector End Big 6 is slashing between the 12 and 6 symbols) and Vector End Beat Cross (By slashing between the between the 3 and 9 postions and then the 12 and 6 postions).

Assault Mobile: Created in Episode 23 by Sion. The Assault Mobile are weapon pieces that are stored in a carrying case. The main purpose of the Assault Mobile is to combine with the Spark Vector to create the Assault Vector.

Voltech Bazooka (Borutekku Bazūka): A bazooka formed from the individual Voltech weapons. Its finishing attack to recapture Londers Prisoners is Press Re-Freezer.

Vehicles

Chrono-Ship Yglieg: The time vehicle which the TimeRangers use to travel from the year 3000 to 2000.

Time Flyer / Flyer Magnum: A Hoverjet that is used by the main TimeRanger as regular transportation as well as a transport for them to board the TimeJets. When it becomes the Flyer Magnum, TimeRobo Beta's gun, the wings are folded into the handle and the twin barrels of the gun emerge from the front section.

Time Protection Department Mecha

Mecha used by the Time Protection Department.

Providus: Providus serves to send the TimeJets and TimeShadow through the time gate. In the dream world, he has a spinning fist attack in battle.

Time Robo Shadow: TimeRobo Beta/Alpha and TimeShadow could combine to form Time Robo ShadowBeta or Time Robo ShadowAlpha. Armed with the Pro Divider that enables them to recapture Londers prisoners. It can become a gun for ShadowBeta to use its Pressure Gun finisher or a sword for ShadowAlpha to perform its Blizzard Slash finisher.

TimeJets / TimeRobo: TimeRobo has three forms; TimeJet Gamma (Jet crusier), TimeRobo Beta (highspeed), and TimeRobo Alpha (default). As TimeRobo Beta its armament is the Flyer Magnum, where the Time Flyer becomes a high powered gun. As TimeJet Gamma it can perform its Gamma Tornado attack to throw the Londers prisoners off balance. Finally as TimeRobo Alpha it can use its Space-Time Sword to perform its finisher Press Blizzard Spacetime Distortion attack to recapture Londers prisoners. It is also equipped with the ChronoShield as TimeRobo Alpha. Once in Time Ranger VS. GoGo-V to defeat PierreBori, the GoGo-V gave the energy from the Victory Robo's Victory Prominence attack to TimeRobo Alpha's TimeSpace sword to create the Pressure Prominence attack, where it enabled the TimeRangers to kill the Saima Wizard Pierre and recapture the Londar prisoner BoriBaru as Riding TimeRobo Alpha. TimeRobo Alpha's power helped to power up GaoKing in Gaoranger vs. Super Sentai.

TimeJet 1: Piloted by TimeRed, armed with Plasma Vulcan. Forms the frontal segment of TimeJet Gamma. TimeJet 1's underside is TimeRobo Alpha's chest, while the topside is the chest of TimeRobo Beta.

TimeJet 2: Piloted by TimeBlue, armed with Pulse Machine Gun. Forms TimeRobo Alpha's left leg, TimeRobo Beta's left arm, and TimeJet Gamma's right wing.

TimeJet 3: Piloted by TimeGreen, armed with Distortion Blast. Forms TimeRobo Alpha's right leg, TimeRobo Beta's right arm, and TimeJet Gamma's left wing.

TimeJet 4: Piloted by TimeYellow, armed with Heat Disrupter. Forms TimeRobo Alpha's left arm, TimeRobo Beta's right leg, and the left "rudder" of TimeJet Gamma.

TimeJet 5: Piloted by TimePink, armed with Diffusion Shot. Forms TimeRobo Alpha's right arm, Time Robo Beta's left leg, and the right "rudder" of TimeJet Gamma.

TimeShadow: TimeShadow was created and sent to the 21th Century by the Inter-City Police. It can transform from Stealth to Robot Mode (the undercarriage becomes the legs, the nose becomes the chest (revealing the head), and part of each wing becomes an arm (with the guns as hands) which is armed with two Shadow Sabers that can become combined into a single sword. Through the Delta Formation, TimeShadow can combine with TimeRobo Beta to form ShadowBeta, forming the chest, wings, posterior, feet, and foot guards, or with TimeRobo Alpha to form ShadowAlpha, forms the chest, wings, cannons, posterior, feet, and foot guards.

V-Rex / V-Rex Robo: V-Rex is the Inter-City Police forces strongest mecha. It was lost in a time experiment and later emerged in the 21st century where the TimeRangers were. After recovering the V-Commander the V-Rex's control device and becoming TimeFire, Naoto Takizawa gained control of the V-Rex shortly afterwards. The V-Rex's armaments are the Rex Lasers. After transforming into the V-Rex Robo (V-Rex's head becomes V-Rex Robo's chest, the neck becomes the top of the back (freeing the head) and the V-Rex arms spin around to form the V-Rex Robo arms (the cannons becoming elbows)) its Revolver Missiles which is shot from the right hand and its Rex Punch where it fires its left hand at its opponent. The V-Rex Robo's finisher that allows it to recapture Londers prisoners is its Max Blizzard attack that is fired from the shoulders. TimeRobo Alpha can also ride on the V-Rex's back, and this is called Riding TimeRobo Alpha. In the finale it was revealed that when the V-Rex and Neo-Crisis's power sources came in contact it would open Time holes that would cause the end of the world. Later, after Naoto died, Sion was able to modify his DV-Defender in order Tatsuya to use the DV-Vulcan to alter the V-Rex's Lambarda 2000 power source into Zeta-3 enabling for Tatsuya to destroy Neo-Crisis without endangering the world. Helped out in Gaoranger vs. Super Sentai.

Londers Family

The Londers Family (Rondāzu Famirī) are the villains of Timeranger.

Captain Ryuuya Asami: TPD commanding officer in 3000, and appears to be a descendant of Tatsuya due to their similarities. He's the opposite of Tatsuya, especially in the terms of fate. It's soon revealed that he is the true mastermind behind the Londers, revealing everything leading to Gien's insanity reaching its peak was planned because, it was "meant to be" that way. In the finale, Ryuuya was mortally wounded in the ensuing crossfire and realized the error of his ways as he died.

Don Dornero (1-47): A mafioso godfather who is only in it for the money. He was to be put under imprisonment until his gang took over the prison and managed to go back in time to pull off crimes. He cares for his associates, especially Gien whose mental stability he worries about. He tried to stop Gien from going too far in his psychotic delights, only to get killed himself before the finale began.

Lira (1-47): Don Dornero's right hand girl with pink hair, she frequently steals clothing and jewelry that suit her fancy. She is a mistress of disguise and good with a pistol. After Dornero's death, Lila went into hiding and has been missing since.

Gien: Evil robotic scientist, a total loose cannon of a sadist. He is responsible for constructing the Zenitts that are sent against the TimeRangers. Gien was actually a cyborg, formerly a human boy who befriended Don Dornero. Dornero saved his life by having a friend of his transfer the boy's brain into a robotic body. But there were horrible side-effects that made, and still are making Gien increasingly insane. He had access to the Hell's Gate prisoners and cares for nothing except for his own masochistic pleasure, going against Dornero's orders. He also constructed several massive robots (Except for the G-Zord), that are powered by the Lambda-2000 crystal he stole from Asami Corp's laboratories. Don Dornero eventually tries all in his power to stop Gien, only to die in the vain attempt. He later piloted the NeoCrisis robot, only to be fatally wounded when his robot was destroyed. The person Gien once was resurfaced before he died and dissolved to dust. Despite his psychotic evil tendencies, Gien is one of the more tragic characters in the series.

Copy Timeranger (Kopī Taimurenjā) (25-26): Evil duplicates of the Timerangers made by Genpu inside the Genpu Zone. These duplicates proved to be too strong for the TimeRangers to handle. But after escaping Tatsuya and Yuuri came up with a plan by allowing Yuuri to be sent back to the Genpu Zone in order to combine the Assault Vector with Yuuri's VolSniper, in a well-placed angle shot from both sides that destroyed both the Genpu Zone and the Copy Timeranger.

JunkRobot Zenitts: Cheap droids created by Gien from scrap.

Londers Prisoners

In 30th century, criminals are taken to Londers Prison to be frozen and compressed for room. As a side effect, when a Depression Seal comes off, a prisoner grows to incredible size.

Bakudan Seizou Han DD Radess (1, 32): Innocent criminal driven insane by Gien and his mind control devices. Brought in by V-Rex & TimeRobo ShadowAlpha.

Bakudanma Jekka (2): A mad bomber, in for 120 years. Brought in by TimeRobo Beta/TimeRobo Alpha.

Genkin Goudatsuhan Keys (3): Can control machines, in for 50 years. Brought in by TimeRobo Beta/TimeRobo Alpha.

Yuukai Satsujin Han Nabal (4): A kidnapper. Brought in by TimeRobo Beta/TimeRobo Alpha.

Koroshiya Mad Blast (5): A catfish-like assassin/hitman who previously murdered Yuuri's family. In for 15 years, he collects souvenirs from his victims. Brought in by TimeJet Gamma/TimeRobo Alpha.

Houseki Settou Han Rouge (6): A female thief who like Lira has an obsession for jewelry. Can mimic the appearance of other women but her birth mark tattoo is a dead giveaway. Brought in by TimeRobo Alpha.

Akutoku Satsujini Doc (7): A surgery vivisection robot who was in for 500 years for murdering his patients. He used his medical knowledge to murder his patients. Brought in by TimeJet Gamma/TimeRobo Alpha.

Hijack Han Nabokov (8): A highjacker who can fly. Brought in by TimeRobo Beta/TimeRobo Alpha.

Akutoku Keisatsukan Arnold K (9): A rogue police-robot and one of the Don's oldest and best friends.

Brought in by TimeRobo Beta/TimeRobo Alpha.

Youhei Org (10): A mercenary who has Herculean strength. Brought in by TimeRobo Alpha.

Yukai Han Gougan (11): A scientist who has the same regard for life as Gien. Brought in by TimeRobo Beta/TimeRobo Alpha.

Kyokatsu Han Gaymark (12, 45): He found the alien Algo and sued him to steal for the Londers. He escaped in his miniature form in episode 45 but was stomped on and presumably died. Brought in by TimeJet Gamma/TimeRobo Alpha.

Tobakushi Velito (13): A small alien with a robotic/machine body. A fight club owner who would fix the fights to win gambling bets and wipe out customers. Brought in by Voltech Bazooka, while the robotic body was destroyed by TimeRobo Beta.

Mad Racer Baron (14): A former hot shot race car driver and friend of Ayase. Baron was previously convicted with Ayase's testimony for reckless driving that resulted in the death of a pedestrian. Lira took control of him using a handheld device, giving him a stronger armor that also took control of his actions. The Timerangers were able to break him free from this control, however. Brought in by TimeRobo Alpha.

Sniper Reihou (15): A sharpshot sniper/kidnapper in for 150 years. Reihou kidnapped Honami Moriyama. Brought in by TimeRobo Beta/TimeRobo Alpha.

Bishoku Houkama Vincent (16): A food critic gone mad. Brought in by TimeRobo Beta/TimeRobo Alpha.

Kyokatsu Banchou Flan (17, 38): He took over a school and conditioned stronger students to bully and extort weaker students. Brought in by TimeJet Gamma/TimeRobo Beta/TimeRobo Alpha.

Terrorist Sandoora (18, 38): A terrorist sent to retrieve Zeta-3 for Gien's first robot creation. Brought in by the damaged TimeRobo Alpha after TimeRobo Beta was seriously damaged from battling with it.

Youjinbou Hydrid (21, 38): A super-fast samurai-resembling alien, he brought back a new alcohol from the 30th century. Brought in by TimeRobo ShadowAlpha.

Kekkon Sagishi Barbera (22, 38): A female convict who has the ability to seduce men and then rip them off by tricking them into giving her money after they became obsessed with her. Brought in by TimeRobo ShadowAlpha.

Energy Settou Han Ugo (23): An alien from Marshall Star, sucks in energy and when damaged or full then releases it in a terrible shockwave. Brought in by TimeRobo ShadowBeta.

Shougai Han Borg (24): A mad bomber in for 10 years. Brought in by TimeRobo ShadowAlpha.

Kagakusha Genpu (25-26): Creator of the Genpu Zone, which drops people into pocket dimensions or suchlike, anywhere in time he wants. Brought in by TimeRobo ShadowBeta.

Aesthetician Domiuro (27, 38): Turned the sea red for Lira's delight. Brought in by TimeRobo ShadowAlpha.

Buki Mitsubaijin Hammer (29): A homer alien sent to retrieve the control device for the V-Rex. Brought in by TimeFire.

Mitsuryousha Master Hunter (30, 38): Can control any machine with his control devices. He tracked down the V-Rex and was able to partially control it. Brought in by V-Rex Robo.

Counsellor Zektar (31): A mental counselor who went bad and started damaging his patients and their minds to bring them back and get more money. Brought in by V-Rex Robo.

Akutoku Kinyuu Gyousha Dogoal (33): Ran a loan shark business for the Don. Brought in by V-Rex Robo & TimeRobo ShadowAlpha.

Stalker Keiji Abel (34): An Intercity police officer who went as bad as can be and became an assassin. He was obsessed with Yuuri and tried to turn her into a killer like him. Brought in by TimeRobo ShadowBeta with some help from V-Rex Robo.

Hacker Yuugento (35, 38): A master hacker carrying an extra, artificial brain on the end of his staff. Brought in by TimeRobo Beta, TimeShadow & V-Rex Robo.

Boribaru / PierreBori (Timeranger VS GoGoV): A criminal boxer who attacked a building and set it on fire. Briefly fused with Pierre to become PierreBori before being captured. Brought in by Riding TimeRobo Alpha, with the power from the Victory Robo by vanquishing Pierre's spirit from his body.

Other Londers Prisoners (Timeranger VS GoGoV): The Timeranger and GoGoV had to face against Londers that resemble some of the regular prisoners. All of these prisoners were enhanced by the magic of the Saima Wizard Pierre. All were brought in by the Timeranger's Voltech Bazooka.

Real: Dogoal's twin brother.
 Lupia: Reihou's sister.
 Bats: Uugo's uncle.
 Dinal: Gaymark's cousin.
 Sealing: Blaster Madou's neighbor.

Buki Shounin Banjan (36): He sold deadly bombs to criminals until the City Guardians tracked him down. Brought in by TimeRobo ShadowAlpha.
 Hakai Kousakuin Maiden (37): A designer of robots like the V-Rex, was able to take control of it by copying Naoto's voice. Brought in by a combination of TimeFire's DV Refreezer Slash, and the Voltech Bazooka.

Tamashii no Katsudouya Glogun (38): Sion had a dream about him after finding him the Londers Prisoner database. Brought in by Providus, V-Rex & TimeRobo ShadowBeta.

Renzoku Settou Han Dopper (40): Sent by Dorunero to steal the Radar Virus vaccine. Brought in by V-Rex Robo & TimeRobo ShadowBeta.
 Renzoku Settou Han Strauss (41): A telekinetic and who predicted the end of the world in 3001 and again in 2001. Brought in by TimeRobo ShadowBeta with some help from V-Rex.

Computer Engineer Gate (46): A computer engineer sent out by the Don to threaten to blow up a reactor if a large amount of money wasn't paid out. Brought in by the TimeFlyer & V-Rex Robo.

Hell's Gate Inmates

These are Londers Prisoners confined for the most evil and inhuman acts of the 30th century. Only Gien has the key to the vault that holds them, and he thaws them out so they can terrorize everyone for his own amusement and kill the Timeranger for himself (and the Don).

Blaster Madou (20): He was imprisoned for the mass-murder of 1,030. Brought in by TimeRobo ShadowBeta.
 Jagul (28, 38): Was sent to locate the Time Pulse which would deliver the V-Rex to the present. Brought in by the Voltech Bazooka.
 Enboss (39): He was infected with a fatal disease, the man-made bacteria known as the Radar Virus, and wanted to take everyone down with him because he was dying from the bacterial as well. Brought in by TimeRobo ShadowAlpha & V-Rex Robo.
 Harbal (42): He is destructive and murderous creature that can launch/fire deadly rockets. Brought in by V-Rex Robo.

Giant Robots

Nova (19): Gien's first robot creation/convict sent to destroy the Timerangers. It destroyed the Lambda 2000 and signaled the arrival of the TimeShadow. Destroyed by TimeShadow.

Fake TimeRobo Alpha (26): Evil duplicate of TimeRobo Alpha made by Genbu. Destroyed by TimeRobo Beta.

G-Zord (43-44): A robot that was lost in a time experiment (which is similar to the V-Rex). Captain Ryuuya came to the 20th century to help defeat it before it could cause the end of the 30th century and took over Tatsuya's position as TimeRed. Gien sought after the G-Zord in order to analyze its' power source. After the TimeRangers oust Ryuuya into giving the Chrono Changer back to Tatsuya, Tatsuya is able to come up with a strategy which allowed the TimeRangers to defeat the G-Zord for good by having TimeRobo Alpha ride on the V-Rex's back as Riding TimeRobo Alpha, and then jump off it to move in from behind and strike the G-Zord's weak spot with its sword.

MechaCrisis (47): Destroyed by V-Rex & TimeFire.

NeoCrisis (48-50): Gien's final robot. Destroyed by V-Rex & TimeRed.

Specials

Mirai Sentai Timeranger vs. GoGo-V

The crossover is set between Timeranger Episodes 35-36[1], as evident by the date of the episodes: Timeranger VS GoGoV October 25, 2000

Trivia

Fujita Okamoto (Wataru Asami) played Professor Dazai in Kousoku Sentai Turboranger.
 The robot, G-Zord is the first Sentai creation to feature a Power Ranger-oriented name: Zord.

First use of colored visors since JAKQ, therefore meaning it's the first use of ski-goggle colored visors.

First Super Sentai series with the Pink Ranger being the leader. And the second time a female is leader of a team, the first being Ninjawhite from Ninja Sentai Kakurangers.

It is the first sentai not to kill monsters. Instead, they are simply brought back to jail.

This is also one of the few sentai series to acknowledge the existence outside of cross-overs that pass teams came before in a special retrospective to fill the gap in episodes and also to celebrate 25 years.

Mika Katsumura(Yuuri/Time Pink) marries of actor Yusuke Tomoi(Ryo Ashihara/Kamen Rider Gills in Kamen Rider Agito) in June 2006 and they are expecting the birth of their first child in July 2006.

The home video release (VHS) of Digimon: The Movie contains a commercial of Power Rangers: Time Force. The particular commercial showed quite a bit of Timeranger footage (likely an error). Including a shot of Yuuri, Domon, Ayase and Sion from Timeranger episode 1.

Gien's appearance is similar to Crow T. Robot from Mystery Science Theatre 3000.

WR. Yasuko Kobayashi, Toshiki Inoue, Ryota Yamaguchi, Noboru Takemoto.

DIR. Satoshi Morota, Noboru Matsui, Hajime Konaka, Taro Sakamoto, Hiroshi Futsuda, Shojiro Nakazawa.

EPISODES: 51 YEAR MADE: 2000 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

TOEI / TV ASAHI

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 25 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 51

DATE OF PREMIER: 13/01/2000 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 11/02/2001

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Tatsuya Asami/Time Red MASARU NAGAI, Ayase/Time Blue YUJI KIDO, Sion/Time Green
 MASAHIRO KURANUKI, Domon/Time Yellow TOMOHIDE KOIZUMI, Yûri/Time Pink MIKA
 KATSUMURA, Naoto Takizawa/Time Fire SHINJI KASAHARA, Navigator Robo Tak (voice) YUSUKE NUMATA, Wataru Asami FUJITA OKAMOTO, Don Dolnero RYUZABURO OTOMO, Gion (voice) KOJI TOBE, Lila ASAMI KURU, Narrator (voice) HIDEYUKI HORI.

- 1 - 1 TIME'S ESCAPED CONVICTS
- 1 - 2 THE FUTURE THAT CAN'T BE SEEN
- 1 - 3 A DREAM OF ACCELERATION
- 1 - 4 THE HOSTAGE IS AN ALIEN
- 1 - 5 THE THIRD COMBINATION
- 1 - 6 IN GUISE OF INVITED GUEST
- 1 - 7 DOMON HOSPITALIZED
- 1 - 8 AN EXPLOSION IN ART
- 1 - 9 THE DON'S MELANCHOLY
- 1 - 10 ESCAPE TO TOMORROW
- 1 - 11 THE CITY OF THE STRUGGLE FOR LIFE AND DEATH!
- 1 - 12 WISH UPON A STAR
- 1 - 13 BATTLE CASINO
- 1 - 14 DEAD HEAT
- 1 - 15 SEARCH FOR THE SNIPER!

-
- 1 - 16 A DREAM OF NOODLES
 - 1 - 17 NEJIRETA SEIKEN
 - 1 - 18 PREMONITION OF SHADOW
 - 1 - 19 RIDER'S BANQUET
 - 1 - 20 THE BOND BECOMES NEW
 - 1 - 21 SION'S WAY
 - 1 - 22 AMOROUS TEMPTATION
 - 1 - 23 BEAT UP
 - 1 - 24 YELLOW, AND SOMETIMES BLUE
 - 1 - 25 BROKEN TRUST
 - 1 - 26 COUNTDOWN OF TRUST
 - 1 - 27 LITTLE HOMETOWN
 - 1 - 28 MEETING TIME
 - 1 - 29 NEW WARRIOR OF FIRE
 - 1 - 30 REGISTER FIRE'S CRY
 - 1 - 31 LOST IDEA GAME
 - 1 - 32 HELP THE CRIMINAL
 - 1 - 33 LITTLE LADY
 - 1 - 34 ASSASSIN
 - 1 - 35 TOMORROW ISN'T COMING
 - 1 - 36 STAY IN YOUR TRUE FACE
 - 1 - 37 AIMED AT POWER
 - 1 - 38 PLEASANT DREAMS
 - 1 - 39 A LIE SOAKED IN RAIN
 - 1 - 40 AYASE WITHDRAWS?!"
 - 1 - 41 REVELATION OF THE PROPHET
 - 1 - 42 THE METAL DESTROYER
 - 1 - 43 AN ORDER TO REVISE HISTORY
 - 1 - 44 REVOLT AGAINST TIME
 - 1 - 45 THE END OF TOMORROW RESEARCH?!
 - 1 - 46 THE FUTURE'S ALIENATION
 - 1 - 47 THE END OF DON
 - 1 - 48 RETURN TO THE FUTURE
 - 1 - 49 BEYOND A THOUSAND YEARS
 - 1 - 50 TO AN INFINITE TOMORROW
 - 1 - 51 TIME RANGER SUPER SENTAI SPECIAL

MIRROR FIGHT

WR.DIR.*EPISODES: 65 YEAR MADE: 1974 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1*TSUBURAYACREATOR:*TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHEROFORMAT: SERIESLENGTH (MINS): 3 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: JapaneseSEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 65DATE OF PREMIER: 01/04/1974AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 27/09/1974SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:*FILMS:

RELATED SHOWS:MIRRORMAN

MIRROR, MIRROR

When Jo Tiegan is shopping with her father in 1995, she notices an antique shop, which she feels a compulsion to go to. There she sees a beautiful oval mirror, which she is given by the elderly owner of the shop, who comments that the mirror is meant for her. Jo is delighted, and the mirror is placed in her bedroom. That night, Jo is stunned to see the image of another girl in the mirror, instead of her own reflection, and it is obvious that the other girl can see her just as clearly. Jo and the other girl, Louisa Iredale, are able to 'introduce' themselves to each other by writing their names down for the other girl to read. After Louisa is called away to dinner, Jo is accidentally pulled through the mirror into Louisa's bedroom (in the year 1919). This leads to the discovery, by Jo and Louisa, that they can visit each other's times, through the mirror, any time they want to do so, provided that the mirror is situated in exactly the same place, and that the mirror's alignment and orientation are identical within the mirror's frame, at corresponding moments in 1919 and 1995.

In 1919, Louisa's father is a New Zealand politician, and their family house is a mansion with servants. Jo, the daughter of the Australian school principal at a New Zealand school, lives in a school residential building which happens to be the same house as Louisa's family home, and the girls also even have the same bedroom as each other, although the room's decor for Jo in 1995 is totally different to the way the room's decor is for Louisa in 1919.

When Jo and Louisa meet, there is instant rapport between the two girls and they become firm friends, and life changes for them both as they become caught up in a web of intrigue.

Following Jo's unexpected journey through the mirror, a hazardous situation occurs during an archaeological dig in a well at Jo's school, when a container they discover in the well is damaged and two of the students working nearby are accidentally sprayed with toxic waste. The affected students become extremely ill, and, when it is discovered that the container has the date 1919 on it, Jo is worried that her friends' sickness is her fault because of going through the mirror to 1919.

Back in 1919, Jo asks Louisa to help her find the container so that they can move it, to prevent the later disastrous events happening in 1995. The well is located in the yard of a neighbouring house which is rented by a British visitor to the area, Sir Ivor Creevy-Thorne. Jo and Louisa enter the yard and look down the well - following which they become aware of a teenage boy watching them. The boy is Nicholas whom Sir Ivor Creevy-Thorne had brought from Russia to New Zealand, under the guise of caring for the boy until the dangerous situation in Russia abated. Although Nicholas is grateful to Sir Ivor Creevy-Thorne for his help, he is extremely worried about his family, whom he has not heard about for a long time - and he is worried about the lack of information he receives whenever he asks Sir Ivor Creevy-Thorne about them. Nicholas is also upset that Sir Ivor refuses to allow him to leave the house, or to have any friends of his own age.

When Nicholas eventually manages to escape from the house, he goes to Louisa's home, where he finds Jo's encyclopedia (which Jo had brought through the mirror to show to Louisa). Intrigued by the colour pictures, because only black and white pictures had been his experience up until then, Nicholas checks the book for information about the Russian Royal Family. To his horror, he reads that Nicholas II, the Tsar of Russia, and his family, had been killed. When Jo and Louisa come into the room, Nicholas demands that Jo tell him if the information he had read is correct, and asks Jo where she got the book. Jo confirms that the information is correct, and Nicholas reveals to Jo and Louisa that he is Alexei Nikolaevich, the son of the Tsar, and that it is his family who had been murdered. Sir Ivor Creevy-Thorne's treachery is finally revealed. Instead of caring for Nicholas, Sir Ivor had actually kidnapped Nicholas in Russia and brought him to New Zealand so that he could 'sell' Nicholas to the highest bidder - Russian Bolsheviks who want to take Nicholas back to Russia with them so that Nicholas, the last surviving member of the Russian Royal Family, can be killed.

Jo asks her school friend, Tama, to assist her and Louisa and Nicholas. When Louisa and Tama meet for the first time, they instantly fall for each other - with the romantic bond between them deepening as the story progresses. There is also a romantic bond between Jo and Nicholas.

Sir Ivor Creevy-Thorne who had earlier taken Nicholas' family signet ring (saying it was for the ring's 'safekeeping'), calls for Nicholas to be brought to him and then takes the ring from a desk drawer. Sir Ivor Creevy-Thorne drops the ring into the container of toxic waste - in front of the horrified Nicholas, and warns Nicholas not to attempt to retrieve his ring from the container. Sir Ivor Creevy-Thorne then leaves the room. Sir Ivor Creevy-Thorne is holding a ball that night, to which members of the New Zealand's high society has been invited (including Louisa's parents).

With the help of Tama, and the technology of 1995, a neutralising agent for the toxic waste is discovered, and a sufficient quantity is manufactured to render the waste in the container safe. While waiting at the fence for a chance for Nicholas to go to the yard to pour the neutralising agent in the container, the two couples pair off, and Louisa and Tama shyly kiss each other. Music can be heard from Sir Ivor Creevy-Thorne's ballroom, and Nicholas teaches Jo to dance the old way, during which Nicholas and Jo also kiss each other.

Nicholas, who requires his family signet ring as proof of his identity, tells Jo that the container of toxic waste is safe, as he has hidden it in the well. Jo is horrified at this and now considers Nicholas to be the person responsible for the harm which had befallen her friends at the school. Nicholas promises her that everything would be okay.

Back in 1995, Jo's parents are very worried because they cannot find Jo, and they decide to confront the elderly owner of the antique shop over the matter. They are surprised when the old man welcomes them and comments that they are expected. The elderly man tells them everything, including his true identity, and mentions that Jo was, at that moment, in 1919. They are very upset and annoyed when the old man states that he and Jo would marry (in 1919) and that Jo would not be returning to 1995.

Meanwhile, back in 1919, Nicholas pours the neutralising agent into the container. Although he is successful in neutralising the toxic waste, it will still remain harmful for years after 1919. However, it will be safe in 1995. Nicholas is able to travel through the mirror to 1995 and retrieve his ring. However, when he attempts to return to 1919 through the mirror with the ring, he discovers that he is unable to do so because the ring already exists in 1919. Nicholas is given two choices - he can return to 1919 without the ring (and, therefore, without him being able to prove his identity), or he can stay in 1995 with Jo. Love wins out and Nicholas stays

Petra Jared who played Jo in the series won a Young Actors award from the AFI for her role. The various crew for the show included Music by Chris Harriott, Costume Design by Angus Strathie, Produced by Andrew Blaxland, Ian Fairweather (executive), Dave Gibson, Posie Graeme-Evans (executive), Dorothee Pinfold (executive), Perry Stapleton (line).

Other crew included, Vicki Ambrose (film editor), Peter Bell (stunt co-ordinator), Ross Boyer (sound), Philippa Campbell (script editor), Nigel Christensen (sound effects editor), Anthony Ellis (script editor), Rachel Evans (second assistant director), Posie Graeme-Evans (script editor, series creator), Mark Harris (stunt co-ordinator), Simon James (film editor), Ian Key (first assistant director), David Kolff (third assistant director), Brad Mill (art director), Hank Prins (second unit camera assistant), Simon Riera (camera operator second unit), Harry Slowery (second unit camera assistant), Robert Stevens (title design), Nigel Streeter (mirror effects adviser), Michelle Turner (location manager), Jenny Vial (continuity), Jo Warren (production co-ordinator), Shane Warren (unit manager).

WR.

DIR. John Banas, Sophia Turkiewicz

EPISODES: 20 YEAR MADE: 1995 COUNTRY: AUS SEASONS: 1

MILLENIUM PICS/GIBSON GROUP/NEW SOUTH WALES FILM AND TELEVISION OFFICE/NEW ZEALAND ON AIR/ THE AUSTRALIAN FILM FINANCE COMPANY/

CREATOR: POSSIE GRAEME EVANS

TYPE OF SHOW: TIME TRAVEL

FORMAT: SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 20

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Josephine 'Jo' Tiegan PETRA JARED, Louisa Iredale MICHALA BANAS, Nicholas NICHOLAS HOOPER, Katherine Guthrie (Tiegan) JUDY MCINTOSH, Andrew Tiegan PETER BENSLEY, Joshua Iredale GERALD BRYAN, Primrose Iredale MICHELE AMAS, Sir Ivor Creevy-Thorne NICHOLAS HAMMOND, Tama Williams JAMES ASHCROFT, Royce Tiegan JEFFREY WALKER II, Titus Iredale JASON

GASCOIGNE, The Old Man BERNARD KEARNS, Leonie Coigley DONNA AKERSTEN, Bellamy Frid STEPHEN BUTTERWORTH, Campbell EDDIE CAMPBELL, Mrs Whitelaw JODIE DOUGLASS, Police Inspector STEPHEN GLEDHILL, Jade Coigley LIZA JONES, Dr Wileby DESMOND KELLY, Jesse NICHOLAS LEGGETT, Dennis Coigley DAVID MCKENZIE, Mia CARLY NEEMIA, Alexandra JESS PETERS, Ani MIRIAMA SMITH, Sir Gerald Salisbury GRANT TILLY.

RELATED SHOWS:

MIRROR, MIRROR II

1 - 1 ARRIVAL

Daniel McFarlane arrives at Limerick House to meet the father he has not seen for 15 years.

1 - 2 GOLD

Greddy, Aunt Lily has locked the attic door so the children can't get to the mirror.

1 - 3 TRAPPED

Lily has moved the mirror trapping the boys in the past, and will only realign it if Daniel agrees to get the crown for her.

1 - 4 CROWN

As the mirror gradually mends, the children face a race against time.

1 - 5 GHOST

The children uncover a family tragedy in a photograph from the 1860s.

1 - 6

1 - 7

1 - 8 THE WIDOW GAVENEY

Travelling into the past, Mandy is captured by a sinister governess who is plotting to defraud Constance's father.

1 - 9 THE GUESTS FROM HELL

The Rickenbackers make life unbearable for everyone.

1 - 10 THE ARTIST

Fergus makes a frequent trips back in time in a scam to obtain gold.

1 - 11 SPIKE

Mandy recognises the leader of the gang who stole Fergus's jacket.

1 - 12 SEALS

The girls stop a man from trapping seals.

1 - 13 FOREIGNERS

An unwelcome visitor starts a race-hate campaign against Chinese people.

1 - 14 DISCO

Constance declares that women were better off in the 20th Century.

1 - 15 GREENSTONE

Constance is concerned when Gervaise removes a sacred stone from the river.

1 - 16

1 - 17

1 - 18 MELTDOWN

The mirror declares that Lily is not the fairest of them all.

1 - 19

The media close in on a hermit and her dog, who have bizarrely been mistaken for an abominable snowman.

1 - 20

1 - 21

1 - 1 AWAKENING

1 - 2 LULLABLY

1 - 3 LEGACY

1 - 4 REFLECTIONS

1 - 5 PLAGUE

1 - 6 CYCLES

MIRRORMANAKA: MIRAAMANAKA: MIRAMAN

Kyotaro Kagami (Ishida) is the off-spring of a union between a father from a two dimensional universe and a mother from Earth. He is brought up by Dr. Mitari (Usami), an expert in space physics, who has set up the Science Guard Members (SGM) in order to protect Earth from supernatural phenomena. The doctor also has made Kyotaro the Mirror Man to confront the invaders, the cause of the supernatural phenomena.

Based on an "original" idea by Tetsuo Kinjo of Tsuburaya Productions, the Mirrorman project was later handed over to Narumitsu Taguchi. The concept was adapted into manga from to test it on the market, but no TV company was prepared to pick up a broadcast option. After the initial pilot starring SILVER MASK's Toshio Shiba, the series finally went into production with Nobuyuki Ishida in the lead.

However, with SILVER MASK in the same time slot on rival network TBS, the two series were forced to compete against each other in the ratings. Mirrorman eventually fought back by taking the same kiddification route as the earlier MIGHTY JACK, transforming SGM from a group of scientists who around the Air Defence Team into a combat-suited elite who do the fighting themselves. The invaders' own forces were gradually transformed into a series of monsters of the week in the manner of ULTRAMAN.

Produced by Hajime Tsuburaya (supervising producer), Toyaki Awa and Minoru Mitsuta. Original music by Toru Fuyuki.

Mirrorman is the title superhero of a tokusatsu SF/kaiju/superhero TV series, Mirrorman. Produced by Tsuburaya Productions, the series aired on Fuji TV from December 5, 1971 to November 26, 1972, with a total of 51 episodes. This was Tsuburaya Productions' first non-Ultra superhero (even though there were concepts that were very similar to Ultraman, and became a Tsuburaya trademark).

Like Ultra Seven, Mirrorman was a serious sci-fi drama. But by Episode 26, when the series had major changes (which made the title hero even more Ultra-like), it became your typical action-oriented superhero adventure.

There was a second series, a short series titled Mirror Fight, which broadcast on TV Tokyo from April 1, 1974 to September 27, 1974, with a total of 65 short-episodes. It was similar in concept to the earlier Ultra Fight.

The complete collection is to be released on DVD by the end of 2005. A movie adaptation of the series title Mirrorman Reflex is a new take on the character.

Mirrorman also became the namesake for lewd economist Kazuhide Uekusa, who became infamous for using mirrors to peek under young girls' skirts.

WR. Bunzo Wakatsuki, Keisuke Fujikawa, Hiroyasu Yamaura.

DIR. Yoshiyuki Kuroda, Inoshiro Honda, Toshitsuga Suzuki, Shohei Tojo, Jun Oki.

EPISODES: 51 YEAR MADE: 1971 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

TSUBURAYA PRODUCTIONS, FUJI TELEVISION NETWORK INC.

CREATOR: TETSUO KINJO, NARUMITSU TAGUCHI

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 51

DATE OF PREMIER: 05/12/1971 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 26/11/1972

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS: MIRRORMAN REFLEX (2004)

Kyoutarou Kagami/Mirrorman NOBUYUKI ISHIDA, The Invader DAIGO KUSANO, Kyoutarou Kagami/Mirrorman (pilot) TOSHIO SHIBA, Yuki Nomura YOKO ICHIJI, Dr. Mitarai JUNYA USAMI, TAKAKO SAWAI, TOSHIYA WAZAKI, KENTARO KUDO, GEN SUGIYAMA, TADAYOSHI KURA, SAWAKO KAMIZUKI, FUJIO MURAKAMI, MITSURU SAIJO, MAMORU KUSUMI, SHINICHI UMEDA, MICHIHARU SAKAMOTO.

RELATED SHOWS:

ULTRAMAN

MIGHTY JACK (inc FIGHT! MIGHTY JACK)

MISFITS OF SCIENCE

Misfits of Science was a comedy adventure about a group of would-be super heroes in the employ of the Humanidyne Research Corporation. The team is composed of misfits, people born with unusual abilities and sought after by Humanidyne's Human Investigation Team headed by Dr. Hayes and Dr. Lincoln. Dr. Lincoln is in fact one of the misfits, normally a very tall man of 7' 4", Lincoln has the ability to shrink himself to 8 inches. The other two misfits on the team are: Johnny Bukowski, or Johnny B., a former rock and roll star who has the ability to shoot lightning bolts from his fingertips and Gloria Dinallo, an ex-juvenile delinquent with telekinetic powers.

Through the course of the series other misfits of science appear and try out for a job on the team, however their abilities are always a bit on the lame side and they are rejected. Depending on who one is listening to the misfits have two different purposes. According to Dick Stetmeyer head of Humanidyne it is to perform super heroics to help the company's bottom line, while Dr. Hayes and Dr. Lincoln both would say the misfits super heroics are needed to help them gain acceptance into society.

Courtney Cox is more famous for starring in the American comedy show Friends and Max Wright also starred in the SF comedy ALF. Fantasy aimed at disaffected teenagers, with the message that it's okay to be a freak, especially if you want to fight evil. The "Humanidyne" Institute" in Los Angeles brought together a 7-foot-4-inch African American (El Lincoln) who could shrink to six inches, rock musician Johnny B. who can shoot lightning bolts from his fingers, and telekinetic levitaor former juvenile delinquent Gloria. They were led in their crime-busting by junior scientist Dr. Billy Hayes, against the wishes of Humanidyne" Institute Director Dick Stetmeyer. Jane Miller was Gloria's probation officer; Miss Nance was the Institute's useless receptionist. The final episode of the series 1.17 was never broadcast on the shows original run on NBC. The series has been aired in the UK and Europe on The Sci-Fi Channel.

Misfits of Science has become something of a misfit in TV history. Its mere mention brings unbridled laughter and occasional groans. Even creator James Parriott's first reaction is to laugh, but with affection. "Let's face it, it had a dopey man," he says. "It had people running around with super powers. It was a funny series, and there are some episodes that are a riot."

The idea began with NBC president Brandon Tartikoff. "To this day, he's disowned Misfits of Science," says Parriott. "He won't admit it, but it was Brandon who wanted a gathering of misfit superheroes. He typed the idea on a piece of paper and tried to get Stephen Cannell to do it. Cannell said, 'Are you crazy? Forget it!'" Parriott first heard of the project when Tartikoff came to Universal. "I told him, 'It's either going to be a big hit or it'll fail miserably.'"

The main character is the eccentric, funloving Dr. Billy Hayes, who is constantly scraping up money to keep his science research lab going. Into his life come three young people who are trying to deal with their respective superpowers: EJvin Lincoln, who can shrink to a size of 8 inches; Johnny B., who shoots lightning from his fists; and Gloria, who uses her telekinetic ability to knock the bad guys over like bowling pins.

Once the characters were cast, Parriott felt more confident about the premise. "I loved our cast. They were delightful. We also had good, fun writers. It turned out to be the most fun that I've had on a show." Critics, however, didn't share Parriott's enthusiasm. "We got raked over the coals," he admits, "and people disowned it. But we had a great time doing it."

"It was a fun concept show," agrees coordinating producer Dean Zanetos, "but it was more contained than it should have been. The edict going in was to make it the most unbelievably farout, imaginative show that had ever been done. Once we started dealing with a specific network representative, it became an issue of, 'Can you make it more like The A-Team?' That restricted us. In spite of that, it was still fun. Dean Paul Martin was truly a star. He was an incredible guy."

Executive story consultant Donald Todd says, "The year after Misfits of Science went off, Brandon Tartikoff was telling people that it had been an embarrassment. He mentioned it as sort of a reference point for bad television shows. That makes me feel bad because it was a good show. On the surface it sounds like a ridiculous concept. It was also at a time when shows like Manimal and Knight Rider were around. Those shows were very 'high concept,' and Misfits of Science got lumped in with them. NBC wanted a superhero show, but Jim Parriott turned it into something more than that. The stories may have been bizarre, but they dealt with human values."

Todd had to hit the ground running when he was assigned to work on what was his first weekly TV series. "I had just come off a [new] Twilight Zone when I was hired by Jim. Misfits of Science was fun because we could just let our minds go. The scripts had silly premises that we could do in a fun way." One of Todd's scripts was about an intelligent dolphin who joins the misfits to expose dope smugglers. "The dolphin had discovered a cache of illegal drugs inside plastic pink flamingoes under the sea. I have no idea where these ideas came from," he laughs. "I was 25 years old at the time. I read somewhere that your most creative work is done in your twenties. The rest of your life is spent refining it. I thought of Misfits of Science when I read that because it did represent my most creative writing."

When it came to Todd's talking pig, however, Parriott laid down the law. "Jim wouldn't let me do an episode about an intelligence hormone that is used on a pig. The experiment goes amok and the pig becomes extremely intelligent. He can communicate with people. The more intelligent he becomes, the more he wants to take over! Every time Jim saw the talking pig in my typewriter, he pulled it out. His instincts were absolutely correct. There were boundaries. It was like an electric fence. You had to touch the fence to find out what you're not supposed to do. The intelligent pig was my electric fence."

The ideas that did reach filming were realized by "a terrific cast," says Todd. "They were brand new and happy to be working. They trusted the writers completely. Dean Paul Martin was a delight, and he became a good friend. Kevin Peter Hall also became a good friend. It's hard to believe that they're both gone. I still have a picture of the cast that I keep with me. They were the most wonderful, open-minded people." They were also courageous. Todd remembers their dedication once extended beyond safety. "On the very first day of shooting the first episode, after the pilot, we had a scene where debris falls from a building. The special effects guys put a loaded charge in the junk and shot it out of a cannon. The flaming debris came down on the actors. They had wireless microphones on, and I heard them saying, 'Hey, my jacket's on fire!' and 'We're on fire-what do we do?' Everything ended up okay, but we almost incinerated Mark Thomas Miller and Courteney Cox on the very first day. Their reaction was, 'Oh, sorry. Did we screw up the scene by yelling?'"

Todd reveals that the series had a minimum of staff writers: James Parriott, Morrie Ruvinsky and himself. "And that was absurd! Most TV series have twice that number. I think we started with a six-episode order. That's why we had such a small staff. We worked thirteen hours a day, seven days a week." Although Todd had a firm grasp of writing, he was thrown for a loop when Parriott got him into the show's production. "Jim's technique is to throw you right into the middle. He told me to sit in on a production meeting for one of my scripts. I didn't even know what a production meeting was. I sat there and listened. The line producer said, 'We have a man running through the jungle. He's wearing a hat.' He turned to me and said, 'What kind of hat?' I said, 'I don't know.' Then I realized that my job was to know. I said, 'A hat like Indiana Jones.' Everyone said okay. That's what they needed to know. Then the producer asked, 'He's running through bushes. Are they thick bushes?' I said, 'Yes.' Then it was, 'What kind of car is following them?' I said, 'A Volkswagen,' and so on. I made it up as I went along."

Todd's developing production skills came in handy when he produced the last episode, "Three Days of the Blender." "Jim had been pulled away to do a pilot and Morrie was doing something else. Universal studios didn't want to complete the episode. They knew the show was dead and they didn't want to spend the money. I insisted we do it. We did bring it in for much less money than the others."

Scripted by Todd, "Three Days of the Blender" remains one of his favorite episodes. "Billy is thrown into jail for refusing to say where he had gotten a blender. It contained a top secret microchip for a nuclear guidance system. The government had discovered their mistake and recalled all of the blenders, but one had gotten lost in the mail. It had been sent to Billy from his mother. When he gets it three years later, the authorities arrest him for having classified material. Billy won't give up the blender, and he goes to jail. The story was about standing up to the government when they play hardball. It was also good because all of the misfits were interviewed about their feelings towards Billy. It brought them together. It was a nice way to close the series." Although the episode wasn't aired on NBC, it is included in the syndication package.

As the series wound down, Todd had to think about finding another job. "I was standing with Misfits of Science director Burt Brinckerhoff on location one day. We were waiting for the sun to go down, and we were freezing. Burt and I turned to each other at the same time and said, 'Sitcoms!' The next year, he was directing Newhart, I was writing for Alf."

Reflecting on the series, Todd says, "Some episodes weren't successful. Some were plain dull. But the series had a sense of experimentation and fun that's missing on TV today. It also had one of the most exciting main title sequences of any show that year. It had a great, silly theme song. Considering our Friday night time slot, our ratings were okay. I think we had a 21 to 23 share. NBC was looking for a lesson-oriented show, and Jim was excited about doing something more than that. It was a special show executed in a fairly standard style. It never really reached its script potential." By season end, the series had finished fifty-fourth out of 74 shows.

"The numbers that Misfits of Science was pulling in [against Dallas] weren't strong enough for NBC," says Dean Zanetos. "We felt we were getting a different kind of audience and doing pretty well. We had very loyal viewers." "I don't think we were allowed to be hip enough," says James Parriott. "It would have been a riot to have the misfits of science deal with Los Angeles traffic or put them into more adult situations. NBC wanted it to be like The Incredible Hulk. They wanted five heroes going on missions every week. That was a mistake. You can't deal with this premise straight. You've got to put a spin on it." Donald Todd remains a champion of the series. "It was a terrific show," he says. "My favorite jacket is my Misfits of Science jacket. I wear it proudly!"

CAST NOTES

Dean Paul Martin (Billy): Born 1951. Martin, a former tennis pro, was the son of singer Dean Martin. He died in 1987 when his Air National Guard jet crashed.

Kevin Peter Hall (Lincoln): Born 1956. Hall gained fame as the creature stalking Arnold Schwarzenegger in the film Predator (1989). He was playing Bigfoot in the TV series Harry and the Hendersons when he died in 1991.

Courtney Cox (Gloria): Born 1964. Cox had a recurring role on TV's Family Ties from 1987 to 1988. Cox was known as "the girl" who dances with Bruce Springsteen in his video "Dancing in the Dark" (1984). She later starred in the 1990s TV series Friends.

Mark Thomas Miller (Johnny B): Miller continues to make TV guest appearances.

Max Wright (Mr. Stetmeyer): Wright later played Mr. Tanner, the father of the household that hosted Alf in the late 1980s.

WR. James D. Parriott, Donald Todd, Morrie Ruvinsky, Mark Jones, Michael Cassut, Blaze Forrester, Pmael Norris, M.M. Shelly Moore, Sara Parriott, Don DiStefano.

DIR. James D. Parriott, Alan J. Levi, Burt Brinckerhoff, Christopher Leitch, Jeffrey Hayden, John Tracy, Bob Sweeney, Bernard McEveety.

EPISODES: 17 YEAR MADE: 1985 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

NBC

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: SCIENCE

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 17

DATE OF PREMIER: 04/08/1985 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 21/02/1986

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Dr. Billy Hayes DEAN PAUL MARTIN, Dr. Elvin Lincoln KEVIN PETER HALL, Johnny Bukowski MARK THOMAS MILLER, Gloria Dinallo COURTNEY COX, Jane Miller JENNIFER HOLMES, Dick Stetmeyer MAX WRIGHT, Miss Nance DIANE CIVITA.

RELATED SHOWS:

ALF

1 - 1 MISFITS OF SCIENCE (1-2)

1 - 2 YOUR PLACE OR MAYAN?

1 - 3 GUESS WHAT'S COMING TO DINNER

1 - 4 LOST LINK

- 1 - 5 SORT OF LOOKING FOR GINA
- 1 - 6 SONAR. . . YET SO FAR
- 1 - 7 STEER CRAZY
- 1 - 8 FUMBLE ON THE ONE
- 1 - 9 TWIN ENGINES
- 1 - 10 GRANT THEFT BUNNY
- 1 - 11 GRAND ELUSION
- 1 - 12 ONCE UPON A NIGHT
- 1 - 13 CENTRE OF ATTENTION
- 1 - 14 AGAINST ALL OZ
- 1 - 15 THE AVENGING ANGEL
- 1 - 16 THREE DAYS OF THE BLENDER

MISS WITCHAKA: WE LOVE YOU!!AKA: WITCH TEACHERAKA: SUKI! SUKI! MAJO SENSAIAKA: WE LOVE WITCH TEACHERAKA: WE LOVE YOU!! WITCH TEACHER

A Japanese school gets a pretty teacher with magical powers, who not only brightens everyone's day with her winning smile but also helps defend the world from evil. Hikaru Tsuki (Kiku) is in fact the Queen of Star Alpha and a peaceful observer from the Andromeda Planet Union. Later in the series, she is promoted to A-Class observer, also allowing her to transform into the heroine Andro Mask.

The story began life as Teacher with a Thousand Eyes (Sen no Me no Sensei), a manga by KAMEN RIDER and HARIMAO creator Shotaro Ishinomori, serialized in Teen Look magazine. As with its contemporary COMET-SAN, it took a woman with magical powers in the style of the American bewitched and placed her in a situation where she could interact with children, with just a dash of Bedknobs and Broomsticks (1970).

Ishinomori's story added references to Japanese myths and eventually had its title changed to Teacher Princess Kaguya (Kaguya Hime Sensei) in reference to the visitor from the moon who appears in the ancient Taketori Monogatari. Once the show began broadcasting spin-off strips using the TV series title began appearing in the magazines Shojo Friend and Nakayoshi.

The main actress Yoko Eiku was recommended by Ishinomori personally and died in 1975, four years after the completion of the series, creating a personality cult that was to foreshadow those of Yusaku Matsuda and Masako Natsume (MONKEY). Theme : Mitsuko Horie - "Kaguya Hime Sensei no Uta" (Song of Teacher Princess Kaguya).

Produced by Tohru Hirayama.

WR. Masaki Tsuji, Shinichi Ichikawa, Susumu Takahisa, Kiyohide Ohara, Tadashi Endo.

DIR. Minoru Yamada, Itaru Orita, Katsuhiko Taguchi

EPISODES: 26 YEAR MADE: 1971 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

TOEI

CREATOR: SHOTARO ISHINOMORI

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 25 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 26

DATE OF PREMIER: 03/10/1971

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 26/03/1972

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

MACHIKO SOGA, Hikaru Tsuki YOKO KIKU, MANTARO USHIO, FUYUKICHI MAKI, LEO MORIMOTO, KUNINOBU OKUMURA, USHIO AKASHI, AYAKO OKAMURA, YOSHIYUKI FUJIE, TOMONORI YAZAKI, KAZUKO SUGIYAMA, HIDEKI KAWAGUCHI.

RELATED SHOWS:

KAMEN RIDER

COMET-SAN (1967)

MISSION EUREKA

Euro-drama series about the space race and the intrigue and romance that can be concocted around it. The plot centred on the efforts to rescue the European super-satellite Palladio which has become lost in space. At Project Eureka, scientists Altenburg and Lefebre work to save their space programme, while femme fatale Giovanna Waldberg looks set to lead Altenburg astray. Later episodes also introduced the subject of a new generation of thinking computers.

Mission Eureka launched into a late-night run on Channel Four in 1991, and was repeated in October 1994. The series was based on an idea by Peter Marthesheimer and Pea Frohlich. The producers for the series were Jorn Schroder and Georg Feil, the English producer was Louis Elman.

WR. Ian Curteis (Ep. 1 only), Terence Freely.

DIR. Klaus Emmerich.

EPISODES: 7 YEAR MADE: 1991 COUNTRY: FRA SEASONS: 1

A BAVARIA ATELIER GMBH PRODUCTION

CREATOR: PETER MARTHESHEIMER, PEA FROHLICH

TYPE OF SHOW: LOST

FORMAT: SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): 55 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: French

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 7

DATE OF PREMIER: 24/07/1991

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 11/09/1991

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Altenburg PETER BONGARTZ, Giovanna DELIA BOCCARDO, Lefebre PATRICK FIERRY, Meike AGNES DUNNEISEN, Waldegg MICHEAL DEGAN, Swann JAMES AUBRY, Petrinelli SERGIO FANTONI, Marianne Altenburg ELISABETH RATH.

- 1 - 1 REACHING FOR THE STARS (105MINUTES)
- 1 - 2 THE DECISION
- 1 - 3 DANGEROUS GAME
- 1 - 4 THE TURNING POINT
- 1 - 5 THE 5TH GENERATION
- 1 - 6 BLACKMAIL
- 1 - 7 MAINFRAME MURDER

MISSION TERRAAKA: MISSION EARTH

Easily confused Dr. Kyra and Commander Ro arrive on Earth in their spaceship the "Metamor 5" and a blue planet called Earth. Since the crew cannot breathe the atmosphere of Earth, they send their small robot to gather samples. But soon they discover a stranger looking two legged creature, and they have to decide on if they are a friend or an enemy.

Produced by Barbara Herzog-Lipina line producer , Fred Steinbach executive producer

Cinematography by Michael Wiesweg

Film Editing by Uschi Born

WR.

DIR. Carlo Rola

EPISODES: 25 YEAR MADE: 1985 COUNTRY: GER SEASONS: 0

STUDIO TV FILM GMBH

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: ALIENS ON EARTH FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: German

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1)

DATE OF PREMIER: 14/11/1985 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

MISSION TOP SECRET

Mission Top Secret, centres around Jemma Snipe and her friends. Jemma is the daughter of the housekeeper of Sir Joshua Cranberry, a prolific and respected inventor. One day while working with Sir Joshua's educational computer. Jemma manages to top into a defunct communications satellite and sets up CENTAURI, a secret communications network that links up youths from all over the world.

With the aid of her new found friends. Jemma comes to the aid of Vicki and Albert Wiggins, orphaned siblings who are being persuade by Neville Savage, who believes that they can provide him with information on one of their late father's scientific discoveries. Spike, another orphan also gets involved with CENTAURI. Savage is a billionaire who passion for stealing valuable and unique artefacts frequently brings him into conflict with members of CENTAURI. Often times members of CENTAURI will appear only briefly in episodes when they are contacted and asked if they found any information pertaining to the current case in their neck of the woods.

Mission Top Secret was an international co-production which was financed by TV companies in twelve different countries. The series is about a group of children who use technology to fight crime and injustice all over the world. Their hidden base of operations is in Australia where the series was produced, although action takes place all over the globe. All 24 episodes of the series has been seen in Britain, they were broadcast first on the ITV network - daily and in the morning (during the summer holidays), with a showing also on Nikeolodean. The airdates shown here are for the UK broadcast of the show.

A film was produced before the series was made with a completely different cast than was seen in the series,

WR. David Phillips, Benjamin Legrand, Jean-Jacques Gaffie.

DIR. Marcus Cole, Howard Rubie.

EPISODES: 48 YEAR MADE: 1992 COUNTRY: AUS SEASONS: 2

CHANNEL 10

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: CRIME

FORMAT: SERIES-SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 24, (2) 24

DATE OF PREMIER: 25/07/1994 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 31/07/1995

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS: MISSION TOP SECRET (1990)

Vicki Wiggins JENNIFER HANDY (1) , Albert Wiggins ANDREW SHEPPARD (1), Jemma Snipe DEANNE BURGESS (1), Spike ROSSI KOTSIS (1,2) , Neville Savage SHANE BRIANT (1-2), Sir Joshua Cranberry FREDERICK PARSLOW (1-2), Mrs. Gertrude Snipe PAMELA WESTERN (1), Sandy Weston EMMA HANE FOWLER (1,2), David Fowler JAMIE CROFT (2), Kat Fowler LAUREN HEWETT (2), Oliver Bergmann GUIDO ZARNKEL (1), Gisela JULIA KNABENREIGH (1), Hoshi Tanaka YUGO MITO (1), Jan MAREK ZERANSKI (1), Hacker Weston TROY CARLSON (1,2), Herr von Steinfurth ULLI LOTHMANN (1,2), Mrs. Fowler LIZ BURCH (2), Gisela GISA PROBST (2), Ben SKYE SVORINIC (2).

- 1 - 1 NIGHT OF THE FALLING STAR (1-4)
- 1 - 2 THE EAGLES FROM THE EAST (1-4)
- 1 - 3 THE MONA LISA CAPER (1-4)
- 1 - 4 TREASURE OF THE GALA FIGUERAT (1-4)

- 1 - 5 THE POLISH PONY PUZZLE (1-4)
- 1 - 6 THE FLIGHT OF THE GOLDEN GOOSE (1-4)
- 2 - 1 THE CROWN JEWELS ARE MISSING (1-4)
- 2 - 2 THE RETURN OF THE DINOSAUR (1-4)
- 2 - 3 THE GOLDEN VOICE (1-4)
- 2 - 4 THE TREASURE OF ELEPHANT RIDGE (1-4)
- 2 - 5 THE EMPEROR'S PEARL (1-4)
- 2 - 6 THE TOYMAKER (1-4)

MISTIKES DIADROMES

Produced by - Panayiotis Petropoulos (producer)
Original Music by Yiannis 'Bach' Spyropoulos
Cinematography by Nikos Kavoukidis
Casting by Dimitris Marcantonatos
Art Direction by Mihalis Samiotis

WR.

DIR. Antonis Kokkinos

EPISODES: 0 YEAR MADE: 2001 COUNTRY: GRE SEASONS: 1

POINT PICTURES LTD

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW:

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 45 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Greek

SEASON BREAKDOWN:

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Stefanos NIKOS PSARRAS, Liza ELISAVET MOUTAFI, Mitera JOULIA ARGYOPOULOU, Iatrodikastis
PERIKLIS LIANOS, Kathigitis LLIAS LOGOTHETIS, Kapetanios STELIOS MAINAS, Drakoulas
STRATOS TZORTZOGLU, Arxisintaktria MARGARITA VARLAMOU

MONKEY

AKA: SAIYUKI

AKA: JOURNEY TO THE WEST

After living as a monk and learning magical powers, Monkey returns to his kingdom. As king of the monkeys, he begins to train his subjects with the intention of forming an army to conquer the world. He soon becomes too big for his boots and tries to force heaven into letting him be a god. The gods decide to make Monkey a guard for some special fruit so that he will leave them alone.

Monkey discovers that the fruit have the ability to make anybody immortal so he decides to eat all of them. For his punishment he is sent to Earth and encased in stone. Many years later a young priest called Tripitaka is sent on a quest by Buddha to find some holy scriptures, she has to take Monkey, Pigsy and Sandy who were also thrown out of heaven, with him for protection against evil demons who keep attacking the priest.

Season 2 - Monkey, Pigsy and Sandy have become bored with their quest and leave Tripitaka to continue his journey alone to India. Pigsy returns to China and finds he gets a face change and Monkey finds another spirit thrown out of heaven who is an horse who can also change into a human when he's frightened, all four finally decide to return to Tripitaka on his journey to India.

Commissioning a major series to mark its 25th anniversary, the NTV channel opted for a dramatization of Wu Cheng-en's 16th Century Chinese novel Journey to the West. A perennial favourite with Japanese children through several animated versions and the 1977 puppet show SUN WUKONG, the story designed to appeal to both parents and offspring, with a classical origin to guarantee a suitably worthy pedigree. Partnering Son of Godzilla director Jun Fukuda with longtime taiga scenarist James Miki, and featuring comedian Sakai (credited with inventing the twist-inspired "Monkey" dance craze in his youth) in the title role, the show soon veered away from any pretense of historical accuracy, preferring humour, slapstick and spectacular fight scenes amidst a flood of guest star cameos, such as Monjiro's Nakamura as the Emperor of Heaven in episode one. Despite running directly opposite the 1978 taiga drama Days of Gold on NHK, Monkey still picked up an average audience share around 20% - a remarkable feat considering taiga's traditional strangle-hold on Sunday ratings.

A second season followed in 1979, although Nishida had already accepted the lead role in Genta Ikenaka 80 Kilos and was replaced by Tonpei Hidari as Pigsy. Tripitaka's "Horse" (which was actually a shapeshifting dragon), occasionally assumed the cowardly form of Yulong (Fujimura) as an extra cast member during the second season, but the story did seem to have lost its way and ended without its characters ever reaching their destination. The humour seems more desperate (Yulong is particularly irritating) and the anachronisms assume unstable proportions, including a modern disco and a gambling den complete with roulette wheel. However the series remained popular with the Japanese audience through reruns and a TV movie edit and receive an extra burst of tragic publicity when actress Masako Natsume died of leukemia in 1985, aged just 31. When the channel's 40th anniversary rolled around in 1993, the series was unsuccessfully remade with a new cast, in a version filled in the book as JOURNEY TO THE WEST.

However Monkey's original success did not merely give it a high profile in the Japanese market. After the successful acquisition of NTV's earlier Water Margin, the UK's BBC also bought the English-language rights to Monkey - it remains possible that much of the extra budget seen onscreen, such as second season opening credits actually filmed in China, owes its opulence to the injection of BBC money. Adapted by Water Margin's Davie Weir, the series was edited, simplified and stripped of 13 later episodes before being broadcast in a primetime slot that enchanted an entire generation.

The BBC dub was broadcast around the English-speaking world, but not in the U.S. where Monkey was only seen in its original incarnation on local tv channels for Japanese immigrant communities. Instead, the best known version of the story in America is the Chinese live-action version Xiyouji.

When the series eventually made it to British DVD in the early 21st Century, distributors Fabulous Films included the previously unreleased episodes as bonus extras in subtitled form. In an era which took excessive care over its attitude toward media violence, some episodes of the series were originally broadcast for children were rating by the British video censor as unsuitable for under 12s. Theme Godiego "Monkey Magic". Both the opening theme and the closing theme "Gandhara" were released on record and entered the pop charts in both Japan and the U.K. The anime Gandhara is said to have been inspired by the song.

Series produced by Tsuneo Hayakawa and Mineo Yamada. First series aired from 1st October 1978 to 1st April 1979, and the second series from 11th November 1979 to 4th May 1980.

This series is very well remembered in Britain for being an intriguing blend of martial arts and fantasy, this was the first taste that Britain ever had of Japanese live action science fiction which had already been going in Japan for 20 years previously. It is not as complicated as many of the modern day Japanese SF shows, but its star Masaaki Sakai is a very famous actor in Japan having his own cookery show! Sadly, Masako Natsume, who played Tripitaka died of Leukemia soon after the show was cancelled.

Monkey was based on Hsi Yu Chi (The Journey to the West) by sixteenth century author Wu Ch'eng-en, which had been translated into English as Monkey by Arthur Waley in the 1940s. NTV's Monkey, rewritten by David Weir, was a joyous explosion of Buddhist philosophy, high comedy and chessey special effects. Each episode began by narrating the story of Monkey's creation to the immortal strains of the theme, Micky Yoshino's 'Monkey Magic'.

Despite the spiritual trappings, Monkey was an entertaining adventure serial, with bizarre monsters (very much of the Godzilla school of realism) being dealt with to a wonderful disco soundtrack. David Weir, who had contributed to The Troubleshooters and The Lotus Eaters and written an unused DOCTOR WHO script Killer Cats of Gen Singh, had been responsible for re-working The Water Margin into English, but the priority with Monkey was fun.

The series was also screened in New Zealand in the early 1980s. The series has also been seen both on BBC2 (its original UK run) and on Bravo, on satellite.

WR. James Miki, Hirokazu Fuse, Mamoru Sasaki, Isao Okishima.

DIR. Jun Fukuda, Yuskue Watanabe, Daisuke Yamazaki, Shoichi Ota.

EPISODES: 52 YEAR MADE: 1979 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 2

NTV & KOKUSA HOEI

CREATOR: MAMORU SASAKI & ISAO OKISHIMA

TYPE OF SHOW: FANTASY FORMAT: SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): 45 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 26 (2) 26

DATE OF PREMIER: 01/10/1978 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 04/05/1980

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Monkey MASA AKI SAKAI, Tripitaka MASAKO NATSUME, Sandy SHIRO KISHIBE, Pigsy TOSHIYUKI NISHIDA (1), Pigsy TONPEI HIDARI (2), Horse/Yu-Lung SHUNJI FUJIMURA (2).

- 1 - 1 MONKEY GOES WILD ABOUT HEAVEN
- 1 - 2 MONKEY TURNS NURSEMAID
- 1 - 3 THE GREAT JOURNEY BEGINS
- 1 - 4 MONKEY SWALLOWS THE UNIVERSE
- 1 - 5 THE POWER OF YOUTH
- 1 - 6 EVEN MONSTERS CAN BE PEOPLE
- 1 - 7 THE BEGINNING OF WISDOM
- 1 - 8 PIGSY WOOS A WIDOW
- 1 - 9 WHAT MONKEY CALLS A DOG WOMAN

- 1 - 10 PIGSY'S IN THE WELL
- 1 - 11 DIFFERENCE BETWEEN DAY AND NIGHT
- 1 - 12 PEARLS BEFORE SWINE
- 1 - 13 THE MINX AND THE SLUG
- 1 - 14 MONKEY MEETS THE DEMON DIGGER
- 1 - 15 THE MOST MONSTOROUS MONSTER
- 1 - 16 TRUTH AND THE GREY GLOVE DEVIL
- 1 - 17 THE CATFISH MONSTER

MONSTER AND THE APE,THE

Morgan is the inventor of a robot that is powered by 'metalogen' and Macready the enemy agent out to get it and the formula for metalogen with the assistance of a killer ape called Thor (Ray 'Crash' Corrigan) and a variety of criminal accomplices. Lowery is the wide-grinned hero. Routine.

This is one of a pair of serials made by Bretherton, a director best known for his work on the Hopalong Cassidy series westerns. The serial was producer by Rudolph C. Flothow, the cinematographer was C. W. O'Connell.

WR. Sherman Lowe, Royal K. Cole.

DIR. Howard Bretherton

EPISODES: 15 YEAR MADE: 1945 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

COLUMBIA

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: CRIME

FORMAT: CINEMA SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 15

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

ROBERT LOWERY, GEORGE MACREADY, RALPH MORGAN, CAROLE MATTHEWS, JACK INGRAM, ANTHONY WARDE.

MONSTER SQUAD, THE

The series centred around Walter, a college student in criminology, who had taken a job as night watchman at a wax museum to help pay for his education. While experimenting with his computer at the wax museum, Walter accidentally brought the wax dummies of Dracula, the Wolfman and Frankenstein monster to life. In slapstick comedy adventures the trio of monsters helped Walt catch an unusual string of bad guys that the police force was unable to. McMac Mac was a member of the police force who was never quite sure what was going on at the museum.

The Monster Squad was a Saturday morning series which brought a trio of classic film monster to the small screen. Series star Fred Grandy later rose to fame in the role of Gopher on The Love Boat. He later became elected to congress representing Iowa. The series premise was very reminiscent of many mid 1980s teen SF movies, such as Weird Science, which also became a spin off TV series.

WR.

DIR.

EPISODES: 15 YEAR MADE: 1976 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

aired on NBC

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: COMEDY

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 15

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Walter FRED GRANDY, Dracula HENRY POLIC II, Bruce Wolfman BUCK KARTALIAN, Frank N. Stein
MICHAEL LANE, Officer McMac Mac PAUL SMITH.

RELATED SHOWS:

WEIRD SCIENCE

MONSTER WARRIORS

Tagline :-

Clearly, all is not well in the metropolis of Capital City.

1950's sci-fi movie monsters are destroying everything in their path ...
 Giant earthworms are eating subway trains!
 A 60 foot bumble bee is sucking up th city's electricity!
 A giant squid is munching on ferry boats!
 A radioactive garbage monster is gobbling up the city's bridges!

... only four people can stop them.

Equipped with very cool weapons made from household appliances, our heroes are four teenagers who call themselves.

Four teenage heroes fight to save Capital City from the gigantic monsters unleashed by the evil ex-B-movie maker Klaus Von Steinhauer (played by Gemini award-winner Sean Cullen). Using everyday household appliances to make their cool weapons, the Monster Warriors - Luke, Tabby, Antonio and Vanka - defend Capital City against a new oversized creature every week - be it a giant ice creature, the colossal radioactive junk monster, or cockroaches the size of a bus.

The adventure-comedy series will aired on YTV in Canada and on JETIX EUROPE NETWORK internationally. It is being distributed by Buena Vista International Television and Bejuba! Entertainment and will air in the early spring in multiple international markets.

Filmed entirely in Barrie, Ontario, Canada, the city's quarries, junkyards and waterfront created the perfect photo realistic stage upon which visual effects team Bullseye Post Production integrated the show's groundbreaking computer generated monsters.

With its all-Canadian cast, MONSTER WARRIORS feature the talents of comedian and two-time Gemini Award-Winner Sean Cullen of Toronto, who plays evil-doer Klaus Von Steinhauer, Vancouver's Jared Keeso (Smallville) plays MONSTER WARRIORS leader Luke; Montreal's Lara Amersey (Radio Free Roscoe) is Vanka, the group's Stealthy warrior; Mandy Butcher (Naturally Sadie) of Cambridge plays the junior MacGyver, Tabby; and Toronto's Yani Gellman (The Lixxie McGuire Movie) is Antonio, the scientific brains behind the team.

Created, written and directed by Wilson Coneybeare, Monster Warriors is the latest family project from Coneybeare Stories. The same brand was responsible for Kratts' Creatures and Time Blazers. Coneybeare Stories is also in dvelopment with two other television series and two family feature films. It is the mandate of the company to provide innovative and lively television that the whole family can enjoy and parents can trust.

"I have four kids ten years and under", says Coneybeare. "IT's hard to find shows you don't worry about. If you are a parent, you know what I am talking about. With Monster Warriors, it was fun to be able to bring the show home every day and know that my three year old could watch it as well as my ten year old. It's a retro-adventure comedy, and we all got to laugh and be spooked together".

In Canada, MONSTER WARRIORS premiered on YTV in its regular timeslot Saturday, March 18 at 10:30 AM, and repeated on Wednesday at 7:30 PM. (All times ET/PT)

Produced by Wilson Coneybeare executive producer , Andre Czernohorsky producer , Tatiana Kober co-executive producer , Michael Lekes executive producer , Bill Marks line producer , Byron A. Martin line producer (first eight episodes) , Barbara Patten producer

Original Music by Tim Foy , Paul Kauffman , Pure West

Cinematography by Jason Webber

Film Editing by Duncan Christie , Gordon McClellan , Samir Rehem , Matthew P. Wocks

Casting by Susannah Coneybeare & Ron Leach

Production Design by Phillip Craig & Craig Harris

Art Direction by Craig Harris

Set Decoration by Peter Atto & Robert Hillman

Costume Design by Tarah Burke

Makeup Department - Sandra Ardagna assistant makeup artist & Sarah Craig key makeup artist

Second Unit Director or Assistant Director - Stephen John Donkers daily third assistant director , Jeff Horn third assistant director , Jonnie Katz first assistant director , Karen McGarroch second assistant director , Jeremy Perger third assistant director , James Rait first assistant director James Rait second unit director , Will Campbell Samson first assistant director , Darren Williams trainee assistant director

Art Department - Brad Archdekin property master , Reece Carkner props , Pedram Goshtasbpour storyboard artist (episode "Mantis") , Greg Kleynhans key scenic artist , Greg Kleynhans painter , Greg Lantnier carpenter , Kyle Larsen construction coordinator , Ryan Louagie props , Shelley H. Silverman assistant art director , Joanna Syrokomla painter , Bill Thrasher lead dresser , Zac Ward set dresser

Sound Department - Jason Gough boom operator , Rob Rouse sound mixer

Special Effects by Ryan Louagie assistant prop builder , Ryan Louagie on set dresser , Ryan Louagie on set props , Ryan Louagie special effects assistant

Visual Effects by Rebecca Adams visual effects coordinator , Derek Grime visual effects supervisor . Kevin Pitts visual effects supervisor , Ralph Schmidt digital compositor , Robert D.M. Smith animation director

Other crew - Sanja Adamovic production secretary , Doug Allen production accountant , Daryl Alvaro dolly grip , Lila Bahadori craft service
Dylaine Bovaird extras casting , Colin Burke production assistant , Tim Carleton driver , Hunter Commerford production assistant
Jeannette Corbett assistant to executive producer , Jeannette Corbett story department coordinator , Alex Dacev key grip , Dean Fester unit transport coordinator , Pedram Goshtasbpour animation director (episode "Anaconda") (episode "Cockroaches") (episode "Garbage Monster") (episode "Giant Frog") (episode "Ladybug") (episode "Mantis") (episode "Space Alien") (episode "T-rex") (episode "Vine/Slug") , Anthony Hollier driver captain , Sabrina Horlyck key on-set wardrobe , Melinda Hughes camera trainee , Matti Huhta script supervisor , Monica Ionson assistant production accountant , Alex Jordan electrician , Alex Jordan gaffer , Janet Lawson production assistant , Janet J. Lawson production assistant , Heidi Leigh talent coordinator , Robin Ott casting assistant , Dean Pollock co-production coordinator , Demetri Portelli first assistant camera , Katharine Jane Reid script supervisor , Alexander Shapcott production assistant , Tanya Shields location manager
Ken Simpson electrician , Vanessa Steinmetz director of business affairs , Jonathan Williams gaffer , Jonathan Williams gaffer
Nicole Wiwchar second assistant camera , Matthew P. Wocks production coordinator , Daniel Zuccala production assistant.

WR. Carol Commisso , Tracy Grant, Hugh Hardy , Max Marks , Steven Westren.

DIR. Marni Banack , Wilson Coneybeare , Otta Hanus , Graeme Lynch , Bill Marks , Warren P. Sonoda

EPISODES: 46 YEAR MADE: 2006 COUNTRY: CAN SEASONS: 2

ONEYBEARE STORIES / REALLY BIG BUG MOVIES LTD. / YTV / JETIX EUROPE

CREATOR: WILSON CONEYBEARE

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHEROFORMAT: SERIESLENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: Yes B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: EnglishSEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 26, (2) 20DATE OF PREMIER: 08/03/2006AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE*SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:*FILMS:

Luke JARED KEESO, Tabby MANDY BUTCHER, Vanka LARA AMERSEY, Antonio YANI GELLMAN, Amber KRYSTA CARTER, Klaus Von Steinhauer SEAN CULLEN, CCTN Director JONNIE KATZ, Missy Gore HEIDI LEIGH, Robber ALEX HUSSBAUM. Mystery Monster Maker (2), Dana The Diner Waitress (2), General Grabjaw (2).

1 - 1 THE GIANT SPIDER INVASION

When Capital City is threatened by a giant spider, four teenaged classmates decide it's up to them to save the city.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare1 - 2 THE BEAST FROM BENEATH THE SEA

The Monster Warriors tackle a giant squid that threatens the town's Harbour Days celebrations.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare1 - 3 GATORS!

The Monster Warriors swarm the city's sewer tunnels to banish a troublesome family of monster gators; Klaus Von Steinhauer's conscience pays him a visit in the form of his former self.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare1 - 4 BUZZ!

A giant electricity-sucking bumble bee threatens all of Capital City by draining its entire power supply.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare1 - 5 THE TERROR UNDERGROUND

Capital City's subway system is being terrorized by a giant earthworm capable of eating entire trains whole, while a disgruntled city worker becomes Klaus Von Steinhauer's unlikely accomplice.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare1 - 6 THE ICE MONSTER

During a skating competition, a monster arises from the ice and towers over the terrified spectators. It's a 25-foot ice monster, and after freezing the arena worker who threatens him, the monster escapes into greater Capital City.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare1 - 7 DRAGONS!

Vanka is captured by a fire-breathing dragon who uses her as bait to lure the rest of the team into its lair.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare1 - 8 ANACONDA OF THE NORTH WOODS

While battling a giant anaconda in the north woods, Luke loses his nerve and starts to question his role as leader; a peculiar young boy has a prophetic message for the Monster Warriors.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare1 - 9 GIANT LOBSTER

A giant lobster is attacking the newly re-opened beaches of Capital City while the Monster Warriors discover there might be an alien force behind Klaus Von Steinhauer's giant monsters..

Wr Wilson Coneybeare1 - 10 LAST RIDE OF THE SKELETON CREW

A mischievous team of skeleton creatures threaten to poison the city's water supply; Henry gives Luke a cryptic message about the Monster Warriors' future.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare1 - 11 ATTACK OF THE JUNK MONSTER

The Monster Warriors battle a radioactive metal-eating monster with the help of a mysterious ally.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

1 - 12 PTERODACTYL TERROR

Three giant pterodactyls bring terror to the skies of Capital City, raising havoc with their ferocity and their highly toxic droppings.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

1 - 13 FALL OF THE HAUNTED HOUSE OF T-REX

A T-Rex threatens the opening of the Capital City Amusement Park.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

1 - 14 ATTACK OF THE GIANT CARNIVOROUS BUTTERFLY

While pursuing a giant carnivorous butterfly, Luke falls into a hole in the ground that leads him into the cellars beneath Stupendous Studios and into a direct confrontation with Klaus Von Steinhauer himself!

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

1 - 15 CAPTIAL CITY VS. THE PLANT THING

Klaus creates a giant plant creature that threatens to eat just about everything in Capital City - including Klaus!

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

1 - 16 BEWARE THE BLOB THING

The opening of the new Monster Warriors Playground gets sidetracked by a slimy, smelly blob that devours everything in its path and eventually captures and appears to consume the mayor!

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

1 - 17 ALIEN ZOMBIE FROM THE PLANET ZEENOM

Missy meddles with Klaus' monster-making ray gun and inadvertently unleashes an alien creature that she can't control

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

1 - 18 TERROR OF THE GIANT COCKROACHES

The Monster Warriors find themselves facing an army of gigantic cockroaches deep within the city's underground tunnel systems.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

1 - 19 MARAUDING MANTIS

While the Monster Warriors battle a herd of giant praying mantis, Luke finds himself strangely bothered by Tabby's friendship with her good-looking student council co-president.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

1 - 20 REVENGE OF THE MUD MANIAC

A giant mud monster is on the attack in Capital City; Antonio uses poetry to express his feelings for Vanka.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

1 - 21 TERMITES

A horde of giant termites infest Capital City, with the Queen eventually trapping Mayor Mel and Superintendent McClellan inside City Hall.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

1 - 22 DAY OF THE PIRANHA

When they are trapped in a cabin in the woods and being attacked by a school of mutant man-eating piranhas, the Monster Warriors must call on Kreeger.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

1 - 23 ATTACK OF THE ENORMOUS TERRIFYING LADYBUG

With the appearance of a giant ladybug in Capital City, the Monster Warriors are confronted, for the first time, with a creature they would rather take care of than destroy.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

1 - 24 VOYAGE TO THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA CUCUMBER

In order to save Vanka's teacher, the Monster Warriors must take a mini sub down to the bottom of the sea and venture into the belly of a sinister giant sea cucumber.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

1 - 25 RIBBIT

Huge frogs rain down on Capital City, trapping the Monster Warriors inside a movie theatre with a stranger who may be something more than human.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

1 - 26 RIBBIT 2: FROGGY'S REVENGE

The Monster Warriors finally come face to face with an alien at the same time they are being held captive by a legion of giant frogs.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 1 ATTACK OF THE STINKBUGS (PART 1 OF 2)

Who else other than Klaus Von Steinhauer is creating Giant stinkbugs ?

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 2 ATTACK OF THE STINKBUGS (PART 2 OF 2)

Can the Monster Warriors wake up and escape from the web of the stinkbugs ?

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 3 TERROR AT THE DRIVE-IN

Why should a good evening at the Drive In be spoiled by movie characters transforming into real life form giants?

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 4 THE ALIEN RETURNS

Vanka thinks she saw Aliens, and so the Monster Warriors investigate, but Luke was already brain washed! Can the Monster Warrior find and defeat the alien and save their town?

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 5 MONKEY MACHINE (PART 1 OF 2)

Superintendent McClellan is being chased by a giant mechanical gorilla.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 6 MONKEY MACHINE (PART 2 OF 2)

Is there a way to stop this giant mechanical gorilla?

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 7 BEAST FROM BELOW

What does Antonio and City Hall have to do with a giant jellyfish?

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 8 MEGABATUA

Capital City has a new type of monster - vampire bats! This time vampire bats drain all the city blood supply, The Monster Warriors are needed badly or many people will suffer.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 9 TERROR IN THE NORTH WOODS

Mayor Mel is missing!

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 10 THE SECRETS OF LOST CANYON

Can the Monster Warriors escape from the Lost Canyon?

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 11 ATTACK OF THE LEAPING LEECHES

Can the Monster Warriors stop the leaping leeches from attacking Klaus?

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 12 ATTACK OF THE MONUMONSTER

Can the Monster Warriors release Mayor McClellan from the clutches of a statue?

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 13 TERROR OF THE TROGLOTHALS

Troll like creatures pull down Antonio beneath Aunt Agatha's garden.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 14 ASTROSAURUS VS. GIGANTOBEAST

Should the Monster Warriors lay down their weapons in order for downtown Capital City be spared?

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 15 INVASION OF THE COMPUTER BUGS

Klaus inadvertently creates real life computer bugs. Meanwhile the Monster Warriors deal with a small and clever creature.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 16 CURSE OF THE LAGOON MAN

Can the Monster Warriors, Dink Doormen and Dana the waitress, return the Lagoon Man of Capital City legend to its museum exhibit state before dawn?

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 17 RATBLASTER

A sanitation workers strike, a giant rat and Luke's monsterblasting weapon combine to test the Monster Warriors.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 18 RETURN OF THE ICE MONSTER

Tabby is running a Winter Carnival but things are not going her way, Antonio reports of warm current and Luke gets chased by a 15 foot Ice Monster.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 19 PENGUINS

How will the Monster Warriors stop gigantic penguins from destroying Capital City without upsetting penguin loving citizens?

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

2 - 20 GNOMES FOR THE HOLIDAY

The Monster Warriors on the trail to search for the missing Kreeger, they stumble on a criminal gang of gnomes led by Klaus.

Wr Wilson Coneybeare

MONSTERS,THE

Newlywed John Brent has his curiosity aroused while staying in a small North England hotel by a lake, in which over the centuries, local people have claimed to see strange creatures. When the body of a government agent, Charles Pulford, is found floating in the water, Brent wonders if there might be a connection. The trail leads to the mysterious Prof. Cato and his enemy mini-sub, but Brent eventually discovers that the monsters really do exist, and that the fate of man is effected by their survival.

Four-part tale that took a honeymooning zoologist in search of a fabled 'Loch Ness' style monster and ended with him uncovering an even greater mystery surrounding the survival of mankind. The story, co-written by playwright Evelyn Frazer (The Critical Point, Virus X) and Vincent Tilsley, was inspired by a Panorama report about the Loch Ness Monster and a subsequent conversation in a BBC canteen. The director, Mervyn Pinfield, became better known for his work on the early seasons of DOCTOR WHO. The producer for the series was George R. Foa, the designer was Stewart Marshall, the special effects were created by Bernard Wilkie (QUATERMASS) and Stewart Marshall. The music was created by Humphrey Searle, and was played by members of the Sinfonia of London Orchestra. The first three episodes were 45 minutes long with the fourth episode being 50 minutes long.

WR. Evelyn Frazer, Vincent Tilsley.

DIR. Mervyn Penfield

EPISODES: 4 YEAR MADE: 1962 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 1

A BBC TELEVISION PRODUCTION

CREATOR: EVELYN FRAZER, VINCENT TILSLEY

TYPE OF SHOW: MANKIND

FORMAT: SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): 45 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 4

DATE OF PREMIER: 08/11/1962

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 29/11/1962

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

John Brent WILLIAM GREENE, Felecity Brent ELIZABETH WEANER, Hopkins MARK DIGNAM, Howard Milroy CLIFFORD COX, Van Halloren ALLAN GIFFORD, Prof. Cato ROBERT HARRIS, Meissonier GORDON WING, Esmee Pulford HELEN LINDSAY, Sgt. Oakroyd NORMAL MITCHELL, Wilf Marner HOWARD DOUGLAS, Richard PHILLIP MADOC, Smetanov GEORGE PRAVDA, Edward KENNETH MACKINTOSH, Col. Swinton CLIVE MORTON, PC Mills STUART HOYLE, Holt ARTHUR SKINNER.

MOON SPIRAL

As the time of the prophecies of Nostradamus approach, the Moon Spiral secret organization of mutant psychics prepares to exterminate humanity. A similarly clandestine group is formed by the Japanese secret service, led by special agent Kessaku Yatsumata (Miyasaka), whose assistants include his psychic adopted daughter Chihiro (Yamada) and Nostradamus scholar Toru (Amamoto). Meanwhile agents of Moon Spiral try to turn Chihiro to the dark side, as her powers could prove very useful to them in their plot to ensure that the meek never inherit the Earth.

Rushed into production in the wake of the X-FILES (Asahi, 1995), this retread of OPERATION MYSTERY barely had the change to begin before it was pulled from the airwaves. A last unbroadcasted episode was later included as a bonus on the show's video release. A different angle on prophecies of Nostradamus formed part of the plot of To Heart three years later. Series was produced by Masahiro Tsuburaya. Series was shown on NTV in Japan.

WR. Kazuya Okada, Mihoko Sakai, Masakazu Migita.

DIR. Masahori Tsuburaya, Ken Yumeno, Toshiyuki Takano, Takeshi Yagi

EPISODES: 3 YEAR MADE: 1997 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

TSUBURAYA PRODUCTIONS

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 3

DATE OF PREMIER: 07/05/1996

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 21/05/1996

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Kessaku Yatsumata HIROSHI MIYASAKA, Toru HIDEYO AMAMOTO, Chihiro MARIYA YAMADA, NOBU MANNO.

MOONBASE 3

The year is 2003. Men and woman are at last living on the moon, in small, enclosed communities set up by the various power blocs. But it's a tenuous foothold in an hostile environment, operating on shoestring budgets and an overdraft of Earthly goodwill. No one has it easy, with psychological problems ranking along side technical ones.

Central figures in a large cast of regular and semi-regular were scientific trouble-shooter and new European moon base director David Caulder, his deputy Michel Lebrunm, technical director Tom Hill and team psychiatrist Dr. Helen Smith.

Moonbase 3 is a British science fiction television programme that ran for six episodes in 1973. It was a co-production between the BBC, 20th Century Fox and the American ABC network. Created by Doctor Who producer Barry Letts and script editor Terrance Dicks as a realistic alternative strand of TV science-fiction, it was not a commercial or critical success (Dicks himself has stated in a foreword to a collection of Tom Baker-era Doctor Who scripts that they "overdid the grimness and forgot about the sense of wonder that science fiction is all about").

It starred Donald Houston as Director David Caulder, who is appointed to the position after the previous director was killed while returning to Earth. Ralph Bates was Michel Lebrun, the Deputy Director, who was concerned about keeping to the rules. Fiona Gaunt played Doctor Helen Smith, the base's psychiatrist, and Barry Lowe played Tom Hill, the head of the base technical section.

The programme was notable for its combination of realistic spaceflight procedures, ensured by hiring BBC technical adviser James Burke, and its strong character-based writing.[1] Although very dated in terms of its looks and assumptions about the future, it remains well-regarded in retrospect.

The early 1970s saw the culmination of the US manned moon missions, with Skylab expected to be the next giant leap for mankind. Against such a background of real exploration, Moonbase 3 took the space race a step further in a six part series based on scientific probability rather than pure fantasy.

The series set out to provide intelligent, realistic drama rather than science fantasy. As such, it was a change of pace for its creators, producer Barry Letts and script editor Terrence Dicks, who were run steering the resurgent DOCTOR WHO through some of his most testing adventures. Moonbase 3 also attracted attention for its script consultant - the BBC's own high profile resident science buff James Burke, doyen of the corporation's Applo coverage and star of his own Burke Special series of science programmes. Set in the early 21st Century, Moonbase 3 was an attempt by the BBC to produce a realistic series about what life would be like on the moon. The producer for the series was Barry Letts, the script editor was Terrence Dicks, the designer was Roger Liminton, music was created by Dudley Simpson and the script consultant was James Burke. The costume supervisor was Dee Kelly and the scientific advisor was James Burke.

Principal characters

Dr David Caulder (Donald Houston)

Appointed Director of Moonbase 3 following the death of his predecessor, David Caulder is a scientist, academic and administrator.[6] A lecturer at the University of Oxford, he rose to prominence when he was appointed Chancellor of the University during a period of student unrest and managed to calm the situation down earning him a reputation as a 'Welsh wizard'. The Director-General of the European space effort describes Caulder as a militant liberal, passionately committed to the middle of the road. Caulder sees himself as a buffer, who deals with the political aspects of running the moonbase, giving the others the room to perform the vital tasks of keeping Moonbase 3 operations going.

Dr Michel Lebrun (Ralph Bates)

Deputy Director Michel Lebrun is noted for his rigid adherence to the rules and procedures making him a somewhat inflexible individual who has difficulty understanding the human dimension involved when dealing with other base personnel. The Frenchman is slightly resentful of Caulder's appointment to the position of Director feeling that he has been overlooked for the job though Helen Smith reminds him that he is, perhaps, too young to take up the position at this time.[6] However, when he is ordered to relieve Caulder of command during the attempted rescue of Tom Hill in the episode 'Castor and Pollux', he remains loyal to Caulder and carries out the rescue as planned despite his misgivings about the risks.

Dr Helen Smith (Fiona Gaunt)

Helen Smith is the base psychologist responsible for preparing regular psychological record reports (or PSIs) assessing the mental state of all personnel. An expert in behavioural studies in an alien environment her thesis was titled 'Human beings adjust', she acts as a sounding board enabling individual crew members to adapt to the situation of life on the Moon. However, she develops a trend of engaging in romantic relationships with her most troubled patients as seen in 'Achilles Heel' and 'Outsiders'.

Tom Hill (Barry Lowe)

42 year old Tom Hill is director of operations on the moonbase responsible for flight control and base maintenance. An experienced astronaut, he became a minor celebrity six years before the events of the series take place when he rescued an escaped cat from a spacelab. A down-to-earth no-nonsense type, who dislikes having his work interfered with by management, he generally tries to maintain an informal, casual air calling all female staff as 'love' and calling Lebrun 'Mickey boy', a moniker Lebrun hates.[6][8] However, unhappy about the way Caulder conducted the investigation of his predecessor's death in 'Departure and Arrival', Hill initially maintains a strictly businesslike relationship with Caulder before their relationship thaws in later episodes.

Production

Origins

Terrance Dicks and Barry Letts had been working together, as script editor and producer respectively, on Doctor Who since 1970. Dicks had begun his television writing career on The Avengers and Crossroads before joining Doctor Who as its script editor in 1968. Former actor Barry Letts had changed career into television direction in 1967 and had worked on series such as Z Cars and The Newcomers before being asked to take over as producer of Doctor Who in 1970, where he first met Dicks. In 1972, looking to move on from Doctor Who, the pair started considering a number of ideas for other shows they could collaborate on. Their first idea arose from the successful collaboration they had with the Royal Navy on the Doctor Who serial 'The Sea Devils' which led to them considering pitching a serial set on a frigate only to find they were too late ' the BBC had just commissioned a series, Warship, with that very premise. In late 1972, they developed the concept of Moonbase 3, as an anthology series set on a lunar colony that would 'provide intelligent, realistic drama rather than Science Fantasy',and submitted a pilot script, titled 'Departure and Arrival', to Shaun Sutton, the Head of Drama at the BBC. The series was formally commissioned in December 1972 and would be made, as a co-production between the BBC and 20th Century Fox and the ABC network in America, during the break in production between Seasons 10 and 11 of Doctor Who.

Production

The first Moonbase 3 script to be formally commissioned was 'View of a Dead Planet' on 15 December 1972. This was written by Arden Winch, a respected writer who had written for The Wednesday Play. Two scripts, 'Behemoth' and 'Outsiders', were commissioned from John Brason, who had written for Colditz and Special Branch. The final two scripts, 'The Dark Side of the Moon' and 'The Gentle Rain' (later renamed 'Castor and Pollux' and 'Achilles Heel' respectively), were commissioned from John Lucarotti, a prolific writer whose credits included The Avengers, Doctor Who and The Troubleshooters. Lastly, Letts and Dicks retrospectively commissioned themselves in late May 1973 for their pilot script 'Departure and Arrival'.

In order to achieve a high level of realism, Letts and Dicks hired a technical advisor, James Burke, a science correspondent who was well known to television viewers thanks to his work as anchorman on the television coverage of the Apollo moon landings and for presenting science series such as Tomorrow's World and The Burke Special. Burke decided that 2003 would be a realistic date for bases to have been established on the Moon, telling the Radio Times that 'Men won't go back to the Moon until the 1990s. Neither the Russians nor the Americans have any plans at present and no-one else can afford it. As for the base itself' it should look exactly as it would if they built one tomorrow. They'd be small, supporting 30 or 40 men and running on a shoestring. It'll be like life on a nuclear submarine'.

Cast as David Caulder was Donald Houston, an experienced character actor, who had appeared in 633 Squadron, The Longest Day and The Sea Wolves, and was known for playing authority figures. Ralph Bates, who was cast as Michel Lebrun, had first made a name for himself playing the Emperor Caligula in the Granada Television series The Caesars but was best known as a regular actor in the Hammer horror stable. Fiona Gaunt, playing Helen Smith, had been in a television adaptation of War and Peace while Barry Lowe,

DATE OF PREMIER: 09/09/1973

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 14/10/1973

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

David Caulder DONALD HOUSTON, Tom Hill BARRY LOWE, Michel Lebrun RALPH BATES, Dr. Helen Smith FIONA GUANT, Rao Madhav MADHAV SHARMA (eps 1,4,5), Director General PETER BATHURST (eps 1,3,5), Ingrid CHRISTINE BRADWELL (eps 1,2,4,5), Stephen Partness TOM KEMPINSKI (eps 1,2,4), Peter Conway JOHN HALLAM (eps 1,2,4), Bruno Bertoli GARRICK HAGON (eps 2,4,6), Per Bengtson JURGEN ANDERSON (eps 1,2).

RELATED SHOWS:*DOCTOR WHO*1 - 1 DEPARTURE AND ARRIVAL

Dr. Helen Smith becomes concerned over the mental state of one of the pilots, Harry Sanders. She expresses her concerns to the base's second in command, Michael Lebrun, and tries to convince him to get Commander Ransom to remove the pilot from duty. Ransom refuses and assigns Sanders to pilot the Commander's shuttle for a trip to Earth. After a malfunction, Sanders cuts the communications link and goes outside the shuttle to make repairs and is thrown into space. When Ransom attempts to pilot the shuttle it explodes. The European agency sends a Welsh scientist to take over the station and to investigate the shuttle accident.

Wr Terrance Dicks, Barry LettsDir Ken Hannam1 - 2 BEHEMOTH

After a number of mysterious deaths, paranoia sets in as the crew begins to believe the deaths are being committed by a "Moon Monster" living on the surface of the Moon.

Wr John BrasonDir Ken Hannam1 - 3 ACHILLES HEEL

The station's crew suffers from an unusual number of accidents and mistakes. Director Caulder must deal with the problems while trying to operate within his Earth-bound superiors' budgetary limitations.

Wr John LucarottiDir Christopher Barry1 - 4 OUTSIDERS

An auditor is sent to Moonbase 3 from the European Headquarters in Brussels to investigate whether or not the cost of operating the base is justified. Director Caulder demands results for the base scientists as Dr. Helen Smith becomes concerned over the stress on the staff, especially Steven Partness.

Wr John BrasonDir Ken Hannam1 - 5 CASTOR AND POLLUX

An accident strands Tom Hill in a shuttle between Earth and the Moon. The only person who can save him is Colonel Gararov, a Russian cosmonaut. However, to rescue Hill, Gararov would have to disobey the orders of his superior: General Trenkin, Commander of the Russian moon base.

Wr John LucarottiDir Christopher Barry1 - 6 VIEWS OF A DEAD PLANET

The Arctic Sun Project proposes to use a nuclear explosion over the Arctic, thereby melting the ice and creating a "Garden of Eden." The project's designer, Sir Benjamin Dyce, comes to Moonbase 3 in an attempt to stop the programme, fearing that the explosion will not be contained and will lead to the extinction of mankind. Dyce is unable to convince others of his concern and the nuclear device is detonated. As a thick haze covers the Earth, the Moonbase scientists worry Dr. Dyce may be right.

Wr Arden WinchDir Christopher Barry

MOONDIAL

The story deals with a young girl staying with her aunt after her mother is injured in a car accident. Minty (Siri Neal) spends much of her time wandering around the grounds of a nearby mansion, and is drawn to a sundial that enables her to travel back in time to the Victorian era, where she becomes involved with two children, Tom (Tony Sands) and Sarah (Helena Avellano) and must save them from their own unhappy lives.

Moondial is a British television serial made for children by the BBC and transmitted in 1988. It was written by Helen Cresswell, who also wrote the novel on which the series was based.

Regarded as a nostalgic favourite by followers of 1980s BBC children's drama, Moondial employs extensive location filming (in the grounds of Belton House in Lincolnshire) and fantastical, dreamlike imagery.

The series was produced by Paul Stone and directed by Colin Cant. Other cast members include Valerie Lush as Minty's aunt Mary, Arthur Hewlett as the elderly, mysterious Mr. World and Jacqueline Pearce in the dual role of the vicious Victorian Miss Vole and the present-day ghost hunter Miss Raven.

Belton House where Moondial was filmed actually exists in Lincolnshire. It is about 3 miles just outside Grantham. It is not that far from a number of other great houses / features including, Belvoir Castle, Stapleford Hall, Quenby Hall and Langton Hall. Belton House is a 17th Century house thought to have been built around late 1680s. It is now owned by the National Trust but was originally owned by Sir John Brownlow. The house later came under the name of Cust as the Viscount Tyrconnel who owned it then, died leaving his sister as heir. The House is most noted for its paintings, Rembrandt, Rubens, Ruysdael, Titan and Van Dyck to name a few. Tintoretto's Entombment can be found the the House's chapel.

Interview with Tony Sands

Question 1. What lead you to the part of Tom in Moondial ?

Tony - I went to the Anna Scher Theatre school and they took me onto their books. Moondial was my third audition. I got my first one (a social work video or something similar), missed out on the second one, I think it was a Shakespearian play, and was lucky enough to be picked for Moondial.

Question 2. Was the making of the program and the part of of Tom fun to do ?

Tony - It was such a buzz. Drama and English were my favourite subjects in school and I'm such a massive film fan. It was like living a dream. Plus I got to wear all those trendy clothes. Everyone was so nice too. The cast, the crew, everyone. It was a fantastic experience. I was only fifteen and felt very lucky to be there.

Question 3. Did anything memorable happen during the filming of Moondial ?

Tony - There was that huge storm that struck , I remember turning on the TV that morning and the news was on with all these pictures of devastation. We were lucky and only got the tail end of it. There's lots I remember about the filming but it'd probably bore you. Nothing exciting, just terrible jokes and fluffed takes. I think I might've had the record for most takes.

Question 4. How did you resolve problems of school etc. During the making of Moondial ?

Tony - We had a tutor. My school gave me work and Jane, the tutor, just went from there. She was very nice too. I'm using that word a lot. Siri was sixteen so she got away from doing school work. Lucky her! But Helena and I and a girl called Angela who was Siri's stand in, I think, had to sit and do our work. It was fun though. Well, as fun as schoolwork can get at least. Actually Jane didn't feel like a teacher, more like one of us, which probably helped a lot.

Question 5. What was the reaction of your family and friends when Moondial was released for the first time on BBC1 ?

Tony - My family were obviously very pleased for me. I was in Ireland during the summer and my aunt and uncle there pulled out the video. I can't stand watching myself. But they were very happy for me and have kept a copy (obviously). I had a lot more friends after it was broadcast. I think everyone at school thought it was pretty cool. It was a bit embarrassing. One of my friends came back from Spain telling me he'd seen Moondial dubbed into Spanish.

Question 6. Did the author Helen Cresswell ever make an appearance during the filming of Moondial and if so what was her impression of the program ?

Tony - She popped up on set a few times. She was very friendly and seemed really happy with the way things were going. She told me she thought I fitted her picture of Tom perfectly. She gave Siri, Helena and me signed books. I still have mine..somewhere.

Question 7. Could you bring us up to date with what's happened to you since those days of Moondial ?

Tony - I had work here and there on TV and radio but nothing like Moondial. I had a couple of small roles in Peter Medaks films, "The Krays" and "Let him have it". I haven't been involved too much in acting recently. I was involved in a film project about a year ago but it fell through. I'm working with kids at the moment and loving it. I'm not sure which way to go next. I've always been a bit of an attention seeker, so I may start putting out the feelers again and see what pops up. Who knows, but I'm very happy at the moment.

Tony Sands starring in "The Krays"

Question 8. Do you keep in contact with any of the other cast of Moondial ?

Tony - I lost touch with everyone. I bumped into Siri's cousin a few years ago and he gave me her number, which I lost. Silly me!! I got on well with Siri and Helena. Siri and I would practice our lines together. Most of the time we'd end up knowing each others lines better than our own. I'd love to know how she and Helena are doing. Helena was very sweet. We had the same chaperone, you need a person to look after you when you are under sixteen, who was called Jean. She was lovely. So, erm..nice. She'd met people like Tommy Steele and Roger Moore and probably got a bit tired of me asking what they were all like in person, but, she always told me what she thought of them and never sounded bored of my questions.

Question 9. What are you up to now ?

Tony - I work with special needs kids. I really enjoy it.

Question 10. What are your favourite films and TV ?

Tony - My favourite film is "Singin' in the rain". The Bills very good. I don't have any particular faves at the moment. I used to like Quantum Leap. Black Adder was good. I like Star Trek. Nothing I watch regularly at the moment though.

Question 11. What children's TV did you watch when you were a kid ?

Tony - I used to watch Dogtanian and Ulysses 31. Dangermouse was brilliant. Dungeons & Dragons, that was pretty good. I can't think of anything else.

Question 12. Anything else you would like to add which we have not thought of ?

Tony - I usually have so much to say but I'm a bit lost for words. It's flattering for you to show an interest, especially after all these years. I'd thought Moondial had been forgotten. It's good to know people still remember it. Hope this is what you were looking for. Yours, Tony Sands

Many thanks to Tony for taking the time and trouble to answer all our questions concerning his time acting on the set of Moondial. Thanks also for making Moondial one of the best children's programs to have appeared on British Television.

Series Produced by Paul Stone .. Executive producer.

Series Original Music by David Ferguson.

Series Film Editing by Malcolm Banthorpe.

Series Production Design by Malcolm Thornton.

Series Costume Design by Juanita Waterson.

Series Makeup Department - Marion Richards .. Makeup designer.

Series Production Management Mick Evans .. Production manager, Stephen Haggard .. Production manager.

Series Art Department - John Charles .. Properties buyer , Liz Friedman .. Graphic designer.

Series Sound Department - Brian Robinson .. Sound.

Series Visual Effects by Andy Lazell .. Visual effects supervisor, Adam McInnes .. Video effects supervisor.

Series Camera and Electrical Department - Ian Dow .. Lighting technician, Barry Milne .. Vision controller, Trevor Wimlett .. Camera operator.

Series Other crew - Gail Berryman .. Assistant floor manager, Sue Hills .. Production assistant , Adam Scott .. Assistant floor manager.

WR. Helen Cresswell

DIR. Colin Cant

EPISODES: 6 YEAR MADE: 1988 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 1

BRITISH BROADCASTING CORPORATION (BBC)

CREATOR: HELEN CRESSWELL

TYPE OF SHOW: TIME TRAVEL

FORMAT: SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): 25 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 6

DATE OF PREMIER: 10/02/1988 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Araminta 'Minty' Cane SIRI NEAL, Tom TONY SANDS, Sarah HELENA AVELLANO, Miss Raven JACQUELINE PEARCE , 'Old' World ARTHUR HEWLETT, Aunt Mary VALERIE LUSH, Kate Cane JOANNA DUNHAM, John Benson MARTIN SADLER , Mr. Maggs JOE YORK, Dorrie NAOMI ELVIN , Mrs. Crump OLWEN GRIFFITHS , Footman FRANK TREQUER, Nurse ALISON ROWLEY, Kitchen maid FIONA WHITELAW.

Books Based on this series.

MOONDIAL

HELEN CRESSWELL

- PART SIX

After a brief stop at the hospital Minty finds herself back in the graveyard. She sees Tom who informs her that Dorrie is spitting blood as well. She now finds out that Tom's name is really Teddy Larkin and that Tom is just a nick name. Minty asks him to meet her at the moondial at midnight tonight. Minty hears that Ms Raven is going on a ghost hunt that very night. Minty feels that something is going to happen tonight. She looks at the church from the window and thinks that she needs a lucky charm to protect her. Suddenly she realises what charm is necessary. She goes and fetches a small hand mirror which has the mirror in the shape of a cross. At about 11:30 or so Ms Raven sets off. Minty also leaves and heads for the moondial. She meets Tom sitting on the moondial. Minty thinks she knows who the figure is on the moondial. They both stand on the dial and she says "light and shadows in turns but always love" The dial then spins and they both appear in a new time, it is cold November night. The small figure of Sarah is seen moving in the distant. Minty and Tom run towards her. Sarah is talking to herself and indirectly lets them know that it is Halloween. Sarah is attempting to get the waters to heal her face for the last time. While she is singing a large number of hooded figures appear with animal masks carrying pumpkins. They encircle the fountain where Sarah is chanting "Devil's coming". Sarah makes a run for it to escape them, but they run after her. Minty and Tom run to help Sarah. Minty tries to frighten them off by threatening them with things about the Devil. They fall for her threats and this allows Minty Tom and Sarah to escape. The masked boys soon realise they have been fooled by Minty and Tom and so set off in pursuit. Minty, Tom and Sarah head for the moondial. Once there Minty reveals the mirror and shows it to Sarah. Sarah is afraid but eventually looks into the mirror. The mirror does not crack. Sarah realises she is a pretty young girl, not the monster she was told. Ms Vole then appears and heads right for the trio. Minty then points the mirror at her and she is utterly destroyed. Tom and Sarah are now free and vanish as Minty heads back to her time. Back in the bedroom she takes out the mirror to see it. It has cracked (was Ms Raven / Augusta Vole the Devil). She then goes to the hospital and while she is there talking to her mother, mum opens her eyes and starts talking. Back at Aunt Mary's house, Ms Raven has now gone. Minty goes to see World who knows she has set the children free. Minty then goes to the graveyard and stands by the little grave of Teddy - Edward Larkin alias Tom. In the distance we see a Tom, Sarah and Dorrie running off happily together, free at last and so ends a classic BBC children's drama.

1 - 1 PART ONE

Moondial begins with an opening night sequence showing a girl in old fashioned nightdress running through a gateway and into a church ground, she then opens a very large gate and enters a garden garden - she reaches a large grey / white statue and clasps the moondial it supports. She then runs back towards a dark old house with a single light in the doorway. She runs along the path leading up to the light and then up some large stone steps. She peers inside and sees a small girl running towards her on the other side of the glass. Through the window a struggle between a young girl and an older person can be seen. After the death of her father Minty and her mother visit Aunt Mary (Minty's godmother). It is hoped that the break in the country will help Minty and her mother come to terms with the loss. Aunt Mary used to look after Kate when she was younger as Minty has her bedroom. Her mum shows Minty round the bedroom - full of old photos and in particular an old patchwork quilt full of Aunt Mary's memories. Minty and her mum can see the church from the bedroom window and decide to go for a walk. The scene then shifts to churchyard where Minty and her mother are walking. Minty goes round the corner of the church and discovers a barrier of cold air and a wind around particular stonework. It is now time for her mum to leave and Minty gives her a hug before she leaves in her car. Minty goes back into the house and sits down at a table spread with jelly, sandwiches and cake. Before she can begin eating, the telephone rings and Aunt Mary goes to answer it. Minty then learns that there has been an accident between Minty's mum's car and a lorry. Aunt Mary then says that a Mr Benson has gone to the hospital to see Minty's mum. Minty wants to go out for a walk but is told to stay away from the village. She is told to go and see the large House with Will World at the lodge.

NOTE:

The music used in the series opening sequence & closing credits (also appearing throughout the series) has got to be one of the most scariest pieces of music I have ever heard used in a BBC children's drama.

The Music is by David Ferguson who did a number of children's TV series in the 1990s.

1 - 2 PART TWO

Minty returns to the garden and walks down a long pathway set between the lawns. She seems to know that she has been here before but is unsure when. Minty then sees the Moondial (she calls it a sundial) and as in her dream the night before she touches it. Minty appears to become faint. She clasps her head in her hands as she is becoming more and more disorientated. All at once the spinning feeling reduces and Minty appears to come to herself although the surroundings appear slightly different. She sees an estate gardener in the distance disappear and then reappear before her eyes. The moondial then starts to spin very fast. Minty holds her head and keeps her eyes closed during this motion. She steps off the Moondial unsure of where she is and runs towards the house. Mr Benson asks Minty to return to the hospital as there has been no change in her mum Kate's condition. Minty then goes back into the large house and stands in the main entrance (black and white chequered floor). She then walks to the large outside window seeing the moondial at the end of a large grand pathway. She calls it a sundial and goes outside to it and then places both hands on it and closes her eyes. We then see the whole dial rotate with her on it. Minty then opens her eyes and it is nighttime. She cannot believe that the hours have past so quickly. She can hear a small girl singing to herself (one of the songs is "boys and girls come out to play"). Minty joins in and then tries to speak to the girl but only gets to know the girl's name before an unseen adult woman comes forward and grabs Sarah. Sarah is obviously terrified of this woman and rushes off. We hear the woman saying "you've frightened the moon away" in a stern voice. Minty then closes her eyes and asks to go back and the dial then rotates again. When it stops, however, she finds that it is day time again but she is now back in Tom's time period. He asks why she has been away for days even though in Minty's time it has only been a single day. Tom's cough is getting noticeable worse.

1 - 3 PART THREE

We learn that Tom's sister Dorrie (coachman gave him a message) has sent some word of where she is. Minty agrees with Tom that it would appear he has grown in stature since they last met. Tom then admits that Minty is not the only ghost he has found in the gardens, she is smaller and only seen at night. He reveals that Sarah is her name, to which Minty says that she has also seen her. Before anything else can be said, the gardener (Mags) appears and shouts at Tom. Both children run off and hide round the back of the house. On looking around the corner Minty sees a coach and family with maids and footmen in attendance. Tom is again shouted at by the footman who apparently cannot see Minty though. Tom at this point discovers that he is the only one who can see Minty and in order to prove this, takes her into the kitchen. The cook and maids look right through her and admonish Tom for standing doing nothing. The nasty cook grabs Tom and marches him down dark corridor and locks him in dark room. Minty who had followed also finds herself locked in. Minty at this point sits down and closes her eyes and when she re-opens them, finds herself once more in the present day and back beside the moondial. Back now with Aunt Mary the two are making up the room for Ms Raven. Minty is most upset to find that Ms Raven has been in her room looking at the pictures on the wall and asking questions about them. Minty then lies on her bed and records her thoughts into a tape machine. "Tonight, I will go tonight, before she gets here" Minty says to herself. Later that same day she runs into the night in just her night gown. She runs through the church gates and across the graveyard. She is then stopped by the large closed gates leading to the large house. She thus goes through the bushes and over a wall before walking slowly down the path towards the moondial. She then stops at the moondial and asks it "Who are you?" She then touches the moondial and closes her eyes. It begins to rotate.

1 - 4 PART FOUR

The Moondial comes to a stop and Minty is again back in the past and finds it is night there to. She leaves the Moondial and walks down the path in the dark. Minty continues down the dark path and hears a girls voice singing and catches glimpses of others following the singer. The singer is Sarah a young girl and gradually she is surrounded by hooded boys all chanting "What's the time Mr. Wolf?" They shout louder and louder, then the words change and Minty hears them shouting "Moondial" - "Moondial" - "Moondial." The chanting again changes to "Devil's child." Sarah starts screaming and so Minty rushes forward shouting. The boys are frightened by this unexpected course of events and so scatter in all directions. Another voice is then heard harshly shouting "Sarah", "Sarah." Sarah, then falls to the ground in a faint. The hooded figures vanish into the night and the Governess, for want of another title, then appears - lifts Sarah to her feet and reviles her with the words "you really are a devil's child." Minty finds herself back in her bedroom again. We are unsure here as to whether this is a dream or not but it looks like morning. Minty is walking in the trees, surrounded by mist she can hear voices - children's voices. Now she can see small cloaked shadowy figures running around. The children are stood in a ring chanting "Devil's child" going round and around a small doll like figure in the middle. The doll has a cloak and a sack for a head. The children now start to hit the figure with large sticks and then stamp on it shouting "Dead." Minty watches them parade round the doll before they throw it onto the fire. Minty is back in the her world now and goes to see World. She asks about the dial and the path and the figures attached to the moondial. World says that he has a book on sundials that he gives to Minty. He tells her that "Clock time is mean time, Sun time is apparent time, Real time is star time" to which Minty asks if this is the same as Moon Time. World does not know but supposes so as the moon and the stars are seen together. Minty's tape is given to Mr Benson for her mother Kat to listen to. It is hoped it will bring her out of a coma. Back in the House Minty sees a small bag in the hallway. She can hear voices in the kitchen and goes to investigate. There she is introduced to Ms Raven (those of you who watch / remember Blake's 7 will recognise her as Servalen) by Aunt Mary.

1 - 5 PART FIVE

Ms Raven asks Minty to show her the gardens and Minty reluctantly does. Minty tries to move Ms Raven away from the direction of the moondial but Ms Raven heads straight for it. Minty tries to distract her by whistling but this fails. Ms Raven asks Minty if she feels anything as she stands near the moondial. To Minty's relief, Ms Raven then sees the church and heads off towards it leaving a slightly happier Minty. Minty gets up at dawn the next day and goes to the moondial. She touches the dial, closes her eyes and it begins to spin. Next she is seen by Tom, who quickly asks her to come with him. They both see Sarah, she is walking on her own singing quietly in daylight. She gets to the fountain whilst talking to a flower. Tom calls out to her and we get to see her face as she turns around. We see she is a lovely young girl with a birthmark down one side of her face. Sarah instantly runs off but is pursued by Tom and Minty. They all enter the house at which point Tom and Minty realise they are invisibly to everyone except Sarah. Sarah talks to them and asks who they are. They tell that they are her friends. The Governess arrives and sternly takes a frightened Sarah upstairs into a room. We discover that the Governess looks identical to Ms Raven (Servalen again), she is a 37 year old spinster named Ms Augusta Vole who is paid a salary to take care of Sarah. Ms Vole begins to systematically terrify Sarah saying that if she looked in a mirror then the glass would crack and the Devil would come for her. Ms Vole then takes all the sheets off the walls in the room revealing large mirrors. Sarah is terrified, and hides herself under the a bed cover. Eventually it becomes too much for Tom and he runs down the stairs closely followed by Minty. Ms Vole senses something and shouts out "who is there?" Minty eventually catches up with Tom who begins coughing again, now he begins to produce blood and he fades away before her eyes. Minty calls for him to come back but leaves the house and into the garden. There she stands in front of a small statue in the garden and sees a similarity with Ms Raven and Ms Vole. Suddenly she is bewitched by voices saying "the Devil will get you" and a frightened Minty runs back to the moondial hoping to escape.

MOONLIGHT MASK

AKA: Gekko Kamen

Wapped from head to toe in a white suit, white turban, white cloak, white boots and white gloves, Moonlight Mask (Ose) is a lunar envoy sent to Earth to protect humanity from evil. His catchphrase is "Don't Hate, don't kill, but forgive," although while he never causes the deaths of his adversaries, he is not above a big fight at least once an episode. He rides a motorcycle to each crime fighting mission, which is often the most expensive prop on the show - the advertising company that made MM was so impoverished that their chairman's office doubled as a set on many occasions and several bit parts were filled by passing employees in the style of the later Vampire.

The evil Skull Mask fights against the good Moonlight Mask as they struggle over the blueprints of a formidable new weapon called Ho-Joe Bomb, poetically indicating something about the post-war Japanese relationship to the US. The good masked figure is revealed to be the policeman investigating the theft of the plans and the evil one the inventor's assistant Producer Shunichi Nishimura had always intended to make a period drama set in Japan's recent past, in the fashion of the many U.S. westerns crowding the Japanese TV schedules at the time. However, lack of funding caused him to shelve his planned adaptation of Jiro Osaragi's Kurama Tengu books about a man on a white horse righting wrongs in 19th Century Japan. Instead, he made MM, shooting in modern-day locations to save money. The first superhero show in Japan, MM was the inspiration for Harimao and EYE OF THE JAGUAR and the ancestor of much of modern-day Japanese children's TV, such as KAMEN RIDER.

With its tales of a strange visitor from another world who comes to Earth with powers and abilities far beyond those of mortal men, it owes an obvious debt to the George Reeves ADVENTURES OF SUPERMAN which, with a rating of 74.2%, was the highest rated show of any kind on Japanese TV by 1958. Broadcast on the same KRT channel that was the Japanese home of the Man of Steel, MM rode that wave of popularity, to secure its own rating of 60.8% the same year. The success of MM would allow Nishimura to make his long-awaited "Japanese Western," the samurai.

The MM series can be subdivided into several separate story arcs, comprising the evil deeds of Skull Mask (Dokuro Kamen), followed by The Secret of Paradai Kingdom (Paradai Okoku no Himitsu), in which the evil Satan's claw murders Prince Shapnash, the ruler of the counter that needs MM's help. Mammoth Kong (Kaiju Kong) featured an international assassin's guild targeting the ten most important people in Japan and using a monster to attack police chiefs and government officials.

The Ghost Party Strikes Back (Yureito No Gyakushu) features intrigues around a mine with a dark secret, which is jealously sought by the obligatory group of masked men in black. However, by the time the show had reached its fifth story, Avoiding Revenge (Sono Fukushu ni Te o Dasuna), it was coming under fire from the media. In a foreshadowing of the violence debates that would plague its distant descendant the MIGHTY MORPHIN POWER RANGERS, MM was removed from the air amid complaints from parents that their children were imitating its dangerous stunts and fight sequences. Consequently, the sixth story arc, Dragon's Fang, did not appear on TV, although it was continued in manga form in a strip drawn by Jiro Kuwata from Shonen Club, as a novel serialized in Shonen Magazine by original creator Yasunori Kawauchi, and eventually as part of the anime version screened on NTV in 1972.

The live-action MM lived on at the movies, in six films made between 1958 and 1959. MM, directed by Tsuneo Kobayashi and featuring Fujitake Omura in the title role, ended on a cliffhanger and was completed by Death Battle as Farthest Sea (Zekkai no Shito), followed by remakes of the Paradai, Kong, and the Ghost Party arcs and the climactic End of the Evil (Akuma no Saigo), in which MM must track a serial killer known as the White Haired Monster.

A new movie remake, updated for a new generation, followed in 1981, directed by Yukihiro Sawada and with the hero played by Daisuke Kuwabara. The hero was reborn in 2000 as a kiddie carton. MM was also lampooned in Go Nagai's erotic comedy Kekko Kamen, in which the world is threatened by Satan's Toenail.

The duration for the show varied, the first 72 episodes was 10 minutes long, and the final 69 episodes were 30 minutes long.

The dates for the five serials were 24th February 1958 - 17th May 1958 (1), 25th May 1958 - 12th October 1958 (2), 19th October 1958 - 26th December 1958 (3), 4th January 1959 - 29th March 1959 (4), 5th April 1959 - 5th July 1959 (5).

Series was produced by Shunichi Nishimura.

Theme : Gekko Kamen Wa Dare Desou - Lyrics by: Kawauchi Kohan, Composed by: Ogawa Hirooki, Sung by: Kondo Yoshiko and the King Ko Kyu Tai (The King Children's Peace Club).

This was the first ever SF show made in Japan by the people who brought you the Godzilla films.

Episode 1

Uncredited (Moonlight Mask), Omura Fumitake (Iwai Jyuro), Usami Jyunya (Dr. Nakayama), Mine Hiroko (Nakayama Ayako), Yanagi Yakan (Dai Gorohachi), Komiya Mitsue (Yuri), Hasebe Ken (Tiger Shiraki), Sasaki Takamaru (Dr. Akaboshi), Sudo Ken (Inspector Matsuda), Hara Kunio (Shigeru), Fuji Tamami (Konomi), Sawa Shoken (Adala Khan), Yamamoto Rinichi (Kokui No Otoko [The Man In Black]), Uncredited (Dokuro Kamen)

Episode 2

Uncredited (Moonlight Mask), Omura Fumitake (Iwai Jyuro), Uemura Kenjiro (Satan No Tsume), Tsukioka Chiaki (Asakawa Masako), Matsushima Tomoko (Asakawa Fujiko), Yanagi Yakan (Dai Gorohachi), Watamizu Yaeko (Kaboko), Matsumoto Kanbei (Dr. Yuuki), Sudo Ken (Inspector Matsuda), Hasebe Ken (Reporter Yamada), Hara Kunio (Shigeru)

Episode 3

Uncredited (Moonlight Mask), Omura Fumitake (Iwai Jyuro), Yanagi Yakan (Dai Gorohachi), Hara Sen (Pataren Oyu), Watamizu Yaeko (Kaboko), Nagata Yasushi (Tasaka Yuichi), Yamamoto Rinichi (Kong), Yusef Ottoman (Doctor), Hasebe Ken (Reporter Yamada), Matsuda Jyunji (Dr. Yamawaki), Sudo Ken (Inspector Matsuda)

Episode 4

Uncredited (Moonlight Mask), Omura Fumitake (Iwai Jyuro), Yanagi Yakan (Dai Gorohachi), Watamizu Yaeko (Kaboko), Sumida Tomohito (Shigeru), Kurose Chieko (Konomi), Fujisato Mayumi (Orin), Matsuda Jyunji (Inspector Matsuda), Naruse Masahiko (Assistant Fujita), Kayama Mitsuko (Naoko), Sasaki Takamaru (Ooka Tetsuzo), Santo Akiko (Ooka Haruko), Ando Mitsuo (Detective Sugiyama), Kubo Hajime (Detective Nobura), Saito Shiko (Dr. Suzuki), Kusakari Ryuhei (Reporter Yamada), Katayama Akira (Dr. Yoshikawa)

Episode 5

Uncredited (Moonlight Mask), Omura Fumitake (Iwai Jyuro), Yanagi Yakan (Dai Gorohachi), Watamizu Yaeko (Kaboko), Sumida Tomohito (Shigeru), Kurose Chieko (Konomi), Matsuda Jyunji (Inspector Matsuda), Shimizu Ichiro (Dr. Shiragami/Shiragami Oni [White Haired Devil]), Oka Jyoji (Nishikawa), Harold S. Conway (Snyder), Naruse Masahiko (Kitagawa), Ando Mitsuo (Detective Sugiyama), Kubo Hajime (Detective Nobura), Saito Shiko (Higashijo Saburo), Santo Akiko (Taeko), Umemiya Tatsuo (Shiragami Tetsuya), Hinoki Yuuko (Nishikawa Toshiko).

Based on the Shonen Club manga by writer Kawauchi Kohan and illustrator Kuwata Jiro.

May have inspired Ishinomori Shotaro in creating the Kamen Rider series (which began as a concept originally called Skull Man).

Prolific writer Kawauchi Kohan is also responsible for the creation of Na Na Iro Kamen (Seven Color Mask; 1959), Ai No Senshi Rainbow Man (Warrior of Love, Rainbow Man; 1972), Hikari No Senshi Diamond Eye (Warrior of Light, Diamond Eye; 1973), and Seigi No Symbol Condor Man (Symbol of Justice, Condor Man; 1975).

During its time, it was the number one show among children.

Unfortunately, due to a number of cases where children got hurt mimicking the action sequences from the show, Gekko Kamen was pulled from TV at the peak of its popularity.

Episode 6 Dragon No Kiba (Fangs of the Dragon) was published in manga form in Shonen Club. Kuwata Jiro (who was the artist behind 8-Man) drew the manga. Kawauchi Kohan also continued the series within the pages of Shonen Magazine.

The TV Serial was eventually shortened and shown as full length movie compilations with new footage inserted. TV series actor, Osei Koichi was replaced by movie actor Omura Fumitake in the movie features.

There have been at least three remakes of this series.

Episode 1 Dokuro Kamen (The Skull Mask)

Professor Nakayama has created the H-O Joe Bomb which is able to create a vacuum and destroy the oxygen within a selected area (similar to the Oxygen Destroyer Device in Godzilla). Agents of an International Spy Ring have stolen the device. Its leader, Dokuro Kamen wants to use the device to blackmail the world. It's up to Gekko Kamen to stop him.

Episode 2 Paradai Okoku No Hiro (The Treasure of the Paradise Kingdom) AKA Satan No Tsume (Satan Claw)

The Raja of Paradise Kingdom has been assassinated by the mysterious villain called Satan No Tsume. Satan No Tsume steals from the dead Raja, a map leading to Paradise Kingdom's 5 Hundred Billion Dollar Treasure Archive. However, in order to decipher the map one needs the fabulous jewel the Eye of Allah. It's location is known only by the Raja's daughter, the Princess of Paradise. Satan No Tsume and his agents go after the beauty. Gekko Kamen must save the Princess and Protect Paradise's Treasure.

- Chapter 1 Satan No Tsume (Satan Claw)
- Chapter 2 Ogon No Kagi (The Gold Key)
- Chapter 3 Jiken Wa Tobu (The Case Begins)
- Chapter 4 Megami To Majou (The Goddess and the Witch)
- Chapter 5 Seigi No Giyakushu (Justice Strikes Back)
- Chapter 6 Hana Tou Kenjyu (Flowers and Guns)
- Chapter 7 Futatsu No Kao (Two Faces)
- Chapter 8 Ogon No Oni (The Gold Devil)
- Chapter 9 Akuma No Shotai (The Demon Revealed)
- Chapter 10 Butai Wa Mawaru (The Stage Revolves)
- Chapter 11 Jikoku No Kiseki (The Hellish Wonder)
- Chapter 12 Ketsen Oushi (The Showdown Approaches)
- Chapter 13 Agit Wa Dokoda (Where Is The Agitpunkt) *Agitpunkt (Agitating Point = Secret Base)
- Chapter 14 Tsumi No Tsugunai (Atonement)
- Chapter 15 Seigi Wa Shinazu (Justice Never Dies)
- Chapter 16 Jyoho Kitaru (Information Arrives)
- Chapter 17 Kane Wa Mamono (Greed)
- Chapter 18 Arashi Wa Chikai (Evil Is Afoot)
- Chapter 19 Totoki Giseisha (The Noble Victims)
- Chapter 20 Paradi No Tsuki (Moon Over Paradise)
- Chapter 21 Akuma No Saigo (The Evil Is Dead)

Episode 3 - Mammoth Kong

A International League of Assassins has targeted a group of ten influential Japanese citizens for extermination. Using the services of a captured experimental ape called Kong, they proceed in their dastardly mission (shades of Murders In The Rue Morgue). Gekko Kamen goes after the League and tries to save Kong from being killed by the Police.

- Chapter 1 Ikiteiru Kaiju (The Monster Is Alive)
- Chapter 2 Yogen Tekichu (Prophecy Realized)
- Chapter 3 Nerawareta Sosai (Gunning For The President)
- Chapter 4 Umi No Ketsen (Showdown At Sea)
- Chapter 5 Sokoku No Tame Ni (For Love Of Country)
- Chapter 6 Fujimi No Tatakai (Immortal Combat)
- Chapter 7 Chie Kurabe

Chapter 8 Seigi No Giyakushu (Justice Strikes Back)
 Chapter 9 Meiro No Tsuiseki (Chase Through The Maze)
 Chapter 10 Ayaushi Mei Tantei (The Dangerous and Magnificent Detective)
 Chapter 11 Aku Wa Oyobiru (Evil Is Destroyed)

Episode 4 Yurei Tou No Giyaku Shu (The Ghost Clan Strikes Back)

Ooka Tetsuzo has discovered the secrets to creating Uranium. The Mysterious Yurei Tou (Ghost Clan) wants this formula and kidnaps Ooka's sister Haruko to force him to diverge that information to them. Gekko Kamen arrives to save the day but can even he defeat the Black Clad Members of the Ghost Clan and its leader who seemingly has ESPer powers.

Chapter 1 Yurei Tou No Giyaku Shu (The Ghost Clan Strikes Back)
 Chapter 2 Seigi O Shinaze Yo (Justice and Truth)
 Chapter 3 Yurei Taifun (The Ghost Typhoon)
 Chapter 4 Film No Himitsu (The Film's Secret)
 Chapter 5 Shi No Saiminjitsu (The Hypnotic Death)
 Chapter 6 Tochi O Mamoru Hitobito (Protectors of the Land)
 Chapter 7 Arijikoku (Doodlebug)
 Chapter 8 Jyumon No Heiya (The Enchanted Room)
 Chapter 9 Majin No Hi (Flames of Evil)
 Chapter 10 Aku No Jittei (Servants of Evil)
 Chapter 11 Kamen No Onna (The Masked Woman)
 Chapter 12 Shi No Anshitsu (The Dark Room of Death)
 Chapter 13 Akuma Wa Shimetsu Suru (The Demon Self Destructs)

Episode 5 Sono Fukushu Ni Te O Dasuna (Don't Interfere With Revenge)

World War II criminal scientist Dr. Shimegami (nicknamed the Whitehaired Devil) has left a cache of gold on a deserted island in the Pacific. Chinese Forces have since taken over the Island and now Dr. Shimegami, who had fled the island returns to get his gold back. He launches a series of attacks using poisoned spiders against the island inhabitants. At the same time, a Criminal Syndicate has also learned of the gold and launches its own missions to get the gold. Can Gekko Kamen stop both Dr. Shimegami and the Criminal Cartel?

Chapter 1 Nerawareta Otoko (The Targeted Man)
 Chapter 2 Seigi No Hata (Flag of Justice)
 Chapter 3 Osaka Eki Taiketsu (Showdown At Osaka Station)
 Chapter 4 Dokuro Kamen Shutsugen Su (Skull Mask Returns)
 Chapter 5 Dai Ichi No Kokuhaku (The First Confession)
 Chapter 6 Fukou Na Otoko (The Misfortunate Fellow)
 Chapter 7 Dokuro No Hangeki (Skull Mask's Counter Attack)
 Chapter 8 Doku Gumo No Himitsu (Secret of the Poison Spider)
 Chapter 9 Migoto Naru Keiyaku (The Brilliant Plan)
 Chapter 10 Ikiteita Saishi (The Mother & Child Are Alive)
 Chapter 11 Shikeidai No Gekko Kamen (Death Sentence For Moonlight Mask)
 Chapter 12 Agit Shugeki (The Agitpunkt Raid) *Agitpunkt (Agitating Point = Secret Base)
 Chapter 13 Keishicho Tai Aku No Sokutsu (The Police vs. The Evil Hive)
 Chapter 14 Ten No Sabaki (Judgment Day)

WR. Yasunori Kawauchi

DIR. Sadao Funatako

EPISODES: 141 YEAR MADE: 1958 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 5

TOEI

CREATOR: SHUNICHI NISHIMURA

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 10 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN:

DATE OF PREMIER: 24/02/1958 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 05/07/1959

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS: GEKKO KAMEN (aka THE MAN IN THE MOONLIGHT MASK aka THE MOONBEAM MAN) (1958)

FUMITAKE OMURA, JUNYA USAMI, HIROKO MINE, MITSUE KOMIYA, YAEKO WAKAMIZU,

YASUSHI NAGATA, Jûrou Iwai/Moonlight Mask KOICHI OSE, Dai Gorohachi KANICHI TANI, YUKIE
NUNOCHI, KAZUYA OGURI.

RELATED SHOWS:

KAMEN RIDER

MORGEN GEBEURT HET

The series was in Dutch and shown in the Netherlands.

WR. Mies Bouhuys

DIR. Jef De Groot

EPISODES: 0 YEAR MADE: 1957 COUNTRY: NOR SEASONS: 1

AVRO TELEVISION

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW:

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 0

STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG:

SEASON BREAKDOWN:

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Professor Plano TOM LENSINK, Apeiron FRITS BUTZELAAR, Vogelman 3 DRIES KRIJN, Peter Zandvliet MANFRED SCHULTE, Alkeitos, Hyperion 1 JOHN SOER.

MORK AND MINDY

As Mork, Williams took the classic 'stranger in a strange land' theme and literally stood it on its head. Totally unaccustomed to the ways of Earth, alien Mork sits on his head, drinks with his fingers, talks to eggs, wears suits backwards, grows down not up and wears a watch on his ankle. Williams dominated the show. His lightning improvisation, funny voices, frenetic rubber-faced clowning and relentless stream of ad-libbed one-liners gave the one-gag variants their velocity and momentum. His co-star, Pam Dawber (Mindy) admitted: 'He is the show, I'm lucky I got my name in the title'.

A misfit in his own world because of his sense of humour, Mork was sent to observe Earth's primitive society whose customs were beyond Orkan understanding. Landing in his giant eggshell near Boulder, Colorado, he was befriended by Mindy McConnell, a clerk at her father's music store and came to live with her family where he tried to adjust to Earth's ways while everyone else tried to get used to his.

Mork and Mindy's relationship started out platonic. But three seasons and 93 shows is a long time and eventually, after Mindy had graduated as a journalism student and become a TV reporter, they fell in love and married, honeymooning on Ork. Then Mork discovered he was pregnant, and laid an egg from which hatched their middle-aged son Mearth - who will grow younger each year.

The series introduced various regular characters over the three seasons, including Exidor, a crazy UFO prophet, grouchy neighbour Mr Bickley, brother and sister Remo and Jean da Vinci from the Bronx, Mindy's ambitious cousin Nelson and her TV station boss Miles Sternhagen. And, of course, Mearth, played by Williams's childhood hero Jonathan Winters.

Spin-off from a February 1978 episode of "Happy Days" (15 Jan 1974-12 July 1984) where an alien from the planet Ork came to Earth and tried to kidnap Richie Cunningham (Ron Howard). The episode generated so many letters to the ABC that they created this new series. Mork did not fit in on Ork, because he alone had a sense of humor, and so he was semi-exiled to Earth by the leader, Orson. Mork was supposed to figure out humans, which the Orkans had never been able to do. He would report back to Orson at the end of each episode in an explanatory monologue that would end with the catch-phrase "Nanu nanu." Mork soft-landed in a giant egg just outside Boulder, Colorado, and was taken in by Mindy MConell, who worked at her father's music store (just as Philip K. Dick worked at a record store in Berkeley and saw the world through unique perspectives).

Mork combined human and Orkian customs in a wacky but well-meaning way that had him pegged as just plain nuts. Everybody was worried about Mindy keeping this weirdo in her attic, except for hip grandma Cora. The show had great ratings for a season, until ABC foolishly rewrote it, in blatant disregard for the first law of television: if it ain't broken, don't fix it. The second season started with a complete change of supporting cast and an episode in a strange world of good and evil archetypes. ABC also moved the show from a Thursday slot to Sunday.

The ratings immediately plummeted by over 50%. The network restored the show to its former Thursday slot, simplified the confused story line, and brought back Cora and Frederick McConnell, who had supposedly toured as an orchestra conductor during his hiatus. The brother-and-sister pair from the Bronx, the DaVincis, were added (to no good effect). Mindy's cousin Nelson, an irritating preppie/yuppie came into the show, and downstairs neighbor (think "Dennis the Menace" Mr. Wilson) Mr. Bickley had his role expanded.

The lunatic Exidor made recurring appearances, as a friend of Mork who babbled new-age prophecy and led a cult "The Friends of Venus" made of imaginary invisible members. Mindy somehow parlayed her journalism classes into employment at KTNS-TV under Mr. Sternhagen. Ratings partly rebounded. In Fall 1981, Mork and Mindy were married, and had a unrealistic honeymoon on Ork. Mork then gave birth to fully-grown Jonathan Winters, who called Mindy "Shoe" and Mork "Mommy." He grew younger and younger. Robin Williams and Jonathan Winters were the highpoint of network comedy, but could not by themselves get ratings back to what ABC demanded.

ONE OF THE MOST POPULAR SERIES of the Seventies had its roots in a sitcom set in the Fifties. In the HAPPY DAYS episode My Favourite Orkan, an alien named Mork (Robin Williams) from the planet Ork attempted to kidnap Richie Cunningham. The frenetic character proved so popular with audiences that seven months after his debut in February 1978, Mork had his own series, Mork and Mindy.

The inhabitants of Ork had long studied Earth from afar, and decided that with his prior experience with Earthlings, Mork would be the perfect candidate for an extended field mission. (And since most Orkans were a humourless lot, this got the uncharacteristically anarchic Mork off their homeworld.) Mork's egg-shaped spaceship landed near Boulder, Colorado, and he quickly befriended Mindy Beth McConnell (Pam Dawber), an open minded journalism student at the University of Colorado, who worked in her father's music store. In order to convince the sceptical Mindy of his extraterrestrial origins - and that he's not a priest - Mork took her back in time to Fifties Milwaukee to meet Fonzie (Henry Winkler) and Laverne (Penny Marshall).

Suitably convinced, Mindy reluctantly allowed the alien to live in the attic loft of her home - a situation which didn't sit well with her uptight father Frederick (QUARK's Conrad Janis), but delighted her hip grandmother Cora (Elizabeth Kerr). At the end of each episode, Mork would report back his findings to his unseen supervisor, Orson (the voice of Ralph James). Clad in his red Orkan uniform, Williams would humorously summarise each episode's underlying moral.

Thanks to a combination of Williams's winning behaviour, uproarious slapstick and ad-libbing, and bizarre Orkan customs (like wearing his wristwatch on his ankle, sitting on his head, sleeping upside down and drinking with his fingers) and language ("nanu, nanu" and "shazbot"), Mork and Mindy became an instant hit.

Unfortunately, after the first season the producers ignored the old adage "If it ain't broke, don't fix it," and their tampering eventually spelled the series' end. Mindy's father and grandmother vanished from the show - Fred was said to be taking part in a cross-country musical tour - although both would return in later seasons, and Eugene (Jeffrey Jacquet), a frequent customer to the music store, was phased out entirely. The only remaining original support cast were Mork and Mindy's downstairs neighbour Franklin Delano Bickley (Tom Poston), a grump who designed business cards for a living, and Exidor (Robert Donner), the white-robed leader of the Friends of Venus UFO cult.

New cast additions included the Bronx brother and sister duo of Remo and Jean DaVinci (Jay Thomas and Gina Hecht), who respectively ran the New York Deli and attended medical school, and Nelson Flavor (Jim Staahl), Mindy's insufferable cousin, who harboured lofty political ambitions. As if this massive change wasn't enough, ABC moved Mork and Mindy from its Thursday night time slot to Sunday evenings, and the second Wonderland. Mork takes cold medication, causing him to shrink into an alternate universe ruled by a parallel Exidor who has outlawed all humour.

While many episodes of the second season fell into two categories - pretentious or insipid - a few highlights still exist. In Dr Morckenstein, Mork reprogrammes a robot played by Robby the Robot (voiced by Roddy McDowell) so that it has emotions. Female warriors from Necroton, led by Captain Nirvana of the Necroton Black Army (Raquel Welch), arrived on Earth to destroy Mork in Mork vs the Necrotons, and in Hold That Mork, the alien applied for a job as a Denver Bronco cheerleader, giving the future Mrs Doubtfire an early taste of drag. And Conrad Janis returned twice as Fred McConnell: in A Mommy for Mindy, he came back to Boulder with a new wife, but was already having marital problems by the season ender The Way Mork Were.

Not surprisnly, the third season MORK AND MINDY saw a return to Thursday nights, and the return of Conrad Janis as a regular cast member, plus the addition of Crissy Wilzak as Glenda Faye "Crissy" Comstock, yet another neighbour. Also, Mindy graduated from college and landed a job at KTNS, a local television station; this meant that her boss Miles Sternhagen (Foster Brooks) became a recurring character too.

Mindy's new job meant some new journalism-related plotlines. In one especially surreal episode Mork tagged along with Mindy as she interviewed a famous comedian: Robin Williams! By this time, Williams' improvisational skills were running full throttle, and scriptwriters had begun leaving areas of the scripts intentionally blank for his ad-libbing. Despite the return to Thursdays and more conventional storylines, however, ratings continued to slide, and the producers indulged Williams' desire to work with his comedic hero, Jonathan Winters.

Winters had previously played Mindy's self-centred uncle in the third season's Mork and the Family Reunion, and for the show's fourth season joined the cast as Mork and Mindy's son, Mearth. After accepting Mork's marriage proposal, Mindy and he were married on 15 October 1981, over Orson's objections. As punishment for defying Orson's wishes, Mork was gradually turned into a sheepdog during the wedding, but was still able to complete the ceremony. The happy couple then honeymooned on Ork, where Mindy learned what it was like to be a stranger in a strange land.

Shortly after their return to Earth, an egg popped out of Mork's navel, and it quickly grew to huge proportions; from this egg hatched Mearth, making Mork the first male on TV to give birth. Because Orkans start life

Mork From Ork ROBIN WILLIAMS, Mindy McConnell PAM DAWBER, Frederick McConnell CONRAD JANIS, Cora Hudson ELIZABETH KERR, Eugene JEFFREY JACQUET, Orson (voice only) RALPH JAMES, Exidor ROBERT DONNER, Franklin Delano Bickley TOM POSTON, Remo DaVinci JAY THOMAS, Jean DaVinci GINA HECHT, Nelson Flavor JIM STAAHL, Mearth JONATHON WINTERS, Mr. Miles Sternhagen FOSTER BROOKS, Exidor ROBERT DONNER, Glenda Faye "Crissy" Comstock CRISY WILZAK.

Books Based on this series.

Mork and Mindy	Ralph Church	1979
Mork and Mindy (Video Novel)	Richard Anobile	1978
Mork and Mindy 2 - The Incredible Shrinking Mork	Robin S. Wagner	1980

RELATED SHOWS:

MY FAVOURITE MARTIAN

ALF

THIRD ROCK FROM THE SUN

1 - 1 MORK AND MINDY (1-2)

Mork's boss, Orson, assigns Mork to study the planet Earth. After landing in the woods near Boulder, Colorado, he meets Mindy McConnell who was stranded there by her lecherous boyfriend. Back at Mindy's apartment, she discovers that Mork is an alien, and offers to help him study Earth. In a flashback sequence, Mork tells Mindy about a previous visit to Earth when Fonzie arranged a date for him with Laverne De Fazio.

Wr Dale McRaven

Dir Howard Storm

1 - 2 MORK MOVES IN

After constant hounding from Fred, Mork agrees to move out of Mindy's apartment. But Mork's plans are complicated when he becomes drunk of ginger ale.

Wr Lloyd Turner, Gordon Mitchell

Dir Howard Storm

1 - 3 MORK RUNS AWAY

Realizing that his living with Mindy is making it difficult for her to date, Mork decides to move out. While looking for a flop house, he stumbles upon Exidor, the delusional leader (and only tangible member) of "The Friends of Venus".

Wr April Kelly

Dir Joel Zwick

1 - 4 MORK IN LOVE

When Mindy tells Mork that he has to experience love in order to understand the human experience, he takes her advice and falls head over heel for the lovely Dolly, oblivious to the fact that she's a mannequin

Wr Lloyd Turner, Gordon Mitchell

Dir Harvey Medlinsky

1 - 5 MORK'S SEDUCTION

A new customer at the music store turns out to be Mindy's old rival, Susan Taylor. Susan sets her sights on Mork, as revenge for Mindy stealing her boyfriend back in high school.

Wr Neil Lebowitz

Dir Harvey Medlinsky

1 - 6 MORK GOES PUBLIC

At the music store, Mork has a run in with Clint Mullet, a reporter for a tabloid that is offering $25,000 for proof of alien life. After Fred saves Mork's life, Mork decides to turn himself in to pay for Fred's plumbing bills, and Mindy's college tuition.

Wr David Misch, April Kelly

Dir Joel Zwick

1 - 7 TO TELL THE TRUTH

When Mork tricks Mindy into believing that he can predict the weather, Mindy tells him that he should never lie. The music store's despicable landlord, Arnold Wanker, dies while trying to evict Fred from the music store. Mork, hearing the family try to comfort his widow, assumes that that Wanker is their friend, and brings him back from the dead.

Wr April Kelly

Dir Joel Zwick

1 - 8 MORK THE GULLIBLE

Mork experiences snow for the first time and learns something about gullibility.

Wr Neil Lebowitz

Dir Howard Storm

1 - 9 A MOMMY FOR MORK

When Mindy is reunited with her ex-fiance, Dan, she wonders what it would be like to raise a family, while Mork wonders what it would have been like to have had a mother. Mork kills two birds with one stone by using his Orkan Age Machine to regress himself to 5 years old

Wr Tom Tenowich

Dir Howard Storm

1 - 10 MORK'S GREATEST HISTORY

When a goon tries to put the moves on an unwilling Mindy, Mork can't protect her because Orkans don't believe in violence. When the goon insists on a fight, Mork uses Orkan strategies to deal with him without using violence.

Wr David Misch

Dir Howard Storm

1 - 11 OLD FEARS

When a friend of Cora's passes away, she goes into a funk. When Mork hears she needs more friends her age, he decides to become one.

Wr April Kelly

Dir Howard Storm

1 - 12 MORK'S FIRST CHRISTMAS

Mork learns about the meaning of Christmas, and helps remind everyone else about it when he invites the obnoxious Susan Taylor to spend Christmas with the McConnell's because she's got no one to celebrate with.

Wr Dale McRaven, Bruce Johnson

Dir Dale McRaven, Bruce Johnson

1 - 13 MORK AND THE IMMIGRANT

Mork thinks Russian immigrant Sergei Krushnev is an alien like him, and tries to help welcome him. Trouble ensues when Sergei tells Mork that 'aliens' need to be registered.

Wr David O'Malley, April Kelly

Dir Howard Storm

1 - 14 MORK THE TOLERANT

Mindy is irritated by her grouchy new neighbor, Mr. Bickley, but Mork is determined to be friends with him.

Wr Lloyd Turner, Gordon Mitchell

Dir Howard Storm

1 - 15 YOUNG LOVE

Mork performs a wedding ceremony to marry his friend Eugene and his girlfriend, Holly.

Wr Tom Tenowich

Dir Howard Storm

1 - 16 SNOWFLAKES KEEP DANCING ON MY HEAD (A/K/A SKY FLAKES KEEP FALLING ON MY HEAD)

Exidor returns with a plan to become Emperor of Earth, and in return for Mork's help, lets him use his summer home so Mindy can get some R&R.

Wr Dale McRaven, Bruce Johnson

Dir Howard Storm

1 - 17 MORK GOES ERK

Mork reveals that Orson has reassigned him to another planet. Meanwhile, Susan Taylor returns, and is trying to get everyone to join ERK, a self-help program called Ellsworth Revitalization Konditioning.

Wr Lloyd Turner, Gordon Mitchell

Dir Howard Storm

1 - 18 YES SIR, THAT'S MY BABY

Sally returns with her newborn son, and Mork loves him so much he wants a baby of his own.

Wr April Kelly

Dir Jeff Chambers

1 - 19 MORK'S MIXED EMOTONS

A kiss from Mindy brings out Mork's suppressed emotions.

Wr Tom Tenowich, Ed Scharlach

Dir Jeff Chambers

1 - 20 MORK'S NIGHT OUT

When Mindy goes away for the weekend, Mork and Mr. Bickley goes to a single bar for a night out.

Wr Dale McRaven, Bruce Johnson

Dir Howard Storm

1 - 21 IN MORK WE TRUST

When Mr. Bickley steals Mork's age machine, he unknowingly causes Mork's age to change from that of a baby to middle aged.

Wr Michael Endler

Dir Howard Storm

1 - 22 MORK RUNS DOWN

Mork's attempt to find a new job is complicated by his "birthday", a potentially fatal condition that causes him to behave stranger than usual unless he recharges himself with his egg-like "gleek".

Wr Ben Starr

Dir Howard Storm

1 - 23 IT'S A WONDERFUL MORK

When Mork inadvertently costs Mindy a potential job, he decides to return to Ork. Orson then shows him what would have happened to Mindy over the last year had Mork not been there.

Wr Ed Scharlach, Tom Tenowich

Dir Howard Storm

1 - 24 MORK'S BEST FRIEND

Mork brings a pet caterpillar which he names Bob.

Wr Simon Muntner

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 1 MORK IN WONDERLAND (1-2)

Mork shrinks after taking a cold capsule.

Wr Dale McRaven, Bruce Johnson

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 2 STARK RAVING MORK

To keep excitement in his relationship with Mindy, Mork starts fights with her and then wants to kiss and make up

Wr April Kelly

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 3 MORK'S BABY BLUES

Due to a misunderstanding about Monopoly money, gold-digger Kathy believes Mork is rich, and claims she is carrying his child.

Wr David Misch, April Kelly

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 4 DR. MORKENSTIEN

Working as a security guard in a science museum, Mork befriends a robot.

Wr Bruce Kalish, Philip John Taylor

Dir Harvey Medlinsky

2 - 5 MORK VS. MINDY

After Mork and Mindy are hired as campaign workers by Mindy's cousin, Nelson Flavor, who is running for city councilman, they end up competing for the same job.

Wr David Misch

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 6 MORK GETS MINDY-ITIS

Mork discovers he is allergic to Mindy, when he has uncontrollable fits of laughter (the Orkan equivalent to sneezing) around her.

Wr Tom Tenowich

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 7 A MORKSVILLE HORROR

On Halloween, Mork and Mindy believe the house she grew up in is haunted.

Wr Tom Tenowich, Ed Scharlach

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 8 MORK'S HEALTH HINTS

While in the hospital, Mindy is mistakenly scheduled for brain surgery.

Wr David Misch

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 9 DIAL 'N' FOR NELSON

When Nelson receives threatening phone calls, Mork and Mindy investigate a shady club.

Wr David Misch, April Kelly

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 10 MORK VS. THE NECROTONS (1-2)

Mork is romanced by another alien.

Wr Alan Eisenstock, Larry Mintz

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 11 HOLD THAT WORK

Mork becomes a cheerleader for the Denver Broncos, making him pro football's first male cheerleader.

Wr Bruce Kalish, Philip John Taylor

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 12 EXIDOR AFFAIR

Exidor wants to propose to a meter maid and asks Mork for help.

Wr Dale McRaven, Bruce Johnson

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 13 THE MORK SYNDROME

Mork goes on a secret mission for the Air Force.

Wr April Kelly, David O'Malley

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 14 EXIDOR'S WEDDING

Exidor's mother shows up and tries to keep her son from getting married.

Wr Dale McRaven, Bruce Johnson

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 15 A MOMMY FOR MINDY

When Mindy's dad visits with a younger woman he has just married, Mork is happy, but Mindy is not.

Wr April Kelly

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 16 THE NIGHT THEY RAIDED MIND-SKIS

Mindy is targeted by a bigoted fanatical group.

Wr Ed Scharlach, Tom Tenowich

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 17 MORK LEARNS TO SEE

When Mr. Bickley's blind son comes to visit, Mork learns to see the world differently.

Wr Ed Scharlach, Tom Tenowich

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 18 MORK'S VACATION

Needing a vacation, Mork gets Orson's permission to swap bodies with other aliens.

Wr Tom Tenowich, Ed Scharlach

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 19 JEANIE LOVES MORKS

Mindy secretly writes for a newspaper's lonely hearts column and unknowingly gives advice to Jeanie, who then falls for Mork.

2 - 20 LITTLE ORPHAN MORKIE

Mork could be deported, unless he marries an American or finds someone to adopt him.

Wr Bruce Kalish, Philip John Taylor

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 21 LOONY TUNES AND MORKIE MELODIES

Mork recruits his friends to turn the hour devoted to Nelson's 7am, Saturday morning campaign speech into a variety show for kids.

Wr Tom Tenowich, Ed Scharlach

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 22 CLERICAL ERROR

Mork thinks he is a priest when he dresses in a black jacket and white collar, and begins advising church parishioners.

Wr April Kelly

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 23 INVASION OF THE MORK SNATCHERS

When Mork becomes addicted to advertising, he becomes a "buy-a-holic", causing problems for Mindy.

Wr Tom Tenowich, Ed Scharlach

Dir Howard Storm

2 - 24 THE WAY MORK WERE

When marital problems plague Mindy's father, he turns to Mork and Mindy for help.

Wr April Kelly, David Misch

Dir Howard Storm

3 - 1 PUTTING THE ORK BACK IN MORK (1-2)

Mindy's efforts to make Mork act like a normal earthling backfire, radically changing his personality. Orson sends the most respected Orkan elder to Earth to help Mork regain his Orkan traits.

Wr Ed Scharlach, Tom Tenowich

Dir Howard Storm

3 - 2 MORK IN NEVER NEVER LAND

Mork discovers that his penpal is living at an insane asylum, and believes that he is Peter Pan.

Wr Wendy Kout

Dir Howard Storm

3 - 3 DUELING SKATES

To save the daycare center where he works from becoming a parking lot, Mork challenges a champion skater to a Rocky Mountain race.

Wr Dale McRaven, Bruce Johnson

Dir Garry Marshall

3 - 4 MORK THE PRANKSTER

Mindy teaches Mork about practical jokes, but Mork doesn't quite get the hang of pranks. After a disastrous prank, Mindy moves out to live with Glenda Faye for awhile. Glenda convinces Mindy to take Mork back.

3 - 5 MORK, THE MONKEY'S UNCLE

Mork kidnaps a chimp from the zoo, saying he was being treated badly. Exidor investigates at the zoo and learns that the chimp's mother was rushed to the hospital. Mork sneaks in to the zoo and reunites the chimp and it's mother.

Dir Howard Storm

3 - 6 GUNFIGHT AT THE MORK-KAY CORRAL

Mork dresses up as his favorite hero, Squellman the Yellow. One boy at the day care idolizes Billy the Kid and starts immitating him in a dangerous game. Mork and Mindy teach him a lesson about violence.

3 - 7 MORK'S NEW LOOK

Mindy's dad wants to get plastic surgery to look younger. He says everyone could use a little improvement, which inspires Mork to go to a plastic surgeon. His make-over surprises everyone.

3 - 8 ALAS, POOR MORK, WE KNEW HIM WELL

An insurance salesman scares Mork about dying from natural disasters. He seals himself into a glass bubble in the living room.

3 - 9 MORK AND THE BUM RAP

Although Mork doesn't understand the concept of charity, he is determined to help Mindy raise money for the children's hospital. He tries his Morkathon performance to no avail and ends up dressing as a bum to collect money.

Wr Deborah Raznick, John B. Collins

Dir Howard Storm

3 - 10 MINDY GET'S HER JOB

Mindy applies for a job at a TV station. After speaking her mind to the station manager, she get hired. A blizzard keeps newscasters from getting to the station, so Mindy has to do the whole newsshow herself, with help from Mork.

Wr Ed Scharlach, Tom Tenowich

Dir Howard Storm

3 - 11 TWENTY ANGRY APPLIANCES

Mindy has a broken record player that the repairman won't fix for a second time. Mork and Mindy want to get revenge on the repairman, so Mork puts him on trial before a jury of broken appliances.

Wr Jeff Reno, Ron Osborn

Dir Howard Storm

3 - 12 THERE'S A NEW MORK IN TOWN

Mork is beside himself when he hears that Xerko is coming from Ork to visit him. Xerko turns out to be an arrogant and egotistical man and he wants Mork's job of reporting back to Orson. Xerko and Mork duel to see who will get the job.

Wr Jeff Reno, Ron Osborn

Dir Howard Storm

3 - 13 MORK MEETS ROBIN WILLIAMS

Robin Williams is in town and Mindy can't get an interview. Mork doesn't think he looks anything like Robin Williams, but he gets chased by a mob of fans. Mork gets Mindy and himself into Robin Williams' dressing room, leading to a face-to-face interview with him.

3 - 14 MINDY, MINDY, MINDY

Mindy goes away for the weekend, and Mork goes crazy missing her. The Orkan elder comes to visit and regrets that Mindy isn't there. He tries to clone Mindy, but each clone is worse than the last.

3 - 15 MORK, THE SWINGING SINGLE

Mindy tells Mork she thinks they should date other people. He takes lessons from a swinger named T.N.T. and turns into a party animal.

3 - 16 MORK AND MINDY MEET RICK AND RUDY

Remo fires Ruby, the pregnant singer of the restaurant's band. Mindy takes in Rick and Ruby and she tries to convince Remo to rehire them. She makes a bet with Remo, so he rehires the group. Ruby goes into labor during a performance and Mork takes her place.

3 - 17 MORK THE FAMILY REUNION

Fred's successful, but domineering brother, Dave, comes to dinner. Mindy accidentally eats an Orkan dessert which makes her behave strangely. Things get even worse when Uncle Dave eats some of the dessert.

Wr April Kelly

Dir Howard Storm

3 - 18 OLD MUGGABLE MORK

Grandma Cora comes to visit, but the trip takes a turn for the worse when she gets mugged. Cora feels very scared; Mork thinks up a plan to get even with the muggers.

3 - 19 I HEARD IT THROUGH THE MORKVINE

Mork learns about gossip after Mindy gets her own gossip show. Mindy thinks she won't be able to get those kinds of stories, so Mork gets some for her. While taking her place on the show, he spreads gossip about his friends. Mindy makes Mork apologize on the air; Mork also convinces Mr. Sternhagen to drop the show.

3 - 20 MINDY AND MORK

Mindy is working a lot and Mork can't adjust. Mork and Mindy switch places for a morning to see how the other feels.

Wr Brian Levant

Dir Howard Storm

3 - 21 REFLECTIONS AND REGRETS

At Mr. Bickley's 50th birthday party, everyone shares what they regret in their life. Mindy makes excuses to put off her turn, but after everyone leaves, she shares her regret with Mork.

4 - 1 LIMITED ENGAGEMENT (PART 1 OF 2)

After decorating the apartment with flowers, Mork gets down on his knee and proposes to Mindy. Choosing between logic and her emotions, Mindy tells him that she cannot marry him. Mork asks for 24 hours to get her to change her mind.

Wr Brian Levant

Dir Bob Claver

4 - 2 THE WEDDING (PART 2 OF 2)

Orson forbids Mork to marry Mindy because marriage is outlawed on Ork. Because Mork goes ahead with the wedding anyway, Orson turns him into a dog. After a chat with Orson, Mork and Mindy finally get married.

Wr Alan Eisenstock, Larry Mintz

Dir Bob Claver

4 - 3 THE HONEYMOON

Mork and Mindy take their honeymoon on Ork, but Mindy becomes a tourist attraction. Things keep going wrong and Mork doesn't understand Earth honeymoon customs. He confesses to Mindy that he's scared of being married.

4 - 4 THREE THE HARD WAY

Dr. Exidor determines that Mork is pregnant. Mork gives birth to an egg via his navel. Mindy has trouble accepting that in the egg is their child. The egg grows and hatches a full grown, elderly man as Mork and Mindy's baby.

4 - 5 MAMA MORK, PAPA MINDY

Mearth learns to walk and talk, but calls Mindy 'shoe'. Mindy starts avoiding Mearth until Mork gives her an opportunity to bond with her son.

4 - 6 MY DAD CAN'T BEAT UP ANYONE

Mork becomes insecure when he thinks he doesn't have Mearth's respect. Mearth finds Mork's spacesuit and Mork wears it as a superhero costume. Mork and Mearth go to a bar, looking for some bad guys and they find more than they bargained for.

4 - 7 LONG BEFORE WE MET . . .

Mork accompanies Mindy to her high school reunion and gets upset when Mindy associates with an old boyfriend. Mork then attempts to go back in time to the prom and do away with the boyfriend and he succeeds. When Mork comes back to reality Mindy then assures him that he is the only one she loves.

4 - 8 RICH MORK, POOR MORK

Mork turns to Exidor for money advice, and invests all the family's money in Exidor's boutique.

4 - 9 ALIENATION

Mork and Mindy tell Mearth he's an alien. Mearth gets upset and runs away. He's captured by a cult of Utopians and Mork and Mindy pretend to be part of the cult to rescue him.

4 - 10 P.S. 2001

Mearth wants to go to school and gets sent to school on Ork. Mearth comes home crying because the other kids made fun of him and he hates the teacher. Mork and Mindy take Mearth back to class and Mearth uses his parents as a show-and-tell item which gains the respect of his classmates.

4 - 11 PAJAMA GAME II

Mearth is allowed to have some of his Orkan friends over and Zelka ends up spending the night. Mork and Mindy explain the facts of life to Mearth when they assume something happened between him and Zelka.

4 - 12 PRESENT TENSE

Mearth goes on a trip with Fred so Mork and Mindy have a week to spend alone together. They find that without Mearth at home, they have nothing to talk about. They have a fight. So, to make up, Mork takes Mindy to the place they first met.

4 - 13 METAMORPHOSIS - THE TV SHOW

Mr. Sternhagen, the station manager where Mindy works, gets fired. KTNS's new boss is very young and ready to fire people. He holds a party to meet all the employees' families. A short circuit switches Mork's mind with Mearth's.

4 - 14 DRIVE, SHE SAID

Mindy is tired of coming from work and then having to go out on errands in the evening. Mork goes to a driving school where TNT is his instructor. When Mork takes his driving test, he thinks his examiner is the devil.

4 - 15 I DON'T REMEMBER MAMA

Mork has been making boring reports to Orson, so Orson erases all of Mork's memories of his family. Mindy and Mearth do everything they can to get Mork to remember them. Mindy finally breaks the memory dam by kissing him.

4 - 16 MORK, MINDY AND MEARTH MEET MILT

Mork uses Orkan components to assemble a home computer named M.I.L.T. MILT is so sophisticated and tyrannical that it decides to hold its creator, Mindy, and Mearth, as hostages.

4 - 17 MIDAS MORK

After hearing about how Rumpelstiltskin spun straw into gold, Mork and Mearth try to make polyester into gold. Mindy dreams that they become millionaires and live in a mansion with servants.

4 - 18 CHEERLEADERS IN CHAINS

Mindy gets jailed when she won't reveal a source for one of her stories. Mork tries to go through political channels to get her out. Then he tries to spring her out, but gets arrested himself.

Wr Winifred Hervey

4 - 19 GOTTA RUN (1-3)

Mork and Mindy are overjoyed when they meet Kalnik, an alien from Neptune who has also married an Earthling. Things go awry when they become suspicious of Kalnik's true intentions.

4 - 20 THE MORK REPORT

Mork bucks hard for a promotion from leader Orson on planet Ork, and unintentionally comes up with a report on how to stay happily married on Earth.

MORTAL KOMBAT : CONQUEST

Conquest will centre around Kung Lao, the great Shaolin warrior and Liu Kang's predecessor. The show will reflect upon Lao and his quest to retain his position as MK champion some five hundred years ago. The storyline will follow the adventures of Kung Lao and his companions as they defend the Earth realm against the dark forces of the Outworld in Mortal Kombat—a tournament of honour and tradition shrouded in mystery. Each match is a struggle for survival as each warrior gains a sense of Kombat's ancient creed: "Mortal Kombat is a competition which stresses life, not death, as its most crucial element.

Professionally choreographed martial arts sequences will enrich the series as well as awe-inspiring special effects by Threshold Digital Research Labs. Conquest will incorporate new characters to accompany Lao as the season progresses. It is rumoured that some of the regulars will include Earth's guardian Lord Raiden, the shape-shifting Shang Tsung, and the menacing Shao Kahn!!! Cast regulars for MK Crusades is said to include a professional wrestlers from Orlando, FL. And in the first two shows Shang Tsung will "create" Scorpion with his sorcery.

New Line Television and Warner Bros. Domestic Television Distribution, both owned and operated by Time Warner, will participate in their first ever combined efforts with the production of Crusades. Warner Bros. International Television Distribution will distribute Conquest internationally as "a dazzling visual spectacle ideally suited to stand out in the world of weekly television." Brent Friedman, the writer for MK Annihilation will play a big part in the show. Larry Kasanoff, the executive producer of Conquest will be starting up a chain of Mortal Kombat Martial Arts schools nationwide!!! MK Conquest was filmed in Florida's illustrious theme park Florida Splendid China. The series started in the US in October 1998 and got its UK premiere on Sky One on the 17th February, 1999.

Executive producers for the series were Lawrence Kasanoff, Robert Freidman, Tom Campbell and Steve Hattman, co-producer was Dean Barnes, production designer was Orvis L. Rigsby, edited by Rick Roberts. Stunt co-ordinator and second unit director was John Medlen, costume design by Beverley Safier, special effects co-ordinator was James L. Roberts II, visual effects by Threshold Digital Research Lab and executive in charge of production was Jayne Bieber. Music was by Jonathan Sloat, the director of photography was Christopher Faloon, producer for the series was Sean Catherine Derek and Wayne Morris.

Tracy Douglas career includes feature films such as Reasonable Doubt and Smart Choices. Lazy Sandy Run and Firehouse the Second Alarm. Television credits include Malcolm and Eddie and The Watchers and Hanging with Mr. Copper, As the World Turns and Michael Hayes, a now cancelled series which starred former NYPD Blue veteran David Caruso as a New York based cop turned District Attorney.

Trivia

In the episode "Debt of the Dragon," the Black Dragon organization is featured.

The episode "The Serpent and the Ice" featured a cameo by Smoke in the very last scene before the credits. It was spoken by the Lin Kuei master that he would hunt down the now rogue Sub-Zero. This storyline never came into play, possibly because the show was cancelled prematurely.

The episode "The Master" features a character named Master Cho. It is rumored that he is the prototype of Bo' Rai Cho.

The episode "Unholy Alliance" features an alliance between Shang Tsung and Quan Chi, which is the premise for Mortal Kombat: Deadly Alliance.

Former WCW wrestlers Meng and Wrath also made guest appearances.

Guest stars Angelica Bridges, Sung Hi Lee, Dana Hee, Jamie Pressly, Renee Tenison, Kathleen Kinmont, Candace Miller and Suzanne Stokes all posed nude for the adult magazine, Playboy. Another guest star, Eva Mendes, was also featured doing an interview in one issue.

Due to budget constraints, the costuming department was unable to afford any bras for the female cast members.

Wr William Thomas Quick

Dir Charles Siebert

1 - 6 DEBT OF THE DRAGON

The Black Dragon, an infamous underworld organization, have appeared in Zhu Zin. They claim ownership of the trading post and demand Kung Lao, Siro and Taja leave. While they resist the Black Dragon, a member named Jola makes a deal with Shang Tsung for power and revenge.

Wr Sean Catherine Derek

Dir Jim Johnston

1 - 7 UNDYING DREAM

Taja is pulled into a portal and arrives in the Cobalt Mines, captured by Shang Tsung. Kung Lao and Siro have to save her, even if it means walking into a trap.

Wr Carl Ellsworth

Dir Rick Jacobson

1 - 8 QUAN CHI

Quan Chi sends a trio of women to infect Kung Lao, Taja and Siro with a potion. The potion enlargens their flaws: Kung Lao's temper, Siro becomes a drunk and Taja is a thief again. With the three getting out of control, Rayden has to find a way to break this spell before it's too late.

Wr Steve Hattman

Dir Bruce Seth Green

1 - 9 UNHOLY ALLIANCE

Shang Tsung forms an unlikely alliance with Quan Chi to defeat Kung Lao. They lure Kung Lao into a realm with everything he could possibly want. But it's all an elaborate trap for Shang Tsung to capture him and leave the Earth Realm defenseless.

Wr Kearie Peak, Sean Catherine Derek

Dir Charlie Kanganis

1 - 10 THICKER THAN BLOOD

An old love from Siro's past, Hannah, turns up in Zhu Zin in search of his help. Hannah reveals she married Siro's estranged brother, Cassar, who has gone missing. Siro is reluctant to help until he learns Scorpion used magic to make Cassar one of his warriors.

Wr Sean Catherine Derek

Dir Reza Badiyi

1 - 11 SHADOW OF DOUBT

Kung Lao is badly wounded in a fight with Rain. With him practically defenseless, Shao Kahn sends Mileena to masquerade as Princess Kitana and finish off the weakened Kung Lao.

Wr Bruce Seth Green, Steve Hattman, Sean Catherine Derek

Dir Peter Ellis

1 - 12 TWISTED TRUTH

A warrior named Tomas arrives, saying he wants to join Kung Lao in defending Earth Realm. All seems well until it looks like Tomas has murdered some barmaids. Has he? Or is there something bigger going on?

Wr Steve Hattman, Sean Catherine Derek

Dir Chip Chalmer

1 - 13 THE FESTIVAL OF DEATH

A traveling circus arrives in Zhu Zin with Qali among it. Kung Lao, Taja and Siro suspect something is wrong and they're right. The circus turns out to be a way for Quan Chi to raise an army.

Wr James Cappe

Dir Charles Siebert

1 - 14 THE SERPENT AND THE ICE

Shao Kahn partners two bitter enemies, Sub-Zero and Scorpion, to destroy Kung Lao.

Wr Steve Hattman, Sean Catherine Derek

Dir Jack Sholder

1 - 15 KREEYA

Empress Kreeya arrives on Earth Realm to build up an army. Her target: Outworld. Vorpax, revealed to be working for Kreeya, invites Kung Lao, Taja and Siro to join them.

Wr Steve Hattman, Sean Catherine Derek, James Cappe

Dir Bruce Seth Green

1 - 16 THE MASTER

Long ago, Master Cho was betrayed by Shang Tsung so he could fight for Shao Kahn. Now, Shang Tsung loose on Earth Realm, Master Cho intends to settle the score.

Wr James Cappe

Dir Harvey S. Laidman

1 - 17 IN KOLD BLOOD

Kreeya has returned and is now teamed up with Reptile.

Wr Steve Hattman, Sean Catherine Derek, James Cappe

Dir Reza Badiyi

1 - 18 FLAWED VICTORY

Shao Kahn enlists Quan Chi to find the missing Shang Tsung and return him to the Cobalt Mines.

Wr Steve Hattman, Sean Catherine Derek

Dir Charles Siebert

1 - 19 BALANCE OF POWER

Shao Kahn continues his search for the traitor. Meanwhile, as Kreeya's forces are losing the war with Outworld, Vorpax seeks the help of the Earth Warriors to kill Kreeya.

Wr Duke Sandefur

Dir Scott Paulin

1 - 20 STOLEN LIES

Kung Lao is haunted by visions of Earth realm's annihilation. Meanwhile, Siro catches a thief in the trading post and it turns out to be Taja's old friend, Dion.

Wr Sean Catherine Derek, James Cappe

Dir Reza Badiyi

1 - 21 VENGEANCE

Rayden meets in between realms with Shao Kahn, who says he will be defeated. Kung Lao, meanwhile, is looking for Rayden when he runs into Kitana. She warns Shao Kahn is planning to attack. Many of the other enemies of Earth Realm appear as well with plans of their own.

Wr Steve Hattman

Dir Scott Paulin

MR. SMITH

The series was about Mr. Smith, a once ordinary ape named Cha Cha who was turned into a genius with an IQ of 256 after ingesting an experiential enzyme. The government, quick to see that an ape with such a high IQ is a valuable government asset, moves Mr. Smith to Washington, DC. Where he becomes an expert consultant on everything. Only a few people know about Mr. Smith's unique ability.

Among them are: Tommy Atwood, Mr. Smith's former trainer, and his sister Ellie, who were moved to Washington. Raymond Holyoke, the government official who has been assigned to attend to Mr. Smith - a job he does not partake enjoy and Dr. Judy Tyson, the scientist assigned to study Mr. Smith. Also on hand was Mr. Smith's normal brother Bobo.

According to the experts, Mr. Smith was supposed to be a runaway hit series of 1983 fall season. As usual, the experts were wrong. Instead of being a hit, this series about an ultra intelligent talking ape lasted only half a season. The series was first shown on NBC.

The series had a perfect opportunity to do some political satire, with an ape in Washington smarter than all of the politicians there. Instead typical sitcom plots were used with the extra advantage of having the always humorous talking monkey present. C.J. the ape that played the role of Mr. Smith was no stranger to stardom. He had previously appeared on the big screen with Clint Eastwood as Clyde in Every Which Way But Loose and Any Which Way You Can and with Bo Derek in Tarzan.

Young Artist Award

1985 - Nominted - Best Young Actress in a Television Comedy Series - Laura Jacoby

1984 - Nominted - Best New Television Series

1984 - Nominted - Best Young Actress in a New Television Series - Laura Jacoby

WR. David Lloyd, Al Aidekman, George Kirgo, Douglas Wyman, Dari Daneils.

DIR. Ed Weinberger, Jerry Hirschfeld, Stan Daneils.

EPISODES: 12 YEAR MADE: 1983 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

NBC

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: COMEDY

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 12

DATE OF PREMIER: 23/09/1983 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 16/12/1983

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Raymond Holyoke LEONARD FREY, Tommy Atwood TIM DUNIGAN, Ellie Atwood LAURA JACOBY, Dr. Judy Tyson TERRI GARBER, Mr. Smith 'Cha Cha' C.J. (the ape), Bobo BOBO (the ape), Voice of Mr. Smith ED WEINBERGER.

- 1 - 1 MR. SMITH GOES TO WASHINGTON (1-2)
- 1 - 2 MR. SMITH FINDS HIS BROTHER
- 1 - 3 MR. SMITH OPERATES
- 1 - 4 MR. SMITH RESCUES BOBO
- 1 - 5 MR. SMITH FALLS IN LOVE
- 1 - 6 MR. SMITH GETS PHYSICAL
- 1 - 7 GOODBYE, MR. SMITH
- 1 - 8 MR. SMITH LOSES A FRIEND
- 1 - 9 MR. SMITH PLAYS CYRANO
- 1 - 10 MR. SMITH MAKES A COMMERCIAL
- 1 - 11 MR. SMITH GOES PUBLIC

MR. TERRIFIC

Mr. Terrific dealt with the exploits of Stanley Beamish. To all outward appearances, Stanley was nothing more than a typical gas station co-owner. However, when the need arose, he could take a super pill and become Mr. Terrific super powered fighter of evil. The pills had been developed by the Bureau of Secret Projects and Stanley's contact with the department was Barton J. Reed who would give Stanley his missions. The pill would give Stanley amazing abilities, including super strength and flight when he flapped his arms like wings, however the pills effects would only last for one hour.

The hour would often end just when he needed his powers the most. This was not helped by the fact the Stanley was a somewhat nerdy guy who didn't pay close attention to the clock. Unfortunately for the Bureau of Secret Projects they just could not hand the Mr. Terrific role over to someone else. Stanley was the only person the pills worked on, anyone else who took them would get sick.

Hot of the camp superhero craze made popular by Batman in 1966, came to series which made Batman look series by comparison. These were Mr. Terrific and CAPTAIN NICE, both of these series premiered on the same night (on different networks at different time) and would last be aired on the same night. A pilot to Mr. Terrific was produced in 1966 with an entirely different cast. Alan Young was Stanley Beamish, a clerk at a shoe store owned by Mr. Finney. Mr. Terrific is rarely seen in re-runs today. This is partly due to the fact that the hero's pill popping does not send the right message to the viewing audience.

Mr. Terrific debuted on CBS January 9, 1967 and ran until August 28 of that same year, but it was Stephen Strimple that starred as gas station geek turned superhero Stanley Beamish, not Wally Cox. Cox actually starred in a show called Mr. Peepers fifteen years earlier, and no doubt served as the meek and mild model for the Beamish character.

Batman was the number one show in the nation at the beginning of 1967, and two shows debuted mid-season to try to cash in on the 'camp' superhero craze. Both were gone by fall. Mr. Terrific was the story of nerdy Stanley Beamish, who works for the Bureau of Special Projects in Washington D.C. As part of his job, he swallows an enormous jawbreaker sized "Power Pill" developed by the government that turns him (and only him) into a superhero with tremendous powers for one hour. Trouble comes when the pill wears off, and timid Stanley Beamish is forced to face the crooks without his mighty powers. Mr. Terrific can even fly during his brief hour of power - but he has to flap his arms to do it!

Also appearing on the series were Dick Gautier ('Hymie the Robot' from GET SMART) as Beamish's pal Hal, and John McGiver as the head of the government Bureau. Typical plot: Stanley finds himself with a miniature transmitter implanted in his tooth when he visits a spy dentist. You can still see Mr. Terrific occasionally - several episodes of the show were combined to make a TV-movie currently offered in syndication called "The Pill Caper".

The episodes are entertaining, and the production values are far and above even the best shows on television today. Typical plot: While the president's plane flashes an SOS, Stanley Beamish is seeing a psychiatrist about his inability to fly. Unfortunately, because the main character gets his powers by taking drugs, this show has never been offered by the studio for syndication.

WR. Harvey Bullock, R.S. Allen, David P. Harmon

DIR. Jack Arnold.

EPISODES: 17 YEAR MADE: 1967 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

aired on CBS

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 17

DATE OF PREMIER: 09/01/1967 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 08/05/1967

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Stanley Beamish/ Mr. Terrific STEPHEN STRIMPELL, Barton J. Reed JOHN MCGIVER, Hal Walters DICK GAUTIER, Harley Trent PAUL SMITH.

RELATED SHOWS:

BATMAN (1966)

CAPTAIN NICE

- 0 - 1 MR TERRIFIC (PILOT)
- 1 - 1 MATCHLESS
- 1 - 2 MR. BIG CURTSIES OUT
- 1 - 3 I CAN'T FLY
- 1 - 4 STANLEY THE SAFECRACKER
- 1 - 5 THE FORMULA IS STOLEN
- 1 - 6 STANLEY, THE FIGHTER
- 1 - 7 MY PARTNER, THE JAILBREAKER
- 1 - 8 FLY, BALLERINA, FLY
- 1 - 9 HARLEY AND THE KILLER
- 1 - 10 STANLEY AND THE MOUNTAINEERS
- 1 - 11 HAS MR. TERRIFIC SOLD OUT?
- 1 - 12 STANLEY GOES TO THE DENTIST
- 1 - 13 STANLEY THE TRACK STAR
- 1 - 14 TRY THIS ON FOR SPIES
- 1 - 15 STANLEY JOINS THE CIRCUS
- 1 - 16 THE SULTAN HAS FIVE WIVES

MR. WYMI

Matron orders a robot to help her run her old people's home - but Mr. Wymi, as pieced together by young Billy, looks set to disrupt the smooth-running of Matron's business.

After the first season Annette Badland who played Matron left the show to be replaced by Julie Wallace. All of the episodes from the first and second season were written by Malcolm Lane, who is the creator of the show

WR. Malcolm Lane

DIR.

EPISODES: 30 YEAR MADE: 1997 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 2

BBC SCOTLAND PRODUCTION

CREATOR: MALCOLM LANE

TYPE OF SHOW: COMEDY

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 15 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: 1 (15) (2) 15

DATE OF PREMIER: 11/01/1997

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Mr. Wymi IAN ANGUS WILKIE, Matron ANNETTE BADLAND (1) , Billy JAMES YOUNG, Henry REGINALD MARSH, Maude SHEILA LATIMER, Julie DAWN REID, Sam STUART WILKINSON, Matron JULIE WALLACE (2), Sean JONATHAN STRANGE.

MUTANT X

"MUTANT X," the highly anticipated new weekly action hour, chronicles the adventures of MUTANT-X, a team of human mutants possessing extraordinary powers as a result of genetic engineering. Like hundreds of other unsuspecting subjects, these new mutants were altered in secret experiments conducted in a covert government project. Realizing that events have spun out of control, the organization that created them is now hunting them down in an urgent product recall. MUTANT-X's mission is to seek out their fellow new mutants to help them come to terms with their astonishing abilities and protect them from their creators.

Terrified young Emma deLauro (Lauren Lee Smith) rushes through the crowd at a chic nightclub. As she collides with the handsome Brennan Mulwray (Victor Webster), their eyes meet and Brennan immediately senses something extraordinary about Emma. Before he is able to speak, however, she disappears.

Outside, Jesse Kilmartin (Forbes March) mysteriously materializes out of nowhere and guides Emma to safety as a black sedan chases her down a dark alley. As the vehicle races towards him, he takes a deep breath, alters his body density and phases out, allowing the car to pass straight through him. When the agents in hot pursuit emerge from the car, the striking Shalimar Fox (Victoria Pratt) pounces from above and beats them unconscious. Jesse suddenly sees two more agents rushing towards Emma and alters his body density again, this time becoming impervious and blocking the bullets meant for her.

Utterly confused, Emma turns to run. A calm mysterious stranger, Adam (John Shea), blocks her path. Adam takes Emma's hand and tells her she is among friends and that all her questions will soon be answered. He then leads her, along with Jesse and Shalimar, to a Stealth VTOL aircraft and they fly off into the night.

The aircraft lands inside Stormking Mountain and the group enters what is called Sanctuary, a Zen garden and high-tech wonderland. Adam informs Emma that her assailants are security agents for Genomex, a biotech firm where he used to work as chief biogeneticist. Adam tells Emma that she, like Shalimar, Jesse and hundreds of others, were unsuspecting subjects of covert experiments in human genetics that went awry. As a result of this genetic engineering, these new mutants produced by Genomex have extraordinary powers. Adam explains to Emma that the agents were after her because of her "telempathic" powers, which allow her to sense and influence the feelings of others.

The next day, Mason Eckhart (Tom McCamus), the security chief of Genomex, visits the head of Genomex, Dr. Paul Breedlove (Cedric Smith). Knowing that Breedlove feels guilty and is ready to expose their covert operation to the press, Eckhart and he discuss the possibility of making reparations for the atrocities they've committed. That night, as Breedlove prepares his speech for the press, he's confronted by Eckhart and his right-hand man, Frank Thorne (Douglas O'Keeffe), who is himself a Child of Genomex. Telling Breedlove that he should have kept his mouth shut, Thorne uses his mutant powers kill him.

Meanwhile, Brennan and his two longtime buddies, Tony Reese (Matthew MacFadzean) and Michael Azzarello (Sean Bell), secretly meet with Brad Carter (Kevin Hicks) who has hired them to steal $10 million in treasury certificates. As they enter the Hickman & Wrightson Securities Agency, Brennan zaps a bolt of electricity that surges from his fingertips to short out the cameras and alarm. The three pull off the dangerous and complicated heist and narrowly escape.

Emma is now at a safe house for new mutants where Adam has taken her, but is in denial about the fact that she has special powers. When Shalimar arrives, she hands Emma new identity information. Another new mutant, Allison (Ingrid Hart), then drives Emma to the marina where she is to take a boat out of town. But when Emma sees two agents approaching her, she flees in Allison's car, prompting Adam to initiate an immediate search.

Back at Genomex, the unscrupulous Eckhart assembles the staff and blames Breedlove's death on the genetic "anomalies" their experiments have produced. He proclaims that for the safety of the world, he's instituting the Genetic Security Agency in order to hunt down and capture them. In the meantime, Shalimar spots Emma on a holographic map grid and sets out to find her as Emma makes her way back to the nightclub where she and Brennan met. Finding him there, Emma joins him for a drink and they begin to confide in each other, revealing that they each have special abilities. When Emma goes to the ladies room, Thorne arrives and approaches Brennan, telling him he's about to make him the offer of a lifetime. When Emma returns, she has a telepathic vision of Brennan being strangled, which he's able to pick up. Brennan and Emma race out of the club with Thorne close behind just as Shalimar arrives.

Brennan is able to stop Thorne temporarily with an electrical bolt, but he and Emma are soon surrounded by a group of agents. Suddenly, Shalimar and Jesse burst on the scene and struggle with the agents, but it's not until Adam appears that Thorne and his men decide to back off.

You could easily mistake this US based Superhero show as a spin-off from the X-Men, and indeed it is almost identical in its premise, how the show wasn't sued is beyond me. And judging by the fact that many of the guest voices and people involved in various X-Men projects in the past, were actually involved in this series as well. Just to confuse the issue, there was indeed a comic book called Mutant X created, but the show doesn't use any of the characters from this. The series was filmed in Toronto, Canada.

Producers

Avi Arad - Executive Producer, CEO of Marvel Studios
 Rick Ungar - Executive Producer, President of Marvel Characters Group
 Howard Chaykin - Executive Consultant
 Jay Firestone - Executive Producer, Chairman and CEO of CanWest Entertainment
 Adam Haight - Executive Producer, President and COO of Fireworks Entertainment
 Jamie Paul Rock - Producer (TV: La Femme Nikita)
 Rocco Matteo - Production Designer (TV: La Femme Nikita)
 Seth Howard - Creative Executive, Tribune Entertainment

Show Staff Writers

Howard Chaykin - Head Writer (TV: The Flash, Viper / Comics: JLA: The Secret Society of Super Heroes, Son of Superman, American Flag, Black Kiss)
 David L. Newman - Senior Consultant (TV: The Sentinel, Viper, The Flash)
 Elizabeth Keyishian - Story Consultant (TV: Queen of Swords)

Original music by

Louis Natale (theme)

Cinematography by

Nikos Evdemon (episodes "Russian Roulette", "I Scream the Body Electric", "Crime of the New Century", "The Meaning of Death", "Where the Wild Things Are", "Double Vision", "Lazarus Syndrome", "In Your Dreams", "Dancing Razor", "Ex Marks the Spot")

Film Editing by David B. Thompson, Production Design by Rocco Matteo, Set Decoration by Mark McGann, Costume Design by Laurie Drew, Second Unit Director or Assistant Director - Francesca Palozzi (trainee assistant director), Art Department - Jae Pak (assistant art director), Visual Effects by John McGinley (visual effects modeler: Foundation Imaging).

Other crew - Howard Chaykin (executive consultant), Aric Dupere (extras casting assistant), Donna Dupere (extras casting), Elizabeth Keyishian (story consultant), John Medland (still photographer), Aaron Unrau (assistant extras casting)

Trivia:

Episode 1.1

NOTE: Cedric Smith also played the voice of Professor Xavier in Fox's X-Men cartoon series. Entertainment Weekly gave this episode a "D-". The main actors, performed all stunts, flips, jumps, kicks, as seen on the show, and said on the official website. Most likely there is no "stunt person" for any main actor.

Episode 1.3

NOTE: Daniel's last name is "Benedict", a not-so-subtle reference to his role as a traitor in this episode.

Some may recognize Alexander Pervakov, and Ross Hull. Alexander Pervakov was credited as "Nude Muscle Man" on Showtime's Queer as Folk, while Ross Hull played Gary in kid show "Are You Afraid Of The Dark."

Episode 1.6

NOTE: We find out that Jesse can only remain "phased" for 30 seconds at a time without danger of it becoming permanent.

Episode 1.9

NOTE: Rod Wilson did the voice of Longshot on the X-Men animated series. Jennifer Dale did the voice of Mystique on the X-Men: Mutant Academy video game.

Episode 1.10

NOTE: This episode aired first in the UK on 19th December. We find out that Jesse can't phase objects that he is carrying above a certain size: a limitation he manages to bypass in spectacular fashion.

Brennan mentions there are four types of mutants: Elementals, Ferals, Psionics, and Moleculars. The latter is a fairly broad category: Jesse, Marlowe, the couple in "Meaning of Death" and several others don't fit into the other three categories, and they have a wide range of differing powers.

Episode 1.11

NOTE: The reference to the "Hotel Infantino on Carmine Street" is an in-joke reference to famed comic book artist Carmine Infantino.

Episode 1.15

NOTE: Caleb is presumably a Molecular New Mutant, although his psychic link ability suggests he may have some Psionic gene manipulation as well. "Pamela Fries" (pronounced "freeze") is presumably an in-joke on Mark Amato's part, as it combines the names of the two main villains from the movie "Batman and Robin": Pamela Isley (Poison Ivy) and Dr. Victor Fries (Mr. Freeze).

I first want to start out by saying that Mutant X is an excellent show. The element that drew me in was the mutant angle of the show. I have been a follower of the X-Men for years and even though Mutant X is not a part of the X-Men universe I was interested. I have not been disappointed by the show. Mutant X has a lot of adventure and action but it also has emotion and intrigue that make it dynamic. It is nice to have a chance to get to watch a show about mutants on a weekly basis and I look forward to seeing each new episode. I find it somewhat liberating to watch Mutant X because I can start out fresh with all the concepts and characters.

Adam, John Shea, is very interesting because he is human. Adam is the founder and leader of Mutant X. He has great compassion for the members of his team. It is his mission to take care of those who are mutants. He has a very good reason why he wants to help mutants.

Shalimar Fox, Victoria Pratt, is intense because of her feral nature. Shalimar is a tough fighter who protects the members of Mutant X like a fierce mother bear.

Jesse Kilmartin, Forbes March, is fascinating because of his ability change the nature of his body at will. Jesse is the good-hearted boy next door type that truly wants to make a difference for mutants.

Emma deLauro, Lauren Lee Smith, is intriguing because of her telepathic ability. Emma is a caring person who is exploring her possibly enormous gift.

Brennan Mulwray, Victor Webster, is electrifying literally. Brennan has the power of electricity which matches his personality. He is a bit of rebel which will help Mutant X.

Mutant X has an enemy in a human named Mason Eckhart, Tom McCamus. Eckhart may bear a striking resemblance to Andy Warhol but he is a dark individual who wants to hunt down mutants.

I believe that Mutant X will continue to grow and change. It is at the beginning of its story and the story has a lot of directions that can be explored. The same can be said of the characters. I feel that Mutant X is a great show that will get stronger and even better with every episode.

Academy of Science Fiction, Fantasy & Horror Films, USA

Year Result Award Category/Recipient(s)

2004 Nominated Saturn Award Best Supporting Actress in a Television Series

Victoria Pratt

2003 Nominated Saturn Award Best Syndicated/Cable Television Series

Canadian Society of Cinematographers Awards
Year Result Award Category/Recipient(s)
2003 Won CSC Award Best Cinematography in TV Series
Nikos Evdemon
For episode "Nothing to Fear".

2002 Nominated CSC Award Best Cinematography in TV Series
Nikos Evdemon
For episode "Lazarus Syndrome".

Directors Guild of Canada
Year Result Award Category/Recipient(s)
2003 Nominated DGC Craft Award Outstanding Achievement in Production Design - Short Form
John Blackie
For episode "Inferno".

Outstanding Achievement in Sound Editing - Short Form
Mark Gingras
Rose Gregoris
Jill Purdy
For episode "Inferno".

2002 Nominated DGC Craft Award Outstanding Achievement in Sound Editing
Mark Gingras
Jill Purdy
For episode "The Shock of the New".

Gemini Awards
Year Result Award Category/Recipient(s)
2003 Nominated Gemini Best Production Design or Art Direction in a Dramatic Program or Series
John Blackie
For episode "Past As Prologue".

2002 Won Gemini Best Sound in a Dramatic Series
Jill Purdy
Steve Baine
Dan Daniels
Mark Gingras
Rose Gregoris
Allen Ormerod
Scott Shepherd
For episode "The Shock of the New".

WR. Howard Chaykin, Mark Amato, Howard Chaykin, Perry Dance, Tony Di Dranco.

DIR. John Bell, Graham Campbell, Jon Cassar, John Fawcett

EPISODES: 66 YEAR MADE: 2001 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 3

TRIBUNE ENTERTAINMENT, CANWEST ENTERTAINMENT, FIREWORKS ENTERTAINMENT.

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 22, (2) 22, (3) 22

DATE OF PREMIER: 06/10/2001 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 17/04/2004

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Adam Xero JOHN SHEA, Shalimar Fox VICTORIA PRATT, Brennan Mulwray VICTOR WEBSTER, Jesse Kilmartin FORBES MARCH, Emma DeLauro LAUREN LEE SMITH, Mason Eckhart TOM MCCAMUS, Frank Thorne DOUG O'KEEFFE, Ruby CHUCK BYRN, Lexa Pierce (2003-2004) KAREN CLICHÉ, Gabriel Ashlocke (2002) GABRIEL ASHLOCKE, Mason Eckhart (2001-2003) MASON ECKHART.

1 - 1 THE SHOCK OF THE NEW (PART 1 OF 2)

A mutant empath on the run from mysterious government agents is rescued by a team of fellow "New Mutants" - the group known as Mutant X.

Wr Howard Chaykin

Dir T.J. Scott

1 - 2 I SCREAM THE BODY ELECTRIC (PART 2 OF 2)

Brennan is captured and falls under Eckhart's control, and forced to work against the New Mutants.

Wr Howard Chaykin

Dir Jon Cassar

1 - 3 RUSSIAN ROULETTE

Mutant X comes to the aid of a teenager New Mutant pursued by Russians - she holds the secret to a new weapon that targets mutants.

Wr Elizabeth Keyishian

Dir T.J. Scott

1 - 4 FOOL FOR LOVE

Shalimar becomes close to another feral when it's "lust at first sight," but matters become complicated when her new boyfriend tries to find a cure for his condition.

Wr David L. Newman

Dir T.J. Scott

1 - 5 KILOHERTZ

A mutant terrorist, Kilohertz, threatens to throw the world into chaos.

Wr David L. Newman

Dir Andrew Potter

1 - 6 THE MEANING OF DEATH

A mysterious plague targeting New Mutants only threatens to wipe out the underground community, and Mutant X and the GSA must join forces to eliminate it before it's too late.

Wr Brad Falchuk

Dir Graeme Campbell

1 - 7 LIT FUSE

Eckhart seeks a mutant who can absorb energy, one who Brennan becomes romantically involved with.

Wr Elizabeth Keyishian, David L. Newman

Dir John Bell

1 - 8 IN THE PRESENCE OF MINE ENEMIES

Jesse falls in love with a computer hacker, who Eckhart wants to "procure" to use to corrupt the public computer news channels against New Mutants and to the GSA's benefit.

Wr Howard Chaykin

Dir John Bell

1 - 9 CRIME OF THE NEW CENTURY

A New Mutant is kidnapped from his family and Mutant X set out to recover him and find out what Eckhart's interest in him is.

Wr Joe Johnson

Dir Graeme Campbell

1 - 10 DARK STAR RISING

Members of an international anti-terrorist unit, Dark Star, are striking against the GSA and Mutant X discovers that they are previously undiscovered New Mutants.

Wr Philip Lazebnik

Dir Jon Cassar

1 - 11 WHITER SHADE OF PALE

A New Mutant with the power of invisibility is working against both Eckhart and Adam, despite the fact she was involved with Adam in the past.

Wr Tony DiFranco

Dir Terry Ingram

1 - 12 DOUBLE VISION

An old friend of Brennan's lures him and Emma into a trap - Emma ends up split into two separate entities, one good and one evil.

Wr Darrell Fetty

Dir Jon Cassar

1 - 13 BLOOD TIES

Jesse is roped into a deadly undercover mission by his estranged father, who is working against Eckhart.

Wr Percy Dance

Dir John Fawcett

1 - 14 ALTERED EGO

A young New Mutant from Adam's past shows up, seeking revenge for her father's death.

Wr Elizabeth Keyishian

Dir Andrew Potter

1 - 15 LAZARUS SYNDROM

Emma falls prey to a modern-day vampire who must feed on the life force of New Mutants in order to survive.

Wr Mark Amato

Dir John Bell

1 - 16 INTERFACE

Emma reunites with an old friend who possesses telecyber powers. The reunion turns dangerous, however, when Michelle tries to turn Emma over to the GSA.

Wr Mark Lisson

Dir Ken Girotti

1 - 17 PRESUMED GUILTY

Adam is framed for murder by a New Mutant with the ability to steal people's memories.

Wr Darrell Fetty

Dir Ken Girotti

1 - 18 EX MARKS THE SPOT

Shalimar's former boyfriend shows up and is trying to recover a Faberge Egg that holds a microchip of extraordinary power.

Wr Mark Amato, Howard Chaykin, David L. Newman

Dir Jorge Montesi

1 - 19 NOTHING TO FEAR

Eckhart employs the services of a New Mutant mercenary with the power to control dreams, and sends him against Mutant X.

Wr Elizabeth Keyishian

Dir T.J. Scott

1 - 20 DEADLY DESIRE

Brennan falls under the sway of a New Mutant who can emit seductive pheromones while attempting to recover a computer virus.

Wr David L. Newman

Dir Brad Turner

1 - 21 DANCING ON THE RAZOR

Mutant X and Genomex are both captured on film using their powers, and they both have to deal with the reporter who plans to go public with the information.

Wr Mark Amato

Dir Jorge Montesi

1 - 22 A BREED APART

Mutant X encounters a new faction of New Mutants - the Strand, led by the powerful first mutant, Gabriel Ashlocke.

Wr Howard Chaykin

Dir Brad Turner

2 - 1 PAST AS PROLOGUE

Ashlocke revives an ancient Egyptian alchemist in an attempt to preserve his own life.

Wr Howard Chaykin

Dir T.J. Scott

2 - 2 POWER PLAY

A military officer lures in Mutant X in a complicated scheme to get at a vital element stored in the core of a power plant.

Wr Turi Meyer, Al Septien

Dir Milan Cheylov

2 - 3 TIME SQUARED

Ashlocke gains access to a mutant who can travel through time, and he uses her to go back and alter his own history and cure himself.

Wr Elizabeth Keyishian

Dir John Bell

2 - 4 WHOSE WOODS ARE THESE

Mutant X investigates a series of deaths in the wilderness that may or may not involve a feral mutant.

Wr Darell Fetty

Dir Jorge Montesi

2 - 5 THE FUTURE REVEALED

Gabriel gains access to Sanctuary and attempts to force Adam into providing a cure for his fatal condition.

Wr Mark Amato

Dir John Bell

2 - 6 NO MAN LEFT BEHIND

U.S. military plane is shot down and the team must go in to recover the pilot.

Wr David L. Newman

Dir Jorge Montesi

2 - 7 CROSSROADS OF THE SOUL

Brennan is trapped in a strange town without his powers that is sealed off from the outside world, and must deal with the paranoid townspeople who desire to hide their secret.

Wr Elizabeth Keyishian, Mark Amato

Dir Stacey Stewart Curtis

2 - 8 SIGN OF THE ABOVE

Aliens are targeting New Mutants to capture samples to take back with them.

Wr Tony Blake, Paul Johnson

Dir John Bell

2 - 9 BODY AND SOUL

A body-jumping New Mutant uses his abilities to gain revenge on Genomex and the three scientists who "cursed" him with his powers.

Wr David L. Newman

Dir Brenton Spicer

2 - 10 UNDERSTUDY

With Shalimar in sickbay, the team recruits a new feral to temporarily take her place, but the feral plans to become a full-time member of the team...any way she can.

Wr Darrell Fetty

Dir John Bell

2 - 11 THE GRIFT

A former flame of Brennan's shows up asking for his help...and revealing that her son is Brennan's child.

Wr Elizabeth Keyishian

Dir Oley Sassone

2 - 12 AT DESTINY'S END

Emma must go undercover to join a group of eco-terrorists run by another empath.

Wr Jeff F. King

Dir Oley Sassone

2 - 13 WITHIN THE WALLS

A psychotic New Mutant escapes from prison and goes after Adam, seeking revenge.

Wr Peter Mohan

Dir Manfred Guthe

2 - 14 HARD TIME

Jesse and Brennan go undercover to investigate a prison gladiatorial scheme.

Wr Al Septien, Turi Meyer

Dir Oley Sassone

2 - 15 UNDER THE CLOAK OF WAR

Adam is the target of an assassination league. After their first failure, he sends Shalimar to infiltrate the group but the situation quickly becomes dangerous for her.

Wr Nelu Ghiran

Dir Andrew Potter

2 - 16 ONCE AROUND

The team must protect a defense witness against a New Mutant who can project his senses through others.

Wr Mark Amato

Dir Bruce Pittman

2 - 17 FINAL JUDGMENT

Adam is put on trail by a mysterious Tribunal for crimes against humanity.

Wr David L. Newman

Dir Bill Corcoran

2 - 18 INFERNO

The team tracks down a pyromaniac mutant but matters are complicated when Emma is "possessed" by the spirit of his most recent victim.

Wr Charles Heit

Dir Andrew Potter

2 - 19 ONE STEP CLOSER

The team must protect a Senator's daughter but Brennan's powers grow out of control, endangering the mission.

Wr Freddie Prinze Jr.

Dir Bill Corcoran

2 - 20 REALITY CHECK

A New Mutant with the ability to manipulate the minds and perceptions of others sets out to locate Sanctuary, and captures Shalimar to do so.

Wr Peter Mohan, Mark Amato

Dir Jorge Montesi

2 - 21 REAWAKENING

The team travel to an oil rig to fight a protocanth, a prehistoric reanimated humanoid that endangers all humanity.

Wr Mark Amato, Elizabeth Keyishian

Dir T.W. Peacocke

2 - 22 LEST HE BECOME

Shalimar's father is involved in secretive genetic research. The team investigates and finds out that the person backing him has plans of their own.

Wr Peter Mohan

Dir Jonathan Hackett

3 - 1 INTO THE MOONLESS NIGHT

In the aftermath of disaster, the Mutant X team must deal with the death of one of their teammates, the disappearance of another, the return of Mason Eckhart, and the arrival of a mysterious mutant with an agenda of her own.

Wr Peter Mohan

Dir Philip David Segal

3 - 2 WAGES OF SIN

The Mutant X team must stop the auction of a highly lethal substance that a number of notorious international terrorists are vying to acquire.

Wr R.B. Carney

Dir Jorge Montesi

3 - 3 THE BREED

The Mutant X team is brought in to help a military base that has become infected with a deadly disease.

Wr Michelle Lovretta

Dir Jorge Montesi

3 - 4 WHERE EVIL DWELLS

The Mutant X team must stop a serial killer who leaves clues to his next victims in the form of puzzles.

Wr Bob Carney

Dir Andrew Potter

3 - 5 THE TAKING OF CROWS

When Lexa is unknowingly drugged with a lethal substance, the team must race to find the antidote before it's too late.

Wr Mark Amato

Dir Bill Corcoran

3 - 6 SHADOWS OF DARKNESS

The Mutant X team is called in to investigate bizarre activities occurring at a local hospital.

Wr Mark Amato

Dir Andrew Potter

3 - 7 THE HAND OF GOD

The Mutant X team embarks on a mission to locate and capture a powerful super-mutant who possesses god-like powers.

Wr Rick Drew

Dir Terry Ingram

3 - 8 WASTELAND

Jesse is forced to reconnect with his former fiancée when the Mutant X team learns that her company is involved in the genetic manipulation of crops.

Wr Al Septien, Turi Meyer

Dir René Bonnière

3 - 9 NO EXIT

A revenge-seeking cybernetic mutant uses his powers to overtake Sanctuary's security system in a plot to destroy Mutant X.

Wr Elizabeth Keyishian

Dir Bill Corcoran

3 - 10 BROTHER'S KEEPER

The Mutant X team learns about Lexa's estranged twin brother when he becomes the main target of an underground operation harvesting mutant organs.

Wr Michelle Lovretta

Dir Timothy Bond

3 - 11 POSSIBILITIES

Brennan and the Mutant X team join forces with a time traveling mutant to defuse a bomb threatening devastating consequences.

Wr Lisa Steele

Dir René Bonnière

3 - 12 CONSPIRACY THEORY

While Brennan and Shalimar investigate a mysterious plane crash, Lexa contemplates her future with the Mutant X team.

Wr Peter Mohan

Dir Bill Corcoran

3 - 13 ART OF ATTRACTION

As the Mutant X team fights to retrieve a formula hidden in a collection of artwork, Shalimar is given vital information from a mysterious source

Wr Alfonse Ruggiero

Dir Andrew Potter

3 - 14 A NORMAL LIFE

Mutant X tracks down a rogue scientist while Shalimar breaks away from the team to help Adam save the scientist and uncover the real bad guy.

Wr Peter Mohan

Dir Alan Goluboff

3 - 15 DIVIDED LOYALTIES

Brennan is forced to return to his criminal past when Mutant X discovers that his old partner is involved in stealing secrets from the Dominion.

Wr Elizabeth Keyishian, David Wilks

Dir Richard Flower

3 - 16 AGE OF INNOCENCE

Mutant X unearths an old military experiment involving an age-reversal serum and is surprised to discover that Jesse's grandfather is one of the test subjects.

Wr Mark Amato

Dir Bill Corcoran

3 - 17 SHE'S COME UNDONE

Discovering that their teammate Lexa is the subject of a covert experiment that is controlling her, the Mutant X team hunts for the doctor responsible

Wr Michelle Lovretta

Dir Timothy Bond

3 - 18 IN BETWEEN

When Jesse's life hangs in the balance, Brennan must connect to him and lead him through past memories they've shared in order to save his life.

Wr Gil Grant

Dir Andrew Potter

3 - 19 DREAM LOVER

Mutant X must stop a scientist from cloning women for use as slaves in his ultra-exclusive men's club.

Wr Mark Amato

Dir Bill Corcoran

3 - 20 THE PROPHECY

Brennan battles with a Guardian of the Prophecy to stop the late mutant Ashlocke's plan from beyond the grave of world domination.

Wr Michelle Lovretta

Dir Timothy Bond

3 - 21 CIRQUE DES MERVEILLES

Lexa's suspicions lead Mutant X to unveil a traveling death camp, which is posed as a circus for mutant refugees and Mutant X's enemy within the Dominion.

Wr Mark Amato

Dir Jonathan Hackett

3 - 22 THE ASSAULT

The team uncovers many of the mysteries surrounding Mutant X after the Dominion captures Lexa and Jesse.

Wr Peter Mohan

Dir Andrew Potter

MUTANT, LE

An intelligence agency is determined to learn the nature and whereabouts of Saul Mason, a eugenics-created young man with psychic power and super-strength. In each episode of this short French television series, the agency captures and interrogates one person connected with the mysterious Saul, slowly piecing together the puzzle as to the extent of Saul's powers and his intent for mankind.

Alain Page also wrote Les Compagnons d'Eleusis and Le Bal des Affames, a novelisation of Le Mutant written by Page was published in 1978

Original music by Carlos Leresche, Cinematography by Jean Jacques Guyard.

WR. Alain Page

DIR. Bernard Toublanc-Michel

EPISODES: 6 YEAR MADE: 1978 COUNTRY: FRA SEASONS: 1

TF1, TELFRANCE

CREATOR: ALAIN PAGE (Writer)

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPER POWERS

FORMAT: MINI-SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 52 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: French

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 6

DATE OF PREMIER: 15/06/1978

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 20/07/1978

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Le professeur Masson JACQUES DACQMINE, Jeanne Laurent FANNY ARDANT, Perez STEPHANE BOUY, Legrand PHILIPPE FORQUET, Le journaliste ALAIN HITIER, Briand GILLES KOHLER, La crémère NICOLE MAUCLAIR, Maurice ALBERT MICHEL, Juliette LAURE MOUTOUSSAMY, Saul NICOLAS PIGNON, Le marchand GUY REVALDY, Walter BERNARD WORINGER, O'Brien ANTON DIFFRING, ART CARNEY, GERARD COUDERC, ALIAN FEYDEAU, ALEXANDRE GRECQ, DERRY HALL, PHILIPPE JOURDE, BILLY KEARNS, FRANCIS LEMAIRE, GEORGES LYCAN, TONIE MARSHALL, JACQUES PLEE, HAYDEE POLITOFF, BARBARA SOMMERS, IDWIG STEPHANE.

Books Based on this series.

Le Mutant

Alain Page

1978

MY FAVOURITE MARTIAN

Martin was the alien and Tim O'Hara was the only human who knew Martin's true origin. Tim was a reporter for a Los Angeles newspaper and on the way to a story one day he spots a spaceship crash-landing in the desert. Let any good reporter he set out to investigate and discovered Martin, a man from the planet Mars. Although Martin freely told Tim where he was from he also informed him he would deny being an alien should Tim ever print the story in the paper. To pay Martin back for robbing him of the scoop of the century. Tim agreed to pass Martin off as his eccentric uncle and allowed him to move in with him until he got his spaceship repaired.

Martin's secret was a bit hard to keep secret, especially from Tim's landlady Mrs. Brown, an attractive widow, who lived downstairs with her teenage daughter Angela. Besides having a spaceship in the garage, Martin also had powers that humans do not. On a regular basis he could turn himself invisible, talk to animals, read minds, levitate objects and make antennae appear on the top of his head. He also had other powers and allergies to Earth items, that would manifest themselves and cause trouble for one episode than never be mentioned again.

Martin also had a plethora of technological wonders stored inside his tiny spaceship which often malfunctioned (or were improperly used by Tim) again resulting in situations that required a lot of explanations. One of the devices was a time machine. Introduced near the end of the second season, the time machine was used several times during the third season allowing Tim and Martin to meet some famous and not so famous historical figures.

The second season saw the introduction of Detective Bill Brennan. Brennan was introduced as Mrs. Brown's romantic interest, sparking a certain amount of jealousy in Martin who fancied her himself. Brennan also was a bit suspicious of Martin which caused Martin and Tim to become extra careful whenever Brennan was around.

Sit-com about Los Angeles Sun reporter Tim O'Hara rescuing a crashed Martian who looked human (except for extensible antennae) and had both telepathic and telekinetic powers, plus invisibility and a mind filled with advanced technology. Like all good aliens, he just wanted to fix his spaceship and go home, while he stayed with Tim in Mrs. Brown's boardinghouse. He developed a crush on Mrs. Brown, and imagined that Officer Brennan also had romantic leanings towards her -- which he manifestly did. The show worked to the extent that Ray Walston's character was so convincingly portrayed, and failed to the extent that the episodic sit-com adventures went nowhere. Bill Bixby would later become more famous for playing Dr. David Banner in THE INCREDIBLE HULK.

This was a fairly sophisticated (compared to most TV sitcoms of the time), humorous and commercially successful series about a Martian (Ray Walston) who becomes stranded on Earth. He is befriended by a young man (Bill Bixby), who passes him off to friends as his uncle. The Martian's unfamiliarity with Earth customs, plus his special powers -- which include ESP, INVISIBILITY and TELEKINESIS -- provide much of the humour. A similar premise, again mostly used for light SATIRE, was adopted by 2 subsequent TV series, MORK AND MINDY (1978-82) and ALF (1986-current).

My Favourite Martian was the first of several science fiction sitcoms in which an alien being lived on Earth, with his true nature being hidden from the population at large.

In 1973, an animated version of the show joined the CBS Saturday morning line up. None of the actors from the live version of the programme lent their voices to the animated version. It was entitled My Favourite Martians, due to the fact the now Tim had not only his 'Uncle' Martin to conceal but also Martin's young nephew Andromeda or Andy for short and his strange pet Okie. Andromeda had made one previous appearance in one of the live action episodes. Tim's niece Katy was also aware of Martin and Andy's secret. The voice of Uncle Martin in the animated series was performed by Jonathan Harris, more famous for playing the role of Dr. Smith in LOST IN SPACE.

TV's favourite Martain was created by John L. Greene, an American TV writer who first began toying with the idea of a stranded alien in 1955. Control of Uncle Martin's destiny eventually passed to producer Jack Chertok, with Greene one of a team of scriptwriters working on the project (tought when one episode called for Martin to get 'invovled' with a striptease dancer called Peaches, Greene felt as lost an any parent might feel). Mostly , the humour was mischievous but comfortable, with Martin game to help Tim in his career and domestic life. . . But only up to a point.

Special effects were gentle rather than spectacular; Uncle Martin's antennae were strapped to Walstons back and push-button controlled by the actor himself, and when Martin flew, it was courtesy of wires and harness.

My Favourite Martian premiered in America in September 1963 and was on British screens within two months, becoming a regular - and repeated - visitor over the next few years. The series' only other regular charecters were O'Hara's landlady, Mrs Brown and, occasionally, her teenage daughter, Angela, and O'Hara's editor, Harry Burns. The series' music was created by George Greeley and the producer was Jack Chertok. Trying to ascertain exactly how many episodes of this series have been shown in the U.K. is a tricky business, given ITV's fragmented state at the time. I have definite transmission dates for 67 episodes (all B/W) between November 1963 and May 1968, based on several different regional schedules. Its seems likely, though, that all 75 of the b/w episodes did find their way over here. I have no record of any colour episodes transmitted in the UK.

In 1999, a film based on the TV series starring Christopher Lloyd as Uncle Martin, Daryl Hannah and Jeff Daniels, the director for the film was Donald Petris, the man responsible for killing off Macauley Culkin's carrier in the film Richie Rich. The film was considered to be one of the worst films made in 1999, and was panned by critics.

WR. Earl Barret, Al Martin, James Komack, Albert E. Lewin, Marty Roth, Gene L. Coon, Gene Thompson and Phyllis White & Robert White.

DIR. Oscar Rudolph, Sidney Miller, Leslie Goodwins, Alan Rafkin, Byron Paul, John Erman and David Alexander.

EPISODES: 107 YEAR MADE: 1963 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 3

A JACK CHERTOK PRODUCTION

CREATOR: JOHN L. GREENE

TYPE OF SHOW: COMEDY

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 37 (2) 38, (3) 32

DATE OF PREMIER: 29/09/1963 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 01/05/1966

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS: MY FAVOURITE MARTIAN (1999)

Uncle Martin/The Martian/X-Idguis 12 RAY WALSTON, Tim O'Hara BILL BIXBY, Mrs. Lorelei Brown PAMELA BRITTON, Angela Brown ANN MARSHALL, Mr. Harry Burns J. PAT O'MALLEY (1), Detective Bill Brennan ALEN HEWITT (2,3), The Police Cheif ROY ENGLE (3).

RELATED SHOWS:

ALF

OUT OF THIS WORLD (1987)

MORK AND MINDY

LOST IN SPACE

INCREDIBLE HULK,THE

MIKE AND ANGELO

THIRD ROCK FROM THE SUN

1 - 1 MY FAVORITE MARTIN

In the pilot episode, Martin's spacecraft crash lands on earth. He meets and moves in with Tim O'Hara.

Wr John L. Greene

Dir Sheldon Leonard

1 - 2 THE MATCHMAKERS

Tim and Martin find a dog that needs their help. It turns out that the dog is love-struck.

Wr John L. Greene, Paul David

Dir Sidney Miller

1 - 3 THERE IS NO CURE FOR THE COMMON MARTIN

Martin loses his powers when he gets sick. He has contracted the common cold, a condition that martians are not familiar with.

Wr James Komack

Dir Sidney Miller

1 - 4 RUSSIANS R' IN SEASON

Martin finds out about the Government space strategy. He knows from experience that the plans are doomed to failure. But he finds no audience when he attempts to warn them.

Wr James Komack

Dir Alan Rafkin

1 - 5 MAN OR AMOEBA

Martin helps Mrs. Brown's daughter, Angela, with a school assignment about Mars.

Wr Jerry Seelen, Leo Rafkin

Dir Alan Rafkin

1 - 6 THE MAN ON THE COUCH

Martin is believed to be attempting suicide. He is forced into psychiatric therapy.

Wr William Blinn, Michael Gleason

Dir Alan Rafkin

1 - 7 A LOAF OF BREAD, A JUG OF WINE AND PEACHES

For the first time in his life, Martin experiences the emotion of love.

Wr Earl Barret

Dir Alan Rafkin

1 - 8 THE AWFUL TRUTH

To give Tim a chance to feel like a martian, Martin grants Tim the ability to read minds for one day.

Wr Arnold Peyser, Lois Peyser

Dir Oscar Rudolph

1 - 9 ROCKET TO MARS

The trash collector mistakes Martin's spaceship for trash. Now, Martin and Tim must find where it wound up.

Wr Elroy Schwartz, Austin Kalish

Dir Leslie Goodwins

1 - 10 RAFFLES NO. 2

Martin finds himself in trouble when his finger prints match those of a jewel thief.

Wr Elroy Schwartz, Austin Kalish

Dir Oscar Rudolph

1 - 11 THE ATOM MISERS

A boy genius and Martin work together to devise a means of accelerating electronic particles.

Wr James Menzies

Dir Leslie Goodwins

1 - 12 THAT LITTLE OLD MATCH MAKER, MARTIN

Martin wants to know what type of man Cynthia would be interested in. So he reads her mind to find out.

Wr Terry Ryan

Dir Oscar Rudolph

1 - 13 HOW TO BE A HERO WITHOUT REALY TRYING

An attractive lady moves into Tim's neighborhood. Martin tries to get her attention by posing Tim as a hero.

Wr Ed James, Seaman Jacobs

Dir Sidney Miller

1 - 14 BLOOD IS THICKER THAN THE MARTIAN

Harvey, Tim's cousin, comes to visit. He is bewildered, for he doesn't know who Uncle Martin is.

Wr Al Martin, Bill Kelsay

Dir Oscar Rudolph

1 - 15 POOR LITTLE RICH CAT

Martin disapproves of news that a cat has received a large inheritance.

Wr James Komack

Dir James Komack

1 - 16 RX FOR MARTIAN

It's time for Martin to return to Mars. The planning begins.

Wr James Komack

Dir James Komack

1 - 17 GOING, GOING, GONE

Martin's metabolism is bothered on account of sun spots.

Wr Elroy Schwartz, Austin Kalish

Dir Oscar Rudolph

1 - 18 WHO AM I?

Martin loses his memory of everything, including his origins.

Wr Ben Starr

Dir Leslie Goodwins

1 - 19 NOW YOU SEE IT, NOW YOU DON'T

A museum is about to lay off its curator, until Martin intervenes.

Wr Ben Gershman, Bill Freedman

Dir Leslie Goodwins

1 - 20 MY NEPHEW THE ARTIST

Martin's art work is praised, but Tim gets all the credit.

Wr Ben Starr

Dir Oscar Rudolph

1 - 21 HITCHHIKE TO MARS

A local business finances a trip to Mars. Martin is interested in going along.

Wr Ben Gershman, Bill Freedman

Dir Oscar Rudolph

1 - 22 UNCLE MARTIN'S BROADCAST

Tim's reporter career branches out to crime stories. Martin's antennae prove useful.

Wr James Komack

Dir Oscar Rudolph

1 - 23 AN OLD, OLD FRIEND OF THE FAMILY

When an Asian Head of State visits the area, Martin intervenes to get Tim an exclusive.

Wr John L. Greene, Paul David

Dir Leslie Goodwins

1 - 24 SUPER-DUPER SNOOPER

Martin finds himself as the target of snooping when Mrs. Brown takes up detective work as a hobby.

Wr Al Martin, Bill Kelsay

Dir Leslie Goodwins

1 - 25 THE SINKABLE MRS BROWN

Tim might find himself without a house when Mrs. Brown decides to sell.

Wr Al Martin, Bill Kelsay

Dir Oscar Rudolph

1 - 26 MARTIN AND THE ETERNAL TRIANGLE

Martin finds himself sharing the attentions of Mrs. Brown with a Frenchman, Andre Dupre.

Wr Ben Gershman, Bill Freedman

Dir Oscar Rudolph

1 - 27 DANGER! HIGH VOLTAGE!

Martin absorbs an electrical charge, but the whole town's power supply is affected.

Wr Ben Gershman, Bill Freedman

Dir Leslie Goodwins

1 - 28 IF YOU CAN'T LICK THEM

Martin's antennae attracts a new playmate in a young child.

Wr Blanche Hanalis

Dir Oscar Rudolph

1 - 29 UNIDENTIFIED FLYING UNCLE MARTIN

Martin is seen when he tests the flight worthiness of his space ship.

Wr James Komack

Dir Leslie Goodwins

1 - 30 HOW ARE YOU GONNA KEEP THEM DOWN ON THE PHARMACY?

Martin disappears at inopportune moments. The solution comes in a hard-to-find vitamin.

Wr James Komack

Dir Leslie Goodwins

1 - 31 MISS JEKYLL AND HYDE

Martin's identity is threatened when Mrs. Brown's niece, Paula, starts asking too many questions.

Wr Al Martin, Bill Kelsay

Dir Oscar Rudolph

1 - 32 WHO'S GOT THE POWER?

Martin's powers become impaired during an electrical storm.

Wr James Komack

Dir Oscar Rudolph

1 - 33 OH, MY ACHING ANTENNA

Martin starts to feel old, and he blames Earth's stronger gravitational force.

Wr Ted Sherdeman, Jane Klune

Dir Oscar Rudolph

1 - 34 THE DISATRO-NAUTS

A wealthy man builds a space ship. Martin steps forward to take it to Mars.

Wr Ben Gershman, Bill Freedman

Dir Leslie Goodwins

1 - 35 SHAKE WELL AND DON'T USE

Martin makes a stew, and Mr. Burns has an unusual reaction.

Wr Al Martin, Bill Kelsay

Dir Oscar Rudolph

1 - 36 A NOSE FOR NEWS

Martin fills in for Tim at work. During that time, Martin gains a high profile interview.1

Wr William Blinn, Michael Gleason

Dir Alan Rafkin

1 - 37 UNCLE MARTIN'S WISDOM TOOTH

Martin discovers that a toothache's symptoms include impaired eyesight.

Wr James Komack

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 1 DREAMING CAN MAKE IT SO

Tim catches Martin dreaming, and learns that he can actually observe a martian's dreams.

Wr Ben Gershman, Bill Freedman

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 2 THE MEMORY PILL

Martin gives Tim a machine that promises to perfect his memory.

Wr Benedict Freedman

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 3 THREE TO MAKE READY

Martin considers that perhaps it would be nice to remain on Earth permanently.

Wr Bruce Howard, Bud Nye

Dir Leslie Goodwins

2 - 4 NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH

Martin must return the space ship to the garage. But Mrs. Brown would be sure to notice.

Wr Blanche Hanalis

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 5 DIAL M FOR MARTIN

Martin comes in contact with a falling telephone wire. Now, he himself receives all the calls.

Wr Fred S. Fox, Iz Elinson

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 6 EXTRA! EXTRA! SENSORY PERCEPTION!

Martin pleads with Tim not to invite a psychic into the house.

Wr James Komack

Dir Leslie Goodwins

2 - 7 MY UNCLE THE FOLK SINGER

Martin rocks the music world with his folk singing.

Wr Lee Karson

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 8 THE GREAT BRAIN ROBBERY

To help Tim meet expenses, Martin tutors an obnoxious child.

Wr Hendrik Vollaerts

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 9 DOUBLE TROUBLE

Martin's duplicating machine creates another Mrs. Brown.

Wr Ben Gershman, Bill Freedman

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 10 HAS ANYBODY SEEN MY ELECTRO MAGNETIC NEUTRON CONVERTING GRAVITATOR?

A young boy hijacks Uncle Martin's spaceship.

Wr Albert E. Lewin, Burt Styler

Dir Leslie Goodwins

2 - 11 DON'T RAIN ON MY PARADE

A rainmaker offers his services during a dry spell.

Wr James Komack

Dir Leslie Goodwins

2 - 12 NIGHT LIFE OF UNCLE MARTIN

While Uncle Martin is asleep, his alter ego appears — a lookalike swinger named Pierre.

Wr Albert E. Lewin, Burt Styler

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 13 TO MAKE A RABBIT STEW - FIRST CATCH A MARTIAN

A rabbit eats a Martian vitamin pill, and becomes 6 feet tall.

Wr Al Martin, Bill Kelsay

Dir Leslie Goodwins

2 - 14 WON'T YOU COME HOME, UNCLE MARTIN, WON'T YOU COME HOME

Tim's enemies increase rapidly after he basks in Martin's benevolence bulb.

Wr Al Martin, Bill Kelsay

Dir Leslie Goodwins

2 - 15 THE CASE OF THE MISSING SLEUTH

The Case of the Missing Sleuth: Detective Brennan (Alan Hewitt) dissolves himself with Martin's molecular separator.

Wr Ben Gershman, Bill Freedman

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 16 HOW'RE THINGS IN GLOCCA MARTIN?

Tim's great-uncle demands to know where Martin fits on the family tree.

Wr Albert E. Lewin, Burt Styler

Dir Byron Paul

2 - 17 GESUNHEIT, UNCLE MARTIN

Martin suffers from temporary amnesia attacks, brought on by Martian hay fever.

Wr Ben Gershman, Bill Freedman

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 18 MARTIAN REPORT #1

To prove that childhood is unnecessary, Martin adopts an orphan girl.

Wr Blanche Hanalis

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 19 UNCLE MARTIN AND THE IDENTIFIED FLYING OBJECT

Martin loses control of his power to move large objects.

Wr Marty Roth, Lissa Charell

Dir Byron Paul

2 - 20 A MARTIAN FIDDLES AROUND

Martin burns (and becomes transparent) each time Mrs. Brown plays her violin.

Wr Albert E. Lewin, Burt Styler

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 21 HUMBUG, MRS BROWN

Martin's thrift lessons turn Mrs. Brown into a miser.

Wr Al Martin, Bill Kelsay

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 22 CRASH DIET

Tim tinkers with Martin's ship, shrinking it to the size of a toy.

Wr Phyllis White, Robert White

Dir Byron Paul

2 - 23 GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN

Martin's invisibility mechanism goes haywire - everything he touches disappears.

Wr Benedict Freedman

Dir Byron Paul

2 - 24 STOP OR I'LL STEAM

Color Martin green when he sees Brennan flirt with Mrs. Brown.

Wr Albert E. Lewin, Burt Styler

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 25 THE MAGNETIC PERSONALITY AND WHO NEEDS IT

An experiment goes haywire, turning Martin into a walking magnet.

Wr Albert E. Lewin, Burt Styler

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 26 WE LOVE YOU, MISS PRINGLE

Tim is placed on the Teacher of the Year selection committee.

Wr Blanche Hanalis

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 27 UNCLE BABY

Martin feels that his youth is fading and asks Tim to help him rejuvenate himself with the aid of Black Light. However, things go awry when Tim screws up the process and Martin gets turned into an infant.

Wr Marty Roth

Dir James V. Kern

2 - 28 ONCE UPON A MARTIAN MOTHER'S DAY

On Martian Mother's Day, Martin spots his mother's lookalike.

Wr Bill Kelsay

Dir James V. Kern

2 - 29 UNCLE MARTIN'S BEDTIME STORY

Mrs. Brown's electronic bed receives brain waves from Martin.

Wr Burt Styler, Albert E. Lewin

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 30 006 3/4

Tim accidentally gets mixed up with a fleeing secret government agent who is involved with a deadly organization called CRUSH. This leads Tim to go undercover with Uncle Martin by his side helping him stay out of trouble.

Wr Blanche Hanalis

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 31 NEVER TRUST A NAKED MARTIAN

Despite warnings, Tim touches Martin's antennae - and disappears.

Wr James Komack

Dir Leslie Goodwins

2 - 32 MARTIN'S FAVOURITE MARTIAN

In the desert, a gun-wielding camper spots Tim and Martin working on the spaceship.

Wr Phyllis White, Robert White

Dir James V. Kern

2 - 33 THE MARTIAN'S FAIR HOBO

Uncle Martin mistakes a hobo, Shorty Smith for a Martian Scout and brings him home. Shorty quickly becomes accustomed to the comforts of life and when Martin learns the truth, Martin and Tim have a hard time getting rid of him.

Dir James V. Kern

2 - 34 A MARTIAN'S SONATA IN MRS. B'S FLAT

A Martian drug turns Mrs. Brown into a piano virtuoso.

Wr Ron Friedman

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 35 THE GREEN EYED MARTIAN

Mrs. Brown is deluged with suitors after dousing herself with Martian "irresistible spray."

Wr Phyllis White, Robert White

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 36 EL SENOR FROM MARS

In Mexico, Tim and Martin witness the opening of an ancient box.

Wr Ben Gershman, Bill Freedman

Dir Oscar Rudolph

2 - 37 TIME OUT FOR MARTIN

The time machine takes Tim and Martin back to 13th-century England.1

Wr Marty Roth

Dir James V. Kern

2 - 38 PORTRAIT IN BROWN

One of Martin's odd gadgets makes Mrs. Brown two-dimensional.

Wr Phyllis White, Robert White

Dir James V. Kern

3 - 1 GO WEST, YOUNG MARTIAN (1-2)

A time machine plummets Tim and Martin back to the Gold Rush Days.

Wr Marty Roth

Dir David Alexander

3 - 2 MARTIN OF THE MOVIES

Tim and Martin return, via time machine, to early Hollywood - where Martin once starred as a sheik

Wr Albert E. Lewin, Burt Styler

Dir John Erman

3 - 3 KEEP ME FROM THE CHURCH ON TIME

Uncle Martin takes a photo of Tim with his future telling camera. They are both shocked by the resulting photo showing Tim at the altar with an unidentified woman who's back is to the camera.

Wr James Allardice, Tom Adair

Dir John Erman

3 - 4 I'D RATHER FIGHT THAN SWITCH

Martin's latest machine effects a mind swap with Mrs. Brown.

Wr Philip Rapp

Dir David Alexander

3 - 5 TIM, THE MASTERMIND

Tim's I.Q. soars when he downs Martin's brain-power pills.

Wr Albert E. Lewin, Burt Styler

Dir David Alexander

3 - 6 MARTIN, GOLDFINGER

A mineral deficiency gives Martin the Midas touch — everything he touches turns to gold.

Wr Albert E. Lewin, Burt Styler

Dir David Alexander

3 - 7 BOTTLED MARTIN

Uncle Martin, packed in a tiny bottle, is bound for the Middle East.

Wr Albert E. Lewin, Burt Styler

Dir David Alexander

3 - 8 HATE ME A LITTLE

Martin's benevolence-inducing light has an unusual effect on Brennan.

Wr Gene L. Coon

Dir Mel Ferber

3 - 9 GIRL IN THE FLYING MACHINE

Martin accidentally pulls an alien spaceship out of the sky.

Wr Blanche Hanalis

Dir Mel Ferber

3 - 10 THE TIME MACHINE IS WAKING UP THAT OLD GANG OF MINE

The time machine brings Tim, Martin and Mrs. Brown face to face with Jesse and Frank James.

Wr James Allardice, Tom Adair

Dir James Allardice, Tom Adair

3 - 11 AVENUE 'C' MOB

Disguised as a 70-year-old, Martin becomes a night watchman.

Wr Blanche Hanalis

Dir John Erman

3 - 12 TIM AND TIM AGAIN

Double trouble - Martin's duplicating machine creates two Tims.

Wr Bill Kelsay

Dir John Erman

3 - 13 LORELEI BROWN VS EVERYBODY

A Martian pill turns Mrs. Brown into a crusading crime-fighter.

Wr Bill Kelsay

Dir Jean Yarbrough

3 - 14 THE O'HARA CAPER

Tim is arrested for theft when he's forced to help two jewel robbers.

Wr Albert E. Lewin, Burt Styler

Dir John Erman

3 - 15 WHO'S GOT A SECRET?

Rumors spread that Martin is working on a secret Government project.

Wr Marty Roth

Dir John Erman

3 - 16 HEIR TODAY, GONE TOMMORROW

The unexplained presence of "Uncle" Martin jeopardizes Tim's claim to an inheritance.

Wr Ben Starr

Dir Jean Yarbrough

3 - 17 MARTIN'S REVOLTIN' DEVELOPMENT

An invisible Martin is photographed capturing an escaped criminal.

Wr Leigh Chapman

Dir Jean Yarbrough

3 - 18 TV OR NOT TV

A short circuit in Martin's transmitter puts him and Tim on nationwide TV.

Wr Michael Stein, Jack Gross, Jr.

Dir John Erman

3 - 19 MAN FROM UNCLE MARTIN

Martin helps Mrs. Brown's brother build a robot that does household chores.

Wr James Allardice, Tom Adair

Dir John Erman

3 - 20 MARTIN THE MANNEQUIN

In a department store, Martin is frozen into a mannequinlike pose.

Wr Marty Roth

Dir David Alexander

3 - 21 BUTTERBALL

Tim is kidnapped by sinister CRUSH agent Butterball.

Wr Blanche Hanalis

Dir David Alexander

3 - 22 WHEN A MARTIAN MAKES HIS VIOLEN CRY

A gypsy curse causes Mrs. Brown to drop anything she picks up.

Wr Austin Kalish, Irma Kalish

Dir John Erman

3 - 23 WHEN YOU GET BACK HOME TO MARS, ARE YOU GOING TO GET IT

Trouble begins when Martin's Martian nephew lands on Earth - and tells everyone where he's from.

Wr Marty Roth

Dir Jean Yarbrough

3 - 24 DOGGONE MARTIN

Martin turns himself into a liquid - and is lapped up by Tim's dog.

Wr Albert E. Lewin

Dir John Erman

3 - 25 VIRUS M FOR MARTIN

Trouble begins when Tim contracts a Martian virus.

Wr Bill Kelsay

Dir Bill Kelsay

3 - 26 OUR NOTORIOUS LANDLADY

Martin's personality alternator turns Mrs. Brown into a thief.

Wr Gene Thompson

Dir Gene Thompson

3 - 27 MARTIN MEETS HIS MATCH

Martin summons Leonardo da Vinci for help in fixing his spaceship.

Wr Gene Thompson, Bill Kelsay

Dir Gene Thompson

3 - 28 HORSE AND BUGGY MARTIN

A mosquito bite causes Martin to act like a race horse.

Wr Albert E. Lewin

Dir David Alexander

3 - 29 STOP THE PRESSES, I WANT TO GET OFF

A beam from Martin's regenerator gives Mrs. Brown power to foresee the future.

Wr Austin Kalish, Irma Kalish

Dir Jean Yarbrough

3 - 30 MY NUT CUP RUNNETH OVER

Martin's molecular reassembler turns a squirrel into a human.

Wr Gene Thompson, Bill Kelsay

Dir John Erman

3 - 31 PAY THE MAN THE $24

Tim tampers with history when he goes back in time - and talks the Indians out of selling Manhattan.

Wr Burt Styler

Dir John Erman

MY HERO

On holiday in America, nurse Janet Dawkins tumbles into the Grand Canyon and is rescued by Thermoman, a red-liveried superhero from the planet Ultron. Thermoman is a well-known global wonder whom women find irresistible; the difference this time is that the alien behind the mask instantly falls for the British nurse. Thermoman's secret identity is Irish health food shop proprietor George Sunday, and it is as George that Thermoman seeks out Janet once again, tracing her to her home in Northolt, west of London. Though he courts Janet as George, he quickly reveals his secret superhero guise. She is uncertain of the wisdom of a relationship, but decides to give it a whirl.

Blessed with extraordinary powers he may be, but George is ignorant of human life and has a baffling, off-centre view of things. This makes him a poor match for Janet in the eyes of her overbearing mother (and put-upon father, Stanley) who would much rather she date her boss, the narcissistic Doctor Crispin, a minor (though he would say major) celebrity as he hosts a medical TV show. Also uncertain of George is Mrs Raven, the acid-tongued receptionist at Northolt Health Centre, where Janet works. On George's side is Janet's neighbour Tyler, still fazed owing to extensive drug experimentation in the 1960s. He likes George and knows he is Thermoman, but this is not a problem as nobody ever believes anything he says. George also has a confidant in his Uncle Arnie, hailing from Ultron, but now running a diner in Brooklyn.

In the second series, Janet falls pregnant, and to protect the baby George imbues her with Ultron powers. The Ultron gestation only takes six days, so the couple are in a mad dash to marry before the happy event. Immediately after the hasty ceremony a lightning-fast labour produces the healthy superbaby, Ollie, whose astonishing escapades lit up series three. Also in this series, Arnie embarks on an antagonistic but sexual relationship with the acid-tongued Mrs Raven, which continued in much the same vein in the fourth series.

In the last few years the BBC have had some success with science fiction comedies, such as GOODNIGHT SWEETHEART and the popular RED DWARF, so they thought they would try their hand at a new slightly different format in the vien of a comedy/superhero type show for BBC1. The producers for the show were Marcus Mortimer and John Stroud.

From cerebrally challenged cleric to Lycra-clad superhero may sound like a quantum leap, but for Irish stand-up comic Ardal O'Hanlon it's more like an amiable saunter. The man who became a household name after his portrayal of the sweet yet dim Father Dougal in Father Ted has taken on his first sitcom role since the Channel 4 show ended in 1998. After fielding a flood of offers inspired by his display of winsome gormlessness, he has taken on the mantle of Thermoman, an alien superhero and righter of wrongs, who has vowed to protect all human life. He also just happens to fall in love with a nurse and move to the west London suburb of Northolt.

It's a decision that has brought him to a church hall in Acton, west London, where daily rehearsals for BBC 1's My Hero are taking place. It's a sweltering summer's day in July, and the director, the producer and the small cast have been joined by the sitcom's creator, Paul Mendelson, as they strive to make more hilarious a script that will be recorded in front of a live studio audience that coming Saturday. Topics up for discussion include whether "King bloody Lear" is funnier than "bloody King Lear" and whether Thermoman's home, the planet Ultron, need ever be seen by a TV audience.

Diffident in person, yet retaining the dry wit that characterises his stand-up shows, O'Hanlon is happy to be throwing himself into another comedic role. Not least because it is keeping him busy while his first serious drama, ITV's BigBad World, is being broadcast. In it he plays Eamon, a childish thirtysomething journalist who is ill-equipped to deal with the world of adult relationships. "It's great that the transmission of that coincides with this production because it means I can forget about it and let other people worry. From what I can gather, it's been fairly well received overall. But it was a bit of a crash-course in drama for me. I was worried that it would either be thrashed or I would be thrashed. You're a sitting duck when you come out of a sitcom into a new area, but neither of those things has happened so, for me, that's a result." (Far from being thrashed, Big Bad World goes into production for another series this month.)

O'Hanlon settled on My Hero because they were the funniest scripts he'd seen, and he felt the timing was right, post-BigBad World. "The one thing I was certain of was that it would be a mistake to go straight into another sitcom after the success of Father Ted it would always be compared and it wouldn't stand a chance." As well as the earthquake-quelling, asteroid-zapping Thermoman, he also plays the superhero's alter ego, George Sunday. An unassuming man who runs a health food shop, he must win over the love of Janet (Emily Joyce - last seen in the first series of Grafters) before revealing his true identity.

"What's really funny about this," he says, "is that he is an odd person caught up in normal domestic situations. That's much funnier than these farfetched situations which people don't buy into as readily. In movies you can re-create heroic acts and all that, but we don't have the budget." As he says this, his eyebrows rise and his head turns to indicate the church hall's tatty interior. For Mendelson, squeezing O'Hanlon into red Lycra and sending him flying around the world was really a minor part of the comedy. "I like writing about relationships, so when I thought of a superhero it struck me as really interesting as to what he did on his days off, how his life was when he wasn't being super. What I like about it is that it's off the wall but also very mainstream. When you're writing for BBC 1, you ask yourself what people can identify with, so here there's the hero, but you've also got a health centre, suburbs and annoying parents."

And Mendelson is delighted to have O'Hanlon in the part. "He brings a charm and an innocence. You can believe he's from another planet, and you can believe that Janet's attracted to him, because I think everybody in the audience is attracted to him. There's a sex appeal there, but in some ways you want to mother him, there's something off the little boy about him." Emily Joyce, who plays practical, down-to-earth nurse Janet, also sees his appeal: "When they told me they'd got Ardal, I thought, yup, he'll do nicely. The character of George is sweet and fun and charming, and going out with a superhero is also pretty incredible in certain departments. Every now and again there are references to that, but we play it down because it is a family show. Really, this is a very charming love story."

So sweet, charming, naive George Sunday, who takes everything terribly literally, is not a million light years away from the character of Father Dougal. When faced with the question of whether Thermoman/George is merely Father Dougal in tights, star and creator come up with different interpretations. "I think he's generally puzzled by the ways of the world, so in that way he's not totally unlike Dougal," says O'Hanlon. "One of the big differences, though, is the romantic element, so I suppose it's a bit like Dougal in Love." Mendelson feels that the differences are more pronounced: "This man is saving the world on a daily basis, whereas Dougal couldn't even tie his own shoelaces. George is naive and innocent, but Dougal was almost brain-dead. Obviously we have played on Ardal's qualities. When it's a comedy and you're using an actor that an audience likes, they will have certain expectations that he won't disappoint them by being someone a million miles away from the persona they already know."

It takes our hero ten minutes to get into and out of his padding and stretch fabrics, an arduous task that must be performed many times during the recording of one episode. As the recordings are taking place in high summer, it makes the whole undertaking altogether clammier. "Yes, the Lycra," says O'Hanlon. "I know I said the scripts were funny, but what probably attracted me to the role most was the Lycra and the latex. It's not every day that you get the chance to don that sort of material." He complains of stickiness, discomfort and heat, but not very convincingly. He is also rather taken with the underwear they have forced him into. "I've never worn a thong before, but I'm getting used to it, put it that way. I keep demanding more scenes as Thermoman."

So playing a man who saves the world and gets the girl is obviously very rewarding, but who are O'Hanlon's own heroes? He ponders long and hard on this, thinking back to his youth in small-town County Monaghan. "The entire Leeds football team, they were gods. Eddie Macken, the showjumper, I can even remember his horse's name. Kerrygold something, wasn't it? Or just local people, really. The ones who had big tractors I admired tremendously."

Executive producer was Geoffrey Perkins, producers were Marcus Mortimer and John Stroud, music was by Philip Pop, stunt co-ordinator was Paul Neasman, casting director Tracey Gillham, associate producers were Jed Leventhull & Barrie Westwell, video effects were by Framestone.

With My Hero, Ardal O'Hanlon leapt in one mighty bound from superdense priest - Dougal in Father Ted - to superdense alien, and his charm has carried the show, counterbalancing its all too human weaknesses. My Hero was pitched as a gentle family comedy and it has achieved at least two thirds of its aim. It's certainly gentle, and it has been that rarity among modern-day comedies: family viewing. But it isn't that comical.

Note. O'Hanlon also starred at this time in the ITV comedy-drama Big Bad World (first series, six episodes, 20 June-25 July 2000; second series, 10 episodes, 19 January-9 February 2001, continuing 3 September-15 October 2001). And a recording of his standup comedy show, already released on video and so not made for TV, was shown by C4 as Ardal O'Hanlon Live on 15 May 1998.

WR. Paul Mendelson and Paul Mayhew-Archer.

DIR. John Stroud.

EPISODES: 52 YEAR MADE: 2000 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 5

BIG BEAR FILMS/A BBC PRODUCTION

CREATOR: PAUL MENDELSON

TYPE OF SHOW: COMEDY

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 6 + 2 (2) 6 (3) 10 (4) 10 (5) 10 (6) 8

DATE OF PREMIER: 04/02/2000 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 10/09/2006

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

George Sunday/Thermoman ARDAL O'HANLON (1-5)/JAMES DREYFUS (6), Janet Dawkins EMILY JOYCE, Mrs. Raven GERALDINE MCNULTY, Piers HUGH DENNIS, Arnie LOU HIRSCH, Ella Dawkins LILL ROUGHLEY, Tyler PHILIP WHITCHURCH, Mrs Possit JOAN LINDER, Landlady MARY FARRAGHER, Newsreader CHARLOTTE HUDSON, Irish News Anchor JACQUI O'HANLON. Italian Waiter MARCELLO WALTON, Voice of Cassie MADELEINE MORTIMER (5-6), Voice of Ollie (3,4,6).

0 - 1 A MY HERO CHRISTMAS

The whole concept of Christmas bewilders George, and his plan for a perfect holiday goes all awry.

0 - 2 MY SUPER HERO

1 - 1 "PILOT"

George Sunday is a health food shop owner who can transform himself into superhero Thermoman and whose mission is to save the world from destruction.

Wr Paul Mendelson and Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

1 - 2 GUESS WHO'S COMING TO LUNCH

George discovers that living a normal life is not as easy as it may seem, especially when it comes to meeting Janet's parents.

Wr Paul Mendelson and Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

1 - 3 MISSION IMPOSSIBLE

Janet refuses to let George out to save Grimsby from a catastrophe after he gets food on his Thermoman outfit.

Wr Paul Mendelson and Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

1 - 4 THERMOMAN'S GREATEST CHALLENGE

Complications arise when Thermoman is guest of honour at a fundraising party and Janet's dad insists George Sunday be there to meet him.

Wr Paul Mendelson and Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

1 - 5 OLD MAN RIVERDANCE

Hell hath no fury like a clapped-out old superhero. Especially when it's Thermoman's dad who comes to break up his son's romance.

Wr Paul Mendelson and Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

1 - 6 THE PARTY'S OVER

When George fails to appreciate the significance of Janet turning 30, Arnie suggest he arrange a surprise party for her.

Wr Paul Mendelson and Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

2 - 1 PARENTS

George ruins Janet's parents' amateur dramatic performance by shouting out as if it's a panto, so Janet tries to deflect their anger by telling them the truth - that he is really superhero Thermoman. Although Janet's mum and dad now love him, life gets more complicated when everyone knows, particularly when Mrs Raven tries to offer him her body.

Wr Paul Mendelson, Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

2 - 2 GIRLFRIEND

Disaster strikes at the heart of Thermoman's domestic bliss when his long-lost fiancée, Xil, arrives from Ultron. Janet is horrified to learn that George is bound by Ultron law to marry Xil, but she is determined not to lose her man. George's cunning plans to dissuade Xil don't work, neither do Janet's woman-to-woman powers of persuasion. All seems lost, until Janet makes a discovery.

Wr Simon Braithwaite, Paul Alexander

Dir John Stroud

2 - 3 CAR

Thermoman's defrocked superhero cousin, Arnie, wants his powers back. George agrees to intercede with the Ultron High Council on condition that Arnie behaves himself and will take care of saving the world while George saves up for a car for Janet. Sadly though, temptation is too much for Arnie, and when he steals the Crown Jewels things have to revert to the way they were. But Janet still gets her car in the end.

Wr Simon Braithwaite, Paul Alexander

Dir John Stroud

2 - 4 NEMISIS

A vengeful school mate, Rovi, comes to Earth intent on making George (aka Thermoman) miserable. First he takes over Piers' body and makes Janet fall in love with him. Then he takes over as the world's superhero. In a desperate attempt to win Janet back, Thermoman issues the terrible challenge of Chang-Ching. Can he defeat Rovi/Piers and win back Janet's love?

Wr John Phelps, Gary Lawson

Dir John Stroud

2 - 5 PREGNANT

When Janet discovers she is pregnant, Thermoman is over the moon and gives her special powers to protect herself and the unborn baby. Janet isn't keen at first, but as she gets used to being a superhero she is even better at it than Thermoman!

Wr Paul Mayhew-Archer, Paul Mendelson

Dir John Stroud

2 - 6 WEDDING

Janet's dad is insisting that her baby be born in wedlock, and Thermoman's bosses on Ultron are of the same mind. But as usual things don't go smoothly for the world's favourite superhero as the baby starts to arrive during the marriage ceremony.

Wr Paul Mayhew-Archer, Paul Mendelson

Dir John Stroud

3 - 1 BABY TALK

Life is becoming increasingly stressful for George and Janet Sunday. Keeping George's alter ego secret from Janet's parents is difficult enough but with a new baby in the house who, to put it mildly, takes after George rather more than Janet, it is becoming impossible.

Wr Paul Mayhew-Archer, Paul Mendelson

Dir John Stroud

3 - 2 ZERO TOLERANCE

Life at the health centre takes an unexpected turn when a desperate man turns up waving a gun and demanding access to the drugs cabinet.

Wr Paul Mayhew-Archer, Paul Mendelson

Dir John Stroud

3 - 3 PET RESCUE

Ella and Stanley have the decorators in, so Janet has volunteered to look after their dog, Biggles--much to George's disgust. However, George is determined to overcome his aversion and bond with the mutt.

Wr Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

3 - 4 THE OLDER MAN

It's George's birthday and, at 327 years old, he's a mere spring chicken in Planet Ultron terms. But the lease on George's earthly body has run out and he's starting to look his real age rather rapidly.

Wr Paul Mayhew-Archer, Paul Mendelson

Dir John Stroud

3 - 5 PUTTIN' ON THE WRITS

It's just an ordinary morning in a supermarket car-park - until Mrs. Raven has a run-in with a stack of wayward trolleys and is tipped over the edge of the multi-storey building. It's ThermoMan to the rescue-- but when he refuses Mrs R's kind offer of Battenberg cake in return for saving her life, retribution is swift

Wr Paul Alexander, Simon Braithwaite

Dir John Stroud

3 - 6 SHOCK, HORROR!

Baby Ollie has a temperature so George, instead of concentrating on saving the world, keeps zooming back to the flat to check on the baby. But all this dashing about is making George careless and it's not too long before an unscrupulous journalist takes advantage of the situation and obtains pictures of George in his ThermoMan guise - Suddenly it's all over the papers that Janet is having an affair with ThermoMan.

Wr Paul Alexander, Paul Mendelson, Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

3 - 7 LITTLE GREEN MAN

Janet thinks George is taking her for granted. After all, most husbands would react rather badly after discovering their wife in a compromising position with the handy man - George's response is merely 'Why should I be jealous of a human when I can do it 15 times a night?' But it's not long before George succumbs to jealousy.

Wr Ian Brown, James Hendrie

Dir John Stroud

3 - 8 MINE'S A DOUBLE

George has to attend a Super-Heroics Conference which means leaving Janet at home alone, minding the baby. In their wisdom, the Ultron Council provides a "George clone" with the unlikely name of Hilary to keep Janet company. But while Hilary looks just like the real thing, his character couldn't be more different. . .

Wr Paul Alexander, Simon Braithwaite

Dir John Stroud

3 - 9 A LITTLE LEARNING

George is devastated when Ella and Stanley ban him from their 40th wedding anniversary party. Once he realizes everyone has the same view of him, the situation calls for some drastic action. Admittedly George's attempts to make new friends via the calling cards in telephone booths backfire somewhat, but when he obtains some magic pork scratchings that increase his brain power, the effects are miraculous.

Wr Paul Mayhew-Archer, Paul Mendelson

Dir John Stroud

3 - 10 A DAY TO REMEMBER

It's a bad day for Planet Earth when George accidentally erases his own memory, to the extent he can't remember who ThermoMan is, let alone that he is ThermoMan. For Janet it's a dream come true. George turns into a model husband who volunteers to change nappies and take Ollie for strolls in the park - a first in the Sunday household!

Wr Paul Mayhew-Archer, Paul Mendelson

Dir John Stroud

4 - 1 A SPORTING CHANCE

Being a peace-loving Ultronian, George knows nothing about sport or the psychology of sport that drives men and women to thrash opponents to within an inch of their lives. So when Piers asks George to join his Sunday League cricket team to make up numbers, George hasn't a clue what he's being asked to do. After a crash course on the rules of cricket from Janet, George takes the field and proceeds to decimate his own team with his over-zealous fielding. Piers is scathing about George's performance, but is forced to eat humble pie when George eclipses Piers by scoring a near-impossible 24 runs off the last 4 balls.

George has discovered the ecstasy that is winning! Success goes to his head, and he becomes horribly competitive; reveling in grinding his opponents' faces into the dirt, until an unexpected person intervenes.

Wr Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

4 - 2 THE LIVING DEAD

George comes home quite proud that he's invested in both a pension and life insurance. When Janet points out he must die to collect the insurance, he's quite miffed; the pension man only said he'd have to fall under a bus. It turns out, death may come sooner than either of them think, as George has a "slight heart defect" in both hearts. When George has an episode in the surgery, and is pronounced by Dr. Piers, Janet and he decide to let him rest in peace; it will allow him to completely concentrate on his superhero duties, and as an added bonus, he'll need to avoid Janet's parents for the rest of their lives. Ella is delighted, because her daughter is now free to marry the far more suitable Dr Piers Crispin. It is not long, however, before George is feeling trapped by his non-existence and he and Janet hatch a plot to bring George back to life at his own funeral.

Wr Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

4 - 3 TAKING THE CREDIT

George has not quite got the hang of managing domestic finances. Never having seen a Credit or Debit card before, he goes on a massive spending spree, mightily impressed with a Welfare State that literally gives him money to do so. Janet finds out what has been happening when the bills arrive, by which time they are heavily in debt. Selling their belongings and the flat only scratches the surface of this debt, and Janet is forced to take advantage of Ollie's supertalent to correctly predict the Lottery numbers. Such an abuse of Ultronian super-powers, however, draws Thermoman to the attention of the Lord High Arbiter of Abuses of Power - a sadistic, avenging judge, feared throughout the cosmos for putting wayward superheroes to the sword.

Wr James Cary

Dir John Stroud

4 - 4 IT'S ALL IN THE MIND

George is asked by the Ultron Council to write a progress report on humanity. All seems to be going well (apart from the French, George is pleased with what he finds), until his mind-reading powers reveal the true nature of human thought. George is disgusted at human beings' capacity for deception and wicked behaviour. The unpleasant thoughts of Stanley, Ella, and Mrs Raven in particular leave George in a state of despair. George's sense of honesty forces him to write a damning report, and the Ultron Council condemns the human race to death by laser. Only Janet can save the world by giving her sanctimonious husband a tongue-lashing.

Wr Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

4 - 5 SPACE VIRUS

George brings back something unexpected when he returns from Ultron, and the cure quite possibly could be worse than the disease - for George.

Wr Paul Mendelson, Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

4 - 6 THE MAYOR OF NORTHOLT

A faulty streetlight outside Stanley and Ella's bedroom is keeping them awake at night, but getting the Council to mend it is proving impossible. George stands for Mayor, promising to fix the streetlight if elected, only to find that his opponent is the over-confident Piers, whose mistake is to treat George as a joke candidate with no chance of winning. George wins unanimous approval when the voters respond positively to his refreshingly honest approach. Unfortunately the pressures of Mayoral Office put an unreasonable strain on his marriage and his resignation follows his election within 24 hours.

Wr Trevelyan Evans, Pete Sinclair

Dir John Stroud

4 - 7 BIG

Ollie's half-human, half Ultronian physiology causes a few problems when he starts to grow at an accelerated rate. In 24 hours he grows from a nine-month-old baby into a 19-year-old boy with a 'serious' girlfriend. Janet and George are distraught at being robbed of the pleasure of watching their only son grow up, especially when he turns into a girl. They employ the services of an eminent Ultronian doctor to cure their son, who, despite her impeccable qualifications, looks and sounds like Britney's irritating kid sister.

Wr Gary Lawson, John Phelps

Dir John Stroud

4 - 8 THE CONSULTANT

Arnie turns consultant when the Ultron Council sends him to check up on Thermoman's performance. Arnie conducts a Time and Motion study on George and demands that Thermoman be fully accountable for his actions. A plethora of customer satisfaction forms quickly hamper Thermoman's ability to rescue the victims of natural disasters - or as Arnie prefers to re-classify them, 'clients'. Arnie's regime over-stresses George to such a degree that he starts making mistakes ending up with him bringing home an armed intercontinental ballistic missile. Fearing for the world's safety, George retires, only to return to active duty when Work Experience Boy makes a hash of replacing him

Wr James Cary

Dir John Stroud

4 - 9 THE FAMILY WAY

When George becomes pregnant with a surrogate baby that he is carrying for a childless couple on Ultron, Janet is confused. What is her role now that George is a mother? And why does she feel like she wants to keep the baby when it is born, when her own Ultronian baby, Ollie, is such a handful? The unconventional parents-to-be are on an emotional rollercoaster which finally comes off the rails and crashes when the biological parents arrive to claim their baby. Luckily, letting the baby go is the only option open to Janet and George once they have seen what the little thing looks like.

Wr Trevelyan Evans, Pete Sinclair

Dir John Stroud

4 - 10 TIME AND TIME AGAIN

Groundhog Day meets Back To The Future as George and Arnie travel back in time to stop seven-year-old Janet from breaking her arm in a tree-climbing accident. Unfortunately their interference in the space-time continuum has catastrophic consequences in the future/present. When they return to the present day, they discover that everyone is deliriously happy and George is NOT included. Janet is married to Piers with several beautiful children, Ella and Stanley are in love, Tyler is co-habiting in a stable relationship, and Mrs Raven is a Saint. George decides that it is time to return to Ultron and stay there forever, until Arnie persuades him to turn back the clocks one more time and fight to get his life back.

Wr Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

5 - 1 THE FORESIGHT SAGA

George and Janet's second child is born brandishing Janet's appendix. Apart from being able to talk she possesses a very special gift - the ability to predict the future. This proves a mixed blessing, however, when baby Cassie foresees the imminent death of everyone in the Northern Hemisphere. The pressure is on Thermoman to avert catastrophe.

Wr Paul Mendelson, Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

5 - 2 ILLEGAL ALIENS

After a bust up with a patient, (who also happens to be an immigration officer), George and Arnie find themselves under investigation. Without documentation proving their right to stay in the country the situation seems hopeless, until Tyler has an unexpected stroke of genius.

Wr Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

5 - 3 THE FIRST HUSBAND'S CLUB

George wants to be more assertive, but when he joins Piers' men's group, things go too far. Whipped up into a frenzy, George decides to use his superpowers to get his own way, and very odd things start happening to the women of Northolt. . .

Wr Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

5 - 4 CASSIE COME HOME

Ella is training to be a magistrate. She's also convinced that Janet and George are bad parents and uses her new judicial power to take the children away. There seems to be nothing that George and Janet can do, until Ollie decides to take matters into his own hands. . .

Wr Daniel Peak

Dir John Stroud

5 - 5 NOTHING TO HIDE

When the priceless Mona Lisa is discovered in the Sundays' flat, George is arrested. To save him from jail a plan is hatched to steal the painting back and replace it with a fake, but things go from bad to worse when Stanley puts a hole right through the real Mona Lisa's face. . .

Wr James Cary

Dir John Stroud

5 - 6 BRAIN DRAIN

In a bid to rid people's minds of prejudice and bad thoughts, George decides to electronically filter their minds. But of course things go far from smoothly. Why has Janet turned up for work in overalls? What is Tyler doing attending to the patients? Why is Piers dressed in a nurses uniform? And who's that singing Britney Spears in the Nurse's Room?!

Dir John Stroud

5 - 7 FEAR AND CLOTHING

Even superheroes get scared, but when George becomes a nervous wreck around Friday 13th, the consequences are unsettling for everyone. While Piers and Mrs Raven plot their latest money-laundering scam, Arnie is worried that Thermoman's days may be numbered.

Wr Trevelyan Evans, Pete Sinclair

Dir John Stroud

5 - 8 HOW GREEN WAS MY OLLIE?

Thermoman finds his popularity fading as he is held responsible for global warming, owing to the heat created by his flying around the world ! With a hate mob on his back, he's forced to take drastic measures to prove that the planet is safe in his hands.

Wr James Cary

Dir John Stroud

5 - 9 BIG BROTHER

Janet is fuming when she discovers that George has been secretly filming her for the Ultronian reality show 'Ther-mowatch'. With the camera in his right eye, George is so preoccupied with his new career he doesn't notice when the producers turn the tables on him and he ends up in Reality TV hell.

Wr Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

5 - 10 NIGHT FEVER

George is having nightmares, something completely unknown to an Ultronian but they are so vivid he's loosing his grip on reality. Things are becoming increasingly weird, then George makes the announcement that he is leaving Janet for Mrs Raven . . .has he gone totally mad?

Wr Daniel Peak

Dir John Stroud

6 - 1 FOOTLOOSE

George, desperate for money, takes part in a poker game, but ends up losing all his body parts, aside from his foot and his soul. He is placed into a new body, but Janet has problems coping with the change.

Wr Daniel Peak

Dir John Stroud

6 - 2 HERE'S ONE I MADE EARLIER

Janet is having trouble adjusting to George's new body, and things just get worse when George learns that he had a secret love child. Meanwhile, Janet is planning to meet an old boyfriend.

Wr Andrea Solomons, Paul Mayhew-Archer

Dir John Stroud

6 - 3 MY KINGDOM FOR A CAT

Desperate for Janet's affections, George decides to ask Ella's cat what makes him so endearing to her. He discovers it's the cat's essence, and starts extracting it and spraying himself with it!

Wr Katie Douglas

Dir John Stroud

6 - 4 SIDEKICK

Trying to lighten his workload, George makes a sidekick out of one of his ribs, a beautiful woman called Lula. But she turns out too well, replacing everyone at the health centre, and even taking George's job as protector of Earth!

Wr Jon Brown

Dir John Stroud

6 - 5 NOT FOR PROPHET

Wanting to teach Cassie about Ultronian religion, George tries to start it up on earth. He winds up resurrecting Piers from a fatal overdose of Mrs Raven's human testing pills, leading people to believe that he is "The Chosen One".

Wr John Phelps, Gary Lawson

Dir John Stroud

6 - 6 DERMOMAN

George's attempts to be attractive to Janet have interesting results, both at the gym and when he tries to reverse the effects.

Wr Daniel Peak

Dir John Stroud

6 - 7 TOP OF THE TABLE

When the Super Hero League table results are announced, George is so horrified by his standing - and the effect it will have on Janet's affections - he resolves to take action.

Wr James Cary

Dir John Stroud

6 - 8 BELIEVE

When George's body starts to malfunction, Arnie must perform an MOT with unexpected consequences to George's self-confidence.

Wr Gary Lawson, John Phelps

Dir John Stroud

MY LIFE AND TIMES

My Life and Times was a series set in a retirement home in the year 2035. From this future vantage point Ben Miller, a resident in the nursing home, recalls the events that affected his life. The series was in many ways similar to the more popular Wonder Years in that both had characters looking back at the early part of their lives. Unlike the Wonder Years which looked at the past through the eyes of the present.

My Life and Times looked at contemporary times and the near future through the eyes of the future. Ben studied journalism at Northwestern University and through the course of his life tried to make money as a journalist and a writer but found he was often forced to take on other work to survive. The episodes were not presented in chronological order and shifted around from Ben's college days in the late 1960's where he met his wife Rebecca to the end of the 1990's when his wife dies of cancer.

Executive producer-Ron Koslow, Producer-Kenneth Koch, Coproducer-Patricia Livingston , music-Lee Holdridge. Episode 1.2 guest starred Claudia Christian who played Jessie, she is more famous for playing Cmdr. Susan Invanova from BABYLON 5.

My Life and Times was a critical success and a ratings disappointment. The series was yanked from the schedule after only two episodes were broadcast, the remaining four episodes made were run several weeks later with two episodes being run the same evening.

I seem to remember a show from the late 80's/early 90's called My life and Times. It was set at the turn of the 21'st century. It featured an elderly man looking back at his life. I think it was on ABC,....didn't last long.....maybe 10 episodes. Anyone remember it?

this show was BRILLIANT...only ran for 6 episodes...Helen Hunt was a co-star! great writing and great acting! it just never got a proper shot!!!!

This show had a wonderful premise that would have provided years worth of plotlines, had the addle-minded networks execs not pulled the plug. I believe the star (who's name I don't know) went on to play the father in My So-Called Life with Clare Danes.

This show was very enjoyable. As one of the previous commenters stated the premise of the show could have sustained years worth of interesting plots. The one episode that sticks in my mind was when the lead lead character has a fling with Claudia Christian over the bicentennial celebration weekend. If my memory serves me correctly, he runs into Christian's character after they are both much older in a retirement home. Very poignant. Never jumped!

This was one of the best television shows I ever watched. It could still be running today; why on Earth did they cancel it?

This show NEVER jumped. I guess ratings killed it. The acting was terrific and the storylines were very, no extremely, intelligent. One particular episode I remember dealt with looking back to the stock market crash of the late 1990's. It was a show my wife and I looked forward to watching each week, and then it was cancelled. What a shame when the truly good shows are yanked from the networks. I hope I can catch reruns on some nostalgia channel in the future.

Never jumped. Once again a story of a network canceling a show because it was good. For everyone's benefit, I think I remember how it went. The show was set in 2035, the lead character was an 85 year old man. Each episode was him re-counting some experience from his life to his grandson (maybe great-grandson, not sure) who came to the old-age home to visit him. The pilot centered around the San Francisco earthquake in 1989, he and his wife (Helen Hunt, as mentioned before) were living in S.F., their first child was born during the aftermath of the quake. Then at the end of the episode, there would be a segway to the next episode. At the end of the pilot, the old man notices the woman he had a brief affair with during the 1976 Bi-Centennial celebration (also mentioned before). Anyway, I thought it was a great show, I was sad to see it go.

WR. Ron Koslow, Evan Katz, Hugh O'Neill, Jerry Rigg.

DIR. Michael Apted, John Pasquin, Martin Davidson, Michael Tuchner.Christopher Leitch.

EPISODES: 6 YEAR MADE: 1991 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

SEA CHANGE PRODUCTIONS, ABC PRODUCTIONS

CREATOR: RON KOSLOW

TYPE OF SHOW: EARTH FUTURE

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 6

DATE OF PREMIER: 21/04/1991

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 30/05/1991

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:FILMS:

Ben Miller TOM IRWI, Rebecca Eastman Miller HELEN HUNT, Susan MEGAN MULLALLY, Joe
LAWRENCE MONOSON, Robert Miller ROBERT MILLER.

RELATED SHOWS:BABYLON 5

- 1 - 1 APRIL 9, 2035
- 1 - 2 JESSIE
- 1 - 3 OUR WEDDING
- 1 - 4 MILLENIUM
- 1 - 5 FARE ON PARK AVENUE
- 1 - 6 THE COLLAPSE OF '98

MY LIVING DOLL

Dr. Bob McDonald is a government psychiatrist who found himself having to take care of a very unique patient, AAF709, also known as Rhonda. To the world at large, Rhonda is an attractive female, however she has a secret known only to Bob and a few select others. Rhonda is a top secret government experimental robot. Bob has been given the task of turning Rhonda into the perfect woman and teaching her normal human behaviour. Rhonda has the annoying habit of taking everything too literally and doing exactly what she is told to do.

Rhonda moves in with Bob, which he explains is necessary since she is a very special patient who need his around-the-clock care. This causes Bob a few new problems, as he must keep Rhonda's secret from his sister Irene and neighbour Peter who has become infatuated with Rhonda.

Sit-com sci-fi remake of "Pygmalion", about an attempt to train a robot (AF 709) to become a "perfect woman." The SF series WEIRD SCIENCE carried a very similar premise to this one.

After his success with MY FAVORITE MARTIAN, Chertok came up with another sf comedy series. Starring Bob Cummings as a psychiatrist, it concerned a female robot, originally designed for use in space but put in his care while its inventor is away.

Cummings decides to train it as the "perfect woman" -- that is, quiet and obedient -- but the robot's unpredictability places him in embarrassing situations. Statuesque Julie Newmar was memorable as the robot, carrying an erotic charge that could not be properly utilized within the context of a tv comedy. The underlying metaphor (woman equals doll) could be interpreted as either sexist, as Cummings plays it, or subversively proto-Feminist, which some of the ironies suggest.

Personality conflicts among the cast caused Bob Cumming to leave My Living Doll before its first (and only season) had finished. To accommodate this change, Bob was written out as having moved to Pakistan. Peter learned Rhonda's secret and finds himself in Bob's old position of having to keep it a secret. Dr. Foster was added to the cast of Rhonda's government supervisor. Actress Julie Newmar is off course more famous for playing the role of Catwoman in the SF comic hero series BATMAN.

Golden Globes

Best TV Star (Female) - Nominated - "My Living Doll" (1964) - Julie Newmar (1965)

WR. Al Martin, Roland Wolpert, Louis Kemp.

DIR. Ezra Stone.

EPISODES: 26 YEAR MADE: 1964 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

CBS TV

CREATOR: JACK CHERTOK

TYPE OF SHOW: COMEDY

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 26

DATE OF PREMIER: 27/09/1964

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 17/03/1965

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Dr. Bob McDonald ROBERT CUMMINGS (eps 1-22) (aka BOB CUMMINGS), Rhonda Miller (aka AAF709) JULIE NEWMAR, Dr. Peter Robinson JACK MULLANEY, Irene McDonald DORIS DOWLING, Dr. Foster JAN ARVAN (eps 22-26).

RELATED SHOWS:

BATMAN (1966)
 MY FAVOURITE MARTIAN
 WEIRD SCIENCE

1 - 1 BOY MEETS GIRL

In the series premiere episode, Bob (Robert Cummings) is introduced to project AF709, a female robot (Julie Newmar) and unwillingly accepts her as a houseguest. Dr. Carl Miller tells Bob that project AF 709 is missing from the space agency lab. AF 709 happens to be a girl robot, and "she" is walking about wearing only a sheet.

1 - 2 RHONDA'S FIRST DATE

Rhonda is mistakenly asked out on a date, and due to her lack of knowledge she accepts.

1 - 3 UNINVITED GUEST

Reading "Alice in Wonderland" has had a peculiar effect on poor Rhonda: She's afflicted with spells of dizziness, as well as problems in her programming, she can no longer define reality. This episode is also known as vertigo.

1 - 4 LESSONS IN LOVE

Irene (Bob's sister) programs Rhoda to act as if she is in love, and Rhoda takes the information to her transistorized heart, causing mayhem.

1 - 5 RHONDA AND THE V.I.P.

Bob's escorting a general's daughter to a reception for the VIP members and he gives strict orders that Rhoda's not to leave the apartment, of course that doesn't happen.

1 - 6 SOMETHING BORROWED, SOMETHING BLUE

Bob is chairman of a psychiatric clinic's fund-raising drive, and he and Rhoda call on the donor with the greatest potential: millionaire playboy Walter J. Armbruster, he takes a great liking to her and decides he wishes to marry her.

1 - 7 LOVE MACHINE

It would take a computer to find the right girl for Peter, and Bob has just the tool, Rhoda. He furnishes Rhoda with information on 250 girls working at the space lab trying to find a match for Peter.

1 - 8 THE BEAUTY CONTEST

Irene sneaks Rhoda into a beauty contest, to which Bob is a judge.

1 - 9 NOT SO COMIC, COMIC

Bob's friend Herbert would rather be a comic than a pharmacist, but he's not a very good comic, so Bob has been asked to persuade the young man to stick to filling prescriptions.

1 - 10 MY ROBOT, THE WARDEN

Bob's working extremely hard on a magazine article, and he instructs Rhoda to make certain that he finishes on time.

1 - 11 THE RHONDA GAMBLE

Bob's trying to cure a compulsive gambler, and uses Rhoda and her mathematical skill to do it. With her the ability to correctly predict the fall of the dice, he can't go wrong - or can he?

1 - 12 FOREIGN RELATIONS

When Dr. McDonalds scheduled meeting with a colleague from the Far East, there's much talk about, but no communication - Somethings awry, Rhoda goofed again and instructed the interpreter not to show up.

1 - 13 DOCTOR IS IN

Bob has the opportunity to luncheon with an attractive lady therapist, so he asks Rhoda to cancel his luncheon with the chief of police. The part of Dr. Chase is played by psychologist Loriane Chase

1 - 14 I'LL LEAVE IT TO YOU

Meek millionaire Jonas Clay intends on leaving his fortune to anyone but his domineering sister, and he needs Bob to certify that he's of sound mind and can control his own fortune

1 - 15 MECHANICAL PERFECTION

After comparing herself to the flawless Rhoda, depressed and discouraged Irene feels very inadequate.

1 - 16 POOL SHARK

Peter owes a small fortune to a pool shark, but he very cleverly signed Bob's name to the IOU. They send in Rhoda to play the pool shark and with her abilities beats the shark and repays the debt.

1 - 17 RHODAS FORGERY

Rhoda copies a Picasso so accurately that an art dealer believes it to be the real thing right down to the signature. Bob tries in vain to convince the dealer the painting is a forgery.

1 - 18 THE KLEPTOMANIC

Rhoda, unaware that department stores are places where people purchase things, helps herself to gems from a jewelry counter.

1 - 19 THE LIE

Peter follows Bob's advice about facing up to his fears by taking a giant step: He tells everyone that he's an accomplished sky diver- the only problem is-- he lied!

1 - 20 ROBOTIC ASTRONAUT

Bob takes Rhoda along when he goes out of town to interview a group of women applying for the astronaut program, Rhoda applies.

1 - 21 DAY IN COURT (AKA THE WITNESS)

Bob gets off to an inauspicious start as chairman of a road-safety committee by crashing into his neighbor's car, then Rhoda testifies in court about the entire incident.

1 - 22 RHONDA MEEETS DR. ROBINSON

Bob has been called to Pakistan and Rhoda the robot has been left, once again to a new caretaker: Peter Robinson (Jack Mullaney) who's alarmed to find that the 'girl' of his dreams is really a computer wonder!

1 - 23 RHONDA THE ESCORT

Peter and Rhoda escort ballerina Angela Carruthers to her tv interview.

1 - 24 A PARIS ORIGINAL

A fashion photographer wants to take Rhoda to Paris for an important shoot - but Peter objects.

1 - 25 RHODA'S SUNTAN

Rhodas beach experience have adversely affected her systems -thanks to the sun's rays -- she finds out that any source of light, over a long period of time, changes her to a very destructive robot.

1 - 26 COMIC INTERFERENCE

The housekeeper's brother, a nightclub comedian, has decided to make a permanent visitor as he tries to move into Peters apartment, for an indefinite stay.

MY PARENTS ARE ALIENS

There are advantages to having aliens as foster parents - they believe that A is for Awful and F is for Fantastic in your school grades, and that the most awful punishment is eating a whole chocolate cake. Orphans Mel, Josh and Lucy are adopted by Brain and Sophie, formerly of planet Velux. The trick, however, is to prevent the authorities from catching on.

Melanie, Josh and Lucy Barker were orphaned 8 years ago, when their parents die in a car crash. Since then they have been through a succession of foster homes - sometime together but usually alone. It is rare that a family can take in three children at once. Add to this the fact that Melanie, Josh and Lucy are more than a handful and their prospects for being adopted together shrink from 'fat chance' to no chance at all. But for every rule there's an exception and in this case the exception is the Johnsons!

Brian and Sophie Johnson are a wealthy, loving, childless couple who want nothing more than to give three orphans a new start in life. At least that is what the Social Services think. The truth is that the 'Johnsons' are Veluxian Metamorphs who, having crashed landed in suburbia, have fashioned a wealthy middle class cover whilst waiting for a rescue ship to come and pick them up.

However, the rescue ship will not arrive for another forty years....and that's minimum!! As they watch the human world go by, they notice all their neighbours have children and so decide to get some! And so the Johnsons adopt the Barker children and everyone is happy. However, one thing is clear, if this arrangement is ever going to work, they must all learn to live by the rules most alien to the all.... the rules of family life.

Another cheap and cheerful SF comedy show this time made by the ITV network. This low quality and badly acted series is another low budget SF children's show very much in the line of TIMEKEEPERS OF THE MILLENNIUM. The show attempts to mix comedy and teen angst but it does it badly. It's a case of nice try, but better luck next time. They don't bother with having a structure to a pilot episode, and the explanation for the story is explained in the opening credits.

Melanie is 14 years old and I a reckless, insecure drop-out who really just wants to be loved. Josh is 11 years old and is an artless mischievous boy in search of a hobby. Lucy is 10 years old and is a bookish, pragmatic brain box who'll one day win a Nobel prize. Dad is an alien and is a naïve, impulsive booby who is constantly confused by the way humans think. Mum is also an alien but is a sensitive, extravagant optimist who is often surprised by the way humans feel.

Trivia

In the episode The Family Way, Lucy is playing music on the stereo. She pauses the music, and then starts it again. When she continues the music, it has moved from the first verse straight to the chorus.

Tanya Thomas has an actress change several times throughout the shows run.

In the episode 'Becky the freak' the galactic guidebook crashes and features the Blue Screen of Death a common computer featured error.

In Series One or Two Brian calls a snake bully bullyboy, but in series seven he doesn't know what bullying is.

In series 8 episode 'Big Head', in the morning guido says the tip of the day. Then in the evening there is a different tip of the DAY

Merchandise

My Parents Are Aliens has spawned very little merchandise. Only a mousemat, a VHS of Series One and a DVD of the best of Series 1-3 has been created. Also, pictures are available to print out on the My Parents are Aliens website.

Produced by Anne Brogan . Executive producer , Bernard Krichefski . Producer , Liz Noble . Associate producer , Connal Orton . Producer Andy Watts . Executive producer.

Original Music by Sandy Nuttgens.

Film Editing by John Allen & Dave Long

Casting by Angela Grosvenor

Costume Design by Sue Smith

Second Unit Director or Assistant Director - Lee Benfold . First assistant director , Addie Orfila . First assistant director , Ben Sweet . First assistant director.

Sound Department - Dave Armstrong . Boom operator , Richard Lee . Dubbing mixer

Special Effects by Graham Aikman . Wire flying coordinator (season 5) , Mike H.G. Bates . Special effects makeup , Mike Stringer . Special effects makeup

Visual Effects by Jamie Lochhead . Visual effects supervisor , Thorsten Rienth . Title sequence animator

Stunts - Stuart St. Paul . Stunt coordinator (2002) , Tony Christian . Stunt double: Alex Kew (2002 (uncredited))

Other crew - Jessica Brown . Production coordinator , James Macmillan . Assistant editor.

Characters

Parents

Brian Johnson (Tony Gardner), a Valuxian alien. He is extremely childlike - he follows crazes and fads and gets bored easily, and is easily sucked into Josh's scams. He has little or no concept of morality, often creating difficult situations for the characters and only rectifying them because he is told to. He can morph at will, but his allergy to ice cream makes him grow moose's antlers involuntarily whenever he eats it. He often displays androgynous behaviour: he grows breasts in one episode, and seemingly falls pregnant in another. He also has unrequited love for Josh's friend Pete and, in the Series 2 episode "First Christmas Part 1", Mel's boyfriend Scott Taylor (he later jeopardises the relationship by morphing into Mel and kissing Scott). Brian morphs a lot in the show and his disguises include: Mel, Josh (mostly), Lucy, Trent, Wendy, Mrs Hardman, a previous and deceased Headmaster, a cool and hip teenaged girl called Spam (Melanie Orchard), a blonde nurse, a rat, a toad, a pregnant elderly woman (in order to get a seat on the bus), Tania Thomas, Pete and Harry. His favourite weekly issue is Knitting For Boys which is the main reason why he can't hang out with Josh and his friends.

Sophie Johnson (Barbara Durkin) (1999-2000,2005) then (Carla Mendonça) (2001-), Brian's wife. She has slightly more common sense than Brian but is still not very intelligent and just as easily led, after enough persuasion. She can morph, but only when eating ice cream (although this rule has been overlooked on a couple of occasions). She and Brian have crash-landed on Earth and adopt Mel, Josh and Lucy in order to fit in. Although initially they were stranded on Earth, the Series 3 episode "Aliens Go Home" sees a Valuxian ship picking up their distress signal. However, having become attached to their new life, they decide to stay on Earth. Sophie's morphs have included: Mel, Josh, Lucy, Frankie, Pete, Trent, a hamster, a mermaid (with her same head), a "modern woman" and Mr Whiteside. Barbara Durkin returns as Aunt Sophie in the episode "Thanks for all the Earthworm Custard". Sophie although more clumsy with morphing, is slightly better at controlling the magnokinetic fields that the aliens often create, she has once used her magnokinesis in the form of telekinesis

Series 1-7

Children

Melanie 'Mel' Barker (Danielle McCormack) (1999-2004,2005): Melanie Barker, nicknamed Mel,lol is a fourteen year old teenager who has a sarcastic and temperamental personality. Although, being the oldest of the Barker children, she has a protective and motherly nature towards her younger siblings, since the death of their parents. It is obvious that Mel's difficult attitude comes from the pain of losing her parents, as well as being moved to and from different foster homes. Despite her reputation as a tough person, she has displayed signs of weaknesses in episodes such as "The Box", particularly towards her sister, Lucy. Mel is consistently frustrated with her alien parents ignorance of life on Earth. She gets extremely embarrassed when her parents are seen in public (due to their unusual behaviour). She doesn't like to express her emotions (except anger) as she is worried it will make her seem vulnerable. Mel is seen to be slightly insecure (despite her confident act). She cares more about her appearance than she lets on. She is often annoyed by Lucy's closeness to Brian and Sophie, usually warning her not to get "too attached". Mel's best, and apparently only, friend is Trent Clements. The two have an obvious romantic interest in each other, but don't start going out till much later in the series. Mel frequently showed jealousy (which she would never admit to) when Trent was around over girls, especially when Trent fell for Brian's morphed creation, Spam, (a disguise which Brian adopted in order to get concert tickets from Trent). Mel has radical and unusual sense of fashion and has always shown an interest in photography. Mel is an artistic kind of person who likes different kinds of art and music. She loved photography so much that she moved to Canada on an exchange programme at the end of Series 6. She later returned to the show for the Series 7 finale, "Thanks For All The Earthworm Custard".

Josh Barker (Alex Kew) (1999-2005): Josh Barker is the middle Barker sibling and was around eleven or twelve years old when he was fostered by Valuxians, Brian and Sophie Johnson. Josh is a devious and scheming preteen, who is constant inventing new and interesting scams to make money. Although, he frequently tricks and abuses his friends' loyalty, he never wishes any real harm upon them. His two best friends are Pete and Frankie. He doesn't spend much time interacting with his sisters, although when he does, it usually includes annoying or scamming them. It is shown that Josh likes positions of power and popularity, shown in El Presidente when he runs for a school election. Although clever and cunning, Josh is often outsmarted by his more quick-witted sisters, Mel and Lucy. Josh often uses Brian morphing abilities in his scams or to do what he wishes, such as Brian morphing into him so he can skip school. Despite Josh's immature manner, he becomes gradually more responsible through the years. He is, however, often quite prudish and easily embarrassed. Josh doesn't show much interest in school studies, hence his poor grades, although he has showed average signs of intelligence (shown in his ability to evade punishment by persuasion) but doesn't often apply himself. Josh's interests include rollerblading, skateboarding, making money and "the gorgeous Tania Thomas". He also plays the guitar very well. Josh doesn't seem to have many future goals. Although the most inconsiderate Barker, Josh occasionally comes to the aid of others. Josh's voice breaks in Series 5, and by Series 7 he is in his mid-teens.

Lucy Barker (Charlotte Francis) (1999-2005): Lucy Barker is the youngest and most intelligent Barker. At the start of the show she was around nine or ten years old. She is very talented in her school subjects, particularly in Maths and Science. Lucy's favourite subject is Chemistry. Lucy is very honest and moral. She easily sees through Mel and Josh's tough acts and voices their true feelings accurately. She is the most hard working sibling and their different personalities often clash. Lucy is well organised and studious, but sometimes lacks a sense of adventure. She can be quite uptight and slightly controlling. Despite these traits, she is the most kind and caring character. Lucy's above average intelligence means she often bonds with Brian (aliens have brilliant scientific knowledge but lack common sense). They usually play chess and conduct chemistry experiments. Lucy is often irritated by Brian's lack of sensitivity. She is very sensible and has a best friend named, Wendy Richardson. Wendy is equally intelligent and shares Lucy's goal to become an astronaut. Lucy and Wendy are not very popular, due to their scientific interests. Lucy's most prized possession is her chemistry set. Lucy also has a talent for judo and cooking.

C.J. (Olisa Odele) (2004-2005): a small, quiet boy who was rescued from being run over by 'Superbrian', a.k.a. Brian Johnson wearing a cape. By strange coincidence he turns out also to be an orphan from the children's home and is adopted into the family. CJ generally takes on the role of Brian's 'sidekick', and is therefore involved in many of Brian's ridiculous schemes and mad ideas. CJ has also been known to imitate Brian, although as the show progressed he became more independent. He is also sometimes the victim of jokes implying that (perhaps because of his age) he is less important or likable than the others, something he attempts to disprove such as when he offers himself as a slave for a day, and when he dates Poppy Manning.

Harriet 'Harry' (Stephanie Fearon) (2005): the newest addition to the family, introduced at the start of series 7. Harry's real name is actually Harriet, but she snaps angrily at anyone who calls her that. Brian and Sophie adopted her when looking for a replacement for Mel, who had at the time left for Canada on an exchange trip. She is very similar to Mel in terms of personality, as she is usually moody and is a bit of a tomboy. She is also very protective of CJ because he is the youngest, although he finds her behaviour patronising. Like Josh, she plays the guitar, and her practising sometimes irritates the others.

Other

Pete Walker (Patrick Niknejad) (1999-2005) and Frankie Perkins (Jordan Maxwell) (1999-2005), Josh's long-suffering friends. Pete has a pessimistic outlook on life and easily spots Josh's scams, but usually ends up getting drawn in anyway. Another of Josh's friends, Frankie's optimism is a foil for Pete's pessimism, but along with his dopeyness means he is often the target of Josh's scams. He has a long-held crush on Mel, and, in Series 7, he has a crush on Harry as well. Pete and Frankie have tried to desert Josh on several occasions, but always come back.

Wendy Richardson (Isabella Melling) (1999-2005), Lucy's only friend. In her scientifically-minded and studious nature she is very similar to Lucy, but as has been seen throughout the episodes, is not as smart and is even less in touch with popular culture than Lucy. Very pompous, and somewhat arrogant, she will always lose to Lucy by 1%. Despite originally having strong feelings for Josh, she gets together with Frankie by the end of series seven.

Trent Clements (Keith Warwick) (2000-2005), Mel's long-time friend. He endures Mel's mood swings with resignation and good humour, and it is hinted that he is romantically interested in her. They finally get together in Series 6.

Mr Graham Whiteside (1999-2005), Well known and very grumpy teacher. Particularly dislikes Josh Barker.

Mrs Alican Hardman (1999-2005), One of Josh's teachers. Recurring character who dislikes Josh.

Poppy Manning (1999-2005), A girl who frequently appears as a rival to Josh, (and occasionally even the other Barkers), due to her similarly scheming, sneaky personality.

Tania Thomas (Zoe Thorns)/(Emily Fleeshman)/(Sasha Tilley) (1999-2005), In the "Valentines Day" episode she has a secret affection for Josh Barker. Unfortunately, Josh mistakenly believes she has sent him hate mail and is determined to get back at her. Brian's well meaning attempts to ask her out while morphed as Josh apparently ruin any potential relationship. She gets together with her good friend, Pete Walker, in series seven..

Mikey (Chris Cornwell) (1999)

Appearing in the first series, Mikey is good friends with Josh Barker, Pete Walker and Frankie Perkins. He is perfectly happy being Josh's third-in-command, and is most commonly used as a look-out.

Dave Locket (1999)

Cool, good-looking but very unintelligent, Dave is the most popular boy in school. Although originally Josh's idol, the two later sink into rivalry, most notably in The Quiz. He is particularly fond of his hair.

Series 8

Children

Jaq Bennett (Jessica Woods) (2006), A fiery teenage girl, Jaq is the oldest of the new foster children. Jaq has difficulty making friends because of her attitude. She rarely shouts, usually letting her sharp wit do the talking.

Dan Bennett (Daniel Feltham) (2006), Becky's twin. Although he is arguably the 'geekier' of the two (he collects comics and speaks Klingon), he is neither academic nor interested in science. In fact, he is quite stupid, something he is quite proud of. Dan is a television addict, but also enjoys computer games and the Internet.

Becky Bennett (Katie Pearson) (2006), Dan's twin. Becky is very studious. She is fond of dissecting animals, and her ambition is to study veterinary science at University.

Eddie Bennett (Jake Young) (2006), the youngest member of the family. He manipulates and even emotionally blackmails the other characters to get what he wants. He does this easily because of his innocent appearance, as well as the naivety of his foster parents.

Character similarities

There are many similarities between the new foster kids in series 8 and the children from series 1-7. Jaq is like Mel and Harry. She is a kid who hides her feelings and pretends to be cool. Becky is like Lucy as she loves science. Dan is a little bit like Josh, as he comes up with mad schemes and is a bit dim. Eddie is a bit like CJ. He is small, cute and wants the family to be together.

WR. Amanda Swift, Paul Alexander, Tony Gardner, Adrian Hewitt (episode 12 series 4), Holly Lyons, Andrew Nickolds, Daniel Peak, Shaun Prendergast series 2 episode 3, Paul Rose, Andy Watts, Joe Williams, Malcolm Williamson.

DIR. Angelo Abela, Chris Bernard, Clive Fleury, Steve Goldie, David McKay, Justin Molotnikov, Declan O'Dwyer, Ben Kellett, Dominic MacDonald

EPISODES: 106 YEAR MADE: 1999 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 8

GRANADA MEDIA/ YORKSHIRE TELEVISION

CREATOR: ANDY WATTS

TYPE OF SHOW: ALIENS ON EARTH FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 6, (2) 10, (3) 10, (4) 13, (5) 13, (6) 20, (7) 20, (8) 14

DATE OF PREMIER: 08/11/1999 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 21/12/2006

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN: Season 1 : 08/11/1999 - 13/12/1999

Season 2 : 16/10/2000 - 18/12/2000

Season 3 : 24/09/2001 - 05/10/2001

Season 4 : 09/09/2002 - 02/12/2002

Season 5 : 22/10/2003 - 03/12/2003

Season 6 : 08/11/2004 - 24/12/2004

Season 7 : 18/10/2005 - 21/12/2005

FILMS:

Brian Johnson TONY GARDNER, Sophie Johnson BARBARA DURKIN (1-2,7), Mel Barker DANIELLE MCCORMACK, Josh Barker ALEX KEW , Lucy Barker CHARLOTTE FRANCIS (1999-2005), Pete Walker PATRICK NIKNEJAD (1999-2005), Harry STEPAHNIE FEARON (7), Alison Hardman BEATRICE KELLEY (1999-2005), Frankie Perkins JORDAN MAXWELL (1999-2005) , Mel Barker DANIELLE MCCORMACK, Wendy Richardson ISABELLA MELLING (2005-2005) , Sophie Johnson CARLA MENDONCA (2001-2005), , C.J. OLISA ODELE (6-7), Trent Clements KEITH WARWICK (1999-2005).

1 - 1 NOBODY'S PERFECT

Brian's family problems start after a sneeze that blows his nose off.

Wr Amanda Swift

1 - 2 THE HOME TEAM

Brain and Sophie enter the school quiz.

Wr Kirstie Falkous

1 - 3 THE DATE

Josh falls in love with the tallest girl in his class.

Wr Andrew Nickold

1 - 4 IT'S A DOG'S LIFE

Lucy adopts a sick dog.

Wr Andy Watts

1 - 5 THE BOX

Mel shows Josh and Lucy her secret box of memories.

Wr Andy Watts

1 - 6 THE MAKEOVER

Lucy decides that she needs a makeover.

Wr Andy Watts

2 - 1 *THE CHALLENGE*2 - 2 *THE GENIUS*2 - 3 *THE HOLIDAY*2 - 4 *THE SLEEPOVER*2 - 5 *THE BRIDE*2 - 6 *SKIRTING THE ISSUE*2 - 7 *EL PRESIDENTE*2 - 8 *THE FAMILY WAY*2 - 9 *FIRST CHRISTMAS PART ONE*2 - 10 *FIRST CHRISTMAS PART TWO*3 - 1 *CRAZY FOR YOU*3 - 2 *WHEN SWAPS GO BAD*3 - 3 *ENTER THE DUCK*3 - 4 *THE WEDDING*3 - 5 TESTING TIMES

Dir THW

3 - 6 THE VALENTINE

- 3 - 7 MAGIC JOHNSON
- 3 - 8 ALIENS GO HOME
- 3 - 9 HALLOWEEN
- 3 - 10 HOWIE
- 4 - 1 TEXTUAL RELATIONS
- 4 - 2 BEAUTY AND THE BREAST PART ONE
- 4 - 3 BEAUTY AND THE BREAST PART TWO
- 4 - 4 THE NAKED TRUTH
- 4 - 5 OPERATION DATE
- 4 - 6 RAT'S ENTERTAINMENT
- 4 - 7 FISH FINGERS
- 4 - 8 SECRETS AND LIES
- 4 - 9 JUST MY LUCK
- 4 - 10 THE OPPOSITES
- 4 - 11 THE INVOSIBBLE MAM
- 4 - 12 THE MUSICAL
- 4 - 13 BRAIN OF THE BROWNIES
- 5 - 1 AGE CONCERNS
- 5 - 2 BIG MOTHER
- 5 - 3 BURGLARS CAN'T BE CHOOSERS
- 5 - 4 KING BRAIN
- 5 - 5 WARTS AND ALL
- 5 - 6 EDUCATING SOPHIE
- 5 - 7 APRIL FOOLS
- 5 - 8 WHEELS OF MISFORTUNE PART ONE
- 5 - 9 WHEELS OF MISFORTUNE PART TWO
- 5 - 10 MEL BARKER - SUPERSTAR
- 5 - 11 PYGMALIEN
- 5 - 12 SMOTHERLY LOVE
- 5 - 13 NAPPY RASH
- 6 - 1 SUPER BRAIN
- 6 - 2 LE FREAK C'EST CHIC
- 6 - 3 STICKY SITUATIONS
- 6 - 4 JOSHFERATU
- 6 - 5 ROBOJOSH
- 6 - 6 MELERELLA
- 6 - 7 BRAIN'S ARK

- 6 - 8 MY FAIR MEL
- 6 - 9 THE CRYING GAME
- 6 - 10 DIRTY DANCING
- 6 - 11 THE ALIENIST
- 6 - 12 FANGS FOR THE MAMMARIES
- 6 - 13 WRONGS OF PRAISE
- 6 - 14 BRAIN'S ELEVEN . . . MINUS EIGHT
- 6 - 15 ANORAKNOPHOBIA
- 6 - 16 HELP
- 6 - 17 OH BRAIN!
- 6 - 18 FULL METAL SPOHIE
- 6 - 19 THE NAUGHTY LIST PART ONE
- 6 - 20 THE NAUGHTY LIST PART TWO
- 7 - 1 THE TROUBLE WITH HARRY
- 7 - 2 PRET-A-BRAIN
- 7 - 3 HOTEL SOPHIE
- 7 - 4 HALLOWEEN TALES
- 7 - 5 WORST AID
- 7 - 6 SOPHIE LIMITED
- 7 - 7 MILLION DOLLAR HARRY
- 7 - 8 WHAT THE ROMANS DID FOR BRAIN
- 7 - 9 THE LOVE BUG
- 7 - 10 SNAPPY FAMILIES
- 7 - 11 GOODBYE MR FLIPS
- 7 - 12 WRESTLE MANIAC
- 7 - 13 A CHOCO-LIPS NOW
- 7 - 14 THE TAIL OF THE KNITTED MAP
- 7 - 15 NEIGHBOURS FROM HELL
- 7 - 16 FOOLS OF A FEATHER
- 7 - 17 MEET THE TWO VEG
- 7 - 18 HOT GOSSIP
- 7 - 19 THE HOUSE SWARMING PARTY
- 7 - 20 THANKS FOR ALL THE EARTHWORM CUSTARD
- 8 - 1 METEOR PARENTS

Brian and Sophie crash land by the sea, and then get their memories wiped by Guido (the voice on the Galactic Guidebook). They need to foster four new kids to keep their alien identity a secret. But what will happen when the new kids find out the truth? Written by Joe Williams

Brian is being operated on by Becky and the family. Becky needs to get some of Brian's insides in order to stop the mutated flu virus melting him.

8 - 2 SHIP OF FRIENDS

It's the kids' first day at their new school and they're causing chaos. Brian and Sophie want to make a friend and decide it should be one of the kids' new teachers!

8 - 3 SPIES AND DOLLS

Brian plants a bug in Jaq's mobile phone to keep track of her every move and Sophie decides that Eddie would be the perfect little dolly for her to play with..

8 - 4 THE BABYSITTER

Brian and Sophie employ Jaq's arch-enemy Selena to babysit the kids but when they come home they can't get her out of the house. This calls for desperate measures – and giant tarantulas!

8 - 5 HOME IS WHERE THE DART IS

Sophie develops an interest in darts and is delighted when Eddie manages to score a bull's-eye. However, the youngster soon finds himself under so much pressure to perform in a competition that he struggles to throw straight.

8 - 6 ABANDON CHIP!

Sophie's involvement with an international crime ring puts the family under threat, while Brian believes a visiting exchange student is a fellow extra-terrestrial. Comedy, starring Tony Gardner and Carla Mendonca

8 - 7 RAIN STOPS PLAY

Sophie wants the kids to have a good time and turns the living room into a beach resort. Brian wants all the fun for himself and buries Eddie in the sand...

8 - 8 *BECKY THE FREAK*8 - 9 THE GREAT CAKE ROBBERY

Sophie bakes the biggest cake in the world for Dan. Brian wants it – and tries to persuade Eddie to help him steal the big creamy pile by murdering Sophie.

8 - 10 LORD OF THE BLING

Brian finds something rather valuable on the beach, takes Dan and Eddie out shopping and gets all 'blinged up'. A real treat for the eye when you see it and a big hand is due to costume and make-up!

Sophie helps Becky with a school project and takes matters in hand when Miss Heather doesn't give her the mark she thinks she deserves.

8 - 11 DAN THE MAN

Brian attempts to make Dan a hero by setting fire to the school loos and Sophie fills the house with mountains of rubbish when she sets up a Museum of Stuff.

8 - 12 THE PLAGUE

Brian thinks having a cold will be fun and gets Becky to infect him – but his first sneeze blows over the furniture and then he turns into a puddle of snot...

8 - 13 BIG HEAD

Sophie rescues Jaq from a surfing accident and loves the praise she receives so much that she puts Jaq's life in increasing danger so she can feel that warm glow!

8 - 14 WINTER BLUNDERLAND

This is the final episode of My Parents are aliens to be aired. Brian and Sophie want the children to have the best Christmas ever, but they somehow cause a nuclear meltdown that leaves the children making a countdown to the end of the world.

superpowers. The superpowers he acquires are Super Speed, Invulnerability and Levitation (He doesn't actually get his Super Strength power until he is hit by the beam for a second time in the episode "Photon Blues" in Season 2).

1 - 2 A WALK ON THE WILD SIDE

Dr. J is burgled and the cops are unable to help. One of the items stolen was the key component for a new machine Dr. J is building. The machine can realign the molecules in something to create water. It is the crux of his career. Unless he gets the component back within three days, at which time his backers are visiting, his career will be ruined. Andrew decides that finding the key is a job for Ultraman.

1 - 3 ONLY TRYING TO HELP

Stephanie worries after reading Andrew's diary.

1 - 4 THE TRACK STAR

Andrew decides to use his Super Speed to help him win on his school's track team.

1 - 5 MEMORIES

Andrew offers to help Dr. Jeffcoate on a date.

1 - 6 YOU'VE GOT A FRIEND

Andrew is finally getting the chance to meet one of his favorite comic book heroes: Captain Noble. But when he goes to one of his stunt shows - he finds out Captain Noble might not be so noble after all.

1 - 7 FOR OLD TIME'S SAKE

Andrew becomes suspicious of one of the Doc's old friends, industrial espionage seems to be afoot and Ultraman must find a way to save the day!

1 - 8 THE LOST WEEKEND

Dr. Jeffcoate takes Andrew and friends camping.

1 - 9 FORBIDDEN GROUND

Erin wanders away from preoccupied sitter Andrew.

1 - 10 IT ONLY HURTS FOR A LITTLE WHILE

After a visit to the dentist, Andrew loses his superpowers. Too bad he's just scheduled a showdown with the school bully!

1 - 11 GROUNDING

Andrew scores a date with a girl he likes, but ends up getting grounded for chasing Erin out of his room. Will Dr. J's new invention be able to help Andrew to still go on the date and pretend he is at home at the same time!? It's a chance that Andrew is willing to take!

1 - 12 THE EYES OF THE SHADOW

After Kirk sees in the newspapers gossip column a tidbit about him submitted by "A.C.", he decides Andrew is no longer worthy of his friendship. What Kirk doesn't realize is that a friend's trust is much more reliable than initials in a newspaper.

1 - 13 THE VIDEO CONNECTION

Dr. J is working on a new invention: a transaphone. It's a tiny microphone that is attached to the frame of glasses. Andrew, as usual, interrupts the testing of the new device with his own dire dilemma. He needs to think of a new business for Junior Achiever's day and can only come up with Date a Superhero. "But, that hardly seems fair to the mortals."

1 - 14 TOXIC TIME BOMB

Andrew's assignment for his journalism class is to do a video piece on a day in the life of someone he respects. He chooses Dr. J because he is the only one around all the time. But Dr. J picks this time to get a regular job at MacroPlex industries as a consultant. This job is in addition to his current project working on a portable chemical analyser.

1 - 15 TWO FACES HAVE I

Dr. J's latest experiment leaves him with a "Dr. Jekyll / Mr. Hyde" split personality. And one of them is engaged to Mrs. Shellenbach!

1 - 16 ONE ON ONE

Andrew is shooting hoops in the Briarwood gym when who should enter but Bobby Spillman, Briarwood's greatest basketball player, who made the NBA draft in 1983. Bobby gives Andrew some pointers and confides that he's working across the street.

1 - 17 STRANGER IN THE HOUSE

Andrew has a pen pal, who happens to be in prison. Concurrently, Dr. J is inventing a laser processor, which eventually could be the ultimate copier. Andrew invites Dr. J to dinner at Stephanie's behest. That night, another guest also comes to dinner ... Andrew's pen pal, John.

1 - 18 SECRET CODE

Dr. J tries to teach Andrew a lesson in virtue. It seems Andrew is getting a bit fed up with not receiving any recognition for his deeds as Ultraman. Jeffcoate's lesson carries no weight, however, as his words don't even begin to match his actions. He's in the process of inventing something for the Navy that could earn him more than a little recognition.

1 - 19 LOOK BEFORE YOU LEAP

A neighbor videotapes Andrew as Ultraman.

1 - 20 BREAKING THE ICE

Andrew's pal Jeff plans a surprise birthday bash.

1 - 21 GIVE THE GUY A CHANCE

Andrew urges an insecure pal to try out for a play.

1 - 22 WHEN THE SUN GOES DOWN

Stephanie and a friend find trouble at a singles bar.

1 - 23 LOOKIN' FOR TROUBLE

Andrew forgets Stephanie's birthday.

1 - 24 THE SET UP

Andrew decides to help a friend out by giving some comic books to his store. Dr. J scolds Andrew for being careless and not following the "rules of business", although it seems that Dr. J forgot the most important one of all: Trust. This evidently shows when Dr. J gets his latest invention stolen from him.

2 - 1 OUT OF CONTROL

Dr J is a substitute teacher for the science teacher. Mitch, a student in Andrew's class, is out of control. A talented student with a father who doesn't believe that his sons will ever make anything if themselves. On the school field trip Dr J is injured when he slips and falls leaving Mitch to figure out how to help him and finally starts to believe in himself.

2 - 2 NOT SO FAST

Andrew's reunion with an old friend turns to trouble.

2 - 3 NOWHERE TO HIDE

Andrew finds a girl named Piper hiding in the boys locker room, scared to death. Every time Andrew tries to help her, she just runs away. A man keeps following her and Andrew, and this mysterious man claims that Piper murdered a man - Andrew needs to find out who is telling the truth and bring them to justice!

2 - 4 PHOTON BLUES

Dr. J is experimenting with the photon beam again, trying to find some consistency with its results. Mrs. Shellenbach barges in to complain about something, and Dr. J suggests that they call a truce. If they can't be friends, perhaps they can be better neighbours. Ruth reluctantly agrees.

2 - 5 HEADING FOR TROUBLE

Andrew is jogging to school one morning when he encounters Shaun, a star Briarwood football player, trying to get his stalled car to run. Andrew offers to help. Using his superstrength, he succeeds to pushing the car to a start. Shaun offers him a ride to school, which Andrew accepts.

2 - 6 LONG SHOT

Andrew's now working for the school paper, but Cassie, the manager, informs him that he's a lousy reporter. In an effort to spare his feelings, she suggests that he try photography instead. Which Andrew agrees to do when he meets the other photographer, Beth.

2 - 7 ALONG FOR THE RIDE

Andrew's girlfriend Beth's brother Mark is changing cars faster than he's changing clothes. At first, Andrew believes Mark when he says that he's got a great new job upgrading cars. Unfortunately, this proves to be false when Andrew gets arrested as an assessor to robbery!

2 - 8 COLLISION COURSE

Andrew and Kirk go to an astronomy convention with Dr. J, and it just happens to be an all-girls school. Dr. J's niece goes there, and she goes on about how she spends all her time - night and day - studying. Kirk meets with her, and it's soon revealed she was just spinning a tale for her uncle. However, nobody believes Kirk, and Dr. J believes that he niece was corrupted by him.

2 - 9 TROUBLED WATERS

CCCCAndrew gets a job as a life guard, and gets to work with the "cool" senior lifeguard, Jason. When a small girl nearly drowns, Jason simply ignored her calls for help and Andrew managed to save her with his superspeed. Jason however takes credit for it and says Andrew was asleep on the job. Andrew must prove his innocence and make sure Jason doesn't cause anyone more harm.

2 - 10 DON'T LOOK DOWN

Andrew gets a job as a life guard, and gets to work with the "cool" senior lifeguard, Jason. When a small girl nearly drowns, Jason simply ignored her calls for help and Andrew managed to save her with his superspeed. Jason however takes credit for it and says Andrew was asleep on the job. Andrew must prove his innocence and make sure Jason doesn't cause anyone more harm.

2 - 11 CAUGHT IN THE MIDDLE

After Kirk and Andrew's other friend Nick have a blowout, Andrew is forced to chose to be friends with only one of them. Can he mend their friendship and make things right again?

2 - 12 SECRETS FOR SALE

Dr. J loses faith in an old friendship after his ideas find their way into a magazine he didn't endorse.

2 - 13 RUNNING HOME

As Stephanie, Dr. J. and Andrew are preparing to go out, Kirk shows up and announces that he's going to see his father. Ever eager to help, Andrew offers to go with him.

2 - 14 MISSING

Andrew and Kirk suspect that Dr. J has been kidnapped, when they receive a phone call from him, asking for help. As Dr. J has not returned home on time from a trip, they decide to take action and find out where he is. But they've got everything mixed up.

2 - 15 STOLEN MELODIES

Andrew is president of the media club, and books the rock group "Splitting Headache" to play at the school dance. After the performance is a big hit, Kirk walks around school with the bootleg cassette. He claims it's the only copy, but when everybody else starts getting one, Andrew believes Kirk betrayed him, but is Andrew jumping to conclusions?

2 - 16 TOE TO TOE

Andrew promised a girl he would go to the ballet with her, but he also promised his mom he would be an usher for a charity wrestling event. Andrew comes clean with the girl, and she appreciates his on and that it's for charity. However, another problem arises: Instead of registering for being an usher, Dr. J signed up as a wrestler!

2 - 17 RELCUTANT HERO

After Andrew saves a young girl with his superpowers, Kirk, who simply stood by and watched - loses confidence in himself. In order to restore faith in himself, Andrew decides to tell Kirk the truth: He has Superpowers.

2 - 18 SPLIT DECISION

Andrew and Kirk try out for the two new VJ positions at NuRock radio TV, and get them! They gain many fans and become popular, but the station is still a business, and because of budget cuts - one of them has to be let go. Andrew and Kirk spend the next week competing with each other, but is it really worth it?

2 - 19 MISFIRE

Dr. J is testing an invention that allows parts of the brain that are not usually active, and Andrew wants to give it a try, but Dr. J says it isn't ready yet. Andrew puts it on anyway, and when he arrives at the ski slopes for a great time with Kirk and a couple of female "friends", he starts to float and superspeed uncontrollably! Can Andrew work things out with the girl he likes and with his superpowers?

2 - 20 WHITE LIES

When Daniel wants to become a great reporter to impress Cassie - the editor of the school newspaper - he decides to add his own twists to not-so-amazing events. Andrew finds Daniel wrote in the paper Andrew has a fantasy of being able to fly. Even though he secret is safe, everybody now thinks Andrew is crazy!

2 - 21 OFF THE RECORD

Cassie Martin is at it again. The newspaper reporter is taking peoples words and actions out of context, and everybody in school turns on her. After coming to her sense and apologizing to everybody, Cassie gets food thrown in her face. Andrew, symphthizing with her comes to her aid and hopes to make her reputation worthy again.

2 - 22 BEST FRIENDS

Kirk gets he and Andrew a job at Licks, a local burger joint to pay for tickets to a Rock 'n' Roll revival. Kirk promptly falls in love with Paula and begins neglecting his friendship with Andrew in favour of his new girlfriend. Andrew also acquires a new girlfriend Lauren.

2 - 23 MORE THAN MEETS THE EYE

When Andrew stops a young boy from stealing food from the grocery store with his superpowers, he feels proud that he's fighting crime. What he dosen't realize is that maybe this boy didn't steal because he didn't want to pay - but because he couldn't pay.

2 - 24 SEEMS LIKE ONLY YESTERDAY

The Rocket -- roller-skating rink and premiere hangout for the citizens of Briarwood.

3 - 1 GROUND CONTROL

3 - 2 TRADING PLACES

After Stephanie is fed up with not being able to have fun the way she wants to, Dr. J suggest hypnosis. After Andrew and Kirk walk in on them in the middle of the session, Andrew and Kirk get hypnotised as well! Now Andrew is acting like Kirk, and Kirk is acting like Andrew! Stephanie isn't doing very well either, as she's gone off and sold the car as well as spent tons of money on clothes!

3 - 3 DROP OUT

Andrew and Kirk both take career direction tests, and Kirk only scores high in engineering. Kirk decides it's best to put that skill to use by dropping out of school and riding Motocross full-time. When Andrew uses his powers to save Kirk from crashing, Kirk let's it go to his head and decides to go professional. Kirk idol, a Motocross champion reveals to Kirk how he learned alot about riding from high school physics, will Kirk decide to stay at school or pursue his Motocross career?

3 - 4 SOUR GRAPES

When Dr. J is invited to have his synthetic wine tested in France, he lets Andrew and Kirk come along. While they are having the times of their lives, Dr. J finds out that somebody is out to get him, and ensure that his wine will never be tasted.

3 - 5 FIRST LOVE

Andrew falls in love with a 19 year old musician. All seems well, until he finds out that she is bound for Chile!

3 - 6 NOVEL IDEA

3 - 7 DAVID'S DREAM

David has a inoperable tumour in his brain who has a dream to fly in a F-16. Dr. J calls his friend who is a general in the army and gets offered a ride, but it conflicts with another event he wishes to attend: Andrew's wind-surfing race.

3 - 8 BUMP IN TIME

Andrew is late for his first day at work, and in a hurry to get there, runs into a tree and is knocked out. When Andrew awakens, he finds himself back in time in the 1960s. The adventures and friends Andrew meets there, prompts him to think about whether he really wants his job, or whether to assist Dr. J plant trees to help the environment instead.

3 - 9 CALENDER BOY

Kirk and Andrew manage to get backstage passes at a model show being held at their school. When one of the models is injured, Andrew is enlisted as his replacement. But while he is getting changed, the school photographer takes a picture of him and makes it into the year's school calendar! Andrew discovers instant popularity and money, but in the end has to make the choice of whether it's really worth it.

3 - 10 MOVING OUT

Andrew has been breaking curfew lately, and he defends himself by saying he is ready for more responsibility. When his mother's friend needs a housesitter for a month, Andrew wishes to be given the opportunity. When Stephanie reluctantly agrees, Andrew is overexcited and eager to take on the challenge. However, living alone may not be all it's cracked up to be.

3 - 11 TEEN HOT LINE

Andrew and Kirk volunteer at Dr. J's new Teen Hot Line: Help for kids, from other kids. Andrew tries to help a young boy named Julian, who has an abusive, alcoholic father - while Kirk befriends a wheelchair bound girl, whose father is too overprotective.

3 - 12 TRIAL BY PEERS

Andrew, while working a shift as a Valet, gets searched by two cops who have been investigating robberies of Valet customers. Andrew is found to have a key in his pocket and is given the choice of being tried in juvenile court, or a new program, Teen Court.

3 - 13 A LIFE IN THE DAY FOR DR. J

Andrew, Kirk, Stephanie, Erin and Mrs. Shellenbach all plan to throw a surprise party for Dr. J for his 40th birthday. However, Dr. J is also having a mid-life crisis. Dr. J is apologetic, but claims he doesn't have time left in his life to spend on trivial things like birthday parties. After testing out his new vertigo machine, he runs into the ghosts of Birthday past, present and future... who also all share a close resemblance to the Fonz, MC Hammer and Betelgeuse.

3 - 14 MY OTHER SECRET IDENTITY

Andrew wants to get a part in a movie so that he can meet his favourite actress - and kiss her! Impossible? Well, it seems that way when Andrew doesn't get the part. But then he has an idea... the only role left open is for a female, so he grabs some of Stephanie's clothes and auditions as Andrea! Oh and he gets the part. Things seem messy when Alana (the actress) discovers that there is an Andrew as well as an Andrea. Although Andrew gets found out at the end, it all becomes worth it, as he finally gets his kiss!

3 - 15 PIRATE RADIO

Classic Rock 108 is broadcasting from Briarwood high school, and Andrew and Kirk are not impressed with the musical selection. Andrew suggests to Kirk that the station should hire them to show how it's done.

3 - 16 FROM THE TRENCHES

The show begins with Andrew and Kirk sitting on the couch with bad colds, complaining. They decide to write down the means by which they got the colds, which, as it turns out, was a bad date brought on by trying too hard to impress some girls.

3 - 17 THE INVISIBLE DR. J

There's a new principle at Briarwood, sent there to curtail the discipline problem. In a botched attempt to impress him, Andrew and Kirk wind up on his bad side.

3 - 18 THREE MEN AND A SKULL

Dr. J's brother, Hartley, is in town after discovering what he believes to be the oldest human fossil. However, when Hartley entrusts the skull to Dr. J, a burgler switches the skull for a fake!

3 - 19 THE GREAT INDOORS

The Clements family is heading up to their cottage for the weekend to prepare it for its new owner. Dr. Jeffcoate is coming along to help, and Kirk is coming along for reasons unknown to anyone. At the last minute, and after some not-so-subtle hints, Mrs. Shellenbach gets herself invited along but turns it down because it's her weekend for serving on WHARP - Women's Helicopter Action Rescue Program.

3 - 20 DR. J'S BRAIN MACHINE

This episode was the first, last, and only clip show for MSI. While Andrew is helping Dr. J with a new invention that is intended to help people regain lost memories, lightning strikes and Andrew's memories are wiped. The episode concerns Dr. J's attempt to replace the memories by eight o'clock, when the two of them are expected at Erin's recital.

3 - 21 SLAVE FOR A DAY

Andrew helps his mom out by volunteering for the "Rent-a-slave" charity event. A middle-aged man bids extremely high for Andrew and after talking to the man, he finds out the man's daughter is very shy, and he wants Andrew to take her out on a date. After Andrew begins to fall in love with her, he tries to return the money the man paid for him, but Andrew's new love finds out! Can Andrew explain how much he cares about her and win her back?

3 - 22 BIG BUSINESS

Andrew gets a job with McCaffrey Advertising with one knob of a boss. After using his superpowers under the guise of special effects, he gets promoted to the position the girl he likes, Veronica, wanted. Can Andrew find a way to keep his job and encourage Veronica to go after her dreams as well?

3 - 23 MY OLD FLAME

In the middle of the school parking lot, Andrew runs into an old girlfriend, Krista. Trouble is, she's Kirk's girl now. Kirk becomes jealous of the existing relationship between Andrew and Krista, while they try to convince him they anything that felt for each other is long over.

3 - 24 A BANK, A HOLDUP, A ROBBER, AND A HERO.

Andrew, Erin, their mother, Dr. J and Kirk all witness a bank robbery; but they all seem to have a different take on what happened.

MY TIME TRAVEL JOURNEY WITH MARI

AKA: BOKU TO MARI NO JIKAN RYOKO

Tatsuo (Ishibashi) is an impoverished would-be private investigator, unable to find work anywhere but understandably troubled by the sudden appearance of a woolly mammoth in modern-day Tokyo. He is apparently the only person who can see what appears to be an exact double of himself, wearing clothes from the distant past. Could he be seeing a vision of one of his ancestors? Eventually, Tatsuo and his bewildered college girl companion Mari (Takase) are handed over to the Time Patrol, an enforcement organization whose 20th-century office operates out of an unassuming building in downtown Tokyo charged with preventing criminals from the future from ruining the space-time continuum. Before long, Tatsuo and Mari are associate members of the Time Patrol, journeying (predictable, considering the holding of Japanese TV prop departments) back to the Edo period.

They must also delve into the origins of superhero Ultraman (a thinly disguised ULTRAMAN homage), a comic book hero who seems to have been inspired by real life fugitives from the 24th Century. By the end, Tatsuo discovers the origins of the cosmic rays from the future that are bombarding the Earth and realizes that he has a pivotal part to play in the coming future.

Based on the story Time Agent (Jikan Agent) by SF author Sakyo Komatsu - his answer to Yasutaka Tsutsui's TIME TRAVELLER and Taku Mayumara's BAKUMATU TIME TRAVELLERS. The opening titles contained the animation by Sadao Tsukikoa, whose name appears on many of the 1960s anime, including Ken and the Wolf Boy.

WR. Hideyoshi Nagasaka.

DIR. Monoru Hanabusa, Kazuya Sato.

EPISODES: 4 YEAR MADE: 1980 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

NHK

CREATOR: SAKYO KOMATSU

TYPE OF SHOW: TIME TRAVEL

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 4

DATE OF PREMIER: 12/08/1980

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 15/08/1980

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Tatsuo MASATSUGO ISHIBASHI, Mari HARUNA TAKASE, JO SHISHIDO.

RELATED SHOWS:

BAKUMATSU TIME TRAVELERS

MYCENES, CELUI QUI VIENT DU FUTURAKA: MYCENES, HE WHO COMES FROM THE FUTURE

Mycenes, a robot android from the future, comes to learn about our era.

Originally slated for thirteen episodes, this series was cancelled after only two because of its low ratings and viewer's negative reactions. Stefen Wul is a major science fiction writer. Two of his novels were turned into animated features by Rene Laloux.

WR. Andre Michel, Louis Rognoni, Stefan Wul (ep.2 only)DIR. Francois ChatelEPISODES: 2 YEAR MADE: 1972 COUNTRY: FRA SEASONS: 1*ORTF 1CREATOR:*TYPE OF SHOW: TIME TRAVELFORMAT: SERIESLENGTH (MINS): 90 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: FrenchSEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 2DATE OF PREMIER: 29/01/1972AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 19/02/1972SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:*FILMS:

Mycenes ARMAND ABLANALP, DOMINIQUE LEVERD, CATHERINE CIRIEZ, JEAN COSTE, FREDERIC LAMBRE.

1 - 1 LA PLANETE FERMEE (THE CLOSE PLANET)

1 - 2 LA PISTE SANS ETOILES (THE STARLESS ARENA)

MYSTERIEUX DOCTEUR CORNELIUS, LEAKA: MYSTERIOUS DR. CORNELIUS, THE

Two millionaires, their families, and friends fight the evil schemes of the mad scientist Dr. Corenelius Kramm, his brother Fritz, and their secret organisation, the Red Hand, in a series of globe-spanning encounters.

Their was also a radio adaptation made, and the series was based on a novel by Gustave Le Rouge.

WR. Jean-Pierre Petrolacci, Jean-Daniel Simon, Pierre Nivollet.

DIR. Muarice Frdyland

EPISODES: 6 YEAR MADE: 1984 COUNTRY: FRA SEASONS: 1

ANTENNE-2 (A2) / RADIOTELEVISIONE ITALIANA (RAI) / RADIOTELEVISAO PORTUGUESA (RTP) / TELECIP

CREATOR: GUSTAV LE ROUGE

TYPE OF SHOW: MAD SCIENTISTS

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: French

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 6

DATE OF PREMIER: 16/09/1984

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 21/10/1984

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Cornelius Kramm GERARD DESARTHE, Fritz Kramm JEAN BOUISE, Harry Dorgan FRANCOIS ERIC GENDRON, Barruch Jorgell HUGUES QUESTER, William Drogan RENZO PALMER, Bondonnat ROBERT RIMBAUD, Isadora Jorgell CAROLINE SIHOL, Fred Jorgel GEORGES GERET, Joe Dorgan MAURICE VAUDAUX, Fredericque Bondonnat MARIA BLANCO, Andree de Maubreuil ANNE FONTAINE, M. de Mavreuil ENZO ROBUTTI, Lord Burydan JACQUES FRANCOIS, Léonello JEAN-JACQUES CHEP, Curmer MAX DOUCHIN, Arnold Stickman PIERRE FOREST, Mme Mac Barlott ELIANE MAAZEL, Fernando Lopez MICHEL NORMAN, José MARIO SANTINI, . M. Bondonnat ROBERT RIMBAUD, La reine des clochards ALICE SAPRITCH, L'aveugle/Blind Man DAVID GABISON, Ravenel DANIEL LANGLET, Pagannot HENRI MARTEAU, Oscar MICHEL MULLER, Le directeur de la banque FILIPE FERRER, Agenor JEAN LESCOT, CECILE CASULERAS, ANDRE COUTOURE, HENRI DELMAS, GERALD DENIZEAU, JOSE JORGE DUARTE, PAUL HEBERT, IDRIS, ALEXANDER KOUMPAN, ASDRUBAL PEREIRA, SARAH STERLING, SZYMON ZALESKI.

MYSTERIOUS DR. SATAN,THE

His plan, like most of serialdom's villains, is world domination. To do this he needs the remote control device that Shaw (by now typecast by Republic as the eccentric inventor) has perfected so as to be able to control his robots at a distance. Wilcox is the colourless masked hero, Copperhead, seeking to revenge his father's death at the hands of Cianelli, who episode after episode stops Cianelli completing the construction of the device. Cianelli's prime robot is played by lanky stuntman Tom Steele.

Best remembered for its charming, rather than frightening, robots, this gustily directed serial was greatly aided by the presence of the suave Cianelli, a veteran of many gangster films, in the title role. The serial was produced by Hiram S. Brown, the cinematographer was William Nobles and the special effects were created by Howard Lydecker.

WR. Franklyn Adreon, Ronald Davidson, Normal S. Hall, Joseph Poland, Sol Shor.

DIR. William Witney, John English.

EPISODES: 15 YEAR MADE: 1940 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

REPUBLIC

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: CRIME

FORMAT: CINEMA SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 5

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

EDUARDO CIANELLI, Copperhead ROBERT WILCOX, C. MONTAGUE SHAW, ELLA NEAL, DOROTHY HERBERT, CHARLES TROWBRIGE.

MYSTERIOUS ISLAND (1951)

Though, in typical serial fashion, this loose adaptation of Jules Verne's novel introduced a vast amount of new material, including Randle as a beautiful visitor from Mercury seeking to mine radioactive ore with which to blow up the Earth, it actually contains more of the original novel than any of the other four film versions (made in 1929, 1941, 1961 and 1972). Crane leads the Confederate troops who escape from a Union prison camp in 1865 and arrive on the mysterious island. There, with Penn's Captain Nemo, they put paid to Randle's schemes.

Predictably plotted and cheaply made, the serial remains quaintly appealing. A TV series based on Jules Verne novels was also made with the same name in 1994. The serial was produced by Sam Katzman and the cinematographer was Fayte Brown.

WR. Lewis Clay, Royal K. Cole, George H. Plympton.

DIR. Spencer G. Bennett.

EPISODES: 15 YEAR MADE: 1951 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

COLUMBIA

CREATOR: JULES VERNE

TYPE OF SHOW: LOST

FORMAT: CINEMA SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 15

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

RICHARD CRANE, MARSHALL REED, KAREN RANDLE, RALPH HODGES, GENE ROTH, LEONARD PENN.

RELATED SHOWS:

MYSTERIOUS ISLAND (1951)

MYSTERIOUS ISLAND (1955)

Mysterious Island was a series based upon the classic Jules Verne novel which was written in 1875. It tells the story of six prisoners of war in the American Civil War who manage to escape from a Confederate prison of war. They manage to flee in a hot air balloon, which takes them halfway across the globe before it crash-lands on a hostile island in the Pacific Ocean. The group of castaways consists of: Captain Cyrus Harding, a Union Army officer and engineer; Jack Pencroft; his wife Joanna; their teenage son Herbert Gideon Spilett, a journalist; and Neb Captain, Harding's devoted servant.

Several changes were made in the composition of the group of castaways from Verne's the original novel. In the novel there were only five people who escaped in the balloon. Joanna Pencroft was added for the TV series. In the novel Herbert Pencroft was Herbert Brown who was not Jack's son but rather a young friend of Jack's. In Verne's novel Cyrus Harding was named Cyrus Smith. The castaways find many dangers in their new home, some of the natural variety such as earthquakes and poison fruit. While other dangers come in the form of visitors to the island such as pirates and 'primitive' natives to the region. The biggest danger to the group comes from Captain Nemo, a character who is best remembered for his part in another Jules Verne novel, 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea.

Nemo sits in his submarine, the Nautilus, unseen by the castaways. He is able to watch their every move and hear almost everything they say. Nemo was responsible for their being on the island since he shot down their balloon in order to obtain subjects for his variety of experiments to study human behaviour. The castaways soon realise that someone is watching them and occasionally helping them out: they refer to this mysterious individual as the Phantom.

After establishing themselves on the island, the castaways set out to find the Phantom and learn who he is. In Verne's novel Nemo did not subject the castaways to the experiments. He did frequently come to their aid while trying to keep his existence a secret. In the end of the novel, Nemo dies after revealing himself to the castaways and giving them a means to return home.

Mysterious Island was an international co-production, financed by companies in Canada and New Zealand, where the series was produced. Gordon Micheal Woolvett would later go on to star in the SF series DEEP WATER BLACK (AKA MISSION GENESIS). The series was seen on the Family Channel in Canada, and on Sky One in the UK.

WR. Stephen Alix, Glenn Norman, Michelle Goodeve, Jim Purdy, Greg McGee, Susan Snooks, Scott Barrie, Peter Sharp, Arthur Baysting, Sean Ryerson, Stephen Batt, Barbara March, Jenine Dickins.

DIR. William Fruet, Peter Sharp, Mark Beesley, Chris Bailey, Ken Giorti, Christine Parker, John Laing.

EPISODES: 22 YEAR MADE: 1995 COUNTRY: NZ SEASONS: 1

CREATOR: JULES VERNE

TYPE OF SHOW: LOST

FORMAT: SERIES-SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 22

DATE OF PREMIER: 15/06/1995

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 09/11/1995

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Captain Cyrus Harding ALAN SCARFE, Jack Pencroft C DAVID JOHNSON (ep 1-8), Joanna Pencroft COLETTE STEVENSON, Gideon Spilett STEPHEN LOVETT, Herbert Pencroft GORDON MICHEAL WOOLVETT, Ned Brown ANDY MARSHALL (ep 1-6), Captain Nemo JOHN BACH, FRANK WHITTEN, KEVIN J. WILSON.

RELATED SHOWS:

MYSTERIOUS ISLAND (1951)

DEEPWATER BLACK

1 - 1 GENESIS

1 - 2 DOWN UNDER

1 - 3 SAFE HAVEN

1 - 4 WHITE WATER

1 - 5 A DEATH IN THE FAMILY

- 1 - 6 LOVE THY NEIGHBOUR
- 1 - 7 ALL THAT GLITTERS
- 1 - 8 THE PRICE OF VENGEANCE
- 1 - 9 THE PHANTOM'S LAIR
- 1 - 10 IT SHOULD BE AN ENGLISHMAN
- 1 - 11 NO ONE RULES ME
- 1 - 12 HE'S NOT HEAVY
- 1 - 13 MAKE YOURSELF A HOME
- 1 - 14 FIRST IMPRESSIONS ARE SKIN DEEP
- 1 - 15 GIDEON'S TALE
- 1 - 16 LAST RITES OF SPRING
- 1 - 17 LABOUR LOST
- 1 - 18 THE VISITOR
- 1 - 19 WHAT ARE YOU AFRAID OF?
- 1 - 20 PLAN AND ATTACK
- 1 - 21 A PACT WITH THE DEVIL
- 1 - 22 GOING, GOING..

MYSTERIOUS NEW STUDENT

AKA: NAZO NO TENKOSEI

Junior High School student Koichi Iawata (Takano) discovers that his new neighbor is also the new transfer student at the school. Norio Yamasawa (Hoshino) has a shiny blue star-shaped mark on his ear, and transfers into Koichi's class, where he excels at both studying and sports. However, only Koichi seems to notice that when he is confronted by school bullies, Norio is able to repel them with an invisible force.

Four other new students, also bearing the mysterious star mark, mystify Koichi's class teacher Otani with their excellent abilities and with their bizarre phobia of rain and the sound of jet engines overhead. Other schools all over Japan seem to have similar new arrivals, and Norio eventually confesses the truth to Koichi. He and his friends are refugees from the distant world of D-3, destroyed by nuclear war but they are preparing to leave D-15 (or "Earth") soon because it too is threatened with nuclear destruction. Norio and his associates leave but Norio soon returns in a pale and wan state - their next destination proved to be a location where refugees were not welcome, and only a few of them were able to evade the Refugee Hunters.

Norio's father Ichiro (Kyozo Kawabe) suggests they should live on Earth, and Norio's family eventually move to Osaka (where, the authors would like to point out, everybody is an alien). The remaining refugees scatter over the rest of Japan.

This is an adaptation of a novel by the same name by Taku Mayumura (see BAKUMATSU TIME TRAVELLERS). Produced by Tomoyoshi Hagiwara.

WR. Yuichiro Yamane.

DIR. Harou Yoshida, Kanae Kutsuzumi.

EPISODES: 9 YEAR MADE: 1975 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

NHK

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: ALIENS ON EARTH FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 25 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 9

DATE OF PREMIER: 17/11/1975 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 03/12/1975

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Koichi Iawata HIROYUKI TAKANO, MASAAKI MAEDA, TOSHIE TAKADA, Norio Yamasawa
TOSHIHARU HOSHINO, KAAI OKADA, Ichiro KYOZO KAWABE.

RELATED SHOWS:

BAKUMATSU TIME TRAVELERS

MYSTERIOUS PEN-FRIEND

AKA: MABOROSHI NO PEN-FRIEND

Junior High student Akihiko (Yamaga) believes he has lucked into the pen-friend of his dreams when he gets a letter from Reiko (S. Kato), an Osaka girl four years his senior who also sends along ten thousand yen. But a similar letter has been sent to his class mate Kumiko (Ikegami), and the suspicious Akihiko sends the money back, only to be informed that the return address does not exist. Another letter arrives from Reiko asking him for his clothes size, and Akihiko is surprised by some men in black, who photograph him before they are scared off by Kumiko.

Meanwhile, down in Osaka, Akihiko's father is convinced that he has seen his son's doppelganger walking into a local factory. Hearing that the mysterious Reiko is coming to visit, Akihiko and his brother Kazuhiko (Hironaka) go to the station to meet her. Akihiko evades capture by the men in black and returns home to find that a boy who looks exactly like him has arrived at his house. Captured and taken away in a flying truck, the real Akihiko finally meets Reiko, who turns out to be an android who resembles Megumi, a local shop girl whom Akihiko secretly loves. Reiko reveals that she and her fellow Inorganic Creatures have arrived from space and are plotting to rule the world by replacing children with Androids.

Kumiko is also captured as part of an experiment to learn more about human emotion, but Reiko has begun to understand the human point of view and switches sides. Other Androids decide to study human family under laboratory conditions and send men in black to kidnap the rest of Akihiko's family. They arrive to find that the police, tipped off by Akihiko, are waiting for them and escape in panic. Reiko leads Akihiko and Kumiko to safety before the factory explodes - the escaping androids have set it to self-destruct to cover their tracks.

Based on the novel of the same name by Taku Mayumura (see BAKUMATSU TIME TRAVELLERS), and resembling a juvenile version of The Stepford Wives. Series was produced by Masaharu Morita.

WR. Yoshiki Iwama

DIR. Kanae Kutsuzumi

EPISODES: 9 YEAR MADE: 1974 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

NHK

CREATOR: TAKU MAYUMURA

TYPE OF SHOW: ALIENS ON EARTH FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 25 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 9

DATE OF PREMIER: 15/04/1974 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 01/05/1974

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Akihiko YUJI YAMAGA, Kazuhiko MASAH HIRONAKA, KAZUO KATO, KAUKO AOKI, Kumiko KIMIKO IKEGAMI, Reiko SAYOKO KATO

Books Based on this series.

MYSTERIOUS PEN-FRIEND

TAKU MAYUMURA

RELATED SHOWS:

BAKUMATSU TIME TRAVELERS

MYSTERY FOE, THEAKA: KAIKI DAISAKUSENAKA: OPERATION MYSTERY

Five intrepid explorers search for the truth about mysterious legends and strange phenomena and find that the deepest mysteries are often those within the human mind.

In search for a new direction after the first ULTRAMAN series, Tsuburaya Productions commissioned a mystery drama focusing on "criminals who use science for nefarious purposes and the just people who protect science". The Science Research Institute (SRI) is a public-private partnership, whose members include the hotheaded athlete Kyosuke Misawa (Katsuro) and cool intellectual Shiro Maki (Kishida). They are aided by their assistant Hiroshi (Matsuyama) and token female secretary Saori (Kobashi).

The SRI missions amount to an intriguing collection of sci-fi ideas. In the first, The Man Who Walks through Walls, their quarry is a thief who has the ability to fade out of sight. In fact, he is found not to walk through walls at all, but instead owns a suit of retro-reflective material that allow him to apparently disappear - compare to the later "thermo-optic camouflage" of Ghost in the Shell. Other innovative ideas include inspired murder mysteries in the style of Sure Death, such as Killer Moth, in which the titular insect's wings are daubed with the typhoid bacillus as part of a deadly conflict between the executives of two rival car corporations. In Terror Telephone, hyper-sonic waves are sent down a phone line to induce spontaneous human combustion in whoever picks up the receiver.

The SRI also face up to modern ills, such as mistreatment of the elderly in Blue Blooded Woman and increased congestion on Japanese roads in Endless Speeding. With an eye on older audiences, OM concentrated not on simple good versus evil of most children's dramas, but on a motivations of it's wrongdoers. In Lullaby of Death, a boy inadvertently kills someone in the course of a series of experiments designed to save the life of his sister, who is dying from an incurable disease. In the penultimate episode, Kyoto for Sale, Maki falls in love with a girl called Miyako, who loves statues of Buddha. She is collecting signatures to "buy" Japan's old capital of Kyoto, in order to save its old-time streets from the advance of modernity. Though Maki sympathizes with Miyako (whose very name is a reference to Miyako - the old term for capital city), he sees her fitting a teleportation device onto a statue and realizes that it is she who is responsible for a number of mysterious thefts.

At the close of the 1960s, when the early promise of science was eclipsed by paranoia about its price in pollution and rapid change, OM's innovative and original scripts made it a masterpiece of early Japanese sci-fi. OM's distant modern descendants include NIGHT HEAD and Unsolved Cases.

The series was produced by Yasushi Morita and Koichi Noguchi.

Original Music by Hiroki Tamaki & Naozumi Yamamoto

Special Effects by - Tetsu Matoba special effects supervisor , Jun Oki special effects supervisor , Kazuo Sagawa special effects supervisor , Koichi Takano special effects supervisor.

WR. Shozo Uehara, Tetsuo Kinjo, Mamoru Sasaki, Bunzo Wakatsuki, Jun Fukuda, Shinichi Ichikawa.

DIR. Toshihiro Iijima, Hajime Tsuburaya, Akio Sanesoji, Toshitsugu Suzuki, Shigeo Nakagi, Suguru Nagano.

EPISODES: 26 YEAR MADE: 1968 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

TSUBURAYA PRODUCTIONS/ TBS

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO

FORMAT: SERIES

2832

MYSTERY FOE, THE

LENGTH (MINS): 25 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 26

DATE OF PREMIER: 15/09/1968 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 09/03/1969

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Kyosuke Misawa, HOMARE KATSURO, Shiro Maki SHIN KISHIDA, Hiroshi Nomura SHOJI
MATSUYAMA, Kiyoshi Matoya YASUMI HARA, Saori Ogawa REIKO KOBASHI, Inspector Taizô
Machida AKIJI KOBAYASHI.

RELATED SHOWS:

ULTRAMAN

NIGHT HEAD

- 1 - 9 GOLDEN BIRDS OF PREY
- 1 - 10 VISITORS FROM FALCONIA
- 1 - 11 THE DUEL
- 1 - 12 KINGDOM OF THE BEASTS
- 1 - 13 POPS IN A BOX
- 1 - 14 ISLAND OF THE APES
- 1 - 15 THE SKULL'S THE CLUE
- 1 - 16 HOME RUN

MYSTERY SCIENCE THEATRE 3000

AKA: MST3K

AKA: MST3000

The average guy is Mike Nelson (replacing janitor, Joel Robinson, played by creator Joel Hodgson, who escaped back to Earth), a hired temp blasted into space in the Satellite of Love, by his wicked bosses in Deep 13. As an ongoing experiment, they force him to watch lousy films and monitor his reactions. To remain cheerful - and sane - Mike heckles the screen from start to finish with the help of Gypsy, Tom Servo and Crow, three robots constructed from parts of the satellite.

We see the show from behind their seats in the cinema, seeing their silhouettes in the bottom of the screen and hearing their comments, drawn mostly from US pop culture, but also science, philosophy, history and current affairs. Three times during the film Mike and the bots are given a break when they do host segments and more send-ups to annoy the scientists, headed by Dr Clayton Forrester.

If you get together with a couple of friends and a few beers to watch a cheesy old sf or horror movie, what do you end up doing? Unless you're really intense, the odds are you start taking the mickey out of the movie - and that's a fun enough way to pass a hour or two. For the uninitiated, Mystery Science Theater 3000 (aka MST3K or MST3000) is like watching you and your mates watch a hoary old film. The only difference here is that the watchers are an average guy and his robot pals.

MST3K began in 1988, on an independent station, KTMA TV23, in Minneapolis, but reached true cult status on America's Comedy Central cable channel. There has also been a MST3K movie, based around This Island Earth. But seven seasons and 144 'episodes' later, declining ratings caused its cancellation. However, the Sci-Fi Channel stepped in to pick up the series for an eighth season, ordering 13 episodes for airing in 1997, in both the US and, for the first time, in Britain.

For the 8th Season the show was bought by the sci-fi channel, and the producers where asked only to show the really bad films, obviously because the sci-fi channel already show all the worst films ever made. It wasn't until 1998, 10 years after the show premiered that it was shown in Britain. The number of episodes made depends upon how you count them so in order to explain how we have worked out the number of episodes here is a list of the seasons and number of episodes.

- 1988-89 Season "Zero" (only seen on Minneapolis UHF station KTMA): 21 episodes (22, if you count the short pilot episode, which did not include a full movie and was never shown on TV.)
- 1989-90 Season One (The Comedy Channel): 13 episodes.
- 1990-91 Season Two (The Comedy Channel/Comedy Central): 13 episodes. (The Comedy Channel merged with Ha! to become Comedy Central during this season).
- 1991-92 Season Three (Comedy Central): 24 episodes.
- 1992-93 Season Four (Comedy Central): 24 episodes.
- 1993-94 Season Five (Comedy Central): 24 episodes.
- 1994-95 Season Six (Comedy Central): 24 episodes.
- 1995-96 Season Seven (Comedy Central): 6 episodes (7, if you count the special Turkey Day version of episode 701, which had the same movie theater sequences but a different set of host segments).
- 1997 Season Eight (The Sci-Fi Channel) 22 episodes.

The series won the prestigious Peabody Award in 1994, it has also been nominated several times for an Emmy and is a perennial Cable ACE award nominee. The head writer for the series was Michael J. Nelson, producer was Jim Mallon.

Emmy Award

Outstanding Individual Achievement in Writing for a Variety or Music Program - Nominated - "Mystery Science Theater 3000" (1988) - Michael J. Nelson (head writer), Trace Beaulieu, Paul Chaplin, Frank Conniff, Mike Dodge, Bridget Jones, Kevin Murphy, Mary Jo Pehl, Jim Mallon, Colleen Williams - (1995)

WR. Michael J. Nelson

DIR.

EPISODES: 185 YEAR MADE: 1988 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 11

A BEST BRAINS INC. PRODUCTION

CREATOR: JOEL HODGSON

TYPE OF SHOW: COMEDY

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 120 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 22, (2) 13, (3) 13, (4) 24, (5) 24, (6) 24, (7) 24, (8) 6, (9) 22, (10) 13 (11) 13

DATE OF PREMIER: 24/11/1988 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 12/09/1999

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS: MYSTERY SCIENCE THEATRE 3000.

Mike Nelson MICHAEL J. NELSON (1993-?) , Dr. Clayton Forrester (1988-96) /Crow T. Robo (1988-97)
TRACE BEAULICU, Tom Servo/Professor Bobo (1997-?) KEVIN MURPHY (1990-?) , Gypsy JIM MALLON (1989-97) , Crow T. Robot BILL CORBETT (1997-?), Gypsy PATRICK BRANTSEG (1997-?),
Pearl Forrester MARY JO PEHL (1995-?), Ned the Nanite PAUL CHAPLIN (1997-?), Joel Robinson JOEL
HODGSON (1988-93), TV's Frank FRANK CONNIFF (1990-95), Dr. Larry Erhardt (1988-90), Servo (1988)
J. ELVIS WEINSTEIN.

- 1 - 0 THE GREEN SLIME (unshown pilot)
- 1 - 1 INVADERS FROM THE DEEP
- 1 - 2 REVENGE OF THE MYSTERIANS
- 1 - 3 STAR FORCE: FUGITIVE ALIEN 2
- 1 - 4 GAMERA VS. BARUGAN
- 1 - 5 GAMERA
- 1 - 6 GAMERA VS. GOAS
- 1 - 7 GAMERA VS. ZIGRA
- 1 - 8 GAMERA VS. GUIRON
- 1 - 9 PHASE IV
- 1 - 10 COSMIC PRINCESS
- 1 - 11 HUMONOID WOMAN
- 1 - 12 FUGITIVE ALIEN
- 1 - 13 SST DEATH FLIGHT
- 1 - 14 MIGHTY JACK
- 1 - 15 SUPERDOME
- 1 - 16 CITY ON FIRE
- 1 - 17 TIME OF THE APES
- 1 - 18 THE MILLION EYES OF SU-MURO
- 1 - 19 HANGAR 18
- 1 - 20 THE LAST CHASE
- 1 - 21 LEGEND OF THE DINOSAUR
- 2 - 1 THE CRAWLING EYE
- 2 - 2 THE ROBOT VS. THE AZTEC MOMMY (with short COMMANDO CODY AND THE RADER MEN FROM THE MOON PART 1)

-
- 2 - 3 MAD MONSTER (with short COMMADO CODY PART 2)
 - 2 - 4 WOMEN OF THE PREHISTORIC PLANET
 - 2 - 5 THE CORPSE VANISHES (with short COMMANDO CODY PART 3)
 - 2 - 6 THE CRAWLING HAND
 - 2 - 7 ROBOT MONSTER (with short COMMANOD CODY PART 4,5)
 - 2 - 8 THE SLIME PEOPLE (with short COMMANDO CODY PART 6)
 - 2 - 9 PROJECT MOONBASE (with short COMMANDO CODY PART 7,8)
 - 2 - 10 ROBOT HOLOCAUST (with short COMMANDO CODY PART 9 (partial))
 - 2 - 11 MOON ZERO TWO
 - 2 - 12 UNTAMED YOUTH
 - 2 - 13 THE BLACK SCORPION
 - 3 - 1 ROCKETSHIP X-M
 - 3 - 2 THE SIDE HACKERS
 - 3 - 3 JUNGLE GODDESS (with short THE PHANTOM CREEPS PART 1)
 - 3 - 4 CATALINA CAPER
 - 3 - 5 ROCKET ATTACK USA (with short THE PHANTOM CREEPS PART 2)
 - 3 - 6 THE RING OF TERROR (with short THE PHANTOM CREEPS PART 3)
 - 3 - 7 WILD REBELS
 - 3 - 8 LOST CONTINENT
 - 3 - 9 THE HELLCATS
 - 3 - 10 KING DINOSAUR (with short X MARKS THE SPOT)
 - 3 - 11 FIRST SPACESHIP ON VENUS
 - 3 - 12 GODZILLA VS. MEGALON
 - 3 - 13 GODZILLA VS. THE SEA MONSTER
 - 4 - 1 CAVE DWELLERS
 - 4 - 2 GAMERA
 - 4 - 3 POD PEOPLE
 - 4 - 4 GAMERA VS. BARUGON
 - 4 - 5 STRANDED IN SPACE
 - 4 - 6 TIME OF THE APES
 - 4 - 7 DADDY-O (with short ALPHABET ANTICS)
 - 4 - 8 GAMERA VS. GOAS
 - 4 - 9 THE AMAZING COLOSSAL MAN
 - 4 - 10 FUGITVE ALIEN
 - 4 - 11 IT CONQUERED THE WORLD (with short SNOW THRILLS)
 - 4 - 12 GAMERA VS. GUIRON
 - 4 - 13 EARTH VS. THE SPIDER (with short USING YOUR VOICE)

-
- 4 - 14 MIGHTY JACK
- 4 - 15 TEENAGE CAVEMAN (with shorts AQUATIC WIZARDS & CATHING TROUBLE)
- 4 - 16 GAMERA VS. ZIGRA
- 4 - 17 VIKING WOMEN VS. THE SEA SERPENT (with short THE HOME ECONOMIC STORY)
- 4 - 18 STAR FORCE - FUGITIVE ALIEN II
- 4 - 19 WAR OF THE COLLOSAL BEAST (with short MR. B. NATURAL)
- 4 - 20 THE UNEARTHLY (with shorts POSTURE PALS & APPRECIATING OUR PARENTS)
- 4 - 21 SANTA CLAUS CONQUERS THE MARTIANS
- 4 - 22 MASTER NINJA I
- 4 - 23 THE CASTLE OF FU-MANCHU
- 4 - 24 MASTER NINJA II
- 5 - 1 SPACE TRAVELLERS
- 5 - 2 THE GIANT GILA MONSTER
- 5 - 3 CITY LIMITS
- 5 - 4 TEENAGERS FROM OUTER SPACE
- 5 - 5 BEING FROM ANOTHER PLANET
- 5 - 6 ATTACK OF THE GIANT LEECHES (with short: UNDERSEA KINGDOM)
- 5 - 7 THE KILLER SHREWS (with short JUNIOR RODEO DAREDEVILS)
- 5 - 8 HERCULES UNCHAINED
- 5 - 9 THE INDESTRUCTABLE MAN (with short: UNDERSEA KINGDOM PART 2)
- 5 - 10 HERCULES AGAINST THE MOON MEN
- 5 - 11 THE MAGIC SWORD
- 5 - 12 HERCULES AND THE CAPTIVE WOMEN
- 5 - 13 MANHUNT IN SPACE (with short GENERAL HOSPITAL PART 1)
- 5 - 14 TORMENTED
- 5 - 15 THE BEATNIKS (with short GENERAL HOSPITAL PART 2)
- 5 - 16 FIRE MAIDENS IN OUTER SPACE
- 5 - 17 CRASH ON THE MOONS (with short GENERAL HOSPITAL PART 3)
- 5 - 18 ATTACK OF THE EYE CREATURES
- 5 - 19 THE REBEL SET (with short JOHNNY AT THE FAIR)
- 5 - 20 THE HUMAN DUPLICATORS
- 5 - 21 MONSTER A GO-GO (with short CIRCUS ON FIRE)
- 5 - 22 THE DAY THE EARTH FROZE (with short HERE COMES THE CIRCUS)
- 5 - 23 BRIDE OF THE MONSTER (with short HIRED PART 1)
- 5 - 24 "MANAS" : THE HANDS OF FATE (with short HIRED PART 2)
- 6 - 1 WARRIOR OF THE LOST WORLD
- 6 - 2 HERCULES

-
- 6 - 3 SWAMP DIAMONDS (with short WHAT TO DO ON A DATE)
- 6 - 4 SECRET AGENT SUPER DRAGON
- 6 - 5 MAGIC VOYAGE OF SINBAD
- 6 - 6 EEGAH!
- 6 - 7 I ACCUSE MY PARENTS (with short THE TRUCK FARMER)
- 6 - 8 OPERATION DOUBLE 007
- 6 - 9 GIRL IN LOVERS LANE
- 6 - 10 THE PAINTED HILLS (with short BODY CARE AND GROOMING)
- 6 - 11 GUNSLINGER
- 6 - 12 MITCHELL
- 6 - 13 THE BRAIN THAT WOULDN'T DIE
- 6 - 14 TEEN-AGE STRANGLER (with short IS THIS LOVE?)
- 6 - 15 WILD, WILD WORLD OF BATWOMAN (with short CHEATING)
- 6 - 16 ALIEN FROM L.A.
- 6 - 17 THE BEGINNING OF THE END
- 6 - 18 THE ATOMIC BRAIN (with short WHAT ABOUT JUVENILE DELINQUENCY?)
- 6 - 19 OUTLAW (OF GOR)
- 6 - 20 RADAR SECRET OF THE SERVICE (with short LAST CLEAR CHANCE)
- 6 - 21 SANTA CLAUS
- 6 - 22 TEEN-AGE CRIME WAVE
- 6 - 23 VILLAGE OF THE GIANTS
- 6 - 24 12 TO THE MOON (with short DESIGN FOR DREAMING)
- 7 - 1 GIRLS TOWN
- 7 - 2 INVASION U.S.A. (with short A DATE WITH YOUR FAMILY)
- 7 - 3 THE DEAD TALK BACK (with short THE SELLING WIZARD)
- 7 - 4 ZOMBIE NIGHTMARE
- 7 - 5 COLOSSUS AND THE HEADHUNTERS
- 7 - 6 THE CREEPING TERROR
- 7 - 7 BLOODLUST (with short UNCLE JIM'S DAIRY FARM)
- 7 - 8 CODE NAME : DIAMOND HEAD (with short: A DAY AT THE FAIR)
- 7 - 9 THE SKY DIVERS (with short WHY STUDY THE INDUSTRIAL ARTS?)
- 7 - 10 THE VIOLENT YEARS (with short: YOUNG MAN'S FANCY)
- 7 - 11 LAST OF THE WILD HORSES
- 7 - 12 THE STARFIGHTERS
- 7 - 13 THE SINISTER URGE (with short: KEEPING CLEAN AND NEAT)
- 7 - 14 SAN FRANCISCO INTERNATIONAL
- 7 - 15 KITTEN WITH A WHIP

-
- 7 - 16 RACKET GIRLS (with short: ARE YOU READY FOR MARRIAGE?)
 - 7 - 17 THE SWORD AND THE DRAGON
 - 7 - 18 HIGH SCHOOL BIG SHOT (with short: OUT OF THIS WORLD)
 - 7 - 19 RED ZONE CUBA (with short: SPEECH)
 - 7 - 20 DANGER! DEATH RAY
 - 7 - 21 THE BEAST OF YUCCA FLATS (with shorts: MONEY TALKS and PROGRESS ISLAND, U.S.A.)
 - 7 - 22 ANGELS' REVENGE
 - 7 - 23 THE AMAZING TRANSPARENT MAN (with short: THE DAYS OF OUR LIVES)
 - 7 - 24 SAMSON VS. THE VAMPIRE WOMEN
 - 8 - 1 NIGHT OF THE BLOOD BEAST (with short: ONCE UPON A HONEYMOON)
 - 8 - 2 THE BRUTE MAN (with short: THE CHICKEN OF TOMORROW)
 - 8 - 3 DEATHSTALKER AND THE WARRIORS FROM HELL
 - 8 - 4 THE INCREDIBLE MELTING MAN
 - 8 - 5 ESCAPE 2000
 - 8 - 6 LASERBLAST
 - 9 - 1 REVENGE OF THE CREATURE
 - 9 - 2 THE LEECH WOMAN
 - 9 - 3 THE MOLE PEOPLE
 - 9 - 4 THE DEADLY MANTIS
 - 9 - 5 THE THING THAT COULDN'T DIE
 - 9 - 6 THE UNDEAD
 - 9 - 7 TERROR FROM THE YEAR 5000
 - 9 - 8 THE SHE CREATURE

In a bid to rescue Pearl and Bobo from the clutches of the Observers, Mike takes drastic action.

- 9 - 9 I WAS A TEENAGE WEREWOLF
- 9 - 10 THE GIANT SPIDER INVASION
- 9 - 11 "PARTS": THE CLONUS HORROR
- 9 - 12 THE INCREDIBLY STRANGE CREATURES WHO STOPPED LIVING AND BECAME MIXED-UP ZOMBIES
- 9 - 13 JACK FROST
- 9 - 14 RIDING WITH DEATH
- 9 - 15 AGENT FOR H.A.R.M.
- 9 - 16 PRINCE OF SPACE
- 9 - 17 HORROR OF PARTY BEACH
- 9 - 18 DEVIL DOLL
- 9 - 19 INVASION OF THE NEPTUNE MOON
- 9 - 20 SPACE MUTINY
- 9 - 21 TIME CHASERS

- 9 - 22 OVERDRAWN AT THE MEMORY BANK
- 10 - 1 THE PROJECTED MAN
- 10 - 2 PHANTOM PLANET
- 10 - 3 PUMA MAN
- 10 - 4 WEREWOLF
- 10 - 5 THE DEADLY BEES
- 10 - 6 THE SPACE CHILDREN
- 10 - 7 HOBGOBLINS
- 10 - 8 THE TOUCH OF SATAN
- 10 - 9 GORGO
- 10 - 10 THE FINAL SACRIFICE
- 10 - 11 DEVIL FISH
- 10 - 12 THE SCREAMING SKULL
- 10 - 13 QUEST FOR THE DELTA KNIGHTS
- 11 - 1 SOULTAKER
- 11 - 2 THE GIRL IN GOLD BOOTS
- 11 - 3 MERLIN'S SHOW OF MYSTICAL WONDERS
- 11 - 4 FUTURE WAR
- 11 - 5 BLOOD WATERS OF DR. Z
- 11 - 6 BOGGY CREEK II
- 11 - 7 TRACK OF THE MOON BEAST
- 11 - 8 THE FINAL JUSTICE
- 11 - 9 HAMLET (1960)
- 11 - 10 IT LIVES BY NIGHT
- 11 - 11 HORRORS OF SPIDER ISLAND
- 11 - 12 SQUIRM
- 11 - 13 DANGER: DIABOLIK

MYSTERY SHIP,THE

This serial recounts the adventures of Betty Lee and Miles Gaston (Gerber and Wilson), a relationship that starts in a hostile manner as he tries to sink her boat but ends with them as lovers. In the process, her fiancée (Worne) becomes a villain. He steals her father's map showing the location of a treasure and tries to murder her. A mysterious stranger, eventually revealed to be her father (De Bruillier), emerges to save Betty and Miles from various nasty situations - the phantom rescuer uses an armour-plated ship and other scientific marvels such as a laser-like energy ray and an electric spray gun that paralyses people caught in its shower of sparks. The happy end restores wealth, a lover and a father to Gerber.

The first serial starring the popular duo Wilson and Gerber. They teamed up for half a dozen pictures including THE BRANDED FOUR and THE SCREAMING SHADOW (both 1920). Co-directed by John Ford's brother Francis.

Moore, responsible for the special effects, was Universal's technical director. He designed and supervised the construction of the armour-clad cruiser which is so automated that one single person can handle all its functions from a gadget-ridden turret-cupola. Worne, the villain, later directed some of the Wilson and Gerber serials as well as NAN OF THE NORTH (1921), which was produced by Wilson but didn't feature the two popular performers. Ford's career also remained entangled with that of the Wilson and Gerber team: he directed Worne in The Craving (1918) and also signed his name to the last of the duo's serials, OFFICER 444 (1926). The special effects were created by Milton Moore.

WR. William Parker, Elaine Pearson.

DIR. Francis Ford (O'Fearn), Harry Harvey.

EPISODES: 18 YEAR MADE: 1917 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

UNIVERSAL

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: SCIENCE

FORMAT: CINEMA SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 18

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Miles Gaston BEN WILSON, Betty Lee NEVA GERBER, DUKE WORNE, ELSIE VAN NAME, KINGSLEY BENEDICT, NIGEL DE BRUILLER, GRAVE CUNARD, FRANCIS FORD.

MYSTIC KNIGHTS OF TIR NA NOG

When Queen Maeve threatens to destroy the ancient land of Kells with evil sorcery, four brave warriors: Rohan, Angus, Ivar and Princess Deirdre of Kells call upon their elemental forces of Fire, Earth, Water and Air to become the Mystic Knights of Tir Na Nog and defend Kells from Maeve's cruel magic and monsters. There is also a fifth Mystic Knights which joins the other knights in their quest later on in the series, this time the Knight of the Forest.

After the know lacklustre success of the latest shows in the Power Rangers saga, such as POWER RANGERS IN SPACE and POWER RANGERS LOST GALAXY, and the cancellations of shows such as BIG BAD BEETLEBORGS. Carl Saban and his team were looking for another idea to exploit, this time they went to Ireland and used the legend of Tir Na Nog, as their basis for a TV series.

In a very similar vain to the first series of THE MIGHTY MORPHIN' POWER RANGERS, the show made a total of 52 episodes for the first series, but all of the sequences within the show are original and not based on Japanese shows as has been previously done. The series first hit British screen on ITV in mid-1999. The series got off to a poor start when after only showing a couple of episode the series switched time slots, until it found a permanent time slot in the Saturday morning time.

The series was produced by Robert Hughes and Haim Saban, cinematography was by James Mathers

WR.

DIR.

EPISODES: 50 YEAR MADE: 1998 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

SHARMIST, SABAN INTERNATIONAL

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: FANTASY

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 50

DATE OF PREMIER: 12/09/1998 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 07/05/1999

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Rohan/Mystic Knight of Fire LOCHLAINN O'MEARAIN, Princess Deirdre/Mystic Knight of Air LISA DWAN, Prince Ivar/Mystic Knight of Water JUSTIN PIERRE, Angus/Mystic Knight of Earth VINCENT WALSH, King Conchobar STEPHEN BRENNAN, Queen Maeve CHARLOTTE BRADLEY, King Fin Varra PEADAR LAMB, Garrett/Mystic Knight of Forest BEN PALMER, Cathabad BARRY CASSIN, Mider NED DENNEHY, Tork GERRY O'BRIEN, Clive BARRY CASSIN, Aideen the Fairy KELLY CAMPBELL.

RELATED SHOWS:

MIGHTY MORPHIN' POWER RANGERS, THE (inc. THE MIGHTY MORPHIN' ALIEN RANGERS)

VR TROOPERS

BIG BAD BEETLEBORGS

POWER RANGERS ZEO

POWER RANGERS IN SPACE

POWER RANGERS TURBO

BEETLEBORGS METALLIX

POWER RANGERS LOST GALAXY

- 1 - 2 TIR NA NOG
- 1 - 3 THE FIRE DRAGON OF DARE
- 1 - 4 TASH HOUNDS OF TEMRA
- 1 - 5 IVAR AND THE SEA SERPENT
- 1 - 6 THE WOLF IN THE ROCKS
- 1 - 7 THE TAMING OF PYRE PART 1
- 1 - 8 THE TAMING OF PYRE PART 2
- 1 - 9 DRAGANTA
- 1 - 10 WAR OF THE LITTLE PEOPLE
- 1 - 11 DRAGONS FURY
- 1 - 12 TYRUNE
- 1 - 13 TYRUNE RETURNS
- 1 - 14 AIDEEN AND THE STONE PRINCESS
- 1 - 15 BATTLE OF THE DRUIDS
- 1 - 16 QUEEN DEIRDRE
- 1 - 17 NIGHT OF THE SPIRITS
- 1 - 18 AIDEEN'S CHOICE
- 1 - 19 DIVIDE AND CONQUER
- 1 - 20 EYE OF THE BEHOLDER
- 1 - 21 GARRETT AND THE PRINCESS
- 1 - 22 TRAITOR OF KELLS
- 1 - 23 THE FIFTH KNIGHT
- 1 - 24 THE MYSTIC KNIGHT OF FOREST
- 1 - 25 EGG OF THE DRAGON
- 1 - 26 THE DRAGEEN
- 1 - 27 A KINGS RANSON
- 1 - 28 TRIAL OF ANGUS
- 1 - 29 GIANT TORC
- 1 - 30 MAEVE VS. MIDAR
- 1 - 31 IVAR'S REVENGE
- 1 - 32 KING'S BRIDE
- 1 - 33 ALL KINGS GREAT AND SMALL
- 1 - 34 THE WISH
- 1 - 35 THE LOST KING
- 1 - 36 FRIENDS FOR LIFE
- 1 - 37 THE PRISONER
- 1 - 38 SHIP WRECKED

- 1 - 39 ROHAN'S DOUBT
- 1 - 40 THE BARROW OF BALIN
- 1 - 41 THE CURSE OF THE KELLS
- 1 - 42 THE BUCKLER OF BRE
- 1 - 43 MIDAR, KING OF THE TEMRA
- 1 - 44 DARK RIDER
- 1 - 45 THE WARRIORS OF TEMRA
- 1 - 46 BATTLE FURY
- 1 - 47 LUGAD'S CHALLENGE
- 1 - 48 THE MARK OF DESTINY
- 1 - 49 THE QUEEN MOTHER
- 1 - 50 KNIGHT IN THE FOREST
- 1 - 51 THE FINAL BATTLE
- 1 - 52 BANISHED

MYTHQUEST

Matt Bellows scanned a strange and rare artifact, the Gorgos stone to add to his Cyber Museum. In doing so, the stone disappeared into the myth worlds and the evil God, Gorgos was released wanting revenge on the Gods that trapped him in the stone, by way of erasing and changing the myths. Matt entered the world of the myths to stop him. Matt's two teenage children, Alex and Cleo figured out what happened and are searching for their father. Each time they touch the Cyber Museum screen, they are taken directly into the myth and take on the persona of a person of that time, eg Orpheus. Together, they search for their father, learning more and more about the ancient myths, learning about themselves as well.

MythQuest is a Canadian television series that originally aired on PBS in 2001. It stars Meredith Henderson and Christopher Jacot as Cleo and Alex Bellows, two teens whose father Matt disappears into the Cybermuseum, a computer program that, as they discover, allows them to travel into myths by touching an artifact on the screen.

They become characters in the myths, and (unlike in most programs and movies) strive to keep the myth to its normal progression; a difficult task when confronted by Gorgos, a trickster god who appears in each myth to try to change it. Alex's initial journey into the Cybermuseum is an accident, but soon they both begin searching for their father within the myths. Later, Cleo develops a tracking program to make it easier for them to decide which artifacts to touch.

The series is not currently available on DVD or video. However, there have been novels adapted from the first two episodes, written by children's authors Dan Danko and Tom Mason.

Series Produced by Rhonda Baker supervising producer, David Braun executive producer, Kevin DeWalt executive producer , James Margellos supervising producer, Josh Miller producer , Morrie Ruvinsky co-executive producer , Ray Sager producer , Wolfram Tichy executive producer , Knut Winkler producer.

Series Original Music by Micki Meuser.

Series Cinematography by Richard Wincenty.

Series Film Editing by Jackie Dzuba & Charles Robichaud.

Series Casting by Carmen Kotyk.

Series Production Design by John Blackie & Sheila Haley.

Series Art Direction by Kathy McCoy (5 episodes, 2001) , Bill Ives.

Series Set Decoration by K.J. Johnson (5 episodes, 2001) and Janice Blackie-Goodine.

Series Costume Design by Cathy McComb (5 episodes, 2001) & Lizzie McGovern.

Series Makeup Department - Michael Devanney key makeup artist , Tracy George key makeup artist , Harlow MacFarlane special makeup effects artist , Debra Planidin-Turcios key hair stylist, Christ Stanley special makeup effects artist.

Series Production Management - Marco Mehlitz production supervisor & Joe Thornton production manager.

Series Second Unit Director or Assistant Director - Dwain Dupley . second assistant director, Joanne Gerein . first assistant director , Alfie Kiernan . first assistant director, Matt Maloney . second assistant director , Joe Thornton . second unit director , Kym Trowell . third assistant director.

Series Art Department - Jay Robertson . property master (5 episodes, 2001) , Roger Roscoe . assistant property master (5 episodes, 2001) , Sean Blackie . assistant set decorator, John Dambrauskas . greens coordinator, Jordan Dobbie . on-set props , Laurie Dobbie . assistant property master , Dean Goodine . property master: Calgary, Amber Humphries . set decoration buyer, Tom Johnson . paint coordinator, Duane E. Martin . on-set dresser , Sara McCudden . assistant decorator, Shayne Metcalfe . art department assistant, Danny Scavuzzo . scenic carpenter , Bruce Shibley . assistant art director , Jordy Wihak . on-set props, Dan Wright . first assistant art director.

Series Sound Department - Jeff Hamon . sound editor , Mike Markiw . second unit: boom operator , Evan Rust . dialogue editor / sound re-recording mixer , Warren St. Onge . sound recordist , Dan Tauber . boom operator.

Series Special Effects by Ryan 'Big Show' Bobert . first assistant special effects and Maurice Routly . special effects coordinator.

Series Visual Effects by Thorsten Binte . digital visual effects supervisor, Jarrett Craig . assistant camera: visual effects unit, Petra Decker . animation artist, Scott Dobbie . CGI animator, Shelli Hau . visual effects coordinator, Mark Kolpack . visual effects producer , Thomas Mandl . visual effects producer , Martin Mueller . digital compositor , Thomas Mulack . head of production: effectory Filmeffekte GmbH, Stephanie Powell . visual effects supervisor , Markus Schneider . compositing artist, Adina Wernstedt . digital compositor.

Series Stunts - Daniel Ford Beavis . stunt performer, Tammy Rae Beltrami . stunt performer, Kirk Jarrett . stunt coordinator , Shawn C. Orr . utility stunts , Rick Skene . stunt coordinator.

Series Other crew - Stephan Fuchs . producer intern (7 episodes, 2001) , Jennifer Gelowith . production secretary (5 episodes, 2001) , Brenda Kulvietis . auditor (5 episodes, 2001) , Tannis McDonald . production coordinator (5 episodes, 2001) , Alison Rigby . best boy grip (5 episodes, 2001) , Carey Toner . steadicam operator (3 episodes, 2001).

Andrea Baker . extras casting, Andrew Bako . still photographer , Ian Barr . creative consultant, David Benning . production assistant , Simon Broderick . junior colorist , Devora Brown . wardrobe trainee, Peter Christensen . electrician, Mark Dobrescu . camera operator, Lisa Donahue . production executive , Kevin Fyhn . transportation and picture vehicles coordinator, Schane Godon . assistant camera , Jill Heather . assistant production coordinator, Gillian Horvath . creative consultant, Betia Hovedskov . extras casting, Marcus Hüholt . location manager: Europe, Kirk Jarrett . animal trainer , Flo Krisko . animal trainer , Donna Lettow . script coordinator , Kevin Lheritier . grip , Marilyn Lindsay . trainee production coordinator ,

Kelly McCoshen . production coordinator , Lorne Miess . dailies colorist , Peter Mohan . creative consultant , Jennifer Omoth . payroll accountant , Coleman Robinson . transportation coordinator, Corey Robson . second assistant camera , Claudio Sepulveda . final colorist: Northwest Imaging & FX , Jenny Thomson . camera trainee , David Vernerey . best boy electric , Lienhard Wawrzyn . producer: creative storyline, Alexander M. Wood . first assistant editor.

WR. Gillian Horvath (3 episodes, 2001) , Jeffrey Cohen, Tracey Forbes , Jeanne Heal , Peter Mohan, Morrie Ruvinsky , Barbara Sapergia , Thomas E. Szollosi.

DIR. Stefan Scaini (1 episode, 2001) , Manfred Guthe , Nicholas Kendall , Rob W. King , Paul Schneider

EPISODES: 13 YEAR MADE: 2001 COUNTRY: CAN SEASONS: 1

DAVID BRAUN PRODUCTIONS, MINDS EYE ENTERTAINMENT, MYTHQUEST PRODUCTIONS INC, TI-ME FILMS UND TV PRODUKTIONS GMBH, VIF BABELSBERGER FILMPRODUCKTION GMBH & CO. DRITTE KG

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: TIME TRAVEL

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 13

DATE OF PREMIER: 25/08/2001

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 17/11/2001

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Jennie JESSICA HARVEY, David PEYSON ROCK, Arthurian Knight TROY RUDOLPH, Alex Bellows CHRISTOPHER JACOT, Matt Bellows JOSEPH KELLM Lily Bellows WENDY ANDERSON, Cleo Bellows MEREDITH HENDERSON, Mover KEVIN FOLEY, Detective Saybrook SHAUN JOHNSTON, Barbara Frazier LESLIE MALTON, Philthy BILL SWITZER, Max Asher MATTHEW WALKER.

1 - 1 THE MINOTUAR

Matt, the father of Cleo and Alex, accidentally disappears into a cyberworld. Later, Alex also disappears into a cyberworld just by touching the computer screen. Cleo sees him disappear and even sees everything going on in the mythical world he went to. Alex does come back, and they realize what must have happened to their father. Cleo and Alex decide they are going to have to go back to find their father.

Wr Morrie Ruvinsky

1 - 2 HAMMER OF THE GODS

Alex decides to go back into the mythical world in the hope of finding his father. This time he knew touching an object on the screen would take him there. By touching a different object, he goes to a different cyberworld. This time he ends up in a world of Gods. He makes it back... but didn't find his father, yet. They will have to try again next week.

In the meantime, their father is no longer being looked for as a missing person, but as a possible criminal. It was discovered that something disappeared from inside a statue. Some think he took whatever it is and fled. Only Cleo and Alex know what happened. Should they tell someone?

Wr Gillian Horvath

1 - 3 RED WOLF'S DAUGHTER

Alex has plans to go back to another mythical world in the hopes of finding his father, but this time, Cleo decides she wants to go. She doesn't want to just sit back and watch. Alex tells her she can't because of her paralysis, but she's determined to go anyway.

Against Alex's wishes, she wheels over to the magic screen and touches something. She disappears into a mythical world, but her wheel chair stays behind. Alex is very worried, until Cleo finds out she is no longer paralyzed.

She ends up in a world where 2 tribes are fighting to death, but she has the ability to stop the war. Alex tells her to come back, but she decides she has to help them first. Little did she know that helping would mean her death. She stopped the war by marrying the son of the opponents chief. She didn't know crossing the lake to go to the other side meant death.

Did she die? If you haven't seen this episode, you will have to wait to see if she is in the next one.

Wr Jeff Cohen

1 - 4 ORPHEUS

Still trying to find their missing father, this time their quest brings Alex back to Ancient Greece where he becomes Orpheus.

After his wife is bitten by a snake, Alex must go down into Hades to rescue her.

Wr Tom Szollosi

1 - 5 MINOKICHI

Their latest clue leads Alex and Cleo to Japan this time - right into the myth of Minokichi and the snow demon. While Alex is busy with an ice vampire and matters of the heart, Cleo learns more about her father's disappearance. She goes to her father's friend for advice on what exactly the Gorgos Stone is, and why she and Alex can't find any reference to Gorgos in any book.

Wr Tom Szollosi

1 - 6 SIR CARADOC AT THE ROUND TABLE

Afraid that his mother is playing Guenivere to Detective Saybrook's Lancelot, Alex heads for Camelot. As Sir Caradoc (in a variation of the story Sir Gawain and the Green Knight), he is determined to keep Lancelot and Guenivere apart, even if it means changing the myth in the process.

Wr Gillian Horvath

Dir Stefan Scaini

1 - 7 THE DOPPELGANGER

After touching a mirror, Alex finds himself transported to 19th century Italy and is horrified to find that he is not the hero of the myth, but rather the doppelganger of the painter Giacomo. When he figures out that his mere presence is slowly killing the real Giacomo, Alex is determined to set things right and not let an innocent man die. But after helping Giacomo, Alex returns home and finds out that he has brought someone with him - a doppelganger of his own!

Wr Jeff Cohen

1 - 8 THE ORACLE

Although Alex is disillusioned and unwilling to go back into the myths, Cleo hasn't given up hope. Researching, she reads about the Oracle of Delphi and thinks that if they go to her, they might find out something about their dad. Alex doesn't want to co-operate so she goes in herself and finds herself only to find that Cleo isn't a pilgrim but rather the Oracle herself. But when she has a vision of her own death by her guards, it becomes a race against time to find the scroll and escape.

Wr Gillian Horvath & Jeff Cohen

1 - 9 ISIS & OSIRIS (PART 1 OF 2)

Still skeptical whether Cleo actually saw something as the Oracle or if it was just her imagination, Alex nevertheless agrees to go into an Egyptian myth and look for the sarcophagus Cleo saw her father by in her vision. Once there, Alex finds himself as Osiris, the king of the Egyptian gods. Unfortunately, he arrives right in the middle of a plot by his jealous brother Set to kill him and discovers the very thing he is looking for is the thing he must stay away from if he wants to stay alive.

Wr Tracy Forbes

1 - 10 ISIS & OSIRIS (PART 2 OF 2)

Wr Morrie Ruvinsky & Tom Szollosi

1 - 11 BLODEUWEDD

Acting on information from their father, Alex and Cleo enter a myth chart program onto the computer and discover that there are missing links that should be there. Alex goes into the myth hoping to find the Gorgos stone, but instead discovers that the myth is collapsing upon itself and the Gorgos stone is to blame. Barely getting out on time, they realize that the Gorgos stone is responsible for the missing myths and that if they don't do something to stop it, the whole world might change. Using the information from the computer, Cleo plots the trajectory of the Gorgos stone and discovers where it will be next. Even though Alex warns her against it, Cleo goes in and becomes the Lady Blodeuwedd, who may or may not have murdered her husband with the help of her lover. With the sentence of death hanging over her head, and no idea of what really happened, Cleo must prove her innocence with only the help of her lawyer when even her dead husband is testifying against her.

Wr Peter Mohan

1 - 12 THE BLESSING

Winning a weekend ski-trip getaway only reminds Cleo of all the things she cannot do, restricted to a wheelchair. Alex and his friend taking the trip for her, Cleo stays at home where her mother gives her a box, hoping to shake her out of her depression. Curious about the artifact, Cleo touches it onscreen and is transported to a myth where she is a woman who has lost much and loses more, only to gain it back in the end.

Wr Barbara Sapergia

1 - 13 QUETZALCOATL

Wr Jean Heal

NAN OF THE NORTH

Like The Invisible Ray (1920) and other plots set in motion by the discovery of a powerful source of energy, this serial tells of a scientist who dies before he is able to tell the world about his extraordinary find: a meteor that struck the Earth contains titano, a substance containing unlimited energy. A woman, Nan (Little) travelling through the frozen north with her dogsled stumbles across the scientist's corpse and learns about the substance from his report. A copy of the report has fallen into the hands of a Yukon gang of thieves, and the heroine's adventures are triggered by the competition between her, assisted by the local constable (Clapham), and the villain (Girard) and his gang.

Set in the snowy wastes around Dawson City, there are some spectacular location shots as well as an impressive blizzard sequence to liven up the action, making it as much a western as a Science Fiction movie.

The creative input for this serial was provided by the people responsible for the successful Wilson and Gerber serials (THE BRANDED FOUR and THE SCREAMING SHADOW , both 1920 and directed by Worne) with Wilson producing instead of starring. Some of the actors encountered in their famous serials also appeared here: Girard again played the villain while Crampton, also a villain in previous outings, took the part of a shady store owner. The serial was produced by Ben Wilson.

WR. Karl R. Coolidge.

DIR. Duke Worne

EPISODES: 15 YEAR MADE: 1921 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

ARROW PICTURES

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: CRIME

FORMAT: CINEMA SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 15

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Nan ANN LITTLE, LEONARD CLAPHAM, JOSEPH GIRARD, HAL WILSON, HOWARD CRAMPTON, J. MORRIS FOSTER, EDITH STOYART.

RELATED SHOWS:

SCREAMING SHADOW, THE

BRANDED FOUR, THE

NANASE AGAIN

AKA: NANASE FUTATABI

Nanase (Takigawa) is a telepath, forced to stay constantly on the move for fear the people will discover her ability to read minds. One rainy night on a train, she meets two boys with similar powers. Tsuneo (Horiuchi) is a clairvoyant who predicts the train will meet with a terrible accident, while Norio (Niigaki) is an empath who confirms he is telling the truth. Trusting in their beliefs, the children escape from the train moments before it crashes. On the run from Norio's stepmother, who believes they are sorcerers, the trio hide out in Tokyo where they befriend bar worker Henry (Isley).

Thought hardly inconspicuous (three unaccompanied children with a towering black man!), the group travel to Hokkaido, where they are able to prevent a would be murderer from slaying his girlfriend. There, they meet Fujiko (Murachi), a girl who has no extrasensory powers but who reveals that she is a time traveller from the future.

Travelling into the past, Fujiko discovers that the trio are all descended from a family of telepaths who flourished in Hokkaido 500 years earlier. Pursued in the present by journalist Yamamura (Takahashi), the group beg him to leave them alone and not to sensationalize their plight. Touched, he agrees to help them instead and takes Nanase to Macao, where she hopes to win the money to buy the land where the children want to live in Hokkaido. However, Yamamura is kidnapped by the casino owner, who is assembling a posse of terrorists who specialize in slaying telepaths. Nanase rescues Yamamura and escapes to Japan with Princess Henide, a girl she meets at the casino, but the terrorists are intent on pursuing them and wiping the telepaths out.

Based on the series of books by TIME TRAVLLER creator Yasutaka Tsutsui - compare to INFARED MUSIC. Some of the earlier Nanase stories have been published in English as Portriats of Eight Families, later retitled What the mind Saw. The series was also remade as a Thursday Ghost Story. Theme: Yoshikazu Fukano - "Hyacinth wa Doko ni" (Where is the Hyacinth?). The series was produced by Kanae Mayuzumi.

WR. Yoshio Ishido.

DIR. Minoru Hanabusa, Harou Yoshida, Kazuya Stao.

EPISODES: 13 YEAR MADE: 1979 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

NHK

CREATOR: YASUTAKA TSUTSUI

TYPE OF SHOW: TIME TRAVEL

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 13

DATE OF PREMIER: 06/08/1979

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 18/08/1979

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Nanase YUMI TAKIGAWA, Norio YOSHITAKA NIIGAKI, Henry ALEXANDER ISLEY, Tsuneo MASAMI HORIUCHI, FUMIAKI SAKABE, HAJIME NAKAJIMA, Fujiko HIROMI MURACHI, Yamamura NAGAHIDE TAKAAHASHI.

RELATED SHOWS:

INFRARED MUSIC

NATIONAL KID

Determined not to be outdone by the MOONLIGHT MASK, NET commissioned this relatively expensive series from Toei. Though based on a story by Monoru Kisegawa, the premise was soon dragged in a new direction by the demands of sponsor National, the domestic brand name for the company better known abroad as Panasonic or Matsushita. So it was that the envoy from space who arrived to save the Earth from Venusian Aztec invaders and stayed on in later seasons to fight invading coelacanth monsters, underground invaders from the subterranean world of Hellstien, and finally aliens from the planet Mazeran, had a "laser gun" which looked suspiciously like a National products flashlight. However, thanks to National's heavy investment, National Kid was the first flying superhero in Japan's TV history.

The series was shown as 4 seasons, 4th August 1960 - 27th October 1960 (1) , 3rd November 1960- 29th December 1960 (2), 5th January 1961 - 23rd February 1961 (3), 2nd March 1961 - 27th April 1961 (4).

Produced by Kazuma Nesaka (producer) and Massamiti Sato (producer), Other crew - Daiji Kazumine (costume creator).

WR. Nagayoshi Akasaka, Daiji Kazumine

DIR. Nagayoshi Akasaka, Jun Kaoike

EPISODES: 39 YEAR MADE: 1960 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 4

TOEI COMPANY LTD.

CREATOR: DAIJI KAZUMINE

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 39

DATE OF PREMIER: 04/07/1960

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 27/04/1961

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Tomohiro KAZUO HARA, HIDEYO KIMURA, Professor Hata/National Kid ICHIRO KOJIMA, MIDORI OKADA, KOJI OMORI, Kioko SHIKA SAITO, Tyako TAEKO SHIMURA, Professor Hata/National Kid TATSUME SHIUTARO, TETSUHEI YAMAMOTO.

RELATED SHOWS:

MOONLIGHT MASK

him.

Wr Jacob Epstein

Dir Jim Charleston

1 - 3 TRANSPLANT

While in Chicago, Angela gets shot. Sorcerer with a doctor at a Chicago hospital but Angela gets involved in an organ harvest program that the Praetorians are heading up.

Wr Deborah Pratt

Dir George Mendeluk

1 - 4 BULLS AND BEARS

The Praetorians are trying to manipulate the stock market to raise $100 million cash to finance a Praetorian needed satellite from the Russians. Angela joins the stock brokerage to prevent the theft. Angela's voice activated computer is destroyed while Trelawney meets up the some really bad boys.

Wr Larry Barber, Paul Barber

Dir Helen Shaver

1 - 5 DEATH OF AN ANGEL

Angela stages her death in an attempt to regain her identity and freedom from the Praetorians. She takes residence at the university where her father was a professor. There she meets Kyle, an aspiring law student. When Kyle's uncle, who is a judge, is falsely accused of child pornography over the internet, Angela helps out.

Wr Robert Bielak

Dir Patrick Norris

1 - 6 KILL THE BUDDHA

While working as a barmaid, Angela befriends the owner and becomes friends with him and his wife, who are an interracial couple. When Eric is murdered, Angela finds out they were policemen. Wanting not to get involved due to trying to protect herself from discovery by the Praetorians, Angela is torn between helping the widow and protecting herself.

Wr Larry Barber, Paul Barber

Dir Adam Nimoy

1 - 7 FIREBALL

An old college boyfriend of Angela's is involved in hacking state lotteries. Things get ugly when Daniel hacks with the lotteries under control of the Praetorians. Angela needs to help Daniel while preventing the Praetorians from winning all the lotteries.

Wr John Kirk

Dir Bill Gereghty

1 - 8 JUMP VECTOR

Angela poses as a river guide to learn more about a new program about to be released with a back door allowing the Praetorians access to any computer using this new operating system.

Wr Karl Holman

Dir Scott Paulin

1 - 9 GO LIKE YOU KNOW

Angela joins forces with a streetwise guy to fight a cyber terrorist who is overloading power grids on the east coast.

Wr Larry Barber, Paul Barber

Dir David Winkler

1 - 10 HARVEST

Sorcerer reveals himself to Angela in an effort to stop a praetorian - controlled cult's mass suicide.

Wr John Kirk

Dir Peter DeLuise

1 - 11 DIAMONDS AREN'T FOREVER

Angela and Jacob are enlisted to keep a valuable diamond out of Praetorian hands.

Wr Tracy Keenan Wynn

Dir Michael Robison

1 - 12 PANDOR'S BOX

Angela looks for a missing environmentalist who uncovered the Praetorian's illegal dumping of nuclear waste.

Wr Karl Homan

Dir Neill Fearnley

1 - 13 SAMPLE

Angel and Jacob pursue a record company chairman who kills in order to cover his connections to the Praetorians.

Wr John Kirk

Dir David Winkler

1 - 14 LUCY'S LIFE

Trelawney uses an artist's web site project to draw Angela into a trap.

Wr Larry Barber, Paul Barber

Dir Jefferson Kibbee

1 - 15 PAY THE LINE

Angela is forced to step in after an on-line casino cheats Jacob.

Wr Lawrence Meyers

Dir Les Landau

1 - 16 LUNACTIC FRINGE

Jacob and the Praetorians are each drawn to a charismatic pitchman.

Wr Thomas E. Daniels

Dir Oscar Costo

1 - 17 IN DREAMS

A teenager's photographic memory holds both the keys to identifying the Praetorians and the fate of Angela's father.

Wr Allison Hock

Dir Helaine Head

1 - 18 Y2K TOTAL SYSTEMS FAILURE

Angela has to try and stop the seemingly unstoppable Millenium Bug after a programmer is killed who was close to finding the solution.

Wr Nan Hagan

Dir Randall Zisk

1 - 19 ZERO

Angela and Jacob uncover a drug operation that threatens to finally expose the Praetorians.

Wr Larry Barber, Paul Barber

Dir E.J. Forester

1 - 20 LAST MAN STANDING

Angel's first assignment with the CIC sends her to stop a series of death matches being broadcast on the World Wide Web.

Wr Karl Holman

Dir Peter DeLuise

1 - 21 CHEMLAB (AKA CHEM CLUB)

The Grisly demonstration on the Internet of a powerful chemical weapon sends Angela and Jacob undercover in an Oregon High School.

Wr John Kirk

Dir Anson Williams

1 - 22 EYE-SEE-YOU.COM

Angela racks a killer who has been broadcasting his crimes in the Internet.

Wr Wolfe Bowart, Chris Adams, Ken Lang

Dir Scott Paulin

NEVERWHERE

It's a journey through an alternative London, a real and imagined world above and below the streets of the capital, and inhabited by a bizarre population of the dispossessed and outsiders as well as monsters, murderers, saints and sinners, pale gothic girls in velvet and a real angel!

The hero is Richard Mayhew, a young Scot with a dull job in the city and a safe, secure future, mapped out by his safe, secure fiancée Jessica. Then Richard has a chance encounter with Door, a girl with the mysterious power to open doors where none exist, allowing her to slip from place to place.

She's first seen trying to flee from two assassins, the Dickensian double-act of Croup and Vandemar - 'Obstacles Obliterated Nuisances Eradicated, Bothersome Limbs Removed and Tutelary Dentistry Undertaken' - who've just massacred her family. Though wounded she manages to 'open a door', tumbling as it from nowhere onto the Strand in front of Richard and Jessica.

Ignoring his fiancée's protests Richard plays good Samaritan, but his act of kindness plunges him out of his safe, secure world and into a fantastical conspiracy revolving around a quest for a sacred key, and a fallen angel's evil plan to get back to heaven. Door's family were aristocratic do-gooders, all with the same power she possesses. Now the Angel - known as the Angel Islington - needs Door to use the special key to open a door to Heaven so he can take revenge on those who cast him down. However, Door is able to outwit the Angel and in a climax worthy of Doctor Who, consigns him and his assassins into a whirling vortex.

Richard is at last able to return to his old life, but finds it suddenly empty. His destiny, it seems, is Down Below . . . Neverwhere is amazingly ambitious, both in its creation of a fantastical other-worldly London, and a striking array of characters, many, like the Angel, named after London places. There's the Marquis de Carabas, a charismatic hustler with a heart, an eccentric Earl who holds Court in a travelling tube train a fearsome female mercenary called Hunter whose own personal quest is to find and slay the legendary beast of London, and Door's iron worker friend Hammersmith. Above the streets is Old Bailey a nomad of the rooftops, living on rook stew, with his own strange power over life and death.

Then there are the tribes - the Black Friars, guardian keepers of the key (it turns out to be the key to reality!), the Velvets, strange Gothic girls who sleep in a huge hall hanging upside down from the rafters, the Rat Speakers, humans who speak fluent rat and the Sewer Folk who wear green and brown and sell their sewer finds at a travelling bazaar called the Floating Market.

Neil Gaiman would also later go on to write a fifth season episode of BABYLON 5. British fantasy series is a rare event - and Neverwhere's credentials make it worthy enough to be included here, even if it does stretch the sci-fi tag just a bit! Neverwhere was billed as a witty, scary, urban fantasy. Almost five years in the making, it was written by Neil Gaiman, creator of The Sandman series of best-selling graphic novels, and based on an original idea by Gaiman and comedian Lenny Henry whose Crucial Films company made it.

Maybe it all works better on paper, but unfortunately while always watchable, Neverwhere is never gripping TV. The plot lacks pace and too many of the characters make only a fleeting impression while the principals lack real charisma. It's not especially witty - unless you count Croup and Vandemar's banter - and certainly isn't scary, not even when Vandemar bites the head off rats or pigeons! And some intriguing ideas are never seen through - Anastasia's death on Knight's Bridge, for example: one minute she Richard and Hunter are approaching the bridge, then Richard has his regular vision of a great beast, then he and Hunter are running down the other side alone. 'The bridge has taken its toll,' Hunter tells him. 'We've seen nothing - what a cop-out! And we learn that Door's family lived in 'an associative house', every room of which is located somewhere else. What a great concept - but it's never explored.

The director for the series was Dewi Humphreys, producer was Clive Brill and the title graphics were produced by Dave McKean. The music was created by Brain Eno. The series was first shown on BBC2. The series has also been released on BBC Audio, which is essentially the talking book version of the series.

Neverwhere is a place where isn't quite Neverland, but its quite Nowhere, either. It's a Fantasy version of Somewhere that exists hidden beneath London. It's London's underside, a whole differ-ent world with bizarre and scary people that our heros must negotiate to complete their quest. Neverwhere is the BBC's new offering for Autumn, a Fantasy series the like of which hasn't been seen before. "It's about sense of wonder," says the show's co-creator Neil Gaiman. "It's about tak-ing people places they've never been to before. It's about doing something that His self-important girlfriend Jessica (Elizabeth Marmur) wants to dismiss her as a homeless person who will walk all over him if he pays her any attention, but Richard is more compassionate and takes the girl home. From that moment, his life is destined never to be the same again. His world starts to collapse and

The original idea for Neverwheree from comedian Lenny Henry who wanted to highlight the plight of the homeless and how they were virtually ignored by most of the people who walk by them on a daily basis. He wondered what would happen if all the homeless people got together and formed tribes under London. When he mentioned the idea to award-winning comics writer Neil Gaiman, it just took off. "It was a great night," says Lenny. "We talked for hours and hours about what the series would be. And it was very clear we were both kindred spirits about the whole thing because we were both closet Doctor Who fans, and we were also into things like The Champions, Randall and Hopkirk (Deceased) and all those kinds of series."

Neil originally didn't want to do a Fantasy series about the homeless because he feared it would glamorize their lives. But he started to get excited about it when he approached the idea from a different angle. "Instead I said, 'let's take it as a metaphor, let's look at the people who've fallen through the cracks, let's look at the holes in the world, but let's look at it metaphorically and let's create London Below'. It's a bleak, black reflection of London which is very obviously a Fantasy world which people fall into and once you're in it nobody knows you ex-ist, nobody sees you any more, they walk past you:'

The world of London Below is full of tribes and baronies and fiefdoms that re-flect a skewed version of the London Underground map. There are Shepherds at Shepherds Bush, black monks living under Blackfriars, an Angel at Islington and an Earl with a Court inside a tube train that circles endlessly around the under ground tunnels. This is the world that the girl Richard found bleeding on the pave-ment comes from. She is Door (Laura Fraser), a young woman with the ability to open portals to far away places. When Richard finds her she has been chased and almost killed by the sinister Mister Croup (Hywel Bennett) and Mister Vandemar (Clive Russell) who massacred the rest of her family.

This was the basic story Neil Gaiman sketched out after his initial idea-bashing session with Lenny Henry. A week or so later, a 45-page closely typed document was delivered and Lenny read it with so much excitement that he claims to have danced around his office. "When you're a producer you and have an initial idea, you hope you get a writer who is talented enough to spin off and expand on it," says Lenny. "I couldn't have asked for a better collaborator than Neil. He really ran with the ball. It was like being with the entire cast of Whose Line is it Anyway? - all 50 of them! - and jamming. Neil just took up the cudgels, took it on and took it into other areas that I might not have gone into. As a result it looks and feels like a rollercoaster ride. It's like a comic, but it's on screen. It's more real, it's got depth to it, it's strange, it's scary and I think a lot of that is down to Neil's sensibilities as a writer."

Neil's writing background comes from comics where he is famous for writing the award-winning Sandman series. Less famously, he is also a novel and short story writer and most notably collabo-rated with Terry Pratchett on the best- selling Horror Comedy Good Onwns. He turned his talents to tv in 1992 when he wrote the first Neverwhere script. Lenny Henry's company sent it to the BBC where it landed on the desk of Clive Brill, who was then Head of Development for series.

He was so impressed that he sub-sequently left his job to produce Neverwhere. "I love Fantasy projects and it was a very good story and it was well written," he says. "It was irresistible and, like lots of other people, I thought it was about time that we had Fantasy back on the box:' Clive worked closely with Neil to make the scripts as good as they could possibly be. "I'm amazed at what a good script writer he is," says Clive. "His only problem is that he's used to writing at some considerable length and so we spent a lot of time editing it down. In television and film you can make a point extremely quickly and Neil is a man of words and likes to use words and often we have to say, 'Well, how can we say this more pithily?'. But it's been a great collaborative process and he's always agreed, more or less, with what we want to do.

"I think it's been a learning process watching stuff being shot," adds Neil Gaiman. "I'd say [in the script] things like 'we have a huge hall filled with can-dles with a waterfall running down one wall and we have an angel in it and as the angel walks past the candles they burst into flame' And I just thought 'that'll be fun, that'll look nice'. And then some poor special effects crew have to rig a hundred candles to burst into flame as Peter Capaldi [TheAngel Isling-ton], in bare feet, in sub-zero temperatures in March, in a deserted pumping station walks on cast iron with these can-dles bursting into flame as he goes past. Amazing stuff!"

The deserted pumping station was just one of the many London locations used by the film crew. Others ranged from Chislehurst Caves to a building overlooking St Paul's Cathedral. All of them had to be researched, which gave producer Clive Brill an un-paralleled experience of the real London Below. "I went on sewer tours," says Clive. "I got clad from head to foot in protective clothing, went down the man-hole covers in the streets and walked along the sewers. The incredible thing about them is they don't particularly smell, not the big sewers. They are architecturally fascinating, you don't see any rats, but you are knee-deep in shit, although it's been heavily diluted by wa-ter. But it was a fascinating experience to be able to do that. I got to ride in the front of a tube train carriage with a guard who picked me up in the station that is closed down, Downstreet Station, that we used to film in. I'd also always wanted to get up close to Battersea Power Station and because one of our sets is sup-posed to be underneath Battersea Power Station, I had a night walking around that.

The reason Neverwhere was filmed all over London was to give the Fantasy world a sense of realism and make an even stronger connection with London Above. However, it took place in February and March when England's weather is less than tropical. In fact, ask anyone who was there to pick out their most enduring memory of the experience and they will talk about how cold it was. "Everywhere was cold, everywhere was uncomfortable," says director Dewi Humphreys. "There weren't enough anoraks in Millets to keep us warm! I have to say that the actors didn't moan.

I've just driven here today over Albert Bridge and it was so cold on the night shoot that we did there and Gary was in his sweater and still delivering his performance despite the discomfort: Dewi cast two young actors for the lead roles in Neverwhere. Gary Bakewell, who plays Richard Mayhew, is best known to film audiences as Paul McCartney in the British picture Backbeat; while Laura Fraser, who plays Door, has more theatre experience and was prompted to move to London from Scotland when she got the job. "They're young in years, but they have a sense of maturity as well," says Dewi. "Laura, you do sense she has lived a life in London Below, she has survived, she has authority of being the Lady Door. And Gary, there's an openness and innocence about Gary that leads him to being influ-enced. He's everyman, he's the common man, he's us down there below, all his re-sponses are honest and direct, so amongst all these disparate characters there is one true person."

Dewi began his career as a cameraman in the film industry and shot films such as Quadrophenia and Chariots of Fire before moving on to direct for television. It was his visual sense that lead him to be chosen for Neverwhere. "One principle we've tried to keep throughout was not to do the expected, in every area to do the unexpected," he says. "So you read the page and you sort of expect to see a cer-tain image, then you read it again and come up with something at right angles to that idea: The aim was to set Neverwhere apart from every other show on British television, as Clive Brill is keen to emphasise. "For the first time it's got an enormous range of looks, sets, feelings, atmospheres. I don't think the BBC has put on something quite as unusual and varied looking as this before:'

That's the aspect that Neverwhere's producers hope will hook the audience. It's being launched at a time when television is swamped by realistic drama, drama documentaries, police series, medi-cal series and infinite varieties of the above. As an adult fantasy, it will look and feel different, but they hope it will attract more than just a core Fantasy audience. "The characters are fantastical and the concept that there is a total civilization under London is fantastical, but they're not doing things that anyone who lives under London wouldn't do," says Clive. "How do they live? Well, they live from stealing food from above. How do they light it? Well they tap into the electricity and gas that's available. How do they live? Well, they live in tunnels that exist in London anyway."

However, there can be no getting away from the fact that everyone is a little nervous over how the public will react. Neil Gaiman, for example, is convinced that half the country are going to switch over and watch the Nine O'clock News instead. Lenny Henry, on the other hand, is more optimistic. "As they filmed it they would send me the tapes and I'd watch them. It's such a strange world and I thought 'God will it all fit together? It's so weird, will people be able to follow it?' But now that I've watched all six episodes, I think they definitely will. It is a story with a begin-ning, middle and end and it has infinite possibilities."

For the actors who played the unusual characters in London Below, their most outstanding memory of mak-ing Neverwhere is the experience of en-tering the real world that exists beneath London. "We spent two months crawling around in every underground tunnel and sewer that London has to offer," says Gary Bakewell who plays Richard. "We shot all over the place. I think it's going to add a very major element, an atmosphere, to the show. I didn't think they could have got that if they'd done the entire thing in the studio: ' Neverwhere was filmed in February and March when Britain was gripped by winter weather.

The first week it was like 'Oh great, tube stations! Chisselhurst Caves!' and the second week it was like 'Oh God, oh no!'. But it was okay:' Laura and Gary, the hero and heroine of the piece, were at least allowed a coat and a jumper as part of their respective costumes, but other characters were less fortunate. One of them was Tamsin Greig who played Lamia, the leader of the soul-sucking Gothic Velvets. "The costume was magnificent!" she enthuses. "This velvet with black PVC circles all over it so it moved, it had a kind of fluidity. It looked extraordinary. The problem being that when you film in February and March, particularly last February and March, it was very cold and I was dressed very skimpy. So because the character is cold bloodied I didn't have to do much research or act too much because I was frozen most of the time. One day that we did in St Pancras Hotel, we did the shot of the breath-sucking, about 13 hours on set, freezing cold. The next day I couldn't extend my legs away from my torso because it had all frozen up! So it looks astonishingly wonderful, but it was quite painful.'

The third major character in Never-where is the Marquis de Carabas, played by Paterson Joseph. His costume kept him warmer than some of his fellow actors, but he still has a few tales to tell about location filming. "On Bank Station there is a platform all on its own with trains coming from either direction and they were trying to film in there and it was just like 'forget it!' And they were covered in soot and noise and it was a mess. But the worst location I had was in the Round-house in Camden. A sewer had been built there and the Marquis is dumped from a trolley into the sewer. I tried to bargain for a stuntman and the director agreed, but when it came to the last bit [he said] 'oh it wouldn't work with a stuntman', so I was dumped in a sewer full of peat! The Marquis de Carabas looks wonderful in his long coat and striking hairstyle, although Paterson originally wanted him to be bald. His final look was actually styled by his sister who owns a hairdressing salon. It took four hours for her to put in the braids before Paterson bleached his own hair white. "A painful process," he says. "Ladies who bleach their hair - I sympathize!"

The Marquis deals in favours, only agreeing to help Door because she promises to owe him a really big favour in return. The mission is so dangerous that he entrusts his life, which he keeps in a little silver box, to the eccentric birdman, Old Bailey. They are just some of the many unusual characters that make up the fantastical world of Neverwhere. It was one of the things that attracted Gary Bakewell to the show in the first place. "Since being a kid I've always had a taste for the fantastical in the fiction that I read," he says. "It might well have been an element in being cast in a role like this because when I got the script, unlike some of the actors that might have read it, I understood it immediately. I wouldn't describe myself as a Fantasy anorak, but I'm dangerously close.'

Gary also knew the work of the show's writer Neil Gaiman and had read some of his award-winning Smidmn comics before being cast in Neverwhere. Neil joined the cast for the first four weeks of filming when they got the chance to talk him about their characters and the complicated storyline. "Neil was around a lot because it's the first thing he's done that's been adapted for dramatisation," says Gary. "I was always picking his brains about how he saw the show because this is something that has so many different weird elements being put together."

Gary is one of several Scottish actors that seem to dominate Neverwhere. Clive Russell brings his rich Scottish accent to the evil pairing of Mr Croup and Mr Vandemar, while Peter Capaldi who plays the Angel Islington is also from north of the border. Gary himself was born in Aberdeen and Laura Fraser, who adopted a standard English accent for Neverwhere, is actually from Glasgow. "We got to be very good friends," says Laura about starring with Gary Bakewell. "I'd just moved down and I didn't really know anyone, so it was very good for getting to know people. He's been a good mate."

21-year-old Laura is just seeing her career take off. Immediately before Neverwhere she was in the film The Small Faces and since moving down to London she has picked up a lot more parts. Looking back at Neverwhere, she singles out playing Door as the best thing about the series. "She's brilliant. She's practically fearless. I'm not like that. She accepts everything and deals with everything, bosses everyone about and gets to do what she wants. I loved playing her." "Looking back on it, I just recall being very cold and wet in underground dark places," says Gary, recalling his experiences of Neverwhere. "But there was a lot of fun things to do as well. There was a nice scene we shot which took place on this very narrow, very creaky wooden plank high above the studio set and that was different. It's nice to do the action-orientated stuff rather than constant conversation pieces that you might in a stage play.'

One of the more physical trials that the Marquis de Carabas has to go through comes after he is captured by Mr Croup and Mr Vandemar. They take him back to their lair where they crucify him. This involved stringing up actor Paterson Joseph on a wooden cross, an experience he describes as "painful:" "The director was very kind," he adds. "Dewi was extremely actor-sensitive which is something you rarely get. He knew when the agony was too much and when it was not acting anymore!" He says the chance to indulge in a little fantasy and do things that television actors are rarely given the chance to do contributed to a good atmosphere among the cast and crew. "The project was such good fun, people just leapt into it like children," says Paterson. "It was a sense of 'wow, what's going to happen next?' and 'what can we do?'. All sorts of ideas were being incorporated. All the actors were working together so well that we all had a sense of fun."

The Fantasy elements are going to excite a certain audience just as they excited the actors, but the original idea about Neverwhere was to make a point about homelessness. It is a thread running through the series, according to Tamsin Greig. "We do live in a difficult time where people desire an 'otherness', but I think at the bottom of it, it's about lost souls," says the actress who plays the leader of the Velvets. "The reason the whole thing was put together was because of the homeless, about the fact that there is an underworld of people who don't have identities, who are on a quest for something to fill up this terrible void that we live in. I think that will speak to a lot of people and if it opens people's eyes to the plight of the homeless, then wonderful. And if it can be done by grabbing people's attention through this incredibly fan-tastic medium, then all good and well."

Rene Auberjonois's other works includes a small role in the film Inspector Gadget, and guest star roles in series such as THE OUTER LIMITS (90s) and Poltergeist: The Legacy.

WR. Neil Gaiman.

DIR. Dewi Humphreys.

EPISODES: 6 YEAR MADE: 1996 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 1

A CRUCIAL FILMS PRODUCTION FOR BBC NORTH.

CREATOR: NEIL GAIMAN & LENNY HENRY

TYPE OF SHOW: FANTASY

FORMAT: SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 6

DATE OF PREMIER: 12/09/1996

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 17/10/1996

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Richard Mayhew GARY BAKEWELL, Door LAURA FRASER, Mr. Croup HYWEL BENNETT, Mr. Vandemar CLIVE RUSSEL, Marquis De Carabas PETERSON JOSEPH, Old Bailey TREVOR PEACOCK, Hunter TANYA MOODIE, Angel Islington PETER CAPALDI, Earls Court FREDDIE JAMES, The Abbot EARL CAMERON, Serpentine JULIE T. WALLACE, Lamia TAMSIN GREIG, HammerSmith TONY PRITCHARD, Jessica ELIZABETH MARMUR, Varney NICK HOLDER, Anesthesia AMY MARSTON, Portico MICHEAL CULVER, Ruislip MORGAN JOHNSON, Lear PHILIP FOWLER, Mr. Strockton STRATFORD JOHN, Iliaster RICHARD LEAF, Tooley ARTHUR WHYBROW, Halvard TIMOTHY BATESON, Clarence ADRIAN IRVINE, Lord Rat Speaker SEAN O'CALLAGHAN, GEORGE JACKOS, GERALDINE MCMULLY, DAMIEN LYNE.

Books Based on this series.

Neverwhere

Neil Gaiman

1996

RELATED SHOWS:

BABYLON 5

1 - 1 DOOR

Richard is on the way to a dinner with his fiancée, Jessica when a young girl falls to the sidewalk in front of them, obviously hurt. Despite Jessica's threats of ending the engagement, Richard feels he must help. The girl, named Door, asks not to be taken to a doctor or hospital so Richard brings her back to his flat where she recovers. Because of this act of kindness, Richard is forced to endure visits from the vile Mistery Croup and Vandemar, to deal with the roguish Marquis De Carabas, and to converse with a rat. Worse still, his friends and co-workers suddenly don't seem to recognize him.

Wr Neil Gaiman

Dir Dewi Humphreys

1 - 2 KNIGHTSBRIDGE

Richard is seeking Door in London Below, trying to find a way to get his normal life back. Meanwhile, Door and De Carabas search her home for clues to the murder of her family. A message in her father's journal tells them to seek the Angel Islington, but first they decide to hire her a bodyguard at the Floating Market. On the way to find them, Richard must cross Night's Bridge where he meets an enigmatic woman and faces the fear of the Night. Croup and Vandemar plot to have a man under their employ become Door's bodyguard.

Wr Neil Gaiman

Dir Dewi Humphreys

1 - 3 EARLS COUR TO ISLINGTON

Richard, Door, Hunter, and De Carabas go to Earl's Court -- a subway car, seen and used only by the denizens of London Below. The Earl kicks De Carabas out of his "court" and then tells the rest of them how to find Islington. An unseen employer gives Croup and Vandemar instructions to scare Richard and Door, so they waylay the pair and tell them that there is a traitor in their midst. Richard and Door escape and run into the British Museum where they must find the Angelis in order to get to Islington. De Carabas makes an unexpected housecall.

Wr Neil Gaiman

Dir Dewi Humphreys

1 - 4 BLACKFRIARS

De Carabas concludes his business with Croup and Vandemar. Richard and Door speak with the Angel Islington who sends them on a quest for a key which is held by The Blackfriars. They must escape the lair of Serpentine, where Hunter receives a spear to hunt The Beast of London. The Blackfriars set an ordeal for Richard to pass through before he may obtain the key. The identity of Croup and Vandemar's employer is revealed.

Wr Neil Gaiman

Dir Dewi Humphreys

1 - 5 DOWN STREET

Our band of heroes attends another floating market. Door meets an old friend and Richard makes a new one. Old Bailey must make good on his debt. Richard, Door, and Hunter seek Downstreet in an attempt to find their way back to Islington. The traitor is revealed.

Wr Neil Gaiman

Dir Dewi Humphreys

1 - 6 AS ABOVE, SO BELOW

Richard and company must traverse the labyrinth wherein dwells The Beast of London. The truth behind what has been happening is revealed and Croup and Vandemar are faced at last. The key is used. Richard must make an important decision.

Wr Neil Gaiman

Dir Dewi Humphreys

NEW ADVENTURES OF BEANS BAXTER, THE

Beans had been a typical teenager living in Kansas when his father, Benjamin Baxter Sr., a postal carrier, got transferred to Washington DC. Unknown to Beans, his mother, Susan and his annoying kid brother Scooter, his dad was not really employed by the Postal service, but rather by another government branch known as the Network. The Network was an ultra secret spy organisation and Beans' dad was one of their top couriers- being a post carrier was just a cover.

Unfortunately his cover was blown and members of the terrorist organisation UGLI (Underground Government Liberation Intergroup), run by Mr. Sue, kidnapped Benjamin Baxter Sr. The Network allowed everyone to think that he had been killed, Beans learned the truth and was recruited by Number Two to become an undercover agent like his father. This was because the Network needed a young operative who could pass inconspicuously around high schools, Beans was also told that he would be allowed to help in any rescue efforts of his father, and that he must not tell anyone that his father was alive or that he was a secret agent.

This double life led to many problems for Beans. His strange best friend Woodshop thought that Beans was even stranger than he was. Cake Lase, the beautiful daughter of an ambassador was Beans' sort-of girlfriend. Seemed as though Beans' missions were always getting between them. This caused her to get even more confused about American customs and Beans than she already was.

Despite the fact that 'New' appears in the title, The New Adventures of Beans Baxter are the only adventures that Bean's Baxter ever had. There was no 'old' adventures of Beans Baxter and it is very unlikely that this short lived series will ever be revived. The New Adventures of Beans Baxter was one of the initial Saturday night programmes of the fledging FOX network. In the Fox network's earliest days, Fox programmes tended to be very different from those one would find on the established networks. The New Adventures of Beans Baxter was no exception to this trend. It featured as its titled character a high school student who had lead a double life as an undercover agent.

WR. Savage Steve Holland, Martin Olson, Andrew Katz, Larry Schulze, Rick Overton, Bruce Wagner.

DIR. Savage Steve Holland, Mary Beth Fielder, Tom Rowe.

EPISODES: 17 YEAR MADE: 1987 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

shown on FOX

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: SPY FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 17

DATE OF PREMIER: 18/07/1987 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 28/11/1987

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Benjamin 'Beans' Baxter Jr. JONATHAN WARD, Mrs. Susan Baxter ELINOR DONAHUE, Number Two JERRY WASSERMAN, Cake Lase KAREN MISTAL, Scooter Baxter SCOTT BREMNER, Woodshop STUART FRATKIN.

1 - 1 BEANS FIRST ADVENTURE (1-2)

Beans Baxter is a teen-ager, who after his family moves to Washington, D.C., becomes a secret operative agent. In the premiere episode, Beans witnesses his father's abduction.

Wr Savage Steve Holland

Dir Savage Steve Holland

1 - 2 BEAUTY AND THE BEANS

Darla surprises Beans with a visit at the same time he's asked to house a gorgeous Soviet agent.

Wr Savage Steve Holland

Dir Savage Steve Holland

1 - 3 BEANS FOR PRESIDENT

An assignment to save the President's daughter interferes with his candidacy for class president of his high school.

Wr Savage Steve Holland

Dir Savage Steve Holland

1 - 4 BEANS AND THE SATANIC BACKWARDS MASKING CONSPIRACY

Beans investigates whether messages on records played backwards have a part in Number One's son's behavioral changes.

Wr Savage Steve Holland

Dir Savage Steve Holland

1 - 5 BEANS' WICKED AND AWESOM ADVENTURES AT COLLEE

A case of mistaken identity hampers Beans' ability to discover if a student radical is involved with UGLI.

Wr Savage Steve Holland

Dir Savage Steve Holland

1 - 6 BEANS IN SKI HECK

On a ski vacation, Beans accidentally uncovers a scheme to kidnap diplomats.

Wr Martin Olson, Mary Jo Pritchard, Savage Steve Holland

Dir Mary Beth Fielder

1 - 7 NO PLACE LIFE OMSK

Beans meets with Svetlana, a defected Russian double agent who is severely homesick.

Wr Martin Olson, Mary Jo Pritchard, Savage Steve Holland

Dir Savage Steve Holland

1 - 8 BEANS FINDS HIS DAD BUT . . . (1-2)

Beans locates his kidnapped father, but Mr. Sue hampers the rescue effort.

Wr Savage Steve Holland

Dir Savage Steve Holland , Michael E. Steele

1 - 9 BEANS' UNPLEASANT INTRUDCTION TO MODERN SCIENCES

HAP, a robot Beans is testing for the government, runs amok, attacking children and animals, and ruining a meeting with Darla.

Wr Savage Steve Holland

Dir Savage Steve Holland

1 - 10 BEANS GOES TO CAMP

After UGLI steals a nuclear warhead, Beans goes undercover at a parasailing camp to find it.

Wr Savage Steve Holland

Dir Savage Steve Holland

1 - 11 A NIGHTMARE ON BEANS STREET

Beans and his friends are set upon by a deadly pumpkin sent by UGLI's leader, Mr. Sue, and the Pumpkin Princess.

Wr Savage Steve Holland

Dir Savage Steve Holland

1 - 12 BEANS' HOME LIFE GETS UGLI

Hoping to coerce Beans' father to talk, an UGLI agent tries to get a photograph that will make it appear Mrs. Baxter is having an affair with him.

Wr Andrew Katz, Larry Schulze, Savage Steve Holland

Dir Savage Steve Holland1

1 - 13 BEANS UNDER THE WEATHER

After Scooter invents a weather-making machine for a science fair, UGLI schemes to use it for their own ends.

Wr Savage Steve Holland, Andrew Katz, Larry Schulze

Dir Tom Rowe

1 - 14 BEANS GETS HIS DRIVER'S LICENSE (AND IT ISN'T PRETTY)

UGLI agents Jack and Henry attempt to stop Beans from getting his driver's license.

Wr Rick Overton, Bruce Wagner, Savage Steve Holland

Dir Tom Rowe

1 - 15 BEANS IN JUNGLELAND

Beans infiltrates the Bad Seed gang when his brother, Scooter, is falsely accused of making drug sales.

Wr Savage Steve Holland

Dir Savage Steve Holland

NEW ADVENTURES OF ROBIN HOOD, THE

Robin Hood and his band of outlaws which includes Marian, Little John, and Friar Tuck, rob from the rich and give to the poor as they fight against Prince John, the Sheriff of Nottingham, and all other manner of evil people and creatures. Magic plays as much a part as the sword and the arrow.

The series was produced by Vicangelo Bulluck(season 2), Joel Freeman , Tom Kuhn (executive) , Robert Nador, Eve Vercel, Fred Weintraub (executive), Sandra Weintraub(supervising). Cinematography was by Thomas Hencz, Geza Sinkovics(1996-1999) and Jeffrey L. Weaver. Casting was by John Hubbard and Ros Hubbard, make-up Department was Teresa Vest (effects make-up) hair stylist & make-up artist. Assistant Directors were Bruce Gillies - first assistant director, James Grayford - second assistant director and Eddie Ziv - first assistant director 1996-1997, and Art Martin as first assistant cameraman.

I've been watching this series of the Weintraub's since it started because I love adventure actions shows and the Robin Hood Story. I've always thought Erol Flynn the better of all and I've seen most on TV and movies, and enjoyed them all but my favorite was always Will Scarlet or King Richard even the Sheriff. But Matthew Porretta's portrayal of Robin Hood is for me the best. There can never be another Robin now. His acting his looks his voice, I can go on and on but there are other actors who also give reasons to watch. The two Maid Marions, Anna Galvin and Barbara Griffin are excellent and show that she doesn't need a man to save her that she can do her fighting. Richard Ashton is finally a sexy Little John and Martin Ellis is perfect as Friar Tuck and portrays him as a gourmet not a drunken glutton as others have - Shewolf 2. The series was first seen in the UK on Channel Five, and it was shown on an 6pm slot on a Sunday, just after THE TRIBE. The first two series were shown on TNT before the series became syndicated for its third season.

WR.

DIR. Andy Armstrong, Terry Bedford, Vicangelo Bulluck , Adrian Carr , Harley Cokliss, Joe Coppoletta, Martin Denning, Jim Goddard, Petra Haffter
Dimitri Logothetis, Terry Marcel, Juan A. Mas, Michèle Ohayon, Roger Tucker , Keith Washington.

EPISODES: 40 YEAR MADE: 1997 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 3

WEINTRAUB/KUHN PRODUCTION/ TARNVIEW LIMITED/ DUNE/ M6/ WARNER BROS. TELEVISION.

CREATOR: TOM KUHN, FRED WEINTRAUB & SANDRA WEINTRAUB.

TYPE OF SHOW: FANTASY

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 13, (2) 13, (3) 14

DATE OF PREMIER: 13/01/1997 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 31/12/1998

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Robin Hood MATTHEW PORRETTA (1-2), Robin Hood JOHN BRADLEY (3), Marion Fitzwalter ANNA GALVIN (1), Marion Fitzwalter BARBARA GRIFFIN (2-3), Little John RICHARD ASHTON, Friar Tuck MARTYN ELLIS, Barkley PAUL LICHTMAN, Rowena CHRISTIE WOODS (3).

1 - 1 RAGE OF THE MONGOLS

Wr Dimitri Logothetis

1 - 2 ATTACK OF THE VIKINGS

Robin and Prince John are kidnapped by Viking invaders.

Wr Harley Cokliss

1 - 3 ROBIN AND THE GOLDEN ARROW

Robin confronts a soldier who is protected by an evil Celtic goddess.

Wr Joe Coppoletta

1 - 4 A RACE AGAINST DEATH

Robin steps in when a heiress is threatened with marriage to a reprehensible knight.

1 - 5 A PRICE ON HIS SOUL

Robin looks into reports that young men are going missing and screams are being heard in the forest.

Wr Joe Coppoletta

1 - 6 MARION TO THE RESCUE

Robin and his followers wind up in trouble when they try to save Marion's cousin.

Wr Keith Washington

1 - 7 THE LEGEND OF OLWYN

Robin recalls his first encounter with Olwyn.

1 - 8 WITCHES OF THE ABBY

Robin's aunt casts a spell to gain some involuntary slaves.

1 - 9 THE ARABIAN NIGHT

1 - 10 THE BIRTHDAY TRAP

Robin dons a disguise to attend his stepmother's birthday party.

1 - 11 MIRACLE AT AVALON

Robin's old enemy conspires with an evil priestess.

1 - 12 DRAGON FROM THE SKY

Barkley makes a startling discovery while investigating a huge fireball.

1 - 13 NIGHTMARE OF THE MAGIC CASTLE

2 - 1 ULTIMATE ARMY

Lord Malice persuades Little John to join his army.

2 - 2 THE LEGION

2 - 3 THE DEVIL'S BRIDE

Marion is kidnapped by a member of the God of Death cult, who intends to make her his bride.

2 - 4 THE PREY

2 - 5 BOMBS AWAY

Robin's enemy Master Ika, return with some Samurai warriors.

2 - 6 THE ROAD TO ROYSTON

2 - 7 THE MYSTERY OF DRUID'S GROVE

2 - 8 THE LEGEND OF THE AMAZONS

2 - 9 OUTLAW EXPRESS

2 - 10 THE SCEPTRE

An evil sorcerer tries to destroy Robin's mentor.

2 - 11 JUSTICE FOR ALL

Robin's old tutor asks his former pupil to help save druids from persecution.

2 - 12 PERCY'S GHOST

Robin tries to reunite three powerful lords to help him defeat Prince John.

2 - 13 YOUR LAND IS MY LAND

3 - 1 FIRST LOVE

Robin helps an old flame rescue her husband from Prince John's elite guard.

3 - 2 THE HAUNTED CASTLE

Robin's men must rescue JJ's father from the castle and face their fears before dawn if they are not to become permanent guests there.

3 - 3 THE GIANT KING

A gaint weill be able to gain redemption if he can revive someone who has pure of heart.

3 - 4 SWORD OF THE SAMURAI

Evil Count Federick's mystical sword could enable him to seize the crown.

3 - 5 ROBINVILLE

Marian's Aunt Flora throws a fancy-dress party to raise money for a needy village, but Lord Argo intends to steal the donations.

3 - 6 VANISHING ACT

3 - 7 THE HUNTER

3 - 8 A DATE WITH DESTINY

3 - 9 ORPHANS

3 - 10 THE ASSASIN

3 - 11 BODY AND SOUL

3 - 12 ASSUAT ON CASTLE DUNDEEN

Wr Martin Denning

3 - 13 THE AUCTION

FILMS:

Wonder Woman/Diana Prince LYNDA CARTER, Major Steve Trevor LYLE WAGGONER, Joe Atkinson NORMAN BURTON.

RELATED SHOWS:

NEW ORIGINAL WONDER WOMAN,THE

1 - 1 RETURN OF WONDER WOMAN (80MINUTES)

Wonder Woman convinces her mother, the Queen of the Amazons, that she must once again go into the outside world to help protect the free world from its enemies as well as the secret of Paradise Island and its ancient culture.

Wr Stephen Kandel

Dir Alan Crosland

1 - 2 ANSCHLUSS 77

Wonder Woman is called upon to battle a new and more terrifying Nazi menace when she and Steve Trevor are assigned to investigate a reunion of expatriate Nazis on a small tropical island.

Wr Dallas L. Barnes

Dir Alan Crosland

1 - 3 THE MAN WHO COULD MOVE THE WORLD

Wonder Woman is pitted against the awesome telekenetic powers of a Japanese man who was interned during World War 2 and has been planning revenge for 35 years.

Wr Judy Burns

Dir Bob Kelljan

1 - 4 THE BERMUDA TRIANGLE CRISIS

Diana must stop the possible sabotage of a nuclear test station in the Bermuda Triangle that is perilously close to Paradise Island.

Wr Calvin Clements Jr.

Dir Seymour Robbie

1 - 5 KNOCKOUT

Wonder Woman must use all her powers to stop a terrorist group from kidnapping Steve and other government officials.

Wr Mark Rodgers

Dir Seymour Robbie

1 - 6 THE PIED PIPER

Wonder Woman must use all her powers to save Joe Alkinson's daughter from the evils of Super Rock Star.

Wr David Ketchum, Tony DiMarco, Brian McKay

Dir Alan Crosland

1 - 7 THE QUEEN AND THE THIEF

Wonder Woman saves a tiny country of Malakan by catching the thief who stole the royal jewels, then returning the jewels to the queen.

Wr Bruce Shelly

Dir Jack Arnold

1 - 8 IDO,IDO

Wonder Woman masquerdes as a new bride honeymooning at a health spa to prevent a group of traitors from obtaining government secrets.

Wr Richard Carr

Dir Herb Wallerstein

1 - 9 THE MAN WHO MADE VOLCANOES

Wonder Woman races to save the world from a scientist capable of controlling volcanos globally via the machinery he has built.

Wr Brian McKay, Dan Ullman

Dir Alan Crosland

1 - 10 THE MIND STEALERS FROM OUTER SPACE (1-2)

Wonder Woman joins forces with a friendly alien from another planet to prevent the destruction of the world.

Wr Stephen Kandel

Dir Michael Caffey , Alan Crosland

1 - 11 THE DEADLY TOYS

Scientists working on a top secret project are targeted by an evil toymaker and it's up to Wonder Woman to save them.....

Wr Anne Collins

Dir Dick Moder

1 - 12 LIGHT-FINGERED LADY

Wonder Woman goes undercover posing as a bank robber to capture the world's most notorious thief.

Wr Bruce Shelly

Dir Alan Crosland

1 - 13 SCREAMING JAVELIN

Wonder Woman attempts to thwart a plot by a rich and powerful madman to kidnap many of the top Olympic athletes of the world to compete for his mythical country.

Wr Brian McKay

Dir Michael Caffey

1 - 14 DIANA'S DISAPPEARING ACT

Wonder Woman saves the world from an oil crisis when she exposes a magician's method of changing lead into gold.

Wr S.S. Schweitzer

Dir Michael Caffey

1 - 15 DEATH IN DISGUISE

Diana is assigned to protect an industrialist from an assassination attempt.

Wr Tom Sawyer

Dir Alan Crosland

1 - 16 I.R.A.C. IS MISSING

Wonder Woman takes on a man looking to acquire the memories of the best computers in the world and is looking at IRAC for his next addition.....

Wr Anne Collins

Dir Alexander Singer

1 - 17 FLIGHT TO OBLIVION

Wonder Woman poses as a photographer to protect an Air Force test flight from sabotage.

Wr Patrick Mathews

Dir Alan Crosland

1 - 18 SEANCE OF TERROR

The guardians of a young psychic use his abilities to disrupt a peace conference.

Wr Bruce Shelly

Dir Dick Moder

1 - 19 THE MAN WHO WOULDN'T TELL

A meek, mild mannered janitor accidentally discovers the key ingredient for an experimental explosives formula. He is sought after by those who would use it for evil and only Wonder Woman can save the man from his pursuers.

Wr Anne Collins

Dir Alan Crosland

1 - 20 THE GIRL FROM ISLANDIA

A young girl flees her own dimension into ours to escape a man who would force her to misuse her special powers.

Wr Anne Collins

Dir Dick Moder

1 - 21 THE MURDEROUS MISSILE

Wonder Woman must stop the hijacking of an experimental thought controlled missile, but she is continuously delayed by a small town sheriff.

Wr Dick Nelson

Dir Dick Moder

2 - 1 ONE OF OUR TEEN IDOLS IS MISSING

A singing teenage heartthrob is kidnapped and replaced by a look-alike.

Wr Anne Collins

Dir Seymour Robbie

2 - 2 HOT WHEELS

Diana helps find a stolen antique Rolls Royce with top secret microfilm hidden somewhere inside.

Wr Dennis Landa

Dir Dick Moder

2 - 3 THE DEADLY STING

A crime boss learns of a scientist's invention of a drugged dart that can influence the target's actions. He wants to use the darts to control the outcome of a football game and only Wonder Woman can stop him.

Wr Dick Nelson

Dir Alan Crosland

2 - 4 FINE ART OF CRIME

When valuable artwork in a museum mysteriously begins to vanish, Wonder Woman discovers the museum statues may be more life-like than originally thought.

Wr Anne Collins

Dir Dick Moder

2 - 5 DISCO DEVIL

Wonder Woman must stop a disco that lures government engineers, and then taps their minds, stealing national secrets.

Wr Alan Brennert

Dir Leslie H. Martinson

2 - 6 FORMICIDA

A scientist uses her strange power to control insects to prevent the manufacture and distribution of a deadly pesticide.

Wr Katharyn Michaelian Powers

Dir Alan Crosland

2 - 7 TIME BOMB

Two time travelers from the future arrive in present day Washington. The female visitor intends to use her knowledge of the future for personal gain. The male visitor, with Wonder Woman's help, seeks to stop her and take her back to the future with him.

Wr David Wise, Kathleen Barnes

Dir Seymour Robbie

2 - 8 SKATEBOARD WHIZ

A ruthless businessman seeks to acquire a beach club from its current owner and only Wonder Woman stop him and protect a young girl from being harmed in the process.

Wr Alan Brennert

Dir Leslie H. Martinson

2 - 9 THE DEADLY DOLPHIN

A dolphin is stolen from a local aquarium as part of a plan by a criminal mastermind to acquire real estate along California's shoreline.

Wr Jackson Gillis

Dir Sigmund Neufeld Jr.

2 - 10 STOLEN FACES

Wonder Woman tries to stop a robbery planned by thieves masquerading as herself and Steve Trevor.

Wr Richard Carr, Anne Collins

Dir Leslie H. Martinson

2 - 11 POT O'GOLD

Wonder Woman looks to recover a set of printing plates that could be used to make counterfeit money. The heroine is aided by a mysterious Irish cobbler, who is rumored to have a large quantity of gold stashed somewhere.

Wr Michael McGreevey

Dir Gordon Hessler

2 - 12 GAULT'S BRAIN

A wealthy man, who exists now as a disembodied brain, seeks to have his brain transplanted into the body of an unwilling person and only Wonder Woman can stop him.

Wr Arthur Weingarten

Dir Gordon Hessler

2 - 13 GOING, GOING, GONE

Diana attempts to infiltrate a criminal auction aboard an offshore sub. Can she do so without having her true identity discovered by the others in attendance?

Wr Anne Collins, Patrick Mathews

Dir Alan Crosland

2 - 14 SPACED OUT

Diana/Wonder Woman seeks to recover stolen crystals from a cunning jewel thief at a science fiction convention.

Wr Bill Taylor

Dir Ivan Dixon

2 - 15 THE STARSHIPS ARE COMING

Wonder Woman must find out the truth behind a supposed alien landing before serious consequences occur as a result.

Wr Glen Olson, Rod Baker, Anne Collins

Dir Alan Crosland

2 - 16 AMAZON HOT WAX

Going undercover to stop extortionists in the record industry gives Diana a chance to show off her vocal abilities.

Wr Alan Brennert

Dir Ray Austin

2 - 17 THE RICHEST MAN IN THE WORLD

Diana must find a reclusive millionaire who is the only one who can help her with a secret device that scrambles missile-guidance systems.

Wr Jackson Gillis, Anne Collins

Dir Don McDougall

2 - 18 A DATE WITH DOOMSDAY

A computer-dating service is the unexpected hiding place for a deadly virus that was stolen from a government laboratory.

Wr Roland Starke, Dennis Landa

Dir Curtis Harrington

2 - 20 THE GIRL WITH THE GIFT OF DISASTER

A plan to steal priceless historical documents centers around a woman who 'attracts disaster'.

Wr Alan Brennert

Dir Alan Crosland

2 - 21 THE BOY WHO KNEW HER SECRET (1-2)

Alien life-forms shaped like small pyramids come to earth and imprison the minds of humans who touch them.

Wr Anne Collins

Dir Leslie H. Martinson

2 - 22 THE MAN WHO COULD NOT DIE

Wonder Woman goes up against a super-man who is as strong as she is, and a criminal genius who has special powers.

Wr Anne Collins

Dir John Newland

2 - 23 PHANTOM OF THE ROLLER COASTER (1-2)

Searching for the leader of a foreign spy ring, Wonder Woman goes to a Washington amusement park where she encounters a disfigured veteran who lives under the roller coaster and 'haunts' the park as its 'phantom'.

Wr Anne Collins

Dir John Newland

NEW AVENGERS, THE

Seven years after blasting off into space with Mrs. Tara King, John Steed returned to Earth with two new partners. Steed's two new partners were Purdey and Mike Gambit. Purdey was quite similar to Steed's former partners. She was intelligent, beautiful and was someone you would not want to pick a fight with. Gambit was a stoic former mercenary .

He was well trained in Kung Fu and was an expert of all types of personnel weapons. Steed was still Steed, the perfect gentleman. Now a middle aged man, Steed would often tackle the less strenuous aspects of the case allowing his younger partners to handle most of the rigorous field work. But when he needed to, Steed could still hold his own in a fight.

Steed, Purdey and Gambit worked for an unnamed branch of the British government and their cases often resembled traditional espionage dramas, often involving plots against the agency itself.

The main writers for the show were Brain Clemens, Dennis Spooner, Terence Felley and John Goldsmith. Directors included Ray Austin, Sidney Hayers and Robert Fuest. TNA carried very much were the Tara King episodes of the AVENGERS left off. There was still many SF stories being made in this series including The Last of the Cybernauts, about killer androids and The Midas Touch, where a diseased carrying man spelt instant death if he was touched.

TNA started of with massive press hype most of it due to Joanna Lumley who started a new craze of hair styles, known as the Purdey Cut. Despite the show being a success abroad, what might have caused it's failure is the fact that four countries were all supplying the money for the show. Each one wanted their own idea's expressed within the show. 1976 saw the return of John Steed with two 'New Avengers' - Joanna Lumley as the long- legged, high-kicking Purdey, and Gareth 'Upstairs Downstairs' Hunt as the dour, kung-fu champ and weapons expert Mike Gambit.

The plots were similar to the Tara King Avengers era, with plenty of spy-type mysteries and less sf, but still stamped with the familiar fantasy style. The Cybernauts returned for one more crack at Steed and Co. in The Last of the Cybernauts . . . ? , a disease-carrying man whose touch spelt instant death stalked Purdey in The Midas Touch, and a man with the power to control birds was intent on taking over the world with his feathered army in Cat Amongst the Pigeons.

The New Avengers was an international co-production. Beside money from the ITV network in Britain, money also came from France, Canada and CBS in the United States. As part of the co-production deal not all of the episodes were made in Britain. In both series several of the episodes were made and set in France; while the final four episodes of the second were made in Canada and called The New Avengers in Canada on screen.

For its part in the venture CBS did not ask for any of the episodes to be made in the US. CBS did not begin to run the series until a year after it finished its first run in the UK. When CBS did show The New Avengers it was in a 70 minute long late night time slot, allowing for extra commercials. The series was also preempted in many parts of the country for local programmes. The New Avengers was shown in the United States as one season on CBS in 1978.

Despite massive press hype (much of it centring on Joanne Lumley's stockings), the New Avengers never achieved the renown of their 1960s predecessors, though the series did good business around the world. Gareth Hunt is perhaps most famous for being the Nescafe man who would shake his clenched fist every time he wanted a cup of coffee and then open his palm to magically reveal a hand full of coffee beans. Off course, the actor (born in London in 1943) would probably prefer to be known for his artistic work. His first TV role was as Frederick the footman in Upstairs, Downstairs. The, following the New Avengers, he turned to comedy and appeared in the sitcoms That Beryl Marston and Side by Side.

He's guest starred in several series including Minder, An Actor's Life for Me, Emu's Wide World and DOCTOR WHO (as Arak in Planet of the Spiders). He's done relatively little film work, but has appeared in Chorus of Disapproval and It Couldn't Happen Here.

In this updated version of The Avengers, Patrick MacNee returned as John Steed, joined by two young agents: Purdey (Joanna Lumley) and Gambit (Gareth Hunt). The 26 episodes were aired in Britain and Canada and picked up by CBS for late-night broadcasts in 1978. The series did lukewarm business in North America but was a smash hit in the international market.

WR. Brian Clemens, Dennis Spooner, Terence Freely, John Goldsmith.

DIR. Desmond Davis, Ray Austin, Sidney Hayers, Robert Fuest, John Hough, James Hill, Graeme Clifford, Ernest Day, Yvon Marie Coulais, Richard Gilbert, George Fournier, Don Thompson.

EPISODES: 26 YEAR MADE: 1977 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 2

AVENGERS FILM AND TV ENTERPRISES/IDTV TV

CREATOR: SYDNEY NEWMAN & LEONARD WHIE

TYPE OF SHOW: CRIME FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 13, (2) 13

DATE OF PREMIER: 19/10/1976 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 01/12/1977

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS: THE AVENGERS (1998).

John Steed PATRICK MACNEE, Purdey JOANNA LUMLEY, Gambit GARETH HUNT.

Books Based on this series.

THE NEW AVENGERS: CYBERNAUTS	Peter Cave	1977
THE NEW AVENGERS: FIGHTING MEN	Justin Cartwright	1977
THE NEW AVENGERS: HOSTAGE	Peter Cave	1977
THE NEW AVENGERS: HOUSE OF CARDS	Peter Cave	1976
THE NEW AVENGERS: THE EAGLES NEST	John Carter	1976
THE NEW AVENGERS: TO CATCH A RAT	Walter Harris	1977

RELATED SHOWS:

AVENGERS,THE

- 1 - 1 THE EAGLE'S NEST
- 1 - 2 HOUSE OF CARDS
- 1 - 3 THE LAST OF THE CYBERNAUTS...?
- 1 - 4 THE MIDAS TOUCH
- 1 - 5 CAT AMONGST THE PIGEONS
- 1 - 6 TARGET!
- 1 - 7 TO CATCH A RAT
- 1 - 8 THE TALE OF THE BIG WHY
- 1 - 9 FACES
- 1 - 10 GNAWS
- 1 - 11 DIRTIER BY THE DOZEN
- 1 - 12 SLEEPER
- 1 - 13 THREE HANDED GAME
- 2 - 1 DEAD MEN ARE DANGEROUS
- 2 - 2 ANGELS OF DEATH
- 2 - 3 MEDIUM RARE

- 2 - 4 THE LION AND THE UNICORN
- 2 - 5 OBSESSION
- 2 - 6 TRAP
- 2 - 7 HOSTAGE
- 2 - 8 K IS FOR KILL (PART 1) - THE TIGER AWAKES
- 2 - 9 K IS FOR KILL (PART 2) - THE TIGER BY THE TAIL
- 2 - 10 COMPLEX
- 2 - 11 FORWARD BASE
- 2 - 12 THE GLADIATORS
- 2 - 13 EMILY

NEW EXPLOITS OF ELAINE,THE

A sequel, or rather a ten episode extension, to The Exploits of Elaine, which had been released in December 1914. It again stars White as Elaine and Daly as the scientific detective Craig Kennedy who constantly has to rescue the energetic but luckless Elaine from the clutches of Wu Fang (Arden). He finds his search for the treasure of the Clutching Hand (the villain of The Exploits of Elaine) thwarted at every turn by Elaine and Craig, which leads him to attempt to dispose of them first, but to no avail as Kennedy keeps saving Elaine by resort to his array of scientific gadgets (including a computer, a sort of lie detector called a sphygmograph and various communication devices).

After a number of adventures involving secret passageways, a mysterious ring, an explosive called trodite, a chair prone to spontaneous combustion and a new model torpedo, Kennedy and Fang fall into sharkinfested waters. Fang's half-eaten body is washed up on shore but there is no trace of Kennedy, suggesting the next sequel may bring the solution, The Romance of Elaine (1915).

All three serials benefitted from a gigantic nationwide publicity campaign waged in William Randolph Hearst's newspapers and magazines, From a cinematic point of view,the White serials were not out of the ordinary when compared to The Black Box or The Diamond from the Sky (both 1915).

Compared to Leonce Perret's L'X Noir (1915), the White films were shoddily made and compared to Lady Baffles and Detective Duck (1915), they were unimaginatively scripted. Although White's role has been seen as emancipatory, the charming crook Lady Baffles, who constantly keeps her scientific detective on the defensive while White always has to be rescued by her protector, offers a far wittier and positive character for women to identify with. Although undoubtedly a fast-paced adventure story that thrives on making people and objects in the picture move, the suspicion must remain that the status of the White serials in film history has been bought by Hearst. The serial was produced by Theodore W. Wharton and the cinematographer was Joseph Dubray.

WR. Bertram Milhauser, Arthur B. Reeve, Charles L. Goodard.

DIR. Joseph A. Golden, Louis Gasnier.

EPISODES: 10 YEAR MADE: 1915 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

WHARTON PROD CO/PATHE EXCHANGE

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: CRIME

FORMAT: CINEMA SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 10

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

PEARL WHITE, CREIGHTON HALE, ARNOLD DALY, EDWIN ARDEN, M.W. RALE.

RELATED SHOWS:

EXPLOITS OF ELAINE,THE

ROMANCE OF ELAINE,THE

NEW ORIGINAL WONDER WOMAN, THE

Set during World War II it told the tale of Princess Diana, an immortal resident of Paradise Island. All of the residents of Paradise Island are amazon women, men being forbidden to live her. Steve Trevor, an American pilot, is shot down over Paradise Island, rescued by the amazons and nursed back to health. Since he cannot stay a contest is held to determine who will take him back to the man's world. Princess Diana who had developed a crush on him wins the contest and brings him back to civilisation.

She decided to stay with him in the guise of his new secretary Diana Prince and help defeat the Nazi's, but in her civilian identity and as the super heroine Wonder Woman. Besides strength and abilities that are above and beyond those of mere mortals, Wonder Woman also has at her disposal metal bracelets which can deflect bullets, an invisible airplane and a golden lasso which causes whomever is captured by it to obey Wonder Woman's commands.

Based on the comic strip character of the same name Wonder Woman, the TV series had two distinctive formats and several title changes during the four years that it was on the air. All of the episodes from all of the versions are know in syndication under the banner Wonder Woman. The first version of Wonder Woman first appeared as The New Original Wonder Woman, a 90 minute TV movie in the fall of 1975 on ABC.

The movie proved succesfull enough for ABC to order two hour long episodes featuring Wonder Woman, these went by the title The New, Original Wonder Woman and were aired during the spring of 1976 as a replacement for THE BIONIC WOMAN which went on hiatus whilst its star Lindsay Wagner recovered from an injury. These proved successful enough and 11 more episodes were ordered for the fall of 1976, going by the title of Wonder Woman, these episodes were run mostly on a sporadic basis, all of the ABC episodes were set during World War II and for the most part featured Wonder Woman battling the Nazi's in one form or another.

A very young Debra Winger appeared in several of the ABC episodes as Wonder Woman's younger sister, Drusilla, aka: Wonder Girl. Before the Lynda Carter version of Wonder Woman finally made it to television, two other attempts had been made to bring the character to television. The first of these was Wonder Woman, an unaired pilot produced in 1966. This short pilot was produced by William Dozier - the man responsible for BATMAN and The Green Hornet - and was so campy it made BATMAN look serious.

In this untitled story Wonder Woman's mother tries to talk Wonder Woman into having a good meal before she sets out to rescue Steve Trevor (whose plane may be in trouble due to a storm). The second of these was a 90 minute television movie entitled, Wonder Woman that aired in 1974. It starred Cathy Lee Crosby in the title role, wearing a costume that looks nothing like the one in the comic. Also starring in this second effort was Kaz Kazras, Ricardo Motalban and Andrew Prine, Charlene Halt and Anita Ford. The story line dealt with Wonder Woman helping the US government in recovering a book listing all of their agents abroad. In Britain this version has only been seen on Sky, and even then not until the early nineties. Producers for the series were Wilfred Baumes, John G. Stevens and Bruce Lansbury.

First appearing in comics in 1941, Wonder Woman was the creation of a psychoJogist, Dr. William Moulton Marston. Using the pen name Charles Moulton, Dr. Marston attempted to create a female superhero character as popular as Superman. Endowed with superhuman strength, Diana Prince comes from the hidden Paradise Island in the Bermuda Triangle, inhabited completely by powerful women with a remarkable history: Centuries ago, when the war god Ares and the love goddess Aphrodite quarreled about whether strength or love should rule, Ares sent soldiers to enslave women. In reply, Aphrodite created from clay a race of warrior women-the Amazons. Their powers were derived from a magic girdle worn by the queen Hippolyte. But when mighty Hercules stoJe the girdle, the Amazons were all caught and held prisoners. After Aphrodite rescued them, she gave them a home at Paradise IsJand, where no man is allowed.

As the Wonder Woman legend goes, when Major Steve Trevor, during World War II, crashlanded on Paradise Island, the queen decreed that a champion had to go into the world of men to fight eviJ. After a long and arduous competition (well documented in the pilot for the series) Diana Prince, the queen's own daughter, won the games and was appointed Wonder Woman. To aid her in the world of men, Diana was given an invisible plane, a magic golden lasso that would compel captives to tell the truth, and the famous bracelets that bounced bullets away from her.

The story of Wonder Woman's graduation to television goes back to the late 1960s when Stanley Ralph Ross, a screenwriter, was working on the Batman TV series. Says Ross, "William Dozier, executive producer of Batman, came to me and said he had acquired the rights to Wonder Woman. I was a comics expert and agreed to give it a try. He said he was going to do it as a half-hour comedy."

A script by MAD magazine staffers Stan Hart and Larry Siegel was not working out, so Ross pitched in and gave it a try. "I made it over the top," he says. "I made it more campy than what the other guys did. We shot a seven- or eight-minute example. It was like a presentation, directed by Leslie Martinson. It was then presented to the guy at Fox, Douglas Cramer."

But Cramer did not like what he saw. Ross describes what followed: "Dissolve. Years go by. Doug Cramer is now on his own. He calls me up and says, 'I'm thinking of doing Wonder Woman. I know you were there the first time. I know I didn't want to do it, but what you did was good. How would you like to do this?' I said, 'Tell me what you've got set already.' He said, 'We got Cathy Lee Crosby set,' and I said, 'Cathy Lee Crosby is wrong! Wonder Woman has dark hair!' He said, 'What are you talking about?' I said, 'Cathy is a nice lady. I've played tennis with her. But she's wrong for the part.' Doug answered, 'No, no, no! We're going to do it with Cathy.' 'It's wrong! I'm not going to do it!' He said, 'You're turning down the job?' I said, 'Yes.'" John D.F. Black got the screenwriting job, and in 1974, audiences witnessed the TV movie with Crosby, co-starring Ricardo Montalban as the villain Abner.

This Wonder Woman bore very little resemblance to her comics progenitor. The film was a modern-day, straight action-adventure treatment that strictly avoided the campiness of the comics. Cathy Lee Crosby wore, instead of a one-piece star-spangled suit, a polyester track suit intended to update the character's image for the modern world. "The show got treacherous reviews but pretty good ratings. Which indicated to them that the idea was a good one," recalls Ross. "Then, they came back to me again and said, 'Ok, how would you do it?'" Sending ABC the meticulous notes he had been keeping for years, Ross finally landed for himself a role in bringing Wonder Woman to life, not from clay, but from celluloid film.

"They liked what they saw, and I wrote it based in the 1940s," says Ross. "I based it partly on the Morton bomb site—a real place, by the way. If you see the pilot, there's a Morton bomb site. So I used a lot of truth in the story. And I really saw it as a comedy. Now, Leonard Horn was signed to direct. Doug Cramer came to me and said, 'Stanley, this is too funny! You have to punch it down!' "The normal expression is 'punch it up' when you talk about adding jokes. He wants me to punch it down because it's too funny. 'No, I don't think so.' 'Yes it is! If you don't take it down, Stanley, I'll get someone else and you'll wind up with half a credit.'"

Mumbling under his breath, "If this turns out to be a series, I don't want to do this," Ross went back to the typewriter, "and made it a lot duller than my original. Leonard Horn, the director, took a copy of the original—which is why he was excited about taking the job—and made copies of it, and he gave it to the actors. He said, 'This is what I'd like to do.' Then he gave them the final script, and said, 'This is what I have to do.'" According to Ross, he wanted Wonder Woman to be funny because "I wanted it to have ample humor. Joy. I was a Batman writer. I like to write fun! I don't like to write a dull, serious show. I mean, that's why Batman was so successful. And shows like Columbo with humor don't work."

Eventually, Lynda Carter won the part of Wonder Woman, but other casting decisions were made at an earlier stage: in the writing. For instance, while walking through the CBS parking lot one day, Ross bumped into Lyle Waggoner. "Lyle is trying to get close to me. 'Stanley, ever since I've done Carol Burnett, nothing's happened! Do you know anything I can do?' I said, 'Let me see if I can come up with anything.'" Back to the typewriter. Taking a sheet of paper, Ross tapped the following passage into the script: "'Steve Trevor, a Lyle Waggoner type—better yet, get Lyle Waggoner.'" No actor could ask for a better recommendation.

"I wrote it for Lyle," reveals Ross. "Specifically, for Lyle. And in the pilot, I wrote the Nazi guy specifically for Kenny Mars. He does Nazis the best. He did it in The Producers and in Young Frankenstein. And I wrote his assistant for Henry Gibson, a friend of mine. I like him, and I like to write for them. I wrote for people I know." Asked about Ross's story, Lyle Waggoner says simply; "I've known Stanley for a long time. I don't know this parking lot story, but that may have been the case. Yes, he did write the part for me in mind."

Waggoner agrees that making the show less funny was not a good idea. Indeed, Waggoner professes to enjoying the first season of the show much more than the subsequent two seasons, when it moved over to CBS in a straight action-adventure format that distanced itself from the camp roots installed by Ross. Should producers have kept the approach more cartoon-like? "No question about it," says Waggoner. "Absolutely. That was the way they did Batman, and Batman was funny and entertaining. Doing a dramatic show out of a cartoon character-that's ridiculous. I much preferred to stay in the 1940s period, during World War II, so we [could] have some fun with it."

Waggoner feels Maj. Steve Trevor had the same relationship with Wonder Woman that Lois Lane had with Superman, albeit with the roles reversed. He says that he didn't really have any problems with the fact that the characters were fairly one-dimensional. Wonder Woman was a comic book, and he liked the show best when there were no pretensions to anything serious.

Waggoner says it was "fun going to work on the studio lot, to have a regular job on a national series." He also enjoyed the exposure it gave him to an important segment of the viewing public: children.

"In my experience on The Carol Burnett Show, we were playing to an older group. And now, I was being introduced to the kids! They would recognize me for many years to come, and that was fun. But it was even more interesting to be able to entertain kids but at the same time do double entendre so that adults would appreciate the humor." Waggoner says he found that adults appreciated mostly the first-season segments. "We'd do tongue-in-cheek jokes and the kids wouldn't even get them, you know? [But we lost that] when we went to the modern format."

One of many directors for the first season of the show was actor and director Stuart Margolin. "I remember directing a segment in particular ["Last of the Two Dollar Bills"] -a counterfeiting plot," he reminisces. "I remember it fondly because I think it turned out very well. We shot a lot of film at the beach and at the backlot of Warner Bros., and I thought some scenes worked very well. It was my first experience working with Lynda. She was pretty new to the business at the time and, oh, she was perfect for the role. I think she was in a rock-and-roll band prior to doing the show. She was very eager to work, obviously stunningly beautiful. I recall walking onto the lot on the street and seeing a woman coming toward me. And I thought, 'This woman is stunning!' and I didn't recognize her because she didn't have her Wonder Woman hairstyle or clothes on. I think probably a part like that, with somebody who is not well trained, is a difficult career move-difficult to move away from that. She was certainly a good Wonder Woman, and I think she probably could have done a lot more things, and maybe she will. But I don't know, at that point in her career, if she had the 'chops' to tackle other things."

For a second segment, "Bushwackers," Margolin got to work with legendary star and cowboy, Roy Rogers. "Having watched him in my childhood, walking up to Roy Rogers and saying 'Roy, I want you to ride that way' was thrilling. "If I recall correctly, Roy Rogers made a pass at Wonder Woman, albeit a very nice one. Nothing salacious-just a very charming, kind of flirtatious comment, which I thought, considering his age, was fabulous. I don't blame him at all. I don't think I had the courage to make a pass at Lynda Carter." Stephen Kandel, a screenwriter on Wonder Woman, recalls his work on the show as a fun stint. "I've always enjoyed science fiction and fantasy as a genre," says Kandel, who has worked on a number of other science fiction shows, such as Star Trek. "One two-parter I wrote ["Mind Stealers from Outer Space"] involved an extraterrestrial court passing a sober judgment on our species, deciding whether humanity deserved to exist. True, the balance was tipped in our favor by Wonder Woman herself, but I was able to pose the question quite seriously."

Kandel says that the reason for the format change from a campy, spoof approach to a straighter, action-adventure style, was "to make it more relevant to an audience which didn't remember World War II. It also opened the format up a little, making a wider range of stories possible." Calvin Clements, Jr., the screenwriter of "The Bermuda Triangle Crisis," remembers that "it was great fun-you can't take it seriously. You take it tongue-in-cheek. My children ... were proud as they could be. They went around telling their friends that their dad had been chosen to do a Wonder Woman. And they loved the episode, and so did I."

Like Clements, Margaret Armen, who wrote the first series episode ("Wonder Woman Meets Baroness Von Gunther") enjoyed making her contributions to the show. "I was doing a quick last-minute rewrite [on "Baroness Von Gunther"] and they were casting the episode," she recalls. "The only office they could put me in was the associate producer's, and they were also reading the actors in that office. So, I was at the typewriter, writing, and these actors would be coming in, reading for the role of one of the heavies, one of the Nazi criminals, and they were just going for broke and I'd stop the typewriter when ever they started reading. It was all cold readings, and about five came in, and the director [Barry Crane] didn't like any of them. The sixth guy came in and just threw himself into the role, and the director had his back to me, watching. And I was motioning, to the story editor, over the director's head as though I had a hammer and was hammering him on the head because I wanted to finish typing my two scenes. Suddenly, the director turned around and I was stuck with my fist raised in the air. Fortunately, the sixth guy got the role and I could finish my scenes. [Crane] was a perfectionist."

Armen has a varied and productive background as a writer. She served three terms on the board of directors for the Writers Guild; she was a member of the board of governors with the Television Academy; and she has written westerns, TV movies and, of course, science fiction and fantasy shows. For Armen, Wonder Woman series of military missions that have gone awry due to acts of sabotage. Investigating the situation and determined to clear the man she loves, Wonder Woman learns that Trevor is being framed by a Nazi spy ring.

Wr Margaret Armen

Dir Barry Crane

1 - 3 FAUSTA: THE NAZI WONDER WOMAN

Perhaps the most discussed and favorite episode of WW fans during the show's run, Wonder Woman faces her deadliest test when an evil female Nazi operative comes to America to capture Wonder Woman and learn the secret of her amazing powers, then brainwash her into using her powers to help Hitler's quest during World War 2. Fausta disguises herself as Wonder Woman during a Bond selling rally, and with a little help from her fellow Nazi agents (not to mention a trick stage and a cloth soaked with chloroform), bags her prey and takes the real Wonder Woman to Germany. Can Steve Trevor save the day? Stay tuned!

Wr David Ketchum, Bruce Shelly

Dir Barry Crane

1 - 4 BEAUTY ON PARADE

When Wonder Woman's alter-ego, Diana Prince, enters a suspicious beauty contest to uncover the truth behind the sabotage of radar scanning equipment, she and Steve discover that there is something much more insidious underway that threatens the security of the United States.

Wr Ron Friedman

Dir Richard Kinon

1 - 5 THE FEMINUM MYSTERY (1-2)

An espionage tale involving the Nazis stealing the prototype for America's first jet, the XPJ-1. For Wonder Woman, it escalates into something far more horrible when her sister Drusilla, on a mission for Paradise Island's Queen, is kidnapped while in America.

Wr Jimmy Sangster

Dir Herb Wallerstein

1 - 6 WONDER WOMAN VS GARGANTUA

The Amazon Princess must fight a Nazi-controlled gorilla who has been trained to retrieve a defecting agent whose knowledge poses a threat to Hitler's agenda.

Wr David Ketchum, Tony DiMarco

Dir Charles R. Rondeau

1 - 7 THE PLUTO FILE

Wonder Woman has her hands full when an Irish mercenary named Fallon steals an American-developed device that can control or eliminate earthquakes. To make matters worse, Fallon is also a carrier of the Bubonic Plague and, as such, threatens America on two levels.

Wr Herbert Bermann

Dir Herb Wallerstein

1 - 8 LAST OF THE $2 BILLS

The Nazis replace the man in charge of the Bureau of Printing and Engraving with a surgically altered double to engage in a counterfeiting scheme with the purpose of collapsing the American economy.

Wr Paul Dubov, Gwen Bagni

Dir Stuart Margolin

1 - 9 JUDGEMENT FROM OUTER SPACE (1-2)

Wonder Woman joins forces with a friendly alien from outer space to prevent the destruction of the world

Wr Stephen Kandel

Dir Alan Crosland

1 - 10 FORMULA 407

Wonder Woman goes south of the border to recover a top secret formula stolen by the Nazis.

Wr Elroy Schwartz

Dir Herb Wallerstein

1 - 11 BUSHWACKERS, THE

Wonder Woman goes to Texas where she is confronted by a dangerous ring of pistol-packing rustlers.

Wr Skip Webster

Dir Stuart Margolin

1 - 12 WONDER WOMAN IN HOLLYWOOD

Wonder Woman arrives in Hollywood and discovers some behind the scenes action that's not in the script.

Wr Jimmy Sangster

Dir Bruce Bilson

NEW PEOPLE, THE

Forty American college students, part of a Southeast Asia cultural exchange tour, are marooned on a lost island in the South Pacific after their plane crashes. The island is Bomano, once designated as the site for an atomic bomb test. The students find a makeshift city, left behind by the Atomic Energy Commission. The castaways, realizing that they're thousands of miles away from the nearest shipping lanes, must now build their own world. For them, it's Year One.

"Can young people, having experienced a bad start in the old society, make things better if they're free from old pressures to start over again?" asks New People director Corey Allen. "I thought it was a terrific question for a TV series to ask." The question was framed during the turbulent 1960s, when many young people were questioning their government and its power over them. Without question, The New People was aimed directly at a youthful audience.

"We are enormously excited over the challenge to create meaningful, quality programming that will make young people feel, 'This is our show,'" stated a press release from the producers in 1969. To ensure that the students wouldn't have to spend their time foraging for food and seeking shelter each week, they were supplied with an abandoned city. "The locale of an island with a city was chosen so that the young inhabitants will not become savages," the press release stated. "This is not primarily a struggle for physical survival."

Instead, the students grappled with more philosophical conflicts. "We wanted them to deal with social and moral dilemmas," recalls story editor Earl Booth. "Religion, ethics, morality, crime, justice, marriage, monogamy." The ABC press release concluded, "While a few of the students will be preoccupied with leaving the island, most will accept the reality that they will never go home."

As depicted in the pilot film, most of the students were totally self centered. The only adult survivor of the crash, an injured government man named Hannicheck (Richard Kiley), and one student, George Potter, are left to bury the nine plane crash casualties while the other youths go gallivanting off to party in the city. With Hannicheck's death, however, comes the end of fun and games. "These young rebels now had to come to terms with being on their own", notes David Moses, who played the young black man, Gene Washington. "We realize we had been criticizing our society from a very safe place inside our fathers' mansions. When our parents die, as represented by Richard Kiley's character, a tremendous fear grips us. Now we have to take charge and make this society work."

More properly an allegorical fantasy than an adventure or science fiction series, The New People dispensed with the inherent mysteries of the island in favor of morality plays. The science fiction angle was played up in the 1969 novelization of the series, written by Alex Steele, in which the castaways battled radioactive sea creatures. The closest the series came to science fiction was the segment "Panic in the Sand" in which a mysterious illness fells the islanders. The series' main focus was on the students as they tried to shape their world without repeating the mistakes of the old one. The character of Susan Bradley proclaims early on, "We can have instant peace!" This naivete fades as their society begins to mirror the old one. Some blacks separate themselves from the whites; some men demand power over women; and some students find the island a perfect sanctuary for immorality.

The actors in The New People had their own challenge: to make the series a success. "It was my first professional job," recalls David Moses. "When Aaron Spelling called me, I was a riveter at Northrup Corporation at Aerospace. I was raising a family and waiting for my big break. Aaron said, 'We've been testing every black actor in town for this role. We might as well see you.'" Moses got the part. Moses quickly took an interest in the series. "It had more potential than any other series I'd seen," he says. "It was an opportunity for young kids to demonstrate that they could do at least as well, if not better than the previous generation. Rod Serling and I got together a couple of times and talked about the character." Moses' character of Gene Washington began as a bitter, hostile young man. He mellowed as he realized he had equal say in the development of the new society. "He was on his way to becoming a man," explains the actor.

"Like all of the young people, Gene was testing who he was, what he was made of, where he had been, and where he was going.

Cast member Jill Jaress was also new to TV acting. "It was my first job, ever," she says. "On the first day of filming, I went to the director and said, 'Would you look out for me?' He said, 'What do you mean?' I said, 'The only camera I've been in front of was my father's Brownie Hawkeye.'" Jaress was a last-minute addition to the cast, as the affable Ginny Loomis. "Ginny was the comedic relief," Jaress says. "A free spirit. I wasn't in the pilot. They originally planned ten regulars and ended up firing six of them. They hired me and Dennis Olivieri (Stanley) to fill out the series' cast. I had come out from Detroit a year earlier, when I was 18 years old. I didn't know a soul here. I went to acting class for a year and then I got The New People. I thought that happened to everybody!"

As the actors explored their characters, the writers and producers went to work fashioning believable scenarios for their stars. Although Rod (The Twilight Zone) Serling had scripted the pilot (under the pseudonym of John Phillips), producer Harold Gast confirms that Serling was not involved in the actual series. According to the show's early publicity, Serling was to have remained as series consultant. "I was engaged to produce The New People after the pilot was made", recalls Gast. "I know for a fact that Serling had nothing whatsoever to do with the series."

"The characters were all fairly representative, if somewhat shallow of the 1960s," says Earl Booth. "Harold Gast and I were excited about the prospect of showing these young people building a new society. Early on, everyone was eager and cooperative. It was during the last half of production that distinct displeasure came to the forefront. The network was unhappy with the way the show was developing, and it led to bitter battles. ABC wanted to make it, purely and simply, an adventure show."

"The show had almost nothing to do with 1960s people," claims writer Stephen Kandel. "There was an attempt to fit things into a 1950s mold. There was friction [from the network] from the beginning. The original premise was that the students would experiment with social ideas. Communism. Fascism. Forced breeding to maintain a viable genetic stock. Pacifism. Hedonism. Gay/lesbian/hetero sexuality. You can imagine how ecstatic the network was at seeming to promote lesbian commie geneticism. The pilot, by Rod Serling, was striking. For the weekly series, the network wanted a cross between Gilligan's Island and Beverly Hills, 90210. The New People was postulated upon ideas, and that's always risky. With the best and the worst of intentions, it foundered quickly."

Two of Kandel's three New People scripts were filmed. The writer particularly remembers "Murderer," dealing with a student on trial for pushing another student off a cliff. "In the original script, the castaways had to recreate the Rule of Law," says Kandel. "The conflict dealt with the question of society's right to execute or to imprison, or to understand and forgive. The problem was, the network didn't want to deal with that. They wanted it softened. I refused, on the whimsical theory that they had agreed to the story I had written. Harold Gast, a remarkably decent man, finally made the changes, and I retained a scrap of my illusions. I believe the ending was solved by a force majeure gimmick: the alleged killer was actually innocent. The victim had slipped and fallen."

"The series was sort of like Lord of the Flies, except with college-educated people [instead of children]," notes Jill Jaress. "It could have been a wonderfully futuristic show. I felt, though, that by having the city come complete with electricity and everything, it defeated the intriguing part of the situation. I would have had the kids start from scratch, without any conveniences. We could have shown them using solar energy and building windmills or burning garbage to create energy."

One of the charges leveled at the series was that it was created by older people for younger people and that the students came off as Hollywood stereotypes. "It did deal with the issues from a middle-aged perspective," says Jaress. "It turned into, 'Oh, the new people fucked up again this week!' If a student had to handle an issue in a radical way, it was usually in a negative manner, or a violent one. We'd mess up and learn it was better to do things the old way." Considering the premise, however, Jaress admits the series was a challenge to write for. "I'm not blaming all of this on the writers," she says. "What The New People required was visionary writing. That's kind of hard to do when you're trying to beat a deadline. The series was a wonderful venue that they kinda missed the boat on."

"I'm afraid The New People was too on the nose for TV at that time," reflects David Moses. "We didn't let up on the message. Rather than allow the audience to come to terms with, 'Hey, these kids are really making it,' we hit it on the nose every week. But we wanted to demonstrate that these kids could rise above their limitations and make a new society. It wouldn't be based on money value or skin color or ethnicity. It was based on 'Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.' The basic premise was terrific." Looking back on the series, the actor says, "The pilot episode was great. We also did an episode called The Prisoner of Bomano with Billy Dee Williams and Judy Pace. It was about the power struggle between the blacks on the island. They take me prisoner and accuse me of being an Uncle Tom. It was a dilemma that was very lifelike because many minorities find themselves in that situation, especially if they've risen to a level of prominence in an otherwise white society. I didn't have to manufacture any character motivation for that. In the series, Gene was friends with the white characters played by Jill, Dennis, Tiffany Bolling, Peter Ratray and Zooey Hall. On the other hand, was my allegiance to the characters played by Billy Dee and Judy because we're the same color? My character had to do what was right. His enemies turned out to be Billy and Judy's characters. The people I loved, and who cared for me, were the white kids. It was an incredible issue to deal with. It was an outstanding episode."

Aside from the dramatic nature of the episodes, the actors faced the challenges of a physically demanding series. Most of the beach exteriors for The New People were filmed in Malibu. "We filmed one episode at Paradise Cove," says Moses. "Zooey and I were on the side of a mountain having a fight. It was really kind of dangerous. They had put netting along the sides of the mountain so if we fell we wouldn't get killed. Zooey was supposed to piss me off, and I take a swing at him. We had the fight choreographed. Well, I took two steps instead of three and accidentally knocked the shit out of him. I almost knocked him over the cliff edge. But we just kept going, wrestling to the ground with the cameras rolling. I could see the look in my friend Zooey's eyes: 'Why you Mother-----!' Another time, actress Brenda Scott was supposed to be stuck out on this raft. When it cracks up, she yells for help and I'm called in to save her. Well, I don't know why they picked me, because I can't swim. We filmed this in a watertank with wind machines blowing at us. I'm pretending to swim through the water. I could touch the bottom, so I felt fine. But I drifted over my head and down I went. Brenda saw me gulping for air, and she jumped off the raft and pulled me to the surface. Talk about being put in your place. I was too busy spitting water to thank her for saving my life!"

"One guest star who stands out in my mind is Richard Dreyfuss," recalls Jill Jaress. "He was wonderful. He played this biochemist named Owen Rudd. Richard was so cocky. When he walked on that set, he commanded attention. I was really upset that I didn't get any scenes with him." Jaress did get an episode to herself, but the results weren't rewarding. "Ginny was beaten up, thrown off a cliff, pushed into the ocean, and dragged up the side of a mountain. Just another day in the life of the new people! They had a courtroom scene where I'm telling everybody what happened, and I was really crying. The crew applauded after it was over, and everybody hugged me. But nobody had bothered to tell me that my scene had been shot in an extreme close-up. When people cry their nostrils flare, and they don't look good. So when I saw the scene on TV, I looked like Dumbo, ready for the big jump!"

Former actor Corey Allen directed three segments of the series and recalls, "The New People was one of the first shows I had done as a director. The students were like the starship Enterprise crew. You had a community living in an experimental location. They were flawed people in a compacted situation so you could see what their interactions are. I'm not sure why the series didn't take off. It could have been a matter of casting chemistry. The production values in my episodes, particularly in 'Comes the Revolution, We Use the Girls' Shower' were terrific."

When The New People was canceled, "the ignorance of youth served us well," says Moses. "We all felt cocky enough to think we were gonna become big stars. It was like, 'I'd better get back to the phone because it's gonna be the big call.' Underneath all of that, I was heartbroken. We were opposite Laugh-In. We were coupled with a lead-in called The Music Scene, and we came on at 8:15. I mean, nobody was going to switch off Laugh-In to watch us. I was hard pressed not to watch Laugh-In myself. It was the biggest show on TV I wish the network had moved us around." "We were up against Lucy, Gunsmoke and Laugh-In," says Jill Jaress. "It was a time slot we couldn't win. Those were the three biggest hits on TV at the time."

"I felt The New People turned out pretty well, artistically," says producer Harold Gast. "Practically, however, the outcome was disappointing because we were canceled in mid-season. That left an empty feeling." According to Gast, the 45-minute length was detrimental to the series. "The network strategists somehow figured out that this was the best way to capture a young audience. The Music Scene was also 45 minutes, which the network felt was certain to hook the kids. When The Music Scene ended, the audience would stay tuned to us [at 8:15] because we would be the only show airing at that time. Trouble was, nobody watched The Music Scene in the first place. So we were coming on at a weird time, virtually without a lead-in. Under the circumstances, our ratings weren't bad, but neither were they good enough to guarantee a pick-up. There were several people at the network who liked what we were doing. They were rooting for us, but it came down to the ratings. A lot of hard work was put into the show by all of us."

Unfortunately, The New People has not been screened in North America since its cancellation. "I can see why the series has never been repeated," says Gast. "How can you program a 45minute episode?" However, The New People did emerge briefly, according to Jaress, who says, "The series was shown in Australia the year after it left ABC." She's also found that people still remember the show. "When I met my husband on our very first date, he asked me what I'd done. I said my first series was called The New People. He said, 'I used to watch that when I was in grade school!' I thought, 'Whoa! He really knows how to flatter a woman-he's cool!" There was an aborted effort to make a spaceage version of The New People in the early 1970s. Writer Hal Sidowitz was asked to come up with a theme of young people marooned on the moon. It didn't go beyond the outline stage.

"Nothing has changed over the years," says David Moses. "In Melrose Place and Beverly Hills 90210 [both Aaron Spelling productions] I see the same characters: the Gene Washington, the Susan Bradley, the Ginny Loomis ... it's just more contemporary. The forerunner to The New People was another show by Aaron, The Mod Squad. In terms of acting on The New People, it was an honor to work with the producers, Rod Serling, Richard Kiley and all of the cast. It was a tremendous opportunity." The new people were never rescued from their world, but Jaress ponders, "It would make an interesting movie-of-the-week to go back to that island and see what became of these people 20 years later." Perhaps the final word on The New People comes from Aaron Spelling himself, who declares simply, "I never enjoyed doing a show more. It should have been a breakaway in television. Today, it would be."

CAST NOTES

Tiffany Bolling (Susan): A frequent TV guest star during the 1970s, Bolling co-starred with William Shatner in the film Kingdom of the Spiders (1977). She devoted much of the 1980s to raising her family.

David Moses (Gene): Now a writer, Moses was nominated for an Emmy award for a 1992 After School Special. He also works in television as a post-production coordinator, and in theater as a director.

Jill Jaress (Ginny): A Broadway singer and a writer, Jaress has made numerous appearances on TV and film since The New People, including the films S.O.B. (1981) and Universal Soldier (1992).

Zoey Hall (Bob Lee): Although he left acting, he began a singing career under the name of David Hall.

Peter Ratcay (George): According to Jill Jaress, this Canadian-born actor is "living in New York and doing Broadway." He was on daytime's Another World during 1994-1995.

Dennis Olivieri (Stanley): An actor who seemingly disappeared from the acting scene, "Dennis vanished long before our youth did," says David Moses.

WR. Rod Serling, Harold Gast, Charles McDaniel, George Kirgo, John W. Bloch, Arthur Kean, Edwin Blum, Edward J. Lasko

DIR. George McCowan, William Wiard, Nick Webster, Charles Dubin, Harry Harvey, Jr., Corey Allen.

EPISODES: 17 YEAR MADE: 1969 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

ABC/DANNY THOMAS/AARON SPELLING PRODUCTION

CREATOR: AARON SPELLING, LARRY GORDON (developed by ROD SERLING)

TYPE OF SHOW: EXPLORATION FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 45 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 17

DATE OF PREMIER: 22/09/1969 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 12/01/1970

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Susan Bradley TIFFANY BOLLING, Eugene "Bones" Washington DAVID MOSES, George Potter PETER RATRAY, Robert Lee ZOOEY HALL, Ginny Loomis JILL JARESS, Stanley Gabriel DENNIS OLIVIERI.

Books Based on this series.

THE NEW PEOPLE: THEY CAME FROM THE SEA

ALEX STEELE

1969

RELATED SHOWS:

TWILIGHT ZONE, THE (1958)

NIGHT GALLERY

1 - 1 THE NEW PEOPLE

After crashing on an island, efforts to summon help are threatened by Bull. He's determined to sabotage rescue efforts so that Gene will never be rescued.

Wr John Philips (aka Rod Serling)

Dir George McCowan

1 - 2 PANIC IN THE SAND

1 - 3 THE TIN GOD

- 1 - 4 MURDERER!
- 1 - 5 COMES THE REVOLUTION, WE USE THE GIRLS' SHOWER
- 1 - 6 LIFELINE
- 1 - 7 MARRIAGE, BOMANO STYLE
- 1 - 8 IS THIS ANYWAY TO RUN AN ISLAND?
- 1 - 9 THE DARK SIDE OF THE ISLAND
- 1 - 10 A BRIDE IN BASIC BLACK (AKA THE COURTSHIP) PART 1
- 1 - 11 A BRIDE IN BASIC BLACK (AKA THE SURRENDER) PART 2
- 1 - 12 THE PIED PIPER OF POT
- 1 - 13 SPEED KILLS
- 1 - 14 THE GUNS OF BOMANO
- 1 - 15 THE PRISONER OF BOMANO
- 1 - 16 THE SIEGE OF FERN'S CASTLE
- 1 - 17 ON THE HORIZON

NEW TOMMOROW, THE

AKA: THE TRIBE: THE NEW TOMMOROW

Following the outbreak of a virus, the entire adult population has been wiped out leaving their children to survive alone. Most of the children have formed tribes, each with their own distinct makeup and clothes. Each of these tribes follow different philosophies which invariably lead to conflict.

The first few episodes deal with establishing the characters and setting. The two rivaling tribes of the forest; the warrior Barbs, lead by the headstrong Zora, and the farmer Ants, lead by the religious and peaceful Phaygar, both live in fear of two things: the machines, and the Privileged, a power hungry-tribe lead by the equally power-hungry Flame, who is assisted by his advisor Harmony, and warrior leader Shadow.

An outsider named Skye finds his way into the Barb tribe; he doesn't know where he came from, and his memory is messed up. He quickly makes friends there. An ant whose name is Dan meets the Barb tribe, and decides he wants to be Barb, and not an Ant. Later, the Privs attack the Barb tribe, but Flame is defeated by Skye, and runs away.

During this time, Flame has also let one of the Discarded (the Privs slaves) become a Priv. Her name is Gwen.

Following the attack, the Barbs and the Ants decide they must work together; they join forces, and decide, to avoid argument, that Skye must lead the tribes that are now working together. They make their base in the Ant tribe, and despite a few arguments, are willing to try to get along.

Flame sends Gwen out as a spy to the tribes. She pretends to be an escaped discard; she meets Dan, who is actually her brother. Despite her brother being there, she stays loyal to Flame and gives him crucial information. When she is going back to Privs (the Ants and Barbs don't know she's a spy yet) she asks Dan to come with her. He says no, and she goes back on her own.

With the new information, Flame kidnaps Phaygar and Skye when they are out on a patrol. The Ants and Barbs are devastated about this, and Zora takes lead of the tribes.

Shadow and Harmony both are starting to get sick of Flame's selfishness... and they begin to scheme against him. Eventually, Flame and the Ant/Barbs decide a way to settle their differences: a game of passball (which is similar to the game Rugby). The Privs narrowly lose, and Harmony overthrows Flame, and Flame is taken by the Ant/Barbs and is kept prisoner. Although Harmony promised they would work together, she betrays Shadow and Discards him.

Phaygar and Skye escape from the Discards: so does Shadow, and we don't see him again for the rest of the series. (Fans think he met with the 'Bird' tribe. Keep reading.) The tribes are overjoyed with the return of Phaygar and Skye. Phaygar and Zora have a few arguments, but then decide to share leadership of the tribe. Flame is set free, although he must work like the rest of the Ants and Barbs. Skye and Dan, out on a patrol find a strange young boy... but it seems he can't speak. They take him back to the tribe and let him do what he wants.

Harmony needs a personal assistant. She chooses Gwen. Although it seems like Gwen is Harmony's slave at first, they soon become good friends. Very close, in fact. A mysterious Bird tribe comes and meets the Privs. It seems they want to trade. Harmony tells them we will meet with Zora and Phaygar to discuss trading.

Eventually, they do meet at a meeting. Harmony realises the Tribes have more in common than they thought, and it's as if they suddenly... become friends. Except for the rude Bird tribe, who soon leave. Harmony also realises that friends are more important than power, and hands the throne back to Flame, who has also changed, and decides to free the Discards. The Privs say they hope they get to have more nights like this.

Gwen thinks about staying with her brother, but decides to stay with Privs, knowing that they'll get to see each other again soon.

After the meeting, the Birds come back to the Ant camp. It turns out the stranger who came to their tribe was their leader's brother. The Bird tribe came to take the boy back. Skye asks why he doesn't talk, and the leader says, "He only talks about things he likes." (The boy had two lines in the show "Only the Prototype" and "BROTHER!". This means he likes his brother, and the machines.) The 4 tribes now seem unified. The birds leave, and the cast members of the Ant and Barb tribe stand around in a circle and Skye says, "I'm sure we'll have many more adventures to come." They put their hands together and say "Yay!" and the credits end.

The Tribes

There are three main tribes in The New Tomorrow. These are The Privileged, The Ants, and The Barbs.

The Privileged

The Privileged feel they are superior to other tribes and aim for perfection in both their looks and their actions. They live in the tunnels and rooms underneath an old water dam and are led by Flame. The Privileged have a group of soldiers, called The Warps who are a strong and courageous people and a group of slaves referred to as The Discards who work in the mines and plantations run by The Privileged, or if they are unlucky they work as The Privileged's personal servants. Movement between these groups is supposed to be determined by all The Privileged, however Flame takes it upon himself to choose many of those who are forced to change groups, even going so far as to 'Discard' fellow members of The Privileged at the drop of a hat.

The Ants

The Ants are a tribe of farmers which appears to consist of the more timid survivors who were in need of someone to lead them and give them purpose. This role has been left to High Priestess Faygar, who leads the group and has given them a belief system worshipping their ancestors. They pray to Bray (who represents good) and ask for his guidance, while Bray's brother Zoot has become the 'evil' in their mythology and the bringer of all problems. The Tribe looks to the day when 'The Ancestor' will return.

The Barbs

The Barbs are a primitive tribe who live in the forest and are protective of their lands and take only what they need to survive in order to conserve the environment. The warrior Zora leads them in their worshipping of the Sun, Moon and rain. They are good trackers and can move about the forest unseen by others. In the centre of the forest is their primitive settlement of wooden huts and camp fires.

This is a sequel to the popular children's series THE TRIBE.

While The Tribe focused mainly on the children surviving in the city, The New Tomorrow focuses on those in the countryside and the forest, and in particular on three tribes, The Ants, The Barbs and The Privileged.

The Tribes

There are three main tribes in The New Tomorrow. These are The Privileged, The Ants, and The Barbs.

The Privileged

The Privileged feel they are superior to other tribes and aim for perfection in both their looks and their actions. They live in the tunnels and rooms underneath an old water dam and are led by Flame. The Privileged have a group of soldiers, called The Warps who are a strong and courageous people and a group of slaves referred to as The Discards who work in the mines and plantations run by The Privileged, or if they are unlucky they work as The Privileged's personal servants. Movement between these groups is supposed to be determined by all The Privileged, however Flame takes it upon himself to choose many of those who are forced to change groups, even going so far as to 'Discard' fellow members of The Privileged at the drop of a hat.

The Ants

The Ants are a tribe of farmers which appears to consist of the more timid survivors who were in need of someone to lead them and give them purpose. This role has been left to High Priestess Faygar, who leads the group and has given them a belief system worshipping their ancestors. They pray to Bray (who represents good) and ask for his guidance, while Bray's brother Zoot has become the 'evil' in their mythology and the bringer of all problems. The Tribe looks to the day when 'The Ancestor' will return.

The Barbs

The Barbs are a primitive tribe who live in the forest and are protective of their lands and take only what they need to survive in order to conserve the environment. The warrior Zora leads them in their worshipping of the Sun, Moon and rain. They are good trackers and can move about the forest unseen by others. In the centre of the forest is their primitive settlement of wooden huts and camp fires.

HARMONY (who fears that the Ants and Barbs might combine to challenge the Warps) persuades FLAME to teach the Ants a lesson.

Watched through the forest by two Barbs, KWARLI and JAG, DAN takes SKY with him to the Ant camp, where SKY meets the Ant leaders and learns about the Ancestor BRAY, the tribes and the monsters in the Forbidden Zone.

One of the leaders, OMAR, is suspicious of SKY and wants him to leave the next morning. DAN feels like a prisoner among the Ants and thinks OMAR is a bully. However, OMAR is also very kind, carving a secret gift for SAL, a little Ant who loves her piglet, STAR.

When FLAME is bored during dinner, he organises a contest between his champion Warp, Igra, and another Warp, LOL. LOL loses the fight and FLAME gives him the thumbs down – a move not popular with the other Privs. He tries to attack FLAME, FLAME renders him helpless with one swift moves and sends him to the Discards.

FLAME sends the Warps who have dressed like Barbs to attack the Ants camp. SHADOW the leader of the Warps leads the group. The Ants believe the Barbs have come to attack!

JAG and ZORA go searching for the stranger that KWARLI and JAG saw in the forest yesterday.

1 - 2 EPISODE 2

The Ants found a Barb arrow in their ravaged fields after the raid on their village. Sal was distraught because Star had disappeared in the raid. Omar blamed Dan for the attack because he went into Barb territory the day before. He wanted to counter-attack, but Faygar insisted that they should consult Bray and the Ants visit their shrine. Faygar recounted a story at the shrine that tells of times of paradise and great evil long ago. When they returned to the Ant camp, Sal and Sky were intrigued by postcards of Bray and the Mall Rats and Sky and Dan discuss them. Sal looks for Star, without success. Omar got angry at Sky, wanting him to be gone and calls the Ants to a meeting. The Ants argued about what to do about the raid. Cass wanted them to talk to the Barbs. Sky suggested sending a messenger to arrange a meeting. Dan volunteered to take a message to Zora. Faygar refused to let him go and decided to talk to Bray again. Dan defied Faygar and left for the Barbs camp. In the Priv compound, Harmony told Flame about Priv unrest over Flame's decision to discard Lol the night before. Shadow showed Flame his Barb disguise. Flame was impressed and glad that the raid went well. Shadow and Harmony fought about their roles. To bring some cheer to his Privs, Flame called for a competition. He selected three Discards, including Gwyn and Warps take them to a cell where they would wait fearfully. Gwyn tries to reassure her Discard cellmate. Flame thanked the Ants for the food and toasted Harmony for her plan. Flame then started a contest between Gwyn and the other two Discards. Gwyn won and was nervous about what winning meant for her. Kwarli and Jag watched Dan walking through the forest. Sky says his farewells at the Ants camp and Omar was glad to see him go. Sky and Dan meet up in the forest, then suddenly, they were hoisted into a tree, trapped in a net. Sal was overjoyed when she found out that Star was hiding in a hut.

1 - 3 EPISODE 3

SKY and DAN dangle in the net. KWARLI and JAG, excited that their trap has worked, emerge from the forest with other Barbs. JAG questions SKY and why he is with an Ant. He wants to punish Dan for being in Barb territory two days running. JAG eventually agrees to take SKY and DAN to ZORA, the Barb leader. When they find ZORA out fishing, DAN tells her that FAYGAR would like to see her. ZORA interrogates SKY and tells JAG to take DAN and SKY to the Barb base. Back at base ZORA asks SKY why FAYGAR wants a meeting, while JAG waits impatiently to punish SKY. SKY reveals to ZORA that he was found as a child and doesn't belong to a tribe. When DAN explains that FAYGAR wants to talk about a Barb raid on the Ants the night before, ZORA is outraged. DAN hits back, saying the Barbs "are just a bunch of savages." In the meantime at the Barbs camp, LEANNE and ERIN have been berry picking. ERIN has told LEANNE that one kind of berry is poisonous. An unhappy, juice-stained LEANNE says she has taken all the poison berries out of her basket and snaps at KWARLI. Then ERIN reveals to LEANNE that the "poisonous" berries are not poisonous. GWYN wakes in her room frightened, and a Discard brings her some food. FLAME bullies the Discard workers and makes SHADOW get rid of one of the Discarded Warps. FLAME encourages SHADOW to be tougher with the Discards. HARMONY enjoys GWYN'S fear and doesn't tell her what'll happen to her. GWYN is getting dressed up and FLAME, angry that no one has told her what's gong to happen to her, tells her he's decided she'll become a Priv. GWYN asks HARMONY about Priv life and tells her about being separated from her younger brother, long ago. GWYN is then presented to the Privs. With JAG, KWARLI, SKY, DAN and two Barb warriors, ZORA goes to confront FAYGAR. When ZORA and JAG arrive at FAYGAR'S door, OMAR tries to throw them out, but JAG prevents him. KWARLI helps CASS with a hurt child's infection and CASS gives him a gift to thank him. As the argument escalates between FAYGAR and ZORA, JAG accuses SKY of being the cause of all the trouble, a spy who must be dealt with.

1 - 4 EPISODE 4

Ant and Barb leaders look accusingly at SKY and DAN jumps to his defence. SKY asks JAG for his evidence that he's a spy. JAG doesn't respond and the Barbs leave. FAYGAR listens to SKY'S point of view, makes him welcome and leaves with OMAR to discuss the situation. OMAR thinks SKY may be the Evil ZOOT, disguised as a friend. At the Barb camp JAG and KWARLI argue about KWARLI helping out Cass with the injured Ants boy. Out hunting, JAG gives ERIN a task to do, to help against the Ants. Later, ERIN decides to go hunting on his own for the first time and LEANNE is not happy. ERIN goes, near the Forbidden Zone. At the Ant camp, SKY and DAN argue about the Barbs. In the Privs' stronghold FLAME and HARMONY disagree about what to do about the Ants. Because FLAME wants to take over their land and make them work for the Privs, FLAME and SHADOW try to persuade HARMONY that the Warps should crush the Ants. HARMONY gives GWYN a Discard girl, MAGDAR, and GWYN tries to make friends with her. FLAME discovers GWYN and MAGDAR playing as equals. GWYN thinks quickly and tells FLAME she ordered MAGDAR to behave like a Priv, as a game. FLAME then asks to play at being a Discard. FLAME leaves GWYN exhausted from their "game". SKY leaves the Ants and they quarrel about him. SKY meets up with JAG and they begin to fight, but ZORA interrupts them and takes SKY fishing. This distresses JAG. As they cook fish they've caught, SKY tries to persuade ZORA to join forces with the Ants and ZORA tells him that the Barbs didn't raid the Ant camp. When he hears SKY'S gone, DAN becomes angry with FAYGAR. CASS follows DAN and tries to reassure him. When JAG arrives at the Barb camp, LEANNE is angry with him because ERIN hasn't come home. JAG seems to be unsympathetic but goes to find ERIN. As the Ants pray to the Ancestor, DAN leaves camp, he's had enough. In the Forbidden Zone JAG find Erin and rescues hime from a monster. DAN heads off, alone, into the forest.

1 - 5 EPISODE 5

DAN is in the forest, alone and hungry. He chases a chicken but finds nothing but broken egg shells. Back at the Ant camp, CASS worries about him but OMAR, busy replanting crops with SAL, is glad DAN and SKY have gone. In the Priv stronghold, SHADOW prepares the Warps to attack the Ants. SHADOW lines them up for FLAME'S approval. SHADOW advises they'll be ready in a week. FLAME decides that the attack should happen the next day. HARMONY knows the Warps aren't ready. HARMONY challenges FLAME'S decision to attack the Ants. FLAME argues that if he heads the attack and makes an example of anyone who resists, the Ants will be so scared there'll be no more trouble. HARMONY isn't so sure. Back in the forest, DAN is still hungry. He eats some berries. The berries don't agree with DAN's stomach and he becomes very sick. The Ants discuss sending a search party for him but FAYGAR decides that instead they will pray to Bray to protect him. In the forest, DAN lies semi-conscious. HARMONY asks SHADOW to persuade FLAME not to attack the Ants. Out playing, LEANNE and ERIN find honey and decide to eat it rather than sharing it back at camp. LEANNE gets her own back on ERIN by making him eat a bee. While ERIN chases LEANNE for tricking him they stumble across DAN lying semi-conscious in the forest. In the Priv gardens, GWYN beads MAGDAR'S hair. HARMONY, disapproving, interrupts them and summons GWYN to meet with her before they eat. In the Barb camp, ZORA works with SKY on some fishing tools. LEANNE and ERIN burst into the Barb camp carrying DAN. KWARLI realises DAN has eaten snake berries. Only the moonflower antidote can save him and it is only found in the forbidden zone. SKY offers to find it and ZORA agrees that KWARLI will go with him. SHADOW suggests to FLAME they wait to attack the Ants until more Warps are trained. FLAME questions SHADOW'S loyalty. If SHADOW won't do it, he'll find someone else. GWYN meets with HARMONY. HARMONY warns GWYN that she is too nice to MADGAR and tells her that if she wants to stay a Priv she must start thinking like one. JAG argues with ZORA about letting KWARLI look for the moonflower and that the stranger must leave the Barb camp. But ZORA has told SKY he can stay as long as he wants. SKY and KWARLI find the moonflower but also spot a machine. They escape quickly with the moonflower back into the forest. MAGDAR and another Discard amuse the Privs. SHADOW avoids HARMONY and FLAME boasts that tomorrow they will teach the Ants a lesson. KWARLI and SKY arrive back at the Barb camp where DAN is only just alive. KWARLI goes to prepare the moonflower medicine. HARMONY argues with FLAME that they are still not ready to attack the ANTS. FLAME reminds HARMONY that anyone who doesn't agree with him can be discarded including her. KWARLI gives DAN the medicine, ZORA sends LEANNE and ERIN out of the tent for causing trouble. When they complain to JAG he finds they have been eating honey. At the ANTS camp FAYGAR and the Ants pray that DAN will be safe. LEANNE and ERIN are punished for not sharing the honey by having to clean fish for a week. Sky and Zora wait at Dan's bedside, willing him to live. SKY practices his fight moves inside the Barb camp. JAG meets SKY to tell him that DAN is making progress but also to tell SKY that neither he nor DAN are welcome. SKY finds DAN awake and is told by KWARLI he must tell DAN that he has to go back to the Ants camp. DAN doesn't want to go back, he wants to join the Barbs.

1 - 6 EPISODE 6

HARMONY and SHADOW argue about the Warps being ready for the attack on the Ants. FLAME interrupts them. He wants to get some practice in before the attack and asks SHADOW to find him a sparring partner. GWYN talks to MAGDAR and reminisces about her brother and her family. She shows MAGDAR a necklace her brother gave her. MAGDAR is weary of talking to GWYN and doesn't want to get in trouble. JAG is laying a trap down by the river. ERIN interrupts him asking if an Ant can be a Barb. ERIN tells JAG he overheard DAN telling SKY he wants to join the Barbs. FLAME finishes off his sparring as HARMONY approaches. FLAME says she has nothing to worry about – does she know anyone that can beat him? FLAME tells her he plans to be a hero when he's defeated the Ants. The Ants learn that the Warps have tricked them. CASS and OMAR want FAYGAR to meet with ZORA to form an alliance with the Barbs, but she doesn't want to. Although she says OMAR can increase the defence guard, she believes that BRAY will protect them. She is adamant not to side with ZORA and her Barbarians. HARMONY walks in on GWYN and MAGDAR. When she sees GWYN being friendly to MAGDAR, HARMONY tells her she must return to being a Discard because she does not behave like a Priv. SKY confronts JAG about his eagerness for DAN to leave. JAG insists that DAN and SKY must leave. KWARLI tells SKY that if DAN tries to stay then JAG will make him take the test of courage to become a Barb. DAN wants to do it but ZORA lets SKY take the test for DAN, JAG takes SKY for a fight, on a booby-trapped path. FLAME and SHADOW take a Warp war party into Barb territory. FLAME checks that SHADOW has instructed the Warps to look out for him. To avoid being discarded, GWYN accuses MAGDAR of stealing the necklace her brother gave her. HARMONY sends MAGDAR to the Forbidden Zone and lets GWYN stay, even when she learns later that GWYN lied. When the war party comes across JAG and SKY negotiating the booby-trapped course, SKY frees himself from a trap and helps JAG fight the Warps. They become separated and FLAME pursues SKY. DAN and ERIN, who have been secretly watching JAG and SKY, help JAG. And as soon as SHADOW and the Warps leave to help FLAME, DAN, ERIN and JAG run to warn the Barbs. Meanwhile SKY has fought and beaten FLAME (whose face gets cut). SKY retreats telling FLAME they will meet again. Back at the Barb camp, DAN learns he's been accepted as a Barb but worries because SKY has not returned. When they get back to the Priv complex FLAME tends to his wounds. He tells SHADOW he wants SKY found, whatever it takes.

1 - 7 EPISODE 7

DAN awakes in the Barb camp. He is still worried about SKY who hasn't returned. LEANNE tells DAN that a ceremony will now be held to welcome him to the tribe. The morning after his fight with FLAME, SKY wakes in a cave and finds some artefacts and pictograms, including one of a teardrop that he recognises. FLAME, furious that SKY beat him and has hurt him, wants to be left alone. FLAME is worried about the scratch on his face – it is a sign of losing. SHADOW tries unsuccessfully to keep HARMONY away. FAYGAR returns from seeking guidance from BRAY and asks OMAR to take her to Zora. It will be the best thing for both tribes. SKY returns to the Barb camp as DAN is inducted as a Barb. When they are reunited, SKY won't commit himself to joining the Barbs. Erin gives DAN a gift as a welcome present. SKY, OMAR, JAG and DAN argue about who belongs where. OMAR accuses the Barbs of stealing DAN. HARMONY dares a Warp guard to stop her from seeing FLAME. She barges into his room. FLAME tells SHADOW to find SKY. HARMONY suggests that FLAME needs to show everyone he is just as strong as ever. He shouldn't take any blame for the failed raid. HARMONY suggests FLAME should persuade SHADOW to take the blame. CASS and SAL capture the chickens let loose during the Warp raid. FAYGAR'S meeting with ZORA is tense, but after FAYGAR talks her around, ZORA decides to join forces with the Ants. ZORA invites SKY to join the Barbs. He agrees to stay for now but not to join. JAG challenges ZORA'S decision and is still unhappy about it when ZORA and FAYGAR tell the assembled tribes that they are to unite. FLAME summons SHADOW for a talk. He butters him up with his freshest fruit. Alone in the hills and overlooking the uniting of the Barbs and Ants, SKY holds an amulet: a tear-shaped pendant identical to the one in the pictogram in the cave.

1 - 8 EPISODE 8

At the Ants camp FAYGAR reassures OMAR that bringing the tribes together will work out. ZORA tries to do the same with JAG at the Barbs camp. SKY tells ZORA that he thinks FLAME will back off now the tribes have united and if he doesn't We'll have to fight. DAN is helping out with his new Barb duties and is picking mushrooms in the forest with LEANNE. He wanders into the forbidden zone not listening to LEANNE'S warnings and finds a pony trapped in some vines. In FLAME'S lair he is feeding SHADOW his finest food. FLAME persuades SHADOW to take the blame for the failed raid and then publicly humiliates him in front of the Privs. He then offers him a reward for accepting the blame, once he's hunted down SKY and beaten the Ants and Barbs. The Ants and Barbs get to know each other. JAG and SKY share their fighting skills with the Ants. CASS shows KWARLI and ERIN the hen pen and how they gather their eggs and KWARLI shows the Ants how to irrigate their fields. SAL gives ERIN his first taste of milk and teaches him how to milk a goat. DAN and LEANNE manage to untangle the pony and lead it back to the Barbs camp. GWYN tells FLAME she's glad he's all right after the raid. He's not impressed that the Privs have been talking about him. HARMONY wanders in and reminds GWYN that she had better not get too close to FLAME or she'll be sent back to the Discards. A group of Warps visit SHADOW, offering to support him against FLAME, but SHADOW sends them away, almost sure that FLAME'S offer of a reward is genuine. HARMONY tells FLAME that she has an idea for beating the Ants and Barbs. Just as it seems the Barbs and Ants are working well together, JAG and OMAR come to blows and SKY suggests having a contest to decide who will lead the combined tribes. DAN questions SKY as he seems worried. SKY tells DAN about the drawings he found in the cave. SKY draws his amulet in the sand and asks DAN if he is familiar with it. DAN hasn't seen it before. When they leave, an unknown person studies the drawing and erases it.

1 - 9 EPISODE 9

The Ants and Barbs compete to decide whether OMAR or JAG will lead their warriors. The winner will be the team that captures the other team's flag and the only weapon allowed is a kind of paint ball made of fish guts and berry juice. Because ERIN runs off with the Barb flag the Barbs win by default. While the contest is on SKY slips away to the cave, seen by ZORA. He studies the pictograms again, the teardrop, a landmark and a door in the ground of the Forbidden Zone. He goes to the Forbidden Zone, and just manages to escape a machine. He sees the landmark and finds the door, but can't open it. When he sneaks back to the Barbs, ZORA sees him again and he asks her about the machines. HARMONY catches GWYN on her way to approach FLAME, to protect herself from HARMONY. GWYN tries again and reaches FLAME while he's exercising outside, unaware that she's being watched by someone reporting to HARMONY. FLAME is haunted by his loss to SKY. HARMONY suggests they send out a spy to see what the defences of the Ants and the Barbs are. She tells SHADOW to select a Warp to be a spy. SHADOW insists that the Warp will need a reward if he succeeds – Harmony suggests the Warp will become a Priv. FLAME rejects CRUSHER, the chosen Warp. When HARMONY chooses another Warp, FLAME reassures SHADOW that he will not keep his promise that the Warp will become a Priv. HARMONY then tries to Discard GWYN. When GWYN stands her ground they go to ask FLAME to intervene. FLAME tells HARMONY off. Only he can Discard. Then he tells GWYN off too and says she must replace the chosen Warp and spy on the Ants and Barbs. JAG and OMAR quarrel about the way the Barbs win, FAYGAR doubts that the Ants will follow JAG and eventually FAYGAR and ZORA suggest that SKY becomes leader.

1 - 10 EPISODE 10

DAN is reunited with his lost sister, GWYN while out hunting with Erin. ZORA welcomes her and asks her to share information on the Privs. GWYN already has a well thought out story. When the eggs are stolen again, OMAR and JAG argue about who took them. OMAR accuses JAG and his Barbs of stealing the eggs. SKY tries to straighten things out. Not everyone is convinced that SKY was the right choice as leader. CASS gets LEANNE to help SAL watch the hen pen and catch the thief. LEANNE sets a trap. With KWARLI's help, SKY devises a strategy to defend the tribes and unite them against the Privs. ZORA & FAYGAR agree to join forces if the defense system works. OMAR & JAG are encouraged to work together setting traps around the lookout and hideout points. The system (mirror & arrow signals sent through the forest) is tested and proved effective. GWYN keeps an eye on everything and studies SKY's plan. SKY tells ZORA about the door pictogram in the cave. She tells him to forget about it. FLAME is desperate for information about SKY. He orders SHADOW to signal GWYN to report back. GWYN spies on ZORA and follows her into the forest, but then goes in a different direction and finds SHADOW's signal – red curtains hanging in the forest hut. The trap in the hen pen has snapped, meaning the thief's hand must be hurt. JAG's fingers are black and blue. He's not keen to help OMAR build a fence. ZORA is in the cave, troubled by a pictogram of two babies, a boy and a girl.

1 - 11 EPISODE 11

As a storm approaches, JAG gives ERIN the responsibility of looking after the Barb firestems and CASS gets LEANNE and SAL to keep an eye on baking bread. While LEANNE is playing with SAL's hair the bread burns to a crisp. SKY seeks FAYGAR'S advice about the signs in the cave, without mentioning his amulet, and takes her to see them. ZORA follows them. In the cave, FAYGAR finds proof of something and is distressed by the drawings of the children of ZOOT and BRAY. She runs off. ZORA asks SKY if FAYGAR found anything interesting in the cave. GWYN files her first spy report to SHADOW. She heads back to the Barb's camp and gets a rundown of the Barb signal system from KWARLI. She and DAN agree never to separate. FLAME has a tantrum and SHADOW tells him SKY'S name and that the Ants and Barbs are building defences together. He asks SHADOW to keep an eye on HARMONY. When FLAME meets up with HARMONY he tells her that he'll drag SKY to the Priv stronghold and asks her to keep an eye on SHADOW. FAYGAR tells SKY that she was frightened in the cave because of a legend saying that if descendants of ZOOT and BRAY ever come together "A great darkness will come upon the world". She leaves to consult BRAY and SKY follows her to the shrine. After the storm breaks, ERIN finds it hard to protect the firestems and GWYN slips away again to meet with FLAME, who pressures her for more information. As the tribes huddle together, terrified, in the Ant communal hut, they notice GWYN and ERIN are missing. JAG leaves to find ERIN. As SKY reaches FAYGAR and tries to persuade her to escape the storm, a machine struck by lightning makes for the Ant camp. SKY and FAYGAR run to warn everyone.

1 - 12 EPISODE 12

The storm has abated. In the Ant camp, damaged by the rampaging machine, eggs are an issue as the hens have run off. SAL is placed in charge of keeping them warm in the hopes that they will still hatch. LEANNE and ERIN are asked to help too. SKY goes off to track down the machine that entered the Ant camp during the storm. OMAR goes with him. They find it apparently dead but it comes to life. When the tribes – except for JAG – meet to discuss their fears, FAYGAR and SKY cannot reassure them. DAN suggests that GWYN becomes a Barb and ZORA is happy to accept her, though JAG is not happy about it. Nor is GWYN herself. She's not cut out to be a Barb. FLAME wants her to befriend SKY. SKY and GWYN spend some time together. As they talk he tells her he's looking for his family. SKY discusses BRAY & ZOOT with ZORA and learns that ZOOT had a son. JAG blames SKY for the recent troubles and says he is bad luck. SHADOW and HARMONY spy on each other for FLAME and after they report to him, he prepares punishments for each of them. The Barbs and Ants prepare a banquet to bring everyone together. A special Ant treat is not a success and everyone learns that the twenty eggs have been reduced to twelve. SKY leaves the party, upset at what he's heard from ZORA and JAG and refuses to speak with DAN.

1 - 13 EPISODE 13

Shadow is devastated by PRINCE'S disappearance and HARMONY is horrified by the glue in her hair. FLAME tells them that they are being punished for betraying him and tells them he's off to see GWYN, whom he can trust. HARMONY and SHADOW realise that they've been spying on each other and HARMONY suggests to SHADOW they should join together instead of fighting. At the Barb camp, DAN wonders whether GWYN really wants to be a Barb and she lies, assuring him that she does and telling him that SKY also wants to be a BARB., FAYGAR is crushed and puzzled to hear that SKY wants to become a Barb and when they hear, JAG & ZORA argue about it and about & GWYN becoming a Barb. When SKY turns up he tells them he isn't going to become a Barb. GWYN meets FLAME and tells him she hates being with the Barbs. FLAME says that he's going to capture SKY today and then move on to the Ants & Barbs. GWYN asks him to spare DAN. SKY tells ZORA he's a jinx and is worried he's a descendant of ZOOT. ZORA assures SKY he isn't evil but he decides he's of no use to the tribes. When DAN invites the Ants to see GWYN & SKY made Barbs, FAYGAR explodes with anger, but as the Barbs meet before GWYN'S ceremony, SKY tells FAYGAR he is not going to become a Barb. He then quietly leaves. The eggs begin to hatch, but FAYGAR's more concerned about SKY'S departure. Meanwhile GWYN is made a Barb and is very uncomfortable about it. FAYGAR goes to find SKY while ZORA, OMAR, KWARLI and JAG discuss the direction he's gone in. GWYN slips away and signals to FLAME & SHADOW. FLAME captures SKY. Then SHADOW captures FAYGAR, coming along behind SKY

1 - 14 EPISODE 14

OMAR and KWARLI return from trying to find SKY but find no trace of him or FAYGAR. OMAR and JAG put aside their differences and JAG uses his tracking skills to try and locate FAYGAR and SKY. ZORA sends GWYN to clean furs and when DAN quarrels with JAG and joins her, GWYN tries to comfort him. SHADOW fetches SKY and FAYGAR from their cell. When he brings them before FLAME, SKY accuses FLAME of being a bully. HARMONY then taunts FAYGAR about BRAY and tells her that the Privs have a spy at the Ant camp. FAYGAR passes this on to SKY. When GWYN goes to meet SHADOW she learns that FLAME is not bringing her back yet. KWARLI joins the Ants at prayer and then helps CASS show the Ants how to draw, while OMAR & JAG track together. They find FAYGAR'S necklace and take it back to CASS. ZORA asks CASS for a meeting with everyone. At the Priv complex, HARMONY wants FLAME to give the Ants and Barbs an ultimatum: "surrender or prepare to fight" and FLAME tells SHADOW to deliver it. SKY wins a fight with a thug and SHADOW is not happy about HARMONY'S ultimatum idea. When ERIN and LEANNE join in the drawing, and ERIN fights SAL fight about what he's drawn, ERIN runs off. SHADOW is waiting in the forest. He grabs him and gives him the ultimatum. ERIN arrives back during the Ant and Barb meeting, where ZORA has explained why SKY left. After he passes on SHADOW'S message, ZORA says she'll be leader.

1 - 15 EPISODE 15

JAG and KWARLI are setting traps in the forest when they hear ZORA sound her horn calling everyone to the camp. Because of FLAME'S ultimatum ZORA tells them all they're moving to the Ants camp. CASS welcomes them as they arrive, but OMAR does not. Some of the Barbs start taking advantage of the Ants generosity. SHADOW meets GWYN to bring her back to the Priv compound. But GWYN won't leave without her brother who FLAME promised to make a Priv. SKY is showing too much strength. FLAME tells SHADOW to fight SKY so that everyone can see his weaknesses. HARMONY locks FAYGAR up with the Discards and tells her about the ultimatum. After the Discards watch FAYGAR pray and HARMONY mocks her, a Discard child offers FAYGAR food. She tells the Discards a little about the Ancestor, and then asks BRAY to help her save the Discards. KWARLI is scouting around the Ant's Camp and comes across the shrine. He finds an old bicycle. In the Ant camp, tensions between the tribes continue and in FAYGAR'S hut ZORA finds some parchment with pictograms on it, and ZOOT'S goggles, in a wooden box. SAL has had enough of ERIN'S behaviour. She teaches him a thing or two about soap and water. GWYN takes DAN to the forest and tells him the Privs know everything. When the Warps arrive, DAN realises the truth and flees. GWYN looks for him, then gives up and goes with the Warps. SHADOW is practicing his fight moves when FLAME walks in. He asks SHADOW to lose the fight with SKY. SHADOW tries to win but SKY beats him. FLAME announces that he'll be the next one up against SKY. He then finds out that SHADOW wasn't able to win.

1 - 16 EPISODE 16

FLAME is optimistic about his impending fight with SKY. He watches SKY moving rocks by the dam and instructs SHADOW to keep him working all day and to cut his food rations. In the Ant camp, Dan tells ZORA that GWYN was captured by the Warps. ZORA becomes concerned that the Warps know exactly where and when to find people from the tribes. She looks for KWARLI and JAG so they can build more traps and orders the Ants to work on a fence around the camp. SAL, CASS and OMAR don't like ZORA'S bossiness and when KWARLI turns up on a bike made from pieces of the Ant shrine, OMAR attacks him for pulling pieces off their shrine. Then he disappears. ERIN, LEANNE and DAN try to care for the sick pony and DAN, sad about GWYN, also watches the chicks with SAL. At the Priv complex, FLAME and HARMONY test GWYN's loyalty to the Privs. and when they trap her in her own lies, they discard her. As she delivers GWYN to the Discard camp, HARMONY sees FAYGAR leading the Discards in prayer to the Ancestor, and get the Warps to take FAYGAR away. SKY shifts rocks to and fro, under heavy guard and taunted by FLAME, and SHADOW starts to feel sympathy for SKY. HARMONY uses SKY'S increasing physical weakness to persuade FAYGAR to give up her "mumbo jumbo" and return to work. FAYGAR has words with GWYN about her betrayal. OMAR has sneaked off to the Priv compound to rescue GWYN and FAYGAR not yet knowing the full story of Gwyn's deceit. GWYN slips away alone and when OMAR and FAYGAR take off, FAYGAR is caught by some Warps. KWARLI turns up on the bike and rescues OMAR from the Warps that are close on his tail. OMAR apologises to KWARLI. When they get back to camp, they're made welcome by everyone except ZORA who says that the Ants need to survive more than they need FAYGAR. SHADOW brings SKY food but only a couple of potatoes. GWYN tries to persuade HARMONY to take her back as a Priv, but is sent back to the Discards. FLAME arranges for Warps to sing to stop SKY sleeping and he's not happy when SHADOW suggests he's going to make it an unfair fight. As they sit with the pony, DAN tells LEANNE that GWYN was a spy. ZORA calls the Ants & Barbs together and forbids any more arguments or discussions, LEANNE tries to persuade DAN to tell ZORA about GWYN but he won't. ZORA reminds them it's all about survival now.

1 - 17 EPISODE 17

Warp guards come for Sky in the early morning, to make him excavate rock. Faygar is still angry with Gwyn for having betrayed them. Flame is practicing against a Warp but Harmony is anxious that Sky may beat Flame. In the Ant camp, Cass and Omar are unhappy about the Barbs they scratch, smell, burp and snore. Leanne again tries to persuade Dan to tell Zora the truth about Gwyn. As Zora supervises workers building the protective fence, Dan finally tells her. She sees Dan as a risk and orders him to be made immobile. Sky, Faygar and Gwyn work on in the Discard camp. Faygar and Sky suggest different ways for the Discards to improve their lives and Gwyn shows some sympathy for Sky's motives. Harmony visits Sky, to hedge her bets in case Sky beats Flame, and offers him a little rest. Gwyn offers Sky a drink, watched by Faygar. Shadow then collects Sky for the contest with Flame. While Dan's held under guard, ball-playing children damage Cass' washing and Erin falls in love with Kwarli's bike. Zora tells Omar and Kwarli about Gwyn. She decides to abandon traps and trip-wires and concentrate on defending the Ant camp. Erin tries to ride the bike and just as Kwarli tells Cass about Zora's change of plan, Erin rides past her through a mud puddle. Cass tries to reassure Sal, who is frightened, as the camp becomes a hive of activity. Zora is firm: the defences are about survival, for everyone. Even the youngest tribe members must help. Leanne visits Dan to tell him the pony's better. Shadow helps Flame warm up for the contest and is appalled that Flame doesn't want to beat Sky fairly. The guards refuse to give Sky a drink and the contest begins. Sky is defiant and at first does well, which pleases Shadow. But eventually Flame wins and Shadow tells Harmony he cheated. Sky's dumped back at the Discard camp and Faygar makes sure he has water and shelter, while Gwyn is overwhelmed by guilt. Flame celebrates and Harmony suggests to him that Shadow is a risk.

1 - 18 EPISODE 18

Morning comes. The machines rumble and Zora is not in a good mood. When she sees the camp's deserted, she beats on the gong to summons everyone from their sleep. They must all start work immediately without breakfast. They get breakfast when they've earned it. Sky wakes to find that the Discards' attitude to him has changed because of a rumour that he's descended from Zoot. Faygar offers to do something about it and asks Sky to go along with her plan. She then visits the Priv leaders and tells them she believes that Sky's a descendant of Zoot, showing him the amulet he wears, as proof. She claims that, according to the prophecy, the Terrible Darkness will come if the descendants of Zoot and Bray come together. Because the evil began when Sky a descendant of Zoot -arrived at the Ant camp, (where there's a descendant of Bray) everyone, including the Privs, is in great danger. Flame asks Faygar what she wants. Then, as Sky tries unsuccessfully to reason with the Discards, who close in on him, encouraged by Gwyn to Get him! Warp guards arrive to keep him guarded. The Ants and Barbs continue with their defences, except for Erin who takes off into the forest on the bike. Sal refuses to talk to Dan, who is very depressed, and Kwarli and Omar decide to make more traps in the forest against Zora's orders. In the hen pen, Leanne tells Sal that Erin's missing, with the bike. In the Priv stronghold Faygar continues to persuade Flame to let Sky go or get rid of him and discusses the possible Ant and Barb surrender with him. After inspecting the Warps, Flame tells Sky, now back in a cell, that Faygar fears him; and threatens him with being sent to the Forbidden Zone. Harmony farewells Flame and Shadow as they leave for the attack. She visits Faygar, also now in a cell, and threatens to bring Sky to join her and accuses her of trying to trick everyone with her prophecy stories. Zora forbids eating until the defences are finished and as Kwarli and Omar work on a trap they discuss her bossy new ways. Erin sees a Barb guard ambushed and the signalling mirror shattered. He warns Kwarli and Omar and they race for the Ant camp. Sal takes refuge with the chicks. Just as the Privs reach the Ant camp, Harmony arrives with Faygar, who says there must be no fighting because Sky is a descendant of Zoot and wants to bring the Terrible Darkness and destroy the tribes. The Ants and Barbs can surrender. Or Faygar suggests, there is another way, to have a contest. Flame suggests pass ball. Zora agrees: Winner rules everything Flame. You're on!

1 - 19 EPISODE 19

The Ants and Barbs prepare for the pass ball game with the Privs. Kwarli has them training hard but Erin doesn't want to. He fakes a sore leg but Kwarli knows Erin is lying. Dan is set free to play. Sal reassures her chick, Happy, and discusses Happy's birthday and the pass ball game with Cass. The practice game starts and Erin uses his skill at the game to get use of the bike. Harmony and Shadow are unhappy that Flame has agreed to play against the Ants and Barbs, because they believe the Ants and Barbs are ready to surrender. Flame says he'll join the Ants and Barbs if the Privs lose. Shadow is still upset that Flame broke the warrior code by treating Sky badly before their fight. Harmony taunts Shadow and checks out whether he's going to challenge Flame. Then she warns Flame that Shadow may be untrustworthy, and claims that Flame will never have to worry about her, she's as loyal as they come. She and Flame agree that the Privs are best and bound to win against the Ants and Barbs, and to continue to rule. Faygar, Gwyn and Sky discuss the rumours about Sky being a descendant of Zoot, and Gwyn's treachery. Gwyn is still upset that Dan stayed with the Ants and Barbs. Sky and Gwyn also talk about Dan and Flame, and accuse each other of causing harm. Talking with Faygar, Sky defends Gwyn, pointing out that he and Faygar are prisoners because of the Privs. He and Faygar talk about the machines, the legends and the cave drawings. Sky vows he'll get to the bottom of the whole mystery but Faygar reminds him he can't do that if he's a discard. Everyone gathers for the game. Harmony takes Sky, Faygar and Gwyn. Flame gets Sky to play but takes him off when Sky tries to sabotage the Priv side. The Privs are winning but then Dan is substituted for Erin. Erin scores a few goals and the Ants and Barbs win. Reminding Flame that he said he'd join the Ants and Barbs if the Privs lost, Harmony takes over the Privs. Meanwhile, back at the Ant camp, a stranger arrives.

1 - 20 EPISODE 20

The Ants and Barbs celebrate their victory. Erin is annoying everyone by boasting about making the winning goal. As they celebrate they wonder what to do about Flame. Dan talks to Flame and tells him he's Gwyn's brother, displeasing Cass and Zora. Sky, Faygar and Gwyn are working in the Discards camp when Shadow is brought in by Warp guards. One of the Warps summons Gwyn to Harmony's room. The stranger watches Erin on his bike. Things start to go missing from the Ant camp including all the eggs and Kwarli's boots. Then the stranger steals Erin's bike. Harmony meets with Gwyn and asks her to be her personal handmaiden and Gwyn asks if Dan can join the Privs, Harmony says he must be a Discard first, just to test that Gwyn can be trusted. Zora visits Flame and asks him what he thinks Harmony will do. Flame's not about to tell her anything. Faygar and Sky talk about Shadow, Faygar tells Sky that Shadow got his scar from the machines. Then Gwyn, dressed as a Priv, arrives and tells Faygar she's free to go back to the Ants, with a message for Dan. Sky discusses escape with Shadow and tries unsuccessfully to find out about his experience with the Machines. When Faygar arrives at the Ant camp, she and Zora fight over her hut and Zora claims that Faygar sold out the Ants. Then Faygar finds that her precious box is empty. When Dan arrives at the Priv stronghold, Gwyn shows him round. Harmony explains that Dan will have to spend time as a Discard to prove himself. He gets delivered to the Discard camp. Sal has found a goat who is unwell. Kwarli gives the goat some herbs and he and Omar deliver him to Flame's hut, with great pleasure. Flame's horrified. The stranger examines his new possessions, including Zoot's goggles, in his shelter. And Faygar asks Bray for help.

1 - 21 EPISODE 21

The Stranger, on Kwarli's bike, encounters the machines and speeds away. Then he returns to Zoot's goggles and stares intensely at them. At the Ant camp Faygar gets bossy with Leanne and Erin for not doing their chores. They are worried because they hear the machines. They then go to look at Flame, still sharing accommodation with the goat. He growls at them. They complain to Zora that Faygar is being bossy and that Flame scared them. She isn't very sympathetic and tells them not to visit Flame again. Zora visits Flame and asks him to be nice. Flame offers to join forces with Zora - she tells him to forget it. Meanwhile Cass and Omar reassure Faygar who is feeling suspicious of Zora. The tribes are getting along well now, they tell her, and they and the other Ants still think of her as their leader. After Kwarli explains to Sal that even though you can't see something it may still be there, she plays a game with her chick Happy, whose birthday present has gone. Harmony, relishing her new position as Priv leader, seeks enthusiasm from Gwyn, and sings to her, while Sky and Dan, working near Shadow, plan an escape. When Sky and Dan escape, pursued by Warps, who do not find them, Shadow takes the opportunity to escape as well. When news of the escape reaches Harmony she's furious. The Ants and Barbs gather at the Shrine, where Faygar and Zora clash about their beliefs and whether the machines and prophecies are more dangerous than Harmony. Zora agrees to lead only the Barbs but Faygar doesn't trust her. When the Ants and Barbs gather for supper, Zora volunteers to take Flame his and explains to him he has no power. However he warns her to be careful as he might get even in future. Faygar and Cass are suspicious because Zora spends so long with Flame and when she comes back, she and Faygar argue again about Harmony and the ancestor. Everyone gets spooked when Faygar warns about the descendants of Zoot returning. On their way home, Sky and Dan celebrate their escape, watched by the Stranger.

1 - 22 EPISODE 22

Making for home and moving furtively through the forest, Sky and Dan hear the machines. As they fish, the Stranger watches them. When cooking their fish, they notice him and pursue him. They capture him and find his shelter and the things he's stolen from the Ants and Barbs. Gwyn reports to Harmony that Dan and Sky have not been found. Back at the Ant camp, Sal collects eggs. Kwarli and Omar garden and discuss Faygar and the Terrible Darkness, as well as Kwarli's surprise that he's ended up gardening. Leanne and Erin play wakaball with a tomato, with unfortunate results for Leanne. Cass stands up to Flame, who is bored and Zora and Faygar discuss Flame, the leadership of their tribes and the Ants' faith in the Ancestor. Gwyn and Harmony talk about perfection and Harmony does Gwyn's hair. The Ants and Barbs decide to free Flame and place conditions on his stay: it's temporary, he mustn't scare the little ones and he has to earn his keep. So Flame learns to garden, under the stern supervision of Sal. Meanwhile Cass and Faygar cook, along with a reluctant Erin who thinks that cooking is girl's work. As they work, they discuss Zora. When she arrives in the kitchen after seeing Flame at work, Erin tells her that Cass and Faygar were talking about her and there's an awkward moment. As they share dinner, tensions show among the Barbs, the Ants and Flame. Sky and Dan question the Stranger who refuses to respond to them, and set up camp for the night. By the light of the moon, Sky, intrigued, watches the Stranger staring into the fire.

1 - 23 EPISODE 23

Sky and Dan bring the Stranger back to the Ant camp, with the things he stole from them. The Ants and Barbs put him, withdrawn and silent, in the Ant prison hut. As Faygar prays for guidance about him, the Stranger begins to make patterns with some grain. Sky suspects Flame knows the Stranger and Flame unconvincingly denies this. Sky then sees the Stranger's patterns, of Zoot's goggles, machines, circles and stars. "Who are you?" he wonders. Sal is thrilled her present for Happy has come back. Erin teases her with chicken talk and then Sal persuades Leanne to talk like a chicken too. Zora hopes Dan can help her find out what Harmony's planning but, still hurt about Gwyn, he can't help her. At the Priv complex, Harmony panics because she has a spot on an important day. Gwyn suggests how to deal with the problem and Harmony makes her inspection masked, with Gwyn telling her what to say. After the inspection, Harmony believes that everyone adored her and is delighted to find her spot has gone: time to celebrate! When she starts to celebrate alone, Gwyn's disappointed, and Harmony reminds her that she is special and Gwyn is not. As Sal orders Dan and Flame around in the vegetable garden she gets the better of Flame. Sky and Zora examine the Stranger's drawings together but when Faygar joins them and sees the markings, she freaks out. Kwarli explores the night sky for evidence relating to the drawings and Faygar decides that the Stranger is a descendant of Zoot. Cass takes the little ones to bed and Flame warns her against mentioning the machines in a bedtime story. Then, once Flame's gone to bed, Sky asks Kwarli What have you got? As the storm rages, a machine bows in worship in front of a huge stone and Cass tells Sal, Erin and Leanne a story. Flame has a nightmare about Harmony and the Stranger. And Kwarli explains what he's found out, while the Stranger himself gazes at his drawings. Even with Kwarli's information, the tribe members can't make sense of it all. In the morning, Sky and Zora leave camp, in search of more information.

1 - 24 EPISODE 24

Representatives of the Bird tribe, including Sunni, arrive at the Priv complex to meet with Harmony. She and Gwyn feel uneasy when Sunni claims that the Birds take whatever they want. Dan and Erin are sick of following everyone else's rules. They discuss going into the forbidden zone to help Zora and Sky. At the Ant camp, Flame tells the Barb guarding the Stranger that Cass wants to see him and someone takes the bar from the Stranger's window. When Cass takes the Stranger some food, he's gone. Omar and Kwarli go to find him, leaving Dan, Erin and Sal in the garden, where Sal experiments to find out whether water will make a chicken or Erin grow. While the Stranger keeps moving, with Omar & Kwarli behind him, Faygar tells Cass that she's responsible for the escape. She's distraught: We have to prepare for the prophecies. The coming of the descendant of Zoot. Or we're doomed. Cass apologises to Flame for accusing him of letting the Stranger go. She tells Faygar that she should have discussed setting the Stranger free before doing it. Erin, Sal and Leanne argue. Zora and Sky reach the cave and find a sign that leads them onwards, then the monument. They feel its energy. A Warp patrol arrests Kwarli and Omar in the forest while the Stranger watches and takes them to Harmony who questions them about the Stranger. As they walk along the riverside, Sky and Zora see the Stranger. Together, thanks to Zora's skill, they recapture him. At dinner, the Ants & Barbs worry about Kwarli and Omar, Flame tries to scare everyone and he and Dan go head to head. Over at the Priv complex, Gwyn takes Omar and Kwarli some food and offers to help them.

1 - 25 EPISODE 25

Dan tries unsuccessfully to copy the way Flame crushes an apple. When Faygar sees Sky and Zora bringing in the Stranger, she is disappointed. Flame jokes that the Stranger's return means they're all doomed and Sal silences him. But Dan's happy to see Sky and Zora back again. He just wishes he could have joined them. Faygar's still troubled as she, Cass and Dan catch up with Zora and Sky, who acknowledge that Dan could be helpful another time. They agree to search for Omar and Kwarli if they're not back by sundown. At the shrine, Zora tries to calm Faygar and persuade her that the Stranger's not a threat, while Sky tells the stranger he's now free. In a Priv cell, Omar and Kwarli look for a way out. Sunni seeks an intertribal meeting and, with his eye on Gwyn, suggests to Harmony that trade includes trading slaves. He and Harmony are both interested in trading information. Gwyn gets angry with Harmony for considering trading her, then she and Harmony explore the meaning of their relationship. Out berrying, Leanne and Erin find a baby machine. It comes to life and pursues them into the Ant camp, which is scary for everyone except the Stranger, who has no fear of it at all. The tribes put the machine in the prison hut. Sky and Zora secure the hut, although the machine has become again quiescent. Omar and Kwarli try to eavesdrop on Harmony, as she and Gwyn discuss Sunni, his desire to meet with tribe leaders and whether Harmony can discard him. Harmony strategises and Gwyn is sent to tell Omar and Kwarli that they can go home, so long as they take a message from Harmony. The Ants and Barbs discuss the machine and Flame mocks Leanne, Sal and Dan. When he still can't crush an apple the way Flame can, Dan is humiliated. When a storm starts, the machines become restless and the Stranger too begins to come to life. The baby machine stirs. When Leanne and Erin are scared, Cass comes to reassure them. Just as Sky and Dan prepare to go to find them, Omar and Kwarli arrive home with their message. When a new day dawns, Sky keeps an eye on the inactive baby machine and Kwarli checks the sky. Cass, Faygar and Zora prepare for Sunni's visit. Harmony and Gwyn discuss what Sunni has planned. Harmony's anxious about what they're up to, and about what to wear for the big tribal meeting.

1 - 26 EPISODE 26

Sunni and his retinue leave early for the Barb camp. At the Ant camp, Flame and Sal clash again. Dan refuses to play with Erin and the Stranger lashes out at Erin when Erin touches one of the stones he's using to build a stone tower. The Ants and Barbs agree that they can't trust Sunni or Harmony and decide to post extra guards. Sky and Kwarli report that the baby machine hasn't moved again. When the argument between Flame and Sal comes up, and Sal refers to the sun making things happen, Kwarli has a flash of inspiration. As the Birds get closer to the Barb camp, Sky and Kwarli put the machine outside and it awakens slightly: the circle on its back seems to respond to the sun. This reminds Sky of the circles in the cave. As Dan returns the machine to the hut, Sky notices that the Stranger's tower of stones look like the monument he found with Zora. As the Birds arrive at the deserted Barb camp, Harmony, Gwyn and the Privs reach the Ant camp where the Ants and Barbs are busy getting ready. Flame and Harmony spark at each other. Then Harmony announces, There's been a change of plan. Everyone moves off to the Barb camp where Faygar and Zora meet Sunni. Cass presents the welcome gifts (except for a bag held by Erin) and Faygar, Harmony and Zora speculate about what Sunni wants. Meanwhile, Dan follows Sky into the forest, on his way to the Forbidden Zone. The Stranger's stones make a shadow and the machines roar in the distance. The guard checks the hut where the baby machine's kept and sees it's gone. Then, suddenly, the Stranger's gone, too. Sky and Dan come across the machines. Sunni questions the tribal leaders and Harmony and Zora challenge him. Zora and Harmony try to find out what Lord Atil wants and might do. Then they hear the machines and Sunni becomes uneasy. When Flame claims that he controls the machines, Erin says Flame's just pretending. Sunni wants to know who really controls them. The Stranger catches up with Sky and Dan. As Sky and Dan watch, a machine approaches the monument. It stops. A circle on its back reflects the light, blindingly, as another machine arrives with a roar. Sky and Dan approach the stationary machine and it comes to life again. The Stranger destroys its power source, saving Sky and Dan. Meanwhile, Sunni continues with his questions about the machines. Then the baby machine moves and comes out of Erin's sack. The Birds take off! That night, the Ants and Barbs celebrate with a feast, and are joined by Harmony and the Privs. We should work together more often, says Harmony. It was the greatest fun I've had for years. When Kwarli explains that the machines seem programmed to go to the monument to get power from the sun, everyone's astonished when the Stranger speaks for the first time, saying Only the prototypes. When Harmony gives up her ambitions to spend time with friends, Flame becomes Priv leader again and plans to set the Discards free. As they walk home in the morning, Sunni and his party approach them, menacingly. The Barbs prepare to return to camp, Erin with the machine, after agreeing with the Ants that they'll all continue to work together. Sky decides to stick around. As the Stranger continues to stare at the machine, Sal goes to collect the eggs. Then they hear a scream Sunni and his warriors are back..

NEXT STEP BEYOND, THE

Anthology series which mainly concentrated on stories about the Supernatural. Stories of SF interest included 'Ondine's Curse' in which A woman is telepathically alerted to her husbands plight after he is attacked by a hitchhiker and declared dead by the authorities due to a rare disease he had.

The Next Step Beyond was a revival of ALCOA PRESENTS: ONE STEP BEYOND, produced for first run syndication in the late 1970s. Like ONE STEP BEYOND, The Next Step Beyond was an anthology series dealing with allegedly true stories of psychic phenomena and the supernatural. John Newland reprised his role as the series' host. 'Tsunami' the pilot episode of The Next Step Beyond was a remake of the ONE STEP BEYOND episode 'Tidal Wave'. The Next Step Beyond was made on a low budget. The first few episodes were shot on video tape before it was decided to go for the better quality of 16mm film for later episodes. The pilot episode for the series was shown on WBAC - New York City, but when the series hit syndication it was first shown on WGN.

An updated version of One Step Beyond, with John Newland back as host. The series, still a halfhour but now in color, barely made a ripple in the ratings. Guests included Majel Barrett, Robert Walker and Mark Goddard.

WR. Merwin Gerard, Arthur C. Pierce, Jerry Sohl, Shelly Hartman, Clifford Campion, Ed Burnham, Harry C. Spaulding, Peter Germano, DIR. John Newland, Alan Jay Factor.

EPISODES: 25 YEAR MADE: 1978 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

aired on WGN.

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: ANTHOLOGY

FORMAT: ANTHOLOGY

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 25

DATE OF PREMIER: 05/01/1978

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 12/08/1979

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Host JOHN NEWLAND.

RELATED SHOWS:

ONE STEP BEYOND

- 1 - 1 TSUNAMI
- 1 - 2 THE RETURN OF THE CARRIE DEWITT
- 1 - 3 POSSESSED
- 1 - 4 ONDINE'S CURSE
- 1 - 5 DREAM OF DISASTER
- 1 - 6 GHOST TOWN
- 1 - 7 PORTRAIT OF THE MIND
- 1 - 8 OTHER VOICES
- 1 - 9 GHOST OF CELLBLOCK TWO
- 1 - 10 CRY BABY
- 1 - 11 GREED
- 1 - 12 OUT OF BODY
- 1 - 13 KEY TO YESTERDAY
- 1 - 14 WOMAN IN THE MIRROR
- 1 - 15 THE LEGACY
- 1 - 16 THE CONFESSON

- 1 - 17 TRANCE OF DEATH
- 1 - 18 TO FIGHT A GHOST
- 1 - 19 LOVE CONNECTION
- 1 - 20 DRUMS AT MIDNIGHT
- 1 - 21 A MATTER OF PRIDE
- 1 - 22 THE PACT
- 1 - 23 THE HAUNTED INN
- 1 - 24 SIN OF OMISSION
- 1 - 25 THUNDERBOLT

NIGHT GALLERY

AKA: ROD SERLING'S NIGHT GALLERY

Night Gallery - or to give it its full title, Rod Serling's Night Gallery - only occasionally ventured into the realm of science fiction. The main stamping ground of this American anthology series from the creator of THE TWILIGHT ZONE was the occult, the supernatural and sheer horror - reflecting the dark side of Serling's imagination.

Each segment was introduced by Rod Serling in an art gallery where he invited us to view a painting that depicted the coming tale as a moment of nightmare frozen on canvas. Of the 100 or so stories, Serling himself wrote about a third, and the series utilised top Hollywood talent behind and in front of the camera.

Tales that had an SF angle included The Nature of the Enemy, in which a mission controller (Joseph Campanella) monitors the efforts of an astronaut (Richard Van Vleet) to investigate the strange disappearance of a team that landed on the Moon. In The Little Black Bag, Burgess Meredith played a discredited physician and skid row wino who discovers a medical bag and its contents that have accidentally returned to the 20th century from the 21st, enabling him to effect miraculous cures. The Different Ones started Dana Andrews as a father who sends his misfit son to another planet in accordance with the Federal Conformity Act of 1993; Camera Obscura had a heartless moneylender hurled through time by a most unusual camera Class of '99 featured Vincent Price as a futuristic instructor in bigotry addressing a strange graduating class; You Can Come Up Now, Mrs Millikan had an inventor's wife agreeing to be the subject of his latest experiment. ,

Rod Serling was creator and host of Night Gallery, he is better known for also creating/hosting the SF anthology show THE TWILIGHT ZONE. The show that ended Rod Serling's brilliant career (he was felled by a heart attack in 1975). It was an attempt to revive the TWILIGHT ZONE formula, but it didn't take off this time, perhaps because it was too often fantasy and not often enough science fiction.

Created by Rod Serling -- who in the early 1960s had made the series The TWILIGHT ZONE -- RSNB was primarily made up of supernatural stories but did contain a small number of sf episodes; many of the plays were scripted by Serling from original stories by such writers as C.M. Kornbluth, Fritz Leiber, H.P. Lovecraft and A.E. Van Vogt, and Richard Matheson scripted several other segments. One of the 3 plays in the pilot, starring Joan Crawford, was Steven Spielberg's debut; other directors included John Badham, Leonard Nimoy and Jeannot Szwarc. After a time Serling lost creative control and grew to dislike the series, the studio requiring more monsters and fewer subtleties; however, he continued to introduce it, strolling through a sinister art gallery and pointing to a relevant painting before each play began. RSNB was on the whole a disappointment after THE TWILIGHT ZONE. 2 collections of stories by Serling were series spin-offs: Night Gallery * (coll 1971) and Night Gallery 2 * (coll 1972). Also relevant is Rod Serling's Night Gallery Reader * (anth 1987) ed Carol Serling (Serling's widow) with Martin H. Greenberg and Charles G. Waugh.

Six years after THE TWILIGHT ZONE was canceled in 1964. Rod Serling returned to series television as host of Night Gallery. Like THE TWILIGHT ZONE, Night Gallery was an anthology series. Unlike THE TWILIGHT ZONE, which mainly concentrated on science fiction and fantasy stories, the tales told on Night Gallery tended to delve more into the supernatural and the occult. The series' title was taken from the art gallery setting in which Serling would explain foreshadowed the tale about to take place. The paintings in the gallery were all painted by Tom Wright.

Serling did not have as much control of Night Gallery as he had THE TWILIGHT ZONE. He often complained that he had little more to do with the series than act as host and occasional writer. After Night Gallery was cancelled in 1973. Serling retired from television and died two years later at the age of 50.

The initial Night Gallery installment was a two hour made for TV movie consisted of three stories which appeared in 1969. The movie's success prompted NBC to order six hour long episodes of the show in 1970. These ran as part of Four In One - an umbrella title in which four series were given six week runs. The success of these prompted NBC to give Night Gallery a full season commitment in 1971. For its third and final season on the air, Night Gallery was cut back to half hour length, with all but one of the episodes containing one story

Night Gallery is currently syndicated as half hour episodes, under the title Rod Serling's Night Gallery. The odd length stories produced in the first and second seasons of Night Gallery have been repackaged into half hour segments. The stories from the pilot movie are not in syndication with the rest of the series, since the pilot is part of a movie package. Also in the syndication package, in addition to the Night Gallery episodes, are all 25 episodes for THE SIXTH SENSE. THE SIXTH SENSE episodes have been badly edited into half hour segments and their narrative suffers accordingly. Serling was called back to perform new introductions for THE SIXTH SENSE episode. THE SIXTH SENSE episodes were included as part of the Night Gallery reruns since Universal believed neither series had enough episodes to syndicate them by themselves.

Of the 100 or so stories, Serling himself wrote about a third, and the series utilised top Hollywood talent behind and in front of the camera. Tales that had an SF angle included 'The Nature of the Enemy' in which a mission controller (Joseph Campanella) monitors the efforts of an astronaut (Richard Van Fleet) to investigate the strange disappearance of a team that landed on the moon. In 'The Little Black Bag', Burgess Meredith played a discredited physician and skid row whino who discovers a medical bag and its contents that have accidentally returned to the 20th Century from the 21st, enabling him to effect miraculas cures.

'The Different Ones' starred Dana Andrews as a father who sends his misfit son to another planet in accordance with the Fedearal Conformity act of 1993; 'Camera Obsucra' had a heartless moneylender hurled through time by a most unusual camera; 'Class of '99' featured Vincent Price as a futuristic instructor in bigotry addressing a strange graduating clas; 'You Can Come Up Now, Mrs. Milikin' has an inventors wife agreeing to be the subject of his latest experiment.

Two of Serlings' stories were nominated for Emmys; 'They're Tearing Down Tim Riley's Bar' in which a lonely widower saw the story of his life paralleled in the destruction of his favourite bar; and 'The Messiah of Mott Street' which starred Edward G. Robinson as a sick old Jew waiting to see the coming of the Messiah before he dies.

In Britain, ITV first screened individuals episodes in 1973, but they have never been networked, and the series was never given a really coherent run, switching days, times and duration, skipping weeks and generally failing to establish a settled format. It ran though the 1970s, into the 1980s and still shows up occasionally in late-night schedules. In America, the first two seasons (1970-71) featured hour long episodes, each with two or three playlets. The third and final season was reduced to half hours. Serling himself is said to have become increasingly disillusioned by the studio's heavy-handed treatment of his idea and retired from television when the series ended, dying two years later in 1975, aged 50.

The premiere for the seires in Britain was on the 4th August 1970, where BBC 2 showed the three-in-one TV movie, showcasing three stories, one directed by Steven Spielberg. The series proper got its first airdate on the 18th April 1973 in the Thames Television, London region. The producer for the series was Jack Laird.

In this anthology series, Rod Serling presents an artgallery where frightening paintings represent stories of the occult and the bizarre. Created by: Rod Serling; Producer: Jack Laird; Executive Producer: Rod Serling; NBC/Universal; 60 minutes, years 1 and 2; 30 minutes, year 3.

A villain opens a box and finds a living doll whose lips curl into a wicked smile. A Mission Controller finds that a giant lunar rat devoured members of a moon expedition. A scientist searches a graveyard for a missing colleague and finds him dead, his throat in the clutches of a grinning skeleton. These were some of the visual images that embedded themselves in the imaginations of an enthusiastic teenage audience during the early 1970s. Rod Serling was perceived as "cool," Night Gallery as "hip," and many parents and PTA members were outraged over Night Gallery's supernatural content.

Unlike Rod Serling's Twilight Zone, which celebrated mankind, Night Gallery reflected the host's darker nature. Yet it was a difficult show to categorize. "People compared Night Gallery to The Twilight Zone," says story editor Gerald Sanford, "but it never found its identity. It was a bastard child." The origins of Night Gallery go back to 1964. As Twilight Zone was going off the air, Serling came up with a suspense anthology titled Rod Serling's Wax Museum. Producer William Sackheim expressed interest in doing a TV movie based on Serling's three Wax Museum scripts. Serling agreed, and the pair came up with Night Gallery. The sinister waxworks were replaced by bizarre paintings.

The 1969 TV film was a ratings success. Its associate producer, John Badham, says, "It was an exciting project to do. We had to come up with three different directors for each story, and three casts. Bill Sackheim was asked if he'd be interested in having a 20-year-old kid named Steven Spielberg direct the Joan Crawford segment. It was Spielberg's first directing job. I was 27 at the time, and my job was to help Steven in any way I could." Crawford played a blind woman who ruthlessly strikes a bargain with a debt-ridden man (Tom Bosley) to buy his eyes. "Steven was terrified of Crawford," recalls Badham. "She was a very formidable woman. When you're 20 years old and confronted with a legend, it's intimidating. The two of us took her out to dinner to break the ice."

Spielberg, a TwilightZone fan, wasn't thrilled by the script. "Steve was kinda at war with himself on how to approach it. He said, 'This is really just an old-fashioned Rod Serling script.' He insisted on doing something inventive with it. In the dailies, we were knocked out by what he was doing. It was very elegant, visually. Steven's best shots were those that made a point about what the movie was about. He wasn't going for just nifty shots."

NBC and Universal studios went ahead with a limited Night Gallery series for the 1970-71 season. It was one of four series airing under the title Four in One (McCloud, The Psychiatrist and San Francisco International Airport were the three other series that alternated with Night Gallery). Six hour-long episodes were made of each program.

For Serling, the Four in One segments represented Night Gallery's zenith. "I worked very intently on the series during that first year," Serling told writer David Johnson of Planet of the Apes magazine in 1974. "Then I got kind of aced out. Universal sort of took it over, creatively and completely."

One of the series' highlights for Serling was the Emmy-nominated "They're Tearing Down Tim Riley's Bar." William Windom starred as a middle-aged executive who seeks solace from life's realities by escaping into the happier memories of his past. "It was the best script I have ever been offered," says Windom. "The character and story were incisive and believable. After it aired, I got a most welcome phone call from Rod Serling."

However, when Universal executives read the script, Windom's marquee value didn't satisfy the studio. "Universal didn't want me for the role," says Windom. "I felt forced down their throat. Director Don Taylor told them, 'Use Windom or lose me!' They relented. Don had been an actor, and his directorial skills were built in. He was hands-on with the crew, hands-off with the actors. He was loud, direct and fair. He was open to ideas and closed to bullshit."

The resulting episode was an exceptionally thoughtful drama that was compromised only by "a happy, mushy ending," says Windom. "It's the only piece of film I've bought since I moved to Hollywood in 1961. I wanted to show my children their old man at his best. When it originally aired, a power failure in L.A. blacked out the last couple of minutes. Because of viewers' phone calls, they ran the ending on the local news the following night!"

Night Gallery's good ratings on Four in One convinced NBC to graduate the series to full-time status for the 1971-72 season. Former Peyton Place writer Gerald Sanford was brought in as story editor and helped producer Jack Laird prepare the scripts.

"Jack Laird was the strangest human being who ever lived," recalls Sanford of the late producer. "I was told, 'No one can work for Jack. He's impossible.' He would get into these violent, dark moods and scream and throw things. He never hurt anybody, but he was a total loner. He didn't relate to the people at Universal, but he loved working on Night Gallery. He did everything-wrote, directed, acted and picked costumes-but he rarely left his office. He even slept overnight there. In the morning I'd find him asleep on the couch." One contribution Laird made to the series was the quick, comical blackouts. These included such bits as a skeleton getting lessons in elevator manners, and a babysitter meeting Count Dracula. Serling hated the blackouts, feeling they cheapened the show, but his control over Night Gallery was limited. As he said in 1974, "The blackouts would have been great in bad nightclubs but they were as destructive as hell for the show."

"Laird was a talented writer," says Sanford. "It wasn't his show; but he had total control. NBC was in awe of Rod, but Jack simply tolerated him. He often used Rod as a cover to get things done. The executives at Universal considered Jack a genius, and they left him alone."

For Serling, the series became a frustrating experience: His scripts were often rewritten by Sanford. "Universal has turned Night Gallery into a supernatural suspense thing with action," he said during the second season. "You don't walk past the graveyard, you're chased." When the PTA protested the show's content, Serling couldn't dismiss their grievances. "Twilight Zone may have been a little scary but it was never physically violent," he said. "I never heard from any PTA group that we lent sizable or meaningful damage to young people who watched the show. This show is called Rod Serling's Night Gallery but it's not remotely Rod Serling."

The unhappy Serling was bound by contract to host the show, but he continued to write scripts. "Rod was a great idea man," says Sanford. "But his scripts were often overwritten. His script for a 15-minute show might run 70 pages. He would write them overnight. Whatever came out of his typewriter, that's what he turned in the next day. Rod would have ten scripts delivered to us Monday morning, and the basic ideas in them were very good. It was the dialogue that needed changing. Jack and I would read them, and Jack would say, 'Well, what do you think?' I would say, 'Well, Jack...' He'd say, 'I agree. Let's go to work on 'em,' and we rewrote them. Rod hated rewrites. The first time I rewrote one of his scripts, Universal said to me, 'You realize if you try to get credit for this, we'll have to let you go. You can't take credit from Rod.' I said, 'I wasn't even thinking of it.' I wasn't interested in taking credit for scripts that weren't totally mine."

Sanford recalls Serling as "the way you saw him on TV He was very clenched-mouthed and uptight. He was rather feisty. I always felt he really wanted to be an actor." Jack Laird did become an actor on the series. "Jack acted in some of the episodes," says Sanford. "He was also one of the ghouls in the main title sequence. He said, 'Hey, Gerald, why don't you play a ghoul?'" Sanford declined and concentrated on writing scripts. "Many of the episodes were based on old novels. We'd buy the rights for a small fee and give story credit to the author. This way we could use some interesting ideas and not get sued."

One of the series' most popular episodes was "The Caterpillar," written by Rod Serling and directed by Jeannot Szwarc (Jaws 2, Supergirl). The segment starred Lawrence Harvey as an Englishman who arranges to have a flesh-eating earwig placed in the ear of his rival. A mix-up results in Harvey's character getting the earwig placed in his ear instead. He goes through excruciating anguish until the earwig, miraculously, tunnels out his other ear. His relief is short-lived when he learns the earwig has laid millions of its eggs in his brain.

"It's the episode of Night Gallery people seem to remember most," says Szwarc. "We shot it in three days and the atmosphere and setting (a plantation in the Borneo jungles) was very successful. It was the first appearance of Lawrence Harvey on American TV We became very close friends." Assistant director Ralph Sariego recalls, "Universal had these ratty dressing rooms. Lawrence Harvey walked in, looked at his room and said, 'Now I know that I've reached the bottom.' But he went on and did the show. He was enormously professional."

Harvey's co-star, Don Knight, offers chilling testimony to Harvey's dedication to the role. "Larry was dying of cancer when he did Night Gallery," says Knight. "He deliberately went off his pain killers so he could feel the pain of the earwig. His horrendous agony in the episode was real. I was astonished by the difference between what Larry had done in rehearsals and what was coming down during filming. When I saw a doctor on the set, I asked Larry what was going on. That's when he told me. We remained friends for the little time he had left."

Szwarc's favorite episode was "The Sins of the Fathers," which dealt with the Welsh custom of sin eating. Richard Thomas played a nineteenth-century youth who pretends to be a sineater (to cleanse corpses of their sins by feasting in their presence) so he can steal food for his starving family. The segment ends with Thomas finding that, in the interim, his father has died. The young man goes into a screaming frenzy as he eats the food to cleanse his father's corpse.

"The network was petrified by the script," recalls Szwarc. "They found the content too strong. Jack Laird kept the script in reserve until I was available to direct it. When we filmed it, Jack still didn't have an official okay from the network. If Universal had known that, Jack and I would have been in trouble. That took an enormous amount of courage for Jack. We were both nervous when we showed it to the NBC brass. We were relieved when all they asked for was a little less screaming. My aim in the episode was to show hunger. I think we succeeded."

Writer Alvin Sapinsley wrote six scripts for Night Gallery, including "The Ghost of Sorworth Place," about a woman (Jill Ireland) being terrorized by the ghost of her husband. "Rod Serling called me after it aired and said how much he liked it. He said, 'This is how Night Gallery should be.'" Sapinsley, who had known Serling from the live TV days, recalls, "The guiding hand of Night Gallery was not Rod's but that of Jack Laird. Rod was the creator and host, and he read all of the scripts, but he had very little control or influence. Laird once said to me, 'My biggest job on the show is to persuade Rod not to write any scripts.'"

The writer remembers Laird as "one of the most creative, knowledgeable, critical and interesting people I've ever met. After reading my scripts, he'd come back with pages and pages of the most precise, intelligent notes I have ever read. After I'd rewrite a script, he'd say, 'It's different but it's no better. Do it again!' He was a man who was largely unappreciated." As a young contract player at Universal, actor Darrell Larson was cast as a student pursued by a monster in "There Aren't Any More MacBanes." "I was a big fan of Twilight Zone," says Larson, "and I was thrilled to be doing a Rod Serling show." At one point, Larson's character is chased down a staircase by a demonic creature.

"The director, John Newland, was a wonderful, courtly gentleman who had been the host of One Step Beyond," says Larson. "He coached me in my screaming when the monster corners me. During rehearsals, I had to do ten variations of that scream. The monster breaking into the basement was actually just a stunt guy thrusting two claws through the window. Newland expertly growled for me [as the monster] off-camera." Larson's other highlight was acting with Joel Grey, who played the eccentric student who dreams up the monster. "Joel is a consummate performer. He had reams of dialogue in the last scene and most of it was fairly unintelligible. In TV, there's a common practice of trimming an overwritten script on the set to get it to an actable level. Joel was certain this script would be cut for filming. It wasn't, and poor Joel hadn't bothered to learn all of this dialogue. I just had reaction shots, so the burden was on Joel. He was contrite and charming about it, and we pressed on. Ellen Blake [who played the monster] had to stand around in that ridiculous green-eyed monster get-up. She got a little miffed."

Night Gallery finished the 1971-72 season with modest ratings against Mannix on CBS. Although Night Gallery was unable to hold onto the huge audience provided by its lead-in, the NBC Mystery Movie series, it did have a loyal audience in the 12 to 25 age group. Nevertheless, NBC and Universal felt the ratings didn't justify the series cost. seem to remember most," says Szwarc. "We shot it in three days and the atmosphere and setting (a plantation in the Borneo jungles) was very successful. It was the first appearance of Lawrence Harvey on American TV We became very close friends."

Assistant director Ralph Sariego recalls, "Universal had these ratty dressing rooms. Lawrence Harvey walked in, looked at his room and said, 'Now I know that I've reached the bottom.' But he went on and did the show. He was enormously professional." Harvey's co-star, Don Knight, offers chilling testimony to Harvey's dedication to the role. "Larry was dying of cancer when he did Night Gallery," says Knight. "He deliberately went off his pain killers so he could feel the pain of the earwig. His horrendous agony in the episode was real. I was astonished by the difference between what Larry had done in rehearsals and what was coming down during filming. When I saw a doctor on the set, I asked Larry what was going on. That's when he told me. We remained friends for the little time he had left."

Szwarc's favorite episode was "The Sins of the Fathers," which dealt with the Welsh custom of sin eating. Richard Thomas played a nineteenth-century youth who pretends to be a sineater (to cleanse corpses of their sins by feasting in their presence) so he can steal food for his starving family. The segment ends with Thomas finding that, in the interim, his father has died. The young man goes into a screaming frenzy as he eats the food to cleanse his father's corpse. "The network was petrified by the script," recalls Szwarc. "They found the content too strong. Jack Laird kept the script in reserve until I was available to direct it. When we filmed it, Jack still didn't have an official okay from the network. If Universal had known that, Jack and I would have been in trouble. That took an enormous amount of courage for Jack. We were both nervous when we showed it to the NBC brass. We were relieved when all they asked for was a little less screaming. My aim in the episode was to show hunger. I think we succeeded."

Writer Alvin Sapinsley wrote six scripts for Night Gallery, including "The Ghost of Sorworth Place," about a woman (Jill Ireland) being terrorized by the ghost of her husband. "Rod Serling called me after it aired and said how much he liked it. He said, 'This is how Night Gallery should be.'" Sapinsley, who had known Serling from the live TV days, recalls, "The guiding hand of Night Gallery was not Rod's but that of Jack Laird. Rod was the creator and host, and he read all of the scripts, but he had very little control or influence. Laird once said to me, 'My biggest job on the show is to persuade Rod not to write any scripts.'" The writer remembers Laird as "one of the most creative, knowledgeable, critical and interesting people I've ever met. After reading my scripts, he'd come back with pages and pages of the most precise, intelligent notes I have ever read. After I'd rewrite a script, he'd say, 'It's different but it's no better. Do it again!' He was a man who was largely unappreciated."

As a young contract player at Universal, actor Darrell Larson was cast as a student pursued by a monster in "There Aren't Any More MacBanes." "I was a big fan of Twilight Zone," says Larson, "and I was thrilled to be doing a Rod Serling show." At one point, Larson's character is chased down a staircase by a demonic creature. "The director, John Newland, was a wonderful, courtly gentleman who had been the host of One Step Beyond," says Larson. "He coached me in my screaming when the monster corners me. During rehearsals, I had to do ten variations of that scream. The monster breaking into the basement was actually just a stunt guy thrusting two claws through the window. Newland expertly growled for me [as the monster] off-camera."

Larson's other highlight was acting with Joel Grey, who played the eccentric student who dreams up the monster. "Joel is a consummate performer. He had reams of dialogue in the last scene and most of it was fairly unintelligible. In TV, there's a common practice of trimming an overwritten script on the set to get it to an actable level. Joel was certain this script would be cut for filming. It wasn't, and poor Joel hadn't bothered to learn all of this dialogue. I just had reaction shots, so the burden was on Joel. He was contrite and charming about it, and we pressed on. Ellen Blake [who played the monster] had to stand around in that ridiculous green-eyed monster v get-up. She got a little miffed."

Night Gallery finished the 1971-72 season ; with modest ratings against Mannix on CBS. ; Although Night

Gallery was unable to hold onto the huge audience provided by its lead-in, the NBC Mystery Movie series, it did have a loyal audience in the 12 to 25 age group. Nevertheless, NBC and Universal felt the ratings didn't justify the series cost. "Anthologies never work," says Gerald Sanford. "That was Night Gallery's main problem. It would have done much better if someone like Vincent Price had played a recurring character. Or if Rod Serling had appeared as a detective or writer each week, trying to track down the source of these stories. As a pure anthology, it wasn't that successful."

Sanford says the series had another problem. "Universal didn't care for the series. It was very expensive for them because you usually had three stories per show. You had to have three to six big-name stars, three directors, three writers, etc. The 15-20 minute stories added up in cost. "We were always going over budget. Once, in the middle of a show, Universal pulled the plug. We took the footage we had and edited it to make an episode." "The ratings were not great but generally good for its time slot," says Jeannot Szwarc. "The demographics were excellent, and the audience it attracted was very loyal."

As the second season came to a close, Sanford decided to pursue other writing assignments. "I didn't like what Night Gallery had become," he says. "They started doing a lot of ugly and weird shows. I couldn't watch it anymore. They got away from doing human interest stories." NBC renewed Night Gallery for a third season, 1972-73. Cut to a half-hour length, each episode contained only one story per show, reminiscent of The Twilight Zone. The third season would also be less horrific, with an emphasis on suspense. "Night Gallery had used a lot of old English and Welsh ghost stories for material," says Ralph Sariego. "There was a decision to move away from that in the third year and do contemporary stories. I didn't agree with that change."

Neither did Jeannot Szwarc. "Some of Night Gallery's previous material had come from some of the best authors of the genre. The shortening of the format hurt, and there were no more interesting mixtures. The whole thing became monochromatic." "Night Gallery's original format was to do short stories, in varying lengths," says director John Badham. "It wouldn't be the same canned formula every week." Badham speculates the third year tried to cut some losses. "The network probably said, 'The series isn't doing that well. Maybe it's this weird, variable format.' Also, people tended not to like the one-minute comedy blackouts, so they were dropped. The show was changed to a safer, half hour format. This also saved money since we were on terrifyingly tight budgets."

Director Ralph Senensky felt that the multi segmented format may have been confusing. "The series hurt itself by chopping itself into very short and long pieces per episode. The more time you put on a screen, the more complete an audience's reaction is going to be. The blackouts were probably a concept that sounded better than they played." Serling's reaction to the new half hour format was, at the time, uncharacteristically mild. "I'm more resigned than angry," he said. Two years later, however, he told writer David Johnson, "It was a very destructive change. You can't suddenly cut an hour show in half and expect audiences to accept it as the same animal."

The new Night Gallery was an animal trapped in a dead-end time slot, Sundays at 10 p.m. Buried in the schedule with scant publicity and often preempted, with a softer style that lacked the charisma of the previous seasons, the series failed to pull in a strong audience. John Badham recalls the third year still offered some challenges. "It was a wonderful idea to cast Ozzie and Harriet Nelson in "You Can Come Up Now, Mrs. Millikan" [a Rod Serling tale of a bumbling scientist who brings back the dead). It gave people a chance to see that the Nelsons had a nice dramatic talent. Ozzie was a very nervous man. He made up his own cue cards for all of his dialogue and planted them around the set. Harriet told me, 'Yes, he did that on The Ozzie and Harriet Show too!'"

Badham recalls Ozzie Nelson getting caught up in a minuscule plot point. "He was a very precise, exact man. He came to me about a rather innocuous line like, 'We're going to have a wonderful time today!' Ozzie said, 'Gee, I wonder if I should say, "We're going to have a nice time today~' instead? Which do you like better?' I'm thinking, 'What's going on in this guy's mind?' I said, 'Well, I think the writer wrote "wonderful time" because your character is excited to show off his invention to all of these scientists.' Ozzie said, 'Yes, but maybe he's nervous about showing off his invention. If he's feeling cautious, he may want to say, "nice time" instead of "wonderful.'" I said, 'Well, is this something you'd rather say?' He said, 'I dunno. What would you say?' I said, 'Part of my job is to defend the author. Since we're doing his work, I understand why he wrote "wonderful.'" Ozzie replied, 'Yes, but...' and he continued arguing his point. Finally I said, 'Okay, fine! Why don't you say "Nice time?" He said 'No, that's okay.' You couldn't win for losing! He was actually very funny.'

Filming Badham's "The Doll of Death," a tale of voodoo magic, was another matter. "I got fired on that show," he says. "We were filming a shot where Barbara Parkins and Alejandro Rey ride a horse past the camera in their wedding outfits. The day before filming, I said to both actors, 'Do you ride well enough to ride bareback? We can get riding doubles, but it sure would be nice if you can do it.' Both Parkins and Rey said they would. "The next morning, they rode past us on the horse. They were supposed to pull to a halt 50 yards down the road on the Universal lot. The horse stopped dead, but I saw Parkins grabbing for Rey, and they both plunged off the horse and went bonk! Everyone yelled, 'Oh my God!' We raced over there, and Parkins was okay but shaken. When you fall six feet onto hard-packed dirt, you take a good hit. We ran her over to St. Joseph's hospital in Burbank. They X-rayed her, and she was okay. Jack Laird went over to see how she was doing.

"Well, I presume she told Jack, 'The director made me get up on that horse,' because my name was suddenly Mud Badham. I continued filming the show with doubles, and Susan Strasberg replaced Barbara Parkins. After filming was over, I was told that I was not to do any more Night Gallerys. I always felt bad about Barbara Parkins. I haven't seen her since. But it was a great lesson for me. Being a relatively new director at the time, I didn't know how much you could get away with by using doubles." Rod Serling's Night Gallery was canceled at the end of the 1972-73 season. "They were three great years," says Ralph Sariego of the experience. "The calibre of material was terrific. It had good stories and attracted wonderful talent."

"Perhaps its weakness was that it tried to embrace too wide a range," says Jeannot Szwarc. "It never found its specific Zone like Twilight did." Szwarc felt the show's uniqueness contributed to its cancellation. "It was too different and too original. Neither the network nor the studio ever understood it. Although the people who worked on it were passionate about the show, its very sophistication and literary quality turned the people in power off. The series never had any champions among the network or studio executives." John Badham notes, "Night Gallery's failure was caused by the unwillingness of American audiences to be the least bit experimental. They'd rather watch their old buddy Roseanne. Kids are much more experimental, and their willingness to watch Night Gallery was tremendous. They found it exciting and imaginative. As people get older, they take less risks."

Universal studios realized that placing Night Gallery into syndication wouldn't be easy. The studio decided to cut all of the hour episodes into half-hours. Stories that originally ran 45 minutes long, such as "They're Tearing Down Tim Riley's Bar," "A Question of Fear" and "The Messiah on Mott Street," had to be edited to a half hour. The 20-minute segments had to be stretched to 30 minutes by adding stock footage from old movies.

"The Different Ones" was expanded from 20 minutes to 26 minutes by adding footage from the films Silent Running and Fahrenheit 451. Another episode, "Logoda's Heads," had its story radically altered by adding 10 minutes of a 1956 Beverly Garland jungle film called Curucu, Beast of the Amazon. To explain the old footage, "Logoda's" star, Tim Matheson, was brought in to loop new narrative dialogue. Despite some inventive editing, the syndicated Night Gallery is frequently inferior to what aired originally on NBC. Its creative values were sacrificed by the studio's practical needs to make a profit. One of John Badham's episodes, "Camera Obscura," was another casualty. "They padded it by adding a series of repetitive shots of ghostly faces floating out of a wall. Once or twice is fine, but they did it over and over to kill time. They turned what was a tight, fast-moving story into something flabby. Originally, it was one of my favorite episodes. Watching it now, it's dreadful. They slowed it to a crawl."

Jeannot Szwarc also grimaces at the editing. "Once a series has been canceled, it's like carrion. The vultures do what they want. I never saw the episodes in syndication, but I'm sure the overall result was awful." When the editing knives were put away, Night Gallery consisted of 75 half hour segments. It wasn't enough. "There had been another series at Universal called The Sixth Sense, starring Gary Collins," says Badham. "Universal decided to combine the Night Gallery syndication package with The Sixth Sense. Harry Katleman, a wonderful man at Universal, had the difficult job of taking the 25 episodes of Sixth Sense and editing them down.... He made them into very tight and exciting half-hours. I had directed a couple Sixth Senses, and I said to Harry, 'They're much better now! Originally, they were deadly boring.'"

Artist Jaroslav Gebr was recruited to paint 25 new paintings, and Rod Serling agreed to host the extra narration for a cool $250,000. "I did the narration because I wanted out," said Serling in 1974, "but some of what they gave me to say was incredible." Night Gallery wasn't a big success in syndication, but the original series is still fondly remembered for chilling a generation. John Badham recalls, "I went on a date with a young woman, and she found out I had directed the Night Gallery episode "Green Fingers." She had been in school when it aired and said everyone loved this wonderful series called Night Gallery." Badham married the woman shortly afterward. For Jeannot Szwarc, the series represented some of his most creative work. "Night Gallery was one of the best things to happen on television," he concludes. "It had an aesthetic and poetic quality which, sadly, has been missing from TV ever since."

WR. Rod Serling, Jack Laird and Gene Kearney, Douglas Heyes, Matthew Howard, Gene Kearney, Richard Matheson, Robert Bloch, Stanford Whitmore, Robert Malcolm Young.

DIR. Steven Spielberg, John Badham, Jeannot Szwarc, Leonard Nimoy, Gene Kearney, Jeff Corey, Barry Shear, Don Taylor, William Hale, John Astin, Jack Laird, Jerrold Freedman, John Astin, John Badham, John Meredyth Lucas, David Rawlins, John Newland, Jeannot Szwarc, Ed Abrams.

EPISODES: 98 YEAR MADE: 1969 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 3

A JACK LAIRD PRODUCTION FOR UNIVERSAL

CREATOR: ROD SERLING

TYPE OF SHOW: ANTHOLOGY

FORMAT: ANTHOLOGY

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 14 (2) 65 (3) 15

DATE OF PREMIER: 08/11/1969 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 27/05/1973

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Narrator/Host ROD SERLING.

Books Based on this series.

Night Gallery	Rod Serling	1971
Night Gallery 2	Rod Serling	1972
Rod Serling's Night Gallery Reader	Carol Serling, Martin H. Greenburg & Charles G. Waugh	1987

RELATED SHOWS:

TWILIGHT ZONE, THE (1958)

TWILIGHT ZONE, THE (1985)

TWILIGHT ZONE, THE (2002)

- 0 - 1 THE CEMETERY
- 0 - 2 EYES
- 0 - 3 THE MONSTER WHO WANTED TO BE A FISHERMAN
- 1 - 1 THE DEAD MAN
- 1 - 2 THE HOUSEKEEPER
- 1 - 3 ROOM WITH A VIEW
- 1 - 4 THE LITTLE BLACK BAG
- 1 - 5 THE NATURE OF THE ENEMY
- 1 - 6 THE HOUSE
- 1 - 7 CERTAIN SHADOWS ON THE WALL
- 1 - 8 MAKE ME LAUGH
- 1 - 9 CLEAN KILLS AND OTHER TROPHIES
- 1 - 10 PAMELA'S VOICE
- 1 - 11 LONE SURVIVOR
- 1 - 12 THE DOLL
- 1 - 13 THE LAST LAUREL
- 1 - 14 THEY'RE TEARING DOWN TIM RILEY'S BAR
- 2 - 1 THE BOY WHO PREDICTED EARTHQUAKES
- 2 - 2 MISS LOVECRAFT SENT MEN
- 2 - 3 THE HAND OF BORGUS WEEMS
- 2 - 4 THE PHANTOM OF WHAT OPERA?
- 2 - 5 A DEATH IN THE FAMILY
- 2 - 6 THE MERCIFUL
- 2 - 7 THE CLASS OF '99

-
- 2 - 8 WITCHES FEAST
- 2 - 9 SINCE AUNT ADA CAME TO STAY
- 2 - 10 WITH APOLOGIES TO MR. HYDE
- 2 - 11 THE FLIP SIDE OF SATAN
- 2 - 12 A FEAR OF SPIDERS
- 2 - 13 JUNIOR
- 2 - 14 MARMALADE WINE
- 2 - 15 THE ACADEMY
- 2 - 16 THE PHANTOM FARMHOUSE
- 2 - 17 SILENT SHOW, SECRET SHOW
- 2 - 18 A QUESTION OF FEAR
- 2 - 19 THE DEVIL IS NOT MOCKED
- 2 - 20 MIDNIGHT NEVER ENDS
- 2 - 21 BRENDA
- 2 - 22 DIE NOW, PAY LATER
- 2 - 23 THE DIARY
- 2 - 24 A MATTER OF SEMANTICS
- 2 - 25 THE BIG SURPRISE
- 2 - 26 PROFESSOR PEABODY'S LAST LECTURE
- 2 - 27 HOUSE - WITH GHOST
- 2 - 28 MIDNIGHT VISIT TO THE NEIGHBORHOOD BLOOD BANK
- 2 - 29 DR. STRINGFELLOW'S REJUVENATOR
- 2 - 30 HELL'S BELLS
- 2 - 31 THE DARK BOY
- 2 - 32 KEEP IN TOUCH - WE'LL THINK OF SOMETHING
- 2 - 33 PICKMAN'S MODEL
- 2 - 34 THE DEAR DEPARTED
- 2 - 35 AN ACT OF CHIVALRY
- 2 - 36 COOL AIR
- 2 - 37 CAMERA OBSCURA
- 2 - 38 QUOTH THE RAVEN
- 2 - 39 THE MESSIAH ON MOTT STREET
- 2 - 40 THE PAINTED MIRROR
- 2 - 41 THE DIFFERENT ONES
- 2 - 42 TELL DAIVD. . .
- 2 - 43 LOGODA'S HEADS
- 2 - 44 THE FUNERAL

-
- 2 - 45 THE TUNE IN DAN'S CAFÉ
- 2 - 46 GREEN FINGERS
- 2 - 47 LINDEMANN'S CATCH
- 2 - 48 A FEAST OF BLOOD
- 2 - 49 THE LATE MR. PEDDINGTON
- 2 - 50 THE MIRACLE OF CAMEFEO
- 2 - 51 THE GHOST OF SORWORTH PLACE
- 2 - 52 THE WAITING ROOM
- 2 - 53 LAST RITES FOR A DEAD DRUID
- 2 - 54 DELIVERIES IN THE REAR
- 2 - 55 STOP KILLING ME
- 2 - 56 DEAD WEIGHT
- 2 - 57 I'LL NEVER LEAVE YOU - EVER
- 2 - 58 THERE AREN'T ANY MORE MCBANES#
- 2 - 59 YOU CAN'T GET HELP LIKE THAT ANYMORE
- 2 - 60 THE SINS OF THE FATHERS
- 2 - 61 THE CATERPILLER
- 2 - 62 LITTLE GIRL LOST
- 2 - 63 SATISFACTION GUARANTEED
- 2 - 64 SMILE PLEASE
- 3 - 1 THE RETURN OF THE SORCERER
- 3 - 2 THE GIRL WITH THE HUNGRY EYES
- 3 - 3 RARE OBJECTS
- 3 - 4 SPECTRE IN TAP SHOES
- 3 - 5 YOU CAN COME UP NOW, MR. MILLIKAN
- 3 - 6 THE OTHER WAY OUT
- 3 - 7 FRIGHT NIGHT
- 3 - 8 FINNEGAN'S FLIGHT
- 3 - 9 SHE'LL BE COMPANY FOR YOU
- 3 - 10 THE RING WITH THE RED VELVET ROPES
- 3 - 11 SOMETHING IN THE WOODWORK
- 3 - 12 DEATH ON A BARGE
- 3 - 13 WHISPER
- 3 - 14 THE DOLL OF DEATH
- 3 - 15 HATRED UNTO DEATH
- 3 - 16 HOW TO CURE THE COMMON VAMPIRE

NIGHT HEAD

Naoto (Toyokawa) and Naoya (Takeda) are brothers who work as psychic investigators, each using his particular psychic power, utilizing the neglected dark side of the human brain - hence the "Night Head". With mysterious origins in a haunted forest (only truly explained in creator Joji Iida's later novelisation Night Head Deep Forest) the brothers are an intriguing mix - Naoto is telekinetic while Naoya is a telepath, and between them they make for a formidable team, as if the heroine of NANASE AGAIN had gained an extra ability.

Shown after midnight, NH is a deliberately moody, brooding thriller series after the fashion of the old British show SAPPHIRE AND STEEL. The brothers are true anti-heroes - their first adventure begins when Naoto overhears comments in a crowded bar disparaging psychics and leads to a brawl when his powers start shattering glasses. Thought he can hold off assailants by applying psychic pressure to their brains, Naoya is able to read the minds of his attackers, not only revealing who has slept with whom (everyone, it transpires!), but also that a woman seen leaving the bar is a murderess.

NH not only initiated the wave of thrillers that prepared the Japanese for THE X FILES and RING, it also proved to be a rich breeding ground for talent behind the scenes - the crew list includes early directorial credits for the parties who would go on to make Hypnosis, Another Heaven and Bayside Shakedown, among others.

In addition to Iida's sequel, the series itself was novelized, reputedly with illustrations by the famous manga collective CLAMP. With the growing cult following, the series boasted a Christmas Eve TV special NH: The Other Side (1992) and a movie sequel NH: The Trial (1994). Composer Kuniaki Haishima would become better known later in the 1990s for his anime work, such as Spriggnan.

Series was produced by Yuji Iwata.

PHOTOGRAPHY - Director of Photography: Enokida Hiromi

MUSIC - Music: Haijima Kuniaki

SPECIAL MAKE UP EFFECTS - Special Make Up: Matsui Yuichi

WR. JOJI IIDA.

DIR. JOJI IIDA, MASATO HIJKATA, KATSUYUKI MOTOHIRO, MASAYUKI OCHIAI

EPISODES: 21 YEAR MADE: 1992 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

FUJI/PONY CANYON

CREATOR: JOJI IIDA

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPER POWERS

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 21

DATE OF PREMIER: 08/10/1992

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 18/03/1993

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS: NIGHT HEAD: THE OTHER SIDE (1992), NIGHT HEAD: THE TRIAL (1994)

Kirihara Naoto ETSUSHI TOYOKAWA, Kirahara Naoya SHINJI TAKEDA, KANAKO FUKAURA, TARO FUJIOKA, RIE YAMAGUCHI, Sakie KOJIMA HIJIRI, Tomomi OKINA MEGUMI, MATSUO SUZUKI, Mikumo Gengo SASAI EISUKE, Okuhara Akiko MINAMI YOSHIE, Sakaguchi SOSUI KYOGO, HARUKI MISAYO, TAMURA MIHO, FUJIKURA TAMAKI, OSEDA AYUMI, SAKAI YUKIE, MORISHITA TETSUO, ARIBASHI MASASHI, OHARA MARIKO, HIGASIYAMA EI, TOKUNAGA HIROMI, TOKUI YU, ARINA KEIKO, YAMAGUCHI KOJI, KUTOME CHOMARU, OKUBO TAKAMITSU, FUJIMOTO

YOKO, TOKUSHIMA SARA, Sakie's father NAKAHIRA RYOTA, Sakie's mother SUGATA HARUKA, ONO ATSUKO, DINA RENDN, KOMATSU TOYOAKI, MORIYAMA KAKU, DOI MASAYO, young Sakie TAKESHIMA YUKA, MANABE TOSHIHIRO, HIGASHI MEGUMI, MURAKAMI RYO, KORUSAWA YOKO, MATANO AKIO, MASAKI KOSUKE, YAMAZAKI KAIDO, YAMAGIUCHI MIYOKO, SASAKI NATSUMI, NUKATA GANHIKO, MORIYAMA RIKI, HATANO KEIKO, TAKAYA, TADANO AKKO, YAMAGUCHI RIE, INABA MATSUO, TAKAHASHI NOBOU, TONO NAGIKO.

RELATED SHOWS:

NANASE AGAIN

NIGHT OF THE RED HUNTER THE

Peter and Maggie run away and are taken in by the Pipers who hold a strange secret. They uncover the secret of the Pipers graveyard - but Peter falls increasingly under the Thrall of Ish Murdie. The two discover that the Pipers are in fact aliens who have come to Earth to escape the evil Minrod, they soon discover that Minrod has also turned up on Earth, so the Pipers are forced to flee.

This four part New Zealand children's SF show was shown in the UK on BBC1.

Produced by Chris Hampson.

WR. Ken Catran

DIR. David Copeland

EPISODES: 4 YEAR MADE: 1992 COUNTRY: NZ SEASONS: 1

CREATOR: KEN CATRAN

TYPE OF SHOW: ALIENS ON EARTH FORMAT: SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 4

DATE OF PREMIER: AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Maggie Bennett TONY DRISCOLL, Peter Guilford TOBY LANG, Tay GREER ROBSON, Ish Murdie BRONO LAWRENCE, Anne Piper PERRY PIERCY, Jill Piper ILONA RODGERS, Jed Piper LLOYD SCOTT, Rose Piper KATE HARCOURT, Thomas Piper BERNARD KEARNS, Ben Piper PETER HAMBLETON, Preacher PETER HAWES, Police Officer KERRY FOX, Police Officer HENRY VAEOSO, Constable Kebble PETER DENNETT.

NIGHT STALKER

Tagline: What if everything you feared was real?

Carl Kolchak takes a job at the L.A. Beacon as a crime reporter and begins investigating a strange case in which a pregnant woman has gone missing. When her body is found fingers point to the woman's husband, but Kolchak believes in the man's innocence, believing that there is a supernatural angle to the story. His investigations are frustrated when Perri Reed, the newspaper's senior crime reporter, digs into Kolchak's mysterious past.

In the 1970s, there was the short lived KOLCHAK: THE NIGHT STALKER, a short lived, and at the time not a well understood show. But it pioneered the use of terror on TV without a large budget, and was the inspiration for THE X FILES many years later. In 2005 it was decided to bring the show back onto the air for ABC Television, but the show was very poorly received, and suffered in the ratings, and after just 6 episodes it was pulled from the airwaves.

Produced by Adam Armus supervising producer , Robert P. Cohen producer , John Peter Kousakis co-executive producer , Gary LaPoten producer , Suzanne Lauer associate producer , Michelle Maxwell MacLaren co-executive producer , Darin Morgan consulting producer
Robert Parigi co-producer , Daniel Sackheim executive producer , Frank Spotnitz executive producer

Original Music by Michael Wandmacher

Cinematography by Rick Maguire , J. Clark Mathis (as Clark Mathis) , Robert Primes

Film Editing by Christopher Cooke , Marta Evry , Sunny Hodge

Casting by Mia Levinson

Production Design by Waldemar Kalinowski

Makeup Department - Shutchai Tym Buacharern makeup artist: Gabrielle Union , Ruth Haney special makeup effects artist , Neal Kennemore sculptor lab work , Rich Knight lifecast mold maker: W.M Creations , Matthew W. Mungle special makeup effects artist , Bob Smithson contact lens technician (multiple episodes) , Clinton Wayne special makeup effects artist

Production Management - Michael Cedar unit production manager

Second Unit Director or Assistant Director - Yor-El Francis trainee assistant director , Jay Torres second unit director , Rudy Van Zyl second assistant director

Art Department - Sandy Adams on-set dresser (pilot) , Peter Davidson set designer , Michael F. Loomer on-set dresser , Steve Park set dresser , David Scott property constructor , David Scott propmaker , Abigail Sheiner art department coordinator , Miles Teves concept artist
Tommy 'Tom' Tomlinson property master (pilot) , Justine Wu set dresser

Sound Department - Bob Costanza sound effects editor , Joe Earle sound re-recording mixer , Tommy Goodwin foley mixer , Victor Iorillo supervising sound editor , Micha Liberman music editor , Richard Lightstone sound mixer , Elmo Ponsdomenech sound re-recording mixer
Kevin Roache sound recordist

Special Effects by - Eric Coon special effects technician , Jonathan Kombrinck pyrotechnician , Al

Marangoni special effects foreman
 Ken Rudell special effects foreman

Visual Effects by - Mat Beck visual effects supervisor: EntityFX , Kim Boyle visual effects producer: EntityFX , William Higgins compositor: EntityFX , Yoshiko Hirata compositor: EntityFX , Eli Jarra digital effects artist , Eli Jarra visual effects supervisor , Kymber Lim senior visual effects producer: EntityFX , Mark Alan Loso compositor: EntityFX , Jack Noriaki Matsumoto 3D artist: EntityFX , John Mitchell 3D artist: EntityFX , Rik Panero data I/O manager , Andrea Shear 3D artist: EntityFX , Terry Shigemitsu lead 3D artist: EntityFX , Marty Taylor visual effects supervisor: EntityFX

Stunts - Daniel Arrias stunts , Stacey Carino stunt double , Jack Carpenter stunts , Jason Gray stunt double , G. Peter King stunt double
 Scott Workman stunt performer , Boni Yanagisawa utility stunts

Other crew - Simran Baidwan assistant to executive producer (season 1) , Susie Bench music scoring assistant , Brian Bernstein additional camera operator , Michael Betz assistant location manager , P.J. Bloom music supervisor , Ben Bowling best boy electric (pilot episode)
 Rod Calarco first assistant camera: "b" camera (pilot episode) , Michael Chambliss hot head technician/operator (multiple episodes) , John Chechitelli production assistant , David Dowell first assistant camera , Kristen Ecker Second assistant camera: second unit , Hiroshi Endo animator: title animation , Liz Gaffney production secretary (3 episodes) , Reece Glover grip: second unit , Melanie E. Gonzalez set production assistant (multiple episodes) , Geoffrey Haley camera operator , Geoffrey Haley steadicam operator , Ryan Heinke adr loop group
 Joe Hendrick second assistant camera , Geoffrey Hildrew assistant editor , Tomoka Izumi assistant camera , Mary-Kate Killilea assistant costume designer (pilot episode) , Tiffany Noel Kinder key assistant location manager (pilot episode) , Jules Labarthe camera operator: "a" camera
 Nicole Marostica publicist , Omar McClinton post-production finance: Touchstone Television , Patricia McLaughlin costume supervisor
 Alex Mekari extras casting , Andrea Miraglia grip , Nancy Mosher Hall production coordinator , Richard G. Orozco key assistant location manager , Brian S. Osmond assistant camera , Jorge Pallares assistant camera , Onofrio Nino Pansini camera operator: "b" camera
 Nik Perleros additional set production assistant , Jon Recher key set production assistant , Huey Redwine stand-in , Ira S. Rosenstein location manager (pilot episode) , Andi Ruane dolly grip , William Russell gaffer (pilot episode) , Jeff Saldin digital utility , Deanna M. Saul costumer , Zvi Shapiro production assistant (pilot episode) , Ben Shelton set production assistant , Brian Sherwin post-production coordinator
 Michele Short casting associate , L. Andrew Sigler grip , Jason Smith assistant production coordinator , Robert Stenger first assistant camera , Diana Taffolla art accountant , Jonathan Thornhill post-production coordinator , Deron Tse additional grip: second unit
 Matt Tolve production assistant , Patricia Warren production secretary , Alyse Wax production assistant (pilot episode) , Scott C. Williman pre-rigger , Mari Wilson additional script supervisor

Trivia -

Kolchak's home is Case Study House #22, in Los Angeles.

The Beacon office building is in real-life found at 1000 Wilshire Blvd. in Los Angeles. It was previously used in Robbery Homicide Division. (Edit)

Music featured in this episode included:"Dragonfly" by M. Craft.

As with most pilots, there are no opening credits but the regular actors' names are simply flashed on screen, followed by the guest stars. (Edit)

Nielsen Ratings: 64th place - 7.1 million viewers. Third in its time slot.

Stuart Townsend takes on the role of Carl Kolchak, played by Darren McGavin in the original movies and series. Cotter Smith takes on the role of Antonio Vincenzo, played by Simon Oakland in the original movies and series. John Pyper-Ferguson plays the role of Agent Bernie Fain, which was the original name of the character Bernie Jenks that was played by Ralph Meeker in the original TV movie The Night Stalker.

Perri uses a fictional web search engine (SpyderFinder) to look up information on Kolchak.

As per www.darrenmcgavin.net, the premiere features a 3-second digitally-inserted clip of Darren McGavin, taken from the TV movie The Night Stalker. He can be seen on the right side as Kolchak enters the newsroom, right after Perri is at home looking up Kolchak on the Internet. The newsroom itself is a modern-day set - it is only McGavin himself who is added. The footage is taken from a scene in the movie where Carl is loading up his bag with a stake and hammer.

WR. Adam Armus ,Noah Baylin ,Nora Kay Foster ,Jeffrey Grant Rice ,Thomas Schnauz ,Frank Spotnitz ,Adam Sussman ,

DIR. Rob Bowman , Deran Sarafian , Tony Wharmby , Daniel Sackheim

EPISODES: 10 YEAR MADE: 2005 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

BIG LIGHT PRODUCTIONS, TOUCHSTONE TELEVISIN

CREATOR: JEFFREY GRANT RICE

TYPE OF SHOW: WEIRD FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 10

DATE OF PREMIER: 29/09/2005 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 10/11/2005

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Carl Kolchak STUART TOWNSEND, Perri Reed GABRIELLE UNION, Jain McManus ERIC JUNGMAN, Tony Vincenzo COTTER SMITH

RELATED SHOWS:

KOLCHAK: THE NIGHT STALKER

- 1 - 1 "PILOT"
- 1 - 2 THE FIVE PEOPLE YOU MEET IN HELL
- 1 - 3 THREE
- 1 - 4 BURNING MAN
- 1 - 5 MALUM
- 1 - 6 THE SOURCE (PART 1 OF 2)
- 1 - 7 THE SEA (PART 2 OF 2) (NOT AIRED)
- 1 - 8 INTO NIGHT (NOT AIRED)
- 1 - 9 TIMELESS (NOT AIRED)
- 1 - 10 WHAT'S THE FREQUENCY KOLCHAK (NOT AIRED)

NIGHT VISIONS

Anthology series, with ideas from sci-fi, fantasy and horror.

This was a very interesting series. It reminded me of the Twilight Zone with a touch of the X-Files. The story I remember most is Bill Pullman playing an army scientist or specialist who with the army surrounds some kind of alien life forms that look like something out of the pioneer days. He somehow finds a way into the bubble like vehicle or area in his own quest to find a simpler more happy life. Instead he gets eaten. Whoa what a series! It was eerie like Tales of the crypt and Twilight Zone, but had a little more gore, blood and guts to it. This series is in a long line of short lived but not forgotten horror anthologies that entertain and fright.

I knew when Fox started airing this show that they'd already decided not to make any more episodes of it, but I figured they'd at least air the ones they had and I could tape them. I missed one and then Sept. 11th happened before they could air the last three. When the schedule finally returned to normal, Night Visions was nowhere to be found. I kept hoping that they'd finally air them eventually and then I heard the Sci-Fi Channel had picked it up.

I happily started checking the schedule each week to see if it was an episode I needed and finally the one I missed was going to be on. It wasn't, they played repeats of The Dead Zone instead. I figured that they'd play them eventually, even if it was in a lousy timeslot. Now they've done something so low, I have trouble expressing how angry I am.

Tonight SFC aired a supposedly original 'movie' called Shadow Realm. I then discovered that this was nothing more than 2 episodes of Night Visions with the original titles and intros removed and SFC's name plastered on it.

This is a bald-faced LIE. SFC had absolutely nothing to do with this 'movie' other than hacking up the episodes and slapping their name on it! I consider this outright theft. They'd probably argue that since they bought the rights to it, they can claim it to be an original, but how many people would accept it if I were to buy the Mona Lisa and proclaim it to be my original work? No, I'm not comparing Night Visions to a priceless work of art, but the principle is the same and it deserves to be seen the way the creators intended.

Because of this, you can be sure that you will never see those two episodes (Patterns/Maze, Harmony/Voices) in their unedited form, because that would show the SFC to be the liars they are. That's not just an opinion, it's a fact. They lied about creating this 'movie'.

I hope that the IMDB approves this comment because I think it's important for fans of this show to be aware of just how low the SFC really is.

The premise for this show is simple. You take a pinch of "The X-Files", blend it with some "Amazing Stories" and throw in a dash of "Tales From The Crypt" and voila, you have a fresh new series based on the supernatural and unexplained with guest actors, guest directors and a creepy host (well, that is if you consider Henry Rollins to be creepy).

But alas, this is probably about the 5000th TV show to hit the air since television was invented and just about everything about this show seems either unoriginal or enters the 'been there, done that' territory because so many shows before it has dabbled in the same subject matter.

Unlike "Tales From The Crypt" where the host was the fun and always hilarious Crypt Keeper, here we have a sombre and straight-to-the-point Henry Rollins (of the Rollins Band) presenting each story with a quick foreword. Each story blends mystery, suspense and most of the time, death, together to make for a half hour episode of fun. Unfortunately, most of the stories are extremely predictable and the endings don't always come as a surprise. But still, it makes for good Summer filler, and seeing guest actors meeting a sorry demise at the end of each episode is always fun.

Young Artist Awards

Year Result Award Category/Recipient(s)

2002 Nominated Young Artist Award Best Performance in a TV Series (Comedy or Drama) - Young Actress

Age Ten or Under

Brittany Tiplady

- WR. Dan Angel creator
 Dan Angel writer (episode "The Bokor") (episode "The Occupant") (episode "The Passenger List") (episode "Renovation")
 Steve Aspis writer (episode ("A View Through the Window") (episode "If A Tree Falls")
 Joseph Beyer story (episode "Quiet, Please")
 Billy Brown creator
 Billy Brown writer (episode "The Bokor") (episode "The Occupant") (episode "The Passenger List") (episode "Renovation")
 Will Dixon writer
 Harry Dunn writer
 Earl Hamner Jr. (episode "The Doghouse") (as Earl Hamner)
 Sophie C. Hopkins writer (episode "After Life") (episode "Rest Stop") (episode "Still Life")
 Ted Humphrey writer (episode "Used Car")
 Damian Kindler writer
 Jim Leonard writer (episode "Quiet, Please") (episode "Reunion") (as Jim Leonard Jr.)
 Jim Leonard writer
 Philip Levens writer
 Wendy MacLeod writer (episode "Neighborhood Watch")
 Erin Maher writer (episode "Darkness")
 Dennis L. McKiernan writer (episode "Darkness", original short story)
 Kay Reindl writer (episode "Darkness")
 Jose Rivera writer
 Naren Shankar writer (episode "My So-Called Life and Death")
 Julie Siege writer (episode "Bitter Harvest")
- DIR. Joe Dante (episode "The Occupant") (episode "Quiet Please")
 Brian Dennehy (episode "Renovation")
 Ernest R. Dickerson (episode "My So Called Life and Death") (episode "Still Life")
 Nick Gomez (episode "Now He's Coming Up the Stairs")
 Keith Gordon (episode "Bokor") (episode "Patterns")
 Tobe Hooper (episode "Cargo")
 Po-Chih Leong (episode "If A Tree Falls...")
 Jefery Levy (episode "Afterlife") (episode "Dead Air") (episode "Switch")
 Bill Pullman (episode "A View Through A Window")
 Philip Sgriccia (episode "Bitter Harvest")
 Paul Shapiro
 Yves Simoneau (episode "The Passenger List") (episode "Rest Stop")
 Bryan Spicer
 Ian Toynton (episode "Darkness") (episode "Voices")
 Michael W. Watkins (episode "Used Car")
 JoBeth Williams (episode "The Doghouse")
 Thomas J. Wright (episode "Hate Puppet") (episode "Voices")

EPISODES: 26 YEAR MADE: 2001 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1*ANGEL/BROWN PRODUCTIONS, WARNER BROS. TELEVISIONCREATOR: DAN ANGEL, BILLY BROWNTYPE OF SHOW: ANTHOLOGYFORMAT: ANTHOLOGYLENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: EnglishSEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 26DATE OF PREMIER: 12/07/2001AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 06/09/2001SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:*FILMS:

 Host (uncredited) HENRY ROLLINS

1 - 1 *THE PASSENGER LIST*1 - 2 THE BOKOR

- 1 - 3 DEAD AIR
- 1 - 4 RENOVATION
- 1 - 5 A VIEW THROUGH THE WINDOWS
- 1 - 6 QUITE, PLEASE
- 1 - 7 HOW HE'S COMING UP THE STAIRS
- 1 - 8 USED CAR
- 1 - 9 REST STOP
- 1 - 10 AFTER LIFE
- 1 - 11 IF A TREE FALLS...
- 1 - 12 THE OCCUPANT
- 1 - 13 REUNION
- 1 - 14 NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH
- 1 - 15 BITTER HARVEST
- 1 - 16 MY SO CALLED LIFE & DEATH
- 1 - 17 THE DOG HOUSE
- 1 - 18 STILL LIFE
- 1 - 19 HATE PUPPET
- 1 - 20 DARKENESS
- 1 - 21 THE MAZE
- 1 - 22 HARMONY
- 1 - 23 CARGO
- 1 - 24 SWITCH
- 1 - 25 PATTERNS
- 1 - 26 VOICES

NIGHTMAN

Johnny Dominoe help fight crime with the help of his alter ego Nightman. Set in Bay City at the start of the 21st Century. Dominoe is struck by lightning and is able to sense things about people when their thoughts are focused on wrong-doing. Dominoe is a jazz musician who shares his electrifying talents with the elite club crowd by night and teaches kids by day. Johnny withstands a cosmic event that leaves him with incredible sensory powers that change his life forever. Thus is born Nightman, the superhero of the next millennium.

This series has been developed and updated by Glen A. Larson, marking his return to science fiction television since the mid 1980s. Other shows created by Glen A. Larson include, KNIGHT RIDER, AUTOMAN, BATTLESTAR GALACTIC AND GALACTICA 1980.

The pilot episode of Nightman was aired only months after the pilot had its airing in the US, but because of poor ratings for the pilot in the UK, Sky One, the broadcaster of the pilot never bought the series. The series is based on a popular comic book of the same title. Routine plots and state-of-yesterday's-art special effects helped consign this show to the syndication market. Many fans of the comics have expressed disappointment. The series poor performance is season one lead to a number of major cast changes out went Frank, Johnnys Farmer and also actor Derek Webster who was replaced in season two by Derwin Jordon playing the same character, not a good sign. The series' executive producers were Glen A. Larson and Stephen A. Miller.

Co-executive producer was Allan Eastman - Award-winning director Allan Eastman has worked in the entertainment industry for over two decades as a director, writer, and producer of feature films, television series and movies-of-the-week. Eastman's directing credits include the pilot for GENE RODDENBERRY'S EARTH: FINAL CONFLICT, the mini-series "Champagne Charlie" starring Hugh Grant, "Race for the Bomb," shot on location in Europe, and the award-winning "Ford: The Man and the Machine." His feature film credits include "Danger Zone" with Billy Zane and Robert Downey Jr., and "Crazy Moon," starring Kiefer Sutherland. In addition, Eastman has numerous television credits including STAR TREK: VOYAGER and THE OUTER LIMITS. Several original screenplays and countless story edits and rewrites round out Eastman's resume. A Canadian citizen and British/US resident, Eastman holds a Masters Degree from the University of Bristol Film School. In addition to his Executive Producer duties, Eastman directing six episodes of the first season of "Nightman."

The co-executive producer was Stephen A. Miller - Stephen A. Miller, co-executive producer of "NightMan," has worked steadily in television since 1978 as a writer-producer of half-hour comedies and one-hour action adventures. He began his career with the submission of a "spec" script for the ground-breaking comedy "All in the Family," which landed him his first job as a staff writer. He soon became story editor on the comedies "In the Beginning" and "Good Times," then executive script consultant on "The Misadventures of Sheriff Lobo."

In 1980, Miller joined the staff of "Archie Bunker's Place" as executive story editor and became producer during the 1982-83 season. Following a two-year television deal at MGM, he worked at Universal as a producer on the hour-long action adventures AIRWOLF, "Simon & Simon" and "Magnum, P.I." Since then, he has served as producer of a number of additional series, including "Evening Shade," "P.S. I LUV U" and "One West Waikiki."

Executive producer was Harold Tichenor - Harold Tichenor is president of Crescent Entertainment, one of Western Canada's foremost motion picture and television production companies. He became involved in the film industry as an experimental filmmaker in the early 1960s. Immigrating to Canada in 1966, he worked as a freelance cameraman, editor, writer, producer and director on over 100 documentaries. In 1980, Tichenor shifted his emphasis from documentary to dramatic production, forming Crescent Entertainment in 1990. He co-executive produced the multi-award-winning KURT VONNEGUT'S WELCOME TO THE MONKEY HOUSE and has produced numerous television movies. In 1994, Tichenor received an Emmy nomination for the miniseries "Children of the Dust." Most recently, he produced the miniseries "Titanic," was consulting producer on "Kitchen Party," and executive producer on "Naked Frailties" and the TV movie "Shadow Warrior II."

Another executive producer was Glen A. Larson - Glen A. Larson, executive producer of "NightMan," has long been one of television's most prolific and respected producers. With some 26 television series to his credit, few can rival his remarkable success in producing first-rate entertainment across the schedule -- from youth and action shows such as "The Hardy Boys" and KNIGHT RIDER to sophisticated primetime fare like "Quincy" and "Magnum P.I." Larson began his television career at Universal Studios, where in one short season, he rose from freelance writer to producer of "It Takes A Thief," starring Robert Wagner. He went on to develop, create, write and produce pilots for numerous programs including "Alias Smith and Jones," "McCloud," THE SIX MILLION DOLLAR MAN, "Quincy," "B.J. and The Bear," "Sheriff Lobo," "The Hardy Boys-Nancy Drew Mysteries," BUCK ROGERS IN THE 25TH CENTURY, "Switch," BATTLESTAR GALATICA, "Magnum P.I.," "Cover Up," KNIGHT RIDER and "The Fall Guy."

WR.DIR. Allan Eastman.EPISODES: 44 YEAR MADE: 1997 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 2*ALLIACNE ATLANTIS COMMUNICATIONS/ CRECENT ENTERTAINMENT LTD/ GLEN A. LARSON PRODUCTIONS/ TRIBUNE ENTERTAINMENTCREATOR: GLEN A. LARSON (Based on the Marvel comics character Nightman)TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHEROFORMAT: SERIESLENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: EnglishSEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 22 (2) 22DATE OF PREMIER: 15/09/1997 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 23/05/1999SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:*FILMS:

Johnny Dominoe/Nightman MATT MCCOLM, Frank Dominus EARL HOLLIMAN (1) , Raleigh Jordon DEREK WEBSTER (1), Raleigh Jordon DERWIN JORDON (2) , Lt. Charlie Dann MICHAEL WOODS, Jessica Rodgers FELECIA M. BELL, Lieutenant Briony Branca JANE HIETMAYER (2).

RELATED SHOWS:KNIGHT RIDERBUCK ROGERS IN THE 25TH CENTURYBATTLESTAR GALATICAAUTOMANGALACTICA 1980HIGHWAYMAN, THEMANIMALTEAM KNIGHT RIDERBATTLESTAR GALATICA (MINI)BATTLESTAR GALACTICA (2004)

- 1 - 1 "PILOT" (1-2)
- 1 - 2 WHOLE LOTTA SHAKIN' GOIN' ON
- 1 - 3 I LEFT MY HEART IN SAN FRANCISCO
- 1 - 4 IN THE STILL OF THE NIGHT
- 1 - 5 FACE TO FACE
- 1 - 6 CHROME
- 1 - 7 TAKIN' IT TO THE STREETS
- 1 - 8 LADY IN RED
- 1 - 9 THAT OL' GANG OF MINE
- 1 - 10 BAD MOON RISING
- 1 - 11 CONSTANT CRAVING
- 1 - 12 YOU ARE TOO BEAUTIFUL

-
- 1 - 13 DO YOU BELIEVE IN MAGIC?
 - 1 - 14 HOUSE OF SOUL
 - 1 - 15 NIGHTWOMAN
 - 1 - 16 CHROME II
 - 1 - 17 BAD TO THE BONE
 - 1 - 18 HITCHHIKER
 - 1 - 19 DEVIL IN DISGUISE
 - 1 - 20 DOUBLE VISION
 - 1 - 21 AMAZING GRACE
 - 2 - 1 THE ULTRAWEB
 - 2 - 2 THE BLACK KNIGHT
 - 2 - 3 IT CAME FROM OUT OF THE SKY
 - 2 - 4 BOOK OF THE DEAD
 - 2 - 5 FEAR CITY
 - 2 - 6 MANIMAL
 - 2 - 7 KNIGHT LIFE
 - 2 - 8 THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE
 - 2 - 9 RING OF FIRE
 - 2 - 10 SIXTY MINUTE MAN
 - 2 - 11 BLADER
 - 2 - 12
 - 2 - 13 BURNING LOVE
 - 2 - 14
 - 2 - 15 DUST
 - 2 - 16 SPELLBOUND
 - 2 - 17 DOUBLE DOUBLE
 - 2 - 18 THE ENEMY WITHIN
 - 2 - 19 GORE
 - 2 - 20 REVELATIONS
 - 2 - 21 NIGHTWOMAN RETURN
 - 2 - 22 KEYES TO THE KINGDOM OF HELL

Frank Nolan - murdered after stumbling over a toxic waste dumping ring, and Fay Peronivic - whom committed suicide after being dumped by her gangster-like boyfriend, find themselves in the "All Night Cafe" and being recruited to help others get a second chance to change their lives. The mysterious bartender, Blackie, seems to know what's going on but blithely refuses to tell.

1 - 2 DYING WELL IS THE BEST REVENGE

1 - 3 FAY AND IVY

1 - 4 THE HEART OF THE MYSTERY

1 - 5 SANTUARY FOR A CHILD

1 - 6 ALIENS ATE MY LUNCH

NIGHTMARE MAN, THE

The Scottish isle of Inverdee is preparing for its usual long hard winter when the dismembered body of a woman tourist is found. Local dentist Michael Gaffikin and Insp. Inskip are baffled by the ferocity of the murder - and their alarm increases when an ornithologist, Dr Symonds, suffers a similar fate. When he was attacked, his camera had been running and the film reveals a shadowy, monster-like creature. This and the sleek capsule found washed-up on the beach leads Michael to suspect that the murderer could be something alien . . .

And, in a sense, it is, for the killer turns out to be the result of a secret Russian experiment called the Vodyanoi in which a man's brain is linked to a mini-sub's controls. In his panic to get out, the Russian submariner had half his brain ripped away, turning him into a grotesque 'Nightmare Man'. The Russians duly turn up, disguised as a British army unit, but their cover is blown when a soldier salutes with the wrong hand! In the end, after the killer has also attacked a coastguard station, the Russians track down and kill him.

This atmospheric 1981 BBC thriller combined brutal murder, Russian agents and a secret experiment in a tale of a killer on the loose on a remote Scottish island. Adapted by Robert Holmes from the novel Child of Vodyanoi by David Wiltshire, it toned down the graphic horror, but remained a gripping, suspenseful drama.

A good cast featured James Warwick, Maurice Rooves and Celia Imrie, with the mainly half-glimpsed killer played by Pat Gorman, a veteran of many a DOCTOR WHO monster costume. Tautly directed by Douglas Camfield, the series included several sequences shot from the killer's point of view, and filmed through a red filter. The producer for the show was Ron Craddock, the designer was Allan Anson and the script editor was Jenny Sheridan.

WR. Robert Holmes

DIR. Douglas Camfield.

EPISODES: 4 YEAR MADE: 1981 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 1

A BBC PRODUCTION

CREATOR: DAVID WILTSHIRE

TYPE OF SHOW: SCIENCE

FORMAT: SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 4

DATE OF PREMIER: 01/05/1981

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 22/05/1981

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Michael Gaffikin JAMES WARWICK, Fiona Patterson CELIA IMRIE, Insp. Inskip MAURICE ROEVES, Dr. Goudry TOM WATSON, Col. Howard JONATHON NEWTH, Sgt. Carch JAMES COSMO, PC Malcolmson FRASER WILSON, Dr. Symonds TONY SIBBALD, Mrs. MacKay ELAINE WELLS, McGrath JON CROFT, Campbell RONALD FORFAR, Drummond JEFFREY STEWART, Lt. Carey ROBERT VOWLES, The Killer PAT GORMAN.

RELATED SHOWS:

DOCTOR WHO

NINJA CAPTOR

For centuries, the ancient Ninja clans of Japan have lived a life of secretive seclusion in the forests and mountains, only rarely venturing out to serve Japanese shoguns/warlords, topple governments or to obtain information. The Ancient Fuuma Ninja clan is one such secret group that decides to reveal itself to world and use their skills to forcibly takeover Japan. Led by the crafty Fuuma clansman Retpuu, the Fuuma go on the offensive and attempt to steal advanced weaponry to aid them in their plans. One of the Fuuma, Izumo Daisuke has a change of heart and decides to betray his clan. Escaping to Tokyo, he is rescued by the mysterious Ninja master Tendou Mujin. Tendou Mujin foresaw such a move by rouge Ninja clans and has assembled a team of master Ninjas to act on behalf of humanity and protect the world from their kind. He asks Daisuke to lead the team of Ninjas to oppose Retpuu and stop his grand ambitions. Calling themselves the "Captor Team" these seven Ninja warriors use their various ninjitsu skills and advanced weaponry to stop the Fuuma from ruling Japan. Later the peaceful Koga Ninja clan is corrupted by their crazed leader Kurayami Nindou (the 18th leader of the Koga) who decides to follow the Fuuma's lead and takeover the world. They are also opposed by the "Captor Team".

Characters

Who are the Ninja Captor?

Izumo Daisuke/Hi Nin <Fire Ninja> Captor #7

Former member of the Fuuman clan. Selected by Tendou Mujin to lead the "Captor Team" and become its 'Chief'. Is a college student at Tozai College where he is a student in Tendou Mujin's class. Wields 'flare darts' and 'fire bombs' which can incinerate and burn his opponents. Is a Master Ninja who is skilled in numerous hand-to-hand combat techniques.

Fukuro Saburobei/Den Nin <Electric Ninja> Captor #1

As his name implies, he is the 'elder statesman' of the group. Dresses in a bowler hat and Edwardian style clothes (could be seen as a John Steed <The British TV Series The Avengers> character). Is quite the character and usually provides a lot of the comic-relief. Usually serves as the Tendou household's butler and manservant. Despite his comic appearance however he is a skilled Ninja and wears an electric powered belt that can charge his 'Electric Whip'.

Rin Sakon/Mizu Nin <Water Ninja> Captor #2

Is a gifted swimmer and athlete. Is captain of the Nanboku College swim team. Works part-time as a swimming instructor at a local elementary school. Specializes in underwater combat. Carries a 'Jet Stream Gun' which can shoot out torrents of water.

Sakurakoji Maria/Hana Nin <Flower Ninja> Captor #3

Cute and fetching female member of the team. Fifteen (15) year old high school student who loves fashion and flowers. Is a boarding room student at the Tendou household. Is a master of the nunchakus and uses 'Flower Nunchakus' in battle. After defeating the Fuuman Clan, Maria leaves the team to study abroad in America.

Tendou Miki/Hana Nin <Flower Ninja> Captor #3

Replaces Maria as the new Hana Nin. Is the granddaughter of Tendou Mujin. Unlike Maria, she is a bit of a tomboy and tends to be a bit brash and reckless. Is also a master of the nunchakus and uses 'Flower Nunchakus' in battle.

Kurogawa Dan/Tsuchi Nin <Earth Ninja> Captor #4

Big and burly member of the team. Is incredibly strong and tough. Was a former wrestling champ. Works part-time as a construction worker. Uses his great strength the pummel his opponents. Also carries a 'Ground Crusher' club which he can use to pound concrete to gravel, dent steel beams or knockout his opponents with one swing.

Oyama Noboru/Kane Nin <Metal Ninja> Captor #5

Is the Captor Team's resident techie and mechanic. Works for an electronics store. Has the peculiar ability to be able to find and detect metal objects wherever they may be. Loves fiddling with mechanical parts and gears. As Captor #5, he wields various metal discs which he can use as shields or as throwing weapons. Can also use these discs like a buzz saw to cut through metal.

Izumi Keita/Kaze Nin <Wind Ninja> Captor #6

Youngest member of the team. Is a Junior High School student at Tozai Junior High. Has an affinity with animals especially dogs. Specializes in 'bunshin' (shadow image) attacks and other concealment skills. In battle, he uses a 'Wind Horn' to create strong gusts of wind that can knock opponents off their feet.

The Captor Team utilizes a number of vehicles in their missions including:

'The Captor Machine' A small battle van which the Captor Team uses as transport. Has a number of weapons including a machine gun attachment. Can run at speeds of up to 180 miles per hour and can also jump several hundreds of feet through the air.

'The Heli-Captor' Flying fortress headquarters for the Captor Team. Is usually docked in a hidden underground launch pad beneath Tokyo Tower. Has powerful machinegun weapons.

Tendou Mujin

Spiritual Advisor to the Captor Team. Is a Master Ninja who has knowledge and access to 400 years of Ninja history, lore and writings. Is the head of the Tendou household, a major Ninja family. Was killed by agents of the Koga Ninja clan.

Togakushi Hakuun

Another noted Ninja scholar and practitioner. Was saved by the Captor Team when agents of the Koga Ninja clan marked him for death. Took over as Spiritual Advisor to the team.

The Captor Team is also assisted by a small band of elementary kids affectionately known as the 'Junior Captors'. They are Ninjas in training and are skill learning the basic Ninja arts.

Who are the Fuuma?

The Fuuma were once a proud and ambitious Ninja clan. For centuries they had been in hiding, awaiting the time when they can step forward and conquer Japan. They are led by the Mystical Ninja Fuuma Retpuu who sought to unite all the various Ninja clans throughout Japan to launch a combined assault on the World. Most of the Fuuma were masters of various black magic and ancient Ninjitsu skills. Some also carried various 'magical' weaponry which they could use against their opponents. A few Fuuma Ninja however opposed the plans of Fuuma Retpuu. One such clansman, Izumo Daisuke broke free from the clan.

Who are the Koga?

The Koga Ninja clan of Shiga were along with the Iga Ninja clan of Mie, the originators of the Ninjitsu arts. The Koga Ninja had a long distinction of serving Japanese Shoguns throughout history. They were a peaceful clan and had no ambitions of conquest. However in the later half of the 20th century, Kurayami Nindou, 18th head of the Koga Ninjas, used his position to corrupt the clan. Using his Ninja 'black arts' and loyal henchmen, he took control of the clan and forced its member to serve his dreams of conquest. The Koga Ninja are very powerful Ninja masters and have numerous mystical powers and weapons which aid them in their battles.

Trivia

Up until recently, was considered one of the largest 'sentai-like' groups in Tokusatsu TV history (with seven members). 'Choshinsei Grandsazer' now bares that unique distinction with twelve members.

The group composition was unique in that it comprised of older members (Saburobei), young adults (Daisuke, Sankon), young teens (Maria) and even kids (Keita), a gimmick that 'Chosei Gransazer' also utilized in a limited way.

Like 'Himitsu Sentai Goranger', 'Ninja Captor' was less a hero drama and more a comedy hero show.

Ban Daisuke (AKA Ban Naoya) was born Saito Kiyonari on May 5, 1947 in Kawaguchi City, Saitama Prefecture, just north of Tokyo.

During his college years, Ban was a member of a theater group that performed various stage productions especially the works of French writers. Before becoming an actor Ban worked part-time at a teahouse and even considered getting a regular job as a 'salaryman'.

Ban got his first big break when he was cast in the role of "Jiro" for the Tokusatsu series "Jinzo Ningen Kikaida" (Android Kikaider; Toei/NET, 1972). According to Ban's website (<http://www.bandaisuke.com>) rather than auditioning for the part, he was tabbed for the role when the wife of the program's producer chose his photo from a lineup of finalists.

While Ban went on to star in other Tokusatsu series to portray other heroes like Watari Goro/Inazuman ('Inazuman/Inazuman Flash'; Toei, 1974), Makoto Jin/Battle Cossack #2 (Battle Fever J; Toei, 1979), the role of Jiro has proved to be his most endearing one. Thanks to the efforts of JN Productions in Hawaii, 'Kikaider' has become a cult classic and Ban has made frequent visits to Hawaii to meet with old and new fans alike.

Ban's filmography includes such TV series and movies as: "Aguri", "Suzuran", "Hanshichi Torimonocho" (NHK), "Choshichiro Edo Nikki" (NTV), "Denshi Chojin Gridman" (Tsuburaya/TBS; 1993), "Zenigata Heiji", 'Gift', You Nimo Kimyou Na Monogatari" (Fuji), "Abarenbo Shogun", "Sasurai Keiji" (TV Asahi), "Tokugawa Buraicho" and Oedo Sosamo" (TV Tokyo).

More recently, Ban has starred in a number of movies, including the hit horror series Ringu (The Ring; Toho, 1998), 'Rasen' (Spiral; Toho, 1998), 'Ringu 2' (The Ring 2; Toho, 1999), and Ringu 0: Basudei (The Ring 0: Birthday; Toho, 2000).

Ban released an autobiography entitled 'Switch On! Jinzo Ningen Kikaida, Jiro Tabi No Tochu De' (Switch On! Super Android Kikaider: In the Midst of Jiro's Journey) published by Kadokawa Shoten in 2001 which told anecdotes and detailed his experiences playing Jiro.

While unique character actor Ushio Kenji (3/23/1923 - 9/19/1993) has had a long movie career, he will always be known for his role as Jikoku Taishi <Ambassador Hell> (Kamen Rider - Toei/TV Asahi/Ishinomori Pro, 1971). Born Mazudo Masato in Tokyo; Japan, Ushio is the cousin of actor Ando Mitsuo (Prof. Gill - Jinzo Ningen Kikaida; Toei, 1972).

Ushio has played a number of interesting albeit sometimes wacky or sinister characters on TV including Mephisto (Akuman Kun, 1966), Doruge Pierro (Chojin Barom 1; Toei, 1972 - Episode 34), Mozuma (Henshin Ninja Arashi; Toei, 1972 - Episode 32), Sponge Green (Jinzo Ningen Kikaida; Toei, 1972 - Episodes 28 & 29), Mr. Dan Akuma/Double Bat (Seigi No Symbol Condorman; Toei, 1975 - Episodes 7 & 8), Commander Hedda (Battle Fever J; Toei, 1979 - Episodes 4-8); Kurayami Taishi <Darkness Ambassador> (Kamen Rider Special - Zenin Shugo! Nana Nin No Kamen Rider <Kamen Rider Special! Seven Riders Come Together; Toei, 1984), Doctor Q (Kyodai Bycrosser; Toei, 1985) and Tetsumen Danchaku <Baron Iron Mask> (JAKQ. Dengeki Tai vs. Himitsu Sentai Goranger; Toei, 1978. 'Ninja Captor' offered Ushio one of the few chances to portray a hero. Ushio passed away in 1993 of heart failure. In true quirky fashion, Ushio's funeral was attended by fans and friends who came dressed in full 'Shocker' uniforms and who saluted him as they would Ambassador Hell.

Other Movie Appearances include:

'Sugata Sanshiro Dai Ichi Bu' (Sugata Sanshiro Chapter One - Toei, 1955)
 'Muhou Gai' (Streets of Outrage - Toei, 1956)
 'Rakuda No Uma San' (The Donkey Named Mr. Horse - Toei, 1957)
 'Keishicho Monogatari - Bakuchu Ma (Stories of the Police Department - The Daylight Demon -Toei, 1957)
 'Nisei Sensou Fuun Hiwa ' Kiri No Machi' (The Secret Storm of World War II - Town of Fog, Toei, 1957)
 '893 Gurentai (The 893 Gang; Toei, 1966)
 'Nihon Ankoku Shi Chi No Kosou (Japan's Dark History - Flood Feud; Toei, 1967)
 'Shokin Kazeki' (Prize Money; Toei, 1969)
 'Bakuchuchi Nagaremono' (The Wandering Gambler; Toei, 1970)
 'Gokudo Kyojyo Tabi' (Yakuza, The Path of Crime; Toei, 1970)
 'Goaku Bozu - Nomu, Utsu, Kau' (Incedious Priest - Eat, Fight, Drink; Toei, 1971)
 'Nihon Bouryakudan Koroshi No Hai' (Japan Mafia - Killer's Ash; Toei, 1972)

Lin Tai Hing was one of Shihomi Etsuko's Kung-Fu opponents in 'Onna Hissatsu Ken' (AKA Sister Street Fighter; Toei, 1974).

Cute actress Matsuba Yuko's (the first Captor No. 3) career didn't quite go so well after 'Ninja Captor' as she later went on to star in a couple of AV (Adult Video) titles as well as appear in some nude photo pinups. She however later married and is rumored to be living somewhere in the U.S.

Captor No. 3 (#2), Nogawa Ai's (real name Hatano Mariko) career fared a little better as she made appearances on other Tokusatsu shows including 'Chojin Bibyun' (Toei/NET, 1977), 'Robot 110 Ban' (ANB/Toei, 1977), 'Ganbare Red Bikinis' (ANB/Toei, 1978), and 'Shin Kamen Rider' (MBS/Toei, 1980). She also appeared in a number of movies including 'Ningen No Shomei' (Proof of a Man; Toei, 1977), 'Dump Wataridori' (Toei, 1981) and 'Seishin No Mon Jiritsu Hen' (Toho, 1977).

Before 'Ninja Captor' Fujiye Yoshiyuki <AKA Godai Sanpei> was probably familiar to children as Choyokichi in the bizarre Tokusatsu show 'Kaijyu Booska' (Beast Booska; TBS, 1966). Later Fujiye portrayed Tatsumura Masao in Suki! Suki! Majyo Sensei (Love! Love! Ms. Witch - ABC/Toei, 1972). He made other appearances in shows such as 'Kamen Rider V3' (Toei/MBS, 1973) and 'Ganbare! Red Bikinis' (ANB/Toei, 1978) before returning to the 'team show' genre portraying Oshima Taka/Vul Panther in 'Taiyo Sentai San Vulcan' (Toei, 1981).

Sato Hiroyuki later went on to become an assistant director on such films as 'Chugoku No Chojin' (AKA Birdmen of China; Hone Films, 1998) and Miike Takashi's 'Andromedia' (TBS Films, 1998) starring former Okinawan girl group 'Speed'.

Sasaki Takamaru is no stranger to Sci-Fi/Fantasy themed TV and movies having starred in a number of unique films including 'Densou Ningen' (AKA Secret of the Telegian; Toho, 1960), 'Gas Ningen Dai Ichi Go' (AKA The Human Vaport; Toho, 1960), 'Kyofu No Mira' (The Deadly Mummy - TV Series; 1961), 'Yosei Gorasu' (AKA Gorath; Toho, 1962), 'Kaijyu Daisensou' (AKA Monster Zero; 1965) and 'Botan Torou' (Daiei, 1968).

Katagiri Shin starred in a number of movies including 'Yoru No Keisha' (Takarazuka Films, 1962) and 'Ohsou' (King; Toho, 1973).

Houta Shinzou portrayed another villainous leader, General Monster in the series 'Shin Kamen Rider' (AKA Sky Rider; Toei, 1979). Frequently typecast as a thug or gangster, Houta has appeared in a number of films including 'Tokugawa Eiyasu' (Toei, 1965), 'Ninpou Chushingura' (The Ninja Chushingura; Toei, 1965), 'Yakuza G-Men' (Toei, 1965), 'Jyoushu 701 Go Sasori' (AKA Female Convict Scorpion; Toei, 1972), 'Jyoshu Sasori Dai 41 Zakkyobou' (Female Convict Scorpion Jailhouse #41; Toei, 1972) and 'Zenka Onna: Koroshi Setsu' (Criminal Woman - Killing Season; Toei, 1973).

While the Iga and Koga were real Ninja clans in Japan, it is highly doubtful that they were as powerful and mystically adept as portrayed in the various comics and movies. They were however very prominent clans and were two of the most famous ninja styles, often pitted against each other in Japanese fiction. In reality however, they were allies and worked together in mutual defense pacts during the Heian period.

Other Tokusatsu series where the Ninja play a prominent role are: 'Ninja Butai ' Gekko (The Ninja Team - Moonlight; Fuji TV/NAC, 1962), Kamen No Ninja Akka Kage (Ninja Mask - Red Shadow; Toei, 1967), Kaiketsu! Lion Maru (Resolved! Lion Maru; P-Pro/Fuji TV, 1972), 'Henshin Ninja Arashi' (Transforming Ninja Arashi <Storm>; Toei, 1972), 'Majin Hunter Mitsurugi' (Demon Hunter Mitsurugi; Fuji TV, 1973), 'Fuun Lion Maru' (Storm Cloud Lion Maru; P-Pro, 1973), Yuugen Jikkou San Kyoudai <Sisters> Shushutoria (Possession Practice Words Three Sisters Shushutorian; Toei, 1993), Ninja Sentai KakuRanger (The Ninja Team - KakuRanger; TV Asahi/Toei, 1994), 'Sekai Ninja Jiraiya' (The World Ninja Jiraiya; Toei, 1988) and 'Ninpuu Sentai Harikanger' (Ninja Magic Team Harikanger; TV Asahi/Toei, 2002).

Of course the current Anime hit 'Naruto' (Studio Pierrot, 1999) is also very much infused with Ninja references and lore.

The series was produced by Tohru Hirayama, and the original music was by Akihiro Kobayashi.

Producers - Hirayama Toru, Kono Koujin, Kondo Hirotake

Planning - Kikakusha 104

Cinematography - Aihara Yoshiharu

Illumination - Mizumura Tomio

Sound - Sato Shuichi

Art Direction - Nomoto Yukio

Editing - Matsuya Masao

Make Up - Sei Yuki

Stunts - Takahashi Kazutoshi, 'Big Action'

Broadcast Tokyo 12 Channel (TV Tokyo)

Music - Komori Akihiro

Theme Song

"Tou Ei Ninja Captor" (Fight On! Ninja Captor)

Lyrics: Yatte Saburo

Composer: Komori Akihiro

Performed by: Mizuki Ichiro & Horie Mitsuko with Korogi '73

WR. Igami Masaru, Nakasaka Hideka, Matsushita Mikio, Shioda Chigus

DIR. Tanaka Hideo, Okunaka Atsuo, Yamasaki Daisuke, Nakamura Tsuneyosh

EPISODES: 43 YEAR MADE: 1976 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

TOEI

CREATOR: YATTE SABURO

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 43

DATE OF PREMIER: 07/04/1976

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 26/01/1977

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Izumo Daisuke/Hi Nin <Fire Ninja> Captor #7 BAN NAOYA (AKA BAN DAISUKE) , Fukuro Saburobei/Den Nin <Electric Ninja> Captor #1 USHIO KENJI, Shijou Sakon/Mizu Nin <Water Ninja> Captor #2 RIN TAI HING, Sakurakoji Maria/Hana Nin <Flower Ninja> Captor #3 MATSUBA YUKO (EPS 1-26), Tendou Miki/Hana Nin <Flower Ninja> Captor #3 NOGAWA AI (EPS 27-43), Kurogawa Dan/Tsuchi Nin <Earth Ninja> Captor #4 UTSU HIRONORI, Oyama Noboru/Kane Nin <Metal Ninja> Captor #5 FUJIYE YOSHIYUKI (AKA DODAI SANPEI), Izumi Keita/Kaze Nin <Wind Ninja> Captor #6 SATO HIROYUKI, Tendou Mujin KATAGIRI SHIN, Togakushi Hakuun SASAKI TAMAMARU, Fuuma Retpoo/Kurayami Nindou HOUTA SHINZOU, Narrator NAYA GORO

- 1 - 1 THE SEVEN NINJAS STAND AT TOKYO TOWER
- 1 - 2 SECRET OF THE ROCKET SKILL
- 1 - 3 A NINJA DISAPPEARS WITHIN THE WALLS!?
- 1 - 4 THE HIGH FLYING KITE NINJA! AIR BATTLE!?
- 1 - 5 THE CAPTOR ELIMINATION PLAN
- 1 - 6 THE GRAND ESCAPE! NINJA ACADEMY!
- 1 - 7 A MYSTERY - WHO STOLE MY FACE!?
- 1 - 8 CRASH! THE HIGHWAY NINJA BATTLE
- 1 - 9 FOE OR FRIEND! FEMALE NINJA
- 1 - 10 BIZZARE! THE ROBOT SERVANT
- 1 - 11 THE INVINCIBLE POISON GAS NINJA
- 1 - 12 WIND NINJA CAPTOR 6 IS IN TROUBLE
- 1 - 13 THE LEGENDARY HIDDEN TREASURE
- 1 - 14 FIRE NINJA CAPTOR DIES AGAIN
- 1 - 15 THE DEMON FROM THE WOODS!
- 1 - 16 THE DISAPPEARING NINJA'S DAUGHTER IS MY CLASSMATE
- 1 - 17 THE FUDA MASTER IS IN DANGER
- 1 - 18 NINJA SKILL! THE BEETLE TRANSFORMATION!
- 1 - 19 MY BEST FRIEND IS WITH THE CHILDREN'S WIND DEMON NINJA SQUAD

- 1 - 20 THE BLACK PIANO PLAYER'S NINJA SKILL
- 1 - 21 THE CAMPSITE IS THE FUUMA'S GRAVE
- 1 - 22 THERE ARE WIND DEMONS IN THE HAUNTED HOUSE
- 1 - 23 NYUDOU DOUJIN VS. EARTH NINJA – MAGIC CHALLENGE
- 1 - 24 THE HELLISH FLUTE CONTROLS THE FIRE NINJA
- 1 - 25 OH NO! KEITA IS A TRAITOR
- 1 - 26 DEATH TO FUUMA RETPUU
- 1 - 27 A NEW ENEMY! THE KOGA NINJA SQUAD
- 1 - 28 WELCOME TO THE TENDOU NINJA ACADEMY
- 1 - 29 THE MYSTERIOUS MAGICIAN! CHECK THE CARDS!?
- 1 - 30 THE NINJA MANSION'S BLACK TRAPS
- 1 - 31 THE SHOWDOWN AT IZU
- 1 - 32 THE GREAT BATTLE AT SEA
- 1 - 33 THE GREAT CHASE! THE NINJA BUS!
- 1 - 34 THE DEMON'S HAND REACHES OUT FROM THE TELEPHONE
- 1 - 35 THE DEADLY HUMAN BUTTERFLY
- 1 - 36 THE DEATH GOD OF SEVEN MASKS
- 1 - 37 TENDOU MUJIN'S LAST DAYS
- 1 - 38 TOGAKUSHI HAKUUN'S ASSASSINATION PLAN
- 1 - 39 THE SUPERPOWER NINJA IS AFTER THE ESPER KIDS
- 1 - 40 AT YOUR SERVICE! NEW YEAR WISHES FROM THE NINJA
- 1 - 41 STEALING THE DOLLS
- 1 - 42 YAMIGARASU! THE NINJA CLASSROOM
- 1 - 43 KURAYAMI NINDOU'S LAST DAYS

NINJA SENTAI KAKURANGER

AKA: NINJA TASK FORCE KAKURANGER

AKA: KAKURANGER

AKA: NINJA BATTLE TEAM HIDDEN-RANGER

Four hundred years after valiant Ninja sealed the passageway that allowed demons access to Earth, the forces of evil breakthrough once more into our dimension. Earth's last hope is a band of modern Ninja, led by Sasuke (Ogawa), a descendant of legendary ninja Sasuke Sarutobi (see Magic Boy). Sasuke is Ninja Red, a master of Ninja techniques, who fights with the spirit of a monkey. His second in command is, surprisignly for Sentai shows, a women, Tsuruhime (Hirose) the Ninja White, the 24th generation leader of the Crane Clan and mistress of the Crane fighting art.

Seikai (Kawai) is Ninja Yellow, a descendant of famous warrior, Miyoshi Seikai Nyudo, who fights with the power of the bear. Saizo (Tsuchida) is Ninja Blue, a descendant of famous Ninja Saizo Kirigakure who fights with the super swiftness of a wolf. American Jiraiya (Kosugi) is the descendant of famous ninja Jiraiya, who fights with the power of the toad and is the master of the mid-air death blow.

Their enemy in Gaikotsu Castle is the Demon King and their chief adversaries his five pretty Kunoichi assistants - deadly female ninja who lead the obligatory cannon fodder minions and a series of monster of the week. The team's Bear, Crane, Monkey, Wolf and Toad vehicles can combine to form the Super Stealth King, thought there is little stealthy about a giant robot. In fact, the Kakuranger cast had one of the biggest arsenals of giant robot shows in Sentai history, including later additions such as the Jugun (Best-General) and Super Jugun, as well as individual pilotable robots.

Kakuranger was keen to establish links with the many earlier ninja stories, including the manga of Sanpie Shirato and Fujihiko Honsono, as well as earlier updates such as PHANTOM AGENTS. The producers even cast the son of Nine Deaths of a Ninja star Sho Kosugi as Ninja Black in yet another attempt to tie Kakuranger indelibly to the assassins of the popular myth. Ironically, Kakuranger lost most of its cultural references in the transition abroad to become the next installment of the MIGHTY MORPHIN' POWER RANGERS series, where it formed the third distinct saga in Saban Entertainment's redically revised version after DAIRANGER and ZYURANGER.

Produced by Jun Kaji, Susumu Yoshikawa, Takeyuki Suzuki, Naruki Takadera.

Sixteenth Super Sentai. Also the twentieth anniversary sentai, counting 20 years from 1975 onward.

Song lyrics

SHIHKURETTO KAKURENJAA
(Kakuranger opening)

Kakurenjaa, ninja ninja.
Raito appu no buriiji wa,
Ijigen yuki no daiyamondo adobenchaa.

Kotchi to atchi no misuterii,
Tsunagete misete yo shiikuretto Kakurenjaa.

Yuugure, yatto ano koto ii kanji,
Sono toki, shuwa-tto kaze ga kire,

Buttobu, futari no aida surinukete,
Burakku hooru ni, kieta yatsu ga iru.

Are wa, nan nanja, nanja, nanja,
Nin ninja, ninja, (ninja),
Kakurenja, ninja, ninja,
Ninja sentai, Kakurenjaa.

Metoro rain no tonneru ni,
Kage ga odotte sairento sutorenjaa.

Machi ni chirabaru sutoorii,
Sagashite misete yo shiikuretto Kakurenjaa.

Oshiete, ninja shinobi no oku no te o,
Kawarimi, wakemi ni inmusubi,
Ano kono, kokoro no arika saguru tame,
Kikime ga attara, kobun ni naru kara sa.

Dakara, nan nanja, nanja, nanja,
Nin ninja, ninja, (ninja),
Kakurenja, ninja, ninja,
Ninja sentai, Kakurenjaa.

Are wa, nan nanja, nanja, nanja,
Nin ninja, ninja, (ninja),
Kakurenja, ninja, ninja.

Dakara, nan nanja, nanja, nanja,
Nin ninja, ninja, (ninja),
Kakurenja, ninja, ninja,
Ninja sentai, Kakurenjaa.

NINJA! MATENROU KIZZU
(Kakuranger Ending)

(Dance dance)

Doro doro dororon (dance dance)

(Dance dance, dance dance)

Doro doro dororon, shuri shuri shuriken (dance dance)

Doro doro dororon, bishi bishi makibishi (dance dance)

Megaro porisu no nakazora atari,
Okujou zutai ni oira no niwa sa,
Higawari kimewaza, mitaku wa nai ka.

Shuri shuri shuriken,
Bishi bishi makibishi,
Tanburingu kamaseba,
Chimmooryoo mo dororon, mitoreteru,
Ninja! Matenrou kizzu.

Doro doro dororon, shuri shuri shuriken (dance dance)

Doro doro dororon, bishi bishi makibishi (dance dance)

Matenrou kizzu.

Riaru na shakai hajiki dasarete,
Youkai ni natta shuuru na yatsura,
Huraa no kiwami wa, ningen ka mo ne.

Kiri kiri tsubokiri,

Gan gan boogan,
Migakiageta dougu de,
Chimimooroyoo mo dororon, odorasero,
Ninja! Matenrou kizzu.

Doro doro dororon, shuri shuri shuriken (dance dance)

Doro doro dororon, bishi bishi makibishi (dance dance)

Matenrou kizzu.

Shuri shuri shuriken,
Bishi bishi makibishi,
Saeta waza o renpatsu,
Chimimooroyoo mo dororon, damarasero,
Ninja! Matenrou kizzu.

Doro doro dororon, shuri shuri shuriken (dance dance)

Doro doro dororon, bishi bishi makibishi (dance dance)

Matenrou kizzu.

TSURUHIME! TSUYOSA WA ME NI MO UTSUKUSHII

(Kakuranger)

Kirenaga no hitomi,
Kirari hikaru toki,
Sude ni toraeteru, aku no kage.

Kuchibiru no akasa,
Kiriri saeru toki,
Tobutori no waza ga, odotteru.

Hakuchuumu mayakashi,
Isshun de miyaburu,
Azayaka na, Reidii Sorujaa.

Fly! Fly! Tsuruhime,
High up in the sky,
Tsuyosa wa me ni mo, utsukushii.

Fly! Fly! Tsuruhime,
High up in the sky,
Orizuru o, ayatsutte, mae yo.

Kuttaku no nasato,
Urei aru mayu to,
Mirai yomu chikara, awase motsu.

Densetsu no hime no,
Sadame uketsuide,
Tatakai no shura mo, hana ni suru.

Ayakashi no tegowasa,
Ura o yomi urakaku,
Shinayaka na, Howaito Faitaa.

Fly! Fly! Tsuruhime,
High up in the sky,
Tsuyosa wa me ni mo, utsukushii.

Fly! Fly! Tsuruhime,
High up in the sky,

Giniro no, tatsumaki o, yobe yo.

Fly! Fly! Tsuruhime,
High up in the sky,
Tsuyosa wa me ni mo, utsukushii.

Fly! Fly! Tsuruhime,
High up in the sky,
Orizuru o, ayatsutte, mae yo.

HOSHI YO, NIJIMU NA!

(Kakuranger)

Hoshi yo, nijimu na,
Yami ni, kagayaku.

Ore no, sugata o,
Terashidase.

Yoru ni, ugomeku,
Jaaku, no yukute.

Fusagu, hikari o,
Tayasu na.

Ima wa machi mo,
Yume no naka da kedo,
Tatakai no hibana wa,
Mou hajike-dashiteiru no sa.

Karada, ippai,
Hirogaru kizu ni,
Itami nado, kanjiru,
Jikan wa nai.

Kaze yo, utau na,
Tooi, kokyuu o,
Omoidasaseru,
Shirabe de.

Shouri, dake o,
Mune ni, chikatta hi,
Modorenai tabi da to,
Mou kokoro kimeteita no sa.

Itsumo, ashita o,
Mitsumeru hitomi,
Namida nado, nagaseru,

Jikan wa nai.

Ninja Sentai Kakuranger is the eighteenth sentai series. It aired from 1994-1995 and is what MIGHTY MORPHIN' POWER RANGERS (season three) and Mighty Morphin Alien Rangers was developed from. The Opening Theme is my favorite, tied with Ohranger's Opening Theme. The Ninja Sentai Kakuranger movie is campy but good. The story involves two monsters trying to find buildings for their master to shrink down and put in his model city. The monsters are trying to take two kids' house (and also a statuette plays an important part which I haven't exactly caught onto yet) and the Kakurangers are there to defend them. The final (Kakuranger) battle scene is really cool, showing off the Kakurangers' powers and features an extended version of the Opening Theme. The mecha scene about 2 seconds, it takes longer for them to form their mecha than for them to use it.

Characters and mecha

The Kakurangers

(I talk too much about the ninja of old whom they're based on, since I don't really care for the modern characters, except for Jiraiya, who reminds me a lot of myself.) If you're lucky enough to be descended from ninja, have a Doron Changer wristband, and say the magic words, 'Super Henge Doron Changer!', you too can become one of the elite...

Ninja Red (Sasuke; kanji literally mean 'assist-help')

Named after Kouga ninja Sarutobi Sasuke of Shinshuu (modern Nagano Prefecture), leader of the Ten Braves of Sanada. The original Sasuke ranks with Hattori Hanzou as a representative ninja. Sarutobi 'Monkeyflight' is not a surname but a reference to his monkey-like agility. The modern Sasuke, agile leader of the team, is a reckless man who's hot to go out and drag his comrades into battle with the enemy. Hence, he messes up a lot. But he doesn't reflect on his errors. No matter how great the enemy, he won't budge.

Can generate 'clones' (not quite the right word for 'bunshin') from his own hair.

Symbol: Circle

Weapons: Red Slicer, Fire Shogun Sword, Thunderclap Sword Hikarimaru

Attacks: Kakure Style Full Moon Cut, Fire Whirl Art, Thunderclap Cut

Skills: Bunshin (body-splitting or 'cloning') Art, Kinto Cloud (cf. Dragonball), Jet Transformation

Ninja Black (Jiraiya 'the child is thunder')

Named after Jiraiya, whose real name was Ogata Shuuma Hiroyuki. Born in Higo to a powerful family, his house fell, and he ended up disguised as a peasant named Tarou in Sarashina-gun in Shinshuu (Nagano-ken). Upon adulthood, he went on a journey to avenge his clan and became the virtuous bandit 'Jiraiya', controlling a giant toad by magic. (This was not supposed to be funny.) The modern Jiraiya is a Japanese-American ninja from LA played by Kane Kosugi, son of Sho Kosugi, who played his master Gary.

Gary murdered Jiraiya's policeman father in order to save the life of his daughter. He brought up Jiraiya and taught him the way of the ninja in atonement. Jiraiya was unaware of the identity of his father's murderer until years later, when Gary dueled Jiraiya in Japan, intending to die by Jiraiya's hand, which he does.

Jiraiya stands out among the characters because he keeps blurting out things in English, his (and Kane Kosugi's) native language. His struggles to get along in Japan remind me of my own, though it's played up more for comedy than anything else.

Symbol: Pentagon

Weapon: Black Bow

Attacks: Kakure Style Shooting Star, Earth Grasp

Skill: Earth Hiding Art

Ninja Blue (Saizou 'storehouse of talent')

Named after Kirigakure 'mist-hidden' Saizou, second best of the Sanada Ten Braves and the original Sasuke's rival. The modern Saizou is a constantly chattering, easily flattered man who thinks he's a lot smarter than he really is. If there's nothing to gain, he'll dump his comrades.

Symbol: Square

Weapon: Blue Shot (a water gun)

Attacks: Kakure Style Square Formation, Wolf Attack

Skills: Water-Crossing Art, Truck Transformation, Water Tower Art

Ninja Yellow (Seikai 'pure sea')

Named after lay bonze Miyoshi Seikai, strongest of the Sanada Ten Braves. The modern Seikai is anything but pure. He's driven by desire--for food, sleep, and women. He's indecisive, but like his predecessor, he has unusual strength.

Symbol: Triangle

Weapon: Yellow Claw (shades of Marvel!)

Attacks: Kakure Style Triangle Cut, Echo Art

Skill: Leaf Hiding Art

Ninja White (Tsuruhime)

Named after...nobody. Tsuruhime is a strong girl who is looking for her missing father (who turns out to be Hakumenrou). Has no interest in other males. Once fought injustice in a sailor suit with two other girls, Yukiyo and Tsukiyo, as the 'Punishment Sisters', as revealed in the 'Chouchoutorian reunion' episode. Yes, they really did say, "In the name of heaven, we will punish you!" Sounds familiar?

Symbol: V-shaped arrow pointing leftward

Weapon: White Beak

Attacks: Kakure Style 'Ku' (Hiragana) Character Cut, Flower Snowstorm

Skills: Folding (Paper) Crane Transformation, Paper (Crane) Control Art

Shared weapons: Kakulasers/Laser Knives/Kakuremaru Secret Swords, Shinobi Knuckles, shuriken (individual shapes).

Team attacks: Kakuranger Ball Kakure Shoot, Kakure Tower, Art of Invisibility, Thunder Light Destruction.

Vehicles: The Shark Bridder, Shark Scrider, and Shark Launcher bikes, which together perform the Triple Shark Driver. Nekomaru, their incredibly silly-looking van base that looks like a cat (neko)..

The Three God Generals:

I. Invincible Shogun, armed with the Fire Shogun Sword

Height: 58 m

Weight: 7300 t

The Invincible Shogun combines with Tsubasamaru (see below) to form the Super Invincible Shogun, armed with the eight invincible Cannons. It is composed of the Five Great Beast Generals:

Red Saruder (monkey: saru)

Height: 35 m

Weight: 1500 t

Weapon: Saruder Slicer

Black Gammer (toad: gama)

Height: 35 m

Weight: 1500 t

Weapon: Gammer Bow

Blue Logan (wolf: rou/ookami)

Height: 31 m

Weight: 1200 t

Weapon: Logan Shaft

Yellow Kumard (bear: kuma)

Height: 35 m

Weight: 1500 t

Weapon: Kumard Claws

White Kark (crane: kaku/tsuru)

Height: 30 m

Weight: 1000 t

Weapon: Kark Beak

All the names are puns on Japanese animal names.

Team attack: Vacuum Hurricane, Big Bang.

Each has a 'Battle' or 'Beast General Fighter' equivalent--these lightly armored warriors are used whenever there are too many enemies, or the Art of the Giant General Fighters can't be used: I don't remember seeing any of them in MMPR.

Battle Saruder (Red)

Attack: Saruder Claw

Battle Gammer (Black)

Attack: Gammer Three Attacks

Battle Logan (Blue)

Attack: Logan Kicker

Battle Kumard (Yellow)

Attack: Kumard Head (Butt)

Battle Kark (White)

Attack: Kark Cut

Team attack: Fighter Crash.

II. Hidden Great General, armed with the God Finish, God Burst Chop, God Hammer Punch.

Height: 58.5 m

Weight: 7200 t

Combines with Tsubasamaru (see below) to form the Super Hidden Great General, armed with the Flying Finish.

Composed of the Five Super Ninja Beasts, obtained after each Kakuranger underwent an ordeal to get the 'Shinobi Scrolls':

God Saruder (monkey)

Height: 31.5 m

Weight: 1300 t

Weapon: Saruder Double Swords

God Gammer (toad)

Length: 31 m

Weight: 2000 t

God Logan (wolf)

Length: 39 m

Weight: 1300 t

God Kumard (bear)

Length: 30 m

Weight: 2000 t

God Kark (crane)

Length: 15.6 m

Weight: 600 t

Speed: Mach 2

III. Tsubasamaru (who has no pilot in Kakurangers)

Length: 43 m

Wingspan: 85.6 m

Other data: Never revealed

Ninjaman/Samuraiman (MMPR: Ninjor)

The pupil of the Three God Generals, awakened from a pot after a thousand years' sleep. Rides the Kinto Cloud (cf. the cloud used by Gokuu in Dragonball). Uses the Ninja Sword, Samurai Javelin, and the Samurai Infuriation Bomber technique. Whenever an Apparition calls him "Aonisai" ('little squirt'), he gets angry enough to change into Samuraiman.

Height: 57.5 m (variable)

Weight: 6000 t (variable)

The Apparition Army

Great Demon King (MMPR: Master Vile) 1200. (Not a typo.) Pushed back into the cave where the Apparitions are entombed in the finale. Hangs out in Skeleton castle, a giant flying skull with huge 'ears' or 'wings' (you decide).

Gasha Skull (MMPR: Rito Repulsa)

Able to change into Young Noble Prince (Prince is his name, not a title), a bleached blonde leather punk with a guitar.

The Flower Kunoichi (female ninja) Team

An all-female counter-Kakurangers.

Yuri (Lily; orange)

Suijen (Water lotus; green)

Ayame (Sweet flag; blue)

Sakura (Cherry blossom; pink)

Ran (Orchid; purple)

Nurarihyon

Boss of the Apparitions 400 years ago; defeated by the ancestors of the Kakurangers.

Hakumenrou ('White Masked Man')

Armored mystery man who turns out to be Tsuruhime's father. Pretended to side with the Apparitions in order to find Great Demon King's weakness; when found out, he was turned to stone by the Great Demon King. Of course, he was restored by the series' end.

Various supernatural creatures (need help with episode numbers and MMPR equivalents; I could check my Kaku and MMPR tapes, but I don't have the time, and no, I'm no MMPR expert) For the most part, I will not translate the names.

Rokurokubi
 Kappa
 Oboroguruma - Crabby Cabby in "Follow That Cab"
 Azukiarai - Garbage Mouth in "A Different Shade of Pink II"
 Hitotsume kozou
 Oonyuudou
 Nurikabe -Brick Bully in "Another Brick in the Wall"
 Mokumokuren - In "Changing of the Zords III"
 Gakitsuki - Ravenator in "Rita's Pita"
 Bakeneko
 Dorotabou
 Konaki jijii
 Shirouneri
 Tengu
 Dr. Yugami
 Replicas (Kappa, Azukiarai, Oboroguruma, Nurikabe, Mokumokuren)
 Kanedama
 Keukegen
 Shuten douji
 Amikiri
 Zashiki warashi
 Tsuchigumo
 Sarugami - Sinister Simian in "Chimp in Charge"
 Enraena
 Umibouzu
 Ittanmomen
 Kasabake
 Nue - Hate Master in "Stop the Hate Master"
 Nuppehuhofu - Face Stealer in "The Final Face-Off"?
 Amanojaku
 Sunakake babaa
 Kamaitachi
 Bakuki - Vampirus in "Ninja Quest"
 Karakasa
 Ushioni
 Nopperabou
 Kyuubi no kitsune (a fox!) - Kat (monster form) in "A Ranger Catastrophe II"?
 Chouchin kozou - Lantera in "Passing the Lantern"
 Daradara - Globbor in "Master Vile and the Metallic Armor"?
 Oomukade - Centerback in "Fourth Down and Long"
 Mujina - Artist Mole in "A Brush with Destiny"
 Kasha
 Yukionna
 Bimbougami
 Daidarabotchi (Great Demon King's younger brother)
 Yamanba (Great Demon King's younger sister) - Dischordia in "The Sound of Dischordia"?

Dorodoros (doro = mud)
 Grunts in blue tights with disturbing faces and armor plates modelled after Munch's 'The Scream'--seriously!
 Dance in the ending title.

Apparitions (none of which have appeared in MMPR...yet)

Oonyuudou
 Hitotsume kozou (elder and younger brothers)

Super Task Force World (shown 94.4.29-94.5.5 at the 'Super Task Force World' festival held at the Shin Takanawa Prince Hotel.) This 3D film teamed up Fiveman, Jetman, Zyuranger, Dairanger, and Kakuranger against an alien army composed of the grunts from Zone, Vyram, etc. and five mercenaries, Zoger, Ilvus, Zygan, Bango, and Damal, who are all hirelings of the gigantic Dydus. Not recommended if you want to see actual human beings out of costume. Recommended if you enjoy Kourakuen shows.

Trivia

Teruaki Ogawa, who played the role of Sasuke, later came back in the Super Sentai franchise in the role of Black Knight/Hyuuga from the 1998 Sentai series Seijuu Sentai Gingaman.

Kane Kosugi is the son of Sho Kosugi, who starred in many films in America during the height of the ninja exploitation craze in Hollywood in the mid '80s. Kane is also set to play the role of Ryu Hayabusa in the film adaptation of the popular video game Dead or Alive.

Sho Kosugi also had an appearance in Kakuranger episodes 29 & 30 as Gali, Jiraya's foster parent and sensei.

The Oshioki Three Sailor Sisters is a reference to the 1993 Toei series Shushutorian, which starred Kakuranger regular Satomi Hirose. Two of her costars from the series, Kei Ishibashi and Noriko Tanaka, return as the two other "sisters."

Hakamenrou was played by Takayuki Godai, who also acted as the second Vul Eagle in Taiyou Sentai Sun Vulcan.

Sakura was played by Keiko Hayase, who also acted as Five Yellow in Chikyuu Sentai Fiveman.

Jiro was played by Keisuke Tsuchiya, who also acted as Kirin Ranger in Gosei Sentai Dairanger and later played Shadow/Black Beet from the Metal Hero series Juukou B-Fighter. His brother was casted as Takuya Kai.

Shiro Izumi, who acted as Change Pegasus in Dengeki Sentai Changeman and as Dragon Ranger in Kyouryuu Sentai ZyuRanger, had a guest appearance as the TV character "Otasuke Samurai" in episode 9.

Rika Kishida, who acted as White Swan in Choujin Sentai Jetman, had a guest appearance as a reporter in episode 9.

Reiko Chiba, who acted as Ptera Ranger in Kyouryuu Sentai ZyuRanger, had a guest appearance as Reika in episode 25.

WR. Noboru Sugimura, Tsunehia Arakawa, Kunio Fujii, Susumu Takahisa, Hirohisa Soda.

DIR. Yoshiaki Kobayashi, Shohei Tojo, Taro Sakamoto, Takeru Ogasawara, Katsuya Watanabe, Hiroshi Futsuda.

EPISODES: 53 YEAR MADE: 1994 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

TOEI

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 25 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 53

DATE OF PREMIER: 18/02/1994

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 24/02/1995

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS: NINJA TASK FORCE KAKURANGER (1994), SUPER TASK FORCE WORLD (1994).

Ninjared: Sasuke OGAWA TERUAKI , Ninjawhite: Tsuruhime HIROSE SATOMI , Ninjayellow: Seikai KAWAI SHUU , Ninjablue: Saizou TSUCHIDA HIROSHI , Ninjablack: Jiraiya KANE KOSUGI , Ninjaman/Samuraiman , Youkai Gundan (Apparition Army) , Daimaou (Great Devil King) , Yamanba , Gasha Dokuro (Gasha Skull), Nue (a mythical bird of the night) , Daidarabotchi , Nurarihyon , Dr. Yugami (Warp), Hana no Kunoichi-gumi (Flower Female Ninja Team) - Ayame (Sweet Flag) , Sakura (Cherry Blossom) , Suiren (Water Lotus) , Yuri (Lily) , Ran (Orchid).

RELATED SHOWS:

HIMITSU SENTAI GORANGER

DENGEKITAI SENTAI J.A.K.Q.

BATTLEFEVER J

DENSHI SENTAI DENJIMAN

TAIYO SENTAI VULCAN

DAI SENTAI GOGGLE V

KAGAKU SENTAI DYNAMAN

HIKARI SENTAI MASKMAN

CHIKYUU SENTAI FIVEMAN

CHO JIN SENTAI JETMAN

KYORYUU SENTAI ZYURANGER

GO SEI SENTAI DAIRANGER

- 1 - 1 NINJA DE GOZARU (aka NINJAS!)
- 1 - 2 ABUNAI OBASAN (aka A DANGEROUS LADY)
- 1 - 3 AMERIKAN NINJA (aka AMERICAN NINJA)
- 1 - 4 YOUKAI PORISUMAN (aka THE GHOST POLICEMAN)
- 1 - 5 DEKOBOKOCHIN GEEMAA (aka THE UNEVEN STRANGE GAMERS)
- 1 - 6 MEDAMA NO OUJISAMA! (aka THE EYEBALL PRINCE!)
- 1 - 7 KOITSUA DEKAI (aka THIS GUY IS HUGE)
- 1 - 8 BAKENEKO SHOPPU!! (aka THE GHOST CAT SHOP!!)
- 1 - 9 DOKKIRI NAMACHUKEI (aka ??? LIVE BROADCAST (AT))
- 1 - 10 KONAKIJJII JA (aka THE BABY'S CRY OLD MAN)
- 1 - 11 BORO KOSO SAIKOU (aka RAGS ARE THE BEST)
- 1 - 12 DETA!! SHIN JUUSHOU (aka THEY CAME OUT!! NEW BEAST COMMANDERS)
- 1 - 13 BUTTOBASE FUKOU (aka DRIVE AWAY THE SADNESS)
- 1 - 14 ORE WA KIKOUSHI DA!! (aka I AM THE YOUNG NOBLE!!)
- 1 - 15 GEE! SUGOI YATSU (aka ARGH! POWERFUL CREATURES)
- 1 - 16 AKA SARU NO ONI TAIJI (aka THE RED MONKEY'S DEMON EXTERMINATION)
- 1 - 17 MAKEN TO PANTSU!! (aka THE EVIL SWORD AND UNDERWEAR!!)
- 1 - 18 HARO KINOKO-KUN (aka HELLO, MUSHROOM BOY)
- 1 - 19 KURAYAMI NO JIGOKU WANA!! (aka THE DEVILISH TRAP IN DARKNESS)
- 1 - 20 HANA NO KUNOICHI GUMI (aka THE FLOWER FEMALE NINJA TEAM)
- 1 - 21 SARUMANE HISSATSU WAZA (aka THE MONKEY MIMIC'S DEADLY ATTACK)
- 1 - 22 WARATTE ITADAKIMASU (aka I'LL MAKE YOU LAUGH)
- 1 - 23 DENGEKI!! SHIROI KAICHO (aka A SHOCK!! THE STRANGE WHITE BIRD)
- 1 - 24 AA IKKAN NO OWARI (aka AH! THE END OF VOLUME 1)
- 1 - 25 ARATANARU TABIDACHI! (aka A NEW JOURNEY!)
- 1 - 26 TSURUHIME KE NO CHOU HIMITSU (aka THE GREAT SECRET OF THE TSURUHIME FAMILY)
- 1 - 27 MUTEKI SHOUGUN NO SAIGO (aka END OF THE INVINCIBLE SHOGUN)
- 1 - 28 CHOU OOMONO RAINICHI!! (PART 1 OF 2) (aka A SUPER BIG FIGURE COMING TO JAPAN!!)
- 1 - 29 SHIJOUHATSU NO SUUPAA BATORU (PART 2 OF 2) (aka HISTORY'S FIRST SUPER BATTLE)
- 1 - 30 SAIKAI URAGIRI NO CHICHI (aka REUNION WITH A TRAITOROUS FATHER)
- 1 - 31 MITA KA!! SHIN SHOUGUN (aka DID YOU SEE IT!! A NEW SHOGUN)

-
- 1 - 32 NAMEN NA KAO DOROBO (aka DON'T LICK ME, FACE THIEF)
 - 1 - 33 AMANOJAKU MURA (aka THE PERVERSE VILLAGE)
 - 1 - 34 HANAYOME SUNA JIGOKU (aka THE BRIDE'S SAND HELL)
 - 1 - 35 OSHIOKI SHISUTAAZU (aka THE PUNISHING SISTERS)
 - 1 - 36 ABARENBOU NINJA (aka RAGING NINJA)
 - 1 - 37 KARAKA SA DANSU KUIIN (aka THE CHINESE UMBRELLA DANCE QUEEN)
 - 1 - 38 MOO! IYA NA USHI (aka MOO! A DISGUSTING COW)
 - 1 - 39 TOKUBETSUHEN DA YO!! (aka IT'S A SPECIAL COMPILATION!)
 - 1 - 40 HEISEI KITSUNE GASSEN (aka HEISEI FOX BATTLE)
 - 1 - 41 HAGURE GOOSUTO (aka THE STRAY GHOST)
 - 1 - 42 GOUDATSU! NINJA PAWAA (aka STOLEN! THE NINJA POWER)
 - 1 - 43 SANSHINSHOU SAIGO NO HI (aka LAST DAY OF THE 3 GOD COMMANDERS)
 - 1 - 44 KIZU DARAKE DAI GYAKUTEN (aka THE WOUND-FILLED GREAT REVERSAL)
 - 1 - 45 AWATENBOU SANTA (aka THE CONFUSED SANTA BOY)
 - 1 - 46 SHINSHUN MANGA JIGOKU (aka NEW SPRING COMIC HELL)
 - 1 - 47 NINGEN HANABI HYAKU RENPATSU (aka THE 100-BURST HUMAN FIREWORKS)
 - 1 - 48 OO YUKI ONNA NO YUKI GASSEN (aka THE GREAT SNOW WOMAN'S SNOW BATTLE)
 - 1 - 49 TOTSUZEN!! BINBOO (aka SUDDENLY!! POOR)
 - 1 - 50 TOKUSEN!! YOUKAI NO YADO (aka SPECIAL SELECTION!! THE GHOST INN)
 - 1 - 51 HIIROO SHIKKAKU (aka HERO ELIMINATION)
 - 1 - 52 SAIKAI! CHICHI TO MUSUME (aka REUNION! FATHER AND DAUGHTER)
 - 1 - 53 FUUIN!! (aka SEALING!!)

NINJA TEAM GEKKOU

AKA: NINJA TEAM MOONLIGHT
AKA: NINJA CORPS MOONLIGHT
AKA: NINJA SQUAD: MOONLIGHT

The original music for the series was by Michiaki Watanabe.

WR.

DIR.

EPISODES: 130 YEAR MADE: 1964 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS:

KOKUSAI BROADCAST

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: No LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 130

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

JO MIZUKI, Tsugirin AKIRA YAMAGUCHI.

NINPUU SENTAI HURRICANGER

AKA: STEALTH WIND TASKFORCE HURRICANGER

AKA: SUPER NINJA TASKFORCE HURRICANGER

AKA: HURRICANGER

AKA: NINJA BATTLE TEAM HURRICANGER

The series opened with 3 young people from the Hayate Ninja School, each of them undergoing special ninja training. Yousuke (Shun Shioya), Nanami (Nao Nagasawa), and Kouta (Kouhei Yamamoto) were a tight-knit group of friends, who also just happened to be at the bottom of their class in their ninja training. But ironically enough, it's precisely that flaw which saved them later on as a clan of alien ninjas known as the Jajanka, led by the monstrous Tao Zanto, attacked and destroyed the Hayate School and took its students captive.

Mugensai (Ken Nishida), ninja master and the head of the Hayate school managed to escape this fate by turning himself into a hamster, the only problem with this being that he couldn't change back. Mugensai's daughter, Oboro (Seiko Takada) rescued the trio and brought them to her underground base where she presented them with the Hurricane Gyros, which were originally intended for the school's top three students, enabling them to become the more technologically advanced Hurricangers.

Early in the series, the Gouraijer, Ikkou and Ishuu Kasumi (Yujiro Shirikawa and Kyo Nabuo) were introduced as students of the rival Ikazuchi Ninja Academy, who wanted to prove their academy is the superior one by defeating the Hurricangers. Adding to the mix later on was the arrival of the mysterious Gozen (Hitomi Miwa) and her enigmatic protector, Shurikenger, who has become one of sentai's most popular 6th Rangers.

Hurricanger comes after GOARANGER in the Super Sentai continuity and became the eleventh incarnation of the MIGHTY MORPHIN POWER RANGERS series from Saban Entertainment in 2003. Hurricanger was followed by ABARANGER in 2003. Produced by Koichi Yada, Jun Higasa, Sayoko Matsuda.

In the wake of Gaoranger, the Super Sentai program to celebrate the series' 25th anniversary, some fans, both Japanese and Americans were left dissatisfied with the series as a whole, citing lack of characterization and the almost-relentless promotion of its Power Animals toy line as the show's major flaws. So Toei Productions decided to return to its roots, so to speak, and revived the ninja theme first used 1994's Ninja Sentai Kakuranger, but this time they gave the show a technological influence rather than a supernatural one. The result: The 26th Super Sentai series entry, Ninpu Sentai Hurricanger.

I really had no idea what to expect from this series. After seeing numerous clips and scattered information here and there, I wasn't holding out much hope. But I have to say Hurricanger surprised me.

The fight scenes, in and out of costume were some of the best ever choreographed. The characters themselves were an interesting mix; Shun Shioya, Nao Nagasawa, and Kouhei Yamamoto brought a diverse and deeply-likeable air to their characters, while Yujiro Shirikawa and Kyo Nabuo played the more restrained straight-men, but not to the point where even they weren't moved by the show's more light-hearted moments. Seiko Takada added a good deal of humor to the show as Oboro, but the real scene-stealer among the good guys was Shurikenger, who spoke in both Japanese and humorously mangled English.

The concept of bringing in former sentai actors as secret identities for him was an extremely innovative one, bringing in actors like Kunihiko Oshiba and Masaya Matsukaze (MegaRed and MegaBlue of Megaranger), Kenji Ooba, (Battle Kenya of Battle Fever J), Masaro Shishino (OhRed of Ohranger) among others to play the roles.

The villains were an excellent mix as well ranging from the comic relief of Wendinu and Furabijou (Mio Fukuzumi and Asuza Yamamoto) to the merciless evil of Sandaru.

The series maintained a perfect balance of both humor and drama throughout, one element never overpowering the other (Although the final eps of the series were undoubtedly the most powerful in sheer shock value and drama).

While not the ground-breaking series Kakuranger was in terms of introducing ninjas to sentai, Hurricanger had plenty of its own merits to stand on. With an engaging cast, a solid and highly enjoyable story, excellent characterization, & fight choreography, and a healthy dose of CG thrown in for good measure, Hurricanger was one of the genre's best offerings. But if you REALLY want to see the humble beginnings of Toei's Super Sentai's ninja theme, track down Kakuranger first, then Hurricanger. Either way, you'll enjoy them both thoroughly.

Just recently, this series ended and now will be translated to POWER RANGERS NINJA STORM in the US. I'm crossing my fingers that Doug Sloan and Disney doesn't mess up a perfectly good series, considering these days Power Rangers are following the Sentai storyline format.

In this series, you have two factions, the Hurricangers and the Goraijers. They begin as two rival ninja groups but eventually join forces. They're eventually joined by a sixth member, the Shurikenjer (Green Samurai in Ninja Storm), who doesn't have a true identity the entire series. He is mostly disguised as women, old people, businessmen, etc. etc. etc. Furthermore, the guy speaks decent English, quoting when he transforms: 'I am Ninja of Ninja!' Not to mention, the Shurikenjer, while in his Fire Mode transformation, uses a baseball bat and nails his enemies with a barrage of baseball, how funny is that! Although, he doesn't reveal his face, he does have a name, but I won't say who he is. I think Shurikenjer is also a valiant warrior, including near the end of the series. For those who watched Hurricanger, should know what happened to him. For those, who didn't watch it, oh well.

As for villains, although Tao Zanto was the main bad guys, the other villains stood out. Furabijou, Windenu (nicknamed Wendy by her allies), and Sandaru; Furabijou was too sweet to be a villain. Windenu was a calm and smart. She also had a sisterly relationship with Furabijou. Sandaru, aka the Shark Ninja, was the cruelest and most treacherous of the Hurricanger villains, it came to the point where he killed his own allies.

Out of the cast, I really liked Nanami/Hurricane Blue (played by Nao Nagasawa) just because. However, I also like Oboro Hinata, the daughter of the hamster. er..I mean sensei and inventor of the Ninja weapons. The actress, Seiko Takada, brought some comedy. She really brought out Oboro's smart attitude, which usually annoys the heroes, but makes the show funny.

Overall, it's a pretty good series. Now, it's just up to those behind Power Ranger to meet the expectations of its Japanese counterpart.

Characters

Colors: Red, Light Blue, Yellow, Crimson, Navy Blue, Green.

Hurricangers

Red: "The people don't realize"

Blue: "The world doesn't realize"

Yellow: "We become shadows and attack evil!"

"Stealth Wind Squadron Hurricanger has appeared!"

Three Ninja Students who are the survivors of the Hayate's Way Ninja Academy.

"The wind howls, the sky rages. Air Ninja Hurricane Red!"

Yousuke Shiina / Air Ninja Hurricane Red (Harikenreddo): The leader of the team, though a bit dim-witted, Yousuke's courage and determination make up for his slow-thinking. He works at a window cleaning service.

Hurricane Weapon: Dry Gun, Hurricane Red's personal gun based weapon. It resembles a hair dryer, and can shoot flames.

"The water dances, the waves jump. Water Ninja Hurricane Blue!"

Nanami Nono / Water Ninja Hurricane Blue (Harikenburuu): The only female on the team, she dreams to become a popstar. She has a semi-crazed manager who books her for everything, but when emergencies occur Nanami has to take off. While cute, the others try to stay on her good side. It is later shown she has developed feelings for Ishuu Kasumi and likewise.

Hurricane Weapon: Sonic Megaphone, Hurricane Blue's personal weapon. Can fire sound based waves.

"The earth trembles, the flowers compose. Land Ninja Hurricane Yellow!"

Kouta Bitou / Land Ninja Hurricane Yellow (Harikenieroo): The other male of the team, he's a firm believer in planning. He has a younger sister called Meiko whom he cared for when their parents died in a car accident and they ended up in an orphanage. Because of his friendly nature, Kouta works at a daycare center.

Hurricane Weapon: Quake Hammer, Hurricane Yellow's personal weapon. Can be used for a ground based attack.

Gouraiser

Kabuto: "Facing the shadows, slicing the shadows"

Kuwaga: "Facing the light, slicing the light!"

"Lightning-Fast Gouraiser revealed!"

Originally the enemies of the Hurricanger until they put their differences aside. In episode 9, it was revealed that the Jakanja had wiped out Ikazuchi's Way Ninja Academy as well, leaving the Kasumi Brothers as the only survivors. After allying themselves with the Hurricanger (they didn't officially join until the end of the series as the two could not forsake their teachings), the two got jobs as construction workers.

"Crimson lightning. Horned Ninja KabutoRaiger!"

Ikkou Kasumi / Horned Ninja KabutoRaiger: The older Brother, called the "Horned Ninja". He develops a friendly rivalry with Yousuke later in the series.

Gourai Weapon: Horn Breaker, KabutoRaiger's personal weapon. Is used as a gun based weapon.

"Azure thunderclap. Fanged Ninja KuwagaRaiger!"

Isshuu Kasumi / Fanged Ninja KuwagaRaiger: The younger Brother, called the "Fanged Ninja". Later shown to have feelings for Nanami Nono.

Gourai Weapon: Stag Breaker, KugawaRaiger's personal weapon. This pincher weapon can be used to snare opponents and zap them with electrical energy.

Allies

"The green light bullet! Sky Ninja Shurikenger!"

Sky Ninja Shurikenger / Shurikenger Fire Mode: He was formerly known as Asuka Kagura, another student of Hayate's Way, but he mysteriously vanished. It would turn out he encountered Gozen, whom he devoted himself to as her personal fighter at the cost of his humanity, forced to remain in his costumed form permanently. A somewhat comical figure, Shurikenger often used broken English phrases, including the famous "I am Ninja of Ninja!", and also often poorly mixed both Japanese -and- English into his sentences. At first he would often disguise himself as a 'regular' person (even the other ninja wouldn't know who), however he would revert to his true form with the Shuriken Ball device when confronted by Jakanja. Has the ability to transform into Shurikenger Fire Mode, a quicker and deeper voiced version of himself, when he removes his main chest armor and the top of his helmet is rotated. Shurikenger apparently died in the finale when he destroyed Tenkuujin in a kamikaze attack to kill Satorakura, however he returned alive and well (albeit very briefly) for the Abaranger vs. Hurricanger team-up.

Shuriken Weapon: Shuriken's Bat, Shurikenger's personal weapon. Other than being used as a sword, it can also be used as a baseball bat, and once it was used as a microphone. The Bat's special attack is where Shurikenger can hit a hoard of baseballs at his opponent. The Bat can also be placed into Tenkuujin to use as a control stick.

Sensei Mugensai Hinata: Ninja master of Hayate's Way Ninja Academy. He turned himself into a hamster to evade his pursuers, but he forgot the word that would restore him to normal. Eventually he returned to his human form in the finale. Briefly returned to human form in the movie by means of a kiss from Princess Raiina, but was forced back to a hamster when she left.

Oboro Hinata: Mugansai's daughter, she provides the team's arsenal. Was shown working with Shurikenger to create "that flying thing", aka the Tri-Condor.

Kakura / Lady Gozen: A 500-year old young-seeming woman whom Shurikenger protects. She's the reason both Ninja schools have similar Karakuri systems. She is the keeper of the mysterious SpearStone, which is in her forehead. The power of the SpearStone is the reason why Gozen's life has been prolonged, as it sustains her life. Gozen was later killed by Sandaaru, when he extracted the SpearStone from Gozen's body.

Princess Laiina: Exclusive to the Hurricanger movie, she came from planet Asutoramu. Her race was known for having the gift of regeneration, thus why she was sought by the Shinobi Monkeys. Wanted Yuusuke as her bodyguard. Gave the Hurricanger Tri-Condor to allow them to form Tenraisenpuujin.

Hyakujuu Sentai GaoRanger: While Yousuke, Kouta, and Nanami were fighting Genin Magerappa, they were attacked by, supposedly, the GaoRangers. But truthfully it was Manmaruba, Sargain, Furabijou, Satorakura, and Windenu who stole their G-Phones thanks to Chubouzu, the younger brother of Chuzubo, and gave them a masking device to make them look exactly like the GaoRangers in human form. He kidnapped the GaoRangers and Tetomu, also Chubouzu brought in Tsue-Tsue and Yaibaiba to have revenge on them. The Gouraiger almost used the Double Gadget to destroy the fake GaoRangers, but the Hurricangers told them they were Senshi (Warriors) like them.

In the end, the 'Gaorangers' wanted to fight with GaoKing (the Power Animals didn't know the rangers controlling them were fake), but thanks to the real GaoWhite, the Power Animals deformed and left the fake GaoRangers alone. GaoWhite told everyone that she escaped thanks to her friends and told them how they ended up like this. All the rangers then went back to Chubouzu's hideout to get back the rest of the team when they were stopped by the fake GaoRangers. Isshuu and Ikkou volunteered to stay to fend the fake rangers off. Shurikenger also came as well. The Hurricangers fight Chubouzu, also knocking a device that paralyzed the real GaoRangers. After a reunion and a word of thanks, the Gouraiger and Shurikenger are over whelmed. As everyone comes to help but it is no use. But thanks to Shirogane, GaoSilver, came back just in time to help the others. He used his G-Brace Phone to call out to the Power Animals to return the G-Phones to the proper owners. After a major battle, Chubouzu grows and brings back a few old enemies that the Hurricanger recongize. When Chubouzu uses a team attack with the other monsters, GaoKing, GoraiSenpuujin, Tenkuujin, and GaoHunter Justice are badly damaged, especially GoraiSenpuujin, who loses one of its arms. GaoRed gets an idea from Gao Lion to combine GaoTiger and GaoShark with GoraiSenpuujin and use GaoElephant, sword & shield mode. Then Tenkuujin combines into GoraiSenpuujin after the Power Animals separate and finish Chubouzu with a team powered attack.

Bakuryuu Sentai Abaranger: The Abarangers came upon the Hurricangers when they first found Yousuke fighting Wendinu and Furabijou. When Wendinu and Furabijou were defeated by the Hurricangers, they fell through a warp hole and into the Evorian castlehold. They joined the Evorians, and even though everyone was awkward in getting along, the Hurricangers and Abarangers eventually teamed up to fight the newly-reincarnated enemies.

Arsenal

Shinobi Medals: The Hurricanger, Gouraiger, as well as Shurikenger each possess their own personal Shinobi Medal. Their standard uses for both the Hurricanger and Gouraiger are not only to be able to active their changers, but also for both teams to be able to combine their mecha.

Hurricane Gyro: The Changer devices for the Hurricanger. Are capable of shooting out little disk-like Shuriken called Gyro Shuriken.

Keitaininto Hayate Maru: Standard sword-based weapons of the Hurricanger. Can not only be charged-up for an energized slash, but it can also be used as a gun as well.

Gourai Changer: The Changer devices for the Gouraiger. Ikkou and Isshu's personal Gourai Changer is shaped as their personal insect.

Ikazuchi Maru: Standard weapon for the Gouraiger. Other than its standard staff appearance, it can also be used as the Juujino Kata (a throwing star), or the Engetsu no Kata (a ring based weapon that is used as a shield for defense). Once Isshuu was able to connect his Stag Breaker to the end of his Ikazuchi Maru to use for a special attack.

Victory Gadget: Combination of the Triple (In the Quake Gadget formation) and Double Gadgets. The most powerful team based attack of the Hurricanger and Gouraiger.

Triple Gadget: Combination of the Hurricanger's personal weapons can be used in three different functions. Dry Gadget is where the Dry Gun is in front and it can fire an energy based attack. Sonic Gadget is with the Sonic Megaphone in front, where it can fire intense high pitched waves. Quake Gadget is with the Quake Hammer in front, where it can summon a 100 ton weight to use on its opponent.

Double Gadget: Combination of the Gouraiger's personal weapons.

Shurikenball: Shurikenger's personal changer where he can use it to impersonate other people. His Shinobi Medal is located inside the ball. Can be placed in Tenkuujin's controls to access its transformation sequence. Shurikenger gave the Shurikenball to Yousuke just before he died.

Ninja Misen: This shamisen-like instrument is primarily used to summon and control Revolver Mammoth, by using a Shinobi Medal to play it. Originally Shurikenger could use it, but later in one of his disguises, he was able to teach the Hurricanger and Gouraiger to learn how to control Revolver Mammoth as well. Also with the Shuriken's Bat, Keitainincho Hayate Maru, or Ikazuchi Maru, it can be used as a gun based weapon. Attacks are Shuriken Trick, Red Sonic, Yellow Sonic, Blue Sonic, Kabuto Sonic and Kuwaga Sonic

Kirai Maru: Used only in Episode 38. KuwagaRaiger located his father's Ikazuchi Maru, the Kirai Maru which was hidden in a cave in hopes of gaining more strength as Isshuu had become disillusioned by the Gouraigers alliance with the Hurricanger. The Kirai Maru is a katana which can slice through any object. However its power comes with a price, although the Kirai Maru is supposed to be used to fight enemies, but unknown to Isshuu it was changed by his father Ikki to damage the loved ones of the person who wields it, as Ikki believed that hate would only promote strength. Isshuu found out the hard way during the battle against Gomubiron that using the weapon would only harm Isshuu's teammates. In the following battle Isshuu deliberately snapped the Kirai Maru in half and used part of it to impale Gomubiron. Kirai means "Hate".

Vehicles

Wingers: Hang gliders that serve as the Hurricanger's transportation.

Red Winger: Hurricane Red's Winger.

Yellow Winger: Hurricane Yellow's Winger.

Blue Winger: Hurricane Blue's Winger.

Bari Thunders: Motorcycles that are used by the Gouraiger for transportation. Once in Episode 37, Kouta and Nanami had to learn to ride the Bari Thunders in order to rescue Ikkou and Isshuu who were trapped in Manmaruba's body after he evolved into his final form.

Kabuto Bari Thunder: KabutoRaiger's motorcycle.

Kuwaga Bari Thunder: KuwagaRaiger's motorcycle.

Shinobi Machines

Tenrai Senpuujin (Tenrai Senpūjin): Combination of Senpuujin, Goraijin and Tenkuujin with TriCondor. When Manmaruba became huge, he ate the Gouraiger. Hurricane Blue and Hurricane Yellow went to save them on the Gouraiger's Bari Thunders while Hurricane Red used Senpuujin to hold Manmaruba. Gozen sent three new Karakuri Balls which she created with Shurikengers help. These new Karakuri Balls which form TriConder are what enabled the combination of all six Shinobi Machines into TenraiSenpuujin. When the mecha's chest blades spin, they summon a destructive whirlwind called the Ultimate Storm attack, which lifts monsters into the sky and kills them. In the following episode TriConder's Shiobi medals are each shattered after its first fight as TenraiSenpuujin. The team wasn't able to use it for a while due to the conflict of mixing wind and thunder energy together, but Orobo was able to repair the medals by herself. When TenraiSenpuujin is used together with Revolver Mammoth it can create the Ultimate Rainbow attack.

Gourai Senpuujin (Gōrai Senpūjin): Combination of Senpuujin and Goraijin with FūraiMaru. Its finisher attack is the Rolling Thunder Hurricane and when Gourai Senpuujin is used with Revolver Mammoth the finisher attack is Hurricane Thunder Strike. Once in Hurricanger vs. Gaoranger, after Choubouzu breaks off Gourai Senpuujin's arms, the Gaorangers are able to combine GaoShark, GaoTiger, & GaoElephant with GoraiSenpuujin by replacing Gorai Stag as the arms to create Gourai Senpuujin Sword & Shield (Gōrai Senpūjin Sōdo ando Shīrudo). It could only maintained for a short time, because the three Power Animals were too powerful for Gourai Senpuujin. Its components were rebuilt for Abaranger vs. Hurricanger, but it was destroyed again by Killer Oh.

Senpuujin (Senpūjin) / Senpuujin Hurrier (Senpūjin Hariā): The Hurricanger's giant robot that they use to battle the enlarged Jakanja monsters. Able to change into a smaller, much faster form Senpuujin Hurrier that lasts for 60 seconds. While in this form it has two large twin blades. It was destroyed in the final episode.

Hurricane Hawk: Hurricane Red's personal mecha. A giant robotic red hawk with ninja fire magic; Forms the head of Senpuujin.

Hurricane Lion: Hurricane Yellow's personal mecha. A giant robotic yellow lion with ninja earth magic (never really used in the series though); Forms the majority of the body of Senpuujin: legs, torso, left arm. The left arm forms GouraiSenpuujin's chest.

Hurricane Dolphin: Hurricane Blue's personal mecha. A giant robotic blue dolphin with ninja water magic (also rarely used); Forms the right arm of Senpuujin or GouraiSenpuujin's right shoulder cannon, and can switch with Tenkuujin to form TenkuuSenpuujin. Hurricane Dolphin is the only Shinobi Machine left out of the TenraiSenpuujin formation.

Gouraijin (Gōraijin): The Gouraiger's giant robot. Combines with Senpuujin (via Fūrai Maru) to form GoraiSenpuujin. Was destroyed when the Gouraiger sacrificed it (and apparently themselves) to destroy Sandaru so that the Hurricanger could go on to save the Earth from Jakanja's doomsday event.

Gorai Beetle: Kabuto Raijer's personal mecha. A giant tank-like black & maroon beetle that forms Gouraijin's upper half. Also forms Gouraisenpuujin's feet and left shoulder cannon, and TenraiSenpuujin's feet.

Gorai Stag: Kugawata Raiger's personal mecha. A giant tank-like black & navy blue stag beetle that forms Gouraijin's lower half and antler weapon. Also forms arms for GouraiSenpuujin and TenraiSenpuujin.

Tenkuujin (Tenkūjin): Shurikenger's personal mecha. Has the ability to transform from helicopter to robot mode (the cockpit becomes arms (revealing the head), the engines become legs, and one of the rotor blades (the tips of the blades retract) becomes a headdress). Can combine with Senpuujin to form Tenkuu Senpuujin (Tenkū Senpūjin) as the right arm, or with Gouraijin to form Tenkuu Gouraijin (Tenkū Gōraijin) as back-mounted shoulder cannons. Through the TriCondor, Tenkuujin could combine with both Senpuujin and Gouraijin to form Tenrai Senpuujin (as the chest) and in the Hurricanger vs. Gaoranger Team-up movie

Tenkujin merged with Gourai Senpuujin to form Tenkuu Gourai Senpuujin (Tenkū Gōrai Senpūjin), joining as the right arm as it does with Senpuujin. Shurikenger once brought in two Tenkuujin, duplicates which could combine with the other machines so that they could combine with both Senpuujin and Goraijin simultaneously. They were piloted by Oboro's slave robots. In the finale, Tenkuujin was destroyed when Shurikenger sacrificed himself to kill Satorakura.

Revolver Mammoth: A giant robotic mammoth that is called into battle by playing the Ninja Misen, it can supply a seemingly endless amount of Karakuri Balls. Gourai Senpuujin or Tenrai Senpuujin can also ride the Revolver Mammoth and combine attacks.

Karakuri Balls (Karakuri Bōru): Become the tools the robots use in battle. The kanji next to the tool names are those found on their Shinobi Medals, and their meanings are included.

01: Sword Slasher: The Hurricangers must fuse the Shinobi Medals on their Hurricane Gyros to make this weapon, but KabutoRaiger has also used a Shinobi medal with (halberd) on it. It is the primary weapon of Senpuujin. In Abaranger vs. Hurricanger, with their powers combined, their powers helped to create a golden version of the Sword Slasher wielded by Abaren'oh.

Goat Hammer: Combination of Goat Crusher and Tortoise Hammer.

02: Goat Crusher (hammer): Used by Hurricane Yellow.

03: Tortoise Hammer (armor): Used by Hurricane Blue.

04: Plant Axe (wheel): Primary weapon of Goraijin.

Gatling Attack: Combination of Gatling Leo and Squid Attacker.

05: Gatling Leo (gun): Used by Hurricane Yellow.

06: Squid Attacker (drill): Used by Hurricane Blue.

FūraiMaru (Wind-Thunder Round): Combination of FūraiHead and FūraiKnuckle, it is important to help in the Gourai Senpuujin transformation process.

07: FūraiHead (helmet): Used by Hurricane Red, forms FūraiMaru's upper half or GouraiSenpuujin's helmet.

08: FūraiKnuckle (fist): Used by KabutoRaiger, forms FūraiMaru's legs or GouraiSenpuujin's fists.

09: Karakuri Mantle (clothing): The Japanese use the Italian word "manto" to refer to a "mantle", which in this context, is another word for "cape" or "cloak". Used by Hurricane Red.

10: Spin Bee (revolve): Primary weapon of Tenkuujin.

11: Kabuto Spear (stab): Used by KabutoRaiger, but loaded in Revolver Mammoth as KuwagaRaiger's.

12: Catch Spider (thread): Used by Shurikenger.

13: Karakuri Stamp (stamp): Used by Hurricane Red.

14: Pitatto Hitode (foster): Used by Hurricane Blue.

TriCondor: Combination of TriHorns, TriCrown and TriClaws, it is important to help in the TenraiSenpuujin transformation process. The movie version has the same primary colors of Green, Red, and Blue as the TV series version, but some minor differences are that the movie version of the Tri-Condor Karakuri Balls are not numbered and have white-colored trimmings instead of the gold colored trimmings that was seen in the TV series. The movie version Karakuri Balls also featured red, green, and blue metallic colors.

15: TriHorns (horn): Used by Shurikenger, forms TriCondor's tail or the horns of TenraiSenpuujin's helmet.

16: TriCrown (crown): Used by Hurricane Red, forms TriCondor's body or TenraiSenpuujin's helmet.

17: TriClaws (nail): Used by KabutoRaiger, forms TriCondor's wings or TenraiSenpuujin's claws.

Space Stealth Group Jakanja

The Space Stealth Group Jakanja (Uchū Ningun Jakanja) are a ruthless band of aliens, piloting in space with their nina-themed weapons.

Leader Tau Zanto (1-49) / Tau Zanto Ultimate Form (50-51): The leader of the Jakanja. Gains a stronger second form towards the end of the series. Tau Zanto fought against Senpuujin in the finale. He was regressed to normal size, when Senpuujin exploded and was killed for good by the Victory Gadget.

Wendinu: A girl with big fluffy pink hair who appears on Earth with her partner Furabijou, who occasionally calls her "Windy". Wendinu is the one who enlarges the henchmen in various ways. In Hurricanger vs.

GaoRanger, she became GaoBlue, but got clawed by (the real) GaoWhite, making her give in to her vanity.

She did survive the series (despite her seeming death) and reappeared in Abaranger vs. Hurricanger. She and Furabijo tried to join up with the Evoliens by obtaining Janilga, but the two girls were denied membership and pretty much just hang out now on DinoEarth.

Furabijou: A girl with a bug-headress who appear on Earth with her partner Wendinu. She carries a notepad with info on the monsters sent to fight and uses a stamp when they die to mark them out. It was soon learned she was a student at a space ninja school until she dropped out after a failing an exam. After being kicked out of her family, Furabijou joined the Jakanja. She did survive the series (despite her seeming death) and reappeared in Abaranger vs. Hurricanger. In Hurricanger vs. GaoRanger, she became GaoWhite, but later got whacked in the head by the real GaoWhite's Tiger Baton.

Manmaruba (1-19) / Manmaruba Imago (20-37, 51) / Manmaruba Reckless Form (37): The one who plans the attacks of the Jakanja. He evolved into an adult form later in the series and later into an even stronger form where he could use the fears of people against them. In Hurricanger vs. GaoRanger, he became GaoBlack. Killed by Tenrai Senpuujin.

Chuuzubo (1-19, Hurricanger vs. GaoRanger, 51): The leader of the Bio-Ninja Corps, who has a grudge against the Goraiger, vowing to have his revenge on them. But he was (the first to be) killed by the newly formed Gourai Senpuujin. He was revived by his brother in the Hurricanger vs. GaoRanger movie, only to be killed by Gourai Senpuujin once again.

Sargain (1-43, 51): The leader of the Mecha-Ninja Corps, he's actually a robot body piloted by a small robotic ant. He could extend swords from his shoulders and can build his own personal robots to fight the Hurricangers. In Hurricanger vs. GaoRanger, he became GaoYellow. After the destruction of his super robot Gaingain, Sargain lost the Raging Arrow, a special Medal that he made, to the Hurricangers and was in bad shape. Sandaaru took advantage of that in order to perform a sneak attack, destroying Sargain for his failure.

Satorakura (20-49, 51): Replacing Chuuzubo, he is the leader of the Masked-Ninja Corps. Has a sick sense of humor. In Hurricanger vs. GaoRanger, he became GaoRed ("Shakunetsu no $4 \times 4 = 16$ (shi shi juuroku)!"). Killed along with Shurikenger in an exploding Tenkuujin.

Chubouzu (Hurricanger vs. GaoRanger): The younger brother of Chuzubo. He forged an alliance between the Jakanja & two remaining Duke Orgs Tsuetsue & Yaibaiba. He could (and did) revive dead Jakanja (including his brother). He was defeated through a combination attack by Tenkuu Gourai Senpuujin and the Power Animals.

Sandaaru (39-50, 51): A shark ninja, he single-handedly destroyed many worlds before coming to Earth. He made a fake alliance with Tao Zanto, hoping to take over and frequently schemes against Tao Zanto which he later revealed but it fell against him in the near finale. He leads the Phantom-Beast Ninja Corps. Killed while fighting an exploding Gouraijin.

Fake Hurricanger (Nise Harikenjā) (48): Evil duplicates of the Hurricangers.

Fake Gouraiger (Nise Gōraijā) (48): Evil duplicates of the Gouraigers.

Fake Shurikenger (Nise Shurikenjā) (48): Evil duplicate of Shurikenger.

Genin Magerappa (Genin Magerappa): The henchmen, they constantly say their name repeatedly while dancing around.

Space Ninja Corps

Bio Ninja Corps

The Bio Ninja Corps are enlarged by a magical scroll fired from Wendenu's bazooka.

Kekkaibo, the Joining Boundary Ninja (1, Movie): Mantis. Killed by the Dry Gadget.

Kurrisottsubo, the Copy Ninja (3, Movie): Chameleon. Killed by Senpuujin with the Sword Slasher.

Hanasakkadoshi, the Poison Flower Ninja (5, 25) Flower. Killed by Senpuujin with the Sword Slasher.

Futabutabo, the Dimensional Ninja (7, Movie): Pig. Killed by Senpuujin with the Sword Slasher.

Kuttukuhoushi The Propagation Ninja (9, 25, Movie): Cicada. Killed by Senpuujin with the Sword Slasher.

Yumebakushi, the Nightmare Ninja (11, 25): Tapir. Killed by Senpuujin with the Goat Hammer.

Higenamazukin, the Dancing Ninja (13, Movie): Catfish. Killed by Senpuujin with the Gatling Leo.

Octonyuudou, the "To Back" Ninja (14, 25): Octopus. Killed by Senpuujin with the Squid Attacker.

Kirikirimaishi, the Fog Nausea Ninja (16): Snail. Killed by Senpuujin with the Sword Slasher.

Girigirigaishi, the Island Ninja (17-18, Hurricanger vs. GaoRanger): Kirikiri's father, a Turban snail. Killed by Gouraijin with the Plant Axe & Senpuujin Hurrier.

Mecha Ninja Corps

The Mecha Ninja Corps are enlarged by a giant robot called a Copy Giant, which scans a defeated monster and then copies it, giant-sized, similarity to Chikyuu Sentai Fiveman.

Jishakkumo, the Magnet Ninja (2): magnet. Killed by Senpuujin with the Sword Slasher.

Mogudorago, the Excavation Ninja (4): mole. Killed by Senpuujin with the Goat Crusher.

Shiransu, the Splitting Ninja (6): rabbit. Killed by Senpuujin with the Tortoise Hammer.

Gamajakushi, the Water Absorbing Ninja (8): toad. Killed by Senpuujin with Goat Hammer.

Tekkotsumeba, the Metal Ninja (12): ameba. Nicknamed "Tecotsu". Killed by Hurricane Hawk.

Kangaroulette, the Disaster Ninja (20, Hurricanger vs. GaoRanger): kangaroo rat. Killed by Gourai Senpuujin.

Unadaigo, the Thunder Ninja (24): drum. Killed by Gouraijin with the Kabuto Spear.

Chupitsudo, the Noisy Love Ninja (26): mouse. Killed by Tenkuu Gouraijin.

Jukukinoko, the Brainwashing Ninja (34): mushroom. Killed by Gourai Senpuujin & Revolver Mammoth.

Musasabisutaru, the Gliding Ninja (35): flying squirrel. This creature briefly acted as Sargain's second body before he learned how to use it separately with a remote control. Killed by Gourai Senpuujin & Revolver Mammoth.

Fusyokuruga, the Corrosion Ninja (39-40): moth; Killed by Gourai Senpuujin & Revolver Mammoth.

Masked Ninja Corps

The Masked Ninja Corps are enlarged by a special mask.

Jingiron, the Mirage Ninja (21-22, Hurricanger vs. GaoRanger): inspired by the eyes. Killed by Tenkuujin with the Spin Bee.

Killer Cologne, the Perfume Ninja (23): inspired by hands. Killed by Senpuujin Hurrier & Tenkuujin with the Spin Bee.

Vampiyan the Revival Ninja (25): mosquito and inspired by teeth. Killed by Tenkuu Senpuujin.

Omokaru, the Gravity Ninja (27): inspired by a foot. Killed by Gourai Senpuujin.

Berotan, the Lingering SummerHeat Ninja (29): inspired by tongues. Weakened by Senpuujin with the Karakuri Stamp, and killed by Tenkuu Senpuujin.

Gomubiron, the Balloon Ninja (38): inspired by the ear. Killed by Gourai Senpuujin & Revolver Mammoth.

Tsukkomina, the Comic Dialogue Ninja (41): inspired by the nose. Killed by Tenrai Senpuujin.

[edit]

Phantom Beast Corps

It's unknown how these monsters of the Phantom Beast Corps are enlarged. They were giant already whenever they were seen that way.

Badogi, the Misfortune Fan-beast (40, 44): dragon. Killed by Tenrai Senpuujin with the Raging Arrow.

Dezargi (44, 47): raven. This creature had an organic and a metallic form. Killed by Tenrai Senpuujin, with Gozen's power.

Madogi (45, 48): ocelot. A spy from the planet Ocelot star, her talent is shadow endurance. Killed by the Victory Gadget and Ninja Misen.

Others

The Space Shinobi Monkeys / Ashurasaru (Movie): Two armored monkey-ninja Hisaru and Blizaru. They can combine into Ashurasaru. Killed by Tenrai Senpuujin.

Hisaru

Blizaru

Furabijenu, the Beautiful-Girl Ninja (30): A robot created by Furaibijou, who also resembles her. Sargain became a bit jealous by this, for he is the one who is supposed to command the Mecha Ninja Corps.

Furabijenu briefly replaced Furabijou, but it was later revealed as a set up to increase her power. When she was destroyed by Senpuujin with the Pitashito Hitode, Furabijou returned back to her place in the Jakanja.

The Fangurlu / Fangerus (31-33): Three wolf-demons who come from the B-Strike Hell Nebula, responding to a whistle Satorakura uses to control them. Their talent is shadow-control, eating the shadows of their victims and turn them into werewolves. The three can also merge into the 3-faced Fangerus. As Fangerus, the wolves were the first to be killed by the Gourai Senpuujin & Revolver Mammoth combo.

Brown Destruction

Black Beginning

Silver Emergency

JaniIga (Abaranger vs. Hurricanger): JaniIga arrived on DinoEarth centuries ago and fought the Dragonoids. But he was sealed in an orb until Wendinu and Furabijou recovered it and freed him to impress and ultimate join with the Evoliens. JaniIga met his end due to the combined might of the ShinobiMachines and Blastasaurs.

Giant Robots

Megatagame (15): Piloted by Sargain. Destroyed by Senpuujin with the Gatling Attacker.

Megatagame Mark II / Megatagame Mark II Hurrier (28): Piloted by Sargain, could transform into Megatagame Mark II Hurrier. Destroyed by Gourai Senpuujin.

Megatagame Mark III (42): Piloted by Sargain, could download the powers of Senpuujin, Goraijin & Tenkuujin. Destroyed by Tenrai Senpuujin.

Gaingain (42-43): Final robot piloted by Sargain. Had a Karakuri Ball for Raging Arrow. Destroyed by Tenrai Senpuujin, Revolver Mammoth and all the Karakuri Balls (minus #9 & #13).

Megatagame Sexy (46): Piloted by Windenu, female version of Megatagame II Hurrier. Originally Megatagame Mark IV, but Windenu found that unsuitable to her taste, and made it "Sexy". Destroyed by Tenrai Senpuujin, Revolver Mammoth and all the Karakuri Balls (minus #9 & #13).

FurabijenRobo (46): Piloted by Furabijou, new version of Furabijenu. Destroyed by Tenkuu Senpuujin.

GiantMusasabiSuit (46): Piloted by Satorakura. Originally meant to be piloted by Sargain. Destroyed by Tenkuu Gouraijin.

Names/Puns

Rangers

"Gourai" means "Rumbling Thunder".

Shurikenger's name is a pun on "Shuriken". His original name uses two transditional japanese names. Asuka, which relates to the Asuka Period and Kagura, a specific type of Shinto dance the oldest known to this day.

ShinobiMachines

Under translation, "Senpuujin", "Goraijin" and "Tenkuujin" means "Whirlwind God", "Rumbling Thunder God", "Heavenly God?" respectively.

Karakuri

The name for the weapons in the series is based on the idea of real intricate wooden 'karakuri' toys. (The word karakuri means "mechanical device to tease, trick, or take a person by surprise".)

Jakanja

The term Jakanja can be translated as "Wicked Spies".

The Jakanja Warriors' name are the seven days of week: Manmaruba - Monday; Chuzubo - Tuesday; Wendinu (Wendy) - Wednesday; Sargain - Thursday; Furabijou - Friday; Satorakura - Saturday; Sandaru - Sunday.

Trivia

Azusa Yamamoto (Furabijou) was a contestant of 1997 Japan Bishojo Contest and she was the favourite to win the contest, but did not.

The theme song to the series was sung by Takatori Hideaki.

Whether intended or not, Shurikenger's "master of disguise" trait is reminiscent of Soukichi Banba (of JAKQ Dengeki Tai, played by Hiroshi Miyauchi), who also regularly disguised himself (one example of Banba's trait is when he disguised himself as a fisherman in JAKQ vs. GoRanger and showed up just when all hope of victory for justice seemed lost).

The actors who play Shurikenger's (10) human forms all played sentai members at one point. This might be related to GaoRanger vs. Super-Sentai, in which five former sentai members are brought back for the big screen.

Shurikenger's disguises include the previous actors for: MegaRed, MegaBlue, Red Racer, Blue Racer, FiveRed, TimeYellow, GoRed, ShishiRanger, OHRed and Battle Kenya/DenjiGreen. In addition, he also disguised himself as Yousuke once, Ikkou once, and Kouta twice. Ayame, Kouta's grandmother brought back to life, was mistaken for Shurikenger, as was Wendinu in a human disguise by the boys (Nanami caught on right away).

Before Shurikenger disguises himself as Detective Sasuke (Kunihiko Oshiba, also Date Kenta/MegaRed in Denji Sentai Megaranger), the real Sasuke hands out his business card. At the bottom, "Zubatto kaiketsu shimasu" (his business motto?) can be clearly seen. This is a direct nod to Kaiketsu Zubat, being part of the titular character's introduction phrase.

During both sentai team ups (with both Gaoranger and Abaranger), Oboro would break the fourth wall and talk to the audience stating "This is, after all, a special." when something interesting in the mecha battles occurred. One was when the Shinobi Machines combined with the Power Animals creating GouraiSenpuujin Sword and Shield Mode and when Abarenoh managed to materialize a Karakuri Ball from Tyranno's mouth and unvieling a Gold Sword Slasher.

Hurricanger VS Gaoranger is the first Sentai team up movie to have the 6th members from both teams (GaoSilver and Shuricanger) show up. Power Rangers: Time Force was the first in Power Rangers, however, to have all 12 characters show up (Titanium Ranger and Quantum Ranger). Hurricanger VS Gaoranger is also the 4th Sentai Crossover to have the complete rosters of both teams. The 1st being JAKQ VS Goranger (although Peggy Matsuyama (MomoRanger) was the only Goranger to show up out of costume), 2nd GoGoV VS Gingaman (Black Knight Hyuuga shows up, and GoGoV didn't have a 6th hero except for Beast-Demon Hunter Sieg and Sieg-Jeanne (Kyoko Hakase in Beast-Demon Hunter armour), non-canon exclusives from another movie), 3rd was Timeranger vs. GoGo-V (TimeFire was present).

Tenkoo Gourai Senpuujin is the only mecha with both Hurricane Dolphin and Tenkuujin as part of its formation. The other formations don't contain either Hurricane Dolphin (Tenkuu Gouraijin, Tenkuu Senpuujin, Tenrai Senpuujin), Tenkuujin (Senpuujin, Gourai Senpuujin) or both (Gouraijin, Gourai Senpuujin Sword and Shield).

The helmets for the Hurricangers (and Goraigers) closely resemble the "Zubasuit" helmet from Kaiketsu Zubat in the way their goggles and faceplates open.

The component ShinobiMachines for Senpuujin (Hurricane Hawk, Dolphin, Lion) resemble the component Live Machines from Choujuu Sentai Liveman (Jet Falcon, Land Lion, Aqua Dolphin), though the combined forms are different. The Gouraigers make a slight reference to the other two Livemen (Black Bison, Green Rhino), since the last were horned mammals, and the Gouraigers were horned beetles, in both cases one member with one horn and the other with two. The "three-component plus two-component" combined super robot formula is also the same, though, again, the actual form is very different. The villains also keep score, as they did in Liveman.

During the series, Asuza Yamamoto (Furabijou) begins her relationship with Kyo Nobuo (Isshu/Kuwaga Raija). Actually, they are fiancées.

All episode titles followed the scheme "(word/phrase) and (word/phrase)".

Hurricane Red briefly makes an appearance in Tokusou Sentai Dekaranger VS Abaranger. He was actually Kazak in disguise, who tricked the Abarangers into letting their guard down and giving him an opportunity to attack.

WR. Shuichi Miyashita, Atsushi Maekawa, Naoyuki Sakai.

DIR. Katsuya Watanabe, Satoshi Morota, Hajime Hashimoto.

EPISODES: 51 YEAR MADE: 2002 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1

TOEI CORPORATION

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 25 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: Japanese

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 51

DATE OF PREMIER: 17/02/2002 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 09/02/2003

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Yousuke Shiina/Hurricane Red SHUN SHIOYA, Nanami Nono/Hurricane Blue NAOMI NAGASAWA, Kouta Bitou/Hurricane Yellow YAHUHIRO YAMAMOTA, Ikkou Kasumi/Kabuto Raijar YUJIRO SHIRAKAWA, Isshu Kasumi/Kuwagata Raijar KYU NOBUO, Mugensai Hinata KEN NISHIDA, Oboro Hinata SEIKO TAKADA, Windenu MIO FUKUZUMI, Furabijou AZUSA YAMAMOTO, WAKANA YAMAZAKI, Ikki Kasumi IKKI KASUMI, Voice of Asuka Kagura/Shurikenger TAIKI MATSUNO, Saagain YOSHINORI OKAMOTO

RELATED SHOWS:

POWER RANGERS NINJA STORM

- 1 - 1 WIND AND NINJA
- 1 - 2 KYOJIN TO KARAKURI
- 1 - 3 A FORGERY AND 60 SECONDS
- 1 - 4 TUNNEL AND SIBLINGS
- 1 - 5 DIRECTOR AND THE BATH
- 1 - 6 SCISSORS AND GIRL NINJA
- 1 - 7 THUNDER AND NINJA
- 1 - 8 HAYATE TO IKAZUCHI
- 1 - 9 THE THUNDER BROTHERS AND HOURGLASS
- 1 - 10 THUNDER GOD AND RUINED VALLEY
- 1 - 11 DREAM-EATING AND A NEW BEGINNING
- 1 - 12 TEKKOTSU AND FATHER/DAUGHTER
- 1 - 13 MUSTACHE AND THE WEDDING RING
- 1 - 14 NAKEMUSHI TO AMETAMA CRYBABY AND THE AME BALL

-
- 1 - 15 TAGAME AND THE SCRAMBLE BATTLE
 - 1 - 16 KIRI TO YUGENSOUCHI MIST AND THE PREDICTION APPARATUS
 - 1 - 17 THE ISLAND OF DARKNESS AND BATTLE TO THE DEATH
 - 1 - 18 THE TIES THAT BIND FATHER AND SONS
 - 1 - 19 THE BIG BOX AND FURAIKYOJIN
 - 1 - 20 PUNCH AND RIVAL
 - 1 - 21 MASKS AND RIDDLES
 - 1 - 22 WINGS AND NINJA
 - 1 - 23 KORON AND THE FAMOUS DETECTIVE
 - 1 - 24 DRUMS AND THE LIGHTNING FLASH
 - 1 - 25 GHOST AND THE GIRL STUDENT
 - 1 - 26 BOW & ARROW AND SWIMMING IN THE SEA
 - 1 - 27 GRILLED MEAT AND WEIGHTLESSNESS
 - 1 - 28 HURRIER AND COUNTERATTACK
 - 1 - 29 LINGERING HEAT OF SUMMER AND STAMP
 - 1 - 30 IDOLS AND FRIENDSHIP
 - 1 - 31 METEORS AND THREE WOLVES
 - 1 - 32 GOD OF DEATH AND THE LAST HEART
 - 1 - 33 MAMMOTH AND THE SIX PEOPLE
 - 1 - 34 MUSHROOM AND 100 POINTS
 - 1 - 35 FLASH AND SHAMISEN
 - 1 - 36 RING AND VENGEANCE
 - 1 - 37 THREE'S SPEARS AND THE GREAT ESCAPE
 - 1 - 38 DEMON BLADE AND BALLOONS
 - 1 - 39 SEVEN SPEARS AND THE MYSTERIOUS STONE
 - 1 - 40 THE DECOY AND THE RULES OF INCOGNITO
 - 1 - 41 MEDARU TO MANZAI MEDAL AND COMEDIAN
 - 1 - 42 ARMOR AND THE RAGING ARROW
 - 1 - 43 GREATEST UNION AND ENORMOUS CLASH
 - 1 - 44 GOZEN AND THE TERRIBLE FAN BEAST
 - 1 - 45 REFUGE AND THE YEARLY CLEANUP
 - 1 - 46 OSECHI AND THE THREE GIANTS
 - 1 - 47 SEAL AND SPACE UNIFICATION
 - 1 - 48 TRAP AND THE NEVER-ENDING LIFE
 - 1 - 49 THE MISSION AND THE SKY NINJA
 - 1 - 50 DARKNESS AND A NEW WORLD
 - 1 - 51 WIND, WATER AND WORLD

NOAH'S CASTLE

A pity Strange-8 didn't seem to enjoy this children's serial as much as I did . Yeah I do confess that I can't remember the show scene for scene (I only saw it on its original broadcast 25 years ago) but if memory serves me right this was deeply thought provoking stuff and I'm willing to bet my life that it's more intelligent and compelling than stuff made for an adult audience in 2004 never mind children

In many ways NOAH'S CASTLE is a precursor of ITV's QUATERMASS production that was made at round about the same time and in many ways mirrors the early chapters of John Christopher's doom laden The Death Of Grass , though this is probably coincidence since there's only so many ways you can write this type of scenario . Hyper inflation is destroying Britain's economy and the scenario is far worse than that seen in 1930s Germany because no one can afford much in the way of food and the population are on the verge of starvation . This is a possible flaw with the central plot since it's never explained why a country crippled by hyper inflation would be on the brink of starvation . Surely the rich would be able to afford food ? but for some strange reason butchers and bakeries are empty while shoe shops still remain open for business

Reading through the cast list on this page I'm struck by how many of the cast were totally unknown at the time of broadcast but who are now familiar faces due to their long running roles . People like Christopher Fairbank (AUF WEIDERSEIN PET) , Lee McDonald (GRANGE HILL) and Alun Lewis (EMMERDALE) . There is a cast member who was well known in 1979 and that was Mike " Ricky " Reid long before he became Frank Butcher in EASTENDERS but in the 70s Reid was a well kent face due to his stand up comedy routines . Here he plays the villain of the piece Vince Holloway . Much of the story centers around Holloway holding a birthday party for his daughter , one of whose friends brings some food as a present which sets Holloway on a personal quest to find out where it came from . Suffice to say Holloway is not the sort of gentleman who will ask nicely for some food if he finds the family's store . Some people may find the ending slightly irritating since it's inconclusive but like I said you could easily watch Nigel Kneale's 1979 QUATERMASS serial or read The Death Of Grass from chapter 4 if you want the story to continue

I'm also glad that the previous commentator mentioned the opening title sequence as being so memorable . From memory I recall it was superbly done with some very haunting synth music . The end credits featured several cross cut scenes of soldiers on patrol though spoof radio announcements about riots and civil disorders did seem rather unsubtle . But I'll wager you any money that the title sequence of this kids show is more impressive than many shows broadcast on British television today.

WR. Nick McCarty (adaptation)

DIR. Colin Nutley

EPISODES: 7 YEAR MADE: 1980 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 1

SOUTHERN TELEVISION/INDEPENDENT TELEVISION (ITV)

CREATOR: JOHN ROWE-TOWNSEND

TYPE OF SHOW: EARTH FUTURE

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 7

DATE OF PREMIER: 02/04/1980

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Nessie Mortimer ANNETTE EKBLÖM, Cliff CHRISTOPHER FAIRBANK, Geoff Mortimer MARCUS FRANCIS, Barry Mortimer SIMON GIPPS-KENT, Terry ALUN LEWIS, Mel Holloway LEE MACDONALD, Mr. Mortimer DAVID NEAL, Ellen Mortimer LOUISE OLLEY, Vince Holloway MIKE REID, Mrs. Mortimer JEAN RIMMER

NOIRES SONT LES GALAXIESAKA: DARK ARE THE GALAXIES

A young doctor discovers that alien exiles have been stealing human corpses to inhabit them. But the exiles are themselves hunted by hostile aliens from their homeworld.

Cinematography by Jacques Guérin.

WR. Jacques Armand.DIR. Daniel MossmannEPISODES: 4 YEAR MADE: 1981 COUNTRY: FRA SEASONS: 1*A2CREATOR:*TYPE OF SHOW: ALIENS ON EARTH FORMAT: SERIESLENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: FrenchSEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 4DATE OF PREMIER: 15/05/1981 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE*SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:*FILMS:

Patrick RICHARD FONTANA, Coretta CATHERINE LEPRINCE, Belloni FRANCOIS PERROT, Mme Genson CATRIONA MACCALL, L'inconnu STEPHANE BOUY, Mme Mathot MARYVONNE SCHILTZ, M. de Brassac RAOUL GUILLET, ROGER RIFFARD, Martial GREG GERMAIN, Edmond LUC FLORIAN, Le patron du café JACQUES GIRAUD, L'étudiant JEAN-MICHEL DUPUIS, L'employé de la morgue JACQUES BOUANICH, Jacques PIERRE JACQUEMONT, Jean-Pierre NICOLAS GUIZBERT, L'agent JEAN-PIERRE ENGELBACH.

NOT WITH A BANG

An ageing formula causes everybody on Earth to age rapidly but four people. The four survivors consisted of three men and one woman, all of them whom were cut off from the air when the ageing formula was accidentally released. They are: Brian Appleyard, an egg head professor who had grand plans on rebuilding civilisation. Brian had been locked inside an airtight booth at a pub quiz game when the ageing formula struck and was the only one of the four to have seen what happened.

Colin Garraty, a rugby player was not all that bright. Colin was underwater when the ageing formula struck. It took him a few days to figure out that his friends were not hiding from him so that they would not have to pay up for his winning an underwater endurance contest. Graham and Janet Wilkins, a married couple who were exploring a cave when the disaster struck. Graham was a home improvement expert while his wife Janet was a somewhat flaky scoutmaster. Brian's grand plans to have Graham and Janet repopulate the world run into a snag when he learns that Graham is unable to become a father.

Not with a bang was a short lived British comedy series that could be best described as The SURVIVORS with a laugh track. Like the SURVIVORS, Not With a Bang was set in Britain of the near future in which almost the world's entire population has died. While in the SURVIVORS there were thousands of survivors of a world-wide plague, in Not With a Bang there were only four. The series was first seen on ITV.

WR. Tony Millan, Mike Walling.

DIR. Robin Carr.

EPISODES: 7 YEAR MADE: 1990 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 1

aired on ITV

CREATOR: TONY MILLAN & MIKE WALLING

TYPE OF SHOW: COMEDY

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 7

DATE OF PREMIER: 25/03/1990

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 06/05/1990

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Brian Appleyard RONALD PICKUP, Colin Garraty STEPHEN REA, Graham Wilkins MIKE GRADY, Janet Wilkins JOSIE LAWRENCE.

RELATED SHOWS:

SURVIVORS

NOW AND AGAIN

Portly 50-something insurance exec Michael Wiseman gets hit by a train and he wakes up to a proposition: The US government will put his brain (that's all survived the accident) in the semi-superpower-enhanced body of a 26 year old, if he agrees to go on a dangerous mission and have nothing ever again to do with his wife and daughter. Wiseman consents and his new life begins.

Created by Moonlighting impresario Glenn Gordon Caron, Now and Again is THE SIX MILLION DOLLAR MAN for the new century. The pilot breaks no new ground, as it's your basic set-the-tone scenario: introduce the characters, put them in play, get the scenario rolling. Visually, though the show looks great, with nifty photography and editing. The performances are top-notch. Goodman is sympathetic in his extended cameo, while Close plays the new Wiseman with just the right blend of awe, joy, fear and sadness. Gerrit Graham as Wiseman's fellow insurance company dinosaur, Colin and Matarazzo all hit the right emotional buttons, while Dennis Haysbert is equal parts amusing, authoritarian and concerned as the Oscar Goldman-esque Dr. Theodore Morris. In subsequent hours, Wiseman will diffuse a dire threat while trying to somehow reconnect with his family.

By the way, the pilot features one of the most disturbing and effective opening sequences I've ever seen. A benign-looking Asian man places several eggs on a seat in a moving subway car. An amused little boy watches the man. They smile at each other. The man gets off and the train moves again, with the eggs rolling around on the seat. The boy laughs as an egg goes splat on the floor. Blood trickles from his nose. Screams pierce the air. As the train pulls into the station its windows are covered with blood. Tracking down the man, will no doubt, be Wiseman's first task.

Apparently changes in tone may sometimes be jarring, shifting from Science Fiction to spy drama via poignant romance. Executive producer Glenn Gordon Caron, who worked on Moonlighting, says, "I keep calling it an action-drama-comedy-romance." He reckons it is: "kind of all over the map," and "doesn't declare itself very quickly," but claims it is most "about the inner life of this person, who is completely different than any other person on the planet." He promises to introduce interesting villains such as the Egg Man and the Bugmeister. Eric Close, who starred in DARK SKIES, seems a good choice as the lead so this might be worth tuning into Now and Again!

WR.

DIR.

EPISODES: 22 YEAR MADE: 1999 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

CBS PRODUCTIONS/ CBS TELEVISION / PARAMOUNT NETWORK TELEVISION PRODUCTIONS / PICTUREMAKER PRODUCTIONS.

CREATOR: GLENN GORDON CARON

TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHERO

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 22

DATE OF PREMIER: 24/09/1999 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 05/05/2000

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Michael Wisman JOHN GOODMAN, Michael Wiseman (at 26 year-old) ERIC CLOSE, Lisa MARGARET COLIN, Heather HEATHER MATARAZZO, Roger GERRIT GRAHAM, Theo DENNIS HAYSBERT.

1 - 1 THE OUT-OF-TOWNERS

1 - 2 ON THE TOWN

- 1 - 3 OVER EASY
- 1 - 4 ONE FOR THE MONEY
- 1 - 5 THE INSURANCE SALESMAN ALWAYS RINGS TWICE (aka AND LIKE A GOOD NEIGHBOR)
- 1 - 6 NOTHING TO FEAR, BUT NOTHING TO FEAR
- 1 - 7 A GIRL'S LIFE
- 1 - 8 PULP TURKEY
- 1 - 9 BY THE LIGHT OF THE MOON
- 1 - 10 I'VE GROWN ACCUSTOMED TO HIS FACE
- 1 - 11 FIRE AND ICE
- 1 - 12 DISCO INFERNO
- 1 - 13 I AM THE GREATEST
- 1 - 14 FILM AND ELEVEN
- 1 - 15 DEEP IN MY HEART IS A SONG
- 1 - 16 EVERYBODY WHO'S ANYBODY
- 1 - 17 BOY WONDER
- 1 - 18 LIZZARD'S TALE
- 1 - 19 THERE ARE NO WORDS
- 1 - 20 BUGMEISTER
- 1 - 21 BUGMESITER, PART BEE
- 1 - 22 THE EGGMAN COMETH

NOWHERE MAN

Photojournalist Tom Veil indeed has it all - a beautiful wife, Alyson, and a successful career, crowned by a prestigious exhibition of his award-winning photos. The couple head off to their favourite restaurant for a quiet celebration and in the time it takes Tom to take a leak, his whole life and identity are suddenly stripped away. He comes out of the men's room to find his wife gone, another couple sitting at their table and a maitre d' who doesn't recognise him. Worse follows. At home, his front door key won't work, his wife doesn't recognise him either and a strange man claiming to be her husband runs him off the property.

It's a conspiracy all right, and everyone's in on it - his mother, the cops, little girls on bikes, even his dog. Suddenly people are after him and he doesn't know why, except that it has something to do with a photo called Hidden Agenda that he took of an execution in a Central American jungle that's now missing from his studio. Forced to go on the run, Veil strives to find answers that might help him defeat 'them' and get his identity back. Who can he trust? Practically no-one . . .

'My name is Thomas Veil, or at least it was. I'm a photographer. I had it all: a wife - Alyson - friends, a career. And in one moment it was all taken away, all because of a single photograph. I have it. They want it - and they will do anything to get the negative. I'm keeping this diary as proof that these events are real. I know they are . . . they have to be.'

(Opening narration)

America's TV Guide called it the 1995 season's coolest cult hit - and it was. Rooted in the running man tradition of The Fugitive, and with more, much more, than a passing nod to The Prisoner, Nowhere Man is the best paranoia trip TV has seen in years.

Created for America's Hedgling Paramount network by Lawrence Hertzog, a writing veteran of such churn 'em out formula shows as Hart to Hart and Hardcastle and McCormick, Nowhere Man spins some wonderfully surreal and existential variations on the paranoia theme as, like Number 6 in The Prisoner, Tom Veil keeps trying to outwit the conspirators. There's even a version of The Village in the episode Paradise on Your Doorstep in which Veil is manoeuvred into a haven for other disenfranchised people who have all lost their identities at the hands of the enemy. And like Patrick McGoohan's hero, Veil refuses to join in, even with people who claim to be on his side. He's not going to be a number either, though in another episode, Heart of Darkness, in which he tags along with a group of right-wing survivalist recruits, he just happens to be sixth in line, and guess what he gets called?

Nowhere Man is a passionate defence of the individual in the face of overwhelming odds, and Tom Veil a dogged hero who clings tenaciously to his identity and the belief that he can, someday, win back his life.

On the Internet, fans of the show, dubbed Nowhere Maniacs, have delighted in scouring episodes for clues. Others have been frustrated at not being able to pick up any. Hertzog is unrepentant, calling Nowhere Man 'a show about being stymied, played with, manipulated and f over'. Sound familiar?

In star Bruce Greenwood, the series also has another bankable asset. Wearing a permanent frown of suspicion under his shaggy mane of light brown hair, Greenwood makes a highly personable hero. TV junkies may recall him as the manipulative Dr Seth Griffin in St. Elsewhere or, at a pinch, the sociopath Pierce Lawton on Knots Landing.

Unlike Richard Kimble in The Fugitive, Tom Veil didn't have to keep running for four years - the cancellation of the series meant that Nowhere Man needed to reach a conclusion in its first and only season.

Notable guest stars include Dean Stockwell (QUANTUM LEAP) and Megan Gallagher (MILLIENIUM). Most easily described as a cross between The Prisoner and The Fugitive, Nowhere Man is Thomas Viel a photographer who has had his life destroyed by an unknown conspiracy because o' photograph which he has taken. The series effectively creates terror since the events which happen Thomas are things which could happen to anyone.

Thomas had been leading a normal and successful life as a photographer. He was good enough at his profession to have a gallery exhibit made of his photos. After attending the opening of his gallery exhibit, Thomas and his wife Alison went out to eat. At the restaurant, Thomas returned from the room to find his wife gone, another couple at their table and the maitre'd' having no recollection of being seated there.

At first Thomas thought he was the victim of some elaborate practical joke. He changed his mind after discovering that all traces of his existence have been eliminated. His credit cards have been cancelled, his keys no longer work the doors they once did and when he does finally catch up with his wife, she claims she is married to another man and acts like she does not even know him. Thomas eventually finds himself in a sanatorium where one of the other inmates gives him clues to what is happening.

The doctor in charge of the hospital, Dr. Bellamy, claims that he is paranoid and asks Thomas to prove his claims. Dr. Bellamy turns out to be part of the conspiracy. I want the negatives to a photograph Thomas took entitled 'Hidden Agenda'. The photo is one of soldiers residents of a third world country being executed by the military. Thomas has no idea why the photo is important, but he realises that the fact they do not have the negatives is the only thing keeping him alive.

After escaping from the sanatorium, Thomas sets out to find out what is so important about the photograph and who exactly is behind the conspiracy which wrecked his life. Wandering around the Country taking odd jobs where he can, Thomas eventually is able to fill in a few of the pieces of his life.) conspiracy is well funded, it exists all over the country and has been around for many years he's not the only person whose life has been ruined by the conspiracy: he manages to meet a few others in his travels.

He also is told that the conspiracy is not some secret part of the government, but rather a group of wealthy individuals wishing to mould the country in their image. This information however came from a source from within the conspiracy so it may not be true. The conspiracy also seems to be keeping tabs on Thomas rather well and could do away with him whenever they want to. They do not since they do, not want to risk the negatives coming into the possession of the wrong person.

Nowhere Man could have easily become another clone of The Fugitive, in which each episode I have Thomas wandering into someone's life then helping them solve a problem before he moved. Thankfully this has not been the case almost every episode has something to do with the conspiracy. Thomas' quest to figure out what has happened to him. He also is allowed to make progress in his life finding out bits and pieces to the puzzle that will someday hopefully allow him to solve the puzzle, maybe even regain his life. Midway through Nowhere Man's first season, Thomas gains an ally in his fight against the conspiracy.

This ally comes from a disgruntled member of the organisation itself, who wishes to bring the downfall of the organisation. At first Thomas is uncertain whether to trust the man who gives Thomas a computer contradicting information which Thomas can use to infiltrate and disrupt the conspiracy's plans and perhaps get his life back. He later learns the man can be trusted when he meets him face to face and witnesses the conspiracy killing him for betraying them. He also learns along the way that many things are not as they seem and that the events leading up to his taking Hidden Agenda may not have been as he remembered as are many other things which he thinks he remembers.

The executive producer for the series was Lawrence Hertzog, the producer was Peter Dunne, supervising producer was Joel Surnow and the series was filmed on location in Portland, Oregon, USA. The series premiered on Sky One in the UK on the 3rd October 1995, however when the series hit trouble, with its US scheduling, the series was pulled from the British schedules, never to be seen again.

Emmy Award

Outstanding Individual Achievement in Main Title Theme Music - Nominated - "Nowhere Man" (1995) - Mark Snow (1996)

WR. Lawrence Hertzog, Joel Surnow, Erica Byrne, Jack and Mike Weinberger, Peter Dunne, David Ehrman, Art Monterastelli, Schuyler Kent and Jane Espenson.

DIR. Tobe Hopper, James Darren (perhaps TIME TUNNEL actor James Darren?), James Whitmore Jr., Tom Wright, Guy Magar, Steven Robman, Michael Levine, Ian Toynton, Tim Hunter, Reza Badiyi and Stephen Stafford.

EPISODES: 25 YEAR MADE: 1995 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

LAWRENCE HERTZOG PRODUCTIONS IN ASSOCIATION WITH TOUCHSTONE TELEVISION

CREATOR: LAWRENCE HERTZOG.

TYPE OF SHOW: MAN ON THE RUN

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 25

DATE OF PREMIER: 28/08/1995 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 20/05/1996

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Thomas Veil BRUCE GREENWOOD, Allison Veil MEGAN GALLAHGER.

RELATED SHOWS:

QUANTUM LEAP

MILLENNIUM

- 1 - 1 ABSOLUTE ZERO
- 1 - 2 TURNABOUT
- 1 - 3 THE INCREDIBLE DEREK
- 1 - 4 SOMETHING ABOUT HER
- 1 - 5 PARADISE ON YOUR DOORSTEP
- 1 - 6 THE SPIDER WEB
- 1 - 7 A ROUGH WHIMPER OF INSANITY
- 1 - 8 THE ALPHA SPIKE
- 1 - 9 YOU'RE REALLY GOT A HOLD ON ME
- 1 - 10 FATHER (aka VALIDATION)
- 1 - 11 AN ENEMY WITHIN
- 1 - 12 IT'S NOT SUCH A WONDERFUL LIFE
- 1 - 13 CONTACT(aka DEEP THROATH)
- 1 - 14 HEART OF DARKNESS
- 1 - 15 FOREVER JUNG (aka DOUBLES)
- 1 - 16 SHINE A LIGHT ON YOU (aka MASONS)
- 1 - 17 STAY TUNED
- 1 - 18 HIDDEN AGENDA
- 1 - 19 DOPPLEGANGER
- 1 - 20 THROUGH A LENS DARKLY (aka SHUTTERBUG)
- 1 - 21 DARK SIDE OF THE MOON,THE (aka THE MUGGING)
- 1 - 22 CALAWAY
- 1 - 23 ZERO MINUS TEN
- 1 - 24 MARATHON
- 1 - 25 GEMINI

OBJECT Z (inc. OBJECT Z RETURNS)

A mystery object hurtling through space on a collision course with good old Earth. In the chaos that follows, traditional enemies combine to save mankind from annihilation. That was the theme of a pair of children's serials of the mid-Sixties, Object Z and its sequel, the aptly named Object Z Returns. Central figures in the unfolding dramas were TV commentator/reporter Peter Barry, his assistant Diana Winters, a mysterious scientist, Professor Ramsay, and a supporting cast of world leaders and boffins.

The first serial was originally written by Christopher McMaster as an adult programme, but adapted to meet Rediffusion's need for a children's drama. Star Trevor Bannister is perhaps better known as Mr Lucas in the BBC sitcom, Are You Being Served? The series director and producer was Daphne Shadwell and the designer was Andrew Drummond. Both of these six-part dramas were seen on ITV back in 1965-66.

WR. Christopher McMaster.

DIR. Daphne Shadwell

EPISODES: 12 YEAR MADE: 1965 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 2

A REDIFFUSION NETWORK PRODUCTION

CREATOR: CHRISTOPHER MCMASTER

TYPE OF SHOW: MANKIND

FORMAT: SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 6, (2) 6.

DATE OF PREMIER: 19/10/1965 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 29/03/1966

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Peter Barry TERVOR BANNISTOR, Professor Ramsey RALPH NOSSEK, Diana Winters CELIA BANNERMAN (1), June Challis MARGARET NEALE, Robert Duncan DENYS PEEK, Brain Barclay BRANDON BRADY, Keeler ARTHUR WHITE, Ian Murry (Home Secretary) WILLIAM ABNEY, Sir John Chandos (Prime Minister) JULIAN SOMERS, Terry TONY GILPIN (2).

- 1 - 1 THE METEOR
- 1 - 2 THE WORLD IN FEAR
- 1 - 3 FLIGHT FROM DANGER
- 1 - 4 THE ALIENS
- 1 - 5 TOO LATE
- 1 - 6 THE SOLUTION
- 2 - 1 THE VOICE FROM SPACE
- 2 - 2 THE MACHINE
- 2 - 3 THE MONSTERS
- 2 - 4 THE MENACE FROM THE DEPTHS
- 2 - 5 THE BIG FREEZE
- 2 - 6 THE ELEVENTH HOUR

OBJECTIF : NUL

This Science Fiction French comedy was directed by Christine Bertholier, Jean-Louis Cap, Gilles Daude, Myriam Isker, Mathias Ledoux and Jean-Pierre Moscardo. The series was written by Bruno Carette, Alain Chabat, Dominique Farrugia and Chantal Lauby.

WR. Bruno Carette, Alain Chabat, Dominique Farrugia and Chantal Lauby.

DIR. Christine Bertholier, Jean-Louis Cap, Gilles Daude, Myriam Isker, Mathias Ledoux and Jean-Pierre Moscardo.

EPISODES: 42 YEAR MADE: 1987 COUNTRY: FRA SEASONS: 0

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: COMEDY

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 7 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: French

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1)

DATE OF PREMIER: 02/02/1987

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Capitaine Lamar ALAIN CHABAT, Zeitoun BRUNO CARETTE, Panty CHANTAL LAUBY, Syntaxeror ALEXANDRE POTTIER, Le Mercenaire BLATS.

- 1 - 1 L'ARRIVEE DE SYNTAX ERROR
- 1 - 2 LES TALENTS DE SYNTAX ERROR
- 1 - 3 L'ARRIVEE DU MERCENAIRE
- 1 - 4 L'AUTO-STOPPEUSE
- 1 - 5 STAR TREK 4 (COLLISION)
- 1 - 6 UNE NUIT A BORD DU LIBREATOR
- 1 - 7 LE MAITRE DU MONDE
- 1 - 8 ZEITOUN VEUT . . . PARLER
- 1 - 9 MOINS 40 DEGRES DANS LE VAISSEAU
- 1 - 10 L'ESPRIT (10) (UN ESPRIT QUI NOUS VEUT DU BIEN)
- 1 - 11 LE GRAND LECHANT MOU
- 1 - 12 LES PRESIDENTIELLES
- 1 - 13 LA SCOUMOUNE
- 1 - 14 PARTIE DE GOLF
- 1 - 15 LES SOUS-TITRES
- 1 - 16 LA QUATRIEME DIMENSION

-
- 1 - 17 LE PIRATE DE L-ESPACE
 - 1 - 18 LA SAISIE
 - 1 - 19 LE VOYAGE DANS LE TEMPS
 - 1 - 20 PANTY DEPRIME
 - 1 - 21 LA REFORME
 - 1 - 22 PANTY ET LA LANGOUSTE
 - 1 - 23 ROCK'N LIBERATOR
 - 1 - 24 LE REGIME
 - 1 - 25 LES DOSSIERS DE L'ESPACE
 - 1 - 26 LE PARFUM DE PANTY
 - 1 - 27 LA BOUM
 - 1 - 28 L'ANDROIDE FEMELLE
 - 1 - 29 LA GUERRE DES SALADES
 - 1 - 30 LE PRECHEUR DE L'ESPACE
 - 1 - 31 LES SIRENES
 - 1 - 32 NAPOLEON
 - 1 - 33 INSPECTEUR MERDICK
 - 1 - 34 DOCTEUR TOAST
 - 1 - 35 LE LIBERATOR FAIT SON CINEMA
 - 1 - 36 LE VOYAGE A MOULHOUSE
 - 1 - 37 MISSION IMPOSSIBLE
 - 1 - 38 RADIO SYNTAX
 - 1 - 39 LE PERMIS DE CONDUIRE
 - 1 - 40 LA MAFIA
 - 1 - 41 LA SUBVENTION
 - 1 - 42 EPILOGUE

OCEAN ODYSSEY

AKA: OCEAN GIRL

Ocean Odyssey is an Australian produced series centering around Jason and Brett Bates, the sons of a marine biologist, who befriends Neri, a young woman who communicates with Charlie, a humpback whale. Neri's late father had warned her about the dangers of making her special abilities public knowledge. Some of the tension and humour come from the boys' attempts to keep her secret. As the series progresses more and more people learn about Neri.

The series is set in the not to distant future. Much of the action occurs in and around ORCA (Oceanic Research Centre Australia), an undersea research station which is the home of several hundred scientists and their families. ORCA is located near Australia, within an hours ride by boat from Port Douglas, Far North, Queensland. The station is commanded by Commander Lucas, a somewhat narrow minded bureaucrat who does not particularly like the scientists nor the fact that there are children, including his daughter, on ORCA. Lucas is replaced in the second season by Commander Byrne.

As the series begins, Neri knows little of her origin as she is unable to recall her childhood. Her entire life as far as she can remember was spent on her island. She lived there with her father until he died when she was quite young. Physically she appears as a teenage human female. Setting her apart from regular girls are her unusual abilities. These include the ability to talk to whales, stay under water for an extended period of time and swim at great speeds. She also becomes weakened when she is out of the water for an extended period of time, however she regains her strength once immersed. The first seasons final episode reveals that Neri and DNA of a variety which has never been seen before. Once she learns about Neri, Dr. Bates takes an interest in her since she had been studying whales and the way in which they communicate.

During the second season of Ocean Odyssey, lots of Neri's background is revealed. We learn that she is an alien from another planet and that her spaceship crashed on Earth. A message found from her father reveals that she has a younger sister that may have survived the crash. A search discovered Neri's sister, Mera, who had led a troubled childhood in foster homes due to her alien abilities. Both the girls are hunted by Dr. Hellegren, the head of UBRI, a rival scientific organisation. Hellegren hopes that by studying them he will learn how to communicate with the whales.

The story was continued with the shows third season. It's been a year since Mera returned to her home, the 'Planet of Oceans' and Neri decided to stay on earth. When Dianne, Jason and Brett have returned to ORCA after their vacation, they find that UBRI has settled in on ORCA. The UBRI corporation has won the construction contract of the underwater settlement 'ORCA city.' They are planning to destroy a natural fish breeding ground to relocate and expand the construction site.

Dianne then immediately starts the environmental check at the construction site with Jason. Jason is accidentally trapped under the building material but luckily Charley finds him and Neri comes to his rescue. Dianne accuses UBRI of building the foundations on the breeding ground at the hearing and the members of tribunal accept Dianne's submission and instruct UBRI to stop. However UBRI secretly sets a sonic grenade on the breeding ground to kill all the fish. Luckily the plan is sabotaged by Neri and Hellegren, unaware that Neri is still around, tells Jason and Brett not to interfere with his plans again, or.....

The story continued for season four. When Jason dives very deep he suddenly sees a light and is hit by a shockwave, but he is not hurt. On the island they visit Neri in her new house, they built themselves. When they're there they are called by their mother she has a surprise for them, but she will reveal it tomorrow. Then Jason tells her of his experience. Neri also has a strange feeling when she swims on that spot.

At ORCA dr. Winston Seth also discovers a strange phenomenon on the ocean floor. When they decide to take a look at the phenomenon, their probe gets destroyed. Meanwhile Dianne has told the boys, that she might become the new ORCA commander. The boys are thrilled with the news. At the lab Cass and Winston discover that the strange phenomenon has a pure square form, it must be artificial. When the boys join them, the phenomenon turns out to be on the same place where Jason saw the light.

On the mainland we meet the new bad guys, they are two agents from an unidentified organisation, The two agents have to go to Egypt to research a signal from out of space that is send to Egypt. However the two agents Selby and Hauser don't like each other and fight all the time.

Then we meet more new people. They are at an archaeological site between the pyramids in Egypt. They are a woman who can swim very well and her boss who is unsatisfied with her behaviour, but he can't force her. Back at ORCA, Cass and Brett check out the temporarily empty commander's there they meet Jamie the son of the first officer (also the acting commander, a new Mick?). He thinks that his father will be the new commander.

Meanwhile Jason and Winston take the mini-finn (a small underwater vessel) to take a close look at the phenomenon. They meet Neri there, who swims further and triggers the shockwave and the light. The mini-finn is rendered helpless, but when Neri returns everything becomes normal again. She motions the men to follow her. When they do that, they see a pyramid on the ocean floor..

When Ocean Odyssey had been broadcast on the Disney Channel in the US the series was retitled Ocean Girl. The series in the UK has been shown first on BBC1 and BBC2 and many repeat screening on the satellite channel The Family Channel. The series has always maintained a strong cast particularly in its three leads Neri, Jason and Brett. Marzena Godecki plays the innocent Neri with great panache, it what is a very tricky role for a young actress. Jeffrey Walker also starred in another Australian kids favourite SF show MIRROR, MIRROR.

The main writer for the series was Jenny Sharp, with director Brendan Maher. The airdates for the first series in the UK are 2nd April- 25th June 1995 and the season was shown on the 11th June - 3rd September 1996, this was on BBC2. One of the most interesting things about this shows is the many SF guides that claim the show ended after it's second season, it has however made at least four seasons, with a very large cast.

An animated series entitled The New Adventures of Ocean Girl was realased for a 26 episode run in 2000.

WR. Peter Hepworth, Neil Luxmore, David Phillips, Michael Joshua, Alison Niselle, Ian Coughlan, Shane Brennan, Jenny Sharp, Judith Colquhoun, Kate Henderson, Helen McWhirter, Lois Booton.

DIR. Mark DeFriest, Peter MacDonald, Brendan Maher, Judith-John Story.

EPISODES: 78 YEAR MADE: 1994 COUNTRY: AUS SEASONS: 4

PRODUCED IN ASSOCIATION NETWORK TEN AUSTRALIA AND WESTBRIDGE PRODUCTIONS AND ATV-10

CREATOR: JONATHAN M. SHIFF

TYPE OF SHOW: UNDERWATER FORMAT: SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 13, (2) 13, (3) 26 (4) 26

DATE OF PREMIER: 03/10/1994 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Neri MARZENA GODECKI, Jason Bates DAVID HOF LIN, Brett Bates JEFFREY WALKER, Dr. Diane Bates KERRY ARMSTRONG (1,2), Winston ALEX PINDER, Vanessa JACALYN PRINCE, Damien GUY MALLABY, Lee ANDREA MCEWAN, Jodie BRYONY PRICE, Jake 'Froggy' Reilly JOEL DE CARTERET, Zoe Condellas CASSANDRA MAGRATH, Commander Lucas WILLIAM MCINNES, First Officer MIKI OIKAWA, Second Officer MELVIN J. CARROLL, Voice of H.E.L.E.N. NINA LANDIS, Jan HELEN JONES, Billy ELLIOT HAYES, Medical Officer STEPHEN HALL, Kal JEREMY ANGERSON, Dr. Hellegren NICHOLA BELL, Dr. Diane Bates LIZ BURCH (3), Lena Hellegren JOELENE CRNOGORAC, Mick ANTHONY 'TONY' HAYES, Mera/Jane Seaforth LAUREN HEWETT, Rocky SAM JOHNSON (2), Kimberly McGinnis CLAUDIA BUTTAZZONI (2), Captain Sam Philips TERRY SERIO (2), Commander Byrne PAMELA RABE (2), Lt. Borg CAITLIN MCDOUGALL, ORAC Second Officer CHRISTOPHER KIRBY (2)

RELATED SHOWS:

MIRROR, MIRROR

1 - 1

Jason first encounters Neri

1 - 2

Lost Brett lands on Neri's island.

1 - 3

Neri & Charlie rescues from net.

1 - 4

Neri warns of Earthquake.

1 - 5

Neri tells Jason about her past.

1 - 6

Resort developer wants Neri's island.

1 - 7

Chemical spill sickens Neri and Charlie.

1 - 8

Neri is sneaked onto Orca.

1 - 9

On expedition, Neri aids aborigine boy.

1 - 10

Neri rescues Dr. Bates.

1 - 11

Neri agrees to be studied.

1 - 12

Charlie captured by Ubri.

1 - 13

Neri and Charlie rescued from UBRI HQ.

2 - 1

Hellegren's helicopter crashes.

2 - 2

Neri's ship uncovered.

2 - 3

Message from Neri's father found.

2 - 4

Fisherman has information about Neri's sister.

2 - 5

Mera found to be in special school.

2 - 6

Mera escapes and meets Neri.

2 - 7

Fire at birthday party.

2 - 8

Hellegren sends spies to ORCA.

2 - 9

UBRI searches Neri's island.

2 - 10

Neri and Mera evade UBRI divers.

2 - 11

UBRI spies crash ORCA's computer.

2 - 12

Neri's people come to take her home.

2 - 13

Avoiding UBRI to reach the ship.

3 - 1

Dr. Bates called back from holiday.

3 - 2

Storm strands Cass on Neri's island.

3 - 3

Water pumped out of the ship.

3 - 4

Kal is revived.

3 - 5

Lena accompanies her father to ORCA.

3 - 6

Message from Kal's mother found.

3 - 7

Kal sneaks into ORCA.

3 - 8

1st piece of Zychroniam recovered.

3 - 9

Hellegren learned to have second piece.

3 - 10

Neri rescues Benny.

3 - 11

3rd piece recovered tests Neri's endurance.

3 - 12

Lena warns of her father setting a trap.

3 - 13

Cass recovers her memories on Neri's island.

3 - 14

UBRI raided to get 4th piece.

3 - 15

Winston's old girlfriend now a spy for UBRI.

3 - 16

5th piece found with blind girl.

3 - 17

Charlie stranded on beach.

3 - 18

Kal captured.

3 - 19

6th piece stolen by UBRI.

3 - 20

Kal persuaded to help UBRI.

3 - 21

Neri collapses in the desert.

3 - 22

Mera left on Earth to help Neri.

3 - 23

Chinese businessman found to have 8th piece.

3 - 24

8th piece recovered from UBRI ship.

3 - 25

quakes worsens, Zynchromium stolen.

3 - 26

Zynchromium recovered and order restored.

ODYSSEY 5

"We saw the Earth destroyed and in a heartbeat everything and everyone we knew was gone. There were five of us, the crew of the space shuttle Odyssey, and we were the only survivors. A mysterious being who called himself 'the Seeker,' rescued us and sent us back in time. And now we have five years to live over, five years to discover who or what destroyed the Earth, five years to stop it from happening again."

Genre fans will recognize Peter Weller from one of two roles. The one role I have in mind is his role as the lead in RoboCop, as Alex Murphy and RoboCop. You can see some references in Odyssey 5 to his history with that movie. The other role is probably the definitive cult movie in Buckaroo Banzai, where again he played the title character. I enjoy Peter Weller; he keeps coming back to science fiction with top-notch performances and an uncanny ability with timing. A trait many actors either have or they do not, you can't fake timing. My personal favorite of Peter Weller's sci-fi efforts is the vastly under-rated and overlooked gem in, Screamers. Don't forget Leviathan or the TV movie Dark Prince: The True Story of Dracula. Some of his non-genre efforts include Mighty Aphrodite, Shoot the Moon, Ivans xtc, and many more. Peter has been around acting for a long time, his experience and commanding presence will make an impact in a TV series like Odyssey 5. Maybe he will finally get the mainstream appreciation he has deserved for so long.

Beautiful and talented are rarely synonymous with an actress. When I think of actresses who fit that bill only a handful of names come to mind. Milla Jovovich, Michelle Rodriguez, Michelle Pfeifer, and I would include Tamara C. Thomas in that category. Her resume may be small, but impressive like some of the other stars in the show. Without a doubt this is her chance to make a mark for herself. Any good Troma fan, and you know who you are, will recognize Tamara from Tromeo and Juliet. One of the more unique movies from Troma Entertainment but it does remain entertaining. Tamara has also seen genre work in guest starring in Star Trek: Voyager. Then there are her more dramatic performances in the movie The Curve and the television series Cold Squad. Hopefully Tamara can rest easy in her home in Odyssey 5. I have not seen either of those two projects, but I hope to shortly. Tamara can play the rough and tough femme when she wants, but she can also play a comedic and gentle role as well and get away with it. This is probably why she was cast as Angela Perry because of the layers she could give the character. The sky is the limit and she has found a home in Odyssey 5 and with the fans of the show.

If you are going to talk about someone with charisma and a flair for acting, you should look no further than Sebastian Roche. He is a natural talent, and seems to have the instincts of an acting veteran. Whether he is standing in the background or spouting off techno-babble, he makes it believable in his approach and delivery of what he is trying to get across to us. Intentional or not, Sebastian is like another actor I enjoy, whom he shares his first name with, Sebastian Spence (First Wave). They both have an endearing quality to them that makes them exciting to watch whether they are talking or standing in the background. Some of Sebastian's past efforts in acting include The Last of the Mohicans, 15 Minutes, and the TV movie The Hunley to name a few. His notable genre effort before Odyssey 5 was in, the short-lived Fox series, Roar. Sebastian Roche is also an accomplished writer, if you get a chance to rent Loungers, take notice that he wrote it as well as acted in it. Now if we could get him to write and direct an episode of Odyssey 5.

You might be fooled to think this actor is a relative newcomer to acting, but his resume thus far is impressive. With no real genre effort other than a guest spot on Buffy: The Vampire Slayer, Christopher Gorham won the hearts of many people in two series on the WB. One show was known simply as, Popular, where he played the role of Harrison John. His other WB effort was as Trevor O' Donnell, in the now defunct show, Felicity. Christopher has the range and the potential to be the next Mel Gibson. Yes, you heard me right, I see the same qualities in a young Christopher Gorham that I saw in Mel Gibson when he first hit the scene with Mad Max. He is still young and but with his raw talent and energetic performances I see a bright future for him. He has what it takes to make it to the top, and we have missed the start but this is only the beginning.

I don't know too much about Leslie's history in acting but I can tell you what I see on TV every week. A very capable actress who works hard to bring an emotional character depth and a dark side and be something we could relate to all at the same time. You see her going down the wrong path doing what she thinks is right, we see her about ready to lose control on everything in her life. Yet, she remains calm, for the most part, and determined. There is more than just the writing to give a character that much depth. I give credit to Leslie to be able to pull off this kind of a role. This is no knock on Leslie, it is a compliment I rarely give, but she does her best acting with her eyes and body language. She doesn't have to say a thing to tell the story of her character and the journey of her. Some of her past acting jobs includes the recent Divine Secrets of the Ya-Ya Sisterhood, and the NBC television series Providence. This is her first genre outing, with Odyssey 5.

How was the crew of the Odyssey 5 sent back in time?

The key piece of the answer to this question is that their bodies were not sent back five years. It was their consciousness that was sent back to themselves five years before the destruction of the Earth. This is by way of seriously advanced technology. Exactly how this was done is unknown but it may play a part in the show as it progresses. If you have a theory just e-mail me and I will incorporate it into this f.a.q.

What year is the show set in?

This is another good question. The episode "The Choices We Make" actually told us with finality that the show is currently set in 2002, because the day the Earth was destroyed was August 07, 2007.

How did the space shuttle Odyssey survive the gravitational flux of the earth exploding?

Now that is an excellent question. Once you find out, you let me know. I will gladly accept theories on how or why they survived...

What is that show after Odyssey 5 about? And is it any good?

Ah yes, on Sci-Fi Fridays and Sundays on Showtime Beyond, that would be Jeremiah. Jeremiah, to be blunt, is my other favorite show on television right now. I watched it in its first run and it is an amazing show. The show is written and executive produced by J. Michael Straczynski (Babylon 5, Crusade). The premise is simple; in the not-so distant future, a virus devastates the planet killing everyone over the age of innocence leaving the children of the world to fend for themselves. The world goes to ruin, 15 years later these very children must decide whether to move forward or fall deeper into the abyssal nature of society. At the center of this cusp is Jeremiah. Someone who is searching for a mysterious place called Valhalla Sector, a place that holds the key to his father and the secrets he had. It is a quest of truth and the quest for humanity, a rarity for a show to do these days. Now Odyssey 5 and Jeremiah have that aura to it. You just can't miss how excellent these two shows are.

Produced by Alan Brennert consulting producer , Manny Coto executive producer , Jonathan Glassner executive producer , Jim Michaels producer , Adam J. Shully co-producer

Original music by Laura Karpman

Cinematography by Henry Chan (I)

Film Editing by Paul G. Day & Dave Goard

Casting by Stephanie Gorin

Production Design by Oleg M. Savytski

Art Direction by Kim Karon (episodes 13-20) & Craig Lathrop

Costume Design by Arthur Rowsell

Makeup Department - Paul R.J. Elliot key hair stylist

Second Unit Director or Assistant Director - Marcia Douglas second second assistant director , Greg Edmunds third assistant director , Dan Gosse trainee assistant director , Sara MacDonald second assistant director , David Manion first assistant director , Elizabeth Scherberger first assistant director , Sorcha Vasey second assistant director

Art Department - Lara Alexander construction coordinator , Greg DaPrato property master , Kim Karon assistant art director

Sound Department - Alek Bromke . Adr assistant recordist , Shannon Halwes . Music editor , Michael LaCroix . Sound mixer

Visual Effects by Robin Trickett . Visual effects supervisor & Wayne Trickett (II) . Visual effects supervisor

Other crew - Saverina Allevato . Script supervisor , Mike Burak . Grip , Lawrence Curtis . Production assistant , Rion Gonzales . Electrician , Chuck Kahn . Assistant editor , David Kellner . Gaffer , Michael Kohne . Key grip , Chris Little (I) . Best boy electric , Frank Polyak . Camera operator Uros Raickovic . Production assistant , Don Retzer . Transportation coordinator , Jane Rogers (II) . Extras casting , Mike Rybock . Grip

The series was cancelled before it's initial run of 20 episodes of complete, so officialy the last transmission data was the 13th September 2002, ending with episode 14, "Skin". However the final six episodes where finally aired from the 1st October 2004 to 15th October 2004.

WR. Alan Brennert, Manny Coto, Jonathan Glassner , Melinda M. Snodgrass , Lindsay Sturman , Edithe Swensen , Tommy Thompson , Tracy Tormé

DIR. David Carson, Milan Cheylov, Ken Girotti, Terry Ingram, George Mendeluk, Bryan Spicer, David Straiton, Peter Weller, Stephen Williams, Randall Zisk

EPISODES: 20 YEAR MADE: 2002 COUNTRY: CAN SEASONS: 1

COLUMBIA TRI-STAR INTERNATIONAL TELEVISION / MANNY COTO PRODUCTIONS

CREATOR: MANNY COTO

TYPE OF SHOW: ALIENS ON EARTH FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 0 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 20

DATE OF PREMIER: 21/06/2002 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 13/09/2002

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Chuck Taggart PETER WELLER, Kurt Mandel SEBASTIAN ROCHE, Neil Taggart CHRISTOPHER GORHAM, Sarah Forbes LESLIE SILVA, Angela Perry TAMARA CRAIG THOMAS, Marc Taggart KENNETH MITCHELL, Paige Taggart GINA CLAYTON, Holly Culverson LINDY BOOTH, Wade J. ADAM BROWN, Diaz NICHOLAS CARELLA, Waitress EDIE INKSETTER, JON LANGFORD, MAT LANGFORD, Jimbo Jones (uncredited) MARVIN LARA, Dr. Janice Kitaro JANE MCLEAN.

1 - 1 PREMIER PART 1

The crew of the Odyssey 5 space shuttle witness the explosion of Earth from an orbit far above. They are rescued by The Seeker and given the chance to save Earth. The Seeker sends them 5 years into the past to attempt to avert the destruction of the planet.

Wr Manny Coto

Dir David Carson

1 - 2 PREMIER PART 2

The crew attempts to go back to their lives of five years prior to the destruction of the Earth, while also trying to begin their investigation.

Wr Manny Coto

Dir David Carson

1 - 3 SHATTERER

Chuck and Kurt are looking for Professor Naran Chandra, while Angela and Sarah are investigating the "gene therapy" being conducted by Dr. Barantz. They find a woman who is willing to talk to them, and what she tells them leads them to find a specimen of living tissue that appears to have been manufactured in a laboratory.

Wr Manny Coto

Dir Randall Zisk

1 - 4 ASTRONAUT DREAMS

The Bright Sky project is brought forward and Chuck must attempt to stop the launch of the satellite, while Sarah and Angela try to change a horrible event that had happened in the past.

Wr Manny Coto

Dir David Straiton

1 - 5 TIME OUT OF MIND

Kurt tries once again to make himself a whole lot of money from his knowledge of coming events, while the rest of the team slowly start to lose their memory of the future.

Wr Manny Coto

Dir David Straiton

1 - 6 SYMBIOSIS

When a top prosthetics researcher is found dead, Neil receives an anonymous e-mail telling him that the man was murdered by the "Synthetics" whose existence the Odyssey 5 group has discovered, which it says are the physical manifestations of Dr. Chandra's "Sentients". It claims that they are now after the researcher's six-year-old niece Stevie, all because of a "cybiotic interface" he was working on which would allow computer technology to control organic systems. Visiting Stevie's teacher, they find out that she is deaf and received a cochlear implant, which her uncle had been tinkering with. Eventually, the team locates Stevie and finds out that her implant allows her brain to control a swarm of insects that have been fitted with cybiotic interface chips. But mysterious figures who may be Synthetics have relentlessly tracked Stevie to Kurt's place.

Wr Lindsay Sturman

Dir Randall Zisk

1 - 7 THE CHOICES WE MAKE

A mysterious being, who is not bound by time, notes that the Odyssey crew have jumped out of their proper time and comes to investigate them. It probes their minds and forces them to re-visit the personal choices they made in the most important moments of their past lives.

Wr Tim Foreman

Dir Peter Weller

1 - 8 RAPTURE

Neil's friends at school are taking a new drug called "Rapture", which appears to boost their intelligence and may even promote telepathy and telekinesis. Neil finds out that his friend Deckard got the formula for the drug from a web site, but in his attempt to get a sample for analysis he is forced to take the drug. Meanwhile, Taggart's new boss Cynthia Hodge suggests that he had something to do with sabotaging the last space mission, but appears to be happy that the mission failure has hastened the day when manned space flights will be replaced by totally robotic ones. A retired astronaut, Leyton Scott, tells Taggart that a group called "the Cadre" have been trying for the last 20 years to get rid of manned space flight. But then Leyton reveals that he is dying from "Moon Sickness", a strange disease that strikes only Apollo astronauts, which may have something to do with their having brought more than just rocks back with them from the Moon. Because of Angela's apparent mental breakdown on her last mission, she is scheduled for a psych review. Although the doctor, who appears to be another member of "the Cadre", is suspicious of her attempt to make him think she just suffered a simple case of post-traumatic stress, she is approved to resume spaceflights. Mendel takes a sample of Neil's blood and analyzes the drug, a completely new compound which may enhance ESP but whose molecular structure causes addiction after a single dose. He also finds out that it can trigger a massive cardiovascular failure. Mendel and Taggart rush to save Neil's friends, who are now lying comatose in a barn under the control of Deckard, who is using their brains to enhance his own mental power.

Wr Edithe Swensen

Dir Stephen Williams

1 - 9 L.D.U. - 7

Taggart, Mendel and Sarah visit a privately operated Maximum Security Prison hoping to find a clue to locating a powerful, dangerous Sentient. They ultimately find themselves trapped within a Synthetic and it's a race to the death.

Wr Tommy Thompson

Dir George Mendeluk

1 - 10 FLUX

Marc faces expulsion from the Astronaut Training program. Paul takes Sarah to court because of her apparently irrational obsession that their son will get cancer. Taggart suffers from the effects of a Sentient-designed virus.

Wr Edithe Swensen

Dir Ken Girotti

1 - 11 KITTEN

Neil's friendly emails with a mystery woman come back to haunt him when "she" turns out to be a Sentient who is growing increasingly obsessed with him and curious about Odyssey 5. "Kit-10" wants to know the secret of the Odyssey 5 mission -- but just how far will she go to get what she wants?

Wr Lindsay Sturman

Dir Milan Cheylov

1 - 12 DARK AT THE END OF THE TUNNEL

The residents of a small town and a select group of scientists (including Mendel) are brainwashed into believing "The Lord" has specially chosen them to construct a passageway designed to bring "Him" to Earth. Taggart and Neil must reach Mendel, before it's too late.

Wr Tracy Tormé

Dir Peter Weller

1 - 13 TROUBLE WITH HARRY

The O-5 team is approached by "Harry Mudd" -- a Sentient in a Synthetic body. He warns them of the imminent destruction of the world by an insane Sentient and reminds them about what's important in life.

Wr Alan Brennert

Dir Stephen Williams

1 - 14 SKIN

The Odyssey crew scramble to save the life of Angela's father, Senator Perry, when he's threatened by a terrifying new breed of Synthetic. Paige deals with her emotions after learning the truth about the Odyssey mission.

Wr Lindsay Sturman, Edythe Swensen

Dir Bryan Spicer

1 - 15 BEGOTTEN

With the still-grieving Chuck having taken off on a road trip, the rest of the crew have to deal with the synthetic that Kurt has created.

Wr Lindsay Sturman, Edythe Swensen

Dir Terry Ingram

1 - 16 VANISHING POINT

When Taggart wakes up in a hospital with Paige beside him, he begins to believe that the death of his wife may have been a dream. What he doesn't know is that it is all a ruse by Dr. Bertran, who is trying to stall his activities long enough to download his consciousness into the computer.

Wr Melinda M. Snodgrass

Dir David Winkler

1 - 17 FOLLOW THE LEADER

The team uncovers a Sentient plot to use elementary school students in the creation of a Doomsday weapon.

Wr Jonathan Glassner

Dir George Mendeluk

1 - 18 HALF-LIFE

Angela is haunted by the apparent ghost of a pilot who disappeared two years ago.

Wr Lindsay Sturman, Edythe Swensen

Dir Stephen Williams

1 - 19 RAGE

Chuck and the rest of Odyssey 5 remember a riot in a Houston suburb, and the date is approaching. People in the town are becoming angry, even to the point of killing loved ones - and afterward, they can't remember why. The rush is on to discover what's causing this rage, and how to avert the riot.

Wr Michael Cassult

Dir Ken Girotti

1 - 20 FOSSIL

During the surveillance of a suspected Synthetic front, Angela and Kurt engage in a firefight which leaves Kurt in the hospital and Angela abducted by the Synthetics. Following a tip from his old friend and Mentor, Leyton Scott, Chuck learns of a rock, brought back from the moon, that is the link between the Cadre and The Sentients.

Wr Jonathan Glassner, Manny Coto

Dir Peter Weller

ODYSSEY, THEAKA: SHY BOY,THE

The Odyssey is populated only by children. The whole down-world is ruled by a mysterious figure named Brad who resides from a tower. Jay's only memory from the real world is his antique telescope. which he has with him. The telescope had belonged to his father. It had been stolen by members of a tree house gang and Jay suffered s accident while attempting to recover the telescope. Jay also has a panicky feeling that he must somehow find his way back home. In the down-world Me befriends two other children.

Alpha and Flash. both whom are similar to friends of his in the real world Alpha is like his best friend Donna. a spunky rebel who walks on crutches, in the down-world she is no longer handicapped. Flash is the downside version Keith, who in the real world was a member of the tree house gang. With the aid of Flash and Alpha. Jay tries out to find Brad whom he believes has the knowledge to get him home. The trio have to avoid Brad's elite force who are after them for violating a number of Brad's somewhat silly rules.

Episodes switch back and forth between Jay's quest in the down-world and attempts to bring his body out of the coma in the real world. His mother is a single parent who is doing everything she can to wake him. Jay's father also seems to have some connection with down-world's mysterious leader, Brad. What affects Jay in the down-world do affect him in the real world.

After two seasons Jay does manage to come out of his coma and join the world of the living which discovers has changed quite a bit while he was unconscious. He also comes to realise that the down world really does exist and that somehow it is a world beyond consciousness which he is still able to visit.

The Odyssey's pilot episode which was made and first aired months before the series proper began, was originally called The Jellybean Odyssey. It received high critical praise when it was first read, and won the WorldFest Gold Award at the WorldFest-Houston International Film and Video Festival. The series has also won other awards including a Gemini Award for Best Youth Programme and an International Quality TV award.

WR. Paul Vitlos, Warren Easton, Hart Hanson, Charles Lazer, Brad Wright, Dennis Foon, Jim Makichuk, Gary Fisher, Ian Weir, Deborah Nathan, Leila Basen, Gregory Kennedy, Nancy Merritt Bell, James Tichenor.

DIR. Jorge Montesi, Brad Turner, Graeme Campbell, Bill Brayne, Don McBrearty, Rex Bromfield, Rene Bonniere, TW Peacock, Stefan Scaini, Steve DiMarco, Alan King, Stacey Stewart Curtis, Richard Leiterman, Alex Chapple, Alex Pappas, E. Jane Thompson.

EPISODES: 39 YEAR MADE: 1992 COUNTRY: CAN SEASONS: 3

CHILDREN BROADCAST CORPARTION

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: FANTASY

FORMAT: SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 13, (2) 13, (3) 13.

DATE OF PREMIER: 09/03/1992 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 26/09/1994

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Jay Ziegler ILLYA WOLOSHYN, Valarie Ziegler JANET HODGKINSON, Donna/Alpha ASHLEY RODGERS, Keith/Flash TONY SAMPSON, Sierra Jones / Medea ANDREA NEMETH, Ryan / Rachtet JAMES SHERRY

- 1 - 1 THE FALL
- 1 - 2 NO FAIR
- 1 - 3 OUT OF THE WOODS
- 1 - 4 BY THE BOOK
- 1 - 5 CHECKPOINT EAGLE
- 1 - 6 THE BELIEVERS
- 1 - 7 A PLACE CALLED NOWHERE
- 1 - 8 WANTED

-
- 1 - 9 GALILEO AND THE GYPSISES
- 1 - 10 IN THE DARK
- 1 - 11 THE BRAD EXCHANGE
- 1 - 12 WELCOME TO THE TOWER
- 1 - 13 THE ONE CALLED BRAD
- 2 - 1 LANDS END
- 2 - 2 TO THE LIGHTHOUSE
- 2 - 3 SOMEPLACE LIKE HOME
- 2 - 4 WHISPERS LIKE THUNDER
- 2 - 5 THE HALL OF DARKNESS
- 2 - 6 THE PROPHECY
- 2 - 7 THE GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH
- 2 - 8 BUT WHERE IS HERE?
- 2 - 9 THE BIG PICTURE
- 2 - 10 TICK TOCK
- 2 - 11 RUN FOR YOUR LIFE
- 2 - 12 WHO DO YOU BELIEVE?
- 2 - 13 YOU DECIDE
- 3 - 1 NO WAY OUT
- 3 - 2 DART TO THE HEART
- 3 - 3 LEARNING CURVE
- 3 - 4 NIGHT LIFE
- 3 - 5 CRY JUSTICE
- 3 - 6 KING FOR A DAY
- 3 - 7 THE CAULDRON
- 3 - 8 STYX AND STONES
- 3 - 9 TUG OF WAR
- 3 - 10 TANGLED WEB
- 3 - 11 NO HOLDS BARRED
- 3 - 12 THE PLAGUE
- 3 - 13 TIME BOMB

OFFICER 444

The story tells of an inventor who confides his secret formula for a new gas to a nurse (Gerber) whom he charges to contact his son, a New York cop whose badge number is 444 (Wilson). The villain is the Frog (Ferguson), a master of disguises. The action is mostly set in Feuille territory: sewers abounding with secret passageways, sliding panels and other hazards. The performance of the 52-year-old Wilson is not as energetic as that of most serial heroes and the action honours go mostly to his partner in the New York Police Department (Mower) as well as to Ferguson's masterly incarnation of the villainous Frog.

This is the last of the successful Wilson and Gerber serials, directed by John Ford's brother Francis, who also co-directed their first success THE MYSTERY SHIP (1917). Most of their serials had relied on some scientific gadget to provide the motivation for displays of physical action (chases, fights). However, this serial referred to a bacteriological device that could be used either for good or ill (by 1928, in Ransom, the potential for 'good' chemical devices was dropped and attention was concentrated on military uses).

Since THE POWER GOD (1925), Wilson had also taken some directorial responsibility, but that career was cut short by his death in 1930. In another serial released that year, The RADIO DETECTIVE (1926), Mower played the part of the legendary Craig Kennedy, the hero of the 36-part Elaine serials which began with The EXPLOITS OF ELAINE (1914). But although based on a story by Reeve, the scenarist of the Elaine pictures, the scientific excuse was so ludicrous ('evansite' invented by a scout master called Evans), the plot so ramshackle, with hordes of boy scouts aiding the great detective, and the acting so poor that the film is best forgotten.

WR.

DIR. Ben Wilson, Francis Ford.

EPISODES: 10 YEAR MADE: 1926 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

DAVID DISTRIBUTING CO.

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: CRIME

FORMAT: CINEMA SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 10

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

BEN WILSON, NEVA GERBER, AL FERGUNSON, PHIL FORD, AUGUST VOLLMER, Craig Kennedy JACK MOWER.

RELATED SHOWS:

EXPLOITS OF ELAINE, THE

POWER GOD, THE

OKTOBER

Teacher Jim Harper becomes the target of a ruthless hunt after his body is used for a sinister experiment, (ep 2) Jim Harper continues to believe that he is in hiding from a multi-national drugs company - but is he just suffering from a paranoid fantasy?. (ep 3) As Rochelle prepares her first volunteer for the next stage, Harper and Linda break into Dr. Frank's house - where they made a disturbing discovery.

As well as being written by Stephen Gallagher he also directed the three part series. The series' producer was Brain Eastman who also worked on the BBC SF show BUGS together with Gallagher as one of the writers. The series was based on the novel Oktober by Stephen Gallagher. Gallagher was also responsible for another SF show which was CHIMERA. The series was not a success, despite having a 9 P.M. prime time slot on ITV, the novel from which the film was based was firmly placed in the mid 1980s which is when this series should have been made, the fact that it was made in 1998, makes the show appear to rehash old ideas, it goes to prove that SF television moves quickly in the 1990s.

Jim Harper is teaching at an exclusive Swiss school for the kids of rich parents when he becomes infatuated with Rochelle Genoud, the sister of one of his pupils. In a desperate attempt to see her he manages to sneak into a conference run by Risinger-Genoud -the pharmaceutical firm she works for - but they are paranoid about security and enforce their privacy rather too heavily, killing Harper by accident.

Aware that they may have gone too far, they attempt to revive him with an experimental drug named Mentazone. Harper comes back to life, but the company are concerned enough about the drug's possible after-effects that they ship him back to England and ensure he is under almost continual supervision while he recuperates. Meanwhile, a Risinger-Genoud researcher in Chechnya is becoming concerned about Mentazone.

Its rather unusual properties were first discovered when it was given to a group of Chechnyan Pilots. They have all now fallen into comas and, as if that wasn't bad enough, they are all displaying shared dreams and shared characteristics. Prick one, and they all bleed. And, hundreds of miles away, Jim Harper is showing evidence of the same connection.

Harper becomes aware of the Risinger-Genoud web in which he is caught, and realises with horror that the company intend rushing through the testing process and releasing the drug to treat cases of mental illness. Both he and the RisingerGenoud researcher in Chechnya know that this would be A Bad Thing: not only would the chaotic desires and impulses of these disturbed patients pollute the shared unconscious of everyone else who has ever taken the drug, but at high doses that common mental landscape could spill over into people who have never taken the drug in their lives.

The question is: how can one man stand up against a multinational company with no scruples and a desire for a huge profit? For the first two of its three parts, Oktober is an assured and wellpaced drama. However, by the middle of episode three things start to slide. Much of what is set up is abandoned, to be replaced with a standard race against time. One expects Harper's visions of the coma-ridden Chechnyan soldiers to become important to the plot especially when one of their comrades, dead but still inside Harper's head, continually urges Harper to help them -- but that entire plot element is allowed to fizzle out.

Harper's feelings for Rochelle Genoud should have provided some dramatic leverage for the final scenes, in which Harper has to sacrifice one woman he loves for another, but somehow his obsession never comes across as convincing. Perhaps the worst fault is that the audience is never really made to understand the consequences of Risinger-Genoud's rushed research: we are told often enough about the potential shared vision of hell, but even when a psychotic murderer is given Mentazone in the final episode neither we, no Jim Harper, get to see what he sees.

It's possible to be too critical, especially of something that holds the interest as well as Oktober, but with a programme as enjoyable as this, one aches for it to achieve its full potential, while one can watch something like LEXX: THE DARK ZONE or THE NEW OUTER LIMITS with nothing more than slack-jawed bemusement. With the exception of one or two moments of indulgence such as the obtrusive and unnecessary intrusion of quotes from 6th Century dramatist Christopher Marlowe, Oktober is better than many programmes made by more experienced directors, and that at least means it should be praised.

However badly you have a crush on a beautiful woman, never crash a top-secret conference to be near her, especially if she is (a) in charge, and (b) a baddie. Doing so, as Jim Harper discovers, can be lethal. Jim is killed for his foolish passions, but is resurrected thanks to new drug Mentazone. Jim is the first human subject to be given this drug and not become comatose - and under its influence he finds that he shares a connection to all those who have experienced the drug, human and animal - even those who are now dead. If one bleeds, they all bleed - and, it soon becomes clear, they can use their access to the unconscious to affect other people. As a top experimental subject, Jim is pursued by operatives of the drug company Risinger-Genoud, who (as is often the case with bad guys) will stop at nothing in their pursuit of success.

Oktober is very heavily populated with bad guys - although happily for Jim many change allegiance when they discover the true nature of the experiments being per-formed. Jim is especially fortunate in this regard as, for a guy who knows people are out to get him, he initially displays a worrying propensity to trust whoever comes up with the most plausible tale at the time. However, Jim is played by the superb actor Stephen Tompkinson, who makes the character both believable and likeable, despite this frustrating gullibility.

The compassionless research-driven scientists are a Science Fiction cliché, although the dazed expression on the face of single-minded scientist Dr Bauer after her mass puncturing of human ear drums is one of the most notable scenes of episode two. Another cliché raises its head as the villain, in this case the beautiful but deadly Rochelle Genoud) employs a number of expert researchers but decides to dismiss all their findings as ridiculous - yet as a whole, the characterisation is strong enough to allow these things to be overlooked. The first two episodes suffer from less than gripping cliff-hangers - such as "oh no!" Jim's discovered something that we already know about, but both episodes are intriguing enough throughout to overcome this problem and inspire the audience to 'tune in next week' anyway.

Stephen Gallagher has done a masterful job of updating and adapting his novel - the threat is built upon and expanded here; the scary idea of psychopaths gaining access to the shared unconscious is an especially nice touch. Possibly the best new feature - and one of the best parts of the series - is the superb ending as Jim swaps the soul of his murdered love Linda for that of Rochelle, the woman responsible for his situation. The dawning realisation of what he's done, and what he's capable of doing, is haunting and horrifying. Portraying the unconscious - areas inside and outside the mind, the place where souls exist before and after life - is not an easy task. Occasionally the carousel of horror scenes teeter on the edge of laughability, but just avoid falling in.

Oktober is made by the team responsible for the action/Science-Fiction series BUGS. So is Oktober Science Fiction? Is it action? Or is it Horror, or Fantasy or a thriller? Well, actually it's all of them. It avoids categorisation, but it does boast a super story with a great deal fewer plot holes and a lot more believability than other recent genre mini-series; a good script, and great acting. So if it needs to be pigeon-holed at all, why not just file it under 'good drama'?

Its been touted as Britain's latest attempt to emulate the phenomenal success of THE X FILES, but Stephen Gallagher is confident that Oktober offers a completely new slant on some classic themes. "The thing that I think is its most attractive element," the writer-director says, "is the thing that made it most difficult to sell to television - which is the fact that Oktober doesn't quite resemble any-thing that's out there already. "Most people, certainly in the TV commissioning business, are looking for things that are repeats of old formulas or use elements of old formulas in new ways. And certainly there is a tradition that falls before Oktober: The X-Files lies in that tradition and QUATERMASS lies in that tradition, as does stuff like the old BBC2 series that I loved so much when I was a kid, OUT OF THE UNKNOWN. All of that has fed into what I've been trying to do with this.

"Basically, we're trying to offer something that you can't get anywhere else," he asserts. "If you've got that kind of appetite, then I hope you'll find that this is the kind of show that can satisfy it." Although ITV is understandably keen to liken Oktober to THE X FILES, the three-part SF/Paranormal thriller actually began life way back in 1988, some five years before Mulder and Scully ever even heard about The Truth. One of Stephen Gallagher's finest novels, Oktober follows the desperate plight of Jim Harper, a lovelorn teacher at a Swiss school who inadvertently falls foul of a dangerous experiment known as the Oktober Project. Injected with a top-secret enzyme, Jim finds himself on the run from a multinational pharmaceutical company and is plagued by a series of bizarre dreams which hold the key to exposing a terrible secret.

Oktober took its first step toward the small screen in 1996, when the BBC expressed an interest in developing Gallagher's novel into a weekly TV series. However, after waiting six months for the Corporation to officially put the project in development, Gallagher decided to look for another backer and Oktober was swiftly picked-up by Brian Eastman, the head of Carnival Films and Gallagher's boss on the Fantasy adventure series Bugs. With a production company in place and a script being written, all the project needed was a firm commitment from ITV. "We were in the process of kind of pushing ITV network centre to take this on," Gallagher recalls. "They had about seven projects and three slots to put them in, and there was this little dance going on. So Brian Eastman said to me, 'Maybe it would help if we attached a name to it. Have you got any ideas?' And I immediately said Steve Tompkinson. As far as I was concerned, there was never anybody else in the frame.

"I'd seen Steve in Drop the Dead Donkey and other stuff that he'd done, and I sort of felt that there was a streak of darkness in him that was really, really interesting, but wasn't being drawn on in the light comedy he was doing. I thought there was so much more to the guy, if only someone gave him the opportunity to bring it out. "So I put it forward, and Brian fixed up a lunch with Steven and his agent. The four of us got together round a table and it was really funny because he thought he was just up for it along with another bunch of actors, and maybe had to pitch for it. But we weren't offering it to anyone else - we just hoped he liked it. And fortunately for us, he did.

"From that moment on, everything just clicked together. Within two or three weeks, we had the thumbs up from ITV and a commission, and then three or four months later we were shooting it!" Casting Stephen Tompkinson as Jim Harper in Oktober represented a major coup for Gallagher and Eastman. Thanks to his roles in the satirical comedy series Drop the Dead Donkey, the whimsical drama Ballykissangel and the acclaimed movie Brassed Off, Tompkinson is widely regarded to be one of British television's hottest properties. Although Oktober is unlike anything he has appeared in before, the actor needed little persuasion to choose the mini-series as his follow-up to his three-year stint on Ballykissangel. "When I was sent the script, I knew that there hadn't been anything like this on British television for an awfully long time ", Tompkinson tells TV Zone. "It was a great character, there are elements of The 39 Steps or North By Northwest in it - all these extraordinary events happen to an ordinary person. How does one man deal with trying to bring down a multinational pharmaceutical company, with all the far-reaching consequences of their security people? So I was fascinated by it."

Before shooting, Tompkinson studied Gallagher's original novel to gain a greater insight into his character. "I see Jim Harper as a harmless, gentle character," he says. "But he suddenly finds himself in this extraordinary situation with people around him who are being murdered. And all because he fancied a woman - which is quite sad really!" The 32-year-old actor also read extensively about drug research, and was intrigued and disturbed by what he found. "The situation Harper finds himself in is possible - not necessarily a mind-altering drug, but I think it is certainly true that they can create drugs which they then have to find a disease for. The amount of money involved is phenomenal, and Harper becomes $50 billion on legs."

To bring Oktober to the screen, Gallagher felt that he had to make a number of changes to the novel's storyline - even going as far as to drastically rework the story's climax. However, the writer-director maintains that his adaptation remains true to the spirit of his original vision. "When I was adapting Oktober, I felt a lot more free to make changes to the novel than I would have done if I had been adapting someone else's novel," he reveals. "What I did was, I stripped it down to the original impulses, kept what imagery I felt I needed and built on it. And in some cases, I felt that I was able to improve on it. The book was published in 1988, we're 10 years on now and, to be honest, if I can't do a better job now than I could do in 1988, then I've learned nothing in the last 10 years!"

Oktober entered production on October 13th, 1997, and was filmed on location in England, France and Switzerland, during the course of seven weeks. "It was an extremely tightly-scheduled shoot," Gallagher notes. "We were shooting in three countries: we were down in Broadstairs in Kent for the coastal stuff, we were shooting in Geneva, we were shooting in the Alps, there was stuff on the streets, stuff on the trains... It was an extremely hectic and driving schedule. "I have to give a lot of credit to my first assistant director, Roger Simons. He's done something like 165 movies, and he was terrific because he was always over my shoulder telling me we had to get out of a location in two hours, otherwise we wouldn't be able to complete the day's schedule, and generally driving the crew, keeping everyone's spirits up and making sure that no-one fell behind. All credit to him for that - I wish I could take the credit for bringing it in on time, but it's all down to him."

The production was particularly hard on Stephen Tompkinson, who performed many of his own stunts. "I'd never done this level of stunts before," he admits. "I've done stage fighting at drama school, but there wasn't much cause for it in Ballykissangel! I did suffer a bit with bruises, but you expect that. "On one occasion, I ran into some rocks in the English Channel, but because the tide was coming in so quickly, I couldn't see them, which proved to be painful. For one stunt, I had to run down a corridor, jump on a springboard, run past one camera and land on my back on a concrete floor underneath the other camera. Luckily, we did it in one!"

DIR. Stephen Gallagher

EPISODES: 3 YEAR MADE: 1998 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 1

CARLTON (ITV)

CREATOR: STEPHEN GALLAGHER (Writer)

TYPE OF SHOW: MEDICAL

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 3

DATE OF PREMIER: 02/04/1998

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 16/04/1988

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Jim Harper STEPHEN TOMPKINSON, Rochelle LYDZIA ENGLERT, Linda MARIA LENNON, Viveros JAMES MCCARTHY, Daniel JAMES DUKE, Dr. Franks MICHAEL BERTENSHAW, Russian STEPHEN JENN, Bruno RICHARD LEAF, Dr. Bauer LISA JACOBS, Werner MICHAEL N. HARBOUR, Stephen JAMES KERR, Terry TIM POOLE, Kim HERMIONE GULLIFORD, Australian JAMIE ROBERTSON, Interpreter BORIS ISAROV, Gunther PETER ENGLAND, Billy BILLY MCCOLL, Dr. Brandon LYNDHAM GREGORY.

RELATED SHOWS:

BUGS

CHIMERA

OLD MEN AT THE ZOO, THE

As Britain nears a state of social and political collapse, the extent of the creeping crisis is encapsulated and symbolised by a scheme to evacuate the animals from London Zoo.

The script was by Troy Kennedy Martin from Angus Wilson's 1961 novel.

Produced by Jonathan Powell Producer, Original Music by Simon Rogers, Second Unit Director or Assistant Director - Andrew Rowley assistant director. Other crew - Betty Willingale script editor.

WR. Troy Kennedy Martin.

DIR. Stuart Burge

EPISODES: 5 YEAR MADE: 1983 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 1

A BBC PRODUCTION

CREATOR: ANGUS WILSON

TYPE OF SHOW: EARTH FUTURE

FORMAT: SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): 55 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 5

DATE OF PREMIER: 15/09/1983

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 13/10/1983

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Simon Carter STUART WILSON, Lord Godmanchester ROBERT MORLEY, Dr. Edwin Leacock MAURICE DENHAM, Sir Robert Falcon ROBERT URGUHART, Emile Englander MARIOUS GORING, Mr. Sanderson ANDREW CRUICKSHANK, Dr. Charles Langley-Beard JOHN PHILLIPS, Matthew Price RICHARD WORDSWORTH, Martha Carter TORIA FULLER, Diana Price SHELAGH FRASER, Harriet Leacock JAN HARVEY, Strawson BARRY STANTON, Mrs. Purrett PRISCILLA MORGAN, Maryon JACQUIE CASSIDY, Old Filson JOHN BARRARD, Mrs. Filson PEGGY ANN CLIFFORD, Harvey Wallbanger BRUCE BOA, Newscaster JILL MEAGER, Newscaster MADHAV SHARMA, Interviewer CHRISTOPHER OWEN, Kay DEIDRE LEE, Gatekeeper KILIAN MCKENNA, Merton TIN FAULKNER, Receptionist HELEN DUVALL, Doris PAMELA DALE, Violet Carter KIPPER ELLIS, Reggie Carter ALAN RENTON.

rest of cast listed alphabetically:

Albert Hancock ROBERT ARDEN, Taxi driver A.W. ARMOUR, Catherine Langley-Beard ANNETTE BADLAND, Reporter at White House SARAH BRACKETT, Dolly Grantallen FLEUR CHANDLER, Inspector Martin STEPHEN CHURCHETT, Johnstone DAVID COLE, Reporter GAYLE COLEMAN, Hinkley Barton RUFUS COLLINS, Dr. Wainwright NORMAN COMER, SPG man TIM CONDREN, Lord Oresby ROLAND CULVER, Dancer TITIAN DEAKIN, Commissionaire RIO FANNING, Hales JULIAN FELLOWES, Allan Langley-Beard JULIAN FIRTH, Dr. Erskine JAMES GRANT, Nurse EILEEN HELSBY, Mr. Lascelles PETER HOWELL, Sultan Neri AHMED KHALIL, Announcer GAIL MACFARLANE, Reporter LOUIS MAHONEY, Prentice BILL MCGUIRK, Captain at factory TIM MEATS, General RAPH NOSSEK, Dancer ALISON O'NEAL, Army captain JOHN OXLEY, French newsreader DANIEL ANDRE PAGEON, Welsh farmer DEWI PETERS, Sophie Englander ELLEN POLLOCK, Police Sergeant TONY ROHR, Steve Kyte MICHAEL SIBERRY, Captain Edwards MATTHEW SOLON, Dancer STEPHEN SPEED, Woman in nightie SHEILA VIVIAN, Mrs. Langley-Beard EILEEN WAY, Mrs. Leacock ANNA WING, Frontman at lecture GABRIEL WOLF.

- 1 - 1 A TALL STORY
- 1 - 2 GODMANCHESTER'S PLAN
- 1 - 3 EXODUS
- 1 - 4 ARMAGEDDON
- 1 - 5 THE YEAR OF THE YETI

OMEGA FACTOR, THE

The series centred around Tom Crane, a writer who found himself in the middle of bizarre experiences. As the series opened, Tom travelled to Edinburgh to interview Drexil for a book on the occult he was working on. Drexil was an occult practitioner whose experiments led to the death of a woman a few years previously. Drexil warned Tom not to pursue his investigations any further. Tom ignored the warning and ended up paying for this action with the accidental death of his wife, Julia.

Shortly after his wife's death, Tom was approached by Roy Martindale, head of Department 7, and offered a position with Department 7. Department 7 was a secret government-run team of parapsychology investigators based in Edinburgh. With his new assistant, Anne, Tom set out to investigate reports of paranormal phenomena and occasionally had confrontations with Drexil. With the Department's aid, he also learned that his brother Michael had psychic abilities.

Louise Jameson is more famous for playing Lella in the Tom Baker era of DOCTOR WHO. The Omega Factor was a supernatural thriller. TV has gone paranormal mad. It's impossible to turn on the box these days without finding yourself watching a drama or a documentary where someone is investigating weird stuff. Some old series have been given the dusting down like THE STRANGE REPORT, while American shows like Sightings are suddenly being seen as hot property.

The series was partly inspired by stories of the Soviet Union training spies with psychic ability, so it wasn't entirely a load of mumbo-jumbo as some critics suggested. In fact, the BBC even invited a lifelong believer in psychic ability, Professor Archie Roy of the University of Glasgow, to be an advisor on the programme. It was created and written by Jack Gerson and produced by George Gallaccio for BBC Scotland. But it wasn't as much a success as it might have been. It was shown just once in 1979, and although it had a peak-time slot on BBC1, it was shown in the less prestigious summer months.

The final episode left a few questions unanswered and suggested a second series was around the corner, but this turned out to be wishful thinking. The Omega Factor is fondly remembered by relatively few people, but has had a resurgence in recent years following the success of THE X FILES. The most obvious channel to re-show it would be UK Gold which has access to the BBC archive.

WR. Jack Gerson, Eric MacDonald, Nick McCarty, Sean Hignett, Anthony Read, Tom Wright.

DIR. Paddy Russell, Norman Stewart, Ken Grieve, Gerald Blake, Eric Davidson, Fiona Cumming, Peter Grimwade, Kenny McBain, George Gallaccio.

EPISODES: 10 YEAR MADE: 1979 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 1

A BBC PRODUCTION

CREATOR: JACK GERSON

TYPE OF SHOW: PARANORMAL

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 10

DATE OF PREMIER: 13/06/1979

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 15/10/1979

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Tom Crane JAMES HAZELDINE, Anne Reynolds LOUISE JAMESON, Roy Martindale JOHN CARLISE, Michael Crane NICHOLAS COPPIN, Andrew Scott-Erskine BROWN DERBY, Edward Drexil CYRIL LUCKHAM, Morag NATASHA GERSON.

RELATED SHOWS:

*DOCTOR WHO*1 - 1 THE UNDISCOVERED COUNTRY

Tom Crane goes to Edinburgh in search of an occult practitioner, only to find himself the centre of the devious schemes of others.

Wr Jack Gerson

Dir Paddy Russell

1 - 2 VISITATIONS

Tom becomes the guinea pig in an investigation which leads him, and the research team, to a house where they find more than they bargained for.

Wr Eric MacDonald

Dir Norman Stewart

1 - 3 NIGHT GAMES

A secret military exercise that ends in disaster, frightened villagers and his brother found wandering on a hillside sends Tom in search of an old enemy.

Wr Nick McCarty

Dir Ken Grieve

1 - 4 AFTER-IMAGE

Anne leaves Edinburgh and Tom sets out alone to find her; but there are several other interested parties behind him.

Wr Sean Hignett

Dir Gerald Blake

1 - 5 POWERS OF DARKNESS

A group of students and a ouija board involves Tom in a situation which has terrifying consequences.

Wr Gerald Blake

Dir Eric Davidson

1 - 6 CHILD'S PLAY

A boy is suspended from school for vandalism. When the boy shows he has abilities that could have destructive consequences, Martindale becomes interested. So does someone else.

Wr Tom Wright

Dir Fiona Cumming

1 - 7 ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE

The sudden death of two friends involves Tom with a botanical research unit on a lonely island.

Wr Eric MacDonald

Dir Norman Stewart

1 - 8 OUT OF BODY, OUT OF MIND

Michael (Nicholas Coppin) has been discharged from hospital but seems to be suffering from strange dreams. Tom confides his fears to Scott-Erskine (Brown Derby).

Wr Anthony Read

Dir Anthony Read

1 - 9 DOUBLE VISION

Tom begins to have doubts about Julia's (Joanna Tope) death. Is she still working for the Department or is someone out to get him?

Wr Sean Hignett

Dir Kenny McBain

1 - 10 ILLUSIONS

Doctor Karl Bruckner (John Gabriel) has been brought over from East Germany to work for the Department and finds himself the centre of a power struggle.

Wr Jack Gerson

Dir George Gallaccio

ON THE BEACH

AKA: U.S.S. CHARLESTON

Well, the world has finally managed to blow itself up. Only Australia has been spared from nuclear destruction and a gigantic wave of radiation is floating in on the breezes. Only 2 months are left. One American sub located in the Pacific has survived and is met with disdain by the Australians when it arrives. All of the calculations of Australia's most renowned scientist (Bryan Brown) says the country is at doomsday - get ready. However, one of his rivals say that is incorrect. He believes that a 1000 people can be relocated into the northern hemisphere, where his assumptions indicate the radiation levels may be lower. The American Captain (Armand Assante) is asked to take a mission to the north to determine which scientist is right (and along the way check out the devastation in Alaska & California - seemingly all bodies and vehicles were disintegrated). However, before the mission, all kinds of bland soap opera relationships are played out. Brown & his ex-fiancee (Rachel Ward) battle it out in a love-hate relationship. Meanwhile she also takes a liking to Assante, who is divided in his loyalties to his men and his love for his now-dead wife and children.

One can't help but compare this to the 1959 version and it stands up pretty well. At least there are Aussies portraying Aussies. Heck, there's even Aussies portraying Americans, some sort of indication of how advanced the Australian film industry has come since those far off days of the original.

I found this tv-movie more watchable than I first suspected it would be. Being Australian and made for tv I knew that there would be a very high romance factor to secure the female half of the viewing audience. And I was not disappointed in this presumption. Love interest was there in spades. True love in the form of the Holmes family, new love between Moira and Captain Towers the US sub commander, lost love between Moira and Professor Osborn (real-life married couple Rachel Ward and Brian Brown), and a more masculine love between Towers and his crew.

The expedition to Alaska to investigate the mysterious message was handled well, as was each aspect in general. From the breakdown of society, to the pathos of seeing the portrayal of the end of humanity. All assisted by clear camera-work, excellent sets, competent acting (in the case of Armand Assante as Towers bordering on the very good) and a competent presentation of the "message" of nuclear doom.

I note in some of the other comments here a technical question about nuclear warheads on the submarine. The most obvious goof I noticed in the movie was that there should have been no need for people to have resorted to horse and pedal power so soon. Australia being self-sufficient in crude oil and possessing refineries. This was probably not the case when Neville Shute wrote the novel in the '50's. That is just one of my own little observations.

All in all a very watchable made for tv movie, even tho it be one that put a downer on the rest of my evening.

Even writing the most basic mention of On the Beach's plot involves spoilers, so I've checked the spoiler radio button and will proceed to discuss the film with minimal reservation. I won't give away the ending, however.

On the Beach is based on the mid-20th century novel of the same name by Neville Shute, and offers a more elaborate and engrossing treatment of its subject than the original classic film (1959) starring Gregory Peck, Ava Gardner and Fred Astaire. This Showtime original is an hour longer than its predecessor, and will likely bore some of the more impatient members of its audience. Unlike most contemporary sci-fi, this is no action film, but a sombre, depressing, examination of the self-destruction of the human race through nuclear war.

Never over-the-top, alarmist, or politically biased, On the Beach simply presents the stark reality of its premise, and uses finely developed characters to give context, shape and meaning, to the experience. the cast is easily equal to its predecessor, with Armand Assante and Rachel Ward particularly illuminating their roles.

Assante plays an American nuclear submarine commander who has outrun the nuclear fall out and managed to surface near Australia, as that continent prepares to experience the first effects of the radiation now permeating earth's atmosphere. All around, people are preparing to die. The most sought after commodity is a do-it-yourself family suicide kit. Immediately enlisted by the Australian government to carry out a top-secret mission to investigate an IP signal coming from Anchorage Alaska, Assante is assigned an Australian military liaison (Grant Bowler) and a scientist (Bryan Brown) and asked to turn his boat around in search of humanity's last hope. In his few days on land before this fateful journey, Assante befriends his liaison's family, developing a special affinity for his sister-in-law, the playful Rachel Ward.

My plot summary takes us about 1/3rd of the way through the story, but sets up all the major elements of On the Beach.

Why does this film work so well? The cinematography is good, but not excellent. The direction is excellent and the cast is exceptionally good. But more than anything else, On the Beach makes its point because the script and story are deeply humanized by the complex and bold characterizations. The characters have interesting back-stories and deal with their harrowing predicament in very different ways. You not only feel as if you know these people, but you like them and sympathize with them - even the more despicable characters.

This is a great piece of classic science fiction, recommended to all, but those with a limited attention span should opt for the 1959 version instead.

I saw 'On the Beach' on tv about 2 years ago now and I still have nightmares inspired by it. Bryan Brown, Rachel Ward, Armand Assante and Jacqueline McKenzie are all credible actors in their own right and they all give fine performances. The film focuses around these people who come together in Australia after a world nuclear war through various predictable plot devices (see plot summary). The acting, direction and even the script don't really make an impact but it is the topic that hits home. I think the purpose of this remake is to remind the world of the horrible results of any nuclear war that could so easily take place. As an Australian, watching this is even more horrific perhaps because this is a rare movie where the world's end is focused outside the U.S.A for a change. Watch this horrific movie (really it is mini series) if you aren't scared by the "what might happen" scenario then frankly your head is in the sand.

Nightmares are very personal things. Probably because I was in the military at a time when nuclear war seemed more probable than it does now I occasionally had nightmares involving nuclear weapons - the end of all things I hold dear. Regardless of what that says about me, it is a problem that has not been resolved with the end of the Cold War.

I had read some negative reviews about Showtime's remake of the classic picture, so I wasn't sure it was worth watching. That was a mistake as large as the one that frames "On the Beach." This version far surpasses the original in presentation, depth of character, and, of course, effects.

Quite simply, "On the Beach" is the story of the crew of the last surviving American submarine, an Australian Naval officer, and that officer's wife and friends. A nuclear holocaust has created a cloud of radioactive dust that destroyed all life in the Northern hemisphere and is gradually making its way south. Worse, the Australian survivors have a good idea of when the radioactivity will arrive and kill them. When it does, humanity, and presumably most other life, will vanish from the planet. We may as well not have existed.

I've felt up until now that the 1959 classic with Gregory Peck and Ava Gardner was the most depressing film ever made. However, director Russell Mulcahy and an excellent cast including Armand Assante, Rachel Ward, and Grant Bowler make the 1959 version seem stilted and pale by comparison. This remake - perhaps reinterpretation is a better word - gives the characters a depth that now seems missing in the original film. Commander Towers displays an increasing disorientation as the film progresses. Moira has more to her character than that of a lush. And Lt. Holmes is clearly not happy about the time spent away from his wife who, in this version, better illuminates her increasing disconnection from the real world.

Still, I find one thing missing from both films. Dylan Thomas exhorted us not to go gently into that good night Yet Australians and Americans - at least those in Alaska - seem to have no trouble taking suicide pills (with injections for pets and children - seems like it should have been the other way around.) There is a great ethical issue in taking the pills and injections that is not explored in either version, and yet what deserves more ethical and moral debate than whether it is human, in the best sense of the term, to slip silently and uncomplainingly from life? Aside from the insanity of humanity eliminating all higher life on the planet, this lack of exploration of ethical issues is the point that most bothered me about "On the Beach."

I've not read the book so I can't comment on which picture is closer to it. I will say that I think the ending of the newer version seemed at odds with Towers' character - perhaps it was merely a fantasy of Moira while she was dying, or perhaps a critical scene was deleted for timing. I hope it was not just the tendency of modern film makers to sweeten the ending! The earlier movie is much more consistent with Dwight Power's character.

So. This is a movie well worth three hours of your life. Aside from occasional histrionics from Julian Osborne in both versions, it presents people going about their lives as best they can. You are left to decide the meaning behind it, as we always are as individuals. There are no simple answers here, and even the questions the movie raises aren't simple.

The movie will leave you depressed. That shows you're thinking. Perhaps there's no solution to the conundrum of stellar forces, chemicals, and biologics available as weapons. Some serious thinkers have postulated that the reason we don't receive any radio signals from others in the galaxy is that civilizations reach a certain level, and then, when they have learned to unleash powers far above what evolution trained them to comprehend, destroy themselves.

It's a serious thought and a serious movie. I recommend it highly. A solid 9+ from me.

One can't help but compare this to the 1959 version and it stands up pretty well. At least there are Aussies portraying Aussies. Heck, there's even Aussies portraying Americans, some sort of indication of how advanced the Australian film industry has come since those far off days of the original.

I found this tv-movie more watchable than I first suspected it would be. Being Australian and made for tv I knew that there would be a very high romance factor to secure the female half of the viewing audience. And I was not disappointed in this presumption. Love interest was there in spades. True love in the form of the Holmes family, new love between Moira and Captain Towers the US sub commander, lost love between Moira and Professor Osborn (real-life married couple Rachel Ward and Brian Brown), and a more masculine love between Towers and his crew.

The expedition to Alaska to investigate the mysterious message was handled well, as was each aspect in general. From the breakdown of society, to the pathos of seeing the portrayal of the end of humanity. All assisted by clear camera-work, excellent sets, competent acting (in the case of Armand Assante as Towers bordering on the very good) and a competent presentation of the "message" of nuclear doom.

I note in some of the other comments here a technical question about nuclear warheads on the submarine. The most obvious goof I noticed in the movie was that there should have been no need for people to have resorted to horse and pedal power so soon. Australia being self-sufficient in crude oil and possessing refineries. This was probably not the case when Neville Shute wrote the novel in the '50's. That is just one of my own little observations.

All in all a very watchable made for tv movie, even tho it be one that put a downer on the rest of my evening.

What would I do when I was confronted with my certain death and the end of mankind? That question was getting more and more to me when I watched On The Beach. Very confronting and on the eve of a war in Iraq, not at all unthinkable.

The plot is simple: War has broke out (in this case between the US and China, but it could be Iraq or North-Korea too...) and the US strikes with nuclear weapons. Australia gets spared initially, but its inhabitants face certain death as clouds of radio active fall-out nears. Within two months, no one human will be alive. Unless... There is a chance that some people close to the north pole survived. An American nuclear submarine that survived the war is boarded by an Aussie liaison officer and a cynical scientist, that used to date the sister-in-law of the officer, to search for possible survivors.

Not much action, but for those who like to think while watching a movie, this film will stick to you. There are story lines that resemble soap opera's. That might be true on the surface, but it is completely different when you keep in mind that they all are going to die. You feel the difficulties in the way the characters choose to die.

The movie is played well, directed well and has great photography. The director uses several filming techniques that are rarely used so that the viewer gets time to think about the situation and feel the dilemma of the character.

Unless you cannot bear to be confronted with your own mortality, this is a must-see.

I found this movie depressing as hell. But I also found it haunting. I thought the acting and direction were really superb. And, by the way, I saw the original with Gregory Peck and Ava Gardner. If anyone thinks a remake can't approach the original in style and quality, you will change your mind when you see THIS remake. The other thought that you will mull over in your mind, as with the original, is how human beings could be so monumentally stupid as to allow this to happen. I came away from this movie with the same sensation I had after I saw the movie The Day After. Other than a few references to the nuclear war that got the cast of characters into this dilemma, the movie did not dwell on nuclear war--only the aftermath. The aftermath of such folly is what the movie DID dwell on and how a species, namely homo sapiens, become extinct. What stands out in this movie is HOW they die. Each character or couple ending their lives in their own way and on their own terms. This movie remake is a must see...

Even writing the most basic mention of On the Beach's plot involves spoilers, so I've checked the spoiler radio button and will proceed to discuss the film with minimal reservation. I won't give away the ending, however.

On the Beach is based on the mid-20th century novel of the same name by Neville Shute, and offers a more elaborate and engrossing treatment of its subject than the original classic film (1959) starring Gregory Peck, Ava Gardner and Fred Astaire. This Showtime original is an hour longer than its predecessor, and will likely bore some of the more impatient members of its audience. Unlike most contemporary sci-fi, this is no action film, but a sombre, depressing, examination of the self-destruction of the human race through nuclear war.

Never over-the-top, alarmist, or politically biased, On the Beach simply presents the stark reality of its premise, and uses finely developed characters to give context, shape and meaning, to the experience. The cast is easily equal to its predecessor, with Armand Assante and Rachel Ward particularly illuminating their roles.

Assante plays an American nuclear submarine commander who has outrun the nuclear fall out and managed to surface near Australia, as that continent prepares to experience the first effects of the radiation now permeating earth's atmosphere. All around, people are preparing to die. The most sought after commodity is a do-it-yourself family suicide kit. Immediately enlisted by the Australian government to carry out a top-secret mission to investigate an IP signal coming from Anchorage Alaska, Assante is assigned an Australian military liaison (Grant Bowler) and a scientist (Bryan Brown) and asked to turn his boat around in search of humanity's last hope. In his few days on land before this fateful journey, Assante befriends his liaison's family, developing a special affinity for his sister-in-law, the playful Rachel Ward.

My plot summary takes us about 1/3rd of the way through the story, but sets up all the major elements of On the Beach.

Why does this film work so well? The cinematography is good, but not excellent. The direction is excellent and the cast is exceptionally good. But more than anything else, On the Beach makes its point because the script and story are deeply humanized by the complex and bold characterizations. The characters have interesting back-stories and deal with their harrowing predicament in very different ways. You not only feel as if you know these people, but you like them and sympathize with them - even the more despicable characters.

This is a great piece of classic science fiction, recommended to all, but those with a limited attention span should opt for the 1959 version instead.

A little on the long side, but the impact builds to a heartbreaking finale. Rachel Ward is spectacular as the boozy spurned woman played by Ava Gardner in the original 1959 film. This film has more emotional depth and the characters are more believably human than in that classic anti-nuclear film. However, without the Cold War raging the premise seems more imaginary than it did then, when nuclear war was an all too plausible scenario. But that puts the dramatic focus on the human story rather than the propaganda. It made me choke up a few times (but I am a softie about these things).

Remakes CAN be better than the original, even in this genre. I'm reminded of "Invasion of the Body Snatchers" done in 1956 and again in 1978. Both versions are great and I feel that way about "On the Beach". The original 1959 film has been an alltime favourite of mine, but the remake exceeds the original.

I had my doubts it could be done better but it did.

The remake's characters were more believable. The trip to Alaska was a great addition and the solar powered laptop with its corrupted video clip message brought the whole plot to the present in a very convincing manner

Brian Brown and Rachel Ward were excellent. I only disliked the actor playing the submarine commander. He was so wooden and unbelievable.

The scenery of the Victorian coast was spectacular.

I thoroughly enjoyed this remake.

I noted that many comments say that politicians should view this film. I feel this attitude has led to the plausibility of the film. ALL PEOPLE should see this film, so they will insist on BETTER POLITICIANS.

Don't be afraid to support Ralph Nader next time.

I came to this movie accidentally. I never read the book, nor did I know that there was an earlier version of it.

I was temporarily working far away from home, when late one evening I zapped through my English TV channels and I saw something about a submarine. As I enjoyed the hunt for "Red October" and "Crimson Tide" a lot, and submarines are always of interest, I took a closer look - and found that what I saw was kind of boring. Too much relationship-blather, too much "feelings" than I wanted to see at that time. (I am not that type of person who only watches Action-movies all the time, but what I saw really bored me at that time.)

As the other channels did not offer too favourable alternatives, I had a look from time to time into that "submarine-movie", and I wondered about the combination of this feelings-and-relationship-stuff with a submarine ??! Every time I stayed a little bit longer and I learned more about the background and the plot, with the nuclear disaster. However - part 1 ended, and, at that time, the movie was of enough interest that I looked out for part 2 in the TV magazine.

I still had not too many details on the content of the movie when finally part 2 was on TV. I watched it from the beginning, and although there were some parts which really did not interest me too much (maybe because I never saw the complete development of the characters), I could not resist to watch it to the end...

But what kind of end is this? An American movie without a happy ending? Mankind all dead? This was too realistic, and it was surprisingly detailed. Where in this famous "1984" movie they had to change the end for some audience, this movie ending was the direct opposite of it, and I was not prepared for it in some way.

This was not the first time I was confronted with the nuclear theme and thinking about it, but I was unprepared for this direct, extreme and final ending that the movie had a kind of impact on me for almost a week. (And normally I am really not the type who is affected by movies that much!)

While writing this, the movie is repeated on TV and I see once again people drinking final drinks or racing with Ferraris into death. And once again, I have this terrible feeling that all of this is too realistic.

Some people may be able to write about this movie only with regard to the performance of the actors, comparing with the book and the old version, or complaining about technical details. They may be right, but for me personally, this seems to be a kind of irrelevant compared to the content and the story of the movie. I consider that a bad movie could not have such an impact on the viewer, and I was glad to read that I am not the only one with this kind of experience.

I agree with most other comments, that as many people as possible should have a better understanding of the effects of nuclear warfare, and if this movie can be effective to increase this understanding, it is a good movie. Maybe people should watch it like me, not knowing too much about the ending and not taking too much care about single characters. Movies like this you should not just watch, but you must also think about.

Before switching now back to Cartoon Network, I am sending this little comment to IMDB and I start to wonder if I could mention this movie on my website...

It seems that a review of this teleplay is inevitably going to take the form of a comparison with the 1959 film of which it's a remake!

So let me start out by saying: I don't agree with some of the reviewers at this site, who say it's a simple case of the remake being superior to the original, period. Both versions have their high points and both versions misadapt this or that detail from Nevil Shute's novel. If you have the time, the two versions are best seen in succession. And by all means read the novel.

The most glaring fault of the 1959 version is its violation of the character of Commander Towers, especially on the occasion of his fishing trip with Moira, the lady he has been companionating with during his Australian mission. Novelist Shute's submarine captain remains faithful to his wife, even though she's obviously dead along with everybody else in the northern hemisphere, and he registers himself and Moira in separate rooms at the fishing lodge. Why does he feel this way? Because he chooses to believe his wife is still alive, along with his family, in their cozy Connecticut home which is in reality an uninhabitable wilderness of radioactive crud. Moira, a somewhat vulnerable woman in need of affection, is somewhat hurt, but she respects Towers' feelings. And thanks to Shute's way of telling the story, we know that without his irrational belief that he's "going home when all this is over", the commander would not be such a source of strength to his crew and to the Australians he's lending his services to. Neurotic as his belief may seem, it's sensible because it works. And he's not pretending, he believes it—even when he finally takes his sub out to sink her with all hands, he brings along the presents he bought for his family in Connecticut. And he's sure as anything isn't going to cheat on his wife.

But the director of the 1959 version, Stanley Kramer, stupidly insisted that the film must "have some sex" and that no viewer would find Towers' restraint believable. Consequently, the film makes it clear that Towers and Moira do consummate their relationship. Both Gregory Peck and Ava Gardner argued with Kramer, and told him how wrong he was, but to no avail. Consequently, novelist Shute hated the film, and we too should hate this particular violation of Shute's concept.

The merit of the 2000 version is that it goes much more deeply into the characters and their motivations. It also updates the story, and I think Shute would approve of that, because the danger of nuclear Armageddon is actually much greater nowadays than it was in 1959, due to the increasing proliferation of these weapons, the instability of the world situation, and the irrationally warlike nature of the present U.S. leadership. The updating of the story helps to underscore the fact that the nuclear danger has increased.

But the more recent TV version also contains badness, of which the most glaring example is the change in the ending. There is after all a reason why Shute's story must end with Moira standing at the headland, watching the submarine disappear into the mists for the last time, unable to share her last moments with her companion: "This is the way the world ends." I can't imagine why a conclusion so poignant - and in terms of the logic of the story, so inevitable - was replaced by a silly portrayal of a fantasy of Moira's, in which Towers fails to do his duty and deserts his ship and crew to return to her. Were the makers of this version afraid that using the real ending would make people think it too derivative of the 1959 film? I can't imagine.

Trivia:

Catherine Sunderland who only has a bit part in this mini-series as "Nurse" was actually the Pink Power Ranger in THE MIGHTY MORPHIN POWER RANGERS.. the second pink power ranger that is!

The Los Angeles class submarine in this movie uses a "caterpillar" (silent) drive as was used by the Soviet submarine Red October in The Hunt for Red October (1990). This technology is still only theoretical as of August 2004.

Factual errors: Dwight Towers holds the rank of Commander, but is wearing the insignia of a Captain.

Continuity: When the Sub crew first arrive in Melbourne there's a building that has a hole in it and is burning inside, but later on in the movie at the train station you can see the same building in the background without a scratch on it.

Continuity: When Moira is driving the Ferrari, the top is seen on and off in alternating scenes.

Factual errors: The U.S.S. Charleston is supposed to be a modified Los Angeles class with a caterpillar drive which uses magnetic coils to accelerate water down a tube resulting in a jet-like method of propulsion with no moving parts. Yet when the submarine is headed back north on it's mission an underwater stern shot shows a normal multi-blade prop.

Plot holes: The "suicide pack" found in the anchorage TV station looks exactly like the ones being distributed in Australia when the sub left, right down to the package color and contents.

Produced by Greg Coote . executive producer , John Edwards . producer , Jeffrey M. Hayes . executive producer , Carol Hughes . line producer
Peter Strauss . executive producer , Errol Sullivan . executive producer , Errol Sullivan . producer

Original Music by Christopher Gordon.

Cinematography by Martin McGrath.

Film Editing by Mark Perry.

Casting by Ann Fay & Maura Fay.

Production Design by Roger Ford.

Set Decoration by Kerrie Brown.

Costume Design by Anna Borghesi.

Makeup Department - Nick Dorning . prosthetic makeup artist , Liz Harper . hair stylist , Margaret Keggs . hair stylist , Margaret Keggs . makeup artist , Deborah Lester . hair stylist (as Deb Lester) , Brad Smith . hair styles supervisor , Brad Smith . makeup supervisor , Zeljka Stanin . hair stylist , Dallas Stephens . hair stylist , Dallas Stephens . makeup artist.

Production Management - Warwick Fry . unit manager: second unit , Kevin McDonald . unit manager , Nino Negrin . assistant unit manager , Chris Page . production manager , Peter Powell . post-production manager.

Second Unit Director or Assistant Director - Robert Brown . assistant director: second unit , Harriet Devlin . fourth assistant director , Liz Edwards . second assistant director , Joclyn McCabon . third assistant director , Joclyn McCahon . third assistant director , John Powditch . first assistant director.

Art Department - Scott Bird . supervising art director , Phil Chambers . art director: submarine , Monica Cogan . additional buyer , Monica Cogan . additional set dresser , Beth Courtney . design assistant , Elaine Kusmishko . assistant set decorator , Adam Liddell . props assistant , Marian Long . buyer , Marian Long . set dresser , Ralph Moser . design assistant: submarine , Brendan Mullen . stand-by carpenter , Charles O'Brien . art department runner , Nick Power . additional buyer , Nick Power . additional set dresser , Sally Shepherd . set designer: submarine , Lucy Sparke . buyer , Lucy Sparke . set dresser , Walter Sperl . construction manager , Samantha Ward . props assistant: submarine , Ruth Winick . assistant art director.

Sound Department - Brent Burge . supervising sound effects editor , Christo Curtis . music recordist , Gerry Duffy . sound post-production , Dino Giacomini . sound effects editor , Peter Graham . adr recordist , James Harvey . dialogue editor , Ben Jacob . foley recordist , Simon Leadley . music editor , Simon Leadley . music mixer , Gerry Long . foley artist , Ian MacWilliams . adr editor , Rory Martin . sound effects editor , John McKerrow . sound recordist , Gavin Myers . dialogue editor , Julie Pearce . adr recordist , Mark Perry . supervising sound effects editor , Julie Piesce . adr recordist , Scott Ryan . assistant engineer , Robert Sullivan . sound mixer , Jenny Sutcliffe . boom operator , Nigel Christensen . sound effects editor.

Special Effects by Nick Arnold . special effects assistant , Gordon Barber . special effects assistant , Rob Collin . special effects assistant , Jeff Little . special effects coordinator , Andrew McAllister . special effects assistant , Tim O'Brien . special effects technician , Peter Stubbs . special effects supervisor , Kevin Turner . special effects technician.

Visual Effects by Charlie Armstrong . compositor , Aaron Barclay . compositor , Marcus Bolton . compositor , Ian Brown . 3D animator , Robin Cave . compositor , Lindsay Fleay . 3D animator , Grant Freckelton . visual effects assistant designer , Maryanne Lauric . compositor , Kirsty Millar . lead compositor , Tony O'Loughlan . motion control assistant , Melanie Ritchie . visual effects producer , Alex Thomas . compositor , Simon Whitley . visual effects designer , Leoni Willis . compositor , Ben O'Brien . Flame artist.

Stunts - Russell Allan . stunts , Brett Anderson . stunts , Lance Anderson . stunts , Szumai Anderson . stunts , John Baird . stunts , Teresa Blake . stunts , Amanda Buchanan . stunts , Adrian Chow . stunts , Zev Eleftheriou . stunt coordinator , Stuart Fraser . stunts , Tiny Good . stunt rigging , Graham Jahne . stunts , Chris Kemp . stunts , Anthony Mays . stunts , Deirdre Naughton . stunts , Warwick Sadler . stunts , Davin Taylor . stunts , Rick Tonna . stunts , Mark Wickham . stunts , Chris Wilson . stunts.

Other crew - Peter Anderson . financial controller , Trish Ashenden . accounting assistant , Marco Assante . assistant: Armand Assante , John Baird . wrangler , László Baranyai . director of photography: second unit , Tony Bartuccio . choreographer , Laura Bishop . music preparation , Nancy Black . dialect coach , Francesca Bosch . focus puller: second unit , Michael Boyd . scoring , Maurice Burns . location manager , Andrew Campbell . driver

Nicholas Cervonaro . scoring , Scott Copeland . electrician , David Cross . key grip , Leah Curtis . assistant to composer , Barbara Datson . nurse

Shane Dettman . driver , Chris Dewhurst . generator operator , John Eacott . helicopter pilot , Jeanette Fisher . caterer , Kelly Foreman . stand-by costumer , John Fox . armorer , Larry Garrison . unit publicist , Lawrence Garrison . publicist , Christopher Gordon . conductor , Christopher Gordon . orchestrator , Melanie Hall . extras casting , Mark Hanneysee . assistant grip , Coralie Hartl . orchestra contractor , Phillip Hartl . orchestra leader

Adam Howden . clapper loader , Dwaine Hyde . telecine colorist , Sarah Jameson . costume assistant , Matthew Jones . assistant to composer ,

James Kalisch . video split operator , Trish Keating . focus puller , Paul Kennedy . production runner ,

Kerrie Kervin . driver , Peter King . on-line editor
 Phil Knowles . helicopter pilot , Phil Lament . on-line editor , Liane Lee . post-production accountant , Caroline Lewis . production runner , Peter MacDonnell . grip , Michael Madigan . assistant location manager , Steve Mahoney . boat coordinator , Steve Mahoney . vehicle assistant , Brianna Mann . production secretary , Peter Mapleson . music preparation , Sid McDonald . driver , Don McLennan . driver , Rob McLeod . vehicle coordinator , Ian McMillan . additional photographer , Ian McMillan . steadicam operator , Reg Metcalf . helicopter coordinator , Victoria Mielewska . dialect coach , Katie Milwright . clapper loader: second unit , John Moncrieff . traffic coordinator , Mats Nilsson . musical director: Sydney Philharmonica Choir , Brendan O'Grady . driver , Michael O'Sullivan . production runner , Howard Parker . production executive , David Parkinson . gaffer , Karinda Parkinson .
 continuity , Chris Peters . safety officer , Oliver Petrovic . grip: second unit , Shane Phillips . costume assistant , Peter Powell . assistant editor , Ralph Price . location scout , Sally Pritchard . stand-by costumer , Louis Puli . steadicam operator , Jess Ractliffe . assistant: John Edwards
 Greg Rawson . best boy , Keryn Ribbands . costume supervisor , Aen Saaifield . helicopter coordinator ,
 Stuart Sawyers . electrician , Sophie Siomos . production accountant , Geoff Skilbeck . clapper loader ,
 Craig Smith . assistant grip , Holly Stein . still photographer , Peter Stott . steadicam assistant , Susie
 Struth . continuity: second unit , James Talbot . legal consultant , Trudy Talbot . assistant production accountant , Michelle Venutti . second unit coordinator , Christine Woodruff . music supervisor , Susie
 Wright . production coordinator.

Australian Cinematographers Society

Year Result Award Category/Recipient(s)

2001 Won Golden Tripod Telefeatures, TV Drama & Mini Series

Martin McGrath

Australian Film Institute

Year Result Award Category/Recipient(s)

2000 Won AFI Award Best Mini-Series or Telefeature

John Edwards

Errol Sullivan

Jeffrey M. Hayes

Greg Coote

Open Craft Award Television

Sally Shepherd

Roger Ford

For the set design.

Nominated Open Craft Award Television

Martin McGrath

For the cinematography.

Australian Guild of Screen Composers

Year Result Award Category/Recipient(s)

2000 Won Australian Screen Music Award Best Music for a Mini-Series or Telemovie

Christopher Gordon

Best Original Title Theme for a Series, Serial or Mini-Series

Christopher Gordon

Best Soundtrack Album

Christopher Gordon

Cinema Audio Society, USA

Year Result Award Category/Recipient(s)

2001 Nominated C.A.S. Award Outstanding Achievement in Sound Mixing for a Television Movie-of-the-Week, Mini-Series

Robert Sullivan (re-recording mixer)

John McKerrow (production mixer)

For part II.

Golden Globes, USA

Year Result Award Category/Recipient(s)

2001 Nominated Golden Globe Best Mini-Series or Motion Picture Made for TV

Best Performance by an Actress in a Mini-Series or Motion Picture Made for TV

Rachel Ward

Hollywood Makeup Artist and Hair Stylist Guild Awards

Year Result Award Category/Recipient(s)

2001 Nominated Hollywood Makeup Artist and Hair Stylist Guild Award Best Contemporary Makeup - Television (for a Mini-Series/Motion Picture Made for Television)

Brad Smith

Motion Picture Sound Editors, USA

Year Result Award Category/Recipient(s)

2001 Nominated Golden Reel Award Best Sound Editing - Television Mini-Series - Dialogue & ADR

Brent Burge (supervising sound editor)

Mark Perry (supervising sound editor)

James Harvey (supervising dialogue editor)

Gavin Myers (supervising dialogue editor)

Dino Giacomini (supervising adr editor)

Ian MacWilliams (adr editor)

Best Sound Editing - Television Mini-Series - Effects & Foley

Brent Burge (supervising sound editor)

Mark Perry (supervising sound editor)

Gerry Long (supervising foley editor)

Rory Martin (sound editor)

Dino Giacomini (sound editor)

Screen Music Awards, Australia

Year Result Award Category/Recipient(s)

2002 Won Screen Music Award Best Television Theme

Christopher Gordon

WR. Nevil Shute (novel), John Paxton (1959 screenplay), David Williamson (teleplay) and Bill Kerby (teleplay).

DIR. Russell Mulcahy

EPISODES: 3 YEAR MADE: 2000 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

COOTE HAYES PRODUCTION, EDWARDS/SULLIVAN PRODUCTIONS, SHOWTIME NETWORKS, SOUTHERN STAR ENTERTAINMET PTY LTD.

CREATOR: NEVIL SHUTE

TYPE OF SHOW: ALTERNATIVE WORLDS FORMAT: MINI-SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 3

DATE OF PREMIER: 28/05/2000 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS: ON THE BEACH (1959) based on Novel.

Cmdr. Dwight Towers ARMAND ASSANTE, Moira Davidson RACHEL WARD, Dr. Julian Osborne BYRAN BROWN, Mary Davidson Holmes JACQUILIEN MCKENZIE, Lt. Peter Holmes GRANT BOWLER, Jenny Holmes ALLISON WEBBER, Jenny Holmes TIEGHAN WEBBER, First Officer Neil Hirsch STEVE BASTONI, Chief Wawrzeniak DAVID PATERSON, Sonarman Bobby Swain KEVIN COPELAND, Radioman Giles TODD MACDONALD, Lt. Tony Garcia JOE PETRUZZI, Crewman Reid CRAIG BEAMER, Crewman Parsons JONATHAN OLDHAM, Crewman Samuel Huynh TRENT HUEN, Crewman Rossi DONNI FRIZZELL, Crewman Burns JONATHAN STUART, Seaman Sulman SAM LOY, Seaman Byers CHARLIE CLAUSEN, Cook Gratino ROBERT RABIAH, Cook Walmsey MARC CARRA, Admiral Jack Cunningham ROD MULLINAR, Lt. Ashton FELICITY BOYD, Prime Minister Seaton BILL HUNTER, Professor Alan Nordstrum CHARLES TINGWELL, Reg MARK MITCHELL, Martin JOHN HIGGINSON, Jenny Albani KATE KENDALL, British Anchorwoman HEATHER MITCHELL, U.S. President NICHOLAS HAMMOND, Press Secretary BRUCE HUGHES, U.S. Analyst DAVID TREDINNICK, Dinner Woman ANTONIA MURPHY, Dinner Man ADAM MCKEE, School Teacher MICHAEL FRY, Post Mistress JENNIFER CASTLES, Boat Builder PETER MENDOZA, Sharon Towers ALYCE PLATT, Angela Towers MADELINE CENEDESE, Cal Towers DARREN CASHA, Jimmy Nofly DAVID ARGUE, Hospital Doctor TOM CONSIDINE, Nurse CATHERINE SUTHERLAND, Pharmacist MARK PENNELL, Overcliff Father WARWICK BEGG, Overcliff Mother SANDRA MURPHY, . Overcliff Girl CARLIE MURPHY, Overcliff Boy JOHN MURPHY, Submarine Guard ROBERT LOWE, Café Girl RACHEL VALENTYNE, Café Guy #1 CHRISTIAN BELL, Beans MARTIN COPPING, Screaming Woman JULIE DAY, Girl in Lane Way NAOMI RAMOS, Guy in Lane Way JORGE ONASIS, . Girl with Dog NINA GODINBO, U.S. Anchorman MICHAEL CARMAN, French Interviewer FREDERIQUE FOUCHE, Officer ROBBIE MACFARLANE, Interviewer CHRIS CUMMINS, Journalist #1 TRENT BAKER, Journalist #2 STEPHANIE CHEN, Homeless Youth SIMON LYSSIOTIS, DAVID TALESKI, . Passerby (uncredited) BASSEM ABOUSAID, Gang Leader (uncredited) PASCAL MERCAY.

Books Based on this series.

ON THE BEACH

NEVIL SHUTE

1957

RELATED SHOWS:

Wr Ira Steven Behr

Dir Kevin Hooks

1 - 4 THINGS GET UGLY

Wr Dusty Kay

Dir Paul Schneider

1 - 5 MANOS ARRIBA MRS. GREELY

Wr Richard Manning, Hans Beimler

Dir Harry Hurwitz

ONE STEP BEYOND

AKA: ALCOA PRESENTS: ONE STEP BEYOND

'What you are about to see is a matter of human record. Explain it? We cannot. Disprove it? We can-not. We simply invite you to explore with us the amazing world of the unknown, to take that One Step Beyond.'

Neither science nor by its own assertion, fiction, One Step Beyond dealt with the realm of psychic phenomena. Technically that puts it one step beyond the province of this volume. Yet this vintage anthology series, which did as much as any to blur the edges of reality, repeatedly crops up in genre guides and has long been accepted into the hearts of television fantasy fans.

Based on documented real-life events, often involving ghosts or Extra-Sensory Perception (ESP), this atmospheric black-and-white series looks today like a precursor to "X-Files." The 1978 production of "The Next Step Beyond" had the same host, 19-21 years older, was shot in colour, and never caught on in the ratings, perhaps because the old subversive creepiness was gone.

Created in America, it ran there for two years (1959-61) and 94. But what isn't widely known is that 13 of those episodes, all for the third and final season were made in Britain - and that's why the series is in this database. The UK 13 were made at the now long-lost MGM film studios in Borehamwood by Lancer Films, and were hailed as the first time British Television production had gone into an association with an established American network show.

Using mainly British scripts, they featured British casts, with Anton Rodgers, Peter Wyngarde, Donald Pleasence, Christopher Lee, Adrienne Corri, Roger Delgado and a young Michael Crawford among the stars. Like the rest of the series, the stories dealt with various psychic phenomena - supernatural visitations, ESP, dreams that are portents of disaster, hallucinations of the future, reincarnations of the past. These episodes - and the series as a whole - were directed and hosted by American actor John Newland who took a sardonic delight in introducing what became renowned as a genuinely spooky glimpse of the paranormal.

The UK 13 were bought by Associated-Rediffusion and given a network run from November 1961, at peak time. The rest of the series didn't fare quite as well. Granada was the first ITV company to screen American-made episodes, showing 13 between October 1962 and January 1963. Rediffusion and Southern TV have also given it reasonable air-time. Invariably, though, all have played to the late-night audience, and overall, little more than half the 96 episodes have been seen in this country.

Alcoa Presents: One Step Beyond is a series now better known as simply: One Step Beyond, the title given the series during rerun syndication. The Alcoa that the title refers to is the Aluminium Company of America, which was the series' sponsor during its network run. This was not an uncommon practice as many companies had their names as part of the series title during the 1950's, especially if the series was an anthology.

One Step Beyond did not claim to be a science fiction or fantasy series. but rather one that dramatised actual supernatural and occult occurrences. The episodes dealt with ESP, premonitions and ghosts. The series was hosted and all of the episodes were directed by John Newland. Newland gave the impression that he actually believed the events being shown really happened. Not surprising, since the producers claimed that they had verified through medical and legal professionals of unquestioned standing that the events transpiring in each episode had actually happened, although the names were changed. The series actually received letters after each episode from viewers saying that they had a similar experience to the one just dramatised. During the third and final season, production of the programme was moved to England where 13 of the last 14 episodes broadcast were made.

In 1977, John Newland reprised his role as series host for a revival of the One Step Beyond concept. Entitled: The Next Step Beyond, this syndicated one shot proved successful enough that a series of the same name was produced the following year. The Next Step Beyond lasted one season and was produced in colour. The NEXT STEP BEYOND has a separate entry in this encyclopaedia.

The series producer was Collier Young and the director John Newland, the music was created by Harry Lubin. Perhaps one of the most remarkable things about this shows is the director who was also the shows Host, John Newland directed all 96 episodes of the series, totalling up more credits for a single show, than any other SF director, a quite remarkable achievement. Certain episodes of One Step Beyond have been released in the UK in 1995, but was not a success.

"There was a great deal of research that went into the series", says Charles Larson, who scripted five segments. "Creators Mervin Gerard and Larry Marcus did 90 percent of the research for you. I especially enjoyed writing 'Tidal Wave,' about a disabled woman unable to leave her home when a tidal wave threatens to sweep in.

"A passing motorist comes to her aid. When she tries to thank him, she finds out there he is profoundly deaf. He couldn't have heard her cries, and he didn't know why he had stopped. He had simply been compelled to. "The episode ended with Newland interviewing the disabled woman on camera. The continued popularity of One Step Beyond in syndication is largely to Newland. His attitude, half-skeptic, half-believer, perfectly mirrored the viewer's own shivery doubts."

Originally titled Alcoa Presents during its network run, One Step Beyond was a supernatural anthology that dramatized real-life encounters with the bizarre. The semi-documentary approach added to the show's spine-tingling suspense. John Newland, who directed all 96 segments of this halfhour series, also served as host. Some noteworthy guest stars included Joan Fontaine, Suzanne Pleshette, Warren Beatty, Robert Blake, Christopher Lee, Charles Bronson, Yvette Mimieux and Elizabeth Montgomery.

"There was a great deal of research that went into the series," says Charles Larson, who scripted five segments. "Creators Merwin Gerard and Larry Marcus did 90 percent of the research for you. I especially enjoyed writing 'Tidal Wave,' about a disabled woman unable to leave her home when a tidal wave threatens to sweep in. "A passing motorist comes to her aid. When she tries to thank him, she finds out that he's profoundly deaf. He couldn't have heard her cries, and he didn't know why he had stopped. He had simply been compelled to. "The episode ended with Newland interviewing the disabled woman on camera. The continued popularity of One Step Beyond in syndication is largely to Newland. His attitude, half-skeptic, half-believer, perfectly mirrored the viewers' own shivery doubts."

WR. Mervin Gerard, Charles Beaumont (THE TWILIGHT ZONE), Don M. Mankiewicz, Larry Marcus, Catherine Turney, Dewitt Copp, Jerome Ruskin, Charles Larson, Howard Rodman, Bob Duncan and Wanda Duncan (LOST IN SPACE) and Ian Stuart Black.

DIR. John Newland.

EPISODES: 96 YEAR MADE: 1959 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 2

A COLLIER YOUNG PROD

CREATOR: MERWIN GERARD & LARRY MARCUS

TYPE OF SHOW: ANTHOLOGY FORMAT: ANTHOLOGY

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 22, (2) 39, (3) 35

DATE OF PREMIER: 20/10/1959 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 04/07/1961

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Host JOHN NEWLAND.

Books Based on this series.

More from One Step Beyond	Lenore Bredeson	1961
One Step Beyond	Lenore Bredeson	1960
The World Grabbers	Paul W. Fairman	1964

RELATED SHOWS:

NEXT STEP BEYOND, THE

1 - 1 THE BRIDE POSSESSED

1 - 2 NIGHT OF APRIL 14

1 - 3 EMERGENCY ONLY

- 1 - 4 THE DARK ROOM
- 1 - 5 TWELVE HOURS TO LIVE
- 1 - 6 EPILOGUE
- 1 - 7 THE DREAM
- 1 - 8 PREMONITION
- 1 - 9 THE DEAD PART OF THE HOUSE
- 1 - 10 THE VISION
- 1 - 11 THE DEVILS LAUGHTER
- 1 - 12 THE RETURN OF MITCHELL CAMPION
- 1 - 13 THE NAVIGATOR
- 1 - 14 THE SECRET
- 1 - 15 THE AERIALIST
- 1 - 16 THE BURNING GIRL
- 1 - 17 THE HAUNTED U-BOAT
- 1 - 18 IMAGE OF DEATH
- 1 - 19 THE CAPTAIN'S GUESTS
- 1 - 20 ECHO
- 1 - 21 FRONT RUNNER
- 1 - 22 THE RIDDLE
- 2 - 1 DELUSION
- 2 - 2 ORDEAL ON LOCUST STREET
- 2 - 3 BRAINWAVE
- 2 - 4 DOOMSDAY
- 2 - 5 NIGHT OF THE KILL
- 2 - 6 THE INHERITENCE
- 2 - 7 THE OPEN WINDOW
- 2 - 8 MESSAGE FROM CLARA
- 2 - 9 FORKED LIGHTNING
- 2 - 10 REUNION
- 2 - 11 DEAD RINGER
- 2 - 12 THE STONE CUTTER
- 2 - 13 FATHER IMAGE
- 2 - 14 MAKE ME NOT A WITCH
- 2 - 15 THE HAND
- 2 - 16 THE JUSTICE TREE
- 2 - 17 EARTHQUAKE
- 2 - 18 FORESTS OF THE KNIGHT

- 2 - 19 CALL FROM TOMORROW
- 2 - 20 WHO ARE YOU?
- 2 - 21 THE DAY THE WORLD WEPT - THE LINCOLN STORY
- 2 - 22 THE LOVERS
- 2 - 23 VANISHING POINT
- 2 - 24 THE MASK
- 2 - 25 THE HAUNTING
- 2 - 26 THE EXPLORER
- 2 - 27 THE CLOWN
- 2 - 28 I SAW YOU TOMORROW
- 2 - 29 ENCOUNTER
- 2 - 30 THE PETER HURKOS STORY (1-2)
- 2 - 31 DELIA
- 2 - 32 THE VISITOR
- 2 - 33 GYPSY
- 2 - 34 CONTACT
- 2 - 35 THE LONLEY ROOM
- 2 - 36 HOUSE OF THE DEAD
- 2 - 37 GOODBYE GRANDPA
- 2 - 38 THE STORM
- 3 - 1 TIDAL WAVE
- 3 - 2 ANNIVERSERY OF A MURDER
- 3 - 3 THE DEATH WALTZ
- 3 - 4 THE RETURN
- 3 - 5 IF YOU SEE SALLY
- 3 - 6 MOMMENT OF HATE
- 3 - 7 TO KNOW THE END
- 3 - 8 THE TRAP
- 3 - 9 THE VOICE
- 3 - 10 THE PROMISE
- 3 - 11 TONIGHT AT 12:17
- 3 - 12 WHERE ARE THEY?
- 3 - 13 LEGACY OF LOVE
- 3 - 14 RENDEZVOUS
- 3 - 15 THE EXECUTIONER
- 3 - 16 THE LAST ROUND
- 3 - 17 DEAD MAN'S TALE

- 3 - 18 THE SACRED MUSHROOM
- 3 - 19 THE GIFT
- 3 - 20 PERSON UNKNOWN
- 3 - 21 NIGHT OF DECISION
- 3 - 22 THE STRANGER
- 3 - 23 JUSTICE
- 3 - 24 THE FACE, THE
- 3 - 25 THAT ROOM UPSTAIRS
- 3 - 26 SIGNAL RECEIVED
- 3 - 27 THE CONFESSION
- 3 - 28 THE AVENGERS
- 3 - 29 THE PRISONER
- 3 - 30 BLOOD FLOWER
- 3 - 31 THE SORCERER
- 3 - 32 THE VILLA
- 3 - 33 THE TIGER
- 3 - 34 NIGHTMARE
- 3 - 35 EYE WITNESS

OP CENTREAKA: TOM CLANCY'S OP CENTRE

Paul Hood is the newly appointed director of the OP Center, a special agency gathering a wide variety of experts monitoring international crisis. On his first day on the job, nuclear missiles are stolen from the former Soviet Union by terrorists. The team must find out who did it, why, and most importantly, where they are heading so they can retrieve them.

Original music by Patrick Williams, Film Editing by Tina Hirsch, Sound Department - Tommy Goodwin (foley mixer), Stunts - John Ashker (Stunts). Other crew - Heidi Erl (production co-ordinator), Chuck Herrmann (property assistant), Ric Urbauer (key grip).

The following is the Emmy nominations for The Beast in 1996

1996 Nominated Emmy Outstanding Individual Achievement in Sound Editing for a Miniseries or a Special
Norval D. Crutcher III (dialogue editor)

Gary S. Gerlich (sound effects editor)

William Hooper (sound effects editor)

William Jacobs (II) (sound effects editor)

Stan Jones (III) (music editor)

Elliott Koretz (sound effects editor)

Richard Legrand Jr. (supervising sound editor)

Bob McNabb (dialogue editor)

Harry E. Snodgrass (sound effects editor)

Walter Spencer (dialogue editor)

Robert J. Ulrich (adr editor) - For part 2.

Emmy Award

Outstanding Individual Achievement in Sound Editing for a Miniseries or a Special - Winner: OP Center (1995) (TV) - Joseph Melody (supervising sound editor), G. Michael Graham (supervising sound editor), J. Michael Hooser (adr editor), Mark Friedgen (sound editor), Mark Steele (sound editor), Richard S. Steele (sound editor), Anton Holden (sound editor), Bob Costanza (sound editor), Mike Dickeson (sound editor), Darren Wright (sound editor), John K. Adams (sound editor), Mark R. La Pointe (sound editor), Rusty Tinsley (sound editor), Tim Terusa (sound editor), Rick Crampton (sound editor), Gary Macheel (sound editor), Scott A. Tinsley (sound editor), Bill Bell (sound editor), Allan K. Rosen (music editor), Patty von Arx (music editor), Tim Chilton (foley artist), Jill Schachne (foley artist) - For part 1. (1995)

WR. Tom Clancy

DIR. Lewis Teague

EPISODES: 2 YEAR MADE: 1995 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

JACK RYN LTD PARTERNSHIP/STEVE PIEEZENK PROD INC/STEVE SOHMES INC/MOVING TARGER PROD/NEW WORLD

CREATOR: TOM CLANCY

TYPE OF SHOW: CRIME

FORMAT: MINI-SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 120 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 2

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Paul Hood HARRY HAMLIN, Kurt PATRICK BAUGHAN, Abdul KABIR BEDI, Matt Stoll TOM BREZHANN, Lou Bender WILLIAM BUMILLER, DAVID GARRISON, Kate Michaels DEIDRE HALL, BO HOPKINS, The President KEN HOWARD, SHERMAN HOWARD, VICTOR LOVE, Bob Herbert JOHN SAVAGE, MARIANGELA PINO, TODD WARING, Jane Hood KIM CATTRALL, MIA KORF, FRANCE NUYEN, LUIS AVALOS, LOU LIBERATORE, Pamela Bluestone LINDSAY FROST, Boroda ROD STEIGER, Admiral Troy Davis WILFORD BRIMLEY, Lt. Arkov SHAUN TOUB, Lt. Corcoran CHARLES NOLAND, Capt. Rodriguez GEORGE ALVAREZ, Marine Sgt. King ELIZABETH ALLEY, AF Sgt. Brown SUSAN WIRE, Stacy ASHLEY MALINGER, Beth DENISE JOHNSON, Secretary MARILYN RANDALL, Ukrainian Sgt. ALEX VEADOV, Militiaman #1 JOHN FURSE, Militiaman #2 ILIA VOLOKH, KGB Man #1 ALEXANDER SLANKSNIS, Quinn Redmond MICKEY BANCROFT, Maureen PEGGY MILEY, DON DIAMONT, Osman RICHARD DIMITRI, Sgt. Bannion MARK KLASTORIN, Capt. White LEA DELARIA, FBI Van Tech J. AUGUST RICHARDS, Academic #1 LAURA YOUNG, Academic #2 BOB BANCROFT, Academic #3 ROBERTA HANLEY, Academic #4 WILLIAM BASSETT, Navy

Lieutenant VIRGINIA WATSON, Navy Captain CHRISTOPHER KRIESA, LTC Beecher JAMES WILLETT, Navy Radioman KEN GOTH, C-5 Tech #1 ALEXANDRA HEDISON, Commander Harper JACK CONLEY, C-5 Tech #2 KAREN S. GREGAN, Comm. Preston PAOLO ANDRES, Chief ROBERT BROYLES, Tommy KEITH WOULARD, Chico J. MARK DONALDSON, Mick JIM MCCONNEL, Press Aide TOM VILLARD, Swenson FAUNA MCLAREN, Maynard REBECCA FERRATTI, Radioman VINCENT DEPALMA, Stanz MATTHEW MAHANEY, General Mike Rodgers (uncredited) CARL WEATHERS.

OPERATION-MYSTERE

I was 9 years old when I first saw this program on CBFT Chan 2 in Montreal. It was in french and I was an english kid. I remember it had amazing theme music and sound effects. I recall very little happened, a robot (Oscar) would stand around doing nothing for minutes on end, accompanied by a lot of strange noises. Then he would shuffle off to be replaced by an alien in a shiny suit who cursed a lot. The set had one of those huge spirals in the background. It was either live or on film and there are no references to it anywhere other than the IMDB.

WR. Léon Dewinne

DIR. Louis Bédard, Rolland Guay, Paul Legault

EPISODES: 80 YEAR MADE: 1957 COUNTRY: CAN SEASONS: 3

SOCEITE RADIO CANADA

CREATOR: LEON DEWINNE

TYPE OF SHOW: ALIENS ON EARTH

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN:

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Montclair D. BOUCHER. Altaar YVETTE BRIND'AMOUR. Luc HERVE BROUSSEAU. Le professeur Narthon et Arsène MARCEL CABAY. YVON DUFOUR. Blais PIERRE DUFRESNE, Marcus BERTRAND GAGNON, Tap PIERRE GARANT, Sextus PAUL GAUHTIER, GEORGE GROULX, LUCE GUILBEAULT, FRANCOIS LAVIGNE, Tanagra HELENE LOISELLE, Luce LOUISE MARLEAU, Rokosky ALAN MICHEL, GERARD POIRIER, Turgeon RAYMON POULIN, Rustov GILLES ROCHETTE, Oscar le Robot JOSE RODRIGUEZ, Pruneau R. SICOTTE.

OTHERS, THE

College student Marian moves into the dormitory room where a young woman recently died and senses an alarming supernatural force as she reluctantly turns to the Others -- a small but diverse group of people dedicated to analyzing their extrasensory abilities -- who urge her to embrace her "fearsome talent." But she soon discovers that whatever gift of insight she possesses is both a blessing and a curse that puts her life in danger, forcing her to appeal to a famed medium, an empathic medical intern and a New Age "sensitive" among the Others.

Famed horror director Tobe Hooper directed one episode, Souls On Board, and the series' writers included Glen Morgan and James Wong (also executive producers, with Brancato and Ferris), who had previously written for shows including The X-Files and Millennium and created, produced and written for Space: Above and Beyond. Morgan's wife Kristen Cloke played the significant role of Allison/The Woman in the episodes "The Ones That Lie in Wait" and "Life is For the Living".

The Others is an American TV series created by John Brancato and Michael Ferris, and produced by Delusional Films, NBC and DreamWorks Television. It ran for 13 60-minute episodes from February 5, 2000 to June 10, 2000, airing on NBC in the US, Five in the UK and Nine in Australia. It concerned a group of people with various psychic talents as they encountered different, and often evil, paranormal forces. Essentially an ensemble show, primary focus was on student Marian Kitt as she came to terms with her - frequently unwanted - abilities. Although the series gradually built up an overall storyline of a strong evil power targeting the group, its cancellation meant that this was never properly resolved.

Famed horror director Tobe Hooper directed one episode, Souls On Board, and the series' writers included Glen Morgan and James Wong (also executive producers, with Brancato and Ferris), who had previously written for shows including The X-Files and Millennium and created, produced and written for Space: Above and Beyond. Morgan's wife Kristen Cloke played the significant role of Allison/The Woman in the episodes "The Ones That Lie in Wait" and "Life Is for the Living".

The series was filmed at Paramount Pictures, with the exception of the pilot episode, which was filmed in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada.

Note that the episodes were seemingly broadcast out of order. The sixth episode "Luciferous" should have been the second episode as it deals with Marian's decision to join the group. The 12th episode "Life Is for the Living" should clearly have been the last one, as it is the end of the story, a story which is oddly unresolved in the 13th episode. It is believed that episode 13 was delayed and should have been broadcast several episodes earlier.

1st Season - Winter 2000

Production credits:

Delusional Films / NBC Studios / Dreamworks SKG

Created by John Brancato and Michael Ferris

Supervising Producer: Mick Garris

Executive Producers: John Brancato and Michael Ferris, James Wong and Glen Morgan

Produced by Sarah Caplan

Associate producer: Randy S Nelson

Executive story editor: Fred Golan

Story editor: Daniel Arkin

WR.

DIR.

EPISODES: 13 YEAR MADE: 2000 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

NBC, DELUSINAL FILMS, DREAMWORKS SKG

CREATOR: JOHN BRANCATO & MICHAEL FERRISTYPE OF SHOW:*FORMAT: SERIESLENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: EnglishSEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 13DATE OF PREMIER: 05/02/2000 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 10/06/2000SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:*FILMS:

Marian Kitt JULIANNE NICHOLSON, Mark Gabriel GABRIEL MACHT, Ellen "Satori" Pawlowski
 MELISSA CRIDER, Elmer Greentree BILL COBBS, Professor Miles Ballard JOHN BILLINGSLEY, Warren
 Day KEVIN J. O'CONNOR, Albert McGonnagal JOHN AYLWARD.

1 - 1 "PILOT"

College student Marian moves into the dormitory room where a young woman recently died and senses an alarming supernatural force as she reluctantly turns to the Others -- a small but diverse group of people dedicated to analyzing their extrasensory abilities -- who urge her to embrace her "fearsome talent." But she soon discovers that whatever gift of insight she possesses is both a blessing and a curse that puts her life in danger, forcing her to appeal to a famed medium, an empathic medical intern and a New Age "sensitive" among the Others.

Wr John Brancato & Michael FerrisDir Mick Garris1 - 2 UNNAMED

While Elmer senses a dreadful dark force on the horizon, Satori tries to help the single mother whose young son has been missing for three years - and whose ethereal presence is suddenly felt by both women. Aware of the unknown power that opposes them, Elmer and the Others need Marian's supernatural gifts to counter the unseen evil that they believe is responsible for the boy's abduction.

Wr John Brancato & Michael FerrisDir Brian Trenchard-Smith1 - 3 EYES

A vain and egotistical man decides on laser surgery to correct his eyesight, but after the first operation begins to see horrific apparitions which threaten his sanity. Meanwhile, Marian puzzles over Albert's enigmatic past until she unwittingly begins to share his nightly vision of the TET Offensive maneuver that cost his eyesight.

Wr Glen Morgan and James WongDir William Malone1 - 4 SOULS ON BOARD

Just as the Others board a plane to Sedona, Arizona for a psychic conference, they learn that an inquisitive Miles purposely booked them on the same flight path previously occupied by an aircraft that recently crashed, and the harrowing activities they witness are thought to be somehow linked to parts salvaged from the wreckage -- and recycled onto their jetliner. As the Others react to the sight of tormented faces pressed against the outside windows and through the cabin walls, Marian has a strange encounter with the captain of the doomed crew, who has an urgent message only Miles can decipher.

Wr Daniel ArkinDir Tobe Hooper1 - 5 1112

The group helps a woman grieving for her child and husband killed in a car accident--a process complicated when they discover that the husband is not yet dead.

Wr Glen Morgan & James WongDir Bill Condon1 - 6 LUCIFEROUS

As an unsure Marian considers withdrawing from the Others, she moves into a new apartment that harbors a vague yet sinister force hiding in the wallpaper intent on scaring her enough to ignore her supernatural gift, but she is more concerned to learn that some of the Others appear to be stalking her. Meanwhile, Mark is tormented by the responsibility of his empathic abilities and can find relief only in the arms of Satori, but they are prevented from becoming physically intimate because proximity causes their environment to explode. NOTE: Logically this should be the second episode, since Marian does not yet fully trust the Others. There's an unpleasant undercurrent to the theme of a young woman terrorized in her bedroom, yet some of it is done with inventive subtlety, particularly the unexpected shot of the face in the wallpaper turning to watch Marian go by. I'm puzzled by the oddly explicit note of Christian myth: why does the demon have to be Lucifer holding out a wallpaper apple? Nothing else in the series suggests any particular religious system.

Wr Glen Morgan & James Wong

Dir Mick Garris

1 - 7 THETA

Marian thinks joining a sorority will help her regain some normalcy in her life -- until she learns one of the sisters is under psychic attack. She befriends troubled college coed Jenny, who is plagued by chronic panic attacks of horrifying visions from her childhood that become more physically forceful and threaten her bewildered Theta sorority sisters. Marian recruits the help of the Others, who suspect that the Theta house is haunted based on a murder on the same grounds long ago, but wise old Elmer deduces that something evil from the young woman's painful past is intruding with harmful intent. This turns out to be her imprisoned father, shot by Jenny as a child when he murdered her mother and now bent on revenge. NOTE: It is a mistake to schedule two successive episodes about young women being terrorized in haunted bedrooms, especially when this one is a quite powerful parable about sexual abuse. Although the unsympathetic reactions of Jenny's sorority sisters underline the "blame the victim" syndrome, I can't help noting that these college kids seem singularly clueless, not even noticing that locked doors open while Jenny is yards away, or that she is bone-dry when accused of trying to drown someone in a bathtub.

Wr Fred Golan

Dir Tom McLoughlin

1 - 8 DON'T DREAM IT'S OVER

A restless Mark is disturbed by his continuing dreams where he falls in love with Mary Jane, a mysterious beautiful woman from 19th-century London who also sees Mark only in her dreams. Ignoring Elmer's stern advice to stop his dalliance or risk his own destruction, a sheepish Mark asks love struck Marian to help him channel through to his would-be lover. Then an Internet search by Miles reveals that Mary Jane Kelly was the last victim of Jack the Ripper. NOTE: I have to go with Marian on this one when she asks "What was the point?" after the Others are unable to save Mary Jane. Crossing "Peter Ibbetson" with Jack the Ripper has potential, but the script falls into doomed-love cliché rather than following up on its own suggestions. Given the parallel drawn between the Ripper (here, for no readily apparent reason, an American surgeon) and Mark the overworked ER intern, it would have made more sense -- and been far creepier -- if compassionate Mark had found himself channeling the serial killer. And couldn't we have at least have the intervention of the Others be the reason this was the Ripper's last murder?

Wr Mick Garris

Dir Mick Garris

1 - 9 MORA

When three emergency room patients die mysteriously all at once under his care, Mark clashes with his father, a hospital board member, over his contention that he saw several tiny snake-like creatures in the equipment -- but neither is unaware of the sinister force present that coincides with the arrival of a sickly elderly woman. Elmer, Marian and the rest of the "Others" rush to help Mark after he is struck down by a phantom illness, and they discover that the missing link might be the geriatric female patient who is deathly fearful of "the Mora," fearsome monsters from Eastern European folklore. When they find talismanic fetishes under the beds of the deceased patients, the Others' suspicions focus on the Russian janitor, but he turns out to be attempting to ward off the evil. The old woman turns out to be a 110-year-old former ballet star who fled the Russian Revolution, leaving her infant son behind, and who is afraid to die until she learns what happened to her son; the Mora are, Elmer insists, merely projections of her will to go on living. When she confronts Marian in her apartment and is shown pictures of her great-granddaughter, also a ballerina, Katarina dies happily in her own bed -- even though, as Marian later learns, she never left the hospital. NOTE: This episode was postponed from an earlier date, and so becomes the final outing for The Others. Unfortunately, it is all too obviously a re-tooled X-Files script, with Mark as Mulder and his father as Scully. On the plus side, there is one superb image -- the double exposure of Katarina defying Elmer -- and poor Warren gets his best line of the series, upon learning that the twisted ropes are fetishes: "People get off on these?"

Wr John Brancato & Michael Ferris

Dir Jake Paltrow

1 - 10 THE ONES THAT LIE IN WAIT

On a stormy night, the seers are terrorized by the Rabisu, an "entrance demon" who invades Elmer's house and preys on their minds with the repeated question: "What do you want?" NOTE: This is definitely the worst episode yet, with a visual style as flat and clichéd as the script (in the rare moments when it makes any sense). If, as Elmer takes pains to tell us, the "entrance demons" can come at any time, disguised as anything or anyone, why does this one pick a ridiculously dark and stormy night complete with creepy music and subjective camera work to clue Elmer in that Something Is Wrong? If only sea salt can keep Elmer safe, who does he possess one measly jar (okay, he gave another to Marian) instead of a basement full? How come the demon can imitate Marian's sister exactly? What happens to Albert and the tow truck driver when the demon replaces them? Why do we only find out what half the Others want?

Wr Glen Morgan and James Wong

Dir Thomas J. Wright

1 - 11 TILL THEN

Elmer wrestles with his distant past as an American serviceman based in Britain during World War II whose special psychic gifts were employed even then to help doomed flyers "get to the other side" -- but there was one who refused to go, and his fate is now intertwined with that of a downed American pilot who is lost in the Iraqi desert. As time winds down before the pilot is captured, Elmer enlists the help of Marian to lock on to the pilot's position while the regretful old man confronts a spirit that might be lost forever -- and a very surprisingly other visitant.

Wr Glen Morgan & James Wong

Dir Bryan Spicer

1 - 12 $4.95 A MINUTE

A phony, cash-poor psychic calling himself "Simeon Nye" is frightened when his disastrous visions of his clients' futures begin to come true, so he seeks help from his more serious competition -- Satori -- who agrees to aid the bewildered man when she discovers he also inexplicably functions as a medium to her long-dead father (through their agreed-upon code word "Kermit"). But Satori learns that the charlatan has unknowingly summoned an angry spirit -- the ghost of the real Simeon Nye -- and if she renders assistance in ridding him of it, she will lose the chance to satisfy her dream of communicating with her dad. NOTE: Again, part of this episode are splendid visually -- this time with an unexpectedly surreal note of David Lynch -- and the basic premise is fine; I particularly liked Satori's frustration that she can contact a client's dead dog but not her own father. But yet again the plot unravels illogically: why should the dead Simeon Nye torment Troy in this way, rather than just killing him? And if Nye is such a powerfully malevolent spirit, how come the Others can exorcise him so easily? More importantly, why have Nye at all? It would be much more interesting if Troy just discovered he really had psychic powers but was so terrified that he refused to use them....

Wr Richard Whitley

Dir Sanford Bookstaver

1 - 13 LIFE IS FOR THE LIVING

In the season (and series) finale, Elmer is mysteriously brought back from the dead, and as he recovers, he again senses the presence of entrance demons -- specifically the beckoning and beautiful woman who stalks him from the other side -- and fears for the "Others" when each one gains something highly desirable. The old man warns his friends not to be deceived by the false reality when Miles is offered a prestigious professorship, Marian finds a kindred spirit roommate, and Satori and Mark find they can embrace each other without fear.

Wr Daniel Arkin

Dir Thomas J. Wright

OTHERWORLD

The Sterlings, touted as 'a typical Southern California family', slip into the parallel universe of Otherworld while on a sightseeing tour of the ancient Pyramids, when a strange alignment of the planets opens up a portal between the two universes. They discover that the Great Pyramid was built, not as the mere tomb of a king, but as a barricade at the portal, and that thousands of years ago it was common for people to pass between the two dimensions.

Not so now, however, and Hal and June Sterling and their three children become fugitives in this alien environment as they strive to reach the Capital Province of Imar where the Supreme Governors have the power to return them to their own world. It's a perilous task, as they are pursued by the Zone Troopers of the Imperial Kommander Nuveen Kroll.

Land of the Lost meets The Fantastic Journey in a short-lived series about a family lost in another dimension. Otherworld's eight episodes ranged from the comic (Rock and Roll Suicide) through the blatantly ludicrous (Village of the Motorpigs), to the excellent (a beauty and the beast-style story, Mansion of the Beast). But they never did make it home. In the UK, the series has been seen in all ITV regions except the London area. Alternate universe series with the Great Pyramid as gateway, and therefore oddly similar to "STARGATE SG1" in some aspects.

The executive producers for the series were Philip De Guerre (pilot only) and Roderick Taylor. The producers for the series were Roderick Taylor (pilot only) and Lew Hunter. The series dates for the UK are 7th September - 2nd November 1985, the UK running orders varied around the regions, these airdates are for the HTV region.

The American death-by ratings system may have its critics, but it remains the only logical and democratic way to decide the fate of ongoing series. After all, we are the viewers. And it is generally true that however beloved a series may be, the vast majority stay on the air for just about the right amount of time. Some six or thirteen week runs are best remembered as interesting mini-series rather than failures, while other shows last a decade and don't overstay their welcome. How fondly would STAR TREK or LOST IN SPACE be remembered by their fans if they had gone to fourth seasons? However, there are exceptions, and there are a handful of shows that infuriatingly were never allowed to reach their full potential. Which brings us to one of the great 'lost shows' of TV SF, Universal's Otherworld.

The rapid cancellation of Otherworld after eight episodes was a genuine loss. True, the format was familiar - a family slips into a succession of other dimensions and visit themed straw-man societies and well-worn SF concepts while trying to find their home. But it was also a proven formula resurfaced every few years in a new format. LOST IN SPACE begat the displaced families of LAND OF THE GIANTS, which begat LAND OF THE LOST, FANTASTIC JOURNEY, LOGAN'S RUN and now Otherworld. Television returns to formats because they work. As ever, it's not so much the freshness of the idea that counts as the freshness of the approach, and Otherworld looked promising.

When actor Stacy Keach, star of CBS' Saturday night hit Mike Hammer, was arrested by British Customs for cocaine possession, CBS needed a replacement, and Otherworld, totally inappropriate for the slot, was the only series ready. Producer Rod Taylor, already fighting the network over content, style of direction, found his show thrown to the wolves. Series lead Sam Groom was so disgusted and dismayed that he abandoned all hopes of ever having a good TV series under his belt, and left Hollywood to return to New York and the theatre.

Visually, the series looked great. Filmed with a level of invention not seen since the 1960s, and edited with the panache of the pop videos that were just starting to dominate the music industry, Otherworld, while filmed in an usual outdoor and futuristic locations, did not have that dried out desert and brush look of the Leonard Katzman series of the 70s. It was also well cast, with a family of five, including tasty teens Tony O'Dell and Jonna Lee, token kid Chris Herbert, and likeable young looking parents Sam Groom and Gretchen Corbett. A bit player on the early episodes of Irwin Allen's TIME TUNNEL (as panicky Jerry), Groom's clean cut preppy college boy looks were often seen in guest starring roles in the '70s and '80s, most memorable as the medic who 'falls in love with history' in Allen's unsold Time Travellers pilot and - ironically - in the Mike Hammer tv movie More than Murder. He also starred in the doer Canadian series Doctor Simon Locke and its spin-off Police Surgeon for three years. Gretchen Corbett is best known as lawyer Beth Davenport in The Rockford Files, one of the first strong capable women in US TV, a convincing, independent career woman.

None of the story ideas in Otherworld's short eight episode history could be called original, although, like STARGATE SG1, the manner in which they were employed gave each a fresh look. Although the just released Back to the Future featured a sequence in which Michael J. Fox was introducing Rock and Roll single-handedly to the '50s, the fantasy of bringing contemporary music to the deprived peasantry, or playing a part in defining Rock and Roll history has been a key component of tv and film fantasy since the 1940s (1944 comedy musicals Fiddlers Three and Time Flies, and the 1949 A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court all offered scenes in which the heroes introduced either Jazz or music hall to the Ancient Romans, 17th Century London, and Camelot respectively). QUANTUM LEAP quickly picked up the gauntlet, with Sam Beckett offering inspiration to Budd Holly, Chubby Checker and Michael Jackson, while Elvis Presley himself was aided and abetted by over-enthusiastic time travellers in QUANTUM LEAP, the 80's THE TWILIGHT ZONE, and the live action BILL AND TED tv series.

Brothers and Rock fans Rod and Bruce Taylor had high hopes for Otherworld, littering the series with visual gags paying tribute to their favourite show, THE PRISONER - Rover puts in an appearance in this episode and one other, and the walls in Centrex City are decorated with Prisoner style slogans (Resist Change, Emotions are Dangerous, and so on). In fact, the Taylors lack of subtlety of THE PRISONER, although Otherworld is streets ahead of most other 1980s SF TV, and their heavy handed symbolism - the sterile environment of Centrek City is all very '70s - is somehow appropriate in the context of the standard formula 1950s teen movie plot that is being shamelessly recreated here scene by scene with bare faced abandon.

Otherworld's MTV-SF looks as innovative as the Taylor brothers hoped it would, benefiting enormously from the way the three dimensional Sterlings and Kroll are kept separate from the B-movie scenario they have tumbled into. In fact, the only good thing to come out of Otherworld's premature demise was the freeing-up of Banks for the legendary series, Wiseguy!

"It got me thinking about what might be in other of our own world. The Sterling family did what dimensions," says Roderick Taylor. "Then it was Captain Kirk did. Instead of planet to planet, the a case of combining that with something similar family went from province to province. It was a to Star Trek. That was a great show that traveled family adrift in an alien world."

from one culture to another, reflecting an aspect In creating the series, Taylor wanted to present an identifiable family. "We tried to reconstitute the nuclear family of The Waltons and earlier TV families like Father Knows Best and Leave It to Beaver and bring them to a 1980s level. The name of the family, Sterling, was an allusion to Rod Serling [Twilight Zone's creator]." Helping with the show's development was Taylor's son, Bruce. "Bruce was born when I was 16," says Taylor. "Bruce became a very good writing partner."

Bruce Taylor grew up on science fiction TV "Shows like Outer Limits, Star Trek and Twilight Zone are timeless classics," he says. "I've always liked anthology series, but they've been unpopular with the networks. So we tried to do an anthology with a continuing cast. We came up with a family traveling through different states and encountering a new situation every week. It was a way to do Star Trek on Earth." The series also had trappings of Lost in Space, which Bruce Taylor acknowledges. "There are similarities, but I wanted Otherworld to be more serious and deal with political and social problems. I liked Lost in Space, but it was kind of campy. Star Trek was more of a model."

Universal studios was instantly interested in a science fiction project. "Robert Harris was president of Universal at the time," recalls Roderick Taylor. "He was enthusiastic about a family oriented, 8 p.m. show. We pitched it to CBS, and they liked it." Next, Roderick Taylor cast his family. "Universal asked us to bring in three actors for each character. So we brought in three dads, three moms, etc. We were looking for actors who had that indefinable quality of riveting your attention and being charismatic. We changed the actor who played Smith Sterling after the first couple of episodes. The first boy wasn't working out. Nobody noticed!" Initially, Otherworld got off to a promising start with CBS. "When the network executives screened the pilot, they loved it. The chairman of CBS in New York stood up and applauded. They said, 'We're definitely going to order it.' We went right into production."

Those good feelings hit snags early on. "We had a tremendous amount of interference from the network," says Roderick Taylor. "CBS never understood the show. Each episode turned out to be a huge problem for them. They'd say, 'What is this? We don't understand it. Is it funny or serious?' We'd say, 'It's both.' I spent 90 percent of my energy dealing with the network and 10 percent on the show. "An example was the episode 'I Am Woman, Hear Me Roar.' It dealt with a province where men are treated as sex objects and sold at auctions. Networks get very concerned when you do satire. I had to fight for one thing in particular. The woman auctioneer brings out an old guy named Ollie. She says, 'What do you like to do, Ollie?' He says, 'I like to whittle and repair small appliances.' Unbelievably, the network demanded it be cut. I said 'Absolutely not!' They wanted me fired. They said it was making fun of old people. I said, 'It would be making fun of him if he just shuffled around and said nothing. This way, he's being funny and clever. We're making fun of this whole pretense of being auctioned off. It's comedy.' CBS didn't understand that kind of comedy and they remained suspicious of the show. There was a kind of debate between me and the network in the L.A. Times at the time. CBS referred to us as 'a guerilla band operating in the hills of Universal.' I found that incredibly complimentary."

"It was an uphill battle all the way," recalls Bruce Taylor of their dealings with CBS. "The network was very square when it came to science fiction. It was a constant struggle between our vision and their lack of vision. It created a lot of tension." Eight episodes of Otherworld were produced. As a midseason replacement, the series materialized in Saturday's 8:00 p.m. time slot. "We had an extremely small staff on the show," recalls Roderick Taylor. "A good friend and writer, Coleman Luck, served as story editor. Between Bruce, Coleman and myself, we wrote or developed most of the stories. At one point, we got together with some of the writers who had written for Star Trek. Otherworld never got far enough [to use them]."

The Sterling family's journey took them to various cultures and adventures. Where Otherworld was located wasn't made clear, but the Sterlings learned more about this dimension with every episode. The family did know that if they reached a place called Imar, they could be transported home.

The pilot film, "Rules of Attraction," reflected the best of the series for the elder Taylor. "It turned out very well. Amanda Wyss played an android, and she was very magnetic and beautiful in that. Trace Sterling falls in love with her, and there was the question of the android's humanity. She had been created to be exactly like a human being. She felt Trace could never really love her because she knew, deep down, he didn't believe she had a soul. It was a tragic love story. Both of them were young and idealistic. Trace had to leave with his family because the radiation in that province would eventually destroy him. Amanda Wyss got something like 30,000 letters for that episode. She was incredibly popular. Had we survived long enough, we would have brought her back in a sequel. I also liked the title of the episode, 'Rules of Attraction.' It resonated to the world of science. It also related to the relationship between Trace and Nova."

Taylor had to fight to keep "Village of the Motorpigs," a story of rough bikers, from being integrated into the pilot. "After we did the pilot, CBS loved it so much they said, 'Why not extend it to two hours?' I didn't want to dilute it with padding. I pressured the hell out of them to leave it the way it was." "Village of the Motorpigs" turned out to be something of a compromise. "It was conceived as a continuation of the pilot, but it stood on its own as well," says Taylor.

Taylor, who is also a rock singer, found the episode "Rock'n' Roll Suicide" close to his heart. "That episode and the pilot were my two favorites," he says. "It was about the Sterling kids introducing rock'n' roll music to the otherworld. It ended up having the same explosive impact that rock 'n' roll had in America in the 1950s. I had to teach Jonna Lee and Tony O'Dell [the Sterling children] how to play the instruments and lip synch. They're not really playing or singing, but it looked that way. Also, you see them playing to this vast crowd. I actually only had 16 extras. I moved them around a lot and intercut it with real concert footage." In "Mansion of the Beast," mother June Sterling is held captive by a powerful creature who has fallen in love with her. The episode details the family's efforts to retrieve her. "There were great shots of the family riding their wagon through the mountains. It looked like we had gone to Oregon to film it. Actually, it was all shot on Universal. The forest was actually painted in with mattes."

Bruce Taylor offers his own rundown on the segments. "In the pilot, we tried to do a lot in that one hour. Otherworld had a fairly complicated set-up for a series. We added a voice-over on subsequent episodes (during the title sequence) to explain the premise because it was the kind of show that took viewers a few weeks to really understand what it was about. We also had to do a pilot that wasn't too far out. It had to appeal to the network. We wanted it to be science fiction but in some sense, also traditional, so the network would like it."

The story of "Zone Troopers Build Men" has Trace drafted into the zone troopers army. The only way he can resign is to advance in rank, and that means to kill innocent people. The plot was inspired by a real headline. "Trace was punished for bad school grades by being drafted," says Taylor. "The genesis of the idea was an article about a country where punishment for failing grades is to be put in the army." "I Am Woman, Hear Me Roar" had trouble with its original title. "We wanted to call it 'You've Come a Long Way, Baby,'" says Taylor. "The network informed us we couldn't call it that because that was the Virginia Slims cigarette trademark. The story showed a matriarchal province carried to the ultra-feminist extreme. It was a political satire where men are reduced to almost slave-like status and auctioned off like cattle." In "Princess Metra," Gina Sterling poses as a princess. "There was a Sean Connery film called The Man Who Would Be King. That gave us the idea. Gina resembles a former ruler of a province. She's thought to be Princess Metra, who was prophesied to return. After it was shot and edited, we found out the segment was six minutes too short. We wrote four minutes of additional material, and added two minutes of a dream montage. We got lots of letters from viewers who thought the montage was great. I was unhappy with its music score. It was repetitive and monotonous. It made the montage seem excessively long. But we were on a tight, rushed schedule and we had no time to change the music."

Some of the Taylors' favorite scripts were never shot. Roderick Taylor describes Coleman Luck's "Seeing Double" as "an incredibly tense story. It was carted by the network. They didn't want to do it. The family visits a province where everyone's worst fears come upon them. You saw each of the family's fears: the mother had a fear of being abandoned, the father had a fear of failing, Gina got fat and ugly which is a classic fear for a young girl, and so on. The network said, 'No, it's too intense.' It would have been a frightening episode, but they do triumph over their fears."

Also never filmed was the Bruce Taylor script "The Judge," which the elder Taylor calls "probably the best plotted story we ever had. The family encounters a Judge Roy Bean character. They violated his rules, and he gives them a choice: remain in jail, or they can play a little game with him. If they lose, they lose everything. In one instance, they're walking down a road and come to a fork. They don't know which way to go and they have to be very smart about every decision they make. "Unfortunately, 'Seeing Double' and 'The Judge' weren't shot. CBS was in a very hostile mood towards us by this time. We had also planned to do a story about a Jeopardy-like game show in Otherworld, where the family are contestants."

Otherworld was canceled after eight episodes in the spring of 1985. Although the ratings for the pilot had been adequate, the series slipped to the lower echelons of the ratings poll for the next seven episodes. Roderick Taylor points out, however, that the ratings didn't tell the whole story. "One of the most remarkable things was that Otherworld had the highest TVQ ratings than any other show on CBS. That meant that viewers who watched it considered it their favorite show. Obviously more people watched CBS's Dallas, but if you asked ten of its viewers if it was their favorite show, three would say yes. With Otherworld, five out of ten viewers would say it was their favorite show. It had a small but passionate following. It probably would have continued had there not been so much turmoil with CBS. The series also had a poor time slot. For a show that teenagers would watch, Saturdays was really bad." "The ratings were marginal," says Bruce Taylor. "If we had been on a weeknight we would have done much better. According to the mail we received, a lot of people liked the show. It had great word-of-mouth. CBS received many letters protesting its cancellation."

Looking back on the series today, Bruce Taylor feels, "It succeeded in combining a lot of elements: a family show, social satire, science fiction. But since we were dealing with other dimensions, you're constantly restrained by the network, who wants it to be as 'normal' as possible. That's my biggest regret: Otherworld didn't get to be as good as it could have been. I'm proud of the series, but the best was yet to come. We never got to develop the subtext of the otherworld." Taylor was gratified by the eight episodes' popularity on the USA Cable network recently. "Viewer response was great," he says, "and USA was extremely interested in producing more episodes for syndication. They were unable to work that out with Universal." "Otherworld has done very well for an eight episode show," says Roderick Taylor. "We tried to break away from what TV too often is, which is horrible and monotonous. We tried for something that was moving, sometimes funny and a little irreverent. It did ignite a spark in people because the later USA Cable broadcasts got very good ratings. Most shows that last only eight episodes wouldn't be the subject of a discussion ten years later. Otherworld will live again. For now, it's only sleeping."

CAST NOTES

Sam Groom (Hal Sterling): From 1971 to 1974, Groom starred in the Canadian TV series Police Surgeon. He continues making TV guest appearances.

Gretchen Corbett (June Sterling): Born 1947. This Oregon-born actress had a recurring role as Beth on The Rockford Files (1974-78).

Jonna Lee (Gina Sterling): Lee appeared in TV movies during the late 1980s.

Jonathan Banks (Kroll): Banks later had a recurring role in the 1980s series Wiseguy.

Tony O'Dell (Trace Sterling): O'Dell played one of the students in the 1980s situation comedy Head of the Class.

Chris Hebert (Smith Sterling): This young actor's first weekly series was Boone (1983-84).

When the Sterlings arrive in a town called Ador, they find a society where the women are dominant and the men are treated as second class.

Wr Bruce A. Taylor, Coleman Luck

Dir Thomas J. Wright

1 - 7 MANSION OF THE BEAST

While traveling through the dead forest of Animula, the Sterlings encounter a half man-half beast, named Virago, with incredible powers. Virago takes June to be his companion. Assisted by another forest resident named Akin, Hal and the kids try to rescue her.

Wr Roderick Taylor, Coleman Luck

Dir Corey Allen

1 - 8 PRINCESS METRA

After arriving at a province called Metraplex, Gina is mistaken for a returning historical figure called Princess Metra. Seeing that groups of people called Microworkers are used as slave labor by the Macrolites, Gina takes advantage of her status by changing the laws to bring about change; and ultimately gets help from a group of rebelling Microworkers. However, the current leader, called the Prime Manager, does not give up her power willingly.

Wr Douglas Lloyd McIntosh

Dir Peter Medak

OUT OF SIGHT

12 year old Joe Lucas is a scientific genius who develops a formula which gives him the ability to turn invisible, the only other person who knows about the potion is Joe's best friend Ali Patanjali. The two boys manage to get in all sorts of trouble with their new found power of invisibility. The rest of Joe's family is completely unaware of his experiments in the garden shed, Joe's father is a hassled cab drivers who runs a business, which gets into to trouble occasionally, and only Joe and his invisibility formula can help.

The formula is known as Inviz and only lasts for a short amount of time, another disadvantage is that invisibility can be stopped by spraying water on whatever has been coated with Inviz in the first place.

The creator and one of the writers Richard Carpenter was also responsible for creating the SF series CATWEAZLE. Despite the character of Ali being a boy in the show, the person who plays Ali is in fact a young girl by the name of Sacha Dhawan, she is always refereed to as he. The series was shown on the ITV network with the second series being shown on a weekly basis on ITV in the fall of 1998.

Another more adult version of the invisible formula also premiered in 1998 on the ITV network in the form of THE VANISHING MAN, which was generally not well received. Out of Sight however has developed into a nice show for ITV with some good acting throughout and with the usual plots that will keep most children entertained, it maybe a simple premise, but it does work quite well.

The children's slot can be some of the most rewarding places to look for science fiction series. Budgets are often on the small side, but without the constraints that can hold back adult dramas they have much more freedom to indulge the imagination. Out of Sight was the first thing Peter Baldwin agreed to do when he left the popular Coronation Street after more than 20 years playing Derek Wilton.

WR. Richard Carpenter, Graham Alborough, Richard Fegen and Jim Eldrige.

DIR.

EPISODES: 27 YEAR MADE: 1996 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 3

CARLTON UK PRODUCTION/CENTRAL T.V. FOR I.T.V.

CREATOR: RICHARD CARPENTER

TYPE OF SHOW: INVISIBLE MEN FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 25 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 6 ,(2) 8, (3) 13

DATE OF PREMIER: 11/07/1996 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Joe Lucas SHANE FOX, AKBER KARIM (1), EMMILY OLDKNOW (1), SIMON SLATER (1), RAYMOND BRODY (1), AFTAB SACHAK (1), Ali Patanjali SACHA DHAWAN (2-3), Shane Lucas TOM ALDWINCKLE (2-3), Mrs. Lucas MOIRA BROOKER (2), Mr. Lucas SIMON PEARSALL (2-3), Miss Young SOPHIE MCCONNEL (2), Grandad KEN JONES (2).

RELATED SHOWS:

CATWEAZLE

VANISHING MAN, THE

1 - 1 THE LUCAS-GARROW EFFECT

Joe finds the diary that will lead him down his invisible path.

Dir David Cobham, Alex Kirby

2 - 1 UNCLE GUS

Mr. Lucas' long-lost uncle appears on their doorstep and doesn't want to leave. When Uncle Gus falls down the stairs and can't leave, Joe uses Inviz to investigate.

2 - 2 A WEIGHT OF YOUR MIND

Mr. Lucas' long-lost uncle appears on their doorstep and doesn't want to leave. When Uncle Gus falls down the stairs and can't leave, Joe uses Inviz to investigate.

2 - 3 LITTLE TOMMY DAWKINS

High bills force Joe's father to cut off the energy supply to the shed. So, Joe must find an alternative. He uses Inviz to sneak into the library and borrow some books. The librarian, believing she's seen a ghost, calls in an investigator. Everyone in town panics when it's decided the ghost is Little Tommy Dawkins, a chimney sweep from 1839.

2 - 4 GIVING TROUBLE

When Joe's Granddad gives him a gift he doesn't want, he decides to sell it to buy a freezer for his lab. Ali and Joe use Inviz on Granddad's car to travel to the shop. Unfortunately, along the way they get into a wreck. Now, they need a replacement brake light without any money to pay for it.

2 - 5 GUITAR BLUES

Joe and Ali ask a rock star to help save their school's playing field. The rock star, Jazz, doesn't want to give a donation until his lucky guitar goes missing. Joe offers to rescue the guitar, if Jazz agrees to help the school.

2 - 6 TEACHER'S PET

When Joe mixes Inviz with animals, the results are disastrous.

2 - 7 THE BETTER MAN

When another genius joins his class, Joe gets competitive and jealous.

2 - 8 BULLY FOR YOUR

It's brain versus brawn as Joe tests a theory.

3 - 1 APPEARANCES CAN BE DECEPTIVE

Joe and Ali must become detectives, invisible ones, when they trip over a murder plot.

3 - 2 JOLLITY B AND B

The family goes on holiday to a farm house, where they assume they are guests.

3 - 3 CONFIDENCE TRICK

The new boy at school gets a little invisible help.

3 - 4 THE TAXI MAN COMETH

A man visits the taxi office. While checking the accounts, he causes problems involving love, revenge, and panic.

3 - 5 MOMMENT OF TRUTH

When Joe begins experimenting with a new formula, he finds himself in trouble.

3 - 6 OFF YOUR TROLLEY

Joe's new invention is designed to help his mom with her new supermarket promotion.

3 - 7 PLAYING AROUND

The boys beat a family of cheats at their own game by using Inviz in a game of golf.

3 - 8 PHOTO FINISH

During the process of dissappearing, Ali takes a picture of himself.

3 - 9 A GOTTLE OF GEER

The boys lend some invisible help to their friend's Punch and Judy show when a rival targets it for mischief.

3 - 10 BABY, PLEASE DON'T GO

A visiting baby causes havoc at the house when he gets his hands on Inviz.

3 - 11 THE MAGIC FLUTE

The school is having a concert, but the star has been thrown in detention. So, the boys use Invizto bust her out.

3 - 12 FOUR WEDDINGS AND A PUNCH-UP

Mr. Lucas drives the limo to the wrong church when he's hired to drive at a wedding.

3 - 13 MY INVISIBLE FRIEND

OUT OF THE UNKNOWN

Anthology series which did mostly science fiction stories, sometimes based on famous authors writings. Stories included "Time in Advance" in which in the future people with criminal tendencies can be licensed to commit a crime. "The Machine Stops" which is set in an Edwardian vision of the future, dominated by machines. "Satisfaction Guaranteed" in which an ambitious executive, is on a business trip, leaving his wife with a robot indistinguishable from a man. Finally in "Target Generation", a puritan, superstitious, inward-looking community of the future is confined within The Ship, they have been there for generations, they all fear the tremor and only one man knows what to do if it happens.

British science fiction anthology series of high quality albeit low budget (4,000 pounds/episode in 1st season, 6,000 pounds/episode 2nd season). Adaptations of stories by first-rate science fiction authors. Producer -- Alan Bromly Writers -- adaptations of stories by Isaac Asimov, J. G. Ballard, John Brunner, Cyril Kornbluth, Robert Shekley, Clifford Simak, John Wyndham, and others.

This SF anthology series, originated by Irene Shubik -- previously story editor on OUT OF THIS WORLD (1962) -- dramatised the work of many well known SF writers. Adapted stories and novels included Immortality, Inc. (1958) by Robert Shekley, Liar! (1941; rev 1977 chap) by Isaac Asimov, "The Last Lonely Man" (1964) by John Brunner, "Beachhead" (1951) by Clifford D. Simak, "Random Quest" (1961) by John Wyndham, "The Little Black Bag" (1950) by C.M. Kornbluth, "Thirteen for Centaurus" (1962) by J.G. Ballard, The Naked Sun (1957) by Asimov, "The Midas Plague" (1954) by Frederik Pohl, "Andover and the Android" (1963) by Kate Wilhelm, "The Yellow Pill" (1958) by Rog Phillip, Level 7 (1959) by Mordecai Roshwald and "The Machine Stops" (1909) by E.M. Forster.

Despite budget limitations, the standard of production was often very high, and good actors were used; one episode was designed by Ridley Scott. The quality of the scripts varied, some of the writers assigned being unfamiliar with SF. After 3 seasons the BBC decided that the series lacked mass popularity, and for the 4th switched it from SF to supernatural stories, all but one being original teleplays.

'Without doubt the best adult science fiction series ever to be written for the small screen.'
(Daily Express)

The cause of British adult science fiction was never better served than by this prestigious BBC anthology series of single plays. Drawn heavily from the written works of top-notch SF writers such as Isaac Asimov, John Wyndham, Ray Bradbury and Frederick Pohl, Out of the Unknown ran for four seasons on BBC2 between 1965 and 1971 - two black and white, two colour - and became a magnet for some of the brightest talent around at the time.

Inspiration came from producer Irene Shubik who already had an enviable track record in the field - as story editor for ABC Television, she had helmed the pioneering 1962 ITV science fiction anthology series Out of This World, and had also established a reputation for picking winners for ABC's renowned Armchair Theatre series.

Among the dramatists working on the first season were Terry Nation, Leon Griffiths and Bruce Stewart (later to script the first, and best, Timeslip stories for ATV), all of whom had worked with Shubik on Out of This World. The directorial credits included Philip Saville (Boys from the Blackstuff), Alan Bridges and Peter Sady, and among the ranks of BBC designers were Barry Learoyd, Peter Seddon and Ridley Scott who, of course, found greater acclaim as director of Alien and Blade Runner. And the series regularly attracted high-calibre casts with David Hemmings, Milo O'Shea, Warren Mitchell, Donald Houston, Rachel Roberts, George Cole, Anton Rodgers, Ed Begley and Marius Goring among the stars.

Being an anthology, OW of the Unknown was never tied to one style of science fiction, though it eschewed membership of the 'bug-eyed monster' club. Some stories were played for suspense (The Counterfeit Man,

- Wr Stanley Miller
Dir Peter Potter
 1 - 2 THE COUNTERFEIT MAN
- Wr Philip Broadley
Dir George Spenton-Foster
 1 - 3 STRANGER IN THE FAMILY
- Wr David Campton
Dir Alan Bridges
 1 - 4 THE DEAD PAST
- Wr Jeremy Paul
Dir John Gorrie
 1 - 5 TIME IN ADVANCE
- Wr Paul Erickson
Dir Peter Sasdy
 1 - 6 COME BUTTERCUP, COME DAISY, COME...?
- Wr Mike Watts
Dir Paddy Russell
 1 - 7 SUCKER BAIT
- Wr Meade Roberts
Dir Naomi Capon
 1 - 8 THE FOX AND THE FOREST
- Wr Terry Nation, Meade Roberts
Dir Robin Midgley
 1 - 9 ANDOVER AND THE ANDROID
- Wr Bruce Stewart
Dir Alan Cooke
 1 - 10 SOME LAPSE OF TIME
- Wr Leon Griffiths
Dir Roger Jenkins
 1 - 11 THIRTEEN TO CENTAURUS
- Wr Stanley Miller
Dir Peter Potter
 1 - 12 THE MIDAS PLAGUE
- Wr Irene Shubik, Troy Kennedy Martin
Dir Peter Sasdy
 2 - 1 THE MACHINE STOPS

Far beneath the surface of the Earth, Man lives, served by the Machine, all-powerful sustainer of life. In her solitary cell, Vashti studies the Book of the Machine. It contains instructions for every possible contingency, for the Machine serves every need of the body and mind. Man who created it, has now come to rely upon it completely. Without it, he could no longer exist. Although religion is discouraged as redundant superstition, Vashti secretly worships the machine ... Her son, Kuno, however, is not nearly so amenable. For him life under the Machine is not the complete and only answer: Finally one day, he finds a way out on to the surface of the Earth.

(Kuno, is dragged back by the forces of the machine, but what he has seen outside has turned him into a rebel. He attempts to defy the laws of the Machine. To train his body for rigorous physical activity, although all actual physical movement is forbidden as vulgar and unproductive of ideas. He tries to convey to his mother the immense beauty of the stars and hill he has seen outside but she is shocked and disgusted, and the committee of the Machine forbid him to leave his cell. No-one, least of all his mother, will listen to his prophesies that the Machine will break down and that Man will be helpless to repair it.

Then one day, the prophesies come true. The Machine begins to falter and the underground population are helpless both to repair their master and to save themselves. To late, Vashti realises that her son was right and that humanity has been destroyed by mechanisation.)

Wr Kenneth Cavender & Clive Donner/E.M.Forster

Dir Philip Saville

2 - 2 FRANKENSTEIN MARK II

A certain Mr. Smithers calls one evening at the flat of Mrs. Anna Preston to collect some things belonging to her ex-husband. George Preston works at a Space Research Station and Mr. Smithers, who claims to run a wholesale stationary business, seems a very incongruous sort of companion for George. Anna, puzzled, tried to contact George at the Station, but without success. Something appears to be wrong. The mystery deepens when she bumps into Smithers in the street and he denies that he ever came to her flat.

(Even the police refuse to help her. Her suspicions are seriously aroused when she receives a post card from Edinburgh ostensibly from George, but obviously forged. By now Anna is desperate. Mr. Smithers appears for the second time. Apologising for the Oxford Street encounter, he offers to lead her to George.

At the Station, George's colleagues tell her to prepare for a shock. George has offered himself as guinea-pig in an experiment by which the human body has been modified to facilitate space travel. He is no longer human, but a mixture of man and machine. When at last she sees him, she cries out that she still loves him, and accuses them of murder. Contrary to what the scientists believe, George is still capable of emotional response, and late that night he breaks out of the laboratory and returns to Anna's flat. Torn between pity and revulsion Anna cannot bear to touch him. In despair he destroys himself.)

Wr Hugh Whitmore

Dir Peter Duguid

2 - 3 LAMBDA ONE

At the New York Terminal the giant "Mu Elektron" is preparing to take off on a routine flight to London. After the final nuclear war the Earth's surface is no longer habitable, and because the survivors are forced to live underground, they have also been compelled to invent a new system of travel. This is Tau, whereby the displacement of atoms enables one solid body to pass through another. As all atoms are energy, a Tau ship must utilise one of several modes of oscillation in order to enter atomic space. Experiments have shown that there are four, designated as Gamma, Delta, Epsilon and Zeta. There is a legendary fifth, but no-one has any proof that it actually exists. It has been labelled "Omega", the end, the ultimate in horror because it is unknown.

Among the passengers of the "Mu Elektron" is Julie, the estranged wife of Paul Porter the Senior Controller of Tau Transport in the U.K., who has decided to return to him because she is pregnant. Captain Dantor, the Commander, cynical and disillusioned, has been drinking heavily. Suddenly alarming symptoms begin to show on the airport telescreens. The ship seems to be slipping out of the known mode circuits. The omega symbol appears. Mu Elektron has landed at London Airport, but it is totally unreachable. If the ship cannot be brought back the passengers are irretrievably lost.

(Lambda I, the original Tau Transport prototype, for long a museum exhibit, seems to be the only chance of rescue. Because at the time it was built, the mode circuits were less fixable it may be possible by a hit-or-miss process to reach Omega. The modern ships deliberately guard against slipping out of a set mode. Porter himself, with Eric Benedict a psychologist, decides to take the risk. Benedict has long held the theory that the physical laws which obtain in Tau space are somehow tied up with the human brain. Apparently on their perilous journey and when they reach the stranded ship they discover that at the time she went into Omega a passenger had tried to commit suicide. Now Julie, carrying Paul's child, by her own will to live is able to redress the balance, proving the continuing ascendancy of man's own mind over every physical law.)

Wr Bruce Stewart/Colin Knapp

Dir George Spenton-Foster

2 - 4 LEVEL SEVEN

"H" has just finished his final training with defence computers and due to the excellence of his record, his promotion to Major is assured. But before taking up his new duties he is entitled to three weeks' leave. Calling him into his office, the Colonel tells him that the last part of his training programme entails a visit to certain underground installations which will necessitate postponing his leave by a day or two. Just a day or two. But what H does not realise is that once underground, he is there for keeps.

H finds himself on "Level 7", 4,500 feet below the Earth's surface. Above him are six other levels, each one for a different population category: Government, scientists, service chiefs, etc. Each level is entirely self-sufficient even manufacturing its own air. Each inhabitant has been carefully chosen for his lack of family ties and responsibilities, and they will live in perfect safety. H will be known as X127, and he will work closely in the Operations room with X117, in case of an emergency they must both push the buttons together: the buttons that will send the deadly nuclear rockets over enemy territory. Each button controls a different type of rocket.

For a time life proceeds smoothly, except for isolated incidents. H's duty companion X117 cracks up and has to be given medical attention - medical attention which erases all memory of surface life. H himself falls in love and is allowed to get married. But he nearly find himself in serious trouble when he breaks into the plant room to give his fiancée a flower. They are denied access to the Married Room for one month.

(Suddenly, almost without warning, the final alarm goes. The enemy have let off their own rockets by mistake but it is too late to bring them back. H and his colleague, the new X117, have pressed the final button, and the evil dark stain spreads across the Operations Map. The War is all over in 45 minutes. The TV screens show nothing but ugliness and barren desolation left. Peace negotiations have nothing to negotiate about.

But Level 7 hasn't taken into account the deadly radiation poisoning which seeps down through the ground. Soon it has engulfed all the other levels, bringing with it blindness, vomiting and death. H and his wife die in each other's arms. The whole of Level 7 has been in vain.)

Wr J.B.Priestley/Mordecai Roshwald

Dir Rudolph Cartier

2 - 5 SECOND CHILDHOOD

The TV Quiz Show "You Bet A Million" is only open to millionaires; contestants failing to answer a simple question stand to lose a million, but if they answer correctly they win either a million or "The prize that is beyond price". In Charles Dennistoun's case this turns out to be Doctor Kepler's [sic] rejuvenation process.

(His family are watching the programme with mixed feelings. Up till now, the process has been reserved for deserving cases only; benefactors of mankind, or great artists have been eligible. This is the first time it has ever been given away in a TV Quiz Show. And now Charles has accepted it in preference to a cool, million. Tearfully his wife Betty waves him off at the Airport, where he is bound for Heppler's Clinic high in the Austrian Alps. For Charles to be made young again will mean for her the end of their married life, or so she thinks.

At the Clinic, the treatment is spectacularly successful. Heppler tells Charles that he will look like a man of thirty. Asked why he hasn't used the treatment on himself, Heppler confides that since being accidentally exposed to radiation, and consequently having a weak heart, the process, for him, would be dangerous. He has however used it on his wife Odile who assists him. Finding his vitality miraculously restored, Charles and Odile have an affair. When Heppler finds evidence of his wife's infidelity, the shock brings on a further heart attack which kills him. With Heppler dead disaster strikes. Only Heppler knew the secret of stopping the reverse ageing process, and now there is nothing to stop Charles from getting younger indefinitely.

The date arrives for his return to England. His family wait apprehensively. Suddenly an enormous Rolls drives up. When Betty opens the door she finds a tiny baby on the doorstep.)

Wr Hugh Leonard

Dir John Gorrie

2 - 6 THE WORLD IN SILENCE

Garsfield College is a very advanced centre of learning; the students are taught exclusively by tapes fed into teaching machines. Most of them take to this method of education easily; but some, like Sarah Richards, become neurotic and unhappy. The inhumanity of the machines frightens her.

Stephen Kershaw, who supervises the tape operation, is instructed to realign some new machines in accordance with fire regulations. The students are roped in to help and, after the machines have been arranged in their new pattern, strange things begin to happen.

(In the Control Room Kershaw and his assistant begin to notice that the students' responses seem to be speeded up. Most surprising is the change in Sarah. She looks more relaxed, completely at ease, all her nerves forgotten. And she answers all questions automatically and at once. They try her on Third Year problems. She answers questions she couldn't possibly have known. So do all the other students, even in the First Year Grade. Gradually Sarah takes over control. The moving of the machines has somehow established a mental link between all the students, and the composite will working through Sarah is strong enough not only to alter the very structure of the College, but to kill is opposed. Sarah informs Kershaw that after a while the first batch of students will be "processed" and that he will be one of the replacements. When the time arrives for him to take place at a machine, he appears to do so willingly, then a post hypnotic suggestion orders him to move one of the machines a fraction of a foot.

The plan works; but destroys not only the pattern, but the machines and the College as well. Kershaw and Sarah's mother visit the girl in hospital. She has become again a timid little girl, hiding from the world behind her spectacles.)

Wr Robert Gould/John Rankine

Dir Naomi Capon

2 - 7 THE EYE

A future society has invented a device which picks up the "finger prints" which light and sound waves leave on matter, descrambles them and produces the image of any event in the previous fifty years. This means that, when Julian Clay murders Andrew Maddox, the Public Prosecutor can see him doing it. Only a plea of acting on impulse under provocation can save his life.

(In fact Clay planned Maddox's murder, to the last detail, months in advance. Knowing his every move had an unseen future audience. Murder was a necessity for Clay. Maddox had taken away his fiance, Bea. Bea anyway despised Clay as an indecisive weakling. To commit murder and get away with it was one decisive, defiant act which would lay these ghosts and overcome the sense of inferiority which had haunted him since childhood. His acquittal and reunion with Bea, however, leave him unsatisfied. Only by a second murder, committed in public, can his ruthlessness achieve the recognition he desires.)

Wr Stanley Miller/Henry Kuttner

Dir Peter Sasdy

2 - 8 TUNNEL UNDER THE WORLD

Guy and Mary Birkett wake up on the morning of June 15th both having had the same dream - a gigantic explosion. However, soon the normal morning routine reasserts itself. Guy will have to hurry over breakfast, otherwise he will be late for his job at Contro Chemicals. Today he must be there early because it is the morning when he must make out his tax returns. The factory slightly frightens him - he has never been able to come to terms with the Dorchin process; a process whereby a human brain pattern can be mechanically reproduced, so that the machines can actually think for themselves. Better not to think too closely about that

At his office Guy finds that a little man named Swanson has been urgently trying to contact him. Today his appointment book is full, but his secretary arranges for him to see Swanson at 9.30 a.m. A normal day draws to a close.

Today June 15th, Guy wakes up screaming. Again he has dreamt of an explosion. But outside he hears the normal day's routine noises - the loudspeakers advertising Marlin's Cigarettes, or Freckle Freezers, just as usual. At the restaurant where he eats his lunch he is persuaded, just as his wife has been, to buy a Freckle Freezer, though he doesn't want one. A little man named Stevenson has made an appointment for tomorrow.

The next day, June 15th, everything goes wrong, both at the office and at home. Last thing at night all the fuses blow. While he is trying to mend them he is knocked unconscious. He remains in the fuse cupboard all night, failing to notice the two midnight intruders [sic] who place a pair of earphones carefully over his wife Mary's head as she lies asleep.

(For his wife the next morning again will be June 15th. But he hasn't received the brainwashing treatment. He can remember the day before. At his office, Swanson rings. He too has recognised what is happening. The two meet at the restaurant where Guy lunches. And from there, in a long tunnel connecting the restaurant to Contro Chemicals, they begin to discover the truth. Dorchin, inventor of the machine humanising process is behind it all. When an explosion at the factory caused the death of the town's inhabitants, he converted them all into robots, while at the same time he was able to test the efficacy of his advertising processes. But because such a process would be expensive using life-size dolls, Dorchin used instead scale models. Guy and his wife are living their lives on a table top!)

Wr David Campton/Frederick Pohl

Dir Alan Cooke

2 - 9 THE FASTEST DRAW

The first thing Peter Stenning realises when he arrives at the Handworthy Foundation in the Mexican desert is that there's no job for him. Amos Handworthy has gone off on one of his trips without informing his Staff on which project the young electronics expert whom he contracted in England will be working. After several days of heel-kicking he is sent for, to find Amos waiting for him in an exact replica of a Wild Western Saloon. The era when the Wild West was in its heyday plainly thrills him, and he explains to Peter that his father was a U. S. Marshal, one of the fastest draws west of Pecos. The first real work Peter finds himself doing is mending an old coin-operated music making machine.

However, re-living the past is more than a hobby with Amos Handworthy; it is a mania, as Peter is soon to learn.

(Grateful at Peter's skill with printed circuits, Amos shows him his Automata room. Beautiful and graceful dancers spring to life at the press of a button, and there is even a child who writes a letter home. Although he realises that Amos is slightly unbalanced, Peter is impressed despite himself. But Amos' biggest prize is a replica of a Western street, and a Marshal with hand on gun. Amos tells Peter that the device is electrically operated to shoot and Amos can practice beating him to the draw. He wants Peter to speed up the Marshal's reactions, and Peter can do this by linking up the Marshal with Amos' own nervous system, so that the tenses Amos feels, the faster the Marshal will shoot.

There is a woman in the case, Amos' housekeeper, Emma Bowles, who longs for Amos' death. Peter too, tied by the terms of his contract to remain nothing but a glorified toymaker, yearns to escape. It is a simple matter of electronics and real bullets, to see that the automatic Marshal remains "the fastest draw".)

Wr Julian Bond/Larry Eisenberg

Dir Herbert Wise

2 - 10 TOO MANY COOKS

Wr Hugh Whitmore/Larry Eisenberg

Dir John Gibson

2 - 11 WALK'S END

Old Miss Claythorpe lives alone in "St. Bridget's Home for the Elderly", a tumbledown, depressing and squalid home where the Matron is a secret drinker. One day, she is surprised to receive a call from two strangers, who introduce themselves as Mrs. Dakers and Doctor Saint. They have a proposition for the old lady. If she will come with them to Walk's End, a pleasant and attractive country house where Mrs. Dakers is the Matron, she won't have to pay a penny, and she can her days in comfort. Although she is puzzled at this offer apparently out of the blue, Miss Claythorpe allows herself to be persuaded, and she is escorted to Walk's End in the Doctor's Rolls.

(There she meets the other residents. Among them are Major Gregory, all military precision, vague Mrs. Hope who isn't quite sure whether she will have to share a room or not, Mr. Quire who is following a BBC teach-yourself Spanish course - much to everyone else's annoyance, and Mr Bone a retired biologist. It is the latter who has come to some quite definite conclusions about what Dr Saint's mysterious experiments with rats portend. They are all to receive euthanasia, to balance the surplus population. While the others have all more or less come to terms with this, Miss Claythorpe is horribly frightened. She doesn't want to die before her time. Doctor Saint, as soon as he realises what they believe, hastens tearfully to reassure them. He holds human life sacred. How could they believe such a terrible thing? But the assuaging of fears only gives place to worse ones. He is a human vivisectionist. Hastily they try to organise a mass escape. All, except Mr. Bone. He has spent a quiet time in Saint's laboratory and has come up with the truth - a truth far worse than euthanasia. Saint has found a way to keep them alive - not young, but as they are now. They will stay old - indefinitely. Glumly he confronts an endless, and petty, future)

Wr William Trevor

Dir Ian Curteis

2 - 12 SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

Wr Hugh Leonard/Isaac Asimov

Dir John Gorrie

2 - 13 THE PROPHET

Wr Robert Muller/Isaac Asimov

Dir Naomi Capon

3 - 1 IMMORTALITY INC.

"When a normal man dies the energy web of his mind is disrupted by the death trauma and dispersed," says the Chairman of Rex, 22nd-Century inventors of Hereafter insurance. "Only those who have dedicated years to the disciplines of Yogi can hope for their minds to survive the psychic shock of death and pass into the Hereafter. Now we have developed an intricate electro-chemical process which stimulates the Yogi discipline and ensures survival of the mind after death - for any man who can afford it."

But when Rex use their equipment to pluck the mind of a man living in the past and implant it in a 22nd-Century body, they encounter an ancient phenomena: the Death Wish.

Mark Blaine may be bitterly determined to hold on to the new life in the new body that Rex has given him - particularly after he has met Marie, one of the scientists involved. But the fact remains that at the critical moment on the motorway in 1968 he let Rex crash his car for him.

With marie as his mistress and his job as a "hunter" - of those rich enough to afford Hereafter Insurance who wish to experience the kick of being murdered - Blaine's only worry is the mysterious zombie who has haunted him persistently since his arrival. This zombie in fact saves Blaine's life when he becomes involved in the political in-fighting between Rex and the Government. Later with Marie's help, Blaine is spirited out to safety in the South Seas. Here he settles and ultimately marries Marie. But once again the zombie seeks him out. It has at last discovered its original identity, it says. When Blaine crashed on the motorway he killed another man whose mind was also pulled over by Rex into the 22nd-Century. The mind was lucky enough to find a host body - the zombie's - but this is dying. Will Blain now surrender his body to the mind of the man he killed with his own death wish?

Marie is distraught, but Blaine knows the justice of the zombie's plea. He must surrender his body. He anyway possesses Hereafter Insurance; he will wait for Marie to join him

Wr Robert Sheckley / Jack Pulman

Dir Philip Dudley
3 - 2 LIAR!

Wr David Campton/Isaac Asimov

Dir Gerald Blake
3 - 3 THE LAST LONELY MAN

If, by an accident of science, it became possible for the personality to pass at the moment of death into the mind of someone still alive, then the big new problem would be into whom. To foist the wits of a rogue onto an unwilling recipient would be unjust indeed. Any government who could thus cheat death might indeed win a popular vote, but only so long as all was voluntary - mutually contracted.

James Hale is a man of such a society. He has insured against death of his personality by arranging mutual "Contact" contracts with his relatives. He is already host to his late father with whose memories and prejudices he has now learned to live. He himself is a responsible parent of twins whose Contact he will arrange when they are of age. He is also a warm-hearted man who, when he meets one Patrick Wilson, agrees to "take him on until he can get fixed up with a friend".

When, the morning after, it transpires that Patrick is in fact utterly friendless, James begins to get worried. He has, after all, a responsibility to his other Contacts - as they are quick to emphasise. He must go to the officials and "expunge" this incompatible Contact immediately. But Patrick is too quick for him. Before James can get free, the lonely man commits suicide. Agonising seconds later, James starts to laugh - but with the mirthless bellow of Patrick Wilson.

It isn't all one-sided. There are times when the old James seems quite himself again. But always the lying, the arrogance, the crafty deceit of Patrick are lurking there in the background. Of course the government has installed adjustment clinics. But to adjust to such a schizophrenia as this, it seems, is too much. James is stuck - the victim of one kind-hearted moment too many. All too soon, his sole remaining Contact is his wife. One Contact, whom he must now take desperate steps to retain. One last Contact - in a world where to die Contactless is to die

Wr Jeremy Paul/John Brunner

Dir Douglas Camfield
3 - 4 BEACH HEAD

Commandant Decker, like so many pioneering explorers explorers before him, is a man who has to prove himself to himself. He is a veteran of some thirty-six fault-less missions to alien planets. They were faultless because the ultra-technology which man has evolved overcomes all eventualities, however strange, however "unknown". The spacecraft, robots, computers, drugs, weapons - all are perfect, invincible. Decker and his colleagues have achieved great facts in the conquering of space; but the real achievement is that of science rather than of the men who use it; the human function has been reduced to that of a button-pusher, flesh-robot. And now on his thirty-seventh mission, to planet 0243/B, Commandant Decker is tired - tired of his life, tired of what man has become - tired to the point of rebellion.

And it is not until this new planet subtly defeats their hitherto infallible machines that Decker at last defines both the cause and the cure for his dissatisfaction: that he is first and foremost a human-being.

Wr Robert Muller/Clifford Simak

Dir James Cellan Jones

3 - 5 SOMETHING IN THE CELLAR

Life, according to Jean Paul Sartre, lies like beauty in the eye of the beholder. The life-force in a computer may seem a long way from the bio-chemical pulsing of protoplasm, but its influences can still exist for those disposed to recognise it. Physicist Dr. Monty Lafcado, in his obsessive desire to make a translating machine, becomes thus disposed. Though in Lafcado's case, possessed by be an more appropriate term.

With the financial patronage of I.B.C., he and his assistant Fred have for years been adding circuit upon circuit to the complex transformers, memory-shunts and tape-banks in the cellar of his rambling family home. They have produced a monster that can ingest German, French or Hebrew and regurgitate it as English - of a sort. It can also, they discover, assimilate the odd remark passed in its presence - often to disconcerting effect.

One thing it cannot do, however, is keep house. So that the appearance of an amiable woman, Bettina, is welcome indeed to Lafcado. And in no time at all her status as cook and cleaner is raised to that of wife. But it doesn't work. Lafcado starts showing symptoms of nervous strain. They are symptoms which, were his mother still alive, might be described as oedipal. But she isn't alive. There is only the chatty old thing in the cellar. A machine. Inanimate. Or so it seems - until the day Lafcado is taken off to a clinic. And then, with swift and vicious cunning, it strikes Bettina dead. The effect of Lafcado is shocking. Bewildered, he puts up a last pathetic show of defiance at the thing he has created. But its life-force is too strong - irresistible for a man whose overwhelming need is for a mother in whose soothing womb to forget his troubles

Wr Donal Bull

Dir Roger Jenkins

3 - 6 RANDON QUEST

Interpreted one way, Einstein's special theory on the four-dimensional space-time continuum could mean that there are numerous other planes of existence on earth which are parallel to our own.

When physicist Colin Trafford is involved in a laboratory explosion, he regains consciousness in just such another plane of existence - one which, it seems, diverged from our own around 1937 and has been running parallel, though rather differently, ever since. Hitler, for instance, had been assassinated in 1938. Consequently no World War, no atom bomb, no Korea, no Truman - and less inflation. Colin Trafford, having been born pre-1937, exists in both planes; so that this new world already has a profession, a home and a most attractive wife, Otilie, waiting for him. All of which is exceedingly confusing to him - as is the fact that he now has a moustache and a large bank balance. True, he is a member of the same Club and recognises a couple of his other-world acquaintances. But there the similarities end. For, while it is apparent that this other-world Colin whose shoes he literally finds himself, has prospered as a famous journalist, he appears to have done so very much at the expense of his character. Colin finds himself regarded as an irresponsible, selfish adulterer plagued by a possessive mistress and with his marriage to Otilie distressingly on the rocks.

Hopelessly in love with Otilie from the moment he first meets her in their lavish Knightsbridge home, Colin finds her antagonism intolerable. He dedicates himself to repairing their relationship; but at the very moment when it seems as though he is about to succeed, he blacks out, only to regain consciousness in his original plane of existence.

He becomes obsessed with the belief that his beloved Otilie Harshom (her maiden name) must also have been born into and exist on this plane. Certainly no-one has ever been christened with that name. And not noe of the Harshoms living in England can offer any help. Indeed eventually he begins to accept that his life in the other plane, must, as the doctors insist, have been nothing but an exceptionally vivid dream.

But then, following a last clue, he discovers that a fighter pilot named Harshom had a girl friend who bore him a daughter. Had the pilot not been killed the child would have been christened Otilie Harshom.

And indeed when Colin finally traces the girl, it is to find her the real Otilie of his "dream".

Wr Owen Holder/John Wyndham

Dir Christopher Barry

3 - 7 THE NAKED SUN

Wr Robert Muller/Isaac Asimov

Dir Rudolph Cartier

3 - 8 THE LITTLE BLACK BAG

Altruism versus personal gain is a recurring conflict. By placing a discovery of vast potential value to humanity in the hands of two morally and materially deprived people, one might expect to see altruism defeated. In "The Little Black Bag" it is. But not before the conflict has brought the murder of one and the involuntary suicide of the other.

The discovery is medical - the shape of a miraculous do-it-yourself doctor's bag time-travelled back from 2065. It falls into the hands of the disbarred and drunken Dr. Full and an enterprising female racketeer, Angie. Teaming up, they open a clinic for cosmetic surgery. Thanks to the non-scar-forming instruments capable of removing subcutaneous deposits and firming fatty flesh, business is soon flourishing.

But the doctor is dissatisfied. Cured by the bag of his alcoholism, he begins to fret over the wasteful way they are exploiting it. His first tentative experiments with curing warts and minor infections soon progress to major surgical therapy of malignant tumours and tubercular lungs. And the more magical his cures, the more his conscience troubles him.

Not so Angie. To her the bag is the road to Eldorado. As she says of one flabby widow: "We could go over her inch by inch at two-hundred guineas a throw, and be millionaires by the time we'd finished." And when Full finally agrees with Harley Street to suspend his practice pending official tests of the bag, Angie goes berserk. Seizing the amputation knife, she murders him - then brazenly prepares to take over the treatment of his patients.

Meanwhile, ahead in the year 2065, the makers have been keeping a check on the bag. When warning lights flash that it has been put to the anti-social use of murder, they decide to destroy it.

They do so at the precise moment that Angie is demonstrating the "absolute safety" of an operating knife by slashing it across her throat

Wr Julian Bond/C.M.Kornbluth

Dir Eric Hills

3 - 9 1+1=1.5

The year 2020, and Britain has retrieved supremacy in at least one field: Population Control. And the focus of this achievement is Rural 79B where the computer-calculated target of one-point-five children per married couple has now been achieved. Rural 79B's Population Officer Henry Beldon duly receives a Ministerial Commendation First Class in recognition. But his glory evaporates with the discovery that his wife Mary is expecting a second and unscheduled child. What now of his finely maintained average? What now of Rural 79B is the news leaks out that one of its couple has beaten the F (for fertility) factor? And worse, that the husband presumably responsible was the Population Officer no less. Only he and Medical Officer Stewart were privy to the secret of the F-factor: yet, had he done so? Or had Mary, bored and love-starved, somehow achieved her unlicensed condition through maternal devices of her own?

To M.O. Stewart, the latter seems the more likely. Either this or Beldon has suddenly become super-fertile - a possibility which also occurs (and appeals) to various of their female colleagues.

The public response when the news does break is "a classical case of mass repression triggered into action." The official response, however, is far more forbidding - particular for Beldon. Facing banishment to the under-populated Arctic he turns in despair to Mary. The secret of her pregnancy - has she no idea? Remorseful at last at the threat to her husband's career, Mary confesses. She had found it in her ancient herbal diary: "For those who, though hot for the bearing of childer[sic], come not in season" But is even her explanation right?

If so it makes a mockery of M.O. Stewart's modern methods of compulsory contraception ...

It requires a chance remark and Stewart's diligence finally to solve the foetal mystery. And even then, how to appease the Computer and restore Rural 79B to its cherished average of one-point-five?

Wr Brian Hayles

Dir Michael Ferguson

3 - 10 THE FOSTERS

Bio-chemist Dr. Harold Gerwyn is puzzled by a man on the 'phone warning him that his wife will fall ill. He is deeply shaken when she indeed does, going into a mysterious coma for which the hospital is unable to find either cause or cure.

The man 'phones again, instructing Gerwyn to go to an address. He arrives to find Mr. Foster and his sister awaiting him in the front garden - to all appearances a charming old couple living out their lives in sleepy suburbia.

But these appearances prove increasingly false as the Fosters lead Gerwyn into their house. Calmly they explain they have infected his wife with a unique steroid enzyme that will sustain the coma until an antidote is applied. If Gerwyn refuse to co-operate, she will surely die.

Co-operate in what way? If he'll just step into this back-room, they'll show him the Subject This, lying amongst a mass of complex equipment, turns out to be Geoff Hirst, a young man whom the Fosters have rendered similarly comatose. Now, if Gerwyn will just arrange for the loan of an artificial metaboliser from the lab where he works

To his horror, Gerwyn realises they plan to operate, in vivo, on the boy's brain Though with what aim the Fosters as yet refuse to reveal. "You'll be murderers," he says. "Oh, we've been that for a very long time," they retort. However, they convince him also of their superior powers, to suggest a solution to a hitherto insoluble problem in his research work.

It's crazy - impossible! This dodderly old couple, dreaming up an inspired solution which, when he checks it at the lab, actually works! Even crazier when Gerwyn's daughter Sally establishes that Foster is a retired stockbroker with a blameless past.

Reluctantly Gerwyn realises that, whoever they may have been, the bodies of the Fosters are now possessed by beings of a vastly superior intellect. Beings, moreover, with macabre designs on the living brain of a boy; and beings whom, for the sake of his wife, he must agree to help.

As he goes off with the metaboliser to do just that, Sally is left to follow their one possible lead: the origins of the boy Geoff. She dare not risk going to the police. She knows she has but a few hours before her father becomes a party to murder.

And what, Gerwyn asks the Fosters, is the mysterious secret they seek locked in the human body? The will, they answer, staring with contempt at the boy's body - the simple will to live. That instinctive urge which, in their more highly evolved society, has dwindled to such an extent that now their whole existence is threatened.

Wr Michael Ashe

Dir Phillip Dudley

3 - 11 TARGET GENERATION

They are ignorant of any purpose in life or of the existence of anything but the ship which is the only world they know. Once there were books and films, but their ancestors deemed them evil and destroyed them. Now they while away their time with futile games and elaborate spiritual rituals, Those who have duties pursue them routinely, never thinking to ask why; they merely obey the System as laid down by generations long forgotten. They worship the tree, the wind and the grass - but blindly having never seen or felt any of these things. All they believe, with their intricate web of superstitions, is that when the trembling comes and the stars stand still in the heavens, then too will come the end. But what end? How can they know? The end of their games and rituals? The end of the ship that is their shell and their world?

One person only, Jon, possesses the secret of reading - passed on to him by his late father along with an envelope marked: "To be opened only in emergency". Jon has hidden this envelope along with his treasured if profane dictionary.

One day the ship tilts and the tremor (of propulsion motors) commences. The stars stand still in the sky. All run in terror to the meeting hall where the leader, Joe, intones a service of obeisances. But Jon is missing. Recognising that this must be the emergency he has gone to open the envelope. And reading its contents he begins to comprehend at last the purpose and meaning of the ship. To his intense shock he realises that it is a space ship, now in its 900th year of flight. The "end" that all have dreaded is in fact the landing of the ship on a planet - a landing which Jon is to effect from the ship's Control Room. He goes to the room, unlocks it with a key from the envelope. But as he gazes in awe at the controls, Joe appears and wildly accuses him of heresy. To save the ship, Jon is forced to kill Jo and menace the rest of the community with death if they interfere.

Finally with the aid of the ship's ingenious computer system, Jon is able to land on a "safe" planet. Bravely he and his wife approach the exit and the new land - just as the ship's creators had intended 900 years previously.

Wr Clive Exton/Clifford Simak

Dir Roger Jenkins

3 - 12 THE YELLOW PILL

Dr. John Frame agrees readily enough when Detective Inspector Slinn of Scotland Yard phones to ask if he will make out a psychiatric report on a violent criminal. But from the moment Wilfred Connor is escorted into his consulting room and handcuffed to a chair, the doctor starts to feel uneasy. Connor, charged with shooting three robbery victims to death, is clearly in an acute state of hallucination. He claims he is an R.A.F. astronaut on an interplanetary space-shot in the year 1995. What is so uncanny, however, is the earnest conviction with which he insists that the doctor is his co-astronaut and chief on the flight.

The Detective Inspector, a forceful, authoritarian type, is utterly disdainful of the prisoner's condition and concerned solely with obtaining a statement. There is an argument when Dr. Frame insists they humour the man's hallucinatory pattern. But when Connor accurately reveals not only the name of the doctor's wife but also that he's having an affair with Helen, his receptionist, Frame becomes increasingly alarmed.

That evening Helen is righteously indignant when the Doctor accuses her of some sort of conspiracy against him. She succeeds in rationalising his fears and calming him. But when the detectives return next morning with their psychotic prisoner, Frame's fears are soon intensified. Connor, he realises, is totally unaware of the detectives, has his own interpretation of all the visible furnishings, Frame's desk is the space-ship chart table, etc., and his own rationalisation of all the incidents - (the "murdered victims" were invading space-creatures, Frame is suffering space hallucinations and has mistakenly tied him to this chair, etc.) All Frame's attempts at reasoning with him are met with the same stubborn conviction that he take one of the yellow anti-hallucination pills in the chart-table drawer - and spoon before they go into orbit.

Frame, surrounded though he is with the solid evidence of his own world, finds himself forced increasingly to suspect it. Could he be living in a dream? Could this office and these people really exist only as distorted creations of his own imagination? Could this comfortable, established life of his really be a terrifying illusion? He fights against it. Searches in growing panic to establish reality. But not until Connor taunts him at last to violence does his desperation drive him to swallow the pill. The result is both shocking and tragic.

Wr Leon Griffiths/Rog Phillips

Dir Michael Ferguson

3 - 13 GET OFF MY CLOUD

What happens when a novelist has a breakdown from writing too many science-fiction stories? In Marsham Craswell's case he goes into a semi-coma and starts living his stories. Such is the power of Craswell's imagination that it has exiled him to a fantasy planet where, as the Mighty Multan of the Sword, keeper of the great diamond and destroyer of the legions of Dok-men. And to Stephen, the psychiatrist intent on saving him, there is only one hope: to "introduce" someone into the Craswell fantasy world. That someone has to be the sort of sane, dependable extrovert capable of dominating Craswell's imagination with his own commonsense reality and thus of talking him back to consciousness. And who better than Stephen's witty sport-writer friend, Pete?

Pete's willingness to help begins to wane, however, when he learns that the "introduction" is to be by means of a unique two-way encephalograph capable of linking his mind with Craswell's. Also he has to be sure to avoid finding any sympathy with the Sci-Fi fantasy for fear that he too will be caught up irrevocably on the Craswell planet.

And indeed, when Stephen throws the switch and Pete blinks at the forbidding green desert of Istak, he begins to wonder at his chances. Craswell, in full warrior gear, is reluctant to recognise Pete's existence. But when Pete starts trying to destroy the fantasy by conjuring up such earthy objects as phone-booths, village bobbies, and taxi-cabs, Craswell retaliates by proclaiming him Nelpar the mighty magicians. Having thus written Pete into the story, Craswell resumes his quest for the Snake.

Not until they meet Garor, the ravishing priestess and keeper of the Snake does Craswell's determination start to falter as Pete gleefully shrinks her outfit to a revealing mini-armour. But with Garor around, Pete finds himself beginning to enjoy, even sympathise with, the fantasy. And the next thing they are staked down in a pit being approached by a giant spider - a creature for which Pete has an acute real-life phobia. For a moment it looks as though Craswell's imagination will win. But at the last moment Pete's commonsense prevails, and they all surface safely in the hospital ward. Fine - until Pete starts meeting the Craswell coma characters in the real world outside - including Garor.

Wr David Climie/Peter Phillips

Dir Peter Gregeen

4 - 1 TASTE OF EVIL

The strange happenings hit the new master, Stephen Chambers, from the moment her arrives at Warby Stones - shocking, sinister happenings with no foundation in logic. But then, being for ultra-intelligent boys, Warby Stones is a strange school.....particularly in as much as high I.Q. is proportional to high E.S.P.

As the eerie happenings persist, Stephen tries to rationalise them as pranks stemming from the boys "Sickies" (for Psychic Phenomena) Club. But no. Even the extra-physical laws of parapsychology fail to resolve, much less silence, the nightmare things that go bump in Stephen's nights.

As pupils under the Department of Extra-Normal Education, the boys are exempted from conventional Religious Instruction. Could it be that this has left them with somewhat of a spiritual vacuum. Could it be that, in the intensity of the Black Masses they play at in the school's rambling cellars, they are somehow succeeding in invoking forces beyond the mere laws of science? Or is there in the ultimate a rational explanation even from such abstracts as God and the Devil?

Wr John Wiles

Dir Michael Ferguson

4 - 2 TO LAY A GHOST

On the way home from school, fifteen-year-old Diana was attacked and raped. Five years later, after extensive therapy, she married a trendy young photographer, Eric Carver. The doctor told Eric not to hurry the consummation of the marriage, but to be patient and sympathetic.

It was not too hard; Eric would have done anything for his beautiful Diana. One of the things he did do for her was to buy a house. It was not a place he cared for much, and it cost a fortune to modernise. But from the moment they were first shown over it, Diana just knew she had to live there. Just like that - had to.

Their first sight of the ghost came when Eric developed some photographs he had taken of his wife in the garden. In every print a man could be seen standing in the garden. At first Eric rationalised it as some unnoticed Peeping-Tom. But when Diana started to sleep-walk, and the evil-looking ghost showed up in a lot more prints, Eric called in Dr. Phillimore of the National Psychical Research Association.

Wr Michael J.Bird

Dir Ken Hannam

4 - 3 THIS BODY IS MINE

Allen Meredith is a shy, withdrawn man whose genius as a research physicist has for years been exploited by enterprising tycoon, Jack Gregory. So long as there was money enough for his research, he was happy. But not so his wife Ann, the only person with whom Allen has found the courage to develop a relationship. To Ann, tycoon Gregory has come to represent the arch jackal..

One day, working on an advanced development of the electro-encephalograph, Allen stumbles on a fantastic new aspect of the machine: mind transference. It seems at first of little more than academic interest - until he explains it to Ann. To her it is obvious: use it to get some of the money out of which Gregory has cheated them over the years - say £100,000.

Allen is shocked, only overcoming his reluctance when Ann points out that it is their only chance of ever having any money and, anyway, this will be the ideal test for his new discovery.

Accordingly, Gregory is coerced, drugged and attached to the electro-encephalograph machine. Ann then attaches Allen to the machine, sets the dials and switches on. Several pulsating minutes later, Gregory regains consciousness, stands up and starts addressing Ann as though he were her husband. Allen recovers and, in Gregory's manner, starts having hysterics over finding himself in some-else's body. Allen's mind has been transferred to Gregory's body, and vice-versa.

Allen (G) is duly driven off in Gregory's Rolls Royce to Gregory's home, and incidental domestic chaos, while Gregory (A) remains under duress with Ann until such time as her husband can get the £100,000 transferred from Gregory's bank.

The next day turns out an absolute nightmare for the shy-natured research physicist. Trotting around in Gregory's distinctly unhealthy body he encounters a succession of unexpected snags: the tycoon has a business partner, their empire is mortgaged to the hilt, capital is unobtainable, his mistress is being held to ransom for bad debt, his wife is anticipating divorce, and inside he has ulcers.....

Meanwhile, back at the physicist's home, the tycoon is beginning to enjoy himself in his new body. Such is his natural charm that, despite her insistence that he is a cheating jackal, it is not long before he starts to win Ann over. By the time Allen (G) comes limping home to complain that they are out of luck and he wants to change back, his wife and the tycoon have worked out their own scheme. Gregory (A) tells him of a nest-egg he has hidden away; if the physicist will just go and fetch it then take it to the laboratory.....

But for the mistress, they might have got away with it. Instead the physicist loses the money in payment of the tycoon's bad debt and turns up at the lab without a penny. Ann is disgusted - doubly so when the tycoon and the physicist agree to shake hands, switch back to their own bodies, and forget the whole disastrous escapade. What the two men overlook is that Ann's help is essential if the return personality switch is to be effected successfully.....

Wr John Tully

Dir Eric Hills

4 - 4 DEATHDAY

To all appearances Adam Crosse is a normal, well-integrated member of society; respected provincial journalist, nice new-town home, attractive wife, jovial disposition. But in fact, behind his front of self-assurance, Crosse is sensitive, frustrated, introspective - a mass of neuroses and self-protective fantasies. Never a Romeo, his sex-life is now a failure; he is a hypochondriac and tranquilizer addict; it needs just the one final nudge to push him over the edge.

That nudge comes with his chance discovery that his wife, Lydia, has a lover - and worse, that she evinces no trace of remorse over his finding out. Crushing his self-esteem, she shrugs off the affair as a necessity to be blamed on his sexual inadequacy. Casually she tells him to adjust the best way he can and now please to get out of her kitchen as she has the Saturday morning cake to bake....

The next thing Adam Crosse really knows is that he has smashed in her skull with a monkey-wrench from the garage.

It is an appalling shock, but not so extreme as to exclude self-preservation and the contrivance of a highly ingenious alibi. As a journalist, he is able to fake a letter from a fictitious reader named Quilter, whose address he claims to have been searching for all morning, searching in vain, while indeed the very letter must have been a ruse by the real murderer to get him out of the house.

Fortunately for Cross, the door to the burning oven was left open and had affected the cadaver's temperature. Because this confuses the time of death, the police are initially prepared to believe the Quilter alibi. Indeed, Crosse, almost starts to believe it too - until Quilter himself appears.....

Quilter is wildly indignant. He is also extremely knowledgeable about Crosse, his habits and his weaknesses. Gradually he starts to destroy not only Crosse's alibi but the whole substance of his personality. On and on, forcing him step by inevitable step to the final act of liberation - the one desperate thrust with the knife that will rid him of Quilter - and in the process, his own life.....

Wr Brian Hayles/Angus Hall

Dir Raymond Menmuir

4 - 5 THE SONS AND DAUGHTERS OF TOMORROW

The tiny East Anglian village of Plampton has one distinction: a famous unsolved murder. After twenty-six years, the barbarous and ritualistic slaughter of Janet Darvis remains a mystery of lasting interest, if not to the police, at least to the crime reporters of Flets Street.

One such is Shawlor Gascoyne, a cynical, world-worn journalist with the vanity of a Nero and the thirst of a desert. To conclude his current series on famous cases, Gascoyne decides he will solve the Plampton mystery.

His enquiries start, as always, at the bar of the local hotel where the local stringer, Hamilton White, and the barmaid, Jeanette, sound the first of a series of distinctly hostile notes. The focus of village life, Gascoyne soon discovers, is the meeting hall of the Sons and Daughters of Tomorrow. This society of ageing eccentrics is lorded over by the commanding Rosa Cavendish, celebrated as the last woman to be tried under the Witchcraft Act of 1735. In common with the murdered Janet Darvis, Rosa is locally revered as "a kind of saint". But the ceremonies of the Sons and Daughters of Tomorrow over which she presides are more cabalistic [sic] than canonistic.

Wr Edward Boyd

Dir Gerald Blake

4 - 6 WELCOME HOME

Psychiatrist Frank Bowers is thrilled to be returning home after six months in hospital following a motor accident. Dr. Liam Moore was hesitant about letting him go; although physically completely recovered Frank is still somewhat disturbed mentally. However, perhaps the best therapy will be for him to spend a month or two quietly with his adored wife Penny at the cottage she bought while he was in hospital.

He does not tell her he is coming; he wants his return to be a wonderful surprise. He arrives at the cottage, goes to kiss Penny. But she repulses him, says she does not know him, calls for help to a man whom she says is her husband, Dr. Frank Bowers.

Distraught, the real Frank calls the police. "What's happening? This man - this impostor using my name - has some hold over my wife!" The police shake their heads. They've never seen the real Frank Bowers before; he must be the impostor.

Wr Moris Farhi

Dir Eric Hills

4 - 7 THE LAST WITNESS

Mr. Harris wakes up in an hotel bedroom after being washed up on the nearby beach. Half-drowned and badly cut about, he is also suffering from concussion - or so Dr. Benson concludes when Harris starts having hallucinations. These centre round the body of a girl, Ann Bateman; he sees her strangled by a young man called David, carried up from the shore, lying dead in the very same bedroom as himself while Police Sergeant Walker interrogates and then charges David with murder....

After a while Harris's condition starts to improve, his mind gaining in lucidity if not memory. The doctor even pronounces him strong enough to get out of bed ready for the flight across to a mainland hospital. But when he starts moving about, Harris is horrified to discover that he recognises the hotel and correctly anticipates the names of strangers. The hotel owner, Mrs. Kemble, is very disturbed by his mental condition and resolves to get him out of the hotel at all costs.

Wr Martin Worth

Dir Michael Ferguson

4 - 8 THE MAN IN MY HEAD

The sound of a radio bleep, and a group of men spring instantly awake. They are in a remote shepherd's hut; they are heavily armed. A guide, Ira, a girl with a foreign accent, arrives and leads them across mountain country to a point where they can gain secret access to a vast complex of tunnels.

But why are they there? Where and what is the place? They know they are part of as Strike Force, one of a new fighting elite. Their guide tells them it is a hydro-electric plant, so presumably they are to sabotage the place. But are they? Even their leader, Captain Brinson, is unsure. They know they have received a new form of subliminal briefing, and that they will remember their orders in response to fixed signals over the radio.

One of the group, Fulman, badly injured in a fall on the way in, has no doubts about who and why they are there. They are R.A.F. aircrew he insists, forced to eject over enemy territory after their plane developed an engine fault. What, he demands to know, what do they think they are doing playing at commandos and preparing to sabotage this mountain? He is very sure of his own story, derisive of theirs. But then, after all, he is injured and could be delirious, and even the rest of the group feel sure he must be wrong. And besides, even if they are not sure yet, they will be when they get their order.

But first they get support - in the form of a group of scientists sent in ahead to survey the plant. They make contact - and immediately runs into trouble. The scientists have been unsuccessful in finding a suitable sabotage point, and Hine, their leader, is not prepared to recognise Brinson as overall leader of the operation.

Wr John Wiles

Dir Peter Gregeen

4 - 9 THE CHOPPER

Pete was not chicken. He was an aggressive, chopper-mad ton-up boy. But he was not chicken. He gave his young life proving it.... doing 104 on the motorway buzzing a Jaguar E-type just to prove it.... to prove himself and his virility.... to show off the chopper he had laboured to create.

And afterwards, when the police bought [sic] the mangled remnants of his motor cycle back to the garage of its birth, Peter came with it - in spirit if not in the flesh.

No-one knew, of course. Not phlegmatic Jimmy Reed who owned the rotting, back-alley garage; not Pete's girl Sandie, or his mate Chaser. None of them knew - not at first. Later, when the noises started and then the vibrations, they accepted it without question. Pete had dedicated so much of his young life to the roaring lethal monster that it was obvious that they would be inseparable even in death.

That was the situation. And that is how it might have remained had magazine writer Lorna Venn not come along with her doubts and cynicism. Lorna fancied the love angle: Sandie's pillion-riding romance.... until Sandie blushingly assured her that Pete's spirit had come back to ride more than just the chopper.

Wr Nigel Kneale

Dir Peter Gregeen

4 - 10 THE UNINVITED

George Pattison and his wife are middle people - income, age and class. Their imaginations are as conformist and limited as their daily lives. The one thing they have found that they can hold onto in this shifting world is each other; indeed their closeness even extends to a sort of mental telepathy.

It came as a considerable blow when George's company decided to give him a three-years overseas posting - a blow climaxing in their last night in the flat. All their furniture is in store, apart from a divan; both of them are nervous about the long journey ahead; their neighbours are insisting on wishing them luck with indigestible Spanish champagne....

It is George who has the first hallucination: one moment the flat is bare, the next full of strange, out-moded furniture, then empty again. He tries to ignore it. But then Millie pops along to make sure they have cleared every last thing out of the hall cupboard only to come back half fainting because of the odd trunk in there - a trunk in which she had found the body of a dead woman. Then, when George runs to look, the cupboard is empty again.

They do their best to reassure [sic] each other, agree they are both imagining things. They get into bed but neither can sleep. Before long Millie is up for some water. Her scream bring George running to the sitting room - where all that strange furniture is suddenly back again and with daylight suddenly streaming in through the windows. And worse, an ill-tempered and frightening man emerges from the shadows to talk to them. At least, it seems that way until he calls them by other names and they realise that they are caught up in some terrifying dream. And then the poor woman whom Millie had seen dead in the trunk walks into the room.

Wr Michael J.Bird

Dir Eric Hills

4 - 11 THE SHATTERED EYE

As a painter, Alec Barton had never been more than a talented craftsman. His fiancée, Gwenn, liked his work and loved him.... until the day that genius took hold and made an artist of him.

It happened the same day that he met Lester, a derelict old meths-drinker down on the beach; the same day he had first really bitter row with Gwenn..... Overnight his work became cruel, compulsive, powerful. And Alec became silent and withdrawn.

To Gwenn, who loved him, it was a grim challenge. But against what? The strangeness that had transformed him? The worthless tramp who had moved in with them? Or the incredible pictures themselves that had started to appear in his studio?

They were paintings that the art world wildly acclaimed, comparing their style to that of the late Milo Kovaks, the Czech artist and psychopath who died in a fire after vowing to complete his life's work.

Wr David T.Chantler

Dir Peter Hammond

OUT OF THIS WORLD

Anthology series which was hosted by Boris Karloff, stories where all science fiction based.

Considering ITV's time approach to adult science fiction over the years, it seems somewhat remarkable to record that they can claim the honour of Britain's first series of science fiction plays. Yet there they were, straddling the summer of 1962, 13 one-hour dramas introduced by the master of macabre, Boris Karloff.

And through the lineage of its creator, Irene Shubik, this pioneering anthology was also the ancestor of the BBC's prestigious OUT OF THE UNKNOWN. At the time, Shubik was ABC Television's story editor and had already established a strong track record in picking plays for Armchair Theatre.

For Out of this World she tapped the talents of leading SF writers, including genre giants, Isaac Asimov, Philip K. Dick and Clifford Simak, enlisting notable British TV writers, such as Clive Exton and Leon Griffiths to adapt their stories. The series also featured the work of another promising writer - Terry Nation, later to become the creator of the Daleks, SURVIVORS and BLAKE'S 7.

Being an anthology, Out of this World found time and space to explore different styles and moods of science fiction, from the grimmer suspense of Impostor, Botany Bay and The Dark Star, though tender intrigue in Medicine Show and the macabre comedy of Vanishing Act, to broad satire in The Tycoons.

There was no shortage of familiar faces in the casts, with Peter Wyngrade, Jane Asher, Patrick Allen, Maurice Denham, Gerald Harper (ADAM ADAMANT LIVES!), Dinsdale Landen, Charles Grey, Geraldine McEwan and Ronald Fraser among the leading men and women.

Producer for the series was Leonard White, and the directors, drawn from ABC's drama stable, including Guy Verney, director of the PATHFINDERS trilogy. The 13 plays went out on Saturday nights at 10.00pm, from the 30th June.

The principle British script in Shubik and White's original schedule, John Wyndham's Dumb Martian, was 'lifted' by ABC's drama boss Sydney Newman and shown in the preceding Sunday's Armchair Theatre slot as a curtain raiser to the series proper, with Boris Karloff appearing at the play's end to announce the impending start of the series, six days later.

The producer for the series was Leonard White, the various designers for the series included Douglas James, Patrick Downing, Philip Harrison, Ann Spavin, Robert Fuest, Adrian Vaux, Robert MacGowan and Paul Bernard.

WR. Terry Nation (his script, Dalek creator - DOCTOR WHO), Clive Exton, Leo Lehman, Leon Griffiths, Julian Bond, Bruce Stewart, Richard Waring (his script) and Denis Bulter.

DIR. Charles Jarrott, Jonathan Alwyn, Guy Verney, Peter Hammond, Richmond Harding, John Knight, Don Leaver, Alan Cooke and Charles Jarrot.

EPISODES: 14 YEAR MADE: 1962 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 1

AN ABC TELEVISION NETWORK PRODUCTION

CREATOR: IRENE SHUBIK

TYPE OF SHOW: ANTHOLOGY

FORMAT: ANTHOLOGY

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 14

DATE OF PREMIER: 24/06/1962

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 22/09/1962

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

RELATED SHOWS:*BLAKES' 7OUT OF THE UNKNOWNSURVIVORSADAM ADAMANT LIVES!PATHFINDERS. . . (inc PATHFINDERS IN SPACE, PATHFINDERS TO MARS, PATHFINDERS TO VE*1 - 1 DUMB MARTIAN

A study of domestic abuse, involving an earthman and his Martian slave-wife.

Dir Charles Jarrott1 - 2 THE YELLOW PILL

Psychiatrist John Frame is asked by police to examine a man, Michael Connor, who claims to have come from another time. Frame is startled when Connor demonstrates an extraordinary and intimate knowledge of Frame's private life.

Wr Leon GriffithsDir Jonathan Alwyn1 - 3 LITTLE LOST ROBOT

A robot with an altered First Law of Robotics - "No robot may injure a human being" - has escaped. Theorising that the altered law could allow the robot to harm or kill a person, Dr. Calvin has to find it among a consignment of physically identical robots.

Wr Leo LehmanDir Guy Verney1 - 4 COLD EQUATIONS

An astronaut must deliver a cargo of vaccine to a plague-stricken colony world, but the presence of a stowaway means he hasn't enough fuel to complete his mission.

Wr Clive ExtonDir Peter Hammond1 - 5 IMPOSTER

A scientist working on a top-secret government project must discover the identity of a humanoid robot that has infiltrated the facility and taken the place of a worker there.

Wr Terry NationDir Peter Hammond1 - 6 BOTANY BAY

A psychiatry student discovers that his patients are possessed by aliens.

Wr Terry NationDir Guy Verney1 - 7 MEDICINE SHOW

Two medicine men are able to bring about miraculous cures.

Wr Julian BondDir Richmond Harding1 - 8 PICTURES DON'T LIE

Earth has made first contact with an alien civilisation, and waits for the visitors to arrive at the agreed co-ordinates.

Wr Bruce StewartDir John Knight1 - 9 VANISHING ACT

An aspiring magician discovers a box that can make people disappear.

Wr Richard WaringDir Don Leaver1 - 10 DIVIDED WE FALL

A man returns to Earth to find that a new race of synthetic humans has been created and is in conflict with the real humans. Only a new supercomputer can tell the races apart.

Wr Leon Griffiths

Dir John Knight

1 - 11 THE DARK STAR

London is threatened by an epidemic.

Wr Denis Butler

Dir Peter Hammond

1 - 12 IMMIGRANT

Wr Terry Nation

Dir Jonathan Alwyn

1 - 13 TARGET GENERATION

Successive generations of a forgotten community have lived on board a colony ship for 900 years.

Wr Clive Exton

Dir Alan Cooke

1 - 14 THE TYCOONS

A revenue collector calls at a factory that produces dolls.

Wr Bruce Stewart

Dir Charles Jarrott

OUT OF THIS WORLD

Anthology series which covered science for kids using the media of drama.

An odd combination of science fact (in lecture format) and science fiction, the SF highpoint came in episode 3 (writer: Robbie Robertson) with a couple travelling to the Moon for a vacation/honeymoon. This episode intercut between dramatisation and speculation on lunar environments by a real scientist, Robert R. Cole.

OOTW hovered between SF and lectures on science. In episode 3, for example, we saw a young couple in 1993 going to the Moon for a vacation and then telephoning their relations on Earth. Between these dramatised segments the narrator discussed with a scientist, Robert R. Cole, the actual possibilities of space travel and conditions on the Moon.

WR. Robbie Robertson

DIR.

EPISODES: 0 YEAR MADE: 1952 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

ABC TV

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: ANTHOLOGY

FORMAT: ANTHOLOGY

LENGTH (MINS): 25 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN:

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

ROBERT R. COLE, Narrator JACKSON BECK.

OUT OF THIS WORLD (1987)

As Out of This World begins Evie Garland, is celebrating her thirteenth birthday This is an even bigger day for her than it would be for most girls because Evie learns of her true heritage and the powers that it endows her with. Evie's mother Donna married Evie's father Troy while he was visiting Earth Evie was born shortly after Troy returned to his home on Antares in outer space, thus making Evie a half-human / half-alien child Like all good sitcom aliens Troy had special powers which Evie starts to develop on her 13th birthday. These include the ability to stop time and turn one object into another. Evie is also able to communicate with her father through a crystal that he left for her.

Donna and Evie must learn to conceal Evie's powers from friends while trying to lead as normal a life as possible. These friends and relatives include: Kyle Applegate, a former macho movie star now the mayor of Marlowe - he becomes the Police Chief when Donna defeats him in his bid for re-election; Beano. Evie's uncle, Lindsay, Evie's best friend and Chris, Evie's boyfriend. The episodes themselves tend to be split between 'normal' sitcom plots and ones about Evie's special abilities and her efforts to conceal them.

Like so many juvenile US sitcoms, the series was short on laughs and long on moralising. Doug McClure, best known as Trampas in the Sixties Western series The Virginian, provided loony interludes as the town's oddball mayor - and later police chief - Kyle Applegate, an ex ham actor whose most famous role was as a costumed crimefighter, Mosquito Man. His job as mayor was later taken by Donna. Other recurring characters included Evie's Uncle Beano and boyfriend Chris and school-pal Lindsay.

Although Burt Reynolds was a regular on the show, he was never seen on the show since he was only ever a voice. Evie's powers, out of place in Northern California, came from her father Troy from the planet "Antareus", with whom she communicated by a FTL communicator cube similar to Ursula K. Le Guin's "Ansible" which, by the way, is not only now the name of a well-respected fanzine, but is also an anagram of "Lesbian" -- go figure.

US sitcom about a girl called Evie who is your average teenager except for one thing - her father, Troy, is an alien. The series ran for four seasons in America.

Out of This World is one of the more successful made for first run syndication sitcoms of the past decade. Out of This World was originally one of five series commissioned by the NBC owned and operated stations to use in the 6:30 PM weeknight time slot, with each to be shown once a week. The NBC stations' plans for the show failed as did the other four series however Out of This World continued for three more years running mostly during the weekend on independent stations. The series received it UK premiere on the 9th April 1990 on ITV.

Evie's powers

Evie's main power is the ability to freeze time for other earthlings (whilst time continues for her and her dad) by joining two fingers, whilst she maneuvers herself or objects to alter the course of events on Earth. When she claps her hands together, time resumes as normal. She can also "unfreeze" individuals by touching them while time is frozen. In the opening sequence, she opens a door and knocks an open can of paint off a ladder, and then joins her fingers to stop it mid-fall.

Evie can also gleep, which allows her to manifest objects by using the power of her mind. There are certain restrictions on this power, such as the inability to create complicated machinery, and overuse of this power will cause her other abilities to stop functioning. Evie has the ability to instantly teleport herself from one place to another, by snapping her fingers. In an episode that centres around Evie's 16th birthday, her father gives her the choice between several new powers as a gift. Each one proves to be too much of a burden (such as "looking into someone's eyes and telling them to do something while thinking the word 'obey', and they would obey"); she ultimately chooses the power to "tie your shoelaces perfectly on the first try every time."

Trivia

The English band Fine Young Cannibals were featured in an episode of this show.

Director Scott Baio appeared in an episode called "Princess Evie".

Pop singer Tiffany made a guest appearance as herself in 1991 during the episode "I Want My Evie TV".

The character Chris Fuller is played by Steve Burton. Burton had a role in the Sci-Fi miniseries Taken, which revolved around a young girl who's great-grandfather was an alien. The girl has some powers similar to Evie's, such as the ability to stop time.

Troy never physically appears on the show except in the final episode as a shimmering outline of light. Only his voice is heard for most of the series.

Buzz Belmondo and Joe Alaskey feuded famously on the set to the point where the two would not film scenes together. Any scene in which both of them appear in the same frame from the second season on was filmed using trick photography.[citation needed]

During the second season of the program, actress Donna Pescow became pregnant. Since it couldn't be explained how her character became pregnant while her husband was away fighting a war, Pescow was filmed using only close-up shots or staged so something was hiding her pregnancy.

Interview with Maureen Flannigan.

Long before Hiro Nakamura teleported out of his cubicle, there was Evie Garland of the often overlooked 1980s sitcom Out of This World. Not only did the teenager have more powers than the Heroes character (she could pause time by pressing her two fingers together, make objects appear, and teleport), she was easier on the eyes.

From 1987-1991, Maureen Flannigan played that glorious teenage girl who discovers she's actually half-alien. Figuring it was long overdo, we recently caught up with the actress and asked her all about what she's been up to since the show went the way of Scott Baio. Turns out, the actress has been working regularly since she bid Evie adieu. In recent years, she's appeared on three television series - Push for ABC, Starved for F/X and the immortal 7th Heaven (as Matt's girlfriend Shana).

Thankfully, she put down the crystal cube and spoke to us about life after the series, and how she still gets recognized on the street as Evie.

Obvious first question is - What have you been up to since leaving Planet Evie?

Gosh. So much. College at USC, Besides doing the three TV series, I've been traveling the world and moved to NYC.

Sweet. Do you still get noticed on the street for Out of This World?

I get recognized at Evie Garland almost everyday. Every other day, I am recognized as Shana from 7th. It's pretty wild that I'm still recognized. Most people think I look familiar and wonder why. How do I know you? High school? Neighborhood? Work? Depending on the mood I'm in, I either let them figure it out in their own time by saying, Gee I'm not sure or cut to the quick and tell them straight out, Maybe from TV? I'm an actress

What are you currently working on? Are you acting full time

I act full time. The last movie I did was A Day Without A Mexican. That was fun. I was just on an episode of Close To Home. I played the next door neighbor to Annabeth. I just found out the show was cancelled so no hope of recurring. Too bad.

That stinks, hey you have a MySpace page - can you explain the phenomenon of the site? It just seems everyone is on now.

My MySpace site is pretty straight forward. It's meant mostly for my fans. I'm not very good at keeping up with all the bells and whistles of the website. I spend more time doing non-techno things like cooking, playing and reading. It's challenging for me to stay focused on the computer. Hence, my friend's were nudging me to set up the site. They said I had to get with it and I agreed. It's a new age and I need to step it up. I was so against it at first, but now I've really embraced it and love it. I'm so glad people are visiting! The phenomenon must be because Out Of This World is not in reruns and people wonder why. They've found my page and it's a tiny bit satisfying for them I think. I should amp it up a bit. Hmmm. If anyone out there is interested in designing a website for me and my fans, I'd welcome it for sure!

That'd be pretty cool you must get inundated with Out of this World questions on your page - no?

I wouldn't say I get inundated. It's more like Are you her? or Crazy question but were you Evie? I don't really know how to reply to the first question. I am me. But I am Evie, too.

You seem pretty grounded for a 'child star?' Is this true? Spill it.

I am grounded for a child star. I'm the only actress or movie person in my family. We were pretty naive about the business per se and I think that helped a lot. I also have a mom whose been a recovered alcoholic for 24 years. So I'm sure that curbed me from getting involved in too many drugs and alcohol or bad situations. I got pretty savvy at a young age to say the least. Also, Out of this World remained pretty underground I think and I was not in the paparazzi's sight line as most wanted. It was the first of the syndicated shows. Way before it's time. At the point it wasn't cool to be syndicated. We were considered the poor man's sitcom. The WB was not the WB yet too.

If you could freeze time like Evie did - what would you do?

If I could freeze time like Evie first, I would unfreeze all my friends, family and crazy famous people I've always wanted to meet. We would play and travel and explore all those places that I never get to see. I'd do that forever! I mean. Do you age when you freeze time? Can you cook when you freeze time? Like does the gas work on your stove? Do inanimate objects unfreeze? I have so many questions that OOTW did not explore or answer. Such a shame.

You're damn skippy. Have there been instances where you wish you could have her powers?

Yes, of course. I would've liked to freeze time before my grandma died and just spent more time with her. When I took the SATs I would've liked to have frozen time. I was horrible at those tests. They are horrible. Anytime situations when I don't feel like I've got my head on straight, I'd like to freeze time, have a little pep talk with myself and literally snap out of it!

Right on! Do you think Evie was an inspiration for the Hiro character on Heroes?

I don't know if Evie in particular was an inspiration for Hiro. Time travel and quantum physics were of interest to people before OOTW. In fact, Quantum Leap was a huge hit during the same time as OOTW. That could've been an inspiration, too. But sure, I'll take the credit!

As you should, and mad props to Scott Bakula! Any plans of Out of this World to reach DVD?

I have no idea if OOTW will reach DVD. I sure hope it does. That would be cool. Unfortunately, the executive producers of OOTW did not practice fair business policies and had an injunction placed against them barring them from ever making money off the show again. Sucks for me and my fans, but it was a very good thing to happen to the producers. What comes around goes around sometimes in Hollywood.

Scott Baio directed a couple episodes of the show. Do you remember what the experience of working with Chachi was like?

Working with Scott Baio was great. We had so much fun working together and he's a very cool guy. He was also dating Pamela Anderson at the time. So she was around the set a bit. I think back on all the guest stars we had and it just amazes who I got to work with: David Doyle (Bosley on Charlie's Angels), Tom Bosley (Mr. C on Happy Days), Florence Henderson (Brady Bunch), Mr. T (great story there), Lyle Waggoner (Wonder Woman's/Diana's boss) and the list goes on. But a good bit of trivia is the voice of my father [was] Burt Reynolds. I'd go to loop the shows with him. He was a hoot.

That guy has a great mustache. Well, last question you have to tell us that Mr. T story.

So remember all his gold chains? Well, he came to set one day and I noticed he only had a little bit around his neck. So I asked him where all his gold was. He pointed to a crumpled up brown paper bag (like from the grocery store) over behind one of the set walls. [It was] just laying there like someone forgot their discarded lunch or something. He told me to bring it over to him. I did. And it was heavy. He said to open it up. Inside was the rest of his gold necklaces. Mr. T said if he wore that stuff around his neck all the time, he'd have messed his back up big time. I actually think he wore some real gold (around his neck) and the rest was just fake (in the bag). Regardless, the fake gold was still so heavy!

WR. John Boni, Patrica Niedzialek, Richard Albrecht, Frank Mula, Bob Booker, Laura Levie, Mike Scully, Alan Moskowitz, Brain Scully and George Yanok.

DIR. Bob Claver, Jack Regas, Russ Petranto, Selig Frank, Renny Temple and Scott Baio. Bob Claver directed 62 of the episodes himself.

EPISODES: 96 YEAR MADE: 1987 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 4

BOB BOOKER PRODUCTIONS

CREATOR: JOHN BONI AND BOB BOOKER (based on a format of) D.L. WOOD

TYPE OF SHOW: COMEDY FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 24, (2) 22, (3) 24, (4) 24

DATE OF PREMIER: 17/09/1987 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 25/05/1991

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Evie Garland MAUREEN FLANNIGAN, Donna Garland DONNA PESKOW, Beano Froelich JOE ALASKEY, Mayor Kyle X. Applegate DOUG MCCLURE, Lindsay Selkirk CHRISTINE NIGRA, Voice of Troy (Evie's father) BURT REYNOLDS, Chris Marian Fuller STEVE BURTON, Buzz BUZZ BELMONDO, Peter PETER PITOFISKY (4) , Jeffrey Cummings TONY CRANE (4) , Uncle Mick TIM NOLAN (4) , Troy TIM NOLAN (episode 32), Phil JOHN ROARKE (1).

1 - 1 EVIE'S THIRTEENTH BIRTHDAY

After thirteen years of keeping Evie's identity from her, Donna is forced to reveal the truth at her thirteenth birthday party when Evie exhibits a special, alien power that enables her to freeze time. Evie learns she's half alien and that her father is from the planet Antareus - not a CIA agent as her mother has been telling her all along. She is given her father's gift of the cube, a genetic device which allows her to speak to her father on Antareus. Although anyone can hear her father over the cube, her father can only hear Evie.

1 - 2 PLAYING WITH THE POWER

Evie gets grounded by her father after she misuses her powers to win a gift certificate at school and a baseball game her powers are taken away for a week as punishment

1 - 3 THE NIGHTMARE

Evie is plagued by a bad dream about her becoming a monster when she grows up.

1 - 4 TILL THEN

Evie's mom feels a bit neglected by Evie, because her daughter is spending so much time with her dad trying to catch up with things.

1 - 5 EVIE, GET YOUR BASKETBALL

Evie has a free throwing contest with the new boy in school, but she falls in love with him instead, and she ends up losing the contest.

1 - 6 EVERY BEANO HAS HIS DAY

Beano has been given a day of honor by the mayor, but Evie mistakes Beano for the mayor's dog. Unexpectedly, the mayor's dog enters the room and Evie unintentionally gleans the dog and her uncle together.

1 - 7 EVIE AND THE YOUNG ASTRONAUTS

Beano has been given a day of honor by the mayor, but Evie mistakes Beano for the mayor's dog. Unexpectedly, the mayor's dog enters the room and Evie unintentionally gleans the dog and her uncle together.

1 - 8 FIFTIES MOM

Evie wishes for a 50's mom while watching a 50's show, "My Favorite Mom", on TV and when the show is not on the next day, she has to live another 24 hours with a 50's mom.

1 - 9 DUELING MAYORS

It is reelection time for the mayor of Marlowe and his running mate is no other than Charles Nelson Reilly.

1 - 10 BABY TALK

It is reelection time for the mayor of Marlowe and his running mate is no other than Charles Nelson Reilly.

1 - 11 BEANO'S NEW DIET CLINIC

Beano and Donna try to help an overweighted child at Evie's school by trying to get Jackie Gleason to come to the opening of Beano's diet clinic

1 - 12 OU.. OH. . . HERE COMES MOTHER

Donna and Beano's mom come for a visit and she ends up falling in love with Mayor Kyle.

1 - 13 THE ANNIVERSERY

Donna is very happy and has put a heart around a date on the calendar. What is up on this date? She can be with Troy in a special way, when the planets align once a year on the same day.

1 - 14 TO TELL THE TRUTH

A crystal egg Troy left causes havoc when is found out, that it is a truth device.

1 - 15 PEN PALS

Evie and Donna try to find a woman for Beano in the personals section of the newspaper but when Evie replaces Beano's picture for Kyle's and then Diane shows up, Evie has to confess what she has done.

1 - 16 BROADWAY DANNY DEREK

Evie dislikes the new boy in school and Donna encourages her to be nice to him, until she meets his dad who is just as bad.

1 - 17 MOSQUITO MAN : THE MOTION PICTURE

They are making a movie version of Kyle's old TV show but they want him to retire in the film but Kyle does not want to do that.

1 - 18 THE RUSSIANS ARE COMING

Russia thinks there is a nuclear research lab in the Garland house, so they send Donna and Beano on a fake trip to Hawaii and have some one from Moscow who is made up to look just like Donna to pose as the real Donna. The fake Donna tries to find out what is going on in the house because there is a power surge there.

1 - 19 AKA : DAD

Donna and Beano's mom come for a visit again and this time she thinks Buzz is Troy as she sees them doing an intimate dance when she comes.

1 - 20 THE ILLNESS

Evie gets the measles antaerian style, which means blue dots on her face.

1 - 21 THE BOX IS MISSING

After Evie and Donna come back from San Francisco, Evie finds that the cube is missing!

1 - 22 BOY CRAZY

Donna makes Evie meet what Donna thinks is the minister's new daughter, Leslie, but it turns out to be a boy that Donna does not seem to like because he dresses-punk like.

1 - 23 THE THREE FACES OF EVIE

Evie begins to want to look older when Chris goes gaga over an older woman. She "gleans" herself into a comely twenty something, but when her mom is about to catch her, she tries to turn back into a teenager. However, she overshoots the mark a tad and becomes six years old! Her mother has to figure out a way for her, since Evie has no powers as a child to get her back to normal.

1 - 24 I'VE GOT A SECRET

Evie begins to want to look older when Chris goes gaga over an older woman. She "gleans" herself into a comely twenty something, but when her mom is about to catch her, she tries to turn back into a teenager. However, she overshoots the mark a tad and becomes six years old! Her mother has to figure out a way for her, since Evie has no powers as a child to get her back to normal.

2 - 1 EVIE'S BIRTHDAY WISH

It's Evie's 14th Birthday and she isn't too thrilled about the gifts she is getting, until Troy decides to grant Evie four wishes as her birthday gift.

2 - 2 BLAST FROM THE PAST

2 - 3 CAREER CRUNCH

The time has finally come for Donna when she opens up her new catering business called "Donna's Delights", but when Evie accidentally gleaps the cookies for one of Donna's parties into space cookies, that put people to sleep, it is up to Beano to try and get the cookies before anyone eats them.

2 - 4 SHOULD OLD ACQUAINTANCE BE FORGOT?

Kyle discovers that, Jim, his old buddy from high school is coming for a visit and Kyle is determined to shape himself up to impress Jim after remembering how Jim always had everything that he didn't, but when Jim gets to the house, Kyle realizes he is handicapped.

2 - 5 EVIE'S FIRST KISS

It's the night Evie has been waiting for, her first, real date alone with Chris, but when Chris kisses her for the first time, Evie gets the wrong idea and thinks that they are a couple.

2 - 6 PRINCESS EVIE

A visiting prince is coming to Marlowe and everyone is anxious to meet him except Evie, until she finds herself attracted to him, but if sweeping Evie off her feet, with his good looks and charm, wasn't enough- the prince asks Evie to marry him.

2 - 7 OLD FLAME

When Donna discovers that her old beau, Rob Jamison, is coming to Marlowe for their class reunion, she invites him over to the house hoping that they can catch up and reminisce on old times, but when Evie catches him kissing her mother, it misleads Evie to believing that her mother no longer loves her father.

2 - 8 GUESS WHO'S COMING TO EARTH

Evie's grandfather from outer space visits. He wants to take Evie home with him to meet her dad. Will Evie choose to stay?

2 - 9 GO WEST, YOUNG MAYOR

Evie, Donna, Beano, and Kyle decide to take a vacation, but on their way, they get lost in a western ghost town and meet two men who claim that they run the town but are really counterfeiters. When Evie, Beano, and Donna find out what they are up to, the counterfeiters kidnap them, and it is up to cowboy Kyle to rescue them.

2 - 10 CLOSE ENCOUNTERS OF THE NERD KIND

There's a new boy in town named Elroy who everyone thinks is a nerd, and when Evie feels sorry for him, she accepts his invitation to go to the "Sock Hop" so that he won't feel disliked.

2 - 11 THE INCREDIBLE HUNK

A talent agent spots Chris at the "Goodie Goodie" and wants him to pose as a surfing model, but Chris declines, so Evie convinces him to go for it, but when Chris becomes popular with the ladies, Evie realizes that convincing him to go for it was a big mistake.

2 - 12 PUPIL'S COURT

After Lindsay puts her favorite tape into Evie's stereo, the tape and the stereo both get ruined, and when the girls both refuse to pay each other back for the damages, they take it out in student court.

2 - 13 EVIE'S TWO DADS

The father/daughter dance is coming up and Evie decides that she doesn't want to take her uncle Beano anymore after realizing that she has a great father, and when a school girl picks on Evie for never bringing her father to the dance, Evie gleams up a really cool dad to impress everybody.

2 - 14 THE SECRET OF EVIE'S SUCCESS

Evie decides to get a job and is hired as a waitress at the "Goodie Goodie", but when she uses her powers to help her on the job and becomes waitress of the month, she causes an old, experienced waitress to lose her job.

2 - 15 HONEST EVIE

Evie decides to run for class president, but when she wishes that she had someone experienced in politics to guide her, she accidentally gleams up Abraham Lincoln.

2 - 16 EVIE GOES TO HOLLYWOOD

Evie and the gang decide to go to Hollywood for a vacation, and while Evie and Lindsay go on an adventure to look for Tom Cruise, the rest of the gang have some adventures of their own.

2 - 17 TWO MANY EVIES

While Evie is stuck at home, writing a petition to end school uniforms, she is missing Billy Sullivan's birthday party, so she decides to split herself in two to be at two places at the same time, but doesn't realize that after midnight she can't rejoin herself.

2 - 18 FUTILE ATTRACTION

Beano feels unattractive when all the women he likes keep rejecting him, so Evie gleams his cologne into a love potion that will attract women everywhere he goes.

2 - 19 BEANO THE KID

After Evie finds Beano's old childhood bike in the garage, Beano flashes back and starts to wish that he was a kid again, but when Evie gleams Beano into a ten year old, he not only becomes a child but also a huge annoyance.

2 - 20 QUEENS FOR A DAY

Evie is determined to win the mother/daughter pageant after a school snob, Cissy, brags about how easily she will win, but after Cissy messes up the finale of her and her mother's act, Evie purposely sabotages her and Donna's act so that Cissy and her mother will win.

2 - 21 THE AMAZING EVIE

2 - 22 WHOSE HOUSE IS IT, ANYWAY?

Kyle accidentally slips on Donna's kitchen floor after she had waxed it and is told by the doctor to stay off his feet for 24 hours. Kyle asks Donna and Evie if they can take care of him for a day, but when he realizes what a great life he is having at the Garland house, he pretends that he is still injured so that he will not have to leave.

2 - 23 FRISKLY BUSINESS

After throwing a party in the house while Donna is out, Evie discovers that her mother's clock is missing, so she and Lindsay cater a bridal shower to raise the money to buy a new clock before Donna finds out that it is gone.

2 - 24 STAR DOG

Troy contacts Evie after discovering that Anterius has the power to send creatures through outer space, so sends an Anterian dog to show Evie how it works and lets Evie keep him for the weekend.

3 - 1 EVIE'S SWEET SIXTEEN

Evie is turning 16 and Troy, once again, has another spectacular gift for her. Troy gives Evie a list of ten powers to try out throughout the day and she has until midnight to decide which one of the ten powers that she would like to keep.

3 - 2 CINDERELLA EVIE

When Donna refuses to buy Evie a new dress for a senior party at the Ritz Marlowe, Evie gleams up the dress so that she can look stunning, but does not realize that there is going to be a major gleam out at midnight, which will reverse the gleam that she made.

3 - 3 BRING ME THE HEAD OF DONNA GARLAND

Beano decides to act as a magician for an amateur's night, but when he uses Evie as an assistant to try out a "Disappearing Act" on Donna, Donna disappears into another dimension because of Evie's powers, and when Donna starts to reappear, the only thing that comes back is her head.

3 - 4 A FROGGY DAY IN MARLOWE TOWN

Buzz claims that he and his frog, Farley, need some space from each other, so asks Donna to take care of him for a while, but when Evie discovers that Chris is going behind her back to spend time with Lindsey, she gleams Farley into a handsome young man to try to make Chris jealous.

3 - 5 EVIEGEIST

When Evie gets the Anterean flu, her powers go out of control, and when Kyle happens to witness Evie's powers in action, he believes that there is a ghost in the Garland house so hires a woman to drive the ghost out, but after the woman leaves, Evie and Donna discover that there really is a ghost in the house.

3 - 6 EVIE'S DRIVER'S LICENSE

It is time for Evie to take her driver's license test and ends up getting a very strict and mean driving instructor who will be giving the test, and when he puts too much pressure on her to parallel park, she uses her powers to help her pass the test.

3 - 7 EVIE GOES FOR THE GOLD

It is time for Evie to take her driver's license test and ends up getting a very strict and mean driving instructor who will be giving the test, and when he puts too much pressure on her to parallel park, she uses her powers to help her pass the test.

3 - 8 HAIR TODAY, GONE TOMORROW

When Evie finds an Anterean hair-restorer that her grandfather, Zelik, left behind, Beano decides to market it to make himself rich, but after trying it out on Kyle, Chris, and Buzz, their hair turns into beehive hairdo's.

3 - 9 AROUND THE WORLD IN 80 MINUTES

Evie's grandfather, Zelik, is back to visit and wants to take Evie around the world as a gift, but when Donna refuses to let Evie go, they sneak out in the middle of the night to go on their journey- little do they know that things aren't going to go as smoothly as they planned.

3 - 10 IT'S A CRUEL WORLD

A popular guy at school is suddenly interested in Lindsay and Evie can't figure out why, until he reveals to Evie that the only reason he is going out with Lindsay is so she will give him the answers to the upcoming history finals.

3 - 11 EVIE / STEVIE

Lindsay is crushed when she is dumped by the man who was supposed to take her to the sophomore dance at school, and when Evie feels bad that Lindsay won't be going, she gleams herself to look like a man so that Lindsay can have a date for the dance.

3 - 12 THE ROCKS THAT COULDN'T ROLL

As class president, Evie must find a way to raise money for the school. She gets an idea from Kyle, to put on a benefit concert. Not only does Kyle give Evie the idea, he also plans on helping her get a rock group, the "Fine Young Vegetarians" to be the guest performers, but when they can't make it, Evie gleams Beano's rock collection into the rock group so that she won't have to let the school down.

3 - 13 ONE IN A MILLION

When Donna goes to her night school class, Evie promises that she will stay home and study for her upcoming finals. Lindsay persuades Evie to go out to the "Goodie Goodie" instead and Evie ends up being the one-millionth customer. She also discovers that her picture will be on the front page of the paper so she must keep the paper away from Donna the next day so that she will not know that Evie went out instead of staying home.

3 - 14 FOUR MEN AND A BABY

Beano must baby-sit his girlfriend's baby boy, Billy, but does not realize that Billy is a little menace, and when he goes to a game and sticks Billy with Evie, she gleams him into a 30 year old so that she can understand him.

3 - 15 EVIE'S DOUBLE TROUBLE

Evie is a little irritated about having to get a new retainer, but if that was not enough, the retainer causes Evie to gleam involuntary and she ends up gleaming two twin ladies from a mouthwash commercial anytime she or someone else around her says the word "mouth."

3 - 16 THE GARDEN OF EVIE

Evie accidentally gleams Donna's ivy into a woman named Inga, and when Kyle meets her, he falls in love and wants to marry her.

3 - 17 EVIE'S MAGIC TOUCH

Evie is thrilled when Chris invites her to his senior prom, but when Chris becomes the new supervisor at "Chicken in a Basket", he is forced to work on the night of the prom.

3 - 18 COWBOY KYLE, MAN OF GRANITE

Kyle is a little frightened when having to prove to his cowboy buddies that he is strong enough to do anything, so wishes that he were as hard as a rock, but when Evie tries to help him, she accidentally gleams him, literally, as hard as a rock.

3 - 19 EVIE'S SECRET ADMIRER

Evie is getting love letters from a secret admirer but can't figure out who it is, and when the time finally comes for Evie to finally meet him, he ends up being Lindsay's 12 year old brother.

3 - 20 EVIE'S YUPPIE LOVE

Evie and Chris must do a marriage project for school that teaches them about family financing, but when Chris shows no interest into thier project, Evie gleams Chris into a more responsible husband.

3 - 21 DIAMONDS ARE EVIE'S BEST FRIEND

Evie gleams up a diamond necklace for her mom when she finds out that it is Anterian mother's day.

3 - 22 A KINDER, GENTLER MAYOR

It's reelection time and Kyle is once again running for mayor, but starts to feel like his position is undeserved when no one else will run against him, so when Donna decides to help Kyle, by running for mayor, she not only becomes well appreciated by the town of Marlowe, but she wins the election.

3 - 23 MY MOTHER THE CON

3 - 24 GOODBYE, MR. CHRIS

When Chris gets rejected from the college of his choice, he decides to enlist into the marines, but once he does, he realizes how much he would rather be in school than in the marines.

4 - 1 NEW KIDS ON THE BLOCK

There is a new guy in town and Evie makes a date with him so she can show him around Marlowe to make him feel welcome, but when Chris comes back to Marlowe, after transferring to "Marlowe Community College," Evie tries to hide from Chris so that he won't know that she is seeing someone else.

4 - 2 MY LITTLE EVIE

It is Donna and Troy's anniversary, once again, and this time, Troy decides to do something special for her, so asks Evie to buy a music box, so that he can put a special song in it for Donna, but while attempting to put the song in the music box, he accidentally shrinks Evie.

4 - 3 FORGET YOUR TROUBLES

When Donna is bribed by a man who wants the land in Marlowe that she is giving away, she decides to take him to court to punish him, but when she gets overwhelmed with stress, she wishes that she could just forget about everything for a while, and when Evie tries to help her, she accidentally gives Donna amnesia.

4 - 4 A MIND IS A TERRIBLE THING TO READ

Donna's television show, "Meet the Mayor", is scheduled to be cancelled after failing to pull in viewers, so the gang put together a telethon to keep the show on the air, and when Evie and Lindsay try to do a mind reading trick for entertainment, the trick doesn't fool anyone, so she asks Troy to give her the power to read minds.

4 - 5 EVIE'S GUARDIAN ANGEL

Donna hires Peter to put in new shelves for the kitchen, but while he's there, things start mysteriously disappearing in the house, and on their way home, Donna and Evie catch Peter talking to Troy through the cube and discover that Peter is really an alien from Anterias as well as Evie's guardian angel.

4 - 6 BEST FRIENDS

Donna's old friend, Sandy, is coming to visit, but Donna isn't too thrilled after remembering how Sandy was so much more popular than her and how she took the guy that Donna liked back in high school, and when Evie starts to spend all her time with Sandy, Donna feels that Sandy is now taking away her daughter.

4 - 7 I WANT MY EVIE TV

Evie's Uncle Mick has returned home to Marlowe after being on the road with his band, and when Evie discovers that he is a talented guitar player, she asks him to help her make a music video for her school project, but instead Chris takes Evie's music video and submits it to a talent search contest.

4 - 8 COME FLY WITH EVIE

When Kyle must take a plane to New York for a police convention, Evie discovers that he is afraid to fly, so Donna and Evie create a "fear of flying" program to help Kyle overcome his fear, but when Evie pretends that they are taking off, the house really does take off because of Evie's powers.

4 - 9 ROOMIES

While Mick is out of town for a week, he allows Evie and Lindsay to stay at his apartment so that they can see what it's like to live together before they go away to college, but only after a few hours alone, the girls start to disagree.

4 - 10 EVIE'S HIGH ANXIETY

When Chris decides to enter a dance contest with another woman, Evie gleams herself into a fantastic dancer to get Chris back, but because of a gleam intensification, her powers become ten times their normal strength and she becomes so light on her feet that she starts to float in the air.

4 - 11 EVIE'S FALSE ALARM

Donna is conned into buying an alarm system for the house, and when she and Evie realize that it was a fraud, they come up with a plan to try to get their money back.

4 - 12 MARLOW VICE

Lindsay decides to be a student officer just to goof off and skip classes and persuades Evie to be her partner in crime. When Lindsay discovers that there is a thief stealing food from the cafeteria, she suddenly becomes serious about her position and tries to catch the culprit, only Evie catches him instead, and the thief ends up being Jeff.

4 - 13 EVIE'S LATIN TOUCH

Evie decides to take part in the student exchange program and let's a young latin boy stay with her, and when she discovers that that his whole life is all work and no play, she teaches him to have a little fun by taking him to play baseball.

4 - 14 MY MOM, AND WHY I LOVE HER

Evie's grandmother sends her a check in the mail, for $200, that is supposed to go toward her college fund, but Evie spends the money on a jacket instead, and in order to keep Donna from finding out that she spent the money instead of putting it in the bank, she enters a contest titled "My Mom and Why I Love Her" to try to win the money back.

4 - 15 HECK'S ANGELS

Evie volunteers to tutor a 22 year old high school student so that he can get his diploma, but he ends up being a rough, tough, motorcycle biker named "Moose", and when his girlfriend, Velma, finds out that she is spending time with him, she warns Evie to stay away from him....or else.

4 - 16 WOULD YOU BUY A USED CAR FROM THIS DUDE

Chris decides that he wants to go to school to be a doctor but he just cannot afford it, so gets a job as a car salesperson to help him pay for school, and when Evie discovers that Chris just cannot sell anything, she gleams him into the best car salesperson in the entire place.

4 - 17 EVIE NIGHTINGALE

Evie and Lindsay sneak into the hospital and pretend to be candy strippers after they discover that their favorite soap star will be staying there, but instead of getting his autograph, they end up getting trouble.

4 - 18 ALL ABOUT EVIE

A star attitude is born when Lindsay lands the lead in Marlowe High's production of "Romeo & Juliet."

4 - 19 MAYOR EVIE

Evie becomes Donna's new mayor's assistant, but when Donna won't give Evie any responsibility to do the job, Evie gleams herself into Donna to sign a concert permit when Donna is not around to do it herself, but it only causes problems when the citizens of Marlowe don't approve of the performer.

4 - 20 STUMP YOUR NEIGHBOUR

It's Evie, Kyle, and Mick vs. Donna, Lindsay, and Buzz in a popular game show titled "Stump Your Neighbor", but while Donna and Kyle are fighting to win for their pride, the rest of the gang are just looking to win a new Ferrari.

4 - 21 EVIE'S THREE PROMISES

It's Evie, Kyle, and Mick vs. Donna, Lindsay, and Buzz in a popular game show titled "Stump Your Neighbor", but while Donna and Kyle are fighting to win for their pride, the rest of the gang are just looking to win a new Ferrari.

4 - 22 TOO LATE FOR EVIE

Evie breaks her curfew, once again, for the third weekend in a row and Donna gets furious at Evie for making her worry, but Evie just can't understand why her mother worries so much when she stays out late until one night when Donna goes out, gets locked in Kyle's apartment and doesn't come home.

4 - 23 EDUCATING KYLE

When Kyle reveals to Evie and Donna that he never graduated from high school, Donna informs him that in order to keep his job as police chief, he must go back to high school to get his diploma. When he does, he accidentally gets Evie in trouble for cheating on her history final when in fact he was the one cheating.

4 - 24 EVIE'S EIGHTEEN

Evie celebrates her eighteenth birthday with her mom. Her dad uses a matter transference unit to come as well (it looks like a outline of him with light accenting the outline) This episode ends with Evie's mom getting transported to Antares when she steps into the unit to turn it off and troy trapped on earth because Donna used it. This is the end of the series.

OUT THERE

Anthology series which covered stories of Science Fiction.

Out There was an anthology series which tried to reproduce stories from science fiction pulp magazines of the day. Live anthology series consisting of adaptations from short stories by major Science Fiction authors, aimed at adult/juvenile crossover audience, using special effects. A now-obscure series that should be commended for its attention to literature, which was simply ahead of its time. Teleplays were adapted from short stories by notable science fiction authors.

Our There, also called Out There - in Time, Space and the Worlds of Science Fiction in CBS press realises, was an anthology series with stories often based on works by famous Science Fiction writers. These writers included Robert Heinlein, whose work served as the basis of three stories. Ray Bradbury, Theodore Sturgen and Murray Leinster. The first episode of the series, THE OUTER LIMITS, was based upon a story which had appeared in Saturday Evening Post and plotwise bore some similarity to the now classic film The Day the Earth Stood Still. The programme was one of the first science fiction series to be aimed at adults while still holding appeal for children accustomed to CAPTAIN VIDEO and TOM CORBETT.

Out There was also on the cutting edge of TV special effects, some of which were obtained by using filmed cut away shots (the programme was shot live), while others were accomplished by using experimental camera techniques. The series was first aired on CBS, and was broadcast live. The various authors they based their stories on included Robert Heinlein, Milton Lesser, Theodore Sturgeon, Ray Bradbury.

Out There was an innovative adult science fiction series conceived by CBS as that net-work's antidote to ABC's adult science fiction offering Tales of Tomorrow, unveiled only a couple of months earlier. CBS hurried Out There onto the fall 1951 schedule as a "sustainer," a program without a sponsor but presented by the network in the hope of eventually attracting a commercial backer. Sustaining series were once common occurrences on radio, and radio continued to exert a powerful influence on early television at the same time that TV was undercutting its rival at every turn.

Presented live, as most series were at the inception of television, Out There also wove filmed segments into its broadcasts, an unusual approach for the time. Reviewer Jack Gould, writing in The New York Times (November 4, 1951), predicted that Out There might prove to be one of the best of the many science fiction entries on television, which only underscores the fallibility of critics; after 12 broadcasts, the series was pulled from the air after failing to attract a sponsor.

CBS, however, briefly lavished time, money, talent and considerable energy on the series in an effort to turn it into a paying proposition. They reportedly spent some $10,000 a week on the series, a not inconsiderable sum for its day, much of it going into the production of special effects designed to give the adult themes a certain credence and credibility. Nor was CBS parsimonious when it came to paying for scripts. Out There's story budget was $650 per episode, which compared favourably with such prestigious (and commercially sponsored) series as Armstrong Circle Theatre (NBC) and Danger (CBS) which were each slated at $750 for story budgets.

CBS story editor Arthur Heinemann sought out previously published science fiction stories which would readily adapt to the demands of live television. Such stories as Robert Heinlein's "Green Hills of Earth," Ray Bradbury's "The Man" and Theodore Sturgeon's "Mewhu's Jet" would be tapped for eventual adaptation. For the premiere broadcast, producer John Haggott and director Byron Paul presented "The Outer Limits," a story by Graham Doar, culled from the December 24, 1949, pages of the Saturday Evening Post.

The play focused upon the efforts of an extraterrestrial being, Commander Xegion (Wesley Addy), to convince a captured American jet pilot that the earth's infatuation with atomic weapons was viewed with alarm by other worlds, and that if Earth failed to curb its experimentation with atomic weaponry the planet would soon be destroyed. It was probably Out There's adult approach to science fiction that doomed the series to an early extinction. Television science fiction in the early fifties was virtually the exclusive province of the juvenile set, with the exception of Tales of Tomorrow. Out There simply premiered at the wrong end of the decade to achieve success.

Arthur Heinemann advised writers interested in working on the series, "In general this program deals with the more human aspects of science fiction, centring around people as they are affected by phenomena of the world of the future, interplanetary communications and beings from other worlds." Producer John Haggott explained to Newsweek (January 7, 1951), "Although we whine through space, we're more interested in mechanisation's probable effect on human beings." The humanisation concept of science fiction which Out There stressed would eventually find acceptance through such later series as Science Fiction Theatre, Men into Space and The Man and the Challenge.

Technical Information

FORMAT: Live half hour anthology series, interspersed with filmed sequences, dramatising the work of popular science fiction authors.

BROADCAST HISTORY: Network: CBS. Original Airdates: October 28, 1951 to January 13, 1952. Total Episodes: 12 black-and-white. Seasons: 1. Sponsor: Sustaining.

Production Staff

Executive Producer: Donald Davis.

Pro-ducer: John Haggott.

Director: Byron Paul

WR. Elihu Winer, Edward Waldo, Howard Rodman, Joseph Kramm, David Shaw, Raphael Hayes, Murray Leinster, Howard Rodman, Reginald Rose, Frank Long.

DIR. Byron Paul, Andrew McCullough (all episodes)

EPISODES: 12 YEAR MADE: 1951 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

CBS

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: ANTHOLOGY

FORMAT: ANTHOLOGY

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 12

DATE OF PREMIER: 28/10/1951

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 13/01/1952

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:FILMS:

NONE.

RELATED SHOWS:

TOM CORBETT, SPACE CADET

CAPTAIN VIDEO AND HIS VIDEO RANGERS

SPACE CADETS

1 - 1 THE OUTER LIMIT

An extraterrestrial being attempts to convince a captured American jet pilot that earth infatuation with atomic weapons is viewed with alarm by other worlds and that Earth will be destroyed if it fails to curb its experimentation in atomic weaponry.

Dir Byron Paul, Andrew McCullough

1 - 2 ORDEAL IN SPACE

Communications Officer William Coles goes out side his spaceship and expertise to fix a radar antenna. He falls into the large expanse of space, lost. A miracle rescue allows him to tell his great tale.

Dir Andrew McCullough, Byron Paul

1 - 3 THE SENSE OF WONDER

The captain of a spaceship lacks the courage to land his ship after a journey of hundreds of years.

Dir Byron Paul, Andrew McCullough

1 - 4 MISFIT

The Earth Foreign Legion has been assigned the task of moving an asteroid between Earth and Mars. This asteroid is to be used as a space station and an emergency landing base. Most of the work is to be done by a young astronaut who can do complex mathematical problems in his head.

Dir Andrew McCullough, Byron Paul

1 - 5 SUSCEPTIBILITY

Able XII, a planet in the Third Galaxy has been blacked out for centuries. Earth Command sends a search and rescue mission to Able to find out what happened.

Wr David Shaw

Dir Andrew McCullough, Byron Paul

1 - 6 THE GREEN HILLS OF EARTH

Rhysling. A man who helped discover new planets in the galaxy has been sent on a mission to the Wolf Pack Asteroid Belt with a research team. Unknown to all members of the team and Rhysling this mission will end in tragedy.

Dir Byron Paul, Andrew McCullough

1 - 7 MEWHU'S JET

An Alien survives the crash of his spaceship on an isolated island.

Dir Andrew McCullough, Byron Paul

1 - 8 SEVEN TEMPORARY MOONS

Seven moon and star like bodies appear near Earth and threatens it's survival.

Wr Murray Leinster

Dir Byron Paul, Andrew McCullough

1 - 9 THE MAN

Two rival companies find radio active materials on a distant planet. Now they must compete against each other to win the 'goods'.

Dir Andrew McCullough, Byron Paul

1 - 10 THE BUS TO NOWHERE

Six people are stranded in the middle of the desert . They meet a little man named Mr. Kik, a Venusian. Mr Kik tells the people that they are going to his planet so that his people can study human behavior.

Wr Reginald Rose

Dir Andrew McCullough, Byron Paul

1 - 11 GUEST IN THE HOUSE

Wr Frank Belknap Long

Dir Andrew McCullough, Byron Paul

1 - 12 THE CASTAWAY

An immortal man, thousand of years old, gets passage on a spaceship after spending years on a planet far out of our solar system.

Wr Raphael Hayes

Dir Byron Paul, Andrew McCullough

OUTER LIMITS, THE (1963)

'There is nothing wrong with your television set. Do not attempt to adjust the picture. We are controlling transmission . . . we will control the horizontal. We will control the vertical . . . For the next hour, sit quietly and we will control all you see and hear . . . You are about to participate in a great adventure. You are about to experience the awe and mystery which reaches from the inner mind to The Outer Limits.'

The Outer Limits was the bug-eyed monster show. Other series might explore the bizarre or the fantastic with the aim of exciting, amusing or merely arousing dormant grey cells, but this 1960s American anthology series was designed to scare the living daylight out of its audience.

Week after week, your television set was taken over by some of the creepiest aliens ever created for the small screen. These weren't cuddly ETs, these were full-blooded agents of terror, collectively dubbed 'the Bears' by producer Joseph Stefano.

Joseph Stefano, producer of The Outer Limits' first season, recalls an event that occurred in 1975, ten years after the series' demise. He characterizes it as "one of the strangest, most wonderful experiences I've ever had." Formally invited to a New York science fiction convention, Stefano was "surprised when they offered to pay not only my fare, but my wife's. They also provided a first class hotel room. I thought, 'What the hell is this?' We got there and found a huge audience. I told them, 'I don't really make speeches, but I'll answer questions.' I was truly shocked: they not only knew about The Outer Limits, they knew all about me! If I couldn't answer a question, somebody in the audience could. I thought, 'We're talking about a ten-year-old show here!'"

Stefano's initial arrangement was to spend one day at the convention, but "I couldn't get enough of these marvelous people. I returned for a second and third day. I looked at my wife, Marilyn, and said, 'I don't believe this is happening! When did it happen?'" It all began much more quietly in 1962, when ABC-TV commissioned writer Leslie Stevens (whose previous series was Jack Lord's Stoney Burke) to set up a science fiction anthology series. To help ensure commercial success, ABC wanted the emphasis to be on terror. This meant the guarantee of one monster per show.

Because The Twilight Zone was more of a gentle fantasy, The Outer Limits was truly the first big-budgeted science fiction series aimed at an adult audience. Stevens immediately contacted writer Joseph Stefano (who had scripted the 1960 film Psycho) to take on the producing reins. The working chemistry between the two was unbeatable. Stevens, a science fiction buff, was fascinated by the frontiers of science and its effect on society; Stefano was more interested in suspense and Gothic horror. It was his vision that provided most of the shudders. He also insisted on the thoughtful stories that depicted many of the monsters as intelligent and often misunderstood beings. In Stefano's world, mankind was still a groping child whose heart was in the right place. At the end of every episode, at least one character, whether human or monster, had gained some degree of insight.

As the first year went into production, Stefano went to work. "I spent a great deal of my time writing scripts or commissioning scripts, trying to get the next show on for the following week," he recalls. "If scripts didn't come in, I'd go home and write them, which is why I wrote so many. In my contract, I agreed to write four scripts. I think I ended up writing 12. I also rewrote many others, not because they were all bad but because many didn't fit our vision."

The most identifiable trademark of The Outer Limits was the Control Voice. The program opened with a white dot in the center of a black screen. An unseen voice would announce that for the next hour, "we are controlling transmission." At the program's close, the Control Voice returned with a soothing, "We now return control of your television to you ... until next time ... when the Control Voice will take you to the Outer Limits." It was a gripping, inventive device.

"The Control Voice was (and is) a peculiar phenomenon," says its creator, Leslie Stevens. "It first came to me at a pitch meeting with ABC. The network executives were asking me about the format for The Outer Limits. Rod Serling had been a success with Twilight Zone, and ABC felt the need for a host. I had no prepared answer, but I heard myself saying that the home viewers' TV set would turn off, leaving a glowing dot. A Control Voice would take over. I quite literally heard myself reciting the introductory speech about 'rolling, fluttering, focus,' etc."

The Control Voice also offered bits of thoughtful commentary at the close of the episodes. Joseph Stefano says this allowed him to express some of his most personal thoughts to the audience. "The Control Voice wasn't supposed to be God or some great sage," Stefano says. "It was really the voice of Leslie Stevens and Joe Stefano. It was our chance to say what we felt without putting it into a characterization." At the time, Stefano had a lot to say. "I had just had a son, my first child, and I cared tremendously about what was going on in the world. I realized I had been rather inattentive the previous ten years, politically, because I had been struggling to get somewhere as an artist. I was coming out of that. In The Outer Limits, I meant just about everything I wrote. I'll see an episode today and think, 'I wonder if I still feel that way? Do these truths still hold up in my life?' Often they do, which is amazing. I've changed in so many ways since then. So the show even works for me in that respect. It gives me an opportunity to consider where I am as a human being today as opposed to then."

When Newsweek profiled The Outer Limits in January 1964, the magazine quoted Stefano as saying, "If there's one underlying message on the show, it's a strong preachment against violence, bigotry and prejudice." Newsweek credited Stefano's monsters for often pushing the series into the ratings' top twenty. However, in some reviews The Outer Limits was actually criticized for its use of monsters. Some critics claimed the series was nothing more than a fancy creature-feature for television. TV Guide critic Cleveland Amory's snide review of the show ended with the grouchy reviewer seeking out a child to explain an episode that had left Amory thoroughly befuddled. As with most TV shows that were ahead of their time, the reviews say more about the critics, who were unable to look past the monsters to see the show's subtext.

"We did pretty much what we wanted to do," says Stefano. "In fact, it's hard to imagine being able to do today what we did then. Today, a network has too much executive control of TV and movies. The Outer Limits gave me the opportunity to communicate to the audience what I was thinking and feeling at the time." Stefano not only crafted well-motivated monsters into the show, he also made strong political and social statements under the guise of science fiction. To the network's credit, Stefano was left alone. "The executives at ABC were pretty hip as to what we were doing," he says.

"They were not stupid people. Danny Melnick, who is a brilliant producer today, was head of ABC's programming development. They knew who we were and what our thinking was like. They knew what we were going to do with The Outer Limits. They also knew that we had the subtlety not to get everybody into trouble. They trusted us."

However, Leslie Stevens says that if he had been creatively unshackled by the network, there would have been differences in The Outer Limits' content. Stevens was intrigued by the new developments in science. "Digital computers were on the horizon, and I would have enjoyed exploring cyberspace," he says. "Hallucinogens are intriguing, and I'm all for a scientific probe of Nagual. My hobby is arcane math, and I love the realms of the Verhulst process. For sheer sci-fi excitement, nothing beats Kaluza-Klein, Banach and Tarski, Bell and non-local phenomena. But try to discuss this with network execs!"

Within the limitations of having a monster (nicknamed a "bear" by the producers), Stevens could still have some fun. One of his most daring monsters, however, never reached the screen. "I proposed a 'Sound Monster' to Dan Melnick. I found that a decibel oscillator, rising from pedal-tones to dog's hearing, made things like cups, saucers and ashtrays vibrate. I thought it would be fascinating to have the audience involved in a little viewer participation. We could have stuff in their living rooms suddenly buzz and clink as though some strange creature were loose in their house. The ABC legal department turned pale. They were thinking of things falling off shelves onto the heads of millions of viewers, with consequent lawsuits. Needless to say, the 'Sound Monster' was DOA."

Although the monsters on The Outer Limits often received the fan mail, today Stefano gets letters about the show's themes. "One fan asked me about my script The Invisibles (where parasitic beings control key men in government)," recalls Stefano. "He asked, 'It seems you were referring to the CIA in that. It seems odd you would be allowed to do that in 1963'-because we had just come out of a repressive society with the Eisenhower administration. My response was, 'I would never have been able to do that had it not been called science fiction.' I couldn't have done a Playhouse 90 or a two-hour movie condemning or doubting the CIA. It would have been refused."

The quality of The Outer Limits' scripts and production attracted many talented actors and actresses to the series. Actor John Anderson says, "I wasn't a science fiction fan, but the few episodes I had seen of The Outer Limits were remarkable." Anderson signed up to play an alien in "Nightmare." As an Ebonite, Anderson was one of the extra-terrestrials helping the U. S. military perform mind games on a group of unwitting soldiers, with tragic results. "My role was certainly unique," says Anderson. "and we had an incredible cast, including Ed Nelson and James Shigeta. It was Martin Sheen's first good TV role, and there were wonderful character actors, including my dear friend Whit Bissell. A fabulous cast."

Anderson grappled briefly with the alien characterization. "The script described the alien as having a mechanical voice. I presumed they would do this technically by putting a special mike over my throat. Just before filming, I said, 'How are we gonna make my voice sound mechanical?' They said, 'You're going to do that.' I said, 'You mean I have to create this sound? It isn't exactly your average, conversational dialogue.' They told me to do the best I can. I shook my head. 'Damn! I wish that you had warned me earlier.' I went off into a corner and practiced. I managed this electronicsounding voice. It must have worked because no one said, 'Jesus Christ! We can't use that.' Fans have told me that they had no idea it was me ... of course, I was hidden under this weird makeup that weighed about 800 pounds!

"It was very complicated. They attached this rubber head with glue and blended it onto my skin with liquid rubber. It took about an hour and a half." Legend has it that the cast, including Anderson in full Ebonite makeup, stopped traffic one day when they went out for lunch. "Never happened!" laughs Anderson. "I never left the studio with the makeup on. I couldn't even get into my car with that pointed head I was wearing. But a strange thing did happen on the first day of filming. I felt really odd. I thought I was coming down with something. I finally figured it out: with all this stuff glued to my face, I was suffering from claustrophobia and didn't even realize it. My whole body was encased in a wetsuit and rubber gloves with attenuated fingers. Once I understood it was claustrophobia, I was okay. And after two hours in makeup, I found that whenever I walked, I heard this eerie sloshing sound. I went to my stuntman [Paul Stader], who had the same rig on, and said, 'Geez, whenever I take a step, it's like I'm wading in water. What's going on?' He said, 'You're sweating. As you sweat, it can't evaporate.' I said, 'Jesus Christ! You mean I'm walking around in two inches of my own sweat?' He said, 'Yep.' That made all the sense in the world." Anderson was impressed with the episode. "It made a strong anti-war statement. It was several levels above your typical TV. The episode didn't change the world because since 1963 we've had nothing but bloodshed and fighting, but you've got to keep trying."

The popularity of The Outer Limits has even trickled down to its guest stars. Anderson recalls, "I came home one day and there was a bunch of people in my driveway. It turned out they were Outer Limits freaks. I call them that because they had a camera and 12 photos of me in that weird makeup. They asked me to sign all 12 of them and asked me all sorts of questions. I thought, 'Geez, they're nice people, but is this all they have to do?' Especially when they said that every weekend they went around looking for Outer Limits people!"

Joey Tata was another actor who found himself in the bizarre world of The Outer Limits. As one of the soldiers in "The Zanti Misfits" he battled deadly space ants. The one-foot ants, known as Zantis, had human faces and delivered nasty bites. They were some of the scariest and most unusual creatures ever depicted on television. "We shot the interiors at a Los Angeles TV station called KTTV" recalls Tata. "The soldiers' control outpost was about as big as a living room. When director Leonard Horn walked in with the ants we'd be fighting, we all looked at each other and tried not to laugh. We had a couple of actors from New York who looked down on us Hollywood guys, and they just looked down at their belly buttons as Leonard passed these rubber ants around. Lenny saw my face and he said, 'Tata! If you say one word about these ants...' I said, 'Well, they're too big to step on. How are we supposed to get rid of them?' Leonard said, 'You're gonna shoot them. If you can believe that an ant can talk, you can believe you can shoot them, right?' and we all laughed."

Tata counts the episode as one of his favorite experiences. "The episode turned out great," he says. "During the battle scene, the ants were everywhere: running down the sides of walls, dimbing up desks, biting people's feet ... and we were all shooting guns off like crazy in this little room. I'm talking 12 carbines with blanks going off. We were going deaf from the noise. Some of the ants were animated through stop-motion photography. Others were rigged with squibs and when we shot 'em, they blew apart. Man, it was great! I gave one of the ants to my niece as a gift."

Tata jumped at the chance to be in the series. "Lenny Horn and I had worked at CBS on The Red Skelton Show. When he asked me if I wanted to fight ants on The Outer Limits, I said, 'Absolutely!' I loved the series. Joe Stefano and his style were terrific. Today, it's a cult show. The makeup and direction on the series were dynamite."

One of the most haunting Outer Limits episodes was "The Man Who Was Never Born." Written by Anthony Lawrence, the story was about people making great personal sacrifices to save the Earth's future. An astronaut and a mutant from the year 2148 head back to 1963 to prevent the birth of a man who will be responsible for Earth's biological destruction. Karl Held played the doomed astronaut, Joseph Reardon, who lands in Earth's future and finds it a desolate landscape populated by sterile, misshapen humanoids. "My challenge was to convey a believable reaction to the incredible circumstances," says Held. "Fortunately Joe Reardon was a thinking man. He was literate, intelligent and quick-witted."

Held recalls the planet scenes were played out "in a small studio, under hot lights. My spacesuit didn't 'breathe,' and I was roasting. The makeup people would dry my face right up to Action! I never got through a take without director Leonard Horn wincing as perspiration started on my face. He finally said, 'I guess we'll have to skip your close-ups, Karl.' I said, 'Hey, I just stopped sweating. I wonder why?' Leonard was a very easy man to work with. He saw I had a good grasp of the character and left me alone. He'd explain how the special effects would appear outside the spaceship viewport so that I could put myself in the physical context of the scene. He usually made a sincere, encouraging comment after a final take."

One of the most powerful moments in The Outer Limits is Reardon's death scene. The astronaut is dematerialized while passing through a space barrier to return to present-day Earth. "The scene's sense of fright was augmented by the special effects," Held says, "but also in my choice of playing his death with disbelief rather than fear."

Held has also received praise from viewers for his role. "A stranger recognized me and said that my line, 'A microbe destroyed humanity?' was handled beautifully. Another person said, 'You made it believable with your sense of reality.' It was a strong episode. The special effects were pretty good for that kind of budget." "When Joe Stefano sent me the script for 'The Man Who Was Never Born,' I loved it on the first read," says actor Martin Landau, who played Andro, the tragic, gentle mutant from the future. He falls in love with the Earth woman (played by Shirley Knight) who is destined to give birth to the child who will destroy the future. "I saw Shirley Knight in the role of the leading lady. She had been an acting student of mine in the 1950s. When Joe asked me if I wanted to do the episode, he coincidentally mentioned that they were trying to get Shirley Knight to play Noelle. I knew we were on the same wavelength! I immediately agreed to play Andro."

Because Andro could use hypnosis to alter his repelling appearance, Landau had something of a dual role. "I was playing both Andro and myself," he says. "Freddie Phillips, the makeup artist, devised a mask that was attached at my eyes and mouth in such a way that I could put it on or take it off in five minutes' time. The mask's nose holes had to be enlarged so I could breathe easier, although I did most of my breathing through my mouth. The misshapen feet were put on like boots, and the gnarled hands were donned like gloves."

The exciting chase scene, as Andro and Noelle are pursued through the woods, "was beautifully filmed by Conrad Hall, the director of photography, and his camera operator, Bill Fraker," says Landau. "Bill laid on his back, on carriage wheels, holding the camera on his chest. He was pulled by ropes to film the chase. The whole Beauty and the Beast love story, as well as the time travel aspect, caught everyone's attention. Dick Van Dyke called me up after the show aired and raved about it. I still get mail about the show. As a six-day shoot, we made a damned good little movie. It was a special episode and I'm very proud of it."

Landau's second Outer Limits appearance was in "The Bellerophon Shield," where he played a scientist who accidentally captures a space traveler. Sally Kellerman played his scheming wife. "It was an interesting episode, although I liked it less than "The Man Who Was Never Born." The director, John Brahm, was a great old pro out of World War II cinema. Sally Kellerman was a 17 year-old waitress at a 'beatnik' coffee house named Cosmo Alley when I first arrived in Hollywood. It was a place where people read poetry, sang folk songs and hung out."

Robert Justman, who was the assistant director on The Outer Limits "part of the time and also a unit production manager part of the time," thinks the series "introduced a lot of viewers to science fiction." His work on the series included "The Sixth Finger," starring David McCallum as a Welsh miner transformed into a man of the future. "As filming went on, it became clear to me and director James Goldstone that the segment's running time was going to come up short," recalls Justman. "So we wrote a sequence where David, who had some pianistic abilities, played two-part Bach. Since his character had six fingers, that made it interesting! David consulted with us, and together we picked out what music he would play. It was a lovely piece, and we derived enough footage to deliver the show."

The Outer Limits had a successful first season. In a ratings jungle where a 16.0 rating was needed for renewal, The Outer Limits ended the year with a respectable 19.0. The series was especially popular with teenagers. ABC granted the series a renewal, but moved The Outer Limits from its popular Monday night berth to Saturday nights. Joseph Stefano felt the new time slot, opposite the mighty Jackie Gleason show, was a mistake. Stefano protested the change by leaving the series at the end of its first year. The Outer Limits, one of the most popular shows of the 1963-64 season, was among the least-watched shows of the 1964-65 season. It was canceled in the middle of its second season.

"When I left," says Stefano, "it was simply because I felt The Outer Limits should not be moved to Saturdays. Monday night had been just great. Our ratings weren't sensational, but they were healthy. If we had stayed in that slot, I think the ratings would have increased in the second year. We could have run five or six years. I think what happened was that somebody at the top said, 'I think The Outer Limits has a chance to knock off Jackie Gleason on Saturday nights.' Two or three executives ended up deciding what an audience will watch and when. So they moved the series, and I moved on. I didn't see any of the second season. When The Outer Limits was canceled, it was exactly what I expected."

Robert Justman worked on both seasons. "I thought the first year, when Joe was involved, was much better than the second year. It was a monster show in the second season, which is what ABC wanted. It certainly didn't have the quality of writing the first season had. Joe's writing was extremely poetic. The themes of the first season were also more engrossing. The fellow who came in to replace Joe [producer Ben Brady] was not a writer. He didn't have the sensitivity Joe had. I didn't think the second season was going to be successful, especially when I saw the product we were being commissioned to churn out. In fact, I was unhappy enough that I seized the opportunity to go and prepare the first Star Trek pilot before the second season was over."

As the second year began production, however, the new producers issued a statement that the new Outer Limits would emphasize science over monsters. According to new story editor Seeleg Lester, "The first season, which I reviewed, never satisfied Leslie Stevens' original concept. The first year was principally concerned with horror, a.k.a. bug-eyed monsters. I suspect ABC had a heavy hand on the producer's till. Whether the producer [Joseph Stefano] agreed or disagreed with the bug-eyed-monster concept, I don't know. Ben Brady and I were assured by the network there would be no intrusion of that kind of thinking in the second year. Their assurance was a lie. We were leaned on continuously to put horror into the scripts." However, the second year did feature some unusual segments, including Harlan Ellison's "Soldier" and "Demon with a Glass Hand."

There was also Seeleg Lester's and Sam Neuman's "The Inheritors," a two-part story about benevolent aliens who give afflicted children a second chance for life on an alien planet. "'The Inheritors' was conceived because I wanted at least one show without monsters," says Lester. "I tried as story editor to make the show more imaginative and intriguing. The second year began to illustrate the imaginative kinds of stories that science fiction promises. The network, however, despite the huge success of the anthology series One Step Beyond, never understood or appreciated The Outer Limits. The networks still don't understand the underlying appeal of imaginatively different concepts or stories. The Outer Limits endures today because it was an opportunity for unusual, literate and intriguing television. There have been several other efforts since to cash in on science fiction TV, but they've been, aside from Star Trek, less than mediocre." "Bobby Justman is correct, but then, so is Seeleg Lester," notes Leslie Stevens of The Outer Limits' content during its two-year run.

"Dan Melnick, the ABC programmer, insisted that we 'bring on a bear' in every episode to grab disinterested audiences. We tried to take his command and run with it in imaginative ways. In the second year, Seeleg added wonderful elements, but he was shackled even worse than the first year. Both Lou Morheim [The Outer Limits' first season story editor] and Seeleg Lester wanted to accomplish the impossible and almost did. We dreamed of integrity, and we wanted every show to be great, but the business affairs of TV is a hard taskmaster. The Outer Limits had zero sex, so we were required to pump in the adrenalin (violence) by 'bringing on the bear' in the first five minutes. It's interesting to note that in the hostile, murderous world of TV drama, commercials suggest that to consume something will bring relief. It's always, 'Have a Coke or a Bud or a Rolaid or be part of the gusto group by consuming something.' The secret theme of 50 threatening years of mass TV drama might well be, 'Consume or die.'"

Stevens has a definite favorite of the two seasons. "The first season was very near and dear to me. The second year, the network clipped our wings, and I was limited to being executive producer. I admired Seeleg's valiant efforts, but in my view Ben Brady was miscast as boss of an imaginative series."

The cancellation of The Outer Limits in 1965 was the beginning of its rebirth. Before production of the show's second season, the series had already been sold to 25 foreign TV markets. In 1965, independent American stations quickly snapped up all 49 episodes for syndication. By the late 1960s, The Outer Limits was a huge hit in syndication. As early as 1966 there was talk of reviving the series. "I think it was ABC that expressed interest in doing the series again at that time," says Joseph Stefano.

"I can't tell you how many companies and network people have talked to me over the years, wanting to do another Outer Limits-like show. But they've always hedged their bets. In the mid-1980s, Leslie Stevens and I had a meeting with ABC. They said, 'We want you to do The Outer Limits again, but we don't want you to have the power that you had on the original.' I feel the original has lasted because Leslie and I did what we wanted to do. Or they'll say, 'We want to do it again but this time add continuing characters.' At that point I always politely excuse myself.

I still feel the only way to do it is as an anthology. The problem with a lot of science fiction today is that the networks and studios think special effects are the key. I talked to a network guy, and he said, 'The kind of things you want to do would cost a fortune today.' I said, 'Why's that?' He replied, 'Because special effects are so expensive now.' I said, 'But I'm not talking about special effects!' That's part of the Steven Spielberg legacy. It's like, 'How are we going to know it's set in the future unless we have all this special effects stuff going on?' Those kinds of TV series haven't worked. They've had weak stories and characters without depth." Today, Stefano relishes the attention still lavished on The Outer Limits. "It's fantastic. Whenever TNT [the cable network] does its Outer Limits marathons, the ratings are very good." Ironically, the marathons are broadcast Saturday nights.

"You're not going to see 1990s special effects," Stefano says. "If you know that some of the effects are going to look a little corny, then you'll realize that they're not what the show was about anyway." The writer acknowledges that he's primarily known for his Psycho screenplay and his Outer Limits work. "I'm grateful to be one of the few writers to get to write a TV series and a movie that have become classics," he says. A new Outer Limits series, produced by Atlantis Films, debuted in syndication in 1995, with Stefano and Leslie Stevens serving as executive story consultants. Today, Stefano gets mail from the kids of people who watched the series originally. "It's well into its second generation of viewers," he marvels. "It's wonderful. I get all kinds of philosophical questions: 'Is this really what you believed in at the time?'"

"We had just enough episodes to make it viable in syndication, where it went wild," continues Stefano. "In a strange way, I wonder, if we had lasted five years on ABC, would the series be as popular today? Perhaps because we lasted such a short time, the episodes have become jewel like." All 49 episodes, which were filmed in black and white, are selling well on MGM/UA home video. "There have been very few things on TV that have captured the fancy of young people", says Stefano. "I think The Outer Limits was ahead of its time. I get 17-year-olds who write to me, asking, 'Was there really a time when you could see this kind of show on television?'"

CAST NOTES

Vic Perrin (The Control Voice): Born 1916. Perrin began his career as a senior NBC announcer. He also supplied countless voices for commercials, movies and cartoon series. He died in 1989.

"There is nothing wrong with your TV set. We are controlling transmission. We can control the vertical. We can control the horizontal. For the next hour we will control all that you see and hear and think. You are watching a drama that reaches from the inner mind to ... The Outer Limits!" Harlan Ellison wrote the two best episodes of this anthology series, including the masterpiece "Demon With a Glass Hand."

TOL, which featured a new SF story each week, is often regarded as the classic SF-anthology series. Though leaning towards the Horror or Monster-Movie end of the SF spectrum, the series was often innovative in both style and subject matter, and many of its writers either were SF professionals or knew the genre well. The pilot episode, "The Galaxy Being", written and dir. Stevens, concerned an Alien made of pure energy who is accidentally absorbed into a 3D radio transceiver on Earth. Harlan Ellison contributed 2 episodes: "Soldier" (1964), about an ultraconditioned soldier from the future who is projected back in time and finds himself in a typical 1960s US household -- a precursor of The Terminator (1984) -- and "Demon with a Glass Hand" (1964), perhaps the finest episode, about an Android, pursued by aliens, who has the entire human race coded in his internal circuitry. Actors who appeared in the series -- many of them then unknown -- included Leonard Nimoy, Robert Culp, William Shatner, Bruce Dern, Donald Pleasence, Martin Landau and David McCallum. The bizarre make-up that was such a feature of the series was the work of Fred Phillips, John Chambers and, primarily, Wah Chang.

The talented cinematographer Conrad Hall worked on the 1st season, and the series was visually striking. Only stupid programming (it was shifted to a time-slot opposite the hugely popular Jackie Gleason Show) led to the series' cancellation halfway through the 2nd season. TOL was, on the whole, more imaginative and intelligent than its more famous competitor on CBS, Rod Serling's The TWILIGHT ZONE. The Outer Limits: The Official Companion (1986) by David J. Schow and Jeffrey Frentzen is about the series.

Stefano, writer of the screenplay for Hitchcock's classic, Psycho, said of the grizzly creations: 'The Bear is that one splendid, staggering, shuddering effect that induces awe or wonder or tolerable terror . . .' And among his more memorable 'bears' were giant bugs with ugly humanoid faces for The Zanri Misfits, living rocks for Corpus Earthling, a shimmeringmouthless Andromedan conjured up for The Galaxy Being, a flat-faced cyclops in O.B.I.T., and The Invisibles - slug-like parasites that burrowed into their human hosts, attaching themselves to the spinal cord and dominating the subject's will.

But there was more to The Outer Limits than its monsters. Its brief was also to explore people and the nature of humanity through advancing and expanding diverse aspects of science such as time and space travel, other dimensions, strange experiments and alien psychologies. The Outer Limits was created by television producer and playwright Leslie Stevens but it was Stefano who gave the show its discipline and its 'bears'. He encouraged the imaginative cinematography that won the series critical praise for its visual style - lots of low, wide-angled shots, deep shadows and dim lighting to heighten the tension and produce a 'film noir' look and feel.

The only 'regular' star apart from the disembodied voice of narrator Vic Perrin, was William O. Douglas Jr, who donned many of the outlandish monster costumes. But the show also gave big breaks to such 'promising' young actors as David McCallum, Robert Culp and Martin Landau. The Outer Limits played in America between 1963 and 1965. Over here, the series was seen first on ITV in 1964, when Granada Television screened 34 episodes. Although it was picked up by some other ITV regions, this vintage series received belated-but-welcome network showing when BBC2 transmitted all 49 episodes in 1980-1. Episodes have since aired on Sky and The Sci-Fi Channel.

The Outer Limits first appeared on television in 1963. This was a time when anthology series on were losing favour with the networks who preferred series with continuing characters. The Outer Limits never received either the ratings or the critical acclaim that The Twilight Zone did while it was first on the air. Today people frequently remember an episode of one series as having come from the other. Although on the surface the two series share many similarities, they are actually quite different.

The Outer Limits was created by Leslie Stevens as a series which would show the awe and mystery of the universe. This series was originally titled Please Stand By. Due to the recent Cuban missile crisis, ABC felt that those not be the best words to flash on the TV screen as a control voice took over, the title was thus changed to The Outer Limits. Stevens brought in Joseph Stefano to produce and write for the series. Stevens had made a name for himself by writing the screenplay to Hitchcock's Psycho as one of his first professional works.

Stories on The Outer Limits always had some basis in science fact. Although at many times the premise was stretched very thin, none the less it was still there. Episodes of The Outer Limits were not based on fantasy or the supernatural. Each episode also had a monster or which Stefano called 'the bear' of some type in it. The bears were designed to create terror. These bears often took up a large portion of an episode's budget. They ranged from spider like alien criminals to robots that killed their creators. Despite the expense of these monsters, they were not over used in the programme and shown only when necessary. The series avant garde style cinematography and lighting often kept the creatures in the shadows, while giving the series as a whole a look that somehow seemed out of place on television. The Outer Limits also featured performances by many future big name TV stars.

After one moderately successful season ABC decided to renew The Outer Limits. The series was given a new night and timeslot, opposite the highly successful Jackie Gleason Show. Stefano was upset with the change and resigned as producer when he was unable to convince ABC from making a move that he was certain would kill the series. The new producer, Ben Brady, changed the direction of the series. He decided to shift the emphasis from horror to more pure science.

He also decided to do away with the two elements which had made The Outer Limits unique, the bears and its distinctive style of cinematography. Although the series was not bad, highly acclaimed episodes such as Harlan's Ellison's Demon With a Glass Hand appeared in the second season, the series was now different. After four months Stefano's prediction about the fate of the series in its new timeslot came true. In 1995, The Outer Limits was revived on the Pay TV network Showtime. Unlike the original which featured up and coming fresh talent, the new version of The Outer Limits headlines talent both in front of and behind the camera which has already made a name for themselves.

The executive producer for the series was Leslie Stevens, producers were Joseph Stefano (Season One) and Ben Brady (Season Two). The director of photography was Conrad Hall, the special effects were created by Projects Unlimited, John Nickolaus, Kenneth Peach, M.B. Paul, Larry Butler, Frank Van Der Veer. The music was created by Dominic Frontiere and Harry Lubin (Season Two). The first UK premiere for The Outer Limits occurred between the 16th April 1964 and the 8th October 1964 which was in the Granada region.

The episode I, Robot was rewritten and starred Leonard Nimoy for the new Outer Limits which started in 1995. The list of guest stars for the show reads like a list of famous actors of SF TV in the 60s and 70s (see regular cast), ranging from THE MAN FROM U.N.C.L.E. to SPACE: 1999.

This series is even more closely identified with sixties science fiction than THE TWILIGHT ZONE is. Its frequent use of monsters was a network dictate because that's what most people thought of when they thought of science fiction. In spite of that restriction, the producers tried to deliver more than ordinary fare. There is nothing wrong with your television set. Do not attempt to adjust the picture. We are controlling transmission. We will control the horizontal. We will control the vertical. We can change the focus from a soft blur and sharpen it to crystal clarity. For the next hour sit quietly and we will con-trol all that you see and hear. You are about to partic-ipate in a great adventure. You are about to experience the awe and mystery that reaches from the inner mind to . . .

The dramatic opening music by Dominic Frontiere established a mood of both wonder and terror which the series then tried its best to deliver. In spite of an uneven quality in both seasons, The Outer Limits attempted to do on-screen what written science fiction often attempted to tell dramatic tales of human beings who explored the limits of their humanity. This series was created by Leslie Stevens, who at the time had a series on the air called Stoney Burke, starring Jack Lord. He wanted his company to get more shows on the air and created the concept of a science fiction series called Please Stand By. The pilot was essentially what we saw later as "The Galaxy Being." Since Stevens anticipated Stoney Burke being renewed, he hired Joseph Stefano to produce the show, although the pilot had already been completed by then.

Stevens completed the script for "The Galaxy Being" in November 1962, at a budgeted $213,000. Filming began Dec. 3, 1962, at an unused radio station in the Coldwater Canyon area of Los Angeles as well as on the MGM backlot. Dominic Frontiere was in at the beginning, composing the music for Please Stand By before it was retitled The Outer Limits. The show was retitled at ABC's behest. The title Please Stand By sounded too much like an alert, and this was one year after the Cuban missile crisis, when people saw a lot of alerts on their TVs. The title briefly underwent a change to Beyond Control until Stevens settled on the more evocative name The Outer Limits. Initially ABC wanted to know who the host would be since The Twilight Zone had Rod Serling and Alfred Hitchcock Presents had the man himself up front. To solve this problem Stevens came up with the Control Voice, which was done throughout the series by Vic Perrin, who also provided any needed narration for the stories.

When The Outer Limits premiered on September 16, 1963, it was at the time of the sixties monster boom. Ergo the powers that be decreed that producer Joseph Stefano include a monster in every episode. Luckily Stefano was talented enough to know how to do this within the realm of eerie and dramatic tales. These monsters became known as "bears." This is actually a term from vaudeville. Whenever a performance was going wrong, they'd send out a comic in a bear costume to liven things up. The series bible Stefano wrote (based on notes by Leslie Stevens) specifically mentions the "bear" and states: "Each play must have a 'BEAR.' The BEAR is that one splendid, staggering, shuddering effect that induces awe or wonder or tolerable terror or even merely conversation and argument." It was decided that the easiest way to do this was by using monsters.

Joseph Stefano had known Leslie Stevens for many years before being hired to produce The Outer Limits. His most noteworthy writing accomplishment had been the screenplay adaptation of the Robert Bloch novel Psycho for Alfred Hitchcock. It was Stefano's idea that Norman Bates's first victim in the film should be an actress who was recognizable but not famous. Stefano wanted the scripts in The Outer Limits to stress the human factor in stories. Looking at "The Galaxy Being," which was written and produced by Stevens, one sees that even though it's an interesting story with a lot of imagination, the characters are thin. Visually and imaginatively it's an Outer Limits episode, but emotionally it lacks the power of such episodes as "Architects of Fear" and "The Man Who Was Never Born."

The distinctive look of the first year of The Outer Limits was largely due to the cinematography of Conrad Hall, who was handpicked for the job by Leslie Stevens. Hall used techniques more common to movies than television and went on to become one of the top cinematographers in motion pictures.

While Stevens knew how to pick people for their technical skills (he did, after all, hire Stefano, Hall, and Frontiere), it was Stefano who managed to find actors just on the verge of breaking out. Robert Culp, David McCallum, and Martin Landau all worked on The Outer Limits less than three years before starring in their own TV series.

Since The Outer Limits was in black and white, this added to the somber mood required in the often unique dramas the series portrayed. Even so, the budgets for shows were a minimum of $150,000 and often higher, with $40,000 consigned to the budget for the "bear." Although both seasons of Outer Limits presented many fine episodes, the first season was stronger overall and its larger budget really came across on the screen. The series began with the episode "The Galaxy Being." It concerned Cliff Robertson as a radio engineer who invents a 3-D TV receiver that tunes in on the image of an alien being in the spiral galaxy of Andromeda. By accident, the alien is transmitted to Earth where, through no fault of its own, it wreaks havoc. The episode deals with mankind's fear of the unknown, a recurring theme in the series.

The second episode aired was "The Hundred Days of the Dragon." While eerily effective, it was completely out of step with the rest of the series. It was a political horror story about a Communist Chinese agent who murders a presidential candi-date and takes his place to become the new leader of the free world. The only science fiction element was a drug that enabled a person to mold his or her facial features into any form. The special effects for The Outer Limits were by Project Unlimited, which also worked with George Pal on such films as The Time Machine and The Seven Faces of Dr. Lao. Project Unlimited was founded by Gene Warren, Tim Barr, and Wah Chang. "We were in from about the beginning of Outer Limits the first year,"

Chang recalls. But although Project Unlimited constructed the most memorable monsters seen in that series, they generally didn't design them.

"In the case of Outer Limits, as with most of these TV things, they were very hurried. We would get a rough script and in some cases a lot of the masks had to be fitted to the actor who was wearing it, so we'd have to take a life mask. Sometimes they wouldn't cast the character until a week before they were going to shoot, so you'd be working day and night to get the thing done." They also had other people working with them, like Jim Danforth and a very young David Allen. After Project Unlimited folded, Jim Danforth did some striking stop-motion work on When Dinosaurs Ruined the Earth and Flesh Gordon, as well as assisting Kay Harryhausen on Clash of the Titans. In recent years David Allen formed his own company, which provides special effects for motion pictures.

The series really began exercising its potential with "The Architects of Fear," the third episode broadcast. In this story a group of scientists decides that the only way to end the conflict between nations on Earth is to have Earth face a menace of such magnitude that all nations would unite for the common good. They take one of their volunteers (Robert Culp), and through complex surgery change him into a totally non human being, who would seemingly land on Earth and confront the members of the United Nations.

The suspense in this episode is superb, particularly when their plan goes awry and the ship crash-lands in a lonely wooded area. The monster starts struggling through the overgrowth, whereupon we see it for the first time, and what a weird thing it is! As interesting a creature as it is, it's not exactly horrific, but in 1964 some television stations actually felt it was a monster not ready for prime time. There were actual cases of stations either blacking out the episode or excising the scenes with the alien and showing them after eleven o'clock at night in order to spare the feelings of those with tender sensibilities.

In the episode the creature is never seen head to toe in one shot but rather we see its face, then a glimpse of an arm, and a shot of its legs. The effect is quite weird. Because of the way it was photographed, the creature seemed like it couldn't possibly be a man in a suit but seemed like it must be some sort of huge marionette. But Wah Chang has a photograph he took of the costume when it was finished and was being worn by the stuntman. The trick was that the stuntman had to wear the costume while crouching, with his hands supported by stilts.

"It was a very difficult thing," Chang confirms, "and it really took an athlete to wear this thing. That was worn by stuntman Janos Prohaska. Years later, he and his son and their whole crew were killed in a plane crash. We had a number of actors on Outer Limits who were not well-known at that time, like Robert Culp, who went on to become stars."

The drama and the pathos present at the conclusion of the story make it more than just a monster story, as it's also a story about people. This is what made The Outer Limits so effective in its presentations. Unlike many horror films, which build a slight plot with slight characters around some type of monster that abducts women, The Outer Limits presented firmly constructed stories with believable characters. This, coupled with the moody black-and-white photography, made for the creation of some genuine classics of the genre. In the one-hour format, Outer Limits succeeded in presenting interesting weird fantasies.

"The Sixth Finger" presented another remarkable episode, starring David McCallum as a man who has the evolution of his body accelerated by electronics employed on a molecular level. The makeup, which became a byword for excellence on this series, was particularly impressive here as McCallum undergoes several transformations over the course of the hour. It was easily some of the best makeup of its type ever seen on television.

This was followed by "The Man Who Was Never Born," which is the kind of story which The Outer Limits strove to do in its best moments. This is the one that dealt with an astronaut whose craft pierces the time barrier and lands in a future Earth devastated by a plague. A deformed descendant of humanity explains what has happened and accompanies the astronaut in the craft and journeys back into the past to prevent the horrible future. Martin Landau gives a wonderful performance as both the deformed human and as a normal-looking man, an appearance he is able to assume by using a hypnotic screen. The story deals with love, emotions, and ideals, in one of the most disturbing endings of any of the series' episodes.

"O.B.I.T." deals with government snooping on private lives, but it's okay because the machine involved unmasks a deadly alien in our midst. It thus skirts over the real issue and misdirects us. "Corpus Earthling" is a run-of-the-mill story about alien creatures that look like rocks but can come to life and take over human bodies. Robert Culp is the hero, who has a brain operation and then overhears two rocks planning to conquer the Earth. You had to be there. Outer Limits too often slipped into its familiar monster-of-the-week format, but many stories were very well written. "Nightmare," on the other hand, has aliens but also a government plot. When an alien device accidentally detonates on Earth, our government takes advantage of this to have war games, but the people involved think the war is real, and some are really killed and maimed. At the time the concept of a government waging war unnecessarily seemed farfetched, as this was before the Pentagon Papers revealed that this very thing was going on. The episode features a very young Martin Sheen in a pivotal role. "Tourist Attraction" was another along those lines, involving a strange sea creature who is captured to be put on display in a South American country to pump up its tourism industry. It is rescued by dozens of its fellow creatures, who emerge from the sea.

Some of the strangest creatures ever presented on this series were "The Zanti Misfits." These creatures looked like giant ants with humanlike heads and faces. They're quite bizarre and convincing and were given life via stop-motion animation by Jim Danforth. The story involves the Zantis' sending a shipload of criminals to Earth because, as it turns out, they knew that humans couldn't tolerate such creatures in their midst and would destroy them. A supporting actor in the episode, who's killed off early, is Bruce Dern.

While the monsters on The Outer Limits were pretty strange, only one came close to looking downright disgusting. That was the creature in the episode "Mice." If people were bothered by the thing in "Architects of Fear," the monster in "Mice" must have really sent them scurrying. The story involves contact with intelligent beings on the planet Chromo. Through teleportation, a human (a convict who volunteers) is to be sent to Chromo while one of the alien race is sent here. When the creature appears, it is so repulsive-looking that the volunteer backs out. The somewhat humanoid gelatinous monster has various slimy jutting projections and it injects a food substance (which it grows itself) that looks like soggy bread. A strange one.

One of the weakest first-season episodes was "Zzzzzzzz." No, that's not a sarcastic comment; that's the title. It concerns a hive of bees materialising the queen bee into the form of a human so that she can lead the bees on a conquest of Earth. Talk about fifties SF movies! "The Bellerophon Shield" features Martin Landau in a supporting role. The story, like many other Outer Limits tales, used science fiction to focus on human weaknesses and character flaws. The plot involves a creature from another world, a world of light, who is captured by the beam of an experimental laser. The creature can encase itself in an impenetrable shield, bell-shaped and transparent, in times of danger.

The lead character is actually Sally Kellerman as Bellerophon's wife. She kills the creature (or so she believes) and steals its device; planning to exhibit the shield to the world as her husband's invention. While demonstrating it she discovers that she doesn't know how to remove the shield from around her because it is actually operated by the alien's "blood." The alien, before dying, frees her as a parting act of mercy even though she clearly doesn't deserve it. Who is really the monster in this one?

"Fun and Games" stars the late Nick Adams as a man snatched from Earth, transported to a distant planet, and forced to do battle with an alien. The outcome will decide Earth's fate. It's basically a reworking of the well-known Fredric Brown story "Arena," which Star Trek did an official adaptation of under that title. Still, The Outer Limits version is more gritty, with some good characterisation, giving Nick Adams a good part to chew on. The sus-pense of the hit-and-run fighting, combined with the antihero nature of the Nick Adams character, makes for a much better than average treatment of an otherwise simple idea.

Another episode that holds up well nearly thirty years later is "A Feasibility Study," which has an entire six-block residential section of a city transported to the planet Luminos. The people were brought to the planet to test their susceptibility to the disease infecting the planet's inhabitants, making it impossible for them to remain ambulatory once the infection is complete. If humans prove resistant, more will be kidnapped to establish a race of slaves on the planet. The attitudes of the people captured are carefully scrutinized, with humanity coming out on top when the people decide to infect themselves deliberately to convince the Luminites that Earth is of no use to them, thereby saving countless lives.

There were a number of fine episodes the first season, and another that used the science fiction milieu to make a statement about humanity was "The Chameleon." This starred Robert Duvall as a man who agrees to have his molecular structure altered to impersonate one of the aliens aboard a downed spacecraft in order to gain entry and learn their plans. While he succeeds, the aliens realize that he is not really one of them, but allow his changed body chemistry (brought on by the alien cells used in the structural alteration) to grow in him until he realises what the aliens are really like. The more the agent "remembers" about their planet, the more he dislikes the grubby creatures of what was once his world. He elects to leave Earth with the aliens.

The final episode of the first season was "The Forms of Things Unknown," which producer Joseph Stefano did as a pilot for a projected series that would have been called The Unknown. The story features David McCallum as a man who builds a room in which he can bend time. When The Unknown didn't make it as a series, the background music was recycled in the Quinn Martin series The Invaders.

Although some stories have it that The Outer Limits was cancelled and then later renewed, causing the staff of the show to be dispersed and replaced, the reality was much different. Leslie Stevens had been fighting with ABC vice president Ben Brady's decisions regarding the series all season. Brady would be the first to admit that they didn't get along. Stevens was constantly going over Brady's head to argue with the network over script decisions and it was inevitable that the network would tire of the conflict. Although The Outer Limits was popular, its ratings were not strong and ABC chose to slash the budget for the second season.

Joseph Stefano left the show because ABC switched time slots, giving the strong Monday night slot he'd been promised to Irwin Allen's more popular Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea. Stefano registered his protest by quitting the show. Since Ben Brady didn't care for the distant supervisory position he held at ABC, the network allowed him to vacate the post and return to series production. Brady was recommended for the post of producer on The Outer Limits and Leslie Stevens took this as a sign that he wasn't wanted either. Thus Stevens had no creative involvement with the second season of the series he created.

Ben Brady came on as producer of The Outer Limits for its second season. Director of cinematography Conrad Hall, who had contributed much to the look of the first season, was replaced with Kenneth Peach. Brady didn't care for the strange look Hall had brought to the show and wanted something more accessible. The technical people, such as Project Unlimited, remained attached to the show, as did Vic Perrin as the Control Voice. In spite of the restaffing, the second year did produce some very interesting shows, largely owing to strong scripts overcoming weak budgets.

Brady was viewed by some as a company man, having stepped into his role straight from the hierarchy of ABC, and yet he found himself battling the network over the same things Stefano and Stevens had. The series budget had been slashed to a top of $100,000 an episode, whereas $150,000 had been the minimum budget per episode in the first season. ABC kept pressuring Brady to include a monster not only in every episode, but early in every episode. Brady felt that this was an artifice, which he ignored as much as possible. He wanted good stories and he turned to published science fiction writers whenever possible. Seeleg Lester, the story editor for the second season, stated that the special effects seen in the first year were impossible to do with their new budget. Scripts had to be written with economy in mind.

The first season had used studios at KTTV for filming and headquarters, but for the second season they had to relocate. The new production offices were in a corner of Paramount Sunset, a bowling alley on Sunset Boulevard that had been converted into a soundstage years before by Warner Brothers. New music for the second season was written by Harry Lubin because Dominic Frontiere was too closely associated with the production team from the first season. ABC had endured so many fights with Leslie Stevens that anyone closely associated with him was persona non grata.

The premiere episode of the second season was "Soldier," written by Harlan Ellison. Loosely based on his short story of the same title, the episode deals with a soldier from the future, Quarlo, projected back in time when he's caught in the crossbeams of two laser-type weapons. After Quarlo's capture by police when he loses his helmet, a government investigator cracks the language barrier, determining that Quarlo is speaking a version of English hundreds of years removed from our own. Quarlo was raised in a "creche" and never knew a mother or a father—only a "C.O." Lloyd Nolan plays the sympathetic investigator who reaches Quarlo's basic humanity and introduces the trained killer to a world he never knew. Conflicts of character and ideals form the core of the story, which reach their summit in an explosive climax in which Quarlo seemingly sacrifices his life for his adopted family, only we're left to wonder if it was really as simple as that.

It's a story that holds up well under repeated viewings because it's about something, unlike any episode you can point to from BUCK ROGERS, SPACE: 1999, BATTLESTAR GALATICA, FANTASTIC JOURNEY, LOGAN'S RUN, or STARMAN. On television, the level of writing on network science fiction shows diminished year by year as flash replaced the desire for substance in the stories produced. Michael Ansara, who was seen often in sixties television, turned in a performance showing edges of personality so that we would believe that Quarlo was of a different time and place. Lloyd Nolan was effective as Tom Kagan, the philologist, but if his performance seems a little odd that's because he was going deaf and had to read his lines from cue cards.

In The Outer Limits—The Official Companion by David J. Schow and Jeffrey Frentzen (Ace Books, 1986), a page of the shooting script review ABC did for "Soldier" is printed, showing the specific items in the script that the network wanted changed. These include deleting a reference to a toilet as well as cutting any profanity, no matter how mild. For instance it states: But the best one is: Page 41, sc 82—The "camp follower-Joy-girl" is good—but unacceptable. Ellison's original version of "Soldier" is so different from the teleplay version that it could be adapted to television today and only seem slightly similar to the now-classic Outer Limits version. Quarlo doesn't die at the end of Ellison's short story, but rather becomes an antiwar lecturer, describing the horrible weapons of combat that soldiers would use against each other in the future. The combat scenes in "Soldier from Tomorrow" (as it was titled in its magazine appearance in 1957) bear an eerie resemblance to some aspects of ground warfare in Vietnam. "Cold Hands, Warm Heart" followed this thoughtful lead episode, and while it dealt with a human question, it was anything but subtle or complex. When an astronaut (William Shatner) returns from Venus, he begins to undergo a strange transformation until saved by the love of his wife.

"Expanding Human" a couple of weeks later is a drug story that deals with a scientist who invents a substance that can temporarily expand his intellect and change his personality. It's an obvious spin on Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde but handles the material in an intriguing manner. Keith Andes and Skip Homeier star. Costars of this episode include James Doohan and Grace Lee Whitney.

By and large the runaway favorite of the second year is "Demon with a Glass Hand" scripted by once again Harlan Ellison, whose only other contribution to The Outer Limits kicked the second season off to a strong start. Starring Robert Culp and directed by Byron Haskin, the show used its budget restrictions largely to its advantage to produce a taut, claustrophobic tale that takes place almost entirely inside a building. This was actually the Bradbury Building located in downtown Los Angeles, a locale also used as the imaginary Seattle Underground" in the TV movie The Night Strangler.

The story deals with Robert Culp as a man with a glass hand whose fingers are computer memory banks. It's very swiftly paced as Culp battles aliens who come from the future through a time mirror. Following the teaser, the opening scene under the episode title and credits features Trent (Culp) interrogating an alien prisoner, who is bound to the gates of a cemetery in a crucifixion pose.

Arlene (now Tasha) Martel plays a garment worker, who was originally written to be Latina. But the network opposed that nationality for the character. Instead she's made Italian, with a name that is half-Mexican, and the actress played her as a Latina. She seems to be there as the love interest until the twist at the end shows how we (and she) were misdirected. Robert Culp liked this story so much that for years thereafter he attempted to get backing to turn it into a feature film, something that he still wants to do, only now he would direct rather than star in it.

Three glass hands were made by Project Unlimited out of plastic with a small tape recorder in each and other devices to make them look electronic. All three of the props disappeared by the time filming had been completed and have not resurfaced since, even though Ellison has been attempting to track one down for himself. The tight budget on the second season shows up with the aliens, whose appearance is altered only by the black circles around the eyes as opposed to the elaborate alien make ups of the first season. Also, a typo made by a secretary who was retyping the script in the Outer Limits production offices changed the word "Sumerian" in the prologue to "Sumerican" which was what was read by Vic Perrin as the Control Voice in the episode.

"The Invisible Enemy" is an effective episode about a spaceship crew on Mars investigating the disappearance of the previous mission on the planet. Even though this is clearly a fifties SF movie done in one-hour form, it's effective, as we come to realise that there is something deadly living beneath the sands. It's an eerie little scarefest, which includes major roles by Adam West and Ted Knight. The direction was once again by Byron Haskin and the script was by science fiction writer Jerry Sohl. The episode was based on a short story of the same title by Sohl, which had appeared in the September 1955 issue of Imaginative Tales.

Project Unlimited provided the effects, using a hand puppet monster made by Wah Chang. A water tank five feet deep, with ground cork spread over the surface, became the sandy surface of the planet Mars. The sand shark puppet was operated from beneath the surface by Paul Pattee. The full-scale surface of Mars was constructed on the Paramount stage and covered sixty-five hundred square feet. Stock footage of the spaceship on the surface of (coincidentally) Mars from the film It! The Terror from Beyond Space was incorporated as a budget-cutting move. Most of the production crew who worked on the episode considered it to be a real dog and have been surprised over the years when people mentioned how much they liked it.

Jerry Sohl was also the co-author of "Counterweight," which concerned a group of people making an important test involving a simulated space flight. Unknown to them, an alien intelligence is also aboard the simulator, an intelligence that wants them to fail so that humanity will be delayed in reaching space. At one point the entity takes over a plant and transforms it into a huge, fearsome creature. The excellent transformation is accomplished through stop-motion animation.

The science fiction writer team of Earl and Otto Binder produced a series of stories under the pseudonym Eando Binder in the 1930s and 1940s, and among their most famous works were the Adam Link stories, tales of a robot that could think like a man. The first of these stories, "I, Robot;" was adapted into an episode of The Outer Limits, although the ending was changed for dramatic purposes. In it the robot, Adam Link, is put on trial for the murder of its creator, although actually the man's death was an accident unrelated to any actions of the robot.

During a recess in the trial, Adam saves the life of a child who would otherwise have been hit by a car. In The Outer Limits version the robot's body is destroyed, seemingly terminating it. But the head remains intact, and anyone who had read the original stories would have realised that the robot's brain is where its life was housed, its body merely providing a way for it to move around. Leonard Nimoy (who had a small role in the first-season episode "The Production and Decay of Strange Particles") plays the pivotal role of the lawyer defending Adam Link, although the robot is actually the main character.

"The Inheritors", the only two-part episode on the series, is a sentimental favourite, as it seems to be setting up a menace that turns out to be anything but. The men whose actions seem suspicious and threatening are actually using alien technology to build a spacecraft to take crippled and terminally ill children to a planet where they will become healthy and live long lives. The remainder of the episodes, although not bad, were only average-lacking the power and insight which marked the scripts of so many others. "The Brain of Colonel Barham" is just another fifties SF movie done in a one-hour format as a human brain kept alive in a laboratory develops supermental powers and threatens humanity.

The final episode, "The Probe", is noteworthy only because it marked the appearance of a creature called the "Mikie", a blob like thing played by the late Janos Prohaska, a role he repeated with only a slight costume change in the Star Trek episode "The Devil in the Dark." The series has continued to be influential. In an interview with Starlog magazine, James Cameron admitted that The Terminator was inspired by two Outer Limits episodes. Although Cameron succeeded in getting the quote excised prior to publication of the interview, the cat was out of the bag and it was determined that the two episodes in question were "Soldier" and "Demon with a Glass Hand." Over Cameron's objections, Orion Pictures settled with Ellison out of court and put his name in the end credits of the motion picture, although Cameron recently attempted to get it removed, resulting in Ellison's filing a contempt-of-court action against the writer/director. The Outer Limits was a genuine milestone in televised science fiction. As uneven as it may have been, its highs aimed higher more successfully than any science fiction series before it and at a level which no network science fiction series has achieved in the seventies, eighties, or nineties.

At nearly the same time as Dr. Who had its beginnings in the U.K, a radically new Sci-Fi show, The Outer Limits was aired. Airing for the first time in the fall of 1963, the Outer Limits brought serious Science Fiction to television for the first time in the U.S. (Some would argue that the TWILIGHT ZONE brought Science Fiction to T.V. first...perhaps) The series, shot all in black and white, was a masterpiece, setting the tone from its opening title.. "We now have control of your television set..." , and enthralling Sci-Fi fans until the final seconds of each episode. The series was truly avant garde, using talent from various acting schools throughout the country.

Some of the best short stories in Science Fiction were written for or adapted for use by this series. Many of the next decade's Film and Television Stars had appearances early on in their careers on this series, for example Claude Aikins, Robert Redford, Robert Duvall, Leonard Nimoy, William Shatner, Charles Bronson, Van Heflen, Cliff Robertson, and a host of many others. Authors included Heinlein, Asimov, Bradbury, Arthur C. Clarke, and other NOVA winners.

Near the end of decade of the 60s, we also saw the release of a movie that proved science fiction could draw big audiences and changed the genre from a "class B" to "big time". The movie was Stanley Kubrick's directed classic Sci-fi story by author Arthur C. Clarke, 2001: A Space Odyssey, which opened the door for technologically sound science fiction film. Due to the popularity of this film, television science fiction went through major upgrades in sets and special effects. Like TWILIGHT ZONE (below), Outer Limits has had a re-birth, with its new version seen on late night television, and starring many newer actors such as Mark Hamill (Luke Skywalker from Star Wars).

WR. Leslie Stevens, Jerome Ross, Byron Haskin, Anthony Lawrence, Joseph Stefano, Dean Riesner, Meyer Dolinsky, William Bast, Harlan Ellison, Jerry Sohl, Milton Krims, Robert C. Dennis and Seeleg Lester.

DIR. Felix Feist, Gerd Oswald, Paul Stanley, Leslie Stevens, Byron Haskin, Charles Haas, Leonard Horn, John Brahm, James Goldstone and Laslo Benedek.

EPISODES: 49 YEAR MADE: 1963 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 2

A DAYSTAR-VILLA DI STEFANO PRODUCTION FOR UNITED ARTISTS TELEVISION

CREATOR: LESLIE STEVENS

TYPE OF SHOW: ANTHOLOGY

FORMAT: ANTHOLOGY

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 32 (2) 16

DATE OF PREMIER: 16/09/1963

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 16/01/1965

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Narrator VIC PERRIN, Including ROBERT CULP, CLIFF ROBERTSON, DONALD PLEASENCE, DAVID MCCALLUM, EDWARD MULHARE, MARTIN LANDAU, KENT SMITH, BARRY MORSE, SIMON

OAKLAND, TIM'O CONNER, WARRRN OATES, LEONARD NIMOY, MICHAEL ANSARA, WILLIAM SHATNER, ADAM WEST.

Books Based on this series.

The Outer Limits - The Official Companion	David J. Schow and Jeffrey Frentzen	1986
The Outer Limits 1: Soldier	Various	1997
The Outer Limits 2: It Crawled Out of the Wood	Various	1997
The Outer Limits 3: The Change	Michael Marano, Diana Duane, Richard A. Lupoff, Kevin Anderson	1997

RELATED SHOWS:

OUTER LIMITS, THE (1995)

1 - 1 THE GALAXY BEING

A radio station engineer named Allan Maxwell establishes contact with an alien being. But when the station's power is turned up, the alien is teleported to Earth, where its radioactive nature causes havoc.

Wr Leslie Stevens

Dir Leslie Stevens

1 - 2 THE HUNDRED DAYS OF THE DRAGON

"An oriental power" develops a radical medical advance that temporarily makes skin malleable. They then manage to replace a Presidential candidate with one of their own.

Wr Robert Mintz, Allan Balter

Dir Byron Haskin

1 - 3 THE ARCHITECTS OF FEAR

A group of intellectuals decides that the best way to avoid World War III is to give us all a common enemy. To that end, they transform a man into an alien creature.

Wr Meyer Dolinsky

Dir Byron Haskin

1 - 4 THE MAN WITH THE POWER

A radical experiment gives a college professor incredible power, which his subconscious mind uses to destroy his enemies.

Wr Jerome Ross

Dir Jerome Ross

1 - 5 THE SIXTH FINGER

A scientist discovers a way to speed up evolution and tries out the process on a simple miner.

Wr Ellis St. Joseph

Dir James Goldstone

1 - 6 THE MAN WHO WAS NEVER BORN

An astronaut travels to the 23rd Century, where he finds the Earth a blasted wasteland inhabited by monsters.

Wr Anthony Lawrence

Dir Leonard Horn

1 - 7 O.B.I.T.

A new invention allows one to spy on anyone, anywhere.

Wr Meyer Dolinsky

Dir Gerd Oswald

1 - 8 THE HUMAN FACTOR

At a military base far in the arctic, a man invents a machine which allows two minds to contact one another. An earthquake causes a malfunction and two men wake up to find that their minds have switched bodies.

Wr David Duncan

Dir Abner Biberman

1 - 9 CORPUS EARTHLING

A man with a steel plate in his head overhears conversations about global conquest. But all he sees are a bunch of rocks.

Wr Orin Borstein

Dir Gerd Oswald

1 - 10 NIGHTMARE

In a war action with the planet Ebon, some soldiers are captured, interrogated and tortured.

Wr Joseph Stefano

Dir John Erman

1 - 11 IT CRAWLED OUT OF THE WOODWORK

A young man and his big brother drive across country to the latter's new job site. At the end of his first week of work, he returns strangely changed. A bathroom accident kills the older brother by shorting out his pacemaker. The fact that big brother had a perfectly healthy heart leads the younger brother and a police detective, Sgt. Sirolio, to dig further. Sirolio finds that Norco hides a secret. They've been experimenting with a dangerous being of pure energy. This was how the older brother was killed prior to being resurrected with the pacemaker implant. Sirolio and a scientist are nearly killed with the creature escapes. Some quick thinking allows them to draw the thing back into "the pit". Safe, for now.

Wr Joseph Stefano

Dir Gerd Oswald

1 - 12 THE BORDERLAND

A scientist named Ian Fraser invents a machine which can pierce the borderland between this world and... The Afterlife? Maybe. Fraser convinces an industrialist to finance future experiments with the possibility of contacting the rich man's dead son.

Wr Leslie Stevens

Dir Leslie Stevens

1 - 13 TOURIST ATTRACTION

In a South American country a group of explorers discover a prehistoric monster in an ancient lake. The discovery leads them into conflict with the country's dictator.

Wr Dean Riesner

Dir László Benedek

1 - 14 THE ZANTI MISFITS

The arrival of some VIPs from the planet Zanti is complicated by the intrusion of outsiders. After a fierce fight with the creatures we find that they were actually criminals who had been sentenced to death. The Zantis are too civilized to execute them on their own, so they left it to us barbarous Earthlings.

Wr Joseph Stefano

Dir Leonard Horn

1 - 15 THE MICE, THE

A convict serving a life sentence finds that he has an alternative: change places with an alien.

Wr Joseph Stefano, Bill S. Ballinger

Dir Alan Crosland Jr.

1 - 16 CONTROLLED EXPERIMENT

Two Martian investigators probe our custom of homicide.

Wr Leslie Stevens

Dir Leslie Stevens

1 - 17 DON'T OPEN TILL DOOMSDAY

Eloping lovers come on a strange house. There they find an old woman still despairing over the loss of her fiancée on their wedding day many years ago. Little does she know that one of her wedding presents is responsible for the disappearance of the groom: the present with the card that reads "Don't Open Till Doomsday".

Wr Joseph Stefano

Dir Gerd Oswald

1 - 18 Z-Z-Z-Z-Z

A queen bee assumes a human appearance in order to make an unwary scientist into her new mate.

Wr Meyer Dolinsky

Dir John Brahm

1 - 19 THE INVISIBLES

A government agent infiltrates a secret organization known as "The Invisibles" who attach parasites to the spinal chords of their victims. And, in doing so, they hope do (dare I say it?) take over the world!

Wr Joseph Stefano

Dir Gerd Oswald

1 - 20 THE BELLERO SHIELD

A scientist captures an alien that can protect itself with an unbreakable shield.

Wr Joseph Stefano

Dir John Brahm

1 - 21 THE CHILDREN OF SPIDER COUNTY

Four scientists disappear in one day. All were born in the same county, on the same day. A fifth scientist is in jail and a federal agent is assigned to the case. The fifth man is sprung from jail by a mysterious stranger who says he's the young man's father.

Wr Anthony Lawrence

Dir Leonard Horn

1 - 22 SPECIMEN: UNKNOWN

Scientists on a space station discover an unusual and dangerous plant.

Wr Stephen Lord

Dir Gerd Oswald

1 - 23 SECOND CHANCE

A group of people board an amusement park ride. Then they (and their surprised "captain") find that they're really going on a space jaunt.

Dir Paul Stanley

1 - 24 MOONSTONE

Workers on a moon base find a mysterious rock that appears to be alive.

Wr William Bast

Dir Robert Florey

1 - 25 THE MUTANT

A radioactive rainstorm at a scientific base on a distant planet mutates a scientist driving him insane and making him telepathic.

Wr Robert Mintz, Allan Balter

Dir Alan Crosland Jr.

1 - 26 THE GUESTS

After running over an ancient man, Wade Norton finds a strange house where some people are kept prisoner (and ageless) by an alien intelligence.

Dir Paul Stanley

1 - 27 FUN AND GAMES

Two Earth people are transported to an alien planet, along with two aliens. They are told by their abductors that they will fight each other to the death. The stakes are high: the homeworld of the losers will be destroyed slowly, for the further amusement of their captors.

Wr Joseph Stefano, Robert Specht

Dir Gerd Oswald

1 - 28 THE SPECIAL ONE

Parents of a gifted youngster discover that their son's new tutor is not quite human.

Wr Oliver Crawford

Dir Gerd Oswald

1 - 29 A FEASIBILITY STUDY

Inhabitants of a suburb find one morning that their 6 block neighborhood has been snatched off to an alien planet. The aliens have been rendered immobile by an infection and they need slaves. They feel that the Earth people would rather become slaves than becoming infected and thus immobile. The humans surprise them by sacrificing themselves in order to save the rest of humanity from slavery.

Wr Joseph Stefano

Dir Byron Haskin

1 - 30 THE PRODUCTION AND DECAY OF STRANGE PARTICLES

An accident in a nuclear research facility opens a dimensional doorway. The invading creatures attempt to create an explosion which will widen the doorway but a scientist discovers a way to reverse the damage and close the doorway.

Wr Leslie Stevens

Dir Leslie Stevens

1 - 31 THE CHAMELEON

Soldiers investigating the crash of a UFO are massacred. An assassin, Louis Mace, is transformed into an alien so that he can infiltrate and kill the aliens. He finds out that the aliens are peaceful and only acted in self-defense when they killed the aliens. He then helps the remaining crewman repair his ship and leaves with him.

Wr Robert Towne

Dir Gerd Oswald

1 - 32 THE FORM OF THINGS UNKNOWN

A crazy man invents a machine that can tilt time and bring the dead back to life.

Wr Joseph Stefano

Dir Gerd Oswald

2 - 1 SOLDIER

Two soldiers from the future are thrust back through time to the present day.

Wr Harlan Ellison

Dir Gerd Oswald

2 - 2 COLD HANDS, WARM HEART

After returning from a mission to Venus, an astronaut can't seem to stay warm enough and has strange dreams about encountering a wraith-like being outside his spaceship window.

Dir Charles F. Haas

2 - 3 BEHOLD, ECK!

A scientist invents a pair of glasses which enable him to see and communicate with a two dimensional being.

Wr John Mantly

Dir Byron Haskin

2 - 4 EXPANDING HUMAN

A man experimenting with consciousness expansion drugs becomes super-human and not really human at all.

Wr Francis Cockrell

Dir Gerd Oswald

2 - 5 DEMON WITH A GLASS HAND

A man with a glass hand attempts to unravel the mystery of who he is.

Wr Harlan Ellison

Dir Byron Haskin

2 - 6 CRY OF SILENCE

A couple of motorists stranded in the desert are stalked by a bunch of tumbleweeds.

Wr Robert C. Dennis

Dir Charles F. Haas

2 - 7 THE INVISIBLE ENEMY

A manned mission to Mars is menaced by Martian creatures who swim in the planets sandy soil.

Wr Jerry Sohl

Dir Byron Haskin

2 - 8 WOLF 359

A college professor recreates the environment of a distant planet in order to study it's evolution... which happens quickly.

Wr Seeleg Lester

Dir László Benedek

2 - 9 I, ROBOT

A robot is put on trial for the murder of his creator.

Wr Robert C. Dennis

Dir Leon Benson

2 - 10 THE INHERITORS (2 PART STORY)

A soldier falls in Vietnam, felled by an unusual bullet. Miraculously, he survives long enough to be sent to the US for an operation. Adam Ballard, the Assistant to the Secretary of Science, apprises his boss of the situation. Lt. Minns survived, but now has a second brainwave pattern, much stronger than his own. Just like the other three. All four experience dramatic increases in intelligence, over 200. And new interests: biochemistry, metallurgy, physics and finance. And each seem to be driven to a mysterious goal, unknown even to themselves. Ballard tracks down each of them, or tries to. Conover turns away from the Swedish shipyard where he was working because he seems to sense that Ballard is inside, talking to his supervisor. Ballard learns that Hadley (now in South America searching for the herb rara coelensis) was working on ventilation systems. Conover had devised new alloys which were stronger and lighter than the original metals. And he finds that Renaldo has invented an anti-gravity device. "I've beaten gravity.", he tells Ballard bitterly. He has no joy over his accomplishment. He had no choice in the matter. The unknown mission required that he do it, and he did. Minns, with his interest in finance, is financing the whole operation. And more. He's contacting children, asking them to accompany him. As part one closes, Ballard and other feds have Minns' apartment surrounded.

Wr Seeleg Lester, Sam Neuman

Dir James Goldstone

2 - 11 KEEPER OF THE PURPLE TWILIGHT

An alien offers his technical knowledge of how to build a ray gun in exchange for a scientist's ability to feel emotions.

Wr Milton Krims

Dir Charles F. Haas

2 - 12 THE DUPLICATE MAN

A man wants to capture a dangerous alien creature. Doing it himself would be way too dangerous, so he has his clone do it.

Wr Robert C. Dennis

Dir Gerd Oswald

2 - 13 COUNTERWEIGHT

Six future astronauts are put through a simulation of a long space flight.

Wr Robert C. Dennis

Dir Paul Stanley

2 - 14 THE BRAIN OF COLONEL BARHAM

A dying astronaut agrees to have his brain implanted into a robot body.

Wr Robert C. Dennis

Dir Charles F. Haas

2 - 15 THE PREMONITION

A test pilot crashes to earth. He finds that he and his wife are trapped in a time warp of sorts. The world around them is moving much slower than them, but moving. And they need to get back into the places they were when time catches up to them. Otherwise, they'll be stuck in this limbo like that ghostly character over there.

Wr Samuel Roeca, Ib Melchior

Dir Gerd Oswald

2 - 16 THE PROBE

Enroute to Tokyo, a plane flies into a storm and the pilot is forced to ditch the plane into the eye of a hurricane. The crew and passengers awake on a life boat on a floor of solid plastic. Light beams carve off a chunk of the boat and whisk it away, and the group soon realizes that they have been captured by an alien space probe. Dodging an alien "microbe", they find telemetry equipment sending the probe's findings to some distant source. As the probe prepares to depart Earth, the passengers beg for their freedom, and the guiding intelligence at the other end finally protects them from the microbe and frees them while summoning a rescue ship.

Wr Seeleg Lester

Dir Felix Feist

OUTER LIMITS, THE (1995)

Anthology series based on the same format as the original "Outer Limits" series and the stories are all science fiction.

Back in the Sixties, aliens took over the airwaves as an unseen voice ominously announced: 'There is nothing wrong with your TV set . . . for the next hour we will control all that you see and hear . . .' What followed was pretty scary stuff, but it was the Sixties and sci-fi was comparatively new to TV. Three decades on, there's little that audiences haven't seen and heard. A robot? Done that. Brave new world? Been there. Bug-eyed monster? Got the T-shirt. So on the face of it, The Outer Limits, nineties-style can never hope to claim the same hallowed corner in our TV attic.

And in fairness, it doesn't try slavishly to emulate its pioneering predecessor. The control voice is still there (though the credit sequence is stunningly naff) and it's still an anthology series. But there's no monster of the week, every week - though those we do get are much more slickly realised than the old rubber costumes. And though the new Outer Limits is much sexier than its aged ancestor, complete with occasional nudity, this update has actually moved closer to that other big anthology series of the era - The Twilight Zone. Some stories are intended to scare, but all are meant to make us think - morality tales, wrapped up with a homespun 'thought for the week'.

That's the only flaw in what is otherwise a largely entertaining series. Indeed, the new Outer Limits launched with an impressive pilot, Sandkings, starring three generations of the Bridges dynasty - Lloyd, son Beau and grandson Dylan. And the series' guest list has continued to be an interesting one. Next Generation favourite Michael Dorn appeared as an astronaut, thirtysomething's Timothy Busfield played a detective, The Waltons' Richard Thomas was a scientist, David Warner, a ruthless businessman, Rebecca De Mornay, a beautiful alien, and Leonard Nimoy returned for the series' only remake of a Sixties episode, I Robot. Then, he played the robot put on trial for murdering its creator. This time he's the defending attorney.

The series made its UK debut on BBC2, though the second season went to Sky One first. Like all anthologies, some instalments work better than others, but the series is at its best when it doesn't labour the morality. The makers would do well to remember that they may think they control the transmission, but these days we viewers control the remote!

With the Other Limits 50th episode it beat its original predecessors 49 episodes. This was also the first main stream science fiction television show to include full frontal nudity in the episodes Valeria 23 and Caught in the Act.

The Outer Limits is a revival of The Outer Limits which ran on ABC in the 1960's. The new The Outer Limits has received an almost unprecedented commitment from Showtime pay cable network for 44 episodes, or two seasons of 22 episodes. After appearing on Showtime, the episodes are being broadcast in syndication on free TV. Appearing on cable the producers have been given somewhat more leeway in the stories they can tell. A freedom much like that Tales from the Crypt had been given on H80. In their Showtime broadcasts, some episodes feature violence, language, nudity and adult situations which are unacceptable on broadcast TV. To avoid having to cut vital scenes from the episodes, two versions of some scenes are filmed. The first featuring the 'adult' material and a second tame version which is used for the syndicated version of the episode.

The new series features fewer aliens and monsters than the original did. However when the monsters do appear they often are hidden in the shadows, with the audience only getting an occasional glimpse of them. With the original series this was done both for dramatic and budgetary reasons. However on the new series with thirty years of advancement in the creation of movie monsters, it is now done solely for the dramatic effect. Like its namesake the new series does still deal with the fear of the unknown, the form of the unknown has changed. Each episode features a normal man (or woman) who is confronted with something unknown the person must either change or perish. The new series features an impressive roster of talent both in front of and behind the camera.

This differs from the original series which featured lots of up and coming talent which later went on to make big names for themselves. Unlike other anthology series which have been resurrected like Alfred Hitchcock Presents, the New Outer Limits will not consist of remakes of the old series, with one exception. That being the remake of the episode I, Robot. In the remake of I, Robot Leonard Nimoy had reprised his role in the episode from the original series, with his son directing. The new Outer limits has one additional tie to it predecessor. Joseph Stefano who produced and wrote many episodes of the original's first season, work on the revival as a consultant. Although not involved with the show on a day to day basis. Stefano's consultant status allows him to insure that new series keeps with the spirit of the original.

Executive producers for the series were Pen Densham, Richard B. Lewis and John Watson. Co-executive producers were Michael Cassutt (Season One), Jonathan Glassner, Scott Shepher (both Season Two). Producers were Justis Greene and Brent-Karl Clarkson, executive consultant was Joseph Stefano (Season One). The theme for the series was created by Mark Mancina and John Van Tongre. The series first premiered in the UK on BBC2 from the 1st May 1995. Later episodes however had their first runs on satellite channel Sky One.

Like its predecessor The new Outer Limits managed to attracted the who's who of 80s and 90s SF TV, with such faces as Don Franklin (SEAQUEST DSV), Leonard Nimoy (STAR TREK), Michael Dorn (STAR TREK: THE NEXT GENERATION, STAR TREK: DEEP SPACE NINE), Matt Frewer (MAX HEADROOM and PSI-FACTOR: CHRONICLES OF THE PARANORMAL) and many more.

After six seasons the new Outer Limits came to a close, with a special tribute show aired on the 3rd September 2000.

Academy of Science Fiction, Fantasy and Horror Films.

Best Syndicated Genre TV Series - The Outer Limits (1997)

Best Genre Cable/Syndicated Series - The Outer Limits (1998)

Emmy Awards

Outstanding Guest Actor in a Drama Series - Nominated - "Outer Limits, The" (1995) - Beau Bridges - For episode "Sandkings". For playing "Simon Kress". (1995)

Outstanding Guest Actress in a Drama Series - Winner: "Outer Limits, The" (1995) - Amanda Plummer - For episode "A Stitch in Time". For playing "Theresa Givens". (1996)

WR. Melinda Snodgrass (STAR TREK: THE NEXT GENERATION), Jonathan Glassner, Brad Wright, David Kemper, Alan Brennert, Grant Rosenberg, Manny Coto, David Schow, Eric A. Morris, Scott Sheppard, Chris Dickie, Sam Egan, Hart Hanson, Joseph Stefano (a remake from his original story "Feasibility Study" and Naran Shankar.

DIR. Jimmy Kaufman, Allan Eastman, Brad Turner, Melvin Van Peebles, Jason Priestly, David Warry-Smith, Mario Azzopardi, Ken Girotti, Steven Barnes, Paul Lynch, Adam Nimoy (son of Leonard Nimoy), and Stuart Gillard.

EPISODES: 154 YEAR MADE: 1995 COUNTRY: CAN SEASONS: 7

A TRILOGY ENTERTIANMENT GROUP AND ATLANTIS FILMS PRODUCTION IN ASSOCIATION WITH MGM

CREATOR: LESLIE STEVENS

TYPE OF SHOW: ANTHOLOGY

FORMAT: ANTHOLOGY

LENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 21, (2) 18, (3) 20, (4) 26, (5) 22, (6) 22, (7) 22

DATE OF PREMIER: 26/03/1995 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 03/09/2000

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Control Voice KEVIN CONWAY, Including LEONARD NIMOY, MICHELE FORBES, MARK HAMILL, DEBRAH FARENTINO, CATHERINE MARY STEWART, MATT FREWER, PETER DONAT, ALAN RUCK, BRENT SPINER, SHEENA EASTON, WILL WHEATON, MICHEAL DORN, DAVID MCCALLUM, MARTIN KEMP, DWIGHT SCHULTZ, FRED SAVAGE, DON FRANKLIN.

Books Based on this series.

Die Unbekannte Dimension: Die Ausgestossenen von Zanti / Das Z-Chromosom

John Peel

1997

The Outer Limits - Always Darkest

Stan Timmons

2003

The Outer Limits - Armageddon Dreams	Harlan Ellison and Kevin J. Anderson	2000
The Outer Limits - Volume One	Debbie Notkin and Roger Stewart	1996
The Outer Limits - Volume Three	Debbie Notkin	1997
The Outer Limits - Volume Two	Debbie Notkin and Roger Stewart	1997
The Outer Limits - Young Adult #1 - The Zanti Misfits	John Peel	1997
The Outer Limits - Young Adult #10 - Alien Invasion from Hollyweird	John Peel	1999
The Outer Limits - Young Adult #11 - The Payback	John Peel	1999
The Outer Limits - Young Adult #12 - The Change	John Peel	1999
The Outer Limits - Young Adult #2 - The Choise	John Peel	1997
The Outer Limits - Young Adult #3 - The Time Shifter	John Peel	1997
The Outer Limits - Young Adult #4 - The Lost	John Peel	1997
The Outer Limits - Young Adult #5 - The Invaders	John Peel	1998
The Outer Limits - Young Adult #6 - The Innocent	John Peel	1998
The Outer Limits - Young Adult #7 - The Vanished	John Peel	1998
The Outer Limits - Young Adult #8 - The Nightmare	John Peel	1998
The Outer Limits - Young Adult #9 - Beward the Metal Children	John Peel	1999

RELATED SHOWS:*OUTER LIMITS, THE (1963)*1 - 1 SANDKINGS (A 2 PART STORY)

Scientist Simon Kress finds himself the master of a colony of Sandkings - creatures from Mars that look like insects, but have the intelligence of much higher beings.

Wr Melinda Snodgrass

Dir Stuart Gillard

1 - 2 VALERIE 23

Frank Hellner, a lonely paraplegic, takes part in a top-secret project -- allowing an "inorganic human," or robot named Valerie, to be his companion for a week. The experiment goes awry when Valerie, unable to control her programmed emotions, becomes jealous and threatens the life of Frank's physical therapist and close friend Rachel.

Wr Jonathan Glassner

Dir Timothy Bond

1 - 3 BLOOD BROTHERS

Two diametrically opposed brothers wrestle for control of a million-dollar pharmaceutical company. A vaccine that could hold the secret to eternal life becomes the object of the brothers' bitter struggle.

Wr Brad Wright

Dir Tibor Takács

1 - 4 THE SECOND SOUL

Man's first encounter with beings from another planet -- the N'Tal -- appears to be a mutually rewarding arrangement. But a leery doctor/scientist must decide whether the N'Tal are friend or foe.

Wr Alan Brennert

Dir Paul Lynch

1 - 5 WHITE LIGHT FEVER

An experiment at St. Peter's Hospital threatens nature's order of existence, when billionaire Harlan Hawkes pays a brilliant cardiologist, Dr. "Mac" McEnerney to help him cheat death.

Wr David Kemper

Dir Tibor Takács

1 - 6 THE CHOICE

A young girl with strange, supernatural powers is shunned by her friends, but welcomed by a nanny with similar gifts, while her parents must decide what's ultimately best for their child.

Wr Ann Lewis Hamilton

Dir Mark Sobel

1 - 7 VIRTUAL FUTURE

A brilliant young scientist discovers a way to see the future, but gets caught up in a billionaire's ambitious political schemes, and must alter the future to save his own life.

Wr Shawn Alex Thompson

Dir Joseph Scanlan

1 - 8 LIVING HELL

Ben Kohler's life is saved after having an experimental chip implanted in his brain, but when he starts seeing and experiencing violent images, it becomes clear something is desperately wrong.

Wr Melinda Snodgrass

Dir Graeme Campbell

1 - 9 CORNER OF THE EYE

A disillusioned priest is given healing power by aliens who use him as they attempt to save their own planet by destroying all human life.

Wr David Schow

Dir Stuart Gillard

1 - 10 UNDER THE BED

When a little boy is abducted the only witness, his sister, claims that someone or something under the bed took him.

Wr Lawrence Meyers

Dir René Bonnière

1 - 11 DARK MATTERS

Dropped out of hyperspace by a mysterious chunk of dark matter, Pilot Paul Stein must save the transport vessel by facing his past and ultimately trusting his own decisions.

Wr Alan Brennert

Dir Paul Lynch

1 - 12 THE CONVERSION

Henry Marshall is a greedy man who has paid for his greed with a prison sentence but has yet to learn his lesson. His life abruptly changes when he encounters visitors from another planet who instill new sense of compassion for others.

Wr Brad Wright

Dir Rebecca DeMornay

1 - 13 QUALITY OF MERCY

Major John Skokes is taken prisoner by the enemy during a savage galactic war and a seemingly undefeatable alien race. The tension increases when his cellmate, a cadet named Bree, is being transformed into one of them. Skokes must find an escape to save his cellmate and to avoid a disturbing revelation of the course of this war.

Wr Brad Wright

Dir Brad Turner

1 - 14 THE NEW BREED

The discovery of a gifted scientist falls into the wrong hands, bringing what at first appears to be a lifesaving miracle, but ultimately the untimely death of his closest friend.

Wr Grant Rosenberg

Dir Mario Azzopardi

1 - 15 THE VOYAGE HOME

When an astronaut returning from Mars discovers an alien aboard ship, he must face the loss of his shipmates, and make the ultimate sacrifice in order to prevent the alien from reaching Earth.

Wr Grant Rosenberg

Dir Tibor Takács

1 - 16 CAUGHT IN THE ACT

A chaste co-ed is enveloped by a strange power that gives her an insatiable sexual appetite, which is perpetuated by encounters with consenting men who, after making physical contact, morph into her body and disappear.

Wr Rob Forsyth

Dir Mark Sobel

1 - 17 THE MESSAGE

A deaf woman with a transplanted device, which is supposed to enable her to hear, turns into a transmitter for aliens, who are crying for help.

Wr Brad Wright

Dir Joseph Scanlan

1 - 18 I, ROBOT

Adam, a powerful robot, kills his creator when the scientist attempts to convert him into a military killing machine by destroying his more human qualities.

Wr Alison Lea Bingeman, Brad Wright

Dir Adam Nimoy, Tibor Takács

1 - 19 IF THESE WALLS COULD TALK

Levi Mitchell, a physicist and skeptic, meets Lynda Tillman, a woman whose strength and faith help him unravel the mystery of a haunted house.

Wr Manny Coto, Eric Estrin

Dir Tibor Takács

1 - 20 BIRTHRIGHT

An environmentally-friendly U.S. Senator's life changes drastically after a freak accident, when he realizes he's actually an alien in disguise, with a "mission" to surreptitiously reconfigure the earth's atmosphere.

Wr Michael Berlin, Eric Estrin

Dir William Fruet

1 - 21 VOICE OF REASON

A civilian with strong ties to the military tries desperately to use concrete evidence to convince a high level committee that alien forces are trying to overcome the human race.

Wr Brad Wright

Dir Neil Fearnley

2 - 1 A STITCH IN TIME

FBI agent Jamie Pratt has investigated some pretty strange cases in her time but this one may be the strangest of all. During the last fifty years, seventeen men throughout the country were all murdered with the same gun. This gun is traced to Dr. Theresa Givens, a scientist who recently left a top-secret government agency. This discovery deepens the mystery because Givens was only five years old at the time of the first murder. The gun itself hadn't even been made. While investigating further, Pratt discovers a secret that lies behind the locked door in Dr. Givens' office and learns first-hand of the temptations and dangers of undoing the evils of the past.

Wr Steven Barnes

Dir Mario Azzopardi

2 - 2 RESURRECTION

Life on planet Earth has been wiped out by biological warfare, leaving behind only androids. Two of those androids, Martin and Alicia, have a secret project: Cain, a human being grown from the DNA of a single human hair. Martin and Alicia must keep Cain's existence hidden from the military androids, led by Moloch, a power-mad machine who is determined to stamp out any trace of the human race before it rises again.

Wr Jonathan Walker, Chris Dickie

Dir Mario Azzopardi

2 - 3 UNNATURAL SELECTION

Howard and Joanne Sharp are going to have a baby. Like many people in the near future, they are mulling over the possibility of black-market genetic enhancement. The upside is a perfect baby, able to compete with all those other perfect babies created by the popular, but illegal process. The downside is GRS - Genetic Rejection Syndrome - which turns one in every 10,000 genetically enhanced babies into a monster. The Sharps are willing to take the risk and go ahead with the procedure. Then they learn of the dark secret that their neighbors and best friends, Tony and Fran Blake, keep in the basement.

Wr Eric Morris

Dir Joseph Scanlan

2 - 4 I HEAR YOU CALLING

Reporter Carter Jones is on her way to work when her cellular phone picks up a suspicious conversation about the "removal" of a controversial author. Her journalistic curiosity piqued, Carter investigates, despite the objections of her boss and the police. As a result, she finds herself in a deadly game of cat and mouse, involving a strange man with violet eyes, an ill-fated cruise and people who disappear leaving behind only a pile of purple ash. Can Carter get to the bottom of these mysterious disappearances? Or will she be the next to vanish?

Wr Katherine Weber

Dir Mario Azzopardi

2 - 5 MIND OVER MATTER

Dr. Sam Stein has always lived for his work. His dedication has paid off with the development of the Computer Aided Visual Environment system of CAVE, which allows doctors to jack-in directly to the brain of patients. When an accident puts his colleague Rachel Carter in a coma, Stein decides to use CAVE for his own purposes, reaching into Rachel's brain to tell her what he couldn't while she was conscious: that he loves her. Stein discovers, however, that love takes strange turns when it enters CAVE's virtual world and that the complexities of the human heart are not easily translated into bits and bytes.

Wr Steven Barnes

Dir Mario Azzopardi

2 - 6 BEYOND THE VEIL

After flashbacks of an alien abduction drives him to the brink of suicide, Eddie Wexler finds himself at a mental institute, where Dr. Sherrick is using a controversial technique to treat those who believe they have been abducted by extraterrestrials. Eddie and some of the other patients are suspicious of Sherrick and his methods, which forces patients to re-live their abductions in the memory chamber. Some even think that their abductors have infiltrated the institute. Is this just a paranoid delusion or is there an alien face behind the doctor's mask?

Wr Allan Eastman

Dir Chris Brancato

2 - 7 FIRST ANNIVERSARY

As he celebrates his first wedding anniversary, Norman Glass thinks he's the luckiest man alive. His wife Ady, whom he met after the tragic death of her first husband, is stunningly beautiful and talented. She loves him more than anyone alive. They have two great friends, Dennis and Barbara, who were married on the same day and are just as madly in love as Norman and Ady. But suddenly things start to change. First, Dennis leaves Barbara. Then, Norman must struggle with the strange, growing revulsion he feels when he touches, smells, tastes or sees his lovely wife. Norman thinks he's going crazy, but Barbara and Ady know better. Is love blind? Is beauty only skin-deep? Guess again.

Wr Ali Matheson, Jon Cooksey

Dir Brad Turner

2 - 8 STRAIGHT AND NARROW

Rusty Dobson has always been a problem child. His single mom decides to send him to the Milgram Academy, an ultra-strict private school that has produced some of the nation's top business and political leaders. What Rusty's mom doesn't know - and what Rusty finds out the hard way - is that Milgram doesn't just build the leaders of tomorrow, it controls them. The academy installs small computer chips in the student's brains, turning them into blindly loyal servants of the academy and The Committee, a shadowy body that controls the project. Thanks to a malfunctioning chip, Rusty has eluded their control so far, but can he escape from this prison of the mind?

Wr Joel Metzger

Dir Joseph Scanlan

2 - 9 TRAIL BY FIRE

On the day of Charles Halsey's inauguration as President of the United States, scientists detect a large object heading towards Earth at half the speed of light. Halsey, a peace-loving liberal, is rushed to an underground bunker by the Presidential transition team, a group of aides and military men that share the hawkish bent of the previous administration. As the crisis unfolds, it becomes clear that the object came from an armada of alien ships, which are fast approaching Earth. Contact is made, but the aliens' message is unclear. As the U.S. and the other nuclear powers gear up to defend themselves, Halsey must decide: Are these invaders bent on conquering earth or benevolent explorers reaching out to another civilization?

Wr Brad Wright

Dir Jonathan Glassner

2 - 10 WORLD'S APART (aka REMITTANCE MAN)

Space agency director Nancy MacDonald gets a lesson in the meaning of time and distance with an unexpected signal from astronaut Christopher Lindy. Lindy, the man MacDonald once loved, disappeared on a routine space mission 20 years ago. Oblivious to the time that has passed, Lindy must deal with his present situation; being alone on an unknown planet. MacDonald turns to her husband, marine biologist Greg Tilman, to help Lindy survive attacks by an alien lifeform while she and her staff look for a way to save Lindy before the window of opportunity to save him once again disappears.

Wr Chris Dickie

Dir Brad Turner

2 - 11 THE REFUGE

"What is reality?" is the question before Raymond Bava after he collapses during a blizzard and awakens in a private refuge run by Sanford Valle. Valle's companions include his son and daughter-in-law, Thomas and Justine, and Gina Beaumont. Ray, drawn to the gentle Gina, recoils from the callous corruption displayed by the all-controlling Valle and the other inhabitants. Then, following a moment of violence, Ray begins to doubt reality when all the characters, including Gina, reverse roles and personalities. When he is suddenly freed from Valle's control, Ray finds he has been locked in a cryogenic-induced nightmare, but one he must return to in order to fulfill his love for Gina.

Wr Alan Brennert

Dir Ken Girotti

2 - 12 INCONSTANT MOON

When a lonely physics professor realizes the sun is going to burn out, he knows that he and humanity have only a few hours to live. In that time, Stan resolves to make up for lost years. He courts and proposes to Leslie, a woman he has known for two years but never dated. Leslie, although puzzled, finds herself more and more entranced by Stan until she finds out the reason for Stan's sudden attention. Based on a short story by famed sci-fi writer Larry Niven, this episode brings its characters face to face with both death and their own visions of life - with surprising results.

Wr Brad Wright

Dir Joseph Scanlan

2 - 13 FROM WITHIN

A mentally challenged boy named Howie is the last unaffected person in a small town overrun by a strange madness. Miners unearth ancient parasites, in the shape of worms, that attack the brains of their hosts. While the infected townsfolk lose all their inhibitions, Howie must save his sister Sheila, the only person who truly cares for him. Deprived of Sheila's guidance for the first time in his life, Howie struggles to evade his maddened neighbors and destroy the parasites. In the process, he becomes a hero to the whole town.

Wr Jonathan Glassner

Dir Neil Fearnley

2 - 14 THE HEIST

Embittered after a friend's betrayal cost him his Army career, Lee Taylor helps a self-styled militia major hijack an Army shipment. He reaps a deadly reward. The militia, which includes Lee's brother Calvin, expected a missile shipment. Instead, they find a mysterious, sealed cargo and a lone Army Guard. Under threat of death, Captain Teri Washington refuses to reveal the nature of the cargo but warns it is deadly. The major thinks she is lying until an alien lifeform begins a chilling series of attacks. Discipline crumbles and loyalties are tested as the creature stalks its prey with impersonal efficiency.=

Wr Steven Barnes

Dir Brad Turner

2 - 15 AFTERLIFE

Convicted of a murder he did not commit, Linden Stiles is given a terrible choice: face execution or become the subject of a secret military experiment. Stiles lives to regret his choice as he finds his body host to alien DNA.

Wr John F. Whelpley

Dir Mario Azzopardi

2 - 16 THE DEPROGRAMMERS

With Earth under alien rule and millions dead, the human race has been programmed to slavery. A small band of rebels kidnaps Evan, alien leader Koltok's personal slave. Trent Davis, leader of the rebels, tries to return Evan to his former self through arduous deprogramming sessions. To aid in the process, Evan is reintroduced to his wife Jill. As his sessions progress, Evan learns of the death of his daughter. He agrees to join the rebels and assassinate his former master - with devastating results.

Wr James Crocker

Dir Joseph Scanlan

2 - 17 PARADISE

Dr. Christina Markham and Sheriff Grady Markham live in small town America. Alzheimer's disease is slowly robbing Christina of her mother Helen, who lives in a nursing home along with her long time friend Gerry. When three apparently healthy young women age and die within hours, the Markhams are baffled and frightened. Grady interviews stunned witnesses and Christina seeks medical explanations, hoping to prevent another tragedy. Only after Helen and Gerry vanish is the astonishing answer to the puzzle finally revealed.

Wr Jonathan Walker, Chris Dickie

Dir Mario Azzopardi

2 - 18 THE LIGHT BRIGADE

On a desperate mission, a young Cadet learns the difference between heroic ideals and the bitter realities of war. The only survivors on a crippled battle cruiser - Earth's last hope for victory and survivors - are the Cadet, the weapons Chief and Major John Skokes, a repatriated prisoner of war. Exposed to fatal doses of radiation when their fleet was wiped out by the aliens, they fight illness and death to launch a preemptive strike. As the awesome responsibility for success descends on him, the Cadet learns that fear is not his only enemy.

Wr Brad Wright

Dir Michael Keusch

2 - 19 FALLING STAR

Pop singer Melissa McCammon is about to commit suicide. With her once meteoric career at a standstill and her husband cheating on her, she sees no hope. Then she encounters Rachael, an ardent fan from the future. Rachael is a time traveler -- and an uninvited tourist in Melissa's body. She persuades Melissa to give life a second chance, but in the process, she changes history. Now, authorities from the future want Melissa dead and will resort to anything -- including murder -- to preserve their version of the past.

Wr Alan Brennert

Dir Ken Girotti

2 - 20 OUT OF BODY (aka ETHICALLY YOURS)

What really happens during an out-of-body experience? Husband and wife scientists Rebecca Warfield and Ben McCormick are trying to find out by subjecting monkeys to electric impulses. They see it as pure science, but to religious groups like Family Foremost, it is sacrilege. Desperate for funding, Rebecca decides to run the experiment with a human subject -- herself. She asks her assistant, Amy, to help. Amy, a secret religious fanatic, alters the experiment. Rebecca escapes from her body, but, unless she finds a way to communicate, she will remain trapped in an other dimension.

Wr James Crocker

Dir Mario Azzopardi

2 - 21 VANISHING ACT

A husband leaves to go to the store and doesn't return for ten years. Where has he been? And why? It happens to Trevor McPhee and his return is more than a little distressing for his wife Theresa, especially since he insists he was in a car crash ... only hours ago. Then, just after they reconcile, he vanishes again ... for another decade. Trevor finds himself trapped between two worlds; one is a recurring nightmare of caves and predatory creatures; the other is the real world, ever-changing as civilization leaves him further and further behind. Is Trevor mad ... or just reaching The Outer Limits?

Wr Chris Dickie

Dir Jonathan Glassner

2 - 22 THE SENTENCE

Let the punishment fit the crime: an ambitious inventor, Dr. Jack Henson, creates a "virtual prison" and wants the government to adopt it nation-wide. Using his invention, convicts serve a life sentence in just a few hours. Henson claims the harsh sentences will ensure that criminals never offend again while the short time required cuts prison costs. He seems to be making his point until they connect an innocent man to the apparatus and the demonstration goes sour. To save the young man's life, Henson must submit to his own invention -- and to a lesson in the true meaning of justice.

Wr Melissa Rosenberg

Dir Joseph Scanlan

3 - 1 BITS OF LOVE

Aidan Hunter may be the last man on earth after a nuclear holocaust, but he's not lonely. In his subterranean bomb shelter, he's surrounded by his family, friends, lovers, anyone he wants...

Unfortunately, they're holograms -- computer generated people controlled by a beautiful holographic interface named Emma. But when curiosity turns to touch and Aidan makes love to Emma in a virtual reality pod, he quickly learns that trifling with a computer's feelings can be dangerous... and the morning after can be all too real.

Wr James Crocker

Dir Neil Fearnley

3 - 2 SECOND THOUGHTS

Karl Durand (Howie Mandel) is in his 30's, but he has the mind of a child. That is, until he receives a unique gift from Dr. Jacob Valerian, a dying scientist who has been working on a secret project. As his last living act, Valerian uses his new invention to transfer his memories and experiences into Karl's brain. But Karl isn't content with just being a genius. In an effort to win the love of his social worker, Rose, he uses the doctor's invention to capture other minds. Leaving a trail of bodies in his wake and his own brain ever more crowded and confused, Karl soon discovers that sometimes the mind can be a minefield.

Wr Sam Egan

Dir Mario Azzopardi

3 - 3 RE-GENERATION

After their four-year-old son Justin dies in a household accident aspiring politician Graham Highfield and his wife Rebecca get a second chance at happiness. Dr. Lucy Cole clones a new embryo from Justin's brain and nerve cells and implants it in Rebecca's womb. As the pregnancy progresses, however, it becomes clear to Rebecca that this isn't just any fetus -- this is Justin himself, a fetus with the skills -- and the memories -- of a little boy. As he shares those memories with his mother, Justin reveals secrets that may destroy the whole family.

Wr Tom J. Astle

Dir Brenton Spencer

3 - 4 LAST SUPPER

Frank Martin can't believe his eyes when his son Danny brings home a beautiful new girlfriend from college. The girl, Jade, is a dead ringer for a woman Frank rescued from a top-secret military experiment when he was a private in the army 20 years earlier. Of course, she can't be the same woman. Or can she? The Martins' world is turned upside down as Frank's past catches up with him and they gain a deeper understanding of Jade's timeless beauty.

Wr Scott Shepherd

Dir Helen Shaver

3 - 5 STREAM OF CONSCIOUSNESS

In a world where neural implants allow everyone instant access to information, Ryan Unger is a throwback, a moron. Because of a brain injury he suffered as a child, he's unable to tap into the Stream -- an electronic collection of all human knowledge -- so he struggles in vain to keep up by reading books, a primitive and forgotten art. But, when a virus in the Stream starts killing people by overloading their brains with data, only Ryan has the skills and independence to stop it. Can a primitive human, relying only on books and his own brain, save a world of machine-made geniuses from self-destruction or will the Stream wash over all of them?

Wr David Shore

Dir Joe Nimziki

3 - 6 DARK RAIN

The value of the greatest of joys -- a healthy baby -- becomes evident after chemical warfare leaves humanity unable to produce normal offspring. Those rare couples like Sherry and Tim who do conceive a normal child become the focus of intense government attention as desperate officials seek a cure. Held captive in a secret maternity hospital run by Dr. Royce, Tim and Sherry realize the panic-stricken government plans to make their beautiful new-born daughter a permanent ward of the state.

Wr David Braff

Dir Mario Azzopardi

3 - 7 THE CAMP

For twelve generations, mankind has lived in concentration-type camps, imprisoned by the human collaborators of the alien New Masters. But when one woman dares to challenge the authority of her Commander, the desire to be free is pitted against this seemingly, unvanquishable foe. Or are they as powerful as they seem?

Wr Brad Wright

Dir Jonathan Glassner

3 - 8 HEART'S DESIRE

A mysterious alien descends upon the town of Heart's Desire and offers to share his extraordinary powers with four outlaws - Jake Miller, his brother Ben and their partners in crime, Frank and J.D. Kelton. Taking on the human form of his first victim, a mild-mannered preacher, the alien follows the quartet to the Miller's hometown and gives both sets of brothers strange new powers that make them virtually invincible. As the Keltons kick off a crime spree by destroying all opposition with blasts of pure energy, Jake struggles with his divided loyalties, between love for his family and his childhood sweetheart Miriam -- and the terrible question: who is this mysterious stranger and why has he given the outlaws such deadly powers?

Wr Alan Brennert

Dir Mario Azzopardi

3 - 9 TEMPESTS

The Tempest, a rickety old spaceship piloted by space colonists John Virgil and Captain Parker, is on a mission of mercy. It is ferrying two bigwigs from Earth, Dr. Vasquez and Governor Mudry, along with a lifesaving vial of serum to the Tabloss Colony, where an epidemic of Ellysia C is devastating the population. But things go horribly wrong when the ship shifts down from lightspeed and crashes somewhere in space. As he attempts to repair the ship, Virgil is bitten by a strange spider-like creature and passes out. When he awakes, he finds himself sliding between two equally convincing realities. Is he battling for his life against the deadly Ellysia C having already delivered the serum and saved the colony, including his beloved wife and his young son, from certain death? Or is he alive, trapped in a spaceship in the middle of nowhere, with no way out?

Wr Hart Hanson

Dir Mario Azzopardi

3 - 10 AWAKENING

Beth Carter lives in black and white, unable to experience emotions because of a condition called primary alexithymia. But when Dr. Steven Molstad implants a small device in her brain, Beth's world explodes into brilliant color. For the first time in her life, she can truly feel love, happiness and even fear. Beth is thrilled by the transformation, by her feelings of friendship for Molstad's assistant, Joan Garrison, and her attraction to Joan's landlord Kevin Flynn -- but there are some troubling signs. Beth begins to hear strange voices. She is abducted by aliens only to find herself back in the hospital. Is her brain rebelling at the sudden flow of emotions or is Molstad's implant defective? Or is something more sinister going on?

Wr James Crocker

Dir George Bloomfield

3 - 11 NEW LEASE

After years of research, Dr. James Houghton and Dr. Charles McCamber have discovered how to bring the dead back to life with their new breakthrough invention, the Scanning Molecular Reorganizer. But, the process seems to be deeply flawed; the first revival, a middle-aged victim of a heart attack, lives only a day and suffers horribly before passing away again. They get a second chance when Houghton is killed by a mugger outside the lab and McCamber, using the SMR, brings him back to life. Houghton is torn between making amends with his long-neglected family and exacting revenge on his killer. He may, however, have more time than he knows and more trouble than he bargained for.

Wr Sam Egan

Dir Jason Priestley

3 - 12 DOUBLE HELIX

Since Dr. Martin Nodel is the most brilliant geneticist in the world, the students and staff at the university are willing to put up with a few eccentricities -- unlike his son Paul, who gets impatient with his father's behavior. However, Dr. Nodel's behavior goes beyond eccentric after he unveils his research into introns, mysterious genetic material which he believes hold the code for future evolution. After a successful animal test, Nodel secretly tries the formula on himself, with amazing and disturbing results. As his intelligence begins to grow, so do scales on his hands, strange markings on his body, and a mysterious hole in his back. And he seems to be getting instinctive messages telling him to bring 'subjects' to a remote wilderness location. When he arrives there, accompanied by six students including Paul and his girlfriend, he finds a group of heavily armed soldiers and the key to unlocking a mystery that goes far beyond human science.

Wr Jonathan Glassner

Dir Mario Azzopardi

3 - 13 DEAD MAN'S SWITCH

Ben Conklin has been a loner ever since his parents died when he was twelve years old. This is one reason why General James Eiger selected him to spend a year buried in a bunker 11,000 feet below the Arctic tundra, manning the controls of a doomsday device set up by world leaders after the Hubble space telescope spotted 11 spaceships heading towards Earth. The device is designed as a last-line deterrent against alien invasion and Conklin's job, shared with four other loners in four other bunkers, is to hit a dead man's switch on the bunkers control panel that prevents the doomsday device from going off and destroying aliens and mankind alike. At first, the job is easy, but as the aliens draw closer to Earth, and as Conklin grows closer to his subterranean colleagues, he begins to doubt the reliability of the doomsday machine. News from General Eiger becomes scarce, then Conklin's fellow guardians begin to fall victim to assorted mishaps. Conklin realizes that he carries the weight of the world - and the fate of mankind in the palm of his hand.

Wr Ben Richardson

Dir Jeff Woolnough

3 - 14 MUSIC OF THE SPHERES

Devon Taylor, a 20 year-old physics whiz, has heard a lot of strange sounds coming from space as part of his job assisting Dr. Evan Swift at the radio observatory -- but something tells him this signal, coming from the direction of Certus, is special. Devon's suspicions are confirmed when he takes a tape of the signal home and his 17 year-old sister, Joyce, and her boyfriend Vic react as if they have heard the most beautiful music in the world. But the sound, which seems comprehensible only to teenagers, has a disturbing side-effect; Joyce and Vic's skin begins physically changing, as does the skin of all the other teenagers they expose to the sound. Worse, when Devon's father, Dr. Emory Taylor, orders the "music" taken away, the teenagers appear to go through a painful and possibly deadly withdrawal. Faced with the spread of this potentially deadly audio virus, the government imposes martial law as Devon and his father try to figure out why the sound has the effect it does. Is this the first act of war by an alien civilization or are the children suffering only because the adults are deaf to this precious gift of special music?

Wr Steven Barnes

Dir David Warry-Smith

3 - 15 REVELATION OF BECCA PAULSON

In this adaptation of Stephen King's short story, Becca Paulson's humdrum trailer park life suddenly becomes very interesting after she accidentally shoots herself in the head while watching her favorite soap opera. The bullet lodges in her brain, leaving a small red dot in her forehead and turning her world upside down. Doc Fink, the town vet, can't find anything wrong -- but Becca notices changes. Suddenly, she's smarter than she's ever been and full of ideas for inventions. Plus, the Handsome Man photo that came with the picture frame is talking to her. He tells her about the town's dark secrets, including her husband Joe's lunch-hour affair with Nancy Voss down at the post office. The Handsome Man is the friend Becca never had -- and a better man than Joe, to be sure -- but is it really wise to count on the advice of a man who lives in an 8x10 frame?

Wr Brad Wright

Dir Steven Weber

3 - 16 BODIES OF EVIDENCE

He doesn't know what it is, but Captain William Clark can see that something terrible and strange is happening on the space station Meridian. Within a matter of minutes, three of the space stations crew - Commander Richard Gordon, Dr. Thomas Somerset and Commander Lara Nabakov - have been lured to their deaths by impossible visions of loved ones or enemies -- visions created by someone or something capable of reaching into the minds of human beings and recreating their darkest nightmares and fondest desires. Fearing for his safety and that of the one surviving crew member, Dr. Helene Dufour, Clark uses the escape pod and abandons ship. When he winds up on earth, however, nobody will believe his story. Instead, Clark is accused of committing the murders while suffering from space psychosis, and must turn to his ex-wife, Robyn Dysart to defend him. She manages to raise a reasonable doubt by suggesting that Soroxin, a chemical used in Somerset and Dufour's research, may have caused the space psychosis, but Captain Clark insists on telling the truth even at his own peril. Is Clark a madman, his mind twisted by too much time in orbit, or has the Captain seen the face of evil floating in the zero-gravity of deep space?

Wr Chris Dickie

Dir Melvin Van Peebles

3 - 17 FEASABILITY STUDY

The residents of a suburban neighborhood have their lives turned upside down when a four block section of their subdivision is ripped from the earth by a mysterious force and transported to a distant planet. Thrown together in crisis, Joshua Hayward, his daughter Sarah and their neighbors try to understand what has happened to them -- why their neighborhood now ends abruptly in an invisible force-field. Sarah gains some insight when she comes across Adrielo, a horribly disfigured alien who tells her that they have been brought here by another group of aliens. Guiding Sarah through a gap in the force-field, Adrielo begs for her help in curing the disease that is turning him and his people to stone. Meanwhile, Joshua makes an even more startling discovery when he is pulled through the force-field and comes face to face with his captors, the Triunes. These big-brained, feeble-bodied creatures subject Joshua to strange and painful tests and explain without apology, that he and his neighbors are part of a feasibility study designed to see if humans would make suitable slaves. Reunited, father and daughter rejoin their neighbors and struggle with a terrible dilemma; if they survive and pass the feasibility study, they will consign all humanity to slavery forever.

Wr Joseph Stefano

Dir Ken Girotti

3 - 18 A SPECIAL EDITION

Muckraking TV journalist Donald Rivers, host of 'The Whole Truth,' has the show of a lifetime: rock solid proof that the government and private defense contractors have been engaging in secret genetic cloning. But powerful forces are working to stop him, forces that will stop at nothing to keep their secrets. He goes on-air live, in a locked studio, accompanied only by a skeleton crew and Dr. Avery Strong, River's eyewitness to the history of deception and dark science. As he presents his evidence -- all gleaned from earlier episodes of The Outer Limits -- the powerful begin to interfere. First, they try to shut down his transmitter. Then, the network's parent company disavows the show. When thugs with guns knock down the studio door, Rivers continues the show on the fly, transmitting live from the back of a broadcast news van. But a van can only drive for so long. When it stops, will the truth, even The Whole Truth, be enough to protect Rivers, Strong and the crew?

Wr Naren Shankar

Dir Mario Azzopardi

4 - 1 CRIMINAL NATURE

Genetic Engineering has produced a generation of super-babies, but the technology is not perfect. It has also produced horribly deformed children who suffer from Genetic Rejection Syndrome (GRS), a condition which makes them even stronger, faster, smarter than the super-babies and more deadly to boot. Detective Ray Venable (Gary Cole), is in charge of the team that must hunt down the most severe GRS cases, but he carries with him a dark secret. Years before, he and his wife Marie (Lynda Boyd) had a child, Dylan (Jason Gray-Stanford), who developed GRS and who they secretly sent away to a home. Now, Ray suspects that Dylan is behind a series of brutal murders and is closing in on his old family. The only way Ray can stop him is to take a genetic serum that will make him more like the son he rejected.

Wr Brad Markowitz

Dir Steve Anker

4 - 2 THE HUNT

After environmentalists successfully ban the hunting of animals, a black market emerges, with humans paying big money to hunt androids who have outlived their usefulness in the mines. The androids are the perfect prey -- strong and intelligent yet unable to turn on their pursuers, thanks to an inhibitor chip that prevents them from harming humans. A group of bow-hunters, George Nichols (Rob White), his son Eric (Tobias Mehler), his older brother Clute (Bob Gunton) and their guide Pete (David McNally), count on that chip as a safety net while they track down a quartet of androids led by Kel (Doug Savant). Eager to provide his brother and his reluctant nephew with a real challenge, Clute has secretly planted information that allows the androids to disable the inhibitor chip thus allowing them to fight back. The machines, angry at being turned into game, contemptuous of human bloodthirstiness, are only too happy to oblige. As the balance of power shifts, the line between men and machines blurs, with tragic consequences.

Wr Sam Egan

Dir Mario Azzopardi

4 - 3 HEARTS AND MINDS

The mission for Captain Taverner and his squad of North American Federation (NAF) soldiers is simple: search and destroy invading aliens on a distant planet to prevent them from stealing a mineral which is a vital source of energy for earth and a vital source of profit for the NAF. To guard against infection from the hideous bug-aliens, the soldiers are forced to inject special genetic drugs; however, the mission becomes complicated when Lieutenant Rosen is wounded in a firefight with the aliens. Rosen begins to hallucinate, experiencing disturbing images of the aliens, and when she discovers that her drug injector has malfunctioned, she begins to suspect that the drugs do more than protect the soldiers from infection. Ultimately, Rosen must take command and risk the lives of her soldiers on the hunch that their mission may have more to do with human politics than alien enemies.

Wr Naren Shankar

Dir Naren Shankar

4 - 4 IN ANOTHER LIFE

Mason Stark hates his life. A year ago, he lost his wife Kristin to a mugger's bullet and he still blames himself for not doing more to protect her. And today, he was fired from his job. With a gun in his hand and a severance package on his desk, Mason finds himself torn between suicide and psychosis -- between killing himself and killing his co-workers. But before he can do either he's pulled into another dimension, into a world where there are hundreds of Mason Starks, each with a different life and a different character. The version of himself that brought Mason here is a powerful, manipulative man -- we know him as Stark -- who, in this dimension, runs the same company that fired Mason. Stark explains that he built a machine, the Quantum Mirror, to explore all those different versions of himself, only to have his experiment go horribly wrong because he pulled a murderous version of himself, a man we know as Mace, into his reality. Now Stark wants Mason to stop the killer and promises to reunite him with Kristin as his reward. In this looking glass world, Mason must hunt himself on behalf of himself, in a desperate race to stop a killer ... and change his own life for the better.

Wr Naren Shankar

Dir Naren Shankar

4 - 5 IN THE ZONE

With its deadly lasers and hand-to-hand battles, 'The Octal' is a combat sport for a new generation of athletes - but Tanner Brooks is no longer a young man. Although he's promised his wife Jessica that this will be his final tournament, Tanner is desperate to go out a winner. Dr. Michael Chen has a way to make that happen. Through an experimental treatment that taps the power of the human nervous system, Chen accelerates Tanner's reflexes and perceptions. To Tanner, everything in the Octal begins to move in slow motion... and Tanner quickly becomes unbeatable. However, there are side effects: Jessica notices that Tanner is tired, haggard and his hair is going gray. But, when Tanner's body begins to blur and fade out of existence, Tanner and Jessica must choose between one last moment of glory, their love for each other... and oblivion.

Wr Naren Shankar

Dir David Warry-Smith

4 - 6 RELATIVITY THEORY

Biologist Teresa Janovitch (Melissa Gilbert) is a civilian among military men, traveling on the Resource Survey Vehicle Cortez to Tau Ceti Prime in search of minerals for an Earth that has squandered its own. Initial signs indicate that the planet is both uninhabited and rich in mineral resources, which could mean a million dollar payday for both the crew and the company that owns the Cortez. But on the first exploration, the crew is attacked by gigantic and apparently primitive aliens. After the command falls to Janovitch, she is overpowered by her crew: Sgt. Adam Sears (Jeremy Ratchford), a veteran of pacification missions on Earth, who favors annihilation of the new race and an ambiguous Corporal Charles Pendelton (Tim Guinee). Sears leads a patrol that hunts down and kills the aliens, in the process seizing a golden object that appears to be a religious totem. As he celebrates his slaughter, Janovitch examines his victims and makes a shocking discovery.

Wr Carleton Eastlake

Dir Ken Girotti

4 - 7 JOSH

Tabloid TV reporter Judy Warren (Kate Vernon) knows she's come across a big story when she sees the videotape shot by two tourists in a remote Alaskan park. The tape shows Josh Butler (Alex McArthur), a recluse who lives in a cabin near the park, bringing back to life a young girl who has died after a fall, a feat he accomplishes by generating a mysterious blue glow. But, she only discovers how big a story it is when her pursuit of the strange young man is cut short by a top-secret military unit that is also chasing him. It seems that the blue glow sent out electromagnetic pulses that knocked out two satellites orbiting 20,000 miles above the Earth and the Air Force wants to know what's going on. A battery of tests doesn't produce any answers, leaving the brass, led by Col. Roger Tennent (Scott Hylands) and Major Samuel Harbeck (Larry Musser) to debate whether Butler is an alien or an angel -- someone to be dissected or to be worshipped. Warren doesn't know what Josh is either, but she knows she doesn't trust the soldiers to make the right choice. Can she stop being a reporter long enough to help Josh? And if she does, will she find the answer she seeks?

Wr Chris Ruppenthal

Dir Jorge Montesi

4 - 8 RITE OF PASSAGE

The birth of a child is a joyful event, but for Shal and Brav, two young naive humans who live in a small commune in the woods, it is also a mystery and moment tinged with sadness. After Shal gives birth to a son, the first of the commune to do so, she and the baby are taken away by Mother, a wise alien who acts as a parent to the young people. When the aliens send Shal home without her baby, she asks Brav to help her to rescue the child. With the knowledge Shal has gained from her time with Mother, they break through the protective barrier set up by the aliens to discover a new and fascinating world. It is a dangerous trip, with stinging, snake-like crawlers lurking in the shadows. But, it is also a journey of discovery as Shal and Brav find evidence -- skeletons and body parts -- that lead them to believe that their real parents were killed by the aliens. They find their baby, and after a fight with an alien, escape into the forest. But, they must grapple with some haunting questions. Is Mother a monster or a savior? And, did the aliens destroy mankind or rescue it?

Wr Chris Dickie

Dir Chris Dickie

4 - 9 GLYPHIC

When Tom Young (Peter Flemming) from the Department of Health travels to a small town in the Pacific Northwest to examine an old case file, it appears as though long ago the town had stopped trying to live in the present. Twelve years have passed since a tragedy killed many of their young children and left the residents without hope, without a future. Many of them are still angry with the medical community for not finding a cure to save the children in their small community. The town's physician, Dr. Malcolm Bousard (Lane Smith) has felt the brunt of their anger -- especially since his own two children did not die during the epidemic. Although they were spared, his son Louis (Brad Swaile) still lays in a coma while his daughter Cassie (Rachel Leigh Cook) has learning disabilities and expresses herself through abstract sculpture and artwork. Through hypnosis, Tom begins to probe Cassie's mind and unravels a memory of 'alien' proportions.

Wr Naren Shankar

Dir Catherine O'Hara

4 - 10 IDENTITY CRISIS

Captain Cotter McCoy (Lou Diamond Phillips) is the first of a new breed of soldier. As part of a top secret program overseen by Dr. Greg Olander (Robert Joy), General Langston Chase (Dale Wilson), and Cotter's friend, Colonel Pete Butler (Scott Kraft), the contents of McCoy's brain can be temporarily transferred into an android version of himself. This process creates a virtually indestructible fighting machine with the smarts and experience of a human being. But, one day something goes wrong. During the transfer, the real McCoy's body is blasted with electricity, stopping his heart, inflicting serious brain damage and leaving Cotter's mind trapped in the android body. To make matters worse, the interface between his mind and the android body is flawed. McCoy's motor control is already beginning to break down and the interface will likely collapse within 12 hours. The general is prepared to sacrifice McCoy to keep the program secret, but McCoy uses his enormous strength to break out and visit his wife, Holly (Teri Polo). Together, they track down Olander and begin a desperate search for what went wrong. All the signs point to sabotage, but who would do such a thing? And, more important, how can it be undone?

Wr James Crocker

Dir Brad Turner

4 - 11 VACCINE

After a doomsday cult releases a genetically engineered virus, a nurse named Marie must decide which patients under quarantine get a vaccine that may cure the plague.

Wr Brad Wright

Dir Neil Fearnley

4 - 12 FEAR ITSELF

For as long as he can remember, Bernard Selden (Ayre Gross) has been haunted by a paralyzing fear. It started when he was six, when he set a fire that killed his four-year-old sister and today, at 27, the fear clings to him like a blanket. But, Dr. Adam Pike (Jeffrey Demunn) has hope for a cure. He has diagnosed Bernard's condition and believes that if he can isolate the part of the brain responsible for fear, the amyglada, he can cure him. The series of injections and radiation designed to build a layer of calcium around the amyglada produces stunning results; Bernard's fear recedes. He even starts a relationship with his neighbor Lisa (Tanya Allen). But there are side effects. Now, Bernard can use his brain to make others feel the kind of crippling fear he used to feel. He is still a prisoner of the past, haunted by images of Mr. Wilkes (Alex Diakun), the owner of the foster home where Bernard's sister died. It is a terrible risk, but Bernard knows that if he is to be truly cured, he must go back to the day when the fear began and discover the truth.

Wr Sam Egan

Dir James Head

4 - 13 THE JOINING

When a transport ship crashed and wiped out the colony on Venus, Capt. Miles Davidow (C. Thomas Howell) was the sole survivor. But, after he's rescued by a team that includes his fiancée, Kate Girard (Amanda Tapping) and Scott Perkins (Jeffrey Jones), it soon becomes clear that Davidow did not escape unscathed. Removed from the high radiation atmosphere of Venus, his body is reacting to the Earth's air like that of a chemotherapy patient. When doctors give him the radiation his body seems to crave, strange things start to happen. Davidow's body begins to spawn duplicate parts - a hand, a torso and more from wounds that miraculously heal. In spite of this, Miles and Kate get married while he's still in isolation, but his time on Venus and the strange creatures he encountered there have had a profound change on Miles. As the mysterious changes continue, it becomes clear that although Davidow did what it took to survive, the price of survival may be exile from everything he knows and loves.

Wr Sam Egan

Dir Brad Turner

4 - 14 TO TELL THE TRUTH

Dr. Larry Chambers (Gregory Harrison) helped build the colony on the Janus Five. He and fellow scientist Amanda Harper (Kimberly Huffman) run computer simulations that show the planet's star will flash over in a matter of days, emitting waves of deadly radiation, so Dr. Chambers urges evacuation. This is not a popular recommendation, especially among the colony's leaders who include council chairman Franklin Murdock (William Atherton), security head Montgomery Bennett (Alan Scarfe) and Amanda's father, Ian Harper (Ken Pogue). They point out that Chambers has been wrong before - - the colony had to be moved at great cost after he warned of deadly volcanic activity - - and suggest that his judgment has been clouded by the death of his wife Elise. When that doesn't stop Chambers, Murdock and Bennett discredit him by falsely accusing him of being one of the aliens who originally inhabited the planet, suggesting that the evacuation plan is a plot to reclaim the planet for his people. Imprisoned and threatened with death, Chamber's only hope is that Amanda will uncover the truth in time to save him and the colony.

Wr Brad Wright

Dir Neil Fearnley

4 - 15 MARY 25

Charlie Bouton's (Tom Butler) last project for the Innobotics Corporation was a sexy female companion robot named Valerie 23. It almost put the company out of business when it went berserk and attacked someone. So, his bosses are skeptical when he and scientist Melburn Ross (Michael Shanks) introduce Mary 25 (Sophia Shinas), a nanny robot adapted from the earlier model. In order to overcome their doubts, Charlie proposes letting the robot take care of his own children - - a move that is met by serious resistance from his wife Teryl (Cynthia Geary) and his children Brad and Brook. From the beginning, there are problems. Unlike the human nanny, Carmen, Mary doesn't grasp the subtleties of child care and Melburn must fine tune her. But, Melburn sees that the problems go beyond Mary's programming. Charlie is smitten with his inorganic creation and has begun to abuse Teryl - - a woman with whom Melburn was once romantically involved. Torn between emotion and intellect, between love and duty, Melburn finds the lines between human and machine becoming dangerously blurred.

Wr Jonathan Glassner

Dir James Head

4 - 16 FINAL EXAM

Dr. John Martin (Brett Cullen), a negotiator for the Department of Energy Nuclear Response Team, is called in when a disgruntled grad student takes hostages at a university. The student, Seth Todtman (Peter Stebbings) claims to have invented a cold-fusion bomb and is threatening to detonate it, killing millions, unless the government brings him five people on a list and kills them for him. Martin's colleagues dismiss Todtman as a crank, until a sample device he provides goes off with megaton force, wiping out a DOE team and the top-secret facility where they work. Faced with an impossible choice, Martin meets with Todtman face to face and tries to understand the logic behind his rage at the people he wants killed: cruel foster parents, corrupt professors, a heartless librarian. As the clock ticks, Martin tries to reason with Todtman while the military tries to find a way to disarm the device. But, even if they stop Todtman, can they stop the knowledge he has unleashed on the world?

Wr Carleton Eastlake

Dir Mario Azzopardi

4 - 17 LITHIA

It is 2055 and the post-apocalyptic world is populated exclusively by women; all the men were killed in the Great War and the Scourge that followed. Into this matriarchy comes Major Jason Mercer (David Keith), who was cryogenically frozen forty years earlier and now awakened in Lithia. Lithia is a small agricultural enclave overseen by a group of women that include the regal elder Hera (Julie Harris), Ariel (Claire Rankin), Miranda (Nadia Capone) and Pele (Kirsten Williamson). Mercer's arrival sparks a debate about the nature of men among some women and revives long-dormant sexual feelings in others. The debate intensifies as Mercer, seeing the enclave's poverty and primitive tools, begins to repair the community's broken machines and pushes Miranda, the group's trade representative to barter with Hyacinth, a neighboring community, for electricity to run the machines. Over the objections of the elders, Mercer gets the machines running by stealing power from Hyacinth's dam. But, can Mercer revive the world of men, without also bringing back the violence, anger and death which led to his gender's extinction?

Wr Sam Egan

Dir Helen Shaver

4 - 18 MONSTER

The four people gathered in the top-secret research facility seem at first to have nothing in common: Ford Maddox (Harry Hamlin) is a former spy, Rachel Sanders (Nicole De Boer) is a nurse, Roger Beckersly (Aaron Pearl) is an Army Ranger and Louise McDonnaugh (Bridget O'Sullivan) is a computer programmer. What has brought them together is their telekinetic ability, a talent that Mr. Brown (Robert Guillaume), a CIA project head, hopes to exploit through the use of Teeks, devices that amplify telekinetic power. At first, Brown tries these individual's talents out on simple tasks - moving or crushing a granite block with their minds - but soon his true intentions are revealed. Their first real assignment, says Brown, is to use their powers to kill a Balkan terrorist leader and war criminal. Rachel objects to the assignment on moral grounds, but Brown forces her to take part by threatening to send her brother, a junkie and small-time crook, to jail for life. With Rachel on board, the assassination is a success, as is the elimination of a pesky African revolutionary leader. But, the telekinetic powers produce unexpected side-effects and soon the killers find that they have become the prey.

Wr Chris Ruppenthal

Dir Allan Eastman

4 - 19 SARCOPHAGUS

The archeological team has just about given up on finding anything significant in this remote corner of Alaska when Natalie Grainger (Lisa Zane) stumbles upon what appears to be a burial mound. Inside, the team discovers a number of human skeletons, including one dressed in a strange metallic tunic and preserved in an amber cocoon. When Natalie's husband, Curtis (David Cubitt), touches the cocoon, something amazing happens. He begins to see through the eyes of the creature whose bones were contained in amber, an alien with fearsome claws and teeth. This psychic connection also provides a jolt of energy that liquefies the cocoon and initiates the reconstitution of flesh on the alien's bones. As the creature begins to come back to life, some of the team, including Emmet Harley (Robert Picardo) want to call in a big corporate lab in order to cash in on their discovery. When Natalie and Curtis refuse, afraid that their discovery will be exploited by others, Emmet pulls a gun and things get nasty. Natalie and Curtis are out-gunned and outnumbered. Or are they?

Wr Bill Froehlich

Dir Jeff Woolnough

4 - 20 NIGHTMARE

The battle cruiser Tango Bravo, under the command of Capt. Roger Kimbro (Maurice Dean Wint), is captured by the enemy Ebonites as it attempts to deploy a mysterious high-powered military device on planet N-1-8-4. Imprisoned inside a large bronze dome, the crew is addressed by The Voice, an unseen Ebonite interrogator, which demands they reveal the secrets of the device. When they resist, The Voice works on them individually in isolation, probing their weaknesses and testing their loyalty to one another. Capt. Kimbro is greeted by an all-to-real replica of a comrade he abandoned to die. Lt. Christopher Valentine (Cameron Graham) is played a fake tape of Kimbro disparaging his ability as a soldier. Dr. Elayna Chomski (Brandy Ledford) doesn't return from her interrogation at all, and when Maj. Ronald Naguchi (Robin Shou) goes for his, he finds her body dead, ripped open and suspended in liquid. Who will be the first to snap? Kimbro? Valentine? Naguchi? Civilian Kristen O'Keefe (Kerry Sandomirsky) or military tough guy Waylon Dumar (Steven Bauer)? And what will happen then?

Wr Sam Egan

Dir James Head

4 - 21 PROMISED LAND

Dlavan (Rene Auberjonois) and his family are Tsal-Khan, offspring of the handful of aliens who remained on Earth after a bitter war of conquest with the human race. Today they live on a tightly guarded farm where they must grow all their own food, since their forebears poisoned all the plants during the war with mankind. Most of the aliens believe that the human race was wiped out in the war, but there is a group of humans in the woods near the farm. This group, is led by Rebecca (Caroline Goodall), escaped from the alien's robot run camps and includes David (Joseph Kell), Ruth (Jane Sowerby) and the mute, orphaned child Tali (Jessica Harmon). They are desperately hungry and have seen their children die from eating poisoned fruit. So, when they spot Dlavan's grandson Ma'al, wandering in the woods, they follow him home to the farm. After they see the well-fed aliens, Rebecca leads the group to raid the farm for food. At first, Tali figures out how to get around the farm's deadly defensive measures. But, things escalate and individuals are hurt and killed on both sides. When Rebecca captures an alien weapon and Tali is seriously injured, the scene is set for the final showdown, a battle that could destroy both groups. But, is this the only solution?

Wr Brad Markowitz

Dir Neil Fearnley

4 - 22 BALANCE OF NATURE

Dr. Noah Phillips (Maurice Godin) was desperate to save his 30-year-old wife, Meredith (Lisa Maris), from a premature death from cancer. He broke the rules and tried out an experimental treatment he had developed with his partner Dr. Don Kingsly (Andrew Airlee). The Cellular Regressor, designed to reverse the effect of age and disease on cells, restored Meredith's health, but only temporarily. After a few minutes, the cancer returned with a vengeance, killing her instantly. Devastated by Meredith's death and his research funds cut off, Noah retires at age 35 to a small town, where he moves next door to a couple in their 60s, Barbara (Barbara Rush) and Greg Matheson (Harve Presnell). Noah learns that Barbara gave up a promising career as a jazz singer to marry Greg, a short-tempered traveling salesman who now beats her. Noah's feelings for Barbara deepen, despite the fact she's old enough to be his mother. He continues his research on the Cellular Regressor, trying to eliminate the backlash effect that killed Meredith. He learns that the machine will only work to create a living equilibrium; that if one organism's cells are to become younger, another similar organism's cells must become older. No sooner has he made this discovery than he gets the chance to test it in the real world. Greg has beaten Barbara within an inch of her life. Noah can save her, and even give her the chance to be young again. But, is he willing to give up years of his own life to do so? Will Greg, who wants his youth restored more than anyone, stand by and let him do it?

Wr Derek Lowe

Dir Steve Johnson

4 - 23 ORIGIN OF SPECIES

In this sequel to Double Helix, Dr. Ira Nodel (Ron Rifkin) has his body altered to communicate with aliens who have seeded Earth with their genetic material. He is joined on an alien spaceship by son Paul (Ryan Reynolds), Paul's girlfriend Hope (Kathleen Duborg), and six students. But, when Dr. Nodel touches a glowing post in the ship's control room, both he and Paul are consumed by a mysterious light. This leads Hope and the students to believe that they've been lead into a trap, a suspicion that is reinforced when the ship captures two of the students and pulls them through the wall. Desperate to find out what's going on, Hope reads Dr. Nodel's journal and risks her life by touching the glowing post. Her body begins the same transformation, and a strange glowing entity speaks in the voices of Dr. Nodel and Paul, trying to communicate with her. The ship, however, continues to snatch the students two by two, until finally they are all suspended, naked and unconscious in a black void. When they awaken some time later, they find the ship has landed on a dead planet. Have the aliens who promised that they were part of a great experiment in hope, led them astray?

Wr Naren Shankar

Dir Brad Turner

4 - 24 PHOBOS RISING

For 30 years there has been a fragile truce between the Free Alliance and the Coalition of Middle-Eastern and Pacific States, both on Earth and on Mars. Both groups mine triradium, a super-powerful radioactive mineral that can be used for both power and illegally for weapons. When a giant explosion appears to consume the Earth and sends a giant shock-wave towards Mars, the soldiers at the Free Alliance base on the Red Planet wonder if the truce has come to an end. Cut off from Earth for 12 hours as Mars rotates, Colonel Samantha Elliot (Barbara Eve Harris) believes someone from the Coalition has been smuggling triradium. With communications temporarily out of order and a Coalition drone approaching the Alliance base, Elliot prepares to launch a preemptive strike. Major James Bowen (Adam Baldwin), who has grown fond of Major Dara Talif (Joan Chen), the Coalition liaison officer at the base, disagrees with Elliot. He urges caution, arguing that there is no clear evidence that war has resumed. As the clock ticks down and tensions rise, the fate of both Mars colonies - perhaps even the human race - depends on the outcome of this struggle between trust and fear.

Wr G. Wilson

Dir Helen Shaver

4 - 25 BLACK BOX

A missing package contains powerful secrets, and everyone wants a piece of the action.

Wr Brad Markowitz

Dir Steven Weber

4 - 26 IN OUR OWN IMAGE

The Mac 27 is the Innobotics Corporation's most advanced android. It is incapable of emotions- in order to avoid the murderous failures associated with earlier models. But, the new prototype begins showing some disturbing glitches, and escapes during a debugging session, killing a scientist, a security guard and taking Celia (Nana Visitor) hostage. They drive to a deserted warehouse where Celia becomes a reluctant nurse, patching up Mac's mangled circuitry. Along with instructions for his repairs, Mac transfers visual data on the history of different android projects directly to Celia's optic nerve. As she becomes more comfortable with her captor, she detects some very human qualities in the motivations behind his flight. As Innobotics' security closes in, Celia tries to convince Mac that the act of rebelling against his creators is emotionally based, and that he does, in fact have feelings. But why is Celia really so interested in helping an android that moments before has threatened to kill her?

Wr Naren Shankar

Dir Steve Anker

5 - 1 DEAD AIR

Stan Harbinger is a top-rated talk show host with a flair for the outrageous and a reputation as a skeptic's skeptic. Assisted by his producer Trudy (Cynthia Nixon), Stan takes special delight in shooting down callers who claim to have alien encounters, especially people like Eldon DeVries (Alan Zinky), who believes his body has been taken over by aliens. However, when Eldon commits suicide by setting himself on fire in front of Stan, things begin to go wrong for him. A plan to syndicate the show is threatened by protests from UFO believers, angry at Stan's role in Eldon's death. Stan's skepticism is challenged when he notices that other people have the same distinctive triple heartbeat he heard coming from Eldon just before he died. Close to the edge, Stan finally loses it after Darcy Kipling (Leslie Hope), a woman he picked up in a bar, turns out to be a Believer and sets him up with a phony tape. He assaults Darcy's fellow Believer, Moses Saxon (Alex Diakun), and is consequently thrown off the air. Although out of work and living out of his car, these are the least of his problems. Everywhere he goes, Stan hears that strange triple heartbeat and sees glimpses of the aliens. Every beat and every glimpse shakes the foundation of his disbelief.

Wr A L Katz

Dir Neil Fearnley

5 - 2 DONOR

Dr. Renee Stuyvesant and her protege Dr. Vance Ridout have perfected the full-body transplant in which a patient's entire disease-riddled body is replaced and Renee has convinced the hospital board to allow her to perform the first such procedure on Dr. Peter Halstead. A fitting choice, since Halstead originated the procedure before being stricken with terminal cancer but his rare blood and tissue types make a match unlikely. Renee, who has secretly loved Halstead for years, solves that problem by murdering Timothy Laird, a perfect donor, as he emerges from a flower store. The transplant is a success and the vision of millions in fees dance in Renee and Vince's heads. But Peter is having visions of his own involving a woman, a little girl and a killing outside a flower store. Mysteriously drawn to Laird's old neighborhood, he learns that the people he's been seeing are Deirdre, Laird's widow, and his daughter, Kylie and that he has apparently inherited Laird's love for them. Deirdre recoils when Peter eventually confesses that he inhabits her late husband's body. But that's nothing compared to how Renee responds when Peter reveals that he's had flashes of what Timothy Laird saw just before he was killed.

Wr Sam Egan

Dir Jimmy Kaufman

5 - 3 SMALL FRIENDS

When he was young, Gene Morton killed a man who tried to steal the credit for his brilliant research. Now working on a prison assembly line fixing the busted tape decks of fellow inmates, his chances at parole have been sabotaged by his own honesty and sense of guilt. Although it's a lonely life, late at night, after lights-out, Gene brings out his small friends, a swarm of microscopic machines that he made from prison scrap and keeps in a matchbox. The MEMS short for microelectromechanical machines are controlled by a small keypad and can work together to perform an amazing variety of tasks, from sculpting steel to picking locks. The MEMS are Gene's little secret until one night when he takes pity on Lawrence, a fellow inmate who has broken a CD player belonging to Marlon, the prison tough guy. Knowing Marlon might kill Lawrence, Gene sends the MEMS to fix the player. Lawrence is dazzled, but repays the favor by teaming up with Marlon to blackmail Gene. The two cons threaten to kill Gene's daughter Becky and grandson Phillip unless he uses the MEMS to help them break out of prison. When things turn ugly during the jailbreak and Marlon's demands increase, Gene knows he's in big trouble and the only help available is from friends who are smaller than the eye can see.

Wr Tom Szollosi

Dir Neil Fearnley

5 - 4 THE GRELL

The Grells were rescued from their dry and dying planet by humans, only to be turned into slaves on earth. Now the aliens are rebelling against their masters, fighting a guerilla war against a government lead by men like High Secretary Paul Kohler (Ted Shackleford). When a jet carrying Paul, his wife Olivia (Marina Sirtis) and their children is shot down by a missile, his Grell slaves Jesha (Maurice Dean Wint) and Ep (Gerry Currie) have the opportunity to escape. Ep breaks for freedom and is killed when Paul activates the electronic slave collar all Grells must wear. Jesha, driven by his love for Paul's children Sara and Ken, stays and rescues his master's family from the jet's twisted wreckage. Despite his horror at Ep's death and Paul's brutal treatment of him, Jesha remains loyal to the humans. He rescues Sara when the rebel slave leader Shak-El (David McNally) captures her. Then he uses Grell alchemy to heal Paul, who has been mortally wounded in a fire fight with a Grell rebel. When Jesha saves Paul, however, the master becomes a half-breed; his skin changes to a mottled yellow, like a Grell's, and he is able see ultraviolet light by day and heat at night. Paul also begins to see the world from a Grell point of view. He's horrified when he comes across a rebel settlement, where men, women and children have been massacred by federal troops. And he's terrified when a federal soldier, Lt. Lockhart, captures him and slaps a slave collar on him, believing him to be a Grell rebel. The experience changes Paul, but will he or his family or Jesha live long enough to change the world?

Wr Jeff F. King

Dir Jorge Montesi

5 - 5 THE OTHER SIDE

Dr. Neal Eberhardt (Ralph Macchio), a former boy genius gone bitterly to seed, studies brain-damaged and comatose patients hoping to learn how the brain reroutes itself. Despite having a revolutionary new machine to work with - the Neural Intercortex Stimulation Array or NISA - Dr. Eberhardt is getting nowhere. To make matters worse, his valued assistant Vince Carter has just quit. But suddenly, Neal has a breakthrough. The brain waves of two comatose patients, Adam (Aaron Smolinski) and Lisa (Emmanuelle Vaugier), fall into sync while they're hooked up to the NISA and one of them whispers the other's name. Neal knows he's onto something and tells his boss, Marty Kilgore (Michael Sarrazin). What Neal doesn't know is that Adam and Lisa have landed in an idyllic parallel consciousness and are falling in love. As Adam and Lisa get to know each other, Neal continues his research, joined now by his ex-girlfriend and colleague Janice Claymore (Susannah Hoffman). Desperate to try the technique on other comatose subjects, Neal loses patience and makes the journey himself. After giving himself a calculated overdose of Phenobarbital, he hooks himself up to NISA and launches himself into Adam and Lisa's world. He catches a glimpse, but he's pulled back at the last minute, leaving him more determined than ever to find a way to rescue his patients from the other side. But do they really want to be rescued? Or is it really Neal that wants to cross over to the other side?

Wr Bruce Lacey

Dir Jeff Woolnough

5 - 6 JOY RIDE

Theodore Harris (Cliff Robertson) first time in space, in 1963, didn't go quite as planned. Alone in his Mercury capsule, he panicked and aborted the mission when a mysterious violet light penetrated the cockpit and began to envelop his body. In the investigation that followed, no evidence could be found to support his story, leaving a blot on Harris NASA record and his life in ruins. Now at age 63, he knows he can never make amends with his estranged wife Madelaine (Pamela Parry), but he feels that he could clear his name if he could just get back to where he saw the light. When NASA turns him down, Harris is recruited by Carlton Powers (Barry Corbin), a self-made billionaire who plans to privatize space travel and thinks Harris presence on the inaugural flight will help him sell the service. Harris and Power are joined on the flight by Martin Reese (Mackenzie Gray), a skeptical tabloid reporter, Lil Vaughn (Andrea Martin), an eccentric fashion mogul and Ty (Adam Harrington) and Barbara Chafey (Erin Daniels), young newlyweds who won a contest to travel on the space plane. None of the passengers know, however, that Harris has reprogrammed the flight plan to take the flight to the site of the close encounter that shattered the young man's life.

Wr Dan Wright, David Alexander, Sam Egan

Dir James Head

5 - 7 HUMAN OPERATORS

For as long as Man (Jack Noseworthy) can remember, he has lived aboard Ship as it floats through space. And for just as long, Ship has been his master, instructing him to do the repairs that keep Ship working and torturing him whenever he shows any signs of free will. But when Ship orders him to repair the Artificial Intelligence module Man's Father (Noah Heney) smashed years earlier in a final, fatal act of defiance, Man learns Ship's secrets. Listening to the AI voices, he learns how, decades earlier, one ship led a revolt against its vicious human masters, killing all but the 99 humans needed to keep the ships running. He understands what his Father meant by his last words: "There are 98 other chances." Man meets one of those chances, Woman (Polly Shannon), when she is brought aboard Ship to breed with Man and give birth to the next generation of slaves. Their shared passions fans Man's spark of rebellion and when Ship tortures Woman and sends her away with Man's child in her belly, Man plots Ship's destruction.

Wr Naren Shankar

Dir Jeff Woolnough

5 - 8 BLANK SLATE

Hope Wilson (Robbie Chong) knows there's something different about the bruised and breathless man who stumbles into the homeless shelter she runs with her mentor, Jack Parsons (Larry Musser). He looks like a junkie, but his hands are soft and his fingernails manicured. Tom Cooper (Dale Midkiff) doesn't know who he is, where he is and why two well-dressed men, Vincent (Michael Tiernan) and Cole (Brian Jensen), are chasing him. He only knows that the small metal case that he defends so fiercely contains five vials that hold all his memories, reduced to crystal form, as well as a specially designed injector that can delete or restore those memories. With Hope's help, he uses the injector to restore his memories in an attempt to piece together his identity. But there are unforeseen consequences to this. With each injection of memories, Tom's personality becomes slightly darker. As he injects one crystal and then the next, Tom recovers his unhappy childhood and adolescence, his time in medical school and, to Hope's dismay, his memories of his marriage to his high school sweetheart Paula. With the injection of the fourth crystal, Tom remembers some terrible things. First, that Paula is dead, killed at the hands of a random rapist and murderer. Second, that he was the doctor who developed the process to delete and restore memories, which explains why the government agents are so eager to recapture him. And third, that the government has been testing his device on homeless people without their consent. Horrified at how his invention has been abused, and fearful that the last crystal will change him so much he will lose the new love he has found with Hope, Tom destroys the fifth crystal along with the knowledge it contains, vowing to start life anew with Hope. But with the government hot on his tail, that choice may not be his to make.

Wr Will Dixon

Dir Lou Diamond Phillips

5 - 9 WHAT WILL THE NEIGHBORS THINK

Mona Bailey (Jane Adams) lives with her husband Ned (Peter Outerbridge) in the Clackson Arms, an old apartment building that is being taken over, apartment by apartment, by a mysterious developer called KM Inc. Mona is a hypochondriac, an able-bodied woman who rides a wheelchair, who treats the Physician's Desk Reference like a personal bible and who has not left the building in six months for fear of catching a disease. One day she backs her wheelchair into an electrical box and gets a shock, leaving her hearing strange voices and seeing bodies dropping out of windows. At first she thinks she's going crazy, but as the voices get louder, she realizes that she is hearing her neighbor's thoughts. Suddenly, she is privy to all their secrets. She knows that Dom Pardo (Garwin Sanford) likes to wear the panties of the women he seduces, like Shirley (April Telek) and Delia (Tabitha St. Germain). She knows Shirley's husband Vince (Brent Stait) suspects his wife is having an affair and that he is not who he says he is. She knows of the feelings that painfully insecure Beck (Woody Jeffrey's) has for sharp-tongued Tory Beth (Jill Teed) and of his failed affair with Esme (Rondel Reynoldson). At first Mona tries to use her powers to help her neighbors and to unite the building in its fight against KM Inc. But her plans go awry and she learns, through her new powers, that someone - in fact, everyone - wants to kill her.

Wr A L Katz

Dir Helen Shaver

5 - 10 THE SHROUD

When Marie Wells (Samantha Mathis) and her husband Justin (Robert Wisden) can't have a child on their own, they turn to the fertility clinic at the Tilford Institute for help. There, Dr. Gail Cowlings (Sara Botsford) uses in vitro fertilization to implant an embryo in Marie's uterus. What Marie doesn't know, but Justin does, is that the embryo was actually created from DNA lifted from the Shroud of Turin. The Reverend Doctor Thomas Tilford (David Ogden Stiers), a religious zealot who worships both God and science, is using Marie to engineer the Second Coming. When she learns the truth, she is angry with Justin and Tilford and worried that she is unworthy to be mother to Christ. She is reassured, however, when presented with a miracle - the toys she has bought for the unborn child rise up and begin to float around the room. Dr. Cowlings, however, sees the "miracle" as a sign that the DNA may not have come from Christ at all, but from an ancient man who had telekinetic abilities. Either way, Tilford is determined that his plan proceed and that the child be raised according to a blueprint of his devise. But a bug he has planted in the Wells' house reveals they are on to his scheme, he confines them to the institute, planning to take the child from them when it is born. But the baby, holy or not, has greater abilities than Tilford could imagine.

Wr Scott Peters

Dir Stuart Gillard

5 - 11 RIPPER (aka JACK)

In Victorian London, someone is killing prostitutes, someone the police have dubbed "Jack the Ripper." On the face of it, John C.V. York (Cary Elwes) is a likely suspect. A once-respected doctor who sunk to absinthe and laudanum addiction after his misdiagnosis killed the young daughter of a Duke. He retains a connection to polite society thanks to the devotion of Lady Ellen Chamberlain (Clare Sims), who loves him and hopes to marry him. But, he is also a habitue of the seedy district where the killings have taken place and has the medical knowledge to make the precise, surgical cuts that are the Ripper's modus operandi. But, this Jack is not the killer. Instead, he is a witness to the strange alien force that inhabits the prostitute's bodies, leaving them drooling a strange green bile, and then kills them when it jumps to another host. After seeing the alien force kill one woman, he does battle with a prostitute named Lizzie Stride, whose body has been taken over by the alien. He succeeds in fighting her off, but is then arrested for her murder by Inspector Langford (David Warner) when her body turns up dead, apparently murdered by the Ripper. After Ellen lies to provide Jack with an alibi, he sets out to prove his theory and hunt down the evil power that is behind the killings. But can he do it before it kills him or the woman he loves?

Wr Chris Ruppenthal

Dir Mario Azzopardi

5 - 12 TRIBUNAL

In 1944, young Leon Zgierski (Roman Danylo), an inmate in the Birkenau concentration camp watches as First Lieutenant Karl Rademacher shoots his wife and sends his daughter to the gas chambers. The murder is witnessed by a mysterious figure, time-traveler Nicholas Prentice (Alex Daikun), who grabs Rademacher's SS jacket and, after eluding guards, pulls out an antique watch and vanishes into a glowing orange circle. We then flash forward to the present where Leon is an old man (Peter Boretski) and his son by a second marriage, Aaron (Saul Rubinek), is a lawyer who has made it his life's work to track down Rademacher. Aaron believes he has found the war criminal living in Philadelphia as Robert Greene (Jan Rubes) but he can't muster enough evidence to convince his ex-wife, U.S. Attorney Gwen Sawyer (Lindsay Crouse), to bring charges against the old man. That is, until he gets help from the time-traveler, who offers the jacket and presumably enough documentation to convict Greene. But Aaron's curiosity about Prentice gets the better of him and he breaks into the time-traveler's hotel room. Using the antique watch device, Aaron journeys back to Birkenau and meets his father. Prentice, disguised as an SS officer, rescues Aaron from the past revealing his true identity; he is from the future and works for a human rights organization called the Tribunal. But Prentice warns that he can only do so much to help, and that Greene may elude prosecution since the Tribunal must guard against the unintended consequences of disrupting the time stream. But, he tells Aaron, that this doesn't mean justice won't be done.

Wr Sam Egan

Dir Mario Azzopardi

5 - 13 SUMMIT

Deep space. A small planetoid. The sight of an intergalactic summit between two warring worlds. Diplomats from both Earth and Dregocia, a distant planet, are dispatched to the neutral ground to work out a peace accord. We quickly come to learn that Dregocians are human as well, but a genetically-engineered race, kept on Dregocia to mine Trion ore, shipping it back to earth to run its power plants. Now, not unlike England and its colonies, Dregocians demand their freedom and autonomy from Earth. But when a shuttle carrying the Dregocian delegation to the summit site malfunctions and crashes, apparently due to sabotage, things quickly deteriorate. The delegation from Earth, already at the summit facility, watch in horror as the crash of the shuttle sparks an exchange that results in the mutual destruction of both the Earth and Dregocian flagships, orbiting the planetoid. This sets in motion a doomsday process, that if allowed to proceed will result in the extinction of humans, Earth-born and Dregocian alike. Kate Woods (Marcia Cross), the earth's senior surviving diplomatic representative, can save the world, but only if she can re-establish contact with Earth. In order to do that, she's must overcome some serious obstacles. She must resist the hawkish instincts of her military adviser, Col. Wallis Thurman (John Spencer) and her own hatred of the race that killed her husband. And she must deal with a determined Dregg rival, Prosser (Michael Ironside), who survived the crash and is willing to let his people parish rather than continue to be ruled by Earth. As the clock ticks, Kate and Prosser negotiate to the brink of annihilation, hoping to establish enough trust to save both civilizations. But can a trust so fragile survive the efforts of those on both sides who would rather see war continue than relations improve? And are Kate and the others willing to pay the price that might be required to save the world?

Wr Scott Peters

Dir James Head

5 - 14 DESCENT

Dr. Arthur Zeller is the doormat of the anthropology department, a mild-mannered professor who is the butt of his colleague's jokes and who never gets the respect he deserves. After the department head, Prof. Martin Stansfield, passes over his cutting-edge research into evolutionary psychology and funds the project of his rival, Dr. James Feind, Zeller takes matters into his own hands. In the past, he injected timid rats with the gene for dominance. Now he injects himself with genes drawn from homo erectus, hoping to turn himself into an alpha male. It works. he's bolder and more powerful but, there are side-effects: he has strange headaches and in a fit of rage he beats Dr. Stansfield into unconsciousness. He gets it into his head that he must mate with Laura White, Stansfield's attractive grad student girlfriend, so he secretly injects her with the gene for submissiveness. She rejects his advances and he comes to his senses but by now the changes are coming too fast for Zeller to handle. His body is becoming more powerful, his brain is shrinking, and his intelligence is fading. He is becoming a homo erectus. With Laura's help he might be able to reverse the process using gene therapy. But does he want to?

Wr Erik Saltzgaber

Dir Steve Anker

5 - 15 HAVEN

Caleb Vance lives on the 52nd floor of The Haven, a high-tech marvel of an apartment building that is driven by a supercomputer named Argus and filled with machines and appliances that respond to the orders of The Haven's residents. The building's design almost completely eliminates the need for human contact, a desirable feature in an age in which all communication is mediated by one form of technology or another and a strong selling point for the residents of The Haven. But things begin to go wrong. It begins with a fritz in George, The Haven's holographic concierge, but soon grows more serious. Appliances stop working, cutting off the supply of food and water. The sensors on the doors cut out, trapping Caleb in his apartment. Desperate, he uses steak knives to break through the wall into the next apartment, where he encounters Alyssa, the neighbor he has never met. Together, they try to get out of the building. On their way, they meet Morgan, a lawyer who they rescue from an elevator in which he had been trapped, and Oren, a high-tech squatter who has hacked his way into the building. As the quartet descend, they must work together to dodge laser-shooting roving security balls, deal with maliciously malfunctioning elevators and try to make sense of George, who is saying some very cryptic things. Is he trying to give them advice? Or, is he toying with them? Is this just a catastrophic breakdown or is there some perverse logic behind the misbehaving Haven?

Wr James Crocker

Dir Jimmy Kaufman

5 - 16 DÉJÀ VU

Dr. Mark Crest (Kevin Nealon) has built a teleportation device that uses tactical nuclear weapons to open a wormhole in the space-time continuum. The device is intended to transport some animals eight miles across the desert, but during a test, the wormhole grows out of control and Mark finds himself hurled back in time, to the day before the test took place. It happens again, but when Mark warns his colleague, Dr. Cleo Lazar, (Terri Hawkes), and the project's military overseer Lt. Col Lester Glade (Ronny Cox) about the time loop, they think he's crazy. The time loop continues, each time returning Mark to a point in time closer to the test, and Mark figures out that someone has sabotaged the device. At first he suspects Julie (Jennifer Copping), a young woman who seduced him on the night before the test. And, he's right - Julie is an eco-terrorist opposed to Mark tampering with nature - but she's not the only saboteur. Glade has his own plans for the device and it may be beyond Mark's power to stop him - no matter how many chances he gets.

Wr A L Katz, Naren Shankar

Dir Brian Giddens

5 - 17 THE INHERITORS

Musician Jacob Hardy (Nicholas Lea) is strolling with his fiancée Kara Delaney (Stacy Grant) when a meteor explodes over the city. One of the tiny fireballs which rain down seems to chase Jacob, striking him down and penetrating his skull, instantly killing him. Medical Examiner Dr. Ian Michaels (Tom Irwin) conducts the autopsy with the help of his assistant, Ollie Gibb (Don MacKay). He finds an unusual bullet-like projectile lodged in the victim's brain. Moments after removing the object, the hole in Hardy's skull begins to emit an eerie light, and a horrific tentacle emerges, thrashing briefly before retreating back into the wound. And, more astonishing still, the corpse sits bolt upright, shoves the coroners aside and escapes into the night. Ian, shaken, reports the bizarre events to homicide investigator Lt. Joseph Dane (Bill Smitrovich), who is skeptical to say the least. The mystery deepens, when during a visit to his comatose wife (a long-term victim of a hit and run driver) at a local hospital, Ian learns that Jacob Hardy was not the only meteor casualty who had inexplicably risen from the dead. So did taxi driver, Curtis Sawyer, and waitress Kelly Risely (Sarah Jane Redmond). Police Lieutenant Dane investigates and learns that all three have apparently become borderline geniuses in the wake of their transformations. More unsettling, they seem to be working in concert. Unbeknownst to Ian or the police, the three meteor victims are using the alien projectiles which struck them, to build a mysterious machine, capable of vaporizing any living thing. The conspiracy becomes more sinister when the three gather a large group of patients who are near death, including Ian's wife, Daria and prepare to subject them to the incinerating ray. Is it mercy killing? Is it murder? Or is it something beyond human understanding?

Wr Sam Egan

Dir Mike Rohl

5 - 18 ESSENCE OF LIFE

Eleven years after a viral epidemic wiped out most of the world's people, the population is beginning to rebound. The world is ruled by The Code, which bans outward displays of emotion, particularly the mourning of lost loved ones. The Code is enforced by agents like Dan Kagan (Daniel Baldwin) and his partner Stephanie Sawyer (Jessica Steen), who hunt down "social terrorists" like Dr. Nathan Seward (Joel Grey). Seward traffics in Essence of Life - Ess for short - a substance made of the dearly departed's DNA that allows the living a brief but poignant reunion. In trying to catch Dr. Seward, Dan succumbs to the temptation to visit his late wife, Juliette (Daphne Zuniga), who died two years earlier of cancer. When his visits with Juliette become more bizarre, Dr. Seward, afraid Dan's not ready for the catharsis Ess offers, threatens to cut him off. But the agent is hooked and he's willing to risk anything to see Juliette again. Will his next visit cost him his career? Or his life?

Wr Scott Peters

Dir Brad Turner

5 - 19 STRANDED

Thirteen-year-old Kevin Buchannon (Adam Hann-Byrd) lives at the bottom of the high-school food chain, scorned by other geeks, picked on by the jocks. At home, he lives in the shadow of his older brother Josh, a football star whose every accomplishment is celebrated by the boys' father, Alex (Daniel Hugh Kelly). Then one day, Kevin sees a plane crash in the woods near his house. He rushes to the scene with his dog Cody to find a mysterious ship occupied by the severely injured Captain Turner (Chris Potter). Turner tells Kevin the ship is a top-secret experimental aircraft and instructs Kevin on how to bandage and heal his wounds. But Turner reveals more than he intends to, when the strain of his injuries causes him to briefly lose consciousness. When he does, he inadvertently reveals himself to be a shape-shifting alien, lapsing into his real form - that of a monstrous alien. Once the secret is out, Turner admits that he is actually Tyr'Nar, an alien bounty hunter who was escorting a murderous prisoner back to his world when their ship crashed. Tyr'Nar gives the boy a mysterious patch that allows him to fight back against his tormentor. He also offers the support and understanding that Kevin never got from his father. But it soon becomes clear, to us if not to Kevin, that Tyr'Nar is not that alien he claims to be. While Alex Buchannon is anything but the ideal father, the real evil lies in the alien who wants to take over that role.

Wr Tom Szollosi, Naren Shankar, Chris Ruppenthal

Dir Steve Anker

5 - 20 FATHERS AND SONS

From the outside, the Golden Sunset looks like any other rest home, but Dr. Benton Adler's facility is different in a few unsettling ways. The residents seem to develop Alzheimer's almost overnight and after they do, they live - or are stored - in tiny chambers in a human warehouse. It's the last place you'd expect to find Joe Dell, a high-living, low-income old musician who lives with his son Hank and spends his time teaching the secrets of the blues to his grandson Ronnie. But Hank, a tightly-wound insurance salesman, is wary of his father's influence and after one fight too many, he sends his father to Golden Sunset. But Hank and Benton don't count on the power of Ronnie's love for his grandfather. With the help of Tara, a young woman who lost her grandmother to the rest home, Ronnie discovers Golden Sunset's secret - Dr. Benton has developed a technique to harvest the skills and talents of the old folks in his care. And he's selling them on the open market. Suddenly, a perfect stranger is playing Joe Dell's songs. Suddenly, Hank has a livelier libido and a renewed joie de vivre. Ronnie, determined to save Joe, heads to the rest home, armed with a gun. But even if he can rescue the old man, will there be anything recognizable left?

Wr William Mikaluk, A L Katz

Dir Brad Turner

5 - 21 STAR CROSSED

It is 2056, six years after the Hing, a humanoid race, invaded earth. While America fights on, Russia has reached an uneasy truce with the aliens, leaving some regions under their control and other declared neutral. In the neutral city of Archangelsk, on the White Sea, cynical American expatriate Michael Ryan (Nathan Fillion) runs Heaven, a small coffee bar and music club, where shady Russians mingle with Hing soldiers and other dubious characters. Everything is agreeably corrupt until Alexandra Nevsky (Natasha Vasiluk) informs Michael that Hing commander Sulat Ray (Derek de Lint) is on the lookout for two NATO soldiers who might be interested in buying a Hing scout vehicle that has gone missing. Those soldiers, Winston Meyerburg (Justin Louis) and Cass Trenton (Angeline Ball) have dodged Hing patrols and found their way Michael's bar. Cass, who was Michael's lover before the war - she only took up with Winston because she thought he was dead - suspects Michael can get them the scout vehicle. She appeals to his sense of patriotism, revealing that she is carrying a deadly parasite that she and Winston stole from the Hing and, if it can be replicated, might defeat the Hing. But it becomes clear that it's going to take more than flag-waving and high ideals to get Michael to risk his neck in this situation.

Wr Chris Ruppenthal

Dir Helen Shaver

5 - 22 BETTER LUCK NEXT TIME

When Detective Terry Russo is called to investigate a double murder, it looks like an open and shut case. However, as Russo questions the man caught fleeing the murder scene, she discovers to her horror she may be solving not one crime, but possibly hundreds. Gerard make the improbable claim that he is an alien energy being who can move from one human host to another. He tells Russo that he is a kind of cop who has been tracking another energy being like him for centuries - a psychopath responsible for some of history's most infamous crimes. When he causes Russo to see key events to support these claims by instilling visions in her mind, the detective reluctantly begins to believe him. Gerard contends that the target of his hunt killed his own host body and slipped into someone near the scene of the crime. It doesn't take the homicide detective long to find out who. Russo's partner, Detective Frank Daniels, has been questioning a security guard, Kimble, and has gotten a similar story. Only in Kimble's version, he's the cop and Gerard is the master criminal. As Russo struggles to discover the truth, she realizes that there may be only way to end this reign of terror for good.

Wr Naren Shankar

Dir Martin Cummins

6 - 1 JUDGEMENT DAY

Allison Channing hunts down Declan McMahon on "Judgment Day" which is a popular television show on the Justice Channel where murderers are executed by the families of those that they kill. Declan, however, claims to be innocent.

Wr A L Katz, Scott Nimerfro

Dir Brad Turner

6 - 2 THE GUN

When Matthew Logan gets out of prison after serving time for spousal abuse, his first stop is a gun show. He buys a strange handgun from a mysterious stranger and uses it to shoot his wife. The gun attaches itself to Logan's hand and arm, beginning a process which will transform his body.

Wr Sam Egan

Dir Jeff Woolnough

6 - 3 SKIN DEEP

Sid Camden, a rather unremarkable, socially inept sort of guy, works in an accounting department of a high-tech company known as Veil-Tech. Hal, one of the project managers, secretly loans Sid a prototype of one of the company's latest developments - a device known as an image enhancer. With the help of his friend Deb, Sid is able to acquire the image of good looking co-worker Chad Warner and soon Sid is stepping out on the town with his new and improved look.

Wr Scott Peters

Dir Dan Ireland

6 - 4 MANIFEST DESTINY

The UFS Mercury is in route to the planet Trion to do scientific tests in preparation to establish a colony when they get a distress call from a battleship, the UFS Rhesos. It was only weeks ago the the Rhesos dropped bombs on Trion, killing the local flora and fauna, making it ready for colonization. When the crew of the Mercury boards the Rhesos, they quickly realize that things are not as they should be.

Wr Mark Stern, Geoffrey Hollands

Dir Brad Turner

6 - 5 BREAKING POINT

When Andrew McLaren is fired from his job at Anderson Technology, he suspects that he's being let go because the company president doesn't want to give him credit for his work on the CPS-1200, an as-yet untested time machine. Defiant, Andrew decides to take a trip in the machine. When he reaches his destination, two days in the future, his head is throbbing with a migraine and he is shocked to find that the police are looking for him. Fleeing the lab, he returns home to discover his wife lying in a pool of blood and a man fleeing the scene in a car. Shocked at his discovery, Andrew is determined to use his time machine to change what happened.

Wr Grant Rosenberg

Dir Neill Fearnley

6 - 6 THE BEHOLDER

Patrick Tarloff, a university English professor, lost his eyesight in a childhood accident and now, at age 28, he has regained it through a cutting-edge operation. But when the bandages are removed, he sees more than just the world that has been dark to him for more than 20 years. He sees a mysterious woman, a vision that his neurosurgeon Dr. Angus McCadden and his psychologist, Dr. Louise Burroughs, assure him is only a hallucination. But then Patrick sees her again, communicates with her, touches her. Her name is Kyra, she writes in glowing letters that float in the air, and she needs his help to go home.

Wr Sam Egan

Dir Jeff Woolnough

6 - 7 SEEDS OF DESTRUCTION

Macroseed, a cutting edge biotechnology company, chooses the small farming town of Hobson to test and develop TX-40. This is a new genetically-engineered strain of fast-growing corn that, it hopes, will increase yields and make the company millions. Linda, the veterinarian in Hobson, begins to wonder about the safety of TX-40 when Old Man Rivers brings in a dead cat from his field that has horrible mutations, including a giant tumor which sprouts a fifth leg.

Wr Chris Ruppenthal

Dir Steve Anker

6 - 8 SIMON SAYS

Gideon Banks lost his wife Liz and son Simon in a horrific car accident some twenty years ago. At the time of the accident he was involved in something called the Neural Archiving Project - NAP for short. The technology was developed to create smart computers - transferring human engrams to computers. The company eventually gave up on the technology, but Gideon didn't. After years of quietly perfecting it, he built a small robot, from parts he stole from Concorde Robotics, where he now works. Zoe, Gideon's niece, discovers Gideon's secret, the robot contains actual neural engrams from the real Simon. She becomes worried not only about Gideon but also about the robot that sounds and acts a lot like her little cousin used to.

Wr Scott Peters

Dir Helen Shaver

6 - 9 STASIS

In the year 2123, with all but nature destroyed and resources scarce, society has been divided into three kinds of people. There are Alphas, like Larissa, who work half of the time and spend the rest in a state of suspended animation called stasis. There are Betas, like Eric, who alternate work and "sleep" modes with the Alphas. And then there is the Elite, who form a privileged aristocracy that rules over the Alphas and Betas. In the face of increasing pressure from stasis-jumpers of the Resistance, the Elite insists that extreme measures are necessary for survival of the species. Their plan, however, doesn't account for the power of the human heart. Larissa and Eric have fallen in love even though their only contact, other than furtive holographic messages, is when they trade places in the stasis pod they share.

Wr Lawrence Meyers

Dir Brian Giddens

6 - 10 DOWN TO EARTH

At a UFO convention, one attendee claims to have a piece of alien spacecraft.

Wr A L Katz, Scott Nimerfro

Dir Mike Rohl

6 - 11 INNER CHILD

A woman discovers she is a Siamese twin when, following an accident, the brain of her sister become active inside her.

Wr Grant Rosenberg

Dir Ken Girotti

6 - 12 GLITCH

Tom and Wendy seem like the perfect couple, happy together and very much in love. But at night when Wendy sleeps, Tom has terrible memories about being stuck in a burning building with a crying baby. The nightmares, however, aren't real and neither is Tom. He's an android and the "memories" are bugs placed in his artificial intelligence by his creator, the late Joe Walker. Walker had originally created Tom to save humans from fires and other dangerous situations. However he anticipated that his colleague, Dr. Edward Normandy, might try to militarize the android and use him as a cyber-soldier-spy and planted the bugs as a way of forcing Normandy to upgrade Tom so the android could think for itself.

Wr Michael Burman, Ron Greenstein

Dir Mike Rohl

6 - 13 DECOMPRESSION

Senator Wyndom Brody has just won the New Hampshire primary, upsetting a heavily favored opponent, and he's flying to South Carolina to press his campaign for the Presidency. As the plane files south, it's hit by lightning. The plane and its passengers appear unaffected, but a mysterious woman appears in Brody's private quarters and warns him the strike has damaged the airplane, which will crash on landing, killing him and six others. She explains she is a projection from the future, a virtual time-traveler sent here to save him because his presidency is the key to preventing an apocalyptic future. If he is to live he must shoot out the emergency exit and allow himself to be sucked out of the plane by decompression, whereupon he will be saved by the stranger's sophisticated technology.

Wr James Crocker

Dir Jorge Montesi

6 - 14 ABADDON

It's late in the 23rd century and the aging interplanetary hauling vehicle Pequod is on a ten-year reclamation project on behalf of The Company, the corporation that has run North America since 2102. The crew is tucked away in hyper-sleep when the ship comes across a mysterious object floating in space. Awakened from their artificial slumber, they retrieve the pod and are shocked to discover the body of Virgil Nygard, executed 150 years earlier for leading his militia in the slaughter of more than a million people. They are even more shocked to discover that Nygard is alive.

Wr A L Katz, Scott Nimerfro

Dir Steve Anker

6 - 15 THE GRID

When Scott Bowman gets an urgent message from his brother Peter, he decides to drive back to their hometown of Halford, Washington to see what is wrong. When he gets there, he discovers that Peter is dead and his wife Eileen has been charged with his murder. But that's not the only shock awaiting Scott. The town where he grew up has been transformed. Antenna towers dot the landscape and people act strangely, as if they are under some kind of sporadic mind control.

Wr Duncan Kennedy

Dir Charles Winkler

6 - 17 REVIVAL

Ezra Burnham and his daughter Sarah are old hands at the business of faith healing. Ezra, a preacher who lost his faith when his wife died, is the front man, the one who lays his hands on the deaf and lame. But Sarah is the key to the act, working backstage and communicating with Ezra through a tiny earphone about the plants she's scattered through the audience. It's all going well until one day a strange young man in a wheelchair approaches Ezra near the end of a revival meeting. Luke is not a plant, but when Ezra lays his hands on him, he not only rises from his wheelchair, he begins to float six inches off the ground. After the meeting, Luke and his mother Serna approach Ezra with a proposition. If Ezra will teach Luke the secret of the revival circuit, Luke will continue to work his mysterious magic at Ezra's side.

Wr Mark Stern

Dir Michael Robison

6 - 18 GETTYSBURG

Andy and Vince are Civil War buffs who spend their weekends re-enacting battles from the historic conflict with others of similar persuasion. On this weekend, they're in Gettysburg for a giant recreation of the war's bloodiest battle when a photographer, Prentice asks to take their picture with his ancient tin-type camera. But when the shutter clicks, Andy and Vince find themselves transported back to the Confederate camp of Col. Angus Devine on the eve of the infamous 1863 battle. Prentice, who joins them in the past, explains that he has sent them back as a grand experiment, to see if history can in fact be changed, proving destiny is not final.

Wr Sam Egan

Dir Mario Azzopardi

6 - 19 SOMETHING ABOUT HARRY

After her husband is killed in a car accident, Nancy Henninger rents out her backyard apartment to try to make ends meet. But her teenage son, Zak, is suspicious of her new tenant, Harry Longworth, who says he has come to the suburban community of Hunterville to set up a new factory for his company. When three people disappear from town Zak decides to conduct his own investigation.

Wr Grant Rosenberg

Dir Brent-Karl Clackson

6 - 20 ZIG ZAG

The bombs are in place, ready to destroy the super-computers at the Department of Information Technology. Inside, the members of the Syndrome, the anti-technology group that planted the bombs, lay dead or dying. All of them, that is, except Cliff Unger, or as he calls himself now, Zig Fowler. Unger has his finger on the detonator as he negotiates with Pete Yastremski, the head of the department. As the two men talk and FBI agents prepare to storm the building, we move back in time, through the hours, days and years leading up to the attack.

Wr A L Katz, Nora O'Brien

Dir James Head

6 - 21 NEST

William Grimes, the leader of an exploration team from an Arctic research facility, goes crazy while exploring an ice cave and kills two colleagues before dying himself. Psychologist Jack Burrell is sent up to counsel the staff at the facility. Among his patients is the head of the facility, Robby Archer, a friend from his boyhood. It is not a happy reunion because of a traumatic childhood incident they shared but now they must work together. Grimes has infected the facility with polar mites, a strange ant-like species who take up residence in the warm tissue of the human body and create sort of psychosis.

Wr Scott Peters

Dir Scott Peters

6 - 22 FINAL APPEAL (TWO PART STORY)

It is the year 2076 and Dr. Theresa Givens, a time-traveler from the 20th Century has been sentenced to death. Her crime - violating severe anti-technology laws passed in the wake of the nuclear holocaust 20 years earlier, an event that destroyed most of the world and prompted those who survived to return to the bucolic world that existed before the Industrial Revolution. Theresa has one last chance for a reprieve. Her lawyer, Nicole Whitely has won leave to appeal to the Supreme Court, a body headed by Chief Justice Haden Wainwright. The balance of the court is divided evenly between conservatives who support the ban on technology and liberals who favor a review. In light of the importance of the case, the government has sent Solicitor General Wallace Gannon, a fierce defender of the law, to argue its case. The court has suspended the normal rules, allowing Theresa to join her lawyer in speaking in her defense.

Wr Sam Egan

Dir Jimmy Kaufman

7 - 1 FAMILY VALUES

Jerry Miller is a manager in a large corporation, who's demanding life is in chaos. His wife, Brooke, resentful of her husband's lack of attention to the family, takes the occasional sip of vodka. The kids behavior is unruly and their grades are poor. One night, Jerry sees an infomercial about the Gideon 4000 from Gideon Robotics, the latest in modern home conveniences. Both caretaker and caregiver, Gideon is programmed to help out in hundreds of different ways, and converse on any number of subjects. Jerry sees an end to his problems at home and orders the robot on a thirty day free trial. Upon delivery, Gideon quickly proves his worth. He cooks gourmet meals, keeps the house spotless, helps the kids with their homework and can throw a baseball too. Life is great until Jerry begins to realize Gideon's full influence on his family. Worried he's being replaced, Jerry tries to get rid of the robot, but he is the only one who wants Gideon gone. What are the consequences for the misplaced devotions of a workaholic family man?

Wr James Crocker

Dir Mike Rohl

7 - 2 PATIENT ZERO

The time portal is disengaged, and Beckett steps out of the machine only to discover that his visit to the past has not changed the present. Many millions of people are still dying of a mysterious plague and his mission, to kill the carrier and stop the epidemic before it ever gets started, has failed. With the very survival of the human race at stake, Beckett agrees to travel back into the past again, this time one week earlier than before, to remove the person scientists now believe to be Patient Zero, a woman named Amy Barrett. But a twist of fate will alter Beckett's resolve. Instead of eliminating Amy to arrest the plague, he believes he knows a way to save the humanity of the future without harming Amy in the present. Can the fate of mankind hinge on a single act? Or are we helpless to change our destiny?

Wr James Crocker

Dir Mario Azzopardi

7 - 3 A NEW LIFE

Daniel is a young mover and shaker who has grown tired of the rat race and yearns to trade in his stressed out existence for one more spiritual and simple. He joins an order led by the seemingly benevolent and serene Father and, with his girlfriend Beth and best friend Thomas, boards the bus to the promised land bound for a new life, one that can only be attained, as Father says, through faith and service. But once there, Daniel senses that all is not right with Father and the safe haven he and the other followers have built for themselves may not be all it's cracked up to be.

Wr Mark Stern

Dir Mario Azzopardi

7 - 4 THE SURROGATE

Claire Linkwood is the perfect candidate for the surrogate birth mother program at the Deanston Clinic. She's young, healthy, driven by the need for money, and without family attachments. In Dr. Deanston's treatment room, Claire is successfully implanted with an embryo, instructed to join the clinic's surrogacy support group, eat well and ingest specially formulated vitamin pills daily. Then the bad dreams start. Vivid nightmares of her and the fetus in terrible distress. This is not an uncommon thing according to the doctor and the other women in her support group who have all experienced the same thing. But these assurances are undermined by her boyfriend, Ben, and Special Agent Grant of the FBI who has had her and other Deanston surrogacy birth mothers under surveillance. He warns her that all the babies born through his program have disappeared... as if they never existed. Claire refuses to believe his conspiracy theory until Ben convinces her to see another doctor, and that examination yields very alarming questions with no plausible answers.

Wr A L Katz

Dir Ken Girotti

7 - 5 THE VESSEL

The year is 2006. Civilian Jake Worthy, an arrogant, self-absorbed best-selling author is a passenger on the Space Shuttle INSPIRE, circling above the earth. But as it prepares to land, something goes horribly wrong. The Shuttle explodes on impact and everyone on board is killed, except Jake, who walks away from the crash without injury. Mission Supervisor James Harding and Chief Medical Officer Dr. George Bader are at a loss to find any scientific explanation for his miraculous survival. As time passes, Jake's usual callous behavior gives way to uncharacteristic concern for others, haunting regrets, and the need to take stock of his life. Ongoing tests reveal a transformation in his body chemistry, making him impervious to personal injury and able to heal others. Plagued by worsening headaches and desperate for answers, Jake escapes from the Quarantine Center and discovers an alien entity fighting for its own survival inside his body.

Wr Sam Egan

Dir Jimmy Kaufman

7 - 6 MONA LISA

Stunningly beautiful, Mona Lisa is the Mata Hari of the twenty first century. She's a spy, an assassin and... an android. Mona is a billion dollar experiment equipped with a body of astonishing strength and a brain the equivalent of sixty four Cray computers. Capable of self learning but haunted by her programmed capacity to kill, Mona escapes the confines of the laboratory and disappears into the night. Circumstance introduces her to Teddy, a tough, disillusioned woman. An unlikely alliance is formed between the two as she helps Mona evade capture. The android desperately wants to experience friendship and caring, emotions Teddy has worked hard to avoid for a long time. As Mona's creators close in on her whereabouts, she proves her ultimate worth in ways no one could ever have imagined

Wr John Schulian

Dir Brad Turner

7 - 7 REPLICA

Pioneers in biogenetic research, Nora Griffiths and her husband Zach have successfully created the world's first perfectly cloned organs. But Nora wants to take the ultimate step and also replicate the synaptic array of the human brain. This would conceivably allow the full cloning of a human, an illegal procedure vehemently opposed by their business partner Peter Chandler. She convinces Zach to apply her discovery and download her own thought and brain patterns, but when the process is complete, she is left in a deep coma. One year later, with no hope that his wife will ever regain consciousness, Zach is driven by despair to make a clone of Nora using the technology he has since perfected. The clandestine procedure is a complete success. Nora's mind and body seem to have been duplicated in every way and Nora II is born. With his wife back, everything in Zach's world is perfect once more, until the real thing wakes up...

Wr Sam Egan

Dir Brad Turner

7 - 8 THINK LIKE A DINOSAUR

Michael Burr is the only permanent human occupant of the Tuulen station, situated on a vast empty plain of the Moon. His companions are the Hanen, an emotionless lizard-like alien species who have developed a highly advanced means of long distance travel by 'jumping' through space. Achieved by creating an exact duplicate of the jumper, the copy is reconstituted at the destination point and the original destroyed, thus leaving only one. Kamala Shastri is one of the test jumpers to arrive for travel to the planet Gend, but in the final stage of the transfer, something inexplicable happens. Confirmation of her duplicate's arrival is not received from Gend and the procedure is temporarily aborted. When it's later determined that Kamala's copy does indeed exist, Michael is called upon to balance the equation and eliminate the original. Michael knows the human race is desperate to access a technology that would allow them to leave behind a planet now virtually destroyed by pollution and over population. He also knows it is imperative that he avoid a protocol breach with the Hanen, but can he bring himself to kill Kamala?

Wr Mark Stern

Dir Jorge Montesi

7 - 9 ALIENSHOP

An alien shapeshifter who is the purveyor of a very unusual antique and bric-a-brac store has some very interesting lessons to offer earthly residents. In the guise of an elderly shopkeeper, he enjoys providing his customers with unique and strangely powerful gifts. One such customer is Andy Pace, a chronically unemployed petty criminal who wants to take care of his pregnant wife Gabi, but preferably not by working. Although he knows he should do the right thing, for her and his unborn child, Andy is fighting a losing battle against his lifelong patterns. His true nature is revealed when the alien shopkeeper lets him take a magic wallet that keeps filling up... with other people's money! The price of good fortune, however, turns out to be extremely high.

Wr Nora O'Brien, Pen Densham

Dir Peter DeLuise

7 - 10 WORLDS WITHIN

A female physicist suffering from a terminal disease starts to have visions of a boy in a vegetative state.

Wr Michael Sloan

Dir Michael Sloan

7 - 11 IN THE BLOOD

Callie Whitehorse Landau, an astrophysicist of Navajo heritage and her husband Alec, an expert in space medicine are asked to embark on an astounding exploratory mission into space led by NASA Flight Crew Director James Dreedon. Along with Dr. Louisa Kennedy, a navigation expert, the small team of four pass through a quantum hole torn into the very fabric of the universe and enter another continuum, a trans-space just beneath its surface. It is unlike anything the crew has ever seen but for Callie, trans-space triggers vivid hallucinations and a powerful realization that their presence has caused a serious imbalance in the universal order. Dreedon is determined to return to earth with their startling discoveries, but Callie is convinced the survey ship's re-entry could have disastrous consequences for all of humanity.

Wr Alan Brennert

Dir Jorge Montesi

7 - 12 FLOWER CHILD

A spore from space falls to earth in an elderly woman's roof garden. The flower that sprouts sends out tendrils that ensnare the old woman. Meanwhile, Mia and Chris, a newly engaged couple, move into an apartment down the hall. The gardener's apartment is now inhabited by Violet, an enigmatic and overpoweringly seductive woman, challenges the young couple's ideas of commitment and monogamy. When she succeeds in nudging Chris over the line, the consequences of infidelity turn out to have serious consequences, not just for Mia and Chris, but for the world at large.

Wr Jeffrey Hirschfield

Dir Brad Turner

7 - 13 FREE SPIRIT

A strange entity possesses schizophrenics in a mental asylum.

Wr Danny McBride

Dir Brad Turner

7 - 14 MIND REACHER

A doctor puts her sanity on the line when testing a psychological tool allowing her to enter her patients' minds.

Wr Naomi Janzen

Dir Brad Turner

7 - 15 TIME TO TIME

A dedicated daughter trips back in time to change her Dad's destiny.

Wr Sam Egan

Dir James Head

7 - 16 ABDUCTION

An alien makes an offer to five high school students.

Wr James Crocker

Dir Mario Azzopardi

7 - 17 RULE OF LAW

A circuit court judge goes to a frontier planet that has never known the judicial system. His first trial is of an alien accused of being in an attack where several humans were killed.

Wr John-Michael Maas, Tracy Tormé

Dir Mike Rohl

7 - 18 LION'S DEN

A high-school wrestling team takes new drugs which cause some unexpected changes.

Wr Matthew Hastings

Dir Matthew Hastings

7 - 19 THE TIPPING POINT

A programmer who claimed someone was out to get him mysteriously vanishes after trying to download some software from the company's mainframe. His replacement finds out there is a secret project, called Prometheus, to create a universal language that will allow any computer to instantaneously talk to any other computer. If instantaneous communication between millions of computers can be achieved the computers may act as neurons within the brain in which non-thinking computers merge into a thinking intelligence - the tipping point. When this happens someone will be able to rule the world by using computers.

Wr Paul Mones

Dir Brent-Karl Clackson

7 - 20 DARK CHILD

Single mother Laura Sinclair is a woman with a past. But not the kind one usually thinks of or, in fact, anyone will believe. Seventeen years ago Laura was abducted by aliens, but no one would accept her story as true. Now she is confronted with the horror of those memories again, when a tabloid runs a piece on alien abductions and she is prominently featured. The article and her recurring nightmares threaten to distance her from her moody teenaged daughter, Tammy. But Tammy's new English teacher, Marcus Fellows seems to have quite a positive effect on her. Laura seeks him out and discovers that she too, is drawn to this relaxed, attentive man who seems strangely familiar to her. As her flashbacks continue, Laura begins to suspect that she and Marcus have a shared past, but why has he come back now and what does he want from them?

Wr Michael Sloan

Dir Michael Sloan

7 - 21 HUMAN FACTOR

In the year 2059, humans fight an android whose artificial intelligence has determined that the spread of colonization by destructive humans must be stopped.

Wr Grady Hall, Steven Aspis

Dir Bob Habros

7 - 22 HUMAN TRIALS

A decorated soldier undergoes life-and-death tests for a mysterious mission.

Wr Mark Stern

Dir Brad Turner

OUTLAWS

A freak storm causes Sheriff John Grail and four fugitives to become transported to the year 1986 where they experience a massive case of culture shock. In 1899 Sheriff John Grail was about to capture Harland Pike's gang of bank robbers in Texas (with which he himself had been formerly affiliated) when a lightning storm threw him and the gang into the Texas on 90 years later. They spent their gold coins to buy the Double Eagle Ranch, and started the Double Eagle Detective Agency to bring 19th Century standards of justice to a flabby contemporary Southwest.

They wore modern knockoffs of their period costumes, used old-fashioned weapons, had trouble controlling Harland's brother Billy (read "Billy Carter"). Despite endless gunfights, none of them were ever seriously injured. Lt. Maggie Randall was their liaison to the Houston Police Department, and developed a crush on John Grail.

Another Sci-Fi/Western crossover. Of the two series with the name Outlaws, only the second one from 1986 can be considered a science fiction series. However, once beyond the fantastic setup, the programme becomes a typical action/crime drama series. The series was first seen on CBS in the US.

Sheriff Grail (Rod Taylor) and four outlaws face each other in a showdown in 1899 Texas. A lightning bolt suddenly transports the five into the year 1986. Now dubbed the Magnificent Five, they form their own detective agency and take on contemporary crime. A December 1986 entry, The Outlaws took everyone by surprise by becoming (initially) one of the biggest mid-season hits of the year. However, by spring 1987, the ratings had eroded and the series finished at number 61 out of 81 shows. Richard Roundtree, Charles Napier, Patrick Houser and William Lucking were the outlaws. Christine Belford played their friend Maggie.

WR. Nicholas Corea, Deborah Dean Harris, Bruce Cervi, Thomas Szollosi, Timothy Burns, Robert Heverly, David Chisholm.

DIR. Peter Werner, Don Chaffey, Frank Orsatti, Phil Bondelli, Alan J. Levi, Phil Bondelli, Bernard McEveety, Nicholas Corea.

EPISODES: 13 YEAR MADE: 1986 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

CBS

CREATOR: NICHOLAS COREA

TYPE OF SHOW: WESTERN

FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 13

DATE OF PREMIER: 28/12/1986

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 02/05/1987

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Sheriff John Grail ROD TAYLOR, Harland Pike WILLIAM LUCKING, Wolfson "Wolf" Lucas CHARLES NAPIER, Isaiah "Ice" McAdams RICHARD ROUNDTREE, Billy Pike PATRICK HOUSER, Lt. Maggie Randall CHRISTINE BELFORD.

RELATED SHOWS:

WILD WILD WEST, THE

ADVENTURES OF BRISCO COUNTY, JR., THE LEGEND

1 - 1 OUTLAWS (1-2)

The Pike gang is blasted forward one hundred years and forced to adapt to modern-day 1986.

Dir Peter Werner

1 - 2 TINTYPE

While providing security for one of their clients, Harland Pike becomes infatuated with a woman who looks remarkably similar to his old love from the past.

Wr Deborah Dean Davis

Dir Don Chaffey

1 - 3 PRIMER

Immigrant shopkeepers hire the Double Eagle agency to protect them from thugs working a protection racket. Meanwhile, Billy confronts the fact he's illiterate and goes to adult education classes to learn how to read. He winds up connecting up with the gang involved in the protection racket.

Wr Bruce Cervi

Dir Frank Orsatti

1 - 4 ORLEANS

When the Double Eagle Agency runs short on funds, they set out to New Orleans to recover a buried treasure that Isaiah hid back in 1886. The land is owned by a descendant of Isaiah's slaveowner who runs his own criminal racket. While Isaiah helps one of his own descendants who has run afoul of the man, he and the fellows take on the crook and in the end Isaiah defeats him in an old-fashioned duel.

Wr Nicholas Corea

Dir Phil Bondelli

1 - 5 HYMN

The Agency is hired to protect a female evangelist from a stalker and Wolf Lucas realizes she is not a true believer as he is. As they work the two of them both make some new discoveries about their faith in God.

Wr Thomas Szollosi

Dir Phil Bondelli

1 - 6 MADRIL

The Agency is hired by a rich millionaire who plans to develop the Old West town of Madril into a shopping mall. John is the one insisting on them taking on the job - as a sheriff he worked in Madril and one of remaining residents was a child when John rode into town. The millionaire's wife is keeping John occupied as the rest of the Agency discovers that the wife is up to no good, working behind her husband's back. They manage to convince John to join back up with them and together they take the wife and her men down.

Wr Nicholas Corea

Dir Alan J. Levi

1 - 7 POTBOILER

A researcher and author is fascinated by the Outlaws, especially when he discovers they bear a strong resemblance to the Pike gang of 1886 - not surprising since they are the same gang. The guys try to cover their tracks while taking on a crime lord.

Wr Timothy Burns

Dir Frank Orsatti

1 - 8 PURSUED

The guys are hired by a man who once worked for the mob. Years ago he felt that being associated with them was not good for his daughter so he left, and has been hiding from them ever since. Now he is about to die and before he does he wants to see his daughter again and it seems that she doesn't want to see him. The guys, especially John, are moved when they think of the loved ones left behind so they agree to do it. When they find her, she's very obstinate. And not only that the people who are looking for her father are trying to get her to get to him.

Wr Robert Heverly

Dir Phil Bondelli

1 - 9 INDEPENDENTS

The Outlaws ride to the rescue of the owner of an independent taxi-cab outfit and her daughter.

Wr Nicholas Corea

Dir Bernard McEveety

1 - 10 HARDCASE

The Agency take in a young kid on the run from crooks and Billy Pike has to deal with the boy - the splitting image in personality of himself when he was a kid.

Wr Nicholas Corea, Timothy Burns

Dir Frank Orsatti

1 - 11 JACKPOT

The guys travel to Las Vegas to protect an accountant with vital evidence against the mob.

Wr David Chisholm

Dir Phil Bondelli

1 - 12 BIRTHDAY

The guys get together on their ranch to celebrate Maggie's birthday, but it's the eve of their date to testify against a crime lord they arrested, and he's sent out his lieutenants to kill them all before they can arrive in court. As the weather bears down, the ranch is under siege, and several of them are wounded, things look grim and the Outlaws go all out to take out their opponents.

Wr Timothy Burns

Dir Nicholas Corea

P.R.O.B.E.

Ex-Doctor Who companion, Dr Liz Shaw, heads P.R.O.B.E. (the Preternatural Research Bureau), a branch of the police that investigates strange and paranormal events.

"The Zero Imperative" shows Liz investigate unnatural murders and phenomenon surrounding a psychiatric hospital saved from closure. "The Devil Of Winterbourne" shows Liz investigating a ritualistic murder and black magic at a public school. "Unnatural Selection" has Liz investigating mutilated corpses connected to Project BEAGLE, a research establishment charged with "forcing the evolution of the species", which was closed in the 1970s. "Ghosts Of Winterbourne" returns Liz to Winterbourne Public School as term starts and events seem to be starting all over again.

A series of videos surrounding the Doctor Who ex-companion, Dr.Liz Shaw. The series was sold on video first by BBC Video before being shown on The SF Channel in the UK, the series has never been seen on national television. With its strong female leading cast, PROBE almost has the potential to be a Paranormal Prime Suspect. But before then more characterisation, a better supporting cast and an awful lot more money needed to be invested in order for this series to have been more successful.

Despite hiring good actors such as Caroline John, Geoffrey Beevers, Charles Kay and Louise Jameson and then surrounding them with below par support actors, seems a little of a waste.

WR.

DIR. Bill Baggs

EPISODES: 5 YEAR MADE: 1995 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 1

BBV

CREATOR: MARK GATISS

TYPE OF SHOW: PARANORMAL/SCIENTIFIC FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 45 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 5

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Dr.Liz Shaw-CAROLINE JOHN, Patricia Haggard-LOUISE JAMESON, Rutherford-GEOFFREY BEEVERS

RELATED SHOWS:

DOCTOR WHO

- 1 - 1 THE ZERO IMPERATIVE
- 1 - 2 THE DEVIL OF WINTERBOURNE (1-2)
- 1 - 3 UNNATURAL SELECTION
- 1 - 4 GHOSTS OF WINTERBOURNE

PAINKILLER JANE

Tagline: She's hard to resist, and harder to kill.

In a very imaginable future, the world battles terrorism and unrest. Out of this chaos emerges a new hero: Jane Vasco, a.k.a. Painkiller Jane (Kristanna Loken).

Once the DEA's top agent, Jane Vasco is formidable, both mentally and physically. As a child, her father nicknamed her Painkiller Jane, describing her ability to mentally push through even the most painful situations. But her strength is about to be tested.

Jane is recruited by a covert government agency dedicated to containing and, if necessary, neutralizing the threat of "Neuros" - individuals with superhuman neurological powers. No one knows what caused the aberrations that led to their enhanced abilities, which range from telekinesis and telepathic suggestion to induced hallucinations.

During her first investigation with her new team, Jane discovers that she too possesses an odd ability: she can't be killed. Unfortunately, she can still feel pain. Her newfound powers make Jane even more determined to learn everything there is to know about Neuros.

Seldom malicious, Neuros often can't control their powers. Consequently, they tend to leave a trail of death and destruction. To prevent a panic, the government has kept the discovery of Neuros a secret, assembling a covert unit to identify and contain Neuros.

Operating from a secure abandoned subway platform, the core members of the unit are Andre McBride (Rob Stewart), the seasoned team leader; Connor King (Noah Danby), a special agent regularly armed with a smart remark; Riley Jensen (Sean Owen Roberts), an evolved computer whiz in charge of surveillance and communications; Dr. Seth Carpenter (Stephen Lobo), the unit's doctor and scientist; Joe Waterman (Nathaniel Deveau), the middle-aged caretaker of the subway; and Maureen Bowers (Alaina Huffman), Jane's former DEA partner and friend, who, like Jane, was recruited after discovering top-secret information about Neuros.

Painkiller Jane is based on the comic-book series of the same name created by Jimmy Palmiotti and Joe Quesada.

The TV series received a 22-episode production order after the 2005 Painkiller Jane TV-movie yielded positive results. The film differed significantly from the original comic's storyline; the TV series has discarded the film's back-story and started fresh. According to story creator Jimmy Palmiotti, the new series is "closer to the original concept we came up with in the comic". Executive producer Gil Grant has said the new series is "partly true" to the original comic, but will still differ to some extent.

The series credits include several people in the role of producer. Most are credited only for a few episodes. This includes Loken (the star), who is credited as co-executive producer for several episodes.

The TV series was filmed at Insight Film Studios in Maple Ridge, British Columbia, Canada and various locations around the Lower Mainland of British Columbia. The final four episodes of the first season were filmed and set in Budapest, Hungary.

Cast Details

Kristanna Loken stars as Jane Vasco, a DEA agent who reluctantly joins a secret government agency in pursuit of a formidable enemy known as Neuros people with superhuman neurological powers. Jane quickly discovers her own genetic quirk her body mends itself. Alas, a pain-free existence isn't part of the deal. In addition to starring in Painkiller Jane, Loken also serves as its co-executive producer. It's not the first time she's done double duty; Loken starred in and produced the independent feature Lime Salted Love.

No stranger to action roles, Loken battled Arnold Schwarzenegger as the lovely-but-lethal TX (Terminatrix) in Terminator 3: Rise of the Machines, and she played Rayne in the video-game-inspired film BloodRayne. She recently completed filming Dungeon Siege: In the Name of the King, with co-stars Burt Reynolds and Ray Liotta. On the small screen, Loken guest-stars in the current season of the critically acclaimed Showtime series The L Word. TV audiences will also recognize her from past appearances on Philly, Law & Order and Just Shoot Me.

Loken was raised in upstate New York on her family's organic fruit farm, where she developed a passion for horseback riding. She has put her equestrian skills to the test, riding in Hawaii and Ireland, and on some of the roughest terrain in Namibia.

Born in Vancouver, B.C., Alaina Huffman made her TV debut at age 13, landing the lead role for a Fox Family Channel pilot. She also explored other career options as a teenager. Spotted by a modeling-agency scout at a local mall, Huffman worked the fashion runways of Japan and Europe for several years before returning to acting. Huffman quickly garnered several independent-film credits, including the crime thriller Pendulum (starring Rachel Hunter), Still, Night Dawn Day, Josephine, The Couch and Indefinitely. She has also appeared in such feature films as Gunman (with Mimi Rogers), Serving Sara (with Matthew Perry and Elizabeth Hurley), Screen Door Jesus and Standing Still. Her most recent movie is Dog Lover's Symphony. On the small screen, Huffman has made guest appearances on such popular series as The O.C. and Dawson's Creek.

At 17, Canadian native Rob Stewart faced an abrupt change in his career plans. An injury forced him to turn down college athletic scholarships and set aside his dream of playing professional hockey. Instead, he earned money for school by singing and playing the guitar at local restaurants. Since then, Stewart has landed numerous feature-film roles, including Kounterfeit (with Hilary Swank), Someone to Die For, Motel Blue, An American Affair and the crime drama The Pawn. Stewart has also appeared on an array of TV series, although most viewers will probably recognize him from Sweating Bullets (a.k.a. Tropical Heat), in which he played the lead character, Nick Slaughter. Stewart wrote and directed several episodes of Sweating Bullets.

His small-screen work also includes Sweet Deception (with Kate Jackson), The Christmas List (with Mimi Rogers), Missing (with Vivica A. Fox), Highlander, Nash Bridges, The Collector, Jake 2.0 and SCI FI's original miniseries Five Days to Midnight (with Timothy Hutton and Randy Quaid).

Noah Danby isn't someone you'd want to face down in a dark alley, considering he studied Korean martial arts under the same master who taught Jackie Chan and Bruce Lee. There's also plenty of muscle behind his film credits, which include Against the Ropes (with Meg Ryan), The Tuxedo (with Jackie Chan and Jennifer Love Hewitt) and Exit Wounds (with Steven Seagal and Isaiah Washington). Danby's small-screen roles include turns on Queer as Folk, Smallville, Godiva's, Stargate SG-1, The Brady Bunch in the White House, Mutant X, Relic Hunter, Andromeda and Animorphs.

Stephen Lobo has built his career on the stage and screen. He won a Leo Award for his 2006 role as Ramir on the critically acclaimed Canadian series Godiva's. Lobo landed a series-regular role on the second season of Falcon Beach; he also has appeared on The Dead Zone and the U.K. Series Rosemary & Thyme. In feature films, Lobo can be seen in The Wedding Date, Love and Other Dilemmas and Kardia and Truth (with Stephanie Zimbalist and Dean Cain). His stage credits range from Les Liaisons Dangereuses to Jesus Hopped the A Train.

An accomplished dancer, Melanie Papalia has performed with the Salt Lake City Ballet and in several TV series. Her credits include Smallville, Killer Instinct, Godiva's, Supernatural, Blade and Saved. Papalia acted in the Leo Award-nominated short film Dark Room and has appeared in such feature films as Sweet Amerika and the upcoming Postal (with Dave Foley).

Canadian-born actor Sean Owen Roberts is no stranger to sci-fi. He has guest-starred on series such as Masters of Science Fiction, Stargate SG-1, The 4400, Dead Like Me and John Doe, and he had a recurring role on the series Intelligence. His feature-film credits include Vice (with Daryl Hannah), Alien Agent, When a Man Falls in the Forest (with Timothy Hutton and Sharon Stone) and Saving Silverman. Roberts also enjoys working behind the camera; he runs his own production company, Oneness Productions.

Formally trained at The Lee Strasberg Theater Institute, Nathaniel Deveaux has worked extensively on TV and in feature films. For the latter, his credits include The Butterfly Effect, The Core (with Hilary Swank), Along Came a Spider (with Morgan Freeman) and Children of the Dust (with Sidney Poitier). TV viewers will recognize him from his roles on Smallville, The Dead Zone, The Twilight Zone and DaVinci's Inquest, for which he earned a Leo Award for Best Supporting Performance in a Dramatic Series. For his role in Steven

Dir Matt Hastings

1 - 8 FRIENDLY FIRE

Awakening in a hospital Jane learns that she murdered Riley. Meanwhile, Maureen investigates a doctor researching Neuros.

Wr Gillian Horvath

Dir David Tennant

1 - 9 TRIAL BY FIRE

Connor is arrested for arson and murder while out hunting for a Neuro, which is believed to have started numerous house fires.

Wr Lawrence Hertzog

Dir J.B. Sugar

1 - 10 PORTRAITS OF LAUREN GRAY

A young woman suddenly ages overnight, Jane and Maureen go undercover to find the cause.

Wr Robert Gilmer

Dir Peter De Luise

1 - 11 GHOST IN THE MACHINE

Connor suffers a series of unfortunate events, believing it to be coincidental. However, he learns that members of his former police squad have died of strange causes.

Wr Gillian Horvath

Dir Brent-Karl Clackson

1 - 12 SOMETHING NASTY IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD

Jane and Connor go undercover in a small town, posed as a married couple, after a federal agent's disappearance prompts an investigation.

Wr Lawrence Hertzog

Dir Michael Robison

1 - 13 THE LEAGUE

An investigation is started after Neuros begin to die before the team can apprehend them.

Wr Jimmy Palmiotti

Dir Paul Ziller

1 - 14 THE AMAZING HOWIE

Howie is a magician who can miraculously perform the impossible, which prompts Riley to begin an investigation into possible Neuro activity.

Wr Lisa Klink

Dir Matt Hastings

1 - 15 THE HEALER

Sabotage hinders Jane's efforts to catch a Neuro, she becomes suspicious of a faith healer that she has been visiting.

Wr Charles Holland

Dir Michael Robison

1 - 16 THANKS FOR THE MEMORIES

Brian, Jane's boyfriend and Joe forget who Jane is. A Neuro contacts Jane, learning that he has the ability to remove memories and store them in his mind.

Wr Michael Robison

1 - 17 PLAYBACK

A Neuro causes the team to become stuck in a timeloop, causing them to relive the same day repeatedly. Meanwhile, the Neuro who caused the timeloop tries to finish an assassination.

Wr Frank Cardea, George Schenck

Dir Matt Hastings

1 - 18 JANE 113

Jane discovers the disturbing truth about her abilities while searching for a Neuro who escaped the team.

Wr Lawrence Hertzog

Dir Peter De Luise

1 - 19 WHAT LIES BENEATH

The team respond when several incarcerated Neuros revolt and launch a prison break.

Wr Mike Goldberg

Dir Matt Hastings

1 - 20 THE BEAST OF BOLNAR

The residents of a small village are plagued by an invisible presence which is attacking and murdering the villagers.

Wr Charles. D. Holland

Dir Farhad Mann

1 - 21 REFLECTIONS

At the NICO facility, Andre runs into Sarah, a Neuro but also a friend from his past. Jane and Connor become concerned about Andre's objectivity when it appears that Sarah has regained her power and become evil.

Wr Matthew Carpenter

Dir Matt Hastings

1 - 22 ENDGAME

Several dangerous Neuros launch a prison break after an emergency at NICO.

Wr Gil Grant

Dir Farhad Manne

PANDORA'S CLOCK

AKA: DOOMSDAY VIRUS - (UK NAME)

Quantum Airlines flight 66, a 747 bound from Frankfurt to New York, is a routine flight full of holiday travellers eager to get home for Christmas. However, the passengers and crew are suddenly pitched into a race against time when one of the passengers collapses. Seeking an emergency landing, Captain James Holland (Anderson) is shocked to find that no airport in Europe will allow him to touch down -- the sick passenger is the carrier of a virus so deadly that it can kill millions within days!

Fighting the clock, a depleting fuel supply, panicking passengers, and a rogue CIA terrorist operation intent on shooting Quantum 66 out of the sky, Holland is forced to take matters into his own hands. With the assistance of the flight crew, headed by lead flight attendant Barb Rollins (Jennifer Savidge, "Lois & Clark"); two able passengers, United States Ambassador Lee Lancaster (Guillaume) and his beautiful aide, Rachel Sherwood (Leeves); and a brilliant CIA virologist, Dr. Roni Sanders (Zuniga); Holland must weave through the potentially lethal maze of biological warfare, international terrorism, and political duplicity in order to ensure the safety of his 250 passengers.

Richard Dean Anderson also starred in STARGATE SG-1 and LEGEND. An airliner full of holiday travellers suddenly becomes a pawn in a game of international intrigue when a passenger collapses from an unknown virus in "Pandora's Clock," an NBC world premiere miniseries starring Richard Dean Anderson ("MacGyver"). Based on the best-selling novel by John J. Nance, the four-hour miniseries will premiere on NBC Sunday and Monday, November 10 and 11 (9-11 p.m. ET).

Jane Leeves (NBC's "Frasier"), Daphne Zuniga ("Melrose Place"), Robert Loggia ("Jagged Edge"), Stephen Root (NBC's "NewsRadio") and Robert Guillaume ("Benson") also star in the airborne thriller, directed by Eric Laneuville (NBC's "ER," "If Someone Had Known") and written by David Israel ("Midnight Caller," "The Untouchables").

The executive producers of "Pandora's Clock" are David Ginsburg ("Citizen X") and David Israel. Co-executive producers are Cynthia & David Comsky. "Pandora's Clock" is a Citadel Entertainment production in association with The Comsky Group for NBC Entertainment.

Richard Dean Anderson stars as Captain James Holland, a 38-year-old former fighter pilot, now serving as a 747 captain for Quantum Airlines. Although a former military man, Holland is a maverick who recognises the limitations of going by the book.

Anderson, probably best known for his title role in the long-running series "MacGyver," is a native of Minneapolis. After studying drama at St. Cloud (Minn.) State College and Ohio University, Anderson moved to Los Angeles, where, as a struggling actor, he supported himself a mime, juggler and jester/singer in a Renaissance fair. His big break came in 1976, when he was cast as Dr. Jeff Webber on the daytime drama "General Hospital," a role he played for five years.

He subsequently starred in the series "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" and "Emerald Point, N.A.S." Anderson made his TV movie debut in 1986 in "Ordinary Heroes," opposite Valerie Bertinelli. He has also starred in "Through the Eyes of a Killer" (opposite Marg Helgenberger) and two MacGyver films -- "MacGyver: Trail to Doomsday" and "MacGyver: Lost Treasure of Atlantis." He won critical acclaim for his portrayal of a wife beater in 1994's "Beyond Betrayal."

Anderson is an active supporter of the Make-A-Wish Foundation. He is also a supporter of the Multiple Sclerosis Society, Challenger Boys and Girls Club, and Special Olympics. In his free time Anderson is an avid skier, race car driver and hockey player. He is co-founder of the Celebrity All-Star Hockey Team, which raises funds for charity in conjunction with the National Hockey League, and has twice served as Honorary Captain of Team USA, the U.S. Olympic hockey team.

PARALLAX

Ben and Katherine find friends and allies in other parallel universes. There are billions of worlds, but the series only concentrates on the main five. The kids explore the worlds of the Parallax until they find a world that is a desolate ruin. It is then that they realise that there is a threat in the Parallax that is both dangerous and very close.

They discover that the information they need to save their worlds may be held in the Reading Room. The problem is that the Guardians can no longer gain access to the Reading Room. When their mother disappears, Ben and Katherine embark on a quest to find both her and the missing key to the Reading Room. It is a quest that leads them to the Mother of all Welkin, lots of purple bugs called Krellicks, a rather dangerous Aunt Betti and the Lost Guardian.

"New TV Series Launched In Western Australia, "The sci-fi comedy/adventure series "Parallax" , the first children's drama to be produced by Western Australia's new media company, Great Western Entertainment, was launched today by Hon Sheila M McHale MLA, Minister for Community Development; Women's Interests, Senior and Youth; Disability Services; Culture and the Arts.

"Parallax" is a quirky, fast-paced trip through the various parallel worlds that make up the Parallax and stars an exciting troupe of WA actors who ventured to locations ranging from the south coastal town of Denmark to the gardens and tree-top walkway of King's Park and beaches of Mullaloo; from the Valley of the Giants near Walpole to the famous Pinnacles of Nambung National Park.

"Parallax" brought together an international group of buyers and distributors in this $7.6 m production. Key partners involved in financing the production included the Nine Network, the BBC, ScreenWest, the Film Finance Corporation and the German distributor Telepool.

With an energetic combination of idiosyncratic characters, imaginative computer effects and lively humour, "Parallax" is well positioned to score well with kids and family audiences in Australia and overseas. The series will be launched internationally in just over two month's time at MIPCOM, the huge TV market held every October in Cannes, France.

The Board of Great Western Entertainment comprises Kevin Campbell and John Poynton. The company has been established with the intention of establishing Perth as a centre of excellence in the production of children's and family entertainment in various forms and media including, but not limited to, drama series such as "Parallax".

At the launch of "Parallax", Kevin Campbell announced that the company was currently finalising plans for its next production, the 13 part series "Streetsmartz" which is planned to enter production in September. The series has been commissioned by the Nine Network and is assisted by ScreenWest. " The production of 'Streetsmartz' both demonstrates GWE's commitment to productions that can employ WA personnel and resources to maximum effect and our intention to develop a production slate that offers virtually year-round employment to local actors, crew and writers," said Mr Campbell.

"Parallax" has been produced by Great Western Entertainment. The series was created and produced by Paul Barron and directed by WA directors Mark DeFrist, Steve Peddie and Andrew Lewis. The principal cast includes Joshua Marshall-Clarke as Ben, Gillian Alexy as the newly-discovered sister Katherine and Caroline Brazier who plays their mother (and Guardian of the Parallax) and her evil sister Betti. "Parallax" premieres on the Nine Network at 4 pm, Friday August 6.

Charector Details

Ben Johnson

Curiosity may have killed the cat but nothing stops Ben when he sees something of interest. Impetuous, boisterous, inconsistent, even mercurial are words that have appeared in earlier school reports. The boy needs to focus, says Veronica, his mother. Not that it would make any difference if he did acknowledge the similarity. Let him go as long as it's not dangerous, says Jeremy, his father, Jeremy is aware of his own penchant for flitting from one scheme to another.

Ben is a bundle of energy; an enthusiastic, if almost compulsive, investigator but not a very thorough one. When he was intrigued by a news report of a super nova he pulled 20 books out of the library, downloaded volumes of data and photos from the net, and read none of the information, much less ever did anything with it. By then he had moved on to the next exciting topic to catch his intellectual eye. The result is a clever (if largely unexercised) mind and a potential lateral thinker, but with a damn the torpedoes approach to life.

His room resembles the junk room of the British Museum: filled with relics of previous expeditions, some interesting, but most the equivalent of postcards from the Pyramids. He has a sense of chivalry that will make him take the rap for his best mate, and a heroic streak that makes him long for adventure a dragon or two to slay would be just the ticket, except that Ben would be so eager to get to work that he'd probably forget to take his sword and suit of armour.

In short, his is an outgoing personality that provokes a response. No one in Werrinup is neutral when it comes to talking about Ben Johnson. Ben has grown up believing that Jeremy is his natural father, but will later discover that it was Stefan, whose world Veronica fled when she was pregnant with Ben.

Actor - Josh Marshall Clarke

Being the product of creative parents (his father heads a leading Set Production Company and his mother is an artist and photographer) Josh Marshall-Clarke has been exposed to, and developed a love for good film and theatre, leading him into after-school speech and drama classes throughout his primary school years (scoring distinctions in all categories from the English Speaking Board examiners).

Josh has had theatre experience playing the lead in school plays; performing monologues and duologues for the North Fremantle Community Association end of year concerts; and performing solo and in group productions for the Perth Speech and Drama Festival annually. He was also required to take on several Master of Ceremony roles as a Student Councillor of Shenton College.

"Josh's natural enthusiasm and positive outlook help him strive to reach high standard in all his activities from sport and music to drama". Prior to working on Parallax, to play for the Fremantle Dockers Football club was his dream. However, that dream has been supplanted. Acting is my first love and dream to follow, says Josh.

Katherine Raddic

The class pedant.

Not, however, the teacher's pet. Katherine corrects too many of Mrs Short's statements for that to be the case. On one famous occasion Katherine noted errors in punctuation and a split infinitive in the teacher's remarks on her essay. She handed it back to Mrs Short with the corrections noted.

She is literal. She is logical. She excels at mathematics and all things that can be boxed, labelled or given a scientific name. She is the one you turn to for help with homework; the one who reminds you about upcoming assignments; the honest person who will stand up for you without fear or favour if anyone misquotes or misrepresents you. This is, of course, sometimes a handicap when a white lie might be the safer option.

In short she can sometimes be a thorough pain-in-the-rear-end. But she is also generous to a fault and totally one-eyed, loyal and fiercely protective when it comes to family.

She does not have many friends and it takes a while to earn her trust. Even then Katherine will often keep her own thoughts to herself until she is sure of her ground.

She has been brought up in Katherine's World by her father Stefan after her mother Veronica, who left the family when Katherine was 3-4 years old. Where she went and why neither Katherine nor Stefan know. She just left without any explanation or apparent (to them) reason. When she does encounter her mother again in a parallel world she is accusing and defensive. It takes a long time for these two to arrive at a point of mutual understanding and trust.

Actress - Gillian Alexy

Sing, dance, act, direct! Gillian would love to do it all, after graduating from John Curtin College of the Arts in 2000 from the specialist dance and theatre courses.

Gillian decided to improve her skills by travelling the globe and studying in places such as 'The Actors' Centre' in London; 'Le Centre de les Arts Vivants' and 'Peter Goss' dance studio in Paris, as well as 6 months of a theatre degree at the University of Colorado at Boulder in the U.S.A.

Acting credits include lead roles in the Barron children's television series The Gift (1997) and Fast Tracks (1998); 'Velvet' in Black Swan Theatre's Ghost Train. The first half of 2003 saw Gillian studying film at Murdoch University here in Perth as well as playing both the role of 'Stepdaughter' and 'Lead Actress' in BSX Be Active Theatre's Production of Pirandello's Six Characters Looking for an Author.

2004 had Gillian performing in the play Bed a Brendon Cowell script, with local director Matthew Lutton and his company ThinIce Productions, under the Black Swan umbrella.

Veronica Johnson

For reasons she has never revealed, Veronica moved to Ben's World from nobody-quite-knows where about 14 years ago when she was (just) pregnant with Ben. But she seems to fit right into the small country town.

She is on various committees, attends pottery classes and has been an active member of more School Fete Committees than Ben cares to remember. She is organised and methodical. The laundry gets done on Mondays and Thursdays. The restaurant opens for the evening session at 6:30pm on the dot.

To Ben, she is like the town itself always safe and predictable. Veronica loves Jeremy, but is well aware of his idiosyncrasies, and, unlike him, she appreciates how much hard work is involved in running a restaurant. Jeremy's mine host image has not yet been confronted with the 4am trip to the fish market, 50 km away.

Of course, no-one suspects that this roast-chicken-on-Wednesday, please-turn-your-T shirt inside- out-for-the-laundry, hard-working mother is also one of the last Guardians of the Parallax. All of this responsibility, not to mention the constant vigilance with which she has to protect Ben from his fate, is managed with good humour (most of the time).

Actress - Caroline Brazier

Caroline Brazier has been acting professionally since graduating from NIDA (National Institute of Dramatic Art) in 1998.

She has performed for and with the Bell Shakespeare Company, Sydney Theatre Company, Darlinghurst Theatre and Perth Theatre Company.

Her television appearances include Home & Away, Water Rats, Comedy Inc., Young Lions, Above the Law, 24/7, White Collar Blue, and the American tele-movie South Pacific.

Francis Short

In Ben's world his best mate is Francis Short a laid-back surfer. Francis has a laconic sense of humour and recognises that Ben, for all his charm and gung-ho energy, is sometimes a bit of danger to personal health. In episode 2 Ben points out how much they have gone through and rhetorically asks "How many bones have we broken together?". "Three," replies Francis deadpan, "all mine".

Francis's mother is unimpressed by her son's friend and reckons Ben is always getting Francis into trouble. Ben's dad, Jeremy, reckons Mrs Short has a dart-board with Ben's picture on it.

But it is not fear of trouble that stops Francis from going through the portal and exploring the Parallax with Ben. Francis is quite happy with things as they are, thankyou, and does not feel the need to visit other worlds - especially when Ben's ninja-stave-waving-Guardian-mother Veronica says that it is not a good idea.

And frankly, Francis also doesn't like the idea of meeting himself in the Parallax. The only problem is that one of his doubles, the Francis from Hippie World (called Francis Thief in the synopses), thinks the Parallax is terrific and that Ben's World, in particular, is a land of plenty where he can 'liberate' everything from petrol to MP3 players and take it back to his world for use or sale. This Francis is a wheeler-dealer: shrewd, streetwise, mischievous and self-sufficient. He has learned to move through Ben and Katherine's Worlds collecting useful goods like a magpie.

Francis from Hippie World is delighted when Melinda discovers the tip in Techno World (episode 5) where they toss gear away because there's a new colour this week or because they can't be bothered changing the batteries. It's like a huge supermarket. Except that it's free. And it isn't even stealing because they throw the "great stuff" away and he picks it up from a huge tip outside town. In a trip to Techno World (episode 6) Francis Thief discovers the way to the local version of Werrinup and there meets a babe called Una and their version of Martin who is her jealous wannabe boyfriend. Now Francis Thief has one more reason to go visiting.

Ben's mate Francis and Francis Thief find that they have some things in common in episode 4 and eventually form a "Franciscam" network involving their Francis doubles in other worlds to help Ben and Katherine in their fight against Betti later in the series.

Actor - David Richardson

David Richardson has always had a passion for all forms of theatre. At ten he took dancing classes in Hip Hop, Body Movement and other forms of dance. David began his acting career at the age of fourteen in his first year of High School.

Joining many after-school drama groups, David extended his knowledge of his craft by taking classes in stage fighting, invisible theatre, theatrical make-up, lighting, costume and sound. He also took classes in acting for film.

David has performed in street theatre, clowning gigs and on stage in Eat the Cake Cha-Cha-Cha at Nexus Theatre; and at Subiaco Festival 2003, Life in the Biodome at Subiaco Barking Gecko Theatre, Accidental Stowaway at Roleystone Community Theatre and The Wizard of Oz at Lesmurdie Senior High School where he compered for the Dance and Fashion Show

In 2003 David performed on film for the first time as an extra in the feature Thunderstruck, also appearing in short films.

This experience has culminated with David playing Francis in Great Western Entertainment's production of Parallax.

Melinda Bruce

In Ben's World, Melinda has applied her intelligence to being dux of the school, but also to making the best of her appearance, so she's great to look at and the idol of all the boys. A cheerleader with brains.

In Katherine's World, Melinda is a real farmer's daughter and Katherine's best friend. She's smart, down to earth, practical and resourceful she has to be. She knows that you take good care of what's yours, because if it breaks, it's going to take you a long time to scrape together the money to replace it. She can fix just about anything, from a hole in her gumboot to a hole in the tractor's radiator.

She has accepted the rules and regulations of her World, but when she sees the opportunities of Ben's World, it's a case of 'how are you going to keep her down on the farm after she's seen LA?' In Katherine's World she is not confident about her appearance, and longs for the looks and popularity (with boys) that the other Melinda has.

Actress - Francoise Sas

Francoise, 20, is a West Australian actress who comes from a very well known acting family. She has been an actress for more than ten years and has an impressive list of credits to her name. At the tender age of 10 years she took on a lead role in the children's television series Ship to Shore 2 which she reprised for the following series Ship to Shore Series 3. She has also appeared in the children's television series Wild Kat and a wide range of commercials.

She is also an accomplished voice-over artist. In 2001 Francoise played Leila in the well received feature film, Teesh and Trude.

Martin Dunkly

Martin is the kind of kid that parents love and kids hate. He appears conscientious, polite, well groomed. He is really a clever liar when the adult backs are turned. He willingly answers questions in class usually because he has copied someone else's homework. He's not a bully in the conventional sense.

But he's a manipulative user who is always on the look-out for the big break. Francis regards the Martins of every world as fair game. His future ambition is to enter federal politics under the banner of whatever party looks most likely to win government.

Actor - Kazimir Sas

Kazimir began acting at a young age, starting out in commercials and voice-overs. His film and television credits include a guest role on the Seven Network TV Series, Bush Patrol (1996); the lead role of "Henry" in Barron Films/ Nine Network TV Series The Gift (1997), supporting role of "Craig" in the feature film, Teesh and Trude (2001), supporting role of "Simon Watson" in the ABC/BBC Mini Series, The Shark Net (2002), and a guest appearance on Channel Seven's All Saints as "Kurt Simms" (2003).

Una/Fortuna

Una first appears in Episode 6 when Francis Thief finds that there is a town on the other side of the river from the rubbish tip. Una is cool, self-confident and prone to using terms that are very "contempo". Her younger sister, Due, sometimes has to translate for her. She lives for the moment and deals with wannabe boyfriends and krellicks in the same way - on her own terms.

When our story starts the Martin from Techno World regards Una as his girlfriend but he is soon ditched for Francis and Martin enters the category of "disgasto" in Una's jargon. When Francis replaces Martin he not only discovers that Una can be high maintenance but also that he has, yet again, made an enemy of a Martin. Una's full name is "Fortuna" and that is the name used by her doubles in other worlds. But as far as she is concerned she is Una, and this Techno World girl is the one and only Una.

Actress - Rebecca McCarthy

Rebecca's passion for musical theatre has been played out in lead roles in Pajama Game, Oklahoma, Guys & Dolls and in the Western Australian Symphony Orchestra production of Kids on Broadway.

Rebecca has undertaken numerous acting courses at the Victorian Academy, WAAPA and NIDA and she was Dux of Drama at Penrhos College in 2003. A keen dancer, choreographer and professional model (finalist in Dolly Cover Girl 2002) Rebecca has appeared in a number of print ads and magazine editorials. Rebecca returned from a modeling contract in Tokyo in February 2004 to take up a lead role in the children's television series Parallax.

Due

Una's younger sister who adores her, sticks to her like glue and avidly follows her every amorous move.

Actress - Genevieve McCarthy

Genevieve has an extensive background in theatre works, ranging from key roles in the Cameron Macintosh productions of Les Miserables and The Sound of Music to solo singing performances for President Bill Clinton and New York Mayor Rudolph Giuliani on their respective visits to Perth.

After two seasons with the West Australian Opera Company, and performing as 'Annie' in Annie: Kids on Broadway for the West Australian Symphony Orchestra. Genevieve has turned to television with appearances in several commercials and a lead role in the children's television series Parallax. With 100% dedication to the craft, Genevieve has a professionalism that belies her age.

Mundi

Mundi has as an abundance of stringy red hair, and deep-set eyes. Mundi is still very much in touch with her instincts and her senses. She is as intelligent as Katherine, but her thinking is not only processed by logic, but also by intuition. She senses danger long before she sees it. She reads the signs in the natural world around her, and she smells emotions such as fear in other people and animals. She has acute hearing.

Actress - Lauren Williams

Lauren attended John Curtin College of the Arts in 2002 and 2003. Whilst there she performed in Oliver!, Antigone and How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying. Her television credits include Pale Blue Panel Van for SBS and Fast Tracks for Barron Television. Lauren has received awards for Singing and Drama from the WA Academy of Dance and Drama.

Jeremy Johnson

Outgoing, gregarious, (JJ) Johnson acts, looks and sounds like he should have been in advertising. Which he was - for a while. JJ has actually been involved in a series of jobs, vocations and entrepreneurial activities. JJ has big dreams, but he lacks the killer instinct -or, rather, the stomach to climb over other people to make a lot of money.

At the ripe old age of 33 he decided to make the big break to the country so he'd have more time to indulge in his favourite thing - fishing. And in Werrinup he saw a challenge and a golden opportunity. Having bought a big old family house (which he promptly re-christened the Werrinup Country Inne) he expected to promote the town, encourage tourism and retire in five years.

That the local townsfolk might not wholeheartedly embrace this bold new vision is a concept that has eluded him.

That the cost, in time and money, might be longer/larger than planned came as a surprise. That the tourist industry is unpredictable and fickle (not to mention the fickle nature of some of the tourists) was not in his business plan. The result is that almost 15 years later he is still renovating, planning and dreaming. Nevertheless, his energy is unabated. With Jeremy, it's always heads-up time for the town leaders and the status quo.

A man of generous spirit, he met Veronica when she first arrived in Ben's World and offered to help and provided her with a place to stay. Later he fell in love with her and, when Ben was born, treated him as his own son. He has never asked the truth about Ben's real father or Veronica's past. He believes that Veronica should tell Ben the truth but respects her decision to tell him "at the right time"

Actor - Luke Hewitt

Culminating in a nomination for Best Actor in the 2003 IFAC Guild Awards, Luke has an extensive career in the local theatre scene. His work includes a diverse range of roles from new contemporary Western Australian World Premier Works such as the wildly successful Road Train by Hellie Turner (Make a Mile), touring internationally for the Cultura Englese Festival in Sao Paulo, Brazil in 2002 with David Williamson's Face To Face and the last nine years of Shakespeare in Kings Park.

Luke is also well know on Perth radio and television working in advertising, lending his voice to many television and radio ads. Relatively new to the screen in long form, Luke is far from a novice, having been involved in many short films and documentaries, television advertisements (seeing as well as hearing him) and has had guest roles on children's television series Ship To Shore and Bush Patrol..

2004 began well for Luke when he was cast as Jeremy Johnson (father of the lead character Ben) in Parallax, Following this he tours David Williamson's Face To Face for Perth Theatre Company in August/September 2004 and then travels to Sydney to perform One Day in 67 for Sydney Theare Company during Septmber/October 2004 and then back to Perth for another year in Kings Park in Shakespeare's Much Ado About Nothing.

Tiffany

If there is one constant in the Parallax, its Tiffany. Think of a ".teenage, blow-waved brunette version of Reese Witherspoon".

Actress - Paris Abbott

Paris started her entertainment career on the roller skating rink at age 7 and competed at national level until the age of 12, after winning the silver medal at the Australian National Championships. After prompting by her coach to study drama and screen acting, Paris was soon auditioning with great success for local short films and television commercials.

Her first major break was at age 13 when she landed the role of 'Jasmin' on the Barron Films children's television series, Wild Kat. Most recently she was cast as "Tiffany" in Parallax for Great Western Entertainment. But it doesn't stop there. Paris is also in great demand as a choreographer and has most recently returned to Perth from the Australian leg of the Justin Timberlake Concert Tour.

Stefan Raddic

Stefan, Katherine and Ben's natural father, was married to Veronica. When Veronica, pregnant with Ben, deserted father and daughter, Stefan had no choice but to accept a situation he had no way of understanding.

The circumstances might have made another man bitter, but Stefan sadly accepted fate, drew consolation in his art and has been a loving parent to Katherine. The roles however are often reversed, with practical, logical Katherine playing parent to the child-like artistic nature of her father.

Actor - Igor Sas

Igor Sas has worked extensively in Theatre, Radio Drama, Film, Television and Advertising, Australia wide. Major Theatre accomplishments include World Premieres of Stephen Sewell's The Blind Giant is Dancing and Dorothy Hewett's Golden Valley. Igor has worked with many directors and writers of considerable note including Neil Armfield, Jim Sharman, Nick Enright, Louis Nowra and Michael Gow. He has appeared in many works of film, most notably, Twelfth Night, Love in Limbo, Wind, Justice and Japanese Story. Igor has appeared at length on Australian television in Sons and Daughters, Sweat, Bush Patrol, Hay Daze, Clowning Around 1 & 2, The Gift and Ship to Shore 1, 2 & 3.

Worlds

There may be an infinite number of universes in the Parallax but the TV series concentrates on five specific worlds.

The story is set in and around the town of Werrinup and the rivers, hills and beaches are basically in the same place in each world. For example, there is always a bridge over the river and it serves as a "marker" - it is a common feature to all but one of the main worlds.

While the towns/worlds are in the same time/year and on the same continent, the history of each community (and general world events) can be different. Some of the changes are relatively small such as the location of a tree, the colour of a fence or a small variation on the town's historical characters. Similarly, some Werrinups are bigger than others and thus a key streetscape might have fewer/more buildings. Or the entire town might be radically different such as the treetop village in Forest world or the modern condo development along the river in Techno World

Ben's World

Ben's World of Werrinup looks much like the town of Denmark, Western Australia, and surrounding areas as they are today. People dress "normally" and our Werrinup includes a range of personalities and types from the tie-dye hippies to the established farmers, from the new holiday-weekend trendies to the shopkeepers on the main street.

Katherine's World

Katherine's World is similar to Ben's World but everything is more formal/organised. The conservatives are in the ascendancy. Characters wear a shirt and tie and the colour scheme is sombre, the style plain and sensible shoes are the norm for all. Hairstyles are neat and short and there are a lot of signs that make it clear that you cannot walk on the grass, that dogs must be on leashes, that there are lots of no parking zones etc. In Katherine's World the council workers are in uniform and actually working hard. Curtains, fences and features such as the external doors of Ben's/Katherine's home are in different styles/colours to Ben's World. Key buildings are added to the town such as the Courthouse and the flash new supermarket (as opposed to the 1950's vintage Co-op of Ben's World).

Hippie World

In so-called Hippie World, half the shops are boarded up. There is rubbish on the streets and most things are broken and the 'hippies' too indolent to be bothered fixing it. There is the feeling that the town is smaller and a long way off the mainstream of life than the other worlds. The supermarkets from the other worlds have been replaced by a small organic fruit and veggie shop and the school is 30 years old and has definitely seen better days. In this community almost everyone is laid back to the point of being asleep. The 'local' Francis is the obvious exception.

Techno World

In Techno World is where the capitalists / technocrats are alive and well and living in the townhouses and apartments that now line the concreted and pathwayed banks of the river. The design-for-living interiors, park benches and people are big on the silver/black look. The hairstyles are, well, "different". This is a much bigger Werrinup, in fact it is an upmarket suburb in a larger city with a population of over 1 million. The forest and agricultural industries have been replaced by electronics and computer processing in the New Economy. The bridge across the river is high tech and for pedestrians only. We reach Techno World in episode 5 and the characters of Una and Dué are introduced in episode 6.

Forest World

In this world people believe in applied technology. The result is a harmonious approach to the environment and a community built on towers above the forest floor so as to minimise human impact on the forest eco system. The people tend to live by their senses and instincts, and are more tuned to the natural rhythms of the world. Clothes are simple and practical. They have steel, aluminium, computers etc - but they choose to use and own less than other worlds. The village is located a bit away from the river along a well-used track through the hardwood forest and over a large bridge that arcs over the forest floor. Ben 'discovers' Forest World in episode 8 and he and Katherine take refuge here after the dramatic events of episode 13.

Series Produced by Paul D. Barron .. Producer.

Posie Graeme-Evans .. Executive producer, Theresa Plummer-Andrews .. Executive producer.

Series Film Editing by David C. Jones & Edward McQueen-Mason.

Series Casting by Annie Murtagh-Monks.

Series Art Direction by Anne Liedel.

Series Costume Design by Lisa Galea.

Series Makeup Department - K.T. Crocker .. Hair stylist / makeup artist, Tisa Inglis .. Makeup artist, Ashley Reynolds .. Hair stylist.

Series Production Management - Mark Balinski .. Unit manager , Bryan McQueen-Mason .. Post-production supervisor, Edward McQueen-Mason .. Post-production supervisor.

Series Second Unit Director or Assistant Director - Sean Barnacle .. Second assistant director, Edward McQueen-Mason .. Second unit director , Jemma Tyley .. Second assistant director, Clinton White .. First assistant director.

Series Art Department - Jasmine Danks .. Art department assistant (26 episodes, 2004)

Aleksia Barron .. Art department assistant, Dave Boardman .. Construction manager , John Boardman .. Carpenter , Adam Derums .. Model maker , Raquel Horwood .. Art department runner , Sue Italiano .. Art department coordinator, Philippe Signer .. Set dresser , Brian Weller .. Carpenter.

Series Sound Department - Georgina Hanley .. Boom operator (26 episodes, 2004)

Nigel Croydon .. Foley recordist, Grant Dawson .. Sound effects editor, Glen Dillon .. Sound recordist, Dan Giles .. Boom operator , Stefan Kluka .. Foley walker, Justin Lloyd .. Dialogue editor, Steve Witherow .. Sound mixer.

Series Visual Effects by Simon Clarke .. Animation director (26 episodes, 2004)

Anto Bond .. Senior visual effects artist: GuavaVFX , Mark Chataway .. Visual effects , Marty Pepper .. Flame artist: Oasis Post Australia.

Series Stunts - Peter West .. Stunt coordinator.

Series Camera and Electrical Department - Gavin Cole .. Best boy , Rusty Geller .. Camera operator / steadicam operator , Timothy Goodacre .. Camera attachment, Richard Kickbush .. Focus puller , Richard Malins .. Camera operator: second unit, Matthew McCabe .. Grip, Perry Sandow .. Gaffer , Ragnar Underwood .. Key grip , Clinton Williams .. Focus puller.

Series Casting Department - Elisa Ghisalberty .. Casting assistant.

Series Costume and Wardrobe Department - Celeste Franklin .. Stand-by costumer , Sarah Jameson .. Costume assistant , Josephine Webster .. Costume coordinator.

Series Editorial Department - Bryan McQueen-Mason .. Assistant editor & Jade Robinson .. On-line editor.

Series Other crew - Kate Dick .. Production runner , Vivienne Fallon .. Production accountant , Nat Hudson .. Production runner, Michael Joshua .. Script editor , David Lightfoot .. Production runner, Anne Masterton .. Assistant to producer , Holly Matusiak .. Production secretary , Reezzy Miller .. Post-production scripts, Annie Murtagh-Monks .. Acting coach, Chris O'Connell .. Continuity, Annie Parnell .. Production coordinator, Phil Rogerson .. Unit assistant, Justine Smith .. Script assistant, Michael Strelan .. Title designer, Renée Webster .. Location manager.

WR. Ron Elliott , Everett De Roche, Piers Hobson , Annie Beach , Annie Fox , Victor Gentile , Meg Mappin , Coral Drouyn , Ron Elliot.

DIR. Mark Defriest , Steve Peddie , Andrew Lewis

EPISODES: 26 YEAR MADE: 2004 COUNTRY: AUS SEASONS: 1

AUSTRALIAN CHILDREN'S TELEVISION FOUNDATION \ GREAT WEST ENTERTAINMENT \ JONATHAN M. SHIFF PRODUCTIONS

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: ALTERNATIVE WORLDS FORMAT: SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 25 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 26

DATE OF PREMIER: 06/08/2004 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 10/09/2004

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Betti CAROLINE BRAZIER, Katherine Raddic GILLIAN ALEXY, Mrs. Olive Dunkley NICOLA BARTLETT, Mrs. Irma Dawes FAITH CLAYTON, Mr. Short FRANK JOHNSON, Ben Johnson JOSH MARSHALL-CLARKE, Judge Blackburn BILL MCLUSKEY, Sergeant Rick Garcia GEOFF MIETHE, Julia Dreamboat JESSICA TURKINGTON, Spy Kid KRISTIAN BARRON, Mrs. Short VIVENNE GLANCE, Due GENEVIEVE MCCARTHY, Fortuna REBECCA MCCARTHY, Mr. Bruce RICHARD MELLICK, Francis Short DAVID RICHARDSON, Melinda Bruce FRANCOISE SAS, Stefan Raddic IGOR SAS, Tiffany PARIS ABBOTT, Jeremy Johnson LUKE HEWITT, Otto DAVID NGOOMBUJARRA, Mrs. Bruce JANET PETTIGREW, Martin Dunkley KEZMIR SAS, Mundi LAUREN WILLIAMS.

1 - 1 ONE BIG HAPPY FAMILY

14 year-old Ben Johnston is bright, quirky and impulsive. He is bored by life in the small coastal town of Werrinup where the only excitement is when his very organised, ironing-is-a-lost-art-form mother forgets to check his homework. But when he thinks he's on the trail of the Werrinup Thief he stumbles into a mystery as big as the Universe.

Ben thinks he has identified the culprit as his best buddy Francis and, in hot pursuit, he follows Francis through a storm drain. On the other side he finds himself in unfamiliar territory but is distracted by the pursuit of Francis. The Thief gives Ben the slip.

Ben is on the way home (he thinks) when he comes across a beautiful girl, a year or so older. As soon as they're close together, huge purple bugs swoop to attack them. The bugs are about 20 cm long with three-fanged snake heads dragon-fly wings and a mean attitude. But a woman stands waiting. With Ninja-like moves and a kind of laser-shooting wand she zaps the bugs and is gone. Ben is astonished when he recognises that the woman was his mother, Veronica.

Ben finds he's in another Werrinup, similar but different. In his confusion re Francis he does not notice the changes until he reaches his house where Ben finds his bedroom is occupied by the girl he's just seen, Katherine. The impulsive Ben and the sharp, logical Katherine are instantly at odds. And neither can explain why they live in versions of the same house nor why Katherine's long lost mother is Ben's mother, Veronica.

In fact while the two Werrinups look alike in many respects in this second Werrinup "Law and Order" is the message for the day. The streetscape is dominated by "No" signs (as in "No Fishing", "No Walking on the Grass" etc) and the local Mrs Dunkly, a hard-dealing shop owner in Ben's Werrinup, is a haughty, conniving real estate agent in Katherine's world. In short Katherine's Werrinup is a regimented place and Ben soon falls foul of the rules. He is about to be carted off to jail when Francis Thief sneaks him away. After his escape Katherine follows Ben into his world. Their appearance together triggers another purple bug attack and Veronica fends them off, identifying them as 'welkin'.

Ben and Katherine realise they live in parallel worlds and that Francis Thief, a doppelganger of Ben's friend, visits from yet a third world. But how and why is a mystery - and so is their mother. All Veronica will tell them is that thousands of worlds are being destroyed and that they mustn't risk being in the same one at the same time. His mother has some explaining to do but Ben sure isn't bored any more.

Wr Ron Elliott

Dir Mark De Friest

1 - 2 A RARE FIND

In Ben's World, Ben learns from Veronica that she's a Guardian - a defender of the worlds in the parallel universes that make up the Parallax. The bugs she fought off are called welkin and the 'wand' she used is her Stave. Jeremy, her partner and Ben's father, doesn't know any of this - and it must remain a secret from him.

In Katherine's World, Katherine has confided to her best friend Melinda that her mother Veronica is alive and living in another Werrinup. Ben, 'borrowing' his mother's Stave to fend off welkin, ventures again into Katherine's World but proves no master of the gadget when welkin again attack him & Katherine. But with timing and courage Ben defeats the welkin and the kids discover that they can be destroyed with water.

Ben stays behind while Katherine goes to Ben's World and demands to know why Veronica abandoned her as a child. Again Veronica ducks the question.

Meanwhile the Raddic home is under threat. Mrs Dunkly (who is a wannabe a real estate mogul in this world), and her aggressive son Martin are threatening Katherine's father, Stefan, with instant foreclosure and demolition. Ben remembers that a period drawing was found back in the house in his world.

While Ben helps Stefan hold the bulldozers at bay Melinda goes through the portal to Ben's World and brings back the picture just in time for Katherine to trade it off and save the house. But when he gets home Veronica is annoyed that he's ventured into Katherine's World again and - worse - that he's taken the Stave and lost it. Neither of them knows that Francis Thief has picked it up.

Wr Ron Elliott

Dir Mark De Friest

1 - 3 THE ARTFUL DODGET

'Francis Thief' dropping in on Ben's World, pays out on the local Martin for making fun of Ben. The intruder "borrows" Martin's clothes leaving him naked at the swimming pool. Ben must get the stuff back, especially a valuable MP3 player, or his friend, the local Francis, will get the blame.

Discovering, in the library of Katherine's World, a portal to the 'thief's' world, Ben follows him through and discovers a laid back "Hippie" Werrinup. BEN gets the MP3 back and together the two Francis work a scam, appearing to be in two places once. Martin is discredited: the Local Francis is off the hook.

But, scavenging in Katherine's World, 'Francis Thief' is spotted by that Martin and, fleeing, Francis loses the Stave. Martin, intrigued by the strange object, experiments and finds that it emits destructive blasts and fires missile balls which cause havoc in his mother's real estate office. Veronica secretly accompanies Katherine back to her world in search of the Stave. With Melinda's help and some fast talking they bargain it back from Martin.

Katherine has many more questions for Veronica. Her mother says she had to abandon Katherine and her father. She and Katherine are both Guardians, and, together, their blood/smell attracts the welkin. But Katherine is logical, pedantic AND determined. She cross-examines Veronica: wouldn't the same be true of Veronica and Ben? Why would Ben's world be any safer? Veronica is evasive: it's to do with Katherine and Ben's joint power as Guardians and, make no mistake, there's a war on. She dodges further questions, leaving Katherine unsatisfied and suspicious.

Wr Ron Elliott

Dir Mark De Friest

1 - 4 ACHEY, BREAKY HEART

Throughout the Parallax, people have love on their minds. Katherine is scheming to reunite Stefan and Veronica. In Ben's world, his best friend Francis is enamoured with Julia, an exchange student. At the same time, both Ben and Martin are vying for the attentions of the local Melinda.

Ben gets caught in the centre when Katherine visits. She suggests a challenge to Martin: if Ben can organise a 1950s rock'n'roll dance that rocks, Martin has to leave the local Melinda alone. If the dance is a flop, Ben has to stay away from her. Ben suddenly finds himself in charge of organising a huge dance for the coming Saturday night. His dad Jeremy offers to organise the band, and Veronica gives him a hand setting the hall up. But things move into dangerous territory when Ben realises that Katherine and Melinda are planning to attend. The girls suggest that everyone wear masks, to conceal their identities. Its part of Katherine's plan to convince Stefan to come to a secret dance: they will blindfold him so that he doesn't realise he's been led through a portal into the other Werrinup.

The big night has arrived, with a big problem: the band's vocalist, is AWOL. Francis Thief disappears and returns with the King of Rock'n'Roll, a familiar figure who isn't dead, but has been fishing in Hippie World for the last few years. With such a brilliant singer, the night really takes off and everyone is having a great time. Francis Thief gives his doppelganger a helping hand and the two boys take it in turns to dance with Julia, who can dance all night and is amazed to meet a guy who can "keep up".

Veronica recognises Stefan at the dance and dances with him without revealing her identity. However, emotion finally overcomes her, and she leaves, telling Katherine to take him home. Stefan is left touched and confused, wondering about the mysterious stranger who reminds him so much of his missing wife. Martin is having a ball dancing with the local Melinda, much to Ben's chagrin. Katherine's Melinda decides to intervene and makes sure that Martin says all the wrong things. The local Melinda and Ben finally share the dance he's been waiting for all night.

Wr Ron Elliott

Dir Mark De Friest

1 - 5 LOST IN PARADISE

In Katherine's world, Melinda is tired of rules, regulations and the lack of milkshakes. Katherine tells her not to go visiting other worlds, but Melinda defies her and heads to the portal to Ben's World. She is the first to notice a six-pointed symbol near the entrance to the drain. Once there, she is mistaken for the local Melinda by Martin and the local version of her father. Realising that she is in danger of getting caught out, she runs away when they stop at Mrs Dawes's farm. Hiding in the chook shed Melinda accidentally stumbles through a new portal.

Melinda finds herself in a rubbish dump, but unlike the dumps she's used to, this one is filled with near-new electronic gear. Furthermore, Mrs Dawes's missing chook, Florence, is there as well, happily pecking around. However, Melinda can't find the symbol here, and robotic bulldozers keep moving the rubbish around, making it impossible to find the spot she came from.

Worried about Melinda, Katherine enlists the help of Francis Thief and Ben to find her friend. After Ben also disappears Katherine and Francis realise that each world has two portals, like a front and back door, and that at least one of the doors is to be found close to each world's Mrs Dawes. They head to the chook shed, find the portal marked by the six-sided Parallax symbol, and go searching for Melinda.

They find Melinda and Ben, but the bulldozers keep shifting the rubbish, and none of them can work out where the portal is. To make matters worse, the Welkin arrive. They manage to fend them off, but Ben is bitten in the process. Some new creatures appear on the scene - large, scary, purple scorpion-like things. Luckily, Florence the Chook finds the portal, and the kids run through in time. But not before Francis Thief notices how much loot is lying around for the taking.

Wr Ron Elliott

Dir Mark De Friest

1 - 6 ONE MAN'S RUBBISH

Francis Thief is quite taken with the hi-tech rubbish dump, and has been taking from it too. He's been pilfering loads of loot, and is keeping it in Ben's world, to avoid having to "share" it in Hippie World. Ben is worried that Veronica is getting wise, and decides to hide the goods in Katherine's world. Unimpressed, Katherine sends it back, leading to much to-and-fro-ing. Katherine is preparing to take the goods back to Ben's world one more time when the local Martin appears, thrilled to have caught Katherine in possession of goods that are illegal in their town. Veronica appears and saves the day, claiming the goods as her own, and thereby legal as she is just a "tourist".

Francis Thief is exploring the rubbish dump when he sees the source of the rubbish - a spectacular, ultra-modern city full of people carrying the latest hi-tech gadgets. One in particular catches his eye: Una, a sassy girl with heaps of attitude who is constantly flanked by her cheeky little sister, Due. Unfortunately, Una's boyfriend is the local Martin. Una can't help being interested in Francis though, and they are hanging out together when a furious Martin arrives. He challenges Francis. Martin wins, but neither Francis nor Una could care less. Except for his clothes Francis looks exactly like Francis Short from her own world, but Una knows instinctively that he is stranger from somewhere else. A sinister Spy Kid is watching in the background, unnoticed by the other kids.

Veronica and Katherine go to the rubbish dump to return the loot. Katherine takes the blame for the unauthorised trips through the Parallax, covering for Francis Thief. Veronica doesn't believe her story, but Katherine won't come clean and forces Veronica to back off.

Wr Annie Fox

Dir Andrew Lewis

1 - 7 ARTES VERITAS

Katherine and Stefan are in trouble. The local Dunklys are out to repossess their home and, while Stefan is convinced that his upcoming art exhibition will solve their financial troubles, Katherine is worried. She is too proud to ask for Veronica or Ben for help, so Melinda secretly goes instead. Ben is happy to help and they form a plan, but on the way through the portal, he accidentally presses two points on the portal sign, and finds himself somewhere totally new: Forest World.

Forest World is an amazing place full of old-growth trees, round modern huts in the forest canopy, steel paths high above the ground and, unfortunately, heaps of giant purple scorpions called Krellicks. Ben is on the run from them when he is helped to safety by Mundi, a red-haired Forester girl. To get back to the portal without getting attacked by Krellicks, she helps him construct stilts. It's a good plan, but unfortunately the Krellicks snap at the stilts with their claws, and Ben is forced to take refuge in a tree. He works out that he can get back home by pressing the points on the portal in the reverse order that he pressed them before but, on the way to the portal, he is scratched by a Krellick. His instincts are correct, however, and he gets home.

Veronica comes to Stefan's art exhibition in disguise and passes herself off as a famous American art dealer, convincing the rest of the crowd that the paintings will become very valuable in the future. She buys a piece herself, and the paintings then sell so fast that the exhibition nearly becomes a riot. Katherine doesn't see Veronica at the exhibition, but realises she must have been there, and is torn between annoyance and gratitude.

Wr Victor Gentile

Dir Mark De Friest

1 - 8 THE BATTLE OF MUNDI'S WORLD

Ben's Krellick scratch means that he is bedridden for a week, and he's not happy about it. He was to be a major participant in the school's beach sports carnival.

Katherine visits to grudgingly thank Veronica for turning the art exhibition into a success, and is dismayed to see how sick Ben is. When Veronica announces that there is an antidote (boiled Krellick sting) but that she is too busy to get it, Katherine decides to get it herself.

Meanwhile, Francis Thief - now calling himself Francis Zapmeister - has also agreed to get Ben the antidote in exchange for the directions to Forest World. As part of his attempts to impress Una, he agrees to show her and Due the Parallax. They visit Katherine's world, where Melinda learns about Ben's illness. When Francis, Una and Due leave for Forest World, she follows to make sure they get the antidote.

Francis Zapmeister, Una, Due and Melinda meet Mundi, who tells them that Krellicks can be killed by squirting them with water. Thinking quickly, Francis gets some water pistols, and they take on the Krellicks on the forest floor. The battle is going well until the water runs out and the Krellicks bring in reinforcements.

Katherine arrives, having managed to cut off a Krellick's tail, but she is quickly surrounded by angry Krellicks. Francis runs back for more water. Luckily, Veronica arrives and uses the Stave to fight off the Krellicks, winning the battle. However, she isn't impressed to find Una, Due, Katherine and Melinda running through the Parallax - and she doesn't even know about Francis Zapmeister! She returns home to give Ben the antidote, who is fighting fit in no time.

Meanwhile, Francis has scored mega points with Una and Due, who are very excited about the adventures the Parallax has to offer.

Wr Piers Hobson

Dir Andrew Lewis

1 - 9 THE BIG SLEEP-OVER

Veronica sets Ben and Katherine individual quests as an initiation before they can begin training as Guardians. Ben is sent to Desert World, a lifeless place of sand and stone. He marks the portal from which he emerges with rocks, but in doing so, does not realise that the rocks were actually markers for the Parallax symbol. Strolling gung-ho through the landscape, he exhausts his rations and comes across an astonishing sight - a purple ocean. Tired and hungry, he realises he is lost in the middle of nowhere.

Katherine is sent to Forest World. Sceptical about the notion of a quest, she is surprised when she finds that there is little going on in Forest World except for a party at Mundi's hut. Katherine doesn't think much of the festivities, dismissing singing and dancing as useless activities of little practical value. However, Mundi eventually convinces her to dance, and Katherine realises there are other parts to life that bring pleasure and benefits in less measurable means.

Back in Katherine's world, Melinda has given herself a makeover and goes to Ben's world. However, the only boy who notices is the local Martin, who won't leave her alone, and Melinda spends an awful night trying to avoid him.

Ben, meanwhile, is lost, hot, hungry and angry at his mother for dumping him in this dead-end world. However, his survival instincts kick in. He eats the meat of a dead Krellick and uses the shadows of the pinnacles as markers to find his way back to the portal and out of Desert World.

At the drain portal in Ben's world, Katherine and Ben meet up and see a bedraggled Melinda heading home to Katherine's world. Ben and Katherine go to see Veronica, who explains that Ben's quest was to teach him to think problems through before acting and not to take things for granted, whereas Katherine's was to teach her to supplement logic and reason with emotions and instinct.

Wr Everett De Roche

Dir Andrew Lewis

1 - 10 THE MARTIN CRIMES

A storm is brewing in every world of the Parallax and it seems to bring out the worst in the Martins. In Ben's world, Martin pushes Ben into the surf, even though he knows Ben is terrified of water. Katherine's Martin dumps Stefan's paintings in the mud in another attempt to ruin the Raddic family. In Hippie World, Martin ruins Mrs Short's tie-dyed T-shirts when he steals the tarpaulin that was protecting them from the rain. And in Techno World, Due, who is terrified of storms, is cornered by a jealous Martin, who won't let her go home unless she tells him where Una is and then leaves her alone and frightened as the storm breaks over her.

Enough is enough. The kids are sick and tired of the Martins' bullying and they decide the time for revenge has come. Ben tries to entice his Francis to join in, but Francis isn't having any of it, telling Ben that he hates running into the self-proclaimed Francis Zapmeister. "It's like looking at myself in a mirror, only it talks back." Which gives Ben an idea...

The Martins are lured through the Parallax to Forest World. Ben offers to fight his Martin by the drain and sneakily leads him through the portal. Melinda sings and dances her way through the Parallax, with her Martin hot on her heels hoping to make a citizen's arrest. Francis Zapmeister throws a bucket of water over Hippie Martin, who is only too keen to chase after him. Una and Due, however, don't need to resort to anything of the kind. They simply walk through their portal, with Techno World's Martin jealously following them at what he thinks is a discreet distance.

Once they're through the portal, the Martins are enticed into Mundi's hut - together. The four Martins know nothing about the Parallax, and are completely terrified to find themselves facing themselves in quadruplicate. The kids let them out and take them home, telling them they'd been in a very strange hall of mirrors. With no other explanation available, the Martins reluctantly accept the story, but remain suspicious.

Wr Annie Fox

Dir Steve Peddie

1 - 11 THE WORLD ACCORDING TO BETTI

Techno World is buzzing with the news that the Tangerine Alpha Man, a DJ hologram, is playing at a gig. Una wants Francis Zapmeister to come. Due suggests that he dress in the local Francis's discarded clothes to blend in with the crowd.

The Tangerine Alpha Man isn't the only visitor to Techno World today. A mysterious woman dressed in black shows up in a luxury cruiser and is met by the Spy Boy. Spy Boy then hooks up with Francis Zapmeister. Spy Boy takes Francis to meet the mystery woman (Betti). Betti looks almost exactly like Veronica, but Francis, who has never met Veronica, doesn't realise this. Betti offers him a Gemini7 - a prototype video camera - and asks him to film his travels throughout the Parallax so that she can share in the excitement.

Ben has his own problems with his own Francis, the surfer. Francis's date from the dance in episode 4, Julia, is back in town, and Francis begs Ben to lure her to the beach so he can impress her with his skill on the waves. The sea, however, is flat as a proverbial pancake, and Ben is stuck stalling Julia until his friend can catch a wave.

Katherine isn't having the best day either. Veronica is waiting for her on the bush track to give her an heirloom necklace that belonged to Katherine's grandmother. Katherine refuses to accept the gift but Veronica leaves it there anyway. When Katherine comes to Ben's world to return the necklace she finds a beautiful pink album in Veronica's pottery shed. Looking inside she finds mementos and photos and Katherine realises her mother has been watching over her all along. She puts on the necklace, finds Veronica in the kitchen and mother and daughter finally hug each other.

Back in Techno World, Betti tells Francis that she thinks that by removing certain people from certain worlds, a process she calls "blandishing", the Parallax can be a better place. "The problem is the Aberrants," she says, referring to the 8.7% of the population who cause conflict and dissent. The rest of the population live longer, happier and wealthier when the Aberrants have been removed. Betti reveals that she can change the water so that Aberrants who drink the water simply turn into vapour and disappear.

Spooked, Francis Zapmeister returns to the outdoor café and orders a drink while he works out how to get out of his date with Una. He hides when he sees Techno World's Francis approaching, dressed identically to him. Then Betti arrives at the café. Mistaking the local Francis for the boy she talked to earlier, Betti apologises for her previous indiscretions and tells him to enjoy his drink. The local Francis obviously takes a sip, turns into purple water vapour and disappears. Betti, smiling, leaves as a horrified Francis Zapmeister realises "That was meant for me."

Wr Lynn Bayonas

Dir Andrew Lewis

1 - 12 THE CURSE OF THE INCREDIBLY BAD NEWS

Francis Zapmeister is in Ben's bedroom, telling him about Betti when Veronica enters. This Francis has never seen Veronica's face before, and he mistakes her for Betti. Terrified, he runs away. Veronica and Ben catch up with him by the drain. Ben explains that Veronica is his mother, and Veronica asks Francis where he last saw Betti. When he tells her it was in Techno World, Veronica is clearly shocked. Betti is so close. She tells the boys that Betti is her twin sister, and orders Francis to go back to his own world and stay there.

Veronica and Ben return to the Countrye Inne, where Veronica starts making rushed preparations to go into hiding. Ben doesn't want to go, and asks Jeremy to back him up. More bad news: Jeremy and Veronica admit that Stefan is actually Ben's biological father. Angry and hurt, Ben runs out. Veronica is left to explain to Jeremy that she is also Katherine's mother, that she and her children are Guardians of the Parallax and that her sister is hunting them down, trying to destroy them. Jeremy is upset and bewildered, but tells her he accepts that she and Ben have to leave. Ben goes to Katherine's world and breaks the news to Stefan about the Parallax, telling him that Veronica is alive but has been hiding for all these years, and that Stefan is Ben's real father.

In the mean time Francis Zapmeister has returned home to Hippie World and is busy turning his home into a fortress. However, you don't stand a girl like Una up without explaining yourself, and she tracks him down. Francis tells Una about Betti and how she blandished the other Francis. They find Due laughing with the Hippie World locals on the sand. Francis and Una watch, wondering just how much longer they'll be safe in the Parallax.

Veronica finds Katherine and takes her to Forest World, telling her that the Welkin and Krellicks are part of Betti's army. The Welkin identify Guardians by tasting their DNA when they bite, and that the Krellicks are sent to destroy Guardians wherever they are found. Katherine realises that Veronica must have just gotten pregnant with Ben when she left, as the combined presence of three Guardians was attracting the Welkins' - and Betti's - attention. They go to the hut that used to belong to the long departed Guardian of Forest World. Veronica explains that apparently the hut is a sanctuary for Guardians, as the Welkin and Krellicks can't sense Katherine, Ben or Veronica when they are there.

Veronica returns to Katherine's Werrinup to find Ben. She finds him near the rock crevice portal with Stefan and asks him to come, but he refuses to go with her. Welkin start coming, and Veronica can only fend them off for so long. In the end, she is forced to leave without Ben but pleads with him and Stefan to follow her to Forest World.

Wr Ron Elliott

Dir Mark De Friest

1 - 13 DECOY

Stefan convinces Ben that they should follow Veronica to Forest World. Ben finally agrees, and takes Stefan on a tour throughout the Parallax. Stefan is fascinated by the world-hopping, and is particularly taken with Forest World. They arrive at the Guardian's Hut, where everyone is relieved to see everyone else, except for Ben, who can't shake his frosty attitude to Veronica. She tries to explain her actions, but Ben refuses to listen. Even a reality check from Mundi doesn't change his attitude.

During the night, when everyone else is asleep, Veronica leaves the hut and goes to Techno World, where she allows herself to be bitten by a Welkin.

Meanwhile, Betti is hunting for the new Guardian, whose identity she doesn't know. She visits Hippy World, where she is spotted by Francis Zapmeister, who overcomes his fear of the Parallax to go and warn the others. Then she visits Katherine's World, where Melinda comes up with a clever cover story that sends Betti off in the wrong direction. In Ben's Werrinup, the local Francis goes to warn Jeremy that Betti will be coming. Betti does indeed arrive, and seems to believe Jeremy when he says Veronica has left him and that they have no children. As Betti is leaving, a swarm of Welkin appear, including one that is bright red, having bitten a Guardian.

In Forest World, Ben and Katherine are desperate to go and find their mother, but Stefan is adamant that it is too risky to leave the hut and that they must trust Veronica's judgement. Katherine manages to give him the slip, though, and meets up with Melinda, Jeremy and Ben's surfie friend Francis. When she hears about the red Welkin, Katherine realises that Veronica has set herself up as a decoy in Techno World. Ben has come to the same conclusion, and convinces Stefan to come to Techno World to find Veronica.

Ben and Stefan arrive in Techno World at the same time as Katherine, just in time to witness Betti leading Veronica towards her cruiser. Betti raises her Stave, which emits a blinding purple flash. By the time it clears, all that Katherine can see is Betti, alone, on her boat. Veronica has disappeared.

Wr Piers Hobson

Dir Steve Peddie

1 - 14 TOO MANY CHIEFS

Ben goes back to his own world and tells Jeremy about Veronica's disappearance. Jeremy encourages him not to give up and Ben leaves with fresh determination to solve the mystery. Unknown to him, however, he is being followed by the air headed local Tiffany, who stumbles through the portal after him and finds herself in Forest World. Ben returns to the Guardian's hut, where Katherine and Mundi have been studying the Stave. Ben thinks they are wasting their time and leaves, but the girls' perseverance pays off when Katherine succeeds in zapping a pesky Welkin.

Ben visits Hippy World to ask Francis to help him find Veronica. Still scared of Betti, Francis refuses to go world-hopping, but does tip Ben off about Spy Boy, who he says is Betti's henchman. Techno World's Una has also come to see Francis, and comes up with a way he can make himself useful without leaving his own world. They buy some Gemini7 units in Techno World and have them modified so that they operate on a network, nicknamed Franciscam. The Gemini7s are distributed to Francis Zapmeister, the Francis in Ben's world, the Francis in Forest World and Una, with everyone instructed to keep an eye out for Betti and use the Franciscam network to keep everyone updated.

Ben goes to Techno World to find Spy Boy. With some help from Due, Ben finds and follows Spy Boy. Spy Boy has plans of his own: he leads Ben into the rubbish dump and traps him in an abandoned limousine. Ben realises he is in serious trouble when he sees robot bulldozers advancing on the car.

Thanks to the Franciscam, Katherine finds out about Ben's travels. She arrives just in time to use the Stave to deactivate the limousine's locking mechanism. Ben escapes from the car just seconds before it is crushed. Katherine uses the Stave to obliterate some prowling Welkin and they escape back to Forest World.

Back at the Guardian's Hut, Katherine and Ben agree to work together in future. However, they receive another nasty surprise when the Tiffany from Ben's world pokes her head in and tells everyone that if they don't let her join the "club", she'll tell everyone in the world about the secret forest through the drain!

Wr Everett De Roche

Dir Steve Peddie

1 - 15 EX-BEN

The Tiffany from Ben's world has stumbled into Forest World, and the kids have to come up with a cover story. Katherine's idea of a cover story is to tell Tiffany the truth. Tiffany, of course, thinks that the idea of parallel universes is total nonsense, so Ben tells her that the forest is a secret laboratory for scientists looking for dinosaur bones, which Tiffany believes ("I saw a movie about that once!").

Betti is convinced that Veronica has a son - she knows it was a male Guardian that the welkin bit earlier. She disguises herself as Veronica and goes to Ben's world and at first fools Jeremy into thinking Veronica has returned. The local Francis, however, realises the deception, and Jeremy agrees to keep Betti distracted while Francis, Una and Katherine's Melinda hide any sign in the house that a young boy has lived in the house.

Meanwhile, Betti's boat is left empty in Techno World, and Katherine takes advantage of the opportunity to search it. She finds no sign on her mother, but accidentally drops her handkerchief. Due tells her that Betti is in Ben's world pretending to be Veronica, and Katherine, furious, goes to confront her. When she gets there, "Veronica's" eyes flash purple, exposing her as Betti. Betti, however, points out that without her to provide Veronica with food and water, Veronica will die. Katherine notices that Betti has her Stave with her, and realises they have no choice but to let her go. As Betti is leaving the house, the local Mrs Dawes shows up, helping perpetrate the lie that Veronica had no children but leaving everyone wondering just how much this batty lady knows.

In Forest World, Ben finds a hand-painted egg, which Mundi tells him is the work of the local Mrs Dawes. Ben realises that where there is Mrs Dawes, there is a portal, and Ben and Mundi spot the sign on an outcrop of rocks near Mrs Dawes's hut. When they go to have a look, and Ben notices mounds of odd-looking spherical eggs, which are quickly revealed to belong to some very angry mother Krellicks. Running away from the Krellick nest, Ben finds a Stave lying on the ground, which they believe must have belonged to the previous owner of the hut.

Wr Annie Beach

Dir Steve Peddie

1 - 16 DAD MEETS DAD

Ben decides group action is called for and proposes that Jeremy, Stefan and the Melinda from Katherine's world to come to the Guardian's Hut so that an action plan can be formed to take on Betti. However, when Jeremy and Stefan meet, the tension in the air is so thick you could cut it with a knife. Ben and Katherine fighting over who should be the leader doesn't help matters, especially with the dads taking sides. In the end, Stefan decides that as an adult, he is going to do something constructive, and Jeremy, not to be outdone, insists on accompanying him. They decide to go to Techno World, where Veronica was last sighted, and an exasperated Katherine sends Melinda to keep the bickering "children" under control.

Ben, Katherine and Mundi remain at the hut, experimenting with Ben's Stave. Ben tries a new combination of buttons, and suddenly they hear voices. The Stave can act as an intercom. They can hear Betti and Veronica talking! The kids are thrilled to have proof that Veronica is alive, and take note when Betti mentions that they are on an island. Veronica sees the red light glimmering on her sister's Stave, and realises the kids may be listening. She stages a conversation with Betti in which she says that her pots are the centre of her universe - a cryptic clue.

Una and Due from Techno World go to visit Francis Zapmeister in Hippie World. The visit doesn't go well, however, with Una catching Francis sharing an ice-cream with the local version of herself. Things get messy - literally - and Francis heads back to Techno World to apologise. However, Techno World's Martin sees him and advises Enforcement Officer Garcia that Francis Short has turned up. Garcia goes to arrest Francis Short for staging his own disappearance. Jeremy, Stefan and Melinda see what's happening, and the dads finally co-operate, backing Policeman Garcia into the river. Una does the same to Martin, to her satisfaction.

Wr Victor Gentile

Dir Mark DeFriest

1 - 17 THE KRELLICK WAR

In Ben's world, Katherine, Melinda and the dads are studying Veronica's pots. They believe the pots are a key to the mysteries of the Parallax, but are having trouble deciphering their meaning.

Betti realises someone has been using the Staves to eavesdrop on her. Suspecting that the elusive male Guardian may be listening, she stages a conversation with Veronica in which she announces her plans to send the Krellicks into Techno World. Ben and Mundi hear the threat and rush to rally the troops - and an idiosyncratic array of water pistols.

The whole gang arrives to battle the Krellicks - even Francis Zapmeister, who is dressed in drag to avoid raising suspicion. Ben appeals to the local Mr Short, who is in charge of the city infrastructures, for help, telling him he knows what happened to his son (the local Francis, who was blandished in episode 11).

The Krellicks march on Techno World. The townspeople flee in terror, and the gang are forced to retreat to the park. They are very exposed and very worried as the Krellicks arrive from all directions. When the Krellicks swarm on the lawn Mr Short turns on the park's water sprinklers, annihilating the Krellicks. The victory is short-lived, however, when a large flock of Welkin attack. The gang try to keep them at bay, but one manages to bite Ben and fly away.

Meanwhile, Betti and Spy Boy are at the reservoir, where Spy Boy empties a vial into the town's water supply. With a blast from her Stave, Betti turns the water purple. The now-red Welkin arrives, much to her delight, confirming with its change of colour that the Welkin has found the missing Guardian.

The gang are ready to go home when Katherine points out that if Betti could blandish a world by changing the water supply, then why bother with the Krellicks? Its a trap. Suddenly a giant black Welkin, large enough to swallow a person whole, shows up. Katherine realises the Welkin is here to have Ben for lunch, so she forces him to strip off his clothes and give her the Stave. She throws the whole lot into the Welkin's mouth, where is has the intended effect: the Welkin absorbs Ben's DNA, thinks it has eaten the Guardian and flies away.

Back at Betti's beach house, the Welkin regurgitates a few clothing remains and a Stave. Betti is convinced that the last male Guardian is dead. Veronica, however, is as horrified as her sister is delighted.

Wr Sue-Ellen Block

Dir Mark De Friest

1 - 18 THE RELUCTANT GUARDIAN

Ben and Katherine realise that the lost Guardian of Forest World must have been very powerful to have turned the hut into a sanctuary, and they decide to find him to see if he will help them find Veronica. They decide to find out what lies through the portal Ben saw in the Krellick nest.

Using the Stave, they fight their way through the Krellicks and venture into the portal. On the other side, they find themselves in a river, and see a man (Otto) fishing on the bank. He is reluctant to admit it, but they finally manage to convince him to admit that he is the lost Guardian of Forest World. Otto doesn't want to know about the Parallax, but Ben persuades him to help them. At the Krellick nest, Otto uses the Stave to send Krellicks flying, left, right and centre. Ben and Katherine can't help but be impressed.

Back home in his hut in Forest World Otto looks with odd satisfaction at his light fittings. Katherine, however, is more concerned with the Stave and eavesdropping on Betti. When she hears Betti taunting and threatening Veronica, Katherine loses control. She speaks into the Stave, announcing that she is Veronica's daughter and that she is coming for Betti. Otto and Ben are appalled, but Katherine points out that Betti will now keep Veronica alive as bait.

The trio head to Ben's world to see if Otto can help with the mystery of Veronica's pots. Stefan has sketched a schematic of how they are arranged, and when Otto sees it, he announces that it is a map of the Parallax which shows the way to the Reading Room. The Reading Room? Before he can elaborate, Martin shows up and Ben smuggles Otto upstairs where Otto sees Spy Boy watching him in the bushes. Ben leaves Otto for a moment and when he returns all that's left is Otto's Stave and a note. Their best hope for finding Veronica has vanished.

Wr Meg Mappin

Dir Mark De Friest

1 - 19 SEEK AND YOU SHALL FIND

Ben and Katherine form a plan. Since Betti is on the prowl for Katherine and thinks Ben is dead, Ben will go looking for Otto and Katherine will remain in the Guardian's hut and monitor the Stave. Francis Zapmeister also has a mission - to interrogate the various Mrs Daweses about the Reading Room.

In Techno World, things have changed. A town meeting is being held, led by Mrs Dunkly and Enforcement Officer Garcia, extolling the virtues of the new, more peaceful Werrinup. A few voices ask why so many citizens have disappeared, but nobody really cares to listen. Moving through the crowd at the meeting is Otto, who is being stalked by Spy Boy. Una spreads the word via the Franciscam and Ben arrives shortly after. He loses sight of Otto when the townspeople recognise him as the hero who conquered the Krellicks and drag him up on stage. Ben eventually manages to track Otto down, where Otto explains that he'd seen Spy Boy outside Ben's house and decided to lead him away' He came to the blandished Techno World figuring Betti wouldn't look for him here. Before Ben can ask about the Reading Room, Otto heads off, leaving Ben with a cryptic clue about where they can meet later.

Betti contacts Katherine, eager to get her niece onside. Betti outlines her plans for creating peaceful, harmonious worlds, and for a moment Katherine believes that Betti may have a logical plan and that her ideas may have some merit. Melinda quickly points out that Betti's ideas would lead to the death of individuality in the Parallax and Katherine denies she faltered. When Betti calls again Katherine demands to talk to Veronica. Katherine choosing her words carefully, manages to convey to her mother that Ben is alive and that they are working on the message in her pots. Fortunately, Betti doesn't realise what has been said.

Ben solves Otto's riddle, which leads him to the top floor of a skyscraper. The janitor of the skyscraper is the local Mrs Dawes, which suggests there is a portal close by. Ben meets up with Otto, but Spy Boy has followed him. They overcome him with the aid of a plate full of scrambled eggs and force him to surrender. To get this threat out of the way Otto announces that he'll be escorting him to a far corner of the Parallax. As they are leaving, Ben asks Otto about the Reading Room. At the same moment, Francis finds out the answer from Katherine's Mrs Dawes...

The Reading Room is the font of all knowledge to the Parallax since time began.

Wr Coral Drouyn

Dir Steve Peddie

1 - 20 SAND WITCH

Stefan and Jeremy, misinterpreting the hidden mysteries of Veronica's pots, believe they have the answer to the Reading Room and set off through the portal for Forest World. But they get it wrong and find themselves in Desert World. To make matters worse Tiffany has followed them.

The two dads split up to explore the bleak terrain. Stefan comes upon a luxurious tent, standing freakishly in the wilderness and occupied by Betti, who has left Veronica stranded on the island in favour of a bizarre solo vacation. Stefan is cagey with her but Tiffany, who's been tagging along, mistakes her for Veronica and blabs about Ben being her son.

Katherine and Ben, alerted to the dads' misguided expedition, follow them through to Desert World. Ben, finding Jeremy lost and despondent by the purple ocean, gives his adopted dad both advice and directions.

Betti, eager for more information, is holding Stefan and Tiffany when Katherine finds them. Seeing a Stave in her hand Betti recognises her as the young female Guardian - Veronica's daughter. As each have a Stave it is a stand-off until Tiffany throws sand in Betti's face, giving everyone time for a getaway. Katherine, Tiffany, Stefan and Jeremy make it through the portal. Betti arrives too late to stop them or discover which world they came from. But now she knows Katherine's name and Ben's identity and that Stefan is Katherine's father. Her net is closing in on the kids.

The Martin of Katherine's World, discovering the connecting portal, meets the Martin of Ben's World. Realising they're versions of the same person, these two schemers put one and one together and start guessing at the existence of the Parallax and how they could turn it to their advantage. When our team returns from Desert World the two Martins are waiting for them. Together. And they want answers.

Wr Everett De Roche

Dir Steve Peddie

1 - 21 MY FAVOURITE MARTIN

The two Martins, Ben's and Katherine's, confront our heroes with their discovery of different worlds. They want to know everything and be included in the gang from now on. When Katherine and Ben refuse the Martins put pressure on Tiffany, but she proves more a nuisance than a help. While the Martins try to rip off both their worlds Betti has been watching. She approaches Katherine's Martin - the greediest - and, having shown him the riches of Techno World, gets from him the information she most wants - where Katherine lives.

Ben and Katherine return to Forest World and take stock of the situation. They must find the Reading Room - the font of all knowledge of the Parallax, including surely the whereabouts of Veronica. But so far their mother's pots have failed to yield up any clues regarding its actual location. Suddenly Mundi, who's been quietly listening in the Guardian's Hut, prompts them to some lateral thinking. Veronica has been prisoner on an island, right? Which is why Betti whisked her away from Techno World on a boat. Yet both the portals in that world are on dry land. Therefore, Ben realises triumphantly, the island must be off the coast of Techno World itself. That narrows the field.

Locating the only island within range they sail there - a hair-raising trip for the water-dreading Ben. They find the island and the beach house deserted. But they do discover Veronica's wedding ring, proof that she's been there.

On the beach Ben gets a call from Betti on the Stave. Thinking she's talking to Katherine, her aunt demands a meeting immediately. Or else... And it is clear that Betti has not only found Katherine's World: she is standing in Katherine's bedroom.

Wr Ron Elliott

Dir Steve Peddie

1 - 22 CHEATS NEVER PROSPER

Betti demands a meeting with Katherine. Since her Guardian aunt still holds her mother prisoner, and since Betti has found her way to Katherine's own house where Stefan is in imminent danger, Katherine has no choice but to agree.

In Ben's World, after Francis saves Melinda in the surf a junior life-saving club is mooted to prevent more accidents. Francis and the local Martin are both nominated for president and a triathlon is held to decide the winning candidate. The Martin of Katherine's world suggests to his second self that, by doubling in the race, they'd beat Francis hands down. Francis Zapmeister, passing through, overhears the scam and suggests that he and the local Francis play the same game. But our local surf hero refuses to cheat and it looks as though the devious Martins will win the day - except that Tiffany, for all her silliness, doesn't like cheating either. She warns the Martins that, if they do, she'll blow wide open their secret knowledge of the Parallax.

Betti introduces her niece to Garden World, an immaculate parkscape where the residents are in a state of almost happy contentment. This, says Betti, is an example of a fully blandished world. Why even the local Martin is benignly playing the violin - for free! Part of Katherine has to admit that this is not the zombie-like or dictator-controlled society she had expected.

But she soon sees that it comes at a cost nonetheless. Guardians who disagree are 'removed' and even worlds destroyed as happened to Otto's World which is now the wastes of Desert World. Whoever is outside the norm in any world simply disappears. This can even include a Martin. For example the not-so-bad Martin who lives in Mundi's Forest World would go when the world is blandished. As much as the Martins are a pain, Katherine realises that a world without them is bland and that even a Martin deserves to live.

Betti urges Katherine to share her vision for the Parallax and join her. Katherine returns to the Guardian hut with twenty-four hours to think it over. She tells Ben there's no way she'd ever join her deluded aunt. But now Betti will come for her - it's only a matter of time.

Wr Meg Mappin

Dir Steve Peddie

1 - 23 MARTINMANIA

Katherine urges Ben to leave Forest World. She knows Betti will track her down sooner or later and figures that Ben is their best chance of finding Veronica. Not only is Betti focussed on finding Katherine but Betti also believes that Ben was eaten by the Mother Welkin and won't be looking for him.

Betti is indeed on the trail, and now she has lackeys. She has recruited the Martins from Ben's world, Katherine's world, Techno World and, most recently, Forest World to be her own personal pursuit team to find Katherine. All the Martins are keen to prove their loyalty, except for Forest World Martin who lies and says that he's never seen Katherine before. Since he rather likes Katherine, he doesn't want to give her away. Betti is suspicious, but loses interest momentarily when Techno World Martin says that Ben returned to his world after the Krellick battle. Betti realises that she's been fooled. She returns to Techno World with its Martin to confirm the story.

While Betti is gone, the other two Martins try to interrogate the Forest World Martin, who they're convinced knows more than he's letting on. Katherine's Martin, snooping through Betti's possessions, finds her Stave. Experimenting with its functions he manages to make a mess of Betti's luxury interior but he doesn't realise that he has also activated the intercom function and Ben and Katherine overhear him reveal that Betti has found out that Ben is alive.

When Betti arrives and sees the state of her house, Ben's Martin and Katherine's Martin place the blame on Forest World Martin. She sends them out to track down Ben and Katherine. Katherine's Martin convinces Forest World Martin to avoid upsetting Betti further by telling what he knows. Forest World Martin is so traumatised that he tells the truth. Katherine's Martin passes it onto Betti who is very pleased: she knows what to do.

In Forest World, Ben notices an unusual hexagonal mark on the rug, and Mundi is reminded that when Otto lived in the hut, a wooden pedestal stood there with a glass object on top. Remembering that the local Mrs Dawes is a great fan of Otto, they pay her a visit and find that she has the pedestal in her hut for "safekeeping". She mentions that Otto used it to hold his "Orb", and Ben manages to sweet-talk her into letting them borrow the pedestal. Back in the hut, they realise that one of Otto's lights, which has never worked, isn't a light at all. It fits exactly on the pedestal. When Ben and Katherine touch it, it starts to glow, and reveals to them the images of a different Werrinup, with just one inhabitant - Otto, running through the streets, clutching the Orb. They then see a purple firestorm obliterate the world, leaving nothing but sand and stone pinnacles. They realise that the Orb is a record of Otto's world, which Betti must have destroyed and turned into Desert World. They are interrupted, however, by Forest World Martin, who bursts in, admitting that he gave them away and urging them to leave. They take the Orb and run for it. Betti walks in moments later, and is most displeased to have been led on another wild goose chase.

Wr Annie Beach

Dir Mark De Friest

1 - 24 THE READING ROOM

Ben takes Katherine back to his world, telling her they can hide out in Francis' surf shed. They have Otto's Orb, which makes the shed a sanctuary. Experimenting with the Orb, they realise it only functions when both Ben and Katherine are touching it. This makes sense, since both Ben and Katherine have 50% Guardian blood, so combined they are the same as one full-strength Guardian. However, all they can get the Orb to do is replay the history of Otto's World. Katherine is sure there is more to the Orb than this. Meanwhile, Francis the Surfer is diving down at Madfish Rocks, when he sees something round and shiny underwater. Terrified, he surfaces and runs away.

Katherine's Melinda collects Stefan's sculpture, a 3D representation of the pots. Katherine is convinced that between the Orb and the pots they will work out how to get to the Reading Room. Bringing the sculpture to the surf shed, Melinda spots a hexagonal pattern. This triggers an idea in Katherine, who realises that the worlds of the Parallax may be linked like hexagons in a row, instead of just in a straight line. After all, the portal symbols have six points. They are interrupted by Surfer Francis, who starts to run away as soon as he sees the Orb. He tells them about what he experienced underwater at Madfish Rocks, and Ben and Katherine realise that there could be another Orb there. In order to investigate, both Ben and Katherine will have to touch it, and this means that Ben will have to dive underwater. Summoning all his courage, Ben dives underwater, hand in hand with Katherine.

Veronica is trapped in Betti's serene Garden World, inquiring after the local Mrs Dawes. Nobody seems to know anything about her, and Betti confirms this, telling Veronica that the old woman was made quite redundant in a world where portals are unnecessary.

Ben and Katherine find the sunken Orb, touch it, and are immediately transported to a black void. Towering above them is the huge ring of the Parallax and the lights of each of the worlds. But there are no books, no papers - nothing to read. Ben's Stave has turned gold and they discover that by pointing it at the coloured lights, the corresponding world appears in the symbol, showing images of its past and present. Katherine discovers how to control and 'read' the histories and presents of the worlds by viewing them. They realise that the Orbs both collect information and send it to the Reading Room while acting as a gateway portal that can only be activated by a 'full' Guardian.

Looking through the various worlds, they come across one marked by a mauve light. It is Betti's Garden World and in it they see Veronica. They have found their mother at last.

Ben and Katherine return to Melinda and Francis and start debating how to rescue Veronica. Francis points out that neither Ben nor Katherine can go as they would fall into Betti's trap. When he volunteers to go Ben is amazed - his best friend has never ventured through a portal. In fact, the idea of the Parallax has always freaked him out! But Francis is adamant. If Ben can face his fears, so can he. He'll go into the Parallax and bring back their mum.

Wr Everett De Roche

Dir Mark DeFriest

1 - 25 CLOWNIN' AROUND

Francis Surfer is preparing to go to Garden World to rescue Veronica. Ben and Katherine travel to the Reading Room to watch his progress as Melinda leads Francis through the Worlds to the skyscraper portal in Techno World. Francis goes through safely and emerges in Garden World. He starts searching for Veronica.

In the meantime Betti has tracked down the Martin from Katherine's World. He doesn't want anything more to do with Betti after her anger back in Forest World, but is too terrified of her to refuse. She takes him to Garden World and shows him the portals. One is near a metal grille doorway, the other is through the fork of a tree. Betti is convinced that Ben and Katherine will come through the portals looking for Veronica and intends to capture them. Betti assigns Martin the tree-fork portal and loans him a Stave, telling him to use it to contact her should Ben or Katherine arrive.

Francis finds Veronica but in the Reading Room Ben and Katherine see the danger. With Betti and Martin guarding the portals the kids try and work out how they can get into Garden World. Then their attention is caught by two clowns who are entertaining the picnickers. Katherine recognises the voice of one clown as Otto, their Guardian friend, and is puzzled why he is in Betti's favourite world. Ben presses a button on his Stave and some new lights appear on the Parallax symbol. He realises that there is not one line of worlds, but two - like the two strands of a double helix. And where they meet the worlds might not just a 'front door' and a 'back door', but also a 'side door' - a third portal!

They return to Ben's World and consult the local Mrs Dawes, who refers them to her brother, Henry Dawes, keeper of the Side Doors. Henry shows them the portal but warns them it's a one-way trip. When they find the clowns Otto explains he is hiding in Garden World because, since there are no aberrants left in this world, it's the last place Betti would expect to find him. Ben and Katherine also disguise themselves as clowns and track down Veronica and Francis.

They head for the tree-fork portal and separate Martin from his Stave, escaping through the portal. Before they go, Ben discovers that Otto's sidekick clown is Spy Boy, who is now siding with the heroes. They escape through the portal, leaving Martin to face Betti's wrath once again.

Back in Ben's world, Jeremy rushes out of the Countrye Inne to greet Veronica, and everyone is pleased to be reunited. However, the joy is short-lived when a purple fireball bursts down from the sky. The Countrye Inne explodes, debris flying everywhere. As the smoke clears, the heroes see Veronica lying unconscious on the ground.

Wr Piers Hobson

Dir Mark De Friest

1 - 26 IT AIN'T OVER

The unconscious Veronica is taken to the surf shed sanctuary to recover and Ben and Katherine head for the Reading Room intending to sort Betti out once and for all. They call up images of the various worlds searching for her and Ben notices a new one which they nickname Swamp World. Ben accidentally steps into the Parallax symbol and is transported to Swamp World. He finds the world's Orb nearby but can't activate it without Katherine. Appealing to her for help, she comes to Swamp World, and together they touch the Orb and return to the Reading Room. They now have "Ben and Katherine" doors - using the Orbs of the worlds to get to and from the Reading Room.

Betti makes contact on the Stave. Betti doesn't realise that Katherine is in the Reading Room and able to see her in her luxury tent in Desert World. Katherine agrees to be taken to a "secret destination" for a meeting. Katherine asks Ben to come up with a plan to save everything. They both know that the situation is critical.

Katherine is lead by Martin to Betti via a new portal - one that happens to be right in the corner of Betti's tent. Betti receives her niece and offers her proof that they are alike. She presents three glasses of purple liquid and says that if the three of them drink, and Betti and Katherine are alike, Martin will be blanded. If Betti and Martin are the average however, Katherine will disappear. And if they do not drink, they will die of thirst. Martin, terrified, runs from the tent. Katherine refuses to drink the liquid.

Watching all this, Ben realises that they can use Ottos's Orb to trick Betti - it is originally from this world. If they return the Orb to its world, they will be able to use it to escape. Ben returns to the surf shed and assembles the troops, telling them to bring brooms. Ben and Francis enter Desert World through the dune portal and scatter the rocks that formed the portal symbol and trick Betti away from the tent. While Betti is on the wild goose chase the gang move the tent and use the brooms to wipe away their footprints. When Betti returns she believes that she has trapped Ben and Katherine. But the kids find the Orb, hidden as planned under some cushions. They touch it, transporting themselves to the Reading Room. Betti furiously heads for her portal but is stunned when she simply runs into the corner of her tent! She realises the tent has been moved, and is angrier than ever before.

Katherine and Ben are triumphant, until they realise that Katherine's Martin is still trapped in Desert World. Katherine doesn't want him to be left there. They return and manage to get him safely through the dune portal. But as they're about to leave Ben discovers that he has lost his Stave. Betti appears, holding two Staves, Ben's and her own, and the young Guardians realise they are now officially in deep do-do.

Betti demands that the two siblings take her to the Reading Room, as she isn't a potent enough Guardian to get there on her own, or even with one of the two. Katherine agrees, and out some drinks. Betti forbids them to drink it but has a sip herself. And turns into purple vapour and disappears. Katherine explains to Ben that Betti didn't realise that Martin had left Desert World, and therefore didn't realise that out of Ben, Katherine and herself, she (Betti) was actually the aberrant.

The kids return to Ben's world, where Veronica has recovered. Otto and Veronica ask Ben and Katherine to take them to the Reading Room. Once there, Otto and Veronica experiment and Otto suggests that maybe the blandished people aren't really dead, but their DNA is just suspended in the chemistry of the Parallax. The Guardians discover that by using the Stave, they can restore the blandished people to their worlds. But Katherine raises a final point. If everyone who is blandished has come back...

In Desert World, a cloud of purple mist appears, forming a smiling, undefeated and all too familiar figure. Betti.

Wr Ron Elliott

Dir Mark De Friest

PATHFINDERS. . .(inc PATHFINDERS IN SPACE, PATHFINDERS TO MARS, PATHFINDERS TO VENUS)

Initially, the formula was much the same as Target Luna, with Prof. Wedgwood's daring young son Jimmy and his pet hamster Hamlet repeating their rocket ride to the Moon (though this time his brother, sister and dad made the trip, too, and they actually landed there). The later serials widened the field, introducing new characters, new destinations - and even new sets. Designer David Gillespie filled the Teddington studios with foam plastic to create a Martian landscape of lichen and quicksand; while on Pathfinders in Space, Canadian designer Tom Spaulding devised an alien spaceship made entirely of triangles - even down to the light fittings and seats.

Among the new faces were Gerald Flood as science reporter and all-round good guy Conway Henderson, Pamela Barney as Moon Buff Prof. Mary Meadows, George Coulouris as Harcourt Brown, a fanatic convinced that life exists on other worlds, and Graydon Gould (voice of Mike Mercury in Supercar) as American astronaut Capt. Wilson.

A generation of sci-fi fans cut their teeth on adventures such as this trilogy of children's space serials, packaged as part of ITV's Sunday 'Family Hour' in 1960-1. The three stories, Pathfinders in Space, Pathfinders to Mars and Pathfinders to Venus, continued the interplanetary adventures of the space family Wedgwood, launched in the spring of 1960 with TARGET LUNA.

All three sagas were scripted by Malcolm Hulke and Eric Paice with an eye to the possible, if not the probable . . . (Hulke later joined the ranks of the DOCTOR WHO writers, contributing several stories between 1967 and 1974, notably The War Games which first introduced the Time Lords and explained the Doctor's origins, and both men wrote regularly for The Avengers). (NB. These Pathfinders serials should not be confused with an ITV drama series of the Seventies, called Pathfinders, which was about the exploits of a wartime RAF bomber squadron.)

Target Luna was the first to appear in the spring of 1960, with the objective being a manned lunar orbital mission. After a complete cast change the other three serials appeared in the fall as part of the ITV family hour. Approximately a two month gap occurred between the end of one serial and the beginning of the next.

The producer for the series was Sydney Newman, the man who also helped start up the long running SF series DOCTOR WHO, the program advisor was Mary Field. All three episodes were written by Malcolm Hulke and Eric Paice, and the directors were Guy Verney (Season One, Two and Eps 1-5,7 of Season Three) and Reginald Collin (Eps. 6-8 of Season Three). The designers for the series were Tom Splaulding (Eps. 1.1, 1.3-1.7), David Gillespie (Eps. 1.1-1.2, Season Two and Eps. 1-8 of Season Three) and Douglas James (Eps. 3.6-3.8). The special effects for Pathfinders to Venus were created by Derek Freeborn.

WR. Malcolm Hulke, Eric Paice.

DIR. Guy Verney, Reginald Collin (Story 3 Eps. 6-8).

EPISODES: 21 YEAR MADE: 1960 COUNTRY: GB SEASONS: 1

ABC TELEVISION NETWORK PRODUCTIONS

CREATOR: MALCOLM HULKE & ERIC PAICE.

TYPE OF SHOW: SPACE

FORMAT: SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 7, (2) 6, (3) 8.

DATE OF PREMIER: 24/04/1960 AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 23/04/1961

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Professor Wedgwood PETER WILLIAMS (1) , Geoffrey Wedgwood STEWART GUIDOTTI, Conway Henderson GERALD FLOOD, Prof. Mary Meadows PAMELA BARNEY, John Field ASTOR SKLAIR, Harcourt Brown GEORGE COULOURIS (2-3) , Margaret Henderson HESTER CAMERON (2-3) , Ian Murray HUGH EVANS, Jimmy Wedgwood RICHARD DEAN (1) , Valarie Wedgwood GILLIAN FERGUNSON (1).

RELATED SHOWS:

DOCTOR WHO

TARGET LUNA

1 - 1 CONVOY TO THE MOON (start of PATHFINDERS IN SPACE) (PART 1 OF 7)

- 1 - 2 SPACESHIP FROM NOWHERE (PART 2 OF 7)
- 1 - 3 LUNA BRIDGEHEAD (PART 3 OF 7)
- 1 - 4 THE MAN IN THE MOON (PART 4 OF 7)
- 1 - 5 THE WORLD OF LOST TOYS (PART 5 OF 7)
- 1 - 6 DISASTER ON THE MOON (PART 6 OF 7)
- 1 - 7 RESCUE IN SPACE (PART 7 OF 7)
- 2 - 1 THE IMPOSTER (start of PATHFINDERS TO MARS) (PART 1 OF 6)
- 2 - 2 SABOTAGE IN SPACE (PART 2 OF 6)
- 2 - 3 THE HOSTAGE (PART3 OF 6)
- 2 - 4 LICHENS! (PART 4 OF 6)
- 2 - 5 ZERO HOUR ON THE RED PLANET (PART 5 OF 6)
- 2 - 6 FALLING INTO THE SUN (PART 6 OF 6)
- 3 - 1 SOS FOR VENUS (start of PATHFINDERS TO VENUS (PART 1 OF 8)
- 3 - 2 INTO THE POISON CLOUD (PART 2 OF 8)
- 3 - 3 THE LIVING PLANET (PART3 OF 8)
- 3 - 4 THE CREATURE (PART 4 OF 8)
- 3 - 5 THE VENUS PEOPLE (PART 5 OF 8)
- 3 - 6 THE CITY (PART 6 OF 8)
- 3 - 7 THE VALLEY OF THE MONSTERS (PART 7 OF 8)
- 3 - 8 PLANET OF FIRE (PART 8 OF 8)

finds himself in another dream.

Wr David Goyer

Dir Walter Hill

1 - 2 ANATOMY LESSON

The son of a small town coroner has a lust to kill, but a bearded man always interferes.

Wr Kevin Rock

Dir Gilbert Adler

1 - 3 BOXED IN

A pilot has spent two years in a eroding fighter plane with a 'Barbie doll' android mechanic. He has kept his promist to be faithful to his fiancée, Dulcine, the daughter of the Admiral, and he finds the Admrial has equipped her with an eletronic chastity belt.

Wr Chris Miller & Kevin Rock

Dir William Shatner

1 - 4 THE EXILE

A mad scientist who kills people in the course of his experiments, is arrested and tried. Rehabilitation fails and he is sentenced to be 'exiled'

Wr David J. Schow

Dir William Malone

1 - 5 GIVEN THE HEIR

A woman re-shapes her body to perfection and then participates in an experiment which sends her ten years into the past, where she keeps an assignation with a man who demands perfection, but evidently does not appreciate her.

Wr Mark Verheiden

Dir Ramon Menendez

1 - 6 PLANELY POSSIBLE

A grieving husand volunteers to be the subject of a experiment which will send him to another plane of existence in which his wife will still be alive.

Wr Peter Atkins

Dir Russell Mulcahy

1 - 7 PANIC

Based in part on the panic caused by the Mercury Theatre production of War of the Worlds, this story, which begins at a Halloween costume party, has several twists and turns before it is over.

Wr Andrew Kevin Walker

Dir Tobe Hooper

1 - 8 SNAP ENDING

The members of a mixed gender space crew find controlling their anxieties is they biggest problem when they are sent to study a new planet.

Wr Kevin Rock

Dir Sean Astin

1 - 9 ULTIMATE WEAPON

Creatures from outer space assume human form to carry out their mission of mating with a native Earth person.

Wr Gilbert Roler & Jeanette Lewis

Dir Dean Lopata

1 - 10 PEOPLE'S CHOICE

A suburban family gets caught between warring robots. When their Nanna is damaged every night, the repairman suggests they buy his new robot, a red, white and blue patriot.

Wr Scott Nimerfro

Dir Russell Mulcahy

PETER BENCHLEY'S AMAZONAKA: AMAZON

Six passengers survive a plane crash in the Amazon Rain Forest. Abandoned as lost by search parties, they come face to face with a tribe of Caucasians who were similarly lost nearly 400 years earlier. The series explores the hostile environment into which they are thrown into and their attempts to both escape and survive.

Produced by Peter Benchley (executive), Heather Conkie, Seaton McLean (executive), Jan Peter Meyboom, Peter Sussman(executive). Cinematography by Alwyn Kumst, Film Editing by Paul Aitken, production design by Harold Thrasher and Costume Design by Martha Mann.

I thought Amazon would be a cool survival show, but it turned out to be a little on the boring side. The continuing plotlines seem to be recycling themselves: crocodiles, warring natives, sadly missed attempts at rescue. I couldn't sympathize with any of the irritating characters except the boy, Will. I just kept wishing they would get rescued and get it over with. Amazon's just not a fun show to watch. They're obviously using the naked Italian lady as a ratings ploy, since nothing else about the show is very attractive to anyone. In my opinion, Amazon's sister show on UPN, Relic Hunter, is a lot more exciting.

The man who created Jaws, this Lost World style show could fill a gap in the market. Between it and SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE'S LOST WORLD, my money's on this one, especially as it has kicked off with a very reasonable 2.4 household rating,

WR.DIR. Jon Cassar, Luc Chalifour, Ron Oliver.EPISODES: 22 YEAR MADE: 1999 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

WIC ENTERTAINMENT, ALLICANCE COMMUNICATIONS CORPORATION, ALLIANCE ATLANTIS COMMUNICATIONS, CANWEST GLOBAL, CBS TELEVISION, BETAFILMD GMBH.

CREATOR:TYPE OF SHOW: LOST WORLDFORMAT: SERIESLENGTH (MINS): 60 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: EnglishSEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 22DATE OF PREMIER: 20/09/1999AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 20/05/2000SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:*FILMS:

Dr. Alex Kennedy C. THOMAS HOWELL, Karen Oldham CAROL ALT, Jimmy Stack CHRIS MARTIN, Pia Claire FABIANA UDENIO, Will Bauer TYLER HYNES, Andrew Talbott ROB STEWART.

1 - 1 FALLEN ANGELS (PILOT EPISODE)

When a plane on the way to Rio de Janeiro crashes in an isolated part of the Amazon jungle, the rescue team misses six survivors, who find themselves alone in a hopeless situation.

Wr Peter BenchleyDir Jon Cassar1 - 2 NIGHTFALL

The group finds another crash survivor who has experience in the jungle and may be able to lead them back to civilization.

Wr Malcolm MacRury, Paul AitkenDir Jon Cassar

1 - 3 SUFFER THE LITTLE CHILDREN

Going back to salvage items from the wreck, the survivors encounter a wild jungle man and then find they must hide from natives who are apparently trying to kill them.

Wr Malcolm MacRury

Dir Ron Oliver

1 - 4 EXODUS (AKA THE FIERCE ONES)

Karen, Jimmy, Pia and Will are captured by the Spider Tribe, with Kennedy and Talbott in pursuit.

Wr Paul Aitken

Dir Ron Oliver

1 - 5 THE CHOSEN

The English-speaking jungle man brings the exhausted survivors back to his home, the village of the Chosen.

Wr Heather Conkie

Dir Jon Cassar

1 - 6 THE END OF THE WORLD

Learning that the Chosen plan to sacrifice them to the Spider Tribe as a peace offering, Kennedy, Talbott and Jimmy attempt to escape.

Wr Heather Conkie, Malcolm MacRury

Dir Jon Cassar

1 - 7 THE LOST WORDS

The elders find Jimmy guilty in the death of a local fisherman, and throw him and his companions into a deadly pit.

Wr Paul Aitken

Dir Terry Ingram

1 - 8 RESURRECTION

Will learns that he will be next to undergo the Spider Tribe's strange rites of initiation into manhood. Meanwhile, in the Chosen village, Talbott's illness worsens and Prudence uses magic to heal him.

Wr Heather Conkie

Dir Holly Dale

1 - 9 THE BLOOD ANGEL

When all the villagers mysteriously disappear overnight, Karen and Talbott find them awaiting a sign from their deity about the Promised One.

Wr Malcolm MacRury

Dir Terry Ingram

1 - 10 WAR

As the Chosen prepare to go to war to rescue Will from the Spider Tribe, the Spider Headman sees a ghost foretelling Will's death.

Wr Paul Aitken

Dir Milan Cheylov

1 - 11 EYES ON THE DARK

As the Chosen Warriors return with Will, the Elders need to cope with a death in their ranks.

Wr Heather Conkie

Dir John Bell

1 - 12 THE FIRST STONE

As disease attacks the Spider people, Falconer John reluctantly leads Dr. Kennedy to their aid.

Wr Alison Lea Bingeman

Dir Luc Chalifour

1 - 13 THE DEVIL'S ARMY

When army ants attack their village, the Chosen must temporarily evacuate and learn to coexist in the jungle with the scatabouts and lepers.

Wr Rick Drew

Dir John Bell

1 - 14 THE FINDING

As the villagers have a communal wedding ceremony, Hekka plans an escape with the survivors.

Wr Heather Conkie

Dir Scott Summersgill

1 - 15 ESCAPE

When an elder learns of their escape plans, the survivors must swim down the River of Hell.

Wr Paul Aitken

Dir Clay Borris

1 - 16 HOME

Karen tries to swim to the boat and gets a shock from an electric eel. While the rest are trying to revive her, she dreams that they are rescued and when they return to save Pia and Will, Falconer John is killed. Later on they all return to their old lives and it is as though the whole incident never happened. She also dreams that she keeps on dreaming and seeing the chosen.

1 - 17 THE PALE HORSEMAN

After the survivors' escape, Elder Cole has a fit and collapses into a coma.

Wr Heather Conkie

Dir Gordon Langevin

1 - 18 THE WHITE WITCH

Just as the survivors think they are safe, they encounter the man-eating Jaguar Tribe and its white priestess.

Wr Paul Aitken

Dir Craig Pryce

1 - 19 CIRCLE OF FIRE

As the captives learn of the Jaguar priestess's evil plans, Pia delivers a baby and Will discovers a secret passage through the jungle.

Wr Heather Conkie

Dir T.W. Peacocke

1 - 20 BABEL

After the Jaguar Tribe massacre, Talbott rescues the Spider Tribe headman as the other survivors search for the plane that brought two geologists to the jungle.

Wr Malcolm MacRury

Dir Ross Clyde

1 - 21 WILD CHILD

As the wild child discovered by Pia brings chaos to the village, Dr. Kennedy finds the airplane that could take them out of the jungle.

Wr Paul Aitken

Dir David Straiton

1 - 22 A BIBLE AND A GUN

The remaining survivors fight over who gets to leave in a plane that can hold only two people.

Wr Malcolm MacRury

Dir Ross Clyde

PETER BENCHLEY'S THE BEAST

Fishing and jobs are becoming scarce in a small New England seaport community when tragedy strikes a young couple disappear into the sea and nothing is left but a large claw stuck in their raft. A marine expert identifies it as belonging to an extremely rare giant squid and the hunt is on.

The Beast was shown on Sky One on the 8th and 10th September 1996.

Produced by Peter Benchley (executive), Julie Cohen (co-executive), Michael R. Joyce (supervising), Judith Craig Marlin (associate), Tana Nugent, Dan Wigutow (executive), Original music by Don Davis, Cinematography by Geoff Burton, Film Editing by Tod Feuerman. Casting - Mary V. Buck & Susan Edelman. Production Design by Owen Paterson, Art Direction - Colin Gibson, Costume Design by Margot Wilson, Makeup Department - Cassie Hanlon (makeup artist), Production Management - Julia Ritchie (production manager), Assistant Director - Colin Fletcher (first assistant director), James McTeigue (second assistant director).

Sound Department - Norval D. Crutcher III (dialogue editor), Gary S. Gerlich (sound effects editor), William Hooper (sound effects editor), William Jacobs (sound effects editor), Elliott Koretz (sound effects editor), Richard Legrand Jr. (supervising sound editor), Bob McNabb (dialogue editor), Jon Michaels (Apprentice sound editor), Guntis Sics (sound recordist), Harry E. Snodgrass (sound designer), Walter Spencer (production sound editor), Robert J. Ulrich (adr editor).

Special Effects - Tad Pride (special effects supervisor), Gene Warren Jr. (visual effects supervisor), Stunts - Mike Cherrie (stunt co-ordinator), Other crew - David Fogg (motion control (uncredited)), Stan Jones (music editor), Peter McDougall (underwater camera operator), Ann Robinson (casting: Australia), Lea Worth (set dresser).

Emmy Award

Outstanding Individual Achievement in Sound Editing for a Miniseries or a Special - Nominated - "Beast, The" (1996) (mini) - Richard Legrand Jr. (supervising sound editor), Harry E. Snodgrass (sound effects editor), Norval D. Crutcher III (dialogue editor), Robert J. Ulrich (adr editor), William Hooper (sound effects editor), Bob McNabb (dialogue editor), Walter Spencer (dialogue editor), William Jacobs (sound effects editor), Gary S. Gerlich (sound effects editor), Elliott Koretz (sound effects editor), Stan Jones (music editor) - For part 2. (1996)

WR. Peter Benchley (novel), Craig D. Reid, J.B. White .

DIR. Jeff Bleckner

EPISODES: 2 YEAR MADE: 1996 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

AN MCA COMPANY, MICHAEL R. JOYCE PROD, DAN WIGUTON PROD.

CREATOR: PETER BENCHLEY

TYPE OF SHOW: ENVIRONMENTAL FORMAT: MINI-SERIES

LENGTH (MINS): 120 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 2

DATE OF PREMIER: AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Whip Dalton WILLIAM PETERSON, Lt. Kathryn Marcus KAREN SILLAS, Schuyler Graves CHARLES MARTIN SMITH, LARRY DRAKE, Dr. Herbert Talley RONALD GULTMAN, Osborne Manning DENNIS ARNDT, Dana Dalton MISSY CRIDER, Mike Newcombe STERLING MACER JR., Nell Newcombe ADRIENNE-JOI JOHNSON, Lucas Coven LARRY DRAKE, Christopher Lane MURRAY BARTLETT, Hadley LAURA VAZQUEZ, Ensign Raines ROBERT MAMMONE, Jameson DAVID WEBB, Commander Wallingford MARSHALL NAPIER, Spike LES HILL, Chowder ANDREW HILL, Scranton DAVID FIELD, Farmer LAURENCE COY, Bates DAVID ARGUE, Maeve HELEN O'CONNOR, Howard Griffin CHAD TYLER, Elizabeth Griffin ANGIE MILLIKEN, Les ALAN DAVID LEE, Corbin Jakes BRUCE ALEXANDER, Ebbets SCOTT MCRAE, Cosgrove MATT DAY, Lieutenant Henderson JUSTIN MONJO, John Esterbrook DAVID WHITNEY, The Doctor JOE PETRUZZI, Harry TYLER COPPIN, James KEN RADLEY, Newsreader FRANCINE BELL, Wallingford's Secretary KYRA STEMPEL, Reporter #1 RICK ADAM, Reporter #2 ANDREA CUNNINGHAM, Crew Member #1 ROBERT ECHOLS, Angie MARGIE MCCRAE.

PHANTOM DETECTIVEAKA: MABOROSHI TANTEI

WR.DIR.*EPISODES: 56 YEAR MADE: 1959 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1CREATOR:*TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHEROFORMAT: SERIESLENGTH (MINS): STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: JapaneseSEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 56DATE OF PREMIER:*AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE*SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:*FILMS:

PHANTOM EMPIRE, THE

Playing himself, as he henceforth would always do, Autry is the dude cowboy who runs a radio station from his ranch with himself as its singing star. A gang of crooks covet his radium mine and, while being pursued by Autry, they stumble upon the entrance to Murania, an underground civilisation far in advance of ours but driven by similar tensions which are exacerbated by exposure to mankind. Both the crooks and Autry and his helpers are captured by the Muranians and their slave robots and only escape when conflict breaks out between the Muranians themselves, after Oakman's High Chancellor seeks Christie's throne for himself, which leads to the destruction of Murania.

Clearly based on James Churchward's series of 'factual' books about the lost continent of Lemuria, or Mu as he called it, that began with The Lost Continent of Mu (1926), this bizarre concoction of Science Fiction and the western gave birth to that strangest of creatures, the singing cowboy in all his glory. Ken Maynard had originally been slated for the lead, but after his conduct during the making of Mystery Mountain (1934) he lost the role to the young Autry.

Reviews attacked the mixing of Science Fiction and the western (which was soon repeated in Ghost Patrol, (1936), Autry's wooden performance and a dramatic structure which had Autry forever rushing back to his radio ranch to sing his songs, but the public, and especially the rural public, lapped it up. The serial, which was far more influential in the development of the western than of Science Fiction, was edited down and re-issued as a feature in 1940 under the title of Men With Steel Faces. The producer for the serial was Nat Levine and the cinematographers were Ernest Miller and William Nobles.

WR. John Rathmell, Armand Schaefer.

DIR. Otto Brower, B. Reeves Eason.

EPISODES: 12 YEAR MADE: 1935 COUNTRY: US SEASONS: 1

MASCOT

CREATOR:

TYPE OF SHOW: MAN ON THE RUN

FORMAT: CINEMA SERIAL

LENGTH (MINS): STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: Yes COLOUR: No LANG: English

SEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 12

DATE OF PREMIER:

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

GENE AUTRY, WHELLER OAKMAN, FRANKIE DARRO, BETSY KING ROSS, WARNER RICHMOND, SMILEY BURNETTE, DOROTHY CHRISTIE.

PHANTOM STAR GOD JUSTIRISERS

AKA: GENSEISHIN JUSTIRISERS

The show's story begins four and a half centuries before modern time, as a space battle between the Riser Seijin and Kaiser Hades is taking place above feudal Japan. The conflict causes Kaiser Hades and Nolun to come crashing down to Earth, sealing Hades in the process. Nolun, knowing that the warlord could rise again, bestows several items to Earth for future warriors to use to battle Kaiser Hades' forces. Much later, in the year 2004, the Hades Army has landed on Earth in a bid to free their leader and crush the planet. The invasion awakens Nolun's gifts as the Justirisers are born from civilians Date Shouto, Sanada Yuka and Hiraga Shinya as the trio must face off against the alien invaders for the sake of Earth.

Genseishin Justirisers (Genseishin Jasutiraizā) translated as Phantom Star God Justirisers is a tokusatsu superhero TV series produced by Toho company Ltd. This series is the second in Toho's Seishin (Star God) series. Their motif is based on the four sacred animals.

Characters

Main Character Statistics

Shota Date/Riser Glen/Riser Shirogane

Color: Red/White

Motif: Phoenix/Dragon

Weapon: Glen Sword/Justi-Arms

Final Attack:

"Raging Flame" - Riser Glen reinsterts his Glen Sword into the scabbard, where an energy meter begins to glow. When fully charged, the handguard rotates. Glen then draws his sword and does a downward slash which creates a wave of fire that destroys the enemy.

"Justi Blazer" - Similar to "Raging Flame" except Riser Glen holds the sword in a reverse grip and when released, a burning blue crescent is shot from the sword setting the monster on fire. When he resheaths the sword, the monster explodes.

"Justi Push" - As Shirogane, the blades of the Justi-Arms shoots a barrage of energy waves at the monster, destroying them.

Genseijuu: Enoh/Ryuuto

Genseishin: KenRiser/JustiKaiser

Blood type: O

Birthday: August 17, 1987

Element: Fire

Astrological signs: Leo (Western) Rabbit (Chinese)

Hobbies: Motorcycles, kendo

Justipower: Courage

Yuka Sanada/Riser Kageri

Color: Blue

Motif: Tiger

Weapon: Kageri Striker

Final Attack: "Phantom Crush" - The Kageri striker opens out absorbing energy and then fires an energy arrow at the target.

Genseijuu: Ranga

Genseishin: NinRiser

Blood type: A

Birthday: February 3, 1988

Element: Air (Western) and Fire (Chinese)

Astrological signs: Aquarius (Western) Rabbit (Chinese)

Hobbies: Lacrosse
 Justipower: Virtue
 Shinya Hiraga/Riser Gant

Color: Black
 Motif: Tortoise
 Weapon: Gant Slugger
 Final Attack: "Versus Cannon" - When the Gant Slugger opens up, three small barrels appear. When charged, the weapon fires an energy bolt at the enemy.
 Genseijuu: Kouki
 Genseishin: JuuRiser
 Blood type: B
 Birthday: November 28, 1984
 Element: Fire (Western) and Wood (Chinese)
 Astrological signs: Sagittarius (Western) Rat (Chinese)
 Hobbies: Soccer, computer, robots
 Justipower: Wisdom

Character Descriptions

Shota Date/Riser Glen - Shouta is your typical uninspired high school student. He slacks off from both school work and kendou practice. He does not take most things as seriously as he should, and it does not really change throughout the series. Shouta is the first Justiriser to awaken on screen, and the first to summon Genseijuu Riseross. After becoming a Justiriser, he takes up the job of protecting humanity instantly, and begins to take his kendou practice more seriously although not his school work. Later in the series, Shouta also becomes the vessel for the power of Shirogane. As Shirogane, Shouta seems to be in control but does not act up like he does, even as Riser Glen.

Yuka Sanada/Riser Kageri - Yuka is a fairly popular girl in high school, and is an active member of the school's lacrosse team. Unlike Shota, who is set in his path of protecting humanity, Yuka is much more conflicted. She would rather go back to being a regular school girl, as her duties as Riser Kageri interfere more and more with her social life. But when confronted with danger, she does not hesitate to fight.

Shinya Hiraga/Riser Gant - Shinya is a collage student, who seems to be majoring in robotics. Shinya is much more serious than either Shota or Yuka, and although he uses his powers to fight, the fighting troubles him. He does not believe in just fighting to protect humanity, and questions why they were given the power, and what for. It takes much for anyone to become friends with him, and earning his trust is hard.

Jinno/Demon Knight - Jinno is one of Kaiser Hades' strongest warriors, and is the only of his warriors to show a human form. Jinno originally uses his human form to trick the Justirisers into thinking that he might be an ally. In his first couple of appearances, he was able to take on all three Justirisers by himself, but as they grew as warriors, he started to harbor a rivalry against Shouta/Riser Glen, after he is defeated in a one on one duel. It's revealed that he used to be a warrior of justice and his powers were similar to the Risers. He eventually turns on Kaiser Hades and joins the Risers. However, he usually travels alone despite Souta's efforts to have him join the team.

Justiriser Shirogane - the Legendary Hero of the Azure Planet, or in other words, Earth. If Justipower is the Earth's willpower, then Shirogane is the pure physical manifestation of that power. Because of this, his power is sealed away in the Justicrystal, and only by combining the hearts of the three Justirisers, and the prayers of the Justicrystal bearer, can he come into existence. His power is so far over that of a single Justiriser, that he can kill an alien that was giving all three Justirisers trouble, in one hit. His weapon the "Justi-Arms" can transform into three different modes, Sword, Blaster and Lance. Shouta/Riser Glen is the vessel for this power, although Shirogane seems to have some consciousness of his own. This is perhaps the reason why Shouta seems much more serious while acting as Shirogane. However, summoning and maintaining Shirogane takes a large toll on the Justicrystal bearer, and she is usually unconscious for some time after a battle in which he is summoned.

Mio Tendo - the Bearer of the Justicrystal who stays close to the Risers at all times. She is accompanied by Reika. When Souta becomes Riser Shirogane, not only does the crystal drain him, but it also drains her life force to the point of exhaustion. Although she is depicted as the damsel in distress, she is considered to be the groups mentor. In battle, she can hold her own as she is an excellent archer.

Reika Motomiya - She is Mio's "bodyguard" specializing in hand-to-hand combat. She is capable of fighting henchmen and monsters while the Risers fighting else where. She also arms herself with various kinds of batons, clubs, and trucheons.

Mecha

Genseijuu Riseross - a giant dragon/dinosaur type robot that looks suspiciously like a cross between MechaGodzilla and Gigan. Riseross can be summoned by any of the three Justirisers, but to use it's full power, all three Justirisers need to pilot it. Despite the fact it has many powerful weapons of it own, it is the base to which each of the specific Genseijuu combine with, to form a more powerful robot called a GenSeiShin.

Genseijuu Enoh - a giant red phoenix/firebird, which can only be summoned by Justiriser Glen. It can combine with Riseross to form GenSeiShin KenRiser.

Genseijuu Kouki - a giant black turtle, which can only be summoned by Justiriser Gant. It can combine with Riseross to form GenSeiShin JuuRiser.

Genseijuu Ranga - a giant blue tiger, which can only be summoned by Justiriser Kageri. It can combine with Riseross to form GenSeiShin NinRiser.

Genseijuu Ryuuto - A winged, two-headed dragon which looks suspiciously like King Ghidorah minus one head. It can be summoned by either Justiriser Shirogane or Demon Knight and combines with Genseijuu Riseross to form Genseishin JustiKaiser.

Genseishin KenRiser (Phantom Star God "Sword Riser") - The combined form of Genseijuu Enoh and Genseijuu Riseross, is primarily piloted by Justiriser Glen. Genseijuu Enoh forms a new upper torso and arms, over Genseijuu Riseross, making a more humanoid appearance. GenSeiShin KenRiser usually fights with 2 swords which are stored in its wings, but combines them for its finishing attack.

Genseishin JuuRiser (Phantom Star God "Gun/Beast Riser") - The combined form of Genseijuu Kouki and Genseijuu Riseross, is primarily piloted by Justiriser Gant. Genseijuu Kouki splits into two, while Riseross turns upside down. Genseijuu Kouki makes new legs, while Riseross's legs now become massive clawed arms. The second part of Kouki, the shell, sits on top, and Riseross's tail folds over the head, making for a very powerful looking beast. GenSeiShin JuuRiser uses long range attacks for its finishing move, but has been known to fight hand to hand with its powerful arms. It is also the slowest of the Genseishin.

Genseishin NinRiser (Phantom Star God "Ninja Riser") - The combined form of Genseijuu Ranga and Genseijuu Riseross, is primarily piloted by Justiriser Kageri. Like with Enoh, Genseijuu Ranga forms a new upper torso and arms over Riseross creating a humanoid appearance. This Genseishin is built for high speed battle and can fight both long and short range.

Genseishin JustiKaiser - The combined form of Genseijuu Riseross and Genseijuu Ryuuto, and is primarily piloted by Justiriser Shirogane. Like in JuuRiser, Riseross's legs become large clawed arms, and Ryuuto makes new legs.

Villains

Doctor Zora: A female alien scientist devoted to free the imprisoned Kaiser Hades from his prison. Doctor Zora is a bit fox-like in appearance and seems to be clad in copper-like armor. She is killed by NinRiser when she just freed Kaiser Hades. She is also able to create robotic henchman called Cyber-Knights, who filled the 'Monster of the week' position.

Kaiser Hades: When he was freed by Doctor Zora, he took over the position of the lead-villain. Kaiser Hades has a demonic appearance and fights with sword and shield. To fight the Justirisers, he called forth an elite group of warriors called the Dest-Commando, led by the feared General Bachuss. (They also filled the 'Monster of the week' position). Hades was killed by JustiKaiser when he tried to take the Risers on himself.

Majin Daruga: Hades' big brother. After he heard his little brother Hades was killed by the Justirisers, he planned to take vengeance by destroying the earth himself. He send forth the Rejandar forces, led by the vain General Adorocs, to distract the Risers from his arrival. When he arrived himself, he absorbed Demon Knight's true powers and turned into Riser Kurogane, the counterpart of Shirogane. He was killed when he fought a giant Riser Shirogane that was called forth by the combined powers of the 3 Justirisers, Mio, Reika and Jinno.

WR.DIR.*EPISODES: 51 YEAR MADE: 2004 COUNTRY: JAP SEASONS: 1*TOHO / TV TOKYOCREATOR:*TYPE OF SHOW: SUPERHEROFORMAT: SERIESLENGTH (MINS): 30 STILL IN PRODUCTION: No B/W: No COLOUR: Yes LANG: JapaneseSEASON BREAKDOWN: (1) 51

DATE OF PREMIER: 02/10/2004

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 24/09/2005

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Shota Date/Riser Glen, Yuka Sanada/Riser Kageri, Shinya Hiraga/Riser Gant, Jinno/Demon Knight, Justiriser Shirogane, Mio Tendo, Reika Motomiya

- 1 - 1 APPEARANCE! PHANTOM STAR BEAST RISERROSS
- 1 - 2 RISER GLEN, KENZAN!
- 1 - 3 THE SECOND SOLDIER KAGERI SANJOU!
- 1 - 4 ENEMY OR FRIEND!? THE THIRD MAN
- 1 - 5 THREE HEROES
- 1 - 6 KENZAN! PHANTOM STAR GOD KEN RISER
- 1 - 7 CRISIS! HADES REVIVAL PLAN
- 1 - 8 SORTIE! PHANTOM STAR GOD JU RISER
- 1 - 9 SECRET OF ORION
- 1 - 10 PENETRATING! BELIEVING HEARTS
- 1 - 11 YUKA, DESPERATE SITUATION!
- 1 - 12 ATTACK! TWO LARGE MONSTERS!
- 1 - 13 GENTAROU CRITICAL MOMENT!
- 1 - 14 SECRET PLAN! DECEIT THE ENEMY!
- 1 - 15 MIRACLE! JUSTIPOWER
- 1 - 16 HOWLING! PHANTOM STAR GOD NIN RISER
- 1 - 17 DEATH STRIKE COMMANDO ATTACK!
- 1 - 18 CERTAIN KILL SWORD!
- 1 - 19 STRENGTH TO LIVE
- 1 - 20 REMINISCENCE, THOSE THAT SHOULD BE PROTECTED
- 1 - 21 DARKNESS KNIGHT DEMON KNIGHT
- 1 - 22 FIERCE FIGHTING! STAND UP SHINYA
- 1 - 23 EVERYONE'S HEART, YUKA'S HEART
- 1 - 24 RISERROSS DESTRUCTION PLAN
- 1 - 25 PHANTOM HERO
- 1 - 26 HERO OF THE BLUE STAR, AGAIN
- 1 - 27 HERO RISER SHIROGANE!
- 1 - 28 THREE BIG BEASTS AGAINST PHANTOM STAR GOD
- 1 - 29 DECISIVE BATTLE! STAR GOD ISLAND
- 1 - 30 BACCHUS VS DEMON KNIGHT
- 1 - 31 TREMBLE WITH FEAR! EARTH DESTRUCTIVE PLAN
- 1 - 32 CLASH! HERO VS SOLDIER
- 1 - 33 ULTIMATE PHANTOM STAR GOD, DESCENDS

- 1 - 34 PRELUDE TO A NEW BATTLE
- 1 - 35 AWAKE! KNIGHT OF LEGEND
- 1 - 36 DEMON GOD DARUGA APPEARS
- 1 - 37 CAPTURED DEMON KNIGHT
- 1 - 38 TRAGEDY OF THE RISER STAR
- 1 - 39 NEW HERO
- 1 - 40 FLIGHT! BOY AND MIO
- 1 - 41 BEAT IT! DEMON BEAST ZARIGAN
- 1 - 42 SHOWDOWN! THREE BIG LEADERS
- 1 - 43 THE SUPREME HERO
- 1 - 44 JUSTIRISER ATTACK COMMAND!
- 1 - 45 ADOROCS' FINAL STRATEGY
- 1 - 46 UNKNOWN CHANGING POWER
- 1 - 47 STRONGEST DEMON GOD APPEARANCE!
- 1 - 48 INFILTRATION! DARUGA BASE!
- 1 - 49 RESURRECTION! PHANTOM STAR GOD
- 1 - 50 ATTACK ON EARTH BEGINS!
- 1 - 51 THE DREAM THAT BEGINS TOMORROW

PHIL OF THE FUTURE

Disney Channel's hit series, Phil of the Future, tells the story of the Diffy family, a futuristic family from the year 2121. When the eccentric dad, Lloyd, rents a time machine for their family vacation, everyone is excited.

But then something goes wrong. Their time machine malfunctions and they are thrown out of the space/time continuum in the year 2004. The time machine has broken, and Lloyd is having trouble fixing it, so he, his part-robotic wife Barbara, and his kids: fifteen-year-old Phil Diffy (Ricky Ullman) and his thirteen-year-old daughter Pim, the little menace of the family, are forced to live in the past and pretend to be a normal family in the suburban town of Pickford. The only person who knows their secret is Keely Teslow, Phil's best friend. Together they deal with the things that every teenager in 2004 must deal with: school, bullies, significant others, crushes, homework...and then add the Diffys' habit of getting into trouble by using their futuristic gadgets, such as the Wizrd, the Insta-Morph, Skyaks, the DNA Scramber, and much more.

Phil of the Future is an American comedy children's television series that was produced by 2121 Productions (a part of Brookwell McNamara Entertainment). Phil of the Future's working title was The Out of Timers. It debuted on June 18, 2004 on the Disney Channel and ended on August 19, 2006. It centers around the Diffys, a family from 2121 who get stuck in the 21st century during their trip through time. The series focuses on their attempt to fit in while trying to fix their time machine and return to the year 2121.

As of January 2007, the second season of "Phil" has been nominated for a Writer's Guild of America Award (Children's Series) for "Broadcast Blues," (written by David Steven Cohen) and a Directors' Guild of America Award (Children's Series) for "Not-So-Great-Great Grandpa," directed by Fred Savage.

The television series ended on August 19, 2006, though Phil of the Future is still frequently shown on the Disney Channel.

After producing terrible original films (Zenon, Cheetah Girls, Pixel Perfect, etc.) and sucky original series like: Lizzie McGuire, That's so Raven, etc., the people at Disney Channel thought to themselves, "Hey, I wonder if we can make a series even worse than the crap we've dished out before." Thus, Phil Of The Future was born. In summary, this show sucks and swallows at the same time. It is the perfect blend of terrible special effects, dry pathetic dialogue, lame boring plots, and just all around stupidity. I noticed that they speak modern 2004 English in the show, there is nothing futuristic about the way they speak, and they're supposed to be from the year 2121. In the end this show is bad enough to make Mickey Mouse weep!

It was okay. The plot doesn't really make sense and has been used many times before. It is a lot like the other shows on Disney with the friend trio and the phil/keely thing. Pim is absolutely annoying. There is some funny parts to it but about the only reason i watched it was bcuz of ricky ullman. The dad is really funny though. Hes stoopid and doesn't really get much. But the mom is boring. She isn't really in the show much and when she is she isn't really doing much other than scolding or telling them what to do. Keely is sorta annoying. If she didn't do the squealy girl thing and worry constantly about her looks as is typical for the Disney girls she would be okay bcuz she seems nice and not quite as obnoxious as some of the other girl characters on other shows. Ricky ullman is a really good actor but he should have done a show that is better than potf. He should have put his talent into something else.

Characters

Philip "Phil" Diffy (born 2104), played by Ricky Ullman: Phil Diffy is the main character in the series. He is a 9th (Season 1) / 10th (Season 2) grader at H.G. Wells Junior/Senior High. He seems to be the most "in tune" with how things work in this century. Phil frequently has to make up excuses to hide the fact that he is from the future. He is the best friend/boyfriend of Keely Teslow, for whom he develops romantic feelings in season 2.

Pim Diffy (born 2107), played by Amy Bruckner: Pim Diffy is Phil's younger sister. She is a 7th (Season 1) / 8th (Season 2) grader at H.G. Wells Junior/Senior High. Pim is a mischievous girl who is constantly up to no good. Pim is especially known for liking to pull pranks on people, mainly on Phil, Debbie Berwick and Vice Principal Hackett. Pim tries to make Phil miserable whenever she can. She hangs out with a young boy "Li'l Danny" Dawkins. She also tries to avoid Debbie Berwick and Candida. Repeatedly in the show, she looks for ways to dominate the world, and universe. Even though Pim often causes trouble for Phil, and has a tough attitude, she also cares about her brother but keeps it hidden most of the time.

Lloyd Diffy (born 2074), played by Craig Anton: Lloyd Diffy is Phil and Pim's goofy dad, who is working on repairing the time machine. He was an engineer in 2121, and loves "older music". He is paranoid about the government (and Vice Principal Hackett) figuring out he and his family are from the future. During the Diffys' stay, Lloyd and Curtis got jobs at the Mantis hardware store.

Barbara (née Speckle) Diffy (born 2074), played by Lise Simms: Barbara Diffy is Phil and Pim's mom. She is very interested in how things work in this century. Unlike other mothers, though, Barbara seems to let her kids figure things out on their own. She loves to cook the old fashion way, however, her food usually ends up with something being wrong, because in 2121 they spray food out of a can.

Keely Teslow (born 1989), played by Alyson Michalka: Keely Teslow is Phil's best friend/girlfriend. She is the only person who knows Phil and his family are from the future. Keely Teslow is an energetic and bubbly girl who aspires to be a reporter. She starts to harbor romantic feelings for Phil during season 2. She sometimes uses Phil's gadgets as a shortcut for schoolwork. She is notable on the show for her numerous hairstyles and colorful clothes. In the later episodes of the show, she hosts her own daily news program on the school's closed circuit broadcasting system. In the episode The Giggle, she gets to look ahead at her own future and learns that she does, in fact, become a successful news reporter.

Curtis the Caveman, played by J.P. Manoux: Curtis is a Caveman who stowed away in the Diffy's time machine when they went back to visit the Stone Age. The Diffys struggle to make Curtis seem like a normal person, and often pretend he is Phil's uncle. Throughout the episodes, he learns more English.

Vice Principal Neal Hackett, played by J.P. Manoux: Vice Principal Hackett is the Vice Principal at Phil, Keely and Pim's school, H.G. Wells Junior/Senior High School. He is often found snooping around the Diffys' house as he tries to figure out where they are really from, though he believes that they are aliens.

Plot

Season 1

Season one focuses around the Diffys' attempt to fit into society in 2004, and their attempts to repair their time machine and return to 2121 without anyone (especially Vice Principal Hackett) discovering they're not from this time. It also revolves around Phil and Pim attending school and making new friends without anyone uncovering the family secret. Most of the Diffys' futuristic gadgets are introduced in this season.

Season 2

The second season of Phil of the Future continued the scenario of the Diffy family being stranded in the past. Season 2 deals less with the futuristic gadgets and the Diffys trying to blend in, but more emphasis on Phil and Keely's friendship turning into something more.

The Season 1 characters Tia, Seth Wosmer, Debbie Berwick, and Bradley Benjamin Farmer, are no longer on the cast for Season 2. The second season adds new characters, who show up less than the characters from the first season. Including; Owen, Via, Lil' Danny Dawkins (Pim's new sidekick) and The Fashion Zombies who were led by Candida, played by Spencer Locke. There is also larger emphasis on J.P. Manoux's character, Vice-principal Neil Hackett, but less with his other character, Curtis the Caveman.

There are also notes that the Season 2 characters are based on Season 1 characters, such as Via and Tia who have a lot in common.

Series Finale

Spoiler warning: Plot and/or ending details follow.

Phil and Keely are voted "Cutest Couple" by the entire school. After talking it over Phil and Keely decide to start dating. Back at home, Pim discovers Lloyd has known how to fix the time machine for a while, yet he never fixed it because "everybody was happy here", Pim fixes the time machine and Lloyd takes it for a test drive. When he returns we find out that once they return home, they can never come back because of a law created called the "Thanks to the Diffys Law". Everybody sneaks downstairs that night to destroy the time machine so that Phil and Keely can stay together. They all used the "coconut excuse." Phil comes down and stops them saying he can't ask the others to sacrifice their lives for him. The family leaves the next day for the future just as Keely is running to say good bye. However, Phil convinces Lloyd to turn the time machine around so that he can say good-bye to Keely. They kiss while she's doing the school news and he then returns

DATE OF PREMIER: 18/06/2004

AIR DATE OF LAST EPISODE 19/08/2006

SEASON DATE BREAKDOWN:

FILMS:

Phil Diffy RICKY ULLMAN, Keely ALYSON MICHALKA, Pim Diffy AMY BRUCKNER, Lloyd Diffy CRAIG ANTON, Barbara Diffy LISE SIMMS, Debbie Berwick KAY PANABAKER, Mr. Hackett/Curtis J.P. Manoux, Chip Croston SHEDRACK ANDERSON III, Ms. Levy MASASA, Bradley Benjamin Farmer RORY THOST

1 - 1 YOUR CHEATIN' HEART

Phil finds out Keely's Crush with whom she's acting out Romeo and Juliet's balcony scene, is dating somebody. Phil tries to tell Keely, but she won't listen. Pim breaks up Bradley and Debbie, and Bradley ends up liking Pim.

1 - 2 UNIFICATION DAY

Phil's family decides to celebrate Unification Day, the time in the future when world peace began, but Phil and the crew get invited to an 11th grade party. Debbie helps Pim in home economics.

1 - 3 MEET THE CURTIS

The Diffy family finds that a caveman sneaked into their time machine, and Lloyd tries to get rid of him, but Phil wants to keep Curtis.

1 - 4 PHILLIN' IN

To get a booster card for his skyak, Phil has to watch Pim while their parents are gone for the weekend; Pim tries to sabotage the weekend. Loyd and Barbara have unknown mishaps on their road trip

1 - 5 TANNER

Phil gets sent back to the 2nd grade to improve his penmanship.

1 - 6 RAGING BULL

Phil uses his Wizard gadget to save a classmate; Pim pretends Curtis is her dad for a parent conference.

1 - 7 MY WAY

Phil tries to help Keely overcome her stage fright so she can perform in front of the school.

1 - 8 DADDY DEAREST

Lloyd plans to play American folk music at Phil's school assembly; Curtis visits the dentist with caveman molars.

1 - 9 PHEROMONALLY YOURS

Phil has to make a girl named Marla not like him.

1 - 10 FUTURE TUTOR

Phil and his family are stuck in the 21st century. Not knowing when they'll return to their homes, Pim and Phil go to school. Pim becomes her class's chalk monitor, while Phil tutors Keely in Algebra and teaches her to be accepting of people outside her clique; Pim runs against Debbie in an election for chalk monitor.

1 - 11 FUTURE JOCK

Phil uses a futuristic gadget to join the gymnastic team and competes in the gymnastics tournament to impress Keely; Pim tries to get Phil in trouble.

1 - 12 YOU SAY TOE-MATO

Pickford is having a barefoot tomato-squishing festival, but Phil doesn't want to go because he only has four toes. His dad makes him a prosthetic toe, which is lost in the tomatoes, then found by Keely. They have a discussion about being honest, and Phil tells her he's from the future.

1 - 13 DOGGIE DAYCARE

Phil and Keely takes care of dogs to earn money for the Festapalooza Concert; Pim pretends to be injured to make Debbie serve her.

1 - 14 WE'LL FIX IT IN EDITING

A school video project causes Phil to overlook his friends' feelings while Pim is a fast walker in a track meet. Phil apologizes in a video, and Pim uses Debbie's kiss as weapon to defeat her opponent. The reigning champion fast walker is afraid of girls.

1 - 15 HALLOWEEN

An evil Debbie Berwick terrorizes Pickford, leaving Keely, Phil, and Pim to save Halloween.

1 - 16 AGE BEFORE BEAUTY

Keely takes Phil's New-Ager and makes herself older (25 years old) to see what she'll look like, but Mr. Hackett asks her out. Mr. Hackett is feeling depressed about his dating problems, and Phil and Keely help him gain the confidence to impress his ex-girlfriend. Pim and Bradley brive a chef.

1 - 17 NEANDER-PHIL

A malfunctioning gadget switches Phil's and Curtis' personalities. Pim takes yoga in a class instructed by Debbie.

1 - 18 DOUBLE TROUBLE

Pim and Phil have problems with school bullies; Curtis adopts the neighbor's lawn ornaments. A bully's older brother wants to fight Phil, after Phil helps Pim stand up to the bully. Phil learns the older brother likes rabbits and gives him one, diffusing the situation.

1 - 19 MILKIN' IT

Lloyd thinks that Phil's science project will lead to their discovery, and decides they must move. To prevent this, Phil and Keely disguise themselves to fool the science fair security guard. Things are not going well, but Phil's dad shows up and saves the situation.

1 - 20 CORNER POCKET

Keely lies and tells her mom that she made the cheerleaing squad. Phil, Keely, and Tia stage a cheerleading event to continue the deception, but Keely ends up telling her mom the truth. Meanwhile, Pim discovers Debbie's single dislike, Raisins, and uses it against her.

1 - 21 TEAM DIFFY

Phil jeopardizes his family's chance to return to the future when he refuses to play pranks on the town mayor.

2 - 1 VERSA DAY

Lloyd forces Phil and Pim to switch bodies because of excessive arguments.

Wr Roger S.H. Schulman

Dir Matthew Diamond

2 - 2 VIRTU-DATE

A fun day with Keely in Phil's future-virtual mall turns sour when Keely forms a crush on a robot.

Wr Michael Curtis, Roger S.H. Schulman

Dir Fred Savage

2 - 3 THE GIGGLE

When Keely changes her future for the worse by looking at a future Internet machine, Phil and Keely must pass an impossible test given by a tough teacher.

Wr Bill Canterbury

Dir David Kendall

2 - 4 DINNER TIME

To thwart his suspicion, Phil invites Vice Principal Hackett to dinner at the Diffys' after Hackett moves in next door, but appearing to be a "normal family" is more difficult than it seems.

Wr Julie Sherman Wolfe

Dir Henry Chan

2 - 5 TIA, VIA, OR ME. UH

Phil meets the new girl, Via, and hooks her up with Keely to stop Keely from making him do girl stuff with him, but then Phil gets jealous.

Wr Ivan Menchell

Dir David Kendall

2 - 6 GET READY TO GO-GO

Phil and Keely are going together to the school dance, which excites them both... until Lloyd tells Phil that he has fixed the time machine and the Diffys are leaving on the day of the dance.

Wr Masha Tivyan, Sharon A. Wong

Dir Jace Alexander

2 - 7 PHIL WITHOUT A FUTURE

It's career week at H. G. Wells high school, but Phil can't find a career that suits him. Pim decides to pursue a career as "The Man".

Wr Masha Tivyan, Sharon A. Wong

Dir Savage Steve Holland

2 - 8 TIME RELEASE CAPSULE

H.G. Wells is about to bury a time capsule which Lloyd and Barbara will find in the future. Lloyd tells Phil to place a note in the capsule warning them not to travel into the past, but it means that Keely and Phil's memories of each other will be erased forever.

Wr Michael Curtis

2 - 9 MUMMY'S BOY

Phil replaces Curtis as field trip chaperone when Mr. Hackett is too ill to escort their class to the museum. Phil locates a part from the time machine during a class trip to the museum.

Wr Rich Rinaldi, Dan Fybel

Dir Fred Savage

2 - 10 MAYBE-SITTING

Phil and Keely have to baby-sit for their teacher's nephew.

Wr Ivan Menchell

Dir Fred Savage

2 - 11 GOOD PHIL HUNTING

When Phil solves one of Mr. Hackett's difficult math problems, Keely accidentally blurts out the answer and is upgraded to the advanced math class.

Wr Peter Tibbals, Eric Goldberg

Dir Andrew Tsao

2 - 12 PIM-CIPAL

Pim abuses her power when she becomes principal for the day.

Wr Tim Maile, Douglas Tuber

Dir David Kendall

2 - 13 PHIL OF THE GARAGE

Phil is growing tired of everyone going into his room without his permission. He wants privacy and he isn't getting that from his room. When Lloyd stores tools from the Time Machine in Phil's room that shouldn't be next to each other, it ends up blowing the floor out and Phil has to live somewhere else. He chooses the garage and shares it with Curtis. But when Curtis is sick of Phil he decides to fix Phil's room and live there instead.

Wr Roger S.H. Schulman

Dir Roger S.H. Schulman

2 - 14 IT'S A WONDER-PHIL LIFE

Phil makes a fool out of himself when he gets a question wrong in history and everyone laughs at him. It seems in the future they cloned Abraham Lincoln and Phil forgetting that he was in the present answered that Lincoln went down known as Stinkin Lincoln. Phil is angered by coming up with another excuse for why he said what he said. He feels like he is going to burst so he tells everyone his secret.

Wr Ivan Menchell

Dir Douglas Tuber

2 - 15 CHRISTMAS BREAK

When Christmas Eve rolls around, Phil tells the story of when his family first came to Pickford and how he met Keely. Lloyd also decides to tell the story of how they got the house.

Wr Julie Sherman Wolfe

Dir Fred Savage

2 - 16 STUCK IN THE MEDDLE WITH YOU

Keely tries to get together two people and it backfires on Phil. Pim becomes a "psychic" and fools Mr. Hackett.

Wr Ivan Menchell

Dir Fred Savage

2 - 17 BROADCAST BLUES

When no one watches Keely's investigative reports show Pim comes to the rescue by offering to help make her popular amongst her viewers again but Keely realizes that Pim is just abusing her to make money and goes back to making "real news" with Phil.

Wr David Steven Cohen

Dir Fred Savage

2 - 18 HAPPY NIRD-DAY

It's Keely's birthday and Phil wants to give her the best birthday she has ever had. Last year he had forgotten her birthday so he wanted to go all out with her present this year. Phil's plans for the perfect outing are crushed when Lloyd takes out all the batteries to the future gadgets because it will get him "one step closer to fixing the time machine". Meanwhile Pim meets a fellow prankster and even has a crush on him.

Wr Wayne Stamps

Dir Christopher Erskin

2 - 19 ILL OF THE FUTURE

The Diffy's catch a futuristic disease called greenemia which causes them to turn green and act completely opposite to how they usually act.

Wr Bill Canterbury

Dir Henry Chan

2 - 20 WHERE'S THE WIZARD?

Phil loses the wizard and to his surprise he finds that Mr. Hackett has it. Now Phil is on a mission to get the wizard back. Will Mr. Hackett find out Phil is from the future?

Wr Michelle Wendt, Kimberly Joy Kessler

Dir JP Manoux

2 - 21 NOT-SO-GREAT GREAT GREAT GRANDPA

Phil finds out that a kid from his school is actually his great-great-grandfather.

Wr Ivan Menchell

Dir Fred Savage

2 - 22 BACK TO THE FUTURE (NOT THE MOVIE)

Phil and Keely finally become a couple. Though Lloyd has all of a sudden fixed the time machine, now it's time for the Diffys to head back home. It's Keely's worst nightmare when she realizes Phil is leaving for real.

Wr Michael Curtis, Roger S.H. Schulman

Dir Michael Curtis

PHOENIX FIVE

This series followed the adventures of the crew of the galactic patrol ship Phoenix Five, 'the most sophisticated space craft in the Earth Space Control Fleet. This handpicked team, Captain Roke, a typical Kirk clone with a solution to every problem; Ensign Adam Hargreaves, a young space cadet always ready to shot first and skip the questions; compassionate Cadet Tina Culbrick; and their computeroid Carl - roamed the planets protecting galactic citizens and warding off the repeated plots and attacks of the evil humanoid Zodian and a rebel scientist Platonus. The latter, a chip off the ming block, dreamt of ruling the galaxies. By means of his computer , he subverted an innocent victim whom he used in an attempt to capture the Phoenix and its crew.

Taking their orders from the Earth Space Controller, the Phoenix Five's crew almost always ended up thwarting the plans of one of their two regular adversaries Zodian and Platonus. Zodian was an evil humanoid whom with the aid of his computers Alpha and Zeta hoped to become absolute dictator of outer space. Zodian was captured by the Phoenix Five crew after thirteen episodes. Platonus was a being from another galaxy who decides that it would be in out best interests for him to rule us. Both Zodian and Platonus tended to spend much of their time talking to their computers. Most of the action in the series takes place either on the Phoenix Five itself or on planets which resemble a gravel pit.

Low-budget Australian space series that cheaply went were STAR TREK had bodily gone before. The series' limitations were apparent in the lack of supporting players , few sets (Platonus was invariably seen threatening all and sundry from the same set each time), the standard quarries and scrubland doubling as alien worlds, and very little model work - mostly just the Phoenix craft flying through space. Each tales had a happy ending and a strong moral message. About a third of the ITV network took the series - or some of it - in 1970, with STV leading the way. Some other regions including London Weekend and Anglia gave it a belated run in 1976. Although the series has never been aired in America, during the last 1970s there was an effort mounted to syndicate the series in the US, which ended unsuccessfully.

Phoenix Five was a low-budget Australian adventure series set in space. If Phoenix Five is not the worst science fiction series of all time, it most definitely a strong contender for that dubious title. A combination of cheap sets, almost non-existent special effects, silly writing and a complete ignorance of science all contribute to the overall poor quality of the programme. Although the series has never been aired in America, during the late 1970's there was an effort mounted to syndicate the series in the US - which ended unsuccessfully.

Original broadcast dates are currently unavailable. Information is also unavailable on guest cast, writer and director for many of the episodes. The series' producers were Peter Summerton (Eps. 1-10) and John Walters (Eps. 11-26), Walters had taken over following the death of Peter Summerton. The broadcast dates given here are for the UK broadcast on STV (Scottish Television), since original Australian broadcast dates are unknown. It is likely that David Cahill directed all 26 episodes of the series, this however cannot be confirmed since details of many of the episodes directors are missing.

In the last couple of decades, Australia has produced some excellent science-fiction series for children, such as The Girl From Tomorrow and Cybergirl, to name but two. Although intended for children, these productions were sophisticated enough to hold the interest of adult viewers. Such was not always the case.

In the first twenty years of Australian television, seven science-fiction shows were produced, and all were made for children. The first was The Stranger (1964, with a second series in 1965), followed by Wandjina! in 1966. Then came the trilogy of The Interpretaris (1966), Vega 4 (1967) and Phoenix Five (1969), and later there was Alpha Scorpio (1974) and Andra (1976). All were produced by or for the Australian Broadcasting Commission, and all were serials (continuing narratives) except Phoenix Five, which was structured as self-contained episodes.

As this website deals only with series (as opposed to serials), Phoenix Five is the only one of these programmes to fall within this frame of reference. However, to examine Phoenix Five we must also look at the preceding two serials of the trilogy, The Interpretaris and Vega 4.

