Seton, of Mounie, co. Aberdeen.

The SETONS, of Mounie, co. Aberdeen, are a branch of Seton of Pitmedden, derived from George Seton, of Mounie, Esq., second son of Sir Alexander Seton, Bart., Lord Pitmedden. The present DAVID SETON, Esq., of Mounie, formerly of the 93d Highlanders, and afterwards of the 49th Regt., succeeded to the representation of the family at the decease, 26 Feb. 1852, of his brother the late gallant ALEXANDER SETON, Esq., Lieut.-Col. of the 74th Highlanders, who was lost in the wreck of H.M. steam transport, Birkenhead. Lieut.-Col. Seton, who was the officer in command of the troops on board, distinguished himself not less by the cool, determined courage he displayed, than by the humanity with which he exerted himself to secure the safety of helpless women and children, not one of whom perished. Setting an example of intrepidity and self-devotion, he made no endeavour to quit the sinking ship, but, issuing his orders with clearness and promptitude, calmly met his fate.

Maister, of Beverley, co. York.

THIS family has long been settled at Kingston-upon-Hull, and in the neighbourhood, as appears by the parish registers there, and is no doubt, both from tradition and other circumstances, descended from the ancient French house of Le Maistre, in Brittany, which formerly distinguished itself in both the civil and military departments of the state.

The Genoese family of De Maistre are also of this French family, and have likewise always borne the same Crest and Arms, as well as the family of Master, formerly of Ospringe and Yokes Place, in Kent (from whom are descended the Masters of Cirencester); and there is little doubt that all the parties named above spring from the same stock.

Owing to the circumstance of the family house in Hull being burnt down in 1743, most of the writings and papers belonging to the Maisters were destroyed; but from what few were saved, from monuments, parish registers, and other sources, the family pedigree is compiled.

The first Maister, of whom any account is found in Hull, is in 1567, two years after the commencement of the parish registers there.

Arms.—Az., a fesse, embattled, between three griffins' heads, erased, or.

Crest.—Out of a ducal coronet, or, an unicorn's head, arg., armed and crined, of the first.

Edgar, of the Red House, co. Suffolk.

THE REV. JOHN ROBERT MATHEW EDGAR, A.M., next brother of the late Rev. Mileson Gery Edgar, J.P. (whose widow, Elizabeth Arkell, great-great-grandda. of Sir Mathew Hale, resides at the Red House), descends from a very ancient Suffolk family. In the time of HENRY VIII., William Edgar, of Glemham Magna, who married a Tollemache, changed his hereditary arms, which were "Gu., a chev., or, between three leopards' faces, arg.," and took a new patent of the present coat.

Arms.—Per chev., or and az., in chief, two fleurs-de-lis, of the second, in base, five lozenges, of the first, each charged with an escallop, gu.

Crest.—An ostrich's head, between two wings expanded, or, each charged with as many bends, az., in the beak a horse-shoe, arg.

Moran, of Ballinamore, co. Leitrim.

PATRICK O'ROURKE MORAN, Esq. of Ballinamore, co. Leitrim, son of John Moran, of Ballinamore, deceased, by Mary his wife, dau. and heiress of the late Owen O'Rourke, also of Ballinamore, descended paternally from the Irish House of O'Moran, and maternally from that of O'Rourke, Prince of Brefnecy, bears a quartered shield, MORAN and O'ROURKE, and impales SPARROW in right of his wife.

Arms.—Quarterly: 1st and 4th, az., on a mound, ppr., two lions, combatant, or, holding between them a flagstaff, also ppr., therefrom a flag, arg., for MORAN; 2nd and 3rd, or, two lions, passant, in pale, sa., on a canton, gu., an ancient Irish crown of the first, for O'ROURKE.

Crests.—First, out of a mural crown, a demi-Saracen, head in profile, all ppr., for MORAN; second, out of an ancient Irish crown, or, a cubit arm, in armour, holding a scimitar, all ppr., for O'ROURKE.

Motto.—Fides non timet.

PLATE XVIII.

Hungerford, of Inchodony.

THOMAS HUNGERFORD, Esq. of Inchodony (The Island), co. Cork, eldest son of Richard Hungerford, of The Island, by Frances, dau. of Richard Beecher, Esq. of Hollybrooke, is a descendant of an undoubted branch of the illustrious House of Hungerford of England.

The Irish family of Hungerford descends from Walter, Lord Hungerford, Lord Treasurer, 6 HENRY VI., through his Lordship's second surviving son, Sir Edmund Hungerford, of Down Ampney, co. Gloucester. The connexion of the Irish with the English house is very distinctly traced by the will of John Hungerford, of Lincoln's Inn, dated 24 May, 1729; and in a cause connected with that will, which was tried in the English Court of Chancery. The common ancestor of all the existing Irish Hungerfords was Captain Thomas Hungerford, who resided at "The Little Island," at Rathbarry, up to the year 1680, in which year he died, and was interred in the cathedral of Ross-Carbery. He had three sons, of whom the eldest, Colonel Richard Hungerford, of Inchodony, or "The Island," was the lineal ancestor of the present Thomas Hungerford, Esq. The Hungerfords of Cahirmore, co. Cork, also descend from Captain Thomas Hungerford, of The Little Island. Colonel Richard Hungerford is believed to have fixed his residence at Inchodony in 1690. The seat is distant about a mile from the seaport town of Clonakilty.

Crests.—Upon the dexter side, a buck's head, coupéd, ppr., attired, gu., and in an escroll over the same, this motto, "Spero Meliora," and on the sinister, an eagle, regardant, rising from the top of a rock, both ppr., and in an escroll over the same, this motto, "Souvenez."

From Crawford, the historian of Renfrewshire, we learn that the original charter of Bredieland was granted in 1488, temp. JAMES IV, by Robert, Abbot of Paisley, to Thomas Maxwell, designed son of Arthur Maxwell, Clerk, of Neilston.

Simple, the next historian of Renfrewshire, after Crawford, mentions that the Maxwells, of Bredieland were a branch of the Maxwells of Carlawerock; and Robertson, in his continuation of "Renfrewshire," says that the last male of the eldest branch, was John, eldest son of Hugh Maxwell, of Bredieland who left only two daughters: one of those coheireses d. s. p.; the other, Janet, who succeeded to Bredieland, and married her cousin-german, second son of Gavin Maxwell, of Castlehead, entailed the estate upon heirs male, in 1710: Gavin Maxwell, of Castlehead, was youngest brother of Hugh, of Bredieland.

James Maxwell, the second son of Hugh Maxwell, of Bredieland, acquired the lands of Merksworth, somewhere between 1660 and 1680, and dying s.p., was succeeded, under his own deed of entail, dated in 1709, by his nephew, the third son of Gavin Maxwell, of Castlehead; he married twice: by his first wife he had no son, but by his second wife, Janet, daughter of John Leekie, of Croy Leekie, in Dumbartonshire, he left a son and successor, Charles Maxwell, who married Ann Maxwell, eldest daughter of James Maxwell, of Williamwood, but as he left no male issue, the Merksworth estate went in accordance with the deed of entail, to the then heir male, William Maxwell, of Bredieland, who became designed of both estates; his only son, Captain James Maxwell, succeeded, but dying s.p., was succeeded in both estates by his cousin-german William Maxwell, similarly designed of Bredieland and Merksworth, and on his death in April, 1858, the male line of both families became extinct. About two years before his death, he broke the Bredieland entail, on the ground of being the last substitute therein.

The Merksworth estate, by the deed of entail, then went to JAMES MAXWELL GRAHAM, of Williamwood (the only surviving son of Janet Maxwell, the eldest married daughter of Charles Maxwell, the last heir male of the old line), who, in consequence, was served heir of entail before the Sheriff of the Chancery Court in Edinburgh, in July 1858.

Ratcliff.

SIR JOHN RATCLIFF, Knt., of Wyddrington, co. Warwick, Mayor of Birmingham, and J.P. for that borough, is eldest son of John Ratcliff, of Ledbury, co. Hereford, Esq., by Mary, his wife, daughter of John Lockett, of Birmingham, Esq., and grandson of Joseph Ratcliff, of the co. Worcester, Esq.

Sir John received the honour of Knighthood, 15th June, 1858, on the occasion of the Queen's visit to Birmingham, of which borough he was mayor, in 1857, 1858, and 1859; he m., 18th Aug., 1829, Jane, dau. of George Pugh, of Sutton, co. Salop.

CHARLES RATCLIFF, Esq., F.R.G.S., F.A.S., F.L.S., &c., &c., Fellow Commoner of Downing College, Cambridge, Barrister-at-Law of Lincoln's Inn, is brother and heir presumptive to Sir John Ratcliff.

Arms.—Per bend, arg., and or, a bend, engrailed, sa., thereon in chief, an anchor of the second, in sinister chief a knight's helmet, ppr.

Crest.—In front of a bull's head, erased, sa., armed, or, collared, arg., three escallops, of the last.

Motto.—Fide et Fortitudine.

Craufurd, of Craufurdland, co. Ayr.

WILLIAM HOUISON-CRAUFURD, Esq. of Craufurdland Castle, co. Ayr, and Brachead, in Mid-Lothian, J.P. and D.L., bears, as representative of the Craufurdland family as well as of the old House of Houison of Brachead, the quartered shield of CRAUFURD and HOUISON.

The Craufurds of Craufurdland held the estate in the direct male line from the 13th century till the year 1793, when, upon Col. Craufurd's death, his aunt, Mrs. Houison of Brachead, succeeded him, and her grandson is the present proprietor.

There is a curious story connected with the Houison family and the supporters they use. Sir Walter Scott makes mention of it more than once; he tells it in his notes to the Lay of the Last Minstrel, and, narrates it at greater length in the Tales of my Grandfather. It is likewise to be found with some additions, in Wood, the Antiquary's history of Cramond. The substance of the story is this:—King JAMES I of Scotland had an adventure, which nearly cost him his life. About the year 1440, returning one evening from hunting in the forest, having parted from his suite during the chase, he was attacked by some banditti, near Cramond Bridge, an ancient structure, which still spans the river Almond. His cries brought to his assistance a husbandman, at work in his barn hard by, who came out armed with his flail and laid about him so effectually as to disperse the assailants. He then conducted the King to his house, where his guest requested a basin and towel to remove the stains of the broil.

This being procured, James employed himself in ascertaining what was the summit of his deliverer's earthly wishes, which he discovered was to be the possessor of the lands which he farmed.

The lands chanced to be Crown property, and James directed him to come to the Palace of Holyrood, and enquire for one "Jamie Stewart," a man, he told him, who had great influence with the King. He presented himself accordingly, and found with astonishment that he had saved his Monarch's life, and that he was to be gratified with a Crown charter of the lands of Braehead, under the service of presenting a ewer, basin and towel, for the King to wash his hands, when he shall happen to pass over the bridge of Cramond. The present heir and lineal descendant of the above John Houson, the hero of the tale, is William Houson Craufurd, of Craufurdland and Braehead, who discharged his duty at the banquet given to GEORGE IV, at the Parliament House in Edinburgh in 1822, by presenting His Majesty with a basin and napkin to wash his hands with, that day after dinner.

Arms.—Quarterly: 1st and 4th, CRAUFURD, gu., a fesse, erm.; 2nd and 3rd, HOUSON, arg., a heart, ppr., on a chief, az., three fleurs-de-lis, or.

Crests.—1st, CRAUFURD, a marble pillar, supporting a man's heart, ppr., 2nd, HOUSON, a dexter hand, ppr., coupéd at the wrist.

Supporters.—Two Husbandmen in the dress of the 14th century, one holding a flail, and the other a basin and napkin, all ppr.

Mottos.—1st, Stant innixa Deo; 2nd, Sursum Corda.

Ozanne.

RICHARD MANSELL OZANNE, Esq., of the Landes, in the Parish of St. Mary de Castro, in the Island of Guernsey, Ordnance Storekeeper and Barrack Master of that Island, is only son of Richard Ozanne and grandson of James Ozanne, both late of the Landes.

Arms.—Purpure, on a chev., engrailed, between three fleurs-de-lis, or, a helmet, ppr., between two cross-crosslets, fitchée, gu.

Crest.—A demi-lion, purpure, holding in the dexter paw, a cross-crosslet, fitchée, or, and resting the sinister upon a helmet, ppr.

This coat of arms is limited to R. M. Ozanne, Esq., and his descendants, and the descendants of his uncle, Peter Ozanne, deceased.

Trist, of Bowdon, Hernaford and Tristford House, Devon.

THE present representative of this ancient family is TRYPHENA of Tristford, dau. and co-heiress of the late REV. BROWSE TRIST, of Bowdon, B.C.L., Rector of Torbrian and Woodleigh, and widow of EDWARD WILLIAM WYNNE PENDARVES, Esq., of Pendarves, M.P. for Cornwall. This lady is entitled by descent to a shield of six quarterings.

Arms.—1st, TRIST, az., a quarterfoil, or, pierced of the field, within an orle of estoiles, wavy, of six points, of the second, a canton, erm.; 2nd, PULESDON of Maidford, sa., three mullets, arg., (through the marriage of John Trist in 1370, with Johanna, dau. and heiress of Edmund Pulesdon); 3rd, KENNE, erm., three crescents, gu. (brought in by Pulesdon); 4th, BROWSE, az., three garbs, or, (derived from the marriage of John Trist, Esq., of Hernaford, with Elizabeth, dau. and heir of Nicholas Browse, Esq., of Dorsley, Devon); 5th, HORE, of Nymph, sa., an eagle, displayed, within a bordure, engr., arg. (from the marriage of Browse Trist, Esq., of Dorsley and Bowdon, J.P. and D.L., M.P. for Totnes, with Agnes, dau. and heir of Thomas Hore, Esq., of Nymph, co. Devon); 6th, TRIST, as 1st.

OZANNE PEDIGREE.

The family of Ozanne is one of the most ancient and respectable of Guernsey, and the name can be traced to the reign of King EDWARD III, at which period "Sire Denys Ozanne, Prêtre," occurs.

Crest.—An Osprey, ppr., standing on a mount, vert. and holding in the beak, a fish, arg.

Motto—Nec triste, nec trepide.

The next branch of the Trist family springing from John Trist, Esq., of Kerswell, Devon, 2nd son of John Trist, Esq., of Hernaford, by Elizabeth Browse his wife, is now represented by JOHN FINCHER TRIST, Esq., of Carneggan, co. Cornwall, J.P. and D.L.

McFarlan, of Ballencleroche, or Keithtoun, co. Stirling.

JOHN WARDEN MCFARLAN, Esq. of Ballencleroche, Keithtoun or Kirk-toun, a Captain in the army, son and heir of the late John McFarlan, Esq., by Janet Buchanan Ewing his wife, and grandson of John McFarlan, Esq., Advocate, by Christian Wardrobe his wife, represents and descends from George McFarlan, of Merkinch, younger son of Andrew McFarlane, Laird of McFarlane, in the reign of King JAMES V.

“The Clan Pharlan,” says Skene, “is the only one, (with the exception, perhaps, of the Clan Donnachie), whose descent from the ancient Earls of the district in which their possessions lay (the Earls of Lennox,) can be proved by Charter.”

The immediate founder of the family of MacFarlane was GILCHRIST, second son of Aluin, Earl of Lennox, living in the 12th century. By grant of his elder brother Malduin, Earl of Lennox, Gilchrist obtained the lands of Arrochar, for ever after the inheritance of his descendants. His great-grandson, PARLAN, who gave name to the clan, was father of MALCOLM MACPHARLAN, who got a charter from Donald, Earl of Lennox, wherein he is confirmed in the lands of Arrochar, and was ancestor of MACFARLANE, of MacFarlane. From Andrew McFarlan, of that ilk, who m. Lady Margaret Cunningham, dau. of the Earl of Glencairn, Lord High Treasurer in the reign of King JAMES V, sprung GEORGE MCFARLAN, of Merkinch, whose descendants remained about a hundred years in the shire of Perth, when PATRICK MCFARLAN, the representative of that branch in 1624, purchased the estate of Ballencleroche or Kirk-toun; his son JAMES, who m. Mary Kieth, of the Marischall family, built the old part of the present Mansion House.

His son, HUGH McFARLAN, served under Marlborough in Queen ANNE's wars, and refused to return till their conclusion, though personally urged by his father. He admired the timber of the Low Countries, and planted all the oldest trees about the place. He m. Elizabeth Doig, of Balinyreu, whose ancestor is said to have had a charter from Malcolm Canmore, of the lands she inherited.

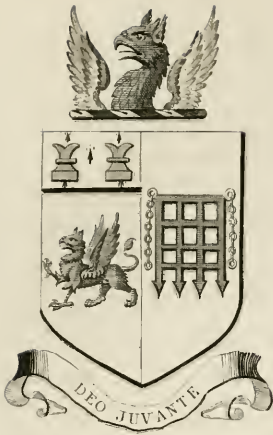

HUGH McFARLAN was succeeded by WILLIAM McFARLAN, the fourth of Kirkcoun, who entailed his estate on the family of his sister ANNE, who had m. the Rev. John Warden, Minister of Campsie, son of Rev. John Warden, first Minister of Gargunnoch after the Revolution. The son of this worthy minister succeeded to the estate and took the name of McFARLAN. The present proprietor, CAPTAIN JOHN WARDEN McFARLAN, is the fourth in descent from him.

Shortt.

JOHN MACOURTIE SHORTT, Esq., Colonel in the Bombay army, is third son of the late Francis Shortt, Esq., of Courance and White Laird, co. Dumfries, which Francis was grandson of Mathew Shortt, who was fourth son of Robert Shortt, by Janet, his wife, daughter of Mathew Kirkpatrick, the brother of Sir Thomas Kirkpatrick, Bart., of Closeburn. This last named Robert Shortt suffered severely from the persecution of Graham, of Claverhouse.

The surname of the family appears from the public records, to have been spelt, at different times, Schorte, Schort, Short, and Shortt. Tradition states that its ancestor came originally from Holland, but it must have been at a very early period, for so far back as 1491, Archibald Schort appears to have been proprietor of all or part of Cambus Barron, co. Stirling.

the late John Hambrough, Esq., of Pipewell Hall, by Catherine, his wife, dau. of Robert Holden, Esq., representative of a branch of the ancient Laneashire family of Holden and maternally a descendant of Sir Lancelot Oldisworth, of Halifax.

The family of Hambrough is of Hanoverian origin.

Arms.—Quarterly: 1st and 4th, arg., semée of cross-crosslets, az., and guttes de sang, a tower, sa., for HAMBROUGH; 2nd and 3rd, sa., on a fesse, between two chevs., erm., two covered cups, az., for HOLDEN, impaling FLEMING, in right of his wife, Charlotte-Jane, youngest dau. of John Fleming, Esq., M.P., of Stoncham Park, Hants.

Crest.—On a mount, vert, a horse, courant, arg., powdered with cross-crosslets, az., and guttes de sang.

Mottos.—Over the crest: Foresight. Under the arms: Honestum utili præfer.

Campbell, of Barquharric.

HUGH BRUCE CAMPBELL, Esq. of Barquharric, now resident at The Park, Nottingham, represents the Barquharric branch of the family of Campbell of Cesnock, being great-great-grandson of Hugh Campbell of Barquharric, in Ayrshire, who was 3rd son of Sir Hugh Campbell of Cesnock, by Elizabeth, his wife, 2nd dau. and co-heir of John Campbell, Master of Loudoun.

Arms.—Gyronny of eight, or, and sa., within a bordure, gu., charged with eight escallops of the first, and a canton also gyronny of eight, erm., and gu.

Crest.—A phœnix head, crased, or.

Motto.—Constanter et prudenter.

Maxwell, of Poloc, co. Renfrew.

SIR JOHN MAXWELL, Bart., Chief of the great House of MAXWELL of POLOC, descends from a family, which is historically stated to have accompanied Edgar Atheling to Scotland, at the time of the Norman Conquest of England. There is a charter (in the possession of Sir John Maxwell) from King WILLIAM the LION, who began his reign in 1165, to "Robert, son of Maccus," of part of Lassuden, in Roxburghshire, that comprised in the Barony of Maccusville, and which it records had belonged to Herbertus Maccusville (Maxwell,) Viccomes, who figured in the previous reign of King MALCOLM. An early offshoot of Poloc is MAXWELL of CALDERWOOD, with its junior and ennobled branch in Ireland of MAXWELL, LORD FARNHAM.

Arms.—Arg., on a saltire, sa., an annulet, or, stoned, ppr.

Crest.—A Turk's head in profile, ppr. Another and more modern Crest is a stag's head, erased, ppr.

Supporters—Two lions, sejant.

Motto—I am ready.

The annulet was taken (as the old Maxwell memorials state) in commemoration of exploits of an early chief in Palestine during a crusade. To this also may allude the old Maxwell of Poloc crest of a Turk's head in profile, borne by the family when the Poloc and Calderwood estate were separated: the deed is dated 1400. Sir John Maxwell, the Governor of Dumbarton, father of Poloc and Calderwood, seals the deed with a Turk's head, as crest, and two lions, supporters. This deed and seal-impression still exist at Poloc.

Feilden, of Witton, co. Lancaster.

JOSEPH FEILDEN, Esq., of Witton Park, J.P. and D.L., eldest son and heir of the late Henry Feilden, Esq. of Witton, and grandson, by Margaret, his wife, dau. and co-heir of William Leyland, Esq., of Blackburn, of Joseph Feilden, Esq. of Witton, descends from a branch of the same stock as that of the ennobled House of Denbigh, which has been seated in Lancashire for four centuries.

The Feildens of Fenisowles, Baronets, are a junior branch of the Witton family.

Arms.—Quarterly: 1st and 4th, arg., on a fesse, cottised, az., between two martlets, in chief, sa., and in base a rose, gu., barbed and seeded, ppr., three lozenges, or, for FEILDEN; 2nd and 3rd, arg., on a fesse sa., a lion, passant, between two escallops of the field, in chief, nine ears of barley, gu., three, three, and three, each three banded with a string, or, for LEYLAND.

Crest.—A nut-hatch, perched upon a hazel branch, fructed, ppr., in the beak, a rose, gu., slipped, vert.

Motto.—Virtutis præmium honor.

Armstrong-MacDonnell, of New Hall, co. Clare.

WILLIAM EDWARD ARMSTRONG-MACDONNELL, Esq., of New Hall and Kilkee, J.P. and D.L., Major of the Clare militia, son of the late William Henry Armstrong, Esq., M.P., of Mount Heaton, King's County, by Bridget, his wife, only dau. of the late Col. Charles MacDonnell, of New Hall, co. Clare, M.P., succeeded to the estates of his uncle, the late John MacDonnell, Esq., of New Hall, and assumed the additional surname and arms of MACDONNELL, by Royal Licence, bearing date 18th May, 1858. Both families, Armstrong and MacDonnell, were of high distinction in their respective counties, and both were originally of Scotch extraction.

Arms.—Quarterly : 1st and 4th, grand quarters, for MACDONNELL, 1st and 4th, or, a lion rampant, gules; 2nd, or, a dexter arm, issuant from the sinister fesse point, out of a cloud, proper, in the hand a cross-crosslet, fitchée, erect, azure; 3rd, argent, a ship with sails furled, sable; 4th, per fesse azure and vert, a fish, naiant, in fesse, ppr. 2nd and 3rd, grand quarters, for ARMSTRONG, gules, three dexter arms, vambraced and embowed, ppr., hand clenched, also ppr., in the centre chief point, a mullet, or.

PLATE XXIV.

O'Neill, of Clanaboy.

CHARLES HENRY O'NEILL, Esq., Barrister-at-Law, of Dublin, and of The Feeva, co. Antrim, is the present representative, in the male line, of the House of O'Neill, of Clanaboy (Clan-Aodh-Buidhe), senior of the race. Niall the Great, monarch of Ireland at the close of the fourth century, having subdued the Picts and Britons, and ravaged the coasts of Gaul, was assassinated on the banks of the Loire, near Boulogne. His son, Prince Owen, was the common ancestor of the House of O'Neill. For upwards of 600 years, the descendants of Niall the Great, exclusively occupied the throne of Ireland. Daniel O'Neill, surnamed Ardmach, was the forty-sixth monarch of the Hy-Niall race, and died A.D. 1004; he was succeeded by Malachy, a south Hy-Niall prince, in whose reign the ancient dynasty was interrupted by Bryan Boru (O'Brien), King of Munster, who obtained the crown, but at his death at the battle of Clontarf, 1014, Malachy resumed the sceptre, and died 1018. Thenceforward, for nearly a century and a quarter, contending Princes of other Houses, the O'Conors of Connaught, and the O'Briens, of Munster, contested for the sovereignty. Ultimately, Mortough MacNeill crushed their pretensions, and restored the ancient dynasty; he died in the year 1168, on the eve of the Anglo-Norman invasion, and was the last native monarch of Ireland; for Roderick O'Conor King of Connaught, who assumed the sceptre after King Mortough's death, and resigned it to the English, was not acknowledged by the entire nation.

HUGH DUFF O'NEILL, King of Ulster, sixth in descent from the monarch Daniel Ardmach, died 1230; he was the common ancestor of the House of O'NEILL, OF CLANABOY, as his younger brother Prince Neill Roc, was of O'NEILL, OF TYRONE. Aodh-Buidhe, i.e. Hugh-boy or Yellow Hugh O'Neill, King of Ulster, 1260, grandson of Hugh Duff, recovered from the English the territories in the counties of Antrim and Down, called after him Clan-Hugh-boy, Anglicè Clanaboy, and had for his chief castle, Edenduffcarrig, now Shane's Castle. The last of this Royal House who bore the title of King of Ulster, was DONALD O'NEILL, who died 1325. In the celebrated appeal made by him, and the princes, nobles, and Irish people in general to Pope JOHN XXII, against the English, in 1315, as recorded by John Fordun, he is styled "Donald O'Neyl, King of Ulster, and rightful successor to the throne of all Ireland."

On the death of Prince BRYAN MACPHELM O'NEILL, of Edenduffcarrig, who was eighth in descent from Hugh-boy, the Lord Deputy Perrot, made a partition of North Clanaboy, and gave one moiety of it to Shane MacBryan, and Con MacBryan O'Neill, the son of Bryan MacPhelim, and the other moiety, Kilultagh, to the sons of Hugh MacPhelim O'Neill; but the confiscations, and settlement of Ulster, which followed the flight of the Earls, O'Neill and O'Donnell, in 1607, altered that arrangement, and the lands of the O'Neills were in a great measure parcelled out by JAMES I among English and Scottish settlers. However, Sir Henry O'Neill, son of Shane MacBryan, conformed, married the daughter of Sir Francis Stafford, Governor of Ulster, and preserved a remnant of North Clanaboy; four lordships and manors being the present O'Neill estates, consisting of about thirty thousand acres, for which he obtained from JAMES I a patent, afterwards confirmed to his daughter, Rose O'Neill, Marchioness of Antrim, by patents from CHARLES I, CHARLES II, CROMWELL, and WILLIAM III. The Marchioness d. 1695, when Colonel Charles O'Neill, grandson of Arthur, who was half-brother of Sir Henry, entered into possession of Shane's Castle and the estates. On his death, 1716, French John O'Neill, grandson of Phelim Duff, another half-brother of Sir Henry, obtained possession, and was succeeded in 1739, by his second son, Charles, whose son JOHN, the first VISCOUNT O'NEILL, was killed at Antrim by the rebels, in 1798. He was succeeded by his eldest son, CHARLES, EARL O'NEILL, who d. unm. 1841, when his only brother, General Viscount O'Neill, succeeded and upon his death, in 1855, also unm., the male line of Shane MacBryan O'Neill, the elder brother, became extinct, and the House of O'Neill represented in the male line of Con MacBryan O'Neill his only brother.

The descendants of Prince Con MacBryan O'Neill "Tanist of Clanaboy," remained loyal, under every vicissitude, to the traditions of their house, and saved little out of the general wreck of confiscation. They seem to have preferred fulfilling the solemn pledge of their ancestor, Donald O'Neill, King of Ulster, to "fight out as long as life should last," rather than adapt themselves to altered circumstances, as the descendants of Shane MacBryan had wisely done. Hugh Oge, son of Con MacBryan, was in Tyrone's rebellion, obtained a general pardon (pat. 5, James I), and leaving Shane's Castle, settled in the adjoining lordship of The Feeva. Here in Feeva House, erected 1602, his descendants for seven generations were born; first, in 1611, his son, Bryan MacHugh Oge, on whom, and his issue male, Sir Henry O'Neill, by his will, entailed the Shane's Castle estates, and two hundred years afterwards, Charles Henry O'Neill, the Barrister, great-grandson of Charles, who was great-grandson of Bryan MacHugh Oge. Following his father's example, Bryan MacHugh Oge O'Neill was in the great rebellion of 1641, in the ranks with Sir Phelim Roe, and General Owen Roe O'Neill, and participated in the victory of Benburb. The confiscations which followed, included considerable estates of the O'Neills of Feeva. His son Colonel Con MacBryan O'Neill, and his grandson, Captain Con Modera O'Neill, who m. Rose, only sister of Sir Neal O'Neill, both fought for JAMES II, at Aughrim and the Boyne, in the volunteer regiment of Colonel Cormac O'Neill, of Broughshane. And at a later period, 1745, Colonel Con O'Neill, second son of Captain Con Modera O'Neill, was in the French service, and accompanied Prince Charles Edward Stuart to Scotland, was with him at Culloden, participated, after that disaster in the perils of his concealment, and finally, with the aid of Flora MacDonnell, with whom he had become acquainted before in the county of Antrim, at Ballybollan, the residence of Ambrose O'Neill, Esq., their mutual relative, assisted the Prince in his escape to France. The only struggle in which it appears a member of this family was not engaged, was that of 1798.

Feeva House, the family residence, on the Townland of Carlyan, near Toome, appears delineated on Lendrick's map of the county of Antrim, published 1780, and is referred to, in the index, as among the "Noblemen and gentlemen's seats" of the county. It is also, at a later period, marked on Allen's reduced map of Lough Neagh, published in 1809, and dedicated to Charles Earl O'Neill; in both maps Mr. Hugh O'Neill, grandson of Captain Con Modera O'Neill, is named as proprietor.

The issue male of Shane MacBryan O'Neill having become extinct in 1855, on the death of John, the last Lord Viscount O'Neill, as mentioned before, the House of O'Neill of Clanaboy, senior, and chief of the race, is now represented in the male line by Charles Henry O'Neill, Esq., grandson of the above named Hugh, as lineal descendant of the "Tanist of Clanaboy" Con Mac Bryan O'Neill, only brother of Shane MacBryan. Mr. Charles H. O'Neill is married to Margaret Adeline Louise, only daughter of James O'Grady, Esq., LL.D., Barrister-at-Law., and has living an only child, Elizabeth Cathrine Terese Mary O'Neill. The REV. WILLIAM O'NEILL, of Shane's Castle devisee of the O'Neill estates, under the will of Charles Earl O'Neill, who barred the entail, is heir general, as grandson of the Rev. Dr. William Chichester, son of Mary, only child of Henry O'Neill, eldest son of "French John" O'Neill. We must not, however, close this brief record of the great O'Neills, without including mention in it of an illustrious descendant of the Princely House of Clanaboy, the gallant Marshal Neil of the French service.

HAMILTON.—Through.

Strother, of Eastfield, co. Northumberland.

ANTHONY STROTHER, Esq., of Eastfield, near Warkworth, co. Northumberland, and of the Shrubbery, Shooter's Hill, Kent, is believed to be of an old family. The name of Strother is one of ancient date in Northumberland; Hodgson and Mackenzie, in their histories of the county, record a family of Strother as possessed of extensive landed property there. Kirknewton, one of the manors of the barony of Wark, was held by Sir Henry Strother in the reign of EDWARD II, and his successor; by William Strother, in the reign of EDWARD VI; by Mark Strother, Esq., High Sheriff of Northumberland, King GEORGE I; it was afterwards the property of John Strother Ker, Esq., who sold it to the father of William and Colin James, Esq. Alan del Strother, the first person mentioned in Hodgson's pedigree of the family, high sheriff of the county in 1354, 1355, 1356, 1357, was, we suppose, the cotemporary with Chaucer at Cambridge, and one of the two clerkes of Soller's Hall, mentioned by that poet in his Reve Tale, or as he calls them "Yonge pore Scholleris two," who were—

" John hight that one, and Alan hight that other,
Of oo towne were they both that highte Strother, Fer in the north I cannot tellen where."

Alan de Strother was bailiff to Queen Philippa of Hainhault, and obtained a grant from EDWARD III, to work the mines of Alderueston; from this re-opening of the Tynedale mines (vide Lives of Queens of England) proceeded our coal trade. Amongst the numerous estates which belonged to the Strothers may be mentioned Wallington, Fowberry Tower, Kirkharle, Bavington, Hawick, Harnham, Sweethope, Crookden, Bolam, Whitcheater, &c. [Inq. p.m., 3 HEN. VI, No. 15].

The present family are incapacitated from bearing the ancient Coat of Arms, which was gu., on a bend, arg., three eagles displayed, az., in consequence of the want of several links in the chain of evidence necessary to complete and connect the pedigree. As in the year 1789, the parish registers of Kirknewton were all consumed by fire, many of the entries relating to the family were thus without doubt destroyed.

Anthony Strother, Esq. m. in 1831, Ann, dau. of the late William Manderson, Esq., of Woolwich, co. Kent, by whom he has had issue—

1. James Baxter, b. 31st October, 1832.
2. Anthony, b. 17th January, 1834.
3. Ann, d. s. p., b. 27th October, 1835.
4. William, b. 27th July, 1837.
5. Mary, b. 12th July, 1839.
6. Sydney, d. s. p., b. 14th March, 1841.
7. Miriam Phillis, b. 13th February, 1844.
8. Janet Elinor, b. 13th October, 1846.
9. Ernest Henry Augustus, b. 18th March, 1848.
10. Arthur Gillespy, b. 4th July, 1849.

The above are registered in the Heralds' College, London, as also is the following coat armour, which was granted in 1844—

Arms.—Az., fretty, arg., on a bend, nebuly, or, three eagles displayed, of the first.

Crest.—Upon a mount, vert, in front of an oak-tree, ppr., fructed, or, a falcion belled, also ppr.

Motto.—Accipiter prædam sequitur, nos gloriam.

PLATE XXV.

Arbuthnott.

SIR ALEXANDER DUNDAS YOUNG ARBUTHNOTT, Knt., K.C.C., K.S.F., &c., Vice-Admiral in the Royal Navy of Great Britain, a Gentleman of the Privy Chamber to Her Majesty, and Major-General in the service of the Queen of Spain, a highly distinguished and gallant officer, descends from a younger branch of the noble house of Arbuthnott; he is son of the late Lieutenant-Colonel Robert Arbuthnott, 31st Foot; and grandson of Robert Arbuthnott, whose father Alexander Arbuthnott, of Knox, a Commissioner of the Customs, was son of the Hon. Alexander Arbuthnott of Knox, M.P. for Kincardineshire, and grandson of Robert, 1st Viscount Arbuthnott. Sir Alexander who received the honour of Knighthood 25th June, 1859, m. 1827, Catherine Maria, 3rd dau. of the late Rev. Mallet, of Ash, Devon.

HUGH MALLET, Esq. of Ash, J.P., formerly a Lieutenant R. A., and an old Peninsular Officer, represents an ancient Norman family, founded in England by "one Sir George Mallett, a Burgundian Knight," who

m. the dau. and heiress of Patvill, of Opton Patvill, a Saxon, and thus acquired the lands afterwards called Opton Mallett. There is still preserved at Ash, an old vellum roll, which has certainly been there full three hundred years, and is supposed to be a copy taken at the time from a much more ancient pedigree, then, probably in the possession of the head of the family of the old house of Opton Mallett, co. Somerset. This document sets forth that the third in descent from the Burgundian Knight, was, "one Sir John Mallett, of Opton Mallett, Privy Counciller "unto Henry the first." A branch of this very old stock, was settled in the co. of Devon, temp. HENRY VII., by George Mallet, a younger son of Sir John Mallet, Knt. of Opton Mallett, and it acquired the estate of Ash, by the marriage of George's son, Richard Mallet, with the heiress of VYELL.

PLATE XXVII.

Everard, of Middleton, co. Norfolk.

THIS family is a branch of the old Essex House of Everard of Much Waltham, on which the dignity of Baronet was conferred in 1628. Various offshoots from the parent stem took root in the counties of Berks, Bedford, Stafford, Cambridge, Kent, Leicester, Suffolk, and Northampton, and the Cambridgeshire line was that from which are derived the Everards of Norfolk.

Arms.—Arg., a fesse, wavy, between three estoiles, gu.

Crest.—A man's head in profile, coupé at the shoulders ppr.: having on a cap or fretty sa.

Motto.—Say and do.

Pilkington, of Park Lane Hall, co. York.

IN "Fuller's Worthies," the Pilkingtons are described as "a right ancient family, gentlemen of repute before the Conquest;" and by Guillim, as "a knightly family of great antiquity, taking name from Pilkington in Lancashire." At the battle of Hastings, Leonard Pilkington, Lord of Pilkington Tower, had a command under Harold, on whose defeat he fled from the field, and, being hotly pursued, put on the clothes of a mower, and so effected his escape. From this circumstance, he took his crest—"a mower of party colours, arg., and gu." He subsequently joined the Crusade in 1096, and assumed the arms still borne by his descendants, viz.—"arg., a cross patonce, gu., voided of the field."

Of this ancient stock, the late HENRY PILKINGTON, Esq. of Park Lane Hall, co. York, M.A., Barrister-at-Law, was a direct descendant; he m.

Etheldred 6th dau. of the Rev. Thomas Foster, of Ryhall, co. Rutland, and Dowsby Hall, co. Lincoln, and died 1859, leaving issue:—

I. HENRY FOSTER, b. 18 April, 1818, m. Maria, widow of Harris Dunsford, Esq., M.D., and dau. and heir of Jean Albert Guignard, Esq., and has issue.

II. Redmond William, Capt. 20th Regt., Bengal N. I., m. Mary-Ann, 2nd dau. of Capt. Frederick Adams, H.E.I.C.S., and has issue.

I. Etheldred, m. to George Foster, Esq., of Wickersley Grange, co. York.

II. Lucy.

Arms.—A cross patonce gu., voided of the field.

Crest.—A mower of party colours arg. and gu.

Motto.—Now thus, now thus.

Monins, of Waldershare, Kent.

WILLIAM MONINS, Esq., Lieutenant-Colonel East Kent Militia, and a Deputy Lieutenant of the co. of Kent, son of John Monins, Esq. of the Palace, Canterbury, and grandson of the Rev. Richard Monins, M.A., Prebendary of Bristol, represented the ancient family of Monyns, of Kent, the senior line of which were the (extinct) Baronets of Waldershare. Col. Monins m. 17 Oct., 1812, Elizabeth-Anne, dau. of the late John Jull, Esq. of Wingham, and had one son, WILLIAM GODFREY CLERKE MONINS, Esq., and a dau., Elizabeth-Aune-Sarah, m. to William Gatty, Esq.

Arms.—Gu., three crescents, or.

Crest.—An increscent, or.

Motto.—Mediocria maxima.

Rowley, of Maperath, co. Meath.

THE ROWLEYS of Maperath, co. Meath are a branch of an English family, which settled in the north of Ireland, in the reign of JAMES I. Henry Rowley, the son of the settler in Ireland, purchased the estate of Warreustown, co. Meath, in 1630, and was father of Henry Rowley, who settled at Maperath, near Kells. He m. the dau. of Dr. Moorecroft, Archdeacon of Meath, and by her had no male issue. The estate of Warrenstown was sold, but his other lands descended to his eldest dau. ; (his second dau. m. Ker, of co. Monaghan, and was mother of the late Col. Ker, of Mountain Lodge); the eldest dau. m. George Fisher, Esq. of Galtrim, (he had been previously m. to Miss Rose Toler, of the Beechwood family), and was mother of HENRY FISHER, who succeeded to the Rowley estates, and assumed the surname and arms of ROWLEY. He m. Sarah, only dau. and heiress of James Johnston, Esq. of Cordoolough, co. Monaghan, and by her, (who d. 1839), left at his decease in 1807, an only son and heir, the late THOMAS TAYLOR ROWLEY, Esq. of Maperath, who m. 1st Eliza, dau. and co-heir of Daniel Toler, Esq. of Beechwood, co. Tipperary, M.P. for that county, and elder brother of the 1st Earl of Norbury, and had by her, with other issue, an elder son, Henry, who m. Mary, dau. of the Rev. H. Lucas St. George of Dromore, co. Tyrone.

Mr. Rowley m. 2ndly Georgina, dau. of Standish Grady, Esq. of Elton, co. Limerick, and by her had an only son, Standish Grady, b. in 1834. He d. Jan. 1860.

Arms.—On a bend, cottised, gu., three crescents, of the first.

Crest.—A wolf's head, erased, sa., collared, and langued, gu.

Motto.—La vertue surmonte tout obstacle.

Guinness, of Beaumont, co. Dublin.

THE REV. WILLIAM SMYTH LEE-GRATTAN-GUINNESS, M.A., Principal Surrogate of the Diocese of Glendalough, late Rector (and Patron) of the parish of Rathdrum, co. Wicklow, assumed by Royal Licence, in 1856, the additional surnames and arms of LEE and GRATTAN. He is eldest son of the late Arthur Guinness, Esq. of Beaumont, J.P. and D.L., by Anne, his wife, eldest dau. and co-heiress of Benjamin Lee, Esq. of Merrion, co. Dublin.

Arms.—Quarterly, 1st and 4th grand quarters, quarterly; 1st and 4th, GUINNESS, per saltire, gu. and az., and a lion rampant, or, on a chief erm., a dexter hand, coupé, at the wrist of the first; 2nd

⁵ Hayne.] Mr. Rabett has a very finely finished full length portrait, in oil, of his ancestor, John Hayne, Esq. (or Sir John), of Islington, who is represented as sitting in his robes of office, which are profusely lined with dark brown fur (perhaps he belonged to the Fishmongers' Company), with his green staff, or wand, at the back of his chair. A garter of

A.D. 1650; and great-great-great-great-grandson of Reginald Rabbett, Esq., who was High Sheriff¹ for Suffolk, A.D. 1587 (in the 29th year of the reign of Queen Elizabeth); descends from a family of Norman extraction, which was established in England at the Conquest, and which has been seated from an early period in the co. of Suffolk; WILLIELMUS RABBETT de Bramfield and de Dunwich, Armiger, occurring as M.P. for Dunwich, so far back as the 12th Parliament at Westminster, in the 8th of Edward IV. According to Gardner's History of the ancient city of Dunwich, the aforesaid Willielmus Rabbett, had two wives, Margery and Isabella, as appears in the following words:—"By Will dated Jan. 1st, and proved "March 8, Willielmus Rabbett de Dunwich was buried in the church "of All-Saints by Margerie his wife: he had another wife named Isabel."²

The earliest period that the name of Willielmus Rabbett of Bramfield occurs in Gardner's History of Blithburgh, Suffolk, is at page 167, as the executor of the [antique] Will of Robert Moyne, of Bramfield, dated the 16th day of May, 1405.

Between the years 1453 and 1539, (a period comprising nearly a century,) the following Rabbetts are recorded by Gardner in his general list of "Bailiffs for Dunwich"³ in the several reigns of the following monarchs, viz., in the 5th year of King Henry VI; in the 6th of Edward IV; in the 9th of Henry VII; and in the 9th of Henry VIII; that is to say—

This portrait of John Hayne, Esq., looks like one of Holbein's best, (the date over his head on the canvas is 1678, at. 74,) and would be admired if placed in the very first collection of paintings.

According to Gardner, several Baronets held the (elective) office of “Bailiff for Dunwich,” one hundred and fifty years later than the last named Willielmus Rabbett, viz., Sir John Rous, Sir Charles Blois, Sir Robert Kemp, and Sir George Downing.

In the 5th year of the reign of King Edward VI, there is mention made in Gardner’s History of Dunwich, (page 56,) of “The Marshe in Westleton,” “called Rabbett’s Marshe, and of certain lands, late William Rabbett’s,” viz., in “1552.”

In the Conference held at Hampton Court,² in the time of King James I, a Mr. Rabbett was appointed one of the 54 translators of the Bible, namely “The Canonical Epistles,” in the year 1603.

A Mr. Reyney Rabbett, was “a Justice of the Peace,” in Oct., 1628, 43rd year of Queen Elizabeth, mentioned in Gardner’s History of Blithburgh.

 FILIA.

In addition to the foregoing inscription in Chillestord Church to the memory of George Rabett, Gent., and his wife (formerly Agnes Claxton), the present owner of Bramfield has a the possession of the present owner of Bramfield Hall,) it appears that a Mr. George Rabett, Gent., m. Agnes Claxton, the dau. of Hamon Claxton, Gent., (from whom the most ancient family of the Cloptons of Kentwell Hall, by Long Melford, co. Suffolk, are descended), about A.D. 1622.

Mary, the dau. of Reginald Rabett, Esq. of Bramfield Hall, m. Lambert Nelson, Esq., of Bramfield, about A.D. 1693.

Prudence, the dau. of John Rabett, Gent. of Bramfield, m. Doctor William Bohun, M.D. of Beccles, in Suffolk, about A.D. 1737.

Elizabeth, the eldest dau. of Reginald Rabett, Esq., (High Sheriff in 1737,) m. Sir Ralph Blois, Bart., of Yoxford, co. Suffolk, in 1738.

Mary, the dau. of Reginald Rabett, Esq., (High Sheriff for Suffolk in 1737), m. Daniel Wayth, Esq. of North Glemham, co. Suffolk, who d. 22 of Feb., 1799, aged 76 years.

Others of the Rabetts have severally married into the families of the Edgars, Baggots, Moultons, Smiths, Brownes, Colemans, &c., &c., &c.

The present representative of this long descended line impales the Arms of Bickerton,¹ in right of his wife, Mary, the eldest dau. of the late Richard Bickerton, Esq. of Roden, co. Salop, of an ancient family of that fine portrait in oil, either of Madame Clopton, (the mother,) or of the daughter, Agnes Claxtons with the following date upon it:—

A.D. 1622
Ætatis suæ 45 } Chili.

And the profusion of pearls and other jewels, both in the cap and body of the dress, evidence, the said lady to have been a person of considerable distinction.

¹ The Arms of Bickerton.] Concerning the antiquity of the Bickerton family it may be remarked, that about fifty years ago there lived at Edstaston Park, near Wem, county of Shropshire, an old gentleman of the name of Bickerton, who was uncle to the late Mr. Richard Bickerton (Mr. Rabett's father-in-law), of Roden, or Roden Hall, county of Salop, and who had in his possession a very ancient family sword, believed by him to have been brought over by the first Bickertons at the time of the Norman Conquest. This ancient family sword was always hung up in his residence at Edstaston, as a family relic, or trophy of the first Bickertons. And a Mr. Thomas Bickerton, of London, who died about two years ago at Cruckfield, near Shrewsbury, about seventy years of age, to whom Mr. Bickerton of Edstaston was great uncle, well remembered to have seen this ancient family sword of the Bickertons at Edstaston when he was a boy, and to have heard its history from his great uncle. And when the late Mr. Bickerton, of Edstaston, died (unmarried), he was buried at Loppington, co. Salop, where numbers of the same family are interred; and his effects were sold by auction (including the old family sword): the aforesaid Mr. Thos. Bickerton, of London (nephew of Mr. Richard Bickerton, of Roden), being in the neighbourhood of Edstaston some time after the sale; made much inquiry concerning the fate of the old sword of the Bickertons, and found that it had been purchased by a Blacksmith, in the neighbourhood of Edstaston, who converted it into a carving knife, which proved useless, because the steel was not sufficiently good for that purpose. So ended the history and fate of the old sword of the Bickertons.

From a letter from the Rev. William Boulton, of Wem, Salop, Mr. Rabett makes the name, descended from the same stock as the late Admiral Sir Richard Bickerton, Bart.

Tradition says that three brothers of the name of Bickerton came over to England at the time of the Norman Conquest, and settled in the county of Chester, the Bickerton Hills are called after them.

The present owner of Bramfield has one brother, Captain George William Rabet, R.N., (a distinguished officer in the Royal Navy) who m. Lady Lucy-Louisa-Maria Turnour, second dau. of the late Earl of Winterton, of Shillinglee park, co. Surrey; and one sister, Mary, the wife of Viscount Maynard, of Easton Lodge, co. Essex, Lord Lieutenant of the county. The Countess Stanhope, the Lady Henniker, the Lady Bateman, and their only brother Sir Edward Clarence Kerrison, Bart, following extract:—"From all that I can learn the Bickertons originally came from Cheshire, and they must have been a family of consideration, as there is a village of their name, and also the Bickerton Hills in that county." [Wem, April 13th, 1857.]

The following is an extract from a letter of the Rev. Chas. Butler, of "Great Rex and Loppington," which has been a burial-place of the family of the Bickertons in former years: "The parish register shows that many Bickertons have been buried in Loppington churchyard, but their names are not to be traced there; some of the stones, however, are quite overgrown with grass, and could not be got at without much trouble." [Chas. Butler, June 27th, 1857.]

In another letter from the Rev. Chas. Butler is the following:—"Since I wrote you my clerk has found two large square tombstones and one flat one in the churchyard bearing the name of Bickerton, and there are four others near, which are supposed to mark the burial-places of some of the same family; their inscriptions, however, are illegible, and those of the thus first named can with difficulty be deciphered." [Chas. Butler, June 29th, 1857.]

Mr. Rabet has twenty-nine well painted family portraits in oil, twenty-three of which were in Bramfield Hall when he came into possession of the estate in 1832, and several of them are very old. Mr. Rabet has also many very ancient parchment documents relating to the estate, maps, &c.; three sheriff's rolls; several ancient gold and silver brooches, and other antique reliques; also some ancient family coats of arms from the Heralds' Office, and escutcheons on canvass, with different family quarterings; also a very ancient court sword with a silver (gilt) handle, left by will in 1701; also many family autographs, in a variety of old library books of a very ancient date belonging to the Rabetts, Nelsons, Bohuns, Cornwallises, Rusts, &c. The venerable and celebrated Bramfield oak stood for ages in the centre of the park, but it fell down without a breath of wind a few years since from extreme old age. There is a drawing and description of this oak in the third volume of the Rev. Horace's Suckling's History of Suffolk, and was, only a few years ago, a very ornamental timber tree. It was celebrated in the Civil Wars as being used as a way-mark (between Framlingham Castle and Bungay Castle) by Hugh Bigod, afterwards Duke of Norfolk; and on the hill opposite to the house is a piece of ground, of about an acre or more in circumference, surrounded by a moat, which is called "The Castle Hill." Whether there was anciently a castle there it is difficult to say, but so runs the tradition, and very singular battle-axes have been found on my grounds. There was a very ancient dove-house in the orchard, which could not be less than three or four hundred years old, and which was taken down a few years since. The Bramfield Hall Wood, and King's Haugh Wood, belonging to the estate, are both very ancient woods, and some of the oaks in the park are of a great age. In Bramfield, Yoxford, Beeles, Chillesford, Kellishall, North-Glenham, Dunwich, Blythborough, and other churches, there are monumental, tabular, and mural inscriptions to the memory of the Rabetts, and their intermarriages with other families.

M.P. of Oakley Park, and Brome Hall, being the four children of the late Gen. Sir Edward Kerrison, are the first cousins to the present owner and representative of the Bramfield Hall estate.

Bradshaigh.

THE Manor of Bradshaw near Bolton-le-Moors co. Lancaster has given name to a family which, whether we consider its extreme antiquity, its eminence, or the nobility of its descent, is equalled by but few of the equestrian order in the kingdom. The progenitor of this house at the time of the introduction of surnames, assumed the name of the estate where his ancestors were seated before the Norman Conquest; and, in accordance with the usage of the period, was styled "de Bradshaw." The pedigree begins with UCHTRED, a great Saxon Thane, who held Salford, with several other manors of King Edward the Confessor, in capite, as appears from Domesday Book. The vellum pedigree of 1641, drawn out for the Derbyshire branch, sets forth that "the name of Bradshaw is now an ancient one in this country, but came in with the Saxons;" and it thus describes the first of the race "from whom all the Bradshaws in England are descended." He "stoud out agaynst the Conqueroure and bore arms agaynst him, yett upon his submission to the said Duke of Normandy, being then Kyng of England, itt pleased the sayd Conqueroure to restore him to lyfe and lyving, judging hym to be a man of a good wytt and a noble spyritte, and a bould cowrage, not easily daunted, but bould and courageous, in the face of his enemies." From this distinguished patriarch derived the famous Houses of Bradshaw of Bradshaw, of Bradshaw of Marple, (the family of the President Bradshaw,) and of Bradshaigh of the Haigh, co. Lancaster.

JAMES BRADSHAIGH, Esq. of Haigh, (son and heir of Roger,) Bradshaigh of Haigh,) was father, by Jane, his wife, only dau. and heir of Thomas Hoghton, of Hoghton Tower, of

Sir ROGER BRADSHAIGH, Lord of the Manor of Haigh, who m. shortly before 1596, Anne, dau. of Christopher Anderton, Esq. of Lostock, co. Lancaster, and had a large family; the 7th son

ROGER BRADSHAIGH, Esq. of Wigan, was b. between the years 1600 and 1612, served as a soldier of fortune in the Dutch and French services with much distinction; and is briefly mentioned in the Haigh, pedigree, as “Roger who followed the Wars.” He m. 1640, Elizabeth, dau. of John Bradshaw, of Bradshaw, and had issue. The eldest son

ROBERT BRADSHAW, who went to Ireland with his mother and brother in the year 1663, soon acquired a considerable landed interest in that part of the county of Limerick adjoining the village of Cullen, and in and about the village of Cappowhite, co. Tipperary, which districts were long designated by the native Irish, as “Bradshaigh’s country.” He d. in 1718, leaving by Catherine, his wife, five sons; viz. :—

I. JOHN, his heir.

II. Robert, of Ballyvelode House, Kilnagoneen and Cullen, co. Limerick, b. 7 Dec. 1655, who left by Elizabeth, his wife, several sons. His representative is LETITIA BRADSHAW, sole heiress of the Ballyvelode branch, is a Nun in St. Vincent De Paul’s Convent, Dublin.

III. Roger, b. 1 Nov. 1666, slain by the Irish, in 1687.

IV. Henry, alive in 1730-1.

V. William, of Tantore, b. 19 Oct. 1676, d. 24 Aug. 1748: descendants exist of this William.

The eldest son,

JOHN BRADSHAW, Esq. of Alleen House, b. at Cullen, 4 Sept. 1664, d. in 1731, leaving, by Sarah, his first wife, two sons; John, the younger, was ancestor of the Bradshaws of Corbally: the elder

GEORGE BRADSHAW, Esq. of Castletown Castle, and Carrick Beg, in the counties of Limerick and Tipperary, m. Elizabeth Nicholson, and was father of five sons, of whom the eldest

ROBERT BRADSHAW, Esq. of Kapnagorran, b. 1721, m. Frances, dau. of Samuel Harden, Esq. of Burrisolea, co. Tipperary, and left, inter alios, a son,

WILLIAM HARDEN BRADSHAIGH, Esq. of Kapnagorran, co. Tipperary, and of Fitzwilliam Sq., Dublin, who m. Mary, dau. of John Bradshaw, Esq., and sister of Lieut.-Col. Paris Bradshaw, and was father of

THE REV. PARIS BRADSHAIGH, Incumbent of the united parishes of Dysart, Kilmoleran, Fenagh and Temple Michael, and private chaplain to the Earl of Clonmell, who m. 5 Jan. 1826, Catherine, dau. and co-heir of Rev. Robert Armstrong, Incumbent of Shrone Hill, by Elinor, his wife, dau. of Robert Bradshaw, Esq. of Kapnagorran, and had issue,—

I. WILLIAM-ROGER-HARDEN, his heir.

Stark of Croquer Holm, co. Kirkcudbright.

(REPRESENTATIVE OF HAMILTON OF OLIVESTOB.)

THE family of Stark or Starke derives from that of Muirhead of that ilk, the original arms of which were "arg., on a bend, az., a star of the first, between two acorns, or," where the white star indicates the alliance of the family with the Morays of Bothwell, one of whom so greatly distinguished himself as the friend and associate of the patriot Wallace.

A chief of this family supposed Sir William de Muirhead, of Muirhead, scutifer to the Lord of Galloway and Bothwell, having by his prowess ridded the country of a noted robber, Bertram de Schotts, in the time of King ROBERT II, that king gave him a charter of the lands of Lachope, in the parish of Bothwell, and assigned for arms "arg. on a bend, az., three acorns, or," (LYNDESAY'S Heraldry, p. 119,) and for crest "two hands supporting a sword in pale, ppr." Motto, "Auxilio Dei." He was knighted by King Robert III, and in 1404, after the battle of Homildon, was sent Commissioner to England, to treat of the ransom of prisoners. (See Nesbit's Heraldry, vol. i, p. 448, and vol. ii, p. 259.)

It was an individual of this family who saved King James IV from a bull in the forest of Cumbernauld, and for his strength in this loyal and valiant act, he was called STARK. The armorial bearings then also given him were "az., a chevron between three acorns in chief, or, and a bull's head, erased, in base of the second. For crest, a bull's head, erased, arg., distilling drops of blood, ppr. Motto, Fortiorum fortia facta. (See Nesbit, ut supra.)

The first mention of the name after this appears to be Helen Stark, wife of Robert Lamb, of Perth, accused before Cardinal Beaton of opposing the doctrines of Friar Spence, at Perth. She was eminently distinguished for her courage and Christian fortitude, and is said by the Rev. Christopher Anderson in his Annals of the Bible, vol. ii, p. 530, to have been the first and only martyr of her sex in Scotland of which we read. See Memorabilia of Perth, anno 1544; Peacock's Perth, p. 135; FOXE's Book of Martyrs; and ANDERSON'S Annals of the Bible.

Soon after this the name frequently appears. There was John Stark of Auchinvole, co. Dumbarton, whose youngest son James was served heir to his brothers John and Thomas, in 1629; and John Stark of Killermont, in the same county, whose son John was served heir to him 20th July, 1652. This last was John Stark of Killermont, the Covenanter, who was in arms at Bothwell Bridge in 1679. Of the same religious party were afterwards, in 1684, his son John Stark younger of Killermont, John Stark senior, and John Stark, younger of Banknock, co. Stirling, and Thomas Stark in Carstairs town of Quodquhoun.

DR. WILLIAL STARK, the eminent physician, was of the family of Killermont. He was educated for the medical profession, first at Glasgow, and then successively at Edinburgh, London, and Leyden, at which last he took his degree in 1767. Returning to London in 1769, he began his course of experiments on diet, from the effects of which he died, after a short illness, 23rd Feb., 1770, greatly regretted. His elder brother was the Rev. JOHN STARK, minister of Lecropt, near Stirling whose dau. Helen Stark, became the wife of William Mayne, Esq. of Powis, co. Clackmannan; and their sister Margaret Stark having m. Alexander Munro, merchant in Glasgow, was mother of the distinguished Governor of Madras, Major-General Sir Thomas Munro, Bart., b. at Glasgow, 27 May, 1761, d. at Madras, 6 July, 1827.

Mr. Stark, the immediate ancestor of the present branch, and probably a younger son of the Covenanter, had issue by his wife Janet Murray, three sons Walter, James, and Thomas; the youngest of whom,

THOMAS STARK, farmer, in the parish of Lobberton, co. Lanark, had six children, William, James, Walter, John, Thomas, and Isabella. The third son,

WALTER STARK, residing in Blythesmuir, parish of Linton, co. Peebles, b. April, 1730, d. 7 November, 1818, in the eighty-eighth year of his age having had by his wife, Anna Liddell, three sons and two daus. The eldest son JAMES STARK, who was b. 26 May, 1753, and who d. 29 December, 1803, was father of the late JOHN STARK, Esq. of Huntfield, parish of Lobberton, co. Lanark, father of the distinguished statist, Dr. James Stark, F.R.S.E. Thomas the second son of the said Walter Stark, d. young; and the third and youngest son,

WILLIAM STARK, of Edinburgh, b. 30 October, 1758, had by his wife, Anne Smith, who was remarkable for her exemplary piety, b. 28 May, 1761, d. 26 January, 1835, in all nine children, of whom the eldest was Adam Stark, author of the "History of the Bishoprick of Lincoln" and other works. The youngest,

JAMES STARKE, Esq., F.S.A. of Troqueer Holm, co. Kirkcudbright, b. 5 May 1798, passed advocate at the Scotch Bar, January, 1824. In 1838, he was appointed Justice of the Peace for the city of Edinburgh, and the same year elected of the Common Council, and chosen Second Bailie of the city. In 1839, he was appointed Ruling Elder to the General Assembly for the city, and chosen First Bailie thereof. In December of that year he was constituted Her Majesty's Advocate-General of the island of Ceylon; and in October following one of the Honourable Judges of the Supreme Court there. He m. Miss J. Hamilton Gibson, dau. of Major James Gibson, eldest son of James Gibson, Esq., surgeon in Edinburgh, by Jean, his wife, dau. of Major Thomas Hamilton, of the Royal Irish Dragoons, only son and heir of James Hamilton, Esq. of Olivestob, sometime Sheriff of the co. Haddington, and by her had issue, James Gibson Starke, b. 9 February, 1837, and William Starke, b. 18 April, 1839, of H.M. 15th Regiment of Foot; Major Gibson on his marriage, impaled his shield with that of Hamilton of Olivestob, and by a patent from the Lyon Office of 8 July, 1848, James Starke, Esq., bears the following :

Arms.—Az. on a chevron, arg., between a bull's head, erased, and two acorns in chief, or, for STARKE; and in base a key fesseways, wards downwards, of the third for GIBSON; a martlet between two cinquefoils, gu., for HAMILTON (of Olivestob).

PLATE XXIX.

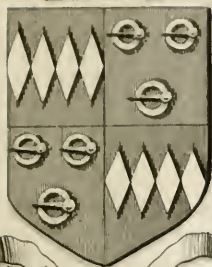

Mallet de Carteret.

The ancient and noble family of De Carteret, of St. Ouens Manor, in the island of Jersey, is represented by EDWARD CHARLES MALLET DE CARTERET,¹ Esq., Licutenant in Her Majesty's 88th Regiment, Seigneur de St. Ouen, who by royal licence, dated 5th April, 1859, has assumed, in addition to his own, the surname of De Carteret.

In the charters of the cathedral of Coutances, and of the Abbeys of Fontenelle and Bec, in Normandy, great and honourable mention is made of the De Carterets, of whom the chief, in 1002, took on him sovereign authority in the barony of Carteret, situated on the coast of that duchy, opposite the eastern part of the island of Jersey. The ancient Norman historians, Louis de Couis, in his history of the Crusades, and Du Moulin, in his history of Normandy, speak largely of this family, which, during upwards of seven centuries, has held the Seigneurie of St. Ouens, which takes precedence of every other feudal tenure in Jersey, and bears the ancient title of "Le Grand Fief Haubert de St. Ouen," with two knights' fees and service, in addition to that of its Lord or Seigneur. Anciently this honour and lordship fell into the charge and keeping of the Sovereign, during the minority of its heir; and the honourable and responsible post of keeper of the fortresses of the island was, of right, confided to the Seigneurs de St. Ouen, in the absence by death or otherwise of the governor.

Our limits do not permit us to make more than a very cursory mention of a few of the members of this race of insular heroes and statesmen who have sprung up in rapid succession from this house, whose sons, in one long and unbroken line, are recorded, from 1066 to 1859, at the College of Arms, London; and whose history, replete with events affording ample and singular proof of their energy of purpose and chivalrous bravery, is to be found in numerous and authenticated public and private sources in England, Normandy, and Jersey. Their patriotism and talents have been such and so transcendent in the discharge of the duties of the chief civil and military posts in their native island from the earliest period, and under great and arduous difficulties in the eventful times of the Rebellion, as to have obtained the proud distinction of a long and continued special favour of their Sovereigns.

OMFREY and MAUGER DE CARTERET fought at Hastings in 1066, and as deserving knights are made mention of in the "Roman du Rou."

REGINALD DE CARTERET accompanied Robert Duke of Normandy and Godfroi de Bouillon to the first great Crusade in 1096, and his arms are recorded by Du Moulin.

PHILIP DE CARTERET, in fulfilment of a pious vow, made when in great danger of shipwreck off the coast of Guernsey, built in 1129, at his own cost, the church of Porteval, in that island.

SIR REGINALD DE CARTERET, Knight, who assumed the chief command of the insular forces when Drogo de Barentin, the governor, was killed, after performing prodigies of valour, succeeded in forcing the French, who had made several destructive forays and descents on the island, to abandon it; and afterwards joining the fleet commanded by Reynold de Cobham and Geoffrey d'Harcourt, was chiefly instrumental, by the reinforcement of his troops, in recovering the island of Guernsey, of which the French had obtained possession. And his grandson, the celebrated SIR REGINALD DE CARTERET, Knight, Captain of the King's Castles in Jersey, had the signal honour of compelling the illustrious Du Guesclin to raise the siege of Mount-Orgeuil Castle, which he had closely invested in 1374 with an army of ten thousand men, among whom were comprised the flower of the French chivalry, and the Duke de Bourbon. For this glorious achievement the honour of knighthood was conferred, the same day, on Sir Reginald and his seven sons by Edward III.

SIR PHILIP DE CARTERET, Knight, (grandson of Sir Reginald), who m. Margaret, dau. of Sir William Newton, Knight of Gloucester, also displayed, in an eminent degree, those great qualities which were peculiar to his race, preserved for the second time the island of Jersey from French possession, and succeeded in expelling Pièrre de Brézé, Comte de Maulevrier, Grand Sénéchal of Normandy, who during five years, from 1461 to 1466, had retained under subjection the six eastern parishes of Jersey; during the difficult and long warfare he had to maintain against this foe, he narrowly escaped being captured by a band of French men-at-arms, who had waylaid him, to cut off his return to his manor of St. Ouen, whilst he was fishing at his pond or mere of that name. By leaping his horse across a rugged and deep ravine, twenty-two feet wide and eighteen feet deep, he distanced his pursuers and reached his stronghold in safety, although with the loss of his gallant steed, who, exhausted by the severe trial, dropped down dead; the poor horse was buried in the garden, and a painting of him may still be seen at the Manor House.

PHILIP DE CARTERET, Sir Phillip's grandson, Lord of St. Ouen, who m. Margaret, only dau. of Sir Richard Harliston, Governor of Jersey, nearly fell victim to a foul plot of accusation of treachery, based on a forged letter, purporting to offer to betray basely the island to France, produced against him by his enemy, Sir Matthew Baker, the governor, whose vexatious and unjust exactions exercised on the inhabitants had been withstood and severely commented upon by De Carteret: this letter was written by one Le Boutilleir, whom the Seigneur de St. Ouen had saved from capital punishment. By the connivance of the then bailli, Clement le Hardy, Sir Philip was imprisoned in Mount-Orgeuil Castle, and stinted of food in order to render unequal the trial by combat, which he was unjustly condemned to accept from this miscreant on the Feast of St. Lawrens. That side of the lists from which he was to do battle was subsequently found to be studded with numerous pitfalls, artfully covered over to hasten his destruction; but his heroic wife, to obtain her husband's liberation, clandestinely left the island in an open boat with only one trusty servant, in the depth of winter, and four days only after her confinement, and obtaining an audience of the king, Henry VII, who at that time held his court at Salisbury, returned to Jersey successful; the king having, by writ under the great seal, fully reinstated her injured husband. This Lady of St. Ouen was mother of twenty sons and one daughter, all presented to the king the same day.

HELIN DE CARTERET, one of the sons of the above, became Bailli of Jersey, and by his great energy and skill secured many valuable rights and privileges to the island. By his determined resistance to the unjust attempt made by Sir Hugh Vaughan, the governor, to seize the estate and fief of Trinity Manor, he incurred the displeasure of Cardinal Wolsey, who patronised Vaughan; and during a protracted detention in the Fleet Prison, to which the all-powerful minister twice committed him, he, nevertheless, so boldly asserted and maintained the goodness of his cause in the Star Chamber, before Wolsey, that he returned to the duties of his bailliwick with the full recognition of his uprightness. This independent judge was likewise chiefly instrumental in establishing the reformed religion in Jersey.

Another, HELIN DE CARTERET, Lord of St. Ouen, for his services and success in rescuing the island of Sark from the French, and defeating them signally at Bouley Bay, in Jersey, received the former island from Queen Elizabeth as a fief Haubert, on the payment of an annual rent of fifty shillings; and by him it was colonized, and its waste lands reclaimed.

SIR PHILIP DE CARTERET knighted by Queen Elizabeth in 1580, m. Rachel, dau. and co-heiress of Sir George Pawlett, Bailli, of the family of Hinton St. George, co. Somerset, ancestor of the present Earl Poulett.

SIR PHILIP DE CARTERET, Knight, Lord of St. Ouen, born 1583, covered himself with glory in the defence of the cause of his royal master, Charles I. He was appointed bailli in 1626, and lieutenant-governor to Lord Jermyn shortly after, and held those offices till his death. His talents, devoted loyalty, and bravery were of the highest order, and it may justly be said that the great talents of his race shone conspicuously in him. After undergoing the horrors of a siege in Elizabeth Castle, and experiencing the cold and cruel desertions of many who should have been his friends, he, with a chosen and devoted band, and with undiminished vigour and resolution, maintained the defence of that fortress; whilst his heroic wife, Ann, dau. of Sir Francis Dowse, Knight of Wallop, co. Hants, also maintained, for the same cause, the castle of Mount-Orgeuil with equal vigour. Sir Philip made good his defence against the vigorous assaults of the Parliamentary forces until his death, which took place in Elizabeth Castle, on the 23rd of August, 1643. Among other children he had issue Francis, who became Attorney-General of Jersey; he m., 30 July, 1662, Ann, dau. of Thomas Seale, Esq. of the parish of St. Brelade, and through him, in the female line, the Seignior of St. Ouen has been held by the families of Le Maistre and Mallet. For his distinguished and devoted loyalty to the royal cause, Charles II, conferred the Bailiwick of Jersey as a hereditary honour on the Seigneurs de St. Ouen, and caused great and honourable mention of this faithful servant, and of his celebrated nephew, Sir George de Carteret, Bart., R.N., to be engraved on the mace of the Royal Court which was presented to it by that Sovereign.

SIR PHILIP DE CARTERET, Knight, his son, Lord of St. Ouen, Sark, and Royal Bailli of Jersey, assisted his mother, Lady de Carteret, in the defence of Mount-Orgeuil Castle, and on her death, in 1644, succeeded to the command of that fortress, which he held until 27 October 1651, when it capitulated to the superior forces of Colonel Haynes and Admiral Blake. Sir Philip was knighted by Charles II, when Prince of Wales, in St. Aubin's Bay, in Jersey, at the head of the island forces which he commanded, the 29th April, 1645.

SIR PHILIP DE CARTERET, created a Baronet in 1670, rebuilt the Manor-house of St. Ouen as it now stands: he m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Edward de Carteret; and dying in 1693, was succeeded by his only child,

SIR CHARLES DE CARTERET, Bart., Bailli of Jersey, who d. unm. in 1715, and was buried in Westminster Abbey. In him the male elder branch of the house of St. Ouen became extinct.

Independently of the manifold acts of goodness and greatness conferred by this illustrious family on their native island, to it alone belongs the immortal honour of having saved its country, on three distinct occasions, from the possession of the French; for in addition to the signal repulse and expulsion of its ancient foe by Sir Reginald under Edward III, and by Sir Philip under Edward IV, Sir George, who succeeded his uncle in the command of Elizabeth Castle during the civil wars, also prevented, by his singular energy, its ignominious sale to France by Lord Jernyn, its governor, who had received instructions for that unhappy negotiation from Henrietta, the Queen of Charles I, in her extremity and want of means.

The three principal branches of this ancient house are now represented, in the present branches of St. Ouen, by EDWARD CHARLES MALLET DE CARTERET, Esq. of the 88th Regiment; that of England, founded at Hawnes, co. Bedford, by SIR GEORGE DE CARTERET, Bart., Vice-Chamberlain to Charles II, Treasurer of the Navy, (whose grandson was raised to the peerage) by the Rev. Lord John Thynne, Sub-Dean of Westminster; and that of Trinity Manor, in Jersey, by the Count de St. George, son of Miss de Carteret, sister of the late Lady Symonds, who was eldest sister of the gallant and distinguished Sir Philip de Carteret Sylvester, Captain R.N., who d. without issue.

Morris.

THE REV. FRANCIS ORPEN MORRIS, B.A., Worcester Coll., Oxford, Chaplain to the Duke of Cleveland, and Rector of Nunburnholme, and a Magistrate for the East Riding of Yorkshire, a distinguished naturalist, the able and popular author of a "History of British Birds," and of a great number of other works in divinity and science, is of ancient Welsh ancestry, his family being one of those which claim descent from ELYSTAN GLODRYDD, Prince of Ferlys.

Mr. Orpen Morris is eldest son of the late Rear-Admiral Henry Gage Morris, by Rebecca Newenham-Millerd, his wife, third dau. of the Rev. Francis Orpen, Vicar of Kilgarvan and Rector of Dungorney, and grandson of the Hon. Roger Morris, a member of the Governor's Council at New York, and a Lieutenant-Colonel in the army, by Mary his wife, dau. of Frederick Philipse, Esq., great-grandson of Frederick Philipse, of Philipsbourg, one of the principal founders of New York. Mallet.

THIS family, which has been established in the eastern part of the ancient Norman possession of Jersey since the latter part of the reign of the CONQUEROR, is an early branch of the noble house of Mallet-de-Graville, near Harfleur, in Normandy. William Mallet, the ancestor of several branches who fought at Hastings in 1066, is spoken of in terms of high distinction in the "Roman du Rou," and was also Captain of York Castle in 1069.

Mention is made, in 1180, of the property of Robert Mallet, Seigneur de la Malletière, in the parish of Groville, in the island of Jersey, and of certain dues in the Rolls of the Exchequer of Normandy, under the Kings of England; and a patent roll of the 16th of John, 1214, states that William Mallet, his son, was, in his behalf, one of the hostages who, with several others taken from the chief families of the island, were called to England by that Sovereign as guarantees and pledges of attachment to his Crown, in 1206, after the loss of the Duchy of Normandy, of which the Channel Islands formed part, and was detained alone during eight years under the charge of the Abbot of the great Monastery of Benedictines of St. Peter, of Gloucester. And a close roll of the 7th Henry III, 1223, reinstating in his possessions this hostage, who had been unjustly dispossessed, during his long sojourn in England and after his father's death, of his fief and lands in the parish of Grouville, also states that they were held by his ancestors of the Dukes of Normandy in capite, bearing the name of this family for whom it was created, in remote times, and called the "Fief de la Malletière," the corruption of Mallet-Terre or Terre de Mallet. Several other portions of this ancient Norman tenure also retain the family patronymic; although by the extinction of its elder branch, in 1603, in the person of Isabella Mallet, Lady of La Malletière, and La Hague and Les Ricards, two other fiefs in the western parish of St. Peter, which had been in the possession of her family since 1489, it passed into other hands.

WILLIAM MALLET, Seigneur de la Hougue and La Malletière, was killed, in 1338, at Castle-Cornet, in the adjoining island of Guernsey, when it was recaptured from the French by its inhabitants, aided by those of Jersey.

ANTHONY MALLET was Roman Catholic vice-dean of the island in 1500; and Thomas Mallet dean in 1515.

RICHARD MALLET, Seigneur de la Malletière, La Hague and Les Ricards, was one of the jurats or magistrates of the Royal Court of Jersey, in 1524.

And the late Rev. JOHN MALLET, who d. at an advanced age, in 1851, rector of his original ancestral parish of Grouville, and lineal descendant of James Mallet, a younger son of La Maison de Mallet, the name of the residence of the fief until 1603, who settled in the adjoining parish of St Martin, temp., Henry VII, is now represented by his three surviving sons, JOHN, ROBERT-PHILIP, and WILLIAM-EDMUND; the eldest JOHN MALLET, Esq., has issue an only son, Edward Charles Mallet de Carteret, Esq., Lieut. in H.M. 88th Regiment, who has assumed by royal licence, in addition to his own, the name and arms of de Carteret¹ of St. Ouen's manor, Jersey, as Seigneur de St. Ouen, and lineal representative, maternally, of the ancient and noble family of de Carteret of St. Ouen.

The arms of the Norman house of Mallet, were recorded as early as 1096, in the cathedral of Bayeux in Normandy, and were borne by Robt. Mallet, who accompanied Robert, Duke of Normandy, and Godfroi de Bouillon, to the first great Crusade, in the same year; and the supporters, two griffins, were first borne, as is attested by an impression of his seal, by John Mallet, Sire de Gravelle, who was beheaded at Rouen, in May, 1355, and who m. Eleonora, dau. of Guy de Chatillon, Comte de St. Pol, grand butler of Francis, and of Mary, dau. of John II, Duke of Brittany, and of Beatrice of England, dau. of Henry III.

The floor of the great guard-chamber formerly attached to that imposing monument of Norman architecture, the Abbaye aux Hommes, built at Caen by the Conqueror, was formerly paved with encaustic tiles, on which were represented the arms of sixteen Norman noble families, whose rank and distinction entitled them to that high honour. In addition to the ensigns of the Conqueror and his consort, Matilda, occur among others, those of the families of Harcourt, Talvas, Tresgoze, Tilley, Mallet, Fiennes, Annesley, &c., &c., and on some, comprising this early and unique tile armorial, which were removed to England before the French Revolution, the fermals or buckles of the family of Mallet are clearly depicted.

Arms.—Gu., three fermals, or buckles, or, with a crescent, arg., in chief for difference.

Crest.—Out of a ducal coronet, or, a cock, statant, gu.

Motto.—En Dieu affie.

Parr.

THE REV. HENRY PARR, late Vicar of Taunton, co. Somerset, now resident at Tunbridge, co. Kent, is son of the late Thomas Parr, Esq. of Lythwood Hall, co. Salop, whose father, John Parr, Esq. of Elm House, co. Lancaster, represented a branch of the ancient Lancashire family of Parr, seated at the manor of Parr, from the thirteenth century (see BURKE'S Landed Gentry).

From the same parent stock derived the PARRS of Kendal, whose representative, William Parr, Marquess of Northampton, (brother of Queen KATHERINE PARR,) d. s. p., 1571 (see BURKE'S Extinct Peerage).

of Rathmines, in the co. of Dublin,) who was a Captain of Dragoons in the army of King Charles I, and married, 1634, Elizabeth, only dau. and heiress of Captain Edmund Rowe, of Clohane in the co. Kerry. He derives in a direct descent from a distinguished line of the noble and illustrious family of Conway, which was originally established in the Principality of Wales at a very remote period, and became ennobled under the titles of Baron Conway of Ragley, in the co. of Warwick, of Viscount Conway of Aber Conway, in the co. of Carnarvon, of Viscount Conway of Killultagh and EARL CONWAY.

Arms.—Sa., on a bend, cottised, arg., a rose, gu., between two annulets of the field; in the sinister chief point, a crescent, or.

Crest.—The bust of a Moor in profile, coupéd at the shoulders, ppr., wreathed about the temples, arg. and az., and charged on the breast with a crescent, arg.

Motto.—Fide et amore.

Blencowe, of Marston St. Lawrence, Northamptonshire.

JOHN-ALEXANDER BLENCOWE, Esq. of Marston, son and heir-apparent of the late John-Jackson Blencowe, Esq. of Marston, by Cecilia his wife, dau. of the Rev. Charles Prowett, rector of Stapleford, Herts, represents the Northamptonshire family of Blencowe, a very ancient branch of the Cumberland House of Blencowe. Sir John Blencowe of Marston St. Lawrence, lineally descended from John Blencowe, who was resident at Marston St. Lawrence, temp., HENRY VI, was a very eminent lawyer and became one of the judges of the Common Pleas. He d. 1726, at the age of 84, and was succeeded by his eldest son, John Blencowe, Esq. of Marston, from whom the present John Alexander Blencowe, Esq., is 5th in descent.

Arms.—Gu., a canton, arg.

Crest.—A sword, in pale, arg., hilt in chief, or, enfiladed with a human heart, gu., all between two wings expanded, arg.

Motto.—Quorsum vivere mori mori vitæ.

Cowell-Stepney, of Llanelly.

JOHN STEPNEY COWELL-STEPNEY, Esq., J.P. of Llanelly, co. Carmarthen, and of St. George's Place, Hyde Park Corner, London, Knight of the Hanoverian Guelphic Order, F.S.A., Lieut.-Col. late Coldstream Guards, son of the late Gen. Andrew Cowell, by Maria-Justina his wife, youngest dau. of Sir Thomas Stepney, Bart., and widow of Francis Head, Esq. of St. Andrew's Hall, Norfolk, assumed, by Royal Licence, the additional surname and arms of STEPNEY.

LIEUT.-COLONEL COWELL-STEPNEY, by his father's marriage with Maria-Justina, youngest dau. of Sir Thomas Stepney, Bart., and sister and (in her descendants) co-heir of Sir Thomas Stepney, the last of the Baronets of that name, has succeeded to the estate of Llanelly, in the co. of Carmarthen, which Sir Thomas Stepney, Bart., the great-grandfather of Mrs. Cowell, obtained in marriage with Margaret, dau. and co-heir of John Vaughan, of Llanelly, of an ancient family in Wales; ennobled in the person of Sir John Vaughan, of Golden Grove, who was created Lord Vaughan in 1621, and Earl of Carbery in 1634; the Vaughans were descended from all the Chieftains and ancient Princes of Wales, and through the marriage of Walter Vaughan, father of the 1st Earl of Carbery, with Mary, dau. of Griffith ap Rhys of Newtown, son of Rhys ap Griffith, by Mary, dau. of Thomas Howard, Duke of Norfolk, they likewise derived descent from the Royal House of Plantagenet.

Prior to the marriage of the Stepneys with the heiress of Llanelly in 1691, they had been seated at Prendergast, co. Pembroke, and in the preceding generation, Sir John Stepney, Bart., had m. Justina, dau. and sole heir of Sir Anthony Vandyke, by Mary Ruthven his wife, dau. of Patriek Ruthven, (so long a prisoner in the Tower,) younger brother of John, Earl of Gowrie, and Lord Ruthven and Dirleton, who was slain in his house at Perth, 5 Aug., 1600, but whether he fell there the victim of his own treason, or the victim of the base treason of his sovereign, time has failed to discover. Mary Ruthven, the wife of Sir Anthony Vandyke, is supposed to have eventually been the only descendant of her father, and to have carried the representation of the Ruthven family into that of Stepney.

Arms.—Quarterly: 1st and 4th, gu., a fesse, chequy, or and az., between three owls, arg., for STEPNEY; 2nd and 3rd, az., a lion rampant, guardant, or, on a chief, dovetailed, of the last, three pallets, gu., each charged with as many bezants, for COWELL.

Crests.—A talbot's head, erased, gu., eared, or, gorged, with a collar, chequy, of the 2nd, and az., and holding in the mouth an antler, gold, STEPNEY; on a mount, vert, a lion passant, guardant, or, charged with three pallets, gu., and holding in the dexter paw, a chapeau, also gu., turned up, erm. COWELL.

Motto.—Facta probant.

PLATE XXXI.

Rothwell, of Sharples Hall.

RICHARD RAINSHAW ROTHWELL, Esq.,¹ of Sharples Hall², near Bolton-le-Moors, co. Palatine of Lancaster, and of the Inner Temple, London, Barrister-at-Law, M.A., sometime a Gentleman Commoner of Brazenose College, Oxford, b. 11 Feb., 1809, descends from an old Lancashire family.

¹ William Rothwell, who was presented to the Vicarage of Dean by King HENRY VIII, was probably an ancestor of this gentleman, and James Rothwell, b. in 1667, and m. in 1718, to Sarah Rainshaw, of Manchester, and presented to the same Vicarage by Queen ANN, was his great-grandfather.—See “Baines’ Lancashire,” v. 3, Dean Parish, and see also “Dean Register.”

² The original edifice called Sharples Hall is, as far as can be ascertained, full three hundred years old; it was formerly a plain building, but has been rendered, by a considerable expenditure, a superior mansion, surrounded by plantations and pleasure grounds. In its immediate vicinity are several places of historic interest,—Turton Tower, where Oliver Cromwell is stated to have occasionally resided; Bradshaw Hall, the family seat of the President Bradshaw; Hoghton Tower, memorable for the magnificent entertainment given to JAMES I, in his progress from Scotland to London; and Smithell’s Hall, the property, at one period, of the noble family of Belasyse. There is also, in the neighbouring town of Bolton-le-Moors, the old Market Cross, where the chivalrous Earl of Derby was beheaded a few years after his royal master suffered a similar fate at Whitehall. Besides, in this same old town of Bolton, Sir Richard Arkwright in early life earned his bread; and at Hall-in-the-Wood, not far distant, dwelt Samuel Crompton, the inventor of the important cotton machine called the mule. Among the rarities in the possession of the present Mr. Rothwell, of Sharples Hall, should be especially mentioned a series of more than a hundred letters in the handwriting of the late Duke of Wellington, and a beautifully executed portrait in oil of Shakespeare, copied probably from the portrait attributed to Cornelius Jansen, in the Duke of Somerset’s collection.

Mr. Rothwell’s ancestors, as Lords of Sharples, were formerly entitled to claim two gilt spurs yearly from Smithells, but the owner of that estate bought the claim off before Sharples came into Mr. Rothwell’s possession.

At page 223 of “Gregson’s History of Lancashire,” published in 1824, these arms, “arg. two cheverons, engrailed, sa., on each three besants,” are engraved and described under the account of Sefton as borne by the Rothwell family. They were also borne by a branch of the Rothwells seated in Lincolnshire, a member of which branch was, in 1661, created a baronet, and from him descends Lord Middleton, Thomas Willoughby, first Lord Middleton, of Wollaton Hall, co. Notts, having married Elizabeth, dau. and co-heir of Sir Richard Rothwell.

II. Ralph, b. 1st Feb. 1816, now residing at Dover, co. Kent, Esq.

In "Dugdale's Baronage," several pages are devoted to particulars respecting the Willoughbys of Eresby, the Willoughbys, Lords Brooke, and the Willoughbys of Parham. Elizabeth Rothwell Lady Willoughby's great aunt, Jane Rothwell married Robert Standish. The Standish family is one of the oldest in Lancashire, and is allied to the Molineuxes, Earls of Sefton, (the patronage of the valuable rectory of which parish belongs to the family of R. R. Rothwell, Esq.), Bradshaighs of Haigh, Hoghtons of Hoghton Tower, &c. Lady Standish, the widow of Sir Richard Standish, became the wife of Sir Thomas Stanley, of Bickerstaffe (of the same family as the Earl of Derby, who, in 1844, was summoned to the House of Peers in his father's barony as Baron Stanley, of Bickerstaffe). The Hoghtons, of Hoghton Tower, near Sharples Hall, were allied to the Earls of Chesterfield and the Viscounts Massereene. Sir Henry Hoghton, the 5th Baronet, was for many years a Member of Parliament, and is said to have "rendered the most peculiar advantages to his country in innumerable respects." He married Lady Mary Russell, widow of Lord James Russell, fifth son of William, Duke of Bedford.

² The Rev. Jeremiah Horrox, who predicted, and was the first to see, the transit of Venus over the sun, was formerly Curate of Hoole: the townships of Much and Little Hoole, then comprised this Curacy, but they now form the Rectory of Hoole. Horrox was b. in 1619, and d. in 1641, at the early age of 22.—See his "Life and Labours," by Whatton.

Wright-Warren.

COLONEL RICHARD WRIGHT WARREN, of Mespil, co. Dublin, who took the name of WARREN, by royal letters patent, is descended from James Wright, Esq., of Gowlea, co. Monaghan, a Captain in the army, claiming descent from the Wrights of Kilverstone, co. Norfolk, one of the most ancient families in England, possessing large estates in that county since the time of the Saxons; one of the Wrights of Norfolk was Lord Keeper, temp. CHARLES II. Through his grandmother, Dame Catherine Dowdall, the wife of his grandfather, Richard Wright, Esq., of the co. Down, and the dau. and heiress of George Dowdall, Esq., of Glaspistal, by Dame Margaret Ruthven, dau. of John Trotter Ruthven, he is a descendant of the celebrated Earl of Ruthven, of the peerage of Scotland. The family of Dowdall is of great antiquity.

Colonel Warren served with distinction throughout the War of Independence in Colombia under the immediate orders of BOLIVAR. Upon the termination of that fierce and protracted struggle he was appointed Governor of the Province of Loxa, which office he held for seven years. He was subsequently named Commandant-General of Quito, and finally Consul-General, Chargé d'Affaires at Her Majesty's Court.

Colonel Warren received for his conduct in action nine different decorations, together with the hereditary collar and insignia decreed in honour of Bolivar, and the liberators of Peru, by the Council of Government of that State. The titular distinction prefixed to his name "Bonemerito," was likewise awarded him by the Congress of Colombia for his conduct in the battle of Maracaybo, June, 1823, which victory sealed the independence of Colombia as a sovereign Power, together with a gold shield to be worn on his left arm, bearing the following motto:—

"To valour and constancy."
 "The Congress of Colombia."
 "1824."

For the victory of Ayacucho, achieved by the army of Bolivar over the Spanish forces commanded by the Viceroy Canterac, who, together with fifteen of his Generals, among them Espartero, were made prisoners, the Government of Peru instituted an hereditary order, the decoration of which contains in the centre of a star, the bust in gold, of the Liberator Simon Bolivar. Col. Richard Warren—then Wright—received investiture of this distinction in 1826, the patent running in the following words:—

“Don Andres Santa Cruz, Grand Marshal, President of the Council of Government of the Republic of Peru, &c.—The Council of Government, desiring to carry into effect the sovereign decree of the Senate and Chamber of Representatives, bearing date the 21st of February, 1825, caused the decoration thereby provided to be made with the bust of the illustrious hero of the New World—the Father of the Country, Simon Bolivar.

“This decoration, of inestimable value in the eyes of Liberty and Justice, whilst testifying the gratitude of Peru, should be regarded as the most honourable distinction in those noble men (claros barones) who, uniting their skill and bravery with that of their leader, the great champion of our independence, contributed with dauntless patriotism to break our chains and to establish the empire of the public will. Forasmuch, and in conformity with the spirit of the ninth article of said decree, I have directed the decoration aforementioned to be conferred on Lieut.-Col. Richard Wright; so that, with a noble pride for the part which he has had in such an heroic enterprise, he may transmit it to his descendants as a testimony of recompense accorded to his merits and virtues, as well as of acknowledgment to the hero in whose honour it is instituted.

“ANDRES SANTA CRUZ,

“By His Excellency, J. M. DE PANDO.”

The decoration is worn suspended from the neck by a tricolour ribbon.

Colonel Warren is also a Chevalier of the noble and distinguished order of CHARLES III of Spain.

Wright, of Guayaquil.

GENERAL THOMAS CHARLES WRIGHT, of Guayaquil, the second son of Joseph Wright, Esq., of Queensboro', Drogheda, and of Sophia his wife, a scion of the ancient and honourable family of Montgomery, of Beaulieu, co. Louth, served early in life in the British navy; but in 1817 he joined the army of Bolivar, then in campaign for the independence of Columbia, and highly distinguished himself as a brave and good officer. Having participated in nearly all the principal actions and victories achieved under that celebrated chief until the final independence of the Columbian Republic, he attained the rank of General of Division. He married the niece of President Rocafuerte and of M. Gainza, formerly Viceroy of Central America, and has several children.

Duffield, of Coberdale, co. York.

THE Duffield family, which derived its name from the township of Duffield, near York, was connected with that neighbourhood so early as the reign of King EDWARD II., when Richard de Duffield served the honourable office of bailiff of the city of York. The family held the manor of Skelton, as parcel of the manor of Raskelf, in the reign of HENRY IV., and enjoyed great privileges derived from the forest of Galtres, which extended from York to Aldborough, about six miles from Ripon, with which last named place the Duffields were for several centuries connected. One of the Duffields of Grantley, in Ripon, is registered in the Heralds' Visitation of the co. of York, made in 1666, as having married Mary, dau. of James Favell, of Keireby, in the parish of Kirby Overblows. The last few descents of the Duffields are registered at the Ulster Office of Arms, Dublin, and at the College of Arms, London.

THOMAS DUFFIELD, of Ripon Park, (to whose descendants the ancient arms were duly confirmed under the hand and official seal of the late Sir William Betham, Ulster King of Arms,) was baptized on the 28th Nov., 1714; he m. Mary Dawson, of North Leys, in the co. of York, and dying 22nd April, 1782, was buried on the 24th of the same month at Ripon. His only child and heir RICHARD DUFFIELD, of Ripon and Theakston, co. of York, was baptized on the 26th of May, 1739, and on the 15th of June, 1775, m. at Coverham, co. of York, Anne, dau. of Matthew Dawson, (a descendant of Sir Roger Dawson) of Carlton, in the said parish of Coverham. Richard Duffield died on the 31st of July, 1833, and left by his wife (who upon the death of her only brother, Roger Dawson, in 1795, became the representative of the Carlton branch of the ancient family of Dawson, of Coverdale, which is now extinct in the male line), two sons:—

- I. Richard Duffield, b. 28 July, 1783, B.D., Rector of Frating and Thorington, co. Essex; m. 2 May, 1832, Sophia Barbara, eldest dau. of the Rev. Thomas Kerrich, M.A., Prebendary of Lincoln, and Vicar of Dersingham, co. Norfolk.

PLATE XXXIII.

De Angulo, or Nangle, Palatine Baron of Navan.

AMONGST the knights who accompanied Richard de Clare, Earl of Pembroke, better known as Earl Strongbow, in the Anglo-Norman invasion of Ireland, A.D. 1169, or the following year, were GILBERT DE ANGULO, or NANGLE, and his two sons, Jocelyn and Hostilio. From the latter, descends the family of COSTELLO, called from him Mac Hostilio, or Mac Costello; they acquired possession of an extensive territory in the province of Connaught, in the affairs of which they took a very prominent part, the heads of the family holding for several centuries, the rank and power of chieftains; from them the Barony of Costello, in the co. Mayo, derived its name; whence the chief of the family was often styled Baron of Costello. Hostilio de Angulo, was father of Milo, or Miles Mac Hostilio, who left a son Philip Mac Costello. GILBERT DE ANGULO, obtained from Hugh de Lacy, the whole territory of Magherigalen¹ (now the barony of Morgallion), in Meath. He was succeeded by his son,

JOCELYN DE ANGULO, to whom Hugh de Lacy gave Navan and the lands of Ardbraccan,² conferring on him therewith the title and dignity of BARON OF NAVAN. We may here mention that the ancient kingdom of Meath, which is said to have comprised the present counties of Meath and Westmeath, with parts of Dublin, Kildare, and King's County, the greater part of Longford, and small portions of Cavan and Louth,³ was granted by King HENRY II, to Hugh de Lacy, in full sovereignty

³ Notes to "Annals of Ireland," by the Four Masters.

“sicut Murchardus Hu-Melathlin (the then late Irish king of Meath), eam tenuit, vel aliquis alius ante illum vel postea,” with all rights, immunities, privileges and authorities, as fully as the king himself held it, “quas ibi habeo, vel illi dare possum,” and thus originated the palatine Barons of Meath, to whom De Lacy, gave territorial grants, and who may be thus enumerated;—DE ANGULO, Baron of Navan; MISSET, Baron of Lune, whose three co-heiresses carried the estates into the families of Vernail, Talbot, and Loundres; HUSSEY, Baron of Galtrim; FLEMING, Baron of Slane; PHEPOE, Baron of Serine, which passed by an heiress to the Maurewards, and afterwards, by another heiress to the Nugents; TUTE, Baron of Delwin, which passed to the Fitz Johns, and afterwards by an heiress to the Nugents; PETIT, Baron of Dunboyne, which passed by an heiress to the Butlers, who were by King HENRY VIII created Lords of Parliament by that title; DE LACY, Baron of Rathwyre, or Ferbill, by them forfeited in 1315, for joining Edward Bruce, on his invasion of Ireland; CUSACK, Baron of Culmullen; TYRRELL, Baron of Castleknock, which went by an heiress to the Sergeants, a family that was at an early date separated from Meath, and united to the county of Dublin. From these grants, and from the first possessors having been created barons by the Lord of the Palatinate, in the exercise of his rights of sovereignty, the divisions were called baronies, which term ultimately became the general name for the great divisions of counties in Ireland. Jocelyn de Angulo founded about the year 1190, at Navan, an abbey for regular canons of St. Augustine dedicated to the Virgin Mary.² He had four sons, viz.,—

- I. GILBERT, his successor; II. Richard, who settled at Killossan, in the co. Cork, and was ancestor of the Nangles, or Nagles of Moneaminy; III. Peter, from whom some make the family of Peppard to descend. Ware says, “Peter Pippard, Justiciar (Lord Justice), if I mistake not, of Ireland, and son of Jocelyn de Nangle, with his comrades (says Henry Marlebourg), were taken this year (1194), by Walter de Lacy, who was then newly become Lord of Meath, but he neither tells the cause, nor manner, nor place, nor issue of it; for he only says thus,

Walter de Lacy, took the Lordship of Meath, and apprehended Peter Pippard, Justiciar, with his comrades.¹ There is reason to think that Ware, may have been mistaken in calling him Justiciar of Ireland, though the Abbé Mc-Geoghegan, in his history of Ireland, states it as a fact; it is more probable that he filled the office of Justiciar of Meath, and that he had been appointed thereto by De Lacy, in like manner as the kings of England appointed their Lords Justices of Ireland. IV. Jordan de Angulo, of Connaught, ancestor of the Mac Jordans, a powerful family in that province; he was witness with his eldest brother Gilbert, to the grant, by King JOHN, of the lands of Howth, to Sir Almeric de St. Lawrence.²

Jocelyn de Angulo, was succeeded by his son,

GILBERT DE ANGULO, Lord of Ardbraccan, 2nd Baron of Navan, who appears to have been a powerful, active, and rather turbulent person; in the year 1193, acting in concert with his cousins, the Mac Hostilios, of Connaught, and the sons of Conor Maonmoy, (late king of Connaught), he plundered the island of Iniscloughran, in Lough Ree, and pillaged the abbey there;³ and in the following year, 1194, he "marched with an army to Assaroe, (Easruadh now Ballyshannon, in co. Donegal), but was compelled to return without being able to gain any advantage by his expedition."⁴ In the year 1196, putting himself at the head of a body of troops in Meath, he caused great disturbance, and committed many outrages, but was forced by Hamon de Valoines, Lord Justice of Ireland, to lay down his arms, and take to flight, after which his castles and estates were seized;⁵ he was however pardoned in 1207 (9 Johannis). In the year 1211, we again find him leading another expedition to Easruadh, which appears to have been more successful than the former, as they erected a castle at Caoluisge (Narrow-water), near to that place, in which he was slain in the following year, and the castle itself was burned.⁶ Gilbert de Angulo, was a witness to the grant, by

King JOHN, of the lands of Howth, to Sir Almeric de St. Lawrence. He was succeeded by his son,

WILLIAM DE ANGULO, 3rd Baron of Navan, who was included in his father's pardon, and gave the King 300 marks for the restoration of all his lands (12 Johannis), 1210; he held lands in Kilbixie in Westmeath. He was succeeded by his son,

PHILIP DE ANGULO, of Kilbixie, 4th Baron of Navan, who gave King JOHN 10 marks, that he might have livery of his estate (17 Johannis), 1215. Walter de Lacy, Lord of Meath, granted to him lands in Meath, by deed witnessed by Geoffry de Marisco, Lord Justice of Ireland. He was succeeded by his son,

MILÓ DE ANGULO, of Kilbixie, 5th Baron of Navan, who was succeeded by his eldest son, HUGH DE ANGULO, 6th Baron of Navan, who was succeeded by his son.

JORDAN DE ANGULO, Lord of Kilbixie, 7th Baron of Navan, 1304; he was also seized of Ardsallagh, Kenaghstown, Rathymisk, and Mays-town. In 1303, he sued William Fitz Reginald de Dene for lands and a mill in Kilbixie. He had, by his wife Matilda (who had dower in Kilbixie, and in Castle Lanmor in Connaught, in 1322, and who m. 2ndly, Nicholas de Kerdiffé), two sons, viz.,

- I. JOHN, his heir: II. Gilbert de Angulo, of Connaught, who had a son, John de Angulo, of Connaught, who was father of Philip de Angulo, of Connaught.

Jordan de Angulo was succeeded by his son,

JOHN DE ANGULO, Lord of Kilbixie and Ardsallagh, 8th Baron of Navan, 1325 (18 EDWARD II): by his wife Margaret, he was the father of three sons, viz.,

- I. Barnaby (Sir), his heir. II. Walter de Naungle, of Kilbixie, who claimed certain liberties in his Manor of Kilbixie in 1346; William Naungle, of Kilbixie, his son and heir, was a minor, in the custody of John de Staunton, 41 EDWARD III, 1367, and he had livery of his estate, 45 EDWARD III, 1371; and III. Philip de Naungle, living in 1347.

John de Angulo was succeeded by his eldest son,

SIR BARNABY DE NAUNGLE, Knight, Lord of Ardsallagh, 9th Baron of Navan, who claimed certain liberties in his Manor of the Navan, in 1346; by his wife, Katharine, who d. before 1361, he had three sons, viz., I. William; II. Barnaby; and III. John. He was succeeded by his eldest son,

WILLIAM DE NAUNGLE, 10th Baron of Navan, 1362; he had livery of his mother's dower, 36 EDWARD III, 1362; dying without issue, he was succeeded by his brother,

BARNABY DE NAUNGLE, 11th Baron of Navan, who was a minor in 1366; he also died without issue, and was succeeded by his brother,

JOHN DE NAUNGLE, 12th Baron of Navan, heir to his brother Barnaby, in 1391; he had a licence to enfeoff, 28 Jan., 1402, for the life of Catharine, dau. of Sir Robert Tuite, Knight. He was succeeded by his son,

WALTER NANGLE, 13th Baron of Navan, who had a pardon of intrusion into his estate without livery, 9 HENRY IV, 1407; he had livery of two parts of his estate in 1415. He was succeeded by his son,

BARNABY NANGLE, 14th Baron of Navan, a minor in 1415; living in 1431. He was succeeded by his son,

THOMAS NANGLE, 15th Baron of Navan, 1439, who m. Ismay, dau. of Sir William Welles, Knight, Lord Chancellor of Ireland, only brother of Lionel or Leo, Lord Welles, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland in 1438, and by her had issue, two sons and two daus., viz.,

- I. John, his heir; II. Pierce Nangle, of Ballycorky, co. Longford, Esq., who had two sons, viz., Richard Nangle, of Ballycorky, Esq., and William Nangle, of Killinbrach, Esq.; I. Catherine, m. to Sir Patrick Plunket, Knight, of Kilsaran, Bewley, and Talanstown, appointed in 1497 High Sheriff of Louth, during pleasure, and had by him five sons, (of whom the second, Sir Oliver Plunket, Knight, was created Baron of Louth,) and six daus.;¹ and II. Genet, wife of Robert Rochfort, of Kilbryde, co. Meath, ancestor by her, of the Rochforts, Earls of Belvedere.²

Thomas Nangle was succeeded by his son,

² "Lodge's Peerage," by Archdale, vol. iii, p. 15.

JOHN NANGLE, 16th Baron of Navan, who m. Ellinor, only child of Sir Thomas Dowdall, Knight, by his wife Elizabeth, elder dau. and co-heiress of Sir Robert Hollywood, Knight of Artaine, co. Dublin, and his wife, Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Christopher Plunket, Knight, third Lord of Killeen, and had issue by her, one son and two daus., viz.,

- I. Thomas (Sir), his heir; I. Elizabeth, wife of Christopher Preston, second son of William, 2nd Viscount Gormanstown; and II. Amy, m. in 1524, to Thomas Fagan, Esq. of Feltrim, and had issue.¹

The Baron of Navan was one of the number of chief men in Ireland who took an oath of allegiance and did homage to King HENRY VII, before Sir Richard Edgecombe, Knight, sent specially into Ireland for that purpose; "28 July, 1488, John Nangle, Baron of Navan, made both homage and fealty within the Black Fryers, of Dublyn."² He died before the year 1517, and was succeeded by his son,

SIR THOMAS NANGLE, Knight, 17th Baron of Navan, who m. Elizabeth, eldest dau. of Jenico Preston, 3rd Viscount Gormanstown and his wife Catherine, eldest dau. of Gerald, 9th Earl of Kildare, and by her (who m. 2ndly, Richard Nugent, 8th Baron Delvin), had issue, eight sons and one dau., viz.,

- I. Patrick, his heir; II. John; III. Richard; IV. William; V. Barnaby; VI. Peter; VII. Edward; VIII. Walter of Kildalkey; and I. Sisly, wife of Thomas Stanihurst.

Sir Thomas Nangle settled his estates and conveyed to trustees; he d. in 1561, and was succeeded by his eldest son,

PATRICK NANGLE, 18th Baron of Navan, (the surviving trustee of his father's settlement); he had livery, 8 July, 1564 (7 ELIZABETH); he m. Genet, dau. of Martin Blake, of Athboy, by whom he had issue, three sons and three daus., viz.,

- I. Martin, who d. before his father, having had issue by his wife, Alson Herbert, two sons and four daus., viz., 1. Thomas (Sir), who succeeded his grandfather; 2. Robert, of Skryne, co. Meath, who m. Margaret, dau. of Nicholas Bellow, and had issue; 1. Olive; 2. Maude; 3. Ismay, wife of John Fitz

Symon; and 4. Anne. II. John; III. George; I. Cicely, wife of Patrick Cusack, of Rathaldron, co. Meath, Esq.; II. Katharine, wife, first of Nicholas Herbert, of Ballycotton, and secondly, of Sir Dudley Bagenall, Knight, Marshall of Ireland; and III. Elizabeth, wife of Patrick FitzGerald.

Patrick Nangle d. 30 Nov., 1598, and was succeeded by his grandson,

SIR THOMAS NANGLE, Knight, 19th Baron of Navan, who m. Marian, dau. of Christopher Fagan, of Feltrim, Esq., sometime Mayor of Dublin, by whom he had issue, six sons and one dau., viz.,

- I. Patrick, who d. before his father, leaving issue by his wife Mary, dau. of Sir Richard Bolton, of Courtduff, co. Dublin, Knight, Solicitor-General of Ireland, and afterwards Chief Baron of the Exchequer, an only child Frances, wife of Dudley Loftus, LL.D., Judge of the Prerogative Court of Ireland; II. George, his successor; III. Martin, who m. Catharine, dau. of Hollywood, of Artaine; IV. John; V. Gerald, who m. a dau. of Cusack, of Tronbly; VI. Edward; and I. Alsonc.

Sir Thomas Nangle was attainted in 1642;¹ he was succeeded by his second son and heir male,

GEORGE NANGLE, 20th Baron of Navan, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Patrick Fox, of Rathreagh, co. Longford, Knight, and had issue by her, three sons, viz.,

- I. John, his heir; II. Peter; and III. Bartholomew.

George Nangle died intestate, and administration was granted to his brother Gerald, 20 July, 1676; he was succeeded by his son,

JOHN NANGLE, 21st Baron of Navan, who m. Christiana, dau. of Christopher Cusack, of Rathaldron, Esq., and had issue by her two sons and four daughters, viz.:

- I. Thomas; II. Joseph; I. Cicely; II. Elinor; III. Mary; and IV. Bridget.

We now return to the Kildalkey branch of the family, whose heir male and representative now (1860) claims to be the heir male and representative of the Barons of Navan. WALTER NANGLE, of Kildalkey co. Meath, Esq., eighth and youngest son of Sir Thomas Nangle, Knt.,

17th Baron of Navan, and his wife, Elizabeth, dau. of Jenico, Lord Viscount Gormanstown, took to wife Elizabeth Eglentine, and had issue by her two daus.—Mabel, wife of Nicholas FitzWilliam, of Holmpatrick and Balldungan, co. Dublin, whose nephew, Sir Thomas FitzWilliam, Knt., was created, 5 August, 1629, Viscount Fitzwilliam, of Meryon, in the peerage of Ireland,¹ and ———, wife of Thomas Dillon, 6th son of John Dillon, of Low Baskin,²—and a son and successor,

GERALD NANGLE, of Kildalkey, living in 1607, who m. Anne, dau. of Scurlock, of the Frayne, co. Meath, by whom he had issue two daus., Mabel and Elinor, and his son and successor,

JOCELYN NANGLE, of Kildalkey, who m. Elinor, dau. of Robert Cusack, of Staffordstown, co. Meath, Esq., and had issue by her three sons and two daughters, viz. :

Elvin.

CHARLES NORTON ELVIN, M.A., of East Dereham and Swaffham, co. Norfolk, m. Anna, dau. and co-heiress of the late Thomas Stebbing, of Woodrising, co. Norfolk, and has issue :—

- I. Maria Louisa.
- II. Helena Augusta.
- III. Charles Robt. Stebbing.
- IV. Thomas Willoughby Norton.

The name of ELVIN is one of the forms of the Saxon Æl, Eal, or Al, and in compound names signifies all ; so that Ælwin denotes an universal winner, gainer or conqueror, which is easily seen by a mere inspection of the two words which compose it, viz., Æl, all, answering to the Greek παν or παντο, and wyn, to acquire or gain.

This name is found long before the Norman Conquest, and we are informed that in the year 969, Alwin, Duke of the East Angles, founded the Abbey of Ramsey. Like many other distinguished Saxon names, it remained unnoticed for many years after the Conquest, during which period well nigh all places of high trust were filled by Normans; yet still many modifications of it such as Ellwyn, Elwyn, Elvyn, Elvin, etc., are found.

A branch of this ancient stock now represented by Charles Norton Elvin, has at various periods, intermarried with the families of D'Oyly, Fountain, Oakes, Belham, and Norton of Toftwood, which estate is now held by Charles Thomas Norton, of Rickinghall, a lineal descendant of Sir Thos. Guy, the founder of the well-known hospital.

Eagar, of Kerry.

THE EAGARS, settled for a very considerable period in the county of Kerry, are in all probability sprung from the ancient Saxon family of Aucher, the name of which occurs in old records, variously written Auger, Aucher, Ager, Agar, and Egar. These Auchers or Ageres derived their descent from Aleher, Ealcher, or Aucher, 1st Earl of Kent, and counted amongst their earlier ancestors Walter FitzAuger, a noble Briton, who flourished at the period of the Conquest; Thomas FitzAuger, Lord of the Manor of Losenhan, in Kent, temp. King JOHN, and Henry FitzAucher, who was one of the Kentish gentlemen who accompanied EDWARD I to the siege of Carlaverock. •

The transition of the name from Auger to Aucher, Ager, and Egar, is shewn in numerous old authorities, and the addition made by the Irish branch of the a to the first syllable, thus rendering the word Eagar, arose obviously from a desire to return in some degree to the original orthography. The first of the Irish family was

ROBERT EAGER, a Major in the Army, temp. CHARLES I, who had a grant of land in the Queen's County. He m. a lady of the name of Hamilton, and left a son, ALEXANDER EAGER, who sold the property he derived from his father, and settled in the co. of Kerry at the Restoration, where he acquired a considerable landed estate, including Ballymalis, Cottage, Currane, &c. He d. between the years 1696 and 1700, leaving by Rose his wife, dau. of Capt. O'Toole, of Limerick, a dau. Rose, m. to Capt. Clarke, and six sons, Robert; JAMES, founder of the 1st branch; JOHN, founder of the 2nd branch; Alexander; FRANCIS, founder of the 3rd branch; and GEORGE, founder of the 4th branch: of these, Robert, who m. the dau. of Major Steers, and Alexander, who, in 1694, m. Elizabeth, dau. of Rev. Pierce Butler, of Iveragh, have left no male descendants, but the other four sons have established families still existing.

Maclaine.

GENERAL SIR ARCHIBALD MACLAINE, K.C.B., Colonel of the 52nd Foot, 2nd son of Gillean Maclaine, Esq., of Scallasdale, in the Island of Mull, by Mary his wife, dau. of Lachlan Macquarie, Esq., of Macquarie ("Chief of Ulva's Isle"), descends from the very ancient and warlike race of Maclaine, of Lochbuy, co. Argyll, and is himself no degenerate scion: the following is a summary of his brilliant military services:—

In 1794, 95, 96, and 97, he served at Gibraltar and the Cape of Good Hope, as Ensign and Lieut., in the late Scotch Brigade, 94th Regt. In 1799, he was engaged in the Mysore campaign against Tippoo Sultan, including the battle of Mallivally, and the siege and storming of Seringapatam, where he received three wounds, from the effects of which he was confined in hospital for upwards of a year. In 1800, at the battle of Adingy, he commanded 1,500 Sepoys, and his own Grenadier company. He fought several actions, in one of which, the action of Seringapoor, when Brigade-Major to Gen. Sir William Blackbourne, he marched sixty-eight miles in forty-two hours, killed 150 of the enemy, and took thirty prisoners, for which he received the thanks of the Madras Government. In 1801, he was present at the taking of the Danish settlement of Tranquabar, and the Polygar war, including the battle of Ardingy. In 1802, 3, and 4, he was engaged in the Maharatta war, and against Scindia Halkar, and the Bera Rajah; in the battles of Assaye and Argaum, including the storm of Julna, siege and storming of Gawilghur and Asserghur, where he was wounded. In 1804 he was ordered home, in consequence of seven wounds which he had received in the different actions from 1799 to 1804. In 1810, 11, 12, and 13, he served in the Peninsular campaigns, including the defence of Cadiz and Matagorda (an outwork of Cadiz, and a ruined redoubt when taken possession of from the enemy). Sir Archibald, when a Captain in the old 94th, with a very small force under his command, at Matagorda, most gallantly kept at bay, from 22nd Feb. to 22nd April, 1810, 8,000 of the enemy under Marshal Soult; and did not evacuate the fortress until ordered so to do by Lieut.-Gen. Sir Thomas Graham (afterwards Lord Lynedoch), the men having been nearly all either killed or wounded. He also was engaged at Barossa, in which battle he was dangerously wounded, and had his horse killed under him; having been then Major in the 87th Regt., together with Lord Gough; at the siege of Tarissa, the taking of Seville, and during the whole of the campaigns in the south of Spain; also present in fifty different engagements along the coast of Spain, in gunboats and batteries, and there twice wounded. In 1813, 14, 15, and 16, Sir Archibald commanded the 7th West India Regt., and afterwards the 14th and 17th Regts., but since 1828, he has been on half-pay. He has received the war medal and one clasp for Barossa, and also medals for Srirangapatam, Argaun, Gulnagar, and Asserghur, besides the Grand Cross of Charles the Third, a Spanish Order, the small Order of Ferdinand, and the Grand Cross of Isabella: in 1852, at the recommendation of the Duke of Wellington, Her Majesty was pleased to create Sir Archibald a Knight Commander of the Bath.

The surname of Maclaine, originally Maegillean, was derived from the celebrated Highland warrior, Gillean, who was denominated Gillean-in-Tuiodh, from his ordinary weapon a battle-axe (in Gaelic Tuiodh), which his descendants carry to this day in their crest, between a laurel and a cypress branch.

Of Sir Archibald's four brothers, three were distinguished soldiers; one, Capt. Murdoch Maclaine, was the only British officer killed at Maida; another, Major John Maclaine, fell at Waterloo, and the third, Col. Hector Maclaine, gained renown in the Peninsula, at Vittoria, the Pyrenees, Nivelle, and Toulouse. In truth, as Mr. Percival said, the Maclaines may be styled "the fighting family." On many a well-contested field they have sustained their country's glory, and the old military character of the race is conspicuous even unto this day.

Sir Archibald m. Elizabeth, dau. of Captain Brydges (late 4th Dragoon Guards), and granddau. and heiress of the late General Bridges, who commanded a division of the English forces at Seringapatam.

Sir Archibald is the only officer now surviving who served with Sir Arthur Wellesley in the early campaigns of India.

Motto.—Spe gaudeo.

Sladen, of Hartsbourne, Herts.

THIS family appears to have migrated from the Continent, and is met with on the south-east coast of Kent early in the 17th century. The name of Sladen, which formerly was also written Sleyden, points to Schleyden or Schleiden, a small town in Rhenish Prussia, as probably its original home. This was the birth-place of John Sleidan, the historian of the Reformation in Germany, who himself was not unacquainted with England, which he visited as a member of a Protestant Embassy in 1545. The present representative of the family is JOSEPH SLADEN, Esq., of Hartsbourne Manor, Herts, and Swanton Court, Kent, eldest son of the late Joseph Sladen, Esq. of Lee and Swanton Court, by Anne his wife, second surviving dau. and co-heir of William Mainwaring, of London, merchant, second son of Edward Mainwaring, Esq., of Whitmore Hall, co. Stafford, by Sarah his wife, eldest dau. and co-heir of William Bunbury, Esq. Attorney-General for Cheshire.

The second branch of the family is that of John Baker Sladen, Esq., of Ripple Court, Kent, J.P. and D.L., the younger son of the late Joseph Sladen, Esq. of Folkestone, Lee, and Ripple Court, who d. 27 Dec., 1827, and whose eldest son, Joseph Sladen, Esq. of Lee and Swanton Court, was father of the present Mr. Sladen, of Hartsbourne Manor.

Arms.—Barry of six, az. and arg., a horse's head, erased, between three crescents, or.

Crest.—A mount, vert, thereon, between two branches of palm, ppr., a lion's gamb, erased and erect, sa., holding a plume of five ostrich feathers, gu.

Motto.—Vive ut vivas.

Sladen, of Hartsbourne, the senior branch, is entitled to the quarterings of MAINWARING, arg, two bars, gu.; CYVELIOC, az., six garbs, three, two, and one, or; and BOGHEX, gu., a scythe, arg.

The branch at Ripple Court has a right to the coats of St. BARBE and FURNEAUX.

Finzel, of Frankfert Hall, Clevedon, county Somerset, and of the City of Bristol.

CONRAD WILLIAM FINZEL, of Frankfert Hall and Bristol, merchant, b. 25 April, 1818, m. 13 Jan., 1844, Anne-Taylor, dau. of Thomas Daniel Doddrell, of Bristol, merchant, and has issue,

I. Conrad-William-Curling, b. 21 Feb., 1845.

II. George-Henry-Taylor, b. 27 Feb., 1846.

III. Edward-Thomas, b. 26 Oct., 1847, died young.

IV. Francis-Edward, b. 18 May, 1849.

V. William-Anthony, b. 13 Oct., 1851.

The family of FINTZEL is one of considerable antiquity in the principality of Hanau, in the Electorate of Hesse Cassel, where Johann Theobald Fintzel, about the end of the 17th, or beginning of the last century, held the office of Sheriff of the Court at Nieder-eschbach, near Frankfort-upon-the-Main. His son, Johann Philip Fintzel, was an elder of the Church there, and he was succeeded by his son, Johann Christian Fintzel, of the same place, whose son, Heinrich Fintzel, of Nieder-eschbach, m. Margaret Teappes, of Lechbach, in the same Principality, and dying in 1817, aged 67 years, left four sons and two daus., of whom,

CONRAD-WILLIAM FINZEL, the third son, settled in England, and became a naturalized subject of Great Britain: as a merchant at Bristol, he amassed a considerable fortune which he distributed with almost unprecedented benevolence, and his name will long be remembered as that of one of the most munificent benefactors of the city. He was b. 27 Jan., 1793, and m. 1st, 26 July, 1817, Eleanor, only child and heir of William Anthony Curling, of Bristol, gentleman, son of William Curling, and grandson of another William Curling, of Chilton, co. Kent, where the Curling family has been seated as far back as the middle of the 15th century, or nearly 400 years. Mr. Finzel m. 2ndly, 26th July, 1834, Isabella, dau. of James William Dawes, of the Island of Jamaica, who is still living. He d. suddenly at Wiesbaden, 21 Oct., 1859, and was buried in the cemetery of Nieder-eschbach, leaving issue by his first wife:—

I. Conrad-William Finzel, now of Frankfert Hall.

II. Francis, d. an infant.

III. Francis, b. 19 Dec., 1836.

I. Eleanor, m. John Howland, of Bristol.

II. Anna-Maria, m. Daniel Tayler Doddrell, of Bristol.

III. Mary-Anne, m. Samuel Hayward, of Trowbridge, co. Wilts.

Crest.—On a wreath of the colours, between two buffalo horns, that on the dexter, per fesse, or and sa., and that on the sinister, per fesse, sa. and or, a demi-lion, rampant to the sinister, per fesse, or and az., gorged with a collar, vair.

Motto.—Quod tibi, hoc alteri.

Byam, of Antigua and Westwood, Hants.

SIR WILLIAM BYAM, of Cedar Hill, Antigua, and of Westwood House, Hants, is President of H.M. Council of Antigua and Colonel of the Antigua Dragoons. He was formerly Lieutenant 15th King's Hussars, and served in the Peninsula, in the south of France, and at Waterloo, where he was wounded. His family is of Welsh extraction, and of very ancient lineage, as shown by the inscription on a stone monument against the north wall of the chancel of the Church of Luckham, co. Somerset, raised to the memory of "Henrici Byami" in 1601, in which he, Henry Byam, is described as "ex antiquissimâ Byamorum familiâ oriundi;" he suffered greatly for his devotion to the Royal cause during the Civil War, losing three sons in battle in the service of King CHARLES, and having his estates in Somersetshire confiscated by Oliver Cromwell.

Arms.—Quarterly: 1st, arg., three dragons' heads, erased, vert, each holding in its mouth a dexter hand, erased, ppr., dropping blood; 2nd, sa., a chev., between three spears' heads, erect, arg., pointed, gu.; 3rd, gu., a lion rampant, regardant, or; 4th, gu., three towers, triple turretted, arg.; 5th, vert, a chev., between three wolves' heads, erased, or; 6th, as first.

Meyler.

GEORGE MEYLER, Esq. of Dundrum, co. Dublin, late Captain 65th Regiment, 4th son of the late Walter Meyler, Esq., by Anne Fewtrell, his second wife, bears on his shield of arms an escutcheon of pretence for Kelly, in right of his wife, Charlotte-Henrietta, only child of the late Thomas Kelly, Esq., of Armagh. The family of Meyler was long established and possessed of landed property in the county of Wexford. So far back as 1582, an inquisition post mortem was taken at Wexford on "Patrick Meyler, of Duncormuck, Esq., who had died 8 Feb., 1572." Patrick's grandson and heir, NICHOLAS MEYLER, Esq. of Duncormuck, (son of Walter,) aged 23 at the date of the inquisition,
